Father, 5 Children Die in Flash Fire

Blaze Destroys Walpole Island Indian's Home

Firemen Ferry to Isle, Join Neighbors in Vain Bid to Quell Flames

WALPOLE, Ont. (INS)—An Indian father and five of his six children today were killed in a flash fire in their home on the Walpole Island Chippewa Indian reservation, despite efforts of neighbors to break through 40 foot flames to rescue them.

Benjamin Jones, 45, and his children, Gloria, 14, Nanette, 11, Mabel, 6, Charles, 4, and Edwin, 2, died in their tiny five-room shack as Mrs. Jones and another child, Ralph, 16, were visiting relatives in Marine City, Mich.

The fire was discovered by three high school students who sounded the alarm. Neighbors hastily formed a bucket brigade but their efforts were too late.

The flames could be seen from Algonac on the American side of the St. Clair River and Wallaceburg on the Canadian side.

The Wallaceburg Fire Department took a ferry to the island, but also was too late.

Fire Chief Cecil McDougal of Wallaceburg said the home was not wired for electricity and a kerosene lamp was found in the living room of the five-story frame home.

"Apparently they were all asleep when the fire started," said McDougall, "the oldest girl was found 14 feet from her bed — she had a baby in her arms. She was the only one who tried to get out.

"There is nothing to indicate how the fire started."

British Freighter Rammed by Nationalist China Ship

HONG KONG (UP) — Shipping sources said here today a Chinese Nationalist warship rammed the 2,801-ton British freighter Hupeh in the Formosa Strait while maneuvering to board her.

According to the reports the warship was extensively damaged and the Hupeh had several bow plates badly twisted above the water line.

Rescue Vessel Renews Search for Seagoing Raft

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — A relief vessel with supplies for the five hungry and thirsty crew members of the raft Lehi renews its search today with an assist from airplanes.

The motorless raft was sighted from a Navy plane about 35 miles southwest of Santa Cruz yesterday —but couldn't be located by the Princeton, a fishing boat with supplies aboard.

The 32-foot Lehi was towed outside San Francisco's Golden Gate Friday.

Aboard were five rank amateurs trying to drift 2,200 miles to Hawaii. They took no water or food.

They were relying upon nature in the vast Pacific to supply their needs—wind, rain or water from a solar still, and fish for food.

They got off to a poor start. Saturday they caught one salmon—then no more fish. They made one quart of water with the still.

But instead of drifting toward Hawaii, they were carried slowly southward.

Skipper Devere Baker, 38, radioed yesterday his hope that a new tow would take the Lehi far enough into the Pacific to find a current for Hawaii.

Jury Selected in Small Trial

Panel Picked Quickly in Opening Session of Detroit Dentist's Hearing

ALLEGAN (UP) — A jury was picked in rapid order today to hear society dentist Kenneth B. Small defend himself on first degree murder charges for killing a New York industrialist he claims stole his wife's affections.

A jury of 13 men and one woman, Mrs. Jessie Wesbey, a rural housewife, was selected quickly at the opening session of the 31-year-old Detroit dentist's trial. Two will be alternates but which two won't be decided until they start deliberations.

Small was charged with invoking the "unwritten law" and killing Jules Lack, 45, in a luxurious villa overlooking Lake Michigan May 29 while his wife, Edith, 30, and other weekend guests at the villa watched in horror.

County Prosecutor Dwight M. Cheever, in his opening statement, told the jury he would prove that Small, with premeditation, calmly stalked Lack and killed him.

Selection of a jury had been expected to take several days. But the jurors were questioned in a group and quickly picked after being asked whether they had any prejudice toward pleas of insanity or any preconceived opinions on the case.

Small's wife sat in the spectators' gallery, her chin resting on her hands. She wore dark glasses and obviously had been crying frequently.

She and Small met face to face in the courthouse before the trial started. It was the first time they had met since the shooting. They passed each other on the stairs as he was brought into the courtroom. They glanced at each other, but didn't speak.

Danube Surges Into New Areas of Mid-Europe

Death Toll Stands at 31 as Region Has Worst Flood in Years

MUNICH, Germany (UP) —The rampaging Danube River today ripped new breaches in dikes and protective embankments, inundating vast new areas of Central Europe in the region's worst flood disaster in years.

The death toll stands at 31 and is expected to rise. Property damage is mounting toward $100,000,000. Tens of thousands of persons are homeless. In Austria 40,000 persons have been removed from flooded areas and another 25,000 have been taken to safety in southeast Germany.

Thirteen dead were listed in West Germany and nine in Austria. The East German radio reported nine persons died in flood incidents on the other side of the "Iron Curtain."

The German Communists seized upon the disaster to make propaganda "hay." They charged the excessive rains — worst in some areas of Saxony in 75 years—were caused by the U.S. hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific earlier this year.

Gen. William M. Hoge, commander in chief of the U.S. Army in Europe, left here today for an aerial tour of the flood zone in southeastern Germany.

A small army of American troops and a fleet of U.S. Army and Air Force helicopters were thrown into the relief and rescue mission in western Germany and Austria. They evacuated hundreds of flood victims and shuttled food, water and medicine to thousands cut off by the swirling floodwaters.

West German police reported the Danube pouring through 7 to 10 new breaks in the 10 miles between Woerth and Straubing, about 70 miles north of Munich.

The mighty Danube and a dozen of its tributaries and smaller rivers, fed by five days of steady rains and melting Alpine snows, have surged over their banks since Thursday.

Authorities said that except for the Danube, rivers were gradually receding. As they dropped, they uncovered an incredible disorder of ruined farmland and homes, tons of mud and debris, and torn communication.

Five Tunisians Slain in Gangland Style

TUNIS, Tunisia (UP) — Five Tunisians were killed in central Tunisia last night in what was believed a retaliatory attack for the terrorist killing of six persons in Ferryville Saturday night.

Last night's attacks took place in Djemmal and El Battan, south of Tunis. Four other Tunisians were injured.

Unidentified persons driving a black automobile at high speed sprayed three cafe terraces with submachinegun bullets and made their escape. The cafes were open only to Arabs.

Counterattack Routs Rebels

Report 300 Reds Killed as Vietminh Squeeze Hanoi Outposts

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—Vietminh legions tightened their pincers on Hanoi today but the war capital's French defenders claimed they had beat back an attack by 3,000 rebels only 20 miles from the city and killed at least 300 of the Communist-led force.

The French admitted their own losses were "appreciable" but gave no figures.

Other rebel units surged in from the northeast and northwest to strike at French outposts 25 miles above the imperiled city.

Clashes were reported yesterday at scores of points as the Vietminh kept up their pressure.

Four Vietminh battalions today slammed against Lekhu, three miles north of the key post of Hung Yen, in an apparent attempt to cut the Hung Yen-Hanoi supply line. They were hit by a fierce counterattack, spearheaded by tanks. French forces had expected such an attack and were lying in wait, the briefing officer said.

French artillery and planes pounded the rebel forces three hours, with the Vietminh breaking and withdrawing five hours later.

Two other Vietminh battalions attacked Dong Ly, five miles north of Hung Yen, and Truong Thon, seven miles north, in the second and third phases of the over-all battle and were beaten off in two hours by tanks and French infantry rushed to those areas after smashing the initial attack.

Not Due For 2 Days

Heat Wave Heading Here After Scorching the West

A heat wave that shot the temperature to 114 degrees in Burwell, Neb., yesterday won't reach this area for at least two days, reports the U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit.

With the rest of the Midwest sweltering in 100-degree-plus weather, a cool mass of air over Michigan is expected to keep the temperature down to the high 80s today and the mid-80s tomorrow.

But weather forecasters expect the hot weather to creep into Michigan later this week and push the mercury into the 90s.

The blazing heat moved eastward across the nation from the Rocky Mountains and Western Plains States and struck the Central States with red hot fury yesterday. It continued to spread toward the east today, reaching southern Indiana and parts of Ohio.

The 114 degrees in Burwell topped the entire country, but other points reported record highs. The thermometer soared to 111 in Concordia, Kan., and hit 102 at Denver.

Forecasters said a weak low pressure center will pull cool weather into the Pontiac area tomorrow. A low of 68 to 72 tonight and a high of 80 to 86 degrees Tuesday are forecast.

Little change in temperature and generally fair skies are due Wednesday.

Below-normal temperatures were reported in the Pontiac area over the weekend, with a temperature range of 58 to 76 degrees Saturday and 58 to 79 Sunday.

The mercury rose from 72 degrees at 8 a. m. today to 88 at 1 p. m. in downtown Pontiac.

South Lyon Accident Kills Dearborn Man

A 39-year-old Dearborn man was killed last night by an auto as he stoon on 10-Mile road, just east of Milford road in South Lyon.

Scheduled to appear at the Oakland County prosecutor's office to make a statement today was Louis Majewski, 24, of Detroit, driver of the auto which struck Norman Sass of Dearborn as Sass stood on the pavement. State Police of the Brighton Post said Sass apparently had just left his auto, which was driven by his wife, Dorothy, also 39.

Majewski told them he had seen a pair of tail lights as he came down the road, then assumed the car they were on turned into a driveway because they disappeared.

"All of a sudden I saw the car about 30 to 50 feet away and swerved to the left to avoid hitting it," Majewski was quoted as saying. As he went to the left of the center line he hit Sass.

Mrs. Sass is being treated for shock at Northville State Hospital.

Red Obsession Leads to Killing

Battle Creek Salesman Shoots Mother of Six, Calls Her Commie

BATTLE CREEK (UP) — Police said a man, found in the apartment building where a Battle Creek mother was shot yesterday, told them he killed her because she was "the biggest Communist in the world."

Robert Roscoe, 28, an unemployed door-to-door shoe salesman, was held by police. They said he told them "I'm an FBI agent and I've been after her for a long time."

Police said Roscoe was found in a hallway near the room where the body of Mrs. Beulah Pontius, 40, the mother of six children, was lying.

Roscoe, police said, told of also planning to kill the woman's husband, Chester, 42, because "they were both Communists."

Only minutes before the shooting, the husband had left for work at a Battle Creek bakery.

Roscoe, who lives in the same apartment building, was found by police standing in the hall with a .22 caliber rifle in his hands. They said he surrendered meekly, saying:

"It's all right, I just killed the biggest Communist in the world."

Police said the Pontius family had no connections with communism.

FBI area headquarters in Detroit said it knew of no agent by that name.

Neighbors had complained recently of Roscoe's "strange actions" and nocturnal prowling of the building hallways, police added.

Roscoe's mother, Mrs. Pearl Roscoe, informed police her son had been obsessed the past year with a fear of the dangers of communism.

Two of Mrs. Pontius' children, Marlene, 16, and Sharon, 13, witnessed the slaying of their mother.

They said Mrs. Pontius answered loud knocks on the door of their apartment. When she opened it, they said, Roscoe fired one shot.

Sharon said she was helping her mother toward the rear door when the man broke in and fired two more shots.

Water Use Here May Be Limited

Weather During Week May Determine Need for Regulation

The next few days may be crucial in determining if Pontiac residents will have their water supply restricted this month, City Water Superintendent Joseph W. Gable said today.

"A hot and dry spell would force air-conditioning units into full-time action for the first time this summer and exert a heavy strain on water pressure," Gable explained.

Following last summer's water shortage, the city launched a campaign to increase the supply by reconditioning old wells and building new ones.

Two new wells have been hooked into the system this month, increasing the possible daily pumpage by over 2,000,000 gallons and a third is still under construction.

"The new supply has put us in a much better position than last summer, but the possibility of water-use restrictions can't be ruled out," said City Manager Walter K. Willman. The demand for water has also increased in the last year, he explained.

Last September the Pontiac City Commission passed an ordinance designed to reduce use of water in air-conditioning units by requiring those of over three-ton capacity to be equipped for recirculating the same water. But the ordinance allowed until next summer for the units to be converted.

But Reiterates British Policy on Membership

Prime Minister Tells Commons Time Is Not Right for Raising Issues

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill said today his government does "not consider that this is the moment" to raise the matter of Communist China's admission to the United Nations.

The Prime Minister told the House of Commons that Britain's policy toward Red China remains the same—she favors seating Red China in the U. N. after the Peiping regime has proved it is willing to forswear aggression and abide by international agreements.

Churchill also said his Washington conference with President Eisenhower was the most agreeable and fruitful in his experience.

Churchill opened by saying that he went to Washington because he was "deeply concerned at the lack of information" Britain possessed about the hydrogen bomb. He concluded by saying that widespread acceptance of the idea of peaceful coexistence of Communist and non-Communist worlds might with the passage of years solve problems and "avert the mass destruction of the human race."

The prime minister reminded France that the European Defense Community was a French idea. He said Britain and the United States were convinced this still remains the best plan for getting West German rearmament. In firm tones, he declared:

"It would indeed be a tragedy if this opportunity were lost of bringing Germany back into the European family and at the same time of recruiting a German national army.

"To me, the bulk of whose life has been spent in war, or preparation for war, with Germany, it seemed little less than madness to leave that active and virile nation with no choice but to raise an independent, national army and to reject association with her and the Western world."

"I thought I ought to have a personal meeting with President

Red Wings Goalie Hurt in Auto Crash

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Terry Sawchuk, goalie for the Detroit Red Wings hockey team, was to undergo surgery today for chest injuries he received last night when his car went out of control and skidded into a tree in Livingston County.

Doctors at University Hospital said Sawchuk's condition was "good" and that he would be confined to the hospital for about a week.

The extent of his injuries was not disclosed.

A passenger of Sawchuk's car, Theodore R. Griffin, 27, of Detroit, also was injured. Sheriff's deputies said Griffin had multiple fractures of the right leg and hip.

Deputies said Sawchuk was driving north on McGregor Road and was 500 feet from the Washtenaw county line when the accident occurred.

Byrnes Advocates Allied Showdown on Indochina Truce

BOLTON LANDING, N.Y. (UP) — Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina today advocated the return of American representatives to the Geneva conference for an Allied showdown on Indochina.

Byrnes, former secretary of state, who is here attending the 46th annual Governors Conference, said in an interview he does not believe the United States can afford to stand aloof and thus risk being blamed before the world for failure to reach a settlement with the Communists.

"We could refuse to participate in any surrender agreement," he said. "But I think our representatives ought to be there to make our viewpoint known. If there is a final breakdown in efforts to get an acceptable agreement, I don't think the British and French should be able to charge it to our absence."

Dulles has hesitated about going back to the conference table because of possible domestic criticism of the results, and the fear of American involvement in enforcing some settlement which would be regarded in this country as a French surrender to the Communists.

There was a possibility that Vice President Nixon, substituting here for President Eisenhower, might give the governors in a closed session later in the day the administration's latest views on the Indochina situation.

The President canceled an appearance because of the death of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower.

Nixon is scheduled to speak at the annual state dinner tonight. The speech will be broadcast by radio at 8 p.m., EST. ABC scheduled a "live" broadcast, and NBC and CBS scheduled recordings at 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST.

Nixon has incurred some Democratic wrath recently because he has blamed the former Democratic administrations for the loss of China to the Communists, contending that the Korean War and present difficulties in Indochina stemmed from this evert.

However, Gov. Dan Thornton,

Commission to Consider Water Main Construction in Cummings Near 14 Mile

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Plans for construction of a water main on Cummings north of 14-Mile road will highlight tonight's City Commission discussion.

The new line would connect with those at the Woodward - Lincoln intersection, with water furnished by the South Oakland County Water Authority.

As proposed, work would be combined into one project with construction of a main on 14-Mile between Pierce and Woodward, pending plans of the water authority.

One of three hearings scheduled will be held on closing a portion of Elm street between Webster and the alley north of Webster.

Another will be for reviewing the special assessment district to acquire five feet of right-of-way from two lots, for extending the sidewalk on Yankee, and constructing a fence on each side of the walk from Villa road to the Porritt property.

A review of the special assessment district set up to facilitate pavement construction from Hunter to Adams on Haynes, and for a sewer on Haynes between Worth and Adams, will end the hearings.

Commissioners will also discuss a request from the Birmingham Country Club, asking permission to install a drinking fountain on the club's golf course and install a new water connection to the city's water system, at the club's expense.

Anxious to have a favorable vote cast at the Aug. 3 election on the charter amendment to grant an irrevocable water permit to the South Oakland Water Authority for construction of water mains, the city will mail a publicity release to all its residents.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert said the other six area municipalities in the authority will take similar steps.

He added that if any one of the communities vetoed the amendment, the authority would be greatly hindered in its efforts to provide the mains, to be used when Detroit can furnish the authority with an additional water supply.

Churchill Hedges on China-U. N. Issue

Eisenhower at the first convenient opportunity," the 79-year-old Prime Minister told the House of Commons.

Murmurs of approval echoed through the House.

Churchill said a speech about the hydrogen bomb by Sterling Cole, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, on Feb. 17 had astonished him.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said in Chicago on that day that a thermonuclear test in the Marshall Islands in 1952 "completely obliterated the test island in the Eniwetok Atoll."

"It tore a cavity in the floor of the ocean—a crater measuring a full mile in diameter and 175 feet in depth at its lowest point. Within this crater one could place 140 structures the size of our nation's capitol."

Referring to Cole's speech, Churchill said:

"I was astounded by all that he said about the hydrogen bomb and results of experiments made more than a year before by the United States at Eniwetok Atoll.

"Very little notice was taken over here of Mr. Sterling Cole's revelations, but when some Japanese fishermen were slightly affected by the radioactivity generated by a second explosion at Bikini an intense sensation was caused in this country."

He said his conference with President Eisenhower was the most agreeable and fruitful he had ever had.

"I never had the feeling of general good will more strongly brought in upon me."

Before the talks took place, he said, other international problems arose, such as the Vietminh operations in Indochina "which were being sustained by the Communist government of China."

His statement came at a time when the air on both sides of the Atlantic is full of accounts of American - British disagreements, largely stemming from divergent policies toward Communist China.

Speaking of the conversations he and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Churchill said:

"We talked in perfect frankness and in full friendship with each other. We dispelled, I think, some misunderstandings, even some nightmares, from the minds of our American friends about the direction of our policy.

"I think we convinced them that we have changed none of our ultimate joint objectives and that there is, at any rate, some wisdom in the means by which we are proposing to reach them."

"In the final analysis," he said, "this is a battle of ideas between Americans and those who would destroy us — not a battle between Democrats and Republicans.

"Certainly the bullets of any aggressor will not distinguish those of one political affiliation from those of another. Certainly, amid the hue and cry and emotions of political campaigns, we must realize the common problem and the mutual goal of all Americans."

Alabama Official Seized in Fraud

Attorney General Held in Connection With Vote Irregularities

BIRMINGHAM, Ala (AP)— Atty. Gen. Si Garrett was arrested here today on a grand jury indictment charging him with vote fraud in the June 1 Democratic primary.

Garrett, who has been in a hospital at Galveston, Tex., surrendered to Sheriff Holt McDowell.

The attorney general, who is Alabama's chief prosecutor, was a witness before the grand jury here which also indicted Solicitor Arch Ferrell of Phenix City and Lamar Reid, chairman of the Jefferson County Democratic Executive Committee, on the vote fraud charges.

* * *

The three men were charged with altering the official vote for Lee Porter in the race for attorney general to add 600 votes for him. Porter was beaten in a close race with Albert L. Patterson, Phenix City anticrime crusader.

Patterson was slain June 18, a few days before he was scheduled to appear before the Jefferson Grand Jury to testify in the vote fraud inquiry.

Dondero Praises Road Fund Division

Congressman George A. Dondero (R-Mich) today termed the apportionment of $875,000,000 in federal-aid highway funds an effective stimulant to road construction industries.

He said the apportionment was made six months in advance of the usual date and will permit the states to let more than $100,000,000 in additional road contracts in the next 90 days.

"Since Michigan's share of the apportionment is $29,936,000, it is obvious that many new contracts will be let in the state in the near future," said the lawmaker who heads the U. S. House Public Work Committee.

Children Toppled by Driverless Car

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Six children were seated on a 16-inch retaining wall watching an impromptu show by two others last night when a driverless car rolled down a steep hill and plunged into the group.

Donald D. Campbell, 4, was killed and Norman Williams Jr., 6, were gravely injured, and two others were less seriously hurt.

The children were seated on the wall in front of the Williams home, their backs to the street, watching the kid show performance. Witnesses said they were skimmed off the wall, one by one, and thrown "all over the front yard."

The car had been parked at the top of a hill when its brakes failed.

Mrs. Petrov Admits Offenses Against Aussies

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Mrs. Vladimir Petrov said today she knew she was "committing offenses" against the Australian government while working as a Soviet secret police agent. But she told the spy commission she has been assured she will not be punished.

The wife of the former embassy secretary who obtained political asylum here said Australian authorities "might have accused me if they had caught me in the act."

"But I received political asylum here," she added, "and later received a letter from (Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies. I learned that I would not be punished for my work in the embassy."

Mrs. Petrov told the commission her salary as a cipher clerk for the Russians was $234 a month, plus $371.25 credited to her account in a Moscow bank.

Stevens to Keep Search Alive

Says Army Won't Halt Hunt for Officer Who Informed McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens said today the Army will "never give up" its search for the officer who allegedly provided Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) a summary of a classified FBI document.

McCarthy produced the 2¼ page document at the McCarthy-Army hearings, and said it had been given to him by a young Army intelligence officer whom he declined to name. It dealt with the possibility of espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Stevens, returning from a two weeks tour of Army units in Europe, was questioned about comments made yesterday by Atty. Gen. Brownell during a television appearance. Brownell said that whoever gave McCarthy the document violated the law but the officer has not yet been identified. He said the search was continuing.

* * *

Met by newsmen at Washington National Airport, Stevens said he expects to remain secretary of the Army "so long as the President wants me." He said also that "as far as I know," John G. Adams will remain as Army counsel.

Stevens and Adams were key figures in the dispute with McCarthy and members of his Senate Investigations subcommittee staff. The possibility that one or both would leave their posts had been mentioned during the hearings.

* * *

Asked whether the Army had tightened and speeded its security check system, Stevens said the Army "keeps its security measures moving all the time."

