for us," Blough said under questioning.

Armen, another of the big ten of the industry, still had not taken a stand today.

McNamara, in a brief statement at a news conference today, said that the steel price increases "last out" across the economy the impact on defense costs could come to a billion dollars a year.

COULD HURT DOLLAR

He said further that increased costs could affect the dollar balance of trade and "we cannot expect to maintain our forces overseas if our trade balance does not improve."

He was restating in new words some of the arguments Kennedy had advanced against the price rise.

The Secretary of Defense said it is in the direction of Kennedy that the Pentagon is looking for substitutes for steel. He said steel and steel prices have increased 90 per cent since 1947 while most other materials have gone up only 40 per cent.

Replying indirectly to one of Blough's arguments advanced yesterday, McNamara said the amount of steel bought directly by the military is relatively small, most of it coming through contractors.

Blough, disagreeing with an estimate by Kennedy that the defense cost could come to $1 billion, estimated the defense services buy only about $20 million worth a year.

To one question, McNamara said that he considers the steel price increase "an unjustified development and I state that on the basis of both my experience here and in industry."

McNamara was president of the Ford Motor Co. when he was appointed defense secretary.

McNamara met with newsmen only about 10 minutes, rushing to the conference after a meeting with Kennedy and then hurrying back to the White House for the broader talk on steel.

Troy Girl Rising on the NY Stage

self dancing whenever and wherever she could—in summer stock, industrial shows, television commercials.

It hasn't been an easy life or a rich one, but it has been enough to enable her to eat, to study, to stay.

She auditioned for three Broadway shows before "How to Succeed" without success. And so this show marks her first time on the actual Broadway stage.

As a chorus girl, her salary is $115, according to the Equity scale. But the entire chorus was given a $5 raise after the opening night reviews indicated the scope of the show's success. Her take home pay is $122 a week.

She spends $70 a month to rent her small apartment, which she shares with a friend, a secretary.

But the biggest bite out of that $122 is a $50-a-week sum which Donna spends on lessons.

She takes a three-hour acting session three days a week. She studies singing for an hour twice a week. ("That's the most expensive and that's all I can afford.") And she goes to dancing class for two hours "whenever I can squeeze it in, usually three times a week."

She is obviously not getting rich as a chorus girl, but she does make extra money doing television commercials and odd dancing jobs. She recently, for example, earned $50 by doing a three-minute tumbler (a dance at which she excels) for a company introducing a new twist razor.

Money matters aside, life in the chorus is "wonderful," she says. The company is a happy one and her pretty face shows the happy expression of a contented girl.

There isn't much chance for a social life, however. And the era of the rich equine hanging around the stage doors seems, unhappily, to be over.

Once, however, Donna thought they might be coming back. A big bouquet of roses was delivered to her at the stage door, accompanied by a note which read: "I enjoyed your performance — will you have dinner with me?"

The note was unsigned, but a little backstage detective work uncovered the fact that the sender was in the cast of "Camelot," who had attended a Sunday night benefit performance of "How to Succeed."

Wood, Kirby Opponents Again

Election of the man who will represent District 6 on the City Commission for the next two years could become the most exciting race in next Monday's general election.

The candidates are incumbent Commissioner Wesley J. Wood, seeking his third term, and Dick M. Kirby, making a second bid for the District 6 Commission seat.

The same two opposed each other in the 1958 election. Wood won by a slim margin of 18 votes.

The incumbent, a native of Rapid City, came to Pontiac in 1955 and has been closely associated with church activities since then. He is married and has a son and daughter, both married.

CHURCH TRUSTEE

Wood, 36, of 157 Michigan Ave., is a member of the Board of Trustees of the First United Methodist Church and Gideon International.

A member of United Auto Workers Local 594, Wood has been a General Motors Truck & Coach Division employee since 1941. Presently he is a service follow-up man. Wood attended schools in Yale, Brown City and Port Huron.

Kirby, 44, of 91 N. Edith St., has been a member of the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees since 1958. He is married and has four children.

BOYS' CLUB BOOSTER

Active in the Pontiac Boys' Club, Kirby has also been on the budget fund committee of the Michigan United Fund.

He is currently employed as business agent for the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, AFL-CIO.

Kirby was a candidate last year for Pontiac delegate to the constitutional convention. Prior to that he served on the publicity committee of the statewide coordinating committee for con-con and represented the building trades council on the Oakland coordinating committee.

The statements of the candidates appear below their pictures.

Seeking Re-Election to Education Board

The two incumbent members of the Pontiac Board of Education have announced they will seek re-election.

The two are Mrs. Elsie Mikalek of 1592 Vinewood Ave. and Dr. Walter P. Godsell, board president of 307 W. Huron St.

The election is set by state law for the second Monday in June, June 11.

DETROIT (AP) — Financial arrangements for construction of Detroit's first major downtown hotel in more than 25 years were announced today by its backers.

The 25-story, 432-room Civic Center Hotel, to be erected opposite Cobo Hall, will cost $10 to $12 million and is expected to be completed in June 1964.

William Gershenson, president of the Downtown Investment Co., the hotel developer, and Alfred J. Glancy Jr., president of Plaza Land Corp., which obtained the site, said the hotel will be financed with a loan from the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, which will hold a multi-million dollar mortgage.

Get Green Light to Acquire Land

Federal Officials Give City OK on Property for 2nd Urban Project

Pontiac has been given the green light by federal officials to get started on property acquisition in its second urban renewal project area.

H. T. Wolaver, Urban Renewal Agency (URA) deputy commissioner, announced today that City Manager Robert A. Stier and other city officials in Washington, D.C., yesterday that the final plans for the $2.5-million 194 project have been approved by his office.

Approval of the plan automatically carries with it a federal okay of the city's applications for some $4 million in loans and grants to get property acquisition and other procedures under way.

However, the city must still enter into formal contracts with federal officials before any loans or grants are actually paid.

The plans were submitted to the Chicago URA office for approval five months ago. At that time, local officials expected an okay in two months.

Stier said URA officials in Washington yesterday to "do what you can to expedite approval through the regional office in the future." The plans had been held up in Chicago due to a "turn-over in personnel."

"Now we can begin working on land acquisition procedures and prepare the plans for a public hearing," Stier said. The hearing wouldn't come for at least a month.

Students Plan to Open Employment Office Soon

BIRMINGHAM — High school students in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area are planning to open an employment office in the Community House next month on a trial basis.

Fifteen adult and teen-age representatives from five local schools, the Community House and the Birmingham Board of Education have been working out details of the plan the past month.

The five schools participating in the program are Bloomfield Hills, Brecht, Rice, Groves, Marian and Seaborn, representing a total student enrollment of 4,500.

Walter Piel, executive director of the Community House, said there is "great interest and enthusiasm" about the project which will consolidate the names of all job seeking students in a central office.

The group is presently seeking an adult coordinator who will work at the Community House weekdays, 2:30 to 5 p.m., and Saturdays, 8:30 a.m. to noon.

They also are conducting a survey of employers to determine their needs.

Adult and student representatives from each school who are serving on the employment office committee include Mary White, counselor, and Pam Waggoner of Bloomfield Hills High; and Mrs. Ellen Kasten, assistant secretary, Jim Dean and John O'Hara of Brother Rice.

Others are Fred Baker, counselor, and Dolores Magary of Groves High; Mrs. Louis Kasten, Mother's Club member, and Karen Kasten of Marion High.

Approval of the plan automatically carries with it a federal okay of the city's applications for some $4 million in loans and grants to get property acquisition and other procedures under way.

However, the city must still enter into formal contracts with federal officials before any loans or grants are actually paid.

The plans were submitted to the Chicago URA office for approval five months ago. At that time, local officials expected an okay in two months.

Stier said URA officials in Washington yesterday to "do what you can to expedite approval through the regional office in the future." The plans had been held up in Chicago due to a "turn-over in personnel."

"Now we can begin working on land acquisition procedures and prepare the plans for a public hearing," Stier said. The hearing wouldn't come for at least a month.

Students Plan to Open Employment Office Soon

BIRMINGHAM — High school students in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area are planning to open an employment office in the Community House next month on a trial basis.

Fifteen adult and teen-age representatives from five local schools, the Community House and the Birmingham Board of Education have been working out details of the plan the past month.

The five schools participating in the program are Bloomfield Hills, Brecht, Rice, Groves, Marian and Seaborn, representing a total student enrollment of 4,500.

Walter Piel, executive director of the Community House, said there is "great interest and enthusiasm" about the project which will consolidate the names of all job seeking students in a central office.

The group is presently seeking an adult coordinator who will work at the Community House weekdays, 2:30 to 5 p.m., and Saturdays, 8:30 a.m. to noon.

They also are conducting a survey of employers to determine their needs.

Adult and student representatives from each school who are serving on the employment office committee include Mary White, counselor, and Pam Waggoner of Bloomfield Hills High; and Mrs. Ellen Kasten, assistant secretary, Jim Dean and John O'Hara of Brother Rice.

Others are Fred Baker, counselor, and Dolores Magary of Groves High; Mrs. Louis Kasten, Mother's Club member, and Karen Kasten of Marion High.

Wood, Kirby Opponents Again

Election of the man who will represent District 6 on the City Commission for the next two years could become the most exciting race in next Monday's general election.

The candidates are incumbent Commissioner Wesley J. Wood, seeking his third term, and Dick M. Kirby, making a second bid for the District 6 Commission seat.

The same two opposed each other in the 1958 election. Wood won by a slim margin of 18 votes.

The incumbent, a native of Rapid City, came to Pontiac in 1955 and has been closely associated with church activities since then. He is married and has a son and daughter, both married.

CHURCH TRUSTEE

Wood, 36, of 157 Michigan Ave., is a member of the Board of Trustees of the First United Methodist Church and Gideon International.

A member of United Auto Workers Local 594, Wood has been a General Motors Truck & Coach Division employee since 1941. Presently he is a service follow-up man. Wood attended schools in Yale, Brown City and Port Huron.

Kirby, 44, of 91 N. Edith St., has been a member of the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees since 1958. He is married and has four children.

BOYS' CLUB BOOSTER

Active in the Pontiac Boys' Club, Kirby has also been on the budget fund committee of the Michigan United Fund.

He is currently employed as business agent for the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, AFL-CIO.

Kirby was a candidate last year for Pontiac delegate to the constitutional convention. Prior to that he served on the publicity committee of the statewide coordinating committee for con-con and represented the building trades council on the Oakland coordinating committee.

The statements of the candidates appear below their pictures.

Seeking Re-Election to Education Board

The two incumbent members of the Pontiac Board of Education have announced they will seek re-election.

The two are Mrs. Elsie Mikalek of 1592 Vinewood Ave. and Dr. Walter P. Godsell, board president of 307 W. Huron St.

The election is set by state law for the second Monday in June, June 11.

Pontiac Northern Hosts Band Festival Tomorrow

Pontiac Northern High School Junior High Band and Orchestra will host the State Junior High Band Festival and Orchestra, George H. Putnam, Pontiac schools music supervisor, announced today.

The competitions start at 8 a.m. and finish at 5 p.m. The fee is open to the public. A total of 16 schools will compete.

Will Rise 25 Stories

DETROIT (AP) — Financial arrangements for construction of Detroit's first major downtown hotel in more than 25 years were announced today by its backers.

The 25-story, 432-room Civic Center Hotel, to be erected opposite Cobo Hall, will cost $10 to $12 million and is expected to be completed in June 1964.

William Gershenson, president of the Downtown Investment Co., the hotel developer, and Alfred J. Glancy Jr., president of Plaza Land Corp., which obtained the site, said the hotel will be financed with a loan from the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, which will hold a multi-million dollar mortgage.

Asks Speed-Up in Rule 9 Case

Supreme Court Acts on Swainson Request to Hurry Appeal

LANSING (AP)—The State Supreme Court has ordered a lower court to speed up proceedings in a case involving the Michigan's controversial rule banning discrimination in real estate dealings.

The high court yesterday ordered Ingham County Circuit Court "to proceed as promptly as possible with the trial," so that any appeal of the decision could be submitted by next July 1.

It was acting on the request of Gov. Swainson and under a Supreme Court rule that permits certification of a case from a lower court when the issue is of great moment and requires early settlement.

A pretrial hearing was held last month, but no trial date has been set in the suit against the State Corporation and Securities Commission. The suit was brought in 1960 by a group of realtors, members of the Michigan Real Estate Association.

The court issued an injunction suspending the so-called "Rule 9" in September 1960, a few months after it was formulated by the commission. The rule stemmed from a controversial point system set up to screen prospective property buyers in Grosse Pointe.

Striking River Pilots Called to Conference

MONTREAL (U.P.)—Striking St. Lawrence River pilots and representatives to ship owners were called to a conference today by Transport Minister Leon Balcer in a new attempt to end the week-old stoppage.

Meanwhile the threat emerged of a nationwide pilots' strike. So far only traffic on a part of the St. Lawrence River has been disrupted.

Balcer told parliament the 278 striking pilots had revised their demands and made them "much less severe."

The pilots, who average about $12,000 a year, struck last Friday in protest against the Transport Ministry's system of calculating their fees. They also objected to a suggestion that they contribute to the maintenance of the small boats they use for ship-to-shore travel.

MATHEMATICAL APPROACH—Illustrating the space-age techniques used in development of GMC trucks and coaches is this computer and ride simulator which saves many hours for engineers and test drivers. The basic equations superimposed on this picture were used to determine riding qualities of a GMC truck.

GMC Truck Engineers Ahead by Using Science

U.S. adventures into outer space are producing some important byproducts in the field of commercial transportation.

Many techniques used in these "far-out" explorations are being applied to down-to-earth projects aimed at accelerating progress in industrial engineering and manufacturing.

At GMC Truck & Coach Division, for example, a task force of 32 engineers is spearheading a new program known as "Vehicle Dynamics." Many of the same tools employed by those in space are employed by this small band of engineers.

The group, formed last November, is rapidly winning recognition as an important cog in GMC Truck's product development program.

"By combining science and engineering," said GMC Chief Engineer Harold O. Flynn, "this group can come up with answers to important engineering questions that would take weeks and possibly even months to solve under previous methods."

"The heart of the system is the application of mathematics and computations to practical problems. Often these techniques can determine whether a new idea is sound without our having to resort to lengthy and expensive testing procedures."

The versatile technicians staffing this Vehicle Dynamics Group usually are called on to tackle such items as the suitability and compatibility of parts while they are still on the drawing boards.

Mathematical equations capable of being fed into electronic computers bring all the various, theoretical structural qualities of the items together. Then these usually are fed into a digital computer. In a few seconds the computers come up with answers that would otherwise require many hours of hand computation.

The Vehicle Dynamics engineers concentrate on commercial vehicle development. There are times, however, when they must attack problems connected with defense vehicle design.

During the development of a transporter—erector that would haul Minuteman ICBMs to launching silos, for example, men staffing the group were asked to find out how the vehicle's weight could be shaved without impairing its over-all strength.

This triggered a flurry of calculations and computations that led to valuable metallurgical and design recommendations. What might have taken months of field testing to accomplish was achieved in a few weeks.

French Cultural Chief and Wife to Visit U.S.

PARIS (U.P.)—French Cultural Affairs Minister Andre Malraux and Mrs. Malraux are to visit America next month as guests of President and Mrs. Kennedy; the foreign ministry announced yesterday.

Malraux and his wife will be in the United States May 10 to 15 for several ceremonies, including dinner at the White House the night of May 11.

The first area chosen for development by Peruvian leaders is east of Lima, the capital, across the mountains into the interior. There new farm and pastoral communities are to be created, new roads and railway links built and hydroelectric works installed.

Up-and-Coming Fighter Meets Lane Saturday

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Undeclared lightweight boxer Luis Molina, who won notice and ranking with two victories in a week this year, figures he'll know Saturday night whether he's ready to challenge for the 135-pound title.

Home grown and home developed, the 23-year-old ex-Marine fights veteran left-hander Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., at the San Jose Civic Auditorium in a nationally televised (ABC) 10-round.

He got his first chance before a video audience on short notice, Feb. 24, outpointing Texan Manuel Gonzales at Las Vegas as a substitute bout when the Brown-Ortiz match was postponed.

On Tuesday of the same week in San Jose, Molina had knocked out veteran Len Matthews in the first round. The victories were Nos. 18 and 19 for the little slugger who turned pro in 1959.

Ring Magazine lists Kenny No. 10 among lightweight challengers. The National Boxing Association has Molina ranked No. 4 among the junior welterweights although he can make the 135-pound lightweight limit.

