Industry Will Get Colorful Salute

A spectacle of color, glamor, rock 'n' roll music and the products of industry, both large and small, will bring the new 1958 Pontiac automobiles and General Motors trucks into the spotlight Saturday.

Residents of the Pontiac area will have their pick of three centers where the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce will present its "Salute to Industry."

There will be shows in a roped-off area on West Huron street between Saginaw and Wayne (9:30 to 11:30 a.m.), at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center (noon until 1:30 p.m.) and at Tel-Huron Shopping Center (2 to 3 p.m.)

The highlight of the entire day's activities will be the first showing of the all-new Pontiac cars and GMC trucks. All 16 styles of the new car will be featured.

There will be 12 new trucks, including two with the new air suspension system, as well as a new GMC bus.

While both young and old take a look at the new vehicles, the six-piece Bobby Barnes Combo will add an extra frill with 15-minute shows of rock 'n' roll music.

TO SING WITH BAND

Pontiac's own Mrs. Gunvor Ryden and Pat Morris will sing several popular numbers with the band. It features Bill McLain as its own vocalist.

Not only will Pontiac's big industry — Pontiac cars and GMC trucks—be spotlighted, but six smaller industries will have static displays of their products mounted on six of the 12 trucks

The industries include Universal Oil Seal, American Forge & Socket, Dostal Foundry, Baldwin Rubber Co., Superior Metal Products Manufacturing Co. and Jig Bushing Co.

A long 30-vehicle caravan will take the show from place to place.

Also included in the line of march and at the show spots will be a new house trailer from the Hutchinson Trailer Sales, 4301 Dixie Hwy.

The new cars will be driven by members of the General Motors Girls Club.

The caravan and shows are being arranged by the Industrial Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Ike to Reveal Surprise Plan in Talk Tonight

Scientific Announcement May Point Way to Meet Sputnik Challenge

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower plans a surprise scientific announcement tonight in his major address to the nation aimed at easing America's Sputnik jitters.

The radio-television speech at 8 p.m. EST launches the President's "chins up" campaign to bolster public confidence in this country's scientific progress, as well as its basic military and economic strength.

Informed sources revealed that Eisenhower has a surprise in store, but would say only that it is in the field of science. It does not relate to any specific achievement by the United States, but apparently to future plans for meeting the Soviet challenge in the satellite and missile race.

The President may also offer some proposals for meeting the long-range problem of developing more scientists in U.S. colleges and universities.

The chief executive may get some last-minute advice on his address earlier today at his weekly meeting with the top-level National Security Council.

Yesterday, U.S. earth satellite experts on the President's National Science Foundation met secretly, but when asked if the meeting had any relationship to tonight's address they replied: "not specifically."

TO ANSWER CRITICS

Eisenhower will be replying to some of the strongest criticism ever leveled at his administration when he goes on the air tonight to discuss the general subject of "Science and Security."

Russia's triumph in beating the United States to outer space has already turned into a boiling political issue, with Democrats and many Republicans demanding that the administration speed up U.S. satellite-missile programs.

The clamor was intensified this week as Sputnik II and its now-famous canine passenger joined Sputnik I in the sky.

It is no coincidence that the President chose the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution to address the nation. If the Russians come up with another spectacular space feat today, he will be in a

Calls Flood State Police, Weather Bureaus

Report Strange Flying Objects

A flood of reports of mysterious flying objects hit police, weather bureaus and Ground Observer Corps stations in southeastern Michigan last night.

Observers saw white, orange and red lights dancing in skies between Detroit and Lansing

SEES RED OBJECT

In Oakland County the Ground Observer Corps had two calls. One from Auburn Heights reported a red object moving about the sky, hovering and then disappearing.

The other caller, from Oxbow Lake, told of a white object, a little larger than a baseball which danced about for "quite a time" and suddenly disappeared.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit said northern lights were visible in southern Michigan last night and may account for many of the sightings.

The bureau also said two jets flying over lower Michigan left condensation trails that glowed in the light of a full moon.

A number of police officers were among those spotting the colorful "objects." Several Eaton County deputies saw a red light in the vicinity of Charlotte that bounced along in a southerly direction at high speed.

Donald Miller, Decatur police chief, saw a light over the city early in the evening. He said it was orange at first, but turned red, then brown and was a mile in length.

Waldron Stewart, editor of the Adrian Telegram, saw a white light that later flashed red and green. At the same time, 8:40 p.m., personnel at Willow Run Airport reported almost identical sightings.

Mackie Reveals 10-Year Plans for New Roads

Oakland Route Will Go North and South From Detroit to Flint

By PETE LOCHBILER

DETROIT — Pontiac and Oakland County were scheduled for a new north-south expressway as State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie announced a 10-year expressway construction program for the Detroit metropolitan area.

Forty miles of the road, from 11-Mile Road through northeast Pontiac to just south of Flint, should be built or under construction within five years, Mackie said.

At the north, the expressway would connect with the Fenton-Clio expressway leading northward to the Mackinac Bridge.

At the south, it should connect with the north-south Hastings-Oakland expressway in Detroit, in 10 years.

The Oakland County expressway, according to Mackie's plans, runs east of Woodward and is designated as an interstate highway, eligible for 90 per cent federal aid.

The announcement came as Mackie revealed a State Highway Dept. plan to make some $632,000,000 in state and federal funds available for metropolitan expressway dvelopment.

129.8 MILES SLATED

Mackie's plan calls for 129.8 miles of new expressways and superhighways to be either constructed or on the drawing boards by the end of the 10-year period in 1967.

Of the 88 miles of expressways and superhighways to be under construction or completed by 1962, 52 miles are in Oakland County.

Of the 41.8 miles to be built in the second five-year plan, 5.6 miles are in Oakland County.

Besides the north-south expressway, Mackie proposes in Oakland County during the first five-year plan;

Extension of Northwestern highway as an expressway 4.5 miles from Eight-Mile road to 11-Mile road;

Reconstruction of 11-Mile road as a 9.5-mile-long expressway from Northwestern to the Grand River expressway.

Reconstruction of Eight-Mile road as a six-mile-long superhighway between Grand River road and Northwestern.

TO BUDGET FUNDS

Mackie also announced that money could be budgeted during this first five-year period to draw up plans to extend the north-south expressway from 11-Mile road south to the Edsel Ford expressway in Detroit.

He said that the Hastings-Oakland expressway from downtown

Jury Declares UAW Innocent

Absolved of Charges Union Violated Corrupt Practices Act

DETROIT (AP)—A federal court jury yesterday found the United Auto Workers Union innocent of charges it violated the Corrupt Practices Act by sponsoring a series of television programs before the 1954 election.

The jury of 10 women and 2 men returned the verdict after two hours of deliberation. The UAW was charged with illegally attempting to influence election results by sponsoring nine television programs in 1954.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, hailed the verdict as "complete repudiation of false charges made by Republican politicians . . . that the UAW was operating illegally in its educational programming.

The government's case hinged on the contention that the UAW sought to influence the 1954 election by plugging UAW-favored candidates on the nine union-sponsored telecasts. All candidates appearing on the program were Democrats.

UAW witnesses, including President Walter Reuther, testified the programs were designed to inform UAW members of the issues and were not beamed to the general public although televised from a commercial station.

The UAW said some Republican candidates had been invited to appear but none accepted.

West Proposal Wins by 57 to 9

U.N. Assembly Favors Disarmament Talks in Spite of Soviet Refusal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western delegates were elated today over the thumping majority given their call for new disarmament talks—but no one seemed to know how to get the Russians to negotiate again.

The 57-9 vote accorded the 24-nation proposal by the General Assembly's top Political Committee brought predictions from some that Russia would reconsider her vow not to meet with the 12-nation Disarmament Commission or its five-nation subcommittee.

Chief U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge declared that, in view of the heavy vote, he could not believe "the Soviets would choose to bring on their heads the obloquy and condemnation of the whole world community as those who sabotage peace."

Diplomats said privately, however, that any quick Soviet backdown was unlikely in view of Russia's emphatic stand and her declaration after the vote that the 24-nation plan had served only to drive "negotiations into a final deadlock."

The Western elation appeared to stem mainly from the feeling that the vote isolated Russia from three-fourths of the Assembly on the vital arms issue. The Soviets failed to muster any support in opposing the plan except from their own bloc. Fifteen nations abstained — Communist Yugoslavia, India, Burma, Ceylon, Indonesia, Afghanistan, Finland, Egypt, Syria, Ghana, Japan, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Sudan and Yemen.

The vote assured the resolution the two-thirds approval it needs for formal adoption by the 82-nation general assembly.

But the chilling fact remained that there would be little point in the four Western subcommittee members—Britain, France, the United States and Canada—reviving the arms talks without Russia sitting in.

Beaumont Hospital Faces Greatly Needed Expansion

"Definite expansion plans are facing William Beaumont Hospital," said President Edwin A. Tomlinson today. "The emergency case load of this hospital is greater than the demand upon any other private hospital in the Metropolitan Detroit area."

President Tomlinson declares the requirements for all services far exceed the facilities. "In our first full year," he says, "we had 16,000 emergency cases and considered that absolute saturation.

"This year the total will run close to 30,000. We are considering a plan which will elevate Beaumont into a medical center to serve a need beyond that of a community hospital. We feel this is important. Also, we are interested in studying methods to reduce the costs of hospital care.

"In our three years of operation we have used 238 beds to optimum capacity. It was planned to handle about 10,000 cases a year in addition to emergencies and we have gone 20 per cent beyond that each year. More than 7,500 babies have been born at Beaumont; and 18,000 surgical operations have been performed. Our services have been in the widest demand.

"We are badly in need of important capital funds to expand. All Oakland County needs additional services."

E. A. Tomlinson of 1056 Stratford Lane, Bloomfield Hills, has been president of Beaumont from the beginning and along with his current retirement from business, plans to give full time to the hospital problems if they require it.

