Judge Gillis Admits He Received Funds in Teamster Tieup

From Our Wire Services
DETROIT — Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Joseph A. Gillis Sr. admitted today he received $1,300 from a public relations firm that produced a television program for the Teamsters Union, but Gillis said he "helped incorporate" the firm and invested money in it.

"I loaned them money, about $2,000 and I got back $1,300," Gillis said. "I lost about $1,000 on the deal."

Quemoy Gets More Supplies

Carrier Essex Joins Formosa Fleet After Dash From Lebanon

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists succeeded today in delivering two more shiploads of supplies to the besieged Quemoy islands through a hall of Communist fire.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said two LSTs unloaded all their cargo without suffering damage.

The ships were escorted across Formosa Strait by Nationalist warships and by vessels of the U.S. 7th Fleet, which remained outside the three-mile limit as usual.

The giant American aircraft carrier Essex arrived in Formosa waters after steaming a quarter of the way around the world from the 6th Fleet off Lebanon.

The 65,000-ton Essex is slated to replace one of the four attack carriers already in the 7th fleet. Red shelling went into its 26th day and apparently is aimed now at knocking out Quemoy's artillery, which has been trying to silence Red guns on the mainland.

The Defense Ministry said the 1,841 Communist shells that hit overnight were mostly of deeper penetration quality than the anti-personnel (fragmentation) shells used earlier.

The larger guns apparently were brought up in an effort to blast the concrete underground emplacements which have for the most part withstood the Red fire.

Nearby Little Quemoy also received supplies from another parachute drop without Red fighter interference.

Principals in Ford-UAW Negotiations

Reuther Asserts Talks Close to an Agreement

DETROIT (UPI)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, today told newsmen "we are getting close" to a contract settlement with Ford Motor Co.

Reuther made the statement as he returned to negotiations with the Union reply to Ford's third contract offer.

As the negotiations resumed, the strike by the UAW against Ford had already started, with 62,250 men in 31 of 86 plants and parts depots walking off the job in the first 45 minutes after the 10 a.m. strike deadline expired.

"I hope this is the last trip I have to take up and down stairs," Reuther said.

"It's not too long now, we are getting close. The most rewarding thing is that free labor and free management can get together for the good of the public as a whole," he said.

When asked if this meant a settlement, Reuther said, "It means we are getting close."

But Carl Stellato, president of Ford Rouge Plant Local 600 and a top UAW negotiator, told newsmen one major problem—plantwide seniority—was blocking settlement and the strike will continue until it is settled.

When the strike deadline came, the talks were in recess and Ford Vice President of Industrial Relations John S. Bugas announced the company had made a third contract offer.

He made the disclosure after the Union had called for a "30 to 45 minute" recess only 20 minutes before the strike deadline for 98,000 Ford hourly-rated workers.

Reuther and Stellato walked out of the bargaining room at 9:40 a.m. and said the Union had asked for the recess.

Stellato emphasized "there has been no extension of the strike deadline" for the 98,000 hourly-rated Ford workers.

Thus, it was certain that a strike deadline would expire at Ford for the second time in three years without a contract settlement.

"There is something new," Reuther said, "and we're going to analyze it."

But he declined to say whether the "something new" is an offer. He said the strike machinery "is in progress" but pointed out that it is a new issue. That touched off a new clamor for his resignation.

Ike Delays School Action

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower hopes public pressure will force reopening of closed schools in Arkansas and Virginia—and so has ordered federal legal action withheld "at this time."

The President's position in the school shutdown controversy over racial integration was set forth at the summer White House late yesterday.

"CLEAR TO ANYBODY" After a 40-minute meeting with Eisenhower, Atty. Gen. Rogers told a news conference in connection with the wait-and-see policy the President approved: "I think it is clear to anybody that to just try to solve this problem by legal methods alone, just by law suits, is not very satisfactory."

Tense Little Rock was preparing today for a special election on school integration Sept. 27 while pupils at two schools in Charlottesville, Va., awaited word on whether classes would open Monday.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas advanced by 10 days the date for the vote but said it had nothing to do with any public demand to reopen the four high schools he closed in the face of a U.S. Supreme Court integration order.

"WITHHOLDING DECISION" Rogers said in a prepared statement, the administration "is withholding a decision as to appropriate legal moves at this time."

Rogers, the government's chief law enforcement officer, made it clear there is likely to be federal legal action later if the schools closed in protest against the Supreme Court go-ahead on integration are not opened.

Rogers also talked of announced Justice Department plans to enlist the help of U. S. marshals for preservation of law and order in communities where there is resistance to admittance of Negroes to white schools.

Faubus told a newsmen, in reply to a question about some Presbyterian ministers' opposition to his policies, that he knew a large number of pastors in that church had been brainwashed by left-wingers and Communists.

He added that he firmly believed some clergymen were supporters of Communist views.

ISSUE DENIAL Angered by the charge, a group of Arkansas Presbyterian ministers and laymen issued a denial and a demand for Faubus' apology.

Still No Word Whether Adams to Leave Post

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said today he still has no information indicating Sherman Adams either will quit or be fired as President Eisenhower's chief aide.

Hagerty made the statement at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters in replying to questions about published reports that the resignation of Adams, under hot new fire in the Bernard Goldfine case, is imminent.

Pontiac Finance Director Oscar Eckman to Retire

Oscar Eckman, Pontiac director of finance since 1938, last night announced his retirement after more than 25 years as a city official.

The 69-year-old City Hall veteran told City Commissioners that he desired to protect his health. Eckman suffered a heart attack last November and gave unofficial notice afterwards that he would retire soon.

Commissioners expressed their regrets and then, acting on the retiring official's recommendation, appointed City Auditor Marvin Alward to fill the $10,800-a-year post.

Alward will officially take over the city's financial reins Nov. 1, the date Eckman's retirement becomes effective.

But Eckman said he and his wife would take advantage of accumulated vacation time to leave Pontiac sometime next month for Florida, where they have a home under construction near Clearwater, north of St. Petersburg.

A native of Grand Rapids, Eckman came to Pontiac in 1918 and joined the city staff as auditor in 1933.