MONDAY'S ELECTION

The Pontiac Press Recommendations

Pontiac votes on Monday. We face the selection of our City Commissioners plus two additional issues. The electorate decides into whose hands it will entrust the reins of government for the next two years. The Pontiac Press, which has studied both issues and the Commission race, is reporting its findings for those who haven't investigated for themselves.

THE DOGS

One special issue would compel the vaccination of dogs. Practically every well-run city in the Nation already forces owners to vaccinate their dogs. Pontiac stands out in disgrace for having no such ordinance. Our citizens are as worthy of protection against mad dogs as the millions elsewhere.

to protect your own family and the populace at large against the possibility of infection from a mad dog. The life of one little girl in Pontiac is worth more than all the dogs in Michigan combined.

The law makes vaccinations mandatory for people.

Why should we skip dogs?

If you vote "yes" you are voting

POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN

The other special issue comes from the firemen and policemen.

It's contrary to the spirit of fair play.

It will cost the taxpayers $100,000 extra with the money going to a favored few instead of all. This is an unfortunate time for unnecessary expense as many assessed valuations are probably coming down and that means the tax rate will move upward. If the taxpayers want to add another $100,000 to their tax bill, it should be distributed evenly among all employees. Vote "no."

DISTRICT NUMBER ONE

ROBERT BOWENS JR., is opposing MILTON HENRY. HENRY has cast himself in the role of heading the opposition to many things that other citizens usually support. He's "agin."

self. BOWENS is a clean-cut young businessman and in the opinion of The Press he would serve his own district and the City much better than HENRY.

P. S. HENRY has the worst attendance record of all seven Commissioners.

DISTRICT NUMBER TWO

Mayor PHILIP ROWSTON is stepping aside and CURTIS PATTON and CHARLES E. HARMON are contesting for the spot. Both are qualified and most people in the district will be happy with the election of either. The Press heartily endorses both. Each of these men is experienced in the ways of mankind and in all forms of government and the problems that arise.

DISTRICT NUMBER THREE

WILLIAM H. TAYLOR JR., is the current incumbent and he is standing for re-election. His opponent is Mrs. JEAN M. MILTON. TAYLOR's current term has given him valuable experience and he is well and ably qualified. We haven't the slightest objections to a woman on the Commission, but in this race we feel Mr. TAYLOR has considerably more of the needed experience and training. Mr. TAYLOR has been tried, tested and found competent.

DISTRICT NUMBER FOUR

WINFORD E. BOTTOM is running against FLOYD P. MILES. BOTTOM is the current incumbent and many Pontiac voters in general had high hopes for him when he assumed office. But he has followed MILTON HENRY's lead repeatedly. FLOYD P. MILES is a former commissioner himself and has been active in business and religious circles throughout his life. The Press feels that he will better serve the constructive and forward looking interests of Pontiac. Certainly he will not find himself shackled by the beliefs of MILTON HENRY. When he was on the Commission before, he was a forthright thinker.

DISTRICT NUMBER FIVE

JOHN A. DUGAN, incumbent, is running against LOY L. LEDFORD. The Press believes DUGAN's experience on the Commission is valuable. He has always been an independent individual with the best interests of Pontiac at heart. LEDFORD comes from a fine Pontiac family and we are certain he, too, has definite merit, but the weight of experience is definitely with DUGAN.

DISTRICT NUMBER SIX

WESLEY J. WOOD, incumbent, is opposed by DICK M. KIRBY. The Press believes that Wood's past record as a City Commissioner and the straightforward way in which he has handled himself and his office entitle him to another term. He has earned the right to go back and pursue the policies that he has already established.

DISTRICT NUMBER SEVEN

ROBERT LANDRY is unopposed.

A Page From That Horrible Book

David Lawrence Explains:

U.S. Steel Protecting Its Investors

WASHINGTON — A new era in American history—a declaration of war by the government on the profit system as it functions under private capitalism—has been ushered in by President Kennedy.

The stock market reacted yesterday with a drop to the lowest point of 1962. Businessmen everywhere have become concerned.

For the President was not content with an open denunciation of the motives and patriotism of the executives of the steel companies—he undertook, in addition, to use the powers of the Department of Justice to intimidate, if not coerce, the steel industry to do his bidding.

Nothing like this has happened before—the launching of a government vendetta against a particular industry because it refuses to follow a course of action dictated not by law, but by economic theorists in Washington.

The President's own statements at his Wednesday press conference were answered to an assembly of reporters in New York City yesterday by Roger Blough, chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp.

Some of Mr. Kennedy's remarks were characterized as unwarranted by the facts. Thus, for instance, the President had said that the increase in steel prices would cost the government about a billion dollars more in defense expenditures.

Mr. Blough estimated it wouldn't add much more than $20 million. This is quite a discrepancy.

Mr. Blough conducted himself with dignity and restraint and explained the cost-price problem of his company in detail. He denied the President's comment that there had been no inflation whatsoever given to the public heretofore about a price increase.

He cited an interview he had authorized two months ago in which he, in effect, predicted an increase in steel prices. The interview was published in the Feb. 26 issue of "U.S. News & World Report."

Mr. Blough was asked: "Do you think you will raise prices in 1962?"

"Well, since you mention it," he replied, "that's not a bad idea. I wouldn't like to forecast an increase in prices, but I would say that, otherwise, something very unusual would have to happen."

The Country Parson

"The more our population increases, the more problems we have — and the more people to help solve them."

Mr. Blough spoke, for instance, of reducing costs through efficiency, but pointed out that this could not be accomplished overnight.

The steel company chairman revealed in his news conference this week that profits in the first quarter of 1962 are low. He explained that many factors entered into the decision last Tuesday to increase prices, but that the most important one was the need to earn profits immediately so as to pay for the heavy expense of modernizing plant and equipment in order to be able to meet foreign competition.

These misleading quotations were promptly seized upon by the representatives of the Soviet press who were present at the President's news conference and excitedly called at once to Moscow for broadcasting over the air waves of the world as confirmation of the oft-repeated thesis of the Communists that America is ruled by a few capitalists and that state socialism is better than private capitalism.

These misleading quotations were promptly seized upon by the representatives of the Soviet press who were present at the President's news conference and excitedly called at once to Moscow for broadcasting over the air waves of the world as confirmation of the oft-repeated thesis of the Communists that America is ruled by a few capitalists and that state socialism is better than private capitalism.

U.S. Agency Takes Poke at Health Food Quacks

Before you fall for nutritional quackery, perhaps you'd like to know what the U.S. Food and Drug Administration has to say about the basic American diet. Here are some excerpts from a recent publication:

"The American food supply is unsurpassed throughout the world in both quantity and nutritional value."

"Important staple foods such as flour, bread, milk, margarine, corn meal and rice contain added vitamins and minerals under standards set by the FDA."

"The so-called protective foods (fruits, leafy vegetables and dairy products) have become so widely used in the national diet (that) once prevalent diet-deficiency diseases such as rickets and pellagra have virtually disappeared in America."

"It is not true that the American food supply is deficient in vitamins, minerals and other essential nutrients."

"Many food supplements are promoted on the myth that our soils have become so depleted that the foods they produce no longer provide normal nourishment."

"Research has demonstrated that the nutritional values of our crops are not significantly affected by either the soils or the kind of fertilizer used."

"The report also includes the following warnings to those consumers who are apt to be impressed by the 'theme songs of persistent propaganda campaigns' to undermine public confidence in the nutritional adequacy of staple foods: 'Persons in good health who eat a variety of foods have no need to worry about nutritional deficiencies. Food, not pills, are the best sources of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.'"

An interesting thing happened just after Mr. Kennedy on Wednesday denounced the price increase.

He had spoken of it as "a whole unjustifiable and irresponsible defiance of the public interest," and had expressed his displeasure that "a tiny handful of steel executives whose pursuit of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility can show such utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans."

These misleading quotations were promptly seized upon by the representatives of the Soviet press who were present at the President's news conference and excitedly called at once to Moscow for broadcasting over the air waves of the world as confirmation of the oft-repeated thesis of the Communists that America is ruled by a few capitalists and that state socialism is better than private capitalism.

'Castro's Ransom Request Is Merely Red Blackmail'

The "trial" of the Cuban invasion prisoners of war culminated in the dictation of a sentence which will go down in modern history as a bizarre and malevolent scheme of blackmail. Blood, flesh and bones are up for sale with different price tags. The Cuban Communists offered to trade prisoners for $60 million in ransom money. The men have been condemned to 20 years at hard labor, until their ransoms are paid. Here is communism plus Castro.

'What About Club for Young Girls?'

All around the world boys' clubs are sprouting up. Why don't we have girls' clubs? People believe that girls should stay home and knit. I know there are Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, but there are Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, etc. I'm 14 years old and I don't do anything in my spare time but read and my parents complain. The commercials on TV say help prevent juvenile delinquency. Well, girls get in trouble, too. The people should wake up and think about girls.

Suppose you were employed under the following conditions: Employed for more than 40 hours with no overtime pay; subject to indiscriminate dismissal without management; no set grievance procedure; no adequate posting of new position openings; no seniority status; arbitrary evaluation by an untrained and unqualified lay group; no fringe benefits; no union bargaining; laid off each year for two months without pay and with no unemployment compensation; subjected to company union which is dominated by management and administrators; no strike privileges; pay schedule arbitrarily arrived by management.

The average union man is not hampered by these restrictions. Pontiac school teachers are going to the board of education and the superintendent with their hats in their hands and meekly asking to be at least brought up to the metropolitan average.

We are now 5 per cent behind, and many of these schools have already agreed to schedule increases.

Swedish Queen in Britain Sweden arrived from Stockholm yesterday for a one week private LONDON — Queen Louise of visit in Britain.

But Families Must Barter

By PHIL NEWCOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For the bereaved families, of the last year have lived on the name's edge of hope and despair, there clearly was no other course than to attempt to deal with Fidel Castro on his offer to barter lives for money.

Twenty-five thousand for one life, $500 thousand for another to a grand total of $62 million.

For the refugee families of the men taken prisoner in last year's Bay of Pigs invasion, the figure obviously was an impossible one.

It had almost tripled since Castro first offered to exchange his prisoners for $26 million worth of heavy tractors.

The "Tractors for Prisoners" committee long since had disbanded. The U. S. government neither helped nor hindered. Nonetheless an effort was being made.

Whether Castro would live up to a deal once it was made remained to be seen.

Communist barter is human lives is not a particularly new tactic.

The Communists had attempted to use it 10 years earlier in Korean armistice negotiations at Panmunjom.

In the seemingly endless talks between the U. S. and Red Chinese ambassadors in Warsaw, the Reds had attempted to use American prisoners as a bartering weapon in exchange for a switch in the American attitude toward Formosa and Red Chinese membership in the United Nations.

Castro's first offer of men for tractors had aroused Latin American indignation.

IN AN EDITORIAL

Of the latest one, the Sao Paulo, Brazil, newspaper Estado editorialized:

"While there is, in accordance to humanitarian and Christian standards, no material equivalent for the value of human life, Fidel Castro's new demand not only demonstrates his growing cynicism but also the total bankruptcy of the Cuban economy."

Both were clearly evident.

For the first time in their history, the Cuban people were on food rationing.

The refugee flow out of Cuba remained at about 2,000 per week.

Castro had in the neighborhood of $100 million worth of Communist MIG jet fighters, guns and tanks, but he had no money.

Industrial absenteeism was mounting and much of the sugar crop remained unharvested.

It seemed certain that Castro would be unable to meet his sugar commitments to Communist nations, and they in turn either could not or would not supply Cuba with desperately needed foodstuffs.

Castro himself was acting peculiarly. He still proclaimed himself a Marxist-Leninist but he denounced Cuba's old-line Communists and complained his own revolutionaries were being deprived of jobs.

There was speculation that perhaps Castro was on the way to becoming an American hemisphere Tito.

Meanwhile, he had lost none of his inventive abilities. Ousted President Frondizi of Argentina was a drunkard, and Betancourt of Venezuela a murderer. Coincidentally, all had broken relations with

Antitrust Expert Hits Steel Hike

MSU Prof Calls Act by U. S. Steel 'Brazen Display of Monopoly'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. Walter Adams, a Michigan State University professor and nationally known authority of antitrust questions, yesterday branded a hike in steel prices earlier this week a "brazen display of monopoly power."

U. S. Steel Corp. hiked first prices an average of 48 per cent Wednesday, five days after it signed a so-called noninflationary labor contract in which unions bypassed a wage increase.

Adams, consultant to the United States Senate Antitrust Subcommittee, supported President Kennedy's angry assault on U. S. Steel. The economics professor said:

"The President had every right to be shocked by the irresponsibility of U. S. Steel after he had persuaded the union to accept a noninflationary wage settlement."

"Pricing in the steel industry is like marauding in an infantry platoon. The sergeant commands cadence and the platoon falls in step."

"That's the history of pricing in the steel industry," he added.

Competition—not statesmanship—is the greatest need of the steel industry, he said. Competition would cut prices and put idle men and machines back to work, he said.

Adams added:

"It is ironic that the industry is contributing to inflation when this nation is in the midst of a recession, when 30 per cent of its steel capacity stands idle."

Adams also has served on a committee appointed by former President Eisenhower to study antitrust laws.

Staebler Will Seek 19th Congress Seat

ANN ARBOR (U) — Democratic national committeeman Neil Staebler said today he will seek his party's nomination for congressman at large in the state primary election.

Staebler, 56, told a news conference he will start campaigning actively for the Democratic nomination for Michigan's 19th congressional seat.

However, the former state Democratic chairman said he would "cheerfully withdraw" as a candidate if the State Legislature came up with a satisfactory plan for redistricting the state's congressional delegation.

Michigan gained an additional congressional seat as the result of the 1960 federal census.

Patricia J. Hite, suspected killer in fair condition. Doctors rated her chances of surviving an apparently self-inflicted bullet wound as slightly more than a month ago.

The 35-year-old Fraser High School teacher was found near death in a farmhouse behind her parents' home in Jasper County, Ind., March 6.

She had been shot between the eyes with a 22-caliber rifle, the same type of gun which had been used to kill Kretzmeier in his Keego Harbor bachelor quarters the day before.

Civil Rights Stand Assured by Romney

DETROIT (U) — George Romney told a Negro social group last night he is a strong champion of civil rights.

"My religion gave me a strong belief in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man," Romney replied.

Romney, former president of American Motors and now a congressional convention delegate, says he wants to be the Republican nominee for governor this fall.

He is president of the Detroit State (diocese) of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon).

Romney spoke at a meeting of the Nacirema Club, where he was asked to explain his church's attitude toward Negroes.

"I would like to point out," Romney said, "that my forebears were driven out of Missouri because they were abolitionists."

the Continuous Filament Nylon Story

The country's major nylon producers, long famous for yarn that is superior, wear-wise, have created a new type that is sweeping the country. It is a process by which the fine yarn is made from a single continuous strand of nylon that prevents pilling, shedding and fuzzing. The new yarn enables you to get pleasant long service from even a modestly priced carpet. Most major producers have an entry in the field: DuPont's 501, Chemstrand's Cumuloft, Caprolan, Tycora and several others. All reach relatively the same wear and beauty results through slightly different methods.

Jacobs Quits Agriculture Dept. After Accusation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Emory E. Jacobs resigned today as deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service after his name was linked with gift giving by Billie Sol Estes, West Texas grain storage king now under indictment for fraud.

The resignation came within 24 hours after Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson tried to establish in a Dallas court that Estes outfitted Jacobs with clothing from the exclusive Neiman-Marcus Co. department store.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman Jacobs wrote:

"I am submitting to you my resignation from the Department of Agriculture effective today. In view of the accusations made against me and in view of my long-held belief as to the measures a public servant must take under such conditions, I feel there is no other course of action."

U. S. and Brazil Enter Into Pact

$276-Million Program Will Help to Develop Latin Nation's Northeast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Brazil entered today into a $276 million agreement to bring progress and development to Brazil's impoverished northeast.

The Alliance for Progress program involves a joint effort aimed at solving the problems of the 600,000-square-mile region of 2 million inhabitants.

The State Department today described the agreement as "one of the most ambitious actions yet taken under the Alliance for Progress."

The U. S. has pledged aid of $131 million and Brazil will contribute $145 million.

The agreement was to be signed by Brazilian Foreign Minister, Santhiago Dantas and U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

It was the culmination of long planning on the part of Brazilian and U. S. authorities and followed a visit to President Kennedy last week by Brazilian President Joao Goulart.