UF Offers Contributors a 'Yardstick for Giving'

A "Yardstick for Giving" to answer the constant question of "How much should I give" has been worked out by the Pontiac Area United Fund and is available to the public.

According to UF officials, the average man wants to do the right thing, but resents being told how much to give. Often solicitors are asked "How much are my neighbors or fellow workers pledging?"

To give contributors some idea of what the community gives, solicitors for the first time are being supplied with cards which suggest how much to donate in accordance with income.

The scale for giving was developed after an extensive study of actual giving records in Pontiac and other cities including Detroit, Boston, Cleveland and Philadelphia.

According to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, general campaign chairman, the yardstick is offered only as a guide. "Of course, no one can tell you how much to give, but if we all use the appropriate yardstick as our pledge guide, the success of the 1957 campaign would be assured."

For convenience, the yardstick consists of three separate cards, one each for hourly employes, salaried personnel and for professional, executive and self-employed persons.

The scale ranges from a quarter of one per cent of annual income to one per cent at the time.

For example, a person earning $2,600 a year would give $7.80 or 15 cents a week. A man earning $26,000 would give $250.

This year's goal is $612,000, with the campaign now under way and running until Nov. 26.

Weatherman Warns of Shower Tonight

The Weatherman predicts rain for the Pontiac area late tonight, with a rather mild low of 42-46.

Tomorrow will be cloudy and rainy with temperatures falling. The high for tomorrow is expected to be around 50. Rain possibly changing to snow is in the forecast for tomorrow night. The low will be 32-36.

Saturday the outlook is for considerable cloudiness and colder with snow flurries.

Thirty-three was the lowest recorded temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. At 1 p.m. the mercury stood at a cool 43.

DETROIT (INS) — Newspaperman Ray Pearson, assistant city editor of the Detroit News, was Mayor Louis C. Miriani's first major appointment today. Pearson was to meet with the newly-elected mayor to discuss his acceptance of the $15,431-a-year job as executive secretary.

Soviets Parade Military, Rocket Strength

By SERGE FLIEGERS

MOSCOW (INS)—An awesome display of Soviet military and rocket strength was paraded in Moscow's Red Square today to mark the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Most impressive of several new weapons shown were two giant rockets so big that they had to be parked outside the square during the huge military parade.

BELIEVED ICBMs

The two giant rockets were believed to be intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Thirty-eight other rockets were pulled past the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum, where Nikita Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders proudly took salutes from the marchers.

These rockets ranged in size from slim, two-stage missiles to 70-foot-long, cigar-shaped flying Behemoths which were hauled on huge caterpillar transports.

GETS ECSTATIC

The radio Moscow commentator, who was ecstatic in his descriptions of the rockets, said the missiles displayed "have no bounds and are capable of hitting any aircraft."

The diplomatic corps and western observers also were obviously impressed with some new jet-propelled rocket artillery whose range, according to the official news agency Tass, is many times greater than the rockets used by Russia in World War II.

A new type of tank which can be used in amphibious operations and two guns with barrels nearly 50 feet long also were in the marchpast.

There were more than 70 tanks in the parade and units from every branch of the Soviet military machine.

Poor visibility forced cancellation of an air force flypast. Earlier, a radio commentator had referred to new types of planes scheduled to participate.

Russian officers grinned happily as Western military attaches gasped when the giant weapons thundered past the mausoleum in blue clouds of exhaust smoke.

FACES GLUM

Many Western diplomats watched the parade with glum faces.

The long-barrelled cannon are believed capable of firing atomic projectiles.

Star of the military showing, which lasted only 18 minutes, was the arsenal of rockets that were swiftly hauled past the greatest concentration of Communist leaders ever assembled.

Eclipsed by the rockets but not much less important was a whole motorized airborne brigade, including fast little tanks that can be parachuted from planes.

The ceremonies began sharply at 10 a.m. with the ringing of the Spassky Gate chimes. The military rollpast was heralded with a 40-gun salvo from the Kremlin cannon.

One unique feature of the parade was that there were no spectators to speak of. Most Muscovites belong to some organization or other and therefore participated in the civilian section of the parade so that only a few people were on the sidewalks.

In Red Square the spectators were foreign dignitaries, the diplomatic corps and correspondents, both Russian and foreign, the latter being crowded way back and forbidden to film the military part of the parade.

U.S. Satellite in 4 Months?

Report Ike Eying Plan to Launch Space Ship Bigger Than Russia's

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today that President Eisenhower is actively considering a plan to launch a space ship bigger than Russia's Sputnik II by using big military rockets.

The New York Daily News, in a special dispatch from Washington, carried a similar story.

The Tribune's Washington story, quoting unnamed officials, said the earth satellite could be fired off within four months. It could circle the earth at a height averaging 600 miles. The newspaper stated and carry mice, guinea pigs or monkeys or other animals to provide information for scientists.

The plan, the Tribune said, was reported to be the most attractive and most immediately attainable of more than a dozen proposals being studied by the Pentagon for submission to the President.

The newspaper said a top Pentagon official, unidentified, estimated that if all the "feasible" proposals were undertaken the total cost would not exceed 275 million dollars.

The White House staff and budget experts are examining the cost, international implications and possible harmful effect the project would have on the nation's rocket program, the story said.

Pentagon officials would not comment on the story, the Tribune said, but other sources, unnamed, were quoted as saying they would not be surprised if Eisenhower decides that "if the Russians want to make a race of it we're in it."

Report Break-Down of Farm System

Arrests Sweep Red China

WASHINGTON (INS)—Western intelligence sources disclosed today that a wave of arrests is sweeping Red China in the wake of an apparent break-down in its Soviet-style collectivism of farms and industry.

Several hundred intellectuals have been imprisoned, along with an untold number of students who have allegedly been agitating against the Mao Tse-Tung regime.

A top government source reported that a "fear complex" seems to be gripping the Communist leaders, since they have recently announced wholesale shootings of alleged foreign intelligence agents.

He said Red China claims that those put to death were not only agents of Chiang Kai-Shek's Formosan government, but also "spies for America's central intelligence agency." All names listed were Chinese.

Intelligence reports indicate that Red China, apparently failing in its attempt to impose collective farming on independent Chinese peasants, is now encountering trouble in getting them to go back to work even for themselves.

Jury Acquits Harris in August Shooting

A Circuit Court jury acquitted Lee Harris Jr., 25, of Pontiac Township in the shooting Aug. 26 of a Pennsylvania man, Eddie Hicks, 28, of Wye Mills.

Harris, who had pleaded self-defense, was found innocent of a charge of second-degree murder after trial before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

A resident of the Glenview Trailer Park, 2300 Shimmons Rd., Harris maintained that Hicks and two companions had come to his trailer after threatening first over the telephone, that they were going to settle a long-standing grudge with him.

Harris said he fired a revolver towards the men, meaning to scare them away. One shot hit Hicks in the back.

Pontiac, Oakland Will Get North-South Expressway

Detroit to the Ford expressway will be under construction during the first five-year plan.

The 8.5 mile link, between the Ford expressway and 11-Mile road, should be built or under construction by the end of the second five-year plan, Mackie said.

"This north - south route would provide the heavily populated communities of Oakland County with through traffic service to the north, as well as local traffic service in advance of a connection to downtown Detroit, instead of making them wait until the Hastings-Oakland expressway is extended all the way into Oakland County," Mackie explained.

Mackie's first five-year plan also makes funds available to turn James Couzens Highway into an expressway from the northern end of the completed Lodge expressway in Detroit to the southern end of the proposed Northwestern expressway at Eight-Mile road.

DIRECT CONNECTION

Thus, this first five-year construction plan would provide a direct connection from downtown Detroit via the Lodge expressway, its extension to 11-Mile road, and the 11-Mile Road expressway to the Brighton - Farmington (Grand River) expressway and north on an expressway programmed outstate to the Mackinac Bridge and Sault Ste. Marie.

In Wayne County, the first five-year plan calls for construction of Southfield road from the Detroit Industrial expressway (U.S.12) to Eight-Mile road.

The plan also budgets funds to plan a new U.S.24 (Telegraph road) from Monroe to 11-Mile road; a belt line expressway from Monroe north to an 11-Mile road expressway in Oakland County; and completion of the 11-Mile Road expressway from the Northwestern expressway easterly to the proposed Edsel Ford expressway in Macomb County.

Funds also could be made available in the second five-year plan for a Mound Road expressway from the Edsel Ford expressway north to Utica.

In Detroit, the expressway construction program calls for continuation of the Edsel Ford expressway to Eight-Mile road (from where it should connect with a new U.S. 25), and planning for a Grand River expressway from Eight - Mile to the Ambassador Bridge, and a Fort-Verhor expressway from Sibley road to the Hastings - Oakland expressway.

These last two projects should be built or under construction by the end of the 10-year period, Mackie said.

Mackie made his expressway plans public after the dedication ceremonies for the John C. Lodge expressway.

Meanwhile, across the nation, scientists watched closely today for any spectacular new Russian venture into space to celebrate this 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Western technicians have speculated the Soviets might try to land a rocket on the moon or announce some other spectacle as a follow-up to their launching of two earth satellites.

The Russians crowing over their scientific achievements, have given no indication of immediate plans to reach the moon, some 225,000 miles away. However, some Soviet scientists have said such a feat is within reach.

Telescopes at the Naval Observatory were trained at the moon last night, as they have been for some time in connection with astronomical studies related to the International Geophysical Year.

Firefly Is Most Efficient Lamp

Chemical Light Control Studied by Science for Medical Application

WASHINGTON—The little lamp of the firefly may light up some of the mysteries of life.

Life is possible because plants can change sunlight into chemical energy. Fireflies turn this energy back into light—and do a much more efficient job than any electric company.

WASTES ENERGY

A light bulb wastes most of its energy as heat. A firefly operates its lamp without heat, at better then 95-per-cent efficiency.

Jealous electric companies retort that it would take more than 137,000 lightning bugs to equal a 60-watt bulb. But the companies admit that they might learn something from these light-bearing beetles.

