Rope Circles Neck

Body Discovered in Creek

SEEK SLAYING CLUES—A team of detectives from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department combed the area of Clarkston and Kern roads, Orion Township, this morning seeking clues to the slaying of an unidentified young woman.

Woman Found in Rural Area of Orion Twp.

Lack Identification; 'Looks Like Murder,' States Prosecutor

The body of an unidentified woman was found this morning lying face down in Paint Creek near the intersection of Clarkston and Kern roads in Orion Township.

Clad in green shorts and a green print blouse, the body was found with a rope knotted around the neck and a deep wound in the back of the head.

★ ★ ★

A passing truck driver, Frank Suchy of Detroit, discovered the body around 9 a.m., Lake Orion Police Chief Neal Leonard said.

The body was lying in less than a half-foot of water beneath a bridge by which Clarkston Road crosses the creek.

"It could be suicide, but it looks more like murder to me," Prosecutor George Taylor said.

★ ★ ★

The rope, which was tied at the back of the neck, was wrapped around the neck six times.

"She never tied that," commented Sheriff Frank Irons.

In addition to the deep laceration in the back of the head, the body had a three-quarter inch cut under the chin and a small cut on the right ear.

The woman, a brunette of medium height, is believed to be between 18 and 22 years of age.

Mart Assured After Criticism

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street regained more assurance today after nervousness triggered by probing criticism of several key stock market mechanisms.

Traders still were cautious however.

The market, skittish for several weeks now, opened mixed to a little lower.

"The trend is being determined by other factors," said Sidney Lurie, a partner in Josephthal & Co. "This criticism is just another irritant, as it were."

Some other brokers agreed.

Presidents of the nation's two largest securities marts worked on rebuttal to an unexpectedly severe report filed with Congress by Securities and Exchange Commission investigators Wednesday.

Amid outcries of dismay from some brokers, G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, held his peace. So did Edwin D. Etherington, president of the American Stock Exchange.

They said time was required to digest the 2,100-page installment of SEC inquiry findings, sequel to a milder report last April.

However, Etherington promised to voice his opinions of "ill-advised" comments in the report.

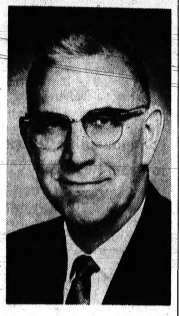
The SEC special study committee assailed several time-honored stock market practices, mostly concerned with the market's inside workings rather than activities directly touching the public.

It called for new curbs on short selling, floor traders and stock specialists, tighter supervision of trading in unlisted securities in the over-the-counter market and an improved system for handling odd-lot or small volume transactions.

To the financial community's relief, there was no blanket demand for segregating the broker and dealer functions of many Wall Street firms.



DR. WALTER H. OBENAUF

Doctor Expires of Heart Attack

Dr. Walter H. Obenauf, medical superintendent at Pontiac State Hospital, died of a heart attack last night at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Obenauf was stricken at 8:30 p.m. at his farm at 11200 Clark, Springfield Township, where he and his wife were awaiting a visit from their next-door neighbors.

He was rushed to Pontiac General Hospital, where resuscitation attempts proved futile. He was pronounced dead at 10:15 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Despite a heart condition which resulted from an attack some 20 years earlier, Dr. Obenauf led a very active life, having just returned from a trip around the world.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

Dr. Obenauf, 56, was appointed medical superintendent of the hospital in 1959.

Prior to that, he spent 11 years at Ypsilanti State Hospital where he served his residency, was named a director

Kids Mob JFK After Greeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A crowd of 2,500 foreign high school students ran wild on the White House lawn today after being greeted by President Kennedy.

In their over-enthusiastic rush to get close to the Chief Executive they ripped neck ties from White House policemen, plowed into Kennedy's prized boxwood hedges, caused one Secret Service agent to lose a shoe, and put another officer in need of first aid.

Kennedy had greeted the teenagers jokingly as "not the quietest group that has come to visit us."

But he moved them to silence in a stirring speech during which he urged them, when they returned home, to work for peace, friendship and "a fair chance for all."

He said they, as future leaders of their countries, could prevent war "you will be the most remarkable generation in history."

The President, after speaking, walked to the students who were massed behind a roped-off area. Within seconds bedlam broke loose.

The boys and girls, almost all of whom carried cameras and wanted close-up shots as well as handshakes and autographs, broke through the ropes and swarmed around Kennedy.

Secret Service agents and White House policemen formed a ring around the President and protected him from being crushed taking the brunt of the good-natured but rough assault themselves.

County Auditors Eye $15.7 Million Budget

Final touches to a proposed $15.7 million county budget for next year were being added today by the County Board of Auditors.

The figure is subject to minor change between now and mid-August, Chairman John Austin pointed out.

The auditors will make their final budget recommendation to the County Board of Supervisors ways and means committee next month.

The committee is likely to change the recommendation then, before submitting it to the board of supervisors for final approval. Such action has been taken by the committee in the past.

The auditor's recommendation is based primarily on the county's expenditures during the past six months.

It amounts to a $250,124 increase over this year's budget of about $15.5 million.

The proposed budget calls for $11.4 million in taxes and $4.3 million in other anticipated revenues.

Austin termed the revenue figure "a very optimistic outlook on the general economy in the county next year.

Lazy Summer Day Expected Tomorrow

A lazy summer day is scheduled for the area tomorrow with partly sunny skies, warm temperatures — a high of 86 — and mild breezes forecast.

PARTLY CLOUDY

Tonight's prediction is fair with slightly cooler weather. A low of 64 is expected.

The weather Saturday will be partly cloudy and continued warm, says the weatherman.

Winds today are west-southwest at 10 to 15 m.p.h.

The coolest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. today was 71. By 2 p.m. the area had warmed up to 92.

Description of Victim

The murdered woman whose body was found this morning in Paint Creek, Orion Township is described as follows:

Between 18 and 22 years old, dark brown hair, 5 foot 2 inches tall and medium complexion. She was clad in a green print blouse and light green Bermuda shorts.

Anyone who may have clues to the victim's identity is asked to notify the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

JFK Asks Securities Tax to Stem U.S. Gold Outflow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, in a surprise move asked Congress today to tax Americans on most purchases of foreign stocks and bonds. The aim is to help stem the outflow of gold and dollars.

Kennedy's recommendation was certain to have an immediate impact on international financial markets because it would affect American investments currently approaching the rate of $2 billion a year.

The unprecedented proposal, put forth in a special message to Congress on the worrisome U.S. balance of payments problem, represented the boldest and most controversial attempt yet made by any administration to deal with the payments dilemma.

To discourage the mounting flow of American savings abroad, Kennedy called for a special excise tax ranging from 2½ per cent to 15 per cent on the purchase price of securities issued by governments and businesses in 22 industrialized countries. The tax would go into effect Friday and remain on the books until Dec. 31, 1965.

★ ★ ★

Admittedly, this would be strong medicine. But Kennedy said it would "help prevent pressures for more restrictive measures."

2ND HIGHLIGHT

A second highlight of Kennedy's 5,500-word message was an announcement that—for the first time—the United States will exercise its right to draw money from the International Monetary Fund.

Starting Monday, the United States will begin drawing up to $500 million in foreign currencies from the IMF. These currencies will be used by the U.S. Treasury to buy foreign-held dollars that otherwise might be used to purchase American gold.

Kennedy predicted that enactment of the excise tax plus other less dramatic moves under way or planned would trim nearly $2 billion from the U.S. balance of payments deficit during the next 18 months.

In 1962 the deficit—the difference between the amount of money leaving the country and the lesser amount coming in—totaled $2.2 billion. However, the deficit has been mounting this year and, in the April-June quarter, reached an annual rate of well over $3 billion.

Continued deficits in international financial dealings means that foreigners are piling up surplus dollars which they can use to buy American gold—the key to the strength of the dollar. In recent years, the U.S. gold stock has dropped from $22 billion to under $15.7 billion.

Kennedy Sanctions Plans for Rights Protest in D.C.

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has given his blessings to the late-August civil rights demonstration planned for the national capital and says, "I look forward to being here."

This was the highlight of a Kennedy news conference yesterday in which he applauded peaceful racial protests while decrying those which can lead to violence and bloodshed.

The session with newsmen — Kennedy's first in Washington in eight weeks — covered a wide range of topics including:

★ ★ ★

Business and Taxes: The President said business is better than expected, tax receipts consequently have exceeded predictions and, as a result, last year's budget deficit totaled $6.2 billion compared with a January forecast of $8.8 billion.

He said this bolsters his argument that a $10-billion tax cut would boost the economy still further and eventually balance the budget.

Cold War Talks: Kennedy said he is "still hopeful" that the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union can achieve some kind of nuclear test ban treaty in the current Moscow talks.

But he thinks talk of a possible summit meeting is premature, saying such a session is not "indicated or needed."

Bias Protest Halted by Chicago Police

CHICAGO—Police today broke up an 8-day-old racial sit-in at the offices of the Chicago Board of Education by picking up nine demonstrators and carrying them bodily off to paddy wagons.

* * *

Police hefted the seven men and two women into their arms when the protesters refused a plea by School Board President Clair Roddewig to end their campout on the third floor of the Loop building.

Teams of sit-iners, members of the Congress of Racial Equality, have stayed put around the clock since July 10 in the board offices demanding action on their charges of racial segregation in Chicago schools.

Last night the sit-in sparked violence when 200 demonstrators massed in front of the building and some tried to break through police lines.

Three persons were arrested last night and five persons—four policemen and a young Negro girl—were injured.

A white man and white woman were among those arrested today. There was no violence during the arrests.

OTHER RACIAL NEWS

● In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told Congress today the administration's civil rights bill "can and will do more toward righting the wrongs of racial oppression than any other measure possible at this time."

Kennedy told the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by hostile Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that "No issues are more urgent" than those the administration's civil rights program seeks to resolve.

As an example of racial barriers that face Negroes, Kennedy cited tourist guidebooks listing only one establishment with overnight accommodations for Negroes in Montgomery, Ala., and none in Danville, Va.

"But a dog, provided he is traveling with a white man, is welcome to spend the night in at least five establishments in Montgomery and four in Danville, he said.

On the other side of the Capitol, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said he favored a proposal by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to deny certification for any labor union practicing racial discrimination.

Wirtz made the statement in response to a question while testifying before the Senate Commerce Committee on the administration's rights bill.

● In Marion, Ark., a 17-year-old Negro was chased into a field by white residents and sheriff's deputies and fatally shot yesterday after a woman claimed he tried to rape her daughter.

Sheriff Cecil Goodwin said there was evidence of an attempt to rape the eight-year-old girl. The child was not hurt but she was placed under a doctor's care.

The Negro, Andrew Lee Anderson, was hit in the leg by a high-powered rifle bullet. He was brought to the courthouse here and then taken to a hospital in nearby West Memphis, where he died 40 minutes after admission.

A doctor said the bullet severed an artery.

Sheriff Goodwin said he did not know who shot Anderson. He would not reveal the names of the mother and child.

● In Cambridge, Md., Negro leaders tentatively called off demonstrations for at least another week today following announcement that Gov. J. Millard Tawes would ask a committee of distinguished attorneys to help bring about racial peace here.

● In Montgomery, Ala., Gov. George Wallace unveiled a new plan to try to maintain separation of the races if any Alabama school is forced to integrate: separate white and Negro classrooms in the same school.

And if that system fails, he said, he favors as a last resort the segregation of pupils by sex—boys in one school, girls in another.

Wallace promised active opposition on any resolution endorsing integration submitted to the National Governors' Conference.

He also took a verbal jab at New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as "trying to out-Kennedy Mr. Kennedy" by asking the governors to back the President's civil rights proposals.

● In Dallas, the previously all-white South Loop Baptist church, in a racially mixed district, accepted a Negro woman and two children as members last night.

Solon Proposes Drug Be Kept Available

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas proposed today that Congress assure persons now taking krebiozen that they will not be cut off from supplies of the controversial "anticancer" serum.

The Illinois Democrat prepared for introduction a joint resolution which said that the distribution of krebiozen will continue to be permitted in interstate commerce, at least to persons now taking the drug, until the National Cancer Institute has conducted a "fair test."

Crush Syria Uprising

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syria's Ba'athist government announced today it had crushed an uprising led by civilians and discharged officers.

A spokesman for Maj. Gen. Amin Hafez, strong man of the Syrian army, went on Damascus Radio and declared that the revolt was finished and the situation was under control.

The announcement was broadcast after Damascus radio was strangely silent for two hours.

Diplomatic reports reaching Beirut said that tanks, automatic weapons and small arms had been in action in the capital earlier while the plotters tried to seize the army headquarters and radio station.

SUPPORT MESSAGES

The restored radio then began rolling out messages of support from the army, as well as a pledge of military aid from Iraq, whose leaders are partners with the Syrians in the Ba'ath Socialist party.

Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref congratulated the Syrian government for crushing "the dirty plot" and said "be sure that the revolution of Ramadan 14"—a reference to the successful Iraqi revolution last Feb. 8—places itself at the disposal of the Syrian revolutionary council."

There have been three successful coups in Syria in 22 months and eight army revolts since World War II.

The Syrian border was closed at 10 a.m. and telephone communications with the outside world were cut. The national revolutionary command, which has controlled the country since the latest coup March 8, had placed a curfew throughout Syria with orders that offenders will be shot.

SEES NASSER

While Damascus was locked in combat, the head of the revolutionary command, Lt. Gen. Louay Atassi, arrived in Egypt on a mission to President Nasser.

Atassi had been attempting to smooth over the feud between the Syrian Ba'athists and Nasser which has virtually killed plans for an Arab federation of Syria, Iraq and Egypt.

Atassi has been believed to hold less power in Syria than Maj. Gen. Amin Hafez.

Hafez emerged as the major power in Syria July 8 when his rival, Maj. Gen. Ziad El Hariri, was packed off to exile in Paris.

Hariri, 37, is neither a Ba'athist nor a Nasserite. He has been known to hold a large personal following in the army.

If he should come out as leader of the current revolt, it would not necessarily mean a change in the Syrian attitude toward Nasser. Apparently with Hariri's compliance, pro-Nasser officers were fired from the army and Nasserite ministers dropped from the Cabinet early in May.

STRANGE ASPECTS

There were several strange aspects to the uprising. It apparently started not at dawn in the usual Syrian tradition, but in the late morning. Syrian coups also are usually bloodless.

All reports reaching Beirut indicated that there had been bloodshed. There were no specific accounts, however, of casualties.

Russ, Chinese Fail to Attend Talks Again

MOSCOW (UPI) — Chinese and Soviet delegates did not show up for talks on their worsening ideological dispute today, indicating another recess had been called in the conference.

There was no announcement, but newsmen waiting outside the conference site in a villa on the outskirts of Moscow said neither delegation arrived.

The usual pattern of the talks has been one day off and one day on, and talks were held yesterday.

Western observers believed that the talks were near an end, and that the departure of the Peking delegation could be expected any day.

Diplomats said it is China's turn to make the next move in the public attacks that have accompanied the talks, gaining in bitterness as the conference progressed.

Auditors Draw Up $15.7-Million Budget

general relief costs next year," he said.

"If economic conditions should worsen, we will be in real trouble," he noted.

"Anticipated revenues is purely a guess based on the best information available. However, there really is no way of knowing where the economy will go in 1964."

REVENUES CLIMB

County revenues have climbed steadily during the past three years. In 1960 they came to $3.1 million, in '61 to $3.9 million, and to $4.2 million last year.

The auditors recommendation is $1.3 million less than a tentative budget adopted this spring before the amount of taxes was known.

The $11.4 million tax figure is derived from a 5.19 mill rate on a $2.2 billion county tax base.

The millage figure was determined by the County Tax Allocation Board last month when it split a total 15-mill levy among schools, townships and county government.

CUT BUDGET

The tentative budget figure has been cut primarily in five areas, according to budgetary assistant Leo Halfpenny.

The proposed general relief appropriation was cut from $1.6 million to $1.2 million, improvements at the County Service Center from $180,000 to zero, temporary mental care from $200,000 to $100,000, and the contingency fund from $150,000 to $50,000, he said.

* * *

Further reductions were made in the operating costs of most county departments to various degrees.

Also, 32 new positions requested by department heads at a total cost $144,475 were chopped out entirely in the auditors' recommendation.

Eliminating all of these positions is still subject to review by the salaries committee before the auditors' final recommendation is sent to the ways and means committee.

The auditors tentative budget proposal this spring was raised from $16.7 million to $17.1 million by the ways and means committee before it was adopted by the board of supervisors.

* * *

A major increase was in the general relief appropriation.

Last year, ways and means hiked the auditors' recommendation from $15,412,643 to $15,536,902. This was done by upping anticipated revenues.

The higher figure was adopted by the board of supervisors for this year's budget.

State to Probe Shooting Case

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's office has agreed to look into the fatal shooting of Cynthia Scott by a Detroit Police officer. But a department spokesman noted that the State rarely becomes involved in such cases.

The investigation was asked Tuesday by Rep. David Holmes, D-Detroit, and members of the Detroit Council for Human Rights. Sen. Basil Brown, D-Detroit, wired a similar request Wednesday.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan said members of the state's Criminal Division have already been in contact with Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen regarding the case.

★ ★ ★

Cohan said he would meet today or tomorrow with Holmes and members of the Council, who have asked about the possibilities that a criminal warrant be issued for Patrolman Theodore Spicher.

Spicher said the 24-year-old Negro woman, whom he was attempting to arrest on a vice charge, slashed at him with a knife before running away. He said he fired three shots, hitting her twice.

The county prosecutor exonerated Spicher. That action was followed by a demonstration staged outside Detroit Police Headquarters by some 600 persons protesting.

Parachute Fails to Open; Man Falls to Death

MANVILLE, N.J. (AP) — A parachute jumper fell more than a mile to his death Wednesday night when his main chute failed to open, State Police said.

★ ★ ★

He was John Maurice, 25, formerly of New York, who lived near Decker Airport. Police said his reserve chute opened too late to check his fall.

★ ★ ★

State Trooper Peter Duimstra said Maurice was practicing target-jumping at the airport just south of here. He jumped from 5,800 feet and smashed into a wheat field 200 yards from the target.

New Zoning Rules Ready

AREA NEWS

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Two years of work — by the planning commission and Township Board — will be evident next week when copies of the township's new zoning ordinance roll off the presses.

Replacing the outdated 1955 document, the new ordinance breaks down residential lot sizes and offers detailed descriptions of the extensively changed township zoning.

Although the pamphlet is scheduled for publication next Thursday, its rules will not be effective until 30 days after that, Aug. 24.

* * *

One of the more significant changes in the ordinance is the ruling regarding residential, single-family lot sizes.

Under terms of the old law, there was only one minimum lot size for residential dwellings. The revised plan retains this as the R-1C minimum lot size — 10,400 square feet with 80 feet of frontage.

New to the township are the R-1A residential lots, requiring a minimum of 20,000 square feet and 125 feet of frontage, and the R-1B lots, which call for a minimum of 11,250 square feet and 90 feet of frontage.

* * *

These figures are applicable to only those lots without sewage or water, the case for the vast majority of the township.

ONLY EXCEPTION

Sole exception to the rule is the subdivision on Auburn between Ryan and Mound, which contains 271 homes with sewage and water.

Also significant in the new ordinance is the changing of many intersections, mainly at mile-road crossings, from residential to retail business zones.

In addition, the township's planning commission and board have included areas in the ordinance earmarked for two-family and multiple-dwelling units. This type of zoning is also new to Shelby.

Another outstanding change in township zoning will be seen along the route of the proposed M53.

To run parallel with and about a mile east of Van Dyke, the highway is scheduled to be accessible in 1964.

Presently zoned residential and agricultural, most of the lots facing the highway will be multiple dwelling and light industrial under classifications of the new ordinance.

The exception here is that portion between 25- and 26-mile roads, which will remain residential.

The completely revised zoning code was approved unanimously by the Township Board at its meeting this week.

* * *

During the ordinance's two-year formation period, significant alterations were made following hearings attended by many of the township's citizens.

Technical changes by township attorneys also slowed down completion of the document.

Last month, the plan was approved by the Macomb County Coordinating Commission.

* * *

Township Supervisor Lorin Evans complimented the planning commission for "an excellent job in providing the township with a modern, up-to-date zoning program.

Hefty Sylvia Takes Prize as Black and White Champ

By ROGER SRIGLEY

Sylvia, who weighs a hefty ton , is one of few heavy gals around here not worried about her size. In fact, her weight was an attribute to her in yesterday's "beauty" contest at the 4-H fairgrounds.

Sylvia, like all others in the competition, is a Holstein cow. And yesterday the 10-year-old milker walked off with top honors at the annual Oakland County Black and White Show.

Owned by Hutch Farms, 1062 E. Hamlin, Avon Township, she won the aged cow competition, senior class championship and the grand champion award.

Eight Holstein breeders from throughout the county entered a total of 42 head for judging.

Determining the winners was up to Ralph Plepkow of Springport. Plepkow is state director of the Black and White Association, a national organization of Holstein breeders.

Nine of the 17 winners he picked were cattle from Hutch Farms.

Other families of breeders represented in the winners' circle were the Keith Middletons of 2810 Stoney Creek, Oakland Township; the Carlos Longs of 3988 Sleeth, Commerce Township; and the Howard Balkos of 52730 W. Eight Mile, Lyon Township.

Keego Harbor Eyes Charter Amendment

KEEGO HARBOR — A charter amendment which would allow the city council to approve or reject proposed hospitals and nursing homes will be considered at a public hearing here tonight.

The amendment would take the decision making in these specific cases away from the zoning board of appeals, which recently rejected plans for a nursing home in the city.

The hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the City Hall.

Blanche Tatton attended her sister as maid of honor.

* * *

Woman Into Space

Jerrie Battles for Astronettes

(Editor's Note—Jerrie Cobb, famous America aviatrix, has told of her campaign to become our first woman into space. In previous installments, she covered her early piloting and personal experiences, including many record-breaking flights, and described the rigorous tests given by NASA.)

By JERRIE COBB
AND Jane Rieker
Final Installment

Sworn in as a NASA consultant, I made a two-part proposal.

★ ★ ★

Part one was a recommendation that research be continued, officially by NASA so women's potential contributions to space exploration could be thoroughly investigated. Part Two was a plea that the first woman in space be an American, not a Russian.

Meantime, 12 more women had passed the selective tests at The Lovelace Foundation. The basic qualifications were: age, to 40; minimum flying time 1500 hours; minimum license, commercial with one or more ratings. I had proposed 31 names.

The "Flats" (so-called from my salutation of "Dear Fellow Astronaut Trainee") were a superior and dedicated group. The Navy said it would test the ladies at Pensacola during the last two weeks of September, and they were notified accordingly. Each said "I'll be there."

VAST EFFORTS

There were vast efforts to get time off or rearrange jobs. One of the most experienced said her job was the best she ever had "but I'd quit if necessary to take the tests."

The mail that summer did not bring a reply from NASA. Then I had a telephone call from Dr. Lovelace.

"Jerrie? The Navy has cancelled the tests."

Thud! I hit bottom so hard it's a wonder the bounce wasn't knocked out of me forever.

★ ★ ★

"But, Dr. Lovelace — some of the girls are already on their way to Florida. It was all set. What can I tell them? I'm going to call Pensacola."

"Go ahead, Jerrie, and good luck. But don't be too disappointed if it doesn't get you anywhere."

So I found. I spent hours on the phone. I wrote letters, sent telegrams. I flew to Washington I saw and talked to everyone I could corner. "Don't know." "What testing?" "Ask the Navy." "See NASA." Ask this one. See that one.

A REQUIREMENT

I found out this much: The Navy needed a "requirement," a piece of paper indicating NASA interest. The piece of paper wasn't forthcoming.

I had no choice but to notify the girls.

After that I became "speaker-of-the-evening" at dinners from Washington to Los Angeles. I built fires whereever I went. I saw every NASA officer I could. "Jerrie, I never dreamed you could become a crusader," said my mother.

At last Hiden T. Cox, then NASA assistant administrator for public affairs, wrote: "The future use of women astronauts is possible, but at what time in the future programs is another matter entirely."

On February 20, 1962, Colonel John Glenn made his famous orbital flight from Cape Canaveral.

As an official observer for FAI-NAA, from the top of the Saturn gantry I watched the massive rocket lift off. In that history-making moment, I found new courage, renewed energy, and determination.

GIANT STRIDE

With each step we took in our space program, Russia seemed able to make a giant stride. Now the likilhood of a Russian woman making a space flight appeared even greater.

But if the Soviet Union beat us there, it would not be for lack of effort on the part of "The Flats". My crusade was strengthened by a valuable reinforcement.

Jane Hart, wife of Senator Philip Hart of Michigan, is also known as "Mrs. Vitality". She's the mother of eight children. She is an experienced airplane and helicopter pilot. She is one of the twelve Flats. She is a woman to get things done, and she did.

★ ★ ★

On July 17, 1962, we faced an open hearing of a special subcommittee of the Committee on Science and Astronautics of the United States House of Representatives.

As first witness I said:

"First, let us recognize that we women pilots who want to be part of the research and participation in space are not trying to join a battle of the sexes. We seek only a place in our nation's space future without discrimination.

SOUND REASONS

"There are sound medical-scientific reasons for using women as astronauts. Women weigh less and consume less food and oxygen than men, a very important point. Women are more radiation-resistant and less-prone to heart attacks because of the way the good Lord constructed them.

"Scientists say that women are less susceptible to monotony, loneliness, heat, cold, pain, and noise than the opposite sex."

The questioning began.

"Miss Cobb, are any of your women test pilots?" NASA requires that an astronaut be a jet test pilot.

"Some of us have worked as test pilots on propeller planes, but it is impossible for a woman in this country to be a jet test pilot because there are no women pilots in the military services, and the test pilot schools are operated solely by the armed forces."

"Do you feel it is essential to have been a test pilot?"

"No. An astronaut must pilot a spacecraft — not test jet fighters."

NECESSARY

"What do you believe are the necessary qualifications of an astronaut?"

"Flawless judgement, fast reaction, and the ability to transmit that to proper control of the craft. Some of the women in the group have over 10,000 flying hours — three times the amount required of the male astronauts."

On the second day of the hearing, NASA had the floor.

Question: "Why is NASA opposed to giving qualified women astronauts training so at least we can begin to have an evaluation?"

NASA: "It might have been of interest in the area of medical research to take a group of women and determine what their physical stamina, what their qualifications are. We don't feel at this time this would be an essential asset for our space program."

Question: "Colonel Glenn, I understand that the requirement that an astronaut hold a degree in engineering or in the physical sciences can be waived, and that in fact this was done for both you and Commander Carpenter. Is that correct?"

ACTUAL HOURS

Colonel Glenn: "While I did not have the actual hours at college, I had more than the equivalency of an engineering degree."

Note from Jerrie Cobb to Jane Hart: "Our group, average flying hours, 5400. Male astronauts, 2500. How's that for jet-test equivalent?"

That afternoon Congressman Fulton wired President Kennedy: "Strongly urge immediate U.S. program to put first woman in space as national goal."

★ ★ ★

Hopefully, we waited to see what formal action the House space committee would take.

At this writing, we are waiting still. And hopeful still.

TV Debate? Barry: No! Rocky: Yes!

NEW YORK (UPI)— The governor of New York said yes, but the senator from Arizona declined the offer, on grounds that it might contribute to disunity in the Republican party.

★ ★ ★

And So Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater will not be swapping opinions in what now ranks as one of the nation's most popular political sideshows — the television debate.

At least not for a while.

The two leading contenders for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination were invited by the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) to spend an hour of air time discussing one of their favorite subjects — the role of the Republican party in next year's election.

The first response yesterday came from Goldwater's office, which said the senator "does not intend to engage in any TV programs or other activity which will have the effect of contributing to disunity in the Republican party." The telegram turning down the invitation was signed by Tony Smith, Goldwater's press secretary.

Later in the day it was learned that Rockefeller and Goldwater, known to be in disagreement on many party issues, can't even agree on how they might disagree.

★ ★ ★

Rockefeller, expressing regrets because Goldwater declined the offer to debate, said he felt such a television exchange would help rather than harm the Republicans.

"I should be glad to participate in such a discussion and am sorry that Sen. Goldwater has declined," Rockefeller said in his reply to CBS. "I feel public discussion is a good thing."

CHELTENHAM, England (UPI) — Mrs. Agatha Thompson, 65, admits she is a little old for the love letter which arrived at her home yesterday.