In a letter to Goulart released today, Kennedy said the United States and Brazil will "work together under this program to give full meaning to the Alliance for Progress."

Kennedy expressed deep gratification at the agreement and said the U. S. government approaches the program "with the same sense of urgency and in the same determined spirit that your government has demonstrated in its planning for this region."

"We share with you the conviction that the twenty million people in the northeast must be afforded an opportunity to participate in the future growth of Brazil, and that we must make a bold attack on the economic and social problems of the region."

Dies After Car Injuries

DETROIT (AP) — Maria Brandt, 82, Detroit, died yesterday of injuries suffered March 24 when the car in which she was riding collided with another automobile at a Detroit intersection.

For Tax PurposesSchool Board OKs Tentative Budget

The Pontiac Board of Education, last night approved for tax allocation purposes a $10,225,934 budget for 1962-63.

Such approval is not the final word on any item proposed in the preliminary budget of $9,790,750 or the additional staff studies of $435,184. The okay of estimated budget needs must be given at this time to allow action by the County Tax Allocation Board to determine Pontiac's share.

Final adoption of the budget will be made after June 1, when income is definitely known.

The board also okayed hiring of two appraisers to estimate worth of the board of education offices at 69 Patterson St. The building is to be razed under the Urban Renewal Plan. An offer from the city is expected within two months.

RECEIVES REPORT

The board also received a report on specifications for planning new board of education office and service facilities after the present premises are vacated. No cost estimate was made. Acquisition of a new or used building is slated for completion by December, 1963.

An annual request for use of school district facilities during the summer by the City Parks and Recreation Department was approved.

Board members then expressed satisfaction at a report that School District Food Services Coordinator Margaret Johnston was acting as editor of a statewide publication.

Amendments to Sunday-Close Bill Protested

LANSING (UPI) — Key Senate amendments to a House-approved Sunday-closing bill drew strong opposition in the lower chamber today and the measure was sent to a conference committee to attempt agreement on the differences.

Major opposition to the changes, which raised the question of whether the two houses were considering the same bill, was based on extension of the ban of Sunday sales throughout the state.

The Senate put the statewide ban on but included a "negative" county-option which would allow county authorities to get out from under the restrictions by taking action.

Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, said any county option should be "permissive based on affirmative action to come under the measure rather than negative action to get out from under the provisions."

The bill earlier sailed through the House on an 87-12 vote.

Sees Chemical Build-Up if Nuclear Ban Reached

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has told Congress that if a nuclear weapons ban is reached, the Russians probably will turn their attention to chemical and biological warfare instead.

In previously-secret testimony made public last night, Maj. Gen. Marshall Stubbs, Chief Chemical Officer, said he feared the Soviet Union already has a strong capability in the field.

Waterford Area School Budget Gets OK

Members of the Waterford Township Board of Education last night unanimously approved a record proposed budget of $5,228,073.68 for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The budget will be submitted to the County Allocation Board.

The school district's first proposed budget above $5 million compares to the current budget of $4,839,422.42.

Of the $335,651.26 increase $150,248 anticipates the hiring of 18 more teachers to meet a projected

Six More Prisoners Released by Castro

HAVANA (UPI) — Fidel Castro has released six more invasion prisoners at an undisclosed price. They will fly to Miami tomorrow morning with the 54 wounded and sick captives originally bargained for. It was learned here today.

Exile delegation sources said Castro agreed to the additional releases because the committee was able to make a half-dozen more reservations than expected on the commercial flight to Miami tomorrow.

There was no identification furnished for the six new prisoners to be released. However, they were understood to be in the "low-price" or $25,000-per-head category in Castro's ransom demand.

Central Nears Magazine Goal, Anticipates '62 Drive's Success

other council duties to post the progress of magazine drive salesmen this week in the school halls. The event, which ends Monday, is also council sponsored.

By WADE WILKINSON

Pontiac Central High School's magazine drive is moving smoothly through the last stages of completion as only Monday is left for magazine subscription "turn-ins."

The campaign is ahead of last year's total at this point and the goal of $7,500 should be reached with the addition of Monday's receipts. Last year the total was $5,500 with a goal of $7,500 with a three-day extension of campaign time.

Intra-homeschool competition along with orchid and dinner awards for the teachers and cash prizes for the top salesmen enlivened the contest.

With three homeschools having the chance to a free trip to a Tiger baseball game, all are vying for the three positions.

CONDUCTS ACTIVITY

Walter Smith is in charge of the third floor activities. Mrs. Eloise Best the second, and Olga Distad the third. Mrs. Bertha Stevens is the accountant for the subscriptions. Herbert Sanford is in charge of the Student Union.

Sponsored by the Student Council, the clerical work and collections are done by the Student Union. Prizes galore totaling $1,000 in value will be distributed at the end of the program to the 40 winning salesmen.

Highlighting the whole campaign was the magazine talent assembly held yesterday. Groups of Central students performed for the student body in the program headed by instructor Dorothy Worthman.

AD PROJECT FUNDS

The objective of the drive is earning money to finance or add to the various projects' funds in the school. Heading the list is a new public address system in the gym for basketball games and daily school announcements.

The present one functions but hasn't got the power to be heard over the year of the physical education class or a basketball cheer.

A contribution to the American Field Service fund, and Pep Club fund is also in the planning. Money will also go to the athletic department to help pay for minor equipment improvements and to cover costs of injuries not covered by insurance policies.

A 32 member touring group representing the Albion College orchestra and the Albion Symphony band gave a concert at Pontiac Central High School Monday during their hour.

Students Bonnie King and Mary Brodick attended the Future Homemakers of America annual state meeting Wednesday through today in Grand Rapids, as delegates of Pontiac Central.

Walled Lake Gym Transforms to Fair

Walled Lake Gym Transforms to Fair

By CAROLE STEPHENS

Tonight the Walled Lake Senior High Gymnasium will be transformed into a fabulous all-school fair atmosphere.

Displays from Walled Lake's two junior highs and as the senior high school will be shown from 7 to 11 p.m.

Most of the projects are the result of the year's study by the students. Five hundred projects are to be shown with the majority being individual projects.

The gymnasium will be divided into five main areas: with other sub-sections. Science, the first and largest area will have projects from the biology and chemistry fields. A few of the projects to be exhibited will deal with nutrition, bacteriology, plant growth and comparative anatomy, from the biology department.

The chemistry department produced projects in crystallography, radiation, plastics, synthesis and other fields. From the physics area also the Future Scientists of America prepared a project titled "Perfusion Apparatus."

Industrial Arts will feature two students working on drafting boards and show projects done in mechanical drawing, drafting, metal shop and woodshop.

Both Clifford H. Smart Junior High and Walled Lake Junior High will enter projects in the main fields, but the former will also display their talents from the business department.

MAIN CONTRIBUTION

"Eyes to the Future," is the title of the main contribution of the Senior High Home Economics Department. It was prepared by the students in classes along with girls in the Future Homemakers of America Club.

It is an open affair with the public invited. Golden will direct the guests around showing them the areas of interest. Many of the participants in the project will be there to give further explanations of their projects.

Walled Lake Senior High began having a school fair a year ago. Then it was strictly a Science Fair, for displaying the one department's work.

As has Harold Estepe, science teacher at the senior high and director-manager of the affair, explains, "The fair was broadened to include many areas of interest."

House-to-House Search Follows Battle With OAS

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—French, downtown business section near the Place des Victoires, a surprise attempt by the riot police to search a house in the area touched off the battle. Commandos and armed civilians fired on the police from balconies and rooftops, and the truckload of police took cover in a nearby house. Within minutes, the Secret Army commander's parked cars and trucks together to form barricades and pinned down the police with a steady hail of fire.

MEET MORE FIRE

Regular French army units moved from the waterfront district toward the center of the city, meeting harassing fire from other Secret Army commandos. Four hours after the firing started, a French armored car with its machine guns blazing broke through the barricade of cars. Other armored vehicles followed, spraying machine gun fire at Secret Army commandos on their rooftop and balcony perches.

The Secret Army then turned its assault on the heavily defended city hall building 200 yards from the square, but was beaten off. The commandos finally retreated to positions in nearby houses and buildings, and the fighting subsided.

A tacit truce maintained an uneasy calm today. Military barricades isolated parts of the city, and occupants of the buildings being searched put up on resistance.

Jeopards of Secret Army men in uniform could be seen driving through parts of Oran with machine guns at the ready.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Building bomb fallout shelters is un-American and ridiculous, says the president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Command Plane Stands by

WASHINGTON (AP)—At an airfield a few minutes by helicopter from the White House, a big silver plane stands ready for flight at any hour.

Its crew is never far. It is guarded by Air Force policemen and dogs.

This is no ordinary Air Force plane, although it looks about the same as tankers used to refuel bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

It is a new airborne command post specially fitted as a refuge for President Kennedy and the top command in event of a surprise nuclear attack. There are three such planes, one always standing by.

If war should come, the nation's defense and counterattack could well be directed from one of these four jet, swept wing giants cruising more than 40,000 feet above the earth.

Aerial command posts intended specifically for the President have been in operation for about two months. Their existence has been kept under wraps.

Together with an underground sanctuary in Maryland and the Navy command ship Northampton in the Atlantic, the planes provide alternate emergency headquarters from which the President and defense chiefs could prosecute a war in safety, even though key government and military centers are destroyed.

IN CONSTANT CONTACT
Packed with elaborate communications equipment, they can instantly contact U.S. forces around the world. With air refueling and enough supplies they can stay aloft for days.

These command planes, converted KC135 turboprop tankers, form another element in a growing system designed to assure uninterrupted control of U.S. ground, air and sea forces under all circumstances.

The presidential planes are much like the command aircraft which the Strategic Air Command has been flying for 14 months, only less spartan.

Sources said the presidential command post planes evolved from SAC's system and incorporated many of its features.

Since February 1961, SAC has maintained a command plane aloft at all times. Three aircraft have been assigned to this mission.

SAC announced yesterday it will increase its airborne command and control capability this year by adding more specially modified KC135s and, for the first time, B47 jet bombers adapted to this task.

235 Tickets Win Man Title as Scofflaw King

NEW YORK (AP)—A man arrested yesterday for ignoring at least 235 traffic tickets was named the new scofflaw king by traffic court officials.

The defendant, Harry Katz, 45, was arraigned before Chief Magistrate Abraham M. Bloch and held in $7,500 bail for a hearing April 26.

Police said that former scofflaw king Eugene Doriot Hell, had 196 unanswered tickets and was fined $8,175 and 60 days in jail last June 19.

U. S. Steel Price Hike Will Benefit S. Africa

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—A senior official of the Iron and Steel Corp. said Thursday night price hikes by American steel companies will help South Africa's steel exports.

He said the nation's steel prices will not be increased and expanding production will provide increased export stocks.

South Africa is seeking to increase its foreign outlets for steel. A bachelor's a fellow who'd rather wash his own socks than some woman's dishes. . . . Mrs. Charles A. Stark, Carlos Drive, Waterford Township, chairman for Boss Nite 1962, offers hors d'oeuvres to her boss, Pontiac State Bank President Milo J. Cross, North Hammond Lake Drive. Robert Templin Jr., Birmingham (left), assistant prosecuting attorney for Oakland County, was guest speaker.

At 'Boss Night' Dinner

By MADELEINE DOEREN
Tipton Chapter, American Business Women's Association, named Mrs. Carroll Welch "Woman of the Year" at the ninth annual 'Boss Night' dinner Thursday in Edgewood Country Club.

After the invocation by First Vice President Maxine Davison, the president, Ruth L. Cramer welcomed the assembly and Fredonia Bourdon offered a toast to the bosses. Ralph Louche, Honorary Boss 1961, personnel director, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, gave the response.

Mrs. Gerald E. Carlson, Bay City, Northeastern District Vice President of the ABWA, entitled her brief talk "It's A Sure Thing". She is departmental supervisor of women and secretary to the manager of agricultural chemicals sales for Dow Chemical Co., Midland.

HOPE'S GOAL REACHED

She expressed the hope that ABWA will reach its goal of 400 chapters before the national convention in Houston, Tex. next October. Presently, the Association, founded in 1949 in Kansas City, Mo., has 330 chapters with over 18,000 active members in all types of occupations.

"Take care of the boss you have because the next one might be worse," she urged. Mrs. Welch presented the Elbert Hubbard award inscribed "Our Boss of the Year" to Ronald J. Clair of Bloomfield Hills, executive director, Oakland County Tuberculosis Association.

Robert Templin, Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney for Oakland County, chose for his subject "Restraints on Prosecution." He explained some of the statutes in Michigan governing lotteries and games of chance.

SERVED AS M.C.

Mrs. Charles A. Stark served as chairman and mistress of ceremonies. Maxine Davison was chapter hostess.

Mabel Nellie handled reservations and invitations; Grace Humphries, program and music; Marie Stoychoff and her committee, decorations; Maxine Davison, favors; Marie Richey, pictures; Mary Vezey, Irene Huffman and Gladys Hyatt, printing.

Circulating hostesses were Irene Huffman, Phyllis Nagy, Eleanor Irish, Mabel Nellie and Mrs. Welch, with Pearl and Phyllis Addison assisting at the door.

The Association is not a club or sorority, but rather an educational association, sponsoring increased opportunities for business women and working toward the improvement of employer-employee relations. During the past year, in excess of $40,000 was expended by local chapters in scholarships to deserving women in local communities. Each chapter holds a dinner meeting monthly at which business executives serve as speakers. The Jackie Rae Dance Studio presented a floor show and Kenny Davis played organ selections through the courtesy of the Gallagher Music Co.

Talk or Quiet Down?

Two Sides to Each Tale

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would print something in your column about hairdressers.

Why do they think they have to talk all the time?

I go to the beauty parlor for a hair-do, not to listen to how hard they work, pretty gossip about the other employees in the shop and all the dirt about the person they took care of before me. I travel quite a bit and find that it is the same no matter where I go. My husband says this is true of barbers, too.

DEAR BORED: I also travel quite a bit, and I get the other side of the story.

Hairdressers tell me they wish their customers would just relax and be quiet instead of telling them their troubles and gossiping about everyone they know. My husband gets around a lot, too, and tells me this is what the barbers tell him.

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl in our dorm who is knock-out to look at. She has a face and figure every girl envies and she has a great personality to go with it. Our problem is that she must be afraid of men.

She is asked for dates, but if a boy even tries to put his arm around her she hauls off and just about fractures his skull. They say that it is like pulling teeth to get her to go out a second time with a fellow who is even mildly affectionate. How can we help her?

DEAR DORM MATES: Fix her up with a dental student!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nine years. I married young just to get out of the house. I was completely honest with my husband and told him before he married me that I didn't love him. He said he would take that chance and I would learn to love him later.

We have five beautiful children. I respect him and admire him and am proud to be his wife because he is a kind and generous man and a wonderful father, but I still have not learned to love him.

I am a good and faithful wife, but I know now that I will never have the kind of love every woman dreams of. (Not within my marriage at least.) Should I continue this loveless marriage? I am thinking of my children.

MISSING SOMETHING

DEAR MISSING: Keep thinking of those children. Many women have written to tell me that they married for "love" (the kind every woman dreams of) but it didn't last long. The reasons they neither admired nor respected their husbands. If yours is kind, generous and a wonderful father, count your blessings. No one has everything!

Disagree Over Children Like 2 Grown-Ups

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Thirteen-year-old George and his younger brother had been indulging in secret smoking in the basement.

One day as George reached for the package of cigarettes they kept hidden behind some empty jelly glasses, he knocked several down. When his mother rushed to the cellar to demand what he was up to, he said, "Miss Hymes told me to bring an old jelly glass to school to use for a painting glass in art class."

But his younger brother told the truth. Conscience-stricken, he surrendered the cigarettes and showed her where they had been hidden.

George did not join him in confession. For two days, sullen and defiant, he insisted that he had not been seeking cigarettes but the pleasure of his teacher. Finally, after an angry scene with him, his father said,

"All right. If you don't tell the truth to me right now, tomorrow I will call school, speak to Miss Hymes—and prove that you have lied."

George told the truth.

As a result his parents felt great relief that they could again regard themselves as fine, responsible parents.

But were they?
I don't think so, I think that they behaved like selfish and irresponsible parents.

But then I believe that the victory over a lie a child has told us belongs to him and to nobody else. I see that victory as earned.

by him as the result of struggle with himself. So to me irresponsible.

In my opinion, they had no more right to deprive him of the moral victory that belonged to him than they had to cut short the struggle that he was waging with himself.

