Ask 5 Members of Racing Group to Testify Today

Hearings on Troy Site Go on Despite Plea for Postponement

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH
DETROIT — Five officials of a syndicate seeking a license for a race track in Troy Township have been called to testify today at hearings being conducted here before Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis.

Assistant Attorney General Wilbur De Young, who is conducting the inquiry, said the five were called to explain why the Michigan Thoroughbred Turf Club picked two Troy officials to acquire the 200-acre proposed track site.

One of the officials, attorney Malcolm M. Heber, was fired by the township board at a special meeting Friday night.

At the same meeting the other official, Treasurer Fred W. Hildebrandt, refused to resign. He said as an elected official he could not be dismissed by the seven-man board, of which he is automatically a member.

Testimony at the hearings Thursday and Friday revealed that Hildebrandt, Heber and Heber's law partner, Harry N. Dell, stood to make a profit of $165,000 by acquiring options on the land and then turning them over to the Turf Club.

"It looks like the Turf Club—or at least someone in the club—was working hand in hand with Hildebrandt and Heber," DeYoung said. "The question is why did they use Hildebrandt and Heber to acquire the land. That's the kind of thing you would think they would go to a real estate broker for."

DeYoung said two of the five officials, plus Turf Club attorney Henry C. Murray, who vowed Friday not to appear today, told him yesterday they "might be able" to appear.

Murray stalked out of Friday's session in anger after Inglis refused to delay the hearings three weeks, as he had asked.

The two officials are Dr. Benjamin T. Bratt, a Royal Oak optometrist, and James Chapin (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

General Dean Quits Active Army Service

SAN FRANCISCO — An impressive ceremony at the Presidio marked the retirement today of Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, Korean War hero, after 32 years in the Army.

He has been deputy commander of the 6th Army.

Dean spent three years as a communist prisoner after his capture near Taejeon in Korea.

He will be awarded a combat infantryman's badge, a decoration usually reserved for front-line infantrymen.

Dean earned his infantryman's badge by personally manning a bazooka against Red tanks.

UF Still Seeking $146,217 as End of Campaign Nears

The Pontiac Area United Fund crossed the $415,997 line Saturday in its race toward the $562,175 goal, Campaign Manager Robert M. Critchfield said today.

Some $146,217 is still needed before the drive ends Thursday night.

"We all need to put our shoulders to the wheel the last three days to bring in the final 26 per cent," Critchfield stated.

"Every citizen can help by being ready when called upon by the UF volunteer. Remember that, as an unpaid worker, each volunteer is giving many hours in the service of his community."

The Industrial Division leads with 86.3 per cent of quota. Marked increases, however, were registered in the Residential and Commercial Divisions, with both reaching the 59 per cent point.

Three individual units of the Commercial Division have passed the 60 per cent mark with three others close behind.

Gifts recently tabulated at UF headquarters in the Hotel Pontiac include $500 from Mrs. James Tuttle, Norwalk Truck Lines employee gave $182 and the firm $107.

Meanwhile, 30 women have volunteered to telephone solicitors tonight and remind them the drive's deadline is approaching. They will ask that an increased effort be made to get completed pledges to headquarters.

Sheriff's deputies said the two were driving north on M24 near Greenfield Road with siren and flasher on, when a car driven by Lynn Polan, 56, of Lake Orion, failed to yield right of way and hit them head on.

Polan's condition this morning was fair. He told deputies yesterday he had been drinking all afternoon, and that he had not he the siren or seen the flasher of the deputies' car. He added that he didn't know what had happened.

Hospital authorities said Earp, a Sheriff's Deputy for eight months had suffered severe injury to his right hip. Blackmer, who has been a deputy for two weeks, fractured both arms.

Sheriff Franck Irons said Earp and Blackmer had been told by radio that a car had rolled over near Bloomer State Park, and were speeding to the scene at the time of their accident. It was later found out there had been no injuries.

Two Oakland County Sheriff's deputies were seriously injured Sunday while they were speeding to an accident near Bloomer State Park.

Perry Earp, 39, was in critical condition this morning at Pontiac General Hospital, and his partner, Neil Blackmer, 24, was reported in good condition.

4 More Yanks Freed by China

Woman Scholar Who Confessed Acts Against Reds Among Repatriates

HONG KONG — Four Americans, including a Fulbright scholar who said she had made a "full confession" of acts against the Communist government, came back from Red China today.

They were Miss Harriet Mills of New York, who confessed to "acts inimical to the government of China," the Rev. Armand Proulx, 59-year-old Jesuit priest of Lowell, Mass., Mrs. Nadeshda Romanoff, a white Russian who became a naturalized American in 1937, and her 15-year-old daughter, Irene.

Miss Mills, 35-year-old daughter of Presbyterian missionaries, went to China in 1947 to do research for a doctor of philosophy degree and was arrested in Peiping in July, 1952.

The government charge against her was possession of a radio, but details were not known here.

"The Communists have a perfect right to arrest me," she told reporters. "I confessed from the very day I was arrested."

She refused to give details of her confession, but said she believed Americans had waged bacteriological warfare during the Korean War, and that "Americans were warmongers." She said she also had confessed to passing on information to British and American diplomatic establishments.

Miss Mills repeatedly stressed she had been "treated with the utmost consideration and courtesy" and said she had not been tortured.

"She refused to say, however, whether she had been kept in chains while in prison. Other Americans returning have reported seeing her in chains."

Like, Postmaster to Steer Clear of Political Talk

Summerfield Is Slated to Meet With President Over Routine Matters

DENVER (INS) — President Eisenhower holds a "non-political" conference today with one of the administration's chief political strategists, Postmaster General Arthur S. Summerfield.

Summerfield, seventh member of the Cabinet to visit Eisenhower at Fitzsimons Army Hospital, is scheduled to take up routine postal problems with the convalescing chief executive.

The conference is expected to cover administration strategy for getting Congress to approve a boost in postal rates next year, along with other legislative recommendations of the Post Office Department.

If Summerfield had any plans to talk politics with Eisenhower, they were a closely guarded secret.

The postmaster general is a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, and will probably be one of the first to know when the President makes his decision on whether to run for reelection.

NON-POLITICAL TALKS

The six previous Cabinet members who have talked with Eisenhower in his hospital room came away insisting there was no discussion of politics or the President's future plans.

White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty said that, as far as he knew, Summerfield's visit was completely non-political.

It was Summerfield who guided Eisenhower's successful campaign for the presidency in 1952 as GOP chairman.

If the President decides to step aside in 1956, because of his illness, the postmaster general is expected to play an active role in party councils in picking the Republican nominee.

WALKS TO ROOM

Eisenhower went for his longest walk yesterday since his heart attack. After paying a visit to the First Lady's room near his own on the hospital's eighth floor, he stepped out of his wheel chair and walked 30 or 40 feet back to his room.

In the afternoon he joined Mrs. Eisenhower in the hospital auditorium to see a movie, his second since his illness.

This is the "mobile" week in the President's recovery. By the end of the week, his sixth in the hospital, he is expected to be "quite mobile," in the words of his doctors.

Ghosts Out Tonight

Need Warm Clothes

Warm jackets will have to be donned under Halloween costumes tonight as the temperature may drop as low as 36 degrees.

Tomorrow it will be partly cloudy and cool with a high between 50 and 54.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 35 degrees. Snow flurries were witnessed by many on the way to work this morning.

The thermometer in downtown Pontiac registered 42 at 1 p.m.

Little Barbie has been placed in the care of friends.

Does Barbie wonder where her sister and brother, her lifelong playmates, are?

At home Saturday, in the care of a friend of the Bests, the chubby, yellow haired child toddled from room to room, looking. Sometimes she pressed her face to the window, her wondering blue eyes searching the lawn and the street for the two playmates who had never stayed away so long before.

Sometimes she went to the basement where the three played. Now and then she looked up enquiringly, saying the name "Nee," she used to call her brother.

Across the street, at Washington Junior High School, members of the school band who witnessed the tragedy talked in hushed tones of their first encounter with sudden death. For most of them, death has never been a reality before.

Close by, at 96 Franklin Blvd., another mother, the driver of the automobile that struck the children, is confined to her bed, under a physician's care for shock and grief. Her own five children, all under 9, have had to be taken to the grandmother's home—the two youngest who were with her at the time of the accident had been asking what killed the little boy.

Her husband, Norman LaLone, his eyes tear-filled, says, "She keeps wondering why she didn't see them when she was driving so slowly. She can't stop blaming herself."

Tonight that street, and others in Pontiac, will be filled with troops of costumed children, gay with the spirit of Halloween. Glennie and Helen won't be with them.

Perhaps drivers, touched by the tragedy, will drive with extra caution, remembering how lightning-fast a child can dart into the street.

And mothers, torn by the story of another's loss, will hold their children closer to their hearts, and guard them well.

Collapses After Tragedy

SHOOTS MILLIONAIRE HUSBAND — Blonde, 32-year-old Ann Woodward shot and killed her husband, William Woodward Jr., millionaire sportsman and socialite, with a blast from a shotgun early yesterday in their spacious home in Oyster Bay, N. Y. She told police that she had mistaken her husband for a prowler. Death was listed as "accidental pending further investigation." Mrs. Woodward today was under sedatives in a New York City hospital.

