U.S. Scores 3 Outstanding Space Successes

X15 Plane Sets Altitude Mark of 24 Miles

Major Tops Old Record by Almost 5,000 Feet; Floats Weightless

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The X15 today rocketed an Air Force test pilot more than 24 miles skyward, man's highest flight yet. The record: 131,000 feet.

Maj Robert M. White, in the same plane that set a record speed mark of 2,196 m.p.h. last week, pointed the sleek black dart up at an angle of 51 degrees and let its mighty twin engines roar all out until his fuel was exhausted.

The four-minute burst vaulted him to the nearly airless edge of space, wher he areed weightless for a few seconds before plummeting back.

At the peak of his climb, White radioed back: "This is really fantastic up here."

The old mark was 126,200 feet, nearly 24 miles, set by Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe here Sept. 7, 1956, in the ill-fated X2 rocket ship. It later crashed while setting a speed mark of 2,094 m.p.h. Kincheloe was killed in a fighter plane crash.

Records by experimental planes are unofficial. The official mark is 103,395 feet, set by Capt. Joe Jordan last Dec. 14 in an F104C jet.

SOARS IN SECONDS

The X15 was dropped at 45,000 feet from a B52 mother ship. White ignited eight rocket barrels and within seconds soared out of range of ground observers with field glasses.

Minutes later the ship reappeared, a tiny dot in the vast expanse of desert sky, and came down in a spiral glide for a 200 m. p. h. landing on the hard mud surface of Rogers Dry Lake. Its steel skids kicked up a mile-long plume of dust on the runway.

White's maximum speed today, compared with Walker's 2,196 m.p.h. last week, was 1,700 m.p.h.

In setting his speed record, Walker climbed to 78,000 feet then went into a shallow dive to become the fastest human.

White reserved all his power for the climb.

White radioed back that he was passing 126,200 feet—the old record—still climbing. One minute later he radioed he was back at 125,000 and descending.

Recover First Space Capsule in 13 Attempts

Discoverer Data Could Help Nation to Perfect Spy-in-Sky System

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting U. S. satellite was rushed toward Hawaii today with a payload of data that could help in perfecting a spy-in-the-sky system.

With recovery of the capsule for the first success in 13 attempts — the United States appeared to have won a lap in the space race with the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

The 300-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was fished from the Pacific Ocean about 330 miles northwest of Hawaii Thursday by a helicopter which hurried to the spot from a waiting ship.

A little over three hours earlier, the Air Force triggered the ejection mechanism of its Discoverer XIII as it made its 17th pass over Alaska in polar orbit.

With steering rockets starting it on the way, the capsule plunged downward into the thick air envelope of the earth. A parachute opened. Radio beacons helped observers plot its course. Then crews of waiting C119 planes saw the chute, followed the capsule down and circled above the spot.

SNAGGED BY COPTER

The Air Force plan was to snatch the chute and capsule into one of the C119's, but scattered clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A helicopter from the MSTS ship Haiti Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship, which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule buoyed hopes of space scientists working on both the man-in-space program and the Samos sky-spy satellite.

The Samos is now being developed to send back by television

Giant Balloon Sent Into Orbit; Relays Ike Talk

President Invites Any Land to Bounce Signals Off 10-Story Echo I

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States sent a huge communications satellite into orbit high above the earth today and quickly signaled its success by bouncing a message from President Eisenhower across the nation.

The new space messenger, Echo I, was rocketed up from this missile test center at 4:39 a.m.

A little over two hours later Space Administration announced the National Aeronautics and it was successfully in orbit.

Then less than four hours after launch, the recorded message from the President was played back at a news conference in Washington.

The message came back loud and clear when received at Holmdel, N. J., after being sent from Goldstone, Calif.

It said:

"This is President Eisenhower speaking.

"It is a great personal satisfaction to participate in this first experiment in communications involving the use of a satellite balloon known as Echo.

"This is one more significant step in the United States program of space research and exploration.

"The program is being carried forward vigorously by the United States for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind.

"The satellite balloon which has reflected these words may be used freely by any nation for similar experiments in its own interests.

"Information necessary to prepare for such participation was widely distributed some weeks ago.

"The United States will continue to make freely available to the world the scientific information acquired from this and other experiments in its program of space exploration."

The recording was broadcast to the satellite on its first sweep around the earth.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, NASA administrator, described the Echo launching as "well-nigh perfect."

New Burial Place for Rejected Indian

By DICK HANSON

George Nash, an American Indian and World War I veteran, will be buried in Perry Mount Park Cemetery at Pontiac Saturday, after his body was refused burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy, because he "is not white."

Atty. Gen. Paul Adams expressed concern today over refusal by White Chapel Cemetery authorities to bury Nash next to his wife's grave, as he wished, that because he was an Indian.

"This seems to be a case of gross discrimination," he said upon learning the news at Lansing this morning. "Our office is very much concerned, and will be looking into the matter further," he added.

"Since the matter has just been brought to our attention, I cannot say what action we might take at this time," the attorney general said. But he was certain that the case would get further attention from his office.

Wednesday's funeral service for George Nash, 66-year-old World War I U. S. Army veteran, who lived at 1363 W. Eight Mile Rd., Ferndale, was over.

★ ★ ★

His body had been laid to rest next to the grave of his wife in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery in Troy when the funeral director, Claude De Mund of Sparks - De Mund Funeral Home, Royal Oak, was told by cemetery officials that Mr. Nash could not be buried there.

"They told me he is not white," said De Mund, "and that I would have to take the body with me. When I went back to the plot, it had not yet been filled in."

"Neither the family nor I could understand it — we had just held the service in the chapel at the cemetery, complete with military rites," said De Mund.

TAKEN TO FUNERAL HOME

"There was nothing we could do, but take the body back to the funeral home," he said.

★ ★ ★

The body of George Nash, a member of the Winnebago tribe of North American Indians, did not rest easy, nor did the hearts of his three sons and daughter.

They contacted the American Legion post in Birmingham, of which their father had long been a member, and the Veterans Affairs Office in Pontiac.

Officials there appealed to of-

It's All Over but the Crowning

Ginn Shoo-In as County Dem Leader

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

All that remains is for the candidates to place the crown as new Democratic county chairman on James M. Ginn tonight.

In a heated meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel Thursday night, county precinct delegates voted overwhelmingly to recommend to the candidates the 32-year-old Franklin attorney as the new chairman.

The 13 candidates nominated in the Aug. 2 primary meet in the same setting tonight—but promising to be much more orderly — in what could become the mere formality of naming Ginn to the leadership of the local party.

★ ★ ★

Reversals to the six-member labor - dominated slate of new county officers drafted at Thursday night's shouting match appear unlikely leaders predict. Most candidates are tight-lipped as to how they'll vote.

One, however, denounced the slate as being "shoved down our throats." He said he'd push to put former County Chairman Willis M. Brewer in as party treasurer. He lost the nomination by 27 votes.

Pushing through its slate of favored county officers proved a third major triumph for Mrs. Harriett Phillips' liberal-labor faction of the party.

WOULD FROST CAKE

Naming Ginn tonight would put the frosting on the cake.

It took the appearance of the party's gubernatorial nominee, Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, to tone down the four-hour session.

Here to try to mend wounds between his forces and those of the local party who backed Secretary of State James M. Hare, whom he defeated in the primary, the rested and tanned Swainson urged

U2 Pilot's Family Claims Mr. K's Promise of Help

LONDON (AP) — The family of Francis Gary Powers headed for Moscow today, claiming Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's promise of help for the American U2 pilot who goes in trial Wednesday as a spy.

"I will see Khrushchev. He said he will help me," Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., father of the pilot, told newsmen on arrival in London Thursday night.

The elder Powers said he had received word from Khrushchev but refused to say how the message came.

"I am going to help my boy," he said, "That's all I have to say."

Three other members of the pilot's family and several friends or advisers are flying to Moscow for the trial.

Oliver Powers was accompanied by his wife, Ida, who suffers from heart trouble; Dr. Lewis K. Ingram, her physician, and Sol W. Cury, a friend of the family.

They were to leave London late tonight and to arrive in Moscow early Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Traveling to Moscow separately, the pilot's wife, Barbara Moore Powers, arrived in New York City Thursday night. She was to leave for Brussels tonight and was due in the Soviet capital Saturday afternoon.

Dag, 220 Swedes in 5 Planes Welcomed by Premier Tshombe

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and the first U.N. force to enter secessionist Katanga province landed here today.

The force—220 Swedes—arrived in five planes, touching down at 10-minute intervals.

Hammarskjold and the soldiers almost did not land after all. The crowd at the airport saw Hammarskjold's plane circle the airfield three times.

Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe and other government officials waiting at the airport were told as the plane circled that the secretary refused to land.

Airport officials dashed back and forth from the control tower to find out what was happening.

★ ★ ★

It appeared the control tower's European operator had told Hammarskjold he would be allowed to land but that permission would be refused to the planes carrying the Swedish soldiers.

Tshombe was appalled and quickly ordered the control tower to allow all U.N. planes to land.

Although Tshombe three days ago announced he now was willing to accept the U.N. force under the Security Council mandate for replacement of the Belgian soldiers on duty in Katanga, the order to prevent them from landing never was withdrawn at the airport control tower.

That explanation was given to newsmen by Tshombe himself.

'U.N. Forces May Save Katanga in Congo'

By PETE LOCHBILER

The arrival of United Nations troops in secessionist Katanga Province of the Congo was hailed today by a Lake Orion missionary-physician who has served the past three years in a Katanga missionary hospital.

"The presence of the U.N. force, however small, in Katanga is probably the only way to prevent that country from becoming another Korea," said Dr. Percy S. Marsa, a 41-year-old surgeon.

"The Katanga natives are friendly to Americans. But there was much talk there of Russian troops coming in to keep peace, and talk that American troops would have to follow.

"The U.N. force, I hope, will forestall any situation like that."

Dr. Marsa, his wife Jean, 46, and their daughters Linda, 6, and Ann, 14, returned Monday to their home at 540 E. Flint St.

The first 600 miles of the trip back from Africa were the hardest.

With Linda in tow, the couple was visiting in Northern Katanga early last month, discussing with tribal leaders in a village 35 miles west of Kongolo the possibility of establishing a hospital there.

Pleasant Weekend in Store for Area

A warm, pleasant weekend is in store for Pontiac area residents, the weatherman says.

Saturday may be partly cloudy but no showers are expected until Monday. There's a chance of showers again about Wednesday.

Northwesterly morning winds at two miles an hour will increase to 12-18 miles this afternoon and diminish tonight.

Fifty-nine was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. and at 2 p.m. the mercury reading was 81.

4 Chances to See Echo Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Preliminary estimates on the path of the Echo satellite indicate the whole lower region of the Great Lakes will have four and possibly five views between dusk and dawn, says the Standard Oil Co. Research Laboratory.

8:10 to 8:20 p.m. (EST) — Low in the southwest. This sighting is doubtful as the huge balloon will be near the horizon.

10:15 to 10:25 p.m. — Rising from the south, reaching a height of 45 degrees, disappearing in the east.

12:25 to 12:35 a.m. — Rising in the west, climbing to 75 degrees, disappearing in the northeast.

2:33 to 2:43 a.m. — From the west, heading slightly southeast, climbing to 65 degrees and disappearing to the east.

4:40 to 4:50 a.m. — Rising a little north of west, climbing almost overhead (90 degrees) and disappearing in the southeast.

The satellite should be brighter than a star on most passes, and the last one should be spectacular.

Reds Expel Another Tourist

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today expelled a young American YMCA tourist, accusing him of trying to enlist a Ukrainian in "anti-Soviet agitation" by giving him clothes, three Bibles and American publications.

The American was identified as James Shultz of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

He is the son of a Methodist minister, Carl D. Shultz of Otis, Kan. James will be a senior at Southern College in Winfield, Kan., this fall.

An article in the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda said that Schultz' act had "caused indignation among honest people and he is being expelled. He forgot the elementary rules of decency and politeness."

Shultz was the third American ordered out of the Soviet Union in as many days. On Wednesday Col. Edwin M. Kirton, the U.S. Air Attache in the Soviet Capital, was accused of setting up a spy apparatus and told to go. Thursday Robert Christner, 27, a tourist from Sparks, Nev., was accused of taking spy photographs and expelled.

The American Embassy said it had no information on the Shultz case.

Komsomolskaya Pravda said that the incident happened in Kiev, the Ukrainian capital. It said Shultz found there "a rascal ready to sell his honor for foreign rags."

It said that in return for "rags"—a reference to the fact that most tourists in the Soviet Union are bombarded with pleas to purchase their clothing — Shultz demanded that this person in Kiev "carry on anti-Soviet agitation."

Besides the clothing, the newspaper said, Shultz "immediately gave prepayment: three copies of the Bible, an American book of provocative material and an American magazine of the same nature."

The newspaper said that despite this "and other abuses of hospitality, the doors of the Soviet Union are open and will remain open to everybody who wants to get acquainted with its life and culture."

In another apparent attempt to whip up public feeling against the United States before the Powers trial, Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, today printed a letter from five Soviet citizens denouncing the U.S. Embassy here for having sent them "propaganda material."

Tap Ginn as Dem Leader

a united stretch drive to November.

* * *

Recommended by the delegates as Ginn's lieutenants were:

For vice chairman (two to be chosen) Mrs. Margaret McCall, Holly newspaper writer, and Mrs. Betty McVay, president of the Birmingham Democratic Club.

For recording secretary: Mrs. Mildred A. Burns, office secretary for the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, from Waterford Township.

For corresponding secretary: Robert Bowens, Pontiac Motor Division crane operator and barber, from Pontiac.

For treasurer: Louis H. Golden, Detroit steel distributor, from Waterford Township.

None of the incumbents were recommended for re-election.

After a debate as to how the officers should be nominated, the nominations finally came from the standing-room-only crowd of delegates. The labor selections all won by nearly 2 to 1 margins.

Not mentioned for any of the offices was Carlos G. Richardson, county chairman the last five years and the target of the resurgent group. Richardson had announced earlier this year he was relinquishing the reins of the party.

In his swan song Thursday evening, the mustached 62-year-old party conservative had his hands full trying to maintain order, interrupted frequently by wrangling over parliamentary procedure.

"I'm going home now and enjoy life," Richardson said as the votes were being counted. He was cheered. There were no plaudits for his non-paying efforts.

Richardson also called for workers to support the new chairman to the fullest.

"I've tried to do my best always," he said. "I admit I've made mistakes, but I'm not the only one who has."

A motion to give the candidates a vote of confidence on whoever they may pick, and not let "some delegates pressure or intimidate them," failed and started another debate.

The undecided delegates were aided in their selections with small slates of the six winners distributed as they filed into the hotel.

But when John F. Williams, Independence Township delegate and secretary-treasurer of the State AFL-CIO, moved to expedite the meeting by nominating a full slate, some delegates rebelled, Williams lost.

"We find we're going to be snowballed right off the bat," declared a new delegate.

* * *

August (Gus) Scholle, union president, proved to be the man with the answer. Make nominations one at a time for all five positions and let delegates vote by secret ballot on their six choices, the Royal Oak delegate suggested.

It worked but only after long delays in assuring that only duly elected delegates were voting.

After a standing, cheering reception, Swainson warned workers that his Republican opponent, Paul D. Bagwell, would welcome a split in Democratic ranks.

Apparently in reference to backing Hare for the same spot on the state ticket, Swainson said, "I'm still on the great team . . . everybody's still on our team. Now let's play the game and win."

Losing out to Ginn for the chairman recommendation were Ralph T. Johnson, unsuccessful congressional candidate this year, Leslie H. Hudson, defeated for Congress in 1958, and Roy Ainsley, former mayor of Madison Heights.

* * *

The nomination of Brewer for treasurer proved a surprise, more so in his drawing 62 voted to Goldsen's 89. He's a close ally of Richardson and supposedly had washed his hands of any sort of party leadership.

He's not white, so he can't be buried in the cemetery, they said.

But, Mrs. Nash was part Indian and she was buried at White Chapel in 1949 when her husband purchased the family plot without any question, argued Hugh McHugh of the Birmingham Legion Post.

* * *

"The cemetery people told me they decided she was white when the question came up later on," said McHugh, "but they never told Mr. Nash that he would not be able to be buried there."

SUGGEST NEW BURIAL

The problem became more pressing. Floyd Cremer, director of Veterans Affairs in Oakland County suggested to the family that Mr. Nash's body be buried in the veterans' plot a Perry Mount Park Cemetery in Pontiac.

In desperation, the family agreed.

Well known among Indians throughout the nation, Mr. Nash died Monday at his home of a heart attack. He had been employed as a toolmaker until the time of his death.

Among his effects were U. S. Army discharge papers where it stated: George Nash, served from April 13, 1918 to Feb. 12, 1919, "character excellent."

Except for the time he spent in the military service, Mr. Nash was a resident of Michigan since coming here from Nebraska as a 16-year-old boy with his parents.

He is survived by his sons John, 28, Vincent, 30, and Louis, 12, who lived with him, and a daughter, Mrs. Ellen Mendez of Chicago.

Their hearts are smoldering.

"They probably will arrange to have their mother's body moved to a plot at Perry Mount Park, so she can be near her husband's," said Cremer.

* * *

"We'll take this case up at the department's (American Legion at state level) fall conference in Lansing and protest it further at the national level later on," said McHugh.

Funeral service, complete with military honors, will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the cemetery in Pontiac.

Cranbrook Pool Claims Boy, 2

History Teacher's Son Drowns in Fall Into Shallow Water

The two-year-old son of a Cranbrook School history teacher drowned yesterday in a shallow wading pool in the school grounds when he wandered away from his home.

