City Tax Rate Will Be Set at Meeting Tonight

60- to 90-Cent Hike Expected to Be Voted by Commissioners

The City Commission will set the 1962 tax rate for Pontiac at its meeting tonight at City Hall.

Adoption of a tax rate tops an agenda of some 20 items. The 1962 rate is expected to fall somewhere between $14.30 and $14.50 per $1,000 of assessed property value. The higher rate ($14.50) would be 90 cents above the present rate; the lower rate ($14.30), a 60-cent increase.

Meeting informally last Thursday, commissioners indicated they would prefer the higher rate to prevent the need to borrow money to operate from Dec. 31, end of the budget year, to July 1, annual tax collection time, in future years.

The $14.30 rate is that which is needed to finance the 1962 budget as approved in January. It would mean the $28,700,000 total assessed valuation recently set by the Board of Review. The city's 1961 tax base was cut by almost 50 million this year.

Commissioners will also be asked to approve a resolution of fiscal policy offering city-owned property on Orchard Lake Avenue near Boulevard Park to the Internal Revenue Service as a site for the proposed IRS data processing center.

Bids for the demolition of commercial structures in the R-20 urban renewal project area will also be tabulated and presented to the Commission for consideration tonight.

In other business, public hearings and final adoption are slated tonight on ordinances to remove some 30 acres from manufacturing to residential use of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Belt Line north and south of the Chrysler St. Avenue.

Public hearings are scheduled on the city's plans to reconvert portions of Branch and Western Streets, and to construct curbs and gutters on part of Tenney Avenue.

Kennedy Insists Times Demand Tough President

Leader Must Represent American People, JFK Tells Cheering UAW

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — President Kennedy pledged today a continuing effort to maintain wage-price stability.

He said that if people considered this improper they could get a new White House occupant.

Kennedy clearly outlined his view that the times call for a strong President in a coming address to more than 10,000 delegates and observers at the United Auto Workers convention.

The President rejected the idea that the nation's Chief Executive should be a mere functionary. He cited the expressed belief of former President Harry Truman that the President has the responsibility of representing the people of the United States.

"I believe," Kennedy said, "is the business of the President of the United States to concern himself with the general welfare and the public interest—and if the people feel that it is not, then they should secure the services of a new President."

Kennedy said he has never suggested statutory wage-price controls but believes it is a continuing governmental responsibility to make the nation's interest standstill clear in maintaining wage-price stability.

It is the government's role, he said, "not to seek to control, but (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Kennedy Likes Trips in New Jet Copter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Using a new jet-powered helicopter for the first time, President Kennedy made a quick round trip to Atlantic City, N.J., today for an address to the United Auto Workers convention.

Kennedy landed at 12:32 p.m. on the White House grounds from which he had taken off at 9:59 a.m.

The return flight required only an hour. The trip north was an hour and 11 minutes.

Kennedy described the new copter as much better than the piston-powered helicopter he formerly used. Asked about the noise, he replied that helicopters are always noisy.

Terrorists Roam Algiers, Gunning Moslems on Sight

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Gunmen of the terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS) stalked the streets of Algiers today, shooting down Moslems in indiscriminate attacks.

By noon, European terrorists had slain 16 persons in Algiers and four others elsewhere in Algeria and wounded at least 18 others. Most of the victims were Moslems.

It brought the year's terrorist toll to 4,362 dead and 8,777 injured.

The terrorists apparently were pressing their attacks in an attempt to goad the Moslems into massive reprisals against Europeans in the hope that such retaliation would force French army intervention and wreck Algerian independence plans.

Security forces were carrying out systematic searches of Algiers and Oran for OAS terrorists and arms. It was announced that 20 OAS suspects were arrested in Oran during the past two days.

French security officials took measures to keep a tight rein on Moslems here to prevent them from striking back at Europeans in reprisal for terrorist attacks by the OAS.

The OAS, which opposes the French government's policy for an independent Algeria, is trying to provoke the Moslems into indiscriminate attacks on Europeans. This could nullify the March 18 Franco-Moslem cease fire, the first step toward an independent Algeria.

The scientists say such an explosion could change the earth's environment by blowing a hole in the Van Allen radiation belt.

The Prime Minister took issue with them, saying: "Until a short time ago no one knew that the Van Allen belt existed. If it should now be temporarily disturbed, I do not think that great harm would come to the world."

Macmillan answered a series of questions from laborites, including opposition leader Hugh Gaitskell.

He said due notice of such testing would be given and he understood there would be only a minimal danger to the eyesight of humans in the vicinity.

There would be no danger from the blast, he added, and there would be far less strontium 90 fallout "from this form of explosion than from any other."

Macmillan who has come under political fire for allowing the Americans to use Christmas Island said the high altitude blast is designed to find out how such explosions react on radio, radar and other communications systems "on which all defense depends."

"So long as this is an important defense question—and it is a very, very important one—I think it is right that the United States government should make the test," he said.

Pulitzer '62 Prizes Awarded

NEW YORK (AP) — A Florida newspaper that carried on a three-year campaign against entrenched corruption in its area has won the 1962 Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service.

The Panama City News-Herald was awarded the gold plaque yesterday as trustee of Columbia University announced winners of the 64th annual Pulitzer prizes.

The editorial award went to Thomas M. Slovic, 35-year-old editor and publisher of the Santa Barbara (Calif.) News-Press for calling public attention to the conservative John Birch Society.

Walter Lippman, 72-year-old veteran New York Herald Tribune syndicate writer, was cited for wise and responsible international reporting. He had won a special Pulitzer citation in 1958.

Veto Arouses Dem Fears

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson's veto of a controversial bill to ban city income taxes on non-residents triggered fears among Democratic leaders today that his decision will touch off serious political repercussions.

Swainson vetoed the measure yesterday and "assailed it" for doing nothing to promote fiscal reform. He called his action "right, just and responsible."

It was one of the toughest decisions in his 16 months as governor. Lawmakers from Detroit suburbs, most of them Democrats, led the fight to pass the bill in an effort to prevent Detroit from collecting its newly approved 1 percent income tax from nonresidents. It is scheduled to take effect July 1.

Temperatures will drop to a low of 45 tonight and rise to 67 tomorrow. Wednesday's forecast is partly cloudy. More showers and warmer temperatures may be expected Thursday.

The equalized valuation figure for 1962 represents less than a 1 percent increase over that of last year. The County Board of Auditors had anticipated a 3 percent increase in figuring next year's tentative budget.

If the auditors' estimate had held firm it would have required $6.65 mills for county government purposes. Even that would have represented a $-mill increase over the 5.25 mills approved by the County Tax Allocation Board for county government this year.

The board of supervisors has until September to consider trimming the budget.

According to the equalization committee's report, a general drop of 10 percent in property values this year caused the annual increase in valuation to fall short of what had been anticipated.

The increase, less than 1 percent, results from new construction in the still-growing community, the report added.

Equalized County Base of $2,112,408,200 Is Lower Than Expected

A county-equalized valuation of $2,112,408,200 for 1962 tax purposes was approved yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The valuation recommended by the board's equalization committee is $45,115,496 less than what had been anticipated. It necessitates the board asking for 6.18 mills of the total 15 mills divided by the County Allocation Board.

Literacy Test Bill Doomed From Start

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — The act of two Kennedy administration civil rights moves is coming to a climax. This one, an attempt to knock out literacy tests as a bar to Negro voting in federal elections, figures to lose.

This is hardly news. It looked doomed from the start. The administration got another civil rights measure — against poll taxes — rolling. That's a long way from final success, too.

White registrars in the South can apply literacy tests to would-be voters, refusing to let them vote if they fail. The tests can be cover writing, reading, or interpreting the constitution. Interpreting the Constitution can be quite a chore, even for Supreme Court justices.

Last month Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said the literacy test was the most widely used Southern device to keep Negroes from the polls.

He said it keeps hundreds of thousands of Negroes from voting rights measure — against poll taxes — rolling. That's a long way from final success, too.

The Kennedy-backed bill would prevent anyone with at least a sixth-grade education from being barred from voting in federal elections, even though he failed a literacy test put to him by a registrar. This would apply to both whites and Negroes.

When this measure was brought up in the Senate two weeks ago, Southern Democrats joined company with the Kennedy administration and started a filibuster which has been going on ever since.

Their main argument is that under the Constitution states can fix their own voting qualifications without interference by the government.

The Northern Democrats and Republicans on the other side argue that the Constitution also guarantees citizens against being deprived of their rights, including voting rights, because of race or color. Therefore, they say, Congress can step in to protect those rights.

One of the Southern captives—Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said 20 or 21 states have literacy tests but only seven of them, including North Carolina, are in the South. Kennedy said the literacy tests were not discriminatory outside the South, or in North Carolina, so far as he knew.

The Senate debate, as usual, dragged in a lot of things besides discussion of the issue. For instance, Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., used the debate as an excuse to attack the Supreme Court for decisions involving Communists.

Southerners accused the Northerners of putting on a show to of digging up enough money to pay the tax may have kept some Negroes from voting. But it's no longer much of a factor. That may account in part for the sort of half-hearted fight the Southerners put up on this one.

But this was probably a more important factor—the anti-poll tax proposal was not in the form of a bill which would become law if passed by both houses and signed by the President. It was going.

Now the Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders have allowed what they consider ample time for the Southerners to state their case, are ready to try to shut off debate by forcing a vote on what is called cloture.

This means two-thirds of the senators present on the floor—not necessarily all 100 senators—must vote to shut off debate or it can't be stopped.

But never in this century have two-thirds of the senators been willing to shut off debate on a civil rights bill. Many of them might favor the bill but cherish unlimited debate since they know some time on something else they might want to use it and wouldn't want cloture.

So those now favoring cloture haven't much hope that it can be invoked. If by some miracle this happened and the Senate passed the measure, it still couldn't become law unless the House also approved.

Earlier this year the Senate did approve a proposal to out-law the payment of a poll tax before a person could vote. Only five Southern states have such a requirement.

Population Up 2,580,000

Births in U.S. at Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were 4,282,000 babies born last year in the United States—a record.

And, according to a report today by the Public Health Service, the infant death rate reached a new low.

Those were contributing factors to a net increase of 2,580,000 in the population, without taking immigration into account.

The service, on the basis of provisional figures, said, the 4,282,000 births during 1961 compared with a previous record of 4,257,650 in 1960.

There were 108,200 infant deaths in 1961, down from 108,800 in 1960, and the infant mortality rate was 25.3 per 1,000 live births, down from the 1960 rate of 25.7, the previous low.

Psychiatry Assn. Head Urges Campaign for Sweeping Advances

TORONTO (AP) — Walter E. Barton, president of the American Psychiatric Association, urged his colleagues yesterday to campaign for sweeping advances against mental illness with special attention to care for the aged.

In an address at the start of the 118th annual meeting of the association, Barton urged political action to include the mentally ill in social legislation. He also advocated more cooperation between physicians and psychiatrists.

EXPENSE 3.500

Some 3,500 delegates were expected to register during the five-day meeting.

Barton, superintendent of Boston State Hospital and associate professor of psychiatry at Boston University School of Medicine, said members should campaign for adoption of the major recommendations of President Kennedy's Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Health, published last year.

Expansion of research, streamlined services, community psychiatry and shared government and private financing offer "the greatest opportunity given this generation to make a sweeping advance in the entire field of psychiatry," he said.

Excerpts From Two Talks by President

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Here is a comparison of highlights of President Kennedy's speech today before the United Auto Workers convention and his Washington speech April 30 before the U.S. Chamber of Commerce:

PRICE AND WAGE SETTING
To the auto workers—"This administration has not undertaken and will not undertake to fix prices and wages in a peacetime economy. We have no intention of intervening in every labor dispute. We are neither able nor willing to substitute our judgment for the judgment of those who sit at every local bargaining table in the economy."

To the chamber—"We have many burdens in Washington—we do not want the added burden of determining individual prices for individual products."

RESPONSIBILITY
To the auto workers—"But we possess and seek no power of compulsion, and must rely primarily on the voluntary efforts of labor, and management, and their sense of public responsibility to make certain that the national interest is preserved."

To the chamber—"We seek an economic climate in which an expanding concept of business and labor responsibility, an increasing awareness of world commerce and the free forces of domestic competition will keep the price level stable and keep the government out of price-setting."

CHALLENGE
To the auto workers—"Our great challenge in the sixties is to do what our Western European partners have already done—to achieve a rate of economic growth in which automation and full employment go hand in hand."

Puerto Rico Would Check Skyrocketing Land Costs

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The Puerto Rico government wants a powerful lever to check skyrocketing land prices.

A furor has developed over the administration move matched only by the church-state feud during the 1960 gubernatorial elections.

Charges that the so-called land corporation bill "smells of communism" is unconstitutional and resembles actions carried out by Cuba's Castro regime have been hurled against the measure in public hearings by government officials as well as private interests.

Gov. Luis Munoz Marin sought approval of $20 million over two years to establish the land corporation and empower it to buy, expropriate, sell or retain land in Puerto Rico to eliminate "the speculation in lands that only benefits a few but hurts the vast majority" of this overpopulated island's citizens.

Sources close to Munoz' ruling Popular Democratic party called the bill the most significant single piece of legislation introduced since the establishment of a land authority in 1940 launched Puerto Rico on prices.

challenge is not how to divide the economic pie, but how to enlarge it. To fight now over large slices of the existing pie, by seeking higher margins on lower volume, or higher wages ahead of productivity, can only weaken our efforts to expand the economy of the United States."

New York Resort Covered by Inch of Spring Snow

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP)—A heavy snowfall hit this Sullivan County resort area shortly after 7 a.m. today and soon piled up an estimated inch.

It was reported "still snowing hard" an hour later. The temperature was 33 degrees.

The snowflakes covered the ground and clung to trees and shrubs, but melted on streets and highways.

The early Colonial settlers made bread and griddle cakes, as well as hush puppies, corn, stew, puddings, etc. etc.

Blaze in State Ruins 2 Buildings

Fire Fighters Win Battle
After Stores Destroyed
in New Buffalo

NEW BUFFALO (AP) — Firemen brought a stubborn blaze under control today, but not before it had destroyed two buildings in the heart of this southwestern Michigan community.

The blaze destroyed the Halmann Electric Co., Johnson's Drug Store, a restaurant and bar and a residence in one building owned by Ezra Scott.

It burned up a grocery store in a second building.

No one was injured.

State police said two youths spotted the fire shortly before 10 p.m. last night and turned in the alarm.

Firemen gathered from 14 Michigan and Indiana communities to help fight the blaze, with Michigan City, Ind., sending a ladder truck.

At one point the city water system failed to provide enough pressure, so hoses were run to the Gallen River, four or five blocks away.

A strong wind fanned the flames, which burned out of control for nearly three hours. A later wind shift, however, aided the fire fighters. Parking lots and streets helped prevent further spread of the flames.

State police estimated the damage at more than $350,000.

President's Dad in Good Shape, Reveals Jackie

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy died with her hospitalized father-in-law last night and got the news that his condition is "very satisfactory."

The President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, is undergoing rehabilitation treatment at the New York University Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation for the after-effects of a stroke.

It will include ambulation in parallel bars, muscle re-education and limited speech therapy, Kennedy's doctor said.

Mrs. Kennedy also met yesterday with her White House committee on painting and fine arts. She offered no report on the meeting, except to say the group "went over a lot of details."

Curious Superintendent of Cemetery Gets Bird

DIXON, Ill. (AP) — A freshly dug grave near the gate of Oakwood Cemetery around the curiosity of cemetery superintendent Edward Slain.

The wooden headstone read: "Reggie Allen, born Jan. 28, 1962. Died April 29, 1962. We didn't have him very long." Slain had the grave dug up to investigate. The deceased was a pigeon.

WAS IT YOU?

That's what SMOKEY wants to know! Was it YOU who threw the cigarette from your car or dropped your match after lighting up?

Every year careless smokers are responsible for one of every five man-caused forest fires!

When your trash fire spreads out of control, you know you've done wrong! But smokers start fires and never know if they're gone before the fire starts!

You see, a cigar or cigarette butt is like a time bomb. It smolders for a while before the leaves or needles where it lies are warmed enough to flame. A playful breeze may help it along. Then, in no time at all, a spark you could crush under your heel has grown to be a searing, roaring demon, killing the life in its path!

Did you start a Forest fire last year? Was it you?

So They Speak Out for Secret Army

Priest Sees Moslems Destroying Church

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — The priest in the white cassock stood straight and looked at the grim, contorted faces of Moslems surrounding him.

A young Moslem who identified himself as a political commissar stepped forward.

"I advise you to leave before you are torn to pieces," he told the priest, the Rev. Pierre Bozo.

While a silent, menacing crowd followed him step by step, the priest crossed the narrow entrance in the hurried way he had learned in the European city.

IN DANGER OF DEATH

"Later on I realized that I was in danger of death," he recalled.

"All I wanted was to talk to them to see just what was wrong, and what could be done to help them."

To Oran's 200,000 Moslems, daily exposed to European Secret Army attacks, the case is simple.

Many accuse the Roman Catholic clergy of Oran of siding with the European Secret Army and its efforts to block Moslem rule in Algeria.

"We are the shepherds of the European community," its confessors and its defenders, said one priest. "We see this community in the danger of death, expulsion, destruction."

There are other, more outspoken ones among the 215 priests of an independent, Moslem-ruled Algeria eventually will destroy the European community and the Catholic religion.

That is why the secret army is often regarded as a legitimate defense movement.

"True, they kill," said one priest. "But anybody who fights a war kills. These people (secret army agents) fight to defend our churches, our cemetery."

"You will ask me whether we tolerate death and killing," he said slowly.

"I will answer no, the church cannot tolerate this. But note of those who accuse the European of murder has asked himself why they are murdering."

Most priests in Oran believe that recent weeks should continue.

"Why not create a federated Algeria where each area, each ethnic group, would live by itself?" one priest said.

Said another clergyman: "This is a battle for survival of our faith, of our civilization in North Africa. Our defeat would be defeat of the Western world."

Church officials in Oran believe it will be extremely difficult to bring the two ethnic groups together again. Some believe that the partition formed in the city in recent weeks should continue.

Unwise to List Salaries in State Constitution

Some of the action taken by our con-con delegates, such as writing specific salaries for legislators' pay into basic law, seems cumbersome.

A few days ago the convention agreed on a $9,000 yearly salary for legislators. It does not seem reasonable that this should be spelled out in the State Constitution.

Apparently, the con-con delegates had a change of heart Monday when they reversed themselves and kicked out the amendment which would have set the pay scale.

