Santa Fe Chief Leaves Tracks; 35 Slightly Hurt

8 Cars Remain Upright After Derailment Miles From Nearest Road

NEEDLES, Calif. (AP)—Thirty-five persons were injured, shaken or suffered shock in a Thanksgiving eve derailment of the Santa Fe Chief on the Mojave Desert last night.

Most of the injuries were minor, however. Only two were hospitalized and one put to bed in a motel here.

There were 95 passengers aboard the train when eight cars jolted off the tracks, remaining upright, at a remote spot near Cadiz, five miles from the nearest highway and 62 miles west of here.

The first three cars and the engine brought the passengers here, arriving at 1:20 a.m. today.

These units and other available cars were made up into a new train which left at 3 a.m., five hours late. The train left Los Angeles at 4 p.m. yesterday, was due here at 10 o'clock last night and in Chicago at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow.

Besides the three injured, 13 other passengers remained here overnight because Pullman space was unavailable for them.

Those hospitalized were W. J. Cusack, Los Angeles, for examination of undetermined injuries, and Charles P. Andrews, address unavailable, neck injury and back sprain, expected to be released today.

Santa Fe claim agent W. C. Weese, who provided a list of those involved, said a train vendor, A.C. Green, Los Angeles, who was shaken up, and a barman, A. S. Day, Chicago, who suffered a minor head injury, gave "noteworthy assistance" at the scene despite their injuries.

Green said he was in the dining car when the derailment occurred. "I was thrown to the floor and just lay there until the train stopped," he said.

Many of the passengers on arrival here seemed dazed, or excited, but there was no hysteria. Several said as they milled about, waiting to continue their journey eastward, that it seemed miraculous that there were no deaths or serious injuries.

Eighteen hundred feet of track were torn up, temporarily blocking the Santa Fe main line.

The Santa Fe said the Chief was traveling 65 to 70 miles an hour on an uphill grade. Engineer B. A. Schilling and Conductor F. A. Overbey, both of Needles, reported to railroad officials that they did not know the cause of the derailment.

A Small Young Man Does a Big Job on a Very Large Turkey

Pontiac Press Photos

Latest Returns Push Collections to $526,754 Total

Lyndall Pays Tribute to Leaders and Workers for Help in Drive

Local residents had extra reason to give thanks today as the Pontiac Area United Fund reported late returns have pushed collections over the $525,823 goal.

A $526,754 total was announced late yesterday by Campaign Manager Frank S. Lyndall.

This means 55 local, state and national service agencies will receive the full amounts originally earmarked for them from this year's drive here.

"The victory is shared by 45,000 givers and 6,000 volunteers who fought to reach the full goal," said Lyndall.

"We won our sixth straight UF victory in the face of increased odds. We had to reach a mark higher than the $508,000 raised in 1953 so these health and welfare agencies would not have to cut back services to us."

Lyndall paid tribute to leaders and solicitors in all divisions, calling attention to the "terrific job" done by Commercial Division Chairman Ralph S. Norvell.

"Norvell took on one of the toughest assignments of all," Lyndall stated. "That division covers a tremendous number of places, many of whom are not yet organized. He deserves praise for coming up with $135,325 of the $140,500 quota."

Norvell singled out for special mention John Benson of the construction group and Cecil Cox of the government group plus divisional co-chairman Fred Poole.

Of the commercial total, $121,325 came from Pontiac and $4,000 from Waterford.

He also cited Mrs. A. W. Gault and Mrs. Ralph Bump, co-chairmen for the Geographical Division, which exceeded its $17,500 quota this week with collections totaling $17,511.

The geographical total comprised $6,398 from Pontiac residential, $810 from Pontiac small businesses, $4,940 from Waterford Township and $5,033 from special gifts.

The Industrial Division, headed by Hazen Atkins, was first to reach quota Nov. 8. Its collections total $347,518, compared with a $342,900 goal.

Pontiac received $26,400 from the Bloomfield area.

Lyndall also praised UF Executive Director Dwight S. Adams

More Letters Urge Censure

Several Senators Find Anti-McCarthy Mail on the Upswing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The offices of several senators said today that in the last week the mail they have received in favor of censuring Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has shown a marked increase.

"A noticeable shift has occurred," said an aide of Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif), who has not committed himself on the censure issue. Until about a week ago, the aide said, the bulk of Kuchel's mail was "heavily pro-McCarthy."

Several other senators of varying opinions on the censure issue were likewise reported getting more mail opposed to McCarthy's case, although in some instances the over-all ratio was listed as still in McCarthy's favor or about evenly divided.

On the other hand an aide to Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) said the senator's mail was 100 to 1 against censure and had shown no change. Jenner is a McCarthy supporter.

The Senate's debate on the proposed censure of McCarthy, unanimously recommended by a special committee of three Republicans and three Democrats, began Nov. 8 but was recessed a week ago until Nov. 29 after McCarthy went to a hospital for treatment of an injured elbow.

Deer Kill in UP Short One of Total Last Year

LANSING (AP)—Hunters took one less deer south across the Straits of Mackinac in the first week of this season than they did in the same period last year, the Conservation Department said today.

Conservation officials said a Highway Department count of deer crossing the straits on hunters' cars stood at 7,365 as of 10 p.m. Monday.

At the same time last year, department records show 7,366 deer had crossed the straits from the north.

Attorney Urges Community Residents to Remember Foundation in Their Wills

A prominent Pontiac attorney yesterday called upon citizens of the community to "remember" the Pontiac Foundation in their wills.

"Pontiac had not been fortunate in having had gifts for public purposes made to it in the past," said Clarence K. Patterson, who is also a trustee of the foundation.

"I believe one reason has been the absence of a vehicle by which such gifts could be made and administered," he said. "The Pontiac Foundation fills that need."

The foundation is a trusteeship through which funds are being accumulated for physical civic improvement. Its first major goal is a municipal auditorium.

This week has been officially proclaimed "Pontiac Foundation Week" by Mayor William W. Donaldson.

"To my own knowledge, several people already have named the foundation in their wills.

"I hope this becomes popular, as certainly here is a vehicle by which people in providing for the distribution of their estate upon their death can remember the community in which they lived and prospered.

"I know that many attorneys in the community have suggested to their clients in the preparation of wills that the foundation be remembered.

"I am in hopes that as time goes on more and more people will name the foundation for a charitable gift in their last will and testaments."

Quiz on S-D Day Slated in Pontiac

Police to Ask Motorists Questions About Safety in Weekend Campaign

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

"What is S-D Day and when will it be held?"

As a Pontiac resident, you may be asked to answer that qestion this weekend when the city's policemen will conduct a courtesy campaign aimed at further acquainting the public with the national event.

The right answer:

Safe Driving Day on Dec. 15. It was so designated by President Eisenhower's Action Committee for Traffic Safety.

Its purpose is to show that motorists and pedestrians can eliminate traffic accidents by their own alert actions.

However, the President's committee is proposing another specific purpose for S-D Day.

The challenge confronting every American community on that day will be to remain completely free of traffic accidents for the entire 24-hour period.

Already numerous organizations have pledged their cooperation, ac-

U.S. Ponders Ways to Get 13 Americans Out of Chinese Prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — Measures short of war were being carefully weighed today by American officials charged with trying to win freedom for 13 Americans condemned to prison by Red China.

With military action apparently ruled out—President Eisenhower yesterday pledged every step "humanly possible within peaceful means"—these State Department officials had three principal avenues open to them:

1. To protest in "the strongest terms possible," as they already have set out to do, to Red China's representative at Geneva.

2. To bring pressure on Communist China, as they have in the past, through British and other Allied representatives at Peiping, or perhaps even through the Russians.

3. To go to the United Nations, as they did with protests against atrocities in Korea and the shooting down of an American plane, with demands for a resolution of censure.

Red China announced Tuesday that 11 U. S. airmen and two U. S. civilians captured during the Korean War had been sentenced as "spies" to prison terms ranging from 4 years to life. Yesterday Peiping radio broadcast that these 13 plus five Americans who had died were among 230 saboteurs the Chinese Reds said were captured or killed inside China since 1951.

Eisenhower said yesterday the U. S. government is doing everything "humanly possible within peaceful means to get our boys back."

Washington has instructed U. S. Consul General Franklin Gowen at Geneva to make "the strongest possible protest" to his Red Chinese counterpart, Weng Peng-chiu.

As far as going to the U. N., American officials appear somewhat cool. No practical results came from U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodges denunciation last September of the Red Chinese shooting down of an American plane.

In all such maneuvers in the U. N., America runs the risk of opening the door for Red Chinese membership.

Sees Population of World Hitting 4 Billion in 1980

CHICAGO (AP)—The world's population, now somewhat in excess of 2½ billion persons, might reach four billion by 1980, says John D. Durand, acting director of the Population Division of the United Nations.

However, Durand last night spoke of the difficulties of making world population estimates, and said the 1980 total might be as small as 3.3 billion persons. He said sudden changes in birth rate, improved medical care, wars, famines, and pestilence can bring drastic shifts in population trends.

Durand estimated the United States will have a population of about 200 million in 1980. He spoke at the University of Chicago.

This Could Only Happen Out There in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The California Highway Patrol bulletin reported today:

A patrolman who stopped a speeder one recent night parked his car with its red light flashing.

While he wrote out a ticket for the speeder, another motorist stopped behind the patrol car.

When the officer went to the second car to ask what's the trouble, he drew the reply:

"No difficulties, officer. I'm just waiting for the green light."

Imprisoned Airmen Get Note of Hope From Reporter Freed by Reds

(Don Dixon, who spent 18 months as a prisoner of the Chinese Communists, has an eloquent message of faith and hope for the 13 U.S. airmen jailed in Red China on trumped-up "spy" charges. The International News Service correspondent, writing from the heart and from his own harrowing experiences, counsels the imprisoned Americans to be brave. Dixon, who knows the full meaning of the miracle of freedom, tells in the following personal story how he reacted to news of the fate of his 13 fellow countrymen and what he would tell them, if he could, about the people back home who are working to set them free.)

By DON DIXON

WASHINGTON (INS)—I feel I'm one of the luckiest guys in the world. And I am so thankful!

This may sound strange coming from somebody who has spent 18 months in a prison in Red China. I would have argued with that statement too—up until Tuesday.

That was when I first saw the headlines — "13 Americans Sentenced by Red China on Spy Charges."

I didn't know any of those who were sentenced. But I know a bit about Communist China and a bit more about the prisons in that country and I felt for those 13.

And it was then that I realized how lucky I was to get out when I did. Just why they released me when they did, I don't know.

It was partly because of a spin of the peculiar Communist wheel that decided that I and my companions would be freed rather than being made to "confess" to some phony spy charges.

It was very likely that same wheel that spun and decided that these 13 American airmen and civilians would be put on the Communist block and sacrificed to the hate - America campaign which flows through the official vitals of that huge country and turns their cider-sweet talk of friendship into vinegar.

With probably no more evidence than they have on the 13 they sentenced to terms of four years to life Tuesday—and most likely that is no evidence at all — they could have sentenced me to a similar term. Because evidence, as we know it, isn't what they need. They make their own.

As it was, they kept my companions and myself 18 months in vermin-infested prisons for nothing at all. They falsely claimed what we had "intruded" into their waters while we were on a sailing trip from Hong Kong to Portuguese Macao.

They said we were guilty and that was all there was to it. And finally, after many months of solitary confinement and interrogations, they made us "confess" to this so-called intrusion.

Finally, the weight of public opinion which was kept alive by our families, our newspaper friends and American government officials dovetailed with the spin of the Communist wheel and made them release us last Sept. 15.

But it could have been the other way around. We could just as easily have been added to the 13.

The Communists said these 11 U.S. airmen and two civilians they sentenced yesterday "confessed" to the charges. I know what those confessions are worth. And that is nothing.

They are obtained through methods as much of a third degree as any practiced, although they may not leave any marks on the body.

Solitary confinement doesn't leave any marks. Neither do long interrogations which begin at odd hours.

Then there are other things. The feeling of helplessness; the long hours they leave you with nothing to do but think. The drumming into your mind of the "confess, repent and go home" routine. The bad food and the resultant illnesses which leave you weak in body and, what is worse, in mind.

If I could talk to those 13 and to the many other Americans still in Communist prisons—some who have been "tried" and others who have been languishing there for three and four years without "trial," I would tell them what I found out since I have been home.

I would tell them that the people back home haven't forgotten them and are working every day to get them free. I would tell them that the wrongs that have been done to them and the wrongs that will be done to them will not be forgotten.

I would tell them to have faith in these people back home and faith in themselves.

I would tell them to be brave.

Toyland Section to Replace Balloons in Yule Parade

For the first time in seven years, the comically grotesque balloon figures will be missing from this year's Christmas Parade, slated for Dec. 4 in downtown Pontiac.

But John A. Riley, parade marshal, is certain a new "Toyland" float section will more than make up the deficit.

In fact, the balloons were given the air just to make way for the toyland section.

Riley explains it this way:

"In last year's parade we used floats for the first time. They comprised the religious section of the parade.

"The people in the city's churches built the floats, conceiving and executing the ideas.

"Public response was very enthusiastic. Non-church people wanted their organizations to become a part of the parade.

"The balloon figure section had always been a commercial proposition — we had to rent them.

"Seeing the popularity of the float idea and the greater spirit of community cooperation it engendered we decided to eliminate the balloons and go all out with the floats.

"We are sure the toyland section will be much more colorful and entertaining for the children."

Riley said youngsters and parents at 12 Pontiac schools are busy with hammer, saw and papier-mache fabricating the floats.

They will depict Christmas stories, nursery rhymes, cartoon characters and television and story book heroes, he said.

The religious floats again are being constructed by the church groups. "And we'll have more this year than last," the parade chief said.

Again, they will graphically portray the story of Christ's birthday.

Third Annual Men's Night Planned for December 6

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—There'll be a lot of out-of-costume Santa Clauses roaming through Birmingham's stores come Dec. 6—that's the night for hubbies, daddies sons and brothers to do their Christmas shopping, unmolested by wives, mothers, daughters and sisters.

The third annual Men's Night, sponsored by the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce, should find the male sex out in full force if last year's turn-out is any criterion.

Charles Mortensen, Chamber of Commerce manager, reports that between 2,000 and 3,000 gentleman turned out for the last gentleman's Christmas shopping spree.

Store doors, at least 73 of them, will be open to men only from 7 to 10 p.m., enough time for any man to do his Yuletime shopping! And especially if he's been tossed a few suggestions, or comes armed with a size list or a clerk's name.

Richard Wilson, who heads the retail merchants committee, already has his group working on a brochure that will forewarn all members of the family of the men's night out.

Working on the annual event are George Burnett, Wilbur Mason, Frank Mulholland, Aaron Kerschenbaum and Charles Mortensen.

Air Force Flier Killed in Crash

Capt. James R. Tedder Was on Routine Flight in England

Air Force Capt. James R. Tedder of Pontiac, a decorated veteran of World War II and the Korean War, was killed in a crash at Wethersfield, England Friday, his family said yesterday.

Attached to the 55th Fighter-Bomber Squadron, Tedder, 36, died when his F-84 jet crashed into the ground on the heels of a sister ship which was attempting to guide him in for an instrument landing after his radio equipment failed. The other pilot was also killed.

Tedder was on a routine training flight from Prestwick, Scotland.

He was the son of Joseph F. and Mina Whitehead of 349 Cass Ave. Tedder's body will be returned to Detroit tonight.

The flyer had over 4,000 air hours to his credit and had been stationed in England nearly three years.

During 30-months duty in Japan and Korea, Tedder flew 112 missions receiving the Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters.

He was cited for making dangerous low-level attacks against ground installations and equipment. His missions included long range patrol and low reconnaissance over enemy territory during which he was subjected to flak, enemy aircraft and small arms fire.

A Pontiac High School graduate, Tedder was employed at Fisher Body Division and on a Highland Park newspaper before entering the Air Force in Feb. 1943. He was stationed in Europe when World War II ended.

His wife, Verna, and four children survive.

Other survivors besides Tedder's parents include seven brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Jack of Mt. Clemens, Harvey, Robert, Theodore, Hazen, Vaughn and Frederick, all of Pontiac.

The sisters are Mrs. Gilbert O'Brien, Mrs. Kenneth Sheply and Mrs. Donald Sawdon, all of Pontiac. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

British Honduras Going American, Even Use Slang

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP)—Baseball has edged out cricket as the favorite sport in British Honduras and its English rulers are a bit irked. Not only that, but many of the better educated natives speak English with an American rather than a British accent; they have a "Yankee Dollar" restaurant; like the United States and sing "God Bless America."

Much of this can be traced to a school operated for half a century by the Jesuit Fathers of St. Louis, Mo. Jesuit priests came here in 1896, founded a church and then a school named St. John's. Funds and contributions came from the St. Louis area, and still do.

Today St. John's college is not only the most important educational institution in the colony, but one of the best in all Central America.

Asking Commitment for Confessed Slayer

KALAMAZOO (UP) — Henry Smith of Parchment signed a petition yesterday asking that his 15-year-old son be spared a murder trial in the sex-slaying of Marilyn Kraai of Holland.

Smith asked that his son, Louis, be committed without trial to the State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Ionia. The next step is for Circuit Judge Raymond Fox to name two psychologists to determine if young Smith is criminally insane. If he is, he may be committed without standing trial.

Young Smith has confessed slaying the pretty student nurse in the basement of Kalamazoo State Hospital Nov. 5. Should he be brought to trial, his attorney said he would plead guilty by reason of insanity.

Refugee Youths Seeing American Freedom Today

FREEDOM (AP) — Two Romanian youngsters who fled the Iron Curtain to freedom are flying to Freedom, Pa., today for a Thanksgiving Day celebration keynoted to the theme of the blessings of liberty.

The borough of Freedom, about 20 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, is going all out to show the children a real old-fashioned Thanksgiving.

This little town, named for the abstract term "freedom," intends to emphasize the reality of the word in the United States for 12-year-old Nicholas Tagjoru and 14-year-old Aline Pop, both of New York.

Borough officials readily pledged their cooperation when the American Heritage Foundation, sponsor of the celebration, proposed the plan recently.

The community is a symbol of the freedom sought by oppressed peoples the world over.

Accompanied by their mothers, Nicholas and Aline will arrive at Greater Pittsburgh Airport this morning and proceed by motorcade to Freedom.

After a big parade, officials and many townspeople will join the children in a civic dinner at the high school. A Thanksgiving pageant will follow.

Why Mothers Tire Subject of Research

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State College researchers want to know why mothers get tired. They're going to try and find out by asking the mothers themselves.

Drs. Elizabeth Wiegand and Irma Gross of MSC will interview 100 Lansing mothers. The mothers to be interviewed, from every section of the city, all have at least two pre-school age children.

These mothers were selected because it was felt they had the heaviest work load.

The mothers will be asked their attitudes on relaxation and sleep, their likes in household tasks, what household equipment they have to work with and what play areas are provided for the children.

Windfall Brings Worry for Finder of Jewels

FALMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Joe Posey, 62, found $4,000 worth of jewelry on the highway and he calls it bad luck. The owners can't be found and lawyers are uncertain about Joe's claim.

Friends and neighbors have been jealous and he doesn't know what to do about his find. If he used his new wealth he fears someone would claim it after the money was spent. All he's gained from it so far is worry.

Fined on Traffic Charge

BIRMINGHAM—Pleading guilty when he appeared yesterday before John J. Gafill on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol, Sam B. Goodman, 43, of Detroit, was fined $65.

Conspiracy Found

BATTLE CREEK (UP) — Circuit Judge Blaine W. Hatch Wednesday held the Battle Creek Building Trades Council engaged in a conspiracy in an attempt to organize workers on the Albert Satin, Inc., rental housing project in Lamora Park last year. Judge Hatch said the Kalamazoo contractor was entitled to a permanent injunction restraining the trades council from picketing the project.

Michigan State's only undefeated basketball season was in 1902-03.

Thanksgiving Day

Today 163,000,000 Americans are celebrating what should be one of the happiest Thanksgivings in our history.

Not since that first Pilgrim observance in 1621 have there been so many reasons for gratitude to Almighty God.

The day is an appropriate one because it is both a national and family festival. It is marked by fitting services in our churches and joyous reunions in our homes.

Besides those blessings reflected by the bounty of our land we have important other reasons for thankfulness. Though we are living in an era of uneasy peace, certainly we can count it a blessing that our Government has been able to do so much to reduce the threat of global war.

We owe to our Founding Fathers a debt of gratitude for an economic climate conducive to maximum individual initiative and collective benefits. There is cause for thankfulness, too, in the steady strengthening of our national economy and the bright hopes for prosperity in the coming year.

Destiny has made us Americans co-trustees for democracy's future in many lands and of the fate of millions whose only hopes for freedom are linked to the survival of free governments.

Let us then prayerfully beseech today the strength and wisdom which will not let us fail this trust.

Death of a Red Statesman

Death of Andrei Yanuarievich Vishinsky removed from the international scene a man who had earned an unenviable reputation as an agent of Soviet Russia's will.

No one has ever doubted Vishinsky's ability. As a notorious purge trial prosecutor, Soviet foreign minister and Russia's chief delegate to the United Nations, he had proved himself the master of the vituperative phrase.

Of all the Russians who have come into the world spotlight none could say "nyet" with more vehemence than the man whose life was ended so suddenly by heart disease.

Vishinsky was educated for the law. Earlier in his 70 years he was a Menshevik — member of the moderate wing of the Russian Social Democrat party. As such he was opposed to the Bolsheviks, the revolutionary wing.

When the Bolsheviks became dominant Vishinsky had little difficulty in switching over to the majority side. More important for him, he made good the switch by his work as prosecutor in the 1936 purge trials.

In those trials he was instrumental in sending hundreds of thousands to lingering deaths in Siberia. Scores of others were liquidated by firing squads as a result of his zeal for Stalinist Communism.

With Jacob Malik chosen to succeed Vishinsky as chief U. N. delegate, the latter's death won't bring any sharp change in Soviet policy. Nor will any tears be shed for him here.

West's Unity Growing

There has been a most cheering and significant development on the international stage.

It is the smoothness and speed with which the Paris agreements substituted for EDC are moving toward ratification. As a result the outlook is far brighter than anyone could have hoped at the time of EDC's demise.

Already Britain's House of Commons has approved the agreements 264 to 4. The negligible opposition vote has been attributed to Clement Attlee's instructions to the Laborites. He told them they could abstain but could not vote no.

Equally encouraging was the action of the West German cabinet. Members not only accepted the Paris agreements but even the hotly disputed Saar arrangements. In Bonn cabinet OK means almost certain endorsement by a majority of the Adenauer coalition in the Bundestag.

In Washington, unlike the situation at Bonn, cabinet approval of any program is no guarantee that it will win Congressional support. Nonetheless, the prospect is that the Paris agreements will have Senate ratification early next year.

★ ★ ★

The situation in France hasn't crystallized yet. But all signs point to the likelihood that Premier Mendes-France will succeed in winning ratification from a national Assembly which wanted no part of EDC.

In other words, Western unity is growing. This in turn means the nearer German rearmament is to reality, the sooner the West will be able to negotiate from strength in its dealings with Russia.

Translation of the typical Russian proposal for disarmament: "If you'll throw away your gun, we'll unload ours."

These meetings were held in Rome, Barcelona and Lisbon. They each were attended by over 1,500 delegates, coming from 60 odd nations. As their president, Dr. Hudson presided at their sessions. He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Hudson.

Pat has a swollen eye, and Mike continues his lessons—but in dancing.

Robert Lambert Suggests Annual Drive to Raise Funds for Pontiac Foundation

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Recently I noticed in your paper an article about the Pontiac Foundation. I had never heard of this foundation before but I became very enthused about it when I found that its purpose was to build a civic auditorium.

I also noticed that there had been some sizable contributions and that although the foundation was started 10 years ago it had received only $20,000.

Since this week has already been proclaimed Pontiac Foundation week, I suggest that a drive to help this cause along be started. If Thanksgiving week were set aside each year for such a drive, it might take only ten years or so for the one million dollar quota to be reached.

Even if the citizens of Pontiac just knew where to send contributions, I think that a considerable amount of money could be collected. If each citizen could or would send that spare dollar or two, this foundation would grow rapidly considering the 80,000 citizens in the city.

We need this civic auditorium to keep Pontiac from becoming a hard and cold "big city" prematurely, so let's all be civic-minded and contribute to the Pontiac Foundation, a foundation to help citizens say "Pontiac" with pride.

'Still Disgusted' Pleads for City Roller Rink

This is in answer to Don Dodman's letter. I know what a fine organization the American Legion is and I wish to thank you for helping me prove a point. Why should people go to Auburn Heights for their recreation?

I used to live in the Heights and I know it does take an interest in its people. I also know there is a rink not far from the Heights and that is what I'm trying to get across.

My child is only 5 years old and goes to school. Because my husband works nights, he takes the car and that is why I say that if there was a rink in town mothers, like myself, could take their small-frys skating by bus and get them home early.

I wish there was a sufficent number of people in Pontiac with enough backbone to find out why we haven't a rink in town.

Some Divorcees Use Alimony Laws to Break Husband's Spirit, Finances

When should a wife be granted alimony and for how long a time? Should men be imprisoned for failure to keep up their alimony payments? What is your opinion of Faris' case below?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-376: Faris L., aged 47, is the former advertising manager of a department store.

"I made a good salary and had a wife and three children. When my wife was forty, however, I found that she had begun to go around with other men, and had not lived up to her marriage vows.

"Divorce proceedings were begun, but she cited the children and her desire not to be separated from them, so I consented to a settlement by which she received our $25,000 home and its furnishings, along with her car and $250.00 per month.

"This was before Pearl Harbor. Within two years afterwards I was in the service as a Captain and my income was much less than when I was a civilian.

"After my release from the Army, I got a sales job at $300 per month. I had met an attractive woman whom I married in 1943, and we have one youngster.

"But my former wife insisted on that $250 monthly payment. I couldn't meet it. So she had me put into jail for a month.

"Now I've had it reduced, but I lost my job meanwhile, so I am looking for work. My second wife has stood by me throughout all this trouble.

"Dr. Crane, why should a woman who had procured all the money I had, still hound me so that I lost my job? I thought women had some sense of sympathy and a little human kindness."

This matter of alimony has many pros and cons. It not only is a protection to many innocent wives with families to care for, but it can also become an instrument of barbarism not excelled by the torture devices of the feudal barons.

Many an otherwise dissolute and irresponsible young husband has been made to shoulder his just responsibilities by such a court mandate as alimony. But many a scheming and vindictive woman has broken her former husband's spirit as well as his finances by an inhumane misuse of the alimony law.

The purpose behind the awarding of alimony is the protection of women and children who may have suffered by a man's misbehavior.

If a man marries a young woman in the prime of her beauty and attractiveness, and after giving her several children, decides to leave her, or squander his time and money on young sirens, then the court very properly attempts to guard the welfare of the injured wife and the innocent youngsters.

Again, if the wife has valiantly stood by her husband for a score of years and helped him build his fortune, even though she has no children to rear, she is entitled to a just share of their common wealth.

If a young woman has married, and the couple cannot live together happily, but seek divorce after only a few years, there being no children and no wealth acquired during the marriage, what sort of a financial settlement should be made?

Has the wife been injured more than the husband because of this marital failure? Is the social stigma of divorce worse for the woman than for the man? Will it be more difficult for her to start up a new independent life or to marry again, than it will be for her ex-husband?

These are questions which society attempts to answer and tries to adjust fairly by means of alimony.

A woman's beauty is considered a marriage asset, so the girl who has grown five years older since her marriage is supposed to have lost more of her attractiveness than has her husband, since men are not chosen so much for their looks.

But what price beauty is a difficult question to settle. What do you think of Faris' situation? Do you believe that men should be imprisoned for being in arrears in their alimony payments?

James Marlow Says:

Reds Have Fertile Field in Backward Populations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Russia may be reaching that point in developing their hydrogen bombs where neither will want to get into a war which might mean the annihilation of both.

But a military stalemate between the West and Russia doesn't mean either will stand still. Neither can afford to. The undeveloped areas of the earth are huge. The people living in them can be numbered in the hundreds of millions.

Neither the West nor Russia can sit idle while the other tries to win over those millions of people with their vast land and resources.

No doubt the Communists — as they showed in Korea — will try to take over by invasion where they think the West will let them get away with it. Where the Communists can't use direct military means, other weapons are handy.

They can use internal subversion and propaganda — based on promises, appeals to nationalism, and the wretched lives and living conditions of the people in the backward areas — to win with intrigue and words what they can't take by arms.

As an example: Suppose you were a Southeast Asian living in poverty, just as your fathers before you, and poverty was all you could see in store for your children.

Medical care for you was practically nonexistent. Your life expectancy, and the life expectancy of your children, was far less than that of an American or West European.

You had no education. There was small chance of it for your children. Freedom? Western men prized it but they had held you as a colonial until recently. Democracy? You had heard of it. But it had never been part of your heritage.

Then suppose the Communists—men of your own country — promised you and your children a better life, medical care, education, jobs with good pay, old age security. And the cost to you? Just supporting the Communists.

That you were surrendering to a dictatorship which might leave you in the end more wretched economically than before perhaps would not mean much to you if you never had a fair chance to understand and enjoy freedom and practice democracy.

What might seem the only important thing to you was the promise of a better life. To a wretched man a promise of less wretchedness would be better than no promise.

The Communists have a fertile field to plow in the poverty, ignorance and insecurity of the backward peoples.

The Communists, dedicated to taking over the world, can't stand still. And the West can't stand still while they try to take over, country by country, until half the world is gone.

How then can the West offset the promises of the Communists and win over the people of the backward areas, giving them a sense of direction, a new hope, a promise of a better life and, more than that, make the promise a reality?

The Eisenhower administration is apparently working to keep the backward areas from the Communists with a program to make the people there stay with the West.

Administration officials yesterday were reported considering a big new foreign economic program which may lead to the investment of billions of dollars in underdeveloped countries, notably in non-Communist Asia.

Two days ago Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen told a news conference the United States has started talks with European countries about their participation in an enlarged Asia development program.

The administration project seems to be in its infancy. Before it becomes a reality there will be long debate. In the end the economic - social struggle for the world's backward places may prove more final and fatal than a shooting war.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(International News Service)

You can hook up the first Tuesday and the last Thursday this month in celebratory echelon. Except that Thanksgiving is unanimous.

The turkey shoots are getting more personal and there is a ground swell in the mashed potatoes. But we see no reason why the Democrats and Republicans shouldn't shake hands and be friends until sundown.

Outside of the twelve years of prohibition Thanksgiving has been a legal holiday since 1864. The Pilgrims started it in 1621 while making Cape Cod safe for Greenwich Village.

We don't know who put the brandy in the plum pudding but that's the real reason Jack Horner sucked his thumb. We don't know about table manners but we know you lose a lot eating it with a fork.

While the Pilgrims were hanging their hats up on arrows they saw the national out-size squab scratching gravel in the sticks. They loaded up their blunderbusses with more scrap iron than we sold Japan in 1936.

