It's going to get cooler.
That's the hopeful weekend prediction.

Today's southwesterly winds at 12-15 miles an hour will become westerly tonight and tomorrow.

OUR COOL MAYOR—Pontiac's Mayor Philip E. Rowston smiles with relief as he lets in a cool breeze to offset the heat wave. No stuffed shirt, Rowston is a staunch member of the Pontiac move towards sports shirts in warm weather. Local Teachers Get Pay Hike on Scale Basis

New Plan Will Spread $156,810 According to Education, Experience

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

The Pontiac Board of Education last night approved a wage scale calling for $156,810 in raises for the city's 803 teachers.

This is the first time in the history of the school system that a pay structure plan has been adopted. Previous pay hikes have come in the form of across-the-board increases.

The across-the-board method gave a flat raise of equal amount to all teachers.

The wage scale provides for proportionate increases according to experience, training and years of seniority with the school system.

The teachers were "the most pleased" they've been to date—with reservation for some minor grumbling.

The first request put to the Board two weeks ago by a joint committee of the Pontiac Federation of Teachers and the Pontiac Education Association called for teachers' raises totaling $230,704.

The schedule submitted by the teachers also was designed to double teachers' salaries at the end of 10 years.

The Board returned the initial request and told the salary committee to adjust its desired pay structure to a more modest $150,000 limitation — what the Board could afford, it said.

The teachers' adjusted schedule came to $163,000.

Charles Murphy, spokesman for salary committee, told the Board this is the closest the two sides have ever come in agreement.

"For the money allocated, this is a fine schedule," said Murphy. "We are most happy that our factor index pay schedule has been adopted. It is what we have been working for."

The slight grumbling was a result of what the teachers felt was an insufficient increase for the top and longevity end of the wage scale.

The structure adopted last night provides for a starting salary of $4,450 for a teacher with a bachelors degree, a $100

"NO MORE PENCILS, NO MORE BOOKS — No more teacher's . . ." leaves plenty of time this summer for "I got a line, I got a pole, let's go fishin' in the craw-dad hole." Motorist Sees Her in a Field Along Nine Mile

Taken to Beaumont Hospital in Mild Shock, Soiled and Hungry

DETROIT (AP)—Oak Park Police said today missing Susan Lawrence had been found safe. Police said she was fatigued but otherwise all right. The 14-year-old schoolgirl, who had been missing since Monday morning, was reported found wandering along 9-Mile road in Oak Park, a suburb of Detroit.

At the hospital, aides said the girl was dirty and disheveled and covered with insect bites. She had no money.

The girl told officers she had been "staying with friends" but police said from her appearance, she apparently had been wandering in the open since she disappeared.

Susan told police "I'm hungry. I had breakfast but I skipped lunch."

Police said she was in a state of shock and in a "run-down" condition. She was taken to William Beaumont Hospital for examination.

Patrolman Edward McDaniel of Oak Park Police said Susan was found by a motorist, Burt Schultz, of 19027 Heyden, Detroit.

Schultz said he saw the tiny 14 year-old Mumford High School freshman sitting in a field along the road.

McDaniel said when the girl was brought into the station she was scratched and her dress was torn. Her shoes were missing.

Schultz took officers to where the girl was found on 9-Mile Road, west of Greenfield.

New York Times Education Editor

Name Assistant to Varner

Appointment of Loren B. Pope, education editor of the New York Times, as assistant to Michigan State University Oakland Chancellor D. B. Varner will be recommended to the MSU Board of Trustees next Thursday.

Pope has served as the Times' education editor for the past two years.

At MSUO, as assistant to Varner, he will be given the responsibility of developing a course in "Great Issues" which every student will be required to take.

"The course will deal with great issues which have always confronted man," Varner said, in announcing his recommendation. "Searching and persistent questions dealing with religion, freedom, peace and war, will be probed.

"Mr. Pope's wide background in national and international affairs, and in the field of education make him eminently qualified for this post.

Before he joined the New York Times staff, Pope served as Washington Bureau chief and education columnist for the Gannett newspaper chain from 1955-58.

A graduate of DePauw University (Greencastle, Ind.), Pope entered the newspaper field in 1933 as correspondent for a group of Midwest newspapers, and in 1935 joined the Washington Post as assistant sports editor.

From 1936 to 1945, he was employed by the Washington Evening Star, holding the positions of copy editor, assistant foreign editor, assistant city editor, state editor and national news editor.

GOT CITATIONS

While on the Star he received three citations, chief of which was for getting out "Extra" editions of the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Although the first news flash of the President's death came after his paper went to press, the Star, because of his efforts, became the first paper in the nation's capital to hit the streets with the news.

In 1945 he accepted as a position as news editor of the Washington station of the Mutual Broadcasting System and also authored a news program for General Electric until 1949.

From 1949 until he joined the Gannett newspaper chain in 1955, Pope worked as a free-lance writer and operator of a 360-acre cattle ranch in Loudon County, Va.

For three years, Pope was president of the Loudon County PTA and headed a drive for a new county high school, and Community Chest and polio campaigns.

He was offered the presidency of the Mellon Old Dominion Foundation's Loudon Community College but did not accept the post.

He is the author of a book about the coal industry and has contributed numerous articles to leading national magazines.

He received his elementary and high school education at Falls Church, Va., Eau Clair, Wis., and Washington, D. C.

At DePauw University, Pope was a Rector Scholar, varsity football captain and a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Pope was born July 13, 1910 in Minneapolis, Minn. He married his wife, Charlotte, in April, 1935, and has two children — his son, Loren Jr. 17, and a daughter, Penelope, 16.

His appointment will be effective as of July 1.

Varner said he was delighted by Pope's acceptance of the MSUO job.

"Besides his great wealth of knowledge and experience, he is a delightful and down-to-earth person," the chancellor stated.

"He'll be a valuable member of the central administration team at MSUO."

State Introduces One of the Four Defendants' Admission of Guilt

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The state scored a major point today when it succeeded in introducing an admission of guilt in the trial of four white youths accused of raping a Negro coed.

State Atty. William D. Hopkins succeeded in putting into evidence over strenuous defense objections the first of four purported confessions obtained from the defendants.

Defense attorneys protested in vain that reading of the statements to the jury would deprive their clients of their constitutional rights.

The point came up at the start of the third day of the trial as the state headed toward conclusion of its case.

YOUNGEST DEFENDANT

First alleged confession put into evidence was that of 16-year-old Ollie Stoutamire, youngest of the defendants.

Other defendants are Willion F. Collinsworth, 23, Patrick W. Scarbrough, 20, and David E. Beagles, 18.

Stoutamire's attorney, John Rudd, protested that Stoutamire was sleepy and drunk at the time and that Hopkins and Deputy Sheriff W. W. Slappey extracted

140 Total After 36 Holes

Gary Player Fires 69 for U.S. Open Lead

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

MAMARONECK, N.Y. — Despite a double bogey on the 17th hole, Gary Player, of Johannesburg, South Africa, turned in a one-under-par 69 today for a 140 total to take an early lead in the second round of the National Open golf tournament at Winged Foot Golf Club.

Player moved along at a four-under-par clip after 14 holes, but he then got a bogey five on 15 and a double-bogey six on 17 to erase what would have been the best round of the tourney.

He trapped his second shot on 17, blasted over the green and had to pitch on before two-putting.

Sam Snead, playing in the same foursome, went out in 38 and came in with 34 for a 72 to add to his 73 of yesterday, qualifying him for the finals with a 36-hole total of 145.

Pontiac's Gene Bone, who yesterday had a 72, started well today but blew up on the par five fifth hole for a bogey six and he never recovered. He shot an 80 for a 152 total to be eliminated.

Chick Harbert of Meadowbrook had one of his typical hot rounds. After a 78 yesterday, he sizzled with a 68 today and was assured a spot in the finals with a 146 total.

Gene Littler, who was tied with Ben Hogan and Dow Finsterwald for the lead yesterday at 69, faltered to a 74 today. Hogan and Finsterwald had later tee-off times.

Michigan amateur Glenn Johnson fell out of the finals after turning in an 80 today for a 154 total as did Toledo pro Lee Raymond who had 81-77—158.

Train Station Bomb Hurts 38 in Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Police today hunted a "mad bomber" in the wake of an explosion which shattered a rapid transit train station 30 feet above a busy Boston intersection Thursday.

Thirty-eight persons were injured, three seriously, in the blast which investigators said was caused by a home-made bomb planted in a public coin locker.

High police officials said the bombing apparently was the work of a lunatic, bent on destruction.

A huge police detail under Capt. Joseph B. Fallon, head of the homicide squad, was assigned the job of learning his identity.

Investigators said the bomb went off with the explosive force of a

500-pound Air Force bomb of World War II.

The blast blew apart the big 58-year-old pagoda-type waiting room on the elevated station of the Metropolitan Rapid Transit Authority.

It caught several persons within the waiting room and on the outdoor station platform. Some of them were blown 30 feet to busy Canal and Causeway streets below.

Six were injured as they sat in a train approaching the station. The blast stopped the train 20 feet away.

Others were injured on the street below—by the terrific concussion and flying debris.

Acts to Bolster City's Planning

Willman Picks Director for New Post Ahead of Urban Renewal Start

Steps to strengthen Pontiac's planning potential in the face of the upcoming urban renewal project were announced today by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Willman disclosed that a new administrative post has been created — director of planning, which will be filled Monday by James L. Bates, youthful senior planner for the Detroit Planning Commission.

The planning position will be on the department head level, said Willman, with Bates stepping into it at an initial salary of $8,320 annually.

Funds to cover the salary this year will be drawn from the federally-appropriated urban renewal planning budget and already-budgeted moneys for the city's planning department, said Willman.

SINCE GRADUATION

Bates, 27, has been with the Detroit plan commission since his 1954 graduation from Michigan State University as an urban planning specialist.

In Detroit, Bates concentrated on urban renewal, expressways and master planning.

The new Pontiac official worked on a master plan for the City of Alma six years ago and is presently completing work for a master's degree in city planning at Wayne State University.

County Workers Will Be Hired for Courthouse

A spokesman for the J. A. Fredman, Inc., Pontiac construction company, said it is the policy of the company to hire workers from the area in which the project is taking place.

"I can think of no one who will work on the Oakland County courthouse who will not be from the county," said Donald J. Fredman of Birmingham, expeditor for the company.

"In counties other than Oakland we try to hire a large percentage of men from the county in which the project is situated," Fredman said.

He made the statements in reply to a letter in The Press' Voice of the People column in which a reader stated that "if you will look at his (Fredman's) other jobs, you will find about 90 per cent of his men are from other states."

Pontiac Officer Gets Probation

Jess W. Quick Given Sentence in Gambling Conspiracy Charge

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams today placed former Pontiac policeman Jess W. Quick on three years probation for his part in a gambling conspiracy plot.

Judge Adams also handed out the same probation terms to two other men involved in the plot, Charles B. Johnson, 58, of 26 W. Kennett Rd., and Lealon S. Karnes, 64, of 822½ Baldwin Ave.

The judge also assessed each with $250 court costs.

In announcing the probation term to Quick, 44, of 503 E. Beverly Ave., Judge Adams said: "I have confidence that this will be the end of your criminal activities."

He also pointed out Quick's "good record as a police officer, for which you received at least one citation for meritorious conduct, and also a record as a good citizen."

All three men pleaded guilty May 26 to conspiracy to obstruct justice. Then, a higher charge of bribery against them was dismissed by the Prosecutor's Office.

Quick, a police office with a flawless record for 14 years before he was dismissed following his arrest last September, was accused of taking $122 from Johnson, alleged operator of a gambling house in Pontiac, to turn over to a Pontiac vice squad officer for advance information as to when the game was to be raided by police.

Karnes was named as a codefendant when he refused to testify against Quick. The card game allegedly took place in Karnes' home.

Outside Judge Adams' courtroom, Quick said he was "very glad" with the sentence. "This is a big load off my mind," said Quick.

Storm Smashes Trees, Windows in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A heavy thunderstorm with winds up to 80 miles an hour swept through the Kansas City metropolitan area Thursday. It smashed windows, uprooted trees and left more than 50,000 places without electricity.

Hail one to two inches in diameter fell at nearby Excelsior Springs, Mo. A 12-year-old girl was knocked unconscious when a sign was blown down near the downtown area.

The Kansas City Power and Light Co. said its 400 repairmen would have to work all night to repair the damage.

Trees were down all over the area and many of the suburban sections were littered with debris from blown limbs.

The temperature dropped from 91 degrees at 3 p. m. to 67 at five o'clock.

More wet weather appeared on tap for broad areas of the country today, promising a little temporary relief from the June heat wave.

But no general immediate breakup of the season's longest spell of hot and humid weather was indicated.

Turtle Stops Traffic, Lands in Dog Pound

A turtle, named Hermantha, stopped traffic on the corner of Lakepark and Oak streets in Birmingham yesterday.

A police radar crew, possessing all the intricate equipment for trapping speeders was baffled at how to curb this new violation.

Finally the police called the dog catcher to remove their problem.

When dog warden Al Sundell, 36, arrived at the scene, he dubbed the wandering animal Herman.

He found the 17-inch snapper waddling along, apparently on its way somewhere from Quarton Lake which is nearby.

Sundell drove Herman to the dog pound.

On arrival, he looked in the back of the truck and found Herman and two eggs. A change was in order.

Heman is now Hermantha.

of the Barton study for an improved network of Pontiac arterial roads will be the immediate jobs Pontiac's stepped-up planning division will tackle, said Willman, with emphasis on urban renewal.

City Hall planners will be faced with an unparalleled work load when the $4 million project gets under way early next year, he said.

Planning work is mounting he said, as preliminary plans are assembled for submission to the Urban Renewal Administration this fall for approval of a $1,600,000 grant to finance the project.

The project involves skid-row clearance on downtown S. Saginaw street, Civic Center expansion and protection of the near southwest residential neighborhood from slum conditions.

Bates' initial staff will consist of Henry Smith, planning technician, and Ernest Ethier, urban renewal specialist, but more staff members may be added later, said Willman.

The planning department will also be called on to come up with some long-range plans which the city has never had, said Willman.

These include schemes for industrial parks, recreation areas, and location of future public buildings, such as fire halls, branch libraries and schools.

It is possible that changes in the city's master plan and zoning map may come about as a result of the strengthened planning division, Willman said.

Willman said that the new emphasis on the city's own planning division has been contemplated for several years and may result in economies in the urban renewal program.

For instance, costs for outside consultants will be trimmed, he said. The costs for services from Geer Associates of Birmingham have been running about $10,000 a year.

The company was retained two years ago to work on urban renewal and the civic center. It will still be retained, but without so much work, Willman said.

Another savings will be within City Hall, Willman said.

"We want to avoid expensive creation of an urban renewal department to plan and administer the project," he explained.

With the planning department now scheduled to handle most of the drawing board work, the job of administering the project will remain in the lap of Robert A. Steirer, assistant city manager, Willman said.

Coordinator of the project the past two years, Stierer was recently given a $1,200 boost in salary for his added duties.

Can't Decide Controls on Legal Oklahoma Booze

Liquor Keeps Lawmakers in the Heat

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Oklahoma Legislature is setting a new record every day it meets. And it's still sailing along loudly under a brisk wind.

Never before has the Legislature stayed at the nonair-conditioned capitol so late in the spring.

The 23rd week of the 27th session ends Saturday and it may go three more weeks.

Legislators have been so busy sniffing at legal liquor they haven't got around to providing money to run the state the next two fiscal years.

Four months ago the Legislature, prodded by young Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, called an election on ending Oklahoma's 51 years of prohibition.

Repeal was adopted April 7. Since that time the House and Senate have been trying to decide how big a liquor tax should be, whether liquor ads are really bad and if it's all right to drink in public.

So tight were proposed restrictions on drinking, one rural lawmaker complained he'd have to go to a privy to get drunk. The restrictions have been eased, but the bill still is hanging fire.

Adenauer-Chief Truce Collapses

West Germany's Erhard Near Open Rebellion Against Top Man

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Ludwig Erhard's brief truce with Konrad Adenauer broke down today. The dynamic economics minister appeared on the verge of open rebellion against the old chancellor in a battle for the leadership of West Germany.

The feud started when Adenauer suddenly announced he would retain the chancellorship instead of taking the lesser job of president. Erhard, expecting to succeed Adenauer as chancellor, was angry at the unexpected reversal.

Erhard supporters circulated a paper purporting to show Adenauer had misrepresented events leading to his decision to remain as head of the government. Erhard himself was expected to give Parliament his own version of the feud today.

It was the first serious challenge to Adenauer in the 10 years he has guided West Germany from a crushed dictatorship to a bastion of democracy and a world political power.

And it came from the man most credited with rebuilding the country into a major economic force in the world.

Erhard had been given the best chance of becoming chancellor in the event the 83-year-old Adenauer ran for president.

raise over the previous scale. After 10 years, the same teacher will get $6,800. Previously, he would have received only $6,500 after the same period.

All other training levels start with $100 increases, also.

A master's degree teacher now gets $4,650 to start, $7,090 after 10 years. He used to get $6,850 after 10 years.

A teacher with 30 hours' credit past the master degree starts at $4,850 and after 10 years gets $7,400 compared to the previous $7,050.

The man who has his doctorate now starts at $5,050 and after 10 years gets $7,720 as opposed to $7,250.

These hikes amount to approximately 50 per cent salary increases for teachers in all training levels after 10 years.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, explained the goals of the adopted pay structure to the teachers present at the meeting.

"The minimum salaries have been increased by $100 to improve our competitive position for new teachers. Maximum salaries have been increased more than minimums to continue the trend of several years to achieve maximum salaries that improve the economic position of career teachers."

Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of personnel, said, "We still are immobilized in our efforts to hire new teachers," and acknowledged with other Board members that many will go to other school systems that "start higher."

The statements followed an announcement by Whitmer that "our raise increase for teachers won't bring us up to the median of the area." Pontiac has been ranked 39th in teacher salaries out of 52 competing school systems in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Board President Glenn Griffin told teachers' representatives, "This is the best we could do. We hope it is accepted with satisfaction."

the statement from him under a threat he might get the electric chair.

He also said his client had the intelligence of only a nine-year-old and didn't understand what he was doing.

Rape is a capital offense in Florida but no white man ever has been electrocuted for raping a Negro.

Slappey, who was on the stand at the time testified that Stoutamire was sober and alert and that Hopkins warned him fully of his constitutional rights to refuse to give the statement.

The officer said that while the youth may have had a drink during the evening he was cold sober at the time.

The statement was taken at the city jail about 4:30 a. m., some two hours after his arrest.

CHIN UP — This little Piper Cub plane bit off more than it could chew when it ran out of control and tangled with the prop of this big DC3 at the Atlanta, Ga., airport. The owner of the Cub got a youth to sit at the controls while he hand-cranked the plane, because of a dead battery. When the motor started, the youth lost control as the plane shot forward, and into the prop of the DC3. The youth was uninjured.

Model Plane Contest Set

The Pontiac Exchange Club is looking for aeronautic-minded youths in the Pontiac area for entry in the Michigan Exchange Clubs Model Airplane Contest.

A first place finish in the meet would mean a trip to the National Model Airplane Championships in Los Alamitos, Calif., July 27 to Aug. 2.

The state contest will be held all day Sunday, June 21, at the Ford Test Track, Dearborn. More than 300 contestants from the state will compete for first, second and third place trophies in over 25 events.

The contest will be open to gas, jet, and rubber-powered planes in speed, stunt, free flight, combat, radio controlled and PAA load events.

Contests will be run in three classes: junior, under 16 years of age; senior, 16-20 years; and open, 21 or over.

The Exchange Clubs Council of Metropolitan Detroit is the sponsor, with co-sponsors including the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation, Pan American World Airways, Civil Air Patrol, Ford Motor Co., and the Detroit News.

Deadline for local applications is midnight June 17, according to Floyd Temple, of 162 Beach St., local chairman.

Application forms may be obtained from any club member or by contacting Temple.

4 Yellow Jacket Stings Fatal Within Minutes

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A member of a surveying party died here Thursday minutes after he suffered four yellow jacket stings.

N. C. Rudd, head of the party surveying a lake, said that Thomas Benton, 39-year-old Negro, was stung, went to a creek, washed his arms and then complained he felt sick. He was unconscious when an ambulance arrived and was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Magnetic Amplifiers Have Become Big Business in Quick Time

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The big race in the space age and the jet age is between the United States and Russia. But there are little races today within the big race. And one is between the vacuum tube, the transistor and the magnetic amplifier.

All three industries are growing. New uses are being found for each. And sometimes the devices team up on a job. They are used as aids to automation and for providing central systems, guidance and checkout equipment for missies, conventional and jet aircraft, atomic submarines, nuclear power installations and industrial controls.

Let's look only at the development of the amplifier, which has mushroomed, largely since 1950, into an industry with annual sales of 125 million dollars, divided among 150 manufacturers.

The missile, the jet, and the mechanical brain get the credit.

The magnetic amplifier is a solid state or static device designed to control a large amount of power with a small quantity of electric current. It has a sturable core—ring or rings of nickel-iron alloy or metal oxide compositions—with separate windings of copper wire for AC and DC current affecting the magnetic qualities of the core. A typical component is six by four by four inches.

Among major producers are Westinghouse, General Electric, Vickers and Magnetic Amplifiers Inc. They entered the field from 1950 through 1952.

Advantages claimed for the magnetic amplifiers are: No moving parts, no glass envelopes to break or filaments to burn out, resistance to extreme high or low temperatures, isolated input and output circuits, no warm-up time, and a life expectancy of 10 years.

Germany got the jump on other nations in the 1930s with development of the nickel-iron alloy core. This baffled Allied Naval forces for a time in World War II, because attacks against the German cruiser Gneisenau had virtually no effect on its gun controls and steering mechanism. Similar punishment seriously disabled Allied craft.

The United States used the amplifiers extensively in the Korean war. Magnetic amplifiers are now generally known and employed abroad as well as here. A few examples: Controlling power supply in the Netherlands; rolling mill drives in British steel mills; German computing machines and electric brakes for trucks and locomotives.

Military use here is widespread. Magnetic Amplifiers Inc., whose sales have risen from $89,114 in 1951 to $2,300,000 in 1958, says its products are used in Polaris, Atlas, Mace and Jupiter missiles, in nuclear submarines and in military jet planes.

In industry its products are used in the Shippingport, Pa., atomic power energy project, in various automation programs, and inproviding magnetic amplifier controls for various industries.

Among civilian uses are controls for furnaces, heavy newsprint stock-feed rolls, close regulation in electroplating, heating control in milk pasteurization, rolling steel, and regulating speed of radiator fans in diesel locomotives to maintain optimum water temperatures. Sawmills use the devices on their log carriage drives. Magnetic amplifiers also regulate voltage for charging batteries in automatic photocell controls. In automation they work like the human nervous system, or supplant it, in quick control decisions.

Crowded Schedule for July 9 Chicago Visit

Here's the Itinerary for Queen, Philip

OTTAWA (AP)—Queen Elizabeth's visit to Chicago July 6 will include trips to the International Trade Fair, the Museum of Science and Industry, and the Art Institute, royal tour planners announced today.

The Queen and Prince Philip will spend 13 hours in Chicago, arriving at 10 a.m. CDT on the royal yacht Britannia and leaving at 11 p.m. aboard the yacht.

The visit, apart from a state procession through Chicago streets, will include a luncheon given by Gov. William G. Stratton and a dinner given by Chicago's mayor, Richard J. Daley.

The Queen will be accompanied by Canada's prime minister, John Diefenbaker, and Mrs. Diefenbaker.

From the seaway entrance at St. Lambert Lock at Montreal, the yacht will carry the royal travelers to Toronto, arriving there Monday, June 29.

The Britannia will cross the international boundary at St. Regis, Que., on the morning of Saturday, June 27. Later in the day, as the yacht sails from the United States seaway locks opposite Cornwall to Iroquois, Ont., the Queen will travel by highway along the Canadian side of the river. The yacht will anchor off Brockville, Ont., overnight.

CRUISE TO TORONTO

Next day the Britannia will pass under the Thousand Islands Bridge at noon, anchor off Kingston for 3½ hours in late afternoon and then make an overnight cruise to Toronto.

July 1, while the Queen and Prince Philip are visiting Ottawa, the Britannia will pass through the Welland Canal. At Windsor, the royal visitors will embark again the next day.

The yacht will stop at Sarnia Friday, July 3, and the next day at Penetanguishene and Parry Sound, Ont.

Sunday noon, July 5, it will pass under Mackinac Bridge, entrance to Lake Michigan, and arrive next morning at Chicago for the one-day visit.

Traveling from there to Port Arthur, Ont., the yacht will pass through MacArthur Lock at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Wednesday, July 8, and arrive next morning at Lakehead.

While the Queen heads westward, the Britannia will travel back through the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River to Shediac, where the Queen and Prince Philip will embark Wednesday, July 29.

Today's announcement said the schedule of the downbound voyage through the seaway may be varied because of weather conditions, but this is the present timetable:

Leave Port Arthur July 10; transit the Sault Ste. Marie locks July 11; pass Windsor and Detroit July 12; pass through Welland Canal July 13, and leave Hamilton July 16 after a 3-day stay there.

