Union Leaders OK Peace Plan for Disputes

Meany Emotional as He Outlines Referee Pact for Internal Scraps

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Leaders of organized labor announced jubilantly early today their complete agreement on a plan for settling labor's internal wars.

It was obvious that George Meany, 67-year-old AFL-CIO president, considered the pact a crowning achievement of his embattled union career. His voice shook as he outlined the peace terms.

The pact won unanimous approval of the AFL-CIO Executive Council in a hot debate during a marathon eight-hour session. Quick approval by the AFL-CIO convention was assured.

Meany, whose rejection as the federation president was a foregone conclusion, is expected to wait a while to see that the peace plan he worked out is functioning smoothly.

Probably he will lay down the mantle of top leader of the merged labor movement to some designated successor.

WIPES OUT THREAT

Agreement on the peace plan wipes out any threat of secession by some unions—had been speculated might happen if the international warfare had been allowed to remain unresolved.

Walter Reuther, head of the old CIO and the United Auto Workers Union, had said only a few weeks ago that, lacking a dispute peace plan, the federation probably could not hold together another two years.

Meany described the pact handed out early today as a "workable and forward-looking procedure."

Another council member, Lee Martin, Glass Bottle Workers Union president, said on emerging from the long session at 4 a.m. EST: "I think we've settled this." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union and the United States were reported agreed today on a resolution to have the U.N. general assembly set up a new 15-nation committee to negotiate disarmament.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The U.S. consulate closed its visa department indefinitely today after leftist agitators staged a violent demonstration outside the building. It was the second straight day of disorders at the consulate.

Santa DID Hear Boy's Last Wish

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Santa Claus is outdoing himself to more than fulfill the last wish of 7-year-old Freddie Downer, who was killed by an automobile last week.

Presented galore, and money to buy them, are en route here for Freddie's 3-year-old sister, Vicki.

Freddie had written Santa that Vicki wanted "a doll with hair, child clothes and clothes for her doll, a high chair and carriage."

"Even if you have to leave me out, Santa, please don't forget my sister," the letter said.

Freddie, whose home has no telephone, was killed while crossing a street on foot. Santa and his reindeer were on the letter.

Adams Top Bet as New Justice

County Democrats received a report from their county chairman last night not to expect a change in the state's controversial legislative apportionment from the constitutional convention.

"They're not about to change things except for some words," said James M. Ginn after his afternoon appearance in Detroit before the convention's committee on legislative organization.

Ginn's report paralleled one from a 14th District (Detroit) Democrat that Republican delegates had met in secret caucuses to agree to little change in the allotment of seats for the House and State Senate. Republicans denied the charge made by D. Charles Marston, an attorney for the State AFL-CIO.

Marston also testified before MSU President John Haman's 18-man committee as it met in all day and evening hearings in the City-County Building.

Following his party line on apportionment, Ginn said he suggested to the committee that both the House and Senate be apportioned on a strict population basis.

"FRIGHTENING IMPRESSION" "But after my presentation they (committee members) spent some time questioning me, and one of my impressions frightens me," the chairman told a sparsely attended meeting of the county committee in Pontiac.

"From their questions it appears the whole idea is that if we let the union, industrial and heavily populated areas have an equal voice in their representation then there's no protection for the minority," he said.

"They give you the same old argument that if it's good enough for the U.S. Senate it ought to be good enough for the state."

Thursday to Be Fair but 12 Above Tonight

B-P-P-P-P, it's cold outside, and the weatherman says the mercury will plunge to 12 above tonight.

But cheer up, Thursday will be fair and temperatures a bit warmer, the high rising to near 28.

For the rest of the week temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees below the normal high of 34 and normal low of 22.

Precipitation will total about 1.1 of an inch occurring as snow flurries Friday and again Monday.

Morning westerly winds at 5 miles per hour will diminish to light and become southwest at 10 to 18 m.p.h. tomorrow.

The thermometer registering 18 at 4 a.m. today rose to 19 at 10:15 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 20.

U.S. Opposes Immediate Call for Cease Fire

State Department Says Must Continue Battle Until Goals Reached

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States disagreed today with Britain's call for an immediate cease fire in the Congo. It said there should be no cease-fire until minimum objectives of the United Nations have been reached in the African trouble spot.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball set forth what he termed these "honest differences of opinion" at a special news conference on the Congo crisis. Ball is acting foreign affairs chief in the absence of Secretary of State Dean Rusk who is in Paris.

The British Government has announced that it will ask U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant to seek an immediate cease fire in Katanga between U.N. forces there and those of secessionist Katanga leader Moise Tshombe.

Ball, setting forth the U.S. position, said "The United Nations has not only the need but the right to protect itself" and therefore should not agree to any cease-fire until it has secured its defensive and communications positions.

HOPE QUICK SUCCESS

"Once the U.N.'s limited objectives are achieved, the United States would urge an immediate cease fire," Ball said. "We hope and believe these objectives will be obtained quickly and with a minimum of loss of life and damage to property."

High U.S. authorities said in connection with the statement that while there is U.S. opposition to the timing of a cease-fire, the allies are agreed on the overall objective of a united Congo.

The fear of U.S. strategists is that if the mineral-rich Katanga Province is not kept within the Congo, the newly-independent African land will not be able to make its own way and will fall easy prey to the Reds.

High-Style Fur Hat Would Please Milady

By JANET ODELL
Mink stoles and emerald-cut diamonds are nice, but most women will settle for far less as a Christmas gift. Furs—real or man-made—can be purchased without wrecking the budget if you'll be satisfied with buying her a fashionable fur hat.

Another furry item we saw was a pale blonde jacket.

The material has a shorter pile than such furs in the past and was striking looking.

A conversation piece to wear on her best wool dress—would be a gold chain belt with a large watch suspended from it. Another long golden chain is a necklace with a large purple-blue pear-shaped stone hanging from it. Consider it. It has the little jeweled bugs for stocking stuffers.

On the practical side, milady will appreciate a hanging plastic zippered bag that holds six pairs of shoes. This can be used in either closet or car.

Some of the new serving dishes are as lovely as ever but have modern nontarnish finishes. One we saw would be fine for hors d'oeuvres, fish or shrimp with a sauce—the brass dish had a glass center insert. The other occasional pieces are silver plated and have a lovely luster that never needs polishing.

How about a hair dryer? You can get them in many sizes and for many prices. One in a small suitcase appealed to us. It has a separate outlet for drying the polish on your nails.

If she belongs to the Eastern Star, you can now get her a book-mark with the Star emblem on the top.

TSHOMBE AROUSED—Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga Province in the Congo, is shown at his residence in Elisabethville. The Katanga mission in Brussels claimed Tuesday that U.N. troops attacked Tshombe's residence but the report was denied by a spokesman for the world body. The United States will announce their reasons for supporting the U.N. policy in the Katanga situation.

U.N. Jets Blast Katanga Hotel

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Four Swedish U.N. jets blasted the Lido Hotel with bombs and rockets today in an apparent attempt to flush out Katanga troops occupying the building.

Katanga's mission in Brussels said U.N. forces launched a general attack in Elisabethville and that the force was a week ago.

Negligent Homicide Is Charged Against Area Driver in Accident

A Springfield Township man was charged with negligent homicide following a two-car collision which claimed the life of a Pontiac resident today at North Perry Street and Glenwood Avenue.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital after the accident, which occurred at about 7 a.m., was James A. Lane, 54, of 76 S. Roselawn Drive.

A few hours after the mishap, the Oakland County Prosecutor's office recommended a warrant for the arrest of Raymond E. Day, 31, 10387 Big Lake Road.

Witnesses told Pontiac police that Day, driving north on Perry Street, ran a red light at the intersection and struck the driver's side of Lane's auto, which was headed west on Glenwood.

Lane's car swerved, jumped a curb at the northwest corner and crashed into a mailbox. Lane was thrown from the car after the impact.

Both men were alone in their cars. Day was not injured.

Getting In 'Tosses' Before School

WINTER FUN — Although the snow was too fluffy for snowball making early this morning, children waiting for school buses all over Oakland County had fun peppering each other with the soft white stuff. The Walled Lake school bus driver waited patiently for this group at Charms and Winton roads to get that last "throw" in before settling down to an orderly bus ride and school work.

U.S. Committed on Population Control Controversy

Editor's Note: After months of high-level discussion, the Kennedy administration has evolved an official U.S. policy on the sharply controversial question of population control.

By LOUIS CASSELL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States government is now officially committed to the proposition that rapid population growth poses serious economic problems for man in underdeveloped nations.

It is actively seeking to stimulate study and public discussion of these problems.

It is prepared to consider requests from other countries for U.S. technical assistance in conducting studies of population growth rates and their impact on economic development.

But it will not make population limitation efforts a condition for future U.S. economic aid. It will not urge or advise any nation to undertake birth control programs.

NOT READY TO HELP
And it is not prepared at this point to provide birth-control information or devices to countries which decide on their own to launch such programs.

This summary of U.S. policy was given in an interview by William T. Nunley, special assistant to Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The policy was not evolved quickly or casually. It was carefully framed after months of consultation among high officials who are aware of the intense religious, political and diplomatic pressures which have built up around the whole question of population control.

The policy-makers were confronted, on one hand, with demands from a number of prominent Americans, including many Protestant and Jewish religious leaders, that this country takes a potential diplomatic row in the vigorous initiative in coping with rapid population growth rates which, according to World Bank President Eugene Black, "threaten to multiply all our efforts to raise living standards in the poorer countries."

They were mindful, on the other hand, that the U.S. Catholic hierarchy has formally served notice that it will fight any use of American tax funds to promote artificial birth control, abortion or sterilization "in any land."

Beyond these domestic pressures, the State Department faced

a potential diplomatic row in the United Nations, where Sweden and Denmark have proposed action to assist underdeveloped countries in "finding a solution" to their population problems.

PLACED ON AGENDA
The Swedish-Danish proposal has been placed on the agenda for debate at the current session of the general assembly. Its inclusion on the agenda was opposed by several predominantly Catholic countries, but was supported by the United States.

Nunley said the U.S. position is that "it is time to get this subject off the black list of things people don't talk about, and bring the problem into the open for study and discussion."

He emphasized that the United

Man Charges Citizenship and Name to American

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An American became an American here recently.

He also is an employee of American Motors Corp.

States is not advocating any particular solution for population problems.

"The main thing we're trying to do is to get people to think and talk about these problems, and to recognize that there is an important relationship between population growth rates and economic development."

He warned against oversimplifying this relationship, or leaping to the conclusion that birth control programs are the only way to raise living standards in underdeveloped countries.

"In dealing with this matter, we are standing on a small island of knowledge surrounded by a vast ocean of ignorance and uncertainty."

"There are tremendous variations in the population problems of different countries. And population growth rates are affected by a great many factors other than birth control."

SYNOPSIS: King Ferdinand's request for help has been brought to Santa Claus by a little red-headed fairy who swooshes in the palace kitchen. Santa resolves to go to Polydora.

CHAP. NINE

"Oh, no," cried Tweedledee in alarm. "You can't possibly go anywhere when there is such a short time before Christmas!"

"But I must," insisted Santa. "Listen to this and you will agree. Fitting the bits of paper together he read the letter from King Ferdinand telling about the visits of the frightening Ipswitch and the haunted palace and begging for help from Santa."

"These are strange goings-on," finished Santa. "The King of Polydora certainly needs help."

Mrs. Santa chuckled her tongue. "It's only because you always like a mystery and you like to play detective," she fretted.

"That reminds me," said Santa with sudden inspiration. "I've just remembered the toy I was dreaming of a while ago. It was a Seeing Eye. Properly installed it would allow anyone to sit in their own room and see what is happening in another room—even one five floors below! Think how the children would love to have that for Christmas!"

"It would be wonderful!" exclaimed the little red-headed fairy who had come all the way from Polydora to bring Santa the letter from Ferdinand. "I might even be able to see who has been getting the kitchen crumbs ahead of me!"

"Very well—make the Seeing Eye!" snapped Tweedledee. "But you don't have to go to Polydora. Let the King solve his own mysteries."

"But think," said Santa. "If he doesn't solve it—this Ipswitch—or whatever it is—may take it into his head to come tramping through the North Pole. Then what would happen to Santa Land?" He took Tweedledee gently by the shoulder.

I'LL BE BACK

"Come now, you can handle things while I am away. I'll be back before you know it." He paused and scratched the side of his nose. "Incidentally, I think I will just make up that Seeing Eye before I leave. Might come in handy."

He started out the door then turned and stuck his head back in. "My dear," he said softly to Mrs. Santa. "I would be a shame to miss your Pineapple Upside Down Cake. Do you suppose I could have a wee piece to take with me when I go?"

"Oh, you!" Mrs. Santa laughed in spite of herself. "You always get your way!"

Santa grinned and hurried to his workshop. In a moment he was hard at work with blue prints, wires, mirrors, rubber tubes and magnifying glasses. The red-headed fairy sat on a tack box on top of Santa's work bench and watched.

"I guess you can make anything!" he said at last.

"Well, most anything. I suppose," agreed Santa.

"I wish you could make me a

The little fairy climbed to the floor and dragged the magnet through the work shop. In an instant it was covered with crumbs that the Santa Land workers had dropped from their lunch. "Oh boy! I've got it made!" cried the fairy happily.

Santa snipped some wire and put away his blue prints. "I have it made, too," he said. "Here is my Seeing Eye." And he folded up his new toy and put it in his pocket.

He rushed back to his house, packed a small bag and picked up the white Pineapple Upside Down Cake Mrs. Santa had boxed for him. Then he set off for Polydora with the red-headed fairy riding inside his big black boot.

Michigan Boys Tried in Iowa

2 Youths Plead Guilty to Federal Charges; State Refuses Custody

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Two 16-year-old Jackson, Mich., boys—unwanted back home—pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court here Tuesday under the Federal Juvenile Delinquency Act.

Guy Davis, assistant federal probation officer, said the boys, Danny Leon Sanford and Thomas Rodney Pierce, came from broken homes and "neither mother wants them back."

The federal government offered to pay their expenses back to Michigan, but, Davis said, "the state (Michigan) doesn't want them."

The youths admitted taking a 1956 model pickup truck from a Jackson, Mich., parking lot Dec. 2 after they had escaped from the Jackson Juvenile Home. They were arrested at Hastings, Iowa, two days later.

Chief Deputy U.S. Marshal Virgil Lakin said the youths left Jackson with $8 they had accumulated to buy gas for the truck "for as far as they could go."

He said the youths told him that neither had notes for two days before their arrest.

Judge Roy L. Stephenson told the youths, who were represented by a court-appointed attorney, that the maximum penalty under the juvenile delinquency law is five years in a federal reformatory or confinement until they reach their majority of 21 years.

Sentencing was delayed pending completion of a probation report. The youths are being held under $2,500 bond each.

State to Soften Horn on Bridge at Charlevoix

CHARLEVOIX (AP)—When the horn blows on the bridge at Charlevoix, it will have a soft, sweet tone next summer.

The State Highway Department says it will install a new horn on the bridge that carries U.S. 31 over the channel between Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix.

The bridge operator blows his horn to let boats know whether or not it is safe to go through the channel. Local residents complained it was too loud.

The department said permission has been received from the U.S. Corps of Engineers to install the softer horn in time for the start of the navigation season next summer.

The present, louder horn will be kept at the bridge for use in case of an emergency.

Won't Ban 2 Books on Birth Control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Post Office Department has ruled that two books on birth control will not be banned from the U.S. mail as pornography if they are sent to bookstores, doctors and other professional people.

Both books were withheld from the mail by the Chicago Post Office under a 74-year-old federal statute forbidding the mailing of "obscene, lewd, lascivious or filthy" material and any article of information aimed at "preventing conception."

The two books were "The Complete Book of Birth Control," published by Ballantine Books, Inc., and "Modern Birth Control," published by Paperback Library, Inc. Both were written by doctors.

Rules on Truck Towing

LANSING (AP)—An attorney general's opinion has held that a truck chassis being towed on the highway by a truck tractor does not qualify as a trailer or semitrailer under the Michigan vehicle code. State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs asked for the clarification for enforcement purposes.

"Crime Wave Is Endangering National Survival" ... Hoover

The greatest police officer in the world issues another statement on current crime. It is very thought-provoking and coming from J. Edgar Hoover has the final ring of authority:

"I would like to be able to report that the internal enemies of our society have disappeared—that they have faded into the dim past like the dangers of the wagon trail, but this is not so.

"From the depths of our criminal underworlds, strong enemies—deadly enemies—continue to challenge the right of decent Americans to live in freedom and dignity under God. Today, we are facing a crime problem of such magnitude that it represents an acute danger to our national survival. There is a serious weakening of moral and spiritual fibers in our society.

"During the past decade, our crime has nearly doubled, outpacing the growth of population four to one. A murder is committed every 58 minutes. There is a vicious assault every four minutes; a forcible rape every 34 minutes; a robbery every six minutes; and a burglary every 39 seconds. Crime is no respecter of age, race, or creed. Each year, the cost of crime climbs higher and higher until it now has reached an alarmingly total of more than $60 million each day.

"Year after year, we find that nearly half of the persons arrested for burglaries and larcenies, and almost two-thirds of those arrested for automobile thefts, are less than 18 years of age. America's juvenile criminality is directly traceable to the failure of adults to meet their moral obligations. The primary responsibility rests with the parents. If respect for law and order were instilled in children at an early age and if parents set a proper example, we might keep juvenile delinquency from becoming the door to careers in crime.

"I can see no difference between the responsibility of a 17- or 18-year-old who willfully robs, assaults, or murders and that of an adult who commits the same crime. Each should be held strictly accountable. They are vicious young thugs. They should be treated accordingly.

"The most deeply entrenched forces of the underworld are the professionals who comprise organized crime. These underworld characters with their criminal scum flout the sacrifices—the blood, the sweat, and the toll of six generations of dedicated Americans—which secured the freedoms they enjoy.

"Unfortunately, they are assisted all too often by public lethargy, and by some jurists obsessed with the virtues of legal technicalities, as well as by theoreticians with the soft approach who purport to be experts. Justice is not impartially meted out when the victim and society suffer while the criminal goes free. The law-abiding citizen is entitled to more consideration on the part of our courts. The basic purpose of the criminal law is to protect society, not the criminal. As an eminent Justice of our United States Supreme Court observed, 'The necessity of public protection against crime is being submerged by an overflow of sentimentality."

"It is a national scandal that the streets of many of our cities are as fraught with danger as the jungle trail. The FBI is conducting an 'all out' war on crime. The entire law enforcement profession has never been more united.

"The atheistic Communist dictatorship now controls one-fourth of the earth's surface and more than one-third of her peoples. The Communist threat from without must not blind us to the Communist threat from within. The latter is reaching into the very heart of America through its espionage agents and a cunning, defiant, and lawless Communist Party, which is fanatically dedicated to the Marxist cause of world enslavement and destruction of our Republic.

"America's emblem is the soaring eagle—not the blind and timid mole. Fear, apologies, defeatism and cowardice are alien to the thinking of true Americans! As for me, I would rather be DEAD than RED!"

Freeway Openings

Being Made Mean Much to Pontiac and Vicinity

Horse sense: What he who engages in horse play hasn't much of.

The bridges on the Dixie Highway at its cloverleaf intersection with the new 75 Freeway north of Pontiac have been completed and opened to traffic. Northbound traffic goes over the freeway, and southbound traffic goes under it. The freeway itself will not be opened until next year.

That segment of the 23 Freeway between Lemen's Corners and Fenton, according to State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, will be opened for traffic on Friday of this week.

This means that Pontiac area motorists can go out West Huron Street, which merges into Highland Road (M-59) for 23 miles to the 23 Freeway at Lemen's Corners. Turning right there, after next Monday, the new 23 Freeway will be completed for over 200 miles, without a traffic light, the longest freeway strip in the nation, to the Straits, with the exception of a few miles near Gaylord—and that's open to traffic.

When our new 75 Freeway is completed next year, it will merge into the 23 Freeway, just southwest of Flint.

It Isn't Often You Step on Two at Once

David Lawrence Says:

'Court Rules on Case, Not the Law'

WASHINGTON — It has been repeatedly stated by some eminent jurists that the Supreme Court of the United States decides not "the law of the land" but "the law of the case"—and the court's latest decision in the matter of "sit-in" demonstrations

LAWRENCE

For nobody who reads the decision can be certain what the court's opinion means with respect to other "sit-in" demonstrations.

The high court was "unanimous" only in reversing the convictions of the 16 alleged offenders in this particular case. There are countless more cases arising out of "sit-ins" on the way up to the high court.

But everything the justices say is important and could have a bearing on the decision of future cases. Thus, Justice Douglas declares that it is a violation of the Constitution to serve Negroes or whites separately in a restaurant of any kind or to keep them out of a retail store by any process of discrimination, and that the federal government can step in and have such acts declared unconstitutional.

OPINION CONFUSING

The most confusing of the four opinions delivered, however, is that of the majority as announced by the chief justice. The claim is made that the "sit-in" demonstrators did not seek a breach of the peace in a legal sense under Louisiana law.

The Supreme Court majority opinion holds that the question before the court was not whether the demonstrators had a right to be on the premises of a private establishment but whether they had the right to serve only those whom he chooses.

Instead, the court says that the Louisiana statute—which the 16 were convicted—defines "disturbing the peace" as "engaging in a fistful encounter," or "using insulting language," or "appearing in an intoxicated condition," or "holding an unlawful assembly," or commission of any other act "in such a manner as to unreasonably disturb or alarm the public."

It was this last point which is discussed at length, and the Louisiana law is quoted as requiring that the accused shall have conducted himself in a manner that would foreseeably disturb or alarm the public.

The high court's opinion says:

"We think that the above discussion would give ample support to a conclusion that Louisiana law requires a finding of outwardly boisterous or unruly conduct in order to charge a defendant with 'disturbing the peace' or 'alarming the public.'"

But Justice Douglas thinks otherwise, as he says:

"Church members are the folks whose empty pews fill our churches."

"In the environment of a segregated community I can understand how the mere presence of a Negro at a white lunch counter might inflame some people as much as fistfuls would in other places."

PUBLIC PLACES

Yet Justice Douglas would reverse the convictions on the ground that solely because he feels that restaurants operating under municipal licenses are public places "affected with a public interest" and hence are subject to the same ban against racial discrimination as any "public facility." He writes:

"One can close the doors of his home to anyone he desires. But one who operates an enterprise from a license from the government enjoys a privilege that derives from the people."

Justice Frankfurter, in his concurring opinion, says that "silent persistence in sitting after service is refused could no doubt conceivably exacerbate feelings to the boiling point" but that the records are "barren of evidence" on the subject.

Justice Harlan, in his separate opinion, says it is undisputed that the "sit-in" program "had caused considerable racial tension" and he feels that there was sufficient evidence for the arrest and conviction as disturbers of the peace. But he thinks the defendants should be released for other reasons—namely, that they remained at the lunch counter with "the implied consent" of the management.

Can anybody be clear now as to what "the law of the land" is? The only thing that's clear is that this is "the law of the case."

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Protect Your Own Body Against Winter 'Storms'

If you have just winterized your home and your car, maybe you've lost interest in the following health hints for the protection of your own motor and chassis:

Dress snugly but don't pile layer upon layer of clothes. You preserve body heat best by preventing its escape. Long underwear, high stockings and a form-fitting sweater will do your body good than heavy, bulky outer clothing.

If you heat your home, guard against excessive drying. Moisture the air with steam from a kettle. There's no need to medicate the steam.

Ventilate your bedroom at night unless the weather makes it impossible to open a window. Infections are never caused nor favored by cold or drafts.

AVOID SUNBURN
If you try to escape winter by visiting or living in a tropical of semitropical climate, don't expose yourself to sunburn.

Don't try to outsmart nature by use of sunbath preparations, or sunbath preventatives. Don't go Hollywood and wear tinted glasses unless they are recommended by your physician or your eye consultant and made to your prescription.

To prevent skin drying, flaking and "winter itch," whether from overheated rooms of overexposure to sun, keep your skin lubricated. Use the least expensive, nonmedicated preparation such as aloe cream (non-scented).

Particularly use it between your fingers and toes, on your scalp, under your breast, in the groin and crotch, and in your ear canals. To apply it to the canals, first dry with a cotton applicator and then apply with a twisting motion. And for lubrication of your nasal passages, use a fine spray of a nonmedicated mineral oil.

If you're past middle age, pregnant or a victim of a chronic disease of any sort, ask your doctor if he favors immunization (vaccines) (NOT influenza but influenza vaccine or any mixed vaccine).

Whether or not immunized, keep at least arm's length from anyone

'It's Impossible for Anyone to Ever Top John Kennedy'

Does anybody in his right mind think a man like Barry Goldwater could ever best John F. Kennedy, the greatest president we ever had? If Kennedy is beaten it would have to be by someone more like Kennedy than Kennedy is and that's impossible. He's the best man that we ever had in the White House.

Sports at Avondale Spark Interest

About Avondale athletics, I'd like to know why my boy and his friends responded so well to the junior high teams, but not for the high school. The same kids who won championships at the junior high are now playing football and basketball in my back yard. What happened to their enthusiasm? They seem enthusiastic about the sport, but care little about playing on the teams at the high school.

A Concerned Mother.

Let's forget sports at Avondale. If we do a good job teaching the 3 R's we have a big job. Let's spend the sport money on the best teachers. I'm sure that sports should take a back seat, especially if "Concerned" says that not enough kids are playing anyway.

Sees Relief for Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—William Mitchell, federal director of the Cuban refugee program, said today he believes enough voluntary resettlements can be achieved to help both the refugees and the Miami area in which they center.

Mitchell, who is commissioner of Social Security, presented the view in testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on refugees and escapees. He was named by Secretary of State John F. Kennedy to handle all federal aspects of the Cuban refugee situation.

"Urgent Situation"

Mitchell told the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the situation "is fraught with urgency—urgency for the sake of the communities of Dade County (Miami, Fla.)—for the refugees generally, and particularly for the children."

"I do not see any reason for panic either," he added.

Mitchell said the refugee center at Miami has been reorganized and government efforts stepped up to increase the number of voluntary resettlements. Even without the steps, resettlements have been increasing, he said.

"We believe that voluntary resettlements in sufficient numbers can be achieved to improve substantially the situation for the refugees in Dade County and to reduce the pressure on Dade County itself," he said.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Mail Consultation Service

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE K-475: Maurine T., aged 19, is a stenographer in a county courthouse.

"Dr. Crane, I must see you. I wrote from a distant city. I am so unhappy. I don't know what to do."

"I can't write about my case because it is so very unusual. Unless I hear from you to the contrary, I'll be in your office on Saturday at 1 o'clock."

YOUTHFUL EGOTISM
What I usually reply to such people is that the newspaper offers them a consultation service by mail. They have access to it every day through this psychology column.

Your letters are forwarded to me unopened. You have perfect privacy, and it costs you simply the stamped, self-addressed envelope, plus 25 cents for typing costs.