But she wasn't too old when a former boy friend mailed the letter 42 years ago in Banbury, less than 100 miles away.

"It must have slipped down somewhere," a baffled spokesman for the post office explained.

Lifesaving Know-How Is Invaluable Asset

The delights of Michigan's 3,000 miles of shoreline and over 11,000 lakes will be experienced this year by 12 million tourists in addition to the State's own residents.

★ ★ ★

But a grim note of warning should be sounded that tragedy may await those who flout safety rules or, having done so, are sacrificed to well-intentioned but ineffective rescue efforts.

★ ★ ★

Last year, 236 vacationers drowned in our state. But 19 lives were saved through the administering of rescue breathing to water-accident victims.

Authorities believe that mouth-to-mouth breathing is the most efficient method of resuscitation. It is simple to apply and there is no reason why every adolescent and adult should not be versed in the 3-step procedure.

★ ★ ★

First, the victim should be placed on his back and the head tilted back. The tongue should be drawn forward to clear the throat of obstructions, and the nostrils closed by pinching the nose. Then this two-part cycle should be repeated 15 times a minute:

- Take a deep breath, place mouth over the victim's and blow air into his lungs until chest rises.
- Remove mouth to let victim exhale, and press slightly on his stomach to help expel air.

Needless to say, at the outset a physician should be summoned and police contacted for aid.

There could be no finer contribution to the welfare of mankind than being prepared to act in a life-saving emergency.

Airport Improvements Needed to Keep Pace.

Plans for construction of a 5,000-ft. north-south runway at Pontiac Municipal Airport should have the approval of all area residents.

The proposed strip would be suitable for intermediate-sized jet planes and substantially upgrade the national status of the local facility, now the fourth active in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Cost of the project is estimated at $5 million, to be shared by federal, state and local governments.

Improvements for the present 5,300-ft. east-west runway are also under consideration. It would be lengthened by 900 feet, and an instrument landing system and approach lights installed.

★ ★ ★

Both phases of airport expansion are urgently needed if Pontiac is to keep pace with the air age and provide necessary facilities for commercial planes as well as to meet the needs of increasing utilization by private and corporate aircraft.

★ ★ ★

Certainly no airport can be considered modern with but one runway, a disadvantage under which ours labors, and The PRESS urges that essential development be given early and favorable action by area government units.

Silence on Sources Newsman's Privilege

We commend Sen. KENNETH B. KEATING, R-N.Y., for his enlightened stand in advocating legal recognition of the newsman's privilege of protecting his sources of information.

If freedom of the press, guaranteed by the First Amendment to the Constitution, is to have more than hollow substance, those cooperating with representatives of news media should not be exposed to harm or coercion as result of their disclosures.

★ ★ ★

Nor should possible contempt of court charges and jail sentences, arising from loyalty to informants, be faced by reporters in their efforts to serve the public interest — as has happened in Great Britain.

Admittedly, little has come of several headlined instances in the U.S. of official or judicial pressure on reporters to violate the confidence imposed in them by those in possession of significant information.

★ ★ ★

But since the free press amendment does not specifically spell out such journalistic immunity, with legality of it cloudy, the vagueness should be statutorily clarified without delay.

As the Senator so well says apropos his proposed legislation, "This isn't for the benefit of the news reporters or the TV and radio commentators, but for the benefit of the public and the Nation."

Views Contrast on Obeying Law

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In some memorable words a Negro and two segregationist governors got their views before Congress these past few days on just and unjust laws and the rights of whites and Negroes.

MARLOW

The Negro was the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and leader of demonstrations against racial discrimination.

From jail last April in Birmingham, after being arrested for leading a parade without a permit, he wrote a letter to eight white, troubled clergymen. Several House members had it printed Monday in the Congressional Record.

★ ★ ★

The governors — Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi and George C. Wallace of Alabama — both tried this past year to defy a federal court order to admit Negroes to their state universities. They yielded only when President Kennedy used troops.

These two men testified before the Senate Commerce Committee, which is considering that part of Kennedy's civil rights bill — the public accommodations part — which would forbid business places dealing with the public to discriminate against Negroes.

QUESTION SIDETRACKED

In the governors' testimony — attacking the Kennedy administration and suggesting Communists were behind the Negroes' protests against mistreatment — the simple question behind it all got sidetracked.

Since the Constitution guarantees all citizens equal treatment, and the Negro is a citizen, why isn't he and why shouldn't he be given the same treatment as whites?

★ ★ ★

Barnett said the President and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, are encouraging demonstrations inspired by Communists and the attorney general has been personally responsible for "putting mobs in the streets."

He implied there would be general defiance of the accommodations bill, if it became law; he said it would mean the end of constitutional government; and he predicted "racial violence of unimaginable scope."

He asked: "How far do you think the great white majority of this nation will stand to be pushed?" King in his letter said the reason Negroes are asserting themselves now is because they have been pushed too far too long.

Wallace took the same line as Barnett. He said the Kennedy brothers are sponsoring "a revolution of government against the people." Any branch of government, in his view, which wants equal treatment for Negroes appears wrong.

He said Kennedy's executive branch, whose actions he denounced, has ignored the Constitution while the Supreme Court, which has consistently upheld Negroes' rights, has "perverted the Constitution."

Wallace, like Barnett, predicted violent defiance of the Kennedy bill if it became law. He said the government would need so many troops "to police America" it would have to bring all those overseas home.

Answer To His Prayers?

David Lawrence Says:

Difficult Decision Due High Court

WASHINGTON — The doctrine of "equal rights" is about to give the Supreme Court of the United States one of the toughest cases it has ever had to decide.

LAWRENCE

It may be unpleasant to read about — though perhaps not as lurid as the British sex scandals — but the evolution of constitutional law is so important nowadays that the principles involved cannot be ignored in a free press.

The case in question was decided just a few weeks ago by a unanimous opinion of the seven judges of the Supreme Court of the State of Florida. It dealt with a state law which prescribes a moderate punishment when the crime of adultery has been committed by two white persons or by two Negro persons.

★ ★ ★

Another provision of the same law, however, provides a much more severe punishment when the crime involves acts of one Negro and one white person together. In other words, the "integration" is punished much more severely than when the races are completely separated.

On the surface, this would appear to be a plain case of discrimination against integration as such.

The Supreme Court of the State of Florida, however, took an entirely different view and sarcastically made reference to the probability that its decision would be overruled by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The case by the Florida Supreme Court was decided on May 1, 1963, and a rehearing was denied on May 30, 1963. So the only chance for reversal lies in the Supreme Court of the United States.

★ ★ ★

The Florida State Supreme Court in its opinion said:

"The appellants seek adjudication of their right to engage in integrated illicit cohabitation upon the same terms as are imposed upon the segregated lapse.

"But, as was admitted by counsel in argument, this appeal is a mere way station on the route to the United States Supreme Court where defendants hope that, in the light of supposed social and political advances, they may find legal endorsement of their ambitions.

"This court is obligated by the sound rule of 'star decisis' and the precedent of the well-written decision in Pace, supra. The Federal Constitution, as it was when construed by the United States Supreme Court in that case, is quite adequate, but if the new-found concept of 'social justice' has out-dated 'the law of the land' as therein announced and, by way of consequence, some new law is necessary, it must be enacted by legislative process or some other court must write it."

★ ★ ★

The decision which was relied on by the high court of Florida was rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States in 1883 and has never been reversed.

In that case — Pace v. Alabama — the Supreme Court upheld an Alabama law which prohibits interracial marriage or adultery, and declined to rule that there was not "equal protection of the law" when a more severe penalty was imposed in the case of misbehavior by a mixed couple than for the same offense when committed by persons of the same race.

All these problems may seem technical, but they will come up for consideration again and again, especially if the mythical dwelling known as "Mrs. Murphy's Boarding House" now should be subject to a Federal "civil rights" law passed by Congress.

In recent discussions of the proposed legislation dealing with "civil rights" in hotels and rooming houses, a senator who favors such laws remarked:

"The important thing is to see to it that the Negro is able to eat with the white and to sleep in the whites' motels and hotels without being discriminated against because of his race."

What Are Chinese Doing to Our Ol' Pal Khrushy?

NEW YORK — How about those crazy mixed-up Chinese Reds trying to start a Dump Khrushchev movement?

It's an attack on the good old U.S. of A., I say. Everybody knows Khrushy is our pal.

Didn't he put on that big show for us at the U.N. a couple of years ago? Shoe sales in this country have been jumping and thumping ever since. Didn't he and President Eisenhower have those nice chats at Camp David? The talks gave Ike a welcome respite from his bad-acting 8-iron.

CONSIDINE

Didn't the Soviet chairman pay a visit to the farm in Iowa of genial Bob Garst? It gave old Bob a chance to curse more American reporters than he had been able to, in a body, since he wanted to.

★ ★ ★

Didn't Mr. K bounce off his special train at Santa Barbara, on his way from Los Angeles to San Francisco, walk up to the nostril-flaring natives in their British-tailored sports jackets and gold-flaked toreador pants and exclaim, "They have kept me away from you typical American workers. Now I meet you. Mir-I-Druzhba!"? (Peace and friendship, already.)

Didn't he take time out to debate Dick Nixon in the kitchen — and give him a nice win before going into that other debate back home?

Didn't he explain to the National Press Club in Washington — or those who were able to survive its luncheon fare — that he really didn't mean he planned to "bury" us physically but only economically? (We wouldn't be dead, he said in his kindly way, just dead broke.)

★ ★ ★

Didn't he compliment Bill Hearst several times during their meetings (or challenges, come to think of it) by assuming that he owned all the newspapers of the United States and therefore was a monopolist?

Didn't he mistake Frank Conniff for Marshal Konev? Didn't he indeed look me over once in his Moscow office, when Hearst explained that I was substituting for Kingsbury Smith, and growl to Hearst, "He's bigger than Smith, but is he as good."

Now Red China, a power which would make the world safe for communism by destroying all who don't want it, has called for an end to Khrushchev—the man whose administration once was called in Peking, "the first among equals." Khrushy has no other place to turn except to the West — to us.

In Washington:

Proposes House Spending Audit

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A proposal by Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, R-Ohio, to let U.S. Comptroller General Joseph Campbell and the General Accounting Office which he heads audit the accounts of all House committees and Architect of the Capitol J. George Stewart is something new in Washington.

EDSON

No one has ever had the courage to suggest that before. But in view of all this year's agitation for congressional reform and reorganization, it has possibilities.

There has been a lot of crabbing at Congress this session for loose handling of the taxpayers' money. First it was for little things like spending half a million dollars of the Treasury's foreign funds on expense accounts for overseas junkets. Then it got into big money to finish the $70 million third House office building, complete with swimming pool.

A plan to build a two-deck underground garage for the congressmen at a cost of $8 million has been sidetracked, but it will be back.

★ ★ ★

It was all this tomfoolery which gave young Bolton his idea for having a closer check of congressional spending. The General Accounting Office is, of course, the watchdog of Congress.

Last year Campbell sent Congress over 800 audits after investigating charges of waste and inefficiency in agencies of the executive branch of government. This resulted in savings of over $160 million.

Incidentally, this is almost as much as it costs to run Congress — $140 million for the House and $28 million for the Senate in the new fiscal year that began July 1. This is an increase of $22 million over last year.

★ ★ ★

On request, GAO in the past has audited some of the routine housekeeping accounts of the Capitol — the restaurants, barbershops, custodial and police services. These reports have been sent to the Clerk of the House or the Secretary of the Senate. But they have never been made public. And congressional committee financial reports have been approved only by chairmen.

To get all this out in the open, Bolton went to the General Accounting Office for help. GAO's general counsel Robert F. Keller gave informal guidance on how to proceed in drafting the bill, without taking any position on its merits or demerits.

The bill has now been referred to House Government Operations Committee under Chairman William L. Dawson, D-Ill.

On request from this committee, says Campbell, GAO will review how the legislation would operate and its costs.

Preliminary estimates are that an audit of all House committees and Capitol architect's office accounts would require the full-time services of only one or two auditors. The cost would be $10,000 to $15,000 a year, plus the cost of printing public reports, which would be several thousand more.

★ ★ ★

Bolton's bill would grant to the comptroller general "the right and privilege to audit all public accounts of the House of Representatives, as well as all expenditures of the Capitol architect."

The Senate is excluded from this bill because one house of Congress never legislates on the other. But the assumption is that if House accounts are put under General Accounting Office audit, the Senate would follow suit.

"Enactment of this bill," Bolton believes, "would grant to the entire press corps facts which are now held confidential. An open accounting would help re-establish public trust and confidence in Congress."

Bolton also has under study a proposal to establish a congressional Committee on Ethics. It would be patterned after the American Bar Association Committee on Ethics which has done much to raise standards of the legal profession.

I visited the Oakland County Courthouse and was awed at its beauty and graciousness. But something disturbed me. I noticed a paper bag on the lawn and picked it up to deposit it in a container. But to my surprise I couldn't find one. I noticed several other bits of trash on the lovely grounds.

'Soviet Cordiality Purely Superficial'

The burst of cordiality between Washington and Moscow is encouraging enough to make even the most avid ban-the-bomber breathe a sight of radiation-free relief. President Kennedy's unwaveringly broad hints for a more amicable relationship between the United States and Soviet Russia have produced apparently successful results: Premier Khrushchev is responding to his advances with unprecedented good will. He hasn't threatened us with nuclear war for at least two weeks.

★ ★ ★

In fact, some say that Khrushchev is bending over backward to be nice to his Capitalist Enemy. The least we could do is to greet his anti-war declarations by offering to negotiate in friendly rapport!

★ ★ ★

Peaceful coexistence by the Reds' own definition, is nothing more than a vehicle to spur on the relentless march of communism across the earth. Not until our administration faces that fact will we begin to formulate a secure and sane cold war policy.

Man's Age Revealed by Mail Received

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is opening the daily mail.

Age and volume seem to have an adverse effect on the quality of the stuff the postman brings.

BOYLE

When young, you don't usually get much mail. So scarcity makes it equally interesting—whether it is a scented envelope from a pretty stenographer you met on a vacation visit to Lake Ho-Ho-Ho-in-the-Pines, or a rejection of your enlistment in the Peace Corps.

★ ★ ★

But as the years pile on, the mail piles up—and you find that the law of diminishing returns sets in. The more mail you get, the less worthwhile it is.

Instead of ripping each envelope apart with eager cries of excitement, you peer into them glumly, hoping against hope that this one will have better news than the one before did.

One of the things you find out about mail as you grow older is that after you leave college, very, very few people in this world send you money in a letter.

They will ask you to send them money in a letter, but they won't send it to you. Now and then you might catch the government people off guard and get them to send you a tax refund by mail—but that happens more and more seldom as you grow older, too.

AGE DETERMINATION

The nature of a man's mail seems to be determined largely by his age bracket.

A young businessman at the start of his career is flooded with invitations to borrow from loan agencies, subscribe to naughty art magazines, and join keen groups of guys and gals in a gay, mad vacation by camel and water ski across the Sahara.

★ ★ ★

As his stomach thickens and his hair thins, he gets more "family-type mail." This consists of invitations to buy encyclopedias that will save his children from growing up dullards like himself, retirement plans that will enable him to live in riotous orgies after 65, and notes from the bank saying that if he doesn't make another mortgage payment he'll come home some night from work and find his wife and kids sitting on the sofa in the sidewalk in the rain.

At 46 or 47 he gets a copy of his college alumni magazine showing that the average earnings of his classmates, a quarter century after graduation, are exactly $6,812.35 more than he was paid last year.

★ ★ ★

From 50 to 65, a man finds his mail bulging with invitations to invest in Abyssinian mining stocks, and appeals to join a "select group of your fellow-minded Americans" in a philanthropic crusade to wipe out snail fever in the Middle East. Or a dozen other equally worthy causes.

Along about then, too, you find other people's bills in your mail. They figure that you've got so numb from paying your own bills you'll pay theirs also — and never notice the difference.

After 65, the tide of mail slackens off abruptly. Once you are off a regular payroll, it's amazing how few people write to you.

About all you get is the chance to snap up a few bargains in cemetery lots, a postcard from your favorite grandson saying the sheriff has moved him to a cell with a better view—"Please send me a carton of cigarettes, grandpop" — and an offer from a mail order drug firm to sell you vitamin pills at half-price.

★ ★ ★

After 70, you can sic your dog on the postman every time he walks by—because his big leather pouch no longer bulges with any news for you. The ordeal of opening the mail is over at last.

Earthquake Registered in Atlantic Near Iceland

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP)—The seismological institution of Uppsala University registered a strong earthquake Wednesday night in the North Atlantic between Iceland and Greenland.

It had a magnitude only slightly weaker than an earthquake that caused some damage in north Iceland March 28.

Pontiac City Affairs

Grant Accepted to Aid Center

The City Commission Tuesday night accepted a federal grant of $169,000 to help finance construction of a community center on the old water works property. Total cost of the proposed community center has been estimated at $338,000. Federal funds will cover 50 per cent of the costs.

Federal funds were made available for the project through the Housing and Home Finance Agency and the Community Facilities Administration.

The community center will be developed on property at Walnut and Wessen.

* * *

The proposed recreation center will include a swimming pool, bathhouse, and activities building.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, the City Commission voted 4-2 to rezone property in the Dupont Heights Subdivision from residential-1 to commercial-2 for the construction of a paint and bump shop.

Commissioners William H. Taylor Jr., and Winford E. Bottom voted against the rezoning.

The commission passed the first reading of an ordinance to rezone property from manufacturing-1 to manufacturing-3 on the east side of Oakland north of 986 Oakland.

* * *

A public hearing was set for Aug. 20 on the rezoning, which would permit Acme Auto Parts, of 181 E. Pike, to move to the Oakland address. The firm's present site on E. Pike is in the path of urban renewal.

Other action saw the City Commission refer to the City Attorney a claim of damages because of severe flooding.

A communication from attorneys Levine & Sweig, of Detroit, stated that sewer blockage caused flooding in a WKC Warehouse at 20 W. Alley.

REFERRED REQUEST

Commissioners also referred a request from Hodges Supply, 500 Auburn, for a change in zoning from residential-1 non-conforming to commercial-1 to the City Plan Commission.

Three items were deferred one week pending further information.

The first concerned an agreement with Pontiac Transit Corporation for bus service in the city.

* * *

A second deferred item concerned a preliminary contract with Charles Langs for development of urban renewal lands.

The third item concerned a car rental pact between the city and Evans Car Rental Company, Inc.

Dog Is Back on Duty With Artificial Teeth

LACONBURY, England (UPI) — The U.S. Air Force base here put its 5-year-old guard dog, Charlie, back on duty today with a set of false teeth.

Charlie lost his real teeth by chewing on concrete, wire fences and wooden posts.

Lt. Gov. Lesinski to Air Voice of America Series

LANSING (AP) — Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski says he has agreed to do a series of Polish-language broadcasts for the Voice of America at the request of the United States Information Agency.

The request was the result of his recent visit to Poland as President Kennedy's personal representative to the Poznan International Trade Fair.

Adult fireflies live only a few days or at most a few weeks, their sole function being to propagate. The adults of most species may eat no food at all.

Free Speech Didn't Work

CANNINGHAM, England (UPI) — Last Sunday Anglican Vicar Arthur Moss told his parishioners to go right ahead and interrupt his sermon if they had any objections to make.

Responding spiritedly to the invitation, the congregation filled the church with protest.

Today, after giving the matter thoughtful consideration, the Rev. Mr. Moss said he would insist on at least seven minutes of uninterrupted sermon next Sunday.

Dispute Claims on New Jobs

Broomfield Opposes Redevelopment Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oakland County's Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield was one of 10 GOP House members from Michigan who yesterday disputed claims that 36,894 new jobs would be created in the state if Congress approves another $455 million for the two-year-old area redevelopment program.

Others who joined in the statement were Reps. James Harvey, Robert P. Griffin, Edward Hutchinson, August E. Johansen, Elford A. Cederberg, Charles E. Chamberlain, Gerald R. Ford, George Meader, and Victor A. Knox. Rep. John B. Bennett, R-Mich., who voted for the increase in funds, did not sign the statement.

The Kennedy administration and particularly the Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA), the 10 members said in a joint statement, show a real need for a refresher course in elementary mathematics.

"We don't mean anything as complex as geometry or trigonometry," they said. "For obvious reasons, and mainly political ones, the ARA is flunking plain old addition."

* * *

The ARA, they said, has thrown out false, rosy figures on the new jobs to be created in Michigan, "figures which are not only ridiculous, but offer unsupported hope and perpetrate a cruel hoax on our unemployed."

The House refused on June 12, by a 209-204 vote, to vote the additional $455-million authorization. The Senate subsequently voted the funds, putting the question back up to the House.

The Michigan GOP statement quoted Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges as saying that 35,000 new jobs had been created under the ARA program in the last two years on a nation-wide basis.

It does not make sense, the statement said, that Michigan would create 36,894 new jobs from its share of the proposed $455-million increase.

"This estimate of 36,894 jobs becomes confusing when compared to a recent statement by Mayor Cavanagh of Detroit," the statement said. "Mayor Cavanagh said that five ARA loans, totaling $13 million, will provide jobs for 600 people. That averages out to $21,666 per job."

"Mayor Cavanagh also mentioned that pending projects of an additional $20 million would create 2,000 new jobs. That averages out to $10,000 per job.

"Now, based on these figures of the mayors, it is interesting to note that it would take anywhere from $360 million to $1 billion to create the 36,894 new jobs for Michigan. That certainly doesn't leave much of the requested $455 million for the rest of the nation, does it?"

Nixon Avoids Mindszenty in Budapest Visit

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon visited the American legation and toured Budapest's open-air markets yesterday.

U.S. officials at the legation said Nixon did not visit Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty, who lives in political asylum in the embassy. The United States has tried to avoid aggravating relations with Hungary over the cardinal's presence.

"A meeting between Cardinal Mindszenty and Nixon is out of the question," charge d'affaires Turner Shelton said.

Hundreds of Hungarians followed the former vice president on a walk through city streets, many of them stepping up to shake his hand.

22-Year Marriage Brings 19 Children

READING, Pa. (AP)—Elizabeth Millisock, 43, gave birth to a 7 pound, 13 ounce boy Wednesday. It was her 19th child in 22 years of marriage to John Millisock, a construction worker.

"We never planned a large family," said Mrs. Millisock. "We just accepted it as we went along. I know one thing, though. If there were less children there would be less fun around the house."

Three of the Millisocks' children died in infancy. All but two sons live at the family home in Elverson, Pa.

U.S. Labor Columnist Arrives in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Labor columnist Victor Riesel, currently touring Latin America, arrived here late yesterday to begin a five-day visit. He leaves for Montevideo Monday.

Riesel said he is making a study of Communist infiltration of labor unions in Latin America.

KICK IS GONE—Rising costs and dwindling audiences have brought the curtain down on the annual Haresfoot Club all-male production at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. Last season's show put the club $5,000 in the red and spelled finis for the production that started back in 1898.

Thief Decides Crime Pays Off —Or Does It?

EXETER, England (AP) — John Grivin, 27, came out of court yesterday asking: "Who says crime doesn't pay?"

"The magistrates must be mugs," he added.

He and Royston Hancock, 22, had just been fined 50 pounds ($140) each for receiving money stolen by Grivin's 16-year-old girl friend. The loot totaled 502 pounds ($1,405).

Hancock said he would pay back his share of the stolen money. But Grivin said:

"I could hardly stop laughing when I heard the sentence. I was expecting to be ordered to pay all the money back. This way I'm quids (pounds) in.

* * *

Authorities said Grivin may be laughing too soon. The girl, who was put on probation, stole the money from a store. And the owner can sue for its return.

Venezuela Commies Threaten U.S. Citizens

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's pro-Communist terrorists, after months of bombing and burning Venezuelan government and U.S. business property, are threatening U.S. citizens personally.

★ ★ ★

"They telephone me at odd hours, saying they are going to kill me and kidnap my wife and daughter," reports the Venezuela manager for a North American corporation. "I went to the police and they promised they'd do what they could.

"I'm not scared for myself, but for my family. I couldn't stand it if they took my little girl. I sent her to the states — my wife wouldn't leave me — and I've hired police guards to watch my office and my house around the clock. I'm not leaving the country."

A North American insurance executive was given 48 hours to leave Venezuela or face assassination. He armed himself and began to answer the terrorist callers contemptuously.

★ ★ ★

"Once a woman called up, said I was a dirty Yankee millionaire, and told me I would be killed," he relates. "I challenged her to date me."

So far, such threats have been restricted to a few executives and diplomats. Thousands of other U.S. citizens live in Venezuela without incident.

TOURIST INJURED

An American tourist was injured last year when a terrorist bomb exploded in the bathroom of the plush Tamanaco Hotel, but it was apparently unintentional.

The telephone threats apparently come from the pro-Communist FALN, initials of the Armed Forces of National Liberation.

Congressman Gustavo Machado, Communist secretary general, openly applauds the FALN, admits it has Communist members, at least, and calls it the "Brazo Armado" (Armed Arm) of the masses.

★ ★ ★

When the FALN burned out the U.S. Army mission in June and forced three U.S. officers and four sergeants to undress, Machado declared it "represents a most genuine expression against Yankee monopoly imperialist domination over the politics and economy of Venezuela."

FALN invaded the home of an American for the first time last month. Gunmen broke into the house of a U.S. diplomat while he was absent and left his wife and maid tied up but unhurt.

Two weeks later, an FALN gunman and a woman companion tried but failed to force their way into the home of another American diplomat.

★ ★ ★

Venezuelan police have not won a reputation for catching FALN activists, although on occasion they have displayed courage under fire. Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez admits his police need improvement. But, he adds that even the Paris police couldn't stop the secret army.

U. S. Ambassador C. Allan Stewart recently commented: "The major thing to remember is don't panic — that's what the extremists wants."

26 County Motorists Taken Off Highway

Twenty-six Oakland County motorists recently had their drivers' licenses suspended or revoked by the Michigan Secretary of State.

★ ★ ★

Earl C. Cornett, 49 Poplar; J. B. Burrow, 4770 Sheldon, Rochester; Donald C. Miller, 4327 Mankato, Royal Oak; Jerry W. Perkins, 23100 Seneca, Oak Park; Roy P. Schefke, 29615 Dequindre, Troy.

★ ★ ★

Ordered off the road for driving while his license was revoked was Elwin V. Bromley, Jr., 334 Breckenridge, Ferndale. Norman R. Wimbrow, 445 Helen, Highland Township, was cited for driving while his license was suspended.

★ ★ ★

Iraqi Planes Attack Turkish Border Post

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)— Three Iraqi jets and a bomber attacked a Turkish border outpost near Hakkari last night with rockets and machine guns, press reports said.

The reports said four cattle were the only casualties, but two buildings were demolished and an army tent set on fire.

Turkish officials said the jets presumably mistook the outpost for a hideout of rebellious Kurds.

DDT Traces Present in Most U. S. Meals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government pesticides scientist has told Congress that DDT "has been found in every meal analyzed in this country" but that the amount is small, and for the most part harmless.

Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, Public Health Service (PHS) toxicologist, told a Senate subcommittee yesterday that most Americans carry in their body fats some DDT, but that the amount is at a tolerable level.

He added that the annual U.S. death rate due to pesticides is about one per one-million persons.

Numbers May Add to County Efficiency

Need another number to live by?

In case social security numbers, all-number telephone dialing, postal ZIP codes and other such indispensable conglomerations of digits somehow leave a gap somewhere, Oakland County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy's office is about to fill it.

★ ★ ★

Murphy has in the works a brand new kind of number to take its place among all the other supposedly helpful numerical guides through modern life's baffling bigness.

Anyone who owns some Oakland County property can qualify for one of these new numbers.

Every parcel of land will be assigned an 11-digit code number if Murphy's new system is adopted. Like 63800263305.

It would replace those long, involved "metes and bounds" property descriptions in use since real estate records began.

The old type description could give a team of Philadelphia lawyers a team of headaches.

★ ★ ★

Presumably the new code number makes pinpointing a piece of property, its history and its dimensions as simple and quick as making a fast draw with a file card and corraling a convenient map in the wink of a number-filled eye.

As in all triumphs of numbers, the banner is efficiency.

"We could keep records much more efficiently with fewer people," Murphy says, a prospect that leads some of his employes to view the matter with something less than enthusiasm.

"It could save the county lots of money," says Marvin Bandlow, head of Murphy's microfilming department.

Bandlow has been working out the system for four years with the help of a couple of automatic data processing machine firms who would like to see the system automated.

But it can work without automation, Bandlow points out.