Finds Engineer Had Bad Heart

Autopsy Is Performed After Train Plunges Into Newark Bay

BAYONNE, N. J. (U) — The third coach of a Jersey Central Railroad train that plunged into Newark Bay was recovered from the water here today.

The train's engineer, Lloyd Wilburn, 63, Red Bank, died in the accident. An autopsy report said a weak heart caused by high blood pressure contributed to his death.

Medical officials were careful to point out, however, that the exact cause of death will not be known until further tests are made.

Dr. Chester R. Rydwin, who performed the autopsy, listed the contributory causes of death as "hypertensive heart disease, pulmonary edema and congestion of the lungs."

A hypertensive heart condition is a weakened heart caused by high blood pressure. Pulmonary edema is congestion caused by fluid in the lungs which can result from a heart condition or drowning.

The bodies of three men and a woman were taken from the coach while divers found two other bodies floating nearby. None of these has been identified.

Recovery of the six bodies brought the death toll to 27. The railroad estimates the final toll may go as high as 40.

The commuter train's two locomotives and three of its coaches plunged into the bay from an open drawbridge Monday.

Divers, coastguardmen and police worked into the early hours today to raise the coach as floodlights played on the glittering water.

Bodies taken from the water and from the train were removed to the Hudson County morgue for identification.

The coach itself was lifted up and swung into a lighter, next to the two coaches that were recovered earlier.

Late Summer Rains Dampen Widespread Area

By The Associated Press

Persistent late summer rains continued to dampen sections from Texas to New England today in the wake of the stormy weather and heavy downpours in Texas and Missouri.

Tornadoes skipped across areas in Missouri yesterday, causing extensive property damage. There were no casualties. Torrential rains drenched southwestern sections of the state as well as in the southern half of Texas, where more than 5 inches were recorded in some areas.

Rains hammered wide areas in the middle and lower Mississippi Valley and eastern Texas. The wet belt extended eastward along a front through the Ohio Valley, the lower Great Lakes region and New England.

In the Missouri storm belt, one small tornado struck South St. Louis, damaging several homes. More than 2 1/2 inches of rain fell during the storm. At least three other twisters were reported in southwest Missouri, west of Joplin, south of Cabool and southeast of El Dorado Springs.

In the South, Charleston, S.C., was drenched with nearly 4 inches of rain in a 30-minute period. In Tokyo, typhoon Helen, packing winds up to 120 miles per hour over a 300-mile area, slowly closed in on Japan today.

As a forestate Tokyo and other areas were hit by downpours of 1.8 inches of rain in one hour.

case. "They knew there was no case. They were satisfied."

Gillis said he would have more to say about Kennedy's questions and statements later.

Gillis staunchly denied there was a connection with his trying Teamster members and the television program arranged by the public relations firm.

Robert F. Kennedy said Hoffa would be recalled during the day for more questioning about his financial affairs and other matters.

Hoffa presumably was to be quizzed further about testimony that he secretly fed to Judge Gillis a disguised $7,500 of campaign contributions from the union.

Hoffa said yesterday he did not recall any such arrangement.

Joseph A. Schneider, now minister of the Horton (Mich.) Universalist Church and a former Detroit publicity man, testified the money was contributed in the guise of payments for a union-sponsored television program in late 1952 and early 1953.

Schneider pictured this system of contribution as Gillis' idea, with the judge receiving $100 a week payments for 13 weeks as a "TV adviser" plus $5,000 to be used for his campaign. He said Gillis was a vice president of his firm at the time, and they laughed together because "Gillis didn't know much about television."

The committee promptly questioned why the judge did not disqualify himself from presiding over the trials of 12 Teamster members accused of felonies involving alleged extortion.

U.N. Steering Committee Ponders Admitting China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N.'s powerful Steering Committee today faced up to its first major test—the question of seating Red China—after the election of Lebanon's pro-Western Charles Malik as General Assembly president.

Debate over the Red China issue undoubtedly will drag in the dispute over Nationalist China's offshore islands in the Formosa Strait.

The United States was confident the U.N. will follow past procedure and vote to shelve the Peking issue for another year. The Americans have made plain they are determined to prevent Red China from "shooting its way" into the U.N.

The Assembly opened yesterday, electing Lebanon's foreign minister, Malik, as its president. Malik's 45-31 first-ballot victory over Sudan's nationalist Foreign Minister Mohammed Ahmed Mahgoub, supported by all the Arab League states but Lebanon, was seen as a triumph for the United States and its allies.

Just before the vote, Czechoslovakia announced she was pulling her delegate, Jiri Nosek, out of the race. She made clear the nine-nation Soviet bloc was throwing its support behind Mahgoub. Malik's open pro-Western stand had alienated many Asian-African states, especially those who support President Nasser's United Arab Republic. Many had believed this opposition—plus open Soviet support for Mahgoub—would cost Malik the election.

In a brief speech of acceptance, Malik praised the "sportsmanlike opposition that has occurred between me and one of my best friends."

'Dead Man Switch' Not Needed in State

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan does not require trains to have a "dead man switch," a Public Service Commission official said today.

The switch, a device that automatically stops a train in event the engineer has a heart attack, is used on many diesels in Michigan but is not required, said Walter Bussell, acting head of the commission's railroad division.

There was no "dead man switch" on the Jersey Central passenger train which tumbled off an open vertical drawbridge.

"If there are two men riding in the cab, it's not really vital to have a special switch," Bussell said. "I recall 15 years ago a fireman took over when the engineer of a Grand Trunk passenger train had a seizure near Port Huron."

possibility" for agreement on a contract before the strike deadline when negotiations returned to the bargaining table after a breakfast recess.

line, workers at the 86 Ford plants and parts depots across the nation began walking out, first in the east and spreading across the country.

At the giant Ford Rouge plant in nearby Dearborn, some 13,000 workers began gathering on Miller road at Gate 4, scene of many Union demonstrations and battles, for a meeting.

Stellato told newsmen of the new company offer. "The company has agreed to make the contract retroactive to July 1, to increase pensions from $2.25 per month for each year of service to $2.35 and to continue the annual wage improvement factor (2 1/2 per cent or six cents an hour, whichever is higher), company offer generally is good."

"Considering everything, this," Stellato said.

