GREEK BEAUTY — Effie Androulakakis, who entered the current Miss Universe contest as "Miss Greece" when the original Greek winner was temporarily denied a U. S. entrance visa, holds the Friendship Award trophy she won last night at Long Beach as the most popular girl among the contestants themselves. Miss Androulakakis withdrew from the contest two days ago when the State Department permitted Ulrika Dialina to come here from Greece. Miss Androulakakis had won second place in the Greek contest.

Atomic Energy Bill Filibuster in Third Day

Longest Debate in Six Years; GOP Leaders to Try Gag Rule

By AP & UP Dispatches

WASHINGTON The Senate filibuster against President Eisenhower's atomic energy bill dragged into the third day today with no end apparently in sight.

The talking began Wednesday morning and except for a technical recess early this morning of minutes the Senate had been in a continuous session.

It was the longest debate in six years and there was no sign the wordy arguments would break off until late Saturday. The Senate will not meet Sunday. It was probable the talking would resume Monday.

But the senate lost its bid for a new endurance record by a technicality.

Its decision to recess at 1:35 a.m. EDT and reconvene 25 minutes later broke the talkathon into two separate sections as far as official records are concerned.

The debate on the atomic energy bill lasted exactly 39 hours and 35 minutes when the senators overwhelmingly approved the short recess, still far short of the 54-hour and 10-minute record set in 1915.

Gregory MacPherson, veteran official reporter of Senate proceedings, collapsed at his desk in the Capitol shortly after 8 a.m. today.

MacPherson, about 55, had just come on duty after a short rest. He is one of the group of shorthand reporters who have been taking down and transcribing the thousands of words during the marathon debate on the atomic bill.

Republican leaders were making efforts to end the debate with a gag rule, but they had no guarantee of success.

Actually, Mr. Eisenhower already was successful in his proposal that the Atomic Energy Commission sign a contract with a private power group for it to supply electrical power to TVA.

This proposal in the overall atomic energy bill was approved Wednesday night by voice vote shortly after the Senate knocked down, 56 to 36, an amendment which would have barred the contract.

However, opponents of this proposal won a victory on another issue. The Senate approved, 45 to 41, yesterday an amendment which would authorize the AEC to erect government-owned reactors to produce electrical energy on a commercial basis.

It was approved despite charges the amendment would open the way to construction of a chain of little TVA's around the nation.

Sen. Albert M. Gore (D-Tenn), a leader of those opposing the AEC-private power contract, was jubilant when the Senate approved the reactor authorization.

July Chilly Here, but Take a Look at Other Regions

July isn't so hot this year — and that's not just a figure of speech.

This month's temperature here has averaged 2.65 degrees below normal, and has been only .05 degrees warmer than June. Usually July is an average of 5 degrees hotter than June.

Another indication that July is giving us the cold shoulder is its number of 90 - degree days. Five of June's first 21 days were 90 degrees or higher, but July has chalked up only four.

July hasn't exactly been frigid, however. The hottest day in Pontiac in 1954 was recorded this month: a sizzling 94 on July 14.

Although unusually cool in Michigan, July has been a fire-snorting monster in other regions. A heat wave has seared the country's midsection for days, causing scores of deaths, setting new heat records and withering crops.

Plan Conference on Asia Security

U.S. Policymakers Set Fall Meeting to Discuss Alliance Committal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military policymakers, especially those in the Army, are viewing with concern any plan for a Southeast Asia alliance that would automatically commit American forces as does the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe.

This feeling has been strengthened all the more by the outcome of the Geneva conference at which in the opinion of qualified U. S. officers interviewed today, the Communists emerged with the upper hand in the truce to end the fighting in Indochina.

The military authorities, who asked not to be quoted by name, spoke out after State Department officials revealed yesterday that the United States, Britain and other nations have agreed to call a conference by September to write a collective security agreement for Southeast Asia.

U.S. military chiefs for several years, have favored a mutual defense system in that part of the world. But that was while the French and Associated Indochinese States seemed not only to be holding their own against the rebels but also to be moving toward the time when they could achieve a military victory.

Pentagon informants said the newer view was touched on by Secretary of Defense Wilson this week when he said that military power alone "doesn't quite handle" situations in which nationalistic feelings are mixed up with subversion, propaganda and the technique of boring from within. This was a description of how the Reds advanced in Indochina.

Plane Ditched 30 Miles From Red Territory

Passengers Included 6 Americans; Officials Report 11 Survivors

HONG KONG (AP) — A British Skymaster airliner, with 17 persons aboard and one of its engines afire, ditched in the South China Sea near Communist-held Hianan Island today.

There were six Americans aboard.

A U. S. Navy PBY flying boat quickly rescued eight survivors and recovered one body.

Airline officials in Singapore said three other persons were picked up by a British Sunderland, but a government press officer said this report proved untrue. He said all Sunderlands which took part in the search have returned to base here.

Eyewitnesses said they saw three survivors picked up by a small boat—presumably a Communist craft.

The PBY landed here and the survivors were taken to hospitals.

Three of the six Americans aboard the Skymaster were among the eight rescued.

They were identified as Mrs. L. L. Parish and her daughter Valerie, of Iowa Park, Tex., and P. S. Thatcher of Stonington, Conn. Mrs. Parish suffered a broken back and the other two were treated for cuts and shock.

Five members of the Parish family were aboard the plane. Capt. Parish and two other children still are missing. Singapore airline officials listed their home town as Los Angeles, Calif.

Newsmen were not allowed to talk with the injured, many of whom sustained severe cuts and bruises. Members of the PBY crew were not permitted to describe the rescue.

Singapore headquarters of Cathay Pacific Airlines, operators of the four-engine Skymaster, said "all survivors" had been rescued and the search had been called off.

Airline Maager Geoffrey Skeldon said he could not say whether additional persons had been saved or whether no more could be found.

Eyewitnesses aboard two commercial planes which saw the Skymaster crash land after one engine caught fire said scores of small boats and sampans put out quickly from Hainan and all aboard the plane probably were rescued unless some were trapped inside.

The plane went down within one minute, said British newsman Russel Spurr, who was aboard an Air Vietnam plane which circled the scene for 45 minutes.

Spurr said he saw a small boat pick up three persons from a life raft. The three presumably are in Communist hands.

Cathay Pacific identified Americans aboard the Skymaster as Capt. and Mrs. L. L. Parish and their three children of Los Angeles, and P. S. Thacker, address unavailable.

Three British citizens on the plane were listed as Mrs. P. M. Thorburn, wife of a Hong Kong bank official; Mrs. H. M. Finlay, wife of the British consul at Medan, Sumatra, and Paul Yong Nam Ying, a student.

Van Atta Feud Rips Waterford

Petition Backing Ousted Police Chief Is Filed in Township Hall

The controversy is expected to reach a climax tonight at a mass meeting starting at 8:30 in the township hall.

Van Atta's supporters claim that at least 10 subdivision groups are circulating petitions seeking the former police chief's reinstatement.

One of those favoring the dismissal, W. H. Houck, building contractor who lives at 3747 Lakewood, said he already has 200 signers on petitions endorsing the board's action.

A petition with 60 signatures, asking that Van Atta be returned to his post, has been received in the township hall, according to Township Supervisor Lloyd L. Anderson.

Van Atta, who was dismissed Monday night by the township board for "political activities," claims he just favored "the wrong candidate."

Leonard Coats, president of the Waterford Township Businessmen's Assn., said the group has gone on record in favor of reinstating Van Atta.

Senate Proud of Tradition on Both Gab and Gag Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate is proud of its tradition of unlimited debate. It can be suspended in only two ways.

One is by unanimous agreement—in effect a suspension of the rules. The other is by a process called cloture.

For the first time in four years, cloture machinery was set in motion early today by Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) in the hope of shutting off the 10-day debate on a bill to revise the Atomic Energy Act.

He filed a petition signed by 38 GOP senators—16 would have been enough. Under the cloture rule, the petition cannot be acted on for two days.

Parliamentarians say the earliest possible vote can come at 1:01 a. m. Sunday. Knowland says he doesn't now plan a Sunday session so the test—if he goes through with it—is likely Monday.

The cloture motion must be approved when the vote comes by 64—two-thirds of the full Senate membership of 96.

Even if cloture is invoked, debate does not stop at once. After approval, each senator is limited to one hour's talking on the measure at issue.

The last time cloture was imposed was on Feb. 28, 1927, on a bill to create a Bureau of Customs and Prohibition.

In those days, it required only a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Good News for Dobbin: Speed Limit Repealed

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The city commission here has decided old dobbin can horse around as much as he wants to.

Not without considerable horseplay, the commission yesterday voted repeal of a 45-year-old ordinance—No. 13—which regulated horse-drawn vehicles with an 8 m.p.h speed limit.

A "compromise" move by Commissioner S. S. Forrest to raise the speed limit to 10 miles per hour was defeated.

Three Royal Oak attorneys today endorsed the proposed Oakland County courthouse project and replied to critics of the building site in the county "service center" off Telegraph road.

The attorneys favoring the proposal facing a public vote Aug. 3 were Jack W. Hutson, Gilbert A. Davis and Maurice Merritt.

Hutson said he couldn't see the reason for "the hue and cry" about the service center location.

The county has chosen a 338-acre site, some three miles from downtown Pontiac, for the courthouse. The land already is owned by the county and is included in a larger area known as the "service center."

Hutson pointed out that the site "will be quiet and you'll be able to hear what witnesses have to say, rather than having them drowned out by traffic noises."

"For years Pontiac attorneys have been walking across the street to the courthouse (now located at Huron and Saginaw Sts.) while everybody else drove," he said. "I haven't found a 20-minute drive

County Vegetation Suffers From Weeks-Long Drouth

By JOE HAAS

All growing vegetation is suffering from the effects of a drouth that has continued in the Oakland County area for several weeks.

While there have been some intermittent showers, no general rain has fallen and the extreme heat has only accentuated the situation.

JOE HAAS

The wheat crop developed before it was affected to any great extent by the scarcity of moisture, and a good yield is now being harvested.

Oats had likewise reached a good stage of development before the drouth ensued, but will have a short straw. The shortage of proper moisture during the formation of its grain will reduce the yield to a considerable extent.

Corn and potatoes are the two crops most seriously affected by the drouth. Corn has reached the "curling" stage, always evidence of a shortage of proper moisture, and will register a very low yield unless help comes soon.

Potatoes are badly affected by the drouth at their most critical period, when most of the fields are just going into blossom. During the last couple of weeks this crop has made very little progress.

Pastures also are showing the effects of the shortage of rain, and this already is having an effect on the milk production of the area.

Catching alfalfa about the time for its second cutting, many farmers report that it will drop far short of the yield of its first cutting. Unless rain comes soon, the third cuttings will be negligible.

On the berries and other fruits, the drouth is having a serious effect. The strawberry crop was shortened and the quality depressed. Raspberries can better withstand a shortage of moisture, and are a good yield with excellent quality.

Early peaches are soon coming on the market, but the trees show the effects of the drouth and the crop will be short unless rain comes at an early date. The same also is true of apples and other tree fruits.

Many with smaller gardens are going to irrigation with some good results. But most of the larger commercial gardeners already are running short on their production.

Ed Furgol Wins 1st PGA Match

Former Pontiac Pro Defeats Pennsylvanian, 3 and 2

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — National Open champion Ed Furgol of Clayton, Mo., won his 1st match in the National PGA championship today, beating Johnny Weitzel of Hershey, Pa. 3 and 2.

Furgol, the lame armed former Pontiac "club" pro who is seeking to become the first man since 1948 to win both the PGA and Open titles, crushed Weitzel on thre holes at the start of the back nine.

He fired a par, birdie and eagle on the 10th, 11th and 12th holes after being even at the turn.

Sam Snead holed a detested short putt on the 18th green today to beat Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., one up after rocking on the verge of elimination all the way around.

Pontiac General Hospital Re-elects Trustee Officers

Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees last night re-elected William F. Maybury to his third one-year term as chairman.

The board has maintained the same officers since its formation in June 1952.

WILLIAM F. MAYBURY

Other officers re-elected were Harold S. Goldberg, vice chairman; Charles E. Yaeger, treasurer, and Mrs. B. B. Roush, secretary.

The seven-person board also includes William P. Babcock, Willis M. Brewer and Joseph E. Jones.

The board decided to investigate means of reducing the number of unpaid patient bills. Hospital Director Lauretta Paul said about 90 per cent of these bills are run up by patients admitted as emergency cases without an advance deposit.

The board moved to purchase two defibrillators for $75 each. The machines are used in restarting a heart which has become weakened due to an accident or surgery.

Safety Council Reports Decrease in Birmingham Traffic Death Rate for '53

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — A decrease in last year's traffic death rate highlighted the report of the National Safety Council on Birmingham's traffic safety activity, presented here yesterday.

With a single traffic death in 1953, the city showed a drop of 24.4 per cent in the population-death ratio, and 44.4 per cent in the motor vehicle registration death rate.

Other strong points in the report showed the city ranked fourth in the keeping of accident records and ninth in safety engineering. A total of 458 cities of Birmingham's class were in the survey.

The ranks for public information and traffic court rose over the 1952 record, the first from a tie for 37th place to a tie for 25th and the second from a tie for 18th to 11th.

Despite its record of only one death, Birmingham dropped from a tie for 139th place to 183rd when ranked with other cities.

Major declines were shown in the school safety program and for local safety organizations.

The school program plummeted from a tie for 66th place the year before, to a tie for 208th place in 1953. The organization rating slipped from a tie for 26th to a tie for 102nd.

The National Safety Council, represented at the presentation by Harry Porter of Chicago, complimented the accident records bureau for continuing "to function in a commendable manner," but added that "additional personnel should be provided."

In the traffic engineering survey, the council report suggested giving consideration to expanding one-way street operations. There is now 25 miles of one-way streets here and the Council recommended there be 1.4 miles.

Also recommended was expansion of the "modern-type street lighting program."

An investigation of the "advisability of expanding its miles of streets with parking prohibited on one or both sides as a regulation for greater efficiency in traffic movement" also was urged.

Although the reported police traffic activity rated 85 per cent — the same as the previous year — ranking dropped from a tie for 8th to a tie for 16th.

In its review of the traffic court, the report noted that the court "does not have rails separating persons involved in traffic cases or elevated judge's bench," nor did the traffic judge "have available to him a school for traffic violators."

Also represented at the meeting were the Secretary of State's office, the Michigan State Police, and Birmingham City and Police officials.

A new Arthur Murray dance studio will be opened at 132 N. Woodward Ave., it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Doris Eaton Travis, head of the Michigan chain.

A Murray studio was located here several years ago, then closed when the firm "went into a different type of expansion program," Mrs. Travis said.

The studio is slated for grand opening sometime after Labor Day, but will probably be open for dance lessons before then, she said.

Managing the establishment, the 11th in the Murray Michigan chain, will be Roy and Helen Dodge. They will make their home in Birmingham.

any great handicap in practicing law."

Davis said he felt the service center offers "the best location for the money."

"Woodward avenue in Bloomfield Hills would be my choice for a site," he said; "but I can see why the county doesn't build there — the land would probably cost $5,000 an acre."

Merritt said he thinks Pontiac people "would be better off if that valuable Huron - Saginaw corner were used for a store or business. This would help pay the tax load and bring more trade downtown than the courthouse ever will," he said.

"As for bus transportation to the county center, I don't see why the worry," Merritt said. "If the courthouse were here, there'd be enough customers so that the bus lines would follow."

Oakland County Bar Assn. Monday voted 25 to 20 to oppose the $4,500,000 courthouse bond issue in the Aug. 3 election because the county has chosen the service center as the courthouse site.

Voters will be asked Aug. 3 to let the county issue $4,500,000 worth of bonds to build the courthouse and spread a tax of 50 cents on each $1,000 worth of property, as valued by the county, to pay off the debt.

In selecting the service center site, the county said it offers unlimited parking space and is easy to reach on main highways from all corners of the country. The county's ownership of the land and the heating plant there will knock those two items off building costs.

County officials say the move would bring courts, offices, the market and the county institutions (children's home, infirmary and contagious hospital) together in one spot.

Soviets Execute Beria Assistant

Ryumin Was Blamed for 'Doctors' Plot' on Lives of Officials

MOSCOW (AP)—M. D. Ryumin, henchman of executed Soviet police boss L. P. Beria, has himself met death before a firing squad nearly 15 months after he was tagged with the blame for the "doctors' plot."

His execution was announced today by Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper. Pravda said the Military Collegium of the Soviet Supreme Court tried Ryumin in July 2-7 and ordered him shot on charges of forcing the doctors to "slander themselves and other people." It also accused him of treason.

There was no explanation why the courts took so long to deal with Ryumin, who was arrested in April, 1953, as the scapegoat in the bizarre case.

The Internal Security Ministry first announced details of the doctor's plot in January 1953. It accused nine physicians, several of them Jews, of plotting to kill Soviet leaders and charged they already had done away with Politburo member Andrei Zhdanov with reverse therapy.

Three months later the ministry, which had since been taken over by Beria, announced that the nine doctors and six others had been freed and that Ryumin had been arrested. Beria was jailed himself in June 1953, on treason charges and his execution was announced last December.

Pravda said the death sentence was imposed on Ryumin because the court "took into consideration the special dangers of criminal activity . . . and the heaviness of the consequences of the crime perpetrated by him."

Ike Signs Bill to Restore Trio of Historic Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill to restore three old warships that figured in the nation's early history and in the Civil War.

They are the frigates Constitution (Old Ironsides) and Constellation, built before 1800 to fight the Barbary pirates; and the Hartford, Adm. Farragut's flagship at the Battle of Mobile Bay in the War Between the States.

* * *

The Constitution is now at Boston and is already about 90 per cent restored. It will be kept there. The Constellation also is at Boston, but will be patched up and transferred to Baltimore, where she was launched in 1798.

The Hartford, now at Norfolk, Va., will be transferred to Mobile Ala., when repaired.

Rep. Devereux (R-Md), who as a Marine officer gallantly defended Wake Island in World War II, watched the President sign the bill. Eisenhower gave him the pen he used.

Roll-Over Kills Driver

PORT HURON (UP) — Charles E. Bankson, 21, was killed early today when his car went out of control on a county road six miles west of here, hit an abutment and turned over. Bankson was thrown from the car which rolled on top of him. A wrecking crew had to lift the car from his body.

Senators' Lunch Is Dinner

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senators, saddled with night sessions in the hope of early adjournment, are unhappy about the evening menu in the Senate restaurant. The kitchen is not fixed for dinner service. As one senator put it, "we buy hash for lunch, and get it warmed over for dinner."

Motorist Rams Truck Trailer, Driver Unaware

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A motorist whose car plowed into the rear of a large truck hauling an Army tank early today — without the truck driver even aware of the collision — was treated for head and abdomen injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

Police said the driver, Clarence Sherer, 48, of 4096 Perry St. in Berkley, told them at the hospital he fell asleep at the wheel and crashed into the truck's trailer.

in the bill today," he declared and then went home for rest.

During the second straight all-night session Thursday night, there were few spectators and few senators on the floor.

While the senators' words were recorded for posterity, not many persons heard them. At times, only the doorkeepers listened.

During the early morning hours only three senators — Edward J. They (R-Minn), Andrew F. Schoepel (R-Kans), and A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) were present in the lonely chamber while Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) held the floor.

Eastland, sipping glasses of milk, held the floor from 1:15 a.m. EDT until 5 a.m. EST. Then Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash) took over and was still going as the clock moved past 8 a.m. EDT.

Cities Allowing Mayors to Pick Administrators

CHICAGO (UP)—Five cities have changed their charters to permit their mayors to appoint administrators to help them with municipal business.

The American Municipal Association listed the cities as New York, Boston, Newark, N. J., Englewood, N. J., and South Euclid, Ohio. In all cases the administrators serve as aides to the mayors.