The sixteen-pounder was too much for two people. That's when Priscilla said to Miles, "Why don't you ask John?"

That was 333 years ago and no crow ever flew like that turkey went. The Pilgrims gave thanks to Heaven. And from that time nobody ever saw a Pilgrim with a wrinkle in his vest.

Since then this has been a land flowing with milk and honey. And we don't want nobody to plug the leak.

So we give thanks today in a world confused with bickering and stirred with encroachment. The only double-dealing we know over here is that second helping of turkey.

Brady May Have Low Blood Pressure ---But He Has Never Let It Worry Him

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Medical authorities have been publishing their views or theories of the nature of hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis), each his own, since the first issue of the "doctors' bible" in 1892.

I'm no authority about this or anything else, just a student, with little respect for those who use words to fill the blank spaces between thoughts.

But, I have browsed on the medical literature ever rince Topsy was a colt, learning just enough about blood pressure and arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) to realize that most people and some physicians regard one or both entities as disease, whereas in fact high blood pressure and-or arteriosclerosis in most instances may be a favorable, compensatory change which maintains good circulation, and not a malady to be "treated" blindly with drugs, diets and other measures heralded by Uncle Pete and Aunt Polly.

Rummaging in the junkroom the other day I noticed my Janeway sphygmomanometer (mercury column) and it reminded me that the few times my blood pressure was measured in the past forty years (life insurance examinations and once or twice when I underwent general health examinations for the fun of it), I have not asked or cared just how many points, degrees, notches, inches or millimeters it was. Instead of bothering about such things I just go on rolling somersaults every morning, doing the belly breathing exercise two or three times a day and—this or its equivalent is most important—enjoying complete diversion for three hours on the bowling green three afternoons each week the year around.

Of course one must reside in paradise to do this, but even in purgatory, if you are serious about it, you can cultivate some sport, avocation or hobby which will absorb your interest and distract your attention from your job, or from your blood pressure or your heart action.

Many years ago a doctor examining me for life insurance—the only investment I could afford and by all odds the best investment I ever made—remarked that my blood pressure was low. I don't know or care, but I believe it still is low, because my pulse rate is always slow when I'm at rest—56 to 60, when it doesn't drop a beat in the quarter minute. But apart from being a cantankerous geezer I enjoy excellent health. So I'd be a ninny if I gave a thought to my low blood pressure or my bradycardia (slow heartbeat) or the pulsations that don't come through.

Some readers with high blood pressure may think I wouldn't be so happy about it if my pressure were high. I don't know, but I think if I had high blood pressure I'd try to find out what if anything ailed me and if medical examination showed nothing wrong, particularly no nephritis (kidney degeneration) I'd have no further interest in blood pressure and devote myself to leading a normal life, good hygiene, and enjoying life in a wholesome way.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

3rd Class Mail May Be Probed

'Junk' Circulars Sent to Box Holders Thrive Under New Policy

WASHINGTON (INS) — The so-called "junk mail" which is choking your mail box these days is sure to be the subject of a congressional investigation in 1955.

"Junk mail" is the uncomplimentary name for third-class letters and cards which reach you unaddressed, referring to you merely as a "householder" or "occupant" on the same postal route.

Not until August 1953, was it possible for an advertiser to reach so many potential consumers in such a simple way. The new wrinkle in postal service was introduced by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield at that time in his campaign to cut down on the huge postal deficit.

But, besieged with complaints from mailmen, newspapers and ordinary citizens, members of the House and Senate post office committees in the 84th Congress will demand that "junk mail" be justified or discontinued.

Postmen are unhappy because of the added burden that comes from carrying hundreds of extra pieces of mail. Many householders complain because they are being inundated with "useless" handouts that clog their mail boxes.

And newspapers feel that "junk mail" unfairly deprives them of revenue from advertisers who now feel it is cheaper to use the U. S. mails.

In answer to these complaints, the Post Office Department cites facts and figures which it says show that all taxpayers are benefiting from third-class, unaddressed mail since it has reduced the postal deficit.

In fiscal 1953 — from July 1, 1952, to June 1953 — before "junk mail" was authorized, the post office handled a little more than 12 billion pieces of third-class mail with total receipts coming to less than 214 and one-half million dollars.

In fiscal 1954, the 12-month period which ended last June 30, there were 15 billion, 900 thousand pieces of third-class mail, and receipts were 248 million dollars.

Although there is as yet no breakdown as to how much of the third-class mail in fiscal 1954 was unaddressed, the Post Office Department assumes that much of it was, and was therefore greatly responsible for the 33 and one-half million dollar increase in receipts.

Cancer Society Denies Charge of Tobacco Bias

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Cancer Society says it will continue to battle cancer no matter where the chips may fall.

A tobacco company president had accused the society of centering its fire on cigarettes even though there wasn't "a single shred of substantial evidence" to link them with lung cancer.

E. A. Darr, president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., which manufactures Camels and other brands, based his charge on results of research being conducted by the cigarette companies.

In answer to Darr's blast, the cancer society's president, Dr. Charles S. Cameron, said in a statement:

"We center our attack only on cancer and with the support of the public we shall continue to do so, regardless of where the chips fall."

As for the society's expressed view that there is an association between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, Cameron said:

"We have expressed what we believe to be the trend of opinion of those who have given the most careful study to the evidence."

Formosa-U.S. Pact OK Seen

Treaty Would Insure Defense Against Attack on Nationalist Isle

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Negotiations for a mutual defense pact between the United States and Nationalist China are in their final stages and official quarters here appear confident it will be signed by year's end.

Nationalist China considers the projected pact to be of immense importance because, officials say:

1. It will give permanence to the U.S. commitment to defend Formosa.

* * *

2. It more or less rules out any prospect the United States might recognize Red China or be a party to any big power deal affecting Formosa's future, such as the imposition of a trusteeship.

3. It will probably result in a substantial increase of U.S. military aid to strengthen Chiang Kai-shek's armed forces.

* * *

4. It will tend to bolster the Nationalist intention of regaining the lost mainland.

5. It will establish a strong "They shall not pass" line against communism, and thus greatly encourage those Asiatics outside the Bamboo Curtain.

* * *

Formosa has been under the protection of the U.S. 7th Fleet since June 27, 1950 — right after the outbreak of the Korean War. But, without a mutual defense pact, the United States could, at any time it chooses, withdraw that protection and leave the Nationalists to their own devices.

Sources familiar with the negotiations say the United States has insisted that the scope of the pact be limited to Formosa and the strategic Pescadores, off the west central coast of Formosa.

New American Gives Thanks for Life in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—A classified ad in a Chicago newspaper headed "a grateful American," was Alex Washchenko's way of expressing his gratitude, on the day before Thanksgiving, for the blessings he found in the United States.

The ad, in the Sun-Times today, read in part: "Having lived through two unforgettable totalitarian regimes in Europe, where I have suffered untold cruel abuse, through the hand of Providence five years have gone since I came to this free and blessed U.S.A."

Washchenko, a stocky man of 34, is married and has a daughter and three sons, ranging in age from 12 to 1.

He said when he lived in the Russian Ukraine, in 1941, his father was sent to Siberia and he was sent into forced labor. The Germans came in 1943 which kept him in forced labor until liberation by U.S. troops in 1945.

Four years later he came to the United States, going to Detroit. But he came to Chicago in 1951 and got a job as a laborer at a manufacturing plant. Now he is a class-A spot welder and earns $340 a month take-home pay. He recalled his forced labor in a Russian tank factory was 16 to 18 hours a day with barely enough to keep his family alive.

In his ad, Washchenko describes "the warm and pleasant feeling" of a good job and friendly superiors and ends: "I thank God for such sympathetic human beings in this wonderful God-blessed America."

Washchenko said there was no hope of home ownership under either Germans or Russians. He and his family live in a neat six-room North Side apartment.

Waschenko's eyes flashed when he told a reporter: "We are moving into our own house — buying it for $25,000."

Hubbard Will Try for Court Vacancy

DEARBORN (INS) — Dearborn's Mayor Orville E. Hubbard has informally announced he is going to make another try to get on the Wayne County Circuit Court bench.

Hubbard said he would begin Dec. 10 circulating petitions to get on the ballot for the vacancy which will be filled at the spring election next year.

Hubbard, who expressed a desire to get "one of those hand-tailored marble - and - mahogany offices in the City-County Building penthouse," declared:

"Look at a judge's salary — $24,500 a year. Why, that's nearly four times my salary as mayor of Dearborn.

"And look at the prestige. Around Wayne County they spit on mayors but really bend the knee to judges."

Iranian Royal Couple Will Pay Visit to U.S.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and Queen Soraya will pay a two-month visit to the United States beginning early in December. They will be guests of President and Mrs. Eisenhower at a White House luncheon Dec. 13.

A court announcement said yesterday that the Shah, on the advice of his physician, will get a medical checkup in New York.

Revenue Agents Study One in 19 Tax Returns

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal revenue officials put the magnifying glass on one of every 19 income tax returns filed with the government during the fiscal year 1953. The ones selected for audit were those with the largest chance for mistakes.

The annual report by the Commerce Clearing House, a national reporting authority on tax and business law says an average of two of every five income tax returns examined for fraud resulted in recommendations for prosecution. This represents an increase over the previous year's ratio of one to three.

Crowd Sees Ancient Egyptian Relic Uncovered

Pharaoh's Boat Survives 50 Centuries

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Workmen whose ancestors sweated to build the Pyramids yesterday lifted a 20-ton limestone slab sealing off a wooden boat buried at one of those royal tombs about 5,000 years ago.

A crowd of diplomats, scholars, officials and newsmen crowded forward for a glimpse of the prow of the funeral vessel or solar boat of the Pharaoh Cheops, resting in a narrow chamber in the shadow of the Great Pyramid.

• • •

Shaped from wood to form a stylistic flower, the prow had been detached. It lay on the deck along with a perfectly preserved 300-foot coiled rope, planks and pieces of rotten linen.

Many of the spectators said they could scent a faint aroma arising from the cedar woodwork, originally brought from Mt. Lebanon.

Witnesses collected in a wooden shed at the base of the Great Pyramid while chanting workers with pulleys lifted the stone slab, one of 42 forming the ceiling of the boat chamber.

• • •

When the slab was pulled away they could look down to see the front end of the craft nestling in a chamber that would scarcely accommodate it.

Kamal el Mallakh, the Egyptian who discovered the chamber last spring, said the boat is longer than was previously believed. The length of the chamber indicated the boat would be 110 feet long, but if the detached prow was replaced the boat would be about 120 feet long.

Similar boats have been found in the past, but Mallakh said this was the biggest and oldest yet discovered.

• • •

Zaki Nour, chief inspector of the Giza area, explained that the ancient Egyptians believed eternal life to be in the sky and the Pharoahs frequently chose boats as the best means of transport to immortal life.

"Our Nile was one of the world's first great highways and it is natural the Pharoahs should have preferred to travel by boat," Nour said.

Cheops probably had this boat built for such travel to the sky, he added.

• • •

Discoveries made since the finding of the boat now indicate Cheops himself died and was buried before his boat was buried. Nour said red quarry markings indicate the boat chamber was finished by Cheops' successor Dedefra — sometimes called Radedef.

The plans for opening the chamber stirred up a conflict between some Egyptian archaeologists and promoters of the tourist trade.

The objecting archaeologists protested the ceremony might seriously hamper the delicate work of studying the boat and that excessive publicity was embarrassing to scholars.

• • •

The chairman of the committee supervising the opening, Abdel Moneim Abubekr, sent in his resignation in protest, but Egyptian Director of Antiquities Moustafa Amer delayed action on it.

"This discovery must serve either tourist propaganda or science," Abubekr said in an interview. "If it must serve propaganda, I do not belong on the committee."

He said specialists should have two months to work on the find in private.

• • •

Egypt's senior archaeologist, Dr. Ahmed Fakhry, said the boat is a welcome discovery, but its value has been exaggerated.

"Such boats have always been known to exist around tombs of the 1st Dynasty, hundreds of years before Kufu (Cheaops)," Fakhry said.

"There are two in the Cairo Museum and one in Chicago, found in Dahshur, South Sakkara, and dating from around 1900 B.C."

MONTROSS, Va. (AP) — Near the entrance to Stratford Hall, birthplace of Robert E. Lee, stands Grant Memorial Methodist Church. The church has nothing to do with Gen. U. S. Grant, Lee's opposite number in 1865. The church was named for its first pastor.

Bob Considine Says:

U.S. Spending $1,000,000 for 6 More Hours of Time

CLEVELAND (INS)—This is one of the critical areas which concern the planners charged with protecting America against possiple atomic attack by the Red Air Force. It is not quite a Detroit or Pittsburgh, in the target line, but it manufactures enough of the intricate tools of modern war to place it ahead of several larger cities, as targets go.

To give the people and workers of Cleveland (among other U.S. industrial centers) six hours of a precious atomic age commodity named time, the U.S. is spending $1,000,000,000 on a network of radar stations to be strung across the top of the world.

If the Reds come at us through the air the shortest route is over the top of the earth. The radar necklace, to be stretched out just this side of the top of the harassed spheroid on which we scratch out our existence will, we hope, sound an alarm giving millions of Americans six hours notice to crawl into a lead-lined cellar. Or to sell the house and car to a somebody who didn't hear the news.

Seven links of the massive radar chain already are in place the rest are a-building. When complete the warning stations will string out from the tip of the Aleutians, across Alaska, Arctic Canada, Greenland and Iceland.

Hundreds of miles to the south of the center of the proposed chain is the Mid-Canada radar line. South of that is the U.S. radar defense.

Strategic industrial targets like Cleveland are now rimmed with Nike launching sites. This ground - to - air missile, whose range recently has been boosted from 25 to 50 miles, can find and destroy any aggressor plane at a speed of 1500 m.p.h. we hope.

Beyond the North Pole, and on down the frozen reaches that slope from it on the opposite side of the world, the Russians unquestionably are busy with the same frantic preparations.

They believe we'll attack; we believe they'll attack. Each means to make the aggressor pay dearly for his recklessness.

It is simple to report the bare fact that we're building such a modernistic breastworks. But no word of mine could hope to describe the fantastic engineering difficulties involved.

Not too long ago I visited a then-secret radar outpost far up the Merrill Pass in Alaska. To stake it out, Air Force engineers had been dropped by helicopter to the top of a 5,000-foot mountain off which a man might easily fall or be blown.

To build the rugged little airstrip at the base of the cliff, the Air Force people cut up huge land-moving and surfacing machinery, dropped it into the valley by parachute, then parachuted welders on to the spot. Then put the stuff back together, and in time a strip was scraped from tundra and the more hostile face of the land.

To build the actual installation atop the mountain, Air Force men packed 50 pound loads on their backs and clawed up and down that mountain like ants—or the builders of the pyramids. There were no working hours, as such. Men worked until they could no longer stand the Arctic gales and bone-chilling cold. Or until they could no longer stand. Period.

But the place was built. There isn't a road within 200 miles of it. Without the airplane, and the hazardous route it must fly to reach this place, the garrison would perish. Other places like this will be built in even wilder and more menacing climes and areas.

I returned from this radar outpost in Alaska thrilled to belong to a country that could produce the likes of these men, this machinery and that know-how.

But then a sobering letdown. At a big inter-continental bomber base on the West Coast I told a Strategic Air Command officer about the marvels I had witnessed, such as the circus-tent-sized plastic bubble—inflated and heated — which protects the sweeping antenna of the forlorn outpost. He shrugged.

"Oh, yes," he yawned. "I know that one. We knocked it out the last time we flew over it." He meant that we have developed an anti-radar instrument which can literally blind the eye of defensive radar and let a bomber slip through without detection.

If we've got one, so have the Russians ... perhaps. On the strength of that word "perhaps"—and a yearning for six more hours of that precious commodity — we spend a billion to imbed eyes in the forehead of the free world.

Welcome Home Queen Mother

Royal Family, Crowd on Hand for Greeting in London Yesterday

LONDON (AP)—The royal family, government leaders and thousands of commoners welcomed Queen Mother Elizabeth home yesterday from her eventful tour of the United States and Canada.

She came up from Southampton on a special train after leaving the liner Queen Mary, on which she had traveled from New York.

The first person she greeted at Waterloo station was her daughter, Queen Elizabeth II. The Queen Mother, beaming happily and wearing a floral hat, stepped from her coach briskly and impulsively embraced the Queen. They kissed and clung to each other a moment.

Then the Queen Mother joyfully greeted the Duke of Edinburgh, resplendent in a naval uniform, and bent down to receive the welcome of her grandchildren, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

• • •

There was just one disappointment. Her daughter Princess Margaret was not there. At Clarence House, where she lives with her mother, it was announced the Princess has a feverish cold and had been advised not to leave the house despite the sunny weather.

But the Queen Mother was assured the Princess' illness was not severe and she was able, without a maternal worry, to acknowledge the acclaim of Londoners who crowded the streets between the station and Clarence House for a glimpse of her in a bright procession of carriages escorted by the household cavalry.

Among the first to greet her, and murmur "well done," was Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, in his most genial mood. There were many other notables on the station platform, including Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden, and U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich.

Pontiac Driver Injured as Car Hits Utility Pole

Allen P. Nichols, 26, of 4 Williams St. was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injury Tuesday after his car rammed a utility pole in front of 173 Mill St., according to Pontiac Police. Nichols said he failed to negotiate a turn and lost control of his car.

Barkley Still Has Plenty of Bounce on 77th Birthday

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — Democratic Sen.-elect Alben Barkley of Kentucky celebrated his 77th birthday yesterday in a seaside cottage at the retreat where he honeymooned with Mrs. Barkley five years ago.

The former vice president, looking at his birthday cake, quipped that Mrs. Barkley should be the one to cut it "as she is older than I feel."

The Barkleys arrived here in time to celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary, Nov. 18.

Soy Thieves Mechanized

WATSEKA, Ill. (AP) — Sheriff's officials are quite sure that the thieves who stole 600 bushels of soybeans worth $1,600 from Roy Lubben's farm didn't work too hard. They figured the robbers brought along their own machinery, using a portable motor driven elevator to load the soybeans from a bin into a semi-trailer truck.

Sign on Project Big Headache

City Fathers in Dallas Find They Should Have Let Well Enough Alone

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas' new public library is going up without a hitch but a sign at the construction site is causing no end of trouble.

After work on the two-million-dollar edifice had been under way about six months city officials noticed that a big sign listed every firm taking part in the construction—but didn't say what was being built.

A sign painter rushed to the scene and put up this sign:

"This is really a sign of progress. A new public library for the City of Dallas. Bonds voted 1927, 1945 and 1952."

City dads were immediately beseiged to explain the lag between the 1927 bond vote and the 1954 construction date.

The sign painter rushed out again.

Now the sign reads simply: "A sign of progress. A new public library for the City of Dallas.

Nose Knows Better

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Workmen digging footings for a new schoolhouse thought for a moment they had struck oil. Then their noses told them different. It was a broken sewer line that flooded the diggings.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL — By Charles Dickens

Christmas is ahoiv all a time for charity, and two gentlemen were collecting money to feed the poor.

But when they asked Scrooge for a subscription to help the unfortunate, he screamed at them: "Are there no prisons? No workhouses?"

"Many would rather die than go there," protested the gentlemen. "All the better!" cackled Scrooge. "Let them die and decrease the surplus population!"

Dog Dies Before Getting $1,000 Willed by Owner

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Sandy, a 10-year-old boxer dog who stood to inherit $1,000, died in a city pound early yesterday—apparently grieving over his late owner.

When his owner, Mrs. Josephine Zuzak, 73, was found dead from natural causes in her home two weeks ago, Sandy lay on the bed beside her body.

Later Sandy was believed lost, but was in the city dog pound — where he refused to eat or drink. Senior dog warden Manuel Goldring said the dog was pining away for his owner.

* * *

Mrs. Zuzak's will was filed for probate yesterday in the Passaic County Surrogate's office, and it provided that $1,000 be left in trust for Sandy.

Named as trustee for the dog's fund was Jack Kleinberg of East Paterson, Mrs. Zuzak's former employer.

Terms of the will also provided that if the money was not needed for Sandy, it would go instead to two New York City institutions.

Sandy died shortly before 2 a.m. today.

Deducts Own Reward

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The unidentified person who found Rose Kitchner's purse, apparently felt it was worth $20 to the owner to get it back. The purse, containing $90, was returned in the mail. It contained $110 when it was lost.

Each American consumed 76.6 pounds of beef, on the average, in 1953.

15-Year-Old Soup Is Fit for Royalty

COPENHAGEN (AP)—A soup prepared at least 15 years ago was served for Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia and the king and queen of Denmark at an imperial banquet here this week.

The soup was one of the dishes at a banquet at Copenhagen's Hotel d'Angleterre last Tuesday. The emperor had invited 88 prominent Danish guests headed by King Frederik and Queen Ingrid.

The menu was ordered by Haile Selassie himself. When he asked if a genuine kangaroo tail soup could be served, the hotel manager, without batting an eye, replied "Naturally, your majesty."

A hotel spokesman said today that there happened to be plenty of cans of genuine kangaroo tail soup in the hotel food stores. The cans were imported from Australia shortly before World War II. No guests had ever before asked for the delicacy.

"All the guests agreed that the soup was excellent," the hotelier said. "The emperor was especially happy about it."

Pedestrians Refuse Free 1 Dollar Bills

BOONE, N. C. (AP)—It's not easy to give away money. At least that's the conclusion of J. B. Johnson, who likes to study human psychology.

With 10 crisp one dollar bills, Johnson recently stood on a street corner here and offered money to 23 pedestrians. Only three people accepted dollar bills.

"Truth of the matter is humans don't trust each other anymore," Johnson observed. For instance, one woman told him, "Young man, don't bother me. I'm not interested in your tricks." Another said sharply, "Please, out of my way."

The experiment led Johnson to this summation: "People work hard for money. Some steal it. Some try to manufacture it. But few will let you give it to them."

Careless Inspection Puts Station Off Air

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Aldo DeDominicis, general manager of WNHC-TV, unwittingly knocked his own station off the air for a few seconds.

Inspecting new equipment at the station's television transmitter, DeDominicis became so engrossed that he didn't notice a sign reading "KEEP OUT" on a door. He opened it. That's when every receiver tuned to the station went blank.

As a safety precaution, the door is fitted with a device which shuts off the station's power the instant it is opened.

Inside Safest Place in Electrical Storm

DALLAS (AP) — The safest place during an electrical storm is indoors, a weather expert says.

Meteorologist M. C. Harrison of the Weather Bureau says a person caught outdoors during lightning should stay away from such well grounded objects as metal fences or isolated trees. Better shelter is in a ravine or in the open. A grove of trees is fairly safe.

Inside, you should stay away from plumbing fixtures.

STRASBURG, Va. (AP)—A curfew for children under 16 has been imposed by the town council here in an effort to combat juvenile delinquency.

Annual Words Give Reverent Thanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Each year, they say it. The words don't vary much, even though the authors do. And whether it's now, or next time, or recently, or long ago, the idea is the same. The gist of it:

"Thanks to the Lord."

Along about this time every autumn, the President of the United States sends out an annual message, and if you run back through them, you'll find this is one subject Presidents agree on.

As a bit of sideline research, Dr. F. Epling Reinartz, secretary of the United Lutheran Church, did just that, and came up with a string of presidential words of reverence and thanks for the past 90 years.

* * *

On the basis of these messages, he said, it has certainly not been the fault of the Presidents if the traditional Thanksgiving observance was focused "on anything else than God himself."

The national holiday didn't begin until the era of Abraham Lincoln — the first President to issue a Thanksgiving proclamation — although the custom harks back to the Pilgrims.

It had sort of faded into Colonial history until Lincoln "revived the celebration," Dr. Reinartz said.

Only some New England states and a few others had taken official note of the occasion, when in 1864, with the sorrows of the Civil War still on him, Lincoln started the succession with these words:

* * *

"I do therefore invite my fellow-citizens in every part of the United States . . . those at sea . . . those sojourning in foreign lands to observe the last Thursday in November as a day of Thanksgiving and praise to our beneficient Father who dwelleth in the heavens . . ."

And the words echoed down the years. All the 18 Presidents since took up the theme. Here are a few of the messages.

Grover Cleveland: "Let our people . . . with prayer and songs of praise give thanks to our Heavenly Father for all that He hath done for us, while we humbly implore the forgiveness of our sins and a continuance of His mercy."

William McKinley: "In remembrance of God's goodness to us during the past year, which has been so abundant, 'let us offer our thanksgiving and pay our vows unto the Most High'."

* * *

Theodore Roosevelt: "We live in easier times and more plentiful times than our forefathers, the men who with rugged strength faced the rugged days; and yet the dangers to national life are quite as great now as at any previous time in our history. It is fitting that we should . . . set apart a day for praise and thanksgiving to the Giver of Good."

Woodrow Wilson: "In a spirit of devotion and stewardship we should give thanks in our hearts and dedicate ourselves to the service of God's merciful and loving purposes."

Franklin D. Roosevelt: ". . . to set aside in the autumn of each year a day on which to give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of life is a wise and reverent custom."

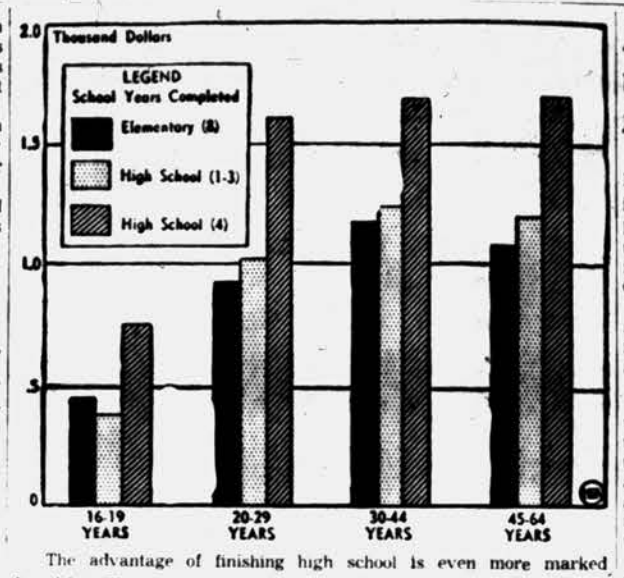

Dwight D. Eisenhower: "On that day let all of us . . . bow before God in contrition for our sins, in suppliance for wisdom . . . and in gratitude for the manifold blessings He has bestowed upon us and upon our fellow man."

Empty Pair of Pants Brings Police on Run

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"Hurry," the excited caller told police headquarters. "There's a man hanging from a window on the 12th floor of the hotel.

Police squad cars reported back, "Just a pair of pants drying—cancel call."

Freeman Francis, a clothes presser at the hotel, had washed the trousers and hung them out the window on a piece of wire to dry. To the excited passerby the shadow of the swaying trousers on the side of the building looked like a man.

The advantage of finishing high school is even more marked for girls. The young woman who graduates from high school makes considerably more at age 20 or 21, than the average eighth grader ever reaches. Above Newschart shows average income for women by age groups and amount of schooling completed. Data compiled by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Peron Backers to Defy Church in Rally Tonight

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron's Peronista party and his labor backers have called a mass meeting for tonight as a show of strength in his open dispute with Roman Catholic authorities in Argentina.

Peron will be the principal speaker. The meeting will be held in the Luna Park boxing stadium, seating 25,000.

* * *

The controversy appeared intensified today. Church leaders told Peron in a letter yesterday they were astonished and grieved at his charges that three bishops and 21 priests were trying to infiltrate labor and student organizations to undermine his government.

The Peronista press renewed its denunciation of some clergymen. The Catholic newspaper El Pueblo rallied to defense of the church. El Pueblo said Catholicism is faithful throughout the world to Christ's mandate to render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's and unto God that which is God's.

* * *

In Cordoba province, where Peron said the fight against him centered, Peronista forces continued the expulsion of suspected persons from the party. The National Committee threw out a provincial senator, Juan Valinotto.

Pine Casket Holds Deadly Corpse in Atom Graveyard

RICHLAND, Wash. (NEA) — It was a simple pine casket. It was sturdy with bracing. And when it was finished it weighed five tons.

The corpse was in a bad state of decay. You were sure to die if you came within 500 feet of it. It weighed five tons, too, and you stood way back on a knoll and watched with a pair of field glasses while a remote control crane eased it into the casket.

This kind of funeral is common here. For this is the site of the Hanford Atomic Products Operation run by General Electric for the Atomic Energy Commission. And the processing equipment, used in separating plutonium and uranium from the intensely radio-active fission products in the Hanford reactors, becomes highly contaminated with radioactive materials.

This corpse, now resting in its casket, was measured by a counter 500 feet away. After many months of service, it had picked up a radiation intensity equal to that given off by 25 pounds of radium—more than 10 times the supply of refined radium in the world.

When any piece of atomic processing equipment fails to the extent that even remote control of it is fatal, it must be replaced. And replacement presents a new problem: disposal of the unusable piece.

It is possible, according to science, to store the equipment in a shielded space. But it could take months, if not years, until the radiation would fade to a more manageable level.

Should multiple failures of equipment occur, shielded storage space would be quickly exhausted.

For the most part, atomic processing is usually fatal to the equipment that is used. Vessels corrode quickly. And so the Hanford plant has come to the answer of burial.

It is a grotesque cemetery that has come into being here. For the bodies do not rest in peace. They are still active with deadly radiation in their graves. So their sites are widely separated and no one visits them.

Interment, too, is a silent and barren business.

This vessel, whose radiation equals that of more refined radium than exists in the world, was untouchable.

The pine box, lined with waterproof paper to present air moisture from carrying radiation, now sat on a railroad flat car. A heavily shielded crane had eased the deadly vessel into its box. The crane also nudged the box cover down. It snapped closed.

Coupled ahead of the flat car were 10 spacer railroad cars — to give shielding to the locomotive engineer who was now easing the throttle. The train slipped forward.

"B-Day" was Saturday. Normal traffic on that day, according to tabulations, was at a minimum. All personnel were cleared from the track area and roadblocks were set up 1,000 feet back of each track crossing.

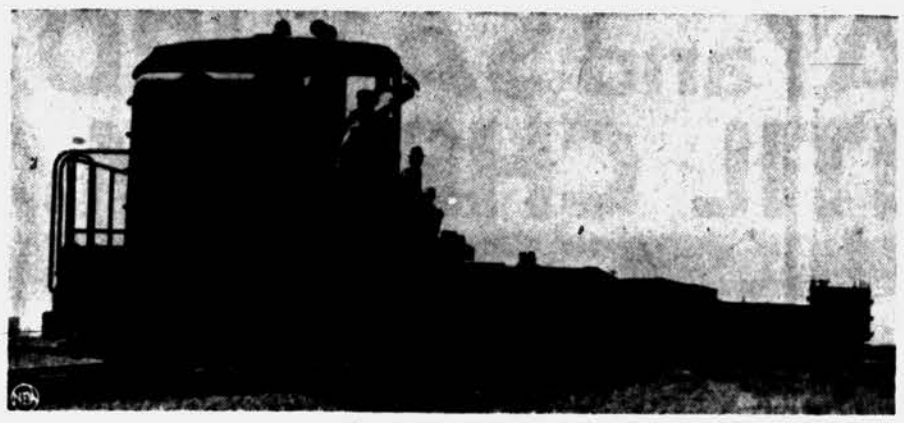

The time schedule, calculated against the deadly radiation in the box, gave the train engineer one hour's working time, the bulldozer operator who would pull the box into the grave two hours, and the signalmen guiding train and bulldozer six minutes each.

