Rifle Issued to Civil War Hero

By HAROLD S. COHEN

Pontiac's Civil War hero is armed again after several years of facing south and awaiting the enemy with his bare fists thrust forward as his only defense.

The hero is a statue of a Union Veteran erected in 1927 at the corner of Oakland and Saginaw streets by the Daughters of Union Veterans.

This morning a contingent of police officers replaced the ancient rifle stolen from the statue's hands by vandals, and the soldier is once again on guard in the little triangular park in which the memorial stands.

The rifle was found by patroling Waterford Township officers last Friday night lying on the shoulder of a road, apparently heaved out of a passing car.

The monument, now the property of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was the scene of a near renewal of the Civil War two years ago.

"If my people back home ever heard I was fixin' up a Yankee monument, they would sure enough run me clean out of the country," one unreconstructed Reb told his frantic sergeant.

Another commented, "With his hands cupped like that, one over the other, he sure seems like a true Yankee, just ready to shake them dice come payday."

Today, the Yankee soldier stands armed again gazing at the horizon where in the morning mist the shadowy forms in the enemy's camp can be seen forming ranks for another day's battle.

Low of 45 Tonight, Rain or Drizzle

Rain or drizzle is the forecast for the Pontiac area tonight. There will be little change in temperature. A low of 45 is expected.

Tomorrow will be cloudy with occasional rain and a mild high of 50.

In its five-day forecast, the U. S. Weather Bureau says temperatures will average around six degrees above normal. The normal high will be 47 and the normal low 33.

Rain amounting to one-half inch is expected Thursday, Friday and Sunday. Saturday will be mild and the warmest day of the week.

Forty was the lowest recorded temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. At 2 p.m. the reading was 46.

GM Offering Profit Return

Corporation Reverses Earlier Stand in Dispute on Air Force Contract

NEW ORLEANS — Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La) announced last night General Motors Corporation has offered to return to the Air Force over half of an alleged $17 million "excess profit" earned on an airplane construction contract.

Hebert, chairman of the House "watch-dog" subcommittee on government expenditures, said GM's offer was a "complete reversal" of its position that it was not obliged to return any part of the $17 million the Air Force claimed the company received in excess of the normal profit due under government contracts.

GM's offer to return $9,700,000 as a compromise to settle the dispute was contained in letters written by GM Vice President John F. Gordon to Maj. Gen. William T. Thurman, Air Force deputy director at Wright-Patterson AFB.

One of the letters dated Oct. 29, 1956, stated that GM agreed to refund $4,100,000 to the Air Force "as a matter of principle." In a second letter dated Nov. 1, 1957, the company stated it was willing to return an additional $5 million.

The latest offer came on the heels of a request by the government's general accounting office that the justice department consider whether the company had committed fraud. The company maintained the charge was "unwarranted."

GM's alleged "excess profits" on the contract came to light last year in an investigation by He-

May Convert TB Facilities for Youngsters

Oakland Eyes Use of Hospital Wing as Annex to Children's Home

A recommendation that a wing of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium be made into a Children's Home annex was adopted this morning by the Juvenile Affairs Committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The 100-bed annex is not needed to accommodate TB patients and is available for other county uses, its board of trustees said.

The annex is also under consideration by the Welfare Committee of the Board of Supervisors as a temporary hospital for emergency mental cases. But the Welfare Committee has not as yet recommended its use for that purpose.

Meeting with Probate Judge Arthur C. Moore, the Juvenile Affairs Committee agreed the annex would offer a temporary solution to overcrowding at the Children's Home.

Its recommendation was sent to the Ways and Means Committee which must give approval for it to go before the December meeting of the supervisors. Approval is also needed from the State Department of Health.

The committee estimated the annex could be converted to house 75 children at a cost of $32,000. It would require $166,440 a year to run, including staff personnel. This averages $6 a day per child.

ISOLATION NECESSARY

Judge Moore said the annex would have to be isolated from the sanatorium by a permanent fence and would need a separate kitchen.

The committee learned that junior and senior high school age children would be sent to the annex, with the present Children's Home being reserved for those youngsters awaiting court action or receiving clinic treatment.

The county also maintains a home at 52 Franklin Blvd. and several cottages for neglected and dependent children.

Judge Moore said the home will soon reach a peak of 195 children, while its total facilities today can accommodate only 120.

Adlai States He May Go With Ike to Paris Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson held out the possibility today he may accompany President Eisenhower to a Paris meeting next month designed to increase Allied cooperation.

An error by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, brought on the uncertainty which both Hagerty and Stevenson later sought to clarify.

Even in the limited advisory role, officials let it be known that Stevenson could go with Eisenhower and Dulles to Paris if he chose to.

In New York last night, he said whether he would go would depend on the shape of the U. S. proposals.

Parties Disagree on Loss of Firms

(Second in a series of articles on taxes and industry)

To an extent unparalleled in most other states, the Michigan economy is dominated by a single industry—automobiles.

When car sales drop off even moderately, the impact on the state is sudden and hard. Shivers run through parts and accessories plants, machine shops and a maze specialized little enterprises clustered around the automotive giant.

Automotive wage rates, which set the pattern for the entire complex, are high. Accordingly, Michigan manufacturing wages last year were the highest in the nation.

The weekly average of nearly $95 was more than $8 ahead of Illinois and Indiana and over 50 per cent higher than in some Southern states.

The United Auto Workers, a union disciplined, aggressive and powerful enough to talk back to the powerful auto makers, has forced wages up.

UNION IS POWERFUL

As unions go, the UAW is tremendously powerful politically. Under the leadership of Walter P. Reuther, it has marshaled its forces—over one half a million strong in Michigan—directly behind Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the Democrats.

Many of the 136,000 industrial jobs which Michigan lost between mid-1953 and mid-1957 were UAW-filled jobs.

About 61,000 of those lost jobs disappeared with the demise of the Kaiser-Frazer, Hudson and Packard Auto companies, and 16,000 more with the shutdown of other plants in the Detroit area.

Kaiser-Frazer went out of the auto business. The other two merged with auto makers in Wisconsin and Indiana.

What of the other jobs that

Oakland Traffic Takes 2 Lives

Collision in Southfield Kills Woman; Oxford Pedestrian Dies

Two traffic fatalities were recorded in Oakland County yesterday, one as the result of a collision in Southfield Township and the other a pedestrian accident in Oxford.

Dead are Cathrine Tinik, 47, of 8060 Molena Ave., Detroit and William Poss, 83, a resident of the Bliss Convalescent Home, Oxford.

Mrs. Tinik died in William Beaumont Hospital from injuries received in a collision at 10-Mile and Southfield Rds., said Southfield Township Police.

Earl Burkeen, 55, of 21908 Dequindre Rd., Warren Township, was the driver of the other car. He is to appear before Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor William Lang today.

Emil DuRoska, 44, of 18156 Kirkshire Rd., Southfield Township, a passenger in the Tinik car, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Poss was reported by Oxford Police to have walked in front of a car driven by Laurance C. Mauzy, 66, of 58 Oakdale Rd., Pleasant Ridge. He was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital at 5:10 p.m. and pronounced dead of a fractured skull and concussion at 6:45.

Majority List Mother as Boss in the Home

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Salt Lake Tribune recently sent a questionnaire to all its school correspondents. One of the questions: "Who is the boss in your home?"

Columnist Dan Valentine says an overwhelming majority reported mother is the boss. Only a sprinkling voted for father.

Consultant Seeks $98,000 to Survey Urban Renewal Needs

Grant of $1.7 Million Would Pay Two-Thirds of Improvement Plan

DAVID S. GEER

The City of Pontiac will ask the federal government to earmark $98,000 in order that a detailed survey and plans may be made of the city's first urban renewal project.

The City Commission authorized the filing of an application for a capital grant of $1,705,346, with the $98,000 to be an advance so the city's planning consultant, David S. Geer of Birmingham, may proceed with planning.

The area pinpointed for this first project is bounded roughly by Ormun on the south, the Grand Trunk railroad tracks (paralleling Saginaw) on the west, Pike on the north, and Paddock on the east.

Mayor William W. Donaldson told those in the commission chambers last evening that the program would not mean that all structures in this area would be razed. City Manager Walter K. Willman agreed.

"Many of the homes in the area won't be touched," Willman said. He added that actual work on the project will not begin for at least two years.

JUST A STARTER

The City Planning Commission had approved the program at its Nov. 6 meeting.

Lead Widens Favoring Garcia

Garcia, 61-year-old Nationalista party candidate and political heir of the late Ramon Magsaysay, moved well ahead of Liberal party candidate Jose Yulo, 63-year-old sugar king. Garcia was winning almost 40 per cent of the votes in the five-man race.

In the vice presidential race, Diosdado Macapagal, a Liberal, piled up an overwhelming lead over House Speaker Jose B. Laurel Jr., the Nacionalista nominee and member of one of the Philippines' leading political families.

With Garcia and Macapagal victorious, the Philippines for the first time would have a president and vice president of opposing parties. Both favored continued strong cooperation with the United States.

Christmas Club Checks to Be Mailed to 13,000 in Pontiac Area

Paying for those many Christmas gifts won't be much of a problem for more than 13,000 persons who participated during the last year in local bank and credit union Christmas Club saving plans.

Officials of Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., and General Motors Truck & Coach Employes Federal Credit Union announced today payments totaling $1,126,842 to 13,694 persons who took part in the year's program.

There were 8,561 persons in the Community National Bank plan. Checks totaling $704,757 will be mailed Nov. 16.

On the same day Pontiac State Bank will mail out 4,356 checks amounting to $357,110.

Checks went out today from Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn. offices to 652 persons. The checks totaled $59,175.

In its first year of operating a Christmas Club plan, the GMC Truck & Coach credit union will make payments beginning Friday of $5,800 to 125 employes.

City Asks U.S. Fund for Urban Renewal

It is expected to be at least three months before the city learns of the government's answer.

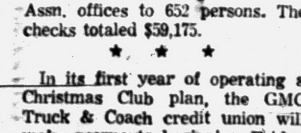

Overall cost of this initial project is estimated at $4,030,372. This includes property acquisition, site improvements, relocation and miscellaneous costs.

Taking into account selling the cleared property back to commercial and residential redevelopers, the net project cost would amount to $2,558,019.

The grant of $1,705,346 represents the federal government's two-thirds participation in the program. The city's one-third share of $852,673 is expected to be credited against public improvements planned for the selected area.

How far out from the earth does the "air ocean" extend?

The air ocean, as we call it, extends from the surface of the earth no further than two hundred and fifty miles. Many people think that the air ocean extends into outer space only a few miles. Experts say 150 to 250 miles.

This belief has been built up because all life exists from 15,000 feet (approximately) and about 10 feet below the surface of the earth. Much has been written about this and because no form of life survives beyond about 15,000 feet, some assume no air exists much beyond that point, or beyond the limits of weather.

On the contrary, air does exist, and extends outward for many miles. That is why an earth-circling satellite must be pushed so far out into space. It must orbit beyond the thinnest outer reaches of the air ocean to escape friction and the pull of gravity.

Nuclear Power Used to Light California Town

MOORPARK, Calif. (AP) — The atomic age came to Moorpark last night, when, for five minutes, the community of 1,500 was lighted entirely by means of nuclear power.

The power, transmitted over Southern California Edison Co., lines, came from a nuclear plant for generating electricity in the Santa Susana Mountains, 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Engineers said it marked the first time an entire town was lighted in this manner.

From Buenos Aires to Washington

LeMay Seeks Jet Record

By VERN HAUGLAND

A Buenos Aires-Washington speed record appeared to be in the making.

LeMay charted a nearly direct course for the approximately 5,000 miles to Washington on his way home from a quick visit to Argentina's National Aviation Week and a call on Provisional President Pedro Aramburu.

Air Force officers estimated that the trip back would take about 11 hours. LeMay flew south yesterday from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., in 13 hours, 2 minutes, 51 seconds.

On the trip down the Air Force vice chief of staff skirted Brazil, flying over the Atlantic to add about 600 miles to the trip. It set a distance record of 6,325 miles for an officially recorded nonstop, nonrefueled jet flight.

The trip south at an average speed of 485 miles an hour did not set an official speed record, however, because the International Aeronautical Federation recognizes only speed tests from one national capital to another.

Why Is Industry Leaving State?

were lost, or the new jobs that went to states other than Michigan?

The governor explains it this way:

1. FEDERAL DEFENSE policies. A Michigan Employment Security Commission analysis shows that in the last four years, 123,000 jobs, or about 80 per cent of the net total, were lost because defense contracts were cut.

Where Uncle Sam used to pour billions into trucks, autos and tanks, he now has diverted the money to missiles, aircraft and electronic production in other states — especially California, Ohio and New Jersey.

2. DECENTRALIZATON of the auto industry. For national defense, markets, transportation and other reasons, the auto makers — like other big industrialists — have found it wise to spread out as they expand.

NO ACCURATE FIGURES

3. AUTOMATION. Big technological advances always have eliminated jobs in the beginning. Williams says the effect in highly industrialized Michigan has been considerable. There are no accurate figures.

4. OBSOLETE PLANTS in Detroit, industrial hub of the state. Combined with other factors including high local real property and inventory taxes in the city, this has brought pressure for some industry movement.

Early in the controversy they toned down their blasts on state tax policies, perhaps mindful that the Republican Party, with unbroken legislative control for 20 years, would have to share any blame for tax laws.

Instead, GOP orators increasingly flayed Williams for the "tax climate" or "political climate," broader terms taking in the governor's unfulfilled demands and his personal attitudes.

With businessmen, they bitterly denounced his 1957 demand for a corporation profits tax piled on top of the business activities tax and other existing levies.

"If they think business is moving out of Michigan now, and it sure as H— is, just wait until we get a graduated income tax which is what the guy wants who is running Michigan from Detroit."

Probers Turn Attention to New Garbage Scandal

WASHINGTON (INS) — The stench of a big garbage collection scandal arising from New York's plush Nassau County captured the attention today of Senate rackets probers.

The rackets committee, which yesterday unfolded a lurid tale of union violence and murder in a struggle by hoodlums to control refuse hauling in wealthy suburban Westchester County, turned today to an equally odoriferous situation at Mitchel Air Force Base and Manhasset's swank "Miracle Mile."

Stephen Spiak, who identified himself as a garbage man in Yonkers, N. Y., was one witness yesterday who refused to answer questions before the investigating committee, on the grounds his answers might incriminate him.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said testimony today would spotlight attempts by underworld figures to "rig" bids on contracts to cart garbage away from Mitchel Field.

He said witnesses also would reveal intimidation of "Miracle Mile" shop keepers by corrupt union officials.

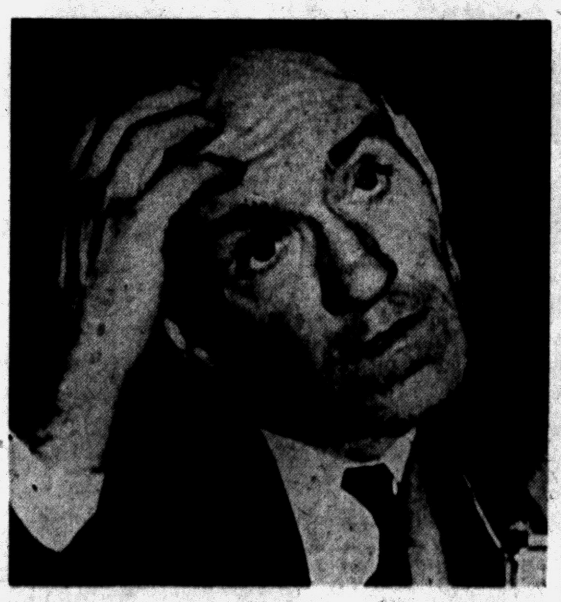

Slated to testify were John Montesano, former vice president of the inter-county cartmen's association; his brother, Anthony Montesano, and eight or nine other witnesses.

Kennedy said the committee also expected for the first time to get into the actual activities of Vincent J. Squillante, described as the czar of a business empire that wrenched a "stranglehold" on the multi-million dollar New York garbage collection industry.

Squillante, a close associate of murdered gangster Albert Anastasia, was listed by committee chairman John McClellan (D-Ark) yesterday as an individual who—aided by both labor and management—squeezed all competition out of the refuse pickup field.

Witnesses said trucks were burned, garbage pick-ups were halted at Bronx and Manhattan stores, and threats were made on lives when they refused to go along with demands of Local 813 and the Westchester Carting Company to rule trash hauling in the Yonkers area.

Police Seeking 2 Jailbreakers

A former Southfield Township youth and his companion today were the object of a police dragnet spread across the northern portion of the Lower Peninsula following a jailbreak in Cheboygan last night.

Identified as one of three inmates who sawed their way to freedom was Hubert McCurdy, 17, formerly of 20192 W. Hampton Rd. Oakland County officials said McCurdy had a long record of delinquency and was being held in Cheboygan as a fugitive from the Boys Vocational School in Lansing.

Cheboygan County Sheriff Harold Werner said Hitchcock was recaptured this morning by state police who spotted the three fleeing southeast of Cheboygan in a stolen car.

The search for McCurdy and Tracy centered in the Black Lake Forest area along Hammond Bay on Lake Huron.

Werner said the trio were not locked in cells in the jail and had freedom of the cellblock. They escaped by gaining access to the jail attic through a trap door in the ceiling and cutting through window bars with a hacksaw.

McCurdy was a "repeater" with a long record mostly for breaking and entering and larceny, said James W. Hunt, director of children's services for the Probate Court Juvenile division.

After serving a number of times in Oakland County Children's Home, McCurdy was committed in June 1955, to the vocational school, Hunt said.

GM Offers Return of 9 Million Profits

bert's committee during which it was charged that GM had realized a profit of 5.4 per cent, after taxes, on a contract to construct 599 F84F fighter planes.

TWICE NORMAL PROFIT

The committee maintained that this was twice the normal profit due the corporation under terms of contracts made with other airplane manufacturers.

The company stated it had agreed to build the planes under a fixed contract and "hence there was no contractual obligation to make a refund."

Hebert says an offer by General Motors to repay the Air Force more than half of $17,459,200 constitutes a plea of guilty to misrepresentation and excess profits.

Hebert said a large part of the $9,701,458 offer was conditional. It depended on a refusal by the Justice Department to press charges of fraud against the huge automobile firm.

General Motors made a profit of 11.6 per cent before taxes, Hebert said. He termed two million dollars of the profit overpricing by the corporation.

At Detroit, General Motors declined comment on Hebert's statement, but also made public the two letters sent by Gordon to Thurman.

Beck Reports Increase in Teamster Members

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Dave Beck of the Teamsters' Union announced today that the union in October had 12,000 more members than it had a year before.

Beck declared that in August, September and October the union's average membership was 1,473,566 compared with 1,422,441 for the same months of 1956.

He said the Teamsters have shown since 1952 an increase in membership over the corresponding month of the previous year.

The announcement was intended to show that the bad publicity which the union has received as a result of the Senate Rackets Committee investigation has not adversely affected it so far as membership is concerned.

The Day in Birmingham

Eton Park Rink Opening Set for Thanksgiving Day

BIRMINGHAM — With the opening of the artificial rink at Eton Park scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, the Recreation Board is placing the emphasis on skating. This and swimming are the only board controlled winter sports operating independently of weather conditions.

Hockey players desiring to enter this year's competition must register with the Recreation Board not later than 5 p.m. Friday.

Ages of this group are 13 through 14 and 15 through 17. A "Hockey Clinic" will begin Nov. 25, with a special feature awaiting potential players between 9 and 12 years.

Skating instruction will begin at 10 a.m. Monday, at Eton Rink, continuing through Nov. 27.

National Education Week at Derby School will include an open house at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

A planned program will permit parents to meet teachers, review the objectives of courses their children are taking, and make a complete tour of the school.

They are asking that prolonged teacher - parent interviews be avoided in order that all may have a chance to talk with the teachers.

Rejecting the lower bid, Birmingham City Commissioners have approved the purchase of a Leach rubbish loadpacker. The machine, mounted on a C-900 Ford chassis, will be purchased from Stark-Hickey Co., Royal Oak, for a net price after trade-in of $9,423.

Grover R. Serenbetz, city engineer, and T. C. Brian, DPW superintendent, recommended the Leach purchase on the basis of excellent performance here and in other communities.

Mrs. Roger Ingalls

Service will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow from Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. for Mrs. Roger (Eleanor M.) Ingalls, 69, of 724 Brookside. She died Tuesday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, after a long illness.

Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery.

A native of Massachusetts, Mrs. Ingalls was a member of the Church of Our Redeemer in Lexington, and active in Girl Scout affairs.

Carrier, 41 Planes Hunt Lost Airliner

HONOLULU (AP)—The Philippine Sea and its covey of planes today enter the critical area in their search for a Honolulu-bound Pan American airliner which vanished last Friday with 44 persons.

The big carrier, with 29 radar-tracking planes and 12 helicopters, completed the first full day of participation in the widespread search yesterday without a clue.

Its planes are covering a line 200 miles wide along the airliner's route. Four escort destroyers and two submarines range ahead and to the sides.

Find Body of Boy

The body of a 14-year-old Pontiac youth, Michael Flanary, of 37 S. Anderson St., was found this morning in a field a half-mile from his home. Pontiac police said the boy died of a bullet wound in his head. They said a .32 caliber revolver belonging to his father, James Flanary, was found nearby.

Local News Called Most Important

EAST LANSING (AP) — Local news is still the most important item in the modern day newspaper, said Elmer E. White, executive secretary of the Michigan Press Association.

That's why techniques of reporting city government and municipal affairs will headline the sixth annual Community Newspaper Conference Friday and Saturday at Michigan State University, White explained.

"Even in this age of sputniks and muttnicks, the first obligation of the newspaper is to cover its local community news," White said.

★ ★ ★

John H. Huss, director of the Michigan Municipal League, will be one of the speakers on the topic.

A panel of university and government experts will discuss the relationship of the newspaper to local taxation.

3 Bombers Fly Non-Stop 8,000 Miles

Jets to Manila in 17 Hours

MANILA (INS)—Three jet bombers swept 8,000 miles non-stop from California to the Philippines in little more than 17 hours today to show how swiftly the Air Force could reach the scene of any remote "small war."

Moved Homes Eyed by City

Proposed Ordinance Requires Houses Meet Proper Standards

Homes moved from one site to another in Pontiac must be brought up to proper building standards within six months after the relocation, under a proposed ordinance introduced before the City Commission last night.

"This will prevent moving a dilapidated building from one place to another," said City Attorney William A. Ewart.

Read by title only Tuesday night, commissioners are expected to take final action on the law next week.

It was drafted by the city's committee on substandard housing.

Persons wishing to move a structure must provide a $1,000 cash deposit, in addition to a permit fee of $25, which will be forfeited if the owner fails to bring the building up to standards within six months.

Guilty of Embezzling

SANDUSKY (AP) — Raymond L. Loeding, treasurer of Buel Township, pleaded guilty Tuesday to embezzling $3,000 in township funds. Circuit Judge Arthur M. Bach set sentencing for Dec. 16.

First safety patrol boy program in the United States was inaugurated by Michigan's state police in 1931.

Four Backup Lights Illegal in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Bureau of Highway Safety Director O. D. Shipley says those new cars with four backup lights on the rear are illegal. The state motor vehicle code states that cars may not have more than two such lights, one on each side.

Shipley said the bureau will consider the law satisfied if the wiring and light bulbs are removed from the extra lights, leaving the covers for ornamental purposes.

RACIAL PIONEER — Carolyn Walker, consults with a coworker, Bernice Melzer, in the office of Community National Bank. Through the Urban League, a Pontiac Area United Fund supported agency, Miss Walker was the first Negro to be employed at the bank and trailblazed new employment opportunities for members of her race.

Pontiac's Urban League Took Over

Young Carolyn Walker Found Help

When she graduated from a Detroit high school three years ago and took additional training at a Pontiac business school, Carolyn should have faced a bright future.

But despite the general demand for good office workers, her future economically was far from assured. For Carolyn faced a serious handicap in seeking employment. She is a Negro.

Like hundreds of other members of her race, Carolyn finally turned in her need to an organization designed and equipped to solve her problem — the Pontiac Urban League.

There, she was interviewed, carefully tested for competency, social attitudes and adjustment ability. Then she was placed in a job, as a racial pioneer.

She began working in a business that previously had only white employes.

The Urban League dedicates much of its efforts to job placement and the opening of new economic areas to Negroes.

Born out of the old Southwest Community Center in 1950, the Pontiac Urban League has made steady progress in employment, housing and educational opportunities for the city's Negro population which has jumped 147 per cent in the decade from 1940 to 1950.

The executive director, Everett Spurlock, notes that its work in the community has helped bring public housing to low income families, has interested builders and lenders in erecting some 300 new homes for Negro families and serves to guide Negro students in job selection and training.

"With the integration battle in the South getting hotter," Spurlock said, "hundreds of Negroes are leaving for the North even though they know job opportunities are not as plentiful as they once were.

"White citizens councils are forcing them out by economic boycotts which close all doors to those Negroes active in working for the rights of their race."

"Pontiac has made greater strides in some areas than any other city in Michigan," Spurlock said, "but much remains to be done."

With both white and Negro leaders on its board and as members of its women's guild, the Urban League moves ahead slowly and steadily, eschewing the more spectacular means of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

"With Urban Leagues being kicked out of many southern community chests, or resigning to keep chest drives from being boycotted as in Little Rock," Spurlock said, "we appreciate just how much it means to us in Pontiac to be affiliated with the Pontiac Area United Fund."

The Urban League is supported by funds raised through the UF and, Spurlock said, continued strong support of the UF is one way to insure continued progress for Negroes in Pontiac.

"After all," he said, "this problem is not a Negro problem or a white problem, it is a community problem which the whole community must solve."

Record Set by Schools

OSLO — Preliminary registration figures indicate that enrollment in Norwayss's primary schools this year is well over 500,000, a new record. This compares with less than 300,000 in the 1946-47 school year.

Talks to Friend Struck by Arrow While Playing

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two 10-year-old boys talked on the telephone yesterday, and they talked of serious things, but they were not sad.

★ ★ ★

"Hello, this is Tim," the conversation began.

"Ooo, Tim. How—how are you?"

"I'm fine. That's why I called. Don't you worry about me. I'm all right."

★ ★ ★

"I'm glad," the playmate answered. "Well—take care of yourself. Maybe I can come to the hospital and see you. I didn't sleep a wink all night. Well—goodby—"

"'Bye," Timothy said. "Don't you worry."

Tim's friend turned to his mother and: "Honest, mom, I don't have to worry any more." Tim was hurt as the boys played "Indian fighter" Monday.

★ ★ ★

Tim's physician explained that the arrow, imbedded four inches in the lad's head, was removed without apparent brain damage. And it was hoped the vision in his left eye could be saved.

Texas Legislature Eyes School Law

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Legislature meets today to act on Gov. Price Daniel's recommendation for a law to close public schools threatened with control by state or federal troops.

★ ★ ★

The Legislature's second special session came on the heels of a first which in 30 days gave the governor substantially all that he had asked on lobby and influence control laws, a water planning measure, and a commission to study crime increase and law enforcement.