Other large cities which have chief administrative officers appointed by the mayor under the mayor-council plan are Los Angeles, San Francisco, Philadelphia and New Orleans.

Students Earn $35,200 in University Factory

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP)—Valparaiso University students working in a furniture factory operated entirely by them have been paid $35,200 in wages during the first year of the business.

The factory, the Branco Corp. of Indiana, was founded by Paul H. Randt, Valparaiso alumnus and president of two furniture factories in Fort Worth, Texas.

It sandwiches four-hour work shifts into the university's class schedules. It provides 12 hours work a week at a dollar an hour to most of the student employes —236 in the first year.

Hillsdale Names Coach

HILLSDALE (AP) — Hillsdale College named John Tobin, former Michian State College guard, to its athletic coaching staff today. Tobin, 25, will be football line coach and varsity swimming and baseball coach. His last season as a Spartan guard was 1950. Tobin played high school football at Fordson in Dearborn.

Hungry Thieves Take 500 Meal Tickets in Vain

If thieves expect to use some of the 500 meal tickets stolen in a restaurant breakin at 96 Bagley St. this morning, they are mistaken, according to restaurant owner Mrs. William F. Davis.

The tickets were stolen along with $13 and an undetermined amount of money from a music box, according to Pontiac Police who said the thieves jimmied the lock on the rear door.

Mrs. Davis, of 78 Bagley St., said, "We won't have to reprint new meal tickets, because we have a way of telling which tickets were stolen. "The thieves will have to eat somewhere else."

McCarthy Asks Action on Aide

Prods Pentagon to Tell Reasons for Refusing Clearance to Lavenia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee prodded the Pentagon again today to tell why one of its aides, Thomas W. Lavenia, was denied security clearance.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), who appointed Lavenia as office manager and assistant counsel to the subcommittee, has invited both the Defense and Justice Departments to send spokesmen to a closed door subcommittee meeting for questioning.

Lavenia has said he was cleared to handle secret documents in 1952 while in another government job.

Meanwhile, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) announced he will give the Senate a limited "bill of particulars" in a speech on July 30 or 31 to support his resolution of censure aimed at McCarthy.

He told reporters he plans to give the Senate "just a sampling" of his accusations that McCarthy as the subcommittee's chairman has been guilty of unbecoming conduct, and he added:

"To give every item in a bill of particulars would take until Christmas."

McCarthy, who has called Flanders "senile," has not commented on the Vermonter's move to have the Senate officially censure him.

William Frye, a publicity man, announced yesterday that 23 prominent citizens sent telegrams to "most Senate members" urging them to support Flanders' censure resolution.

Texan Arrested in Drawer Slaying

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis county sheriff's office announced a Texan wanted in the "dresser drawer" slaying of a girl at Indianapolis was arrested shortly before noon today.

The sheriff's office said the man, who identified himself as Victor Lively, 32, was picked up by a deputy on U. S. 66 near here.

Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley questioned him about the slaying of Dorothy Poore, 18. Her body was found in a hotel room at Indianapolis registered for by a "Jack O'Shead."

Police, FBI Investigate Jersey Fireworks Blast

CRANBURY, N. J. (AP) — State police and FBI agents today investigated an explosion at a fireworks plant that killed two workers and injured 10 other persons.

The blast yesterday at the Unexcelled Chemical Co. rocked the rural countryside for miles around. A spokesman for the firm said it had been working exclusively in recent months on government contracts for munitions.

Will Use New Method to Calculate School Fees

LANSING (UP)—A new method of calculating 1954-55 tuition will be used in Michiga nschools, the department of public instruction announced today.

The membership count on Oct. 2, 1953 will be used as the divisor in figuring per capita cost during the coming school year. Average membership was used as the divisor previously.

Police Nab 'Outlaw'

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—San Francisco is proud of the beautiful flowers and shrubs that grow in its giant Golden Gate Park but the police plucked a plant Thursday they figured the park could do without—a five-foot marijuana bush.

German G-Man Believed Seized

Bonn Security System Endangered as Leader Falls Into Red Hands

BERLIN (UP) — The mysterious disappearance of Dr. Otto John, West German counterpart of America's J. Edgar Hoover, jeopardized West Germany's entire security system and possibly those of several allied Intelligence agencies, Western officials said today.

John, chief of the West German agency responsible for rooting out subversive Communist and neo-Nazi elements, vanished from West Berlin Tuesday night. He is believed to have been kidnaped or lured into Soviet-dominated East Germany.

DR. OTTO JOHN

Western security officials were stunned by the news of John's disappearance and expressed fears West German security policies would have to be overhauled. They made no attempt to conceal the fact that John is the richest prize ever to fall into Communist hands.

As president of the Office for the Protection of the Constitution — the nation's equivalent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation— the 44-year-old security chief was responsible for rooting out subversives, dealing with Communist infiltration into the government and keeping track of extremists of both left and right.

Although he was not directly concerned with counter-intelligence, he was in close contact with several West German counter - intelligence agencies and would be in a position to reveal their secrets to the Communists.

It was feared he may also be able to disclose some of the closely guarded secrets of Western allied intelligence agencies as well.

John was last seen in the company of Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, who has been branded by the Interior Ministry as a Communist.

West Berlin police said John had been suffering from a "severe mental depression" and may have been lured into Communist Berlin by promises of psychiatric treatment.

Wohlgemuth practiced on both sides of the Iron Curtain. He had an office in the American sector of Berlin and maintained a clinic in the charity hospital in Communist Berlin.

A note left by Wohlgemuth in his office said John had gone voluntarily to the Russian - controlled east sector and "does not want to return to the western sector" of the city. West German officials said the note was merely "camouflage" for the kidnaping.

John had come to West Berlin from Bonn to participate in July 20 ceremonies honoring the men who tried to assassinate Adolf Hitler in 1944.

Slain Girl's Father Says Killer Will Be Found

BALTIMORE (AP)—James T. Roberts, Baltimore attorney whose 7-year-old daughter was kidnapped and slain two weeks ago in Miami, said today he is confident her killer will be found "among their own pet perverts in Miami who are treated so tenderly."

The Baltimore News-Post said an arrest here in the case is expected within the next 24 hours and reported a search is under way for a man who was questioned several days ago and then disappeared.

Hal Boyle Says:

Today's Office Secretaries Seem Best Matrimonial Bet

NEW YORK (AP)—If I were a bachelor yearning for the matrimonial yoke, I do believe I'd head for Manhattan this weekend.

Some 2,000 business secretaries are here for their annual convention, and I don't know where else in America at the moment a man could go if he is searching for the right girl to love, honor and disobey the rest of his life.

* * *

As I see it, a good secretary has about all the advantages even the most cautious bachelor looks for in a wife, to wit:

1. She can sew on a button.
2. She has learned to keep her trap closed about confidential matters.
3. She knows when to get a man a cup of coffee, and when he prefers aspirin.
4. If she isn't a beauty, she at least knows how to put her best foot forward. She is neat, orderly and well-dressed.
5. She knows how to arrange flowers.
6. She has learned to take dictation from a boss, and therefore a husband can at least hope she will pay some attention to what he says—if only through force of habit.
7. She has the ability to budget money and get the most out of a small income.
8. She can fill out your income tax, and write diplomatic letters of refusal to all the relatives who try to borrow money from you.
9. Any girl who can change a typewriter ribbon successfully probably can learn in a few months to fix your television set, too. The repair bills she saves will in time pay for the cost of the wedding and her subsequent upkeep.

* * *

Jerry Wald, space consultant for the Art Metal Construction Co., office equipment manufacturers, is my authority here. His job is to measure offices for secretaries (and secretaries for offices), and after a national survey of the field he came up with this observation:

"The average secretary today can accomplish more work in two hours than one in the Gibson girl generation could in an entire day. Physically, she is smaller in size, and in the office occupies one third the amount of space given her sister of 20 years ago."

* * *

A thrifty bachelor can see the obvious advantages here: If he marries one of the new pony-model secretaries she will eat less food and fit in a smaller apartment than say a buxom lady weightlifter or the center on an all-girl basketball team.

"Executive secretaries have an average salary ranging from $50 a week in Alabama," says Wald, "to $82 in Tulsa. They average $75 in Los Angeles and $72 in New York."

* * *

All of which boils down to the following sensible tip to any sensible bachelor:

Man Masters Art of Vertical Floating

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. (AP)—Most anyone can float, says Iver Johnson, but when you can float standing up you've accomplished something.

"It's 99 per cent control of the spine," said the 47-year-old retired accountant. "When the spine is straightened from its usual curved position to a perfect plumb line, you float vertically. Of course, the mind must be absolutely serene—otherwise you'd sink," he said.

Johnson swims about a mile out into Lake Michigan to practice. It took him 12 years to master it.

Two Stamp Seekers Hear From Malenkov

SEQUIM, Wash. (AP) — Two boys wanted Russian stamps for their collection and wrote direct to Premier G. M. Malenkov. Back came the stamps — 120 of them. Bill Keller, 14, and Eldon Spady, 14, also got a letter from a man in the Russian export department, polite but formal saying the stamps were being sent gratis.

"Since you are interested in collecting Soviet postage stamps," is added, "we wish to recommend that in future you obtain our stamps through the medium of philatelic firms in your country.

"The literature of the Soviet Union (1 copy) will be sent you under separate cover." The literature hasn't arrived. The boys say they think postal authorities may have stopped the second letter as propaganda.

Necessities Are Scarce in Russian Wilderness

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian pioneers are moving rapidly into wilderness areas says the newspaper Komsomol Pravda. In one six-week period more than 15,000 young people left cities for unsettled areas, the paper says. But it complains that the pioneers cannot buy as much as a toothbrush, a spoon, mug or basin in the new settlements.

The report tells of five settlers who made a 300-mile trip to buy toothpaste, thread, shoelaces, shoe polish, pencils, ink, envelopes and pens. One girl made another long trip to buy matches. The paper urged Communist officials to open trade in the new lands.

Well-Fed Koreans Take Industrial Lag in Stride

Editor's Note: President Syngman Rhee of Korea is arriving in Washington Monday to talk over his problems with President Eisenhower. In two articles earlier this week, The Associated Press has depicted the American aid program for Korea and the criticism it has run into. In this concluding article, an AP correspondent at Seoul depicts the Korea of today.

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL (AP)—The grim reminders of war are still here—bomb gutted streets, ruined buildings and the maimed and orphaned, but there's a new atmosphere in Seoul. And all over South Korea.

Reconstruction may not be going as fast as the government wants it to, but a government's discontent is not always shown by the people.

With some assurance that they won't have to pack up and flee south tomorrow, the Koreans have buckled down to rebuild their homes and shops.

* * *

In contrast to last July 27, when the fighting stopped, the man in the street appears happier, better fed and better clothed today. Certainly, he's better off than any time since the Communists pushed across the 38th Parallel four years ago.

There are almost no big factories to indicate rapid recovery, though a number are in the works. But there are rows upon rows of small stands from which Korean merchants peddle their wares to the city shopper.

* * *

And there are plenty of shoppers. Seoul is bulging with people. Ever since the 8th Army relaxed its restriction on the return of civilians to Seoul, the people have been streaming back by the thousands.

Police estimate Seoul's population now to be about 1,600,000—some 400 thousand more than its prewar population—and going up everyday.

Men and women have taken to wearing Western clothes. The attraction for Western clothes by the women caused one U. S. soldier to remark that a U. S. mail order catalog is probably Korea's all-time best seller.

Public transportation has increased. Old streetcars contributed by St. Louis and Atlanta are always taxed to capacity.

* * *

The Seoul curfew horn still sounds at 10 p.m., but a few Korean men and women manage to go dancing and dining beforehand at one of several night clubs which have opened in the last year.

Industrially, Korean factories are starting to produce, although their output is negligible. Lack of power has been a big hindrance, but that situation is gradually being remedied. The Korean farmer is having one of the best crops in many years.

American economists here are learning, like their military predecessors, that there were few opportunities for the Koreans to develop leadership under the 40-year Japanese rule. With Foreign Operations Administration funds, the republic is hiring highly skilled foreign technicians and firms to handle the reconstruction job.

It will be a job to find enough technically-skilled Koreans to run the country's future industry.

There is also the problem of the ROK (Republic of Korea) Army. When President Syngman Rhee learned of plans to gradually withdraw U. S. troops from Korea, he sought American support for a buildup of his own army. The U.S. contribution toward maintenance of the present 20-division force is estimated at about 300 million dollars annually. Rhee has asked for nearly 20 additional divisions.

But Gen. James A. Van Fleet said recently he did not think the ROKs could maintain more than their present 20 divisions in combat conditions. The manpower is available, however.

* * *

The key question is this: is South Korea destined to be a permanent economic ward of the United States? There is no ready answer today, but C. Tyler Wood, head of the Foreign Operations Administration here, says a steady growth in the value of Korea's gross national production will end the need for extensive aid.

To Quiet Fears

But people kept asking questions. So he painted this sign on the side of the hearse:

"NOBODY'S DEAD—Just going fishing."

Water Fluoridation Safe, Health Service Reports

WASHINGTON (UP)—The safety of controlled fluoridation of public water supplies has been confirmed by extensive research conducted under the sponsorship of the U. S. Public Health Service, it was disclosed today.

More than 785 U. S. communities, with a total population of about 15,000,000, now practice fluoridation of municipal water supplies to reduce dental decay.

Some physicians and others have had doubts, however, about the effects on health of prolonged use of fluoridated water. A special House committee held hearings on the problem last year at which several witnesses called for further studies.

The newly-disclosed research was conducted by Dr. F. J. McClure, chief of the laboraory of oral and biological chemistry at the national institute of dental research, and Dr. H. Berton McCauley, director of the bureau of dental care of the Baltimore, Md., Health Department. They reported their fidings in the current issue of public Health Reports, official publication of the U. S. Public Health Service.

North Campus Develops at Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR—North Campus at the University of Michigan, a 377-acre tract across the Huron River Valley from the main campus, will be the center of considerable construction activity during the next year.

Work is well under way on two buildings and by fall three more construction projects should be started, Vice President W. K. Pierpont has reported. At present the Cooley Memorial Laboratory, dedicated last October and which houses special research facilities for the Engineering Research Institute, is the only building in use in the new area.

Construction work has been started on the Phoenix Memorial Laboratory which it is expected will be completed by the summer of 1955.

This is a $1,041,000 building financed by the Michigan Memorial-Phoenix Project which will provide centralized facilities for research on the peaceful uses of atomic energy. It is located just west of the Cooley Building.

Scheduled to be completed by December is a $457,147 Central Service and Stack building. This unit represents the first step in meeting a long-standing need for additional library facilities. The State Legislature provided the funds for the building which will house books and periodicals not in every-day use at the main library.

All of these buildings are located in the south eastern portion of the new campus which is about one mile to the north and east of the center of the main campus.

Two of the three projects on which work will start this year will be located in the same area. These will be a $1,850,000 Automotive Laboratory and a $1,000,000 nuclear research reactor.

Slated for the northern part of the new campus which fronts along Plymouth Road (US-12) will be housing for married students and staff. To be financed by revenue bonds to be paid off with rental income, the housing will have 100 apartments built in two-story units.

The new research reactor is expected to develop 1,000 kilowatts of power and thus should become the most powerful nuclear research reactor outside of the Atomic Energy Commission facilities. Construction work should be started by fall with completion set for some time in 1956. The reactor will be built from a $1,000,000 gift to the Phoenix Project from the Ford Motor Company Fund.

With research facilities taking shape and plans proceeding for housing, the next move towards the further development of the North Campus area will be facilities for the School of Music. The Legislature will be asked to provide funds to locate this unit of the University in the western sector of the new area.

Plans for the long-range development of North Campus had been prepared by Saarinen and Associates of Birmingham and the University hopes to proceed with an orderly development of these plans as money becomes available for construction.

Eden's Geneva Role Hints at Promotion

LONDON (AP) — Anthony Eden's prominent role as a peacemaker at Geneva stirred new speculation today that 79-year-old Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill might soon retire in favor of his heir-apparent foreign secretary.

The conservative Daily Sketch, a strong supporter of the Churchill government, said this may have been why Eden had an audience last night with Queen Elizabeth II.

The mass circulation Daily Mirror, which for months has been urging Churchill to step down, complained today:

"Still Sir Winston clings to office.

Cohn's Resignation

Regardless of what already has been said or will be said, no one can claim that the resignation of Roy M. Cohn was unexpected.

The truth is that the chief counsel of the McCarthy investigating subcommittee has been under fire for months. It also is true that criticism of the young New Yorker, called by the Wisconsin Senator his "strong right arm," was bipartisan.

In announcing that Cohn had stepped out, Sen. McCarthy said it "must bring great satisfaction to the Communists and fellow travelers."

Actually, the issue of ferreting out home front Communists hadn't anything to do with it. We can't believe, for example, that Michigan's junior Senator Potter, who lost both legs in World War II, would have any part of anything he believed would give comfort to the Reds.

The real issue appears to have been the fight between McCarthy on the one hand and Senators Potter, Symington, Jackson and McClellan on the other for control of subcommittee staff employes. Any doubt about this must have been dispelled when the Potter resolution was dropped after announcement of the resignation.

That resolution assured of the one Republican and three Democratic votes necessary to win, called for firing of all staff members not individually confirmed by committee majority as of July 31.

The rebel coalition thereupon joined in confirming all of the members of the staff except Donald Surine and Thomas W. Lavenia, who have been denied Defense Department security clearances.

Instead of hampering the work of the committee, the Cohn resignation should prove a step forward. No committee could function properly with its membership divided as this has been for so many months.

Educator to Author

Appointment of William J. Emerson, Oakland County Superintendent of Schools, to co-author a textbook with three other nationally known educators brings another laurel to this educator's growing list of honors.

He was named by the National Education Association in Washington, D. C. Emerson's book is now in print and is entitled, "The Community and the Intermediate Unit."

Superintendent Emerson this past weekend addressed the annual conference of Michigan county school superintendents at Mt. Pleasant and reviewed the book. It is designed to be used as a college textbook to teach the best practices in school district administration and services in the United States.

Secondary purpose of the book, said Emerson, was to establish an analysis of the relationship which exists between local school districts and the county school superintendency.

The NEA has stated they will adopt the recommendations of Emerson and his collaborators as their official NEA policy on the subject.

Political Vandalism

Vandalism in any form is inexcusable, but it is especially annoying and senseless when it mars a political campaign.

It was that kind of infantilism which caused minor damage to the property of H. L. Blackwood at 975 Baldwin Avenue. A campaign ad there and another on the property of Leslie H. Hudson, Baldwin at Walton, were smeared with green and white paint.

Mr. Hudson is a Democratic candidate in the August 3 primary for State Representative.

Whoever is guilty has no respect for or understanding of the election process which is so vital a foundation stone of our democracy. Any legally qualified candidate has a right to advertise providing he complies with existing City and County ordinances.

Incidentally, many violations of these ordinances have been reported. Campaign posters can be placed only on private property and several candidates have violated the law by placing them on public rights-of-way.

Queer Censorship Voted

Members of that body voted down a cultural pact with Spain for reasons which are self-explanatory. Under the proposed terms approval of the Franco government would have been required for history textbooks used in Brazil's schools.

Strangely enough the pact had the endorsement of the Vargas government. Stranger yet, Brazil wasn't settled by the Spaniards but by the Portuguese whose language is official in that vast South American country.

Anyone believing that Brazil has a right to decide such matters for itself will applaud the senate's rejection of this peculiar attempt to legalize censorship by a foreign power.

County Sale of Present Courthouse Site Might Violate Proviso Attached to Deed

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Recently the Oakland County Bar Association disapproved the bond issue and tax increase which are to be voted upon August 3, 1954, because the same are submitted to build a new Court House on a parcel of land lately annexed by the City of Pontiac in Waterford Township.

We note that the site of the present Court House commonly referred to as Lots 134, 135 and 117 of Original Plat of Pontiac are being represented as "valuable business" properties. This means that the county and the "new Court House" proponents intend to sell said lots in the future for business purposes.