The firefly may also prove a boon to medicine. Already, says the National Geographic Society, chemicals extracted from lightning bugs can be used to measure a compound known as adenosine triphosphate or ATP, which is present in every living thing.

ATP is a storehouse for energy. The chemical holds energy in the muscle of an animal until the nervous system releases it. Scientists studying fireflies hope to find out more about how this energy is turned on and off.

To help science, boys and girls in Baltimore are catching fireflies for biochemist William D. McElroy, of Johns Hopkins University. He pays 25 cents per hundred, but accepts none sent by mail.

The firefly lights up when a nerve impulse triggers a chemical reaction in its abdomen. A substance known as luciferin combines with oxygen. To bring about this chemical "marriage," a second substance— the enzyme called luciferase—acts as the catalyst or "clergyman."

ATP supplies energy to the luciferin. Since there are instruments to measure light exactly, scientists can use luciferin to determine how much ATP is present in an animal tissue. This may lead to a better understanding of human chemistry and the further conquest of disease.

A boy firefly flashes when he wants a date with a girl firefly. If the female likes the look of his flash, she turns on her lamp to accept the date. If a suitor of a different species appears, too, the female eats him.

Curtice, Ford Cited Among 50 Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Harlow H. Curtice, General Motors Corp. president, and Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., were cited as among this country's "50 foremost" business leaders at a banquet sponsored by Forbes magazine last night.

The 50 were presented with medallions for their "achievements and leadership over the last decade."

Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton, spoke on recent Russian scientific advances.

Said Seaton: "They have made outer space as international as the high seas; and that, one day, may be of enormous importance to the free world."

Woman Struck by Car While Crossing Mill

A woman pedestrian was injured yesterday when hit by a car at Mill and Mt. Clemens streets.

Mrs. Paul Taylor, 39, of 466 W. Iroquois St., was knocked to the ground while crossing Mill by the automobile of Nichols H. Balz, 64, of 44 Marquette St.

Balz told Pontiac police he was making a right turn into Mill and was blinded by the morning sun and did not see Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Taylor went to her family physician for x-rays of a possible fractured pelvis.

The gallery, housed in a one story building, will offer both moving and stationary targets, .22 caliber Winchester shorts, and a 30-foot range.

Scientific Leadership Should Be U.S. Goal

With Soviet Russia's earth satellite "Sputnik II" or "Muttnik," determinedly circling the globe, it brings to mind a memorable sentence some years ago by H. G. WELLS. He said, "Civilization is a race between education and catastrophe."

We may all wonder, despite his terrific imagination, how Wells himself could have seen the challenging and ominous truth which the future would attach to this sentence.

The current satellites, along with the harnessing of atomic energy, threaten the entire world. We could have a catastrophe that would completely annihilate all life on our planet. Man now has the power to destroy himself.

But, ironically, this force which could destroy our civilization is the very force which holds out the greatest promise of man's progress since he learned to use fire.

Atomic energy or its counterpart is the key to the future. Nothing to date can equal its destructive power, and nothing shows more promise for peace. Industry, agriculture, medicine and virtually all activities of man can benefit from this enormous potential.

This great country of ours should be the leader. We are at the top or very close in most other phases of living today. Obviously we are lagging in scientific satellite experimentation.

Whatever measures are needed to regain our rightful position in this scientific age should be taken immediately.

The United Nations International Atomic Energy Agency which officially opened in Vienna in October is a big step toward harnessing the atom for peace. Similar agencies to cover satellites or their counterparts should be established.

This will be a job for the United Nations. The role we play will be vitally important in this constant fight for peace. We must be at the top or dominate the field in order to lead this important fight.

Russians Easing Off in Syrian War Talk

The Soviet charge in the United Nations that Turkey would attack Syria after the Turkish election on October 28, was, of course, completely unfounded.

King SAUD had offered to mediate the alleged quarrel and Syria's President KUWATLY eagerly accepted. Later Moscow sent word that mediation was only an effort to evade U.N. debate and KUWATLY hurriedly asked King SAUD to withdraw his offer. Thus was revealed the real instigator of these drummed up charges.

Two days after the supposed invasion of Syria was to have taken place, KHRUSHCHEV and BULGANIN turned up at a Turkish Embassy party in Moscow and toasted the Turks, Sputnik and peace. "Why talk about war, there'll be no war," said Communist Boss KHRUSHCHEV.

In a hard hitting reply to Russian Foreign Minister GROMYKO's charges that the United States was fomenting the invasion of Syria, U.S. Chief U.N. Delegate LODGE said:

"Here is a government which has been condemned by the U. N. three times in the past year for its actions in Hungary . . . accusing the overwhelming majority of the human race of wanting war . . . Here is the arsonist trying his best to start another fire and demanding the right to lead the fire brigade!"

Ambassador LODGE added the warning that the U.S. would not be stopped by threats from offering support to Middle East nations threatened by the Soviet Union; that we are strong and that our Allies are strong.

No U.N. resolution is now likely to be adopted. However, the Turkish-Syrian matter has served Soviet propaganda purposes and has succeeded in consolidating the pro-Communist regime of Syria's General BIZRI. Perhaps that is all it was intended to do.

Local Man Is Invited to Detroit Ceremonies Today

Sunrise: What's as gorgeous as a sunset—but with smaller audience.

In a dual capacity in Detroit today is in whose honor the expressway is named, and who was a prominent resident of our county before going to Detroit, where he became mayor. When here he held a number of county offices, and had much to do with the development of the Pontiac area.

A reminder of the old fashioned property-destroying method of celebrating Halloween a half century ago is found in a clipping from the Pontiac Press of Nov. 1, 1907, sent by me then of Pontiac, now living in Detroit. It tells of streets barricaded with vehicles, lumber and trash. The story closes with the statement, "They did everything but change the course of the Clinton River."

The Christmas tree trek already has started on the Dixie Highway. Hailing me at a gas station, formerly of Pontiac, now of West Branch, had a Detroit-bound truck load. He says the first shipments largely go to merchants who spray them in preparation for window displays.

Gerald Funston,

Being quite sure that they heard Sputnik late the other night,

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greenfield

of Auburn Heights were happy to learn that it was a loose window blind. Mrs. Greenfield wonders if some of the other reports on contacting it are not just as authentic.

David Lawrence Says:

Segregation Win s in Virginia Vote

WASHINGTON—The Constitution is still what the people say it is. Two candidates for governor of Virginia — each opposed in varying degree to "integration" of the public schools—fought it out in the statewide election, and the Democrat, J. Lindsay Almond, who was generally believed by the people to be the sturdier defender of segregation, won out by a big majority.

LAWRENCE

This was the first important election in which the segregation-integration issue has played a vital role.

The Republican Party lost ground. It didn't even pool half of what Eisenhower did a year ago. As for the Democrats, they polled 60,000 more votes this time than the National Democratic Party did in the state last year.

VOTED AGAINST COURT

The people of Virginia unquestionably voted against the doctrines which the Supreme Court advocated in its political decision of May 1954. Both candidates actually discussed various ways, supposedly legal, to circumvent the Supreme Court's argument that equal educational facilities cannot be satisfactory unless the races are mixed in the schools.

There was much talk during the campaign about "pupil placement" laws such as have been adopted in other states, notably North Carolina. These plans generally imply that there may be a "token" integration but that most schools would remain segregated.

It is hardly likely that such laws will be held "constitutional" by the present Supreme Court, since any form of racial separation—no matter for what ostensible reason—will probably be held invalid if it turns out that a considerable number of Negro students are barred from the public schools they desire to attend.

WON'T GET WAY

So, while the new regime in Virginia may be discussing alternatives to get around in a legal way the Supreme Court's decisions, it is not at all clear that the people of Virginia who voted against "integration" on Tuesday will have their way.

Most of the moves are in the nature of delaying actions, with the hope being expressed that time will ultimately make possible some form of compromise.

As for the political implications of the segregation controversy in other parts of the country, it is to be noted that in New Jersey, in the heavily populated Negro wards and communities, the Republicans actually lost voting strength as compared with a year ago while the Democrats won a big majority of the Negro vote throughout the state.

The trend in New Jersey was in favor of the incumbent, Governor Robert Meyner. A big majority thought he had made a good governor in the last four years. The Republicans gained about 83,000 votes as compared with the gubernatorial race four years ago, but the Democrats gained around 135,000.

GOP STAYED HOME

Governor Meyner polled 247,000 more votes this week than Stevenson did a year ago, while about 712,000 Republicans who voted for Ike a year ago didn't vote for the Republican nominee for governor, Malcolm Forbes. Assuming that 247,000 of these supporters of Ike voted for Meyner, it still leaves unaccounted for about 465,000 Republicans.

This is somewhat the same story in New York City, where the total vote fell off about 150,000 as compared with the municipal election four years ago but very heavily indeed compared to a year ago in the presidential race.

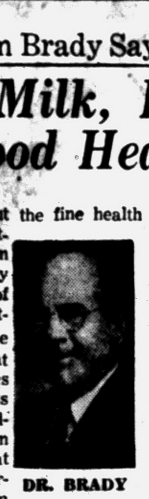
Dr. William Brady Says:

Take Milk, Eggs, Meat for Good Health, Vite

The piece about the fine health people in the Loetschental Valley in Switzerland enjoy on their diet of milk, cheese, butter, eggs, whole grains and meat and vegetables brought numerous letters from readers who were born and raised in that part of Switzerland and all seem to have exceptionally good health and VITE. If you don't know just what VITE means, you poor soul, you had better slip me 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of the booklet THE 7 KEYS TO VITE.



DR. BRADY

These Swiss men, women and children, it seems to me, are the best evidence that milk is a health food.

In the first place, milk (whether fresh whole milk or skim or separator milk or buttermilk) is the best food source of calcium. Cheese is the next best source of calcium.

Growing children who consume less than 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk daily are likely to suffer from calcium deficiency.

Life expectation in the Loetschental Valley is 100 years, and most persons, 80 to 90 years old, continue doing manual work.

Besides the letters from natives of the Loetschental, there were, of course, some from Yankee wiseacres.