But something went wrong. The dragline attached to bulldozer and casket was long enough to give only six minutes to the operator. Besides, the radiation levels were so high that mirrors and periscopes could not be adjusted. The bulldozer man could not see into the grave.

It was more than hazardous. The operation moved along a high and trembling tightwire, eyeless and slowly.

The method itself was successful. Planners and strategists would have to build heavier shielding walls. Draglines would have to be longer. Periscopes would have to be mounted on booms on the bulldozers that would drag protective earth over the deadly box.

But the plan of train-and-bulldozer burial had worked. The old-fashioned shielded crane method — useless at high levels of radiation — had been replaced. And one more step was taken into the atomic age.

'BODY' STILL WARM—Atomic age funeral train at Hanford has ten spacer cars between locomotive and "casket" at rear housing contaminated equipment. Cable on side will pull the casket to its grave.

"AT CEMETERY"—Burial supervisor in hooded suit keeps track of radiation as dragline cover atomic casket with dirt. Mirror on boom gives operator view of grave beyond earth and concrete shield.

Store Executive Confused With Charity Seeker

CARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Irish-descended William F. Condon, president of a prosperous Charleston department store, reported visiting a West Cork, Ireland, bar room looking for relatives.

Barkeep Willie Condon first gave him the cold shoulder because he thought this was another poor relation looking for a handout, Condon said.

"Another Condon!" he quoted Willie as exclaiming. "They're coming from England, Scotland and even France because they've heard I've inherited a lot of money."

When Willie found he had adequate means of his own, Condon said, refreshments were on the house.

BEFORE THE FALL—Steeplejack Peter Jekubs, 50, hung upside down for more than an hour from a weather tower high atop a Baltimore building, while firemen tried to rescue him. Just as they were about to put a safety belt around his waist, a rope holding Jekubs by the leg parted, dropping him 100 feet to the ground. He received multiple fractures and was killed.

Retired PFCs Back Censure

No Generals, Admirals With Group Petitioning for Joe's Reprimand

PALMER, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. Winifred Swanson, 30-year-old housewife who says she doesn't believe Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) is "America's best answer to communism," is only a little surprised by the snowball growth of her drive to support his censure.

Only last Tuesday she decided something should be done to "counteract" the petition drive of the Committee for Ten Million Americans Opposing Censure.

Mrs. Swanson, mother of a year-old son and wife of a tariff computer for a Springfield trucking firm, announced she would seek 20 million signatures favoring censure.

• • •

She typed up a few petition forms and sent them out.

Since then, she has done little, she says, "but answer the 'phone and sign for telegrams," with a little time out to run off more copies of her petition on a borrowed duplicator.

She says she has sent out 1,500 copies of the form, with instructions to have them signed and mailed directly to Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the committee which recommended censure.

For that reason she doesn't have any idea how many signatures have been affixed to her petitions.

She says she has had requests from all parts of the United States asking for forms.

One came from a man who identified himself as Ace Hatfield, of the famed feuding West Virginia family.

Once she got the ball rolling, Mrs. Swanson said she turned control over to a "committee of privates, first class, retired," with her husband, Marshall, World War II veteran, as one of the committee.

That's a direct jab at the pro-McCarthy committee which includes several retired generals and admirals.

Youngster Saves Pennies All Year . to Buy Old Buggy

FARNHAM, Va. (AP)—While his playmates spent their pennies, nickels and dimes for things that appeal to most 10-year-olds, Elwood Schools saved his money to buy an antique—a buggy.

Mrs. A. F. Schools, Elwood's mother, says it took him about a year to accumulate the $5 purchase price. And he had to save a little more to buy paint to refurbish it.

The buggy—with shiny black body and wheels of Chinese red—is a novelty even in this rural area. Youngsters take turns providing the horsepower.

Elwood now is saving his money to buy a bicycle—the tandem type.

Trunk of Car Used as Home by Felines

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (AP)—When Charles J. Gambale, found a mother cat had "commandeered" the trunk of his car for herself and five new kittens, Gambale suspected the kits were born elsewhere and carried by Mom into the trunk, through an opening in the floor.

He has taken his car off the road because he plans to buy a new one. He says he'll leave the family in the trunk until the kittens are old enought to strike out on their own.

Cuba supplies more than 2½ million tons of sugar to the U. S. market every year.

Hospital's Toy Library Amuses Sick Children

OMAHA (AP) — Children's Hospital has a toy library for its young patients. When the collection of toys donated to the hospital outgrew the cupboards where it was kept, a specially eqiupped room was set aside.

Volunteer women distribute them. Biggest rush at the toy library comes at 3 p.m. when visiting parents leave and the job of diverting homesick youngsters starts.

Cleans U.S. Flags Free

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Tired of seeing soiled flags on patriotic holidays, Memphis laundry operators have announced they'll clean American flags without charge.

Cartoonist's Widow Gets $2,500 Monthly

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The widow of the late cartoonist George McManus was granted a $2,500 monthly allowance from his estate in a court order signed recently.

The court approved a petition filed by guardians appointed for Mrs. Florence McManus. They said expenses for the household staff are $1,150 a month, plus $150 monthly medical care; $700 for food, household supplies and car upkeep, and $500 a month for incidentals.

McManus died Oct. 22. His estate will exceed one million dollars.

Jail Visit Expensive

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Justin Slatkovich visited a prisoner in jail. When he left he found someone had rammed an auto into the rear of his parked car. Police investigated, learned Slatkovich had no driver's license. He was fined $5 and $8.20 costs.

Heart Ills Menace Middle-Aged Men

NEW YORK (AP) — The risk of death from heart and blood vessel diseases among middle-aged men has increased almost 25 per cent during the past generation while it has decreased by almost as much among women in the same age group.

These findings were reported yesterday by the American Heart Assn., which said that in 1953 deaths due to cardiovascular diseases accounted for more than half of all deaths, or 794,000.

These Cotton-Picking Southern Columnists

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—For 28 years, newspaper columnist Karr Shannon and his wife have been bickering about who is the best cotton picker. Finally, they decided to settle the issue in the cotton field.

Mrs. Shannon picked 46 pounds; Karr trailed with 31.

"What'll we argue about now?" complained Shannon.

Grand Jury Completes Term in Record Time

FORT DAVIS, Tex. (AP) — Twelve men marched from the district courtroom to the grand jury room. Three minutes later they returned and told Judge Louis Reed, in effect, "No crime, no business," and were discharged.

The San Angelo Standard-Times reported it the shortest grand jury term on record in Jeff Davis County.

Pontiac City Affairs

Equipment to Cost $8,763 for Adah Shelly Library

Purchase orders for $8,763 worth of furniture and equipment for the new Adah Shelly branch library were approved by the City Commission Tuesday night.

"The equipment is not the cheapest, but it's what Miss Shelly feels is in the best interests of the library," said Walter K. Willman, city manager.

The bulk of the furnishings will be supplied by the B. F. Farnell Co., which entered a $7,853 bid. General Printing Co. was awarded a $910 contract.

The new library, slated for completion early next year, is named for the long-time city librarian.

In other action, the commission turned down an application for a food license filed by Dolan's Drugs, 164 Auburn Ave. The City Health Dept. advised against issuance of the license.

A resolution was passed accepting an alley deed from Nick and Sadie Leone.

Subsequently, an ordinance rezoning to commercial 1 classification lots 138 to 140 of assessor's plat 138 and a portion of lot 166, assessor's plat 138, was passed.

A similar ordinance concerning rezoning to commercial 1 a portion of lot 29, Homestead Park subdivision, was deferred two weeks.

Resolutions were passed to authorize execution of quit claim deeds to Robert C. Costello and the Roseline Oil Co. for city-owned property.

The commission confirmed a special assessment roll for curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Francis street from Pike to Chandler.

A letter acknowledging receipt of a resolution congratulating Pontiac Motor Division on its new models was received from Robert M. Critchfield, division general manager.

Public hearings were set for Dec. 7 for the following projects:

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Whitfield from Saginaw to Edison, and on Tennyson from Baldwin to Hollywood.

Lifespan of Chickens Gets Steadily Shorter

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Science, which is causing people to live longer, is shortening the life of broiling size chickens.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says it took an average of 89 days to bring chickens to broiling size in 1917. But by 1952, because of advances in breeding, nutrition and disease control, such chickens reach market age in 72 days.

PONTIAC FLOAT—The new 1955 Pontiac Custom Catalina was a major star of General Motors Golden CARnival celebration parade in Flint Tuesday. A companion float to the one shown above featured a 1926 Pontiac which represented GM's 5 millionth car. The University of Notre Dame band led the Pontiac section of the parade which included 13 1955 Pontiacs.

Four-Year-Old Dies of Gunshot Wounds

PENTWATER (AP)—Oceana County Coroner Hollis Tate said 4-year-old Stephen Hansen suffered fatal gunshot injuries yesterday while at play with an older brother, Lester, 8.

The boys' mother, Mrs. Henry Hansen, said she had been attempting to dislodge a piece of candy from the throat of her 2-year-old daughter, Amy, when she heard a noise and Lester called.

Mrs. Hansen said she found Stephen crumpled at the foot of the stairs leading to the upper floor. She said the brother cried incoherently about a hunting knife while she rushed Stephen to a nearby physician.

The boy was dead on arrival at the physician's office.

Oceana Sheriff William Carr said an inquest has been ordered.

Stephen was the second youngest of seven children in the Hansen family. Three older brothers told Carr they kept hunting shotguns in their rooms at home but said they were not loaded.

New Method Stretches Apple Storage Time

EAST LANSING (UP) — A special "controlled atmosphere"-method of storage may stretch the cold storage of apples in Michigan as much as six months, two scientists at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station revealed today.

Agricultural engineer Irving J. Pflug and horticulturist Donald H. Dewey said a controlled atmosphere storage prevents spoilage by keeping the storage room as nearly airtight as possible.

Conclusive results of the research has not yet been determined.

Latin American Progress Goal of Economic Meeting

QUITANDINHA, Brazil (AP)—Delegates to the Inter-American Economic Conference prepared yesterday to thresh out a score of proposals aimed at Latin-American development. Most of them would involve greater U.S. aid to southern neighbors.

In lengthy speeches yesterday outlining their needs, delegates agreed they should get more help but they had not decided how to talk Uncle Sam into it.

One of the more concrete programs yesterday was outlined by Jorge Prat, Chilean treasury minister. It called for creation of an inter-American fund, drawing its capital from resources Latin-American nations have cached in foreign banks, bonds and credits.

A survey among the 250 delegates and advisers at the conference indicated that while many consider the Chilean proposal interesting, some agree with the U.S. contention that the resources of the international finance corporation proposed recently by the World Bank governors, together with funds avajlable from the Export-Import and World banks, are adequate to meet their needs.

Another Chilean proposal calls for organization of a commodity commission to provide a buffer between Latin-American producers and U.S. consumers. The commission would negotiate the sale of surpluses.

It is generally believed the United States will oppose this idea because it wants a free hand to deal directly with individual nations.

Jaime Debot Velasco, Ecuador's economy minister, outlined a 10-point program which drew the attention of many delegates. To speed Latin-American development, he said his nation wanted:

1. Just prices which would have a "reasonable relationship" with prices of manufactured goods.
2. Priority for investments in Latin America.
3. Elimination of double taxation.
4. Continued regular investments permitting Latin-American expansion.
5. Elimination of restrictions on loans.
6. International finance organizations willing to expand credits to private industries.
7. Technical and economic assistance.

* * *

8. Wider regional trade within Latin America.
9. Establishment of industrial structures to shore up the weakened economies of the nations.
10. Creation of a Latin-American payments union to settle trade debts between the South and Central American nations.

These 10 points covered most of the specific proposals made by other nations.

The Latin Americans generally cheered a new Washington plan—the "policy of the good partner"—outlined by U.S. Secretary George Humphrey.

Assuring the other nations of U.S. sympathy toward their needs, Humphrey said President Eisenhower's administration agreed "that substantial foreign lending will be necessary if we are to achieve our goals in this hemisphere.

"We shall do our part generously and loyally in meeting that need," he promised.

The U.S. program included a proposed extension of Export-Import Bank operations and participation of the bank in a multimillion-dollar export financing company to provide additional credit.

Humphrey said President Eisenhower also would ask Congress to approve U.S. participation in the proposed international finance corporation and to act on proposals regarding taxation of foreign-earned income.

Million-Dollar Surplus at Year-End in Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—A higher tax levy and a bigger share of state taxes helped the city of Detroit wind up the current fiscal year with a surplus of more than a million dollars, it was reported yesterday.

Auditor General David V. Addy said the city still had $1,128,000 after spending $167,221,000 during the 1953-54 fiscal year. A year ago, city finances showed a $563,119 surplus after finishing in the red during the five preceding years.

Addy said such a surplus was "a tremendous thing for a governmental unit to accomplish twice in successive years.

Prison, FBI Refuse Comment

Anti-Red Feeling Rumored Cause of Remington Death

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — William Walter Remington, former U. S. Commerce Department economist convicted of lying when he denied handing over secret government documents to a Communist spy ring, died today at the federal penitentiary here after a mysterious beating.

The 37-year-old prisoner, serving a three-year term for perjury, was attacked viciously about the face and head Monday morning. The weapon: a piece of brick wrapped in a sock.

Remington underwent emergency brain surgery yesterday in an effort to save his life. He died 11 hours after the operation.

• • •

Acting Warden Fred T. Wilkinson disclosed the death, reported the identity of the assailant "is fairly well established" and then cut questioners short with the remark: "Anything further must come from the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

FBI agent Norman McCabe at Philadelphia said his office is conducting an exhaustive inquiry but declined any information until the investigation is completed.

The 21-year-old Lewisburg penitentiary covers 27 acres, and the huge walled prison lies in the heart of a 900-acre federal reservation that includes a vast farm which supplies much of the institution's food. The prison houses approximately 1,500 inmates.

• • •

Remington, married twice and the father of three children, was convicted Jan. 27, 1953, and entered jail the following April 15. It was his second trial on charges of perjury, centering around his denial that he ever belonged to the Communist party or was associated with Red - connected groups.

In the prison with Remington was Alger Hiss, another top government aide also serving a perjury conviction sentence for lying, too, about past Communist party connections.

Hiss, jailed 3½ years ago, is scheduled to be released on parole Saturday. Hiss is a former State Department official. He was adviser to the late President Roosevelt at the Yalta conference and secretary of the San Francisco conference which founded the United Nations.

• • •

There was never any allegation that Remington and Hiss operated in the same Communist ring.

Rumors persisted outside the prison walls that the attack on Remington represented a start of a demonstration against the release of Hiss, sentenced to a five-year term but getting out earlier because of time off for good behavior.

But James Stewart, secretary to Wilkinson, described this as far-fetched, and said: "I can see no connection between Hiss and the attack on Remington."

Stewart said further that Hiss, who works in the prison library, is not being placed under any special protective guard.

• • •

Remington was assaulted in his dormitory squad room. Wilkinson said the dazed inmate was discovered by a guard "on the second floor stairway landing below his third floor dormitory quarters."

When Remington's condition worsened, the prison physician, Dr. Leon Witkin, summoned Dr. Charles Tomlinson, of nearby Milton, and an immediate operation was ordered.

Remington steadfastly denied any Communist connections or affiliations. These, however, had been challenged at his trial by Elizabeth Bentley, a self-confessed Soviet spy ring courier, and Remington's first wife, Anne Moos Remington.

• • •

The specific charges on which Remington was convicted were that he lied in denying he had transmitted secret government documents to Miss Bentley, and that he knew a Young Communist League unit existed at Dartmouth college when he was a student there.

The New York Post quotes Remington's wife as saying he was attacked in prison by "a couple of hoodlums who got all worked up by all the publicity about Communists."

Mrs. Remington, who married the slain former government employe between his first and second trials, lives under her maiden name with a blond 18-month-old son.

• • •

The Post said Mrs. Remington, a former Washington newspaperwoman, consented to the interview only on condition her maiden name and the name of her child not be disclosed.

Only a few neighbors and close friends know her identity, she said. She has an income from free-lance writing.

"My husband thought he was getting along well with the other inmates. But there are strange people in penitentiaries and apparently outside, too."

She said she had not received permission to visit her husband after the beating.

Settling Down at Last Is Couple's Ambition

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"Most people plan to travel when they retire but we want to settle down," Mrs. Paul Clement said the other day. She has good reason.

Her husband, a Gulf Research geophysicist, has been transferred to Bakersfield, Calif. The move came only six months after he had built a "dream home" in the belief he would be stationed here for a long period.

In their 23 years of married life, the Clements have lived in 10 states. The move to California is their 41st since he became a geophysicist.

DRAPED WITH STARS AND STRIPES—The first cluster of U. S. sacks of grain for victims of Austrian floods is readied for loading on a pier in Trieste. Some 25,000 tons will be sent to stricken families stranded by Danube River floods.

Ferry Slips Repaired

LUDINGTON (UP) — Workmen from Milwaukee have started making repairs on two Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad carferry slips at the railroad's dock here. The repairs will cost about $70,000 and will be completed by Jan. 1, a C&O spokesman said.

Group Planning Alcohol Classes

Course May Be Given New York Juniors and Seniors This Spring

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—A new privately sponsored program to acquaint junior and senior high school students with the scientific facts about alcoholic consumption may get underway in New York state next spring.

The program is being planned by the Temperance Federation of New York which is eyeing Utica, N. Y., as the starting point. Other sections would be Albany, Syracuse, Buffalo and New York City.

Floyd Carrier, executive director of the organization, said the program, now in the formative stages, probably would include some form of classroom forums and discussions. He said the plan has not been discussed to any great extent, but he hoped eventuallly to have it on a statewide basis.

Education department officials expressed the belief that the program could be permitted by local school authorities since the state education law allows instruction in the harmful effects of alcohol and narcotics.

Carrier said the organization is a non-profit corporation sponsored by Protestant churches. He said he hoped to name a director for the Utica program within a short time.

Captive Audience Can't Turn Off Russian Radios

VIENNA (AP) — Communist "thought control" by radios which can't be turned off is being extended to Czechoslovakia.

Several Iron Curtain countries already have the "radio by wire" system: Instead of a radio, you rent a loudspeaker. A wire into your home connects it to a central point in town.

By this method, you have to listen to what the Red broadcasters dish out. You can't change stations, listen to foreign programs or turn it off.

Although the idea has just been extended to Czechoslovakia, Hungary has been having trouble. Red newspapers complain unknown persons tear down the cables in villages. When the wires are put underground, they are mysteriously cut.

Popcorn Wagon in Use After 54 Years' Service

OMAHA (AP)—Remember the old popcorn wagon? One still is operating here after 54 years. The wagon first saw service in 1900, has had three owners, and now is operated by William Bly, 74, who has owned it since 1940 when he retired as a truck driver.

Some of the grandchildren of patrons who bought popcorn in the early part of the century now patronize the wagon. Only change is replacement of the gasoline-operated popper with an electric one. A city fire law required it.

Needed for Farmer Usage-Planes That Can Fly Slower

WASHINGTON (INS) — Airplane designers may have to resurrect their blueprints of yesteryear if they are to heed demands of farm researchers for slow, low-altitude craft to meet the needs of agricultural areas.

Federal farm reserarchers point out that lighting-fast, high-altitude planes are of little service to farmers who must use aircraft for spraying, dusting, surveying and other purposes.

This issue is expected to be discussed at great length when the Agriculture Department's Agricultural Aviation Conference is staged in Chicago Dec. 3 and 4.

The conference will bring together spokesmen for the Extension Service, the Weather Bureau, the Civil Aeronautics Administration, and the Army, as well as representatives of various businesses connnected with agriculture and aviation.

Farm researchers point out that surplus training planes from World War II—which have been used by farmers for nearly a decade—now are wearing out. They say a few planes are being designed specifically for agricultural aviation, but add that there is need for greater emphasis on this type of plane production.

Planes used for farm purposes must not only be able to travel at slow speeds and low altitudes, they must also be able to take off and land on small, makeshift airstrips.

In addition, such craft must be highly maneuverable.

Researchers say that purely agricultural planes might be too costly unless they can be adapted to many uses. They explain that commercial planes in most areas operate for just a short season dispersing chemicals.

Some research workers think there is need for a "flying truck" that can dust, spray, haul and dump feed, transport passengers, and perform a dozen other farming and ranching chores.

Aircraft is especially valuable as a flying observation platform, from which government officials, forest workers and farmers can detect and appraise infestations of forest insects. The only possible way to survey such situations in some areas is from the air.

According to researchers, a promising new use of airplanes in mapping is being explored by the Soil Conservation Service. Until now, soil maps have been made either from aerial photos supplemented by soil examination on the ground, or by use of stereoscopic pairs of aerial photographs.

Pioneer tests were made on the airplane method of mapping in Minnesota in 1952 and 1953.

Bread Prices to Rise

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A spokesman for bakeries in the Grand Rapids area says bread prices probably will be boosted within several days. He said higher flour costs and wages had resulted in the planned increase. The announcement followed one and two-cent bread price hikes in Detroit earlier this week.

Probably Their Kitchen Isn't Inspected, Either

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jeff Morrow took a friend's 7-year-old daughter to her home in the San Fernando Valley and was annoyed when the little girl insisted on stopping at two filling station rest rooms along the way.

Within just a few blocks of her home, she asked Jeff to stop again.

"My gosh, can't you wait to use your bathroom at home?" he asked.

"I could," the youngster replied, "but our's isn't certified."

Robert and Jane Who? Actors All Mixed Up

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — This is a reading test for you.

Robert Young and Jane Wyatt are doing a TV show together. Got it straight now? This typewriter has very poor diction. Who'd I say?

Robert Montgomery and Jane Wyman? I did not! But Robert Young, who's been confused with Robert Montgomery for years, and Jane Wyatt, who's been confused with Jane Wyman for a long time, are now enduring the worst "double-trouble" of their lives since they've teamed up for TV's "Father Knows Best."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

"My craziest experience about Wyatt and Wyman," said Miss Wyman—I mean Miss Wyatt—the other day, "was in Sardi's when a man asked for my autograph and said everybody back in Kansas would be pleased when he told them he'd met me.

"He said goodbye, then came rushing back excitedly and said, 'I forgot to tell you, my name's Wyman, too!'"

★ ★ ★ ★

The easy confusion of the Robert Montgomery and Robert Young names is so common now in Robert Young's life that he expects it every time somebody introduces him.

Recently when a photographer who'd taken many pictures of him got mixed up and said, "Thanks, Mr. Taylor," Young stared at him coldly and said:

"The name's Montgomery!"

"But it works its strange ways even on me," Young said.

"I was walking down 6th Av. with a friend and saw Eddie Bracken coming. When he came alongside, I turned to my friend and said, as serious as I've ever been in my life, 'This is Eddie Albert'."

Holiday Credited to Rhyme Author

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — It's generally known that Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the annual Thanksgiving Day observance back in 1861.

Likewise, the words and verses to "Mary Had a Little Lamb" are pretty familiar to most Americans.

But how many know that much of the credit for the observance of Thanksgiving is due to the same woman who wrote the famous nursery rhyme?

Well, it is, according to a Wittenberg College professor who believes Sara Josepha Hale, author of "Mary," was the one who spurred President Lincoln into making the holiday proclamation.

Dr. Paul F. Bloomhardt, head of the department of biography at Wittenberg, spoke on the history of Thanksgiving today at a school assembly.

Observance of the holiday had been sporadic and localized until Lincoln's term. It wasn t until Mrs. Hale proposed in 1861 "to have the day of our annual Thanksgiving made a national and fixed Union festival" that the event was proclaimed a national holiday, according to Dr. Bloomhardt.

Cobalt Machine to Treat Cancer in Use at Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's first cobalt bomb machine for treating cancer patients has gone into operation at Henry Ford Hospital here.

The first patient was a woman suffering from cancer of the colon, the hospital said.

The machine, properly known as a "theratron," uses cobalt 60. The cobalt comes from the Chalk River atomic plant owned by the Canadian government. It is equal to 1,500 grams (three pounds) of radium more radium than is available in the entire world.

Walls of the room housing the theratron at Ford Hospital are of special 21-inch concrete, lead-sheathed. The theratron can rotate completely around the patient in contrast with the older machines.

Although the machine is the first in Michigan, similar devices are in use in Windsor and London, Ont.

Widow Gets $40,000 Damages From PRR

DETROIT (INS) — Mrs. Alice Patterson, 27, a widow who had been supporting her three children on $185 a month, has been awarded $40,000 in damages from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mrs. Patterson's husband, Harry, was killed in May, 1952, when his city steamroller was struck by an express train at an open crossing.

Since the accident, the widow has been supporting her three children, aged 5, 4 and 2, on a city pension of $121 a month and $60 from social security.

Briton Faces Trial for Spying

Scotland Yard Official Says Clerk Admitted Working for Soviet

LONDON (AP) — A Scotland Yard inspector has testified John Clarence, 27, a British clerk, admitted he spied on U. S. Navy headquarters in London as a voluntary agent of the Soviet Union.

At the close of a hearing in Magistrate's Court Clarence was ordered held for jury trial on two charges of obtaining and recording military information "calculated to be useful to an enemy."

The case was brought against the clerk under the rarely invoked official secrets act—the same process followed in the trial and conviction of atom spy Klaus Fuchs.

Prosecutor Ian Smith told the court Clarence obtained information about Britain's antiaircraft defenses while employed as a clerk for a home guard unit in the fall of 1953.

Smith said the case came to light when Clarence lost a briefcase containing a document headed "Embassy of the Soviet Union."

Chief Inspector Charles Ward of Scotland Yard testified that the British permitted Clarence to take his job with the home guard even though they knew he had volunteered his services to the Soviet Embassy some time before.

Ward said he questioned Clarence in January, 1953, some months before Clarence was employed by the home guard.

He declared Clarence admitted he went to the Soviet consulate here in September, 1952, "and offered his services in any capacity."

Later, Ward added, Clarence went to the U. S. Navy offices in London's Grosvenor Square at the suggestion of a Russian named Barbanov, described as a Soviet attache dealing with displaced persons.

Ward said this was Clarence's story as told to him:

Clarence had instructions from Moscow to ingratiate himself with U. S. authorities and to obtain any literature or information dealing with the attitude of the United States toward displaced persons.

* * *

The clerk asked also to distribute Soviet propaganda among displaced persons here and to spy on them and report their activities.

Clarence reported regularly to Barbanov and was paid one or two pounds on occasion. The pound is valued at $2.80.

Elephant Birth Descr ibed for First Time

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—A Ceylon forest guard has witnessed what few humans have seen in this island's jungles — the ritualistic birth of a baby elephant.

Guard W. L. A. Andiris watched from a vantage point within a cluster of high rocks in the Yala game sanctuary. Writing in the official records of the Ceylon Department of Wild Life, Andiris says the mother elephant was attended by eight "midwives."

The mother elephant lay on her side in a well-hidden jungle clearing. The eight attendants surrounded her, caressing her gently with their trunks.

As time for the birth approached, the mother became more and more nervous, shifting her position in the clearing by taking a few steps this way and that, lying down after each movement. Seven of the attendant elephants withdrew into the jungles, leaving one with the expectant mother. From time to time as the mother rested or moved around, members of the "midwife" group came from the jungle in pairs to check her with their trunks.

Actual birth of the baby was accomplished without any apparent strain or sound from the mother. The mother left the baby and walked about 10 paces away. She then trumpeted and the other elephant emerged from the jungle, also trumpeting, and seemed to caress the mother again with their trunks.

"Then all eight turned in unison to the child," Andiris reported. "One raised it about four feet from the ground, then gently lowered it on its feet. Then in turn each one of the eight moved past the newborn baby and blew sand on it with their trunks, drying its hide."

Fifteen minutes later the mother, ending its posnatal rest on the ground, stood up, trumpeted loudly, lifted the calf with her trunk and took it aside.

"Then as the calf attempted to suckle the mother the big female elephant gently lowered herself to her knees and permitted the child to have its first meal.

"This important event finished, the mother again trumpeted, picked up her calf in her trunk, raised it high over her head, and disappeared into the jungles, escorted on either side by her 'maternity' staff.

"This was exclusively a female affair. The male elephants gave this spot a wide berth."

Heavy-Foot Sheriff Ready for Hot Chase

MORRISTOWN, N. J. (AP) — If you get in trouble in Morris County, don't try for a fast get-away. Sheriff Arnold Ladd is an amateur car racer.

His English MG-TC racer has got not only speed — but endurance as well. Ladd came in seventh in the recent 12-hour endurance grind for sports cars at Linden.

And the sheriff does it all despite an artificial leg. He lost his right leg when his jeep hit a land mine in North Africa during the war.

Postal Clerk Charged With Embezzlement

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — U. S. District Attorney Wendell A. Miles has authorized an information charging a St. Joseph postoffice employe with embezzlement of postoffice funds.

Assistant District Attorney R. J. Danhoff said Kenneth J. Watt, 41, a $4,200-a-year COD clerk, will be charged with four counts of embezzling less than $100 in postall funds.

Danhoff said a warrant charging Watt with embezzlement of $94.43 on four dates in August has been issued by a postoffice inspector.

HEART SURGEON—Dr. Alfred Blalock, incoming president of the American College of Surgeons, predicts the development of a reliable heart-lung machine which will allow surgical repairs of defective hearts, which are now impossible. He is a professor at Johns Hopkins University and inventor of the "blue baby" operation.

"Blind as a bat" is a meaningless phrase. Contrary to popular belief, most bats can see perfectly well in bright light.

Japan Still Suffering Shortage of Housing

TOKYO (AP) — Nine years after World War II Japan still is short 3,125,000 houses, says a white paper of the Construction Ministry.

This shortage persists despite the fact that Japan has rebuilt 3,690,000 homes since the guns ceased firing, the Ministry reports.

One thing that has prevented a better job of erasing the ravages of war has been that 2,880,000 dwelling units were lost to fire, flood and old age in that same nine-year period.

The government plans to build 40,000 new homes in the present fiscal year, including 10,000 units for industrial workers.

Texans Have Right to Brag More; Even Their Fleas Grow the Biggest

By EDDIE CANTOR

There are many jokes regarding Texans bragging about their state. Well, I know they don't brag any more than New Yorkers about New York or Californians about California—their loyalty may make them a little bit more enthusiastic, but then, they really have something to brag about.

