

Early Turnout Looks Heavy in City Election

U.S. Jets Bomb Close to Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. Air Force jets smashed two Soviet-built missile sites on the outskirts of Hanoi in the closest raid yet to the North Vietnamese capital and left two key bridges in ruins, U. S. spokesmen reported today.

Another group of Navy fighter-bombers set off a huge explosion at a suspected missile site 27 miles south of the coastal city of Vinh, 160 miles south of Hanoi, silenced seven nearby anti-aircraft batteries and sank a junk.

Led by target-marking F100 Super Sabre jets in clear afternoon skies, a pack of Air Force supersonic F106 Thunderchiefs began the raid around Hanoi yesterday by hurling 750-pound bombs at a bridge 33 miles south of the capital on the road to the chief port of Haiphong.

The span was put out of commission, a spokesman said.

The jets then moved closer to the capital blasting a missile site 15 miles south of the city and another 17 miles southwest with rockets and 20mm cannon fire.

A huge explosion rocked one of the missile complexes, a pilot reported. The airman spotted rockets on the launching pads just before they roared in but only one missile was set up. It missed.

Three other flights of Thunderchiefs struck the main railroad bridge between Hanoi and Vinh with 750-pound bombs, leaving its completely "sagged" twisted and definitely unserviceable," a spokesman said.

The bridge was hit last November but had been rebuilt, he said.

The loss of five more U.S. planes in the past three days raised the number brought down in the 15-month-old air war against North Viet Nam to 210.

3 FLIERS LOST
But only two fliers were reported lost over the weekend.

An A1H Skyraider was lost to communication ground fire this afternoon three miles south of Tiger Island and just north of the 17th Parallel frontier. The pilot was rescued by helicopter after ejection.

Although no American planes were reported lost in the attacks around Hanoi, other heavy air

Morning Rain Fails to Slow Flow of Voters

7 Commission Seats, Two Judgeships Are Being Filled in City

Despite brief rain early today, a fairly large number of voters appeared to be going to the polls in Pontiac to select a City Commission from a field of 15 aspirants.

The polls opened at 7 a.m. and will remain open until 8 p.m. Everyone in line at the closing hour will be allowed to vote.

Voters were to decide the political fate of 14 commission candidates nominated in the seven election districts at the March 7 primary and one write-in hopeful.

The write-in candidate is in district 7, making that district race a three-way battle. The nominees there are former Mayor Robert A. Landry, incumbent James H. Marshall, and write-in candidate Joseph Singleton.

In addition to deciding the commission contests by casting seven votes on a one vote per district basis, each registered voter may also cast votes for two municipal judges.

Two veteran incumbents, Judges Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil B. McCallum, are unopposed for reelection to six-year terms.

23 CANDIDATES
Today's balloting climaxes the run for office that began when 23 candidates sought nomination in the primary. There are 23,220 registered voters in Pontiac.

The districts and the candidates follow:
District 1 — T. Warren Fowler Jr., 59, of 59 Lake and Charles M. Tucker Jr., 33, of 181 Earlewood.

District 2 — Kenneth H. Cumberworth, 50, of 32 Newberry and Robert C. Irwin, 36, of 345 W. Iroquois.

District 3 — William H. Taylor Jr., 50, of 247 Ottawa and William J. Winters, 39, of 232 Ottawa.

District 4 — George Gribbs, 35, of 23 Kimball and Leslie H. Hudson, 43, of 215 Gallagher.

District 5 — John A. Dugan, 57, of 363 Nelson and William B. Hine, 32, of 490 DeSola.

District 6 — Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett, 54, of 62 Mariva, and Wesley J. Wood, 59, of 11 N. Sanford.

District 7 — Landry, 51, of 47 Center; Marshall, 63, of 185 S. Jessie; and Singleton, 30, of 365 S. Marshall.

SIGNS IN — Dressed to combat the early morning rain that dampened Pontiac voters, Mrs. John Andrews, 23 Waldo, signs in to cast her votes in the selection of seven city commissioners and two municipal judges. Polls will be open until 8 p.m.

'U.S. Favors Viet Election' Nonaligned Regime No Problem—Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk told senators today that if elections in South Viet Nam bring to power a nonaligned government "it would create no problems for us."

The problem, Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations committee, is that the Communist regime in Hanoi isn't interested in nonalignment but wants to take over South Viet Nam.

"We support the idea of elections in South Viet Nam," he said, but "the other side is not willing to depend on elections."

Rusk expressed confidence that if elections are held as planned this August, the people of South Viet Nam will not "be the first people to elect a Communist regime."

Rusk, the first Cabinet officer to be questioned in public by senators since the drive for elections broke out in Viet Nam during Congress' Easter recess, said he understood the election of a constitution-making assembly will be held in August.

"It has been apparent throughout these recent discussions that there is general

County OKs Preliminary '67 Budget

A tentative 1967 Oakland County budget of $23.2 million was approved today by the County Board of Supervisors.

The board also received a proposal from S. James Clarkson, supervisor from Southfield, calling for a boost in the per diem compensation for supervisors from $15 to $25. It was referred to the supervisors' ways and means committee.

The tentative 1967 budget is nearly $4 million higher than the preliminary budget approved by the board last year at this time.

A local tax rate of 6.43 mills would be required to meet expenditures specified in the 1967 budget. These include $7,964,811 in salaries, $10,902,101 in department expenditures and $4,349,949 in nondepartmental appropriations.

A year ago the tentative budget was based on a tax rate of 5.92 mills.

ALLOWED 5.30 MILLS
The county tax allocation board, however, allowed only 5.30 mills for the county when it apportioned the 15-mill limitation between the county, school districts and township last May.

Now that the 1967 preliminary budget has cleared the

U.S. Output Soars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's output of goods and services scored its biggest gain in nearly 16 years during the first three months of 1966, the Commerce Department reported today.

The gross national product rose $16.9 billion to an annual rate of $714.1 billion.

It was the biggest quarterly jump in the GNP since the outbreak of the Korean war, when consumers rushed to buy up things in fear of possible shortages.

That was the third quarter of 1950, when GNP increased $17.7 billion.

The advance during January, February and March this year was more evenly spread among consumers, businessmen and the government.

6 PER CENT
Government economists stressed that the latest increase was "more balanced" than the big Korea rise.

Since the economy was much smaller in 1950, that increase amounted to more than 6 per cent in the nation's over-all output.

The latest advance, coming on a much bigger base, was only about 2.5 per cent.

Thus the first-quarter GNP figures are not expected to tip the scales in favor of a tax increase to head off inflation.

Nevertheless, the Commerce Department noted that prices rose faster in the first quarter than at any other time during the current five-year business expansion.

Ohio Pair Chases UFOs for 86 Miles

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — "We reported sighting an unidentified flying object 'so bright you couldn't look straight at it' early yesterday.

A policeman and a radio newsmen said they saw what apparently was the same object — but at a greater distance.

Public Works employee Joe Franklin, Edward Mitchell and Frank Allen reported the object to police.

Franklin described it as shaped something like a sausage, about the size of a car and metallic in color.

The three reported it hovered about 15 stories above a motel where they were collecting rubbish, then moved for a few seconds over Benton Harbor High School.

The spokesman said Buchert is sending the Air Force a negative to be analyzed and after the picture is studied, any available findings will be announced.

Deputy Sheriff Dale Spaur said he and his partner, W. L. Neff, "were close" to the object in separate cars and chased it 86 miles for an hour and a half, from near Ravenna to Conway, Pa., near Pittsburgh.

Spaur said he clocked it at speeds up to 103 miles per hour. From the ground Spaur said it looked like the head of a flashlight, about 40 feet wide and 18 feet high.

Beware of Charges

Voters Warned on 11th-Hour Tactics

Voters are warned against late, last-minute attacks against other candidates.

This is a low form of office seeking.

Only certain types do it.

Charges and statements that can stand up solidly and are not afraid are made during the campaign proper. Only weak and senseless broadsides are thrown around at the last minute when they can't be answered.

Beware of these tactics. Be suspicious.

You may get some today — or over the past weekend — when the actual facts can't be brought to life. Don't be swayed by 11th hour, trumped-up charges.

COMMISSIONERS
The present commissioners presented all their election statements in plenty of time for replies. They made no last minute charges at any time and nothing at all over the weekend — or today.

Be sure to vote. You can lose the election by staying home.

Electricians Picketing All Entrances at Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Members of the International Union of Electrical Workers set up picket lines at all five entrances to this space center today and about 500 construction workers honked horns.

Except for some construction work on the Merritt Island moonport, the strike was not expected to affect activity here.

Most members of other industrial unions appeared to be ignoring the lines, which are the result of a wage dispute with United Technology Center.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Air Force hoped to have figures on the number of absentee workers later in the day.

TOLD TO REPORT
The Brevard Building Trades Council, which represents more than 2,000 Cape construction workers, instructed their members to report for work.

But there were reports from the moonport that at least 300 of them were off the job.

Efforts were under way by the Air Force and NASA to confine the picketing to one gate through which Technology employees, their subcontractors and suppliers would pass. This maneuver has been effective in minimizing the effects of strikes in the past—allowing nonstriking union workers to enter through other gates.

The strikers are members of Local 1201 of the electricians union, which has its headquarters at the Cape Kennedy plant of United Technological Center, a division of United Aircraft Corp.

VOTE TO STRIKE
About 225 electricians at the Cape Kennedy plant and 52 at Cape Kennedy voted Saturday to strike. The Cape members work on the solid fuel booster rockets for the Air Force Titan 3 space rocket.

The next Titan 3 launching is scheduled in mid-June, and the Air Force said that a short-duration strike would have no effect on the date.

Two 16-, two 5- and three 6-year terms are to be decided in the November election. A primary will be held in August.

A former assistant prosecutor under Frederick C. Ziem, now a circuit judge, Hanna currently is in private law practice, with offices at S.E. Main, Clawson.

He also holds the position of assistant city attorney in Clawson.

LOST ELECTION
In 1964, Hanna was an unsuccessful candidate for the Michigan Court of Appeals.

A 1951 graduate of the University of Tennessee, he received his law degree from Cumberland University in 1954.

He was president of the Clawson Chamber of Commerce in 1956, the year the group organized.

Hanna is also a member of the Michigan State Bar, Oakland County Bar, South Oakland County Bar and the Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity.

He served in the U.S. Army Air Force from 1943 to 1946.

Hanna and his wife, Irene have one daughter.

$5,000 Hike Tied to Reform of Practices

LANSING (AP)—A $5,000 pay hike for lawmakers was recommended today by a special commission on legislative compensation.

The commission called for a more businesslike and efficient Legislature as its condition for recommending the increase.

It followed the recommendation for a change in the present $2,500 annual expense account.

The 12-member citizens panel unanimously adopted a 22-page report calling for the increase plus immediate reforms in some present legislative practices.

It asked for "a more businesslike and efficient utilization of legislative time and effort... so that it can play its proper role in the government of the state."

"We are persuaded," the report said, "that with the proper organization of its work and increased financial support, the Michigan Legislature cannot only re-establish itself in public confidence but can also bring to members a more efficient use of their members' time and service to the people of the state."

The commission commended the present Legislature for taking the first steps to modernize present procedures. The report was presented to Gov. George Romney and Sen. Raymond Drendel, D-Detroit. Senate majority leader.

The Legislature was praised for improvements in staff and facilities, the appointment of a task force to study legislative problems, creation of a research section in the legislative service bureau, plans for a new legislative building, data processing experiments and creation of a legislative council and law revision committee.

The advisory group recommended that the salary increase start in 1967.

Lawmakers could pass the pay raise this year as a part of the general budget. Deadline for passage of all bills is June 8.

Boy Drowns in Rescue Try
A 10-year-old Ulica boy drowned in the Clinton River yesterday while fishing with three other boys.

Macomb County sheriff's deputies said Gerald Lippert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lippert, 11864 Chatman, drowned as he reached for a companion who had fallen into the water.

They said 11-year-old John Kublar fell into the river as he reached for a bottle floating by. Gerald drowned as he tried to save his friend who had struggled back to safety.

Sheriff's deputies attempted to revive the boy with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and with a resuscitator.

Gerald was pronounced dead shortly after 2 p.m. at St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

Also fishing with the boys at the time of the accident were Gerald's two brothers, Mike, 13, and Philip, 9.

More Schools Hit by Vandals

Damage Reported at Waterford Buildings

There was no letup this weekend in the recent rash of school vandalism in Pontiac area schools.

Vandals struck Cray Junior High School, 501 N. Cass Lake, Waterford Township, last night or this morning, causing an estimated $1,000 damage.

According to township police, the main office and kitchen were ransacked and two adding machines and a time clock were damaged.

Food was scattered throughout the kitchen. An unsuccessful attempt was made to enter a safe in the main office.

The intruders gained entry by smashing the glass from a rear door.

2 WINDOWS BROKEN
Also yesterday, two windows were reported broken at Beaumont School, 6540 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township.

Last Wednesday night, five Pontiac and a Waterford Township school were broken into by intruders who ransacked rooms, offices and vending machines.

Recent vandalism in Waterford Township has resulted in damage to all three junior high schools, a high school and several elementary buildings.

Revisions of the tentative budget will begin when the county is advised next month of its tax rate by the allocation board.

The final 1967 budget will be approved by the board of supervisors next fall.

CLARKSON'S PROPOSAL
Clarkson's proposal, which also calls for an increase of $25 to $35 per year for the chairman of the board of supervisors, must be approved by the ways and means committee before being voted upon by the full board.

A two-thirds vote of the board is required for a change in compensation.

Clarkson cited the rising cost of living and also the fact that committee meetings generally are longer than a few years ago in suggesting the boost in compensation.

Last year the 86-member board of supervisors collected approximately $40,000 for attending meetings. This includes per diem as well as mileage reimbursement at 10 cents a mile.

A total of 11 board of supervisors meetings and 23 committee meetings were held during 1965.

Birmingham Area News 6 Students Are Winners of Firm's Scholarships

Birmingham-Bloomfield area students have collected six of the 79 scholarships granted to Michigan high school seniors by the Chrysler Corp. Fund.

In all, 150 scholarships totaling $119,500 were awarded to children of Chrysler Corp. employees across the United States.

Chosen by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for their outstanding scholarship, leadership and citizenship, the winners receive individual awards ranging from $250 to $1,500 yearly.

Local winners include Cicely R. Guenther, 1141 Lake Park, Birmingham. A senior at Kingswood School, Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills, Cicely plans to study education at Smith College.

Two Beverly Hills residents who are now students at Groves High School will use their awards to attend the University of Michigan.

They are Janet A. Ball, 17188 Buckingham, who plans to major in education, and Gail S. Lanard, 31504 Sunset, a prospective engineer.

BIRMINGHAM—A panel of seventh and eighth graders will give parents an idea of "What the Teen-agers are Thinking About" at the Berkshire Junior High School PTA meeting Thursday.

Election of officers also will be held during the 8 p.m. meeting.

Boy, 14, Shot Trying to Flee Local Police

A 14-year-old boy was shot early this morning when he tried to escape from Pontiac police who wanted to question him about stolen handguns.

Three other suspects were apprehended later and, along with the shooting victim who suffered a superficial wound, were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police are withholding the names of the youths because of their ages.

Detective Sgt. John A. DePaw said the youngster was shot in the side after disregarding warnings of Patrolmen Carl Hedrick and John Morrow.

The shooting occurred just before 2 a.m. in a house at 856 Stanley where two guns stolen in a break-in at the Griswold Sporting Goods Store a week earlier were found.

FOUND BY RELATIVES
The guns were found by relatives of the owner of the house, who were caring for it while he is in Florida.

Police watched the home after the discovery was reported.

Twenty-five other guns were found hidden in the house after the shooting.

Five others were recovered after the wounded youth implicated his companions.

They fled in a car when they heard the gunfire.

ON U. OF M. FACULTY
A native of Kansas, Maddy joined the music faculty at the University of Michigan in 1924. He organized his first national high school orchestra in 1928 and it was the basis for the music camp.

Maddy is survived by his widow, Fay; two daughters, Mrs. Jeanne Gilbert of North Hollywood, Calif., and Marion of Ann Arbor; and a son, Richard, of Saginaw.

A musical Cinderella, Maddy's camp grew into a northwoods summer cultural center including the Arts Academy, a year-around college preparatory school for students gifted in the arts. It opened in 1958.

Dr. Maddy was a University of Michigan music department faculty member when he founded the camp, assumed its presidency. His bold plan for a summer music camp with facilities vast enough to accommodate the best young musicians from throughout the world, plus a faculty of distinguished performers to train them, took root and grew.

The camp now brings in more than 2,000 young musicians each summer and its youth symphony orchestra has won acclaim through broadcasts and personal appearances.

Mrs. Kennedy, however, excused herself before the concert began and went home. Prince Rainier and Princess Grace stayed on until 3:30 a.m. The Flamenco was still going strong at five o'clock.

Mrs. Kennedy was beaming during her first hour or so at the concert, but her good spirits faded visibly and she appeared tired.

agreement among all of the participants that they reject the Viet Cong and the efforts of Hanoi to impose a political solution upon the south by force," said Rusk.

"It is important of course that these political processes proceed on the basis of solidarity on the eventual aims with respect to South Viet Nam even though, as we ourselves learn, the construction of a basic constitutional arrangement is a complicated and difficult matter."

Rusk testified in the relatively small Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing room which was jammed with camera and other equipment and which had a waiting line for the spectators seats.

"It is important that these political, economic and social works of peace continue even while the military struggle continues," Rusk said.

IMPROVE LIFE
That is why, he said, that American and South Viet Nam leaders "reaffirmed our commitment to improve the life of the Vietnamese people in the declaration of Honolulu."

"For we recognize that, while we could win the victory on the battlefield, we could still lose the more important fight for the future well-being and progress of the people."

Rusk's testimony came after Barry Goldwater charged President Johnson is playing politics with the Vietnamese war by trying to keep it at "a low level" to save Democratic seats in next fall's congressional elections.

"We're not exerting our full air power against the enemy, and I don't think that is playing fair with the men who are being drafted and the men who are being sent over to Viet Nam," Johnson's 1964 GOP presidential opponent said in a copyright interview in U. S. News and World Report.

Goldwater's volley came as Congress returns full force to face the Vietnamese political storm that broke during the Easter recess.

The big question: What now? In going before the foreign relations group, Rusk once again was facing the questions of a committee that has been a hotbed of congressional criticism of Johnson's Asian policies.

But chairman J. W. Fulbright, SEVILLE, Spain (AP)—Two of America's most famous beauties — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Princess Grace of Monaco — stole the show at the International Piers de Seville debutante ball last night.

Thousands of guests danced into the early hours of the morning, but Mrs. Kennedy left the party at the early hour for Spain — of 2:30 a.m. Friends said she was very tired after having flown from Argentina to New York and then to Spain in three days.

She may also have been troubled by reports buzzing through Europe that she planned to announce her engagement to Spanish diplomat Don Antonio Garrigues y Diaz Canabate, 62.

The rumors were emphatically denied by close friends of the former first lady and by her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss.

Garrigues, formerly Spanish ambassador to Washington, has long been friendly with the Kennedy family. He now is the Spanish ambassador to the Holy See.