* * *

The child was Jeffrey Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Harris of 15 Faculty Row, Bloomfield Hills.

An unidentified woman first discovered the boy's body. Her screams brought a passing youth, Phillip Osborn of Livonia, to the scene. He pulled the body out of the water and ran for help.

When Bloomfield firemen arrived, Peter Dewitt, a lifeguard at the adult pool more than 100 yards away from the children's pool, was giving the boy artificial respiration.

TREES BLOCK VIEW

The small pool cannot be seen from the adult pool because of large trees.

Police said no children are permitted in the small pool without parents' supervision.

Apparently the child walked out on a small platform over the pool, lost his balance and fell in the water.

* * *

The pool is less than a foot deep, police said.

* * *

Recover 1st Space Capsule in 13 Tries

what its camera eyes see as it scouts the face of the earth. But eventually it is hoped that actual films can be sent back to earth by capsule to provide much clearer pictures than television could furnish.

OTHERS HAD FAILED

It was No. 13 of the Discoverer satellite series which brought luck to the Air Force. Some of the previous launchings had failed to put satellites into orbit. Some went into orbit but failed to eject the capsule or ejected it in the wrong direction.

But Thursday everything worked. And the United States thus was the first, so far as is known, to bring back a package from a satellite. The Soviet Union like the United States, has recovered nose cones and capsules of missiles fired aloft in conventional missile trajectory.

In a midnight news conference at the Pentagon, Lt. Gen. Bernard Schriever, boss of the Air Force's Air Research Development Command, was as elated as the cautious Schriever ever becomes.

* * *

This, said he, really marked a "space first." Until Air Force scientists turned the trick of bringing an object back through the searing heat of re-entry and depositing it in the intended spot "we were only part way in the space age."

He said that "without doubt, the Discoverer program has been the most complex program undertaken in this country and I believe in the world."

* * *

From here on in the rate of recovery should go up, the general predicted, and there should be "better than a 50 per cent" recovery with the rate increasing as the program continues.

Everett C. Spurlock Will Take Up Similar Duties In Flint on Oct. 1

Everett C. Spurlock, executive secretary of the Urban League of Pontiac since its formation in 1950, has announced his resignation to accept a similar position in Flint.

Spurlock will assume his new duties as executive secretary of the Urban League of Flint on Oct. 1.

He announced his decision to leave the League's board of directors this week.

No successor has been named.

Spurlock 36, of 146 Franklin Blvd., came to Pontiac 14 years ago as the director of the Southwest Community Center, predecessor of the League. He was appointed to his present job when the League was established in 1950.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Spurlock was graduated from Ohio State University. During World War II, he was engaged in USO activities.

Flint Man Found Dead From Carbon Monoxide

A man's body was found in a parked car on Sawmille Lake road near Ortonville this morning.

Pontiac state police attributed death to carbon monoxide poisoning. They reported a hose had been attached to the car's exhaust system and run into the interior with the windows closed.

The victim, not positively identified yet, is believed to be from Flint.

Is Retort to RO Twp. Vice Charges

'Find More Jobs,' CIO Told

An outgoing Democratic county officer from Royal Oak Township last night told the CIO not to try to be the peacemaker in eliminating the "deplorable conditions" in the township.

"If the CIO wants to help us, why don't they find my people more jobs?" asked Mrs. Mattie L. Baker, Democratic committee vice chairman, at a meeting of precinct delegates at the Roosevelt Hotel in Pontiac.

Mrs. Baker, who will be replaced as an officer tonight, took exception to what she called the Union's attempt to interfere in township problems.

A liberal-labor block of the committee, headed by Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Tuesday night called for an investigation into what it called the "deplorable conditions" in the township.

"Mrs. Phillips knows this has been going on for 14 years," Mrs. Baker said. "Why, all of a sudden, is she bring it up now?

"If they (the faction) want some votes in Royal Oak Township they should do it some other way."

Mrs. Phillips' group went on record asking for an investigation now, claiming public officials have "blindly" let the conditions of corruption run their course long enough.

NO PUBLIC REPLY

The Huntington Woods housewife did not publicly answer Mrs. Baker at the meeting, which called for recommendations for new county officers. But she did urge Ruebin Harris, manager of the Oakdale Gardens housing development, to testify that help is needed.

"Yes, but you won't get it the way you're going after it," retorted Mrs. Baker, pointing a finger at a silent Mrs. Phillips in the audience.

Harris said he knew of families that were in need of welfare assistance but were denied it. He did not elaborate.

"This is not the problem of the CIO or anybody else's," Mrs. Baker said, "I don't appreciate Mrs. Phillips blowing it up this way."

Observers on the Pacific Coast reported that in the early morning darkness it shone some seven times brighter than the North Star.

The 100-foot sphere, called Echo I, was designed to prove the feasibility of using satellites for worldwide telephone, radio and television systems.

Standing as tall as a 10-story building, the big ball would be the largest, but not the heaviest satellite ever sent aloft. It was aimed at a circular orbit 1,000 miles above the earth.

Also dubbed a satelloon, it would shine bright as a star and be clearly visible in areas over which it passed during hours of darkness. Strong optical aids would be needed to see it in the daytime.

Orion Doctor Tells of Escape

8, just eight days after the Belgians had granted the Congo political freedom.

"Many of those who revolted in Kongolo and elsewhere during the next few hours wanted to drive the white man out of Africa," explained Dr. Marsa.

The tribal leaders we were with were friendly — they had invited us there. They were very anxious for a hospital.

"They offered to hide us until the trouble was over, but I thought that for the sake of my wife and daughter we should leave as soon as possible."

Thus the Lake Orion family joined hundreds of white refugees fleeing from the heart of equatorial Africa.

For the Marsas, who had planned to leave Africa Aug. 1 anyway, the sudden exodus was a tension-ridden journey over 900 miles of rutted, dirt roads in their 1957 stationwagon with little Linda prone on a rear seat, hiding.

"The worst part was that we were strangers. Nobody along the way knew us. There was no one among the natives who could say, 'These white people are friends.' They have helped us."

It was in a little village called Kabalo toward the beginning of their journey that the Marsas had what turned out to be their biggest fright.

"It was only a village of 1,000 persons. But they had already heard about the revolt in Kongolo. "The natives were swarming over the road as we drove through.

"They shook their fists at us and cried, 'Kwenda! kwenda,' meaning, 'Get out! get out!'"

A few miles later, the Marsas were halted at a bridge over the broad Upper Congo River.

A native school teacher who joined us for part of the trip talked to the guards, told them we were missionaries and they let us through.

"But only a half hour later, a trainload of Europeans was halted at the same place.

"The passenger were terrorized for hours and eventually many of them were taken as hostages."

The Marsas' ordeal drew toward an end when they neared Kamina in Central Katanga. Fifty miles from this city and its military air base, was the hospital where Dr. Marsa had served since the summer of 1957.

"We stopped just long enough to pick up a few belongings and then drove down to the air base, where hundreds of refugees already had gathered, including our hospital staff and our daughter Ann."

GET TO RHODESIA

A U.S. Air Force Globemaster transport evacuated the Marsas next day to Salisbury in Southern Rhodesia, a British protectorate.

The experience did not shake the Marsa family's determination to return to Katanga.

Dr. Marsa said he still plans to establish a hospital near Kongolo. "There are 100,000 natives there without any hospital at all," he said.

* * *

Aiding him in this venture will be two other Lake Orion physicians, Dr. W. Walter Oliphant and Dr. E. Arthur Calkins. Drs. Marsa and Oliphant are both ordained ministers in the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

* * *

The trio plans to divide its time between medical practices in Lake Orion and the Katanga hospital.

"We'll be earning money here to carry on our work there," explained Dr. Marsa.

While Dr. Marsa was in Africa, the two other doctors divided their incomes with him. Dr. Oliphant plans to begin a medical mission in Kenya later this year with the same type financial backing from his two friends.

* * *

Dr. Marsa's trip was under the auspices of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission Board, which operates the Kamina hospital where he practiced.

The Marsas have two sons, both planning to return soon from Africa. The oldest, Gordon, 20, is studying medicine at Capt Town University and Robert, 17, is finishing high school there.

The Day in Birmingham

Curriculum Studies Bring Several School Changes

BIRMINGHAM — Continued study of curriculum in Birmingham Public Schools has led to several changes in courses to be offered in elementary and secondary grades, said Daniel A. Nesbitt, director of curriculum, today.

* * *

The areas of foreign language and science will undergo the greatest changes, Nesbitt explained.

The Wylie E. Groves and Seaholm high schools will install language laboratories prior to the opening of school Sept. 6.

Through electronic means and use of tape-recorded lessons, each student can be monitored by the teacher while the class is reciting as a group.

BROADEN LANGUAGES

Monitored two-way conversations between teacher and pupil are possible without interruption to the class.

In an attempt to broaden course offerings in foreign language, a third year of German will be made available to seniors.

A class in biology will be offered to selected ninth grade students at the Groves High School on an experimental basis. In the past, biology has been offered only to seniors.

If the experiment proves successful, classes will be organized the following year at Barnum and Derby junior high schools.

Emphasis in science in the elementary grades will be placed upon more classroom demonstrations and experimentation by teachers and pupils.

Each elementary school has received considerable science equipment through use of the National Defense Education Act funds that have been matched by local school money.

An additional boost to the elementary science program has been the purchase of over 3,700 books on science, in addition to 800 film strips and 18 movies.

These will circulate from the district's Instructional Materials Center, upon request from the classroom teacher.

The books purchases are not textbooks, but those of sourcebooks or reference nature that have been written for the elementary age child.

"With a report due from the Citizen's Committee studying curriculum, intensive study will be given to the recommendations presented to the School Board as the year progress," Nesbitt said.

Richard J. Spiess, principal of Bloomfield Hills High School, has attended a three-day conference at Higgins Lake sponsored by the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals.

Top State Democrats Have Strategy Meet

LANSING (UPI) — Top Democrats in the state will confer here tomorrow in a campaign strategy meeting.

Gubernatorial Nominee Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson; State Rep. T. John Lesinski, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and representatives of U. S. Sen. Pat McNamara will join with Gov. G. Mennen Williams in the meeting.

* * *

Members of the State Administrative Board, four of whom Swainson said Thursday he wanted on the ticket with him in the November election, also will attend.

Dems' Margaret Price Comments

Women to Be Busy in Campaign

WASHINGTON (UP) — Women's place in politics is one of the Democrats' new frontiers of 1960, Mrs. Margaret Price, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said Thursday.

Mrs. Price, of Ann Arbor, Mich., a veteran in politics herself, reports that Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy is not one of those who thinks women's place is necessarily in the home.

He treats women "as mature citizens," said 47-year-old, attractive Mrs. Price, who was one of Kennedy's first key woman appointees.

Kennedy has asked Mrs. Price to travel with him on his 50-state campaign swing as part of his staff "at all times possible."

In charge of women's activities for the Democrats in her new role, Mrs. Price held her first Washington news conference.

She said she expects to be on the Kennedy campaign planes and trains most of the time.

She said Kennedy's 78-year-old mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, some of his sisters and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the vice presidential nominee, all will take part in the campaign tour.

In response to a question, she said the Democrats had no idea of combatting the Republican "Pat for First Lady" campaign in behalf of Mrs. Richard M. Nixon.

* * *

She said no one would expect Kennedy's wife, Jacqueline, who is expecting her second child, to go through the rigors of a campaign.

"It is quite obvious," she said, "we will miss having Mrs. Kennedy with us — she was a very effective campaigner in the primaries."

Mrs. Price said the women voters, who she expects will outnumber the men, undoubtedly will influence the 1960 election "but not purely on any women's issue."

She doesn't think women "vote any different than men."

* * *

Mrs. Price has just returned from an organizational trip to seven cities in seven days working with Kennedy's campaign manager, brother Robert F. Kennedy, and other aides.

Nationalist China Veep, Premier Chang Sick

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP)—Nationalist China's vice president and premier, Chen Cheng, is ill. Some reports say he has influenza, others bronchitis.

Officials close to the white-haired 62-year-old vice president say he is merely indisposed and needs a few days of rest.

Church Vs. Russia

Fidel Castro Making an Enemy?

By TOM HENSHAW

NEW YORK (AP) — Cuba's strong man—Prime Minister Fidel Castro shows signs of making a formidable enemy in his own backyard — the Roman Catholic Church.

In at least two cases in recent years, the ouster of strong man governments in predominantly Catholic Latin America has been preceded by church dissatisfaction with the ruling regime.

The most notable instance was in Argentina in 1955 when Dictator Juan Peron was overthrown after a long bitter dispute with the church that resulted in his excommunication.

★ ★ ★

Again in 1958, Venezuelan strong man Marcos Perez Jimenez so antagonized the church that Venezuela and the Vatican were said to have been on the verge of a diplomatic break when Perez Jimenez was ousted.

★ ★ ★

The church in Cuba is worried over the "increasing advance of communism in our country" under the 1½-year-old Castro regime.

The Cuban hierarchy expressed that concern last Sunday in a pastoral letter read in the country's churches. The letter noted the "close commercial, cultural and diplomatic relations" that have been established with Communist countries.

"Catholicism and communism respond to two concepts of man and the world that are totally opposed to each other and can never be reconciled," the letter said.

On Tuesday the archbishop of Havana, the Most Rev. Evelio Diaz, threatened to close all of Cuba's Catholic churches unless the Castro regime guaranteed freedom of worship.

★ ★ ★

A week earlier, Cuban Catholics emerged from mass in Havana shouting "Cuba, Yes! Russia, No!" and tangled in street fights with pro-Castro crowds.

★ ★ ★

Castro has singled out some priests as "enemies of the revolution," a cry reminiscent of the early days of Peron's troubles with the church.

The Argentine dictator labeled some priests "troublemakers" and arrested or detained 60 clergymen for showing "disrespect" for him.

The Roman Catholic Church occupies a complex position in Latin America.

Most of the nations south of the American border are heavily Catholic. Cuba is 84.3 per cent Catholic. Yet, even the church admits, many Latin Americans are Catholics in name only. It's regarded as a prime mission field.

★ ★ ★

There is also the element of anti-clericalism. Some Latin Americans find no contradiction in being devout Catholics and harbor deep suspicions of the clergy at the same time.

But, nominal Catholics, anti-clerics or not, the church still retains a powerful appeal to its Latin people, as Peron has found out — and possibly Castro will discover.

Glass Import Quotas Sought

Mayor of Toledo Will Carry Unionists' Plea to Washington Bodies

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Mayor Michael Damas will go to Washington next week to urge a quota on imported sheet and plate glass.

The mayor agreed to make the trip after a meeting with officials of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union. Wilfrid Hibbert, press relations manager for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., attended as an observer.

★ ★ ★

Importation of cheaply-produced foreign glass is threatening the glass industry in this country, the Union leaders told the mayor.

Jack Miles, president of Glass and Ceramic Workers Local 9, said $25 million square feet of sheet glass and 36 million square feet of plate glass were imported last year. That equals 12 per cent of United States output, he said.

The Union leaders told the mayor they oppose high tariffs on glass, but would like a quota restricting the amount imported.

Mayor Damas said he recognized the problem as a community one — Toledo is a major glass making center — and agreed to appear next Thursday before the Federal Tariff Commission and the Reciprocity Information Commission. The two agencies are holding hearings to determine quotas, trade policies and trade agreements.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick Sues Edwin for Maintenance

DETROIT (UPI) — Mrs. Erna E. Fitzpatrick, who was defeated by her husband State Rep. Edwin A. Fitzpatrick in the Democratic primary last week, has sued him for a separate maintenance.

She charged he drinks to excess, is on probation for failing to support her and goes his own way "as if not a married man." As a result, the suit said, she suffered a nervous breakdown and lost her job.

Will Hold Hearings in Detroit Monday to Get Proposals From Public

"We want a broad expression of public opinion on such issues as taxation, job opportunities, civil rights, education, labor legislation and farm legislation," Burdick said.

"We want to find out how the citizens of Michigan think the Republican Party in state government can best serve them."

The hearing will be continued through Tuesday, if necessary. State GOP headquarters said, It will be conducted by subcommittees on labor, health and ecucation, civil rights and humanities and economic climate and taxation.

Top Research Man Stricken

Third Ranking Civilian in Defense Department Lost for Many Weeks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Herbert F. York, 38-year-old Defense Department research chief, suffered a heart attack last weekend and will be away from his post several weeks, the Defense Department announced.

York, third ranking civilian in the Pentagon, entered Walter Reed Army Medical Center for observation last Sunday.

Physicians diagnosed his ailment as a coronary occulation. His condition was described as satisfactory and "improving daily."

Col. Conn Milburn, Walter Reed executive officer, provided the estimate that York would be hospitalized about two weeks. He will spend "several weeks" at home thereafter.

* * *

York's illness removed him from the defense scene at a crucial devanced new weapons which will be covered in the budget President Eisenhower sends to Congress next January.

His official title is director of defense research and engineering, a post which ranks him only after the secretary and deputy secretary of defense.

The post was created in the Defense Department reorganization of 1958 when science and technology were elevated to top importance following the Russian Sputnik scare in late 1957.

* * *

York came to Washington in March 1958 as director of research for a division of the Institute of Defense Analyses (IDA). IDA worked under contract to the Defense Department and York reportedly was paid $35,000 a year in the job.

When Eisenhower appointed him to be defense research director in December 1958 his salary dropped to $22,000 a year.

House Farm Leaders Called Into Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — House agriculture leaders were invited to a conference today on emergency farm legislation, but Republicans seemed inclined to stay away.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee, who called the informal conference, said "we certainly intend to bring out a bill" for consideration at the current session of Congress.