Have you ever seen the Neiman-Marcus store in Dallas, where you can buy anything from a $1 handkerchief to a $2,000 diamond ring? It was this store that sold the first full-length sapphire mink coat in the world, priced at $35,000. I didn't buy it.

Yes, Texans have a right to brag, and they do. Once I questioned the toughness of their cowboys. A native looked me right in the eye and said, "Why, Mr. Eddie, we got cowboys so tough they eat their meat raw and then sit in boiling water to cook it."

Even in the old days, when I played the interstate circuit, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio, the residents would say, "Is Texas big? See that hill up there? You can stand on it and gaze at Texas for days and days and days."

Everything is big in Texas, even the fleas. A guy told me he saw one flea with two dogs on it.

Will Rogers adored Texas. When he died, I took a collection of his writings—daily columns, weekly columns, books, speeches he had made—and put them in a big case. I vowed I wouldn't give it up until I met someone who loved Rogers as much as I did.

A few years later I spoke at a luncheon in Fort Worth, where I was introduced by Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star Telegram. After the luncheon, we walked over to his home. On his desk I found a photograph of Will Rogers with a little incandescent light which burns constantly. We talked about Will almost until dinner time.

Then we drove out to Carter's Shady Oak Farm where he showed me a dozen hats that belonged to Rogers—each one autographed. Carter told me story after story about Rogers, and I saw tears fill his eyes and then trickle down his cheeks.

The next morning I sent this telegram to my office: "Please send case of Will Rogers' writings to Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth Star Telegram, Fort Worth, Texas."

Junior's Diet of Tuna Fish Tries Mother's Patience

By MARGARET LATROBE

There was a time when I was a real expert on child psychology. This was just prior to acquiring babes of my own. The problems hexing other parents seemed crystal clear to me.

"Why doesn't she put them to bed?" I was wont to mutter. "... And make 'em stay there!" At that time, years ago, I could have handled balky imps with executive brilliance.

One young mother I considered to be in a slough of illiteracy. And everybody will agree that young mothers, of all people, should keep abreast of the times, eh? This girl didn't read the newspapers, the best sellers, much less dip into the classics which are the backbone of any claim to culture. She hardly had time for the funnies. Had four children, you know. So I said to her—"What do you do with your spare time?"

The very worst example of motherly failure coming to my critical attention in those days was she whose six-year-old son ate naught but chocolate bars and applesauce. Hm! For her I had contempt. Imagine allowing a kid to get by with such idiotic behavior.

Well, today we have here at home a second-grade scion possessed of strong preference for tuna fish. Three times a day. He can open the cans himself or finding none to open, can buy this staple with his own money. What he likes, he eats. What he dislikes, there is no power yet discovered which can cause his wee gullet to accept.

"Lissen Mommy! I can tell by looking it tastes horr'ble."

Psychology? Honey, we are one jump ahead of Spock. Bribes? We are broke. Silence? We are deaf mutes. Patience? Dearie, when you can face plain tuna fish every day for six years, you get patience personified. Hopes? The doctor says let him alone. Says he instinctively selects one food from each vitamin group, so forget it. What are we expecting — Diamond Jim Brady's appetite in our boy?

If the applesauce and chocolate bar lad weren't now captain of his football team I might worry. But I don't. When Junior attacks his tuna fish with disgusting relish—"YUM-MY YUM YUM" I control the retching impulse and figure, well .... that's my punishment for talking when I should have been taking notes.

Just don't ever invite me deep sea fishing, that's all!

Child's Name Changed; Parents Don't Like Ike

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The parents of Douglas Dwight Thompson have received permission to change the middle name of their son to Walsh.

Dist. Judge W. Lee Johnson granted them permission after deleting from their petition more than a page of reasons why they no longer are admirers of President Dwight Eisenhower, for whom they named the boy.

They did not seek to change his first name, Douglas, taken from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Prophet Jones Opens 8-Day Birthday Party

DETROIT (AP) — Prophet Jones, head of the Church of Universal Triumph, the Dominion of God, and self-styled spiritual leader of a following of six million, opened an eight-day birthday celebration yesterday.

The prophet said followers from three continents will come to Detroit to help him mark the occasion. He is 47 years old.

The Negro church leader said he would make predictions during the birthday observance if the word comes from God.

He claims to have predicted last year the death of U.S.S.R. Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

"Last January I predicted that a famous foreign diplomat would die this year," the prophet said. Vishinsky died in New York Monday of a heart attack.

The prophet wore his $12,900 white mink coat to open his birthday celebration yesterday with memorial rites to his mother, Lady Catherine.

Dog Gets Gold Medal for Saving Mistress

PETOSKEY (AP) — Mrs. Nazza Smith's dog "Smokie" has a gold medal and a citation today for his alertness last August in summoning aid for his injured 82-year-old mistress.

Mrs. Smith, who lives alone, fell and broke her hip in her home last August. When a newsboy passed the house delivering papers Smoke tugged on his pantscuff until the boy went in the house to investigate. He found Mrs. Smith lying unconscious. The boy called for help.

Smokie got the award from the Emmet County Humane Society. The award was sponsored by Quaker Oats who have the dogs name entered for consideration in a "hero of heroes" award next summer.

Gunboat Fires Upon Japanese Fishing Craft

TOKYO (AP)—An unidentified gunboat fired upon a Japanese fishing boat early today midway between the southern tip of Korea and the Red China mainland, Japan's Maritime Safety Board reported.

The board said the boat escaped. It said the gunboat was "believed to be a Red Chinese craft."

Arraigned in Shooting

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Martin Van Goss, 37, of Lansing demanded examination Wednesday when arraigned in Municipal Court here on a charge of assault with intent to murder in the shooting and wounding of his wife, Lurene, 25, last Oct. 26 during an argument in Delta Township.

French Plan to Start on Atomic Power Rig

PARIS (AP)—France will start building a synchrotron (atomic energy accelerator) next spring, according to Prof. Francis Perrin, French High Commissioner of Atomic Power.

The big accelerator, part of a five-year plan for the development of atomic energy for non-military purposes in France, is expected to develop two billion electron-volts and be the most powerful in Europe until completion of that planned by the European Center of Nuclear Research at Geneva, which will develop 25 billion electron-volts. The Geneva accelerator is not expected to be completed until 1960.

The French machine will take three years to build.

Detroit Parking Plan Gets Engineers' Okay

DETROIT (AP) — A New York engineering firm says Detroit's planned multi-million dollar municipal parking program is economically sound.

The $15,543,000 program calls for the construction of seven garages and two parking lots in the downtown area and four parking lots in outlying areas.

One of the projects is a 1,150-car garage under Grand Circus Park in the heart of downtown Detroit.

The city council, however, has not yet approved the program.

PORTABLE IRRIGATION—Eugene Earnest, left, adjusts the giant sprinkler he rigged up as portable irrigation device for a Dodge City, Kan., farm. It supposedly sprays about 200 gallons of water on an area 200 feet in diameter. The device, which looks like a mammoth lawn sprinkler in operation, right, is made from a sprinkler head mounted on an old automobile chassis. It can be unhooked and moved by hand from one spot to another.

Ike Forestalls Railroad Strike

Appoints 3-Man Board to Investigate Dispute for 60 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House action has forestalled for at least 60 days a strike which had been threatened in a dispute between most of the nation's railroads and the railway conductors and brakemen.

Announcing creation by President Eisenhower of a three-man board which will have 30 days in which to investigate the dispute and make recommendations for settlement, the White House said members will be named shortly. The recommendations the board makes are not binding on either party.

* * *

The law provides that there shall be no strike and no change in working conditions, except by mutual agreement, for an additional 30 days after the board reports.

The independent union's dispute with about 80 railroads centers on a demand for new wage rates based on the size and weight of locomotives, a system now in effect for engineers and firemen. Conductors now have uniform pay rates.

Stolen federal government property valued at $2,887,437 was recovered by the Army's military policemen during the past year.

7-Year-Old Boy Dies After Tractor Mishap

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—Seven-year-old William Dallas Dixon was fatally injured Tuesday in a freak accident while helping on his father's farm.

William G. Dixon told police he and the boy were using a tractor with a power takeoff to run a corn elevator. The boy was sitting on the tractor and it was believed one of his pants legs caught in the whirling universal joint. He was twirled around several times, hitting his head repeatedly on the ground, before his father could shut off the tractor.

The child died in Frederick Memorial Hospital of a fractured skull.

It Takes Courage to Quit, Start Again in New Field

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS) — "Stick to it" . . . "Try, try again" . . . "never say die" — These are just a few of the pep-talk slogans we're all brought up with.

From childhood on, they're spouted at us so often we start taking thm as gospel — or at least as some of the commandments on how to succeed.

Sometimes I wonder if they're not pure poison!

Persistence is a virtue, sure. But it could be that some of our parents conned some of us into respecting it too blindly and to zealously.

I know a young man of 21, for instance, who's traveling for a drug company. He took the job six months ago when he got the draft over with — took it against the wishes and advice of his doting parents who wanted him to go back to college and become a lawyer like everybody else in the family.

"I'm too restless for books and classes," he told them, meaning, "I'm too old to be a freshman in anybody's college."

He landed the job with the drug firm and thought he'd landed the biggest prize of the year. Only picked men were taken on because the firm has customers all over the U. S., so a car and an expense account were part of the deal.

For a while my young friend was happy. The open road ahead . . . the far horizon . . . the adventures along the way . . . the new people to meet . . .

Now he's not so happy. Now he's bored with the endless, endless ribbons of concrete or blacktop or gravel binding the nation's towns together; now he hates hotels and motels and the sameness of the food.

Now his job gives him such a pain, in short, that he's one of his firm's steady customers for aspirin, soda tablets, cold remedies and soothing syrup!

But will he throw in the towel and quit?

"It'll get better," he says. "It'll be fun again. It's just the bad weather gets me down right now, and this special part of my territory."

But suppose it doesn't get better? Suppose this drug salesman's dissatisfactions and dissapointments go a lot deeper than bad weather and such minor complaints?

That young man has the guts to stick it out — but he hasn't the guts to call it a big mistake and quit!

Any expert vocational guidance person might advise him to do just that, but he'll never know because he won't seek out expert guidance. He's too busy proving he can try, try again and never say die.

He's a victim of his own will power — and our slogans. Too bad!

In our first years of business or in the professions or arts, nearly every one of us is experimenting with work, with earning a living, with our own talents and capacities. Or lack of them.

It's impossible to plumb the full depths of either without taking a good long while about it.

And the chance of errors is an awfully big chance.

Why, then, should we feel so committed to sticking to it? Why shouldn't every man or woman, boy or girl, who finds himself in a job he or she no longer enjoys, feel free to chuck everything overboard and start again at a new line?

It takes courage to do exactly that.

Throwing in the towel can be one of the wisest decisions any of us can make in a month of Sundays. Or a month of working days.

Auto Big Three Cut Pay Dec. 6

Workers to Lose Cent an Hour Due to Lower Living Costs

DETROIT (UP)—The "big-three" auto companies of Ford, Chrysler and General Motors said today they will cut the pay of hourly workers a penny an hour Dec. 6 in line with the new cost-of-living index announced in Washington.

CIO United Auto Workers have been getting seven cents an hour under their cost-of-living formula with the automobile companies.

The cut will be effective Dec. 6, which is the first pay period after Dec. 1. The cut took away the one cent increase they received Sept. 1.

In addition to the cuts for hourly workers, the big three also will cut cost-of-living bonuses for salaried workers.

Salaried workers get a cost-of-living bonus quarterly. Starting Dec. 1, Ford will cut its bonus for salaried workers $5.20 to $31.20.

And General Motors and Chrysler said they would cut their cost-of-living bonuses for salaried workers $5 to $30 for the three-month period.

Pontiac Man Arrested on 8 Traffic Citations

Desegregation Said Local Job

Federal District Courts Suggested by Brownell to Carry Out Decision

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice Department says the controversial task of sending white and Negro children to the same public schools should be carried out under local federal court direction—not by a general Supreme Court order.

Atty. Gen. Brownell proposed this to the Supreme Court yesterday. And in so doing, he seemed in agreement with President Eisenhower and with the parties directly involved in the historic case on public school segregation.

Brownell's brief was filed as part of the proceedings stemming from the high tribunal's May 17 decision that public school segregation is unconstitutional. The court withheld a final order at the time, asking instead for further argument on how school desegregation should be carried out. The date for hearing these arguments has been put off at least until next year.

was struck by a car in Holly Township.

William R. Cook, 27, of 614 E. Dayton, Flint, driver of the car which struck Mrs. Murphy, told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Ted Gunn that Mrs. Murphy was standing in the center of U. S. 10 as he approached, walked in front of his southbound auto.

The Tiede family was on their way to Chicago to visit an aunt during Thanksgiving Holiday, when the crash occurred, according to Deputies Marion Bauman and Paul Carpenter.

Mrs. Tiede's son, Thomas W., 17, the driver, is listed in fair condition today with a neck injury. His brother, Richard H., 11, was treated for a nose injury, and Mrs. Tiede's husband, Walter W., 50, a Detroit school teacher, suffered an elbow fracture.

Deputies quoted Thomas Tiede as saying he was driving about 50 miles per hour in heavy fog when the tree loomed up on a curve.

cording to Clyde R. Haskill, chairman of the local event.

"Churches, schools, civic clubs, industries and many other interested groups are showing big interest in the no-accident drive," said Haskill. "If achieved throughout the nation, imagine the precedent it will set."

Haskill and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley arranged for the courtesy campaign after Mayor William W. Donaldson proclaimed Dec. 15 as S-D Day in Pontiac.

One of the groups declaring their support of S-D Day is the Pontiac Hot Rod Safety Committee, comprising 65 high school youths. They staged a dramatic demonstration in favor of the national program at the group's weekly meeting.

The committee is made up of representatives from the Rod Benders, Road Lords and Piston Poppers, who have organized here to help cut down auto accidents by teen-age motorists.

Bob Horsely, 17, chairman of the Rod Benders stated at the meeting:

"We feel that the President's S-D Day is not one day duty for every citizen. The three hot rod clubs in Pontiac that make up this committee, firmly believe that driving safety is a 365-day-a-year job and we wish to pledge this as one of our primary objectives."

The committee, which has a code of ethics whereby members may disqualify themselves when they are involved in any traffic violation, also holds the distinction of possessing members who have never received a traffic violation ticket.

Haskill said that letters will be mailed to various organizations appealing for similar demonstrations.

Citing the importance of the S-D Day campaign, Haskill quoted President Eisenhower as saying recently:

"When any particular activity in the United States takes 38,000 American lives in one year, it becomes a national problem of the first importance."

Austrian Chancellor Flying to Miami Today

Raab has been urging separation of the Austrian problem from the Western dispute with Russia over the future of Germany.

Jap Paper Reports Yoshida Voted Out

TOKYO (UP)—The newspaper Asahi today said administration Liberal party leaders had voted that Shigeru Yoshida should resign as Prime Minister and president of the party.

The newspaper said the decision of party leaders would force Yoshida's resignation. Under Japanese law, this would bring about the automatic dissolution of his cabinet.

Party executives, who met at Yoshida's request to discuss the current political crisis, also voted that Deputy Prime Minister Takatora Ogata be named president of the party. That would make him the party's candidate for Prime Minister in forming a new government.

Lives, Turkey All That's Left

Warren Twp. Family Flees Burning Home on Holiday Eve

DETROIT (UP) — Members of the Alexander Szalkowski family were thankful today for their lives and their Thanksgiving turkey — about all that remained for them after a fire destroyed their small frome home in Warren Township last night.

The children of the family were in bed when the blaze started from a stove in the rear of the home. They fled without their clothes.

Their father is in Veteran's Administration Hospital with a critical heart condition.

Their mother was working in a restaurant when the blaze started. The interior of the house and just about all of the family's possessions were destroyed by the fire. Neighbors took them into their homes to spend the night.

About an hour after the blaze was brought under control the children went back into the house and brought out one of the few things remaining—the Thanksgiving turkey, which they found inside the battered refrigerator.

Nine Injured in Crash of Schoolbus, Pick-Up

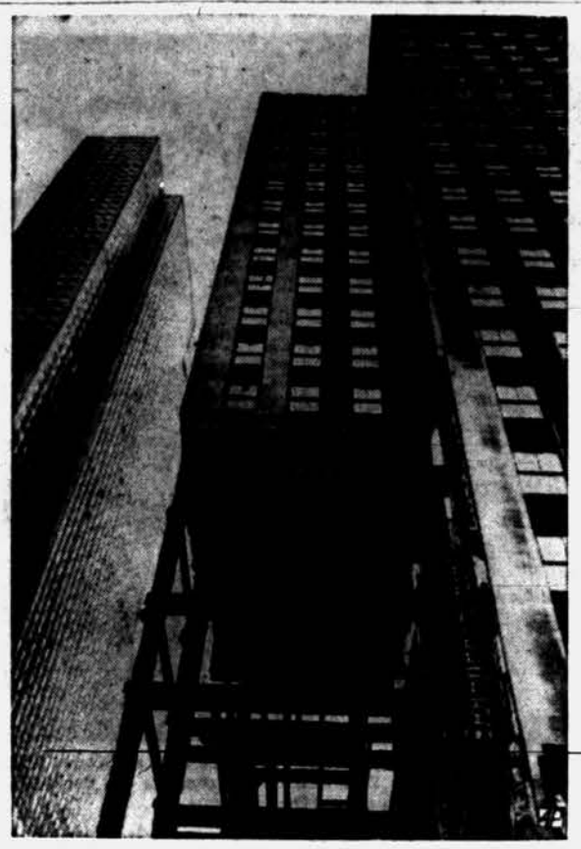

CROSWELL (UP) — Six school children were among nine persons injured yesterday when a school bus and a pick-up truck collided at the intersection of M90 and Babcock road in Sanilac County.

None of the children suffered serious injuries.

Truck driver Clarence Bryce, 42, and his 39-year-old wife, of Croswell, were taken in critical condition to Port Huron Hospital.

Harold Nunn, 28, also of Croswell, the bus driver, suffered a concussion and severe lacerations.

Furniture Sales Up in October

Orders Run 6 Per Cent Higher Than in Same Month Last Year

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—The nation's furniture industry received 6 per cent more new orders during October than during the same month a year ago, Siedman & Siedman reported yesterday.

And the gap between total sales for this year compared to 1953 was fast closing, the industry's statisticians reported.

During the first 10 months of this yea, furniture manufacturers received95 per cent as much new business as they did during the same period a year ago.

At the end of tye first quarter, new orders amounted to 86 per cent of those taken in the first three months of the previous year while at the halfway mark, it was only up to 87 per cent.

The industry received 17 per cent than during September but the September-October decline has been the rule in the last seven years, the report said.

Moscow Wants to Sing 'In the Still of the Night'

MOSCOW (INS)—Moscow's city fathers want more quiet and say they'll get it starting Jan. 1—or else.

Beginning the first of the year, by city decree, auto horns must be silenced between midnight and 7 a.m. Street singing and sidewalk accordion-playing will be out after 11 p.m.

Autos and motorcycles without mufflers are flatly prohibited—and the "silence laws" also call for the toning down of train whistles.

The miracle of America is that, with 45 million cars on the road, more of them don't collide.

Local Man Jailed on Burglary Charge

A Fisher Body Division employe, just discharged after a dispute with plant supervisors, was arrested within an hour in a service station at 867 Baldwin Ave.

Booked at the Oakland County Jail on a breaking and entering in the nighttime charge is Bob Lee Brown, 23, of 744 Stanley.

Police reported receiving a tip that someone was entering the station around midnight and sent a patrol car to investigate.

Patrolmen Orville Johnston and Robert Hellmer said they found Brown inside the station with $5 in change in his pockets. He admitted taking the coins from the cash register, they said.

Brown told them he had been fired after a dispute with supervisors. He left the plant at 11:50 p.m. and was in police custody by 12:30 a.m.

Film Stars at Home Today but Marilyn's Eating Alone

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Marilyn Monroe, the envied idol of millions, will eat Thanksgiving dinner alone in her apartment today but other Hollywood stars planned to sit down with their families to count their blessings over a turkey.

Most stars of films, TV and radio will spend a quiet day at home dipping into cranberry sauce. Others took off to celebrate among the cactus and swimming pools of Palm Springs, but a spokesman for the country's favorite pin-up girl said familyless Marilyn "will just eat alone in her apartment."

Alone or with families, all the stars gave thanks with the rest of the nation, including a few unorthodox ideas:

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis: "We're thankful we're not turkeys, what else, you fool! We know what suffering there will be among the turkey population Thursday."

Art Linkletter: "It's my 19th wedding anniversary today and I'm thankful this show business marriage of mine did not turn out to be a turkey."

Jack Benny: "I'm grateful I've reached 39 in one piece and I hope to stay 39 for some time. I'm staying home for a quiet day."

Humphrey Bogart: "I'm thankful for the day off so I can sail my boat."

Red Skelton: "I'm glad to be alive."

Elizabeth Taylor, Ray Milland, Bob Crosby, Van Heflin and Bill Holden were among many stars who observed the holiday at home dinners. Heflin said he was thankful he's a movie star.

Reed Hadley, star of TV's "Public Defender," invited 10 underprivileged children to his home. John Wayne and his bride, Pilar Pallette, planned a turkey at home to give thanks the actor has recovered from a serious ear infection that threatened his hearing.

Cyd Charisse and Tony Martin observed their first Thanksgiving in their new home, while English actress Glynnis Johns saw her first American turkey day at the home of producer Norman Panama. Debbie Reynolds will eat turkey tonight with her parents after chatting on the phone with Eddie Fisher in New York.

Terry Moore went to Palm Springs with her parents and added, "I'm thankful my family is still with me to pin my ears back when I get out of line and to help me keep my feet on the ground."

Glamorous Joan Crawford insisted she gave her cook the day off so she could cook the turkey herself for her four adopted children.

Robert Taylor and Ursula Thiess flew to Jackson Hole, Wyo., to spend the day on the site of their marriage. Clark Gable observed Thanksgiving in Hong Kong with a movie company, while Kirk Douglas and his wife took off for Acapulco, Mexico.

Jimmy Durante hosted his show business pals, Eddie Jackson and Jack Roth, at a turkey dinner and also invited another friend, Margaret Truman.

Teamster Union Men Slapped With Lawsuit

DETROIT (UP) — A $25,000 damage suit was filed against AFL teamsters union leader James R. Hoffa and four other unionists in circuit court yesterday.

The suit was filed by John A. Kinghorn, service manager of a Detroit auto sales agency. Kinghorn charges he was slugged during a Teamsters organizing drive at the agency last September.

Named with Hoffa were Mark Whitecraft, Henry Kierdorf, Peter Schick and Henry Lower.

James Stewart, Wife Sail for Orient Jan. 12

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — This is the most exciting Thanksgiving in the life of Mrs. James Stewart and her popular hus'and. Gloria tells me that she and Jimmy are sailing for Yokohama on Jan. 12 with their friends Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Johnson of Texas. They'll visit Tokyo, Hong Kong and other points in the Far East, stopping at Honolulu on their way home.

Gloria said, "We're getting ready to go east for Pop's (Alexander Stewart, Jimmy's father) wedding on Dec. 11—and I'm busy shopping."

This trip to the Orient, I might add, is not all pleasure. I suspect no one had to talk Jimmy into the trip because he'll plug three of his pictures, "Rear Window," "Air Command" and "Far Country." He owns a big percentage of each film.

If you don't appreciate your blessings today (and all of us should in this great country of ours) take a lesson from Sammy Davis Jr., who lost an eye in an automobile accident at the height of his career.

Sammy isn't letting his accident get him down. He did an interview on tape with disc jockey Joe Adams which will be released today. In the interview Sammy sends a message to his mother saying, "Don't worry about me, Mom. I'll be better than new."

All the important stars and artists are rallying around Sammy to give him their devotion and friendship. Frank Sinatra was a visitor at his bedside today and Jeff Chandler has been to San Bernardino to see Sammy several times.

About the time I received the announcement that Mike Todd intended to film "80 Days Around the World" in Todd-AO, I heard that Marty Anita Loos and Richard Sale had completed this same script for Alex Korda and that Fernandel, the French actor, has already been signed by them.

Putting two and two together, it looks as if Mike bought the Sale version from Korda, because he saw a lot of Mary and Richard when he was in London.

At the Modern Screen Magazine party Paul Brinkman was telling me that Jeanne Crain can't be home for Christmas.

"So," he said, "We're going to her. I am taking all four children and flying Dec. 17 to meet her. Then we'll go on to Switzerland to spend Christmas with Janie and Tex Feldman.

"Jeanne has been gone so long and she writes that she's homesick, and the children certainly miss her. 'Gentlmen Marry Brunettes' is a long time getting on the screen. Jane Russell is still in Europe, too," said Paul.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Tab Hunter and Lori Nelson resuming their romance by dining at the Saratoga one night and the Luau the next. Tab is just back from Hononlulu. This may be the next engagement announcement in our town.

The whole studio was looking for Harry Cohn on Tuesday. Harry was at the White House, believe it or not—not to give President Eisenhower advice, but to show him "The Long Grey Line." There's no doubt he got a good reception because Ike has a warm spot in his heart for West Point, his alma mater.

Jacques Sernas will have his first American Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow at the home of Terry Moore.

Greer Garson is having the family of her cook and butler, who have been with her for many years, as well as the families of her entire household. A very nice gesture.

Greta Peck and Stephan Arnsten, Paramount executive, look more and more serious every day. They were at a table for two at the ready room, and Greta is getting ready to fight for her rights in her divorce.

Happy Thanksgiving for Claire Trevor, who received a white sports coupe from her ever lovin' husband, Milton Bren. It's their sixth wedding anniversary.

Suzan Ball and Dick Long, who were to have opened in Palm Springs, have told the management of the Chi Chi they will open instead on Jan. 19.

Silent Piano Perfect for People Upstairs

MORRISTOWN, N. J. (UP) — If some would-be Paderewski next door is driving you mad practicing the piano, buy him a silent one.

The no-noise piano is the invention of Benjamin Franklin Miessner, the holder of some 150 patents in the music-electronic field.

Miessner believes his silent piano—no strings — can be mass-produced for about $250. It has 73 small spring steel reeds from which the music is picked up by earphones.

Pennsylvanians Know Correct Time on Mars

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Pennsylvanians can now tell easily what time it is on Mars.

The state industrial and construction exposition developed what it calls "the world's first space clock" for its annual meeting.

The space clock simultaneously records the hour, day, month and year on Mars, as well as on earth. The clock divides the Mars year into the conventional 12 months and into Mars days of 24 hours, 37 minutes, 23 seconds.

Mitchell Is Determined to Quit as Dems Head

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell says he wants party leaders to replace him promptly to "clear the way for the important tasks that lie ahead."

Mitchell wrote Democratic National Committee members yesterday reiterating his determination to quit as national chairman not later than Dec. 31.

The committee is to meet in New Orleans Dec. 3-4.

Moonshine Only Being Returned, Not Transported

GREENVILLE, S.C. (UP)—Police Court Judge John V. Jester was handed a half-gallon jar of moonshine whisky officers offered in evidence against a man charged with transporting it.

He unscrewed the cap and inhaled deeply. After a few seconds necessary to get his face back to normal, Jester asked:

"Has this man got a record?"

The officers said he did not.

"I believe it," Jester commented. "And if he drinks this stuff he never will."

The officers said the defendant apparently was of the same opinion. They said he told them he bought the whisky from a bootlegger but was unable to drink it and was taking it back when arrested.

Buggy Parts Firm in Tune With Times

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—If your buggy needs repairs, please do not write to The Columbus Buggy Parts Co. It won't be able to help you.

Although the name was retained, the firm went out of the buggy parts business years ago. It now handles auto parts.

But, says Fred A. Wirthman, operator of the business, he still receives dozens of order every year for parts for the old-time horsedrawn conveyance.

Postman Meets Dog, Needs Medical Care

DAYTON, Ohio (UP) — Postman Milt Tobe was advised by a housewife on his new route to get acquainted with her dog which doesn't bite friends. As Tobe stretched out an amiable hand, the animal took a solid grip on his thigh.

"She told me the dog's name," Tobe mused, after a doctor had patched eight tooth holes. "But I wasn't interested."

King-Size Layout Built From Scrap by Railroad Fans

SOUTH RIVER, N. J. (UP)—Jay Wulfson and his railroad fan buddies didn't wait for Santa Claus to bring them a railroad—they built one themselves.

And it wasn't the living room type, either.

They picked up a 30-year-old 13-ton steam engine for $400 in the junk market, laid out 800 feet of small gauge track, constructed a tender from scrap, and converted a log car into a passenger coach of sorts.

Now the 23-year-old dress manufacturer and his associates have a private museum on a three-acre lot.

The road cost them around $1,000 for rolling stock and parts—plus tons of sweat.

Woman Driver Grabs for Cake, Smashes Car

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — A defendent in traffic court said she grabbed for a freshly baked cake as it started to fall from the seat and lost control of her car. The vehicle crashed into a parked automobile.

Judge James Demopolos suspended her fine.

City Reminded of Housing Plan

Commissioners Told of Contract to Build 2nd Low-Rental Project

Some 300 families are waiting for admission to the Lakeside Homes federal low-rent housing project here, city commissioners learned last night in a report from the Pontiac Housing Commission reminding the city that it has a contract to build another 300-unit project here.

A contract was entered into with the Public Housing Administration Feb. 8, 1951, in which Pontiac agreed to construct the second project.

The $3,500,000 development would be built at no cost to the city. It would be financed with a revenue bond issue paid off by surplus operating expenses from the project itself, plus federal money.

On Feb. 19, 1952, commissioners voted 4 to 3 not to proceed with the project immediately. They said they were not convinced of the need and felt it best to wait and see how the Lakeside development panned out.

The contract still exists and on the basis of the demand for low-rent quarters, the housing commission feels it must make the status of the project known to the present City Commission, said Roy B. MacAfee, housing commission executive director.

In the report, the housing group said it "has just been contacted by representatives of the PHA pointing out that we are one of the few cities ... still able to proceed with the construction of low-rent public housing without coordinating it with an urban redevelopment program.

"The long period of inactivity ... requires that the matter be determined at an early date. ... The PHA is being called upon to press for early action on any such contracts. ..."

The PHA has already obligated itself for about $76,000 spent on site research and preparation of the project. This money, the PHA contends, the city would have to make good if the project is not built.

In order to get the project moving, city commissioners would have to approve a site (not yet selected), approve reception by the housing commission of funds from the PHA to study the proposed site, say Pontiac is prepared to condemn the land if necessary and generally approve each successive move.

PACKAGED POWER — Solar energy is used to power this experimental radio transmitter which has a range of 100 feet. It was built by Edward Keonjian, of the General Electric electronics laboratory in Syracuse, N. Y. The units uses transistors instead of batteries. When light rays strike the selenium, sufficient electrical energy is delivered to transistors to operate the transmitter.