These lots were deeded to the County, over 100 years ago for certain public uses and purposes only with a proviso attached which, in my judgment, prevents the abandonment of such uses or the sale or disposal or use of said lots for any private purposes. A sale by the county would, in my opinion, be a violation of the proviso and would lead to considerable litigation.

Why not build a county office building on the present lots and not lose the valuable ground which the County now holds and can use for Court House purposes without fear of litigation?

This letter is sent as a contribution to a better understanding of the total situation. I represent no one in submitting the same and nothing except my own convictions.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Beware of the 'Diaper' Male Who Fails to Pay His Parents Adequate Room Rent

Martin is what we psychologists would term a "diaper" male, emotionally. He still thinks he should be on the "gimme" end of financial matters involving his parents. Learn to pay your way after you quit school and have a full time job.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-365: Martin O., aged 23, has a good job that pays $60 per week.

"But Martin stays at home with our parents," his older sister began.

"And he eats like a horse. But he gripes about paying her even $5 per week for his board and room.

"My father barely makes enough to make ends meet. So I feel that Martin should pay adequate room and board.

"My mother defends him, however, but I have learned that he never has paid more than $5 a week, and I have good suspicions that he often borrows that right back again from my mother.

"Dr. Crane, isn't it right and proper that children pay a reasonable amount of board and room to their parents after they are grown?"

Yes, I'd consider Martin a spoiled brat. And you girls should be very cautious about dating such overgrown babies.

For Martin is still in the diaper stage emotionally, where he thinks his parents should look after him without his reciprocating their efforts.

Martin lives in a city where working men and women pay an average of $7.50 per week just for room rent, alone.

And their board for breakfast and evening meals runs a minimum of $10 more per week.

So Martin is obtaining the equivalent of $17.50 in board and room, yet thinks he is generous to repay his parents a meager $5 per week.

Actually, if he wishes to deviate from the "average," he should lean over in the opposite direction and pay his parents "more" instead of "less" than normal.

If you wish to find out a great deal concerning the basic character traits of people, try to discover how much board and room they pay their aged parents when they are on a full time job but living at home.

The Prodigal Son type, who is a never-do-well and financially incompetent, will pay nothing at all, or else as little as possible.

But he will think he is magnanimous to his parents though he may offer them scarcely half the usual board and room scale in his community.

Oh, if you college students are working only at summer jobs and are hoarding your earning to help defray your college bills later in the fall, your parents may graciously refrain from wanting a penny of your earnings.

But if you are not on part time work as a student, then you should get wise to life and begin to act like real adults who pay full rates for board and room.

If you still think you are abused, then move out and get a room somewhere else in your town. You'll wise up fast, brother!

Even then, you Prodigal Sons or Daughters will probably have the gall to come back home and again try to get by with a $5 per week total board and room hand-out to your hard working mothers.

Prospective employers, please take note of the financial habits of prospective employes. See if they are miserly with their home folk.

If so, they are emotionally immature and thus don't warrant good jobs. So give them the boot, and select mature adult men and women who pay their way.

Girls, you need to beware, too, for some of these "diaper" boys, despite their "divine" dancing skill, are chiselers at home and totally unfit to handle the money matters required of a successful husband.

David Lawrence Says:

Foes of Dividend Tax Cut Imperil Free Enterprise

WASHINGTON — Although not outwardly identifiable as clearly as the socialistic groups that have broken up European parliaments, the Congress of the United States in the session now at its climax is also revealing deep-seated cleavages of an ideological nature.

On the surface, the controversy over whether to tax corporations twice — once when the profits are confiscated at a rate of 52 per cent and once when the stockholder gets his dividend and pays a second tax — is supposed to be a contest "between rich and poor."

That's what the demagogues would have the public believe, but actually it is a contest between those who would confiscate the savings of the workingman and those who would stimulate thrift and give private capitalism a much needed stimulus.

For, unless investors have incentives for employing their funds as risk capital in American enterprises, the government — the state — must provide the capital. That's the road to state socialism and Hitlerism. Yet the "left wing," which professes such an abhorrence of everything Hitlerlike, is behind the drive to prevent the encouragement of private investors.

The investor who buys bonds pays an income tax on the interest he receives, but he can invest in tax-exempt municipal or state bonds. As for corporate bonds, companies get a deduction for the interest they pay out. In this way the creation of more and more debt has been encouraged, whereas the use of risk capital has been discouraged because the corporations get no deduction for dividend payments — the sums they pay out for the use of capital.

America has been built up by risk capital. The investor in the early years of this country's development took a chance on the success or failure of an enterprise and, if it was successful, he got a reward commensurate with his risk.

But in recent years risk capital has been increasingly hard to find for the use of American business. For new enterprises, it has been even harder to get. Most new enterprises have been launched by already existing large companies with fat treasuries—an encouragement to competition by smaller companies with inadequate capital.

In contrast to the socialistic trend under the new deal and the fair deal, the Eisenhower administration set out to recognize in the new tax law the basic idea that a dividend payment should have some tax relief for the investor. While the amount is relatively small, the new bill just out of conference does recognize the principle of opposition to double taxation.

It will give a lift to American enterprise and mean more jobs for the workers in existing businesses and more businesses that will create more jobs. Yet there are many Democrats and a few Republicans who take a demagogic view and would stifle the incentives that help private enterprise.

The same ideological prejudice has arisen on the issue of public versus private power. About 30 years ago the American people were told that rivers should be opened to navigation and that whatever by-products in electric power became available would be incidental. Warnings against this deception went unheeded, and now the Tennessee Valley Authority has become a major public-power development.

Many taxpayers in the north and west and east are taxed heavily to pay for a local power development that serves only one region. If this principle were applied fairly to other sections of the country where rivers could be used to generate power, it would put the government in the power business on a national scale.

The debate in the senate this week about atomic power involves the same basic question. If atomic energy is to be solely a government development, then the state will control many business enterprises directly or indirectly. Instead of leasing the facilities to the highest bidders and letting private capital do the job — and supply the government with taxes out of its profits — there are some Republicans and many Democrats who believe in the government-ownership doctrine.

They would deny that they want the government to own everything. But there isn't much difference between putting the government in the power business and putting it into the food-store business or in the management of department stores and other retail enterprises. Then almost everybody would be employed by the government, as in Soviet Russia.

At a time when the budget is strained and taxes are high, there are some members of Congress who want the government to make large outlays for power plants of all kinds. The Eisenhower administration's view is that private business — which pays taxes on its profits — should have the opportunity to do that work and that the state should get out of private business and stay out.

It would be an interesting issue for the campaign, for, if they fully understood, the American people would promptly reject the doctrines of state socialism which so often have led to paths of communism and an all-powerful state.

From New England's rogue-bound coast to California's sunken dining-rooms the middle more than justifies the ends.

But in the course of catalogued items we must take the will for the deed and notarize them both.

That's because a new element has been chaffed from the wheat in national politics.

A heavy trailer vote has showed up on used car lots.

The national posses of both parties are busy diagnosing this astounding offshoot of tourist bias. Can it be captured by Jim Farley riding a motor-cycle? Can it be swung by Tom Dewey making a door-to-door canvass on a scooter?

We have only August, September and October left for making the slip that passeth all understanding. Here is a transient bloc of jolting citizens who are maneuverable as Moseby's guerrilla's. And who can follow up my stunt of 1929 when I rode my bicycle from town to town voting wet for the literary digest.

This is a movable element in local migration. At so much per vote they can go north with the birds and south with the eggs.

Writer Reports Even Her Pet Parakeet Turned Peppy After Daily Iodin Ration

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

My sister has a pet parakeet, writes a correspondent. She had some test made, and it seemed the bird had something like goitre, which made it hard to breathe.

Sister remembered that you once said that not only every member of the family but also the cat, the dog, the pigs, the chickens and the canary needed an iodin ration.

So, she crushed a tablet in the parakeet's drinking water every day, and to our surprise the bird is happy as ever and flies around the house as he did when he was young . . .

For that matter, the sheep, the horses, the cows and all the other creatures in most areas of this country need a wee, wee bit of iodin every day, as well as people do.

For instructions for taking a suitable ration send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet the Iodin Ration.

Ohio reader says it was shameful of me to besmirch the name of Benjamin Franklin, for she has his Autobiography and he certainly never said he wrote for an hour or two in his room nude in the early morning . . .

Maybe some kind literate will tell us whether Franklin said it I can't take time out to read the Autobiography again, but I'm sure Franklin told about this habit somewhere in his writings.

We live in a wheat farming community, says a Texas reader, but the only place to buy plain wheat is at the feed store.

I cook it by steaming at a low temperature for several hours or until the grains pop open. I put the cooked wheat in my electric liquidizer along with milk.

We call this a wheat cocktail and our 5 and 6-year-olds drink their wheat and love it.

They consume nearly a cupful a day. Could they get too much . . ?

No. The children are lucky to get such adequate food instead of the cheap food so many American children get nowadays. Numerous ways to prepare plain wheat and reasons why it should be a staple in every household are presented in the pamphlet Wheat to Eat, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Please do not use a clipping—ask for it in writing and sign your request. Clippings and unsigned requests frequently become mislaid in handling a large volume of mail.

Foreign Aid Bill Tops the Docket

House Appropriations Group Turns to New Topic After Rebuff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee, fresh from a shellacking at the hands of House members, turned to a multi-billion-dollar foreign aid bill today in hopes of greater success.

On the committee docket was President Eisenhower's request for about 3½ billion dollars for overseas assistance this year, and advance word was the group might be able to finish up work on the measure tomorrow.

Members predicted their version would provide less than Eisenhower asked, but said the cuts wouldn't be such as to stir up White House opposition.

* * *

Presidential prodding was a notable factor yesterday when a coalition of Republicans and Democrats rebuffed the powerful purse-strings committee by adding $109,146,549 to the committee's figures on a catchall appropriation bill.

Then, by voice vote, the congressmen sent to the Senate a measure appropriating $1,303,334,628 to finance miscellaneous federal programs not taken care of in the regular money bills.

This was $656,623,639 less than the President had requested, but $528,400,000 was a reduction in funds for military public works construction. Instead of providing all new cash for this work, the committee had approved the use of unobligated balances of money previously appropriated. The House concurred in that plan.

But it bowled over the committee's recommendations for deep cuts in new money for ship, airport and hospital construction.

The coalition added to the bill 22 millions for municipal airport construction, 71½ millions for ship construction, and $15,900,000 to help states and municipalities build new medical facilities under a recently approved hospital program.

The foreign aid funds bill is a followup to the authorizing measure which already has won House approval and now awaits Senate action.

'World's Smallest Paper' Marks 40 Years in Print

MEARS, Mich. (UP)—The Mears Newz, which calls itself the smallest newspaper in the world, is 40 years old today.

Swift Lathers, colorful 65-year-old editor and founder of the paper which has brought fame to this tiny Oceana County community, put out this week's issue of the Newz a day early so that he could have today off.

He planned to spend the anniversary working on his second love, a desert village he built 15 years ago on the sand dunes west of here on the shores of Lake Michigan.

The paper is still 5¼ by 7¼ inches in size and has only one headline. About the only changes are that the type is no longer set by hand—it is set on a Linotype machine at nearby Hart — and Lathers is able to print two pages at a time instead of only one.

The price of a subscription is the same, too—"50 cents a year; or $1.00 for 6 months; or $2.00 for" (three months). The last line of type on the paper's masthead was dropped years ago and has never been replaced. It ends with the words "$2.00 for."

Lathers, who was a reporter for the Detroit Tribune for several years after he attended Michigan Stte Normal at Ypsilanti, came to Mears in 1913. He was born and raised in Dearborn but left the Detroit area because he hates big cities.

"My desire then was to get away from the tread-mill life of the city into the freedom of the out-of-doors, where you may not rattle as much corn in the course of a year as your city cousins but at the end of the year you have just as much left to show for your year's work as those who worked for high wages in the mills of the cities," Lathers said. "I still feel that way about big cities."

The following year he started the Newz and has been "editor and bottle washer" ever since. That's just the way he identifies himself on the masthead.

Lathers spells the papeer's name "Newz" because it's "different." Actually, he was only trying out the name spelled with a "Z" when the Post Office regulatons changed and he would have had to go through a lot of red tape to change the name back to something else.

Builder Called in Housing Quiz

He Will Be Questioned About Projects Insured by Government Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate housing investigators today summoned a New York builder, Samuel J. Rodman, for questioning about two apartment projects built in the nation's capital with government-insured loans.

The banking committee, headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), is in the midst of an investigation of what members term excessive profits made by builders of big apartment projects. These profits resulted for the most part from the difference between loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration and construction costs which were lower. Testimony has been that many promoters pocketed the difference.

In the hearings, due to wind up their current phase today, the banking committee has been paying particular attention to the possibility of fraud prosecution of any builders who may have filed false information with the FHA, as to estimated costs and other factors, in their applications for FHA mortgage insurance.

Acting FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason said yesterday one such case, involving a 2-million-dollar project just across the Potomac River from Washington, was sent to the Justice Department Wednesday for possible fraud prosecution. That project, known as Arlington Towers, still is under construction.

1,056 Polio Cases Reported in Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service reported today there were 1,056 new cases of polio over the nation last week, the first time this year the total has passed 1,000 for a week.

The total was nearly 200 less than the 1,245 cases in the corresponding 1953 week.

At this season the total usually jumps anywhere from 20 to 35 or more percentage points each week, reaching a peak in late August or September.

Since Jan. 1 there have been 6,520 cases, compared with 6,866 in the corresponding period last year and 6,603 in the 1952 period.

Ft. Dix Officer Pleads Innocent

Prosecution Witnesses Testify in Court-Martial for Dereliction of Duty

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP)—The defense went ahead today in its effort to clear 1st Lt. Robert S. Morgan of a charge that he permitted his company of Army trainees to be held at attention for an hour in wilting heat.

One of them was Pvt. William Books, 20, of Hempstead, N.Y., who told the eight-member court-martial board he fainted three times during the forced attention period June 21.

* * *

Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is accused of having allowed Company "L," 272nd Infantry Regiment, to be forced to stand at attention in 92-degree heat as punishment for a breach of discipline. Several men were said to have fainted.

As the court-martial got under way, Morgan pleaded innocent to the charge. His administrative assistant, 1st Sgt. Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, Ohio, will be tried separately on a charge of maltreating the men in the incident.

Brooks testified that he was revived by splashes of cold water each time after he lost consciousness. He said that when he fainted the third time, he finally was carried to his barracks.

* * *

When the prosecution concluded its case, the defense took over by reading a deposition from a former member of the company who has since been discharged.

The deposition, from ex-Pvt. Bayard Stockton of Colorado Springs, Colo., said he did not notice any men fainting during the hour-long formation, but that he did recall seeing one man lying on the ground.

Stockton declared that the men were discouraged over the fact they received no passes after four weeks of training, but that they were not bitter against Lt. Morgan.

If found guilty, Morgan faces a possible sentence ranging from an official reprimand to forfeiture of two-thirds of his base pay for six months.

Machine Gives Service

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When a worshipper enters the Faith Morningside Lutheran Church at 11th St. he passes an electric eye. This starts a recorded worship service which includes a musical selection and a short address by the pastor.

TRENCH DIGGER—A group of U. S. Marines from Ft. Schuyler, N. Y., tries in vain to keep up with a Jeep trench digger in a contest at Scarsdale, N. Y. After a few minutes the Marines gave up and watched the vehicle claw its way through a trench six feet deep and 800 feet long in less than an hour. Experts say it would take over 200 men to do the same job. The military could use the machine for communication installation at front lines or for providing shelter against atomic attacks. Civilians will find it useful in excavating for pipe lines, cables and for irrigation.

Farm Bill May Close Congress

GOP, Dem Senators Argue About Aiken's Charge of Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The politically explosive farm bill, pushed back on the Senate docket again under disputed circumstances, may be the final major business for the adjournment-bound Congress.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today he has no intention of trying to get Senate action on the farm measure until "next midweek, probably Wednesday." Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, added in an interview:

* * *

"All I want to make certain is that if there is no farm legislation at this session that I'm not going to take the rap for it."

Aiken smiled away a blistering statement issued last night by Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas which branded as "simply . . . not true" Aiken's assertion that Democrats forced a delay in Senate action on the farm bill.

Aiken called reporters to his office early yesterday and told them the Democratic leadership had served notice on him not to bring up the farm bill until next Tuesday or later.

* * *

Aiken said this might prevent any farm legislation because of plans to end the session next Saturday. Whether Congress will meet that target for adjournment is questionable.

Use Martial Law to Curb Phenix City Lawlessness

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Residents of a city long hardened to violence stood by stunned today as stern-faced National Guardsmen enforced law under an unprecedented order issued by Gov. Gordon Persons.

The armed civilian-soldiers, hurried into the city by truckloads, relieved Phenix City law enforcement officials of their weapons as well as their duties yesterday when qualified martial law was proclaimed.

The governor's action gave this once gaudy, bawdy river town of about 17,000 population the distinction of being the first municipality in Alabama history to have its entire law enforcement duties taken over by the military.

* * *

The stormy community of shady night clubs and gambling dens across the Chattahoochee River from Columbus, Ga., and sprawling Ft. Benning erupted five weeks ago when incoming Atty. Gen. A. L. Patterson was slain in an alley below his law office.

Gov. Persons said he was invoking martial law to "surpress the state of lawlessness, intimidation, tumult and fear which reigns" in Russell County. He added that Phenix City officers have either been "unable or unwilling" to control tangled affairs here.

City and county law officers as well as private citizens were ordered to turn in all firearms and other weapons to the military command headed by Adjt. Gen. Walter J. Hanna.

* * *

Crowds of townspeople ringed the courthouse and police station during Thursday afternoon's steady drizzle as word spread around that the old order was changing.

But as night came the once teeming streets were almost deserted. Before midnight, guardsmen hauled in five persons on charges of being drunk—a fair average when rowdy Phenix City was the playground of Ft. Benning, the world's largest infantry training center.

Gov. Persons said he hoped the action would hold down fear of reprisals by witnesses called before an emergency grand jury impaneled Wednesday to investigate the Patterson slaying and other wrongdoings brought to light by the intensive search for the slayer.

Man's Suspicions Right; Bandits Rob Him Again

KANSAS CITY (AP)—When a drug store employe got a telephone call to make a liquor delivery, he recalled that in the past such orders had resulted in holdups.

So Howard Goldenberg of the Highland Pharmacy decided to make a preliminary investigation before delivering the liquor. He left his billfold in the store, picked up a .38 pistol and drove to the address given by the caller.

As he got out of the car, two men met him, relieved him of his keys, cigaret lighter, watch—and the pistol.

Chrysler Lines Stop Completely

Detroit Auto Production Halted by Strike, With 44,850 Idled

DETROIT (AP)—All of Chrysler's Detroit automobile production was at a standstill today in the fifth day of a strike now idling 44,850 workers.

Assembly lines went down completely yesterday with the layoff of 8,850 machinists, motor builders and maintenance employes in mounting idleness from Monday's strike of 10,700 Dodge main plant employes.

Only an approximate 21,000 hourly employes, including defense workers, were still on the job.

* * *

All the affected employes are members of the CIO United Auto Workers. The Dodge main strikers walked out in protest of what they called a speed-up. Management denied there was a speed-up.

The only assembly plants left in operation were those in Evansville, Ind., and Los Angeles. These two turn out about 20 per cent of Chrysler's normal production of Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto and Plymouth cars.

The Dodge main strike lacks the approval of the UAW international union. At the same time the international has taken no action on a demand by the company that the strike be declared unauthorized and a contract violation.

* * *

A company spokesman said the strike may interfere with 1955 model changeover plans. Before the Dodge main strike began, the company announced plans to close down in August for model changeovers.

The judge said Mechem won't have to appear.

