Brief Prison Rebellion Ends

AP Wirephoto

AFTERMATH — Some of the 46 rebellious convicts were ordered to lie face down near their barricades at the Arizona State Prison after lawmen ended their brief insurrection. The convicts tore up hospital blankets and mattresses (foreground) to use as barricades after taking over the hospital and a captain's office.

Rackets Group Probes Mobster Terror, Trickery

Cites Evidence of Use in Juke Box, Vending Machine Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee said today it has evidence that mobsters used terror and trickery to muscle into the juke box-vending machine industry.

Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy told reporters the evidence as it unfolds in public hearings next year will show a pattern of violence and conniving.

He said stories will be told of wrecking rivals' machines, setting up labor unions specifically to help smother competition, and inter-union fights in which unionists sometimes picketed each other.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said the inquiry is designed to show the extent of underworld takeover in the industry, which he estimated does a $2\frac{1}{2}$ billion dollars of business every year. The committee will study also whether new laws are needed.

McClellan said there is no contention that all juke box and vending machine enterprises have been infiltrated.

The committee heard testimony Thursday that Frank Cammarata, a former Detroit gangster, used his influence with big shot mobsters to help settle "wars" between juke box operators in Detroit and Youngstown, Ohio.

Cammarata, just out of a Michigan prison and under orders to leave the country or be kicked out, refused to answer the committee's questions. He pleaded that answers might incriminate him.

City Hospital Studies Halt to Emergency Care

By PETE LOCHBILER

The possibility that patients will be turned away from the Pontiac General Hospital emergency room was under consideration today as hospital trustees sought ways of bolstering a deficit budget of $3,217,150.

The budget was adopted at a special meeting last night and sent to the City Commission for approval. It was the first hospital budget officially passed since 1957, and predicted net operating losses next year of $45,420, unless new sources of revenue are found.

Number one target was an estimated $100,000 a year loss in unpaid emergency service bills.

Trustees went on record demanding that the city reimburse the hospital for the unpaid bills run up by Pontiac residents — an estimated $50,000 a year.

This was expected to emerge as a big issue when trustees and city commissioners meet soon in a joint discussion of hospital finances.

STUDY GROUP NAMED

A special committee — made up of William P. Babcock, T. M. Bradford, Isaac Smoot and Lynn Allen Jr. — was appointed to study emergency losses and come up with a policy recommendation next month.

"Either the area governments reimburse us for the unpaid bills run up by their residents or we cease taking them as emergency patients. This should be our policy and it should apply to the city of Pontiac as well," Babcock said.

Bradford went one step further. "We should collect from Pontiac on all the unpaid bills and then let the city collect from the other communities," he said.

Board chairman James Clarkson angrily noted that the city had not provided for emergency room reimbursements in its proposed 1959 budget.

"It was my understanding that the hospital and the city had agreed to an emergency room subsidy. Now the city is telling us to go whistle for the emergency charges," he said.

Under an agreement announced in July, but never formally approved by either the hospital or the City Commission, the city agreed to make up unpaid emergency bills of Pontiac residents.

At the same time, City Manager Walter K. Willman undertook the job of getting surrounding communities to do the same for their residents.

Willman noted this fall that the plan had failed. Out of 35 Oakland County communities contacted, most never replied to his queries, a few turned him down flatly, and only a couple showed even mild interest.

The city manager recently noti-

Top Communist Says West Has No Flying Rights

But He Doesn't Reveal What Action Is Planned Against 3 Firms

BERLIN (AP)—The threat of Communist interference mounted today against busy American, British, and French airliners shuttling in and out of isolated West Berlin.

One of East Germany's top Communists, Politburo member Hermann Matern, told a West Berlin election rally Thursday night that the airlines — Pan American, Air France and British European Airways — have no legal right to fly over East German territory.

"This situation must be brought in order," he declared. He did not say what action the Communists have in mind.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who addressed an election rally in another part of West Berlin, said the Western powers would hold the Russians responsible for keeping open all routes to Berlin, including the air corridors.

He said he had a personal letter from U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reaffirming that position.

MENTIONS AGREEMENT

The letter, he added, specifically mentioned the 1949 Paris agreement in which the Russians ended their 1948-49 blockade and guaranteed free access to this Allied foothold 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

★ ★ ★

"Our Allies stand upon it and we stand upon it," Adenauer said of this agreement.

Matern told the rally of 3,500 Communists, meeting behind a police line in the heart of West Berlin, that "capitalistic airlines make giant profits" on their business with Berlin and "I know of no agreement which legally supports these firms."

This was the first specific attack on the Western airlines.

Brave Arizona Prison Riot to Rescue Hostage Guards

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP)—A steel-nerved warden led 25 lawmen storming into barricades at the Arizona State Prison Thursday night and rescued two guards held by rebellious convicts.

Despite warnings from the 46 insurgent prisoners that they would kill their hostages if attacked, Warden Frank Eyman decided to call their bluff—and won his desperate gamble.

Moises Adams, 33, an inmate convicted of statutory rape, was shot in the back during the furious assault. He was reported in poor condition but expected to live.

About 300 National Guardsmen, deputies, police officers, guards and civilian volunteers ringed the walls with rifles and automatic weapons to guard against new outbreaks. The riot was quelled at 11 p. m.

Guards Calvin Hunt, 33, who came to Arizona from Winthrop, Maine, and Scott Wright, 30, formerly of Ardmore, Okla., were held hostage for nearly an hour.

Both later expressed fear the prisoners would have killed them with their homemade knives after the warden announced he would not bow to inmates' demands to take over the prison.

"They told me to 'tell them guys (the lawmen) not to come any closer or we'll kill you.'" said Wright. "I didn't say anything."

At this point, Warden Eyman, a graying, 60-year-old former sheriff armed with a .45 automatic pistol, shouted to the barricaded convicts: "If you S-O-Bs even so much as scratch my men, I'll kill all of you."

Eyman and the two guards gave this account:

Hunt, Wright and another guard went to the isolation ward to bring one of the convicts some medicine. As Hunt and Wright entered the ward, the prisoners seized them.

The prisoners then phoned Eyman with this message: "We are going to take your prison. We have the keys. And we're going to Cell Block 1."

Then the convicts split into two groups. One took over the hospital and the other commandeered a prison captain's office. Each held a hostage.

Eyman fired several shots to launch an assault. After a few minutes, the lawmen recaptured the hospital and the office and rescued the guards.

The prisoners were held in the courtyard and searched. Guards confiscated five homemade knives and one pocket-knife. Then they were returned to the isolation ward. Eyman ordered the doors welded shut.

★ ★ ★

"They don't have any rights," the warden said. "If they did, they couldn't get them now."

The other 1,400 prisoners remained in their cells throughout the crisis.

The prison, 70 miles southeast of Phoenix, was officially opened in 1912. It was built to accommodate 700. The convicts staged an abortive sitdown strike earlier this week to protest what they termed poor food, inadequate clothing and crowded conditions.

Funeral Service Held in Chicago for Fire Victims

CHICAGO (AP) — Twenty-eight small coffins lay in a military armory today for last solemn tributes to the young victims of Monday's parochial school fire.

The Most Rev. Albert Gregory Meyer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, will offer the Solemn Requiem Mass for the 28 children. Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, will attend.

The Mass in the 6,100-seat armory was not opened to the public. Families of the 28 children were given 150 tickets each to distribute among parents, relatives and close friends.

Big Churchill Statue Called a Caricature

LONDON (UPI)—Critics have assailed a new statue of Sir Winston Churchill as a gorilla-like caricature. They said its like hasn't been seen since his 80th birthday portrait that some people said made him look like a turtle.

The new controversy over an artist's portrayal of Britain's great leader centered in a $14,000 statue which has not yet been unveiled.

It was commissioned by Churchill's constituents in the Woodford District which he represents in Parliament, but critics doubted it ever would be installed as a monument to the former Prime Minister.

A picture of the eight-foot, six-inch statue published in the newspapers brought denunciations from all parts of Britain.

"Gorilla-like," said some. "A caricature," said others. "It's a disgrace" . . . "We don't want it here" . . . "Fancy using our money for that" ran the comments in Woodford, which paid for the statue.

★ ★ ★

One local businessman who contributed to the fund called the work "Appalling." He said the "Head, ears and feet all seem to be too big."

The statue shows Churchill as a grim, severe, forbidding old man with an angry scowl. It shows him hatless and wearing a lounge suit, leaning slightly forward, head poised aggressively and left hand pulling back the flap of his suit coat as if he is reaching for his pocket watch.

Sculptor David McFall of London said he expected some criticism of the statue, but nothing like the current reaction.

"I have attempted to portray Sir Winston as a man of intellect," he said. "I wasn't making a toby jug, you know."

The last noted portrayal of Sir Winston was greeted in much the same fashion four years ago. It was Graham Sutherland's portrait for Churchill's 80th birthday.

"If I had my way I would throw Mr. Sutherland into the Thames," said Conservative Party Chairman Lord Hailsham when he saw the picture. Most critics said the picture made Sir Winston look like a snapping turtle.

Hospital Eyed as Polio Center

Kenny Group Interested in Using 80-Bed County Facility on Telegraph

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The Elizabeth Kenny Foundation is "definitely interested" in establishing a rehabilitation center for polio and other cases at the vacant Oakland County Contagious Hospital.

E. J. Rollings, executive vice president of the foundation, and Howard N. Maynard, foundation president, appeared before a special committee of county officials Thursday studying future use of 80-bed facility.

"We are definitely interested in operating an in-patient rehabilitation and acute polio care center in Oakland County," Rollings told the group.

The two-story hospital at 1075 N. Telegraph Rd. has been vacant since August when Pontiac General Hospital discontinued using it as an annex.

Several proposals since have been made to the study committee on how the building might be used, but the most recent recommendation, that from the Kenny Founda-

Eastern Air Line Strike Continues

Chance of Pact With Machinists; Engineers Far From Pact

By The Associated Press

The 12-day-old strike against Eastern Air Lines continues, with some hope that striking machinists will settle but with a continued deadlock between EAL and its flight engineers.

Eastern has offered a 45-cent hourly wage increase to 5,000 members of the International Assn. of Machinists. The union demands 49 cents, but negotiations were continuing.

However, both sides acknowledge no progress in efforts to resolve demands by EAL's 550 flight engineers. In addition to wages, the dispute involves company insistence that the engineers take jet pilot training.

With the bulk of IAM machinists already voting in Kansas City to accept a tentative agreement with Trans World Airlines, TWA hopes to be back in business by 12:01 a.m. Monday.

TWA machinists in New York, Los Angeles and other areas were expected to vote today.

American Airlines continues to operate under a temporary injunction against a walkout by the Air Line Pilots Assn. A ruling on making the injunction permanent is expected next week.

Contract talks continue between Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers Union, with no interruption in service.

Juno 'Long on Brawn'

Shooting for Sun?

NEW YORK (AP)—A huge U.S. moon rocket—short on brains but long on brawn—may blast into space this weekend on a trip that could take just 34 hours, but might last millions of years.

★ ★ ★

It is the U.S. Army's first shot at the moon—and like its Explorer satellite shots, the Army hasn't spared the horses.

This is perhaps the greatest difference between the planned Army probe and the last three shots by the U.S. Air Force, one of which reached as high as 79,000 miles.

The Air Force satellite weighed about 85 pounds. It was aimed at an orbit or at least a single trip around the moon. In its final stage it carried the electronic brains and maneuvering rocket to do the job.

GREATER GLORY POSSIBLE

The 30-pound Army shot is less ambitious. It too is aimed at the moon with the intention of hitting the lunar surface. But if all works well it may be destined for a greater glory.

The Army, which has packed its rocket, dubbed Juno II, with enough power and speed to overcome the pull of the earth's gravity, says it has a 1 in 2 chance of building up escape velocity—and so blasting away from the earth into a possible orbit around the sun.

Such an orbit might last millions of years.

This assumes first that all the moon rocket's engines will fire and that it will overshoot the moon.

The moon is not an easy target to hit. So many things are unknown about its mass and behavior that it can easily be missed.

Just as unpredictable is the behavior of the moon rocket itself.

The Air Force rocket that burned almost 80,000 miles above the earth — man's greatest penetration of space — might have gone to the moon. But with each stage of its flight, it fell a little more away from its programed path.

Dulles Returns to Capital Today

Among Major Problems Is Proposal for Talks on German Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned to the capital today, facing a deskful of problems.

One of the big ones was to work out proposals to the Soviet Union which may result in new East-West conferences on unification of Germany.

Dulles flew here overnight from San Francisco, where he declared in a speech Thursday that the United States and its allies need to maintain "limited war" forces in such danger points as Berlin to oppose limited probings by the Soviet bloc.

"There must be an ability to oppose what may be limited probings in ways less drastic than general nuclear war," Dulles told the California State Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to Berlin, Dulles faced these other problems on his return from a five-day tour of Mexico City and California:

1. Uncertainty over further U.S. aid to Communist Poland. Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka has been increasingly critical of the United States since he visited Moscow in early November.

2. The possible alignment of Iraq with Soviet communism. Formal withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact is foreseen.

3. The future cooperation of the United States and Britain with France in handling world problems in which they have a common interest. Premier Charles de Gaulle has proposed much closer consultation and policy coordination among the Western Big Three.

4. A review of U.S. policies toward strife-torn Cuba. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith has returned here from Havana for consultation.

★ ★ ★

Work on the Berlin situation now involves preparations for talks which Dulles will have with British, French and West German foreign ministers in Paris in mid-December. They will consider their replies to the proposal of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for an end to the Allied occupation of Berlin.

Chilling Winds, Light Snowfall Cross Nation

A cold air movement, flanked by some light snowfall, penetrated wide areas of the nation today.

Temperatures in the north central portion—northern Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley—took a sharp downslide into the teens in the face of the cold onslaught.

Chilly weather was expected late in the day as far south as northern Alabama as the leading edge of the cold blast threatened to encompass most of the country except for the Atlantic Seaboard.

By early morning, the frigid surge had touched an area extending from Ohio southwestward into northern Texas, central Nevada and northern California.

An early -6 was reported at Minot, N. D., while International Falls, Minn., was 2 degrees warmer.

tion, appears to be most favorably received.

REJECT ONE OFFER

Turned down unanimously yesterday was the proposal from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital that it lease the building for $25,000 a year.

Members of the special committee expressed opposition to tying up the county building under a 10-year-lease offered by Harry H. Whitlow, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital director.

Although they have not officially rejected his offer, committee members remained cool to a proposal from Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore that the Contagious Hospital be turned into a mental health center.

Use of the 32-year-old brick building, just north of the County Board of Education Building, as a receiving hospital to be operated by the county is all but ruled out, as other counties have advised Oakland officials against such an operation because of possible financial pitfalls.

Frd W. Smith, Royal Oak supervisor in charge of the special committee, stressed that his group was in no hurry to spring to a decision on how the facility will be used.

MEETING MONDAY

But a decision might become closer in focus following a meeting Monday of the medical staff and Board of Trustees of the Kenny Foundation, when the new proposal will be discussed.

Smith indicated more meetings would be called with Foundation officials if they should respond favorably to moving into the Contagious Hospital. These future meetings would be a prelude to Smith's committee taking a proposal before the Board of Supervisors.

If such a recommendation moves that far, supervisors should be pleased to note that the tentative proposal is not expected to cost the county money. Rollings said operating costs could be borne from money received from yearly fund-raising drives.

Meeting in the conference room of the nearly completed $170,000 Board of Education Building addition, Rollings and Maynard explained briefly what their proposed center might be used for.

It was pointed out it would not be strictly for polio patients, but also for rehabilitation of young and old alike who might be suffering from numerous afflictions.

Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of Oakland County public schools, urged that one of its uses be for those mentally-retarded children who complete their elementary and high school education, but yet are not competent for job placement.

Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director, said the top floor of the Contagious Hospital was used some six years ago for polio treatment. Today, polio patients from the county are being cared for in Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital.

It was Dr. Monroe who last August suggested the use of the hospital for the rehabilitation of elderly persons in nursing homes.

The Elizabeth Kenny Foundation today is operating a polio out-patient clinic in Ferndale which handles between 500 and 600 treatments monthly, Rollings said.

He said they would continue to operate this center "because of its convenience," and also would plan a similar out-patient clinic at the Telegraph road hospital should the foundation's preliminary plans become a reality.

DIDN'T INTERFERE

During the blockade of 1948-49 the Russians closed down the West's road, rail and water links but did not interfere with the airlift that broke the blockade.

Chartered commercial planes played a big role in the airlift, and Western officials have been considering a new airlift if there is another surface blockade.

One reason the Communists would like to control the airline operations is that they are a freedom bridge for about 10,000 East German refugees who pour into West Berlin every month.

Hospital May Halt Emergency Care

fied the hospital board that the city had not bound itself to subsidizing emergency room losses if other communities refused to do so.

In the only other debate on the budget, trustees voted 6 to 2 to eliminate a recommended $4,000 in raises for top administrative employes.

Opponents to the raises took the stand that if hourly employes weren't going to get raises next year, neither should administrative employes.

★ ★ ★

However, it was decided that the Board's personnel committee could recommend administrative raises during the course of the year, if the patient load increases significantly and administrative job loads increase correspondingly.

Spanish Airliner Missing; 21 Aboard

MADRID (AP) — Bad weather throughout central Spain today postponed an air search for a Spanish airliner missing with 21 persons aboard.

The four-engine Languedoc of the Aviacion y Comercio line left Vigo, northwest Spain, at 4:43 p.m. Thursday and was due in Madrid at 6:30. Its last report, at 5:30, said it was over Salamanca, 100 miles northwest of Madrid, and was having trouble with its communication equipment.

A ground search continued through the night. Rescue planes were held at their bases by fog, rain, snow and low-hanging clouds.

After Salamanca, the airliner would have had to pass over the Guadarrama or Gredos mountain chains, with snow-covered peaks of more than 3,000 feet.

Aboard were 16 passengers, apparently all Spanish, and a crew of five.

Fitness Plan Suggested for City Children

A physical fitness program was to be recommended by the Parks & Recreation Department this afternoon to Pontiac elementary school principals.

The program would be for fifth and sixth grade boys taking part in the department's after-school-hours gym programs in elementary school gymnasiums.

If successful, a program for fifth and sixth grade girls could be worked out early next year, said Leonard T. Buzz, city recreation supervisor.

"What we have in mind is in keeping with the President's recommendations on physical fitness," Buzz said. "It is considered very important to increase the strength of our youth, developing their endurance and coordination."

The program worked out by the department calls for about a half-hour of calisthenics and other exercises at the beginning of each gym program, which generally run two hours twice a week.

Experimental programs the past month at Malkim and Wever schools have proved satisfactory, Buzz said, "and show that the boys are readily willing to take part."

Andrew Butt, building inspector, who had to make the decision, is governed by the city ordinance which requires 15 square feet per person for such public buildings. He said that on that basis, not more than 65 persons could be accommodated at one time.

This morning he expressed admiration for the students who accepted the disappointment and came back more determined than ever to find a suitable club headquarters.

At another general committee meeting last night nine Birmingham High School students were named to the junior committee.

Ritchie Gets 15 Months in Reuther Case Perjury

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A witness who falsely testified that he saw the 1948 shooting of United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther was sentenced to 15 months in jail for perjury yesterday. He is Donald Ritchie, 38, who was found guilty on two separate counts of perjury stemming from a statement he made in 1955 to a Sarnia, Ont. policeman.

★ ★ ★

Ritchie claimed he was drunk at the time he made the statement.

Editorial Workers Strike Against Washington Star

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking editorial employes began picketing the Evening Star early today in the first walkout against a Washington newspaper by members of the American Newspaper Guild.

Members of the Star guild unit, climaxing a breakdown in lengthy negotiations, voted 104-46 in a post-midnight meeting to strike rather than accept management's latest contract terms.

Wages and length of the work week were described as the chief issue in the dispute.

★ ★ ★

Star management said the paper will continue publication, relying on nonstriking members of the staff. Newbold Noyes, Star executive editor, indicated that continued publication will depend on whether the newspaper's mechanical crewmen continue working.

Guinea Wants to Enter U.N.

Sweden Clears Way in Face of Opposition From France

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite behind-the-scene opposition from France, another former member of her shrinking African empire today appeared sure of admission to the United Nations.

Sweden, which heads the 11-nation Security Council this month sidestepped French talk of delay and consulted Council members about acting next week on Guinea's application for membership in the world organization.

Council approval of the application would be followed by ratification in the General Assembly.

Sweden's move to clear the way for Guinea was a victory for the 28-nation Asian-African bloc, which pressed for early action despite French contentions that speedy acceptance of Guinea would be premature.

The Oregon-sized Negro nation of 2,125,000 on the Equatorial West African bulge was the only French territory to reject Premier Charles de Gaulle's new constitution. It thus won its independence automatically Oct. 1.

De Gaulle's government has not yet recognized Guinea, although the United States and the Soviet Union have. Premier Sekou Toure of Guinea says he wants to negotiate a future association with France, "a free and dignified marriage and not a divorce," and to keep his country's currency tied to the French franc. Presumably the French would like to use U.N. membership as a bargaining point in the negotiations with the former colony.

Other Western nations were reported somewhat unhappy over admission of Guinea because Toure has shown Communist sympathies in the past.

Government Seeks More $$ Without General Tax Boost

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This looks like a solid guess for next year: no general increase in the tax rate and no general tax cut.

But the government needs money so what may happen is this:

Some changes in the tax laws to plug loopholes; perhaps a boost in the gasoline tax or postal rates. And there is talk of boosting the tax on insurance companies, of removing some exemptions and preferences affecting individuals and corporations.

President Eisenhower expressed the brave hope of reducing government spending in his last two years in office. But spending is likely to go up, not down.

This year government spending will run around 80 billion dollars and government income—because of the economic slump—around 67 billions. This means a gap of 12 to 13 billion between government outgo and income.

And this week the No. 1 tax man in Congress—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax changes start—said he doesn't see government spending next year running less than 80 billions.

Instead, he thinks next year the bill may be around 83 billions with revenue at no more than 78 billions. That would mean another deficit, this time of about five billions.

So the government's dilemma comes down to this if it hopes to live somewhere within its income:

1. Reduce expenses. This is so tough to do — particularly because of the need for defense spending—that it can be almost ruled out.

2. Raise taxes generally on individuals and corporations. It's unlikely. The politicians don't want to have to face the voters in 1960 with a bigger tax bill in their hand.

3. Find some way to get more federal income from taxes without a general tax increase.

That could be done in a number of ways, such as those suggested at the beginning of this story.

Administration officials indicated last month Eisenhower is almost certain to ask Congress for a boost in the gasoline tax so the cost of superhighway construction won't strain the federal budget.

These officials also disclosed that Budget Director Maurice Stans and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield recently conferred on the possibility of urging another increase in postal rates.

Mills offered various ideas on getting more revenue from taxes: such as removing some exemptions and tax preferences for individuals and corporations.

But from the way Mills talked to the Tax Foundation in New York this week it would seem his committee is going to move very cautiously, at least in 1959, in trying to get some changes through Congress, and perhaps try a little more in 1960.

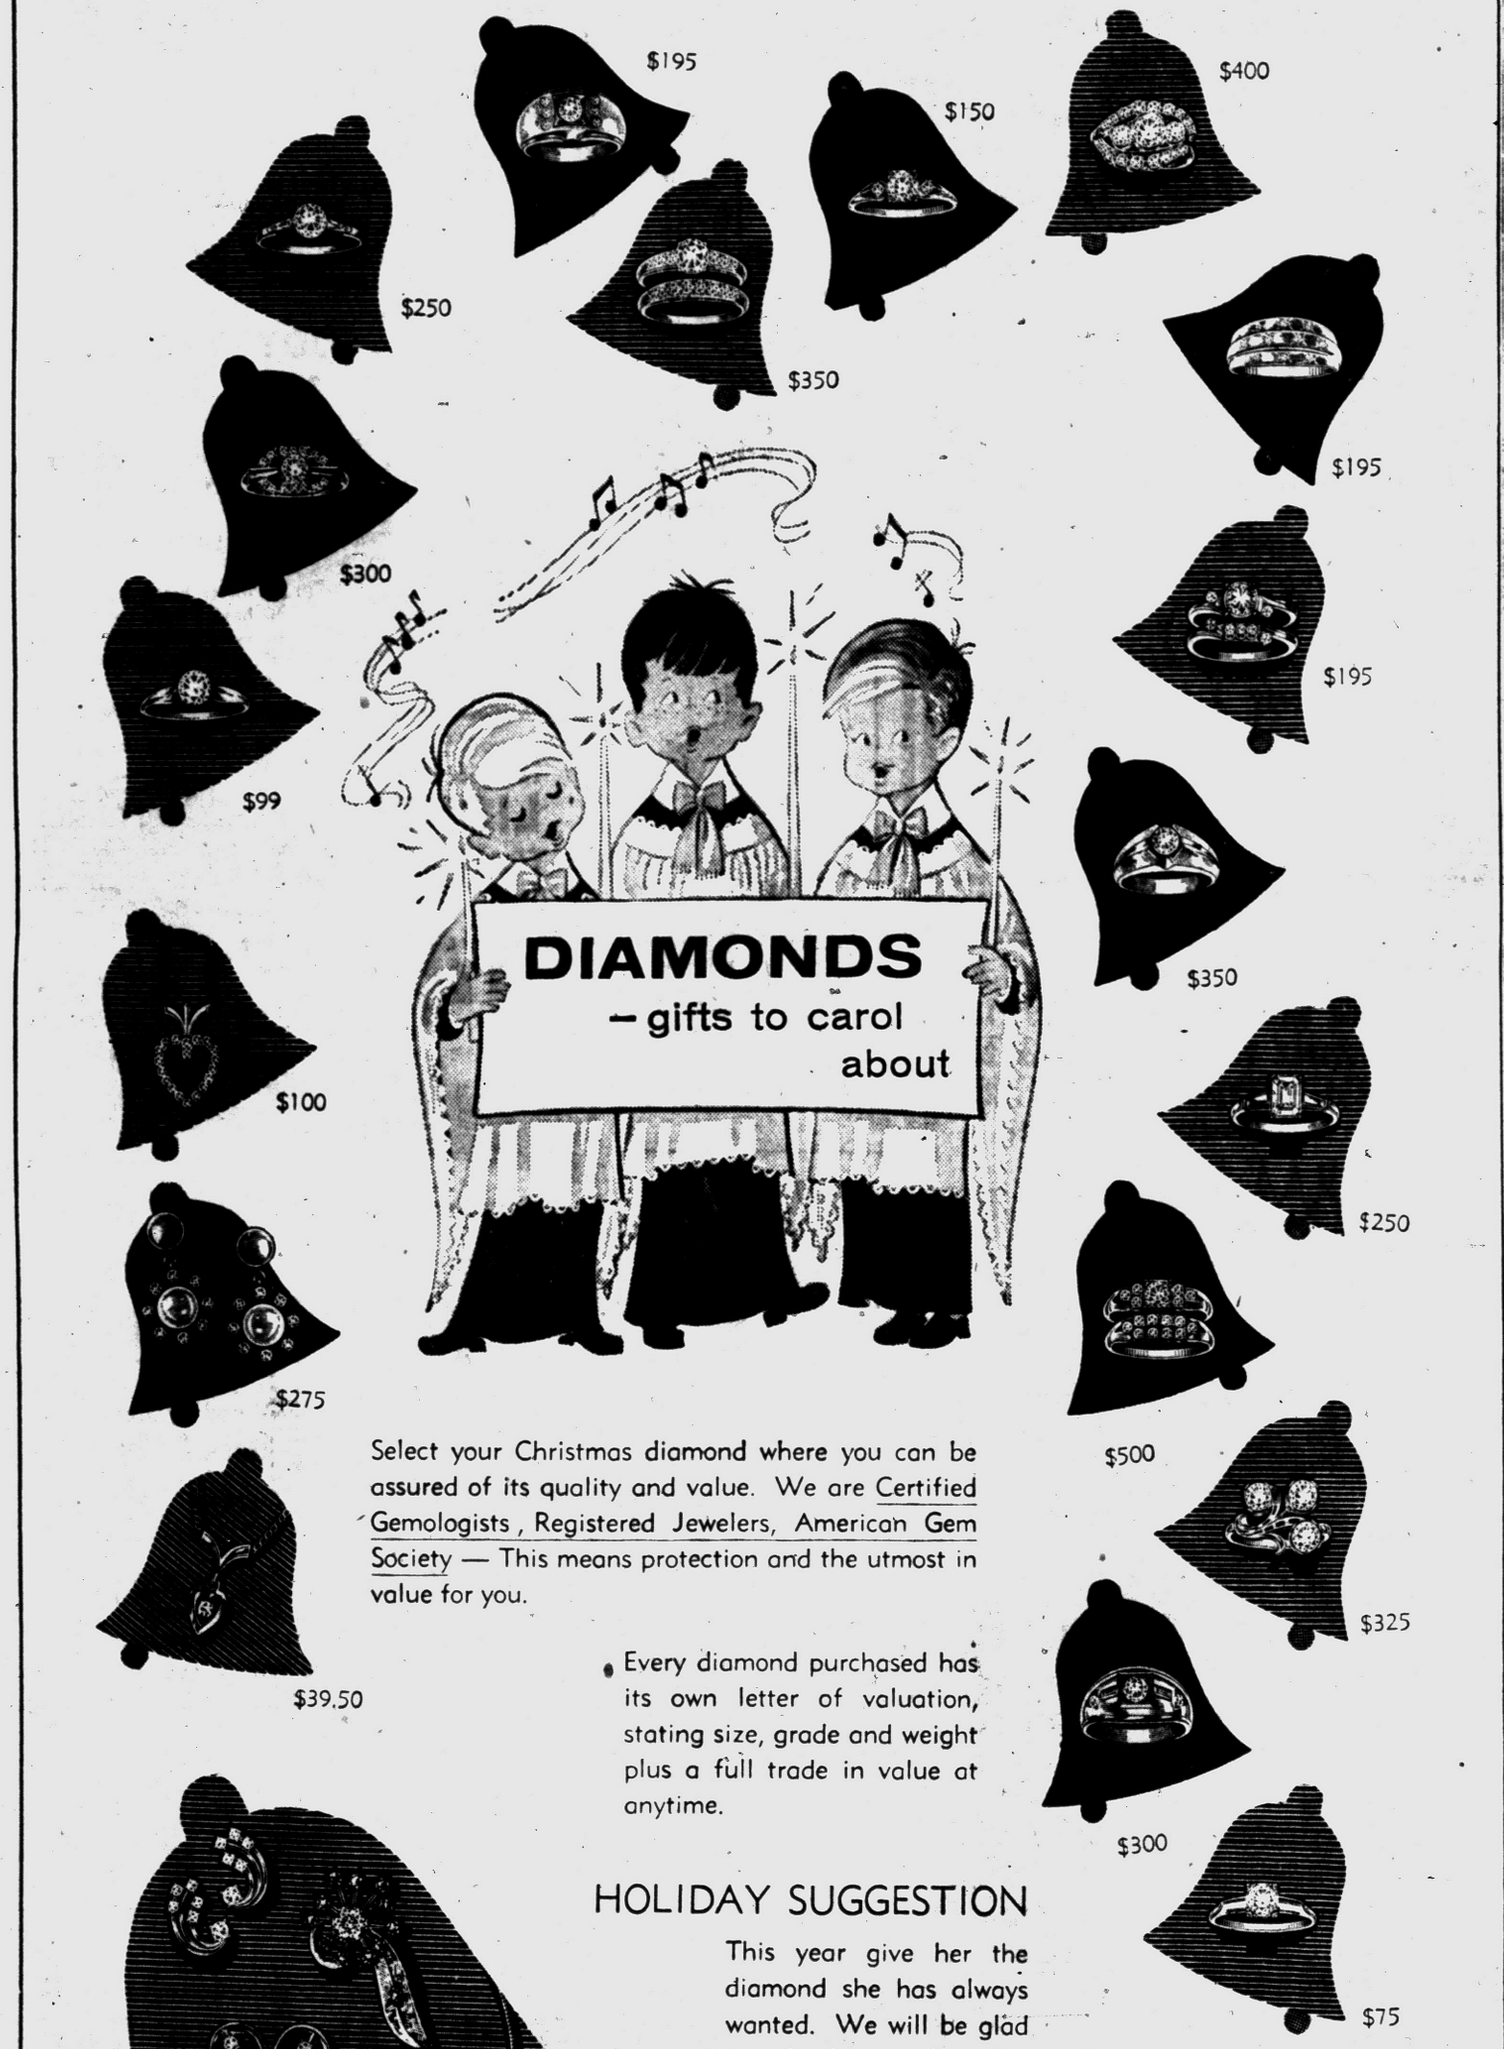

A major problem of Algeria in North Africa is still water supply. More than 22 dams have been built by the French government to provide irrigation.