'Ad Circular' Was Ignored, Opening It Means $993

When Mrs. Peter Hoogerhyde Tuesday finally opened a letter which she thought was an advertising circular, she discovered that her husband was a winner of nearly $1,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes.

The family, including daughter Judy, 10, still isn't over the surprise, Dr. Hoogerhyde, a Pontiac dentist, said today.

The prize totals 319 pounds, three shillings and four pence, or about $993, he said.

Marvelling that the ticket he held was drawn, Dr. Hoogerhyde said he thought his chance of winning was about a million and a half to one.

"I bought the ticket—number BQB 43963—several months ago on a horse named Double Red. It cost $3," he said.

Although Double Red didn't run in the sweepstakes race Wednesday, the ticket won a prize anyway in the "unplaced" category, he explained.

"After I bought the ticket I didn't think much about the race until my wife told me I won a prize. There was a lot of excitement around home that day," he added.

Postmarked in Ireland on Oct. 20, the letter lay on a table in the Hoogerhydes' home at 262 Chippewa Rd. for several days.

"The envelope has an Irish air mail stamp and printing on it in the Irish language, Gaelic. But it looked as if it contained advertising. I'm just glad we didn't throw it out," Dr. Hoogerhyde said.

He said he'll frame the letter if he doesn't have to send it back to Ireland in order to get the money.

"Not everybody gets a letter like this one," he said.

What will the Hoogerhydes do with the money? "I'll know that when I know how much the income tax on it is," the doctor said.

Double Shotgun Blast Ends Life of Track Notable

William Woodward Jr. Mistaken for Prowler in Darkened Hallway

NEW YORK (INS) — William Woodward Jr.'s widow may be questioned more fully today about how she killed the millionaire sportsman and owner of the famed racehorse Nashua.

The beautiful blonde Ann Eden Crowell Woodward told investigators she fired two shotgun blasts at her husband when she mistook him for a prowler in the darkened hallway outside his bedroom.

The one time model and native of Pittsburgh, Kan., was under heavy sedation in New York's Doctors' Hospital. She had become hysterical during preliminary questioning in the Woodward's Oyster Bay home.

Dr. John M. Frutting, the Woodward family physician, said last night Mrs. Woodward was in a state of "severe shock and hysteria" and that her condition was not good.

Police said the shotgun blasts which killed the 35-year-old owner of the Belair stud in the pre-dawn hours of Sunday "just about blew his head off."

SLAYING ACCIDENTAL

Nassau County District Attorney Frank A. Gulletta, pending further inquiry, termed the slaying accidental.

Woodward and his 32-year-old wife had returned to their Long Island home from a plush party for the Duchess of Windsor only hours before the fatal shooting.

An hysterical and almost incoherent call to a telephone operator summoned police to the Woodward home shortly after 2 a.m.

They found the beautiful, night-gowned Mrs. Woodward in a foyer of their home in a state of hysteria and with her hands covered with blood. The nude body of her husband lay face down on the floor.

Mrs. Woodward told Nassau County Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell that she and her husband—who occupied separate ground floor bedrooms—had

Big Four Stalemate Enters Fourth Day

GENEVA (INS) — The Big Four Foreign Ministers met for the fourth time today with the western officials gloomy about the prospect of breaking the stalemate over the German unity issue.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles presided at the session where Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was expected to make new statements on the issue of reunifying a sovereign Germany a decade after the end of World War II.

But barring a miraculous change in Soviet thinking the three Western allied officials did not believe much progress would be made on their demand that the divided halves of Germany be allowed to have free elections.

Before entering the fourth session the three Western ministers held another meeting and mapped a policy keyed to the idea of pinning full responsibility on the Soviet Union for failure to break the impasse over Germany.

DeYoung said the five indicated they would hold a meeting before making a final decision on whether or not to appear today.

"I am surprised the officials are not clamoring to be heard," said DeYoung, who is assigned to Ingli's office.

Testimony last week showed that Dr. Bratt had approached Hildebrandt and Herber last spring asking them to assemble a 200-acre site at 14-Mile road and John R.

It was stated by an investigator for the attorney general's office that the two officials, who later set up a corporation with Dell known as the Esroh development Co., obtained options for the needed eight parcels of land for $430,000.

Moroccan Chief Flies to France as Exile Ends

BEAUVALLOON, France (U-P) — Deposed Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef of Morocco ended his Madagascar exile and came here today on the first stage in a journey which is expected shortly to restore him to his throne.

Before leaving the airport at Nice for this resort, he said:

"I am very touched by the welcome given me on my arrival in France. It is with keen pleasure that I return to this country, where I will await my early return to Morocco."

Accompanying 41-year-old Ben Youssef—now the symbol of militant nationalism in his homeland—are his two wives, seven concubines, two sons, four daughters and 23 servants. The youngest of the daughters was born in Madagascar. Ben Youssef held her in his arms as he was greeted by the dignitaries.

planned to trap any prowler who might have entered the house.

BIG GAME HUNTER

A big game hunter, she said a series of incidents in the area had made the residents "nervous" and that Woodward kept a pistol at his bedside while she had a British-made 12-gauge shotgun.

Oyster Bay Police Lt. C. Russell Haff said that only Saturday night a prowler had broken into the rear of the 12-room Woodward home and ransacked a wing rented to the Cinerama organization for research purposes.

Pinnell related:

"She and her husband had discussed the prowlers in the neighborhood and even at the party they attended talked about it and instituted plans to catch the interloper."

FIRE BOTH BARRELS

Pinnell stated that Mrs. Woodward said she had been awakened by the barking of a dog, went to her bedroom door, "opened it and saw the shadow and fired both barrels."

"She claimed," the statement continued, "her husband made no outcry. She is still in a state of shock and there are still a lot of questions we want to ask. It is more likely an accident than a homicide."

The incident occurred only two hours after the couple had left the society party at the home of Mrs. George F. Baker, widow of the former Secretary of War.

The Woodwards' two children—William III, 11, and James, 7—were upstairs asleep during the incident. They were taken to the home of their paternal grandmother.

The Woodwards frequently were seen together at racetracks and elsewhere. Only last year they hunted tigers in the Indian jungles.

RED POLKA-DOTS

Woodward's father was one of the outstanding men of racing. He took over chairmanship of the Jockey Club in 1924 from August Belmont and established the white and red polka dots of the Belair stud, the Woodward Stable, as familiar colors to racing fans.

The famous white and red dots were carried by such turf champions as Gallant Fox, Omaha and Granville and more recently by the great 3-year-old Nashua.

With his father's death three years ago, the younger Woodward began building a reputation and popularity of his own.

His marriage in 1943 to Ann Eden Crowell came as a surprise in some social circles. Just denting the radio and model fields, she was the orphan daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crowell, an eminent and respectable family—but not wealthy.

Woodward was graduated from Groton School and Harvard University and served in the U. S. Navy during World War II.

Weekend Death Toll on Roads: 12

Traffic Fatalities Drop; Slick Highways, Snow Blamed for Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic fatalities fell off in Michigan during the weekend although highways through most of the state were slickened by rain. In northern sections snow flurries made travel difficult.

Twelve persons were killed in traffic accidents between 9 p. m. Friday and Sunday midnight.

This compared with a death toll of 29 during the previous weekend.

Traffic fatalities included: David J. Troyer, 25, of Burr Oak, and his wife, Ardiss, 23. Cecil R. Brown, 47, of Flint. Charles R. Taylor, 31, of Lansing. Earl Dewey, 32, of Albion.

Mike Edward Bray, 30, of Wayne. Mrs. Helen Gibson, 44, of Millington. Richard C. Johnson, 33, of Adrian.

Patricia Jean Dahlen, 18, of Dearborn. Mrs. Helen J. Wood, 44, of Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. Ida Curry, 45, of Detroit. Richard Allen, 17, of Otsego.

Moms' Plan to Keep Students Home Fades

DETROIT (U-P) — Edgewood Elementary school said that a threat by mothers of 200 children to keep them at home failed to materialize today.

The mothers had threatened to give their children a vacation from classes rather than let them cross busy Telegraph Road (US-24) to the school in Taylor Township. The mothers are demanding a traffic light at Cypress and Telegraph, where the school is located.

A State Police scout car crew guarded the intersection at school time today. The protesting mothers twice blockaded Telegraph last week.

Mrs. Lucinda Burns, Edgewood principal, said absenteeism was "normal" today, with approximately 700 of the school's 731 pupils in classes.

The Day in Birmingham

Newcomers Recruiting Donors for Bloodmobile

BIRMINGHAM—Only a few days remain for members of the Newcomers Club to recruit donors for their annual sponsorship of the Red Cross Bloodmobile here.

From 2 to 3 p. m. Wednesday the portable Bloodmobile will be in operation at the Community House, with Newcomers hoping to make their quota of 200 pints of the life-giving substance.

Mrs. Richard Haviland, Newcomers president, and Mrs. Harold Bickner are still taking reservations. Transportation will be provided where necessary, they say, and a nursery operated under the direction of Mrs. Walter Riley.

