Mercury Hits 99 Degrees

City Sizzles on Hottest July 1

Downtown Temperatures

6 a.m.	75	Noon	90
8 a.m.	82	2 p.m.	92

The first day of July 1963 will be remembered as the hottest July 1 on record and the day that one of Pontiac's major water tanks went dry.

At 4:15 p.m. yesterday, The Pontiac Press thermometer hit 99 degrees.

The highest previous temperature for July 1 in Pontiac since the U.S. Weather Bureau began compiling records in 1872 was 98 in 1911.

Yesterday also topped the previous high for this year — 96 degrees on June 27.

At 9 p.m., the million-gallon elevated water tank on Baldwin was empty.

The water problems on Pontiac's north side resulted in a shutdown at both Fisher Body and Pontiac Motor Division on the second shift last night.

A spokesman for Fisher Body reported this morning that the first shift was sent home for lack of water pressure at the plant. However, he said they would try to operate the second shift.

With body production halted, Pontiac Motor also sent first shift production employes home at noon with hopes of resuming normal operations on the second shift, a division spokesman said.

Today, city officials issued an "urgent appeal to residents to conserve their use of water."

City Manager Robert A. Stierer said it was "imperative that residents refrain from watering lawns and gardens from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

"We also are appealing to residents not to wash their cars during those hours, and to delay taking a bath or shower, whenever possible, until after 9 each night."

At 6:45 last night the Baldwin tank's water level stood at 14 feet. It has a capacity of 25 feet.

In 30 minutes it went down four feet (about 160,000 gallons) and by 8:30 it stood at five feet, according to Herbert Parker, water superintendent.

When it went dry at 9, Fisher Body and an estimated 5,000 residents in the tank's one-square-mile service area were without water.

Some 1,075 night shift employes were sent home after working an average of 5½ hours of their 8-hour shift, according to a company spokesman.

Pontiac Motor closed its production line due to a lack of bodies the last hour of the shift.

The tank was refilled and water level stood at 21 feet this morning.

At 8 a.m. today the water department's observation well hit an all-time low. The water level was 130.25 feet below ground level.

The first county death attributed to heat was reported this morning in Wixom. John J. Barry, 53, of 29250 Beck, died yesterday of a heart attack brought on by heat prostration. His body is at the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home Walled Lake.

County Service Center on Telegraph to conserve the supply from four wells.

While the county apparently is drawing water from the same underground sources as the city, city engineers said, county usage is having no direct effect on Pontiac's diminishing water supply.

Yesterday's temperature in Pontiac was just shy of the all-time high of 100 degrees recorded on Aug. 21, 1955.

Relief, however, was promised today by the weatherman. Today's high was supposed to be about 88 with widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers forecast.

Tonight and Wednesday will be fair and cooler, with a low of 64 tonight and a high of 80 tomorrow.

The cooling trend, however, should be brief.

The weatherman said another warm trend should begin about July 4.

VATICAN CHAT — President Kennedy and Pope Paul VI talk during the pontiff's private audience with the American chief executive at the Vatican today.

Danger of Heat Is Pointed Out

County Doctor Warns of Exhaustion, Stroke

The current siege of warm weather has brought with it the danger of two illnesses, heat exhaustion and heatstroke, warned Dr. Robert R. Leichtman of the Oakland County Medical Society.

Heat exhaustion, he said, is more common than a heatstroke, which is more serious.

An acute deficiency of salt and water is the cause of heat exhaustion. Dr. Leichtman said the deficiencies usually result from sweating.

The doctor said the cure is to take an extra amount of salt and water.

An average preventive dose for these days would be one-half teaspoon of table salt or three-to-five salt tablets a day.

Dr. Leichtman cautioned, however, that persons with heart, liver or other illness associated with abnormal accumulation of water should contact their physician about taking extra salt.

A heatstroke strikes with little warning and may end fatally unless treatment is begun rapidly.

Early symptoms include irritability, vision difficulty, dizziness, weakness, confusion and then loss of consciousness. The doctor said all these appear in rapid progression.

The victim's skin will be hot, flushed and unusually dry. He said the dryness is due to a loss of the body's usual cooling agent—perspiration.

If the victim's temperature is about 105 degrees or more, then the diagnosis is confirmed, according to Dr. Leichtman. He said a physician should be contacted immediately.

Dr. Leichtman said emergency treatment would be to immerse the victim in a tub of ice water and rub the skin to accelerate circulation and heat loss.

Mac Fights With Wilson on Scandals

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Labor party leader Harold Wilson clashed angrily in the House of Commons today in a fresh storm over Britain's sex and security scandals.

★ ★ ★

Wilson charged Macmillan with being petulant and trying to laugh off the failure of Britain's security services.

Macmillan snapped back that he found Wilson offensive and added: "You really must learn to distinguish between invective and insolence."

The two political chiefs were debating over steps the government has taken to beef up the security services in the wake of ever-spreading spy uproars.

The most recent erupted yesterday when Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath told the House of Commons that diplomat-journalist Harold Philby, who was once exonerated by Macmillan, had turned out to be a Soviet agent.

★ ★ ★

Philby was named as the mysterious "third man" who tipped off traitor diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean that Scotland Yard was on their trail. The two fled to Moscow, and Heath said it was probable Philby had also fled behind the Iron Curtain.

Macmillan told a Conservative member of Parliament he would have to wait for the report of a judicial inquiry now under way into the John Profumo-Christine Keeler-Yevgeny Ivanov affair before deciding whether to appoint a minister of security.

Wilson immediately asked if Macmillan intended to start an inquiry into the Philby affair "assuming you have enough judges to go around."

★ ★ ★

"What has now happened is not a failure of the security services, it is a success," Macmillan said.

When Labor Arthur Henderson asked if Macmillan had discussed British security in his talks with President Kennedy last weekend and if this was the reason for Heath's disclosure about Philby, the prime minister answered:

Anderson Again President

Retains School Unit Post

William H. Anderson, 451 Lynch, was re-elected president of the Pontiac Board of Education last night at the annual organizational meeting.

Anderson, whose term expires in 1965, begins his second year as school board president.

Other officers chosen for this year included Mrs. William (Elsie) Mihalek, 1592 Vinewood, vice president, and Victor P. Sutt, 2215 St. Joseph, secretary.

The board appointed Vernon L. Schiller, treasurer. Schiller is director of financial management.

'Must Defend Europe'

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — President Kennedy said today intelligent self-interest commits the United States to Europe's defense and he called for continued cooperation between those transatlantic partners as a step toward world unity.

In time, the unity of the West could lead to unity of East and West "until the human family is truly a 'single sheepfold' under God," Kennedy declared in the final major address of his 10-day European tour.

Kennedy declared again that freedom of Europe is reliable—not merely because of good will, though that is deep and wide—and not at all because we seek to dominate; we do not."

★ ★ ★

The U.S. chief executive flew to Naples after a historic 40-minute audience with Pope Paul VI at the Vatican and a final conference with President Antonio Segni and other Italian officials in Rome.

Pope Paul invoked the blessings of God upon all Americans and said he would pray for Kennedy's efforts to end racial discrimination in the United States. He and the President, a Roman Catholic, exchanged gifts.

A communique issued by Segni and Kennedy said their talks Monday and today had emphsized efforts to end world tensions.

★ ★ ★

It said Italy expressed a favorable attitude toward taking part in studies of the possible development of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization multinational nuclear force. The United States advocates creation of a jointly operated surface fleet to be armed with nuclear tipped Polaris missiles. So far only Britain, West Germany and Italy have expressed interest. France opposes the idea.

★ ★ ★

An amphibious helicopter brought Kennedy and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk directly from Rome to the southern European haadquarters of NATO at Naples.

Here Kennedy took issue once again with French President Charles de Gaulle's separatist vision of Western Europe as a third force between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Pontiac Output Up for Period

Remainder of Industry Still Setting Records

While production at Pontiac Motor Division last month jumped 22 per cent over the same period last year, the automobile industry shattered all previous production records for the month of June.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac reported production of 61,747 Pontiacs and Tempests compared to 50,461 assembled during June 1962.

Pontiacs alone topped the entire production totals for June 1962. A total of 56,611 regular Pontiacs was assembled last month, 40 per cent higher than the same month a year ago.

The division accounted for nearly two-thirds of the total increase in the number of passenger cars produced by General Motors in the United States.

A total of 436,383 vehicles was assembled at GM plants as compared ot 419,681 for June of 1962. Passenger cars totaled 388,617.

Preliminary figures showed that the industry as a whole built 689,519 cars — highest car output of any June in automotive history.

In addition, manufacturers turned out an estimated 120,000 trucks.

The trade publication Automotive News said 169,444 autos were built in U.S. plants last week, compared with the previous week's 170,689 and 126,321 in the corresponding week of 1962.

Nine Ford and three Chevrolet plants operated on overtime last Saturday as the industry continued to turn out 1963 models at a fast clip.

Studebaker Corp. became the first auto maker to wind up 1963 model production as it closed its Lark and Hawk model assembly lines last week. It continued production of the Avanti, its highest-priced model.

On a model-year basis, output of passenger cars alone since last fall topped the 6.8-million mark last Friday as it headed for its current goal—seven million cars.

Last month's output of 689,519 cars was almost 22 per cent ahead of the June 1962 total.

Truck production, which has been one of the strongest links in the automotive business this year, totaled about 744,925 for the first six months of this year, compared with 638,335 for the first half of 1962.

Of June car making, General Motors accounted for an estimated 52 per cent, Ford 27 per cent, Chrysler 12 per cent, American Motors 6 per cent and Studebaker 1 per cent.

K Asks Treaty in Trade for N-Ban Okay

BERLIN (AP) — Premier Khrushchev offered today to accept a Western proposal for a ban on nuclear tests above ground and underwater — provided the West agrees to sign a nonaggression treaty between the Soviet bloc and the NATO powers.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev's offer seemed to inject a new element into the long deadlocked Geneva negotiations for a nuclear test ban.

He said the Soviet Union, faced by unacceptable Western demands for on-site inspections, would be prepared to sign a treaty evading the whole inspection issue.

This would be a ban on nuclear tests on the surface, in the atmosphere, in outer space and underwater. It would impose no ban on tests underground. These, in the Western view, would require on site inspections.

★ ★ ★

Such a partial ban has long been suggested by the West in the Geneva talks, but hitherto was firmly rejected by the Soviet Union as a "trick" for secret development of new nuclear weapons through continuation of underground tests.

In Allegan

Pigeon Plague Ends

ALLEGAN (UPI) — The crew of an armored Brinks delivery van tensed their trigger fingers while making an early-morning stop recently at the Allegan State Bank.

★ ★ ★

The driver had spotted a tall man, a shotgun cradled in his arm, furtively lugging the shadows of store buildings on Allegan's main street. The man was moving slowly toward the van.

Suddenly he stepped out into the sunlight, raised his weapon and cut loose with a blast aimed at the sky.

A wheeling pigeon exploded into a cloud of feathers and the crew of the armored car relaxed.

★ ★ ★

The bird was the 170th killed in the past year by Clifford Larson, who is reasonably certain he is the only "pigeon warden" in the nation.

Larson didn't find out until later that he had walked half the length of main street with three guns trained on him.

He heard complaints, however, from late-risers until they became accustomed to the boom of his 12-gauge shotgun. And an occasional visitor from out of town is apt to spill a little coffee when Larson cuts loose outside a restaurant.

★ ★ ★

But, otherwise, his first year at ridding the business district of "those pesky pigeons" has gone by without a hitch.

The "pigeon patrol" was born last spring when a group of Allegan businessmen told the City Council they were fed up with the problem.

Large numbers of the birds were dispossessed when the old county courthouse, with its lofty clock tower, was torn down. The flocks moved into the business district with predictable results.

Find Stocks, Bonds Worth $1.5 Million

CHICAGO (UPI)—Federal authorities said today the value of stolen stocks and bonds found spread out across a bedspread in a Chicago Loop hotel room is pushing $1.5 million."

Three New York men, including attorney Arnold D. Naidich, 39, were arrested in the raid by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents yesterday.

The agents went to the room with a warrant for the arrest of Naidich, who is charged with jumping bond on a theft charge.

Assistant U. S. Atty. William O. Bittman and FBI agents examined the stocks and bonds in hurried efforts to bring the case before a grand jury before the end of the day. Bittman said the exact value of the stocks and bonds was not yet known but the total "is pushing $1.5 million."

NAACP Plans Confab in D.C.

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People unanimously adopted today a resolution calling for a national civil rights legislative convention in Washington Aug. 6-8.

* * *

The resolution by the organization's convention also urged a much stiffer civil rights program than that proposed by President Kennedy.

While commending the President's proposals as the best so far offered by any president, the resolution also demanded these additional points to meet what it called "the minimum needs of the existing situation:"

1. A fair employment practices commission with subpoena powers and the power to enforce its decrees.

2. Extend the authority of the attorney general to "initiate and file suits for the protection and enforcement of all civil rights."

3. Provide sanctions against labor unions which discriminate against Negroes.

* * *

The resolution further advocated mass state and congressional district level civil rights conferences for the last week of July to mobilize grass roots support for the NAACP's proposed legislative program.

INVITE KENNEDY

The resolution, adopted despite warnings by national leaders that public demonstrations in Washington could jeopardize passage of any civil rights program, stated that President Kennedy and congressional leaders would be invited to "report on the progress and plans for the passage" of civil rights legislation when the mass Washington rally culminates on Aug. 8.

The resolution also warned that failure on the part of any senator to support imposition of cloture in the forthcoming Senate civil rights debate would be construed as a vote against civil rights. This referred to the almost certain attempt by Southern senators to filibuster the civil rights program to death.

* * *

Earlier, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, said Republicans face a major test in Congress on civil rights legislation.

Wilkins, in a keynote address Monday night to some 4,000 persons attending the opening meeting of the NAACP's 54th annual convention, said:

"If in this human rights crisis the Republican party has nothing to offer the Negro, then it has nothing of real value to offer the nation."

* * *

Wilkins, applauded more than 25 times by a calm, receptive, mostly Negro audience in a hot church auditorium on Chicago's South Side, had special criticism for two top Republicans — Senators Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Senate minority leader.

The audience booed at mention of Dirksen's name. Goldwater's name brought laughter and louder boos.

Bias Problem Moving Fast

Civic Leaders Hear Detroit Group Official

"Our (human relations) problem keeps running faster than we can catch up with it."

This was the comment yesterday of Richard V. Marks, secretary director of the Detroit Commission on Community Relations, during an address to Pontiac's human relations committee.

Marks was the main speaker at a general community information meeting yesterday at the Waldron Hotel. The luncheon attracted city, church and industrial leaders.

The Detroit community relations director told 84 civic leaders that no person can turn away from the struggle to eliminate injustice and establish equality for all.

"No person who loves his fellow man, his community or his nation can turn away from this fight," Marks said. "No man — be he white or Negro, Catholic, Protestant or Jew — can say this struggle does not involve him. This is the time and this is the challenge."

Marks said new forces stirring the minds and hearts of men all over America have stepped up the tempo and urgency for eliminating all evidences of segregation and injustice.

Urging local government to take the lead, Marks said that city governments have to establish in the minds of its citizens that equal treatment will be accorded every person.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers included Mayor Robert A. Landry and Irving Steinman, chairman of the human relations committee.

Landry called on the City Commission to put forth an ordinance that "puts teeth in the work of the human relations committee."

He pointed out that Pontiac was the first to pass a fair employment practices ordinance in 1952.

The Pontiac mayor said the ordinance requires nondiscriminatory clauses in all contracts signed with the city.

Landry also announced the appointment of two clergymen to the nine-member human relations committee.

Rev. Thompson Marcero of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church and Rev. Amos Johnson of the New Bethel Baptist Church were named.

The addition of the two clergymen brings the committee's membership to 11.

Steinman, chairman of the committee, noted that the group was only a fact-finding committee.

However, he said, the committee would investigate reports of discrimination and seek to correct any such situations.

Elect Ford Executive to Head School Board

BIRMINGHAM—E. Ross Hanson was elected president of the board of education last night.

Hanson, manager of the administrative department of the general sales office of Ford Division, Ford Motor Co., succeeds Mrs. Kathryn Loomis.

Mrs. Loomis, board member for almost 10 years, had been president since 1958. She did not seek a board seat in the June 10 school election.

Re-elected to their offices at the organizational meeting were George W. Coombe Jr., vice president, and Richard P. Barnard, secretary.

* * *

The new board approved the 1963-64 operational budget last night after electing its officers.

The $7,933,081 budget is about $700,000 above last year's figure.

Lloyd VanBuskirk, director of finance, attributes "about 99 per cent" of the increase to salary raises.

* * *

He noted that major emphasis was on the use of higher salaries to attract better teachers in a five-year projection made in 1961.

Also accounting for the higher figures is growth in the district, now about five per cent or 500 to 600 students a year.

Operational millage in the district is 21.3 mills, including 12.9 extra voted and 8.4 allocated by the county.

The board will meet the third rather than the fourth Tuesdays of July and August.

* * *

City commissioners last night allocated $151,300 for development of a nine-hole golf course at the corner of 14-Mile and Cranbrook Road.

The 57-acre site will double as a ski area in the winter. Besides its portable ski tow, it will be equipped with a club house and picnic area.

Commissioners asked R. S. Kenning, assistant city manager, to take another look at the new brochure he presented, to explain the city's refuse collection regulations to residents.

* * *

School Tax Plan Before Detroit Unit

DETROIT (AP — A new public school tax increase proposal to be voted on Nov. 12 in a special election—is before the Detroit Board of Education.

The school board's new president, industrialist Leonard Kasle, made the proposal in taking office at the group's annual meeting yesterday. The board referred the proposal to its finance committee.

Kasle proposed a tax of $9.50 for $1,000 of assessed property valuation and a $45-million bond issue for school construction and expansion.

* * *

Detroit's public schools face a financial emergency because of the voters' rejection last fall of a proposed $12.80 tax, an increase of $5.30 over the expiring $7.50 tax. Voters also turned down a $90-million bond issue.

Racial matters as well as finance were discussed at the board meeting.

Kasle, vice president of the Kasle Steel and Aluminum Co. and board member since 1955, recommended more specific efforts to assure equal opportunities for all children.

* * *

Kasle also endorsed a system of standardized tests for all high schools as a means of evaluating the school system. The system has been endorsed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

William E. Merrifield, retiring board president, said the school system's first problem was "erasing without delay inadequacies and inequalities in education for Negroes.

"The future of Detroit," Merrifield said, "depends upon providing an increasing percentage of the Negro youth with full high school education and making them the competent adults who will sustain the business and industry necessary to make Detroit the great city that it can be."

At Wisconsin Camp

371 From Area Soldiering

By ROGER SRIGLEY

CAMP McCOY, Wis. — The men of Pontiac's 4th Howitzer Battalion will sleep soundly tonight, even though they rest on the hard ground of this 61,000-acre Army camp.

Now in their second day of training, 371 men, all from the Pontiac area, are taking part in two weeks of exercises here.

SRIGLEY

Of the total number, 227 men are assigned to the unit and attend weekly meetings at the Walnut Street Reserve Center.

The remaining 144 enlisted men and officers are attached to the group only for the two weeks of intensive artillery training here this summer.

Camp McCoy, with its rolling dusty hills, is located some 100 miles north and west of Madison, Wis.

But the word "north" is out of place, as the temperature here appears to be in a steady race with the humidity, to see which can reach the higher mark.

Yesterday the mercury climbed to a high of 103 degrees and a similar peak is predicted for the remainder of the week. Right now the sultry weather, is the men's greatest enemy.

The troops wake up during the one liveable portion of the day, from 5 to 8 a.m. Heat starts to roll in even without movement, by 8:30 in the morning.

Arriving by train Sunday, the men spent yesterday cleaning up the battalion area, establishing communication lines and preparing for the field work.

READY EQUIPMENT

They also readied the equipment brought with them to the field today, the most important of which are the 105-millimeter howitzers.

The 4th Howitzer Battalion of the 39th Artillery is a support unit.

It, like other artillery groups, serves as back-up for the attacking infantry in battle.

Lt. Col. Cyril D. Duffy, of 1252 Shipman, Birmingham, is commanding officer of "The Fourth". In civilian life the colonel is a project engineer for Fisher Body Division.

Today he supervised deployment of the unit and its guns into the battle practice area, where the soldiers will live, day and night, for the next four days.

Until Saturday they will work through tactical problems with their 16 guns. The 371-man battalion is composed of four batteries, with a commanding officer and a "top" sergeant for each.

* * *

First sergeant for headquarters and headquarters battery is Norris R. "Chad" Chadwell, of 2330 Hammerslea, Orion Township.

Chad gathered his 68 enlisted men on the first floor of one of the battery's two double-story barracks before they left for the field.

"All right you jokers", the "Top" ordered. "We're here to play a game, and we're going to play it well." The men listened as he told of plans for the coming days.

The tone of the sergeant's voice told listeners that he used the word "game" in the most serious sense of the word.

After the brief talk, a few soldiers gathered in one corner of the barracks and discussed the usefulness of the training. They joked and laughed about "the game."

When the talk was waning, a young private pointed out something to which the group nodded silent agreement.

He said that even though it is a game, learning and practicing the rules could well save their lives in the terrible and all too real game of war.

Among Senators

Fight on Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political infighting over civil rights broke out in the Senate Commerce Committee today as two Republicans served notice they would not offer any amendments to the administration's public accommodations bill.

Sens. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said it was up to the Democratic majority to propose any perfecting amendments. They said they were not going to take responsibility for sponsoring any changes that might be interpreted as crippling or watering down the bill.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., the committee chairman, retorted that "every senator on this committee has a responsibility to suggest amendments he thinks are necessary to make a better bill to achieve the objective."

* * *

The exchange came as Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was testifying for the second day in support of the bill to ban racial discrimination by owners of stores, restaurants, theaters and other business establishments catering to the general public.

Kennedy agreed, under Prouty's questioning, that members of Congress have raised "legitimate questions as to whether the language of the bill is exact enough" with respect to the privately-owned establishments that would be covered.

12 TO 5 DEMS

Prouty said he could think of amendments that might be offered but was not going to offer any because they thought they should originate with the majority side. The Democrats on the committee outnumber the Republicans 12 to 5.

Prouty said the public and the Negroes should recognize that the Democrats have a two-thirds majority in the Senate, enough to invoke the Senate's rule to limit debate, and a like majority on the Commerce Committee.

A possible amendment, Prouty said would be to exempt places of public accommodation that do less than one million dollars worth of business the first year and then reduce this to $750,000 the second year, $500,000 the third year, $250,000 the fourth year, and $180,000 the fifth year.

Pigeon Plague Ends in Allegan

"It was either them or us," one retailer recalls.

An out-of-town gun club volunteered its services and two shoots eliminated 750 pigeons. But Larson, who had participated, said there were still 150 of the birds left.

He suggested the council establish the "pigeon warden" post and volunteered his services. The council voted him a $25 annual allowance for ammunition.

The only restriction on Larson's activities was that he halt his forays before 8 a. m.

Larson averaged five or six pigeons a day when he started the job, but he shoots only two or three a week now. He also bagged two "black" pigeons.

That's the way a lady described the crows that were raising hob in her sweet corn patch.

Hunting is Larson's hobby so the unpaid post is okay with him. But, with the local pigeon population reduced to about 10, he says he wouldn't mind moving his operation to a larger city.

* * *

"Providing they made a full-time job of it," he added.

Any takers?

NATIONAL WEATHER — Scattered showers and thundershowers are due tonight for northern sections of north Atlantic states, parts of central Ohio Valley into mid Mississippi Valley, and along southeast coast of Florida. It will continue warm east of the Rockies except for cooler temperatures in eastern parts of upper Mississippi Valley into Lakes region and northern Ohio Valley.

Most of U.S. Is Facing a Torrid July

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The weather bureau predicts higher than normal temperatures in the eastern two-thirds of the nation in the next 30 days.

The West Coast can expect below normal temperatures during July, the bureau said yesterday, while normal to below normal temperatures were forecast for the North Atlantic and south Atlantic Coast regions.

Cooler air spread across northern areas of the Midwest today bringing some relief from a spell of hot weather but more muggy weather clung to wide areas in the eastern half of the nation.

* * *

The cool front extended from the northern Great Lakes southwestward into southeast Colorado. Showers broke out along the front. Fairly cool weather also reported along the Pacific Coast, with temperatures in the 50s.

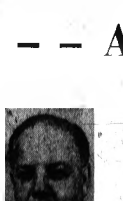

The mercury bobbled up to nearly 100 degrees in many cities Monday with temperatures generally in the 90s and 80s in many sections.

Neutrals, Reds Clash in Sporadic Laos Fire

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Informed sources said today neutralist and pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces exchanged sporadic fire last night in the Plaine de Jarres area.

Sources added three mortar shells and small arms fire were traded in the area northeast of Muong Hanh which is Neutralist General Kong Le's command post.

Floral Parade Forebear of Miss America Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The Miss America Pageant, which began in 1921, had its origin in the Floral Parade held in 1902.

The Floral Parade was made up of rolling chairs decorated with flowers, with a girl in each chair. However, only the beauty of the decorated chairs, and not that of the girls, was judged.

GOOD VANTAGE POINT — Ted Creque, entertainment chairman for the 125th anniversary celebration in Holly Township, would be in an enviable position if he could keep it for two days. Creque contemplates plans from the middle of a float which will bear queen contestants in a Fourth of July parade. About 25 floats are now being prepared for the event.

ALL ABOARD—With the help of Holly Treasurer Mrs. Hulda Anderson, Mrs. Fred Lahring of 13153 Fagan, Holly Township, practices getting herself and her bustle into a 1922 Ford-center-door sedan. The auto, owned by James Lake, of 210 Washington, Holly, is one of several vintage models which will appear in Thursday's parade marking Holly Township's 125th anniversary.

Set Colorful Clarkston 4th

Parade Starts All-Day Event

Display of Fireworks Will Climax Festivities

CLARKSTON — An activity-packed Independence Day program beginning with a colorful parade and culminating with a brilliant fireworks display is planned for Thursday.

Colorful floats, costumed children, fire trucks, horses and the high-stepping Clarkston High School marching band will be featured in the 10 a.m. parade which will form at M15 and Miller.

The parade route will be south on M15 to Church, then east on Church to Buffalo.

* * *

Immediately following the parade, the Independence Township Fire Department will offer a fire fighting demonstration at the parking lot near the mill pond.

Games and booths, sponsored by the recreation department, will be located at the junior high school for the all-day entertainment of both adults and children. Prizes will be offered.

Ball games are slated for the afternoon at the junior high school, and refreshments from the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerces' trailer will be available all day.

* * *

Preceding the fireworks display, which will begin at sunset (about 9 p.m.), will be an 8 p.m. band concert in front of the senior high school.

* * *

The fireworks will be shot from behind the senior high school building where ample parking is available.

The annual July 4 program is sponsored by the Independence Township Firefighters Association.

Residing in Oxford After Recent Vows

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—Residing in Oxford after their recent wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Sprague, who exchanged vows in Immanuel Congregational Church, Oxford.

Rev. Anthony Nelson performed the candlelight service.

The bride is the former Judith Ann Esler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Dunham, 270 Rowland. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Sprague, 725 Miller, Orion Township.

MRS. ROBERT L. SPRAGUE

A floor-length gown of Chantilly lace with a sequin-studded Sabrina neckline was chosen by the bride. The back detailing featured tiers of lace accented with bridal satin roses.

A small crown of pearlized flowers held her elbow-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and rosebuds centered with a lavender orchid.

Maid of honor was Carol Sue Somerville of Oxford. Mrs. Donald Northcote of Clarkston and Mrs. Gerald Markell, Sue Garcia and Marilyn Beattie, all of Lake Orion, were bridesmaids.

On the esquire side; William Tallman of Lake Orion served as best man. Ushers were Donald Northcote, Gerald Markell, Lawrence Drum of Lake Orion and Paul Veilleux of Detroit.

Michelle and Tammy Seabrook, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls. His nephew, Michael Seabrook, carried the rings.

AUF WIEDERSEHEN — Kathy Stoutenburg, who was chosen to spend the summer in Vienna, Austria, by the American Field Service, is shown aboard the MS Seven Seas which sailed from New York last Wednesday. Kathy has studied German for three years at Rochester High School, where she will be a senior next fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stoutenburg, 2933 Heidelberg, Avon Township.

Novi Getting Set to OK Sewage Lines

NOVI — Village councilmen here are prepared to go ahead with plans for lateral lines from the proposed Walled Lake-Novi sewage treatment plant when they get the answers to two questions.

They are now waiting to learn what the engineers' fee for the planning would be and what Walled Lake is going to do about its share of the project.

Walled Lake councilmen have been investigating the possibility of receiving a federal grant and have not yet determined how property owners should pay for the system.

