Study Vaccine Data Today in New Effort to Reach Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government-sponsored meeting today may provide the anxiously awaited word on when the program of inoculation against polio can get off dead center.

Government scientists and representatives of firms making the Salk polio vaccine assembled to study evidence which may lead to (1) early clearance of existing supplies or (2) added time-consuming tests which might further delay clearance.

The group will advise Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele, who will make the final decisions—"as soon as possible," he promised.

Scheele said the session was called to go over the findings turned up by health service inspectors during a plant-by-plant study of testing and manufacturing processes.

A health service spokesman said Dr. Jonas E. Salk, the vaccine's developer who has sat in on previous discussions, had sent word he could not attend today.

A halt in the program was recommended 15 days ago. Since that time, the U. S. Public Health Service has cleared the vaccine previously distributed by two makers, but much of that has been used.

The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, meanwhile, arranged to meet in closed session to consider various proposals for federal controls over manufacture and distribution of the vaccine.

The Eisenhower administration has said there is no need for such controls, but Democratic leaders forecast the committee would approve a standby control bill.

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn) of the House Commerce Committee announced plans to start hearings Wednesday on Eisenhower's request for 28 million dollars to assure vaccine shots for children whose families could not afford to pay for them.

There was no new report from the government yesterday on the number of postinjection polio cases.

Cabbit Contemplates Life

"WHAT AM I—CAT OR RABBIT?"—No ordinary cat could sit with front paws crossed like Buddha as this one is doing at Urbana, Ill. The freak feline, which is built as much like a rabbit as a cat, is called Cabbit by its owners, the Julian Fellows family. Cabbit has only a 2½-inch tail like a rabbit, and her huge hind paws, one of which has six toes, look like those of a cottontail. The fore legs of the 2-year-old cat have an extra joint in them, and Cabbit walks in front on her whole "forearm." With her rabbit-like legs, Cabbit half-runs, half-hops and isn't much good at escaping dogs or climbing trees. Being a rarity, she's pretty well protected anyway and spends a lot of time just sitting cross-pawed in a contemplative pose.

Three Other Youngsters in Critical Condition After Wreck

Two children were killed and three others injured critically in a 2-car crash Saturday night at Scott Lake Rd. and the Dixie Highway.

The dead are:

Kathleen Tibbitts, 7 weeks old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Tibbitts, of 2971 Chrysler, Waterford Township.

Listed in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital were three other Tibbitts children, Kenneth, 3, Virginia, 5, and Edwin, 1½.

All were passengers in the Tibbitts car when it collided with an auto driven by Charles Maxwell, 19, of 5840 Hatchery Rd., Drayton Plains. Tibbitts, 26, and his wife, Betty, 23, were treated and released for cuts and bruises.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Maxwell, who suffered a broken left leg, cuts and bruises, was listed in good condition by hospital authorities as was a passenger, James Sonnenberg, 20, of 5775 Dixie Highway, Waterford. Sonnenberg sustained face cuts and bruises.

Two other passengers with Maxwell, Charlotte Benac, 16, of Clarkston, and Thomas Brandon, 19, of Drayton Plains, were treated and released for cuts and bruises.

Tibbitts told Waterford Township Police Sgt. Charles Whitlock he was making a left turn from Scott Lake onto Dixie when the crash occurred. He stated he saw two cars in the right hand lane of the four lane highway with their right turn signals going and did not see Maxwell's car passing them.

TO MAKE STATEMENTS

Both drivers were scheduled to make statements at the Oakland County prosecutor's office later today.

Services for the Bailey child will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Sharpe's Funeral Home, Clarkston, with burial in Lakeview Cemetery. Services for the Tibbitts infant will also be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Coats Funeral Home, Drayton Plains, with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

SPEEDBOAT DRIVER HURT

A 48-year-old speedboat driver was hospitalized with injuries suffered Sunday when his craft overturned during a race at White Lake.

Joseph Olmstead, of Detroit, was listed in fairly good condition at Pontiac General Hospital with face cuts. Sheriff's deputies said Olmstead's boat capsized after striking another boat in a turn.

He was apparently struck by the propeller from his or another boat in the race, the deputies said. Olmstead was pulled from the water by members of a nearby crash boat.

Officials at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Pontiac General each listed more than 20 minor injuries treated after a rash of auto crashes over the weekend.

Vaccine Clinics Still Postponed

New Shipments of Salk Serum Haven't Arrived; Delay Said Beneficial

Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County health director, today reminded parents of first and second graders in 15 out-county areas that second-round anti-polio vaccine clinics originally set for last Tuesday and Wednesday are still postponed.

When announcing the delay because of a Salk vaccine shortage last week, Dr. Monroe said he hoped new supplies would enable authorities to conduct the clinics this week.

No new shipments have been received, however.

A health department official said protection from the vaccine probably would be improved by the delay.

"Last year, we gave the first and second shots a week apart. Now it's recommended they be given three to six weeks apart," he said.

FIRST SHOTS APRIL 19

First shots of the Salk vaccine were administered in the county April 19, he said.

He added even if vaccine is not forthcoming within the six weeks recommended, the effectiveness will not be reduced by a week or two longer delay.

All county youngsters in the first and second grades have received the first shot in the series.

Coffee Prices Drop to Five-Year Low

NEW YORK (UP) — The price of coffee in retail stores dropped to its lowest price in five years today.

The latest price cuts brought some brands of coffeee to as low as 75 cents a pound, a little more than half the price 10 months ago.

The new low price of coffee was due largely to the resistance of American housewives to last year's high prices, along with bumper Latin American coffee crops and rumors of a price war among producers.

The 75-cent price tag was announced by the A & P Food Stores, America's largest grocery chain, which will sell bagged coffee for from 75 to 81 cents a pound and vacuum packed coffee for 85 cents, effective today.

Press Will Banquet PHS State Champion Thinclads

The Pontiac Press has planned a banquet Thursday evening in Stevens Hall, All Saints Episcopal Church, to afford recognition of Pontiac High School's State Class A track championship.

Members of the fine track team, coached by Wally Schloerke, that has gone unbeaten in nine straight engagements, and their coaches will be guests of The Pontiac Press on this occasion. The time is 6:30 p.m.

No formal program has been planned but Charles E. Forsythe, state director of athelics will be guest speaker. Forsythe witnessed the sweeping victory the PHS team achieved at Ralph Young field, Michigan State College. He was greatly impressed at the brilliant performance of the Pontiac athletes.

Pontiac captured the state title by the overwhelming total of 51 13/14 points, more than the combined totals of the next three teams.

Flint Northern was 2nd with 17 points, a fraction less than the number scored by the Chiefs' No. 1 man, Hayes Jones, who won the high hurdles and broad jump and placed in two other events.

Charges Police Abused Dr. Sam

Defense Attorney Raps Investigation, Indictment in Murder Case

CLEVELAND (INS)—Charges of sloppy police investigation, a publicity forced indictment and general police bungling were raised by Defense Counsel William J. Corrigan at the appeal hearing for convicted wife-killer Dr. Sam Sheppard.

Corrigan charged that police used "Gestapo-like tactics" and "psychological brutality" in attempting to gain a confession from Dr. Sam that he murdered his pregnant wife, Marilyn, and that the osteopath refused to crack because he was not responsible for the horrible crime.

In his attack on the investigation of the July 4, 1954 murder, Corrigan charged that police made no study of the murder room to find which way blood spattered from the weapon used to bludgeon the pretty club woman to death.

Corrigan also claimed that there was no examination for a sex attack in a "quick, rather sloppy autopsy . . . an autopsy no one would be proud of."

The white-haired counsel said that publicity following the holiday murder grew to "such an extent that he (Dr. Sam) finally was arrested."

"He was tried and found guilty before he went on trial," the veteran barrister explained.

"I heard the voice of the mob and saw the right of an individual trampled in the dust."

Corrigan, who heads the four-man defense team, charged that there was a "conspiracy" to get a confession from Dr. Sheppard. He said Dr. Sheppard was questioned in "relays, abused, called everything," while being interrogated.

Boy Undergoes Sanity Hearing

Pontiac 12-Year-Old Charged With Beating Tot With Board

A 12-year-old Pontiac youth who Police say beat 4-year-old Cindy Lynne Montgomery with a spiked board last April 12, was slated to undergo a sanity hearing at 2 p.m. this afternoon before Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Terry Allen Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. King, of 255 W. Fairmount Ave., has been awaiting the hearing in the county juvenile home.

Two psychiatrists who examined the boy were scheduled to testify. They are Drs. Clinton J. Mumby, of Pontiac, and Charles P. Barker, of Birmingham.

If it is found he has a mental illness, the youth will probably be referred for commitment to a state hospital. If he is ruled feebleminded, Terry may be sent to the Lapeer State Home and Training School.

If neither, his case will be returned to Juvenile Court for disposition.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Montgomery, of 575 E. Mansfield Ave., was found in the basement of a partially built home bleeding from numerous nail punctures. She recovered after being in critical condition for more than a week.

Union Resumes Contract Talks

Hint GM Offer to Sell Stock to Workers on 'Thrift Plan'

DETROIT (INS) — The Ford Motor Co. and the General Motors Corp. returned to contract negotiations with the CIO-United Auto Workers today amid more rumors of counter offers and new proposals.

The latest rumor was that GM will offer the union a "thrift plan" similar to one announced by E. I. Dupont de Nemours & Co.

The Dupont plan calls for the company to pay every employe 25 cents toward the purchase of Dupont stock for every $1 the worker invests in U. S. savings bonds.

The plan is voluntary and was estimated as the equivalent of about five cents an hour in fringe benefits. Dupont will put the plan into effect for its 73,500 workers about Sept. 1.

COMPANIES MUM

Neither GM nor the union would confirm or deny the rumor. They reacted in a similar fashion to a report Saturday that the company had offered the UAW a counter proposal hinging on another long-term contract.

Whether the alleged GM offer contained a form of the guaranteed annual wage was not known.

Both sides have consistently maintained secrecy concerning progress of the talks, which they pledged when negotiations began more than a month ago.

GM's contract with the UAW, which represents 325,000 company workers, expires June 7 as does its pact with the CIO-International Union of Electrical Workers, which bargains for approximately 35,000 employes. GM held its first talks with the IUE last Thursday.

Ford's pact expires June 1 and because of this, the company and union met Saturday in the first session on a week-end.

Pole-Vaulting Champ Tells Story in Press

A new three-part series by the Rev. Bob Richards, world champion pole-vaulter and Olympic track star, will start today on page 22 of the Pontiac Press.

The Rev. Mr. Richards says he is "the only man in the world trying to pole vault his way to heaven." It was not always this way for only a few short years ago Bob was a tough teenager in Champaign, Ill.

Today at 29 he has first-hand knowledge of the juvenile delinquency problem in the nation. In this exclusive three part series, he tells of his experiences with delinquency and suggests ways to fight it.

Look for this down-to-earth series in today's Pontiac Press.

Sunday Rain Ends Drought, Eases Crop Situation Here

Nearly an inch of badly needed rain splashed down on arid Oakland County yesterday, ending a 3½-week drought which threatened farm crops.

But, although the crop crisis has been temporarily alleviated, experts today said much more rain is still needed.

Tomorrow's forecast is for occasional showers and thundershowers.

"The rain has been of great benefit to all the fruit crops which survived the May 9 frost," said Karl D. Bailey, district horticultural agent. The hay crop has been greatly reduced by the freeze and drought, he added.

Bailey pointed out the .87 of an inch which fell yesterday was the first rain of consequence since April 24. The normal rainfall for May is approximately 3½ inches.

NEED MORE RAIN

"It takes a lot of rainfall to moisten the sub-soil," Bailey said. "Area farmers still need a lot more rain."

Yesterday's torrent helped ease the water shortage which forced several communities to impose lawn sprinkling bans Saturday.

Some county roads were flooded by the downpour. In Birmingham last night, 20 to 25 cars were stalled in both the north-and southbound lanes of Hunter boulevard north of Wimbledon as water flooded higher than the center parkway.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. reported service was cut-off to 360 customers in scattered sections as the rain affected 16 cables. Phones were out in parts of Oxford, Lake Orion, Drayton Plains, Commerce and Pontiac.

Accompanying yesterday's rainfall were temperatures ranging from a high of 80 to a low of 45.

A high of 80 degrees is expected tomorrow. At 8 a.m. today the mercury in downtown Pontiac stood at 66 degrees, rising to 79 at 2 p. m.

Maples' Golf Team Off to Fast Start

Tim Baldwin, last year's medalist, fired a 35 to lead the Maples, followed by Capt. Bob Goldsmith's 37, Mike Conroy's 38 (including a two-stroke penalty), and Sandy Siegel's 40.

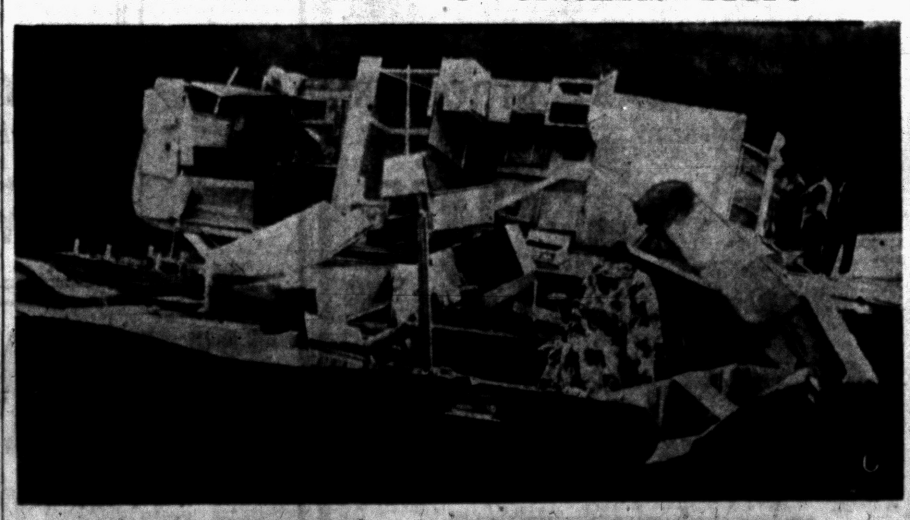

Other schoolboys turning in fine score cards are Jack Reynolds, of Waterford, 36; Fred Howting of Shrine and Lynn Matzen of Northville, 38's; and Waterford's John Wettlaufer, 39.

House May Reject Postal Pay Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) said today there is a "good chance" the House will override President Eisenhower's veto of the postal pay hike if it gets a chance.

Eisenhower turned down a compromise 8.6 per cent average pay boost for the half million postal workers Thursday, saying the bill was too expensive and not fair to some groups it would have affected.

House Trailer Overturns Here

Pontiac Press Photo

TOTAL WRECK — This 35-foot house trailer was reduced to kindling wood and twisted aluminum after it overturned on Opdyke road near M-59 Sunday afternoon. The trailer was being pulled by a truck driven by Delos Bloor, 42, of Barboo, Wis., who told Sheriff's Deputies Steve Navarre and William Smith that he lost control when strong winds began whipping the trailer. Trailer and truck overturned in the ditch after crossing the road but Bloor was not injured seriously.

Queen Elizabeth, Family Hear Billy Graham Preach

WINDSOR, England (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham's prestige rose to new heights in Britain today after his first sermon for Queen Elizabeth and the royal family.

The 36-year-old American preached at the Queen's invitation for 25 mniutes yesterday in the private chapel at Windsor's royal lodge, 20 miles west of London.

Afterward he and his wife lunched with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The Queen and the duke drove over from nearby Windsor Castle for the private service, which was attended also by the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret. It was Graham's first meeting with the Queen.

"I can only say that it was a great privilege to be at Windsor today and that the Queen was very charming and gracious to us," he told reporters.

Queen Elizabeth is titular head of the Church of England. Although her church has never officially endorsed Graham's crusades, it has given them strong support.

Graham is ordained a Southern Baptist minister but has emphasized an interdenominational approach in his crusades.

He wound up his seven weeks of public meetings in Scotland and London Saturday night with an impassioned sermon before 90,000 in the capital's Wembley Stadium. The meeting was broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corp.

Graham's aides said attendance at his meetings in Britain this year totaled 3,139,365.

Rain Postpones JC Road-E-O

Event to Be Completed Here Tuesday Evening at Shopping Center

Yesterday's afternoon rain threw the Jaycee Teenage Road-E-O off schedule, but the annual event was immediately re-scheduled for Tuesday at 6 p. m. after two hours of exhibitions.

Some 350 persons who turned out to view the affair at the Tel-Huron Shopping Center parking lot fled for cover at the outset of the downpour.

"Weather permitting," said Clyle R. Haskill, chairman, the Road-E-O will continue Tuesday night in the parking lot. We were unable to test about 50 in the contest."

Rescheduling of the event will make it possible for more contest entrants, said Haskill.

"Although only 10 were run through the test, we hope everyone interested in competing will be there Tuesday night for awarding of the three trophies," Haskill explained. "We're confident we can complete the contest and take in at least 50 more applications."

Trophy winners will have the opportunity to compete in a statewide and national Jaycee Road-E-O, in which final champs will be awarded scholarships valued up to $3,000.

Tommy Foster and his prize winning $5,000 "hot-rod" highlighted entertainment during yesterday's 2-hour show. Also on hand were hot-rod clubs, Piston Poppers, Road Lords and Rod Benders.

Boat Capsizes, Five Narrowly Escape Tragedy

Tragedy was narrowly averted Sunday afternoon when three children and two adults were pitched into Eagle Lake after their small boat capsized.

The five, who managed to swim a short distance to shore, were: Ann Green, 16, Ethelyn Green, 10, Barbara Mercklieg, 15, and William Lang, all of Royal Oak; and William Clemons, of Berkley.

They told Sheriff's deputies that Lang dove in the water from the rear of the craft, causing it to rock. The boat, described as a 2-man craft, overturned when Ethlyn stood up and screamed.

Barbara managed to reach shore first and summoned help while the two men aided Ethelyn to safety. Ann held onto the capsized boat until aid arrived.

The three girls were treated for shock at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Visiting Circuit Judge Helps in Case Load Here

Circuit Judge Charles O. Arch, of Hillsdale, began hearing a civil case in Oakland County Circuit Court today.

He is the second of three outside jurists called in to help handle the large load of cases. The first, Judge Archie D. McDonald, of Hastings, left last Friday after three days here.

Murdered UP Newsman Given Military Rites

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—Gene D. Symonds, United Press correspondent, was buried beside his mother at Lima, Ohio, today, halfway around the world from Singapore where he was beaten to death by a Communist-inspired mob while covering a bus strike.

Funeral service was held at Grace Methodist Church here and burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery at Lima.

A veteran of World War II, the 28-year-old United Press manager for Southeast Asia received military honors from the American Legion at the graveside.

LIEUT. NORMAN DOLSEN

Pontiac Flier Dies in Crash

Lieut. Norman Dolsen Killed on First Mission After Flight School

Lieut. Norman M. Dolsen, 28, a native of Pontiac, was killed on his first assigned mission last week, after graduation from Flight School, Corpus Christi, Texas.

The Marine Corps pilot will be buried Saturday, May 28, in Hillman, (Mich.) just one month from the date of his military wedding, April 28, which took place in Florida. Service will be in Hillman Catholic Church.

Lt. Dolsen piloted a fighter bomber in a four-plane formation last Thursday in a sweep over the Florida Everglades. About 27 miles north of the Marine airfield near Miami, his plane suddenly went out of control and plummeted to earth. He was reported killed instantly.

A Marine Corps board is investigating the crash.

Surviving Lieut. Dolsen are his bride, Rhee, of Hillman; his mother, Mrs. Lottie Dolsen, also of Hillman; a brother, Clarence Dolsen of Pontiac and three sisters, Mrs. Alma Edgar of Pontiac, Mrs. Lillian Rehburg of Chicago and Jean Dolsen of Hillman.

Joseph J. Bildstein

Service for Joseph J. Bildstein, 69, of Grayling, a former Pontiac resident, will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, in St. Vincent de Paul Church, with burial in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens, Walled Lake.

Rosary service will take place tonight at 8:30 in the Dudley Moore Funeral Home, Auburn Heights.

Mr. Bildstein, who died Saturday afternoon in Pontiac General Hospital, was born July 19, 1885 in Gagetown, the son of Joseph and Magdelan Weiler. He attended Gagetown Schools and married Maude Diers in Proctor, Minn., in June, 1913.

He was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church and had been employed at General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

Surviving besides his widow are two sons, Charles of Pontiac and Joseph Jr. of Avon Township; six daughters, Mrs. Florence Case of Rochester, Mrs. Barbara Bone and Mrs. Josephine Riharb, both of Pontiac; Mrs. Helen Turner of Auburn Heights, Miss Shirley Bildstein and Mrs. Margaret Dean of Grayling; 16 grandchildren and four sisters, Mrs. Lane Maxwell and Miss Catherine Bildstein, both of Detroit, Mrs. L. J. Van Hoff, Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. R. A. Kain of Saginaw.

Mrs. Carrie I. Collins

Mrs. Carrie I. Collins, 79, of 371 Elizabeth Lake Rd., died yesterday morning at her home, after three years of illness.

Mrs. Collins was born in Pierceville, Ind., the daughter of Henry and Isabella Bruntmeyer. She came to Pontiac 55 years ago from Indiana and was married to the now late Harvey Collins.

Mrs. Collins was a member of the First Methodist Church here and of the Deborah Circle.

She is survived by one son, Earl R., of Cincinnati; two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Hale and Mrs. Nat Morrison of Pontiac and two grandchildren.

Service will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday from the Brace-Smith Funeral Home, with the Rev. Paul Havens officiating. Burial will be in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Ina Dandison

Mrs. Ina Dandison, 86, formerly of 13 Liberty St. here, died Friday afternoon at Star Lake, N. Y., after 13 months of illness.

Born in Oakland County April 28, 1869, Mrs. Dandison was the daughter of Matthew and Sarah Bristoe King. Married to the late Levi Dandison in Pontiac in 1895, she was a member of the Central Methodist Church here.

Surviving Mrs. Dandison are two nieces, Mrs. Clarence Pagels of Detroit and Mrs. Robert Persson of Star Lake.

Service will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the Kirkby Funeral Home, with Dr. Milton H. Bank officiating. Burial will follow in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Kills Deportation Appeal

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Supreme Court upheld by a 6 to 2 decision today the deportation to Sicily of New Jersey racketeer Joseph Accardi. The decision reversed an appeals court ruling.

Presbyterians Voting Today

Ordaining Women and Catholic Marian Trend Issues Before Council

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Presbyterians vote today on proposals to ordain women as ministers and to criticize what the church terms a progressive trend by Roman Catholics to exalt the Virgin Mother.

The two issues come before the 167th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America as it resumes business sessions continuing through Wednesday.

The lengthy statement on "the Marian cult in relation to the lordship of Christ and the unity of the church" was offered by the Presbyterians' Permanent Commission on Interchurch Relations.

The commission asked the assembly's 880 lay and clerical delegates representing 2,658,903 church members to approve the statement.

After noting that last year's assembly asked the commission "to study the significance of the Marian Year in relation to Christ's place in the Christian religion and to the unity of the church which we founded," the commission reported in part:

"The development of the Marian cult has widened the breach between the Roman Catholic Church and all other Christian communions.

"In the figure of the Virgin the church of Rome has created a semidivine female being who becomes virtual head of the church, the hope of all who are distressed and the sovereign overlord of all that occurs in history. The devotion to Mary now equals, and even exceeds, the devotion to Christ himself."

The Committee on the Ordination of Women to the Gospel Ministry proposed that the church's constitution be amended to read: "Both men and women may be called to this office."

Election Will Fill Two Board Spots

Two posts on the Pontiac Board of Education will be contested at the June 13 election, according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

The terms of Maurice J. Croteau and Ferdinand F. Thiefels are expiring. It had previously been announced only one spot would be vacant.

Four candidates had filed at the May 14 deadline. They are Dr. Lynn D. Allen Jr., Monroe M. Osmun, the Rev. J. Allen Parker and Theron T. Stigle. The two elected will begin four-year terms July 1.

Other board members are Glenn H. Griffin, president, Robert B. Oliver, Mrs. Harry E. King, Louis Schimmel and Dr. Walter Godsell.

Princess Visits British Troops on Duty in Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — Princess Margaret arrived here by plane today for a brief visit to British troops in West Germany. Because of a typhoid epidemic in the Ruhr, she will stay only one day instead of until Wednesday as originally planned.

The princess landed at nearby Wahn Airport. After brief ceremonies at the airfield, she drove to Wuppertal to present new colors to the 1st Battalion of the Suffolk Regiment. The princess is colonel in chief of the regiment.

Margaret also had been scheduled to visit the 3rd Hussars, but it is stationed in Iserlohn, near Hagen, the center of the typhoid epidemic. The number of stricken in the southern Ruhr rose to 420 yesterday and the first death, of a 60-year-old woman, was reported.

Short Agenda for Supervisors

Oakland County Board Will Meet on Tuesday Morning

A short agenda faces the Oakland County Board of Supervisors when it meets at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the County Office Building at 1 Lafayette St.

A report is expected from the Building and Grounds Committee on planned modernization of the kitchen and construction of an elevator at the Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Consideration is scheduled of a plan to provide social security for Road Commission employes.

A resolution is expected from the Ways and Means Committee asking that the 1956 appropriation to the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority be slightly increased.

Another planned resolution would approve hiring four more sheriff's deputies.

The Agricultural and Equalization Committee also are scheduled to report.

Thomas Sarnoff, Bride Leaving for Honolulu

Sarnoff, son of Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, and Janyce Lundon, 26, of Dubuque, Iowa, were married here Saturday.

Sarnoff is director of business affairs for the Pacific Division of the National Broadcasting Co. Gen. Sarnoff is chairman of the board of NBC and the Radio Corporation of America.

The first known written reference to coal was made by a Chinese who died 2,100 years ago.