(In Rome, Garrigues declined to comment on the rumors reported yesterday. "It is the duty of a gentleman not to reply to such questions," Aides said he planned to fly to Madrid later today on business).

The Duke of Medinaceli hosted the Red Cross gala at his 18th century palace in this Andalusian capital.

"I wanted to show Mrs. Kennedy and Princess Grace some of the beautiful rooms of my palace," the duke said. "But the crowd was so great we couldn't move."

When Mrs. Kennedy first arrived, she was greeted by such a barrage of photographers that she was, as the duke described it, "crying in her heart."

She left the table of honor and did not return until after Princess Grace and her husband, Prince Rainier, were seated.

Princess Grace and Mrs. Kennedy were seated to the left and right of the Duke of Medinaceli at the table of honor. They exchanged only a few words as long as they were in public view in the main courtyard of the palace.

State Budget Action Is Due

Gov. Romney Pushes for 'Financial Sanity'

LANSING (AP)—Lawmakers begin a five-day drive tonight toward final first-round action on the state budget.

The results — which probably won't be determined until nearly midnight Friday — will not be the final version of spending for 1966-67.

But the size of programs approved by the Democratic-led Legislature should indicate how big a fight will be waged between Republican Gov. George Romney and the lawmakers during the ensuing six weeks.

The budget could soar as high as $1.06 billion based on bills introduced last week by spending committees in each house.

Romney, who has recommended spending $945 million, warned in a speech Saturday night that he would not sit by while $1 billion-plus spending was approved.

"I don't expect to see the financial sanity we've established in the past three years be tossed into a cocked hat while the future is unprovided for," he said.

A billion-dollar budget could knock out all or most of a $135-million state treasury surplus. Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Garland Lane D-Flint, says, however, he expects the final budget to fall below $1 billion.

Friday midnight is the deadline for passage of all bills in the house in which the bill was introduced. Then each chamber will take about six weeks to act on bills passed by the other.

Scores of nonemergency measures also await consideration during sessions this week which are expected to run until nearly midnight every night.

Senate-House conference committees also will try to work out differences on veterans' property tax relief and one-man, one-vote districting for county boards of supervisors.

Congress Resumes Full Activity Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress resumes full activity today, still wondering whether it will have to face soon a request from President Johnson for an income tax increase.

Some administration supporters have suggested the decision would be to ask for a tax boost, to fight inflation and help finance the Viet Nam fighting, might be made late in April.

Von Braun Tells of Uses for Satellites

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Space scientist Dr. Werner von Braun says satellites may be used to count noses as well as radiation and other more complicated things in the future.

Speaking to the League of Municipalities convention Sunday night, Von Braun said satellites also could be used to spot crop diseases and aid in water management.

He said the satellites would use man's habitations, recreational areas and industrial projects to determine population levels.

These space findings would be correlated with intensive earth-based samplings of selected areas.

Von Braun, director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center here, told 600 Alabama municipal officials that the center definitely will meet commitments to provide the hardware to put man on the moon by the end of the decade.

When you're in the 102nd floor observatory of the Empire State Building, world's tallest building, you're nearly a quarter-mile above the sidewalks of New York.

By then, reliable figures on the current income tax yield should be in, now that the deadline for filing has passed, and the closely watched cost of living statistics may give a hint whether price increases are leveling off.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk goes before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today to outline the administration's $3.4-billion foreign aid request.

LITTLE BUSINESS

But there is not much immediate business before Congress as the House ends its Easter holiday. The Senate has been in session since last Wednesday.

A committee will be busy in the House with President Johnson's proposal for expansion of the unemployment compensation system and in the Senate with appropriations.

The House Ways and Means Committee is about to decide how far along to go with the administration's proposals for covering millions more workers with unemployment insurance and extending the payments. The guessing is that it will send to the House legislation with some increases, but substantial by short of the Johnson request.

The House is scheduled to debate Wednesday Johnson's proposal to transfer the Community Relations Service, which attempts to conciliate disputes involving civil rights, from the Commerce to the Justice Department. The Senate, in effect, already has approved the transfer.

State Road Toll 10 in Weekend

2 Die Near Marshall
When Auto Hits Tree

A collision with a tree southeast of Marshall Saturday claimed two lives, boosting the state's weekend traffic toll to 10.

The Associated Press count began at 6:00 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Barbara Jean Favourite, 34, of Battle Creek and Beverly Stiver, 23, of Hudson were killed in the crash Saturday about two miles southeast of Marshall. Officers said their car failed to negotiate a curve.

Other fatalities:

Larry J. Boone, 16, Grandville, Sunday when he lost control of his auto in Georgetown Township, Ottawa County, and overturned.

STRUCK BY CAR

George Poulney, 51, of Bay City, struck by car at the scene of a three-car collision on U.S. 31 in Fraser Township of Bay County Sunday.

Robert Wright, 21, of Blissfield, in two-car collision at Gorman Road and Treat Highway in Madison Township of Lenawee County Saturday night.

Charles Warren Morris, 43, of Cadillac, when his car missed a curve and struck guard rails on M66 in Garfield Township, Kalamazoo County, Saturday night.

Hattie Ayers, 59, of Detroit, in two-car collision in Detroit Sunday night.

Steven McConnell, 15, of Belmont, passenger in a car that hit a tree off a Plainfield Township road in Kent County Saturday night.

Jay Fannan, 7, of Houghton, hit by a car on U.S. 41 between Houghton and Chassell Saturday.

Gary Bogue, 16, of Portage, when the car in which he was riding struck a tree in Portage Friday night.

Kindergarten Roundups Set

TROY — The school district will hold its annual kindergarten roundup in the elementary schools during the first week of May.

The roundup in the Niles and Morse elementary schools will be held on May 3; Leonard school, May 4; Poppleton and Big Beaver on May 5.

Parents living in the Coleman and Troy Union districts are to register their children at Leonard school.

The roundups will be held between 9 and 11 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m.

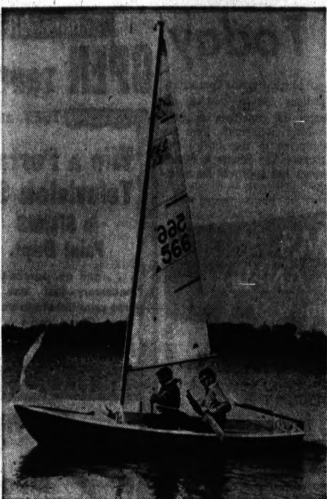

Parents are urged to take their prospective kindergarten children to either a morning or afternoon meeting to become acquainted with school procedures and school facilities.

NEEDED INFORMATION

Health, immunization and other registration information needed to enroll children in school next September will be distributed.

Further details may be obtained by calling the elementary school or the elementary coordinator at the central office.

Again this year there will be a six-week summer speech correction program for preschoolers. Parents interested in this program for their child should contact Mrs. Judy Fisher, 120 Hart.

Troy Board Foresees School Fund Deficit

TROY — The board of education will wind up the 1966-67 school year with a deficit in excess of $75,000 unless it finds the means to raise nearly $3-million.

The $2,863,902 budget which the board will submit to the County Tax Allocation Board today already has a $70,000 deficit carried over from this year.

Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith said that to clear up the deficit and provide a desired $50,000 balance, income would have to amount to $2,988,981 during 1966-67.

He said 26.6 mills would be required to provide this amount but that the board has no plans to increase the present tax rate of 2.7 mills.

"If the money doesn't become available," said Dr. Smith, "we'll have to reduce some of our figures."

NEW BUDGET

The new budget amounts to about $565,500 more than the present budget. Included in the Fire in Brandon Causes $6,500 Home Damage

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — A fire of undetermined origin caused an estimated $6,500 damage to the home of LeRoy James, 2434 Seymour Lake, Saturday night.

Fire Chief William Buckingham said faulty wiring in the basement is suspected of causing the fire. He said most of the damage was from heat and smoke.

No one was home at the time, according to Buckingham.

Brandon was assisted by Oxford and Independence Township fire departments. Buckingham said the fire was extinguished about 3:30 a.m.

Teaching Plan Approval Seen

Troy School Survey
Determining Reaction

TROY — The high school's new modular scheduling system which was put into effect last fall is apparently meeting with qualified approval from parents and teachers.

A survey is being conducted to determine reaction to the program.

According to the questionnaire already returned, parents agree that the plan "is on the right track toward developing student trust and responsibility."

They also agree that students have more individual help under the new program.

The faculty voted in favor of continuing the program next year with some changes. They felt there should be better attendance procedures, more supervision for some students, more scheduled time and better discipline.

DAY DIVIDED

Under the plan, the school day is divided into modules or periods of 16 minutes each. The class size, the length of class meetings and the number and spacing of classes varies according to the subject.

About 43 per cent of the students' time is unscheduled when they are to be in lab or study hall.

Increased instructional costs make up the greatest part of the difference. Expenditures in 1966-67 are expected to amount to $2,104,249 as compared to $1,691,000 this year.

Other costs are administration, $109,600; health service, $2,220; transportation, $144,000; plant operation, $331,946; plant maintenance, $72,440; fixed charges, $24,967; capital outlay, $45,000; community service, $24,000; and food services, $5,400.

In order to cover the estimated expenditures, local revenue must produce $1,825,885, state revenue must produce $1,097,396 and federal monies must amount to $29,250.

Threat of Fires Eases in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain has eased a threat of forest and grassland fires in Lower Michigan, the U.S. Weather Bureau at Detroit said today.

The bureau had issued a special fire danger warning for much of Lower Michigan Sunday. It said general rain over most of the area was expected to continue through today and lessen the danger.

However, it continued to advise extreme caution by everyone burning brush or trash.

The Conservation Department's regional office at Roscommon reported 23 fires in the 24 hours ended at 1 p.m. Sunday.

SPRAY MIXTURE

A chemical mixture was sprayed by airplane in the White Cloud area in an attempt to reduce the danger of fires.

W. Bloomfield Firemen Delay Walkout Decision

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The township fire department has postponed until Wednesday its threat to walk off the job because of a wage dispute, a spokesman said this morning.

The five full-time members of the department had threatened to quit at 7 this morning if their demands for more pay were not met.

Roscoe Hunt, senior member of the department, said this morning that on the advice of their attorney, Frederick O. Evans of Keego Harbor, the fire fighters have scheduled two more meetings with the township fire committee in an attempt to settle the dispute.

The meetings are scheduled for 7:30 tonight and tomorrow night.

"If we don't get what we're asking, we'll walk out at noon Wednesday," Hunt said.

Troy Club to Vote Wednesday

TROY — New officers will be elected at the 7 p.m. meeting Wednesday of the Business and Professional Women's Club at Sylvan Glen Country Club.

Two delegates for the May 20 state convention in Muskegon will also be chosen.

Club scholarship winners.

On Sunday, the Senior Girls Career Tea will be held at the First Methodist Church, 6363 Livernois, at 2:30 p.m.

Myrtle Abbott, radio and television personality, will be the guest speaker.

On April 30 the club will hold

"Ho-Down" at Clawson Center, 14 Miles at Crooks.

Sets Rochester Clinic

ROCHESTER — Dr. Joseph E. Howland, editor of the Lawn Care magazine, will hold a lawn clinic at 8 p.m. tomorrow at North Hill Elementary School.

To continue the promotion of beautiful lawns in the area, the Rochester Men's Garden Club will select the "Lawn of the Month" and make an appropriate award to the owner.

Hunt declined to say what the department's demands are.

Walter J. Whitener, chairman of the fire committee, said this morning that he had not been informed of the firemen's latest decision and offered no comment.

Township voters on April 4 defeated a two-mill tax proposal which would have provided additional money for the fire and police departments.

Passage of the proposal would have permitted an increase of firemen's salaries from $5,900 to $6,400.

The department has 11 volunteers, who have also threatened to walk off the job if the paid firemen's demands aren't met.

National Farmers Unit

Will Answer Questions

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Representatives of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) will be at Clarkson Farm Equipment Co., M15 and Oakhill, at 8 p.m. tomorrow to answer questions about the organization.

Thomas Trisgali, owner of the company, said all area farmers interested in learning more about the NFO are invited to attend. Coffee and refreshments will be served.

Nine area high school seniors are among the 150 students granted scholarships by the Chrysler Corp. Fund.

The 1966 winners, all children of Chrysler Corp. employees, were selected by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. for their outstanding scholarship, leadership and citizenship.

Among the area winners is Mary Lynn Griswold of 32247 Betsworth Hill, Farmington Township. The North Farmington High School senior plans to study education at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

Two Southfield residents, Gordon W. Didier of 15445 W. 13 Mile and Donald P. Henczel of 22764 W. 10 Mile, also were among the winners.

Gordon, who attends Birmingham's Groves High School, has not decided on his major field at the University of Michigan. Now attending Brother Rice High School in Bloomfield Township, Donald will study physics at Stanford University.

MEDICAL CAREER

Joyce A. Baer, 2623 Avonhurst, Troy, plans to begin preparation for a career in medicine at Oakland University. She is a student at Seaborn High School, Birmingham.

Troy High School senior Chester G. Mettloch, 1381 Dequindre, Troy, will study physics at the University of Michigan.

Planning to study medicine at the University of Michigan is Cheryl L. Kass, a Walled Lake High School senior who lives at 2419 Bureleigh, West Bloomfield Township.

Also on the list of winners is William M. Vagasky of 3725 Timberline, Utica.

The Utica High School senior plans to study electrical engineering at Michigan State University.

Two West Bloomfield Township residents were among the winners — Marjorie E. Alain, 5590 Inkster, and James F. Mitchell, 2071 Birchland.

Marjorie, who attends Groves High School in Birmingham, plans to study education at Cornell University. James, a student at Brother Rice High School in Bloomfield Township, plans to attend the University of Michigan to major in industrial engineering.

Cracks Appearing In Berlin Wall

Bonn Feels Time Ripe for Talks With East

By LEON DENNEN

NEW YORK (NEA) — In a move that could ease European tension, West Germany is seeking to improve relations with the Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

The Bonn government has just offered Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia an exchange of agreements to help renounce the use of military force in the settlement of international disputes.

It also urged a "nuclear freeze" in Europe that would eventually lead to a reduction of atomic weapons.

It is, of course, anyone's guess whether Bonn's offer to underwrite "a durable peace in Europe" will reverse Moscow's policy of hostility to West Germany, at least in the immediate future.

There is still genuine fear of Germany especially in East Europe.

WHIPPING BOY
More important is the fact that a "hostile" Germany is a convenient diplomatic whipping boy for the Russians.

They like to perpetuate the image of a revengeful Germany plotting new wars.

It is Moscow's chief excuse for keeping Germany divided and West Berlin isolated.

Yet the fact that the West Germans — completely reversing their policy — offered Russia a nonaggression pact is another indication that the East-West conflict has shifted from Europe to Southeast Asia.

4 YEARS AGO
Only four years ago President Kennedy urged the West Germans to explore the possibility of a nonaggression pact with Russia.

He was criticized for this not only by Bonn's former chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, but also, ironically enough, by French President de Gaulle.

Today de Gaulle is doing his best to gain Russian favor by anti-NATO and anti-American policies.

Even old Adenauer, hitherto a constant prophet of doom from Russia, now believes that Russia has "joined the ranks of the nations that want peace."

SEEKS PEACE
As he sees it, Moscow seeks peace in Europe, at least, in order to secure its western front in the event of a war with Red China.

Thus after 20 years of unsuccessful attempts to maneuver closer to the reunification of Germany the Bonn government has decided that the time is ripe to open direct negotiations with Moscow.

The West Germans are also putting more of the diplomatic cards on the table in an effort to improve the climate for a possible peace conference on Germany.

Even the Oder-Neisse territories which were given to Poland by the Potsdam agreement of 1945 are being dangled by Bonn as bargaining bait for German unity.

NEVER AGREED
Until now the West Germans never agreed that the territories ceded after Hitler's defeat belonged to Poland.

The Potsdam agreement — which was signed by the United States, Russia and Britain — stipulated that the final German-Polish frontier, including the Oder-Neisse lands, will be settled only after the completion of a German peace treaty.

As yet there is no German peace treaty. Yet in their latest diplomatic notes to the Russians, Poles and Czechs the West Germans hint broadly that they are preparing to make territorial "sacrifices" to obtain a peace treaty for a reunited Germany.

This is obviously the argument that President de Gaulle, when he goes to Russia in June, will use to convince the Kremlin leaders that there is no longer any danger of renewed German aggression.

Dependence on Tutor Can Be Harmful to Student

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Parents who sacrifice to give a child an advantage through tutors or private schools sometimes find that he is not benefited.

Instead of learning to study and to concentrate, the student often learns techniques for "getting by."

He becomes dependent upon tutors and is unable to succeed on his own. This, of course, is the very opposite of the results for which his parents hoped.

When parents recognize that their plans are not producing the desired results, they face difficult decisions. Should they go on to even more expensive tutorial schools? Should they give up and let their child stumble along working below capacity? Seemingly, these are the only alternatives offered.

However, there is another and far better solution!

Arthur's parents came to me for help in deciding between these two courses of action as Art was about to enter the ninth grade.

GOOD REPUTATION

He had spent the first years of his school life in a private school which had a reputation for turning out excellent scholars. But Arthur barely graduated. In fact, to accomplish even this, he had to take special summer courses and have private tutors, in addition to much help from his mother.

I agreed to act as a scholastic coach for Arthur. All tutors were to be dispensed with. He was to confer with me for a half hour or so twice a week. Otherwise, he was to be on his own.

On his first visits, it was obvious Arthur expected me to explain and in fact help him complete his homework. He was not bothering to understand his teacher's explanations. He answered any questions regarding the work at hand with guesses.

When tests were announced, he expected me to review the materials with him and to help him memorize enough procedures to enable him to pass.

DISCUSSED IDEAS
I did spend time discussing specific ideas with Arthur, particularly in algebra.

For example, exactly what is an exponent? Why is it handled as it is in the processes of multiplication and division? I insisted that Art discuss exponents with me in his own words, not just solve his homework problems by rote.

At first he was reluctant to even try to understand. Then he seemed amazed to find that he could understand.

It was a slow process. Although he made continuous progress and gradually began learning and understanding in class, it was four months before he cured himself of the habit of guessing.

It Seems to Me . . .

An Abundance of Diagnoses With No Apparent Solution

Returning from a vacation and business trip with North, Central and South American newspapermen, ending in Venezuela, I report an increasing uneasiness and dissatisfaction with our Viet Nam activities.

A very important and concomitant part of the picture lies in the fact no one seems to have a brilliant suggestion to rectify the abysmal mess in which we flounder. The bulk of the new critics — inside the country and out — just shake puzzled noggins when you press them for a solution. There are a hundred diagnoses but they finally shake down to one of these three:

- A—Continue as we are.
- B—Go home.
- C—Give 'em the full treatment.

Solution "A" may commit us to a wanton and wretched waste of American boys for a dozen years—or more. Other countries don't help us. Is it worth the lives of all these young men of ours to continue this pitiful imbroglio in which we're currently enmeshed?

Solution "B" means we might lose face and international standing all around the world by admitting the thing's too much for us. (Maybe it is.) Also, we might face a similar situation nearer our borders.