Novi councilmen decided to set up a special assessment district following a public hearing early in June.

However, they decided last night to hold up the formal resolution pending answers to their two important questions.

* * *

Novi's share of the project has been estimated at $1.1 million and Walled Lake's at $1.5 million.

Holiday Heralds Beginning of Holly Twp. Anniversary

By PAT McCARTY

HOLLY TOWNSHIP — Fourth of July festivities will herald the three-day 125th anniversary celebration here.

Catalyst for the activities will be a holiday parade starting at 11 a.m.

About 25 floats representing area businesses, industries, units of government and other organizations will be featured.

* * *

Holly and Fenton parade units will be combined for the 9:30 a.m. Fourth of July parade in Fenton. They will then travel five miles for the anniversary parade in Holly.

Also participating will be the Rae-Vens, an all-girl precision drill team from Pontiac. The 50 girls include modernistic touches like the twist and bosa nova in their routine.

The Rae-Vens will return for a repeat performance at the Holly Township Beach at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

* * *

Another parade feature will be the Genesee County sheriff's posse, which has performed in various festivals throughout the state. Members will also put on a display of horsemanship at the beach following the parade.

Other parts of the parade will include bands, drum and bugle corps, the Linden Trail Riders and about 20 or 25 antique automobiles.

Hulet-Bravender Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 5589 is in charge of the parade.

QUEEN CONTESTANTS

Among the floats will be those carrying the 22 queen contestants. Making their initial appearance in bathing suits, the girls will later don formals for an evening program at which 10 finalists will be chosen.

* * *

Also to be judged at a program following the parade will be 28 cherub queen contestants. From these toddlers, 2 to 6 years old, a queen will be picked Thursday.

The queen of the entire affair and the four members of her court will be crowned at 7 p.m. Saturday at the beach. They will reign at the coronation ball to follow in the multipurpose room of Holly High School.

The Junior Monday Club is sponsoring the queen contest for girls 16 to 21 and the Child Study Club the competition for the youngsters.

A gigantic fireworks display will cap Fourth of July activities. It is slated to begin about 8:30 p.m. at the beach.

* * *

About six carnival rides, games and other entertainment will be provided at the beach during the three days of the celebration.

Sewer Planning Continues Despite Lagging Interest

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—Despite an apparent lack of interest shown at the public hearings by 235 homeowners with sewage problems, the Township Board is going ahead with plans to build a sanitary sewer system estimated at $300,000.

The first hearing, legally invalid because it was not sufficiently advertised, attracted only about 75 people. The second hearing held Friday night had more advertising but less attendance. Only 40 were present.

Plans are moving ahead, however. The county is to furnish as accurate estimate of the project cost by July 19.

As soon as engineering is completed, the Township Board will pass a resolution for the supervisor to prepare a special assessment roll and set a date for another public hearing, as required by law.

The second hearing showed a generally favorable reaction to the project, according to Clayton Lovelace, township building inspector.

The area is bounded by Phillips, James, Dexter and Walton, and includes Walton Heights and East Walton Heights Manor subdivisions.

Although the township is not working under pressure of a court order, it has been reprimanded by the Oakland County Health Department several times about the "health hazard."

Barring major problems or opposition, construction of sewer lines probably will begin this fall. The lateral sewers in the township will connect to a trunk sewer, which will join a 15-inch main at Walton, just east of Squirrel.

* * *

Sewage from the subdivisions will then be transported by 15-inch lines into the county's sewage treatment plant in Avon Township near Avon Road and Livernois.

Begin Paving Extension of Freeway

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Highway Department has begun paving the 3.1-mile extension of the John Lodge Freeway on Detroit's Northwest Side.

* * *

When the $27-million extension is completed later this year, it will provide 12.1 miles of depressed freeway between downtown Detroit and Greenfield near Eight Mile Road.

The six-lane extension has been under construction since 1960 in the median of James Couzens Highway. It will be opened in three stages, Sept. 1, Oct. 1 and Dec. 1.

Scheduled for opening later is an additional stretch of freeway from the Greenfield end of the Lodge Freeway to connect with I-96 at Novi in Oakland County.

Government Study Due Before Council

LAKE ORION — The study of local government which has been made by a citizen's advisory committee will be revealed at the next regular Village Council meeting Monday night.

* * *

Nine residents on the committee analyzed the village charter, ordinances and sewage and water programs to make recommendations to the council.

* * *

Orion Township has set a public hearing on the proposed joint sewage system with Lake Orion for the same night.

Utica Bid to Annex Section Is Defeated

UTICA (AP) — Utica's proposal to annex a 12.7-acre residential section was rejected yesterday.

* * *

Utica voters approved 186-12 but Sterling Township disapproved 35-23. Both had to approve for the proposal to be successful.

Couple Visits Falls

Barbara Nitz Wed

WALLED LAKE — The First Baptist Church was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Barbara Kay Nitz and James Roy Ham. Rev. C. C. King officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Kerr, 3066 Brisbane. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ham, 1535 Oakley Park.

MRS. JAMES R. HAM

For her marriage the bride chose a gown of imported silk organza featuring a Sabrina neckline and lace sleeves that accentuated the lace appliqued bodice. The tiered skirt ended in a chapel train.

JEWELED CROWN

A jeweled crown held her fingertip veil. She carried a white Bible topped with white orchids.

Janet Elaine Kerr was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Billie Shepard and Sue Daniels, and Sherrie Newkirk, all of Walled Lake, and Linda Martin and Marlene Dorfman, both of Detroit.

Serving as best man was Douglas Wilson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Thomas and Frank Watrous, Stewart Glatfelter, Wilford Nitz and John York, all of Walled Lake.

* * *

Following a reception at the VFW Hall in Wixom, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls. They will reside in Walled Lake.

Two Sugar Lobbyists Criticized—Page

By WARREN DUFFEE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators have severely criticized two members of a Washington law firm that received more than $128,000 in sugar lobbying fees from the Dominican Republic and later destroyed all records on the transaction.

The criticism was leveled at Walter Sterling Surrey and Monroe Karasik, members of the Washington firm representing the Dominican Sugar Commission from 1954-56.

The case was disclosed in testimony made public last night by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is investigating lobbying by Americans for foreign interests. Surrey and Karasik were questioned in closed session on March 13 and June 20.

The transcript also revealed that an associate of the two attorneys attempted unsuccessfully to engage an Alexandria, Va., law firm in hopes of influencing chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee which was considering the 1956 Sugar Act extension.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the foreign relations group accused Surrey and Karasik of not fully complying with reporting requirements of the Foreign Agents Registration Act, under which they were registered with the Justice Department.

* * *

Karasik drew unusually scathing criticism for shifting recollections, professed lapses of memory, and apparent conflicts in his testimony. At one point, Fulbright and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said they did not believe him.

* * *

Karasik admitted that he did not tell FBI men all he knew about one aspect of the case when they questioned him several days after his first appearance before the committee.

Surrey and Karasik said their records on the case were destroyed because the firm routinely cleans out its files on closed-out matters when they are more than three years old. Both men said they did not remember any details of the destruction.

The Surrey - Karasik firm signed a contract in 1954 to lobby for a larger sugar quota for the Dominican Republic. It was to receive $95,000 plus a per-ton contingent fee on any increase in the 1956 quota.

The testimony showed that the firm received $128,227 plus reimbursement for some other out-of-pocket expenses. Surrey admitted under Fulbright's questioning that the firm had not reported about $18,000 of the total to the Justice Department and also did not report the contingency fee arrangement.

QUESTIONED ON MEMO

Karasik was questioned at length about a memorandum he wrote in Ciudad Trujillo, the Dominican capital, Jan. 28, 1956 to Jesus Maria Troncoso, secretary of state without portfolio of the Trujillo regime.

The memo boasted that the Washington firm through "personal obligation" had contacted a "powerful law firm in the senator's home state" which had three partners who would approach the unnamed senator on Jan. 30 purely on a "friendship basis "to arouse the senator's sympathy."

It also said the lawyers would not disclose that they had been hired, in the case.

The senator later was identified as Byrd and the firm as one headed by former Alexandria mayor Leroy Bendheim, with Bernard M. Fagelson as a senior partner.

The 1956 Karasik memo said "the senior member of the firm is the executive officer of the senator's political machine. The second partner is the son of the senator's first campaign manager . . . The third partner is the private confidential attorney of the senator . . . (and) handles important confidential matters for the senator's machine."

Samuel Efron of New York, a former partner who left the Surrey-Karasik firm in 1961, testified that he contacted Fagelson, whom he knew socially, about the case after Karasik reported that the Dominicans wanted to hire an extra law firm which was close to Byrd.

A fee of $2,500 plus a possible additional $5,000 was discussed, Efron said, but the Alexandria firm turned down the case.

Fagelson confirmed this and said the description of his firm in Karasik's memo was "absolutely ridiculous." The Virginia attorney said his firm turned down the offer because it did not want to registered as a foreign agent, did not feel qualified to deal with the sugar legislation, and "I did not want to trade on my political contacts or my acquaintances."

"We would be completely lost in this type of thing . . . It was just not our dish of tea," Fagelson said.

There was no evidence that Byrd was involved in the Dominican lobbying or had any knowledge of the contacts with Fagelson's firm, Fagelson was praised by committee members for his frankness.

* * *

Efron and Fagelson agreed, however, that the latter had introduced Efron to M. J. (Peachie) Menefee, Byrd's veteran administrative assistant, before the Dominican offer was made. Efron said Menefee was completely "noncommittal."

'Report Loss, or Pay Bill'

NEW YORK (AP)—If you don't report losing your credit card and the finder uses it, you're liable for the charges, a State Appeals Court has ruled.

* * *

The case involved a Bronx real estate man who lost his gasoline credit card. The finder bought $569 worth of gasoline, tires and oil.

* * *

The appellate division of the State Supreme Court affirmed Monday a ruling last year by Civil Court that the Bronx man had to pay the bill.

Littering Backfires

JACKSON, Mo. (AP)—Thomas Heyde threw a beer can onto U.S. 61 the other day. Magistrate Roland Busch gave him a choice Monday: spend 60 days in jail or the next two Sundays picking up litter along the highway. Heyde, who is in his 20s, will begin policing the road at 9 a.m. Sunday.

If your child's school offered a daily physical education period—including at least 15 minutes of vigorous activity—the physical fitness of our nation's youth could be improved.

It's a fact that nearly one-third of our children lack the strength and endurance to pass simple physical achievement tests! Your child could be among them.

That's why you should know as much about your school's physical education program as you know about its academic program. Precisely how much time is given to physical education daily? Precisely what kind of activity does it include?

For information about a program that any school can carry out—and that has made a vast improvement in the fitness of many youngsters—write to The President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D.C.

Soft Whiskey. Is it hard liquor?

Soft Whiskey is hard liquor that isn't "hard."

It doesn't have a "hard" edge to sting-bite-burn you on the way down. Incidentally, one of the ways we make it Soft is by doing some of our distilling in small batches instead of large ones. (To protect all our hard work, we can't tell you the other ways.)

Make no mistake about it, Calvert Extra is as whiskey a whiskey as you can buy. It does anything "hard" liquor can do. But does it softer.

Soft Whiskey swallows easy, with warmth, not heat. In mixed drinks, it doesn't fight the mixer. It blends smoothly, but doesn't lose itself. Even melting rocks can't cut the richness of its flavor. (You might call 86 proof Calvert Extra the ideal whiskey.)

Distillers have been pipe dreaming Soft Whiskey for years. But until recently nobody's been able to produce it. Down at our Louisville distillery alone, there were more than 22,000 unsuccessful Soft Whiskey experiments. (As you can see, anyone else who tries to reproduce Soft Whiskey has his work cut out for him. Lots of luck.)

Before you sample Calvert Extra, the Soft Whiskey, there's something you ought to keep in mind: you may never touch another drop of "hard" liquor again.

Judgeship Appointees Qualified for Bench

The PRESS heartily commends Gov. ROMNEY's choice of appointees to fill the posts of two new circuit court judgeships for Oakland County, effective Sept. 6.

This will increase the court's panel to seven.

Philip Pratt of Pontiac and James S. Thorburn of Royal Oak are unusually well qualified for the judicial recognition given them, and should ably complement the high legal stature of their colleagues.

★ ★ ★

PRATT

The appointees' careers have much in common. Both saw service in World War II, earning medals for conspicuous performance, and have been active in civic, fraternal and political areas.

A member of a Pontiac law firm, Mr. Pratt served as assistant prosecutor for Oakland County and is a past president of the Oakland County Bar Association.

★ ★ ★

THORBURN

Mr. THORBURN, now president of the association, is city attorney for Pleasant Ridge and Huntington Woods, and has served 12 years on the Royal Oak Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

In announcing his intention of appointment, the Governor said, "Both men are outstanding attorneys with fine legal reputations."

With our congratulations to Oakland County's designated "freshman" judges go all best wishes for many years of distinguished and rewarding tenure of office.

Relationship 'Foggy' Between U.S., Island

A most unusual relationship has existed between the United States and Puerto Rico.

★ ★ ★

Acquired from Spain in 1898, it was an American colony until 1952. Since then, by mutual pact, its status has been something of a governmental "hybrid."

It is not a state. It is not independent. It is a commonwealth in association with the United States, resting upon an agreement between Congress and the people of Puerto Rico.

★ ★ ★

But the defect in the arrangement is that the association has no invulnerable legal basis, which has led to island apprehension that it might not last.

Following a December 1962 proposal of the Legislative Assembly of Puerto Rico to the American Congress that called for "settlement in a democratic manner" of the country's status, a Congressional bill toward that end was introduced.

★ ★ ★

The bill, establishing a relationship which cannot be unilaterally dissolved, provides for a Puerto Rican referendum with three choices:

- Strengthening of the existing association.
- National independence.
- Statehood in the United States.

Although there is growing sentiment for statehood among the island people, there is little likelihood of its eventuating.

★ ★ ★

As a state, Puerto Rico would be entitled to two senators and six representatives, which would give it more voting power in the House of Representatives than 23 of the existing states. It is hard to imagine Congress giving such political power to what is in fact a foreign people speaking a foreign language and living under different social conditions.

★ ★ ★

Practically, therefore, our associate's future governmental position lies between the first two alternatives.

But regardless, if America is to keep untarnished its anti-colonialism standing and reputation for honoring national interests of all governments, the anomalous position of Puerto Rico should be resolved without delay.

China-Russ Split Now Seems Sure

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — A shattering Russian-Red Chinese split, something the most cunning Western statesman could not have engineered, seems certain now, perhaps this week.

★ ★ ★

MARLOW

If this doesn't drive Russia closer to the West, at least it will force her to divert more of her thinking and resources to coping with Red China in Asia and elsewhere.

This will be the best break for the allies since the cold war began. But it doesn't mean world peace is any closer or that the Atlantic partners will have sense enough to make the most of the crack in the enemy camp.

On the contrary, they may start cutting capers of their own until they, too, make a mess of themselves.

They stood together solidly enough when they felt intense pressure and danger from Russia. When Premier Khrushchev seemed to relax, they began to relax and to assert their ancient nationalism, which was exactly the basic cause of the Russian-Chinese split.

French President de Gaulle buffeted both the United States and Britain in what seems to be his dream of a French grandeur which belonged to another century. It is his way of trying to establish new French leadership in Europe.

BRITAIN, MART

He barred Britain from the European Common Market, challenged America's loyalty to its allies if they were attacked, and, using this for an excuse, is making his own nuclear weapons over American protests.

This is probably only the beginning of the allies' problems with one another. But if all these problems melted tomorrow, the Russian-Red Chinese split still wouldn't bring world peace closer.

★ ★ ★

Last week Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations guessed the Chinese Communists would explode their first atomic bomb this year or next. They have been working on it for years with little or no help from Russia.

Just as de Gaulle is unwilling to let the United States have a monopoly on nuclear weapons in the West, the Red Chinese are unwilling to let Russia have a monopoly in the East.

EXPLOSION DUE?

Differences between the two Communist giants, growing worse by the year, recently became so bad that the meeting they arranged for next Friday in Moscow to discuss them may wind up in an explosion.

Meanwhile, the United States and Britain had arranged to meet in the same place with the Russians July 15 to discuss a nuclear test ban. There's not much optimism about the outcome of that, either.

★ ★ ★

A triple dubiety — with the United States, Russia and Red China all distrusting one another—is hardly a happy foundation for a test ban agreement between the United States and Russia, even if one could be reached.

There would still be the Red Chinese to think about.

Would they agree not to test, just because the United States and Russia had agreed not to? Hardly!

Would the United States and Russia, if they could reach agreement, keep it if they saw Red Chinese testing? It isn't likely.

★ ★ ★

The Red Chinese complaint that the Russians aren't aggressive enough is probably a thin excuse for deeper discontents: their rival nationalisms, their eventual conflict over living space in Asia, and Russia's skimpy help to the Red Chinese before and after they took power.

Mined Waters

David Lawrence Says:

Goldwater Rough on Democrats

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona may or may not become the Republican presidential nominee next year, but he certainly has done more lately than any other member of his party to point up the weaknesses of the Democratic party.

The speech which the Arizona senator delivered a few days ago before the Young Republican national convention at San Francisco was the first time any Republican spokesman really told the American people what a tremendous influence the "corrupt, big-city political machines" have achieved in state and national politics.

LAWRENCE

Mr. Goldwater evidently believes it is more important in his public addresses to expose the weaknesses of the Democratic party than it is to extol his own virtues or to outline the programs his party would follow if successful at the next election.

This is well-tested strategy in American politics. Until the electorate is convinced that the party in power deserves to be turned out, there is not much political advantage in proposing the usual panaceas for current problems.

Mr. Goldwater's attack on big-city machines is reminiscent of the kind of attack Woodrow Wilson used to make against the bosses in his own party. Mr. Goldwater finds so-called "liberalism" nowadays at fault in that it professes to be interested in idealism but fails to make any attack on the corrupt city machines. Mr. Goldwater says:

★ ★ ★

"You who are here from New York City, do you really believe that the Tammany machine is broken? Do you believe that government in your city is free from the graft and corruption so characteristic of big-city machines?

'BUSINESS AS USUAL'

"I seem to recall some investigations during the last several years that seem to suggest that business is going on very much as usual in New York City. In fact, only several days ago the press reported that an emissary from very high places made a special trip to visit with Carmine De Sapio. You know who it was —It was one of the relatives!

"And you who are here from Pennsylvania, what about the Green machine in Philadelphia. Has there ever been a tougher, more tightly controlled political machine in the history of Philadelphia?

"And what about you people from Illinois? Let me ask you about politics in Cook County.

"What about the ruthless Cook County machine in Chicago? Is it any different from the Kelly-Nash machine of which it is the heir?

★ ★ ★

Charges were made in November 1960 that the voting in Cook County in the districts controlled by the Democratic bosses was highly irregular, and, since Nixon lost in Illinois by only about 8,000 votes, the shift of a few ballots might have made a difference in the way the state's 27 electoral votes were finally cast.

SUPPORTERS UNEASY

The Goldwater boom, whose growth is reflected in recent public-opinion polls, is based to some extent on the widespread opposition that has arisen to the Rockefeller candidacy, but much of it is due also to the forthright position the Arizona senator has taken in national affairs.

The chances are that the Arizona senator will not announce flatly now that he will become a candidate, but will wait until the spring of 1964 before doing so.

Bob Considine Says:

Hard to Follow Kennedy During His European Trip

ROME — It is next to impossible to report fully on President Kennedy's trip. The man crowds too much into each work day. Each appointment is of a different nature, each speech different, each move fused with its own significance.

CONSIDINE

There is not time to write a story about each date he keeps and what happened there. Before a fellow could compose two paragraphs the President would have left that place and gone on to another story.

Matter of fact, there are no fast transmission facilities available at such widely diversified points as let's say, Fiumicino Airport, Quirinale Palace, Villa Taerna (U.S. ambassadors residence), Villa Madama (premier Leone's Hangout) the Unknown Soldier's tomb at Victor Emmanuel Monument, the Campidoglio where he'll meet Mayor Bella Porta, the U.S. Embassy, the Pope's library, North American College (where Scranton's beaming Archbishop Martin J. O'Connor will greet him), NAEO headquarters in Naples and Capodichino Airport there.

And if there were facilities, who could print it all? I'm surprised at an old International News Service hand making up a schedule like that.

★ ★ ★

Apropos the above, the veteran Irish newspaperman, Jack Grealish, was at the bar at the Gresham in Dublin the night of JFK's triumphant parade into the capital.

"He looks a great deal like a lad I met here in 1946," Jack said. "He was an American then, too, and seemed to have a touch of malaria. Anyway, he looked like he needed a drink so I took him around the corner to Mulligan's.

"Said he was a reporter for INS. Must have asked me a thousand questions as we drank stout; seemed to know a lot about James Joyce. He was headed for Czechoslovakia or some unlikely place like that," he told me.

"Do you remember the boy's name?" we asked.

"I've got it here somewhere," Jack said, thumbing through some spurious notes. "Kennedy — that's it. John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

There seems to be a wealth of deep silence emanating from those Casandras, including the New York Times, who thought the President was daft to tackle Europe at this time.

★ ★ ★

The presidential trip has taken on every aspect of a triumphant tour, in the face of such dour comments as those of Sen. Goldwater — who told him to stay home and take care of the raging domestic issues.

In Washington:

Uncle Sam Lives on the Cuff

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Your federal government begins the fiscal year 1964, as of July 1, in the usual confused financial shape.

EDSON

The President has signed into law only one appropriation bill to run the government in the coming year. It's the Treasury - Post Office appropriation for $6 billion. If everything else is allowed to go to pot, it's well to keep the mails going and the bills paid.

This record is a net improvement of one more appropriation bill passed than a year ago. House Appropriations Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon and Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Carl Hayden were then having their feud over which side of the Capitol they'd meet on to compromise their differences.

★ ★ ★

They didn't settle the issue till July, while government ran on the cuff.

In all emergencies, Senate and House pass and the President signs into law a bill giving government agencies temporary authority to go on paying the help and spending other money. That's the way it will be done this year until Congress gets around to completing action on appropriations for newly authorized programs, gosh only knows when.

In the meantime, the economizers haven't been doing too well.

Early in the session, Republican leaders announced they were going to cut the President's 1964 budget of $98.9 billion by 15 per cent — $14.9 billion. Present indications are they won't cut it even 10 per cent, and maybe not even 5 per cent.

You can only have bad dreams about what that might do to the tax cut. If it has to wait for action on appropriation bills, it won't be decided till after Labor Day, and maybe after Armistice Day.

There have been some promising cuts made by the House Appropriations Committee, where money bills originate. The Pentagon's $49 billion budget was cut $1.9 billion in committee. A 15 per cent cut would have been $7.3 billion. But on the House floor, only one cut of $10 million on procurement of Army radios by competitive bidding was made. This was victory after a two-year fight by Rep. Earl Wilson, R-Ind.

★ ★ ★

The box score on House economizing now looks like this, in comparison to what 15 per cent cuts would be: in this order: Appropriation; Budget Request; House Cut; 15 Per Cent Cut:

Agriculture, $7.2 billion, $398 million, $1.1 billion;

Defense, $49.0 billion; $1.9 billion; $7.3 billion;

Interior, $1.0 billion; $43 million; $154 million;

Legislative, $148 million; $8.5 million; $22 million;

Treasury - Post Office $6.0 billion; $101 million, $906 million;

State, Commerce, Justice and Judiciary $2.1 billion, $308 million, $323 million.

This last item is the closet economizers have come to making a 15 per cent cut. The big money bills on which substantial savings are possible are the $5.7 billion space program, the $5.3 billion Health, Education and Welfare bill and the $4.5 billion for foreign aid.

President Kennedy has done a little juggling on his January budget requests. First he voluntarily recommended cuts in his programs amounting to $020 million. But in his civil rights message he recommended taking $400 million of this and spending it for aids to integrated education, employment security, health and welfare programs.

★ ★ ★

The President has also recommended a few increases in the 1964 budget for Bureau of Reclamation, Corps of Engineers, Tennessee Valley Authority and Veterans Administration. But they total only $6.7 million. This can be covered in the $250 million appropriated for contingencies.

Perhaps the best news is that the budget deficit for fiscal 1963 will not be as large as the $8.8 billion predicted. Treasury won't have final figures for some weeks but expenditures will be a little below the $94.3 billion estimated.

And receipts will be above the $85.5 billion estimated.

Readers Disagree on Court Ruling

Apparently these critics who criticize the Supreme Court ruling on religion, live in homes that are completely godless and do not send or take their children to Sunday school. The letters imply that if children are denied religion in school they will grow up ignorant of Christian beliefs.

The poor teachers have their hands full trying to equip their charges with enough learning to take a gainful place in society as adults. Our Constitution puts the responsibility for moral and religious training in the home where it belongs.

M. D.

It saddens me to see the Supreme Court decision. After being a Sunday school teacher for two years, I feel there are a number of children who only receive the Christian education from school and on Sunday.

I can't imagine anyone except a nonbeliever who would disapprove of it. They should send their children to private schools.

Betty Geeck
Clarkston

The Supreme Court has said that I may continue to send my children to public schools with the knowledge and assurance that they will not be compelled to participate in any activity of a religious nature.

The court is to be commended for the wisdom and courage it took to render that decision.

'Friend of Court Violates Rights'

Prosecutor George Taylor says there are no major violations of civil rights in our county. He, of course, was referring to the racial problems.

There are over 10,000 cases of civil rights violations in this county. I'm referring to the policies of the Oakland County Friend of the Court office.

There is no equal justice there. The woman invariably gets custody of the children with the man paying through the nose until the children are on their own. Is this not a violation of a man's equal rights under the 14th amendment? A man has no equal rights in Michigan when it comes to divorce matters.

'Have No Voice in Keego Harbor'

Apparently, power and prejudice are prominent at the Keego Harbor City Hall. People have no voice in matters pertaining to their homes and property.

The Board of Appeals was formulated, many years ago, for the purpose of making decisions, in relation to building and property adjustments.

It is soon to be dissolved because it did not meet with the approval of this city council, even though, "they designated the duties of a decision, on this matter, to the Board of Appeals."

To place this much power in the hands of a few certainly is not proper. To reach a decision you must have open minds.

SAGINAW (AP) — A 51-year-old tavern owner was shot twice and wounded critically today as his assailant escaped with $700, police said.

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney yesterday promoted Malcom Lovell Jr. of Metamora, Lapeer County, to chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board and named Robert Howlett, Grand Rapids attorney, as a board member.

★ ★ ★

Romney first appointed Lovell to the three-member board in February. His appointment as chairman is for a three-year term ending in 1965. He succeeds Allan Chisholm of Detroit, whose term expired June 30.

Romney Addresses Convention

Lauds Antibias Aspects of New-Con

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — Gov. George Romney said yesterday Michigan's new constitution prohibits discrimination in any form and thus makes any additional legislation on the subject unnecessary.

Speaking to the convention of the Michigan Automobile Dealers' Association, Romney also touched on fiscal reform, public political participation, youth crime, Michigan's image, traffice safety and auto sales.

The governor listed as Michigan tax problems:

- Business is taxed more heavily than in other states, discouraging Michigan's business community.
- New businesses are taxed more heavily than established ones, leading to dissatisfaction.
- The tax structure is hard on low-income families who must spend a disproportionate amount of their incomes on necessities, creating an effect opposite from that of a graduated income tax.

Romney deplored increasing appeals for federal aid, saying anything done by Washington in the long run costs nearly twice what it would if done at home.

During his recent citizens meetings on fiscal reform around the state, Romney said, he found a concensus that too little was being spent for education and mental health and too much for welfare.

Michigan's major social problems, he added, cannot be solved merely with money and government but require the active participation of community members.

On youth crime, Romney said it is the responsibility of schools, neighborhoods and churches to deal with the problem. He said legislative efforts dealing with juvenile crime are being focused on these levels.

Romney said Michigan's image, badly tarnished in recent years, has improved because of the state's new constitution, last fall's elections and what he called a successful legislative session.

He said there has been greater cooperation between the legislature and the state executive branch.

The governor also cited new programs in economic expansion and mental health which, he said, put the emphasis on more local responsibilities for these matters.

U.S. Embassy Smuggling?

CAIRO (AP) — Cairo newspapers today carried stories of three diplomatic currency smuggling operations totaling $1.5 million. Reliable informants said the embassies involved were those of the United States, Lebanon and Mali.

"No comment," said the press attache at the U.S. Embassy. "We know nothing about the affair," a Lebanese Embassy spokesman said. There was no comment from Mali.

Press reports said yesterday the Mali ambassador was questioned about Egyptian currency found in his luggage when he returned recently from Saudi Arabia.

Australia Oil Man Dies

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — George Samuel Bays, 50, manufacturing and refining director of Esso Standard Oil (Australia) Ltd., died Monday of a heart attack. Bays was manufacturing coordinator for Esso in Coral Gables, Fla., before he came to Australia in 1962. He was born in Tulsa, Okla.