There's an Explanation for 20 Pink Elephants

KARIBA, Rhodesia (UPI)—Pilot Paul Rex said he definitely had not been drinking when he saw 20 pink elephants on a flying trip up the Sanyati Valley about 25 miles from here.

A game officer who was with Rex at the time suggested the elephants had been rolling in a river bottom full of red mud—and it was sunset.

11½ Billion Paid to Federal Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian government workers were paid just under 11½ billion dollars in the 1958 fiscal year which ended June 30.

Reporting this today, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) said this total was 455 million dollars more than the civilian payroll for the previous 12 months although there were some 46,754 fewer workers in fiscal 1958.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, said the higher total pay for fewer workers resulted from pay increased voted by Congress early this year.

He said civilian employment in fiscal 1958 averaged 2,347,345 persons, who were paid a total of $11,455,000,000 including 328 millions in retroactive pay increases.

Byrd listed employment the previous year at 2,394,099 and total pay at 11 billion dollars.

In October, he said, federal civilian employment totaled 2,353,192 — a decline of 1,301 from September. The October total was 8,847 above the average for the previous fiscal year.

Naughty Baboon Finally Caught, Given Injection

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —The baboon that spent a cold 20 hours atop a church steeple to escape the veterinarian's needle, is back in the Frankfurt Zoo. And she's had the needle.

★ ★ ★

The 2½-year-old baboon escaped to the top of St. Nicolai's steeple Tuesday night when the veterinarian tried to give her an antituberculosis injection. She stayed on her lofty perch through subfreezing weather while men from the zoo shivered and waited below.

She finally came down Wednesday night but took off again over the rooftops. One of her keeprs finally lured her through a top-floor apartment window with an apple. The keeper slammed the window. It was back to the zoo for her.

A zoo official said she was accustomed to the cold of her native Ethiopian mountains and could "stand anything but the needle. Now she's had it."

212 Deer Were Killed on Bois Blanc Island

CHEBOYGAN (UPI)—Conservation officer Al Smith of Bois Blanc Island said today that 212 deer were killed on the 22,000 acre resort island during the hunting season.

The island had its most successful hunting year, with 416 shooters on Bois Blanc from Nov. 15-30. Some were stranded on the island for a week when storms made the Straits of Mackinac impassable for the three small ferries which operate

Teenagers Say Schools Aren't Tough Enough

Teenagers say American high schools are too easy. This seems worthy of comment since it is the youngsters' own remark, according to a readers' poll taken by Compact the teen magazine.

This does not necessarily reflect the opinion of our teenagers in this immediate area. In the particular poll in question, too many elective courses and too much emphasis on extra-curricular activities were responsible for the feeling.

The teens further reasoned that many of the classes are geared to the abilities of the slow learners, and that the poor students are given passing grades because the schools are too crowded to hold them back.

Other comments from this cross section of American youth went like this: Not enough demands are made upon them by their parents or teachers, the students say. According to one writer, many high school students purposely take easy classes and just drift through school without realizing the importance of learning.

Another remarks that any student who tries to attain a high average is considered a "creep" by fellow classmates. One girl reports having had to take a "snap" home economics course instead of an elective in geometry simply because the particular school wants to keep the new home economics room full.

★ ★ ★

Suggestions by the high school students were for comprehensive curricula geared to the individual needs of both college-minded and vocationally-minded students. To toughen up the high schools, the students propose longer sessions, more math, science, foreign languages and more stringent grading standards by teachers.

★ ★ ★

Summed up, this attitude seems a little strong. The PRESS would be interested in hearing from our own high school students.

We Should Be Aware of Red China's Plans

In our great concern over the Communist regime in Red China, we are overlooking its vast agricultural and industrial development.

Most of the scientists on whom China's future depends are Western trained in the United States, Canada and Britain. They are making the arid plains of central and western China to produce food and clothing for its exploding population.

★ ★ ★

Fired by propaganda envisioning a new and better China, everyone is reported working to capacity. Steel is being made in barrel sized blast furnaces in backyards as well as in huge plants. The Rand Corporation (prominent scientists employed by the U.S. Air Force) thinks these little furnaces show that the Chinese are avoiding early Russian mistakes of building huge industries with no trained personnel to operate them. The scientists also think that these installations would make the country "extraordinarily resilient" after enemy attack.

Railroads are being built into remote provinces. The dust bowl plains of Sinkiang are being irrigated from newly built dams and if the project moves ahead as planned, wheat, cotton, fruit, livestock and sugar cane will soon come from this once worthless desert.

Western visitors to Red China are returning with amazing stories of industrial, cultural, scientific and agricultural progress there. Unfortunately our State Department will not permit U. S. newspapermen or other responsible persons to visit Red China where one-fifth of the world's population lives. We can't pretend it doesn't exist and we should be well informed by trained American observers as to what is being done there.

David Lawrence Says:

Unsound Economy Backed Again

WASHINGTON—Back to the new deal! That's the new slogan. It assumes that the nation has forgotten all about the catastrophe of the 1930's, when spending was unlimited and yet failed after seven years to reduce the unemployment figure below 9,000,000 in 1939.

LAWRENCE

This was finally remedied only by the outbreak of the war in Europe.

Unsound economics is being advocated again as the battle impends in the next Congress between the "spenders" and the "savers." This is a classification which doesn't follow party lines—there are "spenders" in the Republican as well as Democratic ranks in the North.

The "savers" get their strength mainly from the South and from some conservative Republicans in the North.

The reminders of the new deal are becoming more and more evident every day. They are to be found not only in the press releases of some of the "spenders" in Congress, but in the legislative program just announced by the "Americans for Democratic Action," which pooh-poohs inflationary dangers and promises unbounded prosperity by spending more for each year than the Government collects in taxes.

The ADA, in a lengthy statement sent to all senators and representatives, calls enthusiastically for a "New New Deal."

The nostalgia isn't confined to Congress, either. It seems to have burst forth also from the sacred realm of the Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

Just after the November election, Justice William O. Douglas, in a speech at the Columbia University law school in New York City, said:

"There was a time when the intelligentsia flocked to Washington to man the bastions. Those days may come again. At present the bulk of our elite are turning elsewhere for adventure and livelihood. Washington, D.C., and the state capitals get few of the new recruits.

"This is commonly attributed to the high financial returns in other lines of endeavor. That plays a part, but in my view only a minor one. The real reasons involve intangibles.

"One is the severe scourge given to the public service in recent years from those who, marching under the banner of Americanism, have hunted down the nonconformist as well as the subversive.

"There are numerous other reasons why the climate in the nation's capital that prevailed for example in the 1930's has never quite been restored. One chief task ahead is to recreate the conditions that make a career with government an exciting life."

One wonders who were the members of the intellectual "elite" that were scared away from Washington in recent years and why. Did they have something in their past associations which they were ashamed to reveal?

★ ★ ★

Why would anyone refrain from coming to work in the Government—and get "clearance"—if he really had nothing to hide? Such a blanket indictment of the intellectual "elite" seems a little severe.

For, while there may have been isolated cases of a guilty conscience, it doesn't seem plausible that it took on the proportions of a mass boycott of Government service.

Possibly among the real reasons the "elite" have been reluctant to come back is the fact that the Democratic Party has had among its leaders such non-radical individuals as Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Sen. Harry Byrd and Speaker Sam Rayburn and forthright John McCormack, floor leader of the House.

Maybe the time has come to promote Justice Douglas to the front line as a presidential candidate. Certainly so far as political philosophy is concerned, he is the clearest exponent of New Dealism in active service today—and he is only 60 and in the prime of intellectual life.

Maybe he is the very man to "recreate the conditions" that made the years of the New Deal an "exciting life" for our intelligentsia. Maybe, if elected, he can "man the bastions" and coax the missing "elite" to come back to Washington.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

For these things were done, that the scripture should be fulfilled, a bone of him shall not be broken. — John 19:36.

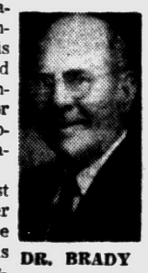

★ ★ ★

The truths of the Scriptures are so marked and inimitable, that the inventor would be more of a miraculous character than the hero.—Jean Rousseau.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Pyorrhea and Rheumatiz Both Have Same Causes

As I see it, there's a good deal of similarity between pyorrhea (Riggs disease, chronic interstitial gingivitis, paradentitis, parodontitis, paradentosis etc. etc.) and rheumatiz (chronic arthritis or arthrosis, osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis).

DR. BRADY

In the first place the former condition may be designated as chronic jaw disability and the latter as chronic joint disability.

Both are insidious in onset—that is, in the first year of the trouble the victim is reluctant to think that he or she can have such a humiliating complaint. Both are due mainly to the same cause: Nutritional deficiency through the years from childhood up to the present.

The morbid anatomy or pathology of both conditions shows they are characteristic of degeneration and not of inflammation.

I hope no one with sufficient interest or intelligence to read this stuff will take offense at the suggestion that pyorrhea is degeneration. After all, degeneration inevitably awaits every one who lives long enough to get over the summit.

As in rheumatiz, so in pyorrhea, there is always a fair chance that, if taken in time and combated with unflagging determination, the degeneration process may be retarded, or even reversed (regeneration).

This repair or cure of rheumatiz or pyorrhea is possible, I believe, only through (1) better nutrition, and (2) improvement of jaw function by better mastication or undenaturized food as rapidly as the condition of teeth and gums will permit; and increased daily general physical activity to preserve whatever suppleness there may be still left in the joints.

I have been trying to telf you these many years that one should do half a dozen somersaults (forward rolls) on the floor first thing every morning. If one is too stiff, in mind, to do so, then anyway take a brisk walk every day or maybe a run of a block or two, to keep limber.

Now it is not odd at all that I advise everyone who has rheumatiz or pyorrhea or both to supplement his or her everyday diet with a suitable ration of the vitamins and minerals in which the everyday diet is deficient, calcium, vitamin D, phosphorus, iodin, thiamin and riboflavin.

Notice that I recommend no medicine but only nutritional elements one should get but usually does not get from his everyday diet.

'Think of Pain You Cause by Ignoring Stop Streets'

As I sit here and watch the cars run stop streets, I wonder what can be wrong with the drivers. Don't they know what love is? If they did they surely would stop, for that is how I lost my dear husband six months ago. He had to give his life just because of a driver who was having too good a time to stop at a stop street.

★ ★ ★

If they only knew how it hurts to give up everything you love so dearly, they would stop. Don't they know when they get under that wheel to drive they have everybody's life in their hands? Why can't they remember that and stop?

'Salt on Roads Is Dangerous'

At the slightest snowfall salt is spread by the ton on roads over which we must travel. Motorists who think this does no damage other than rusting the chrome have never been under the cars. This stuff eats the fenders, floors, brake linings and even nuts and bolts that hold a car together, yet its done in the pretense of safety.

It flies upon windows, obscuring vision and even wipers can't clean it off. One has only to look at states with far worse winters that don't use salt but have lower accident rates for proof of this folly.

A little sand or cinders at intersections and a snowplow on the roads would make them plenty safe for any competent motorist. I and thousands of others would be strongly behind any movement possible to keep this destructive stuff off our highways.

Asks More Ideas About GI Loans

I would like to hear from vets who have purchased their homes under the GI loan plan. We're being processed for such a loan at the moment and after reading Bitter's letter, we would like to hear all the pros and cons.

I do know for a fact that a veteran is liable for his loan regardless of whether he sells his home or not. If Bitter had read his booklets, provided by the VA office, he would know that. Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Let Chums Stampede You

Beware of Jack's folly. But he was no more stupid than Jephthah, as described in the Bible. You teachers and parents should discuss this case with your children, for the "case method" is the best way to clinch points. Don't let slavery to a rash vow make you act stupidly. God doesn't want rash vows or silly sacrifices. He wants us to live smart lives.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-395: Jack J., aged 17, recently lost both legs.

"It is a terrible tragedy," said Jack's high school coach, "for Jack was a splendid athlete and might have made the Olympic team a few years hence.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, it all occurred because Jack and some companions got to bragging about their courage.

"Two of them dared Jack to climb a high tension tower. When he hesitated, they called him 'chicken.'

"So, to prove to these kids that he wasn't 'chicken,' Jack almost lost his life, for he touched a 10,000 volt wire that burned his two legs so badly the surgeon had to amputate both of them."

FOOLISH DARES

Kids, don't let anybody stampede you into doing stupid things just because they dare you.

And don't let unwise vows force you to carry through on stupid forms of conduct.

This isn't a new situation in human life, for 3,000 years ago a valiant Hebrew leader killed his only daughter because he also made a rash vow.

I refer to Jephthah in the Bible (Judges, Chapter II) who was coaxed into leading the Hebrews against a powerful foe.

Jephthah vowed before God that if he were victorious, he would sacrifice to Jehovah the first thing that came forth from the door of his house.

And Jephthah added that he would offer this person as a burnt sacrifice!

Well, Jephthah was victorious. And the news of his great victory preceded him to his home.

So when he got within sight of his dwelling, he saw his only daughter rush out to meet him.

Japhthah was dismayed, but the girl, learning of his rash vow, insisted that he kill her and offer her as a burnt sacrifice.

Actually, God didn't want human lives killed for sacrifices! He prefers us to love Him and to keep His laws, including the Golden Rule.

So why should men stupidly think they must keep unwise vows?

Jephthah was just as foolish as Jack in today's case, who lost both his legs over a similar bit of rashness.

It is O.K. to make vows, such as wedding vows, and then fulfill them if they are wise.

But if later information shows you that your earlier vows weren't smart, have no hesitation in breaking those stupid earlier promises.

Hannah was a wise mother of the Bible. She also made a vow that if she had children, she'd let the firstborn become a clergyman.

And she did, so that's how the Hebrews obtained their famous prophet Samuel. And Hannah's vow turned out very successfully for all concernend.

But always apply the test of science and "horse sense" to your vows.

For that's what God does! God never is desirous of foolish sacrifices, even though they are made to Him, for God wants us to lead happy, successful lives here on this earth.

★ ★ ★

"I came that ye might have life and have it more abundantly," stated Jesus, in further illustrating God's point.

You parents and grade school teachers might well stress this case of Jack and the amputated legs. Then emphasize to your children that it is not a sign of bravery to do things that are stupid.

Send for my "Behavior Test for Teenagers," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents (nonprofit). Use it as the proper yardstick. It will apply very well to grade schoolers, too.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Home Owner Learns Lot About Intruder

VIENNA, Va. (AP) — Charles C. Robinson, director of the Northern Virginia Planning Commission, doesn't know who is breaking into his home but he knows a lot about him. The intruder is a man, smokes, likes sports, watches TV, enjoys comfort and afternoon naps, takes showers, is curious about religious objects and is extremely punctual. Robinson finds his alarm clock set for 5:45 p.m. which is just half an hour before he regularly returns from work.

Venezuela Buys Meat

CARACAS—United States exports to Venezuela amounted to $1,049,610,000 in 1957, or 5 per cent of total U.S. exports. This was a 61 per cent increase over the value of U.S. exports to Venezuela in 1956. Goods worth $897,744,000, or 6.. per cent of all U.S. imports, were sent from Venezuela to the United States last year, a gain of 28.5 per cent.

LONDON (UPI)—A red Morris Minor sports car was seen on the streets of London today with this sign in the rear window: "Please give: Engine Tight—Driver sober."

Carbon Monoxide Peril Increases in Winter

LANSING (AP) — Carbon monoxide is a regular winter killer, the State Health Department reminded today.

Last year, the department said, 58 persons died in Michigan of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Running the car motor in the garage with the doors closed is a prime cause of such deaths, the heating units also can cause carbon monoxide poisoning, it advised.

An average farm in New Jersey today consists of about 75 acres.

Report Only 6 Pct. Reach Chosen Goal

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — A survey of 739 recent Minnesota high school graduates shows that only a small percentage of them have gone into the kind of work they hoped to get at the time of their graduation.

Only six per cent of the young men polled in the state's northeastern counties and 11 per cent of those in the southwest had realized their vocational goals. The study was conducted by Marvin Taves, University of Minnesota sociologist.

RETURNS TO HIS NETS — Helmar Aakvik, of Hovland, Minn. at 62 an old man of the seas, tugs his fishing boat into Lake Superior as he prepares to tend his herring nets in the icy waters. Last week the Coast Guard found the Norwegian-born sailor in his skiff after he had withstood a furious lake storm for 24 hours, looking for a missing fisherman friend.

Consumers Power Asks Election to OK Franchise

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—A representative from Consumers Power Co. has asked the Township Board to hold a special election Jan. 21 for residents' approval of a new 30-year franchise.

The original franchise acquired by the gas company in 1928 will expire this month. It is necessary to apply for a second, 30-year franchise if the company is to operate, maintain and expand operations.

The company will assume the cost of the special election which must be held 30 days prior to a regular election.

Other business of the Township Board was to change the status of Jack Levitsky from full to part time building inspector.

Levitsky's full time monthly salary of $425 has been reduced to $50 for a two-day week position due to the drop in the volume of building in the township.

Pontiac surveyor Noyce Strait has been hired to finish processing the plats in the township's Lakeview Cemetery. He has also been authorized to record the plats with the register of deeds for the convenience of township residents.

Detroit-Muskegon Run Ends for Steam Engine

DETROIT (AP) — The last of the puffing steam engines is gone now from the Detroit-Muskegon run on the Grand Trunk Western Railway.

After 100 years of steam, the Grand Trunk's mountain-type engine No. 6040 made the final run yesterday. From now on only deisels will do it.

Conductor Carl Green of Detroit, a railroader for 37 years, was nostalgic when a deisel hooked on in place of the steam giant.

"It doesn't look, or sound, like a train," Green said.

The Grand Trunk still operates with steam on its Detroit-Pontiac commuter line.

3 Engineers Die in Rocket Blast

4 Others Are Injured at Plant Which Produces Missile Fuel

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — A homemade rocket exploded early today at a plant which manufactures missile fuel, killing three young engineer who helped build the device.

Four others were injured by the blast at the Callery Chemical Co. Two of them, both engineers who worked on the rocket, were critically hurt.

Dead were Charles Sattes, 31; William Reynolds, 29; and Frank Wengrzyn, 24, all former Pennsylvanians who lived at Lawrence.

Injured were Richard Wright, 26, Elmer Boyd, 38, both engineers, and two maintenance men, B. J. Leavitt and J. Longstreth, all of Lawrence. Leavitt and Longstreth were treated at a hospital and released.

R. G. Schmidt, manager of the plant, said the rocket exploded in a waste disposal area. It caused no damage. The plant makes boron, used as a propellant for Schmidt said the engineers were experimenting with the rocket when it exploded about 1:45. He didn't know the nature of the experiment.

Schmidt said the engineers became intrigued some time ago with the idea of building a rocket. He emphasized that the project was their own and had no connection with company work.

Sattes and Reynolds moved here from Butler, Pa., and Wengrzyn from Millvale, Pa., and Wright from Mars, Pa.

Billboard Ads Hard to Control

Advertisements to Be Governed by Each State on Highway System

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Legal headaches surround plans to control billboard advertising along the projected 41,000 miles of the interstate highway system, attorneys agree.

★ ★ ★

"Most states will need to enact new laws if outdoor advertising is to be regulated in accordance with the national standards," LeRoy Powers, chief counsel of the Oklahoma State Highway Dept., told the American Assn. of Highway Officials.

Possible variations of state regulatory laws, Powers said, include prohibition, zoning, a permit system for billboards, and state acquisition of restrictive easements along highways.

Clifton W. Enfield, general counsel for the Bureau of Public Roads, noted in a prepared speech that it was up to the states to decide whether to apply national standards in control of advertising along the system.

States that regulate billboards will be entitled to ½ of 1 per cent of the federal share (90 per cent) of the cost of any project to which the rules are applied. The states are building the integrated interstate system to meet travel needs of 1975.

★ ★ ★

"More and more persons have become convinced that, if the safety and enjoyment of highway travel are to be promoted, there must be realistic and effective control of billboards," Enfield said.

Child Deaths Cut by Doctor's Drive

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—An insurance executive said he firmly believes that a concerted drive by doctors against the No. 1 killer of children —accidents—is beginning to pay off.

★ ★ ★

Dr. George W. Wheatley, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., said the accident death rate among children one to 14 years old has declined 17.3 per cent in less than a decade.

★ ★ ★

The greatest drop was in deaths from burning and poisoning in the one to four-year-old age group. In these areas, doctors have fought hard for legislation banning the use of inflammable materials in clothing and limiting the amount of poisonous lead in paint on articles children might chew.

Dr. Wheatley said education of parents in accident prevention is one of the major tasks ahead.

Dr. Graham Will Speak

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Frank P. Graham, former president of the University of North Carolina and a former U.S. Senator, will speak on "Human Rights in the Atomic Age" Dec. 10 at a Detroit commemoration of the 10th anniversary of United Nations' declaration of human rights.

Provincial Elders Call Hula Hoops Omen of Harm

MANILA (UPI) — Provincial elders predicted that the coming of the Hula Hoop was a sign of destructive typhoons and poor harvests in future years.

The Hula Hoop fad has landed in the Philippines, with young and old whirling the hoops on street corners and backyards.

The superstitious elders interpreted the whirlings of the hoop and its final plunge to the ground as an omen that the "destructive elements of nature" were gathering forces in the world which will be harmful to humanity.

That's a Dirty Shame

OUTWELL, England (UPI) — Bachelor Bernard Tuck, 59, who makes a hobby out of entering contests, has won his third washing machine. He said he sends his wash to the laundry.

30 Seagoing Ships Race Great Lakes Ice

MONTREAL (UPI) — About 30 ocean-going ships are pushing through ice in the Great Lakes waaterways and canals in a race to get to the sea before an early freeze strands them for the winter.

At least eight of the ships are European vessels. Also inching their way through waterways are lake vessels making their last trip of the season.

At nightfall Wednesday, the dark shapes of 25 ships could be seen on nearby Lake St. Louis queued up at the western entrance to the Lachine Canal. Canal Engineer J. Morin said "conditions are bad, but we fully expect all ships to get through."

The Lachine was scheduled to close Saturday for the season, but it was expected to remain open until all ships had passed, unless a new cold wave caused a major freeze-up.

House of Corrections Unit Purchase Gets Approval

LANSING (UPI)—The State Corrections Commission has approved purchase of the woman's division of the Detroit House of Corrections for $2,342,500.

The purchase must also be approved by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, the Legislature, and the Detroit Common Council and mayor.

The price includes a $500,000 debt that would be assumed by the state.

A MIXTURE OF ART AND HOBBY — Short of ready Christmas cash six years ago, artists Bob and Jan Simpich began producing these caroler dolls and other Dickens' characters. They continued producing dolls as a hobby that has grown into a thriving Christmas business.

Dickens Solves Money Problem

'Christmas Carol' Dolls Now Thriving Business for Young Couple

MANITOU SPRING, Colo. (AP) — Back in 1952 Bob and Jan Simpich were stumped by two quite ordinary Yuletide problems — what to buy for whom and what to use for money.

The young art teacher and his bride hit on the idea of turning out sets of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" dolls.

The dolls were made of modeling clay and wire and clothed with scraps from the sewing basket.

They were an immediate success. Friends of the Simpich in-laws began writing for dolls. The business grew. So did the line of dolls.

Now there's a Robin Hood with bow and arrows; Robinson Crusoe with a muzzle-loading blunderbuss; Hansel and Gretel; Huck Finn with his corncob pipe; Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

This year, Simpich (he's 32, and Jan, 25), will ship 700 to 800 angels, 300 English carolers, plus some Puritans and, of course, the Dickens' sets.

Finished dolls stand 8 to 14 inches high. Character is painstakingly carved into their plaster faces. Hands, arms, feet and legs are carved just as carefully as the faces.

Learning to cast so that heads or other parts of dolls could be produced in quantity was a major problem.

They had help in solving this problem from Jan's uncle, a dentist in Independence, Mo. He taught them the technique dentists use in molding inlays and dentures.

The two Simpich children, Gretchen, 2, and Ragan, 4, often serve as models, but they're still waiting for a doll set of their own.

Make Christmas Pixies

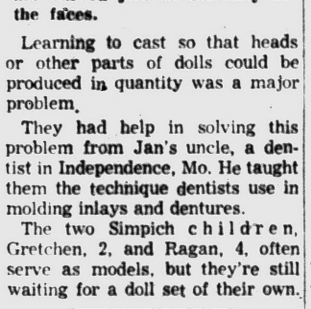

For a Christmas decoration that will be a conversation piece, make some candle lighting pixies. With a darning needle pierce holes in the ends of some peanut shells. Poke pipe cleaners through for arms and legs. Daub on warm sealing wax for caps, hands, shoes and trousers. Set the pixies to climbing candles, matches in hand.

Novel Note for Noel

Using red or green water paints, draw one letter of a Christmas word in the center of a white plate. Then arrange a series of such plates on a mantel or buffet so they will spell something like "Merry Christmas," "Joy" or "Noel."

STILL DIGGING?

Yesterday's blizzard may be only a taste of what's ahead. If you're still digging out with an old-fashioned shovel, it's time for a change. Time to replace muscle power with Bolens' horsepower.

Borderline Cases Retain Freedom in New Hospital

DENVER (UPI) — A newly-organized hospital is treating a "borderline group" of mentally ill patients in Denver without locks or restraints.

Colorado State Rep. John E. Streltzer, president of the National Mental Health Center, said its patients are persons too sick to be at home but not sick enough to be placed behind locked doors.