The royal yacht will spend July 18-24 at Montreal and July 25-27 at Murray Bay, Que., before anchoring at Shediac July 28.

Federal Tax Collector Doesn't Like State Tax

TEANECK, N. J. (UPI) — Tax collectors don't necessarily enjoy paying taxes either.

On retiring from the Internal Revenue Service after 40 years, Richard D. Donoghue, Assistant Regional Commissioner for New York, declared: "I don't mind federal taxes but I certainly hate paying that New York State income tax."

Residents of New Jersey and all other states must pay taxes to New York on income earned in the state.

60-Year-Old Parrot Doesn't Like Kaiser

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Isabel Riffe asked her parrot, Joe, if he remembered the late Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany.

"Down with the Kaiser," screamed Joe.

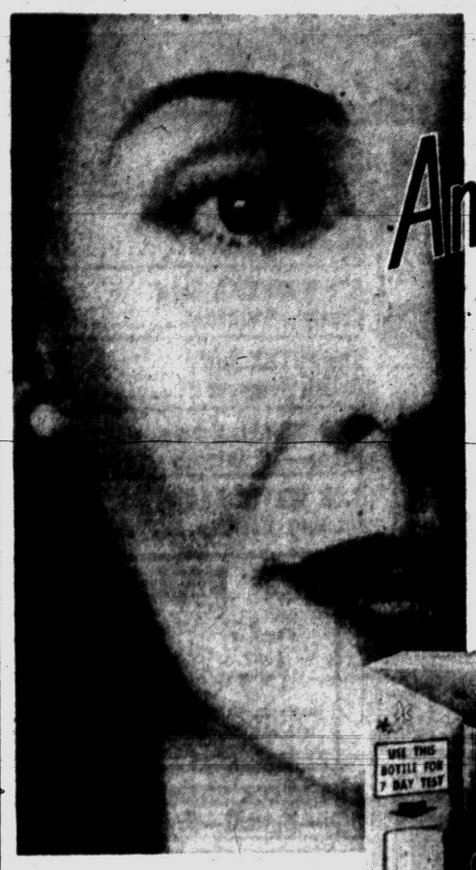

"He's been doing that since World War I," giggled Mrs. Riffe, herself 94. "His dislike for the Kaiser was picked up around our house during the first war."

She hasn't told him about the Russians. "He's too old to worry about them now," she said. Joe has been with the Riffe's for 60 years.

Theft Informed Police One Direction Was Out

MURDO, S. D. (UPI) — Officers knew one place the bandits who burglarized the Murdo Pool Hall were not heading for: Canada.

They took $120 in U. S. money from the cash register and a safe, but left behind a considerable amount of Canadian coins.

Farmer's Wife Finds Worms to Be Profitable

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — Wanna buy a worm? A Bucks County farm wife will sell you 2,000 of them for $8.

Six years ago, Mrs. Mabel Brinker had a garbage disposal problem which she decided to solve by obtaining a colony of red worms. She put them in a box in the cellar of her home at Cross Keys, fed them garbage and watched them multiply — three times in three months.

Word that Mrs. Brinker owned several thousand worms got around to nearby youngsters, who asked for some to go fishing. From there, the word spread to several sporting goods stores and Mrs. Brinker was in business. Last year, she sold more than 100,000 of the worms to sports shops.

Counting out the worms for sale isn't much of a problem for Mrs. Brinker. Her 11-year-old grandson, Robert Cosner, does the job for spending money.

And what does her husband, Lester, think of the whole thing? Well, he's the one who tacked up a sign in front of their home which reads "Brinker's Wiggly Waggly Worm Farm."

Comic Book Receives National Safety Award

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Safety Council has given its Public Interest Award to a comic book.

The book, "Tommy Gets the Keys," is distributed by B. F. Goodrich Co. The 32-page cartoon booklet is designed to "train the would-be teenage drivers before he gets the keys to the car," company officials say.

More than six million copies of the booklet have been distributed since it was introduced in 1954.

Chivalry Doesn't Pay

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — If the age of chivalry is truly dead, David Hollenbeck, 12, knows why. While walking by a neighbor's house, David saw a little girl drop a toy from the porch. He picked it up and handed it to the youngster. As he did so, the girl's pet monkey bit his hand.

Invited to Join Ben Franklin in Kite Venture

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Next Monday is the anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's experiment with the kite, and it reminds me of all the people I'd like to tell to go fly one. . .

Like the hostesses who eternally separate husbands and wives, and men and sweethearts, at the dinner table. They presume you'd rather small-talk with a stranger than eat in the easy company of the mate you selected. Nonsense and dyspepsia.

Some American men are accusing the American women of becoming amazons. Foolishness. The amazons permitted only female children to survive. American women are repelled at this idea. Who's left to dominate?

People who inquire "Hot enough for you?" should go back in the elevator among all those friends they've long time no seen.

I am eternally frustrated by lady telephone operators for corporations who take the name of your party and, just before they plug you in, give you only half the news . . . "I was shocked when Jim . . ."

People who drop in, in the middle of "Perry Mason," should require his services.

Women who insist on straightening out everyone's affairs will never have one of their own.

Men who are always right deserve a sparring match with one wronged woman.

Children under 12 who act "beat" should be.

Mothers who constantly coddle their children are producing watered-down eggs.

Fathers who leave the decisions entirely to mother are just producing. That's all. No ideas, no solutions, Just small people.

Marty Rankin started out as a delivery boy for a men's milliner. He used to deliver hats to Damon Runyon.

Runyon was a nice guy, and he felt sorry — either that or prescient — about this little black-haired New York kid. He gave him $5 a week to go to school between jobs.

Marty advanced, under Runyon's aegus, to copy boy for the New York Mirror, Believe it or not, he advanced from there to a promotion job with Robert L. Ripley.

And one day, when Marty was about 20, he was in Lindy's making eagerly with a cheesecake.

"A guy comes in," he recalled today, "and says I'm going to Hollywood. I sold a story to the movies for 2,500 bucks and they're going to pay me $200 a week." Marty was impressed. "I knew he wasn't too bright, this guy, so I went too."

Now MISTER Martin Rankih is coming out with his first self-written and produced movie, called "The Horse Soldiers."

Said to have paid the highest salaries in history to Bill Holden and John Wayne, its stars. He's rollin' in it.

Even Ripley wouldn't have believed a Runyon character like this!

Russia Gains in Capitalism

Doolittle, After Tour, Asserts Western Ideas Growing There

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — Seventeen days in the Soviet Union have convinced James Doolittle that the Russians are moving gradually toward Western ideas of capitalism.

Doolittle believes that trade with the Soviet Union is desirable as long as it is restricted to items that will not give them military advantage.

The same travel period has persuaded a prominent U.S. business leader, Frederick C. Crawford of Cleveland, that the Russians have done fairly well and have progressed "because they have made everyone work."

Doolittle, board chairman of Space Technology Laboratories, Santa Monica, Calif., and Crawford, chairman of Thompson Ramo Wooldridge, were amng more than 40 American members of the International Aeronautic Federation who followed a week's conference in Moscow with tours of the Soviet Union.

Their travels in separate groups took some of them as far east as Irkutsk, west to Odessa near the Romanian border, south to Ala Ata and Tashkent, and north to Leningrad. Everywhere they met friendliness and constant repetition of the theme that all must work for world peace.

A third of the Soviet Union—the parts presumably containing the most important military centers—is closed to foreigners. But from what he was permitted to see, Doolittle concludes that basic Soviet policies would have to be changed to make possible real cooperation between East and West. He lists them as the Soviet objectives of world communization and world domination, and the communist law of expediency under which the ends justify the means.

Doolittle says the Russians appear to be approaching closer to the Western idea of capitalism, as evidenced in their collective farms where private ownership of furniture, automobiles and the like is permitted.

Crawford says he was particularly impressed with the way the Soviets have stressed the importance of foreign language training.

He says that one of the best things in the Soviet Union has been the spreading of education.

A Day With a Deeper Meaning

The observance of Flag Day on June 14 accumulates a greater depth of significance with the succeeding years.

Our flag means more to us, as a heritage is built around what it represents.

We should better appreciate its meaning as that heritage is threatened.

It is more than a symbol that we never have lost a war.

Its greatest respect and admiration should be in the hope that what it signifies should outlaw all wars.

Rightfully called "Old Glory," it has accumulated a background and intent that means more than mere glory.

This should cause us to pause and reflect.

The patriotism that has gone into the creation of that glorified meaning would be in vain if the present and future generations did not realize that the greatest meaning of the flag rests in what it assures for the oncoming years.

As it brilliantly billows in the breeze, think of the untold millions in the world who haven't a flag with its heritage and future.

Nearly every home has a suitable flag. We simply overlook the date when we are requested to emphasize it, to accentuate its meaning, and to display our pride in the fact that we are privileged to live under it.

The number of stars that happens to be in your flag doesn't matter. Display it Sunday. You'll feel better and more satisfied with yourself that you did.

Here in Pontiac and our city's environs it is hoped that this Sunday will see a more general display of the national emblem than ever before on a Flag Day.

Few Basic Rules Make Boating Better for All

With our boating season going full tilt, the biggest hazard is the novice out to show off for his friends. Our inland lakes are fast becoming crowded and congested, and boat owners must remember they are not alone on the lake.

Like driving a car, there are certain basic rules that apply and all boat enthusiasts should be cognizant of correct operating procedure.

In a recent article on boating Life magazine listed some of the more important rules which follow:

MEETING: When two motorboats meet head on, both should bear to starboard, i.e., right.

OVERTAKING: the overtaking motorboat must keep clear of the boat ahead, but no boat should hog the center of a narrow channel.

CROSSING: When two motorboats cross courses, the boat which has the other on its port, i.e., left side, has the right of way.

FISHING BOATS: Motorboats should stay clear of all fishing craft.

SAILBOATS: A motorboat must stay clear of a sailboat unless the sailboat is overtaking it.

SWIMMERS: Motorboats should operate at dead slow near anyone in the water.

WASH: Novices commonly disregard the effects of their bow and stern waves on other boats. It is discourteous and dangerous to speed near wharves, fishing boats or sailboats, particularly in light breezes. Courts usually hold an owner liable for the damage his wake causes.

OVERLOADING: Landlubbers often overload boats with too much horsepower and too many friends. High-powered speeding can break up a small boat and waves may swamp an overloaded one.

QUIET: Noise carries a long way over water. At an anchorage in the evening, boatsmen should respect those who prefer the sound of rippling waves to loud human or radio voices.

Boating can and should be fun, and it is not asking too much to follow a few simple precautions. Remember, most lakes are public property and everyone has a right to enjoy his or her particular sport in the water.

The Man About Town

We're Grumblers

And Complain About the Weather that We Sought

Junket: The net results of which often is found in its first syllable.

There's considerable for reflection in a letter from

of Waterford, who asks "Why doesn't your column give the double raspberry to the numerous cynics who complain about the weather? Each winter is claimed by them to be the worst ever, and they long for summer which, when it comes, is put in the same category as the winter, for which they again hanker. Any season in the Pontiac vicinity is beautiful, if they'd dress for it, eat for it, drink for it, act for it and live for it."

According to Executive Secretary

John Hirlinger,

the annual frolic of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, always a top joy fest, is to be at Pontiac Country Club on July 29. So here's plenty of advance notice.

One of the five Oakland County women who have passed the century mark,

Mrs. Adell Richardson,

whose funeral is on Saturday, was a life optimist. On her 100th birthday, three years ago, she told me that her greatest ambition was to live "until we have no more wars."

The first girl in the Burke family in 72 years has been born to

Mr. and Mrs. William Burke of 833 Sarasota Ave. In three generations 11 boys have been born. The only survivor of her generation is

Mrs. Anne Burke Johnston,

If somebody will supply the rock, the Pontiac area is growing the rye in tall quantities, as of Rochester reports some of the latter that tops six feet.

"I may be crazy with the heat," phones

Franklin Ostendorf

of Birmingham, "but I'm ready to shoot on sight the first guy who claims he fried an egg on the sidewalk."

"These blue jays are wise birds," reports

Mrs. Mayme Apperton

of Waterford. She says a pair who have been living around her premises for several years have lately been making a big fuss. She thinks it is because she isn't raising any sunflowers this year.

An oriental poppy with 72 flowers and buds is reported by

Mrs. James Headlee

of Rochester, growing in her garden.

"It's One Thing to Talk Safe Driving—

David Lawrence Says:

English Politics Similar to U.S.

LONDON — There's an extraordinary parallel between the political situation ni Great Britain and in the United States.

Conservative governments with a liberal flavor are in power in both countries, and both face a general election soon.

LAWRENCE

No outstanding issues have yet appeared in either country, though the nature of the running attack on the incumbent party in both Britain and America is very much the same.

Thus, the British Socialist Labor Party has been trying to capitalize on the unemployment situation, just as the Democratic party has in the United States.

But, fortunately, the two countries are emerging from the recent recession, and it looks like a boom ahead for both. Spotty areas of unemployment still exist, but the drop in the jobless figure in Britain has also been very sharp in recent weeks.

On the whole, the improvement of the standard of living here has been such that the conservative government headed by Prime Minister Macmillan, is already borrowing for the stump an American political slogan of yesteryears: "You never had it so good."

EMOTIONAL ISSUES

Political trends in Britain as well as in the United States are primarily affected by economic contentment or discontent or by emotional issues, particularly those related to war or peace.

That's why there has been pressure in this country for an agreement with the Soviets to suspend nuclear tests and a considerable demand for a "summit" meeting. The drive for these two things is associated in the public mind with progress toward peace.

Indeed, there is noticeable here an almost pacifistic sentiment which doesn't appear to have reasoned very deeply that such a manifestation could in itself mislead a potential adversary into a wrong move which might bring on a war.

Oddly enough, the pressure for a "summit" conference comes as persistently from the opposition party here as it does from the Democrats in the United States.

The politicians have not forgotten that "peace and prosperity" can work for either political party if somehow the public can be convinced that the credit for achieving it lies with the champions of that doctrine and that the blame for frustrating the objective belongs to the opposite party.

'NOT AS CAPABLE'

Actually, there isn't any evidence yet that the parties in Britain have crystallized their viewpoint on political issues. For the present the opposition here, as in America, contents itself with efforts to make it appear that the party in power isn't really as capable as are the folks who are trying to get into office.

The suggestion heard in governmental circles here is that, if the Socialist Labor Party really backs the idea of "unilateral" suspension of nuclear tests, the country will be persuaded to believe that it cannot entrust the reins of power to any government with such a concept of national duty.

The conservatives would be quick to take advantage of the split in the Socialist Labor Party ranks. For the more responsible elements in that party are as bitterly opposed to any "unilateral" action as anybody in the present government.

There can be no doubt that a conservative trend has developed here in Britain and that the British people have veered away from the "nationalization" concepts on which the Socialist Labor Party has campaigned in past elections. The leaders of that party talk less and less of socialization schemes, because they know that the confusion which resulted in such industries as were nationalized has been widely publicized.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that obeyeth the voice of his servant, that walketh in darkness, and hath no light? Let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay upon his God.—Isaiah 50:10.

So I go on, not knowing. I would not if I might;
I would rather walk with God in the dark, than to go alone in the light.
—Mary G. Brainard.

Smiles

No matter what kind of work you're in, step on it and you'll make a much better impression.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Specialists a Bit Confused on Diathermy Treatment

A Wichita reader writes:

"You advocate diathermy" (electro-coagulation) "treatment of infected tonsils. When I was a child my tonsils were removed by surgery. However they became enlarged and I was subject to repeated attacks of quinsy sore throat.

"Several doctors urged tonsillectomy, but I demurred at this. Two years ago a relative (who is a specialist in another field) referred me to an ear, nose and throat specialist who patiently and gently treated my throat with diathermy for nearly a year. Over this period I gained 21 pounds of much needed weight.

"A year ago we left California and came to Kansas to live. I have had no trouble since the diathermy treatment of my throat. Recently I accompanied my husband to the office of an eye man who specializes in ear, nose and throat. Out of curiosity I asked the doctor if it were possible to treat tonsils effectively by electro-coagulation. He literally threw up his hands and said 'Of course not!'

"When I informed him that I had received diathermy treatment he insisted on examining my throat. When he had done so he said, '(Mrs. ——)'

Uh-huh. I know.

A lady I know had a similar experience. She had received effective diathermy treatment for infected tonsils and some years later went to an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist for refraction. While he was examining her eyes she mentioned that a doctor in the east had given her diathermy treatment for infected tonsils. So the "all-round specialist" looked at her throat and remarked, "But, my dear lady, you still have your tonsils!" as though he expected she would be flabbergasted. Instead, she decided right there to have no further truck with him.

These all-around specialists labor under the misapprehension that diathermy (electro-coagulation, electro-desiccation) purports to "remove" tonsils, perhaps by "burning" them out. It doesn't. It merely sterilizes, disinfects or pasteurizes isolated or limited areas or foci of infection in the tonsils—without disturbing or damaging the surrounding normal tonsil tissue.

No wonder both ladies were annoyed by the braying of their all-around specialists.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-alddressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Shy? Try This H-E-L-P Formula

Ted's case should strike home to millions of smart men and women who are duds at carrying on spritely conversation. So study this case carefully and memorize the "H-E-L-P" formula. And send for the booklet mentioned below which I used with my psychology students at Northwestern University.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-459: Ted G., aged 20, a brilliant engineering student.

"But, Dr. Crane," he began mournfully, "I am a dummy when on a date.

"I don't know what to talk about, except nuclear fission and rockets and other engineering subjects.

CRANE

"But the coeds don't know a thing about what I am saying so they are glad to get rid of me.

"I seldom rate a second date. At first, I decided girls were just stupid but I have followed your column long enough to decide that snap judgement is just a neat little means of passing the buck and avoiding blame for my own poor conversational skill.

"So what can I do to become an interesting conversationalist?"

CHIT CHAT CHAMP

If you want to be popular and make people like you, then learn the art of being a "chit chat champ."

That means you must know enough to start a conversation, but then listen to the other person's chatter.

And the best way to launch jolly repartee is to ask a question. Fade out with the interrogation mark (?), for it is shaped like a fishhook and simply hooks the other person's attention.

"How do you keep your skin looking so soft and lovely?" Ted can casually inquire of his date.

This query packs a double-barrel wallop, for it not only pays the coed a compliment on her complexion, but likewise starts her off on her part of the dialogue.

An experienced male is such a smooth operator that he will even stroke her cheek with his fingertips to corroborate his interest in her soft skin and thus more quickly get conversation upon a personal basis.

At the outset, a shy introvertive engineer may not be able to carry off that technique with aplomb, but he can at least ask the question in a meditative way.

"You are a very graceful dancer," he can continue, "so I suppose you attend a lot of dances, don't you?"

Any such query will quickly permit a lopsided scientist to strike up a gay dialogue which is easily within the range of both their experiences.

H-E-L-P

And if you are ever stymied by one of those awful pauses that may intrude in the conversation of even sophisticated people, then you feel like calling "H-E-L-P, H-E-L-P."

So use that very word as an abbreviated formula for starting interesting conversation.

The "H" stands for "Hobbies," so ask your companion if he (or she) ever collected stamps or bottle caps, book matches or bird's eggs, etc.

If this opening proves a dud, then switch over to "E," which includes "entertainment," meaning movies, athletics, the theater, dancing, etc.

The "L" involves "Literature," ranging from comic books and paper backed editions, to the classics, poetry, etc. Beware of being too highbrow for on the usual date, your companion likes to relax.

Finally, resort to the "P" for "Politics," but avoid angry debates. Keep on safe, neutral ground, such as whether 18-year-olds should vote, since they are drafted at that age for armed service.

Or ask if U.S. Senators should be limited to two terms, as the president is, etc.

Send for the booklet "Formula for Gay Conversation," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. (non-profit).

It includes a fuller explanation of the H-E-L-P formula above plus the longer "Dear Home Pals" formula I used with my Northwestern University students.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'We Cry, Pass the Buck Instead of Facing Issue'

Why is it always so easy to attack the man at the helm when our government begins to meet financial reverses? How the masses tore Hoover to shreds because he happened to be in office at the onset of the terrible depression of the thirties, and now Governor Williams faces a similar situation, albeit on a lesser scale, and fickle hearts and minds of people who made him a hero yesterday are trying to pulverize him today.

What a mess of crying, sad-sack, unthinking characters we Michiganians are! We want the highest standard of living, the best of everything. Our children must have the best schools, the best teachers, parks, roads. Nothing is too good for us, yet when it comes to footing the bill, we cry like sick children instead of squaring our shoulders and facing the issue. Or we pass the buck with "Down with the Governor."

I'm in the lower income bracket, but I believe a sound, sane state income tax is the answer. As for Williams, he must have his virtues. People of Michigan wouldn't be so stupid as to vote him in six terms if he weren't a fine and dedicated individual to the cause of the state and its people.

Readers Discuss Unwed Mothers

Older teenagers should be given complete sex education and instruction to reduce the number of unwed mothers that girl wrote about.

I'm Twenty

Concerned Teenager says in the VOP that she thinks we should give better sex education to the teenage girls to reduce the number of children born out of wedlock. Maybe we're giving them too much sex education now and they think they're a lot smarter than they really are and so they get into trouble. When I was a teenager we didn't know as much as they do now so we weren't tempted as much and kept out of trouble through fear and ignorance. Perhaps the Lord meant it that way.

'Overtaxed' Gets Another Answer

Regarding Mr. Overtaxed's teacher-tax tirade, I'd say if it weren't for baby sitting teachers you most likely would and could never have learned to express yourself in such vitriolic fashion.

Teachers' Friend

'Schools Must Take Hint From Business'

Here we go again: "We must pay higher starting salaries to attract qualified teachers." Hogwash. Other industries attract qualified people by starting low and going up. Why is teaching so different?

The way we're going about it now, all our money is spent attracting teachers, but we do little to keep them. Let's put more money into maximums so we attract people interested in staying in teaching, not the pretty young things who plan to teach a year or two and quit anyway.

How many doctors, dentists, lawyers or manufacturers do you think there'd be today if the main attraction had been a high starting salary with a bleak future? Why must educators go about so many things backwards?

Puzzled

'In Such Case, We Would Back Them'

Until teachers are willing to work on their individual merits, give up their eternal quest for college-to-casket guaranteed security and realize their position in the community's economy is no more special than any other working person, they're going to continue to face opposition from the general public.

Science Foundation Awards Go to 6 Here

The National Science Foundation has awarded scholarships for its Summer Institute Program to four Pontiac teachers and two students. Two others won top state honors in mathematics.

Michael Andonian, teacher at Pontiac Central High School, will attend the University of Detroit session. Donald Chuey, teacher at Washington Junior High School, will go to the University of Oregon.

Charles Murphy of Madison Junior High School will take the Michigan State University course, while Joyce Sweet, Pontiac Central High School, will study at the University of Michigan.

All courses are of six weeks' duration. The scholarships provide for tuition, fees, stipends and allowances valued at approximately $500 each.

The institute is designed to strengthen the subject-matter competence of science and mathematics teachers.

Sherry Fink, a Pontiac Central High School student, was selected from 900 applicants to participate in the High School Honors Science Institute of the National Science Foundation.

The session will be held at Michigan State University June 22 to July 31. The scholarship provides for all fees, room, board, books and travel expenses.

The W. Allen Booth Mathematics Award has been given to Sam Hartmann, another student at Central.

The $100 scholarship was established by Mrs. Booth and her daughter, Mrs. Charles F. Libs of Flint, to be given annually to the outstanding senior mathematics student at Pontiac Central. W. Allen Booth died in December 1958.

Beirut Major Narcotics Port

Eastern Turkey Takes China's Place as Key Illegal Drug Supplier

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — This teeming port city at the eastern end of the Mediterranean is the center of an intense and lucrative traffic in narcotics, much of it destined for the United States.

One official has estimated that between 15 and 20 million dollars worth of heroin is hustled along an international underground route through Lebanon every year.

Officers say eastern Turkey has replaced the Chinese mainland as the chief source of illegal narcotics for the Western world. Beirut's position as crossroads of the Middle East, and a bustling center of commerce of all sorts, legal and illegal, made it a natural clearing house for this trade.

The main routes, according to officers, are in the hands of a well-organized, wealthy syndicate, or a series of interlocking dope rings.

Officials of various nationalities, including some from the U. S. government, wage a relentless struggle to halt the shipments. U.S. narcotics agents work in the background, always in cooperation with local law enforcement officials.

Officers give this sketch of the traffic:

The raw material originates in the poppy fields of eastern Turkey, is hauled across the frontier to Aleppo in northern Syria, thence to clandestine laboratories in Lebanon which process it.

Sometimes the ring uses couriers—members of a ship's crew, or even passengers, to carry the stuff. These couriers are paid well.

The ring has used motor cars, equipped with concealed secret compartments.

There is also a lively traffic of small, speedy motorboats which dart from secluded coves of the Lebanese coast with a cargo of hashish, a Middle Eastern drug similar to marijuana. This is unloaded at secret hideouts on the Egyptian coast, frequently in the Gaza Strip, for resale in Cairo.

