Hogan Connects U. of D. Players to Cage Fix

Reveals Indictment of Ex-Kalamazoo Player; Links North, Morgan

NEW YORK (AP)—The name of two University of Detroit basketball players were injected into the probe of alleged college basketball fixes today.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan announced that junior forward Charlie North, 22, and sophomore center John Morgan, 21, had agreed to accept $1,000 a game each for shavings points in four games.

This was revealed after Hogan disclosed the indictment of Charles Tucker, a Yorker, N.Y., lawyer and former Kalamazoo (Mich.) College basketball player.

Hogan also said a former Oregon player agreed to act as an intermediary in a fix proposition but that nothing ever was done.

Hogan said North and Morgan got $50 each for "spending money" but never received any additional money. He said they tried to shave points in only one game, with Ohio State.

NAMES COCONSPIRATORS
Two former students of the Los Angeles City Junior College were named as conspirators, but not as codefendants, in the indictment of Tucker.

Tucker, 25, played basketball at Kalamazoo College in 1955 and 1956. He has a law office in midtown New York. Tucker was booked on charges of conspiracy and bribery.

The former Los Angeles students were identified as Lou Barshak, 31, of New York and Michael Siegel of New York. Hogan said they conspired to bribe the two Detroit players for 1,000 a game.

Hogan said the third count in the indictment covered $1,000 allegedly given Ray Paprocky, New York University player, to shave points in a National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament semifinal game against the University of Connecticut, March 8, 1960.

Under the deal, Hogan said NYU was to win by less than 10 points. He said Paprocky "tricked his best to deliver but Connecticut played so badly that NYU won by 19 points, 78-59."

Hogan said the fixers permitted Paprocky to keep the $1,000 "charging it off to good will." Paprocky had been named earlier in the investigation.

The indictment also described an alleged attempt to reach University of Oregon players through James Graydon, 21, of New York, a sub on the team.

Hogan said Tucker approached Granata last fall in New York and asked him to approach Oregon players. He said Granata was agreeable "but there is no evidence that he did anything about it."

Mullinix Wins Runoff Election in Local 653

Cecil C. Mullinix has been elected president of Pontiac Motor Local 653, UAW, defeating incumbent Charles A. Beach.

A two-day runoff election, concluded this morning, saw John B. Maye elected vice president, and Bill Ward elected shop committee chairman.

In another runoff, Frank O'Rourke, Gerald O'rry and Oscar Shelton, were elected trustees.

All the terms are for two years. Union headquarters at 386 E. Kennett Road, held up disclosing the tallies until the results become official later today.

'NO DOUBT'

But Charles A. Beach, president the past four years, conceded there was "no doubt" that Mullinix and the others had won.

Mullinix, one of labor's most active representatives in Pontiac public affairs, had tried unsuccessfully to unseat Beach two years ago.

Employed at Pontiac Motor

Division since 1942, Mullinix, of 271 Lowell St., has been chairman of the shop committee and was a trustee seven years. Over

A member of the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, Mullinix was on the building committee when the local erected its new hall on Kennett Road.

The new local president has served the city without pay, in many ways. He is a member of the tax board of review, a member of the police trial board, an alternate on the City Commission's civic improvement advisory committee and a member of Northside Community Club.

May's opponent in the runoff was Douglas Gravelles, and Ward was John Olesak. Sam Morgan, Clyde Spencer and Charles Melton were defeated in the trustee race.

The runoffs conclude the 1961 elections to fill 18 posts on the executive board and shop committee.

The other positions were filled at an earlier election this month.

Meets With Top Advisers Today

President Mapping Berlin Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States bluntly denied today any right by Communist East Germany to impose restrictions on Western airplane flights through the air corridors to West Berlin.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy meets with the National Security Council today to discuss possible military, diplomatic and civilian defense measures which he may take to deal with the growing crisis between the Soviet Union and the Western powers over Berlin.

The range and actions under study within the government is reported to include partial mobilization, increasing NATO strength in Europe, a new round of East-West negotiations on Berlin and a stepped up civilian defense program.

The National Security Council, embracing the President's top military and civilian advisers, was summoned to meet at the White House this afternoon. Kennedy announced Wednesday that proposals for dealing with the Berlin situation will be discussed.

Proposals for action are going to the President from the State and Defense departments and other government agencies. At Kennedy's request, they are being pulled together in a report being prepared by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Highly placed officials indicate that Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other administration leaders are thinking of acting on two fronts as the Berlin crisis develops during the next few months:

1. Military—They intend to take steps that would get the United States and its allies ready for a Berlin showdown if Soviet Premier Khrushchev presses his Berlin demands to that point.

At the same time they hope the steps will impress upon Khrushchev the determination of the United States to back up its coming.

More 90-Degree Weather Is Forecast for Friday

10 a.m. .... 82 1 p.m. .... 89
11 a.m. .... 84 2 p.m. .... 91

Yesterday's thermometer showed an unexpected high of 90 degrees at 2:30 p.m. in the downtown Pontiac area, five degrees more than was predicted.

Tomorrow's outlook is for more of the same for area residents as well as for most of the rest of lower Michigan. But showers and thunderstorms may cool off a 92-degree Friday.

According to the weatherman, there's a chance of a late afternoon or evening thunderstorm tonight, with the low being about 72.

During the next four days, temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees above normal. Normal high is 78 to 85. Normal low is 57 to 63.

Little temperature change is expected until Sunday, when the U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts a little cooler weather and no rain.

Southwesterly winds registered 10-20 miles per hour today.

The lowest reading preceding 8 a.m. was 73 degrees.

1 Killed, 5 Hurt in Area Crash

Detroit Youth Dies at Hospital After Collision in Southfield

A 19-year-old Detroit youth was killed and five others severely injured in a two-car accident early today in Southfield.

William M. Woolsey of 1983 Greystone St. died at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, one hour after the collision occurred at 9-Mile and Telegraph roads.

Woolsey was one of five passengers in a car driven by Michael L. Patrick, 26, also of Detroit. Patrick was the only one to escape injury in the accident.

The others were admitted to William Beaumont Hospital. Patrick was traveling south on Telegraph and was about to make a left turn onto 9-Mile Road when his car was struck by one driven by Donald Perkins, 25, of 25580 Telegraph Road, Southfield, according to Southfield police.

Patrick, who was alone in the car, is in critical condition.

Parkas was going north on Telegraph when he struck Patrick's car on the right side. Police said the accident occurred at 12:10 a.m.

The impact threw James Caldwell, 30, 23115 Berg Road, and Garry M. Bupp, 17, 2100 Telegraph Road, both of Southfield, out of the Patrick car. Both are in critical condition.

The two other passengers in Patrick's car, Daniel Caverly, 19, of 1015-Mile Road, Southfield, and Daniel Tuchs, 21, of Detroit, are in poor condition.

A-Battery Feat Gives Big Boost to U.S. Science

Also, Week of July 16 Set for 2nd Astronaut to Go Up Into Space

From Our News Wires
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.

—The United States has hurled the first atomic battery into space as part of a spectacular sky-high triple play in which one rocket rammed three satellites into orbit.

The successful orbiting of the nuclear device in one of the satellites gives American scientists a significant lead over the Soviet Union in the race to harness atomic power for space exploration.

Cape Canaveral had hardly caught its breath from the momentous feat when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) revealed another astronaut flight is planned the week of July 16.

NASA's announcement in Washington said the flight would be the second in a series of sub-orbital efforts started May 5 with Alan Shepard's successful "ride. The series will lead to an orbital flight early this year or early in 1962.

The name of the astronaut for the next Project Mercury ride has not yet been released. It is expected to be Marine Col. John Glenn, Shepard's "backup" on the May 5 flight.

3-SCOOP BLAST

A Thor-Able-Star rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral Wednesday night with the satellites stacked in its nose like a three-scoop ice cream cone.

Both stages of the 5-ton rocket clicked with drill-like precision and flung the entire package into orbit. Almost immediately, spring devices kicked the payloads apart and they continued to circle the globe on separate paths nearly 600 miles above the earth.

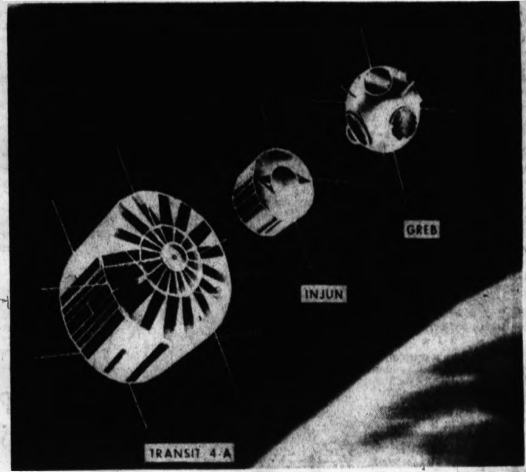

Officials reported early today that the atomic battery was functioning and that clear signals were being transmitted by all three packages.

In Washington the Navy said the three-joint satellite "looks like the most successful launch we have had."

Dr. R. B. Kershner, supervisor of the Johns Hopkins Laboratory's space development division, hailed the results as "excellent, excellent."

This was the first time the triple payload technique was attempted. It raised to 43 the number of U.S. satellites placed in orbit since the first went aloft 41 months ago. Another Thor-Able-Star pushed two satellites up a year ago.

The 45-pound nuclear unit was attached to the base of the largest satellite. This is Transit 4-A, 175- (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

U.S. TRIPLE PLAY—This drawing of three satellites in separate orbits nearly 600 miles above the earth illustrates the sky-high triple play scored by the United States. The three satellites were hurled into orbit by one rocket launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Wednesday night. The first atomic battery in space is attached to the Transit 4-A satellite.

Passes Housing Bill in Hurry

Congress Speeds Up for Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is speeding action on several legislative fronts in advance of the long, July 4 holiday weekend.

It took only about an hour Wednesday night for President Kennedy's omnibus housing bill to clear the House after Senate passage was assured.

One of Kennedy's "big five" domestic proposals for this session, it's now ready for his signature.

Kennedy acted on two other bills today. He signed "with great pleasure" the $1.1-billion measure designed to assure completion of the interstate highway system by 1970.

And he gave a final okay to an item aimed at attracting dollar-paying foreign tourists to the United States.

PASSES BILL

The House today passed Kennedy's Social Security bill in compromise form.

The action was by voice vote with little debate. The legislation now goes to the Senate, which is expected to act promptly.

Chance of Straley Return Ended by Supreme Court

The State Supreme Court has crushed any chance of Herbert W. Straley's returning as Pontiac police chief. The court yesterday upheld an amendment to the Pontiac city charter under which City Manager Walter K. Willman dismissed Straley last year.

Approved by Pontiac voters in April 1960, the amendment re-established a police trial board, and placed the police chief directly under the jurisdiction of the city manager.

Shortly after its passage by a vote of 4,006 to 1,981, Willman fired Straley.

City Commissioners Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry began a lawsuit to have the election declared invalid. They contended that the re-establishment of a trial board and the question of Straley's status were separate issues and should have been in separate proposals.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem ruled the election was valid. The high court yesterday unanimously upheld Ziem.

Notified of the ruling from Lansing, Willman said that Joseph Koren will continue temporarily as acting police chief, adding "I think he's done a good job."

UNSETTLED ON SUCCESSOR

The question of a permanent successor remains unsettled. Yesterday's unanimous decision written by Justice Eugene F. Black ruled that the ballot issues were correctly handled by one amendment.

Willman first suspended Straley on Feb. 9, 1960, on charges of incompetence, insubordination, inefficiency, failure to maintain good behavior, and neglect of duty.

The former three-member Police Civil Service Commission voted unanimously April 4, 1959 to fire Straley.

But in December, Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis of Ingham County overruled the ouster on technical grounds and the city was ordered to take Straley back, with full back pay.

Then, in April of 1960, voters adopted the charter amendments that led to his final dismissal.

Auto Strike Spreads

LONDON (AP)—A wildcat strike which shut down the Ford Motor Co.'s main plant in Britain spread to its other British factories Wednesday and idled 36,000 workers.

Inc. Local civic clubs helped finance the event. Transportation is provided by the Pontiac Board of Education. The society also sends children to Camp Rankin and adults to Camp Indian Trails near Grand Rapids.

KIDS GO CAMPING—With luggage piled high, crippled children from throughout Oakland County prepared to board a bus for camp at Pontiac Central High School yesterday. The annual two-weeks trip to Camp Grace Bentley on Lake Huron is sponsored by the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Twin Plagues Hit Farmlands

Grasshopper Invasion, Drought Bring Fear of Crop Failure in North

From Our News Wire
The worst invasion of grasshoppers since the 1930s in three North Dakota farm states today straggled fields bare, defoliated corn and brought warnings of "near crop failure" summer growers.

As if that were not trouble enough, vast reaches of the usually green Northern Great Plains are turning brown under a hot sun untempered by cooling summer showers.

Rains have not come. Snow was scarce last winter. The result is not yet a dust bowl, reminiscent of the 1930s, but there is no mistaking a drought gripe an area stretching from much of Minnesota through North and South Dakota into the prairie provinces of Canada.

LOOK LIKE POPCORN
The gray and green grasshoppers, thriving on the drought conditions, have attacked nearly all of Montana's 56 counties and hundreds of thousands of acres in North Dakota and South Dakota.

"They look like popcorn flying up from under your feet," a North Dakota sheriff said. "It's the worst grasshopper outlook since 1934."

The three states have appealed to the Agriculture Department for disaster area aid. Together with drought losses, costs of the grasshopper ravages will run into millions of dollars.

In North Dakota, all but 2 of the 53 counties have been declared drought disaster areas. Smaller disasters have been extended to large chunks of South Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota.

"The State of Montana has no funds to assist the farmers in this area in combating the infestation," acting Gov. Lin Bicknell wrote Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman. He said an eastern country had the pests at "15 to 20 per square foot."

Chemical sprays slow the invaders, but do not stop them. Control agents must be weak enough to permit livestock grazing after spraying and even then must be withheld from market for preliminary tests.

The World at a Glance

From Our News Wire
The Civil Air Patrol began a search at daybreak for a two-seater plane and its 23-year-old student pilot, missing since Tuesday night on a flight from Mount Pleasant to Alpena.

U.S. auto production this week was estimated at 126,736 units by Automotive News. The trade paper said this would be 1.5 cent below last week's output of 128,338 and 5.6 percent over the 128,339 cars turned out in the same week last year.

East and West moved toward a compromise at Geneva on sending some equipment to the International Control Commission for putting the shaky cease fire in Laos.

Ford Fears Government May Intervene in Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. expressed concern today about possible government intervention in contract negotiations. At the same time Ford told the United Auto Workers Union that any new wage settlement must be non-inflationary.

As he opened negotiations with Ford, UAW President Walter P. Reuther said his union wanted to make it "very clear that the cost of living escalator and the annual improvement factor gives an improvement factor clauses in current contracts are essential and basic parts of our agreements with this industry and we don't intend to tamper with them."

AUTOMATIC INCREASE
Wages rise and fall on the escalator with the government's cost of living index. Seventeen cents of the current average hourly wage of $2.80 rode into paychecks via the escalator. The annual improvement factor gives an automatic yearly wage increase of six cents hourly or 2 1/4 per cent, whichever is greater to compensate workers for cost-saving technological advances.

The UAW moved on to Ford today from General Motors, where it opened 1961 bargaining Wednesday for new contracts to replace current three-year pacts expiring August 31. Union bargainers were led by Reuther as they were at General Motors.

Malcolm Denice, Ford vice president for labor relations, issued a statement today calling for a non-inflationary settlement and expressing concern with "defectors" who hold that "the only way to avoid costly strikes and inflationary settlements is for the government to set the terms."

"RIGHT ON TRIAL"
"The right of management and labor to work out their differences across the bargaining table appears to be on trial in this country," Denice's statement said.

Speaking for the UAW at General Motors Wednesday, Reuther said: "We hope to find a settlement at the bargaining table without the need of assistance or intervention from Washington. We are not looking for a fight. We are looking for economic justice."

commitments to protect West Berlin against Communist pressures.

2. Diplomatic — "We seriously consider the possibility of a new round of East-West negotiations in Berlin within the framework of the over-all problem of divided Germany. Such a proposal, if finally decided on, probably will be made in the next few weeks."

PLANS NOTE TO K
Kennedy expects to send a note on the Berlin situation to Khrushchev in a week or 10 days. But, as previously planned, this note primarily will be a reply to a memorandum Khrushchev gave Kennedy in Vienna June 24.

The reply is expected to tell Khrushchev formally that his proposed treaty with Communist East Germany cannot wipe out Allied rights in West Berlin and to supply them by surface and air routes across East Germany.

Washington officials reported a new East German regulation decreed Wednesday would be ignored.

The regulation states that radio-equipped planes of nations not having air agreements with East Germany must receive special permission after Aug. 1 to cross East Germany.

Western rights for air access to West Berlin are in no way dependent upon approval or disapproval of the East German Communists.

Britain today joined the United States in rejecting the East German proposals for air traffic regulations.

"Any East German decree respecting plane movements of course would not apply to Allied or civil aircraft going to or leaving Berlin," a British foreign office spokesman said in London.

Kennedy spoke at his news conference Wednesday of the possibility of negotiations with the Soviet Union on the Berlin problem. He said the United States was ready "to discuss any proposals" which would increase West Berlin's security and independence.

The instruments were devised by Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa whose gauges on early U.S. satellites discovered the great bands of radiation.

Bomb Blasts Residence of French Farm Minister

PONTENAY-LE-COMTE, France (UPI) — The home of Agriculture Minister Henri Rochereau was blasted Wednesday night by a plastic bomb presumably planted by a rightist foe of President Charles de Gaulle's Algeria policies.

Damage was extensive but no one was hurt.

Forms New Government

AMMAN, Jordan (U-P) — Jordan had a new government but the same premier today, Bahjat Talhouni and his 10-month-old cabinet resigned Wednesday. Within hours Talhouni formed a new 11-man cabinet at King Hussein's request.

Dem's Name Back on Ballot

3rd District Con - Con Hopeful Must Be Listed for July 25 Primary

West Bloomfield Township attorney, Asher N. Tichin, attorney for the 3rd District Con-Con election, is back on the July 25 primary ballot.

Bernard J. Apol, assistant director of state elections, informed Mr. Tichin that Oakland County election clerk, that in con-con race where there is opposition for any party nomination both parties must appear on the ballot.

Since there are six Republicans seeking the 3rd District nomination, Tichin's name must be put in the Democratic column although he has the nomination already. He could only be upset by write-ins.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams has ruled last week that where there is no opposition no name need appear on the primary ballot.

Although Tichin's name goes back on the ballot, the names of George Romney, R-Bloomfield Hills, and William A. O'Brien, D-Clawson, still remain off. Mrs. Child said because both are unopposed.

Romney, American Motors Corp. president, and O'Brien are candidates for the county's 12th District senatorial seat.

Shooting Mishap Kills Physician on Fishing Trip

NEWBERY, Wis. — A Traverse City physician missing from his home since Monday was found today on a fishing boat near the Two Hearted River. State police said Dr. Harold F. Osterhagen, 50, was the victim of an accidental shooting.

Dr. Osterhagen's body was found slumped in his 1800 station wagon by a fellow guest at Deer Park Lodge at Muskegon Lake.

Police said Dr. Osterhagen apparently left the lodge to fish the Two Hearted. On route he stopped his car quickly, apparently to shoot at something with a .308 rifle.

The rifle accidentally discharged as Dr. Osterhagen was getting out of the car. The bullet struck the physician in the head.

Vote to Incorporate

DETROIT (U-P) — Voters in Brownstone Township have approved incorporation of 6.28 square miles of the township into a village named Woodhaven.

Manufacturers of wearing apparel, aware of the rising interest in fashion on the part of both men and women, increased their national newspaper advertising investment 24 per cent last year over 1959, to nearly $11 million.

new farm plan was dealt a crushing, and possibly fatal, blow by the House Agriculture Committee.

By a 20 to 15 vote, the committee killed a last-chance compromise version of the administration's proposal to set up new machinery for controlling farm production.

DEBT-CEILING BILL
Also on Kennedy's desk today — and also in much the form he wanted — is the perennial bill raising the national debt ceiling on a temporary basis for another year.

Added reason for quick action here: This year's temporary ceiling of $110 billion expires at midnight Friday, the end of the fiscal year.

Kennedy asked and got from the Senate Wednesday night by voice vote a temporary ceiling of $200 billion. Only about a dozen senators were on hand.

Again, only a scattering of senators were present Wednesday night to pass unanimously authorization for Kennedy's expanded multibillion dollar space program. There was only brief debate on the bill authorizing $1,784,500,000 in civilian space programs during the next 12 months. One senator landed a manned space craft on the moon within a decade.

The Day in Birmingham

Six Con-Con Candidates to Air Views Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — Six candidates for the constitutional convention primary election July 25 will be guest speakers today at an 8 p.m. meeting in the Bloomfield Township hall.

Sponsored by the Bloomfield Republican Club as part of a voter information service, the meeting will give the candidates an opportunity to express their views.

The candidates also will be asked questions concerning re-apportionment, home rule, tax revision, car-marking of funds, judicial election procedures and decision provisions regarding state, county and township officials.

Homer Case, club president, said the candidates who have accepted invitations to the meeting tonight are Richard H. McTear, Stanley J. Flit, Henry J. Woolfenden, Mrs. Berrien C. Ketchum and Mrs. Donald E. Kothe.

This will be the third meet-your-candidates meeting scheduled by the Bloomfield Republican Club since it organized last fall.

Residence requirements for Birmingham firemen were relaxed this week following a meeting of the City Commission and fire department officials.

The new requirement will allow city firemen to live in a quadrangle bordered by Cranbrook, 13-Mile, Livernois and Wattles roads.

Asst. City Manager Robert Kenning said the regulations were relaxed to aid employees of the fire department to find adequate housing for their families.

Mr. Cndr, William B. Clark of 56 Cranbrook Cross Road, Bloomfield Township, has been named state director of Detroit's naval reserve public relations office.

Issue Flint Warrant for Milton Henry

A warrant charging Pontiac Commissioner Milton R. Henry with contempt of court was issued today in Flint, according to Kenneth Campbell, clerk of the Flint Municipal Court.

Municipal Judge Donald Freeman was quoted by the Associated Press as saying Henry used profanity several times in the opening session of a trial of 41 persons charged with frequenting a Flint gambling house. Henry represented a number of the defendants.

Freeman ordered Henry removed from the courtroom and directed that he appear today to purge himself of a possible contempt charge. Campbell reported that Henry had not appeared in court up to the time the warrant was issued today.

French Debate Algeria Plans

Partition Is Subject of Futile Argument

PARIS (UPI) — The French National Assembly today pitched into an all-out battle over President Charles de Gaulle's plan to partition Algeria unless the Moslem rebels come to terms with France.

De Gaulle still rules the nation with the near dictatorial powers he assumed under the constitution during the April revolt in Algeria and there was little parliament could do to sway his purpose.

The president himself was out of the capital, winning the provinces sending direct support from the people for his solution to France's giant North African headache.

Premier Michel Debre told the deputies Wednesday that De Gaulle was determined to keep his pledge that Algeria will be independent and sovereign "right up to the extreme limit of the possible consequences, which could be complete secession."

A number of deputies shouted in anger when Debre spoke of the possibility of partition.

Social Security to Be Discussed
by AMA Group

NEW YORK (UPI) — The policy-setting arm of the American Medical Association, having geared its 185,000 member doctors as to the desirability of switching from Salvo to oral vaccines for polio whenever the latter become available, takes up discussion of Social Security for physicians today.

The 216-member AMA House of Delegates was expected to reaffirm its stand against the Kennedy bills in Congress which would put health care for the aged under the Social Security program.

The House was expected to end its sessions today after selecting a new AMA president-elect to take office in 1962, two members to the board of trustees, and other officers.

Will Get $1.3 Million for MESC Financing

LANSING (UPI) — Acting Gov. T. John Levenski says Michigan will receive about $1.3 million in federal funds to finance administrative costs of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) for July.

The release of federal funds, said the lieutenant governor, depends on an opinion issued by the federal government from Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams as to whether the state has the right to charge certain costs against federal funds for the MESC.

The state has charged some $108,600 in auditing and other costs against federal funds for the last two fiscal years, Levenski said. The attorney general's opinion will be ready by the July 15 deadline set by the Department of Labor, he added.

Urges Sharp Eye on City Finances

Pontiac should keep a sharp eye on its purse strings during the "tight budget" months, according to Marvin M. Alward, director of finance.

In submitting his annual report on the city's finances, Alward called for a "watchdog" policy to protect the city's good financial reputation.

"Due to growth of the city," he explained, "both in residential and industrial construction, the demands for city services are constantly increasing."

"For this reason, continued vigilance is essential to maintain adequate financial reserves to protect the city's highly satisfactory credit rating on the bond market."

Long-range financial planning for the capital improvements program, as well as for municipal operations, will help to maintain the city's financial position in the future.

The year 1960, with a budget not quite so tight as this year's, turned out better than expected in some respects, according to Alward's report.

Operating revenues taken in during the year amounted to $4,806,720. This was $263,751 or 5.8 per cent more than estimated in the 1960 budget.

In comparison, operating expenditures were $5,059,492. This is only $18,524 or .37 per cent more than the budget estimate of $5,040,968, as adopted by the City Commission.

That more was spent than taken in would indicate the year ended in the red. But under the city's system, it didn't. The difference was covered by the amount by which the city's assets exceed its liabilities. This amount is known as the city's unappropriated surplus.

Tax collections continued to be satisfactory, Alward noted. Out of a total 1960 tax levy of $3,730,748, some $3,825,518 was collected. The collection score was 97.18 per cent compared with 97.26 per cent the year before.

Collections on delinquent taxes last year totaled $38,506, Alward noted.

The city entered 1961 with a bonded debt of $2,610,000, Alward reported. Bonds totaling $2,600,000 were retired in 1960.

Of the revenue bonds, those for past sewage disposal improvements total $423,000, for the downtown parking lots $465,000 and for the Pontiac General parking lot $175,000.

RETIREMENT BONDS

Some $52,000 worth of sewage disposal bonds were retired last year and $35,000 worth of downtown parking bonds. The Pontiac General parking bonds were too new to be retired.

Alward noted that three important projects were completed during the year on a pay-as-you-go basis, without adding anything to the city's bonded debt. These include the Pontiac Public Library building, the Pontiac Municipal Airport Terminal building and the new small hangar at the airport.

U.A.R. to Get Bonn Aid

BONN, Germany (U.P.)—The United Arab Republic will receive one billion marks ($50 million) in development aid from West Germany, the government announced Wednesday. Half the aid will be used in the U.A.R. to build the Suez Canal and $25 million worth of down-project.

Pair Sent to Prison on Different Charges

GRAND RAPIDS (U.P.)—Two men were sentenced to prison Wednesday by U.S. District Judge Raymond W. Starr on their earlier pleas of guilty on separate liquor tax and check law offenses.

John D. Siboten, 40, of Lansing, was sentenced to a total of two years on each of four counts, terms of 18 months on separate liquor tax and check law offenses.

Mrs. Betty Jean Sanford, 38, a 6-year-old brother, Patrick, and a 14-year-old sister, Mindy Lee, all of rural Wayland.

Barry County sheriff's men said the group occupied a car driven by Mrs. Sanford when a blowout caused the car to swerve and strike a tree 6 miles southeast of Hastings. Sandra was killed in the crash.

HASTINGS (U.P.)—An auto tire blowout Wednesday resulted in the death of 14-year-old Sandra Kay Sanford and injury to her mother, Mrs. Betty Jean Sanford, 38, a 6-year-old brother, Patrick, and a 14-year-old sister, Mindy Lee, all of rural Wayland.

Economists See Good Times for Rest of Year

More Jobs, More Money, More Choice Predicated

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — More jobs, higher take-home pay, plentiful bargains, better selections—these are the good things seen in store for you the rest of this year.