The Caine Mutiny

Copyright

Synopsis. Willie is the decoding officer on board a dirty, old, converted Navy ship, a minesweeper called the Caine. He is a college man, and he left a girl named Mae Wynn behind him in New York. But he is uncertain of his feelings toward her for her feelings toward him are not quite the same as his. Capt. Queeg is the commanding officer on the Caine and most of the men dislike him, feel that he is incompetent. He does such queer things, such as planning to search each man on ship to find his keys and then make a test to find out who stole the strawberries. Mr. Maryk, his first officer, reads Navy Regulations late into the night, and finds that, under certain circumstances, a subordinate can take over command of the ship. But the men were stripped and the queer business of the keys got under way.

CHAPTER 21

"Yes, Porteous?"

"You — wanted a report sir, from me. I've got it for you—"

"Oh, yes, yes. Excuse me, Steve. Keep an eye on things. Keep 'em moving. Come along, Porteous."

Queeg closed his cabin door and said, "Well?"

"Sir, you meant it when you promised me a transfer to yeoman's school in Frisco?" Jellybelly's look was cunning and timorous.

"Of course I did, Porteous. I don't kid about such things. If you have any information which can be proved—"

"It was the mess boys, sir," whispered the fat yeoman.

"Oh, h–l, it was not. D–n it, why do you waste my time—"

"Sir, Chief Bellison saw them. It was around one o'clock that night. He was coming back from breaking up a crap game in the forward crew's compartment. He passed the pantry. He told a couple of chiefs, and—"

"Are you trying to tell me that my chief master - at - arms would see pilfering, and not make an arrest, and not even report to me?"

Queeg pulled the steel balls out of his pocket and began to roll them. The happy look was fading from his face, the sick wrinkles reappearing.

"Well, sir, he didn't think nothing of it, see, because the mess boys, well, they're always chowing up on wardroom leftovers, it ain't nothing new. And then when this big fuss was kicked up, he felt sorry for them, he thought they'd all pull BCDs, so he kept quiet. But it's all over the ship, sir, this morning — you can prove it easy—"

Queeg dropped into his swivel chair, and looked around dully at the myriad keys stacked on the deck. His mouth hung slightly open; his lower lip was pulled in. "Porteous, this conversation of ours is to remain confidential."

The yeoman, his face twisted in a rueful leer, said, "It certainly will, sir, I hope."

"Type out your application for that school, with an approving endorsement, and I'll sign it."

"Thank you, sir."

"That's all, Porteous."

After a half hour, Maryk began to wonder what had become of the captain. The plan called for Queeg to supervise topside and forward, while the exec concentrated on the labyrinthine engineering spaces, but the busy, smiling figure of the commanding officer had vanished from the search scene.

Maryk went to Queeg's cabin and knocked. "Come in," called a harsh voice. The captain was lying on his bunk in his underwear, staring at the ceiling, rolling balls in both hands. "What is it, Mr. Maryk?"

"Pardon me, sir — I thought you were supervising topside—"

"I have a headache. You take over."

The exec said uncertainly, after a pause, "Aye aye, sir. I don't know if I can give the thorough coverage you want—"

"Delegate someone to assist you, then."

"Sir," said the exec, baffled, "do you want the search to continue?"

"OF COURSE I want it to continue! Why shouldn't I?" yelled the captain, rising on one elbow, and glaring at Maryk with red eyes. "I still want this ship searched from stem to stern, every damn inch of it! Now please get out, I have a headache!"

Though Maryk glumly persisted in the search, the crew very quickly sensed that something had changed. By noon the search had dwindled to a shabby farce, embarrassing for the officers, and amusing to the men.

At one o'clock Maryk called a halt, accepting tongue-in-cheek reports from all his subordinates that their parts in the search had been carried out. The exec went to the captain's cabin, and found the shades drawn, and Queeg naked in his bunk, wide awake. "Well, did you find it?", said Queeg.

"No, sir."

"Exactly as I predicted. Well, at least I gauged the caliber and loyalty of my subordinates correctly." The captain rolled over, his face to the bulkhead. "Kay. Get these keys out of here and return them."

"Yes, sir."

"And you can pass the word around that if anybody thinks I'm licked they've got another think coming."

"Aye aye, sir."

Maryk passed the word to the men to pick up their keys, and went below to his room. He took off all his clothes, lit a long cigar, and brought the "medical log" out of his desk safe.

Settling himself on his bunk, the folder propped on his knees, he began reading at the first page. The cigar was half smoked when he turned over the last sheet and put the log aside.

He was lathering his face when a radioman brought him a message. "TBS, sir. I knocked at the captain's door and looked in but he seemed to be fast asleep—"

"I'll take it." The dispatch read:

All ships Apra Harbor prepare to get under way not later than 1700. Task units will steam southward and maneuver to avoid typhoon Charlie approaching Guam.

Hall-Griffin Rite Performed Last Saturday in Ferndale

The bride's mother is Mrs. James D. Hall of 6386 Hatchery Rd., and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Perry Griffin of Toledo, Ohio.

The bride approached the altar in a floor-length gown of slipper satin with inserted lace panels. The gown, fashioned with a mandarin collar, was lace beaded at the bodice. A cap of sequins and pearls held her scalloped fingertip veil, and Geraldine carried a prayer book with an orchid and stephanotis.

Serving as Honor Matron was a sister of the bride, Mrs. Steve Karpovck of Rochester. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Laura Taylor of Pontiac, Donna DeFilippo of Ferndale, and Carolyn Griffin of Toledo, a sister of the groom.

Bernard Griffin, the groom's brother, performed his duties as best man, and Robert Hall, brother of the bride, and Neol Wilcox were Gerald's ushers.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin will reside in Royal Oak.

Air Force Goofs: 57 Tons of Silver Sold for Brass

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today it included a "large quantity" of silver in a surplus sale under the mistaken impression it was trash. The sale is being canceled.

The sale was Tuesday at Wilkins Air Depot, near Shelby, Ohio. The silver was in the form of unused decoration medals which the Air Force believed were brass, but learned later to their chagrin that they were silver.

One law allows the Air Force to terminate a contract for the good of the government. Liability extends only to refunding any money paid for a proposed purchase.

A second law prohibits the Air Force from selling gold or silver material as surplus.

Air Force headquarters here did not say the amount of the silver, but dispatches from Shelby said the total was about 57 tons. One lot was bid at $1.90 a pound and a second at $4 a pound.

The Treasury pays 90.5 cents per fine ounce for newly-mined silver. There was no word of the fineness of the decorations. The value of 57 tons of fine silver would be more than a million dollars.

French Experts Seek Petroleum in New Caledonia

SYDNEY (UP) — The French colony of New Caledonia is the latest South Pacific area in which oil is being sought.

Experts conducting the search on the island expect to complete their preliminary investigations by the end of this year.

Rene Pomeyrol, managing director of the Societe de Recherche et D'Exploitation de Petrole en Nouvelle - Caledonie (SREPNC), said Australian drillers would complete three or four experimental 2,000-foot bores by the end of 1954.

"Our first job was to verify reports that oil existed on the narrow mountainous island which is 248 miles long and 31 miles wide," Pomeyrol said. "Oil was reported there as far back as the turn of the century and some small prospectors actually sank a few shallow wells around 1916. But their enthusiasm slowly petered out and nothing was done until we got busy again last year."

The French government holds a controlling 65 per cent interest in SREPNC. The New Caledonian government holds 15 per cent, and leading Noumean businessmen subscribed the remaining 20 per cent. The company was formed in July, 1952 with a capital of about $162,000. Roughly half of this money has already been spent and the balance goes into further drilling mapped out for this year.

From 1940 to 1952 the port of Charleston, S. C., jumped from 57th place to 21st place in the volume of cargo handled.

Man Guilty of Trying to Sell 2 Daughters

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Frank McRoberts, 22-year-old farm laborer from Baynesville, O., is under a 60-day jail term for trying to sell a baby daughter for $200 and a four-year-old stepdaughter for $75.

A Baltimore County policewoman who posed as a prospective purchaser testified McRoberts told her:

"I would have to get $200 for the baby because she is my own flesh and blood."

McRoberts and his wife were tried yesterday on a technical charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Mrs. McRoberts was placed on probation for a year.

Vermont Maple Dealer Feels Need for Cash

DODGE CITY, Kan., (AP) — Mrs. Merritt Beeson thinks cash may be getting a little bit short in Vermont.

She received a canceled $1 check cashed only recently, which she had sent to Walter Lynds of Plymouth in 1925.

Trade Stations in Asia Slipping From French

Also slipping are the first toeholds of the once-great French empire on that continent—the little trading stations France has held on the Indian coast for more than 200 years.

First conquered by the French in the 17th century, they were expanded into broad inland holdings. Then they were lost to the British, retaken, lost and restored once more as tiny enclaves in British India.

For nearly a century and a half, the sleepy, primitive towns of French India remained French by sufferance of the British Empire. Their main industry reputedly was smuggling.

The Indians claim a referendum is not needed in the French-held towns because local councils already have declared for India. They also say the French wouldn't permit a fair vote.

French officials in Paris say they are not reluctant to get out, but they want to go in an orderly fashion.

Well Driller Electrocuted by High Tension Wire

OSCODA (UP)—A well driller was electrocuted Thursday when the steel derrick of his well drilling rig touched a high tension line at Old Orchard park eight miles west of here.

A. A. Graves, 53, Hale, Mich., was killed instantly when his rig touched a 140,000-volt line of the Consumers Power Co.

Flames wrecked the rig and touched off a fire in the grass and trees which kept the Oscoda fire department from the spot for more than an hour. His body was burned beyond recognition.

Graves was cleaning out a well at the park, which is on the Au-Sable River, when the accident occurred.

McNamara Attempting to Muster Dem Factions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Patrick V. McNamara, who now alone seeks Michigan's Democratic nomination for U. S. senator, says he hopes to swing all party factions behind himself after Blair Moody's funeral tomorrow.

McNamara, onetime AFL man, Detroit school board member, and former Detroit city councilman, said Thursday he intends to make such a proposal to Gov. Williams and others.

He said he will put it this way:

"What do you say to us all trying to work to get all Democrats together in a united party drive to defeat Sen. Ferguson? Isn't this an opportunity to wipe out the last vestiges of factionalism in the party by joining hands."

Dem Primary Rouses Texas

Shivers Pitted Against Attorney in Tomorrow's Gubernatorial Race

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Democratic campaign for governor, featuring incumbent Allan Shivers and attorney Ralph Yarborough, today overshadowed all other contests in tomorrow's Texas primaries.

Shivers and Yarborough each predicted a victory without a run off last night. Democratic victory usually means election in Texas.

This year, both Democrats and Republicans are holding the nominating primaries. The Democrats have for generations, but it is the fourth primary in Texas history for the Republicans who must hold primaries this year because they polled more than 200,000 votes for governor two years ago when Shivers ran on both tickets.

• • •

The governor, who led the drive that in 1952 saw Texas' Democratic party organization go over to Republican Dwight Eisenhower, is bidding for an unprecedented third elective term. Shivers served out a term of Gov. Beauford H. Jester when Jester died in office. Yarborough, defeated by 300,000 votes by Shivers in 1952, is making this third attempt for state office.

He ran unsuccessfully for state attorney general 15 years ago.

Shivers has been an office holder almost since his graduation from the University of Texas in 1930, as state senator, lieutenant governor, and governor. A conservative Democrat, he actively supported the GOP ticket two years ago, when Texas went Republican for the second time since reconstruction days.

• • •

The governor's race has been hot, bitter and biting. Both candidates have accused the other of support from George B. Parr, the South Texas political boss currently under indictment for assault to murder.

Shivers has said that Yarborough has out-of-state support from the CIO Political Action Committee, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Americans for Democratic Action.

Yarborough says Shivers is the candidate of the big gas companies, has spoken of him as favoring the ban on segregation in public schools and has pointed at a land deal in which Shivers made a $425,000 profit.

Yarborough has ridden hard on the third-term issue and Shivers' support of Eisenhower in 1952. Shivers says he did what was best for Texas in supporting Eisenhower because the Democratic presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson, favored federal ownership of Texas' tidelands.

Cleveland Doctor Takes Stand in Wife's Killing

Outwardly calm and speaking carefully, the 30-year-old Bay Village osteopath spent an hour and 55 minutes on the stand as the inquest began yesterday.

He told a story similar to one he gave authorities after his 31-year-old wife, Marilyn, was beaten to death July 4.

Continue Hunt for Pilot in New Mexico Area

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A search continued today for a Michigan Air National Guard jet pilot whose plane disappeared from a two-plane formation Wednesday night while making an instrument approach on an Albuquerque field.

The missing pilot is Capt. G. G. George of Lansing, Mich., of the 171st Fighter-Bomber Sqdn., based at Romulus, Mich.

He was flying as wingman to Capt. Lester A. Erickson, also of the 171st. Both were on a training flight to Ontario, Calif.

Erickson said "George's F86E peeled off suddenly at 35,000 feet and slid into a dive. "That was the last I saw or heard of him," he said.

Pennywise Pair Puts Cents Into Marriage

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP) — For four years Joseph S. Santi saved his pennies.

"This," he told Lydia Mae Lawson, holding a cloth bag crammed with coins, "will pay for our marriage license and the judge's fee."

The couple yesterday handed the 1,500 pennies to Superior Court Judge Frank Thomas.

He kept 200 for the license, married Joseph and Lydia and handed back the rest as a wedding present.

RAF Pilot Jumps From 8 Miles High

PICKERING, England, July 23 (AP)—RAF flying officer G. B. Owen parted from his Sabre Jet fighter at a height of nearly eight miles yesterday.

The rarefied atmosphere outside was 67 below zero, but it was quite hot inside—the plane had caught fire. So Owen pressed the button which touched off an explosive charge that ejected him, his emergency oxygen tank and his seat for a jump that an Air Ministry spokesman said was the highest ever made in this country, 41,000 feet. He landed by parachute, uninjured.

Tomato Contest Time Arrives

Neighborhoods Race to See Who Can Get First Ripe Ones

"Every home gardener is eyeing his tomatoes at this time with great anticipation," Ed Alchin, county agricultural agent says. "It seems there is an unscheduled contest in almost every neighborhood to see who can get the first ripe tomatoes."

According to Alchin, your tomato plants can be a disappointment as well as a source of embarrassment. "Right now is the critical time for most home garden tomatoes planted about Memorial Day," he says. "Hot, humid weather is ideal for the development of bacterial and fungus infcections. Once they have hit the tomato crop, there is little the gardener can do to save it."

As Alchin says, in this case it's an ounce of prevention or no cure at all. Many fungicides can be used to prevent these infections. However, a combination of two of them, according to the agent, can give best results and also will last much longer.

Two chemicals to use are insoluble copper and ziram. "When combined, use one-half the amounts recommended when used separately," Alchin directs. "When the tomatoes have reached the diameter of a quarter or larger, this spray should be applied once every ten days, as long as the plants are bearing fruit," he says.

About four sprays will be necessary on the ten-day basis. Later on, if late blight of tomatoes should strike, the full amount of copper should be used, along with the recommended amount of ziram, the agent suggests.

"If insoluble copper and ziram are used on tomatoes together, they will take care of three blights and anthracnose which are the diseases most often affecting tomatoes in the home garden."

The more leaves you put up with hay, dairyman, the less your feed costs will be for the dairy herd this winter.

Brazilian Creates Garden As He Would A Painting

By WILMA GREENWAY

Whether your garden consists of a formal estate or a small plot which you are trying to beautify, you can hardly fail to gain a headful of creative ideas by studying the Brazilian gardens of Roberto Burle Marx.

A dynamic new concept of gardening is exemplified in the work of this world-famous landscape architect and painter. Now on display at the Museum of Cranbrook Academy of Art, the exhibition of photographs and original gouaches of Burle Marx gardens will continue through Aug. 15. The display, on loan from the Smithsonian Institute, can be seen from 2 to 5 p. m. daily except Mondays, without charge.

Some 75 photographs, 35 water color designs of gardens, a section of ceramic tile paneling, printed textiles, and paintings of species of flowers which the artist-botanist has developed, give the viewer an idea of the scope and magnitude of Burle Marx garden creations.

For Burle Marx, who is also an internationally-renowned painter, creates a garden in the same way an artist creates his picture. He uses a free hand and a master mind in composing his landscapes.

The flowers and vegetation of his native Brazil are his living paints. He masses them for texture; clips them to give a clean, incisive line. A flowing stroke of water may etch the curve of a wall. The shape of a flower bed or a graveled drive is drawn with an artist's eye for design and composition.

Marx never considers a garden as an entity in itself. He sees it in relation to the topography and building which it complements. His gardens are outstanding, but never conceited. They do not dominate, but are integrated into their environment in one harmonious whole.

A lesser artist might have allowed his gardens to dwarf their surroundings. But there is nothing of the dictator in Burle Marx. Those who know him say he is modest, tranquil, invariably good humored—a man whose feeling for the value of God's creations is reflected in his work.

But how can the man-in-the-street, the average small-home gardener trim these stupendous ideas to his own size? It's not as difficult as you may think. To "see" a garden as Burle Marx sees it is a matter of inward creativeness, rather than outward material.

It is a matter of standing back and visualizing the whole, and then allowing your naturally creative sense of form and design to go to work. Perhaps you can't use water as "liquid sculpture" to focus interest on an interesting curve. But you can plan your garden as a picture—you can think of it in terms of overall design, color contrast, density of vegetation.

Probably you have done this naturally to some extent. Most gardeners do. But see and comprehend the Burle Marx exhibit and you will begin to do it consciously.

Then you will know the thrill of becoming an artist, with living trees, grass, flowers, even stone and gravel as the elements of your composition—a real artist, who uses his materials knowingly to procure a desired effect.

—Pontiac Press Photo

MASTER GARDENER EXHIBITS WORK—A revolutionary new concept in gardening is demonstrated in the work of Roberto Burle Marx, world-famous landscape architect and painter, now on exhibit at the Museum of Cranbrook Academy of Arts. Marx uses the vegetation of his native Brazil as "living paint" to create his magnificent gardens, just as he would compose a picture with paint and canvas. Photographs and original water-color designs of Burle Marx gardens make up the exhibition, as well as a panel of ceramic tile (above), originally part of a free-standing wall in one of Marx' gardens. The display, open to the public without charge every day except Mondays, will continue through Aug. 15.

FARM News GARDEN

Garden Chores Narrow to Four

Watering, Weeding, Pest Control, Booster Plant Food Listed

Midsummer gardening usually settles down to watering, weeding, and pest control — with an occasional booster of plant food, perhaps in soluble form. You have some leeway in watering and weeding, depending on weather. But you can't afford to give an inch to bugs and blights, if you want to keep your garden as you pictured it when you first started digging.

For example, tomato dusting usually results in more tomato picking. To harvest a good crop from your vines, you must protect them all summer against insects and diseases. If you expect to pick clean, healthy fruit from your trees — rather than a wormy, scabby crop — use a fruit tree spray right through the season.

The only way worms get into apples is from the outside — usually hatching from eggs laid through punctures in the skin. A good insecticide - fungicide combination keeps worms from getting started, and guards against scabby apples too.

Combination materials come in dust-gun packages, so preventive pest control is a simple job. You can give your garden a quick dusting while you're waiting for company to come. And many of the most effective modern bug-killers and blight preventers are extremely row in toxic hazard, so you can have beautiful flowers or a productive vegetable garden without endangering your family or pets.

Pest-control chemicals should be applied about once a week, and after every rain. You may want to step up the schedule if insects or diseases begin to look serious. The main thing is to keep leaves and fruit covered with a protective coating of chemical. When plants are growing rapidly, they may outgrow a pest-control application faster than you realize.

What you do this year may also affect next year's garden, especially your perennials, like roses, and fruit trees. These plants need a reserve food supply to carry them through the winter and start new growth in the spring. Plants which lose their leaves to insects or diseases are more susceptible to winterkill, or at best will be less vigorous next year.