Vandals Wreck, Smash School

Sheriff's Deputies State Glass Shattered, Offices Ransacked at Avondale

Plate glass windows were smashed, classrooms and offices were ransacked, halls, classrooms and the cafeteria were vandalized in two breakins at the Avondale School, Oakland County Sheriff's detectives reported over the weekend.

Two cornets were stolen and more than $20 taken from rooms and offices, Detectives Jack Davis and Donald Francis said.

In the cafeteria, the vandals dumped cookies and ice cream on the floor. Halls and floors were squirted with fluid from a 2-gallon fire extinguisher. Books and supplies were pulled from desks and scattered about the floor.

Only a few rooms in the school, located near Auburn Heights, were left untouched, the detectives said.

Cabinets in the woodworking shop were pried open but tools and other equipment were left untouched.

Holly Man Asks Exam on Manslaughter Charge

Charged with manslaughter, Sibersie D. Thorne, 29, of Holly, demanded examination when he was arraigned Saturday before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib.

Thorne, held on $5,000 bond, was driving a car which crashed headon with another on M87 near Holly March 19, causing the death of 16-year-old David Wilding, of Holly. Examination date was not set.

The Day in Birmingham

Driver Gets Fine of $125 After Crash Injures Two

BIRMINGHAM — Murray Rasmussen, 31, of 15 Bloomfield Terrace, Pontiac, was fined $125 today after admitting he was driver of a car which sliced across the island separating north and south bound lanes of Woodward in Bloomfield Hills, and crashed into a south-bound vehicle. Two persons were injured.

The injured, identified as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynch, Detroit, were released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after receiving first aid treatment for minor injuries.

Police said Rasmussen, driving under the influence of alcohol, was driving north on Woodward Sunday morning without headlights. He wheeled across the island, just south of Long Lake Road, into the south-bound lane where his car collided with the Lynch vehicle, police said.

Donald McGee, Birmingham, was one of nearly a score of Democratic precinct workers honored Saturday for "outstanding work" at the annual Jefferson-Jackson banquet in Detroit: McGee was honored at the banquet attended by some 1,500 Michigan Democrats.

Golf and tennis, involving teams and residents from the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin, made up some of the news from this area over the weekend.

Two golfers shot holes-in-one at different courses.

Walt Burkemo of Franklin Hills, and Pete Cooper of Knollwood, will be exempt from qualifying rounds for the National PGA championships which opened today at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Birmingham High took team honors with 17½ points to win the regional tennis meet at Cranbrook. Mt. Clemens finished second with 8½ points.

The two golfers who aced holes were Mrs. M. D. Stein and Charles Smith, Birmingham. Mrs. Stein used a number two iron to ace the 139-yard ninth hole at Franklin Hills Country club for a 99 stroke total for the round. It was the first hole-in-one of the season at the club. Smith aced the 210-yard ninth hole at Oakland Hills Country Club. It gave him 48 for nine.

Burkemo and Cooper will automatically compete for the 1955 National PGA championship scheduled for Meadowbrook July 20-26 because of PGA records in 1954.

Burkemo was runner-up in last year's tourney and Cooper was one of the PGA's 30 leading money windners. Other Michigan golfers today were shooting for five openings in the championships.

One other golf item is the 72-hole Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament which opens Thursday at Forest Lake Country Club with some 40 amateur and pro golfers competing for $5,000 in prize money and trophies.

Mark Granville Dance Jr.

Mark Dance Jr., 23, son of a former Birmingham city manager, died yesterday afternoon of injuries suffered in an auto mishap in Monroe County.

The youth's father was employed in the city engineer's office, Pontiac, before taking over as Birmingham city manager. The family moved to Monroe in 1948.

The body is at the Earl Little Funeral Home, Monroe, where service will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery, Pontiac.

Surviving besides his widow, Delores, and parents, are his grandmother, Mrs. Robert Dance of Kansas; two daughters, Diane 3, and Doreen, 1, and a sister, Barbara, of Monroe.

U Nu to Visit Tito

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Burmese Prime Minister U Nu will arrive in Yugoslavia June 6 for a 10-day official visit. Indian Prime Minister Nehru is coming at the end of June for a similar visit.

Both the Asian leaders were invited by President Tito during his state visits to their countries early this year.

Strike Lockout Halts Trucking in West States

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Trucking operations throughout the West ground to a virtual standstill today, the fifth day of a strike lockout.

Both management and union officials saw little chance of immediate conciliation.

The truckers, after three firms were struck, ordered an industry-wide shutdown throughout the 11 Western states. Wade Sherrard, managing director of the California Trucking Assn., said an "almost 100 per cent shutdown" has been realized.

More than 100,000 workers, including some 28,000 drivers, are said to be affected by the strike-lockout.

Basically, the union wants 10 cents an hour more this year, plus 8 cents an hour extra in each of the next two years. The companies' latest offer was 5 cents, plus pension benefits.

Climb Toward Plane

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP) — Two groups of mountaineers climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro today toward the burned-out wreckage of an East African Airways airliner sighted yesterday. The 16 passengers and four crewmen were believed dead. The plane disappeared Wednesday.

The Panama Canal runs at an odd angle, so that the Atlantic entrance to the canal is actually somewhat to the west of the Pacific entrance.

Reds Collecting Peace Signers

May Use Petitions to Ban A-Bomb for U. N. Ammunition

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — A Communist-style peace petition campaign will reach a climax during the U.N.'s 10th anniversary meeting in San Francisco June 20-26. The signature drive aims at a ban on atomic warfare.

Members of some U.N. delegations said today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov might try to use the petitions as evidence of support for the repeated Russian demands for such a ban. Molotov announced Friday night that he would attend the San Francisco meeting.

The petitions were launched in the United States by the American Peace Crusade of New York City, which is on the U.S. attorney general's list of organizations he considers subversive.

The Communist-led World Peace Council, meanwhile, has postponed its world assembly in Helsinki, Finland, for a month, to June 22-29. U.N. sources noted the assembly thus would overlap the San Francisco ceremonies and could provide Molotov with echoes from the Finnish capital.

The peace council's governing bureau started the petition campaign with a communique Jan. 19 demanding "destruction of all stocks of atomic weapons wherever they may be, and the immediate stopping of their manufacture."

The Communist press claims that more than 400 million people have signed this in China, other millions in European Communist countries and tens of thousands in Austria, France, Italy, Syria and elsewhere. Statistics-minded observers question the figures.

Repair Traffic Damage to Old Arch in Rome

ROME (UP)—Rome's ancient Arch of Constantine has been put in splints to cure a modern malady—too much traffic vibration.

Located alongside the Colosseum, it is one of the best preserved and oldest triumphal arches in the world. But vibration from heavy traffic has shaken loose huge blocks of granite.

Rome's Department of Arts and Monuments said restoration was urgent or the fourth century relic might be damaged irreparably. Work crews were rushed there from similar repair jobs at the Pantheon and Colosseum.

Pipe scaffolding was erected around the arch and workmen began boring holes and binding the loosened blocks of granite together with yard-long brass bolts. To preserve the original appearance, the holes are cemented and plugged with bits of granite from ruins of the same period.

The arch was erected to commemorate Emperor Constantine's defeat of Maxentius in the Battle of Milvian Bridge in 312 A.D.

A-Ships Could Make U. S. Tops

American Sea Power Seen Without Equal in Atomic Age

NEW YORK (UP)—A member of the Federal Maritime Board says atom-powered ships could make the United States "the pre-eminent maritime nation of all history."

G. Joseph Minetti, speaking yesterday at a celebration of National Maritime Day, said a planned sister ship of the 53,000-ton United States might have atomic propulsion.

He said the United States Lines is contemplating replacing the 26,314-ton liner America, built in 1940, with a new superliner.

He said he is sure the new vessel will be equivalent in size to the United States, but the final decision as to the propulsion "will be up to the company."

A proposed start of the use of atomic power by American merchant shipping was announced by President Eisenhower April 25.

Minetti said yesterday a number of firms already have applied for the job of operating agent of the first atom-powered freighter, now being planned.

New York State Planning to Plant 15 Million Trees

ITHACA, N.Y. (UP)—Soil conservation districts in New York state will plant more than 15,000,000 trees in New York state this spring.

The state's conservation department nurseries produce the trees and sell them to landowners at prices ranging from $2 to $4 per thousand.

Japan Falls for 94 Yanks in U.S. Symphony of Air

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has fallen for 94 men, and the feeling is mutual.

Witness these examples:

Some 2,600 schoolchildren stood in line all night—some for more than 24 hours—to buy tickets to a student's concert.

Scalpers are collecting up to $20 a pair.

Newspaper critics have called the performances "the music of the century."

Restaurants have refused to accept payment for meals served to orchestra members; waitresses have turned down tips.

Men of the orchestra spend from one to three hours after each concert signing autographs.

The men are equally ecstatic about Japan.

"Such audiences!" says conductor Thor Johnson, who regularly handles the Cincinnati Symphony. "Such powers of concentration! These men will never again receive such a reception."

Concerts have been played in every major Japanese city and the response has been the same. A Japanese newspaper and the U. S. State Department are co-sponsors of the tour.

Hold Wife of Man Shot in Argument

DETROIT (AP) — In a shooting which police said climaxed a family argument over whether a 13-year-old daughter would attend Sunday school, Lillie Bell Moses is held for investigation of murder in the death of her husband, George, 52.

The daughter, Clara, was grazed on the hand by one of two bullets fired at her father.

Police said Moses packed his clothes yesterday and was about to leave home when his wife got a pistol and threatened to shoot him. Then, they said, Clara jumped in front of her father to act as a shield and the two of them started to edge toward a door, but tripped over an end table and fell as Mrs. Moses fired.

Ground Breaking Set at Kalamazoo Today

KALAMAZOO (UP) — Kalamazoo College scheduled groundbreaking ceremonies today for the Louis C. Upton science hall, the school's first major construction project in eight years.

The building program was made possible by gifts from Mrs. Louis C. Upton, widow of the founder of Whirlpool Corp., who served as a member of the college board of trustees for many years.

Additional funds were also donated by Whirlpool.

Rebel Maneuver Forces Highway Bill to Floor

Thanks to a parliamentary maneuver by House rebels of both parties, Michigan's chances of getting an urgently needed highway building program are much brighter.

In a battle fought on the floor and in the cloakrooms, rebel leaders were able to round up the 56 votes necessary to discharge the road committee from the Senate approved highway bill.

Never before in House history has a committee lost its jealously guarded right to act on legislation before it is sent to the floor. Back in 1911, however, a Senate committee similarly was deprived of this right.

If Michigan is to do anything about highways this year, the bill as it came from the Senate should get House approval. It provides for a sound distribution formula under which the State would get 75 per cent of the increased revenue for arterial highways construction and the cities and counties 25 per cent.

House delay encountered by the bill so far is attributable to the fight over this formula. There still is strong pressure to give a larger share of the revenue to local communities. Financing of the program is to be done by a 1.5 cent increase in the gasoline tax to six cents, and a 10 per cent boost in truck license fees.

People in Oakland County are not worrying about the higher tax rate. What we want to know is how soon we can get good roads.

One Man Grand Jury Law Still Useful Crime Curb

There is considerable legal opinion holding that Michigan's one man grand jury law remains an effective weapon against crime despite the U.S. Supreme Court's latest ruling.

This is contrary to the first reactions to the high court's decision. In it the Justices reversed the convictions of Lee Roy Murchison and John White. They were cited for contempt and convicted by one man grand juror Judge John P. O'Hara in Detroit's police graft probe.

The court quite logically held it to be a violation of the Constitution's due process guarantee for a grand juror to act as a grand jury, a petty jury, a prosecutor and a trial judge at the same time.

Judge O'Hara and Wayne's Prosecutor O'Brien say this decision has wiped out our grand jury law. But two circuit judges with grand jury experience, Herman A. Dehnke and John Simpson, disagree. So does Horace W. Gilmore, deputy State attorney general.

While conceding that the ruling may cause some delays, Judge Dehnke said he couldn't feel that it was a serious interference with the grand jury in this State, and Judge Simpson agreed. Gilmore said the decision doesn't abolish the one man grand jury and that it still is an effective weapon against crime.

In fact Section Four of the law itself provides just what the high court has ruled that "the judge conducting the inquiry shall be disqualified from . . . hearing any charge of contempt."

The Act's intent, of course, is that another judge must hear it and that seems to us to be a wise safeguard.

A person ought to choose as friends those who have about the same income and prejudices that he has.

Owen J. Roberts

Most Americans no doubt remember him best as the conservative Republican appointed by former President Hoover to be Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. There the Pennsylvanian served brilliantly for 15 years, retiring in 1945.

Mr. Roberts also is remembered as the able prosecutor in the Teapot Dome cases and as chairman of the commission which investigated Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor.

Throughout his long career as a lawyer and a jurist and later while Dean of the University of Pennsylvania's law school, he maintained a reputation for intellectual independence and integrity. In his passing the Nation has lost one of its outstanding citizens.

Proof of Prosperity

The Treasury Department this month is celebrating the 14th anniversary of Series E bonds and is able to report they still are selling at a record rate.

The extremely healthy condition of the national economy is reflected in the sales of E and H bonds. In April these totaled $448,000,000, sending the four month total to $2,004,160,000. That amount is 13 per cent above the same period last year and the largest for any four month period in 10 years.

Additional evidence of prosperity is found in the figures for redemptions. Although these are up two per cent over last year, sales in the year's first four months exceeded redemptions by $475,000,000. This is the largest sales excess for any four month period in a decade.

All this proves that the American people are using E and H bonds as effective means of building their future financial security.

Help on Holidays

New Plan Has Cooperation of Usual Traffic Officials

Oakland County Red Cross Chapter

Leon Bumgardner

has been appointed chairman of its highway patrol program. He was named as such by the chapter's first aid chairman, and is making arrangements with

Harold C. Bird,

prominently connected with the

to furnish radio equipped cars to patrol the highways. Each car will have two first aid instructors. Other cars will be stationed at strategic spots around the county. The program has been arranged in cooperation with the police and sheriff's departments.

Quite unique in making the local industrial wheels go round is the

Slankster Family,

six members of it being employed at Pontiac Motor Division.

of Lake Orion. Its mate was killed by an automobile a couple of weeks ago. It did not leave the dead body until somebody took the carcass away, and after that it frequented the spot with its lonely "coo, coo" call. It refused food offered it, did not preen its feathers, growing dirty and messy. After several days of this, Mrs. Peterman saw it deliberately fly into the front of a car and get killed.

In many sections of our nation, are being organized. They comprise people who have donated a gallon or more of their blood for free distribution.

"Gold Drop Clubs"

"The Pontiac Press now has the best features I ever saw in any newspaper," writes of Rochester, who continues, "The rest of our family like some of the others, but I get the biggest kick out of your 'What's My Line?'"

Blair Magnunson

That the dangers of highway traffic are driving many people back to the railroads for their vacation trips is the opinion of

Harold F. Wright,

Pontiac ticket agent for the Grand Trunk Railway, who is booking the most summer reservations in several years.

Another Summit

David Lawrence Says:

British Election Similar to Presidential in America

LONDON—Except for the British accent and the different names of the candidates and the parties, this might well be a presidential election campaign in the United States.

For they have everything here, including the photogenic Anthony Eden sitting like Eisenhower with arms folded before the television camera as he delivers in the best Stevenson manner an impromptu address telling how his heart beats for the people.

They even have a rhubarb going on in the press here about the accuracy or inaccuracy of Gallup polls. The Socialist Laborites, being the side that is expected to lose the election according to the public opinion polls, don't of course, think much of the technique, while the Conservative party leaders all think it must be accurate.

"An election isn't a game," warns Herbert Morrison, who was foreign secretary in the Attlee cabinet when the Socialist Labor party was last in power. "It isn't a kind of a gigantic football match. It is a very serious thing . . .

It would be a pity if what is meant to be a grave constitutional duty and function should be reduced in the minds of the people to a kind of exercise in speculation."

NOTHING AGAINST POLLS

Morrison said he had nothing, to be sure, against polls or pollsters as such, for he added that "after all, everybody is a bit of a pollster." But he objected to the use to which polls were put and the way they were presented to the public.

He deplored the display "across several columns" in the newspapers of what he felt were avowedly estimates based on a "limited range of samples."

All this has a familiar ring. So also have the main arguments in the speeches. The big issues, to be sure, are "peace and prosperity," as we know them in America, but over here they don't rely so much on slogans. They hammer home their points in considerable detail.

Sir Anthony Eden, whose continuance as prime minister depends on the outcome of the election next Thursday, told a nation-wide audience on television over the weekend that all the issues that he had explained in his speech, important as they were in different spheres, were dominated by one which was the greatest of them all: "Can we maintain peace?" He then repeated with emphasis the word "peace." As he moved along easily and informally in his talk, he said:

ELECTION NOT DULL

"I know there are some people who are saying this is a dull election. I have not found it dull. Anyway, I don't think slanging matches help us very much. I think there is perhaps another explanation which I found rather well expressed in the Socialist Weekly yesterday, which read, labor votes are not easily aroused when the country, generally speaking, is prosperous. Well of course, that is true, the country is prosperous and we all know it and rejoice at it."

Nor is this campaign devoid of the same class prejudices which stump speakers use in the United States. Eden hit back at that sort of thing when he said:

"We must make up our minds that our object is to create new wealth and share out that new wealth as widely as we can among the people, instead of squabbling about what remains of the old wealth."

Another speech reminiscent of American campaigning was delivered over the weekend by R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, whose leadership on the economic side has enabled the Conservatives to point with pride to the good times the British people have enjoyed as compared with the days when the Socialist Labor party prolonged rationing of food far behind the period of controls in the United States.

NO MONOPOLIES

Butler pledged that "monopolies" would not be tolerated, nor would "price-rigging." Which is the British translation of "price-fixing" as used in the antitrust vocabulary at Washington. But the man who runs the British Treasury said frankly that his party would not hesitate to "reward success and cut loose cramping restrictions on human endeavors."

Butler claimed that his party has "restored national solvency" as well as "personal initiative and opportunity." Both he and his associates keep reminding the electorate about the Socialist Labor program for state ownership of industries, which is called "Nationalization" over here — something which doesn't seem to be as popular even with the Socialist Labor party as it was just a few years ago.

The Socialist Labor party speakers concede that times are better but, like the Democrats in the United States, they gloomily see disaster ahead. As for progress on the peace front, the Socialist Labor party spokesmen claim that, if anything has been accomplished, it is due to the prodding by the Labor Party in Parliament.

All in all, it feels here like an American political campaign with the same issues that may be acclaimed by the Republicans in 1956 if our nation is still at peace and still enjoys prosperity.

Voice of the People

Harold B Wright Speaks for Postmen in Absence of Official Pontiac Spokesman

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The Pontiac branch of the letter carriers have no official spokesman. We usually leave hearsay or newspaper stories to the good judgment of those who know us best.

Numerous complaints have appeared. Lest there be any doubt, most of us feel that we are serving the best people on earth. We know you deserve the best possible service and we will do our best to bring you the mail as soon as humanly possible.

We are handling around 20 per cent more mail since 1951. The Pontiac Post Office is not in the red. We are short 17 bonafide civil service employes, the type proven to be the most efficient.

As to our misuse of our sick leave, a few may be cheating. However, the majority have built up hundreds of hours in case of sickness. We cherish this leave highly. It's a real protection against loss of income.

Postage rate adjustment is rarely mentioned by us, because we could be prejudiced on the matter. We leave it to the expert.

We are opposed to subsidizing mail you detest getting.

Last, we are tired of being considered fourth rate wage earners. We earn and deserve a decent increase in wages and have been very patient. We do not see how 394 Congressmen were far from wrong. We have no malice for anyone. How much longer do we wait?

Questions Law Governing Mental Commitment

Laws concerning crime are enacted to provide specific and objective restrictions upon the freedom of individuals for the protection of society.

In addition, any form of unusual social behavior not regulated by a particular statute may be classified as "a symptom of mental illness," and a person considered to be afflicted with such a disease may be hospitalized.

Should a democratic government be permitted to deprive innocent citizens of constitutional rights, as a result of their failure to conform to psychiatrists' personal and subjective standards of behavior?

Sincere Proxy Fighters Can Improve Management

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

In these days of raiding of corporations through proxy fights led by ambitious outside financial adventurers, the economic security of hired men in management takes on new significance.

* * *

Ordinarily outside financiers are attracted to companies that are especially rich in cash, or to corporate situations in which common shares sell at the stock exchange far below the book, or asset, value.

Critics of management fall into a variety of categories.

First, there are financial adventurers, who want to exploit opportunities for purpose of personal profit.

Secondly, there are professional agitators. Of these, some are sincere, reasonably competent, and are organized into widely publicized name organizations.

Others, like the Gilbert Brothers, led by Lewis D. Gilbert, are unaffiliated. Lewis Gilbert has been attending shareowners' meetings for more than two decades and has developed a new corporate consciousness of the legal and other rights of stockholders.

EXHIBITIONISTS, TOO

Also among the dissenters are some exhibitionists who get a thrill out of showing off at public meetings, and who gain in self-esteem by purporting to bawl out their betters.

Where a stockholders' meeting is a genuine open forum, some maladjusted persons get up on their feet just for the sake of talking, uninhibited by the fact that they have nothing in the way of ideas or information to contribute.

Controversial though he is, Lewis Gilbert, even by his antagonists, is recognized as a studious fellow. He recently told me that he started out with inherited funds, which, he indicated, have quadrupled in market price since he began his career in selecting common shares as long-term investments.

Gilbert declared that he believes in the economic future of the United States, and does not think shares of meritorious companies should ever be sold.

First regarded as a nuisance, Gilbert, still highly controversial, has risen in stature, and some executives use him as a weathervane of outside stockholder opinion.

WOLFSON MIXUP

A curious sidelight on Gilbert occurred some weeks ago at the Wolfson meeting of Montgomery Ward shareowners in New York. Thinking that the meeting was too cut and dried, Gilbert rose to his feet to suggest that Wolfson answer oral questions from the floor.

An usher tried to stop Gilbert from talking, and appeared to be trying to hit him. The irony of this was revealed when Gilbert announced from the floor that he intended to give his proxy to Wolfson.

Many views are expressed about Gilbert's niche on the American corporate scene. Believing in getting information from the horse's mouth, I asked Gilbert what he felt he and those who work with him had accomplished.

Gilbert took credit for contributing to the following corporate changes in the last decade:

Many companies, perhaps a fourth, now issue post-meeting reports to shareowners. Gilbert said that none did so a decade ago.

NEW MEETING SITES

In order to increase shareowner attendance, companies have tended to hold meetings at larger cities, instead of at such places as Flemington, N. J.; Wilmington and Dover, Del.

* * *

Numerous companies give shareowners an opportunity to vote on the selection of independent auditors.

There has been some tendency to put ceiling on corporate pensions.

Some restraint has been imposed on the use of options.

There has been some response to agitation for increased stock holdings by officers and directors.

There has been some tendency to make bonus and incentive plans, subject to dividend clauses.

There has been a trend toward regional meetings of shareholders in line with a precedent started by General Mills, Inc.

Plant tours for shareowners have been inaugurated.

In order to give shareowners from different localities an opportunity to attend annual stockholders' meetings, some companies rotate the places where such events are held.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Husbands, Thrill Wives and Children With Surprise Outings and Souvenirs

A change often perks us up, which is why selling a sluggish ballplayer to another team may snap him out of his decline and make him perform like a big leaguer once more. Note the clever advertising strategy used in the "No Smoking" sign described below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-337: When I was in Miami on a recent lecture trip, I noticed a very clever card under the glass top of the telephone stand in my hotel room. Here's what it said:

IF YOU PLAN TO SMOKE IN BED:

"Inform the hotel desk where to send your remains.

"Leave your last will and testament with the clerk.

"Check your insurance policy, making sure the premium is paid.

"Inform the guests on each side of you of your intentions to endanger their lives.

"Advise others on your floor to check the nearest fire escape or exit.

"Have a fire extinguisher near at hand.

"Call the local fire department and ask them to stand by for a fire call from your hotel.

"(Signed) Fire Prevention Bureau, Miami, Florida."

This ingenious warning to bedroom smokers certainly stands out as quite different from the perfunctory type of sign—"No Smoking in Bed."

It illustrates a technique in logic and public speaking called the "reductio ad absurdum." That Latin phrase means "reduce to absurdity" or "make it ridiculous."

Advertising psychology is a fascinating field of study. One of its cardinal laws states that familiarity breeds contempt. So things must be changed, at least in their "dress up," to attract our eyes.

The same stock arguments or warning signs ultimately fail to catch attention because they are no longer new or novel.

TOO MANY T-BONES

But we would get tired even of T-bone steaks if we had them three times per day.

That's why we relish protein in a different "dress up," so to speak, and for a change prefer chicken or fish, pork or lamb, peas or beans, and milk or bread.

All of those are good protein foods but they are "packaged" differently and hence catch our fancy when we grow tired of T-bone steak.

In church, most of us also recite the Lord's Prayer without even being aware of what we are saying, because it has become a mechanical, ritualized part of the service.

CRAVE EXCITEMENT

And toddlers are doubly delighted to get outdoors, for they soon have every nook and cranny of their small apartment so tabulated that there is nothing new therein to challenge interest.

Love, like protein, is a vital part of marital life but dish it up in varying fashion to make it retain its zest.

Husbands, in particular, should realize the greater desire of their wives and children for something different. They obtain a double thrill out of the unexpected.

So surprise your family by a sudden invitation to see a movie or go on a picnic. Bring them some little souvenir when you return home from an out-of-town business trip.

Specialists Seeking Data About Basal Temperature

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

An Eastern physician, who is a member of his county and state medical and AMA, listed in the AMA blue book as ObG* (meaning he limits his practice to obstetrics and gynecology) writes a courteous, noncommittal note:

Dear Dr. Brady:

Your remarks about the "basal temperature test" in thyroid therapy interest me.