"The biggest unsolved problem is plantwide seniority," he said. Stellato said the Union was going to tell its members that they would stay off the job until that issue is settled.

Meeting Tomorrow for 'Y' in Rochester

ROCHESTER — There will be a public meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Avon Park Pavilion for further discussion of plans for establishment of a YMCA branch in Rochester.

If the program, as presented by the temporary committee headed by Fred Noyes, is approved, a permanent organization will be formed and permanent officers elected.

Plans also are under way for H-Y clubs in both the Rochester and Avondale schools. Sponsored by the YMCA, such clubs are formed to promote high standards of Christian ideals, clean sports, clean living, brotherhood and world service.

The proposed Rochester "Y" has been promised support from both the Detroit and Pontiac YMCA's in getting its program started.

Teamsters Set New Convention

Hoffa Says Conclave Called to Rid Truckers of Mohitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters Executive Board early today authorized a new convention of the giant union next February in an avowed move to rid itself of court-named supervising monitors.

The monitors quickly announced they will go to court to halt the move and to seek more authority for themselves in ordering what they consider needed reforms.

Teamsters President James R. Hoffa announced the union board's action and described it as an effort to end the monitoring. He said he expects to be re-elected president with little or no opposition.

But chief monitor Martin F. O'Donoghue said the Teamsters so far have failed to clean up corruption sufficiently for another convention so soon.

Hoffa was elected at a convention held a year ago, but it was attacked in court proceedings as rigged—a situation that led to the monitoring.

Hoffa has balked at many monitor directives. He has not yet put into effect new rules drafted by the monitors seeking to guarantee fair union elections and to bar criminals from union office. He has refused to fire smaller-try Teamsters bosses accused of corruption and hoodlum tactics in hearings before the Senate Racke Committee.

Once the monitors' petition is filed, Judge Letts is expected to arrange a hearing in a week or so.

The legal battle is one that, if the monitors lose, will free Hoffa of outside supervision in running the 1 1/2-million-member union. But it's one the monitors feel they must win if they are to be effective.

Romney Explains Small Car Boom

CHICAGO (U) — Booming sales of foreign cars indicates "a general failure on the part of the U.S. industry to meet the American motorists' needs with complete adequacy," the president of American Motors Corp. declared today.

George Romney, addressing the 56th annual meeting of the American Automobile Assn., said, "It should be clear by now that large numbers of motorists did feel that U.S. cars were becoming too large and more expensive to operate than was necessary."

He gave three causes for "sudden disenchantment, after all these years with the glamour-wagon": Car size and horsepower could not continue to grow indefinitely; a change in car use toward emphasis on its function, and the consumer exercised increased selectivity.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Allison Laughtery was in City Court yesterday on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, forgery, escape from jail and failure to pay alimony.

Double Pay for Seamen

LOS ANGELES (U) — Double pay for West Coast seamen sailing in the war-threatened Far East area is provided in a new agreement signed yesterday by the Pacific Maritime Assn. and maritime unions here. Seamen will also get $10,000 in life insurance and $100 to $150 bonuses if a ship is destroyed or damaged.

The Day in Birmingham

Halloween Party Backed by City's Businessmen

BIRMINGHAM—A survey by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce revealed that the city's business and professional men still support holding the annual children's Halloween party.

Charles Mortensen, C. of C. secretary, said the majority of those polled favored continuing the party under the management of the City Recreation Board, and indicated they will support it financially.

Roland Reese, party chairman, said, "The party has become an institution here, and I am pleased to get the opinions of our many contributors."

Begun in the depression years as a means of curbing Halloween pranks, the event has grown to the point where last year about 6,000 costumed youngsters took part.

Merchants donate food, prizes and cash. Service clubs, PTA groups and other civic organizations assist in handling the details of the affair.

The Recreation Board is preparing letters to go out to businessmen, soliciting funds.

Following the plan established last year, business contributions will be used only for the community party. Schools on fringe areas will be required to finance their own parties.

Although no final figure will be available until the end of the month, the Birmingham Board of Education announced today there are 11,513 pupils enrolled in the district's public schools. This is an increase of 451 over last year's total.

Late summer vacationers and transfers in and out of private and parochial schools will change the present figure by the end of the month, according to Dwight B. Ireland, schools superintendent. State aid payments will be determined by the Oct. 1 enrollment, he said.

Mrs. Ruth Miller, the only woman in the Michigan State Corrections Dept., will speak tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the first fall meeting of the Birmingham Business Women's Club at the Community House. She will talk on her duties as parole supervisor.

Mrs. Kenneth Kesler, 1027 Suffolk Rd., said today more books are needed for the annual book sale of the American Assn. of University Women.

Mrs. Kesler will arrange for pickup of donations. Held in the Detroit Edison Co. offices on Merrill street, the sale provides funds for the scholarships sponsored by the association.

President Syngman Rhee meanwhile called on the people to cooperate with police in countering intensified Communist espionage.

Home Minister Lee Keun Jik reported at a cabinet meeting that objectives of Communist espionage in South Korea have apparently changed from "propaganda offensive for peaceful unification to the destruction of political and economic order in the Republic of Korea." He said the Communists are now sending armed spies south.

Police officials said they had obtained information that the Communists have been conducting special espionage training for a battalion of agents for the past six months. Training includes use of knives, pistols and automobiles.

They said some of these spies already have been sent here and about 10 of them have been arrested.

Almost all of the arrested spies carried Russian-made pistols and were to carry out various subversive activities, including assassination of South Korean leaders, police said.

Police intelligence officials said the switch in the Communist espionage tactics came as a result of failure of the "gentleman-spy" method aimed at quietly infiltrating into various fields of South Korea and spreading covert propaganda for the so-called peaceful unification of Korea.

At Steelworkers Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — United Steelworkers delegates today opened the third session of the union's ninth constitutional convention forewarned by their president to expect "important business."

USW President David J. McDonald declined to elaborate on the statement he made in the closing minutes of yesterday's session. He held a brief meeting with the Executive Board immediately afterward.

The 55-year-old labor leader left the convention hall in a grim mood flanked by district directors and staff officers of the 1,200,000-member union.

There was speculation that the important business concerned the Dues-Protest Committee, headed by Donald C. Rarick, a McKeesport, Pa., mill worker.