★ ★ ★

The troop-school bill suggested by Daniel is similar to a Florida law. It would provide that when violence or danger of violence "cannot be prevented except by resort to military force or occupation of a public school" the local board may close it.

★ ★ ★

It also provides that in the event National Guard or other troops are used on federal authority on school property or nearby to keep order, the board shall close the school until the troops are withdrawn.

Urges Education in Science Race

University Assn. Head Asks Mass Instruction on College Level

DENVER (AP) — America must erase prejudice against mass higher education if it is to meet Russia's scientific challenge, the president of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities said yesterday.

The speaker, Dr. M. T. Harrington, heads a mass education school—Texas A&M—which enrolls about 10,000 yearly in regular and summer sessions. Many of the men he addressed represented large schools.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the association's 71st annual meeting, he said Russia gained its superiority in several fields by educating its youth in mass. He said it's time the United States does the same.

He said colleges need not "even contemplate the lowering of the quality of our offerings as we increase the number of our students. Both industry and agriculture have proven that quality can be improved and unit costs lowered as volume is increased by the application of existing technology and imagination."

"We have heard 'mass education" used as a synonym for 'mass mediocrity' so frequently for so long that we have almost accepted their equation as inevitable," said Dr. Harrington.

"I believe the time has come for us to throw aside this ancient prejudice and prove that higher education in this country can revolutionize its approach to meet the demands of the time," he said.

Argue New Trial for John Kasper

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Arguments for a new contempt of court trial were planned today for Northern segregationist John Kasper and six east Tennesseans in U.S. District Court here.

Kasper and six residents of the nearby Clinton, Tenn., area were convicted by an all-white jury last July of criminal contempt in violating Judge Robert L. Taylor's injunction against interfering with desegregation at Clinton High School.

Taylor ordered the defendants to be present for the oral arguments today. He was expected to pronounce sentence immediately in the event the new trial motions were denied. Maximum sentence for each is six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

Carlos P. Garcia, probably to become fourth president of the Philippines in elections there yesterday, has emerged as a new anti-Communist champion in Asia—a role which his predecessor, Ramon Magsaysay, played forcefully and dynamically during his short term in office.

The 61 - year - old leader, who stepped into Magsaysay's office upon the latter's death in a plane crash last March, was author of the history-making bill which outlawed the Communist party in the Philippines.

"There can be no compromise between light and darkness, between a government of, for and by the people and a government of dictators, between freedom and Communism," Garcia said.

The self - effacing Philippine statesman has ruled out neutralism in his country's foreign policy because "neautralism is simply shutting our eyes to reality."

DELIBERATE DIPLOMAT

He is a cool and seasoned diplomat, and, like the expert, almost fanatical chess player that he is, a man who deliberates first before he takes any action—positive or otherwise.

★ ★ ★

He also is a scholar and philosopher, a Roman Catholic and a good provider to a family which has now grown to four—his wife, daughter and a son-in-law.

The son of a small-town mayor, Garcia campaigned successfully as Congressman, Governor of Bohol Island, Senator and Vice President of the Philippines.

In 1945 Garcia headed a mission to Washington for Philippine rehabilitation and war damage claims. He was also a delegate to the world conference at San Francisco which drafted the charter of the United Nations.

A well-traveled man, Garcia has visited the United States, England, Ireland, France, Switzerland, Belgium, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Thailand, Vietman and Pakistan.

One-Horse Shay Is 'School Bus'

Heisenheimer, 76, makes four round trips daily with his one-horse buggy in transporting his five grandsons and sometimes three "guest" riders from the Van Collis home to Girdle Road School 1¼ miles away.

The Van Collis family includes eight boys ranging in age from 1 to 13 years. Five are regular pupils, but finish classes at different hours. The arrangement requires the four daily trips.

Miesenheimer's grandsons Mike, 3, and Richard, 4, are guest passengers on most trips. One-year-old Matthew goes along in fair weather. The vehicle is escorted by Skip and Rex, the family dogs.

Meisenheimer moved to his present farm last April with his son-in-law and daughter after retirement from farming near Ludington. Roads were muddy so he converted a one-horse chaise into a passenger carrier.

He built a wooden cab on the buggy, but some of the travelers still overflow to the open driver's seat.

"I've been trying to buy a double buggy with a top," he says, but explains he hasn't yet been able to locate one anywhere in Michigan.

Chicken Pox Leads on County Reports

This is the chicken pox season, according to last week's city and county health reports from Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County director of health.

Twenty-seven cases of this communicable disease were reported throughout the county last week, while only two were listed in the city.

Mumps continued to be high in both areas with 14 cases reported in the county and 10 in the city.

Cuban Rebels Seek Revolutionary Strike

A bulletin from Castro's headquarters in the mountains of Oriente Province calls for a nationwide walkout by workers and peasants about Dec. 15.

That is the approximate date for starting the harvesting of sugar cane.

The bulletin, clandestinely circulated among Castro's supporters and sympathizers in Havana, declares "there will be no sugar harvest" while Batista rules.

Sugar is the keystone of Cuba's prosperity.

Castro's bulletin urged the estimated 400,000 canefield workers to touch off a move he hopes will snowball into general strikes throughout the nation and thus "overthrow the tyranny and dictatorship" of President Batista.

Gas Profits Dip

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. reports a net profit of $9,738,359 for the year ended Sept. 30, compared with $10,196,002 for the previous similar year.

Flu Kills 41 in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit deaths charged to Asian flu now have reached 41 for the year. Two new deaths were reported Tuesday by Dr. Joseph G. Molner, city health commissioner. Thirty-five of the deaths have occurred since Sept. 1. Detroit had only seven flu deaths in 1956.

Once Again the Gals Have Done It

It has almost become a habit for the women to win our Man About Town football and baseball contests. They're making it a tradition.

During all the years that the contests have been a feature, the gals have been winners four-fifths of the time. That's a record of performance.

The 3,814 contestants in the football contest just closed were about equally divided between the sexes. It usually was a family affair.

But as the eliminations took place, the males were in the big majority among those who did not predict correctly. Their judgment faltered.

When only a dozen or so remained in the running over three-quarters of them were women. Most of their husbands had joined the also-rans.

This has been true in the contests of former years, which indicates that it is not just a matter of luck or communion with a crystal ball.

It would seem that, while they do not make a pretense of knowing more about the matter than the males, they make a closer study of it, and are less liable to be swayed by admiration of something besides what counts in making records in sports. They analyze the facts.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps there's something to cogitate upon in what a Pontiac housewife wrote upon her entry: "Personally I never saw a football game and know nothing about it—but I read your sporting pages every day."

She was number 3,812 to go down.

Labor Leader Bevan Turns Guns on U.S.

During the past two years the British Conservative Party has lost 19 by-elections to Labor. Should the trend continue, a Labor Government would come into power by 1960.

Public opinion polls which, of course, could change overnight, indicate a landslide for Labor in the next election. Left Wing Leader BEVAN then would be in line for Foreign Secretary and eventually even Prime Minister.

At a recent meeting of the Labor Party the unpredictable Mr. BEVAN moderated his stand on several matters. He helped to defeat a resolution for large scale nationalization of industry under any future Labor government. He also helped to defeat commitments on disarmament and called for closer East-West ties and continued Anglo-U.S. discussions.

Now on a speaking tour of this country, Mr. BEVAN is not making many friends but he may be influencing many people. Among other blunt criticisms he thinks the U.S. should recognize Red China; that the EISENHOWER Doctrine invited Russia to "make mischief" in the Middle East; that the U.S. should make an effort to understand the Russian leaders and that the latter "are not nurturing world revolution."

"The impact of Mr. BEVAN's opinions in the United States must be disastrous," said Tory Party Chairman HAILSHAM. "In this country we are getting used to Mr. BEVAN's blunders. It is unfortunate that he should . . . demonstrate (to the United States) his total unsuitability to be Foreign Secretary of this country."

Coming on the heels of the Eisenhower-MacMillan talks Mr. Bevan's views are a jarring note. The likelihood is that the U. S. would not have as much confidence in a government represented by Mr. Bevan as it now has in Mr. MacMillan's Conservative Party.

THE Singapore man who is marrying for the 70th time may be futilely trying to secure a wife he can understand.

The Man About Town

About the Bridge

Thanks for Sentiments on Our Coverage of Opening

Indian summer: A season not officially designated by the calendar, but appreciated whenever it does come.

The architect of this column gets many verbal and written bouquets and brick bats. Sometimes they're about 50-50. We tried to go all out on our very humble best in reporting the opening of the Mackinac Bridge from a Pontiac angle. We felt that the newspaper readers were being overfed on the subject, often by self-appointed experts whose stories went more for length than hard facts.

No other newspaper carried a story that linked its own community with the big span. We've received a flood of compliments on it, but none that we value any higher than the letter from in which he speaks of the general coverage of the newspapers on the new world wonder, concluding with: "But we cut out only your stingy article. It hit a chord. So I immediately went up to see what you had written about, and have just returned. Good luck."

When he replied that he did not have one, the stranger said, "I have," and grabbed the bird and drove away. Yes, and it was a woman.

"We're always glad when any of your contests are over," phones

Mrs. Perry Hankinson

David Lawrence Says:

Unmixed Private Schools Debated

WASHINGTON — Are the private schools next on the list for "integration"? Can many of them persist in their practice of discrimination in denying admission on the basis of race or color or religious affiliation?

LAWRENCE

Will the so-called "quota" system, reported to be in vogue at various colleges and universities with respect to limited admission of certain minority groups, come up for investigation by the new Civil Rights Commission whose membership was recently announced by the White House?

BAN SEGREGATION

The theory is widespread in America that the Supreme Court has banned all forms of segregation or discrimination in an institution to which the government grants any of its benefits.

The usual argument advanced offhand against this is that private schools, for example, are not supported by public funds and hence are not subject to governmental regulation.

But Professor Arthur S. Miller of Emory University—in a new book, "Racial Discrimination and Private Education," published by the University of North Carolina Press—spells out in detail just how some states have been exercising control over private schools through the threat of a denial of tax benefits and other state-given privileges.

"Is there any likelihood," asks Professor Miller, "that the doctrine enunciated in the segregation cases can be extended to apply to the admission policies of the nonpublic schools? . . . Is the conduct of nonpublic education 'state action' within the reach of the proscriptions of the Fourteenth Amendment?"

Professor Miller, who conducted his legal research partly with a grant from the "Fund for the Republic," undertakes to show what a problem is presented for those southern states which now have laws compelling private schools to maintain segregation. His thesis obviously constitutes a warning to such states that they cannot any longer continue the practice of enforced segregation in private schools, as required by their laws.

Few people realize there is today a presidential commission whose agents go around the country threatening to withdraw government contracts from private businesses which discriminate in their employment practices on the basis of race or religion or national origin.

The Department of Justice holds that this is a legal exercise of power, even though Congress has not passed any such law.

Certainly the governmental authority today to coerce the board of a private school is the same as the power to coerce a private contractor who is the recipient of a government benefit. The grant of tax preferences by state governments and by the Federal government to private schools gives the Supreme Court considerable latitude now either in forcing the payment of taxes by private schools on an equal basis with other private enterprises or in requiring "integration" under the "equal protection of the laws" clause of the so-called Fourteenth Amendment.

If, on the other hand, segregation in private schools is to be immune from interference, then governmental authorities will be open to the criticism that they are condoning "second-class citizenship" in failing to subsidize those parents who cannot afford the privilege of sending their children to such a private school but who wish to do so. Poor people are theoretically "equal" before the law in the exercise of the privileges of citizenship. They are supposed to have the same "civil rights" as rich people.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies, a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. — Romans 12:1.

★ ★ ★

Self - denial is a kind of holy association with God. — Robert Boyle.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Use Nitroglycerin Tablet to Prevent Angina Attack

A nitroglycerin tablet plopped into the mouth and allowed to dissolve there is the best emergency remedy to stave off or relieve an attack of angina pectoris.

Persons subject to angina pectoris or any similar spells of pain or distress should carry a tightly stoppered vial of nitroglycerin tablets and take one on the slightest threat of such distress.

Generally a doctor's order or prescription is required to get nitroglycerin tablets.

In any case, only tablets of proved potency should be used. Nitroglycerin (officially called glyceryl trinitrate) is so volatile that tablets steadily lose strength when kept many weeks or months. Therefore it is advisable to test one's supply at least once a month to make sure the tablets are not inert.

To test tablets, sit down and take one into the mouth. In the course of a minute or two, it should produce some sensation of fullness and throbbing in the head, flushing of the face and acceleration of the pulse. If you get up and walk about right away, there may be some dizziness, too.

If one tablet produces no such effects in two or three minutes, take a second tablet. If still no effect, throw the tablets away and get a fresh supply.

The physiological explanation for the relief given by nitroglycerin and amyl nitrate (which acts still more rapidly and briefly) and sodium nitrite (which acts more slowly and for a longer time) is immediate relaxation or dilation of the arterioles that deliver blood to the heart muscle.

This relaxation or dilation of the spasmodically contracted or narrowed arteriole permits more blood to reach the heart muscle — that is to say, more oxygen. Ischemia or anoxia — insufficient blood or oxygen reaching the area of distress — is the usual cause of angina.

Now suppose angina strikes you when you have no nitroglycerin or sodium nitrate tablets or amy nitrate pearls in your pocket. What's the next best emergency relief? Belly breathing!

In order to know how to breathe in this fashion send me 35c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the booklet "How to Breathe." It contains instructions for the belly breathing exercise. It contains also considerable practical advice about the use of nitroglycerin.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"There is danger a church may become so busy running itself that it may forget its purpose is to bring man to God."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Children Love Dramatized Music

Rosalie teaches her public school pupils to become "musical detectives." Thus, she makes their music lessons fun. Listen to "Little Sandy Sleighfoot" and see how many of Mitch Miller's background instruments you can identify. Then challenge your children to see if they can beat you!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE W-351: Roaslie Savarino, aged 22, is a very popular music teacher in the public school at Birmingham, Michigan.

DR. CRANE

She comes from a talented family that has included professional musicians for generations.

Her older brother Joe is also the concert pianist who composed the current Christmas song hit called "Little Sandy Sleighfoot."

"Dr. Crane, I think it is fun to teach music," Rosalie told me as Mrs. Crane and I were visiting her recently.

"And I find that the pupils relish it much more when music is dramatized and presented from a fresh approach.

"For example, I encourage my pupils to become 'musical detectives'."

"Only subconsciously does he ever notice the variety of instruments which Ray Ellis' orchestra have cleverly employed to illustrate the words.

"So I have urged my pupils to detect as many instruments as possible. They get a thrill out of hearing the guitar depict Little Sandy Sleighfoot's quick turns on his ski-like feet.

"They also try to identify the type of bells and the melancholy chords that Mitch Miller has inserted to parallel the words 'Oh, so sad was he.'

MUSICAL DETECTIVES

We can all carry out this clever strategy by letting our youngsters identify the bird calls in Beethoven's "Pastoral Symphony."

Listen to the rumble of the thunder and the sharp lighting flashes during the storm in Rossini's "Overture to William Tell."

Urge youngsters to notice carefully the dialogue in "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," Paul Dukas' adaptation of Goethe's ballad.

For music is really an international language that transcends all racial and geographical barriers.

"Music," says John Erskine, "is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing."

It can relieve tension and offer a melodic outlet for pent-up emotions that might otherwise express themselves in juvenile delinquency.

Shakespeare understood this fact quite well, for he states:

"The man that hath no music in himself,
"Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds,

SPIRITUAL TONICS

"Man does not live by bread alone," Jesus told us, meaning that our spirit needs regular nourishment.

Music serves as vitamins and an essential tonic for the soul of mankind.

Some myopic taxpayers may regard music as a "frilly" inclusion in our schools. But the average person obtains more lasting dividends from English, arithmetic and music, than from any other courses he studied at school!

Mitch Miller urges parents to employ good modern music to supplement the classical, so test your wits on "Little Sandy Sleighfoot" and see how good a "musical detective" you really are. It's fun.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Woman Warns Readers to Investigate All Terms

I just had a very terrible business transaction and wonder if people know how easily it can be pulled on you.

We're always very careful with our credit as we have four children and know how important credit is. I called a very reputable and well known upholstery firm to have my davenport and chair re-upholstered. I asked the man if I could have terms set up as Christmas is on the way, and if I couldn't have terms, I wanted to wait until after the holidays. He said certainly I could, so thinking I'd be paying his company, I sent it. It was returned and was very satisfactory.

A week later I received a payment book from a local loan company with interest attached. There had been no mention of a loan company, and had there been, I never would have had the furniture covered. Being a factory man's wife, I can't afford to pay a loan company's interest. I know the man representing the upholstery firm knew I wouldn't have it done had he mentioned a loan company, as I explained to him the way I felt about credit.

I sure hope someone profits from our mistake of thinking such a thing couldn't happen to us. Be sure and understand your terms, even though they're with a very well-established business.

Still Looking commented that women must be taught to attract men. Phooey. I've seen too many women ruin their chances by trying so hard to do the "right thing" and follow all the prescribed "rules." Women are born with a natural ability to attract men, and most of them would have less trouble doing it if they'd be natural and quit trying to do what all the "experts" say.

The suggestion about free bus rides was a good one, but a better one would be to have buses available for residents of suburbs of Pontiac. We out here don't all drive, nor do we always have a car at our disposal. There are so many beautiful shopping areas in Oakland County, but no way for a housewife to get to them.

When I must, I take a cab to Pontiac. By the time I pay the fare, I have no money with which to shop. A bus on Telegraph road from Dixie to Northwestern highway would sure be welcome and convenient for all directions.

Enriches Egypt by $13 Million Monthly

Suez Traffic Tops Record

PORT SAID, Egypt (INS) — The wrangle-ridden Suez Canal, once as French as onion soup, today is as Egyptian as the Sphinx and the mummies.

And it's still the richest ditch on earth, with hard cash now pouring into Egyptian coffers at the rate of nearly $13 million a month.

The daily average of more than 45 ships chugging through the narrow 103-mile channel will provide gross revenue this year estimated at more than $115 million.

That's some $15 million more than the old Universal Suez Canal Company's record-breaking gross income in 1955 when the daily average was just short of 41 ships.

But it's not all profit.

The old Canal Company which bowed out in the face of Gamal Abdel Nasser's startling nationalization edict in July, 1956, managed a net profit of $46 million, or about 45 per cent of the gross receipts, in its last full year of operations.

The company in 1955 spent $52 million in operating and improving the desert ditch.

EGYPT TO CUT COSTS

But under their own take-it-or-leave-it operating scheme—rammed through last March over the vocal protests of major users, the Cairo government is pledged to put 25 per cent of each year's gross intake into a development fund. Another five per cent goes outright to Egypt as "royalties," leaving 70 per cent for paying operating costs and providing additional Egyptian profit.

As for paying off the shareholders of the old company, the Egyptians maintain there are more than ample company assets stashed away in banks abroad.

It's been a costly canal year for the new Egyptian Canal Authority. Egypt estimates canal damage at nearly $87 million and wants Britain and France to pay half and half. It cost an additional $8 million to clear the canal of more than 40 wrecks.

All of the biggest dredging and excavating equipment was damaged or destroyed during the "short war" a year ago. Egypt already has spent more than $1 million on a giant new suction dredger and salvaged some of the old equipment so that tons of silt from the main channel are now being pumped onto the waterway's sandy banks.

The channel is still only clear for ships of 33 feet draught, but canal officials figure by early next year the whole waterway will be cleared to take the prewar 35-foot vessels.

ON THE BEACH

Based on the Best-Selling Novel by Nevil Shute

With Moira Davidson, Dwight Towers, 33, discussed his family in West Mystic, Conn.—Sharon and the two children whose cherished portraits he kept in his quarters aboard the submarine USS SCORPION.

"Dwight Junior goes to grade school, and Helen . . . she goes to kindergarten right now. We live right near the shore. I'm going to get a sailboat when I'm home on my next leave. I guess that'll be next September." 11-13

Moira was silent, knowing that Dwight's family was dead, knowing that in September they, too, would be dead. Dwight broke the silence, "I suppose you think I'm nuts, but that's the way I see it, and I can't seem to think about it any other way."

Bob Considine Says:

Hearst Fire Brigade Battles Hot Red Flag

MOSCOW (INS) — There was an unnerving scene at our National Hotel suite the other night while all Moscow marched along Gorky Street in celebration of the 40th anniversary of Lenin's Bolshevik Revolution. A big Red flag with hammer and sickle on the balcony outside of the suite of Delegation Hearst (or Gearst as our leader is called here) burst into flames.

A two day rainfall had short-circuited a neon sign reading in English letters "Pectopah" which are actually Cyrillic characters and spells out phonetically a good imitation of "restaurant."

BURNS LIKE TORCH

Semantics to one side, the fact of the matter was that the flag was burning like a torch, crowds had gathered, and the clear indication was that American occupants of the suite probably had fired it as a gag or challenge.

Well, Bill Gearst went down the hall looking for a bucket of water. The second occupant of the suite, Frank Conniff, usually jokingly referred to by Premier Bulganin as Koniev, remained in the room — shaving.

He plainly suspected Gearst and the other inmate of the suite, me, of seeking to create an incident which might imperil friendly Soviet American relations. He said later, "What fire?" as he fanned smoke away from his face.

DEFENDS EMBLEM

In the meantime, back on the balcony awaiting reinforcements from the Gearst bucket brigade, stood the lone defender of the Communist emblem. Me. I picked up a pitcher of water and let fly. It was what we used to call a near miss when our two great nations combined with other allies to defeat Hitlerite hordes. Lot of the water I'm afraid went smack dab into the upturned kisser of comrades in the street below.

There were dark looks from below and a general feeling on the balcony that the Muscovites were seriously wondering which was worst, the sight of the flag burning or some crazy American throwing water on them. Their misgivings continued as the Gearst volunteer fire brigade arrived with the bucket of water.

Fire now reaching up sodden flag to tip of flagpole, Chief of Gearst brigade, Gearst himself, let fly. If the burning flag had been Ted Williams he would have walked on four straight balls. The crowd below was now thoroughly drenched and with any kind of organization would have advanced on the scene of mild conflagration and put out the fire by pinching thumb and forefinger together, like extinguishing a candle.

CALLS MANAGER

Serge Fliegers, crack INS Moscow bureau chief, arrived and quickly determined that the thing to do was to call the management of the hotel. The management arrived in the form of 300 maids, waiters, janitors, gents room professionals, engineers and others.

They removed not only the burning flag but all other proud banners that had flapped outside our windows during the 40th anniversary celebration. But nobody has fixed the short circuit in the "Pectopah" neon sign. It now reads "Pe-pah" which may translate into short order lunch counter.

Conniff, better known here as Gospodien Koniev, emerged as the hero of the ugly affair by not showing up for it at all. If he wore skirts they would be clear. Actually he emerged in a large bath-towel as employes of the hotel trooped through our place and showed babylike innocence of face that thoroughly removed him as a suspect. As for Hearst and myself we are not certain we are clear.

But if anything comes of the thing we have, I am sure, one fine witness. He was the nice man who came on the scene and said in effect there was no short circuit. Then he reached down toward the point of the short circuit, while we all blanched and cried out in alarm, and suddenly there was a dreadful sputtering and he leaped like a Russian Olympic high jumper, which is very far into the air as anybody who was at Melbourne can attest.

"Ouch!" he said, in perfect Russian.

Expenses on Page One of New Tax Forms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says it was its own idea to add to the first page of individual income tax forms a line calling for the entry of total business expense deductions.

The change does not affect the taxpayer's obligations. Listing of business expenses has been required for years.

Bulganin Jokes About Sputnik at Swedish Party

Ivan Tweaks Sam's Coattails

By BOB CONSIDINE

MOSCOW (INS) — One of the more popular pastimes in the Soviet Union these days is the twitting of Uncle Sam about his laggardliness in getting a Sputnik into outer space.

The joke comes in many forms but the favorite at the moment seems to be the sly shive in the ribs as exemplified by Premier Nikolai Bulganin last evening during a chat with correspondents at a Swedish embassy party.

Asked if any more Sputniks were going up, the quietly jovial premier answered placidly:

"Sleep quietly. You'll be told when the time comes. But why not let the Americans send one up now? It is their turn."

Bulganin revealed that two American girls, aged 23 and 24, have appealed to him by mail to list them as passengers on Russia's first passenger rocket trip to the moon.

He said the girls described themselves as "young, healthy, beautiful and with all other good characteristics."

"I thought of announcing the names of the girls and their home towns in America but then I thought it might be a newspaper stunt."

The premier said he had heard the dog traveling in Sputnik II was alive Sunday.

NO NEWS ON LAIKA

But Dimitri Skobeltsin, chief of the Soviet Institute of Physics, said Laika must be dead.

Laika was launched into a dramatic orbit 1,000 miles above the earth on Sunday, Nov. 3. There has been no official announcement regarding the dog since Friday morning.

Asked if he and his fellow scientists were trying to bring Laika back to earth, Skobeltsin responded:

"I don't know, I don't think so."

He was occasionally wreathed in smiles, especially when he said he had no plans to return to the U.S. until after the first of the year.

He stopped smiling though, put down his glass of grapefruit juice and launched into a pointed discussion when a reporter brought up the subject of disarmament.

Gromyko asserted that nothing had been accomplished at the London disarmament talks earlier this year because of the stubborness of the Americans.

Te contended the Russians had been cooperative and had made concessions but that the disarmament committee could not be effective until it is expanded to include all 82 member-nations. He denied that such a group would be unwieldly.

The departure of Bulganin and Gromyko took the life out of the Swedish party. Diplomats and their wives drove off into the clammy Moscow night, with little to look forward to in the way of informative news until the Ethiopian Embassy reception tonight.

Knowland Protesting More Missile Funds

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) says he is against trying to outstrip Russia's scientific achievements by putting new billions of dollars into missile projects, "as some have suggested."

★ ★ ★

The Senate minority leader told a meeting of the Chicago Better Business Bureau last night that the challenge facing the nation "is to look over the budget and see if we can do something to keep the nation continuing on a balanced budget."

The Defense Department, in adjusting its spending, Knowland added, should "concentrate on muscle and cut out the fat."

He said the last Congress appropriated 34 billion dollars for military spending and that, as of July 1, the department already had an additional 36 billion in unspent funds, making a total of 70 billion available for defense spending without additional appropriations."

Fight for Seeing Eye

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Gifford Farrell, a discharged employe, is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway at a stockholders' meeting. In a mysterious telephone call a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap, Conway agrees to follow directions and obtains a key to a hotel room for the meeting but instead of finding Rosalind there's a young woman scantily attired. She points a gun at him, which he takes from her. Since the gun has been fired recently, Conway suspects a frame-up and calls Perry Mason, attorney. Mason and Paul Drake, detective, go to the hotel room and find a woman murdered. Mason traps Evangeline Farrell into admitting she is Rosalind. She's divorcing Farrell and wants to help Conway. Farrell is having an affair with Rose Calvert, a secretary. Mrs. Farrell obtains carbons of the proxy list. Mason identified the body as Rose Calvert. The proxy list planted in Conway's car doesn't compare with the list Mason has, nor is the gun Conway gave the District Attorney the murder weapon. Farrell is trapped when Mason asks him about the bikini bathing suit he bought Rose Calvert, in which he took her picture. Police dig up a revolver from the yard of the motel where Conway stayed. Conway denies substituting guns. If it's the murder weapon, Conway will be charged with murder.