I'd much rather have you put your problem down on paper, for that helps you visualize your own case. Besides, I can then get the gist of it in five minutes, and thus save my time, which is very limited and consequently costs the private patient a high fee.

In Maurine's case, however, I was out of Chicago on an extensive speaking trip when her letter reached my office. I arrived home late Friday night. Next day I stayed at home to write these Case Records. But shortly after lunch my phone rang.

It was Maurine. She had come to Chicago for a personal appointment, although I had not yet acknowledged her request. Yet she foolishly came to Chicago to see me without even knowing if I'd be in the city when she arrived!

Swamped with work, I didn't want to go downtown, which is 11 miles away from my home. Maurine persisted, however, that she was so unhappy and couldn't tell me about it on the phone, for it was so very unusual and she had come all the way to Chicago to see me.

Finally, I agreed to meet her at my office, because I decided I ought to show a "little charity" even though she had done a stupid thing. Besides, I thought maybe she was desperate and might commit suicide.

Well, do you know what her unusual problem was? A problem so unique she couldn't even place it upon paper?

Sleepy the fact that she had put on a poor excuse of extra weight! And that wasn't the worst of it. She had already consulted a good physician in her home town who had put her on a sensible diet.

"Didn't your diet work?" I inquired.

"Oh, yes," she replied, "but I haven't stuck to it, and now I am heavier than before. What can I do, Dr. Crane?"

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN

In my opinion this is distinctly an educational column. I try to present the latest scientific information in the field of psychology, and usually don't attempt to invade the province of your medical columnist unless the subject has a distinct psychological aspect.

I present the same material here which I have used in my psychology courses at the university, so this is really an extension of university course which your newspaper offers the community.

I always think of you, my dear

Along this hour of the day...

When there are dappled clouds on high...

And I am many miles away...

And when the heaven over me is blue...

Like a lake of solid blue...

My thoughts with strong expansive wings...

Are flying swiftly back to you...

And when the golden sunbeams lean...

Against my little window pane...

I start to pace around the floor...

Because I long for you again...

And when the wind down in the street...

Is singing like a troubadour...

His tender love songs make me wish...

That I were waiting at your door...

But when I see upon the sky...

A giant rainbow softly glow...

I know the time has come to pack...

And to your waiting arms to go.

Robot's Filibuster Ties Up British Telephones

By HARRY FERGUSON

LONDON (UPI) — Let us consider in advance and sympathy the ordeal of Her Majesty's Post Office, which operates all the telephones in Britain and will continue to do so unless the personnel have a mass nervous breakdown.

The bald facts are that robots are filibustering each other over the telephone, dogs are putting in emergency maternity calls and adults in the city of Hull have difficulty communicating with one another because kids have the phones tied up listening to bedtime stories.

Slow and easy now and one at a time.

Outside London there is an automatic device called Robot George. His duty is to signal when there is a power failure. The power failed and, true to his trust, "George" dialed zero and said: "There is a power failure, please send repair men."

The human beings in Her Majesty's Post Office had goofed by not advising Robot George that the zero had been changed to 100.

But Robot Charlie in London, Majesty's Post Office was asked, picked up the ball and advised Robert George: "You no longer dial zero for operator. Please replace your receiver and dial 100."

"There's a power failure," repeated Robot George.

"You no longer dial zero for operator," repeated Robot Charlie.

"How long did they filibuster each other?" Ted Doherty of Her Majesty's Post Office was asked, "At least three hours," he replied. "They were sort of like statesmen at a peace conference. If you know what I mean. Lots of talk but no action."

Bess, an Alsatian, was in a garage near Huddersfield when she felt the pangs of approaching motherhood. She went over to a corner of the garage and knocked the receiver off the phone.

A telephone operator dialed 500, the emergency number, and told police she had heard what sounded like children crying.

Police located Dennis Hellawell, owner of the garage, and went to the scene.

Bess already had given birth to two puppies and later there were four more.

"Smart dog," said Hellawell. "The puppies weren't due for several days yet."

Somebody in the telephone exchange at Hull thought up the idea of setting up a special service whereby in the evening hours children could dial 211 and hear a four-minute bedtime story.

The charge was three cents a call. The name of the person who had this brilliant inspiration is not revealed, but it should be Frankenstein.

In four months kids put in 33,000 calls. Life got rough for every adult between 5 and 8 p.m.

The telephone exchange began to run out of bedtime stories. Now they are offering 70 cents a story for each accepted.

Cardinal to Attend Jewish Rites for Boy

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — Richard Cardinal Cushing and Roman Catholic nuns today will attend Jewish funeral services here for Steven Smith, 14, who drowned while gathering Christmas greens.

The youngster, a student at St. Collette's school — for exceptional children in Hanover, wandered away from his classmates last Friday in the woods and apparently stumbled into a pond and drowned. His body was found Tuesday.

The Cardinal thanked some 2,500 persons who took part in the search for the boy who was handicapped physically.

Reshuffle Plan Hit at Con-Con

Romney's Suggestion Is Called a Return to Rotten Borough System

DETROIT (AP) — George Romney's reapportionment plan came under fire of Detroit Councilman Ed Carey Tuesday at the first public hearing of the constitutional convention's reapportionment committee in Detroit.

Carey didn't mention Romney by name in criticizing "the latest reapportionment plan presented by an officer of the constitutional convention." Romney is a vice president of the convention.

Romney has recommended a reshuffle of from 24 to 28 members with an unspecified number to be elected from districts of equal population and the rest to be elected from thinly populated areas.

Carey asserted, "If we follow that plan, we'll be going back to the rotten borough system of Old England."

Carey is chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors. He was the first of eight speakers scheduled to address the reapportionment committee headed by John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University.

To Stop Forwarding Third Class Mail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Post Office Department announced Tuesday that after Jan. 10 it will not forward third class mail of "no obvious value," such as advertising circulars and some catalogs.

The department said that under new regulations third class mail of no obvious value and not covered by a specific return request will be destroyed.

Senders who want undeliverable third class mail and some fourth class catalogs returned must pay 8 cents for each piece returned. They must mark their mail "return requested" in order to get it back.

Nativity Scene Proves Unsafe —Donkey Bites

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — The moral of this story is: don't trust a donkey—even when he's part of a Nativity scene.

Mildred Morford, 50, Newport, went to feed the donkey in a stall next to the crib on the Campbell County court house lawn. The donkey bit her left hand.

Mrs. Morford was treated and released at a hospital. The donkey is still on the job.

Motor Sounded Off, but Radiator Missing

DETROIT (AP) — The garage mechanic wasn't fooling when he told Mabel McCoy of Detroit that "it sounds like you've got radiator trouble."

After lifting the hood, he found the entire radiator was missing. Mrs. McCoy said she believed it was stolen while her car was parked near the Detroit school where she is a lunchroom employee.

Dismiss Official for Outside Job

Parole Board Member Fired; Refused to Quit
Work for Hospital Body

LANSING (AP) — The State Corrections Commission has fired John A. MacLellan, a Detroit attorney, from the State Parole Board.

The commission said MacLellan was dismissed Tuesday when he refused to quit his part-time employment as attorney for the Michigan Hospital Association.

His outside job, the commission said, "was incompatible with a position as sensitive as that of a parole board member."

MacLellan indicated he would appeal the dismissal to the State Civil Service Commission.

Gus Harrison, state corrections director, said he had received several complaints that MacLellan was engaging in lobbying activities in behalf of the hospital association, which formerly employed him as a legislative agent.

MacLellan denied it. Several legislators who have had dealings with him said he had not attempted to influence them in behalf of the hospital group since he was named to the five-man parole board last year.

The job pays $12,500 a year.

Yule Spirit Grips Police Dept.'s Meter Readers

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Overtime parkers in Rock Island will find on their windshield next week tickets reading:

"Give the dollar that a ticket would have cost you to your favorite charity. The entire city administration, through its police department, wishes you a joyous and happy holiday season."

The City Council voted to run the moratorium on parking fines from Monday through Christmas Day.

The police chief warned, however, that motorists taking advantage of the Yule spirit to park all day at a metered spot will get regular tickets—and fines.

Miner in Spain Rescued After Week Eating Bark

OVIEDO, Spain (AP)—A miner trapped with two other men in a cave-in eight days ago was brought up alive by rescue workers Tuesday night.

The miner, Pedro Avelino Diaz, 31, said he subsisted on water and pieces of wood bark. Doctors pronounced him in good condition. A second miner died in the cave-in. The third man is still missing.

Official Finds It Catching

Rehabilitation Fever Sweeps Pontiac Area

BY DICK SAUNDERS

Health department forecast for 1962: Pontiac's near East Side will be overrun by a new disease.

Roland H. Bourke, Pontiac's urban renewal rehabilitation officer, calls this disease "rehab fever."

Aside from being new, it's also "wonderful" and "very communicable," according to Bourke.

His office just happens to be in the Pontiac Health Department at city hall. His job is to convince residents that home rehabilitation is necessary and that it pays off.

"The hard thing is getting it started," Bourke explains. "Once it's introduced in a neighborhood, it's very catching."

"A few newly painted homes in a blighted area make the others look pretty bad. This starts a chain reaction that is growing to 'epidemic' proportions."

More than $200,000 has already been spent by property owners on rehabilitation.

Is the cost too high? According to Bourke there are some "hardship cases" although city planners advise homeowners on the best means of rehabilitating, arrange for loans and set up a time schedule within the owner's ability to pay.

"In most cases it pays to rehabilitate," Bourke says.

"The real eye-sees are being torn down. New homes and parks will replace them. The city is recapturing streets and replacing sidewalks without assessments."

"In other words, you don't end up with a nice house in a run-down neighborhood; you have a nice house in a nice neighborhood," Bourke says.

He suggests that the operation could be a total success "if we could interest someone in setting up a sort of philanthropic fund."

NO INTEREST RATE
"This has been very successful in handling hardship cases in other cities," he says.

"It's like borrowing from a fund at no interest rate, with the understanding that when you die, the money will be paid back from the sale of your home."

"In cases where homeowners refuse to rehabilitate the city may have to take them into court to enforce code violations."

Nothing like this has happened as yet. Generally, the "fever" has caught on.

SOME EXAMPLES
Excellent examples of this community effort are Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Cervantes of 149 Perkins St.

They've completed more than $2,000 worth of work on their two-story frame home. "Cervantes did much of his own work and the result makes it hard to believe this is the same home we originally inspected," said Bourke.

He moderated his front porch, put a new roof on, painted the house, improved the driveway and replaced the sidewalk from the house to the garage.

Inside he put in a new bathroom from the plumbing to the wall tile for about $600, tiled kitchen and pantry floors, and redecorated his living room, dining room and hallway.

Walter Young of 148 Whittemore St., has put $1,740 into rehabilitation of his two-story frame home. Most of his work was inside where he installed a new bathroom, and redecorated his "hallway," living, and dining rooms and a bedroom.

Outside he remodeled a dilapidated garage so it now looks brand new, and he improved his front porch.

The "new" Berry home looks like a million dollars, cost about $1,485.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Mayes, 218 S. Paddock St., showed enthusiasm from the start. What they've accomplished with their one-story stone and frame home has encouraged others in the neighborhood.

An example of a nonresident owner who rehabilitates is Oliver Lawson of Temperance.

When first approached about his two-story duplex at 17 Hovey St.,

Lawson's reaction was "I might as well sell it."

Lawson said he'd had trouble getting reliable tenants anyway and didn't want to put good money after bad. Planners sat down and talked with him.

They showed him what was planned for his neighborhood. Lawson ended up putting more than $4,500 into rehabilitation. The "reliable" tenants are coming back and when the whole area is revitalized, Lawson should be able to name his price.

SOME UNDER $100
The cost is not always high. Many jobs cost less than $1,000. Some are under $100.

Oral Fugitt of 200 Whittemore St., owns a home at 86 Willard St. that was in need of repair. He redecorated the interior and replaced a front walk and cement steps for about $578.

These are but a few of the people who have started the ball rolling. Urban renewal experts say that by next summer "rehab fever" should be a common ailment of the near East Side.

Young Bandit Slain in Attempted Holdup

DETROIT (AP) — A young bandit was wounded fatally early today after his intended victim wrestled a revolver from him during an attempted holdup of a West Side bar.

Police identified the victim as John C. Hadden Jr., 22. They said he was paroled from the Detroit House of Correction last May, after serving six months on a breaking and entering conviction.

Hadden was shot with his own revolver by Richard T. Kicinski, 37, in Kicinski's bar. Kicinski said police he was talking to three patrons when three masked bandits entered.

One of the bandits pulled out a revolver and Kicinski struggled with him.

The gun went off twice—the second bullet striking Hadden near the heart. The other bandits fled.

Baby Chokes to Death

DETROIT (AP) — Eight-month-old Jerri Born choked to death Tuesday when she became entangled in a pair of suspenders in her crib at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Born in Sumpter Township.

Newspapers Scolded for Printing 'Fortunes'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Watson Davis, director and editor of Science Service, says newspapers should quit publishing horoscopes and astrological forecasts.

"Newspapers are engaged in propaganda for the superstition of astrology through their daily publication of horoscopes," Davis declared Tuesday as a guest lecturer at the University of Michigan.

Davis, whose nonprofit organization distributes scientific news to the press, said the U.S. press by and large is doing "a very creditable job" of reporting science news.

But he cited horoscopes as an example of what he termed the press' "failure to apply the rigorous criteria of scientific truth to fields of utmost concern to public health and well-being."

"Astronomers," he said, "repudiate the influence upon human lives of birth dates and supposed configurations of stars and planets. Yet newspapers which adhere to their own canons publish such fallacies."

Astroslogy in newspapers, Davis said, is part of "a discouraging prevalence of false and dangerous antiscience that is foisted upon the public, sometimes even by media most accepted and respectable."

Davis also criticized the press for failing to campaign editorially for causes that he listed as being of public benefit.

Among these, he said, are fluoridation of water supplies, birth control, mass immunization against diseases, and restriction of medical nostrums, food fads and dangerous and useless cosmetics.

Dies in Nine Days After Bridge Fall

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — Francis Patrick Kennedy, the second person to survive a plunge from San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, died early today of injuries suffered in the 200-foot fall nine days ago.

The 35-year-old Oakland, Calif., youth vaulted over the rail of the span shortly before dawn Dec. 3. He landed on a rain-soaked road — but survived the plunge which has caused at least 215 immediate deaths.

He was taken to Marin County Hospital in San Rafael in critical condition with internal injuries and dislocations of both elbows. Death came while he was still under treatment at the hospital.

At Moral Rearmament Parley

550 'Crusaders' Gather

PETROPOLIS, Brazil (AP)—From 33 countries around the world more than 550 Moral Rearmament stalwarts flocked to this mountain resort overlooking Rio de Janeiro to hear day after day the stories of people who claimed they had switched their allegiance from communism or violent nationalism.

A former Mau Mau leader, Nahashon Ngare, told the conference that he was directly responsible for the slaying of white men in Kenya.

"I myself killed some of them," he said. "My heart was full of hate and bitterness."

Like others who stepped to the rostrum to confess past sins, Ngare said he finally saw the light while serving a prison term.

"I know there is a more effective way to bring true liberty to Africa," he said. "This new offensive and superior ideology is moral rearmament."

Day after day the story of the MRA conference here was the same. Peruvian students who claimed they stoned former Vice President Richard Nixon apologized to his mother, Mrs. Hannah.

Mrs. Hannah Milhouse Nixon, in a dramatic session last Saturday night.

TERMINED SUCCESS
Moral Rearmament leaders here call the conference a success. There were no issues to be decided and no votes to be taken.

MRA officials said the end of the conference Monday was the kick-off for a massive offensive in Latin America. A conference spokesman asked just what the offensive was, said details would be worked out later.

For an outsider it was difficult to say whether the conference was a success. Its only announced aim was to push MRA's so-called "superior ideology" that much further ahead.

Newspaper offices were flooded with Moral Rearmament handouts but relatively little of it appeared in Brazilian newspapers.

Among those invited to attend the conference were former President Eisenhower, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

None showed up, although Tshombe got as far as Paris and then was broke out in his Congo province. The Brazilian government was glad he didn't come.

Among those who did attend was U.S. cowboy star Roy Rogers, who endorses MRA.

PAINTING KITCHEN — Mrs. Freeman Mayes, 218 S. Paddock St., was one of the first residents in Pontiac's urban renewal area to begin rehabilitation of her home. The Mayes' rehab program cost about $1,800 and included a new roof, painting exterior trim, rubber tile floors in three rooms and remodeling the kitchen. Mrs. Mayes was a "model" for her neighborhood and has since passed the "rehab fever" on to other nearby residents.

Seek Estimate of Replacement

Wisner Lights on Board Agenda

New lights for Wisner Stadium may be included in the Pontiac School District 1962-63 budget, if the board of education gives the go-ahead this Thursday.

A request to select an architect-engineer to do a current estimate of replacing the present lighting is on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. board meeting at 40 Patterson St.

Need for new lights became critical this fall at a Detroit Lions exhibition scrimmage, when a downpour of rain burst or knocked out some lights, showering glass upon spectators.

New lights have been in the board's supplementary budget requests for several years but never made the final budget.

Dr. Otto C. Hutziger, assistant superintendent for business, made this week's request. He noted that, "recent studies at Wisner Stadium have disclosed levels of illumination of from 6 to 8-foot candles.

"Current recommendations for a field of this size call for from 30 to 50-foot candles."

SOOT PROBLEM

In other business, the board will be handed a soot problem resulting from use of two 34-year-old boilers at Pontiac Central High School.

The boilers, used as stand-bys when regular boilers' coal conveyors and stokers break down, have been blamed by neighbors for depositing fly ash and soot over the neighborhood.

Hutziger is requesting the board to okay a preliminary study and cost estimate on conversion of the boilers to oil or replacement of the conveyors and stoker units.

Also on the agenda are a report on community college development by Supt. Dana F. Whitmer, discussion of themes for the 1962 Annual Report, and an oral report by Asst. Supt. Philip J. Proud on recruitment plans for 1962-63.

To Modernize Highway

LANSING — The State Highway Department has announced preliminary plans for the modernization of nearly five miles of U.S. 31 between Eastport and Atwood in Antrim County. The new highway will be four feet wider than the existing two-lane pavement. The estimated $500,000 project is scheduled to be placed under contract next summer.

Most westerly point in the U.S. is not in the state of Hawaii, but in Attu Island in Alaska.

Adolf Eichmann Has No Doubts Concerning Verdict

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, 36, accused of being a major cog in Nazi Germany's plan to exterminate the Jews, faces his Israeli judges for a verdict he predicts will go against him.

Tried for crimes against the Jewish people, the former Gestapo colonel told the court last July:

"I know that I will be found guilty as an accomplice to murder. I know that I face the death penalty and I do not ask for mercy for I am not worthy of this."

His three judges weighed Eichmann's words and the evidence presented in a four-month trial which ended Aug. 14. They have reviewed the testimony of more than 100 witnesses, many of whom pictured Eichmann as a relentless hunter of the Jews who never let up, even when he was standing in the dust of the Third Reich.

Unmoved by masses of documentary evidence and testimony, Eichmann argued he only carried out orders and never acted on his own.

"As for moral guilt, I stand here and judge myself for the part I played," Eichmann declared.

"But I do not consider myself legally guilty. I received orders and I carried out orders."

Prosecutor Gideon Hausner repeatedly pressed Eichmann to admit he was more than a cog in the Nazi murder apparatus.

"Admit you helped murder millions of Jews," the prosecutor demanded in cross-examination.

"No, I cannot admit this," Eichmann said. "If carrying out orders led to deportations and if some of these deported Jews met their deaths, then the question must be examined from a legal viewpoint to determine if I am guilty of what happened. On moral grounds, yes, I am guilty."

Eichmann faces sentencing on 15 counts of an indictment charging him with crimes against the Jews and against humanity under terms of the Nazi and Nazi collaborators' law adopted in Israel in 1950.

CHALLENGES COURT
His counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius, unsuccessfully challenged the right of the court to try the defendant under this law. The West German attorney based his challenge on the fact the law was passed after the events it is designed to punish.

The white-haired Cologne lawyer also challenged Israel's right to try Eichmann on grounds he was forcibly abducted by Israeli agents in Argentina in May 1960.

The court quoted precedents from half a dozen nations in rejecting Servatius' challenges.

A number of legal developments are possible. Assuming he is convicted, there may be an appeal to the Supreme Court. If the higher court upholds the judgment an appeal for clemency may follow.

The major Nazi criminals behind the massacre of the Jews—Hitler, Himmler, Heydrich—are long dead.

But prodded by Hausner and his three judges, Eichmann recalled the grim story of Nazi genocide which swept away millions of men, women and children.

He also described in detail, complete with multicolored charts he drew from memory, the labyrinth of the machinery which kept the death mills of Auschwitz, Majdanek, Treblinka, Chelmo and Sobibor grinding through the war.

TELLS OF TRIPS
Eichmann told of trips to Auschwitz and other death centers but repeatedly claimed he was concerned only with timetables and transportation.

Hausner then presented captured Nazi documents he said depicted Eichmann as a man with life and death power who repeatedly rejected appeals—including some from the Nazi Foreign Ministry—on behalf of Jews condemned to the death camps.

Hausner cited documentary evidence from associates, some still living in West Germany, purporting to show the former Gestapo colonel executed even Himmler in pursuing Hungarian Jews after the Nazis ordered a halt in hopes of better terms from the advancing Allies.

Again and again, Hausner returned to the Sassen interviews, growing out of a meeting between Eichmann and Dutch journalist Wilhelm Sassen in a Buenos Aires coffee shop almost five years ago.

Hausner introduced records of the interviews, corrected in Eichmann's own handwriting, in which the defendant portrayed himself as a kingpin in the extermination plot.

EXPLAINS
Eichmann acknowledged the corrections were his, but explained "we drank quite a lot" during the interviews.

Eichmann is quoted in the Sassen documents as saying he would "jump into my grave laughing happy in the knowledge that five million enemies of the Reich have preceded me."

In the last stages of his trial, Eichmann offered the defense of Pontius Pilate.

Looking directly at his judges, Eichmann declared:

"I did everything in my power not to do this work. I was an instrument in the hands of others, those stronger than me. I wash my hands clean, not in regard to the law, but in regard to my inner feelings."

Summing up his prosecution, Atty. Gen. Hausner said, "The Jewish people, to its great tragedy, were the Nazis' first victim, although there are plentiful signs that if the Nazis had been victorious they would not have been the last."

"What was done to them cries out for justice. I ask you, judges of Israel, to render a just and righteous verdict."

KENNEDY, LODGE CONFER — President Kennedy and Henry Cabot Lodge, the GOP vice presidential candidate last year, confer in the President's White House office Tuesday. Santa Rescued From Icy Winds Atop Flag Pole
A spell of rain, crisp winds and 20-degree cold had poor Santa so hoarse Tuesday he could hardly say "Merry Christmas" to children at a telephone booth.

Finally, he said, "I'm beginning to feel numb. Get me down." A husky fireman was dispatched up an aerial ladder to retrieve him.

Six professors from as many colleges wrote the book as a project of the Modern Language Association and with the support of the Rockefeller Foundation. The collaboration was done at the University of Texas.

Clad in a Santa suit, professional pole sitter Dixie Blandy had been dispensing Christmas cheer for 12 days from a perch high above a suburban shopping center.

Economic Plan for Pontiac OK

ARA Approval Means City Can Seek Federal Aid for Needed Projects

The Over-all Economic Development Program (OEDP) for Pontiac was approved yesterday by the Area Redevelopment Administration in Washington, D.C.

City administrators submitted the OEDP for federal approval several months ago. It supplemented the OEDP for the six-county Metropolitan Detroit area.

ARA approval of the general plan means the city can apply for federal aid in financing needed projects outlined in the program.

It does not, however, mean aid would automatically be forthcoming. All future applications would have to be approved on their individual merits.

Projects outlined in the city's OEDP include Clinton River-Pontiac Creek improvements, sewage treatment, water supply and recreation facilities.

It also makes non-profit corporations eligible to apply for federal financial assistance in development projects such as the buying, developing and resale of urban renewal lands.

Nativity Scene at Courthouse Really Legal?

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The American Civil Liberties Union has suggested in a letter that the Marin County Board of Supervisors look into the legality of putting up the customary nativity scene on the courthouse lawn.

Milen C. Dempster, ACLU Marin County chairman, said the display would violate the principle of keeping church and state separate.

The supervisors turned the letter over to the county attorney for an opinion. A board spokesman said, "We've had trouble in past years. Vandals are always making off with the sheep, and two years ago someone stole the 'Christ' child."

Santa Claus directed his reindeer on a special mission to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Tuesday afternoon for the annual clinic children's Christmas party. One of the several doctors of the attending medical staff who came dressed as St. Nick chatted with some of the

Don't Hide Freckles; 'Use' Them

If you have always believed that freckles are a handicap to high-fashion beauty, don't you believe it, says a famous beauty authority. Freckles are really one of Nature's greatest youth gifts, for they are scattered across the faces of the young and generally disappear with full maturity.

LET 'EM SHOW

Women who have freckles should use them to their advantage. Let them show through a flattering veil of sheer cosmetics make-up foundation when you don sports or patio clothes. Camouflage them with a more opaque cake make-up foundation application for important occasions.

Only cover them completely when siren evenings come along. The big secret of looking beautiful at any time is to emphasize your eyes and lips with high-fashion make-up so these important features do not get lost among the freckles.

Alcohol Was a Big 'Cure-all' for Victorians

By ALICIA HART

Newspaper Enterprises Assn. Not long ago, I brought home from England a copy of Mrs. Beeton. Now, Mrs. Beeton was England's Victorian authority on cooking, household management and beauty. Modern editions of her books are still sold in England.

'STRONG' ADVICE

Mine, however, is the Victorian edition. And some of the Victorian notions on how to be beautiful are interesting. For instance, Mrs. Beeton recommends that weak hair be washed in brandy three times a week. There's no doubt that this would give hair a certain amount of body! But it wouldn't dry it out further. Mrs. Beeton also recommends washing lace collars in beer and cleaning spots from silk with gin or whisky, and can only conclude that the Victorians had a great faith in alcohol as a household cure-all, of sorts.

She also felt that hot water was the best way to beautiful skin. We know now, of course, that very hot water should never be used on the face.

Club Elects New Officers

Donald P. Green is newly elected president of Forest Lake Country Club, Bloomfield Hills. Serving with him are Albert P. Meadows as vice president; Victor Cramer, treasurer; and Richard R. Norris, secretary. New board members are Lowell N. May, Leonard W. Orr and Elroy L. Sandberg. Ralph E. Hunt and L. B. Stevens are also on the board.

There were goodies galore Tuesday for the St. Joseph clinic children who reportedly are "... good all year" in anticipation of their party. Sipping and munching happily are Eddie Campbell, 7, and Betty Ann Gilbert, 3. The entire hospital staff, auxiliary members and McAuley Practical Nursing School students planned the celebration.