Junior Editors Quiz on GREENLAND

QUESTION: Why does Greenland look so large on a map when it is really smaller than the U.S.?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Since the earth is a sphere, like an orange, the way to see the real shape of continents, islands and oceans is to study them as they appear on a globe (A). Notice that the north and south, or latitude, lines are equally spaced all the way up; but the longitude or east-west lines squeeze together toward the north and south.

Such a globe is true, but it can't be used by the navigator in (B) who wants to draw his ship's course in one straight line. He must have a flat map. The trouble is that if we flatten out the latitude and longitude lines for this purpose, the longitude lines will all run straight up (C) and the latitude lines be farther apart as one goes north or south.

This makes a tremendous distortion in such a northern country as Greenland, which you can see by comparing its shape on the flattened-out "Mercator Projection" (D) with its true shape as shown looking down on the North Pole (E). In spite of this, the Mercator Projection suits the navigator's purpose and is widely used.

We show Greenland (G.D.) as it appears on such recent projections as the Cylindrical Projection (F) and the Homolosine Equal Area Projection (G).

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Check your Atlases and books to see if you can find maps of the world made on the last two projections mentioned—you'll find the projection type in fine print. Notice that Greenland is still distorted on these—because it's so far north. No flat map can be really accurate.

Open-Housing Rule Proposed in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The City Council received a proposed open-occupancy ordinance from two of its members yesterday and turned it over to a group already drafting such a measure.

The proposal, introduced by members William T. Patrick Jr. and Mel J. Ravitz, was referred to the Commission on Community Relations and the Corporation (city) Counsel.

The proposed ordinance would provide a $500 fine of a 90-day jail term, or both, for persons guilty of discrimination racially or otherwise in the sale or rental of homes.

309 ICBM Missiles Ready on Defense Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 300 intercontinental ballistice missiles now stand ready on the U.S. line of defense.

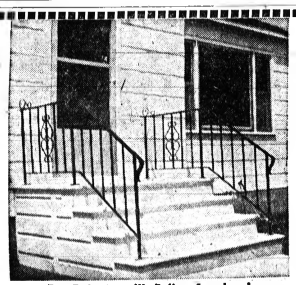

The combat - ready figure reached 309 when the first 20 of the Air Force's second wing of Minuteman missiles were turned over Monday to the Strategic Air Command at Ellsworth Air Force Base in South Dakota.

Alcohol a Narcotic Impairing Judgment

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Alcohol is a narcotic. Only one who is addled by it argues that it is not a narcotic. It takes just a small dose of alcohol, the amount in a cocktail or two or in a bottle of beer, to inhibit or benumb the higher cerebral processes and impair judgment, so that one under the influence gets into trouble because he or she hasn't the sense or judgment to behave.

Result: trouble which he or she would normally have sense enough to avoid.

Some are confirmed alcohol addicts. Not necessarily alcoholics — that is, they may not as yet drink enough to bring shame or misfortune upon themselves or their families, but they are quite likely to become alcoholics.

Some call themselves "social" drinkers. This, they think, covers up their weakness of character. They drink "socially" because they haven't the strength of character it takes to say "No, thank you, I don't drink."

* * *

This weakness of character is common in teen-age children who have never taken the pledge of total abstinence.

Yesterday I finished a smokeless week. I have smoked a pipe for more than 50 years. It has been a source of a great deal of pleasure, and I know of no reason why I should stop smoking.

However I like to satisfy myself that I am not an addict. So, from time to time, I have a smokeless week. Enough to prove that I could get along all right without smoking. Occasionally in the course of the smokeless week, I unconsciously reached for my pipe, then remembered I wasn't smoking, and forgot it.

I don't know from personal experience, but I believe it is easier to quit smoking a pipe than it is to quit smoking cigars or cigarettes. So I suggest that cigar or cigarette smokers who want to quit but can't, switch to pipe smoking.

LESS HARMFUL

Pipe smoking, by the way, is less harmful than cigar or cigarette smoking, because the pipe smoker inhales little or no carbon monoxide, the cigar smoker inhales some, and the cigarette smoker inhales a good deal.

I believe carbon monoxide is the cause of the ill effects of smoking, and "nicotine" is not responsible. The nicotine in tobacco is destroyed by combustion.

A person absorbs more nicotine from a chew of tobacco than is present in the smoke of a handful of cigars or a pack of cigarettes.

* * *

Alcohol addicts and alcoholics sometimes say they can take it or they can let it alone, but rarely if ever does one prove it. So deceptive is the inhibiting effect of alcohol upon judgment that some of these addicts probably believe they could let it alone if they chose to do so.

Just as some poor goofs, when they take one too many, consider themselves at least equal if not superior to anybody and everybody — an attitude calculated to precipitate a brawl whenever the narcotic flows freely.

I have wondered why people in general are so reluctant to ask their children to pledge that they will not use alcohol before the age of 21. Now I am beginning to understand why.

It is because the income of so many people is derived wholly or partly from the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor and beverage.

The various taxes collected by federal, state and local govern-ment on the manufacture and sale of the narcotic make a grand source of boodle for the politicians, but even if all tax money were used for the public welfare it would not begin to pay for the hospitals, jails, courts and other service popular use of alcohol makes necessary.

No one in his right mind can doubt that alcohol is a narcotic. All the other narcotics you can name are of minor importance compared with alcohol.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining, to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Lt. Col. Edwards, 43, formerly of Detroit, collapsed and died yesterday at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base of an apparent heart attack.

Edwards was chief of the Air Force logistics command safety office.

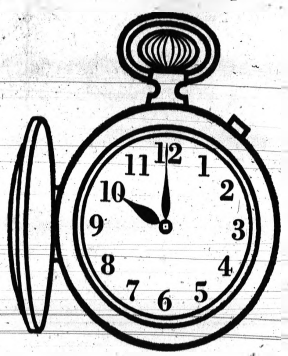

Trieste to Return to Thresher's Grave

BOSTON (UPI) — The bathyscaph Trieste, which failed to find the sunken submarine Thresher during five dives, is expected to return to the search scene after an extensive overhaul here.

Officials in Washington said yesterday it was expected that Trieste would return to the site 220 miles off the New England coast for further descents.

A high-level conference was scheduled to be held regarding the search after the bathyscaph's overhaul.

your U.S. Savings Bond won't lose its value...or even stop growing

What hasn't happened to U.S. Savings Bonds?

They've been stolen and thrown into a river. Mistakenly left in an oven and baked at 400°. Hidden in a cookie jar and eaten full of holes by hungry beetles. Forgotten in a pair of work pants and washed, bleached and spin dried. Cut into tiny pieces by an irate wife. Gnawed by mice, and gobbled up by goats.

Yet, in spite of all these misfortunes, these Bonds weren't lost to their owners. They didn't even stop growing in value.

The Treasury Department keeps a record on microfilm of every Savings Bond sold. So every bond that's lost, destroyed or stolen can be replaced. The service is free.

The safety is just one of the many reasons why U.S. Savings Bonds are the most widely held securities in the world. Another good reason why you should invest in Bonds is the important job they can do right now in making America safer from the enemies of freedom.

Buy Bonds and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

★

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

• You get $4 for every $3 at maturity • You can get your money anytime • Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Pool's a Cool Spot to Beat Hot Season

It's a good spot to spend a hot day. Some 25 local families have formed a cabana club and have the use of the swimming pool at the Savoy Motel on South Telegraph Road. In the foreground is Mrs. J. E. Graybeil, Oneida Road, who knits while her four children play in and around the pool.

Mrs. Ralph Brown, North Johnson Avenue (left), and Mrs. William Fox, Edgefield Drive, are about to have their conversation interrupted. Coming on the run after a dip in the pool are Debbie Brown and Christine, Darlene and Lee Fox.

Both Greet Guests at Formal Fete

By The Emily Post Institute

Q. When my husband and I give a party, who receives the guests — my husband or I, or do we both greet them together? Will you please tell me the correct procedure?

★ ★ ★

A: At a formal party you stand at the door and greet each of your guests as they enter the room. Your husband stands nearby: not directly beside you but near enough to greet the new arrivals as soon as they have been welcomed by you.

At an informal party, it doesn't matter who greets the guests first. It may well be that your husband is nearer them when they arrive, in which case he naturally greets them and you go forward as soon as you are aware of their presence.

Or perhaps he may be looking after an earlier arrival, in which case you welcome them and he greets them as soon as he sees them.

Q: My father has always signed his name H. William Greene. He dislikes his first name and never uses it and he absolutely refuses to do so now on my wedding invitations.

I have been told that initials are not correct on an engraved invitation and that names must be written in full.

Would it be too far outside the realm of good taste to use the initial in this case, or would it be better to omit it entirely and just use William Greene, which is really not his correct name?

★ ★ ★

A: To be impeccably correct, names should be engraved in full on a formal wedding invitation. However, since your father has always used the name H. William Greene it will not be improper to use the initial on your invitations.

Q: I am to be married soon and have asked a friend who lives several hundred miles away to be my best man. Because time is an important factor, he will fly here and back. I am told that it is up to me to pay his transportation. Is this true?

A: He pays his own traveling expenses. You are, however, expected to provide accommodations for him while he is in your city.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

'Unrealistic Pressure on Women'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Homes are becoming simply houses, or shelters a womens magaxine editor charged Sunday, because of unrealistic pressure for perfection placed on American women.

Hubbard Cobb of New York, editor - in - chief of Ladies Home Journal and the American Home magazines, said a woman is supposed to keep a house spotlessly clean, keep herself elegantly groomed, prepare excellent meals, work 18 hours a day like a horse, and still be happy and sympathetic.

Such standards, he told about 600 members of home economists in business, are "impossible even for a superwoman."

The real value of a home, he said are love, security, understanding, and a place of refuge and retreat.

"Let up on yourself," he advised. "You don't have to be a paragon every minute, every day, every year; if you're getting satisfaction out of your life, this will be passed along to your family."

News Briefs on Birmingham-Hills

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

A significant event took place in the Don Ahren's family this past week. Mr. and Mrs. Ahren, with their immediate families, including Sarah Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Byrnes Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ahrens and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Ahrens —all in all 20, including grandchildren — traveled to St. Louis, Mo. to see daughter Sister Luise as she was professed in the Marykroll Missionary Order.

It was a most solemn and impressive ceremony leaving an everlasting memory with the entire family.

The Jeffrey Ahrens with their 9-month-old son Andrew are spending some time with the senior Ahrens on Haverhill Road before returning to their home in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Krafve, formerly of Bloomfield Hills and now living in San Francisco, are visiting their many friends here for a few days.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F Klein and Elmer Sylvester returned Sunday after spending a few days with the Gray Muzzys at their summer home at Castle Park.

FORMAL EVENT

Bloomfield Hills Country Club had its first summer formal dinner-dance Saturday evening. Tables were set on the lawn around the dance floor. The weather was perfect and everyone seemed to have a happy time enjoying Herbie Ross and his orchestra.

In the large group were Mr. and Mrs. Semon Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. Newell McCuen, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conway, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. John Shenefield.

Present also were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Audette, Mr. and Mrs. George Webb, Mr. and Mrs. VanderKloot, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wellock, Mr. Mrs. Jamison Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gawne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keller and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jayne.

MRS. KENNETH M. ROCK

Join Couple in Methodist Church Rites

Virginia Anne Guthrie became Mrs. Kenneth Merrill Rock at a recent candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. James McClung in St. Paul Methodist Church.

The bride, daughter of the G. F. Guthries, Hillfield Road, appeared in white organza with Chantilly lace bodice and cathedral train. She carried white roses, carnations and Stephanotis.

Lora Guthrie was her sister's honor maid in aquamarine silk organza with bell overskirt. She held aquamarine and white carnations as did bridesmaids Judith Runser, Rochester, and Mrs. Robert Hollis.

The bridegroom, son of the Jerome Rocks, Myra Street, chose John DePauw as his best man. Robert Hollis and Robert Weis ushered, and William Quist served as acolyte.

Guests were greeted on the church lawn before the couple left for northern Michigan. The bride attended Michigan State University and her husband is enrolled at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Trip in Ontario Follows Warren-Kent Wedding

Before leaving for a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, Ont., and their new home in Wabash, Ind., the William Jean Warrens greeted guests in the YMCA club rooms.

★ ★ ★

Rev. Carl Koerner was assisted by Rev. Charles Russell, Roann, Ind., and Rev. Doyl Hofferbeck of Muncie, Ind., at the recent nuptials in the First Free Methodist Church.

Parents of the former Mary Katherine Kent of Wabash are the Ralph D. Kents, West Rutgers Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of the Marion Warrens of Muncie.

A nylon illusion veil bildwed over the bride's gown of white nylon organza and sequined Alencon lace styled with tiered skirt and brush train. Gardenias and Stephanotis comprised her bouquet.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Marvin Weyer, her sister's honor matron and bridesmaids Mrs. Richard Kent and Mrs. Harry Glass Jr. of Matthews, Ind., wore powder blue taffeta. They carried blue-tipped white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Julie Marie Kent was flower girl. Lighting the candles were Sharon Monroe and Linda Wiley of LaFontaine, Ind.

Henry Glass Jr. was best man. David and Paul Kent ushered.

The new Mrs. Warren is an alumna of Marion College, Marion, Ind.

Wed recently in the First Free Methodist Church were Mary Katherine Kent, Wabash, Ind., daughter of the Ralph D. Kents, West Rutgers Avenue, and William Jean Warren, son of the Marion Warrens, Muncie, Ind.

MRS. WILLIAM JEAN WARREN

Pair Weds in Baptist Ceremony

The Calvary Baptist Church was the setting for the recent nuptials of Cynthia Ann Johnson and Steve Craig Nelson.

Princess-line white peau de soie for the daughter of the Russell C. Johnsons of Savoy Drive was fashioned with Alencon lace bodice and veil of silk illusion and carried white roses, Stephanotis and ivy.

MRS. S. C. NELSON

Wearing peach brocaded taffeta were honor matron, Mrs. Edwin G. Moor, Albemarle, N.C., also bridesmaids Sandra Johnson and Jane Clearwaters of Minneapolis, Minn. Their bouquets were Mary Jo roses and pittosporum.

The bridegroom, son of the George Nelsons of Milwaukee, Wis., had Dennis Aird of Chicago for best man. Paul Fosmark of Salem, Ore., ushered with the bride's brother Roger.

Travel Manners Show

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A tourist is judged by his travel manners and the better they are the better the impression made on strangers at home and abroad.

★ ★ ★

The better also you will enjoy your trip if you exercise the rules of courtesy. Good manners add to the good service you get too from the motels, hotel, roadside eating places, airlines, trains and buses.

But, from talking to various persons in the travel industry, we have compiled Pauley's easy guide for testing your vacation etiquette.

● Do you hog two seats in the bus, train or plane by deliberately placing your coat, purse or other paraphernalia on the second seat, hoping thereby to seal it off?

● Do you on plane hang assorted cameras, coats or other accessories including flight bags in your area so that they overlap and create a hazard—or anyway discomfort—for the person behind or in front of you?

● Do you light a cigarette, pipe or cigar without asking whether smoking bothers the person sitting next to you?

● Do you use the ash tray nearest you or prefer to lean over and use the one of your neighbor, dusting ashes as you go?

★ ★ ★

● Do you march up to the reception desk of hotel or motel and elbow others aside who are in line ahead of you to register?

● Do you adapt, if the conditions are not as perfect as promised?

● In motor travel, especially in the United States, do you use the roadside picnic areas as if litter did not hurt?

★ ★ ★

● Do you remember to say thank you to the filling station attendant, the policeman or anyone else who acts as a free guide?

There are a dozen times a day the tourist has a chance to say thank you and make traveling a treat instead of a trauma.

She Just Needs Boy Friend to Say 'Wash Your Face!'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There isn't a day that goes by that my 18-year-old daughter doesn't read every word you write.

Maybe you will help me out by telling her something I don't have the heart to tell her.

She is scaring me off with her make-up. She is a sweet, wonderful girl, but when she is through with the paint brush she looks like something else.

It is something new with her. Her once beautiful eyes now look like something from a horror magazine.

I have nothing against make-up, but I hate that cheap, artificial look. I want my daughter to look sweet, wholesome and natural as she used to.

SAD DAD

DEAR SAD: Move over. That horror-look is the fashion now, and nothing I could say would convince your daughter to give it up.

ABBY

But have hope. If she meets a young man who tells her to wash her face or no soap . . . you'll have your sweet, wholesome, natural-looking daughter back again.

DEAR ABBY: Please save me and "my" parishioners from further blunders. The wedding season is upon us again, and I would appreciate your printing an answer to this question:

Is the minister's wife automatically invited to every wedding in her husband's church?

I have never attended a wedding as a guest unless I have been specifically invited.

Yet many parishioners have told me afterwards that they "expected" me, and were very disappointed when I didn't show up.

MINISTER'S WIFE

★ ★ ★

DEAR WIFE: You, my dear, are correct. Nobody is "automatically" invited anywhere.

If the Reverend and Mrs. So and So are expected to attend an invitational affair, they should be sent an invitation.

DEAR ABBY: At the place I work there is a girl who despises me, although I don't know why. When I speak to her she turns her head.

I am being married soon and wanted to send all my co-workers individual wedding invitations.

★ ★ ★

Not wanting to leave her out, I asked a co-worker for her address. When she found out who the address was for she refused to give it out.

Still trying to be friendly, sent her an invitation to our place of employment. She returned it to me through a foreman.

★ ★ ★

Did I do the right thing in sending her an invitation? And wasn't she wrong to return it to me?

FRIENDLY

DEAR FRIENDLY: You were foolish to have forced an invitation on the girl, knowing she refused to give her address to your go-between. But she topped you when she sent it back with the foreman.

Don't Twist Lace

Area Youths Sing in Europe

Cheryl Montgomery, a mezzo-soprano, is the only student from Pontiac to sing with the Michigan Youth Chorale in England, Finland, Sweden and Denmark this summer.

★ ★ ★

A June 1963 graduate of Pontiac Northern High School, she is the daughter of the Thomas Montgomerys of Cameron Avenue.

★ ★ ★

Other area students on the tour are Lynda Weston, Claudia Kesler, Marilyn Mitchell and Jere Stone, Birmingham; Bonnie Mitchell and John Slinker, Union Lake; Michael Panduren, Oxford; Marcella Neal and Susan Seeley, Farmington; Pamela Capaldi, John Elliot and Sharon Hohnke, Rochester; and Carol Castor, David Goldstein and Margaret Luehmann, Southfield.

★ ★ ★

The 70-member chorale group left the Metropolitan Airport Thursday night. Its first performance was scheduled for Friday at Burton-upon-Trent, a five-hour bus ride from London.

FOUNDED IN '58

Founded in 1958, the Michigan Youth Chorale is a part of the Youth for Understanding Program of the Michigan Council of Churches. Some 50,000 applicants (all 17 years of age) from all over Michigan were auditioned.

They are chosen for the quality of their voices, their musicianship and potentiality as good ambassadors of the U.S. in other countries. Throughout the fall and winter they rehearse for the coming summer tour, many of them traveling up to 100 miles for each rehearsal.

In addition, each member of the group has to furnish $750.00 for tour expense money.

Repertoire ranges from the classical to the modern Broadway musical comedy and "pop" songs and also includes interpretation of Negro spirituals and American folk songs.

DISTINGUISHED CAREER

Lester McCoy, conductor has had a distinguished career as tenor soloist and conductor. Since 1947, he has directed the Michigan University Choral Union of 300 voices.

16-DAY STAY

During a 16-day stay in Burton, each member of the Youth Chorale will stay with a Burton family. This year will see nine 17-year-old Burton boys and girls going to Michigan for a year.

Ten Michigan girls will stay with Burton families for the summer period of 10 weeks.

On Sept. 1 the Youth Chorale will give the final concert in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor at 3 p.m. This will be under the joint sponsorship of the University Musical Society and the Michigan Council of Churches.

CHERYL

Following Rites

Nuptial Luncheon Held

MRS. DAVID W. ROSS

A luncheon in the Coral Reef Room of Airway Lounge followed recent vows of Barbara Jean Gottschalk to David William Ross in St. Benedict Church.

The Samuel J. Gottschalks of Cooley Lake Road were hosts at an evening reception for the couple. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Velma Ross, Edgewater Drive, and William Ross, Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

A diamond-set white gold shadow cross, gift of the bridegroom's mother, accented the bride's gown of white Rochelle lace over satin styled with sweep train. Fingertip veiling completed her ensemble. Her bouquet included white carnations and Stephanotis.

Honor maid Jacqueline Gottschalk and bridesmaids Mrs. Harry Dearborn and Mrs. Darwin Williams, Flint, wore mint green, pink and yellow dresses with white organdy overskirts. They carried baskets of matching carnations.

★ ★ ★

On the esquire side were best man Louie Palace and ushers Larry Brown and Charles and David Goff.

The bride was graduated from Flint Junior College and Mr. Ross attends Lawrence Institute of Technology.

The couple is honeymooning in upper Michigan.

Glossy Shoeshine

When polishing shoes, to add extra gloss to the shine, add some paraffin wax to the shoe polish.

Highway guard rails can be scraped, washed and painted at the rate of a mile a day by equipment attached to a truck.

Church Scene for Vows

MRS. C. E. FRENCH

The Emmanuel Baptist Church was the setting for recent vows of Doris Elaine Townley, West Huron Street, and Clifford Elwin French of Liberty Street.

Parents of the couple are the Charles Townleys of Oakdale, La., and Mrs. Edith French of Wooster, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

White Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned the bride's floor-length gown. Her bouffant illusion veil was held by a jeweled tiara. Cascading white carnations and Stephanotis rested on her white prayer book.

Marlene Smith was honor maid, and Sandra Zietek, Sharon Carpenter and Beverly Mikolan were bridesmaids.

★ ★ ★

On the esquire side were best man Jerry French and ushers George Minton, James Dennis and Orville Theaker.

The couple will honeymoon in the southern states. Mr. French is a graduate of Midwestern Baptist Seminary where his bride has been a student.

MRS. JAMES S. DAILEY

Newlyweds Honeymoon in North

The James Sidney Daileys (Judith Anne Colegrove) left for a northern honeymoon following recent vows and a reception in the First Methodist Church, Milford.

Their parents are the Virgil R. Colegroves of Milford and the Vacell D. Daileys of Windiate Drive.

Repeating vows to the Rev. Howard Short, the bride was gowned in floor-length white peau satin and French lace. A pearl diadem topped her illusion veil. She carried miniature pink roses and white chrysanthemums.

★ ★ ★

Pastel chiffon and lace dresses for the attendants were blue for maid of honor, Jane Colegrove, with Diana and Mary Buccellato, Milford, wearing pink, yellow and green, respectively. They carried matching pompons.

Best man was Carl Walker. Ushers included Louis Garner, Southfield, Harold Callahan, and James Colegrove and Roger Dailey, brothers of the couple.

English poppies abound with matching binding highlighting the skills of Mr. Dino. Top- and match-lined pants by Mr. Dino, a division of Chestnut Hill Industries, Inc., are available locally.

Grow a Coal Plant

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I remember as a child we used to take a cinder or coal, add something white and some coloring. If I remember right this used to "grow." I mentioned it to my children and they want to try it. I wonder if one of the girls would remember how to do it—MRS. E. H. JR.

GIRLS—Betty, my assistant, had a recipe for a "coal plant" that had belonged to her mother.

Mix together six tablespoons of laundry bluing, six tablespoons salt, six tablespoons water and one tablespoon ammonia.

Drop some food coloring (any color) over five or six egg-size pieces of coal and pour the other mixture over it.

Children are fascinated because they can see it "grow" in a couple of hours when a colorful fungus growth appears on the coal.—POLLY.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — While traveling last summer we stopped at a roadside table for a picnic lunch.

A family at a nearby table used a narrow contour sheet on their table instead of a tablecloth.

The wind was blowing but the corners of their "cloth" didn't need weights nor flap up in their food.—G. C.

GIRLS—That would be a good way to use an older, twin-size contour sheet.

If it should have few small holes, cover them with appliques of fruit cut from scraps of cotton material.

Each corner of a tablecloth could be folded under the table and secured with a safety pin, too.—POLLY.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY—I sent in a hint before but no luck. So my hopes are pinned on the following.

I buy white shag rugs and use them in the master bedroom until they no longer come out of the wash pristine white.

Then I dye them to match the color schemes in other rooms of the house.

If a friend or acquaintance mentions a favorite food, do make a note of it.

If this person is a guest in your house at a later date, he or she will be amazed and pleased that you remembered. —Mrs. L. D. H.

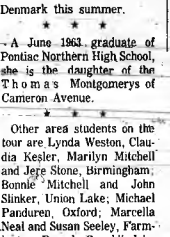

GIRLS—It is equally thoughtful to make note of foods particularly disliked by friends and relatives.

Thanks for writing again, Mrs. L. D. H. It did pay off on the second go-round.—POLLY.

Avoid Crash Leave Right

CHICAGO (UPI)—The automobile driver and his passengers always should leave the car from the sidewalk side, advises the Chicago Motor Club.

Opening your door in traffic not only could cause a passing car to hit you, but could cause an accident when it swerves to avoid your open door.

MRS. JOHN J. McCOSKEY

McCoskeys Honeymoon in Illinois

Touring southern Illinois following their recent marriage and reception in the First Baptist Church of Holly are the John James McCoskeys (Betty Lou McLean of Holly). Rev. Philip Nofsinger performed the nuptial ceremony.

* * *

Daughter of the Charles McLeans of Lookout Drive, the bride chose white Alencon lace over nylon net and mist taffeta. A crown of sequined lace caught her illusion veil. Yellow sweetheart roses topped her small satin Bible.

Her pearl-set diamond necklace, was a gift of the bridegroom, son of the Edgar McCoskeys, Auburn Heights.

* * *

Best man was Robert Seavers and ushers included Daniel McCoskey, Robert Hewitt and Virgil Long of Holly.

Northern Honeymoon for Krugers

Rev. John McKinney officiated at the marriage of his niece, LaMona N. Havens to David A. Kruger, Friday afternoon in the Christian Temple.

* * *

The bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Havens were hosts at a reception in their home on Grey Road following the family ceremony.

White silk organza and Alencon lace fashioned a bouffant gown for the bride who held white Cymbidium orchids on a white Bible during the double-ring service. A crown of seed pearls caught her veil of imported illusion.

* * *

Mrs. John McKinney of Clawson, matron of honor, appeared in champagne peau satin and held a missal arrangement of pink and white-tipped carnations.

The bridegroom, son of the Eldridge M. Krugers of Birmingham, had Michael McDonald, Birmingham, for his best man.

The couple will live at Cass Lake after a northern honeymoon.

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dowager's hump, that lump at the base of the neck, is a figure defect which most women cope with sooner or later. How soon or how late is somewhat dependent on how aware you have been about your posture during past years.

I suppose this figure defect was so named because the wealthy dowager was thought to live a very luxurious sedentary life and also indulge in rich food. This does not necessarily follow as one can have a dowager's hump without being dowager, or wealthy, more the pity!

Fatty deposits do enter into the picture but poor posture plays the greater part. Many women who hold themselves quite well when standing, slump at this point when sitting. You can have your spine fairly straight and still give in at the base of your neck.

If you have this defect your first effort should be to improve your posture. Try to think about this many times a day, especially when sitting while driving a car, at a desk, or just sewing or knitting.

Special exercises also are helpful. Try the following one:

Stand erect, feet together. Raise the arms forward shoulder height, shoulder width apart. Fling the arms sideward, shoulder height. As you do this, raise the head up and lower it backward slightly. Return to upright position bringing the arms forward at the same time. Never allow the head to protrude forward. Continue.

Vigorous massage will also help reduce this hump by breaking down the fatty deposits. Use the fingers with a rotary motion.

Grilled Beef Is the Star of July Fourth Dinner

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Fourth of July entertaining is casual entertaining. It's the kind that takes place in the park, on the beach, in a backyard or on someone's patio.

You'll want to do as much preparation of food as possible ahead of time so that you too can have a leisurely (!) day. Well, almost leisurely.

If you're having gelatin salads and fear they won't stand up in the heat, use a little less liquid in the recipe or add 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin. This must be dissolved in cold liquid, then melted in hot liquid.

Keep all cold foods well chilled. With the outdoor grill working, you'll have no trouble keeping hot foods hot.

If your guests offer to bring some of the food, let them. Cooperative meals usually are lots of fun.

For a truly spectacular meat course try Family Steak. You may find this cut of meat featured in your supermarket, packaged with a colorful insert card giving basic cooking directions.

If you can't find it, ask your meatman to cut a steak 2 inches thick from top, bottom or heel of round; sirloin tip; boneless chuck; round bone arm chuck; or rump. The meat should weigh 3 to 3½ pounds boneless or 3½ to 4 pounds with bone in.

