Southern States Start Working on Segregation

Georgia Won't Abide by Supreme Court Ban, Talmadge Says

ATLANTA (AP)—Southern education and political leaders started work today on problems arising from the U. S. Supreme Court decision which outlaws segregation in public schools.

Yesterday's decision was generally received calmly throughout the South.

Negro leaders praised it. Reaction among white educators and politicians varied.

Governors of nearly every state involved reported they would call special committees into session immediately to study the problem.

Most outspoken was Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, a long-time advocate of segregation in Southern schools.

He announced he would call the State Commission on Education into immediate session "to map a program to insure continued and permanent segregation of the races."

A Talmadge-sponsored constitutional amendment to do away with Georgia's public school system will be voted on this fall.

Talmadge is the only governor who declared after the high court's decision was announced that his state will not abide by the decision. He said in a prepared statement:

"The court has thrown down the gauntlet before those who believe the Constitution means what it says when it reserves to the individual states the right to regulate their own internal affairs. Georgians accept the challenge and will not tolerate the mixing of the races in the public schools or any of its public tax-supported institutions. The fact that the high tribunal has seen fit to proclaim its views on sociology as law will not make any difference."

Officials of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People hailed the decision as "vindication" of a 45-year fight, and a move which "gives the lie to the Communist propaganda that American democracy is decadent."

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP, said at his office in New York that compliance with the ruling may not be completed until about 1960.

But he said he does not believe Georgia can carry out its proposal to turn the schools over to private management.

"If they put any plan into effect in the morning we will have them in court by the next afternoon," he said. "There is no possibility of getting around this clear-cut interpretation of the Constitution."

Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, a candidate to succeed Talmadge as governor of Georgia, quickly announced that "the races will not" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3).

Mickey Jelke's Conviction Reversed, Retrial Ordered

NEW YORK (AP)—The conviction of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke on charges of compulsory prostitution was reversed by the Appellate Division today and his retrial ordered.

The court held that Jelke, heir to an oleomargarine fortune, was deprived of a "fair and impartial trial" because certain portions of the hearings were closed to the public.

The decision was by a 3-2 vote. The Appellate Division is the appeals division of the State Supreme Court.

Jelke, 24, had been sentenced to serve three to six years on each of two counts of compulsory prostitution.

Evacuation Plan Fails so French Renew Attacks

Midnight Was Deadline, Rebels Using Highways for Delta Supplies

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—French squadrons of American-supplied warplanes resumed heavy attacks today on Communist-led Vietminh troops moving eastward out of Dien Bien Phu toward the Red River delta.

The French high command announced the renewal of air strikes after rebel failure to accept a six-point French plan for evacuating Dien Bien Phu's wounded, including an offer to take care of seriously wounded Vietminh troops.

The French had told the Vietminh air attacks would be resumed unless their proposal was accepted by midnight last night.

Prime target of the air strike was the strategic 70-mile highway between Dien Bien Phu and Son La.

The French had stopped bombing this highway last Friday after the rebels had agreed to permit evacuation of 753 of the 1,300 to 2,000 French Union wounded caught at Dien Bien Phu when it fell.

Rebel Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap insisted that the French must hold their fire on the highway so his own wounded could be moved.

The French contended later Giap actually was using the highway to funnel troops and war material toward the Red River delta, seen by the French command as the next big rebel target.

When the French found they could move only 11 wounded in two days by helicopter and small planes, and Giap refused to permit repair of the airstrip to let bigger (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

3 Dog Owners to Stand Trial

Oakland County Men Refused to Permit Vaccinations

Warrants were issued today against three Oakland County men who have refused to have their dogs vaccinated against rabies.

The three will appear in justice courts Thursday on the formal charge of possessing unlicensed dogs. They are Rex Abney of 3125 Mann Rd., Waterford Township; Cloy Heaths of 21228 Cass, and Floyd Tedy of 21149 Cass, Farmington Township.

The warrants are the first issued under the anti-rabies vaccination law adopted by the County Board of Supervisors May 5, 1953. The law makes vaccinations a prerequisite for obtaining dog tags. Violators could get a maximum of a $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

Abney is scheduled to appear before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy and the others before Farmington Township Justice Allan C. Ingle.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said he withheld issuance of the warrants until Atty. Gen. Frank D. Millard passed on the constitutionality of the county law.