Lebanese officers also have to cope with narcotics imports. Dope runners bring in quantities of cocaine. It goes to a small but select clientele of the very, very wealthy.

But the main operation, and biggest source of income, is still the heroin addicts of the United States.

Urges Care in Selecting Site for Home

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Selecting a home site on a flood plain — the level area bordering a stream — is courting disaster, according to an Ohio soil expert.

T.R. Smith, soil technician with the Ohio Division of Lands and Soil, said flood plains are formed by sediments deposited by a stream that has overflowed.

The presence of sediment indicates that the stream will flood in the future, he said.

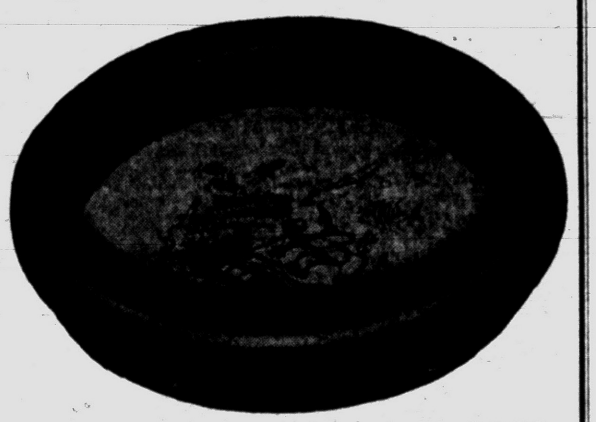

"When considering building near a stream," Smith advised, "be sure that the site is high enough to be above the flood stage of the stream.

Usually the type of soil present is a key to whether flooding takes place.

"If in doubt about a site that may be endangered by floods, seek advice from those with a knowledge of soils."

There are approximately 200 American oil companies exploring in 30 foreign countries for possible new oil fields.

Schools Press Drive on Health

Continuing Efforts to Discover and Decrease Student Defects

The Department of Health Education of the Pontiac Public School system continued efforts to discover and decrease physical defects and diseases among students during the past year.

Josephine Seeley, coordinator of school health services, reported in her annual summary that 8,351 students were tested on the vision screening program.

Of the 12 per cent who failed and were referred to doctors, 52 per cent were prescribed glasses or given other correction or recommendation by the eye doctor.

Approximately 5 per cent of the 8,331 given hearing tests were found to have hearing losses ranging from mild to severe.

REGAIN HEARING

Records indicate that close to 90 per cent of these cases regain hearing within normal limits after medical treatment by family doctors or otologists.

Through the cooperation of the State Health Department, four ear clinics were organized to give examinations to 93 students. Local specialists were the examining physicians.

This was the eighth year fluoride treatments have been given in the school program for a nominal fee. At parental request, 638 children in the eligible grades received this service last year during the 17 weeks of the program.

With an available hygienist, summer appointments are now being given to the remaining eligible students whose fees and parental consent have been received.

The summer schedule is being offered in the Health Education Office at 87 Franklin Blvd.

Miss Seeley, a registered nurse, said efforts to bring kindergarten children into school in good physical condition are making progress.

IMMUNIZATION RECORDS

Immunization records on the kindergarten children show that 66 per cent have received diphtheria and tetanus (lockjaw) protection, 51 per cent are immunized against polio, 71 per cent against smallpox and 61 per cent for whooping cough.

Lt. Gen. O'Donnell Ordered to Testify

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. Emmett J. (Rosie) O'Donnell has been ordered to testify before a Senate committee next week on a charge he leaked information calculated to ruin the reputation of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine).

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) said Mrs. Smith told a closed session of the Senate Armed Services committee Thursday that O'Donnell had "leaked information to a columnist and broadcaster that attacked her and was calculated to ruin her reputation."

Mrs. Smith also said O'Donnell had made statements that "sought to bring her into disrepute and misrepresented her actions," reported Russell, the chairman of the committee.

The committee was considering the promotion of O'Donnel to the rank of four-star general. But it postponed action and ordered O'Donnell and Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas to testify on the charge of Mrs. Smith. They probably will be heard next Thursday.

'Buried' Man Lives to Spark Mystery Probe

RESERVE, N.M. (AP)—A week ago, the charred wreckage of an automobile was found in the woods of southwestern New Mexico.

Wednesday, the family of Manuel Armijo Jr. buried the skull and a few bones found in the wreckage.

Thursday, Armijo wandered into a logging camp near the scene of the wreck, bearded, dirty and dazed.

"We're stunned," said Mrs. Armijo at their home in Albuquerque. She spoke for herself and the couple's four children.

Armijo, 43, was examined at a hospital and then taken to jail in Socorro. Sheriff Barney Hickson wants to talk to him some more about the skull and bones.

Police said Armijo has agreed to take a lie detector test.

Sheriff Hickson said Armijo told him that he had wandered through the woods for a week. He said the "remains" found in the burned car were identified by Armijo as an old human skull, a calf's head, and a porcupine. Armijo said he found them during a visit to a relative's ranch. Sheriff Hickson quoted Armijo as saying the car caught fire and he dived out.

"He remembers falling down a hill, getting up and running as the car went off the road," the sheriff said. "That's the last thing he remembers until night before last when he came to and realized where he was."

Ah, Revenge Is Sweet for Uninvited Canine

DOUGLAS, Ariz. (AP) — Douglas city dog catcher Eddie Price was on the arrangements committee for a banquet, so he was served early.

Price was called away for a minute. When he returned a stray dog had wandered into the banquet hall and was finishing off the last of Price's dinner.

Movie Too Realistic?

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — A movie theater audience thought they could almost smell the smoke while watching a scene in which Indians were burning a white man at the stake. They could, but the smoke turned out to be drifting in from a nearby burning building, and the audience had to leave the theater.

County Solon Pushes Bill

Urges Car Belt Brackets

Legislative steps are being taken to require all car manufacturers in Michigan to provide brackets so that motorists can, if they wish, easily attach safety belts.

Oakland State Rep. Farrell E. Roberts, Republican from West Bloomfield Township, helped steer his bill requiring such brackets through the House of Representatives Wednesday night. It now goes to the Senate.

Describing his measure as a "sleeper," Roberts urged its successful passage in order "to cut down on the thousands slaughtered on our highways each year."

He said a recent study shows that use of seat belts in cars reduces one's chance of death in an auto accident in half, while chance of injury is reduced 60 per cent.

Roberts' bill would make it mandatory for all automobile manufacturers in Michigan after Jan. 1, 1961 to build in brackets for the belts.

He said now it is "a big operation" for motorists wishing to install belts in present day cars without such brackets. Roberts emphasized that his bill does not require installation of belts, but only brackets.

"If we could ever reach the point where one out of four motorists used seat belts our traffic fatalities would be lowered considerably," said Roberts, an attorney.

Michigan Firm to Ship Under Foreign Flag

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The Michigan-Honduras Transportation Co. has announced that it will lease dock space at the Port of Muskegon and charter vessels under a foreign flag that will operate between Muskegon and ports in the Caribbean.

Capt. H. E. Van Niman of Grand Rapids, president of the firm, said the company will charter ships that will operate under the Panamanian flag. The company will be the only Michigan firm operating ships under a foreign flag, shipping officials said.

The firm will lease dock space on Muskegon Lake and a new $150,000 warehouse will be built for it by International Terminal, Inc., of Muskegon, which will lease the facilities to the shipping line.

Van Niman said the firm will ship products grown and produced in western Michigan to the Caribbean area and will return with cargoes of coffee, sugar and other products from that region.

County Service Station Broken Into Last Night

The Airport Service Station at 1504 Airport Rd. was broken into sometime last night and $14 in cash, cartons of cigars and cigarettes stolen, according to owner Dale Jacobs.

A pry bar was found near a rear window through which the burglar entered and left, aWterford Township Police said.

The U.S. Public Health Service reports that 107 million workdays were lost as a result of injuries from July 1957 to June 1958. This was the equivalent of a year's absence from work by 428,000 persons.

Death Grabs 7 on Illinois Road

5 in Family Group Only 20 Miles From End of Long Vacation Trip

TUSCOLA, Ill. (AP)—A family group of four women and a man nearing home after vacationing in New York and two young women were killed in a fiery collision of two autos on a two-lane highway Thursday night.

The vacationists, within 20 miles of their homes, were a husband and wife and their teenage daughter and two sisters of the dead woman. Their car burst into flames after the collision.

The two young women in the second car apparently were on their way home to nearby Atwood when the crash occurred about 9:30 p.m. about three miles east of this central Illinois town.

Sheriff Eugene Miller said a car driven by Miss Rosalee Bragg, 21, slid off the highway — U.S. 36 — and then backed into the path of a car driven by Joseph Harmon, 58, a farmer.

Killed with Harmon were his wife, Josephine, 56, an elementary school teacher; their daughter, Greta, 19, and Mrs. Harmon's sisters, Agnes D. Pistorious, about 54, and Constance Bean, about 52.

Evelyn Louise Smith, about 19, the seventh victim, was a passenger in the car driven by Miss Bragg.

Anti-Billboard Group to Fight Fire With Fire

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Fanciers of scenic beauty in California are going to try to beat the billboard industry — with billboards.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, who wants a law regulating billboards along scenic highways, told a rally Thursday of his plans for getting an initiative on the 1960 ballot.

Asked whether he plans to advertise on billboards in support of the initiative, McCarthy replied: "We'll build our own. And on each one there will be a sign saying 'help tear this down'."

The motto of the drive, on a big board in front of the audience, read: "Keep California clean, green and seen."

Judge Ponders Issue: How Short Is Too Short?

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—How short are short shorts?

The city commission didn't say when it banned them, and the issue is still unresolved.

So when police arrested Lise Fournier, 21, of Montreal Thursday, they had her husband measure her shorts on the spot.

Now it's up to Judge Irving Goldman to decide whether 12½ inches is too short. While he pondered the matter, he released Mrs. Fournier on $5 bail.

Navy Researcher Points Drill at 35,000-Foot Depth

He Wants to Dig Deepest Hole in the Earth

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A Navy research scientist wants to dig the deepest hole ever dug. Where? He doesn't know. He is looking for an easy way through the earth's crust.

Dr. Gordon G. Lill, head of the geophysics branch of the Office of Naval Research, says a lot of scientists are excited about the hole he wants to drill, perhaps six miles deep.

Lill's project is known as the Mohoe Project. Simply explained, he wants to drill as deep into the earth as possible for samples of natural history not now available.

Lill is among scientists attending the "Undiscovered Earth" conference of the Southern Research Institute.

The Mohoe Project will cost between 10 and 15 million dollars.

COULD SOLVE QUESTIONS

Lill wants a sample of 1,000 feet of mantle beneath the earth's crust. He believes this will answer many questions of the earth's origin.

For instance:

Have the oceans always existed?
Are the continents actually floating or shifting?

Where to drill such a hole is probably the most difficult problem of all. Drill in the ocean? Lill explains it this way.

"That, in a way, is a short cut. We have to drill through approximately 30,000 or 35,000 feet of earth crust. By drilling in the ocean bed, we can count on approximately 15,000 feet being water.

"That leaves 15,000 feet of hard drilling. One phase of such exploration is our search for silt and sediment. If the oceans have existed from the beginning of time, where is the sediment?

"We know that on the average the ocean beds have approximately 1,000 feet of sediment. If the oceans have existed from the beginning, there should be between 50,000 and 100,000 feet of sediment. Where is this sediment? That is one thing we want to know."

Lill hopes to settle once and for all the question of floating continents.

Unless Lill can find the huge deposits of sediment in the ocean beds, which would prove the oceans have existed from the beginning of time, he is certain the answer will be that the earth's continents do float.

The giant tree fell on the rear of the house, and not until after it is cut up and removed will the full extent of damage be known.

Township OKs Building Code

Pontiac Board for Free Dump

Also Names Member of Garbage Authority; Hires Extra Help

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—The Pontiac Township Board has adopted a building code for the township which will become effective within about 45 days. It is the abridged Building Code of the Building Officials Conference of America, 1955 edition.

The Board also has voted to recommend that township residents be allowed to continue to use the dump operated by the Orion-Pontiac Townships Garbage Authority without charge.

Orion Township recently passed a resolution setting the fees for its residents at a minimum of 25 cents per load.

Tonwship Trustee George Lyle was named to succeed Thomas Shearer as a member of the garbage authority from Pontiac Township.

A problem of several months' standing, that of hiring extra clerical help, has been solved. The Board decided to hire more help during vacations, tax time and at any time the supervisor deems necessary.

In other action, the Board voted to accept the resignation of Township Attorney Donald E. Adams, submitted at the last regular meeting. No successor has yet been named.

Lloyd Eudy was elected chairman of the Township Zoning Board to replace Lex Axford who resigned. George Parsons was elected vice chairman.

The Board has decided to deposit the sum of $17,000, held in Water and Sewer Fund, into savings certificates to draw interest. They will be redeemable at any time with due notice to the bank, oficials said.

Dinner to Honor Late Rev. Hamm

Proceeds From Fete at Indianwood Will Go to Fund, Family

LAKE ORION — A dinner honoring the late Rev. William C. Hamm will be held at the Indianwood Country Club at 7 p.m. Monday. Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ruebelman and their son Spike, owners of Indianwood, the entire proceeds of the dinner will go to the Hamm Memorial Fund in memory of the Rev. Mr. Hamm and to aid his family.

Rev. Hamm came to Michigan as an assistant at Christ Church, Cranbrook and was later Rector of St. Josephs Episcopal Church, Detroit.

Ill health forced his retirement for a period, but later he took over the All Saints Episcopal Church, Pontiac, Mission Church of St. Mary's-in-the-Hills, Lake Orion. St. Mary's is in a lovely country setting on the former Scripps Estate and was originally the Nina D. Scripps School.

Bishop Archie H. Crowley will attend the dinner along with Rev. Hamm's many freinds in the parishes he served, in the Red Cross whose Oakland County unit he once headed, among the Masons and the Rotary Club where he also served. Reservation tickets are available through St. Alfred Episcopal Church here.

Morris-Stewart Nuptials Solemnized in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION—The First Baptist Church here was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Judy May Stewart and John Richard Morris. The Rev. Walter Ballagh officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Stewart of 7 Hovey St., Oxford and Mr. and Mrs. Joe N. Morris of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The bride wore a gown of silk organza featuring a scooped neckline of Venetian lace with Venetian lace appliques accenting a bell-shaped skirt with chapel train. A crown of rhinestones and orange blossoms held her fingertip veil.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid, and wore her grandmother's pendant necklace studded with a diamond, blue sapphires and pearls.

Fayanne Badgero of Lake Orion was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Walling of Walled Lake, Mrs. George Anderson of Detroit, Mrs. Fred Smith of West Chicago, Ill.; sister of the bridegroom, and Mary Stewart, sister of the bride.

Best man was Gary Stewart of Oxford, brother of the bride. Ushers were Fred Smith of West Chicago, Ill., Lynn Sims of Richmond, Va., B. Allen Dahl of Hackensack, N. J., and Kenneth Smith of Carlisle, Pa.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

After their honeymoon trip through the southern states the newlyweds will make their home in Glen Ellyn, Ill. The bridegroom will be a senior at Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill., and his wife will be employed in the public relations office at the college.

Road Fund Hike Fully Supported

Farmington Twp. to Ask Special Election OK on One-Mill Rise

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Curt Hall's proposal to raise funds for road repair and maintenance by a voted increase of one mill received full approval of the Township Board last night.

Hall estimated that approximately $59,000 annually can be raised if voters back his proposal in a special election this fall.

He also feels that the Township could receive an average of $20,000 a year in matching funds from the county.

This year $19,000 in matching funds made available to the township could not be collected because the township could not afford its share.

Hall says he has studied this problem for some time and has talked with leaders in all sections of the township who are "heartily in favor" of the proposed increase.

State Annexation, Grand Jury Bills Passed by House

LANSING (AP)—Bills to abolish Michigan's one-man grand jury law and equip cities and villages with new annexation procedures passed the half-way mark in the Legislature today.

The two proposals topped a list of 45 bills okayed in the House and Senate yesterday in a burst of activity leading up to a three-day recess.

Winding up two days of marathon sessions, House members hightailed it for home after clearing the calendar of their own bills. Senators did likewise.

When they return Monday night, lawmakers will work toward a June 26 deadline for committee action on bills approved by the opposite chamber. As yet, there's no final adjournment date.

NO DEBATE

The big voting machine in the House got such a workout that one bill to set up a closed primary election system for Michigan slipped by without a word of debate.

A howl of protest went up when foes found out the measure would require voters to sign as a Republican or Democrat in a primary election.

Rep. Raymond J. Apley (D-Mt. Clemens) tried to call back the bill from the Senate, but it had already adjourned.

"I'll ask the governor to veto it if it passes the Senate," he said. "This is a dangerous bill."

Backers of the one-man grand jury repealer mustered a 66-37 favorable vote after the bill fell four votes shy of passage on the first test Wednesday. Michigan is the only state that permits judges to sit as one-man grand juries.

Stiff opposition lay ahead in the Senate.

Despite a last-ditch fight by spokesmen for townships, a modified Virginia annexation plan cleared the Senate on a 19-11 vote, one over the minimum passage requirement, and headed for the House.

The bill would permit cities or villages, by council action, to initiate an annexation proceeding by resolution, followed by a petition to the Circuit Court.

A judge from outside the circuit would hear testimony on the proposals and vote on the annexation.

As a safeguard, 1 per cent of the voters in the territory to be annexed could call a referendum on upsetting the judge's decision.

Sen. Frank Andrews (R-Hillman), municipalities committee chairman and a leading supporter, said the bill would help settle fringe area problems confronting fast-growing outstate cities.

The Senate also approved, 22 to 8, a measure to abolish the State Department of Administration motor pool, forcing sale of several hundred state-owned vehicles.

Only the governor and other members of the state administrative board would be assigned state-owned cars in this area of government.

The bill would not affect auto fleets maintained by State Police and the State Highway and Conservation departments.

The House approved a bill to guarantee the State Waterways Commission one-half of 1 per cent of all gas tax revenues. It would give the commission about $650,000 for a harbor improvement and construction program, an increase of about $425,000.

Rep. James P. Mielock (R-Whittemore), the sponsor, said some 400,000 motorboats in the state now use at least 1 per cent of gasoline consumed in Michigan. But, only a fraction of the gas taxes paid by boat owners is used for boating purposes, he said.

House Republicans staved off a Democratic move to force committees to release six bills actively supported by Gov. Williams.

They included measures to set up a civil rights commission and a commission on migratory labor, authorize creation of industrial park authorities, establish a salary minimum for teachers and provide counseling services for elderly workers under the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Passed in the House and referred to the Senate were bills to:

Establish a commission to prepare for Michigan's role in the Civil War Centennial Commission.

BOILER CAMPAIGN

Set up a boiler advisory board in the State Labor Department in a campaign against unsafe boilers.

Require buyers of Christmas trees and other trees, shrubbery and certain plants to obtain a bill of sale as proof of ownership.

Approved by the Senate were measures which would:

Overhaul state regulations governing trailer coach parks.

Require a state license for controlled atmosphere storage of fruits and vegetables.

Permit a minimum of 10 per cent butterfats in ice cream products shipped outside the state. The minimum for such products consumed in Michigan is 12½ per cent.

Authorize disposal of surplus farm properties held by state institutions.

Streamline court proceedings in condemnation of land for highway purposes so as to exclude the question of good faith in an offer to buy as a basis for jurisdictional disputes.

Among bills tossed on the scrapheap were those to:

Provide for state licensing and regulation of private detectives, allow motorists with mutilated or illegible driver licenses to get duplicates, relax restrictions on paroles and redefine mixed alcoholic beverages for purposes of sales.

Require a doctor's prescription for purchase of paregoric, require sheriffs and police chiefs to report weekly on all arrests made without warrants in counties with over 300,000 population and provide three additional judges for the Traffic and Ordinance Division of Detroit Recorder's Court.

Billy Graham Flies to Russia for Visit

LONDON (UPI) — American Evangelist Billy Graham left London yesterday for a five-day tourist visit to Russia.

Before boarding a plane for Moscow Graham said Kremlin officials might permit him to preach during his visit.

"If I do preach," he said, "I will say the same things I do in other parts of the world. And I don't think I will have any difficulty in preaching through an interpreter."

Graham was questioned sharply by British reporters about his statements that he had seen incidents in British parks that should have been confined to bedrooms.

"I think your parks are beautiful," he said. "I have no objections to people kissing or holding hands or that sort of contact. But we saw things which any Britisher would object to."

Pharmacists Take Turns Working as He Recovers

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — When druggist Charles Mires entered the hospital for an emergency appendectomy, his store was left without a pharmacist. But not for long.

Fellow pharmacists from the area took over behind his prescription counter, a new face appearing every other day.

Mexico OKs Divorce for Involved Minister

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A Mexican divorce has ended the marriage of Dr. W. S. McBirnie, Baptist minister who resigned his pastorate after admitting "improper involvement" with a woman member of his congregation.

Judge Eduardo Garza Villasnor of the Court of First Instance granted the divorce June 1 in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, it was learned Thursday.

The divorce was by mutual consent, which is sufficient grounds under Mexican law. Mrs. McBirnie's maiden name, Jane Harvey, was restored. The couple was married in 1940.

The congregation of Trinity Baptist Church accepted the resignation of the 39-year-old minister Wednesday at a meeting attended by 1,200 persons.

Missing Ohio Mother of 2 Found Safe in Oklahoma

From Our News Wires

GUYMON, Okla. — An Ohio woman missing from Albuquerque, N.M., was found safe here today in a motel with three other persons.

Mrs. Jeanette Bailey, 25, Akron, Ohio, mother of two, was discovered in a motel here with another woman and two men, Guymon Police Chief R. L. Shephard said.

FBI agents questioned the foursome. Shephard said the agents were trying to learn the true identities of the persons with Mrs. Bailey. Shephard said officers converged on the motel about midnight, but gave no details of the apprehensions.

The search for Mrs. Bailey began yesterday after a hastily scrawled note was found in the restroom of a service station at Tucumcari, N.M.

SCRIBBLED ON CHECK

The note, signed "Jeanette Bailey," bore an additional phrase, "headed for Amarillo."

The note was scribbled with a ballpoint pen on the back of a check on the First National Bank of Akron, Ohio, which bore the printed name and address of Mrs. Eugene Bailey, 1756 Canton Rd., lot 16, Akron.

Bailey, an artist in the ad department of the Akron Beacon-Journal, said his wife left home May 29 on vacation with a friend, Tanya Barstoff, 27, of San Francisco.

Mrs. Bailey took the family car and the couple's two children.

The distraught husband said his wife telephoned the trailer court where they live Tuesday night and left word she needed money. He sent $50, which had not been picked up by last night.

Mrs. Bailey had been reported living in Albuquerque and working as a barmaid. The two children, Michael, 5, and Carmen, 2, are being cared for by Miss Barstoff in an apartment in Albuquerque.

'HIGHLY NERVOUS'

Miss Barstoff said she last saw Mrs. Bailey Wednesday night when she took the car and said she was going to the Hilton Hotel "for a few drinks."

Bailey said his wife was "highly nervous."

Group Asks End to Foreign Gifts

Senate Committee Says Loans Are Better, Sets No Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee wants a start made next year on a cutting down and eventually wiping out all gifts of foreign economic assistance. It contends loans are better.

The committee wrote its demand Thursday into President Eisenhower's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid bill. Both the Senate and the House must agree if it is to become effective. No deadline was fixed.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), pushing for more emphasis on loans, had been urging that all gifts of aid be ended by June 30, 1963.

Mansfield's proposal would have applied to grants and gifts of special economic assistance, for which Eisenhower is asking 250 million dollars next year, and defense economic supports, for which he seeks 83.5 million.

Fixing no time limit, the committee adopted an amendment asking Eisenhower to submit a specific plan next year under which such grant assistance "shall be progressively reduced and eliminated."

The plan it asked for would apply different standards to different countries receiving aid. Critics of Mansfield's proposal had contended that some countries would need grants rather than loans for a long time.

Chemist Claims Beer May Be Best Beverage

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Beer may be considered the most healthful of all beverages, including milk, a Latin American research chemist said yesterday.

Hernan Perez of Gogota, Colombia, told the Inter-American Food Institute meeting here that beer provides quick caloric energy and is rich in carbohydrates, mineral salts and vitamins. He said the inclusion of beer in the diet "must be only considered beneficial in all cases — both for healthy or for ailing people."

Ship Strike Strands Over 800 Passengers

NEW YORK (AP)—The Italian Line has canceled the sailing of its strike-bound flagship, the Giulio Cesare, stranding 874 passengers bound for Mediterranean ports.

The line told the passengers they must debark and that it would refund fares or endorse tickets to other lines. Originally, 1,175 passengers were aboard the Cesare when crewmen struck Tuesday in a wage dispute.

There was no food, entertainment or service aboard. Passengers were given a cash food allowance.