★ ★ ★

Property records would be on file cards arranged by code number. The citizen owning, buying, selling or just curious about a piece of land no longer need suffer through a search for information in the bulky property books.

He merely speaks to a clerk and —zip — out comes the file card with attached microfilmed records and speedy reference to the right map book. Since property records are currently microfilmed, they would adapt instantly.

Murphy would even like to see the code number replace the old property descriptions on recorded deeds, though new legislation would first be needed for that.

Only drawback would be that not even a Philadelphia lawyer could figure out exactly where a parcel of land was when Murphy's office was closed and the map books were behind locked doors.

Murphy also suggests the county treasurer's office use the new code on tax bills for more efficient mailing and collection.

Neatest trick in developing the code was applying it to unsubdivided land.

★ ★ ★

Since subdivided land is already described by lot number, adapting it ot the new code was mere child's play. In the number 63800263305, for instance, 638 tells the city or township, 0026 indicates the subdivision, and 3305 reveals the lot number.

Chicago and some other areas already have a similar code for subdivided land.

But no one had ever before found a way to deal with other property — numberwise, that is.

This was achieved by chopping up land, for numbering purposes, into more quarters.

For instance, the digits 638 still refer to city or township, 0026 discloses the section (one square mile) and the first 3 in 3305 tells the quarter-section (160 acres), none of which is new.

But each quarter-section was then split into four more parts, or quarter-quarter-sections of 40 acres each, indicated by the second 3 in 3305.

Property parcels inside a quarter-quarter-section are then assigned a number that shows up as the last two digits — 05.

When a parcel is split in two, one portion gets the next assigned number.

All of which adds up to another new numbers puzzle.

63800263305

Bold Action Recommended to Promote Cali Development

BY DICK HANSON

A bold approach to promoting the economic development of Cali, Columbia, is being recommended by members of an Oakland County team recently returned from the burgeoning South American city of 800,000.

In a report to U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, and the U.S. State Department, team members agreed that the United States should "move with boldness" in unleashing technical aid from Oakland County for the benefit of Cali's growing population.

The concept of a local-government-to-local-government approach to foreign aid originated with Broomfield, who selected Oakland County as Cali's counterpart.

★ ★ ★

The report was prepared jointly by the team's leader, Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, and members: Oakland University Chancellor D. B. Varner; George Catlin, head of industrial development for Detroit Edison Co.; and County Planning Director George Skrubb.

They proposed that action be taken on several fronts simultaneously "and with a minimum of delay."

Under auspices of Oakland County government, there would be established a Cauca Valley (where Cali is situated) Center with a staff in Oakland County and a counterpart staff in Cali, according to the plan.

★ ★ ★

The staffs would have members both from here and from Cali in both instances, the team agreed.

THE POSSIBILITIES

Under this arrangement, they said, it would be possible:

★ ★ ★

● "To provide technical assistance for study of the municipal government of Cali and other municipalities in the area.

● "To promote regional planning and cooperation.

● "To create a center in Oakland County for promotion of industrial development of the Cauca Valley.

● "To establish a student and staff exchange between Oakland University and the Universidad del Valle, near Cali.

● To organize and launch a concentrated attack on problems of primary and secondary education in the Cauca Valley.

● "To establish joint research and study groups involving personnel from Oakland University and the Universidad del Valle to make systematic studies of the social and economic problems of the area which could serve as benchmarks for action, and

● "To establish such other programs that appear mutually promising."

CERTAIN HAZARDS

The plan carries with it certain hazards, the report noted. "First of all, it proposes what may well be a unique area-to-area program on a comprehensive basis.

"There is always the question about its workability, and to this extent some risk is involved.

"Secondly, this would tend to be a showcase-type operation, and it would be unfortunate if it should fail.

★ ★ ★

"Finally, this would obviously be a costly program, since resources to make it work would have to be provided from the Agency for Internal Development, the Colombian government, or some similar source."

In the plan's favor, according to the report, is that it would serve immediately to bolster confidence of a large segment of the Colombian population in President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress "because here they could see tangible, direct results.

"It would do much to alleviate the chronic fears and complaints that the only real gains from the Alliance for Progress go to the Bogota (Colombia's capital) area."

★ ★ ★

Two alternate proposals were made by the team members. One, let Cali's problems be handled at the national level along with the rest of Colombia. Two, let Oakland County and Cali embark on a single, carefully chosen project.

PLAN ADVANTAGE

The latter plan, according to the report, has an advantage in that Oakland County would not be immediately committed to seeking an all-encompassing solution to Cali's current economic woes.

Such a venture might involve the assignment of a single tax administrator from here to work out a sound and equitable tax system for the Cali area.

As it is now, tax collections are almost nonexistent at the local level of government.

This laxity results in an inadequate educational system at the primary and secondary levels that perpetuates a sharp split between the few extremely wealthy and the overwhelming majority of poverty-stricken people, the report notes.

It also means an overwhelming need to improve health and sanitation, police protection, communication systems, and water and sewage facilities, according to the report.

The Cali area's assets noted by the team include:

● The continued harnessing of the tremendous waterfall that tumbles down the Andes mountainsides into the valley, making it one of the richest agricultural areas in the world.

● An earnest desire of the people for progress, as well as their sometimes frenzied drive to do something about their problems.

● An abundant supply of willing labor in an area of staggering productive potential.

● A fast-rising upswing in industrial output based on mineral resources and newly harnessed waterpower.

● A sound area for desperately needed capital investment.

Authorities Speak

Can Divorce Be Conquered?

Editor's Note: This is the final article in a series concerning divorce in Oakland County.

By JIM DYGERT

The soaring number of divorces is not a problem that lends itself to an easy cure. It goes deeper than making divorces hard to get.

Acknowledgement of complex psychological factors is on reason. But even more compelling is the emphasis on the harm done to children and society.

★ ★ ★

The family misery that leads to divorce often harms children more than divorce itself. The proper goal, as seen today, is to make more marriages successful.

Most of the recommended remedies seek to serve that end. Included is marriage counseling. Then there's the plan of marriage as early as elementary school.

These programs are intended to promote marital happiness and reduce divorce in general. But the chief concern of most proposals—is for children.

JUDGES SAY . . .

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer says divorce should not be allowed for parents of more than one child under 18.

One of County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore's proposals is for a "new factor in the law to enable the judge to consider whether a divorce would benefit children."

"I'm in favor of divorce when the children benefit," says Judge Moore, explaining that divorce may not be as bad for a child as prolonging a home atmosphere of quarreling, brutality and hate.

★ ★ ★

The emphasis on what's best for children figures strongly in a diagnosis of divorce.

Judge Beer recommends:

● No divorce be permitted during a marriage's first three years.

● No one be allowed more than one divorce per lifetime.

● Remarriage within two years be prohibited.

● Adultery be the only legal ground.

● Men not have to pay attorney fees for wives who file for divorce because this encourages them to file as a misguided move to force reconciliation.

However, making divorce harder to get, while it may induce a few divorce-bound spouses to look more closely at other solution first, is not likely to deter those who've decided they want one or to be of much value where divorce is a symptom of deeper problems.

NOT REAL CAUSES

"The statutory grounds are too often not the real causes," Judge Moore says, and other judges agree.

★ ★ ★

The causes go deeper.

Judge Moore lists some of the real problems as infidelity; sexual ignorance; incompetence and incompatibility; irresponsibility; false and selfish concepts of marital rights; lack of emotional stability; lack of forgiveness, understanding and putting up with irritating behavior; and lack of family cooperation and cohesiveness.

Saving shaky marriages—and preventing them from deteriorating in the first place—requires getting to the root of those causes.

Psychological and emotional troubles originating in childhood are often to blame, psychiatrists say. Individual behavior and attitudes toward marriage may be warped.

Ability to cope with marital problems or communicate with one's spouse may have been impaired.

MATURITY COUNTS

Younger marriages are blamed by many, but, Judge Moore says, "it's more a matter of maturity than age."

"The real tragedy," says one national expert, "is that we permit physical attraction and desire for sexual experience to masquerade under the sacred name of love."

Others point to pressures by society and some parents for early steady dating.

★ ★ ★

"It's marriage that's too easy," say Judge Moore and County Friend of the Court W. Cadman Prout.

"The only prerequisite is a blood test," the judge says. "The immature, the mentally disturbed, the immoral and the socially inadequate have full legal right to marry"

The remedies, like the diagnosis, are double-barreled—aimed both at preventing unnecessary divorces and at curing underlying ills.

Marriage counseling when divorce suits are filed, or even sooner, is widely recommended to help husbands and wives work out their problems short of divorce.

Another proposal urges a type of family relations court that would "seek out problems in the home" and investigate at the slightest hint of trouble, such as might come to light in juvenile court.

URGE LAWYERS

Lawyers are urged to recommend more often that counseling be considered although it's a big order to ask anyone to turn away new business.

Judge Moore and others would prefer not to wait until trouble begins. Both compulsory and voluntary counseling for bride and groom have been proposed, but Judge Moore would start even sooner.

"I would like to see practical courses on marriage in junior high school," he says.

★ ★ ★

The aim would be to inform youngsters on what marriage involved before they are old enough to rush into it and provide realistic guidelines for selecting a compatible mate.

Judge Moore also recommends making marriage licenses, rather than divorces, harder to get.

He suggests a requirement of a high school diploma or a maturity test.

"And don't issue licenses to divorced people who don't pay their support alimony," he adds.

Circus Acrobat Drops to Death

Woman Breaks Neck After Falling 25 Feet

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—A 33-year-old circus acrobat fell 25 feet to her death during a performance of the Rudy Brothers Shrine Circus here yesterday before a crowd of some 3,500 persons.

★ ★ ★

The audience which saw Mrs. Arthur Duchek fall was not aware the fall was fatal. She toppled from a high wire during an act billed as the "Cosmos."

The show went on while Mrs. Duchek was carried behind the scenes. A doctor said she suffered a broken neck.

She was one of three persons billed in the act.

Mrs. Duchek was balancing on a ladder on a motorcycle that was traveling up an inclined wire toward the rafters of the armory at the Oregon state fairgrounds here. Her husband, Arthur, was driving the motorcycle.

Suddenly, Mrs. Duchek struck a guy wire left there from an earlier act. She tumbled 25 feet to a concrete floor and died minutes later en route to a hospital.

The show went on, but people began drifting out of the audience. About half remained to see the end of the circus.

Another performer, Ronnie Weinrich, was on the ladder with her. He and Duchek managed to hang on and were unhurt.

The Ducheks were part of the Cosmos act out of Vienna, Austria. They had been in the United States about one year. A circus spokesman said they had never used a net in the balancing act.

LONDON (UPI) — Selwyn Lloyd, former Foreign Secretary and Chancellor of the Exchequer in Prime Minister MacMillan's government, underwent a minor hernia operation in London today.

Now Better Students in Summer Classes

By GARY THORNE

Summer school is no longer the refuge of the remedial or make-up student, but is attracting an increased number of better students who want to take classes to enrich their education.

The new type of student comes as no surprise to Donald McMillen, principal of Pontiac's summer school.

McMillen, veteran of eight years of warm-weather teaching, has watched the change take place during the past three years.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac currently has 675 students enrolled in summer classes at Pontiac Central High School. This is an increase of 150 over last year.

It is the second highest enrollment since the program started in the middle 1930's.

A pioneer in the summer school business, Pontiac at one time operated the only such school in the county. Now, however, most class A districts offer summer classes.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, Pontiac is still in the forefront in new developments. McMillen said proof of this comes from the 175 nonresident students now attending classes here.

MORE CLASSES

McMillen expects the make-up or remedial student to always be a part of summer school, but pointed out that 34 classes are offered this year that were not three years ago.

He said the number of electives has been expanded to meet demands and needs of students. This, he said, is the philosophy of summer school.

★ ★ ★

"We have to make summer school attractive enough that students are willing to come," he emphasized.

★ ★ ★

And what of the student? What is summer school like for teenagers who might rather be swimming, playing baseball or just relaxing?

"It's tough," McMillen admitted.

★ ★ ★

He said attendance was watched closely. The principal pointed out that this is necessary because classes move at a fast pace to cover in 60 hours of instruction what is normally covered in 90-95 hours.

INCREASED IDEAS

McMillen predicted the ideas that prompted adult continuing education courses would increase in summer school programs.

Adult courses are conducted for their educational benefits with no grades or credits being offered.

McMillen can see a trend in the large number of electives being taken by students.

★ ★ ★

For example, he pointed out that many students take typing just to learn to type.

★ ★ ★

McMillen said this was the so-called enrichment process that has sparked the growth of summer school.

The increased classes have forced extension of the summer school day. Instead, of the traditional morning sessions only, several afternoon classes have had to be scheduled.

The summer school administrator anticipates that warm weather learning will continue to grow. In fact, he points to several areas that already need expansion.

★ ★ ★

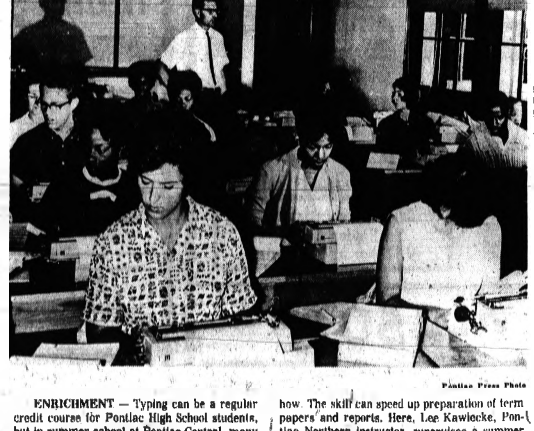
He listed music and foreign language instruction as two such areas.

★ ★ ★

In addition, he said there was a big demand for vocational training.

★ ★ ★

He predicted an enrollment of 1,000 pupils in summer sessions in about two years.



Pontiac Press Photo

ENRICHMENT — Typing can be a regular credit course for Pontiac High School students, but in summer school at Pontiac Central, many students learn to type just for the added knowhow. The skill can speed up preparation of term papers and reports. Here, Lee Kawiecke, Pontiac Northern instructor, supervises a summer school course in typing.

Area Family Sets Sail to Island Home

FARMINGTON—The 4-member Lowell Keith family of Farmington sets sail by Chinese junk from Saugatuck today on a journey to a permanent home in the Virgin Islands.

It's the first step toward making reality of a long-standing dream of a new way of life.

An earlier vacation trip to St. Croix in the Virgin Islands answered a question of where to start the new life, and a "for sale" sign on the 38-foot junk before a Saugatuck residence indicated a means of travel.

Keith, a one-time army swimming instructor, has been engaged as a salesman for a furniture manufacturer. He and his wife, Pat, are the parents of a son, David, 8, and a one-year-old daughter, Jo Ann.

The family lived at 24197 Broadview in Farmington.

The Hong-Kong-manufactured junk, with auxiliary engine, is one of a type imported to the Great Lakes by a Muskegon firm.

TO RUN FERRY

As Keith outlines his plan, the family will sail to Christianstad on St. Croix where he plans to buy a home and ferry vacationers to and from Buck Island National Park some five miles distant.

Buck Island, says Keith, has no overnight accommodations and only one boat now makes a run to the island whose surrounding waters are popular with skin divers.

Keith says the junk can carry 10 persons and he plans to provide ferry service and picnic lunch for his patrons.

For the outbound voyage from here, the junk has had extra fuel tanks mounted and its water storage capacity increased. Its proposed route includes the Illinois waterway from Chicago to the Mississippi River to Key Orleans and thence to Key West, Nassau, San Juan and St. Croix.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Deputy Foreign Minister Yakov Malik met separately yesterday with ambassadors from Ethiopia and Algeria, according to the official news agency Tass.

The longest railroad bridge in the world is the 12-mile trestle over the Great Salt Lake in Utah.

Were Heather's Last Remarks of Any Importance?

(STORY SO FAR — Marina Gregg, beautiful screen and stage star, and her husband, Jason Rudd, brilliant director, buy Gossington Hall, and at a benefit given there, tactless Mrs. Heather Badcock babbles on to her hostess about meeting her years ago, getting out of a sick bed to get her autograph. Marina stares past her, a frozen look on her face. She asks Jason to give Mrs. Badcock a drink. The drink is spilled and graciously, Marina offers her untouched glass. Mrs. Badcock dies from a lethal dose and Marina believes she was the intended victim. Jason's secretary, Ella Zelinsky, and the butler attempt blackmail and die. Gladys Dixon, waitress at the benefit, thought Mrs. Badcock spilled her drink purposely. She vanishes, leaving no address. Threatening notes continue to come to Marina. Miss Marple discusses the murders and attempted blackmail with Inspector Craddock.)

Installment XL

Miss Marple nodded her head appreciatively.

"Five hundred pounds," she said. "Yes, that's quite an interesting sum, isn't it. I should imagine it would be the first installment of a good many other sums, wouldn't you?"

"It looks that way," said Craddock.

"It was probably all the ready money the person he was threatening could raise. He may have pretended to be satisfied with that or he may have accepted it as a down payment and the victim may have promised to raise further sums in the immediate future.

"It seems to knock out the idea that Marina Gregg's killer could have been someone in humble circumstances who had a private vendetta against her. It would also knock out, I should say, the idea of someone who'd obtained work as a studio helper or attendant or a servant or a gardener. Unless—" Miss Marple pointed out — "such a person may have been the active agent whereas the employing agent may not have been in the neighborhood. Hence the visit to London."

"Exactly. We have in London Ardwyck Fenn, Lola Brewster and Margot Bence. All three were present at the party. All three of them could have met Giuseppe at an arranged meeting place somewhere in London between the hours of 11 and a quarter to two. Ardwyck Fenn was out of his office during those hours, Lola Brewster had left her suite to go shopping, Margot Bence was not in her studio. By the way—"

"Yes?" said Miss Marple, "have you something to tell me?"

* * *

"You asked me," said Dermot, "about the children. The children that Marina Gregg adopted before she knew she could have a child of her own."

"Yes I did."

Craddock told her what he had learned.

"Margot Bence," said Miss Marple softly. "I had a feeling, you know, that it had something to do with children."

"I can't believe that after all these years—"

"I know, I know. One never can. But do you really, my dear Dermot, know very much about children? Think back to your own childhood. Can't you remember some incident, some happening that caused you grief or a passion quite incommensurate with its real importance? Some sorrow or passionate resentment that has really never been equaled since?

"There was such a clever book, you know, written by that brilliant writer, Mr Richard Hughes. I forget the name of it but it was about some children who had been through a hurricane. Oh yes, the hurricane in Jamaica. What made a vivid impression on them was their cat rushing madly through the house. It was the only thing they remembered. But the whole of the horror and excitement and fear that they had experienced was bound up in that one incident."

"It's odd you should say that," said Craddock thoughtfully.

* * *

"Why, has it made you remember something?"

"I was thinking of when my mother died. I was five I think. Five or six. I was having dinner in the nursery, jam roll pudding. I was very fond of jam roll pudding. One of the servants came in and said to my governess-nurse, 'Wasn't it awful? There'd been an accident and Mrs. Craddock had been killed.' Whenever I think of my mother's death, d'you know what I see?"

"What?"

"A plate with jam roll pudding on it, and I'm staring at it. Staring at it and I can see as well now as then, how the jam oozed out of it one side. I didn't cry or say anything. I remember just sitting there as though I'd been frozen stiff, staring at the pudding.

"And d'you know, even now if I see in a shop or a restaurant or in anyone's house a portion of jam roll pudding, a whole wave of horror and misery and despair comes over me. Sometimes for a moment I don't remember why. Does that seem very crazy to you?"

* * *

"No," said Miss Marple, "it seems entirely natural. It's very interesting, that. It's given me a sort of idea."

MISS KNIGHT WORRIES

The door opened and Miss Knight appeared bearing the tea tray.

"Dear, dear," she exclaimed, "and so we've got a visitor, have we? How very nice. How do you do, Inspector Craddock. I'll just fetch another cup."

"Don't bother," Dermot called after her, "I've had a drink instead."

"I wonder, could you just come here a minute, Mr. Craddock?"

Dermot joined her in the hall. She went to the dining room and shut the door.

"You will be careful, won't you," she said.

"Careful? In what way, Miss Knight?"

"Our old dear in there. You know, she's so interested in everything but it's not very good for her to get excited over murders and nasty things like that. We don't want her to brood and have bad dreams. She's very old and frail, and she really must lead a very sheltered life. She always has, you know. I'm sure all this talk of murders and gangsters and things like that is very, very hard for her."

Dermot looked at her with faint amusement.

"I don't think," he said gently, "that anything that you or I could say about murders is likely to unduly excite or shock Miss Marple. I can assure you, my dear Miss Knight, that Miss Marple can contemplate murder and sudden death and indeed crime of all kinds with the utmost equanimity."

He went back to the drawing room, and Miss Knight, clucking a little in an indignant manner, followed him. She talked briskly during tea with an emphasis on political news in the paper and the most cheerful subjects she could think of. When she finally removed the tea tray and shut the door behind her, Miss Marple drew a deep breath.

"At last we've got some peace," she said. "I hope I shan't murder that woman some day. Now listen, Dermot, there are some things I want to know.

"Yes? What are they?"

"I want you to go over very carefully exactly what happened on the day of the fete. Mrs. Bantry has arrived, and the Vicar shortly after her. Then come Mr. and Mrs. Badcock and on the stairs at that time were the Mayor and his wife, this man Ardwyck Fenn, Lola Brewster, a reporter from the Herald & Argus of Much Benham, and this photographer girl, Margot Bence. Margot Bence, you said, had her camera at an angle on the stairs, and was taking photographs of the proceedings. Have you seen any of those photographs?"

"Actually, I brought one to show you."

* * *

He took from his pocket an unmounted print. Miss Marple looked at it steadfastly. It showed Marina Gregg with Jason Rudd a little behind her to one side, Arthur Badcock, his hand to his face, looking slightly embarrassed, was standing back, whilst his wife had Marina Gregg's hand in hers and was looking up at her and talking. Marina was not looking at Mrs. Badcock. She was staring over her head looking, it seemed, full into the camera, or possibly just slightly to the left of it.

"Very interesting," said Miss Marple. "I've had descriptions, you know, of what this look was on her face. A frozen look. Yes, that describes it quite well. A look of doom. I'm not really so sure about that. It's more a kind of paralysis of feeling rather than apprehension of doom. Don't you think so? I wouldn't say it was actually fear, would you, although fear, of course, might take you that way. It might paralyze you.

"But I don't think it was fear. I think rather that it was shock. Dermot, my dear boy, I want you to tell me if you've got notes of it, what exactly Heather Badcock said to Marina Gregg on that occasion. I know roughly the gist of it, of course, but how near can you get to the actual words. I suppose you had accounts of it from different people."

SAME GIST

Dermot nodded.

"Yes, Let me see. Your friend, Mrs. Bantry, then Jason Rudd and I think Arthur Badcock. As you say, they varied a little in wording, but the gist of them was the same."

"I know. It's the variations that I want. I think it might help us."

"I don't see how," said Dermot, "though perhaps you do. Your friend, Mrs. Bantry was probably the most definite on the point. As far as I remember, wait, I carry a good many of my jottings around with me."

He took out a small notebook from his pocket, looked through it to refresh his memory.

* * *

"I haven't got the exact words here," he said, "but I made a rough note. Apparently Mrs. Badcock was very cheerful, rather arch, and delighted with herself. She said something like 'I can't tell you how wonderful this is for me. You won't remember but years ago in North Africa —(I can't remember the name of the place now—) I got up from bed when I had a temperature and came along to see you and you gave me an autograph and it's one of the proudest days of my life which I have never forgotten'."

* * *

"I see," said Miss Marple, "she mentioned the place but not the date, did she?"

"Yes."

"And what did Rudd say?"

"Jason Rudd? He said that Mrs. Badcock told his wife that she'd got up from bed when she had the flu and had come to meet Marina and that she still had her autograph. It was a shorter account than your friend's but the gist of it was the same."

"Did he mention the time and place?"

"No. I don't think he did. I think he said roughly that it was some ten or twelve years ago."

"I see. And what about Mr. Badcock?"

* * *

"Mr. Badcock said that Heather was extremely excited and anxious to meet Miss Gregg, that she was a great fan of Marina Gregg's, and that she'd told him that once when she was ill as a girl she managed to get up and meet Miss Gregg and get her autograph. He didn't go into any close particulars, as it was evidently in the days before he was married to his wife. He impressed me as not thinking the incident of much importance."

"I see," said Miss Marple. "Yes, I see . . ."

"And what do you see?" asked Craddock.

"Not quite as much as I'd like to yet," said Miss Marple, honestly, "but I have a sort of feeling if I only knew why she'd ruined her new dress."

"Who. Mrs. Badcock?"

"Yes. It seems to me such a very odd thing — such an inexplicable one unless, of course — Dear me, I think I must be very stupid!"

Volunteer in Viet Nam

Mother of 2 Loses Husband; Nation Loses a Hero

DALLAS (UPI) — Air Force Capt. Condon H. Terry was proud to be an American. His widow, Audrey, is proud of him and what he fought and died for.

The pride came through the words that he lived, fought and died in South Viet Nam: "The wettest, buggiest, dirtiest place on earth." And it showed as she described how he volunteered for the assignment as military adviser.

The mission lasted but five weeks before he was shot down and killed with his Vietnamese pilot June 27 on a strafing run against Viet Cong Communist rebels.

* * *

"He was proud to be serving America," she said.

In a letter to the commander of the 1st Air Commando Wing at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., she expressed it. The letter dated June 30, the day of his military funeral in Viet Nam.

Capt. Terry was buried in Dallas last Friday.

* * *

"Condon spent four years at (Texas) A&M College preparing to become an officer. He worked so diligently at his goal . . . he did not attain what he had because someone gave it to him, but because his career meant more to him than anything else, and he believed in what he was doing."

She said that Condon used to tell her, "It would be an insult to be run over by a car and he 'didn't want to die on some dumb training mission either.' That when he died it would all have purpose to it as his whole life had purpose to it in spite of the many obstacles he encountered along the way."

Mrs. Terry, 26, was at work at an air-conditioning company office on June 27 when she received the telegram notifying her of his death. She was stunned. But she said she had almost expected it.

LAST TIME

"When I waved goodbye to him at Dallas Love Field in May, I just felt it was the last time I would see him," she said, putting down her coffee cup.

"He had told me his chances. They weren't very good."

Her husband, she said, lived and breathed the Air Force.

* * *

"He wanted to be a test pilot or an astronaut or something. If he had been forced to fly a desk he wouldn't have been in the Air Force. He just had to do something worthwhile, so he volunteered for the Viet Nam assignment."

Mrs. Terry, or "Cookie," as her 30-year-old husband called her, paused and offered the UPI reporter - photographer interview team coffee.

"He just wanted to help his country," she said. "He wrote after he got to Viet Nam that Americans were the most fortunate persons in the world."

At times, emotion choked her voice, but there were no tears. Her face lighted up as she talked of the two children, Dennis Wade Terry, 5, and Condon H. Terry III, 8.

The Terrys had planned that the boys would go to A&M as their father did. Now, if they wish, they can have automatic appointments to the U.S. Air Force Academy after high school.

No, said Mrs. Terry, she would not try to hinder them if they wanted Air Force careers.

In her letter to Col. Gerald Dix, the wing commander at Eglin AFB, she summed up her feelings.

". . . If it had to happen, this is the way Condon wanted it."

She said, "Too many people in our world have forgotten what freedom is. My loss is great, but your (Air Force) team's loss is greater."

She wrote:

"Continue to hand-pick your men and choose them well, they are the men who still possess a devotion for peace, while the rest of us stand in our corners and cower. God Bless these men whose strong shoulders our whole country leans upon."

National Guard Games

'War' a Tough Struggle for Spectators

CAMP GRAYLING (AP) — The Michigan National Guard staged war games here yesterday that proved almost as hard on the spectators as on the players.

Six Detroit area lawmakers, a Teamsters Union official and two businessmen were issued GI steel helmets, ponchos and overshoes, and sent out to follow a rifle squad through an assault on an enemy machine gun nest, while the gun raked the side of the hill they were climbing with dummy fire.

They later joined some 100 Lansing visitors on the crest of a hill to watch live artillery fire pound an objective before an infantry company deployed across the valley to the assault. The artillery shells whistled overhead and exploded some 700 yards to their front.

One of the Lansing visitors—Walter McComb, president of the Dudley Paper Co.—became the first civilian casualty. A flying piece of shrapnel hit him between the eyes, inflicting a wound that looked like a razor cut.