Solution "C" would end the mess in Viet Nam over night. Our giant bombs knocked the entire Japanese nation right out of a whole world war quicker than you could say "scat." BUT, this might — it just might — start World War III. One thing is fairly apparent: President Lyndon B. Johnson is losing supporters through our present aimless policy. Americans and world figures alike shake their heads. Outsiders say we accomplish precisely nothing. We aren't one whit nearer "victory" than we were when the thing started.

Americans are beginning to resent — and resent fiercely — the steady, uninterrupted killing of American boys. We are sending some of our most noble young men to their graves—with more to follow — and then more—and then more. And what do we accomplish?

What's the answer?
What's YOUR opinion?

Your Honest Duty

This is election day in Pontiac. If you haven't voted, you should put this paper down and leave for the polls.

That's your duty.
It's YOUR country.

Russia Casts Aspersions

There's a laugh of sorts in a current Russian publication.

Molodoi Kommist solemnly announces that the United States is definitely stumbling along the irreparable path of disaster and destruction in one more avenue. According to this youth publication, the question of sex has seized the minds of our young people and they're now paying this phase of existence undue homage. In fact, the Russian publication looks down its puritanical nose at us and labels our young ladies moral misfits and weak miserable characters.

Hold everything.
It wasn't too long ago that communism accepted free love with perfect equanimity and accepted kindred manifestations as simply a part of every day life and procedure.

Since when have these godless Russians grown so virtuous and sacrosanct?

And in Conclusion

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Early Easter morning a huge flock of geese engaged in a noisy flight across the city. A few days ago at midnight another flock made an even greater din and cry as it soared across Pontiac. Moscow plans a railroad train to travel 150 miles an hour. Their current train from Leningrad to Moscow touches 100 miles an hour and averages 70 m.p.h. for the 400 miles. I've made the trip. There's a video tape that plays back your golf swing immediately.

Trusted scouts say Jen Black deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. Overheard: "I wish the meek would hurry up and inherit the earth, the rest are making such a mess of everything."

. . . . The Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Industry claims it's one of the two or three fastest growing businesses in America. All that phony and artificial laughter on TV comedies is beginning to get a lot of people down — including me. The Wall Street Journal says there are so many UFO's here now we should charge them for the swamp gas they use — plus federal tax.

Overheard: "I never plant more lawn than my wife can mow comfortably." Sign on church: "Come In and Have Your Faith Lifted." Secret Service protection for JACKIE KENNEDY and her children ceases in December. Mexico is acting belligerently towards FRANKIE SINATRA. They better be careful. He has a bigger air force than Mexico. Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—everyone that voted today; the J's—everyone that didn't. Boo-o-o-o-o.

They'll Do It If They Can!

David Lawrence Says:

Rights Incitement Probe Needed

WASHINGTON — Leaders of Negro organizations keep on issuing predictions of violence this summer.

Various cities are named as "targets" for organized "demonstrations" of one kind or another. Some of these forecasts say that 40 or more LAWRENCE cities will be involved.

Inevitably tensions are produced as residents of certain neighborhoods begin to get uneasy and apprehensive, and counterdemonstrations are built up.

This is not the first time such predictions have been publicized. But just what is the purpose of it all?

One such comment is regarded merely as free speech, or are they a means of threatening or inciting violence in order to intimidate or pressure congress into legislative action of some kind?

There are orderly ways to deal with racial problems, but to threaten violence as a means of attaining a legislative end or influencing public opinion is certainly not covered by freedom of speech as defined in the Supreme Court ruling long in effect.

Incitement to violence has been noticeable in connection with street "demonstrations," even though these have been organized presumably with the sole intent of debating a public issue. But it is a tragic fact that some of the "demonstrations" or "sit-ins" or "lie-ins" have resulted in violence.

NEGLECTED GRIEVANCES

Unquestionably there are grievances which have long been neglected, and it is natural to attribute bitter feeling to delays in providing remedies. But the question is whether the leaders of the affected groups or blocs are unwittingly inciting people to violence by continually emphasizing such a prospect.

If the Department of Justice is too much influenced by the administration's sensitiveness about losing Negro votes, then it would still seem possible for some committee of Congress to look into "demonstrations" which allegedly have been or are being planned with the clandestine purpose of inciting violence.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has rightly investigated the Ku Klux Klan because of its night rides and violence, but doesn't incite to violence by Negro leaders also come under the heading of an "un-American activity"?

Every statement in the last two years in which violence has been publicly mentioned as probable unless Negro rights were upheld and discrimination removed needs to be reexamined to determine whether federal or state statutes have been transgressed.

MORE FREQUENT

Those who preach that "civil disobedience" and deliberate violations of law are justified may be contributing to the very outbursts of violence which often occur immediately thereafter in a given area. These episodes are becoming more frequent and now are threatened in lots of cities during "the long hot summer."

The American people believe in law and order. Whether it is whites or Negroes who become embittered about injustices, the same rule applies—there is no right to incite to violence.

Bob Considine Says:

Mrs. Hemingway Decries Onslaught of Civilization

NEW YORK — Mentioning no names, Mrs. Ernest Hemingway writes, on the stationery of the World Wildlife Fund.

"If you look at him objectively, 'civilized' man appears to be the stupidest and most evil of all earth's creatures.

"From the 'early Mesopotamians burning their forests to make grazing land and making desert instead, to the industrialists who have converted Lake Erie into an open sewer, probably irreclaimable, 'civilized' man has befouled his habitat and wantonly despoiled its natural resources.

The writing in that family was not confined to the old man.

"With the exception of the rogue animal, man is the only creature who kills for profit or pleasure, rather than subsistence." Mary goes on. "Even the great black Killer Whales of the Pacific eat their victims.

"As we all must regretfully admit, man's mindless pursuit of profit or pleasure has in 20 centuries destroyed 200 separate species of animals. Man now threatens the existence of 250 other separate species.

MATERIAL GREED
"I do not speak of true sportsmanship but of material greed and of unchecked killing out of cruelty or ignorance.

"Clearly the wise hunter, due to his reverence for nature's values, often is the best spokesman and defender of the wild against the onslaught of civilization."

Ticketed for extinction, unless hunters start using blanks, are the American bald eagle, whooping cranes, grizzly bears, rhinos, African mountain gorillas, cheetahs, orangutans and, alas, the coyote.

The World Wildlife Fund, whose headquarters is at 1816 Jefferson Place, N.W., Washington, D. C., wants to train biologists, ecologists and ethnologists, strengthen the staffs of game wardens, anti poachers, put out bush fires, help animals in distress.

It needs dough. Contributions will hardly be wasted.

The most graphic way of bringing the fund's message home to the world, I think, would be to arrange public showings of an incredible (and still unreleased) film entitled "Africa Addio" showing in the course of one long sequence the insane slaughter of animals after the British departed from Kenya.

Need of Reform

The Milwaukee Journal

It is regrettable that Gov. Knowles has rejected the proposal for a federal enforcement conference on pollution in Lake Michigan, Green Bay and Lake Superior. The idea, proposed by Sen Nelson (D-Wis.), was to hold a conference under the federal water pollution control act — actually the first step in federal enforcement proceedings to clean up wastes in interstate waters.

Without the prod of a federal conference on Lake Erie last year, it is doubtful that much would have been done to begin cleaning up that lake. A similar federal

U.S. Policy in Viet Nam Is Disturbing to Veteran

Mr. Farnum, I was wondering when any congressman would ask his voters for their viewpoints. The legislation now in Congress is sickening. Congress should be working on more important matters than packaging. Our national debt is going up, our taxes, our cost of living, losses in Viet Nam, and our aid to Communist countries. These things are more worthy of the attention of Congress.

Our policy in Viet Nam is disturbing to this veteran. It is discouraging to have to fight for our country with no hope for victory, of which we are certainly capable.

Fair Expectations!

The Birmingham (England) Post

It is doubtful whether South Viet Nam's independence would outlast America's withdrawal by many weeks.

If the Vietnamese really wish to remain free they need to close their ranks quickly, cease sniping at their protectors and demonstrate that they are worthy of the support they are receiving. If they do not, American public opinion will soon demand that it be withdrawn; and that would be detrimental to the cause of freedom in all Southeast Asia.

Ex-Prof Faces New Dope Rap

Raiding Party Finds Suspected Marijuana

MILLBROOK, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Timothy Leary, dismissed by Harvard University after experimenting with hallucinatory drugs — and convicted last month in Texas for transporting marijuana — faces a new narcotics charge.

A raiding party entered Leary's rented estate Sunday and seized what Dutchess County Dist. Atty. John R. Hellman called "a suspected quantity of marijuana."

Charged along with Leary with possession of narcotics were Stewart F. Swain, 46, Blue Jay, Calif., his wife, Nancy, 36, and Barry Kaplan, 20, New York City.

The four pleaded innocent before County Judge Raymond Baratta in Poughkeepsie and were released on bail pending a hearing Tuesday.

HE'S OUTRAGED

Leary, 46, free on bail pending appeal of a 30-year prison term stemming from a federal narcotics conviction at Laredo, Tex., said he was "outraged at this invasion of my home."

Leary said he was unaware of the presence of narcotics in the sprawling 64-room mansion he leased in 1963 in the name of the Catalina Foundation with himself as director.

The marijuana was said to have been found in an upstairs bedroom. Authorities said Leary was arrested since he was in possession of the house.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan, who led the raiding party with Hellman, said: "They (about 30 men and women) were lying around on mattresses on the floor, and some were playing music with guitars."

SCIENCE RESEARCH

Leary, who describes himself as a Hindu, said the foundation was devoted to "scientific and religious research." He said the persons at the 85-year-old estate over the weekend were there to help plan a summer camp that the foundation hopes to conduct on a consciousness-expanding techniques.

Leary, an experimenter with such drugs as LSD, and a collaborator, Richard Alpert, were released by Harvard three years ago for allegedly using students in drug experiments.

Ships Delayed by Slushy Ice at Soo Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—About 50 upbound Great Lakes freighters lay at anchor here today awaiting passage through the Soo Locks, which have been nearly plugged by tons of slushy ice.

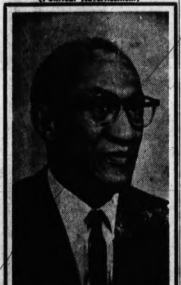

The ice, called "brash" by Lake sailors, was eight to ten feet thick in places, slowing or stopping westbound ships as they tried to leave the locks.

As the vessels pushed against the ice, it became forced between the sides of the boats and the walls of the narrow locks, wedging the freighters in.

The Coast Guard Cutters Mackinac and Naugatuck tried to pull two of the ships free, but with little success.

A week of prevailing westerly winds has blown the ice into the St. Marys River from Lake Superior. One long-time Soo resident termed conditions among the worst in memory.

Woman Kills Teen Who Attacks Her

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit housewife Sunday told police she shot and killed a 16-year-old boy who knocked her down and tried to grab her purse, officers said.

Mrs. Mamie Lee King, 38, said the victim was one of three youths who stopped her early Sunday as she was returning home from a visit. She reported she took a revolver from her purse and, as the youth tried to choke her and grab her purse, shot him in the neck.

Police identified the dead youth as William O'Neal of Detroit. Officers said his companions, aged 15 and 16, were placed in the Wayne County Juvenile Home.

Naming of Brother to Succeed Dead Iraq Leader Dims Prospects for Strife

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Prospects for a power struggle in Iraq appeared to subside today after Maj. Gen. Abdel Rahman Aref, the army chief of staff, was named to succeed his dead brother as president.

Rahman Aref was chosen by the Cabinet and Defense Council at a midnight meeting Saturday eight hours after the state funeral for President Abdel Salam Aref, killed in a helicopter crash last Wednesday.

The vote for Rahman Aref was reported to have been unanimous, which would contribute much toward stability of the new regime. The Defense Council includes Iraq's top military leaders.

Rahman Aref's selection was followed by an easing of the curfew imposed after his brother's death. Baghdad radio began reading telegrams of support from military posts throughout Iraq.

Aref's death had raised the prospect of bitter political infighting and perhaps worse over who would succeed him. Since he was named president by the military in 1963, Aref had maintained a precarious dominance over feuding political and religious factions.

The government of Premier Abdel Rehma Bazzaz offered to resign Sunday, but this is a routine formality. The cabinet is expected to stay in office, but appointments must be made to replace two ministers killed with the president.

Rahman Aref was named by his brother to run the army in February 1963 after a revolution overthrew dictator Abdel Karim Kassem. He confined himself to mostly military matters, exhibited no particular political leanings and was not considered a member of the inner circle of officers who under the leadership of Kassem and Salam Aref overthrew the pro-Western monarchy in 1958.

One-Fourth of Mankind

(1) The Middle Kingdom

by Don Oakley and John Lane

It is quite clear then that the old culture which we wish to sweep away cannot be isolated from the old politics and old economy of our nation.

—Mao Tse-tung

Sixteen years have passed since the Chinese Communists began sweeping away the old culture of China — a nation with a recorded history of nearly 4,000 years, one of the oldest continuously existing civilizations on earth. Yet the revolution that has overtaken China under the Communists is but a continuation of the revolution set in motion more than a century ago when Europeans began knocking vigorously at the door of "the slumbering giant."

It is a paradox — and a dangerous one — of our time that the new China which they helped create remains as remote and mysterious to many Westerners as the old China was to the Romans, who knew vaguely of the Chinese as "the Silk People."

With the largest population in the world, estimated at some 700 million — roughly one-fourth of mankind — and with the third greatest land area, the changes taking place in China are of profound concern to all men.

By sheer size alone, she must inevitably play a leading role in Asian affairs.

LARGER THAN U. S.

China is half a million square miles larger than the 48 United States and occupies about the same latitudes on the opposite side of the globe. But because of the severe nature of most of the interior, the vast bulk of her population lives in the east in an area half the size of the United States.

Seriously lacking in many of the natural resources required by an industrial nation, China's greatest resource, as in the past, is her energetic, inventive, long-suffering people.

The Chinese had seen most forms of government and social experiment — feudalism, monarchy, socialism, totalitarianism — 2,000 years before Charlemagne, Louis XIV, Marx, Hitler. Even the idea of the Great Society was old to their centuries before Christ.

Today, however, they are being molded into a cohesive, single-minded entity not known before in their long history.

OVERTHROWN

The ancient ways are utterly overturned, and China is determined to enter the modern age and regain her historical place of leadership as the "Middle Kingdom" — the center of the world.

Nevertheless, whatever edifice emerges from this era of rebuilding, it will rest on foundations 4,000 years deep in history.

Thus he who would understand the new China must first examine the old.

Pick Off Pigeon Pests

KINSLEY, England (UPI) — The village council plans to hire a crack shot to shoot pigeons that keep residents awake with their night-twl cooing. A council spokesman said the pigeons were nesting in chimney pots of the village houses.

From Riches to Rags in Poverty War

DETROIT (UPI) — The most Ozie Bulcock ever made in his life was $104 a week, but now he's taking home $682 a month. The only trouble is it won't last; he admits he'll make much less when he finishes the federally financed job-training class.

Bulcock, 49, admits the income from the two Federal antipoverity programs, all tax-free, is more than he has ever made in his life. It all goes, however, to feed his wife and nine of their 11 children.

He said he was laid off as a Chrysler Corp. assembly worker in November 1963, and ended up on relief of $67.49 a week.

After enrolling in a course to learn upholstery, however, Bulcock, who has an eighth grade education, gets payments of $190 twice a month from the work experience project of the War on Poverty and $72 a week from the skills-training program of the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962.

Both programs are 100 per cent federally financed.

But there are problems.

STARTING PAY

Some of the fellows that have been out there and have finished say they go out to these shops and these shops tell them they don't have experience and they're going to start them at $1.50 an hour," he said.

A spokesman for the Wayne County Bureau of Social Aid said his records showed Bulcock received $132.69 a week instead of $159.60, but could not explain the discrepancy.

When asked what he'll do when he has to take a pay cut to go to work, Bulcock replied:

"I'll do just what I did before — I'll just have to tough it out somehow."

Cranbrook Party Is 'Farewell' to Sepeschy

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
Sunday evening, friends of Zoltan Sepeschy came to say "Thanks and Goodnight" for the past and in behalf of the future, upon the occasion of his well-earned but deeply regretted retirement as president of the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

The occasion was the first activity sponsored by the newly formed women's committee for the Cranbrook Galleries at the Galleries, with Mrs. Ernest A. Jones and Mrs. Theodore O. Yntema as co-chairmen.

FLOWERS ALL OVER

The main entrance to the Galleries had been transformed into a beautiful salon with a large tea table in the center. Flowers from the Cranbrook Green House were every place.

With Mr. and Mrs. Sepeschy greeting the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Jones (he is chairman of the Cranbrook Academy of Art). Hostesses assisting Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Yntema were Mesdames: George Russell chairman of the Women's Committee; Don Ahrens, J. Denton Anderson, Hilbert H. DeLaurier, John DeLorean, Anthony G. DeLorenzo, Marshall Fredericks, James Loistrom, William C. Newberg, Raymond T. Perring, James Roche, E. D. Rollert, Edward A. Schirmer, J. Robert E. Swanson and Robert Vander Kloot.

Laurence Schmeckelroe, dean of the art school at Syracuse University, together with Wallace Mitchell, Galleries director, had hung the 60 Sepeschy paintings and drawings in the Galleries called the "Zoltan Sepeschy — Forty Years of His Work."

Among the many guests were the Warren S. Booths, James M. Booths, the William James Beresford, the Stephen Booths, the William T. Gossett, the Ben Snyder, Dr. Robert Hatt, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Paulsen, (he is the newly appointed director of Cranbrook Academy of Art).

Other were the Neil McMaths, Oscar Lundins, the John W. Blanchards, the William Lerchens, and Maja Grotell.

From Grosse Pointe were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Colby with Miss Florence Davies. Many were reminiscing with Miss Davies about the early beginning of Cranbrook when she took such a helpful part.

A visitor of note was Victor Borge. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

1946 Class

Will Reunite

The June 1946 class of Pontiac Central High School will reunite at a gala on Sept. 24.

Jere Donaldson is general chairman of the event and assisting him on committees are Robert Clark, Mrs. Palmer Strang, Robert Knight, Mrs. Lynn Allen Jr., Mrs. Frances Dickard, Joseph Chiroop and Mrs. Floyd Faler.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting any one of the above-mentioned.

Zoltan Sepeschy (center), retiring head of the Cranbrook Academy of Art, was honored at a reception Sunday. It was sponsored by the Women's Committee for the Cranbrook Galleries. In the picture are (from left) Ernest A. Jones, Bloomfield Hills; Glen Paulsen, new director of the Academy; Sepeschy; Mrs. Jones, cochairman of the reception; and Victor Borge who was a house guest of the Joneses.

AAUW Sets Election Day Tells Plans

Election of officers will highlight the business meeting when Rochester Branch of the American Association of University Women gathers at 8 p.m. April 27 in Woodward Memorial Library.

The agenda also will include discussion of "Science, a Creative Discipline," from the nationwide AAUW 1966-67 program.

ART FAIR

April and May's calendar for Rochester branch includes an art fair May 1 in the Gold and Sunset Room at Oakland University's Oakland Center, 1 to 6 p.m.

All area artists interested may call the chairman Mrs. Robert Trautman of Griggs Street in Rochester.