The line also announced cancellation of the return run of the liner Vulcania, which docked here Thursday. About 1,200 persons had booked passage on the Vulcania, scheduled to sail Saturday.

What is a juvenile delinquent? Most states classify a child as delinquent if he violates any public law or ordinance, runs away from home or if his habitual disobedience is beyond control of his parents.

Was Teacher for 43 Years

Little Virginia, Now 70, Still Believes in Santa

By RAY KOHN

NEW YORK (AP)—The unseasonal theme of the balmy June evening was "is there a Santa Claus?" But it was appropriate, because it honored the gentle Virginia whose query brought a famed answer 62 years ago.

As an 8-year-old, Virginia O'Hanlon wrote a letter to the old New York Sun asking that pointed and poignant question about Santa. The editorial reply on Sept. 21, 1897, has had countless reprintings and translations into 20 languages.

Thursday night Virginia — Mrs. Laura Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, now 70 — was given a retirement dinner in Brooklyn after 43 years as a public school teacher and principal.

Virginia, now silver-haired and a widow, never has lost her faith in all kinds of folk, including Kris Kringle. It has paid off, too, in universal love and respect, and endeared her to thousands of kids who came under her supervision.

Only the other day a middle-aged cab driver turned to his passenger, who was Virginia, and said: "I'm Harold from Public School 31. I used to think you were a greater person than the President."

In addition to the songs and speeches at the dinner, there was a reading of that famous letter: "Dear Editor: Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Please tell me the truth."

Mrs. Douglas was "feeling a little shy" about rereading the reply written by the late Francis Pharcellus Church, which said in part:

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist. How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias."

For the last three years Mrs. Douglas, retired at the mandatory age, was junior principal at P.S. 401, which supervises classes held in 10 hospitals and other institutions for chronically ill children.

Mrs. Douglas plans to live with her only daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temple, and their seven children at North Chatham, N.Y.

Summing up her feelings about her students, Mrs. Douglas said: "It must be the eternal light with which childhood fills the world."

Holly Church Slates Open House Sunday

HOLLY—In an open house Sunday from two to five o'clock, the Holly Presbyterian Church invites the general public to attend the observance of the centennial of its organization.

At this time Mrs. Cora Kenaga, Mrs. Harriett Peek, Mrs. Margaret Peterson and Mrs. Phoebe VanDusen will be honored for their membership of 50 years or more.

The Rev. William Lankton, present pastor, relates that the church was organized on July 7, 1859, and the present bulding erected in 1889.

Detroit Trucker Killed in Expressway Accident

BRIGHTON (AP) — Jack L. Eckman, 43, of Detroit, died last night when his gravel truck went out of control on the U.S. 16 expressway near here and hurtled into a field.

State Police said the Livingston County coroner's office will be asked to determine the cause of death.

Eckman was the father of seven children.

Japanese Open Hall of Fame

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II showed up today to open Japan's first baseball hall of fame with a slight limp—from playing baseball.

The American envoy explained, "If I appear to be limping a bit today, it's because of baseball. Last Saturday the embassy had its annual baseball game with the Gaimusho (foreign office), and I played shortstop. I discovered even before the game was over that I am not as young as I used to be. It was a grand game, however, even though the Gaimusho beat us 15 to 8."

Castro Shuffles Cabinet Posts

Replaces Five Ministers in First Shakeup Since Taking Office

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro replaced five cabinet ministers early today in the first government shakeup of his four months in office.

These changes were announced after a cabinet meeting which as usual lasted long after midnight:

Raul Roa, ambassador to the Organization of American States (OAS), replacing Roberto Agramonte as foreign minister.

Pedro Miret, replacing Umberto Sori Marin as minister of agriculture.

Miss Raquel Perez, minister of public welfare, replacing Miss Elena Mederos.

Serafin Ruiz, replacing Julio Martinez Paez as minister of public health.

Jose Naranjo, minister of interior, in place of Orlando Rodriguez.

Castro took an offhand attitude toward a U.S. government note expressing concern over his plans to expropriate American-owned sugar lands in Cuba.

The Prime Minister, asked for comment, replied:

"I've had no time to study the note but I hope to have time tomorrow. However, from what I read the American viewpoint is their opinion and the majority of Cuban people support agrarian reform."

The U.S. note expressed concern that Americans might not be adequately compensated for property taken from them under the land redistribution program.

Castro said that the cabinet changes were "due to the periodic changeover that governments must make regardless of the contribution made by those who serve them."

Gromyko on Edge of Final Berlin Refusal?

Red Pounds Summit Ties

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko opened a drive in the Big Four conference today to break the Western-made link between the present meeting of foreign ministers and a later summit conference.

Gromyko's attack could foreshadow a final refusal by the Soviet Union to yield on its West Berlin demands, even under heavy Western pressure.

He told foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France that their insistence on a link between the present conference and a summit parley is artificial and "altogether invalid."

WOULD MEET ANYWAY

In effect, Gromyko argued that even though there was a failure here to ease the Berlin tension and make progress toward East-West agreement, there should be a summit meeting anyway.

President Eisenhower has said he would not attend a heads of government meeting under such conditions, and at the moment that is basic Western policy.

Gromyko today also assured the Western powers that he had not intended his latest Berlin proposal as an ultimatum.

Gromyko spoke at a semipublic meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference after U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter called on him to state for the record what he had told Herter in a private session Thursday.

Gromyko said he could not understand what all the excitement was about.

DISLIKES TERMS

He said his proposal for a one-year deadline on the Western occupation of West Berlin was not intended to be taken as an ultimatum.

He urged the Western ministers to stop using the terms dictate and ultimatum.

The conference went on a day-to-day basis, with the West waiting for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to back down from the new deadline.

BLASTS POLICIES

The Soviet Premier blasted Western policies on Berlin as "unrealistic and bankrupt" in a speech at Riga, Latvia, Thursday. But he did not slam the door on a possible change in the Soviet stand.

Secretary of State Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve do Murville were reported slightly encouraged as a result of the two-hour talk Herter held with Gromyko.

The Western ministers had denounced the Soviet proposal for a one-year breathing spell in the Berlin crisis — with the deadline backed by a threat to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany — as an ultimatum.

Two Officers Killed in Trainer Crash

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Two Marine Corps officers were killed Thursday when a P3M Navy training plane crashed into a bay near here.

Victims of the crash were Capt. Edwin D. Smith, an instructor, and 2nd Lt. Charles Devries, a student pilot.

The Navy is investigating the cause of the crash.

Smith was the husband of Shirley May France, who at 16 failed in a highly publicized attempt to swim the English Channel from France to England in 1949.

Besides his widow who lives here, Smith is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Smith of Fall River, Mass. Devries is survived by his widow, Joan S. Devries of Pensacola, and his mother, Eleanor Augusta Devries of Oxford, Mass.

Spelling Teacher Has Turned Out National Champs

WASHINGTON (AP) — So Billy or Betsy has trouble spelling? Well, parents, listen a moment to Ted Glim.

Glim, 42, a teacher at Byers Junior High in Denver, Colo., has positive and detailed ideas on how to make words an easily turned key to junior's education.

He teaches a special class in word study for seventh and eight-graders. It's produced champions.

Joel Montgomery is the latest. Joel, 12, from Denver, won the National Spelling Bee Thursday. He coasted through such stumpers as verdigris, pastiche and susurrus as deftly as most kids run from cleaning up the room.

Two years ago another product of Glim's class, Dana Bennett, was national cochampion.

"Pronunciation is emphasized first," Glim explained after watching Joel outspell 69 other boys and girls.

"We go thoroughly into roots, prefixes and suffixes," he said. "We learn the story behind words, their meaning and their use today. We also examine the sequence of letters."

Glim took over the class several years ago and based his instructon on the theory that there's no sense in learning a bunch of letters without learning words as a whole.

Glim's pupils have gone into most of the words tossed about in the National Bee, like ptarmigan, tenebrous, cachinnatory, sorbefacient.

Whew! which stems from the whistling sound you make when you're astonished.

Flat Rate Income Tax Bill Left by Solons on Holiday

LANSING (AP)—Legislators took a holiday from lawmaking and the hot, sticky capitol today leaving the flat rate income tax aslumber in committee.

It probably was a good thing.

Many were tired and a few snappish, in no mood to cozy up to their political adversaries in the gruelling tax fight to strike off the seemingly inevitable compromise.

When they scattered late yesterday, it was after one of the most productive days of the marathon legislative session. Both Senate and House put in good businesslike licks.

Apprehension about possible newspaper criticism influenced lawmakers in deciding to return Monday night rather than stretch their long weekend to Tuesday as suggested by some.

That was one reason cited by Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), GOP spokesman on such matters, in replying to expressions from Sens. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) and Philip Rahoi (D-Iron Mountain).

As for House Taxation Committee failure to act as expected on the 150 million dollar flat rate income tax authored by its chairman, Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), there was a dual explanation given.

The House was too bushed for the necessary committee work. Besides, said Conlin and Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor), a committee member, there was the matter of the Legislature's mood and timing.

Conlin said it would be wise to "let the dust settle" for a while in the wake of spiking the "piggyback" income tax plan Wednesday.

"Another cycle in the tax battle has passed and it would be a strategic mistake to try to get the flat rate tax through immediately," said Sallade.

Moreover, Sallade and Rep. John C. Morris (R-Midland), Republican backers of an income tax as well as taxation committee members, planned to be in Denver most of the week for the National Young Republican Convention.

For maximum support in the House, the Conlin package would have to be timed for a showdown after their return.

Atom Test Muffling Could Evade Probing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today handed the Soviet Union a White House scientific report saying would-be atomic test ban violators probably could muffle underground nuclear blasts.

The presidential advisory scientists figured that it would take three years to develop underground atomic blast detectors as good as those that Geneva test ban negotiators had believed were available before new information came in from underground shots.

The U.S. officials said, however, that the findings by the scientists under Dr. Lloyd Berkner do not change the American position in favor of halting atomic tests if a control system is set up to enforce the ban.

Mrs. Clarence K. Patterson displays one of the colorful still life paintings which graces her home on Dow Ridge. She has studied art extensively and currently some of her paintings are being shown at the Birmingham Arts Festival, sponsored by the Bloomfield Art Association.

Interesting Women

Mrs. Patterson Has True Love of Art

By MARGARET BROWN

A truly enlightened appreciation of art is evident in the home of Mrs. Clarence K. Patterson, wife of a Pontiac attorney.

Rooms throughout the couple's picturesque home on wooded Dow Ridge, Orchard Lake, are enhanced by original paintings by both Mrs. Patterson and her artist father, the late George Hodges.

Currently some of her work is on display at the Birmingham Travel Service in connection with the second annual Birmingham Arts Festival which runs through June 14.

Born in Paris, where her father was a student at the Beaux Arts Academy under Jerome, noted French teacher, Mrs. Patterson was one of six sisters and one brother. She studied at the John Wicker School of Fine Art, Detroit; the Art Students League, New York City; and spent a summer session studying design at Columbia University.

Her father was accorded the title "Student of France," entitling him to study anywhere in that country through the courtesy of the French government.

Mrs. Patterson, a former Pontiac High School art teacher, is very modest about her own accomplishments, preferring rather to discuss endeavors to stimulate art appreciation in this area.

She outlined activities of the Birmingham Society of Women Painters of which she is a member. The group of trained artists studied with Sarkis Sarkisian, director of the Society of Arts and Crafts School in Detroit, and Emil Weddige, professor of design at the University of Michigan. Mrs. Patterson also holds membership in the Detroit Society of Women Painters and Sculptors.

LIKES LANDSCAPES

Recently she has been painting some abstracts. Her greatest interest however, she confided, is landscape painting. "I fear it has little place in modern art," she added.

Of the current abstract movement, she commented, "I think, as with cubism, it will become passe, but its influence will be of great value in the future."

In a few words to the layman Mrs. Patterson said, "It's hard for the layman to realize realism isn't the most important thing in art. Subject matter is really of the least importance."

An extremely kind woman, Mrs. Patterson is an excellent conversationalist. Or perhaps what we really mean is that she is an expert at introducing subjects and then proceeding to be a good listener.

What Young People Think

Teenagers Advocate More Fun for Parents

By EUGENE GILBERT

Most teenagers feel the social life of their parents is in an unsocial rut.

It is the opinion of the younger set that the older set needs to get out more often, whether it's a night out alone for each parent or a night out together.

This feeling, which is such a contrast to parents' jaundiced view of teenagers hectic socializing, is motivated by sympathy.

"When I was younger my parents sacrificed all for me," says 16-year-old Carole Dwinn of College Point, N.Y. "Now that I am older, I would like to see them really enjoy themselves."

Carole was among the 66 per cent of the 643 teenagers we interviewed who said they would like to see their parents go out more often.

Other youngsters say mother and father should relax more, have more fun, make new friends, and generally get more out of life than they do.

And Susan Hearin, 16, of Coatesville, Ind., says: "I think they should get out and be more acquainted with people."

The largest number of the young people—about 45 per cent—say their parents get out from one to four times each month. Only about 8 per cent say their folks go out more often, while almost one of every four say their parents never, or only rarely, get out.

Slightly more than half say their father has a night out by himself each week for a poker game, bowling or some similar activity. But only a quarter of their mothers have a night out.

Seven out of 10 of the teenagers approve of each parent having a night out alone.

Henry Ruthad, 16-year-old Detroit boy, feels "they should get away from each other at least once a week."

MOM NEEDS OUTINGS

One youngster raised the point that it should be Mom, rather than Dad, who gets a night out alone, on the grounds that the mothers are in the house all day while the man of the house is away at work.

Most of the teenagers questioned—37 per cent—say their parents entertain about once a month. Sixteen per cent say once a week is common.

Almost 7 out of 10 say they are allowed to join the party when their parents entertain. But only 38 per cent say they usually join in the festivities.

"They deserve to have some activities without me," says James Manetz of Indianapolis.

Sixteen-year-old Carolyn Kommel of Flushing, N.Y., says she is welcome until midnight and "then I'm expected to leave them to themselves."

Few teenagers have complaints about how parents conduct themselves when it is time for a teen party. Almost 8 out of 10 say their friends are made welcome by Mom and Dad.

Of the 643 youngsters interviewed, 36 per cent say they entertain friends at home once a week, 27 per cent once a month and 20 per cent several times a year.

"My parents accept most of my friends and very often enjoy having them coming over," says 14-year-old Rita Noel of Hartford, Conn.

Friends Can Be Told of Your Plan

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My mother and father-in-law will be married fifty years the end of next month. Because of ill-health a party of any kind will be out of the question.

"I do not like to see the day go by unnoticed and thought it would be nice if all their friends remembered them by sending greeting cards which I am sure will please them very much. In other words, have a "shower of cards." Is such an idea possible, and if so, how can I go about suggesting it?"

Answer: I think your idea is excellent, and the best way to go about this would be to telephone your plan to their most intimate friends and ask them to spread the idea to others.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it will be proper to have "Open House" Sunday afternoon, the day before I graduate from high school? I will graduate on a Monday at eight o'clock in the evening.

"This means that we will not get home until after ten o'clock and it will be impossible to give a party that night. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: You may give your party on Sunday if you wish to, but personally I would prefer to wait until Tuesday when you will actually have graduated.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When lunching with a male friend (not as his guest) is it proper to ask the waiter for separate checks, or is it better and less embarrassing to him to let the waiter put both lunches on the one check and for her to reimburse him later for her lunch?"

Answer: It is better to ask for separate checks, otherwise you will have great difficulty in getting him to accept your share of the check he will have paid.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I attend a large Catholic woman's college and the subject of proper footwear has arisen here. We are faced with the questions: Are sneakers exclusively for the gym and the tennis court or may they properly be worn informally about the campus? This question has evoked a good deal of discussion and we would appreciate your opinion on the matter."

Answer: Sneakers are for exercising and extremely informal wear and they should not be worn on the campus unless, because of local custom, the majority of the students do so now.

Expect Teachers to Be Social Workers

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Chief cause of the rise in school violence is that schools have been "forced to assume custodial duties for large numbers of delinquent and emotionally disturbed children," reports the Senate sub-committee investigating juvenile delinquency.

Let's digest this official finding. If we do, we'll stop branding our schoolteachers as "soft" and "progressive." We'll stop roaring, "Just teach Melvin how to read, write and do sums and stop concerning yourself with the 'whole child'."

Lest they lose their jobs, teachers have not roared back, "Send us whole children and we won't have to struggle with their anxieties and rages day after day. We'll be able to demand concentration on those three R's you adore without wondering who's going to blow up, play hookey or develop a facial tic. We won't have to return to school ourselves every summer to learn the newest candy-coated technique for seducing your children into using their brains."

It's never been a question of the comparative value of new teaching methods and the old ones. For years now the real question has been "How can I get anything over to these restless, preoccupied kids who bring to my overcrowded class the effects of family confusion, parental overindulgence—the whole climate of adult self-doubt in which most of them live?"

If we want teachers to teach we can't also ask them to act as social workers. In their new methods is their confused answer to our demand that they do a double job. The subtle techniques don't work because upset children are alerted to them at home.

What we all need to do, teachers and public alike, is to stop blaming each other for social changes we could not control, and acknowledge that special psychological skills are the equipment for teaching many of today's youngsters.

Sweet Sour Sauce Adds Oriental Touch to Fowl

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Mrs. Robert Buehrig of Clarkston lived in Japan for four years and brought back a number of recipes from there. Strangely enough, she learned to make pizza in the land of teriyaki and sake. But the recipe she gave us is for chicken.

Mrs. Buehrig is talented along artistic lines. Her home holiday decorations are a delight to both her family and her friends. She and her husband belong to a dance club and she is a garden club member.

CHICKEN ORIENTAL
By Mrs. Robert Buehrig

1 broiler-fryer, cut up
1 teaspoon MSG
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 can (4 oz.) mushrooms
1 can (14 oz.) pineapple chunks
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
3 green peppers, cut in strips
2 onions, sliced
1 can water chestnuts
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
3 cups hot cooked rice

Put MSG on chicken and let stand 15-20 minutes. Brown in butter or margarine. Drain mushrooms and pineapple. Mix liquids and add enough water to make 2 cups. Pour over chicken. Bring to boil. Cover and simmer 1 hour.

Add all other ingredients except cornstarch and rice. Blend cornstarch with a little water and add to chicken. Cook until gravy is smooth. Serve over hot rice.

Blow Your Own Horn Play Up Abilities

By RUTH MILLETT

A woman can have just about everything and not know how to make the most of her assets.

Sue is like that. She's pretty. She's capable. She has a good mind. And she has a good education.

But Sue might as well not have any of these assets, for all the good they do her.

She is so timid and so afraid of ever looking different that most people don't even notice how pretty she really is.

She doesn't get credit for being half as capable as she is because she runs herself down, instead of subtly calling attention to her accomplishments.

She has good ideas but she is afraid to express them so she is the kind of person who is always wondering why something wasn't done by a group when if she had suggested the idea it might have been done.

Women who have a lot less to offer than Sue have left her sitting on the sidelines, feeling lonely and unappreciated, because they have made so much better use of their own abilities.

That's why it is smart for any woman who is secure enough so that life isn't a constant challenge to check up on herself now and then and make sure she is making the most of the gifts that are hers to use as best she can.

It's easy for such a woman to let herself become drab instead of vivid, to worry and talk about the things she is not good at, instead of concentrating on doing the things she can do well.

It's easy to fall into that habit—but it makes a woman so much less of a person than she could and ought to be.

The politician who hasn't any record to stand on usually jumps on somebody else's.

It's The Same Game . . . Abby

He Just 'Thinks Lot of You'? Then 3-Second Kiss Enough

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Should you let a man hold a kiss more than three seconds? If you have been seeing a lot of a man for over a year and he holds you in his arms and kisses you goodnight several times but has never told you he loves you (only that he thinks a lot of you) should you tell him you love him? I'm no teen-ager. I'm a widow, 53 years old and I'd like to know the answer. He's altogether different than my husband was.

NEED TO KNOW

ABBY

DEAR NEEDS: The game is the same and so are the rules. Only the players are different. Don't tell him you "love" him until he tells you first. If the best he can do is tell you he "thinks a lot of you," — three seconds is long enough to hold a kiss — then break the connection.

DEAR ABBY: My niece came here from France last December. She is 24. She met a young American on the ship coming over and they've kept steady company ever since. This man is 26. When they date, they stay out practically all night. He's studying to be a doctor and emphasizes it will be 5 or 6 years before he can marry. I think he's trying to get rid of her. I told her if she got a job and helped him, they could marry, but she said she didn't come here to work. Her visa is up in June. She wants to extend it. She does not help me in the house. Only eats, sleeps and goes out. What would you tell this lazy, unappreciative girl?

AUNT E.

DEAR AUNT: "Bon Voyage!"

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were married we were a "cute little couple" but fifteen years and four children later neither is so little any more. The trouble is, he weighs over 200 pounds. He eats constantly and is always nagging ME to go on a diet. He says it doesn't matter how fat a MAN gets, but it looks terrible on a woman. Can you beat that? I'd be willing to go on a diet if he would. Could you give me any suggestions?

PLUMP

DEAR PLUMP: First you've got to convince him that excess blubber doesn't look any better on him than it does on you. Then promise him for every pound HE loses, you'll lose one. On your mark. Get set. GO!

DEAR ABBY: When you double date, who should be taken home first? The driver's girl or his friends?

M. P.

DEAR M. P.: The "friends" are usually dropped off first, and the driver takes his date home last. BUT — if this entails a lot of unnecessary driving, consideration as to who lives where is in order.

Exercise Will Trim Hips

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Question Box

Q. "I am 16 years old and the correct weight but my measurements are out of proportion. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 24 and hips 39. What exercise can I do to reduce my hips and how many times a day should I do it? How long will it take to see a difference?"

A. Yes, you should lose at least two or three inches from your hip measurement. The following exercise is the best one. Sit on the floor with your legs resting on the floor in front of you, knees stiff. Lift both legs and lean back on the hands. Holding the legs in the air, roll onto the left side, catching yourself with your hands on the left side. Now roll over onto the right side catching yourself with both hands. Continue rolling from side to side.

The first day do this exercise only about 10 times. Gradually increase until you are doing it about 45 times daily. You will see the difference in a few weeks time.

Q. "I am planning a vacation this summer and I would like to look like something in a swim suit. I have a very small bust and I am out of proportion. My measurements are bust 30, waist 23 and hips 32 inches. All my friends are well built. I am 14 years old."

A. Your proportions are in quite good ratio. You must not worry because you have only a 30-inch bustline. You have plenty of time yet to develop. And, you know some girls develop sooner than others. If you want to make your bust look larger, be careful about posture and take chest developing exercises.

In today's column there is advice on how to "look like something in a bathing suit."

Q. "Would you please give me some advice? I am 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 110 pounds. I have a small bone structure. My bust measures 33, waist 23 and hips 35 inches. Am I underweight? How can I increase my bust and decrease my waist measurement?"

A. Even with a small frame you should gain about six or seven pounds. Your waist should not be any smaller. Your bust will fill out some with a gain in weight and you can take exercises to build up the chest muscles which lie underneath the bust.

Q. "Here is a question that is bothering me a great deal. I am 15 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 120 pounds. Please tell me how much overweight I am. I have a medium frame. My boy friends tell me that I am fat. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 26½ and hips 37."

A. You are not really fat and I think your boy friends must be teasing you. You might watch those extras and lose three or four pounds. Your measurements are pretty good but you have a tendency to be a little hippy. You might do hip-slimming exercises for a loss of an inch or two there.

Bissetts to Mark 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James Bissett of Emmons street, Birmingham, will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday. The affair will be held from 3 to 7 p.m.

The couple's daughter, Helen Ann Bissett, student nurse at Highland Park General Hospital School of Nursing, is planning the affair.

Guests from Ferndale, Mount Clemens, Utica, Royal Oak and Manitou Springs, Colo., are expected to attend.

Iron smaller items over larger ones to do two jobs at once, such as handkerchiefs over the back of shirts.

Here's Method for Application of Eye Shadow

For high-fashion eye shadow results, here are the latest application rules and techniques.

Apply foundation make-up over your entire face and eyelids. Stroke on eye shadow in the pattern you desire, making sure the deepest color appears at the base of the upper eyelashes. Smooth with fingertips and puff on a light face powder application.

After stroking on all other eye make-up carefully add more eye shadow to bring up the color to the brilliance-level fashion demands, taking special precautions not to disturb the eyebrows or the eye liner. Blend with the fingertips and enjoy the beauty of this make-up technique.

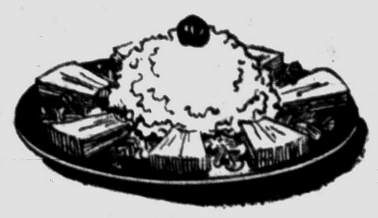

Sanding will be easier if you wrap a sheet of sandpaper around a padded block of wood.

Washington Has Jazz Wild as Arab Dancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The piano sets the pace and the pitch, the brass brays, then the clarinet comes on—cool as a robin on a spring-blossomed limb, wild as the writhings of an Arab girl dancer.

And then, man you've got jazz going.