Club members have been asked to point out the fact that the blood bank here is now getting cooperation from most states on a new "reciprocity" plan.

A spokesman said, "This means that blood given in Oakland County can be credited to a member of your immediate family in another state, or to oneself, if accident or illness should occur while the individual is away from home."

In September alone, she said, 18 separate requests were made and met, with 67 pints of blood needed.

"We have had a wonderful response so far," said Mrs. Haviland, and hope that all those who have generously volunteered to give blood will be sure to keep their appointments on time."

The Bloodmobile is staffed by the Red Cross with trained medical and technical personnel.

Tonight's City Commission agenda is a short one, highlighted by a report from the Chamber of Commerce off-street parking committee concerning on-street parking in the area surrounding the city's new parking lot which opened on Pierce Street Friday.

Other points under consideration will be flood conditions on Derby between Norwich and Elton Roads, a recommendation that $1,000 be expended for music equipment at the Elton Park Ice Skating Rink and the redemption of $65,000 in bonds for Municipal Parking Lot No. 1.

Two robberies were reported to police over the weekend. In one, Detective Lieut. Merlin Holmquist said $1200 worth of steel scaffolding and tarpaulins were stolen at Cross and 14 Mile Road, where the A. N. Hickson Construction Co. is erecting a Medical center.

The other was a break-in, the eighth to occur since February at a doctor's clinic at 640 N. Woodward Ave., Holmquist said. He said $135 was taken from a cash drawer which had been jammed open in an office shared by Doctors T. Y. Watson and A. K. Stolpmann. How the thief gained admittance to the building has not been determined.

The veil of secrecy will be lifted tomorrow for Exchange Club members who have signed up for one of the Greyhound Bus Co's "mystery trips." Members and their wives will board the bus at 7 p. m. at the Community House.

Taking over a block of 300 seats at Will-O-Way Playhouse on Friday will be the Holy Name School PTA. The theater party will get underway at 8:15 p. m. with the presentation of the new comedy, "Tender Trap." Starring will be Sonny Elliot, Detroit television artist.

Tickets, which will help pay for PTA activities, may be obtained at the door or from Mrs. Robert S. Tate and Mrs. Walter L. Flinn, cochairmen.

Robert G. Lange, 55, 695 14 Mile Rd., owner of Gray-Garfield and Lange, Detroit Commercial Art Firm, will be at 3 p. m. Tuesday at Bell Chapel of the William E. Hamilton Co. Burial will follow in Asclepias Park Cemetery. Mr. Lange died Saturday after a three month illness.

He leaves his widow, Doris; one daughter, Jeanne; his mother, Mrs. George A. Lange and two brothers, Paul E. and Gilbert R.

Former Birmingham Boy Killed in Cave-in

ORLANDO, Fla. (U-P) — A former Birmingham boy suffocated last night in a cave-in at a construction site where he and five other boys were digging a tunnel.

The victim, Timothy Decker, 12, moved here from Birmingham recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. Decker. The body will be returned to Michigan for burial.

Companions said young Decker was lying on his back in the hole and passing out dirt when the tunnel collapsed. He suffocated before he could be freed.

Detroit Contractor Dies After Attack at Game

DETROIT (U-P) — Walter G. Albrecht, 72, prominent Detroit contractor and builder, died of a heart attack suffered Saturday during the Michigan-Iowa game at Ann Arbor.

As head of the Albert A. Albrecht Co., he was associated with his father in construction of the Penobscot building. He also was a director and treasurer of the Gabriel Steel Co.

Plans Approved by School Board

Activity Centers Slated for Four Elementaries in City District

In a special meeting yesterday the Pontiac Board of Education approved preliminary plans for activity centers to be constructed at Central, Emerson, Hawthorne and Malkin Elementary Schools.

The circular, dome-roofed buildings will cost about $105,000 apiece. The architects, H. E. Beyster and Associates, were authorized to proceed with final plans and specifications.

In all, eight such buildings are slated for completion by next fall. Others will be at Crofoot, LeBaron, McCarroll and Willis Elementary Schools. Preliminary plans for the last four are expected for approval within a month.

In other action, the Board awarded a contract to Grotzau Brothers Contractors for grading the Walton Boulevard School site. The firm was low bidder at $6,340.

A plan for laying out a hard-surfaced, all-weather, play and parking area on the Crofoot school grounds was approved. The 230-by-112-foot site will be used for high school and Crofoot physical education classes and also by city recreation leagues.

It will be marked off for use as a parking lot at night. The project is slated for completion within four to six weeks.

Approval was given to investing money received from a special building tax in short-term government bonds which pay the board an interest profit when cashed in.

Although mentally deficient people may often be trained to do many useful things, no amount of training can make them more intelligent.

Saucer Researcher Plans Friday Talk

Desmond Leslie, English novelist and researcher into flying saucer reports, will speak Friday at 8:15 p. m. in Pontiac High School Auditorium, under sponsorship of the Flying Saucer Council of America.

His topic will be "Flying Saucers and the Emerging New Cycle." Leslie, 34, was educated at Trinity College in Dublin, Ireland. A Royal Air Force pilot during World War II, he has had three novels published in England.

The author is also co-writer of the book, "Flying Saucers Have Landed," published in America, eight European countries and South America.

Tickets are available at Grinnell Brothers music stores in Birmingham and Pontiac.

Runaway Beasts Not Really Wild

Excitable People Often
Cause More Trouble
Than Animals

WASHINGTON — Wild animals that break out of circus, pet shop or zoo usually don't prove as wild at first — as the human beings they excite by their chance meetings in the open.

Taxing the Washington police recently, an ocelot slipped from a pet shop and stalked for over a week among homes and woods around the Naval Observatory, the National Geographic Society recalls. The tropical American Wildcat nimbly dodged police shotgun blasts, dashed in and out of yards. Woodland traps were baited with halibut fillet; but all the police caught was a strong downwind whiff of fish. Coon dogs were put on the cat's tail. They found only the fish-laden traps.

After nine days of free-top freedom, the will-o-wisp ocelot, its sleekness gone, voluntarily limped back to the pet store.

Big cats on the loose have always worried police. Circus escapees have mauled people, even taken human lives. Thousands of volunteer searchers, police, Marines, helicopters, planes, and specially trained dogs failed to find a leopard on vacation from the Oklahoma City zoo. The staff finally captured it with doped horse meat — a meal it did not survive.

For carefree abandon, no creature outdoes monkeys on a spree. They disregard property rights, to say nothing of human rights—throw fruit and vegetables; stage barefaced jungle antics on city streets. One even broke up a corporation meeting. A baboon removed the seat of a policeman's pants while he was chasing another simian miscreant.

Four timber wolves gave authorities a different problem. Reared in captivity, they refused to go wild in a special preserve on Isle Royal, Michigan, set aside for their vanishing kind by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service. Twice liberated, the beasts nonetheless returned. They wound up at the Detroit Zoo.

South Africa Reports More 'Icebox' Fatalities

CAPETOWN—So many children are being trapped and suffocated in abandoned refrigerators in South Africa that a general appeal has been sent out to people to remove the locks or doors before they abandon such equipment.

The first such case occurred several years ago and as modern refrigeration equipment replaces the old-style types, more cases have been reported.

Lieut. Colonel Jan Taillard, head of the Johannesburg police, reminded the public that "in America the situation became so bad in some places that special laws were passed to make it an offense for people to abandon refrigerators without first removing doors or locks."

Employment May Climb to Record High in Flint

FLINT (AP) — R. C. Atkins, manager of the Flint Bureau of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, said today the outlook for employment in Flint during the next 60 days indicates it will likely surpass the all-time high of 149,600 set last May.

He also said automotive model changeovers were largely to blame for a drop in employment to 129,600 from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

Oregon Attempts to Shave Costs on Construction

SALEM, Ore. (INS)—School directors in Oregon are trying to shave construction costs on new buildings in an attempt to stretch their already strained budgets.

The department of education reports that traditional forms of architecture are steadily losing ground in the big building program in the state which has averaged an annual expenditure of $25,000,000.

Ingenuity of architects has in many cases enabled the districts to meet the rising costs of construction.

The department says lighter buildings are used and they are built to last 50 years instead of the traditional 100.

In one community, the district saved hundreds of dollars by pouring concrete walls on the ground, then raising them into place.

Another community used the "sandwich board" method of construction for a new school. This involved the use of asbestos material with a core of concrete.

Still another district drastically cut interior costs by dividing one large room into five classrooms with cabinets acting as partitions.

Ticket-Punch Corneas

STOCKHOLM — A new instrument for transplanting corneas, a device that works much like a ticket punch, has been invented by a Swedish eye surgeon, Dr. Henrik Sjoegren, Jonkoeping. Using his invention, Dr. Sjoegren punches a piece about a sixth of an inch in diameter out of the sightless cornea. He cuts an identical chunk out of a good cornea, inserts it, and stitches it. He says his "punch" greatly simplifies the operation.

Twelve 5-minute films to aid in the teaching of Basic Hebrew to adults are being prepared by Israel's Ministry of Education and Culture.