Almost 200 years ago the original writers of our Federal Constitution did not feel it advisable to put in specifics. Rather, they stuck to principles which would empower someone at a later date to decide what would be warranted in the way of pay at that time.

Quite obviously they figured that someone in 1787 should not try to decide what the President or congressmen should be paid. They were thinking of the long haul and realized that they were in no position to establish a pay scale for all time.

Any new State Constitution is apt to last for a good many years, maybe even 50. So it seems plain to us that anything as definite as salary schedules could well be meaningless down the line.

Actually, we are not too far behind other states. Michigan legislators receive $5,000 yearly plus $1,250 expenses. The few states paying more are California, $6,000 plus $19 daily while in session; New York, $7,500; Massachusetts, $6,700 plus expenses while in session; Pennsylvania and Illinois, $6,000. Only two other states, Ohio and New Jersey, pay $5,000.

All other states pay less.

Article 5, Section 9 of the present State Constitution says: "The compensation and expenses of the members of the Legislature shall be determined by law..." This seems quite adequate to us.

'Giant Economy Size' Isn't Always Best Buy

When is the "giant economy size" more expensive than the regular size? The Food and Drug Administration did a little long division the other day in Chicago and came up with an interesting answer.

It also came up with 5,400 jars of instant coffee, confiscated for fraudulent description. It was the first such action by the Food and Drug Administration.

The "giant economy size" 10-ounce jars were priced at $1.44, or 14.4 cents an ounce. But six-ounce jars, the "regular" size, cost 75 cents, or 12.5 cents an ounce.

The economy size was costing the consumer 1.9 cents more per ounce.

Perhaps an "economy-priced" slide rule could be marketed in the stores, so mom would have a fighting chance.

Michigan's Sen. PHILIP A. HART has been holding hearings on such shenanigans against the consumer and he welcomed the move. He said it's a shame that the Federal Government has to tell a major food manufacturer that he is misleading the consumer.

Politicians Make Plans for Completed Telstar

Scientists of the Bell Laboratories have completed satisfactorily their Telstar satellite. It is ready for TV tests this month or next.

Before it goes aloft certain decisions must be made. This is where the heads of government and politicians will get into the act. One problem to be solved, considering the six-hour time difference between Europe and the United States, is when the broadcasts will be made.

Will Telstar broadcasts be aimed for the "prime evening time" in New York or the prime evening time in London and Paris? Also, since this is a major achievement for the U.S., it is logical to expect the President to make some sort of an inaugural address.

Just who will be selected to speak for Europe? Just how will the Soviets fit into this program? Perhaps they will want their network hooked up with the European Broadcasting Union which takes its systems in Western Europe.

If Russia wants in, which she may well, it will be interesting to see if she censors programs. These are just a few of the new problems fast arising in our shrinking world of today. The scientists do the developing and then the politicians take over.

A Good Mixture Of Items, Supplied in Large Part by Readers

By JOE HAAS

One of the very few residents of Washington, D.C., who isn't working for the government.

Koss Power, formerly of Pontiac, sends me an auto bumper sticker that simply says "Be An ISO."

which had me guessing until my office chemical expert told me it's the formula for "Barry Goldwater."

JOE HAAS and asserts that probably everybody in the Nation's capital has learned that.

Puzzle: Why some men are always complaining about the profit made on groceries, and never about that made on liquor.

"Just to try to stump you," writes Harvey Gledling of Sacramento, Calif., formerly of Pontiac. "What is the latitude and longitude of Pontiac?" OK, Mr. Gledling, we'll bring it right down to a very definite spot on the Pontiac map. The latitude at the manhole in the middle of the corner of Bagin and Huron Streets is 42 degrees, 37 minutes and 44.6 seconds, and its longitude is 82 degrees, 17 minutes and 21.4 seconds. Now send us a hard one.

We're quite impressed with the reasons given by a Pontiac area man who has confessed to several robberies in Flint. He says he looked Pontiac over, but found the police protection too good.

A Pontiac merchant tells me of his answer to the alleged smart guy who pulls that mossy old gag of sending an innocent boy for a left-handed monkey wrench: "Tell him there's so few left-handed monkey wrenches that we don't stock them."

According to one of my keenest observers, Desmond Fordney of Keego Harbor, the Detroit slop-over is causing much of the power boat trouble on Pontiac area lakes.

David Lawrence Says:

Lower Tax Rates Boost Economy

WASHINGTON—Talk of a general revision of tax rates is being renewed in Administration circles. The objective is to spur the economy and bring about an actual increase in tax revenues.

The basic principle of tax revision is sound. The federal government is confronted today with a LAWRENCE sluggish economy. Wage rates are rising, and the Administration either is unwilling or feels it has no power to restrain such increases.

It isn't too hopeful either that it now can keep price stable in view of the fact that the fiasco in steel has been followed by wage-increase demands in other industries.

By turning to the tax problem, therefore, a feeling is developing here that a solution to the whole fiscal situation may be found. Uncle Sam has the biggest stake in encouraging the earning of more tax money.

Whatever stimulates investment in better plant and equipment not only can ultimately increase tax receipts but can result, soon in a general improvement in business and larger and larger employment rolls.

Latest figures on the overall situation, derived from government data on the national economy, tell a sensational story. They show plainly that the profit picture needs to be carefully analyzed by the Administration if it wants some day to balance its budget and create a surplus out of which to pay off its debt.

NOT MOVING AHEAD

Despite all the talk of national output increasing, there has been in practical effect a retardation of the whole economy. The country isn't "moving ahead" as the politicians pretend.

The downward trend may explain the steady decline in stock market prices of about $34 billion from mid-December to April 30. Investors who had been hoping to see a steady increase in earnings finally have become skeptical.

High tax rates are the basic cause of the lag in business development in the last few years. They also have failed to produce more revenue for the government.

The Treasury could collect more money eventually with lower tax rates than it does today with higher rates. Temporarily there would be a drop-off covering about 18 months of a transition period.

The Country Parson

For many years, followers have been telling me that use of the iodine ration I recommend (and stamped, self-addressed envelope for free pamphlet, "The Iodine Ration") has restored more or less of the natural color to their gray or graying hair.

But the boom would be felt almost immediately in many lines of business, because planning for expansion would start at once in various kinds of enterprises, especially in the heavy goods field.

The Administration's economic advisers and Treasury officials have been debating the best way to use tax changes as an incentive.

The so-called 7 per cent credit for new equipment isn't favored by businessmen generally, because it may prove to be a temporary measure and it applies only to new equipment.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Iodin Seems to Be Good for Graying, Dull Hair

"A year ago my wife started taking the iodine ration. As they were on the table every morning, I took some occasionally, but not regularly. Last October I started to take them regularly."

"I am 50. As of last October, my hair was nearly all white. About a month ago, I began to notice my hair was turning dark, but paid little attention to it and said nothing to anyone about it. But recently people have begun to accuse me of using a tint or dye."

At the present time, my hair has 75 per cent of its original color, dark brown, and getting more so day by day. At this rate, I shouldn't have a gray hair in a couple of months.

"Two years ago my wife's hair was turning gray. Today she doesn't have a gray hair in her head."

"There is nothing else that could account for this phenomenon except your iodine ration." (B.C.)

In Little Lesson 24, "The Hair and Scalp," I maintain that premature graying, premature aging, premature decline is a nutritional question.

One of the most prevalent and least understood nutritional deficiencies is iodine deficiency. American medical and health authorities came close to recognizing this 40 years ago, when they approved the addition of a wee bit of iodine to common table salt so that everyone using table salt would get a ration of iodine.

But the quantity of iodine would get it this way, even if all the salt used for table and cooking were iodized, is insignificant, I think. So insignificant that I don't know or care whether the salt used in our homes is iodized or not.

For many years, followers have been telling me that use of the iodine ration I recommend (and stamped, self-addressed envelope for free pamphlet, "The Iodine Ration") has restored more or less of the natural color to their gray or graying hair.

Some of them declare it has brought back luster and even a wave to their dry and lifeless hair. I must admit I haven't seen any of these small miracles myself, but I can't imagine why they tell me so if it is not true.

It doesn't take care of all phases of modernization and all the items usually covered in the building of plant facilities.

What is favored, on the other hand, is a prompt revision across the board of all the rates of depreciation so that business can at least make five-year plans.

Within the last few days the secretary of commerce, Luther H. Hodges, has talked about tax-rate changes if the budget can be balanced. But, unless there's some check on government spending, the fiscal picture will not improve and tax receipts will not save the day.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Parents Must Raise Their Sights

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE M-408: Jerry J., aged 11, was catcher on his Little League baseball club.

"Oh, Dr. Crane," Jerry's mother tearfully began, "I can't go on."

"For Jerry was hit on the head and died within a few hours."

"I feel that it was all my fault. For if I hadn't consented to his playing ball, then this never would have happened."

"Now I cry all the time. I can't sleep or eat and I feel as if I shall lose my mind. Can you help me at all?"

FACE THE FACTS

Lynn Waldorf, former big time football coach, used to say that even the sport of football was a sayer of lives, despite the few fatalities each season.

He pointed out that if 25,000 teenagers are spending 3 hours per day in rugged football practice, plus the final games on Saturday, a few will inevitably be hurt.

"But," said Coach Waldorf, "if those same boys were NOT on the gridiron in daily practice, they'd be joy riding around in automobiles where far more of them would be killed."

So baseball, football, track, basketball, and all our other popular sports are actually life savers of American youth.

But that statistical fact doesn't banish the grief of the parents of

'Cuban Reds Fight Against Christian Civilization'

The dignity of a nation cannot be the object of persecution. The Communist regime of Cuba does not have a private war with the Christian people. More than 50,000 political captives, a quarter of a million men, women and children, thousands executed by firing squads and an enslaved people attest that our affirmation is based on considerations above those of any group.

Professional Communist members and Fidel Castro are trying to make the world believe that Cuba's difficulties emanate from the conflict between the Marxist-Leninist regime and the U.S. government. This should have prevented the proposed negotiations. We refuse the blackmail proposed by international communism. We refuse to believe that our brothers, who died at the hands of firing squads, may have done so in vain. The only formula we accept is total liberty of our fatherland and this can be won only by exterminating communism by gunfire.

We revitalize the slogan of April 17, 1961: "We will never abandon our fatherland."

Does Aid to Schools Spell FATE?

In this age of the abbreviation—when the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization becomes UNESCO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization becomes NATO, and Co-Operation becomes CO-OP—everywhere becomes CARE? We sincerely hope that it is not indicative that Federal Aid to Education might become FATE.

Will it be our fate to suffer governmental intervention in our local schools? Those who want a strong central government to control almost every phase of our lives have put out so much propaganda in favor of federal aid to education that many have come to believe that such assistance is both desirable and necessary.

Readers Discuss Heaven, Ascension

I wonder if "Not Blind, Not Foolish," thinks Jesus and the "thief on the cross" are in paradise alone. We are confident and willing rather to be absent from the body and present with the Lord.

I plan on my soul being with that "dear old soul" in that "place He has gone to prepare for us." No one can believe in heaven nor anything he cannot see without first trusting in, adhering to, and relying upon Christ.

Not Deceived

Peter said, "David has not ascended into the heavens; and no man hath ascended up to heaven." But he did not say that the resurrection of the dead then is Christ not risen? Did Christ ascend to heaven after or before his resurrection? Think these things, what if. The blind lead the blind, what then?

America Broadcasts to Cambodians

Learn Khmer to Know What 'Voice' Says

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—One way to learn what the Voice of America is up to these days is to acquire a knowledge of Khmer.

That's the language of the people of Cambodia, and the latest tongue to be used by the Voice in its effort to tell the people of the world our story.

Cambodians will get the news, news analyses, reports on life in America, important developments in science and other fields, and interviews with Cambodians visiting the U.S.

Americans will be prohibited from hearing what we have to say to Cambodia.

It's the law. Nothing the Voice or the U.S. Information Agency puts out can be spread before Americans. The Congress is afraid that some president, present or future, might utilize the government propaganda services for his own political welfare at home.

Hence, the beams and literature are pointed elsewhere, in some tongue never heard in this land. Khmer, let's say.

A scout fresh back from Rome reports that the final cost of "Cleopatra" will approach $50 million, including advertising and distribution. But the men who are picking up the tab feel that it will make a lot of money, nevertheless.

Twentieth Century Fox's great headache, of course, is Elizabeth Taylor.

"There's never been anything like this before," he tells us. "No one dares to lecture her or try to talk her for fear that she'll do something desperate, and destroy the film and the investors. She's a very spoiled child of 27."

"Obviously, some deal has been made with Burton to string along with her, for the sake of the picture. He looks like a fellow who'd like to bolt."

"One of the top men at Fox, who'd like to strangle her, flew to Rome last week, but gave her a diamond bracelet instead. She's mainly responsible for the fact that the picture has long since gone into 'gvertime.' That means that she gets $50,000 a week, in addition to the million dollars advanced at the time she signed up for the part, and the first million of the picture's profits."

Liz better test that prop asp in her final scene, to be sure it isn't the McCoy.

In his dim-view-taking of America's high altitude thermonuclear testing, the esteemed British scientist Prof. Sir Bernard Lovell declared it is the work of "a small group of military scientists, unknown and unidentified to the world at large, who have persuaded their masters to make a series of huge nuclear gambles under the guise of defensive necessity."

Sounds spooky. He may be referring to the Aerospace Systems division of the Air Force, some of whose top planners are never mentioned in the stories dealing with the division's work.

It is reasonable to assume, too, that some of these men are under special guard, as were the top physicists who worked on the first atom bomb.

There is a basic conflict of interests here. Prof. Lovell is concerned with what he feels is the possibility of "grave moral and material consequences, which would stem from disclosure of the future of astronomical progress."

He deplored the Air Force's effort to encircle the earth with strings of copper rods for satellite communications. The H-bomb, he said, must be viewed with dismay, he says, because they will interfere with processes—the radio "envelope" around the earth, for example—before the "delicate tools of the true scientist" can probe those mysteries.

The military people are much more concerned with what Russia is learning out there. This involves the future of freedom, and, in these times, "Shouldn't that take precedence they feel. That difference of opinion could become the most colonial issue of freed Persians' Indian slave girl, was first proposed for canonization more than 300 years ago, when the world wasn't very much te-

Reds Get Gas Masks With Uruguay's OK

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Foreign Minister Homero Martinez Montero said yesterday the government was satisfied with the Soviet Embassy's explanation for receiving a shipment of gas masks under the label of art objects.

The embassy explained that the masks were brought in as "a preventive measure," Martinez Montero said.

The Uruguayan Military Intelligence Service said Friday the shipment contained guerrilla training texts and training manuals for resistance forces. Martinez Montero said at the time this report was exaggerated.

Satellite to Spot Points on Earth

U.S. Plans Launching
This Week; Hopes to Aid
Geographers, Defense

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The United States this week plans to launch a blinking light satellite that will help geographers and defense experts locate points on earth with unerring and deadly accuracy.

The satellite, a joint project of the Civilian Space Agency and the armed services, may be visible to the naked eye under ideal conditions. Scientists said it will certainly be visible with ordinary power astronomical telescopes.

Also on the nation's space schedule during the next few days is another attempt to launch America's revolutionary high-energy Centaur rocket on its maiden flight. On the last attempt, the Atlas-Centaur simply sat on its launching pad.

The Centaur second stage assumes importance in the space race because it is the first American rocket to use the very powerful, but tricky, liquid hydrogen as a fuel. Hydrogen-powered engines are expected to become the workhorses of the coming decade in space.

The flashing light satellite, nicknamed Anna (for Army, Navy, NASA and Air Force) was originally under strict secrecy wraps because of its potential for helping military men pinpoint missile targets with much greater accuracy than ever before.

The Defense Department declassified the project last month to permit all nations to help take readings from the satellite, but last week the project was back under tight security with few of its operational details disclosed.

Youth's Parents Fear Dog Might Die Without Him

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The parents of a missing high school pupil say they fear their son's dog will die unless the youth returns home soon.

Marv Pugh, 18, disappeared from school March 17. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Pugh, said his bulldog Buller has maintained a constant vigil for his master. For two weeks, they said, the dog has refused to eat.

The Pughs said their son left school to avoid an algebra test.

31st U.S. Explosion Fired Underground

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has set off its 31st announced underground nuclear explosion at the Nevada test site.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced the shot Monday, saying it was of low yield—about the force of an explosion of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The United States is also conducting atmospheric tests in the Pacific. Five explosions have been reported in that test series, the last one being the firing Sunday of a nuclear warhead launched from a Polaris submarine.

Most adult fireflies eat nothing at all. Their energy has been stored from the larvae stage, and their lifetime is so short they require no additional food.

Foreign Plan Pushed in UAW

Despite Flint Rejection Move to Back Union Abroad Passes Test

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (U)—Over opposition from Flint, Mich., and elsewhere, a $3.2-million foreign spending program passed an initial floor vote of the United Auto Workers convention today.

The UAW, under a plan of President Walter Reuther, would expend $1.6 million in each of the next two years to develop labor unions abroad.

The money would come from all of the interest from the union's $40 million strike fund.

A spirited debate sprang up over the program.

Early Flint, delegate from Local 800 of Flint, was one of the opponents. He said others argued the proposal should be put to a referendum of the entire membership.

Others said the money should not be taken from the strike fund and would be better spent in organizing non-union workers, such as in the South.

The convention finally voted to instruct its constitution committee to bring in proposals to implement the plan. Reuther, in the chair, estimated the vote was 70 per cent in favor.

Reuther and his brother Victor, director of the UAW International affairs, said the program would help raise labor standards abroad and help workers in foreign countries buy their own products and lessen exports to the United States.

Hope Wanes for Quick End to Session

Lawmakers Fiddling Around on Tax Plan

LANSING (U)—Lawmakers expect halfheartedly for a new tax program today and hopes for a quick end to the 1962 legislative session began to wane again.

These were some of the reasons:

1. House Republicans figure they need 6 to 12 Democratic votes to pass a $60-million "income tax package" which would raise the top rate on income tax from 34 to 36 per cent.

2. A Republican group in the Senate is flatly opposed to any new spending and is getting set to make its own budget proposals this week.

3. Sen. Clyde H. Heerling, R-Holland, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, is thinking about holding more hearings on proposed new taxes.

He said he has received requests for hearings on bills to increase the beer tax, extend the sales tax to various services and impose a tax on goods sold at wholesale.

NUISANCE TAXES
Meeting in caucus today, House Democrats were to decide whether to go along with the GOP nuisance tax program, and to what extent. The Republican program calls for a two-cent increase in the nicotine tax on cigarettes, increasing the beer tax from one-third of a cent to two cents a bottle and reviving four per cent taxes on telephone and telegraph service and liquor.

Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, said Democrats assigned to work with the Republicans wanted to make an effort at real fiscal reform by converting the business activities tax from a levy on gross receipts to one on net profit only.

"The Republicans don't want a compromise," he said. "They want us to buy their program. Period."

Sen. John P. Sweeney, R-Coldwater, said the no-new-spending budget would total less than $468 million, the estimated revenue the state will collect from existing sources in fiscal 1962-63. It would under cut present spending by at least $14 million and force cut-backs in numerous services.

NO EXTRA TAXES
This will be a financially sound and sane budget," Sweeney said. "We will show how we can meet every responsibility with no need for additional taxes."

Other senators are rounding up support for a nuisance tax package, mostly aimed at beer, liquor, cigarettes and telephone services.

Sen. Carlton J. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, said he was ready to go on his own tax package to raise some $60 million in new revenue. He also wants a "bonding program" to raise $25 million a year for six years to finance construction at state colleges and universities.

"I think a committee of the Senate and House ought to get together and try to give some direction to the tax program we're working on," said Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, Democratic floor leader.

"Otherwise," he said, "we'll wind up passing one tax package after another in the House or Senate and having them die in the opposite house. That's what happened in 1959."

Nose of the major appropriations bills, so finance state spending has been sent to the House or Senate floors yet for debate. The first are expected to clear committees this week.

Fort Wayne Museum is Swept by Blaze
DETROIT (AP)—Fire swept a portion of a museum at Ft. Wayne Army Post today and damaged a large collection of antique firearms.

Nobody was injured and the blaze was brought under control within 45 minutes. Damage to the three-story brick and stone building was estimated at $25,000.

No estimate of damage to the antiques is possible until Fort Wayne Museum authorities sift through the collection.

How to Keep Your Husband Alive

Never Say 'Diet' to Your Mate

(Editor's Note — Following is the second in a series of 12 articles by Dr. Kenneth C. Hutchins, English doctor and noted author, condensed from his new book "How Not to Kill Your Husband.")

By KENNETH C. HUTCHINS, M.D.

Most husbands will eat anything — even their wife's cooking.

The best way to feed a husband is to treat him like one of the family. Once you start making special dishes for him he will begin to have ideas above his station. After all, what is good enough for the children is surely good enough for father!

There is no better way of keeping a family healthy than a traditional mixed diet. Only invalids require special diets. Healthy people can be made to think that they are ill by putting them on a diet. "Diet," I can hear you say, "what about calories?" Personally I would not care to sit down to a dish of calories.

Everyone who talks about diet is a self-appointed expert on calories. Half of them have not the faintest idea what a calorie is. A calorie is a unit of heat. A man uses a lot of fuel in just keeping alive. Even if your husband does nothing but lie in bed all day he requires 1,500 calories.

DOESN'T NEED MUCH. Whatever your husband may say about needing food for thought, mental work consumes next to no food. A sedentary worker who takes two hours' exercise daily only needs 2,500 calories. If he leads a completely chairborne existence he only needs 2,300 calories. Manual workers burn up about 3,500 calories daily.

Your husband's body does not care what kind of food it is as long as it can be processed into the basic substances, principally proteins, carbohydrates, and fats.

Only traces of copper, manganese, and magnesium are needed. These are present in normal mixed diets. Calcium and phosphorus are needed for healthy bones and teeth and for the proper functioning of the nervous system, bowels, and blood. They are found in milk, cheese, eggs, fish, green vegetables, and liver.

Ordinary common salt is essential to life. Fortunately it is present in nearly every kind of food. However, men who perspire freely need to be careful to replenish their supplies.

LOSES WATER. Your husband loses about six pints of water every day. Some of this is lost in urination, some in perspiration, and some in the air he breathes out. To keep healthy, a man must make up this fluid loss. His normal food will supply about three pints of water. This leaves another three pints that he must drink even if he leads a quiet, calm life.

Although the digestive process is automatic, it can be influenced by the mind. In primitive times, when puny man was defenseless in a hostile world, fear, the prudence to flight, abolished appetite and stopped digestion. Eating in the face of danger was asking for death.

During the war, I was a prisoner of the Japanese. After the surrender, the Allies dropped urgently needed synthetic Vitamin B1 by our camp. In spite of very large injections of this synthetic vitamin, our beriberi patients did not improve. But we managed to obtain a sack of rice polishings — which contained natural Vitamin B. We soaked these rice polishings in water and gave the unappetizing liquid to our beriberi patients. These desperately ill men started to get better within 24 hours.

The modern equivalent of fear is worry. An ancient part of our brain which signals "Alarm, danger!" to the alimentary canal is unable to distinguish between worry and fear. So you see how worry can stop your husband's digestion.

For the light breakfast, lunch should be nourishing without a lot of bulk. A vegetable soup may be followed by meat, fish, poultry, or an egg dish with little or no potato. A good helping of vegetable or salad should be taken. For the man who wants to do his best work in the afternoon, heavy desserts are out, or coffee.

Dehydration is the cause of much fatigue toward the end of the day's work. Business men who have a substantial lunch should take nothing in the afternoon but one or two cups of tea or coffee. But the man who will not eat dinner until late may need a couple of cookies. Rich cakes or pastries should be avoided.

The man who has been under stress all day should have his principal meal, dinner, at the end of the evening. It certainly should not be a heavy meal for the man who has lunched well.

Tomorrow: What to do about a fat husband.

Plan Banquet. The annual "together" and "Dinner" banquet of St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Drayton Plains, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

The dinner and program is being sponsored by the church's men's club. Tickets will be available at the door.

Just one of the many prizes offered at Bloomfield Country Day's Strawberry Festival in this watercolor painting by William Bostick. Student chairman of the fair, Susan Judd (left), and Sue Mosier, who will be assisting on the merry-go-round booth, have been working with faculty, students and parents in planning the May 19 festival at the spacious school grounds on East Square Lake Road.

Universal Custom—Abby

She Knows How to Butter Her Bread as Well as His

DEAR ABBY: I recently had the privilege of taking a nice young woman to dinner, and was very much surprised when she asked if she could nurse my bread.

I let her do it, since she seemed so sincere in her offer, and I must say she wasn't a bit much better off if little crusties like this were shown more often. I am a Yankee and this lady was from the South. Is this a Southern custom?

YANKEE. DEAR ABBY: No, it's a universal custom with all young women who know on which side their bread is buttered.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and would like your opinion about a ridiculous rule at our school. All the girls must shower together after each gym class. In order to receive credit, you must call the gym teacher over and show her the SOAP on your body!

Now I am going to be 18 soon and I know when I have enough soap on me to be clean. If you refuse to follow this rule, you get a "D" in gym and an "Unsatisfactory" in your work habits. What do you think of this?

HUMILIATED. DEAR HUMILIATED: I think this "soap survey" is a dirty trick.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please discipline your battle against the "nervy, drop-in" type visitors? I feel complimented when someone drops in to visit me. I let people know they are always welcome to come to my home, without telephoning first. That is honest-to-goodness hospitality.

"LIKES COMPANY." DEAR ABBY: Just had to tell you I'm with you 100% when it comes to people who just "drop in" to visit. I like company — but only when I invite them.

"ORGANIZED." DEAR ABBY: You recently said you were violently opposed to the practice of dropping in on people unexpectedly. Does this apply to clergyman?

DEAR E. A.: Especially clergyman! Those who prefer a little advance warning to get their homes in order would be doubly embarrassed by a surprise visit from their clergyman.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

Temperature Taking Important

Medical Mirror

Q. I have read that rheumatic fever develops after a child has had strep throat. How can a parent tell the difference between strep throat and an ordinary, harmless sore throat?
A. The parent can't be sure but here are some helpful suggestions: Fever and sore throat are two symptoms that should warn the parent of the possibility of streptococcal infection. Whenever a child does not seem up to par, take his temperature four times daily. This is especially important if the child complains of a "scratchy" or sore throat. If fever is present (temperature by mouth of 101°F. or more) a physician should be consulted.

Q. Does the color of the eyes change with age?
A. Yes. Many children are born with blue eyes which may darken in the first few months of life to hazel or brown. There is also a tendency for darkening to continue slowly in adult life.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P. O. Box 1174, Louisville 1, Ky., will be incorporated in these columns when possible.
It's wise to have a family physician. Then, if an emergency arises, you will not be a stranger to him. And remember, our friendly and competent staff will be glad to serve your prescription needs.

Hi-Infidelity

They Wanted to Get Away From It All...

Editor's Note — A condensation of Abigail Van Buren's new book "Dear Abby on Marriage" is appearing daily in The Pontiac Press in 24 installments under the serialized title "Hi-Infidelity."

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Milwaukee man divorced his wife because she called him Herbert in her sleep. His name was Leonard.

A woman in Chicago was granted a divorce because her husband refused to let her patronize her father's butcher shop.

In Bangor, a 66-year-old woman divorced her 73-year-old husband because he tried to drive her out of her mind by moving his lips without uttering a sound, and insisting all the while that she was deaf.

To determine why divorce is so popular today, it might be well to examine some of the reasons for marriage. Here are excerpts from letters I have received, together with the data indicating how long the marriage lasted and why it lasted no longer.

"I couldn't get along with my parents. They were terribly suspicious so I married Jack to get out of the house." (This marriage lasted four months. The bride found her husband to be even more "suspicious" than her parents.)

"I had just broken up with Don after an engagement of six months, and I wanted to drive him I could get someone else. (Three months. She realized that she really loved Don after all.)

"I just got tired of tom-cating around and decided to settle down with one bed-partner." (One year. He discovered that he liked the "old" system better.)

WORE ME DOWN

"I guess Andy just wore me down and wouldn't take no for an answer." (Two years after she said yes to Andy she met another man who wouldn't take no for an answer.)

"I felt terribly obligated accepting all those gifts and everything." (Two years. He quit giving her gifts after she married him.)

"I got her pregnant so I stuck. I think she got in that fix on purpose." (Six months. Just long enough to make the baby legitimate.)

When marriages are made of such flimsy fabric, is it any wonder they scarcely last one season?

But if married people are resolved to make a permanent union, nothing can break it asunder, not even the most disastrous of the marital difficulties we're about to discuss.

Marital difficulties, I am told, can be graded according to size, like fossils. They start with "large" and go to "colossal" and end up "catastrophic."

Some of the difficulties are penny ante. But enough of such pennies can become a substantial legacy of trouble that leads to litigation and marital bankruptcy.

So who's to say which problems are large and compelling or small and unimportant? What difference does the label make when the end product is the collapse of the home, the disillusionment of children and a one-way ticket to Spittville?

Women's Group Sets Dinner Event

Rotunda Inn will be the setting for City Federation of Women's Clubs' annual dinner meeting Wednesday. The affair will begin 6 p.m.

Marta Simonson Circle served the refreshments with Mrs. Ruby Austin chairman of the recent social.

Decorations and flower arrangements were prepared by the Barbara Norrie Circle with Mrs. Harry Baker, chairman. Mrs. Charles Stecher presented the devotion on "Fidelity" and Mrs. Frank Gray reported on the conference held in Fort Huron.

Mrs. John Garrison then conducted the installation service.

Installed as officers for the coming year were Mrs. Harold Sibley, president; Mrs. Walter Barnum, vice president; Mrs. Loy Bennett, secretary; Mrs. Richard Balmer, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Baker, promotion; Mrs. William J. Lay, missionary education; and Mrs. Charles Sayer, Christian social relations.

Newlyweds Gilbert End Mackinaw Honeymoon

The Frank L. Gilberts, who exchanged marriage vows Friday evening in Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian, have returned from a brief honeymoon at Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island. Rev. Edward D. Auchard performed the candlelight ceremony.

The former Sharon Kay Russ is the daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Harold B. Russ of Flat Rock, Waterford, and the bridegroom's parents are the Donald J. Gilberts of South Lynn Avenue, Waterford Township.

Fabric roses accented the bride's gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle, styled with sequined hemline and chapel train. Seed pearls and sequins detailed her modest bodice. She carried white carnations, roses and ivy and wore a short silk illusion veil attached to a petal caplet of pearls.

Mrs. Wendell Trager of Paulsen Street, Waterford, who was matron of honor, appeared in tulle and lavender organza over tulle. Her flowers were mint green carnations.

Wendell Trager performed the duties of best man. Richard Russ and Larry Gilbert, brothers of the bride couple, ushered.

Tangerine carnations and accessories accented Mrs. Russ' sheath dress of beige nylon chiffon chosen for her daughter's nuptial reception in Killeen at Pythian Hall. The mother of the bridegroom wore pastel blue nylon sheer, royal blue accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

The newlyweds are at home on West Walton Boulevard, Drayton Plains.

By JIM DYGIERT
OXFORD — If the current trend in store fronts continues, Oxford will become a replica of a colonial American village.

Six downtown buildings already have new fronts incorporating the famous Williamsburg colonial style, and a new office for physicians and dentists now under construction at 61 S. Washington is designed both exterior and interior in the same manner.

Enthusiasm for the picturesque architecture had led dormant for three years before C & C Hardware revived it last fall with its "Horse Barn" at 23 N. Washington St.

Two more followed this spring. Century Finance Co. at 10 E.

Burdick St. first then the Clothes Closet at 6 N. Washington St. IN FALL OF 1958
It all began in the fall of 1958 when Edward Moseman of Farmington put a colonial face on his building at 31 N. Washington St. just before Dr. David G. Jennings became his tenant.

Colonial fronts cost more, Moseman says, but "I certainly think it's worth it." Moseman spoke before a group of Oxford businessmen in the spring of 1959 advocating the colonial style for the entire village.

The Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring the colonial architecture, but never started a concentrated campaign to promote it, according to C. of C. President Lowell Prescott.

The idea seemed to gain momentum, about the time of Moseman's suggestion, with the remodeling of the building that houses Baldwin's Party Shop at 18 S. Washington St., and Jack's Camera Shop at 16 S. Washington St.

Stub's Barber Shop at 9 N. Washington St. put on a colonial face about the same time. But then the trend lost its steam, and no more colonial fronts were built until the "Horse Barn" last fall. Moseman again enters the picture, as he is owner of the building.

When Century Finance Co. moved into its Oxford home this spring, it went colonial both inside and out. The front and rear entrances were remodeled and beautiful antique furniture, including a rolltop desk that belonged to two Parke, Davis & Co. presidents, was brought in to maintain the Early American atmosphere throughout.

"We like the relaxed attitude it gives us," says Mrs. O. J. Sorenson, owner-manager of the loan company. "We would like to have it at our Rochester and Lake Orion branches, too."

"It would be wonderful if an entire city could be built in the Williamsburg colonial style," adds Mrs. Sorenson. "People would come from all over to shop."

A colonial interior as well as exterior was also included at the Clothes Closet, owned by Mrs. Franklin Lamoreaux and Mrs. Gerald Van Vleet, when it moved across the street from 23 N. Washington St. to 6 N. Washington St. and changed its name from Doris K Shop.

The Van Vleets also own the building that contains the party and camera shops, and have made colonial the theme of their home at 765 Hillberg Road. The Sorensons' 100-year-old home in Rochester is also done in the Early American style.

"We'd like to see the whole town go colonial," says Mrs. Lamoreaux.
Mrs. Francis Baldwin at the Party Shop agrees. "We're in favor of it for the entire village."

"I'd like to see more of it in Oxford," says Mrs. Sorenson. What prompted revival of the trend at the Horse Barn last fall? Ed LaDouceur, who has worked for the owners, Neil F. Coulter and Fred C. Conley, for the last eight years, says, "It was considered the most attractive."

The colonial store fronts were built by the Trimble brothers, Bruce and Rodney, of Orion Township. "We've done other types of new store fronts in Oxford," says Bruce Trimble, "but all the recent ones have been colonial."

Trimble does not have any more orders for colonial fronts at the present time, however. He is not involved in the building under construction at 91 N. Washington, which will follow the colonial style throughout, according to Dr. Rodman C. Jacob, one of its owners.

Two dentists, Dr. Donald Davidson and Dr. Robert Peterson, have joined Dr. Jacob in investing in the colonial building, and will have their offices there along with Dr. Jacob and Dr. John Van de Leuw.

"We saw it would fit better with the village atmosphere," says Dr. Jacob, who added that the 42-by-100-foot building is expected to be completed by August.

"We would like to see the trend continue," Dr. Jacob says, "as the village environment leads itself to the colonial style."

Whether the trend continues and the village transforms from a mixture of colonial, modern and just plain old into a gracious replica of Early America, or whether the idea will just die out again remains to be seen.

In any event, those who have gone colonial are happy in the thought that their surroundings give them extra pleasure and pride.

Three Trash Collectors, City of Troy in Dispute

TROY — All is confusion today in the city's brand new garbage and rubbish pickup program that went into effect last week.

A Circuit Court injunction by Judge Stanton G. Dondery yesterday restrains the city from interfering with the operations of private garbage and rubbish collectors. However, it doesn't prevent the city from proceeding with its own collection.

An entirely possible result is fighting over piles of trash between the collector under contract with the city and three collectors who have lost their Troy customers under the city's program.

Some residents claim they paid private contractors in advance and then had to pay the city besides in order to have their trash picked up after May 1.

The injunction orders the city not to interfere with the contracts between the three collectors, Gordon Whitney, William Lankford and Clarence Beers. Licenses for the three expired when the city's program began.

Attorney for the collectors, Harry S. Huber of Rochester, charges the city's garbage-rubbish pickup ordinance is unconstitutional because it impairs the contracts.

CITY GOES AHEAD
Huber explained his clients' position at last night's City Commission meeting. Only response by commissioners was to authorize city attorney Stanley E. Burke to defend the city's position in court.

City Manager David E. Firestone said city collections would proceed as scheduled today.

But the court order prevents the city from enforcing its ordinance making private collections illegal. Firestone charged the three collectors were not only fully informed on the impending city program by the city's refusal to issue annual licenses, but two of them were in arrears on payments to the city.

The two also were in violation of their licenses by failing to deliver their rubbish to the Southeast Oakland incinerator authority, said the manager.

He added that any fearful contracts or solicitation of advance payments by the three were improper because the city had granted pickup licenses only on a month-to-month basis since Jan. 1.

PTA Session to Feature School Band, Firemen
BROOKLANDS—The Brooklands School band and the fire department will be featured at the year's last regular meeting of the Brooklands-Avon Parent-Teacher Association at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The band will play under the direction of Kenneth DeVor following a short business meeting. Firemen will demonstrate slide diving and first aid equipment. The meeting will be held at the Brooklands School.