Maryland Moths Get Indigestion

In one of the laboratories of the National Institute of Drycleaning in Silver Spring, Maryland, is a fairly large cabinet which contains thousands of healthy moths.

They are carefully catered to by Frank Hoek who is a Technical Service Chemist for the Institute. He keeps their cabinet temperature at 80°F. and the relative humidity at 55%.

And he even feeds them a mixture of brewers yeast and dog food which is more nourishing than the wool that every good moth normally thrives on. But even MID's moths are eventually fed wool.

DIET DELIGHT

The wool diet comes in the form of "2x2" woolen sweaters. Three of these sweaters are sent to a member drycleaner upon his request. The cleaner then mothproofs the sweaters along with his customer's garments. The sweaters are returned to the Institute where our moths begin their woolen feasts which last for 28 days. Then the sweaters are compared to a fourth untreated control sweater, which by then is riddled with moth holes.

BEETLE TEST

NID uses the Black Carpet Beetle in its larval stage for their mothproofing tests. Mr. Hoek says, "They are the most hardy species and the hardest to repel. And we use them between the ages of 3 to 4½ months since that's when they are at the height of their eating ability."

Abby Says: Don't Expect Any

No Rule About Presents

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I go to the same beauty shop once a week and I always tip my hairdresser. At Christmas time I notice some of her customers bringing her beautifully wrapped presents.

I feel rather cheap because I don't give her a present at Christmas, thinking that a tip every week is enough to show my appreciation. Am I wrong?

ABBY

DEAR GOOD CUSTOMER: DEAR GOOD: The "tip" you give your hairdresser is HER bread and butter. The shop should express its appreciation for your steady patronage.

age. Some do—but don't count on it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. My boy friend doesn't trust me. He keeps saying that I would go out with his brother if he'd ask me. Well, his brother has asked me and I turned him down. Should I tell my boy friend about this or not?

G.A.P.: No. Blood is thicker than water—and it boils faster.

DEAR ABBY: Why are all the girls trying to lose weight? I am 25, considered a fairly good-looking man, work steady, am not stupid and, frankly, I like a girl to be on the heavy side. In fact, I like them to be really BIG! Generally speaking, a fat girl has a better disposition, goes out of her way to please a fellow and, believe it or not, the fat girls are better dancers! Unfortunately, all the girls I know are on the thin side. I am still looking. Any suggestions? LIKE'S 'EM FAT

Visitor Deserved Warning

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband's sister visited us, uninvited but not unwelcome, with her 5-year-old son who is a very early riser—3:30 to 6. When he awakened he would go into my children's room and awaken them. My children, 6 and 8, are used to sleeping until 8 and they did not like being awakened so early in the morning. I told my children to lock their bedroom door at night so that he would not be able to get into their room.

My sister-in-law was very resentful of this and feels that I was very discourteous. She complained to her brother (my husband) about this and he thinks I was wrong to tell the children to lock their door. I would very much like to have your views on this matter.

A: You should have explained to your sister-in-law about your children sleeping until 8 and asked her please not to let her son wake them until then. If after your request he continued waking them, you would have been justified in telling them to lock their door.

Q: My sister feels that it is proper to ask one who telephones a member of the family who isn't in, "Who shall I say called?" I feel that it is not polite to ask any such question except on a business telephone, as the person calling may not want to leave his (or her) name. What is your opinion?

A: In this situation, it would be more polite to say, "Miss Smith (or Mary) is not at home, would you like to leave a message?" Then if the one calling does not want to leave his (or her) name, the answer is merely, "No thank you!"

Q: I am a personal friend of John and Mary Smith who are both medical doctors and who practice under the name of Smith. Will you please tell me the correct way to address an invitation or letter sent to them both?

A: "Dr. John and Dr. Mary Smith" is the correct way to address them.

A: Your daughter-in-law is right, but obstinately insisting that her relatives and friends must call on her first is certainly not the way to start her married life.

As for your own attitude, no matter what the custom in your community may be, it is absurd to feel you need an invitation to go to see your own son and his new bride.

The Emily Post Institute offers guidelines on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like a free copy of "The Bride's Treasury," send it cents in coin and a self-addressed envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Bazaar and Sale Slated at Hospital

Pontiac State Hospital chapter of Psychiatric Attendant Nurses Association of Michigan has set its Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale for Thursday, in the employee's lounge of the main building. Doors will open at 11 a.m.

Proceeds from the sale go toward the patient's benefit fund to assure all patients of a Christmas gift. Final plans for the event were made recently when the group held its annual Christmas party in the Nurses' Home.

Ruth Ann Hills Exchanges Vows With William A. Hayes in Pontiac

Ruth Ann Hills exchanged nuptial vows with William A. Hayes of Prospect Street beneath an arch of holly, Saturday evening in the Apostolic Church of Christ, Rev. L. A. Parent performed the candle-light ceremony before some 200 guests, who later attended the church reception.

Daughter of Mrs. J. Dudley Hills of Arcadia Park and the late Mr. Hills, the bride was given in marriage by her brother John E. Hills of Waterford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Hayes of Phoenix City, Ala. and the late Mr. Hayes.

The bouffant floor-length bridal gown of white lace and tulle was styled with fitted bodice and wrist-point sleeves of lace. Flirtatious veiling of silk illusion was fitted to a halo of pearlized orange blossoms. Red tea roses and lilies of the valley centered the bride's cascade of white roses.

ATTENDS SISTER

Mrs. James Whittenburg attended her sister as matron of honor and the bride's sister-in-law as bridesmaid. White fur muffs topped with red pointsettias and fur crowns, complemented their ball-length dresses of red velvet.

On the esquire side were David L. Hills, brother of the bride who was best man, and ushers, Michael McCaree of Birmingham and Gary Barnett, Verner Barnes, Wallis W. Newman and Leonard Gay. Returning from a honeymoon, the couple will reside on South Marshall Street.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hills chose a dress of cotton blue velvet and matching flower hat. Her flowers were red tea roses and lilies of the valley.

New Citizens Plan Party

Board of directors of the New Citizens' League of Pontiac gathered at the Willow Beach Drive home of Mrs. Vera Mosher in Keego Harbor, Saturday evening.

Plans were completed for the annual "Christmas Around the World" program set for 8 p.m. Friday in Pontiac Central High School cafeteria. The Board voted to send its annual Christmas check to the Salvation Army. Refreshments were served by the hostess following the business session.

Just Wear Them

(NEA) — Nervous handling of eyeglasses can make any woman appear far older than her age. Yet many women will peer over their glasses at a man, push them up on the forehead, take them off to gesture and otherwise call less than subtle attention to the fact that they wear them.

If you do wear eyeglasses most of the time, put them on and forget about them. Other people will forget them, too.

Camp Fire Girls Use It

Publish Baby Sitting Book

Baby sitters need to know a great deal more than just how to care for a child. They need to know, for instance, the telephone number of the nearest neighbor. And they should know the layout of the house and location of all exits. There are many other things they should know to do a thorough, safe and enjoyable job of baby sitting. Parents need to know these requirements, too. Therefore parents, as well as baby sitters, will find the new booklet, "Child Care Course," published recently by Camp Fire Girls, Inc., helpful in providing concise, easy to read and comprehensive facts. Expressive photographs of babies brighten the cover and the heading of each chapter.

USED FOR COURSE

The book was published as a manual for the Camp Fire Girls child care course, along with an "Instructor's Guide to the Child Care Course," and a certificate awarded each girl completing the course. The "Child Care Course" booklet, however, may be ordered by any interested person, whether connected with the organization or not.

It can be an important permanent reference for all baby sitters and parents of small children. To order, write the Camp Fire Girls, Inc., Supply Division, 430 Avenue of the Americas, New York 11, N. Y., and ask for "Child Care Course" booklet, number D-274. The price is $1. The "Instructor's Guide to the Child Care Course" may be purchased for 50 cents, and the order number is D-276.

The book is crammed with facts, but written with a feeling of love and warmth that will inculcate in teen-age girls a sense of responsibility and anticipation that children are fun. It is planned to give them a sense of mission as well as to develop a spirit of resourcefulness.

PRESCRIBES TLC

Girls are told, "No matter what job you are doing with children, it is important to them that you be tender. Loving care. You may be ever so efficient in your tasks, but something will be missing if you fail to show warmth and affection. The well-being of a small child is without price. You will always want to have the safe feeling that you know exactly where to turn and what to do in case an emergency should arise."

The book then proceeds to give them information needed for all foreseeable situations. Girls are warned not to broadcast to friends where they will be working. They are cautioned not to give over the telephone the information that parents are away while they are on duty. They are told to say instead that the person asked for cannot be disturbed and to offer to take any messages.

Baby sitters are urged to arrive fifteen minutes early — on their own time — for their first assignment in a home, in order to become acquainted and secure necessary information. The outside-front door light should be left on, or any other outside door light. Draperies or shades should be drawn in the rooms where the baby sitter is working. All outside doors and screen doors should be locked, and ground-floor windows likewise should be locked with the exception of those open for air.

Girls are advised to take with them a flashlight and possibly play materials. They are given advice on the kinds of playthings they may make or collect which will be intriguing to children of different ages. Tips follow on other types of entertainment for youngsters, such as storytelling, reading aloud, music, dramatics, play acting and thinking games for various ages. "It is wonderful to play even a small role in the development of children," readers are reminded. "If you become a good, resourceful baby sitter, you can do this very thing."

Learn How to Handle Your Hair

The decorative plumage of the modern girl runs the gamut from beehives to pony tails, with a wide range of styles in between. Since each girl is blessed at birth with a headful of hair, it follows that at some time she will find it necessary to learn what to do with it.

Start with clean, shining hair and keep it fragrant and pretty with shampoos whenever necessary. This depends on whether it's oily, normal or dry — and an honest appraisal of how it looks in the mirror. Conditioning rinses are necessary for certain girls to make those flying wisps more manageable.

Next is the cut. Although it's a lot of fun to experiment with a scissors, nothing can replace the subtle snipping of an expert. He will emphasize the most flattering styles for you. A casual look for teens is illustrated in a coiffure which is accented by a bow and turns softly under at the nape of the neck. It is simple and uncluttered.

Bleaching, tinting and dyeing are not recommended for teenagers. It's better to be natural and not have to worry about dark roots and touchups.

Of course, it's wise to remember to carry a comb, but it bugs teachers and dates to be forever using it. Set your hair carefully, learn how to do it well, and ask your hairdresser for hints on the comb-out.

Daily Walk Is Your Free Aid to Good Health

(NEA) — Those statements that one would have to walk a mile in half an hour to use up the calories are, like most half-truths, dangerous. For they indicate that, since this is true, there really isn't much point in talking at all.

ITS FREE

Actually, a daily walk in fresh air is one of the greatest free aids to beauty. A daily walk at a good clip helps to trim your measurements and keep you young. Walking, like swimming, exercises most of the muscles of the body. It is a tremendous aid in keeping you lithe.

If you walk in flat-heeled, comfortable shoes with plenty of toe room, it can help to strengthen your feet. Walk from the hip—not from the knee. If you're not sure what this statement means, check your own walk. Like most of other people, you'll notice many elderly people creeping along at a snail's pace with bent knees.

They have never been taught to walk properly, and their faces reflect a lack of enjoyment in walking.

Craft Workshop Ready Thursday

"Christmas Crafts" workshop now in session at the YMCA on Mt. Clemens Street, is readying for the open house Thursday from 11 a.m. to noon.

The display will include works in unusual Christmas craft ideas created during the past eight weeks under the instruction of Mrs. Ray Ellsworth. Refreshments will be served at the affair which is open to the public.

Apply Lotion Like Gloves

(NEA) — As really cold weather approaches, it's time to stop up your use of hand cream or lotion. Use it on hands and elbows every night without fail. Use it during the daytime, too, whenever you've had your hands in water. Dry them thoroughly before you apply lotion.

For most effective results, put on lotion as if you were stroking on a pair of gloves.

Tuesday Musicales Presents Concert

The Pontiac Tuesday Musicals' conductor, is resuming the leadership of the annual five years' absence from the podium at Grace Lutheran Church.

The Bohemian card "Let Our Gladness Know No End" opened the serious half of the afternoon's concert work. "Christmas Lullaby" with solo passages by Mrs. John LaMonte was adapted by Christiansen for female voices.

The afternoon was dedicated by president Mrs. J. B. Fornas to counselors of the group's junior music club and to past conductors and accompanists of the chorus which was organized in 1923.

Mrs. Gaensbauer, the present conductor, accompanied this number. Chorus members included Miss Hutulla and Martha Kurzwilke; violin, Mrs. A. Michael Dempsey; cellist, David Eicher and Paul Eicher at the string bass.

Miss Hutulla, winner of the 1962 Tuesday Musicals student scholarship to Interlochen National Music Camp presented a recital, with Mrs. William Furlong, accompanist. Her numbers included Verdi's "Ciaccona," "Cavatina" by Raff and a carols by Monti.

Percussionist David Belanger assisted the chorus and Mrs. Gaensbauer in an arrangement of "Jingle Bells." Portions of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" followed with Mrs. Ferman, pianist, joining Mrs. Walter Schmitz in a duet-keyboard accompaniment for the "Overture," "Trepak" and "Dance of the Sugar Plum."

A Ringwald arrangement of "The Christmas Song" and a 14th-century tune "Happy Sounds" with Mrs. William Mercer, soprano soloist with chime accompaniment, was also heard.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Beauty authority Mark Traynor predicts that wigs in every color and description will be used by almost every woman 20 years hence.

Traynor said other revolutionary trends are afoot in the beauty world. "The beauty world right now is finally coming out of a slumber that has lasted over 150 years," he said. "Nothing creative has been done with beauty since the day of Marie Antoinette."

Washing Beads Those oversized wood beads, so popular for wear with casual clothes, should never be immersed in water. However, most of them can be surface-washed with a sponge worn out in thick suds.

Jean Hutulla, Roselawn Drive, was violin soloist for the Tuesday Musicals Chorus Christmas concert. Paul Eicher on the bass (left) and his brother David, cellist, of Orchard Lake were among instrumentalists appearing on the program which included Bach's "Christmas Cantata, No. 142."

Bless Men's Hobbies When Gift Shopping

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This is the time of year when a man is mighty thankful for a man's hobbies.

Because this is Christmas list-making time, and the man with a hobby or two is never a man who has "everything."

Whether a man's hobby is photography or hunting or fishing or cabinet making, he always needs something.

Every year when the gift catalogues come out there are dozens of new items listed for the man with a hobby or favorite sport.

So the man who "had everything" after he opened his Christmas packages just a year ago is sure to be missing something this year — for hobbies are big business. Hobby equipment is an ever-changing and as quickly obsolete as any other kind of equipment.

There is always a newer and better power tool, a more fully automatic camera, a better spinning wheel, more luxurious camping equipment, or a new "must" for a man with a boat.

The women who have it tough this time of year are the women whose men are hobbyists. It's their own fault if after years their men come up with shirts, ties, belts, wallets, and shaving equipment. What else can you give a man without a hobby?

So women may fuss and fume from time to time about the time and money a husband spends on his hobbies — but not when Christmas draws near.

Then she is thankful for every one of his hobbies. For the man with hobbies is as easy to find as a gift for a kid who still believes in Santa Claus. Neither ever reaches the stage of having "everything."

Pretty Gal Is Efficient, Not Self-Centered

(NEA) — Some girls in their teens seem born into beauty. They are not necessarily absorbed by it and therefore slayish about it. But they'll tell you that they:

Like fresh fruits, vegetables and lean meat.

Don't smoke because nicotine eventually yellows the skin.

Exercise daily.

Stay away from very high heels because they wear strong healthy feet.

These are the girls with that young, glowing, vibrant look that is American at its very best.

They are slim, trim and clear-eyed. What make-up they wear is expertly applied.

HAIR HANDY

They can set their own hair in 10 minutes on big rollers but wouldn't think of leaving them in overnight. And, they're not afraid of brushing out a set. They know the hairbrush won't take out the loose curl. Most of them stuff a hairbrush into those huge handbags they carry.

They are, in short, extremely knowledgeable about good looks. But they aren't time wasters about it.

Coordinated SLACK SETS

Beautifully tailored tapered slacks with white blouse in matching motif. Green, blue or pink. Designed by Hollywood and Nordis of Dallas.

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

Winner of the Tailor Trix pressing board for a sewing tip this week is Mrs. Edward H. Merz, Chesterfield, Mo.

This is the season when most of us with teen-age daughters are literally fighting yards and yards of net for formal. Here is a good hint for sewing and measuring nylon net. Pins will not stay put in net, so I have found that round tooth picks do a splendid job for holding the two pieces of net together for stitching and hemming.

LINE YOUR COAT

"Dear Eunice,

"I would like to make a stunning satin or brocade evening coat for the holidays like the gals pictured in the fashion magazines. However, being a woman who freezes to death in the time."

MRS. J.W. winter, how can I be glamorous and comfortable at the same time? I know exactly what you mean and have often thought this type of coat was very impractical for anyone living north of the Mason Dixon line.

However, one of our top designers came to the rescue with one of the most sensible ideas in a long time.

Instead of lining your coat with a silk or satin fabric, line it in a soft, light weight wool. Actually, your lining could be in a contrasting color and have a fleecy texture, just so it isn't scratchy.

Another tip for making a coat of this type, which usually has a firm, crisp look, is to completely under-line the entire coat with a rather firm woven interfacing. This would be applied to each piece of the garment first and then the two would be treated as one. This was explained in detail in last week's column.

CAMOUFLAGE HOLES

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"One of the tragedies that befall most of us at some time or other finally happened to me. Moths got into one of my best cashmere sweaters and ate up several places in it. Whipping these holes together would show, just as mending them would do. Can you offer any good ideas?"

MRS. R.K. Necessity is the mother of invention, here is your chance to be creative. May I suggest you buy enough fabric for a contrasting skirt. Now cut out some small "leaf" shapes now that it is fall. Scatter them at random on the fronts of your sweater, hopefully covering the moth holes.

It will work much better if your fabric does not ravel. You will now use a blanket stitch to sew these leaves onto your sweater, do not turn under a hem, it would only make the leaves look too thick.

You could bind the front edges of the sweater also, if necessary. There is no limit to possible ideas.

Another mother wrote that her teen-age daughter's skirt of pale pink wool was eaten by moths. She cut small butterflies out of the wool from the hem and embroidered them on with a blanket stitch. These designs could be anything you dream up and could be made of satin, velvet or self fabric. Quite often the garment will be more attractive than it was originally.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Rolled hem: A rolled hem is a very narrow hem that is rolled between your thumb and forefinger, and loosely secured by slip stitches. You will find rolled hems in chiffons and sheer fabrics. Sometimes it makes it easier to hem if you will machine stitch about 1/4" from the cut edge first.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of this paper.

If you are making a garment and want expert directions for putting in the sleeves, you'll want to read Eunice Farmer's 10c leaflet, "All About Sleeves." You may obtain it by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Kiwanis Club Hosts Children

Santa Claus, cider, doughnuts and gifts were popular attractions at the annual kiddies party held in the Waterford Township Community Center, under sponsorship of the Drayton Waterford Kiwanis Club.

Success of the group's annual peanut sale furnished funds for the party. About 60 children from the State Hospital and the Oakland County Children's Home were the honored guests.

The Kiwanis Club will distribute Christmas baskets and toys to needy families Sunday afternoon.

Be Happy While You Yule Shop

CHICAGO (UPI)—When your feet hurt, you're a grouch. Most women will vouch for that.

There's scientific reason for it, said Dr. William M. Scholl, a foot specialist. He pointed out that tired, aching feet exert pressure on the nerves connected to the central nervous system, resulting in an overall feeling of exhaustion and frequently, crankiness.

HELPFUL HINTS

With the holiday shopping season coming up, the doctor suggested these precautions against aching feet.

Wear heels no higher than two inches for shopping. Spike heels inhibit the ability of the natural arch to absorb shocks.

Protect sore spots on the feet before going shopping with corn and callous pads, mole-skin or arch supports.

Be sure your stockings are long enough. Too-short hose can be as uncomfortable as tight shoes.

Sprinkle on foot powder before donning stockings to absorb perspiration.

When wearing heavy boots, take them off in the store and tuck them in a shopping bag or check them. The added weight and warmth of boots indoors encourages perspiration and tires feet faster.

Take frequent rests while shopping. A quick coffee break not only restores your energy, but saves your feet.

In some business offices, the difference between the junior and senior executives is about 30 pounds.

More than 725 children are expected to see the film, "Freddie," as guests of the association. Tickets are being distributed by Goodfellows and firemen, and any organization having knowledge of less fortunate children is urged to contact any of the three township fire stations.

Tuck Away Scent

If your skin does not retain perfume well, try saturating a small ball of cotton with scent and tucking it inside your bra.

Broken Vows Produce 'Spoiled' Children

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As Frank's mother transferred her groceries from their bag to her kitchen table, a can of tuna rolled off its edge and went wheeling across the kitchen floor. Its movement, bright red label the flash of its tin in the moon sun with joy, he gave chase.

When he caught the can, he examined it carefully and, after several attempts to roll it on its flat sides, discovered the secret of its whirling motion.

By nap time, he had developed a deep attachment to the can of tuna fish and wanted to take it to bed with him. Because his mother planned to use it for a casserole, she sought to end his infatuation with it.

Unclasp his clutches from it, she said: "Why are you crying? You can have it back when you wake up. It's just that your crib isn't the place to play with it."

Then, leaving Frank, she went downstairs, opened the can, threw it away and placed its contents in a bowl in her refrigerator.

Funny, isn't it, the way we grow up on discarded children's brains?

If, by false promises, Frank's mother goes on conning him into giving her tuna fish cans, dirty candy wrappers and other objects he finds desirable, there's only one conclusion his active little brain can bring him:

"Don't let anyone take anything away from you that belongs to you — or you'll never see it again."

"Selfish" and "spoiled" children who won't share their belongings are made by grownups who've committed them into surrendering cans, scissors, old light bulbs and other interesting objects by false promises to return the objects.

Personally, I don't mind "spelling" and "spoiled" children too other children. Relatives' disapproval can ruin family reunions for us when Betty howls refusal to let her little cousin touch her at our own "spoiled" and "selfish" toy piano. We don't know where aggressions against small children to look when Billy pushes a new neighbor's little girl so fiercely toward away from his dump truck that brains and use them.

The Joslyn Avenue Ladies Club, a community service group, presented a television set and AM-FM radio for Pontiac State Hospital patients Tuesday. Ronald Robbins, assistant occupational therapy director, accepted the thoughtful gifts from (left to right) Mrs. Mack Taylor, Mrs. Floyd L. Collier and Mrs. Norman DeHaven. The club also has projects for Oakland County Medical Care Facility, Oakland County Children's Home and Pontiac Township Fire Department.

Eyes Can Enhance Black

With fashion-designers using a variety of striking black fabrics in their most outstanding collections for winter, make-up vogues for the season have also been tailored to spark the appearance of this most basic color.

One of the most important new make-up modes, according to a leading beauty authority, is the style and use of eye make-up. When lining the eyes, use black or brownish-black fluid eyeliner. Brush on a wider band of color on the upper eyelid than has been the custom, and instead of extending the line apply only from corner to corner. The new effect will be a saucer shaped wide-eyed look.

The new powder eye shadow colors are especially striking when worn with black, for it gives the eyes a dimensional look against the ebony background. For an intriguing eye shadow effect, first apply a shade of cream stick eye shadow and then use the identical color of powder eye shadow over it. This will set the shadow for hours of wear, and add a depth of color and sparkle never before achieved.

Create luxuriant eyelashes with a generous application of mascara and the use of false lashes. Shape eyebrows slightly wider, but strive for a soft appearance. Give lips a full, generous look making the cupid's bow sharp and pointed. Facial make-up for black faces is most flattering when worn in tones of beige to beige-rose.

Add New Horizons

Minds Need Exercise, Too

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

All through their lives most women are interested in looking as attractive as they can, in retaining good looks and improving their appearance, and this is certainly all to the good!

Much rarer is the woman who consciously tries to improve her personality and outlook, her scope of interests and her mind, as the years whiz by. Too often by the time a woman is 40 or 50 she settles down to hatch out whatever virtues or faults she has at that time. She is apt to become more of what she is from that age on, with no new horizons added.

Think of those attributes of heart and mind which are the real foundations of charm! The fascinating woman has a great love of life, and she lives more perceptively as the years pass because she constantly tries to improve, she earnestly strives to weed out those characteristics which dull daily living for herself and for others.

She does this because she is aware of the great waste when life is dreary and unhappy instead of interesting and joyous. Sometimes the problems of life and bitter experience cause us to forget the magic of tenderness and friendliness. We often adopt harsh and intransigent attitudes without realizing that we have done so.

One thing is certain! We cannot stand still. We either improve or we deteriorate. We can do a marvelous lot for ourselves physically, but there is a limit to this, while the reaches of the heart and mind and personality are infinite.

When a person is stagnating rather than moving forward, the aging process is speeded up and enjoyment of life is slowed down. How absurd it is that we are supposed to stop learning once we have finished school!

Even with the tremendous development of adult education, the idea still lingers on that a woman of middle age or more is a bit nutty if she wishes to go back to school.

There is something about a college campus which is extremely stimulating to me. I felt this so strongly not long ago when I went to the dedication of the Johnson Laboratory and Rowland Laboratory of the Science Center at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, New York.

In every field of study there is so much new information and new skill. There are so many fascinating things to learn.

If we really want to stay young for as long as possible and to keep life vibrating in our hands, it seems to me that we must exercise our minds as well as our muscles.

If you would like to have my insight, "Waste a Business of Your Own" and other articles, please send your request for insight No. 73 Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The woman who consciously tries to improve her personality and outlook as the years pass is rare. Too often middle age women settle down unaware of new horizons, says Josephine Lowman.

Use Up Extra Egg Yolks in Berliner Kranser

Pontiac Press Home Editor
Faced with leftover egg yolks, what do you do? You can always make custard, but you might like something different. We have had this recipe for cookies in our file for some time, just waiting for the holiday season.

Mrs. Carl Westnes is today's cook. She is also an enthusiastic gardener.

BERLINER KRANSER
By Mrs. Carl Westnes
4 egg yolks, hard cooked
4 raw eggs
1 cup butter

1 cup sugar
Flour to handle
Mix cooked yolks and raw eggs until very smooth. You can press cooked yolks through a sieve, if you like. Cream butter and sugar, then mix with eggs and enough flour to handle. Blend thoroughly. Chill.
Pinch off small pieces of dough and roll into pencil shape. Form into little bows or wreaths. Dip into stiffly beaten egg white, sprinkle with crushed loaf sugar. Bake at 375 degrees for 6 to 8 minutes.

Crisis Looming Over Dominican Republic

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—This tiny island nation, just freed from one of the longest and most despotic tyrannies in the modern history of the hemisphere, appears headed for another dictatorship of either the extreme left or the extreme right. This is a result of the collapse over the weekend of negotiations between President Joaquin Balaguer's government and opposition leaders.