The secret of cooking this type of meat and have it taste like steak is the use of instant meat tenderizer.

For perfect results you must follow directions as given.

BARBECUED FAMILY STEAK

1 Family Steak
Seasoned meat tenderizer

For Italian Sauce

¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ teaspoon crushed or ground oregano
¼ teaspoon crushed or ground rosemary
2 drops Tabasco

Cook onion in oil until tender, but not brown; add remaining ingredients. Simmer 30 minutes. Makes about 1½ cups.

★ ★ ★

Prepare sauce. Slash fat edges and prepare all surfaces of meat, one side at a time, as follows:

1. Thoroughly moisten the meat with water. Pat the water on from the faucet with your fingers, use a pastry brush or draw a wet fork across the surface of the meat. Sprinkle instant meat tenderizer evenly, like salt, over the entire surface of the meat, about ½ teaspoon per pound. Use no salt.

2. To insure peneration and retain meat juices, pierce meat deeply with a kitchen fork at approximately ½-inch intervals. Meat is ready for cooking immediately.

3. Place meat on barbecue grill 2 inches from coals; cook total of 25 to 30 minutes, turning frequently. Baste with Italian Sauce during last 15 minutes of cooking.

4. To serve, cut in thin diagonal slices across the grain at about a 30° angle from the meat board instead of perpendicular. Spoon Sauce over each serving — three or more slices make a generous serving.

Makes 4-6 servings.

ZUCCHINI SICILIANA

2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup chopped celery
2 (8-ounce) cans tomato sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon seasoned instant meat tenderizer
5 medium zucchini
Dash freshly ground black pepper

Heat oil in medium saucepan; add onions and garlic; cook slowly until slightly brown; add remaining ingredients except zucchini and pepper; simmer slowly 20 minutes, covered.

★ ★ ★

Slice zucchini at an angle about ⅛ inch thick; add to sauce; simmer, uncovered, about 10 minutes. Add pepper to taste. Do not overcook zucchini; they should be on the crisp side. Makes 6 servings.

Everyone hopes the Fourth of July will be a sunny day. Then meals like the one shown above can be prepared on the outdoor grill. A thick cut of beef from the chuck, rump or round is tenderized, then broiled over charcoal. With it are served a zucchini squash casserole and hot French bread. Add the salad and dessert of your choice for a gala appetizing dinner. In case of rain, put the grill under shelter somewhere and go ahead with your picnic—indoors.

Salad Recipe Serves Big Group

Serve a Macaroni and Cheese Salad for the Fourth of July. This recipe would be excellent for any large group, whether the occasion be a neighborhood patio supper or a family reunion picnic.

MACARONI AND CHEESE SALAD

¼ cup salt
12 quarts boiling water (3 gallons)
2 pounds elbow macaroni
½ cup chopped scallions or green onions
1 tablespoon celery salt
1 tablespoon salt
1½ teaspoons white pepper
2 pounds Swiss cheese
3 pounds Cheddar cheese
3 cups mayonnaise
1 cup chili sauce
2 to 3 heads western iceberg lettuce

★ ★ ★

*Add ¼ cup salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander; rinse in cold water; drain again.

Combine macaroni, scallions, celery salt, 1 tablespoon salt and pepper. Cut half of the Swiss and Cheddar cheese in 1-inch cubes and stir into macaroni mixture. Blend mayonnaise with chili sauce and stir into macaroni mixture.

Place lettuce leaves on salad platter; arrange macaroni salad in center. Cut remaining Swiss and Cheddar cheese in 3-inch strips and arrange around salad; garnish with parsley, if desired.

*Cook macaroni in one or more pots, according to sizes available. Use proportion of 4 to 6 quarts rapidly boiling water and 2 tablespoons salt to each pound of macaroni. Makes 25 servings.

MACARONI AND CHEESE SALAD — This is a cool combination for a summer salad. It's an economical dish sure to find favor in any large group you're serving or helping to plan for.

Old-Time Pudding Is Appropriate for Fourth

Giving a 4th of July buffet or dinner party? Then serve this impressive steamed blueberry pudding with hard sauce or vanilla ice cream.

Steamed Blueberry Pudding
1½ cups fresh cultivated blueberries
¼ cup vegetable shortening
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
1½ teaspoon vanilla
2 cups presifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon mace
⅔ cup milk

Rinse fresh cultivated blueberries in colander and spread on absorbent towels to dry.

Cream shortening until soft and gradually add sugar. Add eggs and vanilla and beat well.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and mace. Add to shortening mixture alternately with milk. Mix thoroughly. Carefully fold in fresh blueberries.

Pour batter into a well buttered 1½ quart mold which has been dusted with very fine bread crumbs. Cover tightly.

Place mold on rack in kettle; fill with water to reach halfway up side of mold. Cover pan and steam 2 hours.

If empty coffee cans are used as molds, divide batter between two cans, cover and steam for 1½ hours.

Unmold cake while still warm and serve with hard sauce.

Vegetables Can Be Grilled Too

Vegetables are delicious cooked on an outdoor grill. While the steak or chicken broils on the center part of the grill, tuck packages of vegetables around the outside where the heat is less intense.

Try young peas, the first carrots and beets. Add freshly chopped parsley and other herbs, butter, salt and pepper.

★ ★ ★

Bundle enough to serve the crowd into a good-sized aluminum fold package and cook about 30 minutes on the grill. Cooking should be gentle. They will take a bit longer than when cooked with water in a saucepan.

Roast big Bermuda onions in their skins. Wrap them individually in foil and bake like a potato. Combine several vegetables in one package for a casserole.

You'll need to shake the package of vegetables occasionally while it cooks. To serve, place the package in a wicker basket.

SUMMER SQUASH, ONIONS AND DILL

Slice tender young summer squash in ¼-inch slices. Slice onions very thin. Arrange a layer of summer squash a layer of onion slices and a final layer of squash on the foil.

Dot with butter, shake on salt and pepper and sprinkle with sprigs of fresh dill or 2 or 3 pinches of dried dill. Seal the package and cook on the grill over medium heat about 30 minutes. Shake the package frequently.

Bake or Broil Ham Slices

Ham slices may be baked, broiled or pan-broiled.

Bake a two-inch thick fully cooked ham slice on a rack in an open pan in a slow oven (325 degrees), 40 minutes.

Broiled Ham Slice: Slash the fat edges in several places to prevent curling. Broil three inches from source of heat.

Paper Pail Becomes Punch Container

Here's how to make Uncle Sam's Summer Refreshment Topper: For hat crown, use a 1-gallon paper pail. Cut a sheet of white cardboard or mat stock into 15" diameter circle, to be used as brim.

★ ★ ★

Use 1" wide strips of red crepe paper and tape to pail for striped effect on hat crown. Use a 2½" stripe of blue crepe paper for hat band and large silver stars for trim.

Place crown on brim and hurrah!—You have the perfect container for a cool, refreshing summer punch.

Rings of sweet Spanish onion, paper thin, do double duty when they top a bowl of salad greens. They add flavor and look attractive.

Cool Refreshing Summer Pie Made with Gelatin and Sherbet

One of the coolest flavors in the world is lime, and here's a fresh summer dessert concoction that uses lime sherbet, lime gelatin, instant nonfat dry milk, and lime or lemon juice. Crisp whole chocolate wafers provide a crunchy pie crust and an attractive garnish. You can serve the same combination in parfait form, layering the lime filling with wafer crumbs in tall glasses.

It's easy to whip up this cool Chocolate Lime Parfait, and because it can be made well in advance, it's bound to be a favorite with busy homemakers. When you want a dessert that looks cool, tastes cool, and is extra-delicious, this is a perfect choice.

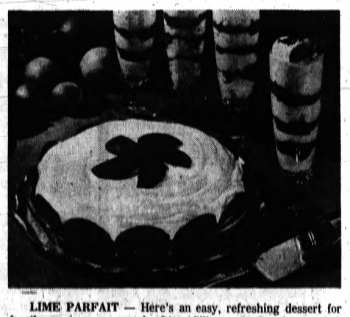

In this case, use lime gelatin and whip only until soft peaks are formed. This method gives a creamy rather than a frothy texture. Next, fold in softened lime sherbet and refrigerate a few minutes so it's partially set.

This makes it easy to mound the filling and swirl it around in the crust. Garnish with wafer halves and chill at least 2 or 3 hours, so it's well set when served. When serving the mixture in parfait or sherbet glasses, chill it the same length of time.

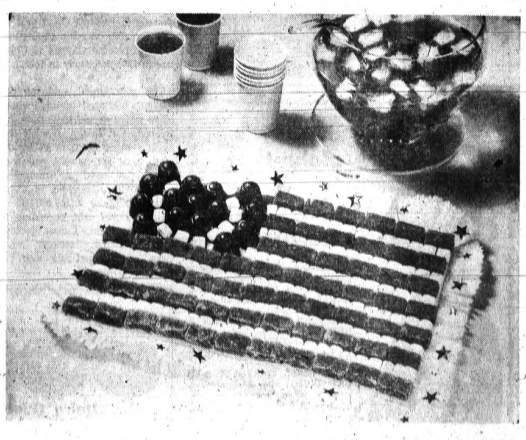

Chocolate Lime Parfait

1 package (3 oz.) lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons lime or lemon juice
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk
1 pint lime sherbet, softened
1 cup (12 wafers, crushed) chocolate wafer crumbs

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add lime or lemon juice. Chill until of consistency of egg white. Sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk on gelatin and beat at high speed until light, soft peaks form. Fold in softened sherbet.

LIME PARFAIT — Here's an easy, refreshing dessert for family or company meals. Lime filling and chocolate wafers make a cool, pretty parfait or pie.

CANDY CENTERPIECE — Here's how to make the Sweet Revolutionary Banner; use a 10" x 16" piece of white cardboard for base; outline and mark with pencil a 4½" x 7" field in upper left corner. Paste blue paper on the upper left marked area and arrange 13 white mints for stars, surrounding the mints with chocolate covered cherries. For "stripes" arrange alternate rows of white mints and red jellied candy squares.

Tape white ruffled crepe paper around edge; paste tiny red and blue stars on ruffle, and you'll have a sweet patriotic dessert for your party.

Mrs. Bantry Catches Ella in a Lie

STORY SO FAR — Marina Gregg, beautiful screen and stage star, and her husband, Jason Rudd, brilliant director, buy Gossington Hall and at a benefit given there, tactless Mrs. Badcock babbles on to her hostess about meeting her years ago, getting out of a sick bed to act her understudy ... alarming stories past her, a frozen look on her face. She asks Jason to give Mrs. Badcock a drink. The drink is spilled and graciously Marina offers her own untouched glass. Mrs. Badcock dies from a lethal dose. Marina shows Chief Inspector Craddock a message she found on her dressing table. "Don't think you'll escape next time." Three weeks before she received a message: "Prepare to die." And on the day of the fete another: "Today will be your last day on earth." She has no idea who sent them. As investigation continues neither Jason nor Marina can think of any, but there was a no. of rumors when Lola Brewster arrived. Lola's husband divorced her to marry Marina but there wasn't any bad feeling in the end.

By AGATHA CHRISTIE
INSTALLMENT XXVI

"I can assure you, Inspector," Jason Rudd said, "that Lola Brewster had no opportunity on the day of the fete of poisoning my wife's drink. I was close beside her most of the time. The idea that Lola would suddenly, after a long period of friendliness, come to England, and arrive at our house all prepared to poison my wife's drink, why the whole idea's absurd!"

"I appreciate your point of view," said Craddock.

"It's not only that, it's a matter of fact as well. She was nowhere near Marina's glass."

"And your other visitor, Ardwyck Fenn?"

There was, he thought, a very slight pause before Jason Rudd spoke.

"He's a very old friend of ours," he said. "We haven't seen him for a good many years now, though we occasionally correspond. He's quite a big figure in American Television."

* * *

"Was he an old friend of yours too?" Dermot Craddock asked Marina.

Her breath came rather quickly as she replied. "Yes, oh yes. He was quite a friend of mine always, but I've rather lost sight of him of late years."

Then with a sudden quick rush of words, she went on, "If you think that I looked up and saw Ardwyck and was frightened of him, it's nonsense. It's absolute nonsense.

"Why should I be frightened of him, what reason would I have to be frightened of him? We were great friends. I was just very, very pleased when I suddenly saw him.

"It was a delightful surprise, as I told you. Yes, a delightful surprise." She raised her head, looking at him, her face vivid and defiant.

"Thank you, Miss Gregg," said Craddock quietly. "If you should feel inclined at any moment to take me a little further into your confidence I should strongly advise you to do so."

SURPRISE

Mrs. Bantry was on her knees. A good day for hoeing. Nice dry soil. But hoeing wouldn't do everything. Thistles now, and everythin. Thistles now, and dandelions. She dealt vigorously with these pests.

She rose to her feet, breathless but triumphant, and looked over the hedge onto the road.

She was faintly surprised to see the dark-haired secretary whose name she couldn't remember coming out of the public call box that was situated near the bus stop on the other side of the road.

What was her name now. Zielinsky, that was it. Mrs. Bantry remembered just in time, as Ella crossed the road and came into the drive past the Lodge.

"Good morning, Miss Zielinsky," she called in a friendly tone.

Ella Zielinsky jumped. It was not so much a jump, as a shy, the shy of a frightened horse. It surprised Mrs. Bantry.

* * *

"Good morning," said Ella, and hurried on: "I came down to telephone. There's something wrong with our line today."

Mrs. Bantry felt more surprise. She wondered why Ella Zielinsky bothered to explain her action. She responded civilly. "How annoying for you. Do come in and telephone any time you want to."

* * *

"Oh, thank you very much." Ella was interrupted by a fit of sneezing.

"You've got hay fever," said Mrs. Bantry with immediate diagnosis. "Try weak bicarbonate of soda and water."

"Oh, that's all right. I have some very good patent stuff in an atomizer. Thank you all the same."

She sneezed again as she moved away walking briskly up the drive.

Mrs. Bantry looked after her. Then her eyes returned to her garden. She looked at it in a dissatisfied fashion. Not a weed to be seen anywhere.

"Othello's occupation's gone," Mrs. Bantry murmured to herself confusedly. "I daresay I'm a nosy old woman but I would like to know what that was all about."

DECIDES TO BE NOSY

A moment of irresolution and then Mrs. Bantry yielded to temptation. She was going to be a nosy old woman and the hell with it!

She strode indoors to the telephone, lifted the receiver and dialed. A brisk trans-Atlantic voice spoke.

"Gossington Hall."

"This is Mrs. Bantry, at the East Lodge."

"Oh, good morning Mrs. Bantry. This is Hailey Preston. I met you on the day of the fete. What can I do for you?"

"I thought perhaps I could do something for you if your telephone's out of order."

His astonished voice interrupted her.

"Our telephone out of order? There's been nothing wrong with it. Why did you think so?"

"I must have made a mistake," said Mrs. Bantry. "I don't always hear very well," she explained unblushingly.

* * *

She put the receiver back, waited a minute, then dialed once more.

"Jane? Dolly here."

"Yes, Dolly. What is it?"

"Well, it seems rather odd. That secretary woman was dialing from the public call box in the road.

"She took the trouble to explain to me quite unnecessarily that she was doing so because the line at Gossington Hall was out of order. But I've rung up there, and it isn't."

She paused, and waited for intelligence to pronounce.

"In-deed," said Miss Marple thoughtfully. "Interesting."

"For what reason, do you think?"

"Well, clearly, she didn't want to be overheard."

* * *

"Exactly."

"And there might be quite a number of reasons for that."

"Yes."

"Interesting," said Miss Marple again.

Nobody could have been more ready to talk than Donald McNeill. He was an amiable red-headed young man. He greeted Dermot Craddock with pleasure and curiosity.

"How are you getting along," he asked cheerfully, "got any little special tidbit for me?"

"Not as yet. Later perhaps."

"Stalling as usual. You're all the same. Affable oysters! Haven't you come to the stage yet of inviting someone to come and 'assist you in your inquiries'?"

"I've come to you," said Dermot Craddock with a grin.

"Is there a nasty double entendre in that remark. Are you really suspicious that I murdered Heather Badcock and do you think I did it in mistake for Marina Gregg or that I meant to murder Heather Badcock all the time?"

"I haven't suggested anything," said Craddock.

* * *

"No no, you wouldn't do that, would you? You'd be very correct. All right. Let's go into it. I was there. I had opportunity but had I any motive? Ah, that's what you'd like to know. What was my motive?"

"I haven't been able to find one so far," said Craddock.

"That's very gratifying. I feel safer."

"I'm just interested in what you may have seen that day."

'HUMILIATING'

"You've had that already. The local police had that straight away. It's humiliating.

* * *

"There I was on the scene of a murder. I practically saw the murder committed, must have done and yet I've no idea who did it.

* * *

"I'm ashamed to confess that the first I knew about it was seeing the poor, dear woman sitting on a chair gasping for breath and then pegging out. Of course it made a very good eye witness account.

"It was a good scoop for me, and all that. But I'll confess to you that I feel humiliated that I don't know more. I ought to know more.

"And you can't kid me that the dose was meant for Heather Badcock. She was a nice woman who talked too much, but nobody gets murdered for that, unless of course they give away secrets. But I don't think anybody would ever have told Heather Badcock a secret."

Censor Code Nearly Ready

Designed for Press Use During War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A voluntary censorship code to guide newspapers and broadcasters in handling military information in case of war is nearing completion in the Office of Emergency Planning.

* * *

If President Kennedy approves the final draft now being written by Byron Price, the "standby code" will be sent to every newspaper and broadcasting office in the nation about Sept. 1.

Price, former executive editor of The Associated Press and director of the Office of Censorship during World War II, has said his work on the code has been based entirely on the assumption that it would be invoked only as a wartime measure.

But Creed C. Black, a representative of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, (ASNE) has said "editors should evaluate the voluntary code with not only wartime but short-of-war conditions in mind."

* * *

This, he said, is because the administration's plan for crises such as last fall's Cuba emergency "are still vague — at least publicly."

Black, executive editor of the Wilmington, Del. News - Journal and chairman of the ASNE's Freedom of Information Committee, made his comments in the July edition of the organization's "Bulletin."

Blood Plasma Case Ends in Convictions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three men and two chemical laboratories were convicted on conspiracy charges in Federal Court yesterday for unlicensed manufacture of blood plasma shipped to Cuba late in 1960 and early in 1961.

* * *

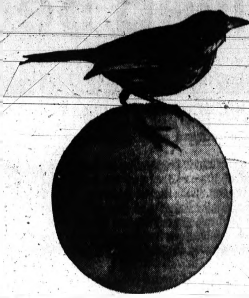

The government said the defendants had used outdated whole blood which should have been destroyed, and falsely labeled the plasma made from it as irradiated, aged six months and produced by licensed establishments.

The 3,000 pints sold to Cuba netted the men a $10,000 profit on the $25,000 sale, according to the government. Cuban doctors later reported "serious reactions" among patients who received the plasma.

Close Friend of President

England's Ambassador Is Envied Envoy

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Sir David Ormsby Gore, her Britannic majesty's personal envoy to the United States, is unquestionably the most envied ambassador in Washington, despite the Profumo scandal that has severely rocked his government.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

A close personal friend of President Kennedy's for the past quarter - century, he is also a nephew-once-removed of Lady Dorothy Macmillan, the prime minister's wife.

In a frank appraisal of the Christine Keeler case which nearly toppled the Tory government, he said: "I think it very wise that there will be a time gap, if Prime Minister Macmillan decides to retire, rather than to do so directly after a scandal of this kind."

We were chatting in his embassy office, on the eve of his flight to London for JFK's visit there this weekend. The tall, reed-slim envoy said that the political effect of such a scandal would be much the same in America as in Britain, even though our U.S. governments do not fall by an adverse vote in Congress.

"If an official behaves badly or dishonorably, he's driven out of public life here, too, even though the matter may wait until the next election," he said.

Sir David, a member of the House of Commons for 11 years, is that rarity among British diplomats — a political appointee. He had been serving as minister of state in charge of disarmament negotiations for three years, but after the election of his long-time friend to the American presidency, he was abruptly appointed ambassador here.

BRITISH ASTUTENESS

This move demonstrated once again the astuteness of the British. While his colleagues along Embassy Row patiently wait their turn for an office appointment with the President, Sir David spends weekends sailing and swimming with him in Palm Beach or Hyannis Port.

This intimacy is no novelty to Ormsby Gore. Related to half the noble families of Britain, he has been weekending with the Kennedy family for 25 years. Reminiscing about their early youth in London, when the President's father was ambassador to the Court of St. James, he said:

"We went to the same affairs, and the same houseparties in the country. I'd go to the American Embassy to see Kick (Kathleen, the President's eldest sister who died during the war), and my future wife had a room kept there for her, when she was a debutante.

"Curiously enough Kick, Bobby, Patricia Kennedy and I were at the same country houseparty the Sunday morning that War was declared in 1939. We all sat around listening to Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech on the radio, then I drove Kick up to London."

Kathleen shortly thereafter married Sir David's cousin, the Marquis of Hartington, who acted as best man at Ormsby Gore's wedding, and was subsequently killed in a wartime plane crash.

The ambassador piloted planes in England during the battle for Britain, while JFK fought in the South Pacific, but when he later came to the U.S. for the United Nations assembly of 1954, he visited his old friend in Hyannis Port, and discussed with him the book, "Profiles in Courage," that the future president was writing.

SHORT TRIPS

"I came again in 1955, and stayed with Bobby Kennedy in Georgetown for a while," he recalled, "and also visited at Hyannis Port. There were other short trips to America in between, and in '59 and '60 I led our delegation at the UN General Assembly."

His dark green eyes lighted as he recalled the '60 session, when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev pounded the table with his shoe, and he himself once broke into a Khrushchev speech to charge that the Kremlin boss was out of order.

Since Ormsby Gore is a political appointee, he does not know what his fate will be if the Labor party, as generally expected, comes to power in the next general election. He is not even sure that he could regain a seat in the House of Commons, since his Shropshire district is now filled by "an able young man," and vacancies are "hard to come by."

* * *

Of one thing, however, he is certain: He does not want to become prime minister at some time in the future.

"I do want to stay in public service," he smiled, "but after seeing the PM job at close quarters, I know its many drawbacks, and I can't wish to occupy it.

"Actually, I've never been particularly ambitious. I'm always surprised at my new appointments, but I've found them interesting enough to occupy my full time. I'm not one who has tried to plot his course."

HUNTING AND SAILING

Ormsby Gore spends his winters on leave shooting grouse and partridge in Yorkshire and Shropshire, and his summer holidays playing "a little tennis." He likes to sail, but claims that he "cannot compare with Jack Kennedy, who is an expert."

The ambassador obviously feels that French President Charles de Gaulle is out of step with the other members of the NATO alliance.

"The vast majority of the countries believe that the pooling of resources is the most effective means for defense," he mused, "so when your president says that you are committed to this policy, 14 of the 15 members believe it. France is vitally important, but De Gaulle has other ideas."

* * *

Speaking of the austere French president's veto of British entry into the Common Market, he said: "I think De Gaulle wants to see the interests of Europe develop along lines agreeable to him.

"He feels that if Britain got into the Common Market it would change the whole atmosphere. He feels it would dilute it, because of our close association with the U.S. He wants to see Europe become less and less dependent on the U.S., until it can at last dispense with the support of your country.

"We have a different concept. We see Europe as a part of the Atlantic community, and that fact undoubtedly increased his determination to keep Britain out of the Common Market.

REELING

Sir David's government has been reeling under the double blow of Common Market rejection and the Christine Keeler-Profumo scandal. For some time it also has suffered under an even more galling blow — its reduction from a first- to a second-rate world power.

When I asked the ambassador about the latter aspect, he mused: "Yes, it is a psychological problem.

"In my parents' generation, the U.S. played a very small role in international affairs. We had the world's largest fleet, and at the beginning of the century we had no alliance whatsoever, because we needed no allies."

HARD ADJUSTMENT

Sighing, he continued: "It was difficult for those who had lived before the First World War to adjust to such a new role in their lifetime. Those who charge that we were slow in requesting admission to the Common Market do not seem to understand this problem.

"It was difficult for Britain, which had not been invaded and which emerged from two World Wars with a comparative victory, to reorient; and to agree to surrender some of its sovereignty, in order to become a part of the European community."

* * *

He rubbed his remarkably sharp, long nose reflectively, and I asked how he would describe his most obvious facial characteristic. Running his fingers through his long, coal-black hair, he laughed good - humoredly: "Some call it a Roman nose. All of my family on both sides have long noses. My uncle, Lord Cecil, had one just like mine.

* * *

"In fact, when I was a boy he used to waggle it at me. It was most interesting, you know, because he would waggle the end of it."

Reveal Plans for Study of Anesthetics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for a two-year study of widely used anesthetic agents were announced yesterday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It will be conducted by the National academy of Sciences-National Research Council and supported by a $1.65-million contract from the Public Health Service's National Institute of General Medicine Sciences. Some 20 hospitals across the country will be involved.

The study will include data on halothane, which was introduced in 1956. It was estimated that more than half the operations in this country are performed under this anesthetic and that about 10 million patients have received it.

ONE OF SAFEST

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said in a statement that halothane is considered one of the safest, if not the safest, of anesthetics in general use. However, earlier this year several deaths due to liver damage were reported in patients who had received halothane.

* * *

Dr. Terry emphasized that it was not possible to determine whether any of these deaths was related to the anesthetic.

The hospitals for the study will be selected by the academy.

Rule Judge's Son Not Drunken Driver

NEW YORK (UPI) — The son of a Criminal Court judge was found not guilty yesterday of drunken and reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident in which five persons were killed.

A grand jury is expected to decide later this month if he should be indicted for vehicular homocide.

A three-judge panel of Criminal Court judges deliberated five minutes before handing down a unanimous verdict in the case against Gareth Martinis, 23, son of Judge Joseph Martinis.

The trial produced conflicting testimony on whether Martinis was drunk at the time of the accident May 19. According to one witness, his car was weaving from side to side just before the crash.

The widest street in the world is the six-lane 1½-mile long Monumental Axis in Brasilia, capital of Brazil.

Israel to Keep Stay-Tough Policy

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Israel's new prime minister, Levi Eshkol, has warned the Arab States his No. 1 objective is to strengthen the security of this 15-year-old state.

Thus Eshkol, whose tripartite centrist coalition cabinet was approved by the Knesset (Parliament) last week, served notice he intends to pursue the stay-tough policies of his predecessor, David Ben-Gurion, who resigned for personal reasons.

* * *

Actually, the transition is expected to run smoothly, with the only major difference to be that of style.

Where 78-year-old Ben-Gurion was inclined to be stubborn and autocratic, Eshkol, Israeli finance minister for 13 years, is noted for patience and an ability to bring together those holding divergent views.

In setting forth his administration's objectives to the Knesset, 67-year-old Eshkol made it clear he did not expect to be pushed into the sea by his Arab neighbors.

While noting that Arab states are bickering in their efforts to unite, Eshkol saw a danger in this unity goal. He added:

"We cannot foresee at this moment how the internal struggle in the Arab world will develop. But in view of the aggressive policy followed by the leaders of the Arab countries today and their actions in acquiring and developing the most modern types of offensive armaments—which are designed for the destruction of Israel — we must maintain a state of constant security preparedness.

* * *

"The government will give first priority to the strengthening of security. It will endeavor to acquire and develop the most modern equipment required for the security of the state and its people."

U.S. MISSILES

This equipment will include U.S. Army Hawk air defense missiles, whoch the Israelis are negotiating to buy from the States.

The Israelis want a supersonic mobile missile to combat what they say is a dangerous buildup of airstrike power in the United Arab Republic.

The Hawk can down low-flying planes and the U.S. Army claims it can intercept battlefield-type missiles such as the 12-mile-range Honest John.

* * *

But Israelis believe events have overtaken the Hawk missile deal and that they are lagging somewhat behind the United Arab Republic in this field.

Eshkol like Ben-Gurion before him, believes that only a strong Israel can prevent war in the Middle East. Indeed, one of the last acts of the outgoing Ben-Gurion cabinet was to approve an additional 10 million Israeli pounds ($3.3 million) allocation for Israeli defense.

What the expenditure was for was not disclosed. A communique said it was because of "recent developments."

* * *

The new prime minister also promises his administration will encourage immigration from all countries, a project close to the heart of Ben-Gurion.

Under the former premier, Israel's population increased from 600,000 to more than two million, in the face of opposition from economists who said the state could not support the newcomers.

* * *

Eshkol himself calls his government one of "continuity."

Will Ben-Gurion return to the premiership as he so often has before?

The consensus seems to be that this time "BG" will be content to stay in the background in Parliament and devote more time to historical research.