I would appreciate more information.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)

* * *

Unlike most medical correspondents who ask for something, this one provides a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My reply to the doctor's query was as follows:

Dear Dr. ————:

On p. 8 of the booklet enclosed I tell all I know about the basal temperature test. (The booklet is Little Lesson No. 10, Rules for Reducing, for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Barnes' report made it clear enough, to me at any rate, that the test gives a real doctor as much information as the Rube Goldberg stunt (you know, the basal metabolism gadget), as perpetrated by so many trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers, can give.

Of course it may not impress the Yankee Wiseacres.

Yours sincerely,
Wm. Brady.

RACKETEER, MAYBE

Oh-oh, I thought, after the mail had gone, how do I know the doctor isn't a trick specialist or a "clinic" racketeer? After all, about a third of 'em are, nowadays.

In the booklet I say:

Incidentally, in a study of over 1,000 cases (Barnes, J A M A, 8-1-'42), the basal temperature test proved a better index for thyroid therapy than the basal metabolism test.

The technique of the test is given to physicians in the medical journal article—I cannot instruct laymen in the details.

So there you are. And here I am, hated by at least one-third of my former colleagues—and yet, when I get to the bowling green, it seems as though there's nobody to hate.

I imagine if I were a trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer and some character kept telling people the truth about these evils, I'd hate the so-and-so too.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Bob Considine Asks:

Why Don't Giraffes Suffer Heart Failure?

NEW YORK (INS)—The heart of a full grown giraffe must pump the animal's blood 13 feet up through its neck to its modest brain, get it back down, and pump it back there again.

The human heart needs to pump blood only about one foot above heart level. But more humans die of heart failure than giraffes. The U. S. Navy, among other agencies, wants to know why.

The Navy got into the giraffe business through Capt. Ashton Graybiel, M. D., director of research at the Navy's School of Aviation Medicine at Pensacola.

Capt. Graybiel, a cheerful man with a bald head and owl-like glasses, wants to know if the giraffe can teach something of value to Navy jet pilots who, like all other pilots of the jet age, tend to lose their judgement or their consciousness when making too tight a turn in the air.

The blood is pulled down off their brain in such maneuvers and they lose their efficiency or their lives. Apparently a giraffe would not be so affected.

FLYING GIRAFFES?

We asked the captain whether it wouldn't be simpler to teach giraffes to fly the supersonic jet jobs as sort of interim pilots between the point where homo sapiens is no longer good enough to sit at the controls, and the electronic brains fully take over all aviation.

* * *

Capt. Graybiel thought very little of this patriotic suggestion and forthwith introduced us to Prof. R. H. Goetz, department of surgical research, University of Cape Town Medical School, South Africa, an earnest delver into obscure subjects.

Walter S. Priest, M. D., of Chicago, Ill., one of the great men of the college, and its new president, was responsible for bringing Prof. Goetz to New York for the conclave.

NEEDS MONEY

While here, Prof. Goetz will attempt to raise 2,500 pounds sterling to further his fascinating work, which, for all we know, may wring from the camelopard, as the ancients called the towering animal, a way of adding years to your life and mine.

Prof. Goetz had the Navy and INS sitting at his feet as he told about his life as a giraffe stalker. He's been at it for 20 years.

"At first it all sounded Jules Verne an," he said. "They laughed. But we still wondered about that long neck of the giraffe and how much pressure the blood might be under, going up and coming down.

"In '49 I was in England attending lectures on animal physiology and interested them in the giraffe to the extent where they were enthusiastic. But they told me, 'Fine, but you must bring your own giraffe.'

GIRAFFES COSTLY

Well, that wasn't easy. A giraffe costs two hundred and fifty pounds, F.O.B., Mombasa, and by the time I arranged for feeding, caretakers and the like each would have cost me a thousand pounds. Besides, I needed four of them.

"So we took the laboratory to the giraffe. In northeastern Transvaal the giraffe had over-multiplied and become a nuisance. Thinning out of the herds was invited.

We went there, learned much about the anatomy of the giraffe from outcasts we shot, then set about to capture one. A large order! We needed to paralyze one. We chose curare, the South American arrow-tip poison, as our best bet. And we had an excellent bow and arrow man in Colin Adams."

Prof. Goetz drew us an elaborate cutaway diagram of the poisonous war-head of his arrows and, when he completed the drawing, briskly said, "Well, it didn't work. The giraffe's hide is an inch thick and we couldn't get close enough to puncture it. The giraffe gave us no cooperation.

USE FIREARMS

So we had to resort to firearms. We took an elephant cartridge and redesigned the slug, cutting away some of the metal and adding a paste made of powdered sugar and the curare.

"Then we set out again and found a giraffe who stood about 20 feet, maybe 21. We were quite excited, there on the veld, for we felt we were on the verge of learning a bit more about the human heart . . ."

(Sorry, I'll finish this tomorrow.)

Students Hurl Debris on Templars' Parade

NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous Columbia University students hurled torn paper and water from the windows of three dormitories yesterday as black-uniformed Knights Templar paraded along Amsterdam Avenue.

"It's a riot, it's a riot," chanted the students, many stripped to the waist. Proctor Walter R. Mohr and aides finally restored order in the halls. Other students said it was all due to the tensions of final examination week.

24 Die in Virginia in Bloody Weekend

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Twenty-four persons died by violent means in Virginia Saturday and yesterday. It was one of the bloodiest two-day periods in the state's history.

Sixteen persons perished in automobile accidents—five in a head-on crash Saturday near Fredericksburg, three more in another collision yesterday near Jetersville.

Three small children burned to death in a fire yesterday near Charlottesville. Three men, one a Marine pilot and the others two prominent West Virginia businessmen, died in plane crashes.

There were two fatal shootings, one a homicide, the other a suicide.

Rebel Maneuver Forces Highway Bill to Floor

Thanks to a parliamentary maneuver by House rebels of both parties, Michigan's chances of getting an urgently needed highway building program are much brighter.

In a battle fought on the floor and in the cloakrooms, rebel leaders were able to round up the 56 votes necessary to discharge the road committee from the Senate approved highway bill.

Never before in House history has a committee lost its jealously guarded right to act on legislation before it is sent to the floor. Back in 1911, however, a Senate committee similarly was deprived of this right.

If Michigan is to do anything about highways this year, the bill as it came from the Senate should get House approval. It provides for a sound distribution formula under which the State would get 75 per cent of the increased revenue for arterial highways construction and the cities and counties 25 per cent.

House delay encountered by the bill so far is attributable to the fight over this formula. There still is strong pressure to give a larger share of the revenue to local communities. Financing of the program is to be done by a 1.5 cent increase in the gasoline tax to six cents, and a 10 per cent boost in truck license fees.

People in Oakland County are not worrying about the higher tax rate. What we want to know is how soon we can get good roads.

One Man Grand Jury Law Still Useful Crime Curb

There is considerable legal opinion holding that Michigan's one man grand jury law remains an effective weapon against crime despite the U.S. Supreme Court's latest ruling.

This is contrary to the first reactions to the high court's decision. In it the Justices reversed the convictions of Lee Roy Murchison and John White. They were cited for contempt and convicted by one man grand juror Judge John P. O'Hara in Detroit's police graft probe.

The court quite logically held it to be a violation of the Constitution's due process guarantee for a grand juror to act as a grand jury, a petty jury, a prosecutor and a trial judge at the same time.

Judge O'Hara and Wayne's Prosecutor O'Brien say this decision has wiped out our grand jury law. But two circuit judges with grand jury experience, Herman A. Dehnke and John Simpson, disagree. So does Horace W. Gilmore, deputy State attorney general.

While conceding that the ruling may cause some delays, Judge Dehnke said he couldn't feel that it was a serious interference with the grand jury in this State, and Judge Simpson agreed. Gilmore said the decision doesn't abolish the one man grand jury and that it still is an effective weapon against crime.

In fact Section Four of the law itself provides just what the high court has ruled that "the judge conducting the inquiry shall be disqualified from . . . hearing any charge of contempt."

The Act's intent, of course, is that another judge must hear it and that seems to us to be a wise safeguard.

A person ought to choose as friends those who have about the same income and prejudices that he has.

Owen J. Roberts

When death called Owen J. Roberts at 80, it ended a career of unusual distinction.

Most Americans no doubt remember him best as the conservative Republican appointed by former President Hoover to be Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. There the Pennsylvanian served brilliantly for 15 years, retiring in 1945.

Mr. Roberts also is remembered as the able prosecutor in the Teapot Dome cases and as chairman of the commission which investigated Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor.

Throughout his long career as a lawyer and a jurist and later while Dean of the University of Pennsylvania's law school, he maintained a reputation for intellectual independence and integrity. In his passing the Nation has lost one of its outstanding citizens.

Proof of Prosperity

The Treasury Department this month is celebrating the 14th anniversary of Series E bonds and is able to report they still are selling at a record rate.

The extremely healthy condition of the national economy is reflected in the sales of E and H bonds. In April these totaled $448,000,000, sending the four month total to $2,004,160,000. That amount is 13 per cent above the same period last year and the largest for any four month period in 10 years.

Additional evidence of prosperity is found in the figures for redemptions. Although these are up two per cent over last year, sales in the year's first four months exceeded redemptions by $475,000,000. This is the largest sales excess for any four month period in a decade.

All this proves that the American people are using E and H bonds as effective means of building their future financial security.

Another Summit

David Lawrence Says:

British Election Similar to Presidential in America

LONDON—Except for the British accent and the different names of the candidates and the parties, this might well be a presidential election campaign in the United States.

For they have everything here, including the photogenic Anthony Eden sitting like Eisenhower with arms folded before the television camera as he delivers in the best Stevenson manner an impromptu address telling how his heart beats for the people.

They even have a rhubarb going on in the press here about the accuracy or inaccuracy of Gallup polls. The Socialist Laborites, being the side that is expected to lose the election according to the public opinion polls, don't of course, think much of the technique, while the Conservative party leaders all think it must be accurate.

"An election isn't a game," warns Herbert Morrison, who was foreign secretary in the Attlee cabinet when the Socialist Labor party was last in power—"it isn't a kind of a gigantic football match. It is a very serious thing . . .

It would be a pity if what is meant to be a grave constitutional duty and function should be reduced in the minds of the people to a kind of exercise in speculation."

NOTHING AGAINST POLLS

Morrison said he had nothing, to be sure, against polls or pollsters as such, for he added that "after all, everybody is a bit of a pollster." But he objected to the use to which polls were put and the way they were presented to the public.

He deplored the display "across several columns" in the newspapers of what he felt were avowedly estimates based on a "limited range of samples."

All this has a familiar ring. So also have the main arguments in the speeches. The big issues, to be sure, are "peace and prosperity," as we know them in America, but over here they don't rely so much on slogans. They hammer home their points in considerable detail.

Sir Anthony Eden, whose continuance as prime minister depends on the outcome of the election next Thursday, told a nation-wide audience on television over the weekend that all the issues that he had explained in his speech, important as they were in different spheres, were dominated by one which was the greatest of them all: "Can we maintain peace?" He then repeated with emphasis the word "peace." As he moved along easily and informally in his talk, he said:

ELECTION NOT DULL

"I know there are some people who are saying this is a dull election. I have not found it dull. Anyway, I don't think slanging matches help us very much. I think there is perhaps another explanation which I found rather well expressed in the Socialist Weekly yesterday, which read, labor votes are not easily aroused when the country, generally speaking, is prosperous. Well of course, that is true, the country is prosperous and we all know it and rejoice at it."

Nor is this campaign devoid of the same class prejudices which stump speakers use in the United States. Eden hit back at that sort of thing when he said:

"We must make up our minds that our object is to create new wealth and share out that new wealth as widely as we can among the people, instead of squabbling about what remains of the old wealth."

Another speech reminiscent of American campaigning was delivered over the weekend by R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, whose leadership on the economic side has enabled the Conservatives to point with pride to the good times the British people have enjoyed as compared with the days when the Socialist Labor party prolonged rationing of food far behind the period of controls in the United States.

NO MONOPOLIES

Butler pledged that "monopolies" would not be tolerated, nor would "price-rigging." Which is the British translation of "price-fixing" as used in the antitrust vocabulary at Washington. But the man who runs the British Treasury said frankly that his party would not hesitate to "reward success and cut loose cramping restrictions on human endeavors."

Butler claimed that his party has "restored national solvency" as well as "personal initiative and opportunity." Both he and his associates keep reminding the electorate about the Socialist Labor program for state ownership of industries, which is called "Nationalization" over here — something which doesn't seem to be as popular even with the Socialist Labor party as it was just a few years ago.

The Socialist Labor party speakers concede that times are better but, like the Democrats in the United States, they gloomily see disaster ahead. As for progress on the peace front, the Socialist Labor party spokesmen claim that, if anything has been accomplished, it is due to the prodding by the Labor Party in Parliament.

All in all, it feels here like an American political campaign with the same issues that may be acclaimed by the Republicans in 1956 if our nation is still at peace and still enjoys prosperity.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The Pontiac branch of the letter carriers have no official spokesman. We usually leave hearsay or newspaper stories to the good judgment of those who know us best.

Numerous complaints have appeared. Lest there be any doubt, most of us feel that we are serving the best people on earth. We know you deserve the best possible service and we will do our best to bring you the mail as soon as humanly possible.

We are handling around 20 per cent more mail since 1951. The Pontiac Post Office is not in the red. We are short 17 bonafide civil service employes, the type proven to be the most efficient.

As to our misuse of our sick leave, a few may be cheating. However, the majority have built up hundreds of hours in case of sickness. We cherish this leave highly. It's a real protection against loss of income.

Postage rate adjustment is rarely mentioned by us, because we could be prejudiced on the matter. We leave it to the expert.

We are opposed to subsidizing mail you detest getting.

Last, we are tired of being considered fourth rate wage earners. We earn and deserve a decent increase in wages and have been very patient. We do not see how 394 Congressmen were far from wrong. We have no malice for anyone. How much longer do we wait?

Questions Law Governing Mental Commitment

Laws concerning crime are enacted to provide specific and objective restrictions upon the freedom of individuals for the protection of society.

In addition, any form of unusual social behavior not regulated by a particular statute may be classified as "a symptom of mental illness," and a person considered to be afflicted with such a disease may be hospitalized.

Should a democratic government be permitted to deprive innocent citizens of constitutional rights, as a result of their failure to conform to psychiatrists' personal and subjective standards of behavior?

Sincere Proxy Fighters Can Improve Management

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

In these days of raiding of corporations through proxy fights led by ambitious outside financial adventurers, the economic security of hired men in management takes on new significance.

* * *

Ordinarily outside financiers are attracted to companies that are especially rich in cash, or to corporate situations in which common shares sell at the stock exchange far below the book, or asset, value.

Critics of management fall into a variety of categories.

First, there are financial adventurers, who want to exploit opportunities for purpose of personal profit.

Secondly, there are professional agitators. Of these, some are sincere, reasonably competent, and are organized into widely publicized name organizations.

Others, like the Gilbert Brothers, led by Lewis D. Gilbert, are unaffiliated. Lewis Gilbert has been attending shareowners' meetings for more than two decades, and has developed a new corporate consciousness of the legal and other rights of stockholders.

EXHIBITIONISTS, TOO

Also among the dissenters are some exhibitionists who get a thrill out of showing off at public meetings, and who gain in self-esteem by purporting to bawl out their betters.

Where a stockholders' meeting is a genuine open forum, some maladjusted persons get up on their feet just for the sake of talking, uninhibited by the fact that they have nothing in the way of ideas or information to contribute.

Controversial though he is, Lewis Gilbert, even by his antagonists, is recognized as a studious fellow. He recently told me that he started out with inherited funds, which, he indicated, have quadrupled in market price since he began his career in selecting common shares as long-term investments.

Gilbert declared that he believes in the economic future of the United States, and does not think shares of meritorious companies should ever be sold.

First regarded as a nuisance, Gilbert, still highly controversial, has risen in stature, and some executives use him as a weathervane of outside stockholder opinion.

WOLFSON MIXUP

A curious sidelight on Gilbert occurred some weeks ago at the Wolfson meeting of Montgomery Ward shareowners in New York. Thinking that the meeting was too cut and dried, Gilbert rose to his feet to suggest that Wolfson answer oral questions from the floor.

An usher tried to stop Gilbert from talking, and appeared to be trying to hit him. The irony of this was revealed when Gilbert announced from the floor that he intended to give his proxy to Wolfson.

Many views are expressed about Gilbert's niche on the American corporate scene. Believing in getting information from the horse's mouth, I asked Gilbert what he felt he and those who work with him had accomplished.

Gilbert took credit for contributing to the following corporate changes in the last decade:

Many companies, perhaps a fourth, now issue post-meeting reports to shareowners. Gilbert said that none did so a decade ago.

NEW MEETING SITES

In order to increase shareowner attendance, companies have tended to hold meetings at larger cities, instead of at such places as Flemington, N. J.; Wilmington and Dover, Del.

* * *

Numerous companies give shareowners an opportunity to vote on the selection of independent auditors.

There has been some tendency to put ceiling on corporate pensions.

Some restraint has been imposed on the use of options.

There has been some response to agitation for increased stock holdings by officers and directors.

There has been some tendency to make bonus and incentive plans, subject to dividend clauses.

There has been a trend toward regional meetings of shareholders in line with a precedent started by General Mills, Inc.

Plant tours for shareowners have been inaugurated.

In order to give shareowners from different localities an opportunity to attend annual stockholders' meetings, some companies rotate the places where such events are held.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

A change often perks us up, which is why selling a sluggish ballplayer to another team may snap him out of his decline and make him perform like a big leaguer once more. Note the clever advertising strategy used in the "No Smoking" sign described below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-337: When I was in Miami on a recent lecture trip, I noticed a very clever card under the glass top of the telephone stand in my hotel room. Here's what it said:

IF YOU PLAN TO SMOKE IN BED:

"Inform the hotel desk where to send your remains.

"Leave your last will and testament with the clerk.

"Check your insurance policy, making sure the premium is paid.

"Inform the guests on each side of you of your intentions to endanger their lives.

"Advise others on your floor to check the nearest fire escape or exit.

"Have a fire extinguisher near at hand.

"Call the local fire department and ask them to stand by for a fire call from your hotel.

"(Signed) Fire Prevention Bureau, Miami, Florida."

This ingenious warning to bedroom smokers certainly stands out as quite different from the perfunctory type of sign—"No Smoking in Bed."

It illustrates a technique in logic and public speaking called the "reductio ad absurdum." That Latin phrase means "reduce to absurdity" or "make it ridiculous."

Advertising psychology is a fascinating field of study. One of its cardinal laws states that familiarity breeds contempt. So things must be changed, at least in their "dress up," to attract our eyes.

The same stock arguments or warning signs ultimately fail to catch attention because they are no longer new or novel.

TOO MANY T-BONES

But we would get tired even of T-bone steaks if we had them three times per day.

That's why we relish protein in a different "dress up," so to speak, and for a change prefer chicken or fish, pork or lamb, peas or beans, and milk or bread.

All of those are good protein foods but they are "packaged" differently and hence catch our fancy when we grow tired of T-bone steak.

In church, most of us also recite the Lord's Prayer without even being aware of what we are saying, because it has become a mechanical, ritualized part of the service.

CRAVE EXCITEMENT

Young wives thus crave to go out for a dance or show at night, partly to get away from their humdrum home surroundings.

And toddlers are doubly delighted to get outdoors, for they soon have every nook and cranny of their small apartment so tabulated that there is nothing new therein to challenge interest.

Love, like protein, is a vital part of marital life but dish it up in varying fashion to make it retain its zest.

Specialists Seeking Data About Basal Temperature

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

An Eastern physician, who is a member of his county and state medical and AMA, listed in the AMA blue book as ObG* (meaning he limits his practice to obstetrics and gynecology) writes a courteous, noncommittal note:

Dear Dr. Brady:

Your remarks about the "basal temperature test" in thyroid therapy interest me.

I would appreciate more information.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)

* * *

Unlike most medical correspondents who ask for something, this one provides a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My reply to the doctor's query was as follows:

Dear Dr. ————:

On p. 8 of the booklet enclosed I tell all I know about the basal temperature test. (The booklet is Little Lesson No. 10, Rules for Reducing, for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Barnes' report made it clear enough, to me at any rate, that the test gives a real doctor as much information as the Rube Goldberg stunt (you know, the basal metabolism gadget), as perpetrated by so many trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers, can give.

Of course it may not impress the Yankee Wiseacres.

Yours sincerely,
Wm. Brady.

RACKETEER, MAYBE

Oh-oh, I thought, after the mail had gone, how do I know the doctor isn't a trick specialist or a "clinic" racketeer? After all, about a third of 'em are, nowadays.

In the booklet I say:

Incidentally, in a study of over 1,000 cases (Barnes, J A M A, 8-1-'42), the basal temperature test proved a better index for thyroid therapy than the basal metabolism test.

The technique of the test is given to physicians in the medical journal article—I cannot instruct laymen in the details.

So there you are. And here I am, hated by at least one-third of my former colleagues — and yet, when I get to the bowling green, it seems as though there's nobody to hate.

I imagine if I were a trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer and some character kept telling people the truth about these evils, I'd hate the so-and-so too.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, diet to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Bob Considine Asks:

Why Don't Giraffes Suffer Heart Failure?

NEW YORK (INS)—The heart of a full grown giraffe must pump the animal's blood 13 feet up through its neck to its modest brain, get it back down, and pump it back there again.

The human heart needs to pump blood only about one foot above heart level. But more humans die of heart failure than giraffes. The U. S. Navy, among other agencies, wants to know why.

The Navy got into the giraffe business through Capt. Ashton Graybiel, M. D., director of research at the Navy's School of Aviation Medicine at Pensacola.

Capt. Graybiel, a cheerful man with a bald head and owl-like glasses, wants to know if the giraffe can teach something of value to Navy jet pilots who, like all other pilots of the jet age, tend to lose their judgement or their consciousness when making too tight a turn in the air.

The blood is pulled down off their brain in such maneuvers and they lose their efficiency or their lives. Apparently a giraffe would not be so affected.

FLYING GIRAFFES?

We asked the captain whether it wouldn't be simpler to teach giraffes to fly the supersonic jet jobs as sort of interim pilots between the point where homo sapiens is no longer good enough to sit at the controls, and the electronic brains fully take over all aviation.

* * *

Capt. Graybiel thought very little of this patriotic suggestion and forthwith introduced us to Prof. R. H. Goetz, department of surgical research, University of Cape Town Medical School, South Africa, an earnest delver into obscure subjects.

Walter S. Priest, M. D., of Chicago, Ill., one of the great men of the college, and its new president, was responsible for bringing Prof. Goetz to New York for the conclave.

NEEDS MONEY

While here, Prof. Goetz will attempt to raise 2,500 pounds sterling to further his fascinating work, which, for all we know, may wring from the camelopard, as the ancients called the towering animal, a way of adding years to your life and mine.

Prof. Goetz had the Navy and INS sitting at his feet as he told about his life as a giraffe stalker. He's been at it for 20 years.

"At first it all sounded Jules Vernian," he said. "They laughed. But we still wondered about that long neck of the giraffe and how much pressure the blood might be under, going up and coming down.

"In '49 I was in England attending lectures on animal physiology and interested them in the giraffe to the extent where they were enthusiastic. But they told me, 'Fine, but you must bring your own giraffe.'

GIRAFFES COSTLY

Well, that wasn't easy. A giraffe costs two hundred and fifty pounds, F.O.B., Mombasa, and by the time I arranged for feeding, caretakers and the like each would have cost me a thousand pounds. Besides, I needed four of them.

"So we took the laboratory to the giraffe. In northeastern Transvaal the giraffe had over-multiplied and become a nuisance. Thinning out of the herds was invited.

We went there, learned much about the anatomy of the giraffe from outcasts we shot, then set about to capture one. A large order! We needed to paralyze one. We chose curare, the South American arrow-tip poison, as our best bet. And we had an excellent bow and arrow man in Colin Adams."

Prof. Goetz drew us an elaborate cutaway diagram of the poisonous war-head of his arrows and, when he completed the drawing, briskly said, "Well, it didn't work. The giraffe's hide is an inch thick and we couldn't get close enough to puncture it. The giraffe gave us no cooperation.

USE FIREARMS

So we had to resort to firearms. We took an elephant cartridge and redesigned the slug, cutting away some of the metal and adding a paste made of powdered sugar and the curare.

"Then we set out again and found a giraffe who stood about 20 feet, maybe 21. We were quite excited, there on the veld, for we felt we were on the verge of learning a bit more about the human heart . . ."

(Sorry, I'll finish this tomorrow.)

Students Hurl Debris on Templars' Parade

NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous Columbia University students hurled torn paper and water from the windows of three dormitories yesterday as black-uniformed Knights Templar paraded along Amsterdam Avenue.

"It's a riot, it's a riot," chanted the students, many stripped to the waist. Proctor Walter R. Mohr and aides finally restored order in the halls. Other students said it was all due to the tensions of final examination week.

24 Die in Virginia in Bloody Weekend

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Twenty-four persons died by violent means in Virginia Saturday and yesterday. It was one of the bloodiest two-day periods in the state's history.

Sixteen persons perished in automobile accidents—five in a head-on crash Saturday near Fredericksburg, three more in another collision yesterday near Jetersville.

Three small children burned to death in a fire yesterday near Charlottesville. Three men, one a Marine pilot and the others two prominent West Virginia businessmen, died in plane crashes.

There were two fatal shootings, one a homicide, the other a suicide.

Truth or Consequences, N. M., was formerly called Hot Springs.

NAACP Backs Murder Probe

Group Leads Protest at Death of Leader in Civil Rights

BELZONI, Miss. (AP)—The National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People pledged legal war against Mississippi's voting laws today after the death of a Negro civil rights leader under mysterious circumstances.

NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins promised the court battle at a mass meeting yesterday of some 400 Negroes, called to protest the handling of the Rev. George Lee's death.