Chapter 27

"Is your friend married?" the elevator girl asked Perry.

"Not him."

She said, "I like him."

"I'll tell him," Mason said.

"No, no, don't do that. I didn't mean it that way. I meant. . ."

"All right," Mason said, "what about my feet?"

"It's the way you stand," she said. "You keep your feet flat on the floor and evenly spaced like a man getting ready to slug somebody. Most people lounge around with their weight on first one foot and then the other or lean against the rail along the edge of the elevator. You stand balanced."

"Thanks for telling me," Mason said. "I'll try to be more average after this."

"Don't do that," she said.

"Why not?"

She smiled at him. "You're too distinctive the way you are."

Mason regarded her thoughtfully. "But you fell for my friend?" he said.

"Who said I fell for him?"

"Didn't you?"

She pouted a moment, then said, "Well, perhaps a little. You're different. You're inaccessible. But your friend is more . . . well, more available. Now if you tell him any of this, I'm going to put scratch marks all over your face."

"Can I tell him you're interested?" Mason asked.

"No," she said shortly.

"When did you quit last night?" Mason asked.

QUIZZED THE GIRLS

"Gosh, not only did I have to switch shifts this morning, but I had to work later last night because of the trouble. They wanted to question the other girls."

"When you say the trouble, you're referring to the murder?" Mason asked.

"Hush! We're not supposed to even mention that word."

The buzzer on the elevator sounded.

"Well, thank you," Mason said, "I'll tell my friend."

She looked up at him impudently. "Where are you going?"

"What do you mean?"

The buzzer rang again.

"You'd better get the elevator back down," Mason said.

She laughed. "That's what I mean by being inaccessible. You've been talking to me not because you were interested in me, but because you don't want me to know what room yu're going to. You were stalling around waiting for me to start down.—All right, smartie, I said you were inaccessible. Go ahead."

She slid the elevator door closed, and took the cage down.

Mason walked down to Room 728 and turned the knob.

The door swung open. A man who was seated in a straight-backed chair which had been tilted against the wall, his stockinged feet on the bed, a cigarette in his mouth, looked up at Mason and nodded.

Mason kicked the door shut.

"You're Drake's man?" Mason asked.

The man said, "Hello," tonelessly, cautiously.

Mason walked over to stand by the individual who got to his feet. "You know me. I don't know you," Mason said.

The operative opened his wallet and showed his identification papers. "How thoroughly have you gone over this place?" Mason asked.

"I've taken a look," Inskip said. "It's clean."

"Let's take another look," Mason told him. "Got a flashlight?"

"In my bag there."

Mason took the flashlight, bent over and carefully followed the edges of the worn carpet around the room. He gave careful inspection to the washstand in the bathroom.

"You sleep here?"

"I'm not supposed to sleep until I get an okay from Drake. He told me you were going to be in this morning. I was looking for you earlier. I didn't want to go to sleep until after you'd been here. When you leave I'll put a 'don't disturb' sign on the door and get eight hours shut-eye.—However, I'll be available in case anyone wants anything."

LOOK AT THE BED

"Sure!" the man said.

"Okay," Mason told him. "Let's take a look at the bed. You take that side; I'll take this. Just take hold of the bottom sheet and lift the whole thing right off onto the floor. I want to look at the mattress."

"Okay," Inskip said, "you're the boss."

Mason studied the mattress carefully.

"I don't know what you're looking for," Inskip said, "but I heard that the bullet didn't go clean through. Death was instantaneously and there wasn't any bleeding except a little around the entrance wound. That was all absorbed by the sweater."

"Well, there's no harm in looking," Mason said.

"I don't know," Mason told him.

The lawyer moved the flashlight along the edge of the mattress.

"Give me a hand," he said to Inskip. "Let's turn this mattress over."

They raised the mattress.

"Any stain on the mattress would have had to soak through the sheets and blood-stained sheets would have been reported," Inskip said.

"I know," Mason said. "I . . . Here! What's this?"

"Well, I'll be damned," Inskip said.

They propped the mattress on its edge and looked at a small round hole in the mattress.

"It looks to me," Inskip said, "as though someone had held a gun right up against the bottom of the mattress and pulled the trigger, holding the gun on an angle so the bullet wouldn't go all the way through."

"Well, let's find out," Mason told him.

"How we going to do it?"

Mason pushed his finger in the hole, said, "That won't do it. Let's see if we can get something to use as a probe."

"There's a wire coat hanger in the closet," Inskip said. "I have a pair of pliers with wire cutters in my bag. I always carry pliers with me because you never know what you're going to run up against in this business. Let me make a probe."

Dr. Brothers Reveals Secrets of Memory

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Joyce Brothers, the pretty Ph.D. who made a fortune on boxing without laying a glove on anybody, wants us more slovenly minds to develop a memory as successful as hers.

She has written a new book optimistically titled, "10 Days to Successful Memory," all about how you can earn to "remember for keeps."

Dr. Brothers des not guarantee it will open the way to the type of money she has made on "The $64,000 Question" and "Challenge," which happens to be a sum so large I can't recall it for temporary, much less keeps.

But she assures that by dishing out $4.95 for her book of advice, one can be a "more sought-after, more valuable and happier person."

The real secret of successful memory, it seems, is to have a "strong memory motive." It's like anything else — housecleaning, mountain climbing, lovemaking — if you don't have any good reason for doing it, it won't turn out so good.

Dr. Brothers says frankly her motive was money, which can help the memory no end when you need it. She and her husband and two kids needed it and this is why it was so easy for her to remember who knocked out whom in which round of what fight and earn her first $64,000.

PRACTICE EXERCISES

Now, once you have established a strong motive for remembering things (names, faces, dates, telephone numbers, grocery lists, details about your favorite TV category, etc.), you proceed to a series of exercises that Dr. Brothers has set out for you.

The book has 219 pages full of ideas — many of them in italics and bold face, so you won't forget. It is so comprehensive, in fact, that one can learn to remember the names of one's subway conductors, cab drivers and revenuers, if one is so motivated.

The author's instructions for cultivating the ability to recall names and faces is perhaps the most valuable portion of the book, however. Imagine yourself at a cocktail party; naturally you want to remember all these people not just for the nonce, but for keeps. So:

1. "Make sure, upon introduction, that you have heard the name clearly." (If necessary, say how's that again?)

2. "Repeat the name, in conversation, as soon as possible after the introduction." (The other party will be flattered.)

3. "Use the name at least once again—or, if you can, more often —in the ensuing conversation." (The other party will begin to wonder about you.)

4. "Look for some association that you can link to the name." (Like in the name of Thurman, think of sermon with a lisp.)

5. Repeat the name several times to yourself as soon as you have a chance." (But put down your drink first, unless you want talk.)

A new fluency in the language of fashion . . . this taffy and honey sheath that tapers to the floor, and drapes and folds with great elegance. The taffeta material is of a clear and brilliant color that looks lovely season after season. And, for sheer drama, wear a flowing back panel luxuriously lined in a contrasting color.

Formal Announcement of Heir Due Today

Saint-Laurent to Succeed Dior

PARIS (AP) — The Dior house will announce officially today that the late designer's successor will be Yves Saint-Laurent.

★ ★ ★

Saint-Laurent was Dior's assistant for four years, and the only other designer in the house for the past three years.

Dior left no written instructions as to who was to succeed him, or what was to happen to the house.

NO OUTSIDERS

The business management decided, after several weeks, to bring in no outsiders, but to continue under the leadership of young Saint-Laurent and the three women who have been with the house since it was founded.

★ ★ ★

They are Raymonde Zenacker, who was Dior's first assistant; Marguerite Carre, directress of all the workrooms; and Mitza Bricard, director of trimmings, hats, jewels and accessories. All three are in their middle 40s.

The "new Dior," Yves Matthew Saint-Laurent, was born in Oran, Algeria, the son of an insurance agent, and attended college there until the age of 17.

He came to Paris in 1953 and entered an annual design contest sponsored by the international wool secretariat. He was first prize winner, and met Dior when the late designer presented the award.

DIOR IMPRESSED

An editor of Vogue, M. Michael de Brunhoff, who was a friend of the Saint-Laurent family, asked Dior to interview the 17-year-old Yves. The designer was so impressed that he hired the shy, gangling youngster. But few had heard of him when Dior died unexpectedly of a heart attack last month.

★ ★ ★

There was speculation that the head of a smaller house might be brought in as designer. Pierre Cardin and Guy Laroche were frequently mentioned as possibilities.

The delay in announcing a successor for the house indicates at least that outsiders have been considered, but that no one of sufficient talent was found willing.

Saint-Laurent will have his first interviews with the fashion press today. The Dior house was at pains to deny a published description of him as a rumpled, untidy dresser. They described him as wearing "smart city suits, usually blue or brown."

Gathering to Be Held at School

Open House Set Thursday Night at Hickory Grove

Parents will visit their children's classrooms to meet teachers and to review the classwork to date. Teachers of special subjects will be on hand in the multi-purpose room to acquaint parents with their subjects' contributions the curriculum at Hickory Grove.

Representing the art department will be Ellen Hakala and Mrs. Mabel Hammerbeck. Others will be Mrs. Aino Hill and Nancy Sorenson, vocal music; Wayne Tilton, instrumental music; Mrs. Ruth DeCou and Mary Jane Abbey, physical education; Lois Jean Smith, speech correction, and Mrs. Marguerite Bean, special reading.

Mrs. Frank Moncher, head of the PTA ways and means committee, has announced that tickets are being sold for the Dec. 2 pancake supper, the group's fund-raising project for this year.

Principal Nathan Hargett has set aside Monday for the teacher - parent conferences which are replacing report cards this year.

Wear Fur Berets

Fur berets are high fashion for autumn. But most of us won't be buying our berets in mink. Rabbit is a pretty, effective and inexpensive alternate. The rabbit beret will be found at hat bars at budget prices.

Hadassah to Hear Guest at Honor Roll Gathering

Mrs. Ezra Shapiro of Cleveland, Ohio, former national vice president of Hadassah, will speak when Pontiac Chapter of Hadassah holds its annual Honor Roll meeting at Temple Beth Jacob Thursday evening.

Mrs. Shapiro has attended five World Zionist Congresses as a Hadassah delegate—most recently the 24th congress held in 1956 in Jerusalem.

After graduating from Hunter College in New York City, Mrs. Shapiro worked for the American Economic Committee for Palestine. She was president of Central States Region of Hadassah.

Mrs. Shapiro has served for many years in leadership of Women's Division of Cleveland Jewish Welfare Fund Appeal and as a member of board of governors of Cleveland State of Israel Bonds. She is also a member of the board of Bureau of Jewish Education.

In addition to her duties in Hadassah, Mrs. Shapiro has been active in community affairs in Cleveland. She is well-informed on Middle Eastern problems and will answer questions which the public may ask.

MRS. EZRA SHAPIRO

LINDA S. FITZPATRICK

Mr. and Mrs. Straud Fitzpatrick of Geneva road announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda S., to Lawrence H. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Brown of Denby road.

300 Attend Conference on Schools

Some 350 area citizens gathered Tuesday evening for Pontiac Council of PTA's conference on education, "Know Your Pontiac Schools."

Teachers, school administrators, PTA members and interested citizens participated in the discussions designed to acquaint citizens with requirements necessary to meet the needs of school enrollment and to focus attention on the education programs offered in our public schools.

Local PTA and PTSA presidents acted as hosts for the event.

Yacht Club Announces Its Officers

New officers were announced when 100 members of Watkins Lake Yachting Association gathered at Pontiac Country Club for the 1957 season banquet.

Named commodore was Sheldon Covert. Other officers chosen were Fred Brede, vice commodore; John Noble, rear commodore; Guy Duffield, fleet captain; Frank Fleck, secretary, and Bob Bahm, treasurer.

Mr. Fleck acted as toastmaster. Trophies were presented to Mr. Duffield, snipe; Glen Frees, lightning, and Don Zannoth, thistles.

Counseling May Cure Coldness

Frigidity of Wives Often the Result of Fear, Ignorance

By DR. JULIANA DAY
(For Jane Eads)

Frigidity in women usually means a partial or complete lack of interest in sexual relations. Some women, although they may desire intimacy, are unable to enjoy it, others may find intimacy repulsive.

Careful gynecological examination rarely reveals any physical disability which might be responsible for frigidity.

Frigidity may be considered as an expression of the fears women have about the sexual experience or of dissatisfaction with some aspect of their marriage relationships. Fears about sex often arise from ignorance.

MYSTERIOUS, BAD

As a girl is growing up, her curiosity in sexual matters is frequently frowned upon, and she can be most receptive to the prejudices and disgusts of older women concerning menstruation, intimacy and childbirth.

The result is that many girls come to believe that sex is somehow both mysterious and bad.

Frequently, frigidity may be overcome if frank discussion between husband and wife is possible. A physician can often help by explaining some of the things these couples do not understand.

Clergymen and marriage counselors, as well as physicians, can support couples in these discussions and aid in clarifying and resolving the difficulty.

STUBBORN ROOTS

Occasional cases of frigidity have more deep-seated and stubborn roots. A woman, for instance, may compensate for deep disappointment in her mother by idolizing her father and making him into an unattainable standard for masculine excellence.

★ ★ ★

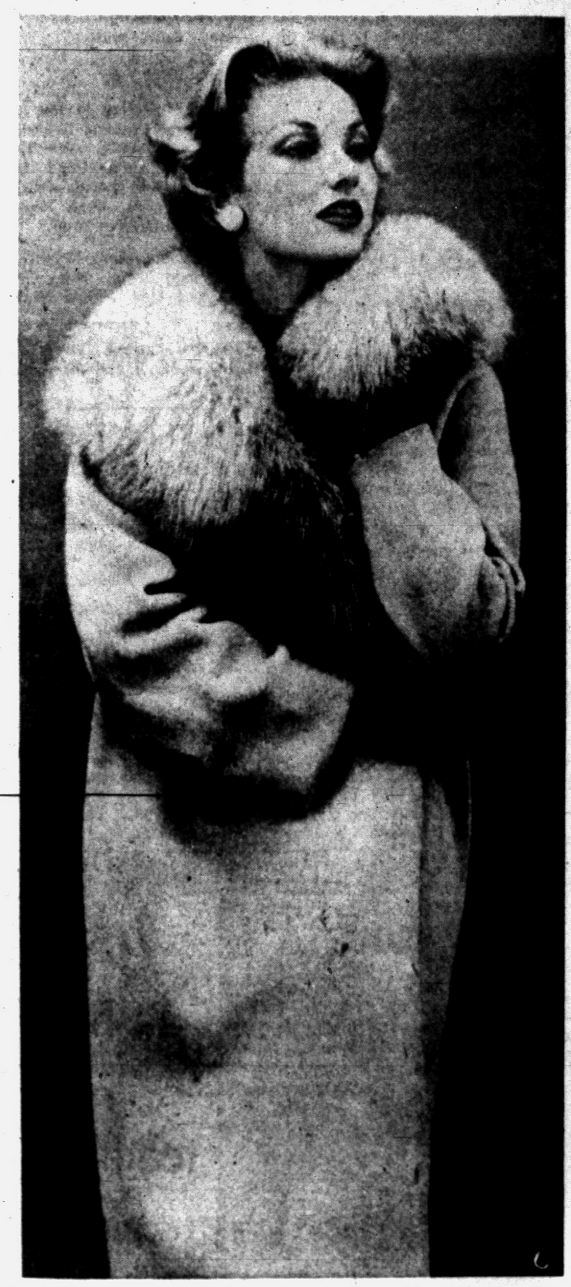

By this standard she will find her husband inadequate and may therefore be frigid in her relationships with him.

This sort of problem is usually beyond the individual's awareness and generally needs the attention of a psychiatrist.

Most important, we must realize that—sexually, as in every other way—all women and all marriages are different. The partners of each marriage share a variety of interests, enthusiasms and difficulties of job, home and children.

This graceful and easy coat is perfect for traveling, for North or South. The luxurious fur collar is the most chic idea for the well-dressed woman this season.

Anchors aweigh . . . and you are off to a season filled with fashion excitement. Whether you are actually on a holiday cruise or just planning parties at home, this sweater and skirt will be just the thing.

Birmingham AAUW Unit Hears White House Aide

Bradley H. Patterson Jr., assistant Cabinet secretary on the White House staff, will speak on "The Nerve of the Government" when Birmingham Branch of American Association of University Women meets for luncheon today at Birmingham Community House.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Patterson received a master's degree in philosophy and political theory from the University of Chicago and then was a master at Cranbrook School. He taught German and political science.

After leaving Birmingham, he became auxiliary vice consul in the Department of State where he was an intelligence officer and foreign affairs officer until 1948.

Following service as executive secretary in the Department of Affairs, Mr. Patterson became assistant Cabinet secretary on the White House staff in 1954.

It was Mr. Patterson who conceived the idea of organizing the Cabinet as a unit with its own secretary and a previously arranged agenda which would be followed and discussed and on which the President and all members would be informed in advance.

Emerson Plans Thursday Event

Emerson School open house will be held Thursday evening. This is to give parents a chance to meet their children's teachers and see their children's work.

★ ★ ★

L. D. McLauchlin, father vice president of Emerson PTA, will talk on the new curfew law now being drawn up. He is a member of the committee chosen to draw up the law and present it to the public.

Omega Mu Sigma Planning Dinner

Omega Mu Sigma sorority met Tuesday evening in the First avenue home of Mrs. Wayne Anable. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. John Jadwin.

Chapter Gathers With Mrs. Clark

Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority met Tuesday evening in the Pioneer drive home of Mrs. Robert Clark. She was assisted by Mrs. Jerome Martin, and Mrs. William Baer accepted articles for Needlework Guild.

Mrs. Roscoe Lund was named chairman of a money-making project.

Present Hebrew Music

By CHRISTINE GAENSBAUER

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale was given a conclusive demonstration Tuesday afternoon of the ability of its own members to provide programs of exceptional quality.

★ ★ ★

The meeting was held in the Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church and the artists were Mrs. James Rosenthal, commentator, assisted by Mrs. Rebecca Gould, contralto, and Mrs. Victor Lindquist, soprano.

RELATED TO RELIGION

Using as her theme "A Bird's Eye View of Hebrew Music," Mrs. Rosenthal first pointed out the close relationship of Hebrew music to the Hebrew religion, dating from the time of Abraham some 5,000 years ago.

As with all religions, the Hebrew religion and its music are based on man's need to worship a higher form of being than himself. Because of its antiquity the Jewish music is built on ancient modal scales which to modern ears sound minor, full of pathos and sometimes unfinished, because of the absence of familiar final cadences.

Mrs. Rosenthal discussed briefly the differences between the music of Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed Jewish synagogues and then described the origins, meaning and traditional customs of the holidays contained within the Jewish calendar year.

These include the Sabbath Day, the New Year, Yom Kippur or Day of Atonement, Succos or Harvest Festival, Hanukkah or Feast of Light, Tu Bish Vat which is the Jewish Arbor Day, Purim or Feast of Esther, the Passover and Shevuos, which celebrates the giving of the 10 Commandments to Moses.

HAUNTING QUALITY

Music used for these occasions and their religious services was sung by Mrs. Gould and Mrs. Lindquist in solo and duet, Hebrew and English.

Some of the examples were in their original primitive form, others in modern musical adaptations, but all had a haunting, folk - like quality typical of the expression of a nomadic, oppressed people ever seeking freedom and influenced down the ages by many civilizations and nationalities.

The music of the Sabbath, New Year and Yom Kippur was somber in mood, but that of other holidays such as Succos or Hanukkah was happier and contained light touches of humor. Mrs. Rosenthal described the delightful family and religious customs observed on these days.

For variety the audience joined the soloists on the refrain of "Olive Trees Are Standing," which is sung in connection with the Jewish Arbor Day in early spring. The program closed with Mrs. Rosenthal commenting on modern Israel and Mrs. Gould singing an Israeli folk tune.

WELL COORDINATED

The program was smoothly coordinated with musical examples merging easily with the vivid and meaningful discussion by Mrs. Rosenthal.

Bill Tuttle, head of the makeup department at MGM, begins the makeup process to prepare Judith Clemence for the TV film, "The Thin Man," which will be released Dec. 6.

Here we are on the set of "The Thin Man" — Dorothy Deal (left) from Wichita, Evelyn Livingstone from Chicago and your reporter. We are among the 15 fashion editors attending California Press Week who will be seen in the film.

And Now We're on Television!

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

We never thought when we left to cover California fashions we'd end up on television. But that's exactly what happened. We weren't chosen because of acting ability or for photogenic reasons, but we're happy anyway.

★ ★ ★

What's more, we're on MGM's payroll! We didn't expect to get paid besides—but the law's the law. Anyway that $21 for 30 minutes' work was the easiest money we ever earned (my apologies, dear Boss).

Following the filming we were served dinner on the Stage 23 set where actor George Murphy welcomed us, along with Walter Plunkett, dress designer for "Raintree County"; Helen Rose, Academy Award winning designer, and Eddy Bejoin, producer of television's "The Thin Man."

Other hosts were "Thin Man" co-stars, Peter Lawford and Phyllis Kirk, and Oscar Rudolph, director. Master of ceremonies was Charles Barry, vice president of the firm.

The next afternoon, three editors including your reporter stopped at Samuel Goldwyn Studios at watch Clark Gable on the set of "Run Silent, Run Deep."

WHAT'S A CHEMISE?

The tall man who has been called the "King" of movies didn't know about the chemise. Our conversation went something like this:

Reporter: "What do you think about the chemise?"

Mr. Gable: "What's that?"

Mr. Gable: "Ah, er . . ."

The actor had other things to say, too. He'd been called by a columnist that morning to make a comment on the Bergman-Rossellini break. He told us he wasn't about to make comment on anyone's marital problems.

Eggs Give Extra Value in Nutrition

Mrs. Morgan's Dish of Baked Macaroni High in Protein

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Gone to any covered dish supper lately? Were you disappointed with the hot dishes offered for your approval and eating? If Mrs. Joseph Morgan of Commerce had been there with her macaroni casserole, the story would be different.

Five children, three of them preschoolers, keep Mrs. Morgan on the run most of the time. She helps her husband operate his business from their home. Once a month she manages to find time for PTA at Commerce school.

MACARONI CASSEROLE
By Mrs. Joseph Morgan

1 pound elbow macaroni
3 eggs, beaten
¾ cup milk
½ pound medium sharp cheese, cubed
¼ cup green pepper, chopped

Cook and drain macaroni. Mix with rest of ingredients and pour into greased casserole. Bake 35 to 45 minutes in a 375-degree oven, or until mixture is firm. Cut in wedges or squares to serve. Makes 6-8 servings.

Miss Sub-Teen Becomes Stylish

Miss American Sub-teen, aged 10-14, is a small but mighty gal who's been throwing her weight around in recent years complaining that the "little girl" look is not for her — it's so ugh! What she wants, she said in a recent study, are clothes styled like big sister's but in her size — sub-teens 6 to 14.

★ ★ ★

Guided accordingly, buyers and designers went to work and have come up with holiday and party dresses that will flip juvenile wigs, delight mothers too. Included in a new collection are big plaids, prints, modestly cut-away necklines, puffed sleeves and even sheath skirts!

★ ★ ★

Miss Sub-teen is such a variable gal that she demands myriads of colors and fabrics to choose from — velvets, acetates and printed cottons. Something new — fabrics with bright metallic threads — are "real cool" to these hep gals.

Menfolk Favor Bulky Sweaters

The classic crew-neck sweater in a blend of lambs' wool and Shetland is becoming a standard in the wardrobe of men from school age on up. Heather tones and university stripes lead the field colorwise.

★ ★ ★

A tremendous job of upstyling has been done on coat-sweaters . . . three and four-button front models with long, low necklines fill the fellows' fashion requirements. Loud blazer stripes in bulky knits are in demand. A highlight of the winter sweater collection is a coat model with knit sleeves and cloth back and front.

★ ★ ★

Also on the upswing is the sleeveless vest, usually with a three-button front and contrast tipping-trim on sleeves, bottom or neckline which contrasts with the sweater color.

Chopped-Up Story Provides Party Fun

For fun at a teenage party try this: Clip an amusing story from a magazine or newspaper, cutting each sentence apart. The leader keeps the first sentence and the others are jumbled. Each guest draws one.

★ ★ ★

The leader reads his sentence and the others read theirs where they think they fit in. The result is sure to be funny and to provide many a good laugh.

LONDON (INS)—Diamonds are still a girl's best friend.

NO CLOSE RIVALS

Diamonds are not only first favorites, according to the National Jewelers' Association, but no other precious stone even threatens to outsparkle these bits of crystallized carbon in the popularity stakes.

Well over half the engagement rings sold include some diamonds, as they have done throughout this century. But fashions in engagement rings continually change.

Back at the beginning of the century half-loops were all the rage. They consisted of a central diamond with other diamonds tapering away in size on either side of it.

Then came oblongs, double clusters and today a single stone or a trio of diamonds is most in demand.

Britain's jewelry trade claims that the royal family influences jewelry fashions. Prince Albert gave Queen Victoria a "snake-type" betrothal ring with eyes of emerald. These snake rings were very popular for much of the Victorian era.

ELIZABETH'S RING

But when Queen Elizabeth got her engagement ring from the Duke of Edinburgh in 1946 it was one large diamond flanked by two smaller ones.

The choosing of an engagement ring seems to be a much more important matter than choosing the wedding ring to follow it.

In 90 per cent of the cases involving engagement rings both prospective bride and bridegroom come to purchase it. But it is the woman who almost invariably chooses it.

MR. and MRS. HOWARD BOADWAY

Couple Exchanges Vows in Rochester Ceremony

Shirley Marie Massimgill and Howard Lee Boadway were united in marriage Saturday evening in Rochester Nazarene Church. Some 200 guests witnessed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Massimgill of Oxford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Boadway of Shirley avenue.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin featuring a fitted bodice with long sleeves and a portrait neckline outlined in scalloped lace. The gown had a full skirt of drifting lace and tulle over ruffles.

The bride wore a raised tiara of imported French sequins and tiny seed pearls which held a veil of imported illusion. She carried a prayerbook with white orchids and sweetheart roses.

Bettly Boadway served as the maid of honor and Claudia Wood of Oxford, Gwen Carry of Waterford and Barbara Massimgill were the bridesmaids. All were gowned in sea foam green satin dresses on princess lines with bows in the back. They carried white fur muffs with light red roses.

Before leaving on a wedding trip the new Mrs. Boadway changed to an aqua knit suit with black accessories and a white orchid. The couple will live in Ortonville.

1920's Fads Come Back With Sacks

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — More and more trends of the 20's keep cropping up to accompany the sack dress.