Today 275th Anniversary of La Salle's St. Joseph

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (UP)—While the rest of the nation observes the 323rd anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims, Thanksgiving marks the 275th anniversary of the first settlement in Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

In November of 1679, a man named Robert Cavelier, Sieur De La Salle, known better as just plain La Salle, built Fort Miami at the head of the St. Joseph River on the site of the present city of St. Joseph.

La Salle built Fort Miami while en route to explore the Mississippi River. He remained here over the winter waiting for the "Griffin," the great lakes' first big ship, to arrive.

When the "Griffin" failed to arrive, La Salle returned to Montreal to make new plans for a trip down the Mississippi. Historians believe the "Griffin" probably sank during a storm on Lake Michigan.

La Salle returned to Fort Miami in 1681 and during Christmas week of that year departed for the Mississippi River. He sailed down to the Gulf of Mexico and then returned to Canada.

He was killed five years later, in 1687, when he landed in Texas after failing to find the mouth of the Mississippi in the Gulf of Mexico.

What happened to Fort Miami after La Salle's departure in 1682 isn't known. It was probably destroyed by warring Indians sometime between 1682 and 1690 when the French established Fort St. Joseph on a site just outside the present city of Niles.

Fort St. Joseph eventually became the most famous fort in southwestern Michigan because the flags of four nations — France, England, Spain and the United States—flew over it during the next 100 years.

In 1781, a raiding band of Spaniards captured the fort and flew the flag of Spain over it for several days.

One-hundred and fifty years elapsed between the time of the founding of Fort Miami and the present city of St. Joseph in 1829.

Fort Miami, however, was the first settlement in Michigan's Lower Peninsula. It was built just 11 years after the state's first settlement—Sault Ste. Marie—which was founded in 16[illegible].

No special observance is planned for the 275th anniversary of the first settlement in this southwestern Michigan community. Few residents are aware that the anniversary occurs this month.

GM Aids Flint With $3 Million

Money Earmarked for Culture Center; Pontiac May Also Benefit

A $3,000,000 gift from General Motors Corp. for a proposed Flint cultural center has been announced by Harlow H. Curtice, GM president.

The center is to be located on the campus of Flint Junior College, where one of the buildings was dedicated Tuesday as "Harlow H. Curtice Building."

The gift was announced yesterday in connection with GM's celebration of the production of its 50 millionth automobile at the Flint Chevrolet plant.

Locally, Mayor William W. Donaldson was enthusiastic over the GM gift and Curtice's statement that other communities would be recognized, providing they showed an active interest.

"In the Pontiac Foundation we have the tools necessary to do our part," said Donaldson, who is president of the civic improvement foundation.

"God grant that we have enough willing hands and hearts to use these tools so that Pontiac, too, will receive General Motors' assistance in civic betterment."

Fellowship Sets Dec. 3 for Bazaar

The Women's Fellowship of First Congregational Church will hold its annual bazaar, "Christmas Bells and Bargains," Dec. 3.

Luncheon a la carte will be served from 10:30 a.m. until 1 o'clock, and dinner from 4:30 until 7 p.m.

There will be entertainment for young and old, and various items including needlework, baked goods, and Christmas decorations will be on sale.

One unsual booth will be the 'House Beautiful." This bazaar will be held in the large recreation room which has been completed and redecorated.

A marked revival of interest in the church program is noted. All emphasis of the Fellowship is upon equipping a new kitchen. An expert consultant from Michigan State College has been retained to assist in the planning. Entire proceeds from the bazaar will be used for this project.

Stay With Doctor

Women gossip about doctors almost as much as they gossip about babies. If your doctor suits you and baby—whether he's a pediatrician or a general practitioner—stay with him.

There are fads for doctors because they may order solid food early or change formula often. If you trust your doctor, pay him the compliment of leaving his name out of the back-yard chit-chat and comparisons.

Tinted Hair No Longer Shocking

But Great Care Is Necessary for Scalp Dries Easily

According to those who know, two out of five women in the country today tint their hair.

So it's no longer the shocking sign of a fallen woman to improve on nature. For, in most cases, only the woman herself is aware that she's glorified her crown.

Gone now is the brassy look on tinted hair. Soft coloring with good highlights is the hallmark of today's hair colorings.

The newest color from a well-known manufacturer in the hair-coloring field is Lustre Brown Mink, a color that's brown and tawny like the fabulous fur, but not in the same price bracket. This product "turns itself off" at the proper time so that no hair gets overcolored or streaky.

Unless she's experienced and knows just what she wants, a woman should take a trial run before she becomes a tinted blonde or brunette. A tinted shampoo will give her a chance to view her new self and wash it out if she dislikes the look.

Hair that's artificially colored should be kept up with great care. The quick give-away along the part should be watched with an eagle eye. When the hair grows in even a touch, it should be repaired.

Scalp care is doubly important to a woman who's wearing a hair color not of nature's own. It's easy for a scalp to get dried out when the hair gets a frequent dousing with a tint. Good setting and shampooing will keep hair that's been colored natural and soft.

Heavy Cotton Solves Problem of Baby's Wants

If baby has a very sensitive bottom, you've discovered that rubber pants turn him red around the diaper area. Yet you struggle with laundry endlessly because he wets everything he lies on. There is a solution. There are thick cotton pants in very small sizes.

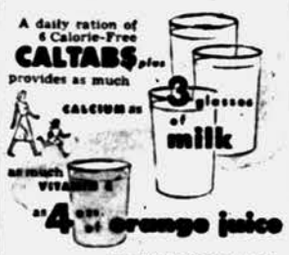

They are processed to retain the wet, yet they're airy. They're made just for your kind of baby. Find them in your department store.

One caution: don't wash them in the machine or very hot water as this takes out the stuff that keeps the sheets dry.

Baby Skin Heals Very Easily

Baby seems to heal like magic. When he's tiny, he may scratch his tender skin or develop a rash. But, almost before you have a chance to get upset about it, it's gone.

This may give you a tip to keep calm even in the face of a vivid-looking diaper rash or pimples on the forehead. Don't fuss with it, except for using your regular cream or lotion or powder.

Don't pick or touch his pimples. His skin, which is so new and untired, will be smooth and soft by tomorrow in most cases.

Psychology Has Bearing on Fatigue

Experts Can Give Hints on Methods to Overcome It

By ANNE HEYWOOD

What is fatigue? Does it really come from overwork?

"My husband is tired all the time," women will write, "and I'm sure he must be working too hard."

Or a young mother will say: "This grind is getting me down. I don't have time to sit down for one minute of the day. I'm so tired I can't think."

Or a business girl declares, "I know I should be developing some kind of hobby, or taking a night course, but I'm so tired at the end of the day that I simply cannot do anything but fall in bed."

However we look at it, fatigue is a factor in too many lives. Too many people are unable to enjoy living because they always feel tired. Is there anything they can do about it?

According to Marie Beynon Ray, there is a great deal we can do about it. And her book, "How Never to Be Tired," has been showing people how, for 16 years now.

Mrs. Ray has analyzed and studied the subject carefully, and she comes to some staggering conclusions. For example: "Everybody has felt that if you give them a good long rest and a well paid but not strenuous job, his or her fatigue will vanish. It sounds very sensible and reasonable. But it is absolutely untrue.

"You are not tired because you work too hard. You are not tired because you expend every drop of energy you possess. Rest won't cure you. An easy job won't cure you. All the leisure and money in the world won't cure you. Lots of people have all these things and are even more weary than you are. Lots of people have none of them and are not tired at all. No—work is not the cause, and rest is not the cure."

It's a psychological thing, this fatigue. And Mrs. Ray does a marvelous job of showing you how to face up to it, and giving you a step-by-step formula for making it varnish from your life. If you are using "too tired" as an excuse, if you are missing the kind of life you always dreamed of, this book can do miracles for you.

Corduroy Is Good

A corduroy suit has a long life for a school girl. If it's bought in a light pastel, it can go through dyeing each winter till it winds up its life as a black suit. It's new each year and the knee and elbow fading that corduroy undergoes is concealed.

Invitation Must Come From Them

By EMILY POST

A wife writes me: "Several weeks ago I telephoned friends of ours and asked if they were going to be home on Sunday and that we were thinking of driving over to see them. The wife said that she was very sorry but they were invited out that day.

She did not set another time for us to come. My husband wants to go out and visit them this week, but I refuse to go as I think it is up to them to call and invite us to come at a definite time seeing as I had called them the last time and they had another engagement. My husband thinks I stand too much on ceremony. What is your opinion?"

I think you are right and that the next move is up to them. Had she really wanted to see you, she would have either mentioned another time when you were talking with her, or she would have called you since to make a date.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon at five-thirty in the afternoon. I would like to invite nearest friends and relatives to a reception afterwards but can not afford anything elaborate. Would wedding cake and punch be ample to serve at this time, or must dinner be served?

It depends entirely upon the custom of your community. That is, if people where you live have their main meal in the middle of the day, wedding cake and punch would be sufficient.

But if they have dinner in the evening, then you would have to serve something substantial. In this last case, couldn't you have your wedding at an earlier hour to avoid responsibility of an evening meal?

JOAN PARKS

Mrs. May E. Parks of Moscow, Idaho announces the engagement of her daughter, Joan, to Ensign Don Batten, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Batten of South Jessie street. They are graduates of the University of Idaho, and she is attending graduate school at Garrett Methodist Seminary, Evanston, Ill. The wedding will take place in March.

Gather at Clubs

A family Thanksgiving dinner will be the last main event of the season at Orchard Lake Country Club, where 135 guests are expected. A Thanksgiving at Bloomfield Hills Country Club will be enjoyed by 160 guests.

Shower Is Given

Mrs. Donald G. Humphries was honored at a pink and blue shower recently. The shower was given by Mrs. Edwin Taylor in her Irwindale drive home.

A cotton - quilted bathrobe or housecoat is a great one for shrinking. Wash it carefully or have it dry-cleaned, if you can, or it'll be up to your knees.

Want Picture of Skunk? Try Salmon and Prunes

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

All last night up here in the mountains a fox cried, sadly, forlornly like a baby with the croup, and I, awakened by the eerie sound, kept thinking of Howard Cleaves, a photographer of wild life, who once told me how in the dead of night he coaxed foxes within range of his motion picture cameras with a special fox-perfume which is more costly than the average scent a lady daubs behind her ears — $50 an ounce. I think he said. But only a fox would be lured by it for the chief ingredient is rotten trout.

Mr. Cleaves, whose specialty is snapping pictures of animals in their night time haunts, would dig a hole in the earth, ladle a teaspoonful of fox perfume into it and set up his photography equipment nearby. He also used grapes for fox-bait, proving that old Aesop knew his foxes.

For other animals, Cleaves had different enticements. Once, to get some pictures of a 400-pound black bear in the Adirondacks, he plastered 15 pounds of honey on a tree trunk. Then, his considerable equipment in readiness, he spent a number of nights crouched in a metal oil drum waiting for his quarry to find the honey tree.

The metal drum, while uncomfortable, was an essential part of the equipment for many animals have such an acute sense of smell they can easily sniff out the maneenemy. From the drum, apparently, the human scent rises harmlessly like smoke from a chimney.

Deer, among the most difficult animals to photograph because of their acute sense of smell, become foolhardy when tempted by salt. They are inquisitive, too, said Cleaves. Wave a handkerchief at them and few can resist the impulse to come closer to see what it's all about.

Raccoons are suckers for butter mixed with brown sugar and eagerly scoop it out of a jar with their paws. Skunks, according to the portrayer of their night-life, are about the easiest of all the creatures to snap, especially when offered salmon and prunes.

It seems that skunks are very self-confident knowing that they carry a sort of coat of armor. I remember that a naturalist told me once that the reason we see so many skunks dead on a traveled highway is that the little animals believe all they have to do to fend off an enemy is to use their natural offensive weapon. Thus whenever a model of this species started beating the ground with his fore feet, indicating he was annoyed, Cleaves recognized a danger signal and took off fast.

Rabbits, Cleaves has found, are creatures of habit, feeding nightly off the same patch. Muskrats float elegantly on the surface of river or pond and nibble water plants.

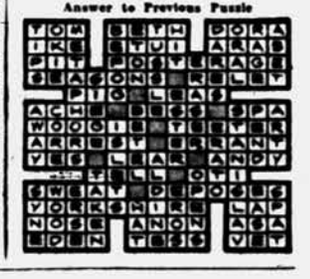

Suit Is Versatile

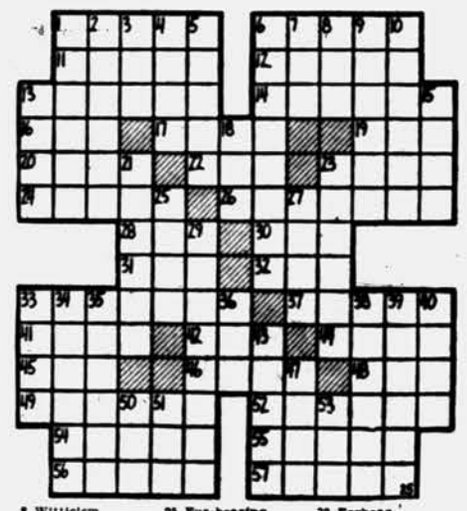

Button it up, it's a suit. Take off the jacket, it's a sheath of a dress. It's the traditional "costume." But in a winter cotton, it could be the perfect solution to the baffling weather that blows hot and cold with no regard to the calendar.

Cover Baby's Chair

If you have a separate room for your baby or child, a good chair for it would be one covered in clear plastic. While the semishine of this plastic may not be for the living room, its wipe-off quality makes it perfect for hard and messy wear.

Plans were announced for the Christmas smorgasbord to be held on Dec. 16 at the temple. Mrs. Loring Downs and Mrs. Frank Ledford were in charge of the dinner for the evening.

Wool dresses should be hung in the air as soon as you take them off to free them from any odors and wrinkles. Hang them straight on the hanger and keep them outside the closet overnight.

Triple value for your sewing time! It's a cotton wrapon—it's a wool jerkin—also a terrycloth coat for home chores, and the beach later! No fitting problems, it wraps. No ironing problems, it opens flat. Check that diagram—simple to sew!

Kids Underfoot? Try an Office Eighty Feet Up

MADISON, Ga. (INS)—Emma Stewart of Madison has partially solved that universal complaint of mothers that they can't get all their work done for the children underfoot.

Mrs. Stewart, mother of 10, takes her housework, or some of it, to her "office"—80 feet in the air.

She is a forest fire outlook for the Morgan-Walton county Forestry Unit. She spends her days high in the lookout tower and, considering the way of small children around a home, she says, "I have the perfect job. I'm so glad to go to work and get some rest."

Five of her children are grown and gone, but the five still at home range in age from 19 months to 16 years. The older ones look after the smaller, while Mrs. Stewart is doing her daily watching.

Fortunately, she can work on other projects while keeping an eye out for woods fires. Up in the tower, she says, "is where I do all of my mending." She adds: "Never have the children's clothes and socks been so well-mended as in the two years I've had the job. I've crocheted a hundred dollies, sewed on a million buttons and shelled more than a billion peas."

If you're making a skirt, no matter how economy - wise it seems, don't cut the waistband on the crosswise of a soft fabric. It'll stretch out of fit in no time.

'Curious Savage' to Be Presented Dec. 10 and 11

Circle Players of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced the cast for the Dec. 10 and 11 performances of "The Curious Savage." The three act comedy will be presented at 8:15 p.m. in Elks Temple.

The leading role will be played by Patricia Stites. Others in the cast are Shirley Pengilly, Wayne Wilson, Ken Stephens, Joseph Medrano and Eleanor Weine.

Also taking parts will be Hildegarde Odhner, Sandra Wamphler, Terry Murphy, Pan Trent and Donald Chuey. The play will be directed by Betty Murphy and Miss Stites.

Mobile Making Is Good Hobby

DALLAS, Tex. (INS)—If baking or sewing do not particularly interest you, try a mobile for your homemaking hobby.

The fascinating concoctions of wire, string and what-have-you are coming into their own as a decorating skill for the home.

They've even been set up in their own category in the women's premium contest at the State Fair of Texas—recognized as the nation's foremost.

Mrs. Ramon Rivas of Fort Worth, a former Dallas model with a flair for the "moving sculptures" is one of the most enthusiastic entrants in the field.

She passes along these suggestions:

Cotton thread is not as invisible in the air as nylon, but it is preferable because it does not stretch as much.

Purchased wire is better than coat hangers for bending purposes.

When making her mobile—Mrs. Rivas is partial to sequin-studded fish—she first completes the objects to be suspended. Then she bends the main supporting wire to the arc she wants and balances it with a thread supported overhead, and adds the objects to be suspended.

Setting the balance of the mobile usually requires "more than an evening's work," she admits.

Beef Gravy Easy Thanks to Cans

Canned beef gravy will be the pride of any woman's pantry. For who wants to stand over a hot stove making gravy the old-fashioned way when it's already prepared — in cans? Canned gravy needs only to be heated thoroughly — a matter of minutes; then pour it over meat and vegetables. It's heat-saving, time-saving, and temper-saving.

Here are ways to use canned beef gravy:

Pour it over:
Croquettes
Hamburgers
Chops
Roast Beef Sandwiches
Meat Loaf
Bread
Vegetables
Include it in:
Stews
Meat Pies
Meat Shortcakes
Hash
Serve in ring of:
Mashed potatoes
Noodles
Rice

Here's a suggestion. Use canned potatoes instead of taking time to cook fresh ones. Then call on a can of beef gravy to "flavorize" them. Have a quickly-prepared meat, such as hamburger patties, and a canned or frozen vegetable on each plate, too. Then, fresh from the garden, lettuce, tomatoes, and cucumbers "en salade" will appeal to the family.

Dessert could be chocolate ice-box cake, made by spreading chocolate crackers with whipped cream and piling them one atop the other, finishing with a cracker. Place the cracker and cream concoction in a square pan and chill in refrigerator for several hours until firm.

Fillets Delicious Whether Called Flounder, Sole

Chances are you could bring home two packages of frozen fish fillets—one labeled "sole," the other "flounder"—and have the same species of fish. The fish Americans call sole is a member of the flounder family, which includes not only the gray and lemon soles but also blackbacks, yellowtails, dabs and even halibut.

Then to confuse you still further, the English sole, which ichthyologists consider the true sole, is caught only in European waters.

Speaking of flounders, do you know why both eyes are on the same side of a flounder's head? The National Fisheries Institute gives this explanation: For so many centuries this fish has lain on its side, instead of its stomach, that one eye has migrated across the forehead to join the other on the upperside.

Moreover, the flounder, or sole, has evolved into a very flat fish, easy to fillet in large tender pieces, which are usually sold skinless, ideal for rolling and poaching, like these, to be served with lobster sauce.

Sole Fillets With Lobster Sauce

Sprinkle four sole fillets (about 2 pounds) with salt and white pepper. Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in a frying pan. Add one-fourth cup minced onion and 1 teaspoon minced parsley. Cook gently until onions are soft.

Roll each fillet and secure with a toothpick. Place in pan. Add one-fourth cup water and bring to boil. Reduce heat; cover pan and let fillets cook 10 to 12 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove fish to hot platter.

Mix 2 tablespoons butter with 2 tablespoons flour and stir into liquid in pan. Add 1 cup light cream; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Drain one small can lobster. Flake and add to sauce. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until lobster is heated through. Stir a little of the hot sauce into one beaten egg yolk; then stir egg yolk into sauce.

Pour sauce over fish fillets and serve immediately. Makes four to six servings.

Apples Follow Pork

Rosy apples make a delicious dessert to serve after a pork roast. Cut peeled and cored apples into thirds and simmer in a sugar syrup tinted pink with red food coloring. Serve warm or chilled with whipped cream topped with toasted nuts.

Arrange broiled fish fillets on creamed spinach; sprinkle with grated cheddar cheese and place under the broiler just long enough to melt the cheese.

Vary the flavor of favorite foods —make them more interesting with nonfat dry milk solids, using as liquid fruit or vegetable juices, soups or bouillon.

MODERN PUMPKIN PIES—Parading around a giant golden pumpkin are three oldtime treats dressed up for 1954. Any one will rate you a bouquet of compliments on any occasion. Top to bottom, they are Pecan Pumpkin Pie, Pumpkin Chiffon Pie and Praline Pumpkin-Custard Pie.

Grandma's Pumpkin Pie Goes Deliciously Modern

Today's pumpkin pie recipes are different from those of yesterday. They're designed for convenience and speed, but still boast that old-time flavor everyone enjoys. For quick, efficient pastry-making use packaged pie crust mix.

For the filling, choose something that's a bit special and different from the often served custard-type pumpkin pie. Glance at the picture—see how these happy revivals of grandmother's day have been brought up to date?

Taking the spotlight in the center is a feathery-light Pumpkin Chiffon Pie, a perfect dessert after a heavy meal. The topper is snowy whipped cream, sweetened and flavored.

In the lower left-hand corner, you see Praline Pumpkin-Custard Pie, with tiny pastry turkeys strutting around a crown of whipped cream. On top is velvety smooth, spicy pumpkin custard and on the bottom is a surprise layer of chopped pecans, brown sugar and butter.

Last comes Pecan Pumpkin Pie, a combination pecan and pumpkin fans will rave about. It's crunchy and spicy, the kind you'll serve often as a company dessert. Three-fourths-inch circles of pastry (cut with the center of a doughnut cutter) overlapping each other form the pretty trim for the edge.

Below are the recipes for each. Try one of them for your holiday feast, or the next time your family begs for pumpkin pie.

Praline Pumpkin-Custard Pie

½ cup finely chopped pecans
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
3 slightly beaten eggs
½ cup sugar
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon mace
1½ cups pumpkin
1½ cups light cream heated
Pastry shell—9-inch.

Combine first three ingredients. Press gently into bottom of pie shell. Prick sides slightly with fork. Bake 10 minutes in a 450-degree oven.

Combine eggs, sugar, flour and spices. Add pumpkin and mix well. Gradually add heated cream. Mix well. Turn into partially baked shell which has been allowed to cool at least two minutes.

Bake in 350-degree oven 50 to 60 minutes until a metal knife inserted about halfway between center and edge of filling comes out clean.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie

Baked 9-inch pie shell
1 tablespoon gelatin softened in ¼ cup cold water
3 slightly beaten egg yolks
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ginger
1¼ cups pumpkin
½ cup milk
½ cup whipping cream, beaten stiff
3 egg whites
½ cup sugar

Combine egg yolks, one-half cup sugar, salt, spices, pumpkin and milk. Mix well. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened.

Remove from heat and stir in the softened gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to set. Fold in whipped cream.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add one-half cup sugar, beating constantly until stiff peaks are formed. Fold carefully into the chilled pumpkin mixture.

Turn into the cooled baked pie shell. Chill until firm, about two hours. Serve with additional sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

Pecan Pumpkin Pie

3 slightly beaten eggs
½ cup sugar
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
1½ cups pumpkin
1½ cups light cream, heated

Combine all ingredients except pumpkin and cream. Then add pumpkin, mix well, and gradually add the heated cream. Pour into pastry-lined pan. Bake at 450 degrees 10 minutes, then at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

Melt 1 tablespoon butter and 2 tablespoons brown sugar together. Add three-fourths cup pecan halves and stir until nuts are thoroughly coated. Remove pie from oven and immediately cover with pecan mixture.

Bake 20-30 minutes more in 350-degree oven, until a metal knife inserted about halfway between center and edge of filling comes out clean.

Thrifty 1-Dish Meal Features Beef Ribs

Restaurant owners report that short ribs always are a favor with the men.

They're one of the thriftier beef cuts which, when combined with vegetables, make an inexpensive and wholesome one-dish meal for the family.

Braised Short Ribs with Vegetables

2½ to 3 pounds beef short ribs
Salt, pepper, flour, fat
1 medium onion
½ cup celery leaves
2 sprigs parsley
1½ cups hot water or bouillon
6 medium carrots
8 small onions
3 to 4 medium potatoes

Have short ribs cut into individual servings. Remove any excess fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in flour.

In a Dutch oven or other large heavy utensil, melt 2 tablespoons fat and in it brown short ribs thoroughly. Add sliced onion, celery leaves, parsley and liquid.

Cover and simmer over low heat for two hours or until meat is nearly tender, adding more liquid in small quantities, as needed.

Add vegetables, sprinkle with salt and pepper and continue cooking, covered, for 30 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Remove meat and vegetables to hot platter.

Skim most of fat from liquid, dilute to the desired strength and thicken with a smooth flour and water paste. Season. Four servings.

Pancakes won't stick if the griddle is rubbed with dry salt before heating. Using this method and an even cooking temperature, the pancakes turn out fluffy and golden brown.

Stuffed Franks Rate Seconds

A real he-man main dish, quickly cooked and easily put together—franks, stuffed, then wrapped in smoky bacon are broiled until the juices ooze through the filling.

Each frank is stuffed with a tasty mixture of rice, sharp cheese and green pepper—a very companionable threesome, as you will see when you eat one of these stuffed hot dogs.

What the broiler does to these stuffed franks can't be described in words—such succulent flavor is developed.

But your family won't need words to describe their satisfaction to you because the fact that they are eating seconds, and maybe thirds, will tell you that you have prepared a top-notch main dish.

Dogs-in-a-Blanket

1 cup uncooked white rice
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups water
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
¾ cup grated sharp cheese
10 frankfurters (about 1 pound)
20 slices bacon

Put the rice, salt and water in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and cook over this low heat for 14 minutes.

Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on for 10 minutes. Add the green pepper, mustard and pepper. Stir in the grated cheese.

Split the frankfurters lengthwise almost through to the opposite side. Spoon a generous amount of the rice and cheese filling over the entire length of each frankfurter.

Wrap two slices of bacon around each filled frankfurter so that all of the filling is covered by the bacon. Hold the bacon in place with three toothpicks. Chill until ready to cook.

Place the stuffed frankfurters on a shallow pan and broil in the broiler of an oven set at 450 degrees. Broil for 15 to 20 minutes, turning so the bacon will cook on all sides. Do not place too close to the heat or cook quickly because the filling must have time to heat through.

This recipe makes 10 servings. These stuffed frankfurters are so delicious that you should allow more than one to a person.

To one-half cup melted butter add ½ cup dry bread crumbs. Brown lightly. Serve on cooked asparagus, green beans or broccoli.

Smother Tender Onions in Savory Creole Sauce

The lowly onion is fit for a king when it is fixed this way! Tender, yet just crisp enough to be interesting, the onions are smothered in a Creole sauce to rival any Creole sauce ever to come from a southern kitchen.

Just imagine the taste of this very low cost dish — delicious smoked bacon, pieces of tender ham, crispy green peppers — and tender, white onions — smothered in a rich tomato sace.

And none of this wonderful sauce is lost because it is served on hot, fluffy, white rice. Yes, here's your answer to the "what to serve" question.

Bacon - Spiked Creole Onions

8 medium white onions
2 slices bacon
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped cooked ham or luncheon meat
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
½ cup water
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 cups hot, cooked white rice
½ cup finely grated American or Parmesan cheese

To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup uncooked white rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.

2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.

3. Leave aucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn heat off. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice warm if you are not ready to use it immediately.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains—allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes — with heat off, but without removing lid.

Peel onions and cook in boiling, salted water until tender, about 15 to 20 minutes. Drain onions. Cook bacon in a saucepan until crisp. Remove the bacon. Blend the flour into the bacon fat and cook several minutes.

Break the bacon into pieces and return to the saucepan. Add the green pepper, ham or luncheon meat, tomato sauce, water, garlic, salt and pepper. Mix well. Cut the onions in half and add to the tomato sauce.

Cover and cook over a low heat for 10 minutes. Stir occasionally.

Toasty Hot Canapes Delicious With Cider

Make these toasty hot canapes with enriched bread. Serve them with mulled cider for an autumn snack. Children will welcome them after school.

Trim the crusts from eight slices of bread. Spread bread slices with one 3-ounce package cream cheese.

Roll each jelly-roll fashion; wrap with one-half slice bacon and secure with a toothpick. Toast at 400 degrees (hot oven) until bacon is cooked. Drain. Serve warm. Makes eight.

Services Stand Fast on China Debate Ban

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army and Navy, despite a friendly presidential hint, stuck today to their ban on participation of West Point and Annapolis cadets in college debates on the recognition of Communist China.

Rear Adm. W. F. Boone, naval academy superintendent, said he would give a cheerful "aye, aye, sir" if an actual order from "higher authority" were issued to remove the ban

But neither the Navy nor the Army considered President Eisenhower's news conference remarks on the subject yesterday as an order or, apparently, as a strong suggestion.

Mr. Eisenhower said he personnally would not have barred naval and military academy participation in debates on recognizing Communist China, the intercollegiate topic selected for this year. A west Pointer himself, the President said he would trust student judgement in debating almost any issue.

East Grand Rapids OKs Housing Project Zoning

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — The City Commission of suburban East Grand Rapids has approved rezoning of Ramona Park to pave way for construction of a $2,500,000 housing development.

But the commission made effective date of the ordinance Dec. 4 to give opponents of the rezoning issue time to decide whether they want to petition for a special election.

If the ordinance becomes law Dec. 4, then Ramona Park will be town down to make way for the development. Harold T. Fletcher, Grand Rapids realtor, said he wil drop his plans to build the development if opponents of the rezoning ordinance force an election on the issue.

'Apartment Blues' Affect Foreign Folks in Moscow

MOSCOW (INS) — Moscow's housing situation is still so tight that even foreign diplomats and correspondents must wait at least six months for an apartment.

Foreigners cannot go apartment-hunting on their own as they would in other capitals. Almost all housing is owned either by the city government or by factories, ministries and other state organizations.

Foreigners may live only in buildings run or owned by Burobin, the bureau for services to the diplomatic corps.

But Burobin suffers from a chronic shortage of apartments and applying to them for an apartment means having your name added to the waiting list.

While sweating out the rare vacancy, diplomats and correspondents camp out in one of the three state tourist agency hotels . . . the Savoy, National or Metropole.

Standards in these three Intourist hotels are generally below those of first-class hotels in the West.

Foreign residents who settle down for the long wait to get an apartment make themselves as comfortable as possible by cooking all or part of their meals on a hot plate in the bathroom.

An exception to the problem a new mission to Moscow has in finding quarters was the case of the Indonesians.

Less than two weeks after the new Indonesian ambassador presented his credentials in April, the U. S. S. R. broke off diplomatic relations with Australia.

So Burobin was able to turn over the Australian chancery and apartments to the newcomers almost immediately.

Burobin has two large apartment houses and several smaller buildings which it leases by individual apartments. The tenant lists have a distinctly United Nations flavor, except that even more countries are represented.

The agency also leases whole buildings to foreign missions. Only the Austrian government owns its own embassy.

The U.S. Embassy solved most of its housing problems a year ago by moving its offices and living quarters into one large building on the Sadovaya ring a mile from the Kremlin.

The new building has room for all of the American staff except a dozen or so bachelors who live in an old house on the river embankment a mile or so away.

Previously the embassy had been located on Mokavaya Square and the staff quarters were scattered around town in Burobin houses and apartments.

