Plane Crashes in Minneapolis Takeoff

Airliner Crashes, Burns

DETROIT (AP) — Eight Michigan persons escaped serious injury today when a Northwest Airlines plane caught fire and crashed moments after takeoff at Minneapolis.

Eight others, all out of state passengers who boarded the plane at Detroit, also escaped injury.

At least 50 persons required hospital treatment, including Rep. Don Magnusson (D-Wash). At least one was reported critically injured.

The 56 passengers reached safety through a hole in the fuselage as flames raged through the four-engine DC6B that came to rest 30 feet from a farmhouse. It had ripped through a cornfield and knocked down three farm buildings.

One of the crew members hurled a baby into the arms of its waiting mother.

"It's a miracle that anybody got out of that plane," said Vincent Christian, living a few blocks from Wood-Chamberlain Field where the plane had taken off about 3:40 a.m. on a flight to Portland, Ore., and Seattle-Tacoma, Wash.

The flight originated in Washington, D. C., and stopped at Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Milwaukee before arriving here.

The plane caught fire just after leaving the runway, pancaked and lost a wing about a mile from the end of the field.

★ ★ ★

Passengers unstrapped their seat belts and moved to the hole caused when the wing tore off. Some stopped to take their luggage.

★ ★ ★

Two Lansing area passengers on the plane escaped "without a scratch," the wife of one of them reported.

Mrs. James S. Schultz of Okemos said her husband telephoned he was seated near an emergency door and was one of the first persons out of the cabin.

"But he lost his shoes and all their clothes burned up," she said.

Schultz, 28, a salesman for the Schultz, Snyder and Steele Lumber Co., and Theodore D. Steele, 23, of East Lansing, employed by the same firm, were traveling together on a combined business-pleasure trip.

"Jim said he was awake on take-off and sensed the plane was going down. He nudged Ted, who was asleep next to him, and told

Republicans Heading for State Convention

Michigan Republicans, their primary goal to fill out the Bagwell-Brown team, will start converging on Grand Rapids tomorrow for their biennial State convention.

Oakland County will seat 141 out of the total 1,549 delegates, for the largest voting block at the two-day convention.

Top order of business will be to provide gubernatorial candidate, Paul D. Bagwell, and Donald A. Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor from Royal Oak, four running mates for the Nov. 4 election.

Delegates must select nominees for secretary of state, attorney general, auditor general, and state treasurer.

A spokesman for the Oakland County Republican Committee said no "favorite son" candidates from the county for these four state offices are in the offing.

Probably overshadowing nomination of these four candidates will be the drafting of a platform, particularly one plank on labor.

This is the result of Democrats in their convention last weekend warning candidates of the perils of accepting support from "corrupt labor officials."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams and other Democrats attempted to link Teamsters president James R. Hoffa with the Republicans. The GOP this weekend are certain to place Hoffa in the Democratic political camp.

Much of the party platform was expected to be devoted to criticism of Michigan's business climate under a Democratic administration, and rebuttal of Democrats' charges of an Eisenhower recession.

Republicans are also expected to crusade for a constitutional convention in order to revise the state's 50-year-old constitution.

Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton will deliver the keynote address.

Order Hurricane Watch for SE Massachusetts, Rhode Island

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A hurricane watch was ordered today for southeastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island as a storm with winds of 125 miles an hour moved almost due north in the Atlantic.

At 11 a.m. EST today, Hurricane Daisy was 110 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

The Weather Bureau calls a hurricane watch when a storm constitutes a possible threat. Persons in the watch area can continue their normal routines but are advised to keep in touch with advisories and be ready to take precautions if necessary.

Gale warnings were raised at 11 a.m. from Provincetown, Mass., south to Morehead City, N. C. Tides were about two feet higher than normal along the outer banks of the North Carolina coast.

Winds are due to increase along the North Carolina and Virginia Capes. They will move northward during the next 24 hours, accompanied by higher than normal tides as far up as Cape Cod.

Small craft were advised to remain in port from Wilmington, N. C., north to Boston. Other shipping was warned to exercise extreme caution.

Daisy is attended by hurricane force winds extending 50 miles to

Judges Put Off Their Decision on Grand Jury

May Rule on Petition Sept. 3 When Entire Bench Is Present

Decision on whether or not a grand jury will be called in Oakland County to probe events before and after the fatal burning of Frank Kierdorf will not be made until next Wednesday.

Three circuit judges this morning took a petition for such an investigation under advisement until Sept. 3.

Michigan Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams had indicated, after he and Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem decided to petition the court, that he hoped the jury would be approved today, in order that he could obtain subpoenas against Leaun Harrelson and Herman Kierdorf, "and a large number of potential witnesses."

Both men are being held on investigation of arson. A hearing on writ of habeas corpus was set for this afternoon.

Meanwhile, Adams and Ziem, after hearing the court's decision, huddled for a "strategy meeting" in Ziem's office. Both were visibly disturbed by the delay.

Adams and Ziem submitted their petition with the county clerk this morning.

Soon afterwards, they went with other authorities into Judge Frank L. Doty's chambers to discuss the petition.

Making up the rest of the Oakland bench at the meeting were Judges H. Russel Holland and William John Beer. Judge Clark J. Adams is on vacation in Canada.

Judge Holland issued this statement regarding the petition on behalf of the court:

"Judge Doty, Judge Beer and myself discussed the problem quite thoroughly both with the attorney-general and the prosecuting attorney and also with each other.

"We decided the matter ought to be taken under advisement for two reasons of fairly equal importance:

"1—We want an opportunity to study the petition and the proposed court order setting up a grand jury; 2—We want the full bench to pass upon the question."

Judge Holland said Judge Adams is vacationing in Canada and is not expected to return until sometime this weekend. Because Monday is a holiday, Judge Adams is not expected to be available for

Integration Stand

AP Wirephoto

ADDRESSING AMERICAN BAR — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers tells the American Bar Association convention in Los Angeles that the ultimate school integration issue is "whether the law of the land is supreme or whether it may be evaded and defied." He spoke yesterday and returned to Washington today for the Supreme Court's extraordinary session on the Little Rock case.

Arkansas Senate Sends School Plan to Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Senate today sent to Gov. Orval E. Faubus for his signature a bill to close the state's public schools in event of forcible integration.

The House was expected to complete its action on an identical bill shortly.

Final passage of the Faubus plan was a certainty even before the Legislature's members gathered Tuesday.

Only one voice rose to protest parts of the key school-closing bill yesterday. And the dissenter, Rep. Ray S. Smith Jr., 32, a Hot Springs attorney, said he favored the bill's objectives but did not want to give some future governor the sweeping power in the measure.

This keystone bill called for closing any public school threatened with integration either by physical power or court orders.

Most other bills in the Faubus package aimed at supporting this measure.

The effect would be to close a public school facing forcible integration and lease it to an individual or group for operation as a private school.

The Legislature also stamped approval of a series of bills by Arkansas Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, most of which aimed at curbing activities of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Faubus legal package actually would permit a student displaced by a closing to attend any school of his choice, including church schools.

The practical effect, should Central High School in Little Rock be closed by the governor, would be that the students would have no other place to go.

All public and private schools in the county are overflowing.

This would leave the governor no choice except to lease Central High to a group or individual as a private school. The state would pay tuition to meet the school's expenses.

Five of the seven Negro students expected to seek entry to Central High this fall returned by plane from Washington. They had been entertained for a week in Washington and New York and each was presented a scholarship by a Negro fraternal group.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom said earlier he will tell the Negroes

U.S. Lines Up With NAACP, Asks 'No Delay'

No Sign of Decision as School Board Fights for 2½-Year Stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A great new debate on school integration today absorbed the attention of the U.S. Supreme Court, convened in extraordinary session.

The Justice Department and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People fought on the same side of the big issue, pleading with the high tribunal to knock down all barriers to immediate resumption of racial integration at Little Rock Central High School.

Counsel for the Little Rock School Board fought back, seeking to save a 2½-year delay granted by a U.S. District Court.

There was no indication when the Supreme Court decision, which might give a new sign of what it considers "all deliberate speed," would be handed down.

Thurgood Marshall, tall Negro veteran of many a fight for racial equality, led off the momentous arguments. Appearing for the NAACP, he cried out against any delay.

Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin, acting for the Justice Department, already had filed a brief coming out against any delay.

To many this seemed to conflict with President Eisenhower's remarks yesterday about going "slower." But presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said he saw no split.

Marshall, the first to argue orally, spoke for 50 minutes. He said the 2½-year delay order "amounted to a surrender to obstructionists and mob action."

"You don't close the banks," Marshall told the justices. "You put the bank robbers in jail."

After Marshall concluded, Richard C. Butler, counsel for the Little Rock board, a tall, slim graying man, took up the debate. He argued in an almost conversational tone.

Butler was hardly launched on his presentation when interruptions from the bench began.

Under court questioning, he said that as the legal situation now stands the board is under no compulsion to integrate.

Chief Justice Warren asked if the board intended to assign the Negro pupils who attended Central High last year to an all-Negro high school this year in the absence of court action to prevent it.

"Yes, sir," Butler replied.

In response to other questions by Warren, Butler said the pupils already have been assigned to Horace Mann High School, a Negro school.

Warren asked if that did not represent action already taken toward

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 60 degrees. The thermometer registered 82 at 2 p.m.

Stores Remain Open on Tuesday Evening

Because Monday is a holiday, and business generally will suspend for the Labor Day observance, most Pontiac stores will remain open until 9 Tuesday evening, according to Norman Pattison, president of the Downtown Merchants Ass'n.

One Orchard Lake Policeman in Hospital

Mystery Still Shrouds Crash of Patrolmen's Cars

No clues have been found toward solving the mystery of an accident that wrecked cars belonging to two Orchard Lake police officers Sunday morning and sent one of them to the hospital.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland County Sheriff's Dept., which investigated the accident, sent out a bulletin Sunday for a car which was seen on M59 driving without lights just before the accident, but no further investigation is being made, according to Undersheriff Elmer McQuern.

One of the officers, Richard D. Venos, 30, of 33 Court Dr., is still at Pontiac General Hospital with internal injuries and a leg fracture.

The other officer, Bruce P. Boyd, 29, of 1353 Locke St., was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

★ ★ ★

The accident totally demolished Venos' new car, which hit two trees and broke into three sections. Boyd's car was damaged somewhat but he was thrown clear before it left the road.

All that the officers have said so far is that they think another car crowded them from the road at 12:50 a.m. Sunday as they were returning from visiting a friend in White Lake Township.

The Orchard Lake Chief of Police Elmer Peters could not be reached by The Press for comment and failed to return two phone calls made to him by reporters on Monday morning.

He also was not available today, having taken the day off. His secretary said she has instructions not to give out Officer Boyd's phone number.

Orchard Lake Village President Fred J. Walls said today that the officers were off duty, driving their own cars and in plain clothes at the time of the accident, hence were not a village responsibility.

He said he understood an investigation was being made by the Sheriff's Dept. and State Police.

One of the questions still unanswered on official reports of the accident is whether or not the cars were speeding at the time, as well as confirmation of how it happened.

THREE-PIECE CAR — The remains of a new car, with just 132 miles on it, after it hit two trees is shown above. The car belongs to Orchard Lake Patrolman Richard D. Venos who is in the hospital with internal injuries. Venos and a fellow patrolman were injured Sunday morning in White Lake Township when both their cars left the road.

Birmingham Man Named New Head of Fisher Body

Appointment of Edwin C. Klotzburger as general manager of the Fisher Body Division of General Motors was announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors. The appointment is effective Sept. 1, 1958.

Klotzburger will succeed James E. Goodman, who becomes GM group executive in charge of Fisher Body, Ternstedt and Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac Assembly Divisions on Sept. 1.

General director of Fisher Body's facility planning and works engineering section since August 1, 1954, Klotzburger has been with General Motors for 35 years.

He held various posts in GM plants at St. Louis, Tarrytown, N. Y., Oakland, Calif., Atlanta, Linden, N. J., and Arlington, Tex., during his long march to the top.

He makes his home at 1090 Glenhurst Dr., Birmingham.

Decision on Grand Jury Delayed Until Sept. 3

duty until Tuesday, Judge Holland said.

Conferring with the three judges besides Adams and Ziem, were Irving Beattie, assistant attorney general; Samuel J. Torina, state solicitor general; and Jerome K. Barry Jr., assistant county prosecutor assigned to the Kierdorf case.

In the petition, Adams and Ziem asserted upon their information and belief that from Aug. 3 to date certain individuals did:

"Obstruct justice, carry concealed weapons, procure false statements, destroy and conceal evidence of criminal offenses, intimidate witnesses, commit arson, place explosive substance in or upon a certain building causing the death of a certain person, perpetuate and engage in various frauds, larcenies, and cheats;

"Engage in lewd and lascivious co-habitation, commit misprision of a felony;

"Procure, counsel, aid or abet said offenses and did commit various related and similar offenses and did conspire, combine and confederate together to commit any or all of the above acts."

★ ★ ★

Adams and Ziem decided to petition for the one-man Oakland County grand jury following a story revealing Pontiac Teamsters president Leaun Harrelson was with Herman Kierdorf, Frank's uncle, shortly before he staggered into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital critically burned early Aug. 4. He died four days later.

The story came from Harrelson's ex-wife, Iris.

Submission of the petition this morning necessitated a hurried swearing-in of Judge Beer, Oakland County's newest member of the circuit bench. He wasn't expected to take his oath of office until tomorrow.

Administering the oath to Beer, appointed Monday by Gov. G. Mennen Williams to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge George B. Hartrick, was Wilfred S. Cooney Jr., chief deputy clerk.

★ ★ ★

The petition asks the juror to consider certain crimes and misdemeanors in connection with three arsons. They are:

1. The burning of the Latrelle Cleaners outside Flint Aug. 3, where, police believe, Kierdorf received his fatal burns in a bungled arson job.

2. The arson at the apartment of Mary Ann Thon at 60 Douglas St. Mrs. Thon, a divorcee, is a friend of Harrelson's.

3. The burning of 15 suits on July 9 belonging to Harrelson. Mrs. Thon has admitted she burned the suits in her apartment incinerator.

Mrs. Thon, a 28-year-old waitress at a Bloomfield Township restaurant, was released yesterday on order of Adams after taking a lie detector test.

She denied in the test having anything to do with the burning of her apartment, according to James F. Bale, Pontiac police detective.

Bale said the results of the test were "inconclusive," and that she will be given another one during the continued investigation.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, habeas corpus hearings were scheduled at 2 this afternoon before Judge Holland asking for the release from jail of Harrelson and Kierdorf.

Their attorney, William F. Dohany, obtained the writs yesterday.

Authorities during the court hearing must show why Harrelson and Kierdorf shouldn't be released, if they want to continue them in custody.

Harrelson, 40, and Kierdorf, 67, former Teamsters official in Detroit, were arrested Tuesday night after Harrelson's former wife told her story to authorities.

She told how Kierdorf called Harrelson shortly after midnight Aug. 3, and how Harrelson left their home at 26 Delaware Dr., and didn't return until around 5 a.m.

It was around the time the call was received that Frank Kierdorf, 56, former Flint Teamsters organizer, stumbled into the hospital.

When Harrelson returned home, Mrs. Harrelson said he told her he had been with Herman Kierdorf and that Frank had been "badly burned up" in a fire.

Authorities attempted to question Harrelson and Herman Kierdorf yesterday afternoon at the county jail. "They would not make any statements," declared Adams.

Adams and Ziem in their petition for the grand jury asked the Oakland Circuit Court to appoint as special prosecutors for the jury George F. Taylor, chief assistant prosecutor, Barry and LeRoy W. McEntee, another assistant usually assigned to the prosecutor's Royal Oak office.

From Adams' state staff, appointment was asked of Beattie, Torina and John Gilmore and James Coyle, assistant attorneys general.

CARIBOU FIRE MENTIONED

In a new development, Milton F. Cooney, attorney for the Village of Clarkston, said he would ask the grand jury, if it is authorized, to broaden its scope of the investigation and probe the arson fire at the Caribou Inn in Clarkston last March.

★ ★ ★

Cooney, who as safety director for Pontiac petitioned for a 1951 grand jury, said he saw no connection between the Caribou fire and the Kierdorf case.

"I feel that there has been a crime of arson in the village of Clarkston, and nothing has been done about it," Cooney said.

Meantime Pontiac detectives are pressing their investigation of the arson at the apartment of Mrs. Mary Ann Thon, girlfriend of Harrelson, on Aug. 20.

The police have two witnesses who saw a man leave the rear door of the apartment building moments before the fire was discovered.

Yesterday police held a show up for the witnesses to view in which Leaun Harrelson Jr. was included. The witnesses failed to identify anyone in the lineup.

The police are checking friends of both Harrelson and Mrs. Thon on the theory that the fire was started by a person with a grudge against one or both of them.

Normal Climate Prevails Across Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather showed only minor changes today, with scattered showers in a few areas and generally normal conditions in most of the country.

Rain and cloudy skies continued along the Southeastern coast in connection with Hurricane Daisy, located some 400 miles off the Georgia coast. The shower belt extended from Virginia southward to Florida. Rainfall was light in most places.

Light rain also sprinkled areas in the upper Great Lakes region and in parts of the middle Mississippi Valley.

Lonely Hearts Swindle Alleged

54-Year-Old Man Held After Being Picked Up at Imlay Roadblock

BAD AXE (AP) — A 54-year-old man was held here today in the alleged lonely hearts swindle of a 58-year-old Gratiot County widow.

Sheriff Merritt R. McBride of Huron County said the man gave the name of Thomas Henry Smith, 54, of Danbury, Conn. Prosecutor Fred H. Passenger of Gratiot County advised McBride that Smith is wanted there on a charge of larceny by conversion.

Smith allegedly induced a St. Louis, Mich., widow to sell her home on a promise of marriage and then skipped to Florida with $4,000 belonging to the woman.

His arrest at Imlay City yesterday interrupted a trip to Florida with a 58-year-old Bad Axe woman who had sold her home. McBride said $8,500 was found on Smith at the roadblock at which he was stopped in Imlay City.

With Smith and the Bad Axe woman was an 85-year-old woman who identified herself as Mrs. Anna F. Smith of Miami and said she was the man's mother, McBride said.

Suspicious neighbors of the Bad Axe woman, who told them she had sold her home and withdrawn her savings to accompany a man to Florida, went to McBride.

The couple, the woman said, planned to be married en route.

McBride said a check with other authorities disclosed a larceny warrant for Smith in Gratiot County.

the east. It is moving slightly east of due north at about 20 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said the storm apparently reached its maximum intensity late yesterday and should decrease in violence within 12 to 18 hours.

It is expected to move almost straight north this afternoon, passing east of Cape Hatteras. A turn to the north-northeast and later toward the northeast should begin tonight or early Friday, the Weather Bureau said.

Asked whether the predicted northeast turn would take Daisy away from New England, chief storm forecaster Gordon Dunn said it "all depends on how close she gets before she turns.

"At the moment, it looks like it can easily give Cape Cod and southeastern Massachusetts a fairly good brushing. It is too early to know how close it will come."

Even Death Is Not Certain in Science Age

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Like to take a long, cool sleep and wake up a hundred years from now?

It could happen—and soon, Dr. A. S. Parkes, an expert on deep freezing, told the British Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

The secret, he said, is to cool down the human body until it reaches a state of suspended animation. Scientists have done it with blood plasma and sometimes whole organs.

Right now, the biologist is a long way from keeping a whole warm blooded mammal on ice, Parkes said.

"But he may do so unexpectedly at any moment by some ingenious stroke," he added.

Parkes said successful revival of frozen dogs, rats and mice raised an important question: Just when is an animal dead?

"Death is the state from which revival of the body as a whole is impossible by any currently known means," he said.

Defends Boys Failing to Wash Around Necks

LONDON (UPI) — A doctor spoke up today for boys who don't wash their necks.

Editor Dr. Harvey Flack said in the magazine "Family Doctor" that a dirty ring around Junior's neck could well be the brand of good health.

The doctor said a protective layer of grease around the skin is vital for health and should not be disturbed too often by parental orders to wash behind the ears.

"Boys seem to know this profound dermatological truth by instinct," he said.

"Abnormally clean small boys always fill me with the greatest foreboding," he said. "Healthy small boys and even larger boys attract dirt. Girls don't do so to nearly the same extent. Nobody knows why."

Flack said a "well-defined anti-washing phase" was peculiar to boys and seldom observed in girls. He said this was normal "but sooner or later, protests about all that washing give way to enjoyment."

Flack, who is a father himself, said, "a tidemark around the neck has never yet been responsible for any irritation—except in adults who attach too much importance to adult standards."

If he had more children than his own to look after, he said, "I wouldn't bother about their necks.

that their records have been sent to all-Negro Horace Mann High School. Earlier this week he refused to enter three other Negroes in white high schools.

Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia warned last night, that his state's public schools will close rather than submit to federally-enforced integration.

Griffin said that if President Eisenhower sends paratroopers to Georgia "they can hitch up their fancy breeches and march up and down in front of an empty school."

Senate Probes Teamsters on Circus, Carnival Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Indiana lawyer testified today that Harry Karsh, a top aide to Teamsters leader Harry Gibbons, used hunger and thirst of menagerie animals to help force carnival workers into the Jewelers Union in 1952.

★ ★ ★

The testimony by Robert L. Hines, Fort Wayne, opened the Senate Rackets Committee's efforts to show how the Teamsters finally took over the workers. The committee is exploring a trail strewn with violence in Teamsters labor dealings.

★ ★ ★

Hines told the committee the workers didn't want to join the union. He said Karsh admitted he never had asked any of them if they wanted to join, but used threats to wreck the carnival and to hound it from city to city.

★ ★ ★

Hines said Karsh sprung the coup — involving hungry, thirsty animals—on the night of Sunday, July 6, 1952, when the Cetlin & Wilson Shows attempted to unload at Fort Wayne, for a week's run at a county fair.

He said imported pickets, carrying signs fastened to heavy clubs, blocked the unloading of the train, and Karsh served notice "he had the owner exactly where he wanted him" and would do no bargaining.

★ ★ ★

Hines said he was called in to represent the carnival and found this situation:

Karsh refusing to meet with the employes or the owners, but demanding a contract that would give all the workers except unionized musicians and actors 30 days to join the Jewelry Workers' carnival local or be fired. He said Karsh was threatening to wreck the carnival if it tried to move to the fair grounds without signing the contract.

The carnival's animals needed to be fed and watered, he said, and a humane officer was threatening to arrest the owners for cruelty if this wasn't done at once. The police refused to let the carnival unload unless trucks would move the stuff promptly. Hines said the Teamsters Union triuck drivers refused to handle the equipment until the contract was signed.

"Obviously it was extortion from the owners and the employes," Hines said, that resulted in John W. Wilson, in charge of the show, finally surrendering to Karsh's demands.

★ ★ ★

Hyman J. Powell, secretary-treasurer of the Jewelry Workers, acknowledged that Karsh got his charter for the carnival workers on the strength of an endorsement by Teamsters Vice President Gibbons that he was "a good, capable organizer."

★ ★ ★

Powell said he didn't know at the time that Karsh previously was kicked out of the American Federation of Labor.

★ ★ ★

Powell said his union—itself now involved in scandals—revoked the carnival workers' charter under pressure from William Green, then president of the AFL, on Aug. 20, 1952, because of its strong-arm methods.

★ ★ ★

The committee hopes to find out why several circuses closed down after a bitter 1956 dispute with the Teamsters. Most others, including the big Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus, discarded the canvas big top to save labor costs.

CIRCUS LEADERS CALLED

Officials of some eight circuses and carnivals were summoned to testify before the committee, which has been unfolding a story of widespread corruption and terrorism in Teamster affairs.

Pontiac Mayor Dedicates Pontiac Grove in Israel

EIN KAREM, Israel — Not far from the village of Ein Karem, the birthplace of John the Baptist, in the Hills of Judea, will be a grove of trees in honor of the City of Pontiac, Michigan, and dedicated to the Brotherhood of Man.

Pontiac's Mayor William W. Donaldson, on a visit to Israel with Mrs. Donaldson, planted the first two trees in the forest-to-be.

There could have been no more suitable place in the Holy Land than that chosen for the Pontiac Wood. In its neighborhood is a great medical center under construction, the new hospital of the Hadassah organization, which will bring relief and rehabilitation to the sick.

The trees of the Pontiac Forest, too, will bring relief and rehabilitation—to the sick earth which has been left barren and unattended for centuries and which will now be clothed with a mantle of green.

Representatives of the Israel Foreign Office and of the Jewish National Fund, Israel's land-rehabilitation agency, attended the ceremony of inauguration of the forest.

Donaldson in his reply recalled contributions for the planting of over 500 trees. He hoped that this forest would comprise thousands of trees and be a worthy link between the City of Pontiac and the Land of Israel.

The Day in Birmingham

Youngsters Signing Out Baldwin Library Books

BIRMINGHAM — A new feature designed especially for junior patrons has been added to Baldwin Public Library.

The charging desk, recently installed, has young readers personally signing out the books they borrow, Miss Jan Lloyd, librarian, said.

The "self-service" checkout was made necessary by the tremendous volume of books borrowed daily. Miss Lloyd said that during the school year this at times totals nearly 2,000 a day.

Adult books will continue to be checked out by the automatic machine. The Brodac system is the pattern for the self-service desk where children are required to record their names, book titles, authors and library code numbers.

Young readers have taken to the idea and are proving themselves most co-operative and capable, Miss Lloyd said.

Under the chairmanship of Jonathan M. Ball, a congregational action committee is being formed in the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce.

It will provide special studies on proposed federal legislation, and recommend formal chamber action.

J. L. McPherson, representative of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, will bring the local group up to date on matters due to come before the next session of Congress.

A special meeting of the Birmingham Board of Education has been called for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Hill Building to study final plans and specifications for the new junior-senior high school to be constructed at 13-Mile and Evergreen roads.

Two youths escaped injury yesterday afternoon after their cars collided and careened into a light pole.

Robert Hills, 17, of 1083 Stratford Rd., Bloomfield Hills, and Ronald R. Austin, 22, of 4208 Paxton St., Pontiac, were spared possible electrocution because power lines which fell on their cars do not carry any current during the day, Detroit Edison linemen said.

The accident happened when Hills' car sideswiped Austin's on Long Lake road near Woodward, Bloomfield Hills police said.

Stanley T. Ford

Service for Stanley T. Ford, 68, of 183 Poppleton St., Birmingham, will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak.

Mr. Ford died unexpectedly Tuesday near Sault Ste. Marie while on vacation.

A retired Chrysler Corp. employe Mr. Ford was born in the family home which now is the Birmingham Masonic Temple. He was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias.

Surviving are his wife, Harriett; a daughter, Mrs. Carl Maumann, and two brothers, Bert and Austin, all of Birmingham, and four grandchildren.

Horace D. Seelinger

Service for Horace D. Seelinger, 58, of 1491 Manderford Rd., Bloomfield Township, will be held at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the William Vasu Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery.

Mr. Seelinger died yesterday of a heart attack at William Beaumont Hospital.

He was assistant director of the new devices section at the General Motors Technical Center. He had been with GM for 32 years.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Man Struck by Car in Parking Lot

James Conahan, 29, of 34 Hovey St. was in fair condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after being struck down by an unidentified auto while he was walking in a parking lot about 3:10 a.m.

Pontiac police report Conahan said he was walking to a friend's auto in the parking lot of the Chick-Inn at E. Wilson and Saginaw streets when a 1956 auto zoomed towards him, knocked him down and sped away.

★ ★ ★

Police said that there has been some disorder previously and they believe that Conahan was struck through mistaken identity.

Conahan is being treated for possible back injuries.

Install New Signals on Mackinac Span

ST. IGNACE (AP)—A new, push-button speed and lane control sign-signal system developed by the State Highway Department is being installed on the Mackinac Bridge and will be in operation by next week.

The system involves a set of five large overhead signs whose legends are controlled at a switchboard in the administration building at the St. Ignace end.

The sign-signals, also being considered for possible use on Michigan urban expressways, will tell traffic which lanes are open and which are closed to traffic. They also will indicate safe travel spe

Speeds will be set at either 15, 30 or 45 miles per hour. Green illuminated arrows will indicate lanes open for use and an orange "X" will indicate lanes closed to traffic.

The signs, at five locations on the bridge, are visible at 1,000 feet. Information will be flashed to the St. Ignace control point by radio-equipped patrol cars.

Jet Repairs Speeded

NEW YORK—A new turbojet airliner has been designed so engine changes will require only 30 minutes, or about the same time needed for a lubrication job and oil change for the family automobile.

Cigarette Output Up

NEW YORK — Some 441 billion cigarettes were produced in the United States in 1957, a 4 per cent increase over 1956.

Israeli Exports Up

TEL AVIV — Israel exported $134,200,000 worth of goods and raw materials during 1957, an increase of more than $30,400,000 over the year before.

Bob Considine Says:

Card Shark Is Taking Up Fortune Telling

NEW YORK — A cunning card shark I know named Deborah has taken up fortune telling, not that Old Maid and gin have lost their charms but she is having trouble with some of her clientele.

"Hi, Florence," I heard her beguile another small girl from the neighborhood recently. "Let me tell your fortune: What you're going to be when you grow up, how many children, things like that."

Florence smiled gratefully, showing her new braces. Deb began dealing the cards into inscrutible small packs, her lips counting silently as she arranged the difficult pattern.

"Okay," she said finally to Florence. "Ask me anything."

★ ★ ★

Florence thought a long time, canvassing the great problems that stirred within her. Then she spoke.

"Do I like my brother?" she demanded of the clairvoyant.

"That's crazy," the card palmer said, exasperated. "Ask something important. You must already know whether you like him, so ask about the big things."

★ ★ ★

Florence gave it another silent whirl, then she said:

"All right. Does my brother like me?"

A recent story out of New Delhi illuminated a depressing fact: Russia is flooding India with interesting books, pamphlets, tracts, handsomely printed and illustrated. We're replying, half-heartedly, with an 8-page pulp job twice a month.

Albert J. Hassett Jr., a New Yorker, proposes an interesting counterattack after corresponding with a Jesuit friend now teaching in India. He urges (and we second the motion) that we send our old and dust-gathering school books, reference works, educational periodicals and other pertinent volumes to Fr. Joseph Sallas, S.J., St. Xavier's College, Ahmedabad 6, India.

The padre will distribute them to all faiths, that they may counteract some of the great pressures being brought to bear on the mind of India by astute Communist propagandists.

Red Chinese military pressure on Nationalist China followed the dispatch to all U.S. embassies of a State Department policy statement on non-recognition of Mao Tse-tung's rule of the China mainland's half-billion people. The statement placed U.S. casualties in the Korean War at 142,000, a figure larger than I remember seeing before.

Embassies were reminded: "Basically the U.S. policy proceeds from the conviction that such recognition would produce no tangible benefits to the U.S. or to the free world and would be of material assistance to Chinese Communist attempts to extend Communist domination throughout Asia."

The State Department at the same time held out the possibility of eventual recognition: "If the situation in the Far East were so that change in its basic elements as to call for a radically different evaluation of the threat Chinese Communist policies post to the U.S. and free world security interests, the U.S. would of course readjust its present policies."

Mao's reply has been 100,000 shells dropped on the island outposts of our friend Chiang.

If my mail is any criterion, Gov. Faubus' stand against the forced or hasty integration of Arkansas schools, notably Little Rock's Central High, has won hot support in all sections of the country—not just the South. If the presidential elections were held this year he could conceivably constitute the balance of power.

This Bank Doubles as Munitions Plant

ATLANTA (UPI) — Warning to bandits: Don't lay siege to the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank. It doubles as a munitions plant.

Bank guards, working in the bank basement, have been turning out pistol cartridges at a rate of up to 700 an hour. They use old mail bag seals, melted down with a trace of tin alloy, for the lead bullets. They use brass from old shell casings for the jackets.

The munitions making is strictly a hobby to supply the guards with bullets for their target practice.

West Germany 14th in Soap Consumption

BONN—If cleanliness were measured by national per capita consumption of soaps and detergents, West Germany would rank 14th in the world.

Annual use averages 20 pounds per person now compared with 23 pounds before the war. Leaders in this category in Europe are Belgium with 32 pounds and Holland with 30.

The Most Noble Order of the Garter was founded more than 600 years ago by England's King Edward III "for the adorning and encouraging of Military Virtue, with honors, rewards, and glory."

Israel Asked to Assist in Russian Translation

A mutually profitable arrangement is being worked out with the Israeli embassy whereby Russian technical literature will be translated for us by Israelis.

The National Science Foundation has many Russian articles published between 1946 and 1954. Last year after Sputnik it was discovered that Russia not only had made great progress in other scientific fields but had solved many problems on which our scientists were still working and had actually published their findings.

★ ★ ★

Because there are few Russian reading scientists in the United States, much of this important material went unread. Fortunately Israel has technicians in many fields who know Russian well. The Science Foundation plans to send the material to Israel, have it translated there and sent back for checking. Then what is of interest to us will be returned to Israel for printing.

★ ★ ★

In this way Israel translators and printers can earn needed foreign exchange and we would get the technical information we have been too long without. Heretofore much of this has been filed away unread—to our loss.

Adm. Rickover to Get Special Recognition

It is gratifying to know that Congress has voted to present a gold medal to Rear Adm. HYMAN RICKOVER who is regarded as the father of the atomic submarine.

The action followed criticism of the Navy's failure to include the Admiral in White House ceremonies honoring the skipper and crew of the Nautilus for their voyage under the Polar icecap. President EISENHOWER presented the captain of the craft with the Legion of Merit medal and the crew with the unit citation for their pioneering feat.

★ ★ ★

In World War II Adm. RICKOVER was head of the electrical division of the Navy's bureau of ships and has played a vital role in developing America's fleet of atomic submarines. Admittedly hard to get along with and disdainful of red tape, the Navy was ready to retire him in 1953 but those who recognized his genius came to his support.

The 58-year-old Rear Admiral is shortly to receive the third star of a Vice-Admiral and he represented the President at the New York celebration for the Nautilus on its return from its history making voyage.

Adm. RICKOVER has worked hard for development of the nucelar submarine, too often in the face of short-sighted opposition. He has contributed much to the strength of his country and deserves the honors planned for him.

Piggybacking is Boon to Hauling Business

A few years ago several railroads started carrying their own truck trailers and by 1955 some 19 of the country's 114 Class 1 railroads were offering general trailer on flat car service. Now 48 have this convenience, according to Barron's national and financial weekly.

★ ★ ★

Railroads have been reluctant to offer piggyback service, which is simply transporting highway trailers on flat cars. They felt it was of more benefit to the trucking industry than to them. But now the railroads are picking up some of this freight business and finding it profitable.

Truckers and shippers save money on long hauls. Fuel costs, wages of drivers, ton mile taxes and weight and size restrictions are largely eliminated.

The system has grown from 168,150 cars loaded in 1955 to 249,065 last year. It combines the low costs of the railroads and their ability to move quickly over their own rights of way with the convenience of truck movement to any place there is a highway.

Piggybacking is a mutually profitable, fast and dependable system of shipping and now that the railroads and truckers have gotten together, it should help the whole country.

Oakland County Tops the World in This Respect

Tigers: What always look like a promising team—promising for next year.

Here's another Oakland County first. A Detroit paper in big headlines tells its readers that its home city has more country clubs than any other city in the world. Then it goes on to name the 18 that give it that distinction, and Twelve of them are in Oakland.

Besides the 12 mentioned our county has several other such clubs, the total giving it more than any other similar area in the world.

David Lawrence Says:

Integration Issue Badly Confused

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower reflected accurately the uneasiness of the whole country on the school "integration" problem when he said to his press conference that he may have told friends recently in personal conversation that he wished the courts would proceed more slowly with their enforcement orders.

LAWRENCE

The truth is the whole situation is badly confused. The Supreme Court of the United States itself used an ambiguous phrase when, in 1955, it ordered the desegregation of the schools "with all deliberate speed." What is meant by "deliberate" and what is meant by "speed"?

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis two weeks ago interpreted this to mean it must ignore realities—the demoralization in the classrooms of Little Rock's Central High School—and regard only the "legalities." Will the Supreme Court, which itself has yielded to psychological considerations before, ignore them now?

REAL BLUNDER

But the real blunder was written into the pages of history by the Supreme Court in its 1954 decision when it frankly abandoned all pretense of deciding the question of desegregation on the basis of legal rulings of the past and introduced an "intangible factor"—sociology—by declaring that separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

★ ★ ★

This is an example of what the Conference of State Chief Justices undoubtedly had in mind when, by a vote of 36 to 8, it declared in a resolution adopted last week that the Supreme Court was trying to render decisions on the basis not of what is necessarily constitutional but on "what it may deem desirable."

It isn't the function of the Supreme Court to do this. In fact, Judge Learned Hand of New York, famous member of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, now retired, warns that the Supreme Court has lately been taking on the aspect of a "third legislative chamber."

One of the most tragic things about the whole "integration" controversy has been the tendency to minimize the feeling of the people of the South and to look upon their attitude intolerantly, as merely a disrespect for law or for the Constitution.

Progress in a democracy in the solution of vexatious problems will never be made if one side merely calls names and doesn't wish to listen to the arguments of the other side. The South's case has never been presented as fully in the North as it deserves, and those who have attempted to give the South's arguments have been denounced as prejudiced or inflammatory.

Most regrettable, of course, is the general unfamiliarity, exhibited in so many quarters, with the difference between a court decision and a Federal law. Thus, for instance, when Governor Faubus, in addressing the Arkansas Legislature this week, pointed out that the women citizens of America had not been given the vote by a court decree but by a constitutional amendment, many people were surprised.

They didn't realize that the Fourteenth Amendment was never construed by the Supreme Court to nullify state laws governing the right of males only to vote. The courts never said that women were being denied "equal protection of the law" or that their "privileges" as citizens were being infringed under the Fourteenth Amendment.

★ ★ ★

The truth is the Fourteenth Amendment was adopted by a Congress which never had the slightest idea that this would ever be used to impose integration in the schools. For the same Congress that passed the Fourteenth Amendment enacted a law providing for separate schools for whites and Negroes in the national capital itself.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Hang Onto the Rail, Lady and Have Tests for Sugar

A Kentucky reader says she has raised her 9-year-old son by the teachings of a health columnist who is too . . . and the lady has never insisted that he bundle up more than he wants to, winter or summer, and the boy never has a cold.

Well?

Furthermore, the boy has never had any kind of laxative or physic or "aid." To her this is wonderful, as she was plied with so many laxatives when she was a child, by her well-meaning mother.

DR. BRADY

The lady eats green vegetables and meat and never takes less than four glasses of milk per day. She also eats some kind of cheese every day. She is 30 years old, 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs—hold onto the rail there, this wind is pretty strong—96 pounds.