JACOBY

The great difference between an expert and an ordinary partnership is defensive play. Experts use their low cards to best effect and thereby get more out of their high cards.

For instance, look at this defense by Cliff Russell and Harry Harkavy of Miami.

Cliff opened the queen of spades and Harry played the four spot. Nothing abnormal about this, but Cliff knew immediately that Harry didn't like spades. If he had liked spades Harry would have played a higher card as a come-on.

South won the trick and led the six of diamonds. Cliff played the three spot. Again nothing abnormal, but it told Harry that Cliff held three diamonds. With an even number of diamonds Cliff would have played a higher diamond as the start of an echo. He could not be showing strength in the suit so the echo would be unmistakable. Harry allowed dummy's jack to hold the trick, but won the diamond continuation.

Cliff's first play had shown three diamonds so Harry knew that South had started with just two.

Then Harry led the six of spades. South played the five and Cliff was in with the ten. He couldn't lead another spade because Harry's play had marked declarer with the nine, so he shifted to the nine of hearts.

At this point South was doomed to defeat. He struggled on since there is no bonus for giving up, but the best he could do was to gather in eight tricks.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Wednesday

"The wise man controls his destiny." Astrology points the way.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some funny things, in a LITERAL sense, occur around you. Remember they ARE funny. Means don't lose your temper. Check travel plans. Avoid careless drivers. Beware of business losses this year.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 21): Ability to "think on your feet" tested. Be ready to size up situation and make quick decision. Trend indicated: money to solve problems. Some minor details require attention.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Remember public relations: past resolutions may get out of control. Holiday atmosphere prevails around you. Associates are excited: maybe they doing they do not mean. Don't marry.

CANCER (June 21 to July 23): Key is being of SERVICE to fellow workers, neighbors. The more "giving" you are, the more you receive. Use it to explore the PRACTICAL. Give and take area must be used.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21): Good lunar aspect today heightens creative flair, romance, pursuit of creative hobbies. Fine for travel, dining out, making social changes in usual routine.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Important to accomplish future security prospects. Take time to outline ideas. Get clear picture in your own mind. Start letting confirm. Make clarity your companion. Be specific.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Don't be in too much of a hurry—especially while "on the road." Caution demanded. Your curiosity is piqued. Find answers. But don't be "trapped" into taking unnecessary chances.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Friends may come up with unusual requests for enormous but practical. Especially where money matters enter picture. Don't extend budget. See situation as it exists.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Cycle high. Day for pleasure, display of abilities, personality. Bask in spotlight of attention. Don't allow tensions or action. Seek to let others come to you with proposals.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Relationship activity favors your cause. Have talk in those who are working for you. Try to relax. Get enough rest. Think along lines leading to EXPANSION.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Day to celebrate, to be grateful for what you possess. No time for brooding, being depressed. Shake yourself loose from grip of lethargy. Reveal strength. Display of determination wins goal.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Put romantic ideas in writing. You could make appealing concepts. Don't waste excellent "formats" as they. Map it down and put it to use. Don't permit "holiday confusion" to overpower you.

IF WEDNESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . your greatest assets are ability to see other persons point of view. Your sense of humor makes you an invaluable individual in line of duties.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much travel, many mixups; all signs favor to take a little extra care.

Buying Spurt Hits Stocks

Market Prices Up Sharply

NEW YORK (AP)—A spurt of buying left stock market prices sharply higher early this afternoon in fairly brisk turnover.

Motors, rails and airlines were pacemakers in the rally which came just as the market touched the 700 level in the industrial average—regarded as a "support" which might stem the decline which got under way last week.

* * *

Key stocks showed a string of gains ranging from fractions to a point or better. Some of the higher-priced, more volatile issues added several points as they recouped lost ground.

Brokers said short covering added steam to the snapback. This is the purchase of stock to repay shares borrowed and "sold short" in the hope that profits could be made if prices declined.

STEELS SLUGGISH

Steels, following the fifth straight weekly decline in production, were sluggish and unchanged to higher. Autos, however, were sustained by news that July production schedules are 6 per cent above a year ago and not much below the 1955 record for the month.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .9 at 270.1 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .3, and utilities up 4.

Chrysler, the most active stock yesterday when it dropped 1¾ to 61¾ after breaking through a theoretical support level at 62, "held like a rock at 61¼," said one broker.

Pan American World Airways rebounded 2 points while most other airlines added fractions. National rising close to 2.

ON REBOUND

IBM recouped half a dozen points of the 9¾ it dropped yesterday. Xerox also rose 6 or more.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved irregularly higher in quiet trading. Synlex advanced more than 2. Lucky Friday added more than a point. Gains of Draper and Standard Brands Paint were around a point.

Ford, Maris Missing From Squad

Bunning May Get Starting Call in All-Star Contest

BOSTON (AP) — Yankee yearling Jim Bouton or crafty Jim Bunning of Detroit will be the likely All-Star game starting pitcher for the American League while "The Monster"—Dick Radatz—rates probable finisher.

President Joe Cronin announced the American League squad Tuesday, including New York Manager Ralph Houk's seven mound selections, for the July 9 classic at Cleveland. Only Bunning and Ken McBride of Los Angeles among the hurlers have seen previous All-Star action.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant of Cleveland and Red Sox rescuer Radatz, plus southpaws Steve Barber of Baltimore and Juan Pizarro of Chicago, complete the pitching choices.

"Houk hasn't said a word to me about his starting pitcher but it will definitely be a right-hander," Cronin said after glancing at the right-handed-packed National League line-up.

One AL spokesman felt Bouton would get the starting nod because of his 10-3 record and 2.45 earned run average. Another leans toward Bunning, who has only a 4-9 mark this season but is working on an eight-inning scoreless streak in All-Star play and has a 1.50 ERA for 12 frames.

A factor will be which has had the most rest next Tuesday. Bouton likely will have three days.

Houk long has admired "Moby Dick" Radatz, Boston's reliefer, whose prodigious figures include 245 pounds, 6-feet-5, seven victories, one loss and a 1.16 earned run average.

* * *

Concerning the man with the almost untouchable rising sidearm fastball, Houk recently said "Wait until those national Leaguers get a look at this Radatz. Let 'em get a taste of what we've been getting."

Houk will name his starting pitcher and batting order Monday.

Veteran New York lefty Whitey Ford and Red Sox right-hander Bill Monbouquette, two of the AL top hurlers with 23 victories between them, were among the surprise omissions from the squad. Another is Yankee slugger Roger Maris who is hitting .301 and has 17 homers.

"I didn't want to take more than one pitcher from any team," Houk said when asked about Monbouquette and Ford. "It cuts into their pitching too much."

He didn't make a direct reference to Maris, but said that "wherever possible, I tried to go along with the voting on the other position, except that I wanted to be sure to have three catchers."

MANTLE OUT

All of the eight All-Star players voted into starting berths by their fellow athletes will open the game with the exception of New York centerfielder Mickey Mantle. Because of his foot injury Mantle will be unable to play and Albie Pearson of Los Angeles is in his place.

Otherwise it's Detroit's Al Kaline and LA's Leon Wagner in the outfield with Minnesota's Early Battey behind the plate. The infield regulars are Yankee Joe Pepitone at first, old pro Nellie Fox of the White Sox at second, the Twins' Zollo Versalles at short and Boston's Frank Malzone at third.

Hank followed the second choices of the players except at first base where he picked Norm Siebern of Kansas City instead of Boston's Dick Stuart. He also added a third catcher, Don Lepert of Washington, and outfielders Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota and Tom Tresh of the Yankees.

* * *

Player—voted alternates whom Houk picked included outfielders Bob Allison of the Twins and Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox plus catcher Elston Howard of the Yankees. The infielders: second baseman Bobby Richardson, New York; shortstop Luis Aparicio and third baseman, Brooks Robinson, Baltimore.

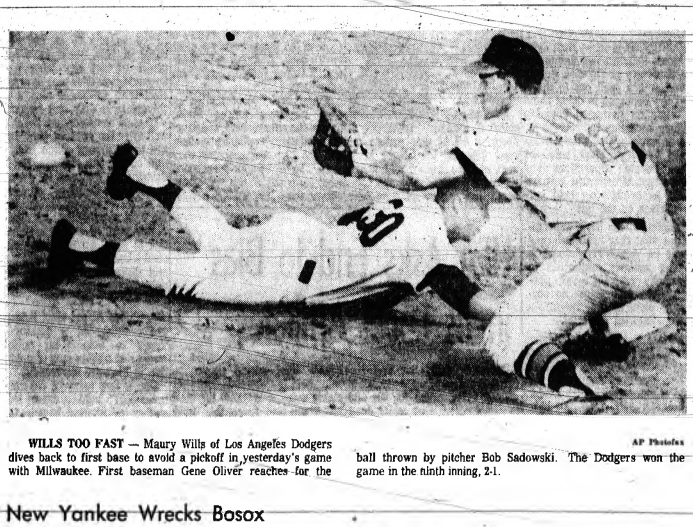

Unlike last year's second All-Star game, there will be an off date Monday between league play and the classic Tuesday. This year marks the return to a single contest after the two-a-year pattern which was instituted in 1959. By winning the second contest 9-4, only the AL's second victory in the last eight, the A.L. holds a 17-15-1 margin.

* * *

Behind Radatz and Bouton, the top pitching performances by the All Stars include Barber's 12-5, 2.59 e.r.a.; Pizarro's 9-4, 2.25 and McBride's 9-6, 2.73.

Wagner leads the league in batting and R.B.I and is tied with Allison in homers with 19.

Fox is the senior selection, making his 12th All-Star appearance. Kaline (.385), Wagner (.375) and Fox (.371) have the best All-Star batting marks among those who have had more than six at bats.

WILLS TOO FAST — Maury Wills of Los Angeles Dodgers dives back to first base to avoid a pickoff in yesterday's game with Milwaukee. First baseman Gene Oliver reaches for the ball thrown by pitcher Bob Sadowski. The Dodgers won the game in the ninth inning, 2-1.

New Yankee Wrecks Bosox

Williams in Lead Role Again

By the Associated Press

Stan Williams, who quickly went from featured performer to bit player in the New York Yankees' cast of characters this season, is back in the spotlight.

The huge right-hander was the star of the show Monday night as the Yanks took another forward step in their drive for the American League pennant, almost singlehandedly wrecking the Boston Red Sox in a 7-5 Bomber victory.

* * *

Williams came on in relief in the fifth inning, stifled a big threat, blasted a decisive triple in the bottom of the inning, and turned the Red Sox back the rest of the way with a superb job of pitching.

It was the first standout performance in some time by Williams, who was a front-line starter for the Yanks as the season opened after being acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for first baseman Bill Skowron.

He made an auspicious debut for the Yanks, beating Baltimore 5-1 with a five-hitter in the first week of the campaign. But as the season progressed, Williams' pitching slipped, and eventually he became a supernumerary in the bullpen.

Prior to Monday night, he had last won on May 4 and had last appeared in a winning game on May 11—and carried a 2-3 record.

But Williams squared that with a brilliant effort against the Red Sox. By winning, the Yankees made it four in a row over Boston and pushed 2½ games ahead of the runner-up Chicago White Sox.

K C WINS

In the only other AL game on the schedule, the Kansas City Athletics jumped out to a 5-0 lead against Baltimore and wound up with a 6-4 decision over the Orioles.

Williams came on for Jim Bouton in the fifth with one run in, one out, two on, the score tied at 5-5—and got Dick Williams to hit into a double play. On the pitching side, he allowed only one hit in 4 2-3 innings—a double by Lu Clinton in the ninth. On the hitting side, he smacked a triple in the last of the fifth that sent in the go-ahead run and then scored himself on Tony Kubek's single.

The Yanks raked three Boston pitchers for 17 hits, four of them by Phil Linz and three each by Clete Boyer and Kubek. Jack Lamabe was the loser, suffering his first loss in five decisions.

Podres Baffles Braves; Houston Edges Cards, 4-3

By The Associated Press

Johnny Podres doesn't take many bows. It's dangerous.

But there's no doubt the shrewd left-hander with the chronic back trouble was entitled to take just a little dip from the waist Monday night after his five-hit pitching carried Los Angeles to a 2-1 victory over Milwaukee and to within one-half game of the National League lead.

Plagued by back trouble since the start of his professional career, Podres has been both brilliant and baffling for the Dodgers since he joined the club in 1953. For the last three weeks, he had again been a problem, unable to win.

* * *

Then, against the Braves, the 31-year-old hurler completed another amazing flip-flop, turning in one of his strongest performances of the season. He struck out 12 and walked only two while recording his sixth complete game for a 5-6 record.

The decisive run came home on Wally Moon's pinch-hit double in the ninth inning off Braves starter Bob Sadowski, who wound up with a four-hitter and is 8-2 since he came to Milwaukee in the trade that sent Lew Burdette to St. Louis.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, lost to Houston 4-3 in 11 innings on Rusty Staub's key single. It was the Colts sixth victory in their last seven extra inning games, all won by relief specialist Hal Woodeshick.

* * *

In other games, fourth-place Cincinnati showed its home run punch in edging third-place San Francisco 4-3 and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia split. The Pirates won the opener 2-1 before the Phillies took the nightcap 8-1. New York's Mets and the Chicago Cubs were idle.

MOVED AHEAD

The Dodgers moved ahead 1-0 on Frank Howard's 12th homer in the second inning but Gene Oliver, who also came to the Braves in the Burdette trade, tied the score with a homer off Podres in the fourth. It stayed that way until the ninth when Maury Wills singled, stole second and eventually came around on Moon's hit following an intentional walk to Jim Gilliam. Sadowski had retired 14 men in a row when Wills hit up the middle.

* * *

Woodeschik, now 8-3, allowed the Cardinals to tie the score in the ninth on a pinch single by Charlie James, a ground out and Bill White's single.

Palmer 'The Killer' of Fairway Greats

By OSCAR FRALEY

CLEVELAND (UPI) — You have to put Arnold Palmer into the top bracket with all the famed "killers" of sports today.

Talk about Jack Dempsey in the ring, if you will. Or Bill Tilden on the tennis courts; Jim Thorpe on the gridiron, or Manolete in the blood and steel of the bull ring.

But this guy is something special, too, well fitted to walk with such fairway immortals as Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.

He proved it yesterday in the heat which smothered Beechmont Country Club, a rolling golf course on the periphery of Cleveland where the breathless humidity lays in the hollows and wilts the starch out of a railroad tie.

This was the third week in a row he had been involved in a tie and had to play off for the marbles. Two weeks ago at the Thunderbird Classic he bested Paul Harney on the first extra hole in a "sudden death" playoff. Last week at Brookline he was beaten in a playoff for the U. S. Open championship.

Dempsey lost a few, too. So did Tilden, Thorpe and Manolete.

THIRD STRAIGHT

Now it was the third one in a row, and there was $22,000 for first place as he went out against Tony Lema, a 29-year-old ex-Marine from San Leandro, Calif., and young Tommy Aaron, a former Walker Cupper from Gainsville, Ga.

When it was over he had shot a four under par 67, lagging it home for an antichimatic bogey on the final hole. The others had 70's, good for a tie for second place.

The two who lost wound up with $8,550 each. Not poverty wages, by any manner of means, but not the jackpot. And Palmer wanted this one because in copping it he would throw the lie at those who said he might be finished.

Plus the fact that it would boost his earnings to $85,545—a new all-time record for golf earnings in one year.

It goes beyond money with Palmer. It is tremendous pride and a feeling that, everytime he walks out on the tee, he is the best.

Hogan had it. He'd walk out to the front of the tee, look out over the fairway and then, walking back to where his rivals waited, would pin them with those stiletto-blue eyes and, without saying a word, seem to be asking them what they were doing on the same golf course with him.

Palmer gives it the same bit. Then he carries it out.

He will carry it to England this week to prepare for the British Open.

They went out in the muggy heat for the Cleveland Open playoff and it was indicative that Lema remarked, "I can't finish any worse than in a tie for second."

Palmer never thought of second place.

'Dry' Days Ahead for Hot Twins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —The Minnesota Twins face the prospect of a dry and smokeless Metropolitan Stadium when they return home to open a home stand a week from Wednesday.

Again Monday night the Bloomington city council refused to act on renewal of the stadium's beer, cigarette and bottle club licenses, which expired Sunday.

No cigarettes or beer were sold Monday night when Fred Waring and his troupe opened a summer music series at the stadium.

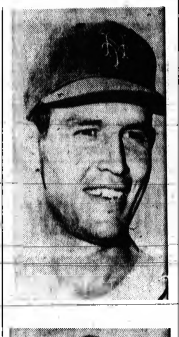

Gerald Moore of the Metropolitan Area Sports Commission and W. H. Williams, stadium manager, appeared before the council to ask that extensions of 30 or 60 days in the permits be granted pending a settlement. But the plea was turned down.

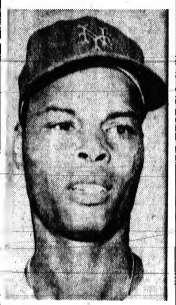

* * *

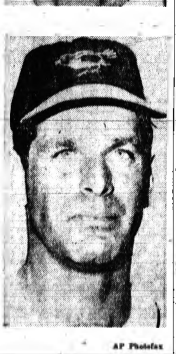

Bloomington withheld the licenses after the city of Minneapolis refused to meet a $125,000 assessment for running sewer and water lines into the stadium. Minneapolis authorities claimed a suburb has no right to make such a levy against a city.

The stadium is the joint property of Minneapolis, Bloomington and Richfield.

A Bloomington spokesman said he could see no way the permits could be restored before the Twins return unless the assessment is paid.

Dick Bury Fires 70-69—139

State Crown to Lochmoor Aide

SAUGATUCK — Young pro Dick Bury has his first tournament victory, the Michigan PGA and it's a sweet one, even exclusive of the $700 first money.

Bury, with his first round lead lost and in danger, strung together four straight birdies on his incoming nine in capturing the state pros' crown yesterday with a three-under-par 139 for the 36 holes at Hamilton Lake Golf Club.

The tall, lean assistant Lochmoor pro found a putting touch just in time to fend off a par-smashing challenge from runner-up Dick Stuart of Grand Rapids.

Stuart, playing ahead of Bury, had burned up the course with a five-under par 32-35—67 to emerge as likely winner with his sub-par 141. He had birdied five of his first six holes.

One over par at the 12th and needing a powerful rally if he was to win, Bury got hot.

* * *

He shot the next four holes in birdies, including two deuces. He sank a 20-foot putt on the 13th, made the green in two on the 495-yard 14th, exploded cleanly out of a trap to save the 485-yard 15th and sank a 25-foot putt on the 16th. This gave him 36-33 for the day to go with his first round 70.

For Stuart it was the second straight year he lost the PGA title by two strokes. He was runnerup by that margin last year to Ben Luis of Mount Clemens. Luis flopped in this one with 81-75—156.

Bury has gone on the PGA winter tour four times but this was the first time he won a tournament except for a couple in the navy.

Stuart picked up $450 for second money in the $3,000 pot. Walter Burkemo of Franklin and Bob Nodus of Bloomfield Hills, tied at 142, got $262.50 each. Bill Markham of Saginaw won $150 for his 143 fourth place total.

Other area pros, Tommy Watrous of Oakland Hills posted a 145 and Jerry Prieskorn of Pine Lake had 73-73—76. Jack Corbett of Orchard Lake and Mac McElmurray of Knollwood each posted 149.

Ex-Major Leaguer Dies

Big Weekend Seen at DRC

50,000 Racing Fans Expected for Holidays

LIVONIA — A brace of $10,000 purses highlight the final holiday weekend of the 1968 thoroughbred racing season at the Detroit Race Course and upwards of 50,000 fans are expected to visit the Livonia oval from July 4th through July 6th.

The appropriately named National Holiday Handicap, a one mile test for three-year-olds, tops Thursday's ten race program while the Southeast Michigan Handicap, a one mile trial for three-year-olds and upward, heads Saturday's card.

* * *

The DRC facilities will do double duty on Thursday with the annual fireworks display, co-sponsored by the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, scheduled for nightfall. As usual, there will be no admission charge for the fireworks show.

Nominations for the $25,000 added Detroit Sweepstakes closed on Saturday and while Racing Secretary, Ray Hopton, awaits for late postal arrivals, he says that he expects a fine field for the second richest race of the DRC season.

Dressen Shows Confidence as Twins Invade Tiger Lair

DETROIT (UPI) — New manager Charlie Dressen, who's now confident that the long-slumping Detroit Tigers have finally found their batting eye, is looking to the pitching staff to lead the club out of oblivion in the American League.

"Now if we can only get two or three good pitching jobs in a row, we'll be on the right track," Dressen said as he awaited the invasion of the red-hot Minnesota Twins.

Detroit split a four-game series with the Los Angeles Angels, winning the finale 5-5 on Dick McAuliffe's dramatic ninth-inning homer.

Detroit collected 20 runs in the managed only three hits and Dressen figures the Tigers have finally started hitting. In one stretch under Dressen the Tigers could manage only one run in 25 innings.

* * *

But Dressen thinks that pitching is most 90 per cent of baseball and he wasn't too pleased that while the Tiger batters were collecting 20 runs in the four-game series, the pitchers were also allowing 20 runs.

Hypnotic Bill Faul will make his third start and his fifth appearance under Dressen when the goes to the bill tonight against Dick Stigman.

Jim Bunning, named to the American League All-Star team despite his 4-9 record, will pitch Wednesday and Hank Aguirre and Phil Regan are slated to go in the Fourth of July doubleheader.

Jim Perry will start Wednesday while Lee Stange and Jim Kaat will throw in the doubleheader for Minnesota.

Faul, who has a 3-3 record, has given only one run in the two games he's started under Dressen and has lost both of them. He was beaten in Dressen's debut on June 18 as he shutout Boston for six innings before cracking in a 9-0 Tiger defeat.

PITCHED WELL

He lost to the Twins in his last start on June 26 but he gave up just one run for the first six innings.

* * *

"He's pitched well in both games but they haven't been given any support, it's hard to pitch 0-0 all the time," Dressen noted.

Faul also has worked in relief in two of the five Tiger victories under Dressen. He relieved Aguirre in the eighth inning when Detroit downed Kansas City 6-4 for the first win under Dressen, although Tom Sturdivant was called on to get the last out.

Faul, also called the "moon man" by teammates because of his interest in hypnotism, also pitched the ninth to save the 8-3 win for Mickey Lolich over Los Angeles last Friday.

Detroit is playing six games in four days with a doubleheader on July 4 and a twin bill three days later next Sunday against Kansas City and Dressen is rotating six starters.

Besides the four starters in the Minnesota series — Faul, Bunning, Regan anxd Aguirre—Dressen will also start Willie Smith and Lolich, two rookies, against the A's.

* * *

Veteran Don Mossie will be used in the bullpen along with the three other moundsmen, Terry Fox, Sturdivant and Bob Anderson.

Sturdivant would also like a chance to start but Dressen doesn't know if he can find a spot to throw him.

Minnesota is in a good position to give the Tiger pitching staff a battering since the Twins have been the best team in the league since May 17 with a 32-12 record and are in the thick of the flag chase.

It's hard to believe this is the same team that used to be called the Washington Senators.

Pontiac Lightning Sail Warms Up for Peru Trip

Dr. Leo Wasserberger is using this summer to warm for the big trip to Peru next Fall for the World Lightning champions and he's doing it in winning style.

Dr. Wasserberger's boat "Ptyghur-Too" took all the honors in the Bay City Invitational regatta last weekend at the Bay City Yacht Club in Saginaw Bay.

With Bob Wood and Dr. George Best as his crew, Ptyghur-Too took first place in each of the three-race series and the Wasserberger sails were ahead of the nearest rival in each case by at least three minutes.

"This boat is really moving," said the captain, "it's an entirely new boat from the one which we used to qualify for the World championships."

Another member of the Pontiac Yacht Club, Claude Bennett took fourth place in the Bay City regatta.

Dr. Wasserberger will ship his boat to New York at the end of October and it will be picked up by the Peru Navy and transported to South America for the lightning championships which will be held in December.

Dr. Wasserberger along with Wood and Ed Grant will be in Peru via plane late in November.

County Native 'The Monster'

Radatz Happy Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Radataz, Boston's brilliant bullpen artist, was broken hearted when he was deprived of a job as a starting pitcher a couple of years ago.

He wouldn't take it now on a silver platter.

"I remember how disappointed I was," said the 6½ foot 240-pounder, 'Oh, no,' I moaned. 'I'll never make the big leagues that way.'

* * *

"On the contrary,' insisted Johnny Pesky, who was my manager at Seattle then, 'you'll get to the big leagues faster that way.'

"He was right, of course."

It took Radatz a year to reach the majors, with the Red Sox, and a little more than another year to establish himself as about the best relief pitcher in baseball.

Radatz is a native of Berkley where he will work for the police department during the off-season.

* * *

The giant right-hander, a tireless worker, has appeared in 30 of his team's 73 games and has allowed only nine runs in 70 innings. He has won seven of eight decisions, has saved eight victories for others and owns a spectacular 1.16 earned run average.

MORE SUPERLATIVES

So sensationally has Radatz performed that not only Pesky, who followed Dick to the Red Sox, but managers of rival teams speak of him in the superlative.

* * *

"That Monster," said Ralph Houk of the Yankees, using the nickname hung on Radatz by doting Red Sox fans, "is the best relief pitcher I have ever seen."

Houk named him to the American League All-Star team today.

"If we had Radatz last year," said Sam Mele of the Minnesota Twins, "we'd have won the pennant.'

* * *

Possessor of an overpowering fast ball that he throws with effortless ease from a sidearm to a three-quarters motion, Radatz overawes the batters much in the way Walter Johnson used to—without a curve. His only other pitch is a slider.

"I guess I throw the fast ball about 75 per cent of the time," said Radatz. "About 20 per cent are sliders and the other five are change-ups."

"Dick has been my bread-and-butter guy," said Pesky. "He's the reason we're in the race. It's fantastic the way he keeps bailing out our pitchers.

GOOD AVERAGE

"He is averaging better than 12 strikeouts per nine inning and hardly walks anyone. He's so good that he has become embarrassing. It's now reached such a ridiculous point that our fans root for our starting pitcher to get knocked out in order for Radatz to come in. They want to see him mow down the batters."

Radatz is content to pitch only in emergency roles.

"The big thing about being a relief pitcher is that there is more of a challenge," he said. "Every time I go in there, the game is at stake. That's the way I want it. It's either me or them.

* * *

"I'll never forget how disappointed I was when I was made into a relief pitcher. Well, it would be nothing compared to my disappointment if I were ever told to become a starter again."

Gold Cup Boat Goes 113.2 MPH

Muncey Pushes Miss Thriftway to Mark

DETROIT (UPI) — A big hydroplane racer — Gale VII— threw a propellor and sank in the Detroit River today while practicing for the Gold Cup race. The driver, Danny Foster, was rescued unharmed.

DETRIT (UPI) — Bill Muncey, relaxed and lead-footed, pushed his Miss Thriftway to a record yesterday in the qualifying rounds of the Gold Cup race to be held Sunday.

Muncey, a Seattle resident and four-time winner of the coveted cup, ticked off an average speed of 113.207 miles an hour for three laps around the three mile course on the Detroit River.

* * *

Yesterday's trails, which saw only one other boat qualify, were under near-perfect conditions with a glass-like water surface and bright, sunny skies.

Muncey's second lap, of 114.893 was the fastest lap ever posted on the course bettering the mark set by Jack Regas in 1957 during the Silver Cup race. Regas was in Hawaii Kai at the time.

A change of names for Muncey's boat seems to have done a world of good. She campaigned last year under the name of Century 21. She broke a crankshaft in her last race in September at the close of the season.

But yesterday was different as all systems were go for Muncey's fast pace, "It's fun running again with the boat performing so well," Muncey said.

Don Wilson was the only other driver to qualify yesterday. He averaged 109.169 miles an hour in Miss US-5. Wilson's boat was the former Hawaii Kai which turned in the previous fast time on the river in 1957.

Ron Musson in Miss Bardahl, Bill Cantrell in Gale V and Freddie Alter in Mariner Two pulled into the pits before taking their full three laps.

A boat must average at least 90 miles an hour for three laps to qualify in the race Sunday.

The top qualifier each day will win $300, but the big prize is the Gold Cup and the $10,000 first prize. In the finals on Sunday there will be six heats with the six fastest boats qualifying for the final heat.

St. Germaine of Northville Wins JDGA

Northville high school junior Jim St. Germaine is becoming the "Palmer" of the caddie ranks.

St. Germaine won his second Junior District Golf Association tournament yesterday in three weeks by turning in a 39-34—73 at Meadowbrook.

Last week he was the first junior golfer ever to score under 70 at Lochmoor.

Forest Lake junior Andy McGuire and Roger Bonahoom of Lochmoor were two strokes behind St. Germaine. McGuire had a 40-35—75.