Dr. Frank E. Bates, director of animal welfare for Oakland County, said his office is going to request action against other residents who refuse to allow the shots.

Abney has been fighting the vaccination order since he applied for a license last December. His request for a writ of mandamus to force the treasurer's office to issue the license was denied.

Tonsils --- With and Without

BEFORE AND AFTER—The four Barnhart boys of Smiley road, Utica, are shown at left as they registered Saturday at Pontiac General Hospital to have their tonsils removed.

Their parents, the Kenneth Barnharts, had decided to show no favoritism and let the boys have the questionable honor of undergoing a tonsillectomy all at once.

Three of the lads, Johnnie, 11, Pat, 7, and Mike, 3, (left to right) seemed quite confident as they entered the admitting office, but Tim, 1½, registered some distress.

Blame Moscow for Latin Unrest

U.S. Diplomats Claim Reds Fomenting Strife in Central America

WASHINGTON (AP)—American authorities said today they are convinced Moscow has turned loose Communist agitators to foment strife and chaos in volatile Central America.

This belief, U. S. Diplomats said, is based on recent developments in Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Honduras and climaxed now by an apparently large shipment of arms to Guatemala from Communist-controlled Stettin, once a German port but now incorporated into Red Poland.

The State Department announced late yesterday that an unspecified quantity and type of arms now are being unloaded from a cargo ship of Swedish registry at the Guatemalan port of Puerto Barrios.

The announcement said that: "Because of the origin of these arms, the point of their embarkation, their destination and the quantity of arms involved, the Department of State considers that this is a development of gravity."

For a number of years the United States has blocked all arms sales to Guatemala. It has repeatedly charged too that Guatemala is the center of Communist agitation in Central America and that its government is "playing the Communist game."

Ike Firm on Secrecy Edict, Ban on Testimony to Stick

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House indicated today there is little or no prospect President Eisenhower will change his order which led Senate investigators to suspend the McCarthy-Army hearings.

From Democratic senators there were predictions the hearings never will be resumed unless Eisenhower does alter it, but Republicans disputed that.

The order bans testimony by government officials about talks within the administration concerning the controversy between Sen. McCarthy and Pentagon officials.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee voted yesterday to suspend hearings until next Monday while Chairman Mundt (R-SD) explores meantime whether Eisenhower might modify his order, denounced by McCarthy as an "Iron Curtain" some one must have "foisted" on the President. McCarthy contended it made it impossible to get at the truth.

Mundt was to begin his efforts with a conference this afternoon with Atty. Gen. Brownell who prepared a memorandum of precedents which Eisenhower sent to the senators yesterday along with a copy of his order. The order took the form of a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Red Plane Sighted Over South Korea

SEOUL (AP)—A Communist plane crossed the neutral zone and flew south as far as Seoul today while U. S. Defense Secretary Charles Wilson, South Korean President Syngman Rhee and other officials watched a U. S. 8th Army review 65 miles to the northeast.

The 5th Air Force said radar tracked the Red plane southward, but it never was sighted visually. A spokesman said it apparently was a jet.

American Sabre jets tried without success to intercept it before it returned north.

The 5th Air Force said the incident would be reported to the Military Armistice Commission as a violation of the Korean truce.

Planes, Boats Search Lake for 11 Victims

Birmingham Resident Missing Since Sunday Near Mio

Lost in the woods of the Au Sable State Forest since Sunday evening, Carl A. Knisely, 64, of 625 N. Woodward, Birmingham, has returned, and is in an Alpina Hospital recovering from his ordeal. He failed to meet trout fishing friends at a pre-determined rendezvous, and a widespread search was launched.

Air Force, Coast Guard, and State Police continued to search for 12 persons missing in Michigan waters since the weekend.

Eleven of the missing persons were believed to have drowned on the wind swept waters of Lake St. Clair near Detroit.

Air Force planes and Coast Guard boats searched for two families, including four children, whose 15-foot motor boat was found capsized Monday.

Lost in the same area are two men and a woman in a rented row boat. The Coast Guard reported the discovery of a life preserver Monday believed to have belonged in the rowboat.

Chief Bosun's Mate Keller Harmon of the St. Clair Flats Coast Guard, said it was possible that winds, at gusts of 20 to 25 miles per hour, stirred up Lake St. Clair Monday night and swamped the boats.