Bigger tax cuts, costlier services, slightly higher interest rates, and lingering unemployment among the unskilled—these are the bad probabilities.

Both sets are short-term prospects. They are the guesses of the majority of the economic southsayers, based on indications the economy will enjoy a healthy if steadily if slowly in the fall.

FAR FUTURE IN DOUBT

The experts divide sharply on the longer range outlook. Some see a big upsurge in economic growth, getting under way early next year. The contrary-minded fear the current plans to stimulate such growth will bring either a feverish but short-lived boom or a creeping and debilitating inflation.

Let's look at the short term prospects.

JOBS — more but still not enough.

Increasing industrial output already means longer work weeks. And after a summer lull for plant vacations, it should bring more jobs by fall. The service industries should absorb still more workers. But contraction in unskilled job opportunities is likely to continue for some time.

The biggest threat this summer is a possible auto-workers strike, which also could slow down many supplier industries.

INCOMES — a bit higher for many.

Wage-scale trends are still upward, with the business recovery encouraging union leaders to ask more and with the effectiveness of Washington's restraint plans questionable. Corporation profits will still be pinched by rising costs, but dividend payments tend to hold up well. Rents are weak in a few areas, but rising in others.

***

Government payments to individuals are set for still another rise. Industrial pensions and other fringe benefits grow in good times or bad.

MONEY—still fairly easy. The best bet is that the financial agencies will keep money and credit plentiful if the recovery is at a measured pace. Some relaxing of mortgage terms are in the cards, but other interest rates may stiffen as business picks up. The growth of savings may slow down as consumers gain confidence and spend more.

***

PRICES — markups and mark-downs fairly balanced. The cost of living probably will rise, but with seasonal trends the main influence. In spite of production costs there is much price cutting now in industrial materials. And for consumers keen competition for sales is keeping bargains plentiful. So too is the spread of discount houses into new areas and under new sponsorship by older retailing forms. The popularity of the compact car will help still more families hold down one part of their budget.

But even if present prices of many things should ease, it's a good bet that family spending will stay as high. The standard of living has a way of rising to absorb any surplus from price savings on essentials.

SHORTAGES—few if any.

Industry can produce more of almost anything, save its newest are eager foreign suppliers looking for openings. Only an international flare-up could change the general picture.

In food, of course, there is always the whim of the weather. But holdover of staples is high. Meat production is rising and prices are easing.

Summing up, the majority of soothsayers are plumping for a rise in the economy moderate enough to leave you, the consumer, still in command.

How long this can last is another story.

Open Door Hearings Should Rule Con-Con

With our State Constitutional Convention primary soon to come before the voters, it seems time that our candidates for this important position declared themselves on the rules for the convention.

Newspapers along with the general public are asking that the meetings be open to all interested parties.

The Associated Press at a recent state meeting took a strong stand advocating open meetings. The AP resolution states that the convention will be the most important political event of the century in Michigan, and that it is essential to the people in order to render intelligent judgment to be fully informed.

The resolution calls for full access to all activities, deliberations and discussions. This covers a lot of ground, but it is the crux of the whole convention.

The public has the right to know the full reasoning behind all decisions in committees and subcommittees. The constitution is the State's basic law and it is for everyone. No self-seeking interests should be allowed to put something across in secrecy.

Any points brought forth in deliberations by the candidates should be available for public scrutiny before final decisions are made.

If the candidates intend to operate behind closed doors, the public will lose faith in the entire convention.

North Central Airlines Gives Excellent Service

A recent flight on North Central Airlines from Pontiac Municipal Airport to Traverse City was a pleasant experience and the airline is to be congratulated on the excellent service.

Anyone heading for Michigan's Northern vacationland, and in a hurry, should consider one of these fast flights from our own city airport. The vast majority of our Northern resorts for fishing, swimming and camping can now be reached in a matter of minutes.

Time schedule to the cherryland: Pontiac to Flint, 13 minutes; Flint to Tri-City Airport serving Saginaw, Midland and Bay City 19 minutes; and from Tri-City to Traverse City, 45 minutes.

This service is unique to our area since it is the first time we have had a regularly scheduled airline. In order to keep the service, enough passengers must take advantage of the flights to make our Pontiac stop worthwhile for the airline.

As another step forward for Pontiac, we would like to urge all area residents to take advantage of this fine service now available.

Tremendous Growth in Investment Clubs

Investing for fun is getting to be a popular pastime. Less than a decade ago the National Association of Investment Clubs estimated its membership as slightly over 100 units.

Now the NAIC boasts upwards of 5600 clubs and is campaigning to expand its roster. All clubs do not belong to the association. In Pontiac, for example, there are approximately 45 clubs.

The NAIC's affiliates have about 78,000 members, but the total membership of all investment clubs in the Nation — some 25,000 of them — is said to exceed 350,000.

Now the NAIC is asking some 3300 corporations and brokerage houses for funds to foster the growth of its membership. Specifically it wants $50,000 this year to finance an "economic education institute." An initial backer of the project is Dow Chemical.

It strikes us that the clubs are fine and in most instances serving a worthy purpose. Yet we are inclined to feel that the NAIC is on the wrong track in putting the bite on corporations for money.

The popularity of the clubs cannot entirely be attributed to the profit motive. In this connection it must be remembered that we have enjoyed a continued rise in the market for the last ten years.

More likely the growth of the clubs can be traced to intensified curiosity about the market. The staggering fact is that while there were only about 6.5 million stockholders in the Nation less than 10 years ago, today there are supposed to be about 15 million.

The Man About Town

Readers' Items A Few Pertinent Notes on Doings in the News

Fox: A wolf that sends flowers.

They still keep coming. My nephew in Chicago.

Harold Shay, who is in public relations work, phones me that our Centennial issue was "the grandest thing ever put out by a newspaper." He showed it to the editorial staff of the Chicago Tribune, and told them they could have it for a pattern the next time Chicago celebrates something.

A letter drifts in from George H. Morgan of Union Lake, stating that 60 years ago he drove a wagon from Detroit to Lone Pine Road, and was obliged to pay a toll of ten cents at Royal Oak and Birmingham.

A large picture of the Pontiac City Band, taken in 1899, and now owned by Clayton Tibbals of Watkins Lake, shows some of our city's leading musicians of that period.

A Pontiac city directory issued in 1870 and now in the possession of Milton J. Roberts of Davisburg, has a feature that would be quite impossible 91 years later. A directory of Flint is in the same book.

From Austin, Texas, comes word from that former Pontiac area resident, Mrs. Mamie Gidley that our Centennial issue was a great stroke of newspaper enterprise.

I believe that there's something to cogitate upon in a letter from that ever watchful baseball fan, Henry Haughey of Bloomfield Hills, who asserts that many of the arguments between players and umpires are put on to entertain the spectators.

You'll also probably agree with a phone call from George Gros of Birmingham, who says the current cigarette advertising sounds like an apology for what they told us a few years ago with just as much gusto — while the mills that grind up alfalfa hay work nights.

Three colors of ponies in one clump grace the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Ledwick of Rochester, who also have delphinium plants six feet high.

A Plymouth Rock here in the flock of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Pillsbury of Pontiac Lake has laid an egg that weighs nearly seven ounces.

'Some Split-Level . . . the Stairs Are Killing Me'

Are Nation's Public Oaths Invalid?

WASHINGTON—Just 10 days ago the Supreme Court of the United States ruled that it is unconstitutional for the federal government or any state to require a "belief in the existence of God" as a qualification for public office.

Now the question has arisen as to whether any illegality surrounds nearly $3 billion in U.S. currency bills and coins in circulation — dollars, half-dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies — on which are inscribed the words: "In God We Trust."

A law passed in 1855, required that this phrase be put on all new money issued by the United States. For 80 years previously it had been inscribed only on certain silver coins.

But there's a further complication. Are oaths taken heretofore by public officials still valid? Is the law prescribing the official oath of office, as passed by Congress in 1854, now unconstitutional?

This law provides that "the oath to be taken by any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit either in the civil, military or naval service" must include the words, "so help me God."

Furthermore, in almost every court in the land and, indeed, in hearings by every committee of Congress where a witness swears to "tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," the oath concludes: "so help me God."

NO BELIEF NEEDED In its recent ruling, the Supreme Court held that requirement of a "belief in the existence of God" as a qualification for public office "unconstitutionally invades the appellant's freedom of belief and religion and therefore cannot be enforced against him."

Are the oaths prescribed by existing law, therefore, an invasion of the citizen's rights? What happens if a witness before a court refuses to be sworn, proclaiming that there is no God and that such an oath is not binding and is, in addition, a violation of religious freedom?

What action can the court take to get truthful testimony and at the same time protect such a witness against invasion of his "freedom of belief and religion?"

Is, in fact, the prescribed oath binding upon a person who denies the existence of God, and could a charge of perjury be prosecuted against such a person who testified falsely?

Also, was it an invasion of "freedom of belief and religion" when the Congress in 1854 added the words "under God" to the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States which is now given constantly in our schools and elsewhere?

The Country Parson

"I wonder if hungry cows, like miserable people, feel better if they know other cows are hungry, too."

A formal report of the judiciary committee of the House of Representatives in May 1954, just before the passage by Congress of an amendment to include the phrase "under God" in the pledge, said in part: "At this moment of our history the principles underlying our American government and the American way of life are under attack by a system whose philosophy is at direct odds with our own."

"The inclusion of God in our pledge therefore would further acknowledge the dependence of our people and our government upon the moral directions of the Creator."

"The Supreme Court ruled in 1892 that 'this is a religious nation.' It reiterated this holding, more recently—in 1951—when it stated: "We are a religious people whose institutions presuppose a Supreme Being."

"Those words by our Supreme Court are true in a very fundamental and realistic sense. From the time of our earliest history our peoples and our institutions have reflected the traditional concept that our nation was founded on a fundamental belief in God."

DR. WILLIAM BRADY SAYS: Husbands Hire a Doctor Who'll Let You in at Birth

Just January a Wisconsin correspondent told me: "Our doctor attends home deliveries. He used to allow the father (the patient's husband) to 'remain in the delivery room. But the state refused an OB license because the hospital didn't have a plain glass window nursery for newborn babies and let mothers keep their babies beside them."

I reiterate what I have said many times—the place for a real man is at his wife's side when their baby is being born.

Irrespective of hospital "rules" or "regulations," alleged health board orders or risks of infection, there is no scientific reason why man and wife should be put asunder at the supreme moment of their wedded life.

When any one complains that the doctor or the hospital will not "allow" a man to remain with his wife in any and all stages of labor, I years to kick somebody in the circumstances.

This weakness of prospective fathers is attributable to their education, or rather lack of education in parenthood. Instead of studying everything the expectant mother studies and accompanying her when she goes to the doctor for instructions, the untutored husband prefers to run and play, leaving his wife to carry on alone.

IT'S RIDICULOUS! It is ridiculous to exclude the husband from the room where his baby is being born, on the ground that he might bring infection into the room, and then crowd all newborn infants together in one little room, where, too often, fatal infection is transferred from one infant to the next.

Now it is far beyond my capacity to maintain a directory service of doctors or institutions.

All I can do is to let you know what's going on. If you really want to know, ask your doctor or any doctor whether he or she attends confinement at home, or if not whether he or she will offer you to one who does.

Do likewise with hygienic institutions, public or private. Inquire whether you may be at your wife's side in the delivery room. The answer is not entirely cordial, the centennial edition was wonderful and everyone who worked on it deserves a lot of praise, and especially Joe Haas.

Case Records of a Psychologist: Outdoor Games Best for Children

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE CASE J-428 Bobby D., aged-11, is a dynamo of energy. "Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Bobby gets into a lot of nickels and dimes to add extra cents, especially for older children."

When the youngsters get back from the race around the block, tell them the boundaries of the area in which you have scattered the pennies.

Then line them up on one side and start them off with a "Go."

For 25 cents or 50 cents you can thus keep a crowd of children occupied for 30 minutes, which is cheap insurance for adult nerves, believe me!

MEANWHILE, you get them out of the house, the women folk can work in peace.

SURPRISES FOR KIDS Children relish surprises, so parents can keep a few games "up your sleeve" for emergency use.

Any back yard can quickly be rigged up for a 2 or 4-hole miniature golf course, using tin cans for cups.

Let the kids employ sticks or broom handles for golf clubs.

Another quick game that requires very little equipment is volleyball, played with inflated rubber balloons.

Stretch a piece of grocery's string between two trees, or run it between two pillars—in your church basement.

Then use one or more balloons. They tell the children what a great deal of energy, but are harmless to the furniture of your church, or home, even if played indoors.

Voice of the People:

'Keego Harbor Out of Step in Fining Boys Club'

The West Suburban Boys Club of Keego Harbor was fined $25 costs Monday by Judge Judge James Southart in violation of the sound ordinance.

We have tried to cooperate with the City of Keego Harbor. The boys club that attend our club are for the most part from the City of Keego. In the short time we have been at this location, statistics will show that juvenile delinquency has definitely shown a downward trend in the immediate area.

This club runs on donations and our directors receive no money for their time and services. Our athletic program is the finest in the community.

The West Suburban Boys Club received this fine because they failed to get a permit for the sound truck which was used in a boys club baseball kick-off parade held Saturday, June 24th.

Judge Southart claimed the directors of the boys' club should have each contributed a small fee for the use of the sound truck. These directors have been digging in their pockets too much lately to keep the doors of the club open. Keego Harbor has done an injustice to the West Suburban Boys Club.

James Barnovsky, Athletic Director, West Suburban Boys Club, Keego Harbor.

People Appreciative of City's Celebration

This past week was an enjoyable one for this family. We looked forward to the pictures in your paper each day and think you did a tremendous job.

We thank you and many thanks to all who planned and took part in the Centennial. Thanks to the donors of the oak tree. It was grand.

The Pontiac Story was especially good. I heard many compliments about it.

Case Records of a Psychologist: Outdoor Games Best for Children

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE CASE J-428 Bobby D., aged-11, is a dynamo of energy. "Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Bobby gets into a lot of nickels and dimes to add extra cents, especially for older children."

When the youngsters get back from the race around the block, tell them the boundaries of the area in which you have scattered the pennies.

Then line them up on one side and start them off with a "Go."

For 25 cents or 50 cents you can thus keep a crowd of children occupied for 30 minutes, which is cheap insurance for adult nerves, believe me!

MEANWHILE, you get them out of the house, the women folk can work in peace.

Nikita Needs to Save Face

By WILLIAM L. RYAN Perhaps concluding it is too risky to assume the United States is bluffing on the Berlin issue, Nikita Khrushchev appears to be seeking a face-saving way out of an uncomfortable situation—and trying to salvage some profit from it.

The Soviet premier seems to be offering President Kennedy and the Western allies a deal: Just increase the year-end deadline for Khrushchev's year-end deadline for a perilous showdown on Berlin.

NEGOTIATIONS? The curious coincidence of Kennedy and Khrushchev statements on the same day concerning the West Berlin issue raises speculation about backstage diplomacy looking toward some sort of negotiation.

But from President Kennedy the Soviet leader has nothing more tangible than a statement that the United States is ready to discuss any proposal that respects the rights of the people in West Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside Communist East Germany. The President made a similar statement from Khrushchev. An implication that there is something to negotiate and a statement denying any plans for a new Berlin blockade.

What is behind this guarded Khrushchev bid?

Khrushchev's maneuvers must be viewed against his plans and problems.

HAS PROGRESS? His plans include convening late in October the 22nd congress of the Soviet Communist Party. There the Kremlin expects to lay down a 20-year program—a model for the whole Red bloc—for the development of Soviet and world communism. Moscow is asserting undisputed leadership in this respect. The October party will attempt to present Soviet-brand communism to the world as the inexorable wave of the future.

To demonstrate the Communist party's leadership, the U.S.S.R. seems to have begun Laos, on one side of the world, and Berlin, on the other, like two chess pieces in a payoff game.

Obstacles? It takes a little forethought and planning by players on each side and thus keep 20 children in action. If need be, you can have an elimination tournament, allowing 10 minutes per game.

And a "treasure hunt" is always surefire with teen-agers. It can keep them occupied for hours.

Police Nab Three Chicks After Desperate Chase

Three sick chickens yesterday led Waterford Township police a merry chase over hill and dale, and through heavy dewclawed bushes before they were finally caught.

The chicks originally had been given to pupils of the David Grayson School, and stayed close to the children when classes were in session.

However, when the big playground became barren, the three chickens decided to move over to the nearby Pasquale Forgione property at 3610 W. Walton Boulevard. There they found table scraps and even corn that the Forgiones purchased. But the chicks weren't welcome.

"Too much money, and too much work," said the Forgiones.

DOG WARDEN CALLED

So, the township's dog warden, Neil King was called.

King — allergic to chicken feathers — gave chase.

But after an hour, he gave up and radioed the township police for help.

Lt. Frank Randolph and Sgt. Charles Griffith joined the chase. Through fences, over brick piles, and through the wet bushes went the pursuers.

One by one the birds were caught.

But King began to sneeze — and sneeze. Finally, he plucked the chickens in the back of the dog wagon and took them to the farm of a friend, where they found a real home.

Escapes Rain, but He's Not Happy About It

The boy's story was all wet. "I just wanted to get out of the rain," he said.

Waterford Township Patrolman Ronald Freeman, sleeping outdoors into the drizzle early this morning, spotted the 15-year-old prying open the vent window of a car.

Freeman paused as the boy unlocked the door, jumped inside and rifled the glove compartment. Then Freeman walked over.

The car, parked in front of the township police department, was Freeman's. The excuse was the boy's.

ICC OKs Plans for Piggyback

Approval Given Forms of Rail Freight Which Truckers Challenged

WASHINGTON (U) — The Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday gave its approval to two important forms of "piggyback" railroad freight service. Both had been challenged by the trucking industry as unlawful, destructive competition.

"Piggyback" involves the transportation of loaded highway trailers on flat cars.

The ICC sanctioned Wednesday what is known as "Plan III" service, in which the shipper provides the trailer, and a "Plan IV" service in which the shipper also furnishes the flat car and the railroad supplies locomotive power only.

These plans have been in use since 1958, subject to commission review. For the Plan III service, the railroads charge 50 cents per mile per car, and for the Plan IV service 40 cents per mile per car.

Both of these plans have been principally used by freight forwarders—those engaged in assembling small quantity shipments for delivery to destination by any means available at the lower large-quantity rates.

Berlin Record Old, Goes Round and Round

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It's like playing a slow waltz on an old phonograph record all over again.

Almost move by move, statement by statement, Russia and the West are going through a repetition of the Berlin problem of 1948-1959.

That time Premier Khrushchev threatened a showdown in six months but let it melt away. Now he's set another six-month deadline.

It's possible he's stirring the Berlin kettle, with all its dangers, just to get concessions later from the worried West on something not now guessed.

Here's a quick run-down on the similarity:

1. Khrushchev proposed West Berlin be made a "free city" with the Allies pulling out their troops Nov. 27, 1958.

Khrushchev at the Vienna meeting with President Kennedy earlier this month proposed the same thing. (June 4, 1961).

2. President Eisenhower said this country had a firm obligation to defend the people of West Berlin. (Jan. 7, 1959).

Kennedy said the Allies are determined to maintain their Berlin rights "at any risk" and their obligations to the Berliners. (Jan. 6, 1961).

3. Soviets called for a 25-nation conference to negotiate peace treaty based on reunification of Germany. (Jan. 19, 1959).

Soviets proposed cutting a peace conference on a German peace treaty. (June 11, 1961).

4. Walter Ulbricht, Communist boss of East Germany, pledged there would be no blockade if the West "respected" East Germany's "sovereignty," although the West doesn't recognize East Germany as a sovereign government. (Jan. 18, 1959).

Khrushchev said there would be no blockade of Berlin. (June 27, 1961).

5. Khrushchev warned it would be the "beginning of war" if the Allies tried to force their way through to Berlin, although, in view of Ulbricht's promise of no blockade, no force would seem necessary. (Feb. 13, 1959).

Khrushchev, while saying there would be no blockade, warned the Western powers they'd get their comeuppance if they tried any rough stuff. (June 27, 1961).

6. In early 1959 Eisenhower said—because of talk about mobilizing to aid Berlin—no such proposal had come to him.

7. Eisenhower told the Russians to cut out making threats. (Jan. 1, 1959).

Kennedy told the Russians to cut out making threats. (June 27, 1961).

8. State Department said the United States would insist on discussing Berlin only as part of the wider problem of German unity. (Jan. 24, 1959).

Kennedy said discussions with Russians would be profitable if they'd accept self-determination for East and West Berliners and Europe — meaning the satellites, which would mean some unity. (June 27, 1961).

9. Eisenhower said the United States would be glad to join Russia in "any talks that deal fruitfully with the differences between our different people and our different governments." (Jan. 28, 1961).

High government officials said they're considering proposing a new round of East-West talks on Berlin within the framework of the overall problem of divided Germany. (June 28, 1961).

There'll probably be a foreign ministers meeting in 1961.

On June 14, 1961, Sen. Mansfield, now Democratic leader in the Senate, apparently on his own proposed pretty much the same plan. It got a dim reception in Germany. Khrushchev was somewhat approving, but not altogether.

celler Adenauer wanted no part of it. (Feb. 12, 1959).

Big Three Defend Financing of Cars by Auto Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chrysler and Ford both joined General Motors Wednesday in testimony before the House antitrust subcommittee, stating a law to ban auto companies from the car financing and insurance business would be harmful to purchasers.

Both Ford and General Motors have subsidiaries in the car financing business; Chrysler does not at this time.

F. W. Misch, vice president of Chrysler, said his firm is interested in preserving the "basic freedom" to enter the car financing field if it should decide to do so.

Cuban Firms Ordered to Turn in All Assets

HAVANA (U)—State corporations and nationalized business concerns were ordered Wednesday to turn in to the Cuban finance ministry "all the stocks, bonds and assets they own."

The announced aim is elimination of "all the capitalistic roots of the business enterprises so that they may operate more profitably as units which belong to the people."

Gerber Official to Check on Future in Europe

FREMONT (UPI)—The administrative general manager for the Gerber Products Co. International Division has left for Europe to check possible future business dealings.

Frank Meyer will spend the next several months in France and Germany investigating and discussing baby food production facilities in those countries. Before leaving Meyer said, "Gerber hopes, in the not too distant future, to have some arrangement for the production and distribution of baby food throughout the European common market."

Blaze Destroys Agency

EASTMANVILLE (U)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a farm implement agency at Eastmanville Wednesday with damages estimated at upward of $45,000.

Personal income in 1960 hit an annual rate of $64.2 billion — an all-time high. Another record high was the one set by daily newspaper circulation in 1960—58,881,746.

Big-Time Mobsters Spreading Dope, Vice Operations Into Suburbs

By DAVID SMOTHERS
By United Press International

Suburbia, U. S. A., still boasts it is safe from organized, big-city crime. But the boasts are giving way to anxious second thoughts in some suburbs.

There are worries in the Chicago suburb of Morton Grove, Ill. There, two men who were operating striptease hanky totes along Chicago's "clip row" not so long ago have applied for permission to establish a $3 million hospital.

There are worries in the New York suburb of Manhattan. N. Y. There Charles Menzies, 22-year-old college student and son of a prominent contractor, was sentenced last week for his role as a salesman in a Westchester County narcotics ring which involved scores of teen-age customers.

There are serious worries in New Orleans, where Metropolitan Crime Commission Chairman Aaron Kohn warns criminal elements, especially gamblers, have taken advantage of "new outlets" in the suburbs and have developed "branch stores" to serve new population centers.

OWN TRADEMARKS
Organized crime — the kind which is often blamed on the shadowy "crime syndicate" — has trademarks of its own. Its specialties are gambling, large-scale prostitution and narcotics, all of them operations which needed ruthless organization in the back-ground.

There are other areas of organized crime where the trademarks are not so plain. These are the legitimate and semi-legitimate enterprises favored by well-heeled gangsters as good investments for their criminal profits.

Most suburban centers questioned in a United Press International spot check said they are free of both kinds of big-time criminal activity.

Such reports came from police in and around Cleveland, Dayton, Washington, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Pittsburgh, Knoxville, Dallas and Milwaukee.

Highway Toll of 450 Expected on Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council said Wednesday 450 Americans may be killed in traffic accidents during the four-day July 4 holiday period.

But the council also said that its estimate will not be fulfilled if individual drivers will apply courtesy and common sense.

George C. Stewart, executive vice president, said that during the holiday period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Tuesday, almost all the nation's 74 million motor vehicles will be in use and will run up a total of 10 billion miles.

During the four-day Memorial Day holiday observance this year 462 traffic fatalities were reported.

Says Sex of Warrant Not Important to Court

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Eva Roddy, 44, protested when she was haled into city court on a charge of possessing whisky. "That's a John Doe warrant and I'm a Jane Doe," she told Judge Charles Kelly. The judge said the search warrant's sex didn't matter and fined Mrs. Roddy $50.

Officials in some of these cities could not always agree, however. In Milwaukee, newly appointed U. S. District Attorney James B. Brennan said organized crime is reaching into Southern Wisconsin. He detected a heavy traffic of stolen goods from the Chicago area into Wisconsin.

Near Los Angeles, law enforcement officials have been powerless to do anything about legal draw-poker palaces operating in the city of Gardena.

NEWLYWEDS, 64 AND 18—Lionie Elton Stewart, a divorced 64-year-old carpenter, poses in Long Beach, Calif., with his bride Barbara Gail Gillette, an 18-year-old divorcee. They said they were married last week with the consent of her parents, with whom they're living temporarily. The new Mrs. Stewart said she wed a member of the armed forces in Palestine, Tex., when she was 15, but when he went overseas they were divorced. Stewart divorced his wife seven years ago.

Metropolitan areas where some evidence of organized crime in the suburbs has turned up include Chicago, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Omaha, Kansas City and New Orleans.

The leaders of big city crime commissions, such as New Orleans' Kohn and Chicago's Virgil Peterson, were most outspoken about the gangster menace in the suburbs.

KINGPINS LIVE THERE

They pointed out that a number of big-shot racketeers, such as Tony Accardo of Chicago and Carlos Marcello of New Orleans, have already made the suburbs their homes. In some suburbs, gang-controlled criminal establishments are so well settled they're taken for granted. In others, the big-city organizers may be beating the suburban police to the punch.

Kohn reported that the most enthusiastic customers of lotteries, once the sport of long-shoremen, now are suburban middle, housewife and housewives. Flaming prostitution has moved into at least one of the better suburbs, Kohn charges.

and racketeers are taking advantage of the relative weakness of country sheriffs.

The suburban residents themselves must take part of the blame for allowing the criminal organizers into their communities, Kohn said.

"Most of them moved to the suburbs to escape many things, including the responsibility of citizen action," Kohn said. "This plays right into the hands of organized crime."

In Chicago, top police circles said the gangsters are well entrenched in suburban gambling and vice centers, which have operated for years. Crime Commission Chairman Peterson agreed — up to a point.

"The racketeers have got their fingers out all the time for new things — they're constantly looking into possible areas of activity to invest the dollars they got through rackets and vice," he said.

"Too frequently, the public doesn't get alarmed with mobsters rolling in wealth, but it is alarmed when they find the mob in the way the gangsters spend their food or motel business. This is money."

Tractor Trade Seems Finished

Comments of Kennedy Appear to Rule Out Any Further Negotiations

HAVANA (AP)—A foreign ministry source said today that President Kennedy's comments on the tractors-for-prisoners issue seem to have closed the door to further negotiations.

Kennedy told his Washington news conference Wednesday that the volunteer committee of Americans had done all it could and it was now up to Fidel Castro to "change his views."

EXPECT DECISION

The general feeling here was that the Cuban prime minister won't reduce his demands and if the Tractors for Freedom Committee does not meet them, negotiations are probably ended.

A decision on whether the committee would renew its efforts was expected today, but the President's statements made such a prospect unlikely.

The committee disbanded Friday after Castro rejected its offer of 500 farm tractors — estimated to cost about $3.5 million — in exchange for nearly 1,200 captives from the ill-fated Cuban invasion.