A total of 119 players competed. Next week play will be held at Lakelands in Brighton.

Cranbrook 9 Back to Winning Ways

Cranbrook snapped a two-game losing streak in City League Class A baseball play last night by defeating the Barbers, 7-2.

The victory was sweet revenge for Cranbrook which lost to the Barbers last Friday, 6-3. The win moved Cranbrook within a half a game of third place Talbott Lumber in the standings.

The winners pounded two Barber hurlers for nine hits, while pitcher Larry Demrick held the losers to three singles and a pair of doubles.

★ ★ ★

Cranbrook scored five times in their half of the fourth on the benefit of two timely hits by Brian O'Neil and Chuck Heavenrich. The Barbers didn't help their cause any as they committed two errors in the fifth that helped Cranbrook push across three more runs.

The Barbers got two of the runs back in the bottom of the fourth on a single by Gene Cox, a double by Jerry Walker, an error by pitcher Demrick and a double steal.

Cranbrook clinched the win in the sixth on a pair of triples by O'Neil and Dave Schultz, and a single by Heavenrich.

Demrick's pitching performance was one of the better hurling jobs of the Class A season. His 13 strikeouts in last night's game gives him the leadership in that department with 38, two more than Huron-Airway's Don Sackett. The win was Demrick's third of the season against one defeat.

★ ★ ★

Two games are scheduled in Class A tonight. In the first game at 6 p.m., M. G. Collision meets third place Talbott Lumber, and at 8:30, the league leading Clippers play CIO Local 594.

End in Five —Liston

LAS VEGAS (AP) — World heavyweight champion Sonny Liston predicts that his title defense against former champion Floyd Patterson here July 22 will end within five rounds.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not picking the round," said Liston. "I'm saying that the fight won't go five rounds."

The champion did not predict that he would be the winner, but gave every indication that he would be.

Liston is a 5-to-1 favorite to retain the title he won from Patterson last September in Chicago by knocking him out in 2:06 of the 1st round.

★ ★ ★

Las Vegas odds are 5-to-6 and "pick 'em" that the bell will not sound for the fifth round. On this basis, the bettor can bet that it will or won't go five rounds.

Women's AAU Track Meet Attracts 386

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The AAU Women's Track and Field Championships for 1963 berths on the U.S. team scheduled for summer competition aboard and possible membership on America's 1964 Olympic team are at stake here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A total of 386 women and girls, including 52-year-old Stella Walsh Olson, are entered. The top two finishers in each of 26 events get places on the American team.

Eight defending AAU champions are entered.

Wins Epee Crown

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lawrance Anastasi of Haverford, Pa. won the epee title Monday night at the National Fencing Championships.

Anastasi, 28, defeated Paul Pesthy of the New York Athletic Club, 5-1, and Frank Anger of Ithaca, N.Y., 5-4. Pesthy placed second by defeating Anger 5-3.

STRAINING FOR VICTORY — Chuck McKinley, from St. Louis, makes a backhand return in his Wimbledon quarter-final match victory over Bobby Wilson of England yesterday.

German Net Ace 'Plans' Second Wimbledon Upset

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Wilhelm Bungert, German tennis star and chief upset maker at Wimbledon, kept discreetly silent today about a plan he has hatched to beat America's Chuck McKinley and win a place in the men's final of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

They meet in the semifinals Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Bungert, 24, who sensationally knocked out top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 Monday, told newsmen he has his plans for the match.

"I played against McKinley in the West of England championships at Bristol the other week," Bungert said. "He beat me, but I studied him carefully.

"I've got some ideas about how to deal with him of course, I'm not going to say what they are. I'll just say this much — he moves about the court very fast."

Bungert hatched a plan to beat Emerson, and it worked. When receiving service he stood a yard nearer the net than usual. The idea was to return Emerson's service so fast that he had not time to get to the net and volley.

McKinley, of San Antonio, Tex., looked in good form in defeating British Davis Cup star Bobby Wilson 8-6, 6-4, 6-2.

★ ★ ★

The other semifinal will be between Manuel Santana of Spain and Fred Stolle of Australia. Santana, seeded No. 2, defeated German left-hander Christian Kuhnke 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Stolle won a battle of big booming services to beat Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., 9-7, 7-5, 6-4.

FINAL BID

Darlene Hard of Los Angeles, making her final bid for the Wimbledon women's singles crown, and two other American lasses drew dangerous opponents in today's quarter-finals.

Miss Hard, who has indicated she will retire from competitive tennis when she weds later this year, was pitted against fifth-seeded Jan Lehane of Australia.

Billie Jean Moffitt, the little giant-killer from Long Beach, Calif., met former champion Maria Bueno of Brazil and Donna Floyd Fales of Arlington, Va., faced third-seeded Ann Haydon-Jones of England.

The fourth match brought together top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia and Renee Schuurman of South Africa.

Dixie 400 Winner Eyes Holiday Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Bob (Junior) Johnson is off to a good start toward winning his second big stock car race in a row, the Firecracker 400 July 4.

After taking first place in the Dixie 400 in Atlanta, the Rhonda, N.C. chicken farmer rushed to Daytona Speedwway, jumped into a new car and set a record 165.593 miles per hour in a practice run.

★ ★ ★

To win the pole position in official time trials today, a 166 m.p.h. clocking would be required observers predicted. The record is 165.183 m.p.h.

Johnson didn't get to drive his regular Chevrolet in the practice Monday. It was being torn down and rebuilt after the gruelling 400 miles at Atlanta.

Colonial Strengthens Lead in American League Softball

Harvey's Colonial House strengthened its lead in the American League of city softball last night by defeating Howes Lanes, 5-0, behind the six-hit pitching of John Herrington.

★ ★ ★

Harvey's scored three times in the opening inning on singles by Mert Jones, Gene Shell and a double by Dick Cooper. The winners added a single run in the fifth frame and two more in the sixth.

Monicatti shelled 300 Bowl hurler Verle Sheldon for 14 hits to take an easy 14-2 decision from the bowling nine in the other half of an American League twinbill at Northside.

Lee Sherby limited 300 to three singles and fanned six to take credit for the victory.

Poponea's Market scored a runaway 16-1 win over Pontiac Millwork, and Local 653 Plant Two routed Jet Bar in a pair of International League games.

★ ★ ★

In the opener, Poponea's scored 12 times in the 3rd inning to clinch the win. Winning pitcher Terry Streeter aided his own cause with three singles.

Peter Styles allowed only four hits and received a strong 13 hit attack as Local 653 Plant Two routed Jet Bar, 14-3. Ed Van Tassel paced the winners with three singles and a triple.

★ ★ ★

Four games are scheduled tonight in American League play. Arro Realty meets Town and Country (formerly Dave's Boys), and Martin Associates play the Elks at Beaudette. At Northside, Bud and Lou's meets Local 653 Plant Two and Jet Bar collides with Berry Door.

★ ★ ★

Avondale Baptist took over fist places in the Avondale Church softball league last night by defeating Stone Baptist, 11-9.

In other games, memorial Baptist beat Social Brethren, 7-3, and First Church of God defeated Pontiac R.L.D.S., 9-4. Memorial Baptist, Stone Baptist and First Church of God are all tied for second place in the league standings.

Junior League Pitcher Loses One-Hit Contest

Pontiac Boys' Club pitcher Bob Farms is rather unhappy today. Yesterday the little left-hander pitched a one-hitter, struck out 11 batters and still lost a 4-1 decision to Auburn Heights Boys' Club.

Four costly errors and a single by Denny Acker was all that the winners needed to down the defending city Class D champions.

Winning pitcher Roger Hayward turned in a creditable pitching job, giving up only four hits while fanning nine.

★ ★ ★

In other Class D American League activity yesterday, Cranbrook beat Pontiac Northern, 11-9. Steve Hanway held off a late rally by PNH to take credit for the victory. Bob Reberger had a home run and a pair of singles to lead the Cranbrook hitting attack.

Two unearned runs in the bottom of the sixth gave Bloomfield Hills a 8-7 win over Franklin Community in D American League play. Jamie Miller was the winning pitcher in relief.

St. Mike's scored two runs in the eighth inning to down the Bearcats, 5-3, in Class E American League action. Jerry Stanton singled home the winning runs for St. Mike's. Dave Pruett was the winning pitcher, allowing three hits.

Rochester scored in every inning to rout the Junior Optimists, 9-3, in Class E play. Rod Kruskie and Randy Hines combined to hurl a three hitter against the losers. Kruskie received credit for the win.

In Class E National League play, McDonald's Drive In banged out 12 hits and 10 runs to beat the Moose, 10-5. Six players had 2 hits each for the winners to back up Rick Lyons' 5-hit pitching performance.

500 Champ Given Pikes Peak Fine

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (UPI) — Parnelli Jones, winner of the 1963 Indianapolis 500, escaped injury but got a traffic ticket yesterday when his car collided with a station wagon on Pikes Peak.

Jones, 29, was checking over the mountain road on which he will race Thursday in the Fourth of July Pikes Peak hill climb. Police said he was driving his 1963 Mercury stock car down the hill and went around a curve into the path of the station wagon, driven by Arthur Chrisman of Compton, Calif.

Power Boats May Kill Reservoir Odor, Taste

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ordinary power boats may help reduce taste and odor in water from reservoirs because they breakup algal blooms, the Columbus Water Department contends.

But department officials say high-speed boats have a different effect because they may bring up odor-laden water from below.

State Mechanic Invents Airport Device

LANSING (AP) — Ned Patterson, chief mechanic for the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, has been awarded a U.S. patent on a device for painting runways.

★ ★ ★

His rig—Rube Goldberg would swoon over it—was improvised from an old 50-gallon drum, a water hose, spray gun nozzles, some iron pipe and an old tractor.

Rube, of course, might not have known to use tungsten carbide spraying tips or hose from teflon—that slippery material that eliminates the need for grease in the frying pan.

Patterson, chief mechanic since 1948, came up with the contraption to combat a specific problem — the painting of lines on Capital City Airport in Lansing.

TEDIOUS JOB

Back in 1960 the lines were in bad shape, and there was little money for painting them. Private contractors charged about $9,000 for the job, which was a tedious one because of the bulky equipment involved, including a huge compressor.

Patterson's painter cuts both the time and the cost in half.

The rig paints a 36-inch stripe or six inch lines in any multiple up to six. It also can be removed from the tractor in about 30 minutes, allowing installation of other implements such as a snowthrower or mower.

★ ★ ★

Patterson's patent is not his first.

The late Gov. Kim Sigler, who is sometimes called "Michigan's flying governor," asked Patterson if something couldn't be done about improving instrument flight-training methods.

Patterson developed a hood that restricted a student's flying vision to the instrument panel while the instructor's vision was unhampered.

The former method for teaching instrument flying was to tape an orange material to the windows, then give the pupil blue glasses, preventing him from seeing out while the instructor could see.

★ ★ ★

Patterson shared the patent on that device, as well as his new painting rig, with Gerald Francis of Francis Aviation.

While Capital City Airport is the chief beneficiary of the new paint sprayer so far, Patterson hopes it will be produced commercially.

Ontario, Canada, plans to make hunters wear black patches with numbers on their jackets. The patch is to help protect hunters from being mistaken for moose or deer, and also to provide identification in cases of hunting violations or trespassing.

Higbie also announced the declaration of an extra dividend of 10 cents per share also payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 15.

'Flatboat' House Stands on Ohio River Shore

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — What may be the last "flatboat" house standing along the Ohio River is known here as Mefford's Fort.

It was built in 1787 by George Mefford and its cherry wood flooring is from the original boat. Pioneers often dismantled their craft to build houses on land.

Challenge State Drain Code

Suit Stalls Clinton River Improvement

The downtown Clinton River improvement project has been left high and dry, at least temporarily, by the contractor, R. E. Dailey & Co. of Southfield.

The river project, tied in at one point with the downtown perimeter road construction, has been brought to a standstill by a civil suit in Detroit Federal Court.

Dailey, whose crews were busily clearing right-of-way for widening, deepening and straightening the river last week, left the job yesterday when there was no assurance of payment.

* * *

The civil suit, brought by a Macomb County citizens group has challenged the Michigan Drain Code as discriminatory against taxpayers.

As a result, the Oakland County Drain Commission has been unable to sell a $2.5 million bond issue to finance construction of the river project.

TO RECONVENE

The court is scheduled to reconvene on the issue next Tuesday.

* * *

City officials are hoping for an early settlement so as not to interfere with construction of the perimeter road where it is to cross the river near Union and E. Huron.

City Manager Robert Stierer said "We are going ahead with the perimeter road by working around the Clinton River crossing for the time being."

* * *

County Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry said, "There was no way to hold Dailey on the job . . . he has other contracts to fulfill."

Dailey is holding steel for the river project in his warehouse until work can be resumed, said Barry.

"He can't be expected to work here without being paid," Barry added.

* * *

The suit in Detroit has clouded the legality of an estimated $150 million worth of drain projects throughout the state waiting for bond issues to proceed.

Bonding houses and banks have refused to bid on the bond issues until after the case is resolved.

Development Plan Discussed in Troy

TROY — The City Commission last night discussed the "cluster plan" of neighborhood development, signed an agreement to widen Maple Road and gave the city manager new authority in the regulation of lawn sprinkling.

Builders in the Troy area have proposed a cluster plan (neighborhood unit plan) to offset unfavorable zoning regulations.

The city Commission met with the plan commission last night to discuss advantages of the proposal to both builders and city.

* * *

The plan was drawn up because builders found some areas zoned for lots with two wide frontage to be developed economically. By drawing the lots smaller, that is, "clustering" houses, the builders could save frontage and convert the extra land into park areas.

* * *

The parks, for the use of neighborhood residents, would enhance the city's appearance. City manager David Firestone said, "I think it's a darn good solution to the problem."

* * *

The City Commission signed agreement with the county and City of Birmingham to widen Maple between Coolidge and Adams. This will affect about a half mile of road within Troy.

Low water pressure last Wednesday prompted the commission to take steps that will make it possible to regulate lawn sprinkling as soon as a water shortage arises.

* * *

The city manager was given the authority to declare an emergency and call a special commission meeting to impose a sprinkling ban.

* * *

Troy residents currently are under a voluntary ban on daytime sprinkling. The public works department delivered notices door-to-door after low pressure developed last week asking homeowners to refrain from sprinkling before 9 p.m.

Ask Damages in Surgery Case Mixup

Two doctors and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are defendants in a $1,500 damage suit stemming from an operating room mixup last year in which two boys each underwent surgery meant for the other.

* * *

The suit was filed yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court on behalf of Tracy Fernald, then 17 months old, who received a hernia operation scheduled for Mark Trautman, 13 months old at the time.

The Trautman boy, meanwhile, was getting the tonsillectomy meant for Tracy.

The mixup occurred when the two boys, roommates at the hospital, were wheeled off to the operating room within minutes of each other in May, 1962.

Defendant doctors are Dr. Thomas Y. Watson, who performed Tracy's tonsillectomy on Mark, and Dr. John R. Ylvisaker, the surgeon who opened Tracy looking for Mark's hernia.

* * *

The suit, which charges negligence, was brought by Tracy's father, Walter Fernald, of 1560 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills, who claims the unscheduled incision into his son's groin resulted in permanent scarring and disability.

Mark's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Milo G. Trautman, 5650 Cleary, Waterford Township.

To Hear Appeal on Tax Rate

The State Tax Commission has set 4 p. m. Tuesday, July 9, for a hearing on the appeal by the Oakland County school board of its final tax allocation.

* * *

The school board has appealed the .10 mill tax rate set by the County Tax Allocation Board.

County School Supt. William J. Emerson maintains that the budget cannot be trimmed to meet the .10 rate. Last week, he predicted a $36,000 shortage even with substantial cutbacks.

The allocation of .10 mills would provide about $238,676 for the county school program. The school board had sought .16 mills, but this was cut by the County Tax Allocation Board.

Emerson has indicated that the preliminary allocation of .13 mills would have been "satisfactory" to finance the 196'-64 budget.

* * *

School officials claim that continuing contracts with some of its employes make it impossible to cut its budget to line up with the revenue from the .10 mill tax rate.

The hearing on the appeal will be held at the old county building.

Somebody Will Pay

CHATHAM, England (UPI) — Mrs. Alma Wilkins complained to police yesterday that a hoaxer had sent taxi cabs, a half ton of coal, 200 turtles and several cases of beer to her home—all C.O.D.

Residents Warned on Fireworks

Capt. George T. Scott, of the Pontiac Police Department, warned local residents today that persons either using fireworks or having them in their possession on the Fourth of July face punishment under law.

Ordinance 1247 prohibits the possession of any fireworks except sparklers or caps, he noted.

Violators face a $100 fine, imprisonment not to exceed 90 days or both, he said.

Excepted from the ordinance are exhibitions authorized by the city fire marshal and under his supervision and direction.

* * *

Scott noted that public policy is explained each year around this time to inform newcomers to this area who might be unfamiliar with the fireworks ordinance.

NAMED AS SPY — Harold Philby was named by British Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath as the third man in the Burgess-MacLean spy case. Heath said Philby warned Burgess and MacLean they were about to be arrested, and the two fled to Russia.

Take Another Step on Waterford Library

Another step toward the establishment of a public library in Waterford Township was taken last night.

By a 6-1 vote the Township Board accepted two conditions proposed by the Waterford Township CAI library board for the dedication of library properties to the township by the CAI board.

The conditions specify that the dedicated properties be used as part of a new library if such a facility becomes a reality. And, that the present library location at the CAI building be retained until the existing 2 - by 15-foot room becomes inadequate.

Trustee Loren Anderson was the only Township Board member to cast a dissenting vote on the dedication conditions.

Anderson said he favored a library for the community but felt the voters should be given the opportunity to accept or reject it.

* * *

"I'm opposed to financing this library through the back door," he said.

DISAGREES

Trustee Gene Preston disagreed with Anderson's election suggestion, saying that it is the duty of elected officials to research matters and make decisions to the best of their ability.

"Besides, I don't feel we are justified in spending $3,000 for an election," Preston added.

Final action on the library property dedication and a formal vote on the establishment of a public library will be considered simultaneously at a future meeting.

Members of the library committee present at the meeting were chairman Dr. John Naz, Robert Bauer, Carlos Richardson and Robert Snyder.

In other business the board approved the township's food handlers ordinance.

Amendments to the ordinance permitting outside display of food to enable roadside stands to operate were approved a week ago.

* * *

A resolution authorizing the township's consulting engineers, Johnson and Anderson, to prepare construction drawings for sidewalks on Bender Street was passed unanimously by the board.

Construction is expected to begin within two months.

Road Contracts Up for Okay

Loan Notes Are Also on Commission Slate

Final approval of the paving and resurfacing contracts for Pontiac's 1963 street improvement program and the sale of $3.75 million in preliminary loan notes for urban renewal are slated for action at tonight's City Commission meeting at 8.

The paving and resurfacing contacts are expected go go to A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham as recommended two weeks ago by City Engineer Joseph Nelpling.

Low bidder for the loan notes to finance operations in the R20 urban renewal project was Community National Bank.

* * *

Also up for approval is a $78,-886 contract with Ann Arbor Construction Co. for site improvements in the R20 project area.

Tabulations of bids received Friday for the 1963-64 insurance policies covering city vehicles and workmen's compensation for waste collection and disposal employes are also to be presented to the commission for approval.

Commissioners will also act on a resolution from the Michigan State Highway Department proposing that part of Sanford be closed for M59 relocation (the extension of East Huron) slated for construction next year.

* * *

Action is also slated on the proposed vacating of five streets to make way for development of a civic center district around City Hall.

Action will also be taken to vacate Walnut on the old water works site for a proposed community center development.

Driver Hospitalized After Auto Crash

Joseph H. Shemwell, of 641 Kenilworth, is reported in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital following an automobile accident at Baldwin and W. Rundell early this morning.

Shemwell was driving on Baldwin when the car in front of him, driven by Robert M. Kleine, of 781 Tennyson, slowed to make a left turn onto W. Rundell.

From that point on neither driver is able to reconstruct the details, however police report that Shemwell apparently attempted to pass the Kleine car on the left as it was turning left at the intersection.

Ray Gibson, of 4885 Jamm, Orion Township, a passenger in the Kleine car, received minor injuries and was treated at Pontiac General and released.

Ike Visiting Early Home

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower planned to spend today and Wednesday in Abilene, his boyhood home, and city officials hoped to keep the visit as quiet as possible for such a popular guest.

* * *

Eisenhower's private railroad car was to sit on a special siding near the old Eisenhower family home and the Eisenhower Library during the former president's first visit in two years.

No formal program was planned.

For Better Mail Service

Mr. ZIP's on the Job

Mr. Zip officially reported for work yesterday on his full-time job of providing better mail service in the Pontiac area and across the country.

Postmaster William Donaldson reports a sizeable volume of mail bore the designated Zone Improvement Program five-digit code numbers after the name of city and state.

He attributed this to prompt changeover by business and industry, biggest mail users.

* * *

Yet some individual residents are still confused. Donaldson said inquiries have been received, for example, about what code a home owner should use if his street is a boundary between two code districts.

SHOULD CLEAR UP DOUBT

Any doubts should be cleared up when some 45,000 addresses in and near Pontiac this week receive cards telling the right ZIP number for that location.

* * *

Donaldson said locally there are five ZIP districts, plus two other codes assigned to post office box users.

Pontiac Post Office is also mounting its own education campaign. Mailboxes and trucks carry Zip signs, while letter carriers have decals on their bags, and office clerks are wearing ZIP badges. "Mr. ZIP" is also shown as a cartoon-like character on posters.

Use of ZIP numbers on envelopes and stationery, along with regular address information will help speed mail delivery, Donaldson explained.

* * *

Sorters will be able to process mail by the ZIP codes. This will cut the time now needed to read addresses which are often in near-illegible handwriting.

STARS TO WED — Robert Goulet, Broadway star of "Camelot," and Carol Lawrence, talented actress who starred in "West Side Story," are pictured in Hollywood making plans for a New York wedding Aug. 12.

To Wed Carol Lawrence

Goulet Tells Marriage Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Show business marriage Canadian-style is outlined by singer Robert Goulet, who will wed Carol Lawrence Aug. 12.

THOMAS

The Broadway stars plan to marry at the Plaza Hotel in New York, during a brief holiday from a concert tour which they will make during most of the summer.

She is the immensely talented actress who starred in "West Side Story." He is the skyrocketing Lancelot of "Camelot" whose career has spread to television (CBS contract), albums (Columbia Records, night clubs and film ("His and Hers?" at MGM this fall).

* * *

They are here on double missions, professional and personal. He has been breaking records at Cocoanut Grove and she has been filming a "Wagon Train." Meanwhile they have been searching for a house to share when he returns for the MGM movie.

* * *

'NOT IMPRESSED'

"It was backstage at 'Camelot,'" he said. "She came back to say hello to Roddy McDowall, who introduced her to me. I must say neither of us was impressed.

"We met once more, rather casually, and nothing happened. We were still unimpressed. It wasn't until we did a television show, 'The Enchanted Nutcracker,' that we began to notice each other. Then it all began."

* * *

Both had been married before and they were shy of marriage.

"I was single again and I thought it would be great to be young and swinging," he said. "But it came down to this: whether I wanted to be a swinger or whether I wanted to marry a wonderful girl. The answer became obvious."

* * *

Goulet was born 29 years ago in Lawrence, Mass., but moved to Edmonton, Alberta, when he was 14. His Canadian upbringing may have something to do with his stern view of his future marriage.

FIRST A WIFE

"I have told Carol that after we are married she will be first a wife and second an actress," he remarked. "That is the only way that our marriage would make any sense. I can't have her going off to Arabia for six months to make a picture.

"In some matters I alone will make the decisions. In others the decisions will be made mutually. But there are some areas in which the husband must be the boss.

"And if we should happen to have children, I have told her that she will be first a wife, second a mother, and third an actress. That's the way it must be."

Weigh Buying of School Site

The Waterford Township Board of Education tonight will consider the purchase of a new elementary school site and act on improvement contracts for a recently acquired site.

Officers of the board also will be elected at the special organizational meeting.

A proposed school site in Section 21 of the township has been recommended by the board's building committee.

* * *

The planned site would be included in the school system's five-year building program approved at the polls June 10.

Contracts for improvements on the 12-acre elementary school site in Section 12 purchased by the board last month also will be considered.

The board paid $25,000 for the site and appropriated an additional $15,000 to be placed in escrow to finance needed road and water improvements.

* * *

Also slated for board attention is the designation of the school system's legal counsel and the bank depositories for the coming year.

It's 'Deliverance Day' for Top-Taxed Firms

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some clock watcher at the U. S. Chamber of Commerce did a little figuring the other day and came up with a timely calculation.

* * *

He ascertained that precisely at 7:12 p. m. on July 9 the 1963 calendar year will be 52 per cent over. Putting it another way, only 48 per cent of the year will be left.

By a stunning coincidence, 52 per cent also happens to be the tax rate on corporation income. Therefore, Edwin P. Neilan, president of the chamber, has proposed that July 9 be designated as "Deliverance Day."

At that time, statistically at least, "the federal government moves out of the top taxpaying corporations and turns them back to the owners for the rest of the year," the chamber noted.

Neilan recommended that "Deliverance Day" be suitably celebrated by the nation's businessmen, but he neglected to suggest ways that this might be done.

This being the outdoor season, I should think that a cook-out would be appropriate. Perhaps business leaders could get together and barbecue Mortimer Caplin, the revenue commissioner.

Or they could run Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee up a flagpole and fire a 21-gun salute.

EXCHANGE GIFTS

Regardless of what mode of celebration is chosen, it seems to me that "Deliverance Day," if it is to become a tradition, calls for an exchange of gifts among those emancipated.

In this connection, I happen to have at hand the latest catalog published by a company that manufactures a line of toys for executives. Some of them would make ideal gifts for the occasion.

For example, almost any liberated tycoon would appreciate receiving an "executive decision-maker" to help him form snap judgments.

* * *

Confronted with a problem, he can arrive at a solution simply by flicking an arrow that spins around a board and finally stops on a square marked "sell out quick," or "go golfing," or "lie about it" or some other logical decision.

Another item that caught my eyes is an "executive jigger" that shows the proper amount of liquor to pour for special occasions. Recommended dosages include 1¾ ounces upon being promoted to vice president, 1½ ounces upon being awarded a key to the executive washroom and ⅔ of an ounce to get up courage to ask for a raise.

The jigger does not specify what amount to pour for a toast to "Deliverance Day," but there is a related entry. It prescribes 1¾ ounces when tax agents are checking the books.

Await Word on New Trial

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (UPI) — Tobacco farmer William D. Zantzinger and his attorneys are awaiting a court ruling on their motion for a new trial. Zantzinger, 24, was convicted last week of manslaughter in the death of a Negro barmaid.

The five defense attorneys filed a nine-point motion for a new trial yesterday in Washington County Circuit Court.

The motion claims that the three judges who heard the case without a jury delivered their verdict against the weight of the evidence.

Trial Opens Against Italian Called Spy

LONDON (UPI) — The espionage trial of Dr. Giuseppe Martelli opened here today and the Italian nuclear physicist pleaded innocent to nine charges that he planned to spy for the Soviet Union.

Martelli, 39, formerly with the European Atomic Energy Commission (Euratom), worked on an atoms-for-peace program at the government's Harwell nuclear research station.

Martelli was accused of "committing an act preparatory to communicating to another person for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interest of the state information calculated to be, or which might be, or was intended to be, useful to an enemy . . ."

* * *

The nine detailed counts charged Martelli had collected a classic spy kit, a conversion table for enciphering and photographic equipment.

Actress Blasts 'Cleopatra'; Calls Pair 'Spoiled Brats'

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I just happened to ask Joan Crawford if she'd seen "Cleopatra"—and I thought she was going to belt me.

"I refuse to see a picture that contributes to the delinquency of adults—not that I think Miss Taylor and Mr. Burton are adults—they're spoiled brats," Joan replied heatedly.

WILSON

"I wouldn't be caught dead seeing a film that's destroyed so many lives, maimed so many children, brought so much shame on the industry," Joan said. "Look, sex is here to stay. But don't hold up production of a picture for it. Do it on your own time!"

Joan snapped out these remarks while revealing plans for her next film, "Straitjacket." Joan was invited to glamorize the "Cleo" premiere. But her acidulous retort—suggesting what disposition they should make of their epic film — almost knocked the teeth of of some 20th Century-Fox executives . . . (those who have teeth, that is.)

Joan now wears her hair salt-and-pepper, which it recently turned. "I just love it," she said. "I used to spend 3 hours every Sunday having it reddened. Now I have Sundays to myself. I just wash it, put a roller in it—and away I go!"