Police Program Fills Sidewalks With Motorists

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Residents of this Centre County community wondered why hosts of strangers were parading around the town.

They found out from the police force. In a move to cut traffic accidents, the police set up a car-stopping program.

Any driver found who has been driving more than four or five hours must get out of his car and walk around the block. The measure is intended to shake off driving fatigue.

Hawaiian Students Spread Propaganda

HONOLULU (AP) — Tourist-conscious Hawaii is taking full advantage of the 500 students who go to the mainland each year to attend college.

The Hawaii Visitors Bureau provides each student with an information kit, and, for those who want it, hold a short course in Hawaliana to give out more detailed information.

The students, called "College Ambassadors," can use their kits for classroom assignments, answering other student queries about Hawaii and for other island promotions.

Spring and early summer are the most likely times for tornados to occur because of the collisions of cold polar air and air streams from the gulf's warmer weather.

Couple Use Leisure to Build New Home

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—When Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hunt decided on a new home they didn't go around looking for a lot of advice. They are building it themselves — in their spare time.

The project grew out of an addition Hunt made to his old home. It was so successful that he spent the next winter drawing plans for an entire new home. He thought it might take five years to build, but now hopes to make it in two since the Hunts are working on it at night to get more "spare time" for the project.

By day he works as maintenance engineer for the Bank of Virginia. Mrs. Hunt is an accountant for the city health department.

The Simplon tunnel between Italy and Switzerland is rated as the world's longest railway tunnel.

City Council Repeals Ban on Sunday Movies

HOBART, Okla. (AP)—Fifty-three years of history has been changed by a new city ordinance here. The city council repealed an old ordinance that prohibited Sunday theater operation.

Following a deadlock and many defeats the issue carried by unanimous vote, clearing the way for Sunday use of the city's newly decorated Kiowa theater.

Shingles Everything With Flattened Cans

SAWYER, Okla. (AP) — T. F. Stinnett, a life-long do-it-yourself exponent has shingled the roof and sides of his home and all his farm buildings with tin cans!

Stinnett said he used 18,000 quart motor oil cans for the project. He collected the discarded cans at service stations.

They are processed into tin plate shingles in assembly-line fashion. A can opener-like gadget removes the top and bottom. The can is then split down the side, and pressed flat.

Stinnett says his roof, covered 11 years ago, is as good as ever. He says he likes the cheerful appearance of his "tin can village." The only expenditure was for nails—one for each can.

There are about 3,300,000 miles of roads in the United States.

Farm Market Near Opening

December Completion Set for New $60,000 Oakland Produce Mart

The Oakland County Market, affording farmers a chance to both wholesale and retail their produce, is nearing completion and will open early in December, according to Robert Y. Moore of the county board of auditors.

An enclosed building 178 by 40 feet and a roofed-over, open-sided structure for summer selling 128 by 40 feet are being built for $60,000, Moore explained. They are located on West Pontiac Lake road just west of Telegraph road.

Some 18 of 40 display stalls in the enclosed building have already been rented at $50 each from December through April. There are an additional 32 stalls in the shed-type building, Moore said.

Although Oakland County farmers and gardeners will be given preference in renting stalls, no other restrictions will be placed on their use by non-county residents.

Plans call for one hour of wholesale selling each morning with the rest of the day devoted to retail sales, Moore added.

Belgian Schools Boycotted Over Religious Dispute

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Thousands of Belgian youngsters stayed home from school yesterday with parents' consent in a demonstration against what Roman Catholic organizations said was government discrimination against Catholic schools.

The Confederation of Christian Trade Unions, chief sponsor of the demonstration, said a half million students did not attend classes. Catholic teachers also stayed home.

For several days Catholic organizations and newspapers campaigned to make today a "protest day" against the school policy of Premier Van Acker's coalition government.

The Catholics claim that the government is giving more subsidies to state-controlled schools than to their own institutions. They also claim that teachers' jobs are more easily obtained and kept by graduates of official schools. The pro-government parties deny this.

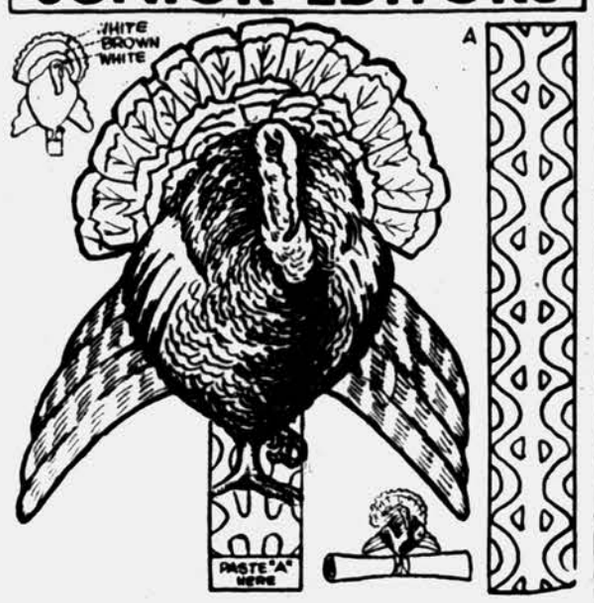

Lets Constituents Know Retirement Rumor False

HOPEWELL, Va. (AP) — When Dr. D. Lane Elder declined to seek re-election here after 28 years as mayor and 34 years on city council an erroneous rumor started that he would retire from politics.

No, he said, he will continue as a member of the Hopewell Democratic Committee and the committee for the Sixth Virginia Senatorial District. He has headed the Hopewell Committee since 1916.

Casualties Are Heavy in Malay Red Action

This is not a one-sided war, however.

In the six-year period, the terrorists have killed 2,308 civilians and wounded 1,303. A total of 681 civilians are missing.

Troops have lost 431 killed and 799 wounded.

Casualties among police totaled 1,241 killed, 1,439 wounded and 14 missing.

Ailing Airman Just Can't Take So Much Air

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Doctors stood by for emergency surgery if needed.

An ambulance and security patrols, sirens wailing, sped to the runway at Carswell Air Force to meet a civilian plane allowed to land because it was feared a man's life was at stake.

Airman 3C Weston E. Nellins, Woodlyn, Pa., was lowered to a litter violently ill and almost unconscious. Medics made a quick check and came up with the diagnosis:

Air sick, acute.

Nellins, restored with a couple of pills, caught a big, smooth-flying airliner on to Woodlyn for Thanksgiving with the homefolks.

On railroad rails without joints it is theoretically possible for one drop of oil to spread in a slippery film over two miles of rail.

U.S. Gift Window to Shine in Old French Cathedral

WASHINGTON — A new stained glass window, an American gift, will soon cast a multicolored glow along the walls of Chartres Cathedral where the chief glories of the old French glaziers' art have been enshrined for more than seven centuries.

Linking the past with the present, United States architects are making the donation to honor craftsmen of the Middle Ages whose names are hidden in the mists of history.

A master glass worker of the town of Chartres has been commissioned to piece together the gem-like parts on the east wall of the south transept.

In the long evolution of architectural achievement Chartres Cathedral stands as one of man's greatest monuments, says the National Geoegraphic Society.

The edifice itself is held up as a prime example of the 12th and 13th Century building and sculpturing arts. In addition, Chartres' array of stained windows is rated as pre-eminent by many authorities.

Chartres counts its windows at more than 150. They represent scenes from the lives of Christ, the Virgin, the prophets and the saints, and they also constitute a gallery of medieval characters, including tradesmen in their guild costumes. In all, there are almost 4,000 figures.

Other storehouses of stained glass treasures include Reims and Bourges Cathedrals in France and Canterbury in England.

Organist Gets Scare as Instrument 'Talks'

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. J. A. Gregory was practicing on the organ at St. Paul's Episcopal Church here when, suddenly, a voice boomed out of the instrument.

"I got to thinking about all the funerals I had played for," said Mrs. Gregory, "and it scared me plenty."

Investigation showed that the organ's amplifier had acted as a receiver to pick up an amateur radio broadcast.

After 63 Years, Man Asks for Dime Back

COLFAX, Wash. (AP) — One day when he was 15, Harold Doolittle slipped a dime into the cornerstone concrete of the rising Hamilton School.

Doolittle is now 78, but when he heard they were tearing down the old building he traveled the 60 miles from Spokane to put in a claim for his dime. The contractor told him to come back later; that it would be several months before the wreckers get to the cornerstone.

One Youth Admits Cottage Vandalism

One of three teenagers who are accused of causing about $20,000 in damage to 18 summer homes at Woodhull Lake Nov. 2 through 3 pleaded guilty to breaking and entering yesterday before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Robert Withey, 16, of 4655 Lakeview, Woodhull Lake, was returned to Oakland County Jail on $2,000 bond pending sentence Dec. 6. He earlier waived examination before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib.

The other two are slated for examination before Leib Dec. 3 at 9:30 a.m. in the courthouse building. They are Harold Parker, 16, of 9410 M-15, Clarkston and Eugene Buchheister, 15, of 5789 Clarkston - Orion Rd.

Winnie Gets a Chuckle at Boy's School Essay

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The mother of Gerald Lansbaum, 13, thought the British prime minister might be interested in this sentence from an essay written by the boy on a school assignment:

"Winston Churchill is an unusual man—although he is nearly 80 years old he does the work of a man twice his age."

Churchill's secretary, acknowledging receipt of the essay, said "the prime minister was amused."

City Receives Higher Budget

Willman Program Calls for Additional $162,000 Without Hiking Taxes

The proposed 1955 city budget calling for an increase of $162,000 over the current budget but not rising the tax rate above the pledged ceiling of $13.80 was handed the City Commission last night.

Presented by City Manager Walter K. Willman, the proposed budget totals $4,393,960. A hearing on it was set for Jan. 18.

Willman said an increased city payroll and rising costs of municipal supplies accounted for the boost.

Provision is made in the new budget for construction of a long-sought grade separation at Telegraph Rd. and Orchard Lake Ave. The project's cost will be shared with the State Highway Dept.

Completion of the new City Hall and the initial allocation of the one-half mill for the Pontiac General Hospital addition are also included in the program.

"This proposed budget is designed to finance an aggressive program of public service and construction, and to meet — within our fiscal limits — the urgent needs of a growing community," Willman stated.

Submission of the budget was Willman's last major act before leaving for a city managers' meeting in Florida and a week's vacation. He will return next month.

MODEL OIL-DRILLING BARGE—Wooden model riding gentle swells in the U. of M. Lake Hydraulics Laboratory testing tank represents an 1800-ton oil drilling barge proposed for development of Gulf of Mexico Oil Fields 100 miles off shore. Accurate in every detail the model has been battered by waves approximating 20-footers to see how it will stand up to Gulf storms. At the actual drilling site, giant stilts are driven into the ocean bottom and the hull sunk to the floor, leaving drill platform high and dry. Leslie D. Stair, research associate at the lab, looks on at left.

Juvenile Home Eyed

ALLEGAN (AP) — Probate Judge Harold Weston says the possibility of obtaining a combined boarding home and detention facility for Allegan County juveniles will be discussed at a forthcoming Board of Supervisors meeting. Judge Weston said the proposed facility was suggested because Kent and Kalamazoo County detention facilities have become too overcrowded to handle Allegan cases.

Two Motorists Treated After Accident in Novi

Two motorists, Taito E. Huhtala, 37, of 59950 W. 10-Mile Rd. and Merle E. Whittaker, 37, of 51225 Pontiac Trail, were treated by private physicians for minor injuries yesterday when both were involved in an auto accident in Novi Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies quoted Huhtala as saying he didn't see the other auto in time to avoid the accident.

The Hawaiian Islands extend across 1,540 miles of ocean, says the National Geographic Society.

Car Fire Ignites Home

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — William Risk, of nearby Stanwood, lost his home, garage and auto in a fire Tuesday. Risk told Mecosta Township firemen the blaze started when his car backfired in the garage. The car caught fire, igniting the garage, and the flames reached the house before Risk could summon help.

Cornell, Maryland Favored in Top Grid Games

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

While no gold-studded bowl bids awaited the winner, the 61st meeting between Cornell and Penn at Philadelphia today was perhaps the most important game of the season for the Big Red from Lake Cayuga.

• • •

A Cornell victory would enable the Ithaca, N. Y., team to tie Yale for the mythical Ivy League football title. Cornell was favored by two touchdowns.

This was the most ancient grid rivalry of the day. Actually, there were few college football games, but one big National Football League game was on tap along with some horse racing, a full slate in the National Hockey League and four games in the National Basketball Association.

• • •

The NCAA's television game of the day was Maryland vs Missouri at College Park, Md. The Terps were a heavy choice, having taken all four games in the series that goes back to 1950. They hope to get the Atlantic Coast Conference bid to the Orange Bowl when a vote is taken Saturday night.

Although this was a nonleague game, Maryland was particularly eager to make a good showing in the event that Duke, its only Orange Bowl rival, stumbles against North Carolina Saturday. The game was scheduled for 1:55 p.m. (EST) over ABC TV.

Virginia Military Academy, still hoping for a bid to one of the smaller bowls, took the field against Virginia Tech at Roanoke, Va. VMI has only a 7-7 tie with William and Mary against its record.

• • •

Two of the smaller bowl games also were on tap. The Burley Bowl at Johnson City, Tenn., brought together Appalachian (NC) and East Tennessee while the Mineral Bowl at Excelsior Springs, Mo., pitted Hastings (Neb.) against the College of Emporia (Kan.).

Other games had Colgate at Brown, Utah State and Utah at Salt Lake City, Texas A and M at Texas, Dayton at Chattanooga, Miami (O.) at Cincinnati, Colorado A and M at Denver, William and Mary at Richmond, Wichita at Tulsa, Newberry at Presbyterian, San Francisco State at Fresno State, West Texas State at Texas Western and Sul Ross at East Texas State.

• • •

The Detroit Lions, currently far out front in the Western Conference of the National Football League, hoped to fatten their margin at the expense of the Green Bay Packers.

At New Orleans, the Fair Grounds track opened its 82nd season with the running of the Thanksgiving Handicap. Other tracks operating were Bowie, Md., Golden Gate Fields in California and Narragansett Park in Rhode Island.

National Hockey League games tonight sent Montreal to Chicago, Toronto to Detroit and New York to Boston.

• • •

In the NBA, also all night affairs, Boston was at Philadelphia, Milwaukee at Syracuse, Baltimore at Fort Wayne, and Rochester at Minneapolis.

Penn Seeks First Victory of Year Against Big Red

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Penn, seeking its 1st win in nine grid starts this season, meets Cornell at Franklin Field today in a game long on tradition but shorter than usual in the spectator attraction department.

Cornell, with a 3-2 Ivy League record and much improved after losing its 1st four games this season, goes into the 61st renewal of the Penn series a slight favorite.

A Cornell win would put the Big Red in a tie with Yale for Ivy loop honors. Yale has won four Ivy contests while losing two.

A crowd of about 30,000 is expected for the opening kickoff at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Cornell got off to a slow start this year, losing to Colgate, Harvard, Rice and Yale, then came back to down Princeton, Columbia, Syracuse and Dartmouth.

Penn has suffered losses at the hands of Duke, William and Mary, Princeton, George Washington, Penn State, Notre Dame, Navy and Army.

Yankees Name Cochrane Scout

Former Tiger Star, Manager Will Work Out of Detroit

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Yankees last night announced the appointment of Gordon S. (Mickey) Cochrane, member of baseball's Hall of Fame, as a scout and instructor.

Cochrane, 51-year-old former star catcher of the Philadelphia A's and Detroit Tigers and former manager of the Tigers, will operate out of Detroit and will scout the Michigan and lower Ontario, Canada, area.

In addition, he will assist Yankee Manager Casey Stengel at the Yankees' instructional school at St. Petersburg, Fla., in February, working with "promising prospects." He will also work at the camps of the Yankees' higher-classification minor league teams.

Navy's Jayvee Kicker to Get Varsity Chance

Middie Senior Finally Moves to Varsity '11' for Saturday's Game

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — J. E. Harmon is expected to kick his way into an Army football game Saturday after being on the Navy squad two previous years without appearing.

Coach Eddie Erdelatz has had Harmon working steadily on nothing except place-kicking for two weeks. He dug down into the jayvees for Harmon especially for Army since Navy has no long-ball kicker.

Harmon is a tackle by trade, but he hasn't plied it much at the Naval Academy.

• • •

He appeared in the Penn and Notre Dame games last year, but Saturday will be the first time he dons a varsity uniform in this, his senior year.

• • •

Coach Erdelatz says he plans to use Harmon, who was an all-city center at Woodrow Wilson High in Dallas in 1949, only to kick off. But if the situation is right and an extra point or possibly a field goal proves necessary, the Navy coach might be tempted to let him try.

Erdelatz already has permitted nine players to kick for points after touchdown. They've made 22 of 39.

Extra points have figured largely in two recent Army-Navy games. They were needed by an underdog Navy team for a 21-21 tie in 1948 and cost the Middies an upset in 1946 when Army, with Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis playing their last game, won 21-18.

Montreal Club 8-Point Choice

Alouettes Favored in Grey Cup Battle With Edmonton Gridders

MONTREAL (AP)—If both teams play according to their season records, the Montreal Alouettes figure to beat the Edmonton Eskimos by about eight points in the Grey Cup game in Toronto Saturday.

The high-scoring Alouettes piled up 341 points in 14 league games this season for an average of 24.4 points a game. The Eskimos managed only 255 points in 16 games for an average of just under 16 points a game.

The Eskimos had a slight edge defensively but not nearly enough to overcome the Al's margin on the attack. Edmonton allowed 163 points by its opponents for a 10.2 average, while Montreal gave up 148 for a 10.6 mark.

21 Starters, Two Divisions in Thanksgiving Handicap

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The $7,500 Thanksgiving Handicap attracted 21 starters today as the Fair Grounds opened its 82nd racing meeting and took aim on attendance and wagering records set last season.

• • •

The traditional six furlong dash was split into two divisions to accommodate the huge field.

About 18,000 racing fans are expected to be on hand at the historic track when expected favorite King from the Clover Leaf Farms leads the ten starters out for the handicap's first division.

King won the Illinois Owners' Handicap at Hawthorne in Chicago and won two other races, one by five lengths.

King faces stout opposition from Marion Von Berg's Cajac and W. C. Martin's Phil D, winner of more than $200,000 and coholder of the mile and one-sixteenth record at Santa Anita Park.

Millionaire oilman Joe W. Brown's Bobby Brocato, runnerup to stablemate Gigantic in the $40,000 Louisiana Derby last spring, and Rebel Stable's Super Devil head the entries in the second division of the inaugural.

Southpaws Sign 1955 Pacts

By UNITED PRESS

Whitey Ford, Jack Harshman and Bobby Shantz, three southpaws who could shape the destinies of their respective clubs in 1955, figured in glowing reports today from three different baseball fronts.

Ford, a 16-game winner with the Yankees last season, signed his 1955 contract yesterday for an estimated $13,500 and said he was "looking forward to a 20-victory season" next year.

The little left-hander was 10 pounds overweight at 185 last season but said he intended to go south and "cut down to about 175" in the spring.

Harshman, who compiled a 14-8 record with the White Sox, also signed for next season. The converted 1st-baseman, whom manager Marty Marion feels can become an 18 or 20-game winner, had a 2.95 earned run average and set a new club record by striking out 16 Boston batters in a single game last July 25.

In Philadelphia, Lou Boudreau, new manager of the Kansas City Athletics visited Shantz and said he found the little left-hander in a "first rate" frame of mind.

Shantz, sidelined most of the season with an ailing arm, told Boudreau that he "really wants to pitch."

He said definitely he was not in an "I don't know" state of mind about his arm which accounted for 24 victories for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1952.

Also in Philadelphia, the Phillies announced the hiring of Wally Moses as a coach. Moses had served in the American League 20 years, mostly with the athletics, first as an outfielder, then as a coach.

Arizona's Art Luppino Needs Only 10 Points to Become Top Collegiate Scorer Since 1920

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten points against Wyoming Saturday will make Arizona's Art Luppino the highest scorer major-college football has produced in 34 years.

The hard-running sophomore, who has the national rushing and kickoff return titles also all wrapped up, has scored 148 points so far this season and completely wrecked all competition in that department, NCAA Service Bureau figures showed Thursday. He has 21 touchdowns and 22 extra points.

In 1950, Bobby Reynolds of Nebraska scored 157 points. No one else has scored that many since Jim Leech of VMI set the major-college standard of 210 back in 1920. So if Luppino matches his 10-point performance of last Saturday, he'll move ahead of Reynolds' total. Right now he ranks ninth on the all-time list, Reynolds sixth.

• • •

Luppino hasn't quite doubled the score on his rivals, but he's close. The second man is Penn State's Lenny Moore, who tallied 13 touchdowns for 78 points. His season is over. But Oklahoma's Buddy Leake, whose 78 points have come on 9 touchdowns and 23 conversions, and Army's Tom Bell, whose 72 are the result of 12 touchdowns, each have a game to play Saturday.

Fifth-place Caroll Hardy of Colorado is through with 68 points (9 and 14) but Denver's Rusty Fairly is very much in the running for runner-up honors. He has 67 points (9 and 13) and two games to play.

• • •

Earl Smith of Iowa is the leader in punt returns, winding up with 267 yards to 262 for UCLA's Sam Brown.

Luppino has taken care of the kickoff-return category neatly. He has 574 yards and one game to play.

Like Luppino, New Mexico's A. L. Terpening has shown his rivals little mercy in punting. Going into his last game against San Jose State, he has an average of 45.6 yards a kick for 35 punts.

• • •

In pass receiving, Don Holleder of Army has the most interesting statistic going. He's shooting for an all-time record for yards gained per catch. His average is 29.1 yards (17 caught for 495 yards). The record is 29.6, set by Ellery Williams of Santa Clara in 1948, when he caught 21 for 621 yards.

The pass receiving race seems all settled. California's Jim Hanifan finished up with 44 caught, Stanford's John Stewart with 36, California's Jim Carmichael with 33 and Drake's Jerry Mertens with 28.

My Big Break

By BABE ZAHARIAS
(Written for NEA Service)

I have had lots of breaks in my 23 years of sports, but there's one I will always think of as long as I live.

When it was thought I would never play championship golf again after my cancer operation, all that was in my mind was, "Can this be true?" If it were, I thought I'd die. After that, I began to work up to hitting that first ball. I knew if I hit a ball, I could tell whether or not I could play tournament golf again.

I did better, and while in my hospital bed started exercising my leg and calf muscles. They started coming back and by the time I got up from the bed and started walking, my legs felt good, although three or four steps were all I could stand.

I really didn't walk well until about three-and-a-half weeks after my operation.

When I got out of the hospital, I walked as much as possible, because I knew that I had to play in George S. May's Tam O' Shanter tournaments — the greatest we have. I didn't get in any golf playing much beforehand, as I was afraid I was not up to it.

But I left for Chicago when my doctors said it was safe. I practiced nine holes before the first of the two tournaments, using the All-American for a workout.

I finished 3rd in the world championship.

EASY DOES IT—Woody Hayes finally broke away from his hard-nosed attitude. The Ohio State coach's new view paid off this fall with a Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl bid.

'Rough Racket'

Former MSC Assistants Find Head Jobs Tough

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP) — Don't raise your boy to be a football coach.

It's a rough racket.

Better for his peace of mind that junior should be an assistant twister in a pretzel factory. At least the work is steady.

To take some instances, take for instance the cases of the former assistant coaches at Michigan State who became head football coaches.

Here are the case histories:

LaVerne (Kip) Taylor, Oregon State—just yesterday, it was announced that Kip and his entire staff had quit. His Oregon State team was kicked around for eight straight losses this season.

Lowell P. (Red) Dawson, Pittsburgh—Dawson left Michigan State to take over a school that had a suicide schedule. His squad lost 27-7 to USC, 46-7 to Minnesota and 33-0 to Notre Dame.

Dawson went in the hospital. Athletic Director Tom Hamilton took over the team and beat Navy, Northwestern and Virginia. Dawson has announced his resignation to enter private business.

Earl Edwards—after shopping around for various offers, Earl took North Carolina State. Edwards has won only two games out of 10 this season but the word is that he's still in solid. Earl has a three year contract and is likely to last it out.

Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, Michigan State—Daugherty took over a big 10 co-champion and Rose Bowl winner and one of the toughest schedules in the country. The roof fell in for a 3-6 season.

Forest (Evy) Evashevski, Iowa—They were making Rose Bowl reservations at Iowa before the season started. Iowa won five and lost four and the whispers about Evy taking over at Michigan died down to less than a whisper. Evashevski is hugging his 10-year contract.

Alton S. Kircher, Washington State — Kircher has won four against six losses. There isn't too much pressure and the job looks safe.

Stephen Sebo, Pennsylvania — Eight teams have beaten Pennsylvania and Cornell will take its turn on Thanksgiving. You hear they still like Steve although he isn't smiling much lately.

The moral: If your boy insists he wants to be a coach, mother, tell him to coach fencing.

Lewicki, Not Tough Enough for Leafs, Shines for N.Y.

By UNITED PRESS

Castoff Danny Lewicki wasn't quite tough enough for Toronto but he is flexing his scoring muscles with the New York Rangers today and keeping them from falling to 5th place in the National Hockey League.

The 23-year-old wingman from Ft. William, Ont., triggered home two goals to pace the Rangers to a 3-1 victory over the Bruins in the only game scheduled last night.

Lewicki's two tallies gave him a total of 14 so far this season, placing him 2nd in that department, to Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal, who leads the league with 17.

Lewicki, traded by the Maple Leafs prior to the start of the season because he didn't fit into their aggressive pattern, wasn't the Ranger's only standout. Goalie Johnny Bower, fresh up from Vancouver as a replacement for the injured Lorne Worsley, made 39 saves and only lost his shutout when Lorne Ferguson scored midway in the final period.

Little Wally Hergesheimer, playing for the first time since suffering a broken leg last March 11, also shared in the Ranger triumph, getting them off on the right foot when he scored the 1st goal of the game in the 1st period.

BOBBY TOPP IS TOPS—New York football Giant end Bobby Topp (white jersey) clutches ball after taking third period touchdown pass from Kyle Rote in recent National Football League's eastern conference game with Philadelphia Eagles at the Polo Grounds, New York City. Topp is tackled by Eagles' back Jerry Norton as teammates Harry Dowda (44) and Chuck Bednarik move in too late. Giants won, 27-14.

Jim Tatum to Coach 'Skins?

NEW YORK (INS)—Harry Wismer, sportscaster and International News Service football expert said today he has learned authoritatively that Jim Tatum of the University of Maryland will coach the Washington Redskins next year.

Wismer said Tatum is expected to resign his Maryland post at the end of the present season as coach of the Redskins, who have won only two of their games this season.

Ironically, Tatum is recognized as a split-T expert. Both Kuharich and Redskins president George Preston Marshall recently blasted the Split-T as a "lazy man's" formation that is "runing" football.

State's Hunting Deaths Total 7

Hesperia Man Latest Victim of Shooting in Deer Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The gunfire death toll among Michigan deer hunters stood at seven Thursday with six days left in the state's 16-day big game season.

Latest reported death was that of Perry Holcomb, 21, of Hesperia. Sheriff's deputies said Holcomb was shot accidentally Tuesday by a companion while the pair were hunting near Walkerville in Oceana county.

Meanwhile, Oscar Seifert, 57, of Tiffin, Ohio, was found by companions Wednesday after being lost some 24 hours on Batchewana Island in Lake Superior 60 miles northwest of Sault Ste. Marie. Seifert became separated from his friends and their guide while hunting on the Canadian island.

Besides the gunfire victims, seven persons have died of heart attacks and scores have been wounded in deer hunting activities since the season opened Nov. 15.

Last year 13 persons were shot to death and 61 were wounded in the big game season.

Colorado-DU Battle for Cannon Ends

Aggies' Field Piece Stolen, Found on Eve of Game

DENVER (AP)—The battle of the cannon, heard 'round Colorado, ended in a Denver garage Wednesday with nary a shot fired.

But a new engagement was threatened after the rightful owners obtained a substitute cannon and pledged to display it here at today's Denver University-Colorado A&M football game.

• • •

The heavy weapon, customarily fired by Aggie students when their team scores, was stolen last week from the Fort Collins school's campus.

• • •

When police efforts to locate the 75-mm. field piece failed, irate Aggies swarmed to the Denver University campus, charging pioneer students had stolen it. Officers put down the raid without incident.

Then, on the eve of the game, du Chancellor Chester M. Alter received a telephone call from students, who told him:

"Let us give the cannon to the Aggies at the game, and we'll let you know where it is."

Wolverine Notebook:

'M' Cage Team to Rely on Sophomores; Kramer Moves From Grid to Court

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Wolverine notebook:

Michigan basketball coach Bill Perigo leads his fast-breaking Wolverines into the 1954 season a week from Saturday in search of sophomore miracles.

Like football coach Bennie Oosterbaan, Perigo will have the services of Ron Kramer of East Detroit and Tom Maentz of Holland, two sophomore ends that broke into 1st-string football play.

Kramer, all the coaches agree, is a born athlete. Like his football coach, Oosterbaan, Kramer seems destined, barring injury, to be an All-America in football and basketball.

Perigo says he will use Kramer at either forward or center, depending on how the team develops. He has two other sophomores who impress him in Milt Lingle and Jim Sharon.

With this help and with returning lettermen Tom Jorgensen, Paul Groffsky, Jimmy Barron, and Harvey Williams, Perigo hopes to improve the last-place Big 10 tie with Purdue last season.

But Perigo knows where the class of the Big 10 race is. He claims that Northwestern is the most improved team. Indiana was hit hard by graduation but still has spectacular leading scorer, Don Schlundt. Iowa will be challenging and the least hurt by graduation. Illinois and Minnesota will also be tough.

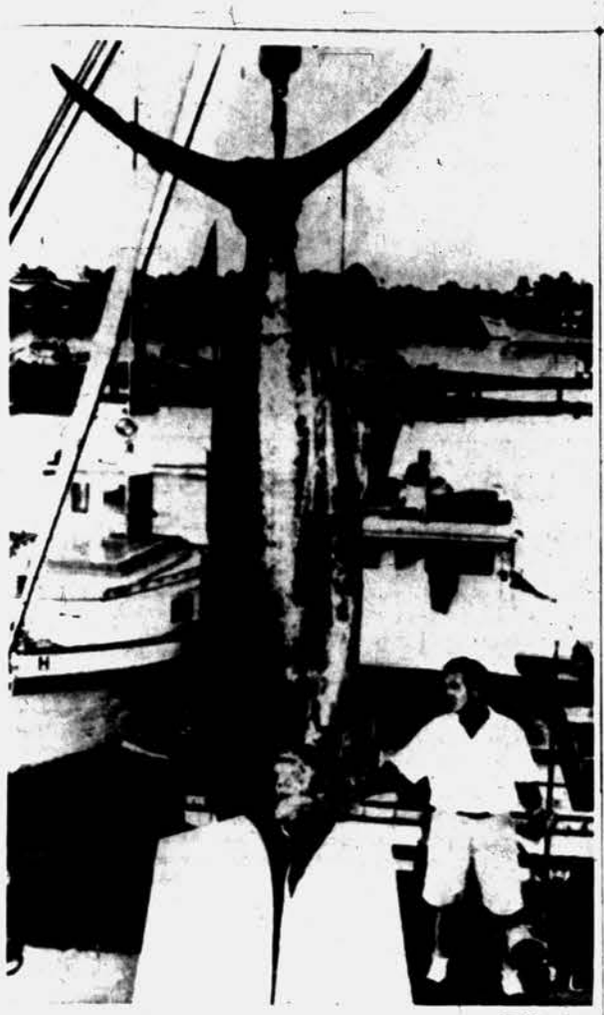

Michigan has won more national individual championships in all-sports than has any other school in the country. Runner-up is Ohio State. Michigan has 114, Ohio State, 103 in nine NCAA-recognized sports including track and swimming.