Jayne Mansfield Visits In-Laws Behind 'Curtain'

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Jayne Mansfield is paying her first visit behind the iron curtain — to her in-laws and the bosomy Hollywood blonde is "just thrilled."

Jayne and her Hungarian-born husband, musician Mickey Hargitay, arrived Wednesday to introduce her to his mother, father and two brothers.

The state-run television organization, which rarely gets such foreign glamour on its screen, transmitted its cameras to the airport to record the reunion.

Jayne and Mickey were hustled into the airport lounge to be greeted by Mrs. Hargitay, wearing traditional headscarf; Hargitay senior, dressed in the uniform of an officer of an inland shipping company, and the brothers.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Theek up, bud, thumbody has found your upper plate.

Ernest Viel nonchalantly was mowing his yard when he found the dentures.

Viel put them in a jar, hung them on a stick in front of his house and put a "lost" sign on the stick.

This family is the victim of hot weather stalling—one of three infuriating troubles that can strike your car on sizzling days. Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend fights all three.

HAPPY JULY 4th?

Fight hot weather stalls with Super Shell's
Hot Weather Blend. Famous 9-ingredient formula now adjusted for top performance when highways sizzle.

Summer heat can make some gasolines bubble. This can stall you dead. It can also cause hard starting and rough idling.

Read how Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend fights these heat wave problems. It just might save you a lot of trouble this weekend. You can get it at any Shell station on your route.

ENGINEERS, like people, can suffer from heat prostration. Especially in the kind of hot and heavy traffic you may face during the weekend ahead.

Here are three infuriating troubles that are caused by excessive heat—and what Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend does to fight them.

How Super Shell fights hot weather stalls

If your engine sputters and dies on a hot day, it may have an ailment called vapor lock. Hot weather can make certain gasolines start to boil right in the fuel line. They literally bubble. Vapor lock takes place when the bubbles choke off the fuel supply.

Shell scientists attack vapor lock by revising Super Shell's nine-ingredient formula in summer.

They reduce its volatility. This produces a Hot Weather Blend of Super Shell that's not likely to boil in your fuel line. It cuts the chances of hot weather stalling to a minimum.

How Super Shell fights hard starting

Here's what can happen when you try to re-start your car after a hot drive. With the fan stopped and the cooling system idle, intense heat under the hood can actually make gasoline percolate in some carburetors. Just like coffee in a pot.

The gasoline spills over, floods the engine—and makes starting difficult.

Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend is formulated to stand high temperatures without percolating. You get quick starts even after a long, hard, hot drive.

How Super Shell fights rough idling

The same trouble that causes summer starting difficulties can give your car the shakes every time you stop for a traffic light.

Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend attacks both problems the same way. Its formula is adjusted so that it's in no hurry to boil and bubble. Result: smooth idling in hot weather.

Shell Trouble-Shooter

Your Shell dealer will be glad to prepare your car for the rigors of summer driving. His trouble-shooting may save you hours of delay on the road. See him now.

And ask him to fill your tank with Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend. Then you'll really be set for top performance.

The 9 ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

- #1 is TCP® for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock."
- #5 is Butane for quick starts.
- #6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." (Added in cold weather.)
- #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

At Shell, 1,997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better

Slayer Is Free Pending Probe

Prosecutor Is Launching Intensive Investigation in Pointe Shooting

GROSSE POINTE PARK (UPI) — Gerald Hollerbach, 30, who killed his friend Tuesday, was free today pending what Asst. Wayne County Prosecutor George D. Kent termed "an intensive investigation" by police here.

Hollerbach was being held for investigation after he killed 30-year-old Gilbert Stille with three shotgun blasts. The slaying took place at Hollerbach's home here.

Hollerbach claims he was awakened by a prowler moving about the house, loaded the gun and shot the intruder as he came up the basement stairs in the dark.

Hollerbach was released in the custody of his attorney Joseph A. Loustiel and relatives Wednesday. Kent said there wasn't enough evidence to issue a murder warrant against Hollerbach at present.

He accused Grosse Pointe Park police of bungling much of the investigation thus far in the case but he said that Hollerbach should be released pending the outcome of a more thorough investigation.

Nuisance Taxes Due to Expire Saturday Morn

LANSING (UPI) — Temporary taxes enacted in 1959 on tobacco products, beer, liquor, telephones and corporations will expire at midnight Friday but little of the estimated $50 million drop in the state's income is likely to be passed along to the consumer.

The temporary taxes became known as the "nuisance tax" package in 1959 when the year-long session of the legislature passed them.

The four per cent tax on telephone and telegraph service will be removed as of July 1.

A slight reduction in price should result from the similar tax on liquor, and people who chew tobacco, use snuff or smoke a pipe or cigars can anticipate a 20 per cent reduction in cost, but the other three taxes which will expire will not likely mean any change in price.

JFK Could Have Been Firmer on Berlin: GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republican Congressional leaders say President Kennedy's news-conference statement on the defense of Berlin was not as firm as they would have liked.

At his news conference Wednesday Kennedy said Soviet Premier Khrushchev would be making a grave mistake if he thought "threats of fresh aggressive acts can undermine Western firmness on Berlin."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said, "Whenever the President shows firmness, we applaud. I thought it was firm, but we could have added to it."

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House Republican Leader, said Kennedy's statement "could have been much more firm."

HONOLULU (UPI) — The Kennedy administration came out of the annual governors' conference today with fresh support for some of its policies and criticism of others muted or stifled.

The strongest declaration of support came in the field of foreign policy, but the administration also received more than a half a loaf in the resolution on federal aid for education.

The governors' 53rd annual meeting, held this year on Waikeke Beach in the newest state, ended Wednesday after adoption of some 30 resolutions and election of Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, a Republican, to the chairmanship.

One approved resolution was the first in history ever to deal with the subject of civil rights.

However, it was so bland that even the southern governors let it be adopted without debate or any public expression of dissent.

Ulica Teen Beaten, Taken to Hospital

A Ulica teenager was listed in satisfactory condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after he said he was beaten by three unidentified men in Pontiac Township early this morning, according to sheriff's deputies.

Bryan E. Lorian, 18, of 4346 Gainsway Drive, told deputies he was hitchhiking along Squirrel Road north of South Boulevard at about 1:30 when a car with three men in it stopped.

The driver hit him over the head with a beer bottle, Lorian said.

The other two knocked him down and beat and kicked him in the face and chest, Lorian said.

Doctor Claims Sunlight Makes You Look Older

NEW YORK (AP) — Does your skin look older? It may be due largely to the long term effects of sunlight, a dermatologist reported Wednesday.

The sun tends to make the skin look dry, coarse, leathery and wrinkled, besides causing changes in color, Dr. John M. Knox of Baylor University reported.

Japan Village Buried in Mud

27 Killed, 56 Others Missing as Downpours Continue Onslaught

TOKYO (UPI)—Five days of torrential rains unleashed a wave of sliding mud that buried a village in Nagano Prefecture today, killing at least 27 persons. Fifty-six others were reported missing.

National police headquarters said 33 homes in the village, located about 150 miles northwest of here, were covered by mud and flood waters.

It sent the death toll in flood-stricken Japan soaring to 194. Police said more than 200 were missing and 229 seriously injured.

Nearly 250,000 persons have been forced out of their homes by the heavy rains that lashed Japan, causing widespread death and destruction from floods and landslides.

More than 100 policemen, firemen and rescue workers were rushed to aid the stricken villagers in Nagano, hardest hit prefecture in Japan. At least 84 were reported dead in the prefecture and 129 missing.

West Berliners have calluses on their nerves, said Richard O'Regan, AP bureau chief in Germany, who visited Berlin last week. He said the West Berliners have calluses on their nerves, said Richard O'Regan, AP bureau chief in Germany, who visited Berlin last week. He said the West Berliners have calluses on their nerves, said Richard O'Regan, AP bureau chief in Germany, who visited Berlin last week.

We lived through Khrushchev's threats in 1958. And today, we're stronger. The new Berlin crisis whirled around the city. Headlines scream the latest statements of President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev and West Berlin is unchanged and unmoved. The janitor is right. Nobody is concerned. Nobody is leaving—only the refugees pouring into the West from Communist East Germany, and West Berliners off on vacation to the sunny south.

The weather—like the future—was unsettled Wednesday in Berlin. The sun seemed to shine more brightly in the west—glinting on new skyscrapers, catching the color of pretty dresses and striped awnings. Whatever the future, whatever the solution, whether it brings war or peace, the contrasts in Berlin are always there. And as the months and years go by, they seem to become sharper.

Dirty street placards. The smell of cressets in public buildings and soft coal in the air. Cheesy clothes. Dust gathering on horrid-looking, unbought bottles of preserved fruit in state-run food stores. Angry-looking housewives waiting to buy new deliveries of onions. Only a few stores, with fresh fruit. Butchers advertising special sales of soap bones.

Wife Granted Divorce From Producer Hecht

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Producer Harold Hecht's wife won a divorce with testimony that they argued about everything "from fried veal cutlets in the TV antenna." Gloria B. ## Ex-Castro Man Gets 20 Years for Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—Francisco (the Hook) Molina, a former soldier in Fidel Castro's Cuban army, was sentenced to 20 years to life today in the death of a girl caught in gunfire between Cuban factions. Castro has sought to trade a leader of the recent invasion for Molina.

Molina was convicted of second-degree murder in the killing of Magdalena Urdaneta, 9, a Venezuelan girl who was vacationing here with her parents.

B.F. Goodrich

This "glass highway" shows you the biggest advance in tires today...

THE BIG EDGE!

A highway paved with glass! High-speed cameras whirling beneath it as a car drives, turns, stops on the glass! Thousands of pictures taken from under the road show you exactly where today's tires work most, wear most. Show you how a radical new tire tread design developed by B.F. Goodrich gives motorists a big edge in mileage and safety. Read how this great advance in tire design puts more rubber where the wear is—in THE BIG EDGE!

See the severe distortion in the outside edges of this turning tire, photographed from under BFG's glass highway. It explains why you find the first tread wear not in the center of your tires, but on the outside ribs.

You see, in today's driving, with new suspension systems and faster speeds, you get terrific loads on your tires' outside edges, little in the center—whether you're driving straight, passing, turning a corner or stopping.

That's why B.F. Goodrich puts up to twice as much rubber as other major brands, first-line tires in the outer edges. That's The Big Edge—more safety, more mileage than ever before!

Other tires have narrow shoulders, as this diagram shows. The rubber is concentrated in the "dead center" where the action and the wear are least.

BFG Silverstone gives you, for the same money, up to twice as much rubber in the outside ribs, where tires work most, wear most. Only B.F. Goodrich has The Big Edge!

Don't buy any tire till you see the Big Edge demonstration at your B.F. Goodrich Dealer!

Berlin Hubbub Recalls Prewar Period

BY PIERRE J. NUSS

MUNICH—During these critical weeks of high-powered diplomacy I sense the excitement which kept American correspondents hopping in the heyday of Hitler.

There were headlines in the Nazi Reich almost daily. Each time the phone rang there was a new crisis or notification from dubious Josef Goebbels' propaganda ministry that Hitler was about to see for summary negotiations—we call it blackmail diplomacy these days as practiced by Khrushchev—this or that unfortunate European statesman.

Most of these statesmen visiting Hitler, including the British and French, got royal entertainment.

But behind the scenes in Hitler's chancellery or in the ill-lit

Munich they were treated with the ranting ultimatum tone and action of the power-mad Swastika hater bent on world conquest.

I am told on irrefutable authority—not German—that Khrushchev in Vienna "acted toward Kennedy at certain stages of their conversation, more like Hitler, did in his contemptible moments."

I give Kennedy all the more respect for his courage and audacity in standing up to the Moscow bulldozer.

I covered eight years of the Hitler period as Hearst correspondent and none of those European statesmen had the guts or saw him under circumstances which made it possible to tell the Nazi warlord to go to the devil.

During a Hearst task force interview with West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer I had the impression that men of that caliber were needed in the thirties to knock Hitler down to size.

BUFFALOED STATESMEN

Hitler terrified helpless statesmen like Schuschnigg of Austria and President Hacha of Czechoslovakia and maneuvered them into capitulation by holding before their eyes prepared marching and bombing orders to the Reich air force and troops.

In Munich in 1938 he buffaloesd Chamberlain and Daladier—with meek Mussolini sitting on a sofa like an obedient boy—into accepting a worthless piece of paper called peace in our time in return for the surrender of the Sudetenland.

Six months later Hitler dropped all pretense, marched into and seized all of Czechoslovakia. That demonstrates you can never trust a dictator, even if his pledge is written down in black and white.

At Kennedy's meeting with Khrushchev there were no agreements made which, Moscow can trumpet upon in six months.

WHO'LL BURY WHO?

That the dictator in the final analysis is buried under the rubble—and not the tree world as Khrushchev prophesies—is dramatically illustrated in the mound grown with grass and weeds which covers all that is left of the once mighty hater and his Eva.

I wonder if it brings home to the sightseeing Soviet soldiers I saw in East Berlin last Sunday the fact that dictators, whether Communist, Khrushchev, Kagan, Napoleon or the cars and kabarets, meet death and defeat, and that often their empires crumbled about their ears.

Says Grounding Threatened SAC

Officer Reveals Faulty Part on Tanker Almost Forced Planes Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bombers of the Air Force's Strategic Air Command were faced with possible grounding last January because of failure of a key part in KC135 tanker planes which supply them fuel, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Col. Stephen P. Dillon, director of Air Force procurement for the Oklahoma City air materiel area, told a House armed services subcommittee, that the Air Force had to rush through an emergency order to redesign the faulty part.

"It was a question of keeping SAC from being grounded," he told the congressmen.

SAC's long-range bombers are the mainstay of this country's constant alert against any surprise missile attack. The planes are equipped with nuclear weapons for instant retaliation.

Dillon said the bad part, which was in the KC135's fuel pump assembly, was discovered in a routine check of one plane. Other planes were examined immediately and the same trouble was found. Fast action then was taken to remedy the situation and it was caught in time, he said.

Tattler on British Royal Family Says He's Sorry

LONDON (P)—Princess Margaret's former personal footman apologized in court Wednesday for tattling about life in the royal family.

The court granted Queen Mother Elizabeth a permanent injunction barring the footman—39-year-old D. J. Payne—from making any further disclosures.

Payne left Clarence House, then the London home of both Margaret and her mother, just before the princess married Antony Armstrong-Jones last year.

He later wrote his memoirs of royal service and sold them in Europe. A temporary injunction obtained by the Queen Mother prevented publication in Britain.

Peace Corps Taps 2 From State for Ghana

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two Michigan residents have been picked by the Peace Corps to teach in Ghana.

David C. Hutchinson Jr., 24, Temperance, and Lucille M. Carmichael, 24, Grose Pointe, will begin teaching as part of a 29-person contingent as soon as their training is completed and a formal agreement is signed with the African nation.

Some 40 other volunteers will be assigned to the eight-week Ghana training program, which gets under way Thursday at the University of California campus in Berkeley.

Indicted for Killing Two Beagle Hounds

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Frank Borchardt, 35, was under indictment today for killing two beagle hounds.

The charge was malicious destruction of property worth more than $50.

Officers said Borchardt found the registered dogs and their masters, Daniel Allen, 13, and his brother, William, 8, and two other boys in his barn at nearby Mesquite three weeks ago.

The indictment Wednesday alleged that the man had shot the dogs and then beaten the four boys with a halter rope because he was angered over the recent deaths of a number of chickens.

The Bell System expects to run out of telephone numbers about 1970 and has psychologists at work to determine the most easily remembered combinations of letters and digits.

Dig Posts Out of Cement to Puffer Parking Meters

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Muscular thieves were through today in pilfering three parking meters in South Dallas.

"These thieves not only removed the whole meters, but they took the posts—digging them out of the concrete," said Police Traffic Engineer W. H. Garsten. "And that's mighty hard work for only $1.50 to $2.00 in each meter."

Producer Is Restrained From Annoying Wife

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Film producer Hal Roach Jr. has been ordered not to molest or annoy his estranged wife, Alva Brewer Roach.

A restraining order was issued Wednesday after Mrs. Roach filed a divorce action Tuesday charging that her husband, son of the movie pioneer, had threatened her life when he was intoxicated.

The couple wed in Yuma, Ariz., in 1940 and separated April 10, 1960.

A new process develops movie film in the camera.

City of Kuwait Back to Normal

Officials Believe Iraq Will Shelve Claim to Oil-Rich Sheikdom

KUWAIT (AP)—The city of Kuwait shrugged off the threat from Iraq and returned to normal today.

Officials generally believe Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem will quietly shelve his claim to the oil-rich sheikdom—at least for a while — because of the marked lack of support from other Arab governments.

With the temperature already in the 90's an hour after dawn, Kuwait turned its back on patriotic demonstrations of the past two days and returned to work. Crowds bustled in the fish market along the steaming waters of the Persian Gulf. Hundreds of flashy American and European cars, symbols of Kuwait's oil wealth, ferried between the city and the airport. At every corner groups of workmen waited for trucks to take them to the oil fields 30 miles inland or to the oil port north of the capital.

But the man in the desert was still excited. Lines of white-robed Bedouins in from the hinterland lined up outside the single-story post office in downtown Kuwait to hand in telegrams pledging support for their rulers, Sheikh Sir Abdullah As-Salim As-Sabah.

It was good business for the post office—and good business for the scribes who copied the telegrams for those who could not write. The telegram rush started three days ago and shows no sign of abating.

Helicopter Works Well in Checking Phone Lines
PETOSKEY (AP)—Use of a helicopter to check Michigan Bell Telephone Co. lines between Petoskey and Gaylord has proved successful and may be resumed in the future to determine extent of storm damage.

C. L. Johnson, regional manager, said a Michigan Bell repairman last Monday was able to check from the helicopter in a few hours a wilderness area which normally would have taken days to cover from the ground.

Red 'Security' Plans Forming in E. Reich

Officials Believe Iraq Will Shelve Claim to Oil-Rich Sheikdom

BERLIN (UPI)—East German head of state Walter Ulbricht said today that Communist East Germany and the Soviet Union are preparing unspecified "security measures" for use when a peace treaty is signed.

Ulbricht, whose formal title is chairman of the state council, the supreme governing body of East Germany, did not spell out the details.

But he called on the East Germans for "special efforts" to cope with problems that may arise with a treaty.

Previously, when the Communist East German leaders have referred to "security measures" they usually meant ways to cope with threatened economic blockades by West Germany. But the coupling of East Germany with Russia this time led observers to believe they were considering the possibility of military measures.

"Frankly," Ulbricht said, "the efforts that we must make and the possible difficulties in this connection weigh less than the danger that will arise if we wait (with a peace treaty) until the Bonn government is ready with its atomic armament.

"One must liquidate the atomists in time and not wait until the house is on fire," Ulbricht told a meeting of chemical workers the security plans are necessary because West Germany may launch "acts of disturbance" when the peace treaty is signed.

Jury of Women Decides: Guilty

Sarah Ragatz Will Be Sentenced July 31 for Killing Husband

Twelve women yesterday found Mrs. Sarah Ragatz guilty of manslaughter in the Feb. 13 shotgun death of her husband who dared her to shoot.

Mrs. Ragatz's jaw dropped apparently in disbelief at the verdict. Mrs. Marilyn R. Colton, foreman of the jury, announced after an hour of deliberation, that they had found the 30-year-old grandmother guilty as charged.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero set sentencing for July 31. The convicted woman remands free until then on a continued $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Ragatz, 6988 Ashland St., Commerce Township, took the stand in her own defense yesterday, to testify that the shooting of her husband, Ernest, 38, was an accident.

Ragatz, a truck driver, was shot once with a 12-gauge shotgun, a birthday present from his wife, as he arrived home after drinking. She insisted she didn't know the gun was loaded and was only playing "a joke" on her husband who told her, she said, "Go ahead, it isn't loaded."

About 800,000 Americans each year die from heart disease.

12-Town Drain Fight Subsides

Bids Can Be Sought in 20 Days Following Hearing Yesterday

County drain officials are looking forward to advertisement for construction bids and awarding of contracts after a public hearing on 12-Town Drain appointments went by yesterday without objections.

A. J. Berst, coordinator of the long-awaited and legally entangled storm drain to serve South Oakland County, said a wait of 20 days, required by law, is still ahead after the hearing in his Royal Oak office.

He said there were "no objections at all" from officials and citizens of the 12 communities to be served by the $47.5-million drain.

It was during the last 20-day statutory period in which the city of Madison Heights instituted its lawsuit, which went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, protesting its $2.5 million apportionment.

Berst said he expected no objections during the present waiting period.

Advertisement for bids should begin around July 20, he said, with the selling of bonds and awarding of 22 construction contracts by Oct. 15.

Since the City of Madison Heights upset the old apportionments, the price of the project has gone up from $44,000,000 because the State Highway Department "has asked for and has been granted" drainage benefits for the proposed Walter P. Chrysler freeway, Berst said.

Disarmament Office Asked by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy asked Congress today to establish a new disarmament agency which would expand and strengthen American efforts in that field.

He sent the House and Senate a proposed measure which would follow some lines of "peace agency" bills sponsored by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and other lawmakers.

Says Freedom Rides Communist Inspired

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi highway patrol investigators charged today "freedom riders" were Communist inspired, directed and encouraged.

Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong told a news conference at least two riders arrested during desegregation attempts in Jackson had participated in a Soviet-directed seminar in Cuba designed to teach students how to sit-in, walk-in, kneel-in and freedom ride.

The patrol chief said he had set up a special section to deal with communist influences in the state after digging into the background of the 163 freedom riders who were arrested since May 21.

Birdsong said the riders were "Communist-backed, paid in the hands of Communist powers that be."

Heat Derails UP Train

CALUMET (AP)—It was not enough in Michigan's Upper Peninsula Wednesday to derail a train. Nine-degree heat buckled a rail on the Calumet and Hecla line between Lake Linden and Calumet, causing the locomotive and eight cars of a 50-car ore train to go off the tracks.

The state of Delaware was named for an English nobleman, Lord De La Warr.

'Hot Rudder,' Rodder Are Holiday Villains

LANSING (UPI) — The "hot rudder" and the "hot rodder" will be two of the most vicious villains in Michigan during the coming holiday weekend, Secretary of State James M. Harbo said Wednesday.

"State and local police will be out in full force to keep down highway fatalities and accidents, but as usual, there will be too few enforcement officials available to keep reckless watercraft operators from endangering the lives of other boaters, water skiers or swimmers," Harbo said. The week starting Sunday has been proclaimed National Safe Boating Week by President Kennedy, Harbo said, and Michigan — "The Water Wonderland" — should be more aware than most states of the need for good habits and courtesy on lakes.

Possibly the world's only statue erected to the devil is in Madrid's main park, the Retiro. It represents the "Angel Caido," or "Fallen Angel."

Eichmann Still Denying Responsibility in Slaughter

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, denying for the eighth day on the witness stand all responsibility for the Nazi mass slaughter of Jews, today repudiated a Red Cross report that called him a powerful man in the vast plot.

"I had no role. I had no authority," testified the former Gestapo lieutenant colonel in charge of "Jewish affairs" in the Third Reich.

This was his reaction to a report made by the International Red Cross after a visit to the Theresienstadt concentration camp north of Prague early in April 1945, a few weeks before the Nazi collapse.

The report told of meeting with Eichmann at the edge of the Habsburg palace in Prague and described him as a man "who played a first rate part in all these concentration camps—a rich plenipotentiary in the SS."

DENIES AUTHORITY

To this Eichmann said: "no, I had no role whatsoever (in the camp). I had no function. I had no authority."

Defense counsel Robert Servatius quoted further from the re-

Weather Picture Mostly Pleasant Across Nation

By The Associated Press

Mostly pleasant weather prevailed across the nation today, except for a humid midsection and a hot Southwest.

Gusts of up to 46 miles an hour were reported in a thunderstorm at Alexandria, Minn., and Aberdeen, S.D., earlier recorded 53 miles per hour gusts accompanied by rain.

Thundershowers sprinkled western Minnesota, the Dakotas, the far northwest plains and western Kansas.

Continue Probe of Keyes Case

1-Man Grand Jury in Fourth Day on Alleged Ballot Conspiracy

LANSING (AP)—A one-man grand jury investigation was to go into its fourth day here today as an Ingham County judge probed an alleged conspiracy to get former Lt. Gov. Eugene C. Keyes back on the ballot last summer.

The investigation, asked by City, Gen. Paul L. Adams and Ingham County Prosecutor Lee A. Fushat, was being conducted by Circuit Judge Marvin J. Nelson.

The investigation resulted from a rejection by the Board of State Canvassers of Keyes' nomination for the primary election last August. The board turned down the petition as having an insufficient number of valid signatures and requested an investigation by Adams.

Keyes, a Dearborn physician, dentist and attorney, appeared at the closed hearing Wednesday in apparent good spirits despite an illness that has him in a wheel chair, he quipped afterwards to newsmen.

"They just asked me a bunch of stupid questions."

Wounded Four Times by the Same Bullet

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — John Kastner, 35, was wounded four times by a single bullet.

He was fishing with friends Tuesday when he dropped a .44-caliber side arm. The pistol struck a rock at Kastner's feet and discharged. The bullet struck the calf of his right leg, grazed his right thigh, nicked his right wrist and struck his upper right arm.

Kastner, hospitalized here, was reported in satisfactory condition.

A Japanese botanist succeeded in growing lotus plants from seeds that had been in the ground more than 100 years. The seeds were dug from a peat bog.

Bride Has Poolside Reception

Tahitian torches marked the approach to Birmingham Country Club for the poolside reception following the marriage of Ann Charlotte Crossander to T. Douglas Wuggazer Saturday evening in Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Birmingham. Rev. Theodore Wuggazer Jr., father of the bridegroom, performed the candle-light ceremony.

The J. Edwin Cronanders and Rev. and Mrs. Wuggazer, all of Birmingham, are parents of the newlyweds who left for a honeymoon at Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Seed pearls touched the princess-line bridal gown of white bouquet taffeta worn with shoulder veil of illusion and Swedish pearl crown. The bride held white roses.

Attendants in white silk organza banded with pink floral embroidery laced with blue satin ribbon, wore Dior head bows of pink organza. They carried nosegays of pink sweetheart roses.

Sally Phinney of Monroe was honor maid. The bride's security sisters Sally Wells of Birmingham and Barbara Mills of Grosse Pointe served as bridesmaids with Lynn Colby of Grosse Pointe and Gail Nesbitt of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

Rev. Duane T. Wuggazer of Stockton, Calif., assisted his brother as best man. In the usher corps were the bride's brothers Jon and Bruce Cronander, Gregg Hunt, Robert Kirchoff, Ronald Beyer and Dale Robinson.

The bride is a graduate of Michigan State University where her sorority was Gamma Phi Beta. Her husband is an alumnae of Western Michigan University where he was a member of the Varsity Track Team. The couple will live in Royal Oak.

MICHAEL SCZYGIEL

A master of science degree in communication sciences from the University of Michigan was awarded to Michael Sczygiel, son of the Michael Sczygiels of West Highland Drive.

It's off to South America for a 15-country tour today for these local members of the Michigan Chorale. Comprising five of the state's 75 teen-agers in the group are (from left) Sue Greenlee of Meadowleigh Lane, Richard Benninger of Orchard Lake, Barbara Griffin of Ogemaw Road, Kathy Harger of West Long Lake Road and Marlene Beale of Green Street.

Area chairmen for Waterford's part in the Pontiac Area United Fund Drive were announced by Mrs. Elmer O. Johnson (center) of Baybrook Drive, Waterford campaign chairman, at a luncheon Tuesday. The affair was sponsored by Thomas F. Wiethorn, general campaign chairman, at luncheon Tuesday.

Waterford Women Plan for UF

Appointments of Waterford area chairmen for the 1961 Pontiac Area United Fund Drive were announced by Mrs. Elmer O. Johnson, Waterford campaign chairman, at a luncheon Tuesday. The affair was sponsored by Thomas F. Wiethorn, general campaign chairman.