May 6 and 7 are dates for the annual regional AAUW convention in Chicago. Four members of the branch will attend: Mrs. Richard Kindinger, president; Mrs. Robert Slingerland, past president; Mrs. John Solverson, president-elect; and Mrs. George Wallace, treasurer.

At 12:30 p.m. May 14 the group's May luncheon is planned at Devon Gables.

Women interested in joining the AAUW may contact Mrs. John Yasalits, membership chairman.

'Pill' Creates Problem

Medic Feels Obligated

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If a 16-year-old girl asked me to give her birth control pills, knowing that I was a "trusted" friend of her parents, I would be damned if I didn't.

I would feel compelled to give her the pills, fearing that if I turned her away and she became pregnant, I would be responsible for either (a) an illegitimate baby, (b) a forced marriage, which is usually a miserable one, or, heaven forbid, (c) a botched abortion. I would feel morally obligated to prevent any of the above mentioned tragedies if possible.

Please withhold my name, although I am seriously tempted to ask you to print it with a request that no minor girls come to my office for birth control pills.

BEVERLY HILLS, M. D.,
OB. AND GYN.

DEAR ABBY: At a recent medical meeting some doctors said they would not hesitate to give "the pill" and contraceptive advice to any girl capable of becoming pregnant, regardless of parental knowledge or consent.

Others said they would give it without parental consent IF the family minister substituted for the parent. A spokesman for planned parenthood said that that organization refuses contraceptive advice to any individual under 21 without the knowledge and consent of his parents or legal guardian.

I personally have provided minors (both male and female) with contraceptives, but only after lecturing them extensively of the danger of venereal disease as well as the psychosexual hazards of promiscuity. I admit no regrets.

A FAMILY DOCTOR FOR 33 YEARS

DEAR ABBY: About whether the doctor should tell the mother that her young daughter had asked him for birth control pills: What for? If the mother was the kind a daughter could talk to, the kid wouldn't have gone to the doctor on the sneak in the first place.

I wasn't so lucky. I didn't have a mother to go to, and I didn't know a doctor who would see me. I had to face disgrace all alone when I was 15. You can't change human nature. I say they should pass out the pills free to anybody who wants them.

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — When Melissa Hixing gave her senior voice recital at Wesleyan College, her accompanist was her mother, Mrs. John H. Hixing, Director of music at Fremont St. Methodist Church in Gloversville, N.Y.

Mrs. Hixing made a special trip here to play the piano for her daughter, a music major at the Methodist liberal arts college.

By MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley: Please advise me on this: Should my husband and I invest $10,000 in the purchase of a house which we will share with my daughter?

My husband says "No." Our daughter is with us now, but things are not too good. She has a little baby and sometimes I tell her what to do. I also sometimes tell her what to do about the cooking as she has new ways of getting meals done.

I do not want to get into any fight with her or her husband. Or with mine!

However, Miss Feeley, I am married for 46 years, and all my other children are married and own their own homes. So I would like to help this young daughter and her family. My husband and I would pay half of the upkeep of this house if we buy it together with my daughter.

My husband says we would do better to get three rooms to order for ourselves. What do you think?

Mrs. R.M. Bronxville, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. M.: I think you'd do better to listen to your husband.

I can tell from your letter that you have that wonderful ailment called Enlargement of the Heart. This isn't a medical term. It's strictly a mother's ailment — one that afflicts a woman who just can't bear to let one of her little chicks leave the shelter of her warm feathered wings. But your daughter now has a husband and a baby, and it's up to her husband to find shelter for his family. At this point, your responsibility is to your own husband.

I honestly don't think this half-home you talk about would work well. You'll keep on trying to manage your daughter. And she'll keep on resenting it. So I suggest you put your money into making a comfortable home for the man you married.

Dear Miss Feeley: My teen-age son and daughter have part-time jobs outside of school hours. Both of them have had withholding taxes taken out of their salary. I understand this can be recovered — since neither of them made enough money to pay income tax.

If this is true, how do they go about getting these refunds?

OU Strings Conclude Season

Oakland University's Meadow Brook String Quartet will present its final concert of the season at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, in the Gold Room of the university's Oakland Center Building.

Made up of first chair members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the group includes Mische Mischakoff and Edouard Kerner, violinists; Nathan Gordon, violist; and Italo Babbini, cellist.

They will be joined by Mischakoff's son Matthew, 20, an honors student at the University of Michigan.

He will play Boccherini's Quintet No. 1 in G major, Op. 37, on his prized Ramirez guitar. The instrument was once used extensively by Andres Segovia.

The program will include Beethoven's Quartet No. 2 in G major, Op. 18, also Ravel's Quartet.

Single tickets for the performance are available through the Meadow Brook Festival office at the university with special rates for student-faculty.

Why Grow Old?

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It didn't beat the first robin but here it is anyway — my 9-Day Reducing Diet! I skipped it last year and you would have thought that I had cut off the arms of some of my readers. Letters from them said things like: "What happened to 9-Day Diet this year?" "I always depend on 9-Day to get me into my swim suit." "It doesn't seem like spring without your 9-Day Diet." "I never thought YOU would let us down. We had come to depend on your 9-Day Diet. What happened? What ever it was I hope it won't happen again."

This diet has been tremendously popular and I HAVE brought it to my readers for many springs. However, I thought all of you might be getting tired of it. Evidently not, so here we go while the weight goes, for the next nine days!

SHOWS RESULTS

One reason women like this diet is because it really is effective. It brings you a loss of five to 10 pounds in nine days time. It is good to know that you can lose a certain number of pounds in such a short time. When a woman has only 10 pounds to lose she usually wants to settle down and get the job over with as soon as possible. When she has more to lose this gives her an encouraging start. Also women have written the over and over again that they were not hungry while on this diet.

Whether you will lose five or 10 pounds will of course depend on how faithfully you follow the diet. When you are trying this sort of short diet you must be strict with yourself if you hope to achieve the promised loss. Then of course your metabolism and the amount of physical activity you indulge in also play their part.

Here are the menus for Tuesday, number one.

BREAKFAST

Half grapefruit
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast,
Black coffee

MID MORNING

Glass of tomato juice

LUNCHEON

Green salad with lemon or reducing dressing

Area People Play in Cast of 'Carousel'

When Will-O-Way's Apprentice Theater presents the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Carousel" opening Friday, several area adults and teens will be taking part.

From Pontiac are Mary Philps, Nora Parent, Phyllis Harris, Melvyn Hardman, Linda Reed, Charlotte Krammes, Patty Dell, Alleen Baldwin and Shari Morrow.

Performances will run through three weekends in April and May, prior to the summer school term.

Registrations are now being accepted for summer sessions which begin June 27 through Aug. 19. Further information may be obtained by contacting the theatre-school on West Long Lake Road.

Lutheran Rite Unites Couple From Pontiac

One slice lamb roast (don't eat the fat)
One glass skimmed milk

MID AFTERNOON

DINNER

One piece of lean meat, steak or roast (five or six ounces)
One-half cup squash (yellow preferable)
One-half cup string beans
One apple

You can substitute any lean meat or a lean meat patty for the roast lamb at lunch.

If you would like to have the complete 9-Day Diet in a convenient booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Don't Let Few Pounds Keep you From A Perfect Figure."

A recent evening ceremony and reception in St. Paul Lutheran Church marked the vows of Theresa Marie Bixby and Pvt. Richard Edward Hodler.

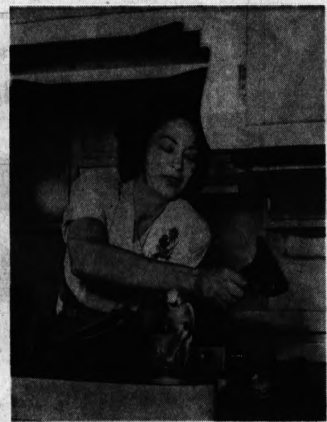

The newlyweds' parents are the Kenneth E. Bixbys of Ostrum Street and the Johnnie Hodlers of Lanco Court.

A shoulder-length tulle veil complemented the bride's floor-length gown of ivory peau de soie styled with chapel train. Her slim-line bouquet included white Phalaenopsis orchids and Stephanotis.

Trudy Lauringer was maid of honor at the candlelight rite performed by Rev. Maurice G. Shackell. Madrian Hodler was junior attendant.

With Wayne Hodler, best man, were the ushers William Dommer and Jerry Bixby.

The couple will reside near Port Gordon, Ga. where he is stationed.

DEAR POLLY — HELP! Does anyone have any pointers for a "chicken-hearted" parent with a son who has finally reached the age of GIRLS? Girls phone him. He phones the girls. All evening it is "jangle, jangle." I am afraid he will develop a "callie-phonie" ear if this does not stop. — RUTH

DEAR POLLY — At a party with the sewing machine attachment. This will allow for pulling the fabric up to the desired length or fullness without breaking the thread.

A stack of small foil, frozen pie plates served as the base. I emptied my box of ribbons, bows, plastic flowers and ornaments saved from birthday, shower and Christmas gifts for trimmings. A stapler, glue and their imagination were the only other ingredients needed.

Some very pretty and different hats resulted. This activity added to the festivities and served as a good, inexpensive ice breaker. — A. H. S.

DEAR READERS — This very good idea could include a small prize for the most amusing hat made by one of the young guests. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When pulling up machine stitches to make gathers for collars, skirt tops, etc., the thread often breaks. To insure success lay a length of wrapping cord along the edge of the fabric and use the cord to pull the thread through. — FRED

Cast Medal in Honor of Joan of Arc

Societe Commemorative de Femmes Celebres, the recently formed society devoted to the commemoration of famous women of history, has issued its first commemorative coin-medal — a tribute to Joan of Arc, by Gilroy Roberts.

Roberts is one of the world's most celebrated medallion sculptors. He was, for many years, chief sculptor-engraver of the U. S. Mint, and is now Mintmaster of America's first publicly-owned private mint, the Franklin Mint of Yeadon, Pa., a division of General Numismatics Corporation.

Among his many famous works are the obverse of the Kennedy half dollar and the "In God We Trust" Commemorative coin-medal issued by the National Commemorative Society.

BY BALLOT

The subject, Joan of Arc, was chosen by the members of Societe Commemorative by mail ballot. They have selected Betsy Ross as the subject of their second Commemorative, which will be issued in May.

The sculptor will be Felix Schlag, who has chosen to design only two other numismatic pieces in his entire artistic career — the Jefferson Nickel and the Hoover Commemorative coin-medal for the National Commemorative Society.

The membership rolls of Societe Commemorative are now closed permanently. No new memberships can be issued, but memberships can be bought, sold and transferred.

There are 3,220 members, and each one owns the right to acquire one serially-numbered sterling silver proof of each of the Society's bi-monthly commemorative coin-medal at the original issue price of $6.00 per proof.

In addition, three proofs of each issue are struck in solid platinum—one for presentation to an appropriate non-profit institution, one for presentation to the Smithsonian Institution and one for the Societe's permanent collection.

Societe Commemorative is following the successful pattern of the National Commemorative Society, except that Societe Commemorative issues a new coin-medal once every two months and limits its subjects to famous women.

Hint for Hangers

Wrap a rubber band near the end of each clothes hanger and garments won't slip off so easily.

More Leisure in the Future?

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — A University of Wisconsin professor predicts that by the year, 2000 A.D., people will work a 32-hour week with two-month vacations.

Prof. Lawrence Solum says the retirement age will also drop to 55. The effect, he says will be to double the average employee's present lifetime of leisure time.

Sorority Elects One As Convention Delegate

Mrs. George Brinkman of Iota Epsilon chapter was elected as delegate to the state convention of Pi Omicron sorority to be held at Cadillac May 14-15.

Alternates are Mrs. Ruthmary Wilds and Mrs. Hugo Harnack.

The group hosted the Sunday board meeting in Devon Gables and is also planning a May breakfast and banquette.

Mrs. Robert Dunham of Midrow Avenue recently hosted a meeting where Mrs. Orville Judd and Mrs. Girard Arnold were the cohostesses.

A tour of the Christian Science Church on West Lawrence Street is planned in connection with the chapter's "Religions of the World" studies.

July Vows Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mackie of Warren announce the engagement of their daughter, Christina Halina, to Pvt. Roy Herbert Hamilton, son of the Fred W. Hamilton of Eastman Street, West Bloomfield Township.

Her fiancé is stationed with the U. S. Army at Killen, Texas.

A July 9 wedding is planned.

For Fatally Ill

Premonition of Death?

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A Duke University psychiatrist says he has found evidence that the fatally ill may have a premonition of death.

Dr. Adrian Verwoerd theorizes these patients, subconsciously, are aware of when their deaths will occur.

His conclusion is based on a year-long study involving 30 persons, 22 of whom died.

A notion that hope is important in prolonging life for the fatally ill, established in another

LOOKED AHEAD

The patients were asked if they lived on a day-to-day basis, or if they looked ahead one week, one month or as much as six to 12 months. They were not asked when they thought they would die.

"How far the patients looked ahead seemed to be related to the actual time of death," said Dr. Verwoerd.

Of the 22 patients who died within the year, 11 died within two months and the others within two to nine months.

"The ones who died early by and large had said they looked ahead one week or a month," he reported. "And those who died later said they had looked ahead six to 12 months."

Dr. Verwoerd, an assistant professor, said there seemed to be no evidence that this premonition of death existed consciously.

New Sex Study Is Published

Findings Based on Clinical Observation

BOSTON (UPI) — Scientists revealed today how men and women respond to sexual acts under scientific scrutiny in a study rivaling the Kinsey Report in its impact on man's knowledge of sexual behavior.

The study titled "Human Sexual Response" is a wide-ranging report of the reactions of 382 women and 312 men who, under close laboratory observation, engaged in sexual practices.

The report, published by Little, Brown & Co., was written by Dr. William H. Masters and Mrs. Virginia E. Johnson on the basis of 11 years of research.

The authors said they hoped their finding would serve as a basis for solving some of the sexual problems of the aged, the sexually inadequate, and provide information for sexual education.

While Kinsey depended on questioning subjects about their sex practices, Dr. Masters and Mrs. Johnson subjected volunteers to scrutiny by a variety of instruments, color movie cameras and visual observation.

From the mass of data gathered over the years by the two scientists, a startling conclusion emerged which may have a bearing on the problem of population control.

In 41 of the women investigated, a chemical factor was found in the vaginal tract which is instantly lethal to the male sperm and can be developed in the process of fundamental sexual stimulation.

Masters theorized that if the lethal agent could be isolated it might be used to prevent conception.

Presidents' Descendant Makes Bid for Senate

BOSTON (AP) — Thomas B. Adams, a descendant of the presidential Adams family, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Adams, a newcomer to politics is a retired business man, and a noted author and lecturer. He said he agreed to become a candidate if friends could raise $100,000 for a campaign. They did.

Negro as Umpire Fair Decision

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.
Executive Director,
National Urban League

On a recent Monday afternoon, the baseball season opened in Washington. The sky was blue, the grass was green, the crowd enthusiastic, the ball-players determined.

The vice president was there for the annual ceremony of throwing the first ball of the season; in short, everything was quite usual, just another opening day — except for one thing. One of the umpires was Emmet Ashford, a Negro.

And this was unusual, because never before has there been a Negro umpire in the major leagues. Like Robert Weaver in the Cabinet, like Andrew Brimmer at the Federal Reserve, like many other talented and gifted individuals, Emmet Ashford has broken new ground; he is a first, setting the pace for others of his race.

What is so heartening about his appointment too; is the lack of fanfare about it. Twenty years ago Jackie Robinson joined the Brooklyn Dodgers as the first Negro ballplayer to make the big leagues.

It seems incredible now, but Jackie's appearance was treated as if it were a major revolutionary step. And in a sense it was.

Outstanding Negro players played in Negro leagues for Negro audiences, and many a major league team in those days lost a pennant because the Satchel Paiges who could have won it for them were not allowed to take part in our segregated national pastime.

But Jackie broke the ice. After a few seasons of play, in which he had to put up with abuse and trials because of his color, Jackie was accepted by fans and players alike.

MONEY IN POCKET
Teammates from Mississippi found that not only was he a nice fellow, but that his sterling play helped put World Series money into their paychecks.

Nothing breaks down prejudices as much as these economic facts of life.

It is to the everlasting credit of Branch Rickey that he realized that color discrimination had no place in a decent society. It was he who took the step which brought Jackie Robinson into the big leagues.

But some time ago I spoke with Branch Rickey's son, and he told me that although his stands aren't even aware of father left him the material color — they just see the unelements of the good life, the form and the performance, and most valuable thing he gave his cheer or boo on that basis alone.

son was his name and the meaning it carried — courage, integrity, honesty, and freedom from prejudice.

FINE HERITAGE
This is indeed a magnificent heritage to leave a son. Our businessmen and politicians would do well to consider the importance of such a heritage.

Just as Jackie Robinson had his Branch Rickey, so Emmet Ashford has his Dewey Soriano. Soriano is the president of the Pacific Coast League who elevated Ashford to the post of umpire-in-chief of this high minor league.

His nine years as umpire and three as umpire-in-chief convinced the majors that he was the man for the job.

So today Emmet Ashford is a major league umpire, to be followed in the future by other umpires, then coaches and managers, and front office staff.

Today Willie Mays is the highest-paid player, and many fantastic salaries.

This offers a lesson to the rest of us, as an example of the rapid progress that can be made when a man is judged on talent and skill and not by color.

Many of the people in the field told me that although his stands aren't even aware of father left him the material color — they just see the unelements of the good life, the form and the performance, and most valuable thing he gave his cheer or boo on that basis alone.

College Thief Knows All The Angles

Thievery Commonplace on Campuses

NEW YORK (NEA) — College students sit in and speak out. They picket, march and protest. They play hard and they study hard. And they steal.

They steal for fun and for profit. The college bookstore, with its required $12.95 textbooks, is hardest hit.

Also, the nearby supermarket often becomes a challenge to campus thieves, who compete to see who can cart off the heftiest supply of late-snack goodies.

Students themselves often are the victims. Dormitory rooms and lockers must be kept locked.

NO DISASTER

Does this dismal-sounding situation signal a social disaster, a wave of unprecedented lawlessness?

No. The college student is just very depressingly like his elders, who are said to make off with $5 million worth of unpaid goods from stores every year.

The reports from colleges all over the country are trickling in.

Three suspended Notre Dame University football players were charged with playing one game too many last September. The football game against Purdue was OK but the second feature—a looting spree in Purdue restrooms—was not. They were asked to account for the disappearance of a television set, radios, records and money.

'STUPID STUFF'

These were pretty practical items, but sometimes, as a headline in the Hofstra Chronicle read, "Students Steal Stupid Stuff."

The Chronicle story reported the thievery of a huge set of orchestral bells, some French horn mouthpieces and a piccolo.

A graduate student coed at the University of Kentucky is sitting out a 30-day jail sentence right now for taking several packages of meat from an off-campus market.

Some stores fight back. The Brass Buttons store near the University of Maryland campus advertised in the college paper, the Diamondback, that it was stepping the policy of "carry without cash." This caused several guilty students to return merchandise, but did not invoke a significant decline in the amount of clothing taken.