What's more, it was foolish of them.

For so deprived of his moral struggle and its victory, George soon lied again. He has learned to lie more skillfully, not only about smoking but about where he goes and what he does after school. Only now he lies blandly, smoothly, without that sudden defiance which was the evidence of moral indecision.

We make the mistake of wrenching truth out of children

When we were collecting recipes from women here at the Press for our cookbook, Gladys Flickinger promised to bring one in "sometime."

That time has come appropriately now, for she is sharing a meatless recipe with Press readers.

Glady's is our good angel in the Proof room who finds any errors in our recipes (once she called to check why we hadn't put any grapes in a recipe for grape jelly). In her leisure time we know she does some church work.

Zip Through Work, Then Enjoy Leisure

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
"Many office workers are so bored working at half speed that they welcome work standards," says a time-and-motion expert.

"That is probably one reason why so many housewives are bored with their job, too—because they work long hours at half speed."

Of course, no expert is going to come in and make a time and motion study for a housewife and then set up work standards for her, telling her exactly how long it should take to make a bed, wash dishes, scrub a floor, iron a shirt, and so on.

But any housewife who is bored with her job could set up her own work standards and make her job a lot less boring.

It is bound to be more boring for a housewife to dawdle along taking eight hours to do work that could be done in five or six, than to set a faster pace for herself, get the work done, and then be rewarded with some free time to do as she pleases.

The great majority of housewives don't work as efficiently as they could.

For the housewife there is always the temptation to switch from one job to another haphazardly, instead of following a time and step-saving work plan, to pul-ter instead of setting a brisk work

Waterford Sued Over Land Pact

Residents Seek Action Allowing for Roadway Declared Void

Legal action against Waterford Township over a supervisor's plat set up 11 years ago has been started.

The lawsuit, started by residents living on Hospital Road near Elizabeth Lake Road, seeks to have plat No. 32 declared void and also asks for vacation of property by the township.

The plat was established in 1951 allowing for a 170-foot roadway including right-of-ways. The suit charges that no more than 66 feet can be utilized in such a plat.

Consequently, 27 feet of property on each side of the center of Hospital Road from Elizabeth Lake Road to Cooley Lake Road was illegally included in the plat, according to the suit.

CAN'T GET TITLE.

The matter was brought to light when a property owner found he could not get a clear title to his property because of the 1951 action.

In some cases the additional 27 feet gives the Oakland County Road Commission title to parts of yards and even portions of homes in the area.

Last November a group of residents in the area appeared at a township board meeting to protest their plight. Township Attorney Paul Mandel remarked that "someone goofed" on the plat. Supervisor Elmer Johnson told the residents that the same situation exists throughout the township.

The landowners were on hand at the Jan. 22 meeting of the board to renew their plea for action by the township. They were advised then that circuit court action was their only recourse to bring about a change.

Peat Potted Plants Require Less Water

Whether the gardener plants to start his own plants or to buy them ready to set out, he will get more and better results with plants grown in peat pots. The grower will find that young plants, raised in or transplanted to peat pots, require much less constant attention. This is especially true in the matter of watering. Not only is water required less frequently, but the soil retains more constantly moist instead of fluctuating between extremes of being too wet and too dry. This is one of the reasons why peat container grown plants develop much more rapidly and more evenly than those grown by out-dated methods. The soil used for potting should be a rich compost. Liquid fertilizer may be applied as needed, but "forcing" growth with too much nitrogen and too high temperatures should be avoided.

Carefulness Assures Smooth Mowing

How would you like to keep your mower running smoothly all summer without balky starts and enforced idleness for repairs? Then don't overlook the obvious when it comes to proper engine care.

Don't start your engine without being sure the crankcase is filled with oil up to the top of the filler opening. Don't use gasoline that has stood over the winter. Be sure your sparkplugs are free of grit even if they have just been cleaned in a blasting machine.

These are a sample of the basic maintenance procedures which still are being neglected by a large percentage of power mower owners, according to Briggs & Stratton Corporation, Milwaukee, Wis., world's largest producer of four-cycle, single-cylinder gasoline engines. The following statistics, compiled by the Briggs & Stratton service department, indicate the results of this neglect:

—Two out of every 10 engine breakdowns are caused by someone's failure to put oil in the crankcase. This can run an engine in 5 to 10 minutes' time.

—If a power mower won't start after being stored for the winter, the odds are 35-65 that the gasoline has become "drained." Gasoline that has been standing for months, either in the mower or a can, forms gum deposits that clog the fuel system.

—If grease is not removed from sparkplugs before they are blast-cleaned, a film of abrasive material may collect on the plugs. This grit can cause immediate and severe damage to cylinder bores and crankshaft journals. Use of solvents on a wire hand brush are the recommended methods for cleaning plugs.

To help you get the best service from your power mower this summer, Briggs & Stratton has compiled a brief "refresher" list of basic guidelines for the care of small gasoline engines. In addition to the points already mentioned, this list includes:

CHANGE OIL.
1. Before starting the engine, fill the crankcase with a high-grade SAE-30 detergent oil labeled "Service HS." Change oil after the first 5 hours of operation on a new mower. Thereafter, change at least once in every 25 hours of operation.

2. Purchase clean, regular gasoline in small quantities to assure freshness and avoid gum deposits. Do NOT mix oil with gasoline.

3. Keep cylinder fins and the screens on the blower housing clean so dust will not cut off circulation in air-cooled engines. Overheating can cause serious engine damage. The fins and screens can be cleaned simply by removing three bolts that hold the blower housing to the cylinder.

4. "Oil-Foam" no-spill air cleaners should be washed periodically in a detergent, soapy water, or kerosene. After washing, squeeze the air cleaner dry and re-oil with three tablespoons of engine oil. Then squeeze again so the oil spreads through the air cleaner.

5. And, when the mowing season is over, remember to drain the fuel tank and run the engine until the carburetor is dry.

Two Kinds of Roses Grow on One Plant

Just as you may plant apple trees that bear several varieties of the fruit, so you may obtain bushes that bear several kinds of roses.

One nursery is advertising a two-in-one bush that produces two all-American winning roses, Peace and Charlotte Armstrong. And there is a sub-zero, "Rainbow" three-in-one tree rose that bears pink, red and yellow roses. Tree roses are attractive set among other roses or in front of picture windows.

Another three-in-one available for spring is rose of Sharon, with double blooms of red, white and purple.

A spectacular newcomer is the Fountain Rose tree with canes that bend toward the ground with their roses.

Beautiful Porch Railings

Porch and patio railings can be brightened with wooden window-box-type planters in which rows of clay-potted flowering and foliage plants can be plunged. Your outdoor decorating can be varied to suit both your changing tastes—and weather conditions—by keeping outdoor plants in clay pots for portable beauty and health. When buying plants for outdoor use, be sure to ask your florist and garden center which plants are suitable for sun and shade.

Keep on Digging

One of the maxims in growing roses is that you should not put a three-dollar rose bush in a 10-cent hole. In other words, the hole should be big enough to take all the roots without crowding.

Ex-Press Man Marks 1st Year as Ambassador to Nicaragua

In the largest Central American nation, where the populace is still sensitive to Yanguel "big stick" policies, a Pontiac man is carrying out the delicate task of speaking softly but forcefully.

Aaron S. Brown this month is celebrating his first anniversary as U.S. ambassador to Nicaragua to which he was appointed by President John F. Kennedy.

Not only is it Brown's job to keep open official lines of communications between governments, but also to present a democratic image of the United States to a people whose history is dominated by North American military influence.

Even now, the imprint of U. S. Marines is left on Nicaragua's national guard, which was trained and organized by the marines during their 21-year stay from 1912 to 1933.

STRONG TIES
The marines had entered the country under invitation of then President Adolfo Diaz based on a plea that their presence was needed to protect foreign lives and property during an unstable period of changing governments.

At present, politically independent Nicaragua is still linked strongly to the United States by one word: coffee.

Nicaraguan prosperity depends primarily on the country's coffee crop and the world price of coffee. Half the population makes its living from coffee. About one third of the nation's exports is made up of the brown beans.

The United States uses about 90 per cent of the entire crop and also buys the bulk of the other Nicaraguan exports including bananas, gold, cotton, lumber, hides and skins, sugar and cacao.

In return this country ships textiles, machinery and miscellaneous manufactured goods and foods.

The friendliness of U.S.-Nicaraguan relations rests squarely on the shoulders of Ambassador Brown, who has successfully carried out similar assignments around the globe.

Brown's background reads like a new version of an old slogan: "I can the Foreign Service—and see the world!"

STARTED AT PRESS
Nicaragua is merely the latest stop in Brown's life which led him from a reporter's job on The Pontiac Press to a life as a career diplomat.

Born in Pontiac in 1913, Brown attended Princeton University, where he received his bachelor's degree in 1935. He studied at Georgetown University School of Foreign Service during the following school year.

At the end of the term he returned to Pontiac and worked on this newspaper as a reporter.

His first assignment, after being appointed to the U. S. Foreign Service in 1937, was Mexico City. After a year, he returned to the Department office in Washington where he stayed until his return to field work in 1943 as third secretary in Dublin, Ireland.

Brown's first contact with a Latin

McGuire 'Interested' but Status Uncertain

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Coach Frank McGuire of the Philadelphia Warriors said Thursday he is "interested" in the head coaching job at South Carolina but is not sure he could accept it if it is offered.

"I would have to get clarification of my position with the Warriors before making any plans," the professional basketball coach told newsmen.

McGuire still has two years to run on a 3-year contract with the Warriors. The Warrior franchise reportedly is to be switched from Philadelphia to San Francisco.

McGuire, former head coach at the University of North Carolina and still a Chapel Hill resident, is known to be reluctant to move to the West Coast. But he is uncertain of the legal status of his contract in the event the switch is made.

New York Mayor Urges Reduction in Steel Use

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Mayor Henry Gillette of Rochester says he will introduce a resolution at Monday's meeting of the City Council calling for use of substitutes for steel whenever possible. The resolution will be in the nature of a protest against the hike in steel prices, Gillette said yesterday. He said he hoped other communities and private enter-prises would take similar action.

In 1947, Brown was again assigned to Washington. He became assistant to the director of the executive secretariat in 1949 and special assistant to the deputy undersecretary of state in the following year.

Asia was next on the itinerary, with an appointment as counselor of embassy in Bangkok, Thailand, in 1951. Next: Spain, where Brown became deputy chief of mission in Lisbon.

With his worldwide traveling experience, Brown again was recalled to Washington in 1956 and given a position as deputy director of the office of personnel. Two years later he was promoted to deputy assistant secretary of state for personnel.

Brown was sworn as "our man Nicaragua" on March 31, 1961, by U.S. Chief of Protocol Angier Biddle Duke. He left for his post in April 1961.

Hungarian Says New Cigarettes Like Fireworks

VIENNA (AP)—"It's like fire, works or the explosion of a plastic bomb."

A complaining Hungarian thus described a new brand of cigarettes in the Communist-ruled country, in a letter to the provincial newspaper Beker Megyei Népújság.

"If you smoke it, ashes drop in all directions like lava after the eruption of a volcano," he wrote. Some cigarettes produce sparks like a magic candle.

"A few cigarettes of the brand deserve the name 'sleeper.' They go out so often. Sometimes it does not pay to re-light them."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Veteran Hollywood columnist Louella O. Parsons is a patient at Cedars of Lebanon, undergoing tests for an undisclosed ailment.

Her condition was reported as fair. Hospital attendants said she was admitted Tuesday and was slightly improved early today.

Blasts Kill 2 Men,
Destroy Buildings

MARS, Pa. (UPI) — A series of thunderous explosions and fire demolished a building housing two chemical plants early today killing two workers and injuring a third. The building, containing the Pittsburgh Purifying Co. and the Freedsale Laboratories, was leveled by the blasts. A resulting fire burned out of control for more than three hours. It was brought under control by firemen from 12 companies.

Dead were William Cooper, 26, and Clyde Hilliard, 40, both of Sarver, Pa. In fair condition at Butler County Hospital was Joseph Baxter, 45, of Pittsburgh.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (AP) — Mayor Saul Laskin says that when he commented on a Michigan legislator's proposal for a rocket launch site in northern Michigan he was not criticizing the proposal.

The mayor was among a number of local officials in this area who responded to the Michigan development by pointing out that their area is far from unpopulated.

Laskin was reported as having said Michigan legislators ought to look at a map before pushing for a rocket site that would point northward across Lake Superior.

JFK to Watch Carriers,
Men, Planes in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will watch the Atlantic Fleet in action today and Saturday. From sea and shore he watches the Navy and Marine Corps' ships, planes, missiles and men-in-combat exercises.

Kennedy flies to Norfolk, Va., this afternoon for a secret briefing on the fleet's attack and defensive capabilities, then boards ship for an on-the-spot view of the fleet operations.

The President was scheduled to take off from Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland and land 40 minutes later at the Oceana Naval Air Station near Norfolk. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson precedes him to Oceana, and a host of government officials, members of Congress and diplomats join them later at Norfolk.

The President will board the submarine Thomas A. Edison at Hampton Roads. He'll spend about an hour on the nuclear-powered craft, but probably won't have time for a cruise.

Tonight he'll be aboard the command ship Northampton.

Get Wage Offer

Pontiac School Board Asks State Mediator to Hold Election

The Pontiac Board of Education will ask the State Labor Mediation Board to hold an election to determine how 22 school cafeteria managers stand on a board offer to put them on salary.

The advantage to the managers would consist of pay even on some days when school is out.

The board offer appears to be a countermove to attempts to minimize all cafeteria managers made by Local 719 of Public Employees Council No. 77, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

The offer was made at a March 23 meeting between the board and the union. According to Asst. Supt. Otto C. Hufziger, the union representatives had promised to report the union to these cafeteria managers who already are union members and then report to the school administration on their stand.

Dr. Hufziger said no reply had been received. However he presented to the board copies of a letter sent by the union to the State Labor Mediation Board.

Why Can't Steel Be Competitive?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—If you and your neighbor were selling eggs and you raised your prices, you wouldn't stay in business long unless you cut your prices back to his level.

That seems simple enough. It would be in keeping with the ancient spirit—often observed more in talk than in practice—of free, competitive enterprise.

But that isn't the way the steel industry plays it.

JUST LIKE SHEEP

This week when the U.S. Steel Corp. boosted prices its competitors might have cleaned up by not raising prices, too. Instead, most of them followed U.S. Steel like sheep. Within three days eight companies had put in raises.

This was asking for it. The President Kennedy who, because of the special circumstances surrounding this situation, couldn't take it lying down. And he didn't.

His brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is going after the steel industry. A federal grand jury will now investigate this round of price increases.

Kennedy said his department is checking into two questions: IS IT IN CONTROL?

1. Did the steel companies go together to raise prices? If they did, he said, it would be a violation of law.
2. Should the U.S. Steel Corp. be broken up because it's too big? Kennedy said it should if it's so big it controls industry prices.

Big steel walked into this fight with its eyes open. It well knows the Kennedy administration has been taking action against price-fixing and monopoly in many directions.

Only last year one of the biggest scandals in American industrial history rolled to a screeching end.

After government prosecution for price-fixing and bid-rigging 29 giant electric equipment companies were fined, seven of their executives were jailed, and 45 others were fined. This was initiated during the Eisenhower administration.

Just a year ago yesterday, a federal grand jury indicted General Motors on a charge of monopolizing the manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives since 1938. This case is pending.

FIVE INDICTED

Last Dec. 2, a federal grand jury indicted five of the nation's biggest makers of brazing alloys, and eight of their officers, for price-fixing. There were many other actions in this field, as there were during the Eisenhower administration.

The President, who wanted the industry and the Steelworkers' Union to sign a noninflationary contract, thought that's what had been done. So did the rest of the country because there was no hint of suggestion from the steel industry it has a price increase in mind.

But at least U.S. Steel must have been preparing for it. The union agreed to a contract which provided some benefits but no pay raise. Within five days U.S. Steel boosted prices. By last night, so had seven other companies. But not all did.

This explains why the President attacked the steel industry with so much anger Wednesday.

Yesterday Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, was reminded by reporters that two large steel companies have not yet raised prices.

He was asked how long his company could stick to its price increase if these two kept their price where it was. He said: "It would certainly affect us. And I don't know how long we can maintain our position."

Which raises a question the federal grand jury will probably want an answer to: If all the other steel companies had refused to go along with U.S. Steel in raising prices, how long would the giant of the industry have dared to have kept its new price?