Only reason I mention this is that tourists and most natives—the natives mostly flee to their suburbs at 5:01 p.m.—have the false impression that Washington folds up its sidewalks, turns off Congress and wraps the White House in cotton wool at sunset.

But Washington is one of the swingin'est jazz towns in the U.S.A.

There's Charlie Byrd at the Showboat, bogging and weaving over a guitar that twangs out rhythms which would drive a Gypsy mad.

There's Wild Bill Whelan at the Bayou, probably wearing a mad plaid jacket, blowing his lungs out through the bell of a trumpet.

And maybe best of all, if you will allow a personal preference, there is Booker Coleman at the Charles Lounge, with a Dixieland-type combo the like of which you are not going to hear this side of New Orleans and maybe not there.

Booker is a comfortably large Negro who sits at a grand piano, which he tunes himself, and, with his head swinging side to side like a jazzed-up metronome, and a pungent six-cent cigar at a 45-degree angle, wrings melody out of that piano.

There's always rock 'n' roll and hillbilly.

An outfit known as the Treniers is at the Casino Royal. I haven't heard them, and am not about to. They sound like, even at a distance, more than an old man can stand.

And if you don't like music at all, or at least nonclassical music, we've got live burlesque, and night clubs on the outskirts that would make a traveling salesman blush.

Just wanted you to know that Congress doesn't put on the only show in town.

Railroad Club Slates Steam Engine Trip

The Michigan Railroad Club, an organization that nostalgically prefers old-fashioned steam engines to diesels, will hold its annual jaunt via steam locomotive Sunday.

The public is invited to join the trip, leaving Pontiac at 9:15 a.m. for Jackson.

Tickets are available at the Pontiac depot of the Grand Trunk Railroad. The fare includes dinner in Jackson.

Marriage No Answer

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Mrs. Hsu Shih-hsien proposed to the Formosa Provincial Assembly a plan for reducing the number of Formosa's prostitutes — let the government arrange marriages between them and retired servicemen. Gov. Chow Chi-jou said the servicemen might not consider the prostitutes ideal spouses, and the prostitutes might not be enthusiastic for marriage.

Want Capitol's Dirty Bird Taken to the Cleaners

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Society for Ornithology decided that a stuffed eagle in the Assembly chamber in the state capitol at Madison is a dirty bird.

The society voted to seek permission to have "Old Abe," a bald eagle, sent to a taxidermist for cleaning and repairing.

Like Coals to Newcastle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Finland, increasing its exports, sent about 125,000 pounds of Swiss cheese to Monroe, Wis., the Swiss cheese center of the United States, Rep. Gerald T. Flynn (D-Wis) said, but Finland now has agreed to reduce its exports to past levels.

The two U.S. Senators from New York State were both born on May 18 — Kenneth B. Keating in 1900 and Jacob K. Javits in 1904.

There's No Heir Apparent to Gov. Earl Long's Throne

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—With fiery Gov. Earl K. Long in a Texas mental clinic awaiting a sanity hearing, the powerful Long faction that his brother Huey founded faces a governor's race in December with no heir apparent in sight.

"There is no heir apparent," says State Sen. Charles Deichmann, a Long leader from New Orleans. "Earl doesn't believe in grooming successors. He always busts up his organization and rebuilds after losing an election. When he's out, he wants the whole bunch out with him. That way everyone stays dependent on him and nobody gets big ideas."

For nearly 30 years the sulphur-tongued "last of the red hot poppas," as Earl once called himself, has been in and out of office, running for governor or lieutenant governor in every election since the hey-day of Huey, with the exception of 1952 when he tried to handpick a successor and lost overwhelmingly.

Huey Long, with his dynamic personality, his emotional appeal to the common man, his ruthless, power-grabbing tactics, founded the dynasty and bequeathed it a spiritual figurehead, the image of the "martyred Kingfish."

But to younger brother Earl, now 63 and in his third term as governor, must go the credit for rescuing the dynasty from the wreckage of the Louisiana scandals and building it into a lasting political machine by sheer force of politicking.

There are and have been other Longs on the Louisiana political scene. Huey's son is the state's junior U.S. senator. Another brother, George, died in office as a congressman. Huey's widow, Rose, filled out the remainder of the Kingfish's Senate term when an assassin's bullet cut him down. A third cousin, Speedy Long, 30, is now in the State Senate and regarded as a comer, even though elected as an anti-Long from Earl's home district.

But only Earl, of all the Long kin, has been able to don Huey's mantle and lay claim to his devoted personal following. This he has had to do for himself. Huey didn't believe in grooming successors either, even from inside the family.

Earl, who got his first political job from Huey and stumped faithfully in his behalf, found that out when he sought the lieutenant governor slot on the ticket that was to carry on the work while the Kingfish went on to the U.S. Senate and, so the dream went, to the presidency. Thinking the kid brother might be getting too big for his britches, Huey gave the nomination to a lesser member of the heirarchy. Earl in retaliation broke with his brother to run and lose on a rival ticket.

Claiming deathbed forgiveness, Earl managed to get back in the fold in time for the Louisiana scandals, the half-billion dollar plundering of the state treasury that followed in the wake of Huey's assassination. He moved up to the governorship when Dick Leche resigned to go to the penitentiary.

A tax and spend politician, Earl has made up for his lack of personal magnetism by appealing to the masses with liberal welfare benefits (highest in the nation), free school lunches, charity hospitals, rural roads, high teacher salaries, and by rigidly adhering to a spoils system of rewarding the faithful with jobs in return for obedience and contributions at campaign time.

Straw hat perched on the back of his head, stomach protruding over low slung trousers, Earl plays his champion of the poor role to the hilt, whether blistering "them lying newspapers" in a profanity-strewn stump speech or patrolling the aisles of the Legislature to browbeat passage of his bills.

Public office has been a way of life—more than that—an obsession, with him. In Louisiana, the governor can't succeed himself. But "Ole Uncle Earl" has tried every trick in and out of the book to keep himself in power. Defeated for governor in 1940, he tried to have himself named secretary of state when the nominee died without taking office. At the end of his 1948 term, he attempted to call a constitutional convention to extend his term without a vote of the people.

And next week's sanity hearing will determine whether he can carry out his latest scheme to resign in favor of Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar and then run to succeed him. The sound trucks are painted and waiting.

Without Earl doing the hoeing, the harvest this year could go to the anti-Long camp where several popular figures, like young Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans and former Gov. Jimmy Davis are eyeing the race. At the moment the big house on the hill that Huey built stands empty, and his followers seem reluctant to try the door. At least until they find out whether the big boss is coming back.

Janitor Won't Sign Oath, So $7,557 Pay Held Up

CHICAGO (UPI) — Hjalmer Andersson's savings were down to $300 today, even though he could put $7,557 in the bank just by signing his name.

The $7,557 represents Andersson's back earnings as a janitor at suburban Evanston High School. Andersson can have the money as soon as he signs an oath that he is not a Communist.

But Andersson, a devoted anti-Communist, has refused since 1957 to sign the so-called Broyles Oath, an anti-Communist loyalty clause required of all Illinois public school and state employes.

"It's this simple," Andersson says. "I will not sign the oath because I don't believe in it.

'WOULD SIGN IN MINUTE'

"I would sign it in a minute if I could find one person who would tell me what man — or what ideology — demands demands that the American people sign their loyalty away to him — or it.

"All I know is that the oath is against communism. So am I, but I want to know what it stands for beside that."

Ths onetime Gutenberg, Sweden, farmboy spent 30 years working for the Evanston school system before he was asked to sign the oath.

Now, he said, "There are times when I wonder what has happened to this country that I loved in the past generation."

Andersson said he left Europe and swore his allegiance to the United States in 1929 because then a man could not only protest things he didn't like in America, but also stand up for the things he did like.

"But this is not the same country anymore," Andersson said. "There has been something getting into its core and rotting it.

'GOOD MAN FALLS'

"Nearly all Americans today do anything for the almighty dollar—for a small portion of security," he said. "It has left it so that the really good man inevitably falls and the shallow man rises.

"There is only one value — materialism.

"The American people have become afraid and are driven by their fear into turning their backs on what they once believed."

The Internal Revenue Department has demanded that Andersson pay income taxes on the back earnings, which he refuses to collect. He lives in a small room in his uncle's house and does odd jobs.

Some of his old friends say he has a "persecution complex."

"But I don't expect them to understand," Andersson said.

Blames Uncle Sam for Woes

Bud Abbott, Broke, Plans to Team With Eddie Foy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Bud Abbott, broke but too proud to declare bankruptcy, said he and oldtimer Eddie Foy Jr. were teaming up as a new comedy act.

The 63-year-old straight man of the famed Abbott and Costello comedy team said he and Foy, 54, were trying to work out a routine for the nightclub and television circuit.

Foy is one of vaudeville's "Seven Little Foys."

Abbott, when he announced recently that he was deeply in debt, said there was "no use trying to work. They (the government) don't split the salary. They take it all, and you gotta pay taxes on top of it. I owe them half a million in deductions they didn't allow."

"Some people," he said today, "have written me asking me why I don't go into bankruptcy. But I wouldn't go into bankruptcy for a million dollars. If everybody doesn't crowd me, maybe I can straighten these debts out.

"Maybe I can work out some deal with the tax boys. If they'll only leave me a little, that's all I want. I gotta have some action."

Abbott's money problems have led him to put up his $75,000 home for sale plus most of his other assets collected during the rich years in the 1940s when he and Costello were show business's hottest comedy team.

"But I'm no fool," he said. "I'm not sure if Eddie Foy and I are perfectly suited to each other yet. That's something we have to work out. But he's a fine dancer and has wonderful pathos as a comedian.

"I know I said I didn't see the sense of teaming with another partner after Lou died last March 3, but the letters from all the people who read about my money troubles convinced me the public would accept me with someone else."

Abbott said he and Foy were brought together by Eddie Sherman, Bud's agent, and Leo Fitzgerald, Foy's business representative.

Unwanted at 1st, Negro Cheered

Educator Speaks at Flint High School's Commencement

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Alvin Loving, a Negro educator, whose invitation as commencement speaker first was rescinded under racial pressure and then reinstated after protests from high school pupils and teachers, was given a standing ovation as he stepped to the rostrum Wednesday night.

The class valedictorian discarded her prepared speech and, in tears, praised fellow seniors for their stand.

Loving, a faculty member of the University of Michigan's Flint branch, spoke to the 61 graduates of the all-white Flint Dye High School after the school board rescinded an earlier cancellation of his appearance.

The board first had bowed to pressure from citizens who objected to Loving as a speaker "because he is a Negro," siad Glen Hutchins, a school trustee in the all-white suburb of Flint Township.

The board voted unanimously to reverse itself.

There was no incident as Loving stepped to the platform. Instead he was greeted by an ovation from the 1,000 persons at the commencement exercises.

Loving said "nowhere but in America is it possible for one to receive a reception like I received tonight."

Speaking on "Democracy's hope—you," he told the graduates the world's future rested with young people.

Blonde Beverly Newton discarded her valedictory address. Instead, spending hardly more than a tearful minute on the stage, Beverly told her fellow graduates: "I think we've all learned more than we realize and will remember it the rest of our lives."

California, Here I Went

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—A dirty, luggage-laden station wagon was spotted bearing east under a sign that read: "California, here I went."

He'll Take Plant From Michigan if Dem Tax OK'd

DETROIT (AP)—A suburban Detroit tool manufacturer has threatened to move his plant from the state should the Legislature adopt any new form of taxation on personal or business income.

"I am getting fed up with all these taxes on business," said Roy G. Michell. He is board chairman of Eclipse Centerbore Co.

The firm makes cutting tools for metal fabricators. It employs 150 workers.

Michell expressed his views in a letter to House Spekaer Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan) prior to House defeat yesterday of the so-called piggy-back income tax. This measure would include a state levy on business firms totaling 12 per cent of the federal income tax they pay.

Michell said a business or personal income tax "is discriminatory as to individuals and stifling as to business expansion." He said he favored the Republican sales tax bill.

This One Should Fly

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A 1956 convertible parked at the Air Force Missile Test Center has a sticker on its bumper that reads: "Made at Cape Canaveral from used rocket parts."

Three Children Die Inside an Incinerator

RAY, N.D. (AP)—Three children burned to death in an incinerator here Wednesday.

It was possible the children crawled into the burner and the door blew shut behind them.

The victims were Rodney Brenden, 5; his sister, Debra, 4, and Larry Slater, 5.

The charred bodies were found by Larry's father, Dean Slater, while he was searching for the children.

Officers said they are investigating to determine when the fire was started and who started it.

Picked Right Office!

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (UPI)—Mrs. Clara Edwards Flake stepped on the gas. The pedal stuck, the car leaped the curb, smashed through a plate glass window and came to rest in the middle of an office—her lawyer's.

Is this girl sad because she can't go on this year's Pontiac Press Theater Tour? . . . Her name is Miyoshi Umeki. And you'll hear more about her Monday, June 15th!

Hollywood Headlines

Charles Boyer's Next Film to Co-Star Three Lovelies

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Picked up the story about Charles Boyer's next movie even before I had a chance to see his Broadway hit, "The Marriage-Go-Round" and pay him a visit backstage.

Early in 1960, Charles returns to Paris to star in "More Than One Love," the "loves" already lined up being Lilli Palmer, Felicia Farr and (they hope) Katherine Hepburn. Andre Cayatte will direct both versions, the English and the French. Of course, it's the kind of romantic yarn Charles does so well.

There's no let-up in the demand of fans to see Charles and Claudette Colbert in "Marriage-Go-Round," such a big hit, and I want to see them as soon as possible.

The pretty blonde from Memphis, Stella Stevens, whom 20th brought to Hollywood to test for the "Jean Harlow Story" and didn't get it — has picked herself off a compensating plum. Today, Panama and Frank set her for the part of Appasionatta von Climax in "Li'l Abner" at Paramount. Tina Louise did the part on Broadway and it made a star of her.

What happened to the suit Stella's husband filed in Memphis charging her with contempt of court for bringing their son to California? Maybe, like Vic Damone he had a change of heart.

Marlon Brando kept his word and paid off that $300 bonus he had offered to the extra registering the "best reaction" of horror in the mob watching the horse-whipping scene in "One-Eyed Jacks." The check went to Florine Carlan, a pretty hopeful, who is keeping her fingers crossed that being singled out by Marlon in this fashion will give her career the boost it needs.

It's funny how Marlon happened to offer the cash prize. As the star, he was taking a brutal beating from Karl Malden, but as the director he didn't think the extras were showing enough terror — so he baited 'em with loot.

Bright and early Shelley Winters telephoned to tell me that her husband, Tony Franciosa, turned down an offer to make a picture in Paris so that they can spend the summer together.

Shelley said, "We never work in the same place. While I was filming 'Diary of Anne Frank,' Tony was making a picture in Italy. While he was busy with 'Career' in Hollywood, I was in New York with my play."

She'll continue with her play, "A Piece of Blue Sky," until returning to California in August for "Let No Man Write My Epitaph." Luckily, there's a deal cooking for Tony to make a picture in Hollywood at the same time.

Soviet Astronauts Older Than U.S.'s

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The first Soviet astronauts-in-training — prospective pilots of manned satellites—are somewhat older than their American counterparts.

This information was picked up by American scientists and educators who attended a week-long meeting of the International Aeronautic Federation in Moscow, and then made a 10-day tour of widely scattered Soviet cities. The delegates made a 24-hour stop here Thursday on their homeward air journey.

Brig. Gen. Don Flickinger, medical assistant to the commander of the U.S. Air Force Research and Development Command, learned from questioning leaders in Soviet space medicine that the average age of the Soviet astronauts is above that of the seven U.S. Mercury astronauts now training at Langley Field, Va. He said that the Soviet requirements were considerably less severe than those for the U.S. astronauts.

Consider Proxmire for Presidential Bid

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) and Gov. Gaylord Nelson loomed large on the Democratic presidential nomination scene in Wisconsin today—the eve of a flying trip by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) to the state and its important preferential primary next April.

Supporters of Humphrey and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) acknowledge they expect their favorites to fight it out as White House candidates in the delegate election.

Nelson, the first Democrat to be Wisconsin's chief executive in more than a quarter century, has suggested that a bitter Humphrey-Kennedy battle in Wisconsin could hurt the party and both principals. He has proposed that Proxmire run in the primary as a favorite son candidate.

To this Proxmire has said he is of an open mind, though preferring not to run. But if he does,

Dreams Up Fire

GEARY, Okla. (AP) — An early morning dash was made by firemen to a Geary house. A woman told Cheif Lloyd McNeely a neighbor boy ran into her house shouting "fire, fire." Turned out 13-year-old Clarence Pickett was sleep walking.

13-Year-Old Boy Plays Role of Mother Pigeon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Stanley Burgi, 13, stayed awake all night to hatch a pigeon.

He kept the egg, from which sounds of the baby's pecking were coming, warm in his hands.

Stanley said the mother pigeon flew away and didn't come back to her nest. After the hatching, he took over the job of feeding with an eyedropper.

Heart of the Matter

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI)—When authorities responded to a burglar alarm at a suburban fishing resort, they found that the alarm's $125 power unit had been stolen.

When You're in Doubt, Go to Expert for Help

CARTHAGE, N. Y. (UPI) — While doing a term paper on the life of John Masefield, England's poet laureate, high school senior Judy LeRoux came across three different years for his date of birth.

So she wrote Masefield a letter and received a handwritten note from the poet stating he was born June 1, 1878.

Journey To Love

By Virginia Nielsen

© 1959 by Virginia Nielsen. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: The Lurline, with Kathie Ebberts aboard, now has come within sight of Hawaii. Kathie is spending a $1,500 legacy to go there to investigate some property.

CHAPTER XIV

The hills back of Honolulu, plainly visible now, were the greenest she had ever seen, and overhead the clouds were the whitest white.

Bea Powers pointed out Waikiki Beach, and the great hotels, creamy yellow and Bermuda pink. Kathie could just make out the leaning coconut palms above the line of sand.

The ship had almost stopped while the welcoming party boarded from a tug.

An orchestra composed of enormously large and swarthy men wearing bright aloha shirts and great good-natured grins, struck up a lively hula as soon as they reached the deck, and two of the girls went into the graceful, hip-swaying dance.

Other girls were throwing leis, beautiful necklaces of strung blossoms, around the necks of celebrities and fortunate others who rated an official welcome, and passing hibiscus blossoms prodigally among all the passengers.

Sam came edging through the crowd toward them, his arms full of fragrant blossoms. He threw two leis over Kathie's head and kissed her warmly.

"Aloha, darling," he said, and Kathie's pique evaporated as a warm flush broke over her cheeks.

He had leis for Leilani and her mother, and each of them received an enthusiastic kiss.

"Sam, how sweet of you!" Bea cried excitedly.

STOOD STILL

Kathie was too full of emotion to express her feelings. She stood still, drawing in the heady tropical fragrance of the pale yellow and deep magenta blossoms, loving the satiny caress of their petals against her skin, intoxicated by the color of the scene around her and the music and the excitement of the entire crowd which she felt to her bones.

Beside her, Alex said, "You make me wish I were seeing it for the first time!" he said.

Bea Powers, who overheard him, protested. "But it's always exciting, Alex."

"Not like Kathie is exciting," Leilani said, laughing. "Look at her! She can't even wiggle."

Sam was being drawn away from them by friends who had come out on the official tug. He called back to them. "If I lose you, I'll see you at the hotel."

"Are you going to be at the Poinciana, too?" Alex asked Kathie with an odd look.

She nodded.

"We'll all meet there, then," Leilani said. "Alex is coming to lunch with us. Aren't you, darling?"

"If I can get away from Grandfather," Alex said.

"He isn't meeting you?" Bea asked him.

'NOT HIM'

Alex grinned one sidedly. "Grandfather? Not him. He seldom stirs from his hotel room these days. Does all his business by telephone."

Kathie went by the purser's office and picked up her deed. With it in her handbag again, she lost her feeling of security and began to feel uneasy. But she had conceived a plan.

Her luggage would go on to the hotel without her. If she could escape the others and get ashore first, she would take a taxi and go directly to the Recorder's office and discover at once whether or not there was any value in her old deed.

She was ready to leave her stateroom when a steward approached her door. "A letter for you, Miss Ebberts," he said.

"A letter!" she exclaimed. A prickle of fear went through her.

The steward was smiling broadly. "The tug brought some mail aboard.

She took the envelope and turned it over gingerly. Stunned, she recognized Buck Landers' large awkward scrawl, and she saw his return address up in the corner: "RFD 3, LaBelle, California."

It had been sent by air and was addressed to her in care of the ship at Honolulu.

'I'M SORRY'

She read: "Kathie:

"I'm sorry I was so stubborn. I should have talked to you again and maybe I could have made you see you was foolish to go, but you made me so darn mad.

I wanted to tell you that if you will come back before you spend all your Uncle Job's money I will forget all about it and we can get married just as we planned.

The place hasn't been rented yet and I think the bank will let me have it, but we will need a couple horses, and some cows. Also I would like a few pigs and chickens. So don't be throwing any more money away."

Kathie made a wry face. She had imagined herself in love with Buck because he was the only boy she had gone out with. Knowing men like Alex Norris and Sam Ward made Buck seem crude.

She thought with a shiver of how many times he would throw it up to her about spending her small inheritance on an expensive trip if she should weaken. The care with which he had said "before you spend all your Uncle Job's money" reminded her that he was on record that she needn't look for help if she came home penniless.

Slowly she tore the letter across, then tore the pieces again and again. When she had only a handful of tiny scraps, she went to her porthole and stuck her hand through and let them drift down into the sea.

She was burning her bridges behind her.

Education Plan of Flint Praised

Michigan Congressman Ties Success to Local Interest, Enthusiasm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "do it yourself" approach of Flint, Mich. in solving its educational needs was praised today by Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain (R-Mich).

Chamberlain said the "birth, growth and success" of Flint's school program can be traced directly to widespread interest and enthusiasm on the local level.

"Money—even federal money—will not buy that kind of support," Chamberlain said in a speech prepared for the House.

He said Flint voters approved a tax levy for new schools, including a four-million-dollar high school, by a 4 to 1 margin during the 1957 industrial recession, because the community is whole-heartedly behind community educational efforts.

An important reason for the local interest in schools, he said, is the Flint "total education" program, which keeps school buildings open evenings and weekends for student and adult education, recreation and cultural programs.

He said Flint was fortunate in having the leadership of Charles Stewart Mott, an auto industry pioneer and Flint philanthropist, but that other cities are equally able to fill their own school needs.

"Because of the diversity of our cities and our people," he said, "no pat federal formula will provide it. It must come from the interests, the energies, the aspirations of each locality."

Girl Almost Gets Away With Story

EMPIRE, Calif. (UPI)—A teenaged girl with a vivid imagination almost talked residents of this northern California community into sending her to Texas.

The girl said Texas was her home, that she was 16 years old, that she'd been married recently in Tijuana, Mexico, but that her husband had abandoned her after taking her rings to pawn for food.

Several sympathetic townspeople raised $6 to send the girl back home, but a check by sheriff's deputies determined that she was actually 14, lived in Empire and had dreamed up the story so she could run away from home.

Plane Crash Kills Two Flint Men

Mishap Occurs During Heavy Storm; CAA Orders Probe

STANDISH (AP)—Howard G. Bigelow, 47, and his father-in-law, Thomas Kintish, 70, both of Flint, were killed yesterday when their small plane crashed in a field near here during a heavy wind-rain storm.

State Police said the two men were on a flight from Oscoda to Flint. The CAA has ordered an investigation to determine the cause of the crash.

The plane was owned by the Trio Flying Club of Flint. Bigelow was flying at the time of the crash.

Bigelow was president of the Kurtz Gravel Co. of Flint, and was associated with Kurtz - Bigelow Land Co.

Kintish was a retired Buick Motor Division employe.

The single - engine, four-place Piper plunged into an oat field a half mile from Saginaw Bay in Aranac County. Bigelow's body was trapped in the wreckage. Kintish was found 50 feet away.

Navy to Reduce Seaway Ships

Traffic Problem Also May Bring Restriction on Pleasure Craft

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Adm. Jerauld Wright, Atlantic fleet commander, has cut to three per day the number of U. S. Navy ships permitted to pass through the St. Lawrence Seaway to the Great Lakes this month.

Wright's action was prompted by Canadian protests that the scheduled 28-ship Atlantic Fleet force would clog the new inland waterway.

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal harbor and St. Lawrence Seaway pilots threatened today to walk out one week from now unless the Federal Transport Department settles some long standing grievances, including who will pilot Queen Elizabeth's yacht when she comes here.

They said that as federal employes they were unable legally to go on strike, but they would get around that by holding a "general meeting" here.

About 50 pilots who navigate most ships in the Montreal area and between Montreal and the Great Lakes are affected.

MASSENA, N. Y. (UPI)—Small pleasure craft attempting to navigate the full length of the St. Lawrence Seaway on vacation cruises this summer may find their way blocked.

A spokesman for the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. said here yesterday that the regulations prohibit boats under 20 feet in length, and less than two tons deadweight, from passing through Canadian locks on the Seaway.