COSTLY SUITS

The store owner said his major problem is that he dare not report student shoplifters at Maryland. He explained that a false arrest can lead to a costly lawsuit. Another nearby store owner added that "We can't afford to turn in students. Our business depends on their trade."

A familiar campus thievery target is the dining hall, with its tempting collection of crockery and silverware and other items necessary to a well-stocked dormitory room snack cabinet.

Sometimes this pilfering gets out of hand, as it did recently at Hamilton College in Clinton, N.Y.

In one evening all of the knives, forks, teaspoons, plates, coffee saucers and salt and pepper shakers were missing from one of the dining rooms.

The next night the other dining room was similarly emptied. But the entire episode turned out to be a prank.

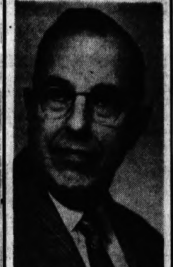

And so it goes on campus. The college student of the 60s may be swept up in a frenzy of socially motivated community action, but for the campus thief, it's business as usual.

2 Claim Talk With Great Train Robber

LONDON (AP)—Two newsmen said today they had met with a man in a London subway station who claimed to be one of the great train robbers.

Scotland Yard said it was "neither confirming nor denying the story at the moment."

Victor Sims of the London Sunday Mirror reported that a man claiming to be James White, 45-year-old ex-paratrooper, had telephoned Peter Wichman, London correspondent of the German magazine Der Stern, and arranged a rendezvous at a subway station in Cockfosters, a north London suburb.

Sims said he and Wichman met the man, and he fitted the description of White, who vanished after the gang of robbers held up a mail train in August 1963 and escaped with 2.5 million pounds ($7.2 million).

Sims said the man told them he got 120,000 pounds ($336,000) but was broke because he had been blackmailed.

WANTED MONEY

He said he wanted money for his wife, Sherree, who with her daughter has been missing since the robbery.

White's picture has been posted outside every police station in Britain since the robbery. The Yard's hunt has spread to South Africa and Latin America.

Four other men are wanted with him. Two, Charles Wilson and Ronald Biggs, escaped from jails in which they were serving 30-year sentences.

The other two, Bruce Reynolds and Ronald "Buster" Edwards, have never been caught.

Mother Learns Son Alive After Mix-Up

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — For Mrs. Elizabeth Giles, mother of a 21-year-old soldier in Viet Nam, letters from the front will never be the same again. She received one last week and thought her son was dead.

The letter had come from her son's platoon leader and from his army buddies. Enclosed was a sympathy card and a money order for $27.50.

"I saw it was a sympathy card," Mrs. Giles said. "But it didn't dawn on me that it was for us. I saw the money order, and my name was on it. I began to read the letter."

"It said that my son had been a good soldier, well-liked and respected by his friends. The letter said the platoon felt great sympathy for me. It said the money order was for flowers for his funeral."

"I almost passed out because I realized the letter meant that he was dead. But we hadn't received any official notice of his death from the government."

RED CROSS

Mrs. Giles telephoned the Red Cross, the Army, the Department of Defense. "Anyone we thought could straighten this out," she asked them if perhaps there hadn't been some mistake.

They all said they'd see what they could do. She waited. Her minister came. They prayed. Neighbors offered their sympathy.

Saturday night about 8:30, the phone rang. It was an army official calling from Viet Nam, a Col. Haad, she thought.

Indeed there had been a mistake, Pfc. William Giles was safe.

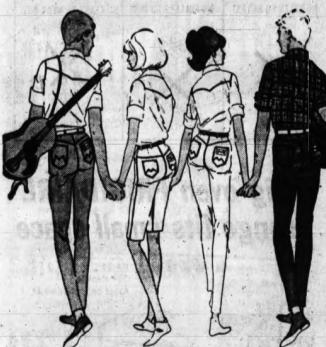

"I just fell down when I heard it," Mrs. Giles said. "The only thing I thought was 'Billy is alive.'"

Col. Haad explained what had happened.

SAME LAST NAME

There were two soldiers named Giles in her son's unit, he said. In a battle last week, the one named Barney Giles had been killed. William Giles was wounded. After the battle, someone had become confused over which Giles was which.

The platoon leader had sent his sympathy letter, the card and the money order to the wrong parents, Col. Haad said. William Giles should be writing home any day now, he told the soldier's mother.

Many Stars to Glow at Oscar Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The greatest array of movie stars in memory will provide a background of glamor tonight for the Academy Award show, focused on the battle of the two beautiful Julies from England—Andrews and Christie.

The British blondes, long-time personal friends, are the leading contenders to win best actress Oscars at the 38th annual presentation ceremonies.

Not since Olivia de Havilland and her sister, Joan Fontaine, were nominees back in 1941 has there been as much suspense or close rivalry. Miss Fontaine won that year for "Suspicion."

Miss Christie, a houseguest of Miss Andrews this week, won her nomination for "Darling," an amoral swinger, as contrasted with the sweet religious novice played by Miss Andrews in "The Sound of Music."

Miss Andrews won the Oscar last year for "Mary Poppins." 3 COMPETITORS Competing with the two Julies for the prized Oscar are Samantha Eggar (The Collector), Elizabeth Hartman (A Patch of Blue) and Simone Signoret (Ship of Fools).

All but Miss Signoret and Miss Hartman will attend the awards.

The best actor candidates will be out in force, too. Lee Marvin (Cat Balou), Rod Steiger (The Pawnbroker) and Oskar Werner (Ship of Fools) will be on hand. Only Richard Burton (The Spy Who Came In From the Cold) and Sir Laurence Olivier (Othello) will be missing.

Adding zest to the evening will be the appearance of all four winners of last year's acting awards — Rex Harrison, Miss Andrews, Lila Kedrova and Peter Ustinov.

They all will make the major acting presentations tonight. Backing them up with the other award presentations are Jack Lemmon, Shirley MacLaine, Kim Novak, James Garner, Bette Davis, Gregory Peck and Lana Turner.

It's a close race for best picture honors, too. Both "Sound of Music" and "Doctor Zhivago" won 10 nominations each. One of the two is expected to win the Oscar.

The other contending movies are "Darling," "A Thousand Clowns" and "Ship of Fools." Final touches were being made on gowns for the glamor girls, all with an eye for the color cameras and special lighting effects that will be trained on a dozen dancing fountains and reflecting pools on stage.

Following the award presentations and the drama in the auditorium, the winners will be toasted at the festive Academy Ball in Beverly Hills.

Lynda, Actor to Attend

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lynda Bird Johnson and her actor boyfriend George Hamilton planned to climax a round of movietown social events tonight with an appearance at the annual Academy Awards presentations.

The President's eldest daughter, who flew here from Mexico City Saturday, was a guest with the handsome actor at the wedding yesterday of actress Elizabeth Ashley and actor George Peppard.

Hamilton attended services at the First Church of Christ Scientist in Beverly Hills. Hamilton is a Christian Scientist.

Hamilton, in reply to questions about her visit, said: "We're doing just what we want to do and that's all." The President's daughter was staying with friends of the first family, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Woodward, at the Beverly Hilton Hotel. Woodward is a vice president of American Airlines.

Viet GI's Day: Long, Hot, Dangerous

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Clark Richie of Jay, Okla., is only 22, but he already is serving his second tour in South Viet Nam. His outfit is awaiting word to go into its first major clash with the Viet Cong. The following article recounts the events of the first of five days that may mean life or death for young Richie.)

By JOHN NANCE
CU CHI, South Viet Nam (AP) — The young soldier stretched flat on top of his bunker, listening and peering out into the darkness.

It was just after midnight Monday. The bright moon silvered the rows of barbed wire stretched in front of him. Beyond the wire was torn and cratered earth and then the jagged silhouette of a jungled rubber plantation.

It was in that plantation, a couple hundred yards away, where infantrymen of the 25th Division had fought their first bloody battle with the Viet Cong. The GIs now called that ground "Hell's Half Acre."

It was near Cu Chi, a town 20 miles northwest of Saigon and in the heart of territory controlled for decades by the Communists. They had built a vast network of tunnels, hidden trenches, and fortified positions.

YARD BY YARD
But the Americans had gouged out yard by yard the land needed for the base camp for the division's 2nd Brigade which had arrived in January. And they were determined to push the enemy from his stronghold.

The young soldier, Pfc. Clark Richie, 22, of Jay, Okla., had his pistol beside him; the muzzle of his heavy black machine gun jutted from a slit between timbers and sandbags in the face of the bunker.

His home in this strange place so far from Oklahoma was the bunker—eight feet long, five feet wide and five feet deep. It was dug from rock-hard soil and covered with timbers and sandbags.

Bunker Is A Home Away From Home

There were four in the bunker: Richie, Spec. 4 Ronald Hays, 18, of East St. Louis, Ill.; Spec. 4 Jim Buddano, 24, of the Bronx, N.Y.; and Pfc. Jose Martinez, 18, also of the Bronx. They belonged to the Weapons Squad, 3rd Platoon, B Company, 2nd Battalion, 2nd Brigade, 25th Division. They had been in Viet Nam since Jan. 27 after sailing from Hawaii where they trained at Schofield Barracks for this kind of war.

FORMER DUTY
Richie and Martinez had been in Viet Nam before, each for six months as machine gunners on helicopters.

As Richie lay silent and watchful in the cooling night he was reminded of his days as "Shotgun," as helicopter gunners are called. His right leg stiffened a bit. It had more than 70 small fragments in it from the ankle up the inner thigh. It was almost a year ago to the day that Viet Cong bullets spurted into his helicopter.

He had been hospitalized nearly a month.

It was nearly 1:30 a.m. and Richie woke up Buddano to take a turn at watch. Each man, each night, took two watches of 1½ hours.

Removing only his steel helmet, leaving on his boots and fatigue uniform, Richie rolled out to his air mattress. In minutes he was asleep.

QUIET NIGHT
Except for the bugs, and blasts of U.S. artillery, the night was uneventful.

checked to see every one was awake in case of a dawn sniper or mortar attack. At 6:30 the night patrol returned from the position of Richie's Bunker 14. The sun was streaking the sky yellow and purple.

By 8 it was reaching toward 75 degrees. Richie filled his steel helmet with water and settled his 6-foot, 1-inch frame onto a small stool under the bamboo and began to shave.

EYES TENSE

Richie was quiet. He finished off his shave with slaps of lotion and combed his short, cropped hair. Fresh and clean, he looked like a college boy getting ready for a date. But his greenish eyes had a tenseness about them. His rusty red hair was streaked with gray.

The gray had come in the last year, he said. "There wasn't a single gray hair when I came to Viet Nam in February a year ago."

His widowed mother, 68, hadn't wanted him to go back. "And I didn't volunteer," he said. But here he was. His mother simply told him: "Do the best job you can. Then come home, safe and well."

The day grew hotter. By 10 a.m. it was about 83.

The day wore on and by afternoon the slightest movement started sweat soaking through the men's T-shirts as the heat hit 95 degrees.

Richie and the three other men from the bunker sat under their bamboo trees and sweated. They talked about how many days they had left in Viet Nam and when they would go home. They talked about dying and the upcoming operation.

About 8 p.m. the artillery blasts picked up tempo, marking the departure of the Company's night patrol. Shells were fired ahead of the squad of men moving in darkness toward Viet Cong-held territory.

The blasts also marked the start of the first night watch. The cycle had been made. The day had passed like many others, the barbed wire shone again in the moonlight. But tonight there was a new element: Richie and the others knew an operation was near and it began to fill their thoughts.

Next: A break in routine.

'Low Rentals Not a Reality'

Councilman Warns Displaced Detroiters

DETROIT (AP)—Low-income families hoping to move into "low and moderate cost" housing units after their own dwellings are smashed by urban renewal are in for an unpleasant surprise, warns the Rev. Nicholas Hood.

The Rev. Mr. Hood, a common councilman, said Detroit's 433 planned housing units will cost $100 and more per month. City Housing Commission figures show a large number of the persons the projects are intended for couldn't afford those figures.

The projects will be built under the "221-D-3" program, in which the federal government grants private builders 40-year loans at 3 per cent interest.

But the interest break is buried under high taxes and construction and mortgage costs, said the Rev. Mr. Hood. "It's almost impossible to make 221-D-3 work for low-cost housing."

The answer, he said, would be federal or state rent supplements.

Sen. Church Plans Fact-Finding Trip to Six European Cities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank Church plans a two-week fact-finding trip to six European cities early in May to study administration policy effects in Europe.

Church, an Idaho Democrat, says he will leave April 30 to get material for Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings now planned tentatively for the end of May or the first of June.

Among the cities Church will visit at the request of Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., committee chairman, are Berlin, Bonn, Geneva, London, Paris and Moscow.

Church says he will be studying "all shades of European opinion" and will probe "questions of vital importance that need to be examined in connection with problems raised by (French President Charles) de Gaulle."

Hung Jury Despite Voiceprint

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI)—The voiceprint, a revolutionary electronic device which records the human voice on paper, apparently failed to convince a jury during its final test as evidence in a criminal trial.

Judge Robert Dempsey declared a mistrial Saturday night when the jury reported it was hopelessly deadlocked on a verdict concerning a New Rochelle, N.Y., police detective who allegedly lied to a grand jury about a telephone call signaling a bookie raid.

The voiceprint, an electronic spectrograph developed by a retired Bell Telephone laboratories physicist to identify individual voices on a paper chart, had been introduced as evidence for the first time in an effort to validate a police tape recording of the alleged telephone call.

Lawrence Kersta, voiceprint's inventor, had testified that no two human voices, like fingerprints, are the same and therefore can be considered "positive identification."

But the comfort begins naturally, right with the fabric: pure virgin wool, finished for crease retention and wrinkle resistance by a remarkable cloth-setting process. HS&M add a color as cool as the fabric itself: Verde Blu—a blue-into-green shading that takes its tones from the deeps and shallows of the Mediterranean. And they style it with typical expertise, in two-button models with plain-front trousers, three-button models with pleated trousers. A perfect choice for spring-into-summer—on every score. 87.50

Storm System Rakes Southwest With Thunderstorms, Twisters

By United Press International
A vast storm system which raked the Southwest with violent thunderstorms and at least three tornadoes, spread high winds, rain and snow over much of the country today.
Tornadoes smashed into Texas and Oklahoma yesterday, causing damage estimated in the thousands of dollars and injuring at least two persons.
Hardest hit was Eagle Pass, Tex., a Mexican border city of 25,000. The twister smashed store windows, damaged a drive-in theater and toppled a chimney onto a parked truck in which two persons were seated. They were hospitalized.
Damage to Eagle Pass was estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.
Tornadoes were also reported at Elroy, 10 miles south of Austin, and near Brady in Texas and near Shattuck, Okla.
NO ONE INJURED
The twisters damaged only isolated farm buildings and no one was reported injured. A funnel cloud was sighted near Austin but did not touch down.
A thunderstorm packing 66-mile-an-hour winds buffeted Houston at about midnight. Haskell, Tex., reported 70 mile an hour winds. No damage was reported.
The storm system, influencing weather from California to the Great Lakes, produced heavy rains in North Texas.
Longview got more than an inch and a half in six hours; the Dallas-Fort Worth area received 1 1/2 inches in about an hour.

Spanish Soil in N-Mishap Is All Buried

AIKEN, S.C. (AP) — The burial of 1,750 tons of mildly radioactive Spanish soil, packed in steel drums, has been completed under 10 feet of South Carolina soil at a nuclear burial grounds near Aiken.
The debris was collected near Palomares Beach on the coast of Spain after two U.S. Air Force planes collided Jan. 17 and two nuclear bombs burst open, spreading plutonium over tomato fields. Another bomb was easily recovered and a fourth recently was pulled from the Mediterranean.
Officials ordered the soil packed in steel drums to relieve fears of Spanish fishermen and farmers. The soil was shipped to Charleston, where it was transferred to a rail way car for the overland trip to the nuclear dumping grounds.
Burial of the contaminated soil and tomato vines was completed last Thursday at the Savannah River plant.

Death of Teens in Car Witnessed by Congregation

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A Baptist congregation leaving church services witnessed a train-car collision Sunday night in which four teen-agers died and three other young persons were injured.
The state patrol said there are no signals at the Hull community crossing near here, but that there is a good view down the track.
Witnesses told police the car hesitated at the crossing, then started across the track when it was struck by the train and hurled about 50 feet from the track.
The dead were identified as Shell Delane Melton, 15; Terry Martin, 15; Mike Martin, 17; and Marcia Abbott, 15, all of Hull.

Oil Still Flowing to Rhodesia

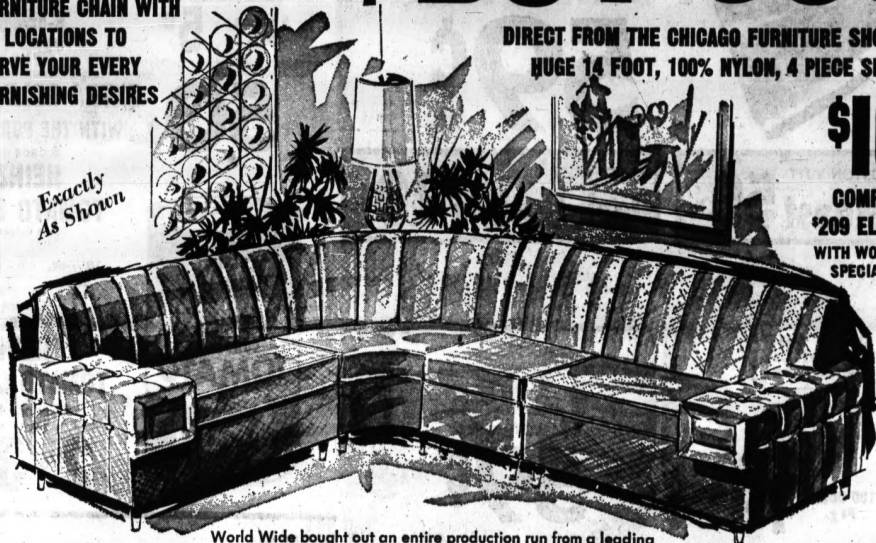

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The British campaign to keep the tankers Manuella and Ioanna V from delivering oil to Rhodesia made big headlines, but the rebellious African colony is still getting more oil each month overland than either ship carried, a South African newspaper reported today.
Johannesburg's Rand Daily Mail said the flow of oil from South Africa to Rhodesia averages between 140,000 and 160,000 gallons daily—double the amount required under current rationing quotas.
The newspaper gave this report:
A survey last week showed that each day at least 45,000 gallons were shipped by trucks and 100,000 gallons by rail. An un-identified oil company official said oil firms favored the cheaper rail routes from Lourenco Marques, in Portuguese Mozambique.
TRUCK HAULING
Most of the truck hauling is now done by an unnamed American oil company and South African agent. The Portuguese are supplying about 10 per cent of the fuel shipped by rail.
The Greek tanker Manuella, carrying 15,000 tons of crude oil originally destined for Rhodesia, was reported Sunday heading for Rotterdam after five days in Durban, South Africa.
The Manuella was turned away from the Mozambique port by a British naval boarding party April 10 under a U.N. Security Council resolution authorizing Britain to use force against tankers trying to put oil into Mozambique to evade the British oil embargo against Rhodesia.
A pipeline runs from Beira to the colony whose white minority rulers defied Britain and seized independence last November to preserve white rule.
SET TO SAIL
Reports from Beira said the Manuella's sister ship, the Ioanna V, was expected to sail from Beira May 6 without unloading its 18,000 tons of oil.
Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith announced Saturday that his regime had called off at-tempts to have oil from the Ioanna V pumped to Rhodesia from Beira.
In London, the conservative Daily Telegraph warned editorially of "a real danger" that the U.N. oil sanctions against Rhodesia might be extended to South Africa.