Brownell denied during the TV interview yesterday that a top-level conference in his office Jan. 21 was a "strategy meeting" to discuss ways of "destroying" McCarthy. He said also he doesn't know how soon he can decide whether legal action will be taken on the McCarthy-Army hearing testimony, in which witnesses for the two sides told widely varying stories under oath.

Use Ancient Plant for Modern Life

WASHINGTON (UP)—A sacred plant of the ancient Incas is serving a multi-purpose life these days.

Quinoa, a weed-like plant found high in the Andes, may even pinch-hit for spinach.

In its early stages it makes fine salad greens. Its seeds may be eaten raw, boiled, or roasted or ground into flour. The dried stems are first rate fuel. Quinoa seeds go into beer and medicine making. They also make fine poultry and livestock feed.

The plant is hardy, easy to cultivate and resistant to pests and diseases—a boon to any grower.

Food manufacturers in the United States have been conducting experiments with the plant, according to the National Geographic Society. But experiments in raising the plant in Europe and the United States have proved fruitless.

It requires a climate of intense heat by day and frosts at night to insure complete ripening.

Boy Is Critical After Mishap

Walled Lake Youth, 15, Reportedly Walked Into Car Early Sunday

WALLED LAKE — Fifteen-year-old Kenneth Clark of 146 Pine St. remained in critical condition in Detroit's Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital today after he stepped into the side of a moving car in Farmington Township early Sunday morning.

Young Clark lay in the hospital unidentified nearly 11 hours. He was not missed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clark, when he had told them he was going to spend the night in Pontiac.

Redford Post State Police said Clark walked into the side of a car driven by Richard Curnett of Detroit.

Curnett told them the youth had almost completed crossing Grand River about 20 feet from the 8-Mile road intersection when he sudenly turned back and ran into the side of the auto. Curnett was not held.

Clark suffered a fractured skull.

His parents came to the hospital to identify him after a neighbor heard the boy's description and told the Clarks.

Record Is Seen in World Export of Fats, Oil Seeds

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agriculture Department predicted today that world exports of fats, oils and oilseeds this year may establish a new postwar record.

The department said exports are now tentatively estimated at 6,300,000 tons oil equivalent for the current calendar year. If this goal should be reached, it would be five per cent greater than the previous postward record of 1951.

This total also would be eight per cent greater than world exports of fats and oils in 1953, which hit an estimated 6,160,000 oil equivalent. Sales of animal fats, edible vegetable oils, and industrial oils increased last year, while there was a significant drop in exports of palm oils.

German Exchange Student Winds Up Stay in America

BETTEKE VAN STEENGERGEN

MILFORD — "The experience of living in an American home has been something I can never forget," were the words of departing German exchange student Betteke van Steengergen recently.

A senior in Milford High School during the past year, she is headed for Pittsburgh.

This is the first lap of a three-week bus tour of the United States which culminates her stay abroad. She will travel through the southern states, and visit the capital.

Two other exchange students from Germany, Elisabeth Teichert and Helmut Castrop, are remaining in Milford until August 9, when they too, leave to tour the south by bus.

"The food is deliciously different, the holidays here are thrilling, and the general atmosphere of friendliness in the American people is astounding," departing Betteke said.

She lived with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hanna on First street.

The exchange students are sponsored by the American Field Service, which was formed in Europe in 1947. Fifty foreign students came to the United States that first year, and the number has grown to 350 this past year, with larger numbers planned.

What does the future hold for homebound Betteke? Her plans include study at the Academy in The Hague, with hopes of becoming a physical education teacher.

Beggar Racket Clampdown by Spanish Cops

MADRID (UP) — The begging profession, which hitherto had its own particular brand of dignity here, has become unethical, police officials reported. They began a cleanup campaign.

Collections have soared ever since the "professionals" got the bright idea of hiring "assistants," who ranged from three to seven years of age. The idea was to play upon the sentiments of passersby. It worked well and no one complained but the police.

The new racket worked this way:

The "pro" first got in touch with needy parents of large families, not difficult to find Spain. The "pro" proposed to pay 20 pesesas a day for the hire of one raggedy, skinny, pale male or female child. The more scrawny and sick-looking, the better the price. A cripple youngster would fetch an additional 10 to 15 peseta bonus. All fees were payable to parents in advance.

Once the transaction was completed, the child was taught how to beg, whine and cajole and sent out on the streets to work.

The "pro" foraged for himself but always within sight of his "assistant" so as to be able to estimate his effectiveness and the "take."

Youths on Probation for Station Breakin

Robert J. Cook, 19, and Robert Lewis, 17, were placed on three years probation each and ordered to pay $250 costs apiece by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick today for breaking into a gas station June 24.

Police, who are holding Rager on a drunk and disorderly charge, quoted the driver as saying he was traveling west on Orchard Lake road and attempted a left turn onto Voorheis.

Tour Is Set to Aid U. S. Dairy Exports

WASHINGTON (INS) — An agriculture dairy expert today was touring Europe in an effort to gain information that will aid the United States in exporting dairy products.

The specialist is David R. Strobel, who will visit the United Kingdom, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Belgium and France.

Strobel's tour is part of the government's campaign to find ways in which to increase dairy exports to Europe. He is expected to provide better understanding of the competition the U.S. may expect to encounter from other dairy nations.

Meanwhile, the Foreign Agricultural Service reports that The Netherlands government and Dutch traders are making an aggressive effort to develop and expand export markets for dairy products.

Trade agreements have been signed with Russia and Argentina calling for heavy exports of Dutch dairy products to those countries.

1955 Acreage Cuts Discussed

Benson Aide Declares 'No Efficient Farmer Should Go Broke'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's top aide said today there is no reason why an efficient farmer should go broke under the stringent production controls imposed on agriculture for 1955.

Agriculture Undersecretary True D. Morse made the statement and explained that in imposing sharp acreage cutbacks of crops for next year Benson "had no attitude of forcing anybody off the land."

Morse said there are only three reasons why a farmer might go broke under the production control system. They are:

1. If the farmer has resisted putting into operation a farm management program which is adaptable to his particular farm.

2. When the farmer is neither efficient nor proficient at his job, and probably should be in some other line of work.

3. Where the farmer is using land that is not adaptable to crop production except in years of very good rainfalls. Morse said this could be especially true on the Southwestern plains, where farm experts estimate eight million acres should be returned to grasses and other cover crops.

The undersecretary pointed out that the administration inserted into its production control plan a provision to aid small farmers who otherwise might have suffered a heavy financial setback.

This provision stipulates that farmers who have less than 10 acres to divert from crops under acreage allotments can use those 10 acres to plant various other crops that will add to their income as long as they follow allotments for price-supported crops.

On farms where 10 acres or more are diverted, however, a "total acreage allotment" will be imposed for all crops, and the farmer must remain within this allotment if he is to qualify for price supports on any crop.

It is estimated that about one million farmers will be affected by these controls.

Decries Probe of Foundations

Carnegie Corp. Chief Attacks Methods Used by Congressmen

NEW YORK (AP) — The Carnegie Crop. says witnesses in a congressional investigation have attacked several tax-exempt foundations "through a shocking combination of innuendo and implication."

In a statement sent to the special House committee to investigate tax-exempt foundations, Corporation President Charles Dollard said yesterday:

"The question has been raised in these hearings as to whether foundation have supported 'pro-American' projects and, through a shocking combination of innuendo and implication, the impression has been left that perhaps they have failed in this respect."

"As far as the Carnegie Crop. is concerned," he said, "there can be only one answer to such a question. The corporation regards its entire program as 'pro-American.' . . . It is the whole purpose of the corporation trustees and officers to work in behalf of their country, to strengthen it and to ensure its future."

An attorney for the multimillion-dollar foundation also took the committee to task for ending the hearings before spokesmen for the foundations had a chance to testify, even though the foundation critics were heard at length "and with full publicity."

Atty. John E. F. Wood said, "I doubt that any other congressional inquiry ever followed a procedure so alien to American standards of justice and so obviously unfair and prejudicial to a group of respected persons and institutions."

The committee chairman, Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn), could not be reached in Washington for comment.

The foundation's case was contained in a 32-page statement and 19-page memorandum which Dollard asked the committee to include in records of the hearing.

* * *

Dollard defended the work of foundations as a valuable asset to American education. Public funds for education, he said, are far greater than those from private foundations. "Yet," he added, "the private contribution is substantial and without it the pattern of higher education in this country would have lost an element which has given richness and diversity to the whole system."

Dollard denied that foundations were used as a tax dodge and added: "Both the Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations were set up at a time when there were no federal income or estate taxes."

Obstacles to the Seaway

In a friendly but unyielding atmosphere, heads of the Canadian and American corporations that will build and operate the St. Lawrence Seaway held their first meeting at Ottawa. They encountered some obstacles besides the rocky rapids that will have to be flooded and the locks and dams that will have to be built.

For Canada, Lionel Chevrier, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, stated the case.

First, Canada wants $15,000,000 for shifting the canal through the thirty-six-mile International Rapids section to the American side. Canada will then lose its present 14-foot canal and have no way for small vessels to bypass the deepwater channel and avoid tolls.

★ ★ ★

Next, Canada wants another $15,000,000 it promised to pay New York State and Ontario. They are building the hydro-electric dams in the International Rapids section and Canada figures a saving of that much in building the canal. Now that we are going to build it on our side, Canada says we should pay New York and Ontario that amount.

Third and thorniest of the obstacles is the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. Canada doesn't want its own seamen subject to questioning as to loyalty under that act when they are aboard Canadian vessels bound between Canadian ports.

★ ★ ★

For the United States, Lewis Castle, Duluth banker named by President Eisenhower to head the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, promised to study these points. When he has an answer, the two groups will meet again. But it is evident that some more legislation may be necessary before the dirt will fly.

Toward Flexible Controls

Washington is looking at the White House these days with new respect and admiration. It saw a whip cracked by the Administration, and a tamed House come to heel.

The issue, of course, was Secretary Benson's flexible farm price support bill. In an election year, political dopesters hadn't given a plugged nickel for the bill's chances.

★ ★ ★

But President Eisenhower applied the pressure. It is the Administration's program, he insists, that will be the issue in the November Congressional election. And flexible farm supports are an integral part of his program.

★ ★ ★

When the chips were down, the House voted overwhelmingly for the Benson program. Even the Democrats went along. And Washington gained new insight into the strength of leadership residing in the White House.

A Gold Star Diplomat

Key man in the rescue of Guatemala from the Reds now appears to be U. S. Ambassador John E. Peurifoy. A career man in the State Department, Peurifoy was sent to Guatemala as a trouble-shooter from Greece last Autumn.

In the midst of Communist intrigue in Guatemala he kept his eyes open. When the revolt broke he was the man to whom the pro-Red government kept sending peace envoys. To each he repeated the same line: "Clean house on the Reds and the United States may recognize a new government."

★ ★ ★

His stern refusal to dicker with the fellow-travelers convinced them the game was up. He finally agreed, when a firm anti-Communist army officer, Col. Elfego Monzon, emerged on top, to contact the rebels for an armistice.

Later, Peurifoy, with the American Ambassador to neighboring El Salvador, Michael F. McDermott, another old hand in the State Department, and President Oscar Osorio of El Salvador, got Col. Monzon and Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, the rebel leader, together. They forged a temporary junta combining the anti-Red leader of the Guatemalan Army and the anti-Red leader of the rebels.

★ ★ ★

How this works out remains to be seen, but it puts the strongest anti-Communist and pro-United States elements in command. And a large part of the credit goes to a firm-jawed American diplomat who began his Government career piloting an elevator in the Capitol.

Welcome to Civil Defense

Battle Creek, which lost out in the competition for the Air Force Academy to Colorado Springs, has received a sort of consolation prize. The Federal Civil Defense Administration is moving from Washington into the Army's now unused Percy Jones Hospital at Battle Creek.

Michigan, regretting it didn't get the new academy, welcomes Civil Defense. To the State's own CD organization the presence here of Civil Defense's GHQ will mean a shot in the arm.

★ ★ ★

And we wouldn't be surprised if Administrator Val Peterson and his 496 staff members gained something in turn by a closer contact with the problems of a State's Civil Defense.

★ ★ ★

Peterson and his organization have preached decentralization to industry. Now they are providing a good example. And somehow it always seems a good move when a Federal bureau quits Washington and returns to the country.

James Clapp Suggests Dairy Farmers Should Organize and Sue Union Heads

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

"A Dairy Farmer's Wife" is absolutely right in her letter on the milk strike. The dairy farmer's time and expense goes right on, whether he or she is selling the product or pouring it down the drain.

The farmers should organize right now and bring suit for lost milk against the union officials responsible for the strike. It is a crime at any time to have to throw away good milk.

What a way for the union to celebrate Dairy Week. Everybody drink milk.

Americans Must Awaken! Fight Anti-Christ Move

We are facing our greatest crisis. This conflict is not being fought on battlefields of mud and trenches with bursting bombs. This battlefield is the school room, pulpit, university, high school, silver screen, radio, television, and the press.

However, these agencies can and will take on bloody and physical form in this part of the world as in Europe unless checked by the power of the gospel.

The weapons of the enemy are the Atheistic, Materialistic, Modernistic and Communistic philosophies of the Christ haters, who will pull down the pillars of American civilization if not brought under the lash of stern restraint.

This Trojan Horse gang of international destroyers pay lip service to our institutions and sing "God Bless America," but their hearts are full of poison towards everything dear to the heart of a Christian.

We, the real Americans and the churches, the body of Christ, must join forces to fight this anti-Christ movement in our land. Wake up America!

Marriage Foundation Would Aid Folks Who Lack Time to Search for Romance

Geraldine presents a moral challenge to all Americans, but especially to great philanthropists such as Hugh Cullen, James Penney and James Self. Far more important than cancer research or college endowment is the creation of happy marriages where children will be reared in American ideals.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-355: Geraldine E., aged 28, is typical of many fine women.

"Dr. Crane, my husband was killed in Korea," she began, "leaving me with a boy who is now 5 years old.

"I send him to nursery school or hire a neighbor woman to look after him by day, for I am employed as an office secretary.

"I'd like to be a better mother to him, but I am so tired by the time I get home at 6 o'clock.

"And I wish he had a Daddy, too. But except for attendance at church, I have very little social life.

"Surely there are many fine men who would enjoy marriage and make dandy fathers for such boys as mine. But how can men and women meet and get acquainted?

"I'm a Christian and a non-drinker. I have had two years of college, and am considered good looking. I am honest and not afraid of hard work.

"I come from a fine family, too. But I meet no eligible men in my limited social and office contacts, so what can I do?"

There are literally hundreds of great Americans who might well accept this as a moral challenge and launch a Marriage Foundation whose various functions would include introducing eligible folks like Geraldine.

For example, such philanthropists as Hugh R. Cullen of Houston, Texas, or James C. Penney of New York, or James Self, of Greenwood, S. C. have endowed colleges and hospitals and are mighty sparkplugs of moral progress.

But nobody seems to realize the fact that there are 100,000 virtuous young women like Geraldine who could be happily married within a year if a Marriage Foundation were only available.

And there are 100,000 unmarried men who are excellent marriage material but who are tied down to farms or stores or teaching jobs and thus unable to gad around in search of romance.

I know whereof I speak, for I have lost my last 6 private secretaries to such men who have written to me.

And these men are topnotchers, not culls or misfits. They have stayed at home to rear their younger brothers and sisters when their father died, leaving them the head of the family maybe at the tender age of 15 or 16.

Or they are loyal younger sons who have stood by their elderly parents and kept the home fires, while their older brothers and sisters have married and left.

Maybe when these men are 28 or 35, their parents pass on, but by then the eligibles in their small towns are married and gone. And their jobs prevent their roaming around in search of eligible women.

We have many research foundations that are trying to discover the cause of polio and of cancer, which are commendable goals.

But why shouldn't we have a foundation to establish an extra 100,000 happy homes each year among our better American stock?

For out of those 100,000 additional marriages, we should have 300,000 youngsters within a few years.

It is just as desirable to promote life by aiding men and women to meet eligible members of the opposite sex for happy marriage and later parenthood, as it is to promote college endowments or cancer research.

Moreover, such a Marriage Foundation would render a tremendous help to all churches, for the latter are so swamped with their present duties that they haven't time and it should be interdenominational, anyway.

Compare this Case Record with tomorrow's wherein I explain more fully this greatest social need in America today, namely a Marriage Foundation.

Aunt Het

I read a fable once that reminded me of Jane. It don't make any difference how a crow dresses up, you know what it is when you hear its voice.

David Lawrence Says:

World's Public Morality Verging on Unmorality

WASHINGTON — Is there a deterioration in public morals going on in the world among statesmen abroad and among some of the so-called "intellectual" groups in all countries, including our own?

This would hardly be a pertinent question to ask were it not for the news dispatches of recent days bearing on matters of the utmost importance to the advancement of public morals.

Thus a well-known scientist lies to his own government and conceals vital information which misleads the security officers of the United States Army over a period of several months while his own government is engaged in war.

Yet, when he is formally declared now by a competent board to be a "security risk" for the future, an association of scientists in a public statement glosses over what he did and says there is something wrong with the "security regulations."

The press almost universally has denounced the behavior of the scientist in question but there has been a curious indifference in some other quarters where morality is often discussed.

Seensational sermons were preached in some rather prominent pulpits a few weeks ago denouncing a certain United States senator who had expressed, in a brusque manner, his dissent from the action of the U. S. Army in awarding an honorable discharge to an officer, even though he had refused to tell about his Communist connections.

But not a sermon from those same pulpits has appeared in the headlines about the lack of moral strength of the scientist who put his own arrogant judgment above the wishes of his government in a matter of internal security protection in wartime.

Nor is this an isolated case. Not so long ago 83 cadets at West Point, in order to help the football team, violated the honor code of the academy by cheating in examinations or by helping other cadets to cheat.

There were voices raised even in Congress which sought to gloss over what had happened and urged that the Army's decision to dismiss the cadets from the U. S. Military Academy be reversed.

Today there is a large issue of morals imbedded in an international controversy. It has to do with the admission of an unmoral government to the United Nations. The London Times says that "British public opinion looks at the problem as a matter of law and not of morals."

But is it really a matter of law? If it were, Britain would not be opposing the admission into the United Nations of Franco's government in Spain, which controls all of Spanish territory, and certainly the refusal of Soviet Russia to permit the entry of Italy and Japan, which have every basis in international law for admission, shows how hypocritical and insincere is the claim that it is a "question of law."

The truth is it is a question of morals, and an aggressor government's misbehavior is being glossed over in the interest of political expediency in Britain.

Perhaps the greatest speech of the year thus far on the topic of international morality has just been delivered by Speaker Martin of the House of Representatives, who deplored Churchill's proposal for "coexistence" with communism. He said in part:

"The truth of the matter is that communism has no morals. It is amoral, it is antimoral. And unless we understand this we cannot begin to grasp the true nature of communism.

"One of the tragedies of our times is the era just expired, during which too many people who should have known better and too many governments which should have known better regarded communism as some advanced form of liberalism — as a vague, new enlightened movement. But thank God that today people more and more are rejecting such nonsense . . .

"How many people know that in the 36 years in which the Soviet government has been in power, it has broken every single agreement or treaty that it has made with the free nations of the world?

"That it has used every conference table and every international forum to stall, disrupt and divide those with whom the representatives of the Soviets met? . . .

"I ask you: What possible chance is there for 'coexistence' of this outlaw conspiracy alongside a civilization based on truth, trust and faith, on freedom and the individual dignity of man?

"It is very well to talk about 'trying once more!' 'Peaceful coexistence' and 'sitting down again at the conference table,' but we have gone to too many conferences in the past — with nothing more than a calfskin brief case, a bottle of ink and a pious hope — not to have learned our lesson by now."

There are some renewed calls for a "positive approach." But President Eisenhower's speech more than a year ago called for the fulfillment by Soviet Russia of existing agreements as a demonstration of good faith, and that call has been ignored.

Now the idea of admitting an aggressor government to the United Nations, sponsored by Soviet Russia, is accepted in too many parts of the free world as an expedient move.

It is part of the unmoral attitude toward wrongdoers which glosses over misdeeds. It's like saying to a court, "Well, after all, it's only his first murder — why punish a man for his foolish indiscretions or mistakes of a bygone day?"

Fortunately this is not the prevailing moral climate today among the rank and file of the people of the world.

Some Hat

"Do you think I look becoming in my new hat, John?"

"No dear — bewildering."

Calcium Deposits and Skin Exhalation Are Two Legends Dr. Brady Deplores

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

I find this legend in Fourteen Weeks in Human Physiology, by J. Dorman Steele, Ph. D., a textbook published by A. S. Barnes Company in 1874 and used in public schools until well into the gay nineties.

From our viewpoint, 80 years later, the book is misleading—of course it has been long out of use. Still, I ascribe to this textbook responsibility for some of the most persistent misconceptions of doctors and laymen.

I remember, for instance, how annoyed and resentful I felt when I learned, in the study of pathology, that the bones of an elderly person contain less mineral matter (principally calcium), not more than the bones of a young person.

Steele gave us a wrong notion about that and I believe the wrong notion still sticks in the minds of many doctors. I was indignant about it, but I did manage to get straightened out.

Too many doctors, including some of the loud-mouth ones who take it upon themselves to tell the world what "science says" seem to think Steele was right about it.

So do the trick specialists who warn you poor souls who suffer from calcium deficiency to beware of calcium "deposits" if you follow a high calcium diet or supplement your calcium-poor diet with an adequate daily ration of Calcium and D.

On an occasion of great solemnity (Dr. Steele sits back, fills his pipe—I should imagine—and recites the legend in a footnote on p. 73). Pope Leo X caused a young child to be completely covered with gold leaf, closely applied to the skin (I remember how I shuddered at the wickedness of Pope Leo X when I read the yarn in the textbook at the impressionable age of 12, so as to represent, according to the idea of the age, the golden glory of an angel or seraph.

In a few hours after contributing to this pageant of pride (wrote the doughty doctor with his pungent pen, the child died; the cause being—

(Hold onto your hats, folks, here comes the screamer)

. . . the cause being suffocation, from stopping the exhalation of the skin; although, in the ignorance of the common people of those days, the death was of course attributed to the anger of the Diety, and looked upon as a circumstance of evil omen. (End of the story.)

I doubt, but do not know, whether gold leaf would adhere to the skin if applied to more than a small area. Anyway, it would have no effect at all on breathing. Of course the skin neither "exhales" nor absorbs anything.