* * *

Formal committee action would be taken after the House returns for its postconvention session next week. But Cooley called the closed-door conference today for an informal discussion of possible legislation to give farm income a quick boost.

Only Cubans Can Free Cuba From the Castros

Judging from Premier CASTRO's recent appearance on television, there's no doubt the man is ill physically and perhaps mentally.

Many idealists who joined CASTRO in overthrowing the Batista regime are being purged. Some lucky ones escape to neighboring countries. Only a few Communists or extremists are left in the ruling clique.

★ ★ ★

If FIDEL has to retire from the scene, his brother RAUL already has been designated to take over. With two of his associates, Maj. ERNESTO (CHE) GUEVARA, now the nation's banker, and ANTONIO NUNEZ JIMINEZ, the economist, Cuba would be pushed into Communism even faster. None of these men is said to be popular with the Cuban people.

★ ★ ★

The 21 member Organization of American States will meet in Costa Rica in a few days. Many of the countries have expressed their distaste for the CASTRO regime. They will have an excellent opportunity to voice official concern. The problem is theirs as well as ours.

Any successful revolution against Castro must come from inside Cuba. It should not be prompted by the U.S. or any other foreign country.

Famed Fighter Firpo Dies of Heart Attack

One roundhouse swing made more fame and fortune for LUIS ANGEL FIRPO than most boxers receive from a lifetime of fisticuffs. It seems strange that this Wild Bull of the Pampas should be so well known since it was early in the 1920s that he performed.

The sports world is saddened by the news of Firpo's death. He recently died in Buenos Aires of a heart attack after a successful life as a fighter and financier.

★ ★ ★

His reputation and consequent fame all came about from one fleeting moment when one powerful swing knocked JACK DEMPSEY from the ring in the opening round of their celebrated fight.

★ ★ ★

DEMPSEY, of course, came back and ended the fight in round two, flattening Mr. FIRPO for keeps. But the Wild Bull will always be remembered in the fight game long after other fighters with better records are forgotten. This opening round feat against the Mauler will live for a long time.

U. N. Provides Time to Settle Differences

Dramatic day to day developments in the Congo emphasize the fact that the United Nations is helping keep the world from collapsing into war.

Without this organization, which celebrated its 15th birthday last month, the big powers would have been forced into military intervention in central Africa. The U.N. has brought order to the Congo and withdrawal of some Belgian troops.

★ ★ ★

Premier TSHOMBE of Katanga, the seceded province of the Congo and the richest, has objected to the entry of U.N. forces and has threatened military resistance. He is a well-to-do, intelligent businessman and a friend of the Belgians whose troops are there on his invitation to prevent further bloody rioting.

The chances are that Tshombe will see that his hopes to preserve Katanga either in or outside the new nation, lie with the impartial U.N. He is rumored to have proposed a federal system for the Congo in which Katanga would have a greater measure of self-government.

★ ★ ★

It would be tragic indeed if the rich Katanga economy which provides two-thirds of the Congo's revenues, fell prey to the opportunists who arise in any newly independent nation which is expected to run before it has learned to walk.

Detroit Athletic Teams Could Use Pep Pills

All the hullabaloo about the pep pills and the Olympic girl swimmers seems out of proportion. Unless some charge can be made officially and definitely defined it looks like sour grapes.

★ ★ ★

Out of all the pro and con talk about the pep pills it does occur to us that a few of our professional athletic teams in Detroit might well investigate the situation.

★ ★ ★

The Lions, Tigers and Red Wings should study this fast energy-giving pill for possible use. Going on recent records these teams could use most anything that resembles pep.

David Lawrence Says:

Newspapers Push 'Great Debate'

WASHINGTON—There's a lot of talk about a "great debate" between Kennedy and Nixon.

It's supposed to take place when Congress repeals a provision of law stations to give "equal time" to all candidates for a public office, irrespective of the size of the "political party" they claim to represent or of the news interest in what they have to say.

LAWRENCE

But what has Congress got to do with it? The Constitution says Congress "shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press."

The so-called "equal time" provisions are as invalid today as if the Congress had passed a law telling newspapers what kind of headlines they may put over their news articles.

Why, indeed, does anybody wait for Congress to act before the "great debate" can take place? Why do the press associations and the newspapers wait?

The candidates say they are ready and that they will not speak from notes but will go at the controversial questions in a wholly impromptu manner.

Why, therefore, shouldn't The Associated Press and United Press International, which serve newspapers publishing more than 50,000,000 copies a day, take the initiative and arrange for the debate?

There's no law that says the debate can be carried on only by television or radio.

There is, moreover, today a remarkable electronic invention, called video tape which permits television cameras to record any scene, along with sound, on a magnetic tape.

Such recordings can not only be televised but can be duplicated on other tapes which also can be used over and over again on as many television stations as desire it.

A suitable studio is available in the Capitol Building here — paid for by the taxpayers — which is used every day for television or radio interviews with members of Congress.

While these can, of course, be exhibited immediately after being recorded, the conversations often are taped several days in advance and are sometimes shown to the public a week or more later.

So it would be easy for the AP and UPI to invite Messrs. Nixon and Kennedy to a joint debate on perhaps one topic a week throughout the campaign, and furnish the video tape to the television stations, individually or as networks, to use as they please just as would the newspapers.

The recording also could be made available for radio broadcasting.

No governmental authority tells the press how much space it should give to any speech by Government officials or candidates or anybody else.

As a matter of fact, it would be a good idea not to let Nikita Khrushchev get the impression that the Government here controls television and radio in political campaigns, for he could twist this to mean that what he is doing in Russia is analogous and that America's boast about the press being free from governmental restriction is hypocritical.

It will be argued that the people like to see the two nominees on the screen — how they look in action.

The newspapers could easily print a sequence of snapshots and gestures of the candidates that would be of interest to the people.

But there is no reason why the whole thing couldn't be released simultaneously for public reading, television viewing and listening by radio.

Lots of news material is given out for publication in print or over the air at a fixed time in the day.

If the American people are really panting to hear or read the "great debate" between Nixon and Kennedy, there is no good reason for waiting on a dallying Congress to enact superfluous legislation designed to spare the television and radio stations some embarrassing controversies with would-be candidates for president on tickets of minor parties.

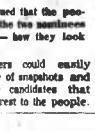
Dr. William Brady Says:

Anxiety About Movements Does Cause Constipation

From correspondence with readers, it is evident that most persons who take physic of one kind or another are ignorant of elementary physiology and hygiene.



BRADY

So, after years of mischievous interference with the autonomic (automatic) regulation of the digestive apparatus, it is pretty hard for these poor souls to understand that the action of the bowels is controled by the same mechanism as that which controls breathing and the beating of the heart.

The anxiety an ignorant, introspective person has about the movement of the bowels is in itself a common cause of habitual constipation, the constipation habit. It is hard for the poor soul to get his mind off his bowels. He is caught in a kind of vicious circle. The more one with the constipation habit worries about bowel function, the greater the derangement of the function.

COMMON CAUSE

Ignorance of the mechanism that controls the function of the heart, the lungs, and the digestive tract is not the only cause of the constipation habit. A common contributing cause is the misinformation concerning "auto-intoxication." "Toxic wastes," "poisonous products of putrefaction of protein material in the intestine."

★ ★ ★

These morbid fancies have been cultivated by the nostrum makers, diet charlatans, regular physicians and health authorities, not to mention mineral oil distributors, importers of low grade flaxseed and vendors of soured skim milk.

It will probably make little or no impression on your souls with the constipation habit, but the truth is that proctic putrefaction in the large intestine is a constant and normal occurrence. Indeed, it may be beneficial to health. This is not just my notion, but fact recognized by all physiologists.

Now I know very well that most of the persons who receive and, I hope, read Volumette 25 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, titled Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene — 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope — do not break the habit upon first reading.

★ ★ ★

I know that some of them break the habit after the second or third reading, and also that some of them derive no benefit at all — they are so hipped on internal baths, irrigations, colonics, enemas, intestinal lubricants, and bulky residues that they are impervious to enlightenment.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters not more than one page or 150 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"I guess if preachers did a better job, they'd throw all the policemen out of work."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Initiative Women Save Marriage

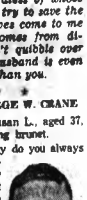
When a child is bleeding to death after being struck by a reckless auto driver, that is no time to argue about legal technicalities. Regardless of whose fault it was, one try to save the child. If you wives come to me to save your homes from divorce, then don't quibble over whether your husband is even more to blame than you.

★ ★ ★

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE F-441: Susan L., aged 37, is a very charming brunet.

"Dr. Crane, why do you always pick on us women?" she recently demanded. "Isn't it just as much a man's responsibility for seeing that his home is happy?



DR. CRANE

"You tell us wives what we should do to hold the love of our husbands, and warn us of the hazards that beset marriage when a man passes the age of 40.

★ ★ ★

"But it seems to me that you are always placing the burden on the women. Shouldn't a man resist temptation and be true to his wife?

"Why does he start running around with younger girls when he knows he is doing wrong?"

ILLOGICAL WOMEN

Haven't I repeatedly defended you wives in this column and haven't I urged men to let you women folks handle the pay check?

Haven't I described repeatedly the fact that women are much less passionate, than men, and hence need a special technique employed on them, as per my medico-psychological bulletin entitled "Sex Problems in Marriage"?

I have also offered my 180-point "Tests for Husbands" and urged men to use them regularly for self-analysis. I have likewise offered men the "Tests for Fathers."

I have indicted juvenile husbands who gamble and think they can "win" success instead of "earning" it.

'If you will go through your scrapbooks I'm sure you will find more defense of wives in this column than in all other newspaper columns and magazines combined. So, ladies, please be reasonable!

WOMEN ARE GOOD STUDENTS

But more of my patients are women. They usually want to know how to hold their husbands. They are good students, and are very receptive to suggestion.

So I reply by telling them how to hold their husbands in happy wedlock through the Golden Wedding Anniversary.

They ask for advice, so I give it to them. Then why blame me? If they want to lose their husbands, that is their option.

But if they come to me for counsel on how to avoid divorce, then why complain if I give them a psychological prescription that will guarantee happy results?

★ ★ ★

Sure, it may require extra work on the woman's part, just as it does when her child is ill and in need of constant nursing. For a sick child, as well as an emotionally sick husband, will seldom take the initiative.

If the husband doesn't write to me or call in person, and if he doesn't even want any advice, I cannot force it upon him.

Sometimes he may read this column and thus glean a bit of help, but psychological medicine cannot be forcibly fed to a person or injected via a hypodermic needle.

WHY I PICK ON WIVES

It may seem as if I place an undue load upon you wives when I tell you how to insure your homes against disaster. But I usually must work through the wives in trying to remedy domestic crises.

Maybe this isn't entirely fair. Maybe the husband is chiefly to blame and ought to be the one to seek advice.

But if he doesn't, and if the wife does come to me, then she must accept conditions as they are, and not quibble over a 50-50 responsibility for restoring their harmony.

She may be compelled to shoulder 90 per cent of the burden, but if she gets results, why complain?

Women are naturally monogamous, whereas men are naturally polygamous, though rendered monogamous by economics, plus legal and moral requirements.

A woman can hold her husband if she will be a versatile personality who combines the functions of housekeeper and mother with those of sweetheart, pal and siren.

Remember, most divorces start in the bedroom! So send for my bulletin "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long self-addressed envelope and stamps to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Area Resident Describes Horrors of Piranha Fish

I was most interested in your editorial on the Piranha fish of Brazil. We returned from Brazil last February after having lived there for twenty months. While living in Brazil we heard many terrible stories about these fish from the native Brazilians.

★ ★ ★

The most frequent story we heard was how the ranchers get their steers across rivers infested with the Piranha fish. An older or weak steer would be selected, its leg slashed, and driven out into the river by itself. If there were any Piranhas in the river they would attack the bleeding steer. Meanwhile, the ranchers would drive the other cattle across, further upstream. It would only be a matter of minutes before the steer would be completely reduced to a skeleton.

We also saw a movie which was taken in the Amazon region. It showed how quickly a chicken was devoured by these flesh eating fish. While filming this incident a microphone was held close to the water. It resembled a noise that a meat grinder or threshing machine might make.

I only hope that no one would be foolish enough to stock our wonderful lakes and rivers with this deadly fish. It would eventually result in a horrible death for someone.

'Reuther's Spending Was Not Illegal'

I read that Reuther is being charged with spending millions to help the Democratic Party. I think he made a mistake using my money to help elect candidates I oppose, but I can't see that it's illegal. It's something for we members of the union to decide without outside interference. It's our money and we knew he was spending it, even if we were opposed. Let other people mind their own business.

'Know-How Needed by Next President'

Who thinks we can afford to put an ambitious, friendly, likeable young man in the White House with no international experience?

We need know-how now as we never did before. Nixon is young, but he has had worlds and worlds of experience and is one of the few men that stood up to Khrushchev and talked him down. Kennedy might be a great bet in 1968.

The houseboat is a home of the free . . . The ship of state without a white sail . . . It is the modern Noah's Ark . . . Equipped with only one of everything . . . And not too much of anything . . . It sways gently like a huge cradle . . . On the lazy dark water near the shore . . . It is the dreamboat of sleepy residents . . . With a long rope the only tie to the earth . . . It is the up-to-date house without a lot . . . Where the property tax and zoning ordinance . . . Belong to a distant outdated past . . . It has a garden of white-caps . . . And fluffy clouds for shade trees . . . With a dark pool of silver stars . . . Under the moon as a yellow lantern . . . To welcome me home.

Glad to See 'Cave' Leave Our City

Looking in the window at the Cave of the Ninth Cat on Perry Street, it appears the beatniks have taken up their bong bongs and quietly stole away.

They left the place in a mess. Their going is a blessing to the city.

An Observer

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Friday, Aug. 12, the 225th day of the year, with 141 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars and Mercury.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1658, a battle watch of eight men was established in the colony of New Amsterdam, the first police force in America.

In 1851, Isaac Singer was granted a patent on his sewing machine.

In 1880, famous baseball pitcher Christopher Mathewson was born.

In 1898, the peace protocol ending the Spanish-American War was signed, and the U. S. annexed Hawaii.

In 1947, violent controversy reigned in the U. S. with the showing of autumn and winter women's wear featuring the "new look" . . . a design stressing unusually full dresses reaching nearly to the ankles.

Thought for today: American writer William Saroyan said: "If you give to a thief he cannot steal from you, and he is then no longer a thief."

Delay Custody Court Hearing

Stunted Windsor Teens May Have New Home After Sept. 14 Talks

WINDSOR (AP)—A court hearing has been postponed until Sept. 14 on petition of the Children's Aid Society of Essex County, Ont., to get custody of two or three children secluded by their parents for 11 years.

★ ★ ★

The society sought the adjournment yesterday during a brief hearing in Windsor Municipal Court. The hearing was a closed session.

The children involved in the custody case, Gordon Dickerson, 15, and his sister, Glenda, 15, are undergoing treatment at a Windsor hospital. Another sister, Constance, is not involved because of her age. She is 13.

Mrs. Shirley Dickerson Leach, the mother, appeared at the hearing. The children were found in the family home after Gordon left the house to visit a neighbor at Tecumseh, Ont., July 28.

★

Mrs. Leach said she and her second husband couldn't afford treatment for the glandular condition which was responsible for the children's lack of growth.

The mother said the children were kept isolated to protect them from ridicule.

Says Credit Easing Isn't Quick Remedy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Barring some other stimulus, the Federal Reserve moves to ease credit cannot be taken as a signal of an early return to satisfactory operations in areas affected by excessive inventories and lower profit margins, according to Goodbody and Co.

★ ★ ★

However, the firm says, business will find it easier to raise funds either for building up inventories in anticipation of the fall buying season, or to raise funds for capital improvement programs.

★ ★ ★

Thomson & McKinnon says the stock market, by its own action in meeting support at the year's lowest ebb, seems unconvinced that a severe, broad business recession is just around the corner.

Ex-Postmaster Dies

JONESVILLE (UPI)—Bert Dobson, 72, former postmaster here for many years, died Wednesday of a heart attack at a garage operated by his son Paul.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Meller, D.V.M.

Q. Our cat mated with a strange cat. Could the kittens inherit rabies if the father had it? Sandra Kristner, Valley Stream, N. Y.

A. It being the nature of a cat to prowl, this could be quite a problem if rabies were inherited.

In reality, rabies can only be transmitted by bite or through direct contact between saliva and fresh wounds.

★ ★ ★

An animal can spread rabies without showing any symptoms of the disease at the time.

Anyone suffering a bite or scratch should be certain that the animal is observed for eleven days. Some animals will salivate profusely with this disease.

★

A pet could have saliva on his claws and transmit this dread disease through the slightest scratch, so don't take any chances.

But since your kittens have not been fondled by their daddy, they couldn't possibly contact rabies or any other infectious disease he might be carrying.

Army Reserve May Start School in Pontiac Area

The U. S. Army Reserve School in Detroit is considering establishing a branch at either Pontiac or Birmingham if enough qualified prospective students are enrolled from this area, Col. Ervin Greenbaum, school commandant, announced today.

Academic military courses in any arm or service of the Army, as well as in Command and General Staff, would be available to Army Reserve officers living in the area.

The curriculum is designed to provide progressive military instruction which would qualify Reserve officers for future promotions and assignments, said Col. Greenbaum.

Enrollment can be made at the School Headquarters, Building 9, Fort Wayne, Detroit, from 7:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. weekdays.

Farms Yielding Record Crops

'60 to Be 119 Per Cent of '47-49 Base Period; Grains Leading

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American farmer is producing the biggest crop in history.