Although he was not even dazed, McComb said, "It felt like someone walloped me."

In the Detroit group were councilmen James H. Brickley and Philip Van Antwerp; Wayne County Democratic representatives Walter J. Hyso, Hamtramck; and Edmond Lesinski, 5th District, and Richard A. H. J. Guzowski, 9th District.

With them were Curtis Potter, mayor pro-tem of Royal Oak; Robert Holmes, business agent for Teamsters Local 337; William N. Montgomery, military coordinator for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.; and Don Pippel, manager of defense operations for the Ford Motor Co.

To keep in the spirit of the thing, the Detroiters ate lunch off the hoods of jeeps or trucks or sat in the grass with the infantry unit (Co. Q, 1st Battalion, 225th Infantry, Detroit) which had its meal served under tactical combat conditions.

The weather was as rough on the dignitaries as on the troops—starting with an insistent off-again, on-again drizzle and ending when a hot afternoon sun burned through the overcast.

* * *

The Detroiters flew to Camp Grayling, in an Air National Guard C-47 where 7,500 men of the Michigan's 46th Infantry Division are undergoing two weeks of combat training.

They bounced over miles of back roads and open fields to reach the training area, some 20 miles from the base camp.

Pippel, a veteran observer of war games, called it the "first unstaged visit of my many tours of military installations. I have never seen better—even at Ft. Knox."

* * *

"Here you actually get the feeling and understanding of what the Guardsmen are doing . . . because we were taken right down with the troops in the field," Montgomery added.

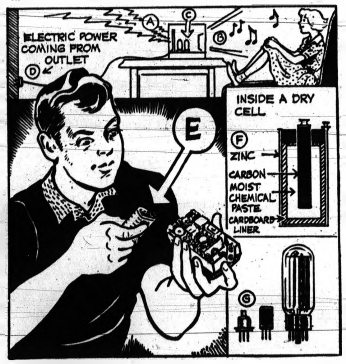
Van Antwerp, 51, came through the hill-climbing in good shape. "I've been campaigning all winter; I guess I'm in shape for this."

Brickley, 34, said "I'm bushed."

Best-Seller Author Dies

CORDELE, Ga. (AP)—McKenzie Hooks Hyman, about 41, author of the best-selling book "No Time For Sergeants," died Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack. The book was made into a New York play and later into a movie. Hyman wrote the book after returning from service in World War II.

Junior Editors Quiz on RADIOS



QUESTION: How does a radio battery work?

ANSWER: Your radio picks up electric signals but to process these so they then can be turned into sound for you to hear, electric power must be used. In a regular radio you get this by plugging in to your house current.

Radio batteries (E) are used in portable radios which can be played anywhere. These batteries take the place of house current.

Batteries have "cells" in which plates, usually zinc and carbon, are dipped in a chemical solution. When the plates are conected with electric wires, the chemicals and plates work together to produce an electric current.

In a "dry cell" (F), such as used to operate a flashlight, the liquid of the larger battery is replaced by a paste containing chemicals. There is a carbon rod in the center and a zinc shell, separated from the paste by a cardboard lining soaked in chemicals.

Inside (E) is a stack of a number of very small dry cells which work on the same principle as the one in (F). When you snap your little radio on, all these work together to produce an electric current which operates your radio.

FOR YOU TO DO: Beside the little battery, other things are needed different from those of a big radio. Try to guess what they are. (The answer: transisters (G), tiny objects scientists have invented to take the place of the bulky radio tubes and do the same work.)

Record Try by X15 Plane Is Postponed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An attempt to set a new altitude record in the X15 rocket plane has been postponed until tomorrow because of a malfunction in the craft's oxygen system.

* * *

The plane's oxygen supply from its B52 mother ship broke down yesterday shortly after takeoff in a flight from this test center.

The pilot, Air Force Maj. Robert Rushworth, switched to the X15's own supply. But the X15 carries only enough oxygen for a 25-30 minute flight. Test flights normally take about an hour.

Rushworth's flight, planned to determine the plane's ability to function without its electronic brain, was rescheduled for today.

But the postponement advanced until Friday an attempt by space agency pilot Joe Walker to reach 315,000 feet. The old record of 314,750 feet was set July 17, 1962 by Air Force Maj. Robert White.

Wages Rise in European Community

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Workers of the European Common Market countries saw their wages jump by 10 per cent last year. And unemployment has never been so low, a Common Market report said today.

The report said although consumer prices increased considerably, somewhat reducing the real value of the wage hikes, wages still showed a "very noticeable" improvement.

The report expressed concern over an inflationist trend in the six-nation group. It said social policy must be included in Common Market planning to seek a balance between manpower supply and demand.

Wages rose highest in France, West Germany, Italy and Holland. In Germany and Holland they were 10 per cent higher than in 1961. In Italy they were 11 per cent higher in industry and 15 per cent higher in agriculture than in 1961.

Hourly wages increased by 15 per cent in Italy, by 12 per cent in Germany, by 9 to 10 per cent in France and Holland and by 6 to 7 per cent in Belgium and Luxembourg.

HOURS DECREASE

Working hours decreased last year, particularly in Italy, where the average working hours were cut by more than two a week.

The Common Market's population rose by 2.3 million—or 1.4 per cent — to 174.1 million. The working population grew by 600,000 to 73.6 million. Unemployment was at 1.2 million, or 1.65 per cent of the labor force.

Some 400,000 farmers left their land while one more million workers went to factories, the report said.

Total agricultural manpower amounted to 19.5 per cent last year — against 22.7 in 1958. In services, manpower rose from 35.3 to 37.4 per cent and in industry from 42 to 43.1 per cent. The number of farmers was largest in Italy (30 per cent of total manpower) and smallest in Benelux (10 per cent).

3 Matzoh Profiteers Jailed in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Moscow Jews were sentenced to prison yesterday on charges of having profited on the sale of matzoh, the Jewish Passover bread.

★ ★ ★

A three-judge "Peoples Court" sentenced Golko Bogomolny, a ritual butcher, to one year in prison. Two women defendants, Klavdiaya Blyakhman, 52, and Malka Brio, 59, each got six months.

The so-called ringleader, Emil Katz, 62, was set free. He is an invalid.

The charges stem from the fact that for the past two years Soviet authorities have refused to allow bakeries to produce matzoh. Some Jewish families then began making it at home.

Illinois' 298 miles are only 3 per cent of the nation's total but they produce 11 per cent of America's supply of bituminous coal.

Arrives Before Leaving Via New Zip Delivery

BREMERTON, Wash. (UPI) — The highly touted efficiency of the U.S. Post Office Department's new ZIP Code system made a big impression on Mrs. Robert McKay.

It should have. Yesterday she received a letter from Vancouver, Wash., postmarked 2:30 p.m. today.

Girl Dies, Mother Hurt by Bolt of Lightning

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. (UPI) — A bolt of lightning struck a beach umbrella yesterday, killing Barbara Briggs, 16, and injuring her mother and young brother.

Coroner Littlejohn Blanton said there was no rain or wind at the time and there was only "a couple of rumbles of thunder" before the bolt struck.

SOS Is a False Alarm

ANNE PORT, Isle of Jersey (UPI) — Rescue boat crews spotted two men signaling from rocks off the coast of this English Channel island yesterday and went to pick them up—only to learn the men were waving to girl friends on the beach.

The injection of a chemical in the roots of a seedling tree makes it distasteful to hungry animals.

Easier Way for a Ride

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Tommaso Pinto, 22, who hitchhiked more than 500 miles disguised as a girl, said today he donned the feminine garb because it is easier for girls to get rides.

Friend Gets Thanks for Free Ticket

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: A friend of mine called me yesterday afternoon and asked me if I would like to go to the theater with her that evening. She explained that the young woman with whom she was supposed to go could not use her ticket and that I could have it.

I accepted gladly and enjoyed the play very much. The person whose ticket I used is a total stranger to me. I would like to know if I should write her a note and thank her for the ticket.

A: No, the young woman did not give the ticket to you but to your friend who in turn invited you to go with her, and she is the one to be thanked for asking you.

Q: I have received an invitation to a large evening reception and in the lower left corner the words "Formal Dress" appear. Does this mean tuxedo or tails?

A: If you live in a very formal community, "Formal Dress" means white tie and tails; in simpler communities, it means tuxedos. If in doubt, it is always proper to call the host or hostess and ask, "Do I wear white tie or a black one?"

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of the Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

State Women Invited to Conference at MSU

"Home, the Center — but Not the Circumference" is the theme of Michigan State University's annual Homemakers' Conference — College Week for Women.

* * *

The July 23-26 event is open to all Michigan women. Two of the general sessions are built around the topic of woman's role in today's world.

And, two qualified people will help the 1,000 Michigan women attending College Week examine that role.

* * *

One is Dr. Elizabeth Drews, professor of education at MSU, who discusses "The Role of Women in Today's Society" Thursday morning. A wife and mother herself, Dr. Drews is a member of the President's Commission on the Status of Women.

"How a woman combines her work and her intellectual interests with marriage is the big problem today," is one of Dr. Drews' views. "But it will be difficult to solve this until the cultural lag of seeing marriage and career as incompatible is overcome."

Dr. Drews has done extensive research in the areas of gifted girls, role identification and careers. She feels that women have special strength of social sensitivity, human communications and humaneness — vital to a world where great concern for society is needed.

* * *

The male point of view comes into focus Friday morning when Dr. E. L. V. Shelley discusses "On Being a Woman." Dr. Shelley, a psychologist, is director of treatment for the Michigan Department of Corrections.

His views center around that idea that the family and the individual form the basis of our society.

* * *

"As the family is strong, healthy and vigorous, the society is strong, healthy and vigorous," he has said. "As the family unit weakens, so does society."

* * *

College Week also offers general meetings on today's family as well as more than 30 three-session "courses." Subjects include "Introduction to Psychology," "All Sides of Pesticides," "Design — a Background for Living," "What's New in Research," "Home Management for Young Families," and many others.

* * *

There's still time to make arrangements to attend College Week. You can obtain complete information on this event by getting in touch with Mrs. Mary Hardy, County Extension Agent in Home Economics, 1200 N. Telegraph Road.

Boy Loses Driving Privileges for Being Late With the Car

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old boy and just got my driver's license last week. My parents let me drive only to do errands.

ABBY

Yesterday at 3:30 p.m. my mother gave me the grocery list and the keys to the car. On the way to the store I circled the block to pick up a friend for company.

There was another kid at his house who had a big heavy box of records to haul home. He only lived four blocks so I offered to drive him home.

Well, after that, on my way to the store I hit a dog. Now, Abby, I wasn't going to let that dog lay there in the middle of the street, so I found the owner and took her and the dog to the vet's.

To make a long story short, I got home at ten after six and now I can't drive until I'm 21. Do you think that's fair?

GROUNDED

* * *

DEAR GROUNDED: That is a pretty stiff penalty, but I suspect you were "sentenced" during the highest peak of the emotional storm. Behave yourself, and don't mope about it—and I'll bet you'll be driving again by Christmas.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a relative who has done all our tax work for years. He's a CPA and a very good one.

I admit it was handy; besides he never charged us anything. This year I told my husband I didn't want his CPA relative handling our tax forms because if he's like most men, he talks his business over with his wife. And why should she know all about our income and tax deductions?

My husband said he was sure this relative didn't tell his wife anything. But I'd still rather take our tax forms to a total stranger and pay him for his time. Am I being unreasonable?

SOMEBODY

* * *

DEAR SOMEBODY: You are NOT being unreasonable. Don't put your confidential matters in the hands of anyone (relative or otherwise) whose ability to keep quiet is questionable.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is this: I have a wonderful mother-in-law, and I wouldn't dream of hurting her, but I didn't know what to call her.

I can't keep calling her "Mrs. Smith" (not her real name). And it wouldn't be respectful to call her "Mary" (which isn't her real first name either).

I don't feel like calling her "Mom" or "Mother" because that's reserved for my own mother. So what should I call her?

TROUBLED

* * *

DEAR TROUBLED: Ask her if you may call her "Mother Whatever-her-last-name-is." Or "Mother Whatever-her-first-name-is." She'll probably be delighted to permit it. If she doesn't, call her "Mrs. Smith," and forget it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO RICK: If you're thinking about girls, you obviously are old enough to be thinking about girls.

Mink, Jewels Sparkle at Italy Fashion Show

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) Italy's fall - winter fashion shows, muffled by mink so far, end today in a blaze of baubles that has turned the salons into a jeweler's showcase.

On this expensive note, the week of high fashion was closing with collections by Guidi, Antonelli, Schuberth and Mingolini-Gugenheim.

* * *

"Jewel colors" — with a preference for topaz, emerald and sapphire — played a key role in the Mingolini-Gugenheim collection being presented to international buyers and press in the Pitti Palace.

The sparkle fit perfectly into the Florence fashion picture. The diamond dust was still settling in the Pitti Palace today after Emilio Pucci's collection of sun, starlight and ski wear.

* * *

Glowing silk prints — the Emilio Pucci trademark — had the look of Gothic stained glass windows seen through a kaleidoscope.

SEQUIN OUTLINES

By starlight, the same colorful, intricate prints were outlined in sequins until they glowed like a nocturnal and distant New York skyline.

To add to the warm glow, Pucci's models wore big bracelets of crystal beads on both wrists to match their necklaces.

Emilio Pucci also presented a three-quarter sleeved mink overblouse with bright pink, silk slacks and a little grey Persian lamb V-necked pullover, again with pink pants.

Swimming and skiing are a matter of geography and not season for Pucci, so he sent beach and ski outfits down the runway in matched pairs. The printed velvet tunic of a winter sports outfit would echo the pattern and colors of a light beach top.

Last night's collection by Biki of Milan emphasized clouds of veils, glittering fabrics and enough lavish furs for a La Scala opening.

She topped a strapless, black - sequined sheath with a storm cloud of black tulle that swathed the model's head, neck and shoulders. The bodice was slit down the bosom but loosely tied at the top with a black bow.

Well-Spread Solution

Milk Crisis Quickly Smoothed Over

By MADELEINE DOEREN

There was panic at the Jack Nichols' farm on White Lake Road on a sultry afternoon when the milkhouse fuse blew.

The telephone jangled in The Press Women's Department, and a very distraught female voice asked: "Whatever will I do with 1,300 pounds of milk and no cooler?"

* * *

We wondered why she said pounds instead of gallons, but Mrs. Nichols is a dairy farmer's wife and thinks of milk in terms of pounds. So does the Sealtest Foods Division of the National Dairy Products Corporation which purchases their output.

* * *

Janet Odell, women's editor and consultant in household crises, had dashed off to a marketing conference with gals from Oakland County Extension Service. So we reached for the well thumbed Good Housekeeping Encyclopaedia.

* * *

There were some four pages on the gentle art of butter-making which we condensed and passed along to Mrs. Nichols who said she was a "city slicker from Covington, Ky.," and didn't have a butter churn.

* * *

She has since told us how everybody got into the act, including the two farm hands, shaking the cream in quart jars until it formed butter. Rightly proud they are of 14 one - pound prints (molds). Several pounds were lightly salted.

For the cheese-making operation, milk was simmered to the curd stage, the liquid expelled through a cheesecloth bag and the solid mass paddled until dry. The cheese was frozen, to be cut off as needed and served with a little cream.

* * *

The nursery tale about "Little Miss Muffet eating her curds and whey" is very likely more truth than fantasy. Besides, she had never heard of polyunsaturates.

Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, the parents of five, purchased their farm three years ago after he had worked 11 years at the General Motors Diesel plant in Plymouth. He is from Piggott, Ark., and his parents are farmers.

* * *

Some 28 of the Nichols' herd of 72 Holsteins produce from 900 to 1,000 pounds of milk a day.

Mrs. Nichols feels that the milk crisis was "saved by the bell."

Mrs. Jack Nichols of White Lake Road, dairy farmer's wife, registers frustration when a blown fuse in the milkhouse left 1,300 pounds of milk without refrigeration.

Think It Over Before Declaring Bankruptcy

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

When the financial situation looks darker than midnight, filing for bankruptcy sometimes seems the only way out. But for the sake of your good name and your conscience, take one more look before you leap. From a purely practical standpoint, even bankruptcy costs money.

Dear Miss Feeley:

In 1961 we borrowed money from several sources and went into business. We lost approximately $4,000 in this venture. And outside of the money loans to the family, we owe under $200.

MARY FEELEY

Also, several people we hauled for owe us small amounts, too. We have never filed for bankruptcy and wonder if we can do so at this late date, as it may cost us a small amount. But we would be able to deduct a percentage off our income tax and in that way benefit more than bankruptcy filing would cost.

Are bankruptcy laws governed by federal or state?

J. H. Miami,

Dear J. H.:

In my opinion, being able to deduct bankruptcy costs on your income tax is a pretty thin reason for calling it quits. In the first place, if your income is sufficient, in spite of your losses, to justify so much concern about deductions, couldn't you manage to hang on a while longer?

If you take this action—which you can legally do, of course — you'll be paying a high price. Aside from the actual expense of the formal proceedings — a $50 filing fee, the attorney's fee which you can expect to run about $200, plus miscellaneous costs — it will cost you your credit. And the moral obligations will still remain.

* * *

Think it over. You had the courage and energy to start a new business just a couple of years ago. One strike against you doesn't mean you're out.

As for your last question — which I hope you will decide is irrelevent — bankruptcy laws are federal.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Our problem is this: my husband works on the state highway maintenance crew, and recently passed an IBM computer and programing test with a score of 93 and would like to take the course. We would have to take a mortgage on our home for $1,200 to handle the expenses involved.

Should we do this, or should he stay on in his present job?

C.A.P., Portland, Ore.

Dear Mrs. P.:

Before you and your husband decide to direct any money toward the expense involved in this course, you should find out if this technical school at which your husband took the test has been approved by IBM.

Your state education authorities will also give you information about the school's reputation and standing, and an opinion as to whether or not the cost involved is reasonable.

Also, it might be a good idea to investigate courses available at accredited colleges in your community. They could be offering similar courses at much lower costs.

* * *

After you have obtained all these facts you can put your minds to deciding what to do.

I'm not against accepting a new opportunity for learning even if it would involve financial sacrifices, but before you accept this specific challenge you should apply a guide of wise buymanship.

* * *

Investigate all the available resources to be assured your husband is getting the most value for the amount of money, time and energy he will be spending.

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Prof Nixes Books, Cupid in College

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A University of Texas dean says the idea that marriage makes for better students is a myth.

"We find marriage seldom makes a good student out of a poor one," Dean of Students Glenn Barnett says.

* * *

Barnett warned that mixing marriage and college can mean troubles for both husband and wife.

"If the wife was a competent student and dropped out for marriage," Barnett says, "she frequently feels an underlying resentment if her student husband doesn't excel."

"In many cases," he adds, "his grades go down as the time and concentration needed for his work are nibbled away by the demands of family life."

* * *

Barnett also says that a student - father can grow extremely sensitive about his own position while his wife plays the role of breadwinner.

"When a girl tells me she is quitting to get married," Barnett says, "I try to impress upon her the importance of continuing her own education some time, whether soon or many years from now.

"The boy she marries is going to continue to grow and probably become a leader in his profession and his community. Her growth will have to keep pace with his if the marriage is to succeed," Barnett says.

Polly's Pointers

Tips on TV Listings

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Take the television program for the week out of the newspaper. Cut out each day's program and sew them together on the sewing machine.

This is easy if you keep your machine up all the time as I do. The program stays neat all week.

I fill a flat plastic shampoo bottle with water and keep it in the freezer section of my refrigerator to use as an ice bag.

When I am through with the "bag," I just put it back in the freezer and it is ready for the next time I need it.

MRS. J. L.

* * *

DEAR POLLY — My father deserves the credit for this hint. Latch on to your old purses. They make wonderful carry-alls for those smaller car tools that bang and knock around in the car trunk.

We like the longer purse with fullness at the top and one that opens wide. I also keep one for my small household tools. No hunting and fetching. P. F.

DEAR POLLY — Save cigar and cigarette butts, soak in water for several hours and then sprinkle on rose and other shrubs to control bugs (aphids).

Soapy water has the same effect only to a lesser degree. Occasionally water house plants with lukewarm tea or coffee. It has an exhilarating effect on them. BEE

Down With Forced Mother's Day Idolatry!

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

At 10 a.m. Sunday, May 12, a young woman I know was asleep in her one-room apartment.

★ ★ ★

That was Mother's Day, you'll recall — that day of spring when we Americans make a national sacrifice, not to the old heathen's earth goddess Demeter, but to Mom, Mommy, Mother O' Mine, the Best Pal I Ever Had, the She Whose Brow I Furrowed With Care, etc. etc.

★ ★ ★

Her telephone rang. It was her Mommy via long distance wanting to know if she knew what day it was.

Struggling out of sleep, my young friend said confusedly, "What day? Oh. Happy Mother's Day, Mama. Did you get my flowers? I wired . . ."

"Nothing has come," said Mama. "But then I didn't expect anything. I have learned not to expect anything from you.

★ ★ ★

"So I am calling you instead of waiting around here for you to remember what day this is. You better cancel your flower order. It's too late for them now."

How much of this kind of thing goes on on Mother's Day?

★ ★ ★

I don't like Mother's Day. I'm a mother and I don't like it.

I don't like it because its glorification of us mothers is not good for us. I think it gives us delusions of grandeur, and either encourages us to intoxicate ourselves with the smell of incense burned at our altars by our child worshipers or plunge into the dumps because the flowers and greeting cards have not arrived.

I think it's hard on us to play Queen For a Day on Sunday and find ourselves back on earth on Monday, dethroned, with the knowledge that we're right back where we were on Saturday before we took our pose on the pedestal.

★ ★ ★

I think it leaves us subtly dissatisfied with the realization that the Day of Idolatry is over.

★ ★ ★

What was it that God said to Moses on Mount Sinai? "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Thou shalt not bow thyself down to them nor serve them."

That commandment extends to the worship of mothers.

★ ★ ★

Mother's Day always embarrasses me. I try to go along with it. I say "Thank you" for the flowers, the perfume, the greeting cards.

★ ★ ★

But they embarrass me. And I know why. They embarrass me because I don't like forced acknowledgement. I don't value appreciation compelled by public pressure.

★ ★ ★

I much prefer an "I'll do the dishes, Mother" when I am tired. I prefer human awareness to human needs every day in the week to one day's extravagant and compulsive idolatry.

Budapest Births Are Soaring

By ILONA GAZDAG

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Hungary's second, third and fourth grade elementary grades are overflowing and all because of the nation's former woman minister of health.

If you visit a Hungarian elementary school, you notice that these grades are packed. While the other grades are divided into three classes at most, the eight to 10-year olds require four and five to accommodate them all.

The government already has its problems. There aren't enough shoes or clothes or "gym" suits in these sizes, and what will happen when they reach the universities?

These children are referred to as the "Ratko children." Anna Ratko was the Minister of Health from 1950-1954.

She decided that, if nothing else, she would present the state with a high birth rate during her regime.

In 1952 she lowered the boom in the form of an unshakable law: abortionists lose their doctor's practice and go to jail.

There were bowls of protest but all in vain. Women cried, men cursed. The jails filled with doctors and their diplomas were taken away from them while the maternity wards became fuller and fuller.

Finally there was no more room in the rooms. Maternity cases lined the corridors.

There weren't enough kindergartens or children's nurses.

It was obvious that these "conditions" couldn't go on.

In 1956 the new abortion laws were passed which, in effect say that every woman has the right to limit the size of her family.

* * *

Any woman who wants to have an abortion must register with the district commission. She also registers her reasons why she cannot or does not want to raise a child. For instance she may be ill, there may be a too small apartment, she is already the mother of several children, her husband drinks or she is unmarried.

The commission tries to talk the woman into having her child, and can give her permission, or reject it.

If given permission, she goes to the hospital for three days, pays 250 forint (about $10) and is freed of her "burden."

"Illegal" abortions by private doctors are punishable by fines but since the new abortion law, cheap. It costs between 400 and 700 forint ($16-$28).

* * *

The official table of live births in Hungary clearly shows the results of Anna Ratko's regime. The births in the post-war years averaged between 180,000 and 190,000 yearly up to 1952. The years 1953-55 show birth rates of over 200,000. In 1954, it reached an all-time high of 222,347.

Since 1956 the births have declined and in 1962 a low of 129,957 was reached.

Summertime Treatment for Dry, Rough Skin

If skin could talk, what it had to say about sun, heat and wind would be unprintable. All draw moisture from the skin, leaving it dry, leathery and unattractive. For beauty's sake, prepare the skin for the ride in the convertible or the day on the beach. At bedtime, apply creamy emollients. After bathing, rub down with a moisturized lotion. Avoid drying astringents. Use a mild skin freshener such as good quality witch haze. During actual exposure, even if skin is tanned, apply suntan lotion or baby oil to keep skin soft and attractive.

Prevent Fraying

To keep the ends of hair ribbons from fraying, coat the underside of the ribbon with clear nailpolish.

Navy Requests More TFXs

McNamara Undecided on Plane Increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has received a recommendation from the Navy urging the purchase of 361 instead of the original 231 controversial TFX fighter planes.

Navy Secretary Fred Korth told Senate investigators looking into the award of the $6.5-billion contract to General Dynamics that McNamara has not made a decision yet on the Navy request.

Korth was scheduled to make his seventh appearance today before the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

For the past four months, the committee has been looking into McNamara's decision to award the contract to General Dynamics over the recommendation of military leaders who urged the Boeing Co.

Testimony yesterday was highlighted by angry exchanges between McClellan and committee members Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., over the length of the hearings, now more than four months old.

Javits asked Korth to prepare a list of the major issues involved and indicate how many times he has had to "respond to a great variety of questions on the very same issues."

Javits said he wanted it "because I believe that some day, sometime, we have to come to an end of these hearings."

"To my colleague who complains about the length of the hearings," McClellan snapped, "I know of no way to shorten them if we are going to get all of the facts."

Korth again defended the contract awarded last Nov. 24. He reiterated his stand that Navy military officials indicated to him that either rival design was acceptable.

General Dynamics is building 23 test models of the supersonic TFX (Tactical Fighter Experimental) planes at its plant in Ft. Worth, Tex.

Actual production on the contract—one of the largest in military procurement history — is not expected to start for several more years.

Oklahoma Districting Encourages Scholle

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's most active advocate of the "one man, one vote" principle felt encouraged today, exactly one year after the State Supreme Court ruled in his favor on State Senate apportionment.

The advocate, state AFL-CIO President August Scholle, was heartened by a Federal Court decision Wednesday in Oklahoma.

Scholle has cause, perhaps, to feel differently after developments in Michigan, because his State Senate suit may have lost significance under the new State Constitution adopted April 1.

* * *

A second suit filed by the labor leader against the House and Senate apportionment provisions of the new constitution has been called "premature" by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, an ally in the Senate issue.

But Scholle is still pressing for decisions in both cases.

He said he was "very, very encouraged" by the Oklahoma decision, contending that it vindicates his position.

The Federal Court, after allowing state legislators time to reapportion their own districts, threw out two legislative plans and set up Senate and House districts in the Sooner State that conform to strict population standards.

The court cited the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution as the basis for its decision. That amendment declares:

". . . No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Scholle's attorney used the "equal protection" clause as a basis for claiming that State Senate districts, rigidly outlined in a 1952 amendment to the 1908 Constitution, were unconstitutional.

Hope to Repair Bridge Ramps Within 2 Weeks

LANSING (UPI)—The State Highway Department said today it hoped to decide "within the next couple of weeks" how to bring up to standard two bridge ramps on Detroit's yet-to-be opened Chrysler Freeway.

Howard Hill, Highway Department director, said 40 faults were found "last September or October" in welds on steel beams used in building the ramps.

No rush was made to complete repairs because the freeway is not due to open until November.

The ramps, which are located at Warren Avenue about three miles from downtown Detroit, cost $75,000. Repair proposals that have been worked out so far might add another $40,000 to $100,000 to the cost, Hill said.

Slam India Deal for U.S. Broadcast

NEW DELHI (AP) — An agreement to allow the Voice of America to broadcast programs to southeast Asia from Calcutta is being criticized by both Communists and non-Communists as a violation of India's nonalignment policy.

* * *

The Indian Communist Party called yesterday for demonstrations against the agreement signed last week. Under it, the United States will give All India Radio a one-million-watt transmitter in return for three hours of daily broadcast time for five years.

The agreement also has been criticized by a number of leading newspapers, including the influential Times of India, which usually is guardedly pro-Western.