A Yankee, in my lexicon, is any resident of North America. A wiseacre has a smattering of knowledge which makes him, in his own opinion, an authority on the subject.

These YWs are always setting me back on my heels. I wouldn't mind so much if they were not so supercilious about it. "For your information," they begin, "milk has a high fatty acid content and cholestrerol is derived from fatty acids."

Now, if it were worthwhile to answer the YWs, I'd say: "Yours of month before last at hand and contents duly noted. In reply to same, I beg to state that cholesterol is a normal constituent of blood and tissues and serves various physiological functions. The cholesterol level in the blood is not indicative of anything in particular."

Let me quote a conclusion about this from Duncan's "Diseases of Metabolism:"

"In view of the wide variation in the cholesterol concentration of the serum or plasma in health, apparent deviations from normal in the presence of disease must be interpreted with caution."

This whole question of the relation of cholesterol to health or disease is in the realm of theory, research and laboratory experimentation.

Medical merchants who are advising people to restrict their intake of such important foods as milk, eggs and meat on this account are, in my opinion, taking money under false pretenses.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Suggests Other Ordinances for Teenagers to Submit

A teenage-sponsored curfew ordinance is being presented to the City Commission, and since teenagers have always been judged by the wayward few, their action is commendable.

May I suggest other ordinances for them to submit? Why not an ordinance to get mothers and fathers out of beer gardens by 11 p.m. instead of 2:30 a.m.; or one to prohibit lewd and vicious magazines and movies; and one to close all stores on Sunday and to close all retail stores at 5:30 p.m. on election days so help can vote; plus a recommendation that thousands of dollars be saved by eliminating painting of curbs since parking signs are in evidence everywhere?

If teenagers accomplish any of these things, they shall put my generation to shame and I shall applaud them for a job well done.

Detroiter Seconds Press' Position

May I take the liberty of thanking The Press for the editorial on Oakland County's need for better roads? It really could be even stronger if it demanded that no more parks or free places of entertainment be created by any authority until every dirt road in the state has been blacktopped.

It's a joke to play up the slogan, "Water Wonderland," when outsiders must have their cars refinished when they get home. I'm sure if Oakland County powers had started a few years ago, they would have some roads to be proud of. More power to The Press.

Letter by Doctor Disgusts Mother

G.F. has a decent sense of values and can afford to pass off the caloused ignorance of a few smarties, including the doctor. Not many of us in this day give a hoot whether or not a woman smokes, but there is nothing more cheap or debasing to womanhood than to see a fag hanging from the lips of a mother nursing her baby. I'd like to know what manner of beast holds an M.D. and admires women of such ilk. Any half-wit, let alone a doctor, knows such close contact with cigarette smoke can harm or irritate the sensitive lungs of a tiny baby, aside from the looks of it all. But the selfish and cold-hearted haven't the capacity to care.

Reader Comments on Hospital Vote

The city and hospital officials were surprised and stunned at the bond issue failing to pass, but if they had taken the trouble to look around Pontiac, they needn't have been. Most of our homes are under the $15,000 class, and most of our people earn $5,000 or less a year.

This is a factory town, not Grosse Pointe or Bloomfield. These grandiose public buildings and luxurious schools are fine for wealthy communities, but the fact remains we have an empty hospital addition and a full public safety building. Let's put off some of these less needy projects and use our entire capital improvement fund to finish a floor at a time, if necessary.

Let the city budget its money and pull in its belt like we must do when the cost of living soars. As someone in this column wrote, perhaps it isn't the high cost of living, but the cost of high living.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Consider Future Before You Leap

Gwen called her boy friend's bluff. And though she lost him for three weeks, she won him for the rest of the school year. For boys like girls with "spunk." And if a coed doesn't have enough spirit and personality to hold a boy, giving him sexual liberties will not do the trick, either! So get hep to the true facts of life!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-340: Gwen Q., aged 16, is the high schooler mentioned yesterday whose steady boy friend was making undue demands upon her for illicit sexual liberties.

"Dr. Crane, it will be awful to give him up," she wept, "for every body will know he has jilted me.

"We've been going together all year and I don't know what I'll do for a new boy friend.

"But I'll do what you suggest. My faculty adviser told me that, too, and my parents of course agree with you."

Please notice that Gwen is so afraid of being jilted and thus publicly humiliated, that she is almost willing to consent to an illicit affair just to keep in the social "swim."

That subtle coercion is what drives thousands of stupid girls into a sad mistake whnch warps their entire future lives.

Girls are notoriously poor gamblers! They hate to take a chance on losing a boy friend. If the latter threatens them, they tend to knuckle under and submit.

Then, when they are afflicted with venereal disease or pregnant and forced to quit school before graduation, they mean about the gross unfairness of their escort. But they were just like Esau, themselves!

If you teen-age girls weren't so concerned with remaining in the social swim by continuing your dates with a leading athlete or other desirable classmate, you wouldn't be so uncertain about how to meet Gwen's problem.

So look far ahead and play the batting averages. The average city girl nowadays doesn't marry till almost 22. So you have plenty of time to shop around for a husband.

BOYS LIKE SPUNK

When Gwen told her steady boy friend that they'd have to break up for, although she admitted she was very fond of him, she couldn't go along with his unfair demands, he grew angry.

So he jilted her. But not for long. For the "easy" girls don't maintain the respect and admiration of men.

A girl must have spunk or spirit in order to wield her maximum charm. And if she will thus be a good gambler and lay down the law, she will usually win the boy, anyway.

That's exactly what happened in Gwen's case. A few weeks later, her former suitor called her on the phone for a date.

She declined, saying she was sorry, but she didn't want to get hurt a second time by having to break off with him.

So he coaxed her to have a soda with him after their last class. And during their chat, he admitted he had been wrong.

"I admire you far more because you did what was right," he confessed, "so I'd like to date you steady, the way we used to do."

As a result, Gwen won her boy friend. And most girls with an personality at all can do likewise.

If you can't hold a boy by means of your attractive personality, then sexual indulgence will not hold him, either, so get hep to the facts of life!

If you want to be a happy married woman after you are 22, then you better set the proper foundation right now.

And that requires that you learn to play the game of life according to the precise rules. Those laws are as exact as the rules for baseball or football.

And one of the age-old rules in the Marriage Book says that premarital sexual affairs are definitely conducive to less happiness later on.

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Insure a future happy marriage for yourself by following its medico-psychological advice.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

A trip was made to the Pontiac Boys Club, where the director was very helpful in assisting and advising the new group.

Among other persons and organizations contacted was Raymond Bogden of Indiana, assistant regional director for American Boys Clubs, who was instrumental in helping the group with affiliation in the Boys Club of America.

Sponsors and donators for the club include Dublin Community Center; Metropolitan Club Spirit '78; Union Lake Businessmen, also several individuals.

The club has completed several projects under the direction of Wesley Ashton. Activities enjoyed by the group include ping pong, hockey, shuffle board and workshop.

The club invites the membership of boys from 8 to 20 years, and is open Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 9.

Mrs. Ashton, secretary for the group, says fathers of the area with spare time are badly needed. She may be contacted at EM 3-0657.

Provides Home Care on Part-Time Basis

Visiting Nurse Assn. Serves Area

ANGEL OF MERCY — Mrs. Anna Carry, 65, of 10 Bliss St., smiles at the visiting nurse, Mrs. C. E. Berden, during a regular visit. Mrs. Carry is recovering from a leg injury incurred in an auto accident. The Pontiac Visiting Nurses Assn. aids anyone who needs home nursing, with the Pontiac Area United Fund paying for those unable to pay.

A moment's carelessness by another has meant months of pain, disability and mounting medical expenses to Mrs. Anna Carry, 65, of 10 Bliss St. But it also revealed to her one of the excellent services available to Pontiac area residents — the Pontiac Visiting Nurses Assn.

Mrs. Carry, whose husband, Ray, is one year from retirement at General Motors Truck and Coach, was riding with a friend on Jan. 12 when the collision occured with the car of a teenage boy.

Mrs. Carry suffered a broken leg and it has incapacitated her to a large extend since. After com coming home from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mrs. Carry was in need of regular nursing to change dressings.

The Pontiac Visiting Nurses supplied this need and even today a nurse goes to Mrs. Carry's home three times a week to change surgical dressings following an operation on the leg in March.

AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC

"It is a comforting thought to know that a necessary professional service like nursing is available to the public through the association," Mrs. Carry said. "I am glad that Pontiac Area United Fund supports this vital service."

Mrs. Mary Pauli, association director, a trained nurse herself has seven other professional nurses in her group.

The association provides bedside nursing in the home on a part-time basis. Those who can pay $4 a long visit and $3 a short visit with a graduated scale downward according to means. Many get this service free and the UF pays the bill.

"Some 61 per cent of our visits are free, Mrs. Pauli said, "so you can see the key role UF funds play."

Last year, with the UF supplying $37,938, the visiting nurses made 12,892 calls to bathe patients, to give injections and perform other nursing care.

"We have a lot of long term patients," Mrs. Pauli stated, "mainly among the over 65 age group."

The association covers 146 square miles including Pontiac, Waterford Township, Pontiac Township, West Bloomfield Township and parts of Bloomfield and Avon Townships and Troy.

PURELY LOCAL ORGANIZATION

A purely local organization, the Visiting Nurses were founded in 1921 by a group of Pontiac women to fill an apparent community need. Fifteen women serve on the board of directors.

The Visiting Nurses Assn. also is under contract with the Veterans Administration to give home nursing to approved VA patients.

One of a dozen independent nursing associations in Michigan, the Pontiac group truly lives up to the "angels of mercy" tradition of nursing.

Train Kills 5 Women at Indiana Crossing

LA PORTE, Ind. (INS)—Five women and a teen-age boy were killed last night when their car was struck by an eastbound new York Central passenger train at a rural cossing near the La Porte St. Joseph county boundary line.