Court Date Set for Three Men

Charged With Forcing 2 Teen-Age Girls Into Car for Ride

Three men arrested in Pontiac Township after allegedly taking two 13-year-old girls on a wild ride through East Oakland County will be examined Dec. 22 at Royal Oak Municipal Court.

Municipal Judge Keith J. Leenhouts yesterday set bond at $1,000 apiece for Richard C. Hanson, 35, and Thomas A. Butts, 27, both of Detroit, who are charged with molesting children with the intention of committing immoral acts.

Walter Merenk, 35, 1737 Cambridge Ave., Berkeley, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors in the same case. He was freed after furnishing $500 cash bond.

Hanson and Butts, who allegedly forced the two girls into a car Sunday evening in Royal Oak, were being held in lieu of bond.

The two Royal Oak girls said the men stopped twice to buy up beer and later picked up Merenk before they were taken on a four-hour ride.

The three men were being held for investigation of kidnapping. But Royal Oak police said they did not press charges on the offense since the girls said they were left by themselves in the car while the men stopped to have a drink at the Bo-Inn Bar, 1132 S. Lapeer Road, Orion Township.

The girls told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies they ran from the car and called police from a nearby phone booth while the men were in the bar.

State police said they found about 16 gallons of moonshine and a home-made still capable of producing 35 to 40 gallons of illegal liquor per week in the basement of the Schneider Road home.

The three men and Nickerson, wife, Clara, 40, all were in the home when the raid took place yesterday morning, according to police. Mrs. Nickerson was not taken into custody. She will be arraigned later, police said.

The three men waived examination, but no trial date was set.

More than 200 hours of study, 120 of them in classes, are required to receive a certificate of graduation from the basic training school, according to Birmingham Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley, chairman of the association's training committee.

All the law enforcers have completed their training within the last several months, with the exception of those in one of the detective classes. This was concluded in the spring.

Study Organization Will Seek to Assist With Problems

Formation of a citizens school study group to offer "constructive and cooperative service" to the Pontiac Board of Education was announced today.

Named the Pontiac School Study Group, the organization is headed by Russell Brown, a teacher in Bloomfield Hills schools and unsuccessful candidate for the Pontiac board last spring. Brown lives in Pontiac.

"So far," Brown said today, "we have set up a steering committee to get the group going and to establish a full committee composed of representatives from all parts of the district."

In a letter to the Pontiac board, Brown described as the group's aim the hope "to assist in resolving problems between groups and the school community, to keep the schools informed of any community reaction to plans and programs, to improve communications between school and community."

Study Organization Will Seek to Assist With Problems

Formation of a citizens school study group to offer "constructive and cooperative service" to the Pontiac Board of Education was announced today.

Named the Pontiac School Study Group, the organization is headed by Russell Brown, a teacher in Bloomfield Hills schools and unsuccessful candidate for the Pontiac board last spring. Brown lives in Pontiac.

"So far," Brown said today, "we have set up a steering committee to get the group going and to establish a full committee composed of representatives from all parts of the district."

In a letter to the Pontiac board, Brown described as the group's aim the hope "to assist in resolving problems between groups and the school community, to keep the schools informed of any community reaction to plans and programs, to improve communications between school and community."

still in positions of influence. Their refusal to surrender power has sidetracked the moderate opposition, and they now will have to deal with more developed Communist groups.

The first hints of what may develop came Tuesday when anti-

The same thing happened in the Balaguer demonstrators hunted first days of Fidel Castro's reign in Cuba. The ultimate result was a coup of all persons were removed linked to deposed dictator Fulgencio Batista.

The vengeance seekers are spurred on by the 14th of June group, an antigovernment faction led by fiery youth, the majority of whom suffered physically under Castro's 11th of July movement. The group takes its name from an abortive 1959 invasion attempt to oust the dictator. A small group of extremists in the group are avowed admirers of the Cuban leader.

So far the armed forces headed by Air Force Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria have backed Balaguer solidly, as they did Tuesday.

National Civic Union President Viriato A. Fiallo, leader of the moderate opposition, accuses Rodriguez Echavarria of setting up a military dictatorship. The general counters that Fiallo is immature and politically ambitious and says the armed forces' only concern is to preserve its internal structure to be able to cope with any threats against constitutional order.

The graduates have completed courses given at three basic police training schools, two detectives' schools and a fingerprint school.

More than 200 hours of study, 120 of them in classes, are required to receive a certificate of graduation from the basic training school, according to Birmingham Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley, chairman of the association's training committee.

All the law enforcers have completed their training within the last several months, with the exception of those in one of the detective classes. This was concluded in the spring.

The officers graduating represent about 50 departments in an area bounded by Durand on the north, Michigan on the south, Ann Arbor on the west and Sandich Township, Ont., on the east.

FIRST OUTSIDE STATE
The three officers from Canada are the first outside of Michigan ever to graduate from the course. They attended one of the classes held in Grosse Pointe Park.

Other classes have been conducted in Lincoln Park, Royal Oak, Beverly Hills, Wyandotte and Detroit.

Moxley said the training courses were established in 1951 when it was decided there was a definite need for increased instruction among the departments.

Donald S. Hostetter, special agent in charge of FBI office in

He emphasized what he called the "non-political, constructive" nature of the group. The first area of study will be the subject of proposed community colleges in the area to be discussed at an 8 p.m., Jan. 9 open meeting at the Teamsters Hall, Orchard Lake and Telegraph.

Brown said he had requested the Pontiac board to provide a speaker for the group.

U.N. Winding Up Long Debate Over China

By TOM HOGUE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly drew today to wind up the marathon debate on whether to seat Red China with the United States still confident it has the votes to bar Peking.

Only 12 more speakers to be heard, the 103-nation assembly plunged into afternoon and night sessions to speed its ballot on whether the Nationalists or the Communists should have China's U.N. seat.

The United States and the Soviet Union, staking their prestige on the outcome of the long-standing Cold War issue, both planned to speak again at the close of debate, expected late tonight.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson has voiced confidence Red China will be barred from the world body for at least another year.

Stevenson based his optimism on a survey of delegations which he said indicated a majority believed the China question is one of substance requiring a two-thirds vote majority for action. The U.S. delegation believes the Reds can't obtain a two-thirds majority. But it was reported apprehensive that the Communists might get in should the assembly decide the seating issue was procedural, with only a simple majority required.

A proposal put in Tuesday night by three neutralist supporters of Peking indicated the United States will need all the votes it can muster to win the procedural maneuver.

Cambodia, Ceylon and Indonesia introduced an amendment to the pro-Peking Soviet resolution that would drop the demand for expulsion of the Nationalists and simply turn their seat over to Peking.

The three neutralist Asian nations are expected to argue the issue is a question of credentials and therefore should be decided by a simple majority.

The debate has included bitter attacks against the U.S. policy on China by the Soviet bloc and a

Executives Hurry and Get a Meter

Boss Can Sell Time to Visitors

By NAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Sometimes many a boss goes home after a difficult day feeling he hasn't earned much money for his company. It haunts his evening.

But there is a way that a boss can make a personal profit during his working hours. This is to price his time by a meter as a potential parking space does to a visiting auto.

MUST VARY PRICE

The boss can do the same thing with persons instead of motor cars. But he must vary the price of moments and hours clocked on a meter by the value he places on the time different visitors are worth in terms of his own measure of their importance.

Here is how this idea works:

As soon as you come into his smiling or frowning presence, you see a busy executive fronted by a large and serious meter.

The meter is a sophisticated one. It accepts paper currency as readily as it does coins. It automatically rejects checks and credit cards, letters from old friends, slaps on the back—anything except cash.

WARNING SIGN

It has attached to it a large and conspicuous sign that reads:

"My time is valuable and here are the rates you must pay to use it. Please put your money in the meter in advance."

Asking for raises in salary, or asking for raises in commissions, top salesman only, $1 a minute.

Ex-girl friend who wonders why she didn't recognize how wonderful you were in college when gee? you're so wonderful now—boss timer meter off.

36 CENTS A MINUTE

Life insurance salesman explaining why boss needs more protection—30 cents a minute, or one-half of his first year's commission, if he succeeds in selling the boss more.

Discussion with boss's uncle, the chairman of the board, on why the firm needs fresh talent—boss puts own money into meter, to prove he's a real democrat.

Interview with sample-carrying liquor salesman—30 cents an hour. After second hour boss turns off meter and leaves arm-in-arm with salesman, boss carrying sample case.

Discussion with three after-lunch fellow golfing executives in first nickel. Meter ticks on unpaid for next three hours.

RABBIT RATES

Talk with junior executive—boss puts in 15 cents to get meter back in business. Boss then raises rate to $1 a minute as he assures junior executive he has great future in firm.

Someone comes in with an unexpected sales order—boss turns off meter, takes order, silently debits own sales manager for $15 in meter repairs.

Brother-in-law arrives to discuss job with firm—boss again turns meter off. He knows you can't get lettuce from someone who doesn't have cabbage.

Salesman comes in to sell boss a meter in which he is overstocked—$5 a minute, but at this rate boss gives him all the time he wants.

HIDES METER

A gentleman from Internal Revenue Service is announced—the boss throws his coat over his meter, stretches out a shirt-sleeved hand and says, "My time is your time—I hope I'm joking."

Finally, just before quitting time, the boss' wife enters.

She inserts a key into the parking meter by the desk of the boss, removes the contents, counts it, puts money into her oversize purse and says:

"George, you didn't do as well as yesterday. How many times do I have to tell you that time is money? Come, dear, it is time to go home. Tomorrow will be better."

Golf Is a Game for the Young . . . Proves Player, 95

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—George Beaumont Raymond joined his cronies at Granada Golf Club Tuesday and looked forward to resuming his game soon.

"I had to give it up on account of the hot weather and because my feet were giving me trouble," explained Raymond, who moved to this area from Brooklyn in 1935.

His partners are Henry Bins, 75; Charles Williams, 76; and Lee Baum, 70. Raymond usually "cores in the neighborhood of his age."

The club presented a cake to Raymond, its oldest golfer. It was inscribed: "Happy birthday George. 12-13-61, 95 years."

Mexico produced 60,320 metric tons of copper last year, 110,570 tons of lead, 29,925 tons of zinc and 41,890,000 troy ounces of silver.

ARRESTED IN PLOT—Tokutaro Sakurai, 64 (right), handcuffed to a policeman with the handcuffs hidden under the overcoat, comes down plane ramp upon arrival in Tokyo, Japan.

Sakurai, a former lieutenant general in the pre-World War II Imperial army, was arrested in Fukuoka, Southwestern Japan, as one of the leaders of the ultra-right plot to assassinate Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and members of his cabinet. Twelve others also have been arrested.

Sells Russians

American Pulls Off
Business Deal to Make Life Easier for Reds

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 61-year-old former Navy officer hopes to be responsible for installation of the first coin-operated automatic laundry in Moscow.

That's the idea of Romaine Fielding, who built up a laundry and dry cleaning equipment distributorship from scratch and who recently signed an agreement with Moscow city fathers for the sale of $1.5-million worth of equipment to the Soviet Union.

Fielding, whose campaign to promote American business in Russia dates back to 1958 when he staged a one-man laundry equipment show a few blocks off Red Square, signed the agreement with representatives of the Amtorg Trading Association.

It is on a strictly cash basis. The sale resulted from a three-week State Department-approved tour of various American cities by five Russians, including two representatives of the Moscow City Council.

Fielding showed them the latest equipment in such widely separated spots as New York, Chicago, Salt Lake City and Los Angeles and then closed the deal.

"The Russians are very far behind in laundry and dry cleaning techniques," Fielding pointed out.

"They still use trichlorethylene, which causes dyes to run and buttons to curl and, of course, there is no such thing in Russia as an automatic laundry."

Besides the financial aspects of the sale, Fielding is of the opinion that better dry cleaning techniques in Russia would play its own part in easing tensions between East and West.

Focus on Health

'Punishment Speeds Up Learning'

By The Associated Press
Sweet and bitter inducements to swift learning, fast-beating femur hearts and the effects of high living standards on blood pressure are subjects in the medical news.

PAT OR RAP?
Various experiments have indicated that animals learn faster when they are punished for mistakes than when they are rewarded for correct responses. A combination of reward and punishment brings the best results.

But how about humans?
Drs. R. K. Penney and A. A. Lupton of Ancaster, Ont., Canada, ran 60 trials on children. The kids were told to distinguish between white and black sections painted on squares. A piece of candy was the reward for a correct answer. An incorrect answer triggered a loud, unpleasant noise.

Individual children in the punishment group heard only the noise from their mistakes. The rewarded group received candy only for correct answers. Children in the third group were given a combination of noise or candy, depending on the correctness of their answers.

The results as reported in the magazine Medical Science: unlike the animal tests, the combination rewarded-punishment group ran a poor second. The punishment group was an easy winner and the reward group placed last.

FLUTTERING HEARTS
A naval physician in a recruiting station in Los Angeles was puzzled to find heart murmurs in from 25 to 40 per cent of the Waves he examined. These murmurs were short and soft and varied with the position of the subject and the rate of his breathing. He rarely found these murmurs in men. So he queried the American Medical Association headquarters in Chicago.

An AMA consultant offered this opinion: there are some indications women have more murmurs than men the same age. But slight murmurs can be accentuated by rapid flow through the arteries. And a fast-beating heart speeds up blood flow.

The consultant said: "Young women seem to be more nervous than men on physical examinations, particularly in large examination centers with many people involved. This might account for the increased pulse rate, and, therefore, increased blood flow."

HIGH LIVING
High living may be the standard price, world over, for a high standard of living.

One of the latest studies linking these two factors was made in the Fiji Islands. The doctors found that a group of Indian men in Suva, Fiji, who enjoyed a relatively high standard of living had higher blood pressures than the local rural male population.

"There is a graduation in the incidence of high blood pressure among several races of the Pacific islands that parallels the degree to which they have been influenced by Western culture," said the doctors' report to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

You Are Invited to Spend a Weekend With the Windsors

(Editor's Note: On the 25th anniversary of the abdication of King Edward VIII, Dec. 21, 1936, Bob Considine sat down with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in their country home outside Paris for a rare interview. This is the first article of a series.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

PARIS—One quarter of a century ago this week a handsome 42-year-old Edward VIII picked up a classic diamond in a make-shift radio studio in Windsor Castle and in a clear voice began reading, "At long last..."

A whole world passed, much of it emotionally, to listen to Britain's enormously popular king-emperor explain why he had that morning at 10:30 at Fort Belvedere signed an instrument of abdication.

He could not carry on his heavy burden of office, he said, his voice changing to one of great feeling, without the help of "the woman I love," twice-divorced Wallis Warfield Simpson, Baltimore-born.

He had been defeated by The Establishment—the church, the royal family, and acorn-tough Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister.

The man who became His Royal Highness the Duke of Windsor, by order of his brother, successor, Bertie, George VI, spent the silver anniversary of that dramatic speech with his duchess at the Tuileries, a remodeled 17th century mill in the verdant Valley de Chevreuse 20 miles out of Paris.

A DEVOTED COUPLE

This reporter, invited to help them observe it, has never seen a more devoted, intelligent, likeable, outspoken, jolly pair.

Their critics should be so happy: In fine physical condition at 67 and 63 (with only the drawback of the duchess' slight ulcer), they work here and at their more formal home in the Bois de Boulogne, carry on a worldwide correspondence, manage their affairs (contrary to popular belief they receive nothing, not want anything, from the royal family), take care of their four chubby pups (Dianthe, Davy Crockett, Trooper and Imp), and feed and water their friends, read, travel, observe.

The still lovely duchess holds steadfastly to the opinion that it was wrong for Edward VIII to abdicate.

"I was against the abdication," she said, speaking evenly of the event that rocked Britain and the world. "Mrs. Simpson was more against the abdication than anybody. I'm not at all sure it would be different if it happened today. It is out of the question, I think, for anyone with the title of Defender of the Faith to marry a divorced woman."

"Perhaps if I had been a British girl it might have been more acceptable. The British didn't like Americans very much 25 years ago; certainly not as much as they do now. I think, for anyone with the title of Defender of the Faith to marry a divorced woman."

The duke, as trim and dashing as he was in 1936, stuffed a small prepared barrel of tobacco into the bowl of his slender pipe, lit it as the duchess spoke, and then said seriously:

"If I had to do over the same thing would have happened. There would be nothing different."

"We've had a fascinating life together. I had a great life before the abdication, certainly. But this life of ours for the past 25 years together has been simply flawless."

It's not all champagne, which neither of them drink, incidentally. In London two weeks ago they felt forced to call their attorney's attention to an article about them destined to be published imminently.

They have become something of authorities on defamation over the years, and were able to nip this particular threat in the bud.

"Over the long run, the decent English newspapers have been all right," said the duchess, an omnivorous reader of the press. "Who said, 'Old men forget, young men don't know?'"

Then there is the royal family. Once during the weekend, while the duchess was busy with their Christmas cards, I asked the duke if he had called on his niece, Queen Elizabeth II, during his recent London trip. He seemed surprised.

"Oh, no," he said. "I don't see my family any more, really, except of course at coronations and tragedies. I don't see them because they won't see the duchess. Simple as that."

He cocked his ruddy, sandy-haired head quizzically.

"Would you see your family if they wouldn't see your wife?" he asked.

The matter of the legend of his income from the crown came up.

"I never got a nickel," the duke asserted. "I've heard for years that great story that I inherited my grandmother Queen Alexandra's jewelry. I inherited absolutely nothing. I put in 17 hard years of work for my country and the Commonwealth. I went straight from Oxford into four years of war, then came out in 1919 and worked until 1936. I'm not even assigned a secretary."

He shrugged, rising above the mood.

If he had taken the duchess' advice, ended their romance and remained on the throne, what changes might he have wrought?

It was not a question that caused him deep thought. He had thrashed it out in his mind long ago.

"If I were king?" he repeated, raising an eyebrow. "I don't think I could have done anything differently, really. I would have been bound, as my brother was bound, by the limitations of a constitutional monarchy. A king has no influence in government. My government was all against anything belligerent against Germany or Italy, though I must say that Anthony Eden was taken with Mussolini and Hitler."

"It takes a king a long time even to partly influence his government. As you get older you can point out to the politicians where they are wrong, wrong from your point of view, that is. But you have no power to disapprove of their acts. My father exerted a certain amount of influence at times near the end of his life, but surely not the power to disapprove."

Would there always be a British royal family?

The Duke of Windsor thought about that for some time.

THE RELATIONS

"Always" is a very big word," he said in time, with a smile. "But the way things are going in the world, ours may be the last, one of these years. I remember before the first world war that my family was constantly receiving and returning visits of what we called the foreign relations—Queen Victoria's host of descendants."

"I saw Kaiser Wilhelm II, my father's first cousin, at a shooting party at Sandringham. He could make himself very pleasant, when he wanted to, though a real Prussian. I remember him mostly because that was the day I had my first automobile ride."

"Csar Nicholas, another first cousin, visited us eight years before he and his family were murdered. Alphonso XIII of Spain married one of my father's first cousins, and used to come to us for shooting and polo. I was called to Windsor Castle from Oxford when my father entertained Archduke Franz Ferdinand, soon enough killed at Sarajevo. Very elegant sort of fellow. I remember Carlos of Portugal, too, fat and jolly little fellow. Assassinated, you know. And so on."

"Anyway, there were 20 monarchies in Europe when I was young. Now there are seven: Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Belgium, Holland and Greece."

He added that he thought wars were very rough on monarchies, and I asked him if he thought there might be another big one.

THE FUTURE

"A big war has become so complicated that I don't think it can happen again," he said.

It seemed like a guardedly rosy view of the future.

U.S. Dealings South of Border Not Always Ideal

JFK's Latin Trip a Fence-Mending Mission

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's quick trip to Latin America this week — a goodwill mission — is one more effort to mend fences in an area where the United States has often acted like a bull.

It may shock many people in this country, when Latin Americans riot against the United States, to realize not everyone loves us.

But the U.S. record in dealing with republics to the south has been less than ideal. It has been many things, not all of them nice. It has been indifferent, arrogant, unbearable, kind and forgetful.

President Monroe's doctrine in 1823—that European powers must keep hands off Latin America—wasn't always as real as it was high-sounding.

European powers didn't keep hands off. Some, in fact, moved in and grabbed territory. The United States, despite the doctrine, didn't move in to throw them out by force.

DIFFERENT CULTURES

In short, for most of the last century this country wasn't overly interested. There was contempt on both sides. The cultures were different, one largely Protestant and Anglo-Saxon, the other Catholic and Spanish.

In this country President Theodore Roosevelt, speaking more contemptuously than any president of his southern neighbors, not only interpreted the Monroe doctrine as a stay out of Latin America order to Europeans but as a license for the United States to butt in.

And it did, more than just a few times. For example: American marines were sent into Nicaragua under President Taft and into Haiti and the Dominican Republic under President Wilson. They stayed for years.

THE UNITED STATES

The United States finally got self-conscious under President Harding who tried to repair some of the damage. But it was under President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "good neighbor" policy that the relationship between the Americas entered a new era aimed at cooperation and good will.

Still, there were ups and downs even in Roosevelt's time although it was in this period that the United States shoveled money and other help into Latin America.

PUMPED MONEY

After World War II, when communism became a menace in Europe and Asia, the United States pumped money into both areas.

In comparison it felt only dribbles into Latin America.

South Americans felt neglected and showed it with suspicion and in time anti-American demonstrations. They have resented the help given by the United States to Latin American dictators, help which enabled them to stay in the saddle.

Through the last 20 years or so there have been a number of inter-American conferences to establish better hemisphere relations.

The United States under President Eisenhower, while not directly intervening, interfered in Guatemala in such a way that its government was overthrown and one more pleasing to this country was established.

Under the Kennedy administration, Washington backed a rebel invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba. It also put warships off the Dominican Republic's coast to discourage the return of a dictatorship there.

Americans perhaps can, or can't, justify some of the tactics of the U.S. government in the past. For some they can't—at least not on the grounds of being a good neighbor.

Understanding this makes it easier to understand why there is some anti-American feeling in Latin America.

Kennedy, with his program of Alliance for Progress, is trying hard now to create a better and new relationship.

JFK's Report Card Average With Tough Classes Ahead

Perhaps Kennedy will continue to feel that international affairs are so intense he can't afford to rock the political boat.

But this seems certain: If Kennedy is to achieve the goals he set for the home front, he will have to fight for them—and the animals will have to be stirred up.

Next: Kennedy: the Leader.

Britain Expands Science Institute

LONDON — With Britain needing scientists, a major program in education has been expanded without fanfare.

This is at the Imperial College of Science and Technology, a unit of the University of London. A plan launched in 1953 aimed at doubling the student body, from 1,500 to 3,000. Today there are 2,700 students and the goal is provision for 3,700 in 1966.

How much money is being spent has never been made known publicly. Estimates range as high as 25 million pounds or $70 million. These funds are solely for bare buildings. Architect fees and equipment may bring costs much higher.

Funds were advanced in 1953 by the government through what is known as the Universities Grants Committee, an independent body responsible to the British Treasury.

Buildings are going up inside a 16-acre site in the heart of South Kensington. The area was selected by Queen Victoria's husband, Prince Albert, for many museums and educational institutions.

"Because of the restricted space, it was decided to build vertically."

An electrical engineering building will fit 13 stories.

Many relics of the Victorian age were torn down to make room. One grand bit of Victoriana will remain — a 275-foot high bell tower. The bells are rung on every royal birthday.

Imperial College is a federation of three institutions established in South Kensington in the 19th Century. They are the Royal School of Mines, the Royal College of Science and the City and Guilds College. The last named deals with aeronautics and chemicals, civil, electrical and Mechanical engineering.

Nearly $1 million is coming from the Wolfson Foundation to provide and equip new laboratories for biochemistry and microbiology. The money will also support teaching and research under Prof. E. B. Chain, a co-discoverer of penicillin.

Efforts are being made to minimize the noise of construction. The rector (head) of the college, Sir Patrick Linstead, said: "Despite the constant upheaval which is the inevitable result of the demolition and construction program, academic standards have been maintained."

Kalamazoo Mayor to Present Pilot CD Plan for U.S.

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Mayor Paul E. Morrison will present a pilot program for civil defense planning in all parts of the nation to the National Civil Defense Administration Thursday at a luncheon here.

Morrison will present the plan to Edward A. McDermott, deputy director of the President's Office of Emergency Planning.

The plan is the culmination of a civil defense research project carried out by Kalamazoo city officials under a contract with the OEP.

A final report was completed after a Kalamazoo task force conducted a study which was started in October 1960, under an $11,000 grant from the emergency planning office.

City Manager Clarence H. Elliott and other city officials quickly discarded a concept that had dominated civil defense thinking for many years — the notion that each community should stockpile equipment, food, clothing, medicine and other items in a large warehouse to be used in the hour of need.

BUILT ORGANIZATION
The task force set out to build an organization of business enterprises in the fields most essential in civil defense work. Contracts were then negotiated with cooperating firms for goods and services that might be needed in the event of a nuclear attack on a nearby metropolis.

Kalamazoo was selected for the pilot study because it is strategically located between two major Midwest cities, Chicago and Detroit which could be early targets areas in the event of a nuclear attack.

Elliott said the plan is based on the assumption that Kalamazoo, with a metropolitan area population of about 140,000, will escape direct hit because of concentration on Chicago and Detroit.

Ready to Face Trial for Plot to Kill JFK

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Richard P. Pavlick, 74, of Belmont, N.H., says he is ready to stand trial on a charge of plotting to assassinate President Kennedy.

Pavlick was arrested a year ago in Palm Beach, Fla. Pavlick told officers who found several sticks of dynamite in his car and motel room he planned to kill Kennedy because of "the underhanded way he was elected."

Pavlick has been held at the Federal Prison Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., under a law that permits an accused person to be held until he is mentally competent to stand trial.

An attorney filed in U.S. District Court Monday a petition asking that Pavlick be returned to Florida to stand trial, claiming he is mentally competent.

Hostess Can Enjoy Her Party

Freeze Luncheon for Later Use

Too often the Christmas party hostess doesn't have as much fun as she should because she is too tired from last-minute preparations or too busy making snacks while the guests revel.

Join the party, is the advice home economists give smart hostesses, by preparing the food in advance, packaging it in square, waxed-board home freezing containers and storing it in the freezer until needed.

Most hot and cold canapés and finger sandwiches can be prepared days in advance, frozen, and served just as fresh and tasty as when they were made.

Meat and fish spreads, cheeses and peanut butter are among the fillings and freeze well. There are many kinds of bread from which to choose, too. White, whole wheat, rye, pumpernickel, cracked wheat and date-nut bread are well recommended for freezing.

DAY OLD BREAD BEST
Day-old bread is best because it is easier to slice, cut into party shapes and spread. It actually freshens in the freezer.

Prepare sandwiches as you would for immediate eating, avoiding moist garnishes and mayonnaise which may make them soggy in the freezer.

Place in square, waxed-board freezing containers, separating each layer of sandwiches with waxpaper or foil. Then seal by snapping on rigid plastic lids and mark contents on the lid identification band. Place in coldest part of the freezer.