Sell sows that farrowed in late spring, advise MSC agricultural economists, and breed gilts for fall farrowing.

This Week's Garden Tips for the Area

If it's a hot day, either get up early and work fast to beat the heat, or postpone bending over a torrid row until the morrow. Sit in a shady spot and relax.

* * *

Take pictures of the garden now, and make plenty of notes. And if you haven't started a garden diary, although you certainly planned to, don't waste another day.

* * *

Although mildew afflicting phlox can be controlled by sulphur, a way to discourage it is by keeping the roots of the plant and the soil around the roots moist.

* * *

Iris - transplanting time is upon us: bearded varieties may be set deeper into the ground than other types. Japanese iris loves fairly acid soil; Siberian iris doesn't like manure. No iris lover likes to find borers in the tubers. Destroy infected ones.

* * *

For a late bloom, autumn crocus and colchicum bulbs are wonderful — and it's getting toward planting deadline for them.

* * *

If it's dry and the regulations permit, see that the beds get a thorough drenching a couple of times a week. Otherwise resolve to mulch the beds next year or thank your stars you did this one.

Madonna lilies can be set out or transplanted now.

* * *

Quizzing the Gardener

Q—Will it harm my peony plants to cut away some of their foliage now?

A—You should wait until they turn yellow and brown in October. The foliage is needed for the manufacture of food. Be sure, however, to remove old flower heads, otherwise they will go to seed.

* * *

Q—When should asparagus be fertilized?

A—Once a year. In the spring, before cutting, or at the end of the cutting season when the plants are allowed to grow.

* * *

A—Paint or spray the stump or pour into drilled holes one pint of 2, 4, 5-T or ammate. Confine the chemical to the stump and bark. A double layer of tar roofing paper spread over and tied about the stump for a month will kill all new growth.

* * *

Q—Is it permissible to cut the foliage of Oriental poppies to the ground after they have finished blooming?

A—It is better to wait until yellowing begins rather than cut the leaves immediately after blooming.

* * *

A—No, its action is too slow and it supplies but a small amount of phosphorus and nitrogen in relation to its cost. Better use a complete fertilizer.

* * *

Q—Please tell me what is meant by the numbers which are printed on fertilizer bags? Those on mine read 4-12-4.

A—Complete fertilizers are made up of three essential plant elements, nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. The first number stands for the percentage of nitrogen, the second for phosphorus and the third for potash.

Follow 4 Steps in Creaming Face

By ANITA COLBY
America's No. 1 Cover Girl

The whole secret of proper skin care at home is experimentation. You must do your best to buy what's right for you—but buy in small jars at first, until you're sure.

Keep abreast of new developments in all-purpose creams—there are some beginning to show on the market that really deserve this title nowadays . . . both lubricating and stimulating, tightening and soothing. If you're an extra-busy girl, see if you can find the one and only for your skin.

How to Cream Face

First, tie your hair back, with ribbon, towel, or whatever, to keep it out of the cream zone. Remove lipstick and mascara with cream so you won't push them back in your pores.

Apply cream generously with both hands so you don't favor one side over the other. Make sure every pore is covered, especially around nostrils, mouth corners, under-lip and back of neck. Practice stroking with an upward-outward motion, gently so as not to stretch the skin.

START: 1. At base of throat. Use right hand on left neck, and vice versa, increasing pressure on up strokes.
2. Repeat same motions from chin to ear.
3. Repeat from nose to temples.
4. Stroke up between eyes and out over forehead.

FINISH: By circling under eyes and out over lids—gently, gently. This area, where wrinkles show first, needs constant soaking with lubricating cream, eye cream, vegetable oils, after you've passed 30.

Gently pat into eyelids with alternating fingerprint pats of two fingers. Let cleansing cream sink into your face a few seconds before removing . . . insures a cleaner face. Now what's left on your fingers rub into your nails.

These are what you need:

If You're Oily

A Cleansing Cream: Means just what it implies . . . a cream form of cleansing. The oily skin should have a light, not heavy lubricating cream.

Can be used once a day, either in the morning before using your soap and water or at night. Follow by 1, 2, 3, 4 creaming directions, every time.

An Astringent: A cooling, tightening, stimulating lotion that closes the pores. It is too strong to be used after soap and water, but its very drawing strength is what the oily skin needs for oil removal.

Some types of astringent will be too strong and too tightening for some skins because of the alcoholic content. Plain witch hazel is an adequate mild one. Use your judgment, there are plenty to pick from.

When to use—Other than cleansing cream removal, your astringent is an especially good midday clean-up for the working girl, particularly in summer when oily skins "glow" too much. Keep a small bottle and cotton in your bag or desk.

A Beauty Mask: Is a deep and stimulating cleanser. It forms a dried mask on the face when allowed to set for 10 to 20 minutes. I'll go into them on the Facial Day. Don't forget your daily soap-and-water steaming.

If You're Dry

A Cleansing Cream: This type of cleaner is the heavy, rich kind. Cleanse with this morning and night. Follow 1, 2, 3, 4 motions.

A Lubricating Cream: Rich with lanolin—the nearest thing to our natural oils—thick and oily.

If you haven't any, your cleansing cream mixed evenly with warm baby oil, vegetable oil or pure lanolin will do the trick. Watch your dry skin drink this up as you—1, 2, 3, 4 massage it in.

When to use—give your skin 20 minutes of this every night while you do your exercises, after you have cleansed with cleansing cream.

Use it after sun or wind burn, at any time (especially during winter) when skin looks parched, flaky, or feels rough to the touch.

A Steam Bath: Give your skin a change. Steam helps dissolve away the dried top layer, opens pores for deep cleansing. Exercise with lubricating cream on face, keep it on while you lean over that bowl of piping hot, steaming water.

In winter, this warms and melts concealed oil in pores, relaxes, penetrates, cleanses. Dream there 15 minutes. Repeat as needed.

A Skin Freshener: Exactly what it implies—used to remove your cleansing cream and lubricating cream, it leaves the skin clear and clean, lightly toned.

It's milder than the oily astringent . . . a pick-up for sensitive skin. Used on a cotton pad, it removes excess cream, cools off, and "brightens" your skin texture.

When to use—Use this as the oily skin does the astringent, as a midday cleanser and pick-up after cleansing cream, to freshen before new makeup.

To wash your face with cream—Moisten a cotton pad with skin freshener, dip into cleansing cream, and wash away dirt in 1, 2, 3, 4 motions. Rinse off with another pad of skin freshener.

If You're Normal

You will have times—or places—that are combinations of dry and oily. Nose, chin and forehead may show oil—cheeks, eyes, neck, dryness. Summertime you may have twice as much oiliness as wintertime.

Keep your skin soap-and-water clean at all times, use cleansing cream daily; and in winter, or for dry patches, put on lubricating creams as directed. Always follow the 1, 2, 3, 4 motions for creaming, massage or removal.

Experiment to find out if you should use a mild astringent (if you lean towards oiliness), or a gentler skin freshener. These are matters of degree which you must settle with your own skin.

Now that your face is cleaned and aired, let's get some oxygen to the rest of your body. Open up your windows and take a deep breath — of beauty.

Remember, every tissue and cell of your body needs oxygen — absorbs oxygen. Be sure you take time out, once a day, to get plenty of fresh air. Take at least 40 deep breaths.

Light Bags Now Made of Leather

Airplane Luggage Takes Trouble Out of Traveling

Going off on vacation would be twice as much fun if you didn't have to haul around lots of heavy luggage—especially if you are traveling by air or train, yet none of us want to carry our clothes around in a paper bag.

So, it's nice to learn that the luggage industry and the leather manufacturers have gotten together to provide us with luggage that not only looks good and wears well—but is real light.

This new luggage is made with "airplane leather," which is specially tanned to retain the ruggedness of genuine leather, but with only about half the weight.

Since leather is firm enough to hold its shape, it makes possible suitcases that consist of a strong, but light steel framework covered with leather. This eliminates the wood sides which add so much to the weight.

In addition, the non-rigid construction and flexible leather sides enable you to pack many more things—and with a minimum of creasing.

Incidentally, if you expect to spend any length of time in hot, moist climates, leather luggage is a must, because the microscopic pores in leather allow air to circulate through your suitcase and prevent mildew.

Twenty-one and 24-inch pullman case for women—with or without interior "hardware." The "hardware"—the racks and hangers for dresses and suits—helps to keep things wrinkle-free, but, of course, it adds to the weight.

Plan Clothing Wisely

In buying your summer clothes, keep your vacation plans in mind. It's wisest to know where you'll be going before buying anything. Some vacation spots demand casual clothes exclusively. Others demand a mixture, and still others expect a girl to have a heavy touch of drama in her wardrobe.

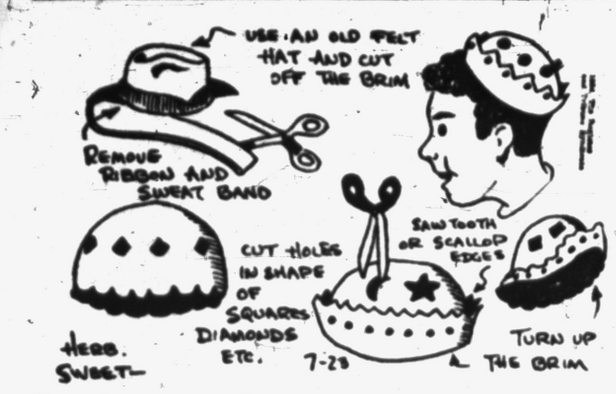
Child May Be Pilfering Money as a Substitute for His Mother's Love



Try It

Make Air-Cooled Beanie

Do you wear a hat in the summertime? Many people tell us that we should, for it is not too good on us to be in the hot sun without something on our heads.

We did something new this week. Nancy Kowalski of North Bellmore, L. I., sent in two Try Its which were used yesterday and today! She has received an original Try It drawing and my thanks for such good ideas. What about you?

For this one you will need an old felt hat. Perhaps dad has one. Remove the leather band and the outside ribbon. Now, carefully cut off the brim.

Try it on, see how you want it. You may want a turned-up brim, or perhaps you would rather have it brimless.

Make holes of all sizes in it. These are not only decorations, but these give you cooling air, too. Make a cool hat for a hot summer.

You girls can make your hats from one of mother's old ones. Yours will be in bright colors and you can have them ventilated, too. Let the cutouts be the decorations.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

When acquaintances see Mrs. B they try, if possible, to get away before she sees them. She is the type who will hold her listener by the arm; rush to a new topic the moment the person tries to leave, etc. Obviously she has never read Chesterfield's advice:

"Never hold anyone by the button, or the hand, in order to be heard out; for if people are unwilling to hear you, you had better hold your tongue than them."

Mrs. Solley Contributes Cake Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Named the "Best Cook of the Week" by a national canning company when she appeared on a Detroit TV show was Mrs. Alan Solley of Clarkston.

Mother to three girls and a boy, Mrs. Solley is active in school affairs; she's past president of the PTA and president of the Band Boosters Club. Her favorite hobby is making and decorating birthday cakes.

For her favorite recipe, Mrs. Solley sent us one for Devil's Food Cake. Chocolate cake of any kind makes a hit with family and guests alike.

RED DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE
By Mrs. Alan Solley

½ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
2 eggs beaten
⅔ cup cocoa
⅔ cup boiling water
1 heaping teaspoon soda dissolved in a little hot water
2½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar and add eggs. Mix cocoa and boiling water and add to first mixture. Add soda. Sift salt and flour and add alternately with milk and vanilla mixed.

Bake in a greased pan in a 375-degree oven 35-40 minutes or until it tests done. Makes a large 9-inch square cake. Frost with seven-minute frosting.

Marks Left by Cheap Paint Brush

By HUBBARD COBB

Our problem today is what causes some paint brushes to leave brush marks in some paints and what can be done about it.

Actually, this is not as simple a problem as it seems because brush marks can be caused by the brush, by the paint, by the undercoater and by the painter.

A cheap paint brush with coarse bristles will be inclined to leave brush marks and that's why it pays to always buy a good brush.

Good quality paints are formulated to flow out after they are applied so that the brush marks disappear, but if the paint has not been properly mixed or was inferior to begin with, it won't work well and the end result will be brush marks.

If there are brush marks in the undercoat, there is a good chance that they will show up in the finish coat. The way to avoid this is to give the undercoater a light sanding after it is dry.

This will insure a nice smooth surface, and if a good grade paint is applied properly to this with a good quality brush, there shouldn't be any marks at all.

Some painters can't leave well enough alone. After a section has been painted, they like to go back over and do a little more brushing. Now while a good paint will flow out to eliminate brush marks, it can't do this after it has begun to set.

If the paint has started to set and you go back over it with a brush, the chances are that those brush marks are going to remain there after the paint is dry.

The way to avoid this is to apply the paint in a nice even coat—get all the spots covered the first time and don't go back over the area time after time.

Doesn't Understand Other Girl's Position

Wife Resents Affectionate Relationship

By EMILY POST

A girl writes: "A young man whom I have known all of my life recently married. We lived next door to each other and ever since we were children have been the closest of friends. We went all through school together and belonged in the same social circle.

"I have always thought of him as a brother and he treats me as his kid sister. He now lives in another part of town but as we have the same friends I see him and his wife often at parties, dances, etc. Whenever we meet he throws his arms around me and makes a big fuss over me.

"His wife, who has not lived here very long and does not understand our relationship, seems to resent this attention very much and I do believe she is jealous. This makes me very uncomfortable and self - conscious.

"Will you please tell me what I can do to avoid this awkward situation?"

Answer: Be frank with him. Tell him that you think his wife is minding very much and doesn't understand the situation — then make the responsibility his.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is improper for a girl to whistle, and if so, why? I like to whistle and often go around the house whistling one of the hit tunes of the day.

Whenever mother hears me she tells me to stop, saying that it is not "ladylike." Your opinion on this matter will be very much appreciated.

Answer: If you whistle very well and softly, there is no objection to it at home, but out in public it would be thought very unladylike.

Dear Mrs. Post: As is customary in this company, I'm being given a dinner when I retire, which will be soon. I'd like to know what is correct when the guests rise to drink a toast to me. Should I rise too, or remain seated?

Answer: You remain seated and rise at the end of the toast. Then you merely smile, bow briefly, say "thank you" and sit down.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Columns Make Newsman Recall Colorado Boyhood

"From time to time I've successfully fought the urge to write you after reading one of your nostalgic columns," began the letter from the Midwestern newspaper man, "but this time apparently I've lost. I've got to write you if for no other reason than to get my thoughts out of my system so I can get on with my work . . ."

Miss McBride

And here is the letter of this writing son of a parson father:

"As on all occasions when we went to church or visiting, Mother insisted that every one of us children — ultimately there were 10 — bathe and change underwear and stockings. 'You never know when you might be in an accident,' she always said.

"There was some confusion over the bathing in the cast-iron washtub that morning, with Howard, my oldest brother, leading the revolt. But Mother was firm.

"Well, when we got to where we were going, Howard was bitten by a dog and off came his black-ribbed stockings and up came his long underwear. My mother had won her point. Never again in my recollection did we protest the baths and clean underwear edict . . .

"Under the brightest of Colorado stars on the plains about 25 miles east of Colorado Springs we used to drive from church; and folks said they could hear us for a distance of more than a mile.

"Every one of us could harmonize and often we would sing all the way. I remember especially 'God Will Take Care of You' and 'Face to face with Christ my Savior, far beyond the starry skies . . .'

"I know that on at least one occasion I looked up into the starlit sky while we were singing that song and imagined I surely did see His face. Later, when we moved to the 'city,' my father used to embarrass me by whistling church hymns as we walked along the sidewalks.

"Five years ago I went out to Colorado for his funeral. Early that morning in the washroom of the pullman I was shaving and lost in my thoughts when a gray-haired man waiting his turn at the washbowl said to me: 'That's quite a song you are whistling.'

"I came to with a start. The song was 'There Is a Fountain Filled With Blood.' I guess we get more like our parents as we grow older, I thought to myself.

"We buried my dad late that afternoon in a cemetery about 30 miles from his beloved mountains—the Sangre de Christo (Blood of Christ) range. It was entirely fitting, I thought, on that cold winter afternoon that the sun broke through in the final minutes of the graveside service, giving to the mountains a band of silver and gold.

"People from the plains came a distance of perhaps 100 miles for that funeral, and this more than 35 years after he had been stationed out there.

"Apparently my father's influence, though he'd never been outside the borders of his state, had lasted through the years. In a humble but definite way, he had made his life count.

"Now I'll get on with my work."

Don't Punish Him for Theft

Search for Boy's Motive

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Next to the set of Balzac which my father kept on his top bookshelf when I was a child, there was a highly respectable 19th Century novel.

I've forgotten its title, but I recall its highly respectable lovers and a certain passage that took place between them one night in a moonlit garden.

The young man, to whom the lady had just hinted her partiality, responded by drawing a long white glove from his pocket. The scene went something like this:

"Why, that is my glove!" exclaimed Christabel. "My dear Captain Devereaux, what is the meaning of this?"

The captain fell to his knees. "It means," he cried, "that I have wished you for my wife from the moment I saw you at the Regimental Ball. You dropped this glove. I seized my chance. I have worn it next to my heart ever since."

Christabel did not say coldly, "Sir, I can never wed a thief!" Instead she swooned into the captain's arms, overcome by this testament of desire for her love.

I recall this respectable situation for a Mrs. P. who tells me that her 8-year-old son has twice stolen money from her purse.

I urge her to consider the wisdom of Christabel who was concerned, not with her lover's theft of her glove, but with his motive for stealing it.

She understood that he had stolen it as a substitute for her love.

If we cannot accept this, we may be suffering from a not uncommon form of materialism. Our eyes have not yet learned to seek to the truth that lies behind external action.

So our superficial vision can see only a metal coin as the objective of the child's hand reaching to our purse. That the hand has been reaching for the intangible of love seems like sentimental nonsense.

"What is the most effective punishment I can give to my boy?" asks Mrs. P.

I don't believe in punishing a child who has been driven to make do with the satisfactions bought by 50 cents because he's scared to ask for real ones.

I prefer the idea of persuading him to confess that he wants the real ones. I prefer leading him to tell us what treatment he's received that has made him feel impoverished.

In these situations, I like Christabel's lead. I think they are best resolved by mutual self - revelation and pledges to new tenderness between us and the little boy we see only as a "thief."

Archeology Offers Jobs of All Kinds

Parents Shouldn't Fret About Girl's Well-Being

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"My daughter has always wanted to be an archeologist," a mother writes.

"Ever since she was quite little she has loved to read about explorations, and when we went to a ranch in the West last summer, she dug and dug and actually found some old Indian arrowheads which the local museum took.

"She will be entering college this fall, and is majoring in archeology, with lots of courses in geology and history and fine arts.

"Her high school counselor says she is a natural for it, and she is just as happy as she can be.

"But her father and I are very concerned. What kind of field is that for a girl, and what kind of jobs can she expect to get?"

First, I'd say that your daughter is awfully lucky to know what she wants, so surely, at her age. And it is wise of you to let her go ahead with it.

I know you probably picture her living in the wilds, digging for old fossils with crews of men, facing many hardships and even danger. But that isn't necessarily so.

She will probably begin with summer museum jobs, where she uses what she is learning and works in a quiet, pleasant atmosphere. If she's lucky, with the college's help, she should be busy at such jobs each summer.

Then, on graduation, she might get a position as assistant curator at a museum.

Or, perhaps, if she likes people and has teaching potentials, she might find a place as instructor in the archeology department of some college.

Or, like one of my friends, she may prefer the writing and editing end of the field.

Whatever happens, she will almost certainly want to go on field trips, if only occasionally.

She might begin with Mexico; later she may be able to join expeditions in far-off places, digging for hidden relics.

While it is perfectly true that she will "rough it," she will find it tremendously absorbing and thrilling work, and the people with whom she works will include women like herself, as well as men archeologists, technicians and so on.