Personal News From Bloomfield

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — When Mr. and Mrs. Winston T. Kellogg settled in Birmingham just after World War II, they felt extremely lucky to find an old-fashioned house on Northlawn Drive overlooking the greens of Birmingham Country Club. The Kelloggs gave a large supper party to celebrate their home's 10th anniversary when they discovered how old it really was.

Now after the marriage Saturday of their second daughter who will have her reception in the garden, the Kelloggs will move East.

The house on Northlawn will welcome as new occupants Rev. and Mrs. Louis C. Gillette and their five children who plan to take possession in August.

Brian James Casey of West

Hartford, Conn., arrived Tuesday and with his bride-to-be Constance Andrae Kellogg will attend several parties in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Page Jr. who are here from Fairfield, Conn., have planned a cocktail party as have the Benjamin Brewsters. The rehearsal dinner will be Friday evening at Orchard Lake Country Club and Mrs. J. W. Gillette plans to have a "bridesmaid brunch" the day of the wedding.

Margaret Marr and Ginny Kimball flew to Spain Tuesday with plans to spend the summer touring Europe.

Mrs. John Chamberlain of Chula Vista, Calif., is the house guest of her brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Snyder of Colonial Court. Mrs. Norman Lyle entertained at luncheon Monday for the visitor and Friday Mrs. Maud B. Bestmeyer and Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas gave a tea in the Thomas apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben D. Mills are expecting Mr. and Mrs. John Asher of the eastern shore near Denton, Md., to spend a long weekend over the Fourth. Mr. and Mrs. Mills will entertain for their guests Saturday.

Ben Mills Jr. has left to spend most of the summer at camp in Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fresno (Susan Manning) announce the birth of a son John Hunter, June 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Comerford McLaughlin will entertain at a post-dinner buffet supper Sunday with the Arthur Oline Jr. at the Oline pool on Puritan Road.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson and their family are spending the holiday with the senior Wilsons at their summer home on Wallon Lake.

Slipper Steps Out

(UPI)—The bedroom slipper is stepping out of the house, say fashion experts. This summer it will be showing up at the poolside and on the beach in many fabrics. These will include terrycloth, sailcloth, checked gingham and woven straws, reports the National Shoe Institute.

Hubby Lacks Taste for Kisses

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband of nine years doesn't believe in kissing. He says it is unsanitary. He wasn't bothered by this unsanitary before we were married.

I don't know whether you can believe this or not, but he is by nature a very affectionate person. He is always hugging and squeezing me, and he shows me a lot of devotion, but he just skips the kissing part. How can I get him to kiss me?

WANTS TO BE KISSED. DEAR WANTS: Are you kissing sweet? Is he? Some men avoid kissing because they are conscious of their own cigarette or beer breath.

Don't sit around "wanting to be kissed." KISS HIM! He might develop a taste for it again.

DEAR ABBY: What is a wife supposed to think when her husband comes home and tells her that his secretary hit her knee on a file cabinet and she sat down and cried while he bargained it for her?

We have been married for 25 years, and I'm quite sure if it had been MY knee, I'd have had to bandage it myself.

WOLF'S WIFE. DEAR WIFE: What better proof could you want that your husband is not a wolf? If he were, he could huff and puff and she'd never have let him near her knee.

DEAR ABBY: My teen-aged daughter is simply driving me crazy. She has one of the most beautiful heads of hair you could ever hope to see — but the way she wears it is just terrible.

It is all rattled and matted and stiff with spray. It looks like a wig. And she looks like an old lady.

She is only 17, Abby, and this been going around about for almost a year.

Do you think I should let her do what she wants with her hair? She would be strikingly beautiful if only she would take my word on how to fix her hair.

TEEN-AGER'S MOM. DEAR MOM: A teen-ager's mom has so much to "go around" about when it comes to turning out her daughter, you would be wise not to split hairs.

Let her fix her hair the way she wants to. She has to please herself, not you. Use your energy to make her "beautiful" on the inside.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 19 years old I started going with a married man. I loved him and he loved me.

I stuck to this man because he kept telling me he would divorce his wife and marry me. He hasn't yet, and now I don't believe he ever will leave his family for me.

I am now 34, and all I have for the 15 years I played around with him is a bad name, a few presents and a broken heart.

I learned the hard way. Please, Abby, print this. It may help other young girls who think there is a future in loving a married man.

BROKEN-HEARTED. What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby at The Pontiac Press. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby at The Pontiac Press.

DEAR ABBY: My husband of nine years doesn't believe in kissing. He says it is unsanitary. He wasn't bothered by this unsanitary before we were married.

I don't know whether you can believe this or not, but he is by nature a very affectionate person. He is always hugging and squeezing me, and he shows me a lot of devotion, but he just skips the kissing part. How can I get him to kiss me?

WANTS TO BE KISSED. DEAR WANTS: Are you kissing sweet? Is he? Some men avoid kissing because they are conscious of their own cigarette or beer breath.

Don't sit around "wanting to be kissed." KISS HIM! He might develop a taste for it again.

DEAR ABBY: What is a wife supposed to think when her husband comes home and tells her that his secretary hit her knee on a file cabinet and she sat down and cried while he bargained it for her?

We have been married for 25 years, and I'm quite sure if it had been MY knee, I'd have had to bandage it myself.

WOLF'S WIFE. DEAR WIFE: What better proof could you want that your husband is not a wolf? If he were, he could huff and puff and she'd never have let him near her knee.

DEAR ABBY: My teen-aged daughter is simply driving me crazy. She has one of the most beautiful heads of hair you could ever hope to see — but the way she wears it is just terrible.

It is all rattled and matted and stiff with spray. It looks like a wig. And she looks like an old lady.

She is only 17, Abby, and this been going around about for almost a year.

Do you think I should let her do what she wants with her hair? She would be strikingly beautiful if only she would take my word on how to fix her hair.

TEEN-AGER'S MOM. DEAR MOM: A teen-ager's mom has so much to "go around" about when it comes to turning out her daughter, you would be wise not to split hairs.

Let her fix her hair the way she wants to. She has to please herself, not you. Use your energy to make her "beautiful" on the inside.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 19 years old I started going with a married man. I loved him and he loved me.

I stuck to this man because he kept telling me he would divorce his wife and marry me. He hasn't yet, and now I don't believe he ever will leave his family for me.

I am now 34, and all I have for the 15 years I played around with him is a bad name, a few presents and a broken heart.

I learned the hard way. Please, Abby, print this. It may help other young girls who think there is a future in loving a married man.

Figure's Like Weather

Find Fault?—Cope With It

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I suppose that we never know when we are well off, but there are times when I would settle for less rain. Of course, when it's hot and dry, rain is a welcome relief. But not long ago I thought we had enough rain for a lifetime, and even enough for all of the farmers all over the world, forever.

We had been trying to paint the floor of our porch for weeks, but did not have 48 hours without rain. So we couldn't put the porch furniture out. We couldn't plant flowers, either, for fear they would drown.

I have formed the habit of keeping a pair of rain shoes in my car, no matter what the weather bureau says. I also have a very glamorous umbrella so I can save my hairdo if a sudden downpour occurs.

Oh, well, nobody is ever satisfied with the weather. It is either too cold or too hot or too windy or too humid. The weather has a long history of providing conversation when other conversation stops. We should give thanks to the weather for this—or should we?

WORRY TOO MUCH

Anyway, this habitual and continual dissatisfaction with the weather reminds me of a woman's continual dissatisfaction with her figure. No matter how good either the weather or the figure is, there always is something wrong with it. Women with lovely figures worry about a little hollow here or a tiny bit of fat there.

Let us not be too hard to please but rather do what we can about both the weather and our figures. Cope with the weather with fans and air-conditioning, or heat and heating pads and electric blankets—and cope with the figure with diet and exercise. Unless we do something about it, we have not earned the right to howl.

On your mark, get set, go—for an attractive figure with this exercise.

If you would like to have let No. 37 "Grace and Charm" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Inform Stylist,
'It's My Hair'

If you have your hair done by an expert each week, don't let him stampede you into an unbecoming hair style just because it's the latest thing. If you have found a style which flatters you, stay with it. It can be brought up to date with slight changes every three or four months.

But to wear a hair style that does nothing for you is foolish. Explain to your stylist that it's your hair and that you will call the shots. Once he understands this, he'll most likely go along with you, after all, it's money in his pocket.

They Admit They Giggle and Waste Much Time

'We Are Not Silly,' Teen-Agers Maintain

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Inc.

"Youth is a silly, vapid state," wrote poet Carolyn Wells. But you teenagers simply do not see yourselves as Miss Wells — and many other adults — see you.

We asked more than 1,000 of you for your reactions to 10 common criticisms of teen-agers and you stoutly defended yourselves on nearly every count.

We're not frivolous or chat-terboxes, you say. Neither are we selfish nor concerned too much with sophistication.

We do have common sense and a knowledge of the value of money. But you don't claim perfection. Most of you say you waste time and most of the girls among you are willing to admit that they are hard to understand and that they giggle too much.

Two thirds of the boys and more than half the girls plead guilty to time wasting. How do they go about it?

Well, Margaret Fisher, 16, of Dallas, says teen-agers spend a disproportionate amount of time in the corner drugstore and watching TV.

Hours which might be spent studying miss Alice Bishop, 17, of Macon, Ga., and her friends as they sit around and talk or play records.

SAY THEY THINK

But even though they may let golden hours slip, teen-agers assert they also think about thoughts.

"Most teen-agers I know are serious in their views on many subjects such as religion, college, dating and popularity."

"Underneath our light exterior, we are as serious as anyone else — especially about the future," explains Marlene Rupert, 16, of Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

This does a lot to clear up the seeming contradiction of teen-agers claiming in one breath to be serious and in the next admitting that they giggle and laugh too much.

NOT TALKATIVE?

Speaking for most of them, Sherry Johnson, 17, of Dallas, isolated the giggling virus as generally a malady of the early teen years, most apt to break out among girls.

But the young people refused to sit giggling too much and talking too much, dabbling in not one of our faults, say 60 per cent of the boys and 60 per cent of the girls.

"We like to talk," says Barb Rostenbach, 16, of Davenport, "but no more than adults do."

Half of the young people protest they're not lazy and 60 per cent say they're not selfish.

Individual opinions as to the degree of selfishness among this country's youth range from 15-year-old Joyce Grimes' negative comment, made in Portland, Ind., that "Most kids think only of themselves, never try to help others," to the optimistic generalization of Cheryl Finley, 15, of Dallas that "most kids would do anything for a friend."

The laziness question also drew differing opinions.

Brenda Parker, 16, Mt. Pleasant, Mich., says teen-agers go through a stage where they don't want to do anything.

But Kathy Kohler, 15, Lincoln, Neb., says she can't consider teen-agers lazy since most get jobs during summer and after school.

THEY COUNT PENNIES

Kathy's answer also sheds light on why teen-agers (61 per cent) assert they know the value of money.

As Donald J. Smith, 17, Pomona, Calif., says:

"Most teen-agers I know care their own money and are well acquainted with its value."

The young people rejected the suggestion that they are too sophisticated by 75 per cent.

But they did not brush off the idea that teen-agers are hard to understand. Forty-four of the boys agree and 58 per cent of the girls.

Many parents don't understand their children because they have forgotten how they felt when they were young, Bob Brown, 17, Pomona, Calif., reasons.

Miss Must Foot Cost of Hotel

By The Emily Post Institute

A man who knows very well has recently been transferred to another city. He has invited me to come and visit him when I get my vacation.

He lives at a club and I will stay at a nearby hotel. I would like to know who pays the hotel bill.

Shouldn't he pay this since he has invited me and I am his guest?

A: You can hardly go to a hotel and have your bill paid for by a man without risking the wrath of the hotel.

Correctly, you pay your own hotel bill and he, of course, would take you out to meals and pay for any entertainment.

Q: My youngest son by a previous marriage is going to be married next month. The invitations read: Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Jane Smith to Mr. Henry Brown, son of Mrs. William Doe.

Shouldn't they have read, "son of Mr. and Mrs. William Doe"? My present husband feels very hurt because his name was omitted.

A: Correctly, the bridegroom's parents' names are not included on the wedding invitations. However, since the invitations were made up as you describe, "son of Mrs. William Doe" was quite right if your son is not the son of his stepfather.

Q: When friends call for us to go out for the evening is it necessary to introduce the woman we have engaged to stay with the children, or to them?

A: If she is in the room with your friends for any length of time, yes. If you merely go right out with them, no. In other words, you would not take them into the room, especially to introduce them.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Q: Is it considered proper, in the case of a young man and woman who have been going together for the past year, for her to act as hostess on occasion and pay for the evening's entertainment?

A: To pay for anything in his presence might be embarrassing to him, but it would be entirely proper to buy tickets to something beforehand and ask him to go with her as his guest.

Parents Blamed for Bad TV

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new president of the national PTA believes that in all the feuding and fustling over quality of television programs one element has been neglected — parents.

"Parents have a strong responsibility in the control of what their children are seeing on the home screens," said Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins.

"Television can't be a baby sitter."

"I shudder when I hear a mother say that 'Johnnie's all right for the next hour'... he's parked in front of the TV. To me, it's fine for television to amuse children, if mother knows what Johnnie is watching, and if she or daddy is watching with Johnnie."

Mrs. Jenkins, a grandmother of three, believes that many of television's aches and pains currently being investigated by a congressional subcommittee could have been avoided if those who appreciated good programming had said so — in writing.

"If the program is good," she said, "we should let the station... the network know we appreciate it. But the average American sits back and finds that all of a sudden the good is all gone and the poor is about all that's left."

IT'S OUR FAULT

"I'm not speaking just of children's fare. But of that for adults. To a great degree it is our fault, what has happened. We lost a lot of good programs because we didn't speak up and say we liked them."

Mrs. Jenkins discussed the content of television and movie material in an interview. She was named president of the 15-million member Congress of Parents and Teachers at its annual convention in Kansas City in May. Her home is at Roslyn Heights, a New York city suburb.

The president, wife of a warehouse company executive, will serve a three-year term without salary. The PTA will pay expenses for her travels, which she estimates will run close to $50,000 miles a year.

She said that in September 1959, PTA inaugurated its own television rating system — with parents in Illinois and California volunteering to evaluate the regular shows.

"We know," she said, "that Madison Avenue is aware of what we are doing... we have had much mail and comment."

She doubted that a similar program of evaluation for the movies would be feasible — "They're not the same as television which is in your living room at the turn of a dial."

She said, however, that the organization does carry a movie guide in its magazine, labeling films as adult, for older and children, the family, and so on.

The PTA president expressed hope that "Mr. Minow (Newtown Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission) would continue along the strong lines he set forth in his May speech." She referred to Minow's controversial talk before the National Association of Broadcasters.

"We've written him," she said, "that we are in full support of his efforts to turn a wasteland into a promised land. We've offered to do anything we can to help."

Get All Decked Out—in a New Paper Bonnet

Paper hats are no longer strictly New Year's Eve. This summer you may see them anywhere from the boulevard to the beach.

Now that a way has been found to convert paper into yarns narrow enough to be knitted, hat makers can treat this knitted paper with wet-strength resin for more practical toppers.

Some claims for knitted paper hats: They will be available in unlimited patterns, colors and styles; stand up under repeated washings and dry cleanings, withstand 330-degree heat and more than 5,000 pounds of pressure; resist salt water, outdoor weathering and punctures, and be inexpensive.

But makers of the new fabric say, all knitted paper doesn't have to go to your head. They predict it'll be used for carpet backing, automobile trunk and interior linings, reusable or disposable packages, draperies, slipcovers, dresses, coats and underwear.

Sturgis-Noell Vows Said at St. Michael's

Some 300 guests attended a reception in the Hotel Roosevelt ballroom following the nuptial high mass for Pauline Frances Noell to Carl R. Sturgis Saturday morning in St. Michael Church. Vows were spoken before Rev. James Hayes at the altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli and carnations.

The Andrew J. Noella of Alberta Drive and the Grover Sturgis of Going Street are parents of the newlyweds, now at home at White Lake.

White candelabra lace over satin, styled with chapel train, for the bride was touched with aquamarine and sapphire repeated in a crown which caught show-length illusion veiling. White orchids and roses comprised her bouquet.

White carnations and gold rosebuds complemented apricot children for nation of honor Mrs. Jerry Noell of White Lake and Debra Kay and Joanne Sturgis, flower girls.

Linda and Diane Noell attended their sister as bridesmaids wearing pale blue tulle. They carried white carnations and yellow rosebuds.

The bride's brother Jerry performed the duties of best man. Ronald Goldman and Donald Cole were groomsmen. Andrew J. Noell Jr. of Waterford and Clarence Foust ushered.

Yellow cymbidium orchids complemented Mrs. Noell's dress of beige nylon bordered with Chantilly lace worn with brown feather hat and brown accessories. A white pillow hat and corsage of pink cymbidium orchids contrasted with a blue lace sheath dress for the mother of the bridegroom.

Have You Tried This?

Chocolate Chip Cake Is Self-Frosting One

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In the past we have suggested that you include a cake with a baked-on frosting for your holiday picnic. Mrs. Orville Akin shares a recipe with us for just such a cake.

Mrs. Akin likes homemaking in general. She enjoys sewing and gardening both indoors and out. One son still lives at home while a daughter is married and has presented Mrs. Akin with four grandchildren.

CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE
By Mrs. Orville Akin

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup chocolate chips

Combine dates, hot water and soda and let stand until cool. Cream sugar and shortening, add eggs and vanilla and beat well.

Sift dry ingredients together and add. Add date mixture and half the chocolate chips and beat the mix. The batter will be quite stiff.

Pour into greased 8x11 pan. Sprinkle rest of chocolate chips and nuts on top of batter. Bake 40 minutes at 350 degrees. This is a moist cake that needs no icing.

Ice-Cream Social

The Friendly First General Baptist Church will sponsor an ice-cream social at the church grounds on South Star Street Saturday from 1 to 9 p.m. Hamburgers and hot dogs also will be served.

Mrs. Fred Emery is chairman.

Apply Eye Make-Up Correctly

Many women forget that facial expression is just as important to their appearance as a beautiful complexion or attractive features. According to a well-known beauty authority, the beauty requisite that can best emphasize and create the greatest amount of expression is eye make-up. It is important, however, to apply it correctly and in the proper sequence.

Begin with the eyebrows, which frame the beauty of your eyes. Shape the brows by following the natural contour, and even though you may have to pencil in most of the brow, make them appear natural by using hair-like strokes.

Eye shadow comes next and should be applied close to the base of lashes, then blended upwards with fingertip. Blending varies with bone structure and also with the occasion in mind.

Match or complement shades with eyes, costume, or jewelry. If eyes are deep-set, use lighter shades. Now, line your eyes using eyeliner on upper lids to give eyes new fashionably defined contour. Stroke color along lid next to roots of lashes, beginning at inner corner of eye and stroking outward in the desired shape.

If bottom lid needs lining, use eye pencil. Finish eye make-up with generous application of mascara to make lashes appear more luxurious and richer in color.

Rain Can't Ruin Your Crease Now

Wool Bureau Has New Chemical for Trousers, Skirts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new synthetic fibers introduced since the war have been giving the wool industry fits. Now the wool industry is fighting back with a chemical process said to put a permanent crease in wool trousers.

NOW IN USE

The Wool Bureau reports happily that 75 major manufacturers of men's suits and slacks are using the chemical which made its first appearance in the 1961 spring line. The bureau expects even wider use by fall.

Only the trousers are affected by the chemical process and then only the lower part of them — the place where the crease is. The finished wool fabric is sprayed with the compound, pressed flat and allowed to dry. From then on, the bureau says, the crease is there to stay.

RAIN HELPS

The legs extending below a raincoat on a rainy day can get wet, but the wetness only makes the crease sharper. The rest of the suit has to be pressed as always, but the bureau points out that it's the crease in the trousers that has always gone first.

The Wool Bureau, Inc., is a British Commonwealth organization, formed to boost wool sales from Australia, New Zealand and to some extent South Africa.

Things went smoothly until the new fabric inventions came along — synthetics that rarely needed pressing or shook themselves out when hung in the closet. Wool sales dropped even though some of the synthetics were combined with wool.

About that time somebody in the bureau got to thinking about women's home permanent waves and set scientists working on something along that line. The result was a chemical called monothioaniline which is sprayed with another called ammonium thioglycolate and marketed under various trade names.

The chemicals also result in permanently bleached wool aloes for women. The bureau says repeated dry cleaning does not remove the chemical.

There is no need for sterilizing and when the baby is finished the disposable bottle is thrown away. The innovation also will save mothers from the tedious daily chore of scrubbing and sterilizing bottles.

(UPI) — Maternity dress designer Dee Herzlinger, who is the wife of a coat and suit manufacturer, came up with an innovation because she was dissatisfied with the maternity apparel now on the market. The innovation: a "rip cord" seam which allows the slim dress to be let out as the figure expands.

Commutes Life Term in '40 Holdup-Killing

LANSING (U)—A 45-year-old convict serving a life sentence for his part in a beer garden holdup in which a killing occurred has been made eligible for immediate parole.

Acting Gov. T. John Levinaki announced Wednesday he has commuted the life sentence of the prisoner, Walter Furmanski of Detroit, to 60 years and four months.

Furmanski was convicted in 1940 of first-degree murder after he and a partner entered a Detroit beer garden, lined up the owner and four customers against a wall and searched the cash register.

A porter, Clarence Ates, was shot and killed during the holdup. Lesinski said it has been established that Furmanski was not the man who pulled the trigger.

Jail 2 Indiana Men After Bank Robbery

MARSHALL, @ — Two Indiana men were jailed here last night for investigation in the $7,941 robbery of the First State Bank of Tekonsha in Calhoun County.

State police and FBI agents said Walter Daniels, 31, of Gary, Ind., and Willie Williams, 48, who also gave Gary as his home town, were nabbed late Wednesday near Jonesville after a motorist told police they answered the descriptions of the bandits.

State troopers said all but some $400 of the loot was recovered. A pistol also was taken from one of the men, they said.

Wanted: Teachers

The Pontiac school district, joining other school systems throughout Michigan, is beginning to wave a banner that reads: "Needed — More Elementary School Teachers!"

At a time when more high quality elementary teachers are needed, fewer are being graduated from Michigan colleges and universities.

Although Pontiac hires more than 100 new teachers each year, teacher turnover is not the problem.

The problem lies in quality at specific levels. Pontiac schools lead in such fields as elementary special education, arithmetic and language arts.

This leadership creates a need for highly trained teachers and two steps are being taken to supply these teachers.

RECRUITS INSTRUCTORS

- 1) "Convert" secondary teachers to fill elementary school positions.
- 2) Go outside Michigan for quality teachers.

Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel, began his recruiting several months ago and has hired about 60 teachers to date.

He goes outside Michigan only when quality presents itself elsewhere. So far he has interviewed teaching candidates in 18 Midwest states.

The number of elementary certificates issued in Michigan this year dropped, but secondary certificates went up.

"Although teachers in these special elementary fields are hard to find, the fields of social studies and male physical education are overcrowded," Proud says.

"As in past years, we will have to use some secondary teachers in elementary positions. We don't like this in the sense that we want our teachers to be happy with what they're doing," Proud explains.

"But our largest concern must be for the children. If we hired elementary teachers of poor quality, both the schools and pupils would suffer."

SETS GOAL

"For instance, in the 1960-61 school year we had 41 male elementary classroom teachers. We have set our goal over 50 in September."

"It appears that most of these will be secondary trained people converted to the elementary level."

The "conversion" takes place at Pontiac's preschool teacher workshop Aug. 28-31.

"We average about 25 new teachers annually due to enrollment increases. The rest are replacements for those who retire or resign," Proud explains.

The average annual teacher turnover is about 8 per cent.

"The vast majority leave to have babies, get married, travel or because their husbands have accepted a job elsewhere."

"A year ago only 12 left for better jobs or pay. Seven of these went to colleges or universities and we cannot compete on the university level," Proud asserts.

'OUTSTANDING RECORD'

The same is true in the school year just concluded. Of about a dozen teachers resigning to accept other positions, only six are going to other school districts for better pay or higher positions.

"Out of more than 800 teachers, this is an outstanding record," Proud believes.

The problem of going outside Michigan for elementary teachers, however, has one advantage. Michigan ranks high in the average pay to teachers and Pontiac is above the state average.

According to the National Education Association Research Division, the average salary of classroom teachers in Michigan in the school year just concluded was estimated at $5,925 annually.

Teachers looking for a better average can look only to California, New Jersey, New York or Alaska. Michigan ranks fifth.

Report Baby Girl Born to Wife of Peter Townsend

PARIS (AP)—Capt. Peter Townsend and his wife are the parents of a baby girl, their first child.

A spokesman for the family said Wednesday she was born June 16 in a private maternity hospital near Paris and is named Marie Isabelle.

Townsend, now director of a Paris wine exporting firm, married Marie-Luce Jamagne of Belgium in December 1959, after his romance with Britain's Princess Margaret broke up.

Save Record Number of Pigs Per Litter

LANSING (AP)—Michigan farmers saved a record number of pigs per litter this spring, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.

The 1961 spring crop was 609,000 head, less than 1 per cent above the 1960 spring total. But the number of sows farrowed was 4 per cent less than the number a year ago, the service reported.

The number of pigs saved per litter averaged 7.43, compared with 7.13 in spring of 1960.

Southfield to Use State Drain Aid

SOUTHFIELD — The City Council here has reversed itself and accepted the Michigan State Highway Department's offer to share in the cost of constructing a major storm drain.

Advantage of the offer at this time will mean a savings of $200,000.

AREA NEWS

GERALD L. THORPE

An honor graduate of Wayne State University, Gerald L. Thorpe, of 892 Nichols Drive, Auburn Heights, has been awarded a graduate fellowship in social sciences and education from Harvard University's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Sigma Alpha political science honor fraternity.

Last week the council rejected the offer to build the drain on Southfield Road by a 5-3 vote, chiefly because it could not decide how to finance the project.

The reversal came after city engineers, Spaulding and DeDecker, Associates, pointed out that if the council waited to construct the drain after the Southfield Road and Northwestern Highway improvement projects are completed it would cost taxpayers $300,000.

The State Highway Department now will pay about 40 per cent of the cost of the drain project.

The exact method of financing the drain construction will be decided by the council in the near future.

The council, in another action, overrode Mayor S. James Clarkson's veto of a shopping center 11-Mile and Lahser roads by a 5-2 vote.

Approval of the rezoning from residential to neighborhood shopping had been given by the council last week but the mayor immediately vetoed the change because he had received petitions objecting to the rezoning from property owners.

Three and a half acres of the 6½-acre tract had already been rezoned from residential to commercial. The remaining property will be used as a site for a small shopping center.

Hoffa Enemy Is Beaten Up

FBI and Detroit Police Asked to Probe Attack on Utica Teamster

DETROIT (UPI) — The FBI and Detroit police were asked today to investigate the beating Wednesday of a Utica Teamsters Union member who two months ago had accused Teamsters President James R. Hoffa of roughing him up.

Meivin Angel, 36, of 47555 Jetway St., was beaten Wednesday by two men in a hallway of the city's convention center, Cobo Hall, where he was working.

He charged he was beaten in an attempt to keep him from attending the Teamsters convention in Miami, Fla., next week. He said he still intended to go to the convention and ask for permission to speak on "Hoffa-ism."

Angel said he and a fellow worker, hired to set up exhibits in Cobo Hall, went to a basement room Wednesday and that two husky men jumped him, beat him in the face and kicked him in the legs, back and stomach until he was unconscious.

The other worker, Raymond Moses, of East Detroit took Angel to a hospital for treatment, but Angel left and said he would see his own physician.

RECOGNIZES ASSAILANT

He told the FBI of the beating. He said he recognized one of his assailants as a man he has seen around Teamsters Local 299 headquarters, Hoffa's home local.