Performers frequently gild, silver or otherwise paint most of the skin and this has no deleterious effect.

Perhaps use of the word "exhalation" for evaporation of water (sweat) from the skin has caused confusion in the minds of Dr. Steele and many other credulous persons who have taken the gilded boy yarn seriously and related it from one generation to another until it has become legendary.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Auditor General OK Following Surgery

PETOSKEY (UP) — State Auditor General John B. Martin was in "good" condition at Little Traverse Hospital today after an emergency operation Saturday night.

Martin had his appendix removed after an attack. He was stricken at Macinac Island while he and his wife were attending a meeting of the National Association of Veterans Directors.

The Coast Guard Cutter Mackinaw rushed Martin to Cheboygan and he was brought here by ambulance for the appendectomy.

Atom Workers Back to Work

Employes at Paducah Kill Plan to Continue Walkout

PADUCAH, Ky. (UP) — Operations have returned to normal at the atomic energy plant near here today with striking workers back on the job.

A strike threatening production of atomic and hydrogen bombs was called off Saturday when members of Local 550, CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers, voted to return to work immediately, reversing a previous decision to continue the walkout.

The Paducah employes followed the example of strikers at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant who voted Friday night to end their walkout.

One thousand workers at Paducah and 3,500 at Oak Ridge were involved in the strike.

* * *

A plan for settling the walkout was worked out in Washington by Secretary of Labor Mitchell and CIO President Walter Reuther. It calls for a government review of health, housing and community problems of all the nation's atomic workers and a study to strengthen labor-management relations in the atomic field.

The peace plan did not mention the wage issue, over which the strike was called.

Jersey Locomotive Takes Farewell Trip

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UP)—Eight carloads of railroad fans took a sentimental journey yesterday — a farewell trip aboard the nation's last camelback locomotive in active service.

Old No. 774, the 41-year-old Jersey Central engine, chugged her way down to the north Jersey shore for the excursion, sponsored by the north Jersey chapter of the National Railway Historical Society.

What lies ahead for No. 774? The Jersey Central says it hasn't decided. Perhaps she'll wind up at the railroad's boneyard at Elizabethport. Then again, she may have a brighter future if sent to the Baltimore & Ohio's transportation museum at Baltimore.

A camelback gets its name because the cab is in front of the firebox and astride the boiler. Old No. 774 made her last business run in April, taking commuters from Cranford to Jersey City.

Even Angel Has to Work Hard Getting Wings

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UP)—Angel got his wings the hard way.

Pfc. Angel O. Gomez suffered an appendicitis attack just before his fifth and final jump as a paratrooper trainee here.

He concealed his condition and made the jump anyway. On the way down, he passed out. Medics in the drop zone disengaged his parachute and rushed him to the hospital.

Gomez had to sit up in bed to have his wings pinned on by Col. Nathaniel R. Hoskot, who said:

"What you did wasn't very smart, but . . . it showed a lot of guts and pride in the unit."

The Caine Mutiny

Copyright

Synopsis: Willie is in the Navy, assigned to the filthy dirty old ship, the minesweeper Caine. Willie is the decoding ensign and he isn't too keen about the new Capt. Queeg, who talks big, too big. The ship gets orders to go to Pago Pago.

CHAPTER 11

Next day Willie went to his post on the bridge as junior officer of the deck shortly after sunrise. Captain Queeg came up to the bridge, brisk and smiling, with a pleasant greeting for each sailor and officer.

"Good morning, Captain. All lines singled up, sir," Willie said, saluting smartly.

"Ah, good morning. Thank you, thank you, Willie." Queeg leaned over the bulwark, taking a quick look at the mooring lines. The Caine was tied to the Moulton, which was secured fore and aft to buoys.

"Tight squeeze, hey?" Queeg said jovially to Maryk and Gorton, who stood together on the port wing, awaiting with interest the new captain's first demonstration of ship handling. The two officers nodded respectfully. Queeg called, "Take in all lines!"

The manila ropes came snaking aboard the Caine. "All lines taken in, sir!" said the telephone talker.

"Kay." Queeg glanced around the wheelhouse, wetted his lips, dropped the book on the chair, and said, "Well, let's go. All engines back one third!"

The ship vibrated, and things began to happen so fast that Willie couldn't tell exactly what went wrong or why. As the Caine moved backward the sharp fluke of the decked anchor came ripping down along the forecastle of the other ship. It gashed a jagged hole in the Moulton's bridge with a ghastly metallic screech.

Captain Queeg shouted a tangle of wheel and engine orders; the stacks vomited billows of black smoke which poured down on the bridge; there ensued a few moments of wild yelling and running around in the smoky gloom. Then it was all over.

The Caine was stuck by the stern in the mud on the other side of the loch, canted over about ten degrees.

"Well, well, beginner's luck, hey?" Queeg said smiling in the shocked quiet that followed. "Mr. Gorton, lay aft and find out if there's been any damage."

He sent a blinker message to Captain Sammis apologizing for the mishap. The executive officer returned in a few minutes, and reported that there was no visible damage to the hull, and the propellers were buried in mud to their hubs.

"Kay, a little mud bath never hurt a propeller," Queeg said. "Shine 'em up a little, maybe." He was looking out toward the harbor.

"Guess we'll have to send a grounding report despatch to ServPac, Captain," Gorton said. "Shall I - - - "

Maybe we will and then maybe we won't," Queeg said. "See that tug? Over there by the point? Give him a call on your blinker light."

The tug obligingly turned out of the main channel and came chugging into West Loch. A towline was soon rigged, and the Caine was easily pulled off the mud. "So much for that," Queeg said affably to Gorton.

"And so much for your grounding report, Burt. No sense getting old ServPac in an uproar over nothing, hey? All engines ahead one third."

He conned the ship confidently across the harbor to the fueling dock where they were to spend the day taking on oil, food, and ammunition.

He tore in toward the dock at a sharp angle at 15 knots, but in the very last seconds Queeg backed down emergency full, and the Caine slowed, shuddering fearfully, and dropped into its berthing space as neatly as a New York taxicab parking.

That afternoon Willie was in the coding room writing a letter to May, the last before the start of the voyage.

A radioman knocked at his open doorway. "Pardon me, Mr. Keith. Action from ComServPac. Just come over the harbor circuit."

"Sure, give it here." Willie went to the coding machine and broke the dispatch.

A written report is desired explaining grounding of Caine this morning in West Loch. Include explanation of failure to report grounding via despatch to this command.

He brought the decode to the captain's room. Queeg was sitting in his underwear at the desk, working over a pile of official mail. When he read the message he sat upright with a loud squeak of the swivel chair.

He stared at the sheet for a long time while Willie tried to think of a good excuse to sneak out of the room.

At last Queeg picked up the steel balls from his desk and rolled them rapidly, eyeing the despatch.

"Well, hell, he wants a grounding report. We'll give him a grounding report. Spruce up, Willie, and stand by to deliver it by hand. Seems to have his pants on fire for some reason."

"Aye, aye, sir."

* * *

That night Willie was shaken out of his sleep by Rabbitt. "Sorry to bother you, Keith," the OOD said, "but we just got an action from ComServPac."

"Right, Rab." Willie pulled himself wearily out of the clip shack and went to the wardroom.

While he was clacking away at the coding machine Gorton came out of his room naked and watched over his shoulder, yawning. The words formed one by one:

Caine departure Pago Pago canceled. Moulton replace Caine convoy duty. Caine remain Pearl target-towing duty. Obtain towing gear target repair base.

"Now what the hell?" said Gorton. "What kind of quick switch is that? I guess I'd better take it to the captain."

In the captain's cabin Gorton found Queeg sitting cross-legged on the bunk in his underwear, unshaven and frowning. He read the message and then said, "Gorton, I want you to get dressed and haul yourself over to ComServPac. Find out what this is all about."

"From whom, sir — the operations officer?"

"I don't care from whom. You can go to the admiral for all I care. But don't come back without the dope, understand?"

"Aye, aye, sir."

When Gorton returned from the Navy Yard, Carmody, the OOD, saluted him and said, "The Captain wants to see you in his cabin the minute you return aboard, sir."

Gorton went below and knocked at the captain's door. There was no answer. He knocked louder, then cautiously turned the knob and peeked into a black room. "Captain? Captain?"

"Oh. Come in, Burt." Queeg switched on his bed light and sat up, scratching his stubbly face. He reached to the shelf over the bunk and took down the two steel balls. "Well? What's the dope?"

"I don't know, sir. The operations officer wouldn't tell me."

"What!"

Gorton, perspiring, described the interview with Captain Grace. Queeg glowered at the rolling balls.

"And you let it go at that, hey?"

"I didn't see what more I could do, sir. I was practically thrown out—"

"I'm not delighted," said the captain after a silence.

"When I send an officer out for the dope, I expect him to return with the dope, and to use whatever ingenuity is called for to get it — that's all." There was a knock at the door. "Come in!"

Signalman Third Class Urban entered, carrying a dispatch board. His dungarees were faded and streaky, and his shirt hung outside his trousers. "Visual from ComServPac, Cap'n."

Captain Queeg took the board and read:

Caine under way 29 September 0600. Pick up target and operation order at target repair base.

"Kay," said the captain, initialing the dispatch and returning the board to the sailor.

"Thank you, sir." Urban scuttled out.

"Now," said Queeg, rattling the balls in his fist, "that's another thing I want knocked off right away, Mr. Gorton."

"What, sir?"

"You know damn well what. Since when do uniform regulations permit the crew to wear their shirts outside their trousers? They're sailors, not Filipino bus boys."

"Aye aye, sir," said Gorton resignedly.

"Aye aye, sir, H--l!" snapped Queeg. "I'm serious about this, Burt. You will make the following announcement in the plan of the day tomorrow.

" 'Hereafter all shirts will be tucked inside trousers. Failure to comply will result in heavy disciplinary action.' "

"Aye aye, sir." The exec went out, closing the door softly. Captain Queeg lay back on his bed and stared at the green overhead. Rub, rub, rub, rub, went the little steel balls.

In a special wardroom meeting the next day Queeg appointed Willie morale officer in addition to his other duties, and advised him that his task was to see to it that every man on the ship tucked his shirttail inside his pants.

At the same meeting he declared that the Caine was going to be the best target-towing ship in the Navy, or he would know the reason why.

During the next two weeks, the "best g—d— target-towing ship in the Navy" carried out several towing assignments without mishap.

Willie Keith posted a long notice in the crew's quarters, headed: Morale — Smart Seamanlike Appearance as an Improver of. In five paragraphs of rolling prose he asked the crew to tuck in their shirttails. Much to his amazement, he was obeyed; the flapping tails vanished.

The trouble started one afternoon, when the Caine was steaming placidly on a straight course, the target trailing in its wake a mile behind.

Over the TBS, the short - wave speaker in the wheelhouse, the squadron leader of the destroyers spoke up: "Gwendolyn, Gwendolyn, this is Tarzan. Ready to commence final run. Out."

"Ensign Keith, report to the bridge on the double!" the p.a. blared.

A horrid sight confronted him on arrival. The little moonfaced signalman, Urban, stood at cataleptic attention, his face frozen in lines of fear. His shirttail hung outside his pants.

On one side of him stood the captain, glowering out to sea and rolling the balls. On the other side was Keefer, nervously twisting the lenses of his OOD binoculars.

"Ah, the morale officer," said Queeg, turning sharply as Willie approached. "Mr. Keith, have you any explanation for the appearance of this sailor?"

"Sir—I—I didn't know—" Willie turned on the signalman. "Didn't you read my notice?" he said as fiercely as he could.

"Ye-yes, sir. I just forgot, sir. I'm sorry, sir—"

"Gwendolyn, Gwendolyn, this is Tarzan," came from the wheelhouse. Queeg ran inside and seized the receiver.

"This is Gwendolyn. Go ahead."

"Gwendolyn, cease present exercise and return to base. Well done. Out."

"Roger, thank you, out," said Queeg. He turned to the helmsman, "Right standard rudder."

"Right standard rudder, sir," said Stilwell, with a glance at the captain that showed all the white of his eyes. He spun the wheel hard.

"Now then, Mr. Keefer," said the captain, wheeling on the officer of the deck, who was watching the target. "Have you any explanation for the fact that the first man to violate my uniform orders is in your department?"

"Sir, there are limits to what a department head can do while he has the deck—"

"Well, there are no limits," shrilled Queeg, "to the duties of the officer of the deck! He is responsible for every goddamnd thing that happens aboard ship during his watch, every goddamned thing!"

Chiefs Budge and Bellison were sitting on a ventilator on the forecastle, enjoying a smoke in the salt breeze. Bellison suddenly dug a bony elbow into the water tender's fat ribs. "Budge, am I seeing straight? Are we cutting back across the towline?"

Chief Budge stared out at the target, then looked wildly at the bridge, then catapulted his heavy body to the life lines, and peered over the side of the water. "Ch--t, yes. What's the matter with the old man?"

Bellison said, "Should I yell?"

"It's too late. We can't stop any more—"

On the sea the ship's wake was a complete circle of smooth green water flecked with bubbles, a mile across. The Caine was plowing into the same track again, still heeled over by the rudder.

The Caine had now steamed partly around the circle for the second time, and once more the target lay ahead. Queeg walked away from the palpitating sailor, with a curt "Dismissed."

He saw the target, started with surprise, and threw a savage glance at Keefer and Keith. "What the hell is that target doing up there?" he exclaimed. "Where the hell are we? What the hell's going on?"

He scurried into the wheelhouse and took a look at the rapidly rotating compass. "What the hell are you doing?" he screamed hell are you doing?" hes creamed at Stilwell.

"Sir, you told me right standard rudder. I'm holding at right standard rudder," said the helmsman desperately.

"Kay, that's right, I did tell you right standard rudder," said Queeg, turning his head from side to side, looking first at the target, then at the departing destroyers. "Why the hell isn't that target coming around after us? That's what I want to know—

"All engines ahead standard! Rudder amidships! We'll see whether we've got a target or not."

The Caine steamed two miles. The target dwindled to a bobbing dot on the waves, not moving at all. "Kay," said the captain. "Now we know what we want to know. We haven't got the target."

He looked at Keefer and shrugged humorously. "Well, Tom, if ComServPac gives us cables that part when we come right a few degrees that's his lookout, hey? . . . Willie, give me a dispatch blank." And he wrote:

Defective towline parted southwest corner gunnery area Charlie. Target adrift, menace to navigation. Am returning to base. Suggest tug recover or destroy target at dawn tomorrow.

As Willie took the dispatch Maryk came running into the wheelhouse, his khaki shirt black with sweat. "Sir, the motor whaleboat is swung out and the target detail is standing by. It'll take us about an hour to recover. If we close to about fifty yards—"

"Recover what?"

"The target, sir." The first lieutenant seemed amazed at the question.

"Show Mr. Maryk the dispatch, Willie," said Queeg, grinning. The first lieutenant ran his eye over the scribbled sheet.

Queeg went on:

"As I see it, Mr. Maryk—maybe your insight is more profound than mine — my responsibility doesn't include emergencies arising from defective gear."

"Captain, I'm sorry if I seem pigheaded, sir," Maryk blurted, "but I still think we ought to try to recover that damn target. It's worth thousands of dollars, sir. We can do it if—"

Queeg paced the bridge, muttering, for a few minutes, and then sent another dispatch to ComServPac:

If you prefer can attempt recover target. Request instructions.

The minesweeper steamed in a long lazy circle around the target for an hour. The answer came from ComServPac: Act at discretion.

"Helpful, aren't they?" Queeg said crankily, passing the dispatch to the exec. He glanced up at the sun, which was about an hour and a half above the horizon.

"That's the Navy for you. Pass the buck and get a receipt. Act at discretion, hey? Well, that's exactly what I'm going to do, and I kid you not. Let's head for the barn."

At eleven o'clock the next morning Gorton delivered to Queeg the next mailgram:

At 1300 22 October commanding officer Caine will submit in person repeat in person written report on latest fiasco to operations officer ComServPac.

Broken Water Main Causes 'Cloudburst'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California has been having a heat wave, so three families were really startled when an apparent cloudburst hit their houses yesterday.

The half-hour torrent poured down fireplace chimneys and soaked floors and rugs in the Philip Kenmore, David J. Manns and M. P. Marinas homes.

Then city employes stopped the geyser shooting from a big water main that had burst in the Silver Lake district, ripping a deep opening in a parkway.

Suit Asks Legal Payment for Flops; Could Beat Scrabble as Sensation

By BILLY ROSE

Arthur Murray, Esq.
695 Fifth Ave.
New York, N. Y.
Dear Sir:

I see by the papers that you are suing two writers for $101,750 in the New York State Supreme Court, alleging they "confederated and conspired" to "cheat and defraud" you by intentionally turning out bad scripts for your TV show.

BILLY ROSE

I know nothing about the merits of the case, or what prompted these scriveners—Mort Green and George Foster by name to sabotage your program, if indeed they did.

I have, however, caught your show from time to time, and, frankly, it never occurred to me that you were using writers—I assumed you just gave the actors a couple of snorts and told them to make it up as they went along.

But that's neither here nor elsewhere. The important thing about your suit is that it may well lead to the most momentous legal decision since the Dred Scott case. As I see it, should the courts rule in your favor, it will establish a precedent which may well revolutionize American life.

Take the theater, for instance. As of now, there's nothing the backer of a frumpy flop can do but laugh hollowly and ask the ingenue for one last date.

However, if your logic prevails, there's no reason why said backer can't sue the playwright for electing to write a turkey when he could have written a hit.

The principle of legal retribution for missouts could be applied to many other fields of endeavor. For example, it could be charged that when Ralph Branca pitched a home-run ball to Bobby Thomson back in 1951, he was conspiring to bilk Brooklyn out of the pennant and a trunkful of World Series money.

And if the charge were made to stick, Branca's teammates could hold him responsible for the bonuses they didn't get, and all Dodger fans could sue for the money they lost in their office pools.

By the same rule of thumb, 27,000,000 citizens could sue Adlai Stevenson for cheating them out of an election victory by maliciously making witty speeches which were over the heads of the public.

Adlai, in turn, could sue his 27,000,000 supporters for conspiring not to be 34,000,000. To top it off, Eisenhower could sue everybody for cheating him out of five days of golf each week.

I, alone, could start enough litigation to keep the New York courts busy for a decade. For instance, Betty Hutton once worked for me for a fast $75 a week. That was all she asked, so I assumed it was all she was worth.

In recent years, however, Hutton has been earning better than $5,000 a week. Obviously, the beauteous Betty conspired to conceal from me how much she was really worth.

Along the same lines, I would have a good case against the estate of Andre Gide who, at the turn of the century, wrote a novel called "The Immoralist." This might well have been a conspiracy to make me lose money 50 years later when I produced a dramatization of the book.

I'd have an equally good case against a trained seal named Sharkey. This finny bum was booked to appear in my Cleveland Aquacade, and on opening night, with 15,000 eyes watching, he—deliberately, I'm sure—forgot his act.

It all adds up to this, Mr. Murray. Should judge and jury find for you, it will be the biggest thing since Scrabble.

It's even possible that some of your own dance pupils may hail you into court for not teaching them to dance like—pardon my mentioning the name—Fred Astaire.

Of course, sir, there's always the possibility that your case may be laughed out of court. In that event, you'll need a foolproof way to protect yourself against scheming writers.

I know such a way, though I hesitate to recommend it to a busy sponsor. Namely: to read your television scripts before you put them on the air.

Yours, etc.
Billy Rose

DETROIT (UP) — A miniature train at the Detroit Zoo jumped the tracks and disrupted rail service to thousands of Saturday visitors.

About 100 persons, many of them children, were aboard the train at the time but all escaped injury except the engineer, Don Stockel, 37. He suffered a bruised arm.

Zoo Director Frank McInnis said the train was traveling about 20 miles an hour when the engine and one car left the rails.

Current Israel - Egypt Flareup Brings New U. N. Problem

JERUSALEM (AP)—Another flareup on the tense Israel-Egypt border costing the lives of six Egyptian soldiers and one Israeli posed a new problem today for the U.N. Palestine armistice commission.

Reports of the latest incident came yesterday as the commission issued a statement blaming both Arabs and Jews for the June 30—July 2 shooting across the no-man's land dividing Jerusalem.

The commission is scheduled to continue its discussion on that fray today.

Both Egyptian and Israeli sources accused each other of setting off the new skirmish which broke out Saturday night near Egypt accused Israel of armed aggression at the frontier post of Deir Elbalah and demanded an emergency meeting of the armistice group. A detailed charge made in Cairo said besides the six Egyptians killed, four were missing and two wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said one Israeli soldier was killed and two wounded in an Egyptian attack on an Israeli patrol near the Gaza strip.

Commenting on the earlier shooting in Jerusalem in which nine persons were killed and 52 wounded, Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike, Danish chief of the armistice commission, said both Israel and Jordan had violated their cease-fire. But he added it was impossible to tell who fired the first shot.

Iran May Reject Russian Warning

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran is reported preparing to reject a Russian protest against Iranian membership in the Western defense network on grounds it does not menace Soviet security.

Commenting on last week's Soviet note warning that Iran's participation in a Western defense bloc would violate a 27-year-old Iranian-Soviet friendship pact, a highly placed source said last night:

"We have not yet taken part in any bloc which might threaten the security of the Soviet Union, and we do not see any reason why we cannot take part in any kind of regional defense for maintaining our security."

Iran has been mentioned frequently as a prospective member of the Turkey-Pakistan mutual defense alliance.

Ex-Con Quizzed in Rape-Slaying

Tells Police He Was With Man Who Stole 7-Year-Old Girl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami detectives returned Walter Lee Yow here from Georgia for further questioning today about his story that he saw 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts raped and murdered last Tuesday.

Detectives Charles Sapp and I. J. Whitman said the 44-year-old former convict's story was vague and full of discrepancies but consistent enough to warrant bringing him back. He was arrested in Marietta, Ga., Saturday for vagrancy.

Yow told officers he was with the man who stole Judith Ann, daughter of a Baltimore lawyer and labor leader, from her bed in the home of her grandparents.