The Agriculture Department's August crop production estimate indicated the 1960 crop would be 119 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This would be one point above the record crops produced in 1958 and 1959.

Gains in yield prospects for major food crops and in the oil-seed group accounted for the increase in the total crop outlook.

A year ago the big push toward a record crop was made by corn and other feed grains. This year, the food grain and oilseed groups are leading the march toward a higher record production.

Total fed grain tonnage for 1960 now is expected to fall about 4 per cent below last year. Oat production is substantially above last year, but corn, sorghum, and barley crops are expected to be smaller than in 1959.

A 4.1 billion bushel corn crop is in prospect, 6 per cent below the record output of last year but 26 per cent above average.

Barley prospects are down considerably from last year, and sorghum production now appears to be 7 per cent below that of 1959.

Food grain production, led by by wheat, appears to be about 20 per cent above last year. Winter wheat production of 1.1 billion bushels is only 5 per cent below the record output of 1958, and promises to be 20 per cent above last year's crop.

Spring wheat probably will exceed last year's small crop by 20 per cent. The durham crop will be 58 per cent larger than last year. Yield of the all wheat crop was estimated at 25.7 bushels per acre.

Rye production is nearly a half larger than in 1959, with yield per acre exceeding the 1958 record by 1.5 bushels. Rice prospects continue favorable with water supplies expected to be ample.

File Court Action for $3 Million

Pair Charged With Diverting Donations of Sister Kenny Fund

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The Minnesota attorney general and the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation Thursday filed a court action to recover more than three million dollars from Marvin L. Kline, former executive director of the foundation, and Fred Fadell, Minneapolis public relations man.

★ ★ ★

The complaint, filed in State District Court, charged the pair wasted or unlawfully diverted to their own use substantial amounts of the more than 30 million dollars of voluntary public contributions received by the foundation during the period 1951 through 1959.

AWAITS TRIAL

Kline now is awaiting trial on a criminal indictment accusing him of first-degree larceny. He is specifically charged with fraudulently inducing the foundation to increase his salary.

Atty. Gen. Walter F. Mondale, acting on behalf of the state, said he brought the recovery action "to protect the interest of the public with respect to public charities."

★ ★ ★

The complaint alleges that Kline, aided and abetted by Fadell, and by skillful manipulation of the internal affairs of the foundation and fraudulent withholding and concealment was able to completely dominate and control the board of directors of the foundation.

★ ★ ★

Further, the complaint charged that Kline and Fadell fraudulently and improvidently wasted and mismanaged the funds and diverted them from their charitable purpose to their own profit.

WANTS SON RETURNED — Mrs. Edna West of San Francisco Thursday accused the State of Texas of kidnaping her son because he was in the custody of a Negro maid. The maid, Eunella Sims, had taken the boy with her to Carthage, Tex., to visit her mother. She was accused of violating a Texas segregation law which prohibits a white child from staying in a Negro home. The boy was placed in the county home at Tyler, Tex. Mrs. West said she had given the maid notarized permission to take the boy to Texas because she could not get another maid to care for him while she works. She is holding a picture of David.

Trend to Lower Interest

Federal Reserve Approves Discount Cut at 4 Banks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board authorized four banks to cut their discount rates from 3½ to 3 per cent, effective today.

★ ★ ★

The reductions were approved for the system's New York; Cleveland, Ohio; Richmond, Va.; and Kansas City, Mo. banks. The other eight reserve banks are expected to follow suit soon.

The discount rate is the interest that member banks pay when borrowing from the Federal Reserve. Early in June it was reduced from 4 to 3½ per cent throughout the system.

A reduction indicates easier money and a general trend toward lower interest costs. But a board spokesman called the action a technical adjustment to market rates. As an example, recent interest rates on 91-day Treasury bills have been about 2¾ per cent.

★ ★ ★

New York banking circles appeared uncertain as to whether the reduction would lower the cost of bank loans. Some bankers said a general reduction in bank interest rates must follow soon. Others said there were too many other balancing factors to make a cut certain.

None of New York's commercial banks immediately lowered their prime rate—the amount they charge their biggest customers with the best credit rating. Usually when one New York bank lowers its prime rate, the others follow. Banks outside New York base their charges on New York City rates.

Anaesthetic Can Cure Aged 'Ills?

Doctors Doubt Claim of Romanian Physician About Rejuvenation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An assortment of physicians today questioned the claims of a Romanian woman doctor that a common anaesthetic can counteract many ills of the aged and even rejuvenate some individuals.

Her treatment of 7,600 "oldsters" has yielded no proof that the anaesthetic has any long-last beneficial results, they asserted.

The method was described to the fifth international congress on gerontology by Dr. Anna Aslan of Bucharest. She said ailing people in their 50s brighten up and become more active under the treatment—injections of novocaine or procaine. She said her own gray hair turned brown under the treatment.

Quick challenges came from Dr. Nathan Shock, gerontologist of the National Heart Institute; Dr. J. T. Freeman of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School; and Dr. Michael M. Dasco, of Goldwater Memorial Hospital, New York City.

Even Soviet physicians attending the congress expressed doubt the anaesthetic does more than temporarily relieve symptoms of old peoples' ills. One was Dr. Pavel Martchuk, deputy director of the Institute of Gerontology at Kiev, U.S.S.R.

GOP Reviving 'Truth Squad'

To Follow Up Truman, Question Compromises, Campaign Statements

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans Thursday revived the group it called a "truth squad" when it trailed Democratic speakers over the country in 1956 and said it will follow up Harry S. Truman again this year.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, announced the move as Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, this year's Democratic presidential nominee, scheduled a visit to Truman in Independence, Mo., Aug. 20 or 21 to complete plans for the former President's part in the campaign.

Morton's statement recalled that Truman, who announced Wednesday he will campaign coast-to-coast for Kennedy, recently questioned whether Kennedy is ready for the presidency.

On that basis, he said, the Truman announcement "must be called the second Missouri Compromise."

The statement did not go into details of any parallel between the teaming up of Truman and Kennedy, and Henry Clay's 1820 Missouri Compromise. Under that arrangement slavery was allowed in Missouri but not elsewhere west of the Mississippi River and as far north as Truman's home state.

"For those who have believed in Harry Truman as a man of principle, it is hard to reconcile his announcement from Independence Wednesday with his statement to Kennedy on July 2, 1960," Morton said.

There are nearly 16,000 gasoline service stations in California.

Disappears 2nd Time in 2 Months

A University of Michigan student who vanished in Ann Arbor two months ago, then turned up at an Army enlistment office in Los Angeles, has disappeared again.

Los Angeles police theorized that Thomas W. Cameron, 25, is trying to stay away from his wife, a former Birmingham resident.

Son of a University of Michigan archeology professor, Cameron first vanished June 2. He was believed drowned in the Huron River when his fishing gear was found on the banks.

His wife Susan reported him missing, then returned with her year-old son Robert to the home of her parents the L. P. Andersons of 592 Ridgedale Rd.

She is now reportedly visiting friends in New England.

Wednesday Cameron turned up in the recruiting office and a routine Army check led Los Angeles authorities to learn of the disappearance.

Yesterday Cameron disappeared again, apparently after learning that newsmen and a member of the state police missing persons detail wanted to question him.

Ann arbor police said they were casually curious about the first disappearance and now were doubly curious about the second.

An Ann Arbor detective said, "He's a citizen, has committed no crime and can disappear whenever he wants — unless his wife brings desertion charges against him."

He said police had no plans for any charges.

Eke Out 52-49 Margin in Vote

Louisiana Dems Pledge to Back Jack and Lyndon

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana's Democratic loyalists have succeeded in pledging the party's 10 presidential electors to the national Democratic ticket of Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

The loyalists won a hard-fought, 51-49 decision in the Democratic State Central Committee Thursday on the key vote to pledge the electors to the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, they had shown they held a committee majority when they won two test votes, each by 52-49.

FOE TO BOLT PARTY

One of the leading supporters of an unpledged slate of electors, Dist. Atty. Leander H. Perez of Plaquemines and St. Bernard Parishes, said immediately after the meeting he would shift his support to the States Rights Party.

Louisianans will have three choices: the Republicans' Nixon-Lodge ticket, the Democrats' Kennedy-Johnson slate and the States Rights Party.

★ ★ ★

The three and one-half hour central committee meeting was marked by frantic maneuvering, which saw Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who had previously said he would keep hands off the meeting, working in favor of independent electors, and two key administration members, Comptroller Roy Theriot of Abbeville and Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion, opposing the governor.

RESOLUTION REJECTED

Before the final vote the committee rejected a resolution that charged the national Democratic Party was aimed at total destruction of constitutional government an dthe Republican Party had adopted a platform that was a thinly disguised facsimile of the Democratic one.

★ ★ ★

Following defeat of this resolution, 52-49, a milder statement backed by the Kennedy forces was approved, also 52-49.

It acknowledged the Democratic platform "contains certain ideas and promotes certain programs that are not acceptable."

But it said "the Republican Party is repugnant to the cause of America everywhere and particularly in Louisiana."

Kennedy 'Makes Sense'

Says Mr. K Berates Nixon: 'Fumbler,' 'Grocery Clerk'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican and Southern Democratic senators battling Sen. John F. Kennedy's minimum wage bill centered their attack today on its broad extension of wage-hour law coverage.

This feature of the bill sponsored by the Democratic presidential nominee has aroused far more opposition than the provision to boost the present $1 an hour minimum wage to $1.25.

The measure would bring workers in retail and service enterprises under the law for the first time, accounting for the great bulk of the additional five million employes to whom coverage would be extended.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla) has proposed an amendment to retain the existing exemption of retail and service establishments. He said he hopes it will be voted on ahead of other pending amendments.

The amendment would provide a key test of strength, but Holland told a reporter he didn't think there would be any votes before Monday. He declined to predict how the vote would go, except to say he expected it to be close.

Joining Holland in sponsoring his amendment were Sens. Styles Bridges (R-NH), Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Allen J. Ellender (D-La), and J. William Fulbright (D-Ark).

Holland said he had not attempted to find out how many of his Southern Democratic colleagues would back his amendment, the adoption of which would be a major setback for Kennedy and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

However, one influential Dixie legislator, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), spoke out in an interview against any extension of coverage. He said he felt the commerce clause already had been stretched too far. He referred to the constitutional provision which gives the federal government the authority to regulate interstate commerce—the legal basis for the wage-hour law.

★ ★ ★

Russell said he had no strong objection to raising the minimum wage to $1.25. Holland said he didn't either, although he added he would prefer to limit the increase to $1.15 an hour — the amount provided in a bill already passed by the House.

In Junior Olympics

Stringham Takes First

Stringham playground took first place and the traveling trophy Thursday in the annual Waterford Township Summer Playground Junior Olympics with a total of 121 points.

★ ★ ★

Drayton Plains playground placed second with 108 points, and Leggett School playground came in third with 93 points.

Police Chief Millard Pender presented the championship trophy to Stringham co-captains, Dick Greenlee and Karl Arrington.

The outcome of the junior olympics was in doubt until the final event, a shuttle relay worth 10 points, had been run off.

★ ★ ★

Stringham, ahead of Drayton Plains by only eight points, going into the relay took second place to insure their victory while the best Drayton Plains could muster was fourth.

Leggett school won more individual championships than any other team, but Stringham's balance overpowered them, according to the recreation department.

Wagin' a Friendly 'Feud' at 4-H Club Fair

Middletons, Longs 'Battle' in Dairy Competition

There's a "feud" at the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair that would make the Martins and Coys look like a bunch of skinny, underfed kids at play.

This is a friendly "feud" between the Middeltons of the East Orion Club and the Longs of the Milford 4-H Club.

The two families are at it again, piling up prestige in the dairy judging competition.

Larry Middleton, 18, had a big day yesterday when his four-year-old Holstein was judged senior and grand champion of the show.

Douglas Long, 16, placed second with his senior Holstein calf.

That put the Middletons on top in breeding, but the Longs were not to be denied.

★ ★ ★

In evening judging for dairy showmanship, or handling of stock, Doug Long took first place and Larry Middleton second.

The two families have annually vied for top honors in dairy competition and the results are often much like this year's — a tie.

With dairy day activities taking up most of the day Thursday, the evening featured some pretty wild contests.

IT WAS FUN NIGHT

Last night was fun night with contests in hog calling, husband calling, pie and melon eating, a fat man's race and others of the same order of fun featured.

Wixom Secures Site for 'Center'

Also Hires Architect for City Hall Building to Cost About $30,000

WIXOM — This city's proposed civic center development became a reality last night with the purchase of a site and the hiring of an architect.

★ ★ ★

Council agreed unanimously on buying seven acres at 49100 Pontiac Trail as the site of the municipal development.

Kahnelauri, McMullan and Associates, Inc., of Ann Arbor, will draw up plans for the proposed one-story city hall, to cost approximately $30,000.

The civic center site was purchased from John Chambers of Wixom. The city will pay $1,500 an acre plus $6,000 for a cement block building already on the property. The building will be used to house Department of Public Works equipment.

The proposed center will be just east of Wixom road.

★ ★ ★

About $36,000 for the $50,000 development has already been allocated in the budget. The remainder of the cost is expected to be paid off in five years without any increase in taxes, said John Finlayson, administrative assistant to the mayor.

Construction of the new municipal building is expected to begin next month with completion in December.

The Commission tabled action on the matter until the next regular meeting.

Also delayed until the next meeting was action concerning the route of the proposed Chrysler expressway.

★ ★ ★

Cars and trucks were the costliest items purchased by the city at the special session Thursday night, which was called in order to wind up all the business not covered in Monday's regular meeting.

Bought from the same dealership was a half-ton pickup truck for the fire department at a cost of $1,683 and a half-ton chasis and cab for $1,579.

Milford Water Woe to End by 1963, Mayor Predicts

MILFORD — Inadequate water pressure in the northern part of the village will be corrected within three years, Village Manager Oliver Taylor said Wednesday.

The Village Council, he said, has promised that the area north of Summit street will receive relief within that time with the installation of a booster pump and an eight-inch water line along Summit.

Cost of the project that would particularly improve water conditions in the Bonnie Highland area is estimated at about $20,000, Taylor said.

The Council's pledge to improve water conditions in the low-pressure area is the most recent step in following the recommendations of a consulting engineer.

The consultant, Robert McCauley hired last year to make a study of the village water supply, had recommended a five-point improvement program to be followed immediately. He also made note of needed future improvements.

While the most serious pressure problems are in the Bonnie Highlands area, his 50-page report showed that similar conditions are found in undeveloped areas to the south and east of Fairview Hills and in the southeast part of the village.

McCauley stated in his report that it would be "relatively easy" to install a booster pump of about 150 gallons a minute for the entire Bonnie Highlands area at a total cost of $5,000 to $6,000.

"It appears that the best plan is eventually to install a booster pump at a point near Main and Summit streets which would supply all the northern part of the village," McCauley stated. "A small standpipe or water tower should be considered in conjunction with such a plan to reduce power cost."

Two of McCauley's recommendations already have been carried out by action of the Council.

The first was a decision to sink a new well and the second was the investigation of a water line along Main street.

McCauley has received authorization to sink the new well and plans and specifications are being prepared.

A check of the Main street line to find why its carrying capacity was cut in half has been completed and reports indicate that corrosion is not responsible. It has yet to be discovered what is reducing its carrying load.

PRESSURE INADEQUATE

Inadequate line pressure has troubled the village the last several years with the increasing number of customers joining the water system.

To Leave for Japan

Area Teacher Gets Wish

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—A wish of a young schoolteacher here yearning to see something new and different comes true Monday.

On that day, Marilyn Taylor, 24, of 8781 Pine Knob Rd., boards a commercial airliner at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport on the first leg of her journey that will take her to Japan for a year-long stay.

With her arrival in the Orient she will be assigned to teach school on an American Air Force Base.

Marilyn's dream started taking shape last December when she learned that the Air Force was looking for qualified teachers to instruct the children of servicemen at overseas bases.

So she filed an application that month seeking a teaching job, preferably in Europe, specifically Germany. In March she learned that there were openings for teachers in Japan. She took it.

HAPPY WITH CHOICE

"It wasn't my first choice, but with a chance to travel and all expenses paid by the government, it didn't take me long to change my mind," she said Thursday at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Howard Taylor.

Marilyn, who graduated with her teaching degree from Michigan State University in 1956, teaches first and second graders in Rochester's North Hill Elementary School.

★ ★ ★

"I've already been told that I'll be teaching the same grades in Japan. The government feels that there will be enough adjusting then to try and teach an unfamiliar grade."

"One of the qualifications in getting the position, is being willing to adjust to the culture and environment," she added.

★ ★ ★

Other qualifications in applying for a military teaching job include being at least 24 years old, having two years of teaching experience, being single and having a valid teaching certificate.

DOESN'T KNOW WHERE

She said she has no idea where she will be assigned until she gets to Japan, but she thinks it may be somewhere in the Metropolitan Tokyo area.

★ ★ ★

The first leg of the journey will take her to San Francisco where she will transfer to an Air Force plane. From the west coast the plane will make stops at Hawaii, Wake Island and then on to Japan. She said the trip from the coast will take about 27 hours.

★ ★ ★

"I've been told not to expect any luxuries on the military plane, but I won't mind," added Marilyn. "I'll be traveling."

JAPAN BOUND — Schoolteacher Marilyn Taylor, 24, of 8781 Pine Knob Rd., Independence Township, reaches for her small luggage she will take with her on her one-year trip to Japan. She taught elementary school at Rochester's North Hill for two years until she got the urge to travel. Marilyn leaves Monday to teach children of Air Force personnel stationed at bases near Tokyo.