Here is a party buffet surprise that can be home-frozen along with the rest of the food:

CRAB FONDUE

Two 10-ounce cans condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 3-ounce can sliced mushrooms and their liquid, two 6½-ounce cans crabmeat, 1/3 cup heavy cream, 1/2 cup chopped pimiento, ¼ cup grated sharp-American cheese, 2 packages pie crust mix.

Combine all ingredients except pie crust mix. Blend well and spoon into two 1½-pint size containers. Seal on plastic lids, and place in freezer. To serve, pour defrosted mixture in chafing dish and heat. Fill 36 tarts.

For tartlet shells, prepare two packages of pie crust mix, roll ¼-inch thick and cut into 1½-inch rounds for bottom of small muffin pan cups and 1-inch rounds for sides.

Place large rounds in bottom of cups. Moisten edges of small rounds with water, placing overlapping around sides of cups.

Bake at 400 degrees for 12 minutes. Cool, then place in freezer in containers. When ready to serve, heat on cookie sheet at 400 degrees for about five minutes. Spoon in filling.

Advice to Jaded Givers:

Plant Can Be Delightful

Jaded by Christmas? Caught without an idea in your head? Tired of trying to surprise the proverbial person who has everything — at least everything within reason?

Don't give up hope. Your garden supply store or nursery may have a fresh approach to your Christmas gift problems.

The "perfect" present may turn out to be an orchid, African violet, begonia or other rare plant potted in a peat moss pot and attractively kept in a decorative new planter especially designed to give hard-to-grow house plants tender care.

If you are equipped with a green thumb and can start the plant yourself, your gift will be even more treasured. But, if that's your plan, you'd better start now to work on your Christmas list for 1961, since it takes a long time to raise a plant from cuttings.

But if Christmas 1961 is the first

IN EARLY DAYS—While you're decorating your trees, you might remember that the evergreen didn't always have its gay Christmas dress of brightly colored boughs and balls, nor its tinsel and angel hair.

PACK THEM — Canapés and sandwiches for Christmas buffet can be packaged in containers in freezer until party time.

"If Kalamazoo is attacked, we'll all be dead ducks, and no plan would do much good anyway," Elliott said.

Under the plan, help could be given in the shortest possible time to the victims of a nuclear attack. Supplies would be drawn from the current stocks of the cooperating firms.

AT 'NORMAL' JOB

Employees called to emergency duty would receive their assignments at their own offices or shops from their own supervisors or foremen.

Businessmen like the idea because it would let them make their defense effort by using their own skills in their own fields.

Tentative contracts have been accepted by 65 organizations, including the Teamsters Union, and will be submitted to the Kalamazoo City Commission at an early date for ratification.

The city would pay the cooperating organizations for all goods and services used in a civil defense project, including wages, fringe benefits, equipment rentals and an additional five per cent management fee, with payment based on the highest wholesale prices in effect 30 days before the emergency.

Arrangements for mass feeding and mass housing also are included in the plan drafted by the task force.

The plan calls for feeding and housing 75,000 refugees. City officials said they believe supplies would be ample to tide Kalamazoo over in the critical period before foodstuffs become available from a vast network of depots being set up throughout the nation by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Kalamazoo plan is being offered as an improved alternative to the volunteer system previously preferred by federal and state civil defense officials.

Task force members said it is flexible enough to assure maximum assistance to the largest number of persons in a nuclear disaster.

Herman Lasken, manpower specialist for the Office of Emergency Planning, and Frank B. Ellis, director of the OEP, have predicted that many other cities will adopt the Kalamazoo program.

Use Citrus Fruits in Your Kitchen Gifts

A Christmas gift from your own hands contains twofold pleasure—the satisfaction and feeling of accomplishment that come from being able to make it yourself, and the gratitude and appreciation the recipient feels knowing the time and imagination you have put into it.

There's a sackful of gift ideas in the juicy oranges and grapefruit Florida is sending us now. Worth their weight in gold are the plump, fresh citrus fruits, and many are their uses.

Looking for something tasty to pass along from your kitchen to friends and neighbors—or those you love scattered throughout the country? Spiced Grapefruit Peel Preserve, Orange Mince-meat Squares, and No-Bake Holiday Orange Balls will take to the mails nicely, thank you.

Orange Mince-meat Squares are a rich, mouth-watering combination of prepared orange rind mixed with prepared mince-meat and packed between two layers of rolled oats dressed with the appetizing flavor of fresh Florida orange juice, and baked in the oven.

2 cups rolled oats
1/3 cup Florida orange juice
1 tablespoon grated Florida orange rind

No-Bake Orange Balls
1 package (1½ ounces) vanilla wafers, finely crushed
¾ cup grated coconut
¾ cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, undiluted

Spiced Grapefruit Peel Preserve
4 large Florida grapefruit

Water
3 cups sugar
½ cup vinegar
¼ cup chopped preserved ginger
16 whole cloves
2 cinnamon sticks
¼ teaspoon salt

Cut peel from grapefruit; scrape off white membrane. Cover peel with water; bring to a boil and simmer 20 minutes. Drain; cover with water again; bring to a boil and simmer 30 minutes longer or until peel is tender. Cut peel into thin strips about 2 inches long.

Instant Onions Dry Up Tears

A tart-onion sauce gives "Pennsylvania Brussels Sprouts" a delicious flavor that should make the vegetable dish the talk of the table. The sauce is easy to prepare, one reason being that instant minced onion is used. This convenience food eliminates the annoyances of working with onion and it always has the true, sweet flavor of field-fresh onion.

Pennsylvania Brussels Sprouts
1 lb. Brussels sprouts
Boiling water
1½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon brown sugar
Dash pepper
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1½ teaspoons instant minced onion
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons chopped ripe olives

Cook Brussels sprouts in boiling water with salt until just tender; drain; reserve ¼ cup water. Combine butter, brown sugar, pepper, cornstarch and onion. Blend in ¼ cup reserved water and vinegar. Cook slowly until slightly thickened and clear, about 5 minutes. Add sprouts and heat a few minutes. Garnish with ripe olives. Makes 4 servings.

Watercress-Oyster Stuffing: Mix herb-seasoned stuffing according to package directions. Add ½ cup finely chopped watercress and ¼ cup (1 cup) drained, chopped, fresh or frozen oysters per package.

Bacon and Water Chestnut Stuffing: Mix herb-seasoned stuffing according to package directions. Add ½ cup cooked, crumbled bacon and 1 cup sliced, canned water chestnuts.

Sesame Seed and Raisin Stuffing: Mix herb-seasoned stuffing according to package directions. Add ¼ cup sesame seeds and 1 cup raisins.

Isn't that the way it is with packaged herb-seasoned stuffing? It might seem like rank heresy to say that anything that comes out of a package could be as good as grandmother's. But really, isn't it just as good, and in some cases, better than grandmother's? The basic seasonings are so simple and so perfectly blended that any additional flavorings can be added to make this your own special recipe. Here are a few ideas for variations:

Apple-Almond Stuffing: Mix herb-seasoned stuffing according to package directions. Add 1 cup sliced, chopped apples and ½ cup sliced almonds.

Watercress-Oyster Stuffing: Mix herb-seasoned stuffing according to package directions. Add ½ cup finely chopped watercress and ¼ cup (1 cup) drained, chopped, fresh or frozen oysters per package.

Bacon and Water Chestnut Stuffing: Mix herb-seasoned stuffing according to package directions. Add ½ cup cooked, crumbled bacon and 1 cup sliced, canned water chestnuts.

Sesame Seed and Raisin Stuffing: Mix herb-seasoned stuffing according to package directions. Add ¼ cup sesame seeds and 1 cup raisins.

Curry Shrimp Casserole is different and full of good flavor. Season cooked rice to taste with curry. Put in a casserole and add drained canned Chinese mixed vegetables, a can of condensed mushroom soup thinned with a bit of milk and some slivered toasted almonds. Fold in drained canned shrimp. Bake in a moderate oven until heated through.

For a spice cake filling that is different, combine chopped nuttaste ever so much better. For 1 1/2 cups, beat 1/2 cup butter until fluffy on an electric mixer. Grad-

Use Mixer to Beat Butter With Maple Syrup

Whipped Maple Butter makes holiday hot breads and waffles taste ever so much better. For 1 1/2 cups, beat 1/2 cup butter until fluffy on an electric mixer. Gradually add 1/4 cup pure maple syrup and whip until well blended. Serve at once on hot breads or store in a covered container in the refrigerator until needed. For a chewy variation, add 1/4 cup brown sugar to the batter. For spiced, add 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnam-

Hot and Spicy

A peppery hot appetizer drink is Tangy Tomato Juice Cocktail. Combine a 1 pt. 2 fl. oz. can of tomato juice with a thick slice of onion, 1 stalk of celery and 1 bay leaf; season to taste with salt and pepper. Simmer for 10 minutes; strain. Add lemon juice and a dash of hot pepper sauce. Serve hot in mugs. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Insert a wide mouthed fruit jar funnel in the cavity of a turkey when stuffing it.

Prices May Be Higher but Labor Buys More

One hour's work in a U.S. factory buys more food today than it did 20 years ago. Pay for one hour's factory labor would buy 2.2 pounds of round steak in 1940; in 1960, 2.2 dozen in 1939. An hour's labor would buy 3.5 pounds of bacon in 1940; 2 pounds in 1939. It would buy 17.8 pints of milk in 1940; 10.4 in 1939. An hour's work bought 3.1 dozen oranges in 1940; 2.2 dozen in 1939.

For Weight Watchers

Ideal for making garlic bread: use yogurt instead of sour cream in recipes; make your casseroles with herbbed basil instead of the usual thick cream sauces.

If brown sugar has caked, rub a low calorie salad dressing (Tall) over the fine part of a vegetable in a shredder.

Give Whole Potatoes Salt Water Test

Some potatoes make good bakers: some are best boiled. Even though potatoes from the same variety look much alike from the outside, they differ in interior texture.

A mixture of 1 cup of table salt in 11 cups of water will help one divide the mealy potatoes (best for baking, mashing or French fries) and the waxy potatoes (best for serving whole, sliced for salads or casseroles). If the potato sinks in this mixture, it is mealy; if it floats it is waxy.

Walnuts in Dressing

This Quick Modern Dressing makes an exotic addition to an 18-20 pound turkey. In a large bowl, mix 3 8-ounce packages dried herb-stuffing with 3 cups water. Pour on 1 1/2 cups (3 sticks) melted butter and mix well. Add 2 4-ounce cans sliced mushrooms plus liquor, 1 1/2 cups chopped walnuts, 2 cups chopped celery. Toss together until well blended.

Stretch a string across a frosted cake to mark slices for even cutting.

Have to Freeze Them

Nearly one half of the annual turkey production is eaten during the Thanksgiving-Christmas-New Year holiday season reports the Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Freezing has become an economical necessity to meet the key available in quantities to meet the season of peak demand and to assure heavy birds for year-round use by hotels and restaurants.

For a clean cut, first dip your cookie cutter in slightly warm salad oil.

Prices effective thru Saturday, Dec. 16. We reserve the right to limit quantities.

Cabbage Gains New Status in Interesting Dishes

Here are two interesting cabbage recipes. If cabbage is popular with your family, you'll welcome new ways to prepare it.

Baked Cabbage Casserole
1 head (2 pounds) cabbage
1-inch boiling water in saucepan
1 beef bouillon cube
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground white pepper
1 cup buttered soft bread crumbs
1 cup grated sharp American cheese

Wash cabbage and shred finely. Place in a saucepan with boiling water and bouillon cube. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes or until cabbage is almost tender. Drain. In the meantime, melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour and gradually stir in milk.

Molasses Flavor

A dollop of unsulphured molasses adds a flavor wallop to a variety of holiday foods. Combine granulated sugar and molasses, for instance, for glazing sweet potatoes. Or glaze carrots in molasses and butter. For Christmas breakfast, add 2 tablespoons molasses to each cup of waffle batter for a flavorful bonus.

Cook until medium thickness, stirring constantly. Stir in salt, ground white pepper and 1/2 cup of the grated cheese.

Combine cabbage and bread crumbs. Toss lightly. Turn into a 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle top with remaining cheese. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degree F.) 30 to 35 minutes or until cheese has melted and top is lightly brown. Makes 6 servings.

Curried Cabbage

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 pound head cabbage, shredded
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
2 cups diced fresh tomatoes (optional)

Melt butter or margarine in a large saucepan. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cover. Cook over medium heat only until crisp-tender, about 8 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Better Two Collegiate Fresh Swimming Marks

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale freshman swimmers Steve Clark of Los Altos, Calif., and Dave Lyons of Winnetka, Ill., bettered two national collegiate freshmen swimming records Tuesday. In a meet in which the Yale frosh defeated Hillhouse High School of New Haven 76-10, Clark, who holds the world record for 100 meters, did the 100-yard freestyle in 48.2 seconds and Lyons swam the 220-yard freestyle in 2:03.8.

Christmas Toll House

The classic Toll House® Cookie gets a new look for Christmas. To make Christmas Toll House Cookies, just use the authentic recipe that appears on each package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels, but use 1 cup candied fruits instead of the nuts.

Age of Individual Doesn't Decide Food

The idea that old people must have soft and bland foods came in for sharp criticism at a panel discussion on Nutrition for the Aged at the American Dietetic Association convention at St. Louis recently. A panelist scoffed at a statement by a food writer in a leading newspaper that all fruits and vegetables for the aged should be put through a blender.

"Why," asked Mrs. Lillian M. Reiner, dietary consultant, Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies, New York City, "should people be denied the foods they like and to which they are accustomed merely because they have

Wakened Date Sauce Sweetens Yam Dish

NEW YORK (UPI)—Make a date to serve yamdate bake. Combine 1/2 pound of pitted dates with 1/2 cup of firmly-packed brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon of cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1/2 cup each of orange juice and butter or margarine. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 15 minutes, or until dates are tender.

No Loss of Vitamins

Carrots actually gain in carotene content (pro-vitamin A) while on their way to market or in storage. Various studies show that all varieties of carrots increase their carotene content after harvest for periods up to 20 weeks. They then retained carotene content for a longer period.

Sugary Date Sauce Sweetens Yam Dish

Place 4 medium-sized yams, cooked, peeled and sliced, or 3 (1 pound) cans of yams, drained and sliced, in a shallow baking dish. Pour date mixture over yams. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in a preheated 350 degree oven. Serves 4.

Little Jack Horner Wasn't on a Diet

Here, covered, and uncovered, are the "fruits" of Jack Horner's Christmas Pie. Twice of mince meat, we are told, and the plum he plucked, no doubt, was a raisin. If, by chance, little Jack was working on his twelfth pie (a task tackled by many folk at the time), an old proverb promised him a new year of happiness — one smooth for each pie put away.

The ingredients themselves were symbolic of the season, representing the Wise Men's gifts to the Christ child: The crust was the gold; the spices, myrrh; and the aroma, frankincense.

To make the most of her time, today's holiday homemaker calls on the baker for a tasty mince pie. Then, she gives it a personal touch, this Nippy Cheese Topping: Prepare 1/3 cup of an extra-thick white sauce in the top of a double boiler. Add to it 1 cup of grated sharp Cheddar cheese and cook until the cheese melts and blends into the sauce. Serve warm over a mince — or apple — pie.

Banana Egg Nog

It's so simple to make a delicious and different nog—for company or for the family. The versatile banana plays an important role in this holiday nog — so you know that it will be nutritious as well as delightful. Take one cup of cold milk and one ripe mashed banana to make two servings. Beat the milk and mashed banana together, pour into your favorite punch bowl and sprinkle with nutmeg.

Be Glad You Live in Age of Good Beef

Will a juicy beef roast be the feature of your Christmas dinner? If Christmas would not seem complete without this tasty favorite, your family observes a centuries-old English tradition, the American Meat Institute tell us.

There are romantic tales to explain why roast beef became part of the festive Christmas ritual, but the real reasons were of a practical nature. It was a matter of farm economies and lack of refrigeration.

Few English farms in the Middle Ages had enough barn space or feed to care for all their livestock during the winter months. Before the Feast of St. Martinmas, about the time of our Thanksgiving, the oldest oxen were slaughtered.

Because this meat was tough and shrewd, it was hung from rafters to cure and age. The aging process was completed in December, and something special was added to Christmas feasting.

Today we can enjoy tender, flavorful beef all year around. In view of this mother-plentiful high quality beef, you might want to extend the English custom beyond your dinner table by using gift certificates and special Christmas packages that many meat departments offer.

Bel Paese is an Italian cheese that is excellent to serve for dessert with or without fruit.

Brussels Sprouts Do Well in Decorations

"Floral" arrangements of Brussels sprouts can be used for Christmas decoration. Have the Brussels sprouts, either fresh or frozen, uncooked and completely dry. Open them out with your finger tips to form flowers. Spray on gilt and allow to dry—takes about 1 hour.

Use any kind of container, plain or fancy, with an ordinary frog or styrofoam to hold the arrangement. Secure the Brussels sprouts on thin sticks or wires, which form the stems and can also be sprayed gold. Arrange the Brussels sprouts as though you were working with actual flowers. Combine them with ivy, holly, berries, any greens.

For more formal arrangements, the glazed sprouts can be massed into a pyramid (without stems) and augmented with fruits, berries and leaves. Fresh holly, sprayed gold, is another pretty touch.

Low in Calories

Leftover chicken or turkey can be made into a luncheon salad gourmet will remember and weight-watchers will thank you for with this low calorie dressing mixture. Combine 1 cup of low calorie salad dressing with 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 1/2 cup cranberry jelly. Beat smooth with a rotary beater.

Don't bake cakes directly below one another. Stagger the filled cake pans on two racks.

Leftover Beans Served Way Mexicans Do

Popular Mexican dishes are Fried Beans and Refried Beans (Frijoles Refritos)—a good way to use up leftover cooked Idaho Pinto or Red Beans. The easy way to make them — when beans are cooked very tender, mash with a potato masher.

Heat 4 tablespoons lard or bacon drippings in a heavy frying pan, cook mashed beans until fat and moisture are absorbed, adding more of the fat to keep beans from sticking. Turn occasionally.

For Refried Beans, add mashed and fried beans to hot fat as above and cook, stirring until beans are completely dry and are beginning to crisp. The amount of fat depends upon your liking. Some people think "the more, the better."

For Refried Beans with cheese, just before serving let cubes of Monterey Jack, Cheddar or Provolone cheese melt in the beans.

Or these bean dishes may be sour cream with or without chopped peeled green chives which you may buy canned.

Snowpot Casserole

Mash drained canned sweet potatoes and put in a casserole. Add some syrup from canned apricot halves, drained apricots and some chopped nuts; mix lightly. Bake in a moderate oven until almost done. Remove and top with marshmallows and continue heating until marshmallows have melted.

Prices effective thru Sat. Dec. 16th. We reserve the right to limit quantities.

PNH Quintet Slips by West Bloomfield

Huskies Survive 4th-Period Rally for 48-46 Win

Clarkston Trims Oxford, Cranes and Romeo Fall in Prep Cage Action

Pontiac Northern came from behind in the 2nd quarter and then held off a last minute West Bloomfield rally to post a 48-46 triumph heading last night's prep basketball schedule around the area.

Clarkston romped 67-47 following a close opening half at Oxford. Brother Rice whipped Cranbrook, 48-41. Ulen outscored Romeo, 64-40, and Ferndale defeated Berkley, 54-37.

Southfield downed Hazel Park, 58-41. South Lyon took Ypsilanti Lincoln, 74-64. Clawson got by Warren Lincoln, 71-66. Grosse Pointe whipped East Detroit, 65-57. Lapeer won its 2nd straight after a defeat last time out. L'Anse Creek bowed to Fraser and Taylor City used a hot last half to slam Dearbornville, 62-49.

Free throws played a big factor in Northern's 2nd triumph in three outings. West Bloomfield made two more field goals but only had 4 for 7 on free throws to 12-for-19 for PNH.

The Lakers led at the 1st quarter and boosted their lead to 17-10 two minutes into the 2nd quarter, and Northern suddenly caught fire.

Sparked by Steve Daniels and Rick Fisher, the victors put together 15 straight points and wound up in from 27-19 at the half.

West Bloomfield started coming back following the intermission. The difference was cut in half at four at the 3rd quarter conclusion. PNH scored back ahead to an apparently safe eight-point margin with only 1:41 to play. But Charles Robinson scored three points and another foul made it four again. Sophomore Dan Greig hit a basket just before the final buzzer.

MISSED LAYUPS
The missing of several layups hurt West Bloomfield as much as more than the foul difference.

Ed Wask, playing for the 1st time this year after being sidelined for disciplinary reasons, and Dean Souden scored 12 each for the Huskies. Robinson rung up 17 to top the game. Dave Shields scored 10 and made the goal for Northern but did not accidentally win the point for the opposition in the 3rd period. The Lakers are now 2-1.

Chuck Funk broke up a Clarkston-Oxford duel with five goals in a 25-point 2nd quarter. He finished with 29 for the night, including a 13-for-14 record on the free line. Dan Kelly earned 11 and Ray Converse 19 for Oxford.

The Wolves had been in from only 23-26 after the opening 16 minutes of play. Clarkston now stands 2-1, Oxford 0-3.

Cranbrook could not cope with a taller Rice team after the Cranes got ahead by one late in the 1st half. Dave Walker paced the triumph with 15. Dick Mosher topped a balanced Crane offense with 8. It was Cranbrook's 4th successive overcame an early 2-4 deficit to tie the count twice and even go ahead once in the 4th quarter but nine charity toss conversions in that session led the verdict for Ulen.

Jim Mosherko sparked UHS with 17 and 15, respectively. John Hanley fired in 19 and Butch Peraino 14 for the Bulldogs, who slipped to 1-2.

Ferndale held a slim edge all the way to hand Berkeley its 2nd setback in as many starts. It was 15-12 at halftime. Bob Nicholas again scored after trailing Mike Klossig 12 for Berkeley.

ONE SCARE
Southfield's only problem came when Hazel Park cut a 14-point halftime lead to five in the 3rd period. The Jays pulled away again soon after trailing Mike Fournier with 21 points. Les Wilkinson contributed 12. Bob Hill garnered 14 for the Packers.

The 1-2 punch of Lowell Burgess and Jim Spirakis carried South Lyon to its 2nd happy night. Each tallied 23 points. The Lions had the edge all the way. They led by nine at the half.

A nip-and-tuck affair at Clawson was knotted 56-58 in the 3rd quarter but a basket by soph Ray Hayes gave the home team the lead for keeps. John Miller chalked up 22 points. Hayes 17 and Tom McArthur 15 in the victory cause. Jim Gray hit 25 for Lincoln.

Inlay trailed 33-11 at the 1st quarter and 52-31 after two before taking over. A 20-10 3rd period changed everything. Doug Perkins poured in 22 points. Gene Thompson and Terry Ignasiuk combined for 21 more.

Top Bowlers in Invitational Meet

72 Enter Bowlerama Actuals

The best of the Bowlerama bowlers, 72 of them, are invited to participate in the Invitational Sunday afternoon at 300 Bowl immediately following the finals of the handicap championship.

This will be the third year for the Actual's tourney as part of the Bowlerama. Winner two years ago was Bob Gormong who won the actual pinfall with a 631, while Jay Lovett was runnerup with 635.

This was a real interesting match, as the two battled side by side and Lozett led by three pins going into the last game. Lovett fired a 217 in the final game to go with his 213,205 but Gormong hit 236 in the final game to add to his 180 and 230.

Last year, Paul George took the honors with a sizzling 674 total with Bill Bull finishing second with 637.

Thirty five competed in the first actual and 48 went last year. The big total this year is the result of the large number of entries in the Bowlerama which hit a 1,000 for the first time.

The top three qualifiers in each house are among the invited, and the remaining numbers were invited on the basis of actual series fired in their qualifying rounds and their averages.

The regular Bowlerama qualifiers, about 145, will bowl in two squads at 11:00 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. across 36 alleys at the 300 Bowl.

The actual's journey will start at 1:30 p.m. bowling six across a pair of alleys, using 24 alleys. There will be NO changing of alleys.

The bowlers must report one-half hour before their bowling time and NO one will be changed. If a bowler misses his squad and time he will NOT be permitted to bowl otherwise.

The Bowlerama champion automatically becomes eligible to bowl in the Actual's tournament.

The prize list for the Actual's has also gone up this year. Winner will receive $20 and a trophy. Runnerup will get $25 and a trophy. Third place is $15 and the next five places each earn $10.

The prize list for the Bowlerama itself will be announced Saturday and the list of finalists and their squads will be printed in Friday's Press.

Those bowlers listed as alternates should watch Friday's Press carefully, as there may be some changes made. Many changes have already been recorded on the list as result of a check of averages.

Bowlers for the Bowlerama handicap and Actual's tournament need not pay any entry fee. They will pay $1.00 at time of registration for each tourney, of which $1.25 goes for bowling and 15 cents toward cost of scorekeepers and sheets.

As it appears from the large entry list, this year's Bowlerama champ may get $600 and the lowest entry at $10.

This is Invitational list of the Actual's tournament. (The decision of The Press for those invited is final.)

Lawmakers Whetting Knives

Plan to Ask for Probes on Activities

Michigan Department of Conservation Hit by Representatives

LANSING (U)—The start of the 1962 legislature is a month away, but already some of the members are whetting their knives for investigations of various activities in the State Conservation Department.

It's a rare session that doesn't produce at least one outcry for a sweeping investigation of the department. Lawmakers from Northern Michigan, where department policies and projects are a potent force in the life of the area, are usually the instigators.

Rep. Russell Hellman, freshman Democrat from Dollar Bay on the Keweenaw Peninsula, says he will ask the house to make a study of department personnel policies. He thinks the department employs too many "ivory tower types" who don't get away from the office enough to know what's going on and what needs to be done in the conservation field.

Department officials acknowledged Hellman's complaint that only 156 of some 1,600 year-around employees are conservation officers. They also pointed out that two-thirds of some 300 employees at Lansing headquarters spend part of their time in the field and that most of the rest scattered around the state are game fish and parks supervisors, foresters, fire control officers and others who are basically "out-side" men.

WANTS CUT DOWN

Hellman believes, nevertheless, that the department ought to cut down on research and other "in-side" activities in view of declining revenues for conservation work.

Rep. Joseph S. Mack, a first-term member from Ironwood, is highly disturbed over the failure of the department to sell fallen timber in Porcupine Mountain's state park, trees that were blown down in windstorms several years ago.

"There is $100,000 worth of timber rotting right beside the state boundary road of the park," he said. "It is a criminal waste not to remove and sell it, even if this is supposed to be a wilderness park."

"I don't think the department needs revenue as much as it says it does if it is willing to let this go to waste. I am going to carry this matter to the legislature next year."

Nineteen House members, led by Rep. Gilbert L. Wales, D-Standish, asked for $10,000 last year to investigate the Conservation Department's administrative practices.