Sapp said Yow related at first that he saw his companion rape the child, then smash her head with a rock, but later insisted he waited in the car some distance away while the other man took the girl into a wooded area off fashionable Bayshore Drive.

Then Yow declared he made up the story to get out of Georgia and back to Florida because he had been told that Georgia officers would "bash in his head" if he fell into their hands.

* * *

Georgia officers said the paunchy Yow, who described himself as a Cherokee Indian, had a long record of convictions, including assault on a female, and had been in a North Carolina hospital for criminally insane.

Paraguayan President Unopposed in Election

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, commander of Paraguay's armed forces, won hands down in yesterday's presidential election. He was unopposed.

Stroessner, candidate of the Colorado party, Paraguay's only legal political group, takes office Aug. 15 to fill the unexpired term of fellow party member Federico Chaves, whom he toppled in a revolt last May. The term runs until February 1958.

Guatemalan Denies Arms Connection

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert F. Julian, a Negro aviator whose passport was taken away last month, flew to London by commercial plane yesterday with a new passport.

The old one was lifted June 17 when he arrived from Europe. He has claimed he is purchasing agent for Guatemala and the move was apparently connected with shipment of arms from Poland to Guatemala.

The 56-year-old flier denied he had anything to do with the arms shipment. He said he was cleared for travel by the State Department last Friday.

Here's the Most Successful Idea Ever Devised for protection against hospital-medical bills!

Non-profit BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD provide the best, low-cost protection against hospital-medical bills obtainable in Michigan. And that's why over 3,000,000 Michigan people have it!

WITH ONE IN EVERY THREE families facing a hospital bill each year, it isn't surprising that almost half the people in Michigan should protect themselves with Blue Cross.

Because people with Blue Cross are free of this big worry: wondering whether their protection will cover them on the really big hospital bills! (And, unfortunately, you can't tell ahead of time just how big the bill will be!)

But size of the hospital bill makes no difference if you have Blue Cross. Because with Blue Cross, you get not limited cash to buy hospital services . . . you get the services themselves! The bed and board, drugs and medicines, operating room, and all other basic hospital services!

Non-profit Blue Cross is the only hospital service plan officially approved by the American Hospital Association. Chances are, your neighbor has Blue Cross. Why not ask him about it . . . and see if he doesn't agree that there is no finer protection at any price.

Hospital Service Protection . . . the Blue Cross Way

The primary aim of Blue Cross is to provide you with the hospital services you need . . . not just dollars. All you do, when you have to go to a hospital, is present your Blue Cross - Blue Shield identification card . . . and all the basic hospital services you need are yours automatically! Furthermore, you and every enrolled member in your family enjoy equal protection . . . at over 200 Blue Cross participating hospitals in Michigan alone (with 99% of the general hospital beds in the state!).

Doctor Bill Protection . . . the Blue Shield Way

Seldom can you have a hospital bill without having a doctor bill, too. Be on the safe side by asking your doctor ahead of time how much he will charge you. Be safer yet with protection against doctor bills . . . and here is where Blue Shield comes in.

Blue Shield offers two basic plans—one, a straight surgical plan, the other, a medical-surgical plan. Under either plan, Blue Shield pays generous, specific amounts directly to your doctor for thousands of surgical procedures, including maternity care. And in non-surgical cases, under the medical-surgical plan, Blue Shield also pays liberal amounts for your doctor's visits to you in the hospital. Often the doctor's full bill is covered.

The Cost Is Low

For only pennies per day, Blue Cross - Blue Shield provide you with the finest protection against hospital and medical bills it is possible to obtain in Michigan. To keep cost low, Blue Cross - Blue Shield do not pay for purely diagnostic procedures, including physical examinations—or for procedures which can be done properly in a doctor's office. You, too, can help keep cost low . . . by using Blue Cross - Blue Shield only when necessary.

There's No Red Tape

Blue Cross - Blue Shield never require a health statement. And, when you have to use Blue Cross - Blue Shield, all you do is present your Identification Card to your hospital and doctor. Blue Cross - Blue Shield pay them directly. No claims to make . . . no long waits for payment.

How to Get Blue Cross - Blue Shield

Ask your employer or your union representative how you can get low-cost Group Enrollment. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group. Small groups can have just as much protection as large groups . . . and at the same low cost. Check your Farm Bureau or Grange. Write or phone your nearest Blue Cross - Blue Shield office.

Your ticket to worry-free recovery. Remember . . . chances are one in three that your family may need protection this year!

Bob Considine Says:

Giants' Fans Unmoved by Story of Antiproton

NEW YORK (INS)—The passing show—New York Giant fans were wholly unimpressed by the stunning word from Seattle, where the American Physical Society just met.

Scientists there were told that a hitherto unknown atomic particle, speeding in from outer space with an energy of 10 million billion volts, had been captured on film lifted 100,000 feet in the air by a Navy test balloon.

Nothing like it had ever been recorded, the awed room learned from Dr. Marcel Schein of the University of Chicago. By comparison, a splitting uranium atom in an A-bomb generates a mere 200 million volts. Nobody could estimate how many volts the visitor from outer space had in its submicroscopic muscles when it began its long journey to the gelatinous ocean of air in which this world is encased.

From his strange exile at Princeton, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer said of the atomic particle that it is the "puzzler" he has spoken about in recent months. Associates in the AEC consider Oppy's strange relationship with known Communists and the lies he freely admits telling security officers much more of a puzzler than the invader from outer space. But the doctor wasn't thinking about that when he used the word.

"It is trying to tell us something if we could only read and understand it," he said.

Sounds real spooky, doesn't it? But, as we said at the start, it's old stuff for Giants fans. They've captured and taken to their hearts a hot particle from the outer spaces of Fairfield, Ala., name of Willie (for Willie) Mays. When last tested he was developing 11 million volts, and had lifted Giants hopes 200,000 feet high.

One of the earliest memories of my father, who died when I was 10, was his prediction that working men one day would get a $5 minimum wage for a 10-hour day. He was active in the central labor union in Washington, and swore by Sam Gompers.

Wonder what he would have said the other day when the AFL Air Line Pilots Association called a July 15 strike against American Airlines—a strike based primarily on the inability of the latest model commercial airliners to fly from New York to Los Angeles consistently in eight hours?

On the average it takes the DC7 eight hours and 35 minutes to bore its way nonstop across the country. There is a CAB ruling which prohibits a crew from working for more than eight consecutive hours during domestic flights. It was made law in the days of frequent intermittent landings and takeoffs. (The limit is 12 hours for overseas flights, of which American has none.) The DC7 flight from the coast to New York is an hour faster, which means crews work 25 minutes less than eight hours.

Pilots fly 10 days a month, have 20 days off. A first pilot's pay is now $160 a working day, or $1,600 a month—$19,000 a year, according to American President C. R. Smith.

This is not to say they deserve more money or better working conditions or that they don't. It is just to wonder how much my old man would have marveled.

Louis Sobol quoted Joe E. Lewis the other day as saying, "Laugh and the world laughs with you; cry and you get on 'Strike It Rich'."

We have a deserving gentleman in the balcony, doctor. He must have the hardest luck in town. John Cabey, 68, saved all of his life. His aim was to buy a home of his own. Last Thursday he went to his bank in New York, and withdrew $3,900 of the $3,940 he had amassed through an eternity of hard work. He was going to plunk it down on the dream house.

One minute and one block later, an unidentified man slugged him, took the $3,900 from his pocket, jumped in a car and sped away.

Eisenhowers to Attend Rite

Plan Return to Capital Right After Funeral for His Sister-in-Law

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (INS)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower are expected at State College tomorrow to attend funeral services for his brother's wife, Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower.

The president's sister - in - law whose husband is head of Pennsylvania State University, died Saturday afternoon of what was described as a blood clot. Mrs. Eisenhower, who would have been 50 next month, had been treated earlier in the week for a virus ailment.

Services will be held at noon in St. Andrews Episcopal Church by Rev. J. B. Shannon and Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger, university chaplain. Burial services will be read by Rev. Shannon at the Center County Memorial Park near State College.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower are scheduled to arrive at State College about 11 a.m. EDT. They will go by plane from Washington to Martinsburg, near Altoona, and motor to State College. Their itinerary calls for them to return to Washington immediately after the services.

Mrs. Eisenhower is survived by her husband and two children, Milton, Jr., 23, and Ruth, 15.

Arlene Nichols Repeats Vows in Auburn Heights

Touring northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Lovett who exchanged their marriage vows Saturday evening in a ceremony performed by the Rev. J. Harvey McCann in Auburn Heights United Presbyterian church.

She is the former Arlene Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols of Robinwood avenue. His parents are the Floyd Lovetts of Homestead drive.

The bride approached the altar for the 7:30 ceremony wearing a white waltz - length gown of Chantilly lace styled with matching jacket. A Juliet cap held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid on a prayerbook.

Darlene Nichols was her sister's maid of honor wearing a waltz-length gown of pale green tulle over taffeta and carrying a cascade bouquet of yellow glamellias.

Mrs. John Sawyer Jr., sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Kenneth Titherage of Holly were other attendants wearing similar gowns of yellow tulle over taffeta and carrying cascade bouquets of lavender glamellias.

Dale Lovett of Auburn Heights served as his brother's best man and Donald Lovett, another brother of the bridegroom, and Edward Gibbs of Auburn Heights seated the guests.

Mrs. Gibbs presided at the organ during the ceremony.

The bride's mother wore a street - length dress of blue trimmed with lace and a corsage of red rosebuds and white carnations. Mrs. Lovett chose a dress of pink lace over taffeta and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

Following a reception in the church parlors, the bride changed to a light blue linen suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet for the wedding trip.

Plastic bags, large and small, will be helpful during your vacation travel and handy for home use, too. One yard of plastic will make any number of small bags. Simply cut plastic in sizes you want and fuse edges together with an iron—no stitching necessary.

Wrinkles Hang Out of Wool Garb

Few Simple Rules Will Make Travel Much Easier

A few simple measures will help travelers make a better appearance during their vacations with a minimum of care. The Wool Bureau suggests these steps:

(1) Unpack promptly and hang clothes to air, with closet door open for the first night. If wool clothing is wrinkled, place it on a hanger over a bathtub full of hot water to relax back into shape.

(2) Brush clothing after wearing. Dust and dirt may cause it to wear out prematurely, for it actually cuts into the fibers. (A firm brush is recommended.)

(3) Use a good hanger. Don't cram clothing tightly into closet. To keep the trim lines of fine tailoring, make certain clothes are placed on the hanger squarely, and avoid overloading pockets with heavy objects.

(4) A day's rest helps revive clothing. Wool's great resilience enables neatly tailored clothing to regain its shape perfectly after long wear and repeated stretching. The wrinkles accumulated in day of hard wear will hang out naturally if the garment is given a rest.

(5) Remove spots from clothing immediately, either by sending it to a cleaner or by using a reputable spot remover. Remember, no fabric can be dry cleaned more easily than wool, for the established processes of dry cleaner were developed for use in handling wool.

(6) If sudden rain or splashing wets wool clothing, allow it to dry naturally, away from heat.

The trend to lighter weights in summer fabrics makes it possible for travelers to carry a minimum of luggage and still be well-equipped for every occasion.

The wool clothing which they carry with them is designed to give long wear and maintain lasting good looks. The unmatched insulating powers of wool — which make it ideal for both cool and warm weather wear — enable it to provide outstanding comfort in all vacation climates.

Wool sportswear, unequaled for absorbency, assures comfort in a wide range of temperatures. Renowned for warmth, it is also perfect for hot weather wear—for it never feels clammy or sticky when dampened with body moisture.

From lightweight wool jersey sports shirts to warm tennis sweaters, time-tested wool clothes hold the promise of unparalleled comfort and enduring good looks.

Put More Thought on Child's Questions

When Baby gets to be five years old, he'll be hopping, skipping and turning somersaults. He'll like to cut, draw and paste pictures, to play in groups and to help mother and father.

He'll be more serious, more dependable and more independent than a four-year-old. His questions, therefore, will deserve thoughtful, honest answers in language he'll understand easily.

Slouchy Costumes Win Approval for Fall Smartness

Editor's note: Fashions for the fall went on review in New York today, the start of a week-long schedule of unveilings before the fashion press of the nation. Here's an expert report on what the new styles will mean to the well-dressed American woman. It will be followed by daily stories in this newspaper until the press preview ends Friday.

NEW YORK (AP)—It's going to be smart to be slouchy next fall, the international fashion press learned today with the opening of the New York wholesale collections of fall styles.

Comfort also is given a large play by American designers, who are introducing the bloused silhouette after a season in which the tight midriff and Princess lines made women suffer for the sake of fashion.

The newest dresses shown by leading designers have an easy, loose look above the belt, retaining the slim skirt for daytime. However, skillful use of pleats and flares has been made in some skirts, allowing room to move while preserving a slender appearance.

* * *

The bloused-back dress showed up in the Paris spring collections but was not generally adopted by American designers until now. It suggests a return to the casual way of dressing that most American women love, and also makes it possible to hide a few extra bulges around the middle.

The tight-midriff Empire line is still present in many collections but a choice is now offered, with the casually comfortable look the newest and therefore the smartest in the lineup.

Suits for fall offer a wide variety of jacket styles, with the slim skirt still decreed for daytime wear and hemlines about the same or occasionally a trifle shorter than those of spring and summer. One leading suit designer shows the longer jacket as the highlight of his collection, but the "Blouson" jacket seems a favorite. This is a bloused effect ending in a belt at the waist, similar to the Eisenhower jacket of World War II. Boxy and barrel-shaped jackets rounded at the top and snugged in around the hipline also are prominent and popular.

* * *

The fur-trimmed suit and even the suit with reversible jacket lined in fur is seen frequently, often as a part of the popular costume suit, which consists of a smart dress covered by a tailored jacket.

The costume is the top favorite in practically every collection, shown either as dress and jacket, dress and matching full-length coat or suit with coordinated blouse. This is the highly versatile breakfast-to-dinner outfit which permits a woman to go from office to cocktail party or dinner perfectly dressed for the occasion when she removes her jacket.

Handsome fabrics make new headlines for fall, with much emphasis on tweeds for any hour. There are tweed dress-and-jacket combinations in which the dress emerges with open neckline and brief sleeves, ready for any after-5 occasion. There are feather-weight silk-and-wool tweeds suitable for both suits and dresses. The combination of satin and tweed is a new note for fall, highly effective and apparently slated for wide acceptance.

* * *

Black and charcoal gray remain tops for basic costumes, but the combination of a sherry brown and black is newer, and the fad color of the season is purple.

The soft black crepe dress, which most women feel is a necessity in any wardrobe, gains new stature this season, and will be seen in quantity in shops across the country. It is done in either silk or rayon, simple, skillfully draped, to be dressed up or down with jewelry and accessories.

The top coat silhouette of the season is the loose, rounded line which is drawn in slightly at the hemline, in something resembling a barrel shape. This usually is a few inches shorter than the skirt hemline.

There is a rounded, smooth look to both suits and coats this season. Shoulders are natural, and the dropped shoulder line is important. Garments are loose above the waist, drawn in below either at hipline or hemline.

Necklines take a dramatic play, with big collars on coats and suits, open decolletages on dresses. The sailor collar is shown in many versions on coats, suits and occasionally on dresses.

Biggest news for the college crowd is the Bermuda skirt, a knee length affair worn over Bermuda shorts, with long knee-length socks. This is done in plaid pleated kilt version as well as in circular cut tweeds, open in front to reveal the shorts beneath.

Even hats follow the casual line in the early collections, with the slouch-brim felt leading the field and the flapper cloche a close runner-up.

Bateau necklines . . . important in fall and winter 1954-55 New York collections.

Peekaboo detail . . . sponsored by New York designers for fall and winter 1954-1955.

Sash bow . . . recurring in New York collections for fall and winter 1954-55.

Fashion Will Go on Binge of Color, Comfort for Fall

NEW YORK (INS) — Fashion will go on a cuddly, comfortable, colorful, extravagant binge next fall!

More than 150 of this country's leading fashion editors converged in New York today for their annual preview peek at what the leading U. S. designers are dictating women should wear for fall.

Before they started their week of fashion previewing, the editors were advised by the New York Dress Institute—sponsors of the gala "Fashion Press Week"—to watch for the following big new trends in autumn clothes . . .

High collars . . . sponsored by New York designers for fall and winter 1954-55.

1) More color than fashions have known in recent history, with plenty of jeweled greens and blues and reds.

2) Wandering waistlines, with belts everywhere, from just below the bust to over the hip.

3) Much more attention above the waist than below, with excitingly draped bosoms, bloused yokes, broader shoulders and greater collars.

4) Many luxury touches — including heavy beading for evening and fur for both daytime and evening. Fur trims on lace dresses as well as tweed coats.

5) A new look in full skirts, with the flare starting at the thigh or at the knee. Less importance attached to the all-full petticoated look.

6) Big collars which spread flat like small capes, across the shoulders, or which drape and loop like ascots.

7) The most elegant fabrics in U.S. fashion history, with tweed the top choice for daytime and heavy satin the queen of the evening. Sometimes they are combined, because tweed — especially fur-trimmed — is now an evening-wearable too.

Machine-Stitched Layette Made in Little Time

In Grandmother's day, it took months of patient hand-stitching to make a baby's layette.

Today, however, the tiny stitching and dainty details can be done on a modern electric sewing machine, in a fraction of the time it used to take.

Standard patterns are available with detailed instructions for making a complete basic layette consisting of dress, slip, bib, long or short kimona, sleeper, snug slip-over band, straight band, bootees and cap.

Local sewing center experts offer a few tips for layette sewing. They advise that you follow carefully the instructions on the cutting guide enclosed with the pattern.

Where French seams are used, as in the dress, slip, kimona and sleeper, do not cut out the notches, but mark instead with thread.

Be sure to pre-shrink all fabric unless it is labeled shrink-resistant. Use sharp sheers and cut accurately. Transfer all pattern perforations to fabric with chalk, for professional results.

For dress, slip and cap, use a fine cotton batiste or lawn. The tucks on the dress are edged with a tiny blue decorative stitch.

The bib, made of white pique, has a cheery bluebird appliqued front and center. Use cotton flannel or light-weight washable wool-and-cotton flannel for kimona and sleeper, trimming them with satin ribbon.

If you don't know whether to use pink or blue for the layette a happy compromise, now much in vogue, is yellow or pastel green.

WSCS Picnic Held at Watkins Home

The Watkins Lake home of Mrs. Wendell Green was the setting for the Thursday picnic meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sigmund Chmiloski presided at the business session and Mrs. Benjamin Church and Mrs. Fred Manes reported on the summer school of missions held at Adrian College in June. Members of Miriam Circle were hostesses for the day.

Flora Shelly Group Conducts Meeting

Flora Shelly Group of First Presbyterian Church was entertained Friday evening at the Watkins Lake home of Mrs. Allan Monroe.

Assisting the hostess were Florence Day, Jessie Axford and Amy Brackstone. Mrs. Margaret Lehman presided at the meeting and Grace Clark reported on the life of Mexicans in the United States. Mrs. S. E. Minard gave devotions using as her subject, "Abide in Me."

Add Water to Icing

If the icing you've prepared for that special cake becomes much too stiff, don't fret. Add a few drops of hot water, but slowly, using only a drop at a time. Mix carefully, and you're all set to decorate your cake.

Lather, Roll Gloves

Stubborn dirt in washable gloves whisks out easily if you first apply thick soap lather, roll gloves up and let them stand a few minutes before completing the washing process. To dry, smooth out the gloves and hang them over a towel bar, folding thumbs flat against palm.

Mrs. Swanson Hostess

Zonta Club Has Meeting

Mrs. Hildur Swanson was hostess to the Pontiac Zonta Club at her home on Gunn road near Rochester Thursday evening.

Chairman of the dinner was Mrs. Lelia Wilkins assisted by Lola Perkins, Clara Nusbaumer, Mrs. M. A. Calbi and Mary Ellen Wyngarden.

President Mrs. Adrian Ish reported on the international convention held recently in Cincinnati, stating that 49 new clubs have been organized since the convention in 1952.

One of the popular activities in the service field of the group is the assistance in nursing scholarships, which supply an acute need, said Mrs. Ish.

Michigan Day featured a Paul Bunyan theme for the luncheon. An industrial theme highlighted the dinner.

Forthcoming dates include the breakfast honoring new members to be held at Haven Hill July 18. The group will sponsor an evening at Will-O-Way Sept. 8, and the fifth district conference will be held Sept. 24-25 in Lansing.

Start Baby Sipping With Colored Cups

It's not unusual for Baby to start taking sips of water or orang juice from a cup when he is four or five months old. But start offering him juice or water from a cup so that he starts getting used to it.

He may not show much interest at first but you can give him a brightly-colored, unbreakable cup with which to play. Continue to give him water or juice (and sometimes a little milk) in his cup and gradually he'll get used to the idea.

Unsightly Acne Casts Gloom on Teenagers

ITHACA, N. Y. (INS) — There's nothing like a case of acne to give a teenager the blues.

The unsightly pimples that appear on the face and back and shoulders, just when boys and girls are getting appearance-conscious, can make any youngster downhearted.

Specialists at Cornell University admit there's no sure cure for acne, which is most common in the teen years because of more activity in the oil and sweat glands.

But there are some things that can be done for a youngster with acne.

According to the specialists, it helps to keep the skin clean and have good general health.

Since the skin is oily at this time, it's most important to wash the face, neck and shoulders with plenty of soap and warm water and rinse well in cool water.

Diet is important too. Advise your youngsters to go light on candy and rich desserts, but to eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Lots of sleep, outdoor exercise and sunshine is often the answer to a bad case of acne.

If cleanliness and good diet fail to clear it up, take your teenager to a doctor. He may try something that will work quickly and effectively.

In any case, you can assure your youngster that an acne condition will usually clear up by itself after he's reached adulthood.

Light Dessert Just Right for Hot Day

Everyone Will Like Margaret Mitchell's Russian Cream

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Here is a delightful summer dessert that seems to appeal to everyone. Mrs. Margaret Mitchell's Russian Cream is a light gelatin pudding that is just right to end a hot weather meal.

Being a full-time career woman and mother to three children keeps Mrs. Mitchell more than busy. She loves to sew and cook and has collected more recipes than she knows what to do with. Bridge is also a favorite diversion for her.