★ ★ ★

SHOULD MATCH

The headbands are of fabric and should match the trim of your dress. As a matter of fact, you can probably snip off a piece of hem or seam and sew the edges yourself.

★ ★ ★

ALMOST TO SHOULDERS

Ear ornaments these days can droop almost to the shoulders and still be smart, since they add a decorative touch to the simple sheath and sack styles.

★ ★ ★

Guests of the evening were David Struble, Marlene Lazenby, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Haland, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cross, Carol Lazenby and Bob Fargher.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Tallerday, Barbara Tallerday, Daryl Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Thorp, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Whitmore and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coad.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Conerley, Mr. and Mrs. Al Galler, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Max Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Endries completed the guest list.

Saybrook Group Elects Officers

Patricia L. Isanhart and Gerald S. Blomquist were married Saturday at the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Isanhart, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Blomquist.

MR. and MRS. GERALD BLOMQUIST

Married Saturday at the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church were Patricia Lois Isanhart and Gerald Sven Oscar Blomquist. The Rev. Harvey McCann performed the candlelight ceremony in the presence of 200 witnesses.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Isanhart of Auburn Heights, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Blomquist of Edgefield drive.

The bride chose a full-length long-torso gown of Cupioni Italian silk, featuring a scalloped scoop Chantilly lace neckline frosted with sprays of seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and long tapered sleeves.

The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train, and she wore a tiara of pearls and rhinestones and a strand of cultured seed pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her floral arrangement was a cascade of gardenias, snowball chrysanthemums and ivy.

GOWNED IN BLUE

Bridesmaids Beverly Kelly of Detroit and Sharel Isanhart of Auburn Heights, sister of the bride, were dressed alike in powder blue satin gowns accented by empire waistlines and Sabrina necklines. They carried bouquets of deep yellow fugi chrysanthemums.

The best man was Chris Flessland, Dick Baker of Auburn Heights and Mike Ferich seated the guests. Serving as ringbearer was Dennis Flessland, nephew of the bridegroom.

Prior to leaving on a trip to New York the bride changed to a blue-gray fitted suit with winter white hat and gloves and the gardenias from her bridal bouquet.

Shelly Group Elects Officers

Mavis Carey was named chairman at the Friday meeting. Others assuming duties are Mrs. Gladis Hocking, vice chairman; Mrs. Earl Clark, treasurer and Mrs. Roy Ward, secretary.

Loyal Bereans Hold Hard Times Party

Mrs. Isaac Thurman, program chairman for the group's Christmas party, announced that this year's affair will be a progressive dinner, to begin at the home of Mrs. Earl Day on Jessie street and to conclude at the Liberty street home of Mrs. Ralph Johnson, were a party will be held.

DIET

You will never lose weight by talking about dieting. We often hear someone joke about "always going on a diet . . . tomorrow." If we laugh a little and think inwardly, "yes, and I should, too," then it's time to ACT. Each year that passes without self-effort buries our beauty a little deeper. Easy tips on cutting down your calorie intake are in these basic principles: PROTEINS: Build your blood sugar (energy) slowly and keep it up. CARBOHYDRATES: Build quick energy but is not lasting.

So you can see the foods to look for while cutting down calories must be high in proteins to ward off hunger pains longer!

Bouquets of multi-colored chrysanthemums banked the altar of St. Vincent de Paul Church for the wedding of Ardith Joan Green and Glenn J. Palmer.

The Rev. Fabian Weber performed the Saturday morning ceremony, which also marked the 22nd wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, in the presence of 200 guests.

Ardith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Green of Raburn street, and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Calvin Field of Klingensmith and Glenn Palmer of Muskegon Heights.

For her wedding the bride chose a full-length satin gown accented by a lace bodice with a scalloped neckline trimmed in seed pearls and sequins and long tapered sleeves. The full satin skirt, which formed a train, featured an overskirt of double netting.

GOWNED IN GREEN

Prior to leaving on a trip to northern Michigan the new Mrs. Palmer changed to a toast-colored knit suit with brown and white accessories and the white rose corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds will live in Flint.

Hiding From Older Bully Isn't Cowardice

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

"Our 8-year-old son is being molested on his way to school by an older boy who's just moved into the next block," writes Mrs. K.

"Should we report this bully's behavior to the school authorities? Buddy is afraid of our doing this in case the older boy takes some kind of revenge."

What about locating a new, round-about school route for Buddy? Or would he and his father scorn this evasive solution as cowardly "running away?"

If so, I remind Mr. K. that hiding from enemies is a defensive strategy used by all young creatures. Their parents deliberately teach them the art of self-effacement until they have developed the muscles, tusks, antlers and other fighting equipment that enables them to engage their enemies on equal terms.

Unfortunately, in our society, hiding from bigger enemies has somehow got mixed up with notions of cowardice. So fathers resist the idea of saying to harassed little sons, "Until you can take on this big kid with some hope of licking him, stay away from him."

A LITTLE NERVOUS

Thus I'm a little nervous about advancing it as sensible paternal counsel. Unless Mr. K. respects it as sensible, too, his belief that he's encouraging "cowardice" in Buddy will be transferred to his child who will feel like a stinker when he hides from his enemy instead of like the resourceful child he is.

He can better endure scratches and nose bleeds.

Where we got the idea that manliness is reacting to all challenges any bully wants to offer, I don't know. But it does seem a pretty silly one. As reasonable people, male or female, we all have to learn to discriminate between times when it's profitable to fight and times when it's not.

Once there was a brave knight. At a jousting, he won a brilliant victory over another knight who had challenged the supreme beauty of the lady he loved. As he was leaving the field, a wild beast was set loose.

From her safe seat among the spectators, his lady flung down her glove between him and the beast. He picked it up, threw it back at her, walked off—and married another lady.

Here is just everything you could wish for in tailored jewelry, in a gleaming line of necklaces, bracelets, pins and earrings in a beautiful finish and design—in gold or silver.

By RUTH MILLETT

The homemaker who feels incompetent and frustrated because she never gets done in any one day all the things she plans to do ought to sit down and do a little "armchair research," says a home economist.

But what do you do while you're sitting—besides letting more work pile up?

You could make a list of the most important things you have to do during the coming week, the chores that are absolute "musts." Then you could decide how to divide the chores that aren't daily ones throughout the week.

After that you might start wondering if there isn't some easier way for you to do the regular chores. It's a fact that some women can clean a house in the time it takes a less well-organized housekeeper to clean one room.

Once you've cut your work load to the bare minimum and have spaced it out over a whole week, what do you do if you still find you don't get everything done you want to do?

You relax and remind yourself that few housewives come through each day with a perfect score. They have so many interruptions and so many unexpected demands on their time that not finishing all the jobs laid out for a day isn't anything out of the ordinary.

A homemaker who measures herself against some ideal standard and gets upset when she doesn't meet it is just beating her head against an unscrubbed floor.

All a homemaker can hope to do is find the easiest and best ways of doing individual jobs, have a schedule to keep her on the track, and when she has a slow or trying day, tell herself philosophically, "Well, there's always tomorrow."

Anniversary Celebrated by Bredes

Hosting the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brede and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brede Jr., at whose Watkins Lake home the event was held.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. O.M. Brede of Los Altos, Calif., Ted Brede of Detroit, Mrs. Carl Uhlman of Clearwater, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Pfahler of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanft, Mr. and Mrs. George Firman, Ed Valliere, Kathy, Christopher and Diane Brede, all of Pontiac, also were present.

Ground and instant coffee should be kept in the refrigerator to maintain its flavor once you have opened the can or jar.

Students From Other Nations Visit Families

They are graduate students who completed their undergraduate studies in their own countries and are in Ann Arbor for 18 months to specialize in their chosen fields.

Mrs. Norris Host and Mrs. Fred Henny were instrumental in planning and carrying out the project.

Among those who offered hospitality to the students were the D. J. Simpsons, Paul Robertsons, William Vincents, W. J. Birds, John Jecklings, E. K. Kellys, Preston Boziers, A. O. Thalackers and the Hosts.

Do Not Squander Precious Energy

Enjoyment of Life Depends on Pep

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A fine store of energy should be one of our most coveted possessions. Energy is the coin with which we pay our way in life. With it we purchase success, and to a certain degree, even happiness.

The extent to which we can give ourselves to life, to others and to our work, is in ratio to the amount of energy we have. No matter how great our ideas or how gracious our intentions, unless we have the pep to put them into action they can mean little to us or to anyone else.

Scrubbing the floor doesn't bother this girl. Blessed with a fine constitution, she has sufficient energy for this job and many others.

Some persons just naturally have more energy than others because of their fine constitutions. These folks are fortunate but they are in danger just as a beautiful woman is. Both may rely too much on their lucky inheritance.

I wrote a column not long ago about the "madness of superlative health." Remember that most of the folks who are vital in older years had some physical trouble around middle age and had to take care of themselves.

* * *

Then there seem to be some people who were just born tired. These may have come into the world with a physical inheritance which left much to be desired. On the other hand, this seeming fatigue may indicate no physical disorder or handicap, but may be a matter of glands or temperament.

DO NOT HESITATE

If, however, you find there are defects which are stealing your energy and they can be corrected, do not hesitate to do so. This may only require consistent care on your part or it may call for medical or surgical treatment.

* * *

Usually drastic measures are not the answer. Most folks have a potential for a much greater amount of energy than they experience but never get to enjoy it because of many small leaks.

Our energy is worth saving and even cultivating. It is worth spending carefully but glamor, excitement and adventure are added to life if we have an extra margin of energy and can be a bit extravagant with it.

February-December Unit Attends Program on U. N.

A study of the United Nations, led by Mrs. Harry Akin, was featured on the program when members of the February - December Group of the First Presbyterian Church met Friday at the Bedford street home of Mrs. James Coon.

* * *

The program was led by Mrs. Edward Mann.

New Lamp Design Squares a Circle

CHICAGO (INS) — Squaring a circle may be an impossible achievement in higher mathematics, but home accessories designer Jo Mead has a new lamp that does just that.

She has suspended a 16-inch diameter plastic globe in a cubic metal frame. The globe lamp within a square can either be stacked on frames of the same dimensions or used in a single frame as a table lamp.

The plastic globes come in white and an array of modern colors.

Collection Stresses Pearls on Half Shell

Women are supposed to look like "pearls on the half shell," according to the house of George Carmel. So this company is putting coats and suits "on the oval."

* * *

Suits take their curve from rounded shoulder and unfitted waists, narrowing at the skirt.

* * *

The Carmel collection has more than curves; there's also a "slip-covered" mink coat for rainy days. The "slipcovers" range from plain poplin to fancy brocade.

MR. and MRS. BERNARD A. POLZIN

Married Saturday in St. Benedict Church were Joyce Marilyn Hendley and Bernard A. Polzin. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Hendley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Polzin.

Joyce Hendley Becomes Bride in St. Benedict Rite

Chrysanthemums banked the altar of St. Benedict Church for the Saturday morning wedding of Joyce Marilyn Hendley and Bernard A. Polzin. The Rev. John H. Hoar performed the ceremony before relatives and friends of the couple.

* * *

The Lester B. Hendleys of Longfellow avenue are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Polzin of Inkster.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of satin with a Chantilly - type French lace bodice featuring a modified Sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the wrists. The gown ended in a floor-length skirt of satin with an overskirt of satin, tulle and French lace.

She wore a satin and lace cloche which held a fingertip veil of pure silk French illusion. The bride carried a hand cascade of white roses centered with a yellow rose corsage.

* * *

Theresa Polzin of Inkster, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. Janet Hendley, a sister of the bride, and Mary Lou Hoban were the bridesmaids.

The maid of honor was gowned in a baby blue dress in waltz length featuring a draped bodice and a full pleated skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with yellow roses. The other attendants wore gowns of tangerine identical to the honor maid's.

Bernadett Sietz of Ypsilanti was the flower maid. Her gown was pink and blue in floor length. She carried a basket of rose petals.

* * *

Serving as his brother's best man was Henry A. Polzin. Another brother, Joseph G. Polzin, and Gary Campeau of Inkster seated the guests. Larry Sietz was the ringbearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hendley chose an aqua dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and roses. Mrs. Polzin wore a pink lace dress with black and white accessories and a white carnation and rose corsage.

Before leaving on a trip the new Mrs. Polzin changed to a charcoal suit with black and white accessories and a yellow rose corsage. The couple will live in Pontiac.

Considers Belated Gift for Bride

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Due to circumstances beyond my control, I did not send a wedding present to the daughter of a very dear friend at the time she was married. I had wanted to send something, and still want to very much, but am at a loss to explain its lateness. Shall I send a note explaining in part why the gift is being sent so late, or shall I simply send it and explain nothing?"

Answer: If I were you, I would write, "With belated but very best wishes for your happiness," across my visiting card.

To someone you know very well, you might explain more fully: "I wanted so much to send this in time for the wedding, but it was impossible. It goes to you now with my love and all best wishes for your happiness."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I work as secretary in a large organization where it is the practice within the organization to call all secretaries by their first names. Because this is the general accepted practice, I do not object.

"However, I happen to work for a man whose family and friends also have taken the liberty of calling me by my first name when they call. I do object to this, partly because I am a mature woman and partly because I feel this places me in a servile position. Will you please advise me how to handle this situation?"

Answer: I have never approved of calling secretaries by their first names, especially before customers or others outside the organization, but as this is the practice in yours I am afraid there's nothing you can do about it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is proper to give a stork shower after the arrival of a baby? I was planning on giving such a shower for a friend of mine but the baby arrived earlier than expected and I am not sure whether I should go ahead with my plans."

Answer: Certainly you may give the shower. In fact, in my opinion the baby's presence would add greatly to the picture.

Pontiac Chapter of OES Appoints New Chairmen

Mrs. Richard Young was named fraternal sunshine chairman when Pontiac Chapter 228, OES, met Monday evening in Masonic Temple.

* * *

Other chairmen are Mrs. Clarence Curry, calls; Mrs. Joseph Minton, publicity; Robert Calvary, Masonic News publication; Mrs. Theodore Marchbanks, banquet and High Twelve; Mary Erickson, refreshments, and Mrs. Claud Coons, obituary.

Others are Mrs. Sylvan Clark and Eldon Sweazy, relief; Clyde Townsend, Mrs. Floyd Levely and Ruth Augustine, auditing; Mrs. Earl Ross, Mrs. Cecil Diehl and Mrs. Samuel Smith, examining; Mr. Sweazy, proficiency, and Mrs. Samuel Smith, Mrs. Seth Welch and Mrs. Russel Woodbury, hospitality.

Among the guests were Virginia Zook and Alberta Frank.

Put Washable Walls in Children's Room

Bearing in mind the irresistible impulse of children to draw on walls, the designers of the new Swedish-American liner, Gripsholm, have deliberately installed suds-washable walls in the children's playroom.

Wall-drawing is actually encouraged by providing chalk and crayons so tiy travelers may indulge their artistic yearnings, while attendants stand by to "wipe the slate clean" with a sudsy sponge when fresh wall space is needed.

A pot or high hat balances the barrel silhouette. Worn back on the head, more hair showing to frame and flatter the face.

Last year's hat, worn down on the forehead and showing no hair, might become you now if worn back on the head, with more hair showing. That's what we found in a hat we didn't think so flattering last year, but now we love it.

Suspect Nabbed by Watchman

Quick action by a nightwatchman resulted last night in the apprehension of a suspected safecracker, on parole from Jackson Prison.

Arrested last night on the grounds of the Truckaway Corp., 355 S. Sanford St., was William H. McNeil, 37, of 42 Hillside Dr. He is being held by Pontiac police today for investigation of breaking and entering.

Truckaway nightwatchman Clark C. McDowell, 51, of 20 Willard St. said he spotted McNeil sneaking away from the building along the fence in the company yard.

McDowell told police he chased the suspect along the fence, caught up with him and had to hit him once before McNeil was subdued.

An automobile, which police identified as belonging to McNeil, was found parked next to the fence and was taken into custody.

Det. James Bale said that marks on the office window indicated there had been attempts to pry it open. Tools were found discarded in the company yard, Bale said.

Det. Lt. John DePauw said McNeil was sentenced by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick in 1951 to 7½-15 years for a safecracking at the Wixom Cooperative Co., 49350 Pontiac Trail.

McNeil was released to Pontiac parole officers in January, 1956.

Stevenson Shows Extreme Caution on Taking Foreign Policy Advice Post

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson sounds as cautious about helping the Eisenhower administration on foreign policy as a man walking barefoot through a field of broken bottles.

Stevenson, a little like Hamlet sometimes in trying to make up his mind to do or not to do, issued a very carefully phrased statement on the help he'd give.

He stated his position only after the White House erroneously said he had turned down a suggestion that he help.

But since Stevenson is a handy man with the English language, his phrasing is hardly an accident. Translated into very simple English, it sounds like: "I don't want to stick my neck out too far."

At the same time President Eisenhower, who wanted Stevenson's help, played just as cautious about asking him. In fact, he didn't ask him. He had Secretary of State Dulles do it.

This is an old story with the Eisenhower administration. The same kind of thing happened with former President Truman, whose relations with Eisenhower have been frigid since 1952.

Early this year Greece and Turkey, planning to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the help Truman started giving them in 1947, wanted him to visit both countries in March. They told the Eisenhower administration.

Eisenhower talked it over with Dulles. But it was Dulles, not Eisenhower, who sent the invitation to Truman. Truman rejected it, saying he had other engagements.

Then the State Department said both Eisenhower and Dulles regretted Truman's decision.

When Eisenhower goes to Paris next month to try to glue American alliances tighter, he'll be in a ticklish spot. He'll need as much solid American backing as he can get, from Democrats as well as Republicans.

Dulles asked Stevenson for help in working out a policy for Paris. Stevenson, although he lost two presidential campaigns, still is titular head of the Democratic party.

But he can't speak for all Democrats, least of all for the most important Democrats between elections: The Democrats in Congress. If they don't like the policy produced at Paris, they'll be free to criticize.

If Stevenson helps make that policy, and the Democrats don't like it, he's in danger of being blasted along with Eisenhower from inside his own party.

Dangerous Gas Leak Closes High School

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The Harlandale High School was closed today while repairmen tried to find a severe gas leak.

McCollum said the leak allowed seven cubic feet of gas to escape each hour. He said the gas meter was sealed for the night and all heating cut off yesterday.

Oldest Civil War Vet Marks Birthday

The white-haired, tobacco-chewing Confederate veteran is three years older than John Salling of Slant, Va., the only other living Civil War veteran.

Williams' daughter Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles said a small party with the band, cake and some punch was planned. Friends were expected to drop by all day but no big celebration was planned.

Williams has always loved music. Bed-ridden for the past six months, he keeps a radio near his bed and turns it on loud when listening to music.

He rode in an ambulance during the Veterans Day parade Monday and said he enjoyed listening to the bands and hearing the crowds.

Economic Dip Slowly Widens

Reflected in Steels, Oil, Cuts in Textile Output, White Collar Jobs

NEW YORK (AP) — Slowly but surely the slight dip in industrial activity which began last spring is widening out today—even as the stock market foretold.

It shows in figures from the steel and oil industries, in textile output cutbacks and weak prices, in factory employment, and even is starting to tinge the white collar worker's outlook.

Consumers continue to spend as much or more for goods and services. But many manufacturers are finding they must produce fewer units if they are to keep their stocks from rising. Higher prices and more use of services color the consumer spending totals.

The economy is still riding high and no great drop is feared. But every month new segments of the economy enter into the current breather.

Steel production this week is lower than at any time since early August 1956, when it was affected by the summer strike.

The oil industry is being warned that a rough year may be ahead. Demand still tops last year but not by the margin expected.

SEATTLE (AP)—Selection of a jury to hear the grand larceny trial of Dave Beck Jr., son of the retiring president of the International Teamsters Union, was scheduled to start in Superior Court today.

Beck faces two counts of grand larceny on charges he misappropriated proceeds from the sale of two automobiles belonging to the Teamsters Union. His father is scheduled to go on trial Dec. 2 on similar charges.

Credit Unions Formed

Man in Space Thinking Cited

But Project's Reality Called Long Way Off by Air Force Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force general says the United States already is doing some preliminary thinking about a manned space ship — although such a project still is a long way off.

Brig. Gen. H. F. Gregory, commander of the Air Force Office of Scientific Research, said in a speech yesterday: "Although it may be somewhat early to be building manned space ships, it is not too early to be thinking about exploratory research in this area.

"In fact we have been doing it for some time."

Gregory described the Air Force project Farside, a recent series of rocket tests, as "one of many efforts that will be required . . . for the successful conquest of space."

The Air Force has said previously that six rockets were fired in the Farside tests in the Pacific and there have been unofficial reports that the sixth shot went more than 4,000 miles into the sky.

Former President Harry Truman, in Washington to attend a luncheon in his honor, told newsmen: "We had a missile program before I left the White House — it was broken up after I left."

But about the same time, Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) issued a statement saying the Truman administration must be blamed "for our lag behind the Russians in the ballistic missile field . . .

"The record of the Truman administration on missiles reveals a monstrous neglect bordering on the criminal," Bennett said.

"The Truman legacy was so deplorable that the Eisenhower administration had to start virtually from scratch to begin to catch up with the Russians."

Gas Street Lamps to Burn Round Clock in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia, which still has 7,500 gas street lamps scattered on many of its narrower lanes and alleys, has decided it can save money by letting the lamps burn day and night.

Streets Commissioner David N. Smallwood told city councilmen yesterday the city could save $100,000 a year by dispensing with a $29 yearly cost per lamp for an automatic system to turn the gas off each morning and on again at night.

Believes Laika Brought Back to Earth Alive

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The dog aboard Sputnik II probably has been brought back to the earth alive but the Russians aren't talking about it because of military implications, the president of the International Astronautical Federation said last night.

Andrew G. Haley of Washington, D. C., said he based his belief partly in the difference in the radio code pattern of the two Russian satellites.

★ ★ ★

Sputnik I gave out signals until its battery wore down, he said. The beeping from the larger Sputnik II ended sooner and suddenly, as if connections were broken or instruments destroyed by the ejection of the dog.

★ ★ ★

Paper Snakes in Can of Candy Worth $25,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When Mrs. Bertha Ekman opened the can labeled "peanut brittle" she found it wasn't, and the judgment she got from a jury wasn't peanuts, either.

The jury awarded her $25,000 yesterday. Mrs. Ekman had testified that when she opened the phony can of peanut brittle, paper snakes sprung out at her.

She sued Wilmington, Calif., cafe owner James Munson for $117,250, claiming that the shock caused her to fall backward and that she required hospitalization four times as a result.

Jewelry Worth $7,000 Recovered for Actress

She said the case held about $7,000 worth of cameos she was to wear in a picture being made in this gold country area.

Court Will Decide Eligibility of Denby

DETROIT (AP)—Circuit Court was asked today to settle a dispute over the eligibility of Denby High School to play in the City League football championship game tomorrow night.

Judge Victor Targonski set a hearing for 3:30 p.m. on the plea of Denby High parents to Force City League officials to declare Denby eligible for the game as the East Side champion.

The court action followed the refusal of the league's Athletic Board of Control to withdraw an order forfeiting four games in which unbeaten Denby used ineligible players.

Wallace A. Temple, attorney for the Denby Dads' Club, said the court will be asked to hold that the athletic board put into effect a regulation contrary to the rules of the State High School Athletic Assn.

Protest to Williams About Gasoline War

LANSING (AP) — A gasoline price war is threatening to drive them out of business, three Flint retailers have complained to Gov. Williams.

"They said they have no objection to normal competition, but that this kind of cut-throat business doesn't enable them to make a living," Williams said.

Stanley Mitoraj, Lavere A. Kreger and Marvin W. Sheik, all operating gasoline stations under lease agreements with major oil companies, appeared before the governor to ask for "suggestions."

Williams directed aides to survey the situation but said he was pessimistic about coming up with any solution. The governor said there were no complaints about violation of state law.

The gas station operators reported that the normal retail margin of six cents was being cut in half, or even lower, because of the price war.

They said the retail price of regular gas in Flint now ranges from 21.9 to 25.9 cents a gallon compared with 31.9 cents at many stations in Detroit.

Hal Boyle Says:

Brando Sees Films as Potential for Peace

He has been phenomenally successful. He says this about the impact of success on him:

"I have not been so impressed so much by how I have changed as I have been by other people's attitudes toward me."

Brando is a full-lipped, short-haired, wide-hipped man who in a few short years has become perhaps the most acclaimed actor since John Barrymore, gifted with a talent as recognized among fellow actors as by the public.

In his latest film, he plays a young American jet flier who discovers, for him at least, that it is better to marry the Japanese girl he loves than to leave her behind. He is a Southerner. The theme of the film is how love can rise above race prejudice.

The picture is based on the novel by James Michener. There are rumors around that Brando himself may make a million dollars from the film.

★ ★ ★

He says, aside from money, that Hollywood has done itself and America a disservice because too often it is potentially the best possible instrument of communication with foreign people—but has failed to communicate.

"It behooves us to do what we can to improve our relations with other people who, in a short time, we may find our lives interdependent with," he said.

★ ★ ★

After an overseas stint during which he made two pictures in Japan and toured Southeast Asia, Brando feels that people in those areas judge America by its movies and that the movies, by more realistic dramas about world problems and prejudices, can improve mutual understanding and fare well also at the box office.

★ ★ ★

Brando himself has made one kind of adjustment to fame. "I have given up stating the pros and cons about myself," he said. "I'd just as soon let people come to their own conclusions—and let it go at that."

★ ★ ★

Asked how success had affected his life, he said:

"It's a dangerous position to be in, from the standpoint of maintaining a sensible perspective on yourself in relation to other people.

"It grows like coral does. You don't see it until the tide of circumstances goes out and reveals a whole network.

"I think I have learned, as a result of being successful, how frighteningly important it is to most people to be regarded as successful. Not many people care about your growth, or lack of it, as a person.

"People hate you for no other reason than that you are successful, and they like you for no other reason."

Pickets Halt Work on Missile Ships

There was no violence. The men drifted away when a whistle sounded the start of the regular day shift at 7:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

More than 2,000 production and maintenance workers struck Monday midnight at the destroyer-building shipyard, which currently has contracts totaling about 100 million dollars.

Search for Rabid Dogs in Taylor Township

DETROIT (AP)—The possibility that a crazed dog may have infected other dogs in the vicinity with rabies is being investigated by police in suburban Taylor Township.

Police killed one dog yesterday which was frothing at the mouth. Its head was sent to University Hospital at Ann Arbor for analysis for rabies.

An apparently rabid dog bit two persons Monday and escaped after attacking a policeman. Officers surmised the dog killed yesterday may have been infected by the first dog.

Williams Sees Reports on Reds as Inadequate

Junior Editors Quiz on BARBER POLES

ANSWER: Many years ago in England, barbers also were surgeons, since they were experts with knives.

Before his shop, as a sort of advertisement, each barber set up a red pole with a white strip of cloth wrapped around it. This represented the blood and bandages in surgery.

It's been a long time since a barber practiced surgery. In fact, modern barbers are ashamed if they cut a customer slightly, by accident. But the red and white pole remains as the symbol of the barber shop.