"I am small-boned and look as if I weighed more," says the little woman, "but wish I could gain as much as 10 pounds. I try to eat rich foods, such as pie, cake, but do not like them and cannot eat enough of them to matter. I feel tired most of the time, though I work hard anyway, and frequently get weak, shaky and short of breath . . ."

Come, come, now, this is no laughing matter. What this young woman needs first of all is a physical examination by her physician, plus such laboratory or special tests as the physician considers necessary, but certainly a test for sugar in the urine.

Such examination may or may not reveal the hidden cause of the tiredness, weakness, shakiness and shortness of breath. Anyway it would be folly for her to drift along without it.

A woman aged 30, 5 feet and 2 inches tall, should weigh about 120 pounds. Statistics compiled by Anna M. Galbraith, M.D., author of Personal Hygiene and Physical Training for Women indicate that the average or ideal measurements of the woman at her best in every way are as follows:

Height	65 inches
Spread of wings	65 inches
Weight	138 pounds
Bust	34 inches
Waist	29 inches
Hips	40 inches

On written request I'll send any reader the free pamphlet "How to Gain Weight," or one titled "How to Lose Weight."

Life insurance statistics indicate the average height of women aged 30 to 34 is 5 feet 4 inches, and the average weight 130 pounds.

A variation of 6 or 8 pounds one way or the other matters little. What does matter, for health, functional efficiency, vite and longevity, as well as for P.A. (personal appearance, good looks,) is muscle tone, acquired and maintained by a reasonable amount of general exercise every day, such as two miles of oxygen on the hoof three times a day, or the equivalent in dancing, skating, mowing the lawn or doing all your own housework.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Imagination Does Strange Things

Paul McChesney offers some fascinating data on mass hysteria. But don't think you are immune to it by any means. Notice the episode concerning my brother John. Modern doctors are very careful to discriminate between drug effects via suggestibility of patients.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-304: Paul McChesney, aged about 35, is a brilliant attorney of Spartanburg, South Carolina, and member of the state legislature.

★ ★ ★

Earlier this year he had extended an invitation from the General Assembly in Columbia for me to come down and address that talented body of lawmakers on a "Realistic View of Educational Problems."

DR. CRANE

The night before my address, we visited at length. And Mr. McChesney mentioned that Spartanburg had recently voted to fluoridate its city water supply.

"However," he smilingly added, "the actual addition of the fluoride was delayed but the citizenry did not know that fact.

★ ★ ★

"Within a few days, our daily newspapers were flooded with letters from residents claiming that they were developing backache from the flourine in the drinking water.

"Others argued that their gall bladders or other ailments were increased phenomenally by the fluorine.

"Yet all the while there wasn't a particle of fluorine in the drinking water! They just imagined there was, and sprouted all sorts of psychosomatic ailments."

MENTAL AILMENTS

When my brother, Dr. John B. Crane, the economist and European newspaper analyst, made one of his recent trips back to America, he and his wife felt their cabin was too stuffy.

★ ★ ★

"We can't sleep without an open window," he exclaimed, so Joan went to the porthole window and opened it wide.

They inhaled deeply and then relaxed at this influx of clean fresh air.

But next morning, they saw they had opened only the inside porthole window but had failed to open the outside one, just a few inches beyond.

So they had simply imagined all the fresh cool air from the ocean!

For they had still been shut inside the supposedly stuffy cabin all night long without a single breath of fresh air from outside!

★ ★ ★

That's another example to show you how easily our minds can trick us.

Psychosomatic medicine is a modern 98 cent term to indicate imaginary aches and pains.

And this suggestibility of human beings is what causes us doctors to run control tests when we are trying a new drug.

Suppose the drug is in the form of a white tablet. If the patients know the drug is thought to be helpful in relieving arthritis pain or any other ache, they may trick themselves and report wonderful cures.

That is especially true if they have a dynamic doctor with a magnetic personality and enthusiasm for the new drug.

So we must develop a scientific check. This may be done by giving the even-numbered patients, such as the second, fourth, sixth, etc., the real drug and the odd-numbered patients a similar white pill which is ordinary table salt or some other harmless powder.

But the patients are not informed which is which. Thus, they don't know if they have taken the new drug or the salt pill.

Indeed, they are not even told that half of them have one and the other 50 per cent have taken the other.

Later we check upon their reports. Sometimes the salt pill produces just as striking results as the new drug, showing that the effect may be psychological instead of medicinal.

Hysteria and mob psychology are other evidences of the power of the emotions over logic and organic conditions, so lean over backwards to be sure you are not stampeded with the thoughtless mob.

See tomorrow's follow-up for some practical advice on drugs.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Worker's Wife Says Union Holds Too Much Power

My husband had more than eight years in Pontiac Motor and in March was laid off after two years part time work. We were heavy in debt so to make ends meet, he took our 13-year-old boy to California with him. There he could make $1.50 an hour so we could live. My two small daughters and I have to stay here until the house is sold, if it ever is.

★ ★ ★

Splitting up families isn't living. My husband took much training in the General Motors school in Flint to become a tool journeyman, but it seems he was never allowed to use his skills there. But he could get work in a missile plant right away.

★ ★ ★

He'd be better off here, and it's a disgrace for a man to have to go to another state to work after working for General Motors so many years. The Union has too much power over the working man. Let's take some of it away.

Readers Question Officers' Accident

I was looking at the wreck which happened on M-59 in White Lake Township Sunday, in which two Orchard Lake policemen were hurt. I've never seen a car come apart as this. It's in three parts.

★ ★ ★

There should be two reckless driving tickets given to the two policemen. It looks to me as if there was racing going on. A wreck such as that was going faster than 55 to hit a tree, tear off the rear end, skid 80 feet and split the rest in half.

★ ★ ★

They say there was another car with no lights. I wonder. I think if the truth were known it was a race between a Pontiac and a Ford. It looks bad. Two policemen hurt, two different cars. The car is on 59 at White Lake Town Hall at a gas station. If speed caused it, the policemen of Orchard Lake should stop to think before giving out another ticket in Orchard Lake, and, wonder "Am I a safe driver? Do I obey laws in other townships?"

Albert H. Stephens

Milford

I'm very much interested in the article concerning the accident involving two off-duty Orchard Lake Police officers. A recent series of letters to the editor brought a rebuttal from the Village Commissioner to the effect that his men spend all day trapping 40 mph motorists so as to prevent the wild night drivers from destroying themselves and maybe others on the winding Orchard Lake precinct roads.

★ ★ ★

The article about the accident stated some mysterious dark-colored, lightless vehicle forced these two men with their cars off the road in the wee hours of the morning. As a result, one of the vehicles hit two trees with such force it broke in three pieces, the other vehicle being slightly damaged in the right front fender.

★ ★ ★

The facts of the whole business seem to indicate the two men were racing, an oncoming vehicle forced one of the competing cars to pull back into his own lane, in the process of making this maneuver he struck the other competing car in the left rear fender, causing him to lose control and hit the trees. These two cars were traveling at a terrific rate of speed at the time of impact.

★ ★ ★

The article indicated the two men wouldn't be charged with any traffic violation as a result of their little fiasco. It's about time something is done to protect the common Michigan motorist.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS

(10)—Loneliness

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) Few men so far have spent any considerable amount of time in what can be considered space. On Aug. 20, 1957, one man, Air Force Major David G. Simons rode a research balloon to a record altitude of 102,000 feet. At that distance 99 per cent of Earth's atmosphere was below him. He experienced every situation a man in a rocket satellite will have to face, except weightlessness and the initial acceleration — and high-speed re-entry.

(2) A camera inside the balloon capsule took a picture like this of Major Simons. Upon landing the major said that his most striking impression was the feeling of loneliness in an "unfriendly realm." How much more so it will be for the first pilot of an orbiting satellite.

(3) To see just how men will be able to live and function inside the confines of a spaceship, the Air Force has been simulating space voyages for almost four years at the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph AFB, Tex., and also at Wright Air Development Center in Dayton, Ohio. Above, at Dayton, a "ground crew" monitors a mock-up spaceship, observing the effects of a five-day isolation test on the "passengers" inside.

(4) In the cramped interior of the cabin, conditions are made to approximate those that will be met in actual space. Tests in one-man chambers have also been conducted.

The first space "man" could be a woman, for at least one member of the "weaker" sex has outperformed men in isolation tests at the Wright Center.

Achieving fame at Randolph Field school was Airman Donald G. Farrell, who successfully completed a seven-day "space flight" inside a capsule, breathing an entirely synthetic atmosphere. He was, to all intents and purposes, alone in space.

Next: The Re-entry Problem.

Set Nuclear Project for Alaska in 1960

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) A nonmilitary nuclear project has been scheduled for the summer of 1960 in Alaska.

* * *

The director of field testing for Sandia Corp., Richard A. Bice, says the project is one of three to be undertaken as part of Project Plowshare.

He said the projects are a possible harbor on the northwest coast, a proposed channel through the peninsula which starts the Aleutian chain and a harbor along the coastal strip of Alaska which stretches south toward the United States.

A final decision as to which one will be first has not been reached, Bice said, although one definitely will be undertaken by the 1960 deadline.

* * *

Bice has just returned from a trip to Alaska.

Sandia Corp. of Albuquerque is participating on the project with the University of California Radiation Laboratory at Livermore and the San Francisco office of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The proposed harbors would be used for taking out minerals mined in the area.

* * *

The Aleutian Peninsula passageway would make it easier for Alaska's west coast fishermen to get to canneries on the Kenai Peninsula, Junreau and Ketchikan, Bice said.

Hold Exercises Over Formosa

U.S., Nationalist Planes Drill as Reds Pound Offshore Islands

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist and U.S. planes conducted joint air defense exercises today over the coast of Formosa as Red Chinese batteries continued to pound the Nationalist-held islands just off the coast of mainland China.

★ ★ ★

The announcement by the U.S.-Formosan command gave no details of the joint air maneuvers. But it obviously was designed to point up American backing for the Nationalists in hopes it would deter the Red Chinese from trying an invasion of the offshore islands.

The announcement said both Nationalist and American officials were satisfied with the exercise.

As the Communist artillery attack on the Quemoy Island group pounded through its sixth day, Nationalist intelligence sources reported Red land and sea movements they interpreted as the prelude to an invasion attempt.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said the Reds battered Quemoy with more than 16,000 shells in the 19 hours before dawn and that sporadic shelling continued through the daylight hours.

The pattern of shelling appeared to have changed since the saturation barrages of Saturday and Sunday. The spokesman said the Red gunners were now skipping from area to area throughout the Quemoy complex of islands just off the coast of mainland China.

Nationalist authorities declined to speculate on the shifting tactics. But observers felt it could mean the Reds think they know the Quemoy defenses and are trying to knock them out prior to an invasion attempt.

★ ★ ★

The Nationalists have not made known the intensity of their return fire but it has been mostly defensive shelling against Red gun positions. This is the easiest type of fire to spot, and the Reds presumably are able to fix the general areas if not the actual dug-in gun positions.

The fact that the Reds have expected more than 100,000 pounds of shells added weight to the belief that an invasion attempt is imminent.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, spokesman for the Defense Ministry, said, "There is no question in our minds that the Communists intend to try an invasion sooner or later. The heavy Red artillery barrages, plus the intensified buildup of the mainland areas strongly indicate sooner."

★ ★ ★

The official Central News Agency quoted intelligence sources as saying a Red amphibious assault against the Tan islets between Quemoy and the Red mainland would be highly possible next week, when a near-full moon and high tides would aid landing craft operations.

It Just Grows Higher

PESOTUM, Ill. (AP) — Farmer Chris Schultz has a stalk of corn that towers 18 feet. And he says his stalk is still growing and may reach 30 feet. "I didn't apply any special fertilizer and secret shots to make it grow this much either," Schultz vows. "But you've got to admit it's going to be a whopper."

Chief Justice Warren Is Hard Man to Faze

By United Press International

Earl Warren, as chief justice of what has been the most controversial U.S. Supreme Court since the famous "court packing" sensation of the early FDR administration, has been described as a man who looks like an ad for clean living.

★ ★ ★

Big, handsome and breezy he could — even at 67 — pass anywhere as a Boy Scout leader. He stands 6 feet, 1 inch in height, has a quick, boyish smile in a ruddy, open face under silvery hair, and a disarming directness of address.

If the drumfire of criticism that has come the high court's way in recent years has affected him, he has not shown it in public. In this seeming imperturbability, his political background has stood him in good stead.

Even in his hurly-burly political days, "Big Earl" Warren most of the time managed to stay above the party line dogfights, even while earning a reputation as a tough battler.

Warren came to the court in 1953 from 10 years as governor of California, and a steady diet of political jobs, including Republican nomination as Thomas E. Dewey's vice presidential running mate in 1948, since 1919.

After World War I, which he entered as a private and finished as a first lieutenant, Warren became deputy city attorney of Oakland, Calif., then deputy district attorney for Alameda County, and at age 33 district attorney of the county, a post to which he was elected and re-elected four times.

MADE REPUTATION

In that post, he attained a statewide reputation as crime-buster and in a Democratic year was elected on the Republican and Democratic tickets as state attorney general in 1938, in a landslide.

In 1942 he ran for governor, again on both tickets as permitted in California, and was an easy winner. Twice he was re-elected, the last time swamping James Roosevelt by more than a million votes. He was his state's "favorite son" presidential candidate to all the national conventions during his tenure.

Opponents said of politician Warren that he had "everything going for him" — looks, personality, and family. The Warren family became nationally famous in the 1948 presidential campaign. He had the prettiest bevy of daughters any politician ever was blessed with, and the GOP strategists made the most of them.

Politically, Warren has been known by many names. Most generally he used to acknowledge to being a "progressive Republican," but he also has been called "conservative," "radical," and by one opponent "California socialist."

★ ★ ★

A lawyer by schooling (University of California) and training Warren aways manifested respect for practitioners of the legal profession. Once, as governor, a celebrated California case was argued on the one side by a man acting as his own lawyer and Warren was asked what he thought of that. He laughed heartily and replied:

"When I was going to law school they told me a man who acted as his own lawyer had a fool for a client!"

Applies for License She Doesn't Want

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — A Nebraska housewife hates deer hunting but dislikes arguing with her husband even more.

★ ★ ★

He insisted that she accompany him on a deer hunt next fall. She applied for a deer license and sent a $10 check to the Nebraska Game Commission. But she enclosed this note:

"Please do not send me a permit to hunt deer as I do not want to go. My husband insists I go. I do not want to walk and hunt deer. It makes me too tired.

"Please send the check back to me when it is time to mail it back. Do not send this letter back with the check!"

Wage-Freeze Pact Challenged

UAW, AMC Accused of Indulging in Unfair Labor Practices

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors' pay-freeze contract with the United Auto Workers is under legal challenge by another union as a product of collusion.

★ ★ ★

The Mechanics Education Society of America, which previously denounced the two-year AMC-UAW pact as a "sweetheart contract," brought unfair labor practice charges against the company yesterday.

★ ★ ★

In a petition to the National Labor Relations Board the MESA charged management and the UAW with illegally bargaining away the rights of 400 to 600 MESA employes of AMC in Detroit.

The contract, applying only to AMC's 1,200 electrical appliance workers at its Grand Rapids factory, is contingent on mid-November consolidation of all the company's appliance manufacturing in that city.

AMC's Detroit workers and another 600 in Peoria, Ill., face layoff as a result.

The contract has no relation to AMC's 12,000 auto plant workers in Kenosha, Wis.

Coincidental with the MESA's filing of unfair practices charges the company yesterday announced the start of a $1,000,000 expansion and renovation program at Grand Rapids in connection with its consolidation plans.

George White, president of MESA Local 9, filed the charges at the Detroit NLRB office.

★ ★ ★

"We can prove," White said, "there was collusion to bargain away the jobs of our members and the company refused to bargain with MESA on its issues affecting the Detroit plant."

The MESA, like the UAW, belongs to the AFL-CIO.

Finally Signed Into Law

Ex-Presidents Will Draw Pensions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world's richest nation has finally made sure that never again will an ex-president have to live off the charity of relatives.

President Eisenhower has signed into law a bill granting an annual $25,000 pension to all present and future ex-Presidents.

It also grants an annual $10,000 pension to the widows of ex-Presidents.

* * *

Four persons are immediately eligible: Former Presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

* * *

Besides the pensions, ex-Presidents also get office space, unlimited free mailing privileges and an office staff that could earn up to $50,000.

Pensions for ex-Presidents have been a long time coming. Nearly 170 years to be exact.

Congress has often talked about the idea. And a number of times it has even voted special pensions for presidential widows. Mrs. Wilson now receives $5,000 a year.

But from the very beginning it was perfectly willing to watch ex-Presidents scrape along on their past glories.

* * *

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack said in pressing for action on the bill that congressmen kept the public treasury tightly closed while George Washington and Thomas Jefferson lived out their lives as "land-poor county squires."

He said James Monroe had to live off "the charity of relatives" in his old age; James Madison had to mortgage away much of his estate, and Gen. Ulysses S. Grant had to write his memoirs to provide for himself while suffering from cancer.

Supporters said the amount involved was a small price to pay to make sure ex-Presidents lived in dignity.

* * *

Some members of the 85th Congress weren't impressed.

They charged that the pension bill would create an extra-constitutional office. And a number of Republicans suspected in public that Truman would use the "fringe benefits" in the bill to carry on political activities.

* * *

However, most Republican and Democratic congressmen, who also are eligible for pensions, supported the bill. They passed it last week and moved on to pass the three-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

British College Dean Praises U.S. Press

ITHACA, N. Y. (UPI) — An Oxford University dean says the British press trails U.S. newspapers in their political coverage.

Dean David Butler of Nuffield College said at Cornell University recently that an American reader gets a much better picture of Washington news than British citizens get of the proceedings in Parliament.

He said though Washington reporters are not perfect, Americans should nevertheless "thank God" for their quality(their access to news, for the independence of commentators, for the U.S. wire services and for "the very real competition among papers."

Butler said the small amount of political news in England is due to a lack of public demand.

Enormous earthworms are found in many tropical regions. Some may reach a length of 11 feet.

Eye Treatment Odd

ATHENS—Hippocrates, born in 460 B.C., is credited with being the first ophthalmologist—specialiest in eye diseases. Among his suggestions for treating certain eye diseases were restricted diet and hot foot baths.

Blames Ill Health on Noisy Society

PARIS (UPI) — A leading French physician maintains that man-made noises have replaced germs as the main threat to human health.

"Noise has become a real social danger" to the present and future generations, said Prof. Fernand Tremollieres, a member of the French Academy of Medicine.

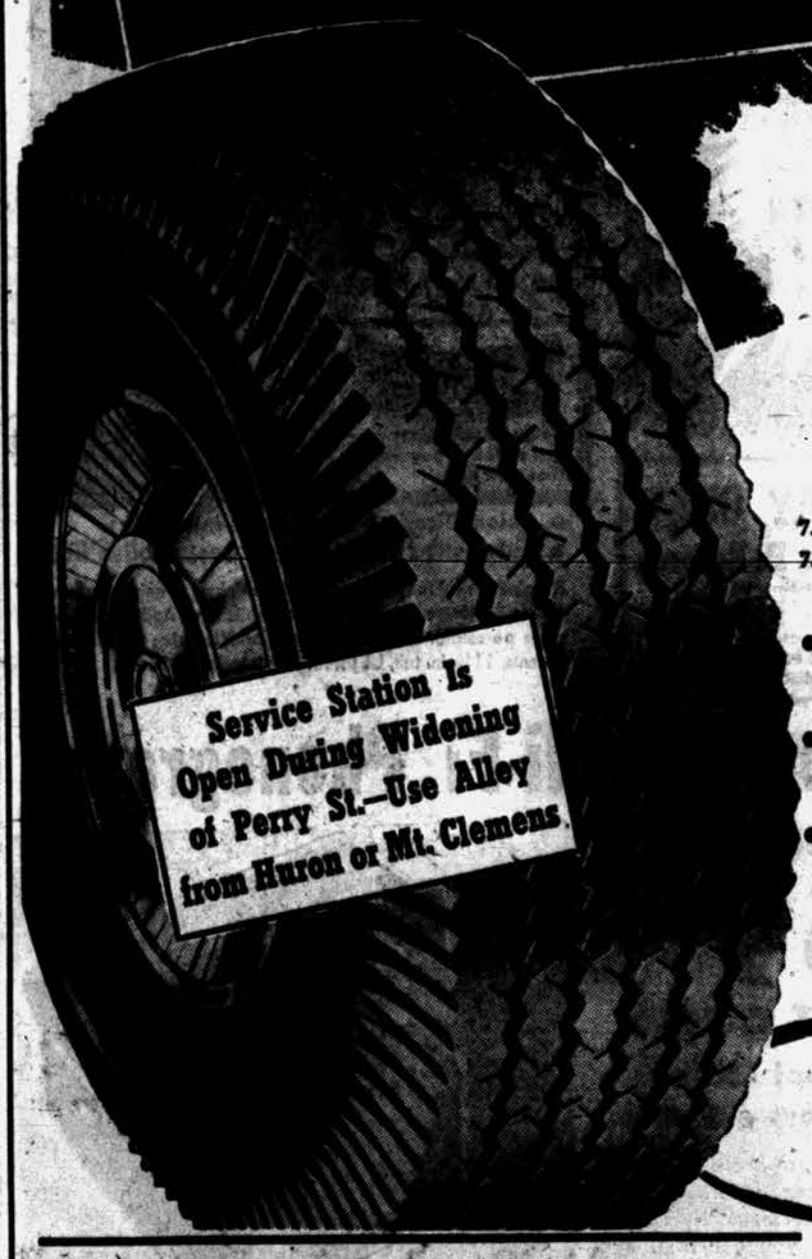

He said that noise cannot only cause psychic troubles but also inflict organic damage leading to such chronic ailments as hardening of the arteries, ulcers and even goiter.

Accuse Youth in Kidnaping

Daughter of Neighbor Held Captive in Hopes of Collecting Ransom

FARMINGTON, Mass. (AP) — When Weston J. Babineau went to work yesterday as a car polisher at General Motors assembly plant, he thought his 16-year-old stepson Richard Gray was still asleep.

★ ★ ★

So did Mrs. Babineau, the boy's mother, when she left for work at the telephone exchange.

They were wrong. Police said at that moment Richard was holding captive a neighbor's 4-year-old daughter he had kidnaped from her bedroom at 2 a.m., apparently in hope of collecting ransom.

Arrested at gunpoint, the boy was held in $50,000 bail today on charges of kidnaping, breaking and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony, and larceny.

★ ★ ★

The child, Carole O'Connell, daughter of a liquor store owner, was not sexually molested. The kidnaping occurred on her fourth birthday. She was freed and back home in time for a family birthday cake.

Police Chief Edward T. McCarthy said Gray admitted gagging Carole with a handkerchief, binding her hands and feet with leather shoelaces and carrying her to a hiding place beneath a lilac bush between the two homes, less than 100 yards apart.

McCarthy said the boy held her beneath the bush for five hours until his parents went to work, then took her to a second-floor bedroom.

★ ★ ★

A note left behind at the O'Connell home said the kidnaper would call in two days and say where to put the money. The typewritten note, unsigned, also demanded two rifles and ammunition.

Because Gray had been charged two years ago with kidnaping a 13-year-old girl but not molesting her, and because he was released from a truants' correctional school two months ago, police decided early to question him.

Patrolman Richard McGrath said Carole flashed him a warning as he started into the boy's room. McGrath drew a pistol. But Gray, crouched behind a cabinet, had him covered with a rifle.

"I told him, 'Look son, one of us is not going to leave this room alive if you don't put that gun down,'" McGrath related. Gray tossed the weapon on the bed.

Hal Boyle Introduces Pro Bowler Welu

Ancient Sport of Tenpins Is Big-Time Staff

NEW YORK (AP) — The John Foster Dulles of the bowling world is Billy Welu, a 6-foot-4 Texan, who at 26 is one of the top figures in the nation's fastest growing sport.

★ ★ ★

"I traveled 150,000 miles last year," drawled Welu, who weighs 225 pounds and is as cheerful as a king-sized cricket.

The emergence of Welu is symbolic of what has been happening to the ancient sport of tenpins.

A tremendous postwar boom has brought bowling out of the alley shadows and the side streets into a new prestige. It now has a U.S. following of 20 million — the players range from factory workers to socialites — and is adding a million fans a year.

"So many housewives have taken up the game that most of the newer bowling centers, particularly in the suburban areas, have put in nurseries," said Billy.

The fresh glamor surrounding the sport has resulted in the rise of a new class — the bowling pro. He ranks in every respect with the baseball, golf or tennis pro.

"Ten years ago there were only a few men in the entire country who earned a living by bowling," said Billy.

"Now bowling has a good future as a profession.

"A top bowler today can earn from $20,000 to $30,000 or more. Some even have earned $50,000 or better."

Welu competes in some 80 tournaments a year. He also tours the nation supervising bowling clinics.

Billy, a graduate psychologist who also has studied business administration, has bowled 13 perfect games of 300. He set an all-time four-year average of 214 in ABC competition, and consistently has been among the nation's top 10 bowlers.

Billy started at the bottom. He started bowling at 15, set pins himself, helped earn his way through college by working in a bowling alley.

"It's like any other sport — practice pays off," he said. "Anyone with good coordination should be able to become a 180 or 190 bowler in three years — if he is serious about it and gets in enough practice."

Welu is known as a rugged competitor. After his hand was crippled in a car door accident some time ago, he learned a new grip, went on to even higher scores.

"I like the feeling of tension that goes with competition," he said. "It doesn't worry me."

Billy bowls nearly 100 games a week, or about 5,000 a year. Although he is the tallest pro in the game, he denies that his height gives him any advantage.

"The tall man is really at a disadvantage, if anything," he said. "He's farther from the floor. The littler man has the edge. He's closer to where the ball and floor meet. Most of the leading bowlers are under 6 feet."

Billy, who owns an interest in bowling centers in Los Angeles and his native Houston, feels his experience as a pro has been an education in itself.

★ ★ ★

"It is more than a good living," he said. "I feel it's a good stepping stone to a career in any business field."

Troops Posted Around Campus

Mexico City Students Snub Request to End Boycott of Buses

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The government posted more troops around the University of Mexico campus today and threatened to evict students after they rejected President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines' request to end their war on the city bus system.

Student leaders told military officials they would demonstrate without violence and would use other tactics to press their demands for changes in the operation of the bus system.

Students at "University City," on the southern edge of the capital, remained calm as about 100 military trucks drew up at the gates. Troops continued to patrol around the campus in which the students have barricaded themselves.

The soldiers were under orders to evacuate the students and close the famed university, but there was no indication of their moving in to carry out the orders.

A new wave of strikes in sympathy with the students was feared. The leftist railway union, which has been involved in two wildcat walkouts, and other unions have promised the students "full cooperation."

Students at the Polytechnic Institute threatened violence in support of the university students. At an angry meeting last night the Polytechnic students voted to seize as many buses as possible, as the university students did last weekend.

★ ★ ★

The student protest, part of a wave of labor unrest and wildcat strikes throughout Mexico, was caused by deteriorating bus service in Mexico City. To finance 2,000 new buses and pay drivers more, fares were raised from 2 to 2.4 cents on second and first class services.

Ruiz Cortines agreed last night to suspend the fare increase but ignored other student demands.

Britain, at the end of the Seven Years' War in 1763, had the choice of annexing from France either Gaudaloupe or Canada. Gaudaloupe was then considered the richer prize because of its sugar crops, but Britain chose Canada for strategic reasons.

TREE FOR TWO — This bamboo tree house provides romantic atmosphere for newlyweds in Honolulu. Included in the rental fee is a full-course dinner and champagne.

Honolulu's 'Tree for Two' Reserved for Lovebirds

HONOLULU (AP) — High in a giant banyan tree overlooking Waikiki beach, is a restaurant reserved exclusively for couples in love.

It is a thatch-roof bamboo tree house called the "Tree for Two." It is designed to inspire romance in a setting of fancy food, good wine, and soft music.

★ ★ ★

For a fee, couples who want to be alone—be they newlyweds or old folks—can spend an evening in this lovebird hideaway.

Halfway up the narrow stairs leading to the tree house is a gate for which only one key has been made.

It costs $37.50 to rent the key for one evening.

The tariff includes an exotic, full-course dinner which features roast squab stuffed with curried quail eggs. A bottle of champagne and brandy also are included.

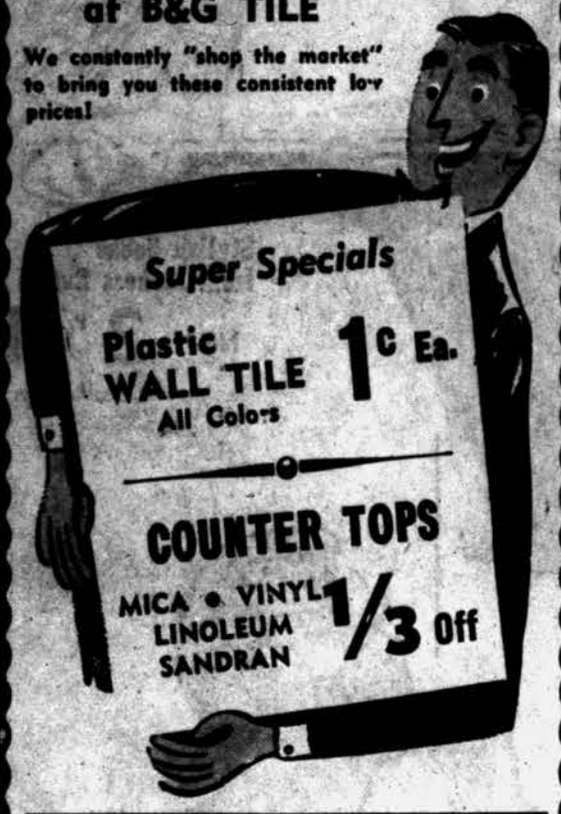

★ ★ ★

To capture the mood, the "Tree for Two" is fitted with a television set and a high fidelity record player.

It is operated by a Honolulu restaurateur who says bookings are so good that he plans to build two more tree houses this year.

Area Schools Prepare for Opening Rush Next Week

Big Trek Starts Tuesday in Number of Communities

With another summer vacation drawing to a close, Oakland County area school staffs and pupils this week are busy preparing to begin a new school year.

While youngsters are being outfitted with clothes and school supplies, school officials are meeting with faculty members and making final arrangements for registration and opening of class sessions next week.

Students in most cases will be greeted by redecorated classrooms, and in some instances even new ones.

By the end of next week, all except pupils of the Walled Lake Junior High School will have been launched into a new year of study.

The junior high people have been given a "stay" of one week because renovation of the school has been delayed. The school will open Sept. 8, Supt. Clifford A. Smart said. All other schools in the Walled Lake District, however, will open as scheduled.

AVONDALE

Teachers in the Avondale District have been meeting this week for conferences, and last night a dinner was held at the Junior High School for teachers and members of the Board of Education.

The Avondale Elementary schools, which include Elmwood, Stiles, Stone and Auburn Heights, will open Tuesday, with all pupils except those registered last spring for the kindergarten reporting to the respective schools, according to Raymond N. Baker, superintendent.

Buses will begin picking up the children at 8:30. Regular classes will begin Wednesday.

Avondale Junior High sixth grade pupils will register Tuesday morning and the seventh and eighth grades in the afternoon.

The following registration schedule has been set up for Avondale Senior High:

Seniors, 8:05 a.m. Tuesday; Juniors, 1:30 p.m. Tuesday; sophomores, 8:05 a.m. Wednesday and freshmen, 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Regular classes at the high school will begin at 8:05 a.m. Thursday.

LAKE ORION

Lake Orion Community School District schools will open for all grades except the kindergarten on Thursday, Sept. 4. Kindergarten will begin Monday, Sept. 8.

All elementary students registering in Lake Orion Orion schools for the first time will do so at the school they will be entering, weekdays from now until school begins. The Blanche Sims School is open from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; Proper, Carpenter and Webber, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Registration for the Lake Orion Junior High may be made from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. until Sept. 4.

Registration at the Lake Orion Community High School has been set for Sept. 8 for those who have not already done so. The book store will be open on Sept. 4.

ROCHESTER

Teachers' meetings will be held Tuesday and Wednesday in preparation for the Sept. 4 opening of Rochester Community Schools.

All grades, kindergarten through the 12th, will begin a full-day schedule Thursday.

Opening for the first time will be the new Meadowbrook Elementary School on Crooks road. The new Woodward Hill Elementary School is expected to be ready, also, for the opening day. If not, shortly after, according to Supt. Donald Baldwin.

There also are seven new classrooms at the North Hill Elementary School.

DUBLIN

Registration at the Dublin School in White Lake Township will begin at 8:40 a.m. Wednesday. Regular classes will begin at 8:40 the following day for all except kindergarten pupils, who will go to the school Friday for section placement.

Bus schedules will be the same as last year. Students from the Dublin District attending Walled Lake Senior High School should be at their bus stops at 7 a.m. Thursday.

There will be a faculty meeting Tuesday at 12:30 at the school.

MARLETTE

Although Sept. 5 will be the first full day of school for students attending the Marlette Community Schools, they will attend a half day morning session Sept. 4.

Kindergarten through fourth graders will attend the Bea McDonald School and grade five through 12 will go to the high school unit.

School buses and the lunch program will operate on the same schedule as in previous years.

NORTH BRANCH

Today was the first full day of school for students attending the North Branch township area schools. Classes will continue tomorrow but no school will be held Monday. Classes will resume Tuesday and buses will deliver students to the school at 8:30 a.m.

ALMONT

More than 800 students are expected to attend Almont Schools beginning a week from today.

Today, high school freshmen were to register, and tomorrow, eighth graders, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Wednesday, students in grades one through seven will register at 8:45 a.m. and kindergartners will enroll Sept. 4. Those who live in the country will attend morning sessions and village kindergarten pupils will go to school in the afternoon.

Books are being issued to students in grades 8 through 12 this week during registration.

DRYDEN

Dryden Community Schools will open Wednesday with registration for all students except kindergartners who were enrolled this week, according to Fred Patterson, superintendent. The school lunch program will begin Thursday.

IMLAY CITY

All students in the Imlay City Community School system in grades kindergarten through seventh grade who intend to go to the elementary schools in the city should register with principal William Jackson this week at the school.

All pupils in the rural schools are to register on the first day of school, Sept. 4, at their respective schools.

Books for elementary students in rural and city schools in the system may be obtained in their school's cafeteria this week.

School will begin for the anticipated 1,300 students Thursday at 8:55 a.m. Grade school students are to report to their respective room and junior and senior high school students to the new high school for a general assembly. Junior and senior high school students are to buy their books this week in the home economics room in the elementary school.

The school lunch program will begin Friday, Sept. 5.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD D. SPRAGUE

Edward D. Sprague Off on Canadian Honeymoon

KEEGO HARBOR — Honeymooning in Canada this week are Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Sprague who were married Saturday evening at Trinity Methodist Church in Keego Harbor. The rite was performed by the Rev. Perry Thomas.

The former Beverly Jeane Watts, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Watts, of 1924 Cass Lake Rd.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Dexter E. Sprague of Ludington.

For her wedding the new Mrs. Sprague chose a floor-length gown of silk bombazine and Venetian lace. It featured a modified trapeze back and pointed sleeves.

Her fingertip veil fell from a headpiece of matching Venetian lace, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Guy Berry of Dearborn was matron of honor, and the bride's sister, Diana, was bridesmaid.

Best man was Lynn R. Niendorf of Detroit, while Richard E. Sumner of Detroit and Richard Sharksberg of Birmingham were ushers.

The bride was graduated in June from Eastern Michigan College and will teach mathematics at New Boston. Her husband, student at Eastern, is a member of Zeta Chi Sigma Fraternity.

Clarkston Makes Plans for Labor Day Parade

CLARKSTON — Led by the Clarkston High School band, the annual Labor Day parade, sponsored by Clarkston Rotarians, will form at 10 a.m. and proceed down Main to Church street.

★ ★ ★

Bearing the colors will be Legionnaires, followed by brightly costumed youngsters riding decorated bicycles, Civil Defense and Fire Department units.

Treats will be furnished by Rotarians to all children in the parade, at the corner of Washington and Main streets.

Orion Schools Plan to Borrow

Seek Permit for Loan to Meet October Payroll if State Aid Fails

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Lake Orion Board of Education, meeting last night, decided to make preliminary application to the State Municipal Finance Commission for permission to borrow money to meet its October payroll in the event state aid payments are delayed further.

★ ★ ★

Supt. A. A. Reed told the Board: "State aid during the past six months have been late, and we must prepare our finances so we can meet payments and current bills."

The Aug. 15 aid payment is expected to be made in September, according to state officials, but there has been no indication when the Oct. 15 payment will arrive, Reed said.

In other business, the fuel oil bid of the Sutherland Oil Co. of Oxford was accepted by the Board.

★ ★ ★

Members also voted to ask bids on 500 yards of pea gravel for the parking lot next to the high school athletic field.

Discusses Role of Newspapers

Today's Press Must Help Men to Meditate, UPI Official Says

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Lyle C. Wilson, vice-president and Washington manager for United Press International, said last night the press must help modern man meditate, reflect and understand fast-breaking events without blunting the keen edge of hard news.

★ ★ ★

Wilson spoke at the 1958 Kappa Tau Alpha dinner before the Convention o fthe Association for Education in Journalism. The convention, attended by more than 300 journalism teachers and administrators from throughout the nation, opened the 50th anniversary of the Missouri University School of Journalism. Kappa Tau Alpha is an honorary journalism fraternity.

★ ★ ★

Dan J. Forrestal, director of public relations for Monsanto Chemical Co., and 1957 president of the Public Relations Society of America, said earlier yesterday that all students should be oriented in public relations, a "function of growing importance."

★ ★ ★

Wilson said newsmen must "make sure that the facts are all in their proper order and, most of all, that the news is securely fixed in the proper perspective with events past and present.

★ ★ ★

"This is the challenge to the entire press in its grand reportage of a neurotic world," he said.

"It becomes the responsibility of the press associations," Wilson added, "to contribute to the opportunity of modern man to meditate, reflect and understand the fast-breaking news of his modern world.

"To accomplish this without blunting the keen edge of the hard news of the day is the supreme test of press association operation."

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK L. TSCHIRHART

Marcia Stephen of Romeo Married in Catholic Rite

ROMEO — Marcia Stephen, daughter of Mrs. Irma Stephen, 11681 Kaeding Rd., and the late Howard L. Stephen, became the bride Saturday of Frederick L. Tschirhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. John Tschirhart of Milan. The Rev. Father John McMillan officiated at the double-ring rite in St. Clement Catholic Church.