"In severity of illness these patients are on the borderline between those who are easily able to function in spite of their problems and those who have lost the ability to deal adequately with everyday problems," Streltzer said.

★ ★ ★

He said it was frequently found that these patients would have little hope of getting well if they were to continue living without medical aid. The National Mental Health Center, Streltzer said, tries to help the patients understand themselves better so they can more satisfactorily cope with their difficulties.

The Malaya Federation has more than two million Chinese among its multilingual population of seven million.

U. S. Dogs Cost Owners Half-Billion $ Annually

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — America is going to the dogs to the tune of a half-billion dollars a year.

★ ★ ★

That's how much it's costing us to let dogs lead a dog's life, said Harry Miller, one of the nation's leading canine connoisseurs and Director of the Gaines Dog Research Center.

★ ★ ★

Miller pegs the nation's pooch population at 25 million, which includes 113 recognized breeds, one-third of all there are.

"There's no recession in the dog industry," said Miller. "It's thriving, with 40 per cent of the nation's homes having one or more dogs. We figure the total gross last year, including sale of puppies, food, shows medical expenses and otherwise, was well over $599 million."

CHIEF ITEM, FOOD

Biggest item, he explained, was $325 million for dog food, the likes of which Mother Hubbard's Cupboard never imagined. There are canned foods, meal types, baked goods, frozen foods and special prescription foods. Then there are diets aimed at reducing obese dogs, those to aid the kidneys of aging dogs, other high protein diets for dogs who are under stress, and menus for just about every condition imaginable. Nervous dog get tranquilizing drugs; listless ones get energy foods.

"For the most part," said Miller, "dogs are treated as members of the family. They get sick and old like humans, and they get medicine and hospitalization in the same manner."

Miller's book "Puppy and Dog Care" is a best-seller among dog owners, and its proceeds go to the Cornell Research Laboratory for Diseases of Dogs. But there are as many varied publications on dogs as cross-breeds.

HOTEL LISTS

You can, for example, get a national listing of hotels and motels which do not discriminate against dogs if you're traveling. There's a pamphlet on dog names; thee's one that tells you how to enjoy a dog show, another on how to groom your dog, and one entitled, "Our Dog's Health Record," in which you record all his shots, treatments and visits to the veterinarian, a counterpart to the "Our Baby" book. It even has a space for the pooch's picture.

★ ★ ★

Dogdom, in brief, is enjoyed a boom, said Miller.

"We know that two out of every five homes being set up will have a dog," he stated.

James Lyons Is President of 1st PNH Senior Class

By BARBARA SHAVER

James Lyons is the first senior class president of Pontiac Northern High School.

Other senior officers elected this week were: Tom Hoisington, vice president; Pat Christian, secretary, and Lysle Basinger, treasurer. They were selected by a senior class nominating committee for dependability, service, leadership and loyalty.

Dec. 16, Dr. Roy Alexander of Michigan State University will talk to seniors enrolled in the college preparatory course about their future plans.

Wednesday, the seniors held a dance to boost funds for the Huskie statue they hope to buy the school when they leave in June. To date, the class has earned $210 for the project.

★ ★ ★

Karlene Walton was chairman of the Student Council's latest project, filling a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family.

ELECT CO-OP OFFICERS

The 1958-59 officers of the Cooperative Education Club elected recently are: Tim Agar, president; Judy Hartman, vice president; Dottie Hetherington, secretary, and Joan Lamson, treasurer.

Fifteen female members of the Conditioning Club, a figure conscious group, took an eight-mile hike recently.

Three Northern boys were in the spotlight this week. The American Society of Body Engineers selected them as winners in this year's drafting contest.

Caroll Dickerson won $125 for first prize in the contest. Melvin Sellers placed second and received $75, while Don Chase won a set of drafting instruments for placing 14th.

★ ★ ★

Sixty-three high schools in Michigan entered the contest. Winners were honored at a banquet yesterday at the Rackham Building in Detroit.

A senior homeroom, B-15, gave the school a set of chimes for the public address system recently. They consist of four keys of different tones and a nameplate on them designates the giver.

WTHS to Stage Operetta Soon, Play Tomorrow

By JEAN REXFORD

Waterford Township High School musicians and drama students are in the limelight this month. They will present a play tomorrow night and an operetta next week.

Agatha Christie's mystery, "And Then There Were None," is slated to open for the second evening tomorrow at 8 in the school's gymnasium.

The play opened last night under the direction of Robert Alexander. Leading roles are portrayed by Clark Lefurgy, Marjo Ballard, Robert Myers and Betty Vernan.

Others in the cast are Lanny Younger, Jean Loucks, Don Wennston, Nancy Raymond, Florence Jharmark, Ben Bayma and Wayne Barnhart.

Student director is Carolyn Knisley. Committee chairmen are Betty Sue Steehler and Linda Talba, publicity; Jean Rexford, usher; John Ryan, makeup; Pat Rexford, properties, and John Teeuwissen, lights.

PREPARE 'THE RED MILL'

The curtain will open Thursday for the first presentation of the operetta, "The Red Mill." The music department's production, which includes a cast of 16, begins at 8 p.m. at the high school Thursday and Saturday.

The cast includes Larry Rose, George Martin, Sandy MacAbee, Connie Barron, Rick Ericksen, Arlene Butler and Harry Nicholie.

Other players are Bud Wolf, Jack Langdon, Fred Longacre, Jane Moultrap, Donna Whitcomb, Linda Byington, Jeollyn Prout, Beverly Lewis and Betty Cox.

Thirteen seniors participated in the "Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow" scholarship test Tuesday.

They were Karen Anderson, Diana McIntosh, Dinah Greenleaf, Linda McDowell, Carol Grimes, Jean Rexford, Rose Jones and Beverly Hull.

The list continues with Kathy Simenson, Mirium Forbes, Linda Harrison, Loretta Priest, Judy Kent and Susan Kihn.

DEBATE NEWS

To date, the Varsity Debaters have lost three of the four events they participated in this fall. Affirmative debaters, Bob Cooper and Fred Gross, and those on the negative side, John Teeuwissen and Tim Patterson, lost to Detroit Pershing High School.

Monday, Teeuwissen and Patterson defeated the Southfield affirmatives while Bob Cooper and Clark Lefurgy, varsity affirmatives, lost to the Cranbrook High School.

The junior class sponsored a pep assembly today as a preview to tonight's basketball game with Wayne High School.

Nike Choir Sings at Avondale High

By CAROL MAZUREK

The Auburn Heights Nike Site choir entertained students at Avondale High School and 40 soldiers from four area Nike sites this week at an assembly.

Five students acted as jurors in two sessions of the Pontiac Teenage Traffic Court. They were Gary Wright, Don Barnhart, Janice Ambrose, Gary Acker and Carol Mazurek. Gary was the judge of the second session.

Yearbooks are being sold this week on a time payment basis, according to Jon Bruytier, editor.

REHEARSE FOR OPERETTA — Practicing a Spanish dance to an Italian song in the Dutch operetta, "Red Mill," are these three Waterford Township High School students. From left they are Arlene Butler of 6278 Greer Rd., Larry Rose of 710 N. Cass Lake Rd., and Sandy Mac Abee of 1048 Orchid St. The school's music department will present the musical Dec. 11 and 13 at the school.

Judy Kenney Plays Child Who Has Split Personality

By JOANNE WOOD

Rehearsals for "The Bad Seed", a drama about a 10-year-old girl who inherits the murderous personality traits of her grandmother, are continuing this week for the Pontiac Central and Northern High School dramatic departments presentation next Friday and Saturday.

Judy Kenney of 388 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac Central High School junior, plays Penmark, a sweet, neat, mature child who actually is a devil in little girls clothing.

The split personality of the child shows her courteous, innocent and then heartless and without conscience or feeling of right or wrong.

Under the direction of Garth Errington, the play will be held in the Pontiac Central High School auditorium each evening beginning at 8. The Pontiac high schools will be the first in the nation to cast the play written by Maxwell Anderson, Pulitzer Prize winner, according to Errington.

Tickets are now on sale and phone orders are being taken at the schools.

★ ★ ★

Play committee chairmen are Carol Olsen, properties; Marilyn Tomkins and Peggy Warren, tickets; Carl Pajpras, stage; Bill Banks, lights; Jeannette Ohanisian and Joanne Wood, publicity; John Watson and Wanda Carter, costumes and Albert Padar, production assistant.

The cast includes: Sherri Everett, Tom O'Brien, Bruce Bishop, Bill Kath, David Lenunske, Sandra McDowell, Sally Warren, Lynn Walker, Red Ledesma and Carol Fergison.

J-HOP TOMORROW

Tomorrow night the J-Hop will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight in the girls gymnasium.

Ken Dextrom and Mary Comrad are co-chairmen of the prom, called "Star Dust."

Other committee chairmen are Judy Haroutunian and Sally Pullis, decorations; Judy Johnson and Sharon Nelson, publicity; Marilyn Veron, tickets; Sharron Monroe, programs; Margaret Cated and Evelyn Kerr, refreshments and Dick Brown, post dance.

Bob Garrels and his band will provide the music.

'THE BAD SEED' — Pontiac Central High School junior, Judy Kenney of 388 N. Saginaw St., is seen in three of her moods she plays in the role of a 10-year-old child with a split personality in "The Bad Seed." Pontiac Central and Northern high school dramatics departments are producing the play for Dec. 12 and 13 performances. Left, a sweet, happy child and center, she looks at the shoes she has just used as a murder weapon, a characteristic she inherited from her grandmother. At the right, she has a look of determination and satisfaction that she has accomplished something.

W. Bloomfield Seniors Like Silver, Gray, Red

By SUE PIERCE

West Bloomfield Township High School seniors selected silver and gray as their class colors this week. The red rose was chosen as the flower.

Bill Grover, senior, and Sharon Thornton, junior, were the best salesmen in the recent junior-senior class magazine sales contest, which ended in a tie.

Pupils Organize New Book Club at St. Frederick

By JUDY COSGROVE

A new club called "Great Books" has been organized at St. Frederick's High School.

Sister Benedetta is sponsoring the group organized to encourage interest in the world's great literature.

Six students were recognized this week for being the top salesmen in a candy sale. They were Mary Theeringer, Rebecca Ellsworth, Antoinette Tzineff, Brian LaLone, Jerry Bey and Donald Arnot.

Students collected money to send to Chicago to aid the parochial school which burned this week.

He'll Expand Disneyland

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney plans a monorail system, submarines sailing under polar ice and bobsled rides down the Matterhorn as additions to Disneyland. The master of make-believe announced a five-million-dollar expansion program to be completed by next June.

RUSSELL GREENLESS

St. Michael's Soph Wins City Contest

By SHELAGH O'ROURKE

Winner of the citywide "Voice of Democracy" contest this year is Russell Greenless, 316 E. Shadbolt, Lake Orion, a St. Michael's High School sophomore.

Russell won a $50 savings bond for his first-place rating among 21 contestants from four city high schools. He will now compete in the state speech contest. Winners will be announced Dec. 15.

The national contest will be held in Washington, D.C., in January.

Senior girls entered the "Betty Crocker Search for Homemakers" contest Tuesday.

HOLD POLIO CLINIC

A polio clinic was held Wednesday at the school for those who had not received their first shot. Twenty-four members of the Future Nurses Club assisted the nurses during the clinic.

Seniors ordered caps and gowns this week in anticipation of being the first class to graduate in the new church now nearing completion.

The Sodality of Mary's latest project is placing an Advent wreath of evergreen boughs and four candles in each schoolroom.

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

LPs of Christmas music are in great evidence in the local music shops, and they seem to be selling well both as gifts, and also as a pleasant yuletide decoration to the ear drums.

Cream of the crop of this year's Christmas LPs include "The Mormon Tabernacle Choir Sings Christmas Carols," "Merry Christmas" by Johnny Mathis (Columbia); "To Wish You a Merry Christmas" by Harry Belafonte, "Christmas With Grandma Moses" with reminiscing by G. Moses & music by Skitch Henderson and the Ralph Hunter Choir (Victor).

Others include "Caroling, Caroling" by The Gene Lowell Chorus (Warner Brothers); "Won't You Spend Christmas With Me?" by Dorothy Collins (Everest); and "The Star Carol," Tennessee Ernie Ford (Capitol).

It seems a shame that Mahalia Jackson doesn't appear on an album of Christmas music this year. Her great LP "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" (Columbia) of several seasons back was one of the finest albums of Christmas music ever made.

A top-notch single by Stan Freburg on Capitol goes much further than most albums by not merely "reminding" us through repetition of the age old carols. If you get nothing but laughs out of his "Green Chritma" (& that's no misprint) you are immune to sharp biting satire at its recorded best.

FIVE ACES: The big news this week lies below the surface (fourth place to be exact). While "To Know Him Is to Love Him" (The Teddy Bears) is way out in front and "Whole Lot of Loving" (Fats Domino) ranks second, neither may hold their lofty positions for long.

"It's Only Make Believe" (Conway Twitty) is on very shaky ground in third spot.

The earthquake is created by David Seville, of Bing-Bang-Walla-Walla-Bing-Bang fame, who has come up with another hot disc "The Chipmunk Song."

Unheard of last week, the Seville platter has skyrocketed to fourth place locally and looks like a first place bet for next week.

Fifth spot, after a little coin-flipping, goes to Elvis' two-sided seller "I Got Stung," and "One Night."

Miss Warrick Wins Award

By JOAN PAYNE

Carolyn Warrick of 8565 Thendara St., a Clarkston High School senior, has received the Daughters of The American Revolution Good Citizen Award for the school.

Miss Warrick also was carnival queen in her sophomore year and homecoming maid last year. She is sports editor of the school's yearbook.

Eleven boys were initiated into the Clarkston High School Varsity Club last night. They are John Kieft, Ronnie Russel, Gary Allen, Jack Anderson, Dick Spohn, Eddie Glennie, David Meyers, Gary Smith, Jerry Henning, Elton Houston and David Gallaghan.

The club will sponsor a dance in the cafeteria tonight following the basketball game with Ortonville. It hopes to raise money to pay for a blocking sled the group purchased last year.

Holly High Yearbook on Sale Until January

By FREDRICA WHITE

Members of the Tell Tale yearbook staff at Holly Area High School are busy this week selling 1959 edition.

Phone orders will be taken at the school between now and January when the drive ends.

Area Debaters to Meet Monday at Walled Lake

By SALLY COLLINS

Walled Lake High School will be the scene Monday of the second round of debates between area schools. Southfield, Farmington, Waterford, Cranbrook and Lincoln high schools will be represented.

The students out-shot the teachers in the student-faculty basketball game last week, winning 56 to 50.

The first diesel engines were constructed in 1895.

British Schools Full of Toughs

Juvenile Crime Counts for 49 Pct. of England's Indictable Lawbreaking

LONDON (AP) — Britain is breaking out in blackboard jungles, an experienced teacher says.

The teacher, John Townsend, reports that, far from being a well-behaved little gentleman, the average English schoolboy he has met is more likely to be a foul-mouthed illiterate and violent young tough.

★ ★ ★

Townsend has been teaching them in several state-run schools in some of the tougher parts of Britain. His new book "The Young Devils," says kids in some of the schools refuse to learn. They cheat, steal and start fires. They terrify their teachers—with fists, challenges to fights and threats of after-school assaults.

Juvenile crime reached a record peak last year when 64,000 youngsters under 21 committed 49 per cent of the indictable crimes handled by British courts.

★ ★ ★

Sir Basil Henriques, one of Britain's best known Juvenile Court judges, blamed modern schools run on the idea of no punishment, no rewards and no repressions.

Just what is happening in British schools? Plenty, newspaper accounts show.

Two 14-year-old boys started a fire in an academic building. Two 12-year-old boys started a credit trading business at school with $434 worth of stolen toys.

★ ★ ★

At Bradford, in the north of England, four boys and three girls, all 13-14, were hauled into court on sex charges. One of the boys shrugged his shoulders and said: "Half the school does it."

Children blackmail one another. Victims steal from their parents in order to pay the hush money. In one case an 11-year-old paid blackmailing school friends $168 he stole from his father's store—so his father wouldn't learn he smoked on his way to school.

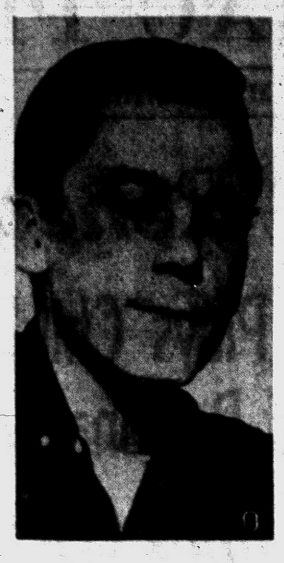

U. of M. Women Get Midnight Curfew OK

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The women's senate at the University of Michigan has voted to change the week-night curfew for upper classwomen from 10:30 p.m. to midnight so the coeds will have more chance to study.

At least, that's the explanation the women's senate gave to the dean of women's office in requesting the later curfew.

It seems that the new undergraduate library at the university is open until midnight on week nights. And that gives male students an unfair advantage. They get 90 minutes more study time in the library each night.

The dean of women's office approved the request for a midnight curfew for all but freshman coeds, not only to bolster study time but also to curb the desire for upper classwomen to live in apartments off campus.

HELD IN SLAYING — Gerald Feasby, 31, sits in a Pasadena, Calif., jail where he was booked on suspicion of murder following the slaying of his girl friend, 19-year-old model Charlotte Trosper. Police quoted him as saying everything went black after he fought with her for possession of a knife.

An interesting place to visit is Shakerstown, Ky., which was founded by the "Shakers" or, as they were first known, the United Society of Believers.

Utah's Waiting Game Had Purpose in Repeal

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — U.S. topers waited, highballs ready, for the signal that would open a race to quaff the first legal drink. But the 21 dawdling Utahns who kept them waiting cherished a higher hope:

Utah must be the 36th and deciding state to repeal prohibition.

Nerves were frayed and highballs flat before the topers finally got the word — 25 years ago today — that Utah had made it.

★ ★ ★

It took planning to be 36th, the magic number meaning the required three fourths of the states had ratified repeal. Utah's planning even included a play on numbers: Elect 21 delegates to okay the 21st Amendment.

Actually, only 20 delegates ratified it. The 21st had to leave early.

Utah picked Tuesday, Dec. 5, 1933, as the date. Two other states, Ohio and Pennsylvania, planned ratifying conventions that day. They would be 34th and 35th, because of the difference in time zones.

A rumor said Ohio might wait to act until Utah did. Utah planners countered with a scheduled 7:30 p.m. voting session and hinted the slender roll call might last until midnight.

Would-be repeal revelers protested the delay in vain. Delegate Franklin Riter, president of the Utah Lague for Prohibition Repeal, summed up Utah's case: "We are determined no other state shall take this glory away from Utah. I am sorry that our plans may upset the starting time of celebrations in Eastern centers. . . ."

Utah needn't have worried. Pennsylvania acted promptly. Ohio followed suit as Utah delegates sat through early session oratory.

Still the session droned on—a speech; committees, more speeches.

Suddenly, an unscheduled recess was called and delegates held a caucus. There was a rumor that Maine, due to vote next day, proposed to turn the clock ahead 24 hours so it could be 36th.

The rumor proved false but effective. At 3:32 p.m., far ahead of schedule, Delegate S. R. Thurman of Salt Lake City shouted the final "aye." Prohibition was ended.

★ ★ ★

Convention President R. L. Olson of Ogden later denied the Maine rumor spurred the speedup. He said it resulted from delegates' deires "to be agreeable and to acommodate and please all concerned" — especially those chafing at the delay.

Who downed the first legal drink? The record isn't clear.

Benjamin Decasseres, a "literary rebel and bon vivant" according to one dispatch, waited near a press teletype in New York's Waldorf-Astoria, drink in hand. The story said he "drank deeply" when the flash came, a milestone duly recorded by photographers.

But in Chicago an indignant Beverly West, kid sister of the celebrated Mae, claimed she was first. She said Decasseres "couldn't have tossed off his drink any faster than I did. The repeal flash came and, bingo! Down went my drink."

One certainty: No Utahn claimed the honor. The state's repeal allowed only the sale of beer containing 3.2 per cent alcohol or less.

It was another 18 months before Utah got hard liquor. State-run liquor stores — still in business — opened by permission of the Legislature on June 1, 1935.

'Franklin's Yesteryear' by Bert D. Wood Paints Early Life Picture

"Franklin's Yesteryear," by Bert D. Wood, Edwards Brothers, Inc. Ann Arbor, 1958

Tales of the early settlement of Franklin, one of the most historic communities in Oakland County, come to life in the slim volume "Franklin's Yesteryear."

Author Bert D. Wood, 79, was born on the site of the present Franklin Hills Golf Club. He brings out much of the rustic humor that accompanied the early developments in the southern part of the county.

WOOD

Dedication to preserving the stories and records of the early days led Mr. Wood to the research and collection of data necessary for this book.

His accounts of the construction of mills, churches, stores, taverns, and homes traces the first developments of the area, which was originally known as the Stoughton Bullock settlement, after first settlers Dillucena Stoughton and Elijah Bullock bought land in 1824-25.

The volume is also rich in Indian lore, and covers the Pontiac conspiracy and other Indian affairs. Adding interest are excerpts from the diaries of some pioneer residents of the area, which give a realistic picture of the hardships of the times.

The leaves have fallen, notes Jack Harris, and the trees would be completely bare, if it weren't for the effigies of football coaches hanging from the branches . . . Speak when you're angry and you'll make the best speech you ever regretted. —Earl Wilson.

Fanfani Battles to Save Regime

5-Month Rule of Italy Seems Ready to Fall After Gas Tax Bout

ROME (AP)—Premier Amintore Fanfani battled today to save his tottering five-month-old government. His chances looked poor.

The Chamber of Deputies prepared to debate a motion of confidence in the Christian Democratic leader's pro-Western minority government. Most political observers doubted the Premier could corral enough votes to avoid a defeat that would bring down the government.

★ ★ ★

The confidence vote is expected early next week.

Fanfani called for the vote on his entire program after losing two ballots Thursday night on a gasoline tax. Opponents to the left and right of his regime ganged up with dissident Christian Democrats to abolish the tax.

On two votes, the government lost 314-263 and 323-239.

The votes seemed to be the culmination of rising dissatisfaction with the coalition government, which took office July 2.

Labor troubles began to sweep across Italy two weeks ago. Right-wing Christian Democrats complained Fanfani's coalition was too leftist. Some members of the government objected to the Premier's tight control obtained by putting his own men into key jobs.

★ ★ ★

The revolt Thursday night came on the gasoline tax imposed during the 1956 Suez crisis to meet the greater cost of transporting oil from the Middle East. On Nov. 1 the government cut it in half, to 4½ cents a gallon, but wanted to keep the rest for revenue.

Even without the tax, gasoline in Italy will cost about 84 cents a gallon.

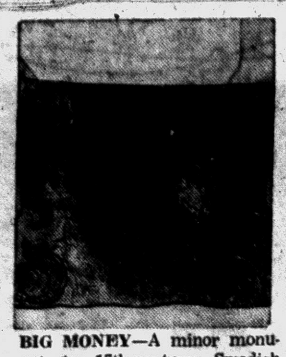

Special Program Marks National Bible Week

NEW YORK — In observance of National Bible Week, "Lamp Unto My Feet" will present a special teleplay, "A Book That Lives," Sunday from 10 to 10:30 a.m. on the CBS television network.

Following the drama, written by Peter Van Doren, the program's moderator Dr. Lyman Bryson will discuss the moral values of the teleplay with James Nettinga, executive-director of the American Bible Society.

"Lamp Unto My Feet" is produced by Don Kellerman for the Public Affairs Department of CBS News.

Largest of American Protestant Church denominations is Methodist.

BIG MONEY—A minor monument to 17th-century Swedish "square dealing" is this seven-inch-square coin found on the shores of the Baltic Sea in Nida, Russia. The one-daler piece, which has five seals on its face, was issued in Sweden in 1685. It weighs three pounds.

4 Children Win Slice of Heaven for Christmas

CHICAGO (AP)—Four children — cheered on by mobs of Christmas shoppers —, were turned loose in the dazzling world of downtown toy department Wednesday with permission to "take all you can in five minutes—free."

The haul? Bicycles, dolls, trains, balls and a wagon amounting to more than $1,379 retail.

★ ★ ★

The kids, three boys and a girl, won a State Street Council contest to name the elfinlike figures atop new lightpoles down the Loop thoroughfare. The council footed the bill.

One boy, 11-year-old Dennis Gray, lost a few seconds untangling two bicycles from a rack, but made up by grabbing boxes 10 deep in his arms.

★ ★ ★

Galye Longwitz, 10, who two weeks ago had her arm in a cast, clutched six dolls at one crack and made several return trips.

In another store, Leonard Belanger, 12, benefited from some advance planning.

"Lenny and I mapped out the toy department during 10 recent visits," his mother said.

Young Belanger first seized a bicycle and wheeled it to a cart. All the toys had to fit in the wagon, according to rules.

★ ★ ★

Then came dolls for his sister, two sets of trains, two more bikes, toy guns, games and a record player.

Meanwhile, 9-year-old Donald Gogins dashed away with three bikes, dolls for his three sisters and a space helmet.

When it was over, one parent posed this question: "What will we get them all for Christmas now?"

The term "forecast" was invented in 1860 when the first estimates on future weather were made.

Hal Boyle Envisions Startling Peacetime Uses

New Fear-Gas Can Turn Mouse Into Lion

NEW YORK (AP)—Every now and then an idea developed by the military services turns out to be more useful in peace than in war.

The average housewife, for example, doesn't know she owes a debt to Napoleon But she does. It was Bonaparte's quest for a method of provisioning his troops on the march that spurred the development of canned food.

Another example was the aerosol bomb developed during the World War II. It is now used to spray everything from whitewash to tooth paste.

★ ★ ★

A still more promising product is a new "fear gas" being developed by the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps. It already is strong enough to cause an alley cat to become terrified at the sight of a mouse.

In time, says Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, it may become refined to a point where, sprayed on a battlefield, it might temporarily paralyze the will of enemy troops to fight.

While this certainly would be a great boon in wartime, can't a gas of this kind find equally important civilian employment?

As it is now, millions of ordinary people are so nervous, upset, and afraid, that they meet every daily emergency by swallowing a couple of tranquilizer pills. The pills don't rid them of their fears. They simply dull the impact of their fears.

How much finer your existence would be if, instead of a bottle of tranquilizer pills, you had a pocketful of small new aerosol bombs loaded with superstrong fear gas! Instead of having to calm your own fears you could make everybody else afraid of you.

Are you afraid to ask your boss for a raise? Not with your trusty fear gas bomb. You merely walk into old Scrooge's office, spray him in the face—and wait for him to hand over to you the keys to the company.

Are you afraid of your wife when you sneak into the house at 3 a.m. after a losing session at poker? Simply squirt a few whiffs of fear gas at her, and she'll run in panic and lock herself in the bedroom.

Are you afraid—as most modern parents are—of your children? Just fumigate them with your nerve gas, and they'll turn into docile little rabbits.

Do you bore everybody to death at a cocktail party? Not any longer. Now you can scare them to death.

Whatever frightened you before—supercilious clothing store salesmen, haughty waiters, threatening landlords, arrogant traffic cops—now quakes before you. The barrage of fear gas you spread around you (don't breathe it yourself!) turns you into a conquering hero.

It is a mighty dream. And it has only one flaw. If everybody brought a supply of these fear gas grenades and started tossing them around, then everybody would be afraid of everybody and everything else.

★ ★ ★

But what's to lose there? Isn't that about the present situation of the world today anyway?

Painter Starts Blaze, Dies Running for Aid

SAGINAW (AP) — House painter Walter A. Dreffs, 58, of Zilwaukee, died of a heart attack Wednesday while running for aid after his blow torch set fire to a house. He had been using the torch to remove paint.

The house, owned by Miss Frances Dreier, suffered an estimated $2,000 damage.

Flying Berlin Corridor Ticklish Business

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

BERLIN — There were 60 of us flying the corridor into West Berlin. And there were 30 noses pressed to the windows of the DC7C—looking for Migs with the awe and expectation of children looking at toys.

One of the celebrities aboard had suggested painting a sign on the topside of the wing—"Do not shoot, Tovarich, we are merely fun-lovers"—but there hadn't been time.

Besides, it was dark and foggy in the long, 20-mile-wide corridor between Frankfurt and Berlin. And even Russia jet pilots, who are cannier than most, cannot read English without benefit of the moon.

It had been five years since Soviet jets had the audacity to shoot up a plane that wandered out of the corridor into Red space, but statistics don't stop a woman from worrying. When an occasional star would pop out of the clouds, there would be a shudder among the suspicious groundlings from America. Surely, here was a Mig and we were about to be done in.

As we descended toward friendly Berlin, and the clouds broke below to reveal the scattered lights of Russian farmhouses, they looked, to the worriers, like a fighter squadron zooming up from the ground.

We landed safely and smoothly at Templehof Airport one hour and five minutes after entering the corridor. We kicked ourselves mentally for having been childish.

"All those stars," we giggled nervously, "and we thought they were Migs . . ."