The resolution was shuttled to the rules and resolutions committee where it quietly died despite the fact that Rep. Walter G. Nakula, R-Gladwin, the chairman, was one of the sponsor.

Wales and others were similarly frustrated a year earlier when they asked for a full-scale investigation of the department in general.

The Upper Peninsula Democrat, a frequent critic of department policies is especially vocal in his criticism to authority delegated to the state geologist to assess mining properties for valuation. An iron miner himself, he contends the mining companies, for the most part, aren't paying their fair share of taxes.

Supporting him in the demand for an investigation is Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, a representative of the United Steel Workers. Both men also are leading critics of the department's deer management programs.

It's probably a safe bet that neither will let up next year in their determination to start a legislative investigation of department activities.

Mother Nature Up To Her Old Tricks

By DON VOGEL

Mother Nature is up to her fickle tricks again. First, she sends in enough cold air to put a thin crust of ice on many Oakland County lakes. Then, just as ice fishermen are impatiently waiting out that last sub-freezing night needed to make sufficient ice, she warms things up.

Adding insult to injury, she hustles in some rain to help wash away the thin shell covering the water.

Southern Michigan is becoming noted for its unpredictable climate. Not only are the fishermen and bait dealers moaning, so are area ski resort operators, skiers, ice skaters and the businessmen who furnish the necessary equipment.

Fortunately, for the ski operators, there is snow making equipment. Manufactured snow isn't as good as the real thing, but it makes the dedicated skier's life bearable. Wet weather, however, does the same to artificial snow as it does to ice.

Winter sports enthusiasts living in the area are faced with two alternatives:

1. Sit home and impatiently wait for three or four days of consistent weather—the experts keep promising it.
2. Load their gear in the car and head into the Northern reaches of the state where there is plenty of snow and numerous lakes already have safe ice.

So, what happened last night? The mercury plunged under 20 degrees and it was snowing at 4 a.m.

Three local hunters headed south recently, taking their scatterguns and dogs along.

SUCCESS IN THE SOUTH

Willard Head, 45 E. Colgate Ave. Pontiac; Bill Harrington, 5861 Cranbrook Pl., Waterford; and James Jarrell, 2423 Jones Rd., Waterford, were joined in Southeast Missouri by Ralph Head of Cedar Hill, Tenn.

The main objective of the trip was quail. And the hunters found plenty of birds.

During six days of hunting, the foursome bagged 156 quail. Harrington summed up the shooting with one word: "Excellent."

Possibly within a few years certain members of Michigan's legislature will run for cover when the pressure groups protest the introduction of a bill to open a quail season in this state.

The goose season ended in Michigan Monday with little fanfare. Little can be said about it. More local geese, mostly Canadas, were around when the shooting started early in October. But they soon wised up.

Fewer birds stopping over at the Fennville area in Southwest Michigan and at Jack Miner's in Ontario indicates the southern migration may have passed through the state without dallying.

The take of geese in the Great Lakes area will be down this year.

TRAILING AFTER THE HOUND

Rabbits and foxes now draw the attention of the hound followers.

Plenty of the red-coated animals are around, but reports from pheasant hunters indicate the bunnies are not quite as plentiful as in previous years.

And rabbit gunning hasn't been the best the last couple of years.

Tuck's, Bombers Easy 'D' Victors

Tuck's Trotters and the Bombers were one-sided winners Tuesday night in Class D City League basketball games at Lincoln Junior High.

Larry Blackburn tallied 25 points to lead the Trotters to a 53-32 victory over West Bloomfield. Hank Kieffer made 12 in defeat. Cliff Armstrong scored 20 points in a losing cause as the Bombers routed Westside Keweenaw, 55-28. John Hurmer had 15 for the winners.

In National League exhibition play at Madison, John Bridgwater netted 17 points to pace the Pontiac Police to a 61-44 conquest of Police Market and Gary Hoits poured 24 points through the hoop to feature 300 Bow's 73-51 rout of Reeves Standard.

Bill Sekulich bagged 22 for the Police quietest and Jerry Weaver collected 18 for Reeves.

Only one City League game is scheduled tonight, a Class D battle at Lincoln between Jo-Jo's cagers and New Hope. Starting time is 7 p.m.

Fishing Group Prexy Doesn't Favor Center

ST. JOSEPH (U)—The president of the Michigan Fish Producers Association says the federal government's proposed fish research center now being built at Saugatuck "won't help us—what we need is marketing assistance."

Lloyd Mohagen Jr., local commercial fisherman and president of the Association of Fishermen and Fish Processors, said "the way they are planning to go about things up there will result in no help to us at all."

According to U.S. Fish and Wildlife service, the station at Saugatuck is aimed at reviving Lake Michigan fishing.

Pontiac Paddlers Split Exhibition With Ford Team

Thirteen year old Andrea Gerber, Eastern Michigan table tennis singles champion with the Ford Motor team, gave former state champion Carol Ryan Wolverton of Pontiac a good match before 21-19 last night in a feature meet at 300 Bow.

The Pontiac Peppi All-Stars split with the Ford Motor six player team last night, winning 4-2 and losing 3-1 in the second round. The matches featured some of the best table tennis players in this part of Michigan and a return engagement between the Pontiac team and the Ford squad will be played in Detroit in January.

Municipal Ski Area Hikes Membership Fee

TRAVERSE CITY (U)—Adult Traverse City residents will pay more this season for use of municipally operated Hickory Hills ski area in a move to cut an operating deficit at the resort.

The city commission last night approved an increase in season membership cost from the $1.50 of last season to $3. Traverse City school district pupils still will be able to obtain a season use patch for 50 cents as in the past.

The fee increase seeks to erase a deficit estimated at $2,500.

Seeks Professional Association

KALAMAZOO (U)—The United States may win more points in the 1964 Olympics than might otherwise have been possible if Karl Palmatier succeeds in his latest archery role.

This Kalamazoo school teacher-Delton farmer is organizing a professional Archers Assn. Similar to the pro golf group, it is aimed at separating amateurs and pros so that this ancient sport can be reinstated in Olympic competition.

Palmatier, a former National Field Archery Assn. president and current secretary of both the NFAA and Michigan Archery Assn., has been named chairman of a committee to set up a professional archery organization.

But he is also vitally interested in the amateur phase of the bow and arrow sport, too.

Palmatier has full power in a movement designed to clear up the middle of professional, non-professional and amateur archers.

This is of importance now since archery probably will be reinstated as an Olympic sport for the 1964 games at Tokyo, Japan. Only "pure" amateurs will be allowed to represent the United States.

Amateurs, under the new set-up proposed by Palmatier's group, will be limited to persons who have not accepted any money for archery performance since Jan. 1, 1960. Amateurs may accept a trophy valued at $75 or less and retain their standing.

Non-professionals fall into a category between professional and amateur. They are not official professionals, but are those who accept awards of higher value than those permitted for amateurs.

Corrections Issued for Boating at Isle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department has issued corrections to an announcement of Nov. 29 on proposed regulations to restrict motorboat and amphibious aircraft operating within Isle Royale National Park in Lake Superior.

Under the proposed regulations, amphibious aircraft would be permitted to land only at Tobins, Rock and Washington harbors. Areas in which power boats would not be permitted included most of Duncan Bay (except to the dock at Duncan Bay narrow campground, which would be free and open to all boats). Lane Cove and Tobins harbor (except an area where amphibious planes would be allowed to land).

The Department said the power boats would be permitted to use the listed waters in emergencies, or as a harbor of refuge from lake storms. Operators of power boats would be required to notify the park superintendent following such use.

Michigan Suffers Cut in Federal Aid Funds

Michigan's fish and game restoration programs have been apportioned nearly $750,000 in federal aid for the current fiscal year, about $42,000 below the 1960-61 period.

The figure included some $400,700 in partial apportionments made last July to help the state organize its fish and game projects for the year ahead.

Nearly $527,000 in Pittman-Robertson monies has been allotted to Michigan's game programs, a drop of $47,000 from the previous period. The state's latest Dingell-Johnson allotment for fish restoration work totals almost $225,000, some $5,000 more than during the 1960-61 fiscal year.

Together, the state's fish and game apportionments are fourth highest in the nation.

Another $112,200 in P-R funds is being held back from the state's latest apportionment, pending action on the Department of the Interior's appeal of a district court decision which reversed a change of interpretation over what constitutes a "paid hunting license holder." The court's ruling was in favor of a stand taken by Michigan and three other states.

The total amount withheld from Michigan's hard-pressed P-R program now approaches $340,000 over a three-year period.

Funds from both federal aid sources are divided among states on the basis of their paid license holders and land area. P-R funds are collected from a federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition; D-J funds come from a similar tax on fishing tackle.

Host Bloomfield Open Hunt Club won the pro-amateur championship Sunday in the Junior Olympics riding program for teams.

Robert Egan, Chris Glancy, Heather Campbell and Donna Brown of the BOH Saddleties took first place.

The Wallace Topnotchers, composed of Bob Sample, Sue Rader, Barbara Robinson and Sue Wallace, won top honors in Class A. The BOH Top Rails were second.

Toledo Sparks won Class B with the Wallace We Notchers second. Bob Sample was the fastest horseman in Class A with no falls. Cheryl Davis edged Marilee Molvold by two-tenths of a second to gain individual Class B honors. There were 23 faultless rounds.

Offensive tackle Bob Wetolski is the only Notre Dame representative on the roster of the Chicago Bears.

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

If he was born with red hair and every temper tantrum was explained, within hearing, by, "All redheads have hot tempers," the chances are good that he'll always have trouble holding his temper.

We all have our pictures. They may not look so good. I read as a child's because children are not conditioned to practice deception. Most of us guard our pictures so closely that others don't always see them. This can lead to difficulties when the image is not really true. Pictures are what it keeps us from doing our best.

Every teacher meets good students who perform better than anyone has a right to expect. They are lucky. They see themselves as being capable, and are confident.

Not so lucky are the unsuccessful students who have real abilities but are not confident. They see themselves as being incapable, and lack confidence.

We act like the persons we think we are. If we see ourselves as being able to handle a situation, we at least give it a good try. If we are certain that we can't, we are whipped before we begin.

The child who sees himself as "good" may not say that he is good or consciously think of himself as good. It shows in his behavior — he will usually act like a good boy.

JUST BEING HIMSELF

On the other hand, if he sees himself as "bad" he will probably act that way. He isn't trying to be mean, he's just being himself, as he sees himself.

Everyone must have some kind of personal image to guide his behavior. It usually causes trouble only when it's wrong. The student who sees himself as being a slow worker may never finish test. He may think of himself as slow because someone has convinced him that he is. In some way, "slowness" has become a part of his picture.

The student who is convince that he can't learn easily may be hiding a perfectly good mind behind a false image. Someone or something has convinced him that he can't learn, and telling him that he's wrong won't help. It must be demonstrated. That picture is of These patterns can be changed. Our personal image is constantly being renewed, retouched and repainted. New viewpoints are added as we become convinced that should be.

The slow worker can be led to discover that he can work faster. After he has demonstrated his new ability to himself often enough to believe it, his picture begins to change.

The student who is certain he can't learn is less certain when some teacher takes the trouble to demonstrate to him that he can. As the demonstrations continue, he begins to see himself, and his abilities, in a new light. It's far easier to help a child get the "right" picture in the first place than to change a "wrong" one.

The only way to make such a change is to change your behavior. Your change is him. See, and react, to him as he is — not as he acts. It isn't easy—and it isn't fast—but when he begins to see that his picture is wrong, he'll make the change himself.

(You may write Dr. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. He cannot answer questions individually but he will discuss those of general interest in his columns.)

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Oscar, a 10-pound-radio robot, is orbiting the world, beeping "hi" to radio hams from Byrdland, Antarctica, to Kodiak, Alaska.

OSCAR—short for Orbiting Satellite Carrying Amateur Radio—was launched Tuesday aboard a Discoverer satellite and about 90 minutes later was transmitting the four dots and two dots that spell "hi" in Morse code.

The Discoverer 36 satellite also carried its usual cargo—a capsule of secret instruments that will be ejected within a few days. The Air Force has planes ready to snag the capsule as it parachutes near Hawaii — a feat achieved seven times to date. Three other capsules have been fished from the ocean.

Most of the attention is centered on OSCAR—carried aloft in the rocket's tail in place of ballast. The capsule is in the nose cone.

OSCAR, the world's first satellite built entirely by private citizens, was launched last week. It has been invited to help track OSCAR.

OSCAR was ejected on Discoverer's first pass over the antarctic, the Air Force said; and was circling the globe every 91 minutes at an altitude ranging from 150 to 260 miles, slightly behind its mother satellite.

Policy Makers Plan Session on Alleged GOP 'Salesmanship'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Democratic policymakers will meet here Sunday to decide whether the constitutional convention is concerned more with "salesmanship" than "statesmanship."

Said State Chairman John J.
Collins:

what appears to be proposals aimed more toward partisan advantage than toward any meaningful change in critical constitutional areas."

Collins asserted that some GOP delegates seem to be more interested "in selling the new constitution than in developing a document worthy of the people who will have to make the ultimate judgment."

Party leaders and members of the State Central Committee will open the weekend meeting Saturday at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State University campus. Party leaders will meet privately, a party spokesman said.

Said Collins:
"If our delegates give us genuine hope for bipartisan document, it will be one thing. On the other hand, if the convention seems to them to be turning into a Republican caucus for purposes only of promoting Republican dreams, we intend to have some observations to make."

Farmers' Group Ignores Appeal

American Farm Bureau Unmoved by Plea to Support JFK Program.

CHICAGO (AP) — The national convention of the influential American Farm Bureau Federation appeared unmoved today by a Kennedy administration appeal that it support the latter's program of broader farm controls.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman made the appeal in a talk before the convention Tuesday to which he declared that the problem of farm surpluses and low incomes can be solved only within the framework of "effective management of production" by farmers working through government.

For years the big farm organization has been seeking fewer controls and an eventual return to what it calls a system which allows markets — and not government — to determine prices and production in agriculture. It has criticized Kennedy farm proposals.

In a statement replying to Freeman, Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman said his organization's program would return to the market price system.

Earlier, Shuman told the convention that such a system was based on moral law and that use of government farm subsidies and controls was in violation of "God's pattern" for man.

Resolutions scheduled to be placed before voting delegates today and Thursday backed Shuman. They were expected to be approved with little or no opposition.

A Commerce Township man is reported in fair condition today after his car struck two trees and overturned about two miles from his home last night.

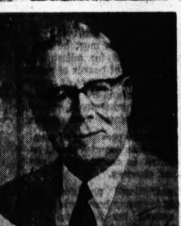

Injured in the accident was Robert D. Ingham, 31, of 209 Alsop St., whose car went out of control on Richardson Road near Union Lake Road at about 10:30 p.m.

School Tax Proposals Passed by Lamphere

MADISON HEIGHTS — Two operating tax proposals — a renewal of five mills for five years and the addition of five mills for two years — were approved Tuesday by voters of Lamphere School district in the northern part of this city.

Supt. Fred D. Thorn said the net result was an added $5 for two years on the present school tax rate of $25.20 per $1,000 property assessment. Lamphere turned down similar millage last September.

Port of Toledo Thriving With Overseas Cargo

TOLEDO, Ohio — Overseas cargo handled in the Port of Toledo reached a record 360,980 tons this year, more than double the amount handled last year. This year's total tonnage loaded or delivered by 346 ocean-going vessels compares with 153,208 tons handled by 269 ships. Overseas general cargo, which excludes bulk shipments, amounted to 120,952 compared with 115,374 in 1960.

Ready for Police Job Organizations to Merge Party

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Edward A. Wilson, 50, former township police sergeant, takes over his new duties as chief of the department next Tuesday.

Wilson was the unanimous choice of the Township Board to succeed Capt. William Ware, whose resignation becomes effective Dec. 29.

Ware resigned last month shortly after losing a $500,000 libel suit against Time magazine for allegedly damaging his reputation.

The newly elected chief served on the township force with the rank of sergeant from 1940 to 1956. He worked as a special investigator during the 1952 grand jury investigations of township vice ringster. With his new appointment, he was elevated to the rank of captain.

Now a Detroit postal clerk, Wilson said he had not yet decided what changes he will make in police personnel but that he intends to put the department "back on its feet like it used to be in the old days."

He is married and the father of six children, ranging in age from 7 to 30 years.

For New Water Main

Troy Bond Issue OK'd

TROY — The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved a $31,000 special assessment bond issue for construction of a water main on East Long Lake Road from Rochester Road to the Colerain School.

The commission's approval clears the last legal hurdle before bids can be let on the construction. City Manager David E. Firestone said today that bids will probably be opened within a year and that work may begin by early February.

Total cost of the project, which is expected to service some 15 homes and the Colerain School upon completion, will be $61,600.

The party will be held at the Clarkson Masonic Temple and will begin with a 6:30 p.m. potluck dinner.

Members of the various groups will present the entertainment, and Santa Claus is expected to appear for the children.

Highlight of the evening will be a 50-cent gift exchange among members. Women have been asked to bring gifts for women, and the men, for men.

Over 1,100 NEEDED Apply for Assist at Christmas

Over 1,100 applications for Christmas aid have been received by the Pontiac Area Christmas Clearing House operating in the downtown area of the Salvation Army Building, 29 W. Lawrence St., according to Capt. J. William Heaver.

Applications deadline for holiday baskets has been set at 5 p.m. Friday. The office will remain open after next Friday only for clearing names with other agencies or groups.

Income from the Christmas Kettles and mailed donations has been low this year. Unless there are more contributions, some families may go without adequate assistance this Christmas. Heaver pointed out.

The Pontiac Exchange Club will hold its 37th annual "War Cry" sale of Salvation Army publications on the streets 7 to 9 p.m. Friday. The project committee, under chairman Douglas Booth, hopes to raise funds to aid a record number of families, Heaver said.

Dem Club to Hear of Food Regulations

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Mary Jane Bostick of the Federal Bureau of the Pure Foods and Drugs Administration will be the guest speaker at today's 8 p.m. meeting of the White Lake Township Democratic Club.

The meeting will be held in the White Lake Township Hall. Mrs. Bostick, a consumer's consultant, will tell what is being done by the government to protect the buying public from fraud and through the establishing of price standards.

Novi Youth Aid Group Selects New Officers

NOVI — Leon Dochot of 727 S. Lake Drive has been elected chairman of the Novi Youth Assistance Committee and Roger Curtis has been named vice chairman. Both men are Novi Township constables.

Other officers elected are Village Councilman Eugene Choquet, secretary; and Herbert Koester, treasurer.

Thirty Units Taking Part in Friday Evening Event

MILFORD — At least 5,000 visitors are expected to view the Christmas parade here Friday by the Milford Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the village's first major holiday event.

Nearly 30 units will participate in the parade, which will get under way at 6:30 p.m.

The marching and mobile units will form on Washington Street and will proceed north on Main Street to Detroit Street east.

The group then will continue to Union, south to Center Street and west to Main Street, where Santa Claus will be let off at the branch of the passers a reviewing stand in front of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland.

He will welcome children to his Toyland headquarters in the second floor Community Room of the building for two hours following the parade and again on Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon, 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

IGLOU ENTRANCE:

An appropriate igloo, similar to his North Pole home entrance, has been constructed for the front of the building by the Milford Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Leading the parade will be officers of the Chamber of Commerce and officials of the village and township.

They will be followed by Dr. Earl Brooks, riding his 11-time champion Arabian stallion Amata.

Five bands from area high schools will be placed at strategic positions in the parade to provide continuous holiday music for the marchers. They are from Milford, Walled Lake, Holly, South Lyon and Brighton.

In addition color guards will be provided by boy scouts from Milford troops 23, 171, 172 and 174. A float has been entered by Troop 44 from White Lake Township.

Floats also have been entered by General Motors, General Telephone Co., Milford 4-H Club, Milford Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Milford Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

Marchers will include the Ravens and Thunderbirds, the Thomas Edison Drum and Bugle Corps, the Greenhorns and Greenhorns unit from the Commerce Nike base.

Others in the parade will be the Milford High School Homecoming Queen Susan Eckert, an exchange student from Turkey.

OXFORD — The Village Council adopted a new ordinance last night lowering rate of licenses for food establishments.

The rate per square foot was dropped from $4 per 500 to $5 per 1,000. The licensing for now applies to all food establishments, not only to grocery, meat and retail stores as under the old ordinance.

Report Condition Better After Car Skids Into Train in Wixom

WIXOM — The condition of two men injured in an automobile-train collision here early yesterday improved during the night, authorities at Pontiac General Hospital said today.

However, Arthur Nelson, 32, of 826 Buno Road, Milford Township, remained in serious condition with back injuries, a fractured arm and cuts on the face, hands and chest.

In satisfactory condition is Robert Moore, 23, of 2448 Potter Road, who sustained cuts on the face. Moore was driving and Nelson was his passenger.

The accident occurred about 9:45 a.m. when Moore's car skidded through a stop sign at the Beck Road-Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing and crashed into the rear of the engine.

The car was hurled about 25 feet after the impact, overturned and landed upright in a ditch next to the tracks.

The engineer of the Grand Trunk freight train, C. E. Zimmerman, 1528 Harger St., Pontiac, told Wixom police that the train was traveling within the posted city speed limits.

Venezuelan Political Situation Quiet

Expects No Trouble on S. American Tour

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Chances are considered slim that anti-U.S. Venezuelans will give President Kennedy the same violent reception they gave former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Kennedy on his arrival Saturday will step into a local political climate that has improved vastly since Nixon and his wife were mobbed 3½ years ago.

DIFFERENT SITUATION

Nixon's 1958 visit came just after dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez had been toppled, and the country was in the hands of a caretaker government. Police forces were inadequate and the country generally was in political chaos.

Cold Weather Stings Nation

Zero Temperatures Hit U.S. From Rockies to the Appalachians

By The Associated Press
Snow diminished but the season's first winter storms most areas from the Rockies to the Appalachians today.

The zero weather over the Midwest followed heaviest snowfalls of the season in some sections. Strong winds whipped snow into huge drifts in parts of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, creating a wintry scene more than a week before winter's official start.

The center of the huge mass of Arctic air was in the north and central Plains states.

BELOW ZERO

Below zero readings extended as far east as the upper Mississippi Valley. Temperatures in the teens and lower were reported from the lower Great Lakes southward through the middle Mississippi Valley, the central Plains and into the Rockies.

Some of the lowest early morning readings were in South Dakota with -18 in Aberdeen and -17 in Huron. It was -11 in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and -10 in Minneapolis.

Wave warnings were issued by the Weather Bureau for areas extending from eastern Kentucky to western New York. Temperatures were expected to drop to 8 to 15 above tonight with zero weather indicated in mountain areas of western New York.

Report Vopo Is Shot in Attempt to Escape

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist police in East Berlin today shot and apparently wounded one of their own men who was trying to escape across the border, according to eye witnesses.

West Berlin police said the witnesses reported the incident occurred at the barbed wire border of the French sector. The witnesses said the Communist policeman dashed toward the barbed wire dividing line but was shot down by another guard.

Police called to the scene saw an East German ambulance driving away, presumably carrying the wounded policeman. The incident occurred as Allied sources disclosed that U.S. Army M2 carbines will be issued to West Berlin police in order to bolster Western defenses on the border.

Kennedy and his wife will spend a day and night here as the guests of Betancourt, then fly to Bogota in neighboring Colombia for a one-day visit.

MORE ARE EXCITED

Kennedy's photographs are displayed prominently in store windows, and American flags are flying in the summer sunshine. Taxis, shop girls and the man in the street seem excited at the prospect of seeing the handsome young President and his beautiful wife.

Dozens of U.S. secret service men are here working out details of a master security plan to protect the President. Venezuela's armed forces have pledged to guarantee Kennedy's safety.

But leftist anti-U.S. elements are also busy, and inflammatory leaflets have been circulated calling on the people to take to the streets to show they do not want Kennedy here.

"Despite all our measures and the fullest cooperation of the Venezuelan government, a handful of troublemakers could cause a ruckus," a member of Kennedy's advance security force conceded.

up, government agents pail them out.

STUDENTS BIG SUSPECT

Observers feel that if there is any real trouble when Kennedy rides through the streets, it will be caused by leftist students carrying out the orders of the 20,000 strong Communist party of Venezuela.

The Federation of Student Centers, which represents the 22,000 students in the city's four universities, distributed a statement charging that under Kennedy "the U.S. State Department has intensified its traditional policy of intervention in Latin American affairs."

Americo Martin, leftist president of the federation said, "We are against Kennedy's visit because we are against Yankee imperialism." The federation declared Kennedy "persona non grata."

Students at Andrebello Catholic University, however, issued a statement calling for a cordial reception for Kennedy.

Chimp Hears From Fans All Over Globe

Hero Enos Rates Bundles of Fan Mail

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Fan mail is coming to NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center from all over the world—addressed to Enos the chimp.

One letter carries part of the wall in the public affairs office of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It is almost six feet high and the words are in large black crayon.

"Dear Enos: We are happy that you had a good ride! We want to know how to say your name. We would like to have some pictures of you! We would like to see a banana pellet! We are proud of you!"

The letter is signed by the first grade of Bakerfield Elementary School, Aberdeen, Md. Twenty-four carefully scrawled signatures of the pupils in Room 1 follow.

Enos, who paved the way for manned orbital flight by an American, by circling the earth twice on Nov. 23, also is receiving Christmas cards. These bear part of the office of Col. John A. Powers, public affairs officer.

Dear Enos Chimp, one card begins. "What do you think of the human race? I live alone and I am a little lonely. I have a beautiful wife and two children. I am a good healthy man. Merry Christmas. It was signed Emma.

Another card shows the chimp all the way from Nice, France. It shows a bewildered Enos, his head swimming, standing before the open door of his capsule after his return.

The chimp has over Enos is similar to the rash of letters which came to the center last year addressed to Ham, the chimp who made a successful suborbital flight.

All letters are answered by the Public Affairs Office, including those to chimpanzees.

Salesman Arrested in Paintings Theft

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The FBI announced today the arrest of an unemployed salesman in connection with the theft of contemporary paintings valued in excess of $50,000 from the home of a suburban Whitehall art collector last July.

B. C. Brown, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the FBI, identified the man as Ralph Charlton Hobbs, 45, of Beaver Falls, Pa. He was charged with interstate transportation of stolen property.

The theft of the 10 paintings occurred at the home of G. David Thompson on the night of July 28. Brown said the paintings have not been recovered.

Warn Against New Racial Demonstrations

Move Jailed Marchers From Town

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Police sent 156 Negroes arrested in Tuesday's racial demonstration at Albany, Ga., to jails in nearby towns today and warned against new demonstrations in support of a movement for desegregating public facilities.

Police Chief Laurie Pritchett cleared the Albany jail of all demonstrators who failed to post $500 bond. He said he understood a new demonstration was planned today but "if they come, in quiet will be maintained and we will not allow mob demonstrations."

Officers arrested 367 Negroes Tuesday as they paraded around city hall where nine "Freedom Riders" and two Albany Negroes are being given hearings for an earlier demonstration, against segregation practices.