White-Collar Service Industries Rise as Blue-Collar Production Jobs Drop

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Hidden under the impressive figures of record employment and a one-month drop in the jobless total is a trend that's more than seasonal—more white-color jobs, fewer blue-collar ones.

More precisely, there's a continuing rise in the number employed in the service industries and a drop in jobs for the production of goods.

★ ★ ★

The current drop in goods could be cyclical because of the downtrend in manufacturing activity which many hope will be reversed in the fall. But it has longer-range implications.

Tied in with this are the official statistics showing that Americans spend a greater part of their income now for services and less for goods than they used to.

These statistics can be confusing unless the rise in prices, fares and rates is put into the scales with them, along with the present-day built-in need for services which many consumer goods carry with them and which don't show on the original price tags.

Employment figures for July, announced this week, show:

★ ★ ★

More than 68½ million Americans have jobs, a record and 110,000 higher than in mid-June; a bit more than four milion are out of work, almost half a million fewer than in June; teenagers who swelled the unemployment ranks in June when they sought summer jobs found them by mid-July and account for the employment rise; but 150,000 more persons over 20 were looking for work in July than in June.

★ ★ ★

And the Labor Department notes that employment showed gains in service industries while falling in both durable and soft goods industries.

For several years employment has grown in the service industries—government, trade, finance, utilities, professions, where white-collar jobs abound. It has tended to drop in blue-collar jobs producing goods.

This doesn't mean, as it might seem, that people buying fewer goods, except for brief recession periods. A large part of the drop over the years is from increased manufacturing efficiency through higher skilled labor and improved machinery and methods that turn out more goods for the amount of man-labor going into the process.

★ ★ ★

That Americans are spending more of their increased incomes for services is widely accepted. But some of the percentage gain is illusory.

The bare figures show that services took 31.1 per cent of the consumer's dollar in 1947 and 39.1 per cent in 1959.

But the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York points out in its August survey:

"The increase was due mostly to the fact that prices of services during that period were rising faster than prices of goods. In real terms—dollars of constant purchasing power—purchases of services rose only from 34.3 to 37.8 per cent of the total. And even this moderate gain was in fact nothing more than a recovery of ground lost in earlier years. In terms of either current or constant dollars, the relative importance is very nearly the same as it was 30 years ago."

★ ★ ★

It notes that the percentage of spending for household goods was the same in 1959 as in 1929, while Americans spent a bigger part of their dollar for automobiles and supplies in 1959 than in 1929. On the other hand, clothing was a casualty—taking 11 cents of each dollar in 1929 and 7 cents in 1959.

★ ★ ★

The bank contends that much of the increased spending for services has come about from the goods that Americans buy — the power and repair of appliances, along with the costs of transporting them and financing them.

★ ★ ★

This spending is likely to continue to rise just as long as the standard of living continues to improve. But it doesn't sound the knell of goods or their production.

Grand Rapids Reports Record 65,125 Children

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The annual school census Wednesday disclosed a record total of 65,125 children in Grand Rapids from birth through 19 years of age.

★ ★ ★

The total excludes approximately 5,000 others in areas which have approved annexation to the city effective next December. The new total for Grand Rapids is 1,023 higher than in 1959 and exceeds the previous high mark of 64,483 in 1957.

Johnson Insists Funds Frozen

Ike Had 'Not Been Told'; Senators Claim Move Wise for Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), renewing a long-range exchange with President Eisenhower, told the Senate Thursday "there can be no question about the fact" that 621 million dollars of defense funds voted by Congress have been "frozen" by the administration.

"At his press conference Wednesday the President indicated that he did not know that 621 million dollars of defense funds has been frozen," the Senate Democratic leader and nominee for vice president said. "He stated that the matter had been been put before him in those terms."

Johnson said he accepted the President's statement "that he was not informed that these funds were frozen," but added:

★ ★ ★

"Nevertheless, there can be no question about the fact that these funds have been frozen and are frozen right now."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn), a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told Johnson it was wise for any administration to reserve part of the defense appropriation for unforeseen contingencies.

Michigan Gas and Oil Consumption Zooms

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's oil and gas production has surged far ahead of last year at the half-way mark, the State Conservation Department reported today.

★ ★ ★

Through June 30, some 6,934,300 barrels of crude oil were pumped, a 45 per cent jump from last year at the time. The value of the output totaled more than $20 million.

Natural gas production rose to more than 8,588,000,000 cubic feet, almost 34 per cent above last year. The production was valued at $1,724,377.

Using current figures as an index, the department said this would be the best gas and oil year in Michigan since 1948.

PILOT'S WIFE AT CONFERENCE — Barbara Powers, wife of U2 pilot Francis Powers, presented these studies Thursday as she met with newsmen in Washington. She plans to fly to Russia to attend her husband's trial, starting Wednesday. The pretty 24-year-old brunette fought back tears as she talked. She hopes for visas for her mother and a lawyer so they can go with her but is doubtful of getting them. Eisenhower tells her everything is being done that can be done.

Chains Integrate Lunch Counters

69 Southern Cities Affected, Firms Tell Attorney General

WASHINGTON (AP) — Racial segregation has ended at lunch counters of major variety store chains in 69 Southern communities, executives of the firms have told Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Similar progress in other cities is expected in the near future, Rogers said late Wednesday after meeting with the executives.

The store officials told Rogers that the desegregation was carried out in more than 70 per cent of the 69 communities without sit-in demonstrations by Negroes — and largely without publicity. The communities affected were not listed.

Rogers hailed the progress as most gratifying and said "it is significant that where responsible local citizens take the first steps, the necessary transition to desegregation of eating facilities in stores can be accomplished without disruptions and loss of business."

Rogers said he had called in representatives of F. W. Woolworth Co., S. H. Kress & Co., W. T. Grant Co., and other major chains on June 1 for informal discussions. He said he had emphasized that the standing of the United States suffers as a result of acts of racial discrimination.

Missionary Advises Pilots:

'Be a Pro, BE America'

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—An Air Force interceptor pilot, stationed at remote Misawa AFB in Northern Japan on the rim of the Iron Curtain, writes about an unscheduled but memorable briefing he and fellow fliers received recently from, of all persons, a missionary.

The missionary was Frank Hank Nugent, a Maryknoller, who had dropped by the tense outpost to renew an almost forgotten friendship with a hamburger.

When it became known that he had spent some time as a prisoner of the Red Chinese the men asked him to speak to them.

The cases of Francis Powers and the RB47 crew are never far from the minds of men whose daily job is to skirt the unmarked boundaries of hostile lands.

What impressed the pilot most was the missionary's conclusion:

"Preparation for evasion, if you're forced down over there, is fine and you should do some serious thinking about it in advance. But there is one thing that is absolutely necessary, that you've got to have before you get in trouble. If you wait until you need it, it will be too late. What I'm talking about is this:

"Be professionals, with a pride in your profession. Be the best there is and be convinced that you are the best, not in a spirit of conceit but in the quiet confidence that by God's grace you are what you are, a fighter for freedom for all peoples, from a country blessed historically with a belief in the dignity of the individual. This no Communist can understand because his system necessarily destroys the individual.

"The reason we foreign missionaries survive persecutions as ruthless as communism is because we believe that we are professionals. If we can't survive, who can? You can do the same. Be utterly convinced of your way of life—your national ideals, family pride and personal morality.

★ ★ ★

"Make America so much a part of you that to surrender would be dishonor far worse than death.

"God grant that none of you will ever be put to the test, but if you are it is no time for armchair patriotism. Everyone of you must be an old pro."

Keep Spaceship on Its Course?

Boeing Plane Engineer Answers — Ring Rocket With Gas Jets

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—In airless, weightless space, how could a space ship be kept on an even keel?

A simple answer—ring the rocket with gas jets—was provided by a Boeing Airplane Co. engineer in a paper prepared for delivery today before the American Astronautical Society here.

★ ★ ★

Research engineer George W. Freeman pointed out that a space ship's position in relation to direction of travel could be changed by such forces as solar pressures, shifting weight within the ship and the effect of gravitational fields.

★ ★ ★

Outside of an atmosphere, the aerodynamic controls designed to direct the ship during re-entry are ineffective.

Thus, Freeman said, a supplementary control system is needed, one which he called "reaction controls for re-entry vehicles."

★ ★ ★

He said the system is composed of a series of varying sized gas jets arranged around the space ship. A short spurt here and there, he said, would keep things right side up.

Area Woman Nearly Drowns Rescuing 2

A 46-year-old Beverly Hills woman rescued two boys from the Detroit River yesterday, then nearly drowned herself.

Credited with saving the boys is Mrs. Hugh Munce of 31772 Verona Circle, a mother of two.

Mrs. Munce swam to the boys, Michael and Danny Trepanier, 11 and 8 years old, when she saw they were in trouble when they got caught in the backwash of passing ships.

She was able to keep them afloat for 10 minutes. A boat pulled up and the boys were helped aboard.

Just then Mrs. Munce lost consciousness and went under.

Jim Gall, 14, of Windsor, owner of the rescue boat, dove in and managed to get the woman to shore.

Chrysler Plans to Introduce Luxury Car at Lower Cost

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Chrysler will combat the invasion of compact cars into the medium-priced market by adding a lower-priced series in 1961.

A top Chrysler-Imperial division official said the division felt the previously undisclosed series was a more logical answer to the demand for luxury transportation at lower costs than were luxury compacts.

"One thing is sure, people aren't going to pay as much for cars, their upkeep or fuel as they have been," the official said. "The motorist still wants luxury but he wants it at a lower cost."

All of the auto makers are aware of this, he said, and most of the medium-priced car makers are planning compact cars for 1961 because of it.

"But marketing both a compact and a standard car in the luxury field doesn't make sense," the official said. "It means you have tooling costs for two cars instead of one."

"This isn't as important in the low-priced field where tooling costs can be spread over a greater number of cars because of volume sales. But it becomes extremely important in the medium priced field where tooling costs are a big factor in the final price of the car because the volume of sales isn't as great."

TOOLING EXPENSIVE

Tooling costs on a medium-priced car can account for as much as $200 of the cost of the car, he said. He estimated the cost of tooling for a new car at around $30 million.

"If you build a more economical model using the same tools used for your standard cars, you save that extra cost of tooling," the official said. "We feel this is the most logical answer to the demand for luxury and room coupled with lower costs."

The official said he felt compact cars are only a temporary answer to the demand for cars that cost less to own and operate.

The public still wants room and comfort in cars but some motorists are now sacrificing it in order to get lower costs, he said. Eventually, the public will demand both roominess and low costs.

Because of this conviction, Chrysler feels it is getting the jump on the other auto makers. It feels it will be able to offer a roomy car at lower costs because of lower tooling expenses and some engineering advancements.

Expectations of greater sales also will help cut costs, the official said.

"With our new model, we expect to move from a market area where 580,000 cars are sold annually into a market where more than one million cars are sold every year," he said.

★ ★ ★

Previously, another Chrysler-Imperial Division Official, General Manager C. E. Briggs, predicted dealers would sell between 110,000 and 120,000 Chryslers during the 1961 model year, an increase of 50 to 60 per cent over 1960 sales.

The other Chrysler official said Briggs had the new model in mind when he made the prediction but did not refer to it because the 1961 models are not ready for introduction yet.

Neutralist Ex-Premier Is Sought to Lead Laos

By RELMAN MORIN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Radio Vientiane said today the army rebels holding the capital of Laos will ask a former premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, to head a new government "that will incline neither toward the Free World nor the Communist world."

Souvanna Phouma, 58, two years ago tried to work out a truce with the pro-Communist revolutionary movement in Laos, the Pathet Lao, by bringing its leaders into a coalition government. The try failed.

Souvanna Phouma is also a half brother of Prince Souvanna Vong, the fugitive Pathet Lao leader, and is chairman of the National Assembly elected last April.

Capt. Kong Le, the paratrooper who led the revolt Tuesday in Vientiane, the administrative capital of the Buddhist kingdom, was quoted as saying he was sending Souvanna Phouma from Vientiane to the royal seat, Luang Prabang, to ask pro-Western Premier Tiao Somsanith to resign.

SPEAKS IN STADIUM

"Then I will ask his royal highness Souvanna Phouma to become prime minister," the rebel leader told a crowd Thursday night in Vientiane National Stadium.

"We want our government to be truly neutral," he said. "We will accept diplomatic relations with all countries."

Somsanith and most of his cabinet were in Luang Prabang, 130 miles north of Vientiane, when the rebels seized control of the administrative capital.

One report from Vientiane cast doubt on Souvanna Phouma's allegiance to the rebels. This report said the prince had protested his name was being used without authorization as a member of the 40-member revolutionary committee.

Laos holds a strategic position in Southeast Asia as a buffer between Red China and Communist North Viet Nam on the north and pro-Western Thailand to the south. The land-locked kingdom does not now recognize Red China or North Viet Nam diplomatically, and the United States has poured in millions of dollars of military and economic aid to keep Laos leaning to the West.

★ ★ ★

Radio Vientiane said the rebels were "tired of injustice" in Laos and also want an end to the civil war between the army and the Pathet Lao guerrillas, who lately have been comparatively inactive.

Model Changeover to Cut Car Output

DETROIT (UPI) — Automotive News said car output in the United States will dip to an estimated 80,295 units this week with most industry shutdowns for model changeover.

The trade publication said production will be 22.5 per cent below the 103,609 cars assembled last week, but 28.6 per cent above the 72,397 autos built during the corresponding week of 1959.

★ ★ ★

Automotive News estimated truck output at 13,795 units this week compared with 14,019 last week and 11,059 in the same week last year.

American motorists used 56,025,000,000 gallons of gasoline during 1959, compared with 53,458,000,000 gallons in 1958.

Forest Fire Toll Less

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's forest fire toll is well down from last year, the State Conservation Department reported. There were 2,298 acres burned over in early August, 1,170 acres down from the figure last year at the same time.

COPENHAGEN — In the Scandinavian countries, where 67 is the pension age, some 350 homes for 15,000 aged persons have been built in the last 10 years.

Nikita Hops Back on Merry-Go-Round

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's that man again.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, when unsure of the outcome, acts like an early bather sticking one toe in the water to see if it's cold before diving in.

Back in 1958 he put out a feeler for an invitation to the United States. Once he got it, he came bouncing over. That was last September. Came the spring.

★ ★ ★

He torpedoed the summit conference, called off President Eisenhower's trip to Russia, and for weeks insulted and belittled the President.

He said he'd never have another summit get-together with Eisenhower. American-Soviet relations took a perilous dive.

'GREAT HONOR'

This week Khrushchev acted like a man putting out feelers again.

He said he would deem it a great honor to head the Soviet delegation to the United Nations to discuss disarmament in September.

That would bring him here in the midst of the presidential campaign. He didn't say he would come. And, actually, he wouldn't need an invitation if he decided to.

★ ★ ★

Unlike Moscow, where Eisenhower couldn't go without an invitation, Khrushchev could go unasked to New York since the U.N. is an international arena.

By talking wistfully of the idea of coming, instead of saying he would, Khrushchev gave himself a chance to see what Eisenhower thought of it.

(Earlier Khrushchev had suggested the heads of government discuss disarmament—a situation which would be a kind of world-wide summit conference—a situation although the United States had rejected that proposal.)

★ ★ ★

But, while Eisenhower at his news conference Wednesday avoided saying he would meet with Khrushchev at the U.N. to discuss disarmament, he also avoided saying he wouldn't.

So, at this moment the idea of the two men's getting together once again is nebulous.

Heeding Reds Would Tax Town

Russ U. N. Delegation Asks Glen Cove, N.Y., to Refund Estate Levy

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet delegation to the United Nations is demanding a refund of $200,000 in local taxes on the 157-room estate it uses as a residence in this Long Island city.

"We just don't have the cash available," Mayor Joseph A. Suozzi said.

★ ★ ★

The Russians—through their Manhattan attorneys—cited a new state law which grants an exemption from local taxes to property used as the residence of a ranking U. N. official or as the offices of members of his staff.

The law had been sought by Indonesia, Ghana and Liberia, whose U. N. delegates also live more than 15 miles from United Nations headquarters. Under the old law, only residences within 15 miles of headquarters were exempt from taxes.

★ ★ ★

The Russians have been protesting—but paying — taxes to Glen Cove and to Nassau County. This year $28,283 was levied against the property, which is assessed at $354,000.

Paid admissions at Canada's 232 drive-in theaters in 1958 were 10,149,000, 203,000 more than in the previous year.

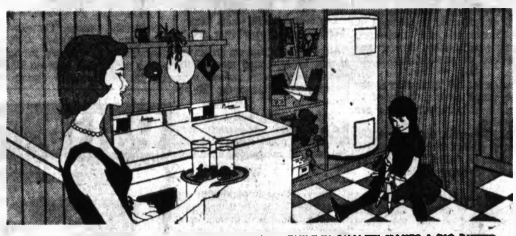
ELECTRIC WATER HEATER



INSTALL ONE WHERE YOU LIKE—EVEN IN AN AIR-TIGHT CLOSET. When it's an electric water heater, there's no flame, so we air is needed to support combustion. There are no fumes to be vented. An electric water heater is completely safe.

BUILT-IN QUALITY MAKES A GOOD BUYER. ENOCE. Every electric water heater on Detroit Edison lines must meet Bellman's exacting specifications. Result: long life, high performance for every water heater.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE TABLE TOP MODELS? They're compact, go beneath counters or alongside laundry equipment. Other possibilities—in the kitchen next to sink or dishwasher or in that hard-to-use corner. Upright or table top model, put an electric water heater where you want it.