Michigan has won more team championships in national competition than any other Big 10 school, but has won less than Yale, University of Southern California and Oklahoma A. & M.

Yale has 25 championships, 21 of them in golf. USC has 20 championships, 17 of them in track, Oklahoma has 18 championships, 16 of them in wrestling. Michigan has 14 championships in five of 12 sports.

Press' Deer Contest Nearing Close

AP Wirephoto

BIG ONE DIDN'T GET AWAY—George Parker Jr., is dwarfed by this 1,002-pound marlin he caught at Hononlulu, Hawaii, Saturday. The big fish, 13-feet, 3½ inches long, is the largest marlin ever caught in the area on regulation tackle. It struck Parker's 130-pound test line as he was navigating his launch from one island to another. Parker radioed for a steersman, who joined the fight and helped Parker bring home the big one. It will be a world record if judged a striped marlin by international game fishing authorities. The record for a striped marlin is 692 pounds. Listed world record for a marlin is 1,560 pounds.

Only Six Days Left in State General Season

Pontiac Hunter's 230 Pound Buck Is Current Weight Leader

Oakland County hunters hoping to grab one of the three $100 U. S. savings bonds being offered in the Pontiac Press' deer contest have only six more days to bag that prize buck.

State-wide buck season comes to an end Nov. 30. Press' contest is for the 16-day general season only, and does not include deer killed in the special any-deer season (by permit only) Dec. 1-7.

Currently holding down the lead in the weight division of the 3-way contest is a husky 230-pound buck entered by George Horton of Pontiac. Horton's big 12-pointer is the heaviest contest entry in six years.

Among the recent entries in the best rack section are a 10-pointer entered by Richard Pacer of 10380 Gibbs Road in Holly and a 6-pointer entered by William Liley of 7100 Elizabeth Lake Road.

Pacer shot his deer in Schoolcraft County on Monday, while Liley bagged his Nov. 16 at Lewiston.

Other area hunters reporting kills:

Robert Goebel, 3879 Conert Road—12-pointer in Chippewa County.
August Klouse, Rochester—8-pointer near Calumet.
Fred Henry, 832 Cameron St.—8-pointer in Ontonagan County.
Gordon Booker, 160 N. Avery St.—10-pointer near Rudyard.
John M. Smith, 4685 Lakeview—13-pointer near Springfield Township.
Alfred Ervin, 116 W. Mansfield St. in Schoolcroft County.

Pontiac Archery Official Hits Vandalism at Range

A plea for a halt to destructive vandalism at the Pontiac Archery Club's range today was voiced by Kyle V. Wharff, publicity chairman of the club.

Target butts have been wrecked and shooting markers have been blasted by high-powered rifles and shotguns at the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area layout, according to Wharff.

"Pontiac Archers devote a good many hours of work and a considerable amount of money each year maintaining this archery course," Wharff said.

"In cooperation with the Recreation Division of the Michigan Conservation Department, this course is open to the public for archery. We, the Pontiac Archers, would like to feel that the work and money put into maintenance of this course was appreciated and enjoyed by the sportsmen and sportswomen."

PAC held its 1st outdoor shoot of the winter last weekend, with 48 competitors attending the 48-target shoot. Dick Laktis of Detroit won the men's event, followed by LeRoy Addison and Webb Grimes of Pontiac. Women's shoot was won by Hannah Hughes of Pontiac, followed by Barb Cascadden of Pontiac and Loretta Steele of Detroit.

Jack Hirneisen of Drayton Plains and Edith Grove of Detroit finished 1st in the junior boys' and girls' events.

UCLA's only defeat in football in 1953 was a 21-20 setback by Stanford.

Hunting Safety Group Meets

LANSING (UP) — Conservation and state police officials will meet with the hunting accident safety committee of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) in Detroit Dec. 11-12 to map plans for increased emphasis on outdoor education, it was announced Thursday.

"We've got to step up our program of training youthful hunters if we are going to cut down on accidents," conservation director Gerald Eddy said.

Eddy said the group also will discuss a possible amendment to establish a board of review to hear appeals from hunters who are refused licenses because they were involved in gunfire accidents.

Lake Orion Man Bags Deer—With His Car

Robert C. Lewis Jr. of Lake Orion bagged a deer today without firing a shot.

He has a wrecked car to prove it.

Lewis told Oakland county sheriff's officers he was driving north on Baldwin Road six miles north of Pontiac about 4:20 a.m. when a 150-pound doe ran into the path of his car.

The doe, which was killed instantly, was turned over to conservation officers. Lewis' car had to be towed away.

Writer Volunteers Gift Ideas for Sportsmen

By MORT NEFF

Early shoppers are beginning to worry about what to give that sportsman friend, relative, husband or wife for Christmas. We'll just mention a few brand new products here for your consideration. Duck hunters dislike gloves while blind shooting. A new idea is a sort of muff attached to a belt. Inside the muff is one of those hand-warmers heated by lighter fluid. Obviously it's easy to keep warm, and at the same time be ready for instant action with bare hands.

NEFF

Along these same lines you'll find a kind of harness that holds a pair of those compact lighter-fluid warmers at the small of the back. If you're sitting on a runway for hours at a time in bitter cold you'll know how cold your back can get!

For that 1955 camping trip there are several new ideas to make camp life a little more comfortable. Somebody's invented a new kind of camp cot with spring comfort for two, that weighs only 16 pounds and folds up neatly for easy transport on your pack string.

For the ice fishermen there are at least a half dozen new "freeze-proof" tip-ups, with super-visible flags or signals. Here again keeping warm is always a problem—and those new vests filled with fiberglass or down will fulfill a big need. Down-filled hats with big ear-laps are always a welcome addition to the sportsman's wardrobe.

Disease Is Taking Toll of Muskrats

LANSING (UP)—An Undetermined disease is taking a larger than usual toll of muskrats this year.

The state conservation department said, however, the losses probably are not heavy enough to affect the southern Michigan trapping season between Dec. 1 and Jan. 15.

The Saginaw Bay area has reported the largest number of dead animals, the department said.

Attempts to identify the disease are hampered by lack of fresh specimens.

Opening of Prep Cage Season Only Week Away

By JACK SAYLOR

Opening tip-off on another high school basketball season is just around the corner. Practice is already underway at Oakland County and area schools and first games for most teams are scheduled a week from Friday night.

As in football, teams are permitted one pre-season scrimmage against outside competition and once more the foul rule has been altered.

This year a bonus system has been installed. On all one-shot fouls, if the shooter makes the shot, he is awarded a 2nd or bonus attempt. There is no change in the 2-shot foul. All fouls in the last three minutes are automatic 2-shot violations.

New names are sure to be forthcoming among the standouts in both team and individual categories. Last year, the best records among county quintets were turned in by Rochester, Clarkston and Troy, along with area 5s Northville, Warren and Brown City.

Most of these teams suffered important losses by graduation and other schools, such as Oxford Milford and Keego Harbor, among others, are on the up-grade.

Rochester won its 3rd straight Tri-County League championship last season, but the league now is disbanded. However, competition remains in eight area conferences.

Defending champions include Farmington (Inter-Lakes), Ferndale (Eastern Mich.), Northville (Wayne-Oakland), Troy (Oakland-Br. Warren (Bi-County), Mayville (South Central), Brown City (Southern Thumb) and St. Benedict (Suburban Catholic).

Only two of the top 10 scorers in Oakland County are back this season, and one of those, Berkley's Dick Radatz, has only a half-season to play. Arlan Stone of Rochester was the 1953-54 scoring champ with a 23.4 point average. He had 374 points in 16 regular season games.

Troy's Mike DeKane was runnerup with an average of 17.8 and 284 points. Radatz finished 7th a year ago with a 15.5 average. The other returning leader is Bob Jacober, Waterford senior, who was 9th with 243 points and a 15.2 mark.

Others back whose scoring average was in double figures are Jim Davidson of Milford (14.5), Tom Turner (13.3) and Walt Wilkins (12.5) of Ferndale, and Jim Simer (12.9) and Jim Myers (11) of Madison.

Seven county quintets have new coaches this season, including Ken Hulslander at St. Frederick's and John Rakoczy at St. Mary of Orchard Lake. Frank Crowell of Avondale has added basketball to his football chores as Bob Eldridge has taken the Wyandotte job.

Herb Quade takes over at Holly, replacing Chet Aubuchon, now coaching at Port Huron Junior College. Hal Carlin replaces Len Visser at Lake Orion and Bert Jackson has moved up from the JV job at Lapeer, replacing Lloyd Osborn.

Outlook for county teams and leagues in the area will be discussed in subsequent articles.

Pirates Show Gains

The Pirates are said to have gained an estimated $500,000 in trades and deals since Branch Rickey took over the helm as general manager of the Pittsburgh organization.

Jockeys Have Hobbies

MIAMI (AP)—Jockeys at Hialeah race track devote their spare hours to various hobbies. Basil James breeds tropical fish. Ted Atkinson is the horticulturist. Gene Martin has a large collection of old and rare coins.

During 1954 Richie Ashburn and Eddie Yost had played in the most consecutive major games of any active players.

CO-CAPTAIN — Jerry Ganzel of Milford has been named co-captain of the 1955 Western Michigan College football team. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ganzel of Milford, the 6-1, 175-pound quarterback was one of the outstanding backs in the Mid-America Conference this past season. His passing was instrumental in several upset victories for the Bronco eleven. He starred in prep football at Milford High School.

Lane Advises Boudreau to Trade Pair of Stars

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — With hundreds of players to draw from, the 16 major league clubs have drafted only a handful. How come?

As Frank Lane, the out-spoken boss of the Chicago White Sox, put it:

"I'm surely surprised there were so few. I would have thought some of these tail-enders could have helped themselves, no major league outfits would be lucky to win a pennant in the American Association or the International League."

Lane said he told Lou Boudreau, newly named manager of the Kansas City Athletics, that "if he wanted to get anywhere he would have to make a deal like the Yanks and Orioles made."

The White Sox general manager said the A's have two players, pitcher Arnold Portocarrero and infielder Jim Finigan, to use as trade bait. He added:

"Boudreau could get virtually a whole new ball club for those two. It's a cinch that two alone are not going to win a pennant for him. And who knows? In a deal he might come up with another Finigan who, you will recall was just a throw-in on a deal with the Yanks.

"I told him to forget about the Indians and Yanks and White Sox. He's not going to challenge those clubs. But I think he could win a lot more games if he would go out and trade Portocarrero and Finigan."

One reason for the reluctance to draft may be the fact that the majors have so many prospective stars getting out of the armed services. The pirates, for instance, have a raft of players due out soon. Many of these had only a year or so professional experience before being grabbed by Uncle Sam.

Virtually all of them may need a year or more experience in the minors. But the Pirates figure they may do as well by waiting another year as they would by drafting somebody now who might not make good.

It's Time Out!-

"That's my boy running with the ball!"

Texas Meets A&M, Coach's Job at Stake

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas and Texas A&M meet for the 61st time in the most storied football rivalry of the Southwest today but the game means nothing except that it might get Coach Ed Price's job at Texas.

If the Longhorns fail to beat a Texas A&M team that has won only one game all season "the pressure will be terrific," said Col. D. Harold Byrd of Dallas, president of the powerful Longhorn Club and one of the most ardent backers of the university.

This club, which has no official standing but wields influence with the Board of Regents of the university, meets today and Byrd admitted that the football coaching situation "probably will be discussed."

Price has been under fire of the alumni since his team, heavily favored to win the Southwest Conference championship and rank high nationally, went through one of the worst seasons in Longhorn history. It lost to Oklahoma and Notre Dame and won only one game in conference play—from Texas Christian. The team was racked by disciplinary troubles, however, as Price penalized a number of the players for violating training regulations.

Some 60,000 will turn out today as A&M tries to break the jinx of Memorial Stadium—no Aggie team ever has won there in the 28 years of the stadium's existence.

J. Neils Thompson, chairman of the Texas Athletic Council which takes its orders from the administration and the Board of Regents, said his group plans no meeting to consider the coaching situation and that "Coach Price has a contract and that's that, so far as we're now concerned. We are, however, subject to higher authority—the school administration and regents."

Price has a contract running through 1957. It calls for $12,000 a year and can not be voided without his consent.

Seek Means to Combat Decline

Falling Attendance Is Source of Worry for Minor Loop Clubs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Proposals to combat a decline in minor league baseball attendance will be aired in Houston, Tex., late this month, Minor League Chief George M. Trautman said Thursday.

Trautman, president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues, said minor league attendance fell off nearly six per cent in 1954.

Trautman said he "viewed the minor league future with optimism tinged with some concern." He expects to start the 1955 season with 33 or more circuits.

Factors contributing to the decline, he said, included the Korean War which took many players, adverse weather early in the season and "saturation" of minor league areas with major league radio and television broadcasts.

SPARTANS HONORED—Members of the Michigan State football team were feted at their team banquet this week. Left to right are captain-elect Carl Nystrom of Marquette, Coach Duffy Daugherty, Hank Bullough of Canton, O., winner of the "oil can" award as team humorist, and Johnny Matsock of Detroit, voted "most valuable." $18,150 in Bounties

LANSING (UP)—Michigan paid $18,150 for one wolf, 463 coyotes, 176 bobcats and 1,824 foxes bountied during October, the conservation department reported today.

The tenth annual International Light Tackle Sailfish Tournament will be held at West Palm Beach, Fla., from Jan. 10 to 14.

National Meet Opens

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The National Junior and Boys Indoor Tennis Tournament opens here today with about 60 players in the field.

Art Andrews of Iowa City, Iowa, is the No. 1-seeded player in the junior division of 34 entries while Allan Roberts of Brooklyn is topranked among the 25 players entered in the boys' division.

HE GOT THE BIG ONE—Johnny Issacs, 14, of Bridgeport, Conn., stands with 720-pound tuna landed from father's boat off Montauk, N.Y., as father went without a strike.

Longden Still Shaky, Cancels Riding Jobs

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Johnny Longden, severely shaken up when thrown and pinned under a horse Monday, still felt unsteady Thursday and cancelled his riding engagements at Golden Gate Fields Race track.

One of his two scheduled mounts, St. Vincent, an English import, won for jockey George Taniguchi for a $19.40 payoff. St. Vincent is trained by Longden's son, Vance.

Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions is the brother of John Schmidt who played pro football with Pittsburgh.

Punch in Eye Starts Maxim on Way to Beating Andrews

CHICAGO (UP) — Joey Maxim looked as fat as your Thanksgiving Day turkey and appeared doomed to be carved up by young Paul Andrews a 4-1 choice, at Chicago Stadium last night.

* * *

But Joey, his right eye nearly closed by a glancing left blow from the first round through the last, called forth all his experience in 106 bouts to take a 10-round unanimous decision from the Buffalo blaster in the nationally televised fight.

* * *

Maxim, former light-heavyweight champion, weighed a blubbery 189½ pounds. Andrews, who at 24 is eight years younger, trimly carried 180 on his 6 foot 3 inch frame.

There were no knockdowns or anything that came close to one.

Maxim, feinting weaving and piling up points with stinging combination punches at close range, handed Andrews his fourth loss in 33 scraps. It was Joey's 81st victory against 21 defeats and four draws, and the second time of late he has come through on top as a "trial horse" for up-and-coming youngsters.

He recently defeated Olympic champion Floyd Patterson in New York.

* * *

Referee Frank Sikora scored it 98-96 for Maxim. Judge John Bray favored him 99-93 and Judge James McManus had it 96-95. The Associated Press card was 98-97 for Maxim.

* * *

"I think I trained too fine for this one—I just couldn't get off," said Andrews. "The worst thing that happened was closing Maxim's eye in the first round. He started fighting from the side instead of coming forward like I wanted him to. I could only hit him on one side instead of two."

Maxim conceded that "I certainly fooled a lot of people."

"My biggest surprise was weighing in at 189½, he added. "I was sure I would be 184. I was up to 200 a couple of weeks ago."

Rain Delays Title Bout for 24 Hours

TOKYO (UP)—A cold drizzling all-day rain Thursday took the gloves off world flyweight champion Yoshio Shirai of Japan and Argentina's Pascual Perez for at least 24 hours.

Promoter Ken Shimbo postponed Thursday night's scheduled 15-round outdoor championship bout and reset it for 8 p.m. (5 a.m. EST) Friday in Korakuen Baseball Stadium.

It was the second postponement. The fight, originally set Oct. 26, was put off when Perez injured an eardrum in training.

Big 10 Fans to See Cage Game on TV

CHICAGO (UP) — Big Ten basketball will be televised nationally this season with every conference team appearing before the coast-to-coast audience at least once.

The Big Ten yesterday announced that the Columbia Broadcasting System will carry a game involving a conference team on television on 11 Saturday afternoons from Dec. 11 through March 5.

The 1st such telecast will be Indiana at Notre Dame Dec. 11. The Hoosiers won the Big Ten title last season but lost to the Irish in the NCAA championship playoffs.

The full schedule is now being prepared by the Big Ten and CBS and will be announced within two weeks.

Palm Springs Is Site for PGA's Big Pro Event

Nov. 5-6 Is Date for International Battle, Last Held in Britain

CHICAGO (UP) — The 11th Ryder Cup matches between top pros of the United States and Britain will be played Nov. 5-6, 1955, at the Thunderbird Ranch and Country Club, Palm Springs, Calif.

The matches, played every two years, last were held in Wentworth, Eng., in 1953 with the U.S. team defeating the British, 6½ to 5½. They were last played in this country in 1951 at Pinehurst, N.C.

The United States holds an 8 to 2 edge in the series.

* * *

The Professional Golfers' Assn. of America, announcing Thursday the site and date of the 1955 competition, said the British team will leave England around Oct. 13 next year, playing at least one match en route to Palm Springs.

* * *

The U. S. team makeup will be determined by the final standings in current Ryder Cup point competition, but the 1955 PGA champion will be an automatic team member. The team is announced 60 days before the matches.

* * *

Bob Toski presently leads Ryder Cup standings with 408½ points, followed by Tommy Bolt (369); Cary Middlecoff (358½); Marty Furgol (286); Jerry Barber (292½) Lloyd Mangrum (287 1-6); E. J. Harrison (262 11-15); Ted Kroll (256 3-12); Ed Furgol (250¾), and Jack Burke Jr. (228 39-60).

* * *

The PGA also announced Thursday a record-setting $250,000 winter-playing schedule, opening with the new $25,000 Pan American Open at Inglewood, Calif., Jan. 6-9, and extending through the Masters at Augusta, Ga., April 7.

The purse total is $17,000 over this year's second high for winter competition. Another new tourney is the $12,500 Miami Beach Open, March 24-27. Two meets returning after a year's absence, are the $10,000 Tucson Open, Feb. 10-13, and the $12,500 St. Petersburg Open, March 17-20.

Former Champ Loses to Strauss on Foul

ALBUQUERQUE, N. Mex. (UP) — Referee Jim Cleary Wednesday night awarded Sonny Straus, San Diego, a victory over former world lightweight champion Lauro Salas after ruling Straus was deliberately fouled.

Salas weighed 130, Straus 127. The fight was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Salas, heavily favored to win his fourth comeback victory and considerably ahead on points, protested the eighth-round decision by Cleary. But ring physician M. A. Tanny upheld Cleary's action, saying the Californian was unable to continue.

'Good Compromise'

Some Hunters Want Later Deer Season; Officials, However, Favor Present Dates

By GEORGE WEEKS

LANSING (UP) — The belated arrival of cold weather had some hunters clamoring for establishment of a later deer season today, but conservation officials maintained the Nov. 15-30 season is a "pretty good compromise."

"We have no immediate plans to recommend changes in the season just because weather appeared to be unfavorable during opening days this year," D. W. Douglass, game division technical chief, said.

Here's why:

During a 27-year study of snow conditions on Nov. 15 at Grayling a half-inch or more of snow was reported 37 per cent of the time, which indicates tracking snow was available in more than a 3rd of the opening days.

"In some cases, we had 10 inches of snow, which is too much for ideal hunting conditions," Douglass said. "The longer we stall the opening day, the more chance of getting to much snow during latter days."

A 10-year-study of temperatures during Nov. 15-22 gave game officials further confidence in their decision.

"In only 15 per cent of the total days (70) counted did we have temperatures above 55 degrees, which is the temperature at which a kill begins to spoil," Douglass said.

A "good sprinkling" of cold storage lockers in deer areas minimizes the danger of spoilage, he said.

It ended in 1941, 13 years ago.

If Michigan actually is going through a prolonged warming cycle, many sportsmen contend the research should be brought up to date.

Weather isn't the only problem causing grumblings among Michigan deer hunters.

Upper Peninsula interests want a Saturday opening date every year. This year's Monday opening has been blamed, along with warm and rainy weather, for the light hunting pressure in most areas.

"We object to an overall Saturday opening," Douglass said. "There's too much concentration of hunters. This way it varies from year to year.

"The season has been Nov. 15-30 for many years and it has been pretty well accepted."

Ex-Redskins Proving Useful to Other NFL Clubs

By THE UNITED PRESS SPORTS

The Washington Redskins are camping at the bottom of the National Football League's Eastern Division but, ironically, they have contributed useful players to several of the current title contenders.

Don Paul of the Cleveland Browns, Harry Dowda of the Philadelphia Eagles, Ray Collins of the New York Giants and Hall Haynes of the Los Angeles Rams are among the former Redskins playing for the clubs still involved in the division races.

Paul quit Washington when owner George Preston Marshall fired Curley Lambeau and made Joe Kuharich his coach last August. The Browns trying to plug leaks in their defensive backfield, promptly hired Paul. He has become an important cog in a defensive unit that has helped the club take the Eastern Division lead by allowing its last five opponents a total of only 30 points.

* * *

Eagles assembled a strong club from a number of cast-offs, including Dowda. Like Paul, Dowda is a defensive back. He caught end Pete Brewster on the Philadelphia 10 last Sunday to prevent a Cleveland touchdown on a pass play. Browns won, 6-0, but Dowda's defensive play on Brewster might have made the difference if the Eagles had been able to score from inside the Cleveland five late in the game.

* * *

Collins has been an outstanding defensive tackle since he came to the Giants. Coach Jim Lee Howell said examination of films of New York's victory over Philadelphia two weeks ago showed the Eagle passer was thrown for losses 13 times.

"Collins downed the Eagle passer five of those 13 times," Howell said. "Sensation is an overworked word in sports, but that's the best way to describe that performance."

* * *

Haynes is a defensive back for the Rams, who currently are tied with the Forty-Niners for 2nd in the Western Division. Gene Lipscomb, 280-pound tackle, is another player the Rams obtained from Washington.

Most of these ex-Washington players won't get into the championship game but they will wind up higher in the standings than their former Redskin teammates, who are tied with the Chicago Cardinals for last place.

Champion Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers, who met last Sunday, open this week's action with a return game today at Briggs Stadium before more than 50,000. Lions scored a 21-17 victory at Green Bay.

Even the Stars Occasionally Are Hit by the Golfing Bane of 3-Putt Greens

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Pro, Amateur or just plain duffer all sing the same loud lament on the links. For the life of 'em, they simply can't get their dad-blamed putter to behave.

Putting on the green is a lot like figuring winners at the race track. Everyone has a theory but no one ever has come up with a sure-fire system.

Lloyd Mangrum says play the ball off the front foot. Jackie Burke says learn how to read the greens, and Sam Snead says make sure you're completely relaxed before you take aim on the cup.

Bobbie Locke, three-time winner of the British Open, doesn't mind saying he considers himself a far better than average putter but even he admits there are days when the ball just won't behave and get down for him.

Two putts for any green is par but even such golfing greats as Ben Hogan, Snead, Mangrum, Locke, Cary Middlecoff, Bob Toski, Gene Littler and anyone else you care to name three-putts from time to time. Naturally, if they do it too often they don't eat too well, so you can be sure they don't make it a habit.

Locke has a unique approach to this oft cussed-out branch of the game.

"The way I see it," Locke says, 'there are three possible ways for me to get the ball in the hole. I merely assume that each hole has three doors, one in front and two more on the sides. Naturally, I try to getthe ball into the hole through the front door but I have sometimes holed out through the side doors, also."

That, actually, represents the 1st optimistic report in history on the ticklish business of putting.

Judge Refuses Anglers' Suit

Fishermen Want State Closed Chub Season Abolished

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Ottawa Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith filed an opinion this week dismissing a commercial fishing suit against the November closed season on Lake Michigan chub fishing.

Suit had been filed against the conservation director by 19 commercial fishermen who contended the closed season was unreasonable. It noted that Wisconsin abolished a similar closed season this year.

Commercial group obtained a temporary injunction Oct. 30, signed by Judge Smith, restraining enforcement of the Michigan conservation law which has been in effect for 20 years.

Written opinion granted the conservation department's petition for dismissal of the injunction. It said the bill of complaint failed to state a cause of action.

Judge Smith's opinion stipulated the injunction be lifted three days after the conservation department files an order of dismissal. The fishermen indicated meanwhile, they would continue taking chubs until the order is filed.

Chubs, a species of lake herring, are smoked for retail trade.

All-Conquering Buckeye Mentor, Is OK'd at Last

Home Critics Didn't Give Him Much Chance 10 Weeks Ago

COLUMBUS, O.—(NEA)—It was only 10 weeks ago that Columbus' notorious Broad and High Wolves were giving odds that he wouldn't be back in 1955.

But today, Wayne Woodward Hayes, 41-year-old coach of Rose Bowl-bound Ohio State, is being hailed as a gridiron genius. He's the toast of a tempestuous college football town, a place which knows no middle ground when it comes to the game or its coaches.

Columbus and the entire state is still berserk and bug-eyed from the Buckeyes' 21-7, come-from-behind victory over arch-rival Michigan. And they have until New Year's Day to really work up a case of Rose fever.

For the first time in his four years at Ohio State, Woody Hayes is on solid ground. And he got there because he was able to produce the biggest triumph of his coaching career—a victory over himself.

Since 1938, Woody Hayes has compiled remarkable won-lost coaching records — but they all were tinged with trouble.

When "Nice Guy" Wes Fesler gave in to Columbus pressure and resigned after the 1950 season, Hayes was named coach despite an inevitable "Bring Back Paul Brown" movement at Ohio State.

In the four year since assuming the head role at State, insiders have openly said he wouldn't last —"too many skeletons in his former coaching closets and 'hard-nosed' methods."

This talk came as a result of a severe, too-demanding guy who conducted such things as wind sprints until his players dropped.

It took Athletic Director Dick Larkins to put down one player revolt at State. While this was going on, Hayes, an English major and polished speaker, seemed more intent on winning from the Downtown Wolves than he was on getting players to like him.

It showed in his first year record, a 4-3-2 mark. Hayes' explosive fits of temper and tongue lashings didn't help boost morale but State did have a 6-3 record in '52. The Bucks got it with a strong finish against Illinois and Michigan—and it saved Hayes' job.

Last year, Hayes again lost control of the team, following a demoralizing 41-20 smacking by Illinois. His blunderbuss methods had players ready to quit on their coach and themselves.

Michigan—in the Battle of Blood—beat them, 20-0, in the season's finale and, despite a 6-3 record, the Wolves were hollering.

They gave him one more chance—or, to hear them say it, half a chance.

Woody Hayes had to produce this season or be through.

Sooners Place 6 on Midlands All-Star Team

UD's Belluso, Baumgart Named to 2nd Selection by News Service

ST. LOUIS (INS)—The Big Red wreckers from unbeaten Oklahoma dominate the 1954 International News Service All-Midlands college football team announced today.

No less than six Sooners—two backs and four linemen — gained places on the first squad. They include two leading candidates for all-America honors, center Kurt Burris and end Max Boydston. Both are seniors out of Muskogee, Okla.

Burris, 6-1, 210-pounder, is the mainstay of the line that led coach Bud Wilkinson's powerhouse to its 7th straight Big Seven conference title this year.

Boydston, 6-2, 207-pounder is the fastest big man on the Sooner squad and an all-round performer.

The backfield, averaging 180 pounds, includes quarterback Gene Calame of Oklahoma, halfbacks Corky Taylor of Kansas State and Buddy Leake of Oklahoma, and fullback Earl Lunsford of Oklahoma A. & M.

Two members of the University of Detroit Titans were selected. They are picked on the Midlands team because of UD's membership in the Missouri Valley Conference. Guard Joe Belluso and center Al Baumgart were named to the 2nd team.

The teams:

FIRST TEAM

Ends: Max Boydston and Carl Allison, Oklahoma.

Tackles: Don Gianta, Nebraska, and Alvin Portney, Missouri.

Guards: Bo Bolinger, Oklahoma, and Ron Marcinak, Kansas State.

Center: Kurt Burris, Oklahoma.

Backs: Gene Calame and Buddy Leake, Oklahoma; Corky Taylor, Kansas State and Earl Lunsford, Oklahoma A&M.

SECOND TEAM

Ends: Willis Towne, Wichita, and Bob LaRue, Oklahoma A&M.

Tackles: Bill Halloran, Nebraska, and Edmon Gray, Oklahoma.

Guards: JOE BELLUBO, DETROIT and Charles Bryant, Nebraska.

Center: AL BAUMGART, DETROIT

Backs: Fred Conway, Wichita; Mel Siegel, Washington (St. Louis); Frank Bernardi, Colorado; Max Burkett, Iowa State.

The lightest center in the National Football League is Andy Miketa, Detroit Lions' rookie. Miketa weighs 203 pounds.

Big 10 Season Saw Favorites Take Jostling

MSC, Illinois Failed to Fulfill September Promise

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State won the Big Ten title and right to represent the conference in the Rose Bowl in one of the roughest, toughest seasons in Big Ten history.

Competition seldom has been as keen and never did top heavy favorites get jostled around as much.

Michigan, which battled right down to the wire only to lose to Ohio State, 21-7, wasn't given a chance by pre-season dopesters. Buckeyes were not among the top contenders but had been tagged dark horses.

Illinois and Michigan State, last year's co-champions and overwhelming favorites in September, never came close. Illini finished last without a single conference victory and Michigan State ended in a tie for 8th with but one Big Ten triumph.