The marching, singing Negroes were booked on charges of disorderly conduct, attempting to intimidate the city recorder's court and failure to obey police commands to move on.

Ninety-one juveniles were released in custody of their parents. Twenty others posted bonds of $200 and were released. The 156 who did not post bond were sent to other jails.

The city was quiet as the recorder's court hearing resumed today. Almer Israel, judge of recorder's court, began hearing separately the cases against the 11 on trial.

Credit Counselors Set Meeting on Bankruptcy

An emergency meeting has been scheduled for tomorrow in Detroit by the American Association of Credit Counselors to learn if people are being unwittingly forced into bankruptcy.

The meeting of officers and members of the board of directors of the association will be held 11 a.m. at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel.

Morris Rabinowitch of San Francisco, president of the group, said that credit people are becoming "alarmed" over the tremendous increase of personal bankruptcies throughout the country and are interested in knowing the reason.

"At this meeting," he said, "the results of an immediate study will be made to allocate funds for research on a national and regional basis to find the cause of bankruptcies and study the economic effect on our federal, state and local governments."

CONCERNED ABOUT RUMORS

"I am really concerned about the rumors that tend to place the blame for bankruptcies on various groups without any justification, or facts to back them up," said Rabinowitch.

"There is a damaging effect on people who are being badly advised to file bankruptcy and the use of Chapter 13 of the National Bankruptcy Act," added the association president.

"In many cases, they find themselves in a worse condition financially than they were before, and they find that the money used in these various proceedings could and would have alleviated their dire financial problems."

"Should attempts continue to morally corrupt our people by encouraging them to use the bankruptcy courts, our country will deteriorate in a society of morally corrupt individuals, and an economy of utter chaos."

Among the officers of the Association attending the meeting will be John M. Hanson of Michigan Credit Counselors, Pontiac.

Illinois Probes Missing Checks

Defeated Adamowski Admits Taking Records of Contingency Fund

CHICAGO (AP)—The state attorney's office is investigating the disappearance of $78,839 in canceled checks which it said were issued during the administration of former State Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski.

State Atty. Daniel Ward, a Democrat, who defeated Adamowski, a Republican, in the Nov. 8, 1960, election, said he is making no accusation but that a special prosecutor will be assigned to make an inquiry into the missing checks and any other missing property belonging to Cook County.

Adamowski, in a statement Tuesday night, said he destroyed some records of his contingency fund expenditures to "protect persons who came forward to help the work of the state attorney's office." The contingency fund is used for payments to informers or specialized experts or for renting special equipment.

"The full responsibility for expenditures from this fund was mine," Adamowski said. The County Board, in the controller's office, has vouchers for advances to the fund.

"A certain amount of secrecy in such matters is essential in law enforcement areas, dealing with informers and the buying of information," he said.

Adamowski, who lost his bid for reelection by 26,000 votes, charged fraud and error in the election and sued for a recount. The suit was dismissed by the Illinois Supreme Court Nov. 17.

Ward said payments from the contingency fund total $83,850 during Adamowski's four-year term but that canceled checks for only $54,144 remain in the records.

He said that a journal kept by the clerk of the office showed that checks for more than half the money were made out to "cash."

Consider Home Rule Idea

Con-Con Queries County Proposal

BY DICK HANSON

The constitutional convention's committee on local government raised two questions on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' county home rule proposal when it was presented in Lansing today.

The questions were: 1. Would it suffice if a new state constitution spelled out optional charters, giving counties a choice of the type of home rule they would prefer among those thus specified?

2. Which county government officials would remain to be elected and which would be appointed by the board of supervisors? If its proposal were included in an approved state constitution?

Oakland County Board of Supervisors Chairman Delos Hamlin, who presented the proposal to the committee headed by con-con delegate Arthur G. Elliott Jr., R-

Pleasant Ridge, made the following replies:

1. Hamlin didn't feel that offering a choice among several home rule charters in the constitution would be as satisfactory as permitting counties to frame their own charters in each case.

2. He said it was virtually impossible at this stage to say what county officials might be filled by appointment rather than through general elections because question would have to be decided in a public vote at the county level.

Following the 30-minute meeting with the committee Hamlin said he felt the County Board of Supervisors' proposal was met with an "excellent reception" by the committee.

ASKED TO RETURN

The committee asked the county officials, including Corporation Counsel Norman R. Bernard and Berkeley Supervisor John G. Seaman, chairman of the Board's legislative committee, to return at 4 p.m. The con-con committee expected to have more specific questions to ask at that time, after having reviewed the proposal at greater length.

Following are excerpts from Hamlin's presentation earlier today:

"The Michigan county is a separate entity of government responsible to the people. The unbalanced counties of the state have found it increasingly difficult to keep pace with the growing demands for new services which can only be provided at the county level. It has been necessary for the counties annually to approach the legislature in Lansing for special legislation."

"This situation is due largely to the failure of the Constitution to provide the county with the necessary freedom to perform such functions as it is clearly adapted to perform. Just as there are no two people alike, so also are there no two counties exactly alike or which can function in exactly the same way.

"I appear before you this morning to ask that you draft a new Constitution for the State of Michigan, you include in it a provision which allows counties permissive home rule—that is, freedom to choose the form of government which will best suit the needs of a particular county. Freedom to frame and select charters which fit their individual needs. Freedom to exercise and fulfill the responsibilities which belong to counties in the most effective and efficient manner possible."

"Or, if they wish, freedom to continue to function under the general laws of the state."

BROAD PROVISIONS

"Constitutional provisions for county home rule must be broad enough to allow for adjustment in composition of boards of supervisors, the development of county administration and the selection of various administrative officers, either by appointment or election."

"Under the provisions of county home rule counties should be permitted to frame, adopt and amend charters."

"Constitutional provisions pertaining to county home rule should not restrict tax resources of a county charter to any limitation inconsistent with those prescribed for other units of local government operating on home rule principles or with the general laws of the state."

"Constitutional provisions should be made to equip counties with powers consistent with and not in contradiction to city, township or village powers. All powers delegated to county charters should not be left to the discretion of the legislature."

"I fully realize that one of the most crucial questions to be considered is whether or not the present constitutional officials of the county who are elected should be continued."

"I am in favor of the election of local officials. I would, however, raise the question as to whether or not any new Constitution should provide for the election of certain designated officials within a county."

"It is possible that the framers of a county charter would decide to provide for the election of the entire membership of the policy-making body of the county. If a county charter should so provide, it might then be desirable to have these elected representatives select the administrative officials."

Aspirin Blamed as Chief 'Poison'

Ignorance in Use Cause of Accidental Deaths, Especially of Children

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Aspirin, for all its beneficial effects, is responsible for more cases of accidental poisoning than any other drug, according to a University of California medical professor.

Dr. E. Loong Way, professor of pharmacology and toxicology at the university's medical center in San Francisco, said children are particularly susceptible to aspirin.

"Many poisonings have resulted because of the ignorance and carelessness of parents who underestimate the dangers of the drug in children," he said.

"The increased incidence of aspirin poisoning also appears to have paralleled the introduction of flavored or candied preparations. However, drug manufacturers are now dispensing the candied tablets in bottles with special caps which are extremely difficult for children to remove."

Portable for Dad Can Speed Up His Homework

If Dad brings home work every night, and laboriously sits down with a paper and pencil, you know what he really would like for Christmas.

Part of the fun at Christmas time is trying to guess what's in those carefully wrapped packages stashed away in the closet or attic prior to their debut under the tree.

But tap, poke, rattle it as he may, he'll have the hardest time guessing the contents of the gaily decorated carton containing his own personal portable typewriter.

With his evening work finished more quickly because of your gift, he'll have more time to spend with the family.

You won't have to lock the study door during the daytime to keep junior from damaging the lightweight typewriter, either. For portables are housed in a rigid compound, so tough that it is used to make crash helmets for jet pilots.

400,000 Put on 'Relief'

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — Federal bankruptcy referee Byron Pope recently granted judicial relief to 400,000 hungry baby chicks. A Chattanooga firm listed the chicks as "perishable assets" in a bankruptcy petition filed in U.S. District Court — and Pope appointed a temporary trustee to feed them.

Showdown Battle Builds Up in Congo

Santa Won't Forget Little Sister

Freddie Gets Dying Wish

JACKSONVILLE Fla. (AP)—The last wish of 7-year-old Freddie Downer will be fulfilled.

Freddie died at Massena, N.Y., Friday night after an automobile struck him while he was crossing a street to use a telephone. He wanted to remind Santa Claus of a letter he had written.

His home lacks a phone.

"Even if you have to leave me out, Santa, please don't forget my sister," he had written Santa.

For his sister, Vicki, 3, Freddie had asked for "a dolly with hair, child dishes and clothes for her doll, a high chair and carriage."

"I hope she does get these," he wrote. "She's a swell sister."

Freddie lived with his mother and sister. His father is in a state hospital.

The Jacksonville Junior Chamber of Commerce, which saw an Associated Press story of Freddie's death, shipped the items on Freddie's list for his sister Tuesday.

City Man Dies After Car Crash

A 54-year-old Pontiac man was killed today in a two-car collision at North Perry Street and Glenwood Avenue.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital following the accident, which occurred at about 7 a.m., was James A. Lane of 78 S. Roseland Drive.

The driver of the other car was Raymond E. Day, 31, of 10387 Big Lake Drive, Springfield Township.

Lane's car, which was traveling west on Glenwood, crossed a curb and struck a mailbox after being struck on the driver's side by Day's auto, according to Pontiac police. Lane was thrown from his car to the sidewalk after the impact.

Police said one of the drivers apparently ran a red light at the intersection before the collision. Police had not determined which driver was at fault, however.

Both men were alone in their cars. Day had been driving north on North Perry Street before the mishap occurred.

Lane is the fourth Pontiac resident to die in traffic accidents on city streets in the past five days. One man was killed in a mishap at Oakland and North Johnson avenues Saturday and two others died after the car in which they were riding hit a tree early Sunday on Mount Clemens Street.

High-Style Fur Hat Would Please Milady

BY JANET ODELL

Mink stoles and emerald-cut diamonds are nice, but most women will settle for far less as a Christmas gift.

Furs — real or man-made — can be purchased without wrecking the budget if you'll be satisfied with buying her a fashionable fur hat.

Another furry item we saw was a pale blonde jacket.

The material has a shorter pile than such furs in the past and was striking looking.

A conversation piece to wear on her best wool dress would be a gold chain belt with a large watch suspended from it. Another long golden chain is a necklace with a large purple-blue pearl-shaped stone hanging from it. Consider the little jeweled bags on your neck.

On the practical side, milady will appreciate a hanging plastic zipper bag that holds six pairs of shoes. This can be used in either closet or car.

Some of the new serving dishes are as lovely as ever but have modern nontarnish finishes. One saw would be fine for hors d'oeuvres, dips or shrimp with a sauce; the brass dish had a glass center insert. The other occasional pieces are silver plated and have a lovely luster that never needs polishing.

How about a hair dryer? You can get them in many sizes and for many prices. One in a small suitcase appealed to us. It has a separate outlet for drying the brush on your neck.

If she belongs to the Eastern Star, you can now get her a book mark with the Star emblem on the top.

GIVE ATTORNEY GENERAL INSIDE TRACK; 8 OTHERS RATED CHANCE

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, six circuit judges, a union attorney and a Jackson banker figured today in speculation on a successor to State Supreme Court Justice George C. Edwards.

Edwards, who will become Detroit police commissioner Jan. 3, will stay on the bench until the end of the year but aides to Gov. Swainson said a successor very likely would be named before then.

The governor said he has not made up his mind on a replacement for the 67-year-old jurist, who has served on the high court since 1955. It is known, however, that Edwards consulted several times with Swainson before accepting the Detroit police post and made some suggestions on a successor.

Edwards, an avowed liberal, reportedly was concerned that the new justice have a concept of the law not unlike his own.

Topping the list of potential replacements is the attorney general, who has long been interested in the assignment. He was passed over when Justice Talbot Smith quit in October to become a U.S. district judge in Eastern Michigan.

Adams, 61, a former U.S. attorney, was appointed by former Gov. Sault Ste. Marie, was appointed attorney general by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams in 1958 and was twice elected to the post.

Death for Eichmann Demanded by Israel

JERUSALEM (AP)—The State of Israel demanded death today for Adolf Eichmann, the Gestapo colonel convicted of major complicity in Hitler's plot to exterminate the Jews.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner told the special Israeli tribunal which found Eichmann guilty of capital crimes against the Jews: "There can be one sentence for him and no other."

Hausner did not specify the method. That will be decided by the court. If it condemns Eichmann, Israel's basic law follows the British practice, which would mean hanging.

The attorney general based his entire demand for death on a simple charge—genocide. That is the word the United Nations adopted in 1948 as describing the Hitler Regime's plot to wipe out an entire race.

Six million of Europe's eleven million Jews died in what the Nazis called the "final solution to the Jewish problem."

ONLY ONE POSSIBLE

Under the charge of genocide as it fits into Israel's special law of 1950 for punishment of Nazis and their collaborators, the attorney general said the death sentence "is the only punishment" possible.

In this manner, Hausner was meeting the question of whether death under the law is mandatory.

Some legal circles say the law in the Hebrew language makes it compulsory whereas its translation into English uses the phrase "is liable" to the death penalty.

A packed courtroom heard the state's demand for something more than the death penalty. The death penalty has never been invoked before.

Eichmann, pale but composed, tightened his thin lips even more as he listened.

The attorney general, a man of volatile temperament, spoke in an unusually harsh manner.

He opened his final declaration by saying: "The words which you, my learned judges, voiced here still echo in this courtroom. The survivors of the pogrom carried to the doorsteps of this court the terrors of blood and tears."

Eichmann, said the attorney general, "perjured his Socratic work for years, day after day, year after year, with conviction to destroy and kill. He was at the center of the plot to exterminate. There can be one sentence for him and no other."

Thursday to Be Fair but 12 Above Tonight

B-r-r-r-r, it's cold outside, and the weatherman says the mercury will plunge to 12 above tonight.

But cheer up, Thursday will be fair and temperatures a little warmer, the high rising to near 28.

For the rest of the week temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees below the normal high of 34 and normal low of 22.

Precipitation will total about .1 of an inch occurring as snow flurries Friday and again Monday.

Morning westerly winds at 5 miles per hour will diminish to light and become southwest at 10 to 18 m.p.h. tomorrow.

The thermometer registering 18 at 4 a.m. today rose to 19 at 10:15 a.m. The reading at 1 p.m. was 20.

Getting In 'Tosses' Before School

WINTER FUN — Although the snow was too fluffy for movieland making early this morning, children waiting for school buses all over Oakland County had fun peppering each other with the soft white stuff. The Walled Lake school bus driver waited patiently for this group at Charns and Wixom roads to get that last "throw" in before settling down to an orderly bus ride and school work.

TSHOMBE AROUSED — Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga Province in the Congo, is shown at his residence in Elisabethville. The Katanga mission in Brussels claimed Tuesday that U.N. troops attacked Tshombe's residence but the report was denied by a spokesman for the world body. The United States will announce their reasons for supporting the U.N. policy in the Katanga situation.

Twist Gets Approval From Health Officer

LANSING (AP)—Dr. Albert E. Houtis, state health commissioner, has given the Twist a clean bill of health.

In fact, he said, it looks like pretty good exercise.

"There's no health hazard connected with the Twist," Houtis said, "unless you happen to have a sacroiliac condition. In that case you might aggravate it."

The dance craze "looks like a way of twisting a kila hoop without the hoop," Houtis said as he watched teen-aged daughters' performance.

"But whatever else is said about the Twist," he said, "it looks like good exercise. And far be it from me to discourage anyone from getting more exercise."

Meany Reveals Agreement Unions OK Referee Plan

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Leaders of organized labor and the nonunion judiciary early today their complete agreement on a plan for settling labor's internal wars.

It was obvious that George Meany, 67-year-old AFL-CIO president, considered the pact a crowning achievement of his embattled union career. His voice shook as he outlined the peace terms.

The pact was unanimous approval of the AFL-CIO Executive Council in a hot debate during a marathon eight-hour session. Quick approval by the AFL-CIO convention was assured.

Meany, whose re-election as the federation president was a foregone conclusion, is expected to wait a while to see that the peace plan he worked out is functioning smoothly, then probably lay down the mantle of top leader of the organized labor movement to some designated successor.

WIVES OUT THERE

Agreement on the peace plan wipes out any threat of secession by some unions—as had been speculated might happen if the inter-union warfare had been allowed to remain unresolved.

Walter Reuther, head of the old CIO and the United Auto Workers Union, had said only a few weeks ago that, back-haul a dispute peace plan, the federations probably could not hold together another two years.

Meany described the pact hurriedly early today as a "work-

U.N. Men, Jeeps Rushed by Airlift

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—U.S. Air Force transports poured fresh troops and equipment into Elisabethville today to strengthen U.N. forces in the battle for Katanga.

Fresh Katanga troops also moved in to the capital from the north, and a showdown fight appeared to be developing.

The transports began bringing in 700 Ethiopian troops, swelling the total U.N. strength in Elisabethville to about 4,500 men, or double the force a week ago.

The American planes Tuesday brought in 216 Swedish soldiers newly arrived from Europe.

Today's airlift also was scheduled to bring in 45,000 pounds of supplies and 14 jeeps.

Katanga Gen. Norbert Moke said he planned to take the offensive soon against the U.N. forces, though he acknowledged the superiority of the U.N. weapons and jet air force. The number of Katanga reinforcements was not stated.

U.S. to State Stand on Congo

Nation Expected to Voice Strong Backing of U.N. Operation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States disagreed today with Britain's call for an immediate cease fire in the Congo. It said there should be no cease fire until minimum objectives of the United Nations have been reached in the African trouble spot.

The State Department issued a U.S. policy statement today on the Congo crisis.

The statement was expected to voice strong American support for the U.N. operation in the Congo and call for integration of secessionist Katanga Province with the Congo as a whole.

Insistence of the policy declaration stems from: 1, a concern that the public needs fuller understanding of the complex question.

(2) a desire to drum up further support for U.N. action in the African trouble spot and (3) an apprehension that seeming U.S. British differences on the crisis have been given too much play.

Flashes

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The FBI announced today the arrest of an unemployed salesman in connection with the theft of contemporary paintings valued at excess of $100,000 from the home of a suburban Whitehall art collector last July.

POTOSI, Mo. (AP)—A flu epidemic that has disabled 800 school children and 2,500 adults paralyzed this city of 8,000 population today. Schools were closed Monday when 100 of 1,500 children were absent. Many of the pupils live in rural areas near this community, 35 miles south of St. Louis.

Rocky to Keep Public Career

Calls Reports Absurd, 'Wishful Thinking by a Democratic Boss'

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller — shaken in recent weeks by the disappearance of his youngest son — today termed as absurd a report that he will leave public life.

He said the published report "seems to me like wishful thinking on the part of a Democratic boss."

Asked about the report, published Tuesday night, the governor said he was not planning to leave public life.

He said he plans to complete his current term and run for re-election next year. He said he is already drafting campaign plans and cited a meeting of leaders scheduled in Albany Dec. 27.

He was interviewed by NBC and radio station WNEW in New York before leaving for a government meeting in Princeton, N. J.

Republican leaders in the state backed up the governor's statement.

Rockefeller has been widely mentioned as a potential GOP nominee for president in 1964.

Reports have been circulating for more than a week that Rockefeller would not seek re-election as governor.

In a copyright suit Tuesday night, the New York Daily News said the governor had informed top GOP leaders of his intention not to run again and of the possibility he might resign before his term ended.

Predicts No Change in Representation

trict they come back and say we need that to protect our 32nd District from Oakland County."

"Maybe they think we have too many votes in the Senate with one," Ginn said.

Ginn and several other members of the county committee ridiculed an appointment plan of George Romney's which would leave the House apportioned on a population basis and the Senate on the basis of population and effective participation for people living in sparsely settled areas.

Ginn said maybe Romney, a convention vice president of the Michigan State Bar, was proposing his plan "because he's so interested in another office." Romney is a likely GOP candidate for governor in 1962.

Democrats generally oppose the 1962 constitutional amendment which would leave the Senate to give geographical areas of the state representation as areas and not in proportion to population.

"The Republicans confused it so in 1952 that the people bought a built-in inequality," Ginn said.

The chairman told members of his committee that he'd decide Friday to give geographical areas of the state representation as areas and not in proportion to population.

The chairman told Monday night with the understanding he would step down as county chairman 30 days after the job becomes effective Jan. 2.

Ginn said the legal job would only separate him as chairman from a post he's held since August 1960, but would not eliminate him from any other nonoffice job on the county committee.

6,370-Mile Trip Before Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will cover 6,370 miles by plane, helicopter and automobile in his weekend trip to Venezuela and Colombia.

He also plans to work in a half dozen speeches in the fast, tightly timed journey.

The two major addresses are to be delivered at an agrarian reform site outside Caracas, the Venezuelan capital, on Saturday afternoon, and at the San Carlos Palace in Bogota Sunday night.

Kennedy has allotted time for private talks with his hosts, President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela and President Alberto Llerenas of Colombia.

In both South American nations, Kennedy will join in ceremonies dedicating projects of the Alliance for Progress—the chief executive's 10-year program for U.S. cooperation with Latin America in economic and social development.

Traveling with Kennedy will be a party of 10, including Mrs. Kennedy, President Kennedy's press secretary, and a special adviser on African, Asian and Latin American affairs.

There will be little leisure for the President from the time he leaves the White House about noon Friday until he heads back Sunday night.

The presidential party first makes an overnight stop at San Juan, Puerto Rico, where the Kennedys will be guests of Gov. Luis Munoz.

Saturday morning they'll arrive in Caracas—where former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's car is the presidential motorcade. Kennedy's 2½ years ago-to be paraded through the city in a 2½ mile motorcade.

After speeches, ceremonies and conferences, Kennedy flies to Bogota Sunday morning. There the Kennedys will motor nine miles to Techo for dedication of housing and school projects.

A banquet Sunday night will wind up with Kennedy's address. After the banquet the Kennedys board the presidential jet and speed home. Mrs. Kennedy will leave the plane at a refueling stop at West Palm Beach, Fla., and is expected to remain in Palm Beach through the Christmas holidays.

The Day in Birmingham

Favor Tax Deduction for Improvements

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham City Commission has adopted a resolution favoring legislative action that would permit taxpayers to deduct special assessments for local improvements from their taxes.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to Congressmen William C. Brownfield, R-Oakland County, and U.S. senators Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara.

Congress already has under consideration an amendment to the Internal Revenue Code that would permit the deduction from taxable income certain special assessments paid to state and local governments.

The commission stated that it believed such action would encourage sound urban development by affording a tax benefit to municipally planned and directed business district improvements.

The resolution also has been forwarded to mayors of South-eastern Oakland County communities.

New officers of Birmingham Lodge 44, F&AM, will be installed at an 8 p.m. ceremony tomorrow at the Birmingham Masonic Temple.

Those taking office include Jack E. Morningstar, worshipful master; A. Jack Lawrie, senior warden; Charles T. Buchanan, junior warden; and Herman W. Williams, treasurer.

Others include Past Master William M. Barry, secretary; G. Elmo Ashton, chaplain; and Harry O. Martin, associate chaplain.

S. Robert McComb, past master, presided.

MENTION JURISTS

Circuit judges mentioned for the appointment include Theodore R. Bohm, George E. Boyd, Nathan Kaufman and Horace W. Gilmore, all of Wayne County, and Michael Carland of Shawanawee County.

A new entry in the speculation is Theodore Sachs, a partner in the Detroit firm of Roth, Marshall, Macy, Sachs and O'Connor, which handles the legal affairs for the Michigan AFL-CIO. Both Edwards and Bohm were partners in the same firm before they were elevated to the bench.

Sachs impressed the Supreme court with his arguments in behalf of Arthur Schiller in the State AFL-CIO president's suit to force reappointment of the State Senate.

The new justice will serve until the general election in Nov. 1962. Ironically, his salary of $25,000 will exceed Edwards' pay of $20,000.

The legislature raised the pay of Supreme Court justices last year but state law prohibits them from getting an increase which they would receive in office if they were elected.

JETS ATTACK

Katanga government sources said U.N. jets attacked Luena, a coal mining center about 100 miles north of Elisabethville, and Shinkolobwe, a uranium mining town 65 miles northwest of the city.

They said three Africans were killed and two wounded.

The Katanga radio station said U.N. planes also attacked copper mining installations at Jadoville, destroying some locomotives and stranding railway workers.

Smith said Indian Gurkha soldiers in the U.N. headquarters area were mopping up houses on the main road to the airport from which Katangans were directing mortar and bazooka fire at U.N. vehicles.

A U.N. spokesman in New York denied a Katanga report in Brussels that the United Nations had attacked President Tshombe's residence in Elisabethville. The spokesman also denied Katanga reports that U.N. planes had attacked various installations of the Union Miniere company in the province.

The Tunisian government announced it is supplying a new consignment of 30 troops with necessary equipment to the U.N. Congo force.

Cummings, Clarkson Get New Positions

R. C. Cummings, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland for the past 27 years, was named chairman of the board yesterday by the association's Board of Directors.

Succeeding him as association president is James Clarkson, former executive vice president and secretary.

Vern McMaster, former vice president, was promoted to senior vice president and secretary of the association.

The difference in the interest rate, however, is not the major factor in the savings but rather the shorter term issue, Purkiss said.

James H. Purkiss, Birmingham director of finance, has reported that the city will realize a savings of about $50,000 as a result of the sale of its own bonds for its share of the 12-Town Drain construction.

Administration Nears Decision on Politically Touchy Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration is nearing a politically touchy decision that could eliminate eight or ten Army National Guard and Reserve divisions.

There may be some reduction in the number of Guard and Reserve divisions, two of them on active duty, plus 10 Reserve divisions.

There now are 27 Guard divisions, two of them on active duty, plus 10 Reserve divisions.

Anticipating the move, National Guard and Reserve associations are preparing to rally congressional support in a fight to block any slash in divisions.

CHANGES PREVENTED

Past administration, both Democratic and Republican, have tried to make changes in the National Guard structure. Congress always has stepped in and prevented any such action.

The matter has been under study for months, but the experience of the Berlin crisis military buildup has given the idea new impetus.

ARMY PLEASED

It is known that top Army officials were displeased with the length of time it took some of the Guard and Reserve units to shake down and get into combat training.

In part, this was attributed to the understrength state of these units when they were mustered.

Wisconsin's 32nd Infantry Division, for example, had only about 7,000 men. It was beefed up to about 13,000 by the assignment of individual fillers from the Reserve manpower pool.

Sources said the publicized complaints of some of the recalled Guardmen and reservists did not figure importantly in the planning to cut out some Guard and Reserve units.

U.S. Committed on Population Control Controversy

(Editor's Note: After months of high-level discussion, the Kennedy administration has evolved an official U.S. policy on the sharply controversial question of population control.)