Search planes and helicopters failed to turn up any trace Monday of Carl Knisely, 64, of Birmingham. He has been missing (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Cab Co.-Union Dispute in Court

Attorney for Teamsters Says Company Dodging Responsibilities

A contempt hearing against officers and members of Teamsters Local 614, AFL, who are accused of violating a temporary restraining order issued April 27, got underway Monday before the three Oakland County Circuit Court Judges.

Union officials and members had been restrained by the order from interfering with the operation of the Pontiac Cab Co. from its offices at 43 Orchard Lake Ave. and at a cab stand on W. Pike St.

Attorney Howard I. Bond, representing the union, claimed in his answer to the original bill of complaint that the leases under which the drivers get their cabs are a subterfuge enabling the company owners to dodge their responsibilities as employers.

On these grounds he asked for immediate dismissal of the bill of complaint since the complainants weren't properly identified or represented, he told the court.

An answer to this charge is expected today from attorneys Edward P. Barrett and Robert G. Isgrigg, representing the cab company.

Barrett asked the court Monday to make the temporary injunction against the union permanent and for the abolition of all picketing against the company on the grounds that there is no labor dispute.

South Starts Work to End Segregation

he mixed, come hell or high water.

Representatives E. W. Gravolet and Gilbert Faulk of the Louisiana Legislature urged that body to "take immediate steps to counteract such a decision."

Rep. Sam Engelhardt of Alabama, home of Tuskegee Institute, famed Negro college, asserted: "We are going to keep every brick in our segregation wall intact."

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, another of the leaders in the fight to preserve school segregation and himself a former Supreme Court justice, said he was "shocked to learn that the court had reversed itself."

Byrnes some time ago declared his state would refuse to go along with a decision to end segregation.

Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi said he would call for an early meeting of the state's Legal Education Advisory Committee, the group given the assignment of finding means to maintain segregation regardless of the Supreme Court's decision.

Various state officers in the South called for immediate special sessions of state legislatures to study problems and map legislation, but the only governor who said he might call a special session was Acting Gov. Charles E. Johns of Florida. He didn't indicate what his position would be.

Hollis Rinehart, chairman of Florida's Board of Control, which exercises supervision over the state's universities, called for the immediate preparation "for the integration of Negroes into our institutions of higher learning and our elementary schools."

Rinehart, who said he was speaking only for himself, said he believes integration can be accomplished without legal action by the Negroes "providing white leaders take the necessary steps" to cooperate.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas summed up the views of many Southern officials. He said it might "take years to comply" with the ruling. The "wait-and-see" attitude was taken by top state officials in Virginia, Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, West Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee. But the governors of most of the states were busy today getting committee work lined up and summoning legal advice.

Gov. Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky, a border state, announced his state will try to adjust its public education system to comply.

The boys were believed to be missing in the area of Griffin Lake after they borrowed a boat to go fishing. When they did not return, State Police were notified. The boys later returned home.

Reverse Conviction in Jelke Trial

press and public during presentation of the state's case.

Judge Francis L. Valente at the time said he felt that lurid testimony of admitted cat girls might endanger public morals, and declared he felt that he had the legal authority to order this step. New York newspapers and press services protested vigorously.

In reversing Jelke's conviction, the majority of the Appellate Court ruled:

"It becomes apparent that to place in the hands of any court the power in a criminal trial to close the doors of a court room during the presentation of the case of one party and open it when the other party undertakes to present his case creates a situation that should not be tolerated."

The 27-page majority view added:

"The ruling of the court in effect was that if one testified for the people the witness would be shielded from publicity but if one testified for the defense it would be in the pitiless glare of press and public."

"We are unwilling to place the stamp of approval upon any such unorthodox and in this case unwarranted procedure."

Jelke was pictured by the prosecution as a free-living young man who couldn't live within his allowance but led girls into prostitution to increase his income.

Referring to exclusion of the press from the trial, the court said:

"We are not faced with the question of whether newspaper accounts published during or prior to the trial aroused such prejudice in the community that Jelke's trial was 'fatally infected' with the absence of that fundamental fairness essential to the very concept of justice."

The opinion added:

"We conceive it to be no part of the work of the judiciary upon the facts here presented to decide what a newspaper prints or to what portion of the people it caters to sell its papers."