FOR YOU TO DO: Next time you get a haircut, ask your barber if he knows the story behind his barber pole.

Deans of 4 Universities Reported as Preparing Sweeping Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—The Wall Street Journal said today that deans of Harvard, Columbia, Duke and Toronto have prepared a report proposing sweeping revisions in university graduate school programs.

★ ★ ★

Their object, the Journal said, is to enable more students to study for advanced degrees and to improve the quality and prestige of degree holders.

★ ★ ★

The story also said the project is an attempt to meet America's soaring demand for experts.

★ ★ ★

The deans will strike hard at the "tortuously slow" Ph. D. program. Some students now stretch their doctorate work over many years. The deans will recommend that the program be reduced to a maximum of three or four years, with rare exceptions for those studying part-time.

★ ★ ★

This will clear the way for a rejuvenation of the master's degree, which the deans believe often is considered an academic consolation prize.

★ ★ ★

Signers of the report, submitted to the Assn. of Graduate Schools, are: Jacques Barzun, dean of the graduate faculties at Columbia; J. P. Elder, dean of Harvard's graduate school of arts and sciences; Marcus E. Hobbs, dean of the graduate school of arts and sciences at Duke; and A. R. Gordon, dean of Toronto's graduate school.

Confidential Magazine Charges Dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A conspiracy charge against 11 individuals and three corporations connected with the publication of Confidential magazine has been dismissed.

The dismissal motion by defense counsel Arthur J. Crowley was granted yesterday by Superior Judge H. Burton Noble. The prosecution raised no objections.

A two-month trial of the case ended last summer with the jury deadlocked 7-5 for conviction. The defendants were accused of conspiring to commit criminal libel.

'Best Informed in Nation' Says National Leader

Lauds State Farmers as 'Tops'

"They show more spirit and greater knowledge of farm problems than farmers in any other state, and I go to all of them," said Dr. Kenneth Hood, assistant secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Hood, here to address the 38th annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau, told an interviewer that his discussions with Michigan farmers show "they are leading from strength and know what they are talking about."

Later, he advised delegates to urge the 70,000 farm families in the organization to tell the story of farm goals and farm problems to their home communities.

"Formerly everyone knew about agriculture problems, but today the city man says 'So what?'" Hood said. "Tell your story at home and it will get to Lansing and Washington."

'STRESS SELF-HELP'

"Tell them" he continued, "that we are dedicated to seek ways to reduce expenditures through greater emphasis on markets and less on price supports.

"Tell them we want more emphasis on self-help and less on government assistance — more emphasis on free markets for all and less on monopoly pricing, government price fixing, industry-wide labor bargaining, fair trade laws and other devices that keep our costs skyrocketing and give oxygen to those who think the only way out is to completely subsidize and socialize agriculture."

Resolutions adopted by the 657 delegates proposed:

Clamping a lid on rising property taxes and a broadening of the taxpayer base to "include all citizens," perhaps through a state income tax.

Enlargement of the State Board of Equalization from five to seven members, including "at least two active farmers."

Opposition to legislative apportionment on a strictly population basis.

Delegates rejected a resolution commending the Legislature for raising the monthly tax on house trailers in trailer parks from $2.50 to $3, with the added 50 cents going to the local school.

Berkley Turns Down $5,500,000 Issue

One was for a $5,500,000 bond issue to build a new high school and the other was for an additional five mill operating tax.

There were 1,321 for the bond issue and 7,710 against it. For the additional five mill operating tax there were 1,435 yes votes and 7,703 no votes.

Of Berkley's 15,000 registered votes, 9,255 cast their votes.

Council Accepts Bid of Local Contractor; Allow 30 Days

Most of the south wall and part of the west collapsed Monday while city workmen were digging under the foundation to repair a broken water main.

"Plans are in the making, but we're still handicapped by lack of funds," said Councilman Reynold Sweet today.

Until plans become more definite, Sweet said, the city will continue renting office space at 108 N. Lafayette St., a half-block from the old city hall, to house the city clerk's office and the chief of police.

Council meetings are going to be held there also, Sweet said.

And the fire department, which had used the first floor of the old city hall, has moved temporarily to the city hall garage.

MR. and MRS. LLOYD VIRGIN

MARRIED — Before her Nov. 9 marriage to Lloyd Virgin in St. Luke Methodist Church, Pontiac, Mrs. Virgin was Helen Francis Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Becker of Pontiac Township. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Virgin of Davisburg. The newlyweds, now honeymooning in Florida, will make their home in Davisburg upon their return.

Village Council Votes Contracts

4 Rochester Projects Awarded From Bids; OK Girl Scout Sale

ROCHESTER — Village Council awarded the contract of Romeo Road Water Mains Extension last night to Moncinelli Excavating Co. of Dearborn.

Their bid (there were 11 other bidders) was $11,751.00. Work will start immediately and the company has 30 calendar days to complete the work.

Out of six bidders on the gas heating installation for the Village Fire Hall and the public garage adjoining, the Rochester Plumbing and Heating Co. gave low bid of $1883. The work will start immediately.

The Kenneth Anderson Co. was awarded the contract for $2,000 feet of copper tubing for Village water installations. Their bid was 38.1 cents per foot.

Tentative approval was given by the council on Rochester Heights Subdivision No. 2. Giffels Engineering Co. presented plat plans for sidewalks, water and sewers.

The Council also gave permission to the Girl Scouts to sell calendars in this area on Nov. 18 to Dec. 1. The scouts are to be accompanied by their parents in a house-to-house canvas.

The Rochester Senior Class was given permission to place a sign between the National Bank of Detroit and the D&C store on Main Street and the Lions Club was granted permission to sell Christmas stockings in the Village.

President Sidney Ennis stated that Nov. 25 is the deadline for applications for village manager to be filed. Five applications have been requested by various men.

Appointed to represent the Village of Rochester on the Avon Youth Recreation Service Assn. were James Hill, councilman, and Stowell Collins, as the alternate.

School Money Predictions Interest PTA

By LAOMA SANFORD
Orion Correspondent

The 65 members attending the East Oakland Area PTA Council meeting at Elwood School last night, representing the 37 schools of Oxford, Orion, Rochester, Troy, Avondale, and Clawson were so interested in the speech delivered by Dr. William Emerson, Superintendent of Oakland County Schools, that they abandoned their workshops for a longer question-and-answer period.

Dr. Emerson, speaking on the "Ins and Outs of School Monies" startled the group into action with his figures on the public school in the past 10 years and his predictions for the next five.

In summarizing, he stated, "Assuming the people of Michigan continue the next five years as they have the past ten, and knowing the school population in Michigan will have increased by almost a half million, and assuming the state resources of revenue remain constant and the level of property taxation remains constant — in five years we will need 180 million dollars more than we needed last year."

The plan, tested in Hazel Park and found successful creates a juvenile protestation committee which functions without publicizing any of its work, to assist families before minor problems become case histories.

★ ★ ★

The six school districts, through PTA local unit planning, were asked to get the civic and township officials of their respective areas interested in the plan as the first step in the all council program to reduce juvenile crimes to a minimum.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors has allowed for five new staff members to be attached to the juvenile court, to do social welfare work for the committees, because they would be released from other duties.

Hold Six Men After Raid on Area Still

ROYAL OAK (AP)—Police held six men without charge for questioning yesterday following a raid Monday night in South Oakland County that uncovered a whisky still.

Police said they found the still, two barrels of moonshine, a stolen safe containing $5,900 and about 25 burglar tools in a house at Clawson.

Police Chief David Gratopp of Troy said the raid was on the home of Roy E. Glover, 23. Glover and five other men were arrested.

Gratopp identified one of the men as Charles O. Biroth, 20, of Troy and said he is awaiting trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on a breaking and entering charge.

Special Election Voted by Board

Washington Township to Decide on Hiring Planning Consultant

ROMEO — Washington Township board members voted last night to call a special election to determine whether voters favor hiring a professional planning consultant.

A second proposal will ask for authorization to levy ½ mill per $1,000 of assessed valuation to help support the three year program of expansion.

Date of the election remains to be set, and the township attorney expected to rule soon on whether the voters living within the village limits will be included in the balloting.

Tentative approval was given to representatives of the Continental Realty Co., Detroit, for a proposed subdivision on the south side of 30 Mile road, one mile east of Van Dyke.

The developers plan to create a manmade lake and stake out 325 lots on the 160-acre site. They call the subdivision Lake Washington Estates.

Final approval was given on a 22-lot addition to Charity Hills subdivision, on 28 Mile and Mound roads.

Avon Players Prepare Popular Christie Play

ROCHESTER — Agatha Christie's "Witness for the Prosecution," to be presented by Avon Players on Dec. 6 and 7, is also being made into a movie in Hollywood and will probably be presented to movie audiences next summer.

★ ★ ★

The play, a smash hit in London and New York a few seasons back, is also being presented this season by Bloomfield Hills' St. Dunstan and Birmingham Players. It's mountingly tense situation, capped by three surprise twists, has made it a real thrill for audiences.

★ ★ ★

According to Jarvis Lamb, director of the play, rehearsals are proceeding monthly and the players are proving real "pros" in developing their roles. Some players familiar to local theatergoers will be seen in new roles, and some new players will make their debut. Lamb promises another surprise in the role of jury members.

★ ★ ★

Ticket buyers are urged to make reservations early since many of last season's productions were sold out and many playgoers disappointed. Tickets may be had at Purdy's Drug Store, Rochester, or through Avon Player members.

Waterford PTA Groups to Meet Tomorrow Night

Three PTA groups in Waterford Township have scheduled their meetings for Thursday night.

Pontiac attorney David Hertler will speak on "Incorporation in Waterford Township," at 8 p.m., at the Pontiac Lake School.

There will be an open house beginning at 7:30 p.m. for parents, and teacher consultations.

At the Lambert School PTA meeting, an Oakland County public health nurse will discuss health issues. A question and answer period will follow.

The Waterford Center School PTA will meet at 8 p.m. and hear Superintendent of Schools William Shunck talk on "Report to Parents."

The annual book sale will be at 7:30 p.m.

Rezoning Approved by Orion Township

ORION TOWNSHIP—The Orion Township Board last night approved rezoning of a 275 foot frontage on M24, opposite Perry Acres, from residential to commercial for a store.

Zoning ordinance as drawn up by the zoning committee and the township board jointly are now in the hands of the township attorney, Rex Bebout, for opinion.

A thousand-gallon tank has been purchased for the present township firetruck and it is now in workable order.

'La Fiesta' Fair Feature at Rochester

ROCHESTER — The annual Fall Fair of the First Congregational Church, which opens with a Spanish luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Thursday, in Fellowship Hall, is creating an unusual amount of interest.

An added feature this year, in keeping with the theme, "La Fiesta" is a collection of imports from Mexico and many other handicraft articles.

Booths will feature old-fashioned, home-made candy, bake-goods, aprons and a snack bar. A buffet-style chili and hot-dog supper, to be served by the Youth Fellowship will run through to 8 p.m.

Mrs. Laurence Kirkton is taking the reservations, OL 6-0166.

EAR STRAIN from WAXY EARS Dangerous!

EACH TIME YOU STRAIN to hear what somebody says, you may flash to your subconscious mind the destructive thought, "Am I going deaf?" That thought repeated often enough can result in a state of imaginary, partial deafness that consistently gets worse and more nerve-wracking.

IF HARD OF HEARING NOW and there's wax (cerumen) in your ears, remove it with WAX-OUT. This deep-down wax clogs ear canal, hinders the sound-carrying powers of the canal linings, handicaps hearing, causes discomforts, ringing, buzzing, muffled sounds. Remove this wax with WAX-OUT, a compound of soothing, solvent oils that soften wax, with use of simple syringe float it out, and then soothe and help tissues normalize. Your money back unless your hearing improves in 3 days after using WAX-OUT. Start WAX-OUT today in the easy to use SQUEEZE-A-DROP bottle.

Citizens Again Ask Dependable, Sanitary Source

Water Petitions Accepted

Farmington Correspondent

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Farmington Township Board last night accepted petitions from the Citizens Water Committee for the setting up of a special assessment district to bring water into dry areas of the township.

This is the second time in less than two years that citizens in these areas have petitioned the board for a water system.

Petitions presented in May 1956, were declared "illegal." Mrs. Philip J. Newberg, secretary of committee, in presenting the petition, displayed a map showing that more than the required 51 per cent of the land area is in favor of it.

"We are well beyond the necessary percentage," Mrs. Newberg said, "and there is no reason why this program cannot now go forward."

For more than three years members of the Citizens Committee have been trying to bring water into a six-square-mile area in the east and south sections of the township, where ground water is scarce or non-existent.

An estimated 8,000 persons in this area must now carry all their water or depend upon cisterns or polluted, shallow wells.

Lucille Weingartz Wed in Church Rite

Couple Speak Vows

NORTH BRANCH — Honeymooning in the Carolinas and Maryland are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Speicher, whose wedding in SS. Peter and Paul's here took place on Nov. 9.

The bride, who is the former Lucille Weingartz, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weingartz Sr., of 3353 North Branch Rd. The parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Julius Speicher of Topeka, Kan.

Lucille, whose gown was white lace over satin, with a cathedral train, was attended by her sister Ruth Weingartz as maid of honor and Mrs. Joseph Weingartz Jr., a sister-in-law. They wore identical dresses of fall green.

Mark Stoner of Summitt, N.J., and Louis Pressgrove of Kansas attended the bridegroom. George and Bernard Weingartz, Lucille's brothers, seated the guests.

The nuptials were followed by a wedding breakfast in the local American Legion Hall, where a reception for 175 guests was held at 8:30 p.m.

On their return from the south Mr. and Mrs. Speicher will live in Lapeer, where the former fills the post of Lapeer County Dairy specialist.

Library Reports 219 Books Loaned in September

WALLED LAKE — Mrs. Omar Joramo, head librarian at Walled Lake Community Library, reported that 219 books were loaned during the month of September.

In addition, 19 requests for books from the Michigan State Library at Lansing were processed during that month.

The Community library has added a new service, that of a rental shelf featuring several popular books.

The library is now open on Thursday afternoons from 2-4 p.m. It is also open from 2 until 4:30 p.m. on Saturday and from 7-9 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Margaret Hughes, chairman of the library board, has appointed Mrs. Dorothy Meagley to be in charge of community relations.

Attend Dinner at Church

ROCHESTER — "Loyalty to God and His Church" was demonstrated last evening when nearly 400 members and friends of St. Philip's Episcopal Parish attended the loyalty dinner in the student center of the new high school.

★ ★ ★

St. Philip, after six years in the present church, has now launched on a building program, which will include an addition to the present structure, more classrooms, offices, new kitchen facilities, and a consulting room for the Rev. Edgar A. Lucas.

★ ★ ★

Acting as master of ceremonies was Richard Eberline, general campaign chairman. He spoke briefly on the plans for the future of St. Philip's and called upon several campaign leaders including D. C. Baldwwin, treasurer; F. R. Chapman, Thomas M. Everhard, Willard Dickerson, vestryman; Mrs. A. L. Kassabian, committeewoman, and Ernest Simmons, senior warden of St. Philip.

Ortonville Pair Head Brandon UF Drive

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Grovesteen of Ortonville are spearheading the drive for United Fund in this area. This is the first year that Brandon Township has been included in the PAUF.

The American Cancer Society has joined the many other agencies included under United Fund. Quota for the township is $2,390, an increase of 83 per cent over last year.

Approximately 40 workers will canvass the area in a concerted effort to reach this goal.

BUT THE TRUTH ABOUT O-JIB-WA BITTERS

"Before using O-JIB-WA BITTERS, I couldn't even raise my arms to comb my hair," says Mrs. Charlotte Coopersmith, 24608 Valley St., East Detroit.

Mrs. Coopersmith

Rheumatism and arthritis in my arms, shoulders, and neck, pained so bad that I couldn't even raise my arms to comb my hair. My neck bothered me too, as it was stiff and pained terribly when I tried to turn my head. Why, I could hardly wash clothes, as it caused my arm to pain just to have my hands in the water. Sleeping well at night was difficult as every time I turned in my sleep, the pains in my neck would wake me up again. Massages, liniments, heat lamps and electric pads all made my neck stiffer.

I just didn't know what to do to stop the pains. I suffered like this for about a year when a relative told me about O-JIB-WA BITTERS. He had rheumatism and arthritis in his legs and knees so bad that he could hardly walk or even stand up. O-JIB-WA had put him back on his feet, so I thought it might help me. In about three weeks I could actually feel the difference, and by the time two months had passed, I was all better. I could move my neck without fear of pain. I do all of my housework now, and sleep well every night. The good sleep helps my nerves and gives me lots of pep and ambition. Words fail to praise O-JIB-WA BITTERS enough for what it has done for me."

Soble Outlines Hollywood Producer's Part

Reds Set Up Recording Firm

By JACK SOBLE
(Written with Jack Lotto)

Every producer in Hollywood would have laughed me out of his office if I had ever tried to sell him a movie script like this:

A record and publishing company called the "Borris Morros Music Co." of Hollywood and New York lines up such talented and popular recording artists as Hoagy Carmichael, Bob Crosby and Frances Langford.

Hit records like "Rum and Coca Cola" and "Chattanooga Choo Choo" are produced and sold.

SOVIET SCRIPT

Crazy as it sounds, the "script" would be an exact portrayal of the activities of the company I was appointed to supervise for the Kremlin.

The stars, of course, had no way of knowing they were being used as attractive window dressing for an outfit organized to be a clearing house for spies throughout the United States, Canada, Central and South America.

My first contact with the roly poly, loquacious Boris Morros came in March, 1944. My Russian boss in the U.S., Vassili Zubilin, summoned me to the Far East Restaurant in New York where I was introduced to the showman.

DESCRIBES MORROS

Over martinis, Zubilin outlined for me Morros' career in Hollywood as a music composer and picture director. Zubilin then told us that he would be tied up with other work (which I later learned was theft of U.S. atomic secrets) and that Morros was to take his orders from me thereafter.

"Our comrade," the third secretary of the Soviet Embassy declared, pointing to the beaming Morros, "is completely devoted to the motherland, and is one of our most trusted and loyal agents."

The Russian then gave me a fill-in regarding the organization of the music company. He said wealthy Alfred Stern, whom he described as a "loyal Communist," had furnished, at Soviet request, $130,000 to finance the business dreamed up by Morros.

LEGIT DEAL

To give the whole affair a screen of legitimacy, Stern had given Morros two personal checks for $80,000 and $50,000. For his part, Morros handed Stern promissory notes of the music company. And, in a strange mixture of Communist espionage with capitalistic business profit, the loans carried a four per cent interest rate.

Under the deal arranged by Zubilin, Stern was made vice president of the company in charge of a branch office in New York's Rockefeller Center, while Morros handled the recording end of the business in California.

Morros and Stern were to give employment to Soviet espionage agents who then could ostensibly go on "sales" missions for the company throughout the Americas.

PERSONALITIES CLASH

A few months later, Zubilin informed me his plans were not progressing smoothly. He said" personality disputes" between Morros and Stern were blocking the use of agents.

Before leaving the country in August 1944, carrying America's most priceless atomic secrets, Zubilin introduced me to another Russian agent called "the professor."

The "professor," whose real name was Stepan Choundenko, ordered me to straighten out the difficulties between Stern and Morros.

When I visited the swank Stern apartment on Central Park West I found him extremely hostile to Morros.

STERN HENPECKED

Stern, who was completely dominated by his wife, felt that Morros was unreliable and that his "investment" would be lost. I told him I would go to California to look things over.

Morros had hired his son, Richard, who was only 19, at $200 a week and made him a vice president of the company. This, too, was something Stern had complained of. He also didn't like the titles Morros was producing and thought he should turn out more Russian songs.

After my survey, I returned to New York and reported to "the professor," advising discontinuance of the business because of the manner of operation and the continued hostility between the two partners.

A short time later, "the professor" informed me he had sent my advice to Moscow and had received a one-word reply: "Dissolve."

The Russians, apparently, were impressed by the fact Morros returned the $100,000 because they allowed him to remain in the ring as a courier.

Failure of the Russians to heed the Sterns' warning proved to be a costly mistake. Unknown to us, Morros had become an undercover agent for the FBI and was to report on our activities throughout the world for the next decade.

Sobell Loses 2 More Appeals

High Tribunal Refuses Action on Allegations for Eighth Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Morton Sobell has lost two more appeals to the Supreme Court from his 30-year sentence for wartime espionage.

The high tribunal refused to act on allegations by Sobell that he was kidnaped in Mexico by U. S. agents and illegally brought back to face espionage charges; and his conviction was "steeped in fraud and tainted by false and perjured evidence."

Without comment, the court rejected both appeals. This was the eighth time applications of one kind or another on Sobell's behalf have been turned down.

The court disposed of Sobell's appeals in a brief order which noted only that the court would not act on them, but did permit the filing of a "friend of the court" brief urging that Sobell be granted a review.

The brief was prepared by attorneys who said they acted in behalf of some 5,300 persons. A list of names included that of Dr. Harold C. Urey, atomic scientist.

Sobell was convicted in federal court in New York in 1951 as a member of the Rosenberg atomic spy ring. Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, convicted with him, were executed in June, 1953. Sobell is now serving his eighth year in Alcatraz.

Michigan Made Pure Sugar

LIFTS UP YOUR ENERGY—YET HELPS HOLD DOWN YOUR WEIGHT

No food produces energy in the body so fast as sugar. Actually, the 18 calories in a level teaspoonful of Michigan Made Pure Sugar are used up in 7½ minutes of normal activity.

So control your weight the modern way—on modern diets that call for cutting down on foods without cutting out fast-acting, energy-producing sugar. Be slender and energetic too.

Always use Big Chief or Pioneer sugar. Both are Michigan Made. Both give you just 18 calories in a level teaspoonful.

Money in Pot Again Reaches $1000 Mark

You know what happens when Pot-O-Gold prize money reaches the $1000 mark. Things begin to pop. We get more and more entries each week and the chances of finding a winner increase accordingly. If you want to insure your possibilities of getting in on the loot, you'd better get your winning entry in now, before someone else beats you to it.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. Entries must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his numbers in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent post card. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 76 must bear a Tuesday, Nov. 19 postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press Judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Warns Crooks Look Just Like Any People

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UP) — Crooks look just like people—any people, says Lee Roeder, Manager of the Albuquerque Better Business Bureau.

"Most strangers are not crooks," Roeder said, "however, most crooks are strangers. So before you invest — investigate."

Carroll Baker Expects Star Role in Warner Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Just before blonde Carroll Baker left for New York, she confided that she will star in "Home Before Dark," Eileen Bassing's powerful novel about a woman recovering from a nervous breakdown who is plunged into the emotional storm of trying to save her marriage.

Since this is owned by Warners —we can put two and two together and deduce that all is well again between Carroll and her home studio. They feuded when she turned down "Too Much, Too Soon."

Of course, Carroll won't be doing much of anything professionally until after March when she expects the birth of her second baby. She just completed a long, long stint in "The Big Country" barely completing her scenes before her condition began to show.

At dinner at Mary Lou Hosford's (Sonny Whitney's fiancee) a few evenings ago, Collier Young told me that he and Harry Kurnitz are writing a show titled "And a Few Friends," based on the works of Dorothy Parker.

HARRISON'S VACATION

The bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Harrison, take off for Switzerland on Dec. 6. Mrs. Harrison (attractive Kay Kendall) says they have rented a Swiss chalet near Geneva, and will spend the entire winter there, so that Rex can rest after his strenuous season with "My Fair Lady."

"We are taking our three dogs with us," Kay said.

They go to London April 30, where Rex will open at the Drury Lane Theater with "My Fair Lady."

Abbe Lane, a belle who misses few publicity contacts, was on the 'phone five minutes after checking into the Beverly Hills Hotel to tell me she's being sued. "When I accepted Jose Ferrer's offer to star in his 'Captain Paradise,' my first show on Broadway, an Italian movie company sued me for not fulfilling a deal for another film," Abbe told me proudly.

She really went over very well in Rome where they like their heroines "built." In a year and a half, the exciting Mrs. Xavier Cugat made eight movies there.

While we were talking, she told me she was due at Paramount within a half hour to talk with Cornel Wilde about "Maracaibo" which she'll film before making her initial splash on Broadway.

Straits Bridge Ready for Rush

6 Toll Gates to Handle Deer-Season Traffic Starting Friday

ST. IGNACE (UP) — Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, declared the newly opened Mackinac Bridge "ready" for deer hunters bound across the Straits of Mackinac for the Upper Peninsula, and forecast "no waiting" for them.

The Michigan deer season opens Friday and thousands always flock to the Upper Peninsula's deer-rich forests for it.

Brown said the 100-million-dollar bridge's six toll gates would be manned 24 hours a day as long as traffic warrants, and that five of them could be assigned to handle one-direction traffic if necessary.

In addition, Brown said that three of the bridge's four lanes could be utilized for one-direction traffic.

Brown urged hunters, however, not to stop on the slowplace bridge and to keep up with traffic to avoid delays. He also urged that they have their $3.25 tolls ready and hold conversation with gate keepers to a minimum.

In previous years, traffic was delayed up to five hours as cars waited for the ferries.

So far, most motorists have insisted on chatting with toll takers about the wonder bridge, opened only Nov. 1. It took four years to build and has the world's longest suspension span.

There are only 41,785 new car dealers in the U.S. to serve more than 49,000,000 car-craving families. Yet these comparatively few dealers perform a giant selling job in moving more than 6,000,000 new cars a year worth well over $15,000,000,000!

There are only 1,761 daily newspapers in the U.S. Yet every day they roll out more than 58,000,000 copies to do a herculean job of helping to sell America's automobiles.

Car dealers and daily newspapers have much in common. Both are upstanding local citizens vitally interested in local affairs. Back of almost every civic drive you'll find the local car dealer supporting it with all his weight. And right beside him, backing civic endeavors with equally ardent support, is the daily newspaper.

Car dealers, like others, have learned that the daily newspaper puts plenty of weight behind an advertiser's sales message, too. That's why newspapers, each year, carry the biggest share of automotive advertising. Use this giant to put the weight behind your advertising.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers.

Detroit Squad Votes to Quit Organization

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings have pulled out of the newly formed hockey players' union to do their own bargaining on the local level.

Team capt. Red Kelly announced yesterday the 20 members of the Detroit club were unanimous in deciding to withdraw from the National League Players' Assn.

The Detroit players, through their attorney, John A. Hird, denounced the association's three million dollar lawsuit filed last month against the league president and club owners. They accused their old captain and teammate, Ted Lindsay, and the association heads of "a complete lack of good faith."

Lindsay, who was traded to the Chicago Black Hawks after the 1956-57 season, was expected to confer in New York today with the association's attorney, Milton M. Mound, before commenting.

Mound said, "I will have nothing to say until I hear from Lindsay or the other officials of the association and until I get more details."

In Toronto, Tod Sloan, the Maple Leafs' representative in the association, said the withdrawal "won't change a thing. It's too bad they decided to pull out, but we still have five clubs solidly behind the association."