'Sterling Move Disappointing'

Shelby Twp. Officials Not Discouraged in Proposed Growth Study

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Township Supervisor Lerin E. Evans said today he was disappointed but not discouraged by Sterling Township's refusal to take part in a joint study of his proposal for areawide authorities to develop and control major public services.

Evans said he planned to push for going ahead with the study without two Sterling Township representatives on his proposed study committee. Shelby Township and the City of Utica have each appointed two members.

"I can't understand why they don't want to at least look into the idea," Evans said, claiming it was a mistake for any of the three municipalities to grow alone.

The recent report of a Greater Utica Chamber of Commerce study group also urged coordinated and cooperative growth for the area.

Evans' committee plans to study the idea of establishing separate authorities for police and fire protection, water and sewer systems, and a public works program.

Sterling trustees objected to "someone else running the show," referring to outsiders administering the township's water and sewer system.

Merger Plan Vetoed in Warren, Sterling

DETROIT 66—Voters in Warren and Sterling Township yesterday turned down a proposed merger of their areas into what would have become the second largest Michigan city in land size.

The proposal lost by a 6,018 to 1,249 vote in Warren and a 2,634 to 338 vote in Sterling Township which would have been annexed by its neighbor.

Had the annexation been approved, Warren would have more than doubled its area to nearly 70 square miles.

Schools to Ask Millage Increase

ROCHESTER—The board of education here last night decided to ask school district voters for a 4½-mill school operating tax increase in the June 11 school election.

The increase is needed to balance the record 1962-63 budget of $2.23-million adopted April 16 to maintain instruction at a quality level, according to Supt. Donald C. Baldwin.

The board will hold a special meeting tomorrow night to discuss plans for a campaign explaining the need for the tax boost.

Baldwin said the increase would pay for 15 additional teachers required by increasing enrollment and the opening of the new West Junior High School in September.

INCREASED PAY—MILLS
A pay raise for teachers, which Baldwin terms essential in order to keep qualified teachers, will also be made possible by approval of the millage.

The school board had been expected to ask only for three mills.

Provision for additional teachers is included in the 1963-64 budget, but teacher pay raises are not. If the millage is successful, adjustments in the salary schedule will be made, Baldwin said.

Salary adjustments for administrative personnel, including principals, are also expected if the millage proposal is successful.

The Rochester Education Association had recommended increasing the base salary for teachers with bachelor's degrees from $4,800 to $4,900, and for those with master's degrees from $4,800 to $5,100.

IT GOES LIKE THIS—That's what 71-year-old Mrs. Alex Yule of Rochester road, Addison Township, tells Bill Chish, as his friend Mike Griffin watches. The youthful-looking grandmother of 13, has been teaching life saving to more than 2,000 youngsters over the past 31 years, and is getting set for another season at Lakeville Lake near Leonard.

71-Year-Old Oakland Woman Is Still Teaching Swimming

By HEBA MONTGOMERY
Talk about water safety—talk about teaching youngsters how to swim, and you're talking the language of a 71-year-old expert on the subject.

More than 2,000 youngsters and a few adults in Oakland County have a good idea that "you never take stupid chances in the water" by swimming alone. Thanks to Mrs. Alex Yule of 388 Rochester Road, Addison Township.

Up until the time Mrs. Yule was 40 years old she was "scared to death of the water," the story went in danger days up to her throat, and knowing to swim was the safest thing she could do. That is, until her first husband died and her 13-year-old son began to play near the many lakes in the area.

Because she was more fearful of her young son's drowning than her own term of the water, Mrs. Yule made special trips to a Detroit recreation center and enrolled in a life-saving course. It was then that she literally "fell in love with the water."

LEARNED WELL
She would stroke from one end of the big pool like an eel being chased by a shark. The ambitious woman then mastered the swim, and she was a good swimmer.

Standing five feet seven inches tall and weighing a good solid 125 pounds, there is little doubt that the youthful-looking grandmother of 13 can handle any situation in the water.

In fact, she has had several harrowing experiences with careless youngsters. Once, two sisters were sliding down the water slide at Lakeville Landing, where she is the summer life guard when one bumped her head in the way down.

In her attempt to pull her injured sister out of the water, the older girl panicked and both floundered out in water over their heads. The alert Mrs. Yule quickly swam to the rescue, pushed the older girl to safety and recovered the hurt sister.

Romance entered the scene about 20 years ago, when a middle-aged bachelor farmer was dreading down to the beach to watch the pretty life-saving instructor teach her young charges.

It wasn't long before the bachelor convinced Mrs. Yule that farm life was for women in all walks of life, then "popped the question." The youthful grandmother became a bride again, but went right on teaching swimming—this time to her farmer-husband too.

The minute school is out next month, life-saving classes will again get under at scenic Lakeville Lake, in the northeast corner of the county. The agile Mrs. Yule will be right there to show youngsters the importance of learning how to float, do the crawl, side arm stroke and the correct way to dive into the water "without breaking their precious little necks."

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP
SHIP—Some 220 guests are expected to attend the annual Family Dinner sponsored by the Green School Parent-Teachers Association Thursday at West Bloomfield High School.

The 6:30 p.m. event is planned to honor teachers at Green school. Daniel Chish, PTA father vice president, will give the welcome.

Vow Swainson to Go to Court

Veto of Bowman Bill Upsets Dem Backers, Detroit Suburb Mayors
DETROIT—Gov. Swainson faces a court fight from yellow Democrats who wrote the vetoed Bowman Bill and another from Detroit suburban mayors.

Both Rep. John Bowman, a Democrat who lives in Detroit's suburb of Roseville, and the Vigilance Tax Committee said yesterday they'd be doing "battle with Swainson because of the veto."

Bowman pledged today to court. The Vigilance Tax Committee, made up of mayors of Detroit suburbs, said it would try to have the legislature override the veto and, if unsuccessful, would go to court.

Mayor George Kuhn of Berkeley, head of the committee, called the veto "a tragic news to the people of Michigan and metropolitan Detroit."

Kuhn said the veto would lead to Swainson's defeat for re-election next fall.

Both Bowman and Kuhn said that "fiscal chaos" has been threatened by Swainson's veto.

"Right is still on the side of the suburbs," said Bowman. "As far as we are concerned, the fight has just begun."

The Bowman Bill would have prohibited cities from taxing the incomes of nonresidents. The city of Detroit has adopted an ordinance for such a tax. It already is under challenge in one court case.

Proposed Milford Budget Calls for $2 Tax Hike

MILFORD—The Village Council of the drain. The proposal last night received a proposed by one vote, failing to meet the budget of $236,500 for the 1962-63 required three-fifths majority. The bond issue would have given the village $23,000 for construction.

One of the mills would be levied during the year to help finance the construction of a storm sewer on South Main Street.

The two mills would give the village a total tax of $11 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The proposed budget is several thousand dollars more than the one approved last year.

About half the increase is reflected in salary adjustments in the police department and for several department heads, according to Village Manager Donald G. Wedner.

The remainder has been proposed for "more realistic" operating expenses, he said.

The one mill for sewer construction will provide the village with about $10,000. The other portion of the cost will be borrowed from the other funds and paid back over the next couple of years, Wedner explained.

In March voters rejected a bonding proposal that would have been used to finance the construction.

Pecos Bill Estes Read Horatio Alger, Too

He Rode to Success Carrying Bible

(Editor's Note—In another of a series of dispatches on the rise of Billie Sol Estes, UPI national reporter Harry Ferguson explores the troubles that may beset his business empire.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
WECOS, Tex. (UPI)—When Texas was to express their admiration for a bold, spectacular business man, they say: "He's a wheeler dealer."
Billie Sol Estes, now under federal indictment in connection with the collapse of his $150 million business empire, was a wheeler dealer, junior grade.

He never was rich in the sense that such Texas tycoons as H. P. Hunt and Clint Murchison are rich. Their annual incomes probably exceed Estes' gross assets in his best years.

But he was a towering man in West Texas and the town of Pecos, population 15,000, is the little pond in which he grew to be such a big frog.

Estes arrived here 12 years ago with one suitcase, a battered brief case and a question: "Where can I find an honest real estate dealer?" He found one and started making cotton.

He was 25 years old then, and five years later he had made his first million. He is 37 years old today.

Before the roof fell in he controlled or had an interest in 40 companies, had a fleet of Cadillacs (even the servant used one) and owned two private airplanes. In 1953 the Junior Chamber of Commerce voted him one of the nation's 10 outstanding young men.

CLOSE TO ESTES
"I have been close to Billie Sol Estes for 10 years," said a Pecos business man, "and I will not explain what makes him tick."

Everybody is in agreement that he is a high pressure, hypnotic salesman. This correspondent had a personal demonstration of it yesterday when he rang the door bell at Estes' $150,000 ranch house.

Mrs. Estes answered the door, and went into another part of the house to summon her husband.

Promptly there appeared a short, stocky man wearing a blue short-sleeved shirt and black slacks bulging under what could become a sizeable pouch.

The eyes gleamed alertly behind glasses as this correspondent explained he had come to Pecos to get the Estes side of the story and would like to have an interview.

He said he could make no comment, and then launched his sales talk:

"I can see you are an intelligent man. I know you are going to do a good job on this because I am sure you always do a good job. I wish in my heart I could help you. But all I can do is wish you good luck and thank you for coming to our great state of Texas."

VERY PERSUASIVE
It was corn as high as an elephant's eye, but delivered with such fervor and surface sincerity that this correspondent departed with an exaggerated opinion of himself. It is an exaggeration, however, that Estes could persuade men to sign on the dotted line, sometimes without reading what they were signing.

From his early youth, Estes' reading centered on the collected works of Horatio Alger Jr. and the Bible. But he did more than read Alger. He became an Alger before himself at the age of 25 by going into business.

As he tells it, his parents gave him one lamb for Christmas, and he sold it for enough money to buy another lamb. Then another wolf, when he was 15, he had a flock of 100.

And then — and this was to be the shape of things to come — he diversified his interests and invested some money in pigs. By the time he was 18 he is said to have been worth $3,000 but adults were loath to invest money in his agricultural enterprises.

Billie Sol was off on a 20-year career during which he would build a pyramid worth $10 million.

Estes has said he owes all his success to an application of the teachings of the Bible to business.

"There are two things Billie Sol can do real fast," said a Pecos business man. "He can quote the Bible and he can whip a financial statement out of his pocket with the speed of lightning."

Several months ago he took a piece of paper out of his pocket and asked me: "Would you like to know how much money I made last month?"

Estes is a deacon and a lay preacher in the Church of Christ. It is an austere church and Billie Sol carries its teachings to the point that he segregates the sexes in his big swimming pool.

Children are welcome to use it but boys and girls must swim at separate times. He has five children, four girls and a boy ranging from 14 years, but they are not allowed to wear shorts.

He does not drink or smoke and before he retired behind the closed doors of his ranch house, he frequently startled the real-estate men by leaving all the Cadillac in the carport and traveling to his office on a bicycle.

People here say he is a sharp, ruthless man in a business deal, that he has driven small competitors out of business and will sit up half the night figuring how to cut a corner.

But there are hundreds of poor people in this vicinity who have received loans of $100 from him to buy groceries. He never expected the loans to be repaid. He has an overriding fear of communism and believes Moscow will capture the poor people unless he helps them personally.

WITHOUT CEREMONY — Two-year-old Anne Katzenbach gets into the picture as her father, Nicholas Katzenbach, takes his place yesterday for the swearing-in ceremony during which he took the oath of office as deputy attorney general. At right is Attorney General Robert Kennedy who witnessed the ceremony in the Justice Department. Katzenbach, takes the place of Byron White who was appointed to the Supreme Court.

Estes seems to believe that the Devil is looking over his shoulder all the time and checking up on him.

"If God can watch the falling of every sparrow," he once said, "He certainly has time to keep an eye on business men."

There was a time when Estes was less reticent about publicity. In the past two years he has been interviewed by many Texas papers and they were collected in a pamphlet published by Billie Sol Estes Enterprises.

The title of the pamphlet is "Success." It contains a full-page picture of Estes looking at a globe much the same way as Alexander the Great once looked at a map and sighed because there were no more worlds to conquer.

McNamara Inspects Thailand Border

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara arrived here today and almost immediately took off on a 500-mile swing through Thailand's sensitive northeast area bordering Laos with Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The northeast region of Thailand, Thailand for a year has been the scene of increased Communist subversion, which Thai authorities say has stemmed from red-held portions of Laos.

Firm, Officer Fined for Firing a Juror

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—A tool manufacturing company and its vice president were found in contempt of court yesterday for firing an employee whose jury duty interfered with his work.

Justice Robert Sullivan fined John B. Bath and Co., Inc., $3,000 and its Vice President Allan W. Bath, $500.

This court adopts the view that a juror is a juror 24 hours each day during his term of service and any requirement by an employer under threat of discharge which derogates from this principle would be a violation of the general laws, Sullivan said.

He ruled that a person on jury duty under conditions which expose him to job loss and thus financial insecurity for his family is not likely to have the spiritual contentment and mental detachment that good jurors require.

Ambassador Ordered Home to Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—Wilhelm Grewe, 50, West German ambassador to the United States reportedly in difficulties with the Kennedy administration, today was ordered to return to Bonn at the end of the week, the Foreign Ministry reported.

A spokesman said a decision on whether Grewe would return to Washington was expected before the weekend is over.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer apparently sealed Grewe's fate Monday when he said the diplomat would have to be replaced.

The chancellor, visiting West Berlin, explained this would have to be done because of complications arising from the leaks in Bonn of U.S. proposals for a Berlin settlement. The Kennedy administration was incensed since the leak came just before a new round of Berlin talks with the Soviet Union.

New Polaris Sub Is Christened

Jackie Kennedy Does Honors as Ship Slides Into the Waters

GROTON, Conn. (UPI)—The Polaris submarine Lafayette, described by the secretary of the Navy as a "magnificent specimen of progress toward peace," was christened today by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

She cracked a bottle of champagne over the blunt prow of the 7,000-ton steel hull as it began moving along the ways into the Thames River.

"I christen thee USS Lafayette," said Mrs. Kennedy as a cheer went up from the several thousand invited guests. The electric horns on the submarine sounded a prolonged blast and the huge craft got a steam-whistle welcome down a half dozen tugs waiting in the river to guide her to wedlock.

Navy Secretary Fred Korth said, "It seems particularly fitting that this splendid example of the shipbuilders' art should be launched by our charming First Lady in the presence of the esteemed ambassador of France. For this ship, like the name of the man she bears, becomes a symbol of the alliance between two great countries, Mr. Ambassador, and we welcome you here."

French Ambassador Herve Alphand was a member of Mrs. Kennedy's party. His initials, H. A., were burned into the keel plates of the Lafayette.

Some Funds Expensive Purchased by Contract

By FRANK COMMER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly one-third of those who buy certain mutual fund shares on the installment plan wind up paying a sales commission of more than 40 percent, according to figures compiled by federal securities loan investigators.

This point was developed at length Monday as the Securities and Exchange Commission began two weeks of public hearings on the training, fitness and sales of fund salesmen and brokerage employees.

Fund distributors also occupied today's witness-list. Rep. representatives of top brokerage firms are scheduled to begin testifying Friday.

The hearings are part of broad SEC study of the entire securities industry. Much of the investigation is being conducted in secret.

Richard H. Paul, chief counsel for the inquiry, cited at the end of Monday's session an SEC study of what happened to those who began installment purchases of Axa-Houghton Fund B, a popular mutual fund, three years ago.

Paul said 29 percent who signed installment contracts with Investors Planning Corp. of America, the Axa-Houghton distributor, had either cashed in their shares or made no monthly payments for at least a year as of last February.

ment buyers represented sales charges. This would mean the buyer was paying $39 sales charges for getting $70 in shares, a 40 percent commission. Although Paul did not say so, the SEC believes many fund salesmen have been less than diligent about informing their customers of sales charges.

DIVERSIFICATION
Investors in mutual funds buy proportionate interests in diversified portfolios of common stocks and other securities. The funds, which have grown in asset value from $7.8 billion to $24.4 billion in the past six years, are especially popular with small investors. They provide professional management and a hedge against the risks that might accompany investment in a few individual stocks.

Plaque Highlighting Hayes' Achievements at City Hall

Pontiac Honors Greatest 'Jones Boy' of Track Tonight

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

This is the night for the Jones.

There are millions of people in the world named Jones and to be exact there are 187 listed in the telephone book in the city of Pontiac alone.

There is only one Jones Jones however and he is greatest of all Joneses in the world of track and field.

Pontiac's Jones has earned himself the honor as one of the most prolific athletes in the history of the city, in Michigan and in the United States. Who else is a better hurdler in the world today?

CITY PROCLAMATION

By proclamation of the Pontiac City Commission, Hayes Jones is to be honored tonight. A plaque listing his great achievements from the track at Wm. Stadium to the 1960 Olympics in Rome and through his three world records of the indoor season just completed.

Track fans know of his records in New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Chicago, Tokyo, London, Moscow, Rome, Paris, Warsaw. They've watched him set these records throughout the world.

Hayes actually won his first Olympic medal back in 1950. He was just a skinny kid among 300 who were competing in the Junior Olympics at Wm. Stadium and he proudly took his place on the top tier of the miniature Olympiad podium to get his medal for high jumping 4-foot-6.

To the thousands of fans watching that summer day, he was just another Jones boy. To Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jones it was a happy moment but no cause for any celebration. When the day was over everyone forgot the Jones boy named Hayes.

For the next four years he made frequent visits to the Wm. track, running, jumping and hurdling and then turned his imagination to thoughts about great achievements in track and the Olympics.

Under the guidance of coaches Wally Schloerke and Ray Lowry, interest in track kindled in Hayes. When the great Pontiac Central teams of 1953 and 1956 were walking off with the Michigan class A championships, Hayes was right fully called the most outstanding prep trackman in the state.

In 1956, Pontiac became the first out-of-state school to win the Mansfield, O., relay in its 25 year history. Jones scored 16 points in the meet. He scored at least 16 points in every meet in which he competed that season including the state meet when he set two records and scored 19 1/2 points.

His collegiate career carried him to Eastern Michigan University where he remade the record books. In collegiate meets around the country, Hayes was recognized as the outstanding freshman in the country and for the next four years he stole the show in inter-collegiate competition.

There was even talk about using Jones for the decathlon

as he began chalking up victories in high and low hurdles, dashes, high jump and broad jump.

In the Miami and Ohio relays he took part in six events and won five and against Central Michigan in dual competition he won five out of five in his freshman year. His second place usually came in the high jump although he was able to go 6-foot-4.

NCAA CHAMP

He won the NCAA championships in both hurdles in 1959 and in the Drake Relays he became the only double winner in the meet's 50 year history in taking the high sticks in 3.6 and the 100 yard dash in 9.5.