* * *

EARL'S PEARLS: A man's getting old when he picks up a girl's handkerchief—but doesn't pick up the girl.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Too many people don't care what happens, as long as it doesn't happen to them." . . . That's earl, brother.

City Officials Urge Residents to Conserve Supplies of Water

The first day of July 1963 will be remembered as the hottest July 1 on record and the day that one of Pontiac's major water tanks went dry.

At 4:15 p.m. yesterday, The Pontiac Press thermometer hit 99 degrees.

The highest previous temperature for July 1 in Pontiac since the U.S. Weather Bureau began compiling records in 1872 was 98 in 1911.

Yesterday also topped the previous high for this year — 96 degrees on June 27.

The water problems on Pontiac's north side resulted in a shutdown at both Fisher Body and Pontiac Motor Division on the second shift last night.

A spokesman for Fisher Body reported this morning that the first shift has been sent home for lack of water pressure at the plant. However he said they would try to operate the second shift.

At 9 p.m., the million-gallon elevated water tank on Baldwin was empty.

Today, city officials issued an "urgent appeal to residents to conserve their use of water."

City Manager Robert A. Stierer said it was "imperative that residents refrain from watering lawns and gardens from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

"We also are appealing to residents not to wash their cars during those hours, and to delay"

VATICAN CHAT — President Kennedy and Pope Paul VI talk during the pontiff's private audience with the American chief executive at the Vatican today.

Italy Interested in Multilateral NATO N-Force

Kennedy, Segni Issue Joint Communique on Creation of Set-Up

ROME (AP)—Italy has expressed a favorable attitude toward participating in studies on the possible development of a NATO multilateral nuclear force, a communique issued by President Kennedy and President Antonio Segni said today.

The United States has advocated creation of such a force.

Working sessions yesterday and today "provided the occasion for a useful and thorough exchange of views on the situation of East-West relations," the communique said.

"Both sides confirmed their firm intention of persevering in the search for appropriate means to alleviate international tensions."

The document was released in advance of Kennedy's departure for Naples, from which he is heading back to Washington tonight.

Kennedy and his Italian hosts, Segni and Premier Giovanni Leone, wound up their talks at a luncheon at the Villa Taverna, the U.S. Embassy residence.

Officials said they again discussed the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, economic matters, and nuclear test talks.

Italian Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk also participated.

After the lunch Kennedy went to the Rome Polo Club, from which a U.S. helicopter carried him to Naples.

Pope Paul VI received Kennedy in a historic audience today and extended his blessing to all Americans.

He said he would pray for the President's efforts to end racial discrimination.

The pontiff, after conferring privately for 40 minutes with the first Roman Catholic American president, told his guest:

"We are ever mindful in our prayers of the efforts to ensure to all your citizens the equal benefits of citizenship, which have as their foundation the equality of all men because of their dignity as persons and children of God."

Doctor Cites Symptoms

Avoid Heatstroke, Exhaustion

The current siege of warm weather has brought with it the danger of two illnesses, heat exhaustion and heat stroke, warned Dr. Robert R. Leichtman of the Oakland County Medical Society.

Heat exhaustion, he said, is more common than a heat stroke, which is more serious.

An acute deficiency of salt and water is the cause of heat exhaustion. Dr. Leichtman said the deficiencies usually result from sweating.

The doctor said the cure is to take an extra amount of salt and water.

An average preventive dose for these days would be one-half teaspoon of table salt or three-to-five salt tablets a day.

Dr. Leichtman cautioned, however, that persons with heart, liver or other illness associated with abnormal accumulation of water should contact their physician about taking extra salt.

★ ★ ★

A heatstroke strikes with little warning and may end fatally unless treatment is begun rapidly.

Early symptoms include irritability, vision difficulty, dizziness, weakness, confusion and then loss of consciousness. The doctor said all these occur in rapid progression.

The victim's skin will be hot, flushed and unusually dry. He said the dryness is due to a loss of the body's usual cooling agent—perspiration.

If the victim's temperature is about 105 degrees or more, then the diagnosis is confirmed, according to Dr. Leichtman. He said a physician should be contacted immediately.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Leichtman said emergency treatment would be to immerse the victim in a tub of ice water and rub the skin to accelerate circulation and heat loss.

The first county death attributed to heat was reported this morning in Wixom. John J. Barry, 53, of 29250 Beck, died yesterday of a heart attack brought on by heat prostration. His body is at the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home Walled Lake.

Relieved to Be Back in State

Everest Conqueror Relaxes

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University's mountain-climbing geologist, Dr. Maynard Miller, said yesterday it took good organization, immense determination and a large amount of good luck for the American expedition to scale icy Mt. Everest this spring.

The tanned, lean scientist told newsmen that the traverse of the mountain's summit was "the outstanding achievement in Himalayan mountaineering."

Flanked by his wife, Joan, and his 9-year-old son Ross at a news conference, Miller said it was a "great relief" to be home.

The 42-year-old native of Seattle, Wash., is an associate professor of geology. He joined MSU in 1959 and earned a Ph.D at Cambridge University in England in 1956.

He has led research expeditions to the Juneau icefield in southern Alaska since 1946, and has directed MSU's glaciological institute on that icefield since the institute was established two years ago.

★ ★ ★

He termed the expedition to Alaska, where he'll be going in August, "sheer joy compared to the Everest area."

Miller suffered a painful foot injury during the ascent of 29,028-foot Mt. Everest, breaking four bones when the foot was caught between two granite blocks.

★ ★ ★

He was on top of one of the blocks, some 19,000 feet up, when the ice beneath it began flowing. He said he might have jumped but was afraid the fall would injure the sensitive gravity meter in his knapsack.

The block carried him into a crevasse and pinned his foot. Two other members of the expedition helped pry one block up, freeing him.

Dr. David Dingman, one of the physicians on the trip, elected not to treat the foot at the time because of the danger of frostbite.

Because of the accident, Miller did not go up to the 26,000 foot mark as he originally had planned, instead staying at 23,000 feet.

The geologist had high praise for Dingman, a 26-year-old native of Ann Arbor who is serving a residency at a Baltimore, Md., hospital. He said Dingman saved the life of Barry Prather, Miller's assistant, who suffered from hypoxia because of a lack of oxygen.

★ ★ ★

Miller said the young doctor also provided invaluable assistance to the climbers who went up to the summit. Everyone, at one time or another, suffered from some physiological disorder Miller said.

The MSU geologist's scientific reason for being on the expedition was to gather data on glaciers and weather.

"HOSTILE' ENVIRONMENT

He called the environment "hostile"—dry as a desert, with only 50 to 30 per cent normal atmospheric pressure, and temperatures ranging 30, 40, and 50 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

Miller termed the flow of the glaciers slower than he had expected and said the high Him-

Is Re-Elected President of School Board

William H. Anderson, 451 Lynch, was re-elected president of the Pontiac Board of Education last night at the annual organizational meeting.

Anderson, whose term expires in 1965, begins his second year as school board president.

Other officers chosen for this year included Mrs. William (Elsie) Mihalek, 1592 Vinewood, vice president, and Victor P. Sutt, 2215 St. Joseph, secretary.

The board appointed Vernon L. Schiller, treasurer. Schiller is director of financial management.

Two local banks, Community National Bank and Pontiac State Bank, were designated depositories for school district funds.

Auto Industry Fractures June Production Records

While production at Pontiac Motor Division last month jumped 22 per cent over the same period last year, the automobile industry shattered all previous production record for the month of June.

Pontiac reported production of 61,747 Pontiacs and Tempests compared to 50,461 assembled during June 1962.

Pontiacs alone topped the entire production totals for June, 1962. A total of 56,611 regular Pontiacs were assembled last month, 40 per cent higher than the same month a year ago.

The division accounted for nearly two-thirds of the total increase in the number of passenger cars produced by General Motors in the United States.

A total of 436,383 vehicles were assembled at GM plants as compared ot 419,681 for June of 1962. Passenger cars totaled 388,617.

Preliminary figures showed that the industry as a whole built 689,519 cars — highest car output of any June in automotive history.

In addition, it turned out an estimated 120,000 trucks.

The trade publication Automotive News said 169,444 autos were built in U.S. plants last week, compared with the previous week's 170,689 and 126,521 in the corresponding week of 1962.

Nine Ford and three Chevrolet plants operated on overtime last Saturday as the industry continued to turn out 1963 models at a fast clip.

Studebaker Corp. became the first auto maker to wind up 1963 model production, as it closed its Lark and Hawk model assembly lines last week. It continued production of the Avanti, its highest-priced model.

On a model-year basis, output of passenger cars alone since last fall topped the 6.6-million mark last Friday as it headed for its current goal—seven million cars.

Last month's output of 689,519 cars was almost 22 per cent ahead of the June 1962 total.

Truck production, which has been one of the strongest links in the automotive business this year, totaled about 744,925 for the first six months of this year, compared with 638,335 for the first half of 1962.

Of June car making, General Motors accounted for an estimated 52 per cent, Ford 27 per cent, Chrysler 12 per cent, American Motors 6 per cent and Studebaker 1 per cent.

British Guiana Hit by Racism

Negroes, East Indians Clash in Latin Town

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana — British Guiana's political warfare between Negroes and East Indians threatened today to explode into racial warfare.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Carl Austin said he feared further violence after a Negro was fatally shot Monday in Plaisance, a village five miles from Georgetown, the capital. Rioting broke out when shops run by East Indians reportedly refused to sell to Negroes. Negroes sacked the shops.

★ ★ ★

One man was killed and 11 others injured yesterday in fighting at Betterhope, about seven miles east of here, capping a day of disorders in the area.

There was no immediate explanation for the clash.

★ ★ ★

It followed a riotous looting spree by young men in nearby Plaisance which forced vendors in the marketplace to abandon their goods and shopkeepers to close their doors.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, several people were injured and automobiles stoned in a clash between East Indian and Negro groups.

Robert Willis, a British Trades Union Congress official, met a delegation from the Civil Service Association and the Government Employes Union to discuss the 12-week-old general strike which has paralyzed this British colony.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources said Duncan Sandys, British colonial secretary, might fly here from Britain to study the situation.

Pigeon Plague Ends

ALLEGAN (UPI) — The crew of an armored Brinks delivery van tensed their trigger fingers while making an early-morning stop recently at the Allegan State Bank.

★ ★ ★

The driver had spotted a tall man, a shotgun cradled in his arm, furtively lugging the shadows of store buildings on Allegan's main street. The man was moving slowly toward the van.

Suddenly he stepped out into the sunlight, raised his weapon and cut loose with a blast aimed at the sky.

A wheeling pigeon exploded into a cloud of feathers and the crew of the armored car relaxed.

★ ★ ★

The bird was the 170th killed in the past year by Clifford Larson, who is reasonably certain he is the only "pigeon warden" in the nation.

Larson didn't find out until later that he had walked half the length of main street with three guns trained on him.

He heard complaints, however, from late-risers until they became accustomed to the boom of his 12-gauge shotgun. And an occasional visitor from out of town is apt to spill a little coffee when Larson cuts loose outside a restaurant.

★ ★ ★

But, otherwise, his first year at ridding the business district of "those pesky pigeons" has gone by without a hitch.

The "pigeon patrol" was born last spring when a group of Allegan businessmen told the City Council they were fed up with the problem.

Large numbers of the birds were dispossessed when the old county courthouse, with its lofty clock tower, was torn down. The flocks moved into the business district with predictable results.

Nab N. Y. Trio in Hotel With Stolen Securities

CHICAGO, (UPI)—Three New York men were held on $10,000 bail each today on charges of possessing half a million dollars worth of stolen securities found by surprised FBI agents in the suspects' hotel room.

Agents entered the downtown hotel room with a warrant for the arrest of Arnold D. Naidich, 39, a New York attorney, on charges of jumping bail in New York where he is a suspect in another stolen bond case.

Inside the room, agents said they found Naidich and John B. Sullivan, 64, Brooklyn, N.Y., working over the bonds which were spread out across a bed.

While the agents were in the room, Henry Messenger, 51, New York, let himself in with a key.

All three men were arrested on charges of possessing securities stolen in interstate commerce.

The FBI said the stocks and bonds were stolen June 22 from the home of Raymond Grinold, Hartford, Conn., who was hospitalized at the time.

Now in their second day of training, 371 men, all from the Pontiac area, are taking part in two weeks of exercises here.

SRIGLEY

Of the total number, 227 men are assigned to the unit and attend weekly meetings at the Walnut Street Reserve Center.

The remaining 144 enlisted men and officers are attached to the group only for the two weeks of intensive artillery training here this summer.

Camp McCoy, with its rolling, dusty hills, is located some 100 miles north and west of Madison, Wis.

But the word "north" is out of place, as the temperature here appears to be in a steady race with the humidity, to see which can reach the higher mark.

Yesterday the mercury climbed to a high of 103 degrees and a similar peak is predicted for the remainder of the week. Right now the sultry weather is the men's greatest enemy.

The troops wake up during the one liveable portion of the day, from 5 to 8 a.m. Heat starts to roll in even without movement, by 8:30 in the morning.

Arriving by train Sunday, the men spent yesterday cleaning up the battalion area, establishing communication lines and preparing for the field work.

READY EQUIPMENT

They also readied the equipment for field today, the most important item brought with them to the field, of which are the 105-millimeter howitzers.

The 4th Howitzer Battalion of the 39th Artillery is a support unit.

It, like other artillery groups, serves as back-up for the attacking infantry in battle.

Lt. Col. Cyril D. Duffy, of 1252 Shipman, Birmingham, is commanding officer of "The Fourth". In civilian life the colonel is a project engineer for Fisher Body Division.

Today he supervised deployment of the unit and its guns into the battle practice area, where the soldiers will live, day and night, for the next four days.

Until Saturday they will work through tactical problems with their 16 guns. The 371-man battalion is composed of four batteries, with a commanding officer and a "top" sergeant for each.

* * *

First sergeant for headquarters and headquarters battery is Norris R. "Chad" Chadwell, of 2330 Hammerslea, Orion Township.

Chad gathered his 68 enlisted men on the first floor of one of the battery's two double-story barracks before they left for the field.

"All right you jokers", the "Top" ordered. "We're here to play a game, and we're going to play it well." The men listened as he told of plans for the coming days.

The tone of the sergeant's voice told listeners that he used the word "game" in the most serious sense of the word.

After the brief talk, a few soldiers gathered in one corner of the barracks and discussed the usefulness of the training. They joked and laughed about "the game."

When the talk was waning, a young private pointed out something to which the group nodded silent agreement.

He said that even though it is a game, learning and practicing the rules could well save their lives in the terrible and all too real game of war.

Mac Defends Spy Case Role

LONDON, (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan angrily defended his part in the "third man" security case today in a biter, name-calling House of Commons debate.

Opposition Labor party leader Harold Wilson enraged Macmillan by demanding he appoint a minister of security to end the nation's series of security scandals.

Macmillan pigeon-holed the demand and accused Wilson of "invective and insolence."

The parliamentary battle erupted over yesterday's revelation that Harold Philby, former British diplomat in Washington, was indeed the "third man" whose tipoff allowed turncoat diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean to skip behind the Iron Curtain.

Macmillan said the Burgess and MacLean flight occured in 1951 under a Labor government. When Macmillan's Conservative party came to power, he said, Philby was "got rid of."

The Laborites derided Macmillan for denying—in 1955 when Macmillan was foreign secretary — that Philby was the "third man" in the Washington embassy who tipped off Burgess and MacLean.

Today Macmillan said his 1955 answer was based on information then available.

The Laborites jeered.

Wilson charged that "American newspaper revelations" forced Macmillan's lord privy seal, Edward Heath, to announce yesterday that Philby was the "third man."

Labor MP P. Arthur Henderson demanded to know if President Kennedy got a report from Macmillan on the Philby case and Britain's other security woes.

Macmillan referred Henderson to his Sunday joint communique with Kennedy. The communique did not mention any such item in their weekend talks at Macmillan's country house.

Wilson said Labor had campaigned for a security minister when admiralty clerk William John Vassall was convicted of being a Soviet spy. He referred to Macmillan's "appalling admission" that security aides had not kept him fully informed of developments in the Profuma scandal.

Referring to the Judge, Macmillan appointed to investigate the Profumo scandal's security aspects, the opposition leader asked if there are "enough judges to go around" to handle all Britain's security cases.

When Wilson asked if he had forgotten that the prime minister is the minister in charge of security, the prime minister bristled.

In another security case, Dr. Giuseppe Martelli, an Italian nuclear physicist, pleaded innocent here today to charges that he planned to spy for the Soviet Union. Martelli worked on an atoms-for-peace program at the government's Harwell nuclear research station.

Discusses Climb

alayas were "so high, so cold, so dry" that they were quite different from other glaciers.

* * *

He said much of his time was devoted to gathering data — checking the ice for salt content, for oxygen isotopic content, for pollen samples.

As he explained his scientific work, saying that four months in the office were needed to discover the significance of data collected in one month, his wife interjected that the means of gathering data were unusual.

* * *

Miller then described cutting ice samples while swinging in space on a 100-foot steel ladder that was fastened by aluminum pickets driven 4 feet into the ice and attended by two helpers.

He also described "aspirating" —huffing and panting to get more oxygen into his lungs while suspended on the ladder.

Other studies conducted on the expedition concerned individual psychological and physiological reactions; the psychological reactions of the group as a group, and a small-scale solar radiation study.

ORIGINAL PLAN

The original plan contemplated by the expedition was to assault three peaks — Mt. Everest, L'Hotse, Nuptse. But the plan was changed, Miller said, during a series of discussions at the beginning of the ascent.

Climbing all three might over-divert the expedition's forces, it was decided. And when the group saw the west ridge, "it looked so exciting we had to try it," Miller said.

Underscoring the danger involved was the fact that John Breitenbach, 27, of Jackson, Wyo., was buried by a wall of ice on the ascent.

That accident undermined the expedition's morale for a week, Miller said.

* * *

One very significant, but generally overlooked, aspect of the climb was that "everyone was still a friend" when the expedition was concluded, he said.

* * *

Miller explained that because of the extreme stress, other mountain-climbing teams had developed bitter animosities.

Bias Problem Moving Fast

Civic Leaders Hear Detroit Group Official

"Our (human relations) problem keeps running faster than we can catch up with it."

This was the comment yesterday of Richard V. Marks, secretary director of the Detroit Commission on Community Relations, during an address to Pontiac's human relations committee.

Marks was the main speaker at a general community information meeting yesterday at the Waldron Hotel. The luncheon attracted city, church and industrial leaders.

The Detroit community relations director told 84 civic leaders that no person can turn away from the struggle to eliminate injustice and establish equality for all.

"No person who loves his fellow man, his community or his nation can turn away from this fight," Marks said. "No man — be he white or Negro, Catholic, Protestant or Jew — can say this struggle does not involve him. This is the time and this is the challenge."

Marks said new forces stirring the minds and hearts of men all over America have stepped up the tempo and urgency for eliminating all evidences of segregation and injustice.

Urging local government to take the lead, Marks said that city governments have to establish in the minds of its citizens that equal treatment will be accorded every person.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers included Mayor Robert A. Landry and Irving Steinman, chairman of the human relations committee.

Landry called on the City Commission to put forth an ordinance that "puts teeth in the work of the human relations committee."

He pointed out that Pontiac was the first to pass a fair employment practices ordinance in 1952.

The Pontiac mayor said the ordinance requires nondiscriminatory clauses in all contracts signed with the city.

Landry also announced the appointment of two clergymen to the nine-member human relations committee.

Rev. Thompson Marcero of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church and Rev. Amos Johnson of the New Bethel Baptist Church were named.

The addition of the two clergymen brings the committee's membership to 11.

Steinman, chairman of the committee, noted that the group was only a fact-finding committee.

However, he said, the committee would investigate reports of discrimination and seek to correct any such situations.

Dies in Water Accident

BELLAIRE (UPI) — Donald Aardema, 26, of Central City, fell off water skis and drowned in Torch Lake yesterday. Antrim County sheriff's deputies said he had been trying to exchange places with a fellow skier, who was unable to rescue Aardema.

Elect Ford Executive to Head School Board

BIRMINGHAM—E. Ross Hanson was elected president of the board of education last night.

Hanson, manager of the administrative department of the general sales office of Ford Division, Ford Motor Co., succeeds Mrs. Kathryn Loomis.

Mrs. Loomis, board member for almost 10 years, had been president since 1958. She did not seek a board seat in the June 10 school election.

Re-elected to their offices at the organizational meeting were George W. Coombe Jr., vice president, and Richard P. Barnard, secretary.

Pell Hollingshead replaced Bennett W. Root as treasurer.

The new board approved the 1963-64 operational budget last night after electing its officers.

The $7,933,081 budget is about $700,000 above last year's figure.

Lloyd VanBuskirk, director of finance, attributes "about 99 per cent" of the increase to salary raises.

He noted that major emphasis was on the use of higher salaries to attract better teachers in a five-year projection made in 1961.

Also accounting for the higher figures is growth in the district, now about five per cent or 500 to 600 students a year.

Operational millage in the district is 21.3 mills, including 12.9 extra voted and 8.4 allocated by the county.

The board will meet the third rather than the fourth Tuesdays of July and August.

The 8 p.m. meetings are held at the board of education meeting.

Mercury Hits Sizzling High

taking a bath or shower, whenever possible, until after 9 each night."

Stierer said that because of last night's water problems, "We are now engaging in a full scale water conservation program.

"We are not asking people to cut down on their use of water for drinking and other essential purposes; but any use that can be delayed will help," Stierer said.

At 6:45 last night the Baldwin tank's water level stood at 14 feet. It has a capacity of 25 feet.

In 30 minutes it went down four feet (about 160,000 gallons) and by 8:30 it stood at five feet, according to Herbert Parker, water superintendent.

When it went dry at 9, Fisher Body and an estimated 5,000 residents in the tank's one-square-mile service area were without water.

Some 1,075 night shift employes were sent home after working an average of 5½ hour of their 8-hour shift, according to a company spokesman.

Pontiac Motor closed its production line due to a lack of bodies the last hour of the shift.

Corporation officials said they expected production would be a little slower today but there would be no shutdown.

The tank was refilled and water level stood at 21 feet this morning.

At 8 a.m. today the water department's observation well hit an all-time low. The water level was 130.25 feet below ground level.

Yesterday's temperature in Pontiac was just shy of the all-time high of 100 degrees recorded on Aug. 21, 1955.

Relief, however, was promised today by the weatherman. Today's high was supposed to be about 88 with widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers forecast.

Tonight and Wednesday will be fair and cooler, with a low of 64 tonight and a high of 80 tomorrow.

The cooling trend, however, should be brief.

The weatherman said another warm trend should begin about July 4.

City commissioners last night allocated $151,300 for development of a nine-hole golf course at the corner of 14-Mile and Cranbrook Road.

The 57-acre site will double as a ski area in the winter. Besides its portable ski tow, it will be equipped with a club house and picnic area.

Commissioners asked R. S. Kenning, assistant city manager, to take another look at the new brochure he presented to explain the city's refuse collection regulations to residents.

Some of the commissioners said the two-page brochure did not give enough explanation for the regulations.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Scattered showers and thundershowers are due tonight for northern sections of north Atlantic states, parts of central Ohio Valley into mid Mississippi Valley, and along southeast coast of Florida. It will continue warm east of the Rockies except for cooler temperatures in eastern parts of upper Mississippi Valley into Lakes region and northern Ohio Valley.

Most of U.S. Is Facing a Torrid July

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The weather bureau predicts higher than normal temperatures in the eastern two-thirds of the nation in the next 30 days.

The West Coast can expect below normal temperatures during July, the bureau said yesterday, while normal to below normal temperatures were forecast for the North Atlantic and south Atlantic Coast regions.

Cooler air spread across northern areas of the Midwest today bringing some relief from a spell of hot weather but more muggy weather clung to wide areas in the eastern half of the nation.

* * *

The cool front extended from the northern Great Lakes southwestward into southeast Colorado. Showers broke out along the front. Fairly cool weather also reported along the Pacific Coast, with temperatures in the 50s.

The mercury bubbled up to nearly 100 degrees in many cities Monday with temperatures generally in the 90s and 80s in many sections.

Neutrals, Reds Clash in Sporadic Laos Fire

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Informed sources said today neutralist and pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces exchanged sporadic fire last night in the Plaine de Jarres area.

Sources added three mortar shells and small arms fire were traded in the area northeast of Muong Hanh which is Neutralist General Kong Le's command post.

Pigeon Plague Ends in Allegan

"It was either them or us," one retailer recalls.

An out-of-town gun club volunteered its services and two shoots eliminated 750 pigeons. But Larson, who had participated, said there were still 150 of the birds left.

He suggested the council establish the "pigeon warden" post and volunteered his services. The council voted him a $25 annual allowance for ammunition.

The only restriction on Larson's activities was that he halt his forays before 8 a. m.

Larson averaged five or six pigeons a day when he started the job, but he shoots only two or three a week now. He also bagged two "black" pigeons.

That's the way a lady described the crows that were raising hob in her sweet corn patch.

Hunting is Larson's hobby so the unpaid post is okay with him. But, with the local pigeon population reduced to about 10, he says he wouldn't mind moving his operation to a larger city.

* * *

"Providing they made a full-time job of it," he added.

Any takers?

19 School Boards Reorganize, Elect Officers

Nineteen area boards of education officially organized last night, many of them changing officers for the coming school year.

In some instances, however, board presidents were retained in their present posts—a number to serve their fourth terms or more.

Following is a list of the officers in each district:

FARMINGTON — Leland G. Clifford was re-elected president; Richard H. Peters re-elected vice president; Mrs. Barbara A. Brown re-elected secretary; George A. Nahstoll Jr., treasurer.

GOOD VANTAGE POINT — Ted Creque, entertainment chairman for the 125th anniversary celebration in Holly Township, would be in an enviable position if he could keep it for two days. Creque contemplates plans from the middle of a float which will bear queen contestants in a Fourth of July parade. About 25 floats are now being prepared for the event.

ALL ABOARD—With the help of Holly Treasurer Mrs. Hulda Anderson, Mrs. Fred Labring of 13153 Fagan, Holly Township, practices getting herself and her bustle into a 1922 Ford centerdoor sedan. The auto, owned by James Lake, of 210 Washington, Holly, is one of several vintage models which will appear in Thursday's parade marking Holly Township's 125th anniversary.

Set Colorful Clarkston 4th

Parade Starts All-Day Event

Display of Fireworks Will Climax Festivities

CLARKSTON — An activity-packed Independence Day program beginning with a colorful parade and culminating with a brilliant fireworks display is planned for Thursday.

Colorful floats, costumed children, fire trucks, horses and the high-stepping Clarkston High School marching band will be featured in the 10 a.m. parade which will form at M15 and Miller.

The parade route will be south on M15 to Church, then east on Church to Buffalo.

* * *

Immediately following the parade, the Independence Township Fire Department will offer a fire fighting demonstration at the parking lot near the mill pond.

Games and booths, sponsored by the recreation department, will be located at the junior high school for the all-day entertainment of both adults and children. Prizes will be offered.

Ball games are slated for the afternoon at the junior high school, and refreshments from the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerces' trailer will be available all day.

* * *

Preceding the fireworks display, which will begin at sunset (about 9 p.m.), will be an 8 p.m. band concert in front of the senior high school.

The fireworks will be shot from behind the senior high school building where ample parking is available.

The annual July 4 program is sponsored by the Independence Township Firefighters Association.

Residing in Oxford After Recent Vows

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—Residing in Oxford after their recent wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Sprague, who exchanged vows in Immanuel Congregational Church, Oxford.

Rev. Anthony Nelson performed the candlelight service.

MRS. ROBERT L. SPRAGUE

The bride is the former Judith Ann Esler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Dunham, 270 Rowland. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Sprague, 725 Miller, Orion Township.

A floor-length gown of Chantilly lace with a sequin-studded Sabrina neckline was chosen by the bride. The back detailing featured tiers of lace accented with bridal satin roses.

A small crown of pearlized flowers held her elbow-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and rosebuds centered with a lavender orchid.

Maid of honor was Carol Sue Somerville of Oxford. Mrs. Donald Northcote of Clarkston and Mrs. Gerald Markell, Sue Garcia and Marilyn Beattie, all of Lake Orion, were bridesmaids.

On the esquire side, William Tallman of Lake Orion served as best man. Ushers were Donald Northcote, Gerald Markell, Lawrence Drum of Lake Orion and Paul Veilleux of Detroit.

Michelle and Tammy Seabrook, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls. His nephew, Michael Seabrook, carried the rings.

AUF WIEDERSEHEN — Kathy Stoutenburg, who was chosen to spend the summer in Vienna, Austria, by the American Field Service, is shown aboard the MS Seven Seas which sailed from New York last Wednesday. Kathy has studied German for three years at Rochester High School, where she will be a senior next fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stoutenburg, 2933 Heidelberg, Avon Township.