Dunes Park state police identified the dead as Mrs. Jean Vandenberg, 39, driver of the car; Mrs. Irene Williams, 45; her daughter, Mary Ann, 17; Mrs. William Barker, 52; Mrs. Aleen Spencer, 50, and her son, Michael, 11. All had lived near New Carlisle, Ind.

Officers said the driver of the car apparently had waited at the double-line track to let a- west bound freight train pass and then started up into the path of the eastbound passenger train.

Venezuela to Build $98,000,000 Bridge

MARACAIBO, Venezuela—A $98,000,000 prestressed-concrete bridge across the Lake Maracaibo narrows, to provide direct land transportation from the impostant port and oil center, Maracaibo, to the central and eastern parts of Venezuela is expected to be completed by 1960.

It wil be 5½ miles long and the central span will be high enough for the world's largest tankers to sail under. The roadway is to have two dual - lane automobile roads separated by a railroad track.

Rain, Snow Overflow Streams in Mid-Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A five-day storm of rain and snow caused streams and rivers to overflow and isolate many residents of the desolate east-central Utah area some 180 miles from here.

* * *

There are no telephone lines to the area. It was not possible to get reliable reports but an estimated 200 persons were cut off by overflowing rivers washing out roads. Hardest hit was Hanksville, population 80.

The flooding, which started Monday, was expected to ease today.

Best Year for Ramblers

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. says that, with two months to go, 1957 already is the best sales year on record for its Rambler cars. AM says Rambler sales totaled 77,318 in the first 10 months, compared with 73,807 in 1955, the previous record year.

Junior Editors Quiz on HAIR

QUESTION: Why do some people have curly hair?

ANSWER: The easy way to answer this is to say you are born with curly or straight hair. But let's look more closely at your hair and see what we can find.

In the first place you probably have 100,000 or more hairs on your head. (I didn't count them but that's what the experts say.) Each hair is set in a socket called a follicle. Through the bottom of this follicle it receives the nourishment that makes it grow.

Now, if you take a very sharp knife and cut off a piece of hair, you might be able to see, through a very strong magnifying glass, that it is round in shape or oval in shape. The hairs that have round cross sections grow straight; those with oval cross sections are curly. The flatter the oval the tighter the curl.

FOR YOU TO DO: Clip one of your hairs, get a very strong magnifying glass and see whether you can tell if it is oval or round. And if you like, color this picture of two girls comparing their hair.

(For this suggestion Elizabeth Newland of Lake Charles, La., gets $10. Drop a postcard with your idea to Violet Moore Higgins in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Gov. Meyner Is Worker, Expects Action by Aides

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

New Jersey's Robert B. Meyner has won himself another four-year stay at the governor's mansion, but he might possibly break his lease with the idea of moving into the White House.

Political savants agree that the governor's victory over Eisenhower-backed State Sen. Malcolm Forbes puts him strongly in the running for the Democratic nomination for president in 1960.

The 49-year-old, hard-working Meyner says he has no plans to run for national office, but if he found himself on the Democratic ticket in '60, he probably would not be entirely surprised.

For Meyner — who has been called Lady Luck's rosy-cheeked boy — has sparred frequently with fate during a hard childhood and an ambitious political career. Yet he always has managed to roll with the punches.

Of German extraction on both sides, Meyner was born July 3, 1908, in Easton, Pa. He did most of his growing up around Easton, and Phillipsburg and Paterson in New Jersey — all industrial communities heavily populated with foreign-born and second-generation Americans.

WORKED THROUGH SCHOOL

The son of a loom fixer, Meyner worked his way through grammar school in Paterson, helping the family with money, then worked through high school where he became class valedictorian, while serving an eight-hour shift on the looms.

He maintained the same fierce, industrious drive through Lafayette College in Easton, where he often earned $60 a week while attending school. He later worked two jobs while going to Columbia University law school.

After emerging in 1945 from the Navy, where he rose to lieutenant commander, Meyner continued the law practice he had left in Phillipsburg. In 1947 he tangled with Wayne Dumont Jr., in his first political test and won a seat in the State Senate.

Getting to be governor turned out to be not so difficult for the man who had distinguished himself as president of the Chamber of Commerce, director of the Phillipsburg Bank and a member of several civic groups.

WANTS QUICK ACTION

Running as a "clean shirt" Democrat, he breezed through to victory in 1953. During his first term as governor, Meyner won the reputation of being a hard worker who wouldn't let others sit idly by. His desire for quick action and direct decision often made him careless about amenities. He had no patience with a slow mind or double talk.

The governor makes a striking figure with broad shoulders, graying hair and good looks marred only by an off-centered nose. He has a ready sense of humor.

A most eligible bachelor, Meyner sorrowed many a female heart with his marriage to Helen Stevenson — a cousin of Adlai Stevenson — last January.

Report Debunks Flying Saucers

Air Force Says 10-Year Sifting Shows No Proof That They Exist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force says its investigations of 5,700 reported sightings of flying saucers in 10 years have produced "no physical or material evidence" that such things exist.

The Pentagon issued this report last night after sightings of mysterious flying objects were reported this week from various parts of the country. Some of the reported objects were said to glow with a strange light and to have caused auto engines to stall.

Sightings of flying saucers have been reported from time to time over the past decade. Investigation has been handled by the Air Technical Intelligence Center at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio. Previous Air Force reports on saucers have been along the lines of the one put out last night.

There have been suggestions that the new rash of sightings was inspired by Russia's launching of earth satellites.

In its report last night, the Air Force said "there is no physical or material evidence, not even a minute fragment, that a so-called flying saucer was ever found."

It also said there is no evidence that the alleged objects are interplanetary space ships, that they indicate developments beyond the range of current scientific knowledge, or that they pose any threat to the nation's security.

THE BIG THREE'S DESIGNERS—From left, Ford's George W. Walker, General Motors' Harley J. Earl, and Chrysler's Virgil Exner. Is there a small cloud of conservatism on horizon?

They Are Stylists for the Big Three

Today's Auto Designers Must Have Some of Artist, Salesman, Politician

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

DETROIT (NEA) — An auto designer must have the soul of an artist, the personality of a salesman and the ego of a politician.

The saying goes in this motor town that the designer creates the car while the automotive engineer has become just a pack rat who crams the machinery inside to make it run.

And the 1958 models, the most dramatic and colorful ever made, represent the most uninhibited creative endeavors of the car stylist.

But this could be the last year of their unbridled sway over the industry, which is why the politician's ego is necessary. Genial George W. Walker, vice president and director of styling for Ford Motor Co., says:

"You think and draw and sweat over a design and finally that's the one they're going to go with. That whole process is tough enough. Then comes the waiting for public acceptance or rejection. These ideas you've created, you realize, could make or break a multi-million dollar corporation. That's the worst of it. So you've just got to tell yourself you're right."

Walker's counterpart and good friend at General Motors, Harley J. Earl, has said about the same thing. The two men are startlingly similar in professional outlook and personality. They're both artists, extroverts.

Chrysler's boss of styling, Virgil Exner, fully qualifies for this fraternity. But he is too new at being a vice president to have developed quite the breezy, supreme confidence of the other two.

Walker grudgingly admits the existence of just a small cloud on their horizon. That's the chance that public taste in cars has taken a conservative turn.

"We know about this interest in economy and the boom in small cars because that's our job in styling, to keep up with the public's thinking," he says. "And if it turns out that this is a major trend you can be sure that we'll satisfy it as soon as possible," he adds.

The styling of the 1958 Fords was set two years ago and Chrysler and GM operate on about a two-year advance. But if this public interest in more modest cars has a serious impact on sales this year this period can be cut drastically, Walker admits.

"In fact," Walker reveals, "the 1949 car which suddenly reversed a whole trend in Ford design so successfully was designed in three months."

None of the auto designers like to contemplate a reversal of the past 10-year trend toward more luxurious cars. "Let's face it," Walker admits, "it's harder to design for an economy market."

But if economy does become a governing factor a new design medium has been developed which lends itself to cutting costs on cars. "The increasing use of sculptured sheet metal gives us greater flexibility in design than we have ever had," Walker explains.

He refers to being able to stamp out shaped quarter panels of sheet steel as the basic body of the car.

On the '58s, Chrysler's Exner has less reason for being tense during this period of new model intoduction than Walker or Earl. There are practically no changes in the fin styling which proved such a great success for Chrysler on the '57s.

But Ford's ability to hold its big gains made this year, and its lead over Chevrolet, largely rest on what Walker has done on the drawing board, he admits.

And Earl takes repsonsibility for trying to get GM's more than 50 per cent share of the market back this coming year.

The "salesmanship" required of a car designer comes into play when the top brass of the company assembles to make the final decision on accepting a particular style treatment. This is the last step before detailed production planning can begin.

"So at this time of the year you're really not all alone in sweating out public reaction to you're styling," Walker explains. "All of the officials who agreed to adopt your designs are stewing in the soup with you."

Cranberries and Chicken Ideal Salad Mates

Gone are the days when frills and furbelows and "something" a la King were synonymous with ladies' luncheons. But it's still fun to plan fare that's frankly feminine—and that means it has to be pretty as well as good to eat.

High on the list of feminine favorites are party-perfect molded salads. And, with the fresh cranberry season in full swing, what could be more colorful than a rosy-hued ring of tangy berries combined with chicken and crisp celery? Artfully seasoned it is, too, to bring out the full tart-sweet tang of fall's most versatile fruit, which, as always, complements the blander chicken.

Cranberry Luncheon Salad

4 cups fresh cranberries
1¾ cups sugar
1 cup water
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons water
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced cooked chicken or turkey
2 tablespoons horseradish
Dash aromatic bitters
1 teaspoon grated onion

In a saucepan combine cranberries, sugar and water. Cook until berries pop, baout 10 minutes. Soften gelatin in mixed lemon juice and water, stir into hot cranberry mixture until dissolved. Cool cranberry-gelatin mixture, then place in refrigerator to chill until very thick. Stir diced celery, chicken and seasonings into chilled cranberry mixture.