Two months ago, Angel claimed Hoffa had grabbed him by the throat and shaken him up when he went to see the union chief.

Later two detectives went with Angel to Local 299 headquarters to investigate the report and said they were roughed up by two Teamsters business agents.

Barnum Last Week, Now Bone as Playing Partner in Warwick Hills Tourney

Snead Must Be Attached to Those Host Pros

By MEL CORNWELL

GRAND BLANC — Sam Snead must feel some sort of attachment toward the home professional.

Last weekend at Blytheville Country Club, Stammin' Sam had two John Barnum as one of his playing partners for the first two rounds of the Western Open.

The 4th annual Buick Open golf tournament got under way this morning at sprawling Warwick Hills Country Club and you can't possibly guess who's paired with the Stammer.

That's right. You guessed it. He's playing with host pro Gene Bone.

This sort of thing is not designed to boost the hopes of a young pro like Bone, who has enough duties, responsibilities and obligations as the tourney host without being paired with a tournament-hardened veteran like Snead.

But that's the way the ball bounces, as they say, and it just happened that the pairings for the first two rounds were Bone and Snead together, along with Fred Hawkins.

Snead is one of the heavy favorites to win the $2,000 event and that little item alone would be enough to raise the confidence of a young club pro trying to impress the home folks.

The Stammer and Doug Sanders were prime favorites as the rich Buick tournament began its four-day, 72-hole run over the grand 1,500-acre Warwick Hills course where par is 36-36-72.

Snead has been playing extremely well this year and finished 2nd in the Western Open, two strokes behind champion Arnold Palmer.

Sanders, the PGA circuit-ruler, with the short backswing, also is in the midst of a hot streak.

He took 5th place in the Western and the week before that he wound up 2nd in the National Open at Oakland Hills, one shot behind winner Gene Littler.

Sanders is currently the 3rd leading money winner on the tour. Littler is not being ignored either.

Except for one bad round, the newly-crowned U.S. Open champ played well at Blytheville and he must be considered a definite title threat at Warwick Hills.

The nation's top touring pros whittled around Warwick last night in practice sessions yesterday, but reported scores were at a minimum because the majority of them played two, three and four shots from various spots.

Many of them also practiced exploding from Warwick's numerous traps and others gave their putting game a big workout.

The best reported score Wednesday was a 62 by Mason Rudolph. Burly Mike Soukhal is the defending champion and he must be regarded as a title contender again, although he played poorly at Blytheville.

Soukhal, who played only nine holes yesterday, is a power hitter and seems to thrive on the Warwick course.

Art Wall, winner of the 1959 Buick Open in a 15-hole playoff with Dew Flasterwald, is not playing well at all. Wall has been plagued by assorted injuries and illnesses for the past year and he's been unable to find his game again.

Flasterwald also is in the Prologer and he has no explanation for it. His game has lacked sharpness for several months and Dew can't seem to recover his

There was some question whether Billy Casper would tee off today. Casper, winner of the inaugural Buick event in 1958, injured his back in a proam tourney Monday in New York and his status was doubtful.

Casper was not expected to make a decision until he scheduled starting time. If his back felt OK, he would play.

At stake for the winner is $3,000 plus an additional $1,000 offered by Buick for remaining in Flint Monday morning to do a series of shortsequences for a high speed camera.

The extra grand involves four hours of work. The tourney is being filmed with about cameras and demonstrations by the new champion will be included in the Michigan's best pro will receive $250 and Soukhal receives $250 as the defending champion. The low scorers in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th rounds will receive $300.

With Jack Brewer serving as master of ceremonies, a public golf clinic was presented Wednesday afternoon on Warwick's 1st tee. Clinic instructors included Littler, Soukhal, Sanders, George Bayer and Jay and Lloyd Hobart.

Virtually all of the country's finest pros are entered, including 38 of the top 100 money winners. The two big names missing, of course, are Gary Player and Palmer, who rank 1-2 on the money list. Player and Palmer have bypassed the Buick test to compete in the British Open.

Today's starting field numbered 159 — 148 pros and 11 amateurs. Among the leading amateur entries were reigning NCAA champion Jack Nicklaus; Houston's Dick Crawford, two-time NCAA winner; Peter Green of Orchard Lake and Birmingham's Tom Driver.

Drysdale's Trouble Hurts Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you think the Los Angeles Dodgers are sitting pretty, just off the pace in that National League race, figure where they'd be if Don Drysdale was winning the way he was expected to win.

Big Don's been the big fly while the Dodgers have hung close to the top. The lanky right-hander, who never has come up with the 30 victories expected of him each spring, is not better than 55 at the moment—and he hasn't beaten a first division club in seven tries.

Fact is, Drysdale has been knocked out in all but four of his 18 starts, and one of those complete games was a rain-shortened, five-inning victory over Philadelphia. He's 3-0 against the last place Phils and 1-0 against both seventh place Chicago and sixth place St. Louis, the only three clubs he's defeated.

The young veteran missed again Wednesday night, failing to last three innings at Pittsburgh as the fourth place Pirates whipped Los Angeles 9-3. That kept the second place Dodgers from picking up more than a half-game on Cincinnati and the Reds came off with a 2-1 game lead despite dropping a doubleheader to the Chicago Cubs 16-5 and 7-2.

Third place San Francisco four times blew leads and wound up with a 7-7, 15 inning tie at Philadelphia in the longest night game (5 hours, 11 minutes) in major league history. Milwaukee moved over .500 for the first time since Memorial Day by slugging St. Louis 8-3.

The Pirates tagged Drysdale for four runs in the first inning on a bases-loaded triple by Dick Stuart and a single by Dick Schofield. Drysdale, losing his second in a row, gave up the Buck's first nine hits, walked three and was charged with six runs after leaving in a three-run third inning.

Southpaw Joe Gibson (6-3) beat the Dodgers for the third time in three decisions. He struck out seven, walked but one and allowed six hits, two of them solo home runs.

The Auburn Heights Sportsman's Club will hold a championship trap shoot July 4 at its grounds on Roberts Court. The shoot is open to the public.

POWER GRIP — Here's a closeup of the power grip of Derwood Tiger first baseman Norm Cash, who's currently leading the major leagues in hitting with a .375 batting average. A candidate for the triple crown, Cash has batted in 66 runs and socked 24 homers.

Michigan State students Tom Meyer and Jerry Oakland, both from Pontiac, turned in title winning performances in the MSU spring intramural championships. Meyer won the individual golf tournament and Oakland ran a leg on Rafter Hall's second place 880-yard relay team.

Duren Beats Yankees, 5-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ryne Duren had his moments when he was with the New York Yankees — saving the pennant clinching game of 1958, running up a string of 23 shutout relief innings in 1959, tying the major league record by striking out the first five men he faced as a starting pitcher last year.

But nothing of either relief ace ever did WITH the Yankees can match what he did TO the Yankees Wednesday night.

The big, fireballing right-hander had 'em hanging by their thumbs, striking out a down and giving up just three hits. He came within three outs of his first complete game in the majors as the last place Los Angeles Angels best New York 5-3.

What's more, Duren triggered a five-run sixth inning with a two-out two-run single—his first hit in 35 at bats going back to July 13, 1958—ahead of Albie Pearson's wrapup, three-run homer.

Duren's sweet taste of success, after being battered off to the Angels by the Yankees last month, dropped New York 1½ games behind the Yankees. The 17-year-old pitcher led by choking off Chicago's winning streak at the Angels, walling the White Sox 12-5.

Third place Cleveland split a two-game pair with Washington, winning 3-2 before the Senators took a 5-2 decision. Baltimore broke a tie with Chicago for fourth place by beating Kansas City 5-4. And Boston, despite only four hits, defeated Minnesota 6-2.

Duren (5-3), who had lost five of his last six decisions, four by one-run, allowed only two singles during the first eight innings as he faced the Yankees for the first time since the May 8 trade. Then, pressing and toughing, he gave up his fourth walk, to Roger Maris, leading off the ninth, and Mickey Mantle followed with his 20th home run. Jim Donohue mopped up in relief, retiring Yogi Berra, Phil Skovron and Johnny Blanchard in order.

Duren gave up the Yankees' first run in the fourth inning. Tony Kubek singled and came around on two infield outs, scoring from second when Duren was late covering first while retiring Mantle on a grounder. Berra also singled in the inning, for his 2,000th major league hit.

Bob Turley (3-5) was the loser, dropping his fourth in a row since May 3.

An error by losing pitcher Joe McCain (6-7) and a sacrifice fly by Mike de la Hoz produced three runs as Cleveland came from behind in the fifth inning of the opener. Jim Perry (7-5) was the winner. Dale Long then homered and paired with Marty Keough for RBI singles in a winning two-run sixth as Washington took the nightcap behind the five-hit pitching of Bernie Daniels (4-4). Jim Grant (7-2) lost his second in a row.

A Robinson runner by Earl Tipton capped a clinching fourth second inning for the Orioles at Kansas City and beat Jim Archer (6-2). Wes Stock (3-0) was the winner with 6 2/3 innings of two-hit, shutout relief.

Jackie Jensen's two-run single, in the first inning, and solo homers by Gary Geiger and Frank Malzone did it for the Red Sox as the Red Sox (5-3) breezed in with a five-hitter. Camilo Pascual (5-10) was the loser for the Twins, who got their runs on a home run and double by Bob Allison.

NEW YORK, N.Y. (AP)—The Yankees' first run in the fourth inning. Tony Kubek singled and came around on two infield outs, scoring from second when Duren was late covering first while retiring Mantle on a grounder. Berra also singled in the inning, for his 2,000th major league hit.

Bob Turley (3-5) was the loser, dropping his fourth in a row since May 3.

Wood and Boros Spark 12-5 Detroit Triumph Before 41,351

DETROIT (AP)—Don Mossi is headed toward American League comeback-of-the-year honors with good-enough-to-get-by pitching and a ton of courage in the eighth.

The Detroit Tiger southpaw won his ninth game in 10 decisions yesterday with another of his typical performances. He yielded 15 hits and labored through nine innings. But he finished with a 12-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox, who've won 12 straight games and 19 of 20.

A huge inside-day crowd of 41,351 — 19,715 paid—watched as the Tigers protected their lead in the tight pennant scramble.

Mossi threw a whopping total of 162 pitches, about 40 more than the average route-going hurler. The Tigers greeted Mossi with a 4-0 lead in three innings. The Sox touched him for one run in the fourth.

Despite runners reaching base in every inning, Mossi kept Chicago from scoring again until the eighth. By that time the Tigers led 9-1.

The Sox got two runs in the eighth and the Tigers countered with three more. Ray Shavers then rocked Mossi for a two-run homer with two out in the ninth.

The southpaw already has equaled his win total of last season, when he retired for the year in August with a sore shoulder. He was in the doubtful category over the winter, but showed Scheffing plenty during spring training.

He has showed even more with a 9-1 record since the start of the season.

Mossi has pitched 113½ innings and has given up more hits than any other pitcher—115. But he has surrendered only 44 runs, 36 earned, and has a 2.87 earned run average, lowest among Scheffing's regular starters.

Mossi left 11 White Sox on base yesterday.

While the Sox were tagging him for 16 themselves, Jake Wood led the attack with a 4-0 lead in three innings. He belted a two-run homer off loser Ray Herbert in the third. It was Wood's sixth and landed in the lower center field stands, 400 feet from home plate.

Steve Boros also banged out three hits and left his batting average back to .299. Every Tiger had at least one hit and Mossi chipped in with a pair of singles, driving in three runs.

The Tigers went ahead 3-0 in the second inning by Wally Pate's home run and Al Kaline's Mike Roemer and Al Kaline, plus a fielder's choice on a late throw home.

Wood upped it to 4-0 in the fifth with his homer, scoring both Boros, who singled.

On grass. Santa's game doesn't click, and he just to be the Seal of South Africa.

If the men's bracket seems wide open, no one seems to give any of the girls a chance against either Sandra Reynolds, slim, wide-eyed and pretty South African, or Margaret Smith, the tall, statuesque 17-year-old Australian champion making her first attempt to win Wimbledon. Both are through to the third round.

Praser, defending champion and seeded first, has been suffering from water on the knee.

Wednesday he was given a scare by Whitney Jack of Australia, Calif., and had to scramble to win in five sets, 5-7, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5. Red afterward said he was beaten by fatigue.

While Fraser was battling for his life on the center court, Laver, second-seeded and losing finalist for the past two years—was having an equally tense struggle against Pierre Darnon of France.

Laver finally won 5-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., today introduced legislation to make it a federal crime, punishable by up to 10 years in prison, to bribe an athlete to do less than his best in any sports contest.

He said the bill was drawn in collaboration with the National Collegiate Athletic Association as a sequel to the current college basketball scandal.

It would punish the fixing of any sports event, amateur or professional and covers team sports and others, such as boxing.

Keating's bill would create an automatic presumption that a bribe or offer of acceptance of a bribe to affect a sports event involved interstate commerce, thus subjecting it to federal prosecution.

In an accompanying statement, Keating described the bill as a "direct attack on the evil forces who attempt to corrupt college youths" or other athletes, as well as punishing those who accept the bribes or otherwise cooperate in such schemes.

The measure would hit both bribe payers and any contestant, coach, manager, assistant or official involved in a deal to fix a sports event. It would allow prosecution for any fifth amendment plea as a device to force a key but bulky witness to testify against ringleaders in such a deal.

King and Court Play Here Monday Tiger Infield Play Hasn't Suffered Yet

DETROIT (AP) — "The infield is going to let them down in the long run," is one of the faults often found of the Tigers. "It can't hold up with all those kids."

Manager Bob Scheffing thinks otherwise.

"Our infield is good now and will be one of the best in the league by September," said Scheffing. "It can hit, throw and is making the plays in the field."

The Tigers' go-with-young program has brought them the young infield in the American League. First baseman Norm Cash is the oldest at 26. Third baseman Steve Boros is 24 and second baseman Jake Wood is 23. Shortstop Dick McAuliffe is the newest member and youngest at 21. The infield averages out to under 24 years of age.

Only Cash was a major leaguer regular before this campaign.

The muscular first baseman is making a strong bid to win the triple crown. His .373 batting average and 46 runs batted in lead the league. His 52 homers put him in second place behind New York's Roger Maris.

But McAuliffe's sparkling hitting has taken some of the play away from Cash. The new shortstop has played in only eight games since arriving last week from Denver. He has hit in every game and owns a .368 batting average.

"He'll hit better than that," said Scheffing. "And his fielding is bound to improve as he gets experience."

McAuliffe has been weak on ground balls and has had trouble when it was necessary to make hurried throws.

"He's giving Chico Fernandez a chance to get his head ready," said Scheffing. "Once McAuliffe gets savvy he'll be fine. He has greater range than Chico and a better arm."

But what about relying on young McAuliffe in a heated pennant race? The rookie is less than a season out of Class A ball.

"If McAuliffe keeps up what he's shown us so far, I'll probably keep him in there. There's no better place to get savvy than in a pennant race. If he makes a mistake now, he'll never forget it."

"Of course, Chico is a pretty good shortstop, too. And he'll always be ready to go back in there."

Wood and Boros each batted out three hits in yesterday's 12-5 verdict over Chicago. Boros upped his batting average to .290 and made several sparkling plays in the field. Wood, with a two-run homer, now is hitting .278.

Catch John Cavaretta became the Tigers' 12th ejection of the season yesterday. The third base coach disputed a call strike with umpire Ed Hurley and received a quick thumb.

Here's how Scheffing described the banishment:

"Cavaretta said 'bear down.' Hurley replied 'shut up and start coaching.' Cavaretta said 'just want you to bear down.' Hurley came up with the thumb."

Tigers Sign Player for $25,000 Bonus

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers yesterday announced the signing of John Gregory, an 18-year-old Coalinga, Calif., pitcher, for a bonus in excess of $25,000.

Gregory, a 5-3 right-hander, is the brother of Leroy Gregory, who signed a bonus contract with the St. Louis Cardinals two seasons ago and now pitches for Charleston in the International League.

The Tiger bonus pitcher will be assigned to Denver of the American Association.

Herrington Pitches 5th Triumph for Spencer

John Herrington chalked up his 5th triumph in six decisions hurling Spencer Floors to a 3-1 verdict over Drayton Drug in the Waterford American League last night. He fanned 14 and allowed just three hits. A two-run hit decided the issue with Harry Dearborn's double scoring the clincher. Loser Bill Cooled had a four-hitter.

In the other softball game, Lakeland Pharmacy took Big Jim's 7-5 in the NL. A home run and single by Don Nichols led Lakeland.

Famous Feigner Will Oppose Local All-Stars

Exhibition Game Set for 8 p.m. on Football Grounds

Eddie Feigner, the king of softball pitchers, and his four-man team will be in Pontiac for an exhibition performance Monday at 8 p.m. at the Warner Stadium football field.

The traveling group will meet a Pontiac All-Star team made up mostly of men no longer active in city play.

Traveling throughout the world as "The King and His Court" since 1946, the quartet has piled up amazing records. Only 116 games were lost out of 1,587 played before 6,000,000 fans during an 11-year stretch.

They have conducted many clinics while competing in 45 states, seven Canadian provinces and on 15 foreign tours.

Feigner has been the big show all the way. He strikes out batters blinded, by throwing between his legs, pitching from 2nd base and throwing behind his back. In 1952 mound starts with 31,600 strikeouts, 118 perfect games, 356 no-hitters and 607 shutouts.

His longest contest went 34 innings. The opposition finally bowed to eighting hits, 19 walks and being victimized by 73 strikeouts.

Meade Kinzer handles Feigner's variety of pitches. Jerry Jones and Mike Mellicke the "rest" of the defense.

City softball official Charlie Irish will manage the All-Stars. Russ Hester will play 1st base, Stan Hester 2nd, Tom Pearson shortstop and Edgar Mullins 3rd. Tony Carvey will be in left field, Lou Say in center and Vern Keough in right.

Wes Roberts and Ken White have been selected as catchers. Pitchers Bill Cooled and a four-hitter, on the city staff will be Murr Morse, Percy McCommer, Alex Morland Pharmacy took Big Jim's 7-5 in the NL. A home run and single by Don Nichols led Lakeland.

Where Are They Now? Creekmur-Dependable

By The Associated Press
When things were going badly for the Detroit Lions a few seasons ago, Lou Creekmur sat on a stool in the clubhouse and said with great conviction:
"Pre football is a funny game. When you win, they call you an old pro. When you lose, they just call you old."

Creekmur was not so old a couple of years later, that the Lions urged him out of retirement because they needed a dependable lineman.

Creekmur was always that, a dependable lineman. He played 10 seasons with the Lions, and not once did he miss a game, either pre-season or regular season.

This "Iron man" from William and Mary played in every Pro Bowl all-star game from 1951 through 1958.

During his years with the Lions, the team won three world championships and twice finished second. It was Creekmur who often opened up the holes that let the Lions' runners get through the enemy defensive line.

Creekmur retired after the 1960 season to devote full time to his business and family.

But in mid-season the following year, coach George Wilson needed help and he persuaded Creekmur to rejoin the club.

Where is he now?

Late Rally Gives Pontiac Nine Victory

Merchants, Don's Get Baseball Wins

A four-run rally in the last of the sixth inning carried Pontiac Merchants to a 11-8 Class A City League baseball victory over CIO Local 304 Wednesday at Wm. Field.

Don's Used Cars of Lake Orion topped Oxford 8-2 in the Class B contest.

Three walks, a hit batter, an error and a single by Jim Wiscombe gave the Merchants their winning fourth run. Mary Caswell, who held CIO scoreless in a three-inning relief stint, picked up the win.

Chuck Johnson picked up three hits for the winners. Nick Neris and Jerry Hill had three each for the union team.

Lake Orion raced to a 4-1 lead in the first innings and coasted to its victory. Dean Callison spaced nine Oxford hits. Jim Hurd had two hits for Don's, which was aided by five Oxford errors.

Howard Merzino got two hits for the losers.

Ed Danton hurled a five-inning no-hitter as his Moose team

Delock Takes Anger Out on Minnesota 9

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Boston Red Sox pitcher Ike Delock threw a five-hitter to beat the Minnesota Twins Wednesday night—but his anger at a "steal" pulled on him Tuesday.

He told police $300 in personal possessions were taken from his hotel room during Tuesday night's doubleheader, most of it jewelry.

Mrs. Falco Metro Winner

A sudden-death playoff was required Wednesday as Mrs. W. N. Falco won the weekly Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournament at Bob O'Link Golf Club.

Mrs. Falco, Mrs. Joseph Koss and Mrs. Charles Fox concluded their regulation 18-hole rounds in a deadlock for 1st place at 81 and had to wage a playoff to settle the issue.

A par on the 3rd extra hole gave the title to Mrs. Falco.

Four women tied for 4th spot with 82s. They included Mrs. Midge Cova, wife of the Bob O'Link pro; Mrs. Douglas Graham, Mrs. W. D. (Edith) Wright and Mrs. Walter Wright.

Other leading scores in the championship flight were 84s by Mrs. John Menefee, Mrs. C. L. Zahn and Miss Phyllis Chandler.

Mrs. L. E. Carney won the first flight with an 87. Second flight honors went to Mrs. N. W. Froehlich, who shot 92, and Miss Eleanor Lowell had 95 to win the third flight.

Cleared of Fix Charges

Spivey Signs Contract With Cleveland Pipers

CLEVELAND (AP)—"This is something that should have happened to me in 1951 or 1952."

So said Bill Spivey, whose future in basketball was clouded when he was accused of being implicated in a wave of fixed basketball games 10 years ago.

Spivey was referring to his signing Wednesday by the Cleveland Pipers of the new American Basketball League as a player next season.

The 7-foot former University of Kentucky star was named to the All-American team in 1951 when he was a junior. He seemed a shoe-in for the same honor the next year.

But two of his teammates, Walt Hirsch and Jim Lane—who twice had testified before a New York grand jury without naming Spivey, finally said he had accepted money along with them to fix a game.

Spivey appeared voluntarily before the grand jury and denied the charge. He was indicted for perjury, but was acquitted in a trial in 1953.

But the National Basketball Association barred him from entering as a player.

George Steinbrenner, president of the Pipers, said he had asked the ABL officials about signing Spivey and was told to go ahead if convinced, after a complete investigation, that Spivey was in Newport News, Va.

Howe's Heads Softball Victors

Others Win Close City Tilts; Santelli Hurts CIO One-Hitter

Howe's Lanes was the only team to have an easy time among four city softball victors Wednesday night.

Huron Bowl nipped Griffin's Grill 5-4 and CIO took Adams TV 1-0 in other National League games.

Hi-Way Collision downed Metro Club 8-6 in the lone AL affair.

Howe's scored seven runs in the first three frames and coasted along despite the shaky pitching of Dick McCoy. Earl McKee had a homer, triple and single and Jim Reynolds homered for the winners in an 8-2 conquest of 1st Presbyterian.

Huron came from behind with four in the 3rd and clinched the win in the 5th on Bill LaRose's single and an outfield error. A single by Sam Reeves, a sacrifice and winning homer Al Santelli's single won it for CIO. Santelli hurled a one-hitter and walked three.

Hi-Way broke a 1-1 tie with 6 in the 3rd but had to hold on for dear life the rest of the way. Victor Doug Hall hurled two shutout innings after Metro tallied five times in two frames. Hall's triple was the big blow of the six-run inning.

Top Contenders in July 4 Rifle River Canoe Event

Widings in Big Race

A canoe racing team from Oakland County will be among the favorites when the annual Midwestern International Race gets under way next Tuesday morning on the Rifle River.

Albert and LeRoy Widing of Holly will slip their craft into the water along with about 35 other teams.

The race starts in the Rifle River area, two miles east of Rose City in Ogemaw County, and ends 15 miles downstream.

at Omer, nine miles northeast of Standish.

Racing on the Rifle is nothing new for the Widings. They won the event in 1958 and have been the last few weekends for this year's run.

This race is second only in Michigan to the big An Sable event which will be held in August.

STRONG TEST
Many consider the July 4 race to be a more severe test of canoeing than the one held on the An Sable.

This is one race where contestants getting wet is the rule rather than the exception. The stream between Selkirk and M-53 is where most of the mishaps take place.

ROUGH START
The 35-mile Grayling to Oscoda race on the An Sable isn't too difficult after the first 25 miles. After that the race becomes an endurance and speed run. The many dam backwaters needing crossing takes muscle on the paddlers and the fact that part of the marathon is at night means contestants must know the river.

The Rifle River race will start about 10 a.m. and end late in the afternoon at the US-23 bridge in Omer.

There are several places early in the race, when the canoes are bunched, to watch the teams paddle downstream. Sage Lake Road Bridge will be the first location after the start, then comes Iron Bridge Road, Selkirk, M-53, Greenwood Road, M-72 and other county roads along the river.

Several public fishing sites along the river in the upper reaches make "between bridges" viewing possible.

Sable. They claim the Rifle is a test of skill whereas the An Sable is more an endurance run.

The Rifle runs out of Devoe Lake and the first 10 miles of water comes with the stretch of the Clinton River between Selkirk and M-53, but the limestone shelves five miles below this bridge are difficult to navigate. The going gets easier below Greenwood Road.

Beginning at Selkirk, the going gets rougher. Rapids, large rocks, shoals and sharp bends mark the course. The stream begins to slow and widen below M-53, but the limestone shelves five miles below this bridge are difficult to navigate. The going gets easier below Greenwood Road.

Several public fishing sites along the river in the upper reaches make "between bridges" viewing possible.

The Rifle River race will start about 10 a.m. and end late in the afternoon at the US-23 bridge in Omer.

There are several places early in the race, when the canoes are bunched, to watch the teams paddle downstream. Sage Lake Road Bridge will be the first location after the start, then comes Iron Bridge Road, Selkirk, M-53, Greenwood Road, M-72 and other county roads along the river.

ART STANFIELD

By Art Stanfield

Skin and Scuba diving are family sports.

They are as safe as any form of active recreation if a few common sense, but vital, precautions are taken. I know of nothing else that offers such an infinite variety of thrills, surprises and excitement along with healthful exercise.

The difference between skin and scuba diving is simple. Skin diving, in one form or another, has been known since the first primitive man submerged himself and breathed through a reed while sneaking up on a tasty bird or seafood dinner. Homer's Iliad tells of divers swimming to the bottom of the sea to gather oysters, sponges and coral.

Modern skin diving is done with fins, face mask and snorkel. Scuba is pretty well described by the words from whose initials the term was manufactured: Self Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus.

In Scuba, in addition to the regular skin diving equipment, a tank containing filtered, high pressure, compressed air and a demand type regulator are employed.

The beginner must master skin diving before advancing to Scuba. He must be a good swimmer. Preliminary instruction should be given in a pool, at the shallow end. Never dive alone and always wear a safety float. The most popular safety float is the belt.

This is a belt that inflates itself when the end is squeezed to puncture a CO2 cartridge.

At I stress in my work with the AMP-Volt Rubber Corp., the CO2 cartridge should always be removed and examined before use, to make sure it is in good working order.

NEAT: The mask.

BEGINNERS should be taught at pool's shallow end.

ILYA Junior Crews to Race July 30th

Two additional Midwestern yachting associations—Lake Michigan and Inland Lakes—will be competing at the Inter-Lake Yachting Association's sixth annual Junior Race Week, July 30-Aug. 3, at Put-In-Bay, Ohio, according to Inter-Lake Commodore Al Mastics of Cleveland.

The crews will race against the young sailors from the areas under the jurisdiction of the Inter-Lake, Detroit River and Ohio Inter-Club Yachting Associations in a round robin which determines the area title and serves as the regional eliminations for the North American Sears cup crown.

Before the top crews of the five associations engage in their semi-finals, junior crews representing ILYA's member clubs, boys and girls aged 13-18, will open Junior Race Week with their series for the ILYA junior sailing championship. At stake will be the William H. Miller trophy and a $500 scholarship to the college of the winning skipper's choice.