Coughing Spell by Driver Leaves Pedestrian Dead

DETROIT (AP)—A Motorist's coughing fit was responsible for the death of a 70-year-old pedestrian, police here were told.
Mrs. Josephine Zarembo of Detroit, injured in a bizarre mishap Friday, died Sunday in a hospital.
Kalamazoo Home Fire Leaves Woman Dead
KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Mrs. Peggy Viola Roberts, 48, was found in the ruins of her home here late Saturday after fire swept through the two-story structure.
Fire Chief John Kakabeke said the fire apparently started from a smoldering cigarette. He estimated damage at $20,000.
Patrolman James Moffitt quoted the driver of the car, Walter S. Skwiat, 40, as saying he suffered a coughing seizure and blacked out.
Skiwat's car hit a parked auto and pushed that car into Mrs. Zarembo, who was crossing the street pushing a shopping cart. officers said. Skwiat was not held.

AT BOYHOOD HOME—President Johnson smiles and begins to extend his hand to greet spectators outside his boyhood home at Johnson City, Tex., yesterday. Behind Johnson are two Secret Service agents and members of the White House press corps.

Allies Discuss French Forces

BONN, Germany (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville met today with West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder to hear what West Germany, the United States and Britain think about the future of French troops in West Germany after French withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The other three allies want the French forces, which at full strength number 72,000 men, closely linked with their own troops so that they can act together in an emergency.

Schröder told a television audience Sunday night that only complete day-to-day defense cooperation can deter an aggressor. He said the idea of integrating forces was the best one to assure equality between small and large countries.

Because French President Charles de Gaulle objects to such integration, he ordered his men withdrawn from allied command on July 1. The others are now asking for a large degree of integration, even outside the NATO setup. It remains to be seen if a compromise will be worked out or if someone will suggest that the French troops pull back across the Rhine into France.

BONN TALKS

At talks in Bonn over the weekend, the United States was represented by John J. McCloy, former U.S. high commissioner in Germany; Britain by its ambassador in Bonn, Sir Frank Roberts; and West Germany by Schröder. McCloy also had a talk with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

A working group representing the three countries was organized to continue the exchange of opinions. It is to hold its first meeting Tuesday after Couve de Murville's departure.

In Paris, Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag met with de Gaulle to discuss the NATO situation. Krag is on his way to Washington to confer with President Johnson.

President Near End of Texas Visit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson neared the end of his springtime holiday in Texas today.

Johnson, who flew to his LBJ Ranch April 7 for Easter, was expected to return to Washington late tonight with Mrs. Johnson, who will entertain 3,000 Democratic women at a White House tea Tuesday.

However, there was a chance the President might decide to spend another day or two on his home acres—particularly if the weather took a turn for the better. It was wet and cloudy over most of the central Texas hill country Sunday.

With his wife at his side, the President drove the 15 miles from the ranch to Johnson City, north of San Antonio, for church services and sight-seeing.

SMALL CHURCH

Services were in the small First Christian Church, newly redecorated with wood paneling, a beige carpet and acoustical tile ceiling.

The lay minister, Ray Aiken, reported the work was done with Johnson's financial help.

After church, the Johnsons visited his boyhood home a few blocks away—it's a public museum now—and sipped coffee in the kitchen. He greeted some old neighbors outside, posed for pictures with two little girls, then drove around some more before visiting an old stone house on the edge of town where his grandparents once lived.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers did not make a single announcement during the day—a rather unusual occurrence.

'Anti-Viet Protesters

Differ Little From Norm'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Young men and women who take part in demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam are little different from other persons their age, says a Harvard psychiatrist.

The significant difference, said Dr. Robert Coles, a psychiatrist who specializes in working with children and youths, is that the students who demonstrate "are willing to follow up their convictions, obviously strong, with action."

Official Hit for Optimism on A-Monitor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Craig Hosmer has criticized a U.S. disarmament official for being overly optimistic about the possibility of monitoring underground nuclear tests.

Hosmer, a California Republican and member of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, says the official had described a technique for on-site inspection to catch violations of any treaty banning underground nuclear tests.

The official, Adrian S. Fisher, said in an April 4 speech at Geneva the tests could be detected by leaking fission-product gases rising to the surface after an explosion.

But Hosmer, in a letter to William C. Foster, head of the U.S. disarmament delegation, says Fisher "gave ample opportunity... to overrate with great error the degree of confidence which can be placed in the fission-product gas analysis technique."

Violence Cools in Pasadena

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Police said today they expect no further violence in this Los Angeles suburb where a mob of nearly 100 Negroes attacked officers early Saturday with rocks, bottles and a fire bomb.

The violence, after a day of record-breaking 90-degree heat, was in apparent retaliation for the shooting of a burglary suspect by police.

There were no serious injuries in the two-hour outbreak, and property damage was confined to patrol cars and a few broken windows.

The attackers, ranging in age from 15 to 30, screamed at officers:

"We're paying you back for Willie Gates. This is for Willie Stand by whites. We just got started."

Police said the reference was to Willie Gates, who was seriously wounded when he fled police early Thursday after an alleged burglary attempt.

Reporter Fulfills a Dream in Magic World of Clown

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Louise Levitt, an AP reporter, realized a long-time ambition when she spent a day as a clown in the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus. It may be, she says, that the experience was more rewarding to her than to those she made laugh.)

By LOUISE LEVITT

NEW YORK (AP) — I put on my baggy pants, smeared my face with greasepaint and practiced making faces before a mirror. I thought I looked funny. Funny and sad.

But I didn't really feel like a clown until the boy, a little boy with laughing eyes and a shy smile, put aside his cotton candy and waved at his what must have been all his heart.

Then, I realized, I was no longer me. I was a clown, and that's a magic personality you can assume only when you believe very hard.

"Circuses are like no other entertainment," Jackie Cooper, a dwarf clown, said as we watched the throngs of men, women and children pour into Madison Square Garden. "People are always half-happy before they get here."

OWN EYES

Michael Polakows, a clown named Coco, helped arrange my outfit: droopy checked trousers,

"white face" clown, the buffoon of the troupe. * * *

I became dizzy with advice, words which really didn't take on meaning. I found, until I stepped into that vast arena and blurs became laughing faces.

"If you're funny, you're born with it. It's God's gift, and if you find it and you're awfully lucky. * * *

THEY KNOW IT

"You must love children, because if you don't, they know it and pull you apart." Standing in the wings was like standing between two worlds. Back stage, the circus was business. On stage, it was a wonderland made real because the audience wanted to believe it was real.

Then someone pushed into the ring, whispering: "We've got a full house today — 18,000 people." * * *

That didn't help any, and I stumbled, blushed and remembered the blush couldn't be seen. The faces were blurs, stretching off into the vast recesses of the arena like so many trees in a forest.

Then I saw the little boy, only a few feet away. He handed his cotton candy to his mother and waved. I waved back and he laughed. * * *

And suddenly it wasn't so hard. I continued around the great ring, my eyes picking the children's faces from the great blur and watching each smile become a laugh as I waved.

They weren't laughing because of my baggy pants and my goofy makeup, I kept telling myself. They were laughing, and smiling, because I was helping them to believe in a world void of sadness — and they're sure of that world as they are of peppermint candy and Santa Claus. * * *

Bird Thief Is Expert at Judging Pigeons

DURHAM, England (UPI) — Pigeon fanciers are mounting night patrols to guard their birds against a thief called "The Phantom Judge."

Since the spring breeding season began, he has stolen 34 pigeons and six valuable eggs worth $700. The thief can judge birds so well, he has ignored all but race winners or those from winning strains.

Family Moves After Camp-In

Pitched Tent on Lawn of Renewal Director

DETROIT (AP)—The James Mitchell family, which moved onto the lawn of City Housing Director James Knox Saturday, moved off Sunday when Knox returned home from Washington, D.C.

Mitchell, his wife and their five children pitched a tent on Knox's lawn to protest, they said, city urban renewal policies. Mitchell said the family would stay "until they do some thing for us or until we're put in jail."

The Mitchells spent the night with friends after visiting a nearby police station with Knox. Officers said no arrests were made.

Knox said he returned home shortly after midnight today and found the Mitchells and a group of people outside his home.

GAVE WARNING

"I told Mitchell to get off my lawn right then and there," Knox said. "I told them I was not going to debate with them at 1 a.m. I told Mitchell it was a relatively poor time for him to have his kids outside. It was cold and damp. I said it would be most reasonable for you to get them in bed."

"Mitchell said he wouldn't leave," Knox continued, "so I said, 'let's go down to the police station and settle it.'"

"Mitchell moved off my lawn under his own volition," Knox said. "I did not sign a complaint for trespassing and the family was not arrested."

Mitchell said he staged the "camp-in" because city urban renewal programs force low-income people to move to higher-priced or inadequate homes.

BUTTON NOSE—Louise Levitt, an Associated Press reporter, affixes a rubber nose as Coco, a Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus clown, supervises her makeup for a one-night appearance in New York's Madison Square Garden. Louise said being a clown was a long-time ambition.

Nelson Has (at Least) 2 Heads

LONDON (AP) — Two Londoners each claimed today to own the granite head of Adm. Lord Nelson which Irish nationalists blew off the top of Dublin's Nelson column last month.

The claimants are Benjamin Gray, 39, an antique dealer, and Butty Sugrue, 42, a pub keeper. Each claimed his head was the original from the Dublin statue. Each charged the other's head was a fake.

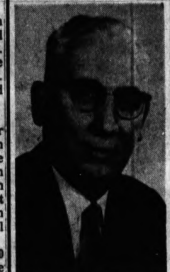

The head disappeared after unknown persons blasted down Nelson's 50-foot statue and the top half of the 112-foot column which supported it. The Irish government demolished the rest of the monument, which Irish nationalists hated as a symbol of British repression.

"I must have bought 1,000 jars of ale in Dublin pubs before getting on to the trail of students who had pinched the head," Gray said.

ITS FOR SALE

"I smuggled it across the border between Ireland and Northern Ireland and then flew it to London. It's for sale to the highest bidder."

Sugrue, who runs the Admiral Nelson pub, said, "There's no

No. 94,803

STATE OF MICHIGAN—The Probate Court for the County of Oakland, State of Michigan, do hereby certify that it is Ordered that on May 3, 1966, at 9 a.m., in the Probate Courtroom, Pontiac, Michigan a hearing be held on the petition of Ella H. Phillips for the appointment of an administrator of said estate and to determine who are or were at the time of death the heirs at law of said decedent.

Publication and service shall be made as provided by Statute and Court Rule. Dated: March 14, 1966.

ELSA H. PHILLIPS, Judge of Probate

1129 Myrtle Street, Pontiac, Michigan, April 4, 11 and 18, 1966

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division, Case No. 2422

In the matter of the Petition Concerning Angela Rodriguez, Minor.

JO JOSE RODRIGUEZ, father of said minor child.

Petitions having been filed in this Court alleging that said child comes within the provisions of Chapter 71A of the Compiled Laws of 1946 as amended, in that the greatest interests of the child are best served by placing said child in adoption and said child is dependent upon the public for support, and that said child should be placed under the jurisdiction of this Court.

IN THE NAME OF THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, I, JUDGE OF MICHIGAN, do hereby certify that the hearing on said petition was held on the 30th day of April A.D. 1966, at 10:00 o'clock in the Courtroom of the Court House, Oakland County Service Center in the City of Pontiac, in said County.

It was thereupon determined and it is hereby ordered that said child be placed in adoption and that the permanent severance of parental rights will be terminated.

It being impractical to make personal service of this order and notice shall be served by publication of a copy of this order in a newspaper of general circulation in said County.

Junior Editors Quiz on EYES

QUESTION: Can you tell a person's feelings by looking into his eyes?

ANSWER: We often speak of eyes as "The windows of the soul." If a person is surprised, we say, "His eyes are like saucers" and if angry, "His eyes are pinpoints of hate." As scientists studied eyes, they found that the black pupil becomes larger in the dark to admit more light. In bright light, it becomes smaller to admit less.

This led many to discard the idea that emotions might make eye pupils become larger.

More recent studies, however, show that the pupil does actually dilate if something pleasant or interesting is being looked at (B), and grows smaller if what the person is looking at is unpleasant (A).

This means that you might get at least some inkling of how a person is feeling by looking into his eyes, but it would probably be only a slight suggestion.

True, the iris in the bottom position is slightly bigger; but it is the eyebrow lifting up and the lower eyelid bunching up which make her smile, even if you can't see the lips. In the top picture it is the eyebrow, drawn sharply down, which gives her an angry look.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look into a mirror and make a very angry expression. It is like the diagram to left, with straight line over iris. Then give a big grin and see how the lower lid moves up like the lower diagram.

portant tricks will find himself losing important tricks also. habit of losing unimportant tricks will find himself losing important tricks also.

Six no-trump is the perfect contract for North and South. Between the combined hands they hold the ace and king of three suits and six or seven tricks in diamonds depending on whether South has to lose a trick to the missing king.

The East and West cards aren't shown because they have no real importance here. The only thing we are interested in is to see if you readers know how to avoid the nothing play with this card combination.

By JACOBY & SON

The nothing play is a play that can lose but possibly win.

Most nothing plays result from a player not knowing that he is going to lose a trick slightly out of his way to risk the loss of a trick.

Sometimes these tricks are not too important except that every trick counts means something and the player who makes a habit of losing unim-

We will start by telling you that this situation calls for a finesse. If you hang your ace and try to drop a singleton king you are taking a very poor line of play. You gain a trick if East holds the singleton king. You lose a trick if West holds a singleton ten or deuce or five.

Is that the nothing play? No, it isn't! South's correct play is to lead the queen from his hand. He plans to finesse if the queen is not covered. The nothing play is to lead low from his hand. The difference is that if West holds all three missing diamonds the queen play gives South all the tricks. The play

Animal Care Bills Worry Researchers

By SCIENCE SERVICE

ATLANTIC CITY — With the growing numbers of animal care bills in Congress, medical researchers are worried that they might get hog-tied along with the petnapers.

"Many of the proposals advanced to date to Congress would greatly inhibit, if not prohibit, animal experimentation — the only avenue to the conquest of cancer, heart disease, arthritis, etc.," said Dr. Maurice B. Vischer, president of the National Society for Medical Research and chairman of the department of physiology, University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

"Contrary to what some individuals and organizations would like the public to believe — we support constructive efforts by Congress to improve facilities for animal care and handling while not impeding the essential contribution made by animal experimentation," Dr. Vischer told the National Association of Science Writers here.

"Some sort of petnaping bill probably will be enacted this year," he said. "It is our hope that Congress will see fit to pass a bill which is limited to theft of household pets."

"We are convinced that regulation of care and treatment of animals in research facilities has no place in this current legislation."

Minister Appointed Viet 'Ambassador'

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — A Baptist minister leaves today for a two-weeks visit in Viet Nam with Gadsden's adopted Army artillery group.

Mayor Les Gilliland appointed the Rev. Richard M. Bolen, 32, pastor of the Meadowbrook Baptist Church, to make the journey as evidence of the town's support of fighting men in Viet Nam.

Four soldiers from the 23rd Artillery Group are scheduled to return the visit next month when they come to Gadsden for Armed Forces Day ceremonies.

Hell's Angels Clipped During Stay in Jail

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Seven members of Hell's Angels motorcycle club were shorn of their beards and tresses at the San Mateo County Jail Saturday, after being arrested for a scuffle with police.

Camera Angles

Amateur Makes Good

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Wirephotos

One of New York's local photo exhibitions has focused attention on a lady amateur photographer and has shown us what is right with photography.

The amateur: Miss Evelyn Seitz, and the exhibition: 42 prints at the Tavern-on-the-Green in Manhattan's Central Park, prove that, with imaginative thinking, photography provides its own challenge and that an interesting set of pictures can be made with one camera, one film, from one location and by available light only.

The limitations which Miss Seitz set for herself can be applied by other amateur photographers in any town, city or area in the country to discover the wide range of photographic possibilities in their own locales through different seasons and changing patterns of people and situations.

Miss Seitz' experiment spanned a year and a half in the park area surrounding the Tavern-on-the-Green. She did all her shooting with one Miranda 35mm singlelens reflex camera and Plus-X film.

With the challenging nature of the idea implanted, she pursued the project in her spare time and free weekends. She caught early morning exercisers, romantic couples sharing their dreams by the lake, football squads practicing, artists seeking inspiration and the twilight of skyscrapers twinkling with window-fireflies.

CREATIVE OUTLET

This is remarkable progress in a hobby which started only eight years ago as a creative outlet for a successful career woman.

Evelyn Seitz grew up in Glen Rock, a small town in Pennsylvania. With only a brief beautician's course after high school graduation, she opened a small beauty shop at age 16 and ran it successfully for 20 years.

Seeking further knowledge in her field she came to New York in 1952 and specialized in hair cosmetics. She joined a research company and is presently a project leader supervising experimental beauty salons.

Photography first appealed to her — a stranger in a big city — because it was an activity which could be tackled alone. Soon she discovered it was also a hobby easily shared so she joined a camera club.

In discussions about cameras, she was most impressed with the advantages of 35mm photography, of lens interchangeability and of adding more advanced accessories as one's interest expanded.

It led to her first Miranda, but now Miss Seitz has two. "One for black and white, the other for color," she explains, "and of the two mediums, black and white is far more challenging."

She prefers outdoor subject matter — scenic, animals, activities — abstract patterns and designs in nature.

She learned to develop and print her own pictures, with the bathtub as the center of darkroom activities and the dinette table for her printing lab.

On a weekend or vacation trip, she would select a motel not for its swimming pool but for its water facilities for processing convenience.

In the past eight years, photography changed the course of Miss Seitz' life. She won major awards in the National Newspaper Snapshot Contest and a World's Fair photo competition; honors from Saturday Review, Chicago Zoological Society, the photography magazines; medals in International Salon competitions.

But her proudest moment, she recalled, came five years after acquiring her first camera when one of her photographs was accepted for the Photography in the Fine Arts Exhibition.

Last year it was a museum director's choice and now hangs in the permanent collection of the Toledo Museum of Art.

Can any other hobby bring such distinction in so short a time?

Sociologists Say Conversation Helps Keep Marriages Happy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Sociologists have found that conversation does much to keep marriages happy. Typical couples talk to each other about 1½ hours a day, have only one real argument a month —even when they discuss money and in-law problems.

You're safer working in an auto plant than you are driving a car. In 1964 there were 1.86 disabling injuries per one million man-hours of work in U.S. auto plants, compared with an average of 6.45 for all industries.

Silk shirts for men are in high style again. Remember when even factory laborers wore them in World War I because cotton was in short supply?

In early day Massachusetts, a law decreed that people had to take a bath before going to bed. Innkeepers had only limited quantities of bed linen, and didn't want to have to change their sheets for each new guest. Husbands, if you want to save on your food bill, send your wife to the supermarket only after she has had a full meal. Psychologists say housewives usually splurge on groceries when they are hungry themselves.