Troy Man on Probation for Possession of Coins

John Harrington, 36, of 10200 Troy, Oak Park, who had pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court in Detroit to possessing counterfeit coins and the molds to make them, was placed on two years' probation yesterday.

Harrington and William Dillard, 33, of Marlon, were arrested March 4 on tips supplied from Watford Township gas stations where the pair had left counterfeit coins. Dillard was charged with manufacturing the coins.

Committee OKs Defense Billions

More Than This Year but Figure Less Than Requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Record peacetime appropriations of $47,839,491,000 for the Defense Department won approval today of the House Appropriations Committee.

The amount is $1,544,535,000 more than was provided for the present year but is $7,260,000 less than President Kennedy requested. It is for the fiscal year starting July 1.

It will buy more and bigger bombers, more Polaris submarines, more fighter planes, more ships including a new attack carrier, and more military hardware of all sorts.

It will finance 2,683,881 active military personnel and 1,003,500 Reservists and National Guardsmen in paid drill status; keep half the strategic bomber force on 15-minute alert for reprisal strikes; speed up development of the B57B long-range reconnaissance-strike bomber; increase the capacity to quickly airlift fighting men to trouble spots, and expedite the chemical-biological warfare program.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of a subcommittee that drafted the bill for House debate next Tuesday, said the new funds may have to be augmented because of the increase in the price of steel used in many military programs.

Colts Continue 'Quick Draw'

By The Associated Press
Dean Stone, 32-year-old journeyman left-hander who hurled a three-hit shutout for his first victory in the majors since 1957, is the newest hero on a rapidly growing list for the Houston Colts' all-conquering cast of castoffs.

Returning the third former American League southpaw to win for the National League's new entry, Stone blanked Chicago 2-0 Thursday for Houston's second straight shutout and third consecutive victory over the Cubs.

Stone, following the example set by Bobby Shantz and Hal Woodeshick, struck out nine, walked only two, permitted only one batter to reach second base and hurled no-hit ball for the final six innings.

It was an auspicious start for the one-time Washington Senators' pitcher who had a lifetime won-lost record of 24-55 in the majors and spent most of the last five years in the minors. He was drafted from Charleston by the Colts.

Another auspicious beginning was made by Los Angeles southpaw Pete Richert, who tied three major league strikeout records in the Dodgers 11-7 walloping of Cincinnati.

Coming on in relief, Richert struck out Vada Pinson to end a four-run rally in the second inning. He struck out four—once reached base when catcher John Roseboro let a third strike get past him—in the third inning. Then he fanned the first man in the fourth before pitcher Joey Jay grounded out.

The six strikeouts tied the mark set in 1954 by the Dodgers' Karl Spooner for most consecutive strikeouts by a pitcher making his major league debut and equalled the mark for relief pitchers established by Philadelphia's Jack Mayer in 1958. The four in one inning matched an other accomplished feat.

San Francisco walloped Milwaukee 8-4 in the only other game scheduled.

Veterans Disposal of Pontiac in Class B and Northeast Inter-Parish in "C" will represent the north sector in team play. They were winners last month at Huron Bowl.

Veterans will be shooting for a 1st prize of $1,000 and trophies. Other awards will be $500, $300 and $100.

PLAYS PHILLIES
The Colts will try to extend their winning streak tonight at Philadelphia as the Phils get underway before the home folks. In other NL home curtain-raisers today, Pittsburgh is at New York and St. Louis at Chicago.

Stone, like Woodeshick, gave the credit for his fine showing to coach Cot Deal and General Manager Paul Richards, who has a long record of reclaiming pitchers discarded by other clubs.

TRIPLE LATE—San Francisco's Jose Pagan scores from second on a single in the seventh inning yesterday against Milwaukee. The ball is between Pagan and catcher Del Crandall's outstretched hands. The Giants won, 8-4.

Californians Lead Doubles

Detroit Stroh's Rolls
3018 Series in ABC's
Classic Division

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A pair of young California bowlers took first place in the regular doubles of the American Bowling and Stroh's Beer of Detroit rolled 3018 in its opening bid to challenge the Classic Division leaders.

The new regular doubles front-runners are John Gribbin and Gary Madison of Riverside, Calif., who posted a 1370 series.

If it holds up Gribbin, 20, and Madison, 22, would be the youngest winning pair since 1915, when Harold and Ray Allen of Detroit took the doubles titles. Harold was 18 and Ray 21.

NEED 3,251
Strohs would need a massive 3251 series in its final three-game block tonight to surpass the Don Carter Gloves of St. Louis, who lead the classic team division with a 638 six-game total.

Bob Logan of Gary, Ind., took second place in the regular all-events Thursday with a nine-game total of 1977. Logan, 34, a bowling center manager, shot 664 in the team event Wednesday, and followed with 615 in the doubles and 638 in the singles.

Lee Jougard, 41, a Los Angeles pro, took third place in the Classic singles with 704 on games of 235, 221 and 267. Jougard won the 1951 ABC singles with 775, a record for the regular division.

Auerbach Believes Celtics Have Regained Advantage

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Coach Red Auerbach feels the Celtics have regained the upper hand in the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

"The series has now turned in our favor—let them worry," Auerbach said Thursday after a Celtics comeback had produced a 115-103 victory over Los Angeles and knotted the best-of-seven competition 2-2.

The teams meet here Saturday night and in Los Angeles Monday. If a seventh game is needed it will be in Boston Wednesday night.

ROME ADVANTAGE
"It's down to a best-of-three series, now," Auerbach added. "We'll be playing two at home which is in our favor."

Laker hopes to foil Boston's bid for an unprecedented fourth straight NBA playoff title appears to rest squarely at the foul line.

In all four games to date, win or lose, Boston has managed more field goals but the Lakers have averaged nearly 15 more free throw chances per contest. Altogether, Los Angeles has converted 139 of 173 chances, Boston 86 of 116.

"We're not dead yet," said Laker Coach Fred Schaus. "I think we can win one game in Boston."

Seat Belt Saves Driver in Crash

Southfield Man, 25, in Satisfactory Condition After Car Rams Truck

SOUTHFIELD — Police credited a safety belt with saving the life of a 25-year-old Southfield man who rammed his car into the rear of a gasoline truck here early today.

Malcolm Johnson of 2830 Nine Mile Road is in satisfactory condition at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, with a fractured arm and lacerations on the face.

Driver of the truck, Norman Brown, 37, of 1100 Howell St., Pontiac, told police he had stopped at the intersection of Telegraph and Northwestern Highway when Johnson crashed into the back of his trailer.

Brown, an employee of the Mobil Oil Co., was hauling 10,000 gallons of gasoline.

Johnson's car was demolished, according to police, and the safety belt was responsible for his not being hurled from the auto.

The truck and car were northbound on Telegraph when the accident occurred at 12:10 a. m.

Farmington Twp. to Ask County for Millage Increase

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—An additional three-tenths of a mill will be asked of the tax allocation board when the township's $393,000 preliminary budget is submitted to the county.

Supervisor Curtis H. Hall said the township is only receiving one mill from the county and the request for extra funds is a "reasonable one."

The preliminary budget is about $38,000 more than last year, due chiefly to added police protection and a proposed retirement plan for the police department.

Also included in the tentative budget is $26,000 in matching funds for a road improvement program.

U. of M. to Aid in NASA Plan

One of 10 Universities Chosen to Educate 100 Promising Scholars

CHICAGO — The University of Michigan is one of 10 universities chosen by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to train 100 promising scientific and engineering scholars, beginning next fall, for the nation's space effort.

The cost of training the first group is estimated at $2 million, said James E. Webb, NASA administrator, said the scope of the program will be increased considerably in future years.

One criterion for selection will be the promise of being able to complete work for a doctorate in three years.

Recruits will receive $2,400 a year for 12 months of study, plus expense allowances up to $1,000 a year. Universities will be reimbursed for tuition, fees and other expenses.

Besides Michigan, other universities chosen are Chicago, California at Los Angeles, Maryland, Minnesota, Rice, Texas A. & M., Iowa State, Georgia Tech and Rensselaer Poly.

Experimental animals such as rabbits, hamsters, mice, guinea pigs and rats are playing an important part in finding the answers to many agriculture research problems at Michigan State University.

Some claim that commercial zoning is required.

Objections to mushroom houses center on the odor created and the files attracted by the compost used in cultivation.

The township's existing mushroom industry — consisting of two houses — is located in the same area, west of Hamlin Road. The subdivision is south of the road.

Officials in Shelby Township, center of Michigan's mushroom industry, are considering a rezoning of mushroom-house areas to a residential classification.

This would make the mushroom industry a non-conforming use. As such, it would be unable to expand.

Shelby is also contemplating passage of an ordinance regulating the mushroom houses, including a ban on synthetic compost.

Shelby's planning commission has approved the rezoning, which now goes before the township board, and is still considering an ordinance.

Another problem the Avon Township board acquired as a result of complaints by residents has been solved after a two-year struggle.

Peter Christensen of 2901 W. Hamlin Road, has succumbed to court action against his alleged operation of an illegal dump.

He agreed not to permit dumping and gave the township permission to post "No Dumping" signs and erect barricades on the property. The agreement was reached in Circuit Court where Christensen had appeared to answer contempt-of-court charges.

He had been accused of ignoring an injunction against dumping.

Although Christensen maintained he could not stop people from dumping during the night, township officials said they issued half a dozen tickets to daytime violators who admitted they paid Christensen for use of the dump.

Jury Unit Bill Passes Senate

Measure in Michigan House for Approval of Amendments

Oakland County's jury commission bill passed the Senate yesterday with a perfect score and is back in the House of Representatives for approval of amendments.

The bill, allowing creation of a three-man commission to draw up jury lists, was approved by a 51-0 vote. Originally passed by the House, it was revised in three ways by senators.

One change in wording said the Board of Supervisors "may" instead of "shall" appoint the commissioners. This allows the board to discard the plan in the future if it wishes.

Another amendment gives supervisors the right to set pay rates for the commissioners instead of specifying $15 for each working day.

The third change makes the new law effective regardless of any other law to the contrary.

Under the new bill, names of jury candidates would come from registered voter lists and commissioners would screen them.

Presently, prospective jurors are drawn from assessment roles by supervisors.

$15 Million in Bids on Road Plans Told; 4 in Area

The Michigan State Highway Department opened bids totaling $13.14 million on 45 construction projects yesterday in Lansing. Four of the projects are planned for the area.

The local projects and low bidders are:

Preliminary work on I. mile at the John C. Lodge Freeway from Detroit to Southfield Road. A joint bid by C. A. Hall and Walter Toebie of Lansing, $7,151,332.

Drilling of a well and installation of pumping equipment for 1.48 west of Novi. The Brown Drilling Co. of Howell, $3,618.

The modernization of 3.7 miles on Mount Road just south of I-75 in Macomb County. A joint bid by Lynn Excavating and Anderson & Ruzin, Southfield, $601,222.

Repairs to M21 and M27 in Genesee, Lansing and Saginaw Counties. Detroit Concrete Products, $31,406.

School Board Promises Study to Parents

May Tighten Up Teacher Hiring

A broadside of parents' questions last night drew from the Pontiac Board of Education promises to study a tightening of hiring procedures and personnel contracts.

The questions — mostly raised by six mothers in the audience — centered around the feasibility of psychological testing for school personnel.

At the same time, at least one woman said that there was a general citizen feeling that, "There isn't much confidence in the school board. People always feel you're hiding something. There are these protest groups just waiting to strike."

These allegations by Mrs. Betty McKay of Sylvan Lake were disputed by board member Glenn H. Griffin who said, "If there were the complete general hostility on the part of all these people, then this room wouldn't hold them; the line would be out to Orchard Lake Avenue tonight."

Discussion of contracts and psychological testing began after Mrs. Robert Farms, 2440 St. Joseph St., asked:

1 — Would anyone on the board comment on past events leading to the resignation of Asst. Supt. Philip J. Proud?

2 — Would the board explain what can be done to improve screening procedures in hiring so that a high quality of school employment could be obtained?

PROPOSES AMENDMENTS

Board member Victor P. Sutt immediately said he had wanted to make several recommendations in regard to tighter contracts in regard to vacation pay and sick leave pay after termination of employment. Sutt made two motions, the substance of which was submitted by the board to the administration for policy formulation and study at the next board meeting. Sutt proposed these policy amendments:

"1 — That vacations must be taken within the year in which they are earned and shall not be cumulative; that there shall be no reimbursing for time in lieu of vacation; that if an employee resigns or is dismissed all vacation time earned but not taken shall be forfeited.

"2 — That accumulated sick leave shall be forfeited on resignation or dismissal, except where covered by other policies such as in the case of retirement."

Board President Walter L. Godsell commented: "Most of these proposals to me sound quite good; it might be well to turn them over to our administrative staff for study."

Supt. Dana R. Whitmer replied, "We would be glad to take those and structure them for policy manual use to be considered at the next meeting."

The board and Sutt agreed to this arrangement.

Next, the board instructed Dr. Whitmer to outline events which ended in the resignation of Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent for personnel and public relations. Proud had been arrested on a morals charge which later was dropped.

Mrs. Farms had told the board she thought the board had not been giving the newspaper too much information.

Whitmer outlined substantially what had been published and added that a four-day investigation of the case by himself and School Attorney Harold Dudley had ended with the conclusion that, "the course of action that should be taken was very clear; this was conveyed to Dr. Proud last Thursday night."

ACCEPTED RESIGNATION

Dr. Proud's resignation was accepted Monday.

Following questions from a number of the audience, Whitmer also promised to investigate the use of psychological testing of employees.

Bernard Barach of 2376 Forest Drive, Sylvan Lake, said the board that such tests already were in use to some extent in Oak Park and Dearborn schools. But he admitted that:

"Both these districts have a more attractive pay scale than Pontiac and therefore are in a better position in recruiting teachers."

Whitmer had said earlier that, "We're out to sell Pontiac to new teacher applicants. Our job is to sell them on the advantages of working here. If we introduce such a step (psychological testing), we would greatly impair our capacity to hire people in this greatly competitive market."

However, after members of audience pressed for an investigation of the possible use of testing, Dr. Godsell announced Whitmer had agreed to look into the possibilities.

LAURENE RUTH GINGELL

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gingell, of 3880 Metamora Road, Oxford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Laurene Ruth to Arthur Harold Baldwin. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baldwin, of 3421 Brauer Road, Metamora Township. A Sept. 22 wedding is planned.

Should Steel Industry Be Allowed a Profit?

Mart Is Moderately Active

Steels Continue to Give Ground

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels continued to give ground as the stock market resumed its slide to new 1962 lows in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

U. S. Steel, down about 2 points, was the worst of its group as the company faced a grand jury investigation of monopoly charges arising out of the steel price boom.

Most of the other steels were moderately lower but Inland and Arco moved to the upside for a point or more.

Bond Prices Picking Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices opened steady to a shade higher today.

There were practically no movements of a full point or more, but the usually volatile issue convertible 4 3/8s sold at 115.

Utilities displayed some upward movement among corporate issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, Rails and industrials were no better than muted.

Lower by fractions among regional issues were: Pennsylvania Railroad 1 1/4s of 1981 at 73 3/4.

Goodrich 4 1/2s at 103 1/4 and Pacific Gas & Electric 3 1/2s of 1974 at 87 1/2.

Antismog Unit Gets Approval

Walker Manufacturing Says California OK'd System for Autos

JACKSON (AP)—The Walker Manufacturing Co. says that a new antismog automotive pollution control system developed in its laboratories at Jackson and Racine, Wis., has been approved by the state of California.

California requires an antismog device on all new cars sold there. The Walker Manufacturing Co. is president of engineering and research, said at Racine the new system prevents smog-producing pollutants from escaping into the atmosphere.

It was approved by the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board Wednesday.

Powers explained the system draws fresh air into the engine crankcase through the oil fill cap, passes the air through the crankcase and then the air cleaner by a tube or "blow-by" hose. The air goes through the cleaner and back into the engine, driven by a vacuum in the air cleaner.

Walker designs and manufactures exhaust systems, filters and lifting equipment.

Walker's research and field testing laboratories are here and at Racine, its headquarters are in Racine, and it has plants there as well as in Jackson, La. Mo., Iowa, Harrisburg, Va., Aberdeen, Miss., and Galt, Ont.

NEW YORK—Anger and surprise over the steel price rise today in the business community is being translated into a two-pronged attack on the steel industry.

It is a dirty word? Some corporate executives say labor and government seem to think so.