The Red Wings said they were not consulted about the lawsuit which charges that the hockey league is a "dictatorship" and that club owners have formed a monopoly in four states and in two Canadian provinces. They charged the suit was detrimental "to the better interests of the players and hockey in general."

The Detroit players said they asked but did not receive reasons for filing the suit. They also complained they have not received papers to indicate just what the players' association is in regard to legal organization, constitution and by-laws.

★ ★ ★

Attorney Hird said the Red Wings "will continue to strive for the purported purposes of the players' association which are liberalization of the standard players' contract; the granting of certain benefits which thus far have been denied the players and the right by representation to bargain grievances at the club and league levels."

The players' association was formed last February.

In Toronto last week the Maple Leafs unanimously asked that the association be certified as their bargaining agent. The Toronto players also expressed approval of the anti-trust suit.

Shue Hits for 109-107 Victory

Pistons Win in Last Second

DETROIT (INS) — There may be sputniks and muttniks but Charley Eckman thinks his Detroit Piston-Knicks are out of this world, too.

The enthusiastic Detroit coach, who already has six former members of the New York Knickerbockers on his squad, thinks so highly of his acquisitions that he'd like to have a few more if they're available.

Eckman is very happy about his trades, particularly after his Piston-Knicks sparked a fourth-quarter rally in which Detroit outscored New York, 39 to 23, to chalk up a 109-to-107 victory last night.

Both teams now have 3-3 records but Detroit is in second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association while the Knicks are third in the East.

Gallatin and Clifton came to the Pistons in the deal that sent Mel Hutchins and rookie Charley Tyra to New York.

The Pistons, who had lost twice before at home, almost missed victory in the last 11 seconds. With the score tied at 107-107, guard Chuck Noble hit a field goal from the corner only to find that Shue had just called time out. But Shue took the ball out of bounds, passed in to Noble, then drove around him and took the ball in for the winning basket.

The Boston Celtics, playing relaxed under pressure, pushed their winning streak to 10 games last night with a 107-104 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers in the first game of the doubleheader.

The Celts moved two-thirds of the way towards their goal of matching the record of 15 straight games at the start of a season. The overall is 17 in a row.

The winless Lakers kept the league's other streak going. They have lost seven straight games. The record is 15 at the start of the season and also overall.

Ohio State Committee Blasts Big 10 Policies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The time has come for Big Ten colleges to scrap their long-held policies on amateurism and admit that amateurism can no longer work in college athletics, a committee of Ohio State University faculty members says.

Western Conference schools, the committee said last night, must take a "hard and realistic look at this situation and be prepared to accept some realities of the modern age."

The seven-man committee issued a 39-page report, some 17 months in preparation, to the group's parent body, the 78-member faculty council. The council in turn makes recommendations to the university administration.

In its report, the committee said the concept of amateurism has changed because of social and economic developments. Moreover the report said, "Skill in any form is marketable in our society."

As a result of those two circumstances, the committee report said "We should realize that it is no longer shameful not to be an amateur and that a college athlete can be a gentleman and scholar and at the same time receive aid because of his athletic activity."

Colleges are only pretending, the report said, 'When we try to claim that college athletics are strictly amateur when actually many of them are not."

"The committee is of the opinion that it is no longer possible or reasonable, to conduct college sports at the conference level, where we play them, on an amateur basis," the report said. "And to labor through a maze of hypocritical statements, tongue-in-cheek cynicism, and an occasional instance of outright deception, is far more destructive to the welfare of the student than to admit freely that amateurism is no longer a workable concept for college athletics."

★ ★ ★

The committee recommended that the director of athletics devise a "workable plan" for financial aid to athletes and either minimize or abolish the job program for athletes.

Maryland May Get Betting on Jai Alai Games

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A corporation which envisions $100,000 nightly pari-mutuel betting on Jai Alai games is expected to apply for a license soon from the Circuit Court clerk.

The Anne Arundel County Commissioners paved the way for Auditoriums, Inc., yesterday by passing an enabling resolution which amended the county's amusement licensing regulations.

The resolution prepared by atty. Wilbur Dulin, a former state senator and a director of the organization charted last Sept. 18, was passed by a 5-2 vote.

Dulin said the corporation hopes to have a three million dollar arena built on a 27-acre plot in the northern part of the county by next November, in time for a 120-night season which would run through March 31.

State 11s Head for Last Big Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weekend coming up will see the last heavy flurry of football action around the state college scene.

Eleven games involving Michigan teams are on the card and after that only three college games remain to be played.

All the smaller schools either have completed their 1957 activity or will wind it up this weekend. Adrian, Kalamazoo, Ferris, Michigan Tech and Albion already are through for the season, and only Albion finished with a winning record.

Kerry (the Kat) Keating of Eastern Michigan has all but wrapped up the state individual scoring championship. The speedy halfback has 90 points, scoring 15 touchdowns in eight games. With one game to play, the senior scatback has a 36-point bulge over his nearest rival.

Lovell Coleman of Western Michigan is second with 54 points and he, too, has one game remaining. Rex Terwilliger of Northern Michigan, whose season is completed, and Walt Poe of Hillsdale, who has one game to play, are tied for third place with 48 points apiece.

Hillsdale's undefeated Dales, who need only to beat Gustavus Adolphus this Saturday to wind up another undefeated-untied season, still lead the state in offense and defense.

Michigan teams hold a 32-22 edge in games played with teams from outside the state's borders and three games have resulted in ties. Home teams hold a 55-53-4 edge over the visitors.

Here's the complete rundown on all of Michigan's college teams:

Sooners High on Offense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma, the dominant offensive team in major college football during the past two seasons, finally is in the running for one of this year's offense titles. And running is the correct word.

The all-winning Sooners ran for 424 yards last Saturday against Missouri as they finally got their offense untracked and hung up a 39-14 victory. As a result, team statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau show Oklahoma third on the rushing list and, for the first time this season, within striking distance of the top.

The three teams which have held the lead in offense departments all improved their previous figures — Arizona State in total offense and scoring; Mississippi in rushing and Utah in passing. Oklahoma, meanwhile, rose from seventh to third in rushing and from tenth to fifth in scoring.

The Arizona State Sun Devils, rolling to a 43-7 victory over Texas Western, lifted their season scoring mark to an average of 36.6 per game. In total offense they have gained an average of 437 yards per game to top Army by almost 25 yards.

Army, incidentally, is second in three offense departments after an all-out ground-gaining duel with Utah. The Cadets' 412.1 yards per game total is second to Arizona State; their 320.3 yards by rushing is second to Mississippi's 337.8 yard average and they have scored at the rate of 33 points a game.

Other scoring leaders are Iowa 32.7, Ohio State 29.9, Oklahoma 28.6, Wisconsin 28.0, Michigan State 27.9, Mississippi 26.4, Minnesota 26.0 and Utah 25.9.

'I Want to Be First to Make Deal'—McHale

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers are happy that the Cleveland Indians have selected Frank Lane as their new general manager.

"It'll put new life in the American League" is the way the talk is going around Briggs Stadium.

General manager John J. McHale called Lane yesterday after his appointment. He told the wild-trading Lane "I know I'm not the first to congratulate you, but I want to be the first to make a deal with you.

That's as far as the talk went, of course, since it will take Lane a short time, anyway, to get straightened around in his new job. But McHale does want to talk to Lane as quickly as possible and deals will be discussed.

Padilla Beats Mexican

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Ross Padilla of Stockton and Manila won a unanimous decision last night over Baby Rios of Tijuana, Mexico, in a 10-round bantam fight.

Padilla, 119, had too much experience for Rios, 120, who was fighting for the first time in the United States.

Grosscup Modest Star

Utah Passer Rated Tops

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah's Lee Grosscup, who completed 12 of 13 pass attempts during a snow storm Saturday before last and nearly beat Army with some passing wizardry last weekend, is unassuming and modest—and his coach keeps him that way.

The 6-foot-1 inch, 190-pound junior from Santa Monica, Calif., leads the nation in percentage of completions—67.6. He's got two more games to play and the all-time collegiate record for one season is 64 per cent, set by California's Paul Larson in 1954.

He hit his 12 for 13 in the snow against Colorado State University and has hit 73 of 108 in eight games this year, good for 1,078 yards. But his total offensive yardage is 981—a net decrease because of being hit behind the line on running plays.

During an interview yesterday, as Lee was getting ready for practice he said he was getting "really great protection" from the line. At that moment Coach Jack Curtice came up. Asked for comment he looked at Lee and said:

"You'd better tell him about all the protection you get."

Cactus Jack Curtice doesn't like his stars getting any big heads. Still looking at Lee he said:

"You wouldn't be worth a 'poot' in a split-T offense where you had to run the ball instead of pass, would you?"

"No, sir," was the quiet reply and Lee took a few steps back, turned and went to the practice field.

Curtice didn't expand or explain on what a "poot" was, but did say his whole offensive strategy was based on having the quarterback pass, primarily, with little option for running.

Two Games Remain

U-D Gets Bowl Feelers

DETROIT (AP) — University of Detroit has received added incentive for posting its best football record since the 1941 season by winning the last two games against Quantico and Dayton.

The Titans, who are 5-2 for the season, revealed yesterday that they received "feelers" for two post-season bowl games, the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Texas, and the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

U. of D. director of athletics, John Mulroy, admitted receiving the feelers but said, "they are neither commitments nor offers."

"We have been informed that we are under consideration pending the outcome of our last two games," he said.

The Titans have never appeared in a post-season game, although three times in past history they were considered for the Rose Bowl.

The nearest to a bowl appearance came in 1921 when the unbeaten Titans met Washington & Jefferson in a play off game to decide the Rose Bowl team. Wash and Jeff. beat U. of D. 14-3 and then played California scoreless in the New Year's classic.

Another report in the Football News this week by one of the publication's columnists, is that the Titans have also been given consideration for the Gator Bowl.

No comment was made by the school on this matter.

U. of D. closes the home season this week against the Quantico Marines, a team made up of many ex-collegiate stars. Next week the Titans travel to Dayton to end the season.

Several ex-Marines are now playing with the Titans, including quarterback Bill Dando and tackle Emerson Dromgold. Both players played against Detroit two years ago as the Marines scored a 20-0 victory in a constant downpour.

Bryan Claims Third USAC Championship

PHOENIX, Ariz. (INS) — Jimmy Bryan, a 30-year-old cigar-smoking speed merchant, today laid claim to his third United States Auto Club championship in the past four years.

Bryan, who finished third in the Indianapolis Classic this year, overtook Pat O'Connor of North Vernon, Ind., on the final lap of the 100-mile rave over the Arizona State Fair Grounds dirt track and roared home with about 100 yards to spare.

The victory gave Bryan a total of 1650 points in USAC competition this season. He went into the race with a total of 1,450 points.

Pan-Am Games Will Not Have Winter Sports

DETROIT (INS) — A proposal to include winter sports in the 1959 Pan-American games has been dropped for lack of interest.

Douglas F. Roby, president of the permanent commission for the games, said only the United States and Canada were certain of sending teams. Argentina, Bolivia and Chile, the only other Pan-American nations that have competed in winter sports, indicated that they would not participate.

The winter games were to have been held at Lake Placid, N.Y. The summer games will be staged at Chicago.

NBA Expansion Seen in Next Few Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Expansion of the eight-team National Basketball Assn. to include clubs in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland, Ore. in the "next few years" was predicted today by president Maurice Podoloff.

"The big problem in expanding is not cities, but stadiums with adequate seating capacities. Along these lines I understand that ground has been broken for a building in Los Angeles to be used for basketball and other sports. Applications have also been received from Portland."

Tribe's Need Is Lane's Concern

TWO GM'S — Frank Lane (right) who was named general manager of the Cleveland Indians and Bing Devine, who became Lane's successor with the St. Louis Cardinals, have congratulations to extend to each other after the announcements today.

New Cleveland GM Considered Shrewd Trader

Former Cardinal Boss to Visit With Bragan and Indian Players

CLEVELAND (AP)—An explosive 61-year old baseball executive with a reputation for shrewd trading is faced today with making pennant contenders of the Cleveland Indians—and fill spacious Municipal Stadium with fans who will pay to see them play.

"Our first job," Lane said after he stepped off the plane," is to find out what the team needs."

"I'm going to do everything and anything I can to help."

Ten days after he took over as Chicago White Sox' general manager in 1948 he got Billy Pierce and $10,000 from the Detroit Tigers for catcher Aaron Robinson. Pierce has become one of the great lefthanders in baseball while Robinson faded.

Lane said he wanted to get acquainted with the team and talk things over with Bobby Bragan, Tribe field manager, before commenting on any possible trades.

He did mention, however, that "from a distance" the Indians looked as if they needed help around second base. He said he talked with John McHale, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, by telephone in St. Louis yesterday. Shortstop Harvey Kuenn, who spent part of last season at third base for Detroit, was discussed.

"If I know Lane," Indians' pitcher Ray Narleski said, "He'll stir things up a bit. Maybe it will do the ball club some good."

Dwindling attendance, which more than anything led to the ouster of Greenberg, was because the "baseball spirit was lying dormant in Cleveland," Lane said.

"That big Cleveland stadium appeals to me. So does the demonstrated enthusiasm of Cleveland people for baseball. They've showed it before and if I do my job properly they'll show it again."

Leahy Believes Irish Can Win

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Frank Leahy, former football coach at Notre Dame, believes the Fighting Irish have the potential this season of beating any team on a given day—including Oklahoma this Saturday at Norman.

Leahy spoke at the Magic Empire Sports Club dinner here last night. He praised Oklahoma and its coaching staff and said of the nation's No. 2 team:

Of last season's 40-0 beating inflicted by the Sooners on the Irish at South Bend, Leahy said, "it could have been 65-0."

Asked how Oklahoma, victorious in 47 straight games, would fare in Big 10 competition, the former Notre Dame coach said:

"Oklahoma might not have as good a record but it definitely would be up among the top three every year in either the Big 10 or the Southwest Conference. I know Bud and his staff would prefer a tougher schedule."

'Bing' Devine Appointed

Month-to-Month Basis for Lane's Successor

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Youthful Vaughn (Bing) Devine moves in as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and becomes possibly the only general manager in baseball who works on a month-to-month basis.

Devine is only 40 but he's been a Cardinal front office man for 18 years. His most recent job has been executive assistant to former General Manager Frank Lane.

Lane's last act before resigning yesterday to become general manager of the Cleveland Indians was to recommend Devine as his successor.

August A. Busch, president and owner of the Cardinals, took the advice. He called a press conference and announced Devine's appointment three hours after Lane suddenly bowed out.

"I won't believe all this until I'm sure I'm awake," said Devine. "I'm afraid I'm dreaming."

The new general manager's salary was said to be $30,000 a year.

Busch took the occasion to announce a new policy: From now on only the field manager will work under contract—a one-year contract—and the other members of the managerial team will be on a month-to-month basis.

Devine told reporters that will make no difference to him—it's the same way he's been working since he first joined the Cardinals as a publicity man in 1938.

He once aspired to be a major league baseball player and for a time pitched batting practice for the Cards.

Devine said he'll be less flamboyant than Lane.

"I tend to be more conservative about deals than Lane," he said, "but this is no criticism of Lane.

"I'm extremely optimistic about the club. Sometimes I know you can be optimistic to a fault, but I think with some improvement we can have a fine team."

4 Prep Games in Area Today

North Branch Can Earn Share of South Central Crown Tonight

Four high school football games, two of championship significance, are scheduled today in the Oakland County area.

The Bi-County League crown will be decided this afternoon when South Lake and Warren, both undefeated and untied in seven games, collide at 3 o'clock on the South Lake gridiron.

North Branch guns for a share of the South Central Conference title with Imlay City when the Broncos play host to Millington under the lights. Imlay is assured of a co-title with a 3-1 league record. North Branch stands 2-1.

Other area encounters tonight are Marlette at Yale and Pinckney at South Lyon. All contests will end the 1957 season for each team.

The Rochester-Center Line game, originally scheduled Oct. 18 at Rochester but postponed by flu, has now been cancelled, Rochester coach Gene Konley said.

County Prep Scoring Race Unchanged but Undecided

By CHUCK ABAIR

The Oakland County individual scoring race is still far from decided although there is only one more big weekend and some scattered makeup games remaining to be played.

Lake Orion's speedster Jim Drake has maintained the edge for several weeks but hustling St. Frederick star Jack Lyon is still very much in contention to take the honor.

Lyon has the advantage of having two more games to play while Drake concludes Friday at Holly. Drake currently has 97 points to 84 for the Ram junior.

Meanwhile, there has never been much doubt about the area race. Larry Gacki was held scoreless as his St. Benedict lost its final game to St. Rita but he has 121 points for seven games. And no one is expected to threaten that total since his nearest competitors have also hung up their grid togs for this year.

That county battle should be interesting. Drake will have to be at his best against the big Holly line and Lyon faces strong teams on successive Sundays in Orchard Lake and St. Michael.

Bill Tunnicliff ranks 3rd. The St. James fullback had 78 digits but has finished his prep career. Stu Clark of Cranbrook has 71 with one game to play.

Fifth placer Tom Ridley of Southfield scored 66 and Chuck Graves of Ortonville garnered 60 but both are through now. Three boys still with a game to play follow.

Clark, Karras Risk All-Star Grid Ratings

CHICAGO (AP)—All-America prestige as well as the Big Ten football championship will be at stake in the climactic meeting between Ohio State and Iowa at Columbus Saturday.

Unfortunately, two of the biggest stars of these teams locking in the conference title showdown, halfback Don Clark of Ohio State and tackle Alex Karras of Iowa, may not be at their peak.

Clark pulled a groin muscle as the Buckeyes defeated Purdue 20-7 last Saturday to maintain their Big Ten lead at 5-0 and Karras banged a knee in a 44-20 conquest of Minnesota which kept Iowa on Ohio State's heels with a 4-0-1 record.

Rolls a 732 Series

Jim Walker of Walled Lake bowling in the Tuesday night men's league at Walled Lake's B&M Recreation, rolled a record 732 series last night. The previous mark was 723 set last year by Joe Kling, also of Walled Lake.

Gophers Fear Spartans' Speed

Minnesota Has Three Big Ten Losses So Far

Saturday's Tilt League Final for MSU; Team Tapers Drills

EAST LANSING (UP) — Michigan State's speedy Spartans are hoping for a fast track on Saturday.

Given good footing, the sprinters in football togs will try to run away from Minnesota to wrap up the final conference game of the season.

Otis Dypwick, sports publicist arriving in advance of the Minnesota team, admitted lack of speed was one of the things that contributed to the three Big Ten losses this season—to Illinois, Michigan and Iowa.

"We get against a faster ball club and they run away from us," Dypwick said. "If they have a long ball thrower and fast ends, we haven't got the fellows who can get down to keep up with them."

Notre Dame coach Terry Brennan had a capsule explanation after the Irish were beaten 34-6 by State.

The Spartans have the long ball expert in quarterback Jim Ninowski. Ends Sammy Williams, Dave Kaiser and their understudies are among the speedies in the conference when it comes to getting down under the throws.

The breakaway runs of Art Johnson, who understudies for power plunger Walt Kowalczyk, helped break open the game against Notre Dame. Kowalczyk can turn it on too and Blanche Martin also has elusive swiftness in addition to his power.

Michigan State faces Minnesota with only one regular missing from the lineup. Second string fullback Don Arend will miss the game because of his knee injury. Bob Bercich will run behind Don Gilbert.

Coach Duffy Daugherty staged another scrimmage session for his first and second teams late yesterday, the third such single early week workout.

Daugherty is now convinced that the squad thrives on a taste of contact before tapering off for the game. The varsity teams worked about 15 minutes each on the rough stuff and were sent in early because of darkness.

Spoils Russian Sweep

TEHRAN (INS) — Except for Tommy Kono of Sacramento, Calif., Russia would have swept the 1957 world weightlifting championships.

Kono's victory in the middleweight competition was the only triumph scored by a non-Russian. The Soviet Union took the other six titles.

HOOSIER WOES — Acting head coach at Indiana University Bob Hicks looks over the roster of players wondering how many he will have for Saturday's game with Michigan. Several quit, two are dropped and others were down with the flu as Indiana lost last week, 21-0, to Cincinnati.

Marshall Leads 'B' Poll

Orion Clings to 7th Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Marshall High still clings to a narrow lead over East Lansing's threatening Trojans in the weekly Associated Press Class B high school ratings.

Each needed a top performance last weekend to come up with one-touchdown triumphs, Marshall beating Albion and East Lansing trimming Battle Creek Lakeview. Each club has one game remaining. Marshall has a makeup game carded for Nov. 20 against Coldwater and East Lansing meets Albion Friday night.

All teams in the "top 10" ratings of last week stayed there after each came up with a victory in last weekend's activity. In fact, there was only one position change.

Dowagiac, fourth a week ago, slipped to fifth despite a 19-0 victory over Niles while Manistee, fifth-ranked last week, edged into the fourth spot after downing Cheboygan 45-0.

1. Marshall (7-0-0)
2. East Lansing (6-1-0)
3. Charlotte (7-0-0)
4. Manistee (7-0-0)
5. Dowagiac (8-0-0)
6. Grand Blanc (6-0-2)
7. Lake Orion (7-0-0)
8. Fremont (7-0-0)
9. Warren (7-0-0)
10. Clawson (6-1-0)

Machen to Provide Test for Jackson

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Boxing followers discover tonight if Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson has dropped from heavyweight title challenger to trial horse within the short space of two fights.

With San Francisco and vicinity blacked out, a nationwide television audience will see the proceedings over ABC starting at 10 p.m., EST.

This marks the first outing for Jackson since July 29 when, as the top ranked challenger, he was shellacked by champion Floyd Patterson. The one-sided bout was stopped in the 10th round. Jackson went to a hospital.

PGA Proposes Tourney Change

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UP) — The advisory committee of the Professional Golfers Assn. has recommended that the PGA change the format of its national championship tournament, which has been losing money in recent years.

The committee proposed yesterday that the tournament be converted from a match-play event to a 72-hole medal-play affair. The recommendation will go before the 41st annual convention of the PGA, now in progress here. The matter may come up tomorrow.

Former PGA and British Open champion Denny Shute of Akron, Ohio was named to the PGA hall of fame and Dugan Aycock of Lexington, N. C., was named "home Club" pro of the year.

Earlier, Bob Goldwater of Phoenix, Ariz., was elected chairman of the advisory committee. Robert Leacox of Kansas City, Mo., was elected vice chairman and B. C. (Bud) Gould of Detroit and Tom Panphier Jr. of La Jolla were named committee members.

Michigan Woes Have Been at End Positions

Wolverines Get Ready for Passing Attack by Lowly Indiana

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Michigan's proud tradition of fine ends has taken a setback along with its gridiron fortunes this season.

The replacements for the departed Ron Kramer, Tom Maentz and Charlie Brooks, just haven't panned out. Injuries have been cited as the prime cause.

"Prahst has been hurt in every game," said coach Bennie Oosterbaan, generally acclaimed as the greatest of Wolverine flankers during his own playing days.

"He's been 50 per cent effective all season. But he keeps coming back for more."

Walt Johnson, a starter at Maentz' old right end post in every game, is one of the handfull of Wolverines who hasn't been sidelined at least once.

But Johnson lacks Maentz' blocking and tackling ability. And he isn't a sure-fingered pass catcher.

Against Illinois last week, Boshoven made a leaping grab of a 27-yard toss with several defenders on top of him. He battled forward several yards with the ball. The play set up Michigan's first touchdown.

Sophomore Chuck Teuscher was touted the best of the end crop prior to the season. A player who came to Michigan as a high school track star, Teuscher reported for freshman football only as a requirement for his physical education degree.

Teuscher is a starting possibility Saturday against Indiana. Yesterday, he and his Wolverine teammates had their first peak at the Hoosiers' sidesaddle-T as enacted by the scrubs in a defensive scrimmage.

Much emphasis was placed on stopping Indiana's passing attack. The Hoosiers have gone to the airlanes on almost half their plays in the last three games.

Doctor Says Terry's Injuries Not Serious

The attending physician said last night Terry suffered a badly bruised back and knee, and was skinned about the shoulders. He said it was first feared a hip had been fractured, but further examination showed the injuries were less serious.

The young righthander, who had a 5-12 record iwth the Athletics last season, makes his home at nearby Chelsea.

'Kimchi Bowl' Big Game

CAMP RED CLOUD, Korea (INS) — The thud of the pigskin echoes in Korean villages nowadays but the great American national game is slightly different here from what they have in the 48 states.

The locations of playing fields, built on once-fertile rice paddies, are state secrets. In order to find some of the well-known "stadiums" located at U.S. Army settlements with mysterious names like Camp Red Cloud, Camp Casey, Camp Kaiser and Recreation Center No. 1, one has to resort to secret maps, painstaking inquiries and resourcefulness.

There is one thing about Korean gridirons — they are all bald as Yul Brunner and losing coaches always blame lack of grass and abundance of loose stones for defeats.

Some of the almost rectangular fields are located less than 10 miles from the Communist-infested thirty eight parallel. Probably the proximity of the border has prompted the Army general staff to camouflage the gridirons to prevent the Commies from stealing the signs of U.N. quarterbacks.

In a land where people add five to ten years to their age to beef up their prestige, American football is called "handball." Matter of fact, the only football the Koreans play is soccer.

Some attempts have been made by several schools to popularize the game, but each time the native boys came back to play more soccer. The general public, too, shows little interest in American football.

Most servicemen's games are played over the weekends. Rarely do these games draw more than a hatful of spectators — mostly hardy GI's who have lost their last dimes in Friday night poker games and don't know where else to kill time.

The biggest game of the year — Kimchi Bowl — will be played on Thanksgiving Day. The winner probably will lock horns with another servicemen's team in Japan in a "sudden-death" elimination match for the qualifying round of the Armed Forces Far East championship series.

Aggies' Coach 'High' on Crow

Bryant Is Already Boosting Ace Back as All-America

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP)—When John Crow was named Back of the Week in the nation's college football it was no surprise to his coach, Paul (Bear) Bryant of Texas A&M.

Bryant was already talking about Crow being All-America before this honor was announced and he also declared that "If John Crow doesn't win the Heisman Trophy—whether we win another game or not—they ought to quit giving it."

★ ★ ★

Crow hasn't played in a game this season that he didn't get credit for winning it or making winning it possible. And his defensive feats have been as great as offensive. In practically every game he has killed the opposition with a pass interception at a crucial point—witness Arkansas and Southern Methodist.

★ ★ ★

Crow got his Back of the Week designation for what he did Saturday night against Southern Methodist—89 yards rushing, 64 yards returning punts and kickoffs, 30 yards returning two intercepted passes, sparked two touchdown drives and made one touchdown himself, kicked an extra point, "killed" an SMU hope by "stealing" the ball from a fellow who was catching it and blocked like a demon.

Seixas, Holmberg Lose in Doubles Competition

SYDNEY, Australia (UP) — Vic Seixas and Ron Holmberg were beaten in the doubles quarterfinals of the New South Wales Tennis championships today, completing the elimination of Americans from both the singles and doubles.

