Williams Shuns GOP Plea to Support Tax Plan

Together Again

A HAPPY MOTHER — "Oh, my baby! My baby!" cried Mrs. Marilyn Vickers, 19, of Pontiac after being reunited with her four-month-old son less than 24 hours after he was abducted from a Chicago hotel room by a baby sitter. Mrs. Vickers had recently moved to Chicago. She vowed today to return to Pontiac.

Pontiac Baby Is Found Safe After Kidnaping

The long wait is over for Mrs. Marilyn Vickers, a young mother from Pontiac working in Chicago as a waitress.

Her four-month-old boy, James, was found unharmed by FBI agents last night in a Gary, Ind., hotel, about 16 hours after he was kidnaped by a baby sitter.

DIANE VARNER

"Oh, my baby! My baby!" Mrs. Vickers, 19, cried as she embraced her son.

The blond, blue-eyed baby had been sought since Wednesday night after Mrs. Vickers, 19, reported to police that the child had been abducted from her near downtown hotel room while she was at work.

FBI agents arrested the sitter, Mrs. Diane Varner, 27, last night while she was drinking in a Gary, Ind., tavern several miles from the Chicago hotel where Mrs. Vickers and her son lived.

The baby was found unharmed in a room at the nearby Stanley Hotel. Physicians at Gary's Methodist Hospital said he was hungry but otherwise in perfect condition.

Mrs. Varner, who is separated from her husband, told police she was released last year from the Women's Federal Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., where she served three years for an Amarillo, Tex., kidnapping.

Mrs. Varner was arraigned Thursday night before U.S. Commissioner Wilbur Glendening at Hammond, Ind., on a charge of kidnaping and taking the boy

Hunter Charged in Fatal Shooting

An Emmet County hunter was charged today with involuntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Jack Williams, formerly of Oxford Township.

Roy Bauers, 52, of Carp Lake, Emmet County was to be arraigned in Cheboygan Municipal Court later today.

Known in Oakland County as the "Potato King," Williams, 62, of Mullett Lake, was shot in the back of the head Wednesday while hunting 10 miles west of Cheboygan.

State Police said Bauers yesterday admitted firing the fatal shot when he saw some branches moving in the woods. They quoted him as saying he did not know whether he was firing at a deer.

After the shot, Bauers said he went to investigate and found Williams lying on the ground. Branches apparently set up as a blind surrounded the body.

CHANGES STORY

Bauers and his brother Charles called police.

Police said Roy Bauers first told them he had shot at a deer and Williams moved into his line of fire.

Williams was the third hunter to die in Michigan of gunshot wounds since the season opened Sunday.

He had a potato farm on Baldwin road in Oxford Township before moving to Mullett Lake about eight years ago.

Appraiser Says Art Find Worth $8-10 Million

Other Experts Cautious; Ten Paintings Claimed to Be Masterpieces

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A Chicago art appraiser today hailed a set of paintings dug out from under an immigrant's bed and a closet as "the greatest art find of the century." He said they're worth 8 to 10 million dollars.

Some art authorities weren't so sure. They said they'd like to see the works for themselves.

Alexander Zlatoff-Mirsky, art appraiser and restorer who has his own studio, declared 10 of the dozen paintings are masterpieces from the Italian Renaissance.

One of them he identified as the "Madallena" by Michelangelo de Caravaggio and valued at more than one million dollars.

Even as announcement of the discovery came Thursday in filmland attorney Jerry Giesler's office, a rift developed between the owners and their agent.

Alfonso Follo, 40, a television repairman, and his sister, Maria Follo Hataburda, of Pasadena said that Charles di Renzo a friend who developed into their agent, had made the matter public.

Mrs. Hataburda's husband, Chester, said they don't know now whether the pictures will be offered for sale or exhibited. "It's all up in the air now," he said.

Zlatoff-Mirsky said the masterpieces were authenticated by Amadore Porcella, catalogist for the Vatican and an expert on Renaissance art. Porcella spent four months in Pasadena examining the works, Follo and Mrs. Hataburda said.

WORKED IN VATICAN

(In Rome, the director of the Vatican museums said Porcella was employed as a technician in the reorganization of the Vatican Art Galleries from 1933 to 1934 or 1935 but, according to available records, was not in charge of cataloging or evaluating and did not hold a top job.

(The director added that he had had no official connection with the Vatican for at least 24 years.

(An official of the Italian government arts department said Porcella is not on their list of first-rate and second-rate art experts although he may have become a recognized authority abroad.)

★ ★ ★

"We have always known the paintings were worth a great deal of money," Mrs. Hataburda said. "Of course, we didn't know how much."

The paintings have been handed down in the aritsocratic Italian family for generations. They were shipped into the United States in

Pontiac General Eyes Balanced Budget

By PETE LOCHBILER

By holding the line on wages again, Pontiac General Hospital hopes to end its four-year streak in the red next year.

A record operating budget of $4,622,780 — more than $1,400,000 higher than 1959's—was adopted by the Board of Trustees last night and sent off to the City Commission for approval.

★ ★ ★

Adding up its estimated revenues, losses and expenses in 1960, the hospital found it has a good chance of ending up in the black.

The budget forecast showed a year-end operating deficit of only $329.

This estimate was arrived at only after provision for $187,000 to be set aside to cover depreciation.

Since the hospital's operation was interrupted by the expansion program four years ago, it has been steadily in the red and reserves covering depreciation have suffered worst of all.

★ ★ ★

Once again, the hospital warned that its financial estimates were only good guesses, since the ever-changing status of the physical plant under the expansion program makes long-range forecasts difficult.

"Our setup will be quite changed next year, so that it is impossible to base this budget entirely on past experience," explained James Clarkson, Board chairman.

The hospital expects to have more beds in use than ever before, more patients and more gross income.

Gross income is expected to top $5,000,000 for the first time.

Correspondingly, the hospital expects to pay out more in wages and other expenses to operate a bigger institution.

NO WAGE HIKES

But there is no provision for any across-the-board wage increases or for any additional posts in the administrative staff.

★ ★ ★

There'll be more employes — about 50 were hired back last month — but the hospital intends to continue to keep its present ratio of 2¼ employes per patient, slightly below the state average, said Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

There were two cautious assumptions in preparing the budget.

Anticipated revenues are based on the probable income from only 349 beds — the number expected to be in operation at the end of this year. Sometime next year, however, the hospital expects to have another 40 in operation. These will come whenever remodeling of the east wing is finished and the expansion program is completed.

The final 40 beds are expected

Chutist Plunges From Balloon to New Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today claimed that the longest parachute jump in history was made this week from an open balloon gondola 76,400 feet over New Mexico.

Captain Joseph W. Kittinger made the record-breaking leap, the Air Force said, surviving low as 104 degrees below zero in the descent to the desert at the White Sands missile range in southern New Mexico.

Kittinger took off in an open basket borne by a 300-foot plastic balloon filled with helium gas. It took 90 minutes for the balloon to reach its maximum altitude. At that point, the gondola was cut loose from the helium bag and Kittinger plunged about 66,000 feet in a free drop before his parachute opened automatically at 10,000 feet above the earth's surface.

The Air Force said Kittinger, who is with the Aerospace medical Laboratory at Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio, was in "good shape" after the drop.

Nice Weather Seen for Football Fans

Football fans are going to have it perfect weatherwise this weekend.

Saturday will be cloudy with a high of 38, with a chance of light rain or snow by night. The low for tonight will be 25.

The thermometer which rose to 36 Thursday afternoon has fluctuated slightly today. At 10 a.m. the wind velocity and direction was one mile easterly.

At 2 p.m. the thermometer reading was 35 in downtown Pontiac.

Black Rakes Rebel Dems Over Coals

In something like F.D.R.'s famous fireside chats — but without the fire — Michigan Supreme Court Justice Eugene F. Black raked Democrats over the coals last night for their opposition to a constitutional convention.

★ ★ ★

The outspoken justice urged his fellow jurists to drop everything else and rule on whether the 1958 statewide vote for a convention can be affirmative despite being defeated as it lacked a clear-cut majority of those voting in the election.

Black said it should only take a simple majority of those voting on the issue to pass, as he opined as Republican attorney general in 1948.

"The Democratic Party better stop its negative attitude toward a convention," he urged. "We can't sit around and say we aren't going to aid the call of a convention until we get this or that."

★ ★ ★

"The reason the Republicans are in the soup they are today is that they were against everything," he said. "Let's not let that happen to us."

His family room discussion went way back to 1898 when Michigan first thought of changing its 1850 constitution. He called this the start of "a comedy of errors except for its tragedy." Like it is today, it was ruled then that a simple majority for a convention wasn't sufficient.

Referring to the current financial muddle, Black predicted worse trouble in eight months. "We've got to get rid of the bitter partisanship which is tearing us apart," he said. He didn't say how.

★ ★ ★

Now considered a non-partisan "Democrat" on the court, Black did, however, say he wished justices could return to the old system of being nominated, elected and serving as partisans. "The present system is loaded with evil," Black said.

Justices are nominated at political conventions, yet are elected and supposedly serve on a non-partisan basis.

Senate Session Ends on Almost Hopeless Note

Without Trust Fund, Nuisance Levies Are Inadequate: Governor

LANSING (AP)—A dramatic Republican plea to Gov. Williams fell flat today, leaving Michigan's cash crisis situation as hopelessly deadlocked as ever.

GOP Senate emissaries called upon the governor in his office to appeal for Democratic help in putting through their emergency nuisance tax program.

"Without the Veterans Trust Fund, I'm compelled to say offhand it's no solution," Williams told Sens. Paul Younger of Lansing and Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair.

A few minutes later, the Senate adjourned without further action and Williams took off for Toledo, Ohio, where he was to address the national convention of Young Democrats.

Williams restated to Beadle and Younger his position that 110 million dollars in new taxes are required to put the state back on its financial feet.

He said there are "no mathematics under the sun" that would bear out Republican contentions that the 74 million dollar emergency tax program will adequately meet the state's cash crisis problem.

GOP 'IN LINE'

Younger said the Republican caucus, badly split in seven hours of closed door meetings yesterday, substantially had fallen in line behind the tax package.

The surprise huddle apparently left the situation as hopelessly deadlocked as ever.

After hearing a report from Beadle and Younger, the Republican caucus was adjourned and the entire senate quit until Tuesday night.

Only five members showed up for today's session.

Younger told Williams that Republicans are "trying the best we can" to comply with his rerequest for mutual responsibility in working out a tax answer.

"The people are most anxious to get the problem solved," he said.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the governor's acceptance of the emergency tax package, Younger asked Williams to go along with the Republican plan on constitutional ballot propositions next year.

One of these calls for a statewide vote on a penny increase in

Sorrowful Curtice Attends Funeral of Friend He Shot

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Harlow H. Curtice, retired president of General Motors Corp., planned to attend the funeral service today for his friend and onetime aide, Harry W. Anderson, whom he shot and killed in a hunting accident.

Arrangements were made for a Mormon service at First Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. The Mormon church here is too small to accommodate the expected number of mourners.

S. A. K. Logan, crown attorney for Lambton County, said that an investigation disclosed no grounds for a formal inquest.

Anderson, a retired GM vice president, was killed while duck hunting Wednesday with Curtice on Ste. Anne's Island on the Canadian side of the St. Clair River, 30 miles northeast of Detroit.

At Wallaceburg, Ont., Dr. C. A. Henrich, Lambton County coroner, said no date has been set for an inquest. Provincial police returned to the accident scene yesterday to take photographs and question witnesses.

RETIRED IN 1957

Pallbearers at the funeral include Louis G. Seaton, who succeeded Anderson as vice president in charge of the GM personnel staff, and Earl R. Bramblett, director of labor relations. Anderson, 67, retired two years ago.

"Mr. Anderson was one of my closest friends and associates in General Motors," the 66-year-old industrialist said. "I knew him for at least 30 of my 45 years with General Motors."

Curtice retired as GM president

Parting Words of Public Works Official Schone

Oakland County Good, but Could Be Better

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Although he said Oakland County government is head and shoulders above any other county in Michigan, Harold K. Schone said there's plenty of room for improvement.

Needed more than anything else is a top administrator, declared Schone, acting director of the County Department of Public Works.

Soon to leave for his new job as city manager of Arcadia, Calif., Schone was asked by this reporter for his analysis of the county government, and what the future holds.

"Oakland County is probably more progressive than the majority of counties in the United States," Schone said.

He was critical, however, of the work of the three-member Board of Auditors and the chairman of a special study committee created two years ago to study reforms in the government.

He called for the abolishment of the Board of Auditors and said the special committee, headed by Springfield Township Supervisor John L. Carey, was "way too slow in getting things done."

Schone placed the blame on Carey and not on the other eight members of the committee, which, to date, has accomplished but one major reform—the merger of the offices of county clerk and register of deeds.

He is past chairman of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission and has served as president of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

The former city manager of Birmingham, Oak Park and Harbor Springs said some Oakland County officials are wrong in believing that law changes are necessary before reorganization steps to strengthen the government can be realized. Much, he said, can be done under present laws.

Asked why it hasn't, Schone said some officials are reluctant to enact the necessary changes believing the "line of least resistance is sometimes the easiest."

HAROLD K. SCHONE

"A lot of the fault rests with the lack of initiative on the part of the Board of Auditors," he said.

Although he praised veteran head auditor Robert Y. Moore, for contributing much to the growth of the county, Schone said "the job is getting too big for Bob."

Believed by many to be in line for Moore's post — if he had stayed on — the DPW head modestly said one of the reasons he was leaving his $17,500 position was because he felt it wrong that some officials were attempting to pattern Oakland's new government so he could head it. He said he thought this was hampering the reform movement.

★ ★ ★

Would he ever return to take the top spot here? he was asked.

"If at the time they developed some reorganization," he answered, "I'd consider very strongly —based on what the conditions were — submitting my application like anybody else."

Schone, who takes over his job on the West Coast Dec. 15, said a weakness today is that there's much to be done but most officials don't know whose responsibility the task is. He said the government hierarchy is too unwieldy. There's very little chain of command.

Oakland County could solve this by naming an administrator, who

In addition to the "Madallena," the paintings named by Zlatoff-Mirsky were: a picture of Baccoor Noah by Tintoretto, entitled "There Shall Be Light;" Titian's semi-nude interpretation of his daughter, Lavinia; Bernardo Cavallino's "Saint Cecelia"; Luca Giordano's "Rape of Dejaniro"; Tintoretto's "Moses on Mt. Sinai"; Artemisia Gentilischi's "The Annuciation"; Lorenzo Lotto's "St. Jerome"; Claude Gele's "Lot With His Daughters', and Raphaello Santi's "Madonna With Saints."

Color on the Floor

By painting the floor in a beautiful color, you can add to the attractiveness of a room. Use either a complimenting or contrasting shade. Sand the floor lightly before the job. The best results will be obtained by applying two coats of paint. When the first coat is dry, lightly sand, dust and then add the second coat.

Waterford Board OK's Plans for Two Schools

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night approved preliminary plans for two new elementary schools, and will open construction bids on the buildings December 22.

★ ★ ★

Part of the $5-million school bond issue approved by voters last March, each of the new buildings will cost approximately $300,000 fully equipped.

The schools are expected to be ready for operation next September, according to superintendent William Shunck.

As yet not named, one of the schools will be located on a 9-lot site on Pontiac Lake road, one-half mile south of the present high school. The second school will be on Merrie road north of Pontiac Lake road. Smith & Smith architects has been awarded the contracts for both schools.

The school board approved a request authorizing the borrowing of $200,000 against the 1959-60 state aid. According to Shunck, the State of Michigan is approximately $250,000 delinquent in state aid payments to the Waterford Township school system this year.

Board members approved operational procedure involving a payroll deduction plan of union dues for custodial, maintenance, engineer, and bus driver personnel.

Two representatives of the McVittie school Parent-Teacher Association, were present asking the board to help solve the transportation, and walking problem for children going to and from school on east and west Letart street, and Olmstead road.

The parents had asked the board to have bus transportation within a one-mile radius, or assist in getting adequate road signs. They also discussed the possibility of side road paths. There was no action on the matter.

A request was received from superintendent of Ann Arbor schools Jack Elzay, to have a team of board members and administrators from his school system, attend a Waterford Township board meeting. Elzay said his group was interested in agenda contents, procedure of business, and operation of the township's school system.

Preliminary plans for a second senior high school which had been approved at last month's meeting, were again reviewed and another special meeting date has been set for Tuesday for further study of the plans and specifications.

★ ★ ★

On December 3, the board will again meet, and give final approval of the two new elementary school plans, as well as give further attention to the high school plans.

Pontiac Baby Safe After Kidnaping

across state lines. She was held in the Lake County Jail.

★ ★ ★

In a tearful voice, Mrs. Vickers told The Pontiac Press before she learned her son was safe: "If I get my baby back, I'm going back to Pontiac."

Mrs. Vickers is the daughter of Mrs. Martha Dietrich, 85 Henry Clay St., a nurse at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Following the return of the baby, Mrs. Vickers restated her intention of leaving Chicago to return here. She has been separated from her husband James since January. His whereabouts are unknown. A divorce suit is pending.

Mrs. Vickers said she would live with her mother. "We'll be safe there," she said. "I'm never going to trust my baby with anyone I don't know ever again."

Mrs. Vickers and her husband had lived in Pontiac at 27½ Stout St. She went to Chicago last month "because I wanted to make a living for myself and the baby. I didn't want help from anyone."

Mrs. Vickers had met her husband in Chicago when she went there to work two years ago.

Mrs. Vickers said she hired the sitter on the recommendation of a hotel manager.

"Just before I left for work," Mrs. Vickers said, "this woman told me, 'This is an awfully sweet baby. I'd like to have one like him.'"

Mrs. Vickers told the sitter she would pay her after returning from work but the woman replied: "You don't have to pay me."

She told police she left the woman and her baby in her room about 6:30 p.m. when she went to work in a neighborhood restaurant.

About 9:30 p.m., she said, a restaurant customer reported he had seen the sitter carrying the baby down a skid row street. The baby sitter was staggering, the friend said.

Leaving her job, the mother searched the neighborhood for 45 minutes without finding a trace of the baby sitter or her child.

Yesterday afternoon police received a call that Mrs. Varner had been spotted in a Hobart, Ind., bar where she had once worked. Her arrest followed.

Says 10-Cent Papers Coming Inevitably

CHICAGO (UP)—The cost of metropolitan newspapers inevitably will rise to 10 cents, according to Arthur Hall, Chicago Daily News general manager.

Hall told a periodical distributors meeting the price increase will be one of several financial reforms necessary to enable newspapers to expand their role as interpreters of world events in the 1960s.

He said newspapers also will have to hike advertising rates, publish fewer editions each day, consolidate management to a point, and better control internal cost.

City Hospital Seeks End to Years in Red

Another cautious attitude was taken in estimating use of the hospital by the public. Although occupancy has averaged a record 93.9 per cent so far this year, making 1959 one of the hospital's best years, next year's occupancy rate was estimated at only 87 per cent.

This is a conservative estimate, taking into consideration the low occupancy rates during 1957 and 1958.

Last year, when the hospital predicted a net operating loss of $45,500 in 1959 (not including $156,000 in depreciation) the occupancy figure was forecast at 87.7 per cent, slightly higher than the 1960 prediction.

That 1959 occupancy exceeded budget predictions has resulted so far this year in an operating profit of $43,406, instead of a loss. But this profit still does not take into account depreciation on buildings and equipment. When that is figured in at the end of the year, the hospital will show a loss of more than $100,000.

It is still undecided whether the hospital will be in financial position next year to fund all, or only part of its depreciation in cash.

The hospital's financial aim, as stated by Clarkson, is to be able, when the expansion program is completed, to fund all depreciation in cash.

★ ★ ★

A breakdown of the budget shows the hospital still anticipates big losses on state and county allowances and Michigan Hospital Service (Blue Cross) payments. The losses come about because the established rates paid by these agencies do not quite meet the average daily costs for treating a patient at Pontiac General.

The Blue Cross loss is estimated at $149,750; the loss on county welfare patients at $54,000; and the loss on treating indigent and crippled children sponsored by the state, $44,000.

There are estimated losses of $40,000 in such areas as the public clinics and a whopping $175,000 expected in unpaid bills.

Total losses are set at $462,400, cutting into the budget forecast of $4,991,706 income from patients and other income estimated at $93,145 from the hospital cafeteria and other minor sources of profit.

As expenses, the budget listed depreciation; a record $2,903,230 in salaries and wages; $1,239,950 in other operating costs; and $292,600 in fees for professional services in anesthetology, radiology and pathology. The hospital levies special patient charges to offset these fees.

Williams Rejects Republican Tax Plea

the sales tax. The other would open the door wide for any form of corporate or personal income taxation.

The governor repeated his insistence on "first things first," — that is an emergency tax settlement before consideration of 1960 ballot issues.

"We've done the best we can with our people in this situation," Younger said.

He said there wasn't enough substantial caucus support for an income tax or a corporation profits levy, solutions preferred by Williams.

Then he asked for Democratic votes for the nuisance taxes on beer, liquor, tobacco and services.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe the Democrats would be doing the state of Michigan a service (by giving their votes). It would only postpone the cash crisis for a few months," Williams replied.

After four caucuses consuming seven hours yesterday, the GOP Senate majority all but despaired of an answer to the state's cash crisis last night.

Basically, the fight was between backers of a 74-million-dollar package of temporary nuisance taxes and of a combination personal-corporate income tax package.

The despair that gripped the crisis-weary Capitol came in the aftermath of a weird and wild day of oratory.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was read on the Senate floor by Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains), who complained little attention was paid his plea for sound management of what money the state has.

"Nobody listened to him then either," Lodge said.

New Episcopal Bishop Due in Michigan Soon

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—A new bishop for the Episcopal diocese of Western Michigan will be chosen at a special convention of clerical and lay delegates of the church beginning here Monday night.

A successor will be named for Bishop Dudley B. McNeil, whose resignation was accepted last month by the church's House of Bishops. McNeil resigned for retirement reasons.

Mediterranean Fine Arts, Crafts Displayed at Gallery

BIRMINGHAM—A collection of Mediterranean fine arts and crafts will be on display from now until Christmas at the Little Gallery, 915 East Maple Rd.

★ ★ ★

From the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Albert de Salle, examples of material and workmanship from Spain, Italy, Greece and Turkey will be featured.

The collection reveals the universality of beauty and craftmanship though it is representative only of the Mediterranean area, the De Salles explained.

The collection includes a book of chants with eight miniature paintings, probably done in Siena in the early Sixteenth Century to a group of wood carvings made by a contemporary primitive in Madrid in 1958.

Also included are several examples of ikons in the Byzantine tradition, a Spanish coat of arms and a group of flamenco dolls.

A 77-year-old Birmingham woman was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released yesterday after she ran into the rear of another car in front of Harlan Elementary School on Adams road.

Police said that Marie Sprague, 3108 Talbot, ran into a car driven by Robert Southard, 17, 4500 N. Adams Rd., Troy, after he had stopped for a red light.

Police said that only minor damage was done to both cars.

The Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will hold its monthly meeting and luncheon Dec. 1 at 12:30 p.m. in the church Social Hall.

Mrs. William Milligan will be guest speaker. Her topic will be "Christmas Time."

Government Buys Beef for Schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has announced the purchase of 5,985,000 pounds of frozen ground beef for $2,423,000.

★ ★ ★

This brings the government's beef purchases in recent weeks to a total of 10,584,000 pounds at $4,278,000. The meat will go into the school lunch program.

Sorrowing Curtice Attends Funeral

last year but is still a director.

Curtice was asked why Anderson, an experienced hunter, stood up in the duck blind just as Curtice fired a 12-gauge shotgun at a flock of ducks overhead.

"I don't know," Curtice said. "That's one of the things I can't understand. He may have stumbled. He lurched my way. The ground was very uneven at that point."

Newsmen asked Curtice whether he had any suggestions on preventing such accidents.

"I think that there should be just one gun per blind," he said. "That would be my suggestion. I mean, just one gun in use at a time."

Then he added, "I have been told by many of my friends that it could have happened to them."

Curtice talked to newsmen in his office in the Genesee Bank Building. He sat on the floor to show how he and Anderson were seated in the duck blind.

DECOYS IN FRONT

"The decoys were in front of both of us," he said. "The ducks came in upwind.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Anderson, 40, a tall, auburn-haired woman, said she held no feeling of bitterness toward Curtice as she arranged yesterday for her husband's funeral.

He said, "She understands the circumstances of the accident and is deeply sorry for Mr. Curtice. Mrs. Anderson says there is not a shred of bitterness about the tragedy—only grief."

★ ★ ★

Schone Eyes Government Changes

would have as one of his main duties those now assigned to the auditors; cutting the 83-member Board of Supervisors in half; and cutting the number of committees of the Board from 28 to about 7.

★ ★ ★

In addition, he said, a so-called administrative board should be created consisting of the chairman of the Board of Supervisors and the chairmen of the proposed seven committees.

Most of the recommendations, Schone pointed out, were contained in separate studies of Oakland government conducted in 1932 and 1949.

Appointment of an administrator would, for one thing, get more day-by-day business done faster, instead of having to wait for committees and then the Board of Supervisors to meet, he said.

The administrator would bring these lesser problems to the administrative board which conceivably, could be given the authority to act on them without further referral to the Board of Supervisors.

He said committees today are tackling too many minor subjects, which the administrator could do instead.

Schone emphasized, however, that proper control still would be maintained as the administrator and board would be responsible to the Board of Supervisors.

As important as these revisions are, Schone cautioned, the reforms in government come slowly. But, he added, this doesn't excuse Carey's committee.

After an administrator is hired and board named, another step would be drafting a code granting additional duties to them in their new roles.

Schone took some of the blame off the Board of Auditors by saying under the present setup it doesn't have enough authority. He said the supervisors could vote more intelligently on matters should auditors submit a recommendation before each vote.

"Supervisors today don't get all the facts," he said.

Annual budgets aren't detailed enough to inform supervisors and citizens alike, Schone remarked. More explanation should be given for increases and decreases each year.

★ ★ ★

As an interim step in the direction of placing an administrator at the top of the county hierarchy, self-taught Schone suggested putting two of the three auditors on a per diem pay basis, like they were before.

"In this case we have three people who have pretty much equal authority," he said. "I can't see three heads of something."

Although he was critical of some phases of Oakland County government as it is today, Schone, who never went to college, said his criticism was not being voiced for the first time because "I am ready to leave town."

★ ★ ★

"I've said these things and put them down in writing before," he said. Many of these recommendations were presented to Carey's committee, but no action was taken, he said.

★ ★ ★

Home-rule for Oakland County—a second major reform being considered by the committee — met with Schone's approval only as it would eliminate the practice of county legislative agents running to Lansing every time a new law is needed.

Counties, unlike cities, are governed solely by state laws. Cities, in addition to coming under state laws, too, have individual charter controls.

"You can't operate an efficient government if you have to go to Lansing every time you have a problem to solve," the Birmingham resident said. Home-rule should be a long-range objective, he said.

But Schone again stressed that much can be done immediately to improve the county's government.

Went After Weather, Raced With Racer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Weatherman Joseph Conte started for the roof to make routine observations. He did not make it.

His fellow workers were astonished to see Conte's 200-pound frame moving in reverse like a streak of lightning, shouting that he had encountered a snake.

Told that it was only a harmless blue racer, Conte said, "What do you expect? I'm a climatologist, not a herptologist."