The pilot joined the relieved laughter. Then dropped the kicker. "Only one of them was," he said.

The jet had shot down through the clouds, looked over the Conrad Hilton chartered plane, decided apparently that we were harmless, rolled over and flew back to his own territory.

According to Tom Flanagan, Pan American's chief pilot and director of German operations, this is a common occurrence on the three Allied air corridors into Berlin.

"The Russians are allowed in the corridors, and they're curious. They often fly up to a regularly scheduled plane—scaring the uninitiated passengers, of course—and look it over. But what can they do? Nothing. As long as we stay in our boundaries, we're as safe as if we were flying from Cleveland to Pittsburgh.

"There's a trick to flying the corridors, especially in bad weather, but with all the 'checks' we have now it's duck soup compared to what it used to be. We have all sorts of radar and radio aids to keep us on course.

There are instruments in the cockpit of all planes that indicate the slightest deviation from the 'center line' of the corridor. If a plane gets within a couple of miles of the outside edge, our radio stations send out signals.

"If the weather is terrible in the center of the corridor and a plane takes to the outer edge, the Russians are likely to send up Migs to remind you that you're getting close to their territory. They literally chase you back in.

Bishop Hits Segregation as Close to Blasphemy

CAPETOWN, South Africa (UPI) —Capetown Archbishop Joost De Blank has denounced apartheid (segregation) as a social poison and urged South Africa's Anglican Churches to steer clear of it.

He said elimination of apartheid was not a matter of politics, but a fundamental Christian duty.

"Anyone who has such a temporal and irreligious view of the church's function sails perilously close to blasphemy," he said.

Florida Bullfight Illegal Even if Bull Not Hurt

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida Attorney General Richard Ervin ruled that bullfights are illegal in Florida even if the bull is not harmed.

Ervin advised the City of Tampa that a circus should not be allowed to carry out a scheduled match between a man and a bull, although the circus promised not to harm the bull in any way.

He Tried to Help

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Police said when they overtook Melvin J. Dugas and arrested him for driving 120 miles an hour, Dugas told them "I was just trying to get out of your way."

Now 25 Years Since Repeal, Nation Still Has Prohibition

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Feature Writer

While the 13 years of Prohibition failed to turn the United States dry, the 25 years of Repeal have failed to make the nation wet.

During the Prohibition Era — when it was illegal to produce or sell alcoholic beverages — there was many a boozy oasis for the citizen who did not like to drink his water straight.

At 5:32 p.m. today, it will be exactly 25 years since ratification of the 21st Amendment. This was the law which turned on the spigots again.

But not wide open, as the accompanying map illustrates.

For today there are two states where prohibition is in force. These are Oklahoma and Mississippi. Additionally, there are 10 states considered less than 80 per cent wet.

By definition of the Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., this degree of wetness is figured on the basis of total population in a state where there is local option. For instance, let us say there is a city of 400,000 where liquor is legal, surrounded by 10 dry cities of a total of 100,000 population. This would mean the entire area is 80 per cent wet.

The LBI says 83.8 per cent of the nation is legally wet. This figure closely approximates that given by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which says 25 million people live in areas where hard liquor is banned.

The WCTU continues in its campaign to prohibit the sale of liquor, wine and beer, a campaign which began 84 years ago and saw its darkest hour with the Repeal. The organization works toward this end mainly in local option elections. Thus, in a thoroughly wet city such as Chicago, you will find a dry precinct such as the one taking in the northwest corner of 63rd street and Cottage Grove avenue.

All but eight states (Arizona, California, Iowa, Nevada, North Dakota, South Carolina, Utah and Wyoming) and the District of Columbia have local option provisions. Naturally, 100 per cent dry Oklahoma and Mississippi have none.

Additionally, there are 17 so-called monopoly states. These are states which engage in various ways and degrees in the sale of liquor. They buy from the producer and sell to the customer. The workers are state civil service employes.

While a state may be a monopoly state, it does not mean it is 100% wet. Of the monopoly states, North Carolina is less than half wet; Alabama in the 50% category; Vermont and Maine in the 70% bracket; Virginia 80%, and New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington and West Virginia in the 90% division.

On the other hand, legally dry Oklahoma and Mississippi number among the heaviest moonshining states in the nation. In 1957, agents of the Internal Revenue Service's Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division seized 188 stills in Oklahoma and 356 in Mississippi. In the entire southeast quadrant of the nation, 19,681 stills were seized. Within this quadrant are Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina and Tennessee which are considered less than 70% legally wet.

The LBI claims that Repeal has done much to make this a nation of moderate drinkers, rather than the booze hounds of prohibition.

It says that during the years of the "Noble Experiment," the per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages averaged 2.0 gallons compared to 1.25 gallons per year now.

★ ★ ★

In banging the drums for Repeal's 25th Anniversary, the LBI further states that the industry is responsible for the direct employment of 1,200,000 persons at an annual payroll of more than four billion dollars. In 1957, the alcoholic beverage industry produced more than four billion dollars in public revenue from taxes and licenses — $2,900,475,000 federal, $997,527,135 state and $113,752, 712 local.

Hitchhiking Around 9-Year Story for Women

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — The raised thumb means "Going my way?" no matter where the hitchhiker seeks a lift.

"It's part of the international sign language," say a pair of young Dutch women with more than nine years' experience in hitching rides.

★ ★ ★

Robby Van Der Mal and Jos de Lange Wendels have visited 57 countries since leaving their native Amsterdam June 9, 1949. They have seen Europe, the Middle East, Africa, South America and have been in the United States about four weeks.

In Maryland, they are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shoup here. Mrs. Shoup met them in Turkey. The next stop will be New York City.

★ ★ ★

The world travelers carry some 66 pounds of luggage, including camping equipment, plus cameras and other small items. Perhaps most important are a pair of guitars they use to earn money for food and transportation—when free rides aren't possible. They sing folk songs, favorites of various countries and original compositions.

★ ★ ★

Robby and Jos have entertained Dr. Albert Schweitzer in Africa, the French Foreign Legion, in the palace of the Sultan of Morocco, aboard Prince Philip's warship Magpie at Gibraltar, in the house of Tito, and for an Italian baron.

Sometimes it hasn't been as glamorous. They went four days in Spain without food, departed hastily from Tunis when fighting broke out, and were sent back to France when they tried to enter England on a one-way ticket and without funds.

When the trip ends, the women hope to give lectures with the aid of films they have taken. And Jos wants to use her diary notes to write a book.

What would they like to take back home to Holland—the best of the tangibles and intangibles experienced in the past nine years?

★ ★ ★

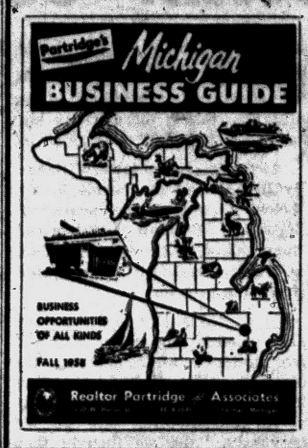

Arab hospitality, African climate, French and Italian food, Turkish coffee, Egyptian cigarettes, the easy-going way of the Spanish, English manners, American optimism — and a modern American kitchen replete with its mechanical gadgets.

He Takes Their Advice —and They're Arrested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As two bandits were leaving a market after taking $350, one of them blithely told owner Leon Ratner to "go ahead and call the cops."

Ratner did just that and the two gunmen were arrested 15 minutes later.

The early Latin alphabet had the letter "Z" in seventh place. Later it was replaced with the letter "G."

JEREMY CHRISTMAS — A Yuletide Story — BY WALT SCOTT

Death Ends 10-Hour Siege

Ex-Con Won't Surrender, Takes Own Life Instead

PRINEVILLE, Ore. (AP) — An ex-convict brushed aside pleas to surrender and killed himself today after a 10-hour siege that began when he briefly held six persons captive.

Stanley Robinson, 27, shot himself in the head as police crunched across the frozen lawn minutes after midnight to pump tear gas into his small, white frame house.

Only moments before, a psychologist who had gone into the house unarmed in an attempt to persuade Robinson to surrender walked out and said: "Well, boys, I think it's all over."

★ ★ ★

It was the only shot fired in the siege that began when state policeman Vern Boyer went to the house to serve a warrant on Robinson, released from the state prison Oct. 31.

Robinson, a Marine Corps veteran of the Korean War, then stepped from the bedroom with a 30-30 caliber rifle.

"I thought I was a goner," Boyer said. "That rifle looked awfully big. It was loaded and cocked."

Boyer was kept prisoner 30 minutes, along with Robinson's former wife and their four children, whose ages range from 5 years to 11 months.

★ ★ ★

But then State Police Sgt. Lowell Hertzel persuaded Robinson to let his captives go unharmed.

Police evacuated every nearby house, and began a long vigil.

Several times Robinson dashed onto the porch. Once he shouted: "I won't come out until I give up the gun, or else use it." Another time he accepted cigarettes from Hertzel, who said: "He told me that he made up his mind that he wasn't going back to prison any more."

★ ★ ★

Police talked to Robinson over the phone. Once he sobbed: "I'm going to end it all." Then he said he would wait until Wade Scott, a psychologist and counselor at the state prison, came here to talk with him.

Scott, a tall, handsome, heavy man of 40, rushed to this small eastern Oregon city, and went into the house.

What did he and Robinson talk about for an hour, as the ex-convict refused to give up his rifle?

Scott later appeared reluctant to discuss it, but finally said, "I tried everything I knew of. Nothing worked. For a minute I thought. . . .

★ ★ ★

"I told him this isn't the Christian thing to do, to kill yourself. What would it do to your family?"

Scott said he also told Robinson that it would be more manly to give himself up than to commit suicide.

"He apparently decided during the talk that the only thing he could do was for him to remove himself entirely. His major concern was for his wife and children and their welfare," Scott said.

Robinson's widow Dorothy, who divorced him while he was in prison, said after the shooting, "I did everything I thought was right."

★ ★ ★

At the prison, Asst. Warden Lou Barnes said Robinson had been an "excellent prisoner. He was the most decorated man ever to be in the prison here."

Barnes said he once had seen Robinson's collection of medals, and recalled that it contained two Navy Crosses.

Robinson had been in the prison a year on a bad check conviction. The warrant police tried to serve Thursday also concerned bad checks.

A hurricane is called a "typhoon" in the China Sea, a "baguio" in the Philippines and a "cyclone" in the Bay of Bengal.

President to Be Installed at New Colombiere College

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — The president of the new Colombiere College on Big Lake road near Clarkston will be the Rev. Ara F. Walker, S.J.

Father Walker will be installed Monday, according to the Very Rev. John A. McGrail, provincial of the Detroit Province of the Society of Jesus, who made the announcement.

REV. ARA F. WALKER

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Father Walker is presently the president of St. Ignatius High School in that city.

Colombiere College will serve as the four-year novitiate-juniorate house of studies for the Jesuits of the Ohio-Michigan area.

The first group of about 40 novitiates will move into the new school sometime in January. They will be coming from Milford, near Cincinnati, Ohio. Later in the year, 140 scholastics, 20 priests for faculty and administration and 40 brothers will be located at the college.

As president of the new college, Father Walker will be religious superior of the faculty and scholastics of the Detroit Province through the first four years of their religious training.

Father Walker, who was ordained in 1938, was appointed assistant principal for the University of Detroit High School in 1940, and from 1941 to 1948 was principal at Loyola Academy in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

From 1948 to 1953 he was professor of history and education at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary, Mundelein, Ill., after which he received his appointment as president of St. Ignatius High School in Cleveland.

S. H. Woolner to Be Williams' Secretary

LANSING (AP)—Sidney H. Woolner, Deputy State Highway Commissioner, is Gov. Williams' choice to succeed Lawrence L. Farrell as his Executive Secretary.

★ ★ ★

This was announced yesterday in the latest of a series of moves realigning key Democratic figures in the state administrative apparatus headed up by Williams.

Farrell will step out of his long time seat at the right hand of the Governor on Dec. 31 to become Executive Secretary of the State Employes Retirement Board and fill a vacancy left by Frank Blackford.

Blackford will be installed as State Insurance Commissioner with the retirement of Joseph A. Navarre to reenter practice of law in Jackson.

It was not clear what lay behind the multiple shifts.

Blackford and Woolner will take pay cuts in their new posts. Farrell, who leaves after 10 years in the governor's office, will receive a $1,500 a year raise.

Area USO Plans Christmas Party for Servicemen

About 400 servicemen and their wives are expected to attend the third annual Christmas party Wednesday sponsored by the Greater Pontiac USO Committee.

It will begin at 8 p.m. in the Pontiac armory, Irving Steinman, USO chairman, announced.

★ ★ ★

Servicemen from the Auburn Heights, Commerce Townships, Utica and Franklin Nike bases are invited.

Steinman said that military representatives from Selfridge Air Force Base are expected to attend.

Staged with the cooperation of numerous Pontiac merchants, the annual Christmas party is one of the biggest events of the year for the USO, Steinman said. The corps of USO-trained hostesses will be on hand, as usual, for dancing with the unmarried servicemen, he said.

Report in Liquid Form

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first official stockholders meeting of the Mayacamas Vineyards featured no declaration of a monetary dividend so stockholders were given a financial report by Vice President Mary C. Taylor, who then poured them samples of the firm's product.

Pontiac Central Wins Debate Tournament

Pontiac Central High School's debate team placed first in the Saginaw Valley Conference tournament held at Bay City yesterday.

Central's 17 debaters won nine of the 12 debates. Flint Central was second, Saginaw High, third, followed by Flint Northern, Saginaw Arthur Hill and Bay City Central.

★ ★ ★

The question debated was the national hyigh school debate topic this year: "Reisolved that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of education."

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Central is now tied for first place with Flint Central in the Cummulative standing. Yesterday's meeting was the second of four meets to be held this year in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Walter R. Smith, speech teacher, is Central's debate coach.

Mother Leaves Baby at Hospital, Drops 'All Rights'

DETROIT (AP)—A six- pound, 14-ounce boy abandoned at a Detroit hospital was baptized yesterday while police sought the youngster's mother who left the four-day-old youngster behind with a note "relinquishing all rights."

The blue-eyed, brown-haired baby was born Sunday to a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Ann Newmann of Lasalle, Mich.

★ ★ ★

She failed to name the child's father in a questionnaire she filled out at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Officials said she apparently sneaked out of the hospital Tuesday night with a young man who had been visiting her most of the day. She left a note which read:

"I relinquish all right to my child as of today . . . please have a priest baptize the child."

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Father Leonard Rancilio baptized the baby—Francis, because it was St. Francis' Day; Joseph, for the hospital; Newmann, for the name the mother had used.

The boy was turned over to Receiving Hospital where he will be held until authorities find his parents or place him in an orphanage.

Joseph Bianco Heads Young Republicans

Joseph P. Bianco, of 43 Bloomfield Terrace, Pontiac, last night was elected 1959 chairman of the 18th Congressional District Young Republicans.

He succeeds Charles D. Gilbert, of Birmingham.

Elected also for the coming year were the following officers: Miss Irene Giacobbi of Clawson, vice chairman; Jasper Reid of 412 N. Glengary Ave., Bloomfield Township, third term as treasurer; Miss Shirley Thorpe of 18162 Melrose St., Southfield Township, recording secretary; and Mrs. Jack A. Gibbs of 803 E. Third St., Royal Oak, corresponding secretary.

There are 3,700 local chapters of the American Red Cross in the U.S.

Orion Township Issues 34 Permits for New Homes

ORION TOWNSHIP—Harold B. Mapis, Orion Township building inspector, issued 34 building permits this week to the Dlorah Construction Co., for new homes to be finished on or before Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

The moderately priced homes will be located in Judah Lake Estates, a subdivision between Silverbell and Joslyn roads.

★ ★ ★

Mapis said the builders expect to have 100 families in new homes in that subdivision by the end of the year.

Hold Three for Burglary

Boy, Two Men Admit String of Break-Ins in Pontiac Area

A juvenile and two Pontiac men were arrested by two Waterford Township patrolmen early this morning.

Officers Frank Randolph and Merrille Finkle spotted a suspicious looking auto driven by Joseph Molina, 19, of 259 Raeburn St., pulling away from the Leonard Gas Station at 3510 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

★ ★ ★

In the car with Molina were Shannon McGregor, 20, of 780 Melrose St., and a 15-year-old Pontiac youth.

Officers stopped the car and while searching the three found a wooden club and pair of gloves hidden under the boy's shirt.

Upon questioning, the trio admitted attempting to break into the gas station, police said. They also admitted an attempted break-in earlier at an area drive-in restaurant and said they were on their way to another gas station on Crescent Lake road.

Police said the suspects admitted break-ins at two Pontiac coal and fuel companies this week, as well as a grocery store, restaurant and several other service station burglaries in the past.

They were being held today for investigation of attempted breaking tempted breaking and entering in the nighttime. Police said they would question the suspects before seeking a formal charge.

Third Committeeman Hits State Tax Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Another member of the 25-man Citizens' Advisory Tax Study Committee today submitted a dissenting report on recommendations made by the committee Tuesday night.

John H. Carton, Battle Creek insurance executive, said he was opposed to the income and insurance tax proposals. He said the rest of the proposed tax reform "merits consideration."

Committee members E. C. Hayhow, Hillsdale publisher, and Tyrone Gillespie, Dow Chemical Co. executive, Midland, issued a minority report Wednesday which said the proposed graduated income tax might be unconstitutional.

Carton, Hayhow and Gillespie were the only members to oppose the package. However, five others were not present when the recommendations were made.

U. of M. Checks Protests From Women's Dorm

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan dormitory officials said today they were investigating a protest by women students at a residence hall over food planning, serving and preparation.

In a protest action, some 180 women students at Stockwell Hall remained away from last night's evening meal.

U. of M. Dormitory Business Manager Leonard Schaadt said he would look into the matter and would confer with Stockwell Hall kitchen personnel.

Stopped for Minor Ticket, Motorist Ends Up in Jail

A Pontiac man stopped by Romeo State Police for a minor traffic ticket ended up in the Oakland County Jail instead.

Lemuel E. Nelson, 34, of 489 Fildew St., was stopped yesterday by troopers on Auburn road. During a routine check of the car the officers found a .32 caliber revolver in his car.

Nelson had no license to carry the gun. He was booked for investigation of carrying a concealed weapon.

Wixom Teen Club Plans Bake Sale and Dance

WIXOM — The Wixom Teen Club, sponsored by the Wixom City Council, will conduct a bake sale and dance Saturday.

The bake sale will be held at 10 a.m. in the Wixom Municipal office.

Admission to the dance from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. at the Wixom Elementary School will be 50 cents per person. Tom Caudell, local disc jockey, will spin the records.

Proceeds of the two functions will be put into a fund for youth activities in Wixom.

Busy Season Ahead in Waterford

Jacettes to Distribute Gifts

Among four major projects scheduled during the Christmas season by the Waterford Township Jacettes will be the distribution of presents to cancer patients and old folks at a local rest home in the township.

★ ★ ★

On Dec. 15, the group plans to provide candy favors to underprivileged children in the area, and Dec. 18 will assist Junior Chamber of Commerce members with the annual children's shopping tour.

This project proved to be such a big success last year the Jaycees will again give each underprivileged child a $10 bill to buy presents for members of his family.

At the conclusion of the shopping tour, the children will be invited to some member's home to wrap the gifts and receive refreshments along with individual presents from the Jaycees.

★ ★ ★

At 2 p.m. Dec. 21, the organization will hold its annual children's Christmas party at the Community Activities Center, with Santa Claus presenting figs and candy from a sleigh on the stage.

Rochester Board OKs Office Shift

Stoney Creek School Building Will House 3 Administrative Units

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Board of Education has approved transfer of the major portion of the school district's business operation to the Stoney Creek School building.

The move will become effective shortly after the first of the year, Superintendent of Schools Donald C. Baldwin said today.

According to present plans, the former rural school at the corner of Tienken and Washington roads will house offices of the director of cafeterias, the director of buildings and grounds and the assistant superintendent.

This separation of top-level administration was recommended for a number of reasons.

Most important was to gain badly needed office space for all business procedure and to postpone construction of a new administration building for several years, Baldwin said.

The main office on Pontiac road will become an instruction center, with rooms for the director of instruction and his assistant. The superintendent's offices will remain in this building.

Half of the Stoney Creek School will be used for storage, receiving and shipping of school supplies and materials.

In his recommendation to the Board of Education, Baldwin pointed out that only minor expenses will be involved in accomplishing the transfer.

Goodland Youth, 17, Due in Court Today

LAPEER — A 17-year-old Goodland Township youth was to appear today in the Lapeer County Circuit Court before Judge Timothy Quinn on an open murder charge of his stepfather.

Adon Robledo was bound over to the higher court yesterday when he was examined yesterday before Lapeer Justice Herbert King. He was held in jail after failing to furnish a $5,000 bond.

According to Lapeer County sheriff's deputies, Juan Altamira, 43, was killed instantly Nov. 23 when he was shot in the heart by Adon.

Altamira allegedly was beating his wife Victoria when the woman's son shot him.

Romeo Methodist Men to Stage Benefit Auction

ROMEO—The Men's Club of First Methodist Church here will stage an auction for the furnace benefit fund Tuesday, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the old A&P building on W. St. Clair street.

Free pickups of donated items may be arranged by calling Ward Graham, auction chairman, Marshall Lock or Larry Remmel.

Five Goodfellow Groups Hawking Papers Tonight

Snow flurries forecast for tonight will help to bring the Christmas spirit and that feeling of giving when five Pontiac area Goodfellow groups canvas their communities for funds for the needy.

Selling newspapers including more than 12,500 special Goodfellow editions of the Pontiac Press will be the source of the mens fund raising campaign.

Tonight and tomorrow, Gingellville, Troy, Addison Township, Avondale and Romeo residents will have the opportunity to give to their needy neighbors for a happier Christmas.

The Gingellville Metropolita Club, under the leadership of Charles Thorpe, will begin sales at 3:30 p.m. until dark at main intersections and in the business district.

★ ★ ★

Proceeds will be used to fill Christmas baskets for needy area families.

★ ★ ★

Members of the Addison Township Volunteer Fire Department will brave the cold winds today and tomorrow in Leonard, Lakeville and Campbell's Corners. The group plans their annual Christmas party for Dec. 20 as well as giving baskets throughout their area.

Sales will begin at 3 p.m. today until dark and from "daylight until dark" tomorrow according to Erwin Sheldon, chairman of the Avondale Metropolitan Club's drive.

They plan a party for underprivileged children Dec. 20 and also will prepare food baskets.

Needy Avondale residents may contact Rochester Police Chief Sam Howlett who will act as a clearing house for all referrals.

Romeo Rotary, Lions, State Police and firemen will conduct the newspaper sale today and tomorrow, chairman Oliver Gould reports.

Newsboys will be on duty from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. today and 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow at the main corners.

Police and volunteer firemen in Troy will sell the papers today and tomorrow, William Renshaw, chairman announced.

Goodfellow sales will also be conducted tomorrow in Waterford Township, Oxford, West Bloomfield, White Lake and Pontiac townships.

Won't Admit 'Confessions'

Judge Finnegan Says No Proper Foundation Laid in Quick Case

A motion to enter into evidence three "confessions" in the examination of a Pontiac police officer and two others charged with bribery and conspiracy to obstruct justice was denied this morning by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

★ ★ ★

"You have not laid any foundation whatsoever for these confessions or whatever they are," Judge Finnegan told Jerome K. Barry Jr., assistant Oakland County prosecutor.

Defendants in the case are suspended patrolman Jess W. Quick, 43, Charles B. Johnson, 57, of 26 W. Kennett Rd.; and Lealon S. Karnes, 64, of 822½ Baldwin Ave.

Testimony was taken this morning from five police officers—Chief Herbert W. Straley, Sgt. John A. DeBauw, Lt. William Nesbitt, Capt. Oliver Lemeaux and Sgt. Claude Hodges.

Allen Miglio Elected Police Assn. President

Allen Miglio of Harper Woods today was elected president of the Southeastern Michigan Chiefs of Police Assn. He succeeds Herbert W. Straley of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Delay Murder Hearing

HILLSDALE (AP)—A week's delay in the examination of an 18-year-old Hillsdale College student charged with murdering his roommate has been granted by Justice Ora N. Kline at the request of the prosecutor's office. The defendant, Patrick J. Flannery of Berkley, will be arraigned Dec. 15, instead of Dec. 8. He is accused of slaying Thomas Neitling, 21, of Tecumseh.

Thieves Loot Utica Home of $3,000 in Jewelry, Furs

UTICA — Thieves broke into the home of Mrs. Ellen I. McNeil, 4470 Auburn Rd., Utica, early last night, ransacked the place and stole at least $3,000 worth of jewelry and furs, Romeo State Police reported today.

The break-in occurred while Mrs. McNeil and her sister, Mrs. Gerald Friend, were attending a fashion show in Ferndale.

Mrs. McNeil's nephew, Jerry Friend, who makes his home with his aunt, discovered the house had been ransacked when he returned home at about 11 p.m.

Among the missing items were a mink stole valued at $1,000 and a large quantity of miscellaneous jewelry including gold pieces on a chain, a man's pocket watch, a lady's gold watch, an amethyst pin and bracelet and a cameo pin.

★ ★ ★

Also missing were eight or 10 silver dollars, an electric razor and a couple of expensive purses.

Mrs. McNeil, whose husband Clarence died about two years ago, owns and operates the McNeil Real Estate Co. at 1995 Auburn Rd. at Dequindre Rd.

Romeo State Police detective Paul Brabant is conducting the investigation of the robbery.

$45, Checks Taken at Service Station

ROMEO — Forty-five dollars in cash and several checks were taken from the cash register in McLoren's Standard Service Station, 200 N. Main St., about 5:30 last night, Romeo police reported today.

★ ★ ★

Attendant Chris Christensen was pumping gas at the time the theft occurred. He told police he saw no one around when he went back into the station and found the cash drawer open.

★ ★ ★

This is the second time in less than a month that this station has been robbed, police said.

Romeo Players to Stage 'Millionaires' Party'

ROMEO—The Romeo Players will stage a "millionaires' party" 8 p.m. Sunday at the Frederick F. Schanck home, 209 W. St. Clair St.

★ ★ ★

Games will be played for prizes. The floor show will feature Aubrey MacKenzie, Jamaician calypso singer now living in Romeo, pantomimist Carole Schoenherr and other local artists.

Program chairman is Mrs. Philip M. Stone and Mrs. Margaret A. Kaiser has charge of refreshments.

5 Choirs to Sing in Yule Concert at Clarkston Church

CLARKSTON — The Christmas season will be open amid the soft glow of candlelight when five choirs of Clarkston's First Methodist Church present the annual Christmas Choral service at 7 p.m. Sunday.

More than 100 voices will participate, under the direction of William Mansfield. Cellist Mrs. Paul Eliason and a guest violinist from the Pontiac Symphony will present special numbers, and Adele Thomas will accompany the choirs.

Each of the church choirs, including the primary, junior, youth and senior groups, will present individual programs, and all will unite in singing the Hallelujah Chorus, as a climax to the program.

Pastor of the church, the Rev. William J. Richards, will present a brief meditation of Christmas verses to close the evening's program.

All area residents, regardless of religion or creed, have been invited to attend this annual affair.

17,000 Go Back to Chrysler Jobs

But Key Dodge Main Walkout Still Threatens to Idle 50,000

DETROIT (AP)—Some of the 17,000 Chrysler Corp. workers idled in walkouts yesterday returned to their jobs today and Plymouth assemblies resumed in Detroit.

Meanwhile, Chrysler and the United Auto Workers scheduled a resumption of negotiations this afternoon in efforts to end a strike that has idled 7,000 in the company's key plant here, Dodge Main.

Company and union spokesmen agree the Dodge Main walkout could idle 50,000 Detroit workers if it is continued. It is now in its fourth day.

★ ★ ★

The 30 day-shift workers who walked out of Chrysler's Outer Drive stamping plant here yesterday returned to work today. And with resumption in this key Plymouth supply plant, 8,500 returned to jobs in Plymouth assembly and body plants here and a Plymouth assembly plant in Newark, Del.

★ ★ ★

The Dodge Main walkout began Tuesday in a dispute over production standards and relief time allowed metal shop workers.

The Outer Drive walkout came in protest to the firing of a union steward who the company said had prevented another employe from doing his assigned job.

★ ★ ★

The stamping plant walkout yesterday resulted in a shutdown of Plymouth assemblies in Detroit and Newark, Del.

How Did You Know?

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) —Fire Chief John T. O'Loughlin had little trouble finding the schoolboy responsible for a bomb scare at Sedgwick Junior High School. When he arrived at the school a youngster asked, "Have you found the bomb yet?" O'Loughlin said only police and firemen — and the culprit — knew of the anonymous call that a bomb was in the school.

Can U.S. Depend on Manpower of Its Allies to Fight Limited Wars?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says the West must have forces to fight limited wars, the Eisenhower administration, bent on economy, cuts the size of the American armed forces.

Sound inconsistent? Not if this country is going to depend more on Allied and friendly countries to use their manpower, with American backing. Dulles seemd to be suggesting that in a speech Thursday at San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

The only trouble with the idea is whether the Allies and friends have enough strength, without American manpower, to do the job.