Novi Getting Set to OK Sewage Lines

NOVI — Village councilmen here are prepared to go ahead with plans for lateral lines from the proposed Walled Lake-Novi sewage treatment plant when they get the answers to two questions.

They are now waiting to learn what the engineers' fee for the planning would be and what Walled Lake is going to do about its share of the project.

Walled Lake councilmen have been investigating the possibility of receiving a federal grant and have not yet determined how property owners should pay for the system.

Novi councilmen decided to set up a special assessment district following a public hearing in June.

However, they decided last night to hold up the formal resolution pending answers to their two important questions.

* * *

Novi's share of the project has been estimated at $1.1 million and Walled Lake's at $1.5 million.

Holiday Heralds Beginning of Holly Twp. Anniversary

By PAT McCARTY

HOLLY TOWNSHIP — Fourth of July festivities will herald the three-day 125th anniversary celebration here.

Catalyst for the activities will be a holiday parade starting at 11 a.m.

About 25 floats representing area businesses, industries, units of government and other organizations will be featured.

* * *

Holly and Fenton parade units will be combined for the 9:30 a.m. Fourth of July parade in Fenton. They will then travel five miles for the anniversary parade in Holly.

Also participating will be the Rae-Vens, an all-girl precision drill team from Pontiac. The 50 girls include modernistic touches like the twist and bosa nova in their routine.

The Rae-Vens will return for a repeat performance at the Holly Township Beach at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

* * *

Another parade feature will be the Genesee County sheriff's posse, which has performed in various festivals throughout the state. Members will also put on a display of horsemanship at the beach following the parade.

Other parts of the parade will include bands, drum and bugle corps, the Linden Trail Riders and about 20 or 25 antique automobiles.

Hulet-Bravender Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 5589 is in charge of the parade.

QUEEN CONTESTANTS

Among the floats will be those carrying the 22 queen contestants. Making their initial appearance in bathing suits, the girls will later don formals for an evening program at which 10 finalists will be chosen.

* * *

Also to be judged at a program following the parade will be 28 cherub queen contestants. From these toddlers, 2 to 6 years old, a queen will be picked Thursday.

The queen of the entire affair and the four members of her court will be crowned at 7 p.m. Saturday at the beach. They will reign at the coronation ball to follow in the multipurpose room of Holly High School.

The Junior Monday Club is sponsoring the queen contest for girls 16 to 21 and the Child Study Club the competition for the youngsters.

A gigantic fireworks display will cap Fourth of July activities. It is slated to begin about 8:30 p.m. at the beach.

About six carnival rides, games and other entertainment will be provided at the beach during the three days of the celebration.

Sewer Planning Continues Despite Lagging Interest

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—Despite an apparent lack of interest shown at the public hearings by 235 homeowners with sewage problems, the Township Board is going ahead with plans to build a sanitary sewer system estimated at $300,000.

The first hearing, legally invalid because it was not sufficiently advertised, attracted only about 75 people. The second hearing held Friday night had more advertising but less attendance. Only 40 were present.

Plans are moving ahead, however. The county is to furnish as accurate estimate of the project cost by July 19.

As soon as engineering is completed, the Township Board will pass a resolution for the supervisor to prepare a special assessment roll and set a date for another public hearing, as required by law.

The second hearing showed a generally favorable reaction to the project, according to Clayton Lovelace, township building inspector.

* * *

Several questions were discussed: How much time would residents have to hook up to the sewer system? Six months. How long will the bond issue last? Ten years.

* * *

Does the board plan to apply for Federal aid? The board doesn't know at this time whether the project qualifies for a federal grant, but the possibility will be investigated.

Installation of sewer lines in the "problem area" will call for special assessment fees of $1,040 to $1,100.

The area is bounded by Phillips, James, Dexter and Walton, and includes Walton Heights and East Walton Heights Manor subdivisions.

Although the township is not working under pressure of a court order, it has been reprimanded by the Oakland County Health Department several times about the "health hazard."

Barring major problems or opposition, construction of sewer lines probably will begin this fall. The lateral sewers in the township will connect to a trunk sewer, which will join a 15-inch main at Walton, just east of Squirrel.

Sewage from the subdivisions will then be transported by 18-inch lines into the county's sewage treatment plant in Avon Township near Avon Road and Livernois.

Begin Paving Extension of Freeway

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Highway Department has begun paving the 3.1-mile extension of the John Lodge Freeway on Detroit's Northwest Side.

* * *

When the $27-million extension is completed later this year, it will provide 12.1 miles of depressed freeway between downtown Detroit and Greenfield near Eight Mile Road.

The six-lane extension has been under construction since 1960 in the median of James Couzens Highway. It will be opened in three stages, Sept. 1, Oct. 1 and Dec. 1.

* * *

Scheduled for opening later is an additional stretch of freeway from the Greenfield end of the Lodge Freeway to connect with I-96 at Novi in Oakland County.

Government Study Due Before Council

LAKE ORION — The study of local government which has been made by a citizen's advisory committee will be revealed at the next regular Village Council meeting Monday night.

* * *

Nine residents on the committee analyzed the village charter, ordinances and sewage and water programs to make recommendations to the council.

* * *

Orion Township has set a public hearing on the proposed joint sewage system with Lake Orion for the same night.

Utica Bid to Annex Section Is Defeated

UTICA (AP) — Utica's proposal to annex a 12.7-acre residential section was rejected yesterday.

* * *

Utica voters approved 186-12 but Sterling Township disapproved 35-23. Both had to approve for the proposal to be successful.

Fireworks Fill Detroit Skies

DETROIT (UPI) — More than 250,000 ohs and ahs filled the sky last night for the spectacular J.L. Hudson Co. fireworks display billed as the top attraction of the 1963 Detroit-Windsor Freedom festival.

* * *

Police spokesmen said the 250,000 people jammed the Michigan Avenue area of downtown Detroit and that 400,000 more people watched from Belle Isle, various parks on the riverfront and from other vantage points.

* * *

The 45-minute show saw more than three tons of assorted fireworks fired from three barges in the Detroit River near the Civic Center.

Rules on Salaries of Court Officers

LANSING (AP) — The Attorney General's office has issued an opinion saying the legislature can change the salary status of justices of the peace and Circuit Court commissioners.

Couple Visits Falls

Barbara Nitz Wed

WALLED LAKE — The First Baptist Church was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Barbara Kay Nitz and James Roy Ham. Rev. C. C. King officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Kerr, 3066 Brisbane. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ham, 1535 Oakley Park.

MRS. JAMES R. HAM

For her marriage the bride chose a gown of imported silk organza featuring a Sabrina neckline and lace sleeves that accentuated the lace appliqued bodice. The tiered skirt ended in a chapel train.

JEWELED CROWN

A jeweled crown held her fingertip veil. She carried a white Bible topped with white orchids.

Janet Elaine Kerr was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Billie Shepard and Sue Daniels, and Sherrie Newkirk, all of Walled Lake, and Linda Martin and Marlene Dortman, both of Detroit.

Serving as best man was Douglas Wilson, brother-inlaw of the bridegroom. Ushers were Thomas and Frank Watrous, Stewart Glatfelter, Wilford Nitz and John York, all of Walled Lake.

* * *

Following a reception at the VFW Hall in Wixom, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls. They will reside in Walled Lake.

Two Sugar Lobbyists Criticized

By WARREN DUFFEE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators have severely criticized two members of a Washington law firm that received more than $128,000 in sugar lobbying fees from the Dominican Republic and later destroyed all records on the transaction.

The criticism was leveled at Walter Sterling Surrey and Monroe Karasik, members of the Washington firm representing the Dominican Sugar Commission from 1954-56.

The case was disclosed in testimony made public last night by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is investigating lobbying by Americans for foreign interests. Surrey and Karasik were questioned in closed session on March 13 and June 20.

The transcript also revealed that an associate of the two attorneys attempted unsuccessfully to engage an Alexandria, Va., law firm in hopes of influencing chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee which was considering the 1956 Sugar Act extension.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the foreign relations group accused Surrey and Karasik of not fully complying with reporting requirements of the Foreign Agents Registration Act, under which they were registered with the Justice Department.

* * *

Karasik drew unusually scathing criticism for shifting recollections, professed lapses of memory, and apparent conflicts in his testimony. At one point, Fulbright and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said they did not believe him.

* * *

Karasik admitted that he did not tell FBI men all he knew about one aspect of the case when they questioned him several days after his first appearance before the committee.

Surrey and Karasik said their records on the case were destroyed because the firm routinely cleans out its files on closed-out matters when they are more than three years old. Both men said they did not remember any details of the destruction.

The Surrey - Karasik firm signed a contract in 1954 to lobby for a larger sugar quota for the Dominican Republic. It was to receive $95,000 plus a per-ton contingent fee on any increase in the 1956 quota.

The testimony showed that the firm received $128,227 plus reimbursement for some other out-of-pocket expenses. Surrey admitted under Fulbright's questioning that the firm had not reported about $18,000 of the total to the Justice Department and also did not report the contingency fee arrangement.

QUESTIONED ON MEMO

Karasik was questioned at length about a memorandum he wrote in Ciudad Trujillo, the Dominican capital, Jan. 28, 1956, to Jesus Maria Troncoso, secretary of state without portfolio of the Trujillo regime.

The memo boasted that the Washington firm through "personal obligation" had contacted a "powerful law firm in the senator's home state" which had three partners who would approach the unnamed senator on Jan. 30 purely on a friendship basis "to arouse the senator's sympathy."

It also said the lawyers would not disclose that they had been hired, in the case.

The senator later was identified as Byrd and the firm as one headed by former Alexandria mayor Leroy Bendheim, with Bernard M. Fagelson as a senior partner.

The 1956 Karasik memo said "the senior member of the firm is the executive officer of the senator's political machine. The second partner is the son of the senator's first campaign manager . . . The third partner is the private confidential attorney of the senator . . . (and) handles important confidential matters for the senator's machine."

Samuel Efron of New York, a former partner who left the Surrey-Karasik firm in 1961, testified that he contacted Fagelson, whom he knew socially, about the case after Karasik reported that the Dominicans wanted to hire an extra law firm which was close to Byrd.

A fee of $2,500 plus a possible additional $5,000 was discussed, Efron said, but the Alexandria firm turned down the case.

Fagelson confirmed this and said the description of his firm in Karasik's memo was "absolutely ridiculous." The Virginia attorney said his firm turned down the offer because it did not want to registered as a foreign agent, did not feel qualified to deal with the sugar legislation, and "I did not want to trade on my political contacts or my acquaintances."

"We would be completely lost in this type of thing . . . It was just not our dish of tea," Fagelson said.

There was no evidence that Byrd was involved in the Dominican lobbying or had any knowledge of the contacts with Fagelson's firm. Fagelson was praised by committee members for his frankness.

* * *

Efron and Fagelson agreed, however, that the latter had introduced Efron to M. J. (Peachie) Menefee, Byrd's veteran administrative assistant, before the Dominican offer was made. Efron said Menefee was completely "noncommittal."

'Report Loss, or Pay Bill'

NEW YORK (AP)—If you don't report losing your credit card and the finder uses it, you're liable for the charges, a State Appeals Court has ruled.

The appellate division of the State Supreme Court affirmed Monday a ruling last year by Civil Court that the Bronx man had to pay the bill.

Littering Backfires

JACKSON, Mo. (AP)—Thomas Heyde threw a beer can onto U.S. 61 the other day. Magistrate Roland Busch gave him a choice Monday: spend 60 days in jail or the next two Sundays picking up litter along the highway. Heyde, who is in his 20s, will begin policing the road at 9 a.m. Sunday.

If your child's school offered a daily physical education period—including at least 15 minutes of vigorous activity—the physical fitness of our nation's youth could be improved.

It's a fact that nearly one-third of our children lack the strength and endurance to pass simple physical achievement tests! Your child could be among them.

That's why you should know as much about your school's physical education program as you know about his academic program. Precisely how much time is given to physical education daily? Precisely what kind of activity does it include?

For information about a program that any school can carry out—and that has made a vast improvement in the fitness of many youngsters—write to The President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D.C.

Soft Whiskey. Is it hard liquor?

Soft Whiskey is hard liquor that isn't "hard."

It doesn't have a "hard" edge to sting-bite-burn you on the way down. Incidentally, one of the ways we make it Soft is by doing some of our distilling in small batches instead of large ones. (To protect all our hard work, we can't tell you the other ways.)

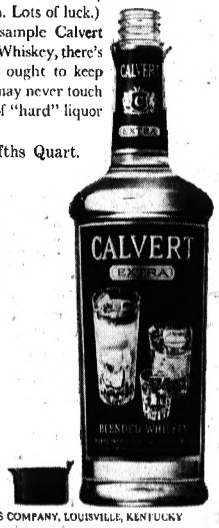

Make no mistake about it, Calvert Extra is as whiskey a whiskey as any whiskey you can buy. It does anything "hard" liquor can do. But does it softer.

Soft Whiskey swallows easy, with warmth, not heat. In mixed drinks, it doesn't fight the mixer. It blends smoothly, but doesn't lose itself. Even melting rocks can't cut the richness of its flavor. (You might call 86 proof Calvert Extra the ideal whiskey.)

Distillers have been pipe dreaming Soft Whiskey for years. But until recently nobody's been able to produce it. Down at our Louisville distillery alone, there were more than 22,000 unsuccessful Soft Whiskey experiments. (As you can see, anyone else who tries to reproduce Soft Whiskey has his work cut out for him. Lots of luck.)

Before you sample Calvert Extra, the Soft Whiskey, there's something you ought to keep in mind: you may never touch another drop of "hard" liquor again.

Both Greet Guests at Formal Fete

By The Emily Post Institute

Q. When my husband and I give a party, who receives the guests — my husband or I, or do we both greet them together? Will you please tell me the correct procedure?

* * *

A: At a formal party you stand at the door and greet each of your guests as they enter the room. Your husband stands nearby: not directly beside you but near enough to greet the new arrivals as soon as they have been welcomed by you.

At an informal party, it doesn't matter who greets the guests first. It may well be that your husband is nearer them when they arrive, in which case he naturally greets them and you go forward as soon as you are aware of their presence.

Or perhaps he may be looking after an earlier arrival, in which case you welcome them and he greets them as soon as he sees them.

Q: My father has always signed his name H. William Greene. He dislikes his first name and never uses it and he absolutely refuses to do so now on my wedding invitations.

I have been told that initials are not correct on an engraved invitation and that names must be written in full.

Would it be too far outside the realm of good taste to use the initial in this case, or would it be better to omit it entirely and just use William Greene, which is really not his correct name?

* * *

A: To be impeccably correct, names should be engraved in full on a formal wedding invitation. However, since your father has always used the name H. William Greene it will not be improper to use the initial on your invitations.

Q: I am to be married soon and have asked a friend who lives several hundred miles away to be my best man. Because time is an important factor, he will fly here and back. I am told that it is up to me to pay his transportation. Is this true?

A: He pays his own traveling expenses. You are, however, expected to provide accommodations for him while he is in your city.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

'Unrealistic Pressure on Women'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Homes are becoming simply houses, or shelters a womens magazine editor charged Sunday, because of unrealistic pressure for perfection placed on American women.

Hubbard Cobb of New York, editor - in - chief of Ladies Home Journal and the American Home magazines, said a woman is supposed to keep a house spotlessly clean, keep herself elegantly groomed, prepare excellent meals, work 18 hours a day like a horse, and still be happy and sympathetic.

Such standards, he told about 600 members of home economists in business, are "impossible even for a superwoman."

The real value of a home, he said are love, security, understanding, and a place of refuge and retreat.

"Let up on yourself," he advised. "You don't have to be a paragon every minute, every day, every year; if you're getting satisfaction out of your life, this will be passed along to your family."

At the Hunt Club where hundreds of volunteers were working on the scholarship benefit for the Oakland University, the password was "It's Hot."

Still devoted to the cause volunteers did their utmost to stimulate business during the Detroit Horse Show.

Sunday morning at 10 a.m. sharp, the booths were ready with cochairman Mrs. L. L. Colbert in the Daisy booth selling lemonade. That's the spirit of our community!

MRS. KENNETH M. ROCK

Join Couple in Methodist Church Rites

Virginia Anne Guthrie became Mrs. Kenneth Merrill Rock at a recent candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. James McClung in St. Paul Methodist Church.

The bride, daughter of the G. F. Guthries, Hillfield Road, appeared in white organza with Chantilly lace bodice and cathedral train. She carried white roses, carnations and Stephanotis.

Lora Guthrie was her sis- overskirt. She held aquamarine silk organza with bell overskirt. She held aquarmarine and white carnations as did bridesmaids Judith Runser, Rochester, and Mrs. Robert Hollis.

The bridegroom, son of the Jerome Rocks, Myra Street, chose John DePauw as his best man. Robert Hollis and Robert Weis ushered, and William Quist served as acolyte.

Guests were greeted on the church lawn before the couple left for northern Michigan. The bride attended Michigan State University and her husband is enrolled at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Trip in Ontario Follows Warren-Kent Wedding

Before leaving for a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, Ont., and their new home in Wabash, Ind., the William Jean Warrens greeted guests in the YMCA club rooms.

* * *

Rev. Carl Koerner was assisted by Rev. Charles Russell, Roann, Ind., and Rev. Doyl Hofferbeck of Muncie, Ind., at the recent nuptials in the First Free Methodist Church.

Parents of the former Mary Katherine Kent of Wabash are the Ralph D. Kents, West Rutgers Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of the Marion Warrens of Muncie.

A nylon illusion veil billowed over the bride's gown of white nylon organza and sequined Alencon lace styled with tiered skirt and brush train. Gardenias and Stephanotis comprised her bouquet.

* * *

Mrs. Marvin Weyer, her sister's honor matron and bridesmaids Mrs. Richard Kent and Mrs. Harry Glass Jr. of Matthews, Ind., wore powder blue taffeta. They carried blue-tipped white carnations.

* * *

Julie Marie Kent was flower girl. Lighting the candles were Sharon Monroe and Linda Wiley of LaFontaine, Ind.

Henry Glass Jr. was best man. David and Paul Kent ushered.

The new Mrs. Warren is an alumna of Marion College, Marion, Ind.

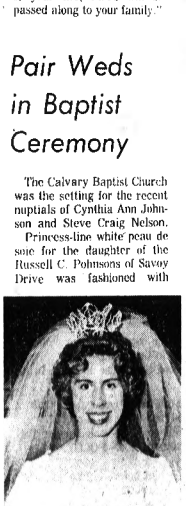

Wed recently in the First Free Methodist Church were Mary Katherine Kent, Wabash, Ind., daughter of the Ralph D. Kents, West Rutgers Avenue, and William Jean Warren, son of the Marion Warrens, Muncie, Ind.

MRS. WILLIAM JEAN WARREN

Pair Weds in Baptist Ceremony

The Calvary Baptist Church was the setting for the recent nuptials of Cynthia Ann Johnson and Steve Craig Nelson.

Princess-line white peau de soie for the daughter of the Russell C. Pohnsons of Savoy Drive was fashioned with

MRS. S. C. NELSON

Alencon lace bodice and veil of silk illusion and carried white roses, Stephanotis and ivy.

Wearing peach brocaded taffeta were honor matron, Mrs. Edwin G. Moor, Albemarle, N.C., also bridesmaids Sandra Johnson and June Clearwaters of Minneapolis, Minn. Their bouquets were Mary Jo roses and pittosporum.

The bridegroom, son of the George Nelsons of Milwaukee, Wis., had Dennis Aird of Chicago for best man. Paul Fosmark, of Salem, Ore., ushered with the bride's brother Roger.

How Are Your

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A tourist is judged by his better they are the better the impression made on strangers at home and abroad.

* * *

The better also you will enjoy your trip if you exercise the rules of courtesy. Good manners add to the good service you get too from the motels, hotel, roadside eating places, airlines, trains and buses.

But, from talking to various persons in the travel industry, we have compiled Pauley's easy guide for testing your vacation etiquette.

* * *

● Do you hog two seats in the bus, train or plane by deliberately placing your coat, purse or other paraphernalia on the second seat, hoping thereby to seal it off?

* * *

● Do you on plane hang assorted cameras, coats or other accessories including flight bags in your area so that they overlap and create a hazard—or anyway discomfort—for the person behind or in front of you?

● Do you light a cigarette, pipe or cigar without asking whether smoking bothers the person sitting next to you?

● Do you use the ash tray nearest you or prefer to lean over and use the one of your neighbor, dusting ashes as you go?

* * *

● Do you march up to the reception desk of hotel or motel and elbow others aside who are in line ahead of you to register?

● Do you adapt, if the conditions are not as perfect as promised?

● In motor travel, especially in the United States, do you use the roadside picnic areas as if litter did not hurt?

* * *

● Do you remember to say thank you to the filling station attendant, the policeman or anyone else who acts as a free guide?

There are a dozen times a day the tourist has a chance to say thank you and make traveling a treat instead of a trauma.

She Just Needs Boy Friend to Say 'Wash Your Face!'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There isn't a day that goes by that my 19-year - old daughter doesn't read every word you write.

Maybe you will help me out by telling her something I don't have the heart to tell her.

She is scaring me off with her make-up. She is a sweet, wonderful girl, but when she is through with the paint brush she looks like something else.

It is something new with her. Her once beautiful eyes now look like something from a horror magazine.

I have nothing against make-up, but I hate that cheap, artificial look. I want my daughter to look sweet, wholesome and natural as she used to.

SAD DAD

DEAR SAD: Move over. That horror-look is the fashion now, and nothing I could say would convince your daughter to give it up.

ABBY

But have hope. If she meets a young man who tells her to wash her face or no soap . . . you'll have your sweet, wholesome, natural-looking daughter back again.

DEAR ABBY: Please save me and "my" parishioners from further blunders. The wedding season is upon us again, and I would appreciate your printing an answer to this question:

Is the minister's wife automatically invited to every-wedding in her husband's church?

* * *

I have never attended a wedding as a guest unless I have been specifically invited.

Yet many parishioners have told me afterwards that they "expected" me, and were very disappointed when I didn't show up.

MINISTER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You, my dear, are correct. Nobody is "automatically" invited anywhere.

If the Reverend and Mrs. So and So are expected to attend an invitational affair, they should be sent an invitation.

DEAR ABBY: At the place I work there is a girl who despises me, although I don't know why. When I speak to her she turns her head.

I am being married soon and wanted to send all my co-workers individual wedding invitations.

* * *

Not wanting to leave her out, I asked a co-worker for her address. When she found out who the address was for she refused to give it out.

Still trying to be friendly, sent her an invitation to our place of employment. She returned it to me through a foreman.

* * *

Did I do the right thing in sending her an invitation? And wasn't she wrong to return it to me?

FRIENDLY

DEAR FRIENDLY: You were foolish to have forced an invitation on the girl, knowing she refused to give her address to your go-between. But she topped you when she sent it back with the foreman.

Avoid Crash Leave Right

CHICAGO (UPI)—The automobile driver and his passengers always should leave the car from the sidewalk side, advises the Chicago Motor Club.

Opening your door in traffic not only could cause a passing car to hit you, but could cause an accident when it swerves to avoid your open door.

The Department of Agriculture library contains about 1.2 million volumes and is staffed by 1,000 employes.

MRS. JOHN J. McCOSKEY

McCoskeys Honeymoon in Illinois

Touring southern Illinois following their recent marriage and reception in the First Baptist Church of Holly are the John James McCoskeys (Betty Lou McLean of Holly). Rev. Philip Nofsinger performed the nuptial ceremony.

* * *

Daughter of the Charles McLeans of Lookout Drive, the bride chose white Alencon lace over nylon net and mist taffeta. A crown of sequined lace caught her illusion veil. Yellow sweetheart roses topped her small satin Bible.

Her pearl-set diamond necklace, was a gift of the bridegroom, son of the Edgar McCoskeys, Auburn Heights.

* * *

Yellow sweetheart roses complemented mint green satin for Mrs. Robert Hewitt, Auburn Heights, her sister's honor matron. Bridesmaid Ethel Lusas of Holly, wearing emerald green satin, carried yellow carnations.

Best man was Robert Seavers and ushers included Daniel McCoskey, Robert Hewitt and Virgil Long of Holly.

Northern Honeymoon for Krugers

Rev. John McKinney officiated at the marriage of his niece, LaMona N. Havens to David A. Kruger, Friday afternoon in the Christian Temple.

* * *

The bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Havens were hosts at a reception in their home on Grey Road following the family ceremony.

White silk organza and Alencon lace fashioned a bouffant gown for the bride who held white Cymbidium orchids on a white Bible during the double-ring service. A crown of seed pearls caught her veil of imported illusion.

* * *

Mrs. John McKinney of Clawson, matron of honor, appeared in champagne peau satin and held a missal arrangement of pink and white-tipped carnations.

The bridegroom, son of the Eldridge M. Krugers of Birmingham, had Michael McDonald, Birmingham, for his best man.

The couple will live at Cass Lake after a northern honeymoon.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dowager's hump, that lump at the base of the neck, is a figure defect which most women cope with sooner or later. How soon or how late is somewhat dependent on how aware you have been about your posture during past years.

I suppose this figure defect was so named because the wealthy dowager was thought to live a very luxurious sedentary life and also indulge in rich food. This does not necessarily follow as one can have a dowager's hump without being dowager, or wealthy, more the pity!

Fatty deposits do enter into the picture but poor posture plays the greater part. Many women who hold themselves quite well when standing, slump at this point when sitting. You can have your spine fairly straight and still give in at the base of your neck.

If you have this defect your first effort should be to improve your posture. Try to think about this many times a day, especially when sitting while driving a car, at a desk, or just sewing or knitting.

Special exercises also are helpful. Try the following one:

Stand erect, feet together. Raise the arms forward shoulder height, shoulder width apart. Fling the arms sideward, shoulder height. As you do this, raise the head up and lower it backward slightly. Return to upright position bringing the arms forward at the same time. Never allow the head to protrude forward. Continue.

Vigorous massage will also help reduce this hump by breaking down the fatty deposits. Use the fingers with a rotary motion.

* * *

If you would like my free leaflet, "Dowager's Hump" send a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 17 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

(Released by The Register and Tribune Syndicate, 1963).

In Early Trade

Market in Irregular Recovery

NEW YORK, (AP) — The stock market staged an irregular recovery early today in moderately active trading.

Fractional gains among key stocks outnumbered losers in the same range.

Some of the higher-priced, more volatile issues picked up 1 to 3 points as they rebounded from recent selling.

IBM recouped about 3 points of yesterday's 9¾-point loss. Polaroid won back 2 points of the 4⅝-point decline of the previous session.

Control data, which has been written up as a competitor of IBM in the Computer field, continued strong, adding about 2 points.

Steels were narrowly mixed following the fifth straight week of declining steel production.

AUTOS STEADY

Autos were fairly steady with Chrysler recovering fractionally from yesterday's selling squall when it dropped 1⅝ as the most active stock. Chrysler opened on a slightly delayed block of 10,000 shares, down ¼ at 61⅛, then erased the loss and moved to a small net gain.

* * *

Most other auto stocks nudged to the upside.

Amerada, down more than a point, was an outstanding casualty among the oils. Others were unchanged to narrowly, mixed with Jersey Standard up a fraction.

Xerox gained about 2. Pan American World Airways was up a full point.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange and changes were small. Gainers included Aerojet-General, Paddington "A," and Barnes Engineering. Among losers were Brazilian Traction, Kawecki Chemical, and Sherwin-Williams.

Corporate bonds were irregular.

Wants Words on News Issue

Military Muzzling Press Photographers?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., has demanded that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara spell out in detail what the Pentagon is doing about restraints on newsmen covering military accidents.

In an exchange of letters made public today, Moss said the House Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee he heads may hold public hearings on the issue.

Officials of the Moss subcommittee said they are concerned about an Army regulation directing military authorities to physically restrain news photographers who refuse to surrender pictures that might include classified material.

The Air Force, in a guidance letter to its personnel, said force could be used on rare occasions to bar crash photographs that could compromise security information.

But that policy statement has not been drafted into a directive.

A spokesman said the information subcommittee recognizes the need for protection of classified information. But, he said, the military has never been given authority to take action against newsmen and photographers in civilian areas.

At issue, he said, is the question of civilian authority over the military.

Soybeans Still High in Early Activity

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures maintained another strong advance today in early activity on the board of trade although profit selling was considerably more liberal and the limit gain of 10 cents in spots did not hold.

The grains turned mostly weak after a higher start.

November and March soybeans posted the limit gain and some other deliveries were up 6 cents or more during the first several minutes on an over night accumulation of buying orders.

When they were handled, however, demand slackened and prices backed down.

Brokers said the reversal in grains had been expected among professional traders in view of the broad advances of the previous session. They added that there had not been any actual chance in market factors.