Panama Official Claims Intention

Release of Sovereignty for Canal Attributed to Milton Eisenhower

PANAMA (AP)—Finance Minister Fernando Eleta says Dr. Milton Eisenhower, President Eisenhower's brother and adviser on Latin America, told him last year the United States would recognize Panamanian sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone.

Eleta told the National Assembly Wednesday night he and Dr. Eisenhower agreed in an after-dinner conversation Sept. 13, 1958, that the U.S. declaration would be made the following Nov. 3 in connection with Panama's Independence Day and the 100th anniversary of the birth of President Theodore Roosevelt, under whose administration the canal was built.

The declaration was never made and Panamanian nationalists have stepped up their demands for it. On the holiday this year more than 80 persons were injured when nationalists trying to plant the Panamanian flag in the Canal Zone clashed with U.S. troops and Canal Zone police and Panamanian troops.

8 Police Chiefs Defend Judge

Church Group Dislikes Bread, Water Sentence for Young Offenders

BATTLE CREEK (UPI) — Six police chiefs Thursday came to the defense of a judge who is under attack by a church group for sentencing young offenders to solitary confinement on bread, milk and vitamin pill diets.

Circuit Judge Alfonso A. Magnotta of Calhoun County has sentenced nine lawbreakers to terms in solitary up to 45 days on the theory that the punishment might give them time to think and get back on the straight and narrow.

He also feels that such sentences, plus probation, are a way of keeping young offenders capable of rehabilitation from being exposed to hardened criminals in prison.

But the Michigan Area Council of Liberal Churches has asked for an investigation of Magnotta's policy. Their petition has been turned over to State Supreme Court Justice John R. Dethmers.

★ ★ ★

The church group charged that "the punishment regularly meted out to these juveniles is cruel and urusual, contrary not only to our constitution but contrary to widely held and well established concepts as to their value and propriety."

ENDORSED BY OTHERS

But six Calhoun County police chiefs, from Battle Creek and Springfield and the townships of Bedford, Battle Creek, Emmett and Penfield, all endorsed the Magnotta punishment policy.

So did the five youths already released from solitary. Richard L. Babic, 17, when he was released last month, said he wanted to thank the judge for being "lenient" with him and that he believed he had learned a lesson in jail. "I think it was successful," he said.

★ ★ ★

Magnotta has sentenced nine young men to solitary confinement, with only the Bible allowed as reading material. Four are still in jail.

Luke Hart Re-Elected by Knights of Columbus

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Luke E. Hart of St. Louis, Mo., was unanimously re-elected supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus last night by the board of directors of the Catholic fraternal society.

Hart has been the head of the Knights of Columbus since 1953. The directors also unanimously adopted a resolution complimenting Hart on his handling of labor relations at the organization's headquarters in New Haven, Conn.

★ ★ ★

Other officers unanimously elected were deputy supreme knight, William J. Mulligan, Hartford, Conn.; supreme secretary, Joseph F. Lamb, New York City; supreme treasurer, Francis J. Heazel, Asheville, N.C.; supreme advocate, Harold J. Lamboley of New Haven, Conn., supreme physician, Dr. Gerald J. Lunz, Hamilton, Ontario, and supreme warden, Fred W. Colby, Fargo, N.D.

New York to Put Light on Juvenile Crime

NEW YORK (AP) — The city will illuminate its playgrounds to help cut juvenile crime, says Mayor Robert F. Wagner. He announced Thursday that bright lights for 20 playgrounds in the worst nighttime trouble spots will be provided at a cost of $80,000.

An additional $1,060,000 has been requested in next year's capital budget to light several hundred additional playgrounds.

A 'Day' in Life of Harry Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. — The "day" of former President Harry S. Truman begins somewhere between 5:30 and 6 o'clock each morning — an incorrigible habit he picked up as a farmboy.

The passing years, the explosive fame, the niche in history, the semi-mellow retirement have not altered this regimen.

Truman sometimes reaches his office in the north wing of the Truman Library as early as 7:30.

The library, built without cost to the government from funds donated by many organizations and individuals, is a fine-looking, crescent-shaped, low-slung structure on U.S. Highway 24.

It is 525 feet long, has 70,000 square feet of floor space to house its archives, offices, auditorium and exhibit rooms, and is faced with Indiana limestone. It is growing daily. The great Thomas Hart Benton began his massive lobby mural this week.

★ ★ ★

The former President has the use of an office in it for life, and personally employs a small staff to help him tend to the duties of being an ex-president: A huge mail, countless requests for autographs, information and favors, and invitations to speak, appear, cut a ribbon, lay a cornerstone.

The rest of the building is under the direction of a fine and intelligent little man named Philip Brooks, of the National Archives and Records Services.

Another government agency involved is the Public Building Service of the General Services Administration. A 50-cent admission fee enables the library to pay its own way.

"I live only six blocks from here," Truman told me in his office, "but I've quit walking to work. Too many people stopped to talk to me. Made them late for work."

Accredited scholars are admitted to that portion of the library which contains the state papers, historic documents and personal correspondence which each president may take with him when he leaves the White House.

Hence, here in what was once a rough-hewn little jumping-off place for the conquest of the West, is preserved a treasure trove of 5,500,000 papers born during or occasioned by Truman's seven years in the presidency.

There are, of course, his speeches in their several drafts; his historic decisions and the paper-work involved (Marshall Plan aid, Greek-Turkish relief, Point Four, U.N., Korea, MacArthur's removal, use of the atomic bomb against Japan, the V-E and V-J Day proclamations and countless other memorabilia of a momentous administration.)

★ ★ ★

There is also on hand, John Adams's First Inaugural Address, Thomas Jefferson's request to Congress for funds to outfit the Lewis and Clark Expedition, Jackson's veto of the Bank Bill of 1832; pardons signed by Lincoln; the Alaska Purchase Treaty, Wilson's Proclamation of War against Germany and — on loan from the Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park, N. Y. — F.D.R.'s Pearl Harbor message.

"LIVE IN INFAMY"

The first draft of that enduring document began, "Yesterday, December 7, 1941, a date that will live in world history . . ." Roosevelt scratched out "world history" and substituted the unforgettable "infamy."

And hosts of photographs, autographs, exhibits describing the many sides to a president's life, a 200-seat auditorium where Truman sometimes addresses school groups and even plays a bit of Chopin on the stage's grand piano, gifts that range from a child's scrawled birthday greeting to a gem-encrusted gold sword presented by King Ibn Saud.

And the table on which the U.N. Charter was signed, a superb rug from the Shah of Iran, a 2,500-year-old vase from Greece and two autographed books of special note.

One of these, a copy of "Crusade in Europe," is inscribed "To President Harry S. Truman, with the request that as my commander-in-chief since the latter days of World War II he will accept this volume which is, except for those going to members of my immediate family, the first presented to any person. With lasting respect, admiration and friendship—Dwight D. Eisenhower."

In the same showcase is a copy of "Marlborough, His Life and Times." It is inscribed, "From Winston to Harry — 1949."

Truman treasures particularly a fireplace removed when the White House was remodeled. Its old stone is inscribed with a passage from a letter John Adams, the mansion's first occupant, wrote to his beloved Abigail, "I pray Heaven to bestow the best of blessings on this house, and all that shall inhabit it. May none but honest and wise men ever rule under this roof."

Hamtramck Asks Court to Upset Tax Ruling

DETROIT (AP) — Hamtramck has gone to court in an attempt to upset a State Tax Commission cut of more than 20 million dollars in the assessed value of Hamtramck's biggest tax source, the Dodge Main Plant of Chrysler Corp.

Circuit Judge Neal Fitzgerald set a hearing for Dec. 4 after a petition to set aside the reduction was filed yesterday.

Hamtramck terms the reduction "arbitrary, capricious and confiscatory." It also contends it is unconstitutional because it is retroactive, and "would impair contracts signed at the start of the fiscal year and result in the power of taxation being surrendered by the city."

The assessment cut, the city says, would cost it $500,000 a year in revenue, plus nearly $250,000 in school taxes.

Motor Scooters Pose Problem

100 Killed Last Year, 4,000 Hurt in Accidents Involving Vehicle

CHICAGO (AP)— More than 100 persons were killed and more than 4,000 others injured in motor scooter accidents in 1958, the National Safety Council said today.

Most of the casualties, the council said, were the operators themselves.

When the motor scooter accident problem came to the forefront more than a year ago the NSC urged laws to restrict licensing of persons under 16 and condemned unlicensed operation.

"Giving a youth a motor scooter to drive," the NSC said, "is like giving a baby a dynamite cap as a teething ring."

Rocky In-Law Now Sells Gas to Beat Boredom

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) —Steven Rockefeller's father-in-law has gone into the gasoline business. He's selling Rockefeller gas, too.

★ ★ ★

A retired fish exporter and merchant, Kristian Rasmussen, found time hanging heavy on his hands when he recently returned from a visit to his daughter Anne-Marie and the Rockefellers in the United States. So he went to work in a downtown gas station keeping the accounts and selling gas.

"I just had to have something to do," he said.

Anne-Marie married the son of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York last August in a much-publicized wedding in the nearby little community of Sogne.

Russia Proposes Trade to Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan has offered Soviet agricultural, mining and industrial machinery to Mexico in exchange for Mexican cotton, minerals and fruit.

★ ★ ★

Mikoyan, the Kremlin's top expert on foreign trade, proposed the exchanges Thursday in a meeting with Mexican Commerce and Industry Minister Raul Salinas Lozano.

★ ★ ★

Mikoyan, who is here to open a Soviet trade and scientific exhibition Saturday, will meet with representatives of the Importers and Exporters Assn. and with bankers next week. He is expected to press hard for more Soviet-Mexican trade, which last year totaled less than $500,000.

State Good Spot for Businesses

Research Man Claims Michigan Has Location; Must Get Wise

DETROIT (UPI) — "Despite all the publicity given to the state's business climate and its financial problems, Michigan is and will continue to be a good place for industry," Dr. Paul A. Herbert, state economic development department research chief, said Wednesday night.

He cited the fact that Michigan is growing and will continue to grow in population at a rapid rate when he spoke before the Detroit Secretaries Assn.

"Add to this the growth in the number of consumers in the surrounding states," he said, and "it makes the east-north central states the greatest regional market in the U. S."

Proof of Michigan's recent growth, Herbert said, was seen in the higher designation given Washtenaw and Muskegon counties by the U. S. Bureau of the Budget. Two other counties, Eaton and Clinton, were also added to the existing Lansing metropolitan area.

Herbert said, however, "Michigan cannot be complacent and assume it will get its share of the increase in manufacturing that must take place to meet the needs of the population increase.

MUST SELL STATE

"Industrial development promotion to sell Michigan is necessary because other states are doing everything possible to attract industry. However, in the final analysis, location of an industry generally depends on where the industry can make the most money."

★ ★ ★

During 1958, Herbert said, Michigan manufacturers invested more in industrial buildings than they did the year before.

But he said Michigan should look for diversification of industry by adding the manufacture of new products, rather than keeping only the industry types that "made it the great industrial state it is now."

Herbert said new industry now tends to establish in centers where there is a large pool of research scientists.

"Michigan, while it can be proud of its scientific growth, does lag behind some other states in this respect," he said.

Drug Firms Next in Antitrust Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three major drug firms have been invited to lead-off Senate anti-monopoly hearings on alleged over-pricing of prescription medicines.

Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) yesterday gave details of the inquiry which will start Dec. 7 and probably run until spring.

The group also will look into possible patent abuses and financial links between drug firms and big ranking companies.

Kefauver told a news conference the United States has "the finest medicines in the world," but prices for them are "getting so high they are unavailable to many people."

Officials of the Shering Corp., Merck and Co., Inc. and the Upjohn Co. have been invited to be the first witnesses.

Diplomatic Immunity Has Gone Too Far

Well, papa finally says he'll send that little Irish tramp home. But papa stalled around until a woman was killed.

★ ★ ★

"Diplomatic immunity" has become a badly overworked courtesy when a little punk like this DAVID P. HEARNE can get away with all the indignities that he perpetrated in this country. Finally, he killed a woman with his automobile and it became the fifth time in eighteen months this young hood escaped talking to judges by invoking an ancient privilege that was conceived 170 years ago for ladies and gentlemen.

★ ★ ★

The current case is probably the most flagrant violation of good manners and international amity that the nation has witnessed. Son of the Irish Ambassador, this adult delinquent has already been ordered out of a restaurant for unbecoming conduct, knocking down a policeman and kicking him before reinforcements arrived.

★ ★ ★

Why he wasn't ordered out of the country by his father long before is a mystery that the family of the dead woman will never understand. Why his family doesn't waive immunity on him now is something a lot of other people can't comprehend.

★ ★ ★

Only two days before his automobile killed the Washington woman, the State Department had sent his father a communique outlining his misdoings and misconduct.

When diplomatic immunity allows things like this, it's time the custom is reviewed — or some fetters placed on automatic extensions.

National Catholic Shrine Is Dedicated Today

Thirty-nine years after the cornerstone was laid, America's largest and first "national" Roman Catholic Church, belonging to people of all dioceses alike, is being dedicated today in Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

The Shrine—it is not a cathedral—was the concept of the late Bishop Thomas H. Shannon, rector of the Catholic University, who proposed its construction in 1912. The shrine will not be complete on the inside at today's dedication, but final cost will reach approximately $30 million.

★ ★ ★

Medieval in every sense of the word is probably the best way to describe this huge basilica. It is medieval in appearance and construction. It has massive walls and columns of solid masonry supporting roof and dome. Oddly enough, there is no structural steel in the shrine. Instead, reinforced concrete and huge piers of brick were used.

★ ★ ★

Officiating at today's ceremonies of Washington's National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, the world's seventh largest church, will be Cardinal Spellman of New York, chairman of the board of trustees of the shrine.

★ ★ ★

Emphasizing the permanence of this national church is the fact that theoretically the edifice is constructed to last forever. No major overhaul is expected in the next thousand years.

Government Lotteries Would Aid Taxpayers

Probably there's no greater "authority" on gambling in all forms than "LUCKY" LUCIANO. In case you've forgotten, this is the big time hood who was deported to Italy when other methods of taking him out of circulation had failed.

★ ★ ★

There have been many suggestions that Federal and even State taxes be paid in part by Government controlled lotteries. LUCIANO's current comment on gambling from the depths of Italy where he still resides unhappily are interesting:

★ ★ ★

"Legal gambling would take the profits from racketeers and give them to the government. Why not give the taxpayer a break?"

Gambling has mostly sordid and unsavory sides, but a Government operated lottery would not be anything new in the world and it would ease the burden of the taxpayers and shift it to the shoulders of those who paid voluntarily.

Any Survivors?

Of Boys Who Pumped Pipe Organs by Hand

William R. Pullen

writes me that as a lad he pumped the pipe organ in both Pontiac and Birmingham churches over 50 years ago. This was the days before that job was done by an electric motor.

He wonders if there are any other local survivors of that occupation. The boy was hidden behind the organ and supplied the necessary wind for the tubes by pumping a bellows with his hands. Sometimes the boy fell asleep during the sermon or just before the doxology and the organist lacked the wind to carry on. How many of our readers are members of that fraternity of former pipe organ pumpers?

My nomination for the champion button collector of Oakland County, with a challenge for state honors, is of Birmingham, offering "full size building lots on main street within two blocks of courthouse at $75, with $5 down and 50 cents a week."

The acme in real estate values in Pontiac is reached in an adv. in a copy of the Pontiac Gazette of May 14, 1886, handed me by

In its campaign to land the Olympic games, Detroit lacks a swimming pool to meet the required specifications, but Pontiac's

Shall We Tell Him?

Why Dodge the Loyalty Oath Law?

WASHINGTON—Leading universities and colleges have every legal right to refuse to participate in a government-loan program requiring student beneficiaries to sign "loyalty" affidavits, but it may be questioned whether the executives of these educational institutions realize the extent to which they are striking a blow against their own government's efforts to thwart Communist espionage and subversion inside the United States.

LAWRENCE

When the Congress set up the program for loans to college students, it included the requirement that any student getting a loan, in addition to taking the oath of allegiance, shall file with the U.S. commissioner of education an affidavit declaring that the student "does not believe in, and is not a member of and does not support any organization that believes in or teaches, the overthrow of the United States government by force or violence or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods."

The college presidents who are objecting feel generally, as one of their number said in a public statement, that the affidavit requirement is an "affront" to students. It is further argued that it would "present no barrier to those it is designed to catch," as such persons would lie anyhow.

But that's precisely the reason for the "oath" itself. It is difficult to prosecute a Communist or Communist stooge in this country today because of technicalities raised in various court decisions, and about the only way to ferret them out sometimes is by means of perjury indictments.

CAUGHT BY LIE

Thus, Alger Hiss operated for a considerable time in behalf of the Communists while he was working in the Department of State, but he wasn't caught till years afterward when he lied in testimony before a congressional committee and went to jail on a perjury conviction.

It is well known that the Communists operate on the campuses of many colleges.

To select one group and not others for the "loyalty" oath requirement is, of course, discrimination, and Congress has been slow to make it a general requirement covering all government benefits or privileges. Nevertheless, today every person who works for the federal government, whether appointed or elected, must take the "loyalty" oath. This includes hundreds of thousands of people.

The Federal government, of course, has every constitutional right to impose a "loyalty" oath or any other condition as a basis for granting a contract or a privilege.

There is a big campaign on nowadays to get Federal aid to education all along the line. But one thing seems certain — those who want such benefits will have to conform to the conditions laid down by the Federal government.

It is strange that when other requirements that interfere with "freedom of association" are imposed by the Federal government —as, for instance, in connection with employment practices — there is not much protest from the heads of colleges or from the inveterate champions of "freedom of association."

Thus, it isn't even a law of Congress but an executive order under which companies that have government contracts may have them revoked if the President's committee on government contracts finds that discrimination is practiced in hiring because of race, creed or color.

In the case of labor unions, Congress has gone even further and imposed criminal penalties to meet the Communist menace. The labor-reform bill adopted at the last session prohibits any person who has been a member of the Communist party in the previous five years from being on the staff, in any except a clerical capacity, of a labor union or of an association of employers dealing with any labor organization.

Congress either has to repeal all restrictions placed on the extension of government grants or privileges or be in the position of favoring one class of beneficiaries of government money as against another. What is needed is an extension, rather than an abridgement of the "loyalty" oath program.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Keep Those Chilblains Away From Radiator

The best way to prevent chilblains is live in Coral Gables or Beverly Hills. If this is not convenient, the next best way is to keep your feet dry.

If your feet sweat much, it is difficult to keep them dry; but you will get some helpful suggestions from the free pamphlet Excessive Sweating for which send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DR. BRADY

Getting the feet wet by stepping into a deep puddle or by walking, working or playing in snow or slush rarely if ever causes chilblains because vigorous physical activity maintains good circulation which prevents both chilblain (first degree frostbite) and blistering (second degree frostbite).

Usually chilblain occurs on the heels and borders of the feet, but sometimes on the fingers, ears and nose.

It is wise to rub the affected skin gently if at all, because too vigorous friction may cause blistering, which makes infection more likely.

★ ★ ★

One with chilblain should avoid close proximity to radiator, stove or fireplace. Such heat makes the chilblain burn and itch intensely.

To prevent chilblain of the feet soft woolen stockings are advisable, or at least woolen feet on cotton, silk or nylon stockings. Do not wear tight stockings or shoes.

To relieve intense itching and burning gently sop on a lotion made of two-thirds calamine lotion and one-third 5 per cent phenol (carbolic acid) solution—the druggist can sell 5 per cent carbolic acid solution without prescription.)

It is not just my notion but the belief of various physicians of years past that a suitable dose of calcium daily combats or tends to prevent chilblains. The only difference between the old timers and me is that they called calcium medicine and I call it food.

Since chilblain is first degree frostbite it is well to mention here the emergency treatment of frostbite commended by a top authority, Vilhajalmur Stefansson. Place the bare hand under the clothing in the armpit to warm it, and hold the warmed hand on the frostbitten spot for a minute or so.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"It's lots easier to tell what you would do if you had the right chance than to show what you did with the chance you had."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Hostile Attitude Handicaps Worker

Bill's case is common in modern America. And it illustrates an old adage about human envy. Why aren't Communists unselfish, like the Christian missionaries? Because they are greedy and envious of capitalists. They plan to unseat the wealthy and then take that wealth for themselves.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

"But, Dr. Crane, he resents taking orders," his foreman said.

"He grows belligerent and goes around with a chip on his shoulder all the time. If it weren't for this hostile attitude, he'd be an excellent man, for he is smart and a fast worker.

CRANE

"So how should we try to handle a trouble maker like Bill?"

"BEARCAT" vs. "HOUSECAT"

In short, a henpecked husband may then try to take it out on his employees. Well, the same "bearcat" behavior may be a factor in Bill's hostile attitude.

But there are other possible explanations. For example, notice this adage from personnel psychology:

"The more violently a worker resents taking orders from his boss, the more envious he is of his boss."

The most ardent leaders of Communism, too, are really capitalists at heart. They don't tear down the capitalists out of sympathy for the poor and downtrodden.

Not on your life! They attack capitalism because they want to unseat the present wealthy leaders and soon take their places.

Look at many ardent labor leaders in America who inflame workers against employers, citing the large profits and fat salaries of the employers.

Yet those same labor leaders may draw $50,000 salaries, not to mention "free" housing, "free" Florida winter estates, and automobiles, etc.

PERSONNEL STRATEGY

In the classroom, when a teacher sees a boy with more energy and leadership than usual, but who is becoming a trouble maker, the teacher often appoints that child as a monitor or traffic policeman.

In industry, the same situation is confronted and often solved by making such potential leaders "straw bosses".

Leaders, whether of labor unions or management, often have much in common. They are usually high in I. Q., fortified with a lot of physical vitality and drive.

★ ★ ★

For leaders are like college debaters. The latter don't care much which side of the issue they are assigned, as long as they can get into the verbal fight and show their ability.

Modern personnel strategy involves trying to solve even the family quarrels of workers, for a "housecat" at home can cause a lot of trouble on the job by his resulting "bearcat" actions.

For a man who has a happy home life is not likely to be carrying a chip on his shoulder when he gets to work.

Some pugnacious workers have felt imposed on during childhood by overly domineering parents. Or they have had to fight their way along to offset feminine nicknames or jibes about red hair, short stature, etc.

So send for the "Tests for Employers & Employees," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). They are widely used in industry to help produce industrial harmony.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Urges Voters to Change Voting District Boundaries

It is time for legislative boundaries to be changed, so why not get them on the next ballot for a change? In 1958 55 Democrats were elected to the Michigan Senate representing 3,435,659, and 55 Republicans representing 2,936,107.

★ ★ ★

Some of the upper state districts are Republican with a small population, and others in Detroit and heavily populated areas are Democratic. There have to be ten of us Democrats in some districts to equal one in another district.

★ ★ ★

Suppose you're sitting beside a man from the Upper Peninsula and they give him ten ballots and give you one? You would be plenty mad, so why not get it changed?

'At Least I'm Not Alone Anymore'

Insecurity has overtaken me. My thoughts have been running akin to this: Michigan should secede from the Union, what with the State finances and the steel strike making it worse. Maybe Michigan could declare bankruptcy and start a mess of its own, or we could join the one Fidel has going. Maybe my husband would be laid off after many years of service to Pontiac Motor.

Then I thought I was saved. Good, old, reliable Pontiac Press started its "Master Your Tensions" series. Things began looking up. And then you did it.

In spite of being an independent, I knew I could always count on reading praise for Eisenhower and kicks against Governor Williams. Just as I was really returning to my formerly well-adjusted self, good, old, reliable Pontiac Press criticized the Eisenhower administration's back of the hand talk and "shushs" on publication.

So now I'll have company. You, the editor, have also gone mad, and just as I was doing so well. It's probably a State institution for me. I think I'll form a non-conformist group of my own — I don't like the way the Beatniks dress. P.S. Love that Pontiac Press!

Other Half of Split Personality

'Keep Democrats in Their Place'

Don't forget Democrat Woodrow Wilson dragged us into World War One after running on a platform of "He Kept Us Out of War." Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt ("I abhor war") plunged us into World War Two. And Harry S. Truman (Democrat) led us into the Korean War.

★ ★ ★

Wilson and Roosevelt won their wars but each of them lost the peace from here to the rear side of the moon. And Harry lost the war, the peace and world respect.

Ike's Passive, Meyner Says

Cites TV Scandal and Claims White House Acts Only in Crises

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey today described President Eisenhower as "a passive custodian in the White House who takes action only when problems reach crisis proportions."

Meyner, in a speech prepared for delivery to the National Young Democratic Convention, again cited the recent television probe as an example of what he called Republican misadministration of such agencies as the Federal Communications Commission.

★ ★ ★

He blamed the television rigging scandal on the Eisenhower administration in a speech at Cambridge, Mass., Wednesday.

The governor called Eisenhower's appointees to head the six major federal agencies "incredible."

"The bumbling, inept, myopic John C. Doerfer, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, who let TV come to a pretty pass in the TV quiz cases, is no accident. He fits the pattern of other big six appointments, which have been mediocre or worse," Meyner said.

"What is obviously needed in Washington is active and continuing direction from the top, an insistence that the departments of government carry out their appointed tasks, and the regulatory commissions do just what Congress created them to do—protect and promote the public interest."

Master Your Tensions

Show Love for Children

GEORGE S. STEVENSON, M.D., and HARRY MILT

Children can be wonderful. But they can also be horrible. They misbehave. They are messy. They get into trouble. They bicker and quarrel.

But aren't these disagreeable behavior traits the very same ones we have found to be associated with tensions in adults?

We firmly believe that a fundamental, sound attitude about children, and a knowledge of the basic things children need to make them feel secure, can help eliminate many of the problems of childrearing.

Children need love. The importance of love in their lives has been recognized for centuries. But it took a dramatic experiment to prove that love is essential even for physical survival.

Dr. Rene Spitz made a study of homes for foundlings. The children — ranging in age from infancy to four or five — were getting good food and medical care, but almost all were pale, weak, sickly and dispirited.

★ ★ ★

Then he looked into their case histories. Some of them had never known a mother. Others had a mother for a few months and then lost her through poverty, illness or death. Something very basic and important was missing from the lives of these children — love.

Dr. Spitz got the nurses to act as mothers would — pick up the children and make a fuss over them.

IT TAKES LOVE — Love, in equal proportions to all, will give your children a feeling of security.

After the first week, a miracle began to take place. The pale, listless babies began to laugh. They started to gain weight. They became playful. After several months, many of them had made great gains, physically and mentally.

WHAT'S YOUR ATTITUDE?

It is instinctive for parents to love their children. But our own competitive strivings color our love. We want ours to be as smart, as attractive, as popular as other children, so we can show them off.

Children sense this and resent it. They want to be loved for themselves, not admired for what they do.

You might well examine your attitude toward your own children. Don't wait for the good report card, the witty remark, the excellent composition to hug them and kiss them.

Parents sometimes say: "Why do my children have so many problems? I never did when I was a child."

Parents forget. They remember mostly the fun they had as children. Viewing themselves as they are now, they expect their children to be like them, to have the same high standards and good judgment.

★ ★ ★

They boast so proudly that their little boy is "a little man," yet become disappointed if "their little man" cries when he falls. They become angry when their older child has a slump in school or lets things slide, forgetting that this is what they did, too, as youngsters.