Aussie Ram Prices Up

SYDNEY — Polled (hornless) Merino rams brought record high prices at a recent sheep show and sale in Sydney. Top price paid for a ram was the equivalent of $5,200. An average of $1,800 was paid for each of 13 rams sold by one leading rancher. Over-all prices for the stud rams ranged about 50 per cent above 1954 prices.

New Diamond Needle

NEW YORK — Now available for playing phonograph records is a diamond needle. The diamond is smaller than a grain of sand. This needle is said to be the cheapest in the long run because it is supposed to last 90 times longer than any other needle on the market.

ITCH (Scabies) is highly contagious and will continue for life if not stopped. Its cure comes in the form of a new medicine, EXSORA, which kills the itch-mite almost instantly. Only three days EXSORA treatment is required. CUNNINGHAM DRUG STORES

Hal Boyle Says:

Memories Can Crack Middle-Aged Minds

NEW YORK (AP)—Death gets to be less of a stranger as you grow older.

As he harvests more and more of your friends and enemies, your gloating sense of survival becomes smaller. You are suddenly aware that more than 50 per cent of the people you've met in your lifetime are no longer with you.

I have the uncomfortable feeling some days that I have at least reached the 40 per cent figure, though I do my heart's best to create fresh loyalties as I move along.

Some days this is hard to do.

Old loyalties have a way of creeping back into your mind.

There are some memories a man can't afford. It is too perilous a self-indulgence. Some remembrances will crack the average middle-aged person's mind unless he turns his thoughts away.

But the past always churns in every brain, and I think at times of "Shorb" Schultz.

How the little man does come back, and I don't know why!

Back in 1928 I was a green copy boy and one of my duties was to carry late Saturday night copy from the Associated Press office in the Kansas City Star building to the AP office in the Journal-Post.

Shorb, to whom I delivered the copy, was one of my boyhood heroes. He was a telegrapher. He was about 5 feet tall and 3 feet around the middle.

Schultz left nothing to chance. He was a bachelor. He made money playing the grain market on the side. His girl friend sold magazine subscriptions, so he got his reading matter free.

Food was an obsession with him. He always brought his own lunch and dinner. His endless sandwiches and pieces of fruit were separately wrapped, and he unwrapped each small tidbit as if he were unveiling the Taj Mahal.

After each meal he took a big swig from a bottle of mineral oil he had handy. He felt his program kept him healthy as well as fat.

To fetch him the copy I had to cross a viaduct. Often on a cold Missouri night I'd stand there and watch the steam floating up and listen to the long "who-who-who" of locomotives setting out for old St. Louis or neighing in pause on the long road to Los Angeles.

The night held a magic glamor. Big black cars drove by and I could hear the sound of feminine laughter floating back. I dreamed that some time one of the big black cars would halt and an older woman with blonde hair and ruinous eyes would call in a throaty voice, "Won't you come in?"

Progress caught up with Shorb. The Morse wire was replaced by an automatic printer machine that forced him to punch first 40 words a minute, then 60 words.

His two flying pudgy fingers couldn't quite keep up with the tape. He took a job between midnight and morning when news was scarce so that he could fight out the problem of adjusting to a new system. He never really quite made it.

He still brought his food in neat parcels. He drank more deeply of the mineral oil. He never complained. But one day the little gallant fat man stood up, then fell over dead. Something in his heart or head had burst.

Still at times I think of Shorb and the long-gone time when I fetched the news copy to him across the viaduct where the trains cried "who-who-who."

Supposing I did walk that way again and this time one of the big black slinky cars really did stop and a girl with a throaty voice called, "Where are you going — can I give you a lift?"

What would I do? I know. I'd say: "No, thank you, ma'am. I'm just out for a bit of fresh air."

AIMING AT HIS BROTHER'S MARK — Being coached on the rifle range at Fort Ord, Calif., is Pvt. Joseph P. Murphy, brother of World War II's most decorated soldier, Audie Murphy. Audie's life story is told in the film, "To Hell and Back." Correcting the shooting position of the younger Murphy is Capt. F. R. Alviar, commander of Company D, 1st Infantry Regiment. He says Murphy, 20, is "a conscientious man, alert, intelligent." At left is Pvt. Robert E. Hinds.

Hollywood Headlines

Bob Ryan Hopes to Bring Saint's Life to the Screen

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Robert Ryan tells me that ever since he read G. K. Chesterton's book, "St. Francis of Assisi," he has wanted to bring the life of St. Francis to the screen.

"I couldn't play St. Francis myself," said Bob, "because physically he was a much smaller man than I, but I would like to make it independently."

I told Bob that I visited St. Francis Church in Perugia some years ago and said prayers in the great church which is built over the smaller one which St. Francis built in his lifetime.

Bob also told me that he's making his TV debut in Christopher Morley's "Lincoln's Doctor's Dog" for the screen Directors Playhouse. He reports to the Roach studio Nov. 3.

"First TV script I've liked," said Robert.

BOOK ACQUIRED

"The Sixth of June," the Lincolne Shapiro book which is crowding for a place as a best seller, has been acquired by 20th Century-Fox.

It is also whispered that Buddy Adler gets the property and that he already has penciled in Dana Wynter. Her future as a star on this lot is assured. Now all that has to happen is that the public takes to her as much as has everyone in Hollywood.

At the Merle Oberon party, Charles Brackett told me that he's flying to New York, and while he didn't say so, I'm told he's going East to bid on Shirley Booth's new vehicle, "The Desk Set."

I was interested when I heard this because at its Broadway opening 10 days ago it received only fair notices, but 20th Century-Fox isn't letting that stand in the way of making the purchase.

I hear through the grapevine that Lauren Bacall is the choice for the role of the career girl who goes into competition with a mechanical brain.

THE LAST LAUGH

Herman Wouk writes to say: "An author's vanity compels me to write that the critics didn't tear my novel, 'Marjorie Morningstar,' to pieces. They split about two-thirds for, and one-third against."

"However, you are dead right that the againsters were really against. About the mildest recommendation of the majority was that I be boiled in oil for writing 'Marjorie Morningstar.'"

Well, Herman, you can have the last laugh.

Socially speaking: Fred Astaire made one of his few appearances at Merle Oberon's party honoring Lord and Lady Dalketh. But then there was the greatest turnout of stars I've seen in many a day.

Frank Sinatra, who used to avoid these parties, was very much the center of attention. I had a long talk with him about Gloria Vanderbilt. He said that she photographs beautifully and he believes she's different.

Mrs. Jules Stein's gown was the most admired, a short, white Paris creation embroidered with green leaves. I noticed most of the women wore short, cover-up dresses.

Norma Shearer has let her hair grow, thank goodness, and wears it fluffy. She showed me the scar she got skiing and says she won't ski again. Her husband, Marty Arrouge, says she will.

Snaps: Rita Hayworth and Raymond Hakin are a steady twosome in Paris. While Rita is dating the oldest of the Hakims, Prince Aly Khan is seen nightly with Bettina, the model.

Nat King Cole is crowding them in the Copacabana. But the surprise of the week was Greta Garbo, who slipped in to hear "King."

Canada Aids Children

OTTAWA—Canada is currently paying some $380,000,000 a year in family allowances to assist in providing equal opportunity for all Canadian children.
During July 1955, allowances totaling $31,674,809 were paid 2,220,578 families on behalf of 5,248,557 children. The commonwealth's basic social security measure has cost about three billion dollars since it was started in July 1945.

Ireland Discontinues Tobacco Production

DUBLIN — Ireland has discontinued commercial production of tobacco — none of the leaf was grown in 1955.
Commercial production was stopped because the only two rehandlers in the country, who were also growers, were unable to make rehandling profitable.

They said profitable rehandling requires production of at least 100,000 pounds a year and production during 1953 and 1954 totaled 2,884 and 5,900 pounds, respectively.

Nyet-Man Molotov All Smiles at Geneva; Life-of-the-Party at the Conference Bar

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov — the grim nyet-man of many international meetings — is behaving at Geneva like a Jolly Volga boatman on a Saturday night off. He smiles. He laughs. He even makes jokes.

"I've never seen him so relaxed," said an American delegate who has known Molotov for at least nine years. "and while he still says 'nyet' (no), he says it with a smile."
"I've watched him at many conferences," said a French delegate. "and he's never before behaved like this. He acts as if he hasn't a care in the world."
British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan is reported to have commented to his ministerial colleagues about Molotov's easy manners around the conference table — and his mellowness in the conference bar. After Macmillan followed French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay in the conference chairman's chair, Molotov is reported to have quipped:

HE LIKES TO TALK
"Mr. Macmillan is a better chairman — he let's me talk. Mr. Pinay shuts me up."
Asked if anyone at the conference table has questioned Molotov about his reported intention to reveal at Geneva his plans about retiring, the spokesman for the American delegation said:

"No, that question hasn't come up."

Members of other delegations who have been talking to Molotov say he hasn't given the slightest hint of imminent retirement.

"He's always joking," explained one delegate. "Yesterday, when he saw another delegate drinking orange juice during the 'tea break,' Molotov came up and said—'You'd better order something stronger for I'm going to make a speech.'"