McDonald has accused the committee of dual unionism, which he defined as organized opposition to policies adopted by the international convention.

McDonald and his party walked swiftly past Rarick as he stood outside the president's office.

In his keynote speech Monday, McDonald referred to the protest committee and told the delegates to "rid this cancer out of your bowels through your own doing."

North Koreans Change Tactics

Shift From Unification Propaganda to Force, Attacks on Leaders

SEOUL (UPI) — North Korean Communists have changed their espionage tactics against South Korea from the so-called "gentleman-spy" method to more subversive activities, according to national police authorities.

This switch was brought to light after a Communist espionage agent stabbed on ROK police detective to death in Seoul when the detective attempted to arrest him.

Police later arrested 31-year-old Pak Sul Won, who is believed to have been sent north recently as a spy under the new Communist campaign.

Immediately following the incident, police stepped up their anti-spy surveillance and planned a special mobile anti-surveillance force.

President Syngman Rhee meanwhile called on the people to cooperate with police in countering intensified Communist espionage.

Home Minister Lee Keun Jik reported at a cabinet meeting that objectives of Communist espionage in South Korea have apparently changed from "propaganda offensive for peaceful unification to the destruction of political and economic order in the Republic of Korea." He said the Communists are now sending armed spies south.

Police officials said they had obtained information that the Communists have been conducting special espionage training for a battalion of agents for the past six months. Training includes use of knives, pistols and automobiles.

They said some of these spies already have been sent here and about 10 of them have been arrested.

Almost all of the arrested spies carried Russian-made pistols and were to carry out various subversive activities, including assassination of South Korean leaders, police said.

Police intelligence officials said the switch in the Communist espionage tactics came as a result of failure of the "gentleman-spy" method aimed at quietly infiltrating into various fields of South Korea and spreading covert propaganda for the so-called peaceful unification of Korea.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Realized His Error

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jaywalk-Malumud and his wife were dismissed yesterday after Malumud demonstrated he was properly contrite.

"I'm sorry I called the arresting officer a jackass," Malumud told Magistrate Edward J. Chapman.

U.S. Can Prove It

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The government feels it has a pretty good case against William Sidney Kennedy Jr., charged with filing false income tax claims. The indictment notes Kennedy filed for a refund for 1953, a year he spent in the Tennessee State Penitentiary.

Symptoms Match

Says Distressed Student Similar to Combat Case

EAST LANSING (U) — An expert says many college students when placed under academic stress suffer an emotional disturbance similar to battle fatigue.

Dr. Byron Casey, a psychiatrist and mental health director of the Michigan State University Health Service, said this disturbance might account for as many as one half of student drop outs from college.

College stress differs from battle fatigue, he said, because of its source.

"But from the symptoms alone you can't tell what the source is. It might be fear of failing a course or trouble with the family," Casey said.

"Everyone has a certain amount of tension. For some, the tension becomes too great. They become jittery and depressed, can't sleep and can't concentrate."

If all students who needed help turned in, he said, the health service would have triple its present load. About 600 students a year now seek assistance.

"When a student asks for help, we talk to him to help him clarify his thinking—to put first things first," he related.

"Quiet discussions and soothing medicines help. Sometimes the person is so fatigued that we put him in the hospital under mild sedation to help him catch up on his sleep. This is like the treatment for combat fatigue."

Eventually, the central problem is isolated, he said, and once it is clarified sufficiently, the student usually is able to deal with it adequately, and symptoms disappear.

Once in a while, brief hospitalization in a mental institution is required, but ordinarily the student returns and resumes classes.

Casey estimates that he and four other members of his staff spend about six hours with each student, and that 98 per cent are ready to return to classwork after treatment.

Hypnosis Eases Allergy.

LONDON — Doctors at a West London hospital report that a 27-year-old housewife recently was relieved of long-standing allergic asthma and hay fever by hypnosis. Skin tests, they report, confirmed that after hypnotic treatment she had a decreased sensitivity to allergens to which she had previously been sensitive. But tests with a nonallergic volunteer, in whom serum from the patient's blood was inoculated, showed that "allergic antibodies" were still present in the patient's blood.

Even More Wonderful in Fact than Fame!

If you number just one Cadillac owner among your acquaintances, then we would wager that you've heard the wonderful Cadillac story for 1958.

In all probability you've been told of its brilliant performance . . . and of its marvelous Fleetwood luxury . . . and of its great practicality.

And perhaps you've wondered if any motor car could embody so many virtues—in such abundant measure—in a single year.

Well, what an eloquent answer the magnificent new Cadillac could give to that conjecture!

In fact, a single hour at its wheel would tell you, beyond any doubt, that this "car of cars" is even more wonderful in fact than in fame!

Surely, there is no adequate way to describe the way a new Cadillac rides and handles—so smooth and quiet and effortless that even the longest journey is an occasion for rest and relaxation.

And certainly, only the experience itself can reveal the pleasure of commanding a motor car that is so respected by the world's motorists.

Those discoveries are reserved for the man who takes the wheel for himself. And if you have not already done so, then you should delay no longer.

Your Cadillac dealer will be happy to acquaint you with all the facts about the many Cadillac models, including the distinguished Eldorado Brougham.

Follow These Rules for Wedding Stories

With the current rush of brides, the Women's Department of The Pontiac Press once again offers several suggestions for a complete and timely wedding story.

We suggest you follow the guide below:

1. The wedding blank should be returned to The Press at least two days before the wedding, as this amount of time is needed for handling such detailed stories. (Those received more than two days after a wedding will not carry details.

2. Because of limited space, The Press can not publish every picture received, particularly during bridal seasons.

3. There must be two months between engagement and wedding pictures.

4. Photographs should be black and white glossy prints. Snapshots are not acceptable.

5. A complete address must be written on the back of each picture that is to be returned.

6. The Press will not assume responsibility for loss or damage to photographs.

Explain Situation in Letter

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently our club had a formal installation of officers. As there is no national or state officer within over a 100 miles of us, we asked one of our own officers to preside over the installation of officers. She is a widow and works, but she gave her free time for rehearsal with us and completely memorized the long service."