Put yourself in the place of an infant. For the first year of his life, he has every need taken care of. But suddenly, things change.

The do's and don't's begin. Don't throw things on the floor. Don't cry. Don't bite. For a little child, it is bewildering to distinguish between wrong and right.

TIMES OF INSECURITY

More difficult is the process of beginning to detach himself from his mother, to start to think and act for himself; to defend himself; to go off alone to school.

Every child has to go through this. But whether he goes through it with relative ease and with a minimum of tension depends to a great extent on the attitude of his parents. Difficulties are at a minimum when the child is surrounded by understanding and love.

Luella was a nervous, excitable young mother. She worried if her baby didn't finish his milk, if he slept less than 12 hours. Her worrying wore her out, so she had little patience.

By the time her child was two, he was confused and frightened.

Next door lived the H's and their five children. Luella used to marvel at the way her neighbor never fussed if the children didn't eat. She had the same easy-going attitude about other things.

Luella decided to copy Mrs. H's ways, and asked her neighbor if she would give her advice and support. Mrs. H. cheerfully took on her new charge, and slowly Luella began to change.

At first she had a hard time curbing her impulse to shovel food into her child, to scold and slap, but gradually her patience increased, and as she changed, her child changed too, becoming far less fearful and fidgety.

There are times in a child's life when he's apt to feel particularly insecure, and especially in need of your love. Here are some of them:

When your child has been through a wearing illness.
When he hurts himself badly.
When he's gone through a frightening experience.
When he goes to the hospital.
When either parent is away for an unusually long time.
When a new baby comes into the family.
When the family moves into a new neighborhood.

CAUSES OF CONFLICT

From birth to the age of six, the child is particularly in need of love and emotional support. From 6 to 12, the seas are relatively calm. The child is now in possession of most of the basic mental and bodily skills he's going to use for a number of years.

But then comes adolescence. A grandmother recently commented: "Thank the Lord I brought up my children before there was such a thing as adolescence."

For many youngsters, adolescence is a period of great disturbance. In their unpredictable behavior, you sometimes see evidence of the grown-up, or evidence of the child. Yet it is during this period, when they are least easy to take, that your children most need your love and understanding.

★ ★ ★

For years they've been free of major responsibility. But suddenly, Mother and Dad begin harping on a new theme: "You're growing up now, and you're going to have to make your own decisions." No wonder teen-agers feel resentment at the prospect of growing up.

(Condensed from "Master Your Tensions and Enjoy Living Again," by George S. Stevenson, M.D., and Harry Milt.)

Thanksgiving Daily Affair in Turkey, Says Student

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Every day is Thanksgiving Day in Turkey, according to a Michigan State University Oakland's first foreign student who is living at the William Shunck home in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Not only do the Turkish people pray five times each day, but also whenever they feel especially appreciative.

Aydin Ilgaz, 19, (pronounced Iden) has exchanged places with the Shuncks' 16-year old daughter Patricia, who is living with the Ilgaz family in Istanbul.

The switch is between the two families and has no connection with any exchange student program, explained Mrs. Shunck, whose husband is superintendent of Waterford schools.

It all started last summer when a group of Turkish educators chose to visit Waterford Township because of its rapid population growth and the fact it is next to a large metropolitan area.

One of the teachers on the tour of the township was Aydin's mother, who became so fascinated with the home life, education facilities and hospitality of their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Shunck, she wanted her son to have the same experience.

The feeling was mutual, and after much planning and exchanging of cultural views it was decided to go through with the exchange.

★ ★ ★

Five weeks ago, Aydin arrived at the Shunck home but it was too late to enroll for a full semester's course at MSUO, he decided to take two courses, sociology and English, to help toward his goal of becoming an electrical engineer.

The tall, soft-spoken Aydin, whose manners are impeccable, looks more like an all-American football player than a Turkish Moslem.

Aydin's father is a publisher of a humor magazine. They live in a big apartment house, except on weekends when the family goes to the father's parents home in the country.

★ ★ ★

This is the time when giving thanks takes on real meaning for everyone. This is especially true during the "Romanzan" holiday, a one-month long fasting period. Only one meal is served each day, that after the sun has set.

Some time after the Romanzan fasting, there is a four-day Mosque, when the head of the house arises at 5 a.m., and divides the biggest and best sheep into three portions.

One third goes to the poor, one-third to a neighbor and one-third to the family.

Before Aydin arrived in the United States, he graduated from his own high school. He took rigid examinations on all of the 15 subjects he had studied. The examinations lasted 31 consecutive days.

Now, quite firmly established in American surroundings, Aydin is beginning to enjoy professional football, American teachers and the culinary efforts of an excellent cook.

Railroad Engineers Plan Strike Vote

CHICAGO (UPI) — Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are scheduled to take a strike vote within the next few weeks.

★ ★ ★

Guy L. Brown, general chairman of the Union, said he called for a strike vote to force action in the stalemated wage negotiations between the brotherhood and the nation's railroads.

Brown accused the carriers of reluctance to bargain for a settlement. This should force some action, he said.

The brotherhood said it will be about three weeks before the actual vote is taken.

Wage negotiations between carriers and the brotherhood have been going on since Sept. 16. The engineers are seeking a 12 per cent pay hike. Railroads have asked for a 15 cent an hour pay cut. Work practices are also a big issue, with management charging featherbedding.

Under the involved procedures of the railway labor act a strike — should it occur — would probably not begin before spring, according to a brotherhood spokesman.

Bomb Scare Is 'Just Dud' to Poet Frost

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Famed poet Robert Frost, who delivered a lecture last night to a capacity crowd of 1,800 at a downtown church here, remained cool as a New England snowdrift, unaware police were searching for a bomb in the building.

★ ★ ★

The 85-year-old Pulitzer Prize winner and his audience were not informed of the bomb scare, even though ushers searched the pulpit of the Fountain Street Baptist Church while Frost spoke.

★ ★ ★

Police said they received an anonymous telephone call reporting a bomb was placed in the church, but decided not to interrupt the program for fear of "panicking" the audience.

After the program, Frost was informed of the bomb threat. His comment was, "It must have been a dud."

3rd Auto Assembly Planned by Rambler

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — An American Motors Corp. official said Wednesday that the firm probably will add a third auto assembly line at its Kenosha plant next year at a cost of seven million dollars.

J. J. Timpy, Detroit, American Motors vice president, said the new assembly line will be part of a 39 million dollar expansion program during 1960.

He said the plan still must go before the company's board of directors but approval is expected.

Roy W. Chapin, executive vice president and general manager of the Automotive Division, said that dealer demand for Rambler automobiles this month exceeds the scheduled output of 34,000 cars. There are approximately 56,000 orders for cars this month and 64,000 for next month.

WEARS VEEP'S HAT — If 9-year-old Deanna Smith chooses to run for President she has the right hat to toss into the ring — it belongs to Vice President Richard Nixon. The Vice President, on a visit to Wisconsin Rapils for a speech, left his hat in a car where it was found by Deanna's father.

Brandon High Will Present 'Stage Door'

ORTONVILLE — The popular three-act comedy, "Stage Door," by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman, will be presented at Brandon High School tonight and tomorrow night. Curtain time is 8:15 both nights.

★ ★ ★

Also included in the cast of 32 are Sue Romeo, Sandra Sherman, Lynne Fink and Delores Cox.

Set in a girls' theatrical boarding house in New York City, the play depicts the conflicts which arise when aspiring young actresses vie for recognition on the New York stage.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Good Practice Anyway

SCARBOROUGH, England (UPI)—David Jenkins got into his car yesterday and listened politely while the woman in the back seat soundly bawled him out for being late. When she stopped for breath, the woman realized that she was in the wrong car. She had mistaken Jenkins' auto for her husband's.

Santa Schools Flunk Bad Ones

By TOM HENSHAW

NEW YORK (AP)—A few years ago, a glowering youngster in Long Beach, Calif., defied tradition by stealing up on a street corner Santa Claus and kicking him in the shins.

"That's for not bringing me what you promised last year," snarled the disillusioned lad.

★ ★ ★

The particular Santa—or maybe it was another one—had earned the boot by forgetting one of the cardinal rules taught by the Volunteers of America in its schools for Santas.

★ ★ ★

"Do not promise children that they'll get the gifts they ask for but send them away hopeful and happy."

The Volunteers of America, an organization similar to the Salvation Army, conducts about 75 Santa schools in the larger American cities. First graduates of the Class of '59 hit the streets Friday.

The VOA, which has been placing Santas and their familiar collecting chimneys on street corners since 1901, learned early in the game that an untrained Santa can mean disaster.

"It is important to us that we be properly represented on the corners," says Col. Oliver P. Strickland, the VOA's national field secretary. "A bad Santa places the Volunteers in an unfavorable light."

★ ★ ★

The rules to be learned and applied range from "Answer questions courteously" to "Keep your mustache and whiskers on straight" to "Ring your bell loudly enough to be clearly heard."

★ ★ ★

An evening's class consists of a reading of the ten Do's and eight Don'ts for Santas and a discussion period during which problems that have come up in the past are hashed over.

A few students flunk the course, chiefly because they are too shy to ring their bells loudly or just can't resist the impulse to wander away from their chimneys.

SCHOOL IN SKID ROW

The VOA's school for Santas in New York is the Bowery Tabernacle, a mission in the heart of the city's Skid Row. Students are recruited mostly from the elderly residents of the area.

"We never have to advertise for Santas," says Col. Strickland. "A lot of them keep coming back year after year. The new ones learn about it by word of mouth from the old timers."

Veteran Santas are many. Some have the same stations year in and year out. John Matison, for instance, has tinkled his bell beside the Christmas tree in Rockefeller Plaza for the past 11 years.

★ ★ ★

The Santa season lasts from Nov. 20 to Dec. 24. The hours are long, from 9 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. The pay is small but there are free meals thrown in. For most, the tiny wage supplements a pension.

Some, like retired pharmacist Herman Stenberg, aren't really in crying need of the money. Stenberg, in his 70's, dons the red suit year after year mostly because he likes the feel of doing something.

Lion Chews Trainer, Punctures Windpipe

Hospital attendants said Hartman was in serious condition. He was bitten on the shoulders and throat.

The lion and its mate were purchased by Paul Kelly, owner of the circus lion act, Wednesday. Hartman entered their cage alone to become acquainted with the lions. The lion knocked down Hartman and pinned him to the floor for about three minutes. Kelly and George Fraser, former owner of the animals, drove off the lion with a long-handled meat fork. Its mate didn't join in the attack.

YOUNG AND GAY — These Oxford Area Community High School students seem to be enjoying their roles during this rehearsal of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." The play opens at 8 tonight in the Junior High auditorium. There will be another performance tomorrow evening. Move in Power Struggle

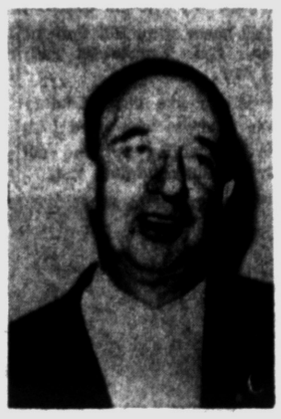
Officials of UAW Suggest 6-Month Leave for Gosser

DETROIT (UPI) — A six-month leave of absence, suggested by top United Auto Workers Union officials for Union Vice President Richard T. Gosser was the latest development in a long internal struggle between Gosser and President Walter P. Reuther.

Gosser, last of the "bread and butter" unionists, has been removed as head of the UAW's organizing department and asked to take a six-month "vacation," it was revealed here last night.



RICHARD T. GOSSER

Union officials denied the recommendation was part of a move to ease Gosser out of the top ranks. A spokesman said Reuther himself, who was meeting with trade unionists in Europe, would take over direction of the department.

The spokesman said Reuther would direct the unit "in concert with all six of the union's elected officers, including Gosser."

★ ★ ★

UAW Secreary-Treasurer Emil Mazey said the decision that Gosser, 58, of Toledo, needed a long rest was made jointly with Gosser during a top-level meeting last week.

He said Gosser suffered a slight heart attack during the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco and has been troubled by gout.

A union spokesman said the move relieving Gosser as head of the union's Competitive Shops Department, the UAW's organizing unit, was taken to decentralize the Union's organizing activities by putting more authority into the hands of the 19 regional directors across the country.

'Payola? Sure, We Used It'

Record Firm Owner Says He Has Checks to Prove DJ Bonuses

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Sydney Nathan, owner of King Records, Inc., Cincinnati, said today his firm has paid off disc jockeys all over the country and he has the checks to prove it.

Nathan, whose books have been subpoenaed in the New York investigation of disc jockey payoffs, said he will turn the checks over to Frank Hogan, district attorney, who is conducting the probe.

"It is a dirty rotten mess," Nathan said, "and it has been getting worse in the last five years. It is getting so you can't get your records played unless you pay."

Nathan said he has never paid money to any Cincinnati disc jockey but has sent them gifts.

He said, however, that one Cincinnati disc jockey banned King's recent hit, "I Love You Porgy," performed by Nina Simone, on the ground it contained a "dirty line" referring to "hot hands."

Nathan said the disc jockey made it clear he would relax the ban if King would pay. "He made no bones about it," Nathan said. The record company refused, he said.

Nathan said neither his firm nor any of its agents ever has tried to hide payments to disc jockeys. "We have always paid by check, not cash," he said.

Jurors Present Judge Beer a Parting Gift

Ninety jurors about to conclude their fall jury term in Circuit Court surprised presiding Circuit Judge William J. Beer today by presenting him with a thermos decanter set for his bench.

Along with the set was a card, signed by all jurors, printed by the commercial artist husband of juror Mrs. Wanda D. Schultz of Huntington Woods. The card read "with respect and admiration" to the judge.

It was presented this morning shortly after the 9 a. m. roll call by Judge Beer's clerk, Larry A. Girard, who was asked by the panel to make the presentation.

Although the jury officially concludes its term Dec. 4, the presentation was made today as some jurors are being excused early.

House to Probe Detroit's DJs

5 Other Metropolitan Areas to Come Under Scrutiny in 2 Weeks

WASHINGTON (UP)—House investigators reported plans Thursday to look into the activities of disc jockeys in at least six major metropolitan areas within the next two weeks.

★ ★ ★

Robert W. Lishman, chief counsel of the House legislative oversight subcommittee, said investigators will be sent to Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New York and Detroit.

In addition to questioning disc jockeys and others in the radio-television industry, Lishman said the investigators also will look into all other phases of the "payola racket."

He defined this as including not only allegations of under - the - counter bribes to disc jockeys to plug popular music but also charges of secret payments for plugging products and individuals on TV and radio, kickbacks for promoting music sales and conflicts of interests by disc jockeys who also have an interest in manufacture and sale of records.

Flooding Rains Ease in Miami; 11.13 Inches Fell

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — Rain which poured 11.13 inches of water on Miami in 30 gusty hours let up today, but maybe not for long.

The Weather Bureau predicted further showers.

Thursday, there was a daylong deluge. Numerous streets were flooded bumper deep and some were impassable. Hundreds of cars drowned out.

Business in the uptown section came to a virtual standstill and no sightseeing buses were seen hauling tourists who chose to spend the day in dryness and comfort of their hotels.

Motorists who did venture on flooded, rain-slicked streets drove with such care that the police department reported fewer accidents than normal.

Blast Destroys 1,400 Buildings

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — A fire in a chemical plant touched off a series of gigantic explosions in a heavily populated Yokohama suburb today. More than 1,400 buildings were destroyed or damaged, and 376 persons were injured.

★ ★ ★

There was only one confirmed death, but authorities did not rule out the possibility that more dead would be found.

★ ★ ★

The death toll would have been huge, but word of the fire spread quickly. Before the explosions began, most of the workers within the plant had raced to cover in caves or behind earth and concrete bunkers built when the plant was a Japanese navy ammunition depot.

New Catholic National Shrine Opens Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national shrine for the 36 million U.S. Roman Catholics is being dedicated here today with impressive ceremonies.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York was scheduled to dedicate the edifice and celebrate a solemn pontifical mass.

More than 200 members of the Catholic hierarchy, including cardinals, archbishops and bishops, are taking part in the dedication ceremonies which will last three days.

Vast and gleaming, the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception is the largest Catholic church in the United States and the seventh largest in the world. St. John the Divine, an Episcopal church in New York City, is the nation's largest church.

★ ★ ★

With its sheath of pale limestone and its lofty, blue-and-yellow tiled dome, the shrine dominates the northeast section of Washington. It is on the campus of Catholic University, three miles north of the Capitol.

329 FEET HIGH

The shrine is a blend of the Byzantine and Romanesque styles. From the ground to the top of its gold-tipped bell tower is 329 feet. The wall behind the altar is 459 feet from the entrance across 50,000 square feet of marble floor. Pews for 3,000 fill little more than half the huge interior, the rest being taken up with the sanctuary and altar.

★ ★ ★

Most of the interior ornamentation is still to be added, but an enormous mosaic showing a seated figure of Christ in brilliant reds and gold is in place behind the altar.

Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter of St. Louis, chairman of the bishops' committee in charge of building the shrine, gave the dedication sermon. He called the ceremony one of the most significant in the history of the Catholic church in the United States.

MAJESTIC WITNESS

"This shrine stands as a majestic and compelling witness not only to the physical and material maturity of the church in our land," he said, "but particularly to its spiritual vigor, magnificent unity and dynamic faith."

He said the shrine was an "expression of the Catholic democracy of the United States and of the Catholics' love and devotion of Mary Immaculate."

★ ★ ★

Other special masses will be offered during the dedication period —one tonight by Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston and another Saturday by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles.

Starting Monday, the shrine will be open to visitors daily.

Funds to build the shrine were donated by millions of Catholics. Construction began in 1922 but was halted for more than 20 years during the depression and World War II.

Cathedral Looks for Gargoyles

Church in Washington Needs Sculptors Who Like to Experiment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you have a talent for gargoyles, the Washington Cathedral would like to hear from you.

★ ★ ★

The long a-building Episcopal church needs models of about 30 or so fanciful gargoyles, chimaeras, grotesques or what-have-you for the gutter system atop the gothic structure. And Dean Francis B. Sayre Jr. invites imaginative sculptors to create them.

Dean Sayre carefully noted that the gargoyle project is not a contest and no prizes are to be offered. The only satisfaction, should your model be picked, would be that your work would be carved into the stone fabric of the cathedral "to remain there through the ages."

Gargoyles are ornamental water spouts that throw water from the roof gutters high up on the cathedral walls. In medieval days they were put on cathedrals to represent evil spirits and to remind passersby of the threats of the Devil and the safety of the church.

★ ★ ★

Photographs of any work to be submitted should be sent to the Clerk of the Works, Washington Cathedral, Washington 16, D. C.

Dr. Dunham Appointed Chief Trustee at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Dr. Douglas Dunham has been named head of the Michigan State University Department of Social Science by the MSU Board of Trustees.

He succeeds Dr. Walter R. Fee who will continue as head of the Department of History.

Dr. Dunham, a native of Wessington Springs, S.D., holds two degrees from the University of Michigan.

Paraplegic Can Hunt and Farm

Michigan Man Is Able to Do Most Everything He Did Earlier

TUSTIN, (UPI) — William Oeverman Jr. is determined to keep up with the rigorous job of farming — and his favorite sport of hunting — despite a crippling setback.

The 36-year-old Oeverman has been a paraplegic for two years. His back was broken and he was permanently paralyzed from the waist down in a tractor accident.

But this fall, Oeverman made a giant stride back to normal activity when a new tractor arrived at his farm. The vehicle has hand controls, protective roll bars and a safety belt.

The tractor will permit Oeverman to work on a cooperative basis with his neighbors. They will do much of the hand work on his farm and in return he will use his tractor on their land.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, a special permit from the State Conservation Department allows Oeverman to go hunting right from his car. "I'm not really at a big disadvantage," he says. "I've got a radio, heater and roof over me while the other hunters have to be out in the cold."

Oeverman also has a saddle horse on the farm which can take him where his wheelchair won't. He can accomplish this by hooking himself to either side of the saddle with leather straps.

Unchaperoned Mingling Sought in MSU Housing

EAST LANSING (AP)—A bill to permit unchaperoned, but limited, mingling of the sexes in university-approved housing facilities has been filed in the student congress at Michigan State University.

Under the measure, students of both sexes would be allowed to mix in living rooms and lobbies of housing units if at least three members of one sex or the other were present. Guests would be required to leave by 10:30 p.m. on weekdays and 12:30 p.m. on weekends.

The university congress has referred the bill to its students' rights and welfare committee.

Even if it passes the student legislature, it can't go into effect without approval of Tom King, dean of students. And, King is on record as not particularly favoring the measure.

King Saud, Feisal Fuss, Feud

Arab Nation Teeters on Tempers

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The future stability of Saudi Arabia depends on agreement between two brothers who often disagree. They are amiable, free-spending King Saud and dour, tight-fisted Crown Prince Feisal.

These are the two oldest living sons of the fabulous old Lion of Arabia, King Abdul Aziz, known to the west as Ibn Saud. The old king left his sons the strongest, most secure kingdom Arabia has known in a thousand years, with oil revenues so great as to seem unlimited.

Today it is clear the two brothers must hang together or hang separately.

Without Feisal's austere hand on the financial throttle, the country is likely to run into economic chaos. And without Saud's internal political skill, the dynasty may lose the support of the tribes who are its main backers.

Even so, the brothers disagree so often that they've reached a breaking point three times in a year and a half.

Saudi Arabia has heavy American investment through the Arabian American Oil Co. (ARAMCO). The U.S. Air Force has an air base at Dhahran.

This correspondent has just returned from a visit to the country, which admits correspondents infrequently.

Feisal — a sick man who has known pain for most of his life — was in hospitals in Europe but telephoning daily to try to keep the country's finances in order.

Saud had taken off on a trip through the desert north of Riyadh for the Saudi equivalent of a baby-kissing political tour. He visited mudhut villages and bedouin tents, accepting hospitality of the highest and lowest and rewarding them with gifts of cash, with specially arranged marriages to link families to the house of Saud, or with new social and economic benefits.

On the tour Saud inaugurated six new hospitals in the Kaseem district alone. In those oil-financed hospitals any Saudi gets free medical care.

Just before his departure in October Feisal, who is Premier, had his latest quarrel with Saud. Feisal wanted to appoint an acting premier in his absence. Saud insisted this was unnecessary and that he would handle the government himself while Feisal was away.

October Building Falls by 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The value of new construction completed in October declined by 5 per cent partly because of the steel strike, the Commerce Department said Thursday. It amounted to $4,800,000,000.

Both private and public construction slumped for the month, showing a more - than - normal change.

However, the October total was 1 per cent above the corresponding figure for October 1958.

The value of private construction last month was $3,400,000,000, a decrease of 4 per cent from September. Private housing construction, which amounted to two billion dollars, also dipped 4 per cent. Public building spending declined 7 per cent in October to $1,400,000,000.

However, the department said construction expenditures in the first 10 months of this year totaled nearly 46 billion dollars, an increase of 13 per cent over the 1958 figures.

Panama Asking That Flag Fly Special Day

PANAMA (AP) — Members of Panama's National Assembly suggested Wednesday night that the Panamanian flag be flown alongside the U.S. flag in the Canal Zone during the country's Independence Day celebration Nov. 28.

The suggestion was made at a meeting with U.S. Sen. George Aiken R-Vt as a possible way to avoid anti-American violence such as occurred Nov. 3.

More than 80 persons were injured when a crowd of nationalists clashed with U.S. Canal Zone police, soldiers and Panamanian guardsmen in an unsuccessful attempt to plant the Panamanian flag in the Zone.

Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, met President Ernest de la Guardia Jr. and Foreign Minister Miguel Moreno to discuss current tensions between Panama and the United States.

Future Sun Test Thor Fired Over Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An intermediate range Thor, like the missile which will attempt to boost a satellite into orbit around the sun next month, was launched on a full-range test flight Thursday.

There was no official announcement on the result of the test, in which the Thor was to drop a simulated warhead off the island of Antigua, 1,500 miles away.

Afro-Asian Plea Problem in U.N.

West May Be Split Over Policy Toward French Sahara A-Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A lively debate shaped up today in the General Assembly on an Asian-African resolution opposing French atomic tests in the Sahara Desert.

A key group of delegates faced the choice of offending France or making an exception for her after going on record Thursday night against further nuclear weapon tests.

The showdown is slated after the assembly gives quick and unanimous approval to a U.S.-Soviet proposal to turn all disarmament proposals over to the 10-nation East-West conference opening in Geneva in February.

The disarmament resolution is sponsored by all 82 members, so their approval in the assembly is a formality.

Lola Albright in Hospital With Nerve Condition

Her doctor said the pains apparently were caused by nerve irritations in her chest. The blonde co-star of the "Peter Gunn" television series was taken to a hospital Thursday and is expected to remain there several days.

hould Replace Nike-Zeus

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—By 1955, e Department of Defense exects to have a guided missile at will shoot down a satellite. The object: to destroy enemy tellites — and, eventually, ene- space platforms—that spy from e sky. These missiles also will designed to blast enemy missile-unching satellites, triggered to e on the U.S. in time of war.

Details of the new missile sysem haven't been worked out et. It will be at least six months efore Radio Corporation of merica—which has been given $600,000 "detailed-study" conract—comes up with the preminary concepts. Research for he past six months on the projct has been aimed at proving 's a practical idea.

The ideas that have been worked t so far are secret for the most rt. This much is known:

The missile will be designed to bserve" the enemy satellite, ee" what it's doing—by radar, fra-red, or some other as-yet-known device. It will send that formation to the earth. It will ve some sort of "homing" de-ce — maybe infra-red — to help ide it to the enemy satellite. t a major share of its guidance ll be from the earth.

★ ★ ★

There's one big bonus inherent the new system. Though degned to hit satellites, this sysn is likely, defense men think, replace Nike-Zeus. And, furermore, it's likely to replace e Nike anti-missile even before at multi-billion dollar network fully installed and operating.

Some Pentagon planners think e new missile may be the forenner of a new series of guided issiles that could begin to reace ballistic missiles in the late 60's.

Despite the increase in funds eing asked of Congress for the ike-Zeus system of defense gainst Soviet ballistic missiles, he Department of Defense is go-g ahead on the assumption that y the time the Nike-Zeus sysem is fully operational someme in the middle 1960's it aleady will be largely ineffectual gainst the advanced missiles he Russians will have by then.

The thinking in the Pentagon is at by the mid 1960's, Soviet misles are likely to be of a type at change their course. They'll ther be some sort of zigzag misle, or a type that gradually veers om a predictable ballistic course. nd, worse yet, the Red missiles then are likely to come in from ch a high altitude that Nike-Zeus will be impractical as a defense.

By the end of the 1960's, these Pentagon military scientists expect, both the Russians and the U.S. will be able to launch missiles with hydrogen warheads from some sort of space platform.

The virtues of the new missile system will be these:

1) It will be able to seek out and destroy enemy ballistic missiles that zig and zag or otherwise change their course.

2) It will be able to catch and blast enemy ballistic missiles fired from Russian space platforms hundreds of miles up in the sky—and catch them high enough to protect the U.S. from high-in-the-sky atomic blasts.

This anti-satellite missile will not be cheap. An operational system would cost in the billions. Probably a lot of billions. But Defense Department men hope to make some savings by incorporating in the system as much as possible from present-day missiles, guidance systems, defense radar and communications.