HOTTER WATER—PLENTY OF IT! An electric water heater is capable of going on and on, delivering really hot water—160° hot—without burning out. And heavy insulation all around keeps the outside shell of the water heater cool to the touch from top to bottom. There's no hot metal anywhere.

8 OUT OF 10 FAMILIES USE THE 50-GALLON SIZE. For less than 16¢ a day (estimated operating cost for this size) you can have hot water for all the family's needs. There are also 80- and 110-gallon sizes for the few families who use more water and may require greater capacity.

Women Told of Ideals

Explore Driving Rights

EAST LANSING — What is the meaning of the driver license you carry in your wallet?

Years ago, it was little more than a means of identification.

Today, in most states, it testifies to the fact that you have passed at least minimum requirements to become an automobile driver.

This is progress, but we are a long way from achieving recommended "ideal" driver licensing and improvement goals, women delegates from 45 states were told by John C. Kerrick, director, driver licensing program, American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

The women, who are all state safety chairmen of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Optometric Association met Thursday and today at Kellogg Center, Michigan State University.

The conference, financed by the Allstate Foundation, has been conducted by the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center through Continuing Education Services.

The delegates are considering driver licensing recommendations with an eye to what women can do to make the licensing process a greater safeguard.

★ ★ ★

"Ideal goals" were defined by Kerrick as the requirements that every driver demonstrate ability to drive safely before a license is granted and continue to show he has the ability and willingness to drive safely in order to keep his license.

The women heard speakers discuss the importance of research in developing new and better methods for testing drivers and for discovering and correcting driver deficiencies.

They were told of the need for stronger, more uniform legislation in all states and for cooperation between states in exchanging information.

FEDERAL LEGISLATION

New federal legislation will establish a central register in the secretary of commerce's office to make available to licensing authorities of every state the names of drivers who have had their licenses revoked for serious traffic violations, explained Milo W. Challant, MSU School of Police Administration and Public Safety and the Highway Traffic Safety Center.

After a visit in Glasgow with Mrs. Thomas Ross and her daughter Ann, mother and sister of Mrs. Roscoe C. Hodge of Airport road, the travelers enplaned for home.

Hotel Bill Should Be Kept Low

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has been invited to be best man at the wedding of his college roommate. The ceremony will take place in another city. We have met neither the bride nor her family but have been invited to stay at the hotel as their guests. Everything we know about the bride's family indicates that they are well-off.

The question, therefore, is this: While guests at the hotel at their expense are items such as meals and garage placed on the bill, or are we responsible for paying for them even though the hotel is much more expensive than we would select for ourselves?

Answer: Most correctly the hotel expenses of the best man and his wife are paid by the bridegroom, unless they are invited to stay with neighbors.

But even if you are the guests of the well-off family of the bride, you should keep your hotel bill down to bare necessities such as the cost of your room and your breakfast. You should pay any extras such as magazines or drinks you order, yourselves.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: My son, aged 17, and I (mid-50) plan on driving to the coast next month. We will be stopping off at motels en route. I would like to know if it would be proper to engage a room with twin beds and bath, or is it necessary that we have two rooms. We are traveling on a limited budget.

★ ★ ★

Answer: I am sorry not to be able to give my full approval of your sharing one room with your son, but as you indicate that the economy of doing so is an important consideration, and you will have a bathroom in which to dress, I do not feel that you will have to go to the extra expense of two rooms.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper way to dispose of a piece of meat which can't be chewed and swallowed?

★ ★ ★

Answer: The only thing to do is to dry it as well as you can with pressure of your tongue against your closed teeth and then remove it from your mouth with your thumb underneath and four fingers pressed close together over your mouth (forming a screen over the piece of meat) and put it on your plate.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: At an informal dinner, is it proper to put celery and olives on the bread-and-butter plate, or should they be put on the dinner plate? And what about jellies and other condiments?

Answer: Pickles, jellies or condiments intended to be eaten on or with the meat are always put on the meat plate. Olives, radishes or celery are put on the bread-and-butter plate.

Abby Says: Get Yourself Lost

Let 1st Wife's Ghost Walk . . . See if She'll Do the Work

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago I married a widower with five children, ranging in age from 2 to 12. I don't like to boast, but I am known for my cooking and housekeeping and the interest I take in my childrens' activities, such as PTA, scouting, sports, etc. I recently made 33 costumes for a church pageant.

I love these children, Abby, but all I ever hear about is their "real" mother. I am competing with a ghost. They worship her memory.

ABBY

Their father wants them to "remember" their mother, which is fine, but I practically raised them and I feel like hired help in my own home. What must I do to get a little appreciation?

NOT APPRECIATED

DEAR NOT: Take a little "vacation." Let the "ghost" do the cooking, sewing and housekeeping for a week or two. You won't get appreciation by asking for it. We never miss the water till the well runs dry.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of love at first sight?

BOB

DEAR BOB: I think it's a wonderful time saver.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My problem sounds so silly for a healthy, normal man of 44, I am almost ashamed to write it, but here goes:

Whenever I eat anything at my mother-in-law's place I get sick as a dog. Not wishing to hurt her feelings, I've never told her. My wife knows it and she is stumped.

Now, you won't believe this, Abby, but last Sunday we were there for supper again. I said I wasn't hungry and wanted only a cup of coffee.

When we got home I was just as sick on the coffee! My wife and the rest of her family eat there and nobody gets sick but me. How do you figure it?

HEALTHY BUT SICK

DEAR HEALTHY BUT SICK: Since you're the only one who gets sick from your mother-in-law's hospitality, you are probably allergic to something in her home. I hesitate to suggest what it could be, but a doctor might be able to help you track it down.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CHRIS: Get off the farm once in a while. You won't find a bride in the Sears and Roebuck catalogue.

Thrasher-Hershovitz Vows Said

Green-tinted pompons and white gladioli graced the altar of Trinity Methodist Church for Saturday evening vows of Frances Arline Hershovitz and Edwin C. Thrasher Jr., pledged to the Rev. Robert Benedict.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Hershovitz of Wilbur street, Keego Harbor, the bride chose a gown of white Alencon lace over silk taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped sabrina neckline and sleeves ending in wrist-points.

A tiara of seed pearls caught the fingertip veiling of silk illusion. White roses topped the bride's white satin-covered prayer book.

Pink nylon over taffeta for honor maid Mary Margaret Rucker was of ballerina length. Carolyn Leister of Altus, Okla., in blue, served as her cousin's bridesmaid, with the bride's sister Sharon in yellow and Mrs. Alexander Brown, sister of the bridegroom, in green.

Carnations arranged in cascades, were slightly darker than the attendants' pastel dresses.

MRS. E. C. THRASHER

Anita Gray of Rochester, and Cheryll Baill, in pale blue nylon, carried baskets of red rose petals. The bride's brother Larry was ringbearer.

Thomas S. Thrasher stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Edwin C. Thrashers of North East boulevard. Sterley DeVault, Alexander Brown and the bride's cousin, Leon Leister ushered.

★ ★ ★

Rust carnations complemented Mrs. Hershovitz' bouffant dress of yellow eyelet worn with brown accessories. Mrs. Thrasher, in a sheath dress of blue silk organza, wore a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

Among out-of-towners at the wedding were the bride's grandmother Mrs. James Catron of Altus, Okla., also the bridegroom's grandmother Mrs. George Jeffrey and his great-aunt, Mrs. Etty Robinson, both from Lonaconing, Md.

Arabs Ban Old-Young Marriages

But History Says December-May Love Is Sweet

NEW YORK (AP)—The other day the United Arab Republic banned May-December marriages in what seems to be an unprecedented step against late-flowering love.

Henceforth in the UAR, marriages between men over 60 and women under 30 are out.

★ ★ ★

In most other countries, such things are left to nature, and nature—aided by medical advances in geriatrics — has been pretty liberal with its boundaries.

★ ★ ★

Just a couple of days ago, for instance, after the UAR clamped the lid on, a news item from Italy told about a 20-year-old countess who'd just had her second child by her husband—a sprightly 79.

And what about Charles and Oona Chaplin, who've had seven children since their 54-18 marriage 17 years ago, and ostensibly are still in the billing and cooing stage?

There are other famous couples whose union would have been prevented by a law such as the UAR's.

★ ★ ★

Pablo Casals, regarded as the world's greatest cellist, is his wife's elder by 61 years, but they're having a good time making beautiful music together. She was his pupil, walking, swimming, and decorating their home in Puerto Rico.

★ ★ ★

Another musical Peter Pan is Sir Thomas Beecham, who married his third wife, manager of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, which he directed, a year ago. He was 80 and she was 27. But it struck a harmonious note.

SO IT GOES

In the literary field, there's T. S. Eliot, considered one of the greatest poets of the age. His honeymoon occurred about three years ago when he was 68—and the bride, his secretary, was 30.

And so it goes.

The marriage counseling books are full of thoughts on the subject of relatively unequal marriages, carefully couched so as to offend nobody, even an octogenarian bridegroom. But you get the idea that the venture is fraught with peril; especially when the girl is really looking for a father, or when she wants to go out dancing and he'd rather stay home and read.

It's adjust, adjust, adjust. Which makes it sound strangely like every other marriage.

Making Films of Interlochen

INTERLOCHEN — The most extensive national and international film coverage of the National Music Camp in its 33-year history is under way at Interlochen this week.

Producers, directors, cameramen, and other crew members representing the State Department's United States Information Agency and Agrafilms, Inc., of Athens, Ga., are working on two films simultaneously at the National Music Camp.

A third film crew arrives today to spend two days filming the activities of the University of Michigan's summer session and all-state program.

When completed, the USIA film will be given worldwide distribution. Prints of the film will carry sound tracks in the French, Swedish, Portugese, Spanish and English languages. Additional prints will be made for narration in many other languages.

The Agrafilm production will highlight the plans of Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, president of the National Music Camp, for an Interlochen Arts Academy. The academy would offer a balanced program of creative arts, science and general education to gifted youngsters in the ninth through twelfth grades.

It would operate at the National Music Camp during the regular school year and would be college accredited.

Prints of this film will be offered to television stations, musical groups and other organizations, and to foundations interested in providing financial assistance for the academy project.

Deems Taylor, noted composer and music commentator who has been visiting the National Music Camp, will assist in the narration of the academy film.

FILMS COMPLETE

Both the films will show the scope of the camp's activities in all forms of music, art, drama and dance. Many of the camp's 1,400 students and 125 instructors will appear in the films, along with many of the camp's physical facilities, including more than 350 buildings, and one of the world's largest music libraries.

Dr. Maddy said that showings throughout Europe of the USIA film should assist in realizing the camp's hope of sending its High School Symphony Orchestra on a Eupropean tour, possibly next year.

"The main purpose of the film, however, is to show people all over the world that America has many teen-agers and even younger children who are devoted to the cultural arts," Dr. Maddy added.

The USIA film crew is headed by director-writer George Freidland, and Hugo Johnson, USIA television production officer, and a veteran of nearly 30 years experience with Paramount News and Walt Disney Productions.

This exercise and attention to posture correction will counteract sway-back. But most important — be aware of posture during your waking hours.

To Correct Sway Back

Watch Posture All Day

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(THE QUESTION BOX)

Q. "I am 13 years old and I have a sway back which I would like to correct."

A. It is good that you recognize this defect in posture so soon. In the first place, you must be aware of posture during your waking hours. Exercises are most helpful but will be less effective if you hold yourself incorrectly all day long. This counteracts the benefit of the exercises.

★ ★ ★

Try to remember to pull your abdomen in and tuck your hips under. Also, do the following exercise each night before going to sleep.

Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees and place your feet flat on the floor. Press the small of your back against the floor. Press hard and hold until you count to 10 slowly. Relax. Continue.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I do hope that you can help me. I am unusually big. I am 16 years old, my height is 6 feet and I weigh 170 pounds. My measurements are bust 38 inches, waist 32 and hips 38. I would give anything to look smaller and more feminine. Please try to help me!"

A. You should lose about seven pounds, and concentrate on waist-slimming exercises. Do not let your more-than-average height bother you. You may not look frilly and cute, but you can look stunning and gorgeous. You can wear high-fashion clothes which the smaller woman cannot.

CARRIAGE IMPORTANT

Your carriage is of the greatest importance. Slumping emphasizes your height while beautiful posture emphasizes your good looks. Anyway, personality is the main ingredient in charm and popularity.

★ ★ ★

Q. "What causes some women to have veins in their legs?"

A. We would be in a bad fix if we did not have veins in our legs. However, I imagine you are talking about varicose veins. These may be caused by overweight, pregnancy, work which requires being on the feet for many hours a day, especially standing, and wearing very tight clothing.

There also seems to be a tendency to inherit varicose veins, probably because the structure of the veins is inherited.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I have very dry skin except that by the middle of the afternoon my forehead gets oily. What can I do?"

A. Wash the oily area with soap and water several times a day and use an astringent on the forehead.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my leaflet "Abdominal Exercises," sent a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "When Rubbing Cream Into Skin, Do It Gently."

Brown Favored

(NEA) — Brown is a heavy summer favorite to replace black for city wear. Sometimes it's used in combination with black. And it's usually worn with slick black shoes, gloves and jewelry.

Go Slowly; You'll Tan With Time

(NEA) — Despite the yearly warnings about the rays of the sun, thousands of American women flock to the beaches to bake themselves a dandy lobster red.

In doing this, they damage their skin temporarily and may damage it permanently. They can also toughen and thicken it by overexposure to the sun to say nothing of drying out skin that already may be overly dry. This hastens the aging process at lightning speed.

★ ★ ★

So have a healthy respect for what the sun can do. In small doses, its healthful. Provided that you time yourself, that you use a good protective sun cream and that you get out of the sun fast if it seems too intense, you should acquire a healthy, golden tan with no troubles.

But don't try to turn mahogany and don't try to do all of your tanning within the space of just a few days. Take it easy; you'll get there just the same.

Use Pumice Stone

(NEA)—Pumice stone, rubbed gently over calluses while washing hands, will reduce that rough feeling.

Young Teen-agers Go Steady Too Early

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

"Last night, my husband and I were discussing plans for our family vacation when our eldest child—she's 13—told us not to count on her. She wants to stay at a neighbor's while we're away because she's agreed to 'go steady' with a boy who has taken her to a couple of school parties. My husband was furious and has forbidden her to see the boy again. I think she's too young to start 'going steady' but this isn't the way to deal with it, is it?" — Mrs. A

ANSWER: Maybe your husband felt shock and disappointment rather than anger at your daughter. He wants to share his vacation with her. Why not explain this wish to her?

If, in telling her his wish, he shows some respect for her wish to "go steady" with this boy, he may find her more respectful of his wish for her company on vacation.

I, too, think she's pretty young to start "going steady." But many youngsters of her age do so out of what child guidance authorities call their need for "security."

I don't think that's quite it.

We must remember that not too long ago it was parents who found husbands for their daughters. Because marriage was women's only future, parents started arranging marital opportunities for girls as soon as they reached mid-teens.

* * *

Mothers competed ruthlessly for invitations to balls where eligible males abounded. They paraded their daughters at resorts and bounded wealthy relatives for hospitality that might turn up a likely husband.

Daughters merely cooperated with all this parental flinagling, content to let mama and papa manage the matrimonial competition.

Today things are different. Girl children soon learn that getting married is their responsibility. This obligation makes for precocious sexual anxiety — and our custom of precocious dating is a development of it.

Today children of 13 want endorsement of their sexual desirability because, unlike the children of Jane Austen's day, this, instead of parents, is what they have to count on to get themselves husbands.

If this is hard on us, it's harder on them.

* * *

If we keep their problem in mind when our youngsters announce that they have entered into independent sexual competition, we may behave more reasonably and kindly than we otherwise would.

Summer Company Time

(NEA) — Summer is the one season of the year when, for many women, hospitality is revived on a full scale. Vacation time means that there's an opportunity to invite friends and relatives for a visit lasting anywhere from a weekend to a week or more.

In order to enjoy these visits, make your preparations in advance. The hostess who waits until the last moment to clean the bathroom, put out fresh towels and get the guest room in order is usually the one full of breathless apologies as her guests arrive. And somehow, from there on, nothing ever really gets organized.

Be thoughtful of your guests' comfort, just as you expect them to be considerate of you. Small sizes of cosmetics, toothpaste and other oddments are readily available at the five-and-dime. Be sure that you have them on hand.

Don't expect your guests to share a squeicky bar of the family soap. This isn't really an inviting prospect. Instead, put guest size cakes of soap out on the dressing table in your guest room.

* * *

A famous French perfume house has brought out a fine, hard-milled, long-lasting soap scented with its classic perfume. This soap comes in guest sizes, packaged in a modern black and white plastic box. There are eight bars to a box and the price, for luxury soap, is not high.

How You Sit Down Can Reveal a Lot

(NEA)—Learn to sit down gracefully. It can be one of the most attractive motions or one of the most awkward.

One way to give the impression that you're a lot older and stiffer than you actually are, is to sink heavily into a chair instead of lowering yourself gracefully on to the seat.

Case for Culottes

(NEA) — Culottes are big fashion for campus wear this fall. Some designers would like to see career girls wear them in cities too, but time will tell on that. The girls may and, then again, they may not.

Real Friends Truly Rare, but Are Loyal

By RUTH MILLETT

How many real friends do you have? That's easy to find out.

How many are there who would react to any good fortune that comes your way with pleasure untinged with envy or jealousy?

How many friends could you count on if you needed help that wasn't easy or convenient to give?

How many friends would feel that they could call on you if they needed that kind of help?

How many of your friends would stand up for you staunchly and firmly if you were being criticized by someone else?

* * *

How many of your friends feel close enough to you to tell you their troubles, knowing that anything they tell you in confidence will go no further?