Spoon into 5-cup ring mold (or 10-12 half-cup molds) and chill until firm. To serve, unmold on platter and fill center with deviled eggs and/or chopped crisp greens. Makes 8-10 servings.

Creamy Salad Dressing

Fold together 1 cup rich mayonnaise and ½ cup heavy cream stiffly whipped. Season to taste with favorite herb or spice. Makes about 2 cups dressing.

Mallowcots Combine Sweet, Tart Flavors

Keep some sweet snack on hand for unexpected holiday entertaining. Old English fruit cake from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department, Mallowcots, and a warm beverage are a perfect easy-to-fix combination.

To prepare Mallowcots, steam dried apricots to soften but not cook. Blot apricots on paper towels. Cut marshmallows in half. Moisten two edges slightly, and press between apricot halves, sandwich style.

Add Zip to Oyster Stew

With the holiday season rounding the corner, you won't have a worry in the world if you plan on good oyster stew for a hungry crowd. Here's what you do for 4 servings. Heat 1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed oyster stew and 1½ cups milk slowly; stir often. Add 1 cup shredded process cheese. Heat, stirring constantly just until cheese is melted. Makes 4 servings.

It's a Gourmet's Delight

Don't miss the opportunity of serving fresh cooked broccoli over slices of turkey or chicken and then spooning some of your favorite cheese sauce over each serving. Now just a flick of paprika for color and that's all.

Without milk, to get the adult requirement for calcium alone, a person might have to eat, besides the usual egg, meat, bread and butter and cereal, about 30 servings of vegetables and fruits a day.

Sent to "Doughboys"?

It is a well-known fact that an army must be adequately fed to be victorious. But did you know that some of the bread that fed the Union Armies during the Civil War was baked in the capitol in Washington D. C.? Ovens were set up under the Senate wing and 16,000 loaves of yeast-raised bread were baked daily and sent to Union forces.

SOMERVILLE, Mass. — A new portable peeler developed by a Somerville concern is said to peel a 15-pound load of vegetables in less than a minute.

Soviets Parade Military Might

the day was a brief address to the military units by Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky.

Malinovsky told his soldiers the Soviet Union would continue the fight for peace.

"We fully understand that a new war with nuclear weapons would mean the end of humanity," he declared.

Referring to the Sputnik launchings, the new defense minister said this was only the first step in the conquest of space and that no force in the world can hinder the progress of communism.

He accused the U.S. of carrying out a policy of aggravating tension, declaring:

HATCH PLOTS

"The enemies of peace are hatching plots against peace in the Near and Middle East. They have increased the campaign of blackmail against Syria and are provoking Turkey against her . . .

"Today as never before Soviet arms are able to repel any aggressor. They are welded around the Communist Party and the Leninist Central Committee and will be worthy of the faith of the people."

Malinovsky, dressed in a steel blue uniform with mortarboard epaulets, took salutes from crack units of the Army and Navy while standing upright in a powder gray open Zis limousine.

The new defense minister stopped in front of each unit and declared: "I congratulate you on the 40th anniversary of the October Revolution."

The soldiers and sailors answered full-throatedly: "Hurrah. We wish you good health."

The civilian section of the parade followed immediately upon the military marchpast with the Spartak Sports Club contingent carrying a large model of the earth with two rotating sputniks.

School children broke parade ranks when they passed the tribune to present flowers to the Soviet leaders.

Thunderous applause greeted a column of scientists who hoisted aloft models of sputniks, atomic power stations and electronic computers.

Portraits of Marx, Lenin and Engels and those of present Soviet government and party leaders were carried by the civilian marchers in a sea of Red flags and banners honoring the revolution.

New Aluminum Alloys Can Stand 900 Degrees

NEW YORK—Aluminum-powder metallurgy products have been developed that indicate it may be possible to use aluminum in high temperatures.

The products, first of their kind to be manufactured in the United States, are said to withstand 900-degree temperatures—300 to 400 degrees above the point at which conventional aluminum alloys can function efficiently.

Oklahomans Move Out When Car Speeds By

NOBLE, Okla. (AP) — Harold Mauldin, a member of the town board here, gave a visitor a tour of Noble and explained the town does not have a police officer.

"What happens when you see a driver coming down the highway here 80 miles an hour?" the visitor asked.

Mauldin replied: "You run like heck to get out of the way."

Made Folding Scooter

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Now the portacycle. A folding scooter which collapses to the size of a suitcase, and gets about 100 miles to the gallon of an oil-gasoline fuel, has been invented by Hildreth Strode, now a mechanical engineer in New York. Strode, who got his schooling here, calls it a portacycle.

ILLINI CAPTAIN — Dale Smith, captain-halfback of Illinois, is one of the key players on the Illini casualty list which coach Ray Eliot says will hurt his team against Michigan at Champaign, Saturday afternoon.

Wolverines Workout for Illini

Ailments Hinder 'M'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—It hasn't been readily apparent during games, but little nuisance injuries have cut down the effectiveness of the Michigan football game this season.

Minor ailments have been a complaint of coach Bennie Oosterbaan ever since practice began, and he repeated it today.

"Most of our injured players have been able to play," Oosterbaan said. "But the work they missed during the week can't be made up. They don't learn our new stuff without practicing."

"This has been the worst wave of injuries in many seasons."

Aide Bob Hollway was in agreement with his boss. Hollway played defensive end on the unbeaten teams of 1947-48 and now he oversees the weekly installation of Michigan's new defense pattern. His work is hindered by the large number of absentees each day.

"I can't recall anyone ever being hurt during 1947 and 1948, except Dick Kempthorn," Hollway said. "He missed two games, but no one else ever got hurt."

Most of Michigan's regulars have been sidelined either once or twice during practice, but only Dave Bowers and fullback John Herrnstein have been lost for games.

Bowers will be out for the rest of the season with a fractured shoulder.

Herrnstein's painful ankle kept him from playing in two games. He returned against Iowa last week, but wasn't able to duplicate his jarring running of last year. It's doubtful if he will this season. Most of his efforts will be confined to defense.

Nuisance injuries have kept end Gary Prahst and quarterback Jim Van Pelt inside the training room, too.

Prahst was to have filled the shoes of Ron Kramer, but he hasn't had the chance although he was well enough to appear in every game."

"Prahst has been hurt in three spots," Oosterbaan said. "He's never been sound. First it was a knee, then a hip and now a shoulder. He kept getting hurt in every game.

Van Pelt is ailing with a pulled leg muscle that may force him out of Saturday's Illinois game. He first hurt his leg in September.

Michigan has only today's full-scale workout and tomorrow's brief drill scheduled before flying down to Champaign for their game with the Illini.

MIAA Passers Wage Battle

Hillsdale's Doug Maison has moved into the runner-up spot in the MIAA passing department.

The lanky Dales' quarterback completed a flock of passes for 177 yards last week against Kalamazoo in his team's 48-0 romp and trails Adrian's Fred Hobart by just 88 yards.

Hobart, who has gained 662 yards, and Maison, who has 32 completions in 49 attempts, will face each other Saturday night at Adrian and will decide the league passing championship at that time.

Dick Nash and Don Vangilder continue to lead in MIAA rushing. Nash carried 22 times against Alma for 81 yards. Vangilder carried 23 times for 102 yards. Nash has a 435-yard total in 110 carries while his teammate has 375 yards in 73 carries. These two backs are far ahead of the rest of the field.

Leon Harper of Adrian still leads the pass receivers with 16 receptions for 352 yards.

Seixas, Holmberg Win

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and young Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, members of America's Davis Cup team both were hard pressed to win their second round matches today in the New South Wales Tennis Championships.

Seixas beat Warran Jacques 6-4, 6-4, 8-6 and Holmberg, after a fast start, won over Barry Phillips-Moore of Australia 6-1, 6-1, 6-8, 7-5.

Irish Coaches Struggle for Lucky Trophy

Each One Swings Stick Saturday When MSU Faces Notre Dame

EAST LANSING (AP) — A Shillelagh, as everyone knows, is the stout stick Irishmen use to beat each other over the head in the spirit of fun and games.

And a Shillelagh is the personal-type trophy coaches Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty of Michigan State and Terence Patrick Brennan of Notre Dame, a pair of Iirishmen, will be fighting for when their football teams run headlong into each other here Saturday.

If the sellout crowd of 76,000 watches closely, they'll see Daugherty swnging the stick as he masterminds from the bench. If he wins, he keeps possession. If not, he's honor-bound to deliver it to Brennan.

Both Duffy and Terry were young assistant coaches who succeeded their bosses in 1954. Daugherty took over from Biggie Munn, who became athletic director after building MSU to its present position as a football leader. Brennan was hand-pcked by the equally successful Frank Leahy on his retirement from coaching.

Daugherty had a hard time with a 3-6 won and lost record his first year. Brennan went sailing through with a 9-1 winning season.

A fan gave Duffy the Shillelagh to carry before the Notre Dame game to change his luck. State was beaten by missed conversions, 20-19, and Daugherty handed the stick over to Brennan with the wry remark: "It didn't bring me any luck, you take it."

Daugherty bounced back in 1955 with a 9-1 season, including his Rose Bowl win, while Brennan was enjoying a good 8-2 year. When Michigan State won the annual struggle with Notre Dame, 21-7, Daugherty got his forgotten Shillelagh back again.

Michigan State had a 7-2 season including a 47-14 runaway over the Irish last year. Brennan was temporarily down with only two wins against eight losses. So Daugherty kept possession.

But when two Irishmen are fighting over a sentimental trophy, how can you pick any favorites?

Campus Stations to Carry MSU-ND

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State-Notre Dame football game, a sellout for month, will be televsied Saturday — but to a limited number of viewers.

Station WKAR-TV, university opearted TV station, will carry the game on channel 60 starting at 1:30 p.m. EST, MSU officials said today. The telecast will be relayed to Notre Dame's station WNDU-TV in South Bend, Ind.

In Michigan, the telecast will be beamed for a 65 mile radius of East Lansing but only sets equipped with ultra high frequency transmission will be able to pick it up.