The rule may mean the loss of several millions of dollars already spent on construction of marinas along the way, and cancellation of extended vacation plans of many boat owners.

Talk Sense Is Advice Given at Graduation

That was the thought left Thursday with the graduating class of the University of Southern California. The speaker was Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Harnwell, an atomic physicist, advised the 3,562 graduates to try to talk sense while being moderate and to "avoid being misled by the nonsense so frequently talked by others."

Clue to Susan Proves Hoax

Report of Missing Girl Hiding in Synagogue Is Crank Call

DETROIT (AP)—Police interrupted services at a Jewish synagogue today to investigate a report that missing 14-year-old Susan Lawrence was in the building. Officers said it was a hoax.

It was the third such crank call since the tiny high school freshman vanished mysteriously four days ago.

Scout cars converged on Congregation Shaarey Zedek in midtown Detroit when a man identifying himself as a janitor called police at 11 a.m. and said he had found Susan hiding in the basement.

Squads of officers searched the building and neighboring areas without result. Three janitors in the building, where services were being conducted, denied any knowledge of the call.

Susan has been missing since Monday and police have run down hundreds of tips without a solid lead.

Senior Detective Inspector Thomas Cochill said suicide was possible. He notified all precincts along the Detroit River to be especially watchful.

Susan's diary, discovered late Wednesday, carried this entry: "I hate living. Sometimes I think if I were dead, all this would end."

Police also said she may be a runaway. But it is believed she was carrying less than $3. And policewomen noted that the girl, small for her age, would find it hard to escape notice in public in view of the widespread search.

A school notebook belonging to Susan was found yesterday in a stairway at Mumford High School where she attended. Police searched the building in the belief she had been hiding there at night. But no trace of the girl was found.

Officers said another student may have borrowed the notebook, then discarded it after the girl was reported missing.

Susan's father, Lester, a shoe store manager, said he believes his only daughter has been slain. He recalled the case of 7-year-old Barbara Gaca, who disappeared in March 1955, on Detroit's east side and was found dead a week later. The slaying has not been solved.

Poor Seller for City Garbage Cans Found

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—It cost the city more than $2,000 to find out there's no great need for garbage cans in Gadsden.

When curb pickup of garbage began in 1955 the city bought 10,000 garbage cans for resale to the public. The cans cost $2.47 each.

Recently the city commission accepted the offer of a private appliance company to take the last 2,500 of the cans off the city's hands at $1.50 each.

3 City Nurses Win in Contest

Pontiac General Trio to Get Prizes for Idea Improving Charts

Three Pontiac General Hospital nurses have placed in the second annual achievement contest sponsored by the Michigan Hospital Assn.

Winners are Helen Harper, director of nursing; Mrs. Josephine Harlan and Grace Bloomstrand.

The nurses will receive their prize at the association's 40th annual convention in Detroit June 22. What position they placed in will be disclosed then.

The contest is to help hospitals exchange ideas that save money and improve service and efficiency.

The Pontiac General nurses submitted as their entry a plan which they helped develop three years ago to improve the daily charts by which nurses indicate the hour-by-hour progress of patients.

All patient charts at the hospital are now audited by a team of nurses. Any errors, faults or inadequacies are pointed out to the entire nursing staff.

As a result, doctors at Pontiac General are now better informed of the exact status of each patient's condition, the nurses said.

The prizes which the nurses have qualified for range from $4,000 in cash awards to honorable mention certificates. First prize is $1,000.

The association announced that there were 45 winners among the 230 ideas submitted in the contest.

Graduation Celebration Ends

Oxford Students in Crash

Three Oxford High School seniors ended up at Pontiac General Hospital early this morning after a night of graduation parties.

Oxford Police said the youths had been stopped earlier last night for stripping cars. Their celebrating came to an abrupt halt at 4:30 a.m. when their auto smashed into a tree at Pontiac and Dennison streets in Oxford.

The driver of the car, which reportedly carried five youths, was Philip Bogert, 17, of 505 First St., Oxford. He and Terry Dodds, 18, of 30 Stanton St., were treated for injuries and released.

A third youth, Stanley E. Powell, 18, of 3063 Dryden Rd., Metamora, is in fair condition today and scheduled to undergo surgery this afternoon for serious facial cuts suffered when he was hurtled through the windshield.

Police said that one of the teenagers was playing with a car aerial in the back seat and had thrown Bogert's coat on the floor.

Bogert turned to retrieve his coat and lost control of the car, officers said.

Firestone, UAW Sign Peace Pact

Last of 3 Walkouts Ends; Was Longest One Against Major Firm

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers today signed an agreement to end a 58-day-old strike of 18,000 employes in eight cities.

The Firestone strike was the last and longest of three walkouts involving all major rubber companies except Goodyear.

It was the longest strike in URW history against a major producer.

J. E. Trainer, executive vice president of Firestone, said every effort is being made to get employes back on the job quickly.

Thursday, in their fourth consecutive night session, negotiators cleared up most of their differences on a five-year pension agreement and two-year master contract.

Some work on language and other details, however, delayed agreement until today.

Word of the still unofficial agreement was given by union leaders to local union leaders in the eight cities with Firestone plants.

The union and Firestone agreed to basically the same pension program included in a settlement that ended a 55-day strike by 14,000 B. F. Goodrich Co. workers Tuesday.

Trainer estimated the average Firestone employe lost slightly more than $900 in wages for the 58 days of the strike, and the total loss in basic payroll was about 17 million dollars.

Mason was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with a fractured neck and was reported in satisfactory condition today. He told police he was waiting for the signal to change when hit.

Flint Boy Electrocuted by Touching Trailer

FLINT (AP) — Five-year-old David N. Cordell was electrocuted accidentally last night as he and his parents were looking at trailers at a Flint sales lot.

Police said David and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Cordell were standing by a trailer when the boy touched an open door. He screamed and collapsed. His mother grabbed him and received a shock.

David was dead on arrival at Hurley Hospital. His mother was uninjured.

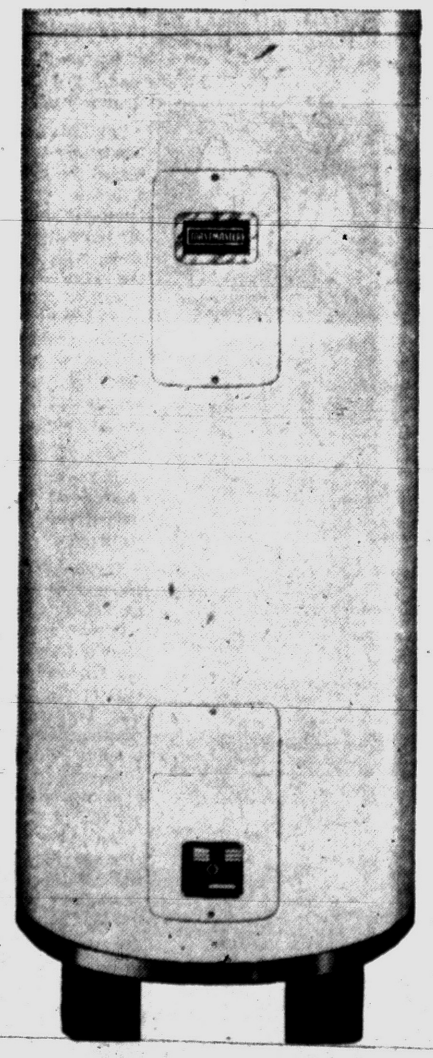

Police theorized that a lightning bolt glanced off a utility pole and charged the trailer briefly. It was raining at the time.

MAMARONECK, N.Y. — Ben Hogan didn't jump with joy when he heard yesterday that the 1961 National Open was awarded to Oakland Hills Country Club.

Not that he has anything against the club on Maple Road, but Hogan, like many other of the top pros, have often referred to it as the Open "Monster" of 1951.

Oakland Hills was revamped and the course was regarded as the most difficult at which any Open had been played. Prior to that, Oakmont (Pa.) Country Club was recognized as the "terror" of the USGA championship with its tourneys in 1927 and 1935.

In 1953, Oakmont eased its layout and Hogan shattered the course with a 283 total.

Last year Tulsa's Southern Hills Country Club, was bestowed the "monster" nickname, but the memories of Oakland Hills still stays with Hogan.

He still regards the 67 in the final 18 holes at Oakland Hills as his greatest single round and he did it by playing the back nine in 32. His scores for the 287 total were 76-73-71-67.

Only other sub-par round of the championship was Clayton Heafner's 69, which gives an indication of what Hogan means about playing the toughened course.

The dates for the 1961 Open have been set as June 15-17. This presents an ideal situation for the city of Pontiac in its Centennial celebration that year, and it also gives Oakland County a chance to show off its great natural facilities for outdoor sports and recreation.

The National Open now ranks second to the World Series and just ahead of the annual football All-Star game for the amount of press, radio and TV coverage given to an athletic event.

The crowds at the Open the past couple of years have reached great proportions, and as justified as we are in boasting of our county's golf wealth, we should set plans far in advance to prove that our area can have the best attendance and best run Open tournament ever.

The Open attendance record was set at Toledo when 39,676 paid $166,540 at Inverness in 1957. Together with clubhouse admissions the money total went to $183,892.

Last year at Tulsa 33,000 paid $153,025 in gate tickets and an additional $32,784 in clubhouse sales for a total record of $185,809.

Winged Foot expects to shatter these records and after it does, then we can start saying, "What Winged Foot can do, Oakland Hills can do better."

DITTOS FROM THE OPEN

Gene Bone drove to Mamaroneck in a courtesy car given him by the sponsors of the Buick Open to be held at Warwick Hills where Gene is now Pro. Gene Jr., 19 months old, made the trip like a "real trooper" said Bone, but his wife Wilhemina has stayed at the motel all week with the flu.

An editorial in a New York paper Thursday calling for a stop to inflation should have been passed on to the cab drivers in Mamaroneck.

The first trip from the Mamaroneck train depot to the course cost 65 cents and the return 75 cents. The next day, going it cost $1.00 and returning it was $1.25 each for hardly a two-mile drive and with four and five in a cab.

"These few days could end any existence of a recession in Mamaroneck," commented one of the writers.

Only Four Golfers Manage to Break Par in National Open

Winged Foot a Challenging Links

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor Pontiac Press

MAMARONECK, N. Y. —The West Course of Winged Foot Golf Club, referred to by many pros as a "tough but fair test for golf" is again presenting a real challenge to the 150 entries in the 59th annual USGA Championship.

Back in 1929, Bobby Jones won the Open at Winged Foot after firing a course record of 69 in the opening round. Yesterday, par busting was at a premium, and 69 again was the best any player could total.

Only four players, including Ben Hogan, Dow Finsterwald, Dick Knight and Gene Littler, came in 1-under par which has been set at 70 for the West Course.

Amateur Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn., was the only other entry to match par, with 10 others going over the regulation figure.

After a troublesome start, Pontiac's Gene Bone settled down and turned in a 34 for the back nine to add to his 38 for a total of 72, to lead the Michigan players and to keep him in good distance of the leaders.

The rugged back nine, with a pair of tricky par-3 holes, proved to be disastrous for many players as Bone and only five others came in under the regulation of 35.

Playing in his first Open, the former Pontiac Central golf ace and now Warwick Hills pro, started out with bogeys on the second and third holes.

He fell short with his second shot on the par-4 second hole and his chip shot went 20 feet past the pin as he two putted for the bogey.

On the next hole he blasted out of the trap on his second shot but the ball fell 18 feet short and he two putted again for a bogey-4.

On the 9th hole, his second shot again went into the trap and his blast was 10 feet short, giving him a bogey-5 after two-putting.

"I had a couple of butterflies when I started out," Bone said, "but I settled down on the back nine and really started hitting my drives. Since I was falling short on many of my shots I decided to let loose and go for distance instead of trying for position."

On the par-3, 10th hole, Bone put a 4-iron shot 15 feet above the cup and he dropped it for a birdie. He added another "bird" on the 14th after dropping a five-footer following a beautiful approach shot.

But on the 17th, Bone needed to make an 8-footer for par. He said he "misread the green" and the ball broke far ahead of the cup.

Amateur Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile turned in a 74 for the second best score among Michigan entries. Wally Burkemo, with a 37-38—75, had putting difficulties as he missed five putts five feet or shorter.

Two of the putts, including one on his bogey-5, 18th green, were less than four feet away.

Chick Harbert of Meadowbrook started out with three straight bogeys and never was able to recover as he went out in 41 and came with 37 for a 78 total. Tom Draper of Birmingham finished with a 38-42—80.

Lee Raymond, young Toledo pro who led the qualifying field in Detroit, finished with a 40-41—81.

The galleries excitedly watched as Hogan took the front nine in 32 strokes, 3-under par, but after the bogey-4 on the 13th it appeared that the great little veteran began to tire.

His four-iron shot on the 212-yard hole went into the right bunker and his blast went across the green to the edge. He two-putted for the bogey.

Coming up the 18th fairway slowly, Hogan put his 3-iron shot high at the top of the green 35 feet from the pin. His first putt fell five feet short and he missed his chance for par and a 68 by three-putting.

The 18th green was tough to read, according to Burkemo, Bone and Hogan, and this was evidenced by the many short putts which were missed.

Don Fairfield, shooting for par on the 18th, was hardly 30 inches from the cup. His putt was strong and it hit the back lip and rolled off, giving him a 71 for the round.

Cary Middlecoff also muffed a chance of getting a 70. His second shot on 18 dropped into the left trap, but he then missed his blast altogether as the ball rolled only eight inches away.

Embarrassed and angry, Middlecoff blasted again, sent the ball within three feet and dropped it for a bogey-5.

"I played better the back nine, except for the 18th, after scratching my way through the first five holes," said Middlecoff.

One of the top favorites, Arnold Palmer, stayed in contention with a 71 after going out in 34. Host pro Claude Harmon and veteran Doug Ford were among those in the 72 bracket.

Gene Bone faced elimination from Saturday's final rounds after skyrocketing to an 80 this morning. This gives him a 152 total for the 36 holes. The cut for the last day is expected to be around 148.

The dejected Pontiac pro was the first player off the tee today under dark skies and a steady drizzle. He started out with four straight pars, which was far better than his start Thursday when he bogied two of the first three holes.

Then the roof caved in. He bogied the par five 5th hole and missed putts of three and five feet for bogies on the 8th and 9th to make the turn in 38.

On the 10th he pulled his tee shot into the trap, then missed a three-foot putt for a double-bogey five. Te then bogied the 11th, 12th, 13th, 16th and 17th holes.

From the 11th hole on, Bone was pulling his iron shots badly following strong tee shots.

Sam Snead, still trying for his 1st Open title, said after firing a 73, "I drove badly, I chipped badly, I putted badly and I just played badly, but I guess I should be happy because its the best first round score in five years for me in the Open."

A crowd estimated at 16,100 watched the opening round for a new first day record. Best previous opening day crowd was at Baltusrol GC in New Jersey in 1954 with 12,500 in attendance.

Detroit Is Now Only 2½ Games From Top Spot

Kaline, Bridges, Kuenn Help Narleski to 8-1 Win at Boston

NEW YORK (AP) — It was on to Yankee Stadium today for the comeback kids!

The Detroit Tigers squared off in a four-game series against the defending world champion New York Yankees after taking three out of four from the punchless Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers, looming as a bigger threat every day to the American League pennant others have tried to kick away, banged out 15 hits yesterday in raking the Red Sox 8-1.

The triumph, coupled with New York's loss to Kansas City, left Detroit in fourth place 2½ games behind the front-running Chicago White Sox; one half game behind third-place Baltimore and a full game ahead of the fifth-place Yankees.

Ray Narleski, hit hard in both starting and relief jobs, finally came through with a nifty five-hitter. Only a screaming home run by Ted Williams spoiled Narleski's shutout.

A trio of .300 hitters — Al Kaline, Rocky Bridges and Harvey Kuenn — made Narleski's third triumph a comparatively simple one by rapping out a total of seven hits in 13 trips.

Kaline cracked his 12th home run and added a pair of singles. Bridges doubled and also had two singles and Kuenn had a single in three trips. Narleski helped himself to a triple in the hitting feast off rookie Ted Wills and Mike Fornieles.

It was a scoreless duel between Narleski and Wills for five innings. Detroit went ahead in the sixth when Red Wilson doubled, went to third on Bridges' single and scored on an infield out.

Williams' home run, his second, tied the game in the bottom half.

But Detroit, again showing the late-inning strength that has helped the club jump from last to a breath away from first place, bunched three hits in the seventh for three more runs, and iced the game with a four-run splurge in the ninth.

Kaline, who drove in three runs, singled across the tie-breaker and Wilson doubled home two more. Kaline hit his home run in the ninth for two runs, and three singles and Bridges' double shoved across two more before Fornieles retired the side.

It was another banner day for Kaline at the plate. He collected four hits in Wednesday's triumph.

Narleski walked only two batters and except for Williams, no Boston runner got past second base.

It was a starting job manager Jimmie Dykes had to have. Starting Narleski was a near-desperation move, since the Tiger staff has been getting some rough treatment despite the recent successes. Frank Lary has been weakened by a virus and Dykes had to hold him out of the Boston series.

But Lary will face his old cousins, the Yankees, in one of the games in Sunday's doubleheader.

HURRYING HOGAN — Ben Hogan went hurrying to the 16th green after his chip shot hit the flag. The break set him up for a four on the hole on his way to a 69 and a tie for 1st going into today's 2nd round of the U. S. Open.

Pierce Stops Solons With One Hit

By The Associated Press

Billy Pierce missed that elusive no-hitter he's come so close to nailing again last night, coming off with the fourth one-hitter of his career—tops among active pitchers in the majors.

This one wasn't quite as neat as the other three, but it was the most important, hoisting the Chicago White Sox into a 1½ game lead in the American League with a 3-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Pierce, whose last one-hitter was a 3-0 decision over the Senators June 27 last year in a pitching performance that was perfect for 8 2-3 innings, gave up a third inning double by Ron Samford last night then pushed the run across with three consecutive walks.

The stubby southpaw 32 walked five and struck out six and wasn't sure of his seventh victory until the White Sox scored twice in the ninth.

That added a half game to Chicago's lead as Cleveland replaced Baltimore in second place by beating the Orioles 2-1. Rocky Colavito, who tied a major league record with four home runs Wednesday night, was hitless in his first three trips, but doubled home the deciding run in the eighth as the Indians won two in a row for the first time in three weeks.

Detroit regained fourth place by belting Boston 8-1 as Kansas City skidded New York to fifth 9-5.

The White Sox nicked Camilo Pascual for a third-inning run on Jim Landis' single and a double by Nellie Fox. But they couldn't do it again until Landis delivered a two-run, two-out double in the ninth. Pascual (4-7) had gone to a 3-2 count on four batters—giving up a single by Sherm Lollar and a walk — before losing his third in a row on Landis' two-bagger. He allowed nine hits.

Colavito's double, following a walk to Woody Held, broke up a 1-1 duel between southpaw Don Ferrarese of the Indians and Milt Pappas of the Orioles. Both finished with seven-hitters and 5-3 records. Dick Brown's single, a sacrifice and Held's single scored Cleveland's first run in the fifth inning. But Billy Gardner then tied it up with his second home run of the season in the Birds' fifth.

Right-hander Ned Garver (5-4) needed relief in the ninth, but beat the Yankees for the first time since 1955.

A Bookmaker at the Open!

MAMARONECK, N. Y. — Nat Wolensky of Chattanooga, Tenn., charged with illegal bookmaking in connection with the U. S. Open golf tournament, was arraigned last night and released in $500 bail.

Wolensky, 49, was arrested yesterday at the Winged Foot Golf Club during the first round of the Open. Dist. Atty. Joe Gagliardi said Wolensky had $4,000 on him, $5,000 in betting slips, and printed sheets showing odds on players.

WHAT A CATCH — Whitey Herzog, Kansas City outfielder, leaps high over the barrier to take a home run away from Yogi Berra in Thursday's 9-5 win for the Athletics. He had to be carried from the field with back bruises after the play when he struck the fence. His replacement, Dick Williams, later toppled over the fence but was unhurt trying to spoil a homer.

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS
By The Associated Press

Sword Dancer Belmont Stakes Choice Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP) — Sword Dancer, the flashy little chestnut colt from the Brookmeade Stable who was nosed out in the Kentucky Derby is the lukewarm 7-5 favorite for the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes tomorrow.

However, the distinction is perilous, because only three favorites have won the mile and one half 3-year-old classic in the last 10 years. They were Native Dancer, Nashua and Needles.

Trainers trooped to the entry box today, and a field of seven or eight was expected, with Sword Dancer, Mrs. Halina Braunstein's Royal Orbit, and the King Ranch's Black Hills seen as the ones to beat.

Trainer Moody Jolley of the Claiborne Farm was to make up his mind about entering Dunce. The others expected for the 91st and richest Belmont are Howard Keck's Bagdad, Emil Dolce's Manassa Mauler, W. M. Ingram's Scotland, and P. H. B. Frelinghuysen's Lake Erie.

Royal Orbit, who whipped Sword Dancer by four lengths in the Preakness last month, was listed as the second choice at 2-1, with Black Hills next at 3-1. Black Hills upset Royal Orbit in the Peter Pan last week.

However, the chips will be down tomorrow in the finale of the Derby-Preakness Belmont Triple Crown series. All starters carry 126 pounds. In the Pete Pan, Royal Orbit had 127, and finished third, while Black Hills carried 113. Bagdad, who ran second, had 118.

Sword Dancer came into his own after being runnerup in the Derby and Preakness when he beat older horses easily in the $100,000 Metropolitan Handicap May 30.

He'll be ridden by Willie Shoemaker, who won the 1957 Belmont and set an American record of 2:26 3-5 with Gallant Man in turning back Bold Ruler and Eddie Arcaro. Arcaro, who will be seeking his seventh Belmont victory, wil ride Black Hills. Bill Harmatz is Royal Orbit's jockey.

West Michigan 9 in NCAA Opener

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Oklahoma State and Western Michigan, ranked two and three in the final ratings by college coaches, tangle tonight in the opening game of the 1959 NCAA college World Series.

Top-ranked Southern California, the defending national baseball champion, has been placed on probation for a recruiting violation and is not eligible for the tournament.

A single afternoon game and an evening doubleheader tomorrow will complete first round play in the series. The four second round contests will be played Sunday.

Podres' 2-Hitter Blanks Phils, 11-0

By The Associated Press

It took Johnny Podres five years and a little more than a month to pitch his first two-hitter in the majors. Now the stocky southpaw has put away two in less than three weeks.

He got the second last night, giving up only a leadoff single by Richie Ashburn and a fourth-inning single by Wally Post while pitching Los Angeles to an 11-0 victory at Philadelphia. That gave the Dodgers full command of third place in the National League.

Podres, whose other two-hitter was an 8-0 job on San Francisco May 25, now has won five straight, topping the Dodger staff with a 7-2 record. The 26-year-old lefty has a 6-1 record on the road, where he managed only a 2-11 mark last season when he finished with a 13-15 record.

Podres' 15th shutout in the majors left the Dodgers within two games of second place San Francisco, beaten 12-9 at Pittsburgh. That plunked the Giants two games back of Milwaukee's first place Braves, who won 8-0 at St. Louis behind Bob Buhl's five-hitter.

Don Newcombe also collected a shutout, giving up nine hits while winning his fifth in a row in an 8-0 Cincinnati victory at Chicago. The loss dropped the Cubs into a fourth place tie with Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers made it a breeze for Podres by rapping five Phil pitchers for 19 hits. Don Demeter had four, driving in five runs and smacking a pair of homers, one a three-run shot in the first inning that handed the loss to Robin Roberts (4-5).

Podres, who has pitched seven three-hitters in his career, struck out six and gave up three walks —to Joe Koppe in the third and fifth, and to Ashburn in the sixth. Then he retired the last dozen men he faced for a string of 17 shutout innings. He has never pitched a no-hitter or a one-hitter.

Buhl (6-3), coming back after last year's arm trouble, won his fourth in a row with his second shutout. He walked four, struck out eight. The Braves, who had lost two straight, collected five runs on homers by Casey Wise and Del Crandall. Wilmer Mizell (7-3) was the loser as the Cards' winning string ended at three.

Things were sloppy at Pittsburgh. The Pirates and Giants combined for a dozen errors and 11 unearned runs. The Giants first blew a 5-0 lead, then booted away an 8-7 edge when two errors set up a five-run eighth for the Bucs against losing reliever Stu Miller (3-2). That saved it for unbeaten Roy Face, who won his 14th in a row and ninth of the season, in relief of Bob Friend after giving up Willie Mays' three run pinch homer in the eighth.

Dick Stuart hit his 10th homer for the Bucs and Willie Kirkland hit his ninth and 10th for the Giants, giving him four in four days. It also was the 10th for Mays, benched because of a slump and a bruised hip, but the first pinch-hit homer among his 266 in the majors.

Newk (6-4) gained his 23rd shutout, but first since Aug. 21, 1957, with his fifth straight complete game. Roy McMillan's three-run homer, his ninth, wrapped it up against loser Moe Drabowsky (4-5) in the second inning.