Iowa, coming off its 14-14 tie with Notre Dame last year, didn't live up to expectations and was beaten three times. Hawks finished 5th.

Minnesota was a surprise under new coach Murray Warmath and finished with a 4-2 record good for 4th place. Oddly enough, Minnesota's only losses were shoutouts and by big scores. Michigan blanked the Gophers with an unexpected 34-0 victory and Wisconsin belted Minnesota almost as bad, 27-0.

Wisconsin is one team that stayed true to form. Badgers were sized up as a rough team which could go all the way if it got the breaks. They didn't get them. Wisconsin was beaten by Ohio State and Iowa.

Purdue became a factor after its victory over Notre Dame but the Boilermakers ran out of steam and finished with three victories in six games.

Northwestern, plagued by injuries and bad breaks, gave the leaders a rough time. Wildcats lost to Ohio State by one touchdown, 14-7, and were beaten by Michigan 7-0.

Indiana, not expected to do much, didn't. But the Hoosiers came up with the upset of the season when they dumped Michigan 13-9.

Aussie Hails Management of Michigan's Deer Herd

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's deer management program has received high praise from an Australian conservation official touring this country to learn about American conservation practices.

I've looked at the deer problem here in the state and it looks as though you've approached it in the only practical way," A. Dunbavin Butcher, director of fisheries and game for the state of Victoria, said in an interview.

Butcher referred to the state conservation department's policy of limiting the deer herd to the available food supply by holding a special one-day season each year during which hunters can kill bucks, does or fawns.

The Australian was in Lansing yesterady after touring the northern part of the Lower Peninsula to study Michigan game practices.

Arriving in the United States last July, he will visit all parts of the country, although he will spend more time in Michigan than in any other state. His trip is financed by a grant from the commonwealth fund, set aside by a wealthy British family to allow Britishers to study in America.

Butcher said he singled out Michigan for special attention because he "didn't know of any other state in the union which put so much emphasis on conservation."

Wolverine Squad Names Baer 'Most Valuable'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Fair-haired Freddie Baer, a fullback, has been picked the most valuable player on the Michigan football team although he graduates this year.

The team named Baer today, partially on the basis of his 372-yard rushing total this year and his average of 4.1 yards per try, the best on the Michigan team. It was good enough, too, to make him the 6th leading rusher in the Big Ten and the 13th ranked man in total offense.

Stable Is Lucrative

SINGAPORE (AP)—Runme Shaw, Chinese theatrical magnate, owns the richest horse-racing stable in Malayan turf history. For the fourth successive year his horses have won more than $250,000 (Singapore dollars) at tracks in Singapore, Kuala Lumpur, Penang and Ipoh.

Three MSC Prospects

Tom Yewcic, Jack Zeitler and Jack Risch of the Michigan State collegiate baseball champions signed up to try out for jobs in the major leagues this year, an all-time record.

Ohio's Division of Wildlife estimates 137,000 acres of public lands will be available to hunters within 10 years.

Robin Roberts, with 28 wins in 1952, won more games than any other National league pitcher in recent years.

Bowling Clinic

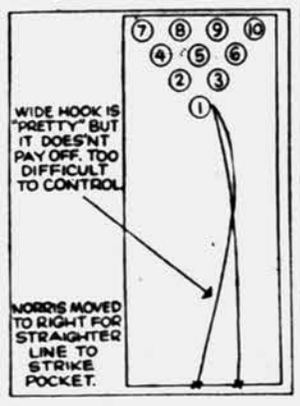

By BILLY SIXTY

CASE—Harnessed Hook.

It's a natural urge, at first, to arch the ball into the widest possible hook. But the truth soon dawns that though the big bending hook presents quite a picture, it doesn't pay off.

The short, sharp hook brings top scores. So there's wisdom in harnessing the hook. Cut down its size. Do it by pointing the thumb straight at the pins from the start of the swing to ball release, gradually moving the thumb to the left to regulate the right-to-left break.

Or do it by creating more speed with increased push-away of the ball. That produces a longer swinging arc and more natural speed. Joe Norris of Detroit did it. And when he changed over, cut down the hook, he immediately pushed his average up to where he becomes a team all-American.

As sketch shows, he used to bend the ball from the center of the alley far to the right. Hit the pocket inconsistently. With greater speed he was able to move to the right, hold a more direct line to the one-three strike pocket. For eight years he was an all-American, and he's still a topflighter. Keep the hook down for control. Forget about that "round house beauty."

Army's Second Unit Has Contributed to Success

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — Any attempt to compare the 1954 Army and Navy football teams usually ends with the conclusion that Army has the more shining individual stars but Navy has better team depth.

Yet one big reason why Army's season has been successful so far was the development of the team's "2nd unit."

Deprived of his pet "platoons" Blaik has sought to strike a balance of strength so he can substitute a 2nd eleven for his starters without too much loss of efficiency.

It took a lot of switches in the lineup this season to develop a 2nd unit that could hold the opposition while the regulars took a breather. Then, much to Blaik's surprise, the reserves showed they could move the ball, too.

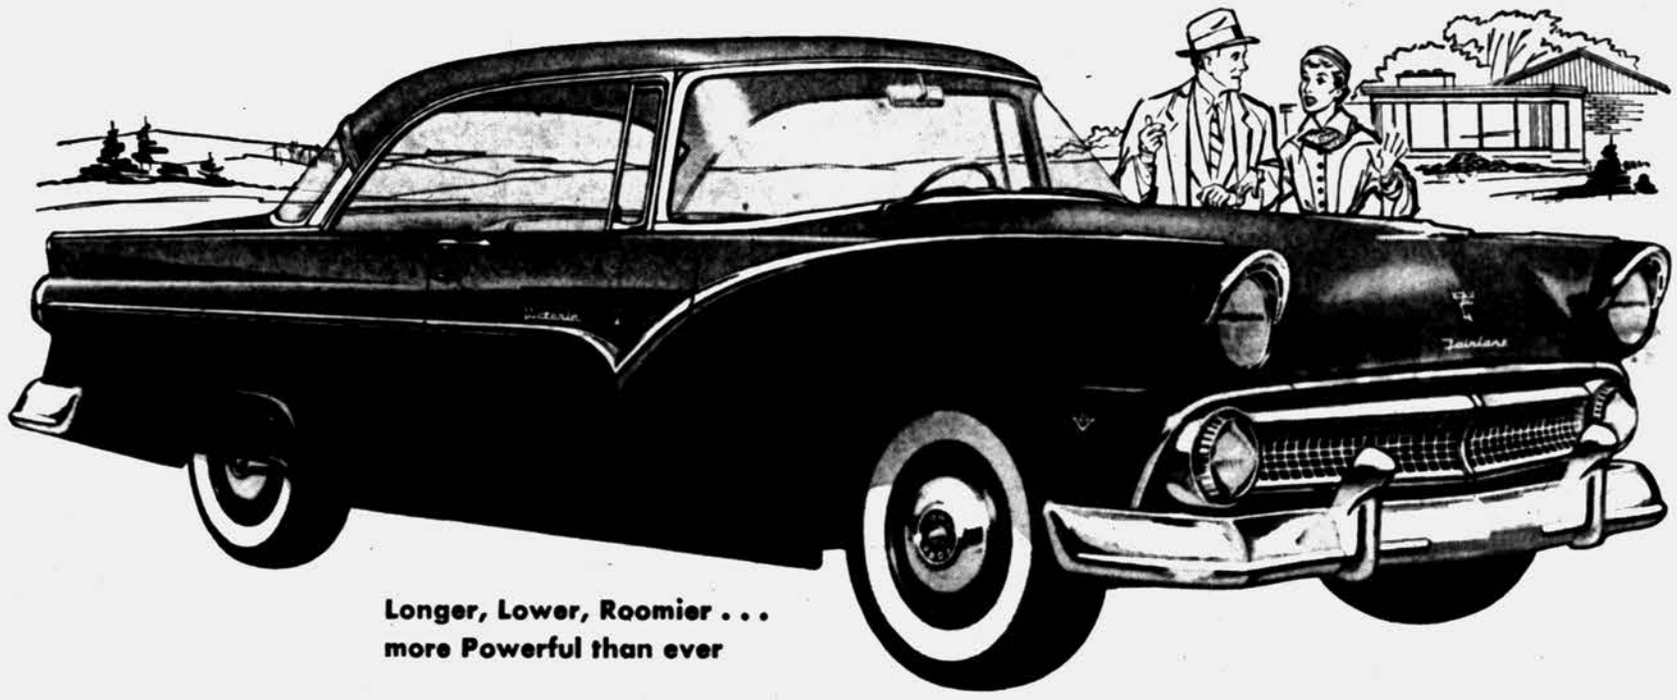

It was the 2nd unit, which didn't really come into existence until after the second game, that marched steadily downfield to score the first touchdown against Duke. And from there it went on to play well both ways, even though the 1st unit did most of the scoring.

When it comes to holding the opposition, the big men on Army's 2nd unit are Ron Melnik and Howard Glock, last year's 1st-string tackles who were demoted in the interest of better balance.

Extra Day Off Scheduled for Waterford Students

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Students of the Waterford Township Schools will have an additional day of vacation Monday while their teachers go to school.

Superintendent William Shunck announced today that the annual day for "teaching themselves," which was started eight years ago, will find the faculty studying curriculum for the school system.

Consultants from Michigan's teacher training institutions will serve as resource people for the different grade levels.

Staff of the Isaac E. Crary junior High School will spend the day working on curriculum.

Kindergarten teachers will study curriculum for this first year of school with Genevieve Syverson of Michigan State Normal College and the University of Michigan.

Instructors in grades one, two and three will review spelling with Evelyn Smith who serves as consultant for the spelling text used in the township schools while teachers of fourth, fifth and sixth grades will work on the area of science with Frances Overton and Sidney Rouchkind of the Detroit Public Schools and Wayne University.

Teresa Tulencik and Willis LaVire who have served as co-chairmen of the science workshop planning committee for the Waterford schools, have been assisted by representatives from each of the 12 elementary schools and Dorothy Selle, elementary coordinator.

High School teachers will continue working with the evaluative criteria in preparation for North Central Assn. accreditation. Superintendent Shunck pointed out that in order to qualify for the North Central accreditation, it is necessary for the school to present a complete evaluation of the high school program in terms of staff, curriculum, finance and physical plant.

A visiting committee from North Central will consider the program within three months and decide whether Waterford High School will be endorsed by them.

Williams Blasts Ziegler Again

Accuses Highway Chief of 'Deceitful' Reports on Contracts

LANSING (UP)—State Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler was on the receiving end of Gov. G. Mennen Williams' wrath again today.

Williams accused Ziegler of giving "deceitful" reports on highway contracts to the State Administrative Board and indicated he may probe deeper into highway department actions.

The governor's attack on Ziegler followed yesterday's Administrative Board meeting at which Attorney General Frank Millard ruled there is no state law requiring the Highway Department to advertise for bids on highway projects.

Williams had assumed there was such a law and asked Millard and Ziegler to make a special report to the Administrative Board on highway bidding policies.

The governor said Ziegler, who must submit highway contracts to the administrative Board for approval, had been giving the board the impression that all contracts were advertised for bids when actually some contracts were negotiated with individual contractors.

Ziegler admitted his reports did not show when bids were not advertised. The reports merely state that contracts were awarded to the lowest bidder.

Williams said this practice gave the board a false picture of bidding procedures.

Ziegler told the board his department followed a general policy of advertising for bids but exceptions were made on some small, hurry-up jobs.

"In emergencies the bids are negotiated privately with contractors located near project areas who can do the job quicker and cheaper," Ziegler said.

Northwest Macomb County Hospital Nears Reality; Plan Site Selection

ROMEO — Northwest Macomb County's new hospital is moving nearer to reality after a recent meeting of doctors, nurse association officials and committeemen.

Highlights of the meeting of the Community Hospital Foundation trustees were the study of a set of proposed floor plans and architects drawings of a 50-bed hospital now under consideration, and the announcement that Macomb County Medical Association had endorsed the new hospital.

The meeting also featured discussion of prospective hospital location, the most practicable size of the new institution, and methods of financing.

The plans and drawings submitted by architect H. F. Lane of Detroit drew enthusiastic response from all present.

Included among those in attendance were medical doctors from Alma, Armada, Imlay City and Romeo. Also present were two representatives of the Tri-County Nurses Association.

Decision on whether to accept either of the two proposed hospital sites, both of which are located on M53 south of Almont, will be made at the next meeting of the trustees. This is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 30, at 8 p.m.

Forsythia Blooms to Decorate Holiday Table

WALLED LAKE—Mrs. E. Z. Mercer of 415 E. Lake Dr. was born on Christmas Day 63 years ago, but this is the first time she has ever had blooming forsythia to decorate her Thanksgiving table.

A large forsythia bush, 4 to 5 feet tall, started blossoming in Mrs. Mercer's garden a few days ago, and the pleased owner cut some 18 branches to decorate her home for the holiday.

"I've had a finger in a garden all my life, but I never saw anything like this before," Mrs. Mercer commented.

"I suppose the weather's been so warm that even the forsythia has got balled up on the seasons."

Mrs. Mercer has lived in Walled Lake for 34 years, and for many years helped operate the Walled Lake Telephone Company which she and her husband owned. She is a member of the Inter-Lake Garden Club and a flower enthusiast.

Sheppard Trial in Recess Today

Jurors Having Turkey With Families; Dr. Sam Eating Beef in Jail

CLEVELAND (UP) — The Thanksgiving holiday today interrupted the first degree murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, charged with the slaying of his pregnant wife Marilyn on July 4.

Judge Edward Blythin called a recess in the six-week-old trail at noon yesterday so jurors could do their Thanksgiving marketing and spend the holiday at their homes.

Dr. Sheppard spent the day in the Cuyahoga County Jail. The chief jailer said he would have no visitors. Friday is the regular visiting day at the jail.

The trial will resume Friday. The witness scheduled to take the stand when court reconvenes is Henry Dombrowski, an expert from the Cleveland Police Department who is the state's 24th witness.

Dombrowski testified yesterday that he discovered 49 blood stains on the stairways of the Sheppard home when he went to the house on July 23.

At the Cuyahoga County Jail there was no formal observance of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Dr. Sheppard and some 450 other prisoners received for Thanksgiving dinner roast beef, mashed potatoes with gravy, buttered carrots and peas, applesauce, bread, pie and coffee.

Mrs. Winifred Huml, dietician for the jail, said turkey is served only at Christmas. She said today's meal was a "Sunday type" dinner—the roast beef being rather special.

Financial SOS Beckons Dodge

Call From White House Is Nothing Unusual for Detroit Banker

DETROIT (INS) — For Detroit banker Joseph M. Dodge, named yesterday by President Eisenhower to general the economic front of the cold war, it was just another trip in from the bullpen.

The 64-year-old Dodge has been the nation's No. 1 relief pitcher on economic matters for two presidents and beefed up the postwar economies of both Japan and Germany.

A former head of the American Bankers Association, Dodge was one of the task force of Republicans President Truman utilized. He was made financial advisor to Gen. Lucius D. Clay in Germany in 1945-46 and was appointed a deputy to Secretary of State George Marshall at the London council of foreign ministers in 1947. In the interim, he led the U.S. delegation to the Austrian Treaty Commission in Vienna.

In 1949, President Truman again sent out the distress signal, and Dodge went half way around the world to become financial advisor to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Japan. His work in the economic field paralleled developments which led to the Japanese peace treaty.

In 1952, Dodge was on hand to smooth the U.S. over the economic bumps of changing from a Democratic to a Republican administration and became budget director for the first 17 months of the Eisenhower regime.

Dodge (no relation to the automotive Dodges) left the government last April 15 and returned to his posts as board chairman of the Detroit Bank and a director of Chrysler Corp.

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty said the call had gone out to the bullpen again. Dodge, it was disclosed, has been quietly studying his new assignment in Washington for the past two months.

Alcan Highway Travelers Should Expect Hard Trip

OTTAWA (UP) — If you're planning to drive to Alaska over the war-built Alaskan highway, the government of Canada has some words of advice for you.

The first 1,221 miles of the famous 1,527-mile route to Fairbanks lie within Canada.

The section is administered and maintained by a special section of the Canadian Army. But Canadian civil agencies also have a lot to say about how it is used.

And there are certain facts the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources thinks tourists should know before they start out on the trip:

1. Carry enough money to cover the cost of the trip all the way. Canadian authorities will require that you convince them you won't be stranded without money some place along the line. It's rugged country. The authorities can require a bond under certain conditions.

2. Include enough cash for emergency repairs on the car. In this connection the government seems pretty certain there will be some.

They urge motorists to cover the underside of their gasoline tanks with pieces of old tires to protect them from flying gravel. And bring along "a basic set of car tools."

3. A shovel, a pick, tire chains, a tow rope and, in the summer, two extra tires are musts. The booklet suggests that the tires be six-ply.

In fall, winter and spring, a box or pail of sand is advisable to cope with ice. In the summer "a good insect repellent" is necessary.

4. If you take guns and fishing equipment, be prepared to have them sealed up by Canadian authorities except in the areas where you have obtained hunting or fishing licenses.

All hunting is forbidden in game sanctuaries, and campfire permits are needed in British Columbia.

And don't be surprised at fluctuating gasoline prices.

You'll pay 68 cents a gallon at Coal River, B. C., and again at Koidern Camp in the Yukon Territory. At points in between the prices go as low as 47 cents.

The American tourist who seems to get better mileage or fears his gas tank has shrunk is reminded that Canada uses the imperial gallon — one fifth larger than the American gallon.

But in spite of the warnings, tourist authorities hasten to assure motorists the trip is worth the trouble. The route passes through some of the wildest and most awe-inspiring country on the continent.

Fishing is generally excellent and hunting is good. Permits for fishing cost non-residents of the Yukon Territory $2.

Hunting licenses range up to $150 for non-citizens and $100 for Canadian citizens for big game. A game bird license costs $10.

Meals at stops along the road cost up to $3.

Sleeping accommodations generally cost about the same as in more civilized sections of the country and are plentiful in Dawson Creek, B. C., Fort St. John, Fort Nelson, Watsoh Lake, Y. T., and Whitehorse, Y. T.

As an afterthought, the government suggests that anyone thinking about prospecting along the way check with the Department of National Resources in Ottawa, and with the Provincial Department of Mines in Victoria, B. C, on regulations.

Indians Being Taxed on Cattle, Machinery

OKANOGAN, Wash. (AP) — The Okanogan County assessor says Indian-owned cattle and farm machinery are being listed for the first time for state property taxes. He said state officials have ruled the property taxable unless it was issued originally by the federal government.

The Colville Indian Reservation is a large part of the county. The Indians, says the assessor, are very cooperative.

Thanksgiving Tradition Deep

First Americans Began Custom of Gratefulness in Seventeenth Century

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans gathering around the Thanksgiving table, going to church or murmuring a special prayer of gratefulness today will be following one of the nation's deepest-rooted traditions.

As President Eisenhower noted in his proclamation for today, it was the Pilgrim fathers who started the custom of "dedicating one day at harvest time to rendering thanks to Almight God for the bounties of the soil and for his mercies throughout the year."

* * *

Every schoolboy has heard that the Pilgrims fought death, disease and hunger their first year in the new world. Then in the autumn of 1621, their first harvest in, they celebrated with the first Thanksgiving dinner in America.

The custom grew throughout the colonies, then in the fledgling United States, even during times when it might not seem there was much to be thankful for.

The Continental Congress annually named days of Thanksgiving during the perilous years of the War for Independence.

* * *

President Washington proclaimed Thanksgiving Day in 1789, at Congress' request that the people have a chance to acknowledge "with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness."

President Lincoln saw reason to be grateful in the autumn of 1863 even though, as his proclamation put it, the nation was "in the midst of a civil war of unequaled magnitude and severity." Lincoln listed blessings which, he said, were "the gracious gifts of the most high God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy."

Eight Beers Multiply Mishap Chances by 55

LANSING (UP) — If you have eight bottles of beer before driving your chances of an accident are 55 times greater than those of a non-drinker, a state health official reported today.

Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, director of the crime detection laboratory of the Michigan Department of Health, said six to eight bottles of beer would give the average man of 150 pounds a low blood alcohol concentration of .15 per cent.

Two beers are enough to give an alcohol concentration of .06 per cent and three times as many chances of an accident than the non-drinker.

Bus Driver Runs Escort Service for Man, Donkey

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A bus had to travel at a donkey's pace to save a Syrian from wolves recently.

On the road from Damascus to Beirut, a man on a donkey stopped the bus and asked for protection from a pack of wolves which had been on his trail. The driver offered to take the man aboard, but the bus couldn't accommodate the donkey.

To save them both, the bus jogged along as slowly as the donkey trotted. After several miles, the man and his donkey reached home.

Deny White Students Admission to College

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — For many years Negroes have been making news by applying for admission to colleges in states where segregation laws barred them.

The news was reversed when more than a dozen white applicants were denied admission to Virginia State College, a school for Negroes. The college turned them down after being advised by the State Board of Education that they could not be admitted under Virginia law.

President Robert P. Danile of the college said the white applicants were from the area near the college and were mostly interested in part-time course as day students.

Steel Output Jumps to 80 Pct. of Capacity

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry, operating at 80 per cent of capacity, looks better this week than at any time during the past year, Iron Age, the national metalworking weekly, said today.

New orders are coming in at a fast clip, order backlogs are growing swiftly and "cancellation is practically a forgotten word," it added.

"Strong recovery is now being felt in nearly all finished steel products," said Iron Age.

The publication said plate sales are getting a strong lift from the construction equipment industry which is looking ahead to highway construction needs for next year. Woven wire fabric, already selling well, is now moving on a more extended delivery.

The great steel-consuming axis of Chicago-Detroit provides "hotbeds of demand," the weekly said. It reported that demand for steel is being spurred as automobile companies in the Detroit area gear their production schedules to record levels for November and December.

LANSING (UP)—Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. may have to wait until January for a hearing on its application before the Public Service Commission for a "fair and just" rate increase.

Consolidated requested the hearing Tuesday but commission staff members said the hearing schedule is "jammed" until January.

Consolidated did not specify the extent of the increase.

Program Lacks Crooner's Style

Short Show Prevents Crosby's Casualness; Writers Don't Help

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Bing Crosby returned to radio the other night with his customary ease complicated slightly by the tightened limits of the 15-minutes allotted to him five nights a week . . .

The song portions of the show were fine and the brief prospectus Bing provided at the start was paved with good intentions . . .

Bing himself must have sensed the situation for at the finish he frankly apologized:

"Forgive me, I must have got carried away with the sound of my own voice" . . .

But that wasn't quite it . . . it simply boiled down to the constrictions of the quarter-hour, which led Bing to push his pace to a limit beyond the mood of his customary casual broadcasting banter . . .

Bing needs and deserves a more relaxed flavor than the hustle and harried hurry-up of his first program, but it will be on every week night more or less permanently from now on. . . .

Frankly, we also suspect the producers are straining a little too heavily toward "angles" for small talk . . .

Bing's slyest fun has stemmed mostly from his old preference for literate, cheerful, harmless-ribbing small talk in a pure free-form fashion . . .

Instead of letting the fun fall where it may, Bing's braintrust has decided to inject the sort of heavy-breathing benevolence that obtrudes in too many maudlin-style shows from Strike It Rich on up.

Bing patted a few people on the conscience for their unusual private honesty, including—naturally—a golfer; a kid spelling bee runner-up, a hatchick who returned a fortune . . .

Somehow, this seemed more a manufactured device than a fair estimate of Bing's most effective airy diversion, not because he wouldn't appreciate and approve such morality, but because he would even seek to use it for his public purposes.

But after a few shakedown cruises through the CBS air, Bing easily should sieve out the clumsy ingredients, for he is truly a masterful craftsman, one of the few who can combine the hip and the pedantic to pleasant advantage.

Last night he said he would "Lay on a few encomiums where they seem to belong"—and otherwise should fill the air with intelligence and, need we add, the most famous singing voice in the history of ears.

The Buddy Cole Trio really and unobtrusively fulfills the instrumental necessities.

MENTIONED — Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Ia), defeated for re-election, has been mentioned as the new Assistant Secretary of State for U. N. affairs. The appointment would probably be made by the Administration in an attempt to strengthen the bipartisan foreign policy.

Red Buttons Down With Virus Infection

NEW YORK (AP) — Television comic "Red" Buttons is suffering from a virus infection and will miss his weekly show Friday night, a spokesman for the NBC-TV network said today.

He is the third major entertainer that illness has kept off television in the past week. Milton Berle suffered a nervous collapse following a show and Joan Blondell became ill at a TV rehearsal.

Pilot Returns by Car to Find Lost Glasses

MELBA, Idaho (AP)—Yale Holland was flying at 1,000 feet over a farm near here when the door of his plane flew open and a rush of air whipped his glasses out into space.

Holland said he marked the location of the incident in his mind. Then he came back here by car, walked out into the field and picked up the lost spectacles. The lenses were not broken and the frames were only slightly damaged.

All Very Educational

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Actress Gloria McMillan, 20, who plays the role of Harriet Conklin on the "Our Miss Brooks" television show, was married last night to Gilbert W. Allen, a senior at the University of Southern California.

Fire Protection Talks Continue

Sylvan Lake and West Bloomfield Township Are Negotiating

Negotiations are continuing between the City of Sylvan Lake and West Bloomfield Township for a new fire protection contract.

The township is seeking an 1,100 per cent increase in its fees for providing fire fighting protection for the city.

"The township board has discovered that Sylvan Lake was not paying a proportional amount for its fire protection," said Hiland M. Thatcher, township supervisor.

The contract was signed on a basis of $300 initial payment and $75 per truck per run, said Ernest L. Ethier, Sylvan Lake city manager.

Under the new contract submitted by the township, the fee would be approximately $3,370 initially, with $75 paid per truck per run, as before.

Thatcher said the $3,370 figure was arrived at by multiplying 12½ per cent times $26,965, which is the township's fire protection budget.

The 12½ per cent figure is based on the equalized assessed valuation totals for the city and the township. (The city's assessed value is about 12½ per cent of the township's.)

Neither Ethier nor Thatcher expects the final contract to be as high as the one on which the negotiations are being based.

"In any event," said Ethier, "we are assured that we have fire protection even though no contract has been signed as yet."

Mrs. Peepers Expects First Baby in Real Life

NEW YORK (INS)—The actress who plays the wife of Wally Cox, "Mr. Peepers" of television, is expecting a baby.

Pat Benoit, who in real life is Mrs. Peter Swift, wife of a magazine executive, told a spokesman for the show today that she is expecting her first child. The Swifts were wed about a year ago, a short time before Pat—who plays the part of Nancy Remington—was "married" on the show to Mr. Peepers.

Daily production of coal in the United States is more than a million tons.

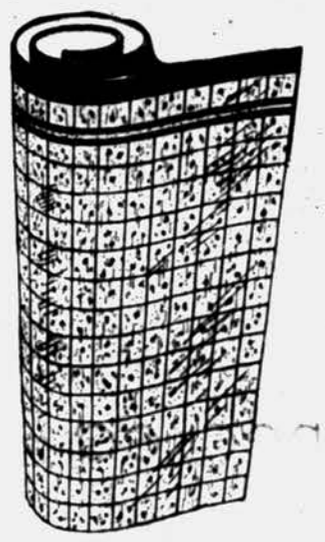

Lions in the Streets

TOKYO (AP) — Two young lions slipped from their cages at a railway station early today and roamed Tokyo streets two hours. Police captured one but the other was killed by an electric train.

Minister Stricken, Dies After Giving Sermon

NORTHPORT, Mich. (AP)—A visiting Methodist minister suffered a heart attack and died last night after preaching a Thanksgiving sermon at a joint service of Protestant churches in Northport.

The Rev. Amos Kahgee's last words were:

"We should all love each other."

The Rev. Mr. Kahgee, 66, was assigned to Indian missions in Michigan. He was introduced at the service in the Congregational church here as a descendant of Indians who met the Pilgrim fathers when they landed from the Mayflower.

Bandits Snatch Up $133 With Pretty Apology

DENVER (AP)—A pair of apologetic bandits robbed a Denver liquor store of $133 Thanksgiving eve.

"Sorry to do this," one of the gunmen told owner Louis Burg. "But were out of work and need the money. We'll pay it back when we get a job."

Didn't Hit Cat, Either

Winnie Says Plan to Rearm Germany Began V-E Day

WOODFORD, England (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill says that even as the Germans were surrendering in World War II, he made plans to rearm them if the Russians advanced further into Western Europe.

The veteran Prime Minister, 80 on Nov. 30, spoke anew of his long time distrust of the Soviets at a birthday rally last night. He told the crowd:

"Even before the war ended, and while Germans were surrendering by hundreds of thousands, I telegraphed Lord Montgomery directing him to be careful in collecting German arms and to stack them so that they could easily be issued again to the German soldiers with whom we should have to work if the Soviet advance into Western Europe continued."

Stalin, he declared, was "carried away by the triumphs of victory and acting as if he thought he could secure for Russia and communism the domination of the world."

Churchill said he believes he was "the first well-known person publicly to state the fact that we have to have Germany on our side against Russian Communist aggression."

The London-Paris agreements to rearm West Germany, he continued, resulted from a "vast reversal of British, American and of European opinion . . brought about only by the policy of Soviet Russia itself and above all by Stalin, the dictator."

* * *

". . .The world front that has been established and is being strengthened against Russian Communist aggression will, I believe, preserve mankind from another disaster infinitely more fearful than any we have ever known or even dreamed of in our wildest nightmares," he declared.

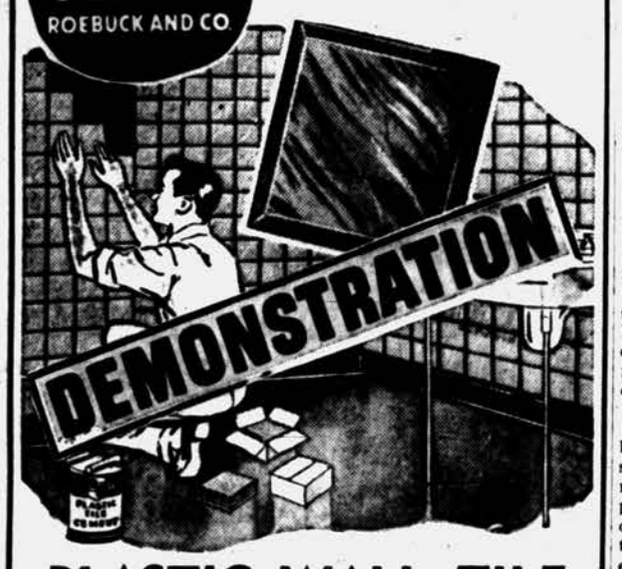

Once German rearmament is ratified, he said, "the path wil be clear for those contacts with Soviet Russia from which I still hope a peaceful and easier and ever more prosperous future for the whole world may spring and grow."