They're working, in fact, on seeing how much they'll be able to salvage from the Nike-Zeus system to use in this project, if and when Nike-Zeus is installed and this new system is ready to go.

So it's not likely that all the Nike-Zeus construction funds will go down the drain.

U.S. Toy Business Quite Profitable

TESTING POLITICAL WINDS—Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.), stumping across the plains of Kansas today, is shown Thursday with former President Truman at the Truman Library in Independence, Mo. Kennedy told about 1,000 at a Wichita, Kans., fund raising dinner that he'll decide in December whether to run for President.

Federal Plan Assures Cranberries for Holiday

The government Thursday assured housewives they didn't have to worry about including cranberries in their Thanksgiving menus —if the berries they buy are labeled as being safe.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming told berry shoppers to look for one of these labels:

1. "Examined and passed by the Food and Drug Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

2. "Certified safe under the plan approved by the U.S. government for cranberries." This statement must be signed by the packer distributor who has the testing done in line with government procedures, Flemming said.

★ ★ ★

Misuse of the labels will be regarded as a crime, the secretary added.

Cranberry industry spokesmen assured housewives there will be plenty of certified berries for the holidays.

The cranberry scare developed last week when Flemming told a news conference that traces of a weed killer had been found on some berries grown in the Pacific Northwest. He said the weed killer, Aminotriazole, had produced cancer when fed to laboratory test rats.

ARTHUR S. FLEMMING

A big inspection program was started last week. Since then, the government has instituted seizure actions against eight shipments of cranberries on the grounds they were tainted with Aminotriazole. The latest seizure action came Thursday in Atlanta against a small lot of fresh Wisconsin cranberries.

Although Flemming advised last week against consumption of cranberries until the situation was cleared up, there was no general ban against cranberry sales. There still is nothing to prevent the sales of berries not bearing the labels approved Thursday by the government.

As for cans or small lots of cranberries already on pantry shelves, the government said individuals would have to decide whether they wanted to take the risk involved in eating them.

One official said it would cost from $25 to $50 to test a package of cranberries that cost only about 25 cents.

Sodium Cloud Test Flops Second Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second day in a row rocket scientists failed to release a cloud of sodium vapor 150 miles above Wallops Island, Va. The rocket worked fine, but again the sodium did not eject as planned.

The same thing happened Thursday at dawn when civilian space scientists lofted a two-stage Nike-Asp rocket to 160 miles, but got no spectacular cloud of vapor.

Only the first of the series of three sodium cloud experiments —at dusk Wednesday — worked correctly. That cloud caught the sunlight above the earth's shadow and the flare was visible as far north as Worcester, Mass.

No more sodium rockets are scheduled at this time at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration installation at Wallops Island.

Today's rocket reached a height of 147 miles, NASA said, "but sodium ejection was not observed. Cause of the failure was not determined."

★ ★ ★

Series E Bond Owners Can Swap 'Em for Hs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Owners of the popular series E savings bonds will be given a chance to swap them for series H bonds, which pay interest twice a year.

Those who make the switch will be able to postpone paying taxes on the interest they've earned on their E bonds. This interest is collected—and taxed—only when the bond matures or is redeemed. Its exchange for the series H bond would delay the due date of the tax until the new bond matures.

The Treasury announced Thursday that, starting next Jan. 1, anyone who owns E bonds may exchange them at any time for H bonds. The offer also is being made to owners of series F and J savings bonds—types no longer sold.

Officials believe hundreds of thousands of people will make the switch. Altogether, between 35 and 40 million Americans own E bonds.

The swap offer, authorized by Congress last summer, is expected to appeal particularly to retired people who would like to receive regular interest checks to supplement their income.

Both E and H bonds pay 3¾ per cent interest if held until they mature. The H bonds mature in 10 years and are issued in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

Details of the exchange procedure will be announced next month.

The Treasury announced also that $1,606,000,000 of series F and G savings bonds which mature next year may be swapped for treasury notes which mature May 15, 1964.

Will Be Sixth Country on Ike's Tour

Iran Is Desert Wonderland of Antiquity

By United Press International

Its very name, the one it bore for 3,000 years, is one to conjure with —Persia.

* * *

Its ruler is one of the world's most handsome monarchs, Shah-In-Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, 40. His sad quest for a male heir to Persia's peacock throne has been all romance and fairy-tale sadness: Princess Fawzia, the beauteous Princess Soraya, and now—with an engagement announcement expected any minute—the young, doe-eyed Farah Diba.

These in succession have shared or will share as queen one of the world's oldest thrones, once occupied by such names of legend as Darius, Xeres, Cyrus and Artaxerxes.

Once the rulers of the peacock throne held sway over an empire stretching from Greece to India, from Russia to Libya. Within the past 10 years, its occupant has had trouble holding his own palace.

Today Iran is the bullseye of the Middle East target for Russian propaganda and attack. But tumult is nothing new to Persia. It has been threatened, fought over and divided by Romans, Greeks, Arabs, Tamerlane's Mongols, British, Russians and Mohammed Mossadegh.

Premier Mossadegh, nationalizing oil in 1951, managed to toss out both British influence and the shah. A three-day revolt brought the shah back and clapped Mossadegh in jail.

Since then, while the world has watched the shah's romances, Iran has stood up squarely to a barrage of Soviet threats. It camps on Russia's southern doorstep, blocking the way to the Persian Gulf—and in March of this year it signed a defense treaty with the United States.

Iran's 19,000,000 people are spread over a desert area bigger than Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado combined. Oil gushes from five major fields at the rate of 750,000 barrels a day. Yet further resources go a-begging: Persia's potential oil reserves are considered the largest in the Middle East.

* * *

Still an agricultural country in spite of its oil and desert, Iran produces grains, wool, tobacco, cotton and Persian carpets.

Ruins of its former greatness stud its plateau: Persepolis, the capital Darius built; the palace of Cyrus at Pasargadae; the immense reliefs of Naksh-I-Rustam.

Iran was an absolute monarchy until 1906, is a constitutional monarchy now. Its army is tough and strong, its people independent and Moslem, its future hard but promising.

TWO-WHEELER is still a favorite Christmas present, both for the giver and the receiver. This is a middleweight model.

Ramps Now Opened

Pretty Face Not Everything—Abby

Trust Your Heart to Know if He Really Loves You Now

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A year ago Thanksgiving my boyfriend and I were in a bad accident. He was driving and I was beside him. The other boy in the front seat was killed. My boyfriend was hardly scratched.

I was in the hospital five months with a broken back and fractured skull. My face was terribly cut up. Half of it still looks like raw meat. I lost my eye on that side. I can't stand to look at myself in the mirror

ABBY

My boyfriend (who is 20) keeps saying he wants to marry me when I am 18. (I am 17½.) He works days and goes to school nights to be a mechanic.

Here is my problem: I am afraid the only reason he wants to marry me is because he feels guilty about what happened to me, and he knows nobody else would marry me the way I look. Please help me do the right thing, Abby. I love him so much. But I don't want him to marry me out of pity.

WANTS LOVE, NOT PITY

DEAR WANTS LOVE: Depend on your heart to tell you if your boyfriend really loves you. The chances are, he does. Plastic surgeons have been known to perform miraculous surgery in cases like yours, so don't despair. But remember, the spiritual beauty of courage, goodness and determination is far more lasting than a pretty face.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have followed your column every day since it started in our paper and not once have I known you to recommend or approve divorce. Don't you think, Abby, it is far better for a couple to get a divorce and try to find a better mate, than to raise children in an atmosphere of quarreling, hostility and strain? Be fair, Abby.

FOR DIVORCE

DEAR FOR: Why must there be "an atmosphere of quarreling, hostility and strain?" Too many young people think that their marriage is one long honeymoon. When their dreamboat hits rough waters they cry "Shipwreck" and sailed home to Mamma. All couples who vow before God to love, honor and obey, have an obligation to fulfill that promise. There are no two people in the world who cannot live together in peace and harmony if they try hard enough.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I really hope you can do something about this because I am a 15-year-old boy who is feeling mighty low. I am sick and tired of calling girls for a date and having them say how much they would love to go and then they turn around and say to their mothers in a low voice, "Say no, I can't go!" Then they come back to the phone and apologize all over about how sorry they are. They could at least cover the phone. If I am wrong, please correct me.

TURNED DOWN

DEAR TURNED: You are not wrong! But don't be content with refusals (sincere or otherwise) as long as your feelings are spared. Buddy up to one of the girls and find out why you are turned down so consistently.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONNIE: Something fishy appears to be going on, but you'd be wise to keep your fins out of that hatchery.

★ ★ ★

What's your problem? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

In Iran They're 'Superior'

Pities Women's Fall to Equality

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

"We think it's a shame that American women have been pulled down from a position of superiority to prosaic equality," says suave, handsome Abdol Hossein Hamzavi, Iranian delegate to the United Nations.

"Women should be cherished, respected and shielded from all the unpleasant things of life — such as voting."

The polished diplomat speaks with conviction. He says that in his native land live some of the world's most beautiful, cultured and brilliant women, beloved by their husbands, revered by their sons—products of one of the world's oldest civilizations. He has little admiration for America's bustling career girls and working wives.

"In my country the majority of marriages are arranged by the parents, and they usually work far better than the effervescent and immature marriages of young couples in America," he says.

"Divorce is easy. A man has only to say three times, 'I divorce my wife,' and the deed is done. Yet statistics show our divorce rate to be about one-millionth of that of the Western world."

Can an Iranian woman obtain a divorce by the same simple process?

"Well, no," says Hamzavi. "Divorce is a man's responsibility—like other unpleasant things in life. But now, for the first time, an Iranian woman can get a divorce, by proving cause and establishing legal grounds, through the courts. It's harder for her, but possible."

"We feel that family education is far more important than anything else," says he. "In an Iranian family the mother is the final and absolute authority. Her word is law. As an ambassador, aged 48, I would not dare to sit in the presence of my mother until she bade me do so.

"We have no juvenile delinquency in my country. We don't even have such a word in the Iranian language. There is no need for it, because juvenile crime is unknown there. We believe in child discipline."

Iran will celebrate in 1960 the 25th anniversary of the lifting of the veil. Although Iranian women still do not vote or hold public office, there are many Iranian girls in colleges both at home and abroad, studying for the professions.

"We always have felt that a man and a woman constitute a whole — and the woman is the heart of the matter," Hamzavi says. "Please don't think I am criticizing all American women—I just feel sorry for them. In their constant striving for equal rights, in their frantic competition in the business world, so few attain happiness."

If any exercise leaves you feeling exhausted, you are exercising too much. Take exercise for several short periods rather than one long one.

Break Up Exercise

Reader Asking for Miracle

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Question Box)

Q. "I know we must suffer to be beautiful but can't you please give me an exercise to increase my bust and reduce my lower hips and not leave me exhausted? I want something which will give me some results within a month so that I can see the improvement and be encouraged to keep up the exercises."

A. Brother, this gal wants it easy! If any exercise leaves you feeling exhausted, you are exercising too much. Take exercise for several short periods rather than one long one. You will get the same results in slimming. You also should have your heart and blood pressure checked.

Increasing the bust measurement takes longer than hip slimming. You may notice no difference after a month. However, if you are faithful about your hip slimming exercises, you will see a happy change in a month's time in that measurement.

I have given exercises for these proportions recently so if you (or any reader) would like to have bust-developing or hip-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to me in care of this newspaper.

Q. "How can a person tell if he is headed for a nervous breakdown? I read that usually they cannot sleep, become irritable, turn against loved and trusted relatives, lose their appetite and so forth. How can you cope with this situation when a person becomes hostile at the mention of nerves?"

A. A sudden change in a person's disposition and outlook suggests some physical cause. This often happens at menopause because of the changing hormone set-up. It may be due to actual nervous exhaustion due to pushing oneself too hard for too long, or from some organic or systemic trouble.

Such a person badly needs to see a physician for a check-up. The doctor may feel that the patient needs psychological help. The symptoms you mention can be due to an impending breakdown. Depression, insomnia, extreme sensitiveness, a chronic state of apprehension, great fatigue and irritability may be warnings. A real nervous breakdown is a serious thing and the road back is often long, so use great sympathy and tenderness in trying to get the individual you describe to a physician.

Q. "Why is it better for a woman not to get too much sun, in fact very little direct sun, when she is going through menopause?"

A. I never have heard of this before. I wonder if you are thinking about the fact that middle-aged women often acquire unattractive brown spots and pigmentation on their hands, neck and face, when exposed to very much direct sunlight. So far as I know this has nothing to do with menopause except that menopause occurs at middle age.

List Name Correctly and Hope

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how to correctly handle the following situation: We have recently moved to a small town. I have always called myself Mrs. John Brown, and cannot bear to be called Mrs. Jane. As far as I can tell most of the women here prefix Mrs. to their own first names.

"My question is, how can I join in community activities and avoid having Mrs. tacked on to my Christian name in club listings. The problem is further complicated by the fact that my husband holds a rather important position in this small town, so I must be very careful not to give the impression of being a snob. Is there a tactful way to cope with this problem?"

Answer: Your wish to be known as Mrs. John Brown is definitely correct. But as a newcomer you cannot set yourself up as a critic of an established community custom without endangering your popularity. You can give your own name as Mrs. John Brown but if they do not choose to follow this form in their listings, then I am afraid you will have to submit to Mrs. Jane — at least, until you have become an established member of the community. Then you explain that you happen to dislike your own name and do like to be called by your husband's.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently we attended a nurses' graduation which was held in a well-known church in this city. As the graduates marched in to the church to the processional played by the church organist, the members of our party stood up along with a few others, while the majority remained seated."

Answer: You were correct in showing courtesy to the graduates by standing.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to insert a letter, or note, into the envelope? Should the folded edge be inserted first or the open edge?"

Answer: The folded edge is inserted first.

Child Resents Manipulating of Social Life

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The summer that I was 12 my parents gave a party for some visiting young-lady cousins. Among the guests was the 22-year-old, attractive son of a neighbor. I was secretly in love with him.

As a special favor I was allowed to stay up to watch the dancing. Mostly I watched Cal. He danced very well. As he whirled one or the other of my young lady cousins out of the living room to our screened porches and back again I felt less envy of them than pride in him.

Then it happened. As my mother was filling a punch glass for him I saw her whisper to him. Startled, he looked over at me where I sat pig-tailed and gingham-dressed, and I knew exactly what my mother had said to him. She'd said:

But I wasn't having any commandeered attention. When Cal approached me on the errand of mercy I didn't want, I jumped to my feet, said, "Oh no, thank you," and fled to my room with my wounded pride.

Though I knew that my mother had tried to improve my social life with the best of intentions, I was furious with her for doing it without consulting my feelings about it.

Nor do I think I was a particularly sensitive child.

My response to this effort to manipulate my social life may be interesting to a Mrs. D. who writes:

"We have just moved to a town where we have no friends. What do you think of my giving a party for our 14-year-old girl so that other youngsters will begin to invite her to theirs?"

I think you should first discuss this manipulative party with her before you give it. She may prefer to attract friends by her own merits instead of by her mother's skill in giving parties.

MOTHER FIRST

Perhaps the best way to improve a child's social life is to start improving our own. Why doesn't Mrs. D. make a point of joining her PTA? When she's made the friends she lacks herself, the idea of combining on a youngsters' party could be the natural result of her mutual interests with other parents. And her daughter would be spared the impression that she alone needs her social life improved.

It is our shyness in seeking new friends that is often reflected in children's shyness.

She Can Rationalize to Any End

Shopping Is Woman's Release

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—This will come as no surprise to the man who foots the bills. But one sales expert says a lot of feminine buying is for self-reward.

"Reward for what?" I asked Howard M. Cowee, vice president of marketing for a lingerie manufacturer and a former professor of marketing at New York University.

"Well, then call it self-indulgence," Cowee replied.

Cowee released the results of a study he and regional managers did in 103 stores across the country. The managers talked with sales personnel and unearthed some interesting buying patterns:

★ ★ ★

—Psychological factors rather than need are the motivation of 60 per cent of yearly purchases.

—More Americans are buying discretionary items not when required, but when they're in the mood.

—Women buy as a self-reward.

—Most females today believe they're entitled to the best.

In an interview, Cowee talked of the "splurge market" in which the notion that foreign cars, swimming pools and mink coats are the exclusive right of the rich is as out-moded as the bustle.

Our high level of national income is responsible partly for this new extravagance, said Cowee. Snob appeal is a factor. So is the desire to be "an individual."

EXTRAVAGANCE PRONE

"Like the man who buys monogrammed ties or shirts," he said. "Or a sports car. Or moves from hi-fi on to stereo. Or, the woman who wants mink to LINE a coat instead of wearing the fur on the outside. Or, who buys jeweled or fur-trimmed sweaters. She has helped to make the boutiques—where higher priced, specialty items are featured—a big business for stores."

"We're extravagance prone, thank goodness," said Cowee. "Some economists would quarrel with me, but I think it is healthy. The more we spend for goods, the more we produce."

★ ★ ★

Cowee's firm, the M. C. Schrank Co., is so eager to take advantage of our self-indulgence it has launched a newspaper and magazine advertising theme, "You don't really need it, just want it."

The "just want it" items include nightwear for Milady, some trimmed in imported chantilly lace, some of it with Canadian white fox collar, costing up to $100.

Are women more inclined to splurge than men?

Cowee answered that most men "react to emotional 'appeal, but they usually reason before they buy."

"A woman can rationalize herself into almost any purchase," he said. "A fur coat, she tells herself, is warmer, will last longer. She ignores the fact that there is the cost of upkeep and it may not be warmer at all."

The marketing expert said extravagant buying no longer is seasonal—or a pre-holiday habit. Typical purchaser: "The little secretary who tells herself she has been good all week, so on Saturday she deserves a new hat or a new lamp for the apartment."

"Even Christmas buying is an inverted form of self-indulgence," said Cowee. "Builds the prestige of the giver, shows he can afford a costly gift, shows he has the taste to make such a selection."

Seek New Interests if You Want Friends

By RUTH MILLETT

Some of the saddest letters that come to this column are from persons who desperately want friends but can't seem to establish close friendships.

★ ★ ★

Some probably try too hard and so frighten others away by their own eagerness. Friendships are built slowly and can't be hurried.

Others probably choose the wrong persons to try to be friends with — those who are too busy, those who belong to a tight little social group, those who have nothing in common with the would-be friend, and so on.

Some friendless ones, perhaps, are so tense and unsure of themselves that they can't let their own personalities shine through and so lack naturalness and warmth.

The important thing for the person who finds it difficult to make friends is to be honest enough with himself to figure out why he is having trouble.

Then when he understands why he is failing, he can begin to correct his mistakes.

The mistakes might even be that the person has so few interests outside himself that he has little to offer others. If that is the case, he should concentrate on broadening his own interests — instead of worrying about making friends. When he has some new interests he will find that they lead to new acquaintances that can ripen into friends.

Not being able to make friends is no small problem — for all of us need friends. But it is never a hopeless problem for the person who is willing to ask himself, "What am I doing wrong?" and then corrects his mistakes.

Offer Just Rearrangement — McDonald

Union Refusal Dims Steel Peace Hope

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Hopes for a settlement in the nationwide steel dispute were dimmer today after the United Steelworkers spurned the newest proposal of the basic steel industry.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, disclosed the new offer Thursday. He said it was a "fair offer to do what can be done and still keep within noninflationary bounds in the cost of steel production."

★ ★ ★

USW President David J. McDonald, termed the proposal as "something only a company-controlled union would accept." He said the offer was just a rearrangement of "the same old package offered by the industry on Oct. 17."

The new offer was submitted to the union Nov. 15 during secret negotiations between both sides. McDonald said the union's 33-member executive board turned it down the same day.

Had the proposal been accepted, said Cooper, it would have meant a 30-cent-an-hour package over a three year period. He added that the new offer also tempered industry demands for more say over working conditions.

McDonald disagreed, claiming that the proposal would mean a gain of only 24 cents an hour over the three year period.

"The only changes in the work rules issue are a stay of sentence in the same old attempt to deprive steelworkers of hard won gains and protections," McDonald declared.

"The offer is almost the same proposition which the companies had made in October and which was rejected by the full wage policy committee as recently as Nov. 12th," he added.

Industry estimated that the new proposal provided an increase of 6-10 of a cent an hour over the 29.4 cent hourly package offered by the industry on Oct. 17 in another three-year proposal.

Cooper also added that the new offer contained improvements in employment benefits and a new plan for resolving the working conditions issue. The industry, he said, proposed that the work rules issue be turned over to a committee with equal industry and union representation.

This committee would have had until June 30, 1960, to resolve the issue. If not settled by then, the dispute would go to binding arbitration.

Cooper said the new offer also called for the companies to take over the entire cost of health and life insurance now paid for jointly by management and the workers.

The steelworkers, now working under a Taft-Hartley law injunction invoked Nov. 7, are earning an average hourly wage of $3.11 under terms of their old contract.

The injunction stipulates that the National Labor Relations Board conduct a secret ballot among the steelworkers between Jan. 5 and Jan. 20, if the steel dispute is not settled. The workers will vote on the last industry proposal.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A controversial new set of farm labor regulations will go into effect late next month Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell announced last night.

The rules apply to farmers who hire domestic farm labor through the Federal-State Employment Service.

The regulations would require employers using this service to provide farm workers with prevailing wages, housing and working conditions, and transportation.

Horticultural Agent to Retire

Bloomfield Twp. Man Served 10 Southeastern Michigan Counties

After 29 years of service with Michigan State University, Karl D. Bailey of Bloomfield Township, district horticultural agent for 10 counties in southeastern Michigan, will retire Jan. 31.

His retirement was announced today by Lyle B. Abel, MSU's Cooperative Extension Service director for Oakland County.

Bailey joined the extension service staff as Oakland County agricultural agent in 1931 after teaching vocational agriculture at Holly. He has been southeastern horticultural agent for 10 years.

He earned his B.S. degree at MSU in 1921 and took postgraduate work at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Bailey organized the first county-wide 4-H Fair in Oakland County, the Oakland County Soil Conservation District and the Southeastern Michigan Fruit Growers' Society.

He recently developed a program for the selection and improvement of parent stock for the forced rhubarb industry.

He also is the author of "Agriculture in Oakland County," a land-use publication.

Bailey has been president of the Michigan Association of County Agricultural Agents and was awarded the distinguished service certificate by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents in 1948.

In recent years he has utilized his annual leave for the collection of natural history material for the university museums at Ann Arbor and East Lansing and the Cranbrook Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills.

He and his wife Elizabeth and two sons reside at 5275 N. Adams Rd. near Birmingham.

Mother Tosses Baby From Fire to Tragic Death

WICHITA FALLS, Tex (UPI) — Mrs. Margie Sweeten, her flimsy nightgown in flames, tossed her three-months-old baby to his death today from the second floor of an apartment house engulfed by fire.

A fireman caught her other child. But bystanders thought the baby was a doll she was trying to save. It landed on its head on concrete pavement.

The charred body of a man was found in the gutted 32-apartment white frame building. He was not immediately identified. Mrs. Sweten was hospitalized.

Timber Production Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Forest Service says timber production in 1959 will total 11,200,000,000 cubic feet of wood. The figure is 9 per cent above last year.

Should Have Followed Spray Directions

Growers Share Fault in Cranberry Scare

By JOHN W. BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The great fuss stirred up by the discovery that a weed killing spray can contaminate cranberries raises a question about the use of chemicals elsewhere in agriculture.

★ ★ ★

Aminotriazole, involved in the cranberry incident, is one of 56,500 chemical formulations registered with the Department of Agriculture for use against insects, rodents, weeds and other pests that plague the farmer and home gardener.

How is the public health protected against any possible danger from these products?

A good way to arrive at the answer is to follow the brief history of aminotriazole, a synthetic chemical containing carbon, hydrogen and nitrogen atoms in an arrangement figured out by the American Cyanamid Co.

Before it can put a pesticide or other agricultural chemical on the market a manufacturer must register a label with the Department of Agriculture telling how the product is to be used.

★ ★ ★

The department first heard of aminotriazole in 1955 when American Cyanamid asked that it be approved for use against weeds in pastures and areas where no crops are grown.

★ ★ ★

The following year, after many tests conducted both by the manufacturer and by the government, the department allowed the company to register a label specifying the spray could be used on lawns, along roadsides and other noncrop areas, but not on pastures where cattle grazed.

In February 1957, the company proposed that aminotriazole's use be broadened to include cranberry bogs, corn fields, soybean fields and apple and pear orchards. Ten months later the department said okay on the corn fields, but turned down the other suggested uses. And for corn, it could be used only before the crop was planted.

After still more tests the department permitted the company in 1958 to register a label specifying aminotriazole's use in cranberry bogs—a week to 10 days after the harvest. Still another revision last month okayed it for apple and pear orchards—either before the fruit forms or after it has been picked.

★ ★ ★

Thus for four years there has been constant testing of the product by both the manufacturer and the government. In addition, state experimental stations with any knowledge of the spray were closely questioned by the Department of Agriculture.

MUST BE CLEARED

But that's not all.

Any spray intended for use on a food crop needs to be cleared by the Food and Drug Administration. This agency of the Health, Education and Welfare Department must grant a tolerance—in other words fix the amount of the chemical that may safely be left on a crop in the form of residue.

It is up to the manufacturer to conduct the research on which the FDA bases its decision. Such research can be long and costly. It generally requires two years of testing with laboratory animals to discover if a product has harmful effects.

In the case of aminotriazole company scientists established that rats fed large quantities of the chemical developed cancer of the thyroid. The FDA refused to grant a tolerance and when residue was discovered in parts of the 1959 crop, the cranberry crisis erupted

USER RESPONSIBLE

This case history shows that no matter how carefully the government watches over the marketing of a new pesticide, some of the ultimate responsibility for seeing that it is not harmful lies with the individual who uses it.

Aminotriazole was never supposed to touch a cranberry. The manufacturer clearly specified this on the label. If the directions had been followed, the cranberry growers would have spent their usual enjoyable Thanksgiving.

The same is true of all the other sprays on the market. The Department of Agriculture continually checks them, taking them off store shelves to see if the manufacturer is maintaining the specified standards. State and county agents are in close touch with farmers, advising them how to use the new chemical products.

★ ★ ★

But there is no policing of the individual farm to see just how the spray is used. The government can extend its protective arm only so far.

★ ★ ★

A Department of Agriculture official who works closely with the pest control problem provides probably the best answer to the question of how the public health can be protected against the chemical sprays.

★ ★ ★

"We'd have a devil of a time digging up one case where anything went wrong if directions were followed," he says.

Auto Mishap Breaks Rochester Boy's Leg

ROCHESTER — A 10-year-old Rochester boy suffered a broken leg when he was hit by a car yesterday on West University drive near Helen street.

The driver of the car was Howard R. Guelker, 30, of 2116 Crane St., Pontiac. He said he saw the boy, blew his horn, but the boy seemed to "freeze" in his tracks. Guelker was not held.

The youth was taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

Boost Pork Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department announced yesterday that it had purchased 4,524,000 pounds of pork and gravy in its effort to bolster hog prices by taking pork and lard off the market.

PARADE ATTRACTION — The "Rae-vens," all-girl precision drill team from Pontiac, will be one of the featured attractions in Rochester's ninth annual Christmas parade Dec. 5. Sponsored by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce, the event also will be highlighted by the appearance of Santa Claus riding in a pony-drawn sleigh. The Rae-vens' color guard is shown above.