It was decided in his later college days to concentrate on the hurdles. The 1960 Olympics were his goal and he was intent on hurdling his way.

From 1953 through April of 1962, Hayes set an array of indoor records that rank him with the names of Jesse Owens and Harrison Dillard.

The big moment of his life came in the fall of 1960 when he helped the United States make a grand slam of the hurdles event.

He, Lee Calhoun and Willie May all posted times of 13.7 in the preliminary heats. In the finals, Calhoun took the gold medal, May the silver medal and Jones the bronze medal.

There was some disappointment for Hayes because he thought he could have finished first, but he was still happy to be part of a great winning trio, and also because he defeated the world record holder Martin Lauer of Germany.

Now, Hayes looks forward to the 1964 Olympics. Calhoun and May will be out of the picture and Jones feels he will be just ripe at the age of 24 to get the gold medal.

The past spring he has indicated his intentions. He continued his two year streak of victories by winning his 41st straight indoors and setting three world records in the 45 yard high, 60 yard high and 70 yard high.

He has never been beaten indoors at Madison Square Garden in four years and holds all hurdles records in the Philadelphia, Chicago and Milwaukee Relays.

The world is full of Jones, but track fans aren't through hearing from Pontiac's Hayes Jones.

Tigers Fail to Roar Against Denver

Farm Club Tops Detroit, 6-4, in Exhibition

Play at Los Angeles Tonight; State Tour of Japan in Fall

From Our News Wires

DENVER — Will the real Detroit Tigers please roar?

The once-proud contenders in the American League pennant race suffered the crowning ignominy last night when their Denver Farm club defeated them in an exhibition game, 6-4. It was the Tigers' sixth straight loss.

And if they stopped at Denver to look for talent, they had their share as three of the Bears' hurlers set the Detroiters down on five hits.

Al Peacock went five innings for the American Association club to pick up the victory. He needed help in the late innings from Mickey Letch and Ron Nischwitz.

The Tigers try the streaking Los Angeles Angels tonight.

Denver got two runs off veteran Sam Jones during the first inning, then walked another four off Fred Gladding.

Tiger manager Bob Scheffing used his regular lineup for the first three innings, then sent in his second string. Steve Boros was the only regular to go nine innings.

TWO HOMERS

All of the Detroit runs came on homers. Bob Osborne banged a five-run blast in the fifth inning and Mike Roarkie chipped in with a bases-empty home run in the eighth.

Osborne's home run gave the Tigers a 3-2 lead until a three-run outburst covered it up for the Bears in the bottom of the fifth.

No one would blame the faltering Bengals if the prospect of the remainder of the American League season seemed dreary, but there are good things in the offing.

The team planned a fall trip to Japan in which each player will get $3,000 for six weeks work. It was learned yesterday.

Don Mossi (2-3) was scheduled to face Eli Grba (1-0) in tonight's match at Los Angeles.

The Angels have won four in a row going into the night, and are tied for first place in the American League.

ALUSIK ROLD

Detroit sold outfielder George Alusik to the Kansas City Athletics yesterday for the $20,000 waiver price and farmed pitcher Terry Fox to Denver.

Alusik was hitless in two trips this season. Fox has been sidelined by a sore arm.

Aspromonte's Homer Beats Old Mates

By The Associated Press

Turnabout, which has always been considered fair play, was bound to happen after the National League stocked its new club through a player draft. And the No. 1 "turncoat" today is Houston's Bob Aspromonte.

Against his former Los Angeles teammates for the first time in season, stroked three hits and drove in the winning runs with a three-run homer in a 9-6 Colts' triumph last night that continued the Dodgers' nose dive.

Grabbed by the Colts for $75,000 in the expansion draft last October, Aspromonte was the chief executive among the cast of castoffs who combined to hand the Dodgers their fifth defeat in the last eight games.

The skid has cost the Dodgers 4 1/2 games in the NL pennant chase. Nine days ago they were only a half game out of first place. Now they're five back of it.

Aspromonte was the lone bright spot in the losing effort. He hit three homers, then sent in his second string. Steve Boros was the only regular to go nine innings.

Aspromonte crushed the crusher in the seventh off rookie Pete Ricketts (1-1) with two out. For-

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 16-year-old pitcher with an artificial right leg turned in a no-hit, no-run game for the Schuylkill County High School baseball team Monday.

Tommy Walters, who throws right-handed, gave up only one walk in blanking Swinswale 3-0. He had pitched a shutout last week.

Young Walters' leg was amputated five years ago after he was injured in a football game.

His father, Robert, a former Penn State football player, is a teacher at Penn Hills.

HONORED AS PREP — Wally Schloerke, coach of the 1956 state championship Pontiac Central track team, shares the honors with Hayes Jones in accepting the trophy for winning the class A title. PCH became the first out-of-state school to win the Mansfield relays that year. Jones scored at least 16 or more points in every meet as a senior.

He, Lee Calhoun and Willie May all posted times of 13.7 in the preliminary heats. In the finals, Calhoun took the gold medal, May the silver medal and Jones the bronze medal.

There was some disappointment for Hayes because he thought he could have finished first, but he was still happy to be able to compete. He was also because he defeated the world record holder Martin Luther of Germany.

Ortonville golfer Bob MacGregor has fallen into a delightful rut. He's averaging one ace per year in the Clarkston Golf Club.

MacGregor riddled Clarkston's 2nd-hole-in-one this season and his 3rd at the course in three years yesterday.

Playing partners Ed Plummer and Jim Vancamp, also of Ortonville, watched as MacGregor ace the 104-yard 9th hole with a wedge shot. He carded 30 for nine holes.

At this rate, Clarkston G.C. owner Paul Frechette may have to make the holes smaller.

"This is getting kind of expensive," laughed Mrs. Frechette. "We prevent a dozen golf balls to everyone who shoots an ace here."

WORLD HURDLER — Carrying a streak of 31 straight indoor victories, Hayes Jones holds the bulk of the world's hurdles marks. The past spring he set world records in the 45, 60 and 70 yard hurdles and is the only trackman ever to win a sprint and hurdles event back to back in the Philadelphia and New York relays.

Hayes Jones and Wife to Be Honored Tonight

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Jones will be honored at a private dinner of the city commission at the Waldron Hotel this evening and at 9 p.m. a public reception will be held at city hall.

The wall plaque honoring Hayes Jones will be unveiled and all of his former teammates, friends, relatives and local citizens are invited to attend.

Lane Will Head Cage Packers

Ex-Trade Specialist of Baseball Turns to Pro Basketball

CHICAGO (UPI) — Frank C. Lane, one of baseball's greatest trademen, was breaking in on a new job today, to run the Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association for one year.

Lane, general manager of four major league baseball clubs, signed yesterday to run the Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association for one year.

Indirectly, his contract was a greater benefit to Charles O. Finley than to Lane. Finley fired Lane last summer as general manager of the Kansas City Athletics, but under terms of his employment contract, he has to pay Lane for seven more years.

The amount that Lane is paid, undisclosed, for running the Packers will be deducted from the amount Finley owes, since no settlement was made on their contract.

Lane said his first job with the Packers would be to sign Walt Bellamy, the Packers' center who was the NBA rookie of the year last season, for his sophomore campaign.

"Then," he said, "I want to sign our major draft choices, Billy McGill, Terry Dischinger, Don Nelson and Cornell Green. We have some good holdover players, and we want to field the kind of team that will bring people out to pay my salary."

SWINGS BIG BAT — Stan Musial is belting National League pitchers at a .375 clip. The St. Louis Cardinals' star has his sights set on more National League records.

Rewriting Record Books

Aging Musial Has .375 Average

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Musial is so busy rewriting the record book that it is easy to forget he is hitting .375 with a pennant-contending ball club.

"The next two weeks will be a tough battle for us," said the 41-year-old Cardinal outfielder by telephone from St. Louis. "We play tonight and then the Dodgers three in a row. After that we turn right around and play the same club six straight on the coast. But we'll be battling them."

"All of us think that the trade for Bobby Shantz is going to help our club."

TROPHY ROOM
Musial brought home two baseballs from Cincinnati that will go in his trophy rack one of these days. They represented his feat of tying and then beating the National League record for most games played.

Sometime during the next few days, Musial will bring home another baseball that will rate as a billing in his home. It will represent his 3,420th base hit, tying the league record set by the late Honus Wagner.

The magic number is five for Musial to tie the record. In the old days that was two night work. Now it might take slightly longer. "Somehow I'm not worked up about it as much as when I was getting close to 3,000 hits," said Musial. "Maybe it will be different the closer I get. If I get a cou-

Is Score Finished in Majors?

CHICAGO (AP) — Exactly five years ago, May 12, 1957, a screaming liner off the bat of Gil McDougald struck Cleveland pitcher Herb Score over the right eye.

That the eye was saved is a tribute to modern medicine and surgery. The tragedy did not end Score's pitching days but it did something possibly more heart-breaking.

It reduced what might have been one of baseball's most brilliant pitching careers into an unending series of comeback attempts which so far have been futile.

The Chicago White Sox, who acquired Score for pitcher Butty Laitman two years ago, optioned the left-hander to Indianapolis Monday on 24-hour recall.

It could mean the end of Score's career in the majors at the prime age of 28. Score broke in with Cleveland in 1955 when he posted a 16-10 record to grab rookie honors in the American League.

The following year he was on his way with a 20-9 record. Since the injury he has been struggling along with a total of 17 victories and 26 defeats.

Although he was shipped to the minors last year and again Monday, Score is not quitting.

"I regret it," said Score when informed he was going to Indianapolis. "I feel so good. But I've got to pitch somewhere. If I wasn't throwing good, I'd say to myself, 'Herbie you've had it. But I've been throwing good... I feel strong. Maybe I can make it again.'"

Score refuses to blame the eye incident for his ineffectiveness. "The eye's okay," he says. "It's my control that's bad."

Score is not the only one who refused to give up on himself. Manager Al Lopez, the patient Spaniard, also feels Score can make it again.

Recently Lopez, who along with his coaches has spent innumerable hours working with Score, said "there's no reason in the world Score can't pitch winning ball in the majors."

Moss Resting Well

LONDON (AP) — Stirling Moss, British motor racing ace, had a good restful night, a hospital bulletin said today. Moss was badly injured in a crash 15 days ago and still has periods of semi-consciousness.

"I was 38 when I got the 3,000," he said. "Wagner's record seemed a long way off. I didn't know if I would be around that long. When you are 38 years old, 430 more hits are a lot."

When Musial won his first batting title in 1943, Wagner came to his home town to take part in a banquet honoring Stan. "I always appreciated that," said Musial. "He told me he had won seven or eight batting championships and said he hoped I'd be able to match him. I never thought I'd be up there close to his records."

Musial already has broken two National League records this season, most games played and runs scored. The total hit record is next.

Here is a rundown on Stan's 1962 record:
Most hits—2,985 (Wagner, 1,425; most runs scored—1,229; most runs batted in—1,229; most home runs—121; most at-bats—548; most bases—1,320 (Musial); most total bases—1,320 (Cobb), 1,315.

Back to School for New Queen of Gymnastics

SEATTLE (AP) — It was back to school today for the new queen of U.S. gymnastics.

She's Dale McClements, 17, a 96-pound Seattle high school senior.

Miss McClements' dethroned Doris Fuchs of Rochester, N.Y., Saturday night in the finals of the Amateur Athletic Union Gymnastic Tournament.

"I was planning on taking six months off," she said. "Just hoping for sixth," she said afterward.

In addition to winning the all-around title, Miss McClements won the side horse vault competition.

Men's all-around winner was Don Tony, the pre-tournament favorite from Brooklyn, N.Y., who is stationed at West Point.

The meet was the second of three qualifying meets to pick six men and six women for the U.S. team to compete in the world championships at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in July.

NL Crowds Up by 42 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP) — National League baseball fans, braving cold, rain, sleet and heat, are turning out in larger numbers this season while helping the circuit regain its record-breaking pace of 1960.

Through Sunday's games, National League attendance was 1,684,506, an increase of 42 per cent over last year. Even without the combined attendance of the two new teams, the Houston Colts and New York Mets, the gain was still 17 per cent.

The Colts had pulled 202,400 through the turnstiles in 11 home dates for an average of 18,400. The Mets, with 95,251 in 10 home dates, were averaging 9,525.

The American League also showed a slight gain, according to the figures compiled by The Associated Press. The junior circuit's attendance was 1,144,312 compared to 1,136,657 in a comparable number of home dates in 1961.

Titans Extend Streak to 14 Nipping Eastern

YPSILANTI (AP) — The University of Detroit baseball team took its 14th consecutive victory yesterday, edging Eastern Michigan, 8-7.

The Hurons, down 8-3 in the ninth, roared back with four runs. Roger Bechtel's second homer of the day accounted for three of the four.

But starter Dan Olsinski settled down and retired the next three Huron batters in order for the triumph. Titan catcher Bill Bartling's three-run homer in the seventh was the winners' only crowd-tripper.

Motors Lead Market Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors sagged in a generally declining stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Key stocks declined from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

Weakness in General Motors was the forerunner of a general falling-off in prices after a fairly steady beginning.

GM was down almost 3 points before slipping about a point from its decline. GM fell as plans were made known to issue a secondary offering of about 430,000 shares of GM common some time this week.

While the source of the offering was not known immediately, it was a reminder that under a recent court decision DuPont must divert itself of its 60 million shares of GM stock over the next few years.

Steels advanced in early trading but turned ragged after the auto stocks sank. Tobaccos, chemicals, rail, utilities, drugs and electrical equipments also worked lower.

PRR Approves Central Merger

NEW RAILROAD WILL BE $5 BILLION

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Stockholders of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads voted overwhelmingly today in favor of a merger that would create a nation's richest line. Officials of both roads predicted federal approval.

Philadelphia (AP)—Pennsylvania Railroad stockholders overwhelmingly approved today a merger of the nation's biggest carrier with the New York Central Railroad.

James M. Symes, PRR board chairman, said he couldn't give any definite date, but asserted he hoped the Interstate Commerce Commission will start hearings on the merger proposal within a year.

The new road, to be known as the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co., would be America's largest privately-owned corporation with assets of over $5 billion.

Symes, who announced the PRR stockholders' decision at the company's annual meeting, said similar approval is expected from Central shareholders assembled today at Albany, N.Y. They met

Meanwhile, Central president Alfred E. Perlman told newsmen on an special train carrying shareholders to the Central's annual meeting that sufficient favorable votes had arrived to assure approval of the merger.

"We know that more than three-fourths of the road are in with the merger," Perlman said. "We know that more than three-fourths of the road are in with the merger."

The firm declared a dividend of 55 cents a share on outstanding common stock, payable July 16 to stockholders of record June 22.

Clauder said the $30.3-million figure was 7.2 per cent more than the previous year's first quarter of 1961.

Pressure on Wheat Drops Price a Cent

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures came under the heaviest selling more than a week and slipped as much as a first few minutes of activity today on the board of trade.

Other grain were generally steady to easier.

Brokers said the pressure in the crop wheat appeared to be largely profit selling in consequence of the broad advance over the past two weeks or so.

One trader said the reversal was to be expected in view of the fact that the grain had reached effective government support levels.

Corn gained at the start on word that government sales out of surplus stock last week again were heavy at 25.3 million bushels. It absorbed the first flurry quickly and steadied thereafter.

Says Army Officers Seizing Securities

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national retailer of mutual fund shares told federal securities investigators today that senior military officers on active duty are among his best part-time customers.

James McConnell, king Merrill's executive vice president, said any regulations governing sales to military personnel would be a matter for military command.

King Merrill has 2,500 salesmen operating out of offices in 49 states and several foreign countries. Jamison said 1,700 of these are full-time employees.

Asked if the company could continue operating if the use of part-time salesmen was barred, McConnell said, "Yes, but we wouldn't like it."

Negro Newsman Dies

Survey Shows America Consumes 270 Billion Gallons Daily

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's use of water increased 12 per cent. between 1955 and 1960 to an average withdrawal rate of 2,800 gallons daily for every American, the government reported yesterday.

One of these last week was a year of about 40 died in a rugged blue denim platform of the Chinese Communist People's Liberation Army.

Border police seized him and sent him back. But as he turned back for whatever fate awaits him, he told the police:

"I'll come back again."

The story of the Chinese border crossers has not been so well publicized nor is it as dramatic as the story of divided Berlin and the stream of refugees from communism who for years poured through it by the thousands until erection of the East Berlin Wall last Aug. 13.

Like their German counterparts, the Chinese refugees leave all their possessions behind them. But their story is even more tragic.

Future Dark for Red China Refugee

By PHIL NEWSOM

The little village of Shantou lies in an area called the "new territories" on the border dividing Red China and the British crown colony of Hong Kong.

A high wall fence runs all along the border, except at Shantou where there is a break of about four miles. It is a favorite crossing point for illegal border crossers seeking to escape the hardships of Red China.

One of these last week was a year of about 40 died in a rugged blue denim platform of the Chinese Communist People's Liberation Army.

Border police seized him and sent him back. But as he turned back for whatever fate awaits him, he told the police:

"I'll come back again."

The story of the Chinese border crossers has not been so well publicized nor is it as dramatic as the story of divided Berlin and the stream of refugees from communism who for years poured through it by the thousands until erection of the East Berlin Wall last Aug. 13.

Like their German counterparts, the Chinese refugees leave all their possessions behind them. But their story is even more tragic.

For every East German escaping to the West, at least four jobs await him. Efficiently operating refugee organizations take care of him and see that he is relocated in an area best suited to his skills. For the refugee from Red China, the future is almost as bleak as the past he was trying to escape.

BURSTING AT SEAMS If he is caught, British authorities will turn him back because Hong Kong already is bursting at the seams with other refugees.

A government official in Hong Kong estimates that 6,000 to 8,000 refugees pour into Hong Kong each month.

"When conditions are poor in China, he said, 'we get refugees. And conditions have never been as poor there before.'"

The Human Rights Council of Hong Kong has called on free world nations to help them solve the problem.

They have asked the National Chinese government on Formosa to receive and resettle 100 thousand refugee immigrants during 1962-63.

It also has proposed that countries with vast open spaces, such as Canada and Australia, amend their immigration laws to absorb at least a few thousand each year.

It is estimated that since the Reds took over the mainland in 1949 at least 800 thousand refugees have arrived in Hong Kong.

Hong Kong, together with neighboring Portuguese Macao, is the last remnant of Western colonialism on the China Coast.

The Red Chinese have infiltrated Hong Kong's labor unions, its schools and its press but have made no serious move to take it over.