United States trade with Cuba dropped from 4.3 million tons in 1959 to about 75,000 tons in 1961, mostly medical supplies.

Raid Meeting of Opposition

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — The government of King Hassan II reportedly raided a meeting of an opposition political party yesterday and arrested 100 persons, including 28 members of parliament.

Officials refused to comment, but usually reliable sources said those arrested were members of the National Union of Popular Forces (UNFP).

The sources said the UNFP leaders were making plans for the July 26 municipal elections.

Shutterbug Evolution

By DICK WEST

BIRD-IN-HAND, Pa. (UPI) — Picture taking has come to be regarded as one of mankind's four fundamental motivations, ranking just behind eating, sleeping and sex.

In some precincts, it has forged ahead of sex.

★ ★ ★

The snapshot urge shows up most strongly in the American tourist, who can be instantly identified by the camera that dangles from a strap around his neck.

The camera is, his badge, his escutcheon, his caste mark, his Elk's tooth, his security symbol. He feels it is a part of him, and eventually it will be.

It is only a question of time until the process of evolution incorporates this function into the bodily mechanism and each person will be born with a camera growing out of his chest.

★ ★ ★

I cultivated an interest in the anthropological aspects of amateur photography during many years of observing tourists in Washington, D.C., where I work.

The tourists there are fond of standing in the middle of the street to snap pictures of monuments and such. In driving to the capital each morning, I usually arrived with at least one tourist draped over a front fender. The bag limit is four.

It was my interest in the subject that brought me to Bird-in-Hand. This village in the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country is the scene of an interesting conflict between the tourist and the Amish.

★ ★ ★

The Amish are one of the groups of "plain people" who inhabit Lancaster County. For religious reasons, they still use the horse and buggy, wear old-fashioned clothes, shun telephones and electricity, and otherwise try to keep their homes insulated from the outside world.

All of this naturally has made them a prime tourist attraction.

Being gentle, passive people, the Amish have refrained from driving away the tourists with buckshot, as they might be justified in doing. Insofar as possible, they try to ignore the invasion.

It is, however, against their religion to permit themselves to be photographed, and a tourist with a camera is not easily ignored.

Thus has been created the classic case of an irresistible force (tourist with camera) confronted with an irresistible subject (the picturesque Amish).

★ ★ ★

I would like to report that the tourist has at last met his match and is being compelled to retire from the field with shutter unsnapped and film unexposed.

The world's first subway, or underground railroad system, was opened in London on Jan. 9, 1863.

Aguirre Wants Four-Man Pitching Rotation

Hurls Tigers to 9-1 Win Over Orioles

Triandos' Grand-Slam Helps in Big Eighth Inning Run Splurge

DETROIT (UPI) — Hank Aguirre, hitting his stride now that the hot weather is here and his arm miseries are gone, has a simple solution to the problems of the stumbling Detroit Tigers.

★ ★ ★

"Let us pitch every fourth day," Aguirre pleaded after hurling his seventh complete game yesterday and setting down the Baltimore Orioles 9-1 on a five-hitter with the help of a grand slam homer by batterymate Gus Triandos in a six-run eight inning.

When he said "us," Aguirre was referring to himself, Jim Bunning, Frank Lary and possibly Phil Regan. The lanky lefthander wants manager Charlie Dressen to get up a regular pitching rotation and stick to it.

"It's not his (Dressen's) fault because he wanted to look at everybody and we've had some rain," Aguirre pointed out.

"But in my last few starts (June 28, July 4, 11 and yesterday), I've had five or six days rest between starts. A starting pitcher needs to go every fourth day with three days rest to keep his rhythm," Aguirre said.

"For a while we've had seven or eight guys starting. Look at No. 14 (Bunning) against Washington Monday (Bunning was bombed for eight runs in six innings), he's never been that wild but he hadn't started in over a week," Aguirre said.

★ ★ ★

Claiming that Don Mossi would also be valuable as a once-a-week pitcher, Aguirre said the youngsters like Mickey Lolich, Bill Faul and Willie Smith should just be used in spots like the second game of doubleheaders.

NO BULLPEN?

"We're the experienced guys and they should either go with us or decide to get rid of us. We've had starters in the bullpen and everything but if we go every fourth day, we might not need much of a bullpen," Aguirre claimed.

Dressen, who is completing his first month as Tiger manager today, seems to agree with Aguirre. He said he plans to use Bunning, Lary and Aguirre in a regular rotation and spot the rest of the pitchers.

★ ★ ★

Regan will start today against the Orioles with Lolich, Bunning and Lary starting at Los Angeles Friday, Saturday and Sunday and Aguirre going next Tuesday in one of the games of the twi-night doubleheader against Chicago.

Triandos, Foiles Retaliate

Beware of Shunted Players!

By The Associated Press

There is an old axiom in baseball, to wit: Beware of the shunted player.

★ ★ ★

Time and again a traded athlete has come back either to haunt his former team or vent his wrath on another club.

This was the case Wednesday night—on a wholesale basis—in the American League.

In Detroit, veteran catcher Gus Triandos, acquired in a trade with Baltimore last winter, uncorked a grand slam homer against his old club to help the Tigers gain a 9-1 victory.

In Los Angeles, another veteran catcher, Hank Foiles, assured the Angels of a doubleheader sweep against Cleveland by scoring the second game's only run after smashing a three-bagger in a 7-2 and 1-0 twin success.

Foiles, who has seen service with six other big league clubs, twice was traded away by the Indians.

FOYTACK WINS

A pair of other discards, pitchers Paul Foytack and Art Fowler, combined to hold the Indians to four hits in the nightcap. Foytack, obtained from Detroit last month, gave up three hits in eight innings to gain his second triumph for his new club. Fowler, who mopped up, is a veteran campaigner of several clubs.

The double triumph boosted the Angels to within 1½ games of the sixth place Indians, whose losing string stretched to six games.

In Kansas City, Charlie Lau, the much-traveled catcher, hit a three-run homer and outfielder George Alusik, a repatriate from the Tigers, stroked a grand slammer to stake the Athletics to an 8-1 rout of the Boston Red Sox.

In Chicago, shortstop Ron Hansen, a key figure in last winter's trade with Baltimore, slammed a two-run homer to bring the White Sox from behind and help them defeat Washington 8-2.

In the remaining American League contest, the league leading New York Yankees shut out Minnesota 4-0 behind the seven-hit pitching of Jim Bouton.

Two other overlooked athletes, pitcher Dean Chance and first baseman Charlie Dees, combined to lead the Angels to their first game victory against Cleveland. Chance, thrown into the hopper by Baltimore in the American League expansion draft of 1961, struck out 11 and allowed eight hits in gaining his eighth victory. Dees, purchased from the Giants, collected three hits, drove in a run and scored two.

FIRST TRIUMPH

Dave DeBusschere, Chicago's $70,000 bonus pitcher, gained his first major league victory as the White Sox moved past Boston into second place, six games behind the Yankees. Diego Segui won his fifth for the A's.

★ ★ ★

A crowd of 42,034, largest in Minnesota history, saw Joe Pepitone and Elston Howard hit home runs for the Yankees to ruin the night for Minnesota.

Red Run CC Hazard 'Goes Down Drain'

A 200 x 700 foot lake disappeared Tuesday night at the Red Run Golf Club in Royal Oak. When golfers got to the 15th hole, they noticed that the 5-foot deep water hazard had disappeared.

★ ★ ★

A club spokesman explained a section of a drain tunnel, being dug beneath the course, collapsed some time last night. Water in the pond "just went down the drain," he said.

★ ★ ★

Four bushel baskets of golf balls and several old golf clubs were found in the empty lake bed.

Mrs. Miller Wins Crown in WMGA

Mrs. Chris Miller warmed up for Saturday's Pontiac city women's golf medal championship play yesterday by running away with the Women's Metropolitan championship at Sunnybrooke.

Mrs. Miller, a former city champion, fired a closing 81 yesterday. This gave her a 54-hole total of 242.

The petite, blue-eyed brunet finished eight strokes ahead of runner-up Isobel Burrell, a Detroit policewoman.

Mrs. Zadah DeBolt is the defending champion in Pontiac women's play.

Pontiac Golfers Among Choices in Publinx Play

Andonian, Iceberg at Lincoln Course for Qualifying

GRAND RAPIDS — Pontiac's Mike Andonian and Roy Iceberg were listed among the favorites as qualifying started here today for the Michigan Publinx Golf Association championship.

The tournament is one of the major events open to golfers whose outings are restricted to time off from their regular occupations.

It is the second straight year for the event at Lincoln Golf Club which plays to a par 36-36—72 over a 6,865-yard layout.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion John Law of East Detroit was exempt from today's 18-hole qualifying round which accepts the low 63 scorers for the championship flight. Competition also is scheduled in three additional flights. There are 150 entered.

Match play rounds Friday and Saturday carry the survivors into the finals Sunday afternoon.

Law won the title last year with a 2 and 1 victory over Bob Skryzcki of Detroit who is entered in the 1963 event.

Andonian and Publinx President Iceberg, former state champions, are among Law's top rivals for the 1963 crown.

Andonian, winner of the Michigan state amateur title at Jackson last year, is a triple winner of the MGPA title and the only play in the association's history to win it in successive years—1956 through 1958.

Others among chief contenders include Val Bleech of Flint, Bill Montgomery of Trenton, John Lock of Dearborn, southpaw Dave Sackman of Royal Oak, Mike Heimler and Bob Przyzbylek of Muskegon and Tom Sasamoto of Holland.

Hint Dope Scandal at British Tracks

LONDON (AP) — The biggest scandal in the history of British horse racing was reported about to break today with newspapers openly hinting that Relko, runaway winner of the English Derby, was doped.

Racing authorities said they are convinced that a doping gang with immense monetary backing now is operating on British tracks.

★ ★ ★

The Jockey Club, blue blooded dicators of the British turf, took the unprecedented step of offering a $5,600 reward for anyone who can stop the dopers.

Even more unusual, it offered an amnesty for any trainer, jockey or stable boy who talks. Previously anyone with the remotest connection with doping was automatically barred from the tracks.

Watched by Queen Elizabeth and the royal family, French-owned Relko stormed home May 29 to win the $98,947 Epsom Derby by an easy six lengths at odds of 5-1.

STIMULANT HINT

Routine slavia tests were made immediately after his victory. The Daily Express said these tests suggest that Reko was given a stimulant. Other papers said as much without naming the horse.

Last week The Jockey Club issued a statement saying it was seriously concerned at the extent of doping. Routine tests, it said had shown that seven horses—they were not named—were doped from mid-April to the end of May.

★ ★ ★

That announcement came as a body blow to British racing, which thought the dopers had been beaten by a testing system introduced two years ago.

Two winning horses are tested at every meeting. Others are tested too but the results of these tests are not usually made public.

Exactly a month after Epsom, Relko figured in another sensation. He went to the post a 2-1 on favorite to win the $140,000 Irish Derby at The Curragh and looked the biggest certainty since horses were invented.

★ ★ ★

Suddenly he went lame and jockey Yves Saint Martin sadely walked the horse back to the paddock. Dope tests were taken but the horses's stable said they were negative.

The Daily Express said Madame Anne Dupre, wife of Relko's owner, had offered to cooperate in any way possible with the investigation.

She told an Express reporter in Paris:

"I'm quite shattered by this news.

"It was the dream of my life and of my husband's to win the Derby—and now this."

Women Golfers Eye Open Title

Amateur May Give Pros a Rough Time

CINCINNATI (AP)—A gifted group of 43 pros head the big names teeing off today in the U.S. Women's Open Golf Tournament but a young amateur had stolen some of their thunder with a practice hole-in-one.

Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, 27-year-old stockbroker, scored the ace Wednesday on the 150-yard sixth hole at Kenwood Country Club, where par is three.

★ ★ ★

Although this tournament never has been won by a amateur, Miss Richardson was among a strong group of 39 expected to give the pros a stiff fight—partly because some of the amateurs have played often at Kenwood.

The layout—a hilly 6,444 yard course with lightning fast greens—looms as a chance to cut deeply into par.

Par was set at 37-36—73, and pro Shurley Englehorn of Los Angeles said she thought a 4-under-par 288 would win it.

There will be 18 holes today and 18 more Friday, with the low 40 plus and ties gaining Saturday's 36-hole final.

There is $9,000 at stake, with $2,000 going to the pro champion.

Defending champion Mrs. Murle Lindstrom of Worchester, Mass., was receiving congratulations even before the tournament started. The news got out Wednesday that she was expecting a bady—her first—in December, but elected to defend her crown anyway.

Perranoski Didn't Get Lost in Shuffle

By The Associated Press

If it had been up to Ron Perranoski, he wouldn't be with the Los Angeles Dodgers today.

And if he weren't with the Dodgers today, they very well might not be riding so comfortably in front in the National League race.

* * *

After college at Michigan State, Perranoski signed for a bonus with the Chicago Cubs, "because I thought I'd reach the majors faster through their system."

Then after two seasons in the minors, he was traded to the Dodgers in 1960—and was admittedly disappointed—"I thought I'd get lost in the shuffle with them."

But by 1961, the youthful lefthander was with the Dodgers to stay. And now, at 26, he ranks as one of the best in at anextremely vital specialty—relief pitching.

Perranoski exhibited his value again Wednesday night, preserving Bob Miller's 3-2 decision over Pittsburgh with 2 2-3 innings of scoreless relief. The handsome southpaw now has finished 10 winning games, in addition to compiling a 9-2 record.

LEAD INCREASED

By edging the Pirates, the Dodgers boosted their lead to 6½ games over the Chicago Cubs, who were trimmed by Milwaukee 6-4. St. Louis moved to within one percentage point of second place, beating Cincinnati 3-1 on two eighth-inning runs produced by the star batting trio of Dick Groat, Bill White and Ken Boyer.

New York's last - place Mets further humbled San Francisco, dealing the defending champion Giants the eighth loss in their last 10 games, 9-7 on Joe Hicks' 11th-inning homer. The Philadelphia Phillies came from seven runs back and finally overcame Houston 10-9 when Bob Oldis singled across a run in the 10th inning.

* * *

Ron Fairly homered for the Dodgers' first run at Pittsburgh in the second inning and broke a 2-2 tie against loser Vern Law in the fourth when he singled after a 400-foot triple by Tommy Davis. Miller needed help in the seventh with two Pirates on and one out, and Perranoski made his 36th appearance of the season.

He yielded an infield hit to Dick Schofield, loading the bases, but retired the next two men without damage, then gave up one single the rest of the way.

CUBS BOMBED

The Braves let go with their biggest hit total of the year in knocking off the Cubs, pounding four pitchers for 16. Lee Maye and Joe Torre led the Milwaukee attack with three hits each and Eddie Mathews homered. Hank Fischer was the winning pitcher and Glen Hobbie the loser.

Successive doubles by Groat and White and Boyer's single added up to a pair of eighth-inning runs for the Cards, sending left Jim O'Toole to his fifth straight loss. Bob Gibson, 10-4, gave the Reds only five hits and struck out 12. O'Toole now is 13-8.

Hick's winning homer for the Mets in the 11th came off Don Larsen after a leadoff single by Joe Cristopher. Reliever Galen Cisco stopped the Giants with three perfect innings for the pitching victory. Christopher also had a homer among his three hits, while Jesse Gonder smacked a three-run homer for New York.

In City Softball Games

Two Managers Remain Happy

Most managers like to see an early lead in a softball game.

* * *

The four visiting team mentors experienced such first inning pleasure in the city softball league last night, but only the two with 4-0 margins were satisfied at game's end.

Bud & Lou's Bar put the first three batters on base and then whooped it up as Bill Carle cleaned the sacks with a home run en route to a 9-3 triumph over Pontiac Millwork in the Class C League.

A "B" contest saw G&M Construction put the first five batters on base; and after pitcher Dale Badder tripled the visitors coasted to a 12-2 verdict over First Church of the Brethren.

Larry Souter homered for the winners with a mate on base.

* * *

Poponea's Market Bill Schroeder slammed a three-run circuit blast in the opening frame but it didn't last long in Buettner's Cleaners' 10-7 victory in the Class C loop.

Buettner's tallied three times in the first, also; and after the market nine scored four times in the third inning, the winners posted a six spot in the fourth on only two hits.

Pontiac State Hospital grabbed a 2-0 lead in the top of the first against Bob & Larry's and then errored the contest back into the hands of the barmen.

The hospital squad miscued three times and four runs scored in a 6-3 success for Bob & Larry's Class B leaders.

* * *

This evening's activity at Northside and Beaudette parks will have Class B's Local 653 meeting Motorcar Transport (7 o'clock) and Bob & Larry's playing Circle Inn (8:30) at the latter site, and Class A's Elks 810 vs. Monicatti (7 p.m.) and Martin Associates vs. Harvey's Colonial House (8:30) on the Northside field.

Lakeland Wins Fifth Straight

Lakeland Pharmacy's Class C entry in the Waterford Township softball league won its fifth straight game last night.

But the 6-2 win over Dixie Bar may be in vain if A & W Root Beer can knock off Haskins Chevrolet in the 7 p.m. game today at Drayton Plains' softball park.

* * *

A&W can clinch the "C" championship by defeating the second place Chevymen. Lakeland is two games off the pace and A&W would have to lose tonight and its next game, plus Haskins would also need a defeat in its final contest for Lakeland to share in the title.

Wayne Janks scattered eight hits in Lakeland's win yesterday. The pharmacy nine will risk its streak in the nightcap tonight against Huron Bowl which has the loop's longest losing streak still intact.

The loop's second contest last night saw Rockcote Paint's manager Ray Jergovich spark an 8-4 triumph with a two-run, two-out homer in the fifth that snapped a 4-4 tie with Dinky's Hideaway.

Winning pitcher Dennis McConkey had three singles, one-half the hit total he allowed Dinky's.

Monzas on Go at Night Now

A few sprinkles of rain added some thrills to the first Wednesday night session of racing at the Monza Kart course last night.

Taking first place honors were Harry Edwards for the juniors, Dick Herron in A Stock Light, and Kevin Tooma in A Stock Heavy.

The regular Sunday afternoon races have been switched to Wednesday nights for the remainder of the summer.

Boys' Club Nines Need 10 Innings for Verdict

Memphis defeated Seattle, 3-2, in a 10-inning First Federal Savings/League game at the Pontiac Boys' Club yesterday.

Steve Foster got credit for the win beating his brother Bill. The game winning run was scored when Tony Ramez doubled home the winning hurler.

Denver routed Sacramento, 11-1, as Joe Gillian allowed only two hits. Bob Kargoshian's grand slam home run paced the winners' hitting attack.

'Distraction' Hits Site of Title Bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A distracting influence named Cassius Clay inflicted himself Thursday on the battle site of Monday night's Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title fight with such reactions as:

"Who asked him out here?"

This came from the promoters who would just as soon hear from Cassius later.

* * *

"Who is that?"

Sonny Liston made that inquiry. "I definitely have confidence that I can win; that I Will. Whether I win, I do not know."

This came from ex-champion Patterson, who was speaking for himself and was unaware at the moment that Cassius The Great was in town.

CONDENSED VERSION

Clay was not long in making his observations. It perhaps took five minutes before he got off the airplane from Louisville and headed for his luxurious suite at a Strip hotel, when he said (this is briefed down from a few thousand words):

Liston will win in two or three rounds and will have to meet Clay in September.

"If I'm not ready, who is?" demanded Cassius. "Name me another contender who can whip me."

Liston wound up his sparring session Wednesday and Patterson is about to conclude his serious training.

* * *

Patterson, who lost the title in a one-round knockout Sept. 25, 1962, in Chicago, was asked how he thought he would win the fight, if he won it.

"If I can't knock him out I'll try to win by a decision. I'll be just as satisfied."

The matter of Floyd and his beard and moustache disguise came up again. It came into prominence after his losing Liston fight.

He said he has it on hand again.

Liston was asked what he thought of this masquerade and indicated surprise.

"I hope I can make him use it."

Sonny was asked if he would fight a Sonny Liston if he were Patterson.

"I'd get my disguise and go back to New York. I wouldn't fight me."

Good Year for Aces by Bald Mt. Golfers

This has been a good season for hole-in ones at Bald Mountain.

"We figure to average about six a spson. We had our 8th and 9th over the weekend," said course manager Ken Wilson.

Ed Goodell of Lake Orion baptised the new 17th tee with an ace, sending his shot 180 yards with a 5-iron. His shot was witnessed by Tom Wagner and Lou Rogers and he had a 35 for the nine.

Mark Barnowski is making a habit out of aces. He scored his third one by getting it on the 185 yard 13th hole. He used a 3-iron. He is from Royal Oak.

No-Hitter Pitched in Junior Baseball Loop

Rob Clancy, of the Widget League Perry Drug team, added his name to the list of junior league no-hit pitchers yesterday as he blanked the Pontiac Chiefs, 3-0.

In another fine pitching performance, Roger Hayward hurled a one-hitter as Auburn Heights Boys' Club defeated the Pontiac Boys' Club, 4-1, in an American League Class D contest.

A first inning single by Pontiac first baseman Milford Hillie prevented Hayward from hurling his second no-hitter of the season. The lanky PNH right-hander fired a no-hit gem at Franklin Community Association a week ago.

Hayward had plenty of help yesterday as his teammates backed him up with nine hits off losing pitcher Gary Kraft.

Franklin Community Association rallied for six runs in the seventh to edge Pontiac Northern, 10-9, in a 'D' American League tilt.

Four walks and a double by Marve Carlson proved to be the crushing blow for the Huskies.

Jay Debandt, one of four Franklin hurlers, got credit for the win.

A pair of errors proved costly to Cranbrook as they "dropped" a 5-3 decision to Bloomfield Hills.

The winners scored three times in the fourth inning on a walk, two hits and two miscues by Cranbrook fielders. Jamie Miller was the winning pitcher with help from Jay Shimmick.

Larry Fry and Ron Garrett combined to two-hit Oliver Buick as Arnold Drugs won a 5-4 squeaker in Class D National League play.

LeCore Wins Hurdles

ANN ARBOR — Ivan LeCore of Pontiac won the 120 high hurdles in 14.6 seconds here yesterday in the second annual Michigan Track Federation meet.

Boros Whistles When Mad

DALLAS (AP) — Little Jay Nicholas Boros can tell when pop gets mad on the golf course.

"He just whistles," the crew-cut, 11-year-old son of the National Open champion said today. "He doesn't frown or bark at anybody and he doesn't throw his clubs. He just whistles."

★ ★ ★

If things really start going badly for Julis (Stone Face) Boros, Jay added, his father may start humming softly to himself.

"This short of relaxes him," the Boros offspring said. "Then he gets his game going again."

Jay Boros, a freckled 95-pounder who is getting ready for the seventh grade in Fort Lauderdale's Bay View school, is the least surprised by the season's astounding success of the 43-year-old North Carolinian who is shooting for the PGA championship starting today.

"Everybody gets a streak sometime," Jay said soberly, "and it just happens that this is my dad's time.

PUTTING COUNTS

Most of the good players can hit the ball down the fairway and onto the green. It's when the putts start dropping that they start winning. The putts are dropping for pop."

Jay Boros was disappointed that he wasn't able to be at The Country Club in Brookline, Mass., last month to watch papa Julius beat Arnold Palmer and Jacky Cupit in a playoff for the Open title.

★ ★ ★

"My father had to go from the Buick Open to the Thunderbird and from there to the Open," the youngster said. "He couldn't come by to pick me up—even though he wanted to. He promised I could come to the PGA."

Jay is certain his dad, second to Palmer in the year's money winnings, will win the PGA championship over the Dallas Athletic Club course.

"He is better than anybody coming out of the sand traps and chipping around the green," the youngster said. "He can't drive as far as Palmer and Nicklaus (Jack Nicklaus), but he can hit the ball straighter."

Boros' son said he is able to attend about four tournaments or so a year.

He follows inside the ropes but never talks to his father while the latter is playing.

"Sometimes dad will look over at me and give me a big wink," Jay added. "Once in a while, he will stroll over to the side and say, 'how did you like that one, son?' but he doesn't talk much—to anybody. He's a very shy man."

★ ★ ★

Jay was less than six months old when Julius Boros beat out Ben Hogan for the National Open crown here in 1952.

He said he started swinging a sawed-off golf club when he was two, has been playing the game since he was big enough to step up on a tee. He shot a legitimate 87 over the Boca Raton course in Florida and recently finished second in a junior tournament at Fort Lauderdale.

He has two sisters and two brothers, younger than himself—Jey, 7; Julius Jr.., 6; Gary, 3½ and Gay, 1½.

Decisions aren't always easy to come by in the city Class A baseball race.

M. G. Collision and Local 594, both scrapping for the final playoff spot (fourth place) in the loop, fought through seven innings last night and managed only a 7-7 tie for their efforts.

The game was called because of a time limit.

It marked the fourth tie game in the league this season. The circuit considers the deadlocks a half game won and half game lost and does not replay them.

Oddly, three of the four ties have resulted in the same 7-7 score.

Local 594 jumped to a 6-1 lead after four and a half innings but found itself hanging on for the tie by the bottom of the seventh.

M. G. posted a big five-spot in the fifth inning as Mike Marcum and Ron Kind drilled crucial two-run singles.

Only one game separates fourth place Talbott Lumber, the fifth place union nine and sixth place M. G. Collision with each having four games remaining.

The last twin bill on the slate is set for today at 6 p.m. on the Jaycee No. 2 diamond. Oxford's Merchants will play Huron-Airway in the opener and the Barbers will meet the pace setting Clippers at 8:30 p.m.

Pitching Effort Spoiled

It's Only a Game, but if . . .

A fellow could cry if it weren't just a game!

Things haven't been going too well for the Waterford Township Boys' Club No. 1 team in the township's junior baseball Class E league.

Entering last night's game against Elizabeth Lake which was 3-3 on the season, the Boys Club nine had only won one of six starts.

There was hope for a big win last night, though, for the boys were knotted 0-0 after six and a half innings and their pitcher Mike Waite had a no-hitter going.

But, alas, in the bottom of the last inning the lakers' Tom Ogg gained life on an error; and two stolen bases and anther miscue later the Boys' Club was out of the game, 1-0.

Dennis Hamilton spun a four-hitter to get the victory.

Other "E" action saw Benson Lumber make life miserable for the Boys' Club No. 2 team, also, 16-2.

In Class F, Mike Lutkins' home run helped the Mavericks hog tie the Jets, 18-6; and the Drayton Daisies took a 7-0 win over the Darts by just showing up, something the latter didn't do.

The Widget League continued its close contests as the Waterford Eagles topped Drayton's Merchants, 6-4, in one extra inning. This was the third such contest within the last week of play.

Holds 2nd Round Lead

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—William S. Cox Jr. of Darien, Conn., a Princeton student, held a narrow point lead today as the second round started in the North American Single-handed Sailing Championships.

Nancy Schnering's SKI SCHOOL

While almost any modern power boat can pull a skier, some are better suited to the purpose than others.

Today's outboards have all the necessary speed and power and they usually throw out far less wake than an inboard, making for smoother skiing.

A boat should have a speed of from 18 to 25 miles an hour under a ski load.

NOVICE

Below 18 miles an hour, a novice can have trouble getting on plane.

A tow boat should be between 14 and 16 feet long for best results.

On too small a boat, the stern will be pulled from side to side as the skier crosses back and forth behind it.

The amount of horsepower required varies with conditions. Engineers have worked out a table which tells us that a 10-horsepower motor, essentially for fishing, will pull a child on a light hull.

With 15 horsepower on a light hull, a beginner may have trouble getting up because of comparatively slow acceleration, but it will pull an adult.

A medium - size utility boat with 20 to 25 h.p. will usually pull two adults.

Horsepower is not the only factor in determining what ski load a boat can pull.

Much depends on hull design, weight, and other elements.

TOW BOAT is running too slow, giving skier trouble.

Ski Meet Set for Area

Seventy-five of the state's top water skiers will compete this weekend in the annual Michigan State Water Ski Championships at Oxford Lake.

Heading the list of local entries will be the brother and sister team of Harry and Nancy Mesler from the Cass Lake Ski Club.

Last year this duo swept to three state titles, Nancy winning the women's jumping class and slalom events while Harry took the men's jumping crown.

Other Cass Lake skiers defending their state crowns are Joe Chircop in the senior men's jumping event and Doug Wren in the junior boys' jumping class.

Four other area skiers will be defending their titles. Mel Patterson will seek to retain his boys' jumping crown, Jon Staryk of Elizabeth Lake will defend his junior boys' slalom title, Silver Lake's Jerry Hosner will return to defend his men's tricks title and Steve Staryk of Elizabeth Lake hopes to repeat as boys' slalom champion.