The veteran Seixas of Philadelphia and the youthful Holmberg of Brooklyn were beaten by Aussies Ron Emerson and Bob Hower 6-3, 6-3, 10-12, 3-6, 6-3.

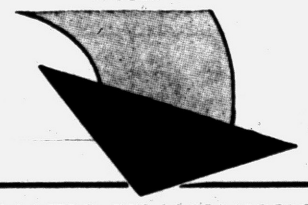

Wayne Harriers Lose

DETROIT (UP) — Bowling Green State University's cross country team from Bowling Green, Ohio, defeated Wayne State University, 16-46, yesterday at Rouge Park. Bowling Green's Dick Snow ran the four miles in 21:32 for first place.

Auburn Center Selected as AP Lineman of Week

The Associated Press

For making the key play against Mississippi State that kept Auburn in the unbeaten and untied class, sophomore center Jackie Burkett was named The Associated Press Lineman of the Week today.

★ ★ ★

You may recall the situation at Birmingham last Saturday. State and Auburn were tied 7-7 in the last quarter. State had the ball deep in its own territory and Bill Schoenrock dropped back to punt from his end zone.

Burkett, a 6-4, 215-pounder broke through to make it impossible for Schoenrock to get off the kick. When he tried to run with the ball he was nailed by Burkett and Auburn end John Whatley for a safety. That put Auburn ahead 9-7 and provided the winning points in the Tigers' eventual 15-7 victory.

Wiley, US Team Sweep Big Show

NEW YORK (AP)—A resurgence in horse show jumping has happened in the United States. Today any country in the world would have to treat the Yanks with respect — which hasn't been the case in recent years.

★ ★ ★

The Americans and Hugh Wiley, a 30-year-old engineer from Towson, Md., in particular, swept the National Horse Show which ended an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden last night and did it convincingly.

They scored 120 points to 106 for the British to win the team trophy, and Wiley captured the individual trophy with 59 points.

★ ★ ★

The Dodge Stables of Lexington, Ky., and Rochester, Mich., won eight blues in the final horse classes to beat its No. 1. rival Delaine Farm of Morton Grove, Ill., which had four blues. Lindlane Farms of Tulsa emerged the big winner in the saddle classes with four blues, three of which were won by Strange Fascination.

Chiefs Meet Old Rival Friday

Flint Central Long Time Foe for Pontiac 11

Victory in Final Two Games Would Give PHS Even Season

It has been a long season for Pontiac High, but it is far from being over.

The Chiefs, currently carrying a 2-4 record, could actually make it a highly successful campaign should they be able to upend long-time rival Flint Central Friday and Ferndale next week.

Actually, very few people figured PHS could come out of this campaign with more than two wins, and a .500 year would have to be termed "successful."

The season with only eight games has dragged for Pontiac. One open date and another game with Ferndale which was postponed have made it a long year.

Flint Central, with a mark of 2-4-1 to date, will be a slight favorite over Pontiac in Atwood Stadium this week.

The Indians, oldest rivals on the schedule for the Chiefs, stepped from one fire to another during the first four weeks of their schedule by meeting the state's four of the five top-ranked teams in succession.

Central fell to top rated Midland, 25-7 in the opener, then followed with a 27-25 victory over 5th ranked Muskegon. A 14-14 tie wtih third ranked Ann Arbor was next and finally the Indians were laced 47-6 by 2nd ranked Bay City Central.

After losing 26-12 to Alpena and duming Arthur Hill, 27-12, the Indians were shut out for the first time during last week's bitter cold, when they were beaten 12-0 by Saginaw.

By comparative scores, Pontiac also defeated Arthur Hill, 20-12 and lost to Saginaw 27-14. Bay City beat the Chiefs by 39 points, 39-0, and the margin over Flint Central was only two points difference as the Wolves won by 41 points, 47-6.

There have been 42 games in 48 years and Flint Central holds the wide edge in the series with 29 wins, 11 losses and two ties.

Many of the games were decided by one touchdown or one point margins, but only once has Pontiac been able to win in two successive games. Those were in 1919 and then in 1921. There was no game in 1920.

Dragons Invade Holly Friday

County Powers Clash

By CHUCK ABAIR

Two of Oakland County's outstanding prep football teams clash headon Friday night in a game that will answer many questions for area followers.

The big batle will pit unbeaten and untied Lake Orion, known for its great speed, against the big, rough Holly Broncos at Holly.

Many fans have rated Orion the class of the county 'B' schools but Holly has certainly held its own despite two ties and a one-point loss to Northville in the snow last week.

With such talented stars as county scoring leader Jim Drake and Doug Storey burning up the turf for Lake Orion against the likes of bruising Bob Letson and Amos Bradsher, things should be interesting.

Holly's pass defense is certain to be put to a test with Nick Neira firing for the visitors. The Broncos, usually a running team, may come up with an aerial game of their own.

The accurate toe of tackle Phil Tinsman gives the home team the edge in the extra point department. Tinsman, fellow tackle Ken Leese and center Phil Valek head the Holly forward wall.

Lake Orion coach Ted Sela had some rebuilding to do in his line this year but turned out a winner with such stalwarts as tackle Walter Cudnohufsky and center Orville Cromwell.

There are no common opponents to compare the rivals, making it that much more of a tossup. Lake Orion has scored at least two touchdowns in every game but has also allowed one or more every time out.

Holly was held scoreless only blanked three opponents to show an edge on defense. The breaks and the weather could tell the story. A repeat of last Friday's stormy skies would likely be in Holly's favor.

Sela has described his team's close-call against Romeo last week as an expected "letdown" performance following the clinching of loop honors. He is confident his Dragons will regain their earlier form in hopes of finishing with a perfect record.

TROUBLE FOR HOLLY — Lake Orion's Jim Drake means trouble for Holly this Friday night when the two teams collide at Holly in the county's top grid game. Drake, speedy 160-pound halfback, leads the county in scoring with 97 points and is a strong candidate for Class B All-State honors.

Cage Clinic OK; Brewery Is Out

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Board of Education is going ahead with plans for a basketball clinic — but it won't be sponsored by a brewery as originally announced.

Yesterday the board rescinded an agreement made three weeks ago to let the clinic be sponsored by the National Brewing Co. of Michigan. The board has been sold on the idea by Bill Veeck, representing his Cleveland public relations firm.

The plan called for members of the Detroit Pistons basketball team to take part in the clinics, held in gymnasiums of Detroit public schools.

Veeck emphasized that the clinics would not be used to boost beer sales or promote the brewery's brand.

Leonard Kasle, president of the board of education, said the board had received "quite a few letters" from tax payers who objected to use of the gymnasium for a brewery-sponsored clinic.

By unanimous action, the board voted to take over sponsorship and operate the clinics through the school athletic department.

STRIKES AND SPARES

By Joe Wilman

Below are listed a number of habits which many star bowlers use. Perhaps one of them might appeal to you. I wouldn't suggest you adopt any of them unless you're convinced they can help your game.

1. Some bowlers who have thumb trouble wear a glove on their thumb similar to that worn by a golfer. Dick Weber is an example.

2. Stars who have a weak wrist will wear a wrist band or a piece of tape around the wrist to brace it.

3. Ned Day usually washes his hands in alcohol before bowling to remove any trace of grease or perspiration. Others use a hand spray for the same purpose.

4. I've seen bowlers burn out the thumb and finger holes with a match to remove grease or perspiration.

5. There's a gent named Wilman who roughs up the inside of his thumb hole with an ice pick to give him a better grip without squeezing. We show such a solid grip today.

6. Most of the stars will cover a split in the thumb or fingers with cotton, gauze and court plaster. This enables them to continue to bowl without re-injuring their thumb or finger.

Area, State Hunters Head for Deer Country

ARCHERY PRIZE — Pontiac Motor worker Richard McMahon, hunting in the Gladwin area during the recent archery season, was lucky. The Pontiac man downed the fine 8-pointer (above) that dressed out 150 pounds. Jack Beebe was with him. Both are OCSC members, and ardent hunters.

Press Contest Has 'Fat' Prize for Hefty Buck

County Nimrods Gun for $150 U.S. Bond, Starting Friday

By H. GUY MOATS

Some lucky deer hunters from among the hundreds of enthusiastic advocates of the annual forays into fields, woods and swamps of Michigan's great outdoors will be richer by $150 come windup of the 15-day hunting season that opens with a concentrated bang on Friday.

The full-time Oakland County resident-hunter who lugs home the heftiest buck will win for himself a $150 U.S. Savings Bond as Pontiac Press Deer Contest champion. He can bag his deer anywhere in the state where hunting is legal. It must be dressed out before weighing. And weight slips must be obtained at foodlockers, markets or other places where approved scales are available.

Slips MUST be signed by weigher, an uninterested witness and the hunter who shot the buck. They must accompany the entry. Entries should be brought to The Press for photographing, or a clear snapshot may be submitted.

Earliest entries are expected from the immediate county area, which in some past contests has provided the eventual winner in the heavyweight class, the only one for which county hunters will shoot.

Reports of many unusually big bucks have come from a number of nearby hunting areas and it was expected that a better-than-215 pounder might be turned in. Last year's winner was 205 pounds, dressed.

A few warnings for hunters were issued today by state police and the conservation department.

Leave for hunting grounds early enough to allow for safe, sane driving; have Mackinac Straits bridge toll fare ready ($3.25) with exact change to speed traffic.

Observe all gun safety rules.

Don't draw a bead on protected elk—ground and air patrols will protect the herd, including a coast guard helicopter. Elk range is in Otsego, Presque Isle, Montmorency, Alpena, Cheboygan, Charlevoix and Emmet counties. Planes will use speakers to "call a warning from the clouds."

Pheasant Winners Determined

Guerin, Kelly 'Derby' Champs

Ellsworth Guerin of Auburn Heights and John D. Kelly of Union Lake, late entries in the 1957 Pontiac Press "pheasant derby" hung on, shook off all final day attempts to oust them for their leads, and wound up as the new champions.

Latest edition of the popular shooting contest for Oakland County hunters wound up officially Tuesday noon, with only one late entry to challenge the eventual winners. But the last bird in failed to meet contest requirements, and it was all over.

Guerin, 35 years old, is a General Motors Coach & Truck employe. His home is at 3051 Eastwood, Auburn Heights. He downed his prize rooster with two shots from a 12-gauge automatic. His pointer dog put the bird up.

An ardent hunter and sportsman, Kelly took his winning entry near Proud Lake Recreation area, hunting with his springer, Penny. He breeds and shows springers, and this was his first time in The Press contest. It was also Guerin's first entry. Kelly dropped his bird with a 75-foot shot Oct. 23. He held the "long bird" lead from that time.

Along the Outdoor Trail

H. GUY MOATS
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

HUNTING RARITY — Maynard Massey, 17, Ortonville high student, and already a confirmed outdoorsman, received a real surprise recently, hunting in woods near his home, 1,200 Perry Lake road. Looking for a fat 'coon, Maynard spotted a fat, gray furry animal in a tree. When he inspected it after his shot, he discovered it was a porcupine, somewhat of a rarity in a hunters' bag in this arrea. It was a young male about 20 inches long and weighing about 10 pounds.

Observe Rules of Gun Safety

WASHINGTON (INS) — The National Rifle Association warned hunters today to observe the rules of gun safety as the best life insurance outdoors:

TREAT every gun with respect due a loaded weapon.

ALWAYS unload guns carried into camp, home or car and break the acton as an extra safety measure.

BE SURE the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

ALWAYS carry the gun to permit control of the muzzle even if you fall, and keep the safety on until you are ready to fire.

BE SURE of your target.

GUNS and ammunition should be stored separately and beyond the reach of children and uninformed adults.

NEVER climb a tree or a fence or jump a ditch or stream with a loaded gun.

NEVER pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.

Solunar Tables

Pontiac area fishermen and hunters may find considerable worth in the solunar periods, below, as prepared especially for this section by John Alden Knight. They are designed to aid in selection of best times for the sports during the coming week. Major periods last from an hour to an hour and a half, minor periods somewhat less.

Ask Research on Pesticides

Spraying Hurts Wildlife

NEW YORK (AP) — More research into the effect of pesticide sprays on wildlife has been urged by speakers at the annual convention of the National Audubon Society.

A five per cent federal tax on the manufacturers of the sprays to cover the costs of the research was suggested.

Two hundred members attended the 53rd annual convention of the society, which is concerned mainly with the conservation of birdlife.

The delegates recalled the dumping of three million pounds of DDT from planes last May and June in an attempt to check the gypsy moth in parts of New York State, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Federal court suits, claiming damage to crops and livestock, have been filed in an effort to halt the spraying.

Speakers at the convention said the toxic effects of DDT might last five to seven years, and that at least 500 newer and more lethal pesticides are being developed.

They agreed that mass spraying by plane of DDT and other pesticides is harmful to one or another form of wildlife, including birds, fish and helpful insects.

Fairfield Osborn, president of the Conservation Foundation and of the New York Zoological Society, called for a campaign for research funds. He said there is real concern that the balance of nature may be upset by indiscriminate use of a vast amount of pesticides.

Expect 500,000 for Beginning of '57 Season

New Bridge Aids in Hunter Distribution; Record Kill Seen

ALL OUTDOORS (INS) —Michigan's estimated 500,000 deer hunters — made excitingly anxious by predictions of good hunting — counted off the minutes today until the opening day, Friday.

A promise of good weather, a healthy deer herd, the Mackinac Straits bridge and a good acorn crop all have given the deer slayers edgy nerves.

Conservation department officials said that because of better distribution of hunters expected in northern and southern Michigan, due to the new bridge, the weather, the acorns and a larger deer population, "a record kill can be expected during this 1957 season."

The most liberal special season in the state's history will also add a load of venison to the bagged column.

Last year hunters took 73,590 deer during the regular and special seasons. Only 24,220 bucks were taken last season in the Upper Peninsula — a drop of about 5,000 from the 1955 season.

Odds are heavily in favor of the U.P. hunter this year, for the reasons mentioned. Statistics also have proved in the past that the ratio of successful hunters is higher in the Upper Peninsula.

However, it should be pointed out that those who did venture into the land of Hiawatha were sportsmen slightly more determined than those who didn't care to travel as far, and wait long hours, for the state ferry boats. To the less dedicated gunner, it was much easier to remain in Lower Michigan.

Only a violent weather change could upset this beautiful 1957 deer hunting outlook; and, according to Marvin Green of the U.S. weather station in Detroit, "no such violent change is forecast."

The weather bureau, in an extended special forecast to INS, said, "showers, snow flurries and temperatures slightly below normal are in prospect for the opening day of hunting."

1,500 Scouts Hold Campout

Windsor, Detroit Boys Study Conservation in Metamora Area

LANSING—Approximately 1,500 boy scouts from Detroit and Windsor, Ontario put their conservation training to work recently at a big campout near Metamora.

The boys worked on various conservation projects, including construction of brushpiles for wildlife, tree planting and stream improvement work, which included a cleanup of a section of the Flint River.

Conservation Foresters Attend Training Session

New techniques in forest management were studied and discussed at a recent statewide training session for Conservation Department foresters at Haven Hill Lodge, near Milford.

Department employes from 15 state forestry districts and all three regional offices attended the conference, along with four representatives from the U.S. Forestry Service office at Milwaukee.

Foresters devoted their attention to the latest developments in management techniques, particularly those which are useful in assisting private forest owners.

State foresters regularly give technical assistance to landowners who wish to utilize good forest management methods.

The Haven Hill conference also dealt with utilization and marketing of timber products, and discussion of programs which affect forestry, such as the Soil Bank and the Agricultural Conservation Program.

Mill Lake Dogs Place in Show

Jody and Fritzie Take Firsts at National Specialty Event

LAKE ORION — Stewart Bryant, owner of Mill Lake Farm Kennels was highly honored when four of his dogs won places in the recent National Specialty Show for German Shepherds at Kansas City.

With only 12 first places awarded in a field of 237 dogs, Jody, of Mill Lake Farms was 1st puppy female; while his litter sister, Jill placed 4th in the same class.

Deer Believed to Have Caused Injury to Cow

Conservation officers reported recently that a 450-pound cow had to be destroyed after suffering serious injuries, apparently inflicted by a buck deer, west of Carson City in Montcalm county.

The cow, a heifer, was found paralyzed in Fish Creek. Investigation by Conservation Department workers revealed the cow had suffered head and back injuries. Marks on the animal indicated the injuries were caused by a deer's antlers and hooves.

Deer vs. Hunters Join Battle Soon

State's Biggest Pilgrimage Begins

By JACK PATTERSON

PATTERSON

Back in the 14th century, in addition to establishing the form for modern English and becoming the greatest writer the English language has known, Geoffrey Chaucer had a good bit to say about pilgrimages. Well sir, if old Geoff were here today, Wednesday, we could show him a thing or two about pilgrimages the like of which was never seen in the 14th or any other century but our own.

For today, by uncommunicated agreement, the main force of an estimated 500,000 deer hunters are heading North to do battle with an estimated 700,000 deer. Why the principle forces must take off today when the season doesn't open until Friday is one of those little mysteries that wives find impossible to understand.

We can predict the outcome of the forthcoming battle. The deer will win most every engagement but will lose the war. We'd guess between 55 and 60 thousand legal deer, principally bucks, are surveying their familiar range for the last time.

We'd be willing to bet that almost the same number, mostly does and fawns will be illegally killed before Dec. 1. This doesn't testify favorably for the sportsmanship of the deer hunter but, that's the way it goes.

But the casualties won't all be one one side. A respectable number of hunters will come a cropper on overburdened highways. Not a few will shoot themselves or their companions. One or two unfortunates, will find themselves in the one precise spot where a stray bullet seeks to find a resting place.

As in all armies everywhere, there will be non-battle casualties, too. A fair crop of middle-aged hearts will flutter their last on hardwood ridge or in darksome swamp.

And what of the object of all this attention, fuss and foolishness? Is it the graceful soft-eyed, gentle, creature of the Bambi - Anti-Cruelty League image? Is it the sly, incredibly astute monarch of the forest, that romanticists picture?

Or is it the rather stupid, ill-natured and single-minded object of the game biologist's study?

We always supposed deer hunting was more a field exercise for rowdies than a legitimate hunting form. We still think so but now we're one of 'em. Is it worth all the time and trouble and possible hazards listed above to latch onto a bit of dog meat? We'll tell the cockeyed world it is!

Predictions Fulfilled

Million Pheasants Taken

LANSING (AP) — Michigan hunters likely fulfilled predictions in bagging more than a million pheasants this year, but plenty of wily birds lived to tell the tale of the 1957 season which ended Sunday.

So said Vic Janson, pheasant specialist with the state conservation department, today after a preliminary survey of the three-week season.

An accurate count of the number of pheasant hunters won't be available until license dealers through the state send in their receipts, Janson said. However, he added, there are indications the total is down somewhat from the 550,000 who took part last year.

Post card surveys of hunters, compiled next year, and others by rural mail carriers give a good estimate of the number of birds shot, Janson said, and the total may be slightly under last year.

"Everywhere but in the Detroit area and certain other parts of Southeastern Michigan, hunters reported more pheasants than 1956 and possibly they got more per man because of reduced hunting pressure," he said.

Hunters probably shot down between 70 and 80 per cent of the cock bird population, most in the early season, leaving a good breeding population for next year, Janson said.

N'Orleans Now Top Area for Water Sports

NEW YORK — New Orleans, "with both front and back doors on the water," is a natural for vacationing boatmen, according to Popular Boating. The magazine features a six-page picture story on New Orleans water sports including an illustrated, color map showing all points of boating and fishing interest.

With access to over 5,000 miles of navigable waterways, the New Orleans boundaries encompass some of the best cruising and racing areas in the country. In addition, there is good fishing—even right within the city limits.

As a result of all the boating facilities, N'Orleans is currently snatching some of the nation's top boating laurels. Champs include Harrie Hayden, three times national outboard racing champion; Eugene H. Walet III, North American sailing champ and America's Dragon class skipper in the '56 Olympics; Sparky Graham, who at the age of 11 was national women's Penguin class sailing champ; and Jimmy Bowles, billed as the "fastest man afloat in 44-cubic-inch powerboats."

Forest Fires Burn 5,871 Acres in State

LANSING — Five fires in the Lower Peninsula damaged 20 acres of state and private forests and grasslands during the last week, boosting losses this year to 5,871 acres.

No fires were reported in the Upper Peninsula.

Heaviest damage was in the Jackson district of the southern Lower Peninsula where two fires burned 15 acres. Another three fires in the northern Lower Peninsula damaged approximately five acres.

Seek to Save Wildlife Range in Arctic Area

Alaska Move Gets Support of States' Sportsmen

A movement now under way in Alaska to establish an Arctic Wildlife Range is gaining support in the states, according to the Wildlife Management Institute. Establishment of the range would be a major step in an effort to preserve and protect the natural character of one of the country's most spectacular far-north areas.

The area, suggested by Tanana Valley Sportsmen's association, of Alaska, would extend from the foothills south of the Brooks range north, across the mountains, and the vast, treeless tundra to the Arctic Ocean.

It would extend from the Canadian border on the east, westward to Canning river, Caribou, moose, Dall sheep, grizzlies, wolverines, along with many birds and waterfowl, are found in the area. Polar bears, seals, foxes and whales are common in the coastal region.

Seek 'Couple' Bowlers

Because of a number of withdrawals, there is room in the Saturday Mixed Bowling league for three couples, loop officials said today. League which rolls Saturdays at 8 p.m. at Motor Inn is composed of 14 teams.

Couples interested should contact Bill Palmer at FE 5-3050.

Tell Family Where You Will Be Hunting

LANSING (INS) — State police urged hunters today to take time to tell their wives and families where they are going to hunt so they can be located easily in case of emergency.

Inspector James Dunleavy of the General Services Bureau suggested wives and others at home should have the license number, model and style of their husband's car and also know the area where he plans to hunt.

He said this is also helpful in locating lost hunters and those injured or sick.

Good Turnout for Lake Orion Shoot

First place winners included Jerry O'Dean who also had a 2nd, John Hatfield of Orion, Ken Mexico (Det), M. Ashmore, Chester Robinson (Mt. Clemens), Leo Atwell and Jim Sherrod of Orion. Don Feldmann (14, Orion), won a junior award. Other recipients included Ray Yost (clarkston), Atwell (2), Feldmann (2) Hal White, Ed Peck, Dr. Joseph Sabato, Mary Ellen Robertson.

Special Permits for Deer Closed

All successful and unsuccessful applicants for 1957 special season deer hunting permits have been notified and no more permits are available, Conservation Department says.

In four special season areas, application totals fell short of permit quotas, but department officials point out there is no fair method of distributing these excess permits.

You shop as carefully as you can BUT is there anything you can buy that compares with what the United Fund buys with a $10 contribution . . . things like:

- 15 hours of life-saving oxygen
- 5 pairs of little crutches
- 100 doses of penicillin
- 200 nursing bottles with nipples
- psychiatric examination
- month of scouting for 16 girls

Writer Destroys Letters to Stop Their Publication

LONDON (AP)—Author W. Somerset Maugham said today he is having all his etters destroyed to keep them from being published after his death.

"I regard my letters as my personal affair," said the writer, who will be 84 on Jan. 25. "I cannot see that their publication after my death will serve any useful purpose."

Maugham said he feels "perfectly well, but when one is my age one becomes, perhaps, more realistic about the inevitable."

"I can assure you that there is nothing of that sort at all," he said.

History Unit Gives 4 Citations in State

LANSING (AP) — Four citations are being awarded in Michigan by the American Association for State and Local History for outstanding historical contributions.

Dr. Lewis Beeson, secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission and Michigan awards chairman for the association, announced the recipients today.

Citations will go to Floyd R. Dain, Detroit author; Mrs. Stanley Lowe, Battle Creek historian; the Historical Memorials Society of Detroit and the Frankenmuth News.

Dain was honored for his book, "Every House a Frontier," a study of pioneer Detroit development.

Mrs. Lowe was cited for outstanding work in promoting an interest in state and local history.

U.S. Grant Approved for U. of M. CD Center

LANSING (AP) — A federal matching grant of $250,000 has been approved for the construction of a civil defense training laboratory at the University of Michigan, Gov. Williams has announced.

Williams said this will be the first university center in the country devoted to training civil defense workers. The State Office of Civil Defense will cooperate with the university of developing the program.

NLRB Rules Out 'Hot Cargo' Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board has ruled that "hot cargo" contracts between unions and common carriers violate the Taft-Hartley law.

The question of the validity of such agreements has been before the board previously, but yesterday's 3-2 decision marked the first time the NLRB has declared them unlawful. The board ruled the contracts valid and enforceable in 1949.

A hot cargo clause generally provides that employes may refuse to handle goods which the union brands as "unfair."

★ ★ ★

The ruling yesterday concerned Teamsters Union Local 728 in Atlanta, Ga. The board found that the local violated Taft-Hartley's ban on secondary boycotts by telling its members they could refuse to handle shipments from the Genuine Parts Co. of Atlanta.

400 Millionaires Attend Oil Meeting

CHICAGO (INS) — A survey of oilmen attending the 37th annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute today showed two men in the above $100 million class and about 400 millionaires.

Also among the 6,500 men at the four-day meeting is George F. Getty of New York, one of the sons of J. Paul Getty whose fortune has been estimated by a national publication to be the largest in the U.S. — $700 million to $1 billion.

The "big" oilmen at the API meeting are H. L. Hunt of Dallas, who reportedly is worth $400 million to $700 million and John Mecom, Houston, Tex., whose holdings have been estimated at between $110 million to $200 million.

When asked if the 400 estimate for millionaires attending the meeting was correct, Sid Siteman of Marine Petroleum, St. Louis, replied:

"There's still a big future in oil and if you have the determination and know-how, it's the industry to get into if you want to make a fortune."

Resume Dealings in Chrysler Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — Union and company negotiators resume talks today (2 p.m.) in another effort to head off a threatened strike of 20,000 United Auto Workers union employes at the Chrysler Stamping Division.

The strike, scheduled to start at 6 p.m. tomorrow, could affect 90,000 workers in Chrysler plants in the Detroit area.

Both company and union officials had "no comment" after yesterday's negotiations.

UAW Local 212, representing workers at 11 Chrysler stamping plants in the Detroit area, is seeking settlement of what it termed grievances on production standards, discharges and working conditions.

However, the situation at Chrysler has worsened steadily since the start of 1958 model production. Strike votes have been taken or authorized by 10 Detroit area Chrysler UAW locals.

Aircrafts Drop Up to 2 Points

Aircrafts and steels were actively traded. There was fast turnover in rights to subscribe to Standard Oil (New Jersey) big new stock issue.

Not much appeared in the overnight news to prod investor sentiment, Wall Street sources said. Financial analysts believed the market may be making a test of its 1957 lows.

★ ★ ★

Douglas Aircraft was down as much as two, but pared this loss by a major fraction. General Dynamics cut a one-point loss to a fraction. Boeing and United Aircraft dropped fractionally at the start but recovered.

Losses of around a point or more were taken by Du Pont, International Nickel, Allied Chemical and Gulf Oil.