Lee was found fatally injured when his car crashed into a house. The FBI laboratory said specks of metal around his face resembled buckshot.

Negro leaders believe he was killed for urging other Negroes to register to vote in Humphreys County, where Negroes outnumber whites.

Sheriff Ike Shelton agreed Lee was shot, but thought it might be the work of another Negro because the minister was a "ladies' man."

The New York chapter of the NAACP has pledged $500 to help the national organization investigate and publicize the unsolved death.

The mass meeting was held in an atmosphere of relative calm at the Elks Club in the Negro section of town. Three uniformed policemen sat outside in a patrol car while several carloads of plain clothesmen from the state highway patrol toured the area. There were no incidents of any kind.

Arrest Chilean Officer

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The government annouced the arrest of a fourth high-ranking military officer tonight in connection with an investigation of sedition within the armed forces. He was identified as Maj. Miguel Caviedes. The arrest of a general and two colonels had been announced previously.

Wedding Party of 50 Plunges Down Ravine

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP)—Singing turned suddenly into cries of terror late last night when a truck taking 50 persons home from a wedding party plunged into a ravine.

Seven persons were killed and another 20 injured, four of them gravely. The dead included two women, three men, a 14-year-old girl and a 1-year-old girl.

3 Missing in Crash

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — One person was known dead and three were missing today in the crash of a Venezuelan airliner in the Caribbean Sea near Barcelona. The DC3, carrying 13 passengers and three crewmen, crashed Saturday. Fishermen rescued nine passengers and the three crewmen, and found the body of one Venezuelan girl.

Farmlands Flooded by Canadian River

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (AP)—Swirling waters of the rising Assiniboine River soaked into thousands of acres of rich farmland today. The river rushed through broken dikes in the Popular Point area 13 miles east of here.

The flood crest, swollen by heavy weekend showers, was expected to stay high another 72 hours. More rain was forecast.

With more than 50,000 acres of farm land threatened, farmers from six towns in the vicinity began moving their families, livestock and grain to higher ground.

Clinton Valley Council's Achievements Rank High

By JOE HAAS
Pontiac Press Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—When the 45th annual meeting of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America closed here Saturday, the accomplishments of Clinton Valley Council during the past year were found to be among the nation's leaders.

The local Council, which comprises most of Oakland and Macomb Counties, including Pontiac and Mt. Clemens, was one of a select group among the hundreds of councils in the United States to exceed its quota in enrolling Explorer Scouts during 1954.

Here to accept the honor plaque for the council and honor certificates for its units who went over the top was Kenneth H. Sanderson.

Among the 800 council-operated Boy Scout summer camps in the nation, that of Clinton Valley Council, Camp Agawam, just northeast of Pontiac, is one of the largest, and is closing its 1955 bookings with a capacity enrollment at a much earlier date than most of the others.

4 MILLION IN WORK

The annual report shows that more than four million now are enrolled in Boy Scout work. This includes nearly three million boys of scouting age and over a million adults.

The increase in boys enrolled during 1954 showed a 13 per cent gain over the previous year. During the past year the boys have earned 1,041,008 merit badges and 12,239 were advanced to the coveted Eagle rank.

In the big upsurge in the Cub Scout movement, more than a million families are participating. This is called America's largest and most dynamic parent and boy program. Clinton Valley Council also is among the nation's leaders in promoting cubbing.

In fact, there now are so many cubs enrolled here that the local council management is concerned about the near future years when the cubs on its roster graduate into regular Boy Scouts. They will tax its present facilities to the utmost.

In the nation there now are more than a million and a quarter cubs, scattered through 35,000 packs, a large percentage of which were organized during the past year.

Active in the scouting program are nearly 70,000 sponsoring organizations, such as churches, service clubs and fraternal orders. It is estimated that they give at least 10 million more people some interest in the work.

Since the Boy Scout program was started 45 years ago, over 30 million people have had direct contact with it, either through actual membership as scoutmasters or other offices.

Elected to his fifth term as National President of the Boy Scouts of America, John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay, N. Y., sends the following message to the Clinton Valley Council: "Located in the very heart of the world's greatest industrial section, your position is unique. We are watching you and congratulate you on your progress in an area that without doubt has the most cosmopolitan population in the entire nation."

LARGEST ENROLLMENT

Region Seven, of which Clinton Valley Council is a member, had the largest enrollment at the national meeting. Of the four states, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, in the region, Illinois, just across the river from St. Louis, was the only one to exceed us in enrollment.

The closing luncheon Saturday brought out 1,700, the largest number to be served on such an occasion in the history of the National Council. It also was the largest number ever served in the new Kiel auditorium—which modest St. Louisans claim is the largest in the nation.

The national scout program includes plans for another "get out the vote" campaign. The 1952 work of the Clinton Valley scouts was so outstanding in this respect that it was given special notice in "Scouting" Magazine.

The 1956 National meeting goes to Cincinnati.

Bud Volberding Is High Scorer

8 Teenagers Qualify for Final Trials in Jaycee Competition

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Bud Volberding, 17, a Clarkston High School junior took top honors at the Waterford Township Road-E-O held Sunday afternoon in Drayton Plains.

This was Volberding's first year in competition, and he totaled 377 points out of a possible 500. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Volberding of 7130 Deer Lake Rd., Clarkston.

Eight teenagers from Clarkston and Waterford Township met at the preliminary tests and qualified for the final trials in the Jaycee-sponsored event.

James Mickle, 17, of 9263 Evee Rd., Clarkston, placed second. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mickle, James had tried out in last year's contest but failed to win. He also is a junior at Clarkston High School.

TORR PLACES 3RD

Bernard Torr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Torr of 3445 Frembes Ave., Drayton Plains, was third-place winner. This was his first year in competition, and he is a junior at Waterford Township High School.

Entrants in the contest were given a written exam. The driving test included parking, maneuvering between pylons, and several other situations designed to test the ability of the drivers.

WINNER IN WASHINGTON—A thrilling moment for Mary Lou Mundinger, South Lyon Citizenship Essay Contest winner, came when she met her Congressman from the 18th District, George A. Dondero (right) during an award visit to Washington, D. C. With them is Edwin D. Phillips, chairman of the South Lyon Kiwanis Club that sponsored the contest. Mary Lou attended a luncheon in the Capitol as the congressman's guest and toured the historic public buildings, monuments and memorials in Washington during her four-day all-expense trip.

Myles Watkins Places 2nd in State Speech Competition

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Myles Watkins, Waterford Township High School senior, took second place in the state finals of the Knights of Pythias Speech Contest held Saturday in East Lansing.

In the Tower Room of the Union Building, three contestants vied for the state honors with speeches on "What You Can Do for Highway Safety."

John Warner of Cass Technical High School, Detroit, placed first.

Last year Myles won both the state and regional K. of P. competition and placed second in the national.

Friday Myles returned from Albany, N. Y., where he captured second place in the Hearst National Tournament of Orators.

Accompanied by Miss Patty Looman, Waterford High School speech instructor, Myles and his three rivals were feted at banquets and introduced to New York City Mayor Erastus Corning and Governor Averill Harriman.

They toured Albany and New York and were taken on a one-day bus trip through upper New York State.

Benefit Is Scheduled at Sashabaw Church

SASHABAW PLAINS—The Pontiac Women's Chorus will be presented at 7:30 Tuesday in a benefit program at the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church, 5331 Maybee Rd.

Charles E. Hutton will direct the chorus in four groups of numbers—sacred, secular, popular and comic selections. Mrs. Dorothy McKibben is accompanist for the group.

A freewill offering will be taken, with the proceeds being used to help buy an organ for the church.

Keego Group Slates Mother-Child Dinner

KEEGO HARBOR—The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold the annual Mother-Daughter and Mother-Son banquet at the Rotunda Inn at 6:30 p.m. Monday. Mrs. H. H. Savage of Pontiac will be the guest speaker.

The banquet is open to the public. Mrs. Claude Kimler is reservation chairman.

About ten members of the club will journey to Grand Rapids this weekend to attend the BPW annual state convention being held at the Pantlind Hotel.

Sells 2 1-2-Millionth Series E Bond Here

In the exactly 14 years the bank has been issuing defense and savings certificates for the federal government, Pontiac-area residents have purchased bonds with a maturity value of $108,301,850, according to Mrs. R. S. Craft Jr., bond department supervisor.

The bank's bond sales are divided about equally between factory payroll savings plans and over-the-counter customers, Mrs. Craft said.

IT'S A PSYCHOLOGICAL FACT: PLEASURE HELPS YOUR DISPOSITION

FEEL LIKE ROARING? That's only human. Little annoyances pile up . . . you're cross and edgy — Grrr!
That's why, psychology says, everyday pleasures are so important. For pleasure takes the edge off annoyances . . . helps your disposition. So, if you're a smoker, you should choose a cigarette that gives you the most pleasure. And that means Camels!

For more pure pleasure _have a Camel

CAMELS are not only the choice of pleasure . . . they are the choice of wisdom! It's wise to get all the pleasure there is when you smoke. Because everyday pleasures are important. And "all the pleasure there is" means CAMELS, known the world over for their rich flavor and mildness! No wonder Camels agree with more people than any other cigarette! Remember—the cigarette that's stingy with flavor won't give you CAMELS' pure pleasure. So . . . have a CAMEL!

No other cigarette is so rich-tasting, yet so mild!

Coast-to-Coast Pilot Predicts Faster Flight

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The flier who won his race with the sun from coast to coast and back doesn't think his record will last long.

"After all, the Sabre Jet is six years old," said 1st Lt. John M. Conroy, of the California Air National Guard. "There are faster fighters."

On Saturday, Armed Forces Day and the 28th anniversary of Lindbergh's landing in Paris, Conroy ate breakfast in Los Angeles, lunch in New York and dinner in Los Angeles again.

He flew the Sabre, nicknamed the "California Boomerang," about 5,085 miles in 11 hours 26 minutes 33 seconds, including the time for quick turnaround refueling stops and lunch in New York. That averaged about 445 m.p.h.

Conroy's east-to-west flight in 5 hours 27 minutes 37 seconds shaved more than an hour off Paul Mantz's 1947 mark of 7:00:04. His west-east leg, however, was slower than the mark of 3:46:33 set by Air Force Lt. Col. Robert. D. Scott last March 10 in an F84F.

That Big City Look

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — University of Tennessee agriculturalists explained to Turkish Agriculture Secretary Nedim Okmen that the odd color in the experimental cotton was not the result of some new research but simply the city's smoke and grit.

The superstition that nailing a horseshoe over the door will bring good luck is widespread and dates back several centuries.

Chou Friendly, Menon Reports

Indian Official Dodges Press Questions After Return From Peiping

HONG KONG (UP) — En route home from his Formosa peace mission to Peiping, V. K. Krishna Menon of India answered newsmen's questions today with generalties.

He told a news conference that obstacles to peace in the Far East "are great but not insurmountable as a general proposition." During his 11-day visit to the Red capital, he "found a willingness by Chou En-lai to be friendly," he reported.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru sent Menon, his top foreign affairs adviser, to talk with the Red Chinese Premier about Chou's offer at the Asian-African conference to negotiate directly with the United States on Far Eastern questions.

In New Delhi, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said the special envoy had reported "satisfactory progress" in his talks. He said that Menon hopes to give President Eisenhower an account of the Peiping discussions when he goes to the United States next month for the United Nations' 10th anniversary celebration in San Francisco.

Asked if he had discussed the American fliers captured by the Chinese in Korea and still imprisoned, Menon replied: "I talked about all subjects that happened to come up."

Nurse, 70, to Retire but Keep on Working

CHICAGO (UP) — Mrs. Mathilda Maas is 70 and must retire on pension, the state law says. But she'll continue her 30-year nursing career at Chicago State Hospital on an unsalaried basis, with permission of Dr. Otto L. Bettag, state welfare director.

Why?

"It has been more than a job," said the 93-pound woman. "It has been my life."

Now supervising nurse on the 3-11 p.m. shift, she started work at the hospital the day after graduation in 1925.

Cattle Poisoned by Cornstalks in Drouth Area

CHICAGO (UP) — Cornstalk poisoning was a serious problem for cattle owners in some areas last fall, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. E. F. Ebert, of the association's research council, said between 200 and 300 head of cattle were killed in Missouri alone, and that losses in other drouth areas were running high.

Ebert said drouth-damaged corn is high in nitrates. It also contains smut and mold, which is characterized by an oil extract that results in a strychnine-like poisoning.

Such corn also contains an aqueous alcoholic extract that acts as a vasco depressor, Ebert said.

Many farmers, he said, are tempted to turn their cattle loose to feed on such damaged corn as a salvage measure.

Policeman Broods Over Traffic Deaths

PIERRE, S.D. (UP)—Superintendent Walter Goetz of the State Motor Patrol here is a veteran of many years of law enforcement, but he can't get used to his job of adding new names to South Dakota's traffic fatality toll.

"I lie awake at nights after learning of another traffic death," he said. "I toss and turn and keep thinking, over and over, how did it happen?

"I wonder if there was something we could have done but didn't do.

"I wonder if the highway was in good condition. I ask myself if there was an obstruction which blocked the view.

"Every time there's another death, I feel as if it were a member of my own family."

Students Chase Snow

WARWICK, R. I. (UP)—Thirty-one high school students from Bradenton, Fla., looked forward especially to seeing some snow while visiting Rhode Island. The weather was fine when they arrived. But snow fell in Florida.

Study Earlier Aid for Women, Cripples

WASHINGTON (UP)—Further revision of social security laws to help women and disabled workers is under study in the House Ways and Means Committee.

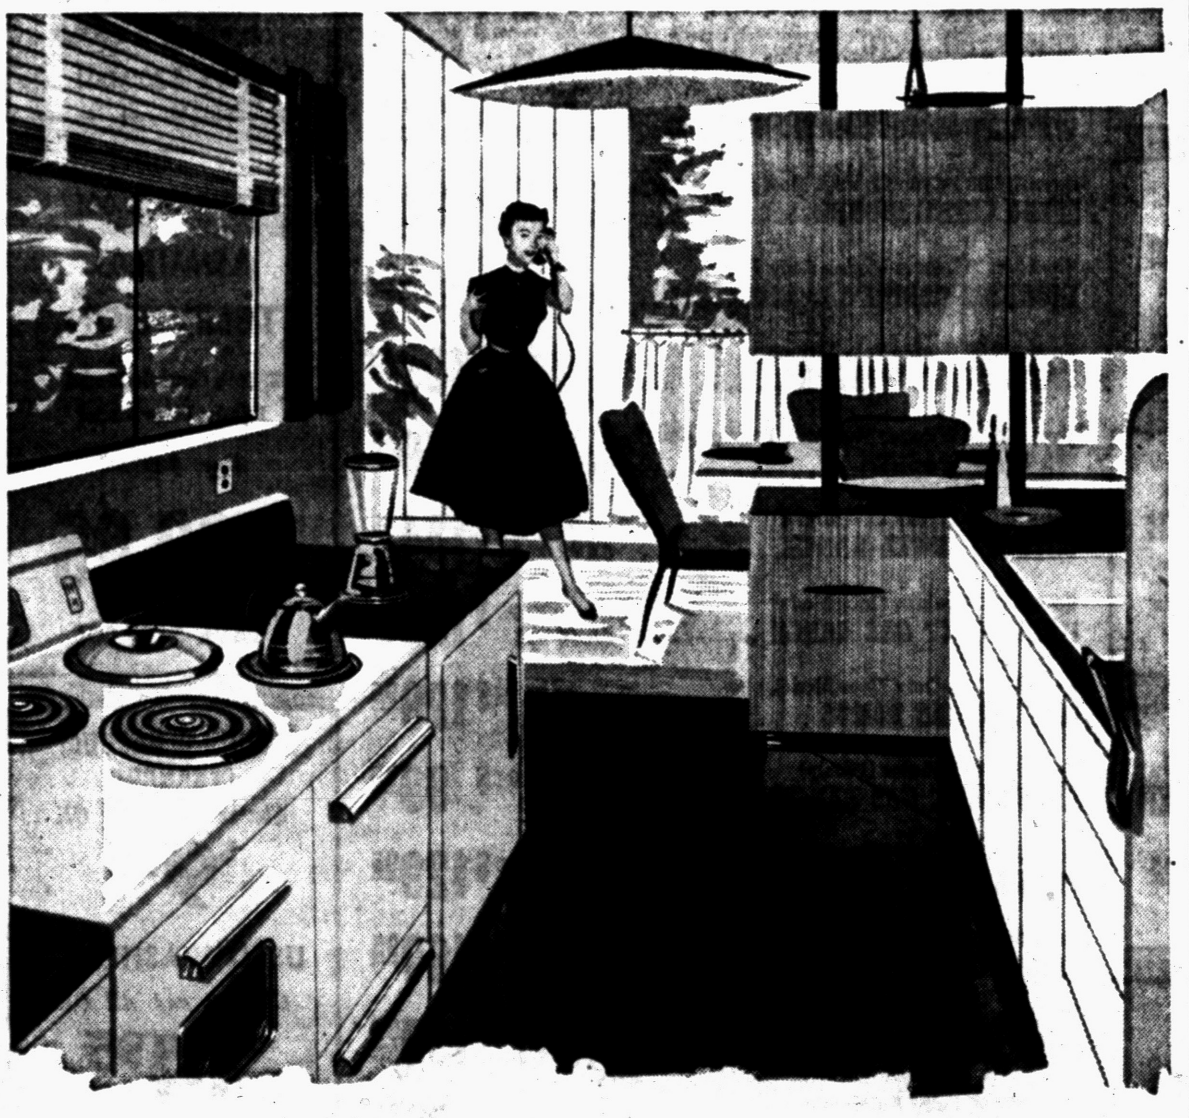

House Democratic leaders said yesterday they hope to put the legislation before the House for action next month.

They hope to eliminate the present 65-year age limit for women—who would qualify at age 60 or 62—and for disabled workers, who would become eligible for benefits when they become disabled.

Lydia Liliuokalani was the last Hawaiian queen. She was deposed by a revolution shortly before the United States took over.

He Wants That $500

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UP) — City Treasurer Lester L. Hill asked that his salary be increased from its present $4,500 annually. And if the increase didn't come through, Hill said he would run for mayor. That post pays $5,000 a year.

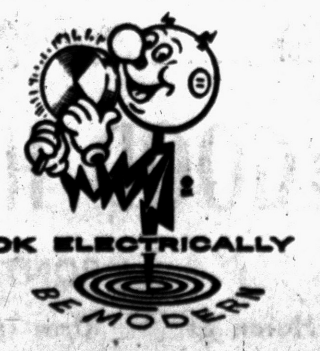

Your kitchen stays cleaner longer when you cook electrically!

What's nicer than walking into a newly decorated kitchen? There's a lift to just looking at the sparkling colors, the crisp new curtains. If things would only stay that way . . .

They can—a lot longer than you think. The secret's in switching to electric cooking. It's clean as electric light! Pot and pan bottoms stay smudge-free, too.

Strike Shadows British Election

Voters More Worried Over Epsom Derby, Transport Walkout

LONDON (AP)—Predictions of Conservative victory mounted in Britain's press today as the quietest election campaign the country has seen since World War II went into its last three days.

Newspapers gave the election Thursday of a new Parliament only secondary attention. Public interest centered on the running of the Epsom Derby Wednesday and the threat of port and rail strikes.

The 17,000 member Amalgamated Stevedore and Workers Union called its men off the job today in four major British ports—London, Liverpool, Manchester and Hull. Effectiveness of the strike, however, depended on how many men of the giant Transport and General Workers Union observed the picket line. The TGWU said its men could continue to work in the ports if they wanted to.

Of graver import was the threatened strike of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. Next Saturday 70,000 members of the society are scheduled to stage a walkout which would tie up Britain's state-run railroad system.

Some Labor party campaigners seized on the strike issue to predict that continuance of a Tory government would result in even more walkouts. But party officials expressed private misgivings since the Socialists are closely identified with the unions and paralyzing walkouts at this time are not expected to sit well with strike-weary Britons.

At least one pro-Labor newspaper joined Conservative publications and public opinion polls in predicting that Prime Minister Eden would return for a five-year term to head the government he inherited on Winston Churchill's retirement last month.

Forest Fires Raging Through 2 Provinces

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)—Unchecked forest fires burned through two Canadian provinces today, leveling more than 100 buildings in Nova Scotia and eating through 15,000 acres of rich Ontario timber land.

Three thousand volunteers ringed the southwest Nova Scotian ports of Liverpool and Bridgewater as winds whipped the spreading flames, which already have caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage.

In northern Ontario 67 fires raged. Two small communities were threatened.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Albert Freeman made a dash for the marquee of a department store yesterday when it began to rain. He slipped on the tile under the marquee, fell flat on his back and slid through a plate glass door. He was uninjured.

DAV 16, Auxiliary Elect New Officers

New officers of Disabled American Veterans Chapter 16 and its auxiliary will be installed in the chapter home, 199 Auburn Ave., Wednesday evening.

Morris Cucksey, incumbent, will be re-insalled as commander, and another incumbent, Luther J. Keys, will be re-installed as adjutant.

Auxiliary officers to be installed are:

Mrs. Paul Chancey, president; Mrs. Irvin George, senior vice president; Mrs. Troy Marcum, junior vice president; Mrs. Joseph Hicks, treasurer, and Mrs. Lisle Smith, chaplain.

All of Virginia's power plants are coal burning.

2 B52s Turn Back After Seven Hours

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Two of the new B52 Stratofortresses started out yesterday for a military show in Washington but came back because they could not have been seen from the ground.

They had planned to fly coast to coast and back without stopping or refueling.

The two intercontinental bombers flew about 7 hours 35 minutes. Officers here said the exact distance and times could not be given as the B52 performance figures are classified information.

Oficials at Bolling AFB, Washington, told the planes to turn around because of poor visibility from the ground.

Dynamite Cap Blasts Crippled Boy's Hand

PAW PAW (AP)—Already crippled by polio and a heart disease, 12-year-old Ken Wright was in Fairview Hospital here today for treatment of injuries suffered when a dynamite cap exploded in his hand.

The boy found the cap yesterday near his home in Bloomingdale. Curious, he scratched it with a nail. It exploded, blowing off a thumb and finger. Bits of copper were buried in his face, chest and neck.

'You're Goin' to Wear Out My Drum'

Shy, Taciturn Heros Not Fun to Interview

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The toughest task God's prying newspaper chillun ever have to face is the interviewing of heroes.

A hero is a man of notable courage, but un-notable dialogue. He's a Gary Cooper for real, a man who likes plenty of action and little as possible talk. So when you ask a silly question like "How does it feel to be a hero?" you get exactly the answer you deserve.

"I feel," drawled Capt. Jack Woodyard, "like if you people don't stop beatin' on my drum, you're goin' to wear it out."

Roanoke-born Capt. Woodyard is not only like Cooper in drawl and modesty, but he has the stature (6-feet-4) and dark good looks of Gregory Peck.

He is the prototype of the shy man of courage, but this has nothing to do with why he was flown, suddenly, from Clark Air Force Base in the Phillippines to New York City.

TO RECEIVE MEDAL

He was rushed here to receive the third annual "Aviators' Valor Medal" award by the United States Air Force.

The citation that goes with the medal and ribbon reads: "For extreme valor, courage and fortitude in the successful rescue of the survivors of the Cathay Pacific airliner which was shot down by Communist aircraft."

It says further that his "courage, coolness and skill in the face of possible Communist intervention on this occasion reflects the highest credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

"That's all very nice," he said, lounging in unaccustomed luxury at the hotel Lexington, "but I'll argue with 'em to the end that there was anything I did that my whole crew didn't do. Let me tell you the story . . ."

TELLS HIS STORY

On July 23rd, 1954, he explained, he and his crew (from the 31st Air Rescue Squadron at Clark Field) were planning a routine flight in their twin-engined Albatross, when a hot message came from the control tower.

It was an SOS from a Cathay Pacific DC4 airliner, which reported one engine was on fire and the plane was losing altitude. The craft was a few miles south of Communist-held Hainan Island on the airline's route from Bangkok to Hong Kong.

Woodyard and crew leaped to action, were airborne within minutes. It took more than three hours to fly to the area where the distressed plane was presumed to have ditched, and when the rescue plane finally spotted a raft with survivors, there were two major dangers involved that might have made less courageous men pause — or fail.

The raft was pitching in Chinese territorial waters (in fact, by this time a broadcast from Peiping had warned that any U. S. aircraft sighted in this area would be shot down), and the swells were 8 to 10 feet high, making a landing seem virtually impossible.

'EVERYTHING RIGHT'

But "this was the sort of day when everything goes just right," Capt. Woodyard remembers. So by careful manipulation he landed the Albatross in the calmer water near shore, then taxied through the violent swells to the side of the raft.

Altogether there were nine survivors, including two little girls. But one of the girls died on the flight back to Hong Kong.

The pilot of the ditched plane confided to Woodyard that he had been knocked out of the air by two Chinese Communist planes. The truth would never have been known if it were not for the captain and his crew.

But of course Capt. Jack, being a hero, refuses to concede the rescue was anything more than a mission — "a mission that justified all the time and trainin' we put in on it."

"We were a little shook up," he admits. "But I imagine the Communists were more so, when their murder was disclosed."

Childs Named to Post in Police Chiefs Unit

LANSING (AP)—State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs has been appointed chairman of the state and provincial section of the International Assn. of chiefs of Police.

The section is composed of state police and highway patrols in the United States and law officers in Canada. Childs will preside at a meeting of the group during an association convention in Philadelphia this October.

Williams Signs Bill for Flint UM Branch

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has priating $37,000 to organize a two-year branch of the University of Michigan at Flint.

DIFFERENCE

We honestly believe that there has never been such a difference between low-priced cars as there is today. Driving them will quickly show you that it isn't even fair to compare other low-priced cars with the Motoramic Chevrolet. Driving will show you that Chevrolet is actually stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars. So won't you come in and try out a new Chevrolet? We'll rest our case on what the car itself can tell you.