But these are serious, dedicated workers, and she will be just as safe as she would be in an office.

Learn How to Arrange Plain Posies

Beautiful Bouquets Can Be Made With Garden Flowers

NEW YORK (NEA) — Faced with the problem of maintaining a balanced budget, the homemaker who likes flowers about the house may still have them if she learns to do her own flower arrangements, using the blooms from her garden.

The common garden variety (or even wildflowers) can yield bouquets rivaling those created with a special talent from expensive blooms.

You'll also need a hand spray, rustproof wire and stemming tape. These are essentials for the beginner.

Once you've the proper tools with which to work, you need to know something about the flowers you'll form into bouquets.

Generally, you should plan to cut flowers in the morning, with the sole exception of roses. These are cut in late afternoon.

You will have to keep watch to discover which flowers are fresh and therefore will keep best. Fresh flowers have a crisp feel to the touch.

And it's wise to cut flowers in the bud or when they're first open.

Always cut the stem on an angle to allow more surface for water absorption. Then get the flowers into cold water at once.

Be sure that your scissors are kept sharp and bright. Dull scissors crush the stems and prevent them from opening to absorb water. (Best to check now to see if they should be sharpened or replaced by new ones.)

Never crowd the flowers. You will use a deep vase for long-stemmed flowers, but even so give them plenty of room, allowing the air to circulate freely about them.

Use a shallow holder for short-stemmed flowers and set them into mesh hardware wire. This will hold even very short stems firmly in place.

Men Should Look at Abilities, Not Ankles

Career Girl's Brains Rate Attention

Editor's note: The men who run the "man's world" of business ought to take a new look at the brains and ability — rather than the pretty ankles — of women colleagues. This would help win equal opportunities for deserving career girls, according to the noted woman banker, Claire Giannini Hoffman, as related herewith in the second of a series of articles by San Francisco Call-Bulletin staff writer Jane Eshleman Conant.

By JANE ESHLEMAN CONANT

Brains, even.

And ability to keep pace with many a man in such a man's world as a bank or business office.

Mrs. Hoffman, only woman director of the Bank of America, is carrying the banner of equality for the girls.

She believes they are not given the same chances for promotion, more prestige—and higher pay as are the men they work with.

And she says the men themselves can help.

They ought to take another look at their feminine colleagues, said the chic, smiling and unassuming daughter of the late Bank of America founder, A. P. Giannini.

And this look should involve the intelligence-and-abolity department for a change, she urged.

Mrs. Hoffman has nothing against the opposite sex.

"Men are fair, and reasonable, and understanding," she declared.

"All you have to do is convince them of the fairness of something, and they'll do it.

"They should begin looking at women from a different point of view—to see if perhaps they do, after all, have the ability to grow to greater responsibilities.

"They should analyze them—not just accept them as persons who can go just so far, and no farther."

And, of course, the girls themselves have a big job to do if they're going to gain equal footing with their male fellow workers, she emphasized:

"The woman who climbs to a high post and then wants everybody to know how important she is is the worst enemy of her own sex.

"Sometimes you see them—overbearing, presumptuous.

"She must still be a lady. She must know when it's strategic to retire gracefully.

"But neither must she be reconciled to accepting less than her due."

Mrs. Hoffman's associates agree that she practices what she preaches.

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Women travelers sometimes cause more headaches among the U. S. Customs inspectors than professional smugglers, says Mary Gordon, a decorative young woman who makes a business of issuing feminine travel advice for an airline.

There's the woman who can't find her luggage keys after her bags are all lined up on the customs counter.

Another gives a blow-by-blow account of how she shopped for each souvenir she's bringing home from Europe for Aunt Tessie, Uncle Herman and the ladies of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club, asking the advice of the weary inspector as to the authenticity of each.

Also the avid recipe collector who can't understand why she can't take home samples of the more exotic fruits and vegetables she has gathered up abroad.

When told that plants and produce from abroad may be pest-infested, these women always state indignantly that of course they have been very careful to wash everything.

If you want to be popular with the customs men, as well as smoothing the way for yourself, says Mary, here are some useful tips:

1. Keep all your foreign purchases in one bag, so they can be checked easily against your declaration. Many travelers take an empty collapsible bag along, to hold the purchases they expect to make.

2. Save the sales slips for all articles to be declared. If the amount on your customs declaration is questioned, you may need them.

3. If you exceed the $200 duty-free allowance accorded overseas travelers every 30 days, don't try to conceal your excess purchases. The customs inspectors know all the tricks.

4. Be sure to seal the stoppers or corks of any bottles of perfume or other liquids you plan to carry in your luggage. It's no fun, for either you or the inspector, to open a bag whose contents are saturated with Scotch or cologne.

5. Read over the customs regulations before you start your return trip, so that you will know exactly what you may and may not bring home with you.

6. Before you reach the port of entry, list the articles you have purchased. The plane stewardess, ship's purser or steward usually passes out the customs declaration forms shortly before arrival. If you're driving, your own advance list will save time.

7. Don't make a scene if the inspector asks you to open any article of luggage for inspection. That is his job.

8. And for goodness sake, have your luggage keys handy.

Scouts to Convene Here

Today at 1:30 p.m. in his office Gov. G. Mennen Williams extended the official welcome of the state of Michigan to the Girl Scouts of the U. S. who will hold their first national girl Scout Senior Roundup at the Highland State Recreation Area near Pontiac from June 29 to July 11, 1956.

The purpose of the roundup is to give senior scout troops and patrols of the United States an opportunity to know each other and to enjoy and use on a large scale the skills, resourcefulness and techniques of living democracy which they have learned in Girl Scouting.

Approximately 4,000 teenage girls from every state and territory will attend. It will be the largest encampment ever held by the Girl Scouts of the U. S.

U.S. Sends Out Call for Blood

The U. S. Defense Department surprised American Red Cross leaders here this week with a request for 3,067 pints of blood from Oakland county this year ending July 1, 1955.

The defense request will boost Oakland County's blood needs for the year to 9,067 pints. Six thousand pints are needed for county civilians in local hospitals.

Local Red Cross officials said they don't know what caused the Defense Department's change in plans. They said the change probably will cut down the $10,000 deficit in this year's Oakland County Red Cross budget.

The earlier defense department statement, which meant it would put no more money into the Red Cross blood program after Oct. 1, helped cause the deficit.

The National Red Cross plans gradually to stop suporting the blood program. It says it isn't justified in spending natioal funds, which are collected from the whole U. S. on the blood program when only people in the areas near the scattered blood centers have blood benefits. There are some whole states without blood centers.

Police Ball Team Cools Opposition's Top Hitter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—As the Miami Police Department softball team warmed up for a game last night, the cops arrested the star batter of the opposition team.

Detective W. W. Watson picked up Louis Leon Shields, 20, on request of military police who said he had been AWOL from Fort Jackson S. C., since April 23.

Shields was the leading hitter of the Edison Center League. The game with the police was halted by rain in the first inning.

Neighbor Fans Breeze and She Goes to Court

CHICAGO (AP)—There are two sides to a fan, and Mrs. Stella Wojciechowski, 61, says she lives on the wrong side of one.

Mrs. Wojciechowski complained in Police Court yesterday that an air conditioning fan in her next-door-neighbor's window blows hot air into her bedroom "so I'm warmer while he's cooler."

Flint, Red Cross Have Agreement on Raising Funds

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—"Complete agreement" on future fund raising is announced by the Flint Red Feather Fund and the Genesee County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The accord, announced yesterday, follows upon the recent heated dispute over the allocation of relief moneys in the disastrous June 1953 Flint tornado.

* * *

E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the National Red Cross, charged at that time that Flint erred in not returning part of the Red Cross' relief contribution of $600,000 after a local tornado relief fund of $900,000 had been built up. From Flint then came demands for apologies.

The Red Cross chapter and the Red Feather Fund said both would continue with basic policies and the Red Cross would continue to participate as a beneficiary in the Red Feather drives.

W. Osmund Kelly, Red Feather president, and Charles Black, chairman of the county Red Cross, said in a joint statement the two agencies have "reached complete agreement on fund raising policies."

Their statement made no reference to the earlier dispute.

Young Anglers Vie for 'Big Fish' Prizes

FIRST PLACE WINNERS—John A. Benson, president of the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented prizes to the first-place winners in yesterday's Fishing Rodeo sponsored at Beaudette Park by the city Parks and Recreation Department. Huron St., biggest fish, Brenda Voynar, 14, of 777 Third Ave., most fish and Harold Gilbert, 13, of 66 Edison St., most fish. The winners each received a complete casting outfit from Better Fishing Inc. The Jaycees provided 61 other awards. Second-place winners, who received canepole outfits, were Donald Jenkinson, 7, of 83 McKinley Dr., Joan Voynar, 10, Brenda's sister, Gordon Noren, 12, of 717 E. Pike St. and Sue Ann Brown, 10, of 400 E. Wilson Ave.

TACKLE REPAIRS—Barbara Heflin, 20, of 72 Tregent St., an assistant playground director, repairs a homemade bobber for Rose Lloyd, 13, of 38 N. Midland Dr. (right). Charlen Wiegert, 11, of 232 Russell St. displays her catch. "I don't know what kind he is," Charlen remarked, "but he's not much bigger than my line."

NO LUCK, AND LUCK—"We're not having any luck," said Juanita Potter, 15, of 514 Going St. and her sister, Luella, 13, in top photo. The fish were biting on their gear made from a tree branch, they said, "but they just nibble and take the worm." But Billy Hulse, 9, of 127 Euclid St. (in lower photo) proudly displayed a string of fish.

Quiz Handyman on Hospital Fire

Officials Are Trying to Determine the Cause of Bloomfield Blaze

A Bloomfield Hospital handyman was to undergo questioning today by state and local authorities probing the Wednesday fire in the hospital.

Tanner said authorities decided to question Head, whose wife is a nurse at the hospital, after one of the patients said that Head was using the blowtorch just before the fire started.

However, Head told firemen after the flames were under control that he was painting near the top of the building, and had not used the blowtorch for a week.

Authorities added that their investigation is not intended to fix the blame on any particular person, "but solely to determine the cause for future fire prevention work."

Forty-two patients were removed from the hospital when fire broke out in the upper section of the 2½-story structure at Woodward Ave and Square Lake Rd. All were returned to undamaged wards in less than 12 hours after the fire was extinguished.

Beauty Title Hopefuls Pass Initial Judging

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—All's quiet on the international front today—final day of the Miss Universe contest—although many contestants come from nations which have been warring for centuries.

Beauties from 33 nations went through preliminary judging last night for the sought-after title of Miss Universe, the world's most beautiful woman.

Favorites Miss Brazil, Miss Germany, Miss Thailand and Miss U.S.A. got much applause. Miss Sweden, a tall redhead, also drew loud bursts of spontaneous applause.

HUCK FINN—Glenn Porter, 8, of 27 Florence Ave., said, "Take a picture of me and my fish." Glenn stated that the "lunker" gave him quite a battle. He was one of 500 youngsters who dropped lines into Dawson's Mill Pond to catch fish ranging from two to seven inches in length.

Sixth International Congress on Cancer Draws Scientists From 54 Countries

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Scientists from 54 nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain launched a new joint assault today against cancer, which kills someone in the world every 10 seconds.

The nations include Russia, the United States, Britain, Korea, Poland, Brazil, Chile, Greece, Hungary—in fact almost any country you can name.

Nearly 1,000 physicians, chemists, physicists, biologists and other scientists are conferring here and exchanging their latest knowledge to mobilize better answers to the death and suffering from cancer.

* * *

Their meeting ground is the Sixth International Cancer Congress, which opened today in this boorhing Brazilian metropolis. The congress last met in Paris in 1950.

In the next week the delegates will listen to some 500 reports dealing with treatment, detection, new scientific research and public education concerning cancer.

They also will meet informally, seeking from or telling to other men and women scientists the findings which might supply keys to the answers they and the people of their nations want.

* * *

Prior to the opening session, Dr. George T. Pack, of New York's Memorial Hospital, told yesterday of a bold new operation to cure cancer of the liver. In some cases he said, the whole right lobe of the liver—75 to 80 per cent of the organ—had been removed by new surgical techniques. After such operations, Dr. Pack said, the left lobe regenerates and expands until the liver becomes nearly its original size.

Six of these operations have been performed in the past two years, he said. The first patient to undergo the new surgery is living and well today.

Appoint First Negro Boy as Supreme Court Page

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Negro youngster has been named a page boy to the U.S. Supreme Court. He's the first of his race ever to be so honored.

Expect Service Early Next Year

2 Test Wells May Be Source of Supply; Slate Location of Mains

Sylvan Lake may be supplying water to homes from its own municipal water system in from six to nine months, according to City Manager Ernest Ethier.

On June 24 city property owners approved issuance of $225,000 in general obligation and special assessment bonds to finance construction of a system.

Plans for locations of mains and hydrants are scheduled for completion in August, said Ethier. "It is hoped that two test wells, one in the northeast and one in the southwest section of the city will be successful," he added.

In other announcements, Ethier said 36 per cent of 1954 city taxes had been paid at the City Hall through July 15. A 2 per cent penalty on unpaid taxes will be added Aug. 1 and another ½ per cent each month after that.

The City Council has denied a formal request to erect a drive-in theater on Orchard Lake Ave. between Iverness Ave. and the Whitfield School.

The intersection of Garland Ave. and Telegraph Rd. has been blacktopped through a cooperative effort by Sylvan Lake and Pontiac.

City Plumbing Inspector Albert Kohn has been assigned building inspection duties as an additional job. "It is felt that combining these two positions will permit better operation . . ." said Ethier.

"All requests for building permits must be approved by the building inspector before being issued at the city clerk's office," Ethier added.

Some 173 youngsters have enrolled in the swimming classes being conducted through Aug. 6 under city sponsorship.

Delinquency Rising in State, Forum Warned

Juvenile delinquency is increasing faster in Michigan than in the nation as a whole, the Michigan State College Government Forum was told yesterday in East Lansing.

But Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore warned that the increase can be very misleading.

The judge said gains in population, informal and formal cases, repeated offenses and other factors should be taken into consideration.

In reporting on the rise in juvenile delinquency, Sam Rabinovitz, executive secretary of the Michigan Youth Commission, said an increasing number of the juvenile crimes involve violence.

"We still don't think our kids are going to the dogs," said Rabinovitz. "A vast number grow into good citizens and the majority of parents are doing a good job."

One reason for the numerical increase in juvenile cases is that courts now are sending in more complete reports on the cases, the speaker said.

Still another reason is that more delinquents are coming to the attention of law enforcement agencies and other groups, Rabinovitz added.

Female Senators Draw Male Praise

WASHINGTON (INS) — The two lady members on the U. S. Senate, fresh and bright - eyed after 40 hours of the talkathon on atomic energy, won bipartisan praise today from their weary male colleagues.

"The ladies of the Senate have stayed with us all during the night sessions and the Republican party is very proud of them."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) quickly added: "So are the Democrats."

Sen. Bowring was loath to leave the Senate chamber for a minute, although she admitted: "I don't know if we are making any progress or standing still. But I want to be present if things start popping."

Governor Williams Cancels Visit Here

Tonsil Removal Cited as Cause for Bulbar Polio

CHICAGO (AP) — Polio victims who have had their tonsils removed are four times as likely as other polio patients to develop the serious bulbar type that often requires iron lung treatment, two Minnesota doctors reported today.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. they said:

"This tendency for older persons to have a bulbar type of disease is due to the fact that they are more likely to have had their tonsils removed than are children and . . . it is the absence of tonsils rather than the age that conditions the bulbar type of response to infection."

They said it is probable that a tonsillectomy removes some "natural barrier" which would have prevented the spread of polio virus from the throat to the nerve centers in the brain.

The doctors found that aside from the first month after tonsils are removed, when bulbar involvement is lower than in later months, it makes no difference how long before the polio attack the tonsillectomy was performed.

CinemaScope Improvements Demonstrated

Revealing the latest technical progress of CinemaScope, a film specially prepared by Darryl F. Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox was shown this week to a large group of motion picture leaders and the Press at the Roxy Theater, New York.

The film unfolded a thrilling new range, flexibility and depth of field made possible by the newly perfected designs of CinemaScope camera lenses. It also provided graphic illustration of the operation of the four-track high fidelity magnetic stereophonic sound system.

Oliver Leads Way in 'Black Friday' Matches

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The real test of whether the bleak little Keller Public Course is capable of giving the top golf professionals a challenge, or whether it's just a drive-and-pitch layout for Sunday swingers, got under way today with the beginning of match play in the 36th PGA championship.

Keller had been ridiculed before the tournament as being too easy for such players, but as scores began to mount in yesterday's second qualifying round, one acute observer remarked:

* * *

That's about what happened during the two days of qualifying and what's more likely to happen in the man-to-man contests. The pro sharpshooters, seeing possible birdies on almost every hole, tried too hard to get them.

* * *

The result was that Ed Oliver, the rotund "Mr. Pork Chops" from Lemont, Ill., breezed off with the medal and $250—protesting all the time that he didn't want them—with a score of 66-70—136. That's two strokes higher than the PGA qualifying record made on reputedly tougher courses.

* * *

Jack Burke and Cary Middlecoff came in with 137's and it took a score of 147 to get into the 64-man match play bracket. That's some sharp scoring but hardly taking apart the tournament par of 36-35—71 for the level 6,652-yard Keller Course.

Today's program called for two rounds of 18-hole matches. That kind has to be won or lost in a hurry and presents a real temptation to gamble on the "birdie" holes.

* * *

The first round was scheduled to start at 8 a.m. (CST) and the second at 1 p.m. The survivors of this traditional "Black Friday" program will go on a 36-hole basis on through the final Tuesday.

The pairings, made strictly according to the PGA "numerical" system, based on qualifying scores, were filled with possibilities of first round upsets.

Oliver, who claims there's a "jinx" that goes with winning the qualifying medal, drew Jackson Bradley of Houston, Tex. as his first round rival. Bradley, a "home" pro who plays in only a few tournaments each year, knocked off Ellsworth Vines and Tommy Bolt in the first two rounds of the PGA last year.

Three-time champion Sam Snead, who barely got inside the qualifying limit as his stiff-necked swing carried him to a pair of 73's, drew little Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., another dangerous opponent.

Burke, who just missed tying for the medal when he bogeyed the last hole yesterday, went up against Dutch Harrison, who has traveled the tournament trail some 18 years and has won his full share.

* * *

For the first time in some years there wasn't a playoff for the last qualifying spot—but it took an odd sort of disqualification to make the bracket come out even.

Veteran Maurrie O'Connor of Belleville, N. J., a PGA vice-president, shot a 72 on his second round, only to be ruled out when it was discovered that he had signed a card which had the wrong score on one hole.

MEDALIST PORKY RELAXES—Relaxing in the the shade at Keller Golf course in St. Paul, Minn., yesterday, is Ed (Porky Oliver, a gentleman from Lemont, Ill. Oliver had just completed qualifying rounds for the National PGA golf championship, firing a 136 total that gave him the low medal.

Stengel Is Convinced Sox Still in AL Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel sends his New York Yankees after the American League lead tonight in the first of three games with Cleveland, but he's still convinced it's a three team race for the pennant.

* * *

The Indians own a half-game edge over the Yankees and have played the world champions on an almost even basis so far this season, winning five of the 11 games.

* * *

The Yanks deflated the pennant hopes of the Chicago White Sox, at least temporarily, yesterday by winning a doubleheader 4-3 in 10 innings and 11-1. This dumped the third place Sox 6½ games behind Cleveland.

But in discussing the way the Yanks and Indians have traded decisions Stengel outlined the road back for Chicago.

"If it keeps up like this," he said, "those fellers can come back by beating the other fellers" (meaning the second division teams).

The veteran Yankee manager didn't have much to say about his immediate problems with the Indians except to pick Eddie Lopat as his starter for tonight.