Check Approved Label for Life Preservers

When you're in the market for life preservers or cushions, the Evimrade Boating Foundation advises to make certain they bear the attached tag: "U.S. Coast Guard Approved."

After an outing the safety cushions and life jackets may be wet or damp. In order to keep them in top shape and retain their buoyancy characteristics, they should be dried as soon as possible. This will prevent rot, mold and possible extensive damage.

ALUMINUM CRAFT — Plans of aluminum are applied to the hull of a cruiser just as though they were wood. A new line of pleasure craft for next year will combine American and Canadian manufacturing facilities using elaborate aircraft production lines to turn out new 28 to 46-foot cruisers.

Pleasure Boats Improved by Aircraft Engineering

TORONTO (NEA)—Aircraft engineering has come down to earth lines to improve pleasure boats for next year. Old building methods have been streamlined for a new line of cabin cruisers scheduled to appear next spring.

The boats will range from 28 to 46 feet long and will have conventional lines. But they will be made of plated aluminum. Long one-piece planks will be screwed in place just as a wooden plank would. Each will be sealed in place with the new wonder adhesive, thickol.

There is nothing new about aluminum boats. Some craft made from this metal over 30 years ago are still in successful service, and aircraft forming techniques have long been used to build them.

After the war, surplus aircraft metal was bought up for boat building, and almost gave the field a bad name. Metals that can fly through the air may not do well sitting in salt water. Some of those early surplus material models were almost dissolved by corrosion.

All aluminum used in boats today is a special alloy called 6062. Magnesium added to the material virtually corrosion-proof. It also makes possible this new cruiser line of light strong craft that will require minimum maintenance.

And the planking of the metal is a major construction breakthrough. Two firms well known in their own fields will cooperate on the project. The Richardson division of United Marine, a quality American boat builder of wooden cruisers, is supplying its plans. Avco Aircraft of Canada, long famous for its aircraft, will employ its massive stretchers, forming presses, heat treating ovens, and production lines to turn out the hulls.

Cabin house and interior arrangements will still be built of wood in the States by Richardson, and in the hands across-the-freight-horizon arrangement, the cruisers will then be assembled for sale in the United States and Canada as well.

Boats have never been built just this way before, but neither have per of the Collegeville (Pa.) Flag Co., said his firm's line of Confederate flags ranging from $9.95 to 6 by 8 feet are selling very well.

Why the interest in these toys?

"Americans are more history-minded than ever," says James J. Shea, president of the Milton Bradley Co. of Springfield, Mass., a leading games publisher. "Not since the Civil War have American families shown so much interest in games of strategy and maneuver."

One last note:

Farker Bros., Inc. of Salem, Mass., reports sales of over 100,000 in the first few months for its 1863 Civil War game, one of a few that can be won by the South.

MAD HATTER—When you serve this meringue and strawberry dessert, your guests will hate to cut into the "hat." The feature of the masterpiece is the crown of Michigan strawberries which are in season now.

Dressing Base Is Beef Broth Glamorized

Just as clothes make the woman... salad dressing makes the salad!

There are many kinds of salad... from a simple hearts of lettuce to a spectacular molded fruit salad... but the most popular of all is the mixed green salad. Still, you can toss together any combination of two, three or four choice garden greens... don't forget some of the less used ones like romaine and escarole. It's real success depends on the dressing, which points up and blends with the salad ingredient.

One dressing that will set a new trend in Dressing Superb... canned condensed beef broth is the secret. It's low calorie, too, for those interested in slimming down and setting a new fashion trend of their own!

Dressing Superb
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed beef broth
2 tablespoons chili sauce or ketchup
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon grated onion
1/2 cup creamed blue cheese, if desired
Combine all ingredients. Shake well and serve over crisp salad greens. Makes about 1 1/2 cups dressing.

Pick Your Utensils

For oven cooking, choose utensils that fit into the oven without interfering with heat circulation. Home economists at Michigan State University say pans should not touch each other nor the sides of the oven.

Hat Full of Strawberries Delights Eye and Palate

Michigan strawberries, those American Beauties of fruitdom are on the market now, with their blushing, red color and their rich, delicious flavor. The Michigan growers let their wonderful strawberries ripen on the vines, praise be, so they come to market at the peak of perfection. And, because 1 cup of these beauties yields only about 54 calories, yet has enough Vitamin C for 1 day's needs of any adult, these Michigan strawberries provide both mighty good eating and good nutrition "in depth," as the saying goes!

Shopping experts tell us to look for berries that are fresh, fully ripe and firm, with a glossy red sheen, no sign of mold and no spots of white or underripe green. Pick strawberries over as soon as you get them home, and select for immediate use any bruised or soft berries.

Place the firm, fully ripe berries on paper plates in the refrigerator. Do not wash berries until just before using, then wash them gently under cold water to drain dry, then remove the caps.

Use them in your own favorite shortcake or other recipes, and please do—try this new, simple and simply delicious strawberry recipe.

STRAWBERRY MAD HATTER

Hat Base
4 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white vinegar
1/2 cup fine, granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Filling
3 cups fresh Michigan strawberries
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup whipping cream, chilled
2 tablespoons instant vanilla sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Pre-heat oven to 350 degrees.
To make "hat" base, have egg whites at room temperature. Add salt and beat until almost stiff. Add vinegar a drop at a time alternately with fine, granulated sugar a teaspoonful at a time; beat well after each addition; add vanilla; beat until very stiff peaks form.

Cover cookie sheet with brown paper; in center of paper draw a 9-inch circle. Spread a 1/2-inch thick layer of meringue over entire 9-inch circle; make a slight depression in center for the "crown." Carefully build up the crown with the remaining meringue as high as desired. (Note: a cylinder of brown paper securely fastened may be placed in position as a support for the built-up crown of meringue and may be carefully removed when meringue is cold.)

Bake in a 250 degree F. (slow) oven about 1 1/2 hours. Turn off heat, open oven door and let meringue cool completely in oven. Peel off paper and place meringue "hat" on an 11 or 12-inch cake plate.

Meanwhile, prepare filling. Wash strawberries; pick out 6 or 8 larger ones for garnish. Remove hulls from remainder of strawberries, then slice fruit and combine with granulated sugar. Pile into crown of meringue hat. Whip cream, adding confectioners sugar, vanilla and green food coloring. Use to decorate crown and brim of meringue hat; garnish with whole berries.

Dish Has Everything Pancakes - Hash - Cheese

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pancakes, corned beef hash and cheese combine in a spring luncheon dish. Prepare 8 pancakes from a mix. Bake on griddle, brush each with melted butter, and fold in half, filling with hot corned beef hash. Place filled pancakes in a buttered casserole, top each with a slice of process cheese and bake about 10 minutes in a preheated 350-degree oven.

Paprika Adds Gay Touch to Many Foods

Great-grandmother—If she lived in America—probably never used paprika in the course of her lifetime. Today, however, we use about 12 million pounds of this brilliant spice. Paprika is right up there among the first five of America's favorite spices.

Paprika does for dozens and dozens of dishes what rosy cheeks do for a tree-top apple—makes food look good enough to eat. We should be able to enjoy our food with all of our senses: its color, shape and arrangements should delight the eye. Crispness, smoothness please the sense of touch. Fragrance excites the appetite as much as does the taste.

Keep paprika close at hand; you can use it to garnish foods for every meal. Dash some on the breakfast scrambled eggs. At lunch time send a cheese omelet to table with a rosy-red dash of paprika. Shake up a tomato juice cocktail with a little paprika to intensify the tomato color and increase the tang of the tomato.

Pork and beans, salad dressings, meat, fish, chicken, potatoes, noodles, macaroni and a long list of creamed dishes all look more attractive, more appetizing if you'll remember to reach for your container of paprika.

Fresh Asparagus Shortcake
12-ounce package corn muffin mix
1/2 cup fresh asparagus, cooked
1/4 cup Paprika Cheese Sauce
12 slices crisp bacon
Mix corn bread as directed on package. Bake in two 8-inch square pans. (Bread should be about 3-inch thick when baked.) Put corn bread layers, asparagus and cheese sauce together in shortcake fashion. Cut into squares and serve with crisp bacon, if desired.

Paprika Cheese Sauce
Yield: 6 servings
3 tablespoons butter, margarine or bacon fat
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup paprika
1/4 cup onion, minced
1/4 cup ground black pepper
1/4 cup melted sharp American cheese
1 teaspoon paprika
Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Remove from heat and stir in milk. Return to heat. Stir and cook until mixture begins to thicken, 5 to 10 minutes. Add salt, black pepper, cheese and paprika. Yield: 6 servings.

Toasted Paprika Frenchie
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup grated mild American cheese
1/4 cup paprika
1/4 cup onion, minced
1/4 cup ground black pepper
1/4 cup melted sharp American cheese
1 teaspoon paprika
Soften butter or margarine and blend with cheese, salt, cayenne and paprika. Trim crust from bread and spread with the paprika cheese mixture. Roll in jelly roll fashion. Hold edges in place with toothpicks. Toast under the broiler.

er. Cut into crosswise halves, if salt and cayenne. Beat egg whites, hot fat. Fry in hot deep fat pre-until stiff and fold into the cheese heated to (275 degrees F.). Drain mixture. Allow to stand 5 minutes to stiffen slightly. Drop by round, ed teaspoonful into bread crumbs, salad accompaniment. Yield: Ap-Lift out with fork and drop into approximately 2 dozen.

Paprika Cold Ham Mousse
2 packages unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 egg yolk, beaten lightly
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mustard
Dash cayenne
1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard
1 cup hot water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped cooked ham
1/2 cup paprika
1/2 cup onion, minced
1/2 cup parsley flakes
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
Watercress
Mayonnaise

Soften gelatin in cold water and set aside. Combine egg yolks and seasonings in top of a double boiler. Gradually stir in water, bouillon cube and milk. Cook over hot water 15 minutes or until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in softened gelatin, ham, paprika, vinegar and parsley flakes. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in whipped cream.

Turn into a 6-cup ring mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Just before serving, unmold onto serving plate. Serve with watercress and mayonnaise, if desired. Yield: 8 servings.

Fried Cheese Balls
1 1/2 cups (one pound) grated mild cheese
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup paprika
1/2 cup onion, minced
1/2 cup very fine cracker crumbs
1/2 cup powdered mustard
Blend together cheese, flour,

Smidgin of Saffron Ads Spanish Touch to Spuds

Saffron rice is a well-known Spanish offering. Try these saffron potatoes to go with meat balls or sausages. Slice raw potatoes very thin, slice half as many onions, add to hot olive oil to which a pinch of pulverized saffron has been added. A few chopped almonds may also be placed in the pan with the potatoes.

Cover, cook over a low flame until potatoes are lightly browned; with a spatula turn over potatoes until well-browned, keeping heat low. The olive oil gives the potato-onion combination delightful flavor. (If you have no saffron, use paprika instead for much the same effect.)

Ham Toast

Chop some lean ham fine, put it in a pan with a little pepper, a lump of butter and 2 eggs beaten; when well warmed, spread on hot buttered toast and serve.

Vanilla Brings Out Flavor of Oven Baked Bananas

This easy dessert combines two of America's very popular products from the tropics: pure vanilla and ripe bananas.

For 4 servings, peel and cut 4 bananas in half lengthwise. Arrange in a shallow baking dish. Combine 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 4 teaspoons fresh lemon juice and 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Four over bananas. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 F.) 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly brown. Serve as a dessert.

Interesting topping: Use rum as part of the liquid in a confectioners sugar frosting for coffee cake.

PARTY FIREWORKS—Feature these delightful little pastry "firecrackers" filled with chicken salad and topped with mayonnaise and green pepper strip for your Fourth of July luncheon. They are easily made with the aid of quilted broiling foil.

Fill Pastry Firecracker With Chicken Salad

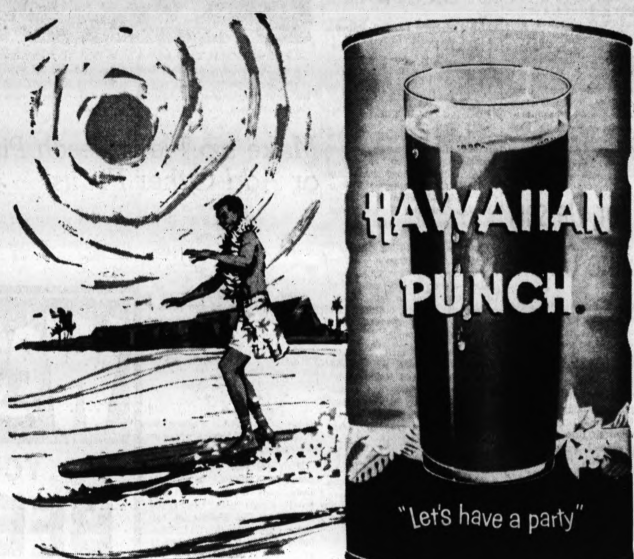

What could be more appropriate, roughly. Add to cornmeal and flour; blend well. Combine and add, cat-sup and oil. Dough will be stiff. Wrap in broiling foil and chill.

Cover core from package of broiling foil with a lengthwise strip of foil, securing by tucking ends inside tube. Oil slightly. Divide dough into 12 parts. Press out rectangles approximately 6 1/2 x 3 1/2 on slightly oiled strip of foil. Edges can be fairly even if pressed against a spatula. Roll onto foil covered core, overlapping dough, then foil over it. Rest ends of core across shallow pan.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Remove foil covering; continue baking 10-15 minutes longer, or until Firecrackers seem almost dry. Cool completely. With gentle twisting motion, slip from core. Fill with chicken salad, top with mayonnaise and place a strip of green pepper for fuse.

Green cabbage salad tastes good and looks attractive when it is garnished with sliced cooked beets—plain or pickled.

Opera Star's Specialty Creamy Chicken Paprika

For most of us, company dinners are special occasions. Not so in the Long Island residence of opera soprano Eleanor Steber. Guests are the rule rather than the exception when the diva and her husband, Major Gordon Andrews, dine at home. And when she entertains, Eleanor Steber does the cooking.

The star has prepared her favorite dishes often enough to make them without a glance at a recipe. One specialty that always delights friends is this delicious Chicken Paprika. The recipe may look involved, but you'll find it quite simple to fix.

After the chicken parts have cooked until tender, a luscious sour cream sauce, combining strong, dark coffee with paprika, is poured over. A few minutes later, your Chicken Paprika is a beautiful golden-brown, flat noodle.

One for Dessert Save the Other

Just for morale, even the strictest budget should be stretched a little extra-goodly to permit an occasional goody as a reward. The principle is the same as with diets: a small splurge now and then makes it easier to toe the mark the rest of the time.

Where the food budget has been pared, a homemade coffee cake will do much to turn meals into something special without adding very much to their cost. And because the recipe below makes two layers, it can cut corners by being used two ways: as a simple dessert for the evening supper, and as the piece de resistance of breakfast the morning or so later.

Crumb Coffee Cake
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup margarine
1 cup very warm water
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
2 cups sifted flour
Sift milk, stir in sugar, salt and 1/2 cup margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure very warm water into bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in Fleischmann's Yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, beaten egg and 2 cups flour. Stir until well blended, about 1 minute.

Turn batter into 2 greased 8-inch cake pans. Sprinkle with Crumb Topping, below. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 30 minutes. Makes 2 cakes.

Crumb Topping: Cream 1/2 cup margarine to soften; gradually add 1/2 cup sugar and cream well. Blend in 1 egg yolk, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 tablespoon cinnamon and 2 tablespoons water. Mix well. Sprinkle over batter.

Nutty Flavor

Add a new flavor to your favorite meatball recipe; mix a few tablespoons of smooth or crunchy peanut butter with ground meat and seasonings; shape into small meat balls and saute lightly in peanut oil.

Chicken Paprika lends itself to buffet dining if your guest list is longer than your dining room table. Accompany with a crisp salad, and, as in the Steber-Andrews' home, set out hot, fresh coffee in your reticent coffee pot. Many people like to sip a cup during their meal, then follow it up with a second cup when dinner is over.

Eleanor Steber's Chicken Paprika
1 frying chicken (2 to 3 lbs.), skinned
2 small onions
3 or 4 paprika sprigs
2 teaspoons salt, divided
2 tablespoons oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup strong coffee
1/2 cup cold sour cream
Place giblets in saucepan with 2 cups water, onion, parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, peppercorns and bayleaf. Simmer 1 hour. Cook chicken until tender, 2 to 3 hours. Remove onion, leaving fat in skillet.

Combine flour (using all but 2 tablespoons), 1 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons paprika in paper bag; shake chicken pieces until coated. Brown well in fat. Add 2 tablespoons giblet broth. Cook chicken, covered, slowly 35 to 40 minutes or until tender.

In saucepan, melt 2 tablespoons fat. Blend in 2 tablespoons flour. Add 1 cup giblet broth, cream, coffee and 4 teaspoons paprika. Stir over low heat until smooth and thickened. Add sour cream gradually, stirring vigorously.

Pour sauce over chicken in skillet; cook over low heat 3 minutes, turning chicken and stirring sauce. Do not boil. Makes 4 servings.

Cheese Puts More Interest Into Recipes

Cheese is one of the world's most remarkable foods. It's eaten by rich and poor alike through a great portion of the globe. It can be the basis of everyday meals and still bring peals of joy from the most fastidious gourmet. To top it off, cheese is an unusually nutritious food.

Cheese can save the day for the busy homemaker. Simple cheese dishes are perfect for a quick lunch or the person who drops in when "there's not a thing in the house."

"Baked Eggs With Cheese": Braise eggs into a well greased shallow baking dish. Dot with fat, sprinkle with grated or shaved cheese and dry bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set and the crumbs are brown.

"Vegetable Casserole": An excellent idea for using leftovers. Combine cooked potatoes, carrots, onions and green peas. Portion into individual casseroles, or use a large casserole if desired. Pour medium thick cheese sauce over vegetables. Sprinkle with bread crumbs.

Heat in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 10 to 15 minutes. Preheating the vegetables before placing in casserole will shorten baking time.

FRESH PEACH PIES — You're in luck. Fresh peaches are flooding the market as never before this season of the year and prices are correspondingly low. Use some of the juicy summer fruit to make an elegant peach pie — or five of them, each one a little different.

Make up Plain Peach Pie or Add Other Fruits

Fresh peaches are here! Before this Queen of Fruits ends her five-month reign, we will have enjoyed her lusciousness in a hundred different ways.

Rapid transportation, precooling the firm-ripe fruit at the point of packing, new methods of packaging all combine to bring the pick of the crop to the markets far from the orchard. Fresh peaches are available for your summer-long enjoyment.

Fresh peach pie, bubbling with golden juice under a sugar-laced crust, rates as America's number one summer favorite.

Here are four glorious fresh peach pie variations to try your taste buds tingling. Start the peach season with Peach and Strawberry Pie. Follow the calendar with Peach and Blueberry or Peach and Blackberry Pie.

Peach and Apple make a first rate team of two favorites. And Peach and Pear Pie will convince your family that you are a most creative cook, just when they had begun to think they knew all your secret combinations.

Fresh Peach Pie
1 cup peeled, sliced fresh peaches
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Few grains salt
1 tablespoon butter, cut into bits
Pastry for a two-crust, 9-inch pie
1 teaspoon sugar

Preheat oven to 400. Mix first seven ingredients in two-quart bowl. Let stand while making pastry. Line 9-inch pan with pastry. Pour in fruit mixture. Cover with top crust. Crimp edges of pastry together. Prick air holes in top crust with lines of fork. Brush lightly with cold water, using your fingers or pastry brush. Sprinkle with one teaspoon sugar. Put pie on lowest rack position in oven. Bake 40 to 50 minutes.

Peach 'n' Strawberry Pie: Use 3 cups fresh, sliced peaches and 2 cups fresh strawberries, halved. Use 1/2 teaspoon almond extract instead of cinnamon.

Peach 'n' Dark Berry Pie: Use 3 cups sliced, fresh peaches and 2 cups blueberries or blackberries.

Peach 'n' Apple Pie: Use 3 cups

Summer Sauce for Fish Portions

"Summertime an' the livin' is easy..." goes the refrain of a favorite melody. One new way, however, that many women make "livin'" easy in summer is by using convenience foods. Like frozen fish portions, in their meal planning. All ready to be cooked or simply reheated in a matter of minutes, fish portions help make summer mealtimes flexible. Portions are sold ready to cook — labeled as filets, filets, steaks or burgers. However, they all are individual — serving — sized slices of fish which are cleaned, boned, breaded. Prepared according to package directions, they can be eaten hot or cold, "as is" or topped with a fresh, flavorful sauce.

The National Fisheries Institute suggests this luscious blend of cucumber, chives, and sour cream as a summery accompaniment for fish portions.

Cucumber-Chive Sauce for Crispy Fish
1 cup thick sour cream
1 cup cucumber, chopped and very well drained
2 tablespoons chives
Salt and pepper to taste

2 tablespoons finely chopped chili pickle
1 tablespoon chopped olives or 1 teaspoon minced onion
Combine all ingredients. Refrigerate sauce several hours or overnight, to allow the flavors to become well blended. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Raspberry Currant Sauce
Need a company dessert? Top waffles with vanilla ice cream and this raspberry currant sauce. Simmer 1 10-ounce package frozen red raspberries and 1/2 cup black currant jelly until thickened. Sauce for 6 servings.

If that white sauce has to stand before you serve it, cover the saucepan. It's in tightly so a film won't form on top.

Simple Picnic Fare Saves Work

SAUCY BURGERS — Blue cheese spread to put on the hamburger buns gives the gourmet touch to your picnic. You can save work by using frozen beef burgers that come 10 or 24 in a package. No grill? Line a large clay flower pot with foil and fill half full with loose gravel. Use charcoal briquets for the fire. A round cake rack serves as a grill.

Friday Burgers Made With Tuna and Cereal

Come July and every backyard is a sidewalk cafe. Fun for all the family, outdoor eating is a pleasant pastime for the summer months whether food is prepared in the kitchen or under the apple tree.

One entree which lends itself to preparation inside and enjoyable open-air dining is Friday Burgers. Good any day of the week, these hearty sandwiches combine tuna seasoned with onions, pickles and celery. Shape the mixture into patties and coat them with golden Corn Flake crumbs. Then top Friday Burgers with a melting of cheese and serve them on toasted hamburger rolls.

These nourishing sandwiches, which make light of summer cooking, also are tempting luncheon or Sunday night supper fare during the rest of the year. Serve them side by side with a mug of spicy tomato bouillon.

Friday Burgers

- 6 cups corn flakes or 1 1/2 cups corn flake crumbs
- 2 cups (12 1/2 oz.) corn flake crumbs
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped pickle
- 1/4 cup finely chopped celery
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 8 slices processed American cheese
- 8 sandwich buns, split and buttered

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Drain and flake tuna. Combine with 1/2 cup of corn flake crumbs, mayonnaise, onions, pickles, celery and seasonings; mix lightly. Shape into 8 patties; about 3 inches in diameter. Coat with remaining corn flake crumbs.

Put bottom halves of buns on broiler rack or baking sheets. Place a patty on each bun. Broil until golden brown, about five minutes. Top each patty with a cheese slice. Place bun tops on broiler rack. Return to broiler about three minutes until cheese is melted and buns are toasted.

Remove from broiler. Cover with top halves of buns and serve at once. Yield: 8 sandwiches.

Tomato Soup Gets Spiced Up for Sauce

Hamburgers... popular for summer meals... are especially good when broiled and basted with a tangy barbecue sauce. Here's the sauce:

- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 2 cups (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon chili powder

Cook onion and garlic in shortening until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Cook over low heat 15 minutes; stir now and then. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

To Dress Tossed Greens

Blend well with rotary or electric mixer 1 cup creamed cottage cheese, 1/4 cup light cream, 3 tablespoons minced onion, 1/2 teaspoon celery seed, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme, few grains pepper. Makes 1 cup.

Ask a youngster what meat he wants and the answer usually is, "hamburgers." Most groups like ground beef patties too, but they enjoy gourmet-type spreads or sauces as accompaniments.

You can buy hamburger patties all prepared and frozen, making your holiday meals a cinch. If you prefer, make up your own patties and freeze them in freezer paper or transparent plastic. Tote the burgers to the picnic site in an insulated carrying bag.

The following recipes should make a hit with hungry guests who like spicy or highly seasoned food. To be on the safe side, grill some plain hamburgers and pass around the old reliable trimmings for the rest of the eaters.

Burgers on Blue Cheese Buns

- 8 frozen beef burgers
- 3 ounces package cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup ketchup
- 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 8 toasted sandwich buns

Meat Has Run the Gamut of Many Fads and Fallacies

CHICAGO — Fads and fallacies through the ages have centered around meat. As a universally favored food, meat seems to attract fanatics as well as fans. Here are a few of the unusual ideas that the American Meat Institute has recorded.

Aborigines ate the meat of a brave animal as a means to make themselves brave. They believed that one could acquire a desired characteristic by eating the appropriate portion, i.e., the heart for courage, the blood for nerve. Before the turn of the century a Connecticut clergyman, Sylvester Graham, believed that tea led to D. T.'s (delirium tremens), condiments caused insanity and meat inflamed the "baser propensities." He is remembered for the Graham cracker.

At about the same time Dr. J. H. Salisbury devised a controversial meat diet. The diet consisted of lean, minced, broiled meat, three times a day, supplemented only with a weak beverage and water in quantities. "Salisbury steak" began to appear on the menus of better hotels and restaurants in America and Europe as the diet became popular.

Occasionally food faddists have "eliminated the middle man," the steer, by prescribing grass and other dry grains for the human diet. In the 1890's J. R. B. Bran, an Englishman was one who reasoned that if grass sustained a massive animal, it would be ideal for man, ignoring the differences in digestive equipment. He had few followers, probably because most people prefer a juicy steak to a bale of hay and would rather have the steer chew the cud.

With the birth of the canning industry, new false beliefs were born. One was that canned foods lost their nutrients. Studies show that the nutritional values of meats-in-a-can closely parallel those of meat cooked in the home.

There have been "old wives' tales" about the inclusion of pork in the diet of pregnant and nursing mothers. There are still some people who think that pork is hard to digest. Actually, research has shown that pork and pork products are excellent sources of the high quality nutrients needed in everyone's diet. Pork is 96 to 98 per cent digestible, one of the highest ratings given any food.

At various stages of history, meat has been named the cure and the cause of various maladies. Today people look to meat as an enjoyable, tasty way of satisfying hunger and meeting daily protein requirements and specific vitamin and mineral needs.

OUTDOOR FOOD — Here's a barbecue feast that's both hearty and colorful—ham steak grilled over wood charcoal briquets and served with hot stuffed fruits. Juice from the canned fruit, seasoned with soy sauce and dried mustard, is used to paint the ham. Place ham on grill and cook slowly. For brilliant fruit, top pineapple with spiced apple rings, give pears a dab of mint jelly, fill peaches with sour cream. Put fruit on grill a few minutes before the ham steak is done. Go-alongs are hot rolls, cool green salad and deviled eggs.

Believe Growth Vitamin Found

Crystals Come From Distillation of Liquor — May Spur Appetite

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — A Texas A&M College nutrition scientist believes he has isolated a new vitamin from the pungent, moist brown residue left over after the distillation of liquor.

Specks of white crystals that stimulate growth have been removed from the residue by Dr. James R. Couch.

In experiments with poultry, the crystals produced a 10 to 25 per cent improved growth, it was reported.

Dr. Couch believes the crystals will stimulate the human appetite. Two of his assistants have experimented with the crystals.

One reported that he had a tremendous appetite even though he had eaten a large meal a few hours before. He said he craved olives, but that everything "tasted delicious" when he began to eat.

The other assistant reported similar results, Dr. Couch said.

"Why do we think we have a vitamin?" he said. "When we can produce growth response of 8 to 25 per cent by adding as little as one milligram of the crystals to a pound of feed we think we're in the vitamin class."