Rochester Yule Parade Brings Santa Here Early

He will ride his sleigh down Main street Dec. 5, only it will be pulled by ponies from the John F. Ivory Estate in White Lake Township.

(Santa's reindeer are resting up at the North Pole for Christmas Night when they traditionally whisk jolly old St. Nick on his rounds.)

Each year the Rochester parade gets bigger and better. Already, entries are pouring in, according to Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce members, sponsors of the event this year.

More than 40 entries have registered so far, said Thor Ulseth, parade chairman.

These include bands from Avondale High School and Rochester Junior and Senior high schools plus floats entered by local service clubs and merchants.

Other participants will be the Buick "Liberty Drum and Bugle Corps" from Flint, the "Rae-vens," all-girl precision drill team from Pontiac and popular television star, "Sagebrush Shorty" riding his horse, "Snooper."

Two Nike missiles, one from the installation at Auburn Heights, the other from the Utica site, will be included in the line of march.

The parade will form at 2 p.m. at North Hill Plaza, proceed down Main street to Third street, then turn up Walnut street to the American Legion Hall where it will disband.

Coffee and hot chocolate will be served to all participants in the hall after the parade.

Predict Decrease in U.S., Canada Exports of Wheat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Department experts predicted today that U.S. and Canadian wheat exports would drop in the current marketing season.

Over-all world exports were not expected to change much. But there are larger supplies available for export in nations outside North America.

★ ★ ★

The experts pointed out that the United States and Canada have a vital interest in avoiding any serious breaks in world wheat prices. They said this meant the two countries would have to give ground to competition by reducing exports.

Commerce Methodists to Mark Anniversary

COMMERCE—Commerce Methodist Church will join in celebrating the 175th anniversary of the Methodist Church in America with a special service at 11 a.m. Sunday.

All four choirs of the church here will sing a commemorative hymn written for the occasion by the Rev. Donald Williams of North Andover, Mass.

The Rev. Perry Thomas, pastor, will preach on "Possessing a Goodly Heritage." There will be no 8 a.m. service Sunday.

Seek to Eliminate Residue From Milk

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has launched a drive to eliminate residues of penicillin and DDT from milk.

The FDA disclosed yesterday that orders to start the campaign went out to the agency's field offices last month. Officials said some milk samples probably already have been tested.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman said the residues were not considered an immediate public health problem. But he said they are illegal. If FDA inspectors find any interstate shipments of milk with penicillin or insecticide residues, the milk may be seized.

★ ★ ★

Before the enforcement campaign was ordered, the FDA, the Agriculture Department and farm organizations conducted an educational campaign to convince farmers of the need for care in the use of penicillin and insecticides.

Three Proposals Up for Decision

Officials Say Approval Necessary to Continue Present Standards

FARMINGTON — Voters here will be asked Monday to approve three separate school proposals in order to continue the same type of education program presently set up in the Farmington School District, according to the School Board.

The School Citizens Advisory Committee has recommended approval of all three propositions after a study was completed of the area's school needs.

The first proposition asks that voters approve transfer of $463,000 from a previous $1,300,000 bond issue for an addition to the O. E. Dunckel Junior High School building.

Money for this construction is available except for a legal technicality.

Use of bond issue money approved by voters in another election is illegal unless approval is given by voters to have it transferred.

Proposition two asks voters to approve a $3,000,000 bond issue to defray the cost of erecting and furnishing a new junior-senior high school building and new elementary school buildings.

WOULD CUT COST

The bond issue would help also in cutting the cost of erecting and furnishing additions to existing school buildings and acquiring school sites and additions to school sites, the School Board stated.

School officials claim the money is required immediately to satisfy anticipated classroom needs in 1961 and 1962.

They said it takes a minimum of 18 months from the time a bond issue is approved by voters until new classrooms can be ready for occupancy.

No increase in the 1959 tax rate of $12 per $1,000 in assessed state equalized valuation will be necessary to meet the payments on the $3 million bond issue, school authorities said.

They said by the time the first payment comes due in 1961, they estimate that it will be possible to reduce rates on previously approved bond issues enough to offset the rate that would be added by the $3 million bond issue.

The third proposition calls for an increase of $2 per $1,000 in assessed valuation for a period of five years to pay part of the school district's operating expenses.

LEVY PRESENTLY $16.52

The present operation millage tax levy is $16.52. It was estimated that the proposed two mill increase would provide $140,000 in additional operating money.

Teacher's salaries account for a major portion of the operating expenses.

School officials said a considerable portion of the money realized from the two mill increase would go to improve the entire teachers' salary schedule.

Approval of all three proposals would result in a tax increase of $16 a year for the average taxpayer, school authorities estimate.

This is based on an average home having a state equalized valuation of $8,000.

All registered electors will be permitted to vote on proposition three.

Only taxpayers will be permitted to vote on Proposition I and H.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday at the Farmington Junior High School, 33000 Thomas St. and at Dunckel Junior High School, 32800 Twelve Mile Rd.

Government Is Paying to Close State Farms

OWOSSO (AP)—With overproduction and surpluses plaguing American agriculture and its farm markets, a growing number of farmers are voluntarily snapping the padlock on their farms and handing the key to the government to keep for three, five or 10 years.

★ ★ ★

The practice is being encouraged by the U.S. Department of Agriculture through its soil bank program. In return, the farmer is given a payment for each unused acre and left free to join the ranks of industry or seek some other form of livelihood.

Shiawassee County, which ranks high on the agricultural income list in Michigan, has seen closed-farm count jump from zero in 1956, the first soil bank year, to 67 in 1959.

The farms involved average about 100 acres. Their owners are either elderly couples who can augment their government payment with retirement income or young to early-middle-aged farmers who are beckoned by the financial security of a city job.

They apply for a farm shutdown through the conservation reserve program of the soil bank, administered on a county level by an Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The committee, elected at large from the county, will quote the maximum price-per-acre it considers equitable for the involved. If his application is approved, the farmer will be asked to declare the lowest payment per acre he can afford to quit farming.

When the county soil bank acreage quota is announced from Lansing in November, it is apportioned among farmers who require the lowest payments

Contracts are then signed stipulating the farm will be left dormant for three, five or 10 years. Nothing can be harvested and livestock grazing is not allowed.

The national average for acreage payments in 1959 was $13.50. Michigan was paid on an average of $15. Shiawassee County, with better than standard farmland, drew an average of $16.50.

Payments to any one farm were limited to $5,000.

The government's attitude toward closed farms was delicately indicated in 1958 when it pushed up the national average payment $3.50 an acre.

Under the conservation reserve program, farmers may shut down part of their land, receive proportionate pay, and farm the remainder. But A.S.C. administrators would rather it be all or nothing, encouraging total shutdowns with a slightly higher payment.

Once "out of production," the farm owner must plant his land with what the conservationists call "cover." This can be either grass, legumes, trees, bushes or forage crops for small game.

Government cost-sharing is available for seed, a minimum amount of fertilizer and labor and gasoline used for planting. The expenses are shared about 50-50.

Woodlots can be planted on the same basis if the land is retired for the full 10 years. In some instances approval under cost sharing will be given for damming streams as a refuge for water animals and fowl.

Although the conservation reserve program is not designed to make the farmer rich, the fact that 1960 applications in Michigan are now almost three times the state's quota limit indicated it exerts a strong popular appeal.

ROCHESTER—The youth center and school addition to St. John Lutheran Church and School here, will be formally dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday, the Rev. W. G. Gerken, pastor, announced today.

★ ★ ★

Guest speaker at the special services, to be held in the new auditorium-gymnasium, will be the Rev. Dr. John F. Choitz, superintendent of Lutheran high schools, Detroit.

Others participating in this service will include Carl J. Oxford, chairman of the building committee; R. L. Williams, congregation president; Calvin King, chairman of the board for parish education, and the principal, Erwin G. Bauer.

Services of Thanksgiving also will be held Sunday morning, Thanksgiving Eve and Nov. 29, the Rev. Gerken said.

The Rev. W. Harry Kreiger, Traverse City, president of the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, will deliver the sermons at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday.

The addition was designed by Chance Enterprises, St. Clair Shores, and constructed of steel, cinder block and brick at a cost of more than $310,000.

General contractor was Joseph Palazzolo and Sons, Inc., Detroit.

The new facilities provide seven additional classrooms for the school, a library and conference room, two offices and a reception room, auditorium-gymnasium with stage, dressing rooms with showers, rest rooms and a heating plant.

St. John day school has an enrollment of 200 in grades one through eight. Students occupying temporary classrooms will move into their new quarters this week.

Some 500 are enrolled in the Sunday School.

The Rev. Gerken will preach the 7:30 Thanksgiving Eve service. The special community service is scheduled for 3 p.m. Nov. 29.

All services are open to the public.

Says Administration Fights Farm Props

DENVER, Colo (UPI)—The National Farmers Union charged today that the Eisenhower administration is trying to discredit all farm price supports.

The Farmers Union executive committee criticized the Administration's plan to ask Congress next year for reduced supports on wheat, tobacco and peanuts.

The farm organization said that the use of the term "price supports" to describe the Administration's proposals was "a fraud on the language."

The farmers which said "it is now obvious that the administration's only program is to pile failure on failure until all farm programs are completely discredited."

Lewis' UMW Brother Plans Drives in Chemical, Road Building Industries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A. D. (Dennie) Lewis, younger brother of John L. Lewis and head of United Mine Workers' District 50, said Thursday he plans stepped-up organizing drives in the chemical and highway construction industries.

★ ★ ★

He said a little-noticed effect of the new labor reform law will help enlist workers in District 50, a diversified Union including gas station attendants, taxi drivers and factory workers in its membership.

Under the new law, District 50 can petition for National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) elections in which workers choose bargaining representatives.

It was barred from doing so under the old Taft-Hartley act because John L. Lewis, UMW president, refused to sign the non-Communist affidavit required before the union could use the NLRB's facilities. The new law eliminated that requirement.

TAKES ADVANTAGE FAST

District 50 lost no time in taking advantage of the change. It has filed 57 election petitions since President Eisenhower signed the legislation on Sept. 14.

Dennie Lewis said District 50 already has won some important elections, including a Union Carbide Co. plant in Wheeling, W. Va., and a Dow Chemical Plant in Marquette, Mich.

The younger Lewis, who was named to his post on the recommendation of his brother, indicated that the multimillion-dollar treasury of the parent mine workers was available to back the organizing drive.

He said District 50 now has about 200,000 members—more than the number of miners now working in the soft coal fields who belong to the UMW.

"District 50 is on its way," the younger Lewis said in an interview. "We are willing to try to give the protection of a labor organization to anyone who sincerely asks us for it."

AFL-CIO and other independent unions long have accused District 50 of raiding their jurisdictions because of what they call its catch-all organizing tactics.

Dennie Lewis, who has the same features and bushy eyebrows that characterize his more famous brother, says District 50 is the Union that gets raided, however.

"More than 85 per cent of our members are in plants that were bypassed by other unions because they were too small, or too hard to get, or for other reasons," he said.

"After we organize a plant — we're raided."

Space Safety Cited by Russian

Scientist Says More Research Is Needed to Safeguard Life

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Russian scientist said Thursday that the Soviets have rockets powerful enough to put a man in space but that there is no plan to do this in the near future.

The scientist, Leonid I. Sedov, said that the possibility of manned flight in space is being investigated but that "this is not a thing to be done in the nearest future."

To carry out such a flight, he said, it is necessary to provide for the pilot's safety and for his return unharmed to earth.

He said problems involved in doing this can be solved but that the solutions will take time.

Sedov was asked whether Russia has a program, such as this country has, to develop a rocket with 1,500,000 pounds of thrust. His answer was "just now, no."

He did say, however, that the Soviet rockets on hand could carry out manned flight projects even though none will be attempted till the safety factors have been worked out.

Sale of License Tabs Gets Off to Slow Start

LANSING (UPI) — Auto license sales for the first 17 days of the 1960 license year were behind a comparative period of a year ago by nearly 25,700, the secretary of state's office said Thursday.

Sale of the 1960 tabs amounted to 70,612 for this month compared to 96,298 for last year's comparative period.

Congressman Proposes Step to Prevent Start of 'a Monstrous War'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A member of the House Space Committee proposed Thursday international registration of satellites to prevent possible triggering of "a monstrous war."

★ ★ ★

The proposal was made by Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario (D-Conn) at a space law session of the 14th annual meeting of the American Rocket Society.

Daddario, in proposing registration of satellites, said that it is imperative "that we find a form of world law to avert catastrophe."

"If we fail to achieve law and order as we venture into these uncharted fields," he said, "the cost will be immeasurable."

FEAR MISUNDERSTANDING

Others have expressed concern lest the launching of a peaceful scientific space vehicle be misinterpreted by another nation as the beginning of a missile attack.

"I would suggest," Daddario said, "the need of a basic law for registration of satellites to be launched. Such a registration, tied together with a proper checking system, could alleviate the great fear that every launching might lead to a monstrous war."

He also proposed international agreement on radio frequencies for space vehicles, liability for damage or injury caused by spacecraft, and return and landing of such vehicles.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr. (D-N.J.), a member of the House Judiciary Committee, also pleaded for an international space law.

"The conquest of space will be meaningless," he said, "if we merely project into this new arena our distrusts and tensions. It will mean our final disaster if we permit space to become a new battlefield."

Honor U. of M. Woman

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Irene E. Murphy, a member of the University of Michigan Board of Regents, will receive an award from Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia for her work in starting the Community Chest movement in the Philippines. Mrs. Murphy leaves next week to attend the presentation Dec. 4 at Manila.

The great flood of 1927 when the Mississippi broke its levees and spread over 20,000 square miles, caused extensive property losses estimated at $300 million.

Americans Spend $2 Billion on Candy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans spent two billion dollars on three billion pounds of candy last year, according to the National Confectioners Assn.

This means that 80 million pieces of candy were consumed every day of 1958 in the U.S. The NCA says that candy manufacturing is the eighth largest food processing industry in the country.

For Hoover's Priceless Collection

Name Library Director

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Canadian-born Dr. W. Glenn Campbell Thursday was named as the new director of Stanford's fabulous Hoover Library.

Campbell, 35, presently director of research of the American Enterprise Assn., Washington, D. C., was appointed to the vacant post by the Stanford Board of Trustees in a meeting here.

The new director will have charge of some 25,000,000 items stored in the famed 280-foot tower on the Stanford University campus in Palo Alto, the world's largest collection of 20th Century social literature.

The libarary, officially designated as the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, was dedicated by former President Herbert Hoover in 1941 to store the books, prints, maps, pamphlets, military and political records, spy reports and personal memoirs he started collecting in 1914.

★ ★ ★

Since that time thousands of persons have added to the collection which now contains the most complete history of the Communist movement in the world, a full account of the Nazi movement and innumerable other documents that are priceless to historians.

★ ★ ★

Some of the items are locked and officially designated not to be opened until some future date. Among these is a trunk believed to hold the highly confidential documents kept by the spy Mata Hari.

Industries Moving Out of New England Area

Eastern Gas & Fuel Associates shut down permanently a pig iron blast furnace at Everett, Mass., which had been operating ever since 1926.

When Nicholson File Co. decided recently to close one of its three plants, it chose to stop production at Providence, R.I., where it had been operating for 95 years.

Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire appear to be running hard on an economic treadmill.

New England's manufacturing employment in August was 1.8 per cent below the level of August 1950, while the U.S. total on the same basis was up 8 per cent.

In the past 40 years, the number of manufacturing jobs in New England has declined 5.6 per cent while the U.S. total in the comparable period has risen 50 per cent.

Labor costs in the area tend to be higher than in most regions. This is so, authorities believe, because New England and its labor force had a longer period in which to build its average wage levels and to obtain various fringe benefits.

★ ★ ★

Also the region contains many inefficient, multi-story plants in cramped city localities where tax burdens have become increasingly heavy.

One of New England's most severe handicaps is strictly geographical. It is not favorably situated to be a national distribution center.

Still, makers of consumer goods perhaps would be more reluctant to leave if New England's population were rising as sharply as that of the U.S. as a whole. But New England's share of U.S. population is now 5.74 per cent, down from 6.1 per cent in 1950 and 7 per cent in 1920.

"Take New England as your center for a large marketing circle," says a spokesman for a consumer goods manufacturer, "and you'll see that its sales area covers a big chunk of ocean."

Westinghouse cited better distribution as the reason for putting its air conditioner, water cooler and dehumidifier production in Ohio; Ford division of Ford Motor Co. gave the same explanation for deactivating its assembly plant at Somerville, Mass.

High taxes and labor costs in Rhode Island led Nicholson File to close its production facilities at Providence, a company official says. Eastern Gas & Fuel Associates closed its blast furnace at Everett because "the New England market for pig iron has been constantly shrinking and no longer will support continued operation," according to a spokesman.

★ ★ ★

Labor costs were one reason for Bridgeport Brass Co.'s moving its Tubular Plumbing Goods division from Bridgeport, Conn., to a new plant at Moultrie, Ga.

An outspoken critic of costs and taxes in Massachusetts is General Electric Co., which ranks as New England's second largest manufacturing employer.

"The cost of doing business in Massachusetts . . . is high" asserts Robert A. Burns of GE's River Works.

GE has had plants in the Lynn area for some 75 years and reports that in the last five years it has spent $40 million on new equipment.

Despite this, GE has expanded neither production nor employment in the Lynn area although nationally both have risen more than 50 per cent since the end of World War II. In fact, GE employment at Lynn totals 30,000 now, off from 40,000 just four years ago.

A GE official hurls these charges at Massachusetts: Workmen's compensation rates in the state are the highest in the country; the state is the fourth highest nationally in state and local per capita taxes; the state debt is the fourth highest in the land.

Wife Has Her Way; He Gets Workhouse

Before City Court Judge Charles Kelley could decide on a sentence, Lynch's wife arose and said:

★ ★ ★

"Judge, I think he should be sent to the workhouse. It might learn him some sense!"

★ ★ ★

"Lady, you took the words right out of my mouth," the judge declared as he fined Lynch $175 and sentenced him to 30 days.

Auto Industry Speculates That DeSoto May Go Next

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Discontinuance of the medium-priced Edsel revived speculation in the auto industry today that Chrysler Corp. may drop its slow-selling DeSoto line.

★ ★ ★

Such rumors have been prevalent in industry circles for several years, but have been denied every time they have cropped up.

"Observers noted, however, that Ford Motor Co. had previously denied it would stop producing Edsels. Yesterday, the company said the line was being dropped because of poor sales.

Production figures show that only three autos are selling at a slower pace than the DeSoto. These are Chrysler's Imperial, Ford's Lincoln and the Edsel, in that order.

DeSoto production for the 1959 calendar year so far totals only slightly more than 30,000 units. The 1960 DeSoto line is limited to six models.

Sales have slumped generally in the medium-priced field since the 1955 model year. Packard, Nash and Hudson, both in the medium price range, have been casualties of falling sales in recent years.

The Edsel was discontinued after only 28 months of production. Introduced at the end of August 1957, Ford enthusiastically predicted that 200,000 would be sold in the first year. Factory sales during the Edsel's existence fell slightly short of 110,000 cars.

★ ★ ★

Ford announced discontinuance of the Edsel line after publication of a prospectus on behalf of the Ford Foundation announcing plans to sell another two million shares of its Ford Motor Co. stock.

The prospectus carried a one-line footnote on the Edsel. It read: "Introduced in September 1957, and discontinued in November 1959."

The company advised customers who bought the 2,700 Edsels produced in the 1960 model year that they will get a $300 certificate good for use on the purchase of any domestically produced Ford Motor Co. auto.

African Firm Attempts Man-Made Diamonds

DETROIT (AP)—General Electric Co., which discovered an industrial diamond-making process four years ago, is interested in reports that a South African firm has come up with a similar process.

★ ★ ★

GE has been producing man-made diamonds for two years.

DeBeers Consolidated Mines, Ltd., announced Tuesday in Johannesburg, that it had reached the laboratory stage with a man-made diamond process.

Citizens Uncertain About Value

Toledo Malls to Stay? It's December Problem

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — They carried away Toledo's $50,000 malls in trucks today.

And the city fathers debated whether to spend $432,000 to bring them back for good.

Opinion was still divided over whether the malls were worth the trouble and expense as this Great Lakes port ended its 109-day experiment in which four choice downtown blocks were sealed off to traffic and converted into pedestrian paradises.

Lawrence Murray, city planning director and a mall booster, said City Council will decide next month if Toledo should build permanent park-like malls, with pools and statues and benches and pedestrians criss-crossing any way they pleased.

Murray said if the decision is yes, the city would probably pay half the bill and the downtown merchants would be assessed for the other half.

★ ★ ★

That's the breakdown used in Kalamazoo, Mich., the first city in the United States to adopt malls as a permanent feature.

FEELING IS MIXED

Even though installing the malls would be costly, 80 per cent of the merchants on the temporary malls and 65 per cent of those on other streets favor them, Murray said.

Most storekeepers thought the malls accomplished their chief aim, attracting shoppers downtown again, away from the glittering suburban shopping centers that dot Toledo's fringes.

Some housewives disagreed. Mrs. F. Dwight Haigh, whose suburban home is a 15-minute drive from downtown, said she had not been downtown to see the malls, which opened Aug. 3.

"I only go downtown once or twice a year to see my dentist," Mrs. Haigh, the mother of two married sons, said. "I use the shopping centers. My husband thinks the malls are a pain in the neck. He has to drive practically six blocks to find a parking space.

"The main department stores all have suburban shops," she said. "And they're nicer and newer than those downtown.

"I used to go downtown to have my hair done. It always cost me 65 cents to park."

Pencil Marks on Wall Make This Man Glad

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) — Pencil marks on a kitchen wall that measure a little boy's growth bring more than the usual smile to Dr. Philip H. Henneman of the Seton Hall University College of Medicine.

Dr. Henneman has made it possible for a few dwarfed youngsters to gain an inch or two in height through administration of shots gleaned from the pituitary gland.

He is engaged in research here, hoping to expand the program.

Claimed to be the oldest public building in the U.S. is the Palace of Governors located in Santa Fe. It is more than 340 years old, according to New Mexico historians.

150 More GMC Buses Sought

DSR to Ask Okay for Purchase Adding to 150 Already on Order

The Detroit Street Railway Commission will be asked at its December meeting to authorize purchase of 150 more buses from the General Motors Truck and Coach Divsion, it was learned today.

GMC already had been awarded a contract for 150 at a cost of $3,800,000.

A Division spokesman today said an option for the additional 150 was offered to the DSR when the bid was first awarded.

DSR General Manager Leo J. Nowicki yesterday received permission from Mayor Miriani to buy 300 instead of the original 150 ordered.

Deliveries of 50 buses each are scheduled for January, July and November. If the DSR Commission okays Nowicki's request in December, orders will be increased of 125 buses each for July and November.

The Truck and Coach Division official said the Division probably will not be notified of the order increase until such time as the DSR Commission votes its approval.

The model ordered is the TDH 5301, considered the glamor coach of the transit bus industry, according to a GMC official.

Unveiled recently, the new model has a 53 passenger capacity, fluorescent lighting, textured aluminum side walls, a V-6 diesel engine and a new heating system with ducts located under the passenger windows for more even distribution of heat.

A new seating arrangement is incorporated this year, according to the GMC spokesman, with modernized lower contour seats.

The local society chapter sponsored the show jointly with the American Society of Quality Control, Detroit Branch.

U.N. Calls on France to Cancel A-Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The U.N. General Assembly called on France today to cancel its atomic test explosions scheduled to take place in the Sahara Desert.

But the French made it clear they will ignore the appeal.

The decision was a bitter defeat to France which, with the backing of the United States and Britan, had fought stubbornly to avert such a U.N. request.

The vote was 51 to 16 with 15 abstentions.

Reports Ford Slates Overtime Tomorrow

DETROIT (UPI) — Ward's Automotive Reports said today Ford has scheduled overtime production tomorrow for Falcon, Lincoln and Thunderbird and has returned all other assembly plants to a five day week.

Ford, American Motors and Studebaker-Packard are the only automakers on five day weeks or more. General Motors is shutdown completely while Chrysler has cut back sharply.

Commissioners Tour Hangar, Seek to Formulate Rental Policy

Five city commissioners braved cold weather and gusty winds yesterday while marching across the ramp at Pontiac Municipal Airport to inspect the once-bustling American Airlines hangar.

One there, they poked into dusty, unused lofts; discovered some old, rusting city equipment in a doorless storeroom and found some corners humming with activity.

Making the long walk from the office of Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, to what is now called Hangar No. 8 were Mayor Philip E. Rowston and Commissioners William W. Donaldson, John A. Dugan, Wesley J. Wood and Robert A. Landry.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry missed the inspection tour because of business.

The big hangar is one of two purchased from the airlines by the city about 20 years ago for a mere $18,000.

Since then, the city has been renting its offices and hangar space to a half-dozen businesses and about 20 private airplane owners. It is grossing presently about $10,000 a year.

Before the Commission now is an offer to lease the entire hangar at $18,000 a year to a new firm, Aerodynamics, Inc., which wants to sell and service airplanes and electronic equipment.

If the lease offer isn't accepted, said Hoskins, the rents of the present tenants will have to be raised.

He admitted present rents are low, but explained they haven't been raised in recent years because the city has been looking for a big company to lease the entire hangar.

Hoskins recommended the lease, saying it would mean more profit, less output for the city in maintenance costs and less administrative bother.

Should the city be interested only in the greatest profit, or in providing facilities for as many people as possible, with money only a secondary consideration.

And are the hangar's facilities being used to the fullest extent and as much as possible by activities associated with the airfield?

The latter question was of most concern yesterday.

Renting offices or shop space in the hangar are the Pontiac Coil Co., Grimes Archery, Superior Instrument Service, Northern Flying Service and Land O'Lakes Flying Club.

The coil company, located in an addition at the rear of the hangar and away from the airfield, pays $119 a month. Its coils occasionally are used in aircraft.

Grimes, which makes bows and arrows, is located in an out-of-the-way section on the hangar's second floor and pays $88.

The instrument service, which does considerable business at the field, pays $125 and partially fronts the airfield on the second floor.

Northern and Land O'Lakes have small, but choicely located offices on the ground floor fronting the airfield. They pay $30 each.

Frank Macartney, president of Aerodynamics was on the tour. He said Northern and Land O'Lakes would have to move out if Aerodynamics moved in, since his company wants offices for its own operation.

The other renters can stay, for the time being at least, said Macartney, including the private plane owners who store their craft in the hangar proper at rates from $20 to $50, depending on size.

Both Northern and Land O'Lakes protested the move proposed by Aerodynamics and Hoskins, and this protest helped bring the inspection tour.

During the tour, Hoskins pointed out the undesirability, for airfield purposes, of the remote areas rented by the coil company and the archery shop.

"We were lucky to find people who wanted to rent these areas for any purpose," he said.

Hoskins also pointed out another office space that used to rent for $96 but has been vacant several months.

Because of the pending lease, he explained, there was no attempt to find a new renter when Valley Flying Service moved out of the office this summer.

The Commission plans to study a report by Hoskins before making a final decision on the proposed lease Tuesday. The report will indicate possible revenues if the present rents are raised and all the space rented.

State Insurance Rates Will Fall

27 Firms to Introduce Plan Favoring Drivers With Good Records

LANSING (UPI) — Twenty-seven insurance firms next week will offer Michigan motorists a new low cost automobile liability insurance policy designed to appeal to "safe" drivers.