Hope to Start Play in U.S. Women's Open

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The nation's top women pros make another attempt at launching the American women's open golf tournament today after a somewhat hasty postponement kept them off the course yesterday.

Tournament officials called off the round shortly after noon when skies were dark and seemed ready to let loose more rain. A shower doused Brookview course in the forenoon.

Tuttle Makes Great Catch Against Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Center fielder Bill Tuttle of Kansas City is being showered with praise today for one of the most spectacular catches of the season — a backhanded grab that "robbed" Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees.

Tuttle came up with his gem in the sixth inning of the A's 9-5 win over the Yankees yesterday.

With two out and the bases empty, Skowron blasted a pitch by Ned Garver toward deep center. Tuttle, despite tape on his left leg from a bruise suffered in sliding, took off like a deer.

Heading straight for the center field monument, Tuttle made the catch backhanded, belt-high on the dead run. It was an estimated 430 feet from the plate.

"Tree-mendous," complimented manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees.

Birmingham Horse Wins

DETROIT (AP)—Newport Amigo of the Newport Stock Farm of Plainfield, N.J., won the Grand Circuit's Ville Detroit 3-year-old pace in rain at Hazel Park last night.

Newport Amigo won the first division by nearly seven lengths in 2:06. Mainsail of the Birmingham Drunbeat Stable won the second division in 2:04.4.

Rain Shortens Diamond Play

Rain was the biggest winner on the Pontiac recreation front yesterday when showers washed out all City League action except one softball game at Beaudette Park —and that one was stopped after 5½ innings.

In the only contest played, a National division scrap, Arro Realty scored a 2-0 shutout victory over Blue Star behind the four-hit pitching of Art Weiss.

Arro tallied its two runs in the 4th inning on back-to-back doubles by Bud Hayward and Dick Ayling, a single by Ken Snyder and two errors. Lloyd Harper hurled a four-hitter in defeat.

Rain halted the Class A baseball game at Wisner Field at the end of the 1st stanza with the Pirates leading Shaw's Jewelers, 2-0. Class B activity on the Jaycee diamond was called off before it ever got started.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "Lost in the sand!"

DIAGNOSIS: Confused thinking.

TREATMENT: There's a tendency among high-handicap golfers to think of the situation as all but hopeless when they find themselves faced with a sand trap shot. They feel that a wild and desperate slash in the general vicinity of the ball is the best hope of escape. This is never true!

On a sand shot, look at the problem calmly and intelligently. Picture the clubhead of your sand wedge entering the sand about two inches behind the ball and moving on through to take out a hand-size divot where the ball is resting.

Get the picture of this clubhead action firmly in mind, being as exact about it as you can. You may, of course, go wrong even with the right picture clear in your mind. But you'll go wrong so much fewer times this way than you will if you adopt a sort of hopeless attitude and just chop away.

In fact, I believe you'll be most pleasantly surprised at how much the method described above will help you.

Record-Tying 68 at Pine Lake

"SUPER" HYDROPLANE UNVEILED—Miss United States III, a high speed "testing laboratory" that may bring the world's water speed record back to Michigan, was unveiled this week at the Detroit Yacht Club. Two years in the building, the boat is 36 feet long with a 12-foot beam. She is powered by two 12-cylinder, 1,800-horsepower engines weighing 2,300 pounds apiece. The boat is owned by industrialist Bob Evans.

West, Patrick Capture Medal in Qualifiers

DeWitt and Robertson Score 71; Match Play Under Way Today

By BILL CORNWELL

Ray West and Don Patrick, Red Run members with a birdie-eagle recipe and a flair for staging dramatics, were on the spot today as the first round of match play got under way in the 10th annual Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament.

The West-Patrick tandem stole the early headlines in last year's Pine Lake tourney when West dramatically ended a sudden-death playoff with Randall Ahern and Perry Byard by firing an ace on the 20th hole.

Elimination in the quarter-finals brought an end to their path of fame. Now they're back in the championship flight once more after shooting a record-tying qualifying score Thursday which showed everybody that they mean business.

Getting off to a red-hot start with an eagle three on the 1st hole, West and Patrick plodded through the steady afternoon rain and carded a four-under-par 68 to win the medal in the 18-hole qualifiers of the selective drive-alternate shot event.

West, who lives in Birmingham, and Patrick, a Farmington resident, posted four birdies and required just 25 putts while touring the 6,825-yard Pine Lake course in 35-33 compared to par 36-36.

The only other sub-par round in yesterdays' trials was scored by Dick DeWitt and Dick Robertson, the Pontiac Publinx team registering from Bald Mountain. DeWitt and Robertson also shot four "birds" on their way to a 36-35—71.

Two teams managed to equal par while two others were forced into a playoff to gain their spots in the 16-team championship flight.

Although exempt from qualifying, defending champions Jack Geiss and Duke Yager went around in 72 strokes and the Edgewood team of Don Drader and Jack Grimes had the same number.

Five teams tied at 77 and played off for the remaining two places, Bob Babbish and Bill O'Brien made the grade with a birdie four on the 1st hole and Harry Martin and Chuck Granader escaped the casualty list by parring No. 2.

West, an automobile sales manager, and Patrick, a tool and dye salesman, equalled the 68 recorded at Pine Lake in 1955 by Tom Draper and Perry Byard, who carried on to win the title.

Patrick accounted for the eagle by holing out a 40-foot chip shot. West canned a 15-foot putt for a birdie deuce on the 2nd hole and pitched within two inches of the cup at No. 10 for a "gimme" birdie four. Patrick's 15-footer netted a birdie three on the 11th green and West's 10-foot putt was good for a "bird" four at No. 13.

Eighteen-hole matches began today in all flights with a total of 136 teams competing in nine divisions.

Today's first round match play pairings with qualifying scores in parentheses:

Jack Geiss, Birmingham and Duke Yager, Oakland Hills (72) vs. Otis Wilson, Birmingham and Fred Missal, Birmingham (75).

Bob McMasters, Morey's and Paul Wooley, Miami, Fla. (74) vs. Gene Eyler, Pine Lake and D'Arcy O'Neil, Meadowbrook (76).

Don Drader, Edgewood and Jack Grimes, Edgewood (72) vs. Tom Restrick, Orchard Lake and Harry Nederlander, Franklin Hills (76).

B. W. Bogan, Pine Lake and John Prestini, Red Run (74) vs. Bob Babbish, Detroit Golf and Bill O'Brien, Oakland Hills (77).

Don Patrick, Red Run and Ray West, Red Run (68) vs. Tony Skover, Meadowbrook and Tom Skover, Meadowbrook (76).

Jim Smith, Gowanie and Max Armstrong, Gowanie (74) vs. Don Mead, Plum Hollow and Bud Stevens, Western (76).

Dick Robertson, Bald Mt. and Dick DeWitt, Bald Mt. (71) vs. Bob Whiting, Red and Kevin Whiting, Pine Lake (76).

Harry Latos, Hillcrest and Len Latos, Hillcrest (75) vs. Chuck Granader, Birmingham and Harry Martin, Birmingham (77).

Kenny Eyes Junior Title

Boy, Boat, Bout — All Fill Lane's Thoughts

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—What does a professional boxer think about each morning as he trots down a lonely country road or on a cinder track in preparation for a major fight?

A baby boy, a build-it-yourself boat, or a boxing bout?

All three, plus a little girl, were important to Kenny Lane as he worked to get ready for tonight's bout against Carlos Ortiz in Madison Square Garden.

The Lane-Ortiz scrap is a 12-rounder, billed as a battle for the world's junior welterweight title. The winner will officially be recognized as a champion in New York.

Each boxer must scale 140 pounds or less for the fight that revives a championship dormant since 1946 when Tippy Larkin defeated Willie Joyce.

Lane, a Muskegon boy who will be trying for his 57th victory in 63 fights, talked about many things before the fight.

First, there was Kenneth L., who was born May 17, 1958.

"Regular roughneck," said the fighting father. "Gives our puppy a hard time. The young man weighs 26 pounds, and that's as much as his three-year-old sister, Lorraine Kay. He's walking — not too steadily, but he gets where he wants to go."

About the daughter, Lane said "She's daddy's best girl and his No. 1 fan, too. Lorree will be crowding our tel-vision set Friday night, pointing stubby little fingers at my corner. What I wouldn't give at fight time just to hear her voice."

Lane has a cabin cruiser in the garage. He's been working on it in his spare time for two years now.

"Hope to complete it this summer," he explained. "It's 19 feet long and will be powered by an outboard motor. Now don't suggest that I plan to cruise the St. Lawrence Seaway. I don't. Maybe I'll take a few trips on Muskegon Lake, and if all goes well venture out into Lake Michigan."

Lane, who nearly took the lightweight title from champion Joe Brown last July in Houston, will be making his first appearance in the Garden. He hopes it will lead to another shot at Brown.

Kansas Favored for NCAA Title

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The big cinderpath push towards the year's climactic Pan American games starts today with the opening of the 38th NCAA track and field championships, which could produce as many as nine new meet records.

With well-manned Kansas cast in the team favorite's role, the NCAA meet begins with some five hours of preliminary competition in 18 events for the field of 440 athletes from 105 schools.

Finals in all 18 events, including five Pan Am specialties—the 3-mile run, steeplechase, hammer throw, 400 meter hurdles and hop, step and jump—will be held tomorrow from 5:30 to 9:05 p.m. (EST).

From the two-day carnival on the red cinders of the University of Nebraska's Memorial Stadium will emerge Uncle Sam's best collegiate colorbearers for the Pan-Am trials in Boulder, Colo., the following weekend.

The Boulder test, actually the National AAU meet, will determine qualifiers for the Pan American show in Chicago Aug. 27-Sept. 7, and the U.S. vs. Russia dual in Philadelphia July 18-19.

It appears that Kansas will fight it out with Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, San Jose State and weakened Oregon.

Records could fall in both the 100 and 220 sprints; in all three hurdles events, the 120 highs, 220 lows and 400 meter; the mile run; javelin throw; hop, step and jump, and hammer throw.

For the first time preliminaries will be held in the mile run in which Penn State's Ed Moran, with a 4:02.1 clocking, already has bettered the NCAA meet mark of 4:03.5 set last year by Villanova's Ron Delany.

Kansas' Charles Tidwell and Winston Salem's Elias Gilbert are the returning champions to beat in the 220 lows and 120 highs. The 400 meter hurdles leader is New Mexico's Dick Howard.

Other potential record breakers appear to be Ray Norton of San Jose State, A 09.3 sprinter in the 100 dash; Norton and team-mate Bob Poynter in the 220, each with a 20.2 around one turn; javelin thrower Bill Alley of Kansas (A best of 270-1½), Jack Smyth of Houston in the hop, step and jump, and John Lawler of Boston U. in the hammer throw.

Besides Tidwell and Gilbert in the hurdles, returning champions will include high jumper Don Stewart of Southern Methodist, seeking a rare third straight NCAA title; Jim Johnson, Purdue's co-pole vault champion, and broad jumper Ernie Shelby of Kansas.

Michigan, considerably weakened without Tom Robinson and Eeles Landstrom, is not considered a team threat, but will have a good delegation led by miler Dave Martin. Miler Bob Lake heads MSU entries.

Maroons Study Resumption of Gridiron Game

CHICAGO (AP)—The Dean of Students at the University of Chicago Thursday night disclosed that his office is considering resumption of intercollegiate football at the school.

The dean, John P. Netherton, told students and alumni attending a letterman's banquet:

"I feel that football has a unique value as a spectator sport in this country. A college ought to give a student access to this experience."

Chicago, once a member of the Big Ten, withdrew from intercollegiate football in 1939.

32 Hits, 31 Errors in Waterford Play

The total errors almost matched the hits in a marathon doubleheader involving Waterford League softball teams last night.

A grand-slam homer by Ivan Herr in the 6th gave the Waterford Merchants a 17-16 nod over Wall's Service after a see-saw battle. Herr had three hits in the game which had 17 hits and 18 bobbles.

Behind most of the way, Lakeland Pharmacy tallied six times in the 6th to outscore Lotus Lake, 14-12. One hit and four errors featured that frame which produced a relief win for Roland Jakel. The totals showed 15 hits and 13 errors with Lotus doubling the victors in hits.

The summary for the twin-bill showed 59 runs, 32 hits and 31 miscues.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac's Centennial celebration in 1961 received a tremendous boost Thursday when Oakland Hills Country Club was awarded the '61 U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The United States Golf Association's selection of Oakland Hills, revealed yesterday from USGA headquarters in Mamaroneck, N.Y. where the current Open is being held, was indeed a great bit of news for Pontiac residents and Oakland County citizens in general.

Oakland Hills had made a strong bid for the '61 Open tournament and the feeling was prevalent that the giant course on Maple Road would succeed in its efforts. But not until yesterday did the choice become official.

This presents additional and almost limitless possibilities for city leaders to make the Centennial observance even more expansive and successful than anticipated. What a perfect tie-in with the city's plans—the U.S. Open here in 1961.

It will be the 4th visit of the Open to Oakland Hills where Al Watrous is head pro. Next year's Open will be held at Cherry Hills in Denver, Colo.

Previous Opens at Oakland Hills came in 1924 when Cyril Walker won the title, 1937 with Ralph Guldahl taking honors and 1957 which saw an amazing finishing round of 67 by Ben Hogan as he captured the crown for the 4th time.

SHORT PUTTS

Mrs. John Holtom shot a low of 35 to take this week's honors in the Women's Silver Lake Golf League, followed by Mrs. Max Richardsbn and Mrs. Layton Bury at 36. Mrs. Paul Castleberry was low putt winner with 14 while Mrs. Robert Vidlund and Mrs. Fred Stimpert shared blind hole laurels with 5s on No. 2.

The annual Michigan Publinx golf tournament is slated June 25-28 at Rochester Golf Club. Mike Andonian of Pontiac won the title for the 3rd consecutive time last summer at Pontiac Country Club.

Thieves teed off at Chandler Park Municipal golf course in Detroit yesterday, taking away seven dozen golf balls and $200 from the safe in the pro's office.

Blythefield Country Club in Grand Rapids will be host to the 2nd annual Michigan state dentists tourney June 15-16. A total of 164 entries will compete in the 36-hole event.

Wall, Consolo Go to Washington for Hyde and Plews

BOSTON (AP) — Jerry Casale, Boston Red Sox pitcher, has to find some new roommates.

Casale, Murray Wall and Billy Consolo recently rented a house in Boston. Wall and Consolo broke up the arrangement yesterday when they were traded to the Washington Senators.

Wall, a relief pitcher, and Consolo, a utility infielder, were swapped for pitcher Dick Hyde and infielder Herbie Plews. Hyde and Plews were due to join Boston in time for the Red Sox game with Kansas City tonight.

Hyde, rated one of the better relief pitchers in baseball last year, has been bothered with arm trouble this season.

"If he's one third as good this year as he was last, he'll help us," Boston Manager Mike Higgins said.

Hyde, a right-hander who uses a peculiar underhand delivery, posted a 10-3 record in 53 relief appearances for the last place Senators in 1958, and had a gaudy 1.75 earned run average. He has a 0-1 record in 15 games so far this season.

Rosewall Puts 'Robin' Into Three-Way Tie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Rosewall of Australia broke Pancho Gonzales' serve four times and knocked the Californian out of the unbeaten ranks last night in the Masters round robin pro tourney.

The scores were 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. The match lasted one hour, 20 minutes at the Los Angeles Tennis Club. It threw the tournament into a three-way tie for first place among Gonzales, Rosewall and Pancho Segura, all with 3-1 records.

WEE GARDENER — There's nothing like a little wheelbarrow to teach a little child how to do little things. It may be used for picking up toys, helping mother and dad out in the garden or in any number of ways where hauling needs to be done. The wheelbarrow pictured here with tiny actress Billy Dehring not only serves as a toy, but also makes a clever planter and lawn ornament. It's easy to move when you mow the lawn and it provides an attractive and visible place for your house number. Of course, anyone can build the wheelbarrow when he uses the full size pattern. Landscaping Requires Careful Property Plan

One of the most important considerations in making a landscape layout of your home property in plan-view, according to the Michigan Assn. of Nurserymen, is first to plot the entire property using dimensions on cross-section paper.

Cross-section paper ruled ten squares to the inch is best with each square equaling one foot. Then plot the house according to correct dimensions and placement on the plot plan.

Locate the windows on the first floor level and record the window heights from the ground. On the plot-plan draw in all walks, drives, existing trees, etc.

The next step should be the placement of shade and ornamental trees. First, frame the house and then place the trees so that shade will fall where desired. Then draw in the walks and drives if there are none existing.

Then comes the development of the private area or areas, which are usually located at the rear of the home or possibly at the side. A patio or terrace is highly desirable for out-door living, where one can sit and chat with friends, take sunbaths, grill steaks and chops on a portable grill and relax.

Draw on your plot-plan the size and shape of the patio which is most pleasing and usable to you, but being certain it conforms to the architecture of the home to give easy access to the house.

Drowning Plants Is Common Error

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — What is a "green thumb"? The Gardener of the Year calls it love of plants and the soil.

And to plant killers of the world, Mrs. C. L. Collins of Sylacauga, Ala., says "You've got to have that green thumb to be a blooming success."

Maggie Collins dropped this discouraging news while in Manhattan to enjoy prizes of the national contest involving 900 garden clubs. In addition to the gardener title, she'll take home an aluminum greenhouse.

Mrs. Collins is so much in love with her hobby that she admits, "My daughter claims that 'Mother would go without food to buy a new plant!' "

At home she is known as the woman who always has a bouquet ready. Although she calls it a hobby, Mrs. Collins' flourishing garden and lean-to greenhouse furnish flowers for the Sylacauga hospital wards, friends' parties and weddings. And she has decorated the First Presbyterian Church every Sabbath for 22 years.

"I never sell my plants. But I do love to give them away," she says.

YEN FOR GROWING

Her yen for growing things began in a high school botany class. From there, while her three children were growing, she read all she could find on the subject. Today she calls herself a self-taught gardener but chatters like a botanical encyclopedia. As a judge, she is familiar sight in Southern flower show circles.

For those who have mild interest but little knowledge of flowers and arrangements, she reveals what wins the ribbons at floral competitions.

A judge simply looks for perfection in color and texture. In point score judging there are points for length of stem, color of leaves and stems, texture of petals and absence of disease.

If you are thinking of entering a favorite petunia in the next flower show, Mrs. Collins suggests you become a garden club member. In a club, members learn winning requirements and can enter certain classes of arrangements such as French, Colonial, Early American and Persian with more confidence.

It seems this gray-haired grandmother is always boosting garden club activity. Just as some women are lifelong bridge-clubbers, Mrs. Collins found a home with garden clubs after founding one in a Mississippi town in 1926.

They're good both for education, and comfort — especially when a plant turns up its toes and dies. There are a half-million national club members ready to sympathize.

She also tells beginners to select plants like zinnias, marigolds or petunias for first efforts. They'll grow with little frustration on your part.

PASSED STAGE

Mrs. Collins passed that stage years ago, however. Now she putters professionally about the greenhouse attached to her home planting and tending rare and unusual plants. She is proud of her orchids and now is nurturing a special pink day lily. And she may market a "new" flower one of these days.

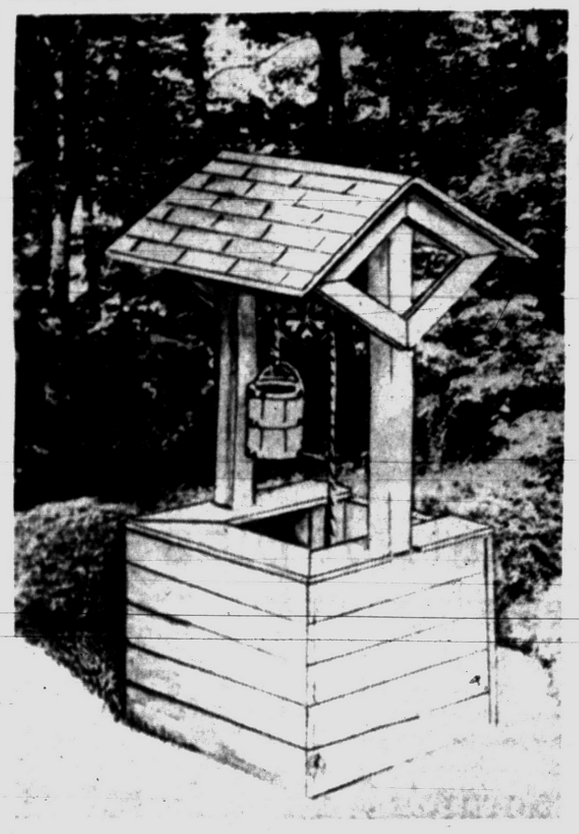

"I love variety in flowers and am always looking for something new," she says. And then adds, "I think this is where men and women gardeners differ. It seems men tend to specialize. And they like their plants big. The bigger, the better."

Although she believes it takes love to make things grow, Mrs. Collins also is faithful to organic chemistry, a la compost heap. And she uses her ceramics hobby to display her blooms to perfection.

Before scooting off down a "tree-lined" Manhattan street, she offered this advice to those who like a few plants around the house. "It is better to underwater than overwater. The quickest way to kill a plant is to drown it."

Thinning Is Needed to Avoid Crowding

When garden plants come up in the next few weeks, some thinning will be necessary for best results, according to Michigan State University specialists.

Because it's difficult to sow small seeds far enough apart to permit the plants to make their best development, they need thinning to avoid crowding.

Best thinning time is when the plants are small, and the soil is moist: They can be pulled out then without injuring those left.

Turnips, rutabagas, and other root crops should be thinned before their taproots become fleshy. Onions from seeds, and radishes can be left in the ground until those thinned are large enough to eat.

Surplus beet plants can be pulled when they are four or five inches tall, and can be used for greens. Thinned turnip plants can also be used for greens.

Two Basic Rules for Novices

From Our Wire Services

Two basic rules for new homeowners embarking on a gardening or landscaping program are:

Keep it simple.

Take your time.

According to experts at the national housing center, too many beginners over plant because they are anxious to try out everything.

Overplanting means needless, tedious work and a messy landscape.

This and other advice is in kits the center is sending to 321 local home builders associations affiliated with the national associations of home builders.

SE KITS

Officials hope the local groups will use the kits to prepare gardening classes for the public.

Other recommendations:

If you have a new house, especially one with a basement, it may be wise to avoid shrubs the first year. The soil around a new house is often close-packed clay.

If you dig a hole for a shrub water will stand in it for a long time, rotting the plant's roots. And fertilizer has a hard time permeating clay.

Hence, it's better to plant annuals and perennials. These help break up the clay and make your soil more receptive for shrubs and trees the next year.

Get your soil tested before you plant. Country agricultural agents and state agricultural colleges usually offer this service—some without charge, some for a moderate fee. If you have more than one major planting area, it's a good idea to have samples from each tested.

In selecting what you're going to plant, decide what effect you seek. Do you want to frame your house or provide shade? Give yourself privacy, or disguise an unlovely spot?

When you know what your goals, consult a nurseryman on how best to achieve them.

BE ACCURATE

A cardinal rule is "be accurate." This applies to measuring insecticide, fertilizer or seed. Overuse of chemicals kills plants.

Excessive seeding means both waste and possibly retarded growth. Thinning and pruning are desirable and often essential.

Color hint: Plant flowers where you can see them—from your kitchen window, porch or patio. Whites and pastels would be kept closer to the house.

Dividing Perennials

With new growth this spring one may be dismayed to see that Shasta Daisies, delphiniums, gaillardias, or perennial phlox have multiplied to such an extent that the clumps are much too crowded.

Unless the situation is really desperate, however, resist the impulse to divide them right then. The time to do that job is after they have finished blooming.

Tulips and daffodils may be kept longer if they are immediately wrapped in newspaper and plunged into cold water for a few hours until the stems grow tough and firm in the cold water.

Farm and Garden News

June Is Big Month in Family Garden

June is a big month in the family garden — the time the last plantings go in, and important thinning and cultivation practices are carried out.

A lot of work needs to be done during that month that is less obvious than the beginning planting and fertilizing, but equally necessary for the success of the garden, remind garden specialists of Michigan State University.

Late cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, and brussels sprouts for fall crops should be planted the first week in June. The second planting of corn and beans should be done. Lime and soy beans should go in, and pumpkins, squash, melons, and cucumbers should be either set out or sown.

Inspect the undersides of bean leaves for Mexican bean beetles, and spray or dust with methoxychlor and malathion if they appear. Be sure that the undersides of the leaves are covered with insecticide.

Potatoes should be dusted once a week with Zineb to prevent early and late blight. If late blight is heavy, fixed copper should be used in place of Zineb. To the dust, add an ounce of 25 per cent DDT or methoxychlor and malathion to two gallons of copper for spray for potato beetles.

CORN BORERS

Spray or dust with DDT for corn borers five times at five-day intervals. Pull and destroy wilted cucumber vines, to reduce spread of bacterial wilt.

Is Dutch Elm Disease Spray Harmful to Birds?

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

Many Elm tree owners are undecided about a spray program because of results of neighbors and all the "talk" about killing birds.