★ ★ ★

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Benjamin F. Parsons, the bride wore a princess style gown of dupioni silk fashioned with a scoop neckline, full skirt pleated in back, and short, cap sleeves.

A seed-pearl crown held her shoulder-length veil of French illusion, and she carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of Fugi mums and white rosettes.

★ ★ ★

Maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Ann Tschirhart. Bridesmaids were Ann Hosie, Mrs. Ronald Colman and Mrs. Enoch Nelson, all of Detroit.

Best man was Frank Gaydos of Milan. Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brother, Gerald, and the bride's brothers, John and James.

★ ★ ★

A wedding reception was held in the Amvets Hall in Armada, after which the newlyweds left on a week-long trip to northern Michigan. Upon their return they will live in Ypsilanti where the bridegroom will complete his senior year at Eastern Michigan College and the new Mrs. Tschihart will teach at Belleville Junior High School.

Sale at Romeo to Aid Hospital

Proceeds From Event Tomorrow, Saturday to Provide Blankets

ROMEO—A number of Romeo merchants are cooperating to aid the new Community Hospital by participating in a benefit sale tomorrow and Saturday in the former A&P store on West St. Clair street.

★ ★ ★

Proceeds from the sale, sponsored by the Romeo Auxiliary of the hospital, will be used toward the purchase of blankets for the new medical facility.

To be offered for sale at bargain prices will be summer and fall clothes, plus accessories, from Perkins Dress Shop and ladies' shoes from Sam's Shoe Sales and Service.

Other Romeo business concerns contributing to this charitable project include Anderson Printing, the Detroit Edison Co., Lock's Cleaners, the Romeo Bakery and Plume's Flowers. The First Methodist Church will furnish tables.

★ ★ ★

Hours of the sale will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. Coffee and donuts will be served to all shoppers.

The hospital is scheduled to open early in October.

Mrs. Dodge Gets 2-Week Delay in Hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gregg Sherwood, wife of auto heir Horace Dodge II, got a two-week delay yesterday is her court appearance on drunk and battery charges.

Almost Silent Marble Sanctuary

Nation's Eyes on High Court Chamber

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stepping into the U.S. Supreme Court chamber is much like entering a cathedral during a moment of quiet prayer.

★ ★ ★

It's an almost silent marble sanctuary, exuding dignity and solemnity.

In this setting the black-robed justices today consider the Little Rock school integration case and its possibly far-reaching effects on racial problems.

What would you see if you were among the few lucky ones to get into the chamber for today's historic special session?

Through partly drawn dark red velour curtains, the visitor's eye first spots 24 huge columns of yellow tinted marble, specially cut from a quarry in Italy.

The columns, around the four walls of the chamber, support marble panels carved with figures depicting such ideas as "Majesty of the Law" and "Defense of Human Rights."

Also depicted are lawgivers down the ages, including Moses, Solomon, King John, Blackstone and America's John Marshall.

A yellow-tinted ceiling, richly decorated with 22-carat gold leaf, reflects gentle light on ivory vein marble walls that are quarried in Spain. More red velour drapes decorate sections of the walls.

★ ★ ★

Thick, dark red carpet covers most of the floor, which is of salmon red marble from Africa.

The air-conditioned chamber is 82 by 91 feet from wall to wall, with a 44-foot ceiling.

At noon on court days, attendants part the east wall drapes in three places and three justices file through each opening. They move to their high-backed chairs back of the great mahogany bench, then stand at attention while the court crier goes through this ancient chant:

"Oyez! Oyez! Oyez! All persons having business before the honorable, the Supreme Court of the United States are admonished to draw near and give their attention, for the court is now sitting. God save the United States and this honorable court."

★ ★ ★

Then they sit down, with the aid of page boys who push up the black leather chairs.

Chief Justice Earl Warren sits at the center of the 29-foot bench, four associates on each side of him. The "chief" then is in charge of things and no one makes a move until he calls for it.

In a case such as today's, the party who brought the legal issue to the high court is heard first. This would be Thurgood Marshall, counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Under usual procedure, opposing counsel then present their arguments, normally followed by counsel for the government.

★ ★ ★

Thus counsel for the Little Rock school board will follow Marshall, and they in turn will be followed by U. S. Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin.

If any of the attorneys ask a few minutes for rebuttal, the court usually grants the request.

After hearing arguments in a case, the court usually takes it under consideration at a later meeting in a closed conference room. There, a vote is taken and one of the justices is assigned the job of writing the majority opinion. Dissenters can write as they please, without assignment.

★ ★ ★

Decisions generally are announced on Mondays when the court is in its regular term. However, there is nothing to bar the announcement of a decision at any time, in regular or special terms.

Show Almost Stopped as Bus Tire Goes Flat

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The bus in the outdoor starlight theater production of the musical "The Most Happy Fella" serves double duty. It transports the chorus to the theater and it's a prop in the last scene.

Last night it almost did neither. Just before the performance, the bus had a flat tire two blocks from the theater.

It took officials 45 minutes before someone could be found to repair the tire. The bus made the last act just in time.

All Thames River swans belong to the Queen of England and to two London Guilds, the Vintners and the Dyers. Each summer a new generation of birds is taken up from the river and divided in a centuries-old ceremony called "swan-upping." Divided according to the ownership of their parents, the Guilds' birds are marked with penknife nicks on their beaks. The Queen's cygnets are unmarked.

Lumbermen Honor Pioneer Fire Guard

GREENVILLE, Me. (UPI) — A rickety chair atop Squaw mountain was the first of 6,000 forest fire lookouts now in operation throughout the nation.

The Maine committee of the American Forest Products Industry took note of the Squaw mountain "first" this summer and presented a plaque to the man who manned the first lookout perch, William Hilton, now the vice president of a paper company.

Hilton was a 19-year-old student in 1905 when he took a summer job sitting in the chiar on the 3,200 foot peak to watch for tell-tale smoke in the Maine woodlands.

Russell Cave near Bridgeport, Ala., is again under excavation. The cave was home to Stone Age man for some 9,000 years.

Panel Will Study Sharks to Learn Attack Methods

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Fresh blood can turn a shark into a mad, frantic feeder with an indiscriminate appetite.

A scientific panel aims to find out why, a Cornell University zoologist said today.

Dr. Perry W. Gilbert explained that most of the evidence of shark attacks is seen through the eyes of men in panic, and much of it is undoubtedly conflicting and incomplete.

To get a more clear picture of shark identification and behavior, the American Institute of Biological Sciences has established a shark research panel of which Dr. Gilbert is chairman.

The panel also hopes to stimulate research into such basic elements as the nature of the sense organs which guide a shark to its target.

★ ★ ★

There is a substantial shark's population in the world's oceans. In the Pacific during World War II reports indicated that sharks were often seen within half an hour by downed airmen, Dr. Gilbert told The Associated Press.

Dr. Gilbert spoke to an institute meeting on tests with a shark repellent used by the U.S. Navy.

He said sharks have very sensitive eyes but they canot see images sharply, even though they can pick out shadowy forms in the dimmest light. They can't see color. But they can smell extremely well.

Most attacks on man occur where the water is 65 degrees Fahrenheit or warmer, in semi-tropical and tropical areas. On the U.S. Atlantic Seaboard there have been only 25 attacks on man in the past 40 years. Twelve were fatal. Biggest shark problem areas are Australia, the West Indies and South Africa.

★ ★ ★

Of 350 kinds of shark only about two dozen are considered dangerous. Some less dangerous sharks probably grow up to 60 feet long.

In tests in the Caribbean, Dr. Gilbert found that fresh beef blood brought out the most aggressive tendencies in sharks. Similar effects have been brought with some fish juices.

Fighter Recollects Happiest Moment

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Brother Jean Davis, a Maryknoll Missioner from Chicago, had a long talk over several cups of coffee here recently with Arturo Godoy, the boxer who went 15 full rounds with heavyweight champion Joe Louis in 1940.

"An awfully nice fellow," Brother Jean said in reporting on his conversation with Godoy. "When I asked him to recall the happiest moment of his life, he replied immediately: "The minute I heard the bell that ended my fight with Louis.'"

Manchester Man Killed

CHELSEA (AP) — James Edwin Creech, 67, of Manchester, was killed Wednesday in a two-car collision at the U.S. 12-M92 intersection here.

The Holland Tunnel, opened under the Hudson River between New York and New Jersey on Nov. 13, 1927, was the nation's first long underwater tunnel for motor traffic.

Ike's Opinions on School Integration No Surprise

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — That President Eisenhower has finally said he thinks public school integration should go slower is no surprise to anyone who has carefully examined his news conference statements over the past 2½ years.

★ ★ ★

His whole theme — although he never flatly said so until yesterday — has been that this is a slow process. He's talked of patience, of educating people on the issues, and said laws can't change the hearts or prejudices of people.

★ ★ ★

But what came as a surprise was the time he chose to say publicly that he thinks the Supreme Court's order to end public school segregation should be carried out at an even slower pace than it's going.

Only eight days ago — when the Little Rock school integration case was still in the hands of a lower court — Eisenhower said he did not want to comment on a case pending in the courts.

But his statement yesterday about slower integration came one day before the Supreme Court was to hear arguments on whether integration at Little Rock's Central High School should be resumed or delayed.

A reporter quoted Newsweek magazine as saying Eisenhower had told friends he thought integration should slow down. Asked if that was correct, the President said he might have told someone that.

However, Eisenhower denied another part of the magazine story that quoted him as saying privately he wishes the high court had never handed down its 1954 decision declaring public school integration unconstitutional.

Never throughout news conferences — going back to February 1956 — has he given any sign that he had any clear plan for enforcing the Supreme Court's order.

He's repeatedly mentioned talking to educators, clergymen and occasional governors he met about the need to get people to understand the problem of integration and obeying the Supreme Court.

He's refused repeatedly to say whether he thinks the court's order was good or right.

All he's ever really said about his intentions was that he had taken an oath to enforce the laws. At one time — Sept. 11, 1956 — he seemed to think he himself couldn't do anything; that the job was up to U.S. marshals.

That day he said: "The federal government is not allowed to go into any state unless called upon by the governor who must show that the governor is unable with the means at his disposal to preserve order."

And on July 17, 1957, Eisenhower said: "I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into a federal court and into any area to enforce the orders of a federal court, because I believe the common sense of America will never require it."

But a couple of months later — when Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus used National Guard troops to block a court order to integrate Central High School — Eisenhower sent in federal troops — not at Faubus' request, but over his protests.

It will long be argued whether Faubus ever would have used the guardsmen or blocked integration if Eisenhower on July 17 — instead of giving the impression he'd never use troops — had said he'd use them when and where necessary.

Eisenhower apparently didn't even know on July 17, 1957, whether he could use troops, for he told his news conference that day: "Now, there may be that kind of authority resting somewhere, but I certainly am not seeking any additional authority of that kind, and I would never believe that it would be a wise thing to do in this country."

But after the Little Rock experience and while federal troops were still there, Eisenhower — on May 14, 1958 — was asked if he'd send troops into other states if necessary to compel obedience to a court order. He said: "Now, I don't know. I am not going to try to predict what the exact circumstances in any other cases will be."

★ ★ ★

On Aug. 6, 1958, Eisenhower, reminded that another school year was approaching, was asked if he had any plans for personal action to head off tension by such means as talks, statements or special instructions to the Justice Department.

★ ★ ★

He said: "Well, I haven't planned at this moment any particular speeches . . . I believe we have got to look inside ourselves."

And, returning to the theme he has stressed, he said: "Mere law will never solve this problem."

Grand Rapids Man Makes Autos for Children

First of 1959 Model Cars Goes on Sale

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The first of the 1959 model cars went on sale here today.

Chuck Losey, a Grand Rapids "automaker," unveiled his new models ahead of the nation's other auto manufacturers who won't show their new cars to the public for several weeks.

But the "big three" and other automakers don't have to worry about Losey cutting into their sales just because he got a head start on them.

Losey's car, you see, is for kids.

"Boy, it's real nifty," said 12-year-old Larry Hoover, one of the scores of children who stopped in Losey's used car lot to see the new "Super Midget."

Losey builds the cars in a garage he operates in connection with the car lot. He said he can produce one Super Midget a day.

The Super Midget comes in two models, deluxe and standard.

The high-priced model ($159.95) has a 2½ horsepower motor, lights, electric jet horn and foam rubber seat. The standard model Super Midget ($149.95) has a 2¼ horsepower motor and is not equipped with accessories.

Both models are six feet long, 24 inches wide, 18 inches high and weigh 90 pounds. They can carry up to 300 pounds. Both have automatic clutches and pull starters and get 65 miles to a gallon of gas.

As for styling, the Super Midget has what Losey called "the forward look." The front of the cars has a shark nose appearance and no grill. The car's rear is plain although it would be easy for buyers to add fins.

Losey began making cars for kids 10 years ago when he built one for his son, Tim, who is now 18 and helps him produce Super Midgets.

Until a year ago, all of Losey's midget cars were custom made and sold for about $600. Then Losey found a Minnesota firm that could supply him with frames which enabled him to turn out more cars and cut the price low enough so more parents could afford to buy them for their children.

Losey, who expects to double his production this year, makes his own fenders, hood and steering wheel, and adapts small-horsepower motors which are mounted behind the driver's seat.

★ ★ ★

As far as Losey knows, he's the only manufacturer of cars for children in Michigan, the world's auto capitol, and is one of only a few firms in the U.S. that build them.

"I enjoy making them because kids have so much fun with them," the 43-year-old Losey said.

Losey, who said he may set up Super Midget dealerships around the country later on, said the small cars have a good resale value.

★ ★ ★

"I sold the first car I made for $175 after my son and daughter had used it for six years," he said. "I've seen some six-year-old standard cars go for less than that."

Losey said he has sold one car for a seven-year-old boy but the average "buyer" is 10 years old.

Usually, children are more enthusiastic about the Super Midget than their parents who must pay for them but at least one parent was happy to buy a car for his kids.

"His children had a horse which he wanted to get rid of because he was tired of taking care of it," Losey said. "But his kids wouldn't let him . . . until they saw the Super Midget. They told him he could sell the horse if he'd buy them a car.

"He bought one," Losey said.

Field Day Set at Area Farm

Air Tour of Oakland to Be Available Oct. 1 for Those Attending

An air tour and corn field day will be sponsored Oct. 1 by the Oakland County Soil Conservation District and County Farm Bureau, Jay Poffenberger, county extension agent, announced today.

The field day, which will be held on the Henry Axford farm, north of Rochester, will show:

The results of nitrogen side dressing of corn; comparison of the mo common corn varieties; the effect of minimum tillage on corn yields, and the results of seeding rye from the air.

There also will be a land judging contest, and various area farm machinery dealers will exhibit their corn handling and harvesting equipment.

Feature of the air tour will be a demonstration of seeding rye from the air. The tour also will give Rochester area farmers a change to see their farms from the air; as well as providing an excellent view of conservation practices being carried out in the county, Poffenberger said.

Six flags of sovereign powers have flown over Texas — Spain, France, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Southern Confederacy and the United States.

Doctor Goes on Rampage

Fires Random Shots at Group of Children, Two Friends

SILVERTON, Colo. (AP)—The lone doctor in this mountain town of 1,400 persons went berserk late yesterday and was wounded and captured after firing random shots at a group of children and two friends.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Charles O. Spencer, about 35, collapsed with a shattered rifle in his hands as officers and volunteers seized him.

His capture ended an afternoon flurry in which he fired at least eight shots. No one was hit. Dr. Spencer suffered metal splinters in the face and a bullet crease on his right leg.

He was taken to Mercy Hospital at Durango, 45 miles south of here, then to La Plata County jail. No charges were filed.

★ ★ ★

The battle ended outside the home of Roy Green when a friend of Green's, mechanic George Bingel, fired a single shot at the doctor. The bullet struck the barrel of Dr. Spencer's rifle, shattering it. The doctor fired one wild shot from the broken rifle and Green returned the shot.

Dr. Spencer then collapsed in the yard of the home.

Across the street is the two-story hospital where he has served as the town's only doctor for the past year. Chief of Police Milton Grey said Dr. Spencer had gained immense popularity since arriving here in the midst of last year's Asian flu epidemic.

The doctor, his wife and their two young sons made their home at the hospital.

The police chief said Dr. Spencer began his foray at midafternoon at a tavern and filling station three miles north of here, where he fired four shots for no apparent reason.

Later, he fired three shots at a group of children across the street from the hospital.

Then he walked unchallenged across the street from the hospital and approached the Green residence. Green and Bingel challenged him from an upstairs window.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Spencer threatened them, Grey said, and ordered them to return his wife and children.

Grey said he himself approached the doctor from the rear. As the doctor whirled and aimed his rifle at the police chief, Bingel fired from the upstairs window. The bullet shattered Dr. Spencer's rifle barrel.

Lauds Rejection of Bills on Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo) said today one of the finest accomplishments of Congress was to reject legislation to undercut recent decisions of the Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

"Why do I say that?" he asked in an interview. "Because the Supreme Court now has before it one of the most controversial issues of this generation."

He referred to the school integration controversy and to the special session of the court today to hear arguments on whether to approve or reject a delay in readmitting Negro pupils to Little Rock's Central High School.

Carroll said the court would be in an extremely unfortunate position if Congress had failed "to protect one of the great constitutional pillars of our government."

★ ★ ★

Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va) dismissed Carroll's comments as one man's opinion and said that if history repeats itself, the court may well heed criticism directed at some of its rulings.

They Put Out Flames to Start Future Fire

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Firemen had to put out a fire in order to set one next week.

One house in a block being razed had been left standing so that the Fire Department could burn it down in a fire-fighting demonstration.

It caught fire a week early as workmen were burning scrap lumber, and the firemen had to save it.

Hotel Owners Shift to Motels

(The American hotel industry is in the midst of its first active construction period since the 1930s. In addition to building new hotel facilities, it is meeting the challenge of the motel boom by entering the motel field with luxurious new establishments that are being called inns, highway hotels, lodges—or just plain motels. The following dispatch tells how the hotels are preparing for the future.)

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — The hotel industry is on the offensive against the booming motel business.

It is meeting fire with fire—by building motels of its own, in addition to a number of conventional hotels.

Most of the major hotel chains either have built, are building or plan to build motels, some of them more luxurious than the swankiest hotel.

They call them inns, highway hotels, motor lodges, or just plain motels.

But all have been conceived to serve the motoring—or flying—public, instead of the railroad travelers the conventional downtown hotel was built to accommodate as many as 50 years ago.

Some hotel owners frankly admit they have been losing out to the competition of motels, particularly in small cities, where some hotels are outdated and inconveniently situated for motorists.

Ernest Henderson III, treasurer of the Sheraton Corp. of America, which is entering the motel field in a big way, explains his company's policy this way:

"If you can't beat them, you join them."

Other hotel men say they are not actually becoming involved in motel operation. They quite frankly do not like the word "motel." Their aim, they say, is merely to adapt hotels to the auto age by providing parking space and informality.

Conrad Hilton's chain falls into this classification.

Then there are the hotel keepers who are meeting the dawning jet age with airport accommodations. Hilton is one of the pioneers in this field. So is the Knott Hotels Corp.

★ ★ ★

Elmer Jenkins, national travel director of the American Automobile Assn., says the line separating the hotel and motel will be wiped out with establishments such as the new Continental Denver, situated on 3½ acres only three minutes from the heart of Denver and built at a cost of $2,500,000.

"The hotel business is now big business," Jenkins said, "and big money is getting into it."

Jenkins said the great motel building boom began immediately after the end of World War II. In 1947, AAA put 4,446 hotels and 2,334 motels on its recommended list. The new list contains only 2,876 of the approximately 30,000 hotels and 9,319 of the nearly 60,000 motels.

★ ★ ★

"The trend today is toward larger motels, and they are moving into the suburban areas of our major cities," Jenkins told United Press International. "In fact, in many instances, they are moving into the heart of the city itself."

He cited plans for construction of the world's largest motel, in New York City, over the New York Central Railroad's west side Manhattan tracks. This motel, to be called Motel City, will cost four million dollars and will contain 400 rooms, a garage, play areas, wading pools, shuffleboard courts, gardens, coffee shops, a restaurant, cocktail lounges, a theater ticket agency and a travel and sightseeing bureau.

It will be the first new hotel facility in Manhattan in 30 years.

Among other hotel groups entering the motel field are the Pick Hotels Corp., the Hotel Corporation of America, which operates New York's fashionable Plaza Hotel and Chicago's Edgewater Beach, and the Manger Hotel chain.

The first full-scale Hilton motel-type establishment will be the Hilton Inn, now under construction at the San Francisco Airport, at a cost of about three million dollars. The 300-room, two-story structure will have all the conveniences of a luxury hotel.

Hilton hopes to build similar inns in Washington, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, New Orleans, Miami and Seattle. It has two small motel operations in Texas.

"We want to diversify," a Hilton spokesman said. "Diversification is behind our thinking."

★ ★ ★

Albert Pick, president of Pick Hotels, said his group is going into the motel field in recognition of the growing demand for informal accommodations for motoring families. His chain started motel operation with the Holiday Inn Motel at Natchez, Miss., and now has a total of seven and is building two more.

Automobile Interiors Cause of Injuries

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The interior of today's car with its steering wheel, doorknobs, dashboard, ashtrays and other protruding parts, is a major cause of injuries during collisions.

So says a research team from the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at the University of California at Los Angeles based on 10 years of study.

The researchers predicted a number of changes in automobiles to provide motorists with greater safety, including a retractable or collapsible steering column and the padding of interiors with foam plastic or some other such material.

During 1957, Canada produced about 360 million pounds of nickel, or approximately 75 per cent of the free world's entire supply.

Soviets Claiming Mark for Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet magazine USSR says the Soviet Union has achieved an altitude record of 294 miles for single-stage rockets.

★ ★ ★

The current issues of the monthly magazine also claims that a new type of rocket launched in May 1957 carried a payload of 4,850 pounds to an altitude of 132 miles.

"Both instruments and experimental dogs were brought back safely to earth from that height," it said.

U.S. scientists were reluctant to comment on the magazine's claims.

★ ★ ★

Seek to Halt Outbreak

GILLETTE, Wyo. (AP)—Eight cases of encephalities, or sleeping sickness, are reported here, and federal and state health officials are attempting to halt the outbreak. None of the eight cases is believed serious.

Laying Down on Job Alright With Boss

BOSTON (UPI) — Though his six assistants lay down on the job much of the time, contractor Gaston Goyette didn't mind at all.

★ ★ ★

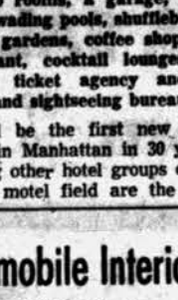

Goyette and his firm had the job of decorating the ceiling of Nurses Memorial Hall in the State House.

★ ★ ★

Goyette's six assistants had to lie flat on their backs on staging 40 feet above the floor while at work. They applied by hand about 3,500 gold leaves, each three by five inches, to the 45 panels that make up the coffered ceiling.

Present-Day 'Pennypacker' Has Court Date

Clarence Beardsley, 28, father of 11 children and husband of two wives, has a Sept. 2 date in Oakland Circuit Court.

★ ★ ★

He was placed under $5,000 bond Tuesday and bound over to stand trial on a charge of bigamy.

★ ★ ★

The charge was brought by wife No. 1, Mrs. Barbara Beardsley, 27, of 27766 Brush, Madison Heights after Beardsley introduced her over the weekend to his second wife, Bernice Brown, 21, of 1399 Princeton, Berkley.

Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang said he did not know why Beardsley introduced the two.

Beardsley married his first wife 10 years ago in Detroit. They have 10 children. He was wed to the second within the past year, Lang said. They have one child.

★ ★ ★

Nobel Award Winner Dies

Dr. Ernest Lawrence, Nuclear Fission Expert, Succumbs at 57

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, nuclear fission pioneer and Nobel Prize winner, died last night after surgery at Palo Alto Hospital. He was 57.

Dr. Lawrence had suffered ulcerative colitis for years, his doctor said.

The director of the University of California's radiation laboratory had joined other top-level scientists at Geneva in an international conference on scientific detection of nuclear explosions, but was forced by illness to fly home last month.

He entered Peralta Hospital in nearby Oakland Aug. 10 after an acute attack of ulcerative colitis and was transferred to Palo Alto for the operation.

Dr. Lawrence invented the atom shattering cyclotron, an instrument for converting one element into another, in 1930. His first one cost $25.

He built one of the word's great scientific laboratories around his cyclotrons on the university's Berkeley campus. The instruments played a key role in developing the first nuclear bomb, producing the first self-exploding uranium 235.

From the laboratory, which Lawrence has directed since 1936, came numerous discoveries of the nature of matter, new substances to fight disease and promote agriculture, science and industry.

★ ★ ★

"On the basis of a dream he had, we went ahead with a 100-million construction program," said Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, Manhattan Project director, who presented the Medal of Merit to Dr. Lawrence in 1946. During World War II the Manhattan project produced the first A-bomb.

Dr. Lawrence won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1939 for his cyclotron discovery.

Last March President Eisenhower honored him as he was awarded West Point's first Sylvanus Thayer Award for service to the nation.

The physicist's cyclotrons have been the workhorses of scientists searching out the atom's secrets. With them, Dr. Edward McMillan, a coworker, produced the first neptunium, which automatically turns into plutonium, a successor to uranium 235 in A-bomb production.

Dr. Lawrence's laboratory also isolated tritium—triple weight hydrogen—a step in producing the first hydrogen bomb.

Lawrence was born in Canton, S. D., Aug. 8, 1901, the son of Carl Gustavus Lawrence, a teacher, and Gunda Jacobson Lawrence, daughter of a pioneer Norwegian immigrant.

A boyhood interest in crystal set radio led him into physics. He built the University of South Dakota's first radio station and graduated from that school in 1922. He took a master's degree at the University of Minnesota and his doctorate at Yale.

★ ★ ★

Lawrence became an assistant professor of physics at Yale and moved in 1928 to the University of California where a year later he conceived the idea of the cyclotron.

His wife Mary and six children survive.

High Court Justices in Limelight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quick look at the nine members of the Supreme Court:

Chief Justice Earl Warren — White-haired at 67. Looks like a chief judge. Slowly losing the broad smile he wore on mounting the high bench Oct. 5, 1953. Thinner now than in '53, passes up desserts at the many social and public affairs he attends. Wrote opinion outlawing school segregation seven months after taking court seat.

Three-term governor of California. Ran for vice presidency in 1948 on Republican ticket headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. Popular belief about his influence has led to description of the high tribunal as "the Warren court."

Hugo L. Black—at 72 he's next to the oldest justice. Could have retired at full pay two years ago, but loves his job. Recently wed his secretary in his second marriage. Some gray hair left. Red-faced from outdoor activities. Piercing eyes. Soft voice often inaudible throughout courtroom. His insistent penetrating questions can shatter a lawyer's one-hour argument. Alabama native and onetime Ku Klux Klan member. Former Democratic senator on high bench since 1937.

Felix Frankfurter—Born in Austria 76 years ago. Oldest man on high bench. Also eligible for retirement at full pay long ago. Expects to stay on job until he drops. Half-bald, thin hair snow white. Former Harvard law professor. Squirms and twists on swivel chair at high bench. Turns ashen-faced in laying down the law to poorly prepared, terrorized lawyers. His vocal dominance of some argument sessions irritates his brother judges. On bench since 1939.

William O. Douglas — Rugged, outdoor type who likes to roam the wilds. Will be 60 soon. Unruly yellowish hair flops across his forehead. Low-pitched voice infrequently heard in argument sessions. Makes up for this in writing sharp dissenting opinions. His liberal friends have boomed him for president in past years. One-time chairman of Securities and Exchange Commission. Born in Minnesota. A court member since 1939.

Harold H. Burton—Beloved jurist who could have retired at 70 last June 22. Some white hair left as time has taken a heavy toll in his appearance since he joined the court. Always mild in handling lawyers. Enjoys talking with people—even tourists encountered in halls. Former Clevelander and Republican senator from Ohio. Close friend of former President Truman, who put him on bench in 1945.

Tom C. Clark—Only bow tie wearer on the court. Fond of white Western hats for street wear. Graying, but at almost 59 he's holding his own in healthy appearance. Friendly like his fellow Texans. Usually stern-faced on the bench, but has easy manner with arguing lawyers. Former U. S. attorney general. Another friend of Truman, who put him on bench in 1949.

John Marshal Harlan—A grandson of Supreme Court Justice John Marshall Harlan, who served from 1877 to 1911. The grandson is graying at 59. Sturdy-looking and apparently deeply interested in his work. Promoted to high bench in 1955 from U. S. Circuit Court in New York. Former counsel for New York State Crime Commission. Also a corporation lawyer. Sometimes referred to in complimentary terms as a lawyer's lawyer.

William J. Brennan Jr.—Youngest justice in point of age. Born in 1906. Took place on Supreme Court Bench Oct. 16, 1956. Former associate justice on New Jersey's Supreme Court. Only Catholic on high court. Round-faced and happy looking. Good head of brown hair makes him appear youthful beside his associates.

Charles E. Whittaker — Junior member of Supreme Court in point of service. Age 57. Another lawyer's lawyer. Thin-faced and of severe aspect. Plenty of brown hair. Gives impression of deep mental concentration. Former Kansas Cty, Mo., attorney. Promoted from U. S. Circuit Court in St. Louis. Took high court seat March 25, 1957. Now called one of hardest working justices. His office lights burn late at night, early in morning, and on holidays.

ALL FOR LIGHT — Richard Brauer evidently believes in harnessing the elements for his lighting source at Hamburg, Germany. He built this windmill to drive a generator which will make electricity to light his garden.

Fat, er' Fast Reducer Wins Weight Match

GRANDRAPIDS, Mich. (UP) — Kent County dog pound manager Raymond Matthews, county controller Leonard V. Andrus and county supervisor Bernard Barto recently staged a weight-reducing contest.

They each put up $25 with the total going to the one who lost the most weight in a month.

Matthews, who took off 40 pounds, winding up at 264, was the winner. Andrus lost 25 pounds and Barto 16.

Costly Markers of U.S. Surveys Being Stolen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Coast and Geodetic Survey is quite disappointed with the way Americans are stealing the government's permanent survey markers while strolling about the nation.

The markers are small discs usually imbedded in rock or concrete. They are placed by the Survey to mark longitude and latitude, elevation, magnetism, gravity and direction.

The discs are used by engineers, surveyors and government agencies as the basis for maps and charts, and for private and public engineering projects.

★ ★ ★

Nature lovers, small boys and amateur explorers seem to have developed an affection for the markers which have been disappearing at a rate of more than 1,000 yearly.

It costs the government from $40 to $1,500 each to put the discs back where they belong.

Cannon Business Is Booming in West Germany

POKCING, Germany (UPI) — The canon business is booming in this small Bavarian village near the Austrian frontier.

Not the fearsome atomic variety, but old-fashioned cannon for ceremonial use.

In 33 years, Joseph Wenig has turned out 2,300 of the guns at his foundry. He says he's now getting more orders than ever before.

"Apparently," said the small, bespectacled, 70-year-old Wenig, "people still like the idea of the blooming noise of the cannon to celebrate special occasions."

He said most of his orders came from the West German Army and Navy rifle clubs and from wealthy families.

The Wenig foundry, which now employs 12 craftsmen plus Wenig's 34-year-old son Ulfram, turns out cannon in our different sizes. They range in price from $100 to $450. Ammunition is also available at 50 cents a round.

Quite often, Wenig rolls his arsenal out into a nearby field and fires the cannon one after the other. It's an impressive sight — and an awesome sound.

Nylon Suspends Cars

FLINT—A new field for nylon-tire yarn is opening up in the automotive world. New air-suspension assemblies offered on some 1958-model passenger cars take more than a pound of nylon yarn per car.

Wesleyan College, chartered in 1836 as the Georgia Female College, was the first college in the world chartered to grant degrees exclusively to women.

Doctor Cuts a Notch for Each Baby Born

PARKIN, Ark. (UPI) — Dr. Don Carter uses notches to keep tabs on his medical practice, much like Western desperadoes used to notch their guns to keep a count on their victims. Each of Dr. Carter's notches represents a baby he has delivered.

He started the system 13 years ago, taking a nick out of his collapsible delivery table every time a baby was born. Now, there are more than 1,800 notches on the four legs.

Having run out of whittling room on the table two years ago, Dr. Carter switched to a stick about two feed long. He's currently on another stick, this one three feet long.

Actually, the 2,200 notches that Dr. Carter has made in the past 13 years is not a completely accurate count of his practice. He had been delivering babies 37 years even before then.

Tax Load Climbing

WASHINGTON—The local, state and federal tax burden on every American averages about $639 a year compared with $129 before World War II.

Don't Wash Eggs; Makes Them Spoil

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you're storing eggs, don't wash them! That's the conclusion of egg research experts at Iowa State College.

It seems that one egg producer took elaborate pains to ship clean eggs to an eastern market. He washed his eggs. He scrubbed his trucks. He painted his egg room. But still his carefully inspected eggs arrived in a rotten state at the eastern market.

★ ★ ★

The market was forced to cut the price of eggs two cents a dozen. Finally, it dropped the puzzled supplier from its list after losing $2000. Immediately the rotten eggs stopped, and prices rose again.

Blasts 1,500 Miles Across Ocean

Test of Jupiter Missile Called Success of Army

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Army has taken another big step toward making its Jupiter intermediate-range ballistic missile an operational war weapon.

The 10th Jupiter blasted 1,500 miles across the Atlantic after a fiery start last night. After several hours the Defense Department announced the test was a complete success.

The Jupiter launched was essentially the same as the rocket that will be used under tactical conditions, except that the warhead was not armed with a nuclear device.

The 69-foot missile, which will provide the big push for the Army's moon rocket, is expected to be deployed in Europe next December, together with the Air Force Thor IRBM.

The shoot also coincided with presentation of a semioperational Jupiter to the first Air Force unit that actually will be assigned the weapon.

Authoritative sources said Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, commander of the Army ballistic missile agency, was to turn the first Jupiter over to the Air Force 864th Strategic Jupiter Squadron in ceremonies at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

The 864th will be given advanced training with the Jupiter before the unit is assigned overseas, probably on the European Continent.

★ ★ ★

The Jupiter was spotted last night by Navy ships near the target area, but no recovery operations were planned.

The missile now is in mass production at Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

Investigate Death as Possible Murder

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The death of Mrs. Helene Jerome, 50, once an actress in China and the Far East, is being investigated as a possible murder.

★ ★ ★

Her body was found in her apartment yesterday. She had been dead several hours. Police found a bruise on her neck and indications that someone had forced entry through a window. They said there were no signs of a struggle in the apartment, however.

★ ★ ★

Edwin Jerome, 65, an actor, called police when he learned his estranged wife's telephone had been off the hook for several hours. He said they had been married for 15 years but separated for two years.

Claims America Named for Briton

NEW YORK (UPI) — America got its name from Richard Ameryck, a customs collector in Bristol, England, not from Amerigo Vesipucci, according to Fitzroy W. G. Chamberlain, Lord Mayor of Bristol.

During a recent visit to New York, Chamberlain said explorer John Cabot named America after Ameryck to show his appreciation for the latter's successful efforts to get him a pension from Henry VII.

Cabot make his famous voyage of discovery in 1497 to what later became known as Newfoundland. Chamberlain's theory about how America got its name received no support from official sources.

U.S. Expedition Aims for Pole

New Series of Missions to Be Set Up Indefinitely in Antarctica

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is priming for a new series of experimental missions at the South Pole.

The Navy announced yesterday that 2,700 men have been mobilized for this winter's Antarctic operations which will cap International Geophysical Year activities and kick off a U.S. Antarctic research program of indefinite duration.

Nine ships and 34 aircraft will start leaving American seaports and airbases for New Zealand and the Antarctic in a few days, the Navy said.

The United States will keep four of its seven Antarctic science stations going indefinitely. They are the South Pole station, the air facility at McMurdo Sound, Byrd station in Marie Byrd Land and Hallett station on Cape Hallett in the Ross Sea.

Little America V on the Ross Sea barrier ice will be shut down at the end of the coming season. It is near sites of camps which the late Adm. Richard E. Byrd set up in his early explorations. Ellsworth station on the Weddell Sea will be turned over exclusively to Argentine operation.

★ ★ ★

There have been 347 Americans wintering over in the Antarctic, 71 civilian scientists and technicians and the remainder Navy personnel. The Navy said about 200 persons will spend the 1958-59 winter at the four permanent stations.

Back to School Heralds Return of Baby Boom

The first wave of the wartime baby boom hit the high schools last fall. An even bigger wave is now in the grade schools and will hit the ninth grade in about three years.

And no ebbing of this floodtide of children is in sight, to the complete astonishment of the experts.

People who figure such things can draw you stacks of charts and graphs to prove why the birthrate in this country should—MUST—go down. Then they run head-on into the statistics which shows the birthrate keeps right on climbing.

In 1940 there were 3½ million children born in this country. In 1943 the number exceeded three million. The experts can explain that jump—the United States was at war and young people were hurrying to get married before they were separated.

In 1944 and 1945 the number of live births tapered off just a bit, and fell below three million. Then, in 1946, when most of the boys had come marching home again, it spurted to nearly 3½ million.

The next year the figure went to more than 3¼ million. Right about here, say the experts, there should have been a sharp decline. But there wasn't. The number of births held fairly steady for three years and then started climbing again. In 1951, 1952 and 1953 it nudged the four million mark, in 1954 it passed four million and continued to climb.

Last year there were more than 4,300,000 births in this country. Six years hence there will be the greatest first grade school enrollment this country has ever known.

Those babies born in 1943—the wartime boom which pushed births over three million the first time—presumably entered school in the fall of 1949. For the most part, the crop of '43 is now in the ninth grade.

Drinking Fountains Called Dangerous

EAST LANSING (UPI) — A Michigan State University public health specialist warns that drinking fountains and sewage disposal systems are "potential health hazards."

Dr. Walter N. Mack, professor of microbiology and public health, said viruses—including the polio virus—are present in processed sewage the year 'round, not only at epidemic periods as previously believed.

Another study revealed viruses and bacteria in tiny water particles called "aerosols" which are present in the air near public drinking fountains.

Mack said while neither situation indicates an emergency, both constitute public health hazards.

Missile Fuel Handlers Get Broken-In Gloves

NATICK, Mass. (UPI) — A new type of work glove — already broken in and free of stiffness—has been developed for handlers of highly volatile guided missile fuel.

The Army's Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command said the gloves, designed to conform to the normal "ready-to-work" position of the hands, are made of supported vinyl.