RUSSIAN CREAM

By Mrs. Margaret Mitchell

1 cup sour cream
1 cup sweet cream
1½ teaspoons gelatin
¾ cup sugar
⅓ cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add sugar to sweet cream and heat until lukewarm. Soften gelatin in cold water 5 minutes and add to first mixture. Stir until dissolved. Remove from heat and cool.

When mixture begins to thicken, fold in the sour cream which has been beaten until smooth. Beat well, add vanilla. Pour into mod. Chill.

Serve with a raspberry sauce made by boiling 1 cup juice from frozen or canned berries with ½ cup berries and ⅓ cup sugar. Boil until the sugar dissolves.

Pals Should Understand and Not Feel Discarded

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

When a girl is crazy about a boy, dates with him are the most important thing in her life. She holds herself in readiness to jump when he beckons. He comes ahead of any dates she makes with her girl friends. He takes precedence over any arrangements her family makes.

A girl in love is a quick-change artist. She can agree to lots of things with lots of people—and suddenly back out—because of the boy friend. Because she can't count on him, the rest of her friends can't count on her.

But since most girls are in the same boat and for the same reason, they ought to understand each other a bit better than they do. Then fusses like this one wouldn't happen.

"Dear Miss Woodward: It all happened one night after a school activity. These two girls had come together and didn't have a way to get home.

"I drove, so I said I'd take them home. They agreed, and just then along came the boy friend of one of the girls. Naturally, she went off with him.

"I wasn't mad about that. It's up to her how she wants to get home. The other girl went with us.

"The thing that bothers me is the girl with the boy friend told us she didn't think much of a person who came with somebody and then went home with somebody else.

"Now she has everyone mad at us! She told them we were mad at her because she didn't ride home with us and added for good measure that we had read a letter she wrote to her boy friend.

"Neither is true, of course, but she has told all our crowd and they won't talk to us. What can we do?".

Try breaking down the icy reserve of each friend, one by one. If you can get them to admit that they took her part without hearing your side of the story, you'll be able to put over your point.

But to get back to the cause of it all. A girl with a boy friend will go to an affair with another girl, but there's always in the back of her mind the hope that her boy friend will turn up to take her home.

To avoid hurt feelings, girls should have such a working agreement in force at all times. Maybe it does look as though she's ditching the girl she went with.

Whether it's fair or not, what girl in such a pinch wouldn't jump at the chance of being with her boy friend—no matter how many girls she scatters in her hurry?

Book Proves Decorating Can Be Done on Budget

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Many women, it seems to me, overlook the fact that, whether they like it or not, and whether they realize it or not, they are interior decorators.

Just as we do the cooking, we do the decorating, although perhaps we don't think of it as such.

Too often, we think of it as just furnishing the place. And if we haven't much money, we figure that ture beauty in our surroundings will just have to wait.

Elizabeth Ogg, however, doesn't believe all that. She believes that every home can be attractive, even if money is terribly scrace.

Her new book, "Decorating on a Budget," does a lot to prove this contention.

Elizabeth Ogg has taught decorating at the YW and at City College in New York, and has worked as consultant for department stores.

Recently, she has been appearing on television, where she kept getting frenzied questions from homemakers who wanted lovely homes, but had no training in interior decoration and not too much in the way of a budget.

To answer the questions which occurred most frequently, Mrs. Ogg wrote this book, and it's a helpful one.

The first chapter is called "Good Taste Has No Price Tag," and that sets the theme of the whole book.

Her practical tips include how to select things with a real future, things that will not have to be discarded eventually; how to finish your furniture yourself; tricks with color; professional—and economical—tricks with curtains and slipcovers, and a wealth of other such practical pointers.

She has a great respect for usefulness as well as beauty, and takes it for granted that the reader has a busy life, does much of her own housework, and probably has active children.

So many of the decorating books do not consider these factors—and show rooms at which any of us with children can only snicker.

If your are disappointed in how your home looks, don't despair and wait patiently until your ship comes in.

Take a look at "Decorating on a Budget," and see what miracles can be accomplished, even without a large outlay of cash.

Faces on Feet Will Tickle

Have you been doing a lot of swimming this summer? Swimming is fun and of course it helps to cool you off.

Perhaps you would like to have a party for some of your friends, and you might like to have a swimming party.

Ask your friends to meet you at the swimming pool and then you can enjoy yourselves. Plan several swimming races and then try this game. Use water paints or show card colors to make faces on the guests' feet. There are some examples of faces in the drawing.

The first face is that of a sour looking man and his "hair" is made from a rolled sock. You can use any number of things to add funny-looking features to your faces. You can even try to make profiles on the feet.

Let the guests number off into partners to work on each other's feet faces, and silly prizes can be given for the best.

Ask mother if you can end your party with serving soft drinks and hot dogs at your house. Everyone will appreciate the food, for swimming gives you an appetite.

Tomorrow: Hollyhock ladies with full skirts.

Man's Idea Would Be Inhospitable

Not Proper to Ask Guests to Furnish Own Linen

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter is from a man who tells me: "My wife and I have a cottage in the country. She spends all summer there and I go up weekends and also spend my vacation there.

"It is a delightful place and we love to have our friends come and stay with us; but as we have no outside help, it means a good deal of extra work for my wife.

"I have suggested to her that she ask our guests to bring their own sheets and towels with them when inviting them to stay with us. This would eliminate the hardest part of the extra laundry work.

"Greatly as my wife is tempted by the idea, she thinks it would be very improper to make such a request. I can't see anything wrong in this, and think it is the least they can do in return for a chance to get out of the hot city. What is your opinion of this?"

Answer: I am sorry not to be able to second your idea, but in my opinion, it would be quite as lacking in hospitality as it would to ask them to bring their own food.

Dear Mrs. Post: Several weeks ago a friend of mine had a baby. When I went to the hospital to see her I took a little something for the baby.

I have just received an invitation to the christening and I would like to know if it is necessary to take another present to the party?

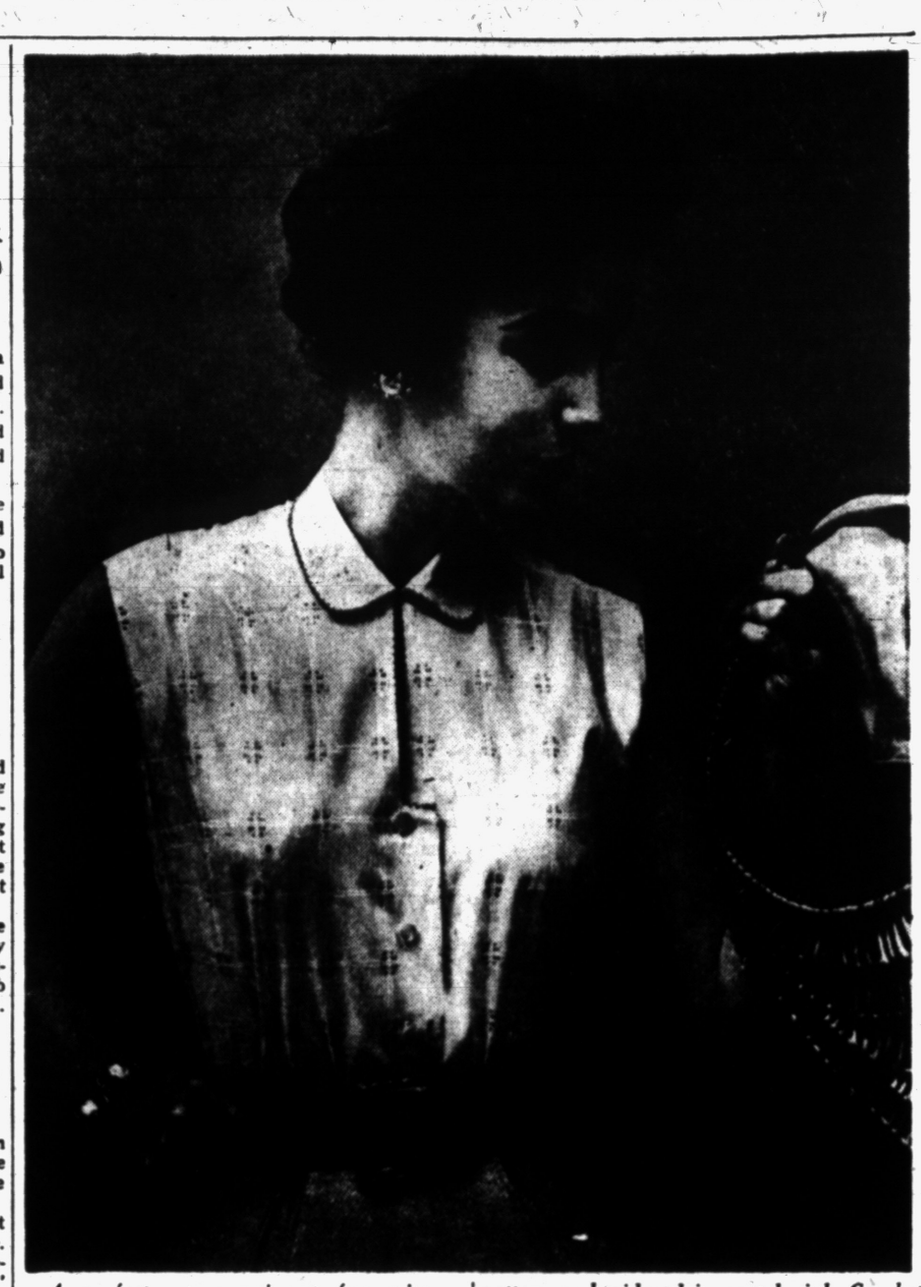
Answer: One present is all that one friend is ever expected to give. Of course, if your "little something" was a "little-nothing-at-all" then it would be very pleasing to take another "little something" with you.

Dear Mrs. Post: When open salt-cellars are used, is it proper to take the salt from these with the fingers, or should one of the table implements be used?

Answer: If it is an individual salt cellar intended for your use alone, you may use your fingers.

But if it is to be shared, then you must use its own spoon—or if there is none, you use any clean implement at your place.

In the good old days women married men for their money instead of divorcing them for it.



A perfect accompaniment for suits or starchy cotton skirts is this white woven gingham blouse with a tiny all-over dotted pattern embroidered in pastel pink. Crochet edging of the same pink trims the collar and neckline.

Children Quick to Sense Preoccupation of Parents

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

As the parent of two children, Brad's attractive young mother is performing many actions this morning. While she acts, however, her mind is elsewhere.

As she feeds the baby, her mind is considering tomorrow's plan to get to a downtown stocking sale.

As she hangs out the sheets, she worries at yesterday's failure to remind her husband that his insurance payment is due again.

As she scrapes the lunch carrots, she is recalling the look of her sister-in-law's expensive new permanent—a recollection that immediately arouses other memories of this relative's ability to flaunt advantages that she can't afford.

Brad interrupts his mother's mind. He rushes past her into the yard, leaving the screen door open. She calls, "Come back and close the door behind you!"

When he does not obey, she thinks with mounting irritation, "Honestly, that child is absolutely unmanageable!"

Actually, of course, it is herself that Brad's mother cannot manage.

That unmanageable mind of hers veers so constantly between what has already happened and what has not yet happened that she cannot attend to what is happening now.

As a result of her disinterest in the open screen door, Brad is bored by it, too. He ignores her request to shut it because he knows that her mind is not in the words she has spoken to him.

Children are fast at sensing preoccupation in us. Often what we define as "disobedience" or "defiance" in them is their disinterest in the commands we speak mechanically and with our minds on other things.

They place on what we say the exact value we place on what we say. If what we say is not important enough for us to keep our minds on it, they feel entitled to forget it, too.

Next time we want Brad to shut the screen door behind him, try pin-pointing that zooming, unruddered mind of ours to the moment's reality. Let's put down our knife and carrot. Let's walk to the door and call our small one.

When he comes, let's speak slowly and clearly. Let's say to Brad, "I asked you to close the screen door. Let's try once more. Go out again; only this time shut the door behind you."

Then let's wait by the door until this is done.

It will be very foolish of us to repeat our request to Brad with irritation. That would mean we had missed the entire point of our problem. It is our own discipline that we are demonstrating.

We are not controlling Brad, but our own tendency to lose ourselves in the unreality of the past and the tomorrow.

For Younger-Looking Room

Make Background Simple

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Too much decoration is as often the trouble as not enough. Especially if the problem is to make a room look younger and more in the spirit of today, some of its extra colors and patterns and competing details must go.

The most good can be done by simplifying the background. Only if you've seen a busy patterned wall and off-color woodwork subdued by a change to a single good color can you realize what an amazing change this one move makes.

The idea is particularly good where the woodwork is none too handsome. Strong contrast with the walls shows up unattractive details, but they fade into a one-color background.

It's possible that the simplified background is the only real change the room needs.

Furniture and accessories may not seem too complicated when the walls and woodwork no longer bid for attention against the rest of the room.

* * *

Mrs. C. K. "What color do you suggest for the walls of a bedroom which has antique ivory furniture?"

What sort of room do you want it to be? It can be a delicately feminine room in shell pink, a pale melon shade, a light hyacinth blue, soft turquoise or celadon green.

Or it may need stronger colors which are more appropriate to the shared bedroom, medium gray-blue, olive, terra cotta, gold with touches of black added.

Mrs. T. Y. "When our first baby came, we went all out for a fancy pink and blue nursery. The baby now is a sturdy little boy of 5 and his room needs plenty of changing.

"Of course, the walls must be re-papered and the white furniture should be painted. The youth bed is maple. Will you please make suggestions?"

The furniture might be painted brick red and the wallpaper chosen to repeat this color in small amounts. Avoid a paper that has a playful pattern that he'll outgrow as he did the nursery paper.

A texture or small all-over pattern takes wear but allows you to change the room easily with pictures and accessories, and his toys and play equipment should be counted on in the decoration of the room.

They'll furnish color and interest against a fairly simple background which won't grow tiresome.

Unclaimed Plane Mystifies 'Law' and Aero Board

ROCKY MOUNT, Va. (UP) — There's an airplane on Mrs. Mary Law's farm property here and Mrs. Law sure does wish its owner would come and take it somewhere else.

Trouble is, Mrs. Law doesn't know who owns it. Neither does the Civil Aeronautics Administration, which has investigated.

The plane has been in a field on Mrs. Law's farm since early Friday afternoon, when it made a forced landing, flipped over and was damaged. A man, a woman and a child stepped unhurt from the craft. The man told Mrs. Law he was going to nearby Martinsville to see what could be done about moving the plane. He and the two others left.

Mrs. Law hasn't seen him since. Three men came to the farm Friday night to "look over the situation," Mrs. Laws says, but they left and have not returned. Meantime, the CAA has run up a blind alley trying to identify the plane and its pilot.

Mrs. Law doesn't care who owns it, though. She just wants somebody to come and take it away.

Chance Reunites Couple but Both Are Remarried

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (UP)—The soldier was telling of his rodeo experiences when a startled expression came over his face and he blurted out:

"It can't be true—it's my first wife."

A pause, then:

"My gosh! baby, I've searched all over the country for you."

And that's how a slim attractive proofreader and the husband she had believed dead five years were reunited last night in the newsroom of the Newport News Daily Press, where the soldier was being interviewed.

* * *

The two, Mrs. Wayne Ferguson and Donald Eugene (Tex) Tinkle, had given up hope of ever seeing each other again and both since had remarried.

Mrs. Ferguson, 24, believed Tinkle was killed in a rodeo accident in 1949 at Camden, N.J. Tinkle, 25, now a soldier at nearby Ft. Eustis, obtained a divorce in Nevada in 1951 on grounds of desertion after two years of fruitlessly searching for her.

The two were separated in Roanoke, Va., in 1949 shortly after their daughter—who'll be 5 years old Monday—was born and Tinkle suffered a serious leg and ankle injury in a rodeo accident. Tinkle left his wife—then a trick rider—in Roanoke and went to Camden with the show.

* * *

"A few days after he left, I received a wire from Camden saying he had been killed in a bad rodeo accident," Mrs. Ferguson said. "He had been injured so badly so many times. . . .I accepted it without question."

She remarried—an Air Force sergeant stationed at Langley Air Force Base—in 1951. They now have two children.

Another couple, not knowing Tinkle was married, took him in their trailer with the rodeo to Nova Scotia after the Camden mishap. He said there were blank spots in his memory but about six months later he began to remember his past and returned to Roanoke to search for his wife.

* * *

Tinkle remarried last year and was drafted in November. His second wife is with him at Ft. Eustis. Mrs. Ferguson lives with her husband at nearby Warwick.

The two couples spent the evening together reminiscing and comparing notes of the last five years. Said Mrs. Ferguson:

"It's wonderful to see Tex again but we've both grown up and we've both taken up different ways of life. We wouldn't be happy going back together again. We're just so happy to see each other—all four of us."

Is Queen Elizabeth Expecting 3rd Child?

LONDON (UP) — Buckingham Palace maintained its customary silence today on a New York newspaper report Queen Elizabeth II is expecting her third child. Court sources said so far as they know, the report is unfounded.

The sources commented the Queen has not canceled future engagements. Such cancellations would be an almost sure sign the monarch is expecting.

British newspapers said scant attention to the report in the New York Daily News.

The Daily News in a copyrighted story from London last night quoted "Buckingham Palace sources" as saying Elizabeth is expecting early next year. The news added that "only last week two additional doctors were appointed to the palace staff."

Twin Succumbs After Operation

New York Baby Boy Joined to Undeveloped Withered Infant

LONG BEACH, N. Y. (UP) — A baby boy, separated from his undeveloped Siamese twin in an attempt to save his life, died today about 12 hours after the emergency operation.

A hospital spokesman said an autopsy was planned for later in the day to determine the cause of death.

Efforts to save the life of the 8-pound, 15-ounce baby at Long Beach Memorial Hospital were reported by Hospital Administrator William A. Kozma.

The child was attached at the breast bone to a withered, undeveloped twin. Kozma said no vital organ appeared to link the two and only a small blood vessel joined their circulation systems. The undeveloped twin weighed less than a pound, he said.

The twins were born in a normal delivery late Saturday night to Mrs. Julia Seitz, 25, of Cederhurst, Long Island, Kozma said. About 16 hours later the delicate operation was started.

Kozma said the staff had been able to find only one other similar case in medical history.