They're putting springs in some feminine high-heeled shoes now to act as shock absorbers when milady goes strolling. The United States has only a little more than 6 per cent of the world population, but about 50 per cent of world income.

PAN OF SUDS
If yellow jackets are terrorizing your back yard, put out a pan of soap or detergent suds. The suds attract these insects. They fall in and drown.

History lesson: When did Americans live under two presidents each of whom came from the same native state? It was during the Civil War. Both Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, and Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, were born in Kentucky.

B'nai B'rith, a service organization, was conceived in a New York cafe by 12 Jews in 1843, as an instrument for bringing together all Jews, regardless of religious opinion, geographic origin or economic status.

Red Wings' Turnabout Against Hawks Now Complete

The Hawks kept up the pressure but midway in the period Ullman slapped down a flying puck, passed off to Howe, who scored to make it 4-2, cooling the Hawks.

Indians Hurler Blanks Boston

By the Associated Press
Luis Tiant didn't eat any potatoes this winter, so now he's in the gravy and the opposition's in the soup.

Tiant had the Boston Red Sox eating out of his hand Sunday, scattering seven hits as Cleveland won 4-0 and remained the only unbeaten team in the majors.

The Cuban right-hander thus became the first pitcher to post a shutout in the American League this season and exhibited signs that he is ready to return to his 1964 rookie form after a disappointing season last year.

stead of a fat one during the off-season.

SURPRISED

Indians' Manager Birdie Tebbets took one look at Tiant when he reported to camp this spring and exclaimed, "Holy smokes! How about that?"

Tiant weighed 181 pounds, 20 less than last year, and ordered pants with a size 32 waist instead of the 36 he wore in 1965.

In his first year — or more correctly first half-year since he didn't join Cleveland until the middle of the season — Tiant won 10 games and lost four. Then in 1966 he dipped to 11-11.

Now if he can keep from dipping into the bread basket, he could help fatten up the Indians' victory column.

In other American League games Washington whipped previously unbeaten Detroit 10-4, Baltimore edged New York 5-4 and Chicago blanked Kansas City 5-0 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game was washed out by rain as was the California-Minnesota game.

The who struck out nine received home run support from Rocky Colavito and Duke Sims as the Indians sent the winless Red Sox to their fifth defeat. The Indians are 4-0.

Shortstop Bobby Murcer made his third error of the game in the eighth inning, a miscue that helped Baltimore score two runs and down New York. Charlie Lau brought in the tying run with a sacrifice fly, and Curt Blefary's single drove in the winner.

John Buzhardt picked up the AL's second shutout a couple of hours after Tiant got his, stopping Kansas City on three hits in a rain-delayed game. Floyd Robinson led the White Sox attack with two singles and a home run.

Brighton Knocks Northville Nine From W-O Lead

Brighton scored all of its runs in the sixth inning Saturday to defeat Northville, 4-3, and knock the Mustangs out of a tie for first place in the Wayne-Oakland League.

The Redskins jumped on Northville's Steve Kecher for five of their six hits in the big inning. Winning pitcher Bruce Evanson doubled home a run and Pat Flaherty produced two with a single.

John Kenny drove in the winning marker with a single. Northville, now 2-1, was held to four hits by Evanson. John Jameson paced the Mustangs with a double and single. Milford leads the W-O with a 2-0 mark. It was Brighton's first win in three loop decisions.

Gay Brewer Plays Another Tough Foe

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — There's one thing about golfer Gay Brewer. He doesn't pick on any soft touches in a playoff.

Brewer's opponent in an 18-hole playoff today was a fellow named Arnold Palmer, with whom he tied after the regulation 72 holes Sunday in the $100,000 Tournament of Champions.

One week ago the 34-year-old Gay, from Louisville, Ky., by way of Dallas, Tex., merely edged Jack Nicklaus and Tommy Jacobs at 18 holes after they deadlocked in the famed Masters at Augusta, Ga.

Nicklaus, of course, won with two-under par 70, Jacobs had 72 and Gay 78.

"The way I was putting, I'm lucky to get into the playoff this time," said Brewer, who rapidly is becoming a sentimental favorite with golf fans.

MET BEFORE

Palmer and Brewer met once before under the same conditions and Arnie won in a sudden death test in the West Palm Beach Open in 1959.

With $20,000 at stake for the winner and $12,000 to the runner-up, this was the first playoff in the history of the tournament here.

Brewer, undisputed leader in the middle rounds, went into Sunday's final 18 holes leading Palmer by five strokes and Bill Casper by six.

Palmer, who had won the 1959 tournament, was in the lead after the first 18 holes.

Brewer, who had won the 1959 tournament, was in the lead after the first 18 holes.

Yancey Wins Azalea Open

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — While the champions were out in Las Vegas, professional golf's youngsters got together at Wilmington and put on quite a show of their own.

Bert Yancey, a husky blond from Philadelphia, withstood the pressure applied by other victory-starved hopefuls and emerged through with his initial four triumph Sunday. He won the Azalea Open with a closing 68, four under par, for a 278 total.

He was one shot in front of Bob Johnson, three ahead of Dave Marad, and four ahead of Tim Weiskopf. Each of them also was within grasp of their first triumph. Yancey won $3,200 of the $22,800 purse, more than he had won all year.

Yancey, 23, was the only player to finish under par.

Johnson, 24, was the only player to finish under par.

Marad, 25, was the only player to finish under par.

Weiskopf, 26, was the only player to finish under par.

Yancey, 23, was the only player to finish under par.

Johnson, 24, was the only player to finish under par.

Marad, 25, was the only player to finish under par.

Weiskopf, 26, was the only player to finish under par.

RECORD BREAKER — Bill Tipton of Pontiac Central broke the school record in the high hurdles with a clocking of 14 seconds flat and tied the PCH low hurdle mark of 19.3 in the Mansfield Relays Saturday. His high sticks time also bettered the existing Michigan prep record which can only be set in the state meet. He was the only double winner at Mansfield.

Lakers Surprise Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Fred Schaus has changed his thinking now that his Los Angeles Lakers have taken a 1-0 lead over the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association's championship final series.

"Being realistic, I'd have been content to win one of the two games played here," Schaus said after the Lakers upset Boston 133-129 in overtime Sunday at Boston Garden, overcoming an 18-point deficit. "But when you win the first, you get greedy and want the second."

The second game of the best-of-seven series will be played at Boston Tuesday night before the teams switch to the West Coast for the third and fourth games.

One of the key struggles in the game was the head-to-head duel of the Lakers' Jerry West and Boston's John Havlicek.

Presurgery Use Could Prevent Recurrences

By Science Service

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Small X-ray doses given to cancer patients before surgery could prevent some of the recurrences of malignancy.

Carefully controlled animal experiments have given significant support to the belief of a number of scientists who have tried preoperative irradiation.

Dr. Bernard H. Feder of the Veterans Administration Hospital here sees hope in X rays because of success in preventing growth in transplantable mouse tumors.

With a modified shoemaker's needle, Dr. Feder and his associates transplanted tumors between laboratory animals in less than 30 seconds, thus permitting the cancer cells to retain their potency.

Untreated and spread with the needle, the cancers were almost 100 per cent fatal. But with various X-ray doses, not necessarily cancer-killing ones, the growth of the cancer was prevented.

Dr. Feder, who did his work with the partial support of the American Cancer Society, points out that it remains to be seen whether the laboratory results will apply to humans, but he is hopeful.

The U.S. Post Office Department handled more than one billion 300 million private picture postcards last year. Most were mailed by vacationers.

Guns a Go-Go to Keep Cong Hopping

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — They call it Guns a Go-Go. It is a special unit of volunteer army gunners and three big converted helicopters loaded with armament and armor.

"These gunships will not be sitting ducks in Viet Nam in contrast to smaller helicopters now in use. These test ships are more like flying tanks. They even have cannons."

"This is strictly armored aircraft," said Col. William J. Tedesco, 30, commander of the test unit which officially is called the Field Evaluation Detachment CH7.

Tedesco did not say where the unit of 42 men and eight officers is headed. But they have been training like they expected to see action soon.

BORN OF PROBLEMS

Guns a Go-Go is another improvisation born of problems in the Viet Nam war.

"We're trying to fill a gap," Tedesco said.

U.S. combat helicopters in Viet Nam now carry several M60 machine guns and pods of 2.75-inch rockets. The UH1, CH21 and CH34 helicopters are used.

But these craft, coming over a strike zone behind an Air Force bombing run, often encounter fire from machine guns of the Viet Cong. The disadvantage of the shorter-range helicopter guns is obvious.

5 YEARS AWAY
Basically, none of the helicopters now in use as gun ships was designed for weaponry. Defense contracts recently were awarded for the first helicopter designed exclusively as a weapons ship. But Tedesco said it likely will be five years before the new ship is ready.

This gave rise to Guns a Go-Go. And compared to these craft, the gunships now in use in Viet Nam look like poptops.

The Chinooks at Ft. Benning are CH47, the Army's largest helicopter, and normally a carrier capable of hauling 33 men. After conversion, each of the Chinooks has as his armament:

Two 30mm cannons, five 50-caliber machine guns, a 40mm grenade launcher, two 19-tube rocket pods firing the 2.75-inch rocket, and a 6.7mm minigun with six barrels which are interchangeable with the rocket pods.

"We can strike any point within a radius of 150 miles," said Tedesco. He described the converted craft capability as "three hours and 45 minutes of endurance," in Army parlance.

Tedesco, whose home is in Springfield, Va., is a helicopter combat veteran of Viet Nam. He is concerned about lowering the rate of U.S. aircraft shot down, and he believes the converted Chinooks will do the job.

"They can move in after the bombing run and hover while firing to keep the Viet Cong from manning machine guns."

Tedesco said his unit is training as a detachment to augment troop transport and possible deployment. The men have been training at Ft. Benning and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., where the gunners practiced by firing at targets aloft in the Gulf of Mexico.

"We did right well," Tedesco said.

What? A Chinese Junk on the Detroit River?

DETROIT (AP) — Crewmen aboard lake freighters traveling the Detroit River will be doing a double-take in about a year if a Detroit restaurateur has his way.

Henry Yee, the mayor of Detroit's Chinatown, plans for a restaurant aboard a Chinese junk to be moored in the river.

The gorilla is found in the wild state only in the forests of equatorial western Africa.

Navy Boasts a New Image at Its Prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Welcome Aboard:" is the cheery title of an information booklet handed to visitors at a once-grim, castle-type building at Portsmouth, N.H.

That booklet is a symbol of a revolution in thinking about the treatment of gobs and GIs who go astray and commit acts classified as criminal. It means, the Navy explains, that it has nothing to hide in the way it treats prisoners.

"The castle," as it is not-too-fondly remembered by generations of past inmates, was formerly known as the U.S. Naval Prison and — as a sign of the times — is now officially dubbed the "U.S. Disciplinary Command."

"Going there nowadays," says a man who's been there, "is almost like going to school."

To be sure, the practice of stringing a man up by his thumbs went out of fashion long ago, with the old sailing men-of-war. So did "flogging the fellow through the fleet," and keel-hauling—dragging a man under a vessel, either atwarships or from bow to stern, by means of a rope.

But men now alive can remember more refined punishments such as confinement in a black box, or being forced to do push-ups over a bayonet. In 1953, there was scandal over beatings and other cruelty to prisoners at a Navy brig in Sasebo, Japan.

Now there is no denying that here and there a superior officer may still inflict the old kinds of punishment. But that is not official policy, and if reported, the officer is in trouble.

The disciplinary officers of Army, Navy and Air Force go to college classes on the modern treatment and rehabilitation of prisoners. One such course is held here at American University.

SHEDS LIGHT ON CHASE — It looked like the head of this flashlight, says Portage County Deputy Sheriff Dale Spaur of the unidentified flying object that he and his partner, W. L. Neff, chased in vain for 86 miles in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania early this morning. "Somebody had control over it," Spaur said. "It can maneuver."

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — "We were close, closer than I ever want to be again," said a deputy sheriff who chased an unidentified flying object from Ohio into Pennsylvania.

Hundreds of persons in both states reported seeing the "brilliant and shiny object" early yesterday morning.

Flying Object Said Sighted Over State

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Three city rubbish collectors reported sighting an unidentified flying object "so bright you couldn't look straight at it" early yesterday.

A policeman and a radio newsmen said they saw what apparently was the same object — but at a greater distance.

Public Works employees Joe Franklin, Edward Mitchell and Frank Allen reported the object to police.

Franklin described it as shaped something like a sausage, about the size of a car and metallic in color.

The three reported it hovered about 15 stories above a market where they were collecting rubbish, then moved for a few seconds over Benton Harbor High School.

Voters Select Commissioners

Rain clouds opened up over Pontiac today as voters went to the polls to select a City Commission from a field of 15 aspirants.

The polls opened at 7 a.m. and will remain open until 8 p.m. Everyone in line at the closing hour will be allowed to vote.

Voters were to decide the political fate of 14 commission candidates nominated in the seven election districts at the March 7 primary and one write-in hopeful.

The write-in candidate is in district 7, making that district race a three-way battle. The nominees there are former Mayor Robert A. Landry, incumbent James H. Marshall, and write-in candidate Joseph Singleton.

In addition to deciding the commission contests by casting seven votes on a one vote per district basis, each registered voter may also cast votes for two municipal judges.

Two veteran incumbents, Judges Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil B. McCallum, are unopposed for reelection to six-year terms.

23 CANDIDATES

Today's balloting climaxes the run for office that began when 23 candidates sought nomination in the primary. There are 32,320 registered voters in Pontiac.

The districts and the candidates follow:

District 1 — T. Warren Fowler Sr., 59, of 59 Lake and Charles M. Tucker Jr., 33, of 161 Earlemer.

District 2 — Kenneth H. Cumberbatch, 59, of 32 Newberry and Robert C. Irwin, 38, of 345 W. Iroquois.

District — William H. Taylor Jr., 50, of 247 Ottawa and William J. Winters, 39, of 292 Otawa.

District 4 — George Grish, 35, of 23 Kimball and Leslie H. Hudson, 43, of 315 Gallogly.

District 5 — John A. Dugan, 57, of 383 Nelson and William B. Hine, 32, of 460 DeSota.

District 6 — Mrs. Charles W. Nedrett, 54, of 62 Mariva, and Wesley J. Wood, 59, of 11 N. Sanford.

District 7 — Landry, 51, of 47 Center; Marshall, 63, of 185 S. Jessie; and Singleton, 39, of 365 S. Marshall.

Voters Warned on 11th-Hour Tactics

Voters are warned against late, last-minute attacks against other candidates.

This is a low form of office seeking. Only certain types do it.

Charges and statements that can stand up solidly and unafraid are made during the campaign proper. Only weak and senseless broadsides are thrown around at the last minute when they can't be answered.

Beware of these tactics. Be suspicious.

Area Man Dies in M59 Crash

Waterford Collision Injures Two Persons

A 45-year-old Waterford Township man was killed this morning in a two-car collision on M59 at Pontiac Lake Road in Waterford Township.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital was Charles E. Hall of 1091 Joangay, according to township police.

Two other persons were injured in the crash which occurred just before 1 a.m.

In fair condition at Pontiac General was Jerome F. Lyons, 30, of 123 Green, driver of the other car, and Marian Durnen, 31, of 207 Briggs, Waterford Township, a passenger.

Lyons' wife Bonnie was treated and released from the hospital.

Hall, who was alone in his car, was traveling west on Pontiac Lake Road, while Lyons' vehicle was northwest bound on M59, witnesses told police.

Cool Weather Predicted for Area Tuesday

Occasional showers are expected to end this evening with accompanying cooler temperatures.

The low tonight will be from 34 to 42. The mercury will waver in the 44 to 52 degree range tomorrow.

Southeasterly winds at 15 to 22 miles per hour today will become northwesterly at 10 to 20 miles tonight and tomorrow.

Wednesday's outlook is variable cloudiness and cooler.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 46. The mercury reading was 57 at 1 p.m.

VISITING SPAIN — Jacqueline Kennedy received a warm greeting at Madrid Airport yesterday when she arrived for a one-week visit to Spain. The Spanish foreign minister, Fernando Maria Castiella, who flew from New York with Mrs. Kennedy on the same plane, is at left.

Romance Rumored for Jackie, Spaniard

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI) — Two of America's most famous beauties — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Princess Grace of Monaco — stole the show at the International Fiera De Seville debutante ball last night.

Thousands of guests danced into the early hours of the morning, but Mrs. Kennedy left the party at the early hour — for Spain — of 2:30 a.m. Friends said she was very tired after having flown from Argentina.

She may also have been troubled by reports buzzing through Europe that she planned to announce her engagement to Spanish diplomat Don Antonio Garrigues y Diaz Canabate, 62.

The rumors were emphatically denied by close friends of the former first lady and by her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss.

Garrigues, formerly Spanish ambassador to Washington, has long been friendly with the Kennedy family. He now is the Spanish ambassador to the Holy See.

In Rome, Garrigues declined to comment on the romance reports saying, "It is the duty of a gentleman not to reply to such questions." Aides said he planned to fly to Madrid later today on business.

Barry Assails LBJ on Viet

'President is Playing Politics With War'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater charged today President Johnson was playing politics with the Vietnamese war by trying to keep it at "a low level" to save Democratic seats in next fall's congressional elections.

"We're not exerting our full air power against the enemy, and I don't think that is playing fair with the men who are being sent over to Viet Nam," Johnson's 1964 GOP presidential opponent said in a copyright interview in U. S. News and World Report.

Goldwater's volley came as Congress returns full force to face the Vietnamese political storm that broke during the Easter recess and as Secretary of State Dean Rusk faces the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The big question: What now? In going before the foreign relations group, Rusk once again was facing the questions of a committee that has been a hotbed of congressional criticism of Johnson's Asian policies.

But chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said he didn't think "there will be any fireworks."

2 Soviet-Built Missile Sites Are Hit in Raid

Yank Pilots Smash 7 Antiaircraft Units and 2 Key Bridges

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets smashed two Soviet-built missile sites on the outskirts of Hanoi in the closest raid yet to the North Vietnamese capital and left two key bridges in ruins, U.S. spokesmen reported today.

Another group of Navy fighter-bombers set off a huge explosion at a suspected missile site 27 miles south of the coastal city of Vinh, 160 miles south of Hanoi, aliened seven nearby antiaircraft batteries and sank a junk.

Led by target-marking F100 Super Sabre jets in clear afternoon skies, a pack of Air Force supersonic F105 Thunderchiefs began the raid around Hanoi yesterday by hurling 750-pound bombs at a bridge 33 miles south of the capital on the road to the chief port of Haiphong.

The span was put out of commission, a spokesman said.

The jets then moved closer to the capital, blasting a missile site 15 miles south of the city and another 17 miles southwest with rockets and 20mm cannon fire.

News Flash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's output of goods and services scored its biggest gain in nearly 15 years during the first three months of 1966, the Commerce Department reported today. The gross national product rose $16.9 billion to an annual rate of $714.1 billion.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors today unanimously approved the county's tentative 1967 budget calling for expenditures of $23.2 million.