Conventional glove designs, are based on the position of the hand with fingers fully extended in a flat position. Fingers of the new gloves are shortened so that they fit the wearer snugly.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD C. JOHNSTON

Johnston-Masters Vows Said in Clarkston Rite

CLARKSTON — The First Methodist Church here was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Martha Ann Masters to Richard C. Johnston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Masters, 6551 Maple Dr. Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston of 6062 Middle Lake Rd. are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. William Richard officiated at the candlelight ceremony. The bride wore a floor-length gown of organza fashioned with short sleeves, an empire bodice and square neckline. Swiss embroidery and ribbon was used in the bodice and the front of the skirt.

Her matching Juliet cap, decorated with iridescent pearls, held a fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis in a semi-cascade arrangement.

★ ★ ★

Matron of honor was Mrs. Lewis Masters of Jackson, sister-in-law of the bride, and maid of honor was Sally Schomaker of Fraser.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Josie Johnson of Royal Oak and Karen Kuecke of Lincoln Park, Mary Ann Masters of Flint, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Best man was Lanny Leak of Clarkston and ringbearer was Larry Duinn of Troy, N. Y., nephew of the bride.

Seating the guests were Robert John and Patrick Thompson, both of Clarkston, and Donald Kendeigh of Detroit.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

After a honeymoon in northern Michigan, the couple will live in Albion where the bridegroom will complete his senior year at Albion College.

★ ★ ★

The bride was graduated from Eastern Michigan College where she was affiliated with Sigma Nu Phi. The bridegroom is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

Ike Challenged on Spending

Dems Say President Responsible for Hike in U.S. Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats challenged President Eisenhower today to show he means business in cutting government spending.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he intends to stress in this year's congressional campaign the issue of "getting down these deficits and keeping our money sound."

This prompted Democratic retorts that the President—not Congress—is responsible for spending boosts.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va), a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said that "if we are to have any worthwhile reduction in expenditures, Congress will need the support of the President." He expressed doubt that support will be forthcoming.

"This year we appropriated 600 million dollars less than he asked us to make available," Robertson said.

Eisenhower complained that the Democratic-controlled Congress had exhibited a tendency to spend too much. He said outlays would have gone even higher if Republican congressional leaders had not pitched in to help curb this tendency.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview that Eisenhower ought to be the last man to complain about the 85th Congress.

"This was a do-something Congress which took the initiative where the administration lacked it in the fields of space, domestic economic recession and in maintaining a strong and capable defense establishment," he said.

In a statement in the Congressional Record, Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) blamed Eisenhower for increased spending and what he called the astronomical current budget. Cannon said all fiscal recommendations start with the President.

"The government is spending and proposing to spend as though gold grew like mushrooms in the Treasury cellar and bank notes budded like leaves on the trees in the springtime," Cannon said.

Complete Probe on Gambling

Grand Jury Gathers Enough Information to Indict 8 Men

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A federal grand jury ended a 12-day gambling inquiry last night, weary from squeezing enough information from a parade of big-time gamblers to indict eight men in a three-million-dollar betting syndicate.

★ ★ ★

The jury decided it had enough evidence about jangling telephones in a room over a Terre Haute, Ind., restaurant to prove the gambling operation owes federal taxes on $3,263,150 in bets.

The indictments were returned Monday, two days before the end of the long procession of 177 witnesses, including 42 stubborn ones who dodged answers under the Fifth Amendment.

Don A. Tabbert, the boyish-looking district attorney who celebrated his 30th birthday during the investigation, said the trial of eight men may bring out proof of a much bigger handle—10 million dollars in 10 weeks during last fall's football and World Series baseball season.

A Treasury agents' raid last Nov. 29 closed the third-story Terre Haute gambling headquarters.

The accused—aged 41 to 70—were as belligerent as some of the gambler witnesses during the inquiry, cursing and shoving reporters when they surrendered in a group and posted $10,000 bail bonds.

Tabbert hopes to have the case ready for trial in U. S. District Court in Terre Haute in November. Arraignment was set for Sept. 4.

★ ★ ★

The eight are no Johnny-come-lately figures in gambling. Chicago gamblers Leo Shaffer, 58, and Jules Horwick, 54, started in 1951 to build up a clientele of bettors who could afford to wager as much as $100,000 on a big football Saturday.

Over Half of U.S. Licensed to Drive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than half the people in the United States are registered drivers.

A report by the Bureau of Public Roads shows that more than 80 million Americans have been issu driving permits.

It also shows that 67,135,546 autos, trucks and buses jammed the streets and highways last year — more than one for every three U.S. residents.

The 1957 total represents an increase of only 3 per cent over 1956. This is the smallest climb since 1952, and is less than half the average yearly 6.5 per cent gain since World War II.

Increasing faster were federal, state and local spending for streets and highways. Outlays totaled $5,770,000,000 last year, compared with $1,413,000,000 a decade ago.

It's Good Music, but—

PONTIAC, Ill. (UPI) — County Judge A. W. Tuesburg placed George McClellan, 24, on probation to the tune of "Don't Be Cruel" blaring from a carnival loudspeaker outside the courtroom window. "It was appropriate music but it won't apply if he violates this probation," said the judge.

No matter how tough the problem, do something—then try again!

President Gives GOP Pep Talk

Ike, Nixon Pledge Aid to Party in November Elections

CHICAGO (AP)—President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon gave pep talks to the Republican National Committee yesterday and both pledged their help to bring victory to the party in the congressional elections.

Both the President and Nixon spoke by telephone to the committee as it wound up a two-day session mapping campaign plans for the congressional elections.

The President said he expects to speak out on several subjects during the fall campaign. He appealed for "deeply and fiercely concerned" GOP workers to carry on the fight for victory on Nov. 4.

Eisenhower telephoned from Washington to the party leaders over a loud speaker. Nixon, telephoning from Lewisburg, W. Va., spoke to Meade Alcorn, national chairman, who relayed the remarks to the committee members.

★ ★ ★

"Dick Nixon asks me to tell you he regards the 1958 elections as vital, and that we must get off the defensive and on the offensive," Alcorn said. "He pledges to you and to our party every resource and talent to help us win this fall."

Eisenhower told the GOP leaders the party can make "great gains in the House and Senate if we do just three things: Work, and vote, and get others to vote."

"There is no reason to lose one house or one Senate seat," the President added. "We must keep defeatism away. We must stay away from the wailing wall."

★ ★ ★

He reminded the committee to solicit support of the independent voter and "the discerning Democrat."

They'll Argue Before Court

Thumbnail Sketches of Opposing Lawyers in Little Rock Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are thumbnail sketches of the opposing lawyers arguing before the Supreme Court today in the Little Rock, Ark., school segregation case:

★ ★ ★

Thurgood Marshall, 50 — Baltimore-born Negro, $15,000-a-year special counsel to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. High-spirited, poker-playing. Widely respected among fellow lawyers for skill in presenting civil rights arguments — he's won 12 out of 14 cases before the Supreme Court. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) said Marshall seems to wield an "almost occult power" over most members of the court. It was Marshal who presented NAACP's original case against school segregation. The high court agreed with Marshall.

★ ★ ★

Richard C. Butler, 48—Arkansas born and bred, tall, gray-haired, slow-spoken attorney for the Little Rock school board. He was a World War II Army officer. Assisting him is 27-year-old John H. Haley, a native of Hot Springs, Ark., who once edited the Arkansas Law Review.

★ ★ ★

J. Lee Rankin 57, — Low-pressure Nebraska lawyer-rancher with interest ranging from riding to rose culture. As U.S. solicitor general (since Aug. 15, 1956) he presents the government's point of view as what lawyers call "a friend of the court." Mild-mannered, spectaced Rankin, as an assistant attorney general, similarly argued for the federal government in proceedings which led to the May 17, 1954, Supreme Court decision declaring public school segregation unconstitutional.

Howls Loudly for Taking Dogs to Wrong Home

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Robert Ebert, 42, drove into town yesterday with three dogs he wanted to sell for vivisection.

★ ★ ★

He asked around for the person he had heard bought dogs for this purpose and was directed, somehow, to the home of Mrs. Ethel Kline.

She's an agent for the Animal Rescue Society.

When Mrs. Kline saw two of Ebert's dogs in a crate and the other in a burlap bag, she said, "You're under arrest," and called police.

★ ★ ★

Ebert was fined $32.50 on a cruelty to animals. He put up a howl and was charged with disorderly conduct. But he refused to pay $50 bail on this charge, saying he'd paid enough already and would sit it out in jail.

Mrs. Kline took the dogs.

The first scheduled airline flight in the world was made between Tampa and St. Petersburg, Fla., on Jan. 1, 1914.

LOVELY LINGUIST — Gay Montague, 11, translates from her French book for her fifth grade teacher Mrs. Jack L. Saunders. In 13 Richmond, Va., schools, study of either Spanish or French is mandatory from the fourth through the sixth grades.

Back to School

Students Find Languages Are Fun

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — "Buenos Dias, senora," piped the little fourth grader and if his Spanish had a slightly Southern accent his teacher didn't seem to mind.

Many grade school students in Richmond have grown accustomed to conversing in a foreign tongue thanks, in no small part, to the curiosity displayed by a social studies class.

Back in 1952 a sixth grade teacher at Albert H. Hill School began discussing South American customs with his pupils. The bright-eyed youngsters expressed the wish that a language teacher be permitted to visit their class and instruct them in Spanish.

They did so well when they got one the school principal described the incident in his annual report to Richmond School Superintendent H. I. Willett.

★ ★ ★

The sixth grade excursion into Spanish led to a start the following fall of foreign language instruction as a regular part of the curriculum in a number of both white and Negro elementary schools in Richmond.

COURSES MANDATORY

In the 13 schools now participating at the elementary level, instruction in either French or Spanish is mandatory from the fourth through the sixth grades. After that there are conferences between parents and teachers to determine whether the children shall continue. Most of them do.

★ ★ ★

The city public school system's director of foreign languages, Mildred A. Kline, said the decision to start instruction at the fourth grade level was reached only after considerable study and soul searching.

"Fourth grade pupils generate boundless enthusiasm and initiative," she explained, "and hence at this age more immediate and gratifying results are observed."

The teaching of foreign languages to elementary school children, Miss Kline continued, "is an illuminating experience. This is a program that doesn't have to be sold—it sells itself.

"Not only are administrators, parents and teachers amazed at the rapidity with which children learn but they are amazed at the eagerness and starry-eyed enthusiasm of the learners."

THREE YEARS AHEAD

Lucian D. Adams, Richmond's assistant school superintendent, said children who begin their foreign language instruction under the new program are a good three years ahead of those who wait to start until they reach high school.

The youngsters learn to speak the language before they're asked to conjugate their first verb. Only conversational work is required from the fourth through the sixth grades.

Parents reportedly are pleased with the new program and eager to see it continue. It has been expanded to embrace more than a third of the grade schools in the city and will include them all as soon as enough qualified teachers can be found.

Meanwhile, Richmond's two white high schools—Thomas Jefferson and John Marshall — have started offering instruction in Russian on an experienced basis. However, this is a non-credit program so far.

Key Points of Arguments

Little Rock Briefs Filed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key points of briefs filed with the Supreme Court in the Little Rock school case:

NATIONAL ASSN. for the Advancement of Colored People — argues that exercise of court's authority to direct continued integration at Central High School is imperative to preserve constitutional rights. Says a "procedural device of granting or denying a stay cannot be employed where the result will be to delay or nullify the exercise of clearly determined rights." Says court has "frequently exercised its authority to prevent such unjust results."

★ ★ ★

LITTLE ROCK SCHOOL BOARD — Contends present conditions in Little Rock made it impossible to operate Central High on an integrated basis this session. Says refusal by court to direct immediate continuation of integration will mean the eduction of Negro high school students "will not be interrupted and in fact they will be spared the predictable mental torment and physical danger that would accompany attendance at Central High." Says situation should be clarified in 2½ years and it is presumed "a national policy will have been established by then."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark) asked permission yesterday to file brief supporting school board and pleading for 2½-year delay as called for in ruling by Federal Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark.

Brief expresses Fulbright's feeling of being "deeply troubled for the future peace and happiness of the people of Arkansas and of this nation, of all races and creeds."

★ ★ ★

At the invitation of the Supreme Court, the Justice Department is filing a brief too. Its contents were not disclosed in advance.

Plunger jn Tokens Nearly Goes Under

NEW YORK (UPI) — An 18-year-old Brooklyn boy recently attempted to corner the market in subway tokens, in anticipation of a fare rise.

What he did, according to E. Vincent Curtayne, a member of the New York Transit Authority, was to buy hundreds of dollars worth of tokens at 15 cents apiece with the idea of selling them at a profit when the higher fare went into effect.

Curtayne, who did not name the lad, said he got the money to make his purchases, which were perfectly legal, by withdrawing from his own savings account. This was in June, the youngster expecting the fare boost to take place on July 1.

His scheme collapsed on two accounts. First of all, transit police began investigating when they realized somebody was buying an awful lot of tokens.

★ ★ ★

Second of all, the fares did not go up on July 1. What the young speculator — whose case was dropped — did not know was that there is a law against any fare rise before Jan. 1.

Judges Defend Supreme Court

5 Jurists of Michigan High Tribunal Praise 'Courageous' Action

LANSING (AP) — Five Michigan Supreme Court justices, defending the United States Supreme Court as "courageous and competent," have spoken out against criticism directed against the federal tribunal.

They dissociated themselves from a critical resolution voted in Pasadena, Calif., last week by the National Conference of State Court Chief Justices.

The resolution was supported by John R. Dethmers, Michigan chief justice.

★ ★ ★

It rapped the highest federal court for making "hasty, impatient" decisions, failure to exercise "proper judicial restraint" and accused it of using the process of judicial review to set policy.

Splitting with Dethmers, a Republican, and others who backed the resolution were Justices George Edwards, John D. Voelker, Eugene F. Black, Talbot Smith and Thomas M. Kavanagh, all Democrats.

The Michigan high court has members.

The five Democrats did not question the right of Dethmers to speak for himself at the conference, and said his "sincerity and legal knowledge are respected by all of us."

"But we feel it is also our right and duty to make clear to the people of Michigan that the criticisms in the Pasadena resolution are not the opinions of the Michigan Supreme Court," they said yesterday.

"We feel especially constrained to make this statement because the Pasadena action has been widely interpreted as a criticism of the United States Supreme Court decision on segregation in the public schools.

"Whether or not this was the intent of the authors of the resolution, it certainly does not represent the view of the undersigned justices."

IQs Not Everything, Claims Counselor

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — A guidance counselor says a child's "IQ" should never be the sole basis for determining if he is an exceptional student.

Miss Gertrude B. Woodward told a recent Student Personnel Conference at Syracuse University that such things as family background, vocational interests, social relationships and extra-curricular activities must also be considered. Miss Woodward, a teacher and counselor in California high schools explained:

"If a child is intellectually well developed and yet is not mature emotionally or in social relationships beyond his grade, it would be unwise to put him ahead a grade no matter what his IQ."

Frowning on Kisses

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It didn't bother the bridegroom when the wedding guests kissed the bride. But now it's got the Health Department worried. It has been discovered that Marlene Mansfield, 21, was suffering from infectious hepatitis when she and Marine Pfc. Charles Varvals, 20, were wed.

Potent Repellent Wards Off Rattlers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bits of charcoal soaked in "synthetic skunk juice" may be just the thing to keep rattlesnakes away from your campsite or dwelling, according to a snake expert at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Raymond B. Cowles said a chemical known as mercaptan, which has an odor almost identical to but not quite as unpleasant as that of a skunk, frightens rattlesnakes.

The studies suggest that bits of charcoal, soaked in mercaptan solution and scattered around a campsite or a dwelling in snake-infested areas, have a strong enough odor to keep rattlers away but are still not too unpleasant for humans.

Baby Zeta, 1 Year Old, Fuses Hydrogen Atoms to Produce Energy

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

HARWELL, England (AP) — Zeta is round and chubby and will be exactly one year old this Saturday.

As babies go, that's not remarkable. But Zeta happens to be a particularly renowned infant of a new age. Zeta is a fusion or thermonuclear machine.

Nearly a year ago Zeta went to work, hissing like air escaping from a punctured tire, and for flashes of seconds fused hydrogen atoms to produce energy.

It marked man's first real step toward taming the fury of the H-bomb reaction in order to draw unlimited electric power, for all nations, from hydrogen atoms in the seas.

Zeta did not quite duplicate the action of the sun which produces hydrogen atoms. But it was a start toward imitating the sun.

★ ★ ★

H-power fusion could keep civilization running for millions of years because there is so much hydrogen fuel in the oceans. And mankind is going to need it—someday we will run out of coal and oil and firewood, and we could run short of uranium. Then H-power could be the great salvation to keep industry running and homes and schools and streets lighted.

On Zeta's first birthday there are some optimistic hopes that H-power might be achieved within 10 years. More conservative guesses are 20 to 40.

Zeta was no really howling success. Her name, in fact, means Zero Energy Thermonuclear Apparatus and Zeta lived up to it. She produced only a million millionth of the energy which it took to make her fuse atoms in the first place.

But she was first in fusing even a few atoms. Some weeks later U. S. scientists performed the same feat with their Perhapsatron—so named in honest doubt it would work.

Soviet scientists say they've done about the same thing, but haven't given details.

★ ★ ★

All three countries are expected to speak up in the United Nations atoms-for-peace conference starting Monday in Geneva, and to display models of a variety of fusion machines aimed at doing the trick.

The job is as difficult as it is vital to mankind's future.

The sun steadily produces energy and heat by fusing atoms of hydrogen into atoms of helium. In the process, a bit of the mass of the hydrogen atoms is changed into prodigious amounts of energy.

H-bombs do this too, but when one goes off, no apparatus is left to turn the heat into electrical power.

The problems are to control the fusion and draw off the heat to make steam to run generators to produce electricity.

H-fusion machines like Zeta heat up the hydrogen with great jolts of electricity. In Zeta, the gas is contained inside a big, hollow, doughnut-shaped tube.

Instead of ordinary hydrogen, the machine uses deuterium or double-weight hydrogen. Deuterium is not too hard nor too expensive to get from ordinary sea water.

Zeta jolts the gas with a current of 230,000 amperes, lasting a few thousandths of a second. The hydrogen heats up to five million degrees centigrade. This makes atoms race about at tremendous speed so they begin colliding violently enough for some of them to merge or fuse.

★ ★ ★

The electrical heating sets up a magnetic field which compresses the deuterium gas. This makes the gas still hotter, which is all to the good.

But the compressed column of gas wriggles like an angry snake. If the gas touches the walls of the tube, it loses precious heat and it might also do some damage to the walls.

So a magnetic field is applied from the outside to keep the gas steady. British scientists are concentrating on one principal method of magnetic confinement, while U. S. scientists are trying four different approaches simultaneously.

This summer Zeta was beefed up for more experiments at higher temperature, perhaps 10 million degrees.

That's still far, far too little to produce useful power. So a really muscular Zeta II is being built to create temperatures of 50 to 100 million degrees, holding it for a tenth of a second at a time.

Says Alaska's Name Comes From Spain

JEREZ DE LA FRONTERA, Spain (UPI) — Jose Rivera Gonzalez, an amateur lexicologist, says he believes that Alaskt is named after Andalusia in southern Spain.

Senor Gonzalez makes barrels for the storage of sherry in the many famed bodegas in this city. As a hobby, he likes to trace the origin of geographic names.

As to Alaska, he points out that this word was the Russian way of saying Aleutian, the original Eskimo name for both the Aleutian Islands and the mainland of the 49th state.

"Where did they get this word Aleutian?" he asks. "I think the Eskimos heard some early Spanish traveler describe Andalusia as the paradise it is known to be and then the Eskimos decided to take the name for their own land. So really we should speak of the Andalusian Island, not the Aleutian Islands, Andalusia not Alaska."

Police Magistrate Fines Himself $30

BISMARCK, N.D. (UPI) — A Bismarck police magistrate fined himself $30 on a traffic charge recently and gave himself a thorough tongue-lashing besides.

The magistrate, I. M. Oseth, arrested himself for careless driving after he drove his car partway through a red light.

During a lecture to himself in the presence of the chief of police, he said, "The defendant should be ashamed of himself and is."

Oseth then completed the usual procedure in such traffic violations — he punched his driver's license and sent a report of the incident to the state patrol.

Her Cat Lives Through Blaze in Hotel Room

KANSAS CITY (AP)—All Miss Alma Riall has in the world is a cat named Snowball.

★ ★ ★

Miss Riall, a pensioner, lives with Snowball on the third floor of a small hotel. Yesterday a fire broke out in the basement and the hotel was evacuated.

★ ★ ★

Other residents noticed Miss Riall hadn't come out. Patrolman Paul Campbell found the elderly woman on her hands and knees searching for Snowball in her smoke-filled apartment. She was almost overcome with smoke. Campbell carried her out over protest.

★ ★ ★

"I just didn't want to leave until I had Snowball," said Miss Riall. "I don't have any people left since sis and mother died. Snowball's all I've got."

After the fire was extinguished, Miss Riall went back to her apartment.

★ ★ ★

And, there was Snowball, alive and unhurt, under the dresser.

New York Policeman Spends Busy 4 Hours

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are 23,483 persons on the New York City Police force. But, within four hours, one of them—probationary patrolman William Bett, 23—accomplished the following:

He broke up a three-man restaurant brawl, disarmed a gunman and rescued 13 persons from a gas-filled apartment.

Bett then went to the hospital to be treated for exhaustion.

Crucial Integration Case Opens in Supreme Court

segregation. Butler agreed that it did and added the action was taken under U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley's ruling.

★ ★ ★

Marshall, too, had been interrupted by some questions, mostly technically. He wound up with a plea for the high court to decide the whole issue once and for all, on its merits.

In the legal situation it would be possibe for the court to pass only on the latest ruling—that of the Court of Appeals staying its own action in overturning the District Court's grant of a 2½-year integration delay.

That would leave the way still open for a board appeal from the basic ruling of the appellate court.

With the stay order in effect, the governing decision is that of Dist. Judge Lemley granting the delay.

The White House did not spell out in detail its idea that Eisenhower's go-slow signal and the Justice Department's do-it-now argument were parallel.

★ ★ ★

Technically, Rankin's no-delay brief, filed a few hours before the court opening, was addressed to the specific situation at Little Rock.

But it contained a general do-it-now argument which could apply in any situation where public opposition to desegregation is the basis for efforts to hold off immediate mingling of the races in classrooms.

The government brief, filed in response to an invitation from the Supreme Court for the Justice Department to take part in the case, said the high court has full power to grant the relief asked by the NAACP. It said further that such relief should be granted.

Stressing that the only purpose of the stay granted by the Court of Appeals was to give the high court an opportunity to consider the ruling, the government urged that the whole Little Rock litigation be decided in one bundle.

The government brief said there was no likelihood that an appeal by the Little Rock School Board from the Court of Appeals basic ruling would be successful.

It said the Supreme Court could decide this issue along with the petition to strike down the legal stays.

But if the court should not decide to consider the Little Rock case on its full legal merits, the government asked the court to require the board to file its appeal immediately instead of waiting for 30 days as allowed by the Court of Appeals.

The government argued that the order by U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley granting the 2½-year stay "rested upon two basic misconceptions."

The brief said the Supreme Court in its May 1955 decision calling for the end of school segregation "with all deliberate speed" specified that constitutional rights of some citizens may not be suspended or ignored because of antagonistic acts of others.

"If constitutional rights could be so easily negated, they would amount to little," the brief said.

"Here, it should be noted, there is not the slightest suggestion that the colored children (those who entered Central High School) did anything to incite violence or disorderly conduct. Because they were colored, their mere presence in the school led others to engage in conduct which the District Court thought to be sufficient justification for suspending the childr 1's constitutional rights — rights which can be enforced only while they are of school age, so that any 'suspension' of their rights is actually a permanent and irretrievable deprivation."

The brief said the Supreme Court itself has rejected the claim that a restriction upon the rights of Negroes might be justified as a means of avoiding racial disturbance.

The government said the primary responsibility for maintaining order in Little Rock and taking all other necessary measures to permit carrying out court orders "rests upon the state and its officials."

The government's argument went before the high court in an extraordinary setting — one of its rare special terms called to pass on issues of transcendent importance or pressing immediacy.

The time pressure stems from the fact that the Little Rock school, where Negro pupils attended last year under guard of federal troops, opens Sept. 8.

★ ★ ★

Just a year ago, Central High was the scene of anti-integration riots. Federal troops were used to enforce court-ordered integration. Now, a cloud of crisis again hangs over Little Rock.

The entire Little Rock school board came to town to watch and listen to the Supreme Court proceedings.

The federal meat inspection stamp which reads "U.S. Inspected and Passed" shows that the meat product has been made from wholesome ingredients and processed under sanitary conditions.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM AVENALL

Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday with a family gathering at their home, 35 West St., Oxford, were Mr. and Mrs. William Avenall. The couple has 7 children, 20 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

James R. Allard, Bride Honeymooning in North

DAVISBURG — Honeymooning in the Upper Peninsula following their marriage Saturday evening at the Community Bible Church are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Allard. The rite was performed by the Rev. John T. Bell.

The former Wanda May McDonald, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. McDonald, 7824 Jardine St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Allard of 5 S. Holcomb St., Clarkston.

For her wedding, the bride wore a ballerina-length dress of lace over nylon and taffeta. It featured full-length sleeves, scalloped neckline and a butterfly bow in back. Her fingertip veil fell from a heart-shaped crown of pearls and sequins, and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses on a white Bible.

Sharon Osborn of Holly was maid of honor and Ruth Ann Bandy, attendant. Ramona and Roberta McDonald, the bride's 3-year-old twin nieces, were flower girls.

★ ★ ★

Best man was Dallas Lippencott of Clarkston. Richard Walls of Pontiac, Bob Broegman of Davisburg, the bride's brother-in-law; and Richard McDonald of Clarkston, the bride's brother, were ushers.

The newlyweds will make their home at 10248 King Rd., Davisburg.

him to fasten his seat belt tight," Mrs. Schultz related.

The wife said the two men planned to join Steele's father, a vice president of the lumber firm, in Seattle. After visiting some lumber mills, they were to go salmon fishing in Puget Sound.

These Michigan residents boarded the plane at Detroit:

Donald James, Detroit
Albert Kowalewski, Hamtramck
Leslie Gillies, Livonia
Mrs. Wesley Gillies, Livonia
Mrs. L. Dohn, Monroe
Kenneth J. Carmony, Livonia
James S. Schultz, Okemos
Ted D. Steele, East Lansing

A vacation-bound New York State doctor tended the injuries of fellow passengers on the plane.

Dr. Roger W. Blaisdell, 52, of Wellsville, N.Y., was en route to Alaska on a four-week big-game hunting expedition with Louis Lefler of Wellsville.

Dr. Blaisdell said the plane rolled from side to side after it hit, and then turned over. He said he pulled Lefler, sitting beside him, from beneath his seat.

Dr. Blaisdell, who was cut slightly, helped bandage other passengers and put a splint on one man with a broken leg.

Canning Season Nearing Peak

Now's the time when homemakers everywhere are preparing for the cold winter months ahead. They're busy canning the luscious fresh vegetables and fruits from their home gardens. What a sense of accomplishment and pride can be attained in filling shelves with jars and jars of top quality food for future use.

If you're planning on canning about now, try these recipes for Herbed Green Beans or Mexicali Corn. For the family with a sweet tooth, Peach Cherry Jam made with bright maraschino cherries or California Strawberry Marmalade will make a hit. Try them.

Herbed Green Beans

3 pounds green beans
1 tablespoon salt
2 quarts water
1 teaspoon basil
2 bay leaves

Wash beans. Cut into 1-inch pieces. Add salt to water. Heat to boiling point. Add beans, basil and bay leaves; mix well. Cover and heat to boiling point. Boil 5 minutes. Turn into glass jars, leaving a space of ½ inch at top of jars. Adjust jar lids.

Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure (240 degrees) 20 minutes for 1½ cup or pint jars and 25 minutes for 3½-cup jars. Makes about 2 quarts.

★ ★ ★

Mexicali Corn

24 ears corn
1 tablespoon salt
2¼ quarts water
1 medium-sized green pepper, finely chopped
2 medium-sized red peppers, finely chopped
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon rosemary

Husk corn; remove silk and wash corn. Cut off kernels. Add salt to water; heat to boiling point. Add corn, peppers, oregano and rosemary; mix well. Cover and heat to boiling point. Turn into glass jars, leaving a space of one inch at top of jars. Adjust jar lids.

Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure (240 degrees) 55 minutes for 1½-cup or pint jars and 85-minutes for 3½-cup jars. Makes about 4 quarts.

★ ★ ★

Peach Cherry Jam

4 cups diced peaches (3 pounds)
½ cup water
½ cup lemon juice
4 cups sugar
½ cup chopped maraschino cherries (about 20 cherries)
3 ounces liquid pectin

Combine peaches, water and lemon juice; mix well. Cook over medium heat 30 minutes. Add sugar and bring to boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Boil rapidly 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Add cherries and pectin; mix well. Cool.

Skim off foam. Stir and skim 5 minutes. Pour into scalded jars. Cover with melted paraffin, if desired. Makes about 1½ quarts.

★ ★ ★

Frozen Strawberry Marmalade

2 1-pound packages frozen whole strawberries
2 large oranges, pitted and chopped
2 large lemons, pitted and chopped
3 cups sugar

Combine strawberries, oranges and lemons; mix well. Cover and heat to boiling point. Cook over low heat 1 hour, stirring frequently. Add sugar. Heat to boiling point. Boil 6 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat.

Stir and skim 5 minutes. Pour into scalded jars. Cover with melted paraffin, if desired. Makes about 1 quart.

FOR WINTER MEALS — Fresh vegetables, grown from seed, and garden ripe fruits are now being canned in attractive jars and stored away for the winter.

No Job at All to Make Jam

Peaches are ripe, widespread and abundant. Their unsurpassed flavor can be counted upon to lift mid-summer meals out of the doldrums. Fresh peach pies and cobblers, peach ice cream, peach shortcake and many other time-honored specialties can now be enjoyed. Be sure to make some fresh peach jam for later use when the warm sunny days will be but a memory.

Uncooked peach jam has such fine flavor many homemakers feel it is worth the space it requires in refrigerator or freezer.

PEACH JAM
(Uncooked Fruit)

3 cups prepared fruit (about 2 lbs. ripe peaches)
6 cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup water
1 box (1¾ oz.) powdered fruit pectin

First, prepare the fruit. Wash, peel, and pit about 2 pounds fully ripe peaches. Chop very fine. Measure 3 cups into a large pan or bowl.

Then make the jam. Add sugar, grated lemon rind, and lemon juice to fruit in pan. Mix well and allow to stand 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Mix water and powdered fruit pectin in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add to the fruit mixture; then stir briskly for 3 minutes.

Ladle into glasses or freezer containers. Cover at once with tight lids or seals. Let stand 24 hours. Then store in freezer. Or, if jam is to be used within 3 weeks it may be stored in refrigerator. Makes about 9 glasses.

Marinate Cucumbers in Wine Dressing

Delicious addition to a fish course.

Savory Cucumbers

1 cucumber (about 8 inches long)
1½ tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons garlic wine vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons minced chives
Parsley or salad greens for garnish

Pare cucumber; draw the sharp tines of a fork lengthwise down cucumber for fluted effect; slice thin. With a fork beat oil, vinegar, sugar and salt together in a shallow wide container; add cucumber (there should be about 1½ cups) and mix well.

Cover and refrigerate for a few hours; turn cucumbers in marinade a few times. At serving time sprinkle cucumbers with chives, garnish with greens. Makes 4 servings.

For Fun on Labor Day, Plan Your Menu Ahead

Labor Day is fun. And one way to insure your family a fine weekend is some menu planning ahead of time, says the Marketing Information Agent. Foods now in season offer abundance and variety to suit the last big outdoor spread of the summer.

At the meat counter you will find pork in the limelight. Chicken, turkey and some beef cuts are priced for holiday trade.

The spring pig crop is on its way to market. Supplies are getting more plentiful; shoppers are finding lower prices.

All kinds of ham, spareribs, bacon and frankfurters will be highlighted in markets this week.

Even though ham is cured meat and though it may be partially cooked or completely cooked, it will spoil when stored at room temperature. Store ham in the refrigerator and use within a week or 10 days. Most canned ham labels warn you to "refrigerate."

★ ★ ★

To compare cost of different kinds of ham, use this guide:

Whole ham or half, uncooked or partially cooked—2½ servings from a pound.

Butt or shank end, or portion, uncooked or partially cooked — 2 servings from a pound.

Center slices—4 servings from a pound.

Whole ham or half, cooked—3 to 3½ servings from a pound.

Boneless, uncooked or partially cooked—4 servings from a pound.

Boneless, cooked—4 to 6 servings from a pound.

Chicken and turkey rate your attention. Do you want to roast a turkey or stew a chicken, and then quit the kitchen for the weekend? You can slice either for a cold platter, cut it into salad or put it between bread for sandwiches. But if your family is ready to gather 'round the grill, you may choose broiler-fryers. Retailers report that poultry prices continue about as they have been with the exception of features.

Maybe your family bids for beef. The low price bid is ground beef. But serve it with a flourish. Ground beef, broken into small pieces and browned in a pan over a bed of hot coals, gains zest when seasoned with salt, catsup, mustard and chopped onions. Heap the hot mixture on a toasted bun. Or wrap patties and with a few thin slices of potato in foil, cook on the grill.

Vegetables and fruits in-season complete the meal.

For an enjoyable less-work and little-dishwashing type meal, prepare finger foods. Serve wedges of tomatoes, carrot strips, celery sticks and radishes.

Unless you have a good cooler or insulated container, choose cabbage instead of potato for the salad to be eaten away from home. Mix the dressing into the cabbage at the picnic site.

Corn-on-the-cob is still the leading "grill-style" vegetable! Roast corn in the husk, or remove husk, brush with butter and roast in heavy foil, turning often.

Dessert is no work at all if you choose juicy full ripe peaches. Buy firm-ripe peaches and keep at room temperature 3 or 4 days until full ripe. Peaches will easily pull away from the pit when fully ripe. Golden Jubilee, Halehaven and Redhaven varieties are available.

Melons should not be forgotten. Michigan's cantaloupe volume has been cut by cool weather in the production areas, but shoppers will have no trouble finding them. California has an excellent cantaloupe crop which continues to move in volume.

Production of early summer watermelons exceeds that of last year by 27 per cent; the late summer crop is forecast at 11 per cent above last year's production. This explains why shoppers can include watermelon on the thrifty list of holiday dessert.

Plan for picnic labor-free this Labor Day. Carefully laid plans make Labor Day fun.

Eggplant Espagnole Calls for Olive Oil

For a savory casserole dish, combine diced eggplant with tomatoes, onions and herbs, the Spanish way. First pour 2 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil in the casserole, tipping the baking dish so that the oil spreads all over the surface. Then add 1 medium eggplant, diced (not peeled), 3 or 4 tomatoes, peeled then chopped, 1 large onion, sliced, 1 garlic clove, crushed, 1 green pepper, diced, and ¾ teaspoon salt.

Mix well together, add ¼ cup Spanish olive oil, and top with seasoned cracker or bread crumbs. The generous amount of olive oil gives the eggplant richer, meatier flavor. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for half an hour. Makes 4 entree servings.

When tomato aspic begins to thicken you can press in tablespoonfuls of cottage cheese.

Be sure to remove all the brown skin from a coconut before grating it.

Thrift note: Diced cooked poultry giblets may be added to a tomato spaghetti sauce.

Salad Plates Call for Hot Muffins

Who can resist serving colorful fruit plates for luncheon several times during this season? A very natural accompaniment to a fruit salad luncheon is a tasty hot quick bread. A new star in the muffin world are these Almond Orange Muffins which were created for just such occasions.

★ ★ ★

Made with toasty flakes of rolled oats, these muffins have just the hint of orange and almond flavors. Almond Orange Muffins are a "so right" combination and so tasty! Making muffins can be so simple, yet too many cooks make too much work out of them.

The key secret to success is combining the dry ingredients with the liquids until they are barely mixed. No peaked tops with this method!

Your weight-watching friends will appreciate an icy cold fruit plate for lunch. Bunches of sugared green grapes, melon balls, spears of banana, crimson cherries and sliced strawberries make a colorful as well as tasty assortment.

Center the plate with a ball of sherbet or creamy cottage cheese. Then the touch of genius to complete the setting is a basket of warm Almond Orange Muffins.

Almond Orange Muffins

1 cup sifted enriched flour
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned; uncooked)
2 eggs, beaten
⅓ cup orange juice
Grated rind of one orange
3 tablespoons liquid shortening
½ teaspoon almond flavoring (if less almond flavoring is desired, reduce to ¼ teaspoon)

Heat oven to hot (425 degrees). Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl. Add oats, eggs, orange juice, orange rind, shortening and almond flavoring. Stir lightly, mixing only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill greased muffin cups ⅔ full. Bake in preheated oven 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from pan immediately. Makes 12 muffins.

Blue Cheese Dressing

An easy-do blue cheese dressing can be made by mixing together to a paste ½ cup crumbled blue cheese and 3 tablespoons of heavy cream. Add this mixture to 1 cup basic French dressing and whip together thoroughly.

Chocolate Milk Doubles Flavor in Marble Cake

The picnic season is in full swing, and folks on all sides are packing the hamper for lunch or supper in their favorite picnicking spots. Whether eating at home or away, dessert is always a much anticipated part of the meal.

A new kind of marble cake designed for this year's outdoor eating sprees is made with bottled or cartoned chocolate milk. A sifting of confectioners' sugar is a simple frosting and presents no problem in wrapping when the cake is to be packed.

Of course, you'll want to fill the thermos bottle with bottled or cartoned chocolate milk to serve as the beverage.

★ ★ ★

Chocolate Marble Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
3 tablespoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup bottle or cartoned chocolate milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1-ounce square unsweetened chocolate, melted

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.

Add sifted ingredients alternately with chocolate milk, blending well after each addition. Add vanilla and blend well.

Divide batter in half. Add chocolate to half the batter and blend well. Spoon plain and chocolate batters alternately into a greased and floured 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 50 to 55 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool slightly. Turn out on cake rack and cool thoroughly. Frost as desired.

Sherry Seasons Chops in Tomato Sauce

Brown pork chops (allowing 1 or 2 chops to a serving, depending on size) in heavy skillet. Sprinkle a little salt in the skillet before adding chops to draw out pork fat. When chops are browned on both sides, add ⅛ cup Spanish sherry of the amontillado type and cover pan, cooking over low heat about 15 minutes. Then add ½ can tomato paste and 1 cup water.

Simmer 15 minutes longer. Salt may be added for taste, if desired, but no other seasoning is needed. Serve accompanied by rice or spaghetti and glasses of nutty amontillado sherry.

BANANA SPLIT SALAD — Everyone will love this new version of a banana split. To create this soda-parlor inspired concoction, you'll need American Blue Cheese, bananas, prunes, cottage cheese, lemon juice and sour cream.