Dulles said it is not enough to have great retaliatory striking power. "It is necessary," he said, "to have forces-in-being at endangered points."

This might seem like a switch—but it isn't necessarily so—from that famous speech he made Jan. 12, 1954, in which he said the Eisenhower administration had decided to rely on "massive retaliatory power" for the defense of the United States and the free world.

In that same talk nearly five years ago he appeared to sense that there might be local wars in which massive retaliation wouldn't be used. He said the important thing was to make setbacks by the Communists temporary and local.

On Nov. 19 Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy announced orders for a reduction of about 71,000 in Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps manpower. This is part of the administration's effort to cut spending.

The decision to make these reductions had been reached earlier, but action was held up some months because of two war scares: in the Middle East and the Formosa Strait. This country sent troops into Lebanon and backed up Chiang Kai-shek's defense of the island of Quemoy.

When those crises quieted down the administration went ahead with the decision to cut military manpower although it wasn't then, and still isn't, in a position to know whether there would be another crisis next week or next month.

Certainly not all of America's friends could depend on their own manpower to hold the fort for themselves.

Chiang couldn't have held Quemoy without the big show of American naval strength. And there would have been no need to send American troops into Lebanon if the Lebanese government had been able to protect itself.

Dulles said Thursday: "Nations in close proximity to powerful aggressive forces need the reassurance of some visible force within their own territory. (Meaning, no doubt, a lot of their own military manpower — provided they have it.)

"They are not content to be wholly dependent upon decisions in other lands.

★ ★ ★

"Furthermore, vast retaliatory power should not be, and will not be, invoked lightly. There must be an ability to oppose what may be limited probings in ways less drastic than general nuclear war."

★ ★ ★

Then, as if to suggest most of the manpower would have to be supplied by American friends and Allies if the Communists push them, Dulles said: "Most of the 'limited war' forces are contributed by our Allies. For example, they contribute 80 per cent of the ground forces. We help to maintain and support these forces by supplying, where needed, military weapons, and occasionally some financial support. This is truly a system of collective security."

★ ★ ★

There's one gap in Dulles' reasoning: if the Communists began a limited war where an ally had plenty of manpower, this country might be able to see it through with various forms of aid that didn't include manpower.

But what happens if an ally or friend is attacked and doesn't have enough strength—as in the case of Lebanon, which wasn't even attacked—to protect itself? The more the administration cuts its military forces, the fewer it will have to fight a limited war where they might be needed.

Musicale Will Feature Yule Program Tuesday

Members and guests of Tuesday Musicale will be treated to a Christmas program Tuesday at Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

Included on the program will be Christmas songs, and guest artist A. Roger Welton will present a flute recital.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Welton, solo flute with the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, is on the faculty of the instrumental music department of Pontiac Public schools. He will be accompanied at the piano by his wife, Martha Sisney Welton, who directs the youth choir at Kirk-in-the-Hills.

Both received music degrees from Michigan State University and Indiana University. They have participated in chamber music programs, civic opera productions and symphony orchestras.

TO LEAD CHORUS

Directing the chorus will be Mrs. George Putnam, alto soloist and director of the junior choir of Central Methodist Church. Mrs. Putnam received her M.A. degree from Columbia Teachers' College and taught music in the Pennsylvania public schools.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald Hogue will be accompanist for the chorus. Choral numbers to be presented on the first portion of the program are "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," arrangement by Hollstrom and "Jesus, Jesus Rest Your Head," Appalachian carol arranged by Bement and Niles with Mrs. J. K. Helvey as soloist;

Others are, "Hasten Shepherds," Galician melody arranged by Tuttle, with percussion instruments played by Mrs. C. W. Buck, Mrs. R. E. Gegoux and Mrs. J. B. Nicolls; and "O Come, O Come Immanuel," French 13th Century song, with soloists Mrs. O. L. Smith and Mrs. Clyde Marshbanks.

Flute numbers to be presented by the Weltons are "Concertina" by Chamianade; "Suite in A Minor," by Teleman; "Cantabile et Presto," by Enesco, and "Le Petit Berger" and "Le Petit Negre," by Debussy.

FINAL PORTION

The final portion of the program will be given by the chorus and will include "Joseph Dearest, Joseph Mild, 15th Century song arranged by Saar, with Mr. Welton playing the flute obligato

Other numbers will be "Glory to God in the Highest!" by Pengolesi, with soloists Mrs. P. J. Proud, Mrs. Rose Jorgenson and Mrs. Marshbanks; "There Was No Room for the Christ Child," arranged by Tuttle; "The Twelve Days of Christmas," traditional English melody arranged by Glaser, with soloist Mrs. J. B. Nicolls, and "O Holy Night," by Adam with Mrs. J. W. Wignall as soloist.

Good Citizens Feted by DAR

General Richardson Chapter of DAR entertained eight area high schools girls selected as Good Citizens and their mothers Thursday at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

The girls, all seniors, were chosen for dependability, service, leadership and patriotism by their classmates and faculty members.

★ ★ ★

The girls are Joan Humphrey of Pontiac Northern High School, Carol Olson of Central High, Sandra Lemon of West Bloomfield High and Sharon Doyle of Rochester Community High School.

Others are Sandra Brooks of Avondale High, Beth Woodward of Lake Orion Community School, Carolyn Warrick of Clarkston Community High and Karen Anderson of Waterford High School.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Earl L. McHugh, hostess, assisted Mrs. Lloyd Porter, regent.

SERVED DESSERT

Dessert was served by Mrs. James Isles, Mrs. Ray Kemp, Mrs. Fred Lee, Mrs. Velmor Lewis, Mrs. D. R. MacDonald and Mrs. M. G. Malarney.

Others were Mrs. L. G. Rowley, Dr. Sarah VanHoosen Jones, Mrs. Norman Boyd, Mrs. Ivan Royal, Mrs. W. F. Todd, Mrs. Fred Upthegrove, Mrs. F. L. Ward, Mrs. Harry Windiate and Ora Hallenbeck.

Each girl was presented with a good citizen pin by E. Grace Clark, good citizen chairman.

The girls will be guests of Michigan DAR for luncheon at the state conference March 20 at Hotel Statler-Hilton, Detroit. At that time the Michigan Good Citizen will be announced, chosen by judging questionnaires they filled out. High schools throughout Michigan will be represented at this luncheon.

★ ★ ★

At the Thursday meeting, Alice Serrell, chapter treasurer was speaker. She spoke on her hobby, "Making Genealogy Live."

Carolyn Warrick, left, and Karen Anderson also were among the eight girls honored as Good Citizens by the General Richardson chapter on Thursday.

Catholics Set Parties for Patients

Members of the League of Catholic Women are planning a Christmas party in conjunction with the Family Care Program for patients of Pontiac State Hospital. The affair will be held Dec. 11 at the League Home under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Brown, Mrs. Floyd Zielinski and Mrs. Arthur Crawford.

★ ★ ★

The group's party for third floor patients at the Oakland County Medical Care Facility will be held Dec. 16 with Mrs. Marshall Sprague in charge of the program. Assisting will be Mrs. Joseph Emmerth, Mrs. Louis Humphreys and Mrs. William Roach.

★ ★ ★

Members have contributed a total of 2,475 volunteer hours this year, working with such organizations as the American Cancer Society, USO, Family Care Program and Big Sisters.

Zeta Chapter Hears Program of Folk Songs

Robert Rickard, Pontiac Central High School teacher, entertained members of Zeta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority at its meeting Thursday at the West Iroquois road home of Mrs. Eugene Carey. Lamont Wertz was cohostess and Mrs. Ruth Wright presided at the refreshment table.

A graduate of Berea College, Mr. Rickard has appeared on radio and television programs. In his program of folk songs, Mr. Rickard included a composition of his own, "Laika."

Princess Grace Flees Crush at New York Ball

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco gave high society a surprise sample of royal displeasure Thursday night—with abrupt flight from the dance floor.

Caught in a milling crush of spectators, guards and photographers at a ball in her honor, the former movie star made her sudden exit with lips set, chin high and trailing a slightly bewildered escort, her husband Prince Rainier III of Monaco.

A spokesman at the royal box explained moments later that the princess had found the throng just too much when someone stepped upon her white satin slipper.

The royal wrath subsided swiftly, however, and the girl from Philadelphia remained for the midnight "Beauty and the Beasts" tableaux, and presided at the drawing of grand prizes for lucky ticket holders.

But although she smiled, she danced no more.

The incident highlighted a night-long barrage of adulation which started when the royal couple arrived for the chic fiesta in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor.

Speakers Club Open House Set

Poise, personality and performance will be the theme of the Holiday Open House sponsored by Pontiac Toastmistress Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Hotel Waldron.

Weather Has to Be Terrible

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last night my husband and I were invited out to dinner at the house of a friend who lives on the other side of town. It so happened that the weather was very stormy and the roads quite dangerous because of ice. I telephoned my friend and said we would not be able to come because the weather was too bad, and apologized.

"I understand she was very much put out over this and thinks we should have kept the appointment fair weather or foul. Was I wrong to cancel this dinner engagement or should we have gone even at the risk of having an accident?"

Answer: It depends entirely upon how great was the risk. If the streets were really all ice and you could hardly have got there without an accident, then I think you were right, and your hostess should have understood. But the storm would have had to be really bad to excuse your staying away.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I will soon be celebrating my seventeenth birthday. I had planned on giving a party and inviting my many friends to help me celebrate. I have been told that it would be in bad taste to give my own birthday party. Will you please advise me if this is true?"

Answer: The best thing for you to do is to invite your friends to a party, and only tell them after they arrive that you wanted to have them with you on your birthday. In this way none of them will feel embarrassed because they have brought no present.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My family thinks a large reception for a widow is out of order. My first wedding was during the war when everything was of necessity very brief. I am now being married in church and I do want all our friends and relatives with us — particularly since the groom was never married."

Answer: There is no reason whatever for not inviting everyone who is a real friend of either yours or his — no matter how many these may be. The groom may have as many ushers as necessary for the size of the church. You should not, however, have more than one attendant.

Child Club to Gather for Bazaar

Child Culture Club of Pontiac met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Dale Swanson in Birmingham, for the annual Christmas bazaar. Mrs. Walter J. Johnson and Mrs. Charles Brooks were in charge of the affair.

Members decided to contribute books to needy children for Christmas.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Benedict assisted with the meeting. Guests were Mrs. William Gardner, Mrs. Leo Halfpenny, Mrs. John Bertholdy and Mrs. Ralph Harrison. Mrs. William Wagner was accepted as a new member.

★ ★ ★

The next meeting will be a Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Bowers on Barrington road.

Diet for Teenagers

P Stands for Protein—Power, Punch, Poise!

A perfect gift for the ladies on your Christmas list is this holiday cardigan sweater. Of Shaker knit, it is accented with cascades of embroidered rhinestone and pearl stars.

By RUTH WEST

For poise, self-confidence, feed yourself plenty of protein as well as calcium. (Milk products package them together beautifully!) Many studies show that poise and protein go together.

The protein you eat makes the solid part of your body. Your skin. Your hair. Your nails. Your lungs. Your muscles.

There are poor-quality proteins — incomplete proteins. Look for complete proteins. Because too much incomplete protein can do you physical harm. But too little protein is your main concern.

YOU'LL SEE CHANGE

Every 180 days sees a complete turnover of your body's protein "building blocks." It follows that in six months of good eating you may well see a dramatic improvement in your looks and life.

The change will be quick, dramatic and astounding. Especially if you've been shortchanged on complete protein (and chances are you have!).

You'll have a clearer skin, brighter eyes and hair, better muscles and posture, infinitely more energy, self-confidence, and fun.

Often, when your spirits are low, it's simply because your blood-sugar level is low. The Rx for this is protein. It is true that sweets will raise that blood-sugar level, but only for minutes. Then it drops like a plummet.

Protein raises your blood-sugar level, holds it high for hours. A high-protein, low-calorie breakfast can keep up your spirits and energy for as long as six hours! So you see, the kind of calories you eat is just as important as the number.

TIME TO SNACK

Next time you have that all gone feeling, head for a high-protein, low-calorie snack for a pick-up that lasts.

A glass of skim milk, or two or three hardboiled eggs, or a cold chicken drumstick. Or a Mondae — a Sundae made of a big scoop of snowy, fresh-tasting cottage cheese topped with fruit: pineapple chunks, apricot halves, slices of orange or grapefruit.

You won't feel the same craving for sweets if you keep your blood-sugar level high with these snacks.

You need more than twice as much protein as a person who has finished growing — between 75 and 100 grams every day.

Poor people almost invariably don't eat enough protein. But surveys show that 60 per cent of the people who can afford any amount of the most expensive protein also eat far less than they need.

★ ★ ★

Some teens don't like cottage cheese. This is tough — unless they're capable of change. It's nice if you find yourself relishing your breakfast toast spread with two big tablespoons of cottage cheese (plus all the sugarless jam you want), instead of high-calorie butter.

GOOD ON TOAST

The slice of toast and the two tablespoons of cottage cheese chalk up a good 12 grams of the finest protein.

That is why you will do well to plump your sandwiches with cottage cheese. Add a tablespoonful of cottage cheese to your two scrambled eggs and sneak in another 5 grams of thinning protein. With a tablespoon of chipped beef, you've laid in another tasty, low-calorie, 7 or 8 grams of protein.

Now, your plate of scrambled eggs totals 27 grams of protein instead of 13! With the two slices of toast, your meal is a handsome 43-gram affair: almost the "thinningest" 470 calories' worth of good eating you can assemble.

Child Won't Challenge Evil if We Don't

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

"My 7-year-old plays with a neighbor's girl," writes Mrs. P. "Since all the other kids around are older or younger than Sandra, I've been glad she had Kitty. But the friendship is becoming a worry. Kitty encourages Sandra to disobey, even lie.

"She'll make her pretend she doesn't hear when I call. This week she got her to say she'd lost a quarter they'd spent on candy. Sandra has no will of her own around Kitty. . . ."

Then what about giving her an example of resistance to Kitty?

What about saying to this infant usurper of adult authority, "Kitty, you are not Sandra's mother. I am. She has to obey me and tell the truth to keep out of trouble.

"Why do you want her to disobey and tell lies? Do you like getting her in trouble? I thought you liked Sandra."

We really can't expect Sandra to challenge Kitty's will so long as we ourselves are afraid to challenge it.

The challenge will be effective according to our awareness of what we're challenging.

It's Kitty's resentment of being permitted to take adult responsibility. I expect her parents are afraid of her and let her make all her own decisions.

That's such a heavy burden for a 7-year-old person to carry that it's bound to make her vindictive toward other grownups, too. If we can see through her defiant exterior we can challenge her will with an uncritical and quiet firmness that she may at first discredit but gradually come to trust.

She may become not only quite fond of us but a champion of our authority to Sandra.

But if we are not aware of what we are challenging, if we don't realize the comfort children feel when relieved of the obligation to make adult decisions, we'd just better say to Kitty, "You must stop encouraging Sandra to get into trouble. Otherwise, you can't play with her any more."

We must not ask more understanding of ourselves than we have. If Mrs. P. is too angered by this child who seems to be leading Sandra astray, she will have to shove the offender away like a child herself.

But with perception of Kitty's despair of ever meeting a grown-up who isn't afraid of her, she can make a good friend for herself as well as for Sandra.

Orchestra Chosen for Worcester Fete

Honor Detroit Symphony

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The Worcester Music Festival has chosen the Detroit Symphony as the official orchestra for its 100th festival next year.

Paul Revere O'Connell, president of the Worcester County Musical Assn., which sponsors the festival, said yesterday the Detroit Orchestra was the unanimous choice for the 1959 event, to be held from Oct. 19 through 24. The orchestra made its first festival appearance this fall.

★ ★ ★

The Worcester festival, started in 1858, rates itself one of the oldest musical events in the country. Five evening concerts and a special young people's concert on Saturday morning are held each year in the 3,400-seat Memorial Auditorium.

★ ★ ★

O'Connell said festival officials received an unprecedented number of requests for return of the Detroit musicians. These stemmed from what he described as "the very excellent impression the orchestra and its conductor (Paul Paray) made on all who attended the festival earlier this fall." Paray has been conductor of the symphony for eight years.

B'nai Israel Group Hears Program on Chanukah

"Chanukah in the Home," was the theme of the Congregation B'nai Israel Sisterhood meeting, held Tuesday evening in the Congregational Social Hall.

Mrs. David Horowitz, Judaism-in-the-Home chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Leon Sirlin, Mrs. David Utley, Mrs. Mitchell Bacow and Mrs. Belmont Kershenbaum, provided do-it-yourself kits.

They showed members various motifs and how they could be made for home decoration during the 8-day Jewish holiday which begins Saturday evening at sundown.

Mrs. Horowitz lit the Chanukah lights and explained the meaning of each candle and then told the Chanukah story and how it is celebrated today.

Reports were presented by Mrs. Maurice Schlussel, Mrs. Stanley Elbling, Mrs. Sidney Czeizler, Mrs. John Rothchild and Mrs. Horowitz.

Mrs. Irving Koeper reported on the biennial convention of the National Women's League of the United Synagogues of America that she attended in Miami Beach, Fla. Nov. 16-20.

At the convention, the Michigan branch was officially chartered and given full branch status. Mrs. Koper, Mrs. Utley, Mrs. Abraham Avadenka and Mrs. Daniel Foxman are the local sisterhood's Michigan Branch board members.

Also taking part in the meeting were Mrs. Lazarus Hershovitz and Mrs. Lee Goldberg. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fred Niedelson and Mrs. Ralph Merkovitz.

You Could Become Popcorn Pauper—Abby

Don't Rush the Flashy Usher, Child His Beam Shines for Others, Too

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am nuts about this guy who ushers at the local theater. I can't wait until Friday because that's the night my cousin and I go to this theater. I always sit in the aisle seat and I think he likes me because he fills up my row first and sometimes he flashes the flashlight in my face and grins.

ABBY

"As an excuse to talk to him I go to the lobby and buy popcorn. I shouldn't eat three bags but I can't help it. I am 15 and he won't tell me how old he is or what his last name is. How can I get him interested enough in me to ask to see me sometime?"

NUTS FOR HIM

DEAR NUTS: (and if you build up a crush without any encouragement, you are!): That usher has walked plenty of cute chicks down the aisle. Find out who he is, how old he is, and WHOSE he is before you become a popcorn pauper.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I want your opinion, please. My husband has a secretary who travels with him because his business demands it. Lately they have been flying together as 'Mr. and Mrs.' using the FAMILY PLAN because it is cheaper. (I believe a man's wife can fly for half-fare certain days of the week.) Perhaps there is no reason for my getting riled up, but I resent another woman traveling as 'MRS.' with my husband. Would you insist that this be stopped if you were I?"

RILED

DEAR RILED: A married man who "flies high" should fly "solo." Get him down to earth if you have to clip his wings to do it.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: What would you do in a case like mine? My husband keeps nagging me for a little girl. I am 28 years old and we have nine boys. I think that there must be something about the combination of me and my husband that won't produce anything but boys. Is this possible or not? I wouldn't give up one of my boys for anything in the world but I sure don't want any more boys. If I could be sure I would have a little girl I would take a chance, but what if I lose?"

NINE BOYS

DEAR MOM: Nobody can guarantee you a little girl — but how can you lose, if when you "lose" you win a beautiful baby boy?

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Our son will be engaged at Christmas. I know we are supposed to ask the girl's parents for dinner. My problem is that we have a very plain house and I have no help and I am a very poor cook. I get nervous every time I think about entertaining these people. My husband says if it is going to make a nervous wreck out of me we should take them to a restaurant. I would like your opinion."

PLAIN PEOPLE

DEAR PLAIN: You needn't be ashamed of a "plain" home. But if the thought of making a complete dinner upsets you — invite them to your home for cocktails (or fruit punch) and take them out for dinner. Or take them "out" for dinner and return to your home for coffee and dessert.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MAN OF THE HOUSE": A man may make the living — but it takes a woman to make the living worthwhile.

★ ★ ★

Try Exercise Too

Gain of Weight Will Help Thighs

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I am very thin. The lower part of my leg is all right but I look like I am bowlegged in my thighs. What can I do?"

A. A gain of weight will help. You also can exercise to build up the inner leg muscles. Do this one: Sit on the floor and lean on your hands. Drag the legs apart as far as possible and then drag them together. Continue. Do not lift the legs from the floor.

Q. "I would like your suggestion as to what exercises I need most. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 130 pounds. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 29 and hips 39. I do not have time to do all the exercises and would like to do the ones most needed."

A. Your weight is just right for a medium frame. There is too much difference between your bust and your hips measurements. You can distribute your weight with exercise for more attractive measurements. I suggest you take exercises to increase the bust measurement and hip-slimming exercises.

If you (or any of my other readers) would like to have these, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3 "Hip Exercises," and No. 7 "Don't Have Round Shoulders and Flat Bust—Reverse." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q. "Most of my friends tell me I am too thin, but my mother thinks I am just right. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 106 pounds."

A. Of course build makes a difference, but I think you should gain five pounds anyway.

Q. "I am a junior in high school. My mother thinks that I should wear a girdle and I don't think I need one. My hips measure 38 inches. What do you say about this?"

A. You did not give me your height and weight but if you wear tight, slim skirts, I am sure you would look much better with a girdle. When wearing full skirts it probably doesn't matter. I know what your mother means. Why not use one of the light, elastic ones, without any boning? These are most comfortable.

Q. "I am 5 feet 5 inches tall and weigh 156 pounds. I am 16 years old. Last year at this time I weighed 184 pounds. My friends say that I am just right but I disagree. I have a large frame. What is wrong with my figure? My bust measures 38 inches, waist 28 and hips 38."

A. Your measurements are in perfect proportion. Congratulations on your loss in poundage. Even with a large frame I think you should lose a little more, from 10 to 15 pounds. Do this gradually in a sensible way, eating well balanced meals.

Tomorrow: "Presents Best Exercises For the Face and Neck."

To build up the inner leg muscles: Drag the legs as far apart as possible and then drag them together. Do not lift legs from floor.

For Actress Joan Crawford

Marriage Comes First

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Joan Crawford thinks a wife, whatever career she may have, owes a good part of her time to her husband's career. And the svelte 50-year-old actress has 125,000 miles of air travel behind her to prove she practices what she preaches.

During a visit to Las Vegas, Miss Crawford stressed that her acting career is dictated totally by her responsibilities as Mrs. Alfred Steele, wife of a wealthy bottling executive.

★ ★ ★

For nearly four years, she has played the role of Mrs. Steele.

"And I love every exciting minute of it," she exclaimed. "The reality of it is even more unbelievable than some of the movie parts I've portrayed."

FLIES AROUND

The Academy Award winner married Steele in Las Vegas in 1955 and is beginning to catch her second wind from the globe-trotting ventures necessary for the wife of the board chairman of the Pepsi-Cola Co.

"I had made only one airplane trip prior to marrying Alfred," said Miss Crawford.

Last year the Steels toured 20 foreign countries to publicize the opening of new plants.

"I cut more ribbons than a seamstress," said the star. "Our itinerary read like a script. It was something like acting in a mystery story and not knowing the outcome until the end. I wouldn't trade this life for anything."

She continued:

"I plan my pictures so that I can be with Alfred as much as possible during shooting. My work in movies or television comes second to a convention or an extensive business trip.

WORK AS TEAM

"Ours is a husband-and-wife team. A woman who doesn't become interested in some way in her husband's career is missing part of married life, a very important part."

★ ★ ★

But for a movie idol who has been a star for more than two decades, there is no complete break with the past. This was evident when Miss Crawford and her husband made a business trip to Lourenco Marques, capital of Moxambique in Africa on the Indian Ocean.

"We stepped off the plane at 7 a.m.," she said. "And there they were, 20,000 people, waving pictures of us and shouting for autographs."

★ ★ ★

Later the Steels visited the king of Uganda. For more than an hour in the African tribal ruler's jungle home, Miss Crawford listened, amazed, as he "told me more about myself than any person I have met."

PARTS TIMED

Her current acting schedule calls for a few television performances a year, and pictures only when the timing is right and the scripts to her liking.

★ ★ ★

The lure of nightclub salaries hasn't swayed Joan Crawford. "I'm not a night-club-type performer," she said. "but I will admit there have been offers." One included $10,000 for two-hours' work as hostess to a press party.

Yule Dinner Set Dec. 16 by Sorority

Plans for the annual Christmas party, a progressive dinner to be held Dec. 16, were completed when Phi Alpha Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Tuesday evening at the Strathmore avenue home of Mrs. Ronald McNeal.

Marilyn Carlson reported on proceeds from a recent money-making project sponsored by the group.

The Chapter is gathering toys, clothing and food to give to a needy family as a Christmas project..

The January meeting will be held at the home of Audrey Tinkis on Winding drive.

Pi Omicron Plans Party

Phi Kappa Tau Chapter of Pi Omicron National Sorority will be in charge of entertainment at the Christmas party to be held Thursday at Hotel Waldron.

Plans for the party were made when the group met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Stuart Hutchinson.

Mrs. Robert Hausman announced the state convention will be held May 16 and 17 at St. Clair Inn. Mrs. Hutchinson is in charge of the official programs for the affair.

Mrs. Doyle Hostess to Kappa Chi Alpha

Secret Pals were exchanged when Kappa Chi Alpha Sorority held its annual Christmas party Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Edward Doyle Jr. on Lyford street. Twenty members attended.

Plans were made to pack baskets for needy families containing necessary items for a complete Christmas dinner along with gifts for the children.

Leal Emes Group Holds Yule Party

The annual Christmas party of Leal Emes Group of First Presbyterian Church was held Wednesday evening at the Mohawk road home of Marian Lehner. Assisting were Florence and June Schlesser.

★ ★ ★

Taking part in the program were Mrs. Laurence McDowell and Ethel Graham. The next meeting will be held Jan. 7 at the church. New officers will be installed.

Take Special Pains When You Visit Sick

By RUTH MILLETT

Here are some tips on how to be a good visitor to the sick, included in an article in "Today's Health," published by the American Medical Association.

Don't show up for a hospital visit until the third day after major surgery, or the second day after minor surgery. (In other words, however kind your intentions, an earlier visit is likely to do the patient more harm than good.)

If you have a cold or don't feel up to par, send a card instead of making a visit. (You certainly don't want to add to a sick friend's troubles by bringing germs along with a bouquet of flowers.)

As you walk along hospital corridors going to or from the room of the person you are visiting, don't peer inquisitively into rooms whose doors are standing ajar. (Keep your eyes straight ahead and give the patients a little privacy. They don't get much in a hospital.)

Don't stay long when you are paying a sick call. (Long visits tire a patient who, however bad he may feel, will make some effort to talk to visitors and make them feel welcome.)

Make happy talk. (This is the time to forget your own troubles and your own illnesses, and to try to bring a little sunshine into the sick room.)

Go alone or with just one other person when you make a hospital call. Too many visitors in the room at once tire the patient. (A hospital room is no place for friends to congregate and have a party.)

Don't play doctor. (Let the patient's doctor take care of his illness, without your giving the patient your idea of what should be done for him.)

Don't smoke unless it's all right with the hospital, with the patient you are visiting and other patients close by.

HOLIDAY MAILING DEADLINES — This chart of the United States indicates the zones and deadlines which area residents have to mail their holiday parcels and cards to be assured of delivery by Dec. 24. Acting Postmaster Robert C. Miller said next Wednesday is the first deadline for mail to Washington, Oregon and California. Mail to lower Michigan and northern Ohio must be mailed by Dec. 16, the latest of all the deadlines, for guaranteed delivery. See chart showing latest mailing dates for Christmas delivery.

Actress' Death Was Caused by Eating Binge

EAST MEADOW, N. Y. (AP)—The mysterious death Nov. 17 of Sherry Rubin, prominent 19-year-old actress and model, was attributed today to what doctors termed a medical rarity—a stomach explosion from overeating.

Dr. Leslie Lukash, Nassau County medical examiner, said the slightly built 100-pound girl had consumed the equivalent of three or four meals within a few hours.

★ ★ ★

He said her stomach was ruptured in a vain attempt to vomit. There was a massive contraction of her stomach walls, he said, but instead of the food being forced back up through the gullet "it exploded the upper wall of the stomach close to the esophagus."

"Death from overeating is very rare," said Dr. Lukash as he disclosed the findings of a medical study begun shortly after the actress' death.

He said the girl had been under psychiatric care. When she was taken to a hospital, authorities first thought she was suffering from an overdose of drugs but found evidence of a perforated stomach. She died before an operation could be performed.

Miss Rubin began as a model for leading fashion magazines, appeared on radio and in summer theaters, then went on to television. In TV she was seen on such top dramatic shows as Studio One, the Alcoa Hour and Playhouse 90.

Reds Deny Knowing of Missing U.S. Pilot

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—Soviet authorities deny knowing anything about a U.S. Army pilot who may have bailed out over East Germany. But they say they are investigating.

★ ★ ★

The Army requested Soviet assistance in finding Lt. Richard Mackin of Washington, D.C., who disappeared Wednesday night while on a routine flight near the Iron Curtain.