Big Chief Allie Reynolds will be in the bullpen, just as he was yesterday. He wasn't needed against Chicago and if he escapes work again tonight he'll be the starter tomorrow. If he works tonight Stengel hopes it will be brief enough to bring him back as a starter Sunday. Whitey Ford will pitch one of the games.

Al Lopez, the Cleveland manager, told Boston writers yesterday that "even though we had to use (Bobby) Feller and (Bob) Lemon I think our pitching is set for the Yankee series starting with Early Wynn."

* * *

Mike Garcia will get the call Sunday.

* * *

If Mossi works as scheduled, it will be only the second time in two seasons that someone other than Lopez' "big three" of Wynn, Garcia and Lemon has started against the Yanks. Feller made one start last season.

Parker Still Hopes to Get Neal for Lions' Pivot Job

"We haven't given up hope of getting him," Coach Buddy Parker said today as he put his team through its first drill of the season. "If he plays it will solve a lot of problems.

"We could use him at center and move Charley Ane into a tackle spot, where we're weakest," Parker explained. "And by moving Ane to tackle, we could shuffle up some of our other players to meet our needs."

Parker said he needed to find replacements for Ollie Spencer and John Prchlik but, otherwise, he was satisfied with the way the team looked . . . on paper.

"We've got the best ends in the league," he said with a positive tone. "We'll use Leon Hart, Lorne Dibble and Jim Doran on offense. Dibble should be the best end in the league this year.

Parker virtually had a full squad in camp. Only five were missing—backs Lew Carpenter, Jack Christiansen, Jim David, Ollie Cline and Tom Dublinski.

He said his players appeared to be in their best condition since he took over as coach four years ago.

CHICAGO (AP)—Royal Note, seeking his sixth consecutive victory, is expected to go postward the favorite tomorow in the $150,000 Arlington Futurity.

* * *

Eddie Arcaro will ride Royal Note in the six-furlong dash. They formed the winning combination in the recent Dover Stakes. Royal Note also has won the Cherry Hills, Bashford Manor and Lafayette Stakes, as well as his first start at Oaklawn Park this spring.

Sammy Boulmetis, who rode Errard King to victory in the Arlington Classic last Saturday, is due to handle Jet's War Date. Steve Brooks again will be astride Delta.

Another likely contender is E. Gay Drake's Dogoon, winner of four of his five starts who worked a half mile in :49 1-5 on a heavy track yesterday. Dogoon will be ridden by the veteran Carroll Bierman.

Other probable starters are Georgian, Roman Senator, Speed Rouser, Mr. President, Ambiguous — an entry with Delta — Perador, Texas Bulldog, Prince Noor, Benthos and Tom G.

Ferndale Dog Wins Spaniel Water Test

"Sir Van Acyl of Huntersfield" 11-month-old English Springer pup owned and handled by Arlis A. Matheson, Ferndale, won 1st place in both Puppy Stake and Novice Stake at the English Springer Spaniel water trial at Multi-Lakes Conservation Club recently.

Motors Gains on Leaders With Win Over CIO Club

General Motors unlimbered a 16-hit barrage yesterday to trample CIO No. 594, 18-5, in City Class A Baseball League play. Victory moved GMC to within a game-and-a-half of league-leading Pontiac Jets.

Coachers, who scored in every inning, held a 12-2 lead by the end of four innings and never were threatened.

Outfielder Al Barkeley, an all-around athlete at Western Michigan College, paced the attack with a single, three doubles and a triple in five trips. Dave Zittel and Jim Berg had three hits apiece.

Herm Bishop started on the mound for GMC and was given credit for the victory before giving way to Marv Caswell in the 5th. Jack Hruska, who was relieved by Ed Leonard in the 4th, was the loser.

Les Bingaman's Weigh-In Costs Lion Coach Dollar

* * *

* * *

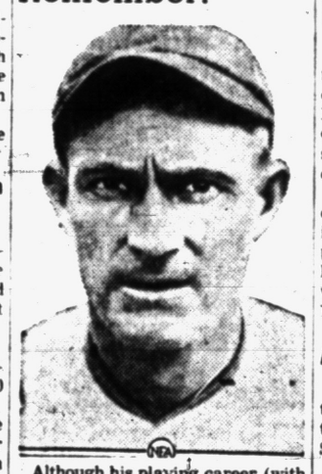
Remember?



Although his playing career (with the Tigers) was brief and undistinguished, today's figure has long been identified with baseball and still is in the American League in an active capacity. His identity will be found on today's final sport page.

Veteran Pro Is Disqualified in PGA Test

ST. PAUL, Minn. July 23 (AP)—Maurrie O'Connor, grey-haired veteran golf pro from Belleville, N.J., was disqualified from the PGA championship today for turning in an incorrect scorecard for the second qualifying round.

The official card, which O'Connor attested, gave him a four on the seventh hole of the Keller Course instead of the five he actually took. It had been kept by one of his playing partners, Armand Farina of Schenectady, N.Y.

O'Connor protested that he had believed the scorecard kept by a woman scorer for the press was the official card and that he had checked it carefully before signing. He did not check the other card.

O'Connor's score of 74-72—146 would have qualified him comfortably for match play which starts tomorrow.

Mathews Finds Range

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews has found the home run range during the month of July. The Braves' third baseman, who topped the National League in homers last year with 47, has hit nine round-trippers this month. Mathews' homer in yesterday's 3-2 victory over the Phils was his 23rd of the season.

Field of 1,275 Players Seeks Amateur Crown

Within a space of five days the majority of the applicants must clear their first hurdle in the bid to pick up the USGA Amateur golf title which Gene Littler laid aside when he turned professional last January.

There are exactly 1,275 players interested in seizing the vacant title but only 200 of those will be in the field at Country Club of Detroit for the championship Aug. 23-28.

They will arrive via two routes: The vast majority (172) by qualifying in the 38 sectional qualifying trials; another 28 through various exemptions as rules by the USGA.

Outstanding amateurs in the game are spared the qualifying chore providing they have won the USGA Amateur, the British 1954 Americas Cup teams representing United States, Canada or Mexico, or hold the 1953 Canadian Amateur, 1954 USGA Public Links or 1954 USGA Junior crowns.

Six former champions have indicated their interest in ascending the throne again. They are Chick Evans, Jr. (1916, 1920), Willie Turnesa (1938, 1948), Dick Chapman (1940), Stan Bishop (1946), Charley Coe (1949) and Sam Urzetta (1950).

Turnesa and Chapman also are former British Amateur winners as are Robert Sweney and Frank Stranahan, who both entered.

Five more players are exempt as members of the U.S. Americas Cup squad. They are Billy Joe Patton, Dale Morey, Harvie Ward, Jr., William Campbell and Lt. Joe Conrad. Also on that team are Coe and Cherry.

Neither Canada nor Mexico has named its Cup team yet.

The sectional qualifying trials —in which about one player out of seven will win a berth—start this week. They will take place in Boston and Milwaukee today. Those at Honolulu, Salt Lake City and Seattle will be held Monday, July 26.

In 33 other cities the trials will be conducted Tuesday, July 27.

Record Field in Powers Tourney

An expected record field of 130 pairs will compete in the annual Ted Powers Memorial Best-Ball tournament at Pontiac Country Club tomorrow.

Eighty-three entries had been received Thursday evening and tourney officials expected late entries to swell the field above last year's all-time high of 116 teams.

John Kurrach and Al Krol of Sunnybrook will be back to defend the title they won in 1953.

Tribe's Bob Feller Wins 257th Victory Thursday

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians keeps rolling along on the American League victory trail. The 35-year-old right-hander defeated the Boston Red Sox 6-3 yesterday in the opener of a doubleheader for his eighth triumph against one defeat this season.

Feller, now in his 16th season with the Tribe, has accumulated 257 lifetime victories.

THURSDAY'S HOME RUNS

Junior Tennis Test Develops Future Stars

First Annual National Jaycee Tournament Set Aug. 3-7

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — It is our contention that if we are to have tennis bums, we should have the best in the world.

And we will have, too, if the brass hats of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association give a free hand to Don Neer, of Tulsa, Okla.

Now in their first national junior tennis tourney they are drawing 15,000 entries. Boys of 37 states qualify for the national by playing in their own state tourneys.

Groundwork for the national tournament for youngsters was laid four years ago and by last year state tournaments were held in Arkansas, Ohio, Texas and Utah.

Within a few years at least 50,000 youngsters will be taking part in these junior events and from a crop like that we should be able to develop a few Davis Cup stars.

Jaycees aren't necessarily trying to develop tennis champions. They merely want to give every kid a chance to play under tournament conditions. But such a program surely must develop champions.

Fifteen Crews Entered

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (AP)—They begin separating the men from the boys here today as 15 crews faced the starter's gun in the 72nd Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

Nine of the races are finals while six are heats for Saturday's big senior events. Most important will be the association singles final, the winner qualifying for the championship singles event.

Class D Upsets Feature Juniors' Card; Rosebud Bounces Back From 'E' Defeat

By BILL MARTIN

Police moved into a tie for the "D" lead with Don Nicholie Realty by surprising the Realtors, 6-4. Winners held a 6-1 edge at the end of six innings, but Nicholie scored three runs in the last inning to narrow the final margin to two runs.

Rochester handed Griff's Grill its 2nd defeat of the season, 6-3. Third-baseman Marv Evans slammed a 2-run homer for Rochester in the 1st inning.

Rosebud Market, knocked from the undefeated ranks Wednesday by Cass Ponts, bounced back to trample Boys' Club 25-2 in Class E. Pitcher Bob Reeves set Boys' Club down with one hit, struck out five and walked five. Game was called at the end of three innings at the losers' request.

Boys' Club Americans and Avondale moved into a 3-way tie with idle Lunsford Market for the lead in Class F. BC Americans blanked Boys' Club Nationals 9-0 behind the 3-hit hurling of Charlie Honchell and Phil Litherland. Jerry Hill and Denny Evans blasted home runs to lead Avondale to a 23-3 triumph over St. George. Evns and Larry LaForge shared a 1-hitter.

Another 1-hitter was posted in Knothole loop play by Rich Lamphere and John Bayley of the Indians as they beat the Yankees, 5-4. Winning run crossed the plate in the 6th, when Ron Joseph singled, stole 2nd and 3rd and came home on a wild pitch. GMC collected 14 hits to trip the Tigers 13-4 in another Knothole contest.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons Celebrates His 80th Birthday With Round of Horse Training

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—On Aug. 7, 1900, a novice trainer saddled his first winner — Agnes D.—at the old Brighton Beach race track in Brooklyn.

Today, more than half a century and almost 2,000 winners later, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons celebrated his 80th birthday by rising before the sun peeked over the horizon and heading for Aqueduct to supervise the training of some 60 horses under his care.

* * *

Mr. Fitz, as he is known around the tracks won't have a birthday celebration until tomorrow when a "little" family get-together will mark the occasion. In addition to the guest of honor there will be his five sons, one daughter, 17 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. His wife died three years ago.

A little fellow whose shoulders have become stooped through the years, Mr. Fitz hasn't slowed up a bit and still works 12 hours a day. He was the leading trainer at the recent Belmont and Aqueduct meetings.

He has had two Triple Crown winners—Gallant Fox and Omaha—and sent three Kentucky Derby victors to the post. All told he's won about 275 stake races, a record they'll be shooting at long after he's gone.

* * *

His all-time favorite?

"Well, I suppose it was Gallant Fox," he answered reluctantly, indicating they all were his pets. "He had courage and class. He always ran his true race, never needed an excuse. Horses are a lot like humans, you know. You have to be tolerant and patient with them."

Mr. Fitz started out as a jockey in 1884 and rode until the turn of the century when he got too heavy.

Even after he put the saddle on old Agnes D., he had to wait more than a decade to strike prosperity. It wasn't until 1912 that he had a really successful season with 42 winners, who won $20,111, a fat sum in those days.

* * *

From then until now, his winners have collected $6,540,136 in purses and he's still plotting with a couple of 2-year-olds—Nashua and High Voltage.

Mr. Fitz has won just about every important stake you can name with one exception—the Belmont Futurity. Mention of that brought a scowl to the old man's wrinkled face.

This year, more determined than ever, he hopes to win it. If he doesn't there are other years, plenty more years for Mr. Fitz.

Tigers Whip A's, Battle Senators for 4th Spot

WASHINGTON (AP)—While strictly no competition to the Cleveland Indian-New York Yankee 1st place battle, a side attraction in the American League opens here tonight.

Detroit Tigers and the Washington Senators start a fight for 4th place. They are playing a three-game series.

Both teams kept position over night—a game and some percentage points apart—as the 4th place Tigers thrashed the Philadelphia Athletics 9-4 with the help of four home runs and Washington beat Baltimore 3-2.

The Tigers' victory gave them the the series with the A's three games to one and also made it necessary for Washington to sweep all three games here in order to remove Detroit from 4th place.

Two-run homers by Jim Delsing and Harvey Kuenn and another pair by Wayne Belardi—his 7th—and Frank Bolling got the Tigers the win last night. Those by Belardi came with the bases empty.

Behind the 10-hit Tiger attack, relief pitcher Dick Marlowe came out the winner. He relieved Dick Herbert in the 4th inning and held the Athletics scoreless afterwards.

For tonight's series opener manager Fred Hutchinson called on Billy Hoeft (4-10). The Senators are expected to use Chuck Stobbs (4-6).

The Tigers had to push hard to beat the A's. They had to come from behind twice. Rallies in the 5th and 6th innings finally carried them out in front to stay.

Kuenn's homer with Herbert on base from a single in the 3rd put Detroit ahead 2-1. But a walk, single, Joe Demaestri's triple and Herbert's wild pitch scored three for Philadelphia in the 4th.

Detroit made it 4-4 on Jim Delsing's single in the 5th after three straight walks by Charley Bishop. In the 6th Belardi hit his homer and Kuenn singled in a run after a walk to Al Kaline and Bolling's single.

Bolling hit his four-bagger in the 8th. Delsing finished off a good day—3 for 5—by pounding the ball over the right field fence in the 9th after Bill Tuttle had walked.

Davis Beats Uncle

NEW YORK (AP) — The Giants hollered "uncle" and lost the game. It happened when the Cubs were playing the Durochermen at the Polo Grounds. Jim Davis, Chicago rookie, was the winning pitcher. His uncle, Marve Grissom, was the loser. The 10-inning game was decided when Eddie Miksis hit his first homer of the year. Miksis is related to niether.

Private Fishing Clubs Become Popular; Members Pay Dues, Don't Need License

By ROBERT E. VOGES

LANSING (AP) — "Went out fishing with a fellow the other evening and we caught 13 rainbows."

That simple statement caused eyebrows to rise. The legal limit for rainbow trout is five each in one day and you just don't catch the beauties that easy.

It was all perfectly legal, though, and even had the blessing of the state conservation department.

The fish were caught at the Crystal Spring Trout Club at Springport, Mich., one of the private clubs that is becoming increasingly popular in many sections of the country.

The Crystal Spring Trout Club has nine pools fed by ice cold springs that bubble out of a sandstone rock formation.

There's also a stream for the fisherman who wants to wade or cast from the shore.

A rainbow was dancing on its tail on the very first cast. Thre more nice ones — all above the legal 10 inches — were caught in the next 10 minutes. Then things quieted down a little.

"We had quite a few people whipping the water ove the weekend," he said, "so they're getting wary."

When it became too dark to fish, flood lights were turned on the pool. You couls almost pick out the fish you wanted and cast for him.

Most of the blub members are fly fishermen but there's also a ppol set aside for those who prefer bait.

The operation is about typical. Members pay $36 a year and 10 cents an inch for al lthe fish they catch. They don't need a license, can fish the year-around, can bring guests, and can take as many trout as they can catch and want to pay for.

State conservation department, which licenses the private fishing clubs, has no quarrel with them.

"We think they're a good thing as long as they are properly operated and don't take fishing water away from other fishermen," said Fred Westerman, head of the fish division.

IRAD Slates Trap Shoot for Weekend

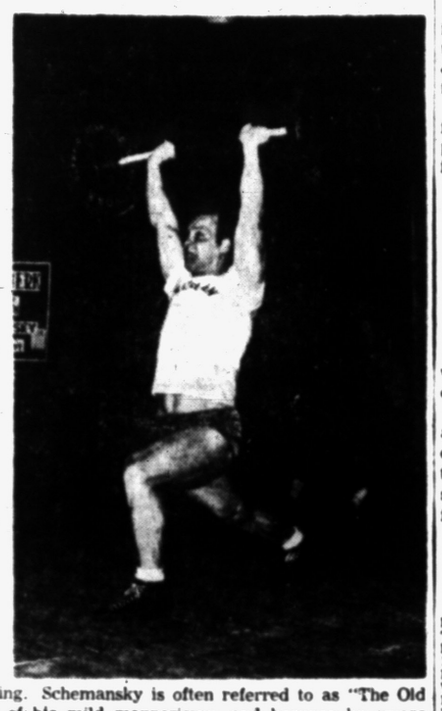
Rotating IRAD trophy will go to the winning team, and top shooters will be awarded individual trophies. A special trophy will be presented for the day's highest score.

Host team for the event will be comprised of Herb Harvey, Walt Asher, Harry Goodell, Don Gegenheimer, Don Hazelett and Tom Garrison.



HEIGH HO!—It isn't often that a world champion pays a visit to Pontiac. But there'll be one here Saturday at 3 p. m. at the Al Thomas Health Club, in Hotel Pontiac, where Norbert Schemansky (in accompanying photo), twice Olympic champ and now world's record holder weightlifter will be seen. Norbert only recently set a new mark at Los Angeles when he "cleaned and jerked" 417 pounds. Old mark was 412½ pounds. He is credited with having "jerked" more weight than any human being. Schemansky is often referred to as "The Old Professor" because of his mild mannerisms, and because he wears glasses.

Sammy Polleuto, national 145-pound weight-liftung champ, will also take part in the exhibition here Saturday, to which the public is invited without charge.

Detroit Cyclist Wants to Race Despite Injury

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A Detroit girl, the 1952 Women's Bicycle racing champion, is determined to compete in the 1954 race here Saturday with a broomstick section sticking out of a cast on her broken right arm.

Jeanne Robinson broke the arm in two places while practicing for the race Wednesday. A broomstick was placed in the cast and removed when the cast was partially dry.

Her plan is to stick the broomstick back in the cast hole Saturday and use it as a hand as she races.

Strikes Out, Scores

TOLEDO, Ohio, (AP) — Billy Queen, Toledo Sox third baseman scored a run after striking out. It happened this way. Queen struck out swinging but the Kansas City catcher missed the ball. Queen made first base by the time the catcher retrieved it. A single sent Bill to third where he scored on a sacrifice fly.

College Star Ousts Morey in West Test

By JACK HEWINS

SEATTLE (AP)—Eight golfers took the long road through the rough and rumpled Broadmoor layout today, knowing that one of them would wind up Sunday as the new Western Amateur champion.

* * *

The 1953 champion, Dale Morey of Indianapolis, was only a bystander as the quarter-final 18-hole round began today, bumped out by a young upstart not yet out of college. Ernie Tullis, a University of Washington junior, was swinging a set of educated sticks when he took the measure of both Morey and par yesterday.

He beat the champion 2 and 1, opening their match with an eagle and standing two under par when they finished. Tullis lost his touch in the afternoon, scrambling around with a six over par total but holding on doggedly to beat George Beechler of Ontario, Ore., 1-up in 19 holes.

Senator Player Busy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jerry Snyder had a busy evening at shortstop for the Senators last night. Snyder handled 13 chances—four putouts and nine assists—as the Nats edged Baltimore 3-2.

The American League record for chances accepted by a shortstop is 17, set by Bobby Wallace of the St. Louis Browns in 1902.

Squad of Fifty Gathers Today at Lafayette

Physical Tests Scheduled for Players in Game With Lions

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Fifty of last year's college football heroes gathered at Purdue University today to begin preparations for their Aug. 13 assignment against the Detroit Lions in the annual All-Star game at Chicago.