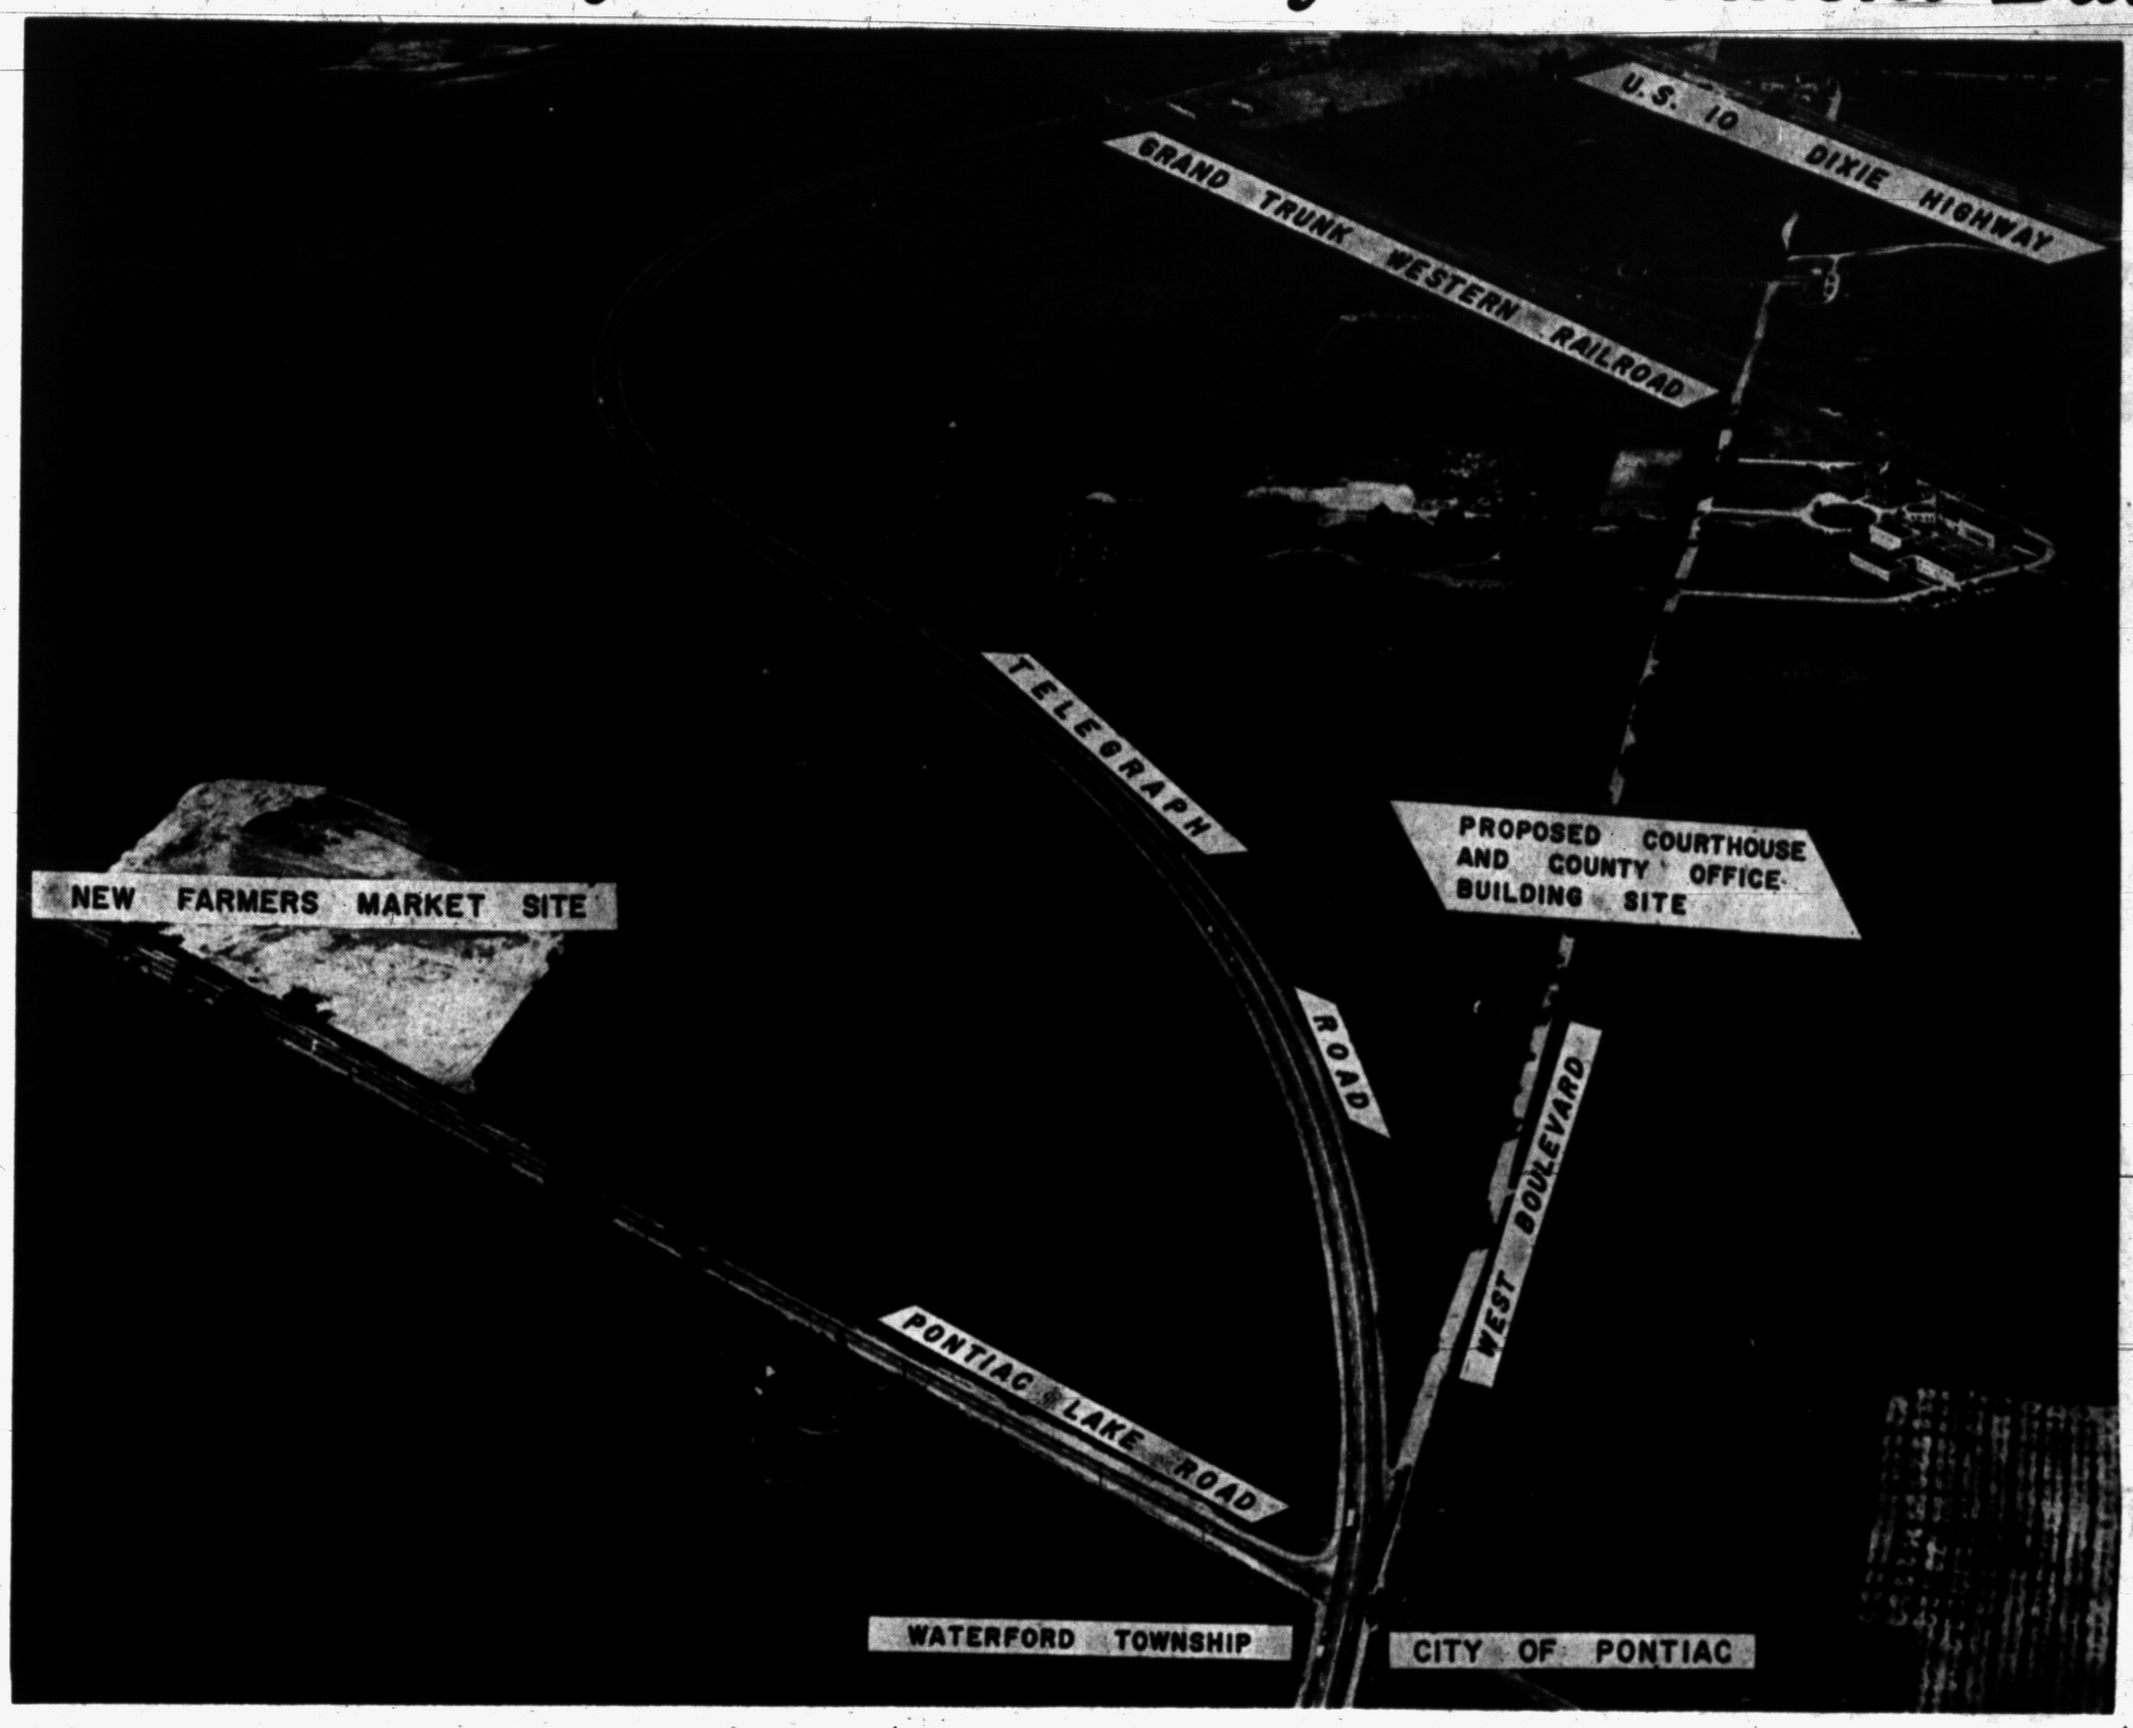
'Center' May House County Government Buildings



NEW COURTHOUSE SITE — Oakland County Board of Supervisors will ask voters Aug. 3 for a $4,500,000 bond issue to build a new courthouse-office building-health department at this "service center" at Telegraph Road and West Boulevard. Voters will be asked to pass a 20-year half-mill tax (50 cents a year on each $1,000 worth of property as valued by the county) to pay off bonds. The August election will climax supervisors' nine-year drive to pull far-flung county offices together at the service center on Pontiac's western edge. Already there are the children's home, infirmary, welfare offices, contagious hospital and county storehouse. The new farmers' market there is now under construction.

Most Institutions Located There

Vote in Aug. 3 Election Will Decide on New County Courthouse

Oakland County government is trying to pull itself together.

The county, which has buildings in half-a-dozen spots around Pontiac, wants to bring its offices together at the "county service center" along Pontiac's western city limits.

The land is there — 324 acres of it — along Telegraph and Pontiac Lake roads and West Boulevard.

The county welfare offices, children's home, infirmary, contagious hospital, heating plant and storehouse for clothes, food and bedding for the institutions are already there.

The new farmers' market, a $78,734 project with room for 72 farmers to sell produce, is being built there now.

Oakland County Road Commission, whose trucks, snowplows and graders now battle heavy traffic at 550 S. Telegraph Rd., has been given a site there and hopes to move soon.

The 87-man Oakland County Board of Supervisors has staked its hopes for a new courthouse-office building-health department at the "center" on the Aug. 3 election. Voters will be asked for a $4,500,000 bond issue to build the new headquarters and a 20-year half-mill tax (50 cents on each $1,000 worth of property as valued by the county) to pay off the bonds.

The county would sell its courthouse and health department at Saginaw and Huron streets and the office building at Lafayette and Saginaw streets to help pay costs.

John C. Austin, vice chairman of the county board of auditors — and a three-man board that runs the county between Supervisors' meetings — says the move would make county government much more efficient.

"We have to have extra help to do all the running around between our offices," he said. "People are always going back and forth with files, records, letters, problems — it takes time." Austin thinks having all county offices in one spot would also be much handier for citizens, who would visit several offices in one trip.

The service center got its start in 1866, when the county paid $6,000 for 100 acres of land on West Boulevard and built the first county infirmary to care for sick people who couldn't afford outside medical care. Three years later, supervisors picked up another 35-acre hunk of land for $2,500.

The first infirmary burned in 1918. In the 1920's, supervisors built another infirmary, the children's home, contagious hospital and storehouse.

The cement block plant and dormitory, where ex-husbands behind in their alimony payments used to pay off the money they owed their divorced wives by making and selling cement blocks, was built in 1928. This plant was closed down in the 1940's to make room for the central heating plant. The dormitory was remodeled into welfare commission offices.

In 1945, supervisors adopted a master plan for the "service center" drawn by Leo J. Heenan. It was then that the county's thinking crystallized — the center would be the site for all future buildings.

Supervisors, who had been thinking about a new courthouse since 1924, tackled the problem again in 1951. Pontiac City and county officials talked of building a combined city hall and county courthouse — but they couldn't agree on a site. The county didn't want to keep its offices in downtown Pontiac. Pontiac didn't want to move city offices to the city's outskirts.

In 1952, the county decided to hold to its master plan and named its service center as the site for any new courthouse-office building.

Supervisors added 130 acres of land to the center in 1952, for $112,150. Last fall they bought 55 acres more for $44,550. The board rounded off the "center" recently when it agreed to buy a four-acre triangle of land on Grand Trunk railroad for $1,000. This gives the county frontage along the whole section of railroad running through the service center.

Administration Sure U. N. Won't Admit Red China

Editor's Note: Much alarm has been voiced by congressional leaders recently over the possibility of Red China being admitted to the United Nations. The following dispatch gives the Eisenhower Administration's view of the problem. A companion dispatch tomorrow will explain how the U. S. stand differs from that of some European countries.

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Administration leaders are not nearly as disturbed as some congressmen about the prospect that other countries will try to seat Red China in the United Nations this fall.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles oppose admission of the Peiping regime as vigorously as anyone. But they are very confident that it can be forestalled at least for the rest of this year, and perhaps longer.

That is why the administration sees no need to take a public stand just now on proposals by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and other congressmen that this country withdraw from the world organization if Red China is admitted.

At news conferences last week, both Mr. Eisenhower and Dulles made it clear they are unsympathetic to the idea of pulling out of the U. N. But they sidestepped a direct repudiation of Knowland's proposal by emphasizing that they just don't think the problem will arise any time soon.

Dulles said he had the highest confidence that Red China will not gain a seat in the U. N. or any of its agencies in the foreseeable future.

Diplomatic officials cite two reasons for this optimistic view:

1. The United States could singlehandedly block Red China's entry to the U. N. security council by casting the veto it holds in that body. Dulles said flatly this would be done if necessary — even thought it would mean abandoning the longtime U. S. position that admission of U. N. members is a "procedural" matter not subject to the veto. Russia has never accepted this view, anyway, and has vetoed numerous applicants.

2. In other U. N. bodies, where the veto does not apply, the question of substituting Red Chinese for Nationalist Chinese delegates has come up more than 150 times since January, 1950, and the Communists have never yet come close to mustering even a simple majority vote for their side.

Article 18 of the U. N. charter requires a two-thirds vote of the General Assembly to decide an "important question" and specifically lists admission of members as such a question.

With the support of Latin American countries and some of the strongest anti-Communist nations of other hemispheres, the United States is confident that it can prevent Red China from mustering a two-thirds favorable vote at this fall's assembly session — even if Britain, France, and some other European countries should support the Red bid.

Although diplomatic officials don't think Red China has a ghost of a chance of gaining a U. N. seat this year, they are not quite so confident about 1955 and after. Red China's international prestige has been rising in recent months. A truce in Indochina, however unacceptable to this country, would be sure to raise that prestige further.

The first big vote on seating the Chinese Reds was recorded in the United Nations General Assembly in the fall of 1950. India introduced a resolution to seat the Chinese Communists and to recommend that other U. N. bodies do likewise. It was turned down — 33 against to 16 for with 10 nations refusing to vote either way.

The vote increased in opposition to Red China in 1951 and 1952 while the Peiping Communists were fighting the United Nations in Korea.

On Sept. 15, 1953, Dulles personally led the fight against admitting the Peiping regime.

"I move that the General Assembly postpone for . . . the current year the consideration of any proposals to unseat the representatives of the national government of the Republic of China or to send representatives of the so-called Central Peoples' Government to represent the Republic of China," Dulles said.

Dulles then noted that the Reds were aggressors in Korea and had not shown genuine evidence of wanting to make peace. He said the fact that the proposal dealt with 1953 should not be interpreted to mean that United States opposition would change.

The Assembly supported Dulles — 44 nations for, 10 against, and two abstentions. Later, the Assembly decided 35-11-11 against voting on a Soviet resolution to seat the Chinese Reds. Finally, the Soviets objected to the credentials of the Chinese Nationalists. This was ruled out of order and the decision was not challenged.

Action on Anti-Subversive Bills Pushed by Ike During Congress' Last 3 Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress heads today into the scheduled final three weeks of its 1954 session with President Eisenhower reportedly prodding for stepped-up action on his program of anti-subversive measures.

Republican leaders are aiming for a July 31 adjournment. Signs are that if they don't make it, they shouldn't miss by more than a week or two.

* * *

One of the fields where action has lagged is in the President's suggestions for legislation to deal with domestic subversives. Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Commitete, said in an interview yesterday Eisenhower applied some heat at last week's conference with Capitol Hill leaders to get their bills moving.

* * *

No major bill in the field has been approved by both branches of Congress. The Senate last year approved a measure to give immunity from federal prosecution to some witnesses in exchange for their testimony. The House this year approved use of wiretap information as court evidence in national security cases.

Neither of these bills is in the form the administration asked. The House has also okayed bills to provide the death penalty for spying in peacetime and broaden the espionage and sabotage laws, and to increase penalties for harboring fuitives from justice.

* * *

There has been committee or subcommittee action on bills aimed at penalizing "Communist-infiltrated" organizations and giving the President authority in an emergency to bar suspected spies and Communists from defense plants.

* * *

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hoped to complete action today on a foreign aid authorization of about $3,100,000,000 into which it has tentatively written provisions (1) putting Congress on record again as opposing Red China's entry into the United Nations and (2) shutting off arms aid to France and Italy unless they approve a proposed European defense army or an acceptable alternative.

Moscow and Peiping Conflict on Who's Boss

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Moscow seems to be muscling in on the Chinese Communists in Indonesia. Once again there is a hint of conflict of authority in Asia between Moscow and Peiping.

Last week's appointment of a Soviet ambassador to Indonesia spells trouble for that politically disorganized country of 70 million people. But it also recalls previous indications of conflict over spheres of influence—for example in the Communist parties of India, Japan and Korea—between the Russians and their Chinese allies.

* * *

With Viet Nam in Indochina virtually in the Red pocket, advancing an encirclement of the Asian mainland, Indonesia becomes a key country in Communist planning.

* * *

Western observers there have been waiting eight months for announcement that the U. S. S. R. would open an embassy in Jakarta. When it came, some of them assured me recently, it would confirm suspicions that the Russians and Chinese disagreed on how Communist revolution should develop in the Indies, whose politics have been in a chaotic state much of the time since they won sovereignty from Holland in 1949.

* * *

The Russians never had an embassy in Jakarta. Four years ago Indonesia took up the matter with Moscow. Nothing was done. But six months ago — after beginnings of an Indonesian party purge — the Russians agreed on an exchange of ambassadors. The Indonesians named one. The Russians did nothing. Then, last week, Moscow appointed Dmitri A. Zhukov, former ambassador to Chile, has been chief of protocol in the Soviet Foreign Ministry. In addition, he is an expert on areas which Communist jargon calls "colonial and dependent." Indonesia is such an area. Despite its independence, the Communists still refer to the coming "liberation" there.

The Chinese Communists have had general charge of Red strategy for the Indies. They have a huge embassy in Jakarta with a staff of more than 300. Chinese funds swelled the coffers of the tightly organized Indonesian Communist party.

2 Agriculture Men Aid in Disease Hunt

Two men from the Michigan Department of Agriculture joined a Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department crew today in checking city trees for signs of the Dutch Elm Disease, according to City Forester William Aho.

The state agency is sending men throughout Michigan to aid municipalities in the fight against the shade-tree killer, Aho explained.

Samples will be taken from trees suspected of the infection and owners notified if the disease is found, the forester added.

'Moral Ideology Needed in Asia'

Philippines Official, Indian Editor Speak at Assembly

MACKINAC ISLAND (INS) — A Philippines congressman and an Indian newspaper editor believe Asia needs the ideology of moral re-armament to combat Communism.

Congressman R. T. Lim told the Assembly for Moral Re-armament at Mackinac Island yesterday that democracy without a "dynamic ideology" is ineffective in fighting communism.

Lim appealed for moral re-armament to be brought to the Philippines and predicted that it would be accepted readily.

M. V. Kamath, editor of the Bombay Free Press Bulletin, asserted that "Communism goes not where there is poverty, but where there is lack of an ideology."

Kamath expressed gratitude for American generosity toward India but added that the United States has failed to give his country an ideology. He said:

"America is suffering from materialist indigestion and India from philosophical indigestion.

"Both may find the answer in the ideology of moral absolutes—moral re-armament."

An American atomic scientist called for the return to God as the "only hope in an age of absolute weapons" capable of destroying all life on earth.

The physicist, Dr. Robert J. Moon, of the University of Chicago and one of the members of the Manhattan project which developed the atomic bomb, warned the assembly that there was "no military defense" against nuclear weapons.

Campaign to Check Rabies to Begin Soon

KALAMAZOO (UP) — City and county health authorities, alarmed at a recent outbreak of rabies, said today a campaign to check the disease will get under way some time this week.

Thirty additional dog wardens will be appointed to help make a house-to-house county-wide canvass to see that all dogs are licensed and vaccinated.

Two dogs, a horse and a bull contracted rabies in the county during the past two weeks.

That said Board of Supervisors deems it expedient and necessary for the said County to erect a County Building in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, to house the Courts and general county offices (sometimes hereinafter referred to as the "improvement"). That said Board of Supervisors does hereby declare the said improvement to be a permanent improvement, and hereby determines to make the same and to defray the cost thereof by the issuance and sale of Bonds, as hereinafter provided.

2. That said Board of Supervisors does hereby adopt the estimate of Four Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($4,500,000) made by the Special County Building Committee, as the amount needed to pay the cost of said improvement and does hereby determine to finance such cost by the issuance of bonds in the principal sum of Four Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, ($4,500,000). The said Board of Supervisors does hereby determine that the estimated period of usefulness of said improvement is thirty (30) years and upwards.

3. That for the purpose of paying the cost of said improvement, there shall be borrowed on the faith and credit of the County of Oakland, the sum of Four Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, ($4,500,000) and the bonds of the County issued therefor, which bonds shall be sold at not less than par, shall bear interest at not to exceed 3½% per annum payable semi-annually, and shall be payable serially as shall be determined by the County Board of Supervisors, the first maturity to be not more than two (2) years and the last not more than twenty (20) years from the date of issuance; provided, that the said Board of Supervisors shall adopt such supplemental and/or additional resolutions as shall be necessary to effect the issuance and sale of said Bonds, when and if the issuance of said Bonds shall be approved by the electors.

4. That the proposition of the issuance and sale of said bonds shall be submitted to the electors of the County of Oakland, qualified to vote thereon, at a special election to be held on the 3rd day of August, 1954, (the same being a date coincident with county-wide primary election within said County of Oakland) from 7:00 o'clock A. "Shall the County of Oakland, State of Michigan, borrow the sum of Four Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($4,500,000) and issue and sell its full faith and credit bonds therfor, for the purpose of paying the cost of erecting a county building in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, to house the courts and the general county offices, said bonds to bear interest at a rate not to exceed 3½% per annum payable semi-annually and to mature serially as shall be determined by the County Board of Supervisors, the first maturity to be not more than 2 years and the last not more than 20 years from the date of issuance?"

5. That nothing contained in this resolution shall be construed to permit the making of said improvement or the borrowing of said sum of $4,500,000 and the issuing of the bonds of the county therefor, until the foregoing proposition shall have been approved by a majority of the electors of the county, qualified to vote thereon and voting at said special election.