Molotov, one Western delegate pointed out, is the life of the party in the conference bar.

"He started out on fruit juice," he explained, switched to strong tea and his latest move was to march up to the bar and say in very good French:

"Un scotch et seltz, s'il vous plait, mademoiselle."

Casual Water Cruises Via Dreamboat Auto

DETROIT — Spectators along Lake St. Clair shores strain their necks when Leonard LePage takes his family for a casual cruise in his sleek, red "boatmobile."

The "boatmobile" is an amphibious, 22½ foot auto that slides through the water with all the majesty of a yacht.

"It's just my 'dreamboat,'" Le-

Page explains to bug-eyed spectators. "We've been sailing it in the Black River basin about two months."

LePage, a tool and die maker, built the 6,000-pound oddity out of the carcass of a '48 convertible.

Cola drinks in tin cans are now being sold in the United States Army and Air Force exchanges in the Far East.

Grange Is 'Pat' on Policy

By ED MARKAITZ
Associated Press Farm Writer

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The Michigan State Grange has dispersed its 22nd annual convention with a "pat" stand on an agricultural policy statement formulated last year at its Adrian meeting.

Nearly 1,000 members attended the convention which ended last Friday at Ludington.

The policy committee reaffirmed its last year's statement advocating a narrower range of flexibility in government price supports at 82½ to 90 per cent of parity for basic farm crops, plus adoption of a maximum amount of price support payment to individual farmers or farms at $25,000 a year.

In resolutions adopted at the convention, the Grange asked the state legislature for more appropriations for agricultural research by Michigan State University. They also demanded a "deep study" of causes in the widening spread between farm and retail food prices.

Grangers also supported adoption of the hundredweight as the standard measure for selling grain.

In other resolutions, the Grange proposed establishment of a state speed limit of 60 miles an hour in the daytime and 50 at night. It proposed laws compelling drivers to stop both ways for stopped school buses. It seeks to have railroads mark sides of freight cars with lights or reflecting tape at night.

The Grange proposed prohibition of advertising signs or lights on highways and laws requiring roadside stands to provide off-highway parking spaces. It sought no changes in motor vehicle driver licensing laws.

Grangers proposed social security for totally disabled persons of 50 years and older.

They favored exemption of farmers from payment of a two cents a gallon federal tax on gasoline and also opposed "any change in the present form of township government."

The Number One Salesman in America Is a Woman

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of 10 by a famed reporter who has traveled through the fabulous world of fashion, face, figure and fortune. He tells what models have to do to reach the top of their profession and the sort of private lives they lead.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(World Copyright 1955 by International News Service)

The No. 1 salesman in America today is a woman.

She is the professional girl model—in that select group of good-looking and photogenic young women who glamorize feminine wearing apparel in the newspapers and magazines and who, by virtue of their specialized talents, can sell practically any product from cigarettes to motor cars.

These svelte beauties exert a terrific impact on the country's economy. Fashion, which happens to be their specialty, is the third largest industry in the United States—if you consider every aspect involved: Clothes, underclothing, fashion textiles, shoes, cosmetics, millinery and accessories.

They also "sell" all kinds of other commodities—by means of photographic persuasion. The old-time song has it that "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," and you find big business and advertising executives utilizing the talented models to sell toothpaste, diamond necklaces, perfume, nail polish, beverages, typewriters, sewing machines, home appliances and even heavier goods such as planes, motor boats and automobiles.

Their "sales appeal" accounts for billions of dollars in business income annually. They are saleswomen de luxe.

I have interviewed many of the most successful of these beautiful girls. I have taxied from studio to studio with them on their appointments, watched them make up in their dressing rooms, obtained their own personal stories of their trials and triumphs and learned, first hand, what makes them click.

NICE GIRLS

They are almost without exception "nice girls," not unlike "the girl next door" in any given community in America. In fact, most of the models now working in New York—the "style center of the world," Paris notwithstanding—are from other cities and towns all over the country.

I have in mind the top fashion models such as the sleek Jean Patchett, whose first job was in a grocery store in Preston, Md., and who tells me her current rate of pay is "92 cents a minute"; the brunette beauty Nancy Berg, who hails from Kenosha, Wis.; the photogenic Suzy

Parker, a dimpled Texas-born glamor girl; the slim, well-groomed Garbo-ish-looking Joan Pederson of Morristown, N. J., and TV-model actress Roxanne, who used to be Detores Rosedale of Minneapolis.

The "city of New York, with its fast pulse beat, draws ambitious young models like a magnet. It is estimated that New York has 3,000 models gainfully employed at salaries ranging from $100 a week to $50,000 a year.

Fashion centers in Los Angeles, Chicago, Dallas, Miami and elsewhere also have their share of modeling beauties.

FABULOUS SALARIES

Fabulous salaries are earned in Manhattan by the cream of the crop—the ten or twenty top fashion models. Their rates run as high as $40 to $60 an hour. Some of them reject a higher rate because that would put them in a higher tax bracket. Most of the top notchers make more money than senators or bank presidents.

They are self-sufficient, fresh-faced, clean-living, ranging in age from 18 to 30. They are typical American girls who represent the implication in some quarters that models, per se, must lead wild, adventurous lives, frequent shady night clubs and get their names in the Broadway columns.

The private lives of New York's top models can stand favorable comparison with the lives of other career girls—those in business, on the stage or in the movies. The fortunate models who have achieved real success are a close-knit group and quite normal. Many of them are married, have a child or two and in their off hours enjoy cooking and sewing as much as any woman.

TV—A GOLD MINE

Occasionally some of the models in the lower brackets "date up" out-of-town buyers and whoop it up a bit. But they are not going anywhere. The stars of the modeling profession have no truck with such frivolity.

The best models are forward-looking and tremendously ambitious. Many of them have their eyes on TV. They recognize television as a potential gold mine for girls with their looks, talent and ability.

They have in their mind's eye models such as the famed Betty Furness and Jinx Falkenberg, who have made good on TV and radio in a big way. Some of them dream of having a TV program of their own, or of becoming another Arlene Francis or Dorothy Kilgallen, the well-known TV panelist. Model Nancy Berg now has her own TV program.

THRESHOLD TO FAME

A few of the ambitious young models long for Hollywood or the Broadway stage. They realize, for example, that Grace Kelly, the Philadelphia socialite, who won an academy award in the movies, was once a photographic model, and that blonde, blue-eyed Joan Caulfield went from modeling to fame and fortune on the stage and screen.

Modeling is an exciting career full of concealed disappointments and not without its pitfalls—its ups and downs, its tragedies as well as triumphs. Some career girls are touched by the magic wand of success and others sink into oblivion as a result of hard luck, bad publicity or other factors.

Now and then stories appear in the press in which women who fall into the hands of police list themselves as "model" or "former model." In more cases than not, such women aren't and never were legitimate models.

Today's top models are proud of their profession and resent any slurs on modeling. That's why many of them, when asked what they do, say they are "in the advertising business," or hedge a bit by saying "I'm a Powers model," or "A Conover cover girl."

INDEFINABLE SOMETHING

They are smart, ultra-modern and know the score. They have their heads set levelly on their shapely shoulders. They work and study for the goals they have in sight.

America's top models also have an "indefinable something." It isn't just beauty.

A lot of them are definitely not the "pin-up" type. Ninety-five per cent of the male population size them up as "too thin." Movie producers don't "flip" over them.

But women love the way these ultra-slim girls look in the newspaper and slick magazine advertisements, wearing next season's styles or sitting nonchalantly at the wheel of a motor car. Many women, forgetting their own poundage, visualize themselves looking as glamorous.

HAVE SALES APPEAL

In real life the high fashion models often are somewhat on the skinny side. ("Get fat and you're dead in front of the camera, which puts on 10 pounds anyway," one of them told me.)

What they do have, however, is "sales appeal" and a certain class that enhances their particular style of beauty.

They are photogenic, they have good facial bone structure, and all the good ones have camera technique. They are adept at striking any variety of poses. One minute they are aloof and langorous, the next animated and vitally interested. At a moment's notice they can flash the toothpaste smile of a college co-ed or look as solemn and regal as a queen.

USE WAIST PINCHERS

Even the skinniest models wear "waist pinchers." Beautiful, ash-blond "Sunny" Harnett showed me her waist pincher while she was "making up" in her studio dressing room.

This belt-like contraption is designed to make the wasp-waisted models look even thinner. Then, chances are, the photographer retouches the picture and takes a couple of inches off the waist. This is to exaggerate the silhouette in a year when waistslines are important.

Most models diet all the time. I know one who never has more than a hard-boiled egg for lunch, a cup of coffee during the afternoon. Then she has a regular dinner—but no potatoes, desserts or bread.

There's a difference between model-beauty and movie-star beauty.

OPPOSITE TASK

A dress is made for a movie star like Elizabeth Taylor or Maureen O'Hara. It has to be her type, "do something" for her.

A top grade fashion model like Jean Patchett or Dovima has to "do something" for the dress—whether it is a $10.95 Henry Rosenberg or a $1,500 Mainbocher. Everything has to be her type.