★ ★ ★

The 27-year-old lieutenant was flying a single-engine L19 Courier plane. He sent out a distress call reporting that he had lost his direction, was short of fuel and was going to bail out.

Actress Sues Magazine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Natalie Wood has sued a magazine for $400,000 damages, charging libel and invasion of privacy. Her complaint, filed against TV and Movie Screen magazine, said its Sept. 1 issue contained false statements regarding her private life.

Eddie Takes Liz Out to Dine After Divorce Is Filed

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A few hours after Debbie Reynolds sued him for divorce, singer Eddie Fisher escorted Elizabeth Taylor to a fancy Beverly Hills restaurant Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

It was their first appearance together in public since the round of night-clubbing in New York last September that led to the breakup of the Fisher-Reynolds marriage.

★ ★ ★

Although she publicly cast Miss Taylor in the role of the "other woman" at the time she and Fisher separated, Miss Reynolds made no mention of her in the divorce action, which was based on a charge of extreme cruelty.

Blue Beard for Santa

STAMFORD (UPI)—The Santa Claus at Bloomingdale's Department Store had to send away for a new beard because the kiddies have been tugging the old one away by the tuft. The new board arrived Wednesday, but Santa was horrified. It was a rich shade of blue.

German Reds Test Jet

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany says its first home-built jet plane, a 60-passenger model called the 512, successfully made its first 30-minute test flight over Dresden Thursday. The four-jet plane was built at the satellite's state-owned aircraft plant in Klotzche, just outside Dresden.

The outflow of the Amazon River is 1,300,000 cubic feet per second.

Germans to Get Atomic Rockets

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany is to be equipped with antiaircraft rockets which can carry atomic warheads, the Defense Ministry announced today.

They will be the American made Nike-Hercules rockets.

★ ★ ★

The ministry said the weapons will not be delivered with atomic warheads, as it has been agreed these will be kept under the control of the American supreme commander of NATO, Gen. Lauris Norstad.

German antiaircraft rocket crews are being trained in the United States.

Santa Wins Out: GIs' Yule Mail to Move Quickly

NEW YORK (AP)—A new union policy and Santa Claus were in contention yesterday on a Hudson River pier, and Santa won.

★ ★ ★

Longshoremen at Pier 84 balked at loading 30 huge containers of overseas yuletide military mail aboard the liner Independence. The protest was part of the International Longshoremen's Assn. policy against loading "containerized" cargo or bulk freight.

The men want to continue loading mail the old way, bag by bag. They say the container method reduces the amount of work for dockers.

★ ★ ★

The stoppage brough immediate pressure from military authorities, postal officials and many dock workers who once were soldiers themselves.

Union officials decided to make an exception for the Army mail containers, which measure about six feet square and eight feet deep.

Hollywood Headlines:

Burl Ives Hot Contender for Academy Award

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Surprising if Burl Ives isn't nominated for best supporting actor in "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof."

Richard Brooks, director of this controversial movie, has now contacted Burl for "Andersonville," to play the southern father. Brooks has had several meetings with Sam Briskin, Columbia head, and you can take it from me Ives will be the first actor signed.

"Andersonville" doesn't go before the cameras until 1959, but, dear me, that's just around the corner. It's Sam Briskin's idea to release it in 1960, the 100th annniversary of the Civil War.

There was a private reading of Tyrone Power's will which was split five ways—among his widow, Debbie, his mother, his sister, Mrs. Ann Hardenburg, and his two children.

The estate isn't as big as was expected because Ty lived very well and paid a heavy alimony to Annabella and Linda Christian. Linda was not mentioned in the will, but she got hers when she and Ty were divorced.

Debbie Power was taken care of in an insurance policy, as well as in the will. She has moved in with a friend, but she is looking for a small house which she may buy or rent.

Taina Elg quietly returned from England last week and just as quietly resumed her romance with Keith Larson which apparently neither could forget during the long months she was away. In the beginning Taina's attachment for Keith was kept very hush-hush. It came as a shock and surprise because everyone thought her marriage to Carl Bjorkenheim was sound and solid.

I'm told that MGM has optioned Keith for another year because requests for a couple of big loanouts have been made for him by another studio.

Gene Tierney is back to the weight she was years ago, and she looks beautiful. When I talked to her at the Bel-Air Hotel she said she had to leave in a day or two to go back to New York to do her Christmas shopping.

She came here to talk business with the Kirk Douglas company about a very important role in "Spartacus." Here's hoping she's signed without delay. I think everyone would pay money at the box-office to see Gene. Her old pictures released on TV are extremely popular these days.

Rumors are strong that Doris Duke will marry her long-time friend, pianist Joe Castro. They are here now.

Somerset Bridge, which joins Somerset Island to mainland Bermuda, is believed to be the smallest drawbridge in the world. Its draw is only large enough to permit passage of a sailboat mast.

Charge FBI Agent Bought Dynamite

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Counsel for a man charged with bombing the Jewish temple accused one of the state's star witnesses Thursday of going to Tennessee to get explosives for the job.

"You went up there to buy dynamite to blow up the Atlanta temple, didn't you?" shouted Atty. James Venable during cross-examination of Leslie E. Rogers, an undercover worker for the FBI.

Rogers denied it.

Rogers, a husky West Virginia native with an emphatic voice and manner, was the state's big witness during the fourth day of the trial of George Allen Bright, one of five men accused of bombing the temple Oct. 12. If convicted, the lean, bespectacled defendant could be sentenced to die.

Rogers, an Atlanta businessman told of joining two anti-Negro, anti-Semitic groups as a paid informer for the FBI. His testimony linked Bright and other bombing defendants with race baiter John Kasper.

Time Does Fly: 'Scarlett O'Hara' a Grandma Today

LONDON (AP)— Scarlett O'Hara became a grandma today.

"It's divine," gasped actress Vivien Leigh, now 45 but still about as beautiful as when she starred in the movie of "Gone With the Wind."

"I've been a godmother loads of times, but being a grandmother is better than anything."

Then she drank a slow toast — of gin and water — to her grandson and brushed away a grandmotherly tear.

Neville Leigh Farrington was born shortly after last midnight. A call from a London maternity home brought the news to his grandmother at a farewell party for actress Googie Withers, who is on her way to Australia.

★ ★ ★

The baby's mother Suzanne is Vivien's 24-year-old daughter by her first marriage, to Leigh Holman. The baby's father is Robin Farrington, an insurance broker.

Vivien, who's been married for 18 years to actor Sir Laurence Olivier, lunched Thursday with her first husband. They talked about becoming grandparents.

Cyprus Talks Lose U.N. Vote

Two-Week Debate Ends in Procedural Wrangle on British Colony

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U. N. efforts to launch peace talks for Cyprus fizzled today after a compromise plan failed to muster enough votes to ensure General Assembly approval.

★ ★ ★

The 81-nation Political Committee voted on three rival proposals late Thursday night after a confused procedural wrangle that climaxed two weeks of debate on Britain's crown colony in the eastern Mediterranean.

The only resolution to escape defeat was a much-amended Iranian proposal approved 31-22 with 28 abstentions. This was still short of the two-thirds majority needed in the Assembly.

★ ★ ★

The resolution called on Greece, Turkey and Britain—the nations disputing the future of Cyprus—to negotiate their differences. The Iranian pan was virtually doomed when Greece announced in advance that she would vote against it.

The committee defeated 17-17, with 47 abstentions, a Colombian plan for a U. N. study group to visit Cyprus and study the situation. It also rejected 11-22, with 48 abstaining, a Belgian proposal calling on the three nations to keep trying for agreement.

★ ★ ★

Four other resolutions, including a Greek call for U. N. approval of independence for Cyprus, were withdrawn.

The vote came after a day of heated debate which included a slashing Greek attack against the United States.

Sergeant Fights Ex-Girl Friend in Britain for Dog

RAMSGATE, England (AP) — A U.S. Air Force sergeant today prepared for the third round of a legal fight with his former girl friend over ownership of a 4-year-old Alsatian dog.

S.Set. Otto Virgin flew in Thursday from the Tucson, Ariz., air base, 6,000 miles away, to do battle for Ricky, the odd-dog-out of his broken romance with Margaret Perkins.

★ ★ ★

"I love that dog and he loved me," said the 32-year-old sergeant from Milwaukee, Wis. "My Christmas will be a lot happier if I win him back — even if it leaves me broke."

Virgin and Margaret stopped going out together last June, shortly before the Air Force ordered him back to the States. He claimed the dog, saying he had only allowed her to take care of it for him.

Margaret claimed he had given her the animal and got a court order to prevent him taking it out of the country. The sergeant planned to defy the order but finally took Ricky ashore from the Queen Elizabeth an hour before he sailed for America.

Last month Virgin cabled a British lawyer to get Ricky made a ward of the court. A judge ordered Miss Perkins not to destroy the dog or take it out of the country. She said she didn't plan to do either.

★ ★ ★

Virgin now is asking the court to declare Ricky his, and to award him "damages for detention."

"People say I am silly to go to all this trouble," said the sergeant, "but Ricky and I love each other. There is a feeling between us.

"After all these cases I'm broke . . . Haven't even got Ricky's fare home. But I'm hoping to borrow it."

Piano-Thon Postponed by Princeton Exams

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI)—Sophomore Frank Fong, 21, of Hong Kong, called off a scheduled 72-hour piano-playing marathon because he feared he wouldn't have time to study for an exam.

But the Princeton University undergraduate said he would go through with the piano-thon "for sure" during the four-day break between terms in January.

PCH Quint in Home Opener Tonight

Detroit Catholic Central Highly Regarded Team

Shamrocks Have New Edition but Always Feared by Chiefs

A graduation-riddled Detroit Catholic Central basketball team invades Pontiac Central tonight as the Chiefs of Art Van Ryzin make their home debut in the PCH gym at 8 o'clock.

Tonight's edition of the Shamrocks as far as the starting unit is concerned will be completely different.

★ ★ ★

Four of coach Bill Foley's top-line performers last season, all starters, have departed via graduation and the 5th starter a year ago, center Ed Skrzycki, has been demoted to the 2nd string.

The graduated stars are Bob Morris, Paul Bibeau, Bill Swartz and Tony Moha. Skrzycki, a husky lad of 6-feet-4, has been benched by Foley in favor of center Brian Motter, a 6-3 sophomore.

★ ★ ★

Joining Motter in the starting Shamrock lineup will be Don Wizner and Dennis Stalla at guards and Greg Swartz and John Oldfield at the forward posts. Only Motter measures six feet or better.

The Chiefs will be favored, but they have long since learned that Catholic Central is a foe to be highly respected and even feared. The Detroiters have a knack of giving PCH all the trouble it can handle.

This evening's game will be the 1958-59 season opener for the Shamrocks, a factor in Central's favor.

Van Ryzin's cagers went through their initial paces last Tuesday night at Dearborn and conquered Edsel Ford, 69-60. The Chiefs hope to make the Shamrocks their 2nd victim of the year.

Forward John Bandy and guard Charlie Barge, who scored 20 points apiece at Edsel Ford, forward Bill Hayward and center Harrison Munson are almost positive starters with either Henry Robertson or Phil Rabaja filling the other guard spot.

Big Bill Pritchett, 6-3 sophomore center, may see action tonight if he has fully recovered from an attack of flu early this week. Bandy has been bothered by a foot infection since the Edsel Ford game, but he is expected to be OK for the Shamrocks.

HERE'S 'HOWE' — Gordie Howe (9) of Detroit sweeps past Larry Regan of the Bruins to lead rush into Boston territory in 1st period of last night's 4-0 shutout for Wings. Howe scored his 399th goal midway in the 2nd period.

Chicago U. of M. Club Honors Ben Oosterbaan

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Michigan club of Chicago last night gave Bennie Oosterbaan an unprecedented award of merit.

Oosterbaan, Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, who replaced him as head football coach at Michigan, Harry Kipke and Fritz Crisler, Wolverine athletic director, were at the speaker's table.

It was the first time all of Michigan's living coaches of the past and present had been together at one of the club's dinners.

The merit award was to express the club's gratitude for Oosterbaan's distinguished contributions to Michigan over a period of 35 years. This honor never before was bestowed by the Michigan club, its president, Larry Barasa, said.

★ ★ ★

A standing ovation was given Oosterbaan, who is moving on to head Michigan's athletic public relations.

"Bennie Oosterbaan recently used the expression that I will take his place," said Elliott, former Michigan player who was moved into the head coaching spot from the staff of assistants.

"That is not so. I couldn't take Bennie's place anywhere. He'll never be replaced."

Elliott said he would rely on the basic philosophies he learned under Crisler and Oosterbaan.

"Two things are of supreme significane," he said. "First, whenever a Michigan team goes on the field it must expect to win. Second, each individual, when he finishes playing a game, must believe in his heart that he's given everything he had on the field."

Texas Breeder Pays $41,160 for Foal Colt

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—American breeders spent $112,378 in five purchases at the Newmarket bloodstock sales Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Top price of the day in the spirited bidding was paid by Fred Turner, a breeder from Midland, Tex., who paid $41,160 for a foal colt by Mossborough out of Vale of Towy. He outbid Daniel A. Rice of the Danada Farm, Lexington, Ky.

★ ★ ★

Mossborough sired winners of races worth $186,118 this season, including European champion Ballymoss.

Turner also paid $10,360 for a colt foal by Aureole out of Fatima.

The Red Wings Thursday recalled left winger Claude LaForge from Hershey, Pa. and were to send Tom McCarthy down today. Ironically, McCarthy set up a Detroit goal last night.

One of the last scouting assignments of the late Jack Lavelle was in Briggs Stadium Thanksgiving Day. He was on hand to watch the Lions down the Packers. He said after the game he regarded Terry Barr as the best defensive back and the Lions defensive backfield unit tops in the NFL.

Sawchuk Gains Third Shutout by 4-0 Margin

Detroit Takes Second Place in NHL but 3 Behind Montreal

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — Magnificent shutout goaltending by Terry Sawchuk and Gordie Howe's frustrated bid to tally No. 400 stole the show Thursday night as the Detroit Red Wings returned to their winning ways before 9,277 spectators at Olympia Stadium.

Profiting handsomely from a three-day layoff following last weekend's twin bombing by the Montreal Canadiens, the Red Wings rebounded strongly to deal the Boston Bruins a 4-0 whitewashing on goals by Nick Mickoski, Jack McIntyre, Bill McNeill and Howe.

Victory vaulted the Detroiters into 2nd place in the National Hockey League standings with 27 points, one ahead of the Bruins and three behind the front-running Canadiens who were held to a 2-2 tie by the Toronto Maple Leafs last night at the Montreal Forum.

It was Sawchuk's 3rd shutout of the season and the 2nd straight time he has blanked Boston on Olympia ice. His 1st shutout of the year was a 3-0 chore against the New York Rangers in Detroit's home opener Oct. 12.

★ ★ ★

Howe had a dozen chances to score the 400th goal of his brilliant NHL career, but he could only capitalize once for No. 399 so he ended his evening's work still one point away from the magic number.

Strangely enough, the one goal he did make was the most sensational play of the game, a blazing 15-footer from an almost impossible angle. Otherwise, he had five shots on target blocked by Boston goalie Don Simmons and another six tries that missed, one hitting the post and a couple wide at point blank range.

The real hero of the game was Sawchuk, who labored nearly without letup to keep Boston scoreless. The Bruins swarmed around the cage most of the evening and pelted him with 26 shots.

He stopped all of them and made several spectacular saves from point blank range in the process. Virtually half of his saves came at the expense of Larry Regan and Vic Stasiuk. Simmons turned aside a total of 24 Detroit shots.

The Wings scored in every period with two of them coming in the middle stanza. A total of 10 penalties were evenly divided between the two teams and the Wings twice tallied goals on power plays.

Mickoski collected the 1st Red Wing counter at 8:20 of the 1st period. He caught Simmons out of position and flicked home a Charlie Burns rebound from the goalmouth.

★ ★ ★

McIntyre clicked in the 5 minute of the 2nd period with Leo LaBine in the penalty box, taking a neat Alex Delvecchio pass and banging in a rising 25-footer.

McNeill scored the final goal at 7:51 of the 3rd period with Jerry Toppazzini in the penalty box. Tom McCarthy passed to McNeill from the boards and Bill fired a hard 25-foot shot into the net.

Cards, Phillies Busiest Traders at Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies, shuffling talent after disappointing seasons, were the busiest traders in the National League during the winter meetings.

With Frank Lane priming the pump, the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox set the pace in the American League.

Solly Hemus, starting a new career as a big league manager with the Cards, came up with two righthanded hitting outfielders in Chuck Essegian and Gino Cimoli.

He gave up Wally Moon, a lefthanded hitting outfielder, to Los Angeles and Ruben Amaro, a lighthitting (.224) but fancy fielding shortstop, to Philadelphia.

Phil Paine, a righthanded relief pitcher already demoted to the Omaha farm, went to Los Angeles' Spokane farm in the deal that sent Moon to the Dodgers for Cimoli, a .246 disappointment after a fine rookie year.

★ ★ ★

The Phils, in addition to acquiring Amara as insurance behind Chico Fernandez, secured Valmy Thomas, a much-needed catcher. They also got Ruben Gomez, an experienced pitcher, from San Francisco in the swap that gave the Giants righthanded pitcher Jack Sanford, the National League rookie of the year in 1957.

Trader Lane, Cleveland general manager, latched onto a fine center fielder in Jimmy Piersall who hit only .237 at Boston.

To get Piersall, Lane gave the Red Sox first baseman Vic Wertz and center fielder Gary Geiger, a fleet youngster who was highly regarded in the St. Louis organization in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Lane also came up with Russ Heman, a righthanded pitcher from Baltimore's farm at Vancouver where he had a 9-12 record. In return, Lane gave the Orioles second baseman Bobby Avila, league batting champ in 1954 but now 32. He hit only .253 last season.

★ ★ ★

The Red Sox also made a deal with Detroit, shifting Lou Berberet, lefthanded hitting catcher, to the Tigers for Herb Moford, a righthanded pitcher who had a 4-9 record at Detroit last season. The Tigers were hurting badly for catching.

Many other deals were reported in the making. Some may pop when the club owners return home.

TRADE FIGURES—Trade figures in yesterday's deal between the St. Louis Cards and Los Angeles Dodgers were Gino Cimoli who went to the Cards and Wally Moon (right) who was shipped to Los Angeles. The Cards also send pitcher Phil Paine to a Dodger farm in the deal.

State Bowler Presses Leader

Kwiecien of Fraser Four Behind Smith in World Test Prelim

CHICAGO (AP)— Bob Kwiecien of Fraser, Mich., trailed leader Harry Smith of St. Louis by four pins at the end of the first six of 36 games in the qualifying round of the World's Invitational Match Game bowling tournament last night.

Kwiecien rolled a 1,322 total to 1,326 for Smith.

Therman Gibson of Detroit was ranked 10th after the first six games with a 1,269 score.

In the women's division defending women's titlist Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids rolled a four-game total of 782 good for 10th place. Val Mikiel of Detroit was rated 13th with a 762 total and Anita Cantaline, also of Detroit, was 16th with 757.

★ ★ ★

Scores of other Michigan entrants, in the men's division were; George Howard, Detroit, 1,201; Fred Riccilli, Detroit, 1,198, and Syl Thiel, Bloomfield Hills, 1,186.

Shirley Garms of Palatine, Ill., holds a 53-pin lead among the women with 893.

★ ★ ★

The 128 men are shooting 36 games with the top 64 moving into Monday's semi-finals to determine 15 finalists in the race for the $5,000 1st prize. A similar arrangement is set up for the women with $2,500 the top prize.

Toronto Ties Canadiens, 2-2

By The Associated Press

The Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs battled to a 2-2 tie in a National Hockey league game last night.

The last-place Leafs had to come from behind to gain the deadlock. Tim Horton and Frank Mahovlich produced unassisted markers in the middle period after Ralph Backstrom, a rookie, had put Montreal in front with a couple of first period goals.

Major League Owners Refuse Revenue Proposal

Players' Demands Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Major League players appeared unruffled today by the owners rebuff of their demands for a percentage of the clubs' gross income.

The players predicted ultimate victory in the financial tug-of-war.

Acting on the final day of their winter meetings, the magnates flatly rejected the players' proposal for a 20 per cent cut of the overall revenue.

★ ★ ★

The calm reaction of the players came as somewhat of a surprise because of their earlier threat of drastic action in the event of refusal.

"The players are far from discouraged by the owners' latest action," said J. Norman Lewis, the players' attorney and spokesman.

"The owners have made flat rejections of other player requests before and eventually reconsidered.

"They intend to continue to present their arguments with persistent and patient negotiations for a more equitable participation in the increased revenue which has accrued to the owners over the past decade.

"And they think it won't be long before the more constructive and conservative element of the owners will see the justice of the players' position and agree to a satisfactory settlement.

There will be no threats, no reprisals, no recriminating, Lewis said. He added it is the players' hope to settle the dispute as peaceably as possible.

★ ★ ★

Lewis said he planned to meet with league player representatives Robin Roberts of Philadelphia and Eddie Yost of Washington to discuss the players' did not intend to be stubborn in their demands and would be amenable to a counter proposal.

In other windup action, the owners decided on a three-week free trading period from Nov. 21 through Dec. 15. In this period, players may be swapped from one league to the other without first obtaining waivers. The plan will go into effect next year.

2 Candidates Seeking Iowa State 'AD' Job

AMES, Iowa (AP)—The Iowa State College Athletic Council plans to interview two candidates here for the job of athletic director. One will be interviewed Sunday afternoon and the other on Monday.

Council members declined to name the two men, but it was learned Thursday that one is Wally Schwank, Coe College athletic director and football coach, and the other is Trevor J. Rees, Kent State football coach and former assistant coach under Paul Brown at Ohio State in 1941.

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS
SEATTLE—Terry Lewis, 237, Spokane, stopped Tony Emanuel, 207, Los Angeles, 8.
NEW YORK—Jose Torres, 159, Puerto Rico, stopped Ike Jenkins, 154, New York, 5.

Eaglets Face 'Surprise' RO Squad

SCL Begins Title Race

Battle for the 1958-59 Suburban Catholic League basketball crown gets under way tonight, but only one of the three Pontiac area parochial fives will be involved.

★ ★ ★

The "big game" of the early SCL season, at least as far as Pontiac Catholics are concerned, is Saturday's first encounter of the new campaign for St. Frederick and St. Michael. These bitter rivals collide in an evening tilt on the big Pontiac Central floor.

Rams won the last regular season game, 48-39, for their 20th victory in 35 meetings between school quintets.

St. Mary of Orchard Lake faces what is regarded in SCL circles as the loop's "surprise" club, in tonight's official opening for the title. RO St. Mary, with new coach Tom Nutt, bore out the "surprise" tag when it forced Madison High to the limit Tuesday in a 61-58 loss.

Eaglets will have to stop tall Jim McGrath who led point-getters with 23. The Orchard Lakers also face another hot scoring threat in 6-1 pivotman Bill Crawford, and Tom Alsheskie, both fine scorers.

Eaglets will probably go with the same five that did so well, Monday, in a victory over Detroit St. Stanislaus, 54-32.

Akins Risks Title in Fight Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World welterweight champion Virgil Akins, risking his title for the first time, is a solid favorite to keep it in 15 rounds or less tonight against Don Jordan of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

The fight goes on at the Olympic Auditorium and will be televised nationally — National Broadcasting Co. — at 7 o'clock, Pacific Standard Time.

This area for a 300-mile radius will be blacked out.

Most experts figure the 30-year-old, hard-smacking champion from St. Louis will knock out the 24-year-old No. 1 contender — something that hasn't happened to the California hopeful in 55 fights.

Jordan, quietly confident, predicted he would outscore Akins and capture the crown in 15 rounds.

PNH Matmen Win 1st Start

Inexperienced Huskies Come From Behind to Trip Walled Lake

Pontiac Northern entered the field of wrestling for the first time and came out a winner over a more experienced Walled Lake team at the new PNH gymnasium last night.

The final tally was 29-23 after a nip-and-tuck battle witnessed by over 200 fans. Walled Lake held an 18-13 lead before the Huskies won four straight to pull out the victory.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Fields, 145, the only Northern boy who lettered in the sport at Central last year, started the rally. Maurice Lackey and George Graves followed with pins and Don Davis posted a one-sided decision.

Northern also won eight of 10 exhibition matches.

The summary:

95—Roger Richards (N) won by forfeit.
103—Bob Fowler (W) pinned Duane Stuk.
112—Carl Bills (N) defeated Mike Cosgrove, 9-7.
120—Tom Balkwell (W) pinned Mel Oswalt.
127—Wes Cottrell (W) pinned Ralph Clausen.
133—Jim Balkwell (W) pinned Stan Hertel.
138—Gary Eskelinen (W) downed Winfred Miracle, 6-4.
145—Fields won over Bob Christian 5-4
154—Lackey pinned Marty Richardson.
165—Graves pinned John Van Sicklen.
175—Davis trounced Gary Webb, 11-2.
Heavy—Jim Teddy (W) pinned Bill Green.

Norm Probert and Bog Masters of Pontiac have received freshmen football letters, at Sioux Falls College in South Dakota.

State Seeking to Get Lands

LANSING — Certain valuable properties along Great Lakes' shorelines, long reserved for Coast Guard purposes, are slowly becoming available for public use.

Lands long kept for future lighthouses, or used as lifesaving stations, have in recent years been made available for purchase by or exchange to other governmental agencies.

Some of these lands have never had to be developed, some have modern automatic equipment, some are lands no longer needed by the Coast Guard.

All the lands include frontage on Lakes Michigan, Superior and Huron. Conservation Department buyers are negotiating for these lands parcel by parcel for future use as beaches, camp sites, forest lands and other public purposes.

Already several have come into public ownership and a number of others are in the hopper.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

If you are just beginning to bowl, you probably use the pin system. I mean you fasten your eyes on the pins as you take your stance and keep them there throughout your approach and delivery.

This system of bowling is the simplest of all, and so most beginning bowlers automatically adopt it. Actually, if you're among them you merely draw an imaginary line from the pins back to the spot at the foul line where you want to release your ball.

Perhaps because of this, the straight ball and pin bowling seem to go hand in hand. When a bowler develops a hook or curve ball, he often also adopts a little more scientific system of bowling such as spot bowling or line bowling, both of which I'll cover in future columns.

But, you can carry a good average as a pin bowler. Joe Norris, Adolph Carlson, Happy Lippe, Al "Lindy" Faragalli . . . they all use the pin system. Take notice of their scores sometime.

Division Title Hope at Stake for New York

Detroit Ends Season at Home Hoping for .500 Record

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Giants believe they can win the Eastern Division championship in the National Football League, but they'll have to get by the Detroit Lions Sunday to stay in the race.

Now in second place, just one game behind the Cleveland Browns, the Giants will have every man healthy when they meet the Lions in Briggs Stadium Sunday afternoon.

The Giants' advance man went through the previous troubles of the team: quarterback Don Heinrich has missed 5 games, quarterback Charlie Conerly and lineman Roosevelt Brown 1 each, lineman Jack Stroud 4, halfback Alex Webster 3, end Kyle Rote and back Frank Gifford 2 apiece.

"For the first time," said publicity man Bob Daley, "we'll be 100 per cent. We just hope our boys aren't looking past the Lions."

★ ★ ★

The Giants meet the Cleveland Browns next week. "We've beaten them before and our boys feel we can do it again."

The Lions and the Giants met earlier this year in a pre-season game, and the New Yorkers looked nothing like a team that would stand 7-3 in the division right now.

"But we were signing new men and trying out new things even when the season was starting," said the man from New York, "our coaches feel the club is really jelling now."

★ ★ ★

Coach George Wilson, whose Detroit team has a 4-5-1 record, said sarcastically: "Yeah, all those teams jell just before they play the Lions."

The Giants lost five straight games in the pre-season campaign, but once the regular season began, they handed the Browns their first loss, then gave Baltimore, champion of the Western Division, its lone defeat.

The Cleveland team has had trouble in its last four games and the Giant crowd feels the Browns are "staggering."

★ ★ ★

A New York victory and a Cleveland loss to Philadelphia would throw the Eastern Division into a deadlock. "We're not expecting any favors from anyone," said Daley. "We'll feel good if we beat the Lions — then we can concentrate on beating the Browns."

★ ★ ★

A Cleveland victory and a New York triumph this week would mean that the Giants would have to beat the Browns the following Sunday to force a tie in the division. The playoff game that then would be necessary would be played in New York.

'Coaches' Protests Subside'

New Conversion Rule Popular, Crisler Says

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Football inventor Fritz Crisler's experiment is nearing the end of its first season and he's happy with the results.

"The new conversion rule has been popular with the public," said Crisler, Michigan's athletic director and 18-year veteran on the NCAA Football Rules Committee. "The coaches protests against it have subsided."

★ ★ ★

It was Crisler who pushed the first football scoring change since 1912 through the Committee last January. The rule awarded two points for a successful conversion on a pass or run and kept intact the old single point for a kick through the goal posts. It aroused an uproar of protest from many coaches.

"At the end of the season there will be pros and cons," said Crisler. "Those who profit by it will love it, and those who don't will detest it."