Hal Boyle Says:

Hoover Gums Up Canned 'Burger Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Imagine how your dear old Mom would feel if a stranger suddenly hauled off and gave her a black eye on Mother's Day.

Hurt? Bewildered? Angry?

Well, this is how the canned hamburger industry feels today. Here its members were, quietly observing National Canned Hamburger Month, and what happens? The Hoover Commission spoils the whole family celebration by reporting that the U.S. Navy has stockpiled a 60-year supply of canned hamburgers.

The resulting hullabaloo calmed down after Navy officials and President Eisenhower pointed out the difference between peacetime supplies and emergency wartime needs. Troops consume little canned meat in barracks, but use vast amounts on maneuvers or in combat.

But the canned hamburger people are far from mollified. They feel National Canned Hamburger Month has been ruined—and that they have a legitimate beef.

"The Hoover Commission has put an onus on our industry," said Gene Garvin, executive vice president of the Claridge Meat Co., which helped develop the canned hamburger for the armed forces a dozen years ago.

"My experience with the armed forces for 15 years is that they have always been cautious and circumspect in their buying. The Hoover Commision has given the public the wrong impression.

"Actually, civilians buy far more canned hamburgers today than the armed services."

Garvin, whose firm will roll its 100 millionth canned hamburger off the assembly line this week, is mulling over the idea of taking it to the nation's capital and presenting it to the first statesman who will get up in Congress and defend "this fine American product." He feels it shouldn't be too difficult to find the statesman.

The canned hamburger, born in the second world war, has mushroomed into a multimillion dollar industry. But it already had enough trouble before the Hoover Commission's task force report.

"By government regulation, the canned hamburger must be a 100 per cent pure beef product, except for the seasoning," said Garvin. "You can't even put bread crumbs in it and label it hamburger. You have to label it meatballs or meat patties."

But Garvin, who happens also to be a big man in meatballs, said the all-beef canned hamburger has to compete with 113 kinds of "sham" burgers.

"They include shrimpburgers, cheeseburgers, nutburgers, chickburgers, steerburgers, chowburgers. When a man asks for a plain old-fashioned hamburger, few people even know what he wants."

The hope of the people who launched National Canned Hamburger Week was to alert the public to the growing desecration of "the true hamburger."

No great firework displays were planned, no booming og guns, no parade up Fifth avenue. But it was expected that a National Canned Hamburger beauty queen would be picked — naturally. Here and there loyal friends also had arranged to meet and drink a toast to the all-beef hamburger, and maybe pass the quiet suggestion around, from mouth to mouth, that the surest place for a hungry man to find one today is in a can.

Have all these hopes been shattered? Is National Canned Hamburger Month a complete bust? No, indeed. Amid the gathering gloom has shot a sudden bright ray.

"The Army has asked for bids on 1,900,000 more cans of hamburgers," said Garvin. "The bidding date is tomorow."

Railroad Halts Work, Won't Scare Minks

CORTLAND, N. Y. (AP) — The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad has postponed a bridge rebuilding job so that the rat-a-tat of jack hammers won't disturb other minks.

The project was going fine. Then crews started heavy work. Maynard Fish, who runs a mink ranch near this city in central New York complained that the noise might frighten the mother minks into eating the 900 kits they bore early this month.

The railroad agreed to postpone the work until July, when the kits leave their mothers.

Churchill Having Fine Time in Campaign

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—Surely no one in Britain is having more fun than Sir Winston Churchill out electioneering.

He has put on his favorite campaigning hat, a high cylinder of black felt. It manages to look like a fat bomb, and it seems to be made of iron. Churchill beams and chuckles, and ambles from meeting to meeting waving cigars and making "V" signs. His health appears good.

In his 81st year the former prime minister seems to be more relaxed than he has been for years.

At last, someone else is carrying the supreme responsibility. Apparently he finds being an elder statesman, and a mere candidate for a seat in the House of Commons, an unexpected and pleasant easing of stresses. He is letting others worry about the destiny of mankind, the empire, and the latest coal strike in Wales.

Churchill has been trying to keep out of the main arena. He is not on televison. He is not billed as the major attraction at Conservative party rallies. The ball has been passed to his protege, Sir Anthony Eden, and Churchill seems pleased with the manner in which Eden has been carrying it.

Some Labor (Socialist) speakers have been saying the Conservative party ungratefully dismissed Churchill, that his resignation as prime minister was due to undercover pressures. The charge makes Churchill snort, and in his best blood-and-thunder manner he singes everyone's hair and pledges his total loyalty to Eden.

Churchill's personal feeling toward Bevan is much less than one of affection.

He recalled that Bevan, after a visit to Russia when Georgi Malenkov was prime minister, wrote that Malenkov was boss, rather than Nikita Khrushchev.

"Bevan," said Churchill, "hit the wrong bull's eye twice, right in the middle. He is a bad judge of form."

A questioner at a meeting at Woodford asked whether it might not be better, after all, to get rid of fleet and army, and to persuade the world by an "act of faith" that Britain wants peace.

"It would not be an act of faith, it would be an act of folly," Churchill thundered. "Never let it be said that Britons do not stand up to a challenge. Let no impression go out that Britain is on the run."

A Negro wanted to know whether Britain proposed to do anything about racial difficulties in the dominion of South Africa.

"You must understand that we are a commonwealth," Churchill said. "We in Britain can do nothing to intervene in the domestic affairs of South Africa, any more than we could, for example, in the local arrangements of Canada. It may be that the things we see in the dominions and colonies may not be to our liking, but these are areas in which the government in London can do nothing more than give advice and exercise moral influence."

Invention May Help Rh-Negative Babies

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — A physicist, whose 6-year-old son was an Rh-negative baby, has developed a device that may give other infants born with the wrong type of blood a greater chance for life.

His development is a blood-warming device to be used in the type of exchange transfusion that saved his son from possible death. It was the result of an over-the-fence conversation between the physicist, Dr. Volney C. Wilson of the General Electric Co., and a pediatrician, Dr. Stewart C. Wagoner.

Dr. Wagoner told Wilson it should be possible to decrease the death rate of Rh-negative babies if some suitable way could be found to warm the blood during transfusion. About 10 per cent of such infants do not live.

The device consists of a stainless steel water container, a single 4-way stopcock and heating element and controls to raise the water temperature to the proper level.

Says Emu Egg Can't Take X-Ray

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Ed Cummings, hatchery manager, has a very important job—the hatching of an emu egg.

Brought from a California zoo, the emu egg is from one of the largest birds in the world. Cummings believes the egg is in very delicate condition now and to move it for X-ray examination might be fatal.

The issue will be in doubt for a while. Comparing incubation periods of the emu (56 days) with a chicken (21 days), Cummings figures his rare charge is about on-ethird on the way to hatching.

He's In for a Surprise

BANGOR, Me. (UP)—An 11-year-old girl walked into the public library here and asked for Victor Hugo's "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." The librarian asked for whom the book was intended. The girl replied: "My younger brother. He just loves football stories."

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Orchard Lake Women Sailors Plan Season's Activities

Pontiac Press Photos

Med School Takes Area Swimmer

'Bumpy' Jones Will Study at U. of M.; Honoraries Busy

By SUE GILBERT

ANN ARBOR—Burwell (Bumpy) Jones, of Pontiac Trail, received his notification of acceptance to the Michigan Medical School last week. Bumpy, breaker of world swimming records, will have completed his four years of pre-med work in June, at the University. During the past year, he served as captain of the swimming team.

The last few weeks have been the time during which the campus honorary societies have tapped new members. The tapping, which generally takes place at night, is followed the next day by either public pledging ceremonies or identification of the pledge by some distinctive manner of dress.

Mary Ann, who is majoring in political science, has been recommended by the chairman of the Political Science Department at the University for attendance at a summer seminar in Salisbury, Conn.

TO DISCUSS ECONOMICS

The seminar, sponsored by the Institute of Public Affairs, will draw renowned political scientists from eastern colleges in discussion of "Economic and Political Problems in World Affairs." The session will last from July 6, to Aug. 24.

Another honoree this semester was Malcolm A. Walker, of Henderson drive. He was selected for Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary society. His mother, Mrs. Edward S. Cornell, came to Ann Arbor last week to see her son honored at the all-campus convocation for those outstanding students.

Russel Holland, of East Iroquois avenue, has just been elected house president of his dormitory section, Scott House, South Quadrangle. Russel will take over his new duties next fall.

This summer, he plans to attend the Pontiac Business Institute and as a vacation break, he will accompany his father, Judge H. Russel Holland, and sister on a western trip, taking in Glacier National Park, Yellowstone National Park, and Canadian parks.

ANNE KATHRYN BOEGEHOLD

The engagement of Anne Kathryn Boegehold is announced by her parents, the Alfred Lindley Boegeholds of Erie drive, to Richard G. Jones.

He is the son of Mrs. Keith M. Jones of Boulder, Colo. She is a graduate of Liggett School and attended Stephens College and University of Michigan.

He will graduate in June from University of Michigan.

Miami Adopts Covered Look

"The no-top sundress has definitely lost its popularity," says Harold Schiff, president of the Miami Fashion Council. "Built-up shoulders or little cap sleeves are stylish this year."

The sheath dress in linen or a cotton-and-silk blend, with high scoop neckline and wide built-up shoulder straps, is a new Florida style leader. Schiff also noted that the high square front neckline of Dior's "A" look is appearing in Southern sun clothes.

Miami manufacturers still offer a choice of sheath or full skirt, but they agree that the bare-top dress is no longer stylish. Schiff said far fewer sundress-with-jacket ensembles are being made.

The Miami fashion expert added that "flamingos and rhinestones" are following bare shoulders into the fashion discard.

Role of Catholic Woman Outlined

Mrs. John Shada of Royal Oak, archdiocesan chairman of family life, was guest speaker at the annual breakfast sponsored by the League of Catholic Women Sunday.

The mother of six children, Mrs. Shada discussed "The Challenging Role of Today's Catholic Women" at the meeting held in the League building.

There are four "musts" for the Catholic woman, the speaker stated. She is a champion of love, of truth, of thrift and of her religious faith.

In her role as champion of love, the speaker said the Catholic woman loves God and her neighbor, has a special aptitude for love—the kind of love that forgets self.

LOVE IMPORTANT

"Love is an important element in everyone's life. We all need to be needed, and we all want to be wanted. There is a distinction, however, between giving of self and the giving of things," Mrs. Shada said.

Truth, she said, is recognition of what we believe. Truth does not change its pattern, and the Catholic woman's responsibility is to radiate truth; She must get behind the movements of truth.

In the discussion of thrift, Mrs. Shada said that we must differentiate between material and spiritualistic things. And she said, materialism is making great strides today. "You can not buy peace of mind, peace of soul or that satisfied feeling of being right with God."

ARM WITH FAITH

Catholic women, she said, should arm themselves with religious faith "which will enable us to cope with whatever life deals us."

Mrs. Thomas L. Carry, president of the League of Catholic Women introduced the speaker and spoke on the cooperative home which the League is sponsoring.

Women living here pool their resources and maintain the home themselves. Interested persons may call Mrs. Carry at her home in Drayton Plains.

Sharon Holland entertained with a piano solo followed by committee reports given by Mrs. Wilfred J. Hinds, Mrs. Carl Brown, Mrs. Arthur Crawford and Mrs. William B. Dean.

Miscellaneous Shower Honors Margaret Smith

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Smith of Windcroft drive and Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Swengros of West Huron street.

The couple will exchange nuptial vows June 18 in St. Benedict Church.

Other guests were Margaret Silk, Mrs. C. Gerald Smith, Mrs. Frank Bonner, Mrs. Willis Lefurgy, Mrs. Vernon C. Abbott and Mrs. S. V. Sekles.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Robert Boynton of Huntington Woods and Mrs. Gerald Swanson of Ferndale.

Mrs. Sam Warwick Heads Garden Club

Mrs. Sam Warwick was installed as president of the Sylvan Garden Club when members met at Devon Gables for a luncheon.

Mrs. Raymond Dombrowksi is vice president; Mrs. John Roeper, secretary and Mrs. Charles Irvin, treasurer.

Mrs. Vivian Tubbs of Dirt Gardeners' Club was the speaker for the recent meeting. Plans were made for an annual breakfast to be held the latter part of June.

Bride-Elect Announces Attendants

Names of Party for Rite Listed by Elaine Grennier

At a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening, Elaine Grennier announced her bridal attendants for her July 25 marriage to Wayne Long, son of Mrs. Mae Long of Telegraph road.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grennier of Mariva street, has asked Helen Coffer to be her maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Marjorie Porter and Mary Lou Kramp with Wendy Johnson as flower girl. She is a niece of the prospective bridegroom.

Serving as best man will be Wendell Doolin. Curtis Grennier, the bride's brother, and Richard Carter are to be ushers.

GUESTS LISTED

Others were Mrs. Lyle Saum, Mrs. Nellie Long, Grace Clark, Mrs. Jeannette See, Zeena Rossoff, Mrs. Orben Wilkins, Mrs. Norman Warner, Mrs. Mae Long, Mrs. Thomas Humphrey and Mrs. Frank Grennier.

Also attending were Mrs. Dorothy Gould, Mrs. Bruce Jennings, Mrs. Gerald Reed, Mrs. Clarence Richardson, Mrs. Gordon Trayer, Marjorie Porter, Helen Coffer and Mary Lou Kramp.

Contest Is Ended, Winners Are Told

The running battle between the "Stuffed Sausages" and the "Big Hams" has ended — after a six weeks contest the "Big Hams" came off winners, losing a total of 74 pounds in the race among members of the Fashion Your Figure Club.

At a recent meeting at Pontiac High School, Mrs. Russell Gortner was winner of the weekly trophy. A report on the workshop held at Pontiac State Hospital, was made by Mrs. Gortner, Mrs. Gerald Rose and Mrs. Hartley Bray.

Shirley Lyons, Norman Nelson Married

Two hundred guests witnessed the double-ring candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. James W. Deeg. Palms and baskets of carnations and gladioli decorated the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lyons of North Perry street and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Knute Nelson of Auburn road.

FINGERTIP VEIL

Helen Coffer attended the bride as maid of honor wearing a ballerina length gown of light blue brocaded taffeta.

The gown was fashioned with halter neckline and bouffant skirt. She carried a fan covered with matching carnations and streamers.

WEAR YELLOW

Deborah Granger and Peggy Lyons, nieces of the bride, wore yellow organdy dresses with white trim. They wore flowers in their hair and carried baskets of rose petals.

James Phillips of Rochester served as best man and seating the guests were Maxwell Phelps and Richard Campbell.

MRS. NORMAN NELSON

A reception was held at Knights of Columbus Hall. The bride's mother wore a navy lace dress with pink accessories and a corsage of carnations and roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a pink jersey dress with white accessories and a corsage of carnations and roses.

TRAVEL TO NIAGARA

Zampol Takes First Prize at Show

Popular vote was one of the methods used to select the winning art work in Sunday's invitational opening of the Pontiac Society of Artists seventh annual art exhibit and the voters' first choice was Peter Zampol of Fairgrove avenue.

Second, third and fourth choices in that order, were Mrs. Chadd Mellinger of Blaine street; Mrs. Arthur Hays of Franklin and Mrs. Harcourt Patterson of Oriole road.

In the other method, three judges classified the art, and in the oil painting category chose as first, second and third place winners, Mrs. Donald Arnold of New York avenue, E. Guy Sanders of Franklin road and Mrs. L. L. Sterling of Lorraine court.

Finally, Mrs. John Stewart of Washington street, Mrs. Byrrh Rombough of West Huron street and Mrs. Michael Godoshian of Telegraph road received first, second and third place honors for their work with charcoal.

Some 300 people turned out to view the display and judges for the event were artists Mrs. Emily Fox of Detroit, Clifford B. West of Bloomfield Hills and Robert Thom of Birmingham.

Gals, Stay Out From Under Those Car Hoods

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Sound the tocsin, beat the drum to warn our 25-million women drivers to squash now that ominous threat to teach them about what goes on under the hood of a car.

Resist, I say. Refuse stubbornly to learn the difference between a combustion chamber and a crankcase. Turn your back on promises that you can surprise your husband by replacing your cracked cylinder block or fixing a leak in your hydraulic system.

Whoever thought up this nationwide, commercially-sponsored course for females on what makes a car go is the worst enemy our sex has encountered since the serpent back in Eden.

To modern men, the woman driver is a charming menace, unpredictable about signals, incompetent in backing and parking, careless about garage doors, driving slowly when she should drvie fast.

Unless the going gets really rough it won't be necessary to point out to male detractors that every available per capita statistic indicates this handy scapegoat has fewer accidents than they, and fewer arrests in every category from speeding to taking one too many for the road.

Men need to keep their illusions and I say let them.

Maybe I'm unduly apprehensive. Probably it will be a long time before most women will see glamor, as the course-givers hint they are sure to, in gas and gaskets.

After all, who could really enjoy grease on her hands? No, I'm convinced that cleaning clogged fuel lines and calibrating spark plugs will never become a favorite sport of my sex.

WOMEN SHOULD REALIZE

Just the same, I wish to make sure every woman realizes that all she needs to know about an automobile is how to start it, drive it and stop it.

Oh yes, she should also be able to read — approximately — the hands on the various dashboard instruments and have enough sense when necessary to ask the grageman to fill 'er up, check oil, water, battery and tires.

After that, if anything untoward should happen, her place is behind the wheel or drooping beside the car, so helpless and appealing that some male passerby will promptly offer aid.

WE DON'T WANT IT

The proposed course would only bring nearer the day when women wil lhave to fix their own flats—and ruin their best linen dresses and manicures in the process. Nobody, including the average man, really wants that to happen.

Let engines remain a mystery, I say, and let ethyl, as far as we know, be only a girl's name. If having fun about women drivers so reinforces the masculine ego that it persuades the hardier sex joyfully to change our tires, I say it's a small price for them to pay.

A motor is just about the only thing men have left to be superior about.

Pastries Are Luscious and Delicate

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Cream cheese is a wonderful spread for crackers. It also can be used as the ingredient for an interesting pastry. Pastry made with cream cheese is delicate and flaky. Mrs. Grant McDonald gives us her recipe for this German pastry.

Mrs. McDonald is the incoming president of the Pontiac Newcomers Club. She is an ardent golfer and past president of the Silver Lake Golf League, a group she organized last summer. She is treasurer of her church circle. An enthusiastic sewer, she also enjoys textile painting.

CREAM CHEESE PASTRY
By Mrs. Grant McDonald

½ pound butter
½ pound cream cheese
2 cups sifted flour
Jam

Mix together as for pie crust. There is no liquid in this recipe. Chill in the refrigerator for 24 hours. Roll out very, very thin and cut into 3-4 inch squares. Place a spoonful of peach, apricot or pineapple jam on each square. Fold each corner to the center and pinch the open edges together. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 15 minutes.

After removing from the oven you may sprinkle these tarts with confectioners sugar if desired. Makes about 3 dozen tarts.

Bamboo Is Accent for Too-Long Hall

A family with a wide and long hall wanted to do something to "minimize" the great expanse of wall which confronted them at every turn.

They covered one entire wall with matchstick bamboo on which they had painted an Hawaiian scene. It gives a great lift to the entire house, and is kept free of dust by the regular use of the vacuum cleaner dust brush.

Pontiac Coin Club Has 65th Meeting

The 65th meeting of the Pontiac Coin Club was held at the YMCA with Herbert Hotchkiss, president, leading a discussion as to how more people could become interested in coin collecting.

Meetings are held the first Tuesday and third Thursday of each month. Anyone interested in coin or stamp collecting are invited to attend the meetings. YMCA is the setting and meetings begin at 7:30 p.m.

Members Take Part in Church Program

Those taking part in the program included Mrs. Carl Nelson, Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, Mrs. Harry Santala, Mrs. Philip Wargelin, Mrs. Fremont Thoe and Mrs. Helen Dovre.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. William Park and Mrs. Fremont Thoe. The June meeting will be held at the Dover road home of Mrs. Eugene Perkio.

Minister Discusses Meaning of Church

Tentative plans are being made for a square dance to be held in the fall.

Barbara Frederick Feted at Shower

Hostesses for the recent affair were Mrs. Edwin Brodkorb and Mrs. William McKinley.

Barbara, daughter of Mrs. Ray Frederick of Cameron avenue and the late Mr. Frederick, is the bride-elect of Robert G. Shuart.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman A. Shuart of Beverly avenue. The couple will exchange nuptial vows July 30.

Zontians Hear Musical Program at Meeting

A musical program was enjoyed by members of the Zonta Club when they met at Stevens Hall, All Saints Episcopal Church.

The musical numbers were all compositions of the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly of St. Michael Church. He was assisted in the program by Frances Capucille and Mrs. Warren Cosgrove.

A solo, "Our Father" was presented by Miss Capucilli and she also presented three duets with Mrs. Cosgrove. An organ reverie, "In the Shadows" was played by the Rev. Mr. O'Reilly.

Two marches and popular music comprised the second portion of the program.

Marian Holden was chairman of the day and guests included Mrs. Paul Gorman, Jean Walter, Thelma Atkinson and the Rev. Robert J. Bickley of Milford.

New members present included Mrs. Robert Nelson, Mrs. Frank Irons, Elsie Benson, Ladeen Floyd and Mrs. Louis Traschen.

Garbo: The Legend and the Lady

Greta Strikes Up Friendship With Famed Leopold Stokowski

By JOHN BAINBRIDGE

One day in 1938 a Scottish youth was arrested for stealing a photograph of Greta Garbo from a movie theater in Glasgow.

When the offender was brought to court and the charge against him read, the magistrate, whose name was Robert Norman Macleod, asked, "Who is Greta Garbo?"

By uttering those four words Robert Norman Macleod secured his little niche in history. His question was considered so incredible that stories about it were cabled to newspapers around the world.

Not to know, in the fourth decade of the twentieth century, who Greta Garbo was automatically marked a civilized man a freak, and with reason.

For Garbo was not only the best-known woman in the world; she had also become, as Alistair Cooke, American correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, remarked at the time, "the unapproachable goddess of the most widespread and remarkable mythology in human history."

MILLIONS WORSHIP GARBO

Garbo's fame as a goddess swelled fantastically as the thirties drew to a close. Her romantic attachments together with her celluloid triumphs made this period a kind of golden era for the millions who worshipped at Garbo's shrine.

For the goddess herself it was a season, like all her seasons, more often melancholy than glad.

In Camille, released in 1937, Garbo gave what is widely regarded as her greatest performance. Out of the famous and flamboyant Dumas relle, a favorite vehicle of Bernhardt, Duse and numerous other actresses of genius through many generations, Garbo created a masterpiece.

In the role of the errant, tragic Marguerite, she became a human being who really loved and suffered and died; the illusion was never marred.

GARBO MISSES OSCAR

Garbo's memorable portrayal in Camille won her the award of the New York Film Critics for the "best feminine performance" of the year. She was also nominated in 1937 for the "best-actress award" of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

The Oscar that year was given instead to Luise Rainer for her work in The Good Earth. Strange are the ways of Hollywood.

On Garbo's next picture, an ambitious work called Conquest, MGM spent $3,800,000. Purporting to tell the story of Napoleon and his favorite mistress, Countess Marie Walewska of Poland, Conquest had just about everything money could buy: expensive stars —Charles Boyer as Napoleon, Garbo as Walewska, a costly script by Salka Viertel, Samuel Hoffenstein and S. N. Behrman; a twelve-month production schedule; magnificent settings; a cast of hundreds; many photographic splendors, such as breath-taking Cossack raids and a glimpse of the retreat from Moscow; and so on.

The picture turned out to be a shambling, episodic, pedestrian affair. Summing it up in his review, Frank S. Nugent remarked, "The company was overcharged."

To Garbo's great public, what she was doing on the screen at this time was of far less interest than what she was doing away from it. According to reports coming out of Hollywood, she had at last found what the newspapers were pleased to call her "dream man."

STOKOWSKI ENTERS SCENE

The character thus imaginatively described was the noted conductor, Leopold Stokowski. When Conquest was released, in the late fall of 1937, Stokowski's romance with Garbo was proceeding more or less according to what seemed to be the maestro's plan.

Stokowski had met Garbo in Hollywood some months before, not by chance. After having been the full-time conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra for twenty-four years, he was then taking time out from his classical musical chores to work in the movies.

Like a not inconsiderable number of other people, Stokowski cherished a desire to meet Greta Garbo. He looked up his old friend, Anita Loos, the witty writer best known as the author of Gentlemen Prefer Blondes, and beseeched her to arrange a meeting.

Miss Loos had been casually acquainted with Garbo for several years; on her solitary walks along the beach the actress frequently stopped in at Miss Loos' house to pass the time of day. Obliging Stokowski, Miss Loos invited Garbo and one of her women friends to a small dinner party to meet the conductor.

"Stoky didn't waste much time on the overture," one of those who was present at the dinner and subsequently watched the development of the romance has said. "He got straight down to business, laying on the charm.

"He told Garbo they were destined to have a history-making romance, like Wagner's with Cosima. It was written in the stars. There was no use in trying to escape it. It was the direct attack mixed with a little mystical stuff. Any kind of mystical stuff made quite a hit with Greta in those days."

GARBO IS BEWILDERED

Garbo, was nevertheless at first somewhat taken aback by Stokowski's approach. Her practical Nordic mind bade her give the matter some thought.

At that time, Stokowski, whose imposing appearance was distinguished by remarkably expressive hands, an ascetic-looking countenance and a mane of white hair, was fifty-five; Garbo was thirty-two.

In conversation with friends she expressed bewilderment over the maestro's whirlwind courtship. "She was very cagey about everything," one of her friends has said, "but especially about money or the possibility that somebody would use hes in some way. She seemed relieved to learn that Stoky was well off.

"Also, of course, they were both health cranks, so they had something in common to begin with. By and by Greta seemed to accept the idea that she was being swept into a world-shaking romance."