Models I have interviewed said the hardest part of their job is not posing for the camera but in organizing themselves so they can keep four or five appointments a day in different parts of town.

They taxi from one studio or "location" to another carrying a big bag or a hat box which contains their make-up and other accessories. They must always appear relaxed and untired when posing. That's why they can't afford to dissipate or stay out late nights. They are expected to look as fresh at their last appointment as their first.

But New York's top models don't complain—not when they're being paid off at $40 to $60 an hour.

directed by Mr. McKenny. Costumes were all professionally designed.

The proceeds from the Follies will benefit the Birmingham Branch of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic, which the Junior League will establish in Birmingham next month. The clinic will help emotionally disturbed children in the Bloomfield, Birmingham and Franklin area. The clinic is the result of a year long study by the League to determine what project would be most beneficial to the community. It was decided the Child Guidance Clinic was the most needed project the League could undertake for the community.

Girl Hides Behind Heavy Makeup

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Last year in the eighth grade Helen M. was allowed to wear lipstick to school. This year she's taken to using pancake makeup. It's the cause of much friction with her mother who says that Helen's complexion is in no need of this cosmetic.

She writes, "But I'm tired of nagging about it. Do I put my foot down? I understand that several other youngsters in her class wear this type of makeup. I just don't understand it as in my day you didn't even start lipstick until your middle teens . . ."

This is Helen's day, not her mother's. But if Mrs. M. will listen to it closely with me for a minute, it can tell us why Helen has to cover her face with skin-colored grease to be comfortable.

Nearly every moment of this day of hers is filled with a clamor that cries out to her, "Helen, the human body in its natural state is a horrid thing! Remember that we've warned you. Its nasty insides can betray you by getting oily, putting pimples on your face, generating perspiration, shaming you with evil odors."

"If you do not keep this unpredictable and dangerous enemy of a body carefully deodorized, shaved, depilated, powdered, greased and watered with pleasant-smelling chemicals, it can make you so socially loathsome to other people that you might as well be dead."

NEW FRUDERY
This is our New Frudery. In its way, it's harder on people of Helen's age than the Victorian kind that merely frowned on the body's sexual functions as horrid. The New Frudery frowns on all the body's functions as horrid.

Where the Victorian miss had only to see that the sight of her legs didn't offend her prudes, poor Helen has to keep check on all of her least enlarged pore, a naked fingernail or some other equally disgusting betrayal offend her prudes.

Under these harrowing circumstances, I don't wonder she seeks the shelter of facial grease any more than I wonder that the Victorian miss used a billowing crinoline to hide her hasty legs from view.

So, please let's not put the foot down on Helen's effort to protect herself against hostile attention. Frankly, I think it would be just as mean to get rigid and tough about this makeup as it would to get mad at a porcupine for extending his quills.

Let's wait a little. The moment a porcupine is sure that he's going to be able to manage his environment, his quills lie down. If we can just give Helen a little more time to get surer of the changing body life is issuing to her, she will outgrow her need to hide under the pancake makeup.

WCTU to Celebrate

Others calling the quadrilles were Howard Hatfield, Harvey Gilchrist, Dewitt Hart, Waldo Ashley, Arthur Thomas and Earl Groenburgh.

Cecil Elhott, master of ceremonies, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhyndress, Patricia Rhyndress, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Groenburgh, guests of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuehler and Mr. and Mrs. George Helzer were new members of the group introduced. Decorations were arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith.

Undergoes Surgery

Mrs. James S. Johnson of Prospect street is a patient at Pontiac General Hospital following her recent surgery there.

MRS. RICHARD F. LUCAS

Bonnie Frederick Wears Gown of Lace Over Satin

Bonnie Lee Frederick and Richard F. Lucas exchanged nuptial vows Saturday evening in a candlelight ceremony in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. H. H. Savage performed the wedding service before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums and white snapdragons.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles J. Ostrander of South Paddock street. Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Lucas of New Port Richey, Fla., are the parents of the bridegroom.

A gown of lace over satin was chosen by the bride. The scoop neckline was accented by seed pearls. The gown featured a chapel-length train. A crown headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and sequins secured her fingertip veil of illusion.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, and her bridal bouquet was composed of white orchids and shattered carnations.

Mrs. Ralph E. Stanton, sister of the bride, wore an emerald green gown of crystalite. The baller-ina-length dress was styled on princess lines with boat neckline and pleated bodice. She wore a jacket with a Queen Anne collar and three-quarter-length sleeves.

OTHER ATTENDANTS

The other bridal attendants, Mrs. Richard Guy and Esther Thomas, wore gowns of moss green and Nile green, respectively. Their hats matched their gowns.

Daniel Richard Veazey Jr. served as best man assisted by Wallace E. Baumann, DeVere W. Games, Ronald H. Terry of Mount Clemens and Ralph E. Stanton who seated the guests. Howard M. Sidner Jr. of Upland, Ind., sang the bridal recital.

For the reception in the church parlor, Mrs. Ostrander wore a light blue suit with black accessories. Mrs. Lucas wore a pearly-colored two-piece dress with black accessories. Their corsages were of orchids.

The new Mrs. Lucas changed to a moss green suit with black accessories for their honeymoon trip to the Smoky Mountains and the Eastern states. She also wore the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

On their return the couple will reside on South Edith street.

Wants to Test GOP Candidates

Knowland Thinks if Ike
Won't Run, Party Needs
Time to Get Top Men

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today that if President Eisenhower isn't going to run again "the Republican party and the country are entitled to have sufficient time to make an appraisal of other possible candidates."

Knowland, who has been mentioned as a potential aspirant for the GOP nomination, said in an interview he thinks anybody who wants to be the party standard-bearer ought to be willing to test his strength in state primaries and conventions.

To allow time for campaigning before such contests, he made it clear—although he didn't say so directly—he thinks Eisenhower ought to announce his intentions not later than Jan. 1.

Knowland declined to say whether he will be a candidate if Eisenhower steps aside. But he indicated strongly that if he does decide to run, he may challenge Gov. Goodwin J. Knight for control of California's 70-vote delegation to next year's GOP convention.

Knowland said he isn't going to tell his future plans until Eisenhower recovers sufficiently from his heart attack to be in a position to assess the political situation.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told a Democratic rally in Muskegon, Mich., Saturday night that some Republicans in what he described as the party's "right wing" are "scheming to get President Eisenhower out of office before his term expires."

Kefauver will be one of the speakers at a Democratic meeting in Chicago Nov. 17-19 when 1956 convention plans will be discussed. Also on the program are Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee, former President Harry S. Truman and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), who has announced support of Stevenson for the 1956 nomination, said he thinks Stevenson ought to make a formal announcement of his plans before the Chicago rally.

PREPARES FOR COLLEGE—Kindergarten Carol Susan Base, 5, believes in starting young to save for a college education—especially when savings are free. The booklet which she is accepting from clerk Mary Giglio at the Three Sisters Market on West Huron street contains four 10-cent U. S. savings stamps, given as an extra premium with the purchase of groceries. When the book has 137 stamps, Carol's mother (left), Mrs. Raymond Base of 5480 W. Maple Rd., West Bloomfield Township, will exchange them at any post office or bank for a Series E Savings Bond with maturity value of $25. The market is giving a 10-cent stamp with each $5 purchase. Little Carol plans to fill her book faster by buying extra stamps at Scotch School where she attends. Pontiac's acting postmaster Leslie H. Dean Sr. has commended the store on its unique premium plan. "By using the savings stamps as premiums, the merchant offers an opportunity for thrift to its patrons and at the same time aids his government in the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds," Dean said.

RICHMOND, Va. (U-P)—The three children of Earl Williams, plus the family dog, will have their tonsils out today.

Papa Williams, a bread salesman, went over to the animal hospital nearby to be with 9-month-old Danny, a collie pup.

How come a dog needed his tonsils out?

"Well, he had a sore throat and was losing his appetite just like the kids," said Williams. "Seems like the thing to do."

Disaster Help Hearing Begins

Senate Banking Group Starts Probe to Provide
Insurance for Victims

WASHINGTON (U-P) — The Senate Banking Committee starts public hearings today in a search for ways to provide better protection for citizens against floods, hurricanes, atomic attacks and other disasters.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY), acting as chairman, said the committee would consider proposals for federal insurance against natural and man-made disasters. It plans also to inquire into action taken by the federal government to help local authorities "in meeting the impact of recent floods in the northeast."

From here the committee will go to New York City for a hearing on Thursday. Later it will conduct hearings in Boston, Providence, R. I., and Hartford, Conn.

President Eisenhower said during the August floods in New England that the government would look into the possibility of both flood prevention and flood insurance. But he did not go into detail at the time.

When new floods damaged the same areas in mid-October, he said again the administration is determined "to assist the states and people of the northeast in developing adequate protections against future flood and hurricane losses."

The Commerce Department yesterday published a final summary of the August disaster. It put the damage total at $457,674,044. The figure included damage to commercial, industrial and residential property, roads and highways, public utilities, farms, crops and lands. It said the floods killed 178 persons, seriously injured 6,992 and destroyed 813 homes.