"The night of the installation, our state commander arrived unexpectedly. We gave her a corsage, had her escorted to the platform and called on her to speak, but some of our members thought we were wrong in not asking her to take over the installation of officers. I think this would have been unjust to the other woman when she put in so much time and effort."

"They let her proceed mostly because of my objections but still think it was unparliamentary to let the state commander take over this duty, and that a note of apology should be written to her. I would very much like to have your opinion as it is causing quite a good deal of comment."

Answer: The situation should have been explained to the state commander upon her arrival, and she should have been asked to make the decision. As things are, I think it would be well to write a note of explanation and apologize to her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I do not drink wine or any other alcoholic beverage. Very often when I am invited to a dinner party, wine is served. Would it be proper for me to turn my glass upside down indicating that I do not wish any and thereby preventing wine from being poured into it—and wasted?"

Dear Abby...

Customs Puzzle Japanese Bride

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I came from Tokyo as a Japanese war bride. I am 36 years old and have two children. Ten out of ten people say I look 10 years younger than my years. Back in Tokyo this remark is meant as a compliment. Therefore, I always say 'Thank you,' softly and think nothing of it."

"However, I suddenly began to wonder if it is not a compliment but an insult in this country and perhaps I am making a grave mistake when I say, 'Thank you.' Please what is the proper attitude to take?"

MICHIKO: Youth is envied all over the world. When one is said to appear 10 years younger than her age, it is indeed a compliment.

"DEAR ABBY: I have been a sales person in women's dresses for 22 years and I still want to know what the customer means when she says, 'That is not what I had in mind?' I show them dresses that are the latest fashion and when they try them on they look simply beautiful, and still they look in the mirror and turn around and say, 'Sorry—that is not what I had in mind.' If they want a dress of a certain color or style, I bring it. I never misfit anybody. Now, if they don't want to buy a dress, what are they doing in a dress shop? Can YOU tell me what they had in mind?"

SALES PERSON: DEAR SALES PERSON: They are probably just killing time—and the only thing they had in mind was to drive you out of yours.

"DEAR ABBY: When a boy calls me up and asks me to go somewhere and I don't want to go with him, I never know what to say. I usually stutter a little and make an excuse like, 'We're having company.' My father says I should just tell them I don't want to go out with them, but that's too embarrassing. What is your advice?"

STUMPED: DEAR STUMPED: It is too unkind to tell a boy bluntly that you don't want to go out with him. An excuse (like the one you offer) is more gentle. After you've turned down a boy three or four times, he will catch on and give up. In the meantime, he's salvaged his pride.

"DEAR ABBY: To the party who wanted to know how to keep the cat from chewing up the furniture: Any pet shop will sell you a 'clawing board,' which is just a board about two feet tall with a piece of carpet tacked onto it. It has catnip inside to attract the cat. When the cat claws the furniture, take her to the board with a sharp command and show her what it is for."

CAT'S FRIEND: "CONFIDENTIAL TO 'CONVINCED': Your fortune-telling friend may have guessed right but she is getting her information from left field. If anyone had the power to predict the future, we could have avoided the Chicago fire, the sinking of the Andrea Doria and Pearl Harbor, to name only a few catastrophes. Use your noggin!"

CONFIDENTIAL TO CITY DWELLER: While you are pointing your finger at your neighbor, look at your hand. You will find three pointing at yourself.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Punches Holes in Car Windows

Caught in 110 M.P.H. Chase

DISCO — A 31-year-old Lapeer man led police from two counties on a chase at speeds up to 110 m.p.h. after breaking windows in two cars with his fists early this morning.

Philip A. Kelly, of 8702 Second St., started an argument in Jerry's Bar on Van Dyke road in Disco, Romeo State Police said, and after he was shown outside he pushed his fist through the windows of two parked cars, one owned by Donald Sticker and the other by George Pongrod, both of Utica.

Signs Contract on Road Upkeep

Walled Lake Council Makes Pontiac Trail State Responsibility

WALLED LAKE — Meeting in regular session last night, the Walled Lake city council signed a contract with the State Highway Dept., making the state responsible for maintenance of Highway 218 (Pontiac Trail) from West road north to the city limits. The contract becomes effective Oct. 1.

Sticker gave chase in his car and lost Kelly in Rochester. He called Romeo State Police, who heard on the radio that Oakland County Sheriff's deputies were tailing Kelly's car at speeds up to 110 m.p.h.

After they lost him, Auburn Heights Police took up the chase. Sylvan Village Police finally apprehended him.

Kelly is in the Macomb County Jail today charged with malicious destruction of property. He faces an additional charge of reckless driving in Oakland County.

3 Youths Charged With Beating Boy, 14

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Two Detroit youths and one from Hazel Park were to be arraigned today in Mount Clemens Justice Court on charges of beating up a 14-year-old Fraser boy at Yates Cider Mill at Avon and Deguindre roads yesterday afternoon.

Robert Burns of Fraser was knocked off his motor scooter and severely kicked and beaten by the trio who thought the boy and his two companions had taken their car keys, according to Romeo State Police.

The boy's two friends rode away on their scooters and were not caught.

Arrested by Romeo State Police and charged with felonious assault were Howard Helling, 20, Harry Grant, 18, both of Detroit, and Gerald Kwas, 20, of Hazel Park.

Novi Votes Monday

NOVI TOWNSHIP — In an election Monday, the major portion of Novi Township voters will go to the polls to give final approval or reject a charter to create the Village of Novi.

Also on the ballot will be 10 candidates for the five-man village council. Those elected would assume office only if the charter is adopted.

A 32-square mile area, including all the township except that part already annexed to Northville and two subdivisions, voted March 17 to incorporate as a village. At the same time a charter commission was elected to draw a charter.

only final adoption by the electorate. Should it be rejected, it could be revised, then resubmitted to the Governor and again placed before voters.

The charter being voted upon Monday calls for a home-rule, village-manager form of government, according to Walter Tuck, Charter Commission chairman.

The council would appoint one of its members to be village president.

Seeking the council posts are

George Ames, Phillip Anderson, Russell Burton, Burt Fisher, David Fried, Dirk Groenbergh, Leo Harwood, Dicon Taffallian, Donald Woodward and Tuck.