Split Bananas for New Salad

The banana split now has a split personality. It can be either a dessert or a salad. The newest version of a banana split is a tempting salad consisting of cottage cheese, banana halves and luscious prunes crowned with a flavorful topping of sour cream and American blue cheese. This creamy, blue-veined cheese with its delightful subtly-sharp flavor will spark any salad and turn it into a new taste delight.

Banana Split Salad

4 medium-sized bananas
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup cottage cheese
10 large prunes, plumped and pitted
½ cup commercial sour cream
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1½ ounces)
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Cut bananas in half lengthwise. Brush with 2 tablespoons lemon juice and arrange on individual salad plates. Top bananas with cottage cheese and prunes. Combine remaining ingredients and serve on salads. Makes 4 servings.

Pick Out Firm Pears, Let Ripen Before Using

Pears are one fruit you need to ripen at home, states the Marketing Information Agent. Now that Michigan's season is beginning, choose pears that are firm ripe, but not hard.

Pears ripen best in a humid place at room temperature between 60 and 70 degrees. Leave the wrappers on for they help in ripening pears.

Pick a pear and use it in salad, broil it to serve with meat or bake it for dessert. But for the best flavor, ripen it first.

Soda Pop Can Put Sparkle Into Food

Have you a champagne taste on a soda pop budget? Here's a way to satisfy the first with the last . . . and turn out unusual dishes that sparkle with flavor.

In a recent magazine a trio of recipes is suggested—a dessert, a ham glaze and a cake—all made with lemon-lime soda, and all as much fun to prepare as they are to eat.

★ ★ ★

Here are the recipes for these effervescent dishes:

Pleasingly Plump Prunes

1 pound package dried prunes
1 cup seedless raisins
1 thinly sliced lemon
6 whole cloves
Small cinnamon stick
2 bottles lemon-lime soda

Combine all ingredients in a bowl, cover and refrigerate for 48 hours. The prunes will plump up without cooking and have a distinct lemon-lime flavor. Top with cream before serving.

★ ★ ★

Glossy Ham Glaze

When ham has one hour left to cook, remove from oven and drain fat. Score ham, spread with equal mixture of prepared mustard and honey. Stud with cloves. Pour ½ of a 7-ounce bottle of lemon-lime soda over ham. Return to oven; baste with remaining soda while ham finishes cooking.

★ ★ ★

You'll Never Guess Cake

Make up a package of yellow cake mix as package directs, substituting one 7-ounce bottle lemon-lime soda for seven ounces (⅞ cup) of the liquid called for. (Caution: measure lemon-lime and milk separately to prevent foaming.) Bake as package directs.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Rolled Rib of Beef.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the rib section and is the boneless rolled roast after the rib and backbone have been removed from the standing rib of beef. It contains the meaty eye of the rib with some fat distributed throughout.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It is prepared by roasting, a dry heat method of meat cookery. It is roasted in a 300 degree F. oven allowing between 32 and 48 minutes per pound, depending on the degree of doneness desired.

Eat More Dairy Foods to Up Nation's Health

Americans spend about 15 per cent of every food dollar for milk and other dairy products. Yet we get about 30 per cent of our total nutrition from them. Nutritionists believe we would improve the nation's health if we increased consumption of dairy foods by at least 40 per cent.

Here's what a quart of milk per day supplies in percentages of daily nutritive requirements for an average man: calcium, 100 per cent plus; riboflavin, 93 per cent; phosphorus, 61 per cent; protein, 49 per cent; vitamin A, 31 per cent; thiamin (vitamin B) 23 per cent; calories, 22 per cent; ascorbic acid, 17 per cent; niacin, 7 per cent; iron, 5 per cent. Milk contains some of every nutritional element needed in human diets.

Pork and Beans Salad

Is your recipe or idea file for summer salads nearing the end? Have you run the gamut of your favorites? Here's one which will find a niche in that favorite list, we're sure. Mix 1 can (1 pound) pork and beans with tomato sauce, 2 frankfurters (thinly sliced), 1 cup chopped celery, and 1 teaspoon mustard. Chill thoroughly. Serve on 4 on crisp salad greens.

Instant Cream Smooths Drinks

Hot summer day—iced drink and doughnuts: Perfect snack, and especially perfect because the only ingredients needed for these shakes are fruit juice (either frozen or regular), new instant cream and ice. They taste every bit as good as they look, too, and with this easy method can be whipped up on a moment's notice. The new instant cream is convenient, economical and nutritious and gives these shakes a creamy smoothness that will make them family favorites.

INSTANT CREAM SHAKES

Basic recipe using canned fruit juices and nectars:

1 12-oz. can fruit juice or nectar chilled*
½ cup instant cream
8 ice cubes (if using mixer or shaker, use ¾ cup cracked ice or iced water)
*Loganberry
Peach
Pineapple
Apricot and pineapple
Tropical punch
Apple (Add dash of cinnamon just before serving)
Pear (Add dash of cinnamon just before serving)
Apricot (Add dash of cinnamon just before serving)

Basic recipe using frozen fruit concentrates:

1 6-oz. can frozen concentrate
⅔ cup instant cream
3 cups ice water (if using mixer or shaker, the juice should be partially defrosted)
Orange
Pineapple
Grape
Tangerine
Orange-Pineapple
Orange-Grapefruit
Lemonade (Increase water to 3½ cups)
Limeade (Increase water to 3½ cups)

Ground Beef Cups Hold Rice Filling

Take advantage of the many attractive and delicious ways of preparing ground beef. Try ground beef in this simple-to-do recipe in which the meat lines a custard cup, forming a cavity for an onion-parsley-rice mixture.

Hamburger-Rice Cups

2 pounds lean ground beef
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 cups cooked rice
2 teaspoons finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley

Mix ground beef, salt, pepper, and egg. Press meat mixture against sides and bottoms of 8 six-ounce greased custard cups to a depth of ½ inch, forming a cavity in the center of the meat. Mix cooked rice, onion, and parsley; place in cavity.

★ ★ ★

Bake in 350 degrees F. oven 45 minutes. Let stand in a warm place for 5 minutes. Run a knife around the edge to loosen; remove from cup. 8 servings.

Try Recipe for Unusual Tomato Pickle

Green tomatoes of any variety may be dilled, but the epicure demands the tiny round cherry or its small cousins, pear and plum. The names of all come from the shape. Could be that some pear and plum tomatoes are red, but the ones we have in mind are yellow when ripe and wonderful for preserving.

The midgets taste the same as other tomatoes. This is as it should be because the little fellows are true tomatoes.

The very best dilled pickles go through a long brine cure. Even so, you may like as do we, to do the job a quick and easy way. Each pint of tomatoes calls for 1 clove garlic, 1 small red pepper or a piece of Cayenne pepper, ½ teaspoon light mustard seed and enough green or dried dill for a bottom and a top layer.

TO MAKE BRINE:

From ½ to ¾ cup brine will be needed for each pint. Mix 2 cups vinegar, 2 cups water, 4 tablespoons salt and 4 tablespoons sugar. Tie 1 tablespoon high grade pickling spice in a cloth. Tie the garlic in another cloth. Cover the pan, bring mixture to boil, then let simmer 15 or 20 minutes.

TO PREPARE AND CAN THE PICKLES:

Wash and drain dill, pepper and tomatoes. Use large needle to puncture each tomato in several places. Cover bottom of tapered jar with layer of dill. Fill jars to within about 1 inch of the top of jar. The hot garlic clove, ½ teaspoon mustard seed and pepper go in when the jar is about half filled. Cover tomatoes with a layer of dill and add hot brine to fill the jars to within about ¼ inch of the top of jar.

★ ★ ★

Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Process half pints 10 minutes, pints 15 minutes in a boiling-water bath. Let pickles stand about a month before using. They are best when served icy cold.

Having meat loaf? Team a jar of whole small boiled onions with a can of tiny green peas for a good go-along.

Cookie Crumb Pudding

Make up a package of instant chocolate pudding and fold about three-quarters cup of coarse macaroon crumbs and one-half cup of whipped cream into it, then chill until set. If you like you may add a quarter teaspoon of almond flavoring to the cream and serve the pudding with extra whipped cream.

Add mashed hard-cooked eggs to mashed cooked chicken livers plus seasonings for a nutritious sandwich spread.

SOUR CREAM GLAMORIZES — Sour cream and butter glamorize vegetables. Zucchini in Sour Cream and Broiled Curry Buttered Potatoes make a simple meal seem a gourmet's repast.

Zucchini and Potatoes Take on New Flavor

Vegetables and dairy products have long been natural go-togethers. One of the newest dairy products, and one which is a perfect vegetable topping, is the thick, cultured sour cream now being made by many dairies. This dairy-made sour cream is a fluffy, smooth product with a delightful tang.

With just a dash of salt and pepper, and perhaps a pinch of herb, dairy sour cream can turn a simple vegetable into a gourmet dish. And you'll be delighted to know that dairy sour cream has about 1/3 the calories of butter. Here's an especially delicious recipe for Zucchini in Sour Cream. You'll want to try sour cream with other vegetables too.

★ ★ ★

As a potato partner for the zucchini squash, try Broiled Curry Buttered Potatoes. Of course, butter is a long time favorite potato topping but these potatoes deserve special raves. They're once-in-awhile treat for the weight watcher, but are well worth their calories. Quick to make, they are a good accompaniment for broiled meat or fish.

Zucchini in Sour Cream

4 to 5 medium-sized zucchini squash
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup dairy sour cream

Wash zucchini and slice crosswise ⅜ to ½ inch thick. Cook in small amount of boiling salted water until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add butter and stir carefully until butter is melted. Fold in sour cream and serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Broiled Curry Buttered Potatoes

½ cup butter
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 to 1½ teaspoons curry powder, as desired
6 medium-sized raw potatoes, peeled

Melt butter in small pan. Stir in salt, pepper, and curry powder. Cut potatoes into lengthwise sticks about twice as thick as French fried potatoes. Lay potatoes in a single layer on a foil lined broiler pan. Brush generously with curry butter.

Broil about 5 inches from heat source until potatoes are tender and attractively browned (about 10 minutes). Turn potatoes, brush with curry butter and brown remaining side, about 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Orange Flavored Bread Studded With Chocolate

Whenever you say, "Come to my house for coffee," you really mean, "Come for coffee and a little something to eat!" At least, most people associate a cup of fragrant hot coffee with a bite or two of something sweet, whatever the time of day. So often, though, when you're holding a meeting, it's a real puzzler as to what you'll serve.

You want something quick and easy that you can make in advance. It has to be attractive and utterly delicious and . . . wouldn't it be nice to have something really different?

Well, look no further! Here's a truly remarkable bread that will meet your stiffest requirements. It's Lili's Nut-Chocolate Bread, and perhaps the most unusual part about it is the chocolate. Mixed into the dough (a prepared mix, by the way) are chopped walnuts and, believe it or not, pieces of semi-sweet chocolate.

This means, of course, that you have a dessert bread that departs from the usual fruited variety and offers a totally new and delicious combination of flavors. When it's spread with cream cheese or whipped butter, a thick slice will literally melt in your mouth.

You can serve this handsome bread at a mid-morning coffee, at an afternoon meeting or even after dinner. But, whenever you serve it, be sure to make plenty of freshly brewed coffee to go with it. You'll have to go a long way to find a happier combination.

Lili's Nut-Chocolate Bread

3 cups prepared biscuit mix
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1¼ cups orange juice
¾ cup chopped walnuts
1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Measure biscuit mix into mixing bowl and stir in sugar. Combine egg and orange juice and add to flour mixture. Beat hard 30 seconds. Stir in nuts and ¾ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Turn into well-greased loaf pan 9x5x3 inches or 11x4½x2½ inches. Sprinkle remaining chocolate pieces on top of batter.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 55 to 60 minutes. Cool thoroughly before slicing. Serve with parsley-garnished cream cheese or whipped butter or margarine.

Diet Food Can Be Gourmet-ish

Dr. Emil G. Conason, authority on protein chemistry, and Ella Metz Person, dietitian, have written their "Eat Well and Live Longer — the Heart Saver Cook Book" (Crown Publishers, New York, $2.95) because of their tremendous interest in the relationship of diet to vascular disease. Authors of the valuable "Salt-Free Diet Cook Book," they have seen the need for a menu and recipe guide to those who wish to avoid premature aging and heart ailments, as well as those actually undergoing medical treatment.

Their research, which included a study of diets in Japan and Italy, where coronary disease is far less frequent than in the United States, led them to the "theory that a diet low in animal and dairy fats—one in which fats and oils derived from marine and vegetable sources are substituted — might decrease the rate of coronary disease. On this they have based their recipes, giving for each one the content of essential oils (such as corn, olive, soya, fish, peanut), nonessential oils (animal and dairy fats), protein and calories.

Since shrimp and eggplant, both plentiful this time of year, contain no nonessential oils, the Shrimp Association of the Americas is glad to bring to your attention this recipe for a delightful dish using both foods.

Shrimp and Eggplant

1 large onion, sliced
2 tablespoons essential oils (corn, olive, peanut, soya)
1 large eggplant
1 cup cooked shrimp
1 cup uncooked rice
Salt and pepper to taste

Saute the onion in hot oil. Pare the eggplant and cut it into cubes. Combine all ingredients in top of double boiler and steam for 35 minutes, or until the rice is tender. Serves 4. (This recipe contains, per serving, 11.8 grams essential oils, 16 grams protein, 421 calories.)

Sip Sparkling Apple Drink Through Candy

Ever notice how heat is forgotten when someone hands us a long, cool drink. We crisp up. Start to sparkle again. All because of the delight generated by a drink such as this frosty Lemon Apple Julep.

It has the bright tang of apple juice to refresh, the zizz of sparkling water to stimulate and the icy edge of lemon sherbet to gladden. It looks chill and inviting — and is. And one gay idea is to sip it through a lemon candy stick.

Lemon Apple Julep

4 cups chilled apple juice
2 cups chilled sparkling water
1 quart lemon sherbet
6-8 lemon slices
6-8 maraschino cherries
6-8 lemon candy sticks

Combine apple juice and sparkling water. Fill tall glasses two-thirds full. Place scoop of lemon sherbet on top. Garnish each with lemon slice and maraschino cherry. Stir and sip through lemon candy stick. Makes 6-8 servings.

Candy stick is optional and regular straw may be used.

Roll Bulk Pork Patties in Crushed Cornflakes

Learn to use bulk pork sausage in a variety of different ways. As a start, plan to prepare breaded sausage patties.

★ ★ ★

Shape about 1 pound bulk pork sausage into 6 patties. Roll patties in a mixture of 1 beaten egg and 2 tablespoons of milk, then in crushed cornflakes. Brown in lard or drippings.

Sardines Stuff Big Tomatoes

You can add zest and variety to your menus with this tasty and novel recipe for "Sardine Surprise," which blends garden fresh vegetables, apples and Norway sardines. You'll find it ideal as a cold luncheon dish.

★ ★ ★

Sardine Surprise

2 cans (3¾ oz. each) Norway sardines
6 medium sized tomatoes
3 celery stalks, diced
2 medium size apples, cored, diced
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
6 tablespoons mayonnaise (garnish)
Salt Pepper to taste

Wash and trim the celery stalks and dice. Wash the apples (do not peel), core and dice. Drain the olive oil from the sardines, (reserving 6 sardines) cut in half and combine with diced celery, diced apples and mayonnaise.

Slice off and reserve the top of each tomato. Scoop out the pulp, dice and add to sardine mixture. Season to taste and toss lightly.

Stuff each tomato shell with the sardine mixture. Replace the tomato tops and dab each with a teaspoon of mayonnaise. Arrange a whole sardine on each. Chill and serve ringed with sliced cucumbers, on lettuce leaves or a bed of shredded cabbage. Yield: Six generous servings.

Keep Second Loaf Cool

Bake a couple of quick breads—such as date loaf—and use one soon after baking. Wrap the other loaf tightly in foil and store in the refrigerator. Sliced thin, toasted and buttered, the bread will be delicious.

Try Baking Blueberries in Simple Hot Pudding

"You can't improve on nature," an old friend of ours says every year about this time when the blueberries start coming into market. Dipping his huge man's hand into a bowl of the big beautiful cultivated blueberries, he will exclaim that nothing is better than the blues "all by themselves."

He's a lawyer and should be able to do better than that with words. Any farmer could tell him that nature has been improved on — the cultivated blueberries are the result of thousands of crossbreeding experiments to produce the most delectable berry possible.

What he means, of course, is that the cultivated blueberries are so delicious unto themselves that they need no adornment. He's of the school that likes blueberries served simply with sweet or sour cream, or over cereal, or with ice cream, or in fruit salads.

But no man we know, including this one, would turn his back on a dish such as this Blueberry Pudding.

★ ★ ★

Blueberry Pudding

1 quart cultivated blueberries
¼ cup flour
2 cups bread crumbs
2 cups hot milk
¾ cup sugar

Wash berries and drain thoroughly. Sprinkle flour over berries, let stand ½ hour. Pour milk over crumbs, add sugar and blueberries. Put into greased baking dish, dot with butter, bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Serve hot with hard sauce.

Hard Sauce

¼ cup butter
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoon aromatic bitters

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, and flavoring, adding more sugar if necessary.

Mold Sweet Cherries in Jellied Dessert

After a couple of weeks of eating sweet fresh cherries without trimmings, you might like to try Cherry-Lime Frost—a cherry-ice cream variation which can be served as a salad or dessert. Dissolve a package of lime gelatin in one cup of boiling water.

Add a pint of vanilla ice cream immediately. Then stir in ¾ cup of drained crushed pineapple, ¼ cup nutmeats, and a half cup of pitted sweet cherries. Add ¼ teaspoon salt, pour into a jello mold and chill until ready to serve.

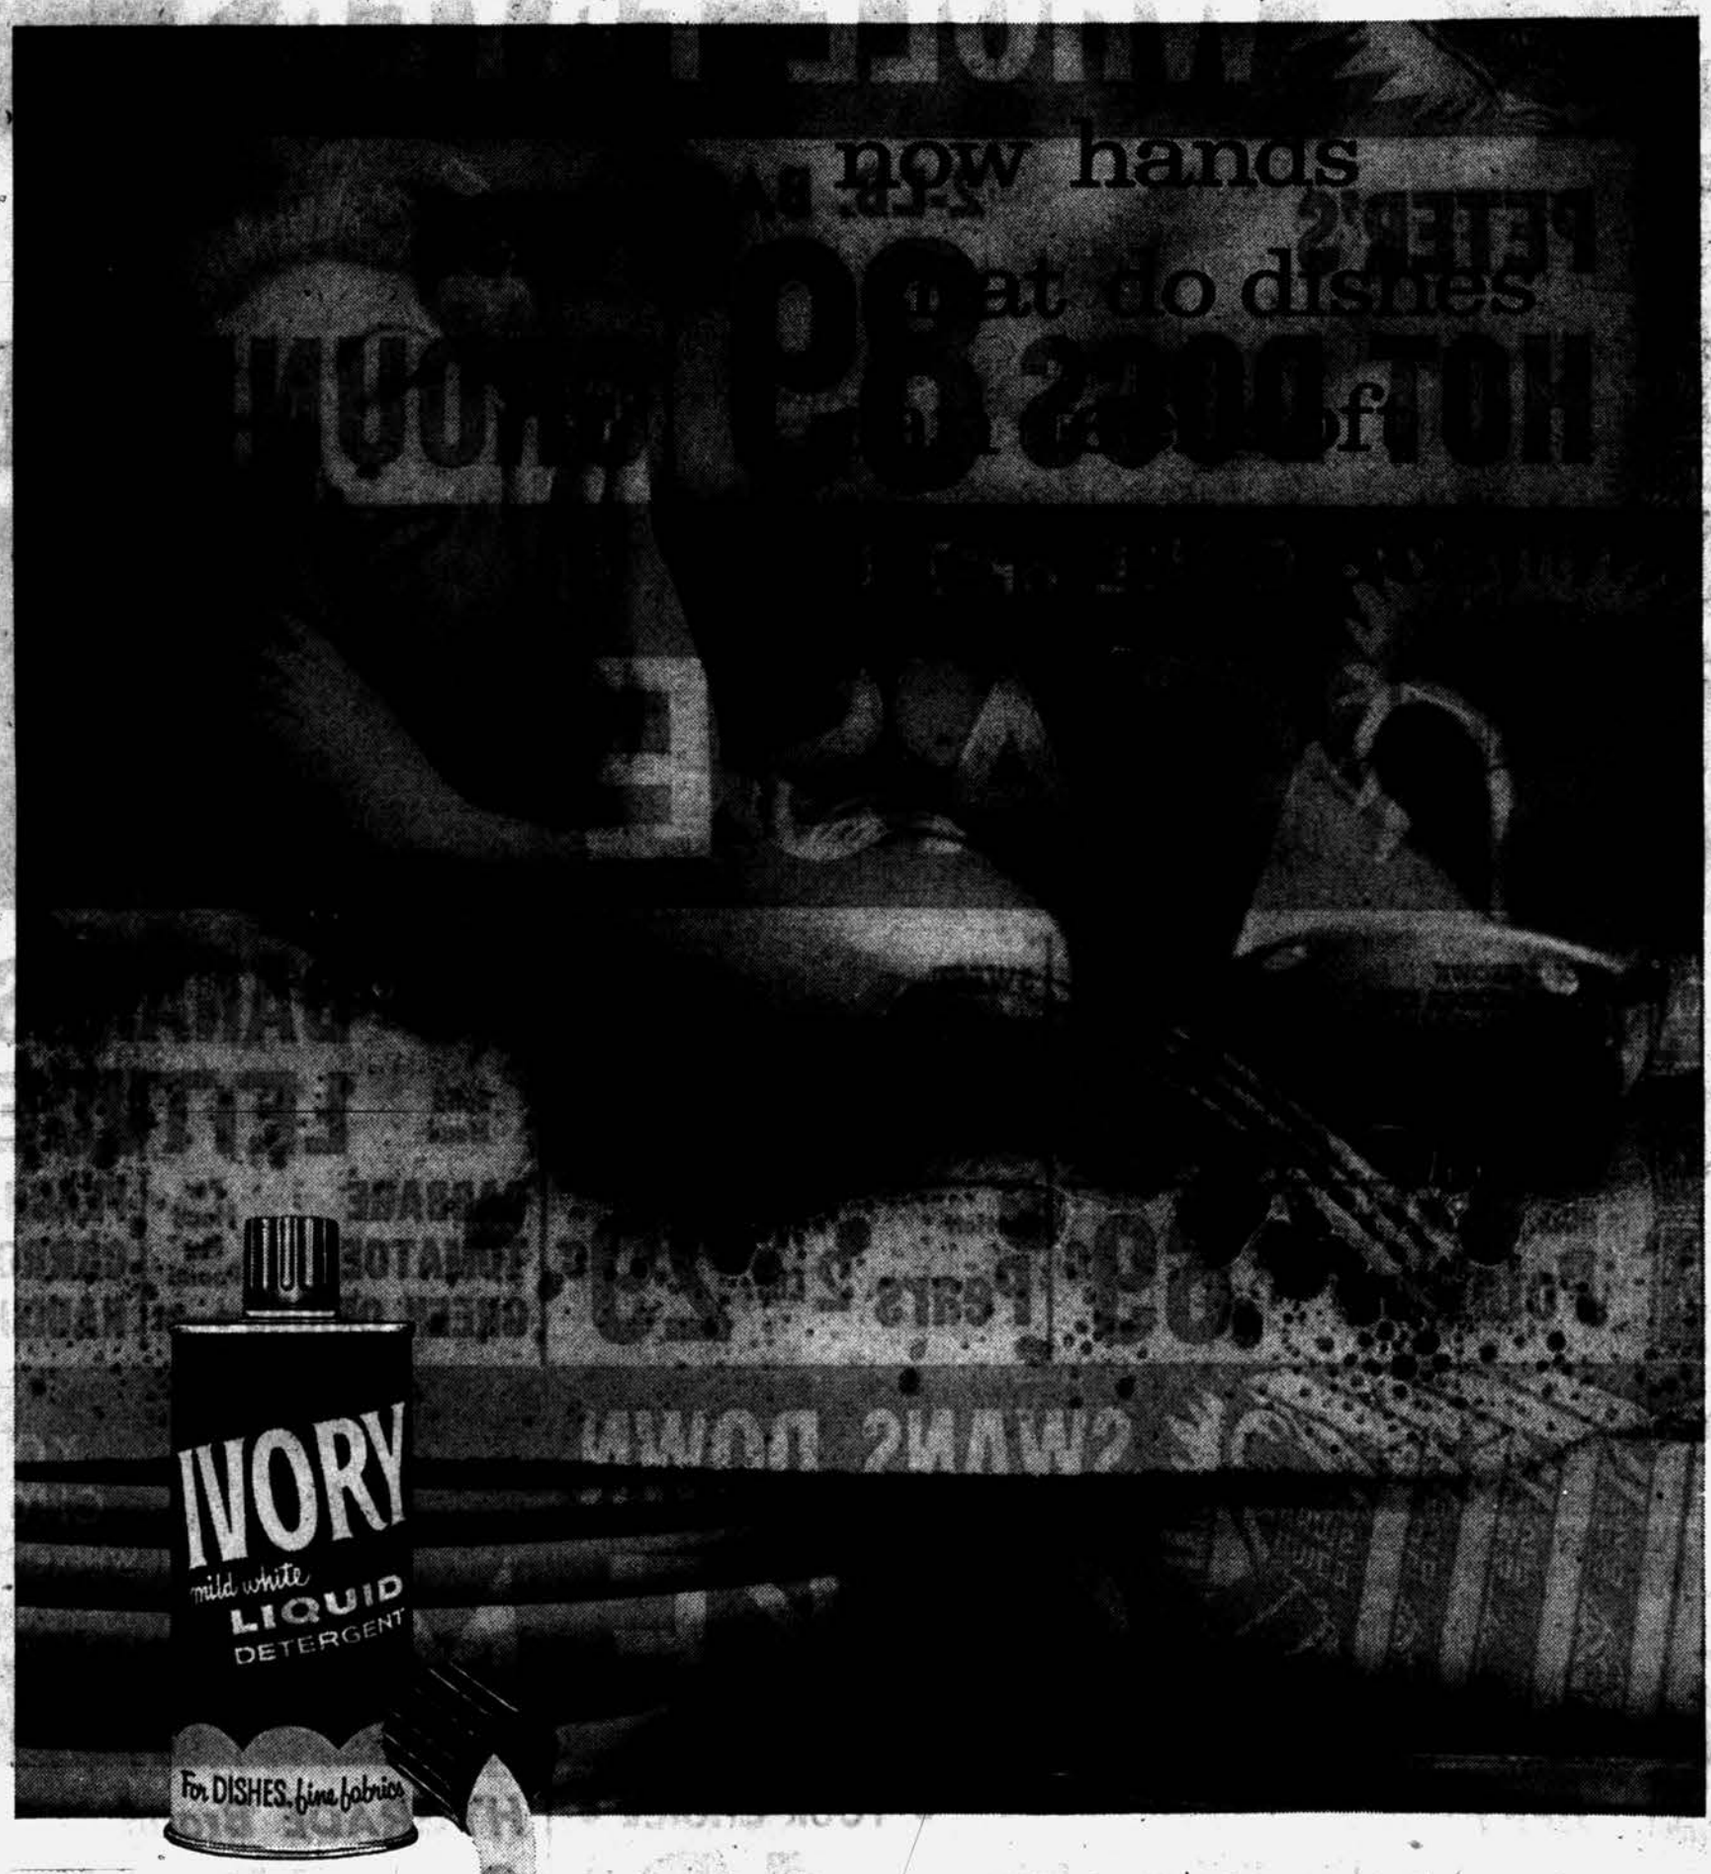

Garlic Croutons Good in Salad

Croutons made by sauteing small squares of bread in garlic-flavored Spanish olive oil makes a wonderful addition to tossed salad. Use about ¼ cup olive oil for 2 cups of bread crumbs.

To the hot oil in a heavy skillet, add 1 or 2 whole peeled garlic cloves, cook until garlic is browned, then remove garlic. Add 3 slices of bread which have been plucked into small pieces with the fingers, saute until golden brown, then remove and place on absorbent paper to drain. Sprinkle croutons with salt and paprika.

Pour the croutons and any remaining oil from the skillet over salad greens, tossing to blend thoroughly. Sprinkle with about a teaspoon of herb vinegar and season salad to taste with salt and pepper.

How wonderful!..

Peach Season Calls for New Recipes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Peaches are ripe. Isn't it wonderful? As we have told you before, this year will see a bumper crop, the biggest since 1947. Michigan stands high in the list of states that grow peaches. Many of our readers have trees right on their own property, for Oakland county is a fruit-growing county.

Right now the Redhaven peaches are in the market. The Halehavens will appear about September first. In the middle of September you'll find Elbertas, a peach that has long been a favorite.

The Haven peaches are excellent for all uses. You will probably buy them slightly under-ripe in the store. Let them stand out in the room (not in the sunshine) until they are the softness you like. Then refrigerate them.

One bushel of peaches (48 pounds) will give 16 to 25 quarts, canned or frozen. The final amount depends upon size and condition of the fruit. One pound of fresh peaches will give about 4 one-half cup servings.

Peach shortcake is almost as good as strawberry shortcake. Use ripe peaches diced and sugared far enough ahead of time to allow some juice to accumulate.

Here is a new wheat germ version of a biscuit shortcake:

Wheat Germ Shortcake

2 cups biscuit mix
1 cup wheat germ
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ cup heavy cream*

Mix all ingredients with a fork. Beat dough fifteen strokes. On a lightly floured board, knead gently eight to ten times. Pat dough out to three-fourth-inch thickness. Cut into rounds with a three-inch cutter. Bake in a preheated hot oven (450 degrees F.). Makes six shortcakes.

(Note: ½ cup milk plus ¼ cup melted butter may be substituted for the heavy cream).

Warm peach-filled cake is delicious for dessert or for a special brunch treat. We're great brunch eaters at our house in the summer. Lazy late-morning meals on the patio or in the yard are just the thing for August days.

Peach Cake

2 tablespoons shortening
3 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
4 tablespoons milk
1 cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder

Make a cake dough with ingredients in order given. Put two-thirds of this dough in a greased 8x8 pan. Cover with peach filling. Top with rest of dough. Bake 30-35 minutes (or until done) in 350-degree oven. Frost with confectioners sugar icing while warm.

Peach Filling

3 peaches cut fine
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Cook together until thick. Use to fill cake.

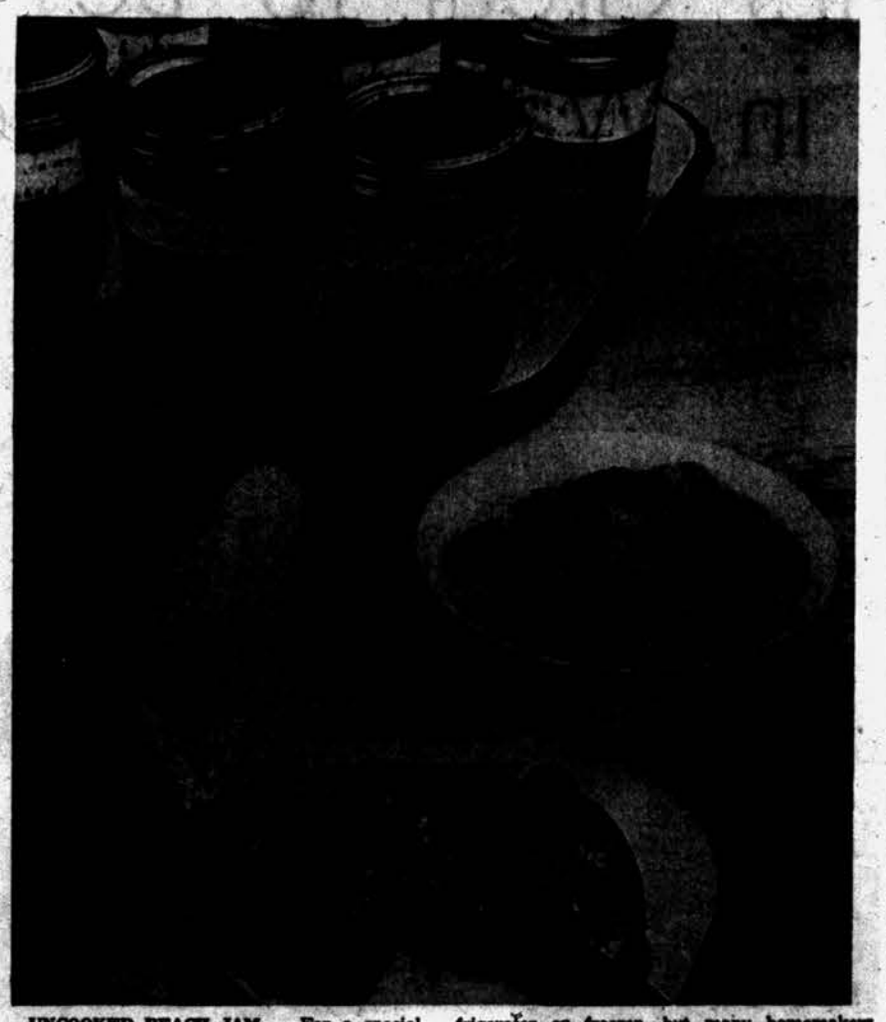

On a meat platter it is nice to have a fruit garnish. Use fresh peaches and try this recipe:

★ ★ ★

Glazed Peaches

4 peaches
Juice of 1 lemon
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar

Peel and halve peaches. Arrange cut-sides up in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with lemon juice and top with butter and sugar creamed together. Bake in 350-degree oven for about 30 minutes.

UNCOOKED PEACH JAM — For a special treat spread bread thickly with uncooked peach jam. This new kind of jam must be kept in refrigerator or freezer, but many homemakers think the orchard-fresh flavor justifies at least a few jars.

CHOW CHOW—Learn the Pennsylvania Dutch way of preserving crisp garden vegetables in Chow Chow to enjoy as one of the "sours" in their famous "seven sweets and sours."

Mixture of Vegetables Preserved as Chow Chow

From the land of "seven sweets and seven sours" comes this wonderful Chow Chow recipe. The Pennsylvania Dutch people eat heartily but make the most of their rich bounty of the soil. During the summer when they harvest lima beans, carrots, string beans, peppers and corn, they make Chow Chow, a combination of vegetables, vinegar and seasonings, so they can enjoy the crisp vegetables all year. Chow Chow is one of their seven "sours."

★ ★ ★

Chow Chow is good with cold or hot meats as a relish, or it can be served as a side dish vegetable or salad. Good eating knows no state lines, of course, and Tabasco, made in southern Louisiana and popular all over the world, is as good in a Pennsylvania Dutch recipe as in a Creole sauce.

★ ★ ★

When the little red Tabasco peppers are harvested, the best ones are chosen to be macerated and aged with vinegar in wooden casks for several years, to become the pure liquid red pepper seasoning known simply as Tabasco. Consisting partially of vinegar itself, it is the perfect seasoning for Chow Chow.

★ ★ ★

Chow Chow

2 pounds (8 cups) green beans
4 pounds (8 cups shelled) lima beans
1 bunch carrots, pared and sliced
1 large head cauliflower
4 ears corn
2 pounds green tomatoes
6 green peppers
2 pounds small white onions
3 cups sugar
¼ cup sauce
2 tablespoons celery seed
3 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon turmeric powder
3 quarts vinegar
2 tablespoons Tabasco

★ ★ ★

Put whole green beans, shelled limas and carrot slices in a deep kettle. Break up cauliflower and cut corn from cob; add to vegetables. Add water to cover; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and cook 25 minutes; drain.

★ ★ ★

While vegetables are cooking, coarsely chop tomatoes and green pepper. Peel onions; reserve. Mix together sugar, salt, celery seed, mustard seed, dry mustard and tumeric in deep kettle. Add vinegar. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Stir in Tabasco.

Add drained cooked vegetbles, chopped vegetables and onions. Cook 25 minutes. Spoon into sterilized jars; seal. Yield: 7 quarts.

Coleslaw Dressing Is Creamy Smooth

Crisp, tangy coleslaw is one of the prime favorites for an easy, delectable summer salad. The coleslaw dressing we have for you here is so simple to make that it's difficult to believe it can be so good—just the right zip to accent shredded cabbage.

New instant cream is the economical, nutritious base for the salad dressing. Once you try it, we know you'll always keep some on hand in your refrigerator.

Coleslaw Dressing

½ cup instant cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon grated onion (optional)
½ teaspoon celery seeds
½ teaspoon salt
Dash Pepper
⅓ cup water
3 tablespoons vinegar

Mix dry ingredients. Add water and vinegar; beat with rotary or electric beater. Refrigerate. Beat again before using. Makes ¾ cup.

Old Time Dishes Still Tempting

Thinking back on the "good old days" some of the most happily remembered meals were the simple, one-dish kind with a wonderful blend of flavors. Two or three servings of the delicious main dish was the rule, with little else besides but fresh crusty bread and a salad of tossed greens.

★ ★ ★

Here are two such recipes you rarely encounter in a restaurant but are so easy to make at home for the family or when guests are expected.

Grandma's Loaf

2 cups boiled, seasoned beans, mashed
1 cup thickly stewed tomatoes
Salt and pepper to taste
1 small green pepper chopped
1 small onion chopped
2 eggs, beaten

Combine beans, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Add pepper and pepper. Add pepper and onion and stir in beaten eggs. Form into a loaf and bake at 350 degrees about 35 minutes. Serve sliced, either hot or cold topped with tomato or cheese sauce.

★ ★ ★

Chicken in the Bean Pot

3 cups navy beans
1 medium onion, minced
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 mashed clove garlic (optional)
3 tablespoons brown sugar
½ pound lean salt pork, cubed
2½ pounds chicken (approx. weight) cut into serving size pieces
Salt and pepper to taste

Boil navy beans in water to cover until skins split. Drain, reserving liquid. Mix beans thoroughly with all ingredients except chicken and place in large bean pot or lidded casserole. Bury pieces of chicken in the beans and add enough bean liquid to cover. Season to taste. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 3 hours, adding more liquid if necessary.

Even Family Cat Has Special Recipes Now

In culinary circles today, the accent on more varied diets for man has been switched to more exciting diets for man's best friend: the household pet. Even as this is being read, thousands of domesticated felines are feasting on meals as appetizing and appealing as those served humans.

Gone are the days of feeding kitty a bowl of milk or some raw fish for an entree. Now, thanks to the thoughtfulness and ingenuity of pet owners, American cats are eating better than ever.

A recipe contest sponsored by Usen Canning Company of Boston, Mass., which packs cat food, revealed that hundreds of new tantalizing meal-time dishes are being devised to keep favorite felines' appetites sharp.