There is growing evidence in both fields, which generally add up to a "do not spray" during the summer months.

Dense foliage is one of the big problems because of the beetles strong preference for young twigs in the tree top.

Careful tests are showing this dense leaf problem to be so troublesome, summer spraying does not seem economically worth while.

Many people have heard the talk about DDT killing birds. Though occasional dead birds are found in Elm spray areas, additional studies are necessary to determine extent of losses due to poisoning.

SCARCITY OF BIRDS

Another interesting observation has been scarcity of birds in spray areas. Here again some say they are killed, while others say the birds have moved because the chemical has killed all the food for birds. So many of the answers are still unknown, there seems little reason to let valuable trees die from Dutch Elm because of fear of extensive bird losses.

SCALE INSECTS ON TREES AND SHRUBS

The migration will soon be on, from the branches to the tender twigs. If you know you have these pests on your trees, this can be a migration of death.

One of the common scale insects is known as Lecanium scale. They are seen on Oak, Maple, Ash, Japanese Yew, Peach, Flowering Crab and many other trees as reddish black lumps on the twigs and leaves.

When they are picked or flicked off the twig, a white powder spills out. These turtle shelled covers are the ripe females, and the powder is dozens of eggs. These eggs hatch in late June.

The young have legs, and migrate to the new shoots and leaves. At this stage, most any insecticide will kill them. When under this armored cover practically nothing will work.

What can you do? Starting in late June, spray your tree or shrub with DDY or Malathion. These two insecticides are especially effective. Spray 3 times, at ten day intervals, starting June 20, and give your tree a new lease on life. But wait!!! Be sure scale is present before you start.

Deaf Mute Blonde Wins Degree

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Blonde Jackie Gennoi Coker will be graduated with honors from the College of Pacific Sunday despite the fact she has been blind and deaf since the age of 7.

"It isn't as bad as you think," said Jackie, who is only the fourth person to earn a college degree under the double handicap of blindness and deafness. The others were famed Helen Keller, Robert Smithdas and Richard Kinney.

Jackie, 31, was a B-plus student in sociology during her four years of undergraduate work that ended in February. Since then she has been taking graduate work at the University of California here.

She hopes eventually to become a teaching counselor for the blind and deaf.

Wearing a bright blue, sleeveless cotton dress, Jackie played down her achievement during an interview. She spoke through her "interpreter," Dorothy Klaus, her longtime companion-tutor. Jackie "hears" her friend by placing her thumb on Miss Klaus' lips as she speaks.

Jackie sat on a couch alongside her friend in their neatly furnished rented house here. She smoked a cigarette and remarked that most people think being handicapped is "worse than it is."

"A person who is handicapped should think about what he can do and not what he can't do," Jackie said in a somewhat halting voice.

"To brood about your misfortune is the worst thing you can do."

Jackie went blind and deaf after being stricken with spinal meningitis at her home in Collidge, Ariz.

Her mother refused to pamper her and forced Jackie to play with other children. Jackie credits her mother for much of her subsequent self-reliance.

Friends and others impressed by Jackie's courage helped her gain an education in Arizona and California.

She was graduated from high school at the age of 21—and thus began the most difficult period for her. She had led a sheltered life in the school for the blind.

"I was thought to be different from others," she said. "People shied away from me, and it made me very lonely."

She said she experimented and found she was making the mistake of reaching out too eagerly to be friends with people. She learned she made friends better by letting others come to her.

Miss Klaus, a San Diego State College graduate, said Jackie in addition to being a brilliant student, swims, rides, plays chess and goes out on dates.

In school, Miss Klaus "interprets" the instructor's lecture by sign language into Jackie's palm. Volunteer classmates often take duplicate sets of notes to be transmitted to Jackie later by Miss Klaus.

Jackie uses braille and a conventional typewriter. She took her final examinations in her own room lipreading the questions from Miss Klaus and typing the answers.

On Sunday Jackie will be accompanied to College of Pacific's Baxter Stadium in Stockton by Miss Klaus and her German shepherd seeing eye dog, Sinde. She will receive from Pacific President Robert E. Burns two copies of her diploma, one printed in braille. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coker, live in Napa, Calif.

Turnover Quiets on Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices moved unevenly in moderately active early trading today.

Gains and losses were kept mostly within a 1-point range. Most changes were fractional.

The market showed a burst of activity at the opening with the ticker tape late very briefly. Then turnover quieted.

Caution was apparent after the failure of yesterday's vigorous early rally to hold its ground. Wall Streeters, while generally optimistic about the longer term trend, said that further consolidation and another test of recent lows may be in the offing.

Despite a report that sales of electronic producers are running one third above a year ago, stocks of this group were indifferent performers.

Coppers backed away following word of a cut in the Belgian copper price. Anaconda and Kennecott lost fractions.

Shocked Patient Told He's Due for Autopsy

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A student doctor accompanying a physician on his rounds at a hospital here stopped at the bed of a middle-aged man, looked at his chart and casually remarked:

"I see you are due for an autopsy in the morning."

As the man fainted the veteran doctor quickly looked at the chart and explained to the student:

"That's a biopsy, not autopsy."

The veteran physician told the story.

CHARLES JACOBS

Pontiac B'nai Brith Names New Officers

The Pontiac B'nai Brith Lodge elected Charles Jacobs president for the coming year. He succeeds Winfield L. Bacon, who was designated chaplain.

Other officers named were Eugene Ketchell, first vice president, Alvin Jacobson, second vice president, Jerome Weiss, financial secretary, and Paul Mandell, recording secretary.

Sam Levin was named treasurer; John Rothschild, warden; Fred Niedelson, Sherman Birnkrant and David Utley, trustees.

Schedule Autopsy on Trucker in Crash

An autopsy will be performed today on a Detroit truck driver who died last night when his tractor-trailer truck ran off the U.S. 16 Expressway into a ditch.

State Police at the Brighton Post today said they believed that Jack L. Eckman, 43, of 1605 Livernois, suffered a heart attack before the accident took place.

His truck ran into a ditch, and officers said there were no visible signs of injury on Eckman's body when they found him.

The smashup took place in Lyon Township at 11:15.

Quemoy Crisis Booms Formosa PX Business

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Cash registers in U.S. military post exchanges on Formosa rang merrily last year because of the Quemoy crisis.

The Taiwan Central Exchange reported that sales totaled $4.4 million — $900,000 more than expected largely due to the influx of GIs during the Communist Chinese bombardment of the offshore islands.

Selling Weakens Wheat Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Moderate selling which appeared to include some hedging weakened wheat futures today but other grains were mostly narrowly mixed in slow early dealings on the Board of Trade.

The nearby wheat months settled back about a half cent within the first few minutes with offerings meeting a rather indifferent reception. Some of the buying, however, appeared to be by brokers representing mill and export interests. Speculators seemed to show little interest toward making any commitments for the weekend.

Soybeans were a bit steadier than recent sessions following reports of two overnight shipments out of Chicago through the Great Lakes for Canadian ports.

After about an hour wheat was unchanged to ½ cent a bushel lower with trade virtually at a standstill, July $1.84; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July $1.26; oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, July 65⅜; rye unchanged to ⅛ higher, July $1.22; soybeans ⅛ to ⅜ higher, July $2.24⅝.

Pledge to Fight on Income Tax

4 Republican Senators Repeat Willingness to Compromise

Four Republican state senators, including Oakland County's Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, last night vowed a relentless fight against any new income tax proposal in a televised discussion of Michigan's problems.

At the same time, the group repeated an offer to compromise with Democratic Gov. Williams on solutions to the state's financial dilemma.

Besides Lodge, those participating in the panel discussion were Sens. Lynn O. Francis of Midland, GOP floor leader Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair, party caucus chairman, and Carlton H. Morris of Kalamazoo, advocates of a state sales tax increase.

Lodge last summer chaired an interim senate committee which studied waste in government.

Morris predicted the next move in the Legislature would be a proposal for a flat-rate personal and corporation income tax. He said the House Tax Committee may come up with this next week.

Orion Station Turns in Tip on Missing Susan

Oakland County sheriff's deputies today furnished Detroit Police with another of the many tips received in the past two days in the investigation into the disappearance of 14-year-old Susan Lawrence.

Officers are trying to locate the owner of a dark blue 1953 Chevrolet license plate DV 4303, who drove into a Lake Orion gas station last night.

According to station attendant Lexel Bazzell, the driver drove into the Mobile Gas Station, 573 Broadway St., at about 8:30 p.m. and asked how to get to Clawson.

"He stayed around for a little while after I gave him some gas and then told me 'I'm working on the Susan Lawrence case' and then drove away," Bazzell told deputies.

The attendant said there were beer bottles in the back seat and the man had been drinking, "but wasn't intoxicated."

"Sheriff's detectives checked the plates in Lansing but were told they weren't in the file as yet.

It is believed ownership of the car had recently changed.

'The Burglar Got'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A noisy burglar proved no match for a testy newspaper reader yesterday. James A. Wigmore, 85, just can't stand to be bothered while reading his paper in the dignified California Club. The burglar rattled the window climbing in. "Get out of here!" shouted Wigmore. The burglar got.

Long Dreaming of Fourth Term

Louisiana Governor Is Sticking to Plans for Court Sanity Hearing

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long, determined to go ahead despite pleas to skip a court sanity hearing Tuesday, holds to his dream of a fourth term in Louisiana.

This remark comes from one of the visitors Long has had recently in a psychiatric clinic here:

"He hasn't given up one iota the idea of running again."

As for the scheduled hearing Tuesday in Probate Judge Hugh Gibson's court, the Louisiana informant emphasized: "Long won't budge—he wants that hearing."

WILL FIGHT WIFE'S ACTION

Long's attorneys announced Thursday the governor is going to fight to void his wife's commital action.

He plans to appear in person and will ask for a jury hearing, Adrian S. Levy Sr., one of three court appointed attorneys, said.

Levy made the announcement after a closed conference with the 63-year-old Long at John Sealy Hospital.

Mrs. Long came here Wednesday with doctors from back home and Long's friends in an effort to turn him from the court session.

Impressions of some of the visitors are that Long "still won't acknowledge he's ill—but he admits he's worn out and needs a rest."

Medical authorities said while Long's condition was not too much changed, "he's much more agreeable, more cooperative."

Procedure Dispute Stalls USW Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—A disagreement over procedure stalled contract negotiations in the basic steel industry today, with the deadline for a nationwide strike less than three weeks away.

The 171-member Wage Policy Committee of the United Steelworkers of America meets here today. It was expected to proclaim its support of David J. McDonald, president of the union and its chief negotiator, in his demand for higher wages and other benefits.

No progress was reported after Thursday's negotiating session. The current three-year contract expires June 30. If no new contract is reached by then, there almost certainly will be a strike by 500,000 union members in plants that produce 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

Works for 6 Months

CHATHAM, England (UPI) — British soldier George Jeffries tunneled out of his guard house cell and almost got away. But his tunneling broke a pipe; it flooded another prisoner's cell; he called for help. Jeffries is back, with an extra six-month sentence.

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP)—Reporter Neal Fink of the St. Charles Cosmos-Monitor isn't sure whether people are non-observant or merely polite.

'Keep Talking to Reds'—Nixon

Sees Continuation of Confabs Better Than Splitting Toward War

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Is anything to be gained by conferences with the Russians?"

That question was put to Vice President Richard M. Nixon at a Commonwealth Club banquet Thursday night and he replied:

"There is a great deal of justification for the question. Developments in Geneva don't offer too much encouragement, but the conferences are most useful.

"And the main point is, the alternative to talking is unacceptable. The United States and the Soviet Union would draw apart and quite conceivably could end up by fighting. Neither the United States or any other nation can afford to risk settlements by force.

"But the frightening thing is, war can come when all parties concerned do not want it."

Nixon said, however, there has been absolutely no change in the U.S. policy that any summit conference would have to be preceded by signs of progress at the current conference of foreign ministers.

The vice president, his wife, Pat, and daughters, Patricia, 13, and Julie, 10, flew here from New York where he participated in ceremonies marking the 350th anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson River.

They go to Virginia City today where Nixon will speak informally at Nevada's silver centennial celebration.

Bowling Alley Queen With Popcorn Machine

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Seven-year-old Linda Silvestri became the center of attraction at a bowling center here without lifting a ball.

While visiting the alleys with her parents, Linda got her hand caught in a popcorn machine. Police armed with a screwdriver and pliers freed her.

Real Clipping Delayed Until Following Night

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The high hedge around William C. Hooper's home in Tucson prevented passers-by from seeing his three new pieces of pink wrought iron lawn furniture.

So, Hooper trimmed the hedge. The next night thieves stole the lawn furniture.

Chains with 11 or more stores did 39 per cent and independents with 10 or fewer stores did 61 per cent of the nation's grocery business in 1958.

Paar Writer, Douglas, Is Back as Comedian

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Did it ever happen to you? We made a speed cop awfully mad and yesterday. He followed us carefully, sneakily, for 10 miles, ducking behind bridges and signboards, and the reason he got so mad was—we weren't speeding!

WILSON

Jack Paar's one-time writer, Jack Douglas, became a comedian (again). Best-seller author Douglas attracted a fairish crowd of night owls who thought his material was "inside," "hip," and all that jazz. Some samples: "I went to a literary party where everybody who attended had a beard — even some of the men . . . I lived in a town so small we didn't even have a village idiot. We all took turns . . . I live on the top floor of a burning building. It's inconvenient, but the rent is awfully reasonable." Whether Douglas was up to Paar or below Paar, I want to punder for a while.

Cindy Robbins, the new U-I beauty in the film, "This Earth Is Mine," relates this carnival dialogue: "What happened to that pretty wife of yours you used to saw in half in your magic act?" . . . "Oh, she's living in Miami and Los Angeles."

Red Skelton, a smash hit in Chicago with his 1-hr.20-min. show, is going to Washington — seems scared somehow of New York . . . Producer David Merrick summoned a doctor, when his "Suzie Wong" star, France Nuyen, claimed to be sick, and the doc said, "What's wrong with you?" She answered sharply: "You're the doctor—you tell me!"

Time, Change and Soviets Working to Defeat NATO

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's questionable that NATO — greatest peacetime military alliance in history—can hang together, at least as it is now with its 15 members.

Time, changes in the world, and Premier Nikita Khrushchev are all working on it. And Khrushchev's working hard.

It was a moment of terror when the Western allies, including the United States, set up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on April 4, 1949 with the understanding that an attack on one was an attack on all.

Band together in common defense or face the prospect of being picked off one at a time. That was their choice.

The year before, communism had gulped down Czechoslovakia. And in April 1949 Stalin, with his blockade of Berlin, had forced the United States into its historic airlift to save the city.

At that hour in history NATO gave the Allies a greater sense of security than they ever had before or since.

They had a terrifying superiority over Stalin because, if he attacked, the European Allies could hold him off with their ground forces while the United States flattened the Soviets with atomic bombs. That was the theory.

At that instant the United States alone had the atomic bomb. But it was a monopoly which, at the very minute the NATO treaty came into existence, was beginning to disappear.

Early in 1949 the Soviet Union was putting the finishing touches on its own atomic bomb which it was to explode for the first time later in the year. The United States went on to develop the hydrogen bomb. But so did the Soviets by 1953.

For lack of determination, the huge land forces which NATO members were supposed to produce never materialized. And, meanwhile, something else happened which made even the fairly small land forces they produced look even smaller.

The Soviets and the United States both developed missiles for crossing continents. Even President Eisenhower acknowledged last March that Allied armies in Europe did not mean much any more because they were overwhelmingly outnumbered by the Soviet Union.

The United States, with its fleets of bombers and their hydrogen bombs based at friendly stations around the Soviet perimeter, can still discourage a Soviet attack. This is still a consolation to the NATO members.

But it is a mixed consolation because of one thing: The world is in a transition period, passing from the day of the bomber to the era of the missile.

The United States is arranging to surround the Soviet Union—again at friendly stations on Allied soil—with bases for missiles which have their noses pointed at Moscow. In time, when there are enough missiles, the bombers will be obsolete.

Gen. Wood Will Be 80

Romney Wants Citizens' Study

100 Would Delve Into State's Trouble Spots; Will Meet June 19

DETROIT (AP) — Formation of a citizen's committee to study Michigan's economic and industrial needs was proposed yesterday by a group headed by President George Romney of American Motors Corp.

Romney said areas of possible study for the proposed Citizens Committee of Michigan would take in the "financial crisis, bad economic climate, lag in industrial growth and lack of objective political leadership."

About 100 persons, who Romney said must come as "citizens and free from political affiliations and economic self-interest," are expected to attend an organizational meeting at Michigan State University June 19.

Romney said the committee would be a statewide organization with subgroups in every county. "We would organize, decide what problems to study and then get to work calling upon all types of organizations for research material," he said. "We would hope to have preliminary recommendations in one year—probably not in time to solve the current cash crisis."

The group would be financed by individual contributions not to exceed $100, he said.

Stassen's Pledge Might Prove to Be a Boomerang

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold Stassen, running for mayor of Philadelphia on the Republican ticket, made a campaign promise Thursday aimed at easing this city's unemployment problem.

Some cities with high unemployment, he said, are footing the transportation bill for their jobless citizens who go to other cities in search of work.

If elected, he said, he will send those coming to Philadelphia back where they came from.

"It's not humanitarian," the President's former disarmament adviser declared, "to permit people without jobs to come into an area where there is already heavy unemployment."

When City Council President James H. J. Tate, a Democrat, heard about the campaign promise of the former Governor of Minnesota, he said:

"Stassen is a migratory worker himself."

Clearance Guess Off, Bridge, Truck Ripped

TARZANA, Calif. (AP) — Flagmen guessed an unloaded truck trailer would clear a 13-foot-6-inch Freeway underpass being built in this Los Angeles suburb. They waved it on.

They were wrong — by one inch.

The big rig tore down four 20-foot steel girders Thursday. Engineers estimated the mishap would delay construction a month.

The truck, too, was damaged extensively, but driver Tony Esparza escaped unhurt.

Judge Doty Refuses Case

Returns Red Divorce Suit

A divorce suit brought by a East Detroit mother of two sons, who charges her husband with bringing up the boys as Communists, was back in Macomb County Circuit Court today after Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty refused a change of venue.

Charles Dewey, 37, a tool and die maker, asked Judge Doty that the case be heard in Detroit instead of Macomb County, claiming Macomb Judge Howard R. Carroll was "prejudiced" against him.

"There was no showing that the other two judges in Macomb County were prejudiced," said Judge Doty in sending the case back to Mount Clemens.

Mrs. Dorothy Dewey charges her husband with raising the boys, ages 16 and 11, as Communists and taking them to Communist meetings.

Judge Carroll once, during a court hearing last winter, forbade Dewey to take the boys to the meetings.

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

FIVE ACES: This week's top five sellers around Pontiac are "Battle of New Orleans" (Johnny Horton), "Dream Lover" (Bobby Darin), "Personality" (Lloyd Price), "Frankie" (Connie Francis), and "Kansas City" (Wilbert Harrison).

AROUND THE WORLD: With vacation season at hand, last minute tips for record fans offer an off-beat bit of copy this week.

If going East you might be interested in catching the famed Newport Jazz Festival. Dates this year are July 2-5.

Tentative schedule for each night is: Thursday, Count Basie, Four Freshmen, Phil Napoleon, Oscar Peterson, and George Shearing; Friday, Wilbur DeParis, Roy Eldridge, Coleman Hawkins, Modern Jazz Quartet, and Gerry Mulligan.

Saturday's show features Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Dizzy Gillespie, and Jimmy Rushing. Sunday's final bash includes Buck Clayton, Miles Davis, Vic Dickenson, Bud Freeman, Ahmad Jamal, Jo Jones, Stan Kenton, Pee Wee Russell, and Sarah Vaughn.

If going farther East, you'll find plenty of American music in Moscow starting July 25. The Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers has arranged a stereo high fidelity exhibit as part of the American National Exposition.

Harold Boxer, music director of the Voice of America, has selected 125 classical, jazz, pop, movie and show recordings to be played continuously on 200,000 feet of magnetic stereo recording tape.

Reaction to pop and jazz music should be interesting. Russian youth has fervently embraced jazz despite its condemnation by the Soviet Government as a "western bourgeois musical trend."

Previously the young Russian jazz fan or lover of pop music has been limited to VOA's "Music U.S.A." program or buying discs on the black market come as high as $100 each, according to authorities.

at bizarre prices. Some discs

The tweeters will tweet and woofers will be woofing in a large fan-shaped glass, steel and aluminum pavilion in Sokolinski Park, 15 minutes from downtown Moscow.

If you plan to stay home this summer, the best show of all can be had right in our own backyard. News has leaked out that the fabulous Red Nichols and his Five Pennies will be in the Pontiac area for a one-night stand the first Friday of September.

Playhouse 90 'Immortality' One of the Season's Best

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — After having glue poured on your emotions all week by TV, it's a pleasure to face off against a play that stretches your feelings, tonics your senses, giddys your brain.

This is a rave review for last night's CBS-TV Playhouse 90, a Loring Mandel drama, "Project Immortality." So let me rave.

Mandel picked up the threads of some terribly improbable dramatic material—the attempt to duplicate the brain of a dying mathematical genius on a calculator—and wove those threads into one of the most moving offerings on TV this season.

It was a stunning piece of craftsmanship—tightly knit, deftly dialogued, artful in its characterizations, stuffed with wit, warmth, insight and passion.

It succeeded because it was not just a story about a man being turned into a machine but rather a keen telling of another kind of transformation: Of a man passing on the legacy of his life to another young man and in the process changing the young machine man into a fellow human being.

With a few short strokes, Mandel crafted a family bursting with reality and vigor, a family that very early in the play clued in the nature of the dying man.

None of the effectiveness of "Project Immortality" would have been possible, of course, without its players.

Lee J. Cobb as the dying genius carved out a portrait that had a large touch of genius itself.

Cobb was not only immense in his physical portrayal of a man being sapped gradually of his vigor, he was positively awesome in rounding out the man, of trotting out his insides for the screen.

The rest of the cast was blotted out somewhat by Cobb, but their performances were quite sturdy.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Keep Talking will shift from CBS-TV to ABC-TV beginning Tuesday, Sept. 29 . . . There's a good chance that ABC-TV's Naked City, scheduled to be buried the end of this summer, may return to the network next fall in a Sunday night spot.

George Fenneman takes over as emcee for the vacationing Art Linkletter on CBS-TV's House Party from June 19 to July 20 . . . NBC-TV will offer a two-part version of Budd Schulberg's "What Makes Sammy Run?" on Oct. 4 and 11 as part of its new Sunday showcase series—Budd Schulberg has written the TV adaptation in collaboration with his brother, Stuart.

Young City Marksmen Put Up Rifles for Summer

Most school-age boys think of summer as a time to enjoy the wide open spaces.

But there's one group of kids in the city who feel differently.

For them, hot days bring on the command to "cease firing."

They're the 20 youngsters who belong to the Junior Air Rifle Club of the Pontiac YMCA.

Each Friday during the school year the boys have spent an hour on the rifle range of the 'Y' building, learning to fire air rifles and to handle them safely.

Four youths can shoot simultaneously on the firing line as the range is 30 feet wide.

The club is affiliated with the National Rifle Assn. and uses NRA standards for scoring.

The program has the approval of the Pontiac Police Dept., which gave the rifles to the 'Y'.

The boys, 9 to 14 years old, receive marksman and sharpshooter badges based on their shooting accuracy and consistency.

Official NRA bulls-eye targets a used for scoring.

The rifle club is under the direction of Donald Davis, 3138 Martell Ave., Avon Township.

Under his tutelage, each of the members who participated in the rifle club program this past year obtained at least one shooting award.

Wayne State to Offer Classes at Northern

Registration is scheduled for Monday, 3:45 to 6 p.m. at the Pontiac Northern school. Registration during the same hours will be held Tuesday at the Royal Oak school.

These branch courses will be on the senior college level and classes are restricted to students admitted to the College of Education.

Paul Harvey's 'Friend' Still Bears His Mark

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — When Paul Harvey was 17, he discovered a turtle on his father's farm in nearby Stewartsville, marked his initials and the year 1933 on its back.

Now 43, Harvey was driving near Stewartsville the other day when he saw a turtle on the road. Still visible on the turtle's back were "P.H." and "1933."

Harvey turned it loose once more.

SOS Ordered to Halt Profit Operations

DETROIT (AP) — Asst. Prosecutor Arthur J. Koscinski has ordered the Society of Survival International (SOS) to cease operations as a profit corporation.

Koscinski met with Roger E. Lee, founder of SOS, yesterday in an investigation of the society which has been offering identifying medicine-carrying pins to heart patients for $12.50.

SOS operated out of a letter drop and secretarial answering service in a downtown Detroit building.

Lee agreed to halt operations pending receipt of a new nonprofit charter from the State Securities and Exchange Commission.

Koscinski also told Lee to cease distribution of SOS pamphlets that advertised SOS as a "nonprofit" organization. Lee said the pamphlets were not to have been distributed until SOS received its nonprofit charter. However, he said some 20 were sent out in advance.