Oxford Lake is located one mile East of Oxford on Lakeville Road. Admission is free.

Sweden Crippled by Loss of Secrets

By BRACK CURRY

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sweden's armed forces have embarked on a crash program to close the defense gap caused by the betrayal of military secrets to the Soviet Union by air force Col. Stig Erik Wennerstrom.

* * *

There is an atmosphere of almost wartime urgency at the Defense Ministry.

Lights burn far into the night as army, navy and air force officers grapple with the task of repairing the probable loss of the nation's entire defense strategy to the Russians.

Security services are working around the clock to check on other possible leaks in the military establishment or the government.

* * *

Everyone—the government, opposition parties, defense staffs and the newspapers—agrees that Wennerstrom crippled Sweden. The tall, suave airman diplomat has confessed that he fed military secrets to the Russians for 15 years.

HAD ACCESS

During that period he had access to Sweden's entire defense strategy. Wennerstrom knew a lot about the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's defense plans and weapons. He visited NATO military installations. He was in frequent contact with Danish and Norwegian military men. He was friendly with many top Western diplomats here.

* * *

The armed forces face an immensely complicated and costly task. Fortifications, headquarters and battle stations, hangars, ship tunnels, repair shops and storage depots have been built into granite accomodations at top-secret locations. Newspapers have reported there are 500 of these.

Two deep tunnels have been carved out of a mountain to accommodate destroyers, submarines and other naval units. Plans have called for the entire navy to be provided with tunnels. These installations cannot be moved. Must new ones be built?

* * *

The Swedish air force of 1,000 all-jet, first-line planes must now consider whether a major redeployment to new bases underground and on the surface is needed to maintain its combat effectiveness.

ON IMPORTS

For its oil supplies Sweden depends entirely on imports. Oil and gasoline are stored in vast underground tanks in rock chambers and abandoned mines. Hidden pipelines link these to the berthing places of tankers and tank cars. It will take years and vast sums of money to relocate these.

Military expenditures now take about one-fifth of Sweden's national budget. According to some estimates, this nation now must spend the equivalent of hundreds of millions of dollars more, and in a hurry, to repair the damage of the loss of defense secrets through Wennerstrom.

* * *

Informed sources say Sweden probably will face vastly increased military research costs as a result of the Wennerstrom affair. Although Sweden is neutral and not a member of NATO, the Western powers for some time quietly passed on to the Swedish armed forces important technical data on defense matters. The view here is that the west probably will halt such aid in view of uncertainty about Sweden's security system.

* * *

Military sources say the armed forces also face a morale problem in the ranks in the wake of the Wennerstrom disclosures.

Many Swedes are asking: "If Wennerstrom could work for the Russians so long without any suspicion by our security services then how many others are doing the same in Sweden?"

Which Side Is He Taking?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Roll Call, a newspaper published weekly on Capitol Hill, said yesterday a secretary got a notice from the Library of Congress about a book she had borrowed.

The notice said: "Madam, please return the book you borrowed immediately. This book is urgently needed by a member of Congress."

The book: "Sex and the Single Girl."

Sudan Diver Lives Month Beneath Sea

PORT SUDAN (AP)— Commandant Jacques-Yves Cousteau said yesterday his seven-man team had lived for a month comfortably deep under the Red Sea in watertight "villages" equipped with air conditioning, closed-circuit television and telephones.

"Sooner or later man will live under water and build towns there," Cousteau said.

The French explorer and deep-sea diver spent his 26th wedding anniversary 45 feet under the sea with his wife Simone who went down in an aqualung to join him with a cake in a special metal container. They spent four days together in the deeps.

Most of his time, however, was spent on the mother ship "Calypso" anchored there. Those who stayed down have emerged and are now evaluating what they learned.

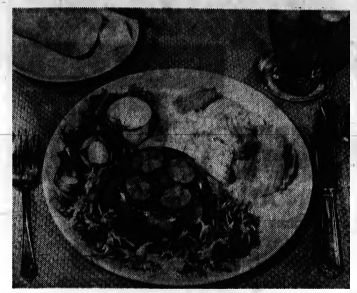
Vegetables Molded in Aspic Salad Delight

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Most homemakers think of molded salads as those using the familiar fruit-flavored gelatins. All too few serve aspic salads.

Our encyclopedic cookbook defines aspic as a "spiced tart jelly made from brown or white meat stock alone or in combination with gelatin." Tomato flavored aspic is more commonly made than any other kind.

This first recipe for tomato aspic can be made as quickly — well, almost — as regular gelatin.



ASPIC WITH STEAK SAUCE AND MUSHROOMS

QUICK TOMATO ASPIC

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold tomato juice
3½ cups hot tomato juice
1 tablespoon steak sauce

Dissolve gelatin in cold juice. Add hot juice and steak sauce. Mix well and pour into ring mold or 6 individual molds. Chill to set. Makes 6 servings.

Now if you want to go to a little more trouble and make a tomato aspic that has a spicier flavor, use the following recipe:

SPICY TOMATO ASPIC

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2¾ cups canned tomato juice
⅓ cup catsup
½ cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon onion salt
Crisp salad greens
Mayonnaise, or salad dressing

Sprinkle gelatin over tomato juice in a saucepan to soften. Heat slowly until gelatin is dissolved, stirring. Add catsup, chili sauce, lemon juice and onion salt; mix well.

Pour into a square pan and chill until firm. Serve cut into squares on crisp salad greens. Top with mayonnaise. Six to eight servings.

* * *

If you want your aspic to be a real conversation piece, try serving it in a pie shell.

When tomato aspic has chilled enough so that it mounds on a spoon, fold in 1 cup ripe olives and ½ cup celery, both chopped. Turn into a baked pastry shell and chill until firm.

Garnish with a border of cottage cheese and additional olives just before serving.

This last aspic is entirely different. The recipe calls for consomme madrilene. Don't let the name upset you. All you want is canned consomme, easily found on every grocer's shelves. This will thicken like gelatin if you chill it.

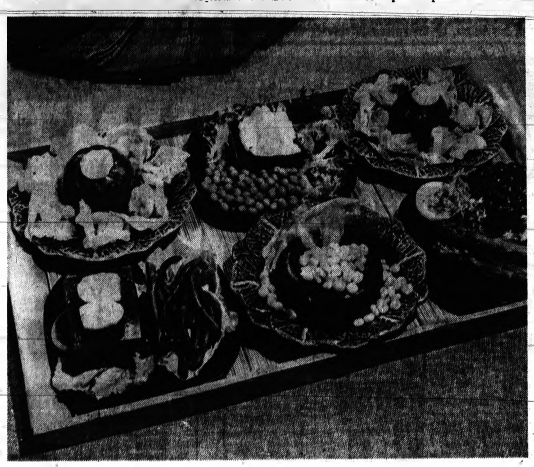
ASPIC WITH SHRIMP AND MUSHROOMS

2 11½-ounce cans consomme madrilene
2 5-ounce cans shrimp
2 3-ounce cans sliced broiled mushrooms

Chill consomme well and pour into 6 lightly oiled 8-ounce custard cups. Place in refrigerator until consomme is beginning to thicken. Drain well-chilled shrimp, cut in coarse pieces if desired, and add to consomme.

Drain well-chilled mushrooms, saving broth for use in soup or gravy, and stir into consomme. Return to refrigerator and chill until firm.

When ready to serve, unmold and serve garnished with salad greens and accompanied with your favorite salad dressing or mayonnaise. Yield: 6 servings.



WIDE VARIETY—When you have Spicy Tomato Aspic on hand, you have the basis of a variety of salads. Above, you see it molded in several ways and served with different accompaniments. Across the top the garnishes are shrimp, marinated canned peas and boned chicken or turkey. The bottom row shows marinated green beans, corn relish and asparagus spears.

SUMMER BEAN SKILLET — Canned pork and bean skillet dish keeps the kitchen cool and the family happy during hot summer months. Tender zucchini squash and ham strips are cooked right along with the beans. Take to the patio along with poppyseed rolls, canteloupe rings and ice cream, hot coffee.

Ham, Zucchini Perk Up Beans

Oh, to stay on the hammock a little longer. Does mealtime come too soon for you? With the arrival of hot and humid weather, it makes more sense than ever to let canned convenience foods do the cooking.

★ ★ ★

To keep both the kitchen cool and the family happy is quite a chore. Easy and attractive meals are a snap, though, when the pantry is stocked with all 4 kinds of canned bean products. The most lush skillet meals are ready to eat in a matter of minutes. There's hardly a person that can resist the wonderful aroma of beans.

★ ★ ★

The old favorite — pork and beans in tomato sauce — is the basis for this enticing looking dish. Canned pork and beans always make a hit — either right from the can or combined with zucchini squash and tender ham strips. This hearty meal-in-one supper is a good one to take to the porch or patio. Finish off with poppyseed rolls, cantaloupe rings and ice cream, and hot coffee.

Summer Bean Skillet

1 cup cooked ham cut in 1½-inch strips
1 cup zucchini cut in ¼-inch slices quartered
¼ cup chopped onion
1 small clove garlic, minced
Generous dash crushed basil
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (1 pound) pork and beans with tomato sauce

In skillet, brown ham and cook zucchini, onion, garlic, and basil in shortening until vegetables are tender. Add beans. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Prepare a basic cheddar cheese sauce (choose your favorite mild, flavorful, or robust cheddar) and spark with minced pimiento. Place cauliflower, snap beans, green peas, asparagus, or broccoli in a greased casserole and pour the cheese sauce over it. Sprinkle with crumbled cooked bacon and buttered bread crumbs. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees, until brown.

Calories Alone Not Food Type Control Weight

The most important factor in losing weight is the total number of calories consumed, not the type of food, according to Laurance W. Kinsell, M.D., Institute for Metabolic Research, Highland-Alameda County Hospital, Oakland, Calif.

★ ★ ★

He reports that weight loss was essentially identical in three obese patients on three types of diets, all totaling 1,200 calories. One diet was high in carbohydrates, another high in fat and the third was high in both protein and fat, he said.

"On the basis of the findings in this study, there appears to be no question that the major factor responsible for weight loss in any individual is limitation of calories," Dr. Kinsell concluded.

"So long as the calorie level remains constant, the rate of weight loss is the same whether the diet be high in carbohydrate and low in fat, or the reverse."

Avoid Curdling

When you need to mix a beaten egg with a hot mixture, be sure to pour the hot mixture very slowly into the egg, stirring constantly as you do so. This way of mixing prevents the eggs from curdling.

Like cinnamon flavor? Add a little to a graham-cracker crust that's going to have a chocolate filling.

Chilled Custard Ideal Summer Dessert

Seasoned to taste, egg custard creations are a perfect, cooling summertime dessert. Serve them pudding or pie fashion.

The full-bodied consistency and velvety smoothness so typical of custards is due to the eggs. The special thickening ability of eggs transforms fluid milk into custard consistency with just the gentle hint of heat, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This heating process is vital to turning out a good custard. Overcooking or cooking at too high a temperature will curdle a soft or stirred custard. If curding does happen, remove the custard from the heat immediately and beat vigorously until it is smooth. Do not cook further.

Baked custards become watery when baked too long or at too high a temperature. Tiny water bubbles form throughout the mixture, so custard is "watery" when spooned. Ideally, they should be smooth, jelly-like, and hold their shape when served.

Both styles of custards will "weep" if they aren't kept well-chilled until served. But, a good custard can be cooked and will win your family's praise.

Treat your family to a cooling egg custard dessert now while eggs are so plentiful and economically priced, suggests USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Soft (Or Stirred) Egg Custards

3 cups milk
3 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat milk to scalding over low heat. Beat eggs slightly and add sugar and salt, blending well to distribute ingredients evenly and completely. Gradually add scalded milk to egg mixture, slowly to prevent instantly cooking the egg which would hinder its thickening ability.

Return egg mixture to a heavy saucepan or double boiler and cook over low heat stirring gently and constantly, just until mixture coats the spoon. Remove pan from heat immediately and cool promptly.

* * *

Place pan in cold water or pour custard into a chilled bowl, and stir several times to hasten cooling. Stir vanilla into cooled custard and cover tightly to prevent "skin" from forming on surface. Serves 6.

Baked Egg Custards

2 cups milk
3 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat milk to scalding over low heat. Beat eggs slightly and add sugar, salt and vanilla, blending well to distribute ingredients evenly and completely. Gradually add scalded milk to egg mixture, slowly.

* * *

Pour egg mixture into 4 oven-to-table custard cups and place cups in deep baking pan. Pour in enough hot water to reach level of custard. The hot water helps the custard bake evenly and thoroughly. Bake at 325 degrees until firm, 30 to 40 minutes. A silver knife inserted into the center will come out clean when custard is set.

Remove cups from hot water at once, allow to cool, then refrigerate until well chilled. Serves 4.

Broiled Chicken Livers

Broil skewered chicken livers just two or three inches from source of heat. Leave a little space between the livers so they'll brown as much as possible on all sides; turn them, of course.

Freeze-drying, newest food processing method, allows foods like shrimp, chicken, mushrooms, even hamburger to be stored without refrigeration for as long as two years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Courts Can Commit Alcoholic to Hospital

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Here's a letter which I wish I could toss in the chucker and forget. I can't.

"Dr. Brady: My husband drinks to extremes. Members of the A.A. have talked to him and he has promised to attend their meetings, but he never has. He drinks so much it is affecting his mind. His boss has tried to persuade him to do something but he won't.

"I'm afraid he will injure someone when driving. He has gotten so he can't face the neighbors. Is there anyone I may get to help me?"

(Signed) Mrs. .....

My reply was as follows:

"Dear Mrs.....: If the man does not go immediately to Alcoholics Anonymous or to a psychiatrist in your community, whom your physician or any physician will recommend, you or any next of kin should apply without delay to a court of record to commit the man to a suitable hospital or sanitarium for treatment. This is for the man's own good and the good of his family and the community. Yes, you can get a minister, rabbi or priest to help you."

(Signed) Wm. Brady, M.D.

A letter like that brings up again all the misery, heartache, disgrace, crime, suicide that indulgence in alcohol brings to the family or dependents of the addict. All the revolting tragedies due to alcoholism—tragedies I have seen and every doctor sees in the course of his or her own practice.

Then I get to thinking about the downright fearful silence, the dignified silence, of the ministers, rabbis and priests on the proposal that youngsters under their influence be asked to take a pledge not to use alcohol or tobacco before the age of 21.

I'd be happy to hear from any reader who knows of a pastor who persuades young people to take and keep a pledge against the use of alcohol and/or tobacco before the age of 21.

★ ★ ★

Incidentally, the members of A.A. who talked to this addict were exceptionally kind. As a rule, and experience has shown it is a good rule, Alcoholics Anonymous considers it is for the drinker to go to them, attend one of their meetings, if he or she wants help.

So it is not enough for the alcoholic casualty to promise to go to an A.A. meeting. He must actually go to the meeting—and if he does, he and his family and friends may well bless the day he took that step.

Signed letters, not more than one page of 100 words long pertaining to personal health or hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

State Jobless Rate Down During May

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University's Bureau of Business and Economic Research reported yesterday that unemployment in the state dropped to 4.5 per cent of the labor force in May.

The total number of jobless was 131,000, the bureau said.

★ ★ ★

This figure contrasts with 5.5 per cent unemployed in April and 6.1 per cent reported for May of last year.

The national average for May was 6 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The greatest decrease was reported in the Upper Peninsula, where the rate dropped from 14.4 to 10 per cent. Lowest jobless rate was in Flint, with 1.8 per cent unemployed.

Opening lead—♣ A

By OSWALD JACOBY

It is remarkable how often an expert will find a safety play to make a contract that other players would lose.

North bid too much and the final contract was nothing to brag about, but Eddie Rosen of Chicago, who played the hand managed to bring it home.

JACOBY

He could not have made it against a heart lead, but West opened the ace of trumps and shifted to the queen of clubs and from then on Eddie was in complete control of everything.

He took his ace of clubs, led a heart to dummy's king, discarded his last heart on dummy's king of clubs, ruffed a low heart, entered dummy with the ten of trumps, ruffed another low heart, cashed his last two trumps in order to draw the rest of East's trumps and also to get rid of dummy's last low club and seven of diamonds.

Then he led a diamond to the ace and announced, "The board is good."

The whole play is worthy of study. Most players would have simply drawn trumps and played for a 3-2 heart break, but Eddie guarded against the 4-1 split.

What do you do now?

A—Bid six hearts to show two kings. Your partner can assume that you have solid spades so it is up to him to bid seven if he thinks you can make it.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five no-trump after four five diamonds, your partner has jumped to six no-trump. What do you do now?

Says U. S. Race Trouble Misunderstood in Africa

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas says Africans have a distorted image of racial troubles in the United States.

Returning yesterday from a three-week tour of Africa, Douglas said in New York City the several hundred American teachers and student volunteers on that continent "are the best emissaries America ever had."

2 Fliers Killed in State Crash

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPD) — A pilot and his companion were killed last night when their one-engine Apache crashed in a wooded area near Weidman, 14 miles northwest of here.

Killed were Leonard Johnson, 56, Weidman, and William Skinner, 32, Matherton.

State Police said the pair had taken off from Mount Pleasant earlier in the evening in search of a balloon carrying weather instruments belonging to Skinner.

A witness told police he saw the two-passenger plane suddenly veer to the left, hang in the air for a moment, then spin to the ground.

* * *

The plane's engine was pushed into the passenger compartment by the impact. Both victims were dead at the scene, officers said.

The plane belonged to Johnson, who had his own landing strip.

Sherman Improves With Laryngitis

Life of the Party Parodies Way to Success

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Friday night, an estimated 20,000 people will pay good money at the Hollywood Bowl to hear Allan Sherman, the world's highest paid amateur.

* * *

It is, to the day, the six-months anniversary of the first paid public appearance (at Carnegie Hall) of the pudgy former comedy writer and television producer.

For years Sherman was one of those life of the party types around Hollywood who even had the comics laughing. He did it all by writing and singing original parodies to popular songs, always with a hep Yiddish flavor.

* * *

Allan sang his parodies for free for years. Then George Burns, Jack Benny and Harpo Marx urged him to put them on an album.

The album was called: "Allan Sherman's Mother Presents 'My Son the Folk Singer.'"

* * *

It sold in the millions and launched Allan on a career as a performer that has him both deliriously happy and deliriously worried.

PROP GUITAR

"Look," he says worriedly," I'm photographed with a guitar but I can't play it. I got a voice that improves with laryngitis. I get scared of crowds and all this excitement. Guys like Benny and Burns, they're professionals. But me, I'm just an amateur."

As a professional comedy writer and television producer, Sherman used to make a comfortable $1,000 a week. As an "amateur performer," he has earned close to a million dollars in the last six months.

* * *

Since the first album, he has made "My Son, the Celebrity" and "My Son, the Nut."

In clubs, he headlines at the Sands in Las Vegas and the Copacabana in New York. A one-nighter concert tour in February grossed him more than $200,000.

KENNEDY'S GUEST

He also dined with President Kennedy, an avowed fan, at the White House.

Warner Bros., which records him, wants to do a feature movie based on his life. His future includes producing and co-starring with Glenn Ford in the movie version of "Where Did You Go? Out. What Did You Do? Nothing."

READY FOR SHOW — Cornel Cappon (left) puts finishing touches on his Port Huron steam engine which he repainted to take to the Michigan Steam Engine and Threshers Club show to be held in Nashville, July 26-28. His son Robert is in the engine cab and will operate another engine in the sixth annual event.

Vatican Envoys Go to U.S.S.R. for Anniversary

ZAGORSK, U.S.S.R. (AP) — With two representatives of the Vatican present, the Russian Orthodox Church yesterday celebrated the 50th anniversary of the ordination as a bishop of Alexei, Patriarch of Moscow and all the Russians.

The Most Rev. Francois Charriere, bishop of Lausanne, Geneva and Freiburg in Switzerland and the Rev. Christophe Dumont, head of the Istina Institute for Study of Russian Orthodoxy, attended the ceremonies in this 14th Century monastery.

Observers said it was part of a Roman Catholic effort to establish closer contacts with the Russian Church.

Era Returns in Steam Club Show

NASHVILLE (AP) — A fire-eating era of the past returns here July 26-28 for a brief fling in the sixth annual Michigan Steam Engine and Threshers Club show.

Dozens of engines, large and small, are restored by club members for the event in which the devices are fired up to show how they once put steam life into threshing, baling and sawing operations.

The engines also will perform in daily parades, races, ramp climbing and a tug-of-war.

Kenneth Lewis of Jackson, club secretary, is in charge of events. Club members set up a 4,000-gallon tank to supply water for the steam engines at the show in Charlton Park six miles west of here.

Several of the larger mobile engines travel to the show under their own power. Others are tucked in.

Among those being driven is a 19-horsepower, 1922 model thresher owned by Cornel Cappon of Woodland.

Guerrillas Plan Takeover of All Portuguese Guinea

CONAKRY, Guinea (UPI)—Rebel guerrillas who control at least 15 per cent of neighboring Portuguese Guinea said today they hoped to take over the entire colony by the end of the year.

* * *

It was the first disclosure of rebel activity in Angola for years.

A rebel communique reaching Conakry from the "African Party of Independence for Guinea and the Cape Verde Islands" reported heavier and more frequent fighting with Portuguese soldiers and said the Portugese have brought in tanks to cover their infantry units.

A rebel spokesman in Conakry said the guerrillas would capture the capital of Bissau by the end of the year if they received the aid promised by African heads of state at the Addis Ababa Conference earlier this year.

SEIZE 15 PER CENT

In Lisbon, Portugese Defense Minister Gen. Manuel Gomes Darajuo admitted the rebels had seized 15 per cent of Portugese Guinea, most of it a marshy region of rivers, canels and swamps in the southern part of the territory.

Gomes said the rebel forces in the south consisted of "numerous well-armed terrorist bands" operating from the Republic of Guinea across the border. He said sporadic raids in the North which had been reported previously were launched from Senegal.

"Measures are being taken to normalize the situation rapidly in the area subject to terrorist action and to prevent such action from spreading," Gomes said.

* * *

Portugese Guinea is a small territory of 13,948 square miles on the northeast coast of Africa. It is bounded on the north by Senegal and on the south by Guinea, both former French colonies which achieved independence in 1958.

* * *

Gomes' statement was the first official admission that Portugal was fighting rebels in any African territory except northern Angola, where a nationalist guerrilla campaign has been carried on for some time.

* * *

The rebel spokesman here said the entire southern region of Portugese Guinea was under rebel control. He said some Portugese garrisons have been isolated and are being supplied by air.

Fisher Denies Plans to Wed N.Y. Model

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Singer Eddie Fisher, estranged husband of actress Elizabeth Taylor, has denied rumors he plans to marry New York model Renata Boeck.

"I don't know what my plans are," said Fisher yesterday when asked about the rumors.

"We are good friends. She's visiting here in Las Vegas," added the singer.

* * *

Asked about his marriage to Miss Taylor, now romantically involved with Welsh actor Richard urton, Fisher replied:

* * *

"There have always been divorce plans. As far as anything further than that is concerned, one thing at a time."

Liz Taylor Agent Says Court Order Violated by Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kurt Frings, Elizabeth Taylor's agent, complained to Superior Court Judge Burnett Wolfson Wednesday that his estranged wife, playwright Kelli Frings, has violated a court order by excluding him from the steamroom at their Beverly Hills home.

She left the state, he said, after changing the locks on the building.

Mrs. Frings has a separate maintenance suit pending. Last April the couple agreed that she would occupy their home but that Frings would have limited steam bath privileges.

Weathers SEC Report

Stock Market Irregularly Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly higher in slow trading early this afternoon as Wall Street weathered the shock of the latest report from the Securities & Exchange Commission.

★ ★ ★

The staff report of the SEC recommended some drastic changes in trading procedures, but Wall Streeters observed that the study has not as yet been given the stamp of approval from the full commission and that any changes made would come only after further study and enactment of new regulations.

CAUTIOUS

The market was cautious from the start, with many issues unchanged and most taking minor losses in early trading. More and more gainers appeared as the session wore on.

Some fairly wide advances were made by an assortment of the more speculative issues.

Motors, oils, steels, rails and building materials showed a generally higher trend. Most of the other major groups were narrowly mixed.

The comparatively mild decline of the market yesterday on its first reaction to news of the harsh criticism emanating from a branch of the Government was regarded as fairly reassuring, so far as fundamental market psychology is concerned, brokers said.

The Dow Jones industrial average—which yesterday made a slight penetration of the 700 "support level"—was up 1.20 at noon at 700.92.

AVERAGE UP

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 268.4 with industrials up .3, rails up .3, and utilities up .1.

ON AMERICAN

The American Stock Exchange prices were irregularly higher in quiet trading. Some gains were sharp. New Process rose more than 4, Rayette and Syntex close to 3 each. Sherwin-Williams added 2. Data-Control Systems and Paddington "A" advanced more than a point each and Stelma added about a point.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U. S. Government bonds edged higher.

N-Ban Envoys in Brief Session

American, Briton Hold Serious Conversation

From Our News Wires

MOSCOW — Big Three negotiators met late and quit early today in their efforts to work out further details of a limited nuclear test ban treaty.

★ ★ ★

The session at Spiridonovka Palace lasted only an hour and 25 minutes. It was the shortest of four to date.

U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and Lord Hailsham of Britain were engaged in a serious conversation as they departed. They drove off in Harriman's car.

The negotiations resumed in the wake of a Washington news conference statement by President Kennedy that he was "hopeful" the negotiators would agree to halting nuclear tests in the atmosphere, underwater and in space.

A three-power communique issued in Moscow last night said that "progress" had been made in drafting treaty provisions. The rival East and West drafts already put forward at the Moscow nuclear talks were understood to be fairly close in positions.

BEGAN LATE

The big three talks began an hour and a half later than scheduled today because of a lunch Gromyko gave the visiting East German Foreign Minister Lothar Boltz.

East German sources said Boltz was in Moscow to discuss the Berlin problem in connection with the three-power talks.

★ ★ ★

The consultations between Soviet and East German leaders during the nuclear conference led to speculation that another move might be in the works to try to solve the Berlin problem.

The conference, although primarily devoted to the nuclear issue, was understood to have held soundings already — but not negotiations — on a number of cold war issues, including an East-West nonagression pact and the problem of Laos.

Financing for Cars Gets Lower, Longer

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of today's auto buyers are making smaller monthly payments than those of just a few months back. This trend to lower down payments and longer time to repay is moderate so far and widely scattered—and generally deplored by leading finanace companies.

DAWSON

The trend is traced to the big rush to sell cars in a booming production year—and, even more, to sharp competition among lending agencies.

★ ★ ★

Total auto sales are high but rivalry is keen among different makes, and dealers are pushing hard for more buyers. Lending institutions have plenty of funds on hand, often from savings on which they are paying higher interest this year. Their urge to put these funds to work is strong. Some are easing credit terms to get more business.

The move this week by the federal Reserve to raise short-term interest rates isn't expected to have any immediate effect on the auto loan market.

Most lending agencies are sticking to a maximum of 36 months for repayment. But the average maturity of new car installment contracts has risen, the Federal Reserve reports. In the first quarter of 1963 about 75 per cent of all contracts that commercial banks and sales finance companies purchased from dealers carried maturities of 36 months, it notes, compared to 70 per cent in 1961 and 25 per cent in 1955. The average maturity last year was around 31 months, but this year has crept up to near 32 months.

★ ★ ★

But in some cities of late, car buyers have been getting up to 42 or 48 months in which to finish payments.

BLAME BANKS

Leading car financing companies blame some commercial banks for this trend and say they won't go along.

"The maximum 36-month term payment plan is reasonable and Ford intends to hold to it," Robert S. Olson, chairman of Ford Motor Credit Co., said in an interview.

Thomas W. Towell, president of General Motors Acceptance Corp., says his company feels that "36 months should continue to be regarded as the maximum term on new automobiles" because that is in the "best interests of car dealers and car buyers everywhere."

★ ★ ★

Dr. C. A. Walker, executive vice president of the American Bankers Association, warns bankers who are tempted to stretch time of repayment that an ABA committee has found that "longer financing terms appeal to buyers who are marginal credit risks."

Ford's Olson explains why the 36-month maximum seems best for both dealer and buyer this way:

"A person who is able to purchase a new car every two or three years doesn't need longer than 36 months to pay the balance. A purchaser of a used car, buying at a lower price, shouldn't need a longer period."