To Boost Northern Michigan Income

Eye Home Products

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Home-made products—pine ash trays, wrought iron candlesticks and the like—could boost northern Michigan's income by millions of dollars, representatives from 33 counties were told.

Some 350 delegates from throughout northern Michigan met Tuesday at Central Michigan College to talk over organization of a guild or association to promote products turned out by hundreds of homecraftsmen in the area.

More than 100 exhibits of locally made arts and crafts products were on display to point up the possibilities for such a project.

"In industry built around artists and craftsmen in the 33 counties north of the Bay City-Muskegon line could be the long sought answer to the region's industrial needs," said Les Biederman Traverse City broadcasting executive.

His views were echoed by Myron Riggs, publisher of the Cheboygan Tribune and chairman of the Northern Michigan Development Council, which sponsored an all-day conference.

Riggs said home industry in northern Michigan brings in about 15 million dollars a year, but could be increased several times over with proper organization. He said retail centers should be set up in every city and village for sale of Michigan-made merchandise.

The Straits of Mackinac Bridge, he noted, should bring more tourists to northern Michigan than ever before, raising the sales potential for locally-made products.

Miss Katheryn Fitzgerald, deputy commissioner of the New York State Department of Commerce, said her state already has built up a big home craft industry.

"The things you make in the home and small shops that have the extra touch in quality can command higher prices," she said. "In competition with articles of automated industry they will find a ready market if they are well made."

Electronics in Medicine

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An electronic device developed for oil exploration is being used in finding and tracing nervous disorders. The $10,000 machine was developed by Magnolia Petroleum Co. for use in prospecting geological structures below the surface. Because its depth of electrical penetration was not enough, it was donated to the Baylor University College of Medicine.

In Marrakesh, Morocco, a spot of ground where sultans once exhibited the heads of traitors is now a parking lot.

Kashmir Holds 2 Distinctions

Land of Enchantment Is Perennial Problem for United Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — In international circles, Kashmir holds two titles to distinction. It is a land of enchanting beauty and a perennial problem on unsettled accounts of the United Nations.

Disputed by Pakistan and India for the past decade, this Himalayan region of purple, snow-capped mountains and flowering valleys became a Moslem-Hindu battleground after the partition of India.

The struggle ended in an armed truce and cease-fire line that left the state's northwestern portion under Pakistan control and the rest with predominantly Hindu India.

Georgraphy, history, and basic cultural differences combine to make a natural buffer territory of the two-part state officially known as Jammu and Kashmir, the National Geographic Society says.

Its population is estimated at less than 4,500,000. Its area encompasses 82,250 square miles—a little less than that of Kansas which it resembles in no other way.

Reaching from the plains of northwest India to Himalayan peaks of more than 28,000 feet, Jammu-and-Kashmir terrain rises in such abrupt steps that it has been called a "House of Many Stories."

Northern Kashmir includes the barren and sparsely settled mountain districts of Gilgit and Ladakh. Jammu, in the southwest, is a transitional region linking the plains with the Himalaya foothills. Between lies the idyllic Vale of Kashmir, watered by the Jhelum River.

To many, the Vale of Kashmir seems a mysterious and inaccessible Shangri-La. Actually, tourism long has helped to sustain its frugal economy.

Ordeal Before Footlights

Broadway Actor Views Opening Night Emotions

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP)—What happens to an actor on opening night of a Broadway show?

Take the case of Ricardo Montalban, who just opened in the calypso caper, "Jamaica." Some of his ordeal is described in his feelings the moment before he went on stage:

"You talk about a man's life flashing before his eyes as he is drowning—that is exactly how I felt. I thought of everything: my mother, my father, my boyhood, dreams I have had.

"I thought what would happen if the play was a flop, how I would have to take my wife and four children back to California. I wondered if my voice would hold up. Then I heard the overture and suddenly I was faced with that terrible moment of having to go on."

Ricardo's ordeal was made worse by a cold he had picked up during the tryout run in Boston. When he arrived at the Imperial theater at noon before opening night, his voice was hoarse. He did a run-through whispering his lines and talking his songs.

Then he went home for a half-hour rest. He was back at the theater at 6:15.

"I always get there early," he explained. I'm the kind of a guy who sleeps with three alarm clocks. I've always got to be sure I'll be there on time."

He started getting ready for the show at 6:30, aided by a dresser and makeup man.

"Between the acts, I felt terrible," Ricardo said. "I was depressed. I thought I wasn't getting across. I guess it was a natural letdown after five weeks' rehearsal and six weeks on the road. I determined I would try ever harder in the second act."

When it was all over the applause at the curtain calls was heartening. Well-wishers jammed into his dressing room to offer congratulations.

Instead of Sardi's, Ricardo went to a small party given by a dentist friend on Park Avenue and dropped in at the Waldorf celebration for the cast given by his co-star, Lena Horne. From the others, Ricardo learned that the reviews were generally good.

Jamaica's slim plot was roundly knocked, but the Harold Arlen music and the jobs by Miss Horne and Ricardo were praised.

Ricardo got to bed by 4 and wakened to find more congratulations and the assurance of a lengthy run.

"Coming back to the stage has been good for me," he reflected. "MGM spoils you; you get used to the red carpet and limousines waiting for you. On the stage, you learn to carry your own bags and live in hotel rooms, not suites. I think I'm much better equipped to face the future now."

Stock Market Down Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Most aircraft and missile stocks declined as the Stock Market was off slightly in quiet early trading today.

Leading issues fell from fractions to around a point. There were a few small gainers.

The market was mixed at the start. There were some sizable blocks in aircraft and missile-related stocks which have enjoyed a rise in recent sessions. Although some of these were unchanged at the opening, they soon drifted to the downside.

A published report predicting that President Eisenhower tonight will not recommend any drastic change in the nation's missile program and that the Defense Department is not planning any sharp step-up in military spending next year was a factor.

North American Aviation was unchanged at 27¼ on an opening block of 7,000 shares and U. S. Borax was unchanged at 47⅝ on an opener of 5,400 shares. The latter firm produces boron, used in rocket fuels. Both stocks declined in later dealings.

Martin Co. was off ¼ at 36¼ on 3,000 shares; Bethlehem Steel was off ⅜ at 38⅝ on 3,500; and General Tire, which has a rocket subsidiary, was off ¼ at 28¾ on 4,000.

Fractional losses were taken by U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Kennecott, General Electric and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Martin Co., DuPont and Polaroid were off around a point. Gulf Oil stretched its loss to around 2.

Burroughs Sales Up but Net Income Drops

DETROIT (AP) — The Burroughs Corp. today reported net earnings of $6,687,661, equal to $1.11 a share, for the first nine months of 1957. This compared with net income of $8,956,702, or $1.49 a share for last year's like period.

Sales for the first nine months of this year totaled $204,861,122 compared with $190,450,710 for the same period last year.

The company said most of the increase in revenue was in product categories which provided a lower margin of profit.

Grain Futures Mostly Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were mostly steady in light dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Trading in wheat appeared to be based on additional flour business and expectations that President Eisenhower will ask Congress for authority to dispose of another billion or more dollars worth of surplus farm commodities abroad.

Commission houses were on both sides of the wheat trade in early dealings.

Soybeans were up fractionally in early dealings, reflecting a firmer market for soybean oils and steadiness in soybean meals.

Corn showed little tendency to move up or down at the outset. Weather over the corn belt remains unsettled with the harvest only about 40 per cent completed. Receipts of corn at Chicago overnight totaled 256 cars compared with 139 a week ago and 146 on the same day last year.

Rye showed little change from previous levels.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ⅜ to ⅝ lower Dec. $2.18¾; corn unchanged to ¼ lower Dec. $1.17⅞; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher Dec. 68⅛, rye ½ to ⅞ lower Dec. $1.30½, soybeans unchanged to ⅜ lower, Nov. $2.28¼ and lard was 5 to 15 cents a hundred lbs. lower; Nov. $11.60.

There were 118 permits totaling $439,212 issued by the Pontiac Building inspection department during October, Carl F. Alt, building inspector reported.

Included in this total were permits for 23 new homes in the city, two new apartment buildings, and 37 residential garages.

The October total compares to 127 permits amounting to $1,311,129 issued in September. In this total there were permits for nine new family dwellings. An addition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital accounted for a large portion of the September total.

One new commercial building, a $27,000 Borden Co. milk plant and tank wash room, was listed in the October figures.

There were permits issued by Alt and his department staff for 43 alterations and repairs ($55,192) at homes in the city. There was one commercial alteration and repair permit for $6,000 in the October totals.

Miscellaneous permits showed five for wrecking jobs, three for moving structures, and three for installation of tanks.

W. H. Freer in Hospital; Car Crashes Into Tree

William H. Freer, 60, of 241 Airport Rd., Waterford Township, is in Pontiac General Hospital with skull lacerations after his car crashed into a tree on Elizabeth Lake road at 6 p.m. last night.

Waterford Township Police said Freer was travelling southeast on Crescent Lake road alone when he lost control of his car at the entersection. Freer's condition was reported satisfactory this morning, a hospital spokesman said.

Collegian Tries to Talk to Nikita About Sputniks

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A Wabash College student who tried to talk with Soviet leaders by telephone yesterday succeeded in getting a report on Russian scientific progress from an American newsman in Moscow.

Ernest E. Lewis of Lebanon, Ind., a senior in political science, jammed a pay phone coin box on his $13.25 call. He tried to get Nikita Khrushchev, Nicolai Bulganin and the American Embassy and finally talked to William J. Jorden, New York Times correspondent.

Lewis said a Kremlin operator reported that Khrushchev would talk if Lewis could speak Russian, but the student couldn't meet the terms. He failed to get Bulganin, and the American Embassy refused to accept the call.

Lewis said Jorden told him a Russian rocket to the moon might be fired "at any time."

Edsel's Main Office Moves to Birmingham

Edsel Division has announced the relocation of its Detroit district sales office in a week-end move to 2500 East Maple Rd. Birmingham.