By LOUIS CASSELL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States government is now officially committed to the proposition that rapid population growth poses serious economic problems for man underdeveloped nations.

It is actively seeking to stimulate study and public discussion of these problems.

It is prepared to consider requests from other countries for U.S. technical assistance in conducting studies of population growth rates and their impact on economic development.

But it will not make population limitation efforts a condition for future U.S. economic aid. It will not urge or advise any nation to undertake birth control programs.

NOT READY TO HELP
And it is not prepared at this point to provide birth control information or devices to countries which decide on their own to launch such programs.

This summary of U.S. policy was given in an interview by William T. Naukey, special assistant to Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The policy was not evolved quickly or casually. It was carefully framed after months of consultation among high officials who are aware of the intense religious, political and diplomatic pressures which have built up around the whole question of population control.

The policy-makers were confronted, on one hand, with demands from a number of prominent Americans, including many Protestant and Jewish religious leaders, that this country takes a potential diplomatic row in the vigorous initiative in coping with rapid population growth rates which, according to World Bank President Eugene Black, "threatens to nullify all our efforts to raise living standards in the poorer countries."

They were mindful, on the other hand, that the U.S. Catholic hierarchy has formally served notice that it will fight any use of American tax funds "to promote artificial birth prevention, abortion or sterilization" in any land.

Beyond these domestic pressures, the State Department faced

PLACED ON AGENDA
The Swedish-Danish proposal has been placed on the agenda for debate at the current session of the general assembly. Its inclusion on the agenda was opposed by several predominantly-Catholic countries, but was supported by the United States.

Naukey said the U.S. position is that "it is time to get this subject off the black list of things people don't talk about, and bring the problem into the open for study and discussion."

He emphasized that the United States is not advocating any particular solution for population problems.

Man Charges Citizenship and Name to American
MILWAUKEE (AP)—An American became an American here recently.

Zarko Stanuevic, 35, formerly of Yugoslavia, became a citizen at naturalization proceedings. He has changed his name to Zarko American.

He also is an employee of American Motors Corp.

"The main thing we're trying to do is to get people to think and talk about these problems, and to recognize that there is an important relationship between population growth rates and economic development."

He warned against over-simplifying this relationship, or trying to reach the conclusion that birth control programs are the only way to raise living standards in underdeveloped countries.

"In dealing with this matter, we are standing on a small island of knowledge surrounded by a vast ocean of ignorance and uncertainty."

"There are tremendous variations in the population problems of different countries. And population growth rates are affected by a great many factors other than birth control."

Just Wear Them

(NEA) — Nervous handling of eyeglasses can make any woman appear far older than her age. Yet smartly-dressed women will peer over their glasses at a mirror, push them up on the forehead, take them off to gesture and otherwise call less than guide attention to the fact that they wear them. If you do wear eyeglasses most of the time, put them on and forget about them. Other people will forget them, too.

Camp Fire Girls Use It

Publish Baby Sitting Book

Baby sitters need to know a great deal more than just how to care for a child. They need to know, for instance, the telephone number of the nearest neighbor. And they should know the layout of the house and location of all exits. There are many other things they should know to do a thorough, safe and enjoyable job of baby sitting. Parents need to know these requirements, too. Therefore parents, as well as baby sitters, will find the new booklet, "Child Care Course," published recently by Camp Fire Girls, Inc., helpful in providing concise, easy to read and comprehensive facts. Expressive photographs of babies brighten the cover and the heading of each chapter.

USED FOR COURSE
The book was published as a manual for the Camp Fire Girls child care course, along with an "Instructor's Guide to the Child Care Course," and a certificate awarded each girl completing the course. The "Child Care Course" booklet, however, may be ordered by any interested person, whether connected with the organization or not.
It can be an important permanent reference for all baby sitters and parents of small children. To order, write the Camp Fire Girls, Inc., Supply Division, 450 Avenue of the Americas, New York 11, N. Y., and ask for "Child Care Course" booklet, number D-274. The price is $1. The "Instructor's Guide to the Child Care Course" may be purchased for 50 cents, and the order number is D-276.

The book is crammed with facts, but written with a feeling of love and warmth that will inculcate in teen-age girls a sense of responsibility and anticipation that children are fun. It is planned to give them a sense of mission as well as to develop a spirit of resourcefulness.

PRESCRIBES TLC

Girls are told, "No matter what job you are doing with children, it is important to offer them the love that is sometimes called T. L. C. — Tender, Loving Care. You may be ever so efficient in your tasks, but something will be missing if you fail to show warmth and affection. The well-being of a small child is without price. You will always want to have the safe feeling that you know exactly where to turn and what to do in case an emergency should arise."

The book then proceeds to give them information needed for all foreseeable situations. Girls are warned not to broadcast to friends where they will be working. They are cautioned not to give over the telephone the information that parents are away while they are on duty. They are told to say instead that the person asked for cannot be disturbed and to offer to take any messages.

Baby sitters are urged to arrive fifteen minutes early — on their own time — for their first assignment in a home, in order to become acquainted and secure necessary information. The outside front door light should be left on, or any other outside door light. Draperies or shades should be drawn in the rooms where the baby sitter is working. All outside doors and screen doors should be locked, and ground floor windows likewise should be locked with the exception of those open for air.

Girls are advised to take with them a flashlight and possibly play materials. They are given advice on the kinds of playthings they may make or collect which will be intriguing to children of different ages. Tips follow on other types of entertainment for youngsters, such as storytelling, reading aloud, music, dramatics, play acting and thinking games for various ages. "It is wonderful to play even a small role in the development of children," readers are reminded. "If you become a good, resourceful baby sitter, you can do this very thing."

Learn How to Handle Your Hair

The deceptive plumage of the modern girl runs the gamut from beehives to pony tails, with a wide range of styles in between. Since each girl is blessed at birth with a basic type of hair, it follows that at some time she will find it necessary to learn what to do with it.

Start with clean, shining hair and keep it fragrant and pretty with shampooes whenever necessary. This depends on whether it's oily, normal or dry — and an honest appraisal of how it looks in the mirror. Conditioning rinses are necessary for certain girls to make those flying wisps more manageable.

Next is the cut. Although it's a lot of fun to experiment with a scissors, nothing can replace the subtle snipping of an expert. He will emphasize the most flattering styles for you.

A casual look for teens is illustrated in a coiffure which is accented by a bow and turns softly under at the nape of the neck. It is simple and uncluttered.

Bleaching, tinting and dyeing are not recommended for teenagers. It's better to be natural and not have to worry about dark roots and touchups.

Of course, it's wise to remember to carry a comb, but it bugs teachers and dates to be forever using it. Set your hair carefully, learn how to do it well, and ask your hairdresser for hints on the comb-out.

Daily Walk Is Your Free Aid to Good Health

(NEA) — Those statements that one would have to walk a mile in half an hour to use up 100 calories are, like most half-truths, dangerous. For the average person, since this is true, there really isn't much point in talking at all.

IT'S FREE

Actually, a daily walk in fresh air is one of the greatest free aids to beauty. A daily walk at a good clip helps to trim your measurements and keep you young. Walking, like swimming, exercises most of the muscles of the body. It is a tremendous aid in keeping you lithe.

If you walk in flat-heeled, comfortable shoes with plenty of toe room, it can help to strengthen your feet. Walk from the hip — not from the knee. If you're not sure what this statement means, check your own walk and that of other people. You'll notice many elderly people creeping along at a snail's pace with bent knees.

They have never been taught to walk properly, and their faces reflect a lack of enjoyment in walking.

Craft Workshop Ready Thursday

"Christmas Crafts" workshop now in session at the YMCA on Mt. Clemens Street, is readying for the open house Thursday from 11 a.m. to noon.
The display will include works in unusual Christmas craft ideas created during the past eight weeks under the instruction of Mrs. Ray Ellsworth. Refreshments will be served at the affair which is open to the public.

Apply Lotion Like Gloves

(NEA) — As really cold weather approaches, it's time to step up your use of hand cream or lotion. Use it on hands and elbows every night without fail. Use it during the daytime, too, whenever you've had your hands in water. Dry them thoroughly before you apply lotion.

For most effective results, put on lotion as if you were stroking on a pair of gloves.

Tuesday Musicales Presents Concert

The Pontiac Tuesday Musicales' conductor, is resuming the leadership he held for ten years, after five years' absence from the podium. Christmas presented in Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church under the baton of Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer.

Sharing musical honors with the 30-member group was a small string orchestra and violin soloist Jean Huttula.
The afternoon was dedicated by president Mrs. J. B. Forman to counselors of the group's junior music clubs and to past conductors and accompanists of the chorus which was organized in 1953.

Mrs. Gaensbauer, the present

String players included Miss Huttula and Martha Kurnswell; violinist, Mrs. A. Michael Dempsey; cellist, David Elcher and Paul Elcher at the string bass.

Miss Huttula, winner of the 1962 Tuesday Musicales student scholarship to Interchurch National Music Camp presented a recital, with Mrs. William Furlong, accompanist. Her numbers included Vivaldi's "Ciaccona," "Cavatina" by Rait and a scardas by Monti.

Percussionist David Belanger assisted the chorus and Mrs. Gaensbauer in an arrangement of "Jingle Bells." Portions of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" followed with Mrs. Forman, pianist, joining Mrs. Walter Schmitz in a duet-board accompaniment for the "Overture," "Trepak" and "Dance of the Sugar Plum."

A Ringwald arrangement of "The Christmas Song" and a 18th-century tune "Happy Sounds" with Mrs. William Mercer, soprano soloist with chime accompaniment, was also heard.

'Sleeping Beauty?'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Beauty authority Mark Traynor predicts that wigs in every color and description will be used by almost every woman 20 years hence.

Traynor said other revolutionary trends are afoot in the beauty world. "The beauty world right now is finally coming out of a slumber that has lasted over 150 years," he said. "Nothing creative has been done with beauty since the day of Marie Antoinette."

Washing Beads

Those oversized wood beads, so popular for wear with casual clothes, should never be immersed in water. However, most of them can be surface-washed with a sponge wrung out in thick suds.

Bless Men's Hobbies When Gift Shopping

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This is the time of year when a woman is mighty thankful for a man's hobbies.
Because this is Christmas list-making time — and the man with a hobby or two is never a man who has "everything."

Whether a man's hobby is photography or hunting or fishing or cabinet making, he always needs something.

Every year when the gift catalogues come out there are dozens of new items listed for the man with a hobby or favorite sport.

So the man who "had everything" after he opened his Christmas packages just a year ago is sure to be missing something this year — for hobbies are big business and hobby equipment is as ever-changing and as quickly obsolete as any other kind of equipment.

There is always a newer and bet-

Broken Vows Produce 'Spoiled' Children

As Frank's mother transferred her groceries from their bag to her kitchen table, a can of tuna rolled off its edge and went wheeling across the kitchen floor. Its movement, bright red, label the flash of its tin in the noon sun with joy, he gave chase.

When he caught the can, he examined it carefully and, after several attempts to roll it on its flat sides, discovered the secret of its wheeling motion.

By nap time, he had developed a deep attachment to the can of tuna fish and wanted to take it to bed with him. Because his mother planned to use it for a casserole, she sought to end his infatuation with it.

Unclassing his clutch from it, she said: "Why are you crying? You can have it back when you wake up. It's just that you're crib isn't the place to play with it."

Then, leaving Frank, she went downstairs, opened the can, threw it away and placed its contents in a bowl in her refrigerator.

Funny, isn't it, the way we grow up on discredited children's brains?

If, by false promises, Frank's mother goes on coming him into giving her tuna fish cans, dirty candy wrappers and other objects he finds desirable, there's only one conclusion his active little brain can bring him:

"Don't let anyone take anything away from you that belongs to you — or you'll never see it again."

"Selfish" and "spoiled" children who won't share their belongings are made by grownups who've conned them into surrendering cans, scissors, old light bulbs and other interesting objects by false promises to return the objects. Personally, I don't mind "sel-

The Joslyn Avenue Ladies Club, a community service group, presented a television set and AM-FM radio for Pontiac State Hospital patients Tuesday. Ronald Robbins, assistant occupational therapy director, accepted the thoughtful gifts from (left to right) Mrs. Mack Taylor, Mrs. Floyd L. Collier and Mrs. Norman DeHaven. The club also has projects for Oakland County Medical Care Facility, Oakland County Children's Home and Pontiac Township Fire Department.

Eyes Can Enhance Black

With fashion designers using a variety of striking black fabrics in their most outstanding collections for winter, make-up vogue for the season have also been tailored to spark the appearance of this most basic color.

One of the most important new make-up modes, according to a leading beauty authority, is the style and use of eye make-up. When lining the eyes, use black or brownish-black fluid eyeliner. Brush on a wider band of color on the upper eyelid than has been the custom, and instead of extending the line apply only from corner to corner. The new effect will be a saucer shaped wide-eyed look.

The new powder eye shadow colors are especially striking when worn with black for it gives the eyes a dimensional look against the ebony background. For an intriguing eye shadow effect, first apply a shade of cream stick eye shadow and then use the identical color of powder eye shadow over it. This will set the shadow for hours of wear, and add a depth of color and sparkle never before achieved.

Create lustrant eyelashes with a generous application of mascara and the use of false lashes. Shape eyebrows slightly wider, but strive for a soft appearance. Give lips a full, generous look making the cupid's bow sharp and pointed. Facial make-up for black fashions is most flattering when worn in tones of beige to beige-rose.

WINTER SCENE — Make up this "snow" centerpiece. Everything but the little tree and the "ice" scene as a gift for a very special little girl—or use it, minus the falling snow, as a skler is edible.

Make a Lollipop Pond Nestled in Popcorn Snow

Here's an enchanting idea for the centerpiece at a child's party or just a fun thing to make on a cold winter's day.

It's a skating pond frozen over with lollipop ice and banked all around with popcorn snow. Complete directions for the lollipop pond and surrounding landscape are given here.

Quick Candel Popcorn Scene

1/2 cup corn oil
1/2 cup popcorn
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Heat corn oil in a 4-quart kettle over medium heat for 3 minutes. Add popcorn. Cover, leaving small air space at edge of cover. Shake frequently over medium heat until popping stops.

Meanwhile mix together corn syrup, sugar and salt. Add to popped corn in kettle and stir over medium heat 3 to 5 minutes or until corn is evenly and completely coated with mixture. Remove from heat.

Make some of the mixture into balls of different sizes. Leave some plain. Make up recipe twice but do not double recipe. String some pieces of popcorn to hang above scene for falling snow. Shape some into trees.

Lollipops or Lollipop Pond

2 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoons essence of peppermint

Combine sugar, corn syrup and water in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring to 300 degrees on a candy thermometer. Mixture separates into threads which are hard and brittle when tested in very cold water. Cool slightly. Add flavoring; blend.

Four about 1 1/2 cups of candy onto small grooved dish or a piece of foil. Pour remainder of candy into center of a piece of ungreased foil placed on a cookie sheet; let candy spread as it wants. Let candy harden.

To set up scene: take a large carton turned on its side with opening at front, stage fashion. Cover bottom of scene with cotton batting or white tissue paper. Cover with waxed paper or plastic wrap.

Remove candy with foil from cookie sheet and fold back or cut off the extra foil. Place pond at one side of scene. Behind pond, place artificial tree or tree made up of popped corn. In opposite corner of scene build up a popcorn ball. Make mounds of popcorn with popcorn balls.

Fill in around scene with pieces of popcorn. Break small piece of hard candy into bits and scatter this candy ice around pond edges. Place a small doll dressed in winter togs in the scene. Hang popcorn from carton above scene.

Wine Jelly Has Long Popularity

Wine jelly is an old favorite all around the country. At the holiday season it accents roast turkey or a Christmas ham. During the hunting season it accompanies venison, wild duck or pheasant. Sometimes it serves as a dessert, accompanied by cream cheese and crackers.

The method of making wine jelly is quick and easy — three minutes from pan to glass. No matter which wine you choose, the proportions are the same. A deep rich California Burgundy, a pretty pink Rose, Sherry or Muscatel or Port for more distinctive flavor — all give excellent results.

Because the wine, sugar and pectin mixture is not very hot when it is poured into the glasses, you can safely use inexpensive wine glasses or other unusual containers that make attractive gifts.

Wine Jelly

2 cups California wine
3 cups sugar
1/2 bottle (3-oz.) fruit pectin

Measure wine and sugar into the top of a double boiler. Mix well. Place over rapidly boiling water and heat 2 or 3 minutes, stirring constantly until all sugar is dissolved. Remove from water. Stir in pectin thoroughly. Pour quickly into glasses; paraffin at once. Makes 5 (6 oz.) glasses.

Take Pick of New Cookbooks for Christmas

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cookbook collectors aren't forgotten at Christmas time. This year is no exception. Three new cookbooks came to our desk within the past 10 days. Two are written by men.

We'll let the lady be first, however, Patricia Murphy's "Glow of Candlelight" (Prentice-Hall, Inc., Englewood Cliffs, N. J. $3.95) does triple duty. It is the story of her life, a cookbook and a garden book.

Patricia Murphy started a small restaurant in Brooklyn Heights during the dark days of the depression. Not only did it prosper, but it multiplied until today Miss Murphy has Candlelight restaurants in both New York and Florida.

As her business prospered, she was able to indulge in her hobby of growing exotic flowers. Here she shares her green thumb secrets with her readers.

The last hundred pages of the book are devoted to menus and recipes, including one for Patricia Murphy's famous popovers.

GOURMET BOOK

"Gourmet Cooking With a Flair" by David Wade (also Prentice-Hall, $7.50) is an artistically designed cookbook. Illustrations are by Si Frankel.

David Wade is a radio and television personality specializing in gourmet food programs. His cookbook is an interesting and unusual collection of classic gourmet recipes, recipes from celebrities, contemporary American recipes and other out-of-the-ordinary recipes. This is a book for the person who is always looking for something different to serve.

Spiced Peaches Colorful Garnish

Rosy, plump peaches make gay trimmings for your holiday turkey or goose. Prepare them ahead of time and keep in refrigerator until the festive day. Stick whole cloves into cored, sliced peach halves.

Measure 1/2 cup syrup from peaches. Combine with 1/2 cup each water and sugar and 1/4 cup each red cinnamon candies and vinegar. Simmer about 5 minutes, add peaches and simmer about 15 minutes longer. Add few drops red food coloring, if needed.

Here's a recipe selected from the chapter titled "Artistic Salads and Dressings."

Bologna Mousse

1/2 pound bologna, mashed or ground
1/2 cup minced celery
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
2/3 cup minced apple (optional)
1/4 cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons lemon juice
salt and pepper to taste
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cola beverage
1/2 cup heavy cream

Combine bologna, celery, green pepper, apple, mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt and pepper. Soften gelatin in cola beverage. Place over boiling water, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Add meat mixture and mix well. Fold in whipped heavy cream. Pour into mold. Chill in refrigerator. Unmold and garnish to serve. Serves 8.

For less exotic food, but lots of good recipes and some of the funniest comments you ever read, we suggest you look over Will Jones' "Wild in the Kitchen" (Gilbert Publishing Co., 2303 4th Ave. South, Minneapolis 4, Minn. $4.95).

Will Jones is a newspaper man, writing an entertainment column for the Minneapolis Tribune. But he loves good food and enjoys cooking (says he put on 15 pounds while writing the book).

The recipes were contributed by friends, begged from favorite restaurants and were occasionally the brain child of the author-cook. There are many we want to try. But we think we'll skip the ones in the chapter called, "The Fallures."

Since the following recipe doesn't have anyone else's name on it in the book, we'll credit it to Jones who says it is one of the few fruit desserts he really likes. It's a quickie for any time.

Grapes and Sour Cream

2 pounds seedless grapes
1 pint sour cream
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed

Wash and stem the grapes and fold the sour cream into them, together with all but about two tablespoons of the sugar. Put them in a silver bowl and sprinkle the top with brown sugar. Chill in the refrigerator at least two hours before serving. You can put them into a glass bowl or a ceramic and goes well with the cool, bowl or even a plastic bowl if you're really tickled our fancy, you're like, but they won't be the same, sert."

MICHIGAN IS INDUSTRY DIVERSIFICATION

Michigan is a good place for any industry. Here we have the ability to produce almost everything—and we prove it daily.

It was Michigan which put the world on wheels when it developed the automobile and changed global economics. It was a Michigan-made Redstone missile which boosted the first American astronaut into space. In between these great achievements is the romance of industrial development by which Michigan advanced the living standards of nearly all peoples and served as the Arsenal of Democracy in the protection of freedom. The nation starts each day with a cereal—generally from Michigan. It travels over highways built with Michigan materials; protects its health with a Michigan-made pharmaceutical; enjoys the benefits of our research.

The skills, the knowledge, the brainpower which makes this possible is constantly available to industry—a new one or one which expands here. It makes Michigan a good place for industry—any industry.

Help carry Michigan's message to the nation. Clip this ad and mail it to someone in another state with your comment. Let's talk up Michigan and its advantages for industry. Together we can assure a greater future for all of us.

MICHIGAN IS EVERYTHING FOR INDUSTRY

Wall Street Works Hard to Hold Public's Esteem

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK — Next to making money, Wall Street probably has worried most in recent years about what the public thinks about it.
This may be a secondary interest but it's a strong one—dating back to the dark years after the 1929 stock market crash and the scandals of the early 1930s when a large part of the public admittedly had a very low opinion of Wall Street indeed.
The current official investigation of the nation's stock exchanges has led part of the public to wonder again what goes on in the securities markets.
The curiosity is sharpened today by the resignation of Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, the nation's second largest.
The exchanges say they welcome the inquiry as the best way to show that with only a few exceptions their performance has been in the public's interest. But some in Wall Street worry lest an official inquiry lead Congress to draw on new rules aimed at plugging procedure loopholes but actually restricting legitimate activities.
UNDER SIEGE
The securities markets are under the close watch of the Securities & Exchange Commission, set up after the congressional probe in 1933-4 of market activities, and since those troubled days the ex-

Auto Executives Aiming at Big 1st Quarter in 1962

By BEN FLEIGER
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry is planning to build more cars in the first quarter of 1962 than in any quarter of 1961. Advance schedules call for 1-287,000 assemblies in January through March. The quarter now should yield the 1961 high of 1,357,000.
If these schedules stand, they will produce a record output total for the first six months of a model year of 5,754,000. The record now is 5,600,000 in 1955-56 with 1954-55 second best at 5,516,000.
In the first quarter of 1961, when the bottom suddenly dropped out of the new car market, production totaled only 1,157,000.
It is unusual for more cars to be built in the first quarter of a calendar year than in the last quarter because sales generally slow down in the heart of the winter season. Fourth-quarter production rates this would represent a block away at an upholstery repair shop Tuesday night.
He discovered the blaze was in a sofa he had taken to the shop for repairs.
However, sales apparently are continuing at a record pace. These, in turn, show any inventory build-up. Dealer stocks were estimated at 70,000 on Nov. 30. The current supply of new cars from the new Fairlane and Mercury line series among others.
Indications now point to a year-end inventory of 80,000 cars or less. At present selling rates this would represent a 34-day supply. Most factories

Want Chrysler to Cut Imports

Canadian Auto Workers Ask Government to Restrict Corporation
WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — The federal government has been asked to compel Chrysler Corp. to increase the Canadian content in the cars it produces in Canada.
The request came from Local 444 of the United Auto Workers Union, whose members are employed here by Chrysler.
A resolution from the local said Chrysler is "discontinuing manufacturing of engines and Windstar and is importing component parts. This was reducing the Windsor engine plant to a mere assembly operation with less than 40 per cent content."
The local said more than 100 men have been laid off here as a result of this trend.
The rest of the plant had been put on a part-time basis, reducing the work force to 490 men compared to a peak of 1,800.
A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a garage and had an estimated $250,000 damage last night at a Chrysler assembly plant, according to Pontiac firemen.
The blaze, which was reported at 8:22 p.m., was extinguished by firemen at 9:30 p.m. The fire had approximately $125,000 damage to a car and other contents inside the frame structure, firemen said. The garage was valued at $1,000. The home at the Wilson Avenue address is rented by Frederick Bultron.
The resolution said it was believed Chrysler intended to move the manufacturing of the Canadian engine to Argentina.
There was no immediate comment from Chrysler officials here regarding the union's statement.

Hold Up Order in Du Pont Case

Judge Says He'll Wait to Consider Briefs in Antitrust Suit
CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge will not issue a final order in the antitrust case against the Du Pont Co. until he has considered written briefs.
Oral arguments are now under way by the government and Du Pont in U.S. District Court Judge Walter LaBay who Tuesday refused a government request to issue the order on the basis of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in the case of United States v. Du Pont.
LaBay said written briefs "are to be submitted by both sides after the oral arguments and that he then will set the date for his decision."
The government request was made by attorney Paul Owens. The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that Du Pont dispose of its $1 million shares of GM stock and has directed La Bay to draft a final order against Du Pont.
The government also is seeking to have Christina Securities Co., a Du Pont family holding company, dispose of its 555,000 shares of GM stock.

Imlay City House Destroyed by Fire

IMLAY CITY, Pa. — Fire gutted a four-story brick house in Imlay City, Pa., Tuesday morning. The house, belonging to Thomas McCarty of 255 Cherry St., was being remodeled and there was a large fire in the basement. Imlay City firemen said the cause of the blaze apparently was faulty wiring.
An estimate of the damage was available. Deputies said the house was insured for $50,000.

American Farm Bureau Unmoved by Plea to Support JFK Program

CHICAGO (AP) — The national convention of the influential American Farm Bureau Federation appeared unmoved today by a Kennedy administration appeal that it support the latter's program of broader farm controls.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman made the appeal in a talk before the convention Tuesday in which he declared that the problem of farm surpluses and low incomes can be solved only within the framework of "effective management of production" by farmers working through government.

For years the big farm organization has been seeking fewer controls and an eventual return to what it calls a system which allows market — and not government — determine prices and production in agriculture. It has criticized Kennedy farm proposals.

In a statement replying to Freeman, Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman said his organization's program would return to the market price system.

Earlier, Shuman told the convention that such a system was based on moral law and that use of government farm subsidizing and controls was in violation of "God's pattern" for man.

Resolutions scheduled to be placed before voting delegates today and Thursday backed Shuman. They were expected to be approved with little or no opposition.

Ready for Police Job Organizations in Royal Oak Twp. to Merge Party

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Edward A. Wilson, 50, former township police sergeant, takes over his new duties as chief of the department next Tuesday.

Wilson was the unanimous choice of the Township Board to succeed Capt. William Ware, whose resignation became effective Dec. 29.

Ware resigned last month shortly after losing a $500,000 libel suit against Time magazine for allegedly damaging its reputation.

The newly elected chief served on the township force with the rank of sergeant from 1940 to 1956. He worked as a special investigator during the 1952 grand jury investigations of township vice rings.

Wilson, who resigned from the department in 1956 because of a conflict over administrative policies, said he will "reorganize" the department. With his new appointment, he was elevated to the rank of captain.

Now a Detroit police clerk, Wilson said he had not yet decided what changes he will make in personnel.