Under a "merit rating" system, a driver's premium will be geared to his accident experience. Theoretically, a good past record would indicate less-than-average probabability of future accidents.

The insurance companies, members of the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau, have won approval of the new policies and proposed rates from Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford, effective Monday.

Blackford said cost of the package policies will depend on coverages selected, the motorist's age, the use made of the car and other factors.

Blackford also announced an increase in rates for workmen's compensation coverage, effective Dec. 1, and a reduction in rates on credit life insurance.

The commissioner said an adverse loss experience justified average increases of 3.5 per cent in workmen's compensation rates.

Reductions of up to 25 per cent have been ordered in credit life insurance and a ceiling fixed of 75 cents per $10 of initial indebtedness, Blackford said.

This type of coverage protects the lender in consumer debt transactions, and until 1958, was not subject to Insurance Department regulation.

Blackford said he will order further state reductions if experience justifies them.

Disc Distributor Claims Payola Cost Him Plenty

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A Philadelphia record distributor said today he has paid thousands of dollars to get records played on local radio programs. He estimated perhaps 20 of the city's 200 disc jockeys took "payola."

Edward D. Cohn, proprietor of Lesco Distributors — one of 16 record firms in town, said he paid disc jockeys $5 to $100 to play popular records he was pushing. He said he stopped the practice because it got too expensive.

"I got to the point where I would have to spend the profit from the first 10,000 records sold to pay the disc jockeys if I'd gone on," Cohn told newsmen.

Cohn named no names or stations, but said "there are five stations in town today whose employes I never had to give anything to." There are a score of radio stations in the area.

Cohn said he wasn't ashamed of giving "payola" but hoped the practice would end. He said he listed the payments under promotion for tax purposes and paid the disc jockeys by check, except for one who made a practice of demanding cash payments.

Cohn was asked if Dick Clark was involved. "Dick Clark does not take a cent and never would," he replied.

Seattle Man President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Milk Producers Federation has elected Russell Waltz of Seattle, Wash., to his seventh one-year term as president of the organization.

War Shocker Smash Sellout

Brutal West German Film 'The Bridge' Stuns Audience Into Silence

BERLIN (UPI) — A brutal German film about war is drawing sellout audiences in West Berlin and West Germany.

Called "Die Bruecke" (The Bridge), it was turned out on a shoestring by Bernhard Wicki, a Swiss actor-turned-director who works mainly in West Germany. The film tells what happened to seven German schoolboys—aged 16—who were drafted into Hitler's army just before the hectic end of World War II.

But this isn't what stuns the audience into silence, a silence that lasts till the crowd melts away on the street.

What hits the viewer is the manner in which the child-soldiers and their American attackers, die.

They do not die like heroes in a wild west thriller, who spin around and drop dead without a fuss.

Town Is Growing

EDWARDSBURG (UPI) — Perry Stoops, 30, held office today as Edwardsburg's first full time police chief. Stoops, a former Cass County detective lieutenant, was sworn in replacing Robert Welsh, who held the chief of police post for a year on a part time basis. The post pays Stoops $4,700 annually.

Late Dramatic Experiment Shows Fantastic Results

British Hopeful Over A-Reactor

By ROBERT MUNSEL

LONDON (UPI) — British scientists working at a nuclear station on a remote section of the Scottish coast are trying to milk the atom of usable energy up to 1,000 times greater than ever before known.

A dramatic experiment, launched five days ago with the "Dounreay experimental reactor", has brought its participants closer than ever before to the hairbreadth line that separates atomic destruction from controlled nuclear power.

The quantities of radioactive material being employed approach that utilized in an atomic bomb. The "fast" reaction process used at Dounreay also is similar to that of the bomb. With chain reaction of the release of energy goes on at high speeds with no effort to slow it.

A "breeder" type of reactor, Dounreay actually creates more fuel than it burns. Neutrons released from the enriched uranium or plutonium in its core are captured by a "blanket" or ordinary uranium or thorium and reflected back into the core to continue their fantastic labors.

BRITISH HOPEFUL

The British hope this new design, if time proves it successful, will bring them closer than any nation in the world to tapping the full potential of the atom.

Atomic power stations are presently conceived can extract from one ton of uranium the energy equivalent to 10,000 tons of coal. A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Authority put the potential yield at equal to 10,000,000 tons of coal, 1,000 times greater than now realized.

Such a prize clearly is not without its risks, and the giant steel ball which marks the Dounreay experimental reactor looms above the Scottish coastline as a symbol of man's tacit acknowledgement that the atom will not willingly work for science.

The ball, measuring 135 feet in diameter, is the largest pressure vessel ever built and probably the most protected building in the world.

It houses almost every conceivable safety device capable of reacting automatically to potential trouble at the hundredth-of-a-second speeds the human mind is not capable of and can barely comprehend.

The spherical shape of the reactor is itself a safety factor — a design which can contain any sudden increase in pressure and localize any accidental release of radioactivity.

No one at Dounreay believes there will be an incident, despite these elaborate precautions. Spokesmen hope to get positive results from the reactor in a few months.

U.S. electric output multiplied by almost exactly six times in the quarter century from 1926 to 1951.

France Planning Huge N-Force

Will Be Approved but Some Deputies Worry About Finances

PARIS (UPI) — The French government has outlined plans for building a powerful nuclear striking force of planes and missiles capable of serving "France's destiny."

★ ★ ★

The plans were laid before the National Assembly as the handiwork of President Charles de Gaulle although he is currently touring Alsace for a 69th birthday celebration Nov. 22 in Strasbourg.

★ ★ ★

The program appeared assured of approval at conclusion of debate on France's 1960 budget, although it drew criticism in the assembly when some deputies said it posed a financial burden France cannot afford.

Premier Michel Debre rejected the overspending charges and said the $3,310,000,000 budget is only one per cent higher than the 1959 military outlay.

"France must shoulder the responsibility of her own destiny," Debre said.

He said France intends to continue working closely with its NATO allies but that no alliance should result in "submerging the country's fundamental objective to those of other countries.

BUCK HUNTER — Ohio State quarterback Tom Matte will be at Ann Arbor Saturday hunting for a Wolverine trophy. The Buckeye was the secret weapon against MSU couple weeks ago and thus Michigan will have to guard against his passes and rollouts. He is considered a fine runner, being originally at halfback.

95,000 Figured to See Buckeyes Battle Michigan

Each Team Is Hoping to Improve Position in Big Ten Race

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Michigan-Ohio State football classic — for years a pivotal contest in the Big Ten title fight — will have only second-division matters at stake when the traditional foes square off for the 56th time.

With both teams mired near the conference cellar, only the renewal of a bitter rivalry and a last chance to improve final positions in the conference will hinge on tomorrow's meeting before an expected crowd of more than 95,000.

A victory for coach Bump Elliott's ninth-place Wolverines (2-4 in the loop) could boost them as high as seventh in the final standings — if Purdue whips Indiana. But a Michigan loss, coupled with an upset of Wisconsin by the last place Gophers, could knot the Wolverines and Minnesota in the cellar with 2-5 marks.

Never before in Big Ten history has a team finished last with as many as two victories.

Ohio State desperately needs a victory to avoid handing its flamboyant coach Woody Hayes his first losing season in an eight-year coaching career at the Buckeye school.

The seventh-place Ohioans (3-4-1 on the season) have never lost more than three games in one year since Hayes took over the head coaching reins in 1951.

Another Michigan casualty is first-line right guard Alex Callahan, who will sit out his final college game on the bench. X-rays yesterday showed that the hard-working senior has a cracked vertebra in the lower back.

But Oxford Bows in Rugby

Dawkins Stars on Defense

OXFORD, England (AP)—Injuries to teammates on Oxford University's rugby union team yesterday robbed All-America football player Pete Dawkins of any chance to sparkle on offense in one of the team's last matches before the selection of the squad which will meet Cambridge Dec. 8.

Major Stanley's team, made up of international and former Oxford stars, defeated the Oxford team, 14-6.

Because of the injuries, the losers had to play most of the game with only 13 men, instead of the regulation 15. Consequently they were forced to play a defensive game, and Dawkins' strong tackling helped keep down the opponents' score.

Dawkins, of Royal Oak, Mich., who played football at West Point, was expected to shine on offense, but he received the ball only twice in attacking moves.

Malcolm Phillips, mainspring of the Oxford attack and the man expected to send Dawkins racing for the line, was injured after only 10 minutes. He suffered a pulled leg muscle and had to retire. Forward Denis Evans was off the field for 20 minutes in the first half, and Colin Payne missed the last 15 minutes.

Oxford plays Harlequins, a top London team, on Saturday, and it is expected Captain Phillips will announce his team to meet Cambridge after that match.

Although he has been playing the game only five weeks, Dawkins is in line for a "blue," the coveted award for playing against Cambridge. The last American to win a rugby "blue" was Fred Hoyle of the University of Minnesota in 1931.

Junior Wings Score 5th Hockey Triumph

RIVERSIDE, Ont. (UPI) — The Junior Wings hockey team took a 4-1 victory last night over the Riverside Regents to put them one point behind the league leaders.

The Junior Wings took their fifth hockey victory against two defeats and one tie to give them 11 points in the Border Cities League. The leading Chatham team has 12 points.

Detroit's Dick Devine took credit for two goals and Ned Runey and Bernie Roch each scored once last night in the rout over the Riverside squad.

The Junior Wings will return to home ice at Olympia Stadium Tuesday night to meet the Windsor Mic Macs.

Bears' Tactics in Spying Are Known by Foes

Detroit Coach Wilson Is Wise to Tricks of George Halas

And until Sunday, the Stadium gates will be shut tightly to prying eyes.

Wilson is well-schooled in the spying tactics of the Bears and their coach, George Halas. Halas is notorious for his methods of learning the secrets of the Bears' next rival.

The Bears' old master has been known to hide suspicious figures in dark corners of the stadium and equip them with binoculars. Telegram messengers with photographic memories have been disptached to the practice field. Somehow they arrived right in the middle of the other team's workout.

"They knew everything we did," said quarterback Johnny Unitas. "They seemed to know what we were going to do when I changed signals at the line."

"The practice field is shut to all visitors," Wilson declared. "I want to beat the Bears. There's no team I'd rather beat."

Only two weeks ago he had a midweek closed door policy at his practice field and came up with several changes. The big one was the transfer of Terry Barr from defense to offense, a move that has been worthwhile.

Returning Area Hunters Bringing Back Big Deer

Those big bucks, which up to yesterday, had been a rarity among returning area deer hunters, are now being reported in increasing numbers.

Among them is the 190-pounder, taken by Tom Baker of Oxford, a 17-year-old Oxford High School senior. Tom downed the big deer near Newberry, with one shot from a 30-30 rifle. He was with his father, Joe of 361 Specia Dr., Oxford and Harry Sweeney and Bill Martin, Oxford men.

Tom's dad hasn't shot a buck in 16 years of hunting, he reported. Tom's deer is the current Press' contest leader.

One other really big prize was reported by Howard Raymond, 9477 Portage Trail, Oxbow Lake. This buck was said to weigh 210-pounds, taken near Germfast in the Upper Peninsula. However, no weight slip accompanied the report.

Other lucky area hunters included Earl McSpadin, of Rochester with a 10-pointer, his first buck in five years, taken at Standish; Norman Underwood, Pontiac, 186½-pounds, Pontiac; Edwin Thorpe, Marceline Stoddard, Pontiac, 7-pointer, spike, going back after a bear, near Alpena; Thelma M. Mathews, 140-pounder.

Paul Bayterian, 4127 Motorway, got the only buck in party of four at Luzerne, his first deer. J. R. Harris, Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Duane LaFave brought back a 155-pounder and two does; Ted Johnson, 16-year-old Bloomfield Hills high school junior got a spikehorn, his first deer, near Barton City, hunting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson, and others.

Ex-Champ Does Well in Retriever Trials

RENO, Nev. (AP) — All 45 championship dogs Thursday finished the first series of the National Retriever Trials, opening four full days of top competition.

★ ★ ★

The starting series was a tripe retrieve on water, in which the dogs demonstrated their ability to bring back three ducks thrown on a marsh at nearby Spanish Springs.

Peter Jones of San Francisco, chairman of the trials, said all the retrievers worked well. He observed Spirit Lake Duke, the 1957 national champion owned by Mrs. George Murnane of Syosset, N. Y., was among those that showed up particularly well.

★ ★ ★

Competitive points are not disclosed until the trials are finished.

Jones said about 20 per cent were expected to finish the full trial.

FINAL TOUCH — Frank Clause "lifts" the ball over.

AS PLANE LANDS ON STRIP
By FRANK CLAUSE

As the fourth and sliding step is completed and the ball has ended its downward arc, you find that the thumb automatically comes out of the ball with the fingers remaining in the holes a split-second longer.

The ball is "lifted" smoothly over the foul line from 4 to 20 inches out on the lane, as an airplane lands on a runway. As the ball is released, it passes close to the left ankle. The left leg is bent slightly at the knee and the body at the waist. The left arm is out away from the body to provide balance.

The right arm continues its swing in an arc. Don't pull back or stop the arm at the point of release. Stay with the ball over the foul line, keeping your head and body down and forward.

It is important during the release that the wrist remains firm, the thumb at the 10 o'clock position. Do not at any time get your hand on top of the ball in an effort to make it spin as this will produce a very ineffective ball.

The stuff on the ball comes from the grip of the fingers and the outward and upward motion of the hand and arm.

A friend drops this column a joke which some coaches may like but which officials may not appreciate:

The devil was always challenging St. Peter in baseball, football, etc. But St. Peter never accepted the challenge.

Finally, the Dodgers, Giants, Tigers, Pistons, Lions, Bears, etc., all went to heaven. So naturally St. Pete called up the devil.

"Now I'll arrange a schedule with you in baseball, football and basketball," he said.

"You'll lose," said the devil, "you'll lose."

"Oh yeah?" replied St. Peter, "I've the greatest collection of athletes you ever saw."

"You'll lose," said the devil, "you'll lose."

"What makes you so sure we'll lose?" asked St. Pete.

Get this you quarterbacks. Earl Morrall was asked to explain the touchdown play to Dave Middleton Sunday and this was his explanation.

"It's our 8 look-in, with green left slow, which like a bend-in deep. It's not much more than a back dividing to the left, but the same as swing in the flat. We did it this time off our opposite, calling it a 2-right."

Thank you, Earl. Now about that play——?

Pro Football Leagues Prep for Draft Battle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pro football officials in both the National Football League and the infant American Football League are approaching their draft meetings with tongue in cheek utterances about the possibility of another full scale salary war.

Acting Commissioner Austin H. Gunsel of the NFL foresees the possibility of a money battle but hopes it doesn't materialize.

Harry Wismer, president of the AFL's New York franchise and a league spokesman, feels the salary scale will go up but not high enough to hurt either league.

In the late 1940s the NFL and the old All-America Conference spent milions of dollars in competing for star players. It drove the AAC out of business. Both appear to be whistling past the graveyard. Wismer himself last night offered a case in point which could be the tipoff of things to come.

He said that quarterback Richie Lucas would be New York's first pick in the AFL draft at Minneapolis next week. Asked if bidding for a player of Lucas' pro potential wouldn't fire a new battle of dollars, Wismer asserted:

"We're not going to fight anyone."

Gunsel, softspoken former FBI agent filling in for the late Bert Bell, approached the problem realistically. He said:

"It is inevitable that in some case there is going to be heavy bidding. Salaries are going to go up. I don't see how it can be prevented. But, of course, there are other things the players will have to think over.

"There is the fact that we are established, offer a player security. We have a hospitalization, insurance and benefit plan. The players know we've been here a long time and will be here awhile longer. We aren't looking for a money war. It won't do any of us any good."

The AFL is going to take first crack at the college player grab bag. The new league meets Monday to draft 40 players for each of its eight teams — New York, Los Angeles, Houston, Dallas, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Denver and Boston. The latter became the final member of the circuit yesterday when Philadelphia's Bob Carpenter passed up an opportunity to apply for a franchise.

Max Winter, general manager of the Minneapolis-St. Paul entry, disclosed that each club will be required to pick four backs, two ends, two tackles, two guards and a center as its first 11 choices. He said this was the only way to prevent an imbalance with everybody going after the quarterbacks and other highly publicized backs. Each club will be allowed as its first choice any college senior whose school is within a 100 mile radius of the selecting team.

★ ★ ★

The NFL's 24th annual draft is slated for Philadelphia Nov. 30. Each of the 12 member clubs will select 20 players — the number was reduced from 30 to 20 at last year's annual meeting. Teams will select in order from last to first according to the standings at the end of play Nov. 29.

The American League, starting from scratch will select 320 players, while the NFL takes 240.

Actually, of the 240 men taken by the NFL, some 60 will make the clubs if past season's are any criteria. Thus in the long run, the AFL will have another 180 men to draw from it their initial selections don't pan out.

Toweel Makes U.S. Ring Debut Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—All the male members of the Toweel family of Johannesburg, South Africa, are or have been prize fighters, but fortunately youthful Len Matthews of Philadelphia will have to meet only one of them in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden tonight.

★ ★ ★

The one is Willie, a former British Empire lightweight champion who will be making his American debut, and he hopes to make Matthews a stepping stone toward a title match with welterweight champion Don Jordan.

★ ★ ★

So both men have a stout incentive, not to mention the promise of a shot at Carlos Ortiz's junior welterweight championship for the winner.

MSU Gridders Greeted by Torrential Rains

College Football

by "RED" BLAIK

NEW YORK (AP)—Last Saturday I heard many groans from the fans when their respective teams were penalized. Some remarked that the officials are more prominent than the players. Others yelled that the whistle tooters were getting ready for the round ball season.

Football rules are complicated and call for considerable judgment in the calling of some fouls. It is a fact that coaches believe an eager official could detect some unintentional violation of rules on nearly every play.

Football officials by and large call remarkably fine games and when your team is penalized more than the opponents, relax. This is part of the price the aggressive team often pays for its victory. Here are this week end's victors:

Southern Cal over UCLA. The Henry R. Red Sanders Memorial Plaque was placed in the Coliseum Court of Honor Monday. This should add to the inspiration the Bruins always carry into this game. But the edge lies with the big Trojan line.

Harvard over Yale. New Haven, which has undergone a remarkable civic face-lifting, will be further adorned with a Crimson sunset.

Pittsburgh over Penn State. To be different, but not without reason.

Iowa over Notre Dame. Terry Brennan must be glad he is in the investment banking business.

Wisconsin over Minnesota. But my respect for the Minnesota team and Coach Warmath — neither has lost the will to win.

Oklahoma over Iowa State. The Sooners win the Big Eight championship outright.

Knicks Buried Despite Victory

By the Associated Press

No matter how you look at it, the New York Knickerbockers are in the wrong division of the National Basketball Assn.

As a member of the Eastern division, they are buried in the cellar even after three straight victories including last night's 130-109 triumph over the Cincinnati Royals. Their record is five victories and seven defeats. All of the victories have been at the expense of Western division clubs, including two over Minneapolis and one each over Detroit, St. Louis and Cincinnati. Five of the seven setbacks were by Eastern teams.

The Knicks, who took advantage of off nights by St. Louis' Bob Pettit and Minneapolis' Elgin Baylor for the first two victories of their meager string, profited last night by Cincinnati's ragged play. The defeat was the Royals' eighth straight in a 3-12 season record.

Unofficial figures showed the Royals lost the ball 28 times without getting a shot while New York was guilty of only 12 such errors. The Knicks got a 25-point night from Richi Guerin and a 21-point performance from Ray Felix. Jack Twyman paced the Royals with 25.

Ground Battle Looms Tonight in Orange Bowl

Rain Hurts Possibility of Look-Curci Passing Duel at Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Michigan State and the University of Miami will play their football game tonight despite torrential rains that left the field a swamp and the entire meeting a mixup.

"It looks like we'll have to use our belly series all night long," said MSU coach Duffy Daugherty. "We'll just tell our boys to tuck the ball in their middle, hang onto it and plow up the field.

"This sure is rotten weather. But it rains on both sides of the field. If it keeps up until game time, the very sad thing will be that two great passing quarterbacks won't have a chance to show their stuff."

Down here Miami's Fran Curci is considered every bit the match for Spartan Dean Look.

The MSU team left frozen Michigan to arrive at the start of the tropical downpour. Daugherty entirely skipped the usual Thursday afternoon workout. He took his troops out after the late Wednesday night arrival and they came back to the Monte Carlo Hotel headquarters dripping wet and looking like drowned rats.

"Those guys who goofed off must had got the word about the weather," commented one of the linemen.

This was a reference to the four sophomores canceled out of consideration for the trip because they missed a Sunday squad meeting.

The Orange Bowl Stadium was covered with tarpaulins as soon as the rain started. It was explained there was a large drop-off from the middle of the field to the sidelines so even this heavy rain should drain off.

But Daugherty was still pessimistic.

"Everything has gone against us so far," he said. "The trip, the weather and this business of sweating out how somebody else does in the Big Ten.

"I sure hope our kids can come through and win this game."

Miami has a 5-3 record going into the game and the Hurricanes want very much to beat Michigan State and look good doing it.

A win over the Big Ten power would put Miami in position for an Orange or Gator bowl bid.

McBride to Coach at L. A.

Boston 8th Club in AFL

BOSTON (UPI) — A group of New England sportsmen have cleared their first hurdle in bringing professional football back to Boston but they faced still another major problem today.

★ ★ ★

William H. Sullivan Jr. sports promoter and Boston businessman, announced yesterday that a franchise had been obtained for the city as the eighth club in the newly-formed American Football League.

Though Sullivan confidently predicted that "we'll open our season next September," there still remained the problem of finding a place to play.

There are a number of suitable stadiums in the area but most of the owners have indicated no desire to provide space for pro gridders. A team would need space for at least 25,000 fans while at home to break even.

★ ★ ★

Boston's last pro football team, the old Boston Yanks who left in 1948, played at Braves Field, which was purchased by Boston University after the baseball club moved to Milwaukee.

★ ★ ★

Boston U. and Harvard, which also has a large stadium, have shown no interest in pro football. The same may be said for Tom Yawkey, owner of Fenway Park and the Red Sox.

There was some speculation that Sullivan might turn to Boston College, where he was once a publicity man. The stadium there accommodates 26,000 but it could be enlarged.

Sullivan gave no indication of how he intended to solve the stadium problem but he appeared confident the team would have a place to play. When questioned, he pointed out that he and the nine other members of the group, whom he declined to name, had posted a "large" guarantee with the AFL to assure that the team would operate.

The ex-line star has been in the trucking business since but kept his hand in the game as a scout and special consultant.

Jerry Pittman Fires 67

Newcomer Mobile Leader

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The first $15,000 Mobile Open golf tournament had a distinct darkhorse tinge today as play entered the second round.

At the head of the pack was Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., a newcomer who turned 23 yesterday. Pittman, who won only $815 in his previous 11 tournaments, came home yesterday with a 5-under-par 35-32—67.

Bunched two strokes in back were two more 23-year-old pros, a veteran club pro, and a perennial tournament threat, Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.

Maxwell, who has won $26,000 in 34 tournaments this year, was in a commanding position and hurting for a tournament victory. The Texan has won a meet a year since 1955 but hasn't taken top money so far this year.

Matching Maxwell's 69 were youngsters Eddie Langert of Minneapolis, Minn., Jack Ellis of Wilmette, Ill., and John Barnum, the 6-4 club pro from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Thirty-two players in the field of 129 equaled or bettered par over the 6,383-yard Mobile municipal course where par is 36-36—72. The course is only two years old and is still ragged in places.

The 70 bracket listed Monte Bradley, Hillsboro, Tex.; Howie Johnson, Meadowlark, Calif.; Walter Burkemo, Franklin Hills, Mich.; Miller Barber, El Dorado, Ark.; and Bill Griffith, Gazenovia, N.Y.

Battle for Bowl Berths Has 12 Teams Vying

By United Press International

The battle for bowl bids will continue along the college football front this weekend, with at least a dozen teams competing for post-season junkets.

Only two major berths have been filled thus far. Top-ranked Syracuse accepted a Cotton Bowl invitation last Saturday and Arkansas agreed last night to play in the Gator Bowl on a unique "if" basis.

Texas will serve as the Southwest Conference representative in the Cotton Bowl if it beats Texas A&M, as expected on Thanksgiving day. But if the Longhorns lose, Arkansas will pass up the Gator Bowl for a crack at Syracuse in the Dallas classic.

At least five more berths in the major bowls should be filled by Saturday night. They include both berths in the Rose Bowl, the visiting team in the Orange Bowl, the host team in the Liberty Bowl, and perhaps both teams in the Blue Grass Bowl.

Wisconsin and Washington are seven-point favorites to knock off their Saturday opponents and wrap up Rose Bowl berths. The Badgers can clinch the Big Ten bid by beating Minnesota if Illinois downs Northwestern while Washington is expected to gain the West Coast berth if it gets by Washington State.

Kansas will earn the right to represent the Big Eight Conference in the Orange Bowl if it turns back Missouri, provided bowl-ineligible Oklahoma whips Iowa State as expected.

Leading candidates for the other Orange Bowl bid include Clemson, Miami and Georgia. Miami entertains Michigan State Friday night, Clemson has a Saturday date with Wake Forest, and Georgia is idle this weekend.

Penn State is expected to be named host team for the Liberty Bowl following its traditional season-ender against Pittsburgh. The Nittany Lions, who are seven-point favorites, reportedly voted to accept a bid to the Philadelphia post-season game at a secret meeting yesterday.

Officials of the Blue Grass Bowl have indicated they will tender an invitation to the winner of tomorrow's Kentucky-Tennessee clash, which is regarded as a toss-up in most quarters. The other bid may go to Bowling Green, the nation's No. 1 small college team.

Fourth-ranked Louisiana State, which closes out its regular season as a 21-point favorite against Tulane, remains the top candidate for a Sugar Bowl berth. Officials of the New Orleans classic would like to pit L.S.U. against third-ranked Mississippi in a rematch of their earlier thriller but won't be able to make a move until Ole Miss completes its season against Mississippi State next week.

Undfeated Syracuse, meanwhile remains an overwhelming 30-point choice for its Saturday date with Boston University. Second-ranked Southern California, the nation's only other major perfect-record team, is a nine-point favorite over U.C.L.A.

In other major traditional battles, Purdue is a one-point pick over Indiana, Iowa is 14 over Notre Dame, Florida is 15 over Florida State, Stanford is 5 over California, and Yale is 6 over Harvard.

State Bowmen Give Support to Change of Law

A proposal by the state Conservation Commission to allow archers to possess and transport strung bows in automobiles—providing the bows are enclosed in a case or carried in the car trunk—has been given the support of the Michigan Bow Hunters Association.

The commission, at its November meeting, decided to ask the legislature for a change in the existing laws covering the transportation of bows. Presently, a bow must be unstrung and enclosed in a case when carried or possessed in or upon a motor vehicle. The only alternative is carrying the bow unstrung in the trunk, where a case is not required.

According to Michigan Bow Hunters president Kenneth Hoffman of Midland, the present law is a handicap to the many archers who use quivers attached to their bows. Such a quiver makes stringing a bow difficult and often impossible unless it is removed. The law, adds Hoffman, also presents a hardship for women and youngsters who may not be capable of stringing their own weapon. And stringing a bow in cold weather, he reminds, can be troublesome.