COULD TAKE OVER

The British have pledged to defend it in case of attack, but thereby cut off.

No place to tell a secret!

Take it from us, you'd better not try to exchange confidences in a new 1962 Cadillac.

For the car is so silent in operation—even at the legal limit of the road—that even a whisper can be heard.

But while that wondrous quiet might make it difficult to trade secrets—it speaks volumes about motor car quality and goodness.

For the silence of the Cadillac car is as unique as the circumstances that produce it.

Cadillac cars, for instance, are built in only one place—and they are built by men who build nothing else.

They are crafted to unbelievably fine tolerances. Some engine parts must be machined to an accuracy of one ten-thousandth of an inch.

They are styled so scientifically that wind noise is reduced to a lullaby—and they are constructed so well and insulated so thoroughly that outside sounds are virtually eliminated.

They undergo more than 1400 inspections in the course of their manufacture and assembly—and are then subjected to the most authoritative final inspection in the industry.

You ought to visit your Cadillac dealer soon and sample the results for yourself. And while you're at the wheel—listen to the eloquent quiet.

It's one more example of why only a car that's designed like a Cadillac and built like a Cadillac can ride like a Cadillac.

JFK Warns Labor:

'Limit Wage Demands'

Pontiac Tax Rate to Be Set Tonight

The City Commission will set the 1962 tax rate for Pontiac at its meeting tonight at City Hall.

Adoption of a tax rate tops an agenda of some 20 items. The 1962 rate is expected to fall somewhere between $14.30 and $14.50 per $1,000 of assessed property value.

The higher rate ($14.50) would be 90 cents above the present rate; the lower rate ($14.30), a 60-cent increase.

Supervisors OK New Auditorium

County Chiefs Place Meeting Hall Ahead of Program for Retarded

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday put the spending of over a half-million dollars for a new meeting place on an awarding program for mentally retarded in the county.

In spite of an effort to table further action on a proposed $631,812 supervisors auditorium at the County Service Center in favor of spending the money to aid retarded children, the Board of Supervisors voted 60-19 to start construction.

Prior to the roll-call vote, White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Chey pleaded with fellow supervisors to hold up on awarding contracts at least until some consideration had been given by the board to what can be done for an estimated 3,000 mentally retarded in the county.

"Do you honestly feel," he asked the board, "deep down in your hearts that the construction of an auditorium is much more important to you and the community you represent than the lives of little children?"

Main purpose of the proposed auditorium is to serve as a future meeting place for the Board of Supervisors. The board presently meets in an auditorium at the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette Street, in downtown Pontiac.

MAKES SUGGESTION

Chey suggested that the board continue to meet in the office auditorium at least for another year, or until more money could be raised later to construct the new auditorium at the service center.

Wayne and Macomb Committees Chairman David Levinson of Birmingham, who sought immediate approval to begin construction, said that since all other county agencies now in the office building will be moving out to the service center by this fall, it was equally urgent to relocate the board's meeting place.

Visit Mall Store

HUDSON TEAM — Looking over the new Hudson's Budget Store in Pontiac Mall are Joseph L. Hudson Jr., left, president of the J. L. Hudson Co., and William Crick, store manager. The men were on hand at a press preview yesterday to discuss Hudson's Budget Store, which opens Thursday.

Tears Fall as Man 'Sees' His Children

DETROIT (AP)—"What a wonderful moment that is going to be," said motherly Mrs. James Ecker Sr. "And when it arrives it truly was wonderful. Tears of joy fell like rain drops on Willow Run Airport's concrete apron."

That moment was the arrival of Mrs. Ecker's 34-year-old son, Leonard, who could see for the first time since childhood illness robbed him of his sight when he was a baby of 14 months.

Figures still are only shadows in the light to Ecker. The best hope doctors gave him is that with time and treatment a corneal transplant he underwent eventually may restore up to 10 per cent of normal vision in his right eye. Years ago the left eye was replaced with an artificial one.

He couldn't make out the form or distinguish through colored glasses the yellow hair ribbon that bounced atop her head, but when a 9-year-old lass dashed from the crowd and threw herself into his arms he knew it was Laura, the oldest of his four children.

Laura didn't say a word. She cried — in happiness. She had only moments before solved her big problem of which one, mother or daddy, to hug first. Daddy won because he had been gone the longest.

Unjust Requests Against Interest of U.S., He Says

Appeals to 'Sense of Responsibility' by Both Business, Workers

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—President Kennedy told labor today that "unjustified wage demands which require price increases" are as much against the national interest as "unjustified profit demands which require price increases."

He said, "I speak with a single voice to the men on both sides of the nation's bargaining tables when I say that your sense of responsibility — the responsibility of both labor and management to the general public — is the foundation on which our hopes must build for the survival and success of the free enterprise system."

The President, in a speech prepared for the United Auto Workers convention, said the administration would not undertake to fix prices and wages in a peacetime economy but that it must defend goals and point out the national interest.

"But we possess and seek no powers of compulsion," added Kennedy, saying the government must mainly rely on the voluntary efforts of labor and business to make certain the national interest is preserved.

Openly bidding to enlist labor in political support of his program, Kennedy told the unionists in his opening paragraph: "In the legislative and political battles which lie ahead, I am counting on your support."

By broad implication, Kennedy tied that plea to a list of legislative proposals including his tax bill, with its investment credit to stimulate plant modernization which he said would increase real wages; his foreign trade program aimed to promote exports; a $500 million plan for public works; the youth training for employment proposals.

Bowman Bill Political Issue?

Veto Arouses Dem Fears

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson's veto of a controversial bill to ban city income taxes on non-residents triggered fears among Democratic leaders today that his decision will touch off serious political repercussions.

Swainson vetoed the measure yesterday and assailed it for doing nothing to promote fiscal reform. He called his action "right, just and responsible."

It was one of the toughest decisions in his 16 months as governor.

Lawmakers from Detroit suburbs, most of them Democrats, led the fight to pass the bill in an effort to prevent Detroit from collecting its newly approved 1 per cent income tax from nonresidents. It is scheduled to take effect July 1.

Detroit lawmakers, all of them Democrats, lost their floor battles to kill it but ended up with Swainson on their side.

Rep. John T. Bowman, D-Roseville, the sponsor, said he had no hopes of overriding the veto. "People in Macomb County, and in other suburban areas, are up in arms about the governor's veto," he said. "But we are going to take this thing into the courts now. We have just begun to fight."

THE HURT CAMPAIGN
One prominent Democratic House member, asking not to be identified, predicted the governor's decision will develop into a full-fledged campaign issue and seriously hurt his chances for reelection.

"I don't think he realizes how suburbanites are worked up over this thing," he said. "This hits them where it hurts most — in their pocketbooks — and they're going to remember this when they go to the polls in November."

Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh congratulated Gov. Swainson for his veto.

Cavanagh said the Bowman Bill was "narrow, punitive class legislation." Detroit city officials estimate (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Terrorists Roam Algiers, Gunning Moslems on Sight

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Gunmen of the terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS) stalked the streets of Algiers today, shooting down Moslems in indiscriminate attacks.

By noon, European terrorists had slain 16 persons in Algiers and four others elsewhere in Algeria and wounded at least 18 others. Most of the victims were Moslems.

It brought the year's terrorist toll to 4,382 dead and 8,777 injured.

The terrorists apparently were pressing their attacks in an attempt to goad the Moslems into massive reprisals against Europeans in the hope that such retaliation would force French army intervention and wreck Algerian independence plans.

Security forces were carrying out systematic searches of Algiers and Oran for OAS terrorists and arms. It was announced that 50 OAS suspects were arrested in Oran during the past two days.

French security officials took measures to keep a tight rein on Moslems here to prevent them from striking back at Europeans in reprisal for terrorist attacks by the OAS.

The OAS, which opposes the French government's policy for an independent Algeria, is trying to provoke the Moslems into indiscriminate attacks on Europeans. This could nullify the March 18 Franco-Moslem cease fire, the first step toward an independent Algeria.

Moslem resentment against the Europeans has intensified as the OAS attacks increased, particularly because of their latest victims—Moslem women.

Terrorist attacks yesterday claimed 30 lives and wounded 35 others.

The fears of French officials that Moslems counterattacked en masse for the first time since the cease fire.

Showers to Stop Tonight; High Tomorrow 67

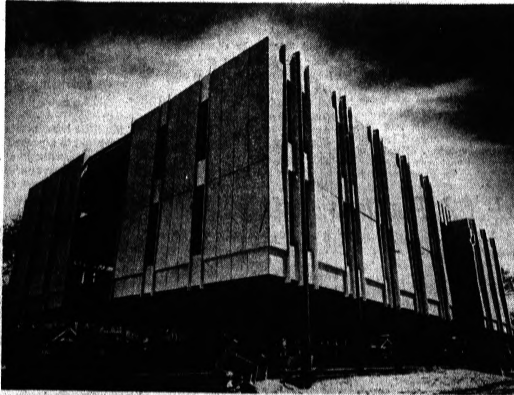

After a few showers and thunderstorms late today skies will clear for the night, the weatherman says.

Temperatures will drop to a low of 44 tonight and rise to 67 tomorrow. Wednesday's forecast is partly cloudy. More showers may be expected Thursday.

From 10 a.m. yesterday until the same hours today, 65 of an inch of rain fell on the Pontiac down town area.

Thirty-seven was the lowest reading per 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 1 p.m. was 50.

GOP Resumes Estes Clamor

Republicans Pushing for Investigation of Agriculture Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans have renewed their demands for a congressional investigation of Billie Sol Estes' relations with the Agriculture Department.

The chairman of the GOP Congressional Committee, Rep. Bob Wilson of California, said Monday that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman tried to whitewash the department in his news conference Monday.

Wilson said in a statement that despite Freeman's claims that no favoritism was shown Estes by the department, the West Texas financier obviously received a lot of special consideration.

In a long, turbulent news conference, Freeman said the department "dragged a bit" in cancelling some 3,000 acres of valuable cotton allotments assigned Estes under a crop control program but he said this involved a complex legal question.

GOING TO FIND OUT
"The government hasn't lost a dime—not a single dime to Estes," he said.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Freeman "might know that, but I don't. We are going to find out."

Curtis serves on the Senate subcommittee which has assigned 10 investigators to look into the story of Estes' complex dealings under various farm programs.

Curtis said Freeman left many questions unanswered, and that the secretary's statements merely pointed up a need for such an inquiry.

Estes was indicted last month by a federal grand jury for fraud in connection with cattle mortgages he was charged with selling on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

The indictment set off further inquiry into Estes' activities with emphasis on his dealings under government programs for cotton allotments and for storage of surplus grain.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., told the Senate Monday he also felt a congressional investigation is essential to get to the bottom of allegations stemming from Estes' indictment in Texas.

See 'Absurd Results' in Disarmament Plan

U.S. Rejects Red Ideas

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States today said Soviet Russia's proposals for verifying destruction of nuclear delivery vehicles in a general disarmament treaty were "unacceptable" and would lead to "absurd results."

The Soviet plan leaves too much room for cheating by the Communists, American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Dean challenged Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valentin Zorin to prove how a nation wanting to conceal some of its nuclear weapons during the disarmament process could be found out.

He said the proposed Soviet verification measures "preclude checking."

COMPARISON PROPOSALS

Dean's remarks came during the 33rd plenary session of the conference.

Earlier, he had made a detailed comparison of the rival American and Soviet proposals for reduction of manpower in armed forces under stage one of a proposed treaty.

The conference switched to the subject of general and complete disarmament after yesterday's unproductive debate on a nuclear test ban. The test ban discussions will be resumed tomorrow.

Dean said that while the objectives of both sides are "clearly the same" on the question of armed forces reduction, their methods for carrying out such reduction differ.

The United States has proposed a cut to 2.1 million men for the armed forces of the United States and Russia under stage one of the disarmament process; the Soviets have proposed a cut to 1.2 million and last week said they were prepared to go as low as 1.5 million.

Dean said the United States is reluctant to go that far — partly because of its obligations to its allies and partly because "men can be more easily shifted from civilian to military employment in the U.S.S.R. than they can in the United States."

He pointed out that troops distributed under the Soviet plan could hand over their weapons to other troops. Under the U.S. plans, such arms would be destroyed.

Dean said the United States "does not take too seriously" the Communist charges that a declaration by the participating states of the sites of their armed forces at the beginning of the disarmament process would constitute espionage.

The Soviets themselves, he said, proposed a similar declaration as far back as 1955.

On the eve of Kennedy's speech, UAW President Walter Reuther hurried out a statement confirming that the union's collective bargaining policy conforms with Kennedy's economic stability goals.

It came out one day after Reuther had been out on the telephone to the White House before he turned out the statement Monday night.

In the statement Reuther said the union's collective bargaining policy is and always has been to achieve wage increases and fringe benefits "out of the higher productivity of the American economy and not out of the pockets of consumers through higher prices"—a phrase similar to one he used on the telephone to the White House before he turned out the statement Monday night.

Another man who said he saw the police car seconds before the accident told Taylor the car was not exceeding the speed limit. The witness, Ronald W. Kelly, of 602 DeSoto Place, said he saw the police vehicle from a window in his home.

Taylor said no further inquiries are planned.

Hurricane-like winds and unconfirmed tornadoes belted the Midwest last night, overturning trucks, shredding power lines, triggering flash floods and inflicting injuries.

A mother and three children were hurt when wind gusts overturned their trailer house at Dixon, Ill., trapping them inside. A driver was hurt when the wind pushed his truck into the Iowa River, near Tama, Iowa.

Illinois state police said the storm which hit Sterling, Ill., was a tornado. A possible tornado touched down between Boone and Luther, Iowa. There were unconfirmed reports of funnel clouds at Granger and West Des Moines, Iowa.

Radio station WSDR at Sterling, Ill., was knocked off the air when the wind toppled its transmitter tower. The Village of Harmon, Ill., had power failures.

Winds up to 83 miles an hour buffeted Omaha, Neb. Davenport, Iowa, measured 70 mile wind gusts. Winds up to 40 miles an hour battered the Chicago suburbs of Wilmette, Deerfield, Glenview, Evanston, Skokie and Lincolnwood.

Leo Catron, 26, Cassville, Mo., was trapped for more than an hour in the cab of his truck, only his head and shoulders above the surface of the Iowa River, into which the vehicle was pushed by a wind gust on a bridge near Tama, Iowa.

Officer Cleared in Fatal Accident

Prosecutor Finds 'No Evidence of Negligence' in Death of Youth

A Pontiac police officer whose patrol car struck and killed a 17-year-old boy last Thursday was cleared yesterday of responsibility for the accident after an investigation by the prosecutor's office.

The boy died at the scene.

Prosecutor George Taylor said the investigation revealed "no evidence of negligence" on the part of officer Edmude Mudge, 32, of Clarkston.

Mudge was driving south on East Boulevard when Daniel Moreau, of 579 DeSoto Place, dashed in front of the patrol car and was struck, the prosecutor said. The boy died at the scene.

Taylor said a witness to the accident, Alfred C. Conley, 32, of 963 Balboa St., told him Daniel ran into the street without warning and the officer had no chance to avoid him.

Another man who said he saw the patrol car seconds before the accident told Taylor the car was not exceeding the speed limit. The witness, Ronald W. Kelly, of 602 DeSoto Place, said he saw the police vehicle from a window in his home.

Taylor said no further inquiries are planned.

"My little horse must think I queer," Frost rumbled Monday night to a packed theater in the Library of Congress, "to stop without a farmhouse near, between the woods . . . between the woods . . ."

"And frozen lake," came the stage-whispered voice from the rapt audience.

Frost, 86, had 600 listeners spell-bound for more than an hour with his honey chatting and reading, which keynoteed for him a week at the library in his role as honorary consultant in the humanities. The library announced Frost has agreed to another three-year term in that post.

"Now I've got all mixed up in government," he murmured. "The other day someone called me a statesman. So if I act a little funny tonight, a little strange, it isn't poetry, it's statesmanship."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert Frost, 88, blew a line while reciting one of his most oft-quoted poems. Another renowned American poet bailed him out from the audience.

"My little horse must think I queer," Frost rumbled Monday night to a packed theater in the Library of Congress, "to stop without a farmhouse near, between the woods . . . between the woods . . ."

"And frozen lake," came the stage-whispered voice from the rapt audience.

With a smile at colleague Louis Untermeyer, the library's special consultant in poetry, Frost picked up the line and finished "stopping by woods on a snowy evening." He drew a standing, applause-overriding ovation.

Frost, 86, had 600 listeners spell-bound for more than an hour with his honey chatting and reading, which keynoteed for him a week at the library in his role as honorary consultant in the humanities. The library announced Frost has agreed to another three-year term in that post.

"Now I've got all mixed up in government," he murmured. "The other day someone called me a statesman. So if I act a little funny tonight, a little strange, it isn't poetry, it's statesmanship."

The Day in Birmingham

Ist Test for Zoning Law Passed in Bloomfield Twp.

BIRMINGHAM — Bloomfield Township's proposed new zoning ordinance passed its first test last night with little difficulty, according to Supervisor Arno Hulet.

There was "no strenuous opposition" from among the 23 residents attending the public hearing on the revised ordinance, said Hulet, also a member of the Township Planning Commission that prepared the ordinance.

The hearing was held at Bloomfield Hills High School, rather than Township Hall, to accommodate the large crowd.

"Most of the complaints about the ordinance came from developers who claim that the proposed square footage for different lot sizes for single family residences are too large," Hulet said.

Under the new plan, lots zoned R1 would have to have 16,000 square feet with sewers and 22,000 square feet without sewers. R2 lots would require 20,000 square feet with sewers and 22,000 square feet without. For lots zoned R3 the minimum square footage with sewers would be 22,000 and 30,000 without sewers.

Presently the township has a 16,000 square-foot requirement with a maximum of 22,000 square feet for single family lots.

The planning commission will take under consideration all projects made last night and make recommendations on the first document being presenting it to the Township Board for approval.

3 YEARS TO PREPARE

The 78-page ordinance has been in preparation for three years by the Township Planning Commission, which has been working with Southfield planning consultants Vilcek-Berman and Associates.

Vilcek-Berman prepared a master plan for the township as a basis for the new zoning requirements.

No date has been scheduled for adoption of the ordinance by the Township Board.

Frederick V. Gentsch, Service for Frederick V. Gentsch, of 2879 Bloomfield Drive, Lathrup Village, will be 1 p.m. Saturday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Gentsch died Sunday in Braintree, Fla.

He was the president of a Detroit firm bearing his name that manufactures mobile home furniture.

He was a member of Composite Lodge 639, F&AM, Detroit.

Surviving are his wife Freda M. and two brothers.