Are prices administered by individual companies or whole industries without regard to the effect on consumer pocketbooks or on inflationary pressures? Some critics of business, in and out of Congress, charge they are.

Should wages rise whenever new machines or better production methods turn out more goods for less man labor? Union leaders say labor is entitled to the benefits, especially if jobs have been lost in the process. But corporate leaders hold that the companies should share in the fruits.

And that brings us back to profits. Management says that profits are basic to our economic way of life. No one would invest in a business project if there wasn't a chance of making a profit. If profits are squeezed to the vanishing point, a company eventually goes out of business. Jobs go down the drain. And if other companies fold, the consumer goods they have been turning out amongst them disappear.

The steel companies are making the point that under our economic system the companies should set the prices—not the government—except in time of national emergency, such as war, when the government sets up wage and price controls. They add that the history of such controls is that their effectiveness is far from perfect. The extreme example is a black market in goods made scarce by unprofitable prices.

MEANS JOBS

Profits are defended not only because that's the way to get initial investments by stockholders, but also because that's the way to get the funds (either by retained earnings or as a basis for borrowing) to expand the business and update its equipment. Between the two initial investment and profit-backed expansion—that's the way the private sector of the American economy has grown.

And a champion of the profit system point out that such economic growth means jobs. An all-out effort to expand the economy, without the economic stagnation and loss of jobs. An alternative would be government ownership.

The story also said in part: A survey of a general opinion on steel prices, in supermarkets and other places where people congregate "turned up a vastly different response."

More than 60 per cent of these people said the steel price increase is not called for at this time and will cause harmful effects on the nation's economy.

Most of the other businessmen were reported to have said they lacked enough information at this point to make a judgment, and few openly backed President Kennedy's stand that the price increases were justified.

The Journal said a sampling made in the 20 cities across the nation found two-thirds of the businessmen who were polled firmly backing the decision made by the U. S. Steel Corp. to raise prices.

Reports Public, Business at Odds on Steel Price Hike

NEW YORK (AP)—The Wall Street Journal reported today that a survey it made in 20 cities indicates a majority of the nation's business leaders believe the steel price increases announced this week are justified, but the general public tends to disagree.

The Journal said a sampling made in the 20 cities across the nation found two-thirds of the businessmen who were polled firmly backing the decision made by the U. S. Steel Corp. to raise prices.

Most of the other businessmen were reported to have said they lacked enough information at this point to make a judgment, and few openly backed President Kennedy's stand that the price increases were justified.

U.S. Robbing Big Steel

Access to Berlin Key in New Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new round of U.S.-Soviet talks on the possibility of a Berlin settlement is expected to concentrate at the outset on the problem of guaranteed access for Western powers between West Germany and Berlin.

The first session will be held here Monday by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

The United States set forth its ideas on the requirements of an access agreement in an informal working paper submitted to Allied governments earlier this week in preparation for the talks.

The U.S. proposal, circulated for allied reaction and comment, is understood to have stressed the need for guarantees by the Soviet Union of unhindered access to West Berlin by surface and air routes. The possibility was raised that this could be arranged under an international authority that has operational control of the supply

Pontiac Offer Impresses IRS

Official Tells Stierer to Submit Best Idea for Data Center

An Internal Revenue Service official in Washington, D.C., said he was "impressed" with a presentation from Pontiac officials outlining advantages of Pontiac as the site for a proposed $2-million IRS data processing center.

Bruce McNair, IRS director of facilities management, told City Manager Robert A. Stierer to "submit your best proposition" to IRS and General Services Administration (GSA) officials in Chicago.

CONFERRED FOR HOUR

McNair conferred for an hour with Stierer, Mayor Philip E. Rowston, City Attorney William A. Ewart, City Commissioner Milton R. Henry and Max T. Adams, Manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The delegation showed McNair maps and charts including three sites available for the center and several alternate sites that might be made available.

"We outlined two 10-acre sites downtown north of Auburn Avenue, one on the west and one on the east side of the city," Stierer said.

"The third site is 27 acres south of Auburn and Orchard Lake Avenue on both sides of Saginaw."

"All three are in the urban renewal area and inside the proposed postmaster road," Stierer explained this morning.

Alternate sites were outside the downtown area. Stierer said it would be illegal to give urban renewal land to another governmental agency, but that it could be made available by selling it to a private developer who could build the center and lease it to federal officials.

"We will discuss the possible offers with City Commissioners next week," he said.

Congress OKs Doubling of Peace Corps Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress voted to more than double the Peace Corps budget and let the agency sign up thousands of new volunteers.

The Senate passed the authorization bill Thursday and sent it to President Kennedy, who has asked for the expansion.

Snowstorm Moving East After Hitting Midwest

From Our News Wire
A record-setting spring storm which the U.S. Weather Bureau called the "avast" pushed into the North Atlantic states today after sweeping up to a foot of snow on the Midwest.

The Western power, by contrast, remain firmly committed to the maintenance of their protective forces in isolated West Berlin and to some kind of guarantee against Communist interference with the flow of traffic between West Berlin and West Germany.

Two inches of snow fell in Lansing. The snow was mixed with rain. Roads were reported icy from Benton Harbor to Paw Paw.

However, warmer weather was forecast for tomorrow by the U.S. Weather Bureau. Temperatures will rise to the 50s in southern Michigan.

Light snow fell at Gaylord, Bay City and Traverse City.

Highways in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin ranged from snow-laden to impassable.

Forty-mile winds fanned deep drifts in Iowa, where one traffic death was blamed on the snow.

ALBANY COVERED
A 4-inch snowfall was reported at Albany, N.Y., early today. Blinghamton, N.Y., had three inches of snow in 6 hours last night. It was snowing in Connecticut, but it melted as fast as it fell.

PYRONIA, MINN., MEASURED 11 inches of snow. At Minneapolis, a 6-inch snowfall forced postponement of the Twins' scheduled baseball opener with Los Angeles.

The half a foot of snow at Minneapolis gave the city a total of 81.3 inches for the year, making this the third snowiest in history.

Rochester, Minn., had 7 inches of new snow, making the April total 12.7 inches, breaking a record for the month set in 1945.

Viet Cong Ambush Post in Raid West of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas today overran a government military watchtower in a daring raid only 10 miles west of Saigon.

High military sources said the nine militiamen in the guard post in the village of My Hanh fought back but there was no match for the Viet Cong forces.

Troy Girl Going Up on Broadway

By DIK KLEINER
NEW YORK (NEA) — Around Broadway, people have the idea that, little and possessed of an odd, that Robert Morse is the star of gamine-like beauty.

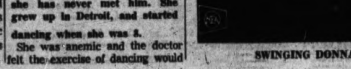

When she was 15, she joined a touring ballet company. After six weeks of touring, she found herself in New York, liked it and stayed.

"At first," she says, "my mother worried, but she's gotten over it. She knows I can take care of myself."

Donna is an ambitious girl, and set her sights on Broadway right from the start.

But a 15-year-old girl has a tough time getting a start. For three years, Donna supported herself by singing in a bar.

Officials Look for Collusion on Price Hikes

Shrug Off Executive's Story of Costs/Profits in Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big steel faced two momentous threats today as a newly ordered federal grand jury investigation took aim at the $6-a-ton steel price increase.

The possible lines of government attack, now officially confirmed by the Justice Department are:

1. Possible criminal penalties against the price-raising firms and their executives if the government can find and prove any price collusion.

2. A move to dismember the industry's giant, U.S. Steel Corp., if the government can convince a federal court that it "dominates the industry that it controls prices and should be broken up."

"HIKE NECESSARY"
Administration officials disputed or shrugged off the 35-minute defense of the price rise made by U.S. Steel's chairman, Roger M. Blough, in a televised news conference Thursday in New York. There was no comment from President Kennedy.

Blough said the increases were necessary "to the welfare, the strength and the vitality of the nation." He would, he said, partially correct a profit squeeze that handicaps American steel in meeting stiffening world competition.

Blough said he was surprised at the angry reaction of Kennedy on Wednesday, since to accuracy were asked by the White House and none were given that prices would not be raised after last week's steel labor settlement.

Kennedy, who gave his blessings to the union contract agreement on Wednesday, said the investigation of the 50-ton increase put into effect Wednesday and Thursday by U.S. Steel Corp. and several other large companies.

Neither Arco Steel Corp., the sixth-ranking producer, nor Inland Steel Co., the No. 8 firm, has indicated whether it would follow suit.

Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, was asked Thursday at a news conference whether the price markup could stick if Arco and Inland decided against a similar increase.

"It would definitely affect us," Blough said, "and I don't know how long we can maintain our position."

He interrupted a followup question.

If Two Competitors Hold Out Might Have to Scrap Steel Hike

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph L. Block, chairman of Inland Steel Co., was quoted by the Chicago Daily News today as saying his firm will not follow the rise in steel prices.

By ROGER LANE
Associated Press Business Writer

NEW YORK — A possibility has been raised that the steel price rise might have to be canceled if two Western producers held out against it.

It developed even as the government moved for a grand jury investigation of the 50-ton increase put into effect Wednesday and Thursday by U.S. Steel Corp. and several other large companies.

Neither Arco Steel Corp., the sixth-ranking producer, nor Inland Steel Co., the No. 8 firm, has indicated whether it would follow suit.

Rain Forecast for Tiger Game

Detroit Spokesmen Say Every Effort Will Be Made to Play

From Our News Wire
DETROIT — Old temperatures accompanied by rain and a rain-mix mixture were forecast today at gametime for the Detroit Tigers' 1962 home opener with the New York Yankees.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures in the high 30s will prevail at the 1:30 p.m. start of the Tigers' home season. Rain earlier today was expected to change into snow or snow flurries this afternoon.

However, Tiger spokesmen said every possible effort would be made to play the game.

Manager Bob Schefeling said he would open with Frank Lary "with Phil Regan going Saturday and either Don Mossi or Jim Bunning Sunday."

Lary will be trying to improve on his 27-10 lifetime average against the Bronx Bombers when he opposes 25-year-old Yankee right-hander Bill Stafford.

Con Action

LANSING (AP) — Secretary surmounting some of the legislature's committee actions would be curtailed under a proposal given an overwhelming stamp of approval by the constitutional convention.

By a 124-3 vote, delegates adopted in committee-of-the-whole debate yesterday a provision which would require that every legislative committee keep a recorded roll call vote on all action taken on bills and resolutions. The proposal added:

"Such vote shall be available to public inspection."

Three Republicans voted against the proposal — Richard Kuhn of Pontiac, Lewis Hobbs of Gladwin, and Stanley Everett of Battle Creek. Julius Sieder, R-Traverse City, switched his vote after it became apparent the motion he approved overwhelmingly.

Kuhn said he opposed the amendment because he felt the legislature should write its own rules of conduct.

"We decided here (at the convention) whether to have open meetings," he declared, "and we should not try to tell them what to do over there."

Troy Girl Rising on the NY Stage

self dancing whenever and where she could — in summer stock, industrial shows, television commercials.

It hasn't been an easy life for a rich one, but it's been enough to enable her to eat, to study, to stay.

She auditioned for three Broadway shows before "How to Succeed" without success. And so this show marks her first time on the actual Broadway stage.

As a chorus girl, her salary is $113, according to the Equity scale. But the entire chorus was given a $5 raise after the opening night reviews indicated the scope of the show's success. Her take home pay is $92 a week.

She spends $70 a month to rent her small apartment, which she shares with a friend, a secretary.

But the biggest bite out of that $92 is a $50-a-week sum which Donna spends on lessons.

She takes a three-hour acting session three days a week. She studies singing for an hour twice a week. ("That's the most expensive and that's all I can afford.") And she goes to dancing class for two hours "whenever I can squeeze it in, usually three times a week."

She is obviously not getting rich as a chorus girl, but she does make extra money doing television commercials and odd dancing jobs. She recently, for example, earned $50 by doing a three-minute twist to dance at which she excels for a company introducing a new twist guitar.

Money matters aside, life in the chorus is "wonderful." She says the company is a happy one, and her pretty face shows the happy expression of a contented girl.

There isn't much chance for a solo life, however. And the sex of the rich requires hanging around the stage doors seems unhappy, to be over.

Once, however, Donna thought they might be coming back. A big bouquet of roses was delivered to her at the theater, accompanied by a note which read, "I enjoyed your performance — will you have dinner with me?"

The note was unsigned, but a little detective work uncovered the fact that the sender was in the cast of "Camelot," who had attended a Sunday night benefit performance of "How to Succeed."

For reasons which she keeps to herself, Donna didn't accept the date.

The chorus line is just a steppingstone for Donna; at least, that's her hope.

"I'm very ambitious," she says. "I want to be a star. I think I'll like acting, although that is very new to me, and I do love singing. But, of course, dancing is what I really love. My agent says he thinks I could be like Carol Lawrence, who's done all three."

Donna McConchie is one of the Birds of Broadway who seems to be on her way to a high perch.

Detroit Papers Plan to Publish Joint Edition

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's two daily newspapers, closed by a strike of Teamsters at the Detroit Free Press, today prepared to publish a combined Sunday edition.

Announcement of the combined Sunday edition was made by Robert C. Butz, executive secretary of the Detroit Newspapers Publishing Association.

Teamsters local 372 struck the Free Press Wednesday in a contract dispute. The union did not resume the strike.

Teamster drivers left the News today and went to the nearby Free Press building to pick up previously prepared Sunday supplements for insertion in the combined edition.

There was no effort by the union to stop the News drivers. News drivers belong to the same local as the picketing Free Press drivers.

Wood, Kirby Opponents Again

Election of the man who will represent District 6 on the City Commission for the next two years could become the most exciting race in next Monday's general election.

The candidates are incumbent Commissioner Wesley J. Wood, seeking his third term, and Dick M. Kirby, making a second bid for the District 6 Commission seat.

District 6 Race to Be Exciting

The same two opposed each other in the 1960 election. Wood won by a slim margin of 18 votes.

The incumbent, a native of Rapid City, came to Pontiac in 1925 and has been closely associated with church activities since then. He is married and has a son and daughter, both married.

CHURCH TRUSTEE

Wood, 56, of 137 Michigan Ave., is a member of the Board of Trustees of the First United Methodist Church and Gideon International.

A member of United Auto Workers Local 294, Wood has been a General Motors Truck & Coach Division employee since 1941. Presently he is a service follow-up man. Wood attended schools in Yale, Brown City and Port Huron.

Kirby, 44, of 31 N. Edith St., has been a member of the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees since 1958. He is married and has four children.

BOYS CLUB BOOSTER

Active in the Pontiac Boys Club Kirby has also been on the budget and finance committee of the Michigan State Board of Education.

He is currently employed as business agent for the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, AFL-CIO.

Kirby was a candidate last year for Pontiac delegate to the constitutional convention. Prior to that he served on the public utility committee of the statewide coordinating committee for con-con and represented the building trades council on the Oakland coordinating committee.

Students Plan to Open Employment Office Soon

BIRMINGHAM — High school students in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area are planning to open an employment office in the school board's representative Community one next month on a trial basis.

Fifteen adult and ten-age representatives from five local schools, the Community House and the Birmingham Board of Education have been working out details of the plan the past month.

The first schools participating in the program are Bloomfield Hills, Brother Rice, Groves, Marian and Seaholm, representing a total student enrollment of 4,200.

Ward Oursind, executive director of the Community House, said there is "great interest and enthusiasm" about the project which will consolidate the names of all job seeking students in a central office.

"This would ease the task of employers seeking part-time workers," he said.

The Community House will provide facilities for an adult coordinator who will fill the requests of employer's from a master file of available workers.

Registration of interested students will be conducted in the near future at each school.

The group is presently seeking an adult coordinator who will work at the Community House weekdays, 2:30 to 5 p.m., and Saturdays, 9:30 a.m. to noon.

They also are conducting a survey of employers to determine their needs.

Adult and student representatives from each school who are serving on the employment office committee include Mary White, counselor, and Pam Waggoner of Bloomfield Hills High; and Mrs. Ellen Keenan, assistant librarian, J.W. Davis and John O'Hara of Brother Rice.

Others are Fred Baker, counselor, and Dolores Magary of Groves High; Mrs. Louis Kaste, Mother's Club member, and Karen Kaste of Marion High.

Wins Bean Queen Title

ITHACA (AP) — Sharyn McKenzie, a 17-year-old senior from St. Louis High School, is Gratiot County's 1962 Bean Queen. The blond new queen knows something about her job. She helped her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Elton McKenzie, harvest 150 acres of beans on their farm outside Breckenridge last year. She succeeds Linda Allen of Ithaca, who also won election as Michigan Bean Queen last year.