Because the initial announcement of the contest evoked such overwhelming response from cat lovers in all parts of the United States, competition was divided into three major categories: most original, most unusual and most 'cattractive.'

A unique feline meal judged most original by the staff of "The Tabby Tribune," the Usen cat owners' publication, contains two ingredients that really make for enthusiastic eating, morning, noon and night:

½ cup canned cat food
½ cup cottage cheese

Mix well and serve.

The most unusual dish was submitted by a western reader, who describes her cat's reaction to the meal as "Purrrrfect."

1 teaspoon tomato sauce
1 portion canned cat food

Add tomato sauce to cat food and serve immediately.

And for a cattractive and delightful piece de resistance comes this suggestion:

1 tablespoon olive oil
2 hard-boiled egg yolks
3 tablespoons canned cat food

Mix ingredients well and garnish with finely grated carrot for a snack sure to please the most discerning pet.

Honey Sweetens Drink

Try Lemon Honeyade with cookies for the children's afternoon parties: Dissolve the juice of one lemon with 1 to 3 tablespoons honey. Stir and add one cup water. Serve over ice in large glasses; garnish with lemon slice or mint sprig.

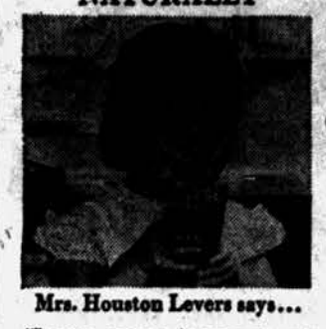

Filled French Toast Is Breakfast Dish

French-toasted sandwiches for breakfast or brunch give busy summer days a vigorous start. To make Frenched Ham Sandwiches, spread 8 slices enriched bread with butter or margarine. Place 4 slices baked or boiled ham on 4 slices of bread. Spread ½ cup drained, crushed pineapple over ham. Cover with remaining 4 slices of bread.

★ ★ ★

Combine 3 beaten eggs, 3 tablespoons milk and 1 teaspoon salt in shallow dish. Dip sandwiches into egg mixture. Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine in skillet and heat gently until bubbly. Fry sandwiches on both sides until lightly browned. Serve hot. Makes 4 Frenched Ham Sandwiches.

Ivy Look In Solid for Fall

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe College today looks more like a businessman than a collegian.

The faded blue jeans, open-collared shirts and sweaters of a few years back have been replaced by conservative suits. What's more, the tie appears here to stay.

That's the report from the Wallachs' college wardrobe service. The men's store polled 1,300 universitie deans and student councils to find out what the well dressed man-on-campus will wear this year. The answer: Solid ivy in most parts of the country.

"The suit seems to be growing more and more popular on campus. Flannel, cheviot, worsted and striped covert are the preferred fabrics in the East, Midwest, and South," said the wardrobe service advisor.

BAGGY PANTS OUT

In California, the formal look of the ivy fashion is pepped up by more colorful patterns and casual styling, "but no more baggy pants and loud sports shirts." The Southwest still holds out for khaki sports slacks, bright sports shirts, and light informal jackets.

★ ★ ★

"College men want to appear simple and comfortable—no frills. But they don't want to be too sloppy, too well-dressed or work too hard to look right," said the store's spokesman.

★ ★ ★

The survey found that khaki pants and white bucks are favored universally for leisure wear. About 60 per cent of the jackets are striped. Schools also advised bringing a topcoat (generally tweed), raincoat, button-down shirts and flannel slacks.

★ ★ ★

Wallachs began advising college men on an informal basis about four years ago. The service grew so popular that the store sends out a 16-page booklet to students on request. It also sends letters with more detailed information as to region and individual campuses.

4,000 WROTE IN '57

Last year, more than 4,000 freshmen asked about styles from Maine to California.

"We even got a few inquiries about what to wear on Waikiki Beach from prospective University of Hawaii students," said the spokesman.

★ ★ ★

"We don't advise students about cost of a wardrobe or where to shop. We just tell regional trends and fads, and warn them not to be extravagant. Often it's better to wait until you reach the campus before going overboard for a fad—like western hats and accessories in the Southwest."

★ ★ ★

"Students are serious about what they wear. They realize it pays to dress right, and only adds to insecurity if they don't," he added.

★ ★ ★

Do mothers ever write?

"Only to thank us, not about shopping. We don't sell boys' wear. By the time they go to college, men aren't — or shouldn't be — tied to their mothers' apron strings," he said.

And, of course, no summer time would be complete without a canoe to enjoy on the lake. Carol Kaines hands a paddle to Stanley Jones who has promised to take her for a trip around Williams Lake.

Saarinens Plan Outdoor Fete

News in Bloomfield Hills

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Mr. and Mrs. Eero Saarinen will entertain at an outdoor party Wednesday for bride-elect Valerie Pingree Wright and Donald H. Louchheim of New York who is the son of Mrs. Saarinen and the Hon. Joseph H. Louchheim of New York.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Washburne Wright of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. John Shallcross of Glyndon, Md.

The wedding will take place Sept. 6 in St. Dunstan Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook.

Mr. Louchheim's father will give the rehearsal dinner next Friday evening at the Saarinen home.

Announcement was made at a miscellaneous bridal given at the Ogemaw road home of Miss Cosma. Miss Selvala was cohostess.

Tell Sis to Get Her Own—Abby

What! Give Away Your Boy Friend?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and go with a boy who is really nice. He is 18 and my whole family likes him. They like him so much that my mother wants me to give him to my sister. She is 17 and would like to have a boy friend but she hasn't got one. They say it would be easier for me to get another one and I guess it would because I have a good figure and naturally blonde hair. Should I give him to my sister or not?"

BLONDE

ABBY

DEAR BLONDE: And what manner of "man" is he who can be passed around like a bowl of peanuts? Let your sister get her own. She is only 17 and has lots of time.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I married a man who has no respect for womankind. He used to beat up his mother and now he is beating me up. I'm sorry to say that I had three children before I realized this man was not fit to live with. He acts like a madman over the slightest thing, like my telling him a green tie didn't go with a blue suit.

"I've been put in the hospital more than once from him and right now I am all taped up with two broken ribs. Our clergyman says to give him another chance. I've given him a hundred chances in the past six years. What do you say?"

BEAT UP

DEAR BEAT: Your clergyman means well, but he doesn't have to live with the brute. Your husband should see a doctor about his uncontrollable temper, and until he does, live apart and let him send you the support money.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 34 and am beginning to wonder if maybe something isn't wrong with me. I have been going with an electronics engineer for six years and he keeps begging me to marry him. I enjoy his company but I can't get excited over him.

"My mother is tearing her hair out because she says I will never find a man who will take better care of me. I tell my mother I can't get excited about him, and she says the excitement she married my father for died out in two years. I don't want to be an old maid, but can't see myself marrying a man just to get married. Please tell me what to do."

NOT EXCITED

DEAR NOT: It's unfair to marry a man you can't get "excited" about. Date others — and if nobody excites you by the time you reach your 40th birthday — settle for companionship.

"DEAR ABBY: My sister and I are both married and to be honest we both play around a little, but never out in the open so people can talk about it. I have covered up for her and she has covered up for me. Our husbands (we have checked) play around a little, too. But nobody gets hurt.

"My sister has been acting very strange lately. She says she is "reformed" and is not interested in any man beside her husband, but I have reason to think she is interested in MY husband. I catch them in dark corners whispering, and he always tries to get the seat next to her and he dances with her too close and too often. What can I do? I am not imagining things."

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: If you don't respect your OWN marriage, you can hardly expect your sister to respect it. Stick to your own husband — and tell her to stick to hers.

MRS. NICHOLAS P. REDFIELD

Ellen Elizabeth Pearson and Nicholas Pridmore Redfield were married Wednesday afternoon in Ann Arbor. Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Pearson and Mrs. Max Fruhauf and the late Harold Redfield.

Nicholas Redfield Claims Ellen Pearson as Bride

Wearing her mother's princess-style gown of ivory lace, Ellen Elizabeth Pearson became the bride of Nicholas Pridmore Redfield Wednesday afternoon. She wore a coronet of heirloom lace which had been worn by four generations of her family.

The bride was given in marriage by her godfather, MacPherson Browning of Lansing. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy.

She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Pearson of San Diego. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Max Fruhauf of Bloomfield Hills and the late Harold Redfield.

FATHER OFFICIATED

The bride's father, rector of All Souls Episcopal Church, San Diego, officiated at the ceremony held at St. Andrew Episcopal Church, Ann Arbor.

★ ★ ★

Ruth Hall of West Palm Beach, Fla., the bride's cousin, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Jennifer, Mary and Elizabeth Pearson of San Diego.

Their dresses were of embroidered nylon over taffeta with matching taffeta headbands. The maid of honor was dressed in yellow and the bridesmaids in blue, pink and orchid. They carried colonial nosegays.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, William Redfield of Waukegan, Ill. Ushers were another brother, Michael B. Redfield of Birmingham, and the bridegroom's half-brothers, Anthony and Ennis Fruhauf of Bloomfield Hills. Also seating the guests were Donald K. Alexander of Ann Arbor, James C. Saylor of Birmingham and Dwight V. Galloway of St. Clair Shores.

RECEPTION IN ANN ARBOR

A garden reception was held at the Ann Arbor home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph R. Hayden. Four generations of her family have had their wedding receptions at the family home.

To Climb Over Her Is Worse

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I read in the paper some time ago, a letter from a man who complained about things girls did that irritated him, and one of them was the climbing over her when getting into a taxi. The girl got in first, naturally, and then instead of sitting farthest from the door, she sat next to the door, necessitating the man to climb over her.

"A friend of mine defended this action by saying, 'No girl ever sits on a man's left, but always on the right.' I contend that while that may apply on formal occasions, the natural and courteous thing to do when entering a taxi cab is to take the seat farthest from the door so that the man does not have to climb over the girl."

Answer: I agree with you that the rule requiring that a lady be seated on a gentleman's right can be broken quite properly in a taxi; especially when it is a question of the modern small taxis in which it would be almost impossible for him to climb over the girl.

Tot Has Buried Fears

Delve for Cause of Night Terrors

By DOROTHY WHIPPLE, M.D.

A terrified shriek pierced the 3 a.m. stillness. Another and another, each louder and more frantic than its predecessor. Mother was beside her 3-year-old as fast as it was possible to get there. Jerry was sitting up in his bed with a look of wild terror on his face. Mother picked him up, but he continued to scream; he was still asleep and unaware of his mother's presence.

She took him to the bathroom, washed his agonized little face with cool water; finally he woke up, clutched his mother and quieted down.

CLUTCHED MOTHER

To mother's bewildered question "Jerry, Jerry what's the matter?" Jerry answered not a word but tightened his hold around his mother's neck. Eventually his taut little body relaxed and he went back to sleep.

Mother laid him in his bed and he slept until morning. Next day he remembered nothing of the night's doings.

★ ★ ★

The next night he repeated the performance, and the next and the next.

Jerry's parents were mystified. What was frightening their little boy? They wracked their brains—was it the neighbor's dog who had been playing pretty roughly with the child? Didn't seem likely. Jerry seemed to enjoy the dog.

HIDDEN FEAR

Night terrors like Jerry's are a sign that there is some deep fear in the child, so deep that the child himself seldom knows what it is. He feels it but he doesn't understand it.

The almost universal cause of agonizing fear in a little child is fear of loss of parental love and protection. To be cast out into the world without the safety of the firm shield of protection from his parents throws a child into a pit of anxiety.

The fear is deep in the child's unconscious. It may or may not show in his waking life, but may burst all barriers of restraint when he is asleep and show itself in its primitive agonizing intensity as a night terror.

★ ★ ★

Even much-loved children, as Jerry most certainly was, can misinterpret the actions of their parents and develop such fears.

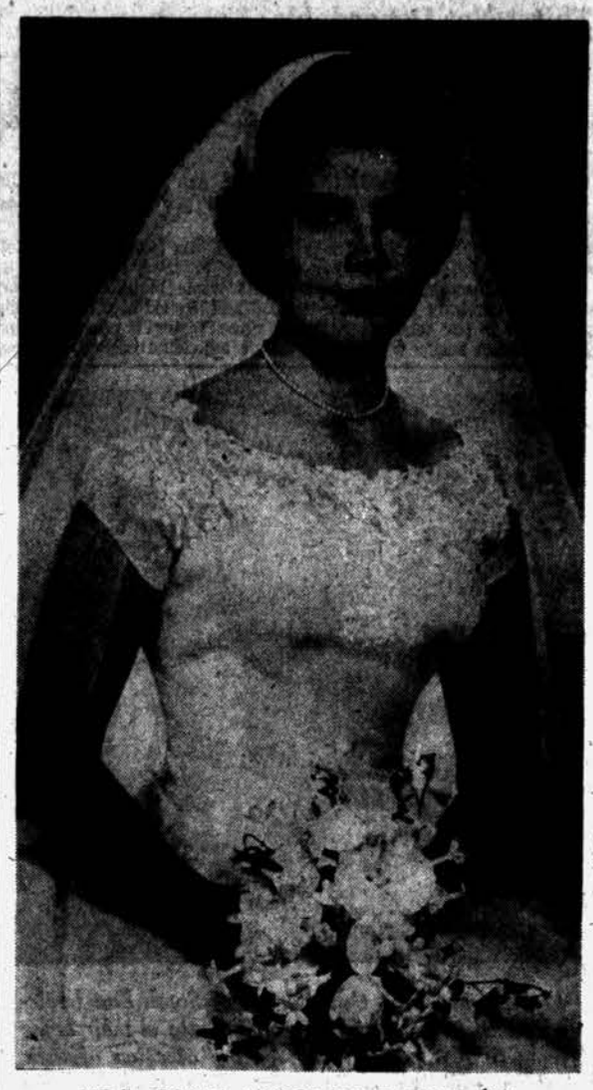

BABY WAS CAUSE

In Jerry's case it was the advent of a new baby sister which caused him his fears. All of a sudden he'd lost his place in the world. Neither mother nor daddy paid any attention to him. Mother was busy when he needed her, and brushed him off. Daddy didn't play with him when he came home, he just went over and held the baby.

Suddenly Jerry's world had fallen apart and he was afraid he'd been pushed out.

★ ★ ★

Of course he really hadn't been, and as soon as his parents came to understand the nature of the little fellow's trouble they set out on a campaign to make him feel loved and as safe as he'd ever been. There wasn't any question that they did love Jerry, and when that love was once again felt through 3-year-old eyes and heart Jerry's night terrors ceased.

MRS. JOHN WILLIAM STROH JR.

Carla Higbie Weds

Carla Higbie and John William Stroh Jr., were married Wednesday afternoon in the gardens of the bride's Oxford home. The Rev. Archie H. Crowley officiated at the ceremony before members of the family.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Carlton M. Higbie of Oxford formerly of Bloomfield Hills and the late Mr. Higbie, and Mr. and Mrs. John William Stroh of Grosse Pointe.

★ ★ ★

The bride selected a full-length gown of ivory silk organza accented with Swiss applique. Her silk illusion veil fell from a band trimmed with Swiss applique, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white butterfly orchids.

ATTEND BRIDE

Mrs. Fred Pessel Jr., the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Daniel D. Jackson; Susan Higbie, another sister of the bride, and Corda Kinzie of Richland.

All the attendants wore princess style dresses of pale blue taffeta with boat necklines and flared skirts. They carried bouquets of blue and white delphinium.

★ ★ ★

Eric W. Stroh of Grosse Pointe, the bridegroom's cousin, was best man. Ushers were Daniel Jackson, Nicholas Stroh, Gari Stroh, Peter Stroh and Angus Goerz Jr.

When the couple left for a honeymoon to Bermuda, the new Mrs. Stroh was wearing a dress of transitional tweed with black accessories. They will live in Chicago.

Thirst Not Dependable

Are You Drinking Enough Water?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Few people drink enough water and yet this is such an important factor in our health. Our body needs water for many purposes.

Our blood plasma is 90 per cent water and our body as a whole is from 65 to 75 per cent water. We can live much longer without food than we can without water. In fact a 20 per cent loss causes death.

One of the vital functions of water is to allow the kidneys to extract waste materials from the blood and get rid of them through the urine. Water is also important to our individual cooling systems, through perspiration. When the sweat glands are not functioning properly and a person does not perspire enough, it can be dangerous in a hot climate.

The fact which I want to highlight for you today is — you probably are not drinking enough water for best health. This is more apt to happen in winter than in summer, but remember that you need more water in hot weather because of the perspiration loss.

Experiments made by the United States Army seem to indicate that we cannot depend on thirst to tell us when we need water, except when we need it badly. Thirst may be satisfied when the body is still slightly dehydrated. If we drink water only when we are thirsty, we may be continuously dehydrated. Of course this is more of a threat in cold weather.

When you hear someone say, "I almost never drink water" you can be sure that that individual gets water anyway through his foods. Steak is 60 per cent water and vegetables 75 per cent or more. Then of course there are milk and tea and coffee. The body itself manufactures about two cups of water a day through a process of oxidation. However, it seems indicated that most of us drink too little water unless we remember to remember.

In hot weather, especially if we are physically active, we may need a bit more salt than usual unless this is prohibited because of some physical condition.

The old health rule says to drink five or six glasses of water daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Güst Bornak of South East boulevard will be honored at an open house at their home from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. The Bornaks, who have been city residents for the past 42 years, have five children: Mrs. Ella Roise of Cadillac avenue, Albert Bornak of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Jack Tee of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Joe Kasick and Arthur Bornak of Berkley. There are also two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Joann Jenks Wed to Leon Milburn at New Mexico

Joann Barbara Jenks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Jenks of Las Cruces, N. M., former Pontiac residents, became the bride of Leon Hyatt Milburn, son of Mrs. Arthur H. Milburn of Sunnyvale, Calif., Aug. 22. The ceremony was held in First Presbyterian Church of Las Cruces.

Mrs. Harold Lambeth was matron of honor. Maid of honor was Julan E. Milburn, and Julonne Ray Milburn was bridesmaid.

Best man was Barrie Gray. Ushers were Gary Richard Jenks and Jan Arthur Milburn.

The couple is now at home in Las Cruces following a wedding trip to Alpine, Ariz.

The bride is a sophomore at Las Cruces A&M College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Kansas City Junior College and is now a senior at New Mexico A&M College.

85 Pct. Teeners Advocate U.S.-Soviet Program

Would Cultural Exchange Work for Peace?

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

If teenagers have their way, diplomats of the future may have to take up the piano and join in native folk dances to promote world peace and harmony. Culture, they feel, is the key to international understanding, including that with Soviet Russia.

* * *

Answering our pollsters across the country, 85 per cent of the teenagers interviewed said they favored a cultural exchange between the United States and the U.S.S.R.

Of these, 80 per cent firmly believed that cultural exchange would improve political relations. The rest were not so optimistic, but felt that any kind of friendly exchange was better than a continuing cold war.

"What conferences haven't done, culture and friendship may be able to do," suggested 19-year-old Robert Graf of Philadelphia.

* * *

But when it came to going to Russia, many teenagers thought in terms of pianist Van Cliburn and the University of Washington rowing crew rather than themselves.

* * *

In answer to the question "would you like to go to Russia as a member of some cultural or athletic group?" only a little more than half of the teenagers interviewed said yes. Girls (47 per cent) were less anxious to see Moscow than the boys (56 per cent).

FAVOR STUDENT EXCHANGE

Similarly, 77 per cent of the teeners favored a student exchange between Russia and the United States, but only 64 per cent would like to have a Russian student living in their homes.

Girls, at 79 per cent, were more in favor of a student exchange than the boys (75 per cent), but when it came to housing a Russian student, the distaff vote dropped to 62 per cent.

Teenagers favoring a cultural, athletic and student exchange with Russia argued that at least it might dispel some of the mistrust between the two nations.

* * *

"Any friendship which we can develop is well worth while," said 15-year-old Matthew Salisbury of Valley Stream, N. Y.

IGNORANCE IS MISTRUST

"Ignorance breeds mistrust," insisted Eileen Healy, 18, of Chickasaw, Ala. "By exchanging cultural ideas the two countries are each putting forth the best part of the life in their countries."

"I'd like to see for myself how the average Russian lives and thinks," said Linda Miller of Huntington Woods, Mich.

The 15 per cent who opposed increased cultural exchanges with Russia felt we were consorting with an enemy who cannot be trusted.

"Their exchanges invariably are filled with bad propaganda," said Jane Carson, 17, of Norwood, Ohio.

Argued Walter Howley of Coral Gables, Fla.: "I don't think our visiting delegations ever learn anything in Russia, whereas Russians can go where they want here and are always profiting."

* * *

Dick Ayer of Merchantville, N. J., a 15-year-old student of the political scene, feared that Russia might slip a few military experts into the middle of a glee club or ballet troupe. "Then they could locate our airbases and plan an attack," he warned.

Some of those favoring a cultural exchange with Russia were wary too but felt in the long run that some good would be accomplished, particularly among the Russians who visit here.

"They get a chance to see how we really live and how valuable freedom is," said 15-year-old Mary Houser of Peekskill, N. Y.

Sharon Nugent, 16, of Portland, Ore., agreed. "Even in the U.S.S.R.," she said, "people can influence politics."

Bpt, even in the midst of world problems, teenagers will be teenagers.

Asked if she would like to take a Russian student into her home, 14-year-old Ellen Wasserman of Brooklyn, N. Y. responded with an enthusiastic yes.

Her reason: "He might be cute."

Webster PTA Sets Sept. 11 Meeting

Board members of the Webster School PTA met Tuesday evening at the James K boulevard home of Dr. Edith Roach Snyder.

The first PTA meeting of the season, "Get Acquainted Night," will be held Sept. 11. Plans were made for a fall festival to be held Oct. 10.

Wed 29 Years

REASONS WHY THE DAILY NEWSPAPER GIVES YOU MORE FOR YOUR ADVERTISING DOLLAR

1. Newspaper advertising reaches more people than any other medium. 88% of the nation's families get a newspaper every day. Over 100 million people, 82% of all people 12 years of age and over, read a newspaper on an average day. Every one of these people has the opportunity to see every ad in the daily newspaper. Only a small number of these people could be reached with any TV, radio or magazine ad.

2. People like advertising in newspapers better than in any other medium. People feel friendly toward advertising in newspapers. Surveys show that far fewer people want advertising in other media. An advertiser wants his customers to like him, so it stands to reason he will benefit if he runs his ads where they please instead of annoy people.

3. Newspapers deliver more "ready to buy" prospects than any other medium. Newspapers offer something for everybody—information, entertainment, editorials, advertising. And the reader is attracted to the ad that interests him. This means that readership ratings on ads represent live prospects for the advertiser. These people are easy to sell because they have a product interest. On the other hand broadcast ratings indicate people with an interest in the program, not necessarily a buying interest in the product.

4. Newspaper advertising gets more action than any other medium. As a news medium, the daily newspaper gives advertising an atmosphere of action and believability. People have confidence in and believe in newspapers. This prompts action on the part of the reader.

5. Newspaper advertising offers more local selling flexibility than any other medium. Advertisers can use newspapers market-by-market—to protect strong markets, to bolster weak markets, to vary advertising where potential varies, to meet competitive attacks, to get better timing with their sales and merchandising programs than is possible in any other medium.

6. Newspapers give more flexibility in selling copy than any other medium. An advertiser can tell his story in the size that suits his needs. He can use a two-page spread to tell a detailed copy story, or he can tell his story in the same or smaller space with just a few words. He can run a 100-line or a 1,000-line ad, depending on his budget and strategy. A newspaper offers advertisers more physical and creative flexibility than any other medium.

7. Newspaper advertising offers better retail merchandising than any other advertising. Four million U. S. retailers invest about 2½ billion dollars in the daily newspaper—more than they spend in all other media combined. No other medium has as close a relationship with retailers as the daily newspaper.

8. Newspaper advertising is a safer and surer investment than advertising in any other medium. In some media a good percentage of the results are affected by the variables of the medium, and by the medium's own competition. In newspapers, the advertising stands on its own feet, unaffected by such variables. Newspaper advertising is always ready and waiting to suit the time, place and pleasure of the consumer. The daily newspaper is always selling.

9. Newspaper advertising produces more sales per dollar of advertising cost than do other media. The cost of an advertising medium depends on a combination of two things: First, how much it costs to reach a person with a sales story. Second, what action that sales story causes the person to take—or, how much it costs to make a sale. The best figures available indicate that the newspaper delivers a message to a person for a typical advertiser at a cost at least as low as the cost of delivering the message through television or magazines. And the other eight points guarantee more sales action per message delivered.

He Can Tell You When You Are Going to Die

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Dr. Saul Frances—a smiling sort of man, with the face of a blushing kewpie—can tell when you're going to die.

He can sit on the subway and pick out the perishing faces.

He knows the expression of a man who feels good now but has a "cardiac face—the face of a chap who will keel over one day."

He can see diabetes in a woman's eyes.

"I can walk into a room, certainly, and tell people what's wrong with them," he said, after we had heard of this eerie ability from a friend who had had a rare ailment, but never suspected it until he met Dr. Frances socially.

"But unless I know the person behind the cardiac face—or some other disease—I don't say anything about it. Most people prefer not to know if something serious is wrong with them. They wouldn't thank me for making them worry the rest of their lives."

Dr. Frances explained that he is not a medical doctor, but a laboratory scientist, with a Ph.D. in the basic medical sciences from Columbia University.

As an expert in bio-chemistry, micro-biology, physiology, cancer pathology and neurology, he said it is easy to make diagnoses of ill faces. "Medical doctors often are not good diagnosticians. Their interest is all in therapy. I am not involved in therapy, but in diagnosis. I can see more than I sometimes would like to."

He can spot ailments, generally, by looking at the color of the lips, the configuration of the face, and the expression in the eyes. Some diseases, however, can be tell-tale on the victim's breath.

★ ★ ★

"The easiest to diagnose, in New York anyway, are the cardiac faces," he said. "You see them everywhere. In the streets, and the stores. It wouldn't do any good to tell them, probably. They might have a cardiogram the next day and it would indicate their heart was sound, and then the third day they might have an attack."

The people Dr. Frances does advise of their ailments are his friends and acquaintances. Asked if his diagnoses have turned out to be correct, he replied: "Too often. Much too often."

The doctor began his studies as a teenager. "I started probing for what I was interested in. I decided the only thing in this life you are really positive you have is your own body. I started reading anatomy books, and looking around me."

After studying for years in three universities, and teaching for years in Columbia Medical School, Dr. Frances became director for a Jersey City scientific laboratory. But he never stopped looking 'round at people. It is almost a hobby—a morbid hobby, since he genuinely likes almost everybody.

Dr. Frances has two solutions to the medical problems that he sees, daily, in dozens of faces:

1. Everyone who values his life should have a physical checkup every six months.

2. People should be taught, in school, the workings of their own bodies. "Most men know more about their car breaking down than about their bodies."

POKER FACES — Though the voyage of the Nautilus under the North Pole ice was an historic event, it didn't cause too much excitement for this card-playing quartet of the atomic sub. Just before reaching the polar ice cap, the crewmen tested emergency breathing apparatus in the crew's mess department. The masks give each player a perfect poker face.

Church Council Gives Warning on A-Test Ban

NYBORG, Denmark (AP)—The World Council of Churches has warned its followers not to be so naive as to think a suspension of nuclear tests by the big powers would spell the final answer to the disarmament problem.

★ ★ ★

The group's Central Committee issued a policy statement yesterday welcoming the idea of test suspension by the Soviet Union, the United States and Great Britain.

The statement added: "We must not deceive ourselves by resting content with suspension, for the subsequent steps in disarmament are at least as urgent and may well be more difficult."

★ ★ ★

The World Council of Churches represents 171 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches with a total estimated membership of 170 million.

This year, the nation's buyers of music records are expected to boost sales to an all-time high of about 300 million disks, of which more than 98 per cent will be "non-breakable."

WCTU Officer Attacks Ads of Liquor Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Woman's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) officer said today an advertisement claiming a man's choice of whisky determines his success in love is grounds for banning liquor ads from interstate commerce.

Mrs. H. F. Powell of Evanston, Ill., said such an advertisement was run recently by Schenley Distillers and that it "represents a new low in drink promotion morals and dishonesty."

She said the ad was headed: "What every fair lady wants to know about a man . . . that he considers her taste, too, in choosing a fine whisky."

Mrs. Powell, treasurer of WCTU, addressed its executive committee prior to the 84th annual convention of the organization.

★ ★ ★

She called "very dishonest" such slogans and labels as "Clear Heads Choose Calvert;" "Men of Distinction;" and "Brewers' Depiction of 'Home Life in America.'"

Mrs. Powell said when a brewer advertises "this stuff will make you drunk, mean, or silly . . . " that will be the day.

To achieve success one must make an attempt.

Wrong Slant on Learning

By MORTIMER J. ADLER

The specific things that are wrong with American education are at last being recognized.

They are now being reiterated every day in our newspapers — such as poorly educated and poorly paid teachers, overcrowded classrooms, a watered-down secondary school curriculum from which most of the solid subjects have been removed, . . . etc.

While these things and many more like them deserve our attention, none goes to the heart of the matter. They are all symptoms of the trouble.

★ ★ ★

The cause lies in ourselves — in us as parents and citizens who have failed in our rearing of the young because we have failed to understand the responsibilities as well as the uses of freedom and have, therefore, tried to make everything as easy and painless for our children as we, childishly, would like it to be for ourselves.

What is honored in a country, Plato said, is cultivated there. When we honor the difficult tasks of learning and leisure, we shall enjoy their fruits.

5 Chinese Arrested in Narcotics Raid

NEW YORK (AP)—City and federal narcotics agents teamed up last night to seize raw opium valued at 1½ million dollars on the illicit market. Five men were arrested, all Chinese.

★ ★ ★

The agents had a tip that 30 pounds of pure opium, in 22 cellophane wrapped packages, had been smuggled ashore last Sunday by three seamen from a freighter which docked at Baltimore.

The trio took a bus to New York on Tuesday. Agents tailed them here and then, using short-wave radio to keep tabs on them, followed them to a lower East Side apartment.

★ ★ ★

Raiding the flat, the officers nabbed the seamen and two other men. The opium, still in its packages, had been tossed under the bed.

The merchant seamen said they bought the opium in Calcutta for $5,000.

Taking pictures of trout in action calls for skill and imagination. One ingenious photographer explains his method. First he mounts his camera at water level and sets up an electric light beam in front of it. He then maneuvers the fly to attract the fish. As the trout leaps through the light beam, the electric eye automatically fires cafera and speedlights.

Must Pay Thousands in Back Alimony

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Because the old laws were inflexible regarding child support, J. D. Hooker faces payment of $11,000 in back alimony that he did not think he owed.

Hooker's ex-wife waived alimony rights in 1947 when she moved to California with a new husband. But this year she filed suit to recover 10 years of back payments, at $20 a week. Her suit was denied in Superior court but the State Supreme court held she was entitled to the money.

Under a Georgia law that stood on the books until 1954, alimony awarded for child support was a permanent obligation, even if the mother did not insist on it.

The first Catholic Mass in the United States was said in St. Augustine, Fla., in 1513.

A new era of high school athletics is certain for the city of Pontiac with the opening of ultra-modern Pontiac Northern in another week.

Its first varsity football team is still a year away, but for Pontiac it will bring about an intra-city competitive spirit which is long overdue.

Pontiac has not been the most enthused city, spectator-wise, in regard to its prep teams, but more available facilities and with the new school as added stimulus, fellow townsmen are sure to get keyed up.

BOON FOR ATHLETICS

What will the new school do to the athletic program at Pontiac Central?

We don't go along with the thought of many that Pontiac Central sports will be hurt by the split.

Football-wise there's only one way for Pontiac Central to go — that's upward, and Pontiac Northern will hardly hinder this.

In fact, football as well as the other sports in each school should grow to higher caliber.

★ ★ ★

Competition in athletics, just like in business, helps bring about better products. This is the first good reason.

Secondly, more boys are now getting the opportunity to participate in sports with the revised junior high program, thereby giving both schools better raw material.

Thirdly, with less cumbersome squads, the coaching staffs will have better opportunities to devote more time to individuals in need of basic fundamentals.

★ ★ ★

There are many youngsters with big broad shoulders and good strong legs who will be more apt to turn out for athletic teams knowing they can receive more attention on the basics which they may fail to acquire in pre-varsity days.

MOTHERS MUST UNTIE STRINGS

Parents, especially mothers, can go along to help the athletic program and give their youngsters an outlet for physical contact.

Coaches from the Pee Wee League program through the junior high and the high school are actually alarmed at the many husky youngsters who do not go out for football because their parents refuse to sign for them.

Pontiac Central head coach Jessé MacLeay was dismayed just this week when he learned that several boys from the junior high schools would not answer grid calls due to the refusal of mothers' to approve.

★ ★ ★

Even a Pee-Wee League official exclaimed recently, "Because we are so well outfitted and because the kids are learning to play the game properly, we did not have one serious injury last year. Yet it is actually shocking to see how many parents deny their youngsters the opportunity to play."

Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern will need more athletes but mothers, untie those apron strings! A new era is here.

BONUS BABY — Left handed pitcher Larry Nosse of Euclid, Ohio, was signed to a bonus contract by the Detroit Tigers at a sum figured around $25,000. Nosse, 18, was a Notre Dame freshman last year. He struck out 18 batters in eight innings in one game for the Irish.

Pirates 7 Behind After Belting Cards, 14-1

Giants Snap Braves' Hex

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Giants finally have squashed Milwaukee's hex, hitting the law of averages for a double jackpot behind the hitless relief pitching of Al Worthington.

The Giants had lost eight in a row to the Braves and Worthington had beaten them only twice in 15 decisions before the big right hander backed up his almost perfect three-inning job on the mound with a 12th-inning single that led to a 3-2 victory last night.

That clipped the Braves' National League lead to seven games over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who rapped 18 hits and beat St. Louis 14-1. Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 8-7 and the Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia 5-2 with Ernie Banks pushing his major league leading home run total to 42.

The Giants made it as Bob Trowbridge walked Orlando Cepeda on four pitches with the bases loaded in the 12th, cracking a 2-2 tie that had stood since Joe Adcock had put the Braves' square with a pinch home run in the seventh. Worthington had singled with one out, and Trowbridge (1-3) then walked Willie Mays and gave up a single to Jackie Brandt to load the bases.

Worthington (11-6) gave the Braves nothing but a walk in his three innings. He struck out three. Stu Miller went nine, giving up nine hits, three of them in the first inning when Red Schoendienst, Hank Aaron and Wes Covington singled for a 1-0 Milwaukee lead. Daryl Spencer's 15th home run, following a walk to Cepeda, gave the Giants the edge in the fourth against starter Juan Pizarro.

Aaron had five of the Braves hits—pushing his third ranked average to .335 and taking the NL lead in hits with 167.

Dick Stuart, Bob Skinner and Bob Porterfield homered in the Pirates' 67th victory—their best total since winning 71 in 1949. It was Stuart's 13th, Skinner's 10th and the first for Porterfield, who was forced off the mound by a knee injury in the fourth inning—leaving the victory to reliever Vern Law (10-11), who pitched one-hit, shutout ball. Skinner and Thomas, who doubled with the bases loaded in a five-run sixth, each drove in three runs for the Bucs. Rookie Nels Chittum (0-1) lost it.

Pete Whisenant's pinch-hit, grand slam home run, his first in the majors, gave the Reds a 7-2 lead in the fifth inning and they wrapped it up on a bases-loaded walk by ex-mate Johnny Klippstein in the seventh. Roy McMillan also homered for the Reds, his first, while Carl Furillo (13), Steve Bilko (10) and Don Demeter, belting his first, homered for the Dodgers. Joe Nuxhall (11-9) won it with relief help. Carl Erskine (4-4) lost it in relief.

★ ★ ★

The Cubs broke a 2-2 tie with Banks' two-run shot in the sixth off loser Curt Simmons (6-13) and rookie Bob Anderson gained his first major league victory with a four-hitter. Carl Neeman hit his 12th homer for the Cubs, who got started on Bobby Thomson's two-run triple in the first inning after Harry Anderson had hit his 17th homer for the Phils.

Tigers Salvage Split With 7-2 Nightcap Win

Detroit's Centerfielder Collects 6 Hits in 9 Trips to Plate

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's traveling Tigers stopped off briefly at home today with a surprise gift to their fans — Harvey Kuenn's brand new American League batting leadership.

The Tigers' hustling centerfielder, a transplant this season from shortstop, collected six hits in nine times at bat in a split doubleheader at Boston yesterday to seize the lead by one point overnight.

Otherwise the Tigers, cast out of the first division due to a mediocre road trip, had little to cheer over.

With Gail Harris and Charley Maxwell driving in all the runs, the Tigers salvaged a split with the Red Sox by winning last night's game 7-2. Jim Bunning lost the daytime opener 3-2 in a pitcher's duel with Tom Brewer.

Kuenn's honor post at the top of the American League in individual batting finds him in a hot three-way race for the crown as of now.

★ ★ ★

His six hits yesterday and last night, including two doubles and four singles, boosted his average to .328. At the top he replaced Pete Runnels of Boston who stayed at .327. Bob Cerv of Kansas City has .326.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers one day open-date at home — they go to Chicago for a three-game series starting tomorrow night — might be eventful.

Manager Bill Norman has a conference scheduled with general manager John McHale reportedly over plans for 1959. What this might bring forth is anybody's guess.

Harris' 14th home run and Maxwell's 11th were the big Tiger blows as they beat Boston in the second game. Each hit a two-run homer to help Paul Foytack to his 10th victory against 11 defeats.

The two Tiger runs of the first game also were driven in by Harris. His was one of three hits which the Tigers got with none out in the first inning off Brewer, after which the Red Sox right-hander limited them to a total of exactly three more for the rest of the game.

★ ★ ★

A disputed umpire's decision on a play at home figured in two Boston runs in the sixth inning which cost Bunning the victory.

The ordinarily soft-spoken catcher Red Wilson was so upset by umpire Larry Napp's ruling that he got thrown out of the game because of his loud protests.

Bunning was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth and it was the seventh straight time he failed to complete a game after his July 20 no-hitter performance at Boston.

CALLED SAFE — Umpire Larry Napp ruled Frank Malzone, Red Sox third baseman safe in the 6th inning of the first game yesterday. It was the tying run as Red Wilson, Tiger catcher tries to make the tag. The Red Sox won, 3-2.

Tiger President Surprised at Scholarship Opposition

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit Tiger President Harvey R. Hansen today said he was "surprised" at action taken by the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Denver yesterday opposing Tiger-financed scholarships.

"We have written Walter Byers (executive secretary of the NCAA), stating that we have removed from the plan those parts relating to selection of candidates to which Mr. Byers raised objections," Hansen said.