Once Garbo had become convinced that she and Stokowski could, in a manner of speaking, make beautiful music together, she appeared with him often at private social functions, where they gaily danced the rumba as well as the Big Apple.

The customary matrimonial rumors began to take shape. They became widespread when, in October 1937, Stokowski's second wife established residence in Nevada and filed suit for divorce.

A couple of days after this development became known, a reporter surprised Garbo as she was hurrying from her car into a friend's house and asked her when she and Stokowski planned to marry. "Such rumors are absurd," she said. "I will not deny that Mr. Stokowski and I are very good friends. But as far as marriage to him—no. That is out of the question."

In early December, after his wife's divorce had been granted, Stokowski also denied that there was anything to the stories that he and Garbo were to marry.

Later that month, however, when Garbo sailed for Sweden to spend Christmas with her relatives, it was duly noted that the maestro was on hand to bid her bon voyage.

By that time, Garbo had begun referring to Stokowski privately as "my boy friend."

GRETA FOLLOWS STOKOWSKI

The following February Stokowski also sailed for Europe.

Arriving in Italy, he proceeded to the tiny, historic village of Ravello, where he had taken a month's lease on the ancient, handsome Villa Cimbrone, situated on a mountain perch commanding a magnificent view of the Mediterranean.

Within a week he was joined by Garbo. When Garbo arrived at the Villa Cimbrone, one of the servants noted, she was wearing blue flannel trousers and a pair of sweaters.

Her luggage consisted of one small suitcase much the worse for wear; no other luggage followed. She was, as usual, traveling light.

When, inevitably, it became known that "Greta" and "Stoky," as the tabloids referred to them with brash familiarity, were in residence at the Villa Cimbrone, correspondents of practically all nationalities descended on Ravello like an invading army.

They began a monstrous journalistic siege, reports of which were daily dispatched to a gleefully curious world.

The attack began when reporters cornered Stokowski in the Hotel Caruso, where he had gone to make a telephone call. The correspondents asked if his companion was Greta Garbo, if they were married, if they intended to be.

"Who—Greta Garbo?" Stokowski replied archly. "Oh, you mean that film actress. I haven't the faintest notion where she is right now—certainly not with me."

"KEEP OUT"

When newspapermen approached the Villa Cimbrone the following day, they found the gate locked and tacked onto it a large "keep out" sign; to add authority to the admonition, the gate was guarded by two carabinieri and three police dogs.

Barred from the main theater of operations, the hard-pressed correspondents were forced to compose their daily dispatches out of whatever little morsels they could pick up, or think up.

A typical story out of Ravello told how Garbo and "her white-haired musician friend strolled into the barnyard of the villa, where a cow named Emma was being milked.

After stroking the cow's nose and murmuring a few Swedish endearments, Miss Garbo sat down on the stool, while Stokowski held the cow's head, and drew three quarts of milk.

Into this welter of nonsense the staid London Times introduced one factual note when its correspondent cabled that "Miss Garbo has been obliged to have long curtains hung around the terrace to shield her from the attentions of the persistent photographers, who have not hesitated to climb trees and to lie in wait on the roof's of neighboring villas."

Formidable, in the twentieth century, are the obstacles to high romance.

There were 2,072,333 bathtubs sold in the United States in 1954.

For Fun in the Summer Sun

Toys Smooth Difficulties During Beach Outings

Outdoor living can be great fun for kids. That is, if Mom and Dad are not constantly saying: "Don't go near the water" or "Don't go near the swings," causing the youngsters to get fun of the "stolen" variety instead.

So says Toy Guidance, Council, Inc.

If youngsters are kept busy, they won't fall into mischief or grief, council experts say. If the play and tools for play are chosen with care, no matter how tiny the tots, they'll enjoy outdoor living to the full.

For fun in the water, there are countless specially designed toys. These include vinyl animals. It should be stressed, however, that these inflatables are not leakproof.

Younger children can have fun in shallow water with such playthings as plastic boats and planes and stuffed dolls and animals that float and are washable.

Inflatables designed to provide buoyancy should be used only by older children who are capable swimmers. Even then the inflatables should not be depended upon to keep the youngsters afloat.

On the beach the children can be counted on to want their sand toys. Such ever-popular items as dump trucks, small wagons, pails and shovels fill this need. But look out for sharp-edged shovels and moulds, and corrosive, easily-broken pails.

FOR ATHLETIC MINDED

Sand and sun also offer an ideal setting for older boys and their athletic equipment, like boxing gloves, portable punching bags and body-building gym sets.

While the younger males flex their muscles, the girls can romp with beach balls or record the activities of the outing with elementary-type cameras.

After lunch it is important that children refrain from swimming or romping strenuously for at least an hour. Here, the vast variety of hobby and craft kits which have become an educator-approved trend in children's play, are invaluable.

Very few youngsters balk at the suggestion of a rest period after lunch when they are occupied in making beautiful tapestries or scale model planes, ships or cars.

Many of the toys used at the beach are also suitable for play in the park, or better still, in one's own back yard.

A sgrong, well-made ladder is something a child can crawl over, climb on and hang from. Sliding down something is another favorite occupation of youngstes; as is an old-fashioned swing and some simple trapeze equipment. All these can be found combined in some very fine equipment offering play possibilities for a number of children at the same time.

Sandboxes are another never-failing source of pleasure.

Children are sure to want some outdoor toys of a more active nature. While not all of them are necessary, wagons, trucks, kiddie-cars with pedals, tricycles, velocipedes, scooters, and wheelbarrows all fit into a child's outdoor play and can be combined with some safety as well.

Playing with water in the back yard is as joyful (and more convenient) a way as a day at the beach. Let the children put on their bathing suits and have a chance to use the hose, on each other and in the pool, where they can paddle and play with their inflatables as safely and snugly as a bug in the rug.

YOUNG FARMER — Touch of tractoring is good for any man in the summer. This one has knee action shock absorbers.

BACK YARD POOL—No need to cart the kids to the beach on one of those hot summer days, if there's a back yard plastic pool. The pool is seven and a half feet across, holds lots of cool water. It deflates and stores neatly between seasons.

Elephant Hurled From Trailer Smashes Man

The truck jumped a ditch and overturned. Killed were Norman E. Joseph, 30, of Newark, N. J., and Queenie, 25-year-old 8,145-pound elephant.

Truck driver W. C. Hendricks, 36, of Atlanta, Ga., was treated for an injured nose.

Hendricks said the brakes failed as he tried to turn off an expressway.

Deputy Sheriff H. G. Vayette said Joseph, riding in the cab with Hendricks, jumped out when he saw the truck was going to turn over.

"He landed in the path of the trailer, and the elephant broke through the siding and landed right on top of him," Vayette said.

Pontiac Press Photos

Sen. Johnson Seeking Truth

Rash of Statements About Russian Planes Differ Widely

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) called on Secretary of Defense Wilson today to "step in and stop the confusion" he said exists about the national defense program.

The Senate Democratic leader said congressional committees are going to try to find out the "true story" of whether Russia is threatening to gain air superiority over the United States.

In the meantime, he said Wilson has the responsibility for seeing to it that "the generals and secretaries get together so that the right hand knows what the left if doing."

"The people and Congress don't know who to pay attention to now," he said. "There has been a new rash of confusing statements and there should be clarification as to what is the true story."

LEADERS 'SHOCKED'

The magazine Aviation Week, joining in a controversy which has raged during the last week, said yesterday that Russian air developments have shocked "even the top level and the most knowledgeable military aviation leaders in the Pentagon."

It criticized what it said "appears to be a deliberate deception practiced against them (the American people) by some of the highest civilian officials in their government."

A brief Pentagon report of Russian air developments 10 days ago led Sen. Symington (D-Mo) to suggest last Tuesday that Russia may have gained air superiority over the West. President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday such a statement "is just not true."

A prepared speech which Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power was to have delivered in Boston Friday said Russia now has the world's largest air force and "resources in manpower and material we could not possibly match."

CHANGES TEXT

As Power made the speech, however, he changed the text to say only that the Soviets have "a large air force" and "impressive resources in manpower and material," without saying whether this country could match them.

The change followed news reports of a speech by Brig. Gen. Woodbury M. Burgess in Detroit, quoting him that "the Russian air force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better."

Although Detroit newsmen said they would stick by the stories they wrote, Burgess told the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which Johnson is a member, that he was misquoted. Secretary of the Air Force Talbott backed this up, saying that statements about Russian air superiority were made "by people who just don't know."

Burgess is chief of intelligence for the Continental Air Command, and Power is commanding general of the Air Force Research and Development Command.

ADDS TO CONFUSION

Johnson said all of this just added to the confusion. He said the armed services and appropriations committees will want all the facts available.

"In view of the billions of dollars we are spending on defense, we have a right to have these people weigh their words," he said. "We have a right to know that when they speak the truth is being accurately stated."

Sen. George (D-Ga) said he is confident that the gap of relative strength between the Russian and U.S. air forces "still is wide."

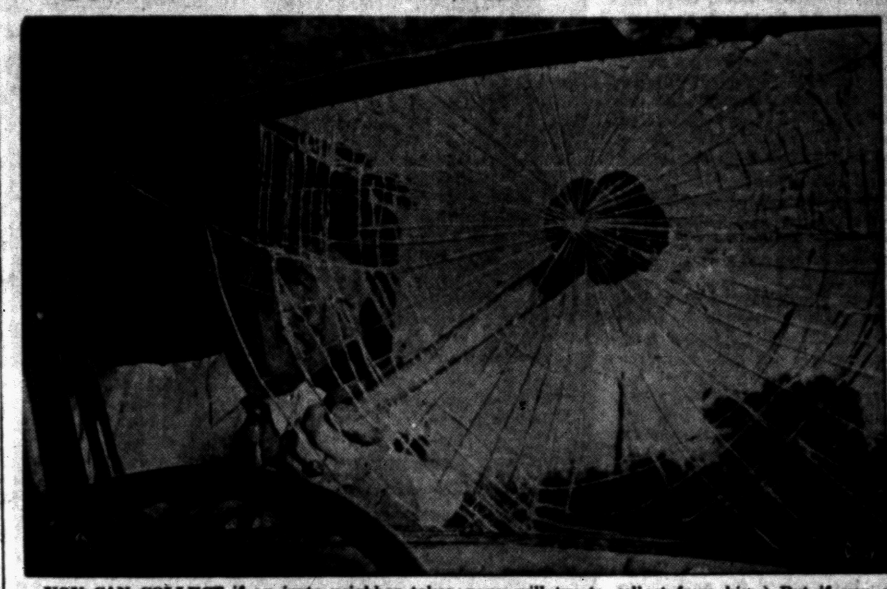

He said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which he heads, might want to hear Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, NATO commander, on the subject again if there have been developments in recent weeks since Gruenther testified.

He said Grunether "didn't seem alarmed" about the Russian air buildup. He added that Gruenther "ought to know as much about it as anybody."

Gruenther said in a New York speech Friday that Russia's long range bomber program is "quite a long way behind ours."

In the Good Old (BAM!) Summer (CRASH) Time

Going into the summer touring season, the auto driver should study his insurance policies. There are many fallacies in circulation about accident coverage. Damages, for instance, depend entirely on who was negligent and caused the accident. Sometimes contributing negligence makes the case even more complicated. Advance knowledge of what your auto policies cover can save embarrassment and anguish. Read your policies! Pictured are a few oddities about insurance with which a policy holder should be familiar.

YOU CAN COLLECT if an irate neighbor takes a sledge hammer to your windshield. (The company will try to collect from him.) But if you get mad and bash in your own . . . unh—unh, brother.

You can't collect for personal effects stolen from the car, under ordinary auto insurance. This includes clothing, suitcases or cameras left in the seat or unlocked trunk.

You can collect when attached equipment is stolen off a car. This includes radiator ornament or spotlight. Spare tires, when they are bolted to car, also are covered.

You can't collect, under comprehensive coverage, if you do this. But if a windstorm rips off the canvas top, you can. Comprehensive covers accidental damage other than collision.

Big-4 Talks Boon to Eden

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sir Anthony Eden's vigorous claim that he persuaded the Eisenhower administration to agree to Big Four talks at the summit has been afloat now for some days.

The administration does not deny it and the claim is accepted as a practical political fact. Neither is there any disposition here seriously to challenge another political fact:

That the administration was very considerably swayed in agreeing to Big Four talks by the argument that they surely would help Sir Anthony's Conservatives to continue in power in Great Britain.

EDEN-DULLES-IKE

Sir Anthony convinced Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, then in Great Britain, and Dulles convinced President Eisenhower. It seems fair to assume that the President and Dulles were and are far more certain of the effect of their Big Four agreement on British politics than on world peace.

Eisenhower does not like socialism. But he was not meddling in British politics when he agreed at a moment most advantageous for the British Conservative party to meet with the other principal chiefs of state. He simply was maneuvering in support of announced United States foreign policy.

Substitution of a Socialist government in London for the Conservative government of Sir Winston Churchill and, now, of Sir Anthony, would be a reverse for basic American foreign policy in the Pacific. Here is the British Socialist party's platform plank on the China dispute:

"In the Far East the war crisis centers in Formosa. Labor (the Socialist party) has constantly urged that this crisis can only be overcome by the evacuation of the offshore islands, now held by Chiang Kai-shek's forces; by the long-overdue admission of Communist China to the United Nations; and by the neutralization of Formosa under the United Nations to enable its inhabitants to make their own choice."

CONSERVATIVE VIEW

The Conservative position is about midway between that of the Socialists and that of the Eisenhower Administration. Here's the Conservative plank:

"In the Formosa Straits we should like to see a guarantee on both sides not to resort to force, and the withdrawal of the Chinese Nationalist forces from the coastal islands. This could lead to the reconsideration at an appropriate moment both of Chinese representation in the United Nations and the future status of Formosa."

As between the two, Eisenhower much prefers the latter plank. Moreover, the Socialists are pledged to reduce the British period of compulsory military service if they get in, thereby weakening the western defense front.

Learns to Use Soroban

Pontiac Soldier in Far East Finds Japs' 'Adding Machine' Big Help in His Work

YOKOHAMA, Japan—When clients walk into the Pontiac law firm of Howlett, Hartman and Beier next year they're liable to see a young associate attorney rattling beads similar to those found on a baby's play pen.

Playing with the beads, a Japanese adding machine called a soroban, will be James L. Howlett who's now a private first class in the army's Yokohama Transportation Depot located in this port city.

Although every Japanese schoolchild can handle a soroban with lightning-like fingers, few Americans have the patience or the initiative to learn how to use one.

MATTER OF NECESSITY

In Howlett's case it was a matter of necessity.

The army is completely revising its occupation classification system and Howlett is one of the men charged with converting old personal history forms to the new system by July 1.

To do the job requires a lot of mathematics. After sizing up his job, Howlett decided to learn to use a sorban. It took him 15 hours of concentrated practice to build his skill to a point where it would pay off in time dividends.

Now Howlett has the system down to the point where he's doing twice as much work as any other man in the office in the same amount of time. One of his fellow office workers commented:

"With that gadget, Jim is doing twice the work I can. It certainly streamlines operations around here."

Manipulating the abacus - like beads is only one of the skills 25-year-old Howlett has picked up during his short three months of duty in Japan. He's also learned enough about "shogi" (Japanese chess) to win an occasional game from native friends.

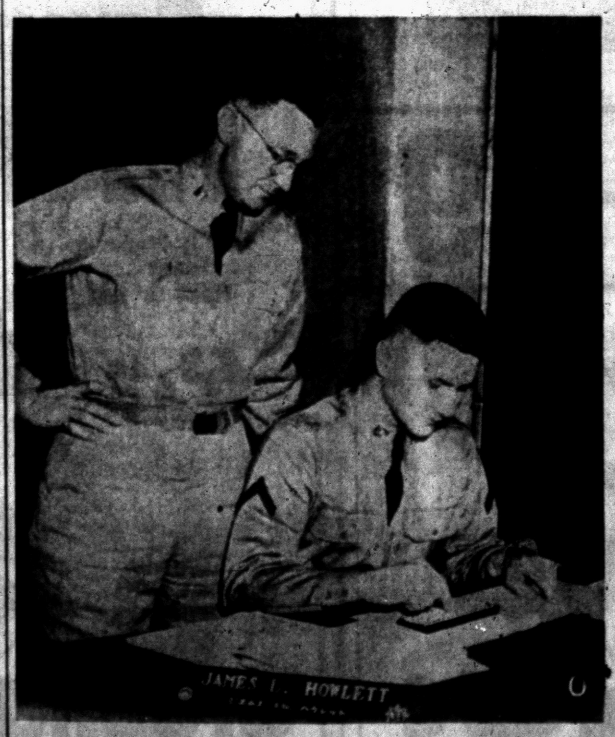

When he's not busy playing shogi or converting personnel records, Howlett spends his time reading about Japanese literature and roaming around the country on his recently purchased Japanese motorcycle.

Howlett, the son of Mr and Mrs. Harold E. Howlett of 104 E. Iroquois, is a 1954 graduate of the University of Michigan Law School. Before college he attended Cranbrook, graduating from there in 1947, and Oberlin College for two years before transferring to U. of M.

Following graduation he worked for three months in the Probate Court before joining his father's law firm as an associate prior to being drafted last July.

After his release from the army, scheduled for July, 1956, Howlett says he intends to return to Pontiac to rejoin the firm.

Returning with him will be his soroban, his books on Japanese literature, a shogi set, the Japanese motorcycle and an understanding of life in the Far East.

U. S. Army Photograph

TIME-SAVING GADGET—Pfc. James L. Howlett of Pontiac works with his Japanese soroban while his boss, Capt. Ardie Davis, wonders how he does it. The desk nameplate has Howlett's name spelled in Japanese "katakana" the simplest of Japan's three types of written characters. Howlett, stationed with the army's Yokohama Transportation Depot in Japan, finds the Japanese adding machine a big help in his work.

Quiz Six Teenagers About 35 Robberies

DETROIT (UP)—Six teenagers who admitted 20 burglaries, including 13 from churches "because they're the easiest," were questioned today about 15 other robberies for which police believe they may be responsible.

Police said the six, including two juveniles, admitted the 20 robberies after they were arrested on a tip to two detectives. They were questioned about 15 other robberies, including seven other churches, because police said the methods used in all the crimes were similar.

The loot from the 35 robberies totals more than $2,400.

Coal Boat Aground Off Bob-Lo Island

DETROIT (UP) — Tugs worked today to free the 550-foot freighter E.A.S. Clark, which ran aground on rocks last night off Bob-Lo Island near the mouth of the Detroit River. The Clark reported its steering mechanism failed.

The freighter loaded with 10,200 tons of coal, is owned by the Interlake Steamship Co., of Cleveland, Ohio.

The lighter T. F. Newman began removing part of the Clark's cargo to make its removal from the rocks easier. The ship piled into rocks separating the Livingstone and Amherstburg channels, but was not in a position that hindered traffic.

That's Not So High

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (UP) — Crew cuts cost $1.25 here, a quarter more than the standard job which leaves more hair. President Emerson Beers of the local barbers union said crew cuts take more time.

PRESSing Questions:

Readers Tell What They Like in Press

What do you like most about the Pontiac Press?

Editors and reporters often wonder if the fruits of their daily labors please the average reader—Wonder if their work can be improved.

In an effort to find what Mr. and Mrs. Pontiac think of their home town newspaper, the above question was asked.

Mrs. James W. Hunt, of 2315 Osjrum St., says the society pages and beauty editor's articles are her first choice. Said Mrs. Hunt, store clerk "My husband usually turns right to the sports pages while I go right to the comics. Also, I believe the Press is unbiased and gives a good representation of the news," she concluded.

Mrs. Maxwell Lucas, a downtown department store employe who lives at 15 portage St., had this answer: "I like the way the Press handles news. It never seems to capitalize on the more lurid type of news. I think this shows consideration for peoples' feelings.

"I also like the way the paper fairly presents both sides of a controversial question," she concluded.

"I like the Press because the news coverage is good—I only wish you had a Sunday paper," was Homer C. Axford's answer. Axford, of 40 Blaine Ave., Oakland County Circuit Court officer, said he's been reading the Press since 1912 and he likes it better than any other paper he's seen.

AXFORD

Edward Sutherland, a downtown Pontiac photographer who lives in Romeo would not be pinned down but stated that he believes the Press is an exceptionally good paper. He said he especially likes the easy-to-read want ad section.

Downtown jeweler William Walsh said:

"I've taken the Press for 25 years and I wouldn't be without it. It speaks for the people and I can always read about someone I know, noted Walsh who lives at 930 Lakeview, Waterford.

MISS WATSON

Society and sports were Miss Jean Watson's choice for her favorite sections of the paper. Miss Watson, of 98 S. Edith St., is a department store clerk.

Neglected Their Books

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Thieves who broke into the antique gun and coin shop of John J. Morasco neglected to read up on old coins before doing so. They selected some rare coins and three antique pistols valued at $200 — but ignored other pieces worth five times that much.

Sees Color Video for Ike, Newsmen

WASHINGTON (INS) — When it becomes practicable, President Eisenhower's news conferences will be televised in color.

Presidential News Secretary James C. Hagerty, who said this last night, noted that there are still relatively few color TV sets in homes. He added that a number of technical problems remain to be overcome before Eisenhower's conferences are televised in color.

Hagerty discussed plans for eventual color TV of the President's weekly question and answer sessions with newsmen in accepting an award for his contributions to television.

The White House aide received the Sponsor magazine award for his part in arranging television coverage of all presidential news conferences. The award was made at a dinner of the National Assn. of Radio and Television Broadcasters.

Education Aid Near Decision

House Committee Also May Reach Showdown on Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON (INS)—The politically explosive issues of federal aid to education and increased minimum wages may reach a showdown this week in the House Labor Committee.

The 30-member committee is tentatively slated to complete almost three months of public hearings tomorrow on a school construction bill. Then it is scheduled to meet behind closed doors to decide upon its next step.

There were reports that attempts may be made to vote out both the education and minimum wage bills without further delay, and without holding hearings on the latter.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-WVa) predicted the committee will approve this week a measure sponsored by him and Rep. Carroll D. Kearns (R-Pa). It provides federal grants to the states for expanding school facilities on a 50-50 matching basis over a six-year period. Congress would determine how much to appropriate.

MEASURE DIFFERS

The measure differs from the Eisenhower administration program under which most funds for new school construction would come from states and local school districts.

Bailey said there were enough votes in favor of the bill to report it out, but some other members, including those favoring federal aid, were less optimistic. Some predicted the committee would take no action this year on schools.

The school-aid hearings have dragged on so long—they began March 2—that members who favor increasing the 75-cent hourly minimum wage fear it will get no place this year.

They are suggesting that the committee go ahead without any hearings. Those favoring this course would like to report out without further delay a bill sponsored by Rep. Stewart Udall (D-Ariz), to boost the minimum wage to one dollar an hour. President Eisenhower has recommended 90 cents.

Pole-Vaulting Parson's Own Story — 1

Tough Kid Tells of Turning Point in His Life

By THE REV. BOB RICHARDS
As Told to Jimmy Breslin
(First of three articles.)

LONG BEACH, Calif. (NEA) — There were a lot of ways for a 15-year-old boy to make his mark with the gang around the north end of Champaign, Ill., in 1941.

You could begin with a stroll around town in the afternoon—stopping to grab anything you could carry from a fruitstand.

When that became old stuff, you'd saunter through a department store with the rest of the boys. Somebody would come back out onto the street with an electric razor or maybe a compact.

Maybe you weren't just ready for that. So, you did it in other ways. You'd stand around the street corner at night, knocking out light bulbs, then take a walk to the park in the middle of town.

The cops always chased kids out of the park at night, especially if you made a lot of noise. You'd make a racket and take off ahead of the cops.

Then, maybe around 11 o'clock or so, you'd really show the others you rated. You'd get into a fight. Maybe you didn't even know the other fellow. You'd just walk up to him and start it. A good fist fighter was a celebrity with the north end kids.

ONE OF 5 KIDS

At home, you were one of five kids. Nobody figured you were busy at things which always lead to trouble—bad trouble. With a family separation coming up, things were too strained for anybody to notice that a 15-year-old boy was spending his free time walking the streets until 11 p.m.—or spending his school hours at Champaign Junior High ducking everything constructive.

Today, I think a lot about this part of my life. And I'm thankful that through church and athletics I was able to take a different tack before the time came for that north end gang to move up a bit, grab a car—and wind up in a police station.

I also think about it because my duties as pastor of the First Church of the Brethren in Long Beach put me in contact with youngsters on a daily basis.

I conduct meetings for the three youth groups in our church—and I'm also a visitor at the police Republic, a state corrective institution, or the Chino Federal Prison or wherever somebody asks me to go talk to a kid in trouble.

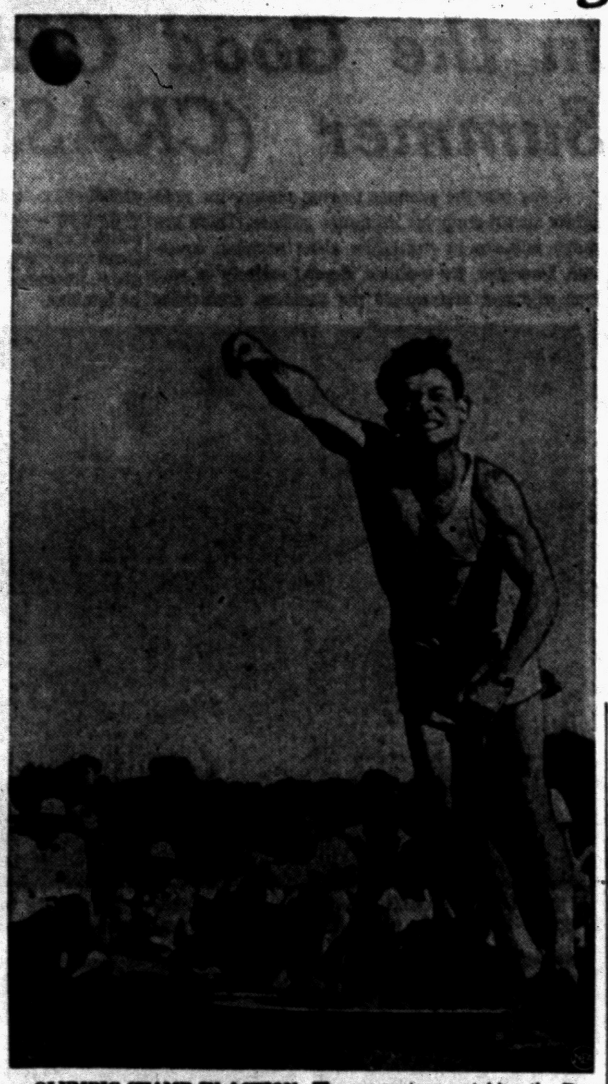

BIGGEST HEADACHE

Juvenile delinquency, with its causes, has become one of the biggest headaches the country has. You don't have to go much past your own town's daily newspaper to find out how big it is. And, it seems to me, people are using up every opinion a man can have on the subject.