How many of your friends would you trust with information you don't want spread around?

How many friends do you have that you feel free to be yourself with, not having to put up a false front or pretend to be what you aren't?

How many persons do you know that you are always glad to see and who always seem pleased to see you?

How many persons would be just as friendly toward you if you were reduced to a lower scale of living than you now enjoy?

How many friends do you accept "as is" instead of fretting over their faults or wishing you could change them?

* * *

See how easy it is to count your real friends?

Don't be discouraged if the number isn't as great as you supposed.

True friends don't grow on bushes.

That is why real friendships are worth nourishing through the years.

'Lions' Running Best in Three Seasons'—Wilson

"THE BLACKSMITH" — Big Walt Kowalczyk, who earned the nickname of "Running Blacksmith" while at Michigan State, has made the Detroit Lions happy with their running game thus far. Kowalczyk was obtained from the Eagles in a trade for Jerry Reichow and he has shown his college form in training camp. For two seasons he was hampered with a leg injury with the Eagles.

SPORTS

College Stars Plan Air Attack

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars tonight will try to make a daring, gambling game pay off against the Baltimore Colts, National Football League champions.

The 27th midsummer classic is expected to draw upwards of 70,000 customers to Soldier Field. It will be televised and broadcast over ABC starting at 9 p.m. CDT.

Facing a defense hinged by 288-pound Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb and 270-pound Art Donovan, Coach Otto Graham's squad of 47 college graduates undoubtedly will be thinking of an air offensive rather than a ground attack.

★ ★ ★

Quarterback Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, George Izo of Notre Dame and Pete Hall of Marquette may spray the atmosphere with more passes than ever before in the series.

★ ★ ★

There even could be more aerial action than in last year's 29-0 Colt triumph in which the collegians tried 41 tosses, completed 15 for 186 yards, and Baltimore catapulted 28 for 14 hits and 211 yards.

★ ★ ★

Despite the potential passing power of the All-Stars and a group of fine receivers, odds-makers have installed Baltimore about a 20-point favorite. Gail Cogdill of Washington State and Carroll Dale of Virginia Tech are regarded as two of the best pass-catching ends ever to make an All-Star roster.

★ ★ ★

But the All Stars must protect their passers from the huge Baltimore chargers if they hope to crank up an air barrage.

Flipping passes for the Colts will be the master, John Unitas, now tabbed as completely recovered from cellulitis, an infection that earlier this week spread from his nose to glands below his eyes and up to his forehead.

Unitas had a brief throwing drill Thursday night as the Colts worked out for a short time under the lights in Soldier Field.

"I feel fine," he said. "I responsed to treatments right away."

★ ★ ★

Some observers expect Ray Brown to see more action than Unitas, especially if Baltimore erupts for a substantial lead by halftime. The former Mississippi quarterback has been trained to fill in for Unitas as well as holding down the job as right safety in the defensive backfield.

★ ★ ★

Baltimore Coach Weeb Ewbank, an assistant to Paul Brown during Graham's years of glory with the Cleveland Browns, says that his Colts cannot afford to lose to the All-Stars.

★ ★ ★

"A defeat would embarrass the NFL and also might hurt the morale of our squad at a time we are aiming for our third straight championship," he said. "The boys are right at the mental peak I want them to be. We came to play, and to win."

★ ★ ★

Since Ewbank thus discards overconfidence, experts see little standing in the way of another impressive Colt victory.

Graham described his group as "probably the most quiet bunch of kids I've been around."

★ ★ ★

"I've seen other quiet groups explode when a game comes up," he added. "I hope this is that type. We could upset the Colts, or be defeated 50-0."

★ ★ ★

Graham's 1958 squad ripped the Detroit Lions 35-19 for the biggest All-Star scoring rampage in the series history. The pro champions have won 16 games and the All-Stars 8. Two games have been tied.

LIONS'-TO-BE — A pair of All-Star players who will put on Detroit Lions' uniforms after tonight's game in Chicago when the collegians meet Baltimore. End Gail Cogdill of Washington State takes a pass and he is tackled by Bruce Maher of the University of Detroit at the Stars' training camp in Evanston. They will be in Briggs Stadium when the Lions meet the Browns Saturday night.

Ninowski May Be at QB for 1st Exhibition

Former MSU, Browns' Signal Caller to Face Ex-Teammates

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

"Offensively, we are 25 per cent better with this running attack than any backfield we have had for the last three years."

This was Lions' coach George Wilson talking as he praised running of Terry Barr, Hopalong Cassady, Walt Kowalczyk and Nick Pietrosante.

The Lions prepare for their exhibition opener Saturday night against the Cleveland Browns in Briggs Stadium and the question right now is — who will be the starting quarterback — Earl Morrall or Jim Ninowski?

The guess at this time is Ninowski. Coach Wilson refused to make a direct choice but he hinted that the Lions play two home games in the next three weeks and one quarterback is a former Brown and the other is a former Steeler.

"It's a slight advantage to have a quarterback who knows the personnel and possibly some of the weaknesses of a ball club with which he played," said Wilson.

Thus he inferred that Ninowski, who was obtained this summer in a trade for Bob Long, would be the choice.

The former Pershing High School and Michigan State star has been impressive in drills and especially in last Sunday's exhibition game, when he guided the team to a touchdown before the heavy rains.

As for the running game, Wilson said, "John Henry Johnson did little to help us last year. Nick has a good year's experience under his belt, Kowalczyk runs harder than Johnson and Barr has been doing a great job since moved from defense."

★ ★ ★

"Barr had good speed for the quick opener, he is an exceptional pass receiver, fast on the outside and is a good open field runner," said Wilson.

"He along with Cassady, and the power of Pietrosante and Kowalczyk give us our best balanced running in many seasons."

★ ★ ★

Kowalczyk gave the Lion coaches a scare Thursday. In a dummy scrimmage rammed heads with guard Bob Grottkau and was temporarily out cold. He was revived and sat on the sidelines with an ice pack over his left eye.

Big Bob Scholtz, 6-foot-4 and 250 pound center from Notre Dame is a sure starter Saturday night. End Dave Rees who has been impressive as a pass receiver will also see plenty of action from the rookie crop.

In previous games with the Browns, the Lions have won 17 lost four and tied one in the series dating back to 1950.

★ ★ ★

A halftime show with musical entertainment, precision drills by marching units and a field-goal kicking contest has been planned for the game.

The Pontiac RaeVeens, state champion drill team, will entertain.

Jim Martin and Lou Groza will compete in a field goal contest. Game time is 8:15 p.m. and tickets are still available at the Lions' office on Michigan Avenue.

At least 22 returning lettermen, nearly all of last year's starting line, are expected here Aug. 31 at Central Michigan University's opening football practice. Pre-season drills start Sept. 1 in preparation for the Chippewa eleven's season opener against Western Michigan, Sept. 17.

★ ★ ★

Anna Mary Blaiotta of Detroit is one of two women drivers who will compete against more than 125 top mid-western and Canadian men drivers in the mid-summer trophy races Saturday and Sunday in Waterford. The competition will start at 10 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Forward Shellie McMillon, a Bradley University graduate with an 8.6 scoring average last year, Thursday became the 13th player to sign a Detroit Pistons 1960-61 national basketball league contract.

Edwin Wichard, 31, has resigned as head basketball coach of the Elkton-Pigeon High Schools to accept a similar position at Bloomfield Hills high school. Wichard, a Central Michigan graduate, coached his teams to 57 victories in 65 games.

David Trippett has resigned as an Albion junior high school instructor and assistant coach to become athletic director of Flint Dye High School. Trippett, who played football at Hillsdale College, will coach ftotball and track at Flint Dye.

Orioles' Power Responsible for Series' Sweep

Home Runs Account for All Their Tallies in Three Games

DETROIT (AP) — "Out of sight, out of mind."

That old adage is the best hope for the Detroit Tigers. They will be out of town for the next six games — giving the fans time to forget just how ineptly they have been performing.

Yesterday's loss to be the Baltimore Orioles, by a 6-1 count, made it four losses in a row, six in seven games, 10 in the last 13, 13 in the last 16, 16 in the last 19 and 18 in 24. Any way you look at it, a record that justifies the Tigers' sixth-place existence.

And even that is jeopardized, if the Boston Red Sox continue to show signs of life.

★ ★ ★

Going into tonight's action, the Tigers lead the Sox by only one-half game. Jim Bunning will try to stop the Tiger skid when he goes against Cleveland's Jim (Mudcat) Grant in Cleveland's Lakefront Stadium. It'll be the first managerial meeting between Jimmie Dykes of the Indians and Joe Gordon of the Tigers since they traded jobs last week.

It was Baltimore home run power — and solid pitching again — that buried the Detroiters.

In the three-game sweep, every Baltimore run was scored on a home run. Brooks Robinson accounted for all three Oriole runs in Tuesday night's victory with a home run.

Jackie Brandt, Dave Nicholson and Jim Gentile hit home runs Wednesday to drive in all four of Baltimore's runs.

Yesterday, Nicholson and Gentile repeated, and got help from Ron Hansen and Walter Dropo. Nicholson's came in the third with two on. The others were solo clouts. Three of them were hit against Don Mossi, who lasted only three innings in his first start in nine days.

Bob Bruce, Paul Foytack and Hank Aguirre could do nothing about the 5-0 deficit. A single by Chico Fernandez and a pinch double by Ozzie Virgil broke Jack Fisher's shutout in the seventh, but Gentile quickly got the run back. He hit one of Aguirre's slants into the upper deck in left field, and old timers couldn't recall the last time a left handed batter put a southpaw pitch that far.

The Tigers have had only three runs and 21 hits in their last four games. They are a groggy and uninspired club, reeling from a 9-19 record since the All-Star game break.

Dykes did not have the answers because there are no answers for a mediocre baseball team. Gordon doesn't have the answers either. Neither has president Bill DeWitt, but at least he has the power to order a wholesale shakeup — and the best bet now is that is what the ambitious DeWitt will do once the 1960 season is history.

Loss for Dykes is 5th in 6 Games With Tribe

(From Our Wire Services)

Cleveland manager Jimmy Dykes and Detroit manager Joe Gordon can cry on each other's shoulder.

Neither has enjoyed a rash of victories since changing their jobs.

Rip Repulski and Don Buddin each drove in two runs as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Indians, 5-2, and it was 5th loss in six games for Dykes. Gordon has seen the Tigers lose six in seven games.

The Red Sox rapped loser Jack Harshman and Don Newcombe for 10 hits including a homer by Repulski. Jim Piersall hit his 14th homer off winner Ike Delock.

Harmon Killebrew hit two home runs and accounted for all of the Washington runs in a 5-4 victory over Kansas City.

★ ★ ★

Killebrew's homers, his 16th and 17th, were his third and fourth in four days.

He hit his first round tripper in the first inning with Lennie Green and Reno Bertoia on base. Green had singled and Bertoia reached base when hit by a pitch.

★ ★ ★

Killebrew singled in the third, advanced on a single by Faye Throneberry and scored on a single by Jose Valdivielso.

The Senators closed out their scoring on Killebrew's second homer, a towering drive in the 7th inning.

★ ★ ★

Norm Siebern had three hits for Kansas City, including a double. Loser was Ray Herbert, now 7-12, and winner was Tex Clevenger, now 4-7.

California, Florida Skiers Take Honors in Nationals

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Older performers moved onstage today after Florida and California youngsters turned in doubles victories Thursday at the opening of the National Water Skiing championships.

★ ★ ★

Men's tricks were on tap for the morning program over the Lake of the Isles course and women's jumping was the afternoon lure.

Jeanette Brown, an 11-year-old eighth grader from Tampa, jumped 63 feet to better her own record by a foot and then went on to cop the junior girls' slalom title yesterday.

Gary Abben, 10, Sacramento, Calif., topped the junior boys' tricks with 1,490 points, then followed between 44 boys for the slalom crown. Runnerup in both events was Jerry Poore, Anderson, S. C.

★ ★ ★

Vicki Van Hook, Long Beach, Calif., a world champion at 15, racked up 2,245 points in the girls' tricks to start her path toward a repeat title in over-all competition in the 13-16 age bracket.

★

Runnerup was Janelle Kirtley, Birmingham, Ala., and third place went to Colleen Dodge, Sacramento.

★ ★ ★

It took four runoffs between the 21 entries before David Holm, West Palm Beach, Fla., brought home the boys' slalom wreath, with Larry Penacho, San Diego, Calif., second and Joker Osborn, Cypress Gardens, Fla., in third position.

★ ★ ★

A Michigan entry Lynn Vermeulen, Jackson, Mich., finished sixth in boys' slalom.

Vermeulen made 52 consecutive buoys and was awarded 626 points.

Time Running Out on Trial for Speed Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—New mechanical trouble upset the careful preparations of Dr. Nathan Ostich Thursday, as time began running out on his attempt to drive 500 miles per hour.

★ ★ ★

The jet bomber engine which powers his "Flying Caduceus" refused to fire, after mechanics had spent most of the day remedying other flaws in the car.

Ostich has the course reserved only until Saturday.

★ ★ ★

He will need at least four runs Friday in order to try for the 500 mark Saturday.

Jets Nip CIO in Class 'A'

In the class A City playoffs last night, the Jets scored a 5-4 victory over CIO by scoring all their runs in the first two innings.

CIO scored in the top of the first on a double by Bud Hayward and a single by Chester Woodmore.

★ ★ ★

In the second inning a single by John Shawka, a wild pitch, sacrifice and a couple errors along with a walk produced two more runs.

★ ★ ★

CIO got one in the 5th and two in the 6th. Each team committed four errors and Larry Demric was the winner.

Three golf teams representing Pontiac Motor, GMC and Fisher Body will take part in the 15th annual Mid-West Industrial Golf Championships to be held Aug. 20-21 at Pontiac Country Club and Morey's Golf Club.

The tournament, which annually had over 500 golfers from more than 125 Midwest Industrial teams, is being hosted this year by Ford Motor Company.

Qualifying was held to determine the members of the Pontiac Motor team which include Ed Wasik, Don Brusko, Joe Gaines and Jim Hanes along with alternate Stan Savage.

The GMC team is made up of the low average golfers in the plant's league competition. Hilton Stults with 78 average, George Olson with 78 average, Walt Latozas with 76 and Meri Galbreath with 76 make up the squad.

The Fisher Body team will be made up of Jack Ross, Joe Petroff, Bill Pittman and Jim Anderson with Harley Hyatt as alternate.

In the Pontiac Motor qualifying, there were 846 golfers vying for the four positions and alternate.

The Klingler League of Pontiac Motor is also entering a team which will be made up of Red Fluder, Babe Wideman, Walter, Vidland and alternate Jim Cumberworth.

Eighteen holes will be played at each course both Saturday the 20th and Sunday the 21st. A banquet will follow.

Low team total will decide the winner of the W. W. Sebald trophy which was won last year by Wright Patterson Air Force base at Dayton, Ohio.

First place teams in three different divisions will also receive trophies as well as medalists in various divisions.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "Weak and wild iron shots."

DIAGNOSIS: Trying to scoop the ball up.

TREATMENT: Down and through is the hitting pattern for iron shots. The loft of the clubface will take care of getting the ball up in the air, so there is absolutely no necessity for any scooping motion with the hands.

When you line up to hit an iron shot, get this down and through pattern firmly in mind. Think of the clubhead coming down onto the ball and going straight through the ball to take out a piece of turf just AHEAD of the ball. Many golfers seem to think the turf should be taken under the ball.

The proper swing finds the hands ahead of the clubhead when the ball is hit. Otherwise, it is futile to hope for a powerful and accurate shot.

An hour or so on the practice tee concentrating on this point will do wonders for your iron game.

HITTING PITCHER — Jerry Pointer, pitcher on the Pontiac Business Institute baseball team, was the winning pitcher as his team trounced Griff's Grill, 22-2, and he also connected for a hit to drive in two runs. The PBI team moves into the finals of the playoffs against Talbott, Monday at Jaycee field.

No Drives, Chips Just Putt-Putt

Take away the driving and the chipping in golf and all that's left in the game is the putt.

That's all there is to do in the new game called Putt Putt which is sweeping the country with 250 courses from coast to coast.

To top it off anyone can become a member of the Putt-Putt Professional Golf Association, enter tournaments, win mony, get a handicap and play the tour just like the pros on the circuit.

The PPPGA now has over 200 members since its founding last summer and the big event now is the PPPGA Open which is a match play tournament held on two Putt-Putt courses with the winner at each engaging in a 36-hole playoff.

The Pontiac area has two Putt-Putt courses and a bid is being made to host the PPPGA Open in the near future.

★ ★ ★

The course on Dixie Highway, under the supervision of Stuart Bloch, holds a 54 hole medal tourney each week on Thursday night, while the course on Telegraph conducts its weekly tourney each Wednesday.

Bloch, a 1960 graduate of Berkley High School, is only 17 years old. He is a 2 handicap golfer and he was one of the youngest players ever to qualify for a district junior championship at the age of 13.

He has gone to a Putt Putt school and will go to Fort Lauderdale in two weeks to assist in building a course there.

★ ★ ★

The Putt Putt golf course was established in 1954 by Don Clayton of Fayettesville, North Carolina now the PPPGA president.

During 1960, total prize money for 14 tournaments is over $30,000.

Players compete in local tournaments and continue on to tourneys in cities across the country. The organization even puts out a newsletter which lists the top money winners on the circuit.

The first tournament this year was the Dallas PPPGA Open with a purse of $2,000. The national tournament held July 4th in Atlanta, Ga., had a purse of $5,000 and winner of the first prize of $2,000 was Neil Connor of Greenville, S. C.