The area has a population of close to 6,000.

Proponents of incorporation said the move was taken to protect the township's boundaries and unity and prevent the township from being split up through annexation and incorporation of smaller areas.

21 Oakland Schools Represented

Over 100 Attend County PTA Workshop

"Better Parent-Teacher Associations" was the theme stressed yesterday at an all-day workshop attended by more than 100 representatives from 21 schools in Oakland County. It was held at Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford Township.

Program chairman for the Michigan Congress of Parent Teacher Association, Mrs. William Wright, told the group an intensive study of conditions in Michigan schools has been compiled by a group of professional people.

After this report has been studied at various workshops scheduled throughout the county within the next few weeks, an "opinionnaire" will be distributed to each member of every PTA unit.

When they have been filled out and returned, problems dealing directly with "what we want for our children" will be studied, and through PTA units, steps to rectify certain situations will be taken, Mrs. Wright said. This would probably be over a three-year period, she added.

One of the problems at the present time is the financial equality in school systems. Mrs. Wright pointed out that some schools pay as high as $553 a pupil per year, compared to others which pay only $186 per pupil.

Teachers' pay, which averages $5,300 a year, will be studied as well as the school's financial setups. "For years PTA's have skirted these important problems," Mrs. Wright said. "It's time we squarely face the situation and do something about them."

The first regional workshop to study the report, "What's Going on in Michigan Schools," will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 25 at Dondero High School in Royal Oak.

From 9:30 a.m. yesterday until late in the afternoon, new officers and interested PTA workers learned about budget financing, programming, parent education, correct parliamentary procedure and publicity policies of The Pontiac Press.

This was the first official meeting of the Oakland County Council of Parent Teacher Associations, and Clarkston Elementary School won the coveted banner for having the biggest representation from one school, eight.

Of the 115 present, there were 58 representatives from Waterford Township schools.

Southfield Hires Plan Consultant

Insurance Bids Opened but Held Over by City for Action Monday

SOUTHFIELD — The Southfield City Council last night hired the Albe E. Munson Co. of Detroit as city planning consultant. The firm will be paid $350 a month.

Munson, appointed on recommendation of Mayor Donald L. Swanson, will be retained on a part-time basis, taking the place of a regular city planner.

Bids on comprehensive liability insurance were opened but not read. The city is renewing its $300,000 personal and property damage policies.

John J. Hollywood, council president, said the backlog of 27 items left over from previous agendas prevented the council from acting on the bids until next Monday's meeting.

Hollywood directed James Allen of Birmingham, Southfield city attorney, to defend the city in the suit being brought against both it and Southfield Township, asking $26,681 as repayment of loans for past incorporation elections.

In other business, the Council was told that Franklin Village was unable to accept payment of $1,000 from Southfield for making stand-by fire and police protection available to the new city. The reason was that Franklin police and fire departments are operated on a volunteer basis, financed by contributions.

20,000 Accidents Show Seat Belts Avoid Injury

(Following is the first of two dispatches on the controversial automobile seat belt—what new research has turned up on its advantages; arguments advanced against using it, and how scientists answer them.)

By ROBERT J. SERLING

Washington (UPI)—He was an Air Force sergeant driving a 1956 sedan on a furlough trip.

A large hog stepped into the path of the speeding automobile. The sergeant lost control. The car careened wildly off the road, turned end over end, and then sideways. At one time or another, every part of the car touched the ground with a sickening crunch of steel.

The sergeant unfastened his auto seat belt and walked away from the wreck—with a couple of minor bruises.

This is one of the 20,000 accident reports contained in the files of Cornell University Medical College's automotive crash injury research project. Those 20,000 case histories have convinced the Cornell researchers that:

If you wear an auto safety belt, you have a better chance of avoiding injury or death in a highway accident.

The Cornell case histories are more than just accident reports. They are accident autopsies. Collected from cooperating state and local police in 22 states over the past three years, they describe in grisly detail everything that happens in an accident—damage, injuries and exactly how they occurred.

John O. Moore, director of the Cornell project, began recommending the use of seat belts when his staff had dissected only about 8,000 accident reports.

Now he says: "From the additional evidence accumulated in more than 20,000 accidents involving about 50,000 persons, it is our considered opinion that there is no better single device available at the present time for reducing the risk of injury and death when automobile accidents occur."

How can a seat belt save lives? The Cornell researchers cite two reasons:

1. A belt keeps occupants IN-

SIDE the car; Cornell experts have concluded it is five times safer to be inside a car than to be thrown out.

2. A belt keeps occupants from being thrown against lethal objects in the car's interior, such as windshields, steering wheels, instrument panels, radio and control knobs and door handles.

Unless you have been in a bad accident, you have no way of realizing the tremendous forces exerted on the human body when a car comes to a violent, sudden stop or rolls over at high speed.

When a car doing 50 stops suddenly or hits something, its occupants continue moving forward at 50 miles an hour. Try imagining yourself flying toward your windshield at 50 m. p. h.

A safety belt, anchored to the frame of the car, accomplishes what the human body cannot do for itself—it lets the body decelerate at the same speed as the car. In a roll-over, it reduces the force applied to the doors to virtually nothing.

The Cornell studies emphasize that, contrary to common belief, belts are of value in low-speed accidents as well as high-speed.

Suppose you sit down in a chair. You are then applying a load against your body of one pound per square inch.

Now put an ice pick point-up on the chair. Sit down slowly. The point of the pick covers an area of 1/64th of an inch—which means you are putting the entire weight of your body on a far smaller area. The pressure now applied against your body is almost five tons per square inch.

That is what happens in an automobile when a relatively small part of your body hits a relatively small but lethal object in the car even at low speed.

(Next: Arguments against the seat belt.)

Expect Huge Vote in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A bitter, personal fight to pick a gubernatorial nominee led campaign managers to foresee a record vote today in Rhode Island's hottest Democratic primary.

Gov. Dennis J. Roberts, seeking a fifth two-year term, is opposed by Lt. Gov. Armand H. Cote, Roberts is generally favored.

Sen. John O. Pastore, U.S. Representative Alime J. Forand and John E. Fogarty and General Treasurer Raymond H. Hawkesley are unopposed. There are contests for nominations for three other state offices.