I think it is a subject Bob Richards can talk about—from a first-hand knowledge. I'm not one who found out that kids can go wrong by hearing about it. And, just as important, I am not one of those, who, after getting into a mess of trouble, stands around and tells everybody to "do exactly what I didn't do."

When I was growing up in Champaign, I came up to the crossroads a tremendous number of kids face today. It was either stick with the mob and enter some real trouble or strike off for a constructive life.

In my case, there was a girl who moved next door. Her name was Barbara Sayles and I wanted to ask her for a date. She was afraid to go out with me—one of the neighborhood toughs.

OLYMPIC CHAMP IN ACTION—The youngsters watching the Rev. Bob Richards in action with shot put symbolize the youngsters he's working to help in his role as a pastor.

THE REV. RICHARDS IN THE PULPIT—Through church and athletics, he was able to take a different tack in time.

STARTED TO CHURCH

I finally got that date — and wound up in the Church of the Brethren, where the Rev. Merlin E. Garber noticed me—he knew all about the kids around Champaign—and it wasn't long before I had taken the steps which were to lead me to my present way of life.

That road took me through the University of Illinois as a student and later an instructor. It also directed my youthful energy into athletics. Because of this I am the American decathlon champion and won the 1953 Olympic pole vault event at Helsinki.

But I haven't forgotten what could have been. And what disturbs me particularly is that I know the nation has thousands of kids who are winding up in police stations instead of churches or the finishing line at a track meet.

I think I know why they get there — and some things which should be done to prevent that sort of tragedy.

Next: Delinquency doesn't start on street corners.

Humor Lights Idaho Desert

Catchy Signs Soften Harshness of Barren Roadside View

BOISE, Idaho (INS)—Idaho refuses to take the state's wide stretches of desert seriously.

It all started years ago when a gas station operator, who incurred the wrath of fellow fuel vendors by cutting the established retail prices, was dubbed "the stinker."

The gas merchant adopted the title, added a picture of a wide-eyed skunk with a huge bushy tail and plastered his "stinker" gas station signs all over the desert. Wisecracks about the desert followed.

Today the wisecracks, mounted on neat signs, minus the gas vendor's name or insignia, keep tourists chucklings as they roll along.

East of Boise a sign declares: "Entering nudist area—keep eyes on the road. Cowboys remove spurs."

COMMERCIALS NEXT

Then come a pair of commercials:

"Get your lumps at the Dirty Shame Bar—Blackjack, Idaho."

And—

"Tourists Beetle Motel — Bedsprings, Idaho."

In the midst of one of the widest expanses of sagebrush comes the warning:

"No fishing within 300 yards of highway."

Another cautions:

"Unlawful to spear or snag salmon in this area."

By this time you are near Mountain Home where stands another gagboard, "Warning — Nampa is full of taxpayers."

After rolling through Mountain Home and out on the prairie again, the motorist drives near a spot where ancient glaciers deposited thousands of round and oval stones of good dimension.

As a parting gesture of Idaho desert generosity, if not humor, a generous signboard identifies these stones as:

"Petrified Watermelons. Take one home to your mother-in-law."

COLLECTING STAMPS—1

A Hobby for Kids and Kings

Collecting stamps can be lots of fun. Youngsters and grownups in nearly every country in the world enjoy this hobby.

With it, there is always something to do. You can sort, mount, trade or just talk about stamps with your friends. You also can join or form a stamp club. Stamp collecting will help you learn history, geography, flowers and wildlife.

It's easy to start. All you need are some stamps, a book or album in which to keep them and some hinges to attach the stamps to the pages. The cost need not be high. An inexpensive packet of stamps, an all-world album and the hinges can be purchased for a couple of dollars.

One of the most important things to remember is to keep the stamps clean. Handle them carefully. Pick up the stamps with tweezers. Never mount the stamps in your album without hinges.

This is the first of a week-long series of pictures on stamps for you to color. You can paste them in a blank book to save, if you wish, along with all the stamps you find.

Do-It-Yourself Job Found More Costly

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Take it from Mrs. Irene Youngker. Making home-made perfume is no aroma from a bed of roses.

Mrs. Youngker, a do-it-yourself fan, put rose petals in a cardboard box and placed it over a floor heater to dry yesterday.

The result: A fire which destroyed a chair, part of a rug and the living room wall and floor.

Mr. Youngker now has his own do-it-yourself job. But he's not worried. He is a floor finished by trade.

Pals Churn Up Joke

SCHUYLER, Neb. (UP)—Fellow Rotarians here thought it was a big joke when they presented an old hand-operated churn to R. T. Fosnot. The smiles faded when an antique dealer later bought the churn for $50.

3 Class of '12 Grads Reunited by Chance

Just Same Old Story

BOSTON (UP) — Boston Police found out what most married men already knew — women rule the roost. Police discovered in taking the census that in this city women outnumber men by nearly 12 per cent. There were 272,331 women over 20 and 239,093 men.

Police Say 8 Murders Malicious Mischief

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Police were asked to solve the killing of eight parakeets.

One had its throat cut. Seven were stabbed through the breasts.

Mrs. James Carlton, wife of a Navy chief petty officer, said the killings of the caged birds in her garage was "plain, fiendish murder." Police classed it as malicious mischief. They are without clues.

The Rainmaker Opens Today in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR—A talented array of theater and television personalities, most of whom will be re-creating their original roles, will appear in the University Drama Season's production of the Broadway comedy hit from the current New York season, "The Rainmaker."

Opening today, performances will be given every evening through Saturday at 8:30, with matinees Thursday and Saturday afternoons at 2:30, in the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater.

Set in the West, the play deals with the attempt of a plain, but intelligent girl to win herself a husband. After a series of hilarious complications she finds herself faced with two prospects: one a quiet and reserved sheriff's deputy and the other an adventurous and handsome confidence man.

Lets 'Em in the Act

LANSING (AP)—Republican Frank Andrews has given up his 4-year monopoly on the role of the man who adjourns the Michigan State Senate. At a Republican caucus several senators said the only way they could think of to get their names in the Senate Journal was to move to adjourn.

Andrews agreed to let them in on the act occasionally.

May Start Soo Bridge Sometime This Year

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Work on a multimillion dollar international bridge spanning the St. Mary River at Sault Ste. Marie may get under way before the end of this year, a member of the International Bridge Authority says.

Carl Modine, authority member, says much of the preliminary work already has been completed. And although the possibility of a tunnel linking the Soo with its Ontario sister city is not entirely ruled out, he said, a bridge seems more feasible.

Modine estimates the bridge could cost anywhere from 13 to 23 million dollars.

Actress Improving After Hospital Care

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Pier Angeli, an expectant mother, probably will be hospitalized another two days.

A physician said the wife of singer Vic Damone was admitted Saturday because of premature labor pains. The doctor said the pains have quited and chances "look very good" for successful birth of the baby she expects in three months.

Continue Search for 2 Drowned Near Holland

HOLLAND (AP)—The Ottawa County Sheriff's Department is continuing a search for the bodies of two young men presumed drowned in Lake Michigan near Grand Haven two weeks ago.

William Schuitema, 19, of Grand Haven, and Daniel Gould, 20, of Ferrysburg, set out from Muskegon in Schuitema's 12-foot outboard motor boat the night of May 7, headed for Grand Haven. They have not been seen since. The boat was found floating upside down the following day.

Hollywood Headlines

Cooper Willing to Safari in Africa for Hawk's Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—I'd heard there'll be another safari in Gary Cooper's life when he makes "Africa" for Jack Warner, with Howard Hawks producing and directing. So I telephoned Gary and caught him just after he left St. John's Hospital where his brother, Arthur, had undergone surgery.

"I'll go to Africa or anywhere else for Howard Hawks," said Coop. "Of course, it will have to be after I finish 'The Billy Mitchell Court Martial,' which starts next month, and 'Friendly Persuasion' for Willie Wyler in October.

"I'm committed to those two pictures first. Remember, Hawks directed me in 'Sergeant York?' "

LANA GETS 'RAINS'

Not in a long time has Lana Turner wanted a picture as much as she's wanted "The Rains Came"—now she gets it! MGM has loaned Lana to 20th for this remake of Louis Bromfield's novel and she gets Richard Burton as her co-star.

When 20th first made this in 1939 many readers of the book were disappointed. Although it starred Myrna Loy and Tyrone Power it just didn't come off.

The title is now changed to "The Rains of Ranchipur" and you can bet that won't be the only change made in the 1955 version. For one thing, it probably will be shot in India, the authentic locale.

LOVERS BUY STORY

Love is wonderful! Scott Brady and New York's darling, Gwen Verdon, are so much in love they have bought a story, "No Trouble With Women," which they'll make as a movie, after Gwin finishes her Broadway hit, "Damn Yankees," of course.

I guess I should say that Scott bought the Wayne Corey story because he planked down the cash and took it back for Gwen to read on his last trip to New York. He tells me, "It's a light romantic comedy which gives me a sort of Cary Grant role and gives Gwen the opportunity to sing and dance. I know she'll capture movie fans, just as she has New York theater goers."'

Gwen told Scott she'll make this with him before she does "Gentlemen Chase Redheads" for Mary Anita and Richard Sales.

ORPHANS GET HELP

Not long ago when I spent an afternoon with Jane Russell she told me all about the Waifs (Women's Adoption International Fund) of which she is president. We discussed her efforts to place homeless children in good homes of childless couples.

* * *

Now a Hollywood group of young matrons has come to Jane's aid. June Allyson, Rhonda Fleming, Jeanne Crain, Marilyn Knight Eaton, Mrs. Aaron Rosenberg, Marie Windsor, Mrs. David Brian, Greta Peck and Mrs. Norman Greer, with Mrs. Ed Hinton as organizer, will hostess social functions to raise money to find homes for 4,000 war orphans this year. The cost to clothe, feed and transport each child to the USA is $500.

Seville Archbishop Given Last Rites

SEVILLE (INS)— —Last rites have been administered to Pedro Cardinal Segura, who has been engaged in a runnig controversy with church and government officials.

Nevada Police Official, Wife Shot Dead in Bed

RENO, Nev. (AP) — William McKenzie, second in command of the Nevada highway patrol, was shot to death yesterday by his wife, who then took her own life, Coroner William Beemer reported.

McKenzie, 43, had been with the highway patrol and the State Public Service Commission for 17 years. His wife was 42. Beever said relatives could give no reason for the shooting.

Rain Threatens Alabama Town

New Downpour Looms as Geneva Mops Up After Flood Yesterday

GENEVA, Ala. (AP)—The threat of more rain hung over this south Alabama community today as townspeople began mopping up flood damage brought by a 12½-inch downpour yesterday.

Many streets were still under water early today. City officials warned that Geneva's dike and drainage system might overflow seriously if the rains begin again.

The swollen rivers and streams which surround Geneva were expected to crest at between 20 and 22 feet today, at least a foot below flood stage.

Geneva, a town of 3,500 persons, is located at a fork formed by the Choctawhatchee and the Pea rivers and Double Bridges Creek. The town is protected from high water by a dike.

National Guard troops pitched in with the cleanup work today. Despite hastily constructed sandbag barricades, Mayor Wilbur Pridgen estimated 50 per cent of Geneva's business offices and many homes suffered heavy damage when the flood lapped over floor levels.

Twelve families, forced to evacuate their homes, were housed in the community building.

Military 'Waste' on Senate Agenda

Washington (AP) — Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) says the Senate Investigations subcommittee plans to study reports of "terrific waste" in the armed forces after it completes an inquiry into alleged graft in military spending.

McClellan said yesterday he hopes the present investigation—which he said has revealed "a nest of small grafts"—will be completed by the end of the week. Public hearings will be resumed tomorrow.

As for the planned new inquiry, McClellan said it would not necessarily involve any charges of graft. But he declined to give details.

Bats Once, Game Over

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — In a school play scene, Larry Jones, 13, was to deal Will Perry, also 13, a "soft" blow over the head with a baseball bat. Larry swung. The bat hit Will between the eyes and sent him to the hospital with a cut that required four stitches. It also brought the play to a sudden end.

Chiefs Crush Statewide Opposition, Win MHSAA Track Title

NO. 1 CHIEF IN ACTION — A championship in the making was caught by the Pontiac Press camera, Saturday as Hayes Jones (above) sailed over the high hurdles for a new MHSAA record. Hayes was just clearing the last hurdle and went on to the finish in 14.5 seconds. His time erased a mark set in 1941 by brilliant Horace Smith of Jackson. Jones also won the broad jump, at 22 feet 5 inches. Jones has been the top scorer all season, averaging 15 points each meet.

Total of 51 13-14 Points Brings Pontiac School 1st Championship in This Sport

Saturday's Biggest Victory, at East Lansing, Leaves PHS Squad Unbeaten in 9 Engagements This Season; Chiefs' Ace Hayes Jones Collects 2 Championship 18-Plus Points; Little Alex Barge Steals Show With 6 Feet 3.5 Inch High Jump

By H. GUY MOATS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor

EAST LANSING — Pontiac High School's unbeaten track team Saturday afternoon capped its most successful season in the school's modern history with an overwhelming victory in the MHSAA 1955 state championships. Chiefs operated much in the same pattern that has shaped their season-long action—collecting points all down the line of events, for a smashing 51 13/14 total. But for an unexpected mishap in the half mile relay, the count would have been bigger.

Chiefs' reputation had preceded them. Every event brought the comment, "now what's the Pontiac team going to do?" Usually it was a real try for leading places, and if a PHS athlete wasn't in front he might be close up.

Before the meet had gone two-thirds of the way, Pontiac was generally conceded the victory. With five of 13 events still to be run, Pontiac had amassed a 31-13 edge over the nearest competitor. Detroit Catholic Central later gave way to Flint Northern, which had given PHS its most determined opposition in four meets this season. But Vikings could add only four points to that early total for 17, as runnerup.

Of the three new Class A records hung up, Pontiac's brilliant little hurdler and jumper, Hayes Jones, set one and tied another, while 2 other Chiefs barely failed in tries to break the high jump mark.

Dearborn Fordson's medley relay team edged Pontiac in a terrific finish drive that brought a new mark of 2:28.1. But Lansing Sexton's time in the 1st section of the event was also under the record of 2:29.7, and Chiefs had to be content with 3rd place. It was the 1st time the speedy PHS quartet had been headed this year. Fordson's No. 3 runner, 440-man Bill Campbell, later set a 49.7 quarter mile mark.

Chiefs didn't waste any time going after points. Jones sped to a 14.6 mark in the high hurdles preliminary, day's opening event. Mark was not allowed because of a light wind. That didn't stop Hayes, for in the final, he hung up a 14.5 mark. He cut a tenth of a second off Horace Smith's 1941 record. Smith witnessed the new mark. Smith is a Flint junior high coach.

Bill Douglas shaved nearly three seconds off his previous best time to grab the 1st half mile race in a brilliant 2:00.6. He laid back in the pack until the last 70 yards then put on a burst of speed that took him out and around the field to win going away. Muskegon's entry was a tiring 2nd while Norris Jackson missed 3rd by inches in a great finish sprint.

While the high jump and pole vault were going on, Chiefs hit their season's 1st relay losses. They turned 2:30 in the medley, but were run out to a 3rd by Fordson and Sexton, both of whom were under that time. On the 2nd baton exchange in the 880 relay another runner collided with Charley Robinson and the Chief dropped his baton. The exchange had been made, with Jim Shorter well up front. Recovery of the baton left the PHS anchor man far behind.

The state title had already been won when 5 foot 5 inch tall Alex Barge and 6 foot 2 inch Hudson Ray chased away all competition around the 6 foot mark, then went on to tie for 1st 6 feet 3½ inches in the high jump. Both failed to break the old record of 6-4 set in 1950 by Milt Mead, former Bay City ace, now one of U. of M.'s top jumpers.

Barge really stole the show. One of the peppiest squadmen, always "hepping up his teammates, Alex apparently used his system on himself. He made every jump a real try, missed few attempts and presented probably the best approach of any competitor.

As he kept on clearing the bar with ease long after it had topped his own height, the bleacherites caught on. Each successful jump beyond the 6 foot mark brought a salvo of cheers from the stands. When Alex and Ray finally ended their tries, they "flipped" for the gold medal. Axex won, and turning to the writer, said, "I finally got my 1st place, I've been behind all along, but this is fine."

Two of MSC's leading jumpers spent a half hour with Alex, after the event was over, complimenting him on his fine approach and lift. They offered some pointers that should help Alex to better his jumping.

Schloerke and the three PHS coaches, Ray Lowery, Dean Wilson and Ed Graybiel were all delighted with the grand performance of the 19 boys who made up the qualifying squad from the Ypsilanti regional.

One more meet remains on the PHS schedule, the Saginaw Valley Undergrad event Tuesday afternoon at Flint. All but five of the 32-man squad will take part, with Chiefs the big favorite.

Hardtops Rained Out

Sunday's hardtop racing program at Pontiac Speedway was rained out just after completion of the day's qualifying runs, which were paced by Mickey Katlin. First of the track's championship races will be held next Sunday with the running of the 50-lap Memorial Day Classic. All races will be lengthened and a fine field of drivers is expected.

Vikings' Pounds Winner of State Class B 880 Title

For Oakland County area track fans, Pontiac High School's Class A state championship performance was the big news to come out of Saturday's state meets, but fine jobs were turned in by several other county athletes.

Don Pounds, captain of the Walled Lake team won the Class B 880 at Ann Arbor in 2 minutes, 3.9 seconds. His clocking surpassed the 2:05.1 registered in the 2nd heat of the same event.

Ernie Malzahn of Utica won the "B" high hurdles in 15.4 seconds and Farmington picked up 3 points as Dick Grimshaw was 2nd in the state record heat of the 440. The winning time was 50.5 seconds. Grimshaw turned in 51.1. Dennis Mahaney of Farmington tied for 5th in the pole vault, as did Clarkston's Bob Yahnke.

In Class C, Jim Chemenko of Capac won the mile in 4 minutes, 36.9 seconds, and his Southern Thumb rival, Roger Little of Almont was 2nd. Bloomfield Hills gained 3 points as Floyd Eslinger was 4th in the high hurdles, and South Lyon's Jim Hock wound up 3rd in his heat of the Class C. 880.

Inkster won the Class B title with 27½ points to 25 for Grand Rapids Central and 22 for St. Louis. Reed City's 17¼ points was enough to win in Class C. with Cassopolis 2nd on 17 points and Grand Rapids Lee, 3rd with 13. Brethren repeated in Class D with 46½ points to 33 for runnerup Spring Arbor.

The West Virginia University basketball team traveled 9,620 miles last winter. The Mountaineers traveled 4,500 by automobile and 5,120 by air.

HALF MILE KING — Slim, determined Bill Douglas Saturday came close to the dream of every high school middle distance runner —a half mile under 2 minutes. Above Bill is hitting the tape at Ralph Young Field, MSC, East Lansing, in 2:00.6. He won the 1st section of the two 880 races in the state track meet. It was his best time.

Baltimore Hurling 'Soft'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here's a free tip to American League managers. Junk that strategy that calls for putting Mickey Mantle on base to get at Yogi Berra. Although Yogi is batting only .286, his home run spurt has lifted the New York Yankees into the American League lead on a seven-game winning spurt.

Berra hit five home runs in four games against Baltimore over the weekend and four times Mantle was sitting on first base when he connected.

When Baltimore came to town, Berra was hitting only .252. He picked up 34 points, 5 homers and 11 runs batted in, thanks to that "soft touch" Baltimore pitching.

In yesterday's double-header he hit three homers and drove in six runs while the Yanks clouted Baltimore 5-0 and 7-5. This boosted their lead over Cleveland to one full game, despite Early Wynn's one-hitter against Detroit for a 4-0 Tribe victory.

Third-place Chicago split a pair with Kansas City, dropping the opener to Alex Kellner 7-2 but bouncing back with 15 hits and a 10-6 edge in the second game. The Boston-at-Washington game was rained out.

Although Brooklyn clipped Philadelphia again 8-3, the Dodgers lost half a game of their National League lead that now measures six games ahead of the Giants. Roy Campanella's 10th homer with a man on and Carl Erskine's two-run double were the big blows of a five-run spurt by the Dodgers in the sixth inning.

Luis Arroyo, little St. Louis pitcher, held Cincinnati to five hits as the Cardinals won the second game of a double-header 5-2 and in the process snapped the Redlegs' winning streak at six games. The Redlegs had to rally in the ninth to win the opener 4-3.

Javelin, 440-Yard Relay, 880 Marks Fall in Cal Meet

The six men combined forces Saturday night to make the 14th annual California Relays the outstanding meet of 1955, with three world record performances on the baked clay Modesto track.

Writing the new records were Franklin (Bud) Held with a whistling toss of 268 feet, 2½ inches in the javelin, the University of Texas' 440-yard relay team with a sizzling 40.2 seconds clocking, and miler Wes Santee, who ripped off an 880 in 1 minute, 48.5 seconds.

Santee, the ex-Kansas cowboy, is unlikely to get recognition in the record book although he bettered Mal Whitfield's recognied 1:48.6. The man he beat by 20 yards, Lon Spurrier of Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., has a recent 1:47.5 dual meet clocking which is virtually a cinch to stand.

The brilliant Longhorn sprint team of Dean Smith, Alvin Freiden, Jerry Prewit and Bobby Whilden announced before taking the track that it was making a final bid for the 40.5 seconds record set by the University of Southern California in 1938. Sophomore Whilden's anchor leg, on which he ran the University of Houston's Larry McBride into the ground, did the business.

Held, one-time Stanford star now competing for the San Francisco Olympic Club and already the world javelin king on his throw of 263 feet, 10 inches in 1953, was disgruntled when he took the field. He had tossed the spear only 188 feet in the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays the night before.

Texas, by virtue of its record-cracking 440-yard squad and winning quartets in the 880-yard and 2-mile relays, won team honors with 34 points. Southern California was second with 32½.

PHS Tankers on National Squad List

Medley Relay Team is 1st to Be Honored in Five Years

Pontiac High School's medley relay swimming team has been named to the 1955 All-America schoolboys swimming squad, PHS swim coach Robert Boyce has announced.

Chiefs' trio of Tom Cross, Bob Keavy, and Bob Lamson received the honor after a medley relay effort of 1:22.6 seconds. Cross missed the All-America 100-yard back stroke team by a slim 2-10 of a second, coach Boyce reports.

Boyce says this is the 1st swimming honor accorded the Chiefs 1950 when Ron Weaver made the All-America team in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Weather Stops Tennis Final Until Late July

Carolyn Wikoff, of Middletown, O., and Hamtramck's Joyce Pniewski, seeded 1st and 2nd respectively, will decide the Michigan Open girls tennis tournament title at Middletown sometime in late July. Sunday afternoon's scheduled final at Kingswood School was postponed because of rain.

SUNDAY'S HOME RUNS

Veterans Up Front as 500 Field Fills Out

10 Drivers Qualify at 140 MPH, or Better at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The 39th 500-mile auto race May 30 will be a 33-car contest for about a quarter-mile.

Time trials which ended yesterday put the seasoned, hard-charging drivers up front — such contenders as 1953-54 winner Bill Vukovich, Jack McGrath, Tony Bettenhausen, Fred Agabashian and Sam Hanks.

At the back end of the lineup will be seven drivers who qualified at slower speeds than the tail end car in last year's field.

McGrath set a 10-mile record of 142.580 miles an hour. Ten men in the front half of the lineup did over 140, a speed unheard of on the 2½ - mile track before last year. But the rear end of the field was so much slower that the field's qualification average is about the same as last year — 138.796 as against last year's 138.632.

Eight drivers will start for the first time, two more than last year.

Seventeen drivers made qualifying runs yesterday for the 13 starting positions left open by previous trials. Ed Elisian of Oakland, Calif., made the lineup after the track once was officially closed until race day.

He won an argument as to whether he had used up the limit of three warmup laps before starting a trial run. Officials flagged him off the track but let him come back for a twilight dash after most of the crowd of about 35,000 had gone home.

GMC, Jets Slated in Class A Opener

Weather permitting, the Class A City League baseball season gets underway at 5:30 p.m. today on the Wisner diamond with General Motors facing the defending champion Anderson Jets.

Games are slated at Wisner Monday through Thursday this week as action starts in the 6-team loop. Besides the 2 opening day participants, league entries include Don Nicholie Real Estate, Elks 723, CIO 594 and Auburn Merchants.

Podoley Paces Chips to Title

Decathlon Star Takes 27 Points as Central Edges Normal

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — Michigan Normal's five-year reign over the IIAC track and field competition was snapped over the weekend despite two record performances. Jim Podoley led Central Michigan to the team title by less than a single point.

Central Michigan wound up with 59 11/15 points to runnerup Michigan Normal's 59 3/15. The only other serious challenger among the five Illinois members of the conference was Eastern Illinios which took third with 45 points.