Mexicans Mark Holidays With Grisly Customs

MEXICO CITY (U-P) — Mexico doesn't observe Halloween, but it has a reasonably grisly facsimile.

Tomorrow is All Saints Day. Wednesday is the day of the dead when bakeries become gruesome with sweets in the form of skeletons and skulls. There will be bizarre costume balls, and street vendors will sell "calaveras," free verse compositions satirizing politicians and others.

The custom is said to date back to Aztec empire times—almost a thousand years ago. Indian peasants saved milk and honey to provide departed spirits with the best of their products. After the dead had "eaten" the peasants consumed what was left amid carnival festivities.

Maples, Vikings Capture Regional Harrier Crowns

Chiefs' Streak Snapped After Two Year Reign

Vikings Defend 'B' Title; Set Sights for State Meet

The Pontiac Chiefs, kings of the Class A cross country ranks for the past two years, felt the sting of ineligibility of two of its top harriers as they were unseated from their throne Saturday morning by an inspired Birmingham Maple harrier outfit which ran away with the 1955 regional crown.

Before the Class A harriers took to the rain-soaked Birmingham High School course, the Vikings from Walled Lake soundly proved their domination of the Class B schools as they defended their 1954 title with their 2nd consecutive regional title.

Pontiac High School's squad entered the Saturday meet strong favorites as the result of 37 consecutive dual meet wins plus eight during the present campaign. They also captured the regional title in Class A competition the past two years.

But the study axe of ineligibility cut down the Chief's favorite roll considerably when number one man Perry Williams and teammate Alex Barge were ruled out.

When the final points were tabulated, Birmingham had 41, Pontiac 54, Hazel Park 91 and Southfield 4th with 118. All four schools qualified for the state meet coming up this Saturday at Ypsilanti.

Doug Wiggazier of Birmingham finished 1st for a time of 10:17. Pontiac's Bill Douglas was 2nd, Dennis Carrigan of Redford Union 3rd, Roy Vivian of Hazel Park 4th and Gene Cretal and Rod Treas of the Chiefs finished 5th and 6th respectively.

Pontiac's Don Evans crossed the line in 15th position while Hasting Marlin brought up from the junior varsity squad to plug the vacant slot, pulled in 24th. Pete Cox failed to finish.

In Class B running, Walled Lake captured the title with 43 total points while Farmington was 2nd with 49 and Milford 3rd with 58. Milford's Jim Cook was number one finisher in a time of 10:43 and Donald Shuster of Farmington 2nd while Joel Bailey of the winning Vikings placed 3rd.

Browns Gain Customary Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League season was at the half-way point today and the only question unanswered was: which way should Cleveland head for pro football's championship playoff game?

Thrown off stride by a loss in their opening game, the Browns took over their customary sole possession of first place in the Eastern Conference yesterday with a 26-20 victory over the Chicago Cardinals. Until then, they had been in a tie for first with the Pittsburgh Steelers, who were blanked by Philadelphia 24-0.

Now the Browns, on a five-game winning streak, seem like money in the bank for their 10th successive conference crown in the NFL and the old All-America Conference. Then it's off to the home city of the Western Conference champ for the playoff.

In the Western Conference, however, all was confusion, with only the suddenly-fangless Detroit Lions out of the championship picture. Chicago's rampaging Bears threw the race into a deadlock by clawing the Los Angeles Rams 31-20 for the Bears' third straight victory.

This left Los Angeles with a 4-2 record and in a deadlock with Baltimore, which nipped Green Bay 14-10 Saturday night. San Francisco stayed in the thick of it with a 38-21 romp over Detroit, the Lions' sixth loss in as many games. San Francisco, the Bears and Green Bay all have 3-3 marks, only a game behind the leaders with six left to play.

New York trounced Washington 35-7 in the day's other Eastern Conference game.

Defensive ace Don Paul stole the Hero's mantle from Otto Graham for a change, but the end result was the same—another Cleveland victory. Paul returned a punt 60 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter and moments later intercepted a pass to set up the Brown's third score, a 4-yard Graham pass to Ray Renfro. That made it 21-6 at the half, and Cleveland's defensive stalwarts made it stand up, even though the Browns were held to a safety and Lou Groza's 44-yard field goal in the second half.

Harlon Hill, who learned his football at little Alabama Teachers, was the whole show in the Bears' victory before 69,587 disappointed

Los Angeles fans. He caught three passes for touchdowns, each one from a different passer. He took quickies of 5 yards from George Blanda and 4 yards from Rick Casares, and in between teamed with Ed Brown on a scoring play covering 86 yards, the longest of the NFL season.

Blanda, who also contributed four conversions and a booming 48-yard field goal, hit on six successive passes in an 81-yard march which ended with Hill's first score.

A pair of rookies, All-American Dickie Moegle of Rice and Colorado's Carroll Hardy, sparked San Francisco to 17 points in the closing 5 minutes of the first half against Detroit. Moegle intercepted a Bobby Layne pass and returned it 37 yards, then a few plays later skipped 12 yards around end for a touchdown. When the 49ers got the ball again, quarterback Y. A. Tittle threw 38 yards to Hardy on the Lions' 40 and the fleet youngster simply outran the Detroit defenders for a 78-yard scoring play.

Jolting Joe Perry, running in his old form, scored once on a three-yard plunge and took a 14-yard pass from Tittle for another touchdown.

The 49ers can pull even with their bitter rivals from down the Coast next Sunday, but both the 49ers and Rams may find themselves looking up at Baltimore in the standings, for the Colts meet Detroit Saturday. The Bears try for their fourth straight against Green Bay. A mathematician probably could tell you how many first-place possibilities there are in that schedule.

Philadelphia's rugged defensive line completely bottled up the Steelers hitherto potent offense. Ted Wegert, a highly-outed rookie

First Victory Slips Away

Red Wings' Brief Lapse Gives Canadiens 2-2 Tie

DETROIT (AP) — But for a brief, 40-second lapse, the Detroit Red Wings would be celebrating their first victory of the season over the Montreal Canadiens today.

In those 40 seconds Montreal's Floyd Curry and Bert Olmstead whipped in two goals to give the Canadiens a 2-2 tie last night in the second game of their weekend series with the Red Wings.

The league-leading Canadiens, who edged Detroit 2-1 Saturday night, thus collected three of the four points for the series and moved four points ahead of the second place New York Rangers. Last place Detroit gained two points on fifth place Toronto.

The Red Wings flashed much of the brilliance that carried them to seven straight National Hockey League titles against the Canadiens and appeared to have the game sewed up until the final 10 minutes.

Bill Dineen opened the scoring when he netted a rebound at 7:32 of the first period. Alex Delvecchio converted a power-play tally at 6:21 of the second period to boost the Detroit lead to 2-0.

Montreal's two goals came while both teams were at full strength.

Curry broke the ice when he sailed in unchecked to convert Ken Mosdell's setup pass at 10:53.

After a change in lines, Olmstead and Rookie Claude Provost swept down the ice and Olmstead rapped in Provost's pass from close range in 11:33.

Detroit chalked up a slim 37-34 shooting edge. Montreal's Jacques Plante handled 26 of his saves in the first period and Detroit's Glenn Hall stopped 24 in the second period.

Both clubs played a rough brand of hockey, hitting hard and checking tightly.

Clark Griffith Is Buried Today

Floral Tributes Come From Eisenhower, Rocky Marciano, Lone Ranger

WASHINGTON (INS) — Funeral services for Clark Griffith, an institution in baseball for 70 years, will be held today.

Last rites for the 85-year-old president of the Washington Senators will be conducted at 11 a.m. (EST) at Washington's Hamline Methodist Church. He is to be buried in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Baseball's biggest names were to pay final respects to the "Old Fox" who became a member of the game's Hall of Fame because of his pitching prowess and went on to manage and then head the Senators.

He became manager in 1912, and an executive eight years later. Among those attending the services was Charles Comiskey III, whose grandfather and Griffith founded the American League in 1900. Others included George DeWitt of the New York Yankees, Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians, Clarence Miles of the Baltimore Orioles, Spike Briggs and Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers, Griffith's son-in-law Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox.

Floral offerings came from President and Mrs. Eisenhower, Ted Williams, heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano, Sen. and Mrs. Herman Welker and Bruce Beemer — better known as the Lone Ranger — Griffith's favorite radio character and many others.

Hank Greenberg had a lifetime batting average in the majors of .313.

Jim Patton started New York off right by sprinting 38 yards for a touchdown with the opening kickoff against Washington. Later he showed that run was no fluke when he galloped 69 yards to score after taking a punt. The Giants, winning their second game, also got two touchdowns from Alex Webster, who suffered a concussion last week.

Webster, who was cut by the Redskins two years ago, broke away for a 52-yard scoring dash and took a pass from Chuck Conerly on a 42-yard play. Vic Janowicz scored the Skins' seven points and now has 49 of Washington's 103 points on the season.

Baltimore's victory Saturday night, giving them four on the season, assured the Colts of a new record for season victories.

ning struck an automobile on the state thruway yesterday, burned off the radio antenna and a hub cap and dug a big hole in the pavement. The driver was not injured.