Roberts charged Cote risks destroying the party by running against the endorsed slate. Roberts cited his accomplishments in education, highway construction and social welfare.

Cote called his rival a weak vote getter and charged Roberts' supporters have tried to intimidate state employees and those who live in public housing.

The Republicans hold their primary Sept. 25. Christopher del Sesto, their 1956 nominee, is unopposed for the nomination this year.

Music for Cows, in Heated Stalls

Italian Farm Supplies Rome With Milk, Wine, Fruits and Flowers

ROME (UPI) — Cows are supplied with soothing swing music on a modern farm near Rome and feed is brought to them on a special conveyor belt in their centrally heated stalls.

This American-like farm is in the middle of the Agro Romano, an arid and rocky plain which half circles the Italian capital. The farm is situated about 30 miles out on the Via Aurelia behind Vatican City and is called Torre in Pietra.

Few Romans know much about Torre in Pietra farm, yet for 33 years they have bought its rich creamy milk, its big and pulpy Romano artichokes, its limpid muscat wines, its many fruits and vegetables and, especially, its beautiful flowers.

Even in the United States this farm would be something exceptional. In Italy it is like an oasis in the desert. Everything is mechanical, systemized, hygienic by the most modern means, and at the same time highly efficient. A far different story with most farms in the district where farmers still use hand ploughs and cows are made to work.

PLENTY OF WATER

Torre in Pietra farm was begun in 1925 by Sen. Luigi Albertini, one-time director of the Corriere Della Sera, daily newspaper of Milan, in collaboration with the well-known politician and industrialist, Count Nicolo Carandini.

Every morning at 5 o'clock the cows at Torre in Pietra are awakened by the sound of slow swing music played to them on carillon bells. The cows are washed before being milked and during this process they can get a ration of salt by licking at a salted paper which comes to them on a special conveyor belt.

The feed for the cows is weighed and rationed according to the weight and milk production of each animal.

Perhaps the greatest achievement at Torre in Pietra is irrigation. Water can be seen everywhere — in huge tanks, in wide, deep canals, and in big pipes that crisscross the farm. And every few square yards there is a spray showering the dry, rocky ground with water.

Misses Cultural Recreation

Russian Sees Life in U. S.

WALSBURG, Colo. (UPI) — Mrs. John Sandor, a Walsburg housewife, spoke English with all the confidence in the world.

It was hard to believe she was a Moscow school teacher named Viktoria Katsorava only a few months ago.

"I drank milk all the time when I came here. I couldn't eat American food, it was so rich," she said.

"Now I can eat it, but I still can't cook it. All I can make is hot dogs and beans."

Viktoria married Pueblo, Colo., attorney John Sandor in Russia last November after a trans-Atlantic courtship of nearly two years.

After fighting American and Red red tape for six months, the couple finally arrived at Sandor's home in Walsburg, a town of 6,000, last May.

"A little town is pleasant but I don't intend to live here always," Mrs. Sandor said.

"We will move to a city where there is a university and I hope to teach Russian. I taught American in Russia. Perhaps we will move to Denver. I like Denver," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandor made a whirlwind tour of the United States during the summer. They saw New York, Minnesota, Louisiana, Texas.

"I loved Minnesota," Mrs. Sandor enthused. "There it is like Sweden and Denmark, which I like most of all."

MARVELS AT STORES

The young woman marveled at the bigness and variety of American super markets and department stores.

But she hasn't bought a sack dress yet.

"I didn't even try one," she said. "I think I am not created for the sack dress."

She was surprised that American women spend so much time at home.

"Married women in Russia work, but here, they take care of their babies. I think it is better here," Mrs. Sandor said.

She was distressed, however, at the lack of "cultural amusements" in America.

"There is so little cultural interest here," she said. "I was shocked that Denver had no permanent theater. In Russia, such a town would have five theaters, maybe more."

"Russians read much, especially translations of great writers of other languages. But Americans watch television."

Mrs. Sandor said people in America had been curious about her, but very good to her. She has liked Americans everywhere, she said, but is also a little homesick.

"I miss my home and my mother."

Detroit Merits Title 'Missile Town, U.S.'

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit, long known as the Motor City, may have as much claim nowadays to the nickname "Missile Town, USA."

This city of wheels, it is pointed out by Detroit Engineer, official publication of the Engineering Society of Detroit, is one of the nation's top missile producers.

The magazine said some made-in-Detroit missile products or parts include the Atlas, Bomarc, Corporal, Dart, Honest John, Nike-Hercules, Polaris, Redstone, Regulus I, Regular II, Sergeant, Talos, Thor and several other classified projects.

Man Finds 7-Foot Bone

DELTA, Col. — D. E. Jones, a lumber dealer in Delta, has presented to the Smithsonian Institution the world's largest dinosaur limb bone. He found it in Montrose County, Colorado. The bone is 7 feet, on inch long. It is the upper forelimb, the humerus, of the Brachiosaurus, perhaps the largest of all dinosaurs. With its very long neck the Brachiosaurus could easily have looked over the roof of a three-story building.

Get Into the Act on Co-Star LPs

Famous Actors Speak Their Lines; Script Is Your Cue to Take Part

NEW YORK (UPI) — A do-it-yourself "kit" designed for aspiring actors and actresses may be just the right medicine for people with pent-up emotions.

The "kit" consists of any one or more of a dozen "Co-Star" long-playing records presenting leading stage and screen stars in scenes from their best shows.

Stars such as Paulette Goddard, Tallulah Bankhead, Fernando Lamas and George Raft read their lines. A blank space is provided for you to act out your part. Scripts come with each record.

For instance, you may be the ugliest man in town but you may join Miss Goddard in sizzling dialogue from "Peyton Place."

Or you may be such a homely girl not even your best friend will tell you, but you may love it up with Lamas in scenes from "The King and the Chorus Girl."

And teenagers can swap lines with young Jimmie Rodgers, in scenes written especially for them.

Joe Kolsky, executive vice president of Roulette Records which produces "Co-Star" LPs, believes he has hit an untapped market.

PARTY GAME

"This is a game that can be played at home alone or can be a party game for the family, friends and relatives," Kolsky said.