Podoley, Olympic decathlon candidate, accounted for 27 of his team's total points. He finished first in the 100, 220, low hurdles and the broad jump; took a second in the high hurdles and tied for second in the high jump.

Michigan Normal set records in the mile relay and the two-mile run.

Here's How Teams Finished

Here are the team point totals of the Class A high school track meet today: PONTIAC 51 13/14, Flint Northern 17, Saginaw 16 13/14, Kalamazoo 15, Detroit Catholic Central 13, Bay City Central 12½, Alpena 12, Ypsilanti 12, Benton Harbor 11 3/7, Dearborn Fordson 11, Lincoln Park 9½, Traverse City 7 3/7, Battle Creek 7 3/7, Flint Central 7, Monroe 7, Grand Rapids South 6 3/7, Holland 6, Muskegon Heights 5, Mount Clemens 5, Lansing Sexton 5, Grosse Pointe 5, Detroit St. Joseph 5, HAZEL PARK 4, BIRMINGHAM 3, Niles 3, Wyandotte 2½, Jackson 2½, Ann Arbor 2½, Port Huron 2, ROYAL OAK 2.

Winners in other classes were:
CLASS B—Inkster 27½.
CLASS C—Reed City 17¼, Cassopolis 17.
CLASS D—Brethren, 46½.

Williams 'Up' Tonight

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, weary and stiff from lengthy conditioning drills, returns to the Boston Red Sox lineup against the New York Giants tonight in an exhibition game for the benefit of hospitalized war veterans.

The 36-year-old slugger plans to don his familiar No. 9, participate in a home run hitting contest and then take his old post in front of Fenway Park's chummy left field fence.

The game will mark Williams' first competitive appearance since the end of last season when he reaffirmed his decision to retire from baseball with the statement: "I've had enough. This is the end of it."

The unpredictable star's "retirement" lasted only about 7½ months. On May 11, he changed his mind and two days later he flew into Boston, signed a 1955 contract for a reported $75,000 and began getting into playing shape.

Williams figures he needs a little more time to condition himself and plans to use tonight's exhibition as a measure to determine how well his training program is going. He has been bothered by the usual aches and pains, but is concerned chiefly with a hand blister which hampers his bat grip.

The best estimate for Williams' official return to competition is next weekend when the Red Sox meet the Washington Senators at Fenway Park.

Williams' name still is on the American League's restricted list, but it can be removed whenever Ted gives the word he's ready. And, he says, he won't return until he thinks he can play regularly.

"I don't want to sit in a dugout and watch other fellows," Williams said. "When I'm ready I want to play as much as possible. I want to get into the regular lineup as soon as I can. And then I want to stay in there."

In effect, Williams' return will mark his fifth "comeback" to baseball. His previous ones came after (1) service as a Marine Corps pilot in World War II; (2) a fractured elbow suffered in the 1950 All-Star Game; (3) service as a Marine pilot in Korea, and (4) a broken collarbone suffered the opening day of spring training last year.

Prep Golfers Tee Off in Threat of Rain

Despite the threatening weather, golfers from 15 area high schools began teeing off at 10 a.m. this morning in the 4th annual Pontiac Press Invitational Prep Golf tournament at the Pontiac Municipal course.

Defending champion Birmingham was the meet favorite, but was expected to receive strong bids from Inter-Lakes champion Southfield, Royal Oak, Pontiac and Waterford. Team and individual awards will be presented the winners.

Tigers Stifled, 4-0, on Wynn's One-Hitter

But if he lets fly with a furious fit one of these days, don't be at all surprised. He's got it coming.

The crafty 29-year-old pitcher of the Detroit Tigers has won three games this season. Good. But he's also lost six. Bad. In those six games, his teammates have backed him up with a resounding total of six runs—or one a game.

Both the Tigers (and Garver) hit bottom yesterday in dropping a 4-0 decision to the struggling Cleveland Indians, who were most happy to escape from Detroit with one win in the three-game series.

The Tigers not only failed to score a run for Garver, but they made only one hit against the fast-slow-fast-slow pitching of Early Wynn.

After Hatfield's hit, Wynn got Bob Wilson to slap into an inning-ending double play. Then the 35-year-old righthander retired the side in 1-2-3 order through the final five innings—in all 16 batters in a row.

Despite losing the final game of the series, and suffering through the ignominy of getting only one hit, the Tigers played sharp, heads-up ball against the Indians to more than prove their early season rush was no fluke.

Indeed, the Indians undoubtedly will attest that this young Tiger club is one that will cause considerable trouble before the sun sets on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 25, 1955, the final day of the season.

The Indians scored twice—which was more than enough to win—in the second inning on a walk, singles by Bob Avila and Dave Pope, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly by Larry Doby.

Pope's double in the seventh produced the Indians' third run, and the fourth crossed in the ninth when Doby hit into a force out with the bases loaded.

The Tigers visit Kansas City this week for a three-game set, then return to Briggs Stadium against Chicago Friday night for the opener of a long home stand.

CH. Triways Trademark Best in Breed in '55 OCKC Show, Sunday

Triways had previously won the sporting dog group honors, and was picked over winners of five other groups in the record entry of more than 850 animals, representing 68 breeds.

One Oakland County dog was among the group winners. A miniature Schnauzer, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patterson of Walled Lake (Int. Ch. Multi-Lake Mr. Chips) won the terrier group. Rippendale's Blue Bonnet, a Great Dane, owned by R. G. Rauss of Birmingham went 3rd in the working group, and Howard M. Sanford's bulldog, Ho-Jae's Pugnacious Chito was 2nd in the non-sporting class. Mangus Neraasen's (Ortonville) beagle, Ch. Lakeside Craig was 3rd in working group.

Group winners:

Non-sporting—Standard poodle, Ch. Puttencove Soubrette (Miss Katherine Drake, Chicago).
Obedience—Golden retriever, Duckerbird Atomic II (Mary Franks, Detroit), 199 out of 200 points.
Hero dog award featured the evening events, with club prexy George Carey presenting a trophy four times the size of the tiny Chihuahua Jeannie to Mrs. Rawley Bailey of Royal Oak Township, her owner.

Ex-Cornell Track Coach Dies at 91

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — John F. (Jack) Moakley, retired Cornell University track coach and once head of the U.S. Olympic track team, died at his home Saturday night. He was 91.

Moakley, known as the "miracle man" in his 50 years as head coach at Cornell, was a runner and hurdler in his youth.

He coached the victorious U.S. Olympic team in 1920. His Cornell teams won 29 IC4A championships—10 outdoor track and field, 2 indoor and 17 cross-country.

Moakley was born in Boston Dec. 11, 1863. He attended Boston Latin School and the Harvard School of Physical Education. He later worked as a sports writer for the Boston Post and the Boston Journal.

Take Spot in NCAA

Buckeyes Trip Michigan Twice, Win Big 10 Title

CHICAGO —Ohio State grabbed the Big Ten baseball title Saturday by taking a doubleheader from Michigan and will represent the Western Conference in the NCAA month.

The Bucks dumped Michigan twice Saturday, 13-4 and 5-1, to leave little question about the title. Had Ohio State split with Michigan the conference would have ended in a three-way tie.

Minnesota, an odds-on favorite to win the crown last weekend, split a doubleheader with Northwestern. The Grophers won the opener 10-3, but dropped the nightcap 4-3, as Northwestern scored an unearned run in the ninth inning after two were out.

Michigan State, the 1954 champion, took two from Indiana, 7-3, and 7-2, to finish in a second place tie with Minnesota. In other games, Wisconsin beat Iowa twice, 4-1 and 3-2, and Illinois split with Purdue, winning the opener 5-3 and dropping the nightcap 3-2.

The Buckeyes assured themselves of victory in the first game with a seven run outburst in the second inning and took a 2-1 lead in the first inning of the second game to roll to victory.

Minnesota, having lost to Iowa Friday, grabbed the opener from Northwestern on the strength of 15 hits but could get no more than 6 in the nightcap in which the Gophers committed 3 errors.

Michigan State had no trouble dumping Indiana into the cellar with a double defeat. Spartan hurler Ed Hobaugh gave up six hits in the opener and Dick Idzkowski followed with a five-hitter.

Wisconsin, a pre-season contender, combined timely hitting and steady pitching for a twin victory over Iowa which put the Hawks into the cellar with Indiana.

Dick Mayer's Final 67 Wins

Floridian Claims 1st Place Prize of $4,000 in 6-Stroke Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dick Mayer, who was beginning to wonder whether he'd ever win another golf tournament, had his confidence back today plus a $4,000 check for a six-stroke victory in the Kansas City Open.

He breezed through the final round of the $20,000 meet yesterday for a five-under-par 67, giving him a 72-hole total of 271.

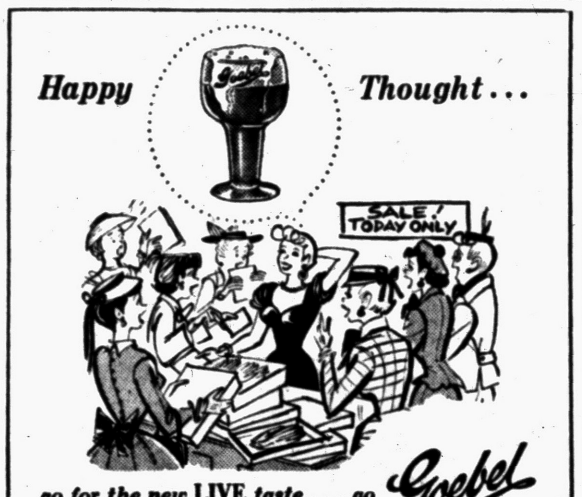

Six strokes behind with 277's were young Billy Maxwell, the former national amateur champion from Odessa, Tex., and Chandler Harper, the veteran pro from Chattanooga, Tenn. The 25-year-old Maxwell closed out with a 71 and Harper shot a final 72 over the 6,665-yard Hillcrest Country Club Course.

It was Mayer's first major victory this year. He previously had won only $3,142 for 45 rounds of tournament play and ranked 28th among the pros in earnings.

Libyan King Plans to Marry Egyptian

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Libyan circles in Cairo say their King, 66-year-old Idriss I, will arrive in Egypt tomorrow to marry Alia Abdel Moneim Lamloun, 38-year-old daughter of a rich Egyptian landowner.

Miss Moneim Lamloun, whose family is of Libyan origin, will be the second of the four wives his Moslem religion allows the King. His first wife of many years, fortyish Queen Fatima, has given him no sons. Under Moslem law only a male can succeed to the throne.

* * *

Libyan sources said the King has never seen his bride-to-be but made arrangements for the marriage during a recent visit to Egypt.

Grains Ring Up Small Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Small losses were rung up in most grains on the Board of Trade today. Dealings were of a routine nature.

Main factor behind the downturn was ample moisture over much of the grain growing sections of the country, all the way from the Dakotas down to Texas. In many sections this rain was welcome, but some areas already have had too much.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¾¢ lower to ⅛ higher, July $2.01¼; corn ⅝ to ⅞ lower, July $1.47; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, July 70; rye 1½ to 1¾ higher, July $1.07; soybeans unchanged to 1¼ lower, July $2.46 and lard 5 to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $12.40.

PAC Termed Whipping Boy in GOP Defeat

DETROIT (AP)—Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO United Auto Workers, says the state Republican party is using the union's Political Action Committee as a "whipping boy" in an attempt to explain recent election defeats.

Mazey, who appeared along with Roy Reuther, director of the union's citizenship activity committee, on a union-sponsored television program last night, said the GOP was defeated in 1954 because it "supports big business over the interests of the people."

Mazey accused state Republican Chairman John Feikens of attacking the PAC because he "needs to explain why the GOP lost while he was state chairman."

Feikens has accused the PAC of using the dues of rank-and-file union members for support of the Democratic party in violation of federal law.

The union has denied the accusation.

Reuther asked Feikens to join the UAW in supporting a proposal that would limit to $5 the contribution any individual could make to a candidate or party.

Stocks Continue Climb Upward

Some prices were up around a point, but most changes in either direction were quite small.

Almost all major divisions were higher. Chemicals, which led the market up on Friday, were mixed today along a narrow range.

Mack Truck opened on 5,000 shares up ⅝ at 27½. Gimbel Bros. started on 3,000 shares up ¼ at 25⅞.

Last week the stock market turned ahead, breaking a downward pattern that lasted nearly four weeks. On the final day, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.10 at $163.50.

Area Persons Win in Ceramics Show

Other first places were taken by Mrs. Phyllis Melzian, 2695 Warner Dr., Green Lake, in wheel work; Mrs. Freda Alfs, 2775 W. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Twp., in sculptoring; and 12-year-old Nancy McClurg, 6740 Commerce Rd., Green Lake, in children's group.

Women Needed for Red Cross Overseas Work

Qualified young women are needed today for placement as recreation workers in the American Red Cross Overseas Club Program.

Eighty women, between 23 and 30 years of age are wanted to provide leisure-time programs for U.S. troops presently serving in remote areas in Korea, Europe and North Africa.

Most of these women will replace recreation workers now returning from Korea, where they drive clubmobiles to isolated areas where they encourage and plan soldier participation in recreational activities.

To be eligible, applicants must have college training with a special aptitude for group recreation, music, dramatics and art. Physical fitness is also essential. Applicants must be willing to accept assignment wherever needed in the world.

Red Cross Overseas Club program is a part of the organization's traditional responsibility of service to the armed forces and supplements the Army Special Services Program.

Better Hearing Program Benefited Pontiac Area

Pontiac was one of six Michigan cities to benefit by one of the services of the Michigan Association for Better Hearing, as reported at the regular quarterly board of directors meeting of the association held Saturday in Jackson.

Reference was made to the Better Hearing class which was held late in the winter, co-sponsored by the adult education department of the Pontiac public schools.

The board reviewed tentative plans for the 1955 annual conference which will be held at the Detroit-Leland Hotel and the Detroit Hearing Center on Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

The Michigan Association for Better Hearing is an agency of the Michigan and Pontiac United Funds.

Very Concise Address

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Lou Witt of the Gulf Coast Photographers Assn. was pretty weary of speeches when it came his turn. After the announcement, "We will now have Mr. Witt's address," he responded: "5418 Timber Creek Dr." and sat down.

Station Wreck Injures Score

Passenger Train Hits Parlor Car Section in Washington Depot

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train crashed into the rear of a waiting parlor-car section at Union Station yesterday, derailing three cars and injuring more than 20 persons, none seriously.

An official of the Washington Terminal Co., which runs Union Station, said about 23 persons were injured—12 passengers, 10 B&O employes on the train and one track worker for the Terminal Co.

The track worker, Charles Green, was the only person hospitalized. He suffered a possible leg fracture while working at the rear of the parlor-car section when the train slammed that section into him.

Eleven other injured were treated at the hospital and discharged.

DETROIT BOUND

The accident occurred as B&O train No. 25, a combined Detroit and Chicago sleeper, was being made up.

The crash occurred when the main section of the train, coming from Baltimore and consisting of 10 cars, was pushed by a yard engine into the five-car Pullman section waiting at the station.

The reinforced block kept the cars from crashing through into the station. In the 1953 wreck the locomotive plowed halfway through the outer station and missed plunging into the crowded waiting room only when it fell through the floor. Fifty persons were injured in that wreck.

Business Notes

Paul Victor Dorman, of Drayton Plains, local representative of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia for the past three years, has been named associate manager of his company's Dayton, Ohio, district office.

Dorman is a member of VFW and of the Masonic Order. He was in active service for three years in the Pacific Theater during World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorman and their 3-year-old daughter will leave this week for Dayton, where they will make ttheir future home.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Stuart E. Whitfield of Whitfield, Walter & Dawson, Pontiac, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the United States Wholesale Grocers' Association at its annual convention here.

'Bonanzagram'

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press June 3.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No 12 is published Friday, June 3. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 12

The safari was late in arriving at its base. The hunters had gone out on the trail of a remarkable beast whose skin would make a prize gift for the new Governor of the area. At the last moment, they had been joined by a young wrier, sent out from England to report the adventure. This man, with no background of travel, proved to be the wrong type for a dangerous jungle journey; he was silent, absorbed with his own ego, and obviously deep under the spell of tropical Africa. On the seventh day out, he was missing from camp, and the safari spent three days in trying to track him. They brought back a note, of strange wording and signature, which contained the only explanation of his disappearance. The note, found pinned ot a tent flap, had been blurred by tropical rain, and was difficult to decipher. The authorities finally figured out its meaning. Can you, too, fill in the missing letters and learn what the young man wrote?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, May 31. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, May 31 for Bonanzagram No. 12. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly Bonanzagram. If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A plainly-dressed, unglamorous, flatheeled woman without makeup—who might have been a servant—entered the luxurious Sherry-Netherland Hotel, went up to the swankiest suite, sank down on the bed . . .and had room service bring her lunch.

Jane Wyman had come from the first half-day's shooting in Central Park on "Miracle in the Rain."

She plays a simple housewife. For about a week, she'll work a night shift—10 p.m. to 5 a.m.—on scenes in St. Patrick's.

Leading man Van Johnson sent her flowers on her opening day. Also in the cast, looking very, very glamorous, and heavily made up, is Barbara Nichols, playing an "innocent strip-teaser."

Strangely, Miss Wyman, who doesn't get prettied up, is an Oscar winner; Miss Nichols—who does—is in her first major movie, happy for the first time to have a stand-in.

George Jessel, filling out papers for his USO trip to Europe, came on a line saying, "List Previous Wives." Jessel screamed, "Hey, I need more than three sheets of paper!"

Harry Hershfield, at his great "Mr. New York" celebration, received a watch. "The last watch I got," he said, "the fellow who gave it to me, engraved his name on it so deep it won't run." He also remembered riding once 100 miles an hour to introduce FDR at a celebration. He protested the speed and FDR said, "It's all right, everybody knows who is in the car." And Hershfield told him, "Yeah, but slow down so they can see who's with you."

A spinster saw a headline, "Company Cans 500 Men," and happily exclaimed (according to Al Weinreb), "Oh boy, I was waiting a long time for this product to be packaged!"

Lilo, the French star of "Can-Can," claims she's going to get herself a do-it-yourself kit and make herself a man. She plans to have him resemble Marlon Brando.

"Camp" according to Art Moger of Boston, "is where parents spend $1,000 for eight weeks to teach their son to make a 25c ash tray." . . . Benny Rubin of Temple City, Calif., reports that a delicatessen owner there is teaching his son about the Borscht and the Beets.

A big law suit against a laboratory that sold polio vaccine—on behalf of an Idaho girl of four—is to be filed by Melvin Belli of San Francisco . . . The Horace Suttons are splitting . . . Song writer Benny Davis and wife patched it up in Miami.

Eddie Fisher and George Gobel were reported signed by the Desert Inn in Las Vegas . . . Al Ryander (of Columbia Pictures) takes over June 6 as director of exploitation for NBC.

White House Buzz: Churchill will probably attend the Big 4 meeting . . . ABC-TV won't assign writers to the Henry Youngman-Rocky Graziano show—they want it ad lib . . . The road company of "Kismet"—with such beauties as Vida Ann Solomon—is doing well.

It cost 290-pound Walter Slezak $1,000 to widen the doors in his new home . . . Howard Hughes was offered 22½ millions for his RKO studios . . . The Army's cracking down on paid public appearances by GI entertainers . . . Thieves swiped many expensive cameras from Sammy Davis Jr's home.

Fisherman Treed by Bear Gets Nibbled While Aloft

GRAND MARAIS, Minn. (UP) — Truman Engersol, a newcomer to this North Woods country, today nursed a foot injury inflicted by an angered bear that pursued him high into a lofty tree.

The 22-year-old flying service employe was on his way to a trout stream yesterday when he came upon the animal and sought refuge in a poplar he estimated was from 40 to 60 feet high. The beast, after treeing her three cubs some distance away, four times climbed Engersol's tree.

First she grabbed Engersol's right boot with her teeth, leaving a foot cut that required six stitches. On the second ascent, the black bear got Engersol's other boot. On the third trip, she got a smack across the nose when Engersol wielded a branch. After her fourth climb, the animal simply gave Engersol a wary look-over, then climbed down, gathered her cubs together and ambled away.

Without taking time to retrieve his fishing tackle, Engersol dashed a quarter mile to his car and drove to Grand Marais to have his foot treated.

Engersol, who moved here from Minneapolis only a week ago, said he would return to the woods for his fishing equipment. But he emphasized he could carry a rifle.

Engersol said he was in the tree about an hour.

"It seemed like all afternoon, though," he added.

Although the United States has 70 places called Summit, only 11 of them are large enough to have post offices.

Hope Seeking Better Contract From NBC

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope, who concludes a five-year TV contract with NBC tomorrow night, said today he is negotiating with the network for another deal.

Previously the comedian had hinted that he might retire from TV.

"They want me to sign for another five years," he said, "I may do it if I get what I want." He said he wants to do only six shows a season. This season he did 10.

Change to Last Summer Only

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC's spectaculars will switch to black and white—and smaller budgets—this summer.

However, the absence of color will make little difference since all but a few thousand viewers have been watching them on black and white sets right along.

Jack Rayel, who will pinch hit for Max Liebman on the Saturday and Sunday night productions, promises they'll still be big events even if only slightly spectacular.

Fred Coe will continue through the summer at the helm of the Monday night Producer's Showcase series, parts of which will be in color.

Both are hopeful some of their summer productions will be among their most exciting yet.

Rayel will lead off June 19, for example, with a show entitled Remember 1938.

"It's the first in what we hope will develop into a series called Remember," he says. "There will be a lot of emphasis on nostalgia but a lot of entertainment. We want to go back and explore all categories of American life in that year, with the benefit of hindsight."

Projected but not yet definite for July 25 is a live, at sea telecast of naval maneuvers off San Francisco.

The Liebman Saturday and Sunday night spectaculars and the Coe Producer's Showcase Monday night series will resume full color and full budget in September.

They'll Scratch Back

DYERSBURG, Tenn. (UP) — Anybody with an itching back can get speedy relief at the Dyer County courthouse here. Two wooden back-scratchers with eight "teeth" each have been fixed to the outside door facings of the offices of Registrar Don Powell and Trustee Harold Holt.

Cost of Living Eases Down to Lowest Point in Nearly Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs eased down a fraction in April to the lowest point in nearly two years.

The government reported today its index declined one-tenth of one per cent to 114.2 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is three-tenths of one per cent less than in April last year. It is the lowest the index has been since May, 1953, when it was 114.0.

Lower prices for automobiles and a fractional decline in rents were mainly responsible for the lower index reading.

Mrs. Aryness Joy Wickens, acting commissioner of labor statistics, said both used and new car prices dropped 4 per cent between March and April. These are actual purchase prices, not list prices.

She said softer car prices were not to be taken as any break in the auto market; that actually prices have been fairly stable. But she said they indicate dealer price concessions because of large stocks of vehicles.

The decline in residential rents was less than a tenth of one per cent, but represented the first downward move since the government's rent rollback in 1942 under rent controls. Before that, in a free market, there had been no nationwide average rent decline since 1938.

Mrs. Wickens said that for more than a year rents have been declining in some parts of the country, although increasing in others, with little real movement in either direction. April was the first month, however, in which declines exceeded increases.

In foods, the greatest April price change was a sharp rise in cost of potatoes because of the March freeze. Prices went up 30 per cent from March and 60 per cent over April last year. Dairy prices declined seasonally in April.

In reporting the living costs figures, the Labor Department also said that take home pay of factory workers and the purchasing power of their pay were at record highs for the month this April.

The department reported that average net spendable weekly earnings were $69.05 for a factory worker with three dependents and $61.78 for a worker with no dependents. This was about 40 cents less than in March for both types of worker. The decline was due to shorter scheduled working hours, more than offsetting an increase in hourly earnings.

Keeps Dinner Date —in Hospital Room

When their 42nd anniversary found him convalescing in a Larned hospital he didn't break the chain. The dinner, complete with carnation centerpieces, candles and cake, was served in his hospital room.

LOST 52 POUNDS

Comstock Park Lady Praises Rennel, Druggist Likes It Too

"I think Rennel Concentrate is a wonderful product and it has solved my reducing problem," writes Louise Veenstra, 413 Lamoreaux Dr. "I have lost 52 lbs. in four months with only 8 bottles of Rennel. My weight has gone from 222 to 170 lbs. and I am in good health. I have a good appetite and eat all I want of good plain foods. I could never have lost all that weight without the help of Rennel. My druggist calls it one of the best reducing aids and says it sells so well it's hard to keep in stock. I feel certain it will do for others what it has done for me."

You can make Rennel work for you. Priced at $1.40 at your drug store. Insist on and be sure to get Rennel.

History Unsure on Indian Girl

Lewis and Clark Guide Is Subject of Varying 'Official' Data

BISMARCK, N. D. (UP)—Sacagawea, the famous Indian girl guide for the Lewis and Clark expedition, recently was nominated for a place in New York University's Hall of Fame.

However, the North Dakota Historical Society says, her name was not properly Sacagawea and "she didn't know the territory the party passed through any more than they knew it."

Russell Reid, superintendent of the society, said the girl, born into the Shoshone Indian tribe near Three Forks, Mont., was the wife of Toussant Charbonneau, French fur trader who served as interpreter on the expedition.

"She couldn't possibly have served as a guide," Reid said. "But she performed many other duties. When Lewis and Clark passed through the area of Three Forks, she acted as 'peacemaker' and contacted other members of her tribe who themselves served as guides."

Reid said the journals of Lewis and Clark carry half a dozen different spellings of her name and that federal agencies arbitrarily selected "Sacagawea."

"But North Dakota historians take their spelling from her adopted tribe, the Hidatsa," Reid said. "The Hidatsa word for bird was sakaka, and woman was wea. Put them together and you have Sakakawea, bird woman."

Reid said historians are as uncertain of her death as they are of her life.

One account says she returned to her tribe and lived to be 100 years old. And journals of fur traders tell of an "Indian woman who lived much as the white," and died of a fever at the age of 25.