★ ★ ★

The extension to 48 months originated in the Miami, Fla., area, Olson says, and has since spread to a few other scattered regions.

"When a similar easy credit rush happened a few years back," he adds, "it led to many repossessions. Either the lenders lost money, or owners found that stertched-out payments gave them so little equity in their cars they were hamstrung in trade-ins for new cars."

Often they let their cars be repossessed, to the lender's sorrow. Or dealers suffered because they couldn't sell new cars to owners whose old cars still weren't free of debt.

Grain Futures Trade Is Somewhat Slower

CHICAGO (AP) — Trade in the grain futures market was rather slow with scattered buying firming some contracts of wheat and soybeans during the first several minutes of activity today on the board of trade.

Gains reached major fractions in spots on both wheat and soybeans but prices elsewhere were narrowly mixed. Some of the support for wheat was credited to flour mill accounts while speculators showed some preference again for the long side of soybeans.

Brokers said the market appeared to have no significant influences just now and that trade probably will be largely quick-turn speculative transactions pending new developments.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I am a bachelor aged 70. I have several nieces and nephews whom I would like to help with their education a few years from now. I own the following stocks and would like your advice on them as a sort of educational fund. My stocks are Beech-Nut Life Savers, Bristol - Myers, Rexall, Richardson - Merrell, Jones & Laughlin, Pan American Airways, Tungsol." N. M.

(A) I think on the whole you've put together a pretty good list of stocks. However, educational costs seem to be rising faster than other segments of the economy, and you will need as much growth as you can get from your stock list.

Looked at solely from this viewpoint, I would hold Beech-Nut, Bristol - Myers, Rexall and Pan American. I would switch Richardson-Merrell into Merck; Jones & Laughlin into American Express; and Tungsol into American Electric.

I believe that these changes will better help you to realize your ambition.

(Q) "I am 17 years old and will be a senior in high school next year. I am interested in buying some good stocks for appreciation. What is your opinion of the following list? Which would be your first choice and when should I buy? My list includes Celanese, Central & South West, Gulf Oil, International Harvester, Northern Natural Gas, Standard of New Jersey, Consumers Power, General Motors, and Union Pacific." J. S.

(A) If you put this list together, you should be warmly commended. It's an admirable group and I think you would do well with any of these stocks.

At your age, and presumably without the need of income, I should try to measure these issues solely in terms of potential long-range price appreciation.

On this basis, I like best Consumers Power, International Harvester, Central & South West and Northern Natural Gas.

I cannot tell you in this type of column how to time your purchases, but this market seems overdue for correction — and if that occurs, buy then.

Reuther Opposes New Discount Rate

DETROIT (AP) — The boosting of its discount rate by the federal reserve board was described as "incredible" yesterday by United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

Reuther said the discount rate, which was raised from three to three and a half per cent this week by seven of the 12 reserve banks will eventually drive up the cost of money to home buyers, those who buy on installment credit and small businessmen.

The discount rate is the interest charged on loans to member banks of the federal reserve system.

Jury Indicts Detroit Company for Misbranding

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit firm and two of its officials were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on 12 counts of violating the federal food and drug act by misbranding and misrepresenting articles in inter-state commerce.

Indicted were Detroit Vital Foods Inc. and its president, Lelord Kordel, and treasurer, Alfred J. Fevilen. Each count holds a maximum penalty of three years in prison and $10,000 fine.

The government charges the firm misrepresented its products in lectures and literature by claiming they would reduce high blood pressure, prevent premature aging, prevent and control colds and reduce the death rate from typhoid fever.

The goods were marketed under the names Frutex, Korleen, Aminex, Lecigen and Mutritime, the government said.

Unions to Talk on Retirement

Flint, Pontiac UAWs to Meet Next Week

A proposal designed to allow workers to retire earlier will be discussed at a meeting next week between leaders from three Pontiac UAW locals and representatives from two Flint UAW unions.

The Flint labor leaders—Bud Lawley, representing Chevrolet Local 659, and James Katemis, of Buick Local 599—are trying to swing the support of Pontiac's UAW unions behind the movement.

* * *

Meeting with them will be John Maye, president of Pontiac Motor Division Local 653; Andy Wilson, president of GMC Truck & Coal Local 594; and Gerald Kehoe, president of Fisher Body Local 596.

The proposal sponsored by the Flint UAW locals asks that the major bargaining demands by the UAW upon General Motors and the other automakers in the 1964 contract negotiations be:

1. A service pension plan offering the option of retirement at 25 years service at one-half base pay, at 30 years service at two-thirds base pay or at age 60 at double the present benefits.

2. A doubling of the current pension and the establishment of full survivor benefits.

The proposal also supports the "Sixty Now" movement which advocates a revision of Social Security permitting retirement at age 60 with benefits of $200 a month; plus $100 a month for the spouse regardless of age.

Sponsors of the proposal say it would go a long way toward solving the nation's unemployment and automation problems and would help to provide greater security for senior citizens.

However, before it can even be presented as a bargaining demand to the automobile manufacturers, it must be approved by the GM production subcouncil, the GM annual conference and the UAW national convention.

A similar early retirement resolution offered by Local 659 and AC Local 651, also of Flint, was given unanimous approval at the GM conference last April.

BUGGED LITTERBUG BOX — A talking trash receptacle stops passers-by in New York's Times Square, carries on friendly conversations with them and urges them not to throw litter on the street. Known as "Lively Louie," the receptacle is equipped with an intercom system, with a master station in an office overlooking the street, a speaker and reply microphone in the container. Some people think there's a midget inside.

'Short Skirts Not Logical'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Rev. N. J. Ezekiel, head of the Lutheran Church of India, is puzzled by one aspect of American life.

"With so much wealth in your country, with so much money to buy beautiful cloth," he said Wednesday at a church conference, "I'm surprised American girls and women wear their skirts so short."

3 GIs Die in Ambush by Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Three Americans—two special forces captains and a sergeant—were killed in a Viet Cong ambush today while they were distributing medical supplies to villagers in Communist-infested Binh Long Province, 70 miles due north of Saigon.

* * *

Three Vietnamese men on the mission were wounded.

Reports received by U.S. military authorities here said the Red guerrillas opened up with a burst of small arms fire from the roadside. The Vietnamese driver of a jeep leading the three-vehicle convoy and another Vietnamese were hit by the first burst.

Automatic weapons fire raked the other two vehicles and a grenade exploded in the second jeep, killing the American sergeant outright, fatally wounding the two U.S. captains and critically wounding another Vietnamese.

Security forces in the convoy returned the fire and the Viet Cong withdrew.

Names of the American victims were withheld.

* * *

The action took place on a highway known as "Bloody Route 13" because of the number of American casualties suffered on it.

Past Governor League Officer

Named Director of Government Group

Former governor Murray D. Van Wagoner today was named a director of the Oakland Citizens League (OCL), 25-year-old county good government group.

William H. McGaughey, league president, said Van Wagoner is the first of three new officers who will be elected to increase the board to 24 members.

Van Wagoner was governor during early World War II, later served as military governor of occupied Bavaria and was an organizer of Citizens for Michigan.

* * *

In new OCL committee appointments, Troy Mayor Robert Huber will head the Issues Committee and Henry L. Woofenden, a Bloomfield Hills commissioner, will chair the liaison committee.

* * *

Mrs. Philip E. Cartwright, 1385 Brookwood, Birmingham, will head membership activities.

Added to the Home Rule Committee were: Mayor David R. Calhoun of Huntington Woods; Mrs. Doris Moser, 551 Mohegan, Birmingham; and Mrs. Harriet Phillips, 2510 W. Raycourt, Huntington Woods.

Half House Big Woe for Joe

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The city of Charlotte and Joe Conrad are at odds over half a house.

The city wants to pay Conrad $28,288.50 for his trouble and half the house. Conrad says it's not enough.

Conrad owned a big house at 1301 Greenwood Cliff. The city wanted to extend a street. Half of Conrad's house site was needed.

The city used its right to condemn and began tearing down the house.

"Saw it in two," Conrad told city officials. "You're not taking but half of it."

The city's half of the house was expected to be cleared away today.

Conrad still won't pick up the city's check.

"I don't think I'm getting a fair price," he said. "I'm going to let a jury decide what is a fair price."

Viet Police Raid Clerics

SAIGON, Viet Nam, (AP)—Government combat police crossed their own barbed-wire barricades today and raided a Buddhist pagoda packed with 400 monks, nuns and their followers. The police carried away three Buddhists.

Buddhists took refuge in the Giac Minh pagoda after police broke up a demonstration yesterday with clubs, rifle butts and kicks. American security officers said the police acted with deliberate brutality which shocked and disgusted them.

President Kennedy yesterday expressed hope at his news conference for a settlement of the religious strike between the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic, and the Buddhists. The Buddhists accuse the government of religious persecution.

A threatened Buddhist demonstration outside the U.S. embassy failed to materialize by midmorning.

Presume Plane Lost

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — An American transport plane carrying four Americans and two Chinese on a mercy mission was reported missing and presumed lost today in the mountains of northwest Laos.

Tower of Pisa Lists but Still Standing

WASHINGTON — Bonanno Pisano, a superb designer of monuments, was a monumental flop as an engineer. One look at the beautiful but crooked Tower of Pisa provides ample proof of his great abilities and dismal failings.

The tower, built in the 12th Century, has been listing further and further ever since. Italians, who have come to love it, are planning to send more than $3-million to prevent any further sag.

* * *

Bonanno's bell tower has been a constant headache to Pisans, who worry about its incline and possible fall, the National Geographic Society says. It has been the source of many tales, jokes and some modest revenue — rare is the visitor who has not paid for the privilege of staggering up the 294 steps to the top.

BASIC MISCALCULATION

It was A.D. 1174 and Bonanno had just completed the base and first three galleries of the tower. Suddenly, the moist, clay soil gave way and the tower lurched over drunkenly. Bonanno had made the base too shallow. He quit the job in disgust.

After Bonanno's mortified exit, no one worked on the tower for nearly a century, then came Giovanni di Simone, who styled himself "The Omnipotent," and added three more galleries. He built them at an angle, in an attempt to correct the tower's lean.

As a result, the tower acquired a bend, as well as a bias.

The belfry, with its great bells, was added about the year 1300 by a third architect, Tomaso di Andrea. An Italian guidebook, without explanation, describes Tomaso as "courageous."

When "The Omnipotent" took over, the tower was leaning about 10 inches off the perpendicular. Now the top is more than 17 feet out of line and the tilt is increasing some four-tenths of an inch each decade.

* * *

An inclinometer and seismograph — instruments to measure the degree of tilt and intensity of vibrations — have been installed in the tower to keep watch on its stability. The Italian government has a Commission for Vigilance for the Stability of the Bell Tower of Pisa.

The bells were silenced in 1934 because their vibrations were endangering the tower. Water was drained from the soil under the foundation and 900 tons of concrete were injected under pressure in the same year.

This seemed to stop the lean, but 10 years later, during World War II, artillery shells exploding nearby set the tower in motion again.

* * *

The current, $3-million plan calls for removal of the old soil and its replacement with a more stable foundation. This would leave the tower leaning at about the present angle. Pisans are horrified at any suggestion that the tower be set straight.

FINANCIAL AWARDS

Over the centuries, hundreds of ideas to prevent further lean have been advanced. Financial awards and honorary citizenship have been offered to anyone presenting a feasible plan. Until the present one, no remedy had been found acceptable.

A novel idea was tried out one New Year's morning not long ago. A party of foreign tourists ran a steel cable around the tower and tied both ends to the rear bumper of their automobile.

The car went off with a roar. The bumper came off with a clang. The tower held on majestically.

School Board to Get Report on Building

Waterford Township Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe will report to the school board tonight on activity to date in the school system's building program.

* * *

Sites already acquired, future school sites needed and budgeting for the building projects will be included in the report.

A $8.25-million building program over a five-year period was approved at the polls last month.

Board members also will consider recommendations by the superintendent of schools pertaining to teaching contracts and student insurance.

* * *

Mrs. Shirley McCoy, food services director for the school system, will report on the 1962-63 cafeteria program.

Inside Ourselves

Learn Human Interest

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE P-456: Clark G., aged 20, is a journalism student who wanted to learn the secrets of human interest.

DR. CRANE

So I told him that people are interested chiefly in themselves, now.

The secret of human interest is thus wrapped up inside our own skin, now!

Every inch that a writer or speaker moves away from our skin in space, we tend to lose interest.

For example, you are far more concerned about your own aching corn or bunion than about Mr. Kennedy's lame back.

And your own painful corn monopolizes your attention far more than any painful peptic ulcer that Khrushchev may have.

* * *

Furthermore, people are more interested in "today" than in "tomorrow."

Offer school children their choice of half a day's vacation today vs. a whole day off next week, and they'll generally take the half day TODAY.

The ancient Hebrews showed this same tendency. For they actually revolted against Moses in the wilderness.

They wanted to go back to slavery under the cruel whips of the Egyptians, because they had empty stomachs in the wilderness.

Their future freedom when they were due to enter their Promised Land, did not appeal to them as much as a full stomach, NOW.

And that is typical of millions of voters. They'll sell out the freedoms of the U.S. Constitution if somebody offers them a half dollar or a stein of beer on election day.

Applied to writing and the stage or speaker's rostrum, this means the audience prefer words that refer to themselves, now!

But you must distinguish between logic vs. emotion.

Nouns and verbs are almost devoid of human attributes and so are dry, "essay" sermons.

Textbooks usually make dull reading while novels and fiction stories are fascinating. Why?

* * *

Because logic is without sensory qualities; And emotions depend on eyes, ears, nose, tongue or touch—the five senses.

To stimulate these senses, we find that adjectives are better than nouns!! And narration is far superior to the essay format.

Yesterday I contrasted the factual statement, "The boy is walking," with the similar statement made more appealing to our sense organs, "The little immigrant boy is walking with tears in his eyes, carrying his dead puppy."

People can identify themselves more easily with your verbal scenes when you stimulate their sense organs. Adjectives and modifying phrases are the chief stimulators of emotion.

* * *

Notice these sample adjectives, "Fearful, hungry, furious, horrible, tearful, chilly, devoted, humble, prayerful, etc."

Logic depends chiefly on nouns and action words called verbs.

Logic may be essential to carry the audience to the proper conclusion. But logic is like the bones of our skeleton.

And a skeleton does not possess adequate humanizing qualities to permit empathy.

So adjectives permit the writer or speaker to add the dynamic flesh and blood to that logical skeleton which will fascinate an audience.

2 Bound Over for Theft Trial

Charged in Robbery of Pontiac Tavern

Two men charged with the $1,260 unarmed robbery of a Pontiac tavern June 30, yesterday were bound over for trial in Oakland County Circuit Court.

* * *

Ex-convict Felix Stemlo, 32, of 2420 Kenosha, Oak Park, was remanded to the county jail when he was unable to post $7,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Codefendant Thomas Fairbanks, 32, of 330 W. Princeton, was released on $1,000 bond.

* * *

Police say Fairbanks, a part-time bartender at the Trojan Bar, 72 Auburn, and Stemlo, entered the establishment after it closed and looted the safe.

* * *

Stemlo reportedly was paroled from Jackson Prison in April after being sentenced in 1956 for a series of safe robberies in downriver Detroit.

Woman Dies in County Auto Crash

Mrs. Ruth G. McGowan, 66, of 741 Owego, died yesterday afternoon after an automobile accident in Farmington Township.

Last Year to Date 48

Mrs. McGowan sustained severe chest injuries in the accident at Middle Belt and 13-Mile roads.

A passenger in her car, Isla A. Jarvis, 71, of the same address, was listed in fair condition this morning at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. She is being treated for multiple fractures and contusions.

Uninjured in the crash was 2-year-old Cynthia K. McDowall, also in the car Mrs. McGowan was driving.

Driver of the other car, Paul Andoni, 25, of Detroit, was treated and released from the hospital.

* * *

Farmington Township police said Mrs. McGowan apparently did not heed a stop sign and her northbound vehicle went into the path of Andoni's car, going east on 13-Mile Road.

Both of the women were thrown from their car in the accident, which occurred shortly after 2 p. m., police said. Mrs. McGowan died about an hour later in the hospital.

Brando's Illness Stops His Plan to Demonstrate

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Actor Marlon Brando's fight against a recurrent kidney infection today frustrated his battle for Negro civil rights.

Attendants at St. John's hospital said the "very sick" actor's condition was "unchanged" today.

Brando, 39, had planned to fly east to participate in weekend integration demonstrations in Maryland, but was stricken yesterday with the ailment which hospitalized him last May.

"He will be hospitalized at least several days, and I'm sure he will not be able to go ahead with his plans to be in Maryland Sunday," said his physician, Dr. Robert Kositcheck.

"He's very sick, running a high fever," the doctor added.

Telstar II Satellite Ends Radio Signal

NEW YORK (AP) — Telstar II, after 450 successful orbits, suddenly has quit sending signals.

The communications satellite's radio was working when it passed over Johannesburg, South Africa, Tuesday. But minutes later the Woomera, Australia, station received no signal.

* * *

A spokesman for American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said yesterday: "We have no idea what might be wrong — not a clue."

Meanwhile, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Relay I has operated 191 days, longer than any other communications satellite.

Hemophilia is not a new disease — references to it are found in ancient Hebrew writings and it was accurately described 150 years ago.

Wants President to Go Fly a Kite

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New Jersey congressman plans to introduce a bill to make kite flying legal in Washington.

"The President, poor fellow, has to go all the way up to Hyannis Port to teach his children how to fly one," said Rep. Frank Thompson Jr.

The New Jersey Democrat, who likes to fly kites himself, recently discovered that flying kites and hot air balloons is punishable here by a $10 fine.

AN INEVITABLE SITUATION — All the owner of these Great Dane puppies wanted was a picture of them posed with the dog show cup won by their mother—but family pride demanded more of the puppies than that, such as an investigation —and everyone knew that the nose of one would get stuck in the cup.

Because of State Ruling

Annexation to Be Harder

LANSING (UPI) — Annexation of suburban areas to core cities promised to become more difficult today because of a unanimous State Supreme Court decision that returned ownership of Kent County Airport from Grand Rapids to Wyoming.

* * *

The 8-0 verdict in effect also challenged the legislature to write a less confusing home rule law than the much-amended statute now on the books.

The high court's opinion invalidated Circuit Judge Fred N. Searl's 1962 decision that upheld the Kent County Board of Canvassers' certification the annexation had passed.

ASKED WRIT

Two Wyoming residents, Jack A. Magnuson and Everett Windemuller and the city of Wyoming, a community of 50,000 population, had asked Searl to issue a writ of certiorari blocking certification.

Defendants in the suit were the board of canvassers, Charles J. Huizenga, the city of Grand Rapids and the Grand Rapids Board of Education. The plaintiffs alleged the annexation had not been adopted because there had not been a favorable vote in Wyoming.

* * *

The board of canvassers and Searl disagreed, saying the home rule act made it necessary that only the overall vote of the two cities involved in the annexation need be affirmative.

Grand Rapids voters balloted 36,916-4,042 for the annexation while Wyoming residents said "no" by a 13,977-754 margin.

In the area affected by the annexation, which included the Kent County Airport that is due to be abandoned later this year in favor of a new and larger installation east of the city, the vote was 36-8 for annexation.

* * *

Wyoming itself had annexed the territory from Paris Township only several months before the annexation vote launched by Grand Rapids.

Study Films Made During Space Flight

POINT MUGU, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists today studied films exposed to a continuous charge of protons and neutrons during a 200,000 foot-high space flight aboard an Arcas Delta metrological rocket.

The rocket was launched successfully yesterday from this Pacific Coast naval facility by four scientists from the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA).

The films were in a special film pack which rode piggyback aboard the rocket for a scientific experiment to measure the atmospheric proton and neutron count at altitudes above 100,000 feet.

* * *

The experiment was conducted with National Aeronautics and Space Administration funds.

Results of the experiment were not expected to be known for about two weeks.

The film pack was discovered near an intersection in Ventura County, Calif.

Wants Terms of Hard Labor

Sentences Asked for German Spies

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI) — The prosecution today demanded hard labor prison terms of five to 15 years for three ex-Nazis who confessed to betraying West Germany's secret service to the Russians.

Prosecutor Erwin Fischer told the Supreme Court trial the trio committed the "greatest treason" in West German history.

He demanded the maximum 15 years in prison at hard labor for the confessed ringleader, Heinz Felfe, 45, and 12 years at hard labor for Hans Clemens, 61.

* * *

Both men spent 10 years as Soviet spies infiltrating West Germany's Federal Intelligence Agency.

Fischer asked the court to sentence the third man — Cologne lawyer Erwin Tiebel, 60, who acted as Felfe's and Clemen's courier to the Russians — to five years at hard labor.

* * *

All three defendants said they served in wartime Nazi espionage units before being recruited by the Soviets.

Grace With Dirty Face

Driver Must Be Patient

(Editor's Note—This is the second in a nine-part traffic safety series by F. Granger Weil, president and editor of the Port Huron Times Herald and chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee of the Michigan Press Association. The series details problems and solutions involved in combating Michigan's heavy highway traffic death toll.)

By F. GRANGER WEIL
Editor, Port Huron Times Herald

PORT HURON (AP) — This may be an odd way to start an article on traffic safety, but within its substance is life and good health for motor vehicle operators and their passengers.

When I get upset over something, my son will say to me with a grin, "Remember, dad, patience is a virtue — virtue is a grace." And he adds with a chuckle, "And, Grace is a little girl with a dirty face."

There is scarcely a traffic safety expert who would disagree with the statement that patience is the driver's greatest virtue.

* * *

Webster describes patience as denoting calm endurance or self possession, especially under suffering or provocation.

The human quality of patience encompasses a large number of traffic safety slogans, such as, "defensive driving" or "here lies the body of William Gray, he died maintaining the right-of-way. He was right, dead right, as he sped along. But, now he's as dead as though he'd been wrong."

A patient driver has a better chance of survival on our crowded highways. He doesn't dash at the amber light at an intersection, he won't pass in traffic where passing is a game hazardous to himself and others who share the road with him.

He won't distract his fellow drivers by impetuous horn-blowing if he is delayed a few seconds when the light turns green.

For several years the Times Herald carried editorials based on the patience theme or something of a "last shall be first and first shall be last" idea.

These editorials were to the effect that the really important people arrived at their destination deliberately and with precision. The general doesn't wait in the sun for his troops to marshall for review.

The good banquet speaker doesn't scramble into his place at the table after everyone has been seated but gets there in plenty of time to ease the minds of the banquet committee and to get the lay of the land before his turn comes to entertain.

* * *

By and large, big men — that is, outstanding in capabilities and leadership — are men endowed with patience. They have planned their destinies and their destinations.

By their foresight, they have made the headlong and hazardous dash into traffic unnecessary.

* * *

But what about "Grace with the dirty face?" Well, Grace is just a kicker.

This little character with the grimy countenance may serve to remind you that you may save your life — or the lives of your neighbors — by being patient.

Court Upholds Ban on Bible

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court upheld yesterday a District Court of Appeals ruling that prohibited distribution of Gideon Bibles in the public schools of Orange County (Orlando).

The high court did not write a lengthy opinion in the case, but said the lower court's ruling must be affirmed in view of recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court concerning Bible reading.

"An elaboration of any views which we might have to the contrary notwithstanding would be a fruitless expenditure of judicial time and labor," the court said.

* * *

The case was brought against the Orange County School Board by nine taxpayers who said distribution of the Bible, provided by the Gideons International, violated the teachings, tenents and principles of the religious faiths of some of the taxpayers.

They contended the Gideon Bible was "a sectarian work of peculiar religious value and significance to members of the Protestant faith."

* * *

The appeals court said distribution of the Bibles in the schools each year "certainly approximates" annual promotion and endorsement of religious groups which follow its teachings.

Vessel Sinks in Canada Bay

CATALINA, Newfoundland (UPI) — The motor vessel Wesleyville sank in Catalina harbor in Bonavista Bay yesterday. The ship had burned for nearly 24 hours.

The 149-ton, 100-foot vessel was a total loss, Capt. Bill Norman said.

* * *

The ship, owned by J. T. Swyers Ltd., of Bonavista, was due to leave for Sydney, N. S., when fire broke out yesterday. Fear of exploding oil tanks on board kept fire fighters from fighting the blaze.

Jamibuspibiga... -How's That?

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The cabin cruiser Jamibuspibigagicynjoy-V docked here Wednesday.

If you think somebody got the name fouled up, it's your mistake.

* * *

The boat is owned by Joseph A. Michaed 2nd, president of the Michaed Bus Line in Salem, Mass.

Michaed said the boat was named by combining the first syllable of each first name or nickname of the members of his family. He and his wife have seven children.

Looking for Something? You'll Find It in NY

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Howard Teichmann, playwright, who comes from God's country (Chicago and Wisconsin and the Middle West), is a New York buff . . . he's a sage and savant who'll inform you, "You can get anything in New York."

"But on a rainy weekend?" I asked.

"Even on a rainy weekend!" He has a new comedy coming up, "A Rainy Day in Newark," and he just loves rain. Let's hope he always does . . . even with what happened.

WILSON

We started our search for the picturesque and unusual around the "new New York"—the Hilton, the Americana — at Saito, the Japanese restaurant, eating sukiyaki, sitting with our shoes off, on the floor, feet under the table.

Onward then to the Orchard St. market for something else unexpected: Invitations to buy, spoken in Spanish.

"Mira (Look)!" the hawkers shouted. A typical sign said: "Frankel's Shoe Store. Zapatos Para Toda Familia."

* * *

Onward some more. Past the O. Henry sidewalk cafe ("I hear there's a waiter there who isn't an actor") . . . Chinatown, where "Fishy's" awning proclaims it "The Poor Man's Toots Shor's" . . . South St. to look at a cat playing in a window at Sloppy Louie's . . . E. 7th St., to the Deux Megots ("Steak with French Fries, $1.25 . . . Steak without French Fries, $1.25!")

* * *

"But I must be off to my nightly rounds," I told them, and went to work—and found something else you can get: Advice!

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Carol Burnett's "Calamity Jane"—taped here twice, best to be taken from each—is almost sure to be a CBS TV smash. First "tried out" in Dallas, it's a solid wall of laughs for our hottest comedienne . . . Tony Bennett's taking guitar lessons, and has the finger blisters to prove it . . . Jackie Gleason's legal staff is checking into a new magazine with a name similar to his TV shows . . . H'wood Buzz: Kim Novak's beau, newspaperman Rod Mann, may become her "private public relations chief." . . . James Mason'll be a triple-threat man in "The Pyx"—he'll produce, direct and star in it.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Simply going to church doesn't make a Christian any more than going into the garage makes you an automobile."

The way the Kennedys have been getting around, Bill Rosen can hardly wait for the football season to start so he can see them all together again . . . THAT'S EARL, BROTHER.

Asks Stock, Bond Tax

Calm Follows Mart Criticism

NEW YORK (AP)—Jitters gave way to relative calm in Wall Street today as the financial capital studied searching criticism of some key stock market practices.

Presidents of the nation's two largest securities marts worked on rebuttal to an unexpectedly severe report filed with Congress by Securities and Exchange Commission investigators Wednesday.

Amid outcries of dismay from some brokers, G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, held his peace. So did Edwin D. Etherington, president of the American Stock Exchange.

They said time was required to digest the 2,100-page installment of SEC inquiry findings, sequel to a milder report last April.

★ ★ ★

However, Etherington promised to voice his opinions of "ill-advised" comments in the report.

The SEC special study committee assailed several time-honored stock market practices, mostly concerned with the market's inside workings rather than activities directly touching the public.

It called for new curbs on short selling, floor traders and stock specialists, tighter supervision of trading in unlisted securities in the over-the-counter market and an improved system for handling odd-lot or small volume transactions.

To the financial community's relief, there was no blanket de-

DR. WALTER H. OBENAUF

Doctor Expires of Heart Attack

Dr. Walter H. Obenauf, medical superintendent at Pontiac State Hospital, died of a heart attack last night at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Obenauf was stricken at 8:30 p.m. at his farm at 11200 Clark, Springfield Township, where he and his wife were awaiting a visit from their next-door neighbors.

He was rushed to Pontiac General Hospital, where resuscitation attempts proved futile. He was pronounced dead at 10:15 p.m.

Despite a heart condition which resulted from an attack some 20 years earlier, Dr. Obenauf led a very active life, having just returned from a trip around the world.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

Dr. Obenauf, 56, was appointed medical superintendent of the hospital in 1959.