★ ★ ★

"Scholarship grants have already been made to seven colleges and we cannot expect those colleges to administrate these grants to deserving athletes until the foundation has a decision from the NCAA," Hansen said.

★ ★ ★

Meeting at the NCAA's "conference of conferences," approximately 50 of the nation's top coaches and athletic directors condemned the granting of scholarships by a professional team. The Tigers weren't mentioned by name but Byers brought them up as an example.

★ ★ ★

The coaches and athletic directors recommended that the NCAA council move at its January meeting to stop such scholarships.

The Tigers this spring set up the plan, putting $5,000 into the fund as a starter.

International Meet Planned

Miami Beach Will Host New Tournament From Dec. 31 to Jan. 4

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A new international team event patterned after Davis Cup competition will be played here Dec. 31-Jan. 4, if expected sanction by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. is received.

★ ★ ★

The between-nations games is an outgrowth of the Orange Bowl junior tennis championships played here during the Christmas holidays for the past 12 years.

Each nation will be represented by a team of three players and a non-playing captain. Matches will consist of two singles and one doubles and all players must be juniors—under 18 years of age.

"We already have done much preliminary work," said Edward Herr, director of the Orange Bowl tournament. "Seven nations have indicated they will send teams—Brazil, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, France and Venezuela.

The committee said it will pay transportation costs for a U.S. team.

Hungary Seeks Another Crown

Saber Team Can Clinch World Championship Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It'll take a history making event to deprive the Hungarians of the world saber team championship tonight.

Going into the final two matches of the final round involving Hungary, Italy, Russia and Poland, the Hungarians can boast of having never lost a saber championship in which they've competed since 1908. The only years missing in their chain of triumphs, other than the war years, are 1920, 1947, 1949 and 1950. They didn't enter a team in those years.

Hungary entered the final round by besting the United States 9-1 and Cuba 15-1. In their first final round match the Hungarians downed Italy 11-5 last night. Russia edged Poland 8 bouts and 60 touches to 8 bouts and 66 touches.

★ ★ ★

Today's schedule calls for Hungary to face Poland in the first match. Russia then meets Italy. The competition winds up with Italy meeting Poland and Hungary taking on Russia.

Tigers Sign Two Bonus Players

Grab Southpaw Hurler and Catcher for Farm System

DETROIT (AP) —Two prize prospects, one a catcher and the other a left handed pitcher, have signed bonus contracts with the Detroit Tigers.

Director of scouts Ed Katalinas said Purnal Goldy of Blackwood, N.J., and Larry Nosse of Euclid, Ohio, received "substantial" bonuses. It is estimated each received more than $25,000.

Each signed a 1958 contract with Detroit's top farm club. Both played semi-pro ball this summer after impressive high school and college achievements.

Goldy is a 20-year-old catcher who stands 6-feet-5 and weighs 200. He is a right handed hitter and is a senior at Temple University, where he batted .402 and .340.

Nosse played with the Notre Dame freshman team last spring and amassed 18 strikeouts in eight innings. He is 18, six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds.

Charles in Comeback Try

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles attempts a comeback here tonight in a 10-round match against former U.S. amateur champion Johnny Harper.

The 37-year-old Charles, who will probably weigh in around 193 pounds, hasn't fought in two years. He will face an opponent who has won 17 of 24 bouts since he turned pro in 1956.

U.S. Tourney Begins Friday

Aussie Defends Net Title

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Malcom Anderson of Australia opens defense of his U.S. men's tennis championship tomorrow against Bob Perry of Los Angeles.

The skinny Queensland cowboy will play the second featured match on the center court at the West Side Tennis Club. The first day's program starts at 12:30 p.m. (EDT)

The United States' three seeded players, Hamilton Richardson, former University of Michigan tennis star Barry MacKay and Dick Savitt, all see action on the first day's card, playing in the stadium.

Richardson, the former top-ranked American player who says his showing in this tournament may decide his Davis Cup plans, will face Tony Vincent of New York.

★ ★ ★

MacKay, the big blaster from Dayton, Ohio, goes against James Shakespeare of Hollywood, Fla. Savitt, the New York oil man who has quit bigtime competition, opposes Lorne Main of Canada.

It is one of the most attractive opening day schedules in many years. The stadium and grandstand schedule is so loaded with talent, in fact, that one of the headline women's matches, that between Brazil's Maria Ester Bueno and Mimi Arnols of Redwood City, Calif., has been shunted to one of the side courts.

Auto Racing Set for 10th Year at Michigan Fair

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan State Fair is featuring auto racing for the 10th straight year and the big event for 1958 is a 250-mile new car race on Sept. 7.

Promoters expect about 50 entries including some of the biggest names in racing. Time trials begin at 12:30 p.m. with the race over the Fairgrounds' mile dirt oval starting two hours later.

Pete Spencer said he has been promised that leading drivers Johnny Parsons, Dick and Jim Rathman and Ed Elisian will be on hand for the big event.

Tulsa, California 9s Unbeaten in Tourney

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Tulsa, Okla., and Dinuba, Calif., won their second games without defeat Wednesday night in the World Softball Championship Tournament.

Tulsa beat Tijuana, Mexico, 2-0. It was the Mexican team's first defeat. Two defeats eliminate a team.

Dinuba inflicted the first defeat on McClave, Colo., 3-2.

Only 5 Wings Are Not Signed

DETROIT (AP) — General manager Jack Adams has signed 21 Detroit Red Wing hockey players and anticipates no holdout trouble.

Only five players are unsigned and only one of that group is a regular. He is defenseman Marcel Pronovost.

"I talked with Marcel recently and he's going to sign when he comes to Detroit," said Adams. "We'll have no trouble at all."

The Red Wings go into training Sept. 8 and will climax their training season with a six-city tour in Western Canada. The team has abandoned its Sault Ste. Marie training site and will do its preseason work on Detroit Olympia Stadium ice.

FIGHTING MAD — Here is the aftermath of the play above in which Tiger catcher Red Wilson protested the call by umpire Larry Napp. Wilson went flying at Napp and manager Bill Norman also came running out of the dugout. But the umpire won and Wilson lost. He was ejected from the game.

Seniors Play at Lansing

The sixth annual Teacher's Trophy Sectional Tournament for the Michigan PGA Seniors' Championship will be played at the Lansing Country Club, at Lansing, on September 2. The winner of this sectional event will receive an expense-paid trip to Dunedin, Fla., next January to play in the national PTA Seniors' Championship.

Last year's winner, Jim Barfield, will face a representative field of senior professionals that includes Al Watrous, 1957 Champion of the national PGA Seniors' from Oakland Hills.

The event, scheduled for the Lansing Country Club, is one of 33 such sectionals in the U.S. which are co-sponsored by Teachers Co. of Glasgow, Scotland, and the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Each sectional champion, as in the Michigan Section, receives his expenses for the Florida trip and a shot at $10,000 in prize money.

Other attractions are the handsome Ronald Teacher Trophy, and a trip to England, as the Glasgow firm's guest, for a match with a British Senior Champion. The winner is recognized as the World Senior Professional Golf Champion.

Pierce Hurls White Sox One Game Closer

KC 'Cousins' Drub Yankees

From Our News Wires

Kansas City has been accused of being a "cousin" of the American League champion New York Yankees. But the Athletics were very unfriendly "relatives" Wednesday in Yankee Stadium.

The A's ripped New York, 11-7, reducing the pennant-bound Yankees' bulge to 11½ games over the second place Chicago White Sox, who won at Washington, 2-1. Cleveland defeated Baltimore, 8-5.

The Athletics scored seven unearned runs in the 1st inning off Johnny Kucks (8-7) and coasted to victory.

An error by Bobby Richardson opened the door for the A's in the 1st stanza and they went on to batter Kucks for six hits in matching the biggest single-inning rally staged against New York this year.

The A's bagged a total of 18 hits off four Yankee pitchers, including three singles and a double by Hal Smith. Tom Gorman (4-4) was the winning pitcher in relief for the Athletics.

★ ★ ★

Yogi Berra hit his 20th home run — his 10th consecutive year of 20 or more — and Mickey Mantle socked his 37th homer for five Yankee runs.

New York's defeat left the Yankees with a 14-14 record for the month of August.

Reliever Don Mossi saved Cleveland's win over Baltimore when he stemmed a ninth-inning rally. Cal McLish, credited with his 14th victory, had an 8-3 lead until the ninth when he loaded the bases and gave up one run. Mossi came in with the bases still loaded and none out. He yielded one more run and then retired the side. Mickey Vernon and Billy Morgan had three hits apiece for the Tribe.

Southpaw Billy Pierce of the White Sox held the Senators to four hits in posting his 15th victory. Norm Zauchin produced Washington's only run with his 12th homer in the seventh. The White Sox scored both their runs off Camilo Pascual in the fourth on Nellie Fox's safe bunt plus doubles by Billy Goodman and Don Mueller.

LOOKS EASY — The easy manner in which Simon Khoury rides one water-ski through the wake of his towboat, at Cypress Gardens, belies the expert. The young man from Beirut, Lebanon, holds world, all-American and European titles for the slalom.

Johnny Saxton to Try Comeback

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—Former world welterweight king Johnny Saxton will start a boxing comeback try here Sept. 8 against Jackson Brown of Boston in a 10 rounder.

The bout will be held at Glovers Bowl.

Saxton, from Philadelphia, has been inactive more than a year. Brown recently won the New England middleweight crown.

Crawford vs. Harris Sept. 9 at Saginaw

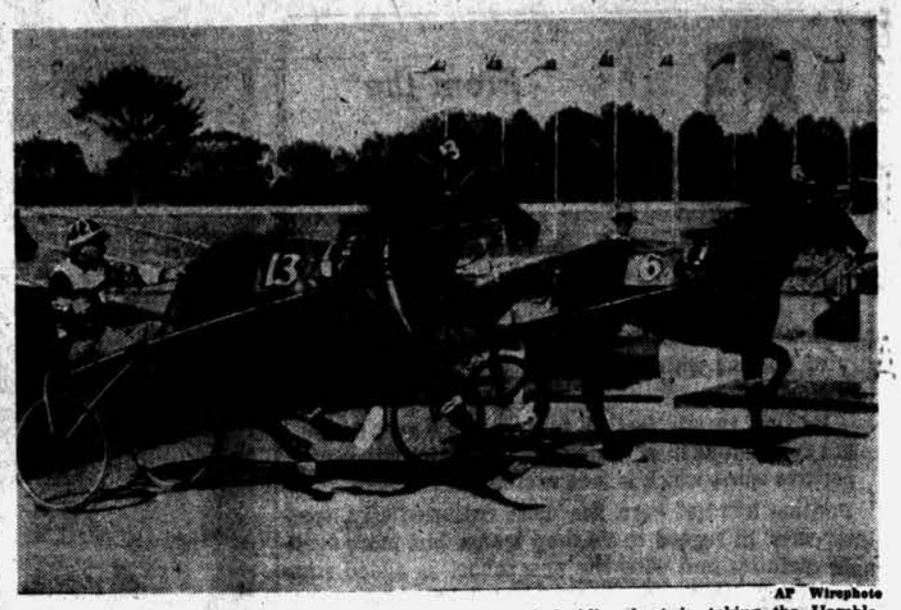

DETROIT (UPI)—Eighth-ranked welterweight Mickey Crawford, fresh from a pair of television fights against Gaspar Ortega, returns to Michigan for a Sept. 9 bout with Duke Harris in Saginaw, Crawford's home town.

Crawford advanced from ninth to eighth in the Ring Magazine ratings following his two fights with Ortega.

'500' Drivers Expected

DETROIT (UPI) — Fast becoming a State Fair tradition, promoter Pete Spencer expects 50 new cars to register for the 250-mile race at the fairgrounds track Sept. 7.

Spencer said he hoped to have Johnny Parsons, the defending champion, along with Indianapolis "500" drivers Ed Elisian and Troy Ruttman. Eliasian was involved in the accident at Indianapolis this spring that killed Pat O'Connor.

WINS HAMBLETONIAN — Driven by Flick Nipe, the bay filly Emily's Pride crosses the finish line ahead of Sandalwood to win her second and deciding heat in taking the Hambletonian Stakes yesterday. It was the first time a filly has won the classic since 1953.

MSU Strength at End Diminishes

SUE—SPT

MSU STRENGTH 3-48 temp cond

EAST LANSING (UP) — Michigan State is unusual among major football powers in that it doesn't have an end coach.

1958 is unusual at Michigan State as a year almost without ends.

The position of end coach as such was abolished a few years ago. Present practice is for the offensive line coach and offensive backfield coach to work with the ends on offense and the defensive line coach and defensive backfield coach to school them on defense.

During almost as many years as MSU football followers can remember, the Spartans have had ends to give away. The position repeatedly was raided to bolster other spots.

The famine hit this season. Five lettermen ends — Dave Kaiser, Tony Kolodziej, Bob Jewett, Larry Harding and Harold Dukes—are gone with graduation.

The only receiver with any experience this fall is Sammy Williams, team captain from Dansville. Sammy, 27, 6-5 and 225 pounds, is a good one. Last year he was the No. 1 receiver with 11 passes taken for 236 yards and three touchdowns.

He had the distinction of being a draft choice by the Los Angeles Rams when only a freshman on the basis of his service play. It was possible because his college study was interrupted by Navy service and his original class had graduated.

There are two other letterman ends. But so far they are ends in name only.

★ ★ ★

Dick Barker, 22, 5-11, 196-pound senior from Lansing was shifted to the position this spring from fullback. But he already rates starter at right end.

Dave Northcross, 20, 5-11, 174-pound junior from Highland Park lettered in his sophomore year while playing 62 minutes. But he has yet to catch a pass.

The best rookie prospects are three sophomores, all 6-2. They are Fred Arbanas of Detroit, Jason Harness of St. Joseph and Ed Perpich of Dearborn.

★ ★ ★

But all the candidates will get a good looking-over by the end-hungry coaches.

The only two experienced men at center, Dan Currie and Don Berger, are lost through graduation.

A pair of juniors, Don Wilks 212-pounder from Grand Rapids and Don Wright, 202-pounder from Dearborn, will be given first whack at the position. Wilks played 66 minutes last year, missing some time because of a shoulder injury. Wright was shifted from guard this spring.

★ ★ ★

Arch Matsos, 190-pound senior from Detroit, has been moved to center from guard and could beat out both. Matsos was out last season with one of those nagging knee injuries.

When the reshuffling is complete —and if the injury jinx holds off— it should be a representative big but fast Spartan inside line.

A New 'Bounce' for 'M' Cagers

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — There will be a new "bounce" to Michigan basketball this season. The Wolverines have discarded their 36-year-old court for a new one of Michigan hard maple.

The new court should eliminate dead spots and other deficiencies, according to Wolverine officials, and can be laid down or taken up in half the time required for the old portable floor.

Mrs. Koss Wins WMGA

The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association held its 15th weekly tournament of the season Wednesday at Sylvan Glen and Mrs. Joseph Koss grabbed the honors for the 8th time.

Mrs. Koss shot a four-over-par 79 in the 18-hole tourney for a five-stroke margin over her nearest rival, Mrs. W. H. Falco. Third place went to Mrs. C. F. Fox with 85. A total of 83 golfers participated.

Silver Lake League Completes Season

The Silver Lake golf league had its final day of play Monday with six women sharing in the honors. Mrs. Phil Francis had a 52 and Mrs. Albert Bornak 53 for gross and net honors in the 1st flight.

In the 2nd flight, Mrs. Ed Shedlowsky's 65 won low gross while Mrs. Fred Harroun had low net. Mrs. Ken Thayer tied for low putts at 14 and Mrs. Francis matched Mrs. Floyd Foran on the blind hole at 5.

The loop voted to change back to medal play next year at its annual meeting. Mrs. Grant McDonald was named president, Mrs. Phil Dorman was elected vice president, Mrs. John McCallum secretary and Mrs. Lou Daniels treasurer.

Lions to Travel After Giant Tilt

To Play on Road for Six Weeks After Friday Tilt

Revamped New York Eleven, Detroit Have Identical 1-1 Marks

The Detroit Lions become travelers for the next six weeks following Friday night's game with the New York Giants at Briggs Stadium.

Both teams enter the contest with identical records, although the Lions still boast a clean slate in pro exhibitions. The loss to the All-Stars is not included in the Lions' exhibition standing.

The Giants took a 38-10 beating at the hands of the Los Angeles Rams last week after winning from the 49ers, 19-10 the week before.

Detroit is 1-0 after the 17-7 win over Cleveland last week.

After this pre-season encounter, the Lions make exhibition appearances in Dallas, Norman, Okla., and Cleveland before starting the regular National Football League campaign. Then they will be on the road for two weeks against Baltimore and Green Bay before playing their first game at home on Oct. 12.

The Giants will be a revamped team by the time the season gets underway. Only 24 players remain from the 1957 team that compiled a 7-5 record and finished second to Cleveland in the NFL's Eastern division.

Seven of the Giant players retired, either on their own or at the urging of the coaching staff. Those who hung 'em up are backs Bobby Epps, Bob Clatterbuck, John Bookman and Ed Crawford, and linemen John Martinkovic, Ray Beck and Bill Austin.

Dorne Dibble, traded from the Lions to the New York club, retired rather than report, and the Giants traded off defensive back Dick Nolan and offensive tackle Dick Yelvington.

One of the new Giants is an old Lion — quarterback Tom Dublinski — and it appears the former understudy to Bobby Layne has won a place on the New York roster. The Giants generally carry three quarterbacks, and even at this stage of the training season the club is down to three signal-callers. They are the venerable Chuck Conerly, Don Heinrich and Dublinski.

Bob Daley, the Giants' publicist, said the only thing the team has found in its first two games is a star kick blocker.

Linebacker Cliff Livingston blocked two kicks against the 49ers and two against the Los Angeles Rams.

Wolverine Grid Picture Manpower-Shy

Sophs Must Aid 'M'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Well-endowed sophomores could turn Michigan into a football nuisance by midseason.

The fresh talent is there — in more abundance than usual. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan agrees. All the rookies lack is experience.

"By mid-season we should be okay," Oosterbaan said, perhaps a bit hopefully.

"But my sophs have got to come through. On the whole, they're pretty fair kids who should develop."

★ ★ ★

The sophomores don't figure to be treated casually in early season when the sledding will be the toughest.

They'll play. They'll have to because Michigan is manpower shy.

Whether Oosterbaan will be so radical as to employ the Wisconsin approach is doubtful. Coach Milt Bruhn of the Badgers forgot all about his mediocre veterans last year and concentrated on the future, he went with his sophomores. The scheme paid off.

Wisconsin was a late season spoiler. It tied for fourth in the Big Ten, two spots above Michigan.

"You're in the same situation we were in last year," Bruhn told a Michigan official at the recent all-star game.

"We decided to try the sophomores and it turned out better than I expected."

Now Wisconsin is one of the preseason title favorites.

Michigan has the sophomore wherewithal to follow suit. It can blend some of the newcomers with the better holdovers.

Fellows such as Don Deskins, Dick Syring, John Walker, Gary Kane, John Halstead and Reid Bushong could play feature roles in such a gamble.

Deskins, a 235-pound guard, already has been assigned a first team post. Syring, a 190-pound all-stater from Bay City, could be the starting center by the opening game Sept. 27 with Southern California.

★ ★ ★

Kane and Halstead, two promising ends, fullback Walker and left halfback Bushong are destined for the second team at the start.

For Southern '500' Monday

Qualifying at Darlington

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Rain-delayed qualifying runs got under way again here today as drivers sought nine starting positions in the Southern 500 Labor Day race.

The No. 1 starting position in Monday's stock car classic went automatically yesterday to Eddie Pagan, the only driver to make the four-lap qualifying test around the mile and three-eighth oval.

★ ★ ★

Pagan, of Lynwood, Calif., and Charlotte, N.C., averaged 116.952 m.p.h. in a Ford.

A spectacular accident waved the checkered flag at the victory hopes of Cotton Owens of Spartanburg, S.C., one of the pre-race favorites.

His right front wheel locked during a warmup run. The car plunged over the 16-foot banking near the first turn, spun completely around in the air and crashed to the ground.

Owens crawled from the wreckage unhurt after spectators poured from the stand and righted the car.

Some 35 drivers were ready to try for the coveted pole position that goes to the fastest driver in the opening day of qualifying. But downpours delayed the tests for all but Pagan.

★ ★ ★

Nascar officials ruled that the four unfilled positions from yesterday would be carried over today, making a total of nine starting spots to be decided.

Emily's Pride Posts Record

Filly Breaks 11-Year Mark for Victory in Hambletonian Race

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — A filly who set a record and an old man rubbing a rabbit's foot are part of the 1958 Hambletonian story.

A pre-race favorite, speed Emily's Pride broke Hoot Mon's 11-year-old Hambletonian record of 2:00 with a third heat time of 1:59 4-5 for the mile trot.

Driven by 64-year-old Flick Nipe and trained by 78-year-old Fred Egan, Emily's Pride turned on a burst of speed at the finish of the decisive heat to edge out Sandalwood by half a length.

"This is the third Hambletonian I've won with a special rabbit's foot," said Egan, waving his lucky charm. "I guess there must be something to it."

Egan won the 1940 classic and the 1949 race, both times as a driver. He voluntarily retired from the sulky this year and turned the reins over to Nipe, his protege for 12 years.

★ ★ ★

Little Rocky, an outsider, took second place in the overall standings. Third and fourth in the overall results were Mr. Saunders and Sandalwood.

Distance Swim Try Tomorrow

CHICAGO (AP) — Harry A. Briggs, 37-year-old distance swimmer, is ready any time Lake Michigan is.

Briggs, an assistant professor at the University of Alaska in Anchorage, hopes to swim across Lake Michigan from Michigan City, Ind., to Chicago, a 34-mile course.

Briggs is planning his try for tomorrow.

Beacham Unanimous Winner Over Boyd

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Beecham of Miami punched his way to a unanimous decision over Bobby Boyd of Chicago in a bristling 10-round fight at Miami Beach Auditorium Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Boyd, ranked No. 10 among the welterweights, was inches taller and had the longer reach but Beecham scored repeatedly with looping lefts to the head and right crosses to the body.

SECRET AMBITION—Mickey Mantle makes no attempt to fool batters, of course, but the Yankkees' slugger looks like a pitcher when he fools around with a knuckle ball before games.

'M' Matmen to Meet 3 Eastern Opponents

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—An eastern swing to Cornell, Rutgers and Pittsburgh has jumped the University of Michigan's dual wrestling meet schedule to 11 this season plus the Big Ten and NCAA meets.

Coach Cliff Keen said today the Wolverines will open at Cornell, Dec. 12, wrestle at Rutgers the next day and at Pittsburgh Jan. 3 before starting the conference season at home, Jan. 9, with Indiana.

The Wolverines will host Northwestern, Jan. 31; Illinois, Feb. 7; Minnesota, Feb. 21; Michigan State, Feb. 27, and Ohio State Feb. 28. They will travel to Purdue, Feb. 2; Iowa, Feb. 14, and again to Iowa March 6-7 for the Big Ten meet and March 26-28 for the NCAA tournament.

Veteran Logart Upset in Louisville Bout

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Rudell Stitch, a 9 to 5 underdog, outpointed wily ring veteran Isaac Logart Wednesday night in a grueling 10-round fight at the Jefferson County Armory.

Stitch, a newcomer to the professional ranks, had the No. two ranking welterweight in trouble from the opening round, when he opened a deep gash over Logart's right eye.

Connecticut Club Leads Sailing Event for Juniors

VANCOUVER (AP)—The Noroton Yacht Club of Noroton, Conn., still held the lead today at the three-quarters mark in the North American Junior Sailing Championships but the Hull Yacht Club of Quincy, Mass., moved up as a definite threat.

Noroton had 38¾ points at the end of three days of racing. The Hull Club had 31½ points.

Yesterday's races were won by the Hull Club and the St. Petersburg Yacht Club, St. Petersburg, Fla., which now is in fourth place behind the host Vancouver Yacht Club.

Miami Beats Hamtramck for Pony Championship

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — Miami, Fla., capitalized on speed, tight pitching and a break in the last inning last night to defeat Hamtramck, Mich., 3-2, and capture the championship of the Pony League World Series.

With the score tied, 2-2, in the home half of the last inning, Miami's Ron Levanthal, who reached first on an error, streaked all the way home on a wild-bouncing double inside the third base line by Bob Chandler.

Trainers Jimmy Jones and Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons have won the Preakness four times each.

Sharp, Gawne in Semis

Sally Sharp, bidding for all three major titles in the same year, was faced with a rugged customer today in the match play semifinals of the Women's District Golf Association Championship at Knollwood Country Club.

Miss Sharp, who plays from Forest Lake, met Mrs. Keith (Susie) LeClair of Ann Arbor today in one half of the semifinal bill of fare.

The other 18-hole semi paired Mrs. Sam Gawne of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Frank Thompson.

All four ladies were lopsided winners in Wednesday's quarter-final action.

Mrs. Thompson furnished the upset yesterday by eliminating Mrs. Robert Gamble, the defending champion, 4-3. Mrs. Thompson went 5 up on her foe before losing a hole—the 12th.

The widest margin of victory went to Mrs. Gawne, who ousted Mrs. R. G. Mitchell Jr., 7-5.

Miss Sharp was 4 up after five holes and trounced Mrs. John LaBoskey, 6-4. Mrs. LeClair easily defeated Miss Helen Grinnell, 5-4. The Ann Arbor housewife shot one-under-par 37 on the front nine for the day's best round.

★ ★ ★

The Sharp-LeClair semi is jampacked with interest. Sally defeated Mrs. LeClair in match play earlier this season on her way to the Michigan Amateur title. Sally also won the WDGA 54-hole medal play crown this year and is now two big steps away from her 3rd major win of 1958.

Senators Appear Ready to Move

Nats Farm Boss Fears Club Loss

Charlotte GM Feels Team May Be Dropped for 'Money' Reasons

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—General Manager Phil Howser of the Charlotte Hornets said Wednesday he is fearful the Washington Senators may drop outright ownership of his South Atlantic League club.

★ ★ ★

Howser, citing attendance troubles, said Washington, in last place in the American League, is the only major league team which owns two minor clubs outright. They are Charlotte and Chattanooga of the Class AA Southern association.

"We're losing money this year," he said. "Quite a bit. So is Chattanooga. Now put two and two together.

★ ★ ★

"How long will Calvin Griffith (head of the Washington organization) keep picking up the tabs for these two clubs when the parent team is losing money, too? I'm afraid he might decide to do away with one of them."

Frick in Favor of Nats Staying in Washington

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said last night it is inevitable that major league clubs will move to other cities and someday form a third league.

But he said he hopes the Washington Senators don't move because "Washington is a good baseball town and it needs them."

Other one-club cities also should be allowed to retain their teams if at all possible, said Frick. But he told a news conference, "There are other cities in the United States today that are able to handle a major league baseball team."

While declining to name any specific cities, Frick said, "We can't run a 1958 business by 1900 rules — some more changes will have to take place."

10 Michigan Boys at Iowa

Evy Still Has Appeal in State Grid Ranks

IOWA CITY, Ia. (UPI) — It's been nearly 20 years since Forest Evashevski gained fame as the blocking back for All-America Tom Harmon at Michigan, but the Iowa Hawkeye coach still has drawing power in Michigan.

Ten of the 59 candidates for Evashevski's 1958 Hawkeyes are from the Wolverine state including five top backfield prospects.

Foremost is Kevin Furlong of Detroit St. Mary's of Redford. The 164-pound halfback averaged five yards a try in 48 attempts last fall. Regular left half Bill Gravel has had academic difficulties and may not be eligible.

Right behind veteran Ray Jauch at right half is Detroit's Willie Fleming, a 5-foot; 9-inch, 173-pounder called the best of the Iowa sophomores. Other leading candidates are Jerry Mauren of Wyandotte, and sophomore John McMeekins of Highland Park.

In addition, Evashevski has soph halfback Bob Russo of Detroit, center Don Zinn and quarterback Ron Bosrock of Battle Creek, letterman fullback Don Horn of Detroit and ends Allan Miller and Bill Ringer of Flint.

Hoff Leads Amateur Qualifiers at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Arthur Hoff of Edgewood Valley, former Great Lakes champion, fired rounds of 71-72—143 Wednesday to lead a field of 11 qualifiers for next month's National Amateur Golf Championship in San Francisco.

Hoff's first round 71 matched the Onwentsia Club's 36-35—71 par.

Runnerup qualifier to Hoff, who also qualified for last year's National Amateur, was Bernie Magnussen of Westmoreland, who fired 71-73—144. Tied with Magnussen at 144 was James McCarthy of Joliet, Ill., who had rounds of 72-72.

Dave Davies Wins Final PYC 'Night Owl' Event

Twenty-two boats took part in the Pontiac Yacht Club's final series of "night owl" Lightning races Wednesday night on Cass Lake. The Commodore series of races starts Sunday for the holiday weekend.

Last night's Lightning winner was Dave Davies and his crew of Phil Smith and Bill Wiggens. Leo Wasserberger took 2nd with his crew of Ruth and Bob Plew while 3rd place went to Andy Roualet and assistants Frank and Bill Moreau.

Detroit Tiger infielders Gail Harris and Ozzie Virgil were teammates on the New York Giants in 1957.

Directors May Authorize Shift Request Friday

Minneapolis Can Get Club for Right Price; Ike Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Directors of the Washington Senators may give club President Calvin Griffith conditional authority tomorrow to seek American League permission to shift the team to Minneapolis.

The directors, at their regular monthly meeting, are certain to discuss the possibility of moving—a possibility which Griffith says is real if Minneapolis comes through with a good deal.

"We have reached no conclusion," Griffith said yesterday. But he added in an interview that Washington's board probably would accept if Minneapolis came through with satisfactory terms on stadium facilities, rental, concessions and other items.

★ ★ ★

Griffith later reduced "probably" to "possibly." Still it was the first time he had acknowledged that much since reports started buzzing last week that the Senators were again contemplating a move.

While Griffith lifted hopes in Minneapolis of grabbing a big league franchise, he gained no support from the Senators' No. 1 fan in Washington.

President Eisenhower said he was sure that if the team had a fighting chance of breaking into the first division, "This city would demand that they stay here."

★ ★ ★

And, he added, "I think they should."

The Senators have finished in the cellar two of the last three seasons and are back there now. Attendance has been correspondingly low.

"I think they should have a little bit better club," Eisenhower remarked.

Griffith said he and the other directors would make no final decision until Minneapolis presents an offer. The Minneapolis city council votes tomorrow on a bond issue to double its stadium's capacity to 41,000.

★ ★ ★

The Senators last year rejected a bid for their franchise from Minneapolis. Griffith said an original guarantee of one million admissions in each of the first three years was acceptable, but that more lenient terms were needed on rent charges and concessions, among other things.

Although the board may take no action at all until a concrete proposal is received, it could adopt the same sort of resolution which Griffith carried into a league meeting last month. This authorized him to request permission for a move if the club ever decided to leave Washington.

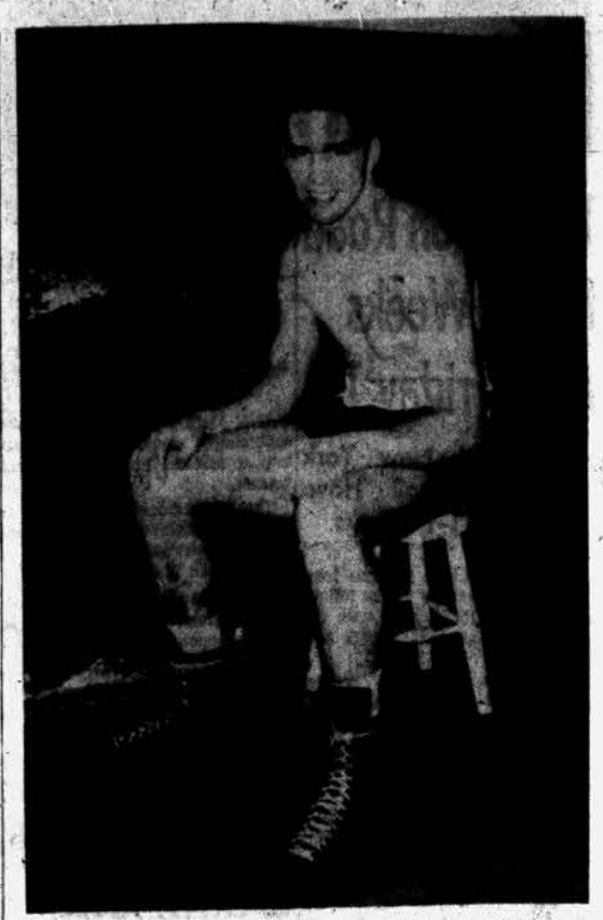

Other American League club owners balked at that time. Congress then was considering antitrust legislation affecting baseball. In a different climate and with a specific proposal at hand, they might not object.

★ ★ ★

Griffith said he did not plan to ask for a special league meeting when both the majors convene at Chicago on Sept. 9, but one may be called anyway.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS
By The Associated Press

HITTING—Gail Harris, Tigers, drove in six of the Tigers' nine runs in day-night doubleheader split against Red Sox. Singled home both runs in 3-2 defeat, then hit two-run homer and a two-run double in 7-2 victory.

AT WISNER — Highly touted light heavyweight Ronnie Warshensky of Pittsburgh, protege of Fritzie Zivic, will be matched in an eight round feature Monday, Sept. 8, in Wisner Stadium against colorful Eddie O'Hara of Milwaukee. Warshensky defeated Detroit's Ducky Dietz three weeks ago.

42nd Annual PGA Confab in Clearwater, Nov. 6-14

DUNEDIN, Fla. — The 42nd Annual Meeting of The Professional Golfers' Association of America will be held November 6-14 in Clearwater, Fla.

Preliminary details for the 10-day series of meetings were announced today by Harold Sargent, professional at East Lake Country Club in Atlanta, Ga., and President of The PGA of America.

All sessions are scheduled in the Fort Harrison Hotel in Clearwater.

The PGA Tournament Committee will convene the afternoon of November 10. The latter part of the afternoon, that group will meet jointly with the PGA Executive Committee and the PGA National Advisory Committee.

During the evening of November 10, the Sectional Affairs Committee will hold its first session.

Day-time meetings Tuesday, November 11, will be devoted to the Educational and Teaching Programs, Irvin Schloss, Dunedin professional and Chairman of the PGA Education-Teaching Committee, is in charge of those sessions.

The Teaching Program in the afternoon will feature PGA members who have established themselves as outstanding instructors.

One of the highlights of the 42nd Annual Meeting will be the annual President's Dinner, scheduled the evening of November 11.

Business meetings of The PGA of America will be held Wednesday, November 12, through Friday, November 14.

Trans-America Pace at Wolverine Track

DETROIT (AP) — Wolverine Harness Raceway, already boasting a 25 per cent increase in attendance and mutuel handle over last season, gets a boost tonight with the Transamerica Pace.

The purse is $10,923 and the horse everyone expects to win the event is Belle Acton, queen of th harness horses. Belle Acton is the all-time leading money winner among pacers and until last week had a string of 13 straight victories.

She was beaten at Yonkers Raceway in New York by Widower Creed, who needed a record time of 1:58 and four-fifths to achieve it Belle Acton finished third behind Speedy Pick although she was under two minutes for the mile.

Baltimore Golfer Leads $1,500 Open

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dick Thomas of Baltimore shot a two under par 70 Wednesday to take the lead in the first round of the United Golf Assn.'s $1,500 National Open at North Park.

Thomas' 34-36—70 gave him a one-stroke lead over defending champion Ted Rhodes of St. Louis who carded a 35-36—71. Third in the field of 40 was Walter Stewart of Baltimore with a 36-36—72. The final will be played Friday.

Detroiter in Tie for Sailing Lead

NOROTON, Conn. (AP) — S. Dean Lewis of Marblehead, Mass., and Al Bortolotti of Detroit, Mich., tied yesterday with 92¼ points for the lead of the National Raven Class Championships sailing competition.

The second through fourth of five series races were held in a brisk 10-mile-an-hour breeze. The final race will be held tomorrow.

Carter Sales of Detroit was third with 89¼ points.

Bortolotti won the day's first race by 20 seconds, Sales won the second race over a six-mile course. Lewis won the third race.

Love Wins Over Jobs of Hollywood Players

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Love won out over the careers of two young Hollywood players.

★ ★ ★

Television cowboy Ty Hardin and actress Andra Martin last week postponed their wedding when their agents warned that marriage might injure their careers.

★ ★ ★

Hardin, 28, and Miss Martin, 23, took out a marriage license yesterday. Said Miss Martin: "We talked it over and decided that our love comes ahead of our careers."

Lands at Wrong Place

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Contractor Herbert I. Newman saw a landing strip and set his light plane down, stepped out and found a circle of armed guards. He had landed on the restricted strip of the Atomic Energy Commission's radiation laboratory. It took three hours and an order from Washington to win his release.

The hardest job of all is that of finding a soft job.

Hold Ground-Test for Rocket Motor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has ground-tested a rocket motor—for air defense missiles—which developed a thrust of several hundred thousand pounds.

★ ★ ★

An authoritative source said the rocket motor was tested on the static stand at the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

The Defense Department said yesterday the rocket motor was capable of hurling an air defense missile to a very high altitude almost instantly.

★ ★ ★

Solid fuel was used. Liquid fuels, which provide a longer sustaining power, are used for most of the current missiles intended for longer ranges.

★ ★ ★

Space vehicles or intercontinental missiles need motors requiring much more than a short burst of power at the time of launching.

Back To School

Groom Your Way to Popularity

"Sorry, I can't make it."

That's the most deflating remark a high school student probably will ever hear, especially when it is a refusal of an invitation to that first big dance.

"Why?" That's the haunting question mulled over day after day.

If the grooming I.Q. is low, any boy or girl may become low student on the totem pole. Don't let it happen to you.

It's easy to maintain good grooming standards if a routine of cleanliness is developed. Here are some ideas:

Never let a button lie. Make sure it's put back on your jacket, trousers or shirt. You may become used to its absence, but other people will mark you as careless.

Be sure you wear fresh underwear, clean socks, a pressed handkerchief. There's no worse sight than a young adult with dirty linen showing, and that goes for slip straps, slips that hang below the hemline and shirt and blouse collars.

NEATNESS PAYS

Young men and women should be aware of the importance of shined shoes. No girl wants to date a boy who wears scuffed shoes or dirty white oxfords, no matter what the fashion in studied carelessness may be. Worn down heels also may spoil a good impression.

★ ★ ★

There is an excuse for people who are color blind to adopt willy-nilly dress schemes. But others should take the trouble to get the feel of colors and patterns that go together.

To look presentable at all times you must take good care of your clothes. Learn to hang up your clothes when you come home from school. Put on your after-school duds, and store your school clothes neatly for the next day.