Federal Officials Give City OK on Property for 2nd Urban Project

"I have spent the past 12 years representing people, expressing their views and solving their problems," said a member of the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees and the budget and admissions board of the Michigan State United Fund.

"I experienced many financial problems that I feel qualify me to help return Pontiac to a pay-as-you-go basis."

"Our new civic center is a beautiful thing, but let's face the facts. We are not attempting to progress too rapidly. The multimillion dollar retooling of the Clinton River and other expensive projects in the planning stages will exhaust our capital improvement funds for years to come."

"Furthermore, for the first time since the early thirties we face the prospect of borrowing to pay our city employees wages for the remainder of the fiscal year."

"This is proof that we are apparently living on next year's taxes. What has happened to our 'pay-as-you-go' government?"

Detroit Hotel Planned

DETROIT (AP) — Financial arrangements for construction of Detroit's first major downtown hotel in more than 35 years were announced today by its backers.

The 25-story, 432-room Civic Center Hotel, to be erected opposite Cobo Hall, will cost $10 to $12 million and is expected to be completed in June 1964.

William Gerstenson, president of the Downtown Investment Co., the hotel developer, and Alfred R. Glancy Jr., president of Plaza Land Corp., which obtained the site, said the hotel will be financed with a loan from the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, which will hold a multi-million dollar mortgage.

Incumbent Wins Local Presidency

Gerald W. Kehoe was elected to his third two-year term as president of UAW Local 588, at Fisher Body Division, by the slim margin of 111 votes yesterday.

Kehoe, 50, defeated Edwin Johnson, a skilled tradesman at the local plant, by a vote of 1,134 to 1,023.

The hotly contested battle for the presidency was resolved one week after initial balloting, had narrowed the three-candidate field down to Kehoe and Johnson.

Also decided yesterday was a trusteeship.

Elected trustee was Verne Kennedy. He defeated Lucille Bowles 1,130 to 1,015. Kennedy was the incumbent.

Zoo Officials Eating Crow Over Raven

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials of the Central Park Zoo are eating crow today because of a mislabeled raven.

The raven — immortalized in classic verse by Edgar Allan Poe — has for the past several months been identified by a sign on his cage as a common, unsexed crow.

Ornithologists caught the error. Zoo officials, quick to admit their mistake, explained that the raven's cage once also contained a crow. The crow had died, and somebody took down the wrong sign.

Come Loaded Down With Cameras

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Newsfeatures

Excitement and the enthusiasm of photography were very much in evidence in New York City recently with the opening of the first International Photo Fair by a new group of photo show backers.

It was a nine-day event to which camera fans flocked to see, hear, absorb and participate. They could see the latest in equipment, hear experts explain or demonstrate their specialties, view outstanding exhibitions and, above all, have fun snapping away at glamorous models, celebrities and photogenic activities.

I joined the opening-day crowd outside the fortress-like walls of the 71st Regiment Armory and noted the large proportion of fans who came prepared to shoot pictures. Many had two or three cameras slung over their shoulders.

They were the enthusiasts who keep one camera reserved for color or loaded with a different type of film or who didn't want to lose time changing film.

PLENTY OF ACTION

A carnival spirit prevailed inside. Groups pushed along from exhibit booth to exhibit booth stopping to study the many new items which had been introduced only a few weeks earlier in Chicago to photo dealers.

In the center of the main floor was the "Great Stage," a three-foot-high platform like a prize-fight ring, around which Interior Dept. Names Regent at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (U-P)—Donald M. D. Thuermer, a University of Michigan regent, yesterday was named a special consultant to the Department of the Interior. Secretary Udall announced the appointment in Washington.

Thuermer is to coordinate work of private and public non-governmental groups in national conservation programs. This will include fund raising.

Udall said there is a need for better interchange of information with government agencies on these programs.

Thuermer, a Democrat, is president of Public Relations Consultants Inc. He has been a university regent since 1958.

Doctors Attend Meeting

Among the Pontiac area doctors attending the four-day scientific meeting currently conducted by the American Academy of General Practice in Las Vegas are Dr. John P. Williams of West Bloomfield Township, Dr. Joseph J. Nosanchuk of Pontiac and Dr. James R. Blakeney of Pontiac.

Seven U.S. Presidents were native sons of Ohio. They were Garfield, Hayes, Grant, Harrison, Taft, McKinley and Warren Harding.

the crowd gathered on all sides. Performers and demonstrations were scheduled there every hour, ranging from trampoline acrobatics to fashion, beauty and magic shows.

For hobbyists who wished to improve their skills, demonstrations and lectures on photographic techniques were presented hourly in a "Hall of Learning," a tent-like area with seats. Dark-room chemistry, color printing at home, editing home movies, flash and travel photography were some of the subjects explained.

The "Little Theatre" was another screened-off area where slide and movie showings were also put on regularly at hourly intervals.

Some of the typical presentations there, designed to improve camera craftsmanship by inspirational example, were: "Around the World in 80 Slides" by Harvey Menton, "Use of Photographic Filters" by Norman Rothchild, "Slide Showmanship" by James Cleary, plus several movies by Ansel Adams.

For viewing pleasure, more than half a dozen separate exhibitions were scattered around the rim of the floor to browse through.

Yousuf Karsh's portraits of famous men and women, 76 in all, were obtained from the Smithsonian Institution.

"Photography and the Civil War" is a collection of more than 100 pictures prepared by Amco from Mathew Brady original negatives and others from the National Archives.

Special exhibits on "Space Photography" and "Photography in National Defense" focused on photography's role in today's world.

Photo journalism was represented by a display of selections from the 18th annual Newspictures of the Year competition sponsored by the National Press Photographers Association and the University of Missouri.

Algeria Only One of Many Losses

Proud French Empire Crumbles

PARIS (AP) — When France gives independence to Algeria, the once proud and farflung French overseas empire will be reduced to a collection of islands, a patch of South American jungle and a bit of rock and sand on the tip of East Africa.

The rest, which stretched the French tricolor around the globe, has emerged into a group of independent countries.

Four segments of empire—French Guiana, Martinique, Guadeloupe, and Reunion—were raised in 1947 to the status of overseas departments (counties) of metropolitan France, and their present position is roughly comparable to that of Hawaii and Alaska in the United States.

Reunion is an island in the Indian Ocean. Included too are several nearby smaller islands and, technically at least, a slice of Antarctica known as Adelle Land. Guadeloupe includes several smaller isles in the West Indies.

RAIL TERMINUS

In addition there are:

French Somaliland, an area of 9,000 square miles around the East African port of Djibouti, terminus of the French-built railroad to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

New Caledonia, an island of some 7,300 square miles of north-east Australia, and several nearby smaller islands.

French Polynesia, a collection of many islands in the South Pacific totaling about 2,500 square miles. The best known is Tahiti, the site of Papeete, the capital. Between Polynesia and New Caledonia are two islands, Wallis and Futuna, which formerly were administered from New Caledonia only 93 square miles off New Caledonia.

Clipperton, a tiny, uninhabited island off of Mexico.

Since the beginning of World War II the following have left French rule:

Syria and Lebanon, in the Middle East, formerly French mandates from the old League of Nations. Their independence was recognized by the Free French during the war and confirmed at the end of the war.

French Indochina, in Southeast Asia, which became fully independent in 1954. This area is now Communist-ruled North Viet Nam, the Western-ruled South Viet Nam, and the kingdoms of Laos and Cambodia.

Tunisia and Morocco, former protectorates in North Africa, became fully independent in 1956.

Since 1958, Madagascar and all of French Africa roughly south of the Sahara, have become independent states, including Guinea, Mauritania, Mali, the Ivory Coast, the Republic of Niger, Upper Volta and Dahomey. Top, a former League of Nations mandate which is wedged between Dahomey and Gambia, also became independent.

ENCLAVES IN INDIA

Others now independent are the Chad Republic, Gabon, the Central African Republic and the Republic of the Congo (Brazzaville), all formerly part of French Equatorial Africa. Cameroon, former League of Nations mandate also became independent.

Five small French enclaves in India were turned over to Indian de facto administration after India's own independence. The treaty which makes the de jure transfer is still pending in the French Parliament.

Catholic Unit to Run Integrated Resort

CHICAGO (AP) — A racially integrated summer resort begins operations May 27 at Benton Harbor, Mich., under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago, an archdiocese spokesman said yesterday.

The Rev. George Clements, director of the program, said he believes it will be the first summer resort in the Midwest operating on an integrated basis.

"Some resorts accept Negro guests, but you could not say they cater to Negro families," Father Clements said. "We want people of both groups, white and Negro, to feel equally welcome in our facilities."

Set Off 27th N-Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has touched off another low yield underground blast at its Nevada test site. Yesterday's test was the 27th announced in the current series and Caledonia had the blast equivalent of not more than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Benny Goodman to Give Concert in Moscow Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny Goodman will appear in Moscow for the first jazz concert of his Soviet tour on May 30, his 50th birthday.

A spokesman for the clarinet virtuoso said yesterday Goodman and his group are scheduled to leave Seattle May 28 for the 5 to 10 week tour of Soviet cities.

Goodman will also appear as a soloist with Soviet symphony orchestras and chamber music groups.

The tour is being conducted under the terms of cultural agreement signed by the United States and the Soviet Union last March 8.

Command Plane Stands by

WASHINGTON (AP)—At an airfield a few minutes by helicopter from the White House, a big silver plane stands ready for flight at any hour.

Its crew is never far. It is guarded by Air Force policemen and dogs.

This is no ordinary Air Force plane, although it looks about the same as tankers used to refuel bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

It is a new airborne command post specially fitted as a refuge for President Kennedy and the top command in event of a surprise nuclear attack. There are three such planes, one always standing by.

If war should come, the nation's defense and counterattack could well be directed from one of these four jet, swept wing giants cruising more than 40,000 feet above the earth.

Aerial command posts intended specifically for the President have been in operation for about two months. Their existence has been kept under wraps.

Together with an underground sanctuary in Maryland and the Navy command ship Northampton in the Atlantic, the planes provide alternate emergency headquarters from which the President and defense chiefs could prosecute a war in safety, even though key government and military centers are destroyed.

IN CONSTANT CONTACT
Packed with elaborate communications equipment, they can instantly contact U.S. forces around the world. With air refueling and enough supplies they can stay aloft for days.

These command planes, converted KC135 turbojet tankers, form another element in a growing system designed to assure uninterrupted control of U.S. ground, air and sea forces under all circumstances.

The presidential planes are much like the command aircraft which the Strategic Air Command has been flying for 14 months.

Sources said the presidential command post planes evolved from SAC's system and incorporated many of its features.

Since February 1961, SAC has maintained a command plane aloft at all times. Three aircraft have been assigned to this mission.

SAC announced yesterday it will increase its airborne command and control capability this year by adding more specially modified KC135s and, for the first time, B47 jet bombers adapted to this task.

The number was not announced, but it was learned 20 more KC135s and four B47s will be made into airborne command posts for SAC. Gen. Thomas S. Power, SAC's chief, said in a New York speech earlier this week that the command post planes always carry a staff and a general "qualified to assume command of our forces in case the main command post at SAC headquarters (Omaha, Neb.) as well as the various alternate headquarters throughout the country should be put out of commission."

SAC command planes also keep constant contact with the joint war room and Air Force command post in the Pentagon.

The KC135s are rated at better than 600 miles an hour. The tanker version costs about $3.5 million each, but the command types probably are considerably more expensive.

U.S. Steel Price Hike Will Benefit S. Africa

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—A senior official of the Iron and Steel Corp. said Thursday night price hikes by American steel companies will help South Africa's steel exports.

He said the nation's steel prices will not be increased and expanding production will provide increased export stocks.

South Africa is seeking to increase its foreign outlets for steel.

—Earl Wilson.

235 Tickets Win Man Title as Scofflaw King

NEW YORK (AP)—A man arrested yesterday for ignoring at least 235 traffic tickets was named the new scofflaw king by traffic court officials.

The defendant, Harry Katz, 45, was arraigned before Chief Magistrate Abraham M. Bloch and held in $7,800 bail for a hearing April 25.

Police said that former scofflaw king Eugene Doriot Heil, had 196 unanswered tickets and was fined $6,175 and 60 days in jail last June 19.

Arbor Day Is Ninety Years Old in April

April is the month when man pays homage to trees.

During this month, many tree-conscious communities throughout the land will celebrate the 90th anniversary of Arbor Day.

The great day was born April 10, 1872, in the state then known as "free Nebraska," by J. Sterling Morton, later to become Secretary of Agriculture. More than 1,000,000 trees were planted across the Nebraska prairies for the occasion.

Willard West, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., points out that, while tree planting festivals have been held in many lands for centuries, no one ever set aside a special annual date for the event until Mr. Morton arrived on the scene. He fathered the plan and gave the name for the holiday. Eventually, these Arbor Day projects became so popular that the Nebraska legislature in 1895 adopted the title, "Tree Planter's State." It also changed the official observance to April 22—the date of Morton's birth.

In the years since, every state has adopted the idea although the date of its observance varies widely due to climatic conditions. In the North, the day is generally observed in April while in the South it may occur any time from December to February.

Even foreign lands now have special tree planting days. Among the more prominent are Canada, England, Australia, Germany, France, Norway and Japan. Russia is also on the tree parade. In this country, most schools observe Arbor Day with special tree planting ceremonies. And today, many persons active in tree care and forest preservation work first learned to know and love their leafy friends on such a childhood Arbor Day.

CAMELLIA BRIGADOON — Brigadoon is a new hybrid camellia which introduces startling new beauty into the camellia world. It combines the hardiness and free-blooming qualities of camellia saluenensis with the large flowers and brilliant colors of the more familiar Camellia japonica. The flower of Brigadoon is semi-double with 12 to 15 large, crisp petals. It averages four to five inches across in a beautiful shade of clear, brilliant pink. The flowers never ball up and always open up perfectly to display their spectacular color and form. The upright plant with its dark olive-green pointed leaves is extraordinarily free with its blooms. Even as a very young plant, it blooms and blooms.

Compost Pile Pays Big Dividends

The simplest way to start a compost pile is to put up turkey wire in a circle about six feet in diameter. An out-of-sight location should be selected. The fencing will hold leaves piled within it. To expedite the decomposition of the leaves, alternate each six-inch layer of leaves with about a quarter inch layer of soil or a complete chemical fertilizer. It's a good idea to keep the compost pile moist, but not soaked. After every few weeks or so, shovel the leaves over so that mixture is thorough.

Spray for Gypsy Moth

Trees may be protected from gypsy mother caterpillars by spraying with DDT or arsenate of lead. You may get rid of egg clusters by saturating them with a creosote base shingle stain diluted with kerosene. Contact insecticides such as nicotine sulfate and malathion will help control leaf-eaters.

Extravagant Claims May Be Clue to Phoney Outfit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Garden rackets soon will be blooming in newspapers and on radio.

You can spend a chunk of money on such things as plants and lawn supplies and the flowers will still be prettier and the grass greener on the other side of the street.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) advised that if advertisements—especially the mail-order kind—smell too flowery, take a second sniff and check on the source of the offer.

Extravagant claims of exotic blooming flowers, heavy-bearing berry or fruit plants and rapid-growing trees often will be the tipoff to "fly-by-night" and "one-shot" outfits, the FTC said.

The commission emphasized that the "great majority" of mail-order nurseries are legitimate and said its war against deceptive advertising by the "unscrupulous dealers" was aimed at protecting honest companies as well as the public.

"The malpractices of a few threaten to give the entire industry a bad name," a spokesman said.

While warning the public to be on the lookout, the commission had a pre-spring message for "steady operators": do some fast pruning—of all false and misleading claims from promotional material.

The "fly-by-night" and "one-shot" operators, the FTC said, often conduct profuse advertising campaigns through the mail, in newspapers and on radio. "They hail products as a 'new discovery' or a 'fabulous value.' Often, however, the plants are very small, young, stunted or even unhealthy."

Sometimes, the spokesman added, the customer might receive in the mail only a batch of dried sprouts or twigs, with no guarantees.

The commission also cautioned housewives against being taken in by "door-to-door" experts on landscaping and by peddlers posing as nursery agents, selling plants, shrubs and other products from an impressive catalog.

Crossing Two Roses Was Start of Baby Ramblers

Polyantha roses are also known as baby ramblers. They originated from the crossing of the hybrid tea with hardy climbing roses.