6. That for the purpose of paying the principal and interest on said bonds and providing a reserve therefor, it is necessary that the tax rate limitation in the County of Oakland be increased by ½ of 1 mill for a period of twenty (20) years from 1954 to 1973, both inclusive, and that the proposition of such increase shall be submitted to the electors of the County of Oakland qualified to vote thereon, at said special election, which proposition shall appear upon the ballots in the following form:

"Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed each year against property in the County of Oakland, State of Michigan, for all purposes except taxes for the payment of interest and principal on obligations incurred prior to December 8, 1932, be increased as provided in Section 21 of Article X of the Constitution of Michigan, for a period of 20 years from 1954 to 1973, both inclusive, by 1/20th of 1% (50c per $1,000) of assessed valuation as equalized, for the purpose of paying principal and interest on, and establishing a reserve for, bonds aggregating not to exceed $4,500,000 in principal amount to be issued to pay the cost of erecting a county building in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, to house the courts and the general county offices?"

7. That the County Clerk shall call said special election in accordance with the terms of this resolution and any resolution supplementary thereto.

National Leaguers Favored 8-5 in All-Star Tilt

11th-Hour Pitching Changes by AL Sends Odds Soaring

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two 11th-hour changes in the American League pitching staff have caused the odds on the already favored National League to soar to 8-5 today for tomorrow's annual All-Star Game.

Nobody here could recall when one league ruled such a prohibitive favorite over the other, even during the years when the power-packed American League captured four straight from 1946 through 1949.

Now, on the eve of the 21st clash, the shoe is on the other foot. Not only does the National own a four-game winning streak but it has most of the long-ball hitters.

Until New York's Allie Reynolds and Cleveland's Mike Garcia were declared physically unfit, it appeared the American League's seemingly superior pitching might offset the National's numerous home run hitters.

Reynolds begged off because of a pulled groin muscle and Garcia was excused because of a ruptured blood vessel in a finger. In their places, Manager Casey Stengel chose Sandy Consuegra, crafty Chicago White Sox right-hander, and Irv Noren, currently hot Yankee outfielder. Noren probably will see action only as a pinch hitter.

Both managers — Stengel and rookie Walter Alston — were mum concerning their pitchers but the expected crowd of 65,000 in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium probably was due to see a battle of right-handers — at least during the first three innings.

Based on the starting lineups, which are predominantly right-handed, and by process of elimination, the field narrowed down to Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies and Bob Keegan of the Chicago White Sox as the opposing hurlers. Both will be well rested by Tuesday. Keegan has done no pitching since Friday, nor has Roberts except for a brief mopup job Sunday.

The only other well rested pitchers are the Yankees' Whitey Ford and the New York Giants' Johnny Antonelli. Milwaukee's Jim Wilson, who replaced the injured Harvey Haddix, does not figure to start. Ford and Antonelli are left-handers.

Roberts, although sporting a subpar (for him) 11-8 record this season, is a veteran All-Star competitor. He was the starting pitcher in three of the last four games all winning ones for the National League. Keegan (12-3), a sophomore, is enjoying his first outstanding season in the majors.

• • •

Stengel, the all-winning World Series wonder, who has yet to triumph in four All-Star games as manager, may upset the dope and start Ford against the National League lineup, which is packed with left-handed power as represented by Stan Musial, Duke Snider and Ted Kluszewski. But Ford (7-6) has had a spotty season. Dean Stone of Washington, his only other available southpaw, is strictly a gamble.

• • •

All Stengel's right-handers, with the exception of Keegan, worked either Saturday night or yesterday. Baltimore's Bob Turley, Cleveland's Bob Lemon and the White Sox' Virgil Trucks pitched yesterday. Washington's Bob Porterfield and Consuegra were on the mound Saturday.

5TH INNING ARGUEMENT — Pitcher Bob Lemon (right) of the Cleveland Indians comes charging in from the mound Sunday at Comiskey Park in Chicago to argue a decision with plate umpire Ed Hurley (lower left). Hurley's called 4th ball gave Ron Jackson a walk and sent Lemon to the showers for arguing. Catcher Hal Naragon and manager Al Lopez (head bent) listen in, while Al Rosen (rear) gets bit of expounding by umpire Bill Grieve. Sox won, 8-2, to sweep a double header from the league-leading Tribe.

Buick Squad Loses Ground in 'A' Chase

Handed Fourth Setback in Six Games, 7-4, by CIO Nine

Oliver Buick, which started the City Class A Baseball League season with five victories, yesterday dropped a full game out of 1st place.

Buickmen absorbed their 4th setback in their last six games, 7-4, at the hands of CIO No. 594. Second game of the "A" doubleheader at Wisner Field saw Jerome Olds-Cadillac dump Elks No. 723, 9-3.

Unionmen overcame a 3-2 deficit with two runs in the 4th inning of the 1st game, and never again were behind. Jack Hruska went the route on the mount for the winners, striking out seven, walking three and giving up seven hits.

Ex-St. Michael hurler Zeke Morris scattered six hits as Jerome handed Elks their 10th defeat in 11 starts. Morris fanned 11 and walked four.

Detroit Tigers Unconditionally Release Branca

DETROIT, July 12 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers Sunday unconditionally released Ralph Branca, 28-year-old righthanded pitcher acquired from Brooklyn on waivers a year ago.

• • •

Branca, who gave up the famous home run to Bobby Thomson that enabled the Giants to win a playoff for the 1951 National League pennant, had the same trouble with the Tigers. In 45 1-3 innings this season he had yielded 10 homers. He had won three games and lost three after having a 4-7 record last year.

• • •

His release leaves the Tigers two players under their limit of 26. They have nine pitchers. As a formality, waivers must be secured to complete the release. However, Detroit General Manager Herold (Muddy) Ruel said no American League club has expressed interest in Branca, and baseball men doubt that he would be eligible to join any of the seven other National League teams because his wife's family owns stock in the Dodgers.

Bertoia's First Hit Is Homer to Win for Tigers

Bonus Rookie Provides Victory Margin in 2-1 Triumph Over Orioles

DETROIT (UP) — Reno Bertoia, the 19-year-old bonus rookie from Windsor, Ont., waited a whole year for his first major league hit and when it came it won a game for the Detroit Tigers.

Bertoia, filling in for the injured Frank Bolling at 2nd base, tagged relief pitcher Bob Chakales for a home run in the 4th inning Sunday which provided the Tigers with a 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

However, Bertoia had to share credit for the triumph with Steve Gromek who made an infrequent relief appearance with two on and one out in the 9th. Gromek needed only two pitches to retire the side.

Bertoia collected the 2nd of three hits collected by the Tigers during the game, his home run which landed in the left field upper deck near the 365-foot mark.

Aber retired the first 17 batters to face him before Chakales spoiled his bid for the 1st perfect game in more than 30 years with a solid single to left.

Cal Abrams followed with a double to right and erratic base running by Chakales cost the Orioles a run. He failed to touch 3rd base enroute to home plate and was rushed out when Ray Boone called for the ball and tagged the bag.

Aber gave up a single to Dick Kryhoski in the 7th but Bob Kennedy bounced into a double play. Aber departed in the 8th after Jim Fridley connected for a home run.

Billy Hoeft succeeded Aber and retired three straight batters before Abrams singled with one out in the 9th. Jim Brideweser walked and Hoeft threw three balls and a strike to pinch-hitter Les Moss.

Manager Freddie Hutchinson walked to the mound and called Gromek into action.

Clint Courtney replaced Moss in the batter's box. He fouled off the first pitch and went down swinging on the next one. Abrams and Brideweser were away with the final pitch and Red Wilson's throw to Boone cut down Abrams at third base to end the game.

Tigers, who stretched their lead over 5th place Washington to three full games with the slender victory, will be idle for three days.

Johnson Is Champion

JACKSON (UP) — Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile was Michigan's amateur golf champion today after a dramatic "sudden death" victory over former champion Ed Ervasti of Detroit.

Johnson, a former Michigan State College quarterback, won the title on the 4th extra hole with a par four at the Jackson Country Club Sunday to leave Ervasti in the runner-up spot for the 2nd straight year.

Ervasti, who won the crown in 1947, bowed to Reggie Myles Jr., of Lansing, in the 1953 finals. Myles, now serving as an officer in the Army, was not able to obtain leave time in an effort to keep the title.

The 31-year-old Johnson fought an uphill battle most of the way and never led until the deciding hole.

Ervasti, 40, jumped into a 2-hole lead after seven holes with an even-par performance. But Johnson squared matters with winning pars at the 10th and the 13th.

When Johnson lost the 14th to go one down and the next three holes were halved Ervasti appeared headed for his 2nd championship.

However, Johnson rallied gamely and ran in a 5-foot putt for a birdie three at the 18th. That forced the "sudden death" playoff and the longest final round since 1930.

Johnson and Ervasti matched strokes for three extra holes before the loser hit a tree with his tee shot on the 22nd. He hit another tree with his second and needed a bogey five to finally get down. Johnson played the hole in regulation figures and became the titlist.

To reach the final, Johnson made a spectacular finish in a morning match with Jack Gregory, a post-graduate student at Wayne University.

Johnson was two-up over Gregory after 16 holes and he ended the match with a hole-in-one on the 165-yard 17th as he holed out a No. 6 iron shot for a 3-1 margin.

Ervasti also eliminated his semi-final opponent, Harold Brink of Grand Rapids, on the 17th although his effort was not quite as thrilling. He dropped a 50-foot put for a birdie deuce.

Jewelers Win Twin Bill With Port Huron Clubs

Shaw's Jewelers won their 25th and 26th victories of the season yesterday at Port Huron by defeating Mueller Brass and Twin Acres by identical 3-2 scores in a doubleheader.

Jewelers had to go 12 innings to beat the Twin Acres nine. They collected nine hits to Port Huron's four.

In exhibition play at Beaudette Park in Pontiac, Birmingham Riteway dumped Champagne-Velvet 14-3 and Richardson Dairy of the Waterford League blanked General Motors, 1-0.

Birmingham's Cal Atwood, Willard Walker and Roger Reynolds combined to limit C-V to two hits. Atwood, the starter, was given credit for the victory.

Only run scored in the 2nd game came in the 4th, when Jacobowski singled, advanced on Hagood's sacrifice and came home on Osika's single.

HONOLULU (AP) — Burwell (Bumpy) Jones of Pontiac, Mich. and the University of Michigan set a new world record for the 400-meter individual medley in an international swimming meet last night. Jones did the distance in 5 minutes, 31.7 seconds to better the mark

Paul Christman Will Help Coach Lions

DETROIT (UP) — The Detroit Lions have hired Paul Christman, former quarterback with the Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers, as a part-time coach.

General manager Nick Kerbawy said Christman would join the Lions July 23 when the team opens drills for the 1954 season at Michigan State Normal college.

Christman, 36, led the Cardinals to the 1947 National Football League championship and won All-America honors during his collegiate days at Missouri.

Moguls May Talk of Franchise Changes

By JERRY LISKA

CLEVELAND (AP) — The civic gloom of this Ohio metropolis over four straight losses by the first-place Indians was dispelling today as the major league cast assembled for tomorrow's 21st All-Star game.

The usual baseball business activity surrounding this mid-summer classic reportedly was to be limited to informal discussion on Caribbean play and a possible earlier spring training start.

• • •

Commissioner Ford Frick, stating the moguls and their business sessions have been stealing the spotlight from the All-Star game itself, recently called a full meeting of owners for July 26 at New York.

• • •

This left the impression that maybe another franchise change is in the offing, especially with the Philadelphia A's pleading for civic support and Dallas, Tex., bustling in a projected fund-raising for a possible major league franchise.

At any rate, the pre-game discussions today mainly were to involve luncheon meetings of the two league presidents, Will Harridge of the American and Warren Giles of the National. Each was to meet the eight player representatives of his own league.

Concerning Caribbean play (Cuba, Venezuela, Puerto Rico and Panama), the owners were concerned last winter because some American players reported late for spring training as a result of the Caribbean World Series. On the other hand the players favor more Americans and more games in winter play. The idea: More money.

Later today, all 16 players representatives—one from each club—and their lawyer, J. Norman Lewis of New York, will meet to discuss problems of baseball's hired help.

• • •

Remember?

A rookie when this picture was made in 1936, this American League star was one of the rarities in baseball who combined home run hitting ability with a high average. Though out of baseball, he remains very much in the public eye. His identity will be found on today's final sport page.

Patterson Back in Action on TV

Floyd Favored Over Royer; Troy Tangles With Anthony

By Press Wire Services

Young Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn and Willie Troy of Washington D.C. headline the 2 nationally televised boxing shows tonight.

Patterson, the 6th ranking light-heavyweight contender, is favored at 3-1 to beat Jacques Royer of France in an 8-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

It will be Patterson's 1st start since he dropped a disputed decision to Joey Maxim in June.

Troy's opposition at Brooklyn Eastern Parkway Arena will come from Tony Anthony of New York, a former Golden Gloves champ. Troy is ranked 8th among the world's middleweights, but like Patterson, he lost his last bout. Troy was stopped by Joey Giardello.

Other bouts, not televised, on tonight's schedule send Georgie Araujo against Tony DeMarco in a 10-rounder at Boston, while Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles goes against Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn in another 10-rounder in Los Angeles. Winner of the latter battle may get a shot at Vince Martinez.

DeMarco, a welter, also wants Martinez, while Araujo, 9th rated lightweight is making a comeback towards another title shot.

Texan Likely to Win National Publinx Crown

20 Golfers From Lone Star State Starting in Links Test

DALLAS (AP)—The ponderous National Public Links golf tournament got down to championship business today with no outstanding favorite for the title but with Texas a good bet through sheer weight of numbers.

• • •

This state has 20 contestants and an ex-Texan, Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., on which to pin its hopes. And among the Texas shotmakers eyed most in championship calculations is a big policeman, Andy Sword of Dallas.

Two former champions were in the 200-man field that will be thinned down to 128 today with 72 matches and 56 byes. They are Andy Szwedko of Sharpsburg, Pa., who won in 1939, and Stan Bielat of Yonkers, N.Y., who took the crown in 1950.

Sword, veteran of publinx play, has looked good in tune-up rounds and team play over the Cedar Crest 6,296-yard course. And he has the stamina to last out eight gruelling rounds over a six-day period.

Moreland, who in the thirties while playing out of Dallas won most of the important amateur tournaments, is only a "Saturday golfer" now and says he has played just 32 rounds in the past two years.

• • •

But the railbirds think Big Gus will make a strong bid for the title.

• • •

The field is wide open because the defending champion isn't back. He is Ted Richards of Santa Monica, Calif., who isn't participating this year because he joined a private club, thus making himself ineligible for publinx play.

Seixas Defeats Richardson for Western Crown

INDIANAPOLIS, July 12 (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia took command late in defeating Hamilton Richardson Sunday, 7-5, 3-6, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1, for the men's singles title in the 65th Western tennis tournament.

• • •

Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., took the women's crown in a repeat of last week's Tri-State finals at Cincinnati, defeating Ethel Norton of San Antonio, Tex., 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

The Felix-Norton combination won the women's doubles Saturday, defeating Patty Stewart, Indianapolis, and Ruth Jeffrey, Melrose, Mass., 6-1, 6-4.

Seixas and Bill Talbert of New York teamed to win the men's doubles title, defeating Larsen and Bartzen, 6-1, 2-6, 12-10.

Katlin Wins Land O'Lakes Mid-Season Club Title

Mickey Katlin of Howell, who drives cars for a living as well as a hobby, raced off with the mid-season hard top championship of the Land O'Lakes Racing Association by winning the 50-lap feature at the Pontiac M-59 Speedway Sunday night.

MICKEY KATLIN

Katlin, a test driver at Chrysler's Chelsea track, toured the 50 laps in 18 minutes, 6.31 seconds. He might have set a record for the distance, but the race was halted, then re-started in the 17th lap when George Moore crashed the retaining wall.

Same car with which Katlin won the feature did set a record for the 12-lap Australian pursuit, but was driven in that event by Jack Conley of Brighton. He did the distance in 4 minutes, 1.42 seconds.

Katlin also won the 4-car dash, while Johnny Wallace, the Royal Oak Township dog catcher, won the 25-lap semi-final. Heat winners were Don LeMarbe, Wayne Bennett, Tom Taylor, Chuck Partello and Joy Fair.

Partello also was 2nd in the feature, while Fair was 3rd. A crowd of 2,500 watched the program at the M-59 oval.

Writer Who Watched Babe on Her 1st Competitive Golf Round Calls Winning '54 Open Her Top Effort

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—Just 22 years ago, almost on the dot, Paul Gallico and I arranged a historic golf game.

• • •

It involved a lady. Other accomplices were Westbrook Pegler, Dick Hyland and Braven Dyer. The young lady was a 20-year-old Texas girl by the name of Mildred Babe Didricksen. Paul and I had picked up the Babe at 9 o'clock that morning on the road to the Brentwood Club.

• • •

On the way out, the Babe picked out several buildings where in some fashion she managed to pull down Olympic flags for souvenirs. She had gone up as high as six floors. As far as I can recall it the Babe had not played in a regular match before.

• • •

"I bought about a barrel of old golf balls," she said, "and I hit 'em out with every club. My long game's fair but I'm no good around the greens. I can't chip or putt for I've never done much of either. But I can drive all right."

In that round the Babe's driving was phenomenal. Her long irons were exceptionally good. She was right. She couldn't chip or putt.

She was driving at least 250 yards. I remember one short hole of 190 yards. The men all used four woods. The Babe used a mashie and planted the ball hole high on the carry.

• • •

She didn't score well. That was 22 years ago, back in July, 1932, the day after the Olympic games were over in Los Angeles. I'd hate to try and guess how many championships she has won since.

• • • •

At that time she was a fine runner, jumper, basketball player, boxer, football player, baseball player, tennis player, diver and swimmer. She elected to stick to golf, a game she had just taken up.

I think probably her greatest achievement took place last week when she won the U. S. Women's Open Championship for the 3rd time. She had faced a cancer operation over a year ago, but when she stepped out against the finest golfers in the world and led them by seven strokes with a 72-71 for the first two rounds, I figured that must be tops for the Babe.

AL Flag Race Becoming 'War of Nerves'

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

The American League pennant chase is developing into a war of nerves.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez says he isn't afraid of the Chicago White Sox. . . . Haven't got the pitching to last out the long season. . . . More concerned with the New York Yankees. . . . But the Tribe still has the better club.

* * *

Chicago Manager Paul Richards merely shrugs off last month, when his club went into first place. . . . He expected it all along. . . . The Pale Hose problem is to lick the Yanks, he says.

New York Manager Casey Stengel doesn't have much to say. . . . He's been spending his time looking up at the other two hoping they'd eat each other.

Right now, it appears that Stengel's hopes have been coming true. Last week, the Indians swept the Sox four straight games. Had they been able to do the same in the four-game set that just ended, they might have made a runaway of the race. But the Sox won all four, finishing operations with a 3-0, 8-2 double victory yesterday.

The Yanks, who have been taking advantage of the second-division clubs, won their ninth in row and 12th in their last 14 by slugging the Washington Senators 7-3 to climb within half a game of the Indians. The White Sox are three games back as the chase continues to tighten.

Billy Pierce, back for the White Sox after being sidelined with a sore arm, tossed a two-hitter in the first game shutout yesterday and Virgil Trucks came back in the nightcap to hold the Tribe to five hits.

* * *

Except for the seventh inning, when Bob Grim loaded the bases with none out, the Yanks had no particular problems with the Senators. Johnny Sain came in to rescue the youngster, who got credit for his 10th success.

* * *

In other American League action, Detroit whipped Baltimore 2-1 and the Boston Red Sox won a doubleheader from the Philadelphia A's 18-0 and 11-1.

The National League action left the New York Giants still 5½ games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Giants thumped Pittsburgh 13-7 in the first game of a double-header, but dropped the second 5-1. Brooklyn edged Philadelphia 8-7 in the first game of a twin bill but lost the second 3-1.

Cincinnati and Milwaukee split a double-header, the Redlegs taking the first 6-5 and the Braves winning the second by an identical 6-5 count. St. Louis nipped Chicago 4-3 in the other National League game.

The Red Sox moved into sixth place from the American League cellar by virtue of their double triumph over the A's. They had 40 hits, including four by Ted Williams, who now is batting .367.

The A's lost Gus Zernial, probably for the season, when the big outfielder slipped and broke his left collarbone while attempting to field a line drive in the ninth inning of the first game. Tom Brewer and Frank Sullivan were the winning pitchers.

The Giants massacred the Pirates on six home runs—including No. 31 by Willie Mays—in the first game. But in the second, Dick Littlefield who rarely could get American League batters out during his tenure with St. Louis, Detroit, Boston and Chicago, snuffed them. The game was close until the Pirates broke it open with three runs in the eighth. Jim Hearn was the victim.

* * *

The Dodgers had their troubles with the Phils. They dissipated a six-run bulge in the first game and finally had to win it in the eighth on doubles by Billy Cox and Junior Gilliam.

The second game was tied at 1-1 going into the seventh inning. Del Ennis hit a home run off Don Newcombe to break it up.

Jim Command made his first major league hit, a grand slam home run, in the Phils' big eighth inning of the first game. There is nothing in the record books to indicate if any other major league players have hit grand slam homers for their first major league hit.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE—Rookie 3rd baseman Jim Command of the Philadelphia Phillies gets the glad hand treatment from his bench after making his 1st major league hit—a grand slam homer—against the Brooklyn Dodgers in New York Sunday. Command's blow tied the score a 7-7 in the 7th inning of opener of double header which the Dodgers pulled out of the fire, 8-7. Phils won the nightcap, 3-1.

Longshot Wins Michigan Mile

Spur On, With Paul Bailey Riding, Takes $59,950 Event

DETROIT (UP) — Bernard Landy's Spur On, a six-year-old son of Whirlaway, was the Michigan Mile champion today after a thrilling neck victory in the record $59,950 event at the Detroit Race Course.

Under the careful handling of Paul Bailey, the fleet Spur On rushed up from 10th place at the half-mile mark to coast under the wire a neck ahead of fast-closing Precious Stone and claim the biggest jackpot in Michigan's turf history. Winner's share was a whopping $42,925.

Spur On, which was overlooked by most of the 22,813 fans on hand for the 6th running of the Michigan Mile, had to outsprint some of the nation's leading stakes horses.

There was J. H. Woodcock's Epic King, the 3-1 favorite, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast.