Jim Tatum, who guided Maryland to the 1953 mythical national championship and will head the All-Star coaching staff, said actual workouts will begin tomorrow.

The players spent today taking physical examinations, checking out equipment and settling in living quarters near the enclosed field where all practice sessions will be held.

The Lions, National Football League champs, opened practice at Ypsilanti, Mich., today.

While the All-Stars lost some wanted players to military assignments and Canadian pro football, Tatum expressed belief he has selected a strong and representative squad.

The collegians include such proved two-way backfield aces as Johnny Lattner and Neil Worden of Notre Dame, Paul Cameron of UCLA, Jerry Norton of Southern Methodist, Bobby Garrett of Stanford, Lamar McHan of Arkansas and Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia.

The All-Star pass catching corps suffered with the withdrawal of end Sam Morley of Stanford. He injured a shoulder in practice with the Washington Redskins.

* * *

Tatum's squad, nevertheless, is well fortified up front with the likes of All-America Don Dohoney of Michigan State, Carlton Massey of Texas and John Carson of Georgia at ends; All-America Stan Jones of Maryland and Art Hunter of Notre Dame at tackles; All-America Crawford Mims of Mississippi and Morgan Williams of Texas Christian at guards and Iowa's Jerry Hilgenberg at center.

Assisting Tatum in getting the All-Stars ready will be coaches Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, Bob Voigts of Northwestern, Forest Evashevski of Iowa, Chuck Taylor of Stanford and Stu Holcomb of Purdue.

Driver Is Injured in Racing Mishap

The 4-year-old trotter locked wheels with Lady D., in the closely bunched field. Bill Hudson, driving Lady D., also was thrown from his sulky but escaped injury.

Mantle Finally Has Arrived

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sportswriter

One of the prime reasons for the recent rise of the New York Yankees is the blossoming of Mickey Charles Mantle into a big time big leaguer.

* * *

The 22-year-old switch-hitting center fielder apparently has arrived, although some fans who regard Yankee Miracles as commonplace feel he took a long time coming.

* * *

An operation put him out of commission through much of spring training and he wasn't ready when the season started. But he's rolling now.

His average of .323 is second high on the club. He leads the league in home runs with 20 and tops the Yankees in runs scored, triples, hits, runs batted in, total bases and bases on balls. He also has struck out the most, not too unusual for a distance hitter.

In the field he ranks with the best. He's good enough on ground balls to play the infield. Yesterday he showed up at shortstop when the Yanks ran out of infielders in the first game of their double triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Mantle was the batting star in the first game, driving in the tying run with a right-handed single in the eighth inning and the winning run with a left-handed home run into left field in the 10th. The score was 4-3. The Yanks coasted home in the second 11-1.

Cleveland also won twice, 6-3 and 5-2 over Boston, and kept its half-game first place lead.

* * *

Brooklyn climbed a game closer to the New York Giants with an 8-5 victory over Cincinnati while the Giants bowed to Chicago 13-5. New York still holds a six-game edge in the National League.

* * *

In other action Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 3-2 and St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh by the same score in 14 innings in the National.

Detroit defeated Philadelphia 9-4 and Washington beat Baltimore 3-2 in American League play.

Moose Edge Union to Tie for 2nd in Softball Loop

Moose moved into a tie for 2nd place in City Men's Softball League standings last night after scraping past 5th-place CIO No. 594, 4-3.

Winners held a 4-0 lead until the final inning, but CIO pushed across three runs in the top of the 7th before pitcher Bill Ryan struck out the last two men to end the rally. CIO outhit Moose, 10-6.

GMC pounded out 14 hits to trample Gingellville, 19-7, in Girls' League play. Barbara Fifield led the attack with two singles and a triple in five appearances.

Shaw's Jewelers pushed across two runs in the 9th to beat Unistrut of Wayne, 5-4, in an exhibition contest. Earl Hagan singled home the winning run in the 9th. Doug Hall, last of three pitchers to see action, was given credit for the victory.

Waterford Leader Wins 13th Victory

Waterford Township Men's Softball League leader Dick & Wes won its 13th victory in 15 starts last night, beating Dixie Recreation, 11-8.

Williams Lake downed Del's Service, 7-6, to end its regular Little League season undefeated.

Army Sergeant Discusses Race Segregation Problem

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

FORT RILEY, Kan. (INS)—I just had a good solid talk with Sgt. 1. C. (Sergeant first class) Andrew Paul Woolfolk of Grand Chain, Illinois, who's spent 8 of his 26 years in the army, one of them in Korea.

What we talked about mostly was integration of Negroes and whites in the armed services. This post is a good place for such a talk because 17 per cent of its 18,500 personnel — about one man in six —is a Negro.

Sergeant Woolfolk describes himself as "a farmer's boy." He went through high school, enlisted at 18, and now is chief clerk in the chief of staff's office in the 10th Infantry Division. He's married to a girl from San Antonio, Texas; they have one child and live in a small apartment.

We talked for about an hour, so there was nothing hit-and-run about our discussion of what the end of segregation had meant in army life. I was glad the sergeant wasn't a specialist in politics or race-relations, but just a guy with an average point of view.

"What you see out in the open," he said, after our "stranger's feelings" wore off a bit and we really got going. "That's only half of it. The biggest change is under the surface."

Eight years ago when he joined up, segregation was still the rule, "I remember this one white boy from Tennessee. When integration started, he held out against it a long time. I'd work side by side with him all day, then when work quit, he'd go his way, I'd go mine.

"He couldn't help himself—he was brought up like that for around 20 years. But after a while—well, being able to work with a Negro, he began realizing how wrong his folks had been. He sort of loosened up, let go, gave it a try."

Sgt. 1. C. Woolfolk looked off through the open window of my living room in the vititors' suite at Carr Hall. His frank goodlooking face was serious, with the look of memory on it. I ask how things went after that with the boy from Tennessee.

"Nothing great," he said, "but we got along. It was just different —different for both of us. That's what I meant about under the surface."

Did men just getting into the army, I asked, have to "give it a try" before they started getting along?

"These new fellows," he said, "they take it as they find it. Integration, well, that's the way it is, that's the army, so they take it with the rest of the routine.

"You walk through the base now," he went on, "nobody makes any cracks. Sure, the usual ribbing everybody gives everybody, but nothing behind it."

He talked about morale and fighting spirit, and then he went thoughtful once more.

"On the post," he said, "your morale really is way up. Everything's inter-racial, service clubs, N. C. O. clubs, swimming pools, movies, mess—the works. But if I want to take my wife some place off the base to eat—why, it's the same old thing. No decent place exists where a Negro can go. Down south they have places — segregated places. Up in the border states, everything's off limits to any Negro, uniform or not."

We talked about that a lot, and then I spoke of the supreme court's unanimous decision on segregation i.. public schools. His face lighted up.

"My kid's going on four," he said. "When I think of him starting out in the first grade, without segregation—that's what gets me feeling real hopeful. Maybe he'll grow up so he can compete with other people all the way—not just in the army, under fire in a war."

"Not just in the army," I repeated. "Or under fire in a war."

Buggy Whip Tree Is Given the Axe

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — They cut down this Ozark city's famous "buggy whip" tree the other day. It was 90 years old and not so hardy anymore.

The sprout was planted by Robert Love, early day Philps county sheriff. Hurrying home from Jefferson City, he was caught in a flash flood at the Gasconade River ford but managed to save his team and himself.

He cut a silver maple branch for a buggy whip and just stuck the branch in the mud when he got home. The sprout outlived him by many years.

Average annual rainfall in Texas ranges from 56.13 inches in Newton county in East Texas to 8.02 inches in El Paso county in West Texas.

Grains Get Off to Firm Start

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains got off to a firm start on the board of trade today in moderately active dealings. Even soybeans, which fell sharply in the two previous sessions, righted themselves today.

There was a conspicuous lack of selling pressure in all pits. Prospects of a favorable vote on the wheat marketing quota today, from export business, firmed cash prices and a feeling some grain was damaged beyond recovery by the recent dry spell encouraged buying.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ⅞ higher. September $2.10 ½, corn ½ to ⅝ higher, September $1.60¼, oats ¼ to ⅜ higher, September 73⅜, soybeans 1½ to 2½ higher, September $3.02 and lard 10 cents lower to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $14.85.

Rally in Steels Slows Up Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market went ahead today in a faltering manner after its big zoom up yesterday.

Steels were strong in some instances, but there was profit-taking apparent. They were standouts yesterday on merger rumors.

Gains and losses spread out over a range of around 2 points but most changes were small.

Merger rumors concerned Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube, which were strong yesterday and maintained their advantage today. Follansbee Steel, linked with unidentified financial interests, also was well ahead yesterday and today.

Also higher were American Telephone, Western Union, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, Southern Pacific, Amerada Petroleum, and such low-priced issues as American Safety Razor, Wilson & Co., and Zonite products.

Lower were Chrysler, Republic Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott Copper, Union Carbide, Pacific Mills, and Baltimore & Ohio.

On the American, Dragon Cement shot ahead 6¾ at 78 yesterday and then darted up still more today after directors proposed a three for one split and a dividend increase.

DOUBLEDECKER—Some new high-level cars were unveiled recently for tests on the El Capitan of the Santa Fe Railway. Each car has an upper deck devoted entirely to chairs for passengers and a lower deck for baggage, rest rooms and equipment. This arrangement eleminates vestibules and enable each car to carry 67 passengers, against 44 to 48 in other streamlined chair cars.

Firms Find Mergers Help Fight Competition

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Mergers are flourishing these days as business firms realign themselves in the big competitive battle for your spending money.

Auto companies have been joining forces—and there's talk of still more mergers in this field.

Textile company realignments have spiced the business news for weeks, as this harassed industry seeks ways to cut costs and lure enough consumer dollars to go around among its many small companies.

Other industries — paper, machinery, gas, to name a few—also report merger moves under way.

Federal agencies are reported looking some of the mergers over, to see if the anti-trust laws are involved. Competitors of the newly formed or enlarged concerns may feel increased pressure on sales, or more difficulty in getting raw materials, if the bigger firm takes a dominant position. If the competition hurts, they can be depended upon to squawk about the mergers.

Take banks. More than 700 commercial banks have been absorbed into other banks in the last eight years. But the banking facilities for the nation, bankers say, haven't been cut, because during the same years almost as many new ones started up, and the opening of new branches has added about 2,000 banking offices to the nation's total.

In the textile mergers, one advantage usually stressed is diversification—with many types of products a firm is hurt less from shifting style trends. Another is that in developing a broad range of products a firm can build up the appeal of a brand or company name. Costs are cut by having one sales force do the merchandising for two or more.

Another advantage is financial. The industry's earning record isn't too hot just now. But the assets value of many companies are much better than present earnings indicate.

And the costs of replacing plants at present inflated prices make an old company's facilities look like a bargain to any concern wanting to expand.

Living Cost Runs Slightly Higher

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that rising grocery prices forced the cost of living up one-tenth of one per cent in June.

The increase was small but it was the second rise in as many months and edged the index kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics close to the peak set last October.

BLS announced the June index was 115.1—meaning the cost of living was 115.1 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The record set last October was 115.4. The June level is ½ of 1 per cent higher than a year ago and 13.1 per cent above the June 1950 start of the Korean war.

Food prices rose four-tenths of one per cent in June, mainly because of higher prices for fresh fruits, some vegetables and coffee. Egg, milk and meat prices remained stable, as did most other consumer items.

Ike, GOP Chiefs Try to Salvage Insurance Plan

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower called Republican leaders to the White House today in a last ditch effort to salvage his plan to bolster private health insurance groups.

Eisenhower put off until Saturday his departure for a weekend at his Maryland mountain retreat to attend the noon meeting and a conference a few hours later on flood control.

American Motors started business May 1, 1954, with net working capital of $90,635,832 and a stockholders' investment of $173,234,512. The bank debt of both companies has been consolidated into a three-year revolving credit agreement with all banks of the two predecessor companies.

Hudson Motors had losses of approximately $6,000,000 for the four months prior to its merger with Nash-Kelvinator.

George W. Mason, President of American Motors, said it had been expected the first months after the merger would "shown unfavorable results, particularly because of the current low volume of production."

Revere Copper and Brass Inc. yesterday reported in New York net income of $4,924,790, equal to $3.82 a share, for the six months ended June 30. This compared with $4,982,470 or $3.87 a share in the first half of 1953.

Body of Premature Baby Boy Is Found

The body of a premature baby boy was found yesterday wrapped in newspapers along Kensington road between Adams and Charing Cross Rds. in Bloomfield Township, where it had evidently been thrown from a moving car, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Dr. Isaac C. Prevette, Deputy Oakland county coroner, said the baby, born prematurely, had died at birth about 2 a.m. Thursday.

The body was discovered at 11:30 a.m. yesterday by two construction workers, Frank Melone of Detroit, and his brother, Ernest Melone of Oak Park, as they walked along the road looking for a pair or shoes which ha dfallen from their truck, according to Detective Malon France and Deputy William Smith.

Officers said the body was about five feet from a cardboard box in which it evidently had been carried to the scene.

Bob Shows Wit, Sings and Plays

Now Has Own Time, Beamed at More Adult Audience

NEW YORK—Following the recent premiere of the Bob Smith show on television, the network received many letters from fans marveling at Smith's versatility.

For years they had known of him only as Buffalo Bob, idol of the very young fans of the popular Howdy Doody show. There he had an opportunity to display only some of his many-sided talents.

But with the new Monday-through-Friday TV program beamed at an adult audience, especially the housewife, Bob gave full play to his keen wit as an emcee, to his warm singing voice to his competent piano playing, and to his more than passing familiarity with every facet of a well-paced variety program—all of which won overwhelming favor with the fans.

The basis of TV shows is music—the specially arranged numbers by an orchestra, the unusual arrangements of a vocal quartet, the songs of a male soloist. Even before Bob became identified with the vastly successful Howdy Doody series, music had been a motivating influence in his life.

Preceded by the popularity developed in Buffalo, Bob in 1946 came to New York City, where he revived a character he had created in Buffalo, named Elmer, who always addressed the children with Howdy Doody, kids! Soon the children called him Howdy Doody.

Bob is married to the former Mildred Metz, a classmate all the way through eighth grade and a neighbor when they went together through Fosdick-Masten Park High School which her father's company, Metz Bros., built.

They now live in New Rochelle N. Y., and have a weekend ranch house in Poundridge, in upper Westchester County. They have two sons, Robin, 12 and Ronnie, 11.

False Alarm Alerts Pontiac Hospital Unit

A false alarm alerted the Pontiac General Hospital emergency staff at 5:30 a.m. today when a phone caller, who gave his name as "Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell," said three ambulance loads of auto accident victims were on their way to the hospital.

Interns were roused from sleep, at least two doctors called in and the emergency room set up—but no patients arrived.

Hospital official then checked with Hubbell who said he had no knowledge of any serious accident.

Hubbell said, "I don't have any idea who it might have been, but even if they were joking they shouldn't have done that because those doctors could have been used somewhere where they were needed."

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — An intensive search fanned out over southern New Jersey today aor a fireworks salesman and his 78-year-old grandmother, who police believe he mufrered.

Findings Increase Commonwealth Gift

OWOSSO (AP) — A bequest to the Starr Commonwealth for Boys at Albion was believed today to have multiplied 25 times greater than its original $10,000.

The commonwealth was made principal beneficiary in the will of the late Robert H. Cook, former Flint and Detroit attorney, who died June 2.

The bequest was first thought to onclude only Cook's 90-year-old Owosso home and perwonal effects. But executor Fletcher H. Gould said today he learned the Cook estate included 243 acres of land in Macomb County.

Gould said the discovery might possible increase the value of the bequest to $250,000.

Mrs. Dorothy Gibson of Toledo and Mrs. Margaret Stuckey of Detroit contested the document but were overruled by Judge Frank L. McAvinchey in Shiawassee County Probate Court.

Boy, 4, Plus Automobile Add Up to $1,000 Cost

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say Jack Todora, 4, freed the family car from a curb yesterday and steered it downhill through three intersection. Reaching 50 miles an hour, it struck Donald Boudinot's auto, turned it over, killed Boudinot's collie dog, and finally hit James Matthews' house, officers said.

Damage to the car: more than $1,000. To Jack: a cut lip and three loose teeth.

World's Good, Bad News Almost Balances Scales

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. For the first time in 20 years there is no "hot" war. The Indochina armistice agreement admittedly was a defeat for the free world. But France's position had become untenable. And it appeared plain that the United States would permit no further communist conquest to go unchallenged.

President Eisenhower warned: "Any renewal of communist aggression would be viewed by us as a matter of grave concern." The Indochina setback drew the western Allies closer together. Washington dispatches said the United States and Great Britain, burying their differences, had determined to start organizing southeast Asia defense.

2. It was announced in Geneva that the Chinese Communists had promised to free six of the Americans they hold. The Reds said they were "reviewing" the cases of about 60 other Americans held. He was hoped most or all of them would be freed soon.

3. The situation in southwest Asia continued to develop favorably to the west. Iran sharply rejected a Russian warning against joining "the aggressive military bloc which is being created . . .on the basis of the Turkish-Pakistani military alliance."

Iran said it would be ready to join any such pact which might safeguard its independence and territorial integrity. An agreement to end the long British - Iranian oil dispute, which stood in the way of Iranian cooperation with the west, seemed imminent.

The Bad

1. Though the Indochina agreement was a recognition of the facts of life, there was no pretense that it was anything but a defeat for the United States as well as France.

The prestige of the United Suffered a severe blow especially among the southeast Asian "Neutralist" nations. The prestige of Communist-China was correspondingly increased. It will be more difficult to gain the support of India, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia for a southeast Asia security pact.

2. Russia, with its hands freed in the far east, turned promptly to western Europe. Dispatches from Moscow showed clearly that the Kremlin's next step will be to try again to sabotage allied military cooperation and especially to block the European defense community pact.

Russia may propose a new four-power foreign ministers conference on Germany. Such a bid might appeal to Great Britain and France. It would not be welcomed by the United States.

3. The situation in Tunisia and Morocco confronted French Premier Pierre Mendes-France with a new crisis. The campaign of nationalist terrorism continued unchecked. There is always the danger that the communists may move in on this situation. It is reported that Mendes-France may offer a sweeping series of reforms. The question is whether they will be sweeping enough for the nationalists.

State Legionnaires, Wives Gather for Annual Meet

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Thousands of state legionnaires and their wives assembled today for opening of the annual meeting of the Michigan Department of the American Legion.

Delegates will elect officers Sunday. Three candidates were campaigning for department commander; Donald J. Smith of St. Johns; Kent Lundgren of Menominee, and Clarke Wilbur of Grand Rapids.

PERSONAL INCOME — Above Newschart traces personal income in the U. S. from 1947 to the present. In 1947 it was $191 billion, jumped to $209.5 billion in 1948, but dropped to $205.9 billion in 1949. Since then it rose to an all-time high of $284.5 in 1953. During the first third of 1954 personal income leveled at $282 billion. Data from U. S. Department of Commerce.

Probers Call on House to Cite 17 for Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today called on the House to cite for contempt 17 persons who refused to answer questions or produce documents at its hearings into alleged Communist activities.

Those names from Michigan include:

Introduce Cherry Queen

PETOSKEY (AP)—Detroit's Mayor Albert E. Cobo will introduce Gail Krahnke, national cherry queen, and her court at Venetian night festivities in Petoskey Saturday. The annual festival runs through Sunday.

Cop Settles Argument for Bloodthirsty Women

OMAHA (AP)—Police Lt. Dominic Hannigan told this one:

A lady telephoned him and said she wanted to settle an argument with a friend. Her question was: "If you come home and find a burglar in your house, can you shoot him in the back or do you have to wait until he turns around? My friend says shooting a burglar in the back is against the law."