The office is headed by District Sales Manager H. F. Riley and supervises Edsel sales activities in Lower Michigan and part of Ohio.

The district sales office formerly was located at 6200 West Warren Ave. Detroit, since its establishment early this year. In its new quarters, the district sales group occupies space in Tractor and Implement Division's general office building.

Debate Problems of Teen Traffic Court

Juvenile Court officers differed in opinion yesterday as to the complete legality and correctness of procedure used in teenage traffic courts such as the one now being organized in Pontiac.

The teenage traffic court was the topic of a panel of experts speaking before the bi-monthly meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Juvenile Court Officers Assn. at Rotunda Inn, West Bloomfield Township, Wednesday.

Moderating the panel was Albert Casey, senior probation officer of Oakland County Juvenile Court. Panel members were Walter K. Dennison, assistant Oakland County prosecutor; D. W. Putney, assistant chief probation officer of Wayne County Juvenile Court; and Det. Sgt. Robert Schaule, head of Birmingham Police Juvenile Division.

Schaule heads Oakland County's first teenage traffic court, which was organized in Birmingham last month.

During the panel discussion and question-and-answer period which followed, these points were noted:

ON VOLUNTARY BASIS

1. Teenage defendants who are brought before the teenage court to be heard on traffic violation charges do so on a purely voluntary basis.

If the youngster or parent prefers, he may take his case to the juvenile court for a hearing. Both parent and juvenile must agree to be heard by the teen court, and both must agree to the court decision or request an appeal to the juvenile court.

2. Juvenile officers disagreed as to whether or not the traffic record of youngsters 14 to 17 years who are heard in the court should be recorded with the Secretary of State.

Since this is not a legal requirement, the procedure of various courts has differed.

Birmingham sends abstracts of the moving traffic violation tickets of juveniles to Lansing for recording. The Genesee County teenage court, which convenes in Flint, does not.

Those who favored the records felt the records would be helpful in determining if the teenager was a chronic violator.

3. Teenage courts are legal if they have been delegated authority from the probate judge to operate.

Satellite Sundae Includes Ticket to Outer Space

EATON RAPIDS (INS) — Free tickets to outer space are being given away by a Michigan ice cream firm with every purchase of its new "satellite sundae."

The sundae — developed, experimented and tasted by researchers for Miller Dairy Farms of Eaton Rapids — consists of a "sphere of vanilla on an ice cream cake roll 'launching platform,' topped with hot fudge, crushed nuts, whipped cream and pretzel-stick antennae."

Sales manager Bryce Thomson said, "It's out of this world."

Finds Perils of Having Small Sporting Car

The perils of owning a small sports car were discovered by Beverly Moriarity, of 285 Whittemore St., yesterday.

She reported to Pontiac police that during the night some one turned over her 1957 Isetta in front of her residence, damaging the right side.

4. Since juveniles are tried by a jury of 20 juveniles, the court acts as an educational as well as judicial organization.

IN CASES OF ACCIDENT

5. The procedure of the courts concerning teens who deny the serious traffic violation concerning accidents differs.

In Birmingham, the driver's license of the defendent is taken away until investigation of the case. In Wayne County, the case is adjourned until investigation.

6. The territorial jurisdiction of the teenage court can present problems in handling the large numbers of cases.

Wayne County officials felt that the organization of a teen court for their area would be somewhat impractical because traffic ticket cases would be slowed up due to the necessity of a court and jury compared the practice of juvenile court conferences.

Some felt the teen court could only be workable in small areas.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Following the discussion, the association elected officers for the 1957-58 year.

Harlan Ringelberg, director of intake at Wayne County Juvenile Court was named president. Mrs. Ladeen Floyd, child welfare worker for Oakland County Juvenile Court was elected secretary.

The association consists of juvenile court officers from Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw, Macomb, St. Clair, Monroe and Lapeer Counties.

Bob Considine Says:

Industry in Italy Makes Fighting Comeback

MOSCOW (INS)—In Rome the other day, former U. S. Ambassador James Dunn said something about the resurgence of Italian industry, prosperity and pride that isn't generally comprehended in America.

Dunn was our ambassador there in the difficult years just after the war when Italy could have gone down the drain of communism with little more than a gentle shove.

Dunn said the remarkable fact about Italy's comeback is that the Marshall Plan aid we gave her never represented more than six per cent of the Italian economy. Along with millions of others, I would have thought we were plunking down a good half of what Italy survived on. Dunn says six per cent and he should know. He was in charge of disbursing it.

But it was a vital six per cent, he pointed out. It was coal, oil, copper, food and electricity producing plants. The gifts and power got the factories started again. The food gave the Italian working man the muscle he sorely needed. Italians did the rest.

We asked him about the Communist picture in Italy. Dunn is of the opinion that there are almost as many people now who would vote for Communist candidates as there were in the postwar showdown when the Pope threatened excommunication to any Catholic who voted that way.

Where the Italian Reds have lost their grip, in Dunn's view, is in the labor unions and industry foremen. And there he feels Italy's moderates and pro-Americans have scored a historic victory.

Rome is bustling. Streets are clogged in a perpetual traffic jam through which seemingly millions of daredevils are riding lambrettas and motorscooters of that sort.

They must be classed as the greatest cyclists on earth, for they not only survive their mad flights, but frequently take the family along — an amply proportioned mama mia and a bambino or two holding on like Koala bears.

The official name of the Czech airline which takes you from Paris to Prague is Ceskoslovenske Aerolinie, mystifyingly called the O. K. Airline. Bill Hearst, Frank Conniff and the writer flew in an IL-12 Russian built twin-engined job about the size of a DC-3 but with tricycle landing gear and four-bladed props.

We were assigned as "passengers two, three and four," but once aboard the sturdy stewardess told us we could sit anywhere. Seventeen people were taking the flight behind the Iron Curtain.

Lunch was preceded by handing us thick sponge-rubber slabs to place on our knees as a base for a tray; lunch was tasty enough—cold roast beef, lamb and Polish ham submerged in a salad of some sort, a good French roll and an orange and coffee.

We tooled at a modest speed across France in the misty weather and then across neat green and brown farms and the wet black forests of Germany. We passed over two cities the U. S. Army Eighth Air Force members will never forget, Stuttgart and Nuremberg.

From the looks of things below, you would never know that tons of bombs were dropped on those towns. The "Fasten Seat Belts" and "No Smoking" sings on O. K. Airlines are in Czech, Russian, English and French.

They blinked on and we came in for a low approach (perhaps to get under the curtain) and the fellow up front made a perfect landing. A uniformed security officer was waiting at the bottom of the steps. For some reason he seemed to spot us as Auslanders. "Passports!" he snapped briskly.

Bill, Frank and Katherine Clark, whose dispatches from Budapest a year ago won the Overseas Press Club and the George Holmes Awards, assured me Prague is a fairly gay place compared to several other curtain country capitals.

I found it a place without a smile, a place over which the industrial smog hung like a pall, a place where people were sorely afraid to open their mouths on any topic.

There are few incidents compared to other countries, in this thoroughly cowed satellite. Thousands appeared at the grave of Herbert Mazaryk, brother of Jan and the son of Thomas, on All Souls Day last week. He is the only member of the famed family buried in the open cemetery.

The graves of his more famous brother and republic-founding father are behind the iron gates that are barred to the public though Nehru on a trip here raised so much hell about not having such a visit placed on his schedule that nervous Czech Communists were forced to yield to his wishes.

The lone eye-raising notes I found in Prague: The interest in American popular music, including rock 'n' roll, and the sight at the airport of the handsome new rear-engined Czech automobile named the Tatra, which could hold its own with our niftiest, if surface appearances mean anything.

Prince's Hat Found Stuck on Tombstone

SARK, Channel Islands — Britain's Prince Philip was irritated, and his hosts were worried, over The Case of the Disappearing Hat during a recent royal visit to Sark.

The prince laid it—a brown trilby with the look of a well-worn favorite—on the floor of the royal carriage while he and the queen visited Sark's old parish church. When they returned—no hat. "Someone must have pinched it," said Prince Philip. "Surely not," said the queen; "it must have blown away. The search was abandoned. But someone had seen a hat blowing along in the churchyard.

A royal detective was sent back. He returned triumphantly. "Where was it?" asked the prince. "Stuck on a tombstone, sir," was the reply.

Catholic Church Makes Journey

96-Year-Old Building on Beaver Island to Go to New Location

BEAVER ISLAND (AP) — A 96-year-old Catholic church travels this week on a 1½-mile journey from its present Beaver Island location to a new site within the St. James Village limits.

"We couldn't afford to build a new church, so we had no choice but to move the old one," says the Rev. Joseph Herp, OFMC, pastor of Holy Cross church.

Heavy equipment for the project was brought to the island by freighter from Charlevoix, some 34 miles east on the Michigan "mainland."

Fr. Herp, pastor since 1951, says Holy Cross is the third Catholic church in the island's history.

The original was a crude structure of logs, hides and birch bark, built by Indians in 1832 under guidance of Fr. Baraga, a missionary.

The second, named for St. Ignatius, was built by the island's first Irish settlers in 1857. It was abandoned when it became too small to care for families moving in with the lumbering and fishing industries.

Holy Cross was enlarged to its present 30 by 100-foot size late in the last century when the island population stood near the 2,000 mark. The figure now is less than 300 year-around residents, most of whom live within the St. James Village limits.

Police Captain Admits Bookie 'Persistent' Man

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Police Capt. J. F. Willis says G. L. (Blackie) Grimes is the "most persistent man I know."

Officers arrested Grimes for making book on horse races.

"I've lost count of the number of times he has been charged in the 30 years I've known him," said Willis.

Remedy Old-Fashioned

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — City foot patrolmen are going back to carrying old-fashioned nightsticks. Police Chief Milton Winslow, in authorizing expenditure of $375 to buy 100 such clubs, said they are needed to handle juvenile hoodlums. The order came after a patrolman was severely beaten trying to break up a fight at a teen age dance.