Crisler's team ironically has profited by it in reverse. Michigan has won only two games, both by 20-19 scores when its rivals failed to score on a two point attempt after a third touchdown.

"Actually I don't think its had a great effect on the outcome of games," Crisler said. "But some of the percentages have fooled me."

He said he was surprised to see the number of successful place kicks drop from 78 per cent last season to 67 per cent this year.

"I was inclined to think it would go up because defenses wouldn't put as much heat on the kicker," Crisler said.

★ ★ ★

"The two point conversion has been successful 43 per cent of the time. That's a little better than the 33 per cent I thought it would be."

Crisler believes the new rule wasn't exploited to the fullest this season.

"Coaches just used their regular offense," he said. "Next year it should be exploited more by coaches with greater masking of their intent. They'll develop formations from which they can run, pass or kick next year."

Top Turf Honor to Round Table

Kerr Racer Is Named U.S. Champion; Owner Sees Big Year Ahead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another great year for Round Table —the 1958 American champion and the biggest money winner in racing history — is predicted by his owner, Travis M. Kerr.

Kerr and his wife and daughter, Nancy, were here tonight to accept the Thoroughbred Racing Assn.'s award for Round Table. Round Table was named champion in the older horse—4 years and up—division Wednesday by a single vote over the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler.

Thursday night he was named the American champion.

"We're grateful and privileged to own a horse like Round Table," said Kerr. "We plan to race him on the West Coast, at Chicago and in the East next year—but not after October. Then he will retire and be ready for stud in 1960. Of course, his condition as he goes along next year will determine how many races he'll make.

"But, right now, he looks better than ever."

★ ★ ★

Round Table is at Santa Anita preparing for the season opening Dec. 26. After Santa Anita, and its opportunities for more healthy purses, Round Table will race at Hollywood Park. He earned $622,780 as a 4-year-old this year, a record for the season, and has a total of $1,336,364 — surpassing Nashua's mark.

Round Table won 14 of 20 starts this year, 11 of them stakes events.

Drafts 5-Year Contract

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana State University drafted a reported five year $16,500 contract for Coach Paul Dietzel Thursday while he headed for New York to take bows for his national football champions.

★ ★ ★

The 34-year-old coach led the undefeated, untied Tigers to a Sugar Bowl bid and the national title in the final Associated Press college football poll.

★ ★ ★

Dietzel's team, with 10 straight victories, meets Clemson in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl classic Jan. 1.

The one-time Little All-America center at Miami, Ohio, has a year to go on his $14,000-a-year contract.

While some university sources indicated a $2,500 raise and a new five-year contract may be in the making, LSU officials would mention no money.

Athletic Director Jim Corbett said he plans to recommend a "respectable" increase in salary and a contract extension "for a job beautifully done."

Former Giant Fielder Is Dead at 74 Years

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—John J. "Red" Murray, 74, an outfielder with the New York Giants under John McGraw, died Thursday after a short illness.

A native of Arnott, Pa., Murray began his professional baseball career in 1906 when the St. Louis Cardinals signed him off the Notre Dame campus. He was traded to the Giants in 1909, and achieved his greatest fame as regular right-fielder with McGraw's pennant winners in 1911-13.

Intensive Training for U.S. Olympians

CHICAGO (AP)—With an obvious eye on Russia in the 1960 Rome Olympic Games, the U. S. Olympic Committee moved Thursday to sharpen America's squad training.

★ ★ ★

The group appointed Willis O. Hunter, retired University of Southern California athletic director, as coordinator of a pepped-up conditioning program for all 33 of this country's Olympic sports units.

It will be put into practice prior to the Pan-American Games in Chicago next Aug. 25-Sept. 7. This will be a test run for the 1960 Olympics.

Pollet Signs as Coach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Howie Pollet, former St. Louis Cardina southpaw ace, Thursday was signed as pitching coach for the Cards under Manager Solly Hemus.

Coaches Fail to Get Seat on MHSAA Council

AP Wirephoto

TWO FOR OSCAR — All-America cager Oscar Robertson of the University of Cincinnati solved NYU's defense yesterday by hitting for 45 points. Oscar hit 41 points in his first game and last year he led the nation in scoring with a 35 point average.

Michigan Prep Mentors Again Are Rebuffed

Additional Basketball Game Also Rejected by Principals

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan High School Coaches Assn. was rebuffed here yesterday in an effort to obtain representation on the representative council. The council controls all schoolboy athletics in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Secondary Schools Assn., an organization of principals from the state's 700 high schools, voted 4-1 against an amendment which would have given the coaches two seats on the council.

The council is a 13-man body. The coaches wanted membership raised to 15.

In the last 10 years only one active coach has been elected to the council, comprised primarily of school principals and superintendents.

★ ★ ★

Paul Smarks, president of the MHSCA, said:

"The vote was not surprising to our membership. We expected to lose this round. We are now being forced to pursue other democratic avenues which we already have explored."

Smarks had said previously that if necessary his group would go to the state legislature in an effort to get the lawmakers to amend the law that set up the representative council.

★ ★ ★

"The day will arrive, however, when the coaches of this state will be represented on the body which dictates the policy under which they work," Smarks said.

"When that day arrives no one will be able to say we didn't give the principals the first opportunity to correct this injustice."

Also voted down at yesterday's meeting was a proposition to permit high schools to play one additional basketball game each season. Schools are allowed to play a combination of 24 football and basketball games—not exceeding nine football games or 18 in basketball.

★ ★ ★

"There were some heated discussions but the Association voted to keep the status quo on both counts," said Charles Forsythe, state high school athletic director.

In other action, the association approved a rescheduling of the semi-final basketball tournaments in Lansing March 20. Semi-finals for Class D will be held in the afternoon at Lansing Civic Center.

Class B semi-finals will be held in the afternoon at Michigan State University. Class C games will be in the evening at the Civic center and the Class A games will be in the evening at MSU.

Separate tickets will be needed for afternoon and evening games.

The change was made to allow more people to see the games, Forsythe said.

'Lost Minute' May Foul Up Leadership of NBA

By The Associated Press

Are the Boston Celtics or the New York Knickerbockers in first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.?

The answer is up to league president Maurice Podoloff. Podoloff has in his possesion a letter protesting Cincinnati's 108-106 victory over New York Wednesday night.

It's being called the mysterious case of the "lost minute" because the Cincinnati timer told the referee the clock had not been functioning properly. He said that it had jumped from 2:00 left to play in the game to 2:59 instead of 1:59. New York Coach Fuzzy Levane howled and he was backed up by writers covering the game.

Officially, Boston's 116-114 victory over Syracuse last night put the Celtics in the top spot with a 12-6 record for .667. The Knicks are a half length behind. But if the Cincinnati setback is thrown out, it would give New York an 11-5 record for .688.

Boston had to put on a last quarter rally to beat the Nationals, who dropped their eighth straight. Frank Ramsey's basket with 32 seconds remaining clinched it for Boston. Bill Sharman of the Celts had 29 points while Red Kerr paced Syracuse with 28.

In the only other game, the St. Louis Hawks defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 107-92. The triumph increased the Hawks' Western Division lead to four and a half games over Detroit. Cliff Hagan wracked up 37 points for the winners. Paul Arizin led Philadelphia 24.

MSU Hockey Team Plays Tough Foe

EAST LANSING (AP)—Probably the toughest opponent of the season comes first for the Michigan State hockey team.

The skating Spartans get their season under way tonight in a game with North Dakota, champ of the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League last year. A second game is scheduled for Saturday.

The Western League is now disbanded but MSU still is playing Michigan. Michigan Tech and North Dakota among former members.

Michigan State had only an 11-11 record last year but still won the Michigan Press trophy as the top Michigan collegiate hockey team. The Spartans won it by taking three of four games from both Michigan and Michigan Tech.

Frank Vestal Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Frank Vestal, nationally known field trials judge, died of a heart attack en route to a hospital last night. He was 58.

Braves Name Sisti Farm Team Manager

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Wednesday that Sibby Sisti, former Braves' infielder, had been signed to manage the Jacksonville, Fla., club in the South Atlantic League.

Sisti, 38, managed Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League last season and prior to that managed Austin and Corpus Christi of the Texas League.

MSU-Titan Coaches Once Teammates

Cage Rivals Meet

EAST LANSING — Two old friends, who have been long time basketball rivals, match their wits Saturday night at Jenison Fieldhouse in East Lansing where Michigan State and University of Detroit meet on the hardwoods.

Forddy Anderson of MSU and Bob Calihan of U. of D. have been around the game a long time, and year after year they have tried to outwit each other as rival coaches.

Anderson and Calihan were teammates during their service careers, and afterward both went into coaching. Anderson was at Bradley before coming to MSU and Calihan has been with the Titans since discharge after World War II.

At Bradley, Anderson had many great national powers but one of his toughest foes was U. of D. where Calihan once knocked his Braves out of the number one spot in the country.

★ ★ ★

Since moving to MSU, the pair has met three times. In the first meeting in 1954, the Titans upset the Spartans on the East Lansing floor with Pontiac's Guy Sparrow sparking U. of D. with 30 points.

In 1956 and 1957, MSU scored victories on the Titan court. Last year it was 71-59 in a rough game.

The Spartan man to watch, naturally, will be the fabulous Johnny Green, 6-5 jumping jack who has been highly rated in pre-season forecasts. Bob Anderegg, 6-3 forward also should make a major contribution.

In Detroit, Michigan State will be meeting a promising club which already has one convincing victory under its belt. The Titans walloped Assumption College 77-50 last Monday.

The established stars of the Detroit club are 6-3 forward Ralph Uchison and 5-9 guard Ray Albee. But the real men to watch are the huge sophomore centers, seven-foot Pete Corbett and 6-8 Dick Dylus. As they go, so will go the Titans, say U. of D. insiders.

Buckholz Suffers Pulled Muscle

Injury May Hit U.S. Hopes

MELBOURNE (AP) — Earl Buchholz, the latest U.S. Davis Cup hope, suffered a pulled thigh muscle today. Fears immediately arose that his play might fall off and endanger any chance the U.S. might have of regaining the Davis Cup.

★ ★ ★

The mishap to the 18-year-old lad, from St. Louis, whose play has been sensational so far in Australia, happened in the second set of his third round match against Alan Lane in the Victorian State Tennis Championships.

★ ★ ★

"I went wide for the ball and felt a pain around my hip," Buchholz said later. "It hurt so badly in the third set I quit chasing the balls."

★ ★ ★

Although he was hobbling in the late stages of the match Buchholz won 6-1, 6-1, 6-4 as all four Americans in the tourney advanced.

Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, seemed headed for a surprise defeat when he lost the first set to Wayne Reid, but the Ohioan swept the next three sets to win 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0. Peruvian Alex Olmedo of Southern California beat Dough Reid 12-10, 6-3, 6-4 while Chris Crawford, Piedmont, Calif. had to go five sets to down Brian Tobin 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

★ ★ ★

The extent of the injury to Buchholz was not immediately known, but his play in the doubles later seemed affected. He and Crawford were beaten by Paul Hearnden and Graeme Stewart 3-6, 8-6, 6-3, 6-4. The latter broke Buchholz twice in the last set to clinch the match.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper beat Fred Stolle 6-2, 6-3, 7-5 and now will play Crawford in the quarter-finals.

Baylor to Decide Grid Coach's Fate

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Sam Boyd, who has coached a last place football team two seasons in a row at Baylor, will learn tonight whether he's wanted around any longer.

★ ★ ★

A meeting of ex-students, trustees and faculty representatives will be held to decide if Boyd's contract, which has a year to run, will be extended.

★ ★ ★

A newspaper report that the administration was planning to extend the coach's contract brought protests from a number of places. Hence the meeting.

★ ★ ★

Athletic director George Sauer quit last night saying he was entering private business. It was Sauer who stepped down as coach in 1955 and was succeeded by Boyd.

Big Cars Run Today in Nassau Classic

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—The big fellows whip around the 4.5-mile Oakes' airfield course today in the 15-lap Governors Trophy race, one of the two major events featuring Nassau's fifth annual speed week for sports cars.

The race will be run in one section with the Maseratis, the Ferrias, the Astori-Martins, the Mercedes and such special jobs as the Sadler Special, the Nisonger Special, the Scarabs, the Maserati-Pontiac and the Maserati-Chevrolet competing against their smaller rivals.

Cincinnati Ace Spotlights College Action

Oscar Back in Stride With 45

United Press International

Bad back and all, Oscar Robertson still is an All-America.

The six-foot-five University of Cincinnati star, who led the nation's major college scorers last season with a 35.1 per-game average, tossed in 45 points last night despite a painful pulled muscle in his back to lead the Bearcats to an easy 88-67 victory over New York University.

Hardly anyone in the crowd of 12,000 that turned out for the first college basketball program of the season at Madison Square Garden was aware of the fact, but Robertson almost didn't play. And how he stood up under a severe battering by N.Y.U.'s more rugged rear guards even was a mystery to Cincinnati coach George Smith.

"Up until just before the game started, I wasn't sure if Oscar would be able to play," Smith explained in the dressing room after the Bearcats had gained their second win in as many starts this season. "He pulled a muscle while working out in the afternoon, and from the way it was bothering him, we weren't even going to let him leave the hotel."

Ice packs were applied and Robertson insisted that he would like "to give it a whirl," Smith said, "so who was I to stop him?"

And what a "whirl" he gave it. Oscar scored his team's first eight points and wound up the first half with 16 to earn Cincinnati a 33-33 tie. Once the second half got underway, so did Robertson. Although he fell 11 points short of the Madison Square Garden record of 56, which he set himself against Seton Hall last season, Robertson managed to drive the N.Y.U. defense silly.

He scored on layups, tap-ins, sets from the side and driving one-handers. He even hit once while almost flat on his back after being jarred by a defender, and the Garden, which was inaugurating its 25th season of collegiate basketball, rang with the cheers of an appreciative crowd.

St. John's of New York opened the doubleheader with an easy 73-55 victory over Providence, with Tony Jackson and Al Seiden scoring 48 of the points between them. St. John's led by only six points — 36-30 — at the half, but pulled away in the second half to win coasting.

Francis Saunders' rebound with two seconds left to play earned Seattle a wild 60-58 victory over the University of San Francisco before a crowd of 6,000 in the Dons' new $1,000,000 basketball pavilion.

Ron Cox, a Don guard, scored eight points with less than three minutes to play to boost San Francisco into a 58-57 lead, but center John Cunningham fouled Jerry Frizzell as time ran out. Frizzell made good on his first shot for a tie and then Saunders poked in the second when it rolled off the rim.

Elsewhere around the nation, Mississippi State set an all-time school scoring record by burying Union, 121-78; Georgetown abandoned its first half cautiousness to rout Kentucky Wesleyan, 93-73; Georgia Tech scored 13 points in the last three minutes to defeat visiting Baylor, 65-56; Toledo U. handed South Dakota, the N.C.A.A. defending small college champions, an 81-70 beating; Furman routed Presbyterian, 82-68, and Boston College upended ancient rival Holy Cross, 72-63.

Powell Shoots for 7th Straight Win

DETROIT (AP) — Johnny Powell bids for his seventh straight victory when he meets Leon Rosana of Indianapolis in the eight-round semifinal bout on Tuesday night's fight card at Greystone Ballroom.

Powell, who comes from Columbus, Ohio, has not been beaten since he dropped a split decision to Ted Wright in June 1957.

The main event pits Gene Gresham, Michigan lightweight king, against Bobby Rogers of Chicago.

Powell and Rosana are welterweights. Powell has 11 victories in 13 professional bouts and a victory Tuesday night would put him in line for a main-event bout.

Retains Casting Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Jon Tarantino, 21-year-old University of California junior from San Francisco, won the world casting title for the second straight year at Brussels. He retained the elaborate Garcia Cup by piling up 13,958 points in the International Casting Federation tourney.

PNH 5 Meets Rochester in Second Game

Soph - Laden Quintet Stays on Road Until January 9th

Everything is new at Pontiac Northern including its basketball team.

Coach Dick Hall actually has two cage squads inasmuch as the varsity and the junior varsity are made up mostly of sophomores, thereby leaving much to be had in the way of experience.

All the mistakes sophomores can possibly make in athletic competition will come out in the wash this season for Pontiac Northern giving indication of a long lean year for the Huskies.

Tuesday night the Huskies opened varsity basketball competition at Lake Orion and were beaten 48-42. Tonight the story at Rochester is expected to be the same.

★ ★ ★

Rochester has four of its five starters back from last year and the Falcons got off to a fast start by drubbing Milford 47-34 Tuesday night.

This game originally scheduled for the new PNH gym was changed to Rochester because the Husky court is yet not completed.

This means PNH will be a traveling squad until January 9th when it opens at home against Detroit Thurston.

★ ★ ★

Rochester is led by Gene Lothery and Bruce Ennis each of whom scored 15 points against Milford. Ennis starts at forward with Chuck Ebersole, while Gene Hohf and Bill Mason make up the guard posts.

Pontiac Northern will have Mike Fedynik and Dennis Vincent at the forwards with Dick Eley at center and Bruce Norton and Jim Dempsey at guards.

Fedynik was Northern's leading pointmaker Tuesday with 12 points followed by Norton with 10.

★ ★ ★

The Huskies failed to take advantage of the free throw line against Orion by missing 18 of 26 charity attempts.

Three Shutouts Mark Table Tennis Action

Last night's action in Pontiac Table Tennis league was marked by three shutouts and a hot singles battle.

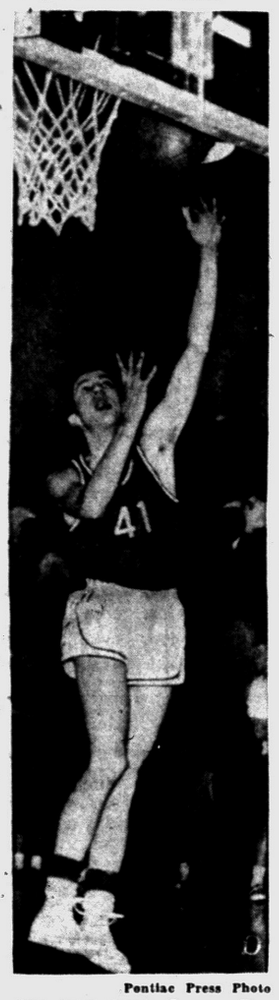

★ ★ ★

Newberry Market defeated Poole Hardware, A & W Root Beer beat Arnold's Sign and Nutrilite won from Dorris & Son, all by 6-0 counts. Capitol Barbers defeated Huron Cleaners 5-1 and L. H. Cole Oil won from Pankey's Grill 4-2 in other games.

Louis Cole turned back Jim Dailey in two sizzling matches, 22-20 and 22-20.

Standings:

	Pts		Pts
Newberry	41	Arnold	18
A & W	41	Pankey's	18
Nutrilite	38	Dorris	16
Capitol	32	Huron Clrs	7
L. H. Cole	22	Poole Hdw.	7

PN Tankers Make Debut Today

Preps Open Swim Season

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac Northern's first swimming team makes its debut this afternoon in the University High pool at Ann Arbor, and there was a "good chance" this beginning of aquatic activities at the new high school would be successful.

★ ★ ★

"While we didn't get University High's eligibility list," said coach Edwin Dauw, this morning, "I believe we have a very good chance in this starter."

Northern is one of three area prep squads going into action today.

Coach Gene Norris, new Chiefs' mentor, takes his squad to Ypsilanti Central for an evening meet for the opener. Chiefs are rated an edge off last year's results. Chiefs won that test, 50-42, and may be improved this year.

Birmingham, which dropped its first dual meet in 23 starts to Grosse Pte. Tuesday, along with a number of other south Oakland County squads, will swim in the annual RO Kimball relays Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Southfield, with an improved squad under Milt Hurd's tutelage, opposes Hazel Park in the Southfield pool tonight, starting at 7:30.

Dauw takes 10 swimmers to Ann Arbor. They include Lee Barrie in freestyle and relay; Tom Eley in 50-100 freestyle; 14-year-old Dick Gould in 200 freestyle and relay; Wally Johnson, backstroke, individual medley; Don Maxon, freestyle, relay; Frank Phelps, breaststroke; Gary Rose, butterfly, individual medley; Bill Ratliff, diving, breaststroke; Jim Tuttle, 50-yard freestyle, relay; Phil Wells, freestyle relay.

The Chiefs-Ypsi Central meet also includes a jayvee test. "So we're taking along 20 boys tonight," Coach Norris reported this morning.

Chiefs' hopes for a victory will rest on Bruce Norvell, in his first varsity year probably the most outstanding prospect on the team, on freestyler Ron Hockman, who with Jerry Powers were named co-captains, yesterday; Jim Gibbs, backstroker; Denny Roberts, squad's best freestyler. Norvell will swim orthodox breaststroke and the backstroke.

About the only spot where Chiefs lack capable competitors is in diving.

Heart Attack Fells Lavelle

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Lavelle, veteran scout for the New York football Giants of the NFL, died Thursday night at his home, apparently from a heart attack. He was 52.

Lavelle, also well known in sports circles as a starter at track meets and an after dinner speaker, played guard on the 1925-'26 and '27 Notre Dame football teams.

While at Notre Dame he also earned his letter as a weightman in track. After graduation he coached football at All Hallows and Power Memorial High Schools in New York City and for many years was athletic director of the Catholic Youth Organization in the New York area.

He also scouted Army's football

Check Antlers on Big Bucks; May Be Record

LANSING (AP) — Attention deer hunters: If you shot a buck with a big rack of antlers this past season, check in with the State Conservation Department.

A matter of Michigan pride is involved. Michigan rates no better than 88th in comparative entries among deer antlers, according to the records of the North American big game publication.

If your trophy meets minimum requirements of a 10 point rack and an inside spread of 20 inches, contact the conservation department.

Hawks Recall Rookie From Calgary Club

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League Thursday recalled rookie forward Johnny McKenzie, 21, from the Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League.

Simultaneously, the Black Hawks sent Howard Glover, also 21 and a forward, to Calgary. He layed 23 games with the Hawks. McKenzie played the first six NHL games with the Hawks.

Titan an All-Opponent

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—University of Detroit guard Dick Kennedy has been named to Villanova's all-opponent football team. Villanova beat Detroit 7-0. Also named to the Villanova all-opponent team was Army's Pete Dawkins of Royal Oak, Mich. Kennedy, a junior, is from Mineola, N. Y.

Award of Merit Given Bennie by Chicago Club

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Michigan Club of Chicago last night gave Bennie Oosterbaan an unprecedented award of merit.

★ ★ ★

Oosterbaan, Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, who replaced him as head football coach at Michigan, Harry Kipke and Fritz Crisler, Wolverine athletic director, were at the speaker's table.

It was the first time all of Michigan's living coaches of the past and present had been together at one of the club's dinners.

★ ★ ★

The merit award was to express the club's gratitude for Oosterbaan's distinguished contributions to Michigan over a period of 35 years.

Duden Edges Rosburg in Playoff at Alameda

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Oregon professional Bob Duden of Oswego beat Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., on the first hole of a sudden death playoff Thursday to win the $4,000 Alameda Open Golf Tournament.

Jackie Pung of San Francisco, the only woman golfer competing, finished six strokes out of the money.

Waterford Opens Away Tonight

By CHUCK ABAIR

Lacking experience and a big man and hampered by lingering football injuries, the Waterford Skippers begin their 1958-59 basketball season tonight at Wayne in one of many opening night battles.

Ortonville at Clarkston, Milford at Walled Lake and Lake Orion at Oxford will be among the most local non-loop tussles on tap.

League play begins in the Suburban Catholic and Southern Thumb with Royal Oak St. Mary at Orchard Lake St. Mary and Almont at Armada, respectively, in the big ones.

Waterford lost its top performers of a year ago through graduation and has one boy who was being counted on to play out with grid injuries. He is Wendy Meyer.

★ ★ ★

Meyer was one of six returning lettermen. Center Barry Campbell is the only other player who saw a lot of service during 1957-58. Guard John Studt, forward Tony Hiller, Larry Bowan and Larry Brown are the other lettermen.

Other squad members include transfers Dale Mahrle from Detroit and sophomore Eddie Stegers of Kentucky. Mahrle is expected to be in the starting lineup tonight along with Studt, Hiller, Campbell and Ray Robinson.

Wayne coach Deno DeLuca has been having trouble finding another scorer to team with 6-3 center John McKenzie, his lone starter returning. The senior averaged better than 10 points per game last season.

Veterans Bob Porritt and John Parks and Jayvee grads Bill Powell, Larry Landon and Eddie Caverly will likely make up the Clarkston starting unit in its debut. Jay Campbell, who played two years ago, could become a valuable 6th man.

Ortonville has a pair of capable point-getters in Earl Richardson and Ted Follis. Richardson averaged better than 17 a game as did Follis in 1957-58 but the latter missed the last seven games due to an injury.

Walled Lake won its opener Tuesday and will be favored again but the Vikings expect no easy time. Milford skipper Denny Boyle is confident his Redskins are going to come around and vows his team will be heard from before the season is over.

★ ★ ★

Kirk Evans and newcomer John Allen sparked the Vikings against Cranbrook. Scoring ace Terry Anderson, hustling Terry Hoy and "green" center Bob Roselle hold the key to Milford's success.

Hal Carlin has good height at Lake Orion and hopes these early games will help overcome the Dragons' lack of experience. Jeff Brady and Jim Casey head the Oxford team.

Romeo, smarting from an overtime setback by Troy, is home against Utica, Royal Oak Class quintets, Dondero and Kimball, tangle, Southfield visits Ferndale, Farmington is at Livonia Bentley, Holly goes to Fenton and Bloomfield Hills plays Madison Lamphere in some of the other contests.

Cranbrook plays at Hazel Park, Oak Park at Clawson, Brighton vs. South Lyon, Memphis entertains Dryden, Capac is at Brown City and Anchor Bay plays host to New Haven completing the area schedule.

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

Jesse MacLeay and his Pontiac Central football team traveled another rocky road in 1958, winning four and losing five, but they drew their share of praise from Saginaw Valley Conference rivals.

When Saginaw Valley coaches and sports writers assembled at Flint recently to select the All-Conference honor teams, MacLeay heard glowing compliments about his grid squad.

Strangely enough, the most complimentary remarks came from Bay City's Elmer Engel and Flint Central's Bill Doolittle, who directed their respective clubs to unbeaten seasons and a Valley co-chairmanship.

Both coaches had kind words for MacLeay's ears, which may have helped to ease the pains of another losing campaign, the 2nd in as many tries for Jesse since he became head mentor at PCH.

Pontiac's most decisive defeats came at the hands of the Indians and the Wolves, yet the Chiefs were praised.

Despite the fact that the Chiefs took their worst beating of the year from the Indians, 38-0 Doolittle maintained that MacLeay's offensive line outcharged his own from start to finish. Still, the Chiefs couldn't score.

Engel claimed that no Valley rival "rocked and socked" his team harder than the Chiefs during the Wolfpack's 34-6 victory. According to Engel, Butch Kokaly, his All-State halfback, said he was hit harder by the Chiefs than by any other team on the Bay City schedule.

In addition, Pontiac's coach heard Charley Brown commended for his work at guard and before the evening was finished the 170-pound junior had earned himself a position on the All-Valley 11.

If post-season compliments are of any value, not everything was lost for MacLeay in 1958.

Last year, Jesse's 1st at PCH, the Chiefs won three games. This year they won four. What about next year? MacLeay isn't talking.

ODDS AND ENDS

Jim Mason of Walled Lake won a varsity football letter this year at Culver (Ind.) Military Academy, which posted an 8-0 record for the school's 1st underfeated-untied season since 1936. Jim is the son of Mrs. Margaret A. Mason, 3084 South Wind Drive.

★ ★ ★

Among the varsity football letter winners at Albion College this season were Lanny Leak and Dick Johnston, both from Clarkston; Royal Oak's Gerry Snider; Earl Hudson of Clawson, and John Rise of Waterford.

★ ★ ★

Dan Halling, former U. of D. basketball star and now coach at Country Day, must have been shaking his head last Friday as his cagers lost to Oak Park. Halling's boys went 12 minutes without scoring a single point and Oak Park piled up a 21-0 lead.

★ ★ ★

The MSU Alumni Club of Oakland County will hold its annual grid bust nextt Wednesday night at Devon Gables with Spartan coach Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty as guest speaker. Members of The Press All-Oakland County team and their coaches will be honored. Starting time is 7 p.m.

Silky Has Old Tricks

By The Associated Press

Silky Sullivan is up to his old tricks.

The big chestnut colt, who flabbergasted racing fans last spring with his come-from-far behind style of racing and then fizzled in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, returned to competition yesterday and won a 6-furlong race at Tanforan in his usual manner.

Congressmen Healthier Nowadays

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK — Once upon a time a congressman died every few weeks. But look at them now.

★ ★ ★

Their doctors have trained them in proper behavior at cocktail parties and in the joys of pedestrian exercise, and their mortality rate from heart disease is less than that of the general population.

Proper behavior, in the view of Dr. George W. Calver, attending physician to Congress, includes leaving the canapes alone and going very easy on the martinis.

Overeating, he said, definitely is an occupational hazard of congressmen. It used to kill them indirectly in considerable numbers.