Search Pressed for Missing Boy

Bloodhounds Lead Men to Mucky Pothole in Grand Haven Area

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—State police bloodhounds today led handlers three times to a shallow, mucky pothole in search for missing 5-year-old Thomas Richardson in nearby Robinson Township.

Searchers clad in waders and hip boots were sloshing through the water following up the dogs' lead.

The search has brought into play a state police photo, approximately 400 men on the ground and a mounted posse in an effort by several law agencies to find the 5-year-old boy.

One report indicated that Thomas, an older brother and four neighbors children scattered in the swampy, scrub brush area at the approach of a car carrying mushroom hunters.

Police say the hunters were checked out with negative results.

Ottawa County Sheriff Bernard Post said the child's mother last night was told that the children were in the woods and seek and was the missing boy's turn to hide when he vanished.

Thomas is one of four children — two boys and a girl — in the Carl Richardson family.

The motion was to table it wasn't open for discussion.

"I am being starboarded by Mr. Horton," Ewart objected. Board Chairman Deas Hamlin interceded at this point and affirmed that there could be no discussion.

The motion to table was then seconded by a vote of 10-2. The board then went ahead and approved awarding of $877,137 in contracts by a 60-10 vote.

The vast majority of supervisors obviously were caught unaware by the Cheys attempt to table the action.

Several had previously voiced the opinion that the auditorium could be built from funds in the 1963 budget regardless of what else might suffer. Many obviously hadn't considered the problem of the mentally retarded.

"This is a very serious problem when we . . . have not up to this date set up a training program for our children," Cheys told the board.

REFERENCES TO STATEMENTS

In a prepared speech, he referred to statements by Probate Judge Donald Adams and Robert Wolgast, director of the County Board of Mental Health, that "something must be done" for the county's mentally retarded youngsters.

"If we continue to neglect the mentally retarded, this in turn creates more problems to our country in child guidance and juvenile programs, 'even our jails,' he said.

Cheys referred to what Wayne County is doing to assist mentally retarded youngsters through its training center as highly successful.

He called for study and a similar effort to be made here.

Literacy Test Bill Doomed From Start

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — The second of two Kennedy administration civil rights moves is coming to a climax. This one, an attempt to knock out literacy tests as a barrier to Negro voting in federal elections, figures to lose.

This is hardly news. It looked foredoomed from the start. The administration got another civil rights measure — against poll taxes — rolling. That's a long way from final success, too.

White registrars in the South can apply literacy tests to would-be voters, refusing to let them vote if they fail. The tests can cover writing, reading, or interpreting the constitution.

Interpreting the Constitution can be quite a chore, even for Supreme Court justices.

Last month Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the literacy test was the most widely used Southern device to keep Negroes from the polls.

He said it keeps hundreds of thousands of Negroes from voting in federal elections.

"We have had dozens and dozens of Negro college professors declared illiterate while white citizens with virtually no education have been allowed to vote," Kennedy said.

The Northern Democrats and Republicans on the other side argue that the Constitution also guarantees citizens against being deprived of their rights, including voting rights, because of race or color.

Therefore, they say, Congress can step in to protect those rights.

One of the Southern captains—Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said 20 or 21 states have literacy tests, but only seven of them, including North Carolina, are in the South.

Kennedy said the literacy tests were not discriminatory outside the South, or in North Carolina, so far as he knew.

The Senate debate, as usual, dragged in a lot of things besides discussion of the issue. For instance, Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., used the debate as an excuse to attack the Supreme Court for decisions involving Communists.

Southerners accused the Northerners of putting on a show to endear themselves to Negroes in their states.

The Northerners suggested the Southerners were certainly not putting on their filibuster to appeal to Southern Negroes who don't vote but rather to find favor with white Southerners who do.

Now the Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders, having allowed what they consider simple questions for the Southerners to state their case, are ready to try to shut off debate by forcing a vote on what is called cloture.

This means two-thirds of the senators present on the floor—not necessarily all 100 senators—must vote to shut off debate or it can't be stopped.

But never in this century have two-thirds of the senators been willing to shut off debate on a civil rights bill. Many of them might favor the bill but cherish unlimited debate since they know some time on something else they might want to use it and wouldn't want cloture.

So those now favoring cloture haven't much hope that it can be invoked. If by some miracle this happened and the Senate passed the measure, it still couldn't become law unless the House also approved.

Earlier this year the Senate did shove through a proposal to outlaw the payment of a poll tax before a person could vote. Only five Southern states have such a requirement.

It is in earlier days the impossibility of digging up enough money to pay the tax may have kept some Negroes from voting. But it's no longer much of a factor. That may account in part for the sort of half-hearted fight the Southerners put up on this one.

But this was probably a more important factor: the anti-poll tax proposal was not in the form of a bill which would become law if passed by both houses and signed by the President. It was going.

If it does and approves, there's still more to do. The whole thing dies and the Constitution won't be amended unless at least three-fourths of the 50 states, or 38 states, also approve. That's tough going.

Population Up 2,580,000
Births in U.S. at Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were 4,282,000 babies born last year in the United States—a record.

And, according to a report today by the Public Health Service, the infant death rate reached a new low.

Those were contributing factors to a net increase of 2,580,000 in the population, without taking immigration into account.

The service, on the basis of provisional figures, said the 4,282,000 births during 1961 compared with a previous record of 4,257,650 in 1960.

There were 108,200 infant deaths in 1961, down from 108,800 in 1960, and the infant mortality rate was 25.3 per 1,000 live births, down from the 1960 rate of 25.7, the previous low.

Psychiatry Assn. Head Urges Campaign for Sweeping Advances

TORONTO (AP) — Walter E. Barton, president of the American Psychiatric Association, urged his colleagues yesterday to campaign for sweeping advances against mental illness with special attention to care for the aged.

In an address at the start of the 118th annual meeting of the association, Barton urged political action to include the mentally ill in social legislation. He also advocated more cooperation between physicians and psychiatrists.

EXPECT 3,000
Some 3,500 delegates were expected to register during the five-day meeting.

Barton, superintendent of Boston State Hospital and associate professor of psychiatry at Boston University School of Medicine, said members should campaign for adoption of the major recommendations President Kennedy's Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Health, published last year.

Expansion of research, streamlined services, community psychiatry and shared government and private financing offer "the greatest opportunity given this generation to make a sweeping advance in the entire field of psychiatry," he said.

He'll be four before one penny is spent for another battery or more anti-freeze—they're guaranteed! Meanwhile, the Rambler will travel twice as far between engine oil changes as any previous model.

In high school, if he drives this Rambler, it will still have the same Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe. (Or, if either should rust out, it would be replaced for the original owner without charge, collision damage excepted. Just see your Rambler dealer. That's another guarantee.)

Sound like the car of a lifetime? It is. The starter and generator are lubricated for life. Rambler Single-Unit construction, with its hundreds of extra welds, stays remarkably free from squeaks and rattles.

And Deep-Dip rustproofing, right up to the roof, makes Rambler the world's most rustproof car.

Any owner will tell you Ramblers are remarkably trouble-free, with more built-in quality than far costlier cars. And there's full room for six big 6-footers.

Someday, there may be a service-free car that lasts forever. Today, Rambler comes closest. Get the full story—see why thousands are trading for Ramblers. Get a big money-saving deal as Rambler dealers go after still bigger sales records.

NOTE: *This chassis lubrication lasts 3 years or 33,000 miles, whichever occurs first. If battery fails or coolant leaks during first 2 years or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first (misuse, negligence or accident excepted), either will be replaced without charge by going to a Rambler dealer. Q. I have read that rheumatic fever develops after a child has had strep throat. How can a parent tell the difference between strep throat and an ordinary, harmless sore throat?
A. The parent can't be sure but there are some helpful suggestions: Fever and sore throat are two symptoms that should warn of a "scratchy" or sore throat. If fever is present (temperature by mouth of 101°F. or more) a physician should be consulted.

Q. Does the color of the eyes change with age?
A. Yes. Many children are born with blue eyes which may darken in the first few months of life to hazel or brown. There is also a tendency for darkening to continue slowly in adult life.

Q. Is it true that salt substitutes are detrimental to health?
A. No. As we have previously pointed out in replying to this question, salt substitutes now on the market are considered perfectly safe.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P. O. Box 1174, Louisville 1, Ky. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

It's wise to have a family physician. Then, if an emergency arises, you will not be a stranger to him. And remember, our friendly and competent staff will be glad to serve your prescription needs.

Newlyweds Go South After Waterford Rites

The Carl Cadwalladers left for a southern honeymoon following their Saturday marriage in Our Lady of the Lakes Church, Waterford, Rev. J. L. Phalen performed the nuptial ceremony before an altar decked with stephanotis and pink carnations.

The former Patricia Ann Emrick is the daughter of the Eugene B. Emrick of Midway Street, Drayton Plains. The Robert Cadwalladers of Detroit are the bridegroom's parents.

Post-trusted Almon lace accented the bride's gown of white silk organza, styled with floating lace panels which extended into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a triple crown of seed pearls. She wore an evening star pendant, gift of the bridegroom, and held a heart-shaped bouquet of white roses, pink and white carnations.

Matron of honor, Mrs. John Bohi, Grosse Ile, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Donald Ling and Mrs. Lawrence Benasco. Drayton Plains, appeared in aquamarine tulle sheath dresses with matching over-skirts. They wore Dior bow crowns and held bouquets of pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom had James McInnes, Detroit, for best man. Lawrence Benasco and Donald Ling seated the guests.

Waterford Community Center was the setting for the reception.

The bride attended Alpena Community College and her husband who was graduated from Michigan State University, is a graduate student at Wayne State University. They will reside in Waterford.

Hi-Infidelity

They Wanted to Get Away From It All . . .

(Editor's Note — A condensation of Abigail Van Buren's new book "Dear Abby on Marriage" is appearing daily in The Pontiac Press in 24 installments under the serialized title "Hi-Infidelity.")

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Milwaukee man divorced his wife because she called him Herbert in his sleep. His name was Leonard.

A woman in Chicago was granted a divorce because her husband refused to let her patronize his father's butcher shop.

In Bangor, a 66-year-old woman divorced her 72-year-old husband because he tried to drive her out of her mind by moving his lips without uttering a sound, and insisting all the while that she was deaf.

To determine why divorce is so popular today, it might be well to examine some of the reasons for marriage. Here are excerpts from letters I have received, together with the data indicating how long the marriage lasted and why it lasted no longer.

"I couldn't get along with my parents. They were terribly suspicious of a married Jack to get out of the house." (This marriage lasted four months. The bride found her husband to be even more "suspicious" than her parents.)

"I had just broken up with Don after an engagement of six months, and I wanted to show him I could get someone else." (Three months. She realized that she really loved Don after all.)

"I just got tired of tom-cattling around and decided to settle down with one bed-partner." (One year. He discovered that he liked the "old" system better.)

WORE ME DOWN

"I guess Andy just wore me down and wouldn't take no for an answer." (Two years after she said yes to Andy she met another man who wouldn't take no for an answer.)

"I felt terribly obligated accepting all these gifts and everything." (Two years. No quit giving her gifts after she married him.)

"I got her pregnant so I stuck. I think she got in that fix on purpose." (Six months. Just long enough to make the baby legitimate.)

When marriages are made of such flimsy fabric, is it any wonder they scarcely last one season?

But if married people are resolved to make a permanent union, nothing can break it asunder, not even the most disastrous of the marital difficulties we're about to discuss.

Marital difficulties, I am told, can be graded according to size, like olives. They start with "large" and go to "colossal" and end up "catastrophic."

Some of the difficulties are penny ante. But enough of such pennies can make a substantial legacy of trouble that leads to litigation and marital bankruptcy.

So who's to say which problems are large and compelling or small and unimportant? What difference does the label make when the end product is the collapse of the home, the disillusionment of children and a one-way ticket to Spitzville?

He Rode to Success Carrying Bible

(Editor's Note—In another of a series of dispatches on the rise of Billie Sol Estes, UPI national reporter Harry Ferguson explores the troubles that now beset his business empire.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
PECOS, Tex. (UPI) — When Texans want to express their admiration for a bold, spectacular business man, they say: "He's a wheeler dealer."

Billie Sol Estes, now under federal indictment in connection with the collapse of his $150 million business empire, was a wheeler dealer, junior grade.

He never was rich in the sense that such Texas tycoons as H. L. Hunt and Clint Murchison are rich. Their annual incomes probably exceed Estes' gross assets in his best years.

But he was a towering man in west Texas and the town of Pecos, population 15,000, is the little pond in which he grew to be such a big frog.

Estes arrived here 12 years ago with one suitcase, a battered briefcase and a question: "Where can I find an honest real estate dealer?" He found one and started raising cotton.

He was 26 years old then, and five years later he had made his first million. He is 37 years old today.

Before the roof fell in he controlled or had an interest in 40 companies, had a fleet of Cadillac (even the servants used one) and owned two private airplanes.

In 1953 the Junior Chamber of Commerce voted him one of the nation's 10 outstanding young men.

CLOSE TO ESTES
"I have been close to Billie Sol for 10 years," said a Pecos business man, "and I still can't explain what makes him tick."

Everybody is in agreement that he is a high pressure, hypnotic salesman. This correspondent had a personal demonstration of it yesterday when he rang the door bell at Estes' $150,000 ranch house.

Mrs. Estes answered the door and went into another part of the house to summon her husband.

Promptly there appeared a short, stocky man wearing a blue sports shirt and black slacks bulging under what could become a sizeable pouch.

The eyes gleamed alertly behind glasses as this correspondent explained he had come to Pecos to get the Estes side of the story and would like to have an interview.

He said he could make no comment, and then launched his sales talk:

"I can see you are an intelligent man. I know you are going to do a good job on this because I am sure you always do a good job. I wish in my heart I could help you. But all I can do is wish you good luck and thank you for coming to our great state of Texas."

VERY PERSUASIVE
It was corn as high as an elephant's eye, but delivered with such fervor and surface sincerity that this correspondent departed with an exaggerated opinion of himself. It is easy to understand how Estes could persuade men to sign on the dotted line, sometimes without reading what they were signing.

From his early youth, Estes' reading centered on the collected works of Horatio Alger Jr. and the Bible. But he did more than read Alger. He became an Alger here himself at the age of 12 by going into business.

As he tells it, his parents gave him a ewe lamb for Christmas, and he sold its wool for enough money to buy another lamb. Then another until, when he was 15, he had a flock of 100.

And then — and this was to be the shape of things to come — he diversified his interests and invested some money in pigs. By the time he was 18 he is said to have been worth $38,000 and adults were offering to invest money in his agricultural enterprises.

Billie Sol was off on a 20-year career during which he would build a pyramid worth $100 million.

Estes has said he owes all his success to an application of the teachings of the Bible to business.

QUOTES BIBLE
"There are two things Billie Sol can do real fast," said a Pecos business man. "He can quote the Bible and he can whip a financial statement out of his pocket with the speed of lightning."

"Several months ago he took a piece of paper out of his pocket and asked me: 'Would you like to know how much money I made last month?'"

Estes is a deacon and a lay preacher in the Church of Christ. It is an austere church and Billie Sol carries its teachings to the point that he segregates the sexes in his big swimming pool.

Children are welcome to use it but boys and girls must swim at separate times. He has five children, four girls and a boy ranging down from 14 years, but they are not allowed to wear shorts.

He does not drink or smoke and before he retired behind the closed doors of his ranch house, he frequently startled the residents of Pecos by leaving all the Cadillac in the carport and traveling to his office on a bicycle.

People here say he is a sharp, ruthless man in a business deal, that he has driven small competitors out of business and will sit up half the night figuring how to cut a corner.

'LOANS' OF $100
- But there are hundreds of poor people in this vicinity who have received loans of $100 from him to buy groceries. He never expected the loan to be repaid. He has an overriding fear of communism and believes Moscow will capture the poor people unless he helps them personally.

Estes seems to believe that the Devil is looking over his shoulder all the time and checking up on him.

"If God can watch the falling of every sparrow," he once said, "He certainly has time to keep an eye on business men."

There was a time when Estes was less reticent about publicity. In the past two years he has been interviewed by many Texas papers and they were collected in a pamphlet published by Billie Sol Estes Enterprises.

The title of the pamphlet is "Success." It contains a full page picture of Estes looking at a globe much the same way as Alexander the Great once looked at a map and sighed because there were no more worlds to conquer.

The caption on the picture is from the Book of Proverbs: "Where there is no vision the people perish."

The northeast region of pro-Western Thailand for a year has been the scene of increased Communist subversion, which Thai authorities say has stemmed from red-held portions of Laos.

Highlighting Hayes' Achievements at City Hall

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

This is the night for the Joneses.

There are millions of people in the world named Jones and to be exact, there are 157 listed in the telephone book in the city of Pontiac alone.

There's only one Hayes Jones however and he is greatest of all Joneses in the world of track and field.

Pontiac's Jones has earned himself the honor as one of the most prolific athletes in the history of the city, in Michigan and in the United States. Who else is a better hurdler in the world today?

CITY PROCLAMATION

By proclamation of the Pontiac City Commission, Hayes Jones is to be honored tonight. A plaque listing his great achievements from the track at Windsor Stadium in the 1960 Olympiad in Rome and through his three world records of the indoor season just completed.

Track fans knew of his records in New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Chicago, Tokyo, London, Moscow, Rome, Paris, Warsaw. They've watched him set these records throughout the world.

Hayes actually won his first Olympic medal back in 1956. He was just a skinny kid among 300 who were competing in the Junior Olympics at Windsor Stadium and he proudly took his place on the top tier of the miniature Olympic podium to get his medal for high jumping 4-foot-6.

To the thousands of fans watching that summer day, he was just another Jones boy. To Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jones it was a happy moment but no cause for any celebration. When the day was over everyone forgot the Jones boy named Hayes.

For the next four years he made frequent visits to the Windsor track, running, jumping and hurdling and then turned his imagination to thoughts about great achievements in track and the Olympics.

Under the guidance of coaches Wally Schloerke and Ray Lowry, interest in track kindled in Hayes. When the great Pontiac Central teams of 1955 and 1956 were walking off with the Michigan class A championships, Hayes was rightfully called the most outstanding prep trackman in the state.

In 1958, Pontiac became the first out-of-state school to win the Mansfield, O., relay in its 25 year history. Jones scored 16 points in the meet. He scored at least 16 points in every meet in which he competed that season including the state meet when he set two records and scored 19 1/2 points.

His collegiate career carried him to Eastern Michigan University where he remade the record books. In collegiate meets around the country, Hayes was recognized as the outstanding freshman in the country and for the next four years he stole the show in inter-collegiate competition.