Vietminh Claim Truce Sabotage

Rebel Leaders Charge French Bombers Killed Own Wounded

GENEVA (U)—Indochina's Vietminh rebels charged today the French sabotaged an agreement to get French Union wounded troops out of fallen Dien Bien Phu. They said French bombers killed 15 French prisoners of war the rebels were leading away from the fortress.

The charges were made at a news conference by Hoang Van Hoan, Vietminh ambassador to Red China. He said the French alone were responsible for the breakdown of the plan to evacuate the seriously wounded from the northwest Indochina location which fell to the Communist-led rebels May 7.

(Dispatches from Hanoi said, however, the Vietminh released 18 more wounded from Dien Bien Phu today. At the same time, the dispatches said American-supplied bombers had resumed powerful attacks on rebel troops streaming along a main highway from the fortress toward the French-dominated Red River delta surrounding Hanoi. The highway had been neutralized to permit the Vietminh to remove their own wounded, but the French charged the rebels also were moving heavy military equipment for a possible attack on Hanoi.)

Hoang said the bombardment of the main road out of Dien Bien Phu—in which he said the 15 prisoners were killed—was in violation of the wounded evacuation agreement. He said resumption of the evacuation hinged on whether the French would again make the highway immune from bombing attacks.

Hoang rejected the French demand for neutral supervision of the highway as "not realistic."

He denied an earlier French charge that the Vietminh had discriminated against Vietnamese soldiers and planned only to evacuate the French wounded soldiers they had captured in the fortress.

The rebel spokesman said the Vietminh had agreed to permit the evacuation of all soldiers under French command who were seriously wounded regardless of race or nationality. But he claimed very few Indochinese were among the wounded. He claimed only one-eighth of the defenders of Dien Bien Phu were of Indochinese origin and most of these deserted to the Vietminh during the battle.

By French announcements, more than a third of the garrison's 14,000 troops were Vietnamese.

Hoang said a group of prisoners taken at Dien Bien Phu, including nurse Genevieve de Galard Terraux—the lone woman stranded in the fortress during the siege—had written to rebel leader Ho Chi Minh to express gratitude for their "humanitarian treatment."

The new Vietminh charges were made as the second day of secret East-West negotiations on an Indochina peace got started.

planes land, the high command said it was no longer bound to hold off its air strikes.

It said that such an airlift would take at least a month and by then Giap could move out all his men and move up materiel.

Late last night the French commander in chief, Gen. Henri Navarre, broadcast an offer to supply engineers and heavy equipment for putting the shell and trench-pocked Dien Bien Phu runway back into shape on condition that both men and materiel be returned after the operation.

He asked that once the mercy flights were resumed, no ceiling be placed on the number of planes allowed to land and take off.

letter to the secretary of defense.

It may be two or three days before the question of altering the order formally reaches Eisenhower.

But reporters at the White House were given to understand there is scant prospect the President will shift his stand in any way.

Asked whether he thought the President might modify or rescind his letter, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty replied:

"As far as I know, the President issued his letter yesterday."

A reporter then asked, "was the letter intended to bring the hearings to a stop?"

Hagerty: "I can think of nothing that would be a more silly question."

Hagerty announced that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens would accompany the President to Charlotte, N. C., today for ceremonies attending the observance there of an early declaration of independence by colonial residents of the area.

Hagerty said the President asked Stevens to go along because the ceremonies also mark Armed Forces Week.

At the Capitol, meantime, Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said he sees no reason why the investigations subcommittee cannot continue its McCarthy-Army inquiry despite the presidential order.

Ferguson said the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which he heads, probably will discuss later in the day the impact of the presidential order.

Told that Sen. McCarthy had said it would be impossible for him to "prove" his case under the President's silence ban on some government witnesses, Ferguson said he thinks the investigations committee will have to decide whether that is true or not.

"No one has suggested to me that the investigation be dropped," he said.

Senate Votes to Ban Windfall FHA Loans

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Banking Committee voted today to block builders from reaping "windfall" profits on Federal Housing Administration loans by forcing the FHA to base its loan insurance on actual construction costs.

Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.), said the action, taken by unanimous vote, will eliminate FHA's established system of estimating property values in advance. This step had been advocated by government officials and some housing experts to prevent builders from obtaining Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance and was originated by Koubigan. Try their Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.