"Acute indigestion" was written on the death certificates in those days, but usually death was caused by a heart attack, he said. In the 30 years Congress has had its own medical service, the death rate from heart disease has been cut by 70 to 80 per cent.

Calver is current president of the American College of Cardiology and holds the rank of rear admiral in the Navy's Medical Corps. He was telling other physicians about how well preventive medicine has been working for congressmen, in the technical journal, "CIBA's Pulse and Pressure."

He has a low opinion of cocktail parties, never gives them and rarely attends them. Aside from the well known high calorie content of any cocktail, the canapes are calorically rich, too. But he understands his congressional medical charges must attend cocktail parties as a duty.

Adding to their burdens, they must entertain constituents visiting Washington, which means they must feed them—and feed them well. This means they're likely to eat too much at lunch and dinner. One congressman told Calver he couldn't eat lightly in the presence of constituents because he didn't want them to worry about him.

Calver has put a damper on all this congressional eating and drinking—to the best of an admonishing physician's ability. In addition, he has persuaded congressmen to exercise, usually by walking daily in order to keep themselves more or less lean and to burn up excess calories.

Swimming is another good way to do it, and Calver would like Congress to build a swimming pool for congressmen. But the congressmen have balked at that. They feel it wouldn't go well with the voters who would figure they were indulging in self-luxury with tax money.

Calver heads a congressional medical staff of three physicians and a group of nurses. This staff keeps after congressmen to submit once a year to physical checkups which include a thorough study of their blood chemistry. That's where the relation of eating and drinking to the condition of the arteries and of blood pressure can usually be checked.

To get busy congressmen to go through this annual chore, Calver enlists their wives and secretaries. Pressure from the feminine side of a man's life can be more effective than that of a physician. But congressmen are accustomed to stresses.

You have to be a "stress man" to have gotten to Congress in the first place, he noted. Years of stress pave the way for cardiovascular disease. And this intensifies the congressman's occupational hazard of too much food and drink.

STANLEY C. HOPE

New President Picked by NAM

Stanley Hope Succeeds M. C. Lightner as Head of Business Association

NEW YORK (AP)—Stanley C. Hope, a business leader who launched a second career at the age of 65, is the new president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.

Hope was elected at the annual NAM convention Thursday night to succeed Milton C. Lightner, board chairman, the Singer Manufacturing Co., Elizabeth, N.J.

In a statement of acceptance, Hope suggested NAM "could afford to change its name to the National Assn. for Manufacturers."

He declared, "We must be for and not against. We must be for government expenditures but on a reasonable basis; we must be for taxation but on an equitable basis; and we must be for labor relations but on an honest and constructive basis."

★ ★ ★

Hope said the present era should become an "age of reasonableness." Many problems could be solved, he said, if a "reasonable" attitude were shown by the Soviet Union, leaders of organized labor and the U.S. government.

The new NAM president retired as president of Esso Standard Oil Co. last July after spending 46 years with several affiliates of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. He immediately assumed the presidency of SoundScriber Corp., North Haven, Conn., manufacturers of dictating equipment.

★ ★ ★

He served notice at the time he would organize his business so that his work week would be three days for the balance of the year.

Pressure Again Weakens Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling pressure was on the grain futures market again today in early transactions and prices on the board of trade weakened almost all along the line.

★ ★ ★

The distant soybean contracts held the only gains during the first several minutes of trading while some setbacks in grains ran to major fractions of a cent.

Some of the selling included hedges, but mainly it appeared to be a continuation of trade desire to go deeper into the short side of the market.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was ¼ to 1 cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour. December $1.94; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, December old type contract $1.14¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 67⅞; rye ¼ to ¾ lower, December $1.31½; soybeans unchanged to ⅜ lower, January $2.13⅜.

Mackinac Bridge Voted Michigan's Top Spectacle

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Mackinac Straits Bridge has been voted the most spectacular wonder of the Water Wonderland by a group of University of Michigan professors.

★ ★ ★

The professors in a poll listed Michigan's top 10 attractions, both man and nature made.

Second behind the new link between the state's two peninsulas was Detroit's industry, with emphasis on the automotive portion.

★ ★ ★

Third were the Soo Locks at Sault Ste. Marie and fourth were the Lake Michigan sand dunes.

Dearborn's Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum placed fifth in the voting. Sixth was the Tahquamenon Falls at Newberry.

The professors awarded seventh place to their own university with special mention about the atomic reactor at the Phoenix Memorial Laboratory and the 101,001-seat Michigan Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Eighth was the Porcupine Mountains and ninth was the Keweenaw Peninsula of Upper Michigan. Tenth was Mackinac Island.

The Upper Peninsula, interestingly, won four berths in the top 10 and shared another — the bridge.

★ ★ ★

Among the other scenic sites receiving votes were the Pictured Rocks near Munising, the Grand Traverse Bay Region, the upper peninsula's Copper Country, Hiawatha National Forest, Holland during the tulip festival, the mouth of the Presque Isle River, and of all places—Michigan State University.

11,500 Acres Burned

LANSING (AP)—Forest fires have burned 11,500 acres of woodlands in Michigan so far this year, the State Conservation Department reports. Most of the 1,247 fires were in the Lower Peninsula. This compares with a 1957 total of 743 fires and 6,355 acres damaged, an 80 per cent increase.

Stocks Mixed in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were mixed in fairly active early trading today. Gains and losses ranged from fractions to about 1 point from the previous close.

★ ★ ★

As has been customary, the ticker lagged behind floor transactions briefly after the opening. It never ran more than one minute late and the congestion was quickly cleared up.

Two space age stocks, U.S. Borax and Olin Mathieson, added to recent gains, but not much. Olin Mathieson gained ⅛ and Borax ⅜.

Gulf Oil jumped almost 1 point following an optimistic review of the company's prospects by the president. Royal Dutch was ahead a fraction.

★ ★ ★

Goodyear tumbled nearly 1 point on profit taking. Youngstown Sheet was off nearly 1 point in a mixed steel group. Metals were unchanged to a little lower with Anaconda down ¼.

Raytheon ran up 1 point, as did Pfizer. Electric and musical industries were active and up a fraction. General Electric declined while Westinghouse gained. Eastman Kodak advanced 1 point.

Seasonal Shopping Boosts '58 Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — A post-Thanksgiving survey of Christmas shopping lifted the nation's retail trade this week but not quite enough to top the high levels of 1957, a Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. survey showed today.

Sales of women's apparel, gifts and floor coverings were up from a year ago. Buying of men's apparel, major appliances and toys was down.

Best sellers in women's apparel were fashion accessories, especially handbags, jewelry and gloves. Silverware and glassware were in strong demand. Occasional tables and dinette sets sold briskly.

Automatic long-distance dialing is now available for 65 per cent of the telephones in West Germany. By 1960 the percentage is expected to be 85.

Pontiac Press Photo

DRIVER WALKS AWAY — The driver of this 1,200-gallon oil tank truck received an unexpected early Christmas gift yesterday. It was a healthy slice of good luck, according to Waterford Township Police. The truck is shown here after it skidded and overturned on a curve on Kennett road near Dixie highway, crushing the top of the cab and spilling oil over the road. The driver, Harold R. Walls, 33, of 458 Linda Vista Dr., escaped with bruises. The oil didn't ignite. He told police his brakes locked as he applied them, sending the truck out of control.

Gunaca Case Stir Continues

Sudden About Face by Gov. Williams Sparks Hot Controversy

LANSING (AP)—The book technically was closed here today on the celebrated John Gunaca extradition case, but controversy sparked by its surprise ending went on bubbling.

★ ★ ★

These main developments came to light yesterday:

1. A high official (Emil Mazey) of the United Auto Workers Union, close ally of the Democratic Party lodged a stiff protest with Gov. Williams office against Williams' action in sending Gunaca back to Wisconsin.

2. Some of the mystery about the governor's independent sources of information" concerning conditions in Sheboygan, Wis. was stripped away, with disclosure of confidential inquiries on the subject by a friendly newspaper.

3. A newsman gathering data for Williams inquired of at least one Sheboygan businessman about the probable political effect of the governor's prospective action on his presidential chances in 1960.

★ ★ ★

After refusing repeatedly over four years, Williams two days ago ordered Gunaca, a former UAW organizer in Detroit, returned to face assault charges stemming from violence in the bitter UAW strike against the Kohler Co., now in its fifth year.

The ground always before was doubt that he could get a fair trial. On Wednesday, Williams said he was persuaded that conditions were "calm as they are likely to be in the foreseeable future."

Declare 40c Dividend

DETROIT (AP)—American Metal Products Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 40 cents on common stock payable Dec. 31 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

Public Hearing Due Dec. 16 at Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — The public hearing will be held on a petition submitted to the Walled Lake City Council on a proposal to permit owners of commercial buildings to do their own heating, electrical and plumbing work in the buildings.

The meeting has been set for Dec. 16 at 7 p.m. at the city hall.

One of eight Americans will go to a hospital this year.

Give 4 Pontiac Students Body Drafting Awards

Four Pontiac high school students were among 25 students from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties honored as winners of the fifth annual High School Body Drafting Contest at Detroit's Rackham Memorial Building last night.

Two of the four took first and second places in the contest sponsored by the American Society of Body Engineers, which judged 1,418 entries from 83 public and parochial high schools in the three-county area.

First place award winner was Carroll Dickerson, of 2527 Walnut St. Runnerup went to Melvin Sellers of 625 Balboa St.

Placing 14th was Don Chase, of 606 Fourth St. All three are students at Pontiac Northern High.

The other local youth honored was Don Arnold, 97 E. New York St., for 24th place. Arnold is a student at Pontiac Central High.

★ ★ ★

Dickerson received $125 for first place and Sellers got $75 second place prize money. The other two winners received drafting sets.

The presentation of awards followed a dinner and the meeting also featured a speech by Bart Cotter, chief engineer, Fisher Body Division, General Motors Corporation.

The local winners work under Enar West, Pontiac Northern industrial arts instructor, and Joseph Atwell, instructor at Central.

Records Section Serves as Police Nerve Center

By MAX SIMON

Pistol-packing policemen may capture big, bold newspaper headlines, but unsung officers behind the men with guns make it possible.

Pontiac Public Safety Director George D. Eastman looks upon the records section of the police department as its nerve center.

The quality of records maintained by the police force has a direct relationship to the quality of police operations, he believes.

For that reason, Eastman has summoned one of the nation's top administrators of police records to Pontiac for two weeks to help reorganize departmental files.

The expert is Capt. R. T. Sherry of the Berkeley (Calif.) Police Department, which Eastman considers the finest small-city police force in the country.

Sherry joined the Berkeley force in 1931, and was assigned to an administrative job in the police chief's office.

At first, he says, he tried to get transferred to a beat, but gradually his interest in police administration grew to the point where he spent vacations visiting other police departments to study their methods.

He's been working with police records in Berkeley for 27 years.

Before he lives next Saturday, Sherry is expected to submit a voluminous report to Eastman containing recommendations for changes in the departmental records system.

★ ★ ★

He's being paid $750 plus expenses for his services, Eastman said.

The main problems of the records system here, Sherry says, are decentralization and duplication.

Eastman also feels that Sherry's survey will result in eliminating many files and records serving no useful purpose.

MORE THAN LOS ANGELES

Sherry has told him that more different forms are currently kept by the Pontiac Police than are used by the Los Angeles Police Department.

Under the present records system, material on policeo ases can be found in almost any office.

The decentralized system sheds doubt on the accuracy of the department's crime statistics, Eastman said.

★ ★ ★

Capt. Joseph Koren was recently appointed by the public safety director to head the Administration Bureau, which will have basic responsibility for handling the files once they are reorganized.

'G-Man' Means Drunk

GRANTS, N.M. (AP) — It wasn't Paul Klinchok's day. He got in a fight with his wife, was beaned with a large bowl, and arrested. As he was being booked, his wife picked up an officer's gun and shot him in the hip.

The honeymoon's definitely over when she starts complaining about the noise he makes in the morning fixing his own breakfast . . . This may be the beat generation, but it certainly isn't the spanked one. —Earl Wilson.

Kettering Estate: $200 Millions

Most of Huge Fortune Goes to Foundation, Philanthropic Trust

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The late Charles F. Kettering, automotive genius and former General Motors research head, left an estate conservatively estimated at a little more than 200 million dollars.

Most of this huge fortune was divided between the Kettering Foundation and a separate philanthropic trust. Details of the division were not disclosed in the will filed Thursday in Montgomery County Probate Court.

★ ★ ★

Kettering died Nov. 25 after suffering a stroke.

It is known that Kettering held approximately 165 million dollars worth of General Motors stock. Business associates placed the value of his other holdings, including many patents on inventions, at no less than 40 million dollars.

★ ★ ★

Cash bequests totaling $175,000 were made to seven relatives. The remainder of the monetary holdings, Kettering's suburban mansion, and all other real estate was given to his only son, Eugene W., of Hinsdale, Ill.

The separate trust was set up by Kettering for charitable, educational and scientific purposes.

Car Output for Week to Hit Year's Peak

DETROIT (AP)—Automotive News reports this week's car production will reach 147,590 units, highest output of the year.

The production estimate is the highest since the week that ended Nov. 23, 1957, when 151,846 cars were turned out. It represents a 19.9 per cent increase over the 123,088 units produced last week.

In the corresponding week last year 139,506 cars were produced.

The trade paper said all car makers except Chrysler Corp. have scheduled overtime operations for Saturday. Chrysler is troubled by a strike at a key plant that threatens to idle the corporation's entire car-making operation.

Automotive News said 23,096 truck assemblies are scheduled for this week, compared with 20,626 last week and 22,584 in the corresponding week last year.

Canadian manufacturers have scheduled production of 7,829 cars and 1,636 trucks this week, compared with 7,805 cars and 1,678 trucks last week. In the corresponding week last year the Canadian makers turned out 5,524 vehicles, the trade paper said.

Girl Attends Class; Dad Eludes Jail

A West Bloomfield Township man escaped a 90-day jail sentence yesterday when he enrolled his 12-year-old daughter in Detroit's Alex Dow School.

Elwin Clapp, of 34344 W. 14-Mile Rd., met a deadline of 48 hours set Tuesday by Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer who ordered Clapp jailed for 90 days if his daughter, Barbara, was not in classes by yesterday.

Judge Beer imposed the suspended sentence in upholding a lower court conviction of Clapp that he was guilty of violating a state law which requires children between 6 and 16 years to attend school. Clapp, a Detroit factory worker, appealed the conviction to the Circuit Court.

He told Judge Beer how his daughter had missed attending a Walled Lake school since September of 1957 because her mother and grandmother feared for her safety "because of a certain neighbor" with whom the family had been having a long-standing feud.

Oakland County GOP Leaders Meet Tomorrow

The first in a series of post-election evaluation meetings will be conducted tomorrow morning by the Republican Committee of Oakland County.

Some 30 regional, city and township organization directors have been invited by committee chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. to attend the 9:30 meeting "to review every facet of the Nov. 4 campaign."

Elliott said the purpose of the meetings will be to improve campaign organization and draft a blueprint for the 1959 spring election and the 1960 election.

Tomorrow's meeting will be held at committee headquarters in Birmingham, 351 N. Woodward Ave.

Rambler Sales Double

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. reports Rambler retail sales in November total 21,894 compared with 10,666 in the same month a year ago. Vice President Roy Abernethy said November was the second best sales month in Rambler history.

Cary Grant, the film star, once operated men's haberdashery shops in New York and Hollywood.

High Adventure Goes to Africa

Camera Crew Records Mountains of the Moon, Hunt for Hippos

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Not everyone who wants to visit Central Africa will go there. Fortunately for stay-at-homes, however, Lowell Thomas has returned with a filmed report of his expedition to the Belgian Congo and the Mountains of the Moon.

His account of his odyssey will be visible to the home viewing audience Dec. 6 on High Adventure over CBS-TV.

When he returned, Thomas brought with him for a visit in this country the young Belgian hunter who guided him on safari. His name is Chris Pollet, and he's spent nine of his 28 years in Africa.

Absolutely everybody with sufficient money and enthusiasm can go to Central Africa these days—and he need not rough it in some of the out-of-the-way places to which Thomas and his crew penetrated.

In the past year, for example, Pollet has guided 37 Americans about with gun or camera from his main lodge at Kasenyi.

Lowell Thomas' film crew has obtained the first known films of Africa's feared Leopard Men's Society, the outlaw cannibal cult still in existence in parts of the Dark Continent.

Pollet, like everyone who has traveled back of beyond with Thomas, has high praise for Thomas' good sportsmanship and indifference to discomfort.

But what about other Americans Pollet has guided? Are they different in any ways from Europeans?

"In general," Pollet said the other day, "Americans are shyer than Europeans. They have absolutely no fear of wild animals or rough country or any of those things that American movies about Africa always are emphasizing.

"The chief fear they seem to have is of getting sick. They're afraid of catching malaria or dysentery or some rare disease.

They never seem to think of being afraid of lions or hippos, but they—some of them—can be quite frightened by snakes or spiders.

"They're extremely finicky about what they eat—a problem I've personally solved by training two excellent chefs to feed my guests.

And I never have known an American who didn't want ice—lots of ice, all of the time. I never understood it until I came to this country. It's amazing. Even when you're served a glass of water, there's ice in it."

Thomas' High Adventure in Central Africa will explore the fascinating, legendary Mountains of the Moon—the Ruwonzeri—which rise nearly 17,000 feet on the eastern border of the Congo and where many Africans believe strange spirits dwell.

Among other sequences in the program will be one film of the secret Anyota ceremony in which boys are indoctrinated into manhood.

"There's still plenty of black magic and witchcraft in Africa," Pollet said.

Although he's an enthusiastic hunter, Pollet subscribes to the belief of many who have spent some time in Central Africa:

"The people are much more interesting than the animals."

HUNTING HIPPOS — Lowell Thomas waits on the banks of the Semliki River in Africa's Belgian Congo. He and his film crew will take televiewers on an exciting hippo hunt for the next episode of "High Adventure With Lowell Thomas" tomorrow from 7:30-8 p. m. on the CBS television network.

Sinatra's Approaching Age for Slowing Down

By EARL WILSON

N.Y.C—Frank Sinatra'll admit it to few people, but as he approaches his 42d birthday (Dec. 12)—the most famous entertainer of his time—he dreams of slowing up in the next two or three years . . . of reducing his frenzied, overworked pace to one picture and a few records each year. "I'd like to pack it in," he says.

WILSON

Conrad Hilton's dinner companion in Berlin was Virginia Warren, here with her mother . . . Very curious, but there are Christmas trees in non-Christian East Berlin . . .

Jack Barry, Quiz King yesterday, quiz casualty today, is sad and bitter after seeing everything swept out from under him in the investigation which, ironically never got to him personally. "Wait till after the first of the year—I'm not out of television yet!" he promises . . . Grace Kelly's fabled father, Jack, is giving Grace and Prince Rainier a stupendous and invaluable gold medallion commemorating the birth of their son and his grandson. It'll be displayed prominently in the palace (to the delight of its designer.)

Bob Hope reports that Brigitte Bardot'll do a costume picture—she'll wear a comb . . . After seeing the James Masons on TV, Ella Logan decided, "The longest sentence Mason ever uttered in his wife's presence was 'I do.'"

EARL'S PEARLS: Definition of prosperity, via L.S. McCandless: "When people who used to go barefoot start complaining about the price of shoes."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A bachelor is a guy who has to leave a tip after each meal.

★ ★ ★

Herb Shriner complained about the party line back home: "It was always so busy, the quickest way to get a doctor was to put an ad in the paper." . . . That's earl, brother.

Woman Wins Bridge Title

Detroit Housewife Is 1st of Her Sex to Take Top Honor in 27 Years

DETROIT (UPI) — A Detroit housewife has become the first woman in 27 years to win bridge's most prized individual championship.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Harry Stein topped 112 contestants in taking the National Bridge Tournament's Life Master championship last night.

Mrs. Stein, who also is a second place co-holder of the 1958 mixed pairs title and ranked high in the women's individual competition, is the first woman to take the Life Master trophy since Miss Eleanor Murdock, Birmingham, Ala., won it in 1935.

Mrs. Stein totaled 730 points, 34 ahead of the second place Life Master winner, John R. Crawford of New York City.

★ ★ ★

Ahead by 16 points going into last night's final round of the four-session tourney, Mrs. Stein increased her lead steadily throughout the evening. Her concluding total was considered unusually large for the tense, tightly-played event.

Following Crawford into third place was Eric Murray of Toronto with 693½ points.

Clifford Bishop of Detroit was declared fourth place winner, but a scoring error corrected just before midnight gave that position to Charles Braman, Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

Bishop was listed fifth and two others—George Rapee, New York City, and Harold Creed, Youngstown, Ohio—who had been scored as tied for fifth wound up in sixth position.

A Minnesota man, R. Norman Miller, won first prize in the senior master competition. Miller, of Austin, Minn., scored 735 points, 29 ahead of second-placer Herman Tann of Detroit.

Steals 2 Swim Pools

MINEOLA, N. Y. (UPI)—Nassau County detectives were puzzled today as to why a thief, in the present winter cold, stole two swimming pools from the Lancer Pools Corp.

Hotel Relies on 'Brain'

MONTREAL — A new 21-story, 2,100-room hotel in Montreal has what is called "the most advanced system for controlling comfort in a public building." An electronic brain enables one man, with fingertip ease, to provide "a perfect climate." The device is said to collect and present on a central panel all the information the building engineer needs to spot trouble before it develops.

Expressway Extended

LANSING (AP) — A mile-long extension of the Detroit-Toledo expressway from King road north of Rockwood to U. S. 25 will be opened to traffic next Wednesday, the State Highway Department said today. The new $871,221 section will cut two miles off the driving distance between Detroit and Toledo.

9-Newspaper Strike Due to Continue

LANSING (AP)—A printers' strike which has halted publication of nine Michigan newspapers will continue at least into next week.

Negotiations between Booth Newspapers, Inc., and the International Typographical Union were recessed yesterday until Tuesday. The walkout began Nov. 25 and the papers have made no attempt to publish since. Printed in eight cities, they have a combined circulation of more than 500,000.

Newspapers whivh have been shut down by the strike are the morning Grand Rapids Herald and the afternoon Grand Rapids Press, Saginaw News, Flint Journal, Bay City Times, Muskegon Chronicle, Kalamazoo Gazette, Jackson Citizen Patriot and Ann Arbor News.

Conveyor Belt Hauls Coal Miners to Job

PANTHER GULCH, W. Va. — A man-carrying conveyor belt, instead of an elevator, is whisking coal miners in and out of a coal mine here. The belt runs down a 20-degree slope in the mining area, making a total drop of 97 feet, carrying miners at 150 feet a minute single file. The miners can ride the belt lying prone or seated facing forward. The trip takes 3 minutes—faster than the descent could be made by elevator. During shift changes the reversible belt carries a steady stream of miners.

The U.S. corn crop tops three billion bushels a year.

Newsprint Sales Drop

TORONTO—For the first time in 20 years the North American newsprint industry has unused production capacity of a million tons a year. At midyear United States newsprint consumption was down about 6 per cent from mid-1957. This represented a decrease of at least $25,000,000 in gross receipts by midyear for newsprint producers.

Attempt to Steal Crown Jewels Made in 1671

LONDON—An Irish adventurer, known as Colonel Peter Blood, came close to getting away with the British Crown Jewels back in 1671. Blood, disguised as a parson, made friends with Talbot Edwards, guardian of the jewels in Martin Tower. While pretending to pay a social call, he knocked Edwards out and made off with the loot.

The son of the warder, however, came back early and set off the alarm. Blood was captured on St. Katherine's Walk, and the jewels were recovered except for a few stones lost in the struggle.

Instead of being sentenced to the gallows, Blood was set free and granted a pension by Charles II. The king, who treated the whole escapade as a colossal joke, was suspected of hiring Blood to steal his own royal crown.

Saturday Specials

NEW YORK — NBC News will have cameras at Cape Canaveral, Fla., to cover the reported initial attempt of the Army to launch a moonshot early Saturday morning.

★ ★ ★

NEW YORK—A big afternoon of sports entertainment is on tap Saturday when the CBS television network presents hockey and professional football back-to-back.

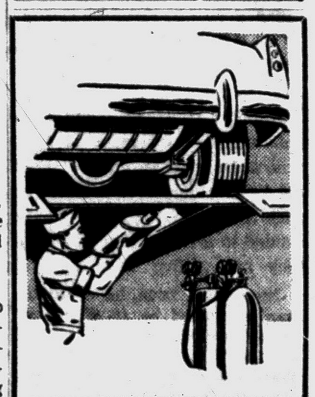

The Chicago Black Hawks will host the Detroit Red Wings in a National Hockey League contest at 2 p.m., which will be followed at 4:30 by the National Football League game between the Baltimore Colts and Los Angeles Rams, from Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

NEW YORK—Sam Snead and Roberto DeVicenzo, tied with one-under-par 69s in their first match, go at it again in another 18-hole match on ABC-TV's "All-Star Golf" at Boca Raton (Fla.) Golf Club Saturday from 5 to 6 p.m.

Everyone Can Join Fun

Games Appeal to Family

Families with three and more children are spending a lot more time at home these days, researchers for a games manufacturer report. As a result they want games slanted to a broad age group. And they are getting them.

Name That Tune, for example, can be played by 10. The first game to base play on a record, this big family game keys competition to recognition of excerpts from 160 famous melodies.

Another new game with broad age appeal is Who, Alfred Hitchcock's parlor version of a who-dun-it thriller. Action is based on a board reproducing a "haunted house." Every player has a chance to arrest the guilty party. Players move and carry out assignments found on instruction cards.

Another new idea for family competition is Pivot, a game which balances chance, strategy and skill. Plastic playing pieces pivot on key numbers and players score by isolating single suares and by keeping as many pivot men in action as possible.

Parents who have found it hard to keep younger children quiet during motor trips like Car Travel, a spill-proof board game with playing pieces attached to the playing area by long cords. The board reproduces typical highway scenery; typical travel obstacles serve to spice the competitive fun.

Indoor versions of outdoor sports also take a prominent spot in Santa's pack this Christmas.

Expert winter baseball training that father and son will enjoy sharing is provided by Little League Baseball. Umpires show you how good your strategy was.

Pro hockey has a new parlor version that features realistic ice sport strategy as a focus for family fun. Two full teams play and score on a vibrating gridiron in a new electric football game. A bowling game with seven-inch pins is designed for both indoor and outdoor play.

Old Yule Stocking

Still Family Favorite

Families who've given up the Christmas stocking miss loads of gun and closeness on Christmas Eve and the morning after.

While stockings cannot hold spectacular gifts that children have come to expect, they can be chock full of humorous and useful items.

Variety stores are a gold mine of inexpensive little items. They are fun to select and open when the family is together.

Mother's stocking, for example, could have a small bottle of hand lotion, a timer for a three-minute egg, her preferred lipstick, her favorite penny candy, a new potholder to prevent burned fingers—and a jar of petroleum jelly in case she does burn her fingers.

If Dad's a bulb-snatcher, his stocking could have his own private light bulb, as well as a septic pencil for shaving nicks, a bottle of dog deodorant to keep Fido off his favorite chair, a spinning lure for his tackle box and an expensive cigar.

Young Johnny could find a washcloth with his name on it to wash behind his ears, a bag of bubble gum, a baseball, a tube of Valcream for his cowlick, a bag of marbles and a penknife for playing mumblety peg.

Sis will enjoy finding a small bottle of toilet water, a little dressing-table set (including brush, comb and mirror), barrettes or ribbons for her hair, a personal dish towel for helping mother and a set of manicure implements.

Now, Dad, This Is For You:

Give Child Toy That Fits

Now wait a minute, Dad. That six-month-old of yours isn't a bit interested in a genuine narrow gauge scale model of the Super Chief for Christmas.

Use your head, man.

Take it from Dr. Philip Lewis:

"To make the best possible selection of toys, the successful Santa must think in terms of each child who will receive the gift. He must stoutly resist the eternal temptation to purchase playthings for juvenile use just because they inveigle his own adult interest.

"This transposition of thinking is the toughest hurdle for the inexperienced Santa (that's you, Daddy-boy). The color, action and variety of toyland displays are both fascinating and diverting to any adult who isn't a confirmed Scrooge. It takes real will power to think specifically in terms of each child who will play with the toys."

Are you listening, Dad?

Dr. Lewis, who is director of the Bureau of Instruction Materials for the Chicago Board of Education and a member of the Toy Guidance Council educator advisory council, says:

Soviet Jets to Cairo

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet TU104 jet left Moscow Airport for Cairo today to inaugurate regular air service between the Soviet capital and the United Arab Republic. Moscow radio said the plane carried the Soviet delegation to the Asian-African Economic Conference, which opens in Cairo Monday.

Forgets to Post Guard

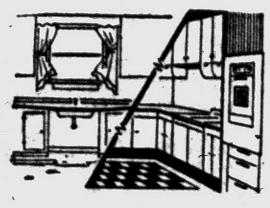

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Police Commissioner Louis Acquino shot a buck in New York state and hung it in a friend's back yard to cure. While Acquino was in Pennsylvania hunting more game, somebody stole the buck from the friend's back yard.