PRODUCTION LOW

Dr. Couch pointed out that it takes two milligrams of riboflavin per pound of feed, or five milligrams of pantothenic acid, or 10 to 25 milligrams of niacin to produce similar growth gains in poultry.

The process for producing the crystals from dried distillers' solubles at present is slow and low in yield. Dr. Couch said he usually gets one-half gram of crystals from 50 pounds of the residue.

Some Governments Have Agreements — a Few Are Bickering

How Do You Tax Man Who Works in Other State?

CHICAGO (AP)—A key figure in the nation's ever-broadening state income tax picture these days is the fellow who earns his paycheck in a neighboring state.

He has been the subject of heated debate in the legislative chambers of several states that collect income taxes. The big issue he poses is — which state gets to keep his income tax dollars, the state where he lives or the state where he works?

MANY AGREE

Thirty-six states and the District of Columbia now impose income taxes. Commerce Clearing House, a private agency that reports on tax laws, says many of the states have satisfactory agreements with neighboring states and others are working toward a solution.

For instance: When West Virginia passed an income tax law recently it was able to work out reciprocal agreements with neighboring Kentucky and Maryland, both of which already had income tax laws.

All three states have directed firms hiring nonresidents to reduce the nonresidents' taxes in the amount the employee is taxed in his home state.

NOT ALWAYS SIMPLE

But such harmony is not easy to come by when a great many more employees commute to one state than to the other. For example, approximately 150 New Jersey residents flock to New York jobs each morning compared with 50,000 or so New Yorkers who work in New Jersey.

New Jersey had no income tax, but New York had — and Jerseys who worked there were required to pay it, about $50 million a year total. Written into the New York tax law is a provision that nonresidents may deduct their home state's income tax from the amount imposed by New York. Faced with the need to raise money for commuter transportation services, the New Jersey Legislature took a close look at this provision and adopted a new law.

From now on, Jersemites who work in New York (and only they) must pay a New Jersey income tax in the same amount imposed on them by New York. In effect, they would simply begin paying their entire New York tax to New Jersey.

For its part, New Jersey will begin withholding for New York the income tax of the New Yorkers working in Jersey — about $10 million a year which the New Yorkers theoretically had been required to pay to their home state but which heretofore had not been withheld from their Jersey paychecks.

Noting that the effect of this action would be to give New Jersey $50 million in exchange for $10 million, New York officials are anything but pleased. They point out the Jersey tax may be unconstitutionally discriminatory because it doesn't apply to all the state's residents. They anticipate a court test.

Meanwhile, New York, with an apparent eye on collecting from its residents working in Connecticut, has completed an agreement with Connecticut.

New York will make income tax concessions to Connecticut residents working in New York and, in return, Connecticut will supply to New York employment and salary information concerning New York residents who work in Connecticut.

Wisconsin and Minnesota were involved in a tax controversy this year but it apparently was settled last week when the lower house of the Wisconsin Legislature passed a bill that would allow the state to tax incomes of Minnesota residents working in Wisconsin.

When Minnesota earlier adopted a similar measure applying to Wisconsin residents working in Minnesota, it voided a long-standing reciprocal agreement between the two states.

The original negotiations to work out an agreement became stalemated for a time because Wisconsin legislators contended Minnesota stood to gain more than Wisconsin under simple reciprocity. This is because about 4,000 more Wisconsin residents work in Minnesota than the other way around.

However, the bill now adopted by both Wisconsin chambers and expected to be signed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson follows the original proposal.

Besides taxing the Minnesotans working in Wisconsin, the measure would allow full tax credits to Wisconsinites working and taxed in Minnesota.

Thirty-one of the 37 states which impose some form of income taxes allow their commuting residents credits for taxes imposed on their incomes in other states.

No such credits are allowed, however, in Alaska, Indiana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Why is the whiskey on the right insured for One Million Dollars?

SOLID-GOLD BARS loaned through the courtesy of a U.S. Treasury Department gold loaner.

Answer:

The whiskey on the right is insured because it is Calvert's one million dollar "Standard of Excellence" — the lightest, finest, smoothest-tasting whiskey, we believe, ever created.

The Calvert Reserve on the left — and every bottle you buy — must match this "Standard of Excellence" for lighter taste, finer taste, smoother taste. Taste that never varies. Always "good as gold." Shouldn't you enjoy it tonight?

To Get Sentence for Shooting Boy

Pontiac Man Is Found Guilty of Discharging Gun Without Malice

Twenty-two-year old Roosevelt Alexander, 211 W. Wilson Ave., will be sentenced July 5 to the shooting of a 15-year-old boy during a quarrel.

Alexander was found guilty of causing an injury by discharging a firearm without malice toward the victim, Judge Cecil McCallum. The charge, a maximum sentence of a year in prison, a $500 fine, or both.

The charge against Alexander stemmed from the June 18 shooting of 15-year-old Roy Lee Sharp, Jr., of Glove St.

Alexander told police that a blank .22-caliber pistol, modified to shoot bullets, accidentally discharged while they argued over a cat the boy was carrying. Sharp was shot in the mouth.

Alexander is free on $500 bond pending sentencing.

4 Firms Indicted for Price Fixing on Rock Salt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced that four salt companies were indicted today in St. Paul, Minn., for engaging in a price-fixing conspiracy.

Kennedy said the conspiracy has resulted in identical bids on contracts offered by state and municipal governments throughout the country on rock salt.

The four firms charged with criminal violation of the Sherman Act are Morton Salt Co., Chicago; International Salt Co., Chicago; St. Clair, Mich., and Carey Salt Co., Hutchinson, Kan.

These four companies mine and distribute 75 per cent of the nation's rock salt, the Justice Department said.

Historical Group Plans Copper Harbor Meeting

LANSING (AP) — The Historical Society of Michigan will hold its 12th annual Upper Peninsula conference July 21-23, in the Keweenaw Park resort at Copper Harbor, the society has announced.

The conference will feature tours of Keweenaw County, the Park Wilkins State Park and museum and the Arcadian mine and a talk by Prof. A. C. Todd of the University of Exeter, Cornwall, England.

Slater Weeps With Joy as Jurors Say: Innocent

Donald Slater cried with happiness as a Circuit Court jury at noon today found him innocent of the shotgun slaying of his wife's suitor.

With tears in their eyes, three women on the 11-woman, one-man jury panel, after 2 hours and 15 minutes of deliberation, walked up to the 29-year-old Oak Park truck driver to wish him luck.

He was so choked with emotion to say anything.

Minutes after Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem announced that he was a free man, Slater said, "I told the truth all the way and I prayed to God they would understand, because I certainly didn't."

HEAD BOWED

The small man, who kept his head bowed and hands clasped together as if in prayer throughout the trial, was accused of first-degree murder in the May 21 shooting of Edward Stoner, 31-year-old former jockey, who was courting his wife Nancy, 25. They had met at the race track.

The mother of four children was not in the sparsely filled courtroom, which had been filled during the four days of testimony, when the verdict was announced.

announced shortly after noon by foreman Fred Mass, 14911 Picquet St., Farmington, a retired carpenter.

Mass said the unanimous verdict — the jury had five from which to choose — was reached on the fifth ballot. The previous ballots, he said, started at eight for innocent and four for innocent by reason of insanity, "and they kept going down one at a time until we all agreed," Mass said.

If Slater had been found innocent by reason of insanity he would have been committed to a mental institution.

In his one hour and 20-minute closing argument, Slater's attorney, Clarence L. Smith, said, "I would never convict a person who didn't know what he was doing and didn't do anything wrong to put him in the predicament."

Smith used a defense of "qualified" temporary insanity, claiming that Slater became "a distracted person" when his wife brought Stoner to the Slater house, 3610 Saratoga road, and Stoner insisted on adopting his children.

Dr. L. Jerome Fink, a defense witness and Pontiac psychiatrist, described Slater as falling into a "hysterical fugue state" after this.

Slater employed what another psychiatrist called "selective amnesia" in recalling those events he wished to, and "conveniently" forgetting others which might be damaging to him, said First Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang.

Pressing 2nd Time for Postal-Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration today urged Congress to increase the postal rates to help offset the cost of the postal service.

By a 12-8 vote the House Post Office Committee voted to recommend its action of last week putting the postal rate bill aside for the rest of the year.

It will consider a scaled-down rate proposal July 11. No action was taken on the new proposal last week, however, and one key member of the committee predicted flatly Congress would not vote a rate increase this session.

OK Gas Sale to Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission has authorized Northern Natural Gas Co. to sell 75 million cubic feet of gas to the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Co. of Detroit.

PARIS (AP) — Angry farmers block roads and rail lines in scattered areas of France today despite an appeal by their leaders for a truce while they negotiate with the government for higher prices.

Grain Futures Run Steady to Strong

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were mostly steady to stronger in early trading on the board of trade today.

Continued dryness in the domestic Northwest and Western Canada agains increased demand for most grains.

A few scattered showers were reported in some sections of the Northwest overnight but there was no general relief from the long, hot, dry spell that is certain to injure crops.

Early demand for wheat futures was attributed to commission house buying and little or no hedge selling. Some speculative buying and little or no hedge selling. Some speculative buying and little or no hedge selling.

In corn, buying by local traders and short covering advanced prices, most buyers around the opening. Oats and rye also responded to unfavorable weather and crop news in the Northwest.

Seek to Save Water for Expanding Population

Science to Probe Secrets of 2 Great Lakes

TORONTO (U) — The innermost secrets of Lake Erie and Lake Huron will be probed this summer by scientists aboard the research ship Port Dauphine.

The vessel came out of drydock at the end of May, equipped with even more scientific equipment than it carried last year, its first in service for the University of Toronto Great Lakes Institute.

A primary objective of the Great Lakes Institute, founded last year to coordinate research, is to find ways to preserve the usefulness to man of the world's largest reserves of fresh water in face of the rapidly increasing population.

"Will the Great Lakes be able to support future populations, or will they turn into one gigantic cesspool? That's how the problem was described by Prof. George Langford of the university, who is director of the institute.

He said 30 million people live on or near the Great Lakes today; they may number 60,000,000 by the year 2000.

Dr. Langford has been quoted as saying there is no reason why the Great Lakes cannot be kept in usable condition for 1,000 years if regulations are passed to prevent pollution and other abuses. But before rules can be laid down the facts must be known, and that's the mission of the men on the Port Dauphine.

TO CHART CYCLES

The Lake Erie research continues work carried out last year with the aim of charting the complete cycle of biological, weather and currents activity.

A feature of the work in Lake Huron will be research off Douglas Point, where an atomic power plant is to be built. Flora and fauna of the area will be recorded and air and water currents charted so that later research will be able to determine what, if any, effects the atomic plant has on lake conditions.

The Port Dauphine, built for the Royal Canadian Navy in 1952 as a harbor gate ship, now is crowded with equipment to measure water currents and temperatures, weather conditions, water and air pollution. It has big nets of fine mesh for taking samples of plankton, on which fish feed, and a grab sampler to dredge up samples from the lake bottom.

The Port Dauphine last year, from July to December, logged 14,175 miles on behalf of the institute. Water samples were examined for such things as sewage bacteria, industrial waste, conductivity, oxygen content, hardness and alkalinity. Divers trained at the university used the ship as a base for exploring the lake beds.

The University of Toronto and the Ontario lands and forests department were prime movers in establishment of the research project. Cooperating with them is the Federal Transport Department, which provides the ship and crew; the National Research Council, the U.S. National Science Foundation, the Canadian Committee on Oceanography, the Fisheries Research Board and Atomic Energy of Canada.

COOPERATIVE EFFORT

Specific projects are being undertaken in cooperation with the Ontario Water Resources Commission, McMaster University of Hamilton, the University of Western Ontario at London and the Laurent Geological Observatory of Columbia University.

Prof. Roger Deane of the University of Toronto has charge of research, which already has turned up some surprises.

A theory long held that the Niagara River pouring into Lake Ontario causes a clockwise current which resulted in the formation of Toronto Island now appears false. The researchers found that lake currents tend to parallel prevailing winds, and that the Niagara's flow has little influence.

The mystery of Lake Erie's shifting muck also remains to be solved. Divers who found deep mud on one descent found the same spot swept bare a few weeks later, and the relation of this matter to the Lake Erie fishery is being examined.

SPACE SPECTERS — There's something unearthly and menacing about this picture. Could be the zombie crew of a Martian spaceship preparing to land on earth. Really, it's just a line-up of pressure suits used by high-flying pilots at Richards-Gebaur AFB in Missouri. When not in use, the suits are kept in a cool, temperature-controlled room. Each costs $800 and is individually made for its wearer.

SAFE IN THE SAFE — Helen M. Smith, assistant cashier, gets a reassuring put from Sanford A. Brown, Michigan treasurer, as she enters the huge vault in the State Treasury office at Lansing.

Cashier-officer manager Howard V. (Hod) Shewell looks on. An air tube into the vault makes it a certainty that no employee will suffocate if accidentally locked in.

Island a Cold War Paradox

Anti-Reds Avoid Formosa

MANILA (UPI) — Tens of thousands of Chinese are opposed to communism, but are unwilling to live with the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa.

In turn, Formosa is not eager to welcome them.

These Chinese without country could find their traditional ways of life practiced daily in Formosa. But few of them want to move, and even fewer could expect to be admitted to Nationalist China, one of the great paradoxes of the cold war struggle in Asia.

Many Chinese living in the Philippines, Indonesia and across the Indochina peninsula to Malaya and Burma do not want to live under President Chiang Kai-shek's administration in Formosa for many reasons.

It is far easier for an American to enter the Nationalist Chinese island than it is for a Chinese. They have good businesses and see little opportunity for property on Formosa with rigid and austere economic conditions.

ATTACHED TO LAND

Some Chinese still view the Kuomintang administration as a corrupt and dying clique little better than Mao Tse-tung's Communists.

Some have lived outside China for generations and, despite local cultural differences, feel more attached to their land of adoption than to China.

The Nationalists, although they call Formosa the Island of Chinese freedom, discourage Chinese refugees from seeking haven there.

Late last year, several thousand Chinese were deported from Indonesia to Formosa — the largest single group of Chinese to settle in Formosa since the 1949 evacuation of the Kuomintang forces from the China mainland.

tinuation would have been Communist China.

The Nationalist government contends that Formosa is too small and too crowded to accept any more large groups of refugees from Communist China.

The Nationalists are highly tuned to the possibility of Communist infiltration and espionage against their big military forces.

Deputies Call in Expert to Handle Rusty Safe

DAYTON, Ohio (U) — Sheriff's deputies had expert help readily available to open a rusty 300-pound safe pulled from the Miami River. They simply asked a 20-year-old prisoner in the county jail to apply his talents on the safe. He cracked it.

For Male or Female

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Pat Bert says her mother gave a relative a lipstick holder for a gift, but that the woman's husband uses it to hold cigars.

President Calls Huddle to Map Berlin Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy meets with the National Security Council today to discuss possible military, diplomatic and civilian defense measures which he may take to deal with the growing crisis between the Soviet Union and the Western powers over Berlin.

The range and nature of the steps within the government is reported to include partial mobilization, increasing NATO strength in Europe, a new round of East-

Chance of Straley Return Ended by Supreme Court

The State Supreme Court has crushed any chance of Herbert W. Straley's returning as Pontiac police chief.

The court yesterday upheld an amendment to the Pontiac city charter under which City Manager Walter K. Willman dismissed Straley last year.

Approved by Pontiac voters in April 1960, the amendment re-established a police trial board, and placed the police chief directly under the jurisdiction of the city manager.

Shortly after its passage by a vote of 4,006 to 4,043, Willman fired Straley.

City Commissioners Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry began a lawsuit to have the election declared invalid. They contended that the re-establishment of a trial board and the question of Straley's status were separate issues and should have been in separate proposals.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem said the election was valid. The high court yesterday unanimously upheld Ziem.

Notified of the ruling from Lansing, Willman said that Joseph Koenig will continue temporarily as acting police chief, adding "I think he's done a good job."

UNSETTLED ON SUCCESSION

The question of a permanent successor remains unsettled.

Yesterday's unanimous decision written by Justice Eugene F. Black ruled that the ballot issues were correctly handled by an amendment.

Willman first suspended Straley on Feb. 9, 1960, on charges of incompetency, insubordination, inefficiency, failure to maintain good behavior, and neglect of duty.

The former three-member Police Civil Service Commission voted unanimously April 4, 1959 to fire Straley.

But in December, Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis of Ingham County overruled the ouster on technical grounds and the city was ordered to take Straley back, with full back pay.

Then, in April of 1960, voters adopted the charter amendments that led to his final dismissal.

Reds Preparing Security to Back E. German Pact

Unspecified Measures Laid Out for Possible Trouble With West

BERLIN (UPI) — East German head of state Walter Ulbricht said today that Communist East Germany and the Soviet Union are preparing unspecified "security measures" for use when a peace treaty is signed.

Ulbricht, whose formal title is chairman of the state council, the supreme governing body of East Germany, did not spell out the details.

But he called on the East Germans for "special efforts" to cope with problems that may arise with a treaty.

Previously, when the Communist East German leaders have referred to "security measures," they usually meant ways to cope with threatened economic blockades by West Germany. But the coupling of East Germany with Russia this time led observers to believe they were considering the possibility of military measures.

"Frankly," Ulbricht said, "the efforts that we must make and the possible difficulties in this connection weigh less than the danger that will arise if we wait (with a peace treaty) until the Bonn government is ready with its atomic armament."

One must regulate the armaments in time and not wait until the house is on fire."

Ulbricht told a meeting of chemical workers the security plans are necessary because West Germany may launch "acts of disturbance" when the peace treaty is signed.

Washington officials reported a new East German regulation decreed Wednesday would be ignored.

The regulation states that radio-equipped planes of nations not having air agreements with East Germany must receive special permission after Aug. 1 to cross East Germany.

Western rights for air access to West Berlin are in no way dependent upon approval or disapproval of the East German Communists.

Britain today joined the United States in rejecting the East German proposals for air traffic regulations.

"Any East German decree respecting plane movements of course could not apply to Allied or civil aircraft going to or leaving Berlin," a British foreign office spokesman said in London.

Kennedy spoke at his news conference Wednesday of the possibility of negotiations with the Soviet Union on the Berlin problem. He said the United States was ready to discuss any proposal which would increase West Berlin's security and independence.

The others were admitted to William Beaumont Hospital. Patrick was traveling south on Telegraph and was about to make a left turn onto 9-Mile Road when his car was struck by a car driven by Donald L. Parks, 25, of 25480 Telegraph Road, Southfield, according to Southfield police.

Parks, who was alone in the car, is in critical condition.

Parks was going north on Telegraph when he struck Patrick's car on the right side. Police said the accident occurred at 12:10 a.m.

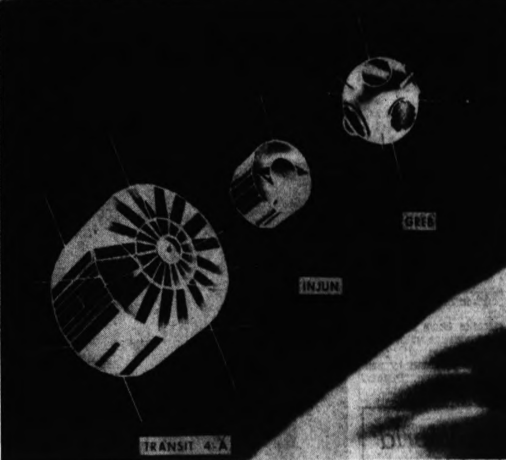

The impact threw James Callahan, 26, 25115 Berg Road, and Gerry M. Rung, 17, 21800 Telegraph Road, both of Southfield, out of the Patrick car. Both are in critical condition.

Woodley, who was riding in the back seat on the right side, was crushed by the impact.

The two other passengers in Patrick's car, Daniel Calverly, 19, of 10% Mile Road, Southfield, and Daniel Calverly, 21, of Detroit, are in poor condition.

Calverly and Tuchs were in the front seat.

Southfield police, who are still investigating the accident, were told by witnesses that Parks was traveling at an excessive speed.

U.S. TRIPLE PLAY—This drawing of three satellites in separate orbits nearly 600 miles above the earth illustrates the sky-high triple play scored by the United States. The three satellites were hurled into orbit by one rocket launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Wednesday night. The first atomic battery in space is attached to the Transit 4-A satellite.

Builds Up Power for Two Radios A-Battery in 4-A Is Hot but Safe

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The nuclear generator that America sent soaring into orbit today aboard its transit IV-A satellite probably is the safest piece of radioactive machinery ever assembled.

Before false rumors start circulating, scientists want the public to know the Arctic and Antarctic Circles, over which the satellite sails, to understand a few points:

SNAP NO BOMB

The little SNAP (System for Nuclear Auxiliary Power) is not a weapon or an "orbiting atomic bomb." It could not explode under any circumstances because it was not physically built that way.

It won't cause "radioactive fallout." It won't change the weather or ruin crops or foul up television. It won't radiate "death rays."

About the only thing it will do is the job for which it was built—provide a small amount of electricity to power two radios aboard the transit satellite. The power is radiated at 2 1/2 watts, or about enough to light up a flashlight bulb.

The SNAP package, built by the Martin Co. for the Atomic Energy Commission, is oval and measures about 5 by 5 1/2 inches. Its "heart" is a small cylinder of a radioactive isotope known as plutonium-238. The substance is not useful in nuclear weapons.

The isotope is encased in a metal container, which in turn is covered with a thermocouple substance and a metal skin.

It works on a scientific principle about 150 years old, that certain materials made hot on one end and cold on the other generate an electric current.

On the ground, the SNAP unit is no more dangerous than a hot poker. Because the isotope has to be hot to work, said one scientist, "You would be simply burned long before any radiation got to you." For this reason, leaded gloves were used to handle the package.

Prototype SNAP units have been undergoing for years some of the most rigorous tests ever devised, to see how they would stand up. They were subjected to tests at pressure, put through tests at varying temperatures, placed in the middle of explosions ranging up to 3,000 degrees, fired into granite and burned.

Both stages of the 50-ton rocket clicked with drill-like precision and flung the entire package into orbit. Almost immediately, spring devices kicked the payloads apart up to 3,000 degrees, fired into granite and burned.

More 90-Degree Weather Is Forecast for Friday

6 a.m. 73 11 a.m. 84
8 a.m. 74 12 m. 87
10 a.m. 82 1 p.m. 91

Yesterday's thermometer showed an unexpected high of 90 degrees at 2:30 p.m. in the downtown Pontiac area, five degrees more than was predicted.

Tomorrow's outlook is for more of the same for area residents as well as for most of the rest of lower Michigan. But showers and thunderstorms may cool off a 92-degree Friday.

According to the weatherman, there's a chance of a late afternoon or evening thundershower tonight, with the low being about 72.

During the next four days, temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees above normal. Normal high is 78 to 83. Normal low is 57 to 63.

Little temperature change is expected until Sunday, when the U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts a little cooler weather and no rain.

Southwesterly winds registered 10-20 miles per hour today.

The lowest reading preceding 8 a.m. was 73 degrees.

Week of July 16 Set for Second Astronaut Trip

Atomic Battery Works Perfectly, Pushing Our Scientists Way Ahead

From Our News Wire

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — The United States has hurried the first atomic battery into space as part of a spectacular sky-high triple play in which one rocket rammed three satellites into orbit.

The successful orbiting of the nuclear device in one of the satellites gives American scientists a significant lead over the Soviet Union in the race to harness atomic power for space exploration.

Cape Canaveral had hardly caught its breath from the momentous feat when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) revealed another astronaut flight is planned, the week of July 16.

NASA's announcement in Washington said the flight would be the second in a series of sub-orbital efforts started May 4 with Alan Shepard's second ride. The series will lead to an orbital flight early this year or early in 1962.

The name of the astronaut for the next Project Mercury ride has not yet been released. It is expected to be Martin C. John Glenn, Shepard's "backup" on the May 4 flight.

SCOOP BLAST

A Thor-Able-Star rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral Wednesday night with the satellite stacked in its nose like a three-scoop ice cream cone.

Both stages of the 50-ton rocket clicked with drill-like precision and flung the entire package into orbit. Almost immediately, spring devices kicked the payloads apart up to 3,000 degrees, fired into granite and burned.

Congress Speeds Work Before Holiday Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is speeding action on several legislative fronts in advance of the long July 4 holiday weekend.

It took only about an hour Wednesday night for President Kennedy's omnibus housing bill to clear the House after Senate passage. One of Kennedy's "big five" domestic proposals for this session, it's now ready for his signature.

Kennedy acted on two other bills today. He signed "with great pleasure" the $1.7-billion measure designed to assure completion of the interstate highway system by 1970.

And he gave a final okay to an item aimed at attracting dollar-spending foreign tourists to the United States.

DEBT-CEILING BILL

Also on Kennedy's desk today and also in much the form he wanted—is the perennial bill raising the national debt ceiling on a temporary basis for another year.

Added reason for quick action here: This year's temporary ceiling of $28 billion expires at midnight Friday, the end of the fiscal year.

Kennedy asked and got from the Senate Wednesday night by voice vote a temporary ceiling of $28 billion. Only about a dozen senators were on hand.

Again, only a scattering of senators was present Wednesday night to pass unanimously authorization for Kennedy's expanded multibillion dollar space program. There was only brief debate on the bill authorizing $1,784,300,000 in civilian space programs during the next 12 months. One goal: Landing a manned space craft on the moon within a decade.

There were unconfirmed rumors that an abdominal operation was being considered, but neither the hospital nor Miss Monroe's spokesman would confirm this.

Thus far, her present ailment has been officially identified only as a "mild intestinal disorder."

Marilyn Spends Restful Night in Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actress Marilyn Monroe, hospitalized Wednesday for the fourth time in the past nine months, spent a "very comfortable night," and has been "relieved of all pain," a hospital spokesman said today.

Doctors began consultation over just what was wrong with her—and what further action to take.

There were unconfirmed rumors that an abdominal operation was being considered, but neither the hospital nor Miss Monroe's spokesman would confirm this.

Twin Plagues Hit Farmlands

Grasshopper Invasion, Drought Bring Fear of Crop Failure in North

From Our News Wire

The worst invasion of grasshoppers since the 1930s in three Northern farm states today striped fields bare, defoliated corn and brought warnings of "near crop failure."

It is that were not terrible, the vast reaches of the normally green Northern Great Plains are turning brown under a hot sun accompanied by cooling summer winds.

The drought has not come. Snow was scarce last winter. The result is a dry, dusty, hot summer with little rain, but there is no mistle in the prairie provinces of Canada.

"Look like popcorn" — The dry and green grasshoppers, thriving on the drought conditions, have attacked nearly all of Montana's 56 counties and hundreds of thousands of acres in North Dakota and South Dakota.

"They look like popcorn flying up under your feet," a North Dakota sheriff said. "It's the worst grasshopper outbreak since 1934."

The three states have appealed to the Agriculture Department for disaster area aid. Together with drought losses, costs of the grasshoppers' ravages will run into millions of dollars.

In North Dakota all but 2 of 56 counties have been declared drought disaster areas. Similar designations have been made in large chunks of South Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota.

"The State of Montana has no funds to assist the farmers in this area," said Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman. He said an eastern county has been hit at "15 to 20 per acre foot."

Chemical sprays slow the invaders, but do not stop them. Control agents must be weak enough to permit livestock grazing after spraying and even then must be withheld from market for preliminary tests.

OK Gas Sale to Detroit

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission has authorized Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., to sell 75 million cubic feet of gas to the Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Co. of Detroit.

Heat Derails UP Train

CALUMET — It was not enough in Michigan's Upper Peninsula Wednesday to derail a train. Nine degrees heat buckled a rail on the Calumet and Hecia line between Calumet and Calumet, causing the locomotive and eight cars of a 50-car train to go off the tracks.

PARIS — Angry farmers blocked roads and rail lines in southern areas of France today despite an appeal by the government for a truce while they negotiate with the government for higher prices.