For those seriously interested in acting, probably the best LP in the lot stars Vincent Price—and you—in scenes from Oscar Wilde's comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

If you are a glutton for punishment, play opposite Tallulah in a scene from "Lifeboat." She hogs the lines and sounds at times more like Sir Winston Churchill than Miss Bankhead. But if you're clever at ad-libbing you can upstage her.

These records offer all sorts of outlets for tensions. Neatly placed ad-libbed lines can trip up the star, either before or after a line.

This game also may lead to much fun on future recordings. What would you say, sir, to Greta Garbo if, when enacting a scene from "Grand Hotel," she should say:

"I want to be alone."

Or lady, what would you say to Charles Boyer, as Pepe LeMoko, when he so charmingly suggests: "Come wiz me to ze Casbah?"

City of London Holds to Ancient Traditions

LONDON — William the Conqueror in the 11th Century was the first of a long line of kings to taste the independence of the City of London, the square mile that encompasses the original city. The City refused to open its gates to him or recognize him as King until he agreed to its conditions, so that he was forced to negotiate with it as if it were a separate state.

Today that independence survives in many ways. The authority of the Lord Mayor of London — that is, the City of London — in theory is absolute within the boundaries of his miniature kingdom. He owes allegiance to none but the Queen. He is the City's chief justice, general and admiral.

He may seek an audience with the Queen at any time; he is the first to receive news of a monarch's death; and only he may confer the "freedom of the City."

PLAN FOR SURVIVAL—Drawing above is of a low-cost temporary shelter against radioactive fallout (not blast), suitable for most home basements. The office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization in Battle Creek, Mich., recommends it as minimum protection in case of a nuclear attack. Besides sand or earth, ODCM lists other materials that might be used, such as bricks, concrete blocks, books and papers, water in containers and lumber — the thicker the better. Items which should be stored in the shelter are emergency food and water, a battery-operated radio, flashlights, bedding, first-aid kit and sanitation aids. ODCM, under direction of Leo A. Hoegh, is distributing detailed bulletins describing shelters and fallout protective measures.

Only Ritual Rooms Strictly Oriental

Prince Akihito Is Planning 43-Room Palace in Tokyo

By RONALD P. KRISS

TOKYO (UPI) — When Crown Prince Akihito of Japan marries, he and his bride will live in a 43-room mansion that will cost $750,000 to build.

Prof. Yoshiro Taniguchi, architect, who is designing the mansion, told United Press International that he is proceeding "with a princess in mind."

At 24, Akihito is still a bachelor, but his engagement may be announced in the near future. It is believed his bride will be former Princess Kitashirakawa, a pretty, 18-year-old great-granddaughter of Japan's Emperor Meiji.

According to Taniguchi, the Crown Prince asked for something "bright and modern," and that's what he will be getting.

Akihito's house will have a Japanese-modern exterior, but the rooms will be chiefly western-style. Taniguchi said there will probably be only two strictly Japanese-style rooms, to be used for tea ceremonies and various rituals.

SITE OF EARLIER PALACE

Construction is expected to begin this fall on a spacious, 720,000-square-foot plot in Tokyo's Aoyama district. This is where Omiya Palace, home of the Crown Prince's grandmother, once stood. It was destroyed in World War II bombing raids.

The house itself will have 43,000 square feet of floor space on two levels. Taniguchi said he intends to use reinforced concrete and steel concrete as his principal building materials.

The house will have three wings — a 15-room private section for Akihito and his princess, a 20-room section for attendants and offices, and an 8-room section for reception.

Taniguchi said the imperial couple will share one bedroom. There will also be a 540-square-foot living room and a couple of children's rooms.

The princess will have a study, living room, playroom and dressing room. There also will be a kitchen, crete blocks, books and papers, water in containers and lumber — the thicker the better. Items which should be stored in the shelter are emergency food and water, a battery-operated radio, flashlights, bedding, first-aid kit and sanitation aids. ODCM, under direction of Leo A. Hoegh, is distributing detailed bulletins describing shelters and fallout protective measures.

Pope May Appoint Special Patron Saint

ROME — No matter what the job, there's usually a patron saint for it. Patrons for newer specialties include St. Bernadine of Siena, patroness of public relations; St. Clare, patroness of television; St. Gabriel, patron of radio; St. Francis de Sales, patron of journalism.

Patron saints for various groups are honored by tradition or named by the Pope on petition. At the last count Pope Pius XII had named protectors for more than 150 nations, cities, sports, professions, and occupations.

Aussies Train Gliders

MELBOURNE, Australia — The first privately operated national glider school in the world is being planned by the Gliding Federation of Australia. It will offer advanced training to senior instructors and to ground engineers who will also be qualified pilots. The school will be located at Gawler, near Adelaide.

O-JIB-WA BITTERS CONTINUES TO PROVE CLAIMS

"O-JIB-WA BITTERS did more for me in three weeks than everything else I tried put together in the last 17 years," says Mrs. Sue Church, 37420 Huron River Dr., Romulus, Michigan.

"I wouldn't be without O-Jib-Wa Bitters for anything. In all this time, I had tried all kinds of medicine, because before using it, I was about as ready for a wheelchair. I had rheumatism and arthritis for about 17 long years, and it's hard to describe the suffering. Believe me when I tell you it was horrible. My knees were swollen to twice their normal size and my feet ached something fierce. When I visited my relatives in Virginia, I had to be helped up and led around like a child. Animal's Enemy Often Is Friend, but in Disguise

WASHINGTON — Quite often an animal's enemy is his friend in disguise, while his friend is really his enemy, scientists have found. Here are two examples they give:

Fishermen in one area trapped fish-killing otters with the aim of increasing the fish supply. The fish didn't increase, however. They disappeared. The otters had been catching diseased fish, which could not swim fast. With the otters gone, the sick fish infected and killed the others.

To increase the herd of about 4,000 deer living in Arizona's Kai-bab Forest in 1905, hunters killed the coyotes, mountain lions and wolves. Then the deer multiplied, reaching 100,000 by 1928—far more than the range could support. About 60,000 starved to death during two winters, the forest was seriously damaged, and the deer herd declined until it was well below the original capacity of the range.