Thruway state police said Robert Morton Keith of Brockton, Mass., was driving the car eastward near Weedsport, Cayuga County.

The traffic lane was closed an hour for repairs. The car was drivable afterward.

'56 Oldsmobile
Out Thursday

New Models Feature
Safety Engineering and Increased Horsepower

LANSING (INS) — The 1956
Oldsmobile goes on display in dealer showrooms Thursday, featuring increased horsepower in both the Super '56 and '56 models and engineering improvements designed for greater driving safety.

Also being introduced as standard equipment on the Super '56 and '56 series is Jetaway Hydramatic drive. The new transmission is optional on the '56 model.

Horsepower in the above models has been raised to 240. The "plain" '56 will develop 230 horsepower.

Jetaway Hydra-matic drive introduces a new second fluid coupling in the drive train that blends the changes in the gear ratios into a single continuous flow of power.
The new added safety features,
in addition to the padded instrument panel which has been available since 1953, are:

Inter-lock safety door locks, and the new so-called "safety-aim" sealed beam headlights. These new headlamps extend about 80 feet further down the road on low beam and minimize glare and upward light diffusion in fog and rain.

Seat belts, offered in the new models as optional equipment.
Other optional accessories offered for 1956 include a new automatic six-way front seat and the dual exhaust system. In addition, the '56 Holiday Coupe and Starliner models have front seats which slide back automatically when the front door is opened and slide forward for easier rear seat entry when the front seat back is tilted forward.

The "rocket" engine has also undergone several improvements.
Some of the new features are a higher lift camshaft, larger valves and revised ports in the cylinder head, a new quad-jet carburetor
and new intake manifold.
The cars go on display in dealer
showrooms Thursday, Nov. 3.

Vehicle Sales Over
Last Year's Record

DETROIT — Motor vehicle factory sales in the first three quarters of the year reached 6,908,079, exceeding the full 12-month total of all but two previous years, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. said today.

Only in 1950 and 1953 did the full year's total go higher.
Sales in the record-breaking three quarters included 5,973,920 passenger cars and 934,159 trucks and coaches. The total topped the comparable 1954 figure by nearly one million.

As a result of model changeover shutdowns, sales in September fell below the spectacular monthly average of 733,515 established in the first eight months of the year, the AMA reported. The month's sales of 667,845 passenger cars and 92, 117 trucks and coaches, however,
exceeded the total for the same month last year by more than 190, 000 units.

5.5 Million Seen in Market for
New Cars in '56

DETROIT (AP) — The annual Crowell-Collier survey says 5-400,000 individuals will be new car prospects in 1956.

The survey just issued, covers private cars only; it does not include cars bought by governmental and business agencies. Industry statistical sources say such purchases come to around 300,000 annually.

In its survey of the 1955 market, issued a year ago Crowell-Collier put the number of individual new car prospects at 5,600,000. Sales reports compiled by the various manufacturers indicate that total already has been exceeded.

The current survey reports 82 per cent of the car owners feel that cars are safer than they have been in the past.

Among new car prospects, it adds, 69 per cent want automatic transmissions; 46 per cent want power brakes; 40 per cent power steering; 20 per cent power seats and 16 per cent power windows.

Grains Recover
Early Losses

CHICAGO (U) — Grains dipped a little at the start and then reversed their trend on the Board of Trade today. Most futures contracts got back up above the previous close.
There was some hesitancy at the start. Cash corn receipts were large. The government reported a bigger carryover of soybeans than had been anticipated. It also forecast the wheat carryover next July 1 will be higher than a year earlier.

After the scattered initial selling was out of the way, however,
the market found a firm footing.
In part it responded to indications of government action to bolster prices.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, December $2.02 1/2; corn 1/4 to 1/2
higher, December $1.27 1/2; oats 1/2 to 1/4 higher, December 63 1/2; rye unchanged to 1/4 higher, December $1.09 1/2; soybeans 1/4 to 1 cent higher, November $2.33 1/2 and unchanged to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $11.25.

Lions Asking Waivers
on Lineman Jim Ricca

DETROIT (U) — The distraught
Detroit Lions, losers of six straight games, today gave up on Giant Jim Ricca and asked waivers on the hulking lineman who was supposed to take the place of the retired Les Bingaman.

The 6 foot 4, 270-pound Ricca
was acquired from the Washington Redskins along with end Walt Yowarsky in a trade for Laverne Torgerson, co-captain of the Lions last season.

Several weeks ago the Lions asked waivers on Yowarsky, who was claimed by the New York Giants. Now they are asking waivers on Ricca, who shared Bingaman's middleguard spot with Jim Salsbury, UCLA rookie.

The Lions also announced that Ted Topor, former Michigan linebacker, has replaced Ricca on their roster. Topor had spent the last two seasons in service and returned to the Lions at the start of the season. Detroit had no room for Topor then, but told him to stand by.

Goblins Won't Get You
—but the Traffic Might

MUSKEGON (U) — "Please be careful on Halloween night."
"The goblins won't get you—
"But traffic might."

The rhymed advice to the trick-or-treat set today won top prize in the Junior Chamber of Commerce safety slogan contest for 11-year-old Joyce L. Petrovski, a sixth grade pupil at Muskegon's Moon school.

Arthur Peltier, Jaycee project chairman, said Joyce's slogan was judged best among hundreds submitted by Muskegon school pupils.

Flint Wage Tax
Opposed by GM

Official at Buick Sees
'Serious Inequities' in Proposed Levy

FLINT (U) — General Motors and employer, will not support a proposal to levy a city tax of one per cent on pay of individuals and profits of businesses.

Ivan L. Wiles, Buick division
general manager, said GM opposed the proposal because it would result in "serious inequities" for Flint employees of GM. He said
General Motors opposed the plan
"in principle."

Wiles said that GM's Flint Ter-rest and Chevrolet plants are located outside the city and would not be required to collect the payroll tax from employees living outside the city, while collecting from those residing in Flint.

He said also that "complications" might arise over collection from those residing in the city and that collecting from some employees and not others would put the firm in an "untenable position."

The payroll-profit tax is scheduled to be voted on Dec. 6. An alternate proposal to increase property taxes $10 per $1,000 of valuation also will appear on the ballot. The tax rate now is $33.50 per $1,000.

Wiles said GM is willing to pay its "fair share" of an increased property tax. It is Flint's largest property owner.

Buying Surge
Boosts Stocks

NEW YORK (U) — A surge of early buying sent the stock market ahead today.

The rush to get into the market
at the opening gave way to quiet trading in later dealings.

Most price increases held, however, and there was some improvement in lagged stocks. Gains went to around 2 points at the best while losses as a general rule were fractional.

Among higher stocks were Standard Oil (N.J.), Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, DuPont, Westinghouse Electric, Pittsburgh Metallurgical, Textron, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Studebaker-Packard, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Curtis-Wright, Bath Iron Works, and General Dynamics.

Lower were Philco, Dow Chemical, New York Central, Southern Railway, United Air Lines, Distillers Corp., and RCA.

Morning Blaze Hits
Waterford Nursery

Waterford Township Fire Department estimated damage at $3-500 this morning in a fire at Harry
White and Son Nursery, 151 S.
Cass Lake Road.

Firemen conjectured the cause of the blaze was faulty wiring around the furnace. They said damage to the building totaled $2-500 and lost contents were valued at $1,000.

The fire was reported at 6:45
this morning by an unidentified passerby. There was no one on the scene when firemen from Waterford Station No. 3 arrived.

Harsen Island Youth
Injured in Smashup

Richard Ishmael, 18, of Harsen Island was reported in "fair" condition this morning in Pontiac General Hospital after an accident yesterday at Dequindre Road and Auburn Road. His brother, Donald, 19, was treated and released.

Richard suffered possible head injuries when the car in which he was riding, driven by Lawrence Havens of Southfield Township, went out of control and rolled into a drainage ditch.

Business Notes

American Airlines set an all time record in September when it carried 6,633,000 ton miles of air-freight.

Increases in other traffic categories have been announced by District Sales Manager Jack A.
Tompkins.

The September ton mile total represented an increase of 34 per cent over the same month last year. Another upswing was noted during September when 667,000 passengers were flown by American. This figure is a 22.5 bulge over the 1954 period.

Recently appointed sales representative of the De Vilbiss Company, was Robert F. Hasse, 170

gan divisional manager.

Hasse has completed a training course at the De Vilbiss main plant in Toledo, when he studied spray painting techniques and equipment. A Marine Corps veteran and a graduate of the Uni-

Board of Directors of the Architectural Woodwork Institute.

Some 300 fellow industry members elected him at the third annual convention of the trade group, held in Chicago.

of the same period a year ago.
Henry B. Daniels, general sales manager of Ford Motor Co.'s Lincoln Division, reported today.

She's SINGING in the rain
She has an ELECTRIC Clothes Dryer

You'll love the wonderful things an electric clothes dryer does for your laundry—and your disposition.
The day can be dark and gloomy, but your clothes
safely dry brighter than sunshine in an electric dryer.

If you want to whisk through washday with a smile on your face and extra time on your hands, dry clothes
the modern way—electrically!

Be wise! Live Electrically!