No Action on Dividend

Meeting at Monroe

MONROE (AP)—The Monroe County Board of Supervisors will conduct hearings Nov. 20 on protests against closing of roads for a chemical plant proposed near Dundee. Sennett Realties Corp. of Canada said it had bought 1,400 acres and planned a five million dollar plant, but that a number of roads would have to be closed.

AMERICA'S NEWEST — Rolling from the final assembly line at Burbank, Calif. is the first of the nation's newest airliners, Lockheed's prop-jet Electra. The company says the new plane is the first U. S.-built commercial jet-and-propellor airliner. Built to carry as many as 91 passengers on short-to-medium range flights at 400 miles per hour, 141 Electras are presently on order from 10 airlines. No first-flight date for this initial model has been announced.

Assembly Eyes Defenses at Sea

NATO May Find Out if U.S. Plans to Share A-Sub Secrets

PARIS (AP)—NATO's Advisory Assembly turned today to a study of the Atlantic Alliance's defenses at sea. There was some expectation it might learn whether the United States is willing to share some of the secrets of its atom-powered submarine.

The Assembly, made up of congressmen or Parliament members from the 15 NATO nations, scheduled a closed session to hear from U. S. Adm. Jerauld Wright. Wright commands both the U. S. Atlantic Fleet and NATO forces in the Atlantic.

The Russian submarine fleet is known to number about 500 ships, for coastal or long-range operation, and is increasing by 75 to 100 subs per year.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The Assembly's spotlight shifted to naval power after a day of reports from leaders of the air and ground forces. American Air Force Gen. Thomas Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, stiffened NATO spirits with the report that many of his planes were on 15-minute alert, armed with nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

He said SAC's aim was to keep a third of its planes on this status, although the aim had not yet been fully achieved.

News in Brief

William Moore, of 54½ Wayne St., reported to Pontiac Police this morning that Tuesday night someone broke into his apartment and stole various household items valued at about $25.

George A. Colwell, 49, 1550 Cass Lake Rd., pleaded guilty to reckless driving Tuesday, before Keego Harbor Justice James Southart, and paid a fine of $85 plus $5 costs.

Red Cross to Prepare for Holiday Accidents

Preparations for added facilities and equipment needed during the high-accident holiday season will be mapped out Thursday when the Oakland County Red Cross Blood Advisory Committee convenes.

The meeting, which begins at 10:30 a.m. at the county chapter house, 118 Franklin Blvd., will be conducted by Mrs. Walter Lentz of Holly, chairman.

Ike Will Outline Program Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower outlines to the nation tonight his program for training more American youths as scientists in the space era struggle against Russia.

Some key scientific advisers to the President reportedly have suggested to him that the federal government grant scholarships to promising students as an incentive. But the White House declined advance discussion of what Eisenhower will recommend.

The speech will be carried live at 10:30 p. m. EST, by NBC-TV and all four major radio networks. ABC and CBS television will carry the address from film at 11:15 p. m.

Eisenhower will speak at Municipal Auditorium in connection with Oklahoma's "Arrows to Atoms" 50th anniversary of statehood. He plans to start back to Washington by plane immediately after the speech.

Cool and cloudy weather may cut down the crowds greeting President Eisenhower on his six-hour visit in Oklahoma City today.

Local officials planned to meet him at Will Rogers Airport and join the motorcade downtown, led by the President in his White House limousine with the plastic bubble top.

Johansen to Oppose Tougher Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Johansen (R-Mich), one of 15 House Republicans who opposed the final version of the civil rights bill last summer, today advocated a "moratorium on toughness" in civil rights legislation.

He said he will oppose announced efforts of Northern Democrats and Republicans to expand this year's bill, primarily a voting rights measure, into other areas next session.

"I am very much disturbed about the talk about a tougher civil rights bill for next year," Johansen said in an interview. "I think the time has come for a moratorium on toughness."

"It seems to me we are trying to go too far, too fast," he said, adding that civil rights action by Congress and the Supreme Court may have impeded "slow but substantial progress" in the South.

Donaldson to Moderate Panel at AMA Parley

Mayor William W. Donaldson has been selected as moderator for a panel on youth and old-age problems, which will be one of many discussions at the Dec. 1-4 convention of the American Municipal Assn. in San Francisco.

Donaldson has also been appointed to the AMA Committee on Civil Defense.

He will attend the four-day conference along with six fellow Pontiac city commissioners.

Ex-Pontiac Manager Gets San Diego Post

Mayor Charles C. Dail said last night Bean was the unanimous choice of the council for the $26,000 a year post. Five applicants were interviewed by the council.

Might Be Airbase

U.S. Aiding Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA (AP)—The United States is quietly building up Ethiopia's military and economic strength.

Ethiopia could become a rear staging base both for air and naval purposes. Massawa is an excellent and highly mechanized port, Italian-built. If an Allied fleet could not move through Suez, there is always the open Indian Ocean.

Aside from the potential military importance of Ethiopia, Point Four is spending about 15 million dollars in the country, mainly for agricultural development.

Americans also are working on the highways, originally splendid roads built by Italy but greatly deteriorated.

Much of Nation Expects Damp, Mild Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet and fairly mild weather was the outlook for broad areas of the country today.

★ ★ ★

Rain continued to drench the far northwestern part of the country from northern California northward into Washington. Showers, with snow at higher elevations, sprinkled the northern Plateau and in the Rockies. Snowfalls in some areas measured about an inch.

★ ★ ★

Southerly winds carried moist air from the Gulf of Mexico northward through the Mississippi Valley and adajacent areas. Rain fell in sections as far north as southern Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Local Attorney to Head Regional Junior Bar

Pontiac attorney Wallace D. Riley, of 2472 Empire St., has been appointed chairman of Region I of the Junior Bar Section of the State Bar of Michigan.

A graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, Riley will have charge of Junior Bar activities in this area.

City to Control Hospital Extras

Commissioners to OK Changes Which Exceed $2,500 Mark

A control was placed on architectual changes in the construction of the Pontiac General Hospital wing by Pontiac city commissioners last night after they learned "extras" had reached $32,026.

Under the new plan, City Manager Walter K. Willman was authorized to approve, upon the advice of architects and the hospital Board of Trustees building committee, any changes not exceeding $2,500.

Changes beyond this limit must go immediately to the City Commission for approval or rejection.

To date general contractors Darin & Armstrong of Detroit has accumulated extras of $5,614.57. Sarin Electric has $4,252.05 in extras and Brodell Plumbing & Heating Co. has $22,160.35.

★ ★ ★

Willman told commissioners that the total was about $5,000 higher than previous reports, as the hospital director had planned an increase in pediatric rooms for the new wing.

Wilson Named Director of Detroit Bank

Former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson of Bloomfield Township was elected a director of the National Bank of Detroit yesterday.

Wilson was a director of the bank from 1941 to 1953, when he relinquished all corporate connections, including the presidency of General Motors Corp., to take the defense post in Washingron.

He fills the vacancy on the bank board created by the death of Ben E. Young.

Dental Program Leader Chosen

Mrs. John Hoke Heads Waterford Parents to Plan Fluoride Care

Mrs. John Hoke has been elected coordinator of the topical fluoride program, to be given to children in the Waterford Township school district next summer.

★ ★ ★

A group of interested parents and officials met at the high school, elected officers and made plans to put the program into operation in all schools in the district, requesting the project.

Topical application treatments were given to more than 600 pupils in three schools last summer on a "trial basis," and proved so successful that already ten of the 17 elementary schools in Waterford Township have signed up for the program, Mrs. Hoke said.

Others elected to the executive board were co-chairmen, Mrs. Martin Dewey and Gordon Small; recording secretary Mrs. Robert Bruce; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gordon Small, and A. J. Koenig, treasurer.

A consent letter will be sent home to parents in the near future, with pamphlets explaining the importance of fluoride treatments for children in the elementary school age bracket.

St. Joseph Hospital Employes Honored

Seven of those honored had been employed for 10 years, while Mrs. Elizabeth Borrae of the dietary staff was the "veteran" with 22 years of service.

Carl I. Flath, director of Pontiac General Hospital, was guest speaker for the night. He spoke on "You and the Patient."

Population of the U. S. will increase by about 63 million in the next 20 years, the census bureau estimates.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Kerensky Believes Russians Allowing Scientists Freedom

NEW YORK (INS) — Alexander Kerensky, ruler of Russia for two brief months in 1917, said yesterday that Soviet scientific progress is the result of added freedom for Red scientists.

★ ★ ★

The gray-haired, 72-year-old Russian whose provisional government was overthrown by Lenin and the Bolsheviks 40 years ago this month, said Russia was a scientifically advanced country under the Czars, but soviet thought-control almost succeeded in destroying Russia's scientific stockpile.

IDEA STUPID

He said:

"It is a very stupid idea to believe that before the Bolsheviks appeared on the Russian scene, science and medicine did not exist. I am not a Communist who says that all good things were invented by the Russians, but before the First World War — during the 19th and early 20th centuries — science in Russia was very well developed."

Kerensky cited Sikorsky, inventor of the helicopter; Mechnikov, famous biologist; and Mendeleyev, chemist and physicist who invented the table of atomic weights which is the basis for development in nuclear physics.

"Science," Kerensky said, sitting in the wood-paneled library of his New York home, "is an international republic. Before World War I Russians scientists were in intimate, permanent contact with scientists in France, Germany, England and the United States.

STOPPED WORK

"At the beginning of the Bolshevik counter-revolution they disorganized and quite stopped development of the sciences. They tried to force all scientists to work in accordance with the so-called Marxist ideas. They exiled, executed or destroyed many Russian scientists.

Kerensky said the Russians were forced to change their totalitarian ways in order to develop the heavy industry and weapons they needed "for their own interests — for the development of world revolution."

"Some people are astonished at how it is possible to make extraordinary achievements under a regime of total dictatorship. We all believe human freedom is something necessary for the development of spiritual, creative forces in the human being.

"The answer is the communist regime has given freedom to scientists and talented people who remain docile and silent in political and social questions and are only interested in their specialties.

"The Soviet Sputnik is the result of the present development of the purely technical and physical sciences — not because they captured some Germans after the Second World War. The United States also took some well-known German professors."

Kerensky said Red control of the economic, social as well as governmental areas of Russian life is responsible for the present poor condition of the arts in the U.S.S.R.

He said:

"Literature is in decline, dramatic art is in decline, poety is in decline. The arts are more accessible to pressure from dictatorship."

Kerensky, believes that the Russian people, and particularly the youth of the Red country, are dissatisfied with the present regime.

Dora May Schmidt Weds James Frederick Perry

LAKE ORION — Close friends and the immediate families witnessed the Friday evening wedding of Dora May Schmidt and James Frederick Perry in the Central Christian Church of Pontiac.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry C. Schmidt. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Perry of 713 N. Perry St. and the late John Perry.

The reception was held following the service at the bride's home. Her sister, Mrs. Melvin Johnston, baked a three tiered cake, and decorated it with white shells and garlands for the occasion.

Williams in New York on Milk Market Study

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams planned to fly to Pennsylvania today and go on Thursday to New York for discussions with officials of the two states on milk marketing problems.

He expected to stay overnight Thursday at Albany as a guest of New York's Gov. Harriman before flying back to Lansing Friday morning. He indicated last week that he also will talk civil defense with Harriman.

Fire Sweeps Basement of Apartment House

The apartment house is owned by George Scales, who turned in the alarm, said firemen. The fire, which was largely contained in the basement, was caused by a defective oil hot water heater, they reported.

Firemen pumped water on the blaze for 90 minutes. Damages to the building reached $1,000 and $500 to contents.

Believes Pro-American Attitude Up in Mideast

SINGAPORE (UP) — U.S. Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today a pro-American attitude is definitely rising in the Middle East.

Hickenlooper, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is on a round-the-world tour. He told newsmen on arrival that Middle East countries have realized America is interested not in controlling their politics, but in trying to help raise their living standards.

Board Rejects Zoning Change

Township Breaks Tie on Permission to Build Protested Gas Station

Waterford Township residents again jammed the town hall at last night's regular board meeting protesting a zoning change from residential to commercial on the corner of Walton boulevard and Clintonville road.

The board ran into a stalemate last week with a tie vote due to the absence of Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olsen who this week voted against the change along with Supervisor Elmer Johnson and Clerk James Seeterlin. Trustees Charles Pappas and John Coleman again voted in favor of the issue.

Owner of the land, A. C. Gifford, has been filling in the low swampy area in hopes of building a gas station on the corner. The land is directly across from the board of education building.

The township zoning board and the Oakland County Planning Commission had approved the change. However the township board wants the land to remain residential. Gifford indicated that he will again petition for the rezoning as soon as it is legally possible.

Other business of the board included the approval of $5,778 to the volunteer firemen's association for 313 fire calls made from March 1 through June 30.

The board approved a plumber bond for Ervin E. Schilke of Rochester and a sewer bond for William Lang. A beer and wine license was also approved for a new drug store at 2410 Voorheis Rd. and Star avenue. Paul H. Meinke is the owner.

Board members also approved funds for a $350 electric typewriter for the treasurer's office. Several bids had been received and Mrs. Olson recommended the board accept the low bidder, the Smith-Corona Company.

★ ★ ★

No agreement has been reached on the Belmoral Subdivision plat, Hatchery near Crescent Lake roads, regarding a central water system for the 102-lot development.

Proceeds from the last event went towards Christmas candy favors for the Oakland County Children's Home and Christmas gifts for cancer patients in the township as well as the hospital project.

Board Moves in Water Case

Township Names Firm to Draft Ordinance, Set Rate in Venice of Lakes

At last night's regular Waterford Township board meeting members put the wheels in motion to rectify problems of the old water system in the Venice of Lakes Subdivision located in the southeast corner of the township.

The 42-year-old system was deeded to the property owners by Judson Bradway, developer. However, the 86 property owners refused to accept the well and during the year it has deteriorated due to inadequate maintenance.

The board authorized the law firm of Berry, Stevens and Moorman of Detroit to draft an ordinance to establish equitable water rates, benefit fees and financing for making improvements in the water system.

At a meeting last week of officials concerned with the water system, the group decided that the best possible solution to the problem is to connect the Venice of the Lakes system with the Huron Gardens water system.

They estimate it will cost the users approximately $35,000 to make the hook-up which would be paid off in a bond issue. New users would pay a benefit charge for connecting into the water system.

Dies From Crash Injuries

Ease Payments for East Siders

Commissioners Decide to Charge for Sewer Over 5-Year Period

A group of 25 residents of Pontiac's East Side came to the City Commission meeting last night angry, and went away somewhat happier—at least some of them.

Some said they didn't see what benefit they would get from the sewer, while others said this assessment was causing a hardship on top of another assessment for work in the area.

Commissioners advised them that charges for lateral sewers to tie in with the trunk sewer would be part of assessments levied for future curb and gutter costs at $5 a front foot.

After hearing the many complaints, Commissioner John A. Dugan, in whose District 5 the work was done, decided to stretch the payments over five years instead of the already approved three years. The Commission agreed.

State Legislator Urges Constitution Changes

WAYNE (UP) — A Republican legislator last night called on Michigan lawmakers to join in support of a convention for revision of the state constitution.

The constitution drawn up in 1908 is outmoded and needs "an agonizing reappraisal," Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) told a Wayne literary club.

Under the constitution, a public vote is scheduled every 16 years on whether to call a constitutional convention. The next vote is set for the November 1958, election.

New Highway Opens

LANSING (UP) — A new seven-mile stretch of highway on M65 in Iosco County was opened to traffic today, the State Highway Department announced. The highway, from M55 north to the village of Hale, cost $467,000 and replaces an old gravel road.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF FRANK R. Bradford who passed away Nov. 17, 1951
Six years have passed how long it seems,
But in our hearts his face still beams,
For we who miss him only know
Sadly missed by his wife Mary, daughter Gladys and son Glenn.

IN MEMORY OF MARGARET Brayman, who passed away Nov. 21, 1945
"Dear Mother" you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more;
Still in memory you are with us,

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF EDWARD M. Dixon, who passed away 3 years ago Nov 13, 1954.
Days of sadness still come over me,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near me,
Though you died 3 years ago.

See Barmore Trial Lasting 2 Days More

MUSKEGON (AP) — Prosecutor Robert A. Cavanaugh indicated that his case in the second degree murder trial of Herman Barmore might require two more days of testimony.

Barmore, 44, a transient ex-convict, is accused in the July 1955 death of 12-year-old Peter Gorham, who was fatally shot after his disappearance on a hike from nearby Boy Scout Camp Wabanigo.

Cavanaugh was uncertain whether the jury would be taken to the wooded area where the boy's skeletal remains were found. He said such a move, if required, would wait until all prosecution evidence is completed.

Barmore, alias Charles Ficher, has pleaded innocent.

Benny's Fiddle Brings $980,000 for State of Israel

Patrons were required to buy at least $300 worth of State of Israel bonds to hear the comedian, whose violin clowning was accompanied by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra. Mimi Benzell, former Metropolitan Opera soprano, also was featured.

The highest single-seat contribution was $25,000.

Benny said the 2,700 persons who packed into Massey Hall paid "the largest gross of any single concert in history."

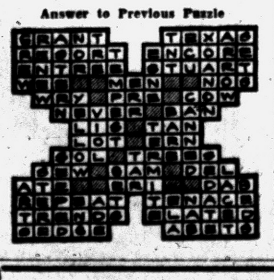

Actress, Producer Part

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The year-long marriage of actress Diane Varsi and producer James Dickson has come apart. The 19-year-old actress announced yesterday they have decided to live separately. She blamed "conflicting careers."

Avery's Condition Poor

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Pleasant Things in Life Balance the Bad Ones

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — When marital catastrophies such as the Bergman-Rossellini bustup occur, people ask how I can still be an optimist after 15 years on this beat.

But I'm not all shook up by the Rome story. I interviewed Ingrid in 1949 when she'd decided to marry Roberto—and even then, knowledgeable people said, "It won't last. Roberto's too much of a charmer to be constant."

I believe American women feel pity for Ingrid—men are more severe—but let's switch to a completely different trivial little story of sweetness and light, unworthy of a headline . . .

It was the 10th anniversary of the Lewis Golds of Rego Park, Queens. After a year's wait, they had balcony seats to "My Fair Lady."

"We had started out in such a jubilant mood . . . exchanged kisses, held hands, waited for the curtain . . . then stood up to let three late-comers pass.

WILSON

"The last one knocked my hearing aid from my hand. It was dead! I couldn't hear a thing.

"After many years of adjusting to a handicap, and waiting so long to see the show, our evening was spoiled in one split second!"

"I decided to go see someone," she says. "The ushers told me to see the Sound Man."

Harriet Gold was, in fact, feeling pretty low toward the end of the show when "Mr. Sound Man" handed her a note which read:

"Save your seat checks. Come back with hearing aid fixed and see Sammy Schwartz, our company manager, and see the show again."

"Well," says Mrs. Gold, "we went back the next Saturday night. With my hearing aid fixed, I heard every word . . . very clearly too . . . because they'd given us better seats . . . right down in the orchestra.

"Who else but me had SEEN 'My Fair Lady' one week and HEARD it the next?"

Mrs. Gold adds, "Mr. Schwartz and Mr. Sound Man could never imagine what a lift they gave to my philosophy of life."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Comic Joe E. Lewis the tippler, just operated on, said, "I went into a hospital because I wanted to see how the other fifth lived" . . . Marlon Brando's colossal in "Sayonara" with his southern accent, especially when he's served an Oriental washcloth at dinner and says, "Do you eat this or wear it?" . . . Tyrone Power, dating ex-wife Annabella lately, is furious at Linda Christian for writing intimate details of their marriage for London papers . . .

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A ship is always referred to as 'she' because it costs so much to keep one in paint and powder"—Admiral Nimitz (1940) . . . That's earl, brother.

Arab Press Attacks Hussein

New Crisis Hits Jordan

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

REPORTS FAMILIAR

There still are the familiar reports of American-built tanks approaching the Syrian frontier, Turkish planes violating Syrian skies and patrols repulsed by Syrian frontier guards.

But the main Arab nationalist attack again has switched to Jordan, particularly against King Hussein, the young anti-Communist king who withstood last spring's attempts by pro-Egyptians, pro-Syrians and Communists to overthrow him.

The 21-year-old king's enemies are working in a vulnerable area — the west bank of the Jordan which contains a huge part of the nation's population, whose inhabitants are the embittered Palestinian refugees cut off from their homes in Israel by the Arab-Israeli war.

START ATTACKS

The Egyptian press started the new attacks against Hussein with charges that he has been in contact with the Israeli government with a view to settling the refugee question at the expense of the refugees.

Jordan answered in kind, saying that Egypt, in allowing Israeli ships to use the Gulf of Aqaba and permitting the occupation of the Gaza Strip by Israelis, and then by U.N. troops, had most injured the case of the Palestinian Arabs.

Jordan charged she had documents proving that the Egyptian government itself secretly negotiated with Israel for a solution to the Palestine problem.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser also has been accused of promoting the propaganda attack on Jordan to divert the attention of his own people from their own acute economic troubles.

Nasser and Syria, of course, can afford to make political propaganda out of the refugee mess because their survival as nations do not depend in the long run on some solution of the problem. Jordan, however, is forced to get outside help in caring not only for the refugees but for her generally improverished economic status.

Reds' Planning Over Yule Tree Goes Haywire

BERLIN (AP)—Communist planning went haywire in the Christmas tree department yesterday.

For weeks East Berliners have been waiting for the erection of a promised Noel tree—a 100-year-old, 110-foot giant—on Marx-Engels Platz, the city's Red Square.

Finally, out of the forest of Thuringa the shimmering pine was hauled into the square. Enthusiastic citizens gathered to watch complicated cable machinery raise the tree.

The cables went berserk. One pulled one way, the other another way, and the tree snapped in two.

★ ★ ★

As the pieces were being hauled away, Neues Deutschland, the Communist party newspaper, rushed into print with the comforting news that the Red regime has sent an urgent order to Thuringa: Get another tree quick.

Buddy Cole, Wife End 30-Minute Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Band arranger Buddy Cole and his wife have started a brand new marriage—after being divorced just 30 minutes.

"That marriage was something of a jinx, so we wanted to start all over again with a clean slate," explained Mrs. Cole.

The couple, both 40, married two years ago in Las Vegas, Nev.

The Canadian Army has a new all-weather vehicle called the Rat for use in the Arctic. It will travel over land, snow and water.

Opera Soprano Stars in Show

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — A newcomer to the TV scene — on a regular basis — is the lovely Patrice Munsel. An opera singer with the Met, she's challenging the pop singers of TV with her new ABC-TV program, "The Patrice Munsel Show."

She was a little worried, when the program was first set, that there'd be a conflict with the Met —that there'd be operas scheduled on nights when she had a TV show to do.

"But the Met has been very nice," she says. "There's no reason why they should be, but they are. They're scheduling my 12 performances so there is no conflict.

"If it had to come to a choice — opera or TV — I would have chosen opera."

Don't get the idea that this is a longhair, highbrow show. There may be programs on which she'll sing not one aria or classical selection, depending on the script. She'll do more pop stuff — even blues and jazz — than classics.

2 DIFFERENT VOICES

She uses her new pop voice — which has been described by a friend as "a barrelhouse baritone" — on the pop stuff and her regular coloratura soprano on the classics.

"I dislike opera stars who sing pop songs with an opera voice," she says. "I've always liked all kinds of music — as a child in high school assemblies I'd sing the Bell Song from 'Lakme' and then "I'll Never Smile Again."

"So we'll let the script determine what I'll sing. So many of my friends, I know, will be expecting an aria each time. They'll be disappointed but I hope not unhappy."

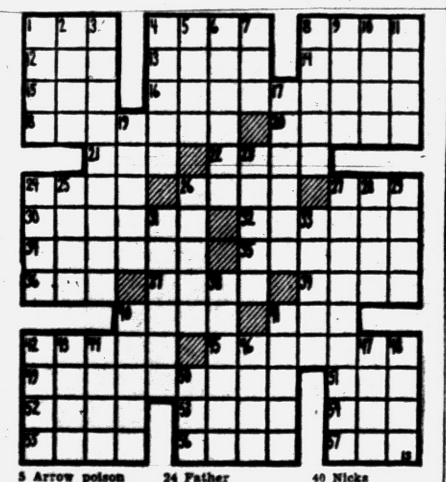

P.S. — A bit of incidental intelligence from Miss Munsel, a skin diver in her non-singing moments. The best way to deal with barracuda is to face them and charge. They get scared and swim away. Now you know.

An exclusive residential district is one where nobody ever borrows less than $5,000 . . . Broadway Saying: Don't live it up the night before unless you can live it down in the morning.—Earl Wilson.

Windsor Health Plan Studied

U. of M. Group Finds Success in Operation of Voluntary Insurance

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Comprehensive physicians' services on a voluntary health insurance basis works successfully, a study of such a plan in Windsor, Ont., has disclosed.

The Windsor Medical Service plan was studied for three years by Dr. Nathan Sinai, Dr. S. J. Axelrod and Benjamin Darksky of the University of Michigan Bureau of Public Health Economics.

The results, published by the Health Information Foundation of New York, which granted the funds for the study, were announced here recently at a news conference.

The study said the Windsor plan is satisfactory in all areas of physicians' services including general practicioners and specialists in the home, office and hospital for both patient and doctor.

The plan has been operating in Windsor for 20 years and today covers nearly 90 per cent of the city's metropolitan area. More than 200,000 people subscribe to the plan, the study said.

Among the medical services available to Windsor subscribers are medical, surgical and X-ray services, annual physical examinations, services of anesthetists, confinement, radium and deep X-ray therapy and preventive inoculations such as Asian flu and polio vaccinations.

The survey noted that the charges for membership are nominal. It said the monthly rates are $2.30 for single subscribers, $4.90 for couples, $6.50 for couples with one child and $7.90 for couples with more than one child.

Extra charges may be made by physicians to single persons with annual incomes exceeding $4,000 and married subscirbers earning more than $6,500.

The doctors themselves have set the standards for fees. The cost of administering the plan has been under eight per cent of its income during the past decade, the study said.

Patients have the privilege of selecting their own doctor. The study said 92 per cent of the Windsor subscribers use a physician they consider their regular doctor. Among the non-insured, the figure reaches 80 per cent, the study said.

Nuclear Bombs on U.S. Planes All Over World

PARIS (AP)—The chief of the U.S. Strategic Air Command said today he has planes all over the world loaded with nuclear bombs ready to take off 15 minutes after any warning of a Soviet attack.

Gen. Thomas Powers said the SAC mounted this alert Oct. 1 and has kept it up ever since.

"The planes are on the runways loaded with bombs," said the balding little general. "The crews sleep nearby. We are increasing the number of planes on the alert to one-third of our effectives. The planes can be off in 15 minutes. The alert began Oct. 1."

Watch Wrong but Right

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The report to police on watches pawned showed one that had been reported stolen. A visit to the pawn shop showed they had a watch number 6000860, but the watch police wanted was 0980006. The number had been read upside down. But police found number 6000860 also was on their stolen list.