Bulletin

The body of an unidentified white woman was found this morning lying face down in Paint Creek near the intersection of Clarkston and Kern roads in Orion Township.

★ ★ ★

The body was found with a rope knotted around the neck and a wound in the back of the head.

"It could be suicide, but it looks more like murder to me," Prosecutor George Taylor said.

According to Lake Orion Police Chief Neal Leonard the body was first noticed at 9 a.m. by a passing truck driver.

The body was clad in green shorts and a green print blouse. A tennis shoe which may have belonged to the woman was found nearby.

The body was lying in 8-inch deep water beneath a bridge by which Clarkston Road crosses the creek.

★ ★ ★

Lake Orion police and Oakland County sheriff's detectives searched the area around the bridge, but so far have not turned up any other clues.

She is believed to be between 18 and 22.

★ ★ ★

Detectives said the body did not appear to have been there very long.

The body was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for examination.

County Auditors Set $15.7-Million Budget

Final touches to a proposed $15.7 million county budget for next year were being added today by the County Board of Auditors.

The figure is subject to minor change between now and mid-August, Chairman John Austin pointed out.

The auditors will make their final budget recommendation to the County Board of Supervisors ways and means committee next month.

The committee is likely to change the recommendation then, before submitting it to the board of supervisors for final approval. Such action has been taken by the committee in the past.

The auditor's recommendation is based primarily on the county's expenditures during the past six months.

It amounts to a $250,124 increase over this year's budget of about $15.5 million.

The proposed budget calls for $11.4 million in taxes and $4.3 million in other anticipated revenues.

Austin termed the revenue figure "a very optimistic outlook on the general economy in the county next year.

JFK Attempts to Halt Outflow of U. S. Gold

Congress Considers Move Affecting Marts Around the World

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in a surprise move, asked Congress today to tax Americans on most purchases of foreign stocks and bonds. The aim is to help stem the outflow of gold and dollars.

Kennedy's recommendation was certain to have an immediate impact on international financial markets because it would affect American investments currently approaching the rate of $2 billion a year.

★ ★ ★

The unprecedented proposal, put forth in a special message to Congress on the worrisome U.S. blance of payments problem, represented the boldest and most controversial attempt yet made by any administration to deal with the payments dilemma.

To discourage the mounting flow of American savings abroad, Kennedy called for a special excise tax ranging from 2½ per cent to 15 per cent on the purchase price of securities issued by governments and businesses in 22 industrialized countries. The tax would go into effect Friday and remain on the books until Dec. 31, 1965.

Admittedly, this would be strong medicine. But Kennedy said it would "help prevent pressures for more restrictive measures."

2ND HIGHLIGHT

A second highlight of Kennedy's 5,500-word message was an announcement that—for the first time—the United States will exercise its right to draw money from the International Monetary Fund.

Starting Monday, the United States will begin drawing up to $500 million in foreign currencies from the IMF. These currencies will be used by the U.S. Treasury to buy foreign-held dollars that otherwise might be used to purchase American gold.

Kennedy predicted that enactment of the excise tax plus other less dramatic moves under way or planned would trim nearly $2 billion from the U.S. balance of payments deficit during the next 18 months.

MOVING ALONG — President Kennedy hurries to the podium in the State Department auditorium yesterday for his first Washington news conference since May 22. The President discusses topics ranging from nuclear test-ban talks to civil rights demonstrations.

Kennedy OKs Rights Protest Planned for Nation's Capital

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has given his blessings to the late-August civil rights demonstration planned for the national capital and says, "I look forward to being here."

This was the highlight of a Kennedy news conference yesterday in which he applauded peaceful racial protests while decrying those which can lead to violence and bloodshed.

The session with newsmen — Kennedy's first in Washington in eight weeks — covered a wide range of topics including:

★ ★ ★

Business and Taxes: The President said business is better than expected, tax receipts consequently have exceeded predictions and, as a result, last year's budget deficit totaled $6.2 billion compared with a January forecast of $8.8 billion.

He said this bolsters his argument that a $10-billion tax cut would boost the economy still further and eventually balance the budget.

Cold War Talks: Kennedy said he is "still hopeful" that the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union can achieve some kind of nuclear test ban treaty in the current Moscow talks.

But he thinks talk of a possible summit meeting is premature, saying such a session is not "indicated or needed."

Moon Race: The President wants a continued effort to put an American on the moon in this decade in order to show "the capacity to dominate space."

He treated as inconclusive British scientist Bernard Lovell's report that the Soviets may be losing interest in the moon race.

Rail Strike: Kennedy again urged the railroads and operating unions to settle their work rules dispute before a threatened nationwide strike July 29.

He said both sides would be much better off to work things out themselves "and not depend upon the government to do it." If a strike comes, Kennedy said he will ask Congress to end it by legislation.

Little hope was expressed today for a voluntary 11th-hour settlement of the deadlocked rail work rules dispute despite the new appeal by President Kennedy.

The special presidential fact-finding board sent copies of a draft report on the dispute to union and management representatives today. Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz planned to present the final report to the President tomorrow.

The President is prepared to campaign for re-election next year on the claim that he got the country moving again.

Foreign Teens Run Wild on White House Lawn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A crowd of 2,500 foreign high school students ran wild on the White House lawn today after being greeted by President Kennedy.

In their over-enthusiastic rush to get close to the Chief Executive they ripped neck ties from White House policemen, plowed into Kennedy's prized boxwood hedges, caused one Secret Service agent to lose a shoe, and put another officer in need of first aid.

Kennedy had greeted the teenagers jokingly as "not the quietest group that has come to visit us."

But he moved them to silence in a stirring speech during which he urged them, when they returned home, to work for peace, friendship and "a fair chance for all."

He said if they, as future leaders of their countries, could prevent war "you will be the most remarkable generation in history."

The President, after speaking, walked to the students who were massed behind a roped-off area. Within seconds bedlam broke loose.

The boys and girls, almost all of whom carried cameras and wanted close-up shots as well as handshakes and autographs, broke through the ropes and swarmed around Kennedy.

Secret Service agents and White House policemen formed a ring around the President and protected him from being crushed taking the brunt of the good-natured but rough assault themselves.

Bias Protest Halted by Chicago Police

From Our News Wires

CHICAGO—Police entered the offices of the Chicago Board of Education today and broke up an eight-day-old sit-in demonstration. Ten persons were arrested.

* * *

The demonstrators were protesting alleged segregation in Chicago public schools. Their plan was to force the board into holding a special meeting to put new district boundary rules into effect.

About 30 policemen, some in plain clothes, took part in the operation, which came 15 hours after demonstrators clashed with police at the board's downtown building.

Three demonstrators, who broke through a shoulder-to-shoulder line of policemen in an attempt to re-enter the building to continue a sit-in, were arrested.

AT REQUEST

Police barred the way at the request of a board of education official, who later agreed to let some of the demonstrators back inside.

The 10-year-old daughter of a Negro demonstrator was hurt slightly in the surging crowd and four policemen suffered minor cuts and bruises.

OTHER RACIAL NEWS

● In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told Congress today that "no issues are more urgent" than those the administration's civil rights program seeks to resolve.

Kennedy appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by hostile Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., to urge acceptance of the President's entire civil rights package.

As an example of racial barriers that face Negroes, Kennedy cited tourist guidebooks listing only one establishment with overnight accommodations for Negroes in Montgomery, Ala., and none in Danville, Va.

"But a dog, provided he is traveling with a white man, is welcome to spend the night in at least five establishments in Montgomery and four in Danville, he said.

● In Marion, Ark., a 17-year-old Negro was chased into a field by white residents and sheriff's deputies and fatally shot yesterday after a woman claimed he tried to rape her daughter.

Sheriff Cecil Goodwin said there was evidence of an attempt to rape the eight-year-old girl. The child was not hurt but she was placed under a doctor's care.

The Negro, Andrew Lee Anderson, was hit in the leg by a high-powered rifle bullet. He was brought to the courthouse here and then taken to a hospital in nearby West Memphis, where he died 40 minutes after admission.

A doctor said the bullet severed an artery.

Sheriff Goodwin said he did not know who shot Anderson. He would not reveal the names of the mother and child.

● In Cambridge, Md., Negro leaders tentatively called off demonstrations for at least another week today following announcement that Gov. J. Millard Tawes would ask a committee of distinguished attorneys to help bring about racial peace here.

● In Montgomery, Ala., Gov. George Wallace unveiled a new plan to try to maintain separation of the races if any Alabama school is forced to integrate: separate white and Negro classrooms in the same school.

And if that system fails, he said, he favors as a last resort the segregation of pupils by sex—boys in one school, girls in another.

Wallace promised active opposition on any resolution endorsing integration submitted to the National Governors' Conference.

He also took a verbal jab at New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as "trying to out-Kennedy Mr. Kennedy" by asking the governors to back the President's civil rights proposals.

● In Dallas, the previously all-white South Loop Baptist church, in a racially mixed district, accepted a Negro woman and two children as members last night.

It was believed to be the first time a church in the Southern Baptist Convention has admitted Negroes.

● Negroes held mass rallies in Charleston, S.C., and Savannah, Ga., last night without incident.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Warmer weather will dominate much of the country tonight from the southern Plains eastward. It will be cooler in northern and central Plateau. Scattered showers and thundershowers are due in northern Plateau, northern Plains, the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and parts of the upper and lower Mississippi Valley.

Crush Syria Uprising

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syria's Ba'athist government announced today it had crushed an uprising led by civilians and discharged officers.

* * *

A spokesman for Maj. Gen. Amin Hafez, strong man of the Syrian army, went on Damascus Radio and declared that the revolt was finished and the situation was under control.

The announcement was broadcast after Damascus radio was strangely silent for two hours.

Diplomatic reports reaching Beirut said that tanks, automatic weapons and small arms had been in action in the capital earlier while the plotters tried to seize the army headquarters and radio station.

SUPPORT MESSAGES

The restored radio then began rolling out messages of support from the army, as well as a pledge of military aid from Iraq, whose leaders are partners with the Syrians in the Ba'ath Socialist party.

Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref congratulated the Syrian government for crushing "the dirty plot" and said "be sure that the revolution of Ramadan 14"—a reference to the successful Iraqi revolution last Feb. 8—places itself at the disposal of the Syrian revolutionary council."

There have been three successful coups in Syria in 22 months and eight army revolts since World War II.

The Syrian border was closed at 10 a.m. and telephone communications with the outside world were cut. The national revolutionary command, which has controlled the country since the latest coup March 8, had placed a curfew throughout Syria with orders that offenders will be shot.

SEES NASSER

While Damascus was locked in combat, the head of the revolutionary command, Lt. Gen. Louay Atassi, arrived in Egypt on a mission to President Nasser.

Atassi had been attempting to smooth over the feud between the Syrian Ba'athists and Nasser which has virtually killed plans for an Arab federation of Syria, Iraq and Egypt.

Atassi has been believed to hold less power in Syria than Maj. Gen. Amin Hafez.

Hafez emerged as the major power in Syria July 8 when his rival, Maj. Gen. Ziad El Hariri, was packed off to exile in Paris.

Hariri, 37, is neither a Ba'athist nor a Nasserite. He has been known to hold a large personal following in the army.

If he should come out as leader of the current revolt, it would not necessarily mean a change in the Syrian attitude toward Nasser. Apparently with Hariri's compliance, pro-Nasser officers were fired from the army and Nasserite ministers dropped from the Cabinet early in May.

STRANGE ASPECTS

There were several strange aspects to the uprising. It apparently started not at dawn in the usual Syrian tradition, but in the late morning. Syrian coups also are usually bloodless.

All reports reaching Beirut indicated that there had been bloodshed. There were no specific accounts, however, of casualties.

Heart Attack Takes Doctor of the out-patient department and assistant medical superintendent.

He served his internship at St. Lawrence Hospital, Lansing.

Coming to Pontiac State Hospital, he took over the responsibility for the clinical treatment and care of the hospital's 3,000 patients.

He was a prime force behind the drive for a new children's center on the grounds, approved by the State Legislature.

Since his arrival, he increased the number of volunteers working at the hospital from 300 to nearly 1,000.

Dr. Obenauf was treasurer of the American Psychiatric Association, past president of the Michigan Society of Neurology and Psychiatry, the Michigan District Branch of the American Psychiatric Association and the Michigan Association of Neuro-psychiatric Hospital and Clinic Physicians.

He was also a member of the Pontiac Rotary Club.

Surviving are his wife May; three daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Taylor of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Nancy Aiuto of Chapel Hill, N. C., and Rebecca, who is studying and teaching at the Canadian School of Ballet in Toronto; and six grandchildren.

Requests Tax on Securities

lesser amount coming in—totaled $2.2 billion. However, the deficit has been mounting this year and, in the April-June quarter, reached an annual rate of well over $3 billion.

Continued deficits in international financial dealings means that foreigners are piling up surplus dollars which they can use to buy American gold—the key to the strength of the dollar. In recent years, the U.S. gold stock has dropped from $22 billion to under $15.7 billion.

Kennedy termed the proposed excise levy an interest equalization tax designed to offset the fact that interest rates in the United States are lower than those aboard. By "equalizing" rates, he would hope to discourage Americans from investing overseas and discourage foreigners from borrowing in the United States.

* * *

In the first half of 1963, new issues of foreign securities purchased by Americans totaled $880 million—not an all-inclusive figure so far as the impact of the proposed tax is concerned because some transactions are not recorded.

Of this total, $590 million of securities were issued in Canada—the country that would be most affected by the levy.

Sooner Districts to Be Appealed

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — A three-judge Federal Court's unpredecented ruling reapportioning the Oklahoma Legislature will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, opponents of reapportionment said today.

It was the first time a Federal Court has set out a detailed formula for reapportionment of a state legislature since the Supreme Court ruled in 1961 that Federal Courts may take jurisdiction in reapportionment cases.

The prospect of appealing to the Supreme Court immediately raised the question of whether a final decision could be issued before filing time in February 1964 for the 1965 legislature.

Russ, Chinese Fail to Attend Talks Again

MOSCOW (UPI) — Chinese and Soviet delegates did not show up for talks on their worsening ideological dispute today, indicating another recess had been called in the conference.

There was no announcement, but newsmen waiting outside the conference site in a villa on the outskirts of Moscow said neither delegation arrived.

The usual pattern of the talks has been one day off and one day on, and talks were held yesterday.

Western observers believed that the talks were near an end, and that the departure of the Peking delegation could be expected any day.

Diplomats said it is China's turn to make the next move in the public attacks that have accompanied the talks, gaining in bitterness as the conference progressed.

Auditors Draw Up $15.7-Million Budget

general relief costs next year," he said.

"If economic conditions should worsen, we will be in real trouble," he noted.

"Anticipated revenues is purely a guess based on the best information available. However, there really is no way of knowing where the economy will go in 1964."

REVENUES CLIMB

County revenues have climbed steadily during the past three years. In 1960 they came to $3.1 million, in '61 to $3.9 million, and to $4.2 million last year.

The auditors recommendation is $1.3 million less than a tentative budget adopted this spring before the amount of taxes was known.

The $11.4 million tax figure is derived from a 5.19 mill rate on a $2.2 billion county tax base.

The millage figure was determined by the County Tax Allocation Board last month when it split a total 15-mill levy among schools, townships and county government.

CUT BUDGET

The tentative budget figure has been cut primarily in five areas, according to budgetary assistant Leo Halfpenny.

The proposed general relief appropriation was cut from $1.6 million to $1.2 million, improvements at the County Service Center from $180,000 to zero, temporary mental care from $200,000 to $100,000, and the contingency fund from $150,000 to $50,000, he said.

* * *

Further reductions were made in the operating costs of most county departments to various degrees.

Also, 32 new positions requested by department heads at a total cost $144,475 were chopped out entirely in the auditors' recommendation.

Eliminating all of these positions is still subject to review by the salaries committee before the auditors' final recommendation is sent to the ways and means committee.

The auditors tentative budget proposal this spring was raised from $16.7 million to $17.1 million by the ways and means committee before it was adopted by the board of supervisors.

* * *

A major increase was in the general relief appropriation.

Last year, ways and means hiked the auditors' recommendation from $15,412,843 to $15,536,902. This was done by upping anticipated revenues.

The higher figure was adopted by the board of supervisors for this year's budget.

Wall Street Calm After SEC Report

mand for segregating the broker and dealer functions of many Wall Street firms.

One section of the report urged elimination of floor traders by Jan. 2, 1965. It said these brokers who buy and sell for their own account, enjoy unfair advantages over others.

Of 1,366 New York Stock Exchange members, a small minority indulge in much floor trading—quick turnover deals. Fifteen of them account for one half the volume in this category.

The SEC said they are unburdened by the need to pay commissions and favored by knowledge not yet public.

Explosion Rips Jersey Building

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—An explosion ripped off one corner of a four-story apartment building, tearing through a row of living rooms from the first floor to the roof Wednesday night.

* * *

Eight residents of the building were taken to a hospital where three were detained in serious condition from burns. Ten to 15 others were treated for minor injuries at the scene. There were no deaths.

* * *

All 29 adults and 10 children who live in the building at 248 Fowler Avenue have been accounted for, police said.

Cause of the blast hasn't been determined.

The living rooms of the three front left apartments crashed into the street and a vacant lot.

SUMMER BEAN SKILLET — Canned pork and bean skillet dish keeps the kitchen cool and the family happy during hot summer months. Tender zucchini squash and ham strips are cooked right along with the beans. Take to the patio along with poppyseed rolls, canteloupe rings and ice cream, hot coffee.

Ham, Zucchini Perk Up Beans

Named Metro Editor for New York Times

Oh, to stay on the hammock a little longer. Does mealtime come too soon for you? With the arrival of hot and humid weather, it makes more sense than ever to let canned convenience foods do the cooking.

* * *

To keep both the kitchen cool and the family happy is quite a chore. Easy and attractive meals are a snap, though, when the pantry is stocked with all 4 kinds of canned bean products. The most lush skillet meals are ready to eat in a matter of minutes. There's hardly a person that can resist the wonderful aroma of beans.

* * *

The old favorite — pork and beans in tomato sauce — is the basis for this enticing looking dish. Canned pork and beans always make a hit — either right from the can or combined with zucchini squash and tender ham strips. This hearty meal-in-one supper is a good one to take to the porch or patio. Finish off with poppyseed rolls, cantaloupe rings and ice cream, and hot coffee.

Summer Bean Skillet

1 cup cooked ham cut in 1½ inch strips
1 cup zucchini cut in ¼-inch slices quartered
¼ cup chopped onion
1 small clove garlic, minced
Generous dash crushed basil
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (1 pound) pork and beans with tomato sauce

In skillet, brown ham and cook zucchini, onion, garlic, and basil in shortening until vegetables are tender. Add beans. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Prepare a basic cheddar cheese sauce (choose your favorite mild, flavorful, or robust cheddar) and spark with minced pimiento. Place cauliflower, snap beans, green peas, asparagus, or broccoli in a greased casserole and pour the cheese sauce over it. Sprinkle with crumbled cooked bacon and buttered bread crumbs. Bake 30 minutes at 350° degrees, until brown.

Calories Alone Not Food Type Control Weight

The most important factor in losing weight is the total number of calories consumed, not the type of food, according to Laurance W. Kinsell, M.D., Institute for Metabolic Research, Highland-Alameda County Hospital, Oakland, Calif.

* * *

He reports that weight loss was essentially identical in three obese patients on three types of diets, all totaling 1,200 calories. One diet was high in carbohydrates, another high in fat and the third was high in both protein and fat, he said.

"On the basis of the findings in this study, there appears to be no question that the major factor responsible for weight loss in any individual is limitation of calories," Dr. Kinsell concluded.

"So long as the calorie level remains constant, the rate of weight loss is the same whether the diet be high in carbohydrate and low in fat, or the reverse."

Caution Over SEC Report

Mart Moves Irregularly Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market worked irregularly lower in moderate trading today as caution still prevailed over drastic changes in trading procedures recommended by a staff report of the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Many stocks were unchanged and a minority posted gains running from fractions to a point or more. But losses outnumbered gainers in early trading.

As Wall Street assessed the impact of the SEC study it seemed apparent from the market's relatively mild reaction that the news—while disturbing—was not of a kind to prompt an avalanche of selling what will result in actual rules and regulations still remained in the future.

The losses were scattered through such groups as steels, utilities, nonferrous metals, motors, chemicals, drugs, and rails, but even in these sections of the list there were some gainers.

Chrysler advanced a fraction while General Motors dipped and Studebaker eased. U.S. Steel was steady. Bethlehem and Republic Steel eased. Southern Railway added a fraction. New York Central edged off.

Among the assortment of volatile stocks which have been prone to considerable speculative activity, the trend seemed definitely higher. Xerox and Electronic Associates rose more than a point each. Control Data and U.S. Smelting rose about a point each. IBM added a fraction and Polaroid was up nearly a point.

Building materials were steady to higher. U. S. Gypsum added a full point.

Small losses were shown by Sunray DX Oil, Pan American World Airways and American Airlines.

Prices were mixed and most changes were narrow on the American Stock Exchange. Gainers included Sherwin-Williams, Scurry-Rainbow Oil, and Data-Control Systems. Among losers were Creole Petroleum, Pyle National, and Heli-Coil.

Corporate bonds were unchanged to narrowly irregular.

N-Test Outlook Getting Better

Agreement Chances Increasing in Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Top-level U.S., British, and Soviet negotiators met anew today in the Moscow three-power nuclear conference amid increasing indications an agreement may be reached soon on a partial test ban.

* * *

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Hailsham opened the fourth session of the big three talks at 4:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m. EDT.)

The negotiations resumed in the wake of a Washington news conference statement by President Kennedy that he was "hopeful" the negotiators would agree to halting nuclear tests in the atmosphere, underwater and in space.

A three-power communique issued in Moscow last night said that "progress" had been made in drafting treaty provisions. The rival East and West drafts already put forward at the Moscow nuclear talks were understood to be fairly close in positions.

BEGAN LATE

The big three talks began an hour and a half later than scheduled today because of a lunch Gromyko gave the visiting East German Foreign Minister Lothar Boltz.

East German sources said Boltz was in Moscow to discuss the Berlin problem in connection with the three-power talks.

* * *

The consultations between Soviet and East German leaders during the nuclear conference led to speculation that another move might be in the works to try to solve the Berlin problem.

The conference, although primarily devoted to the nuclear issue, was understood to have held soundings already — but not negotiations — on a number of cold war issues, including an East-West non-aggression pact and the problem of Laos.

Grain Futures Trade Is Somewhat Slower

CHICAGO (AP) — Trade in the grain futures market was rather slow with scattered buying firming some contracts of wheat and soybeans during the first several minutes of activity today on the board of trade.

Gains reached major fractions in spots on both wheat and soybeans but prices elsewhere were narrowly mixed. Some of the support for wheat was credited to flour mill accounts while speculators showed some preference again for the long side of soybeans.

Brokers said the market appeared to have no significant influences just now and that trade probably will be largely quick-turn speculative transactions pending new developments.

County Cities Due Phones Without Toll

DETROIT (UPI)—A toll-free telephone service plan for 17 western Wayne and Oakland county communities was unveiled yesterday by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

* * *

Bell officials said it would enable residents to call up to half a million numbers without toll or unit charges to residential phone users, but basic telephone bills would be increased.

* * *

Officials said the plan would be submitted to the Michigan Public Service Commission. The plan, known as Super Extended Area Service would, if permission was granted, be tried out on volunteer customers first.

Financing for Cars Gets Lower, Longer

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of today's auto buyers are making smaller monthly payments than those of just a few months back. This trend to lower down payments and longer time to repay is moderate so far and widely scattered—and generally deplored by leading finanace companies.

DAWSON

The trend is traced to the big rush to sell cars in a booming production year—and, even more to sharp competition among lending agencies.

Total auto sales are high but rivalry is keen among different makes, and dealers are pushing hard for more buyers. Lending institutions have plenty of funds on hand, often from savings on which they are paying higher interest this year. Their urge to put these funds to work is strong. Some are easing credit terms to get more business.

The move this week by the federal Reserve to raise short-term interest rates isn't expected to have any immediate effect on the auto loan market.

Most lending agencies are sticking to a maximum of 36 months for repayment. But the average maturity of new car installment contracts has risen, the Federal Reserve reports. In the first quarter of 1963 about 75 per cent of all contracts that commercial banks and sales finance companies purchased from dealers carried maturities of 36 months, it notes, compared to 70 per cent in 1961 and 25 per cent in 1955. The average maturity last year was around 31 months, but this year has crept up to near 32 months.

But in some cities of late, car buyers have been getting up to 42 or 48 months in which to finish payments.

BLAME BANKS

Leading car financing companies blame some commercial banks for this trend and say they won't go along.

"The maximum 36-month term payment plan is reasonable and Ford intends to hold to it," Robert S. Olson, chairman of Ford Motor Credit Co., said in an interview.

Thomas W. Towell, president of General Motors Acceptance Corp., says his company feels that "36 months should continue to be regarded as the maximum term on new automobiles" because that is in the "best interests of car dealers and car buyers everywhere."

Dr. C. A. Walker, executive vice president of the American Bankers Association, warns bankers who are tempted to stretch time of repayment that an ABA committee has found that "longer financing terms appeal to buyers who are marginal credit risks."

Ford's Olson explains why the 36-month maximum seems best for both dealer and buyer this way:

"A person who is able to purchase a new car every two or three years doesn't need longer than 36 months to pay the balance. A purchaser of a used car, buying at a lower price, shouldn't need a longer period."

The extension to 48 months originated in the Miami, Fla., area, Olson says, and has since spread to a few other scattered regions.

"When a similar easy credit rush happened a few years back," he adds, "it led to many repossessions. Either the lenders lost money, or owners found that stertched-out payments gave them so little equity in their cars they were hamstrung in trade-ins for new cars."

Often they let their cars be repossessed, to the lender's sorrow. Or dealers suffered because they couldn't sell new cars to owners whose old cars still weren't free of debt.

(Q) "I am a bachelor aged 70. I have several nieces and nephews whom I would like to help with their education a few years from now. I own the following stocks and would like your advice on them as a sort of educational fund. My stocks are Beech-Nut Life Savers, Bristol - Myers, Rexall, Richardson - Merrell, Jones & Laughlin, Pan American Airways, Tungsol." N. M.

(A) I think on the whole you've put together a pretty good list of stocks. However, educational costs seem to be rising faster than other segments of the economy, and you will need as much growth as you can get from your stock list.

Looked at solely from this viewpoint, I would hold Beech-Nut, Bristol - Myers, Rexall and Pan American. I would switch Richardson-Merrell into Merck; Jones & Laughlin into American Express; and Tungsol into American Electric.

I believe that these changes will better help you to realize your ambition.

(Q) "I am 17 years old and will be a senior in high school next year. I am interested in buying some good stocks for appreciation. What is your opinion of the following list? Which would be your first choice and when should I buy? My list includes Celanese, Central & South West, Gulf Oil, International Harvester, Northern Natural Gas, Standard of New Jersey, Consumers Power, General Motors, and Union Pacific." J. S.

(A) If you put this list together, you should be warmly commended. It's an admirable group and I think you would do well with any of these stocks

At your age, and presumably without the need of income, I should try to measure these issues solely in terms of potential long-range price appreciation.

On this basis, I like best Consumers Power, International Harvester, Central & South West and Northern Natural Gas.

I cannot tell you in this type of column how to time your purchases, but this market seems overdue for correction — and if that occurs, buy then.

858 Dead in Traffic

Reuther Opposes New Discount Rate

DETROIT (AP) — The boosting of its discount rate by the federal reserve board was described as "incredible" yesterday by United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

Reuther said the discount rate, which was raised from three to three and a half per cent this week by seven of the 12 reserve banks will eventually drive up the cost of money to home buyers, those who buy on installment credit and small businessmen.

The discount rate is the interest charged on loans to member banks of the federal reserve system.

Jury Indicts Detroit Company for Misbranding

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit firm and two of its officials were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on 12 counts of violating the federal food and drug act by misbranding and misrepresenting articles in inter-state commerce.

Indicted were Detroit Vital Foods Inc. and its president, Lelord Kordel, and treasurer, Alfred J. Feblten. Each count holds a maximum penalty of three years in prison and $10,000 fine.

The government charges the firm misrepresented its products in lectures and literature by claiming they would reduce high blood pressure, prevent premature aging, prevent and control colds and reduce the death rate from typhoid fever.

The goods were marketed under the names Frutex, Korleen, Aminex, Lecigen and Mutritime, the government said.