The resulting plants were dwarf bushes, bearing large clusters of small flowers, blooming profusely. They are especially valuable for massing in beds and borders and for edging beds of larger roses.

Because of growing preference for professionally started plants, sales of potted plants reached the all-time high of more than $350,000,000 during 1961.

Our grass looks wonderful . . . since we started feeding it Turf Builder*

[*The fertilizer that seems to know when grass is hungry]

Obviously it isn't feasible to feed your lawn every day as you do your family. Fortunately you don't have to—at least not when you use TURF BUILDER,* the knowing fertilizer. It releases its nutrients to the grass as needed.

How is this possible? It's due to the unique composition of this fertilizer developed specifically for lawns by Scotts—the company known for half a century for its quality lawn products and authoritative advice on lawn culture.

With Turf Builder you can grow grass on any soil, even subsoil!

Most lawns, particularly in new home areas, have poor soil—too hard, too loose—often nothing more than subsoil. Recognizing this, Scotts scientists designed the new Turf Builder to help the grass roots themselves improve the soil they live in—grow their own humus, so to speak.

What a lawn fertilizer should provide—and Turf Builder does!

- 1 Built-in controlled release of nutrients to supply food to grass as needed, thus avoiding surge growth which causes mowing problems.
- 2 High protein-building power. Protein is the key to healthy, sturdy grass that's fresh and sparkling green.
- 3 Ingredients designed to promote development of rhizomes and tillers that form an underground network of new plants to give a more closely knit turf.
- 4 Easy, convenient application—in the form of clean, free-flowing granules which are odorless both before and after use. Nothing to attract flies, mosquitoes, gnats.

5 Light to lift, and no danger of burning the grass.

6 Complete compatibility with seeding—so fertilizer can be spread right on top of seed, ready to give each new plant a sturdy start.

Any nice day is the day to apply Turf Builder. It is available at better hardware, garden and department stores. The cost is less than a penny a square yard. Your grass is probably hungry now!

Catholic Church's Most Severe Form of Censure

Excommunication Aims to Correct, Not to Punish

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Staff Writer
The word excommunication has an ominous ring.

To some, it may conjure up pictures of purple-robed ecclesiastics pointing accusing fingers at a cowering miscreant and banishing him to eternal perdition—rules for its members. Should a sort of verbal slinging of a public sinner, in a cinematic. Because the word is back in the news, in connection with the New Orleans dispute over integration of Catholic schools, it's worth examining in some detail. The Catholic Church, like any other organization, has certain rules for its members. Should a member deliberately and openly violate a rule, he forfeits some of the benefits of membership. provided he is fully aware of both the rule and the penalty.

That, broadly, is what excommunication is.

MOST SEVERE

It is the most severe form of church censure, used only as a last resort after persuasion has failed.

Acts which carry the penalty are defined in Catholic canon law. They range from forcing a person to become a priest or nun to selling indulgences and marrying before a non-Catholic minister. Key provisions, however, are that the offender knows that what he is about to do would result in excommunication but does it deliberately anyway.

In New Orleans, one of the segregationist leaders disclosed that a confidential letter she received from the archbishop said:

"We deem it our duty to attempt by you through word or deed to hinder our orders or provoke our devoted people to disobedience or rebellion against the church will subject you to excommunication."

The archbishop had refused to reveal the contents of the letter, which serves to point out that, as one authority put it, excommunication is medicinal rather than punitive. Its aim is to protect the church and correct the offender; punishment is only a secondary purpose.

Nor is it intended to sever a person from God, only from the church. A person under the usual form of excommunication doesn't even lose membership in the church. He may attend all its services but may not take an active part in some of them, and may not receive any of the sacraments except penance (confession).

A more severe form of excommunication is rarely invoked and it is only for particularly grave crimes such as laying violent hands on the Pope. It usually requires that the person be named publicly. Thereafter he may not even enter the church.

There have been a number of cases of excommunication in the United States, one of them in Louisiana.

BEAT UP TEACHER
In 1955 Bishop Jules B. Jeanmard of Lafayette, La., excommunicated some parishioners who beat up a catechism teacher during an integration dispute. The bishop said anyone else who dares to interfere with the ministry of

Swainson Signs
Equal Pay Law

New Measure Prohibits
Salary Discrimination Against Women

LANSING (AP)—Women must be paid as much as men if they perform the same work under a new law in Michigan.

Gov. Swainson signed the equal pay bill yesterday, surrounded by women who helped push it through the legislature.

From now on, any employer who discriminates in the payment of wages between men and women similarly employed will be guilty of a misdemeanor. Wage discrimination must be based on factors other than sex.

"There never has been any valid reason why women should be paid less for doing exactly the same work as men," said the governor. "This law represents a great step forward in employment legislation in Michigan."

The state already had a law forbidding discrimination on account of sex in manufacturing employment.

Attending the bill-signing ceremony were women members of the House of Representatives and the constitutional convention and representatives of the Business and Professional Women's Association, the League of Women Voters and the Young Women's Christian Association.

Auerbach Believes Celtics
Have Regained Advantage

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Coach Red Auerbach feels the Celtics have regained the upper hand in the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

"The series has now turned in our favor—let them worry," Auerbach said Thursday after a Celtics comeback had produced a 115-103 victory over Los Angeles and knotted the best-of-seven competition 2-2.

The teams meet here Saturday night and in Los Angeles Monday. If a seventh game is needed it will be in Boston Wednesday night.

HOME ADVANTAGE

"It's down to a best-of-three series, now," Auerbach added. "We'll be playing two at home which is in our favor."

Laker hopes to foil Boston's bid for an unprecedented fourth straight NBA playoff title appears to rest squarely at the foot line.

In all four games to date, win or lose, Boston has managed more field goals but the Lakers have averaged nearly 15 more free throw chances per contest. Altogether, Los Angeles has converted 139 of 173 chances, Boston 86 of 116.

"We're not dead yet," said Laker coach Fred Schaus. "I think we can win one game in Boston."

Working to Halt Growth of Mushroom Industry

AVON TOWNSHIP — Some 30 mushroom growers near the township's eastern boundary have appealed to the board of trustees to prevent expansion of the township's tiny mushroom industry.

One new mushroom house has already been planned and others are expected as mushroom growers "edge over into Avon Township" from neighboring Shelby Township where a "crackdown" on the mushroom industry is getting under way, township officials said.

Residents of the Makary subdivision near Hamlin and Desquindre roads asked the township board to block construction of a new mushroom house planned for a site west of the subdivision.

A building permit has been refused for the proposed 80-by-40-foot structure until the zoning board rules on whether a mushroom house is permissible on agricultural land. The zoning board meets Wednesday.

Some claim that commercial zoning is required.

CREATES ODOUR
Objections to mushroom houses center on the odor created and the flies attracted by the compost used in cultivation.

The township's existing mushroom industry — consisting of two houses — is located in the same area, but north of Hamlin Road. The subdivision is south of the road.

Officials in Shelby Township, center of Michigan's mushroom industry, are considering a rezoning of mushroom-house areas to a residential classification.

This would make the mushroom industry a non-conforming use. As such, it would be unable to expand.

Shelby is also contemplating passage of an ordinance regulating the mushroom houses, including a ban on synthetic compost.

Shelby's planning commission has approved the rezoning, which now goes before the township board, and is still considering an ordinance.

PROBLEM SOLVED
Another problem the Avon Township board acquired as a result of complaints by residents has been solved after a two-year struggle.

Peter Christensen of 3901 W. Hamlin Road, has succumbed to court action against his alleged operation of an illegal dump on his property across the road from his home.

He agreed not to permit dumping and gave the township permission to post "No Dumping" signs and erect barricades on the property. The agreement was reached in Circuit Court where Christensen has appeared to answer contempt-of-court charges.

He had been accused of ignoring an injunction against dumping.

Although Christensen maintained he could not stop people from dumping during the night, township officials said they issued half a dozen tickets to daytime violators who admitted they paid Christensen for use of the dump.

U. of M. to Aid in NASA Plan

One of 10 Universities Chosen to Educate 100 Promising Scholars

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Michigan is one of 10 universities chosen by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to train 100 promising scientific and engineering scholars, beginning next fall, for the nation's space effort.

The cost of training the first group is estimated at $2 million, and James E. Webb, NASA administrator, said the scope of the program will be increased considerably in future years.

One criterion for selection will be the promise of being able to complete work for a doctorate in three years.

Recruits will receive $2,400 a year for 12 months of study, plus expense allowances up to $1,000 a year. Universities will be reimbursed for tuition, fees and other expenses.

Besides Michigan, other universities chosen are Chicago, California at Los Angeles, Maryland, Minnesota, Rice, Texas A. & M., Iowa State, Georgia Tech and Rensselaer Poly.

'No Hope to Adjourn Legislature on Time'

LANSING (UPI) — House Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, said today he has lost all confidence in his long-held hope of meeting the scheduled April 20 adjournment of the legislature.

He declined, however, to predict how much longer it might take to complete the work which remains undone.

Following a Republican caucus yesterday in which a discussion of tax proposals led to a long consideration of spending problems, Pears said he was now convinced there was "strong possibility" an extension of the session might be required.

Previously Pears and other leaders of both houses said they saw a "strong possibility" that all matters could be disposed of under the present schedule. No action has been taken to date on the major appropriations bills or tax proposals.

The GOP House caucus started on a batch of tax proposals made by a caucus committee to raise $97.6 million in new revenues, principally through the re-enactment of "nuisance taxes" which were allowed to expire last year.

No decision was made on whether the package as proposed should be put into bill form and presented to the House.

$36.25-Million Crop

LANSING — Michigan's 1961 vegetable crop was worth $36.25 million to state producers, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service has announced. Crop value here — some 3 per cent of the national total — was seventh highest in the nation, the service said.

Romeo Center Seeks Donations

60 Letters Sent Out Asking Aid for Youth, Civic Facility

ROME — Some 60 letters went out yesterday to clubs and organizations in this area seeking donations to the Romeo Youth and Civic Center.

The mailing kicked off the 1962-63 John Coin Drive to raise $5,000 for an expanded summer recreation program and development of half of a 10-acre parcel recently donated by Walter F. Sheets.

At the same time yesterday, "over-the-counter-sales" of the gold-1961 John Coin began at the Youth Center with Mrs. Roger N. Toothacker in charge.

The second and third phases of the drive will start after Easter. These will include solicitation of donations from industrial firms, businesses and professional men, and door-to-door canvassing of homes in the Romeo-Washington area.

"We are going to do our best to raise $5,000 this year, although we fell short of that goal last year," said Paul W. Brueke, chairman of the Romeo Building Authority which governs the youth center.

May 3 is the date of the first annual minimum tillage field day on the Oliver and Robert Mueller farm near Britton in Leawards County. Forty acres of land will be plowed and planted to corn using various methods that day.

Girls Take Honors in Oxford '62 Class

OXFORD — Two girls, Roni Kintz and Ann Pickford, have been named valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of the 1962 graduating class at Oxford High School.

Seat Belt Saves Driver in Crash

Southfield Man, 25, in Satisfactory Condition After Car Rams Truck

SOUTHFIELD — Police credited a safety belt with saving the life of a 25-year-old Southfield man who rammed his car into the rear of a gasoline truck here early today.

Malcolm Johnson of 2630 Nine Mile Road is in satisfactory condition at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, with a fractured arm and lacerations of the face.

Driver of the truck, Norman Brown, 37, of 7170 Howell St., Pontiac, told police he had stopped at the intersection of Telegraph and Northwestern Highway when Johnson crashed into the back of his trailer.

Brown, an employee of the Mobil Oil Co., was hauling 10,000 gallons of gasoline.

Johnson's car was demolished, according to police, and the safety belt was responsible for his not being hurled from the auto.

The truck and car were northbound on Telegraph when the accident occurred at 12:10 a. m.

Farmington Twp. to Ask County for Millage Increase

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — An additional three-tenths of a mill will be asked of the tax allocation board when the township's $33,000 preliminary budget is submitted to the county.

Supervisor Curtis H. Hall said the township is only receiving one mill from the county and the request for extra funds is a "reasonable one."

The preliminary budget is about $28,000 more than last year, due chiefly to added police protection and a proposed retirement plan for the police department.

Also included in the tentative budget is $26,000 in matching funds for a road improvement program.

Antismog Unit Gets Approval

Walker Manufacturing Says California OK's System for Autos

JACKSON — The Walker Manufacturing Co. says that its new antismog unit ventilating system developed in its laboratories at Jackson and Racine, Wis., has been approved for use on original equipment by the State of California.

California requires an antismog device on all new cars sold in the state. Walker, president of engineering and research at Racine, the new system prevents smog-producing fumes in an automobile crankcase from escaping into the atmosphere.

NEW YORK — Anger and protest over the steel price rise points up today the basic dispute over the relation of profits to prices and wages and how the fruits of gains in production should be distributed.

It is a dirty word, say some corporate executives who labor and government seem to think so.

Are prices administered by individual companies or whole industries without regard to the effect on consumer pocketbooks? Or is it an inflationary pressure? Some critics of business, in and out of Congress, charge they are. Others hold that price rises are solely the effect of rising wages and costs with the consumer the forgotten man.

Should wages rise whenever new machines or better production methods turn out more goods for less man labor? Union leaders say, especially if jobs have been lost in the process. But corporate leaders hold that the companies should share in the fruits.

because that's the way to get initial investments by stockholders, but also because that's the way to get the funds (either by retained earnings or as a basis for borrowing) to expand the business and improve its equipment. Between the two initial investment and profit would be government ownership.

The private sector of the American economy has grown. And the champions of the profit system point out that such economic growth means jobs. An all-out profits economy, they say, would mean economic stagnation and loss of jobs. An alternative would be government ownership.

The story also said in part: A survey of general opinion on steel corners, in supermarkets and other places where people can get "turned up" a very different response.

More than 60 per cent of these people said the steel price increase is not called for at this time and will cause harmful effects on the nation's economy.

Most of the other businessmen were reported to have said they lacked enough information at this point to make a judgment, and few openly backed President Kennedy's stand that the price increases were unjustified.

The steel companies are making the point that under our economic system the companies should set the prices—not the government—except in time of national emergency, such as war, when the government sets up wage and price controls. They add that the history of such controls is that their effectiveness is far from perfect. The extreme example is a black market in goods made scarce by unprofitable prices.

MEANS JOBS
Profits are defended not only because they are the basis of our economic way of life. No one would invest in a business "project" if there wasn't the chance of making a profit. If profits are squeezed to the vanishing point, a company eventually goes out of business. Jobs go down the drain. And if enough companies fold, the consumer goods they have been turning out amongst them disappear.

Seven Legislators Claim Dropping Bridge Fare Would Up Tourists
LANSING (AP)—Seven legislators, six of them from the Upper Peninsula, want to promote Michigan's tourist industry by lifting the toll on the Mackinac Bridge for one year.

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Del. who authored the bill, said his proposal would cost the state $5.5 million in interest on bonds that financed construction of the $100 million bridge.

"But the return to Michigan's economy might be 10 times the investment," he said.
"Michigan has a terrific network of highways; we have a summer climate unexcelled anywhere, so let's let people about them," he said. "And when they get here, let's give them a free ride across the greatest bridge in the world."

Montgomery, supported by the Upper Peninsula delegation in the House, also proposed a national advertising campaign to boom Michigan and the toll-free bridge linking its two peninsulas.
Upper Peninsula residents, he said, have complained that the $2.75 bridge toll has discouraged many tourists from crossing the Straits of Mackinac when they travel to northern Michigan.

Deputies estimated the car's speed at 40 m.p.h. when it failed to turn on the wet dirt road.

Market Mixed in Active Trade

Steels Continue Their Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels continued to back away in a mixed stock market today. Trading was moderately active.

U.S. Steel fell more than a point following disclosure that the company had been served with a subpoena in a grand jury investigation of monopoly charges arising out of the steel price boost.

"Big Steel" dropped 1 1/2 to 66 on an opening bid of 6.000.

A scattering of gains relieved a drab picture elsewhere in the list as Wall Street moved cautiously following yesterday's sharp drop to a new low for 1962.

Other major steels limited their losses. Jones & Laughlin and Youngstown Sheet gave up fractions. Bethlehem and Republic eased.

There were practically no movements of a full point or more among the usually volatile light convertible 4-7s lost 1 1/2. Lower by fractions among regular issues were: Pennsylvania Railroad 4 1/4 of 1961 at 72 3/4. Goodrich 4 1/4 at 103 1/4 and Pacific Gas & Electric 3 1/4 of 1971 at 87 1/4.