Included in the budget are nondepartmental appropriations of $4,300,940, departmental and institutional expenditures of $10,942,181 and $7,964,111 for salaries.

Cranbrook Party Is 'Farewell' to Sepeshy

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
Sunday evening, friends of Zoltan Sepeshy came to say "Thanks and Godspeed" for the past and in behalf of the future, upon the occasion of his well-earned but deeply regretted retirement as president of the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

The occasion was the first activity sponsored by the newly formed women's committee for the Cranbrook Galleries at the Galleries, with Mrs. Ernest A. Jones and Mrs. Theodore O. Yntema as co-chairmen.

FLOWERS ALL OVER
The main entrance to the Galleries had been transformed into a beautiful salon with a large tea table in the center. Flowers from the Cranbrook Green House were every place.

With Mr. and Mrs. Sepeshy greeting the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Jones (he is chairman of the Cranbrook Academy of Art). Hostesses assisting Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Yntema were Mesdames: George Russell chairman of the Women's Committee) Don Ahrens, J. Denton Anderson, Hilbert H. DeLawter, John DeLorean, Anthony G. DeLorenzo, Marshall Fredericks, James Loftstrom, William C. Newberg, Raymond T. Perring, James Roche, E. D. Rollet, Edward A. Schirmer, J. Robert F. Swanson and Robert Vander Kloot.

Laurence Schmeckelre, dean of the art school at Syracuse University, together with Wallace Mitchell, Galleries director, had hung the 60 Sepeshy paintings and drawings in the Galleries called the "Zoltan Sepeshy - Forty Years of His Work".

Among the many guests were the Warren S. Booths, James M. Booths, the William James Berensford, the Stephen Booths, the William T. Gossett, the Ben Snyder, Dr. Robert Hatt, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Paulsen, (he is the newly appointed director of Cranbrook Academy of Art).

Other were the Neil McMaths, Oscar Lundins, the John W. Blanchards, the William Lerchens, and Maja Grotell.

From Grosse Pointe were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Colby with Miss Florence Davies. Many were reminiscing with Miss Davies about the early beginning of Cranbrook when she took such a helpful part.

A visitor of note was Victor Borge. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

1946 Class

Will Reunite

The June 1946 class of Pontiac Central High School will reunite at a gala on Sept. 24.

Jere Donaldson is general chairman of the event and assisting him on committees are Robert Clark, Mrs. Palmer Strang, Robert Knight, Mrs. Lynn Allen Jr., Mrs. Frances Dickard, Joseph Chiroop and Mrs. Floyd Faler.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting any one of the above-mentioned.

Zoltan Sepeshy (center), retiring head of the Cranbrook Academy of Art, was honored at a reception Sunday. It was sponsored by the Women's Committee for the Cranbrook Galleries. In the picture are (from left) Ernest A. Jones, Bloomfield Hills; Glen Paulsen, new director of the Academy; Sepeshy; Mrs. Jones, cochairman of the reception; and Victor Borge who was a house guest of the Joneses.

AAUW Sets Election Day Tells Plans

Election of officers will highlight the business meeting when Rochester Branch of the American Association of University Women gathers at 8 p.m. April 27 in Woodward Memorial Library.

The agenda also will include discussion of "Science, a Creative Discipline," from the nationwide AAUW 1966-67 program.

ART FAIR

April and May's calendar for Rochester branch includes an art fair May 1 in the Gold and Sunset Room at Oakland University's Oakland Center, 1 to 6 p.m.

All area artists interested may call the chairman Mrs. Robert Trautman of Griggs Street in Rochester.

May 6 and 7 are dates for the annual regional AAUW convention in Chicago. Four members of the branch will attend: Mrs. Richard Kindinger, president; Mrs. Robert Slingerland, past president; Mrs. John Solverson, president - elect; and Mrs. George Wallace, treasurer.

At 12:30 p.m. May 14 the group's May luncheon is planned at Devon Gables.

Women interested in joining the AAUW may contact Mrs. John Yasaitis, membership chairman.

'Pill' Creates Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If a 16-year-old girl asked me to give her birth control pills, knowing that I was a "trusted" friend of her parents, I would be damned if I did and damned if I didn't.

I would feel compelled to give her the pills, fearing that if I turned her away and she became pregnant, I would be responsible for either (a) an illegitimate baby, (b) a forced marriage, which is usually a miserable one, or, heaven forbid, (c) a botched abortion. I would feel morally obligated to prevent any of the above mentioned tragedies if possible.

Please withhold my name, although I am seriously tempted to ask you to print it with a request that no minor girls come to my office for birth control pills.

BEVERLY HILLS, M. D. OB. AND GYN.

DEAR ABBY: At a recent medical meeting some doctors said they would not hesitate to give "the pill" and contraceptive advice to any girl capable of becoming pregnant, regardless of parental knowledge or consent.

Others said they would give it without parental consent IF the family minister substituted for the parent. A spokesman for planned parenthood said that that organization refuses contraceptive advice to any individual under 21 without the knowledge and consent of his parents or legal guardian.

I personally have provided minors (both male and female) with contraceptives, but only after lecturing them extensively on the danger of venereal disease as well as the psychosexual hazards of promiscuity. I admit no regrets.

A FAMILY DOCTOR FOR 33 YEARS

DEAR ABBY: About whether the doctor should tell the mother that her young daughter had asked him for birth control pills: What for? If the mother was the kind a daughter could talk to, the kid wouldn't have gone to the doctor on the sneak in the first place.

I wasn't so lucky. I didn't have a mother to go to, and I didn't know a doctor who would see me. I had to face disgrace all alone when I was 15. You can't change human nature. I say they should pass out the pills free to anybody who wants them.

Reporter Fulfills a Dream in Magic World of Clown

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Louise Levitt, an AP reporter, realized a long-time ambition when she spent a day as a clown in the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus. It may be, she says, that the experience was more rewarding to her than to those she made laugh.)

By LOUISE LEVITT

NEW YORK (AP) — I put on my baggy pants, smeared my face with greasepaint and practiced making faces before a mirror. I thought I looked funny. Funny and sad.

But I didn't really feel like a clown until the boy, a little boy with laughing eyes and a shy smile, put aside his cotton candy and waved at me with what must have been all his heart.

Then, I realized, I was no longer me. I was a clown, and that's a magic personality you can assume only when you believe very, very hard.

"Circuses are like no other entertainment," Jackie Cooper, a dwarf clown, said as we watched the throngs of men, women and children pour into Madison Square Garden. "People are always half-happy before they get here."

"YOUR HEALTH" "HEADACHES"

Do you suffer from frequent headaches? Too many people do. Lowering them up with aspirin gives only temporary relief. The underlying problem remains. Chiropractic treatments attempt to get to the cause of the condition, which in many cases is pressure on the nerves in the spine and neck. Once the nerve pressure is removed, most headaches disappear. If you have lived with this pain over the years, and been told, "It's your nerves, take some aspirin," then give chiropractic a chance. Results measure the merit of anything. Chiropractic claims nothing it has not already accomplished many times.

Family Moves After Camp-In

Pitched Tent on Lawn of Renewal Director

DETROIT (AP)—The James Mitchell family, which moved onto the lawn of City Housing Director James Knox Saturday, moved off Sunday when Knox returned home from Washington, D.C.

Mitchell, his wife and their five children pitched a tent on Knox's lawn to protest, they said, city urban renewal policies. Mitchell said the family would stay "until they do something for us or until we're put in jail."

The Mitchells spent the night with friends after visiting a nearby police station with Knox. Officers said no arrests were made.

Knox said he returned home shortly after midnight today and found the Mitchells and a group of people outside his home.

GAVE WARNING

"I told Mitchell to get off my lawn right then and there," Knox said. "I told them I was not going to debate with them at 1 a.m. I told Mitchell it was a relatively poor time for him to have his kids outside. It was cold and damp. I said it would be most reasonable for you to get them in bed."

"Mitchell said he wouldn't leave," Knox continued, "so I said, 'let's go down to the police station and settle it.'"

"Mitchell moved off my lawn under his own volition," Knox said. "I did not sign a complaint for trespassing and the family was not arrested."

Mitchell said he staged the "camp-in" because city urban renewal programs force low-income people to move to higher-priced or inadequate homes.

BUTTON NOSE—Louise Levitt, an Associated Press reporter, affixes a rubber nose as Coco, a Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus clown, supervises her makeup for a one-night appearance in New York's Madison Square Garden. Louise said being a clown was a long-time ambition.

Nelson Has (at Least) 2 Heads

LONDON (AP) — Two Londoners each claimed today to own the granite head of Adm. Lord Nelson which Irish nationalists blew off the top of Dublin's Nelson column last month.

The claimants are Benjamin Gray, 29, an antique dealer, and Butty Sugrue, 42, a pub keeper. Each claimed his head was the original from the Dublin statue. Each charged the other's head was a fake.

The head disappeared after unknown persons blasted down Nelson's 20-foot statue and the top half of the 113-foot column which supported it. The Irish government demolished the rest of the monument, which Irish nationalists hated as a symbol of British repression.

"I must have bought 1,000 jars of ale in Dublin pubs before getting on to the trail of students who had pinched the head," Gray said.

IT'S FOR SALE

"I smuggled it across the border between Ireland and Northern Ireland and then flew it to London. It's for sale to the highest bidder."

Sugrue, who runs the Admiral Nelson pub, said, "There's no doubt that mine is the genuine head. I paid a three figure sum for it. It's still safe in Ireland awaiting shipment for a grand unveiling here on May 18."

Mart Irregularly Higher

Coppers Slip on Profit Taking

NEW YORK (AP) — Coppers were down on profit taking in an irregularly higher stock market today.

Big winners last week, copper stocks wilted amid reports that Chile's price boost for the metal will benefit makers of competitive materials.

Anaconda, biggest factor in Chile's copper production, slid 1/4 to 104 on an opening block of 10,100 shares.

Kennecott declined nearly a point.

New York Central, which reported a 398 per cent jump in quarterly earnings, advanced about 1½. Chicago & North Western common spurred about ½ and its preferred 2.

CONTINUES STRONG

Boeing continued to show strength in further response to a monster plane order from an American, rising more than 1½. Pan American was fractionally higher.

Zenith and Xerox rose 1 each. Down more than a point were

Opening blocks includes:
 Sperry Rand, up ¼ at 22½ on 1,000 shares; American Telephone off ¼ at 57¼, and Chrysler, off ¼ at 48½, both on 9,000 shares; and Boeing up ¼ at

On Friday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose to 350.5.

Prices were mostly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Miners' Strike Called Illegal

Thousands Preparing to Return to Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bituminous Coal Operators Association told the United Mine Workers union today the strike of coal miners is illegal.

As thousands of striking miners prepared to return to work, the operators fired off a telegram to UMW President W. A. (Tony) Boyle in which they said the strike violated laws and

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the final article in a series on the government's economic guideposts.)

By JOHN T. CUNIFF
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In his economic message early this year President Johnson called stability of costs and prices "perhaps our most serious economic challenge in 1966."

He told Congress that "only if inflation can be avoided will prosperity be sustainable."

The weapons that could be used to challenge this threat to national prosperity include monetary restraints (on the availability of money and credit) and fiscal measures (gov-agile, direct and to the point.

EDUCATIONAL VALUE/

The guideposts also can be defended for their educational value in providing both sides of the business-labor bargaining table with a understanding of the needs of a noninflationary economy.

They have a publicity value — even when not applied — that serves to subdue the urge of manufacturers and workers to implement inflationary price or wage increases.

Despite the fact that guideposts were never legislated, the Administration does have legal responsibility for sustaining a noninflationary economy.

This responsibility comes economist, who in the 1930s advocated the use of government spending and taxing to manage the economy.

Concurrent with the so-called new economics has come a great sense of national goals, chief of which is economic security for everyone.

Writing earlier this year, Secretary of Commerce John T. Connors said that the spirit of 1920 might have produced the slogan "The business of America is business," but that now it might be rewritten to "The business of America is American."

PART OF CHANGE

The surrounding of business and labor with rules, regulations and guideposts in pursuit of a new goal is a new way

"Delay in bringing this damaging situation to conclusion is intolerable," the operators said.

"Bituminous Coal Operators' Association members direct us to continue meeting with you at the earliest possible moment. We are available to resume negotiations at any time you are available."

Until today, most of the striking miners had failed to heed last week's back-to-work order from union headquarters. It was estimated that 70 percent of the soft coal mines in 15 years.

FOR PAST WEEK

More than 50,000 men were idled for the past week while the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association remained at odds here in Washington over a new contract. An estimated 19,000 were idled in West Virginia.

Here was the situation in the states where the miners were returning:

- Pennsylvania — At least 1,800 returning to work early Monday in Indiana County mines.
- Illinois — An estimated 7,000 of 8,000 strikers back on the job.
- Kentucky — 10,000 miners

The Johnson administration is placing heavy reliance on another weapon: guideposts, or standards that tie wage and price increases to the average

INFLATION ROBS

The chief defense of guidelines is that, in the short run, they have no effect on inflation. Inflation is determined by the money supply, not by the price level. Inflation is determined by the money supply, not by the price level. Inflation is determined by the money supply, not by the price level.

Roger Blough, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, is one of the most vocal critics of guidelines. He says that guidelines are "a waste of time and money" and that they "do nothing to reduce inflation." He says that guidelines are "a waste of time and money" and that they "do nothing to reduce inflation."

"There is no doubt," he said, "that for a limited period the guidelines can and do hold down the lid of prices."

The administration has argued that guidelines actually represent restraint, that they are an implement of moderation at a time when some economists have suggested rigid anti-inflation controls.

The guidelines also have been criticized by some economists who might lack. The Council of Economic Advisors can apply these standards directly and quickly.

Drug Firms Warned of U.S. Controls

NEW YORK (AP) — Unless abuses in the drug industry are stopped, more government control is inevitable, says Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration.

Dr. Goddard told a group of interested parties that misleading advertising and the failure of doctors to closely supervise new drugs and to submit detailed reports are among the leading abuses.

"I am looking forward to the day when doctors will demand improved methods of getting information on new drugs," Dr. Goddard said.

X Ray Viewed as Cancer Curb

Presurgery Use Could Prevent Recurrences

By Science Service

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Small X-ray doses given to cancer patients before surgery could prevent some of the recurrences of malignancy.

Carefully controlled animal experiments have given significant support to the belief of a number of scientists who have tried preoperative irradiation.

Dr. Bernard H. Feder of the Veterans Administration Hospital here sees hope in X rays because of success in preventing growth in transplantable mouse tumors.

With a modified shoemaker's needle, Dr. Feder and his associates transplanted tumors between laboratory animals in less than 30 seconds, thus permitting the cancer cells to retain their potency.

Untreated and spread with the needle, the cancers were almost 100 per cent fatal. But with various X-ray doses, not necessarily cancer-killing ones, the growth of the cancer was prevented.

Dr. Feder, who did his work with the partial support of the American Cancer Society, points out that it remains to be seen whether the laboratory results will apply to humans; but he is hopeful.

Guns a Go-Go to Keep Cong Hopping

The Columbus Ledger
FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — They call it Guns a Go-Go. It is a special unit of volunteer army gunners and three big converted helicopters loaded with armament and armor.

These gunships will not be sitting ducks in Viet Nam in contrast to smaller helicopters now in use. These test ships are more like flying tanks. They even have cannons.

"This is strictly armored aircraft," said Col. William J. Tedesco, 30, commander of the test unit which officially is called the Field Evaluation Detachment CH7.

Tedesco did not say where the unit of 42 men and eight officers is headed. But they have been training like they expected to see action soon.

BORN OF PROBLEMS

Guns a Go-Go is another installment in the series of problems in the Viet Nam war.

"We're trying to fill a gap," Tedesco said.

U.S. combat helicopters in Viet Nam now carry several M60 machine guns and pods of 2.75-inch rockets. The UH1, CH21 and CH34 helicopters are used.

But these craft, coming over a strike zone behind an Air Force bombing run, often encounter fire from machine guns of the Viet Cong. The disadvantage of the shorter-range helicopter guns is obvious.

5 YEARS AWAY
Basically, none of the helicopters now in use as gun ships was designed for weaponry. Defense contracts recently were awarded for the first helicopter designed exclusively as a weapons ship. But Tedesco said it likely will be five years before the new ship is ready.

This gave rise to Guns a Go-Go.

And compared to these craft, the gunships now in use in Viet Nam look like popguns.

The Chinooks at Ft. Benning are CH47, the Army's largest helicopter, and normally a carrier capable of hauling 33 men.

After conversion, each of the Chinooks has as its armament: Two 20mm cannons, five 50mm caliber machine guns, a 40mm grenade launcher, two 19-tube rocket pods firing the 2.75-inch rocket, and a 6.72mm minigun.

with six barrels which are interchangeable with the rocket pods.

"We can strike any point within a radius of 150 miles," said Tedesco. He described the converted craft capability as "three hours and 45 minutes of endurance," in Army parlance.

Tedesco, whose home is in Springfield, Va., is a helicopter combat veteran of Viet Nam. He is concerned about lowering the rate of U.S. aircraft shot down, and he believes the converted Chinooks will do the job.

They can move in after the bombing run and hover while firing to keep the Viet Cong from manning machine guns.

Tedesco said his unit is training as a detachment to augment troop transport and possible deployment. The men have been training at Ft. Benning and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., where the gunners practiced by firing at targets aloft in the Gulf of Mexico.

"We did right well," Tedesco said.

What? A Chinese Junk on the Detroit River?

DETROIT (UPI) — Crewmen aboard lake freighters traveling the Detroit River will be doing a double-take in about a year if a Detroit restaurateur has his way.

Henry Yee, the mayor of Detroit's Chinatown, plans for a restaurant aboard a Chinese junk to be moored in the river.

Navy Boasts a New Image at Its Prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Welcome Aboard" is the cheery title of an information booklet handed to visitors at a once-grim, castle-type building at Portsmouth, N.H.

That booklet is a symbol of a revolution in thinking about the treatment of gobs and GIs who go astray and commit acts classified as criminal. It means, the Navy explains, that it has nothing to hide in the way it treats prisoners.

"The castle," as it is not-too-fondly remembered by generations of past inmates, was formerly known as the U.S. Naval Prison and — as a sign of the times — is now officially dubbed the "U.S. Disciplinary Command."

"Going there nowadays," says a man who's been there, "is almost like going to school."

What with the schoolrooms, the library, the manual training shops, the psychiatrists to shape a lad up, it's a far cry from the old days, even from some fairly recent days.

To be sure, the practice of stringing a man up by his thumbs went out of fashion long ago, with the old sailing men-of-war. So did "flogging the fellow through the fleet," and keel-hauling—dragging a man under a vessel, either atwharships or from bow to stern, by means of a rope.

But men now alive can remember more refined punishments such as confinement in a black box, or being forced to do push-ups over a bayonet. In 1958, there was scandal over beatings and other cruelty to prisoners at a Navy brig in Sasebo, Japan.

Now there is no denying that here and there a superior officer may still inflict the old kinds of punishment. But that is not official policy, and if reported, the officer is in trouble.

The disciplinary officers of Army, Navy and Air Force go to college classes on the modern treatment and rehabilitation of prisoners. One such course is held here at American University.