Holly Opens Slope

Area Ski Interest Perks

Holly became the first area ski club to open its slopes this week with its snow making machine providing 10 inches of the white fluff for the skiers.

The machines began making snow on Tuesday and one slope has been in operation this week.

A new instructor, Pete Weber, who has been here only a few weeks from Germany, is the ski pro at Holly. Hal McInnis, formerly at Mt. Grampian, is assisting him.

Holly and Mt. Grampian will alternate in promoting the area high school ski program. A total of 25 schools with a total reaching nearly 3,000 ski students, are taking part in the program this year.

Tonight at Mt. Grampian, the public is invited to attend the color movies and special ski program under the supervision of pro Gerry Monod at 7:30 p.m.

Hillsdale Bowl Hopes Brighten Despite Setback

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Hillsdale's bowl outlook has brightened.

The Dales were dropped from second to fourth place in this week's National Assn., of Intercollegiate Athletics ratings following their loss to Northern Illinois last Saturday.

It was Hillsdale's first defeat and at the time it looked as if the Dales had been dropped completely out of the Holiday Bowl picture. But the new ratings give coach Muddy Waters' crew plenty of hope.

Four small college teams will qualify for the bowl playoffs. The two winners will go to the St. Petersburg, Fla., bowl.

Lenoir Rhyne of North Carolina held onto its No. 1 spot in the NAIA ratings. Western Illinois took over Hillsdale's old spot in second. Third was East Texas State.

Durelle, Chuvalo Each Draw $9,507

TORONTO (AP) — Champion George Chuvalo and loser Yvon Durelle each received $9,507 for their Canadian heavyweight title bout, Matchmaker Deacon Alan said Thursday night.

Durelle, from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., also received $1,100 for expenses, including transportation and accommodations for his manager and trainer.

Chuvalo, of Toronto, retained his title by knocking out Durelle, the Canadian and British Empire lightheavy king, in the 12th round of the Tuesday night fight, which drew a gross of $40,000.

Detroit Soccer Teams to Play for Late Star

DETROIT—Detroit soccer forces will join together this Sunday afternoon to honor the memory of Jan Sawicki, a League star, and to aid his family.

The St. Andrew Scots postponed their bid for the National Open championship to oppose the Michigan All-Stars in one of two games on the McCabe Field program.

The Scots were notified last weekend that they drew the Rochester (N.Y.) Italian-Americans for the opening round of Open play. They asked for, and got, a delay of the championship game until Sunday, Nov. 29. That game will also be played at McCabe Field.

Track Events at Finish

Program Shift Will Add Luster to '60 Olympics

ROME (AP) — The Italians have made a change in the Olympic program that adds luster to the 1960 games.

Track and field, the center of the great international sports festival, has been put at the end rather than the start.

In the past, the games have opened with track and then trailed off in interest and emotional intensity in a flock of lesser sports.

Now swimming will hold the center of the stage at the outset, building up a climax on Saturday, Sept. 10.

On that day starting at 5:30 p.m. will be staged the marathon — the 26 mile run that of all Olympic events is most steeped in tradition. The distance (actually 26 miles 385 yards) is that between Marathon, where the Persians were turned back in 490 B.C., and Athens. The Greek who ran from Marathon to Athens with news of the victory dropped dead.

Here's how the Italians will stage the marathon:

The runners will assemble by the statue of Marcus Aurelius — the only bronze equestrian statue remaining from Roman times. They will descend the great stairway to the foot of the hill for the start of the race.

★ ★ ★

The route includes a stretch of the Appian Way, Rome's ancient and imperial highway, and ends at the Arch of Constantine close to the Coliseum. Torches will light the way. It would be difficult to make a race more spectacular.

On the following day, Sunday, Sept. 11, the games come to a close with the traditional and spectacular equestrian events in the main stadium.

They open on Aug. 25. Swimming will be staged from Aug. 26 through Sept. 3, with the same dates for water polo.

Basketball runs from Aug. 6 through Sept. 8, and rowing from Aug. 30 through Sept. 3.

Track and field opens Aug. 31 and closes Sept. 8 with an open day between the last events and the marathon.

Aussie Has Big Margin in Canada Cup Tourney

MELBOURNE (AP) — A third straight subpar round by Peter Thomson held Australia's now almost insurmountable 7-stroke lead over Canada today. All other hopes for the Canada Cup golf title, including those of the United States' Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff, drowned under an avalanche of bogeys.

★ ★ ★

Thomson, four-time British open champion who grew up within a stone's throw of this Royal Melbourne course, added a 2-under-par 68 to his previous rounds of 67 and 69 for a 54-hole total of 204. This gave him a 1-stroke edge over rugged Stan Leonard of Canada in the individual competition. They had been tied at 136 at the halfway mark of this 4 day, 72-hole medal event.

★ ★ ★

Leonard sank a birdie putt of 8 feet on the final green for a 69—one of three subpar rounds this humid day—for his 205. Snead remained third with a 73 for 211.

★ ★ ★

The Australian team total, with one round left to play, was 420 followed by Canada at 427. The United States and South Africa are tied at 433 and hopelessly out of it.

★ ★ ★

The world's wealthiest and most successful golfers of a generation, Snead and Middlecoff soared 8 strokes over par and left the course grousing over lack of practice and unfamiliar playing conditions. Snead got his 73 after a good start while Middlecoff, his once proud and precise game in tatters, shot a 75.

★ ★ ★

Snead and Middlecoff were so disgruntled they sped away from the club within five minutes after completing their rounds and didn't take time to dress.

★ ★ ★

"What can you expect," said Middlecoff bitterly, "coming to a strange country and playing with a strange ball (a small English ball) with only two days rest.

Prep Basketball Is Back—Ready or Not

By CHUCK ABAIR

Basketball is here again — ready or not.

Although football gear is just getting stowed away at most area high schools, several of them will be playing their cage openers in about 11 days.

Many of the gridders who also play the hoop sport will be just getting their basketball legs back by then.

Some football players will moss most of the pre-season drills and others will be absent for the early games due to injuries.

Getting the jump on everyone will be North Branch and Dryden. They clash next Tuesday night at North Branch, South Lyon entertains Clarenceville the next night.

Pontiac Central will head the 1st big prep night Dec. 1 as host to Edsel Ford. Avondale and Rochester renew their court rivalry, Coach Don Mauti unveils what is expected to be another strong Clarkston team against Ortonville and Oak Park visits Bloomfield Hills in some of the other attractions that night.

The majority of county quintets will be in action from Dec. 4 on.

The Chiefs have a long way to go to match their 18-2 slate of a year ago with such standouts as John Bandy, Charley Barge, Harrison Munson and Amos Bailey finished. Big Bradell Pritchett, Henry Robertson, Booker Hurner and Vern Ellis are among the boys Van Ryzin is counting on to help take up the slack. Robertson is currently sidelined for six weeks with a broken wrist.

Height may be coach Dick Hall's major problem as the Huskies enter the rugged Inter-Lakes wars.

At Waterford, Gerry Wallace has a rebuilding job with key men Barry Campbell and Bruce Mahrle departed. Grid ace Gary Bryce and little Ed Stigers are the top returnees.

Farmington has a fair nucleus while new Southfield boss Will Steinke has little experience to start with. The same is true for Lloyd Houden, who goes back to coaching at Berkley.

St. Michael is strong on paper with Tom Dabbs, Pat Campbell and other veteran performers. St. Fred is missing talented Tom Derocher. Orchard Lake St. Mary may get off to a slow start due to injuries but should be rolling by January.

Birmingham still has sharpshooter Merv Gallup and Phil Isbell while Bill Massey has been impressive thus far. The other Eastern Michigan fives all have lettermen to work with but have lost their outstanding individuals.

Avondale has Herb Harris, Darryl Thorpe and Dick Smith. Hal Carlin has a big task building around Dean Callison, Troy, Clawson, Madison and Fitzgerald all have several boys back but not the top scorers.

The Wolves have Bob Porritt and John Parks among several vets. Don Appleton, 6-5, heads Brighton. Holly should have something with versatile Ron Morlan in charge. West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills are rebuilding. Milford and Clarenceville may have the stuff to move up the ladder.

Romeo's district champs were riddled by graduation but the Bulldogs may still be Tri-County favorite. Rochester and Lapeer are rebuilding and L'Anse Creus is improved.

★ ★ ★

Oxford should be loaded featuring Doug Stott and Jeff Brady in a well-balanced South Central loop. The others are missing their No. 1 1958-59 boys but have several back. Injuries will hurt North Branch early.

Cranbrook should have a sound unit despite some injuries. Reid Bannow will be hard to replace at Utica. South Lyon has experienced hands.

It won't be long now — cage fans.

EARLY CASUALTY — All that Henry Robertson, Pontiac Central guard, can do now, is practice his left hand dribbling for the next six weeks. Coach Art Van Ryzin lost the high jumping cager for this expected period of time when he fell and fractured his right wrist early this week in practice.

U.S., Canada Turn Tide Against Vicious Lamprey

LANSING (UP) — The sea lamprey — scourge of the commercial fishing industry — is losing a battle for survival in the Great Lakes.

For man, its enemy, the battle is far from won. But after years of trying, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and the corresponding Canadian agency, aided by fish experts in the Great Lakes and Ontario province, appear to have turned the tide in a campaign to wipe out the vicious little parasite.

Now work has begun to restore the lake trout to its once prominent place in the commercial fishing picture.

This fall, trained crews nearly completed treatment of streams tributary to Lake Superior with chemicals which kill lamprey in the larval stage without harming other forms of fish or plant life.

Five streams on the Canadian side and five or six on the American side plus Ontario's Michipicoten river, still await treatment. It is expected the project will wind up next June.

Planting of lake trout has begun, with Michigan, Wisconsin and Ontario putting in 900,000 last summer.

Next, crews will tackle the much bigger job of exterminating lamprey in Lakes Michigan and Huron, where lake trout are virtually extinct. Reduced stocks survived in Lake Superior, making it the logical choice for launching the counter-attack against the lamprey.

Electrical barriers set up on Lake Superior streams have done an effective, but somewhat expensive job of trapping spawning runs.

MSU Leader in College Soccer Growth

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Eight years ago there were five collegiate soccer teams in the Midwest.

Now there are 47.

"And the sport is still growing tremendously, especially in Michigan," said Gene Kenney, soccer coach at Michigan State.

Calvin College of Grand Rapids just completed its first varsity season after elevation from a club status, Kenney said. Central Michigan, U. of D., Wayne State and Michigan all have soccer clubs, but not all have backing from their respective universities, he noted.

"We're getting a lot of non-collegiate teams throughout the state, too," he said. The sport has been active in Detroit for some time, he said, and there are teams in Flint, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Benton Harbor and Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

He was named coach when Michigan State's team achieved varsity status in the fall of 1956, and piloted the Spartans through three straight undefeated seasons.

The Spartans were ranked No. 1 in the Midwest their first three years and last year the team was voted second in the nation by the country's soccer coaches.

The team weathered its worst year to finish among the Midwestern elite for the fourth straight season. A 25-game unbeaten streak was snapped by St. Louis, 4-2, and the Spartans later lost to Wheaton, 4-3, in overtime in their regional television debut.

But they still finished with a 7-2 season mark and shared first place in the Midwestern Soccer Conference with four other teams. It was MSU's first season in the conference.

★ ★ ★

"I've been plugging for this for three years," he said. "Interest in soccer should really develop if we schedule most of our home games on Friday nights, which would be an attractive time for a sponsor."

★ ★ ★

But he said he might have trouble getting an appropriation from the university to have the necessary lights installed for regional telecasts in time for next season.

Kenney cited the inauguration of the NCAA tournament as proof soccer is growing on the national scene too. St. Louis will represent the Midwest mainly because of its victory over the Spartans.

"Michigan State would have been in the tournament if it had been started last year," Kenney mused, "but we just didn't have the defense this season."

U-D Has Chore in Final Clash

Titans Meet Old Rival Villanova Saturday in Detroit

DETROIT (UP) — The University of Detroit has the tough chore tomorrow of ending its football season against a team whose coach already has been fired.

★ ★ ★

The Titans' final opponent is Villanova which has had only one victory in nine games this season.

It will be Frank Reagan's last game as coach of the Wildcats. Reagan, who doubles as Villanova athletic director, "fired" himself at mid-season. Joe Rogers, Reagan's chief aide, will coach the Wildcats next year.

Detroit, finishing its first season under Jim Miller, is shooting for its third straight victory. It would give Miller an acceptable 6-4 record as a rookie.

British Boxer Hard at Work for Title Shot

★ ★ ★

Charnley has been here for a week and is now down to hard work getting read for Texas' first international championship fight.

★ ★ ★

Brown also is plugging away hard. As soon as Joe found out he had another southpaw on his hands he got busy. The last southpaw he met — Kenny Lane — brought from him that famous quote: "They ought to throw all left-handers in the creek."

South African Study Points That Way

Is Smog Behind Lung Cancer?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Yet another large-scale statistical study of a new familiar subject is notable because it didn't get the familiar result.

It concluded that a greatly increased atmospheric pollution over cities may be the "major factor" in the sharp rise in lung cancer deaths over the past few decades.

It is notable also because its basic statistics were the lung cancer deaths among the white population of the Union of South Africa. This population smokes more cigarettes per capita than any other in the world.

But its rate of lung cancer deaths has been and remains low when compared with the rates for the United States, the Irish Republic, and Great Britain which are second, third and fourth in per-capita cigarette smoking.

This inspired Dr. Geoffrey Dean of Port Elizabeth to study the well-kept South African vital statistics with the help of government statisticians. Between 1947 and 56 the lung cancer death rate among males doubled.

Yet this was a smaller rate of increase than in the United States and Great Britain. Dean related this to the fact that South African urban atmospheres became increasingly polluted in that period. Those atmospheres were less polluted, however, than those of American and British cities.

Dean compared the lung cancer death rate of males born in South Africa with the rates for men who had emigrated there from Great Britain and other countries. Among men who were less than 65 years old when they died, the rate was 30 per cent higher for British emigrants than for natives or for other emigrants. Above the age of 65 there was no difference.

This indicated to Dean that the British emigrants under 65 had been subjected to the polluted atmospheres of British cities for longer periods before they moved to the relatively cleaner atmospheres of South Africa. Relying on other statistical tables, he assumed that the older men had been in South Africa much longer and so had the same risk as natives.

Still another statistical point was a comparison of lung cancer death rates in cities and in rural districts. In South Africa, the rural cigarette consumption is comparable per capita to that of the cities, Dean said, and if cigarette smoking were the principal factor in lung cancer, the lung cancer death rates would be comparable.

But they weren't. The urban rate was much larger than the rural. Dean went further. He compared the relative atmospheric pollution of South African cities and showed that generally speaking, the death rate was pegged to the degree of pollution.

In his report to the British Medical Journal, Dean said "environmental factors" had to be chiefly responsible for the increases in male lung cancer death rates. One such factor, he said, was cigarette smoking.

"However," he added, "the relatively low incidence of lung cancer generally among the heavy-smoking South African men, the higher and rapidly rising incidence in the growing cities, and the high incidence in the younger age group of immigrants from Britain, suggests that the air pollution which occurs in modern industrial life—smoke, smog, traffic fumes, etc.—may be a major factor."

Says Ike's Secrecy to Spur Legislators

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Virginia congressman warns that President Eisenhower's refusal to give Congress a government report on U.S. aid to Viet Nam will spark a legislative fight next year over secrecy in government.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Burr P. Harrison (D-Va) said the President's "justifications" for withholding the information would be studied. He said there would be "a renewal of the debate over secrecy in government" and probably new legislative proposals on the subject of "the people's right to known."

Quarters Opened to Push Brown; He Is Dismayed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A "Brown for President" head-quarters was officially opened here Wednesday by Emmet F. Hagerty, San Francisco Democratic Central Committee chairman.

The surprise opening was apparently made without the approval of Gov. Edmund G. Brown or state Democratic leaders.

Fred G. Dutton, executive secretary to the governor, said Brown "gasped" when told of the move. "We knew nothing about this and I'm sure the governor is not anxious for activity of this type," Dutton said.

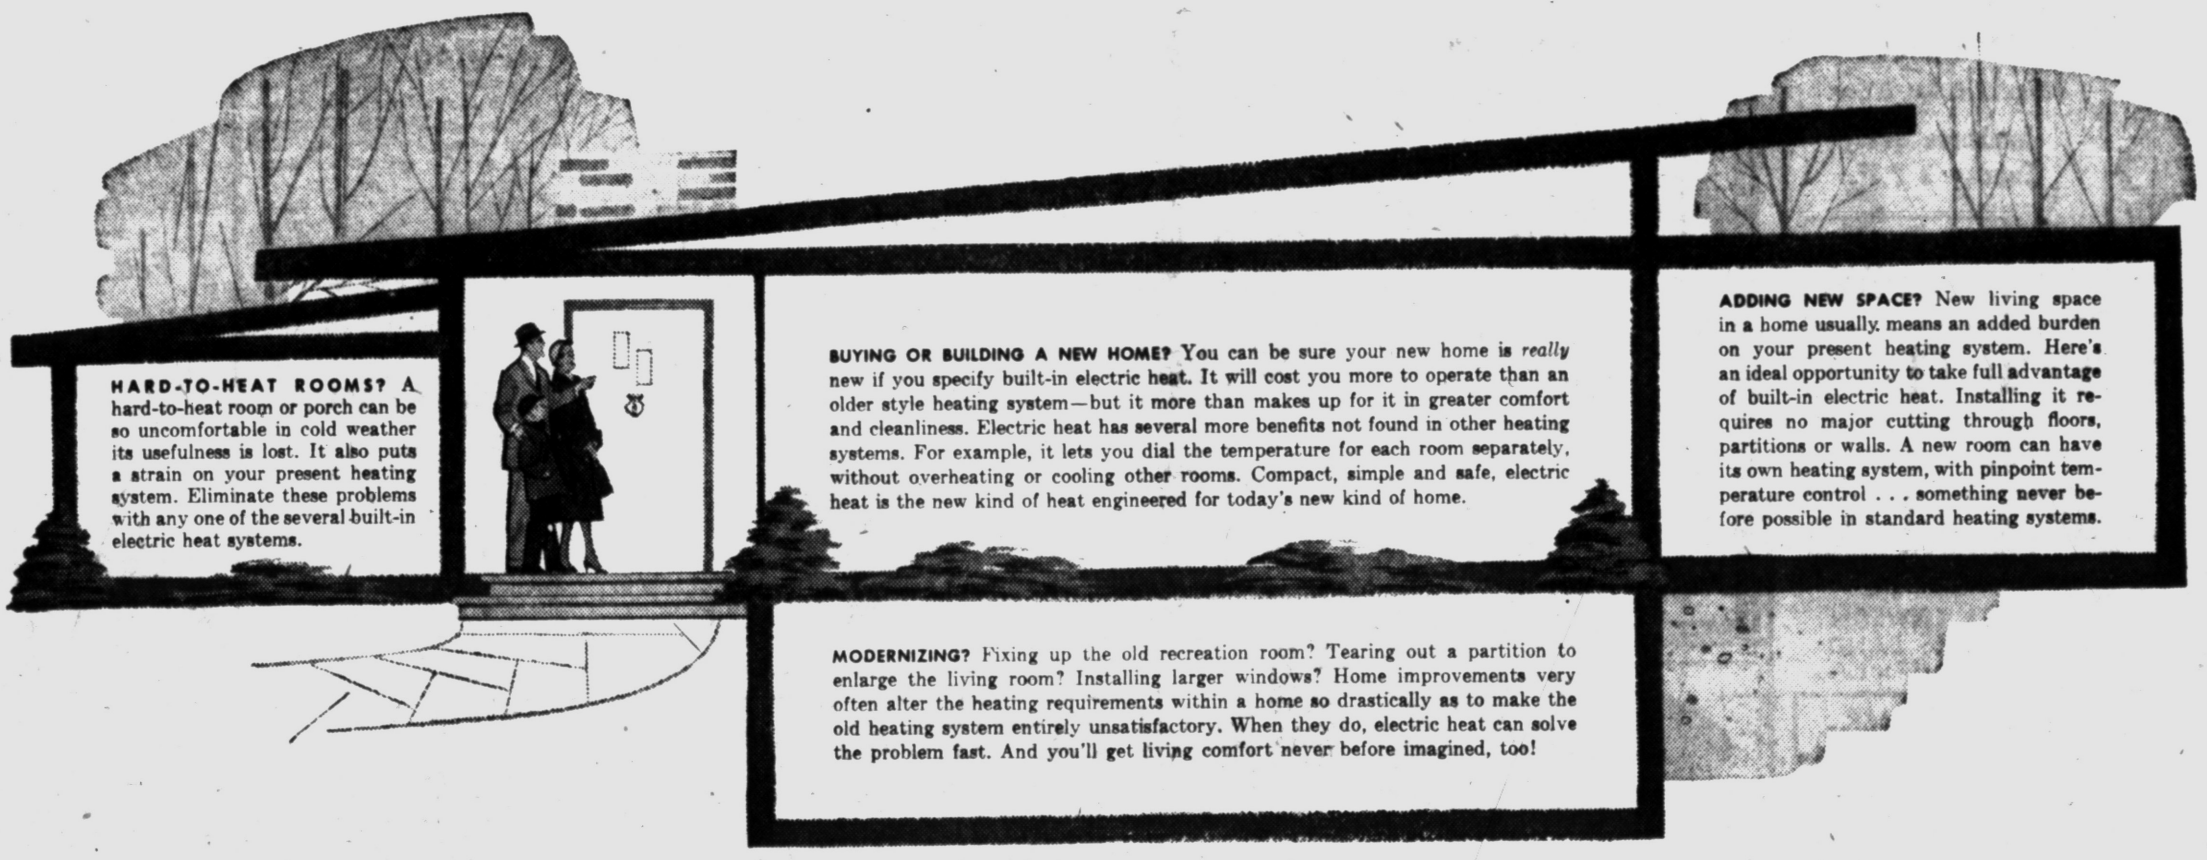
ELECTRIC HEAT



HARD-TO-HEAT ROOMS? A hard-to-heat room or porch can be so uncomfortable in cold weather its usefulness is lost. It also puts a strain on your present heating system. Eliminate these problems with any one of the several built-in electric heat systems.

BUYING OR BUILDING A NEW HOME? You can be sure your new home is really new if you specify built-in electric heat. It will cost you more to operate than an older style heating system—but it more than makes up for it in greater comfort and cleanliness. Electric heat has several more benefits not found in other heating systems. For example, it lets you dial the temperature for each room separately, without overheating or cooling other rooms. Compact, simple and safe, electric heat is the new kind of heat engineered for today's new kind of home.

ADDING NEW SPACE? New living space in a home usually means an added burden on your present heating system. Here's an ideal opportunity to take full advantage of built-in electric heat. Installing it requires no major cutting through floors, partitions or walls. A new room can have its own heating system, with pinpoint temperature control . . . something never before possible in standard heating systems.

MODERNIZING? Fixing up the old recreation room? Tearing out a partition to enlarge the living room? Installing larger windows? Home improvements very often alter the heating requirements within a home so drastically as to make the old heating system entirely unsatisfactory. When they do, electric heat can solve the problem fast. And you'll get living comfort never before imagined, too!

CLEANLINESS . . . The cleanest heating method ever devised, electric heating means walls, draperies, carpets and furniture stay cleaner longer. With electric heat, there's no soot or other products of combustion circulating in the air.

CUSTOM COMFORT . . . Keep one room at 72, another at 65. The temperature can be up in one room, down or completely off in another.

EFFICIENCY . . . Electric heat lets you raise the temperature in one room without firing up the entire heating plant. And with electric heat, all of the heat created is usable heat—none is wasted up a flue.

FLEXIBILITY . . . Electric heat can replace regular baseboards—can be built into the walls or ceiling. Whether it be one room or the entire home, there is a system to give better heating—electrically.

CARES FOR ITSELF . . . Set a dial, then forget it. There are no moving parts at all in radiant systems. Forced air electric heating systems are long-lived, too; they use low-velocity fans. In either type, there's little to wear out, need adjustment or replacement.

REDUCED RATE . . . In addition to the money saved on cleaning and decorating, residential customers can now take advantage of a new, lower rate. Just 2¢ per kilowatt-hour when monthly electrical use is over 750 kilowatt-hours. Though other living costs have been rising steadily during the past several years, electricity remains one of your biggest bargains—now more than ever, with this new and lower rate step.

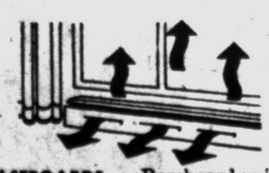
CEILINGS . . . Insulated electric heating cable can be embedded in ceilings or floors to provide radiant warmth throughout the room.



BASEBOARDS . . . Baseboard units, heating both by radiation and convection, can be used to replace the baseboards now in your home.

ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP . . . Works on an entirely different principle from other electric units. It is a year-round climate control system which heats in winter and cools in summer—automatically. The electric heat pump also filters and dehumidifies the air.

Look for this symbol when you buy. It assures you of safe, dependable installation. For complete information about electric heating, stop in at the Edison office near your home or send in coupon at right for free booklet about electric heating.

Needed at Waterford Center

Seek Volunteer Librarian

Mrs. Kenneth Valentine, who has been associated with the library since its origination 15 years ago, has moved to Clarkston.

Requirements for the local library unit are few, Mrs. Valentine explained. A person must be free to see that the library is in operation three days plus a few nights a week.

A future librarian must like people — especially children — must have some knowledge of book repairing and of the types of literature distributed, Mrs. Valentine said.

7,000 VOLUMES

Book club members are usually available for a workshop Wednesday mornings to assist in keeping the files up to date and repairing books.

Those interested in donating their time and services to the only public library in the township may contact the CAI or Mrs. Valentine.

Eskimo Warming Up to Coast

By JAMES BACON

★ ★ ★

Proof that the movies will find you if you're pretty enough is Dorcas Brower of Barrow, northernmost city in Alaska, U.S.A.

45 BELOW

★ ★ ★

A Warners talent scout spotted her acting in college plays in Sitka. A black-haired cutie with a radiant smile, Dorcas is like any other American teen-ager. She wants to meet Rock Hudson and Kim Novak.

★ ★ ★

She also destroys another stateside conception about Eskimos.

"I suppose it would be fun rubbing noses with a boy friend but neither I, nor any of my girl friends, have ever tried it. We kiss like anyone else."

Dorcas comes from one of the frozen north's most distinguished families. Her Dutch father is Barrow's richest citizen. He owns a big reindeer ranch, two trading posts and the town's main restaurant.

"I am more than 50 per cent Eskimo," she said proudly. Her grandfather was Charles DeWitt Brower, author of "50 Years Below Zero."

Will Rogers and Wiley Post were on a visit to Dorcas' grandfather when a plane crash took their lives in 1935. The grandfather helped bring out the bodies of the famed cowboy humorist and the round-the-world flight pio-

Hollywood Headlines:

Mary Costa Is Opera Hit After TV Commercials

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The big news in the opera world is a one-time door-opener named Mary Costa.

THOMAS

TV fans will remember Mary as the blonde, beauteous salesgirl who pitched the product for an auto firm on the "Climax" show. She patted more fenders and opened more doors than a used car salesman in the busy season.

Now the doors are opening for Mary. The reason is her sensational debut with the San Francisco Opera Company. She drew rave reviews up and down the Pacific Coast, especially for her musetta in "La Boheme."