Brush your clothes regularly, removing stains as soon as they occur to cut down on cleaning costs and laundry chores.

Check your fingernails, skin and hair. Cleanliness is absolutely essential when it comes to these obvious first-impression points that stand out like beacon lights.

CARE FOR TEETH

Clean teeth and good breath are other requirements. See your dentist often and clean your teeth every day. Bad breath has ruined many a good friendship.

Every student should learn the importance of using a deodorant, not only to offset the effects of perspiration on clothes, but because body odor is one of the most unforgivable faults, and likely to stamp a student as careless.

It's not easy to be well groomed, and at an age when most students must leave mom's darning needle and ironing board for their own sewing box, it may take a bit of doing to look neat. But it will pay off when you stand up to be counted at class assembly.

Hollywood Headlines

Entertainment Booming in Capital of Show Biz

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Entertainment is booming in the show business, capital of the world.

Never can I remember so much prime entertainment of all kinds in the Hollywood area. And the public is buying. If this prosperity can be continued and spread throughout the nation, show biz need have no worries.

★ ★ ★

The Hollywood Bowl is finishing up a record season that has offered everything to all audiences, longhairs and crewcuts. Van Cliburn and Count Basie too.

The Greek Theater, once a civic white elephant, has been booming this season. Maurice Chevalier, Danny Kaye, Jose Greco, Cyril Ritchard, the ballet and now Jerry Lewis have proved to be surefire attractions.

★ ★ ★

That fabulous invalid, the theater, is booming. Eve Arden breezed into town as "Auntie Mame" and she'll have one of the longest runs in recent times at the Biltmore. Eve is at the peak of her career as Mame.

Half a block away at the Philharmonic Auditorium, "The Music Man" is displaying his brassy ware nightly to packed houses. Forrest Tucker is winning many friends with his job in the Robert Preston role. The guy deserves a better fate than horse operas.

Disneyland, Pacific Ocean Park and Marineland are doing great.

And don't leave the movie business out of the picture. Hollywood is bringing up its biggest guns to aim for the late-summer trade.

Last weekend, Gregory Peck tossed a party to celebrate his "Big Country" premiere and it looked as if the old days had returned to Hollywood. The picture was worth it. A Western in the truly epic tradition, it is movie making at its best.

There are others too: "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," a fine, taut drama with superb acting; "Reluctant Debutante," all fluff and delightful; "The Defiant Ones," a return to tight, meaningful storytelling; "White Wilderness," a Disney delight; "The Hunters," a jet film, etc.

★ ★ ★

On that optimistic note, I'll take off for a fortnight to rest up for the opening of the fall show biz season.

Urges U.S. Warning to Communist China

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mme. Chiang Kai-shek wants the U.S. government to inform Red China it will fight if the Reds invade offshore islands in the Formosa Strait.

The wife of the Nationalist Chinese leader held a news conference yesterday soon after President Eisenhower in Washington declined to comment on U.S. intentions in the Formosa area.

Said Mme. Chiang: "A clear-cut, strong statement on the part of the United States that any attack on the islands (Quemoy and Matsu) is an attack on our mutual security pact would do more than anything else to maintain peace.

★ ★ ★

"The Communists would then no longer dare to carry out further aggression."

Youth Should Think Now About Career of Future

By G. K. HODENFIELD

"I'm gonna be a fireman when I grow up," said Jimmie.

"And I'm gonna be a nurse, or maybe an actress," said Betty.

Is that what happened? Not likely.

What probably did happen is that Jimmie and Betty each changed their minds about a career several hundred times in the next 20 years. Then they entered fields they hadn't even thought about until their junior or senior year in high school or even later.

The choice of a career is one of the most baffling—and most exciting—problems facing an American student. There are thousands of occupations open to every Jimmie and Betty, with a vast range in activity, pay and interest.

Some students are lucky. They know from a comparatively early age exactly what they want to be, they enter that field, and they live happily ever after.

Others have it rougher. They can graduate from college and still not know what they want to do. Even after they decide on a career, they're never quite sure they made the right choice.

★ ★ ★

Counseling and guidance officers can help a high school student point toward a proper goal. So can aptitude tests. But these aren't yet the final answer to the problem. They may never be.

The Labor Department in Washington has taken a crack at the problem with publication of a 700-page book called "Occupational Outlook Handbook." It takes up about 500 occupations and 25 major industries, and spells out the employment outlook for a few years ahead, earnings, how to qualify, and the nature of the work.

Among the fields which the labor department says have excellent job opportunities — now and in the future — are teaching, nursing, home economics, medicine, automotive repair, business machine repair and maintenance, atomic energy, industrial chemistry, plastics, tool and die making, welding, electronic manufacture and technology and actuarial work.

But the department shies clear of recommending any of these as the most promising field for high school graduates.

"There are too many things which have to be considered," a department spokesman said.

"Certainly automotive repair is no field for a student who has no mechanical aptitude. And teaching is no field for someone who can't stand children.

"A job is more than a means to a living, it helps materially to shape an individual's pattern of life. Students have to look far ahead in planning their careers—after all, they have about half a century of work ahead of them."

Fancier Mouse Trap May Prove Better

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Casimir Guzik of suburban Bedford, Ohio, expects the world to begin beating a path to his door any day now because he's invented a better rat trap.

Guzik's contraption features tunnels at both ends because the inventor remembered that rats like to run in tunnels.

But after being lured into the tunnels, the rat steps on a trigger which closes both doors. Attracted deeper into the trap by small holes which admit light, the rat runs up a ladder where another trip trigger dumps him in a tank of water.

Guzik, who says his large economy-size trap might accommodate as many as 199 rats, is looking for a rat-infested area to try it out in and for a manufacturing sponsor to get his invention on the market.

Sign Smuggling Pact

ANKARA — A pact has been signed by Pakistan, Irag, Iran, and Turkey to prevent smuggling across the boundaries of the four Baghdad Pact nations having common borders.

Perique tobacco is grown only in Louisiana. This strong, spicy leaf is used to flavor lighter tobaccos in mixtuures prepared for pipe smokers.

Famous Eagle Fliers to Get New Claws

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UPI — The fabled Eagle Squadron of World War II, now the 335th Fighter Squadron of the Tactical Air Command, will be the first combat unit to be equipped with the new supersonic Republic F105 jet.

The fighter-bomber, described by TAC's Gen. O. P. Weyland as "the most powerful one-man airplane" in the world, packs 13,000 pounds of airborne destruction.

Included in its potential arsenal are nuclear weapons, guided and unguided missiles, 4,000 pounds of conventional bombs, some 180 rockets and a 6,000-rounds-a-minute automatic cannon whose 20-millimeter shells hit the target with the impact of a car hitting a stone wall at 450 miles an hour.

Nautilus Heads for Home Base in Connecticut

NEW YORK (AP)—The atom-powered submarine Nautilus and its crew head for home base of New London, Conn., today, the cheers of New Yorkers still echoing in their ears.

The submariners, who took their craft on the first underwater passage beneath the North Pole, got a rousing reception yesterday by a quarter-million spectators as bands and color guards escorted them up Broadway.

Presented with gold medals by Mayor Robert F. Wagner were Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, Father of the Nuclear Submarine and President Eisenhower's personal representative at the city's three-day celebration, and the Nautilus' skipper, Cmdr. William R. Anderson.

The entire crew also received city citations.

Auto Strikes Idle 13,200 Men

Curtice Charges UAW Blocks Negotiations by Taking Rigid Stand

DETROIT (AP)—Three new strikes were added today to a rash of scattered wildcat walkouts that threaten to delay 1959 model production in the auto industry.

The new walkouts, all by United Auto Workers Locals at General Motors plants, brought the total of idled auto workers to 13,200, although a one-day strike at a Ford Highland Park plant was settled today.

GM's Fisher Body stamping plant at Hamilton, Ohio, had 2,500 workers out, and 1,500 left another General Motors Fisher Body plant at Grand Rapids. GM's Brown-Lipe-Chapin Division parts plant at Elyria, Ohio, was struck by 400 workers.

GM said in Detroit the company's Buick Division will be forced to shut down if the three latest stoppages continue longer than two or three days.

GM accused the UAW of "continuing its guerrilla warfare tactics" and said all disputes could have been settled through normal grievance procedures.

Today's contract talks were scheduled for only half the day. They will not resume until after Labor Day.

The strikes, in Michigan, Ohio and Delaware, accompanied a charge by retiring president Harlow Curtice of General Motors that a rigid union position has blocked contract negotiations.

Curtice said in his statement that there would be no change in GM's personnel and labor relations policies under the company's new management leadership.

Makarios Blames Crisis on Britain

ATHENS (AP) — Archbishop Makarios today laid responsibility for "the steady worsening of the situation in Cyprus" on Britain.

The spiritual and political leader of Greek Cypriots was exiled by Britain at the height of the Greek underground campaign and now lives in Athens.

He told a news conference the latest British plan for a seven-year cooling off period would make permanent the division of the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot communities.

The archbishop claimed that the British administration on the island was "biased to the utmost in favor of the Turks."

"I wish to declare once more that the Greek Cypriots will fight the application of the plan at any cost, having in view only the conquest of their freedom," the archbishop said.

Donates 264 Gallons of Blood to Mankind

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dolly, an old gray mare, is worth more than her weight in gold at the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

The 24-year-old mare has donated 1½ times her weight in blood since 1947. She's given 264 gallons for scientific research.

Dolly's blood is used at the university's bacteriology and chemistry laboratories, at the State Health laboratory, Chanute Air Force Base, local hospitals and the university's medical college, as well as at its college of veterinary and medicine.

Papa Needn't Always Pay, Judge Rules

ROME — (UPI) — An Italian supreme court has modified the old adage that, "It's papa who pays."

The court ruled that wives cannot run up bills for personal things if the amount exceeds the husband's earning power.

The case involved a husband who was brought to court by a grocer after his wife had run up a huge bill on foodstuffs and had charged the amount to hubby.

The court upheld the grocer.

"The bills that a wife runs up must be limited to within the earning power of the husband. In this instance, the wife bought solely foodstuffs and an amount which appears reasonable for an average daily sustenance," the judge said.

★ ★ ★

The husband had to pay the bill. But the judge added that if the wife had charged things "for her own personal use, such as an excessive amount of cosmetics, jewelry, a fur coat or perhaps an automobile, then the husband would not be held liable to pay."

Grains Higher in Early Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—Far Eastern developments between the Communist and Nationalist Chinese were the prime factors again today in higher grain futures prices on the Board of Trade.

Nearly all contracts moved well ahead in early dealings with trade probably at a faster pace than at any time this week. Dealers said overnight reports on a possible Communist invasion of Chinese offshore islands and the possibility of U. S. involvement were disquieting but that the trade does not view them as extreme.

Lamson Bros., a major grain firm, said also it had been advised that 20 or 25 per cent of the northern Iowa corn crop will be caught by frost if the first frost of the year should occur near the average date.

Wheat was ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel higher near the end of the first hour, September $1.86; corn ¼ to ⅞ higher, September $1.25; oats ⅛ to ⅜ higher, September 62½; rye ⅝ to 1⅜ higher, September $1.25¼; soybeans 1 to 1⅜ higher, September $2.24⅛; lard 3 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $13.00.

News in Brief

Edward Appley, of 15 Fairgrove Ave., pleaded guilty today to reckless driving before Municipal ordered to attend driving school for a month.

Stanley Piotrowski, 46, of 2387 Circle Dr., Union Lake, pleaded guilty to drunk driving before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Lieb. He was fined $100 or 30 days in jail.

Pontiac Police report thieves broke into Furtney's Drug Store, 974 Joslyn Ave., and stole 29 money order blanks, 10 cartons of cigarettes and $180 in change sometime Tuesday or Wednesday.

An undetermined amount of clothing and two dollars in change from the register were reported stolen from Benard's Cleaners, 485 S. Sanford St. after thieves broke into the building early this morning, according to Pontiac Police.

'Possible Within 5 Years'

Astronautical Parley Hears Plans for Space Platform

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—An American "Astronaut" said today the United States may be ready to test the world's first manned space platform within the next five years.

★ ★ ★

Darrell Romick of Akron, Ohio, told the International Astronautical Congress that intensive research already has produced tentative solutions to some of the problems involved in launching such a platform.

Romick said the proposed platform would be a three-stage rocket carrying eight men—three each in the first and third stages and two in the second. Each stage would be a "spaceship" capable of returning to earth, with delta wings enabling it to maneuver in the atmosphere.

The duties of the crewmen have been figured out in some detail, he said, and special chairs with pushbuttons in the arms are being designed so they can operate the rocket even under the vast strain of takeoff.

★ ★ ★

Another American space engineer reported on prospects for a "special events satellite" which he said could make it possible for half the world to see a "live" telecast of the inauguration of the next U. S. president.

Robert Haviland, of Philadelphia, said it would take about two years to get a TV relay into orbit if someone were willing to foot the bill.

"It would be of about the same order of difficulty as the orbiting telescope project announced here yesterday . . ." he said. "That also would include television equipment, and some of the experts who heard the paper regard it as a practical proposition for the near future."

Haviland had previously proposed the launching of a satellite designed to orbit at a height of 22,000 miles, which he said could relay television programs to most of the world — or keep it under military surveillance.

★ ★ ★

He said he still has such a project in mind, but that it would take considerably longer to work out than a temporary satellite designed to handle one particular "special event."

"As space research advances . . . such a (22,000-mile) satellite comes closer, but I would say it is still from 5 to 25 years away," he said.

"However, at least three companies have sent proposals for such a project to the Advanced Research Projects Agency."

Haviland questioned the theory that the deadly radiation on the threshold of space can be swept away by special satellites, saying he believes it may extend clear to the surface of the sun.

Romick heads the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company's Astronautics Department and Haviland is a member of General Electric's missile and space staff.

Alabama First Alphabetically

Still Top on States List but Alaska Will Bump Arizona to 3rd Place

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — It was a close squeak, but Alabama still remains first in the nation in at least one regard: alphabetically.

When Alaska comes into the union it will take over the No. 2 spot, bumping Arizona down to third.

Alabama officials are thankful for that letter "s" in Alaska, because some advantages go with being at the top of the list.

At national political conventions, Alabama is called first and has the opportunity to name the first candidate for President or Vice President.

If they don't choose to name a favorite son, the Alabama delegates can yield to another state.

Besides, at big national functions which include a parade, Alabama marchers usually lead the way.

Ten million students in Russia are studying English, says Dr. Leon Twarog of Boston University. He recently returned from a 60-day tour through Russia colleges.

Hogs—Salable 50. Not enough offered today to test market. Compared Wednesday's close with last week: barrows and gilts 75 cents to mostly 1.00 lower; sows 50-75 cents lower.

Not Enough Lumber in Forests for Future

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Unless U. S. forest lands are better managed in the future than they are now, this country may have trouble meeting its timber needs, says a Purdue University forester.

Population increases, more reservoirs and highways and land urbanization are combining to reduce the amount of commercial forest land, three-quarters of which is privately owned.

Most of the trouble, said the forestry expert,isthatf orests are not supporting as many trees as they should. Some areas, he said, have less than 10 per cent of the trees they are capable of maintaining.

Cussing Sailors Shell Out Fines on Queen's Ships

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI) — Swear like a saior? Not aboard Her Majesty's fast minelayer Apollo — it's too expensive.

Royal Navy Chaplain Caradoc Hughes and Captain Michael Lumby hit on a way to clean up traditional seadog language.

They installed a collection box on the mess desk and crewmen are competing to stay away from it. The accompanying sign says:

"You said a naughty word. You are sorry for what you have done, so pay your fine.

"For mild and sissy swearwords—One Penny.

"Out-and-out cusswords — Twopence.

"The kind that curdles milk — Three pnce.

"The kind that kills termites — Sixpence."

Commented Chaplain Hughes — "I see the money goes in."

Steels, Coppers Lose Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels and coppers lost ground as the stock market moved irregularly lower in fairly active trading early today.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

★ ★ ★

Lower copper prices abroad and a cut in the domestic copper price at the custom smelter level accompanied the retreat of coppers. Kennecott was off about 2 points. Anaconda and Phelps Dodge eased. International Nickel dropped a fraction.

National Steel fell a point to 65½ on a large opening block of 27,500 shares. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem lost fractions.

Bell Aircraft eased fractionally after its strong run-up of the past two days on news of its fluorine rocket propellent. Curtis Publishing resumed its rise on word that the Saturday Evening Post will now accept beer and liquor advertising. The stock rose a fraction. Union Oil of California moved ahead more than a point.

The market shied away yesterday from a break-through of its 1958 peak and brokers said typical pre-Labor Day caution was an element in trading.

Fractional gains were made by Goodrich, Boeing, General Dynamics, International Telephone, Eastman Kodak, Southern Pacific and Johns-Manville.

General Motors and American Motors were easy. Chrysler dropped a fraction. Slightly lower were Sears, Roebuck, American Cyanamid, Baltimore & Ohio and Pfizer. United Aircraft and Merck were off around a point.

Opening blocks included: Avco unchanged at 8½ on 5,000 shares; Bell Aircraft off ½ at 22⅛ on 2,000; General Motors off ⅛ at 42 on 4,000; and Kennecott off 1½ at 92½ on 1,000.

Fire Fighter Gets Jolt on Answering Alarm

LAWRENCE (UPI)—Volunteer fireman M. J. Conklin jumped aboard the village fire truck when the fire alarm sounded.

Minutes later, much to his surprise, the truck pulled up to his home where the barn was afire. The blaze had been started by his two young sons while playing with matches.

Conklin said his boys had their

New GM Team Must Face Auto Industry Strike Threat

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The first task facing the new and younger team heading up General Motors will be to handle the threat of an auto strike.

★ ★ ★

To the public this is far more important than any internal corporate changes that may follow the retirement of President Harlow H. Curtice and Chairman Albert Bradley.

That's because the effects of an auto strike would spread far beyond the auto industry, itself so vital to the American economy. A shutdown could, at least temporarily, knock the pins out from under the general industrial recovery before it really gets started.

★ ★ ★

How incoming Chairman Frederic G. Donner and incoming President John F. Gordon deal with Auto Workers President Walter Reuther will be of prime importance to the industry, of which GM is roughly half.

No matter where the union decides to concentrate negotiations —with GM, Ford or Chrysler — GM's stand will be of prime concern to all.

An auto strike is what business in general fears more than anything just now.

★ ★ ★

Example: Much of the new optimism in the steel industry is traced to expectations that the auto industry, its biggest customer, will be ordering heavily from now on. Steel counts on automen to be pushing output of the new models on which Detroit pins its hopes of recovering lost sales ground.

Many other industries—rubber, copper, glass, lead, zinc, radio set makers—and a host of auto industry suppliers will be watching the labor parley. Their business would be hit badly by an auto strike.

A lengthy shutdown could quickly clear out the showrooms of the car dealers. It might for a time face motorists with a shortage of new cars instead of a surplus.

All hands have cause to hope there'll be no strike.

★ ★ ★

But the public has another reason to watch how the Donner-Gordon team handles the union negotiations.

The auto industry shares with the steel industry the popular conviction that their wage settlements set the pace. What Reuther gets short of a strike, or after one, may affect negotiations in other industries. It may affect the general price pattern too.

And that, in this time of fear of further inflation, is of prime interest, not only to industry but to consumers.

GM officials say that Donner, as executive vice president has been in close touch with the labor negotiations to date and won't be stepping into his new role as GM's chief executive officer as a novice.

Neither will Gordon. He has been vice president in charge of engineering and manufacturing, dealing directly with union and other operational affairs in the plants. He will head up the executive committee in charge of operation policies.

★ ★ ★

Some think he may take over Curtice's role as chief spokesman when GM deals with the public.

The new team in management won't be unknown to the union leaders either, who doubtless have long before this pretty well gauged Donner's and Gordon's characters, convictions and policies.

"FOOTPRINT" — James M. Lane, United States Rubber Co. tire design engineer, inspects the "footprint" of the new low profile U. S. Royal Master passenger tire. The mesh pattern, a new concept in tread design, places more than 600 inches of wiping edges in contact with the road. It gives 30 per cent more skid resistance and 57 per cent more breakaway traction than tires with the conventional rib and groove tread.

Bee Business Offers Promise, Says Professor

ITHACA, N. Y. (UPI)—If you're looking for a profitable job in a less crowded field, here's a suggestion—if you don't mind an occasional sting.

"As long as bees have stings and continue to use them, there'll be no overcrowding in the bee industry," said Prof. E. J. Dyce of the New York State College of Agriculture. And, he noted, it is a business which has been showing steady improvement.

For example, the professor said, thousands of people have gone into beekeeping as a sideline. "Many have paid off the mortgage on their farms or homes by keeping bees as a part-time venture," he added.

★ ★ ★

"Beekeeping for commercial production of honey and beeswax or for pollination of fruit and seed crops has been as sound as any other agricultural industry, and the capital outlay to get into it is small in comparison to othe ragricultural work," Dyce said.

Other advantages of beekeeping, said Dyce, include:

★ ★ ★

"You can be your own boss and not tied down to a daily routine. Beekeeping requires certain work with the colonies at definite times of the year, but if you keep up with the work you can take a few days off now and then during the summer."

Tire Introduced by U.S. Rubber Co.

DETROIT (AP) — United States Rubber Co. introduced a new type of passenger car tire today which it says gives 60 per cent more mileage than first-line tires now on the market.

The tire, oval-shaped in cross-section, is said to give increased stability at high speeds because of less flexing. Smoother riding and cooler running are claimed.

Called the low profile U.S. Royal Master, the tire is made in tubeless form with nylon cords. The cords are said to have a tensile strength of 52 pounds, compared to 29 pounds for standard nylon tire cord.

Engineers said the tire on a 15-inch wheel lowers the height of the car as much as a conventional tire on a 14-inch wheel.

Planes Solve Road Problems

Birds-Eye Views of Highway Congestion Leads to Answers

LANSING (UP) — Birds-eye views are helping the State Highway Department to solve traffic congestion problems in a hurry.

Department aircraft and traffic engineers equipped with notebooks and cameras are the team that does the job. It's a program begun last month and already has produced what Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie calls "highly pleasing results."

★ ★ ★

Examples:

Traffic was moving smoothly on M67 north of Standish but from that point south was congested. Engineers, given an overall view from the air, quickly concluded more green-light time for motorists traveling U.S. 23 at the M76 intersection would solve the problem.

More adequate signs directing motorists to a new four-lane bridge over the Saginaw River eased congestion at two points in Bay City. Overhead signs did the job at the north end of the new Fenton-Clio Expressway.

"Congestion points can be observed from the ground, but this is necessarily limited in scope," Mackie said. "From the air, viewing traffic patterns as they develop, we can see all the factors involved at once and find solutions to congestion problems more easily.

"Much of the congestion can be alleviated by simple signal timing changes or new signs. Other situations require widening of roadways, flaring of intersections or minor relocations."

With airplanes, he said, department engineers were able to study nearly all the traffic problem areas in eastern Michigan in a matter of hours.

11 Young Farmers Proposed for Honor

LANSING (UP) — Eleven young Michigan farmers will be recommended for the highest degree conferred by the Future Farmers of America.

★ ★ ★

Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said yesterday FFA national directors have proposed the group for the American Farmer degree. Winners will be announced at the organization's national convention Oct. 13-16 in Kansas City.

Navy Weapon Can Track Elusive Target

Reveals Subsea Guided Missile

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy today announced development of an "underwater guided missile" to be fired from submarines and steered by an attached thread-like wire.

★ ★ ★

It was the third major development announced by the Defense Department in 24 hours designed to increase the nation's military posture.

The new underwater weapon, the Navy said, can strike its target despite enemy evasive maneuvers. As the torpedo noses through the water, the wire is played out from the launching vessel and "wire guidance enables the torpedo to follow the target until the kill is made."

The Navy declined to disclose range of its new weapon, designated the Mark 39.

A Defense Department statement last night revealed that the Army has tested a rocket motor with such huge power that it could hurl "an air defense missile to a very high altitude almost immediately."

★ ★ ★

While the official announcement did not say so, the rocket booster was known to have been tested in connection with the Army Nike-Zeus program for developing a defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Agent Dissolves Blood Clots

Test of Fibrinolysin on 52 Patients Gives Promising Results

CHICAGO — A new agent that appears promising in the treatment of blood clots that move from one spot to another was described in a preliminary report in a recent Journal of the American Medical Association.

The agent is fibrinolysin (plasmin), a derivative of human blood. Given intravenously, it attacks and dissolves fibrin, the essential substance of a clot, without disturbing normal coagulation of blood.

Fibrinolysin was given to 52 patients sufering from various types of thromboembolic disease — in which a vessel is blocked by a clot that has broken loose from its site of formation — by Dr. Kenneth M. Moser, Washington, D. C.

On the basis of his study, Dr. Moser said "one is justified in cautiously suggesting" that fibrinolysin may represent a major advance in the treatment of thromboembolic disease. However, firm conclusions cannot be drawn until large-scale controlled studies have been conducted.

Fibrinolysin acts rapidly and causes few serious adverse effects, Dr. Moser said. Almost half of the patients developed fever after receiving fibrinolysin, and two showed delayed skin eruptions. Because of the danger of fever reaction, it cannot now be given safely to persons with coronary thrombosis, he said

In 18 patients with deep venous thrombophlebitis of the legs (in which clots occur in the deep veins), the results were "consistently encouraging." The patients' legs showed a loss of heat, tenderness and size within 24 hours, and there was no recurrence of clotting.

★ ★ ★

"Some beneficial effect" was noted in four of eight patients with pulmonary embolism (in which clots have moved into the lung area from other places). There was rapid relief of chest discomfort and an interruption in the course of "recurrent embolization" which had not responded to treatment with drugs that prevent coagulation.

Fourteen patients with blocking of the cerebral arteries received the agent. Seven showed some degree of improvement (return of speech and movement), although it was maintained in only four.

No conclusions can be drawn from these few cases about the value of fibrinolysin in "a process as unpredictable" as cerebral thrombotic disease, but they do suggest the safety of the treatment, Dr. Moser said.

COLLEGE CAMPUS, INDEED — But indeed it is. These University of Maryland students are leaving the campus of the university's branch in Munich, Germany. The college is housed in the Army's McGraw barracks.

Maryland U. Serves GIs by Munich Junior College

MUNICH, Germany (UP) — Take 206 young Americans, salt liberally with higher education, add a heavy dash of continental atmosphere and bake in a GI oven. And what have you got?

You've got the Munich Branch of the University of Maryland. Education-wise, there is no other college like it outside the United States. Practically speaking, there's none like it anywhere.

To gain admittance, a student has to have a special qualification: his parents must be stationed overseas with the armed forces or government.

The campus lies within the gates of the Army's McGraw barracks on the outskirts of Munich. The 12 classrooms, study hall and recreation center are located in the headquarters of the Munich Army Command. Nearby dormitories house most of the 206 students.

There is a definite military air; missing are such teen-age and college trademarks as blue jeans and jalopies.

Dr. Paul Dickson of Lakeland, Fla., 52-year-old dean of the college and a former Army colonel, says: "We don't allow blue jeans because they're a sign of a high school teen-ager. Beards are also out. I banned autos for several reasons.

NO ROOM FOR CARS

"First of all there's the fact that West Germany has the highest auto accident rate in the world. Secondly, we're in a military barracks and there simply isn't any room for student autos. And then there's the fact that autos are a distraction, especially in a place like Munich, where there are so many things to see."

Dickson, a former West Point instructor who has also taught in the Denver High School system and at the University of Missouri, is a firm believer in discipline.

Despite the military-like gripes, most of the students seem content. John Nottingham, 19, of Houston, Tex., student business manager, said he considers the college a wonderful opportunity to see Europe.

John is a pre-medical student who spent one year at the University of Texas, transferring to Munich when his father was appointed editor-in-chief of the armed forces newspaper, The Stars and Stripes, at Darmstadt.

"One thing I do miss is fraternity life," said John.

The college is a junior college, operated by the overseas division of the University of Maryland. Maryland has made a speciality of providing after-hours courses for members of the armed forces.

Broker Wants to Sell Houses on the Moon

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — If there is a man in the moon, Pauline Riggs Haines wants to be the first one there to sell him a house.

A Downey, Calif., broker, Mrs. Haines recently wrote the State Division of Real Estate: "Enclosed please find $1 . . . I wish to be the first to apply for a branch office on the moon.

"My children insist this will come in my time. It is hard to believe, but I want to be ready."

Real Estate Commissioner F. W. Griesinger showed that his imagination was at least equal to Mrs. Haines'.

He decided that pending annexation of all or part of the moon's surface to the state of California, her application for a branch office will be kept on file under "Moonbeams."

Michigan Fair to Open

DETROIT (UP) — The 109th Michigan State Fair opens tomorrow with the traditional opening day parade in downtown Detroit. The 10-day exhibit closes Sunday, Sept. 7 with a 250-mile auto race. Coliseum shows will feature Tennessee Ernie Ford and singer Ricky Nelson.

Odd Names Abound Across Map of U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ever address a letter to Eagle, Deer or Turkey? That's where just three of Uncle Sam's 36,605 post offices are located.

Then, there's Lamb, Ky., Chicken, Alaska, and Quail, Tex. Texas has Silver and seven states have towns called Golden. There are a couple of places named Coal City, Iron City, and Oil City, but Texas has the only Ore City.

Old Joe is in Arkansas, Truth or Consequences in New Mexico, Fate in Texas, Preston in Kansas, Fame in Oklahoma, and — Relief in Kentucky and North Carolina

'Dotto' Case Casting Long Shadow Over Quiz Shows

Here Is One Relative Starlet'll Surely Claim

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Hi, you-all!

One of my contributors, butter-and-egg man Elmer Reilly, who made both Reader's Digest and Life with his polite fib that he'd seen a sign in Detroit saying "Volkswagen, Go Home!", now tells me that Taffy Tuttle found a town in Massachusetts named after Yul Brynner.

WILSON

It's Marblehead.

"I just got my auto plates—BB 39-24-36," reports Stanley Dombroff of West Islip. "It's a sexcylinder" . . . A young New York cop was asked the way to "The Avenue of Americas" which was formerly Sixth Av.). Scratching his head he said, according to Harry Hershfield, "I think it's someplace near 6th Av."

JENNY

Sixteen-year-old Jenny Maxwell from Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, daughter of a Norwegian construction worker, is the newest Hollywood find. Managed by Baum-Newborn and Lillian Small, she's been signed for TV. Jenny's reportedly a distant cousin of Marilyn Monroe — their mothers came from the same part of Norway . . . These two Madison Avenue executives were in conference with Peter Lind Hayes on a new TV show. "After all the drinking you have to do, doesn't your tongue burn?" asked one exec. His colleague said, "I don't know, I never tried to light it."

★ ★ ★

Jack Hurdle came across a 1942 John Powers Model book listing such names as Kay Williams (Mrs. Clark Gable), Florence Pritchett (wife of Ambassador to Cuba Erle Smith), Mona Freeman, Lucille Bremer, and Pat Ogden, whose top rates in those days were $10 an hour. Strangely, the biggest bust measurements then were 34 and 35 and Elaine Shepard, the writer and commentator, was the stand-out.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Comics Allen and DeWood did a one-nighter at a suburban cafe while a ringsider kept calling, "No, not here!" When they finished they learned he was the manager—and they'd worked at the wrong club . . . James Roosevelt signed a hefty contract to write a book called "Life With My Father, FDR" . . . Swedish actress May Britt is the only female in the new film, "The Hunters".

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Description of a gal with a big appetite: "On the way from the TV set to the refrigerator, she stops for a snack." . . . That's earl, brother.

Woman Killed in Crash

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Mrs. Yula Horton, 46, of Dearborn, was killed Tuesday when she was thrown from her husband's car after a collision and run over by a third automobile. The accident was on U.S. 2, 10 miles west of St. Ignace.

Boy Drowns in River

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A 14-year-old youth drowned Tuesday when his canoe capsized in the Lower St. Mary's River. He was Michael King, of Homestead, Sugar Island. His brother Albert, 12, was thrown into the water but swam to shore.

Public Angered by Disclosures

TV Producers Fear Scores of Lawsuits From Contestants

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — The final dot has been added to "Dotto," but the memory lingers on.

Why was it canceled? A few months ago, during one of the daytime shows, a standby contestant reportedly saw a regular contestant being spoon-fed some answers beforehand, as well as the identity of one of the "Dotto" sketches. At least, that's what the contestant later said in an affidavit.

JACK NARZ

This contestant (insiders say it was a woman) got $1,500 as the price of her silence — or, as it was put in the affidavit, "in lieu of legal action."

That would have ended it right there. These things, rumors say, have happened before. One persistent story is that a quiz show griper was once paid $50,000 to keep quiet about some such shenanigans.

But, in this case, it didn't end there. The contestant reportedly wanted more. And, when turned down by Frank Cooper Associates, the show's packager, she went to the sponsor, Colgate. The story is she asked for $4,000 more.

★ ★ ★

When it began to look like the FCC might step in, the sponsor stepped in first. And the show was yanked so fast there wasn't even time enough to tell MC Jack Narz.

"I'm still in a state of shock," Narz says. "I still haven't been told the whole story, just that my contract was canceled. They asked me if I knew what had happened. I said no. They said, 'Good, let's keep it that way'."

But, as far as the TV industry is concerned, things can't be kept that way. While producers almost unanimously insist some rigging — not out and out giving away answers, but loading questions to get rid of unpopular contestants — is neccessary to keep up viewer interest, the public doesn't want to know about it.

★ ★ ★

And, now that they do know, will ratings of quizzers continue high? That's what has the producers worried. And they're also concerned about all future contestants — every one is now a potential lawsuit, especially every loser who may go home and brood and start a nuisance suit.

No matter what happened in the past, or will happen in the future, the "Dotto story" has hurt TV quizzes. Will you ever feel the same about them, now that you know?

State to Pay 75 Pct. of School Aid Funds

LANSING (AP) — Checks representing about 75 per cent of state aid payments due Aug. 15 will go out later this week to Michigan's broke and borrowing school districts.

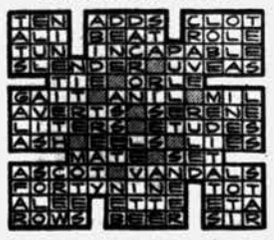

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown said a meeting of the state fiscal experts decided he could legally pay the schools whatever portion of the state aid money he had hand.

He estimated it will be possible to pay about $25,500,000 of the $36,000,000 in state aid due at midmonth. The payments will be prorated among the districts.

Brown said the school districts have been forced to borrow heavily from the banks because the Legislature failed to re-enact a provision permitting advances on school aid without interest from the general fund.

He said during the first 11 weeks of the fiscal year, 282 school loans from banks, totaling more than 12 million dollars, have been approved by the Municipal Finance Commission. This compared with 12 loans totaling $684,000 in 1957 when the treasury was permitted by law to make advances from the general fund.

He Terrorizes Wife, Children

Officers Watch Scene Through Window but Can't Intervene

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A brightly lighted house was like a stage with police a helpless audience outside watching a man pacing the floor with a high-powered rifle in his hands, holding his estranged wife and two children prisoners last night.

★ ★ ★

"We couldn't fire a gas bomb while the family was in the house," said Police Inspector Bob Piper. "We knew the little boy had just returned from the hospital where he was treated for pneumonia."

So officers just had to watch the scene through the side and back windows of the house the unemployed concrete worker had entered by shooting a lock off the door.

"His wife was sitting on a chair," Piper said. "He was pacing back and forth.

★ ★ ★

"Whenever we tried to talk to him, he would point the rifle at us."

After a tense hour, Lyle Kelly, 34, let his wife and children out of the house.

"You don't know whether I'll shoot or not," he shouted. "If you make it across the street you'll be lucky."

But Kelly didn't shoot and soon surrendered to police, handing his rifle meekly to an officer.

Mrs. Kelly and the children, boys 2 and 8, were not harmed. Another boy, 11, left the house earlier.

Kelly, who was being divorced by his wife and had been served with a restraining order, was taken to jail and booked for investigation.

MSU Fall Enrollment of 20,000 Predicted

EAST LANSING (AP)—Fall term enrollment at Michigan State University is expected to be about the same as last year.

Thomas H. Hamilton, vice president of academic affairs, estimated the enrollment at just under 20,000 students.

Admission applications from new freshmen and transfer students is up slightly, he said, and there is a substantial increase in applications from graduate students.

"The greatest unknown factor," he said, "is the general economic condition of the country and its effect upon enrollment. A year ago there was a greater attrition among students than had been predicted because of economic conditions."

Registrations of students will get underway on the campus Sept. 21 and classes will start Sept. 29.

Three Coeds Enjoy Flying to Jobs Daily

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Three coeds are having the time of their lives this summer commuting to jobs which are more than 175 miles from home.

Ann Wright, 19, Marilyn Wendell, 20, and Barbara Holmes, 20, were hired for the summer to work at Tag Airlines' main office in Cleveland. Recently, the airline transferred its home base to Detroit.

Rather than train new girls for the jobs, the airline decided to make commuters of Ann, Marilyn and Barbara. Each morning it flies them to Detroit from the Lakefront Airport here and then flies them back again in the evening.

Doctor Flies Blood to Patient's Rescue

LIBERTY, N. Y. (UPI)—A surgeon here piloted his personal plane 85 miles to New York City and back when he found that his patient needed three pints of rare blood available only in New York.

It took Dr. Carl Heins a little more than 30 minutes to fly to La-Guardia airport, where the Red Cross had sent the blood. Then he flew back to Liberty, where he and three other doctors operated on the patient, Emily O'Meara, for an intestinal obstruction.

Liquidate Alien Assets

WASHINGTON — The Office of Alien Property reports that more than $33,000,000 was realized during 1957 from income and proceeds of the liquidation of enemy assets seized during World War II under the Trading With The Enemy Act.

AEC Notes 6 Reactors

WASHINGTON — The Atomic Energy Commission reports that six atomic reactors designed for civilian power-generating use began operation in 1957.

Pulp Usage Increases

WASHINGTON — The nation's consumption of wood pulp is expected to reach more than 36,000,000 tons by 1975 — about 50 per cent over the 24,000,00 tons used in 1956. Last year per capita consumption of paper, the chief pulp product, totaled 410 pounds compared with 344 pounds in 1947.

Trying to Collect $2 Returns Man to Jail

MINEOLA, N. Y. (UPI) — When accused burglar Rod Carpentier, 39, was freed on bail from the Nassau County jail, he forgot to pick up the $2 he had left with jailer when he was sent to his cell.

So, two days later, he hopped in a car and drove to the jail to get the money. The jailer was willing to turn it over if Carpentier would produce identification —such as a driver's license.

"I don't have a driver's license," said Carpentier, whereupon the jailer arrested him on charges of driving without one, and a judge sent him back to jail for 30 days.