GM Noninflation Stand Joined by Ford Motor

DETROIT — The Ford Motor Co. today joined General Motors in telling the United Auto Workers union that new wage contracts must be noninflationary.

The UAW moved on to Ford today from General Motors, where it opened 183 bargaining Wednesday for new contracts to replace current three-year pacts expiring Aug. 31.

As he did at GM and Ford, UAW President Walter P. Reuther will lead union bargainers into conference with Chrysler Corp. Friday and with American Motors Corp. July 6.

Malcolm Denise, Ford vice president for labor relations, issued a statement today calling for a non-inflationary settlement and expressing concern with "detectors" who hold that "the only way to avoid costly strikes and inflationary settlements is for the government to set the terms."

"RIGHT ON TIME!" — "The right of management and labor to work out their differences across the bargaining table appears to be on trial in this country," Denise's statement said.

Speaking for the UAW at General Motors, Reuther said: "We hope to find a settlement at the bargaining table with the need of assistance or intervention from Washington. We are not looking for a fight. We are looking for economic justice."

At General Motors today bargainers turned to a union proposal of reducing work time via a shorter work week or shorter work day "to meet the problem of unemployment."

Reuther said Wednesday: "General Motors, as the leading corporation in the auto industry, not only has a major responsibility to give a lead by raising its workers' living standards, but it also has ample means to do so."

He also said that consumer purchasing power has to be increased "as the age of automation advances."

Disarmament Office Asked by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to establish a new disarmament agency which would expand and strengthen American efforts in that field.

He sent the House and Senate a proposed measure which would follow some lines of "peace agencies" bills sponsored by Sen. Robert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and other lawmakers.

The Civil Air Patrol began a search for the missing T-28, a North American T-28, and former Baltimore Colts basketball player, as a basketball player.

East and West moved toward a compromise at Geneva on sending some equipment to the International Control Commission for policing the shaky cease fire in Laos.

Bomb Blasts Residence of French Farm Minister

FONTENAY-LE-COMTE, France (UPI)—The home of Agriculture Minister Jean Fournier was blasted Wednesday night by a plastic bomb presumably planted by a rightist foe of President Charles de Gaulle's Algeria policy.

Damage was extensive but no one was hurt.

"Mother Still" Dead at 85

DETROIT — Mrs. Sarah Elfrida Stitt, 85, known as "Mother Stitt" to thousands of members of the American Legion here, died Tuesday in a nursing home. She was a just state president of the American Legion Auxiliary, the Gold Star Mothers and the Blue Star Mothers.

Stuart Whitfield Says 'Thanks' to Everyone

A heartfelt "thank you" was extended today by Stuart E. Whitfield, chairman of the Greater Pontiac Centennial celebration, to the thousands of persons who contributed to the eighty-day observance.

"Instead of singling anyone out by name, I'd like to congratulate everyone, equally, at one time, for a job well done," said Whitfield, rounding out the books on the biggest celebration in Pontiac area history.

Although the Centennial is now past history, Whitfield felt that its impact would live on, enriching Pontiac's future.

He cited lasting effects such as increased community pride, unity and responsibility.

"During the Centennial, all kinds of groups within the area worked together toward a common objective," he observed.

"Thousands of people participated for the first time in a major community endeavor. Talent and skill were uncovered and new leadership developed."

"I'm sure many people now have a new interest in their community, its government, schools and civic organizations."

"I'm confident that many were pleasantly surprised and pleased at what a fine job the community can do when everyone works together."

Tabulate Votes in Union Race

Contest for President of Pontiac Motor Local Is Center of Attention

The focus was on a contest between Charles A. Beach, incumbent president of Pontiac Motor Local 653, UAW, and challenger Cecil C. Mullinix as votes were tabulated today after a two-day run-off election.

Tabulation began after the polls closed at 8 p.m. Monday.

Other run-offs: Between John B. Maye and Douglas Gravelle for the post of vice president; between Sam Morgan, Clyde Spencer, Oscar Shelton, Frank O'Rourke, Charles Melton and Gerald Curry for positions as trustees; and between John Otazak and Bill Ward for the job of shop committee chairman.

Other positions on the executive board and the shop committee were filled at the regular election June 15-17.

Dem's Name Back on Ballot

3rd District Con - Con Hopeful Must Be Listed for July 25 Primary

West Bloomfield Township attorney Arthur N. Tietz announced today for the 3rd District Democratic constitutional convention nomination, is back on the July 25 primary ballot.

Bernard J. Apol, assistant director of state elections, informed Mrs. Mabel M. Child, Oakland County election clerk, that in any con-con race where there is no position for any party nomination both parties must appear on the ballot.

Since there are six Republican candidates seeking the 3rd District nomination, Tietz's name must be put in the Democratic column although he has no nomination already. He could only be upset by write-in votes.

Although Tietz's name goes back on the ballot, the names of George Romney, R-Bloomfield Hills, and William A. O'Brien, D-Cleavon, still remain off. Mrs. Child said because both are unopposed.

Romney, American Motors Corp. president, and O'Brien are candidates for the county's 12th District senatorial seat.

Issue Flint Warrant for Milton Henry

A warrant charging Pontiac City Commissioner Milton R. Henry with contempt of court was issued today in Flint, according to Kenneth Campbell, clerk of the Flint Municipal Court.

Freeman ordered Henry removed from the courtroom and directed that he appear today to purge himself of a possible contempt charge. Campbell reported that Henry had not appeared in court up to the time the warrant was issued today.

More Jobs, More Money, More Choice Predicated

RAM DAWSON
Business News Analyst
ARK — More jobs, more pay, plentiful other selections—these things seen in store rest of this year.

...billa, costlier serv-higher interest rates, unemployment unskilled—these are possibilities.

...are short-term pros-are the guesses of the of the economic south-

...sayers, based on indications the economy will enjoy a healthy if steadily it slowly in the fall.

FAR FUTURE IN DOUBT

The experts divide sharply on the longer range outlook. Some see a big upsurge in economic growth, getting under way early next year. The contrary-minded fear the current plans to stimulate such growth will bring either a feverish but short-lived boom or a creeping and debilitating inflation.

Let's look at the short term prospects.

JOB — more but still not enough.

Increasing industrial output already means longer work weeks. And after a summer lull for plant vacations, it should bring more jobs by fall. The service industries should absorb still more workers. But construction is likely to be pinched by rising costs, but dividend payments tend to hold up well. Rents are weakening in a few areas, but rising in others.

The biggest threat this summer is a possible auto-workers strike, which also could slow down many supplier industries.

INCOMES — a bit higher for many.

Wage-scale trends are still upward, with the business recovery encouraging union leaders to ask more and with the effectiveness of Washington's restraint plans questionable. Corporate profits will still be pinched by rising costs, but dividend payments tend to hold up well. Rents are weakening in a few areas, but rising in others.

Government payments to individuals are set for still another rise. Industrial pensions and other fringe benefits grow in good times or bad.

MONEY — still fairly easy.

The best bet is that the financial agencies will keep money and credit plentiful if the recovery is at a measured pace. Some relaxation of mortgage terms are in the cards, but other interest rates may stiffen as business picks up. The growth of savings may slow down as consumers gain confidence and spend more.

PRICES — markups and mark-downs fairly balanced. The cost of living probably will many things should ease, it's a good bet that family spending will stay as high. The standard of living has a way of rising to absorb any surplus from price savings on essentials.

SHORTAGES — few if any. Industry can produce more of almost anything, save its newest are eager foreign suppliers looking for openings. Only an international flare-up could change the general picture.

In food, of course, there is always the whim of the weather. But holdover of staples is high. Meat production is rising and prices are easing.

Summing up, the majority of soothsayers are plumping for a rise in the economy moderate enough to leave you, the consumer, still in command.

Escape Try Lays an Egg Police Nab Three Chicks After Desperate Chase

Three slick chicks yesterday led Waterford Township police a merry chase over hill and dale, and through heavy dew-laden bushes before they were finally caught. The chicks originally had been given to pupils of the David Grayson School, and stayed close to the children when classes were in session.

However, when the big playground became barren, the three chicks decided to move over to the nearby Purgatorio Forgone property at 2818 W. Walton Boulevard. There they found table scraps and even corn that the Forgone purchased. But the chicks weren't welcome.

"Too much money, and too much work," said the Forgone. DOG WARDEN CALLED

So, the township's dog warden, Neil King was called.

King — allergic to chicken feathers — gave chase.

But after an hour, he gave up and radioed the township police for help.

Li. Frank Randolph and Sgt. Charles Griffith joined the chase. Through fences, over brick piles, and through the wet bushes went the pursuers.

One by one the birds were caught. But King began to sneeze — and sneeze. Finally, he plunked the chickens in the back of the dog wagon and took them to the farm of a friend, where they found a real home.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr., D-Ill., is considering a resolution to authorize $750,000 for an SEC inquiry into all stock exchanges and over-the-counter trading in securities.

"I believe our rules are effective in those areas of the securities business in which we have jurisdiction," Funtun said. "I also believe these rules are supported by an enforcement program that is both strong and vigorously pursued."

***
However, if the NYSE is included in the inquiry, Funtun told the subcommittee, it will cooperate in every way possible.

***
Funtun said he had no reason to believe that the SEC thinks any change in the NYSE's rules "is either necessary or appropriate to protect the investing public."

He reported that the exchange has 219 staff members whose duty is to enforce its rules. He added that the registered representatives employed by member firms to serve the public "are screened, trained, tested, made aware of our rules and held accountable for their actions."

Sheriff's officers said Tierney forced his way into the private party for the Moseyev troupe and then swung on private police after being escorted from the party. Tierney was booked at the West Hollywood Station on charges of assault, disturbing the peace, and drunkenness. He has been arrested a score of times on drunk and battery charges since 1946.

West Berliners Have Calluses on Their Nerves

Primary West-Berliners, who have lived through the Berlin crisis since 1948, have calluses on their nerves. They are now open from 9 until 1:00 and closed on Saturdays during the months of July and August.

By RICHARD O'BRIEN
BERLIN (AP) — "Ach," said the red-checked junior with flowing mustache, "we Berliners, we have calluses on our nerves. We've lived with crises for years. It doesn't matter any longer. We lived through the blockade."

We lived through Khrushchev's threats in 1958. And today, we're stronger.
BERLIN CALM
The new Berlin crisis whirled around the city. Headlines screamed the latest statements of President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev and West Berlin is unchanged and unmoved.

The janitor is right. Nobody is concerned. Nobody is leaving—only the refugees pouring into the West from Communist East Germany, and West Berliners off on vacation to the sunny south. The weather—like the future—was unsettled Wednesday in Berlin.

The sun seemed to shine more brightly in the west—glistening on new skyscrapers, catching the color of pretty dresses and striped awnings.

Whatever the future, whatever the solution, whether it brings war or peace, the contrasts in Berlin are always there. And as the months and years go by, they seem to become sharper.

CITY THROBS
West Berlin, free and prosperous, lined with the West only by the thinnest threads, throbs with all the energy of New York, London, Paris and Rome.

East Berlin, the "showplace" of East German communism, is like a tomb. It improves as time goes by. War ruins are slowly cleared and replaced by green squares. There is more in the stores, but—

In West Berlin, hundreds of workers swarm over new apartment houses. Housewives clean their doorsteps. Delivery trucks wheel from busy markets to busy stores.

Stores are jammed with the luxuries of booming West Germany—good quality clothes and shoes, cameras, automobiles, telephones, washing machines, television sets, radios, fruits, every imaginable delicacy.

IN DISREPAIR
In the eastern sector the sagging, war-torn apartment houses on Stalinallee—once the pride of the Communist regime—are slipping into disrepair. On scores of buildings, the facade has fallen away and nobody is doing anything about it.

Dirty streets, placards. The smell of cressets in public buildings and soft coal in the air.

Cheesy clothes. Dust gathering on horrid-looking, unbought, bolted, and replaced by green state-run food stores. Angry-looking housewives waiting to buy new deliveries of onions. Only a few stores with fresh fruit. Butchers advertising special sales of soup bones.

"Every day I commute," said a Berliner who lives in the east sector and works in the west sector. "Every night I see how grim life is in the East with my family. Every day I see how content my friends are in the West. West Berlin never can go under to the Reds as long as people who can see the contrast."

It's no wonder Khrushchev wants to close those street barriers along the 27-mile border.

Helicopter Works Well in Checking Phone Lines

PETOSKEY (AP)—Use of a helicopter to check Michigan Bell Telephone Co. lines between Petoskey and Gaylord has proved successful and may be resumed in the future to determine extent of storm damage.

C. L. Johnson, regional manager, said a Michigan Bell repairman last Monday was able to check from the helicopter in a few hours a wilderness area which normally would have taken days to cover from the ground.

This "glass highway" shows you the biggest advance in tires today...

THE BIG EDGE!

A highway paved with glass! High-speed cameras whirling beneath it as a car drives, turns, stops on the glass! Thousands of pictures taken from under the road show you exactly where today's tires work most, wear most. Show you how a radical new tire tread design developed by B.F. Goodrich gives motorists a big edge in mileage and safety. Read how this great advance in tire design puts more rubber where the wear is—in THE BIG EDGE!

NARROW EDGE

THE BIG EDGE

BFG Silverstone gives you, for the same money, up to twice as much rubber in the outside ribs, where tires work most, wear most. Only B.F. Goodrich has The Big Edge!

See the severe distortion in the edges of this turning tire, photo, from under BFG's glass highway, plain why you find the first tread not in the center of your tires, but the outside ribs.

You see, in today's driving, with suspension systems and faster speed get terrific loads on your tires' outer edges, little in the center—where you're driving straight, passing, turn a corner or stopping.

That's why B.F. Goodrich puts up to twice as much rubber as other major brands, first-line tires in the outer edges. That's The Big Edge—more safety, more mileage than ever before!

City of Kuwait
Back to NormalOfficials Believe Iraq Will Shelve Claim to Oil-Rich Sheikdom

KUWAIT (AP)—The city of Kuwait shrugged off the threat from Iraq and returned to normal today.

Officials generally believe Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem will quietly shelve his claim to the oil-rich sheikdom—at least for a while — because of the marked lack of support from other Arab governments.

With the temperature already in the 90's an hour after dawn, Kuwait turned its back on patriotic demonstrations of the past two days and returned to work. Crowds bunched in the fish market along the steaming waters of the Persian Gulf. Hundreds of oil, died Tuesday.

flashy American and European cars, symbols of Kuwait's oil wealth, ferried between the city and the airport. At every corner groups of workmen waited for trucks to take them to the oil fields 30 miles inland or to the oil port north of the capital.

But the man in the desert was still excited. Lines of white-robed Bedouins in from the hinterland lined up outside the single-story post office in downtown Kuwait to hand in telegrams pledging support for their rulers, Sheikh Sir Abdullah Al-Salim Al-Sabah.

It was good business for the post office—and good business for the scribes who copied the telegrams for those who could not write. The telegram rush started three days ago and shows no sign of abating.

Can't Prove TV Violence Is Bad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Do portrayals of crime, violence and sex contribute to juvenile delinquency?

If the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee can agree on a "yes" or "no" answer to this question in its current inquiry into the effects on children of televised "murder and mayhem," it will succeed where educators, scientists and medical men around the world have failed in studies conducted during the past 50 years.

This is revealed in a United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization

(UNESCO) bibliography summarizing 481 studies concerning "the influence of the cinema on children and adolescents."

But the studies have agreed on one thing, according to UNESCO's introduction to the bibliography published this spring.

That is "on the evidence so far available, it is extremely difficult—indeed, virtually impossible—to establish that the cinema has a direct influence on juvenile delinquency."

The word direct is underlined. Whether even this conclusion could be applied to television and its possible effect on juvenile delinquency is, of course, doubtful.

But some similarities do exist between the two media and many of the motion pictures studied have been through numerous reruns on television.

SOME CONCLUSIONS

Some of the individuals who tried to find out if movies sent youth down the path to trouble came up with very definite conclusions.

"At one extreme it is claimed that films actively incite young people to delinquency," UNESCO said. "At the other, that they are safety valves which may help prevent it . . ."

In the section devoted to "films and juvenile delinquency" the book reports a 1952 German study of 500 juvenile delinquents found only 16 of them were frequent moviegoers while a 1955 report cited a claim by the Spanish guardianship tribunals that 27 per cent of boys who committed crimes in the tribunals' jurisdiction had been influenced by "unsuitable films."

A 1950 paper published in New York by the Council of Motion Picture Organizations and including the statements of 34 well-known authorities on juvenile delinquency summed up their findings.

The title: "Exploding the Myth: Motion Pictures Are Not Responsible for Juvenile Delinquency."

It said the influence of films on youth couldn't be measured or isolated from other social factors.

SOME DISAGREED

The findings of some studies disagreed. One of these, a 1929 report published in Argentina, cited works dating back to 1910 and said studies in "most leading countries of the world" had found "the cinema is widely effective in suggesting crime."

Many of the papers, however, appeared to conclude that they couldn't come to a conclusion. They were comparable to a

1953 Australian report which said that despite all the work that had been done in the field, "little or nothing is known of this question or whether the representation of violence and crime has a good or bad effect on children."

Why We Minimize Hostility of Children

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The fight exploded into action as I approached. A little boy in a red sweater suddenly hurried himself on another small boy and, falling to the grass, they began to pummel each other.

They fought silently, their faces set and grimly intent. Watching from her park bench, one of their mothers called out, "Remember, you're good little sportsmen. Remember, you just want to see who's strongest and don't want to hurt each other."

I wanted to ask, "Madam, how do you know that these children don't want to hurt each other?" but refrained.

For the little boy in the red sweater gave a howl of pain. His nose had begun to bleed and the mothers, hastily squashing their cigarettes, rushed over to their panting embattled offspring to deal belatedly with the fact that they HAD wanted to hurt each other.

Why are we so uncomfortable with the fact that children sometimes wish to injure each other? Why do we ignore Jimmy's roughhousing with his little brother?

Tot May Not Mention Pain

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Shoe Institute reports that a child rarely will report trouble if his feet are cramped or irritated by shoes that do not fit.

This is because the undeveloped foot bones tend to conform to the too-short shoes without pain. Sometimes when a child is busy working — playing — he also will ignore blisters or other irritations.

Host at Luncheon

Mrs. Emmet R. Miller opened her home on Hillwood Drive on Wednesday for the Pioneer Sisters' cooperative luncheon. Devotions were led by Mrs. L. B. Rubey.

The famed Rialto Bridge crossing the canal in Venice, Italy, was built in 1590.

er until he twists Bobby's arm and produces howls of pain?

Why must we pretend that the roughhouse is just "good clean fun" instead of separating the fighters and saying, "That's enough now, I'm not going to let you hurt each other?"

TELL ME WHY
Why do we say, "Bill was only teasing" when his fearful sister brings us the doll from which he has just torn the wig?

Why do we exhort Joan not to make a "mountain out of a molehill" when she comes home to find that her little sister used her new scarf for a paint rag?

What is it about children's hostility toward each other that compels us to minimize it?

We are, of course, afraid of it in ourselves.

This is sad. Because we do not reduce hostility in children by pretending it doesn't exist. It's reduced by helping them tell us all about it in words.

The trouble is, we dare not invite the words. We know that if Jimmy really opened up on his jealous resentment of his little brother, he might become involved in accusation of us, of our partiality to Bobby, bitter memories of injustices we may or may not have done him.

We don't like that to happen. We don't dare to listen to Jimmy's accusing hostility lest it provoke a responsive explosion of our own. This is why we cannot use child guidance advice to help children "get those bad feelings out."

Wanted: Teachers

The Pontiac school district, joining other school systems throughout Michigan, is beginning to wave banner that reads: Needed — More Elementary School Teachers!

At a time when more high quality elementary teachers are needed, fewer are being graduated from Michigan colleges and universities.

Although Pontiac hires more than 100 new teachers each year, the number is not the problem. The problem lies in quality at specific levels. Pontiac schools need in such fields as elementary special education, arithmetic and language arts.

This leadership creates a need for highly trained teachers and two steps are being taken to supply these teachers.

RECRUITING INSTRUCTORS
1) "Convert" secondary teachers to fill elementary school positions.
2) Go outside Michigan for quality teachers.

Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel, began his recruiting several months ago and has hired about 60 teachers to date.

No given outside Michigan only when quality presents itself elsewhere. He far to have interviewed teaching candidates in 10 Midwest states.

The number of elementary certificates issued in Michigan this year dropped, but secondary certificates went up.

"Although teachers in these special elementary fields are hard to find, the fields of social studies and male physical education are overcrowded," Proud says.

"As in past years, we will have to use some secondary teachers in elementary positions. We don't like this in the sense that we want our teachers to be happy with what they're doing," Proud explains.

"But our largest concern must be for the children. If we hired elementary teachers of poor quality, both the schools and pupils would suffer."

SETS GOAL.
"For instance, in the 1960-61 school year we had 41 male elementary classroom teachers. We have as our goal over 50 in September."

"It appears that most of these will be secondary trained people converted to the elementary level."

The "conversion" takes place at Pontiac's preschool teacher workshop Aug. 28-31.

"We average about 25 new teachers annually due to enrollment increases. The rest are replacements for those who retire or resign," Proud explains.

The average annual teacher turnover is about 8 per cent.

"The vast majority leave to have babies, get married, travel or because their husbands have accepted a job elsewhere."

"A year ago only 12 left for better jobs or pay. Seven of these went to colleges or universities and we cannot compete on the university level," Proud asserts.

"OUTSTANDING RECORD"
The same is true in the school year just concluded. Of about a dozen teachers resigning to accept other positions, only six are going to other school districts for better pay or higher positions.

"Out of more than 800 teachers, this is an outstanding record," Proud believes.

The problem of going outside Michigan for elementary teachers, however, has one advantage. Michigan ranks high in the average pay to teachers and Pontiac is above the state average.

According to the National Education Association Research Division, the average salary of classroom teachers in Michigan in the school year just concluded was estimated at $3,525 annually.

Teachers looking for a better average can look only to California, New Jersey, New York or Alaska. Michigan ranks fifth.

Report Baby Girl Born to Wife of Peter Townsend

PARIS (U)—Capt. Peter Townsend and his wife are the parents of a baby girl, their first child.

A spokesman for the family said Wednesday she was born June 16 in a private maternity hospital near Paris and is named Marie Isabelle.

Townsend, now director of a Paris wine exporting firm, married Marie-Luce Jarnage of Belgium in December 1959, after his romance with Britain's Princess Margaret broke up.

Save Record Number of Pigs Per Litter
LANSING (U)—Michigan farmers saved a record number of pigs per litter this spring, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.

The 1961 spring crop was 609,000 head, less than 1 per cent above the 1960 spring total. But the number of sows farrowed was 4 per cent less than the number a year ago, the service reported.

The number of pigs saved per litter averaged 7.43, compared with 7.13 in spring of 1960.

To Get Sentence for Shooting Boy

Pontiac Man Is Found Guilty of Discharging Gun Without Malice

Twenty-two year old Roosevelt Alexander, 211 W. Wilson Ave., will be sentenced July 5 in the shooting of a 15-year-old boy during a quarrel.

Alexander was found guilty of causing an injury by discharging a firearm without malice today by Municipal Judge Cecil McCullum. The charge, a high misdemeanor, carries a maximum sentence of a year in prison, a $500 fine, or both.

The charge against Alexander stemmed from the June 19 shooting of 15-year-old Roy Lee Sharpton, 49 Cleve St.

Alexander told police that a black 22-caliber pistol, modified to shoot bullets, accidentally discharged while they argued over a cat the boy was carrying. Sharpton was shot in the mouth.

Alexander is free on $500 bond pending sentencing.

Red-Led Union Hurt

LONDON (UPI) — A high court decision dealt a severe blow to Communist control of Britain's seventh largest labor union — the Electrical Trades Union.

4 Firms Indicted for Price Fixing on Rock Salt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced today that four salt companies were indicted today in St. Paul, Minn., for engaging in a price-fixing conspiracy.

Kennedy said the conspiracy has resulted in identical bids on contracts offered by state and municipal governments throughout the country on rock salt.

The four firms charged with criminal violation of the Sherman Act are Morton Salt Co., Chicago; International Salt Co., Chicago; Diamond Crystal Salt Co., St. Clair, Mich.; and Carey Salt Co., Hutchinson, Kan.

These four companies mine and distribute 75 per cent of the nation's rock salt, the Justice Department said.

Historical Group Plans Copper Harbor Meeting

LANSING (AP) — The Historical Society of Michigan will hold its 12th annual Upper Peninsula conference July 21-25, in the Keweenaw Park resort at Copper Harbor, the society has announced.

The conference will feature tours of Keweenaw County, the Fort Williams State Park and museum, and the Arcadian mine and a talk by Prof. A. C. Todd of the University of Exeter, Cornwall, England.

Jury Pondering Verdict After Donald Slater Trial

A Circuit Court jury today is deciding whether 35-year-old Donald Slater knew what he was doing when he killed his wife's child.

The jury left the courtroom to begin deliberations at 9:30 a.m. as a deputy sheriff led the Oak Park truck driver back to the county jail to await the verdict.

He is charged with the May 21 murder of Edward Stoner, a 31-year-old former jobber, after Slater's wife Nancy, 25, said she was in love with Stoner. The Slaters have four children.

Slater, a small man who sat with head bowed and hands clasped together as if in a vise during four days of testimony said he can't remember seeing or shooting Stoner that night.

ALL MIXED UP

"Everything was mixed up in my mind," he said.

In his one hour and 20-minute closing argument, Slater's attorney, Clarence L. Smith, said, "I would never convict a person who didn't know what he was doing and didn't do anything wrong to put him in the predicament."

Smith used a defense of "qualified" temporary insanity, claiming that Slater became "a distracted person" when his wife brought Stoner to the Slater home, 818 Warburg Road, and Stoner testified about adopting his children.

Dr. L. Jerome Fink, a defense witness and Pontiac psychiatrist, described Slater as falling into a "hysterical fugue state" after this.

Slater employed what another psychiatrist called "selective amnesia" in recalling those events he wished to, and "conveniently" forgetting others which might be damaging to him, said First Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang.

12-Town Drain Fight Subsidies

County drain officials are looking forward to advertisement for construction bids and awarding of contracts after a public hearing on 12-Town Drain appointments went by yesterday without objections.

A. J. Bersi, coordinator of the long-awaited and legally entangled storm drain, said a wait of 30 days, required by law, is still ahead after the hearing in his Royal Oak office.

He said there were "no objections at all" from officials and citizens of the 14 communities to be served by the $47.5-million drain.

It was during the last 30-day statutory period in which the city of Madison Heights instituted its lawsuit, which went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, protesting its $2.8 million appointment.

Bersi said he expected no objections during the present waiting period.

Advertisement for bids should begin around July 20, he said, with the selling of bonds and awarding of 22 construction contracts by Oct. 15.

Since the City of Madison Heights upset the old appointment, the price of the project has gone up from $4,000,000 because of the State Highway Department "has asked for and has been granted" drainage benefits for the proposed waterway P. Chrysler freeway project.

Brows at St. Ignace

ST. IGNACE (UPI) — Thomas Colgrove, Jr., of Route 1, St. Ignace, drowned Wednesday in Canada's Lake near here while swimming.

The status of Freedom said the national Capitol building is said to weigh almost 15,000 pounds.

Two Oxford Township teenagers were in fair condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with injuries suffered in an auto accident near their home Wednesday.

Injured were the driver, June Chrysler, 17, and her brother, Clifford, 13, of 1791 Coats Road.

The girl told sheriff's deputies that she lost control of the car on a curve of the gravel road and smashed into a ditch, striking a tree.

News in Brief

Larry J. Glass, 29, of 1189 Berkeley St., was ordered to pay a $100 fine and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Oakland County Jail Wednesday after pleading guilty to reckless driving before Waterford Township Justice Patrick K. Daly.

Vandals smashed seven windows and caused other minor damage last night at St. Benedict's School, 60 Lynn St., Waterford Township, police reported.