Albert Goldbert of the Los Angeles Times called her "an enormously gifted young singing actress" and said she ran off with the show.

STILL AGLOW

Back in her Beverly Hills home after the rigors of singing in five operas, Mary is still aglow. And well she should be, because she now has the ace impressario, Sol Hurok, to mastermind her career. Just after the opera season ended, she signed a deal with Hurok that will guarantee her $250,000 over a five-year period.

"One of the biggest kicks in all this," she remarked, "is in seeing the surprise of people who know me in Hollywood. One of the people in the Chrysler Corporation said to me, 'Gee, Mary, why didn't you sing like that on our show?' They wouldn't let me!"

She is glad she turned down a contract offer from the Metropolitan. It would have tied her down to small roles and small money until she "had developed." No doubt about it, Mary is developed now—physically and artistically.

Hurok has big plans for her, including a Jack Benny TV special, concerts and a European tour. And next summer she plans to make a movie abroad with Maurice Chevalier. It will be written, directed and produced by her able husband, Frank Tashlin.

Worms All Around Cull Peeler Logs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Fishermen seeking worms have found a paradise in big cull peeler logs.

Crewmen bring in the huge logs that have sound, well-seasoned wood in their interiors, but the exterior sections are full of fishing worms.

Montana Is Jolted by Earth Tremors

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—Earth shocks which ranged from strong to very weak jolted southwest Montana Thursday, little more than three months after the earthquakes which claimed 28 lives in the Madison River Canyon.

A Montana State College spokesman said eight separate temblors were recorded. No damage was reported.

'Ben-Hur' Is Praised by Movie Critics

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York movie critics used their most extravagant adjectives Thursday in acclaiming the world premiere performance of the third film version of "Ben-Hur," the most expensive—and longest—movie ever made by Hollywood.

"Super - spectacle," "stupendous," "thunderous," "mammoth" were some of the adjectives used to describe the 15 million dollar technicolor version of the Gen. Lew Wallace novel. The film runs for three hours and 32 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Three of the film's stars, Israeli actress Haya Harareet, and actors Charlton Heston and Stephen Boyd, were among the celebrities who arrived in limousines to attend the premiere at The Loew's State Theater on Broadway. Also in the opening night audience of 1,800 was Ramon Navarro, star of the 1926 silent version of the 80-year-old novel.

★ ★ ★

While the critics generally acclaimed the film for its artistic and pictorial merits, several expressed the opinion it ran too long.

Canned Laughter Kick Doesn't Scare Benny

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I asked Jack Benny whatever happened to canned laughter and he said, "Nothing."

★ ★ ★

I said I'd heard it was going to be banned from TV by order of the big bosses and Jack shrugged eloquently. "I don't use it with live shows, but with filmed shows when you've got an audience of one person, you've got to have laughter," Jack said. "You've got to know how to use it. I use it so nobody can tell it's canned."

WILSON

And if the public can tell it's canned, the guys who put it in get canned, so there.

Eddie Fisher had a tremendous Waldorf opening—biggest I ever saw there — just like Hollywood only bigger — with Eddie singing many love songs that seemed aimed at Liz Taylor.

Liz had personally invited about 50 Big Names—Gloria Vanderbilt, Audrey Meadows, Aly Khan, Phil Silvers, Red Buttons, Ingemar Johansson, Arthur Loew Jr., Edith Adams, Johnny Mathis. The crowd was so great in the lobby that the 12:15 a.m. show was delayed till 1 a.m. One table of 12 which had seen Eddie at dinner wouldn't go, so Liz had to pay their $450 tab to get them to depart.

BENNY

Eddie in a closing speech said, "This wouldn't have been possible without the greatest little lady in the world. I'd like to have her take a little bow—not too big a one—she really is Mrs. Eddie Fisher."

★ ★ ★

ARTIST STORY: An abstract painter had just finished a celebrity's portrait. "I don't like the nose," the painter said. "Why don't you change it?" asked his wife. "I would," said the painter, "but I don't remember where it is."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Ima Washout complains that scientists have now gone too darn far: "They've fooled around and invented something besides liquor to cure a cold."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Home today is the place to stay while the car's being fixed.—Quote. That's earl, brother.

Harry Golden 'Nervous' Seeing Play About Him

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK — Harry Golden, the stout, cigar-smoking, eminent writer and editor of Charlotte, N.C., doesn't find it an easy thing to sit in a theater and see a slice of his life portrayed on the stage.

★ ★ ★

"It makes me nervous," he said of "Only in America" by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, which was presented last night at the Cort Theater.

"There is a large area of embarrassment that I can't quite explain."

The proprietor of the Carolina Israelite, paper of personal comment that has attained national circulation, was in last night's audience, as were his wife, Genevieve; their three sons, Harry Jr., William and Richard; and his two brothers, Jacob Goldhurst of Springfield, Mass., and Max Goldhurst of New York City.

PRAISES PERSOFF

Golden had nothing but praise for Nehemiah Persoff, the stocky and still rather young character actor who manages to achieve a startling resemblance to the editor in both looks and mannerisms.

The best thing about this Herman Shumlin production (Shumlin also directed) is the work of Persoff, which cannot be commended too highly.

The play itself is a highly uneven piece of work with an almost desultory, although sometimes amusing, first half as it tells how Golden establishes himself and his paper in Charlotte and wins over the community despite his outspoken comments in favor of school integration and on other touchy subjects.

Roosevelt Had Same Trouble

Ike Losing Battle of Budget as Spending Nears Record

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — In that long ago time—the 1952 campaign — President Eisenhower had visions of balanced budgets. And he always insisted spending be kept down. But budgets got unbalanced and spending went up.

★ ★ ★

This year, for instance, his budget called for 77 billion dollars, a peacetime record, but spending may hit 79 billion. For the coming year his budget is expected to be around 81 billion, another record.

★ ★ ★

If this year's budget turns out to be unbalanced—because spending exceeded income—it will make the fifth year in a row that has happened.

But Presidents Roosevelt and Truman had budget troubles, too. Roosevelt had said he would balance the budget but never did in his 12 years in office. Truman also had deficits as well as three surplus years.

History has been against all three Presidents. From this country's beginning—in the first two years of its life, 1789-91, expenses were only four million dollars—the cost of government has been going up, with just occasional backsliding.

★ ★ ★

That has been particularly true in this century with its three wars, a big depression, and a series of recessions. All were problems the economists couldn't figure in their calculations.

Besides, the population has been exploding. So as a result government obligations have been increasing in all directions. To put it another way: The government and its problems keep getting bigger.

Kilauea Hurls Fiery Debris 1,000 Feet High

Volcano Forms New Cone in Lava Burst

HONOLULU (AP) — A new volcano cone was born today as mighty Kilauea volcano spewed tons of glowing, molten lava and steaming rock 1,000 feet into the air from a week-old fiery vent.

★ ★ ★

The cone, half-moon in shape, began to rise around a 150-foot fissure in the southern wall of Kilauea Iki crater. It began to take shape after seven days of eruption flowed an estimated 10 million cubic yards of lava down the crater's gentle inner slope in a 100-foot wide river.

★ ★ ★

At the bottom of the crater, a lake of lava had risen to over 200 feet in depth. And it was rising at a rate of three feet an hour.

★ ★ ★

Seismologists continued to minimize any threat of an overflow, saying it would take weeks before Kilauea Iki — a mile wide and equally long — would spill over.

★ ★ ★

An overflow would not threaten surrounding farm land or the few hundred inhabitants of Volcano Village, about a mile north of the erupting crater. The overflow would not move toward the settlement, but into the main Kilauea crater less than a mile west of Kilauea Iki.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of spectators were warned to remain in their cars while viewing the flaming spectacle on Hawaii's southernmost island. The warning came after the unpredictable volcano burst forth with a tremendous thrust Thursday, sending its fiery fountain 1,150 feet high for a new record in the history of Hawaii's volcanos.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Three inter-island aircraft were hit by high flying bits of lava and rock but this failed to dampen the airlines' volcano excursion trade. They reported booming business.

Windscreens on all three planes —a Hawaiian Airlines Convair and two Aloha Lines jetprops—were shattered when they flew at 1,000 feet over the erupting crater Wednesday night.

No serious damage nor injuries were reported.

N.Y. Grand Jury Secrecy Ruled

Judge Decides Public Won't Get Report on Rigged TV Quizzes

NEW YORK (AP) — A grand jury's report on its probe of rigged television quiz shows will not be made public.

General Sessions Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer ruled Thursday that "where private citizens are involved, the function of the grand jury ends when it determines that no crime has been committed.

★ ★ ★

The grand jury drew up its findings in a 12,000-word presentment last June. The panel heard 150 witnesses over a nine-month period.

★ ★ ★

Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan and the grand jury contended that the presentment should be accepted in the public interest. Acceptance would have meant placing it in the court records, which are public.

Last August, while weighing his decision, Judge Schweitzer granted a request of the House legislative oversight subcommittee to see the minutes of the grand jury's evidence, as distinct from the presentment.

★ ★ ★

Nixon Headquarters Opens in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A "New Yorkers for Nixon" headquarters opened Thursday on Madison avenue between 55th and 56th streets.

Several hundred persons crowded into the 12-by-75-foot former store to sample cider and doughnuts handed out by supporters of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination.

Chairman of the group is Peter M. Flanigan, on leave from his job as vice president of Dillion, Read and Co., a Wall Street brokerage firm.

Burroughs Wins Bid

DETROIT (AP) — A 35-million dollar contract has been awarded Burroughs Corp. by the Air Materiel Command, aeronautical systems center. The contract is for "a radar station housed in an RC121 reconnaissance aircraft to provide a seaward extension of the SAGE system. It will allow a greater sweep and coverage for America's early warning lines."

Time Confusion Finally Settled Back in 1883

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sunday, Nov. 18, 1883, became known as "the day with two moons" in many parts of the United States—because that's when "standard time" was born.

Until then, according to Harrison J. Cowan, author of "Time and Its Measurement" (World), the country ran on "more than 300 local times."

As a result, he says, "when it was noon in New York City, it was 11:55 a.m. in Philadelphia. It was 11:50 a.m. in Baltimore and 11:45 in Washington."

Cowan, who is technical director of the Longines-Wittnauer Watch Co., Inc., and who will be in charge of timing the winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., next February, says that the railroads "led the way in introducing standard time throughout the nation, for it had become hazardous to try to catch a train or meet one.

"In 1883, at noon on Sunday, Nov. 18, all railroad clocks were changed—many being set forward or back as much as a half hour—to conform with what was later called standard time. This was an epic event, and it became known as the day with two moons."

Seaway Cargo Tonnage Rises Sharply in 1959

OTTAWA (AP) — Seventy-two per cent more cargo was carried through the St. Lawrence Seaway to the end of October than through the old St. Lawrence canals in the corresponding period last year.

The Seaway Authority said Friday that from the start of the navigation season in April to the end of last month 17,400,000 tons were moved from Montreal to Lake Ontario — 7,300,000 tons more than in the same period in 1958.

SPACE ISSUES

Space Issues Soar Forward

NEW YORK (AP) — Space age issues spurted again, inspiring the stock market to a moderate gain on average early this afternoon. Turnover was fairly lively over-all.

Advance of the pivotal stocks was spotty at best and was born by the industrials.

Leading stocks were up fractions, mainly, with a few chemicals and selected stocks rising a point or so. Rails and utilities did little.

The electronics-missile-rocket group stole the show with gains running to half a dozen points for Ampex which is being touted in some quarters as a split candidate.

In addition to favorable Wall street comment for electronics there was a published prediction that space spending is headed for almost double present outlays in the government's next fiscal year.

Steels were narrowly ahead as cautious optimism prevailed on the prospects of negotiated steel settlement before the Taft-Hartley, back-to-work injunction expires.

As the "glamor" group took off again, Motorola ran up more than 5, Texas Instruments more than 4 and Zenith about 3. Gains of better than 2 were made by Litton Industries and Varian Associates.

Raytheon tacked on about 2. Gains of a point or so were scored by Sperry Rand and Radio Corp.

★ ★ ★

In the rocket fuel department, Thiokol gained well over a point and general tire was fractionally higher.

Merck was the best of the drugs, rising around 2 and International Nickel scored a similar gain, highlighting the nonferrous metals.

Fractional gains were made by such leading steelmakers as Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin. U.S. Steel eased.

Lanza's Widow May Get Four Children Back Today

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — An attorney for Mario Lanza's widow says she will be reunited with her four children, probably today.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

They told this story: Mae Hicks and Shirley Borregaard, mother and sister of the singer's widow, Muriel, visited her recently. Mrs. Lanza has been under great emotional strain since her husband died of a heart attack in Rome Oct. 7.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lanza was sleeping when the children—Coleen, 11; Elissa, 9; Danyon, 6; Mark, 5—were taken to the airport. When their private school called to report their absence, Mrs. Lanza contacted police.

Truman Won't Accompany Ike

President Says Talks With Congress Would Be More Useful

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has turned down a suggestion that he take a top Democratic leader with him on his foreign tour next month.

★ ★ ★

He said he thought a pre-departure discussion with congressional leaders of both parties would be more useful. He said he has already proposed such an arrangement.

The President stated his views in a letter to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn) from Eisenhower's vacation headquarters in Augusta, Ga. Dodd made the letter public Thursday night. There was no further comment from Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

The letter was in reply to a suggestion Dodd made last week that one or more Democrats experienced in international affairs be invited to make the trip. He specifically suggested former President Harry S. Truman, among others.

Children outgrow their shoes every one to six months until they reach the age of about 15, according to studies made by foot specialists.

Paint, Plaid, Dungarees—Still a Deer

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Baby, a tame deer who had the run of this Catskill mountain town, is dead. He was shot by a hunter even though he had "pet" painted on each flank and a red plaid shirt and pair of dungarees tied around his neck.

★ ★ ★

Baby, who ate spaghetti and meatballs, was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pittaluga after the deer's mother was killed by an automobile. Every day the animal made a trip to meet the three Pittaluga children at the school bus stop. The animal also enjoyed eating hamburgers, bananas and canned dog food.

★ ★ ★

With the hunting season on, Baby was painted and dressed up to prevent his being mistaken for a wild deer.

Popular Gal's Line Busy ---So He Invents Remedy

BOSTON (AP) — In this case, necessity to reach a popular girl by telephone was the mother of invention.

★ ★ ★

He told all about the invention and demonstrated it yesterday at an electronics show in Boston.

WASTED TIME

Sundra said every time he tried to reach a certain young lady, a student at Commons College, her line was busy.

There were times when he'd waste many, many precious minutes trying to get a call through. After all, there was only one telephone in the dormitory and swains always were trying to reach the 20 young women residents.

★ ★ ★

When the telephone at the other end finally rings, a buzzer goes off at the caller's end and he can pick up his own telephone and begin his conversation.

And the mechanism keeps calling with such frequency that no one can nip in ahead of it.

MORE THAN ONE

He said he also has developed a drum-like attachment into which can be inserted several telephone numbers.

A push of the button will ring any of the numbers.

Lipstick Furor Will Follow Flemming's Cranberry Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lipsticks may follow cranberries as the subject of the Food and Drug Administration's next battle with industry.

Last month, FDA banned the use in lipsticks of certain coal-tar colors it said had caused death and illness in test rats. The ban, if uncontested, would have gone into effect Jan. 6, 1960.

★ ★ ★

But lipstick makers, in vigorous protests just filed with FDA, are contending that most lipsticks on the American market would be affected. The 17 shades of red, yellow and orange the FDA cited are key ingredients and have been used for many years without harm, they say.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the manufacturers say, the ban could ruin much of the lipstick industry, whose retail sales are estimated at some 80 million dollars annually.

The industry contends there has been no substantial proof that humans may be harmed by what they claim is an infinitesimal amount of color that gets into the digestive system from lipstick.

It will include demands for a change in the law which now permits use of only those colors which the FDA has certified as harmless for use in foods, drugs and cosmetics. There are 130 approved dyes, but none suitable for lipsticks, the makers contend. The colors aren't right.

Demands already have been filed for public hearings, but no date has been set for them. The decision what to do about lipsticks rests with Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming, within whose department FDA operates.

FDA started its lipstick color crackdown after 90-day feeding tests showed they can harm laboratory rats. Some animals died. Others showed retarded growth, liver and kidney damage, enlarged spleens, anemia and other ailments.

However, FDA pharmacologists say cancer would not show up in such short-term tests and it is generally agreed tests of at least two years are required to disclose cancer effects. Such long-term tests are now being conducted with some of the lipstick colors.

If the ban goes into effect as ordered, no new lipsticks can be made with the 17 forbidden color dyes. FDA spokesmen say there would be no action, however, against lipsticks already made and in warehouses and stores.

★ ★ ★

FDA, issuing the ban order Oct. 5, conceded that the amounts of the color which may get into the human digestive system from lipsticks are much smaller than the amounts fed the test rats.

★ ★ ★

But, under the law, the government must ban the use of any coal-tar color that is harmful in significant amounts in the diet of test animals even though its use in smaller amounts could be safe.

Dave Garroway Strikes Back

Takes 15 Minutes to Answer 'Smears' on 'Today' Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Dave Garroway used a quarter-hour portion of his morning television program today to answer what he termed "unconscionable smears" against the show because of its advance recording.

Garroway said such smears resulted from a previous episode on the NBC "Today" program during which he showed emotional stress while speaking of Charles Van Doren.

Van Doren had just been fired from a position with the network after admitting to congressional probers that he lied in denying he received help while a contestant on the former "Twenty-One" quiz program over NBC.

Garroway said the "Today" program had been attacked as deceitful in some quarters because his remarks had been recorded on video tape the afternoon before the program was aired.

"We have been accused of deceit. Our integrity has been attacked. I feel I must answer directly now. When I'm accused of dishonesty I feel I must answer," said Garroway.

"This program is taped. The words I'm speaking now were recorded 14½ hours ago. I thought everybody understood this. Apparently that is not the case."

Garroway went on to say that it was decided some months ago to record in advance the portion of the program seen in all time zones. Otherwise, he said, people on the West Coast would have to get up at 4 a. m. to see it, since it begins at 7 a. m. in New York.

"There has been no secret about all this taping, no secret whatsoever. It was given all the publicity our press department could give it."

Delayed Polaris Shot Fired Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy successfully fired a Polaris submarine missile today, ending a five-week delay in the test program.

An announcement shortly after launching said that "preliminary data indicates the shot was successful."

This was the first Polaris launching since Oct. 12. That missile failed, as did the two that preceded it, and the test program was slowed while engineers sought to work out the bugs.

Crooks No Longer Are Cleaning Up

Police found they were selling the filled jugs as a household cleanser. The product sold was a mixture of water with a small amount of a commercial cleanser colored with grape and orange soft drinks.

The two men were convicted of peddling without a license.

Rockefeller Slates Trip of Midwest Next Month

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has accepted invitations to at least three midwestern states next month.

A spokesman said visits to Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin "are definite" and the trip "may be enlarged upon" later.

Rockefeller will attend a Republican fund raising dinner in South Bend, Ind., Dec. 12, a Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner in Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 14 and a dinner at the world affairs council meeting in Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 15.

Thefts by Employes Bankrupt Firms

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — A management engineer said a study showed that thefts by employes forced more than 200 firms to go out of business in the United States in 1958.

Waterford High? Nope! Call It Edison in 1961

The name of the Waterford Township Senior High School will be changed as of September 1961.

The Township Board of Education decided last night to call it the Thomas A. Edison High School.

The reason for the change is that a second school, to open in 1961, will be known as the Charles F. Kettering High School.

Four other names were approved by the board for elementary schools in the $5-million building program voters approved in March.

The names Della Lutes, Carl Sandburg, Edgar A. Guest and Lucinda H. Stone, were selected because of their outstanding contribution to Michigan, according to the chairman of the names committee, Mrs. Donald Adams.

Hits Pressure From Industry

Labor Economist Says Bureau of Statistics at Corporations' Mercy

DETROIT (AP)—A top labor union economist says the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington "has been subjected to tremendous pressure" by managemen' in the bureaus study of the nation's productivity trends.

★ ★ ★

In a speech here last night, Nat Weinberg, who directs the United Auto Workers' economic analysis department, said the pressure came from "certain business and political groups."

Weinberg said "business has powerful leverage for persuading the bureau to do its bidding. The corporations control, and at any time can shut off, the flow of basic data essential to the bureau's operation."

★ ★ ★

"At stake also," he said, "are untold millions of dollars to UAW members and other workers whose wage increases and living standard improvements depend upon the rate of productivity advance in the national economy, whether because of formal improvement factor provisions or on a less formal basis."

★ ★ ★

Weinberg demanded public discussion of the question of measuring the nation's productivity. He said it is now behind closed doors.

"We hope," Weinberg said, "that by bringing this issue out in the light of day we can help free BLS from the improper management pressures being brought to bear upon it and thus enable it to publish the kind of objective analysis of productivity trends that the public has a right to expect from the bureau."

Weinberg's speech was made to the Detroit chapter of the American Statistical Assn.

TV Newsman Fired for Payola Remarks

DETROIT (AP) — Television station WJBK in Detroit has fired newscaster Jac LeGoff because it says he violated station policy with editorial comment on a news program.

Dismissal of the 37-year-old newscaster yesterday followed his program Wednesday night when he attacked critics of payola—payoffs to disc jockeys for plugging records—on the ground they were unfair to broadcasting.

Commenting on his dismissal, LeGoff said, "The story I used Wednesday night expressed my own strong feelings in defense of which I have been a part for many years.

"To express my own opinion was a violation of station policy but I felt the newspapers were crucifying our industry with accusations about practices that are a part of most American business today."

LeGoff said he had no immediate plans for the future other than "to stay home for a change."

Bill Michaels, vice president and managing director of WJBK, said the station's program director read him a transcript of LeGoff's remarks. Michaels was in Miami Beach, Fla., and did not see the program.

"We came to the conclusion that it just could not be," said Michaels. "It was a direct violation of stated policy done with his eyes wide open."

In commenting on charges that many disc jockeys promote records in return for financial awards, LeGoff commented on his program:

"Have there not been other accusations of this same sort in the government, in the Federal Communications Commission, in the garment industry, in any number of international unions?"

★ ★ ★

LeGoff told his listeners, "Payola in one form or another is a part of American business. This is certainly not to say that I, or the broadcasting industry, condone the practice, but I say, let him who is without sin cast their first stone."

Michaels said, "This editorializing material appeared on our station extemporaneously without the prior knowledge or approval of station management. Such editorializing, regardless of the merits of the content, is completely against station policy."

Ken Cline, a WJBK staff newscaster, is taking LeGoff's place on the program tonight. The station said no successor to LeGoff has been chosen.

Says Oath Nix Can Hit Student

Administrator of Loans Sees Injury to Needy if More Schools Quit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administrator of the Federal Student Loan Fund said Thursday night needy students will suffer if any more colleges drop out of the program because of the loyalty oath requirement.

John F. Morse, the administrator in the Office of Education, said this could lead to the "destruction of a magnificent program."

Morse said in a statement that he was in sympathy with the reasons given by some institutions for withdrawing from the program.

But he said he wished they had "seen fit to stay in the program to work through channels our government provides for the amendment of objectionable legislation."

A bill to repeal the loyalty oath requirement which has drawn objections from many college officials was brought up in the Senate this year. It failed to pass, however.

* * *

Support for any new repeal move was voiced today by T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He said he was not opposed to the oath but felt it should not be a condition for obtaining a loan.

The Education Office reported that 12 colleges and universities have pulled out of the program this year because of the loyalty affidavit. Three colleges — Bryn Mawr, Haverford and Swarthmore — refused from the outset to join the program because of the oath.

The general antipathy of educators toward the oath was highlighted this week when Yale and Harvard universities and Oberlin College withdrew.

Ohio State University also has voiced objection but has not withdrawn. There also are "rumblings" from the University of Virginia, officials said.

* * *

Other colleges which dropped out this year are Amherst, Antioch, Reed, Sarah Lawrence, St. John's of Maryland and Wilmington of Ohio.

Register and Pay, Tax Lobbyists Told at Lansing

LANSING (AP) — Waiting with pen and open hand, Secretary of State James M. Hare today reminded lobbyists campaigning against a Republican nuisance tax package that they must register with the state.

Hare sent out the notice after observing two dozen or more new faces among the ranks of Capitol lobbyists, who prefer to be known as legislative agents. The group is lobbying against one or more sections of a revenue program calling for 74 million dollars in new or increased taxes on services, beer, liquor and tobacco.

Lobbyists must pay a $5 registration fee. Violation can bring a maximum $1,000 fine and one-year prison term.

"If any of these gentlemen would like to register, we will take care of them immediately," said Hare. "We can use the money."

State Foreign Car Registrations Drop

LANSING (AP)—Foreign cars registrations fell off sharply last month, the Department of State reported Thursday.

As against 2,062 titled in September, there were only 1,331 in October, a drop of 731 units.

Secretary of State James M. Hare speculated that American compact cars were cutting into the imported car market.

Mrs. Avis' Alimony Hiked to $2,700 Monthly

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Susan Packer Avis, estranged wife of former car rental agency owner Warren E. Avin, yesterday was granted $2,700 a month in temporary alimony, $1,300 less than she had asked.

Circuit Judge Carl M. Weideman ordered Avis, 44, to pay his 31-year-old wife $2,025 monthly and additional expenses estimated at $624.

Mrs. Avis had asked $4,000 a month to support herself and the couple's three children.

Included in the expenses were school tuition for the Avis' two sons, Warren Jr., 9, and Wayne, 7, taxes and insurance on a 40-room home in Grosse Pointe Farms and a car for Mrs. Avis. The couple's third child is Wendy, 4.

He Crashed Party but Not Right Way

TULSA (AP) — Officer Kenneth Clinton broke up a gambling game, but not according to plan.

★ ★ ★

From a building roof Clinton watched a poker session through a window of an adjacent building. When he started to descend, some bricks crumbled and he fell from the top of the one-story structure.

★ ★ ★

By FRED DANZIG

★ ★ ★

"The Killers," first of four Hemingway-as-adapted-by-A. E. Hotchner productions to be seen on CBS-TV's Electra Playhouse, suffered because too much story had to be thrown in.

As a result, the 90-minute production was incredibly bad.

The reason I say this is that you can't play around with this particular Hemingway short story about a man who is not the master of his fate.

It's a story that is charged with fatalistic dialogue and philosophy which sends the reader's imagination going off in all directions. The proper setting for the story is the imagination, not the TV stage.

Hotchner's adaptation diluted Hemingway's tight little point with some shrieking, something of a minor love story, and brushes against other forces that might have altered the fate of his hunted hero, Ole Andreson.

Ray Walston, as George, the owner of the diner, turned in the most convincing job of the night. Dean Stockwell as an eager-beaver Nick Adams was burdened with some shallow, neo-heroic dialogue.

I'd say the only one who benefitted from this show was Johansson. Having considerable charm as a singer on a Dinah Shore show, he now seems to have some natural ability as an actor.

Ernie Ford, whose parody of "The Mikado" was a success last season, again turns to Gilbert and Sullivan on his NBC-TV show of Jan. 14, with an abbreviated "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Moscow Approves of CBS Return

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System announced Thursday it has received permission to reopen its Moscow news bureau.

The Soviet Union barred the network after lodging a protest against a drama, "The Plot to Kill Stalin," which was carried by CBS-TV Sept. 25, 1958.

John F. Day, director of CBS news, said a correspondent would be named soon.