There was even talk about using Jones for the decathlon.

as he began chalking up victories in high and low hurdles, dashes, high jump and broad jump.

In the Miami and Ohio relays he took part in six events and won five and against Central Michigan in dual competition he won five out of five in his freshman year. His second place usually came in the high jump although he was able to go 6-foot-4.

NCAA CHAMP

He won the NCAA championships in both hurdles in 1959 and in the Drake Relays he became the only double winner in the meet's 50 year history in taking the high sticks in 33.6 and the 100 yard dash in 9.5.

It was decided in his later college days to concentrate on the hurdles. The 1960 Olympics was his goal and he was intent on hurdling his way.

From 1958 through April of 1962, Hayes set an array of indoor records that rank him with the names of Jesse Owens and Harrison Dillard.

The big moment of his life came in the fall of 1960 when he helped the United States make a grand slam of the hurdles event.

He, Lee Calhoun and Willie May all posted times of 13.7 in the preliminary heats. In the finals, Calhoun took the gold medal, May the silver medal and Jones the bronze medal.

There was some disappointment for Hayes because he thought he could have finished first, but he was still happy to be part of a great winning trio, and also because he defeated the world record holder Martin Lauer of Germany.

Now, Hayes looks forward to the 1964 Olympics. Calhoun and May will be out of the picture and Jones feels he will be just ripe at the age of 24 to get the gold medal.

The past spring he has indicated his intentions. He continued his two year streak of victories by winning his 31st straight indoors and setting three world records in the 45 yard highs, 60 yard highs and 70 yard highs.

He has never been beaten indoors at Madison Square Garden in four years and holds all hurdles records in the Philadelphia, Chicago and Milwaukee Relays.

The world is full of Jones, but track fans aren't through hearing from Pontiac's Hayes Jones.

PCI became the first out-of-Ohio school to win the Mansfield relays that year. Jones scored at least 16 or more points in every meet as a senior.

Farm Club Tops Detroit, 6-4, in Exhibition

Play at Los Angeles Tonight; State Tour of Japan in Fall

From Our News Wire

DENVER — Will the real Detroit Tigers please roar?

The once-proud contenders in the American League pennant race suffered the crowning ignominy last night when their Denver Farm club defeated them in an exhibition game, 6-4. It was the Tigers' sixth straight loss.

And if they stopped at Denver to look for talent, they had their share as three of the Bears' hurlers set the Detroiters down for five hits.

Al Pebacker went five innings for the American Association club to pick up the victory. He needed help in the later innings from Mickey Lolich and Ron Nischwitz.

The Tigers try the streaking Los Angeles Angels tonight.

Denver got two runs off veteran Sam Jones during the four innings he pitched, then walloped another four off Fred Gladding.

Tiger manager Bob Scheffing used his regular lineup the first three innings, then sent in his second string. Steve Boras was the only regular to go nine innings.

TWO HOMERS

All of the Detroit came on home runs. Bobo Osborne banged a three-run blast in the fifth inning and Mike Roskoff chipped in with a bases-empty homer in the eighth.

Osborne's home run gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead until a three-run outburst scored it up for the Bears in the bottom of the fifth.

No one would blame the faltering Bengals if the prospect of the remainder of the American League season seemed dreary, but there are good things in the offing.

The team planned a fall trip to Japan in which each player will get $3,000 for six-weeks work. It was learned yesterday.

Don Mossi (2-3) was scheduled to face El Hiba (1-0) in tonight's match at Los Angeles.

The Angels have won four in a row going into the four-game series with the Tigers.

Aspromonte's Homer Beats Old Mates

By The Associated Press

Turnout, which has always been considered fair play, was bound to happen after the National League stocked its new club through a player draft. And the No. 1 "turnout" today is Houston's Bob Aspromonte.

The 23-year-old infielder, playing against his former Los Angeles teammates for the first time this season, stroked three hits and drove in the winning runs with a three-run homer in a 9-0 other triumph last night that continued the Dodgers' nose dive.

Grabbed by the Colts for $75,000 in the expansion draft last October, Aspromonte was the chief executive among the cast of castoffs who combined to hand the Dodgers their fifth defeat in the last eight games.

The skid has cost the Dodgers 4 1/2 games in the NL pennant chase. Nine days ago they were only a half game out of first place. Now they're five back and pacesetter San Francisco, idle yesterday as everyone in the minors but the Dodgers and Colts took a day off.

Aspromonte crashed the crusher in the seventh off rookie Peter Richard (1-1) with two out. For mer Dodger Norm Larker walked with one out to get things started. An out later Hal Smith singled to bring up Aspromonte, who drove one 300 feet into the left field seats for an 8-6 lead.

TENNIS WIN

Cranbrook doubled Fernside in tennis yesterday, 6-1. All matches were taken without losing a set. Tom Freedman was Fernside's only victor.

Winning for the Cranes were John Harada, Will Conrad and Kent Rakes in singles and Steve Erickson-Sam Walters, John Bramble-Steve O'Grady and Jim Alexander-Rick Radtner in doubles.

FIRST WIN

Aspromonte's homer gave reliever Bob Tiefenauer all the working room he needed, but Johnny Weekly's homer in the eighth kept an insurance run, Tiefenauer getting his first decision, allowed only one hit in three innings.

The Dodgers will be at Houston again tonight as all 20 teams head back into action.

The first-place Giants invade St. Louis for a three-game set with the second-place Cardinals while the American League pace-setting New York Yankees are home for a two-game series with Boston.

The Giants, who had their 14-game winning streak snapped over the weekend, will send Juan Marichal (4-2) out to oppose the Cards' Larry Jackson (2-3). It's the start of a key 12-game stretch for St. Louis, which will meet the Giants and Dodgers six times each.

Winners of nine of their last 11 in a spurt that has carried them to the top, the Yankees will go with Whitey Ford (2-1) in an attempt to lengthen their 1 1/2-game edge over runner-up Cleveland. The Red Sox plan to start Bill Monbouquette (2-2).

Ortonville Man in Happy Rut—An Ace a Year

Ortonville golfer Bob MacGregor has fallen into a delightful rut. He's averaging one ace per year at Clarkson Golf Club.

MacGregor rifled Clarkson's 2nd-hole-in-one this season and his 3rd at the course in three years yesterday.

Paying partners Ed Pierson and Jim Vandenberg, also of Ortonville, watched as MacGregor aced the 130-yard 9th hole with a wedge shot. He carried 20 for nine holes.

At this rate, Clarkson G.C. owner Paul Fréchet may have to make the holes smaller.

"This is getting kind of expensive," laughed Mrs. Fréchet. "We present a dozen golf balls to everyone who shoots an ace here."

Lane Will Head Cage Packers

Ex-Trade Specialist of Baseball Turns to Pro Basketball

CHICAGO (UPI) — Frank C. Lane, one of baseball's greatest trademen, was breaking in on a new job today, how to flicker and deal in pro basketball.

Lane, general manager of four major league baseball clubs, signed yesterday to run the Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association for one year.

Indirectly, his contract was a greater benefit to Charles O. Finley than to Lane. Finley fired Lane last summer as general manager of his Kansas City Athletics, but under terms of his employment contract, he has to pay Lane for seven more years.

The amount that Lane is paid, undisclosed, for running the Packers will be deducted from the amount Finley owes, since no settlement was made on their contract.

Lane said his first job with the Packers would be to sign Walt Bellamy, the Packers' center who has the NBA rookie of the year last season, for his sophomore campaign.

"Then," he said, "I want to sign our major draft choices, Billy McGill, Terry Dischinger, Don Nelson and Cornell Green. We have some good holdover players, and we want to find the kind of team that will bring people out to pay my salary."

SWINGS BIG BAT — Stan Musial is belting National League pitchers at a .375 clip. The St. Louis Cardinals' star has his sights set on more National League records.

Rewriting Record Books

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Musial is so busy rewriting the record book that it is easy to forget he is hitting .375 with a potent-contending ball club.

"The next two weeks will be a tough battle for us," said the 41-year-old Cardinal outfielder by telephone from St. Louis. "We play the Giants three straight starting tonight and then the Dodgers three in a row. After that we turn right around and play the same clubs six straight on the coast. But we'll be battling them."

"All of us think that the trade for Bobby Shantz is going to help our club."

TROPHY ROOM
Musial brought home two baseballs from Cincinnati that will go in his trophy rack one of these days. They represented his feat of tying and then beating the National League record for most games played.

Sometime during the next few days, Musial will bring home another baseball that will rate as billing in his home. It will represent his 3,430th base hit, tying the league record set by the late Hines Wagner.

The magic number is five for Musial to tie the record. In the old days that was two night's work. Now it might take slightly longer.

"Sometime I'm not worked up about it as much as when I was getting close to 3,000 hits," said Musial. "Maybe it will be different the closer I get. If I get a cou-

Is Score Finished in Majors?

CHICAGO (AP) — Exactly five years ago Monday night, screaming liner off the bat of Gil McDougald struck Cleveland pitcher Herb Score over the right eye.

"That the eye was saved is a tribute to modern medicine and surgery. The tragedy did not end Score's pitching days but it did something possibly more heart-breaking."

It reduced what might have been one of baseball's most brilliant pitching careers into an ending series of comeback attempts which so far have been futile.

The Chicago White Sox, who acquired Score for pitcher Billy Latman two years ago, optioned the left-hander to Indianapolis Monday on 24-hour recall.

It could mean the end of Score's career in the majors at the prime age of 28. Score broke in with Cleveland in 1955 when he posted a 16-10 record for grab rookie honors in the American League.

The following year he was on his way with a 20-9 record. Since the injury he has been struggling along with a total of 17 victories and 26 defeats.

Although he was shipped to the minors last year and again Monday, Score is not quitting. "I regret it," said Score when he was going to Indianapolis. "I feel so good. But I've got to pitch somewhere. If I wasn't throwing good, I'd say to myself Herbie you've had it. But I've been throwing good... I feel strong. Maybe I can make it."

Score refuses to blame the eye incident for his ineffectiveness. "The eye's okay," he says. "It's my control that's bad."

Score is not the only one who refused to give up on himself. Manager Al Lopez, the patient Stanard, also feels Score can make it again.

Recently Lopez, who along with his coaches has spent innumerable hours working with Score, said "there's no reason in the world Score can't pitch winning ball in the majors."

"He throws as hard as ever. His arm is strong and alive. One of these days Herb is going to return to his old form and surprise a lot of people. Everyone is pulling for him. He's one of the nicest guys in the game," added Lopez.

Score worked six innings for the Sox this season and had no record with a 4.50 earned run average.

Moss Resting Well

LONDON (AP) — Stirling Moss, British motor racing ace, had a good restful night, a hospital bulletin said today. Moss was badly injured in a crash 15 days ago and still has periods of semi-consciousness.

"I was 38 when I got the 3,000," he said. "Wagner's record seemed a long way off. I didn't know if I would be around that long. When you are 38 years old, 430 more hits are a lot."

When Musial won his first batting title in 1943, Wagner came to his home town to take part in a banquet honoring Stan. "I always appreciated that," said Musial. "He told me he had won seven or eight batting championships and said he hoped I'd be able to match him. I never thought I'd be up there close to his records."

Musial already has broken two National League records this season, most games played and runs scored. The total hit record is next.

Here is a rundown on Stan's 1962 record chase:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Most games—old record, 2,785 (Wagner), 3,425; most runs batted in—old record, 1,426; most runs—old record, 1,271; most at bats—old record, 5,436.

MAJOR LEAGUE
Most long hits—old record, 1,356 (Babe Ruth), 1,418; most total bases—old record, 2,885 (Ty Cobb), 3,411.

Back to School for New Queen of Gymnastics

SEATTLE (AP) — It was back to school today for the new queen of U.S. gymnasts.

She's Dale McClements, 17, a 96-pound Seattle high school senior.

Miss McClements dethroned Doris Fuchs of Rochester, N.Y., Saturday night in the finals of the Amateur Athletic Union Gymnastic Tournament.

"I was planning on taking six—just hoping for sixth," she said afterward.

In addition to winning the all-around title, Miss McClements won the side horse vault competition.

Men's all-around winner was Don Tomny, the pre-tournament favorite from Brooklyn, N.Y., who is stationed at West Point. Armando Vega of Los Angeles, last year's winner, finished fourth.

The meet was the second of three qualifying meets to pick six men and six women for the U.S. team to compete in the world championships at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in July.

2 Records Broken

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Two American all-distance records fell here Saturday night in the 660 and 1,320-yard runs.

Army Lt. Jack Yerman of the San Francisco Prefetto ran the 660 in 1 minute 16.4. Bobby Scanlon of the Los Angeles Track Club ran the 1,320 in 2:53.7.

NL Crowds Up by 42 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP) — National League baseball fans, braving cold, rain, sleet and heat, are turning out in larger numbers this season while helping the circuit regain its record-breaking pace of 1960.

Through Sunday's games, National League attendance was 1,684,246, an increase of 42 per cent over last year. Even without the combined attendance of the two new teams, the Houston Colts and New York Mets, the game was still 17 per cent.

The Colts had pulled 202,400 through the turnstiles in 12 games for an average of 18,400. The Mets, with 95,251 for 10 home dates, were averaging 9,500.

The American League also showed a slight gain, according to the figures compiled by The Associated Press. The junior circuit's attendance was 1,144,312 compared to 1,136,057 in a comparable number of home dates in 1961.

Norwegian Premier Is Shrewd Politician

By United Press International
Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen is a shrewd politician, a tactician and a lean man with very simple tastes.

During a visit to Moscow a few years ago, he puzzled Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev by answering every vodka toast with one in fruit juice.

One of his cabinet ministers once said that if you want to have good party with Gerhardsen, bring along a song book and a bottle of ginger ale.

The ascetic prime minister will celebrate his 65th birthday in the United States May 10 where he is making an official 10-day visit.

Gerhardsen has made a lifetime career of politics, and is typical of the leadership of the Norwegian Labor party. He started out as a very radical leftist with Communist leanings but developed into a modern Social Democratic politician.

After seven years of schooling Gerhardsen became, at 12, a messenger and errand boy. He then got a job as roadworker in Oslo.

Since 1922, he has worked in labor organizations or as an active politician.

Gerhardsen was arrested by the Nazis in September, 1941, for illegal political activity and was sent to the notorious Sachsenhausen concentration camp, along with Norway's present Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange.

When Norway's first postwar government — a national coalition of all parties — was formed, Gerhardsen was premier. He later headed a labor government and remained in the premier's office until 1951, when he switched jobs with the national assembly president, Scar Torp, for reasons of health.

He is in firm control of the Labor party, despite some rumblings for the leftwing which have resulted in the formation of a splinter group, the Socialist Peoples party.

Gerhardsen lives in a modern, four-room apartment in North-eastern Oslo with his wife Wera, whom he married in 1927, and their two teen-age children.

Although his chief interest is still politics, he loves camping and the outdoors' life in general. He made news throughout Europe three years ago when he set up camp in Italy. He has a hut in a forest outside Oslo and heads for the mountains for the traditional Norwegian Easter vacation.

During a recent parliamentary debate on the European common market, Gerhardsen complained that those campaigning against Norwegian membership in the market were using demagogic methods.

It was later discovered that Gerhardsen was one of the few Norwegians ever convicted of political demagoguery. He was sentenced to 75 days imprisonment on such a charge in 1924.

Along with the jail term Gerhardsen, now an ardent NATO supporter, lost the right and privilege of serving in Norway's armed forces for a 10-year period.

Heavy Hydrogen Found in Giant Sun Flares

WASHINGTON (AP)—A European space scientist says tritium, the heavyweight form of hydrogen used to make H-bombs, has been detected in giant flares that sometimes erupt from the sun.

Asserting the tritium was detected by one of the United States' Discoverer satellites, Prof. Cornelius de Jager of the Astronomical Observatory, Utrecht, said Monday this is an indication that some kind of nuclear process may be involved in the production of these stormy eruptions from the sun's surface. He spoke at an international space symposium here.

But So Well Remembered

Pop-Mom Store Belongs to Past

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the mainstays of our past that seems slowly passing from the American scene is "the pop-and-mom store."

A pop-and-mom store is just what it sounds like it is.

It is a trade term for a small family-owned business establishment in which a husband and wife — and often their children — did most of the work in order to cut down the labor costs.

There was a store when most of the nation's business, in large cities, small towns and at rural crossroads, was transacted in pop-and-mom stores.

Some sold dry goods. Some sold candy and drugs. Some sold hardware, some sold groceries. But whatever they sold, they were small, they were family-owned — and usually they had a hard time keeping going.

They represented the fulfillment of the American dream — in the days when the great American dream was to start a small business of your own and grow up with the country.

Unfortunately, the pop-and-mom store too often was a marginal operation representing ambition rather than experience, and dominated more by hope and heart than by good business sense.

They failed obscurely by the hundreds of thousands, but they served as a wonderful training ground for many of today's most astute industrial leaders.

What really doomed most of them was a change in the nation's merchandising patterns. This resulted from such factors as the popularity of the automobile, the move to the suburbs, the spread of chain-store operations—the rise of supermarkets, discount houses, mail order firms, the switch to mass marketing in practically every field.

Big business simply took away the business from little business.

But whoever worked as a youth in a small pop-and-mom store carries the thrill of those days indelibly in his memory.

You were a person yourself and the people you waited on were real people, not just two-legged buying units.

If the store happened to be an old-fashioned, sawdust-floored small grocery, the work was hard and the hours were long and the pay was small. Few things came prepackaged, and you had to hand wrap and weigh everything from a pound of liverwurst—the working man's steak — to a sack of potatoes.

But there were compensations. You really got to know people as they were, and in time became an authority on the neighborhood and who lived in it.

You didn't rush a customer.

How to figure the "extras" you get on U.S. Savings Bonds

Because U.S. Savings Bonds return you so much more than money, you may have some trouble figuring the full return.

For one thing, when you invest in U.S. Savings Bonds, you put money to work right now for your country and for the things your country stands for. Such as the defense of freedom.

When you redeem your Bonds, the Government then pays you dollars and cents interest for the privilege of having made use of your funds this way. Actually, you get back 33 1/3% more money at maturity than you put in.

The extra benefit lies in the important fact that you'll have also helped protect your freedom to enjoy the money.

You get your name on a valuable document for saving money and the freedom to enjoy it.

When you save for a home, for example, with U.S. Savings Bonds you also help make sure there'll be a strong, secure America to own it in.

If you agree that this is a worthwhile return on an investment, why not make it a $100.00 Bond next time? Cost: just $75.00.

This man hopes you won't buy U.S. Savings Bonds. But free men everywhere hope you will because Bonds make us stronger, individually and as a nation.