Landy shipped Spur On to Detroit from Chicago's Arlington Park for the rich race. He sent Bailey along to do the riding.

As the field of 16 horses paraded postward, the odds board flashed Spur On at 26-1.

Epic King moved up quickly to forge into the lead, but faltered and finished out of the money. But Spur On had to beat off a driving finish by Precious Stone to finish in front. Social Outcast was 3rd.

It seemed Cruickshank could do nothing wrong as he blazed through the 36-hole event at the Kahkwa Country Club course to beat out 83 other pros and amateurs from throughout the country.

There was a four-way tie for second place at 139 between Jimmy Clark of Los Angeles, Toby Lyons of Jamestown, N. Y., Howard DeAngelus of Rochester, N. Y., and Mike Dietz of Detroit. Each won $562. Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kan., finished sixth with 140 and took down $300.

Berkley, Birmingham to Play Off for Tourney Spot

Berkley and Birmingham Reds American Legion baseball teams will play off Wednesday night at Berkley for the 18th District's berth in the Legion zone tournament.

Both teams were winners Sunday as the district's last half season was completed.

Birmingham won the easy way on a forfeit from Huron Valley Boys Club. Berkley, meanwhile, was carried to the last of the 9th to take a 6-5 decision from Clawson.

Clawson, a winner only once in 8 games, held a 5-1 lead in the 8th inning, when Berkley tallied 3 times. Then in the last of the 9th, a walk and singles by pitcher Grant (Skip) Becker and Bob McCaffrey tied the score.

Becker was out stealing, but McCaffrey stole 2nd and continued on the 3rd on a throwing error. He scored the winning run on a passed ball. Dick Bishop was the Berkley hitting star with 2 doubles and 2 singles.

Becker gained his 5th straight pitching win in a relief role. He has worked 47 innings for the Berkley nine this season and has walked only one man. That one was an intentional pass.

'Reds Championing Arabs in Quarrel'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Secretary of State Henry A. Byroade reports Russia is now openly championing the Arabs in their quarrel with Israel so she can get to her "primary goal"—control of the world's richest oil fields.

Byroade cited stepped-up Soviet propaganda and diplomatic moves in telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in testimony made public yesterday, that "there are dangers of losing the Middle East" to communism.

American policy, he said, is to help the Middle Eastern countries maintain their independence and to provide "evenhanded treatment between the two sides."

Britain-Egypt Suez Talks End Without Agreement

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A weekend of intensive British-Egyptian conferences on the Suez Canal issue ended early today apparently without agreement on evacuation of British troops from the canal zone.

Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser conferred for nearly five hours last night with British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson but refused to discuss the negotiations with newsmen.

Judy Holiday Won't Be in 'Sister Eileen'

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella O. Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — You can bet, no matter what immediate denials are made, that Judy Holliday won't make "My Sister Eileen," scheduled as her next after "Pffft" at Columbia.

Just what happened to the deal, announced months ago, is anybody's guess. Nobody's talking.

Judy leaves here July 16 after staying around just long enough to get a look at the rough cut of "Pffft" and she plans to stay in New York indefinitely.

Fact is, the first tip that something was amiss with "Sister Eileen" came from sister Judy herself, who let it slip that she has no intention of returning to meet the starting date on "Eileen."

Barbara Stanwyck would die for her art but, by golly, she isn't going to dye for it. After a lot of publicity that the beautiful silver-tressed missy was going flame-haired for "Cattle Queen of Montana" (Technicolor) I hear she couldn't do it at the last minute. But the wig she wears looks like the hair growing right out of her scalp.

Good looking Lance Fuller is the latest to join Ben Bogeaus' RKO picture cast. He'll play an Indian of 1880, which should come naturally. Lance is of French, English and Indian descent.

Ingrid Bergman, who said she would work for no one but Roberto Rossellini, will do "Napoleon" which Eugene Tourier will produce and direct in France. No Rossellini.

This may mean something or it may just mean that Ingrid's ventures with her husband haven't been too successful financially and she's trying her luck elsewhere.

Ingrid plays Marie Louise and Sacha Guitry and Jean Gabin are in the cast.

The beautiful brunette daughter of Ann and Jack Warner, Barbara, who has more admirers than any young girl in our town, has one that looks more serious than the rest.

Barbara was escorted to the opening of "King Richard and the Crusaders" by Guy Madison. They attended a party later at the Mocambo, and the attention Guy paid her, and the way her eyes sparkled, looked a little serious.

Guy, who is one of the steadiest, finest young men in Hollywood, should be acceptable should this friendship develop into a serious romance.

Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas are back from a two weeks honeymoon which took them to Lake Tahoe, San Francisco and the redwoods by motor.

Later they'll go to Europe — a sort of delayed honeymoon jaunt previously scheduled before they had a big spat and Arlene made the trip alone.

But all this is forgotten in their new found happiness, getting settled in their new Bel Air home and in planning a small party to greet the friends who haven't seen them since they became Mr. and Mrs. in Las Vegas.

Motormen Travel Moon Distance Without Mishap

HIROSHIMA (AP)—Street car motormen in this atom-bombed city have traveled the equivalent distance to Mars — more than 45 million miles — without an accident.

The motormen have not been involved in a mishap for 6½ years.

BRANDO TO BONAPARTE — A far cry from the powerful role of Stanley Kowalski in "Streetcar Named Desire," is the stellar part of Napoleon in the film "Desiree," but Marlon Brando has proved his thespian versatility. The handsome actor, often called the "spoiled boy genius" of Hollywood, has been nominated for an Academy Award for every movie performance so far. Marlon is shown above, with makeup man Phil Rhodes who is transforming Brando to Bonaparte.

Foul Play Hint to Be Reviewed

Thorne Died of Dope, Sleeping Drug, Alcohol, Pathologist Says

CHICAGO (AP) — The evidence on which a coroner's pathologist suggested foul play in the death of Montgomery Ward Thorne will be reviewed today by four other experts.

Some police officials and other pathologists have disagreed with the conclusions of Dr. Harry Leon in the mysterious death of the 20-year-old heir to a nearly two-million-dollar mail order fortune. Dr. Leon attributed death to a combination of narcotics, sleeping drug and wood alcohol, administered by someone else.

* * *

Thorne's body was found on the bed of his apartment after he failed to keep an appointment with Miss Maureen Ragen and she could not reach him by telephone. Nine hypodermic needle punctures were found in his arms and a needle and syringe were found taped to the ceiling of a clothes closet.

* * *

Miss Ragen, 18, who said she and Thorne were to be married in December, was the principal beneficiary in a new will Thorne made nine days before his death. Young Thorne's mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne, named sole legatee in his original will, was cut off with a one-eighth share in the second will, which gave Maureen one half and her mother one fourth.

A court fight is in prospect over the estate between the Ragens and Mrs. Thorne.

Officials who disagreed with Dr. Leon's report believe Thorne died either of self-administered drugs or of an acute pancreas ailment.

Actress Beverly Wills Marries Army Officer

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Actress Beverly Wills, 20, daughter of comedienne Joan Davis, and Army Lt. Alan Norton Grossman, 22, married yesterday, plan a honeymoon in Hawaii.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Si Wills, television and radio writer, in a ceremony in the Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel. Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin officiated.

La Muchacha, She Has Much Courage, Si!

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — In the language of the bull ring, former Broadway model and actress Bette Ford has much courage, bravery and beauty — but her ability is undetermined.

The 23-year-old, curvaceous Miss Ford headed back to Mexico City today for more training to correct a trait that led her under the horns and hoofs of a vicious Mexican bull yesterday and to four narrow escapes.

* * *

Bette, from McKeesport, Pa., made her formal bullfighting debut in the Juarez Plaza de Toros, just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex.

She received accolades from the severe audience for her courage, and to a bullfighting fan that's everything.

But because of what Bette called "The luck of the Irish," she drew two stubborn, hard-to-work bulls which offered her nothing but trouble and little or no opportunity to show the results of her year's training.

* * *

Her training now will concentrate on correcting a tendency to crook her arm in the intricate cape work, instead of holding it extended. That crook led to the bull getting too close to her four times yesterday and she narrowly escaped being gored.

But after each incident, she bounced back to the fight, a display which won from the crowd a thundering ovation and a call for a "vuelta," a ceremonial and triumphant tour of the ring.

Man Tosses Wife From Speedboat During Argument

MT. CLEMENS (UP) — Ralph Butler, 34, faced an assault charge today for tossing his wife into Lake St. Clair during an argument.

Two fishermen attracted by the din of the quarrel told police Butler picked up his wife, Cynthia, 32, and threw her out of his speedboat Sunday afternoon.

The fishermen said they pulled the woman into their boat as Butler sped off.

Police were waiting for Butler when he returned to his home and jailed him for investigation of assault.

SEOUL (AP) — Maj. Gen. John H. Collier takes over command of the U.S. 1st Corps tomorrow.

Tourist-Trained Mechanic Accustomed to the Unusual

By LAURA Z. HOBSON
International News Service Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (INS) — I holed up for 24 air-conditioned hours on the 17th floor of the Kentucky Hotel, to let me catch up on some work, let my two young co-tourists catch up on some double-features, and let our car have its "2,000-mile inspection."

Deeply immersed in a column, I suddenly thought, "Lordy, those three wet bathing suits in the luggage compartment!"

The day before, half dehydrated by hours in the 100-degree heat, we had passed a public beach at Herrington Lake, and with one voice we all three had cried, "Let's!"

It was about 6 in the evening, and still stifling. A sign said, "25c—with or without baskets."

This was Greek to me, but I planked down a sporty six bits and we received three empty straw baskets, three safety pins with numbers stamped into metal tabs, plus drawled instructions: "Ladies left, gents right, an' bring your clothes back here in the baskets."

The "ladies dressing room" was a square barn-like structure, with a wooden bench running around its walls, no individual booths, and girls and women in various states of undress from partial to total.

I did as the Romans do, returned my laden basket to the drawler, and followed my kids thirstily into the water.

It wasn't elegance, but it was elegant fun. Later we rolled up our dripping suits in a picture magazine, tucked the pulpy mass behind our spare tire and solemnly swore we'd remember them when we put up for the night.

And now, nearly 23 hours later, with the car up on a giant pogo stick, at the Leyman Motor Co. at 501 East Broadway, I had sudden visions of mildew sprouting like mushrooms all over the rolled suits, the spare, and a good part of our luggage.

It was nearly 5; before I could change from typing clothes to taxi clothes, our "Authorized Buick Dealer" would have punched out for the night, and by morning the mildew would probably resemble cauliflowers.

Tourist-trained as I am, I know odd requests never sideswipe folks who trade with travelers; nevertheless I felt a bit silly when I phoned Karl Strobel of "service" and gave him a rundown of my problem.

"So I wonder," I ended, "if you could possibly—"

"Get out the suits and hang them up to dry?" asked Mr. Strobel cheerily. "Sure thing."

"You don't even sound surprised. Do lots of tourists ask crazy favors?"

"Last week," he said, " a party phoned he'd left his dog on the seat and was going to be held up in a business deal a while. So would I walk the dog outside for five minutes, give him some water, and shut him up again till he got here?"

Next day at noon we drove off again, oil changed, lube job completed, brakes and starter checked, a sticky push-button unstuck, a canary silenced somewhere under the hood—and our three bathing suits neatly folded and as dry as dog biscuits.

Karl Strobel, 39, is a family man, father of Mike, 6 ,and Penny, 10, so he's used to odd little chores. He had pointed to some other tourist's shiny red convertible in the shop, its top down, a dented fender waiting for hammering out and respraying. "That windshield," he said, "made a real good clothesline."

Red Cross Receives Nutty Contribution

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Joseph Harris of suburban Tonawanda handed a Red Cross worker his donation with these words:

"This may be a nutty way to make contribution, but I get a kick out of doing unusual things."

The donation was a bag of walnut shells in which the nut meats had been replaced by coins.

Grains Sell Off but Rally Fast

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains eased at the start on a weekend accumulation of selling orders but then rallied quickly on the Board of Trade today.

The early selling followed last Friday's government crop report, estimating this year's total production as the fourth largest on record. Today was the first day in which the market could respond to that report.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ lower to ⅜ higher, July $2.02¼, corn ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, July $1.59⅛, oats ⅜ to ⅝ lower, July 70¾, rye ¼ to ¾ lower, July $1.02, soybeans ½ lower to 2 cents higher, July $3.84½ and lard unchanged to 40 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $16.60.

Leila Martin Both Sings and Acts in TV Show

Gets Big Break in Serial Drama

Plays Juliet Goodwin in Golden Windows; Has Been on Video Before

NEW YORK—For Leila Martin, playing the lead (Juliet Goodwin) in "Golden Windows," the new TV serial drama, is the solution of the most perplexing problem of her young career.

In "Golden Windows," Leila plays her first role that calls for both singing and acting.

"Since I was 5 years old," Leila says, "people have been saying to me: 'You have to make up your mind whether you want to be an actress or a singer'—and now I can be both."

Brooklyn-born, Leila got into showbusiness at the age of 5 when she won a kid's bathing beauty contest at Coney Island. This inspired her parents to give her dancing lessons, and until she was in junior high school, she tap-danced in various children's shows.

She had her first chance on Broadway in "Two on the Aisle" in 1950, and successively landed other roles including the part of Gussie in "Wish You Were Here."

"But they were all little parts, and I consider 'Golden Windows' my first really big break," she declares.

Leila was born in Brooklyn Aug. 22, 1932, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Martin. She's been married for five months to Leonard Green, president of the Mercury Artists Corp.

They live in a Manhattan apartment when they aren't at their summer place in Danbury, Conn.

This is not her first television show . . . she's appeared in many of the weekly dramatic programs.

Her role in "Golden Windows" is the portrayal of a young, innocently-brought-up girl who wants to leave the isolation and security of her island home to come to New York to pursue a singing career.

And since the heroine must compromise her operatic ambitions to the extent of singing popular songs in night clubs, Leila will have a chance to sing a wide variety of tunes.

Leila is delighted with this. So is her husband.

"The first thing Leonard said when I phoned him that I had the part was that he had to buy a television set for his office. And within an hour, it was installed."

State Democrats Rephrase Song to GOP Chagrin

JACKSON (UP) — Michigan Democrats have their own version of the song "Mc Namara's Band."

The chorus goes something like this:

"My name is Joe McCarthy, I'm the leader of the band.

"Of Jenner, Dirksen, Velde, Mundt; the party thinks I'm grand.

"I impugn the community, smear with immunity, I can't stand . . .

"For I'm the king of the snooper wing of the Republican high command."

The ditty was one of several sung here during a weekend of state Democratic leaders and party members.

Sees Good Chance for Indochina Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australia's Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey said today there's a good chance of an "acceptable" end to the Indochina fighting because Red China needs to turn its full attention to internal economic problems.

Howevern the Communists won't stop their expansion until the free world provides "the resistance and the evidence to them that expansion is not going to be an easy business," Casey said in a copyrighted interview in the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

The Australian leader, a strong supporter of a proposed Southeast Asian treaty organization defense against Red advances, said the time is near when the free world powers of the area must get to work on a united front.

Switzerland Refuses to OK Loyalty Hearings

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Switzerland announced today she has refused to let a U.S. civil service loyalty board hold hearings on the loyalty of American employes of the United Nations in Geneva.

A Swiss government announcement said foreign "police investigations" of this nature would violate Swiss sovereignty.

Towel Taking Down

NEW YORK (INS) — Fewer towels are disappearing from hotels today than ever before. That's the claim of Hotel Edison owner Irwin H. Kramer, who says the guests now take picture postcards to make up for their want of souvenirs.

Eden Leaves for Talks on Indochina Ceasefire

LONDON (INS)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden left London by plane today for Geneva and the crucial phase of the Indochina ceasefire talks.

Eden, accompanied by his wife, said before boarding the plane that he was going to Geneva "in the hope of helping the two sides negotiate a settlement which we could all accept."

Full name of President Cleveland was Stephen Grover Cleveland.

Germ Warfare Defense Aided

New Trap for Bacteria Shortens Time Needed for Identification

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest and most valuable gadget the military has for countering germ warfare attack is a flimsy disc of paperlike substance, slightly larger than a silver dollar.

The chief of the Army's chemical warfare service, Maj. Gen. William M. Creasy, calls it a significant step toward "development of a revolutionary detection device around which a workable defense" against stealthy bacteriological warfare is being built.

* * *

In a recent speech, Creasy mentioned "a very thin filter which will trap bacteria, permitting them to be identified within 15 hours, or one sixth of the time previously required."

The Defense Department, in response to inquiries, today displayed the gadget, an unimpressive disc looking like it might have been cut from a thin sheet of cross-ruled paper.

But its production took the brains of some wartime German bacteriological warfare experts and improvements for mass producing by American experts who captured similar filters at the end of World War II.

Like the membrane filters used in all laboratories, this one is designated as a "millipore" filter. Its extreme porosity allows water to run through it quickly and freely, but trapping on its surface all micro-organism or their poisonous products which constitute one of the chief instruments of bacteriological warfare.

On the surface of the disc marked off in small squares, are deposited all germs or their products in a liquid—water, milk or other drink. The squares provide a method for bacteria count.

Under a microscope and other common testing apparatus of a laboratory, the presence of a dangerously high bacterial count, together with the type of bacteria, can be spotted in a matter of hours.

Until development of this method a gelatin plate-culture method was needed, a process requiring almost four days.

About 300 filters can be packed in a small, pocket-size container. The former detection system required a case of glass plates as big as a heavy desk for a corresponding amount of equipment.

Flying Twins Spurn Meals to Protest Term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Flying Finn twins rounded out three weeks of a jail hunger strike today in a "rather advanced state of starvation" as their attorney prepared to seek their release on bail.

"Some intermittent mental confusion" on their part waas reported also yesterday by Dr. M. R. King, superintendent of the California Medical Facility on Terminal Island, where they are imprisoned.

Despite increasing weakness, 40-year-old George and Charles Finn were able to attend Catholic mass in the facility's chapel.

* * *

Dr. King said they spend most of their time in bed. He issued orders that the twins, veterans of World War II and the Berlin airlift, be fed glucose or saline solution intravenously if they became unconscious.

The twins' hunger strike is to protest a one-year jail sentence and the federal government's seizure of a war surplus transport plane they had bought. They were convicted in federal court of interfering with a federal officer after they handcuffed U. S. Atty. Laughlin Waters in what they called a citizens' arrest. They accused Waters of violating their civil rights by withholding possession of the plane.

* * *

The Finns bought the craft from a school district near Bakersfield. The government later seized the plane, declaring it had been given to the school district for educational use and could not be sold for commercial purposes.

Atty. Bernard B. Cohen said he would ask the federal Circuit Court of Appeals today to release the twins on bail pending an appeal.

Honduras Delegates to Seek More Aid

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP)—The People's United party soon will send a delegation to London with a request Britain double the amount recommended to be spent in the next five years to help give this Central American colony a stable economy.

A report from the local Colonial Treasury Office to the Legislative Assembly recommends 10 million British Honduras dollars ($7,200,000) for a development program to include encouragement of light industry and agriculture. The United party wants 20 million.

West Germany Hails Princess' Four-Day Visit

BONN, Germany (AP) — Princess Margaret arrived here today to pay British royalty's first official visit to the West German government. West Germany welcomed the visit as a sign of equality with Britain and that the occupation is nearing an end.

During her strenuous four-day tour — much of it by helicopter—the 23-year-old sister of Queen Elizabeth II also will visit British army, navy and air force units in the British zone of Germany.

In a flowered dress with matching hat, the smiling Princess stepped from her special plane to be greeted by a 21-gun salute and German and allied officials.

Five hundred police lined the 18-mile route as she drove from the airfield to Bonn to call on West Germany's genial, 70 - year - old President Theodor Heuss. He was her host for lunch at his official residence alongside the Rhine.

After a three-hour visit to the West German capital, the Princess was to take off in a helicopter for the first stop on her tour of military units.

In all she will make nine hellhops, a total of 5½ hours aloft covering more than 300 miles.

In a statement welcoming the Princess, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government said her call at Bonn demonstrated the federal republic's equal place among the Western nations.

Diplomats Draft 4-Power Pact

New Treaty Would Give Near-Independence to West Germany

LONDON (AP) — American and British diplomats have worked out a short, four-power treaty that would give West Germany near-independence this year, official sources said today.

The pact has been drafted as a way of giving the Federal Republic powers to control most of its own affairs in case France fails to ratify the project for a European Defense Community. Under present treaties the United States, Britain and France would end their occupation of West Germany only when EDC comes into force.

* * *

The latest British-American plan reportedly would grant sovereignty to West Germany in all but military matters in a treaty signed by the United States, Britain, France and the Federal Republic.

* * *

Informants stressed the plan in no way provides for German rearmament outside EDC, although London and Washington reportedly have one or two favored alternatives up their sleeves in case EDC as it stands now is rejected.

American and British officials drew up the plan in the course of a week of discussions at the Foreign Office that ended yesterday. They had been ordered to do so by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill after their Washington conference.

The British Foreign Office explained the experts' proposals have still to be accepted by the American and British governments.

France so far has not reacted officially to the British-American move. Privately, however, French diplomats grumble that it will make it harder for any Paris government to win parliamentary approval for EDC.

Detroit Youth Injured as Vehicle Overturns

Walter C. Kalis, 17, of Detroit, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital Sunday morning for cuts and bruises sustained when the car in which he was riding overturned on White Lake road a mile west of Andersonville road.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said the driver, Kenneth L. Belitz, 17, of Detroit, swerved to avoid an oncoming truck, lost control on a curve and overturned.

Sky Diamonds Have Scientific Explanation

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Sky scanners who report diamonds in the sky may be given a perfectly sober description of what a soaring rocket does to the air waves, Tests of rocket motors made for the Army Ordnance Corps show that a long string of diamond patterns appears inside each rocket flame.

Scientists explain that the patterns result when shock waves are produced by the collision of the hot gasses with the surrounding atmosphere.

Did the Highway Weave?

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — Two highway department trucks gathered 1,495 empty beer cans and bottles and 36 whisky bottles along eight miles of a highway in this area.

The can and bottle harvest was made at the suggestion of the St. Cloud Daily Times as an indication of the amount of drinking done in motor vehicles. The cans and bottles were taken to the city dump after counting.