★ ★ ★

Next year the prize money has been hiked to $50,000 for the PPPGA circuit and Block is aiming for a national tournament in the Pontiac area.

The fact remains, Putt-Putt is no longer a pastime. Competition is keen and one club — the putter — could mean $$$$.

On August 21st starting at 1:00 p.m. the Dixie course will hold the Suburban Open, a match play tournament with first place earning a $100 bond and runnerup a $50 bond.

★ ★ ★

In class D at Jaycee field, Powell Trucking shutout Lake Orion, 2-0 with Bob Porritt allowing two hits and striking out 14 batters.

Nicklaus Puts U. S. Back Into Americas Cup Lead

OTTAWA (AP) — Young Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Amateur champion, pulled his game together in the singles event Thursday to lead the United States back into the running for the Americas Cup at the halfway point of the international amateur golf competition with Canada and Mexico.

The United States, in third place with only a single point after the morning alternate-ball sixsome event, rallied in the afternoon by winning eight singles matches, tying three and losing one to take over second place with 10½ points, a half point behind Canada. Mexico dropped to last place with 5½ points.

★ ★ ★

The star-packed U.S. team was jolted in the alternate-ball competition when it was able to win only one match—a 4 and 3 triumph by Bud Taylor of Pomona, Calif. and Big Ten champion John Konsek of Purdue and Buffalo, N.Y., over Mexico's Robert Halpern and Tomas Lehmann.

Nicklaus, from Columbus, Ohio, and Deane Beman, 1959 British Amateur champion from Silver Spring, Md., lost two matches. They fell before Canada's Johnny Johnston and Ron Willey and Mexico's Rafael Quiroz and Mauricio Urdanette, both 1-up.

But it was a different story in the afternoon as the United States took command of the singles. Nicklaus and Taylor each won two matches to set the pace. Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, Beman and Konsek came through with one victory and one tie each. Former U.S. Amateur champion Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City won one match but dropped a 4 and 3 decision to Gary Cowan of Canada for the lone U.S. setback in the singles.

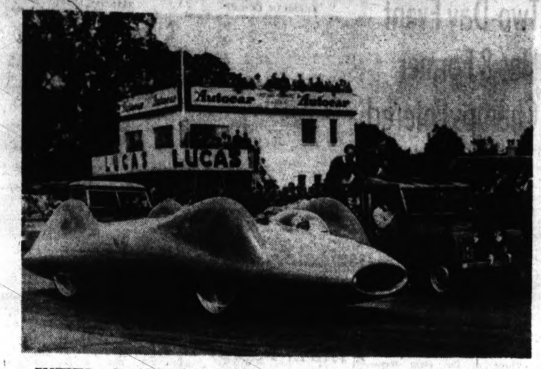
North-South County All-Stars Plan 'Spy Flights'



BLUEBIRD — Donald Campbell is seen here testing his 4.5 million dollar "Bluebird" car designed to go 500 m.p.h. with which he plans to break the existing world land speed record at Bonneville (Utah) Salt Flats this September. Campbell's car was thoroughly tested by both electronic means and personal driving. Campbell reports he is "terribly pleased with the performance and is eager for the U. S. run."

4.5 Million Dollar Car Aims at 400 MPH

"Bluebird" After World Speed Mark

NEW YORK — The "Bluebird", Donald Campbell's 4.5 million dollar jet-turbine powered car, will arrive in New York Aug. 17 aboard the S. S. American Ranger, enroute to the Bonneville (Utah) Salt Flats for an attempt at the world land speed record about Sept. 12, Campbell's New York office announced today.

The 30-foot "Bluebird" will be available for one day at the dock for press inspection and then will be transported by trailer truck to Utah, arriving there not later than Aug. 28.

Early in June the "Bluebird" was given preliminary road tests by Campbell at Goodwood Motor Circuit, Sussex, England. One of the main purposes of the tests was to devise and practice the pit procedure for the "turn around" during the test run.

To beat the present record of 394.196 m.p.h. set in 1947 at Bonneville by the late Sir John Cobb, the "Bluebird" must average more than 400 m.p.h. over a measured mile, once in each direction, completing both runs within one hour.

Working within this tight time limitation, at the end of the first run the pit crew must refuel, change oil, change wheels and tires and cool the brakes.

* * *

The jet turbine engine drives all four wheels. Under international rules for an official land speed record both power and steering must be transmitted through at least two wheels.

Donald Campbell now holds the world water speed record which he broke six times in five years — the present record being 288.55 m.p.h. which he set on Coniston Water, England, May 14, 1960.

The name "Bluebird" was made famous by Campbell's father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell who named his car the "Bluebird" in 1911 when he broke the world land speed record in a 19.5 litre Darracq at Brooklands, England. Subsequently, he broke nine world land speed records in a succession of "Bluebirds," being the first man to put the mark above 300 m.p.h.

* * *

The new "Bluebird" took five years to design and build. It was created, and backed by 75 British companies at a cost estimated conservatively in excess of 4.5 million dollars. The overall length is 30 ft., the width is 8 ft., the overall height is 4 ft. 9 in. and it weighs four tons.

The engine is a Bristol-Siddeley "Proteus," free turbine, modified to drive all four wheels, which develops 4250 brake horse power. Brakes consist of two systems — air brakes to slow the car from peak speed to 400 m.p.h. and disc brakes on all four wheels to bring it to a halt. The disc brakes will bring the "Bluebird" from 400 m.p.h. to a halt in 60 seconds.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON "BLUEBIRD"

Length overall: 30 ft.
Width overall: 8 ft.
Height overall: 4 ft. 9 in.
Wheel base: 12 ft. 6 in.
Track: 8 ft. 6 in.
Weight: 4 tons.
Ground clearance: 6 in.
Designed by: Norris Brothers Ltd.
Built by: Motor Panels (Coventry) Ltd.
Frame: The main frame of the Bluebird is formed from an aluminum honeycomb type cell structure sandwiched between two aluminum skins. The advantage of this structure are its extreme rigidity and its strength to weight ratio.
Power unit: Single Bristol-Siddeley Proteus 705 developing 4,250 b.h.p. which has been modified by the addition of a drive shaft at the rear which with the front drive shaft enables power to be transmitted to all four wheels—giving four wheel drive.
Brakes: Consists of two sets namely air braked—(Lipe) and disc brakes. To decelerate from top speed down to 400 m.p.h. The air flaps are operated by an air hydraulic system from each side of the rear of the vehicle. The disc brakes produced by Girlings, are a development from aircraft design and are actuated by compressed air at 350 lbs. per sq. in. These brakes bring the car from 400 m.p.h. to halt in 70 secs. The energy dissipated in halting the vehicle is 75,000,000 ft. lb.
Fuel: B. P. Avtur, 25 gals. capacity.

Full Scrimmage Plans for Both Teams Saturday

Hart Lists 3 Backfield Units for Squad From Upper Oakland

Coaches of the Oakland County North-South All-Star game being held one week from today, Aug. 19th, are planning a couple of "spy flights" tomorrow when the respective squads go through full scale scrimmages.

Coach Lou Creekmur said he'll have someone watching the North team when it scrimmages at 9:30 a.m. Saturday morning at Wisner Field.

Likewise Leon Hart plans to send a spy over to Pierce Field in Waterford at 1:00 p.m. when the South County gridders bump heads.

Hart has set up three backfields for the North team, known as the "Moose backfield," the "Thunder backfield" and the "Lightning backfield."

The "Moose" are the top heavy backs on the team, made up of Doug Stott of Oxford, Reggie Dixon of Rochester and Sam Reeve of Birmingham.

* * *

The "Thunder" men include Bob Christian of Walled Lake, Chuck Graves of Pontiac Northern and George Forrest of Birmingham who play both halfback and quarterback.

"Lightning" backs include Gene Schuett of Milford, Isaac Jones of Pontiac Central and either Bob Hocking of Northern or Alan Howse of PCH.

Howse is also being used as an end. Dick Smith, Avondale quarterback will get the call as deep safety man and Christian will see double duty as the corner man on defense.

* * *

The quarterback duties are still a toss-up but it appears that Denis Alex of West Bloomfield may get the starting role, followed by Gary Bryce of Waterford and Bob Porritt of Clarkston.

The North team is deeper by position than the South, but the lower county stars take the weight advantage on the line and have a better passing attack with quarterback Ron Bishop of Shrine heaving to John Meadows of Dondero and Bob LaZotte of Dondero.

Harold Choate of South Lyon has given the South running power and little Paul Mullen of Ferndale St. James has shown lightning speed in quick openers.

* * *

The game will be played next Friday night starting at 8:00 p.m. in Wisner Stadium. There is a limited supply of reserved seat tickets available, but there are still plenty of general admission ducats, which will be available at the gates.

Steelers Get Back From San Francisco

CALIFORNIA, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers Thursday received halfback Bobby Joe Green from the San Francisco 49ers in exchange for a future draft choice.

* * *

* * *

The Steelers will leave Friday morning for New Orleans where they will play Green Bay in an exhibition game Saturday night.

Olympic Flame Begins Marathon Trip to Rome

OLYMPIA, Greece (AP) — By a magnifying glass in front of the rays of the sun, amid ancient memories, the Olympic flame for the 1960 Games was lighted today and sent on its way to Rome.

* * *

The ceremony at this site of the ancient Greek Games provides and link between the original sports festival and the mammoth Games opening in Rome Aug. 25.

A Greek woman, dressed in the robes of an ancient priestess, held a magnifying glass in front of a torch to light it.

Runners then set out to carry the flame to Athens.

* * *

The distance to Athens is 340 kilometers (214 miles), and 340 torch bearers are waiting at each kilometer marker for the flame in the marathon relay.

At several places, local ceremonies will be held.

* * *

The last runner is due to arrive Saturday night at Athens' Panathenian Stadium, site of the first modern Olympic Games in 1896.

On his way, he will pass by the floodlit Acropolis, the fortress heights of ancient Athens. As he passes, the lights will go off.

* * *

They will go on again just as he lights the flame of a sacred altar in the darkened stadium.

Crown Prince Constantine, president of the Greek Olympic Committee, will conduct the ceremony.

He will light another torch from the sacred altar, and runners will carry it to the port of Piraeus on the edge of Athens.

* * *

There, Pietro Oneglo, vice chairman of the Italian Olympic Committee, will take the torch aboard the three-masted sailing ship, Amerigo Vespucci, a training vessel for Italian midshipmen.

* * *

On Aug. 18, the Amerigo Vespucci will dock at Syracuse, Sicily, and the torch will be taken ashore.

Runners will immediately leave the city on the east coast of Sicily and head north to Rome, 1,532 kilometers (950 miles away).

* * *

The flame will reach Rome Aug. 24. It will be kept over night at the ancient city hall, and then on Aug. 25 will be carried into Rome's Olympic Stadium for the ceremony opening the games.

Avon League Lead Knotted Three Ways

Last night's victory, 6-4, for United Presbyterian, pushed Lake Orion RLDS previously leading Avondale Church Softball League into a 3-way tie for the top spot. Presbyterians had been tieu for 2nd with Rochester's St. Paul ME.

* * *

St. Paul also won, a 5-0 shutout for John Lovelace, over Pontiac RLDS. St. Paul thus became the third to share the tie. All three have 9-2 records. Lovelace fired a one-hitter, with losing hurler Compton Hallock getting the only hit. Lovelace fanned 11 in the six-inning tilt. Two runs in the opener were enough to win.

Lake Orion and St. Paul meet Monday and the game will cut the tie to two teams.

36 Holes Scheduled for 32-Man Field at Municipal

The par 34-35—69 layout at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course will be put to good test this weekend as 32 golfers battle through 36 holes for the annual City Medal Play title.

Buzz Weaver, Bob Martin and Tom Thum will be the first of eight groups of three starting out at 12 noon.

Three of the eight former champions entered and Bob Hausman will make up the only foursome. Last year's winner, Mike Andonian, Butler Cooper and Rothbarth will tee off with Hausman as the last starters at 12:54 p.m.

Hausman was low qualifying medalist last week for the second straight year with 68.

Sunday's pairing will be determined by the Saturday scores with the low men starting late.

The Saturday pairings:

12 Noon—Weaver, Martin and Thum.
12:06—Sam Coleman, Al Emaler and Chuck Canterbury.
12:12—Jay Wright, Cliff Inman, Andy Lindsay and Dick Robertson.

12:48—Avery Burton, Paul Beda and Ed Wells.
12:54—Andonian, Hausman, Cooper, Rothbarth.

The record for the PGA Championship driving contest is 328 yards. Harold Williams of Tuscaloosa, Ala., set it at Louisville, Ky., in 1952. Ed Oliver, Fred Bolton and Cary Middlecoff all topped 324 yards in the same contest.

Baseball Team Makes 1st Road Trip in Years

Coaching Staff Consists of Warden and 5 Prison Policemen

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP)—The Stillwater Staal Sox, state prison baseball team, Sunday will play their first game away from home in 43 years.

Accompanied by a seasoned coaching staff of one associate warden and five prison policemen, the Sox will make a 40-mile trip to Anoka, Minn., for a semifinal game in the Friendly Valley League playoffs.

"They're a real hustling outfit and we thought they earned the trip," said Warden Douglas Rigg.

The Sox agreed when they joined the amateur league in 1957 that all of their games would be played at home.

That's because it takes so much time and money to transport a prison team," Rigg explained.

Musial Cuts Pirates' Lead With 12th Inning Homer, 3-2

By The Associated Press

Here's a warning to other National League clubs: When playing the St. Louis Cardinals don't go into extra innings. The old man in left field is liable to get tired standing around and blast one so he can go home.

The Old Man is Stan Musial. He's only 39, but that's antique as ball players go. Most of them don't even go at 39.

The personable fellow blasted one Thursday night when the Pittsburgh Pirates persisted in prolonging the game. In the 12th inning Stan the Man smacked a Bob Friend pitch into the stands with a man on base to give the Cards a 3-2 decision and cut Pittsburgh's lead to four games. He had a pair of doubles earlier.

* * *

Oddly enough most fans don't think of Musial as a home run hitter. They think of him as a line drive hitter — singles, and doubles, and triples.

Yet he has a career total of 434 round trippers. He hit five in a double header one May day in 1954 against the then New York Giants. He won the 1955 All-Star Game for the National League with a home run in the 12th inning. In the second All-Star Game this year he was sent up as a pinch hitter, and thinking something was expected of him he put the ball into the upper deck in right field at Yankee Stadium.

He's been winning a lot of games lately for a man who earlier in the year was benched so new talent would have a chance. Almost daily he adds to his career total of 3,369 hits, and he times his blows nicely.

Maybe it was shifting him to the outfield from first base that was the tonic. It also permitted Manager Solly Hemus to rearrange his lineup to get maximum power.

* * *

Musial's home run broke up a stirring pitching battle between Pittsburgh's Bob Friend (12-9) and the Cards' Ernie Broglio (14-5). Each went the distance, Broglio allowing eight hits and Friend 7.

The Bucs made a valiant effort to prolong their seven-game winning streak. They scored once in the bottom of the 12th on Bill Virdon's single and Rocky Nelson's double, but that wasn't quite enough.

It was the Cards' fifth straight victory and their 30th in their last 41 games.

Sandy Koufax was the whole show as the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Cincinnati Reds, 3-0. Koufax, who seven times this year has fanned more than 10 batters, struck out 13 and allowed only two hits.

* * *

The two hits came in the first and second innings, respectively, and after that not a Red reached first until pinch hitter Willie Jones walked. Oddly enough, Koufax hadn't defeated the Reds since, 1958, and had lost five games to them until Thursday night.

* * *

The San Francisco Giants eked out an 8-7 victory over Milwaukee, the defeat dropping the Braves to fourth place.

Taking a five-run lead in the first two innings, the Giants saw the Braves nibble away on it until it dwindled to the one run. The Braves loaded the bases with two down in the ninth, but Johnny Antonelli got Bill Bruton to ground out to end the game.

* * *

Billy O'Dell got credit for the victory, his sixth, but had to have help from Antonelli in the eighth when the Braves scored twice.

The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies were idle.

I-L Crown to Griff's

Langdon's 'D' Champion

Langdon's Boat Livery became the third city softball team to win a playoff championship despite an early defeat last night when the underdogs defeated Blue Star Drive-In twice for Class D honors.

* * *

The twin sweep made Langdon's Pontiac's final representative in state play. The "D" district starts here Aug. 18.

* * *

A title was also decided Thursday night in the International League upper bracket as Griff's Grill whipped Buettner's Cleaners, 13-6.

Despite an opening round triumph over Langdon's, Blue Star was no match for the boat team when the chips were down bowing 8-3 and 10-0. Quick six-run leads wrapped up both decisions early.

* * *

Jim Batchelor was the batting star of the doubleheader with two doubles and three singles among 22 hits. Bill Ligon, Ken Armstrong, Don Gibbs and Jerry Langdon had three apiece.

Dwight Butler pitched the shutout allowing four hits in a five-inning affair. Bruce Welch won the other with relief help. Dick Cork had a homer for Blue Star.

Griff's took complete command after trailing 5-2 early paced by Ted Wharry with a two-run homer and two singles. Marv Holler added a home run and one-baser in support of pitcher Jerry Rantin.

Langdon's reached the Class D title game as did Buettners Cleaners in the IL upper bracket with victories. Langdon's scored two in the 7th to squeak by Herbs, 5-4. Buettners broke up a tight battle with five in the 8th, tripping C Battery 8-3.

HAPPY CARDS — St. Louis veteran Stan Musial (right) and pitcher Ernie Broglio were a couple of happy players in the dressing room at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh after the Cards defeated the Pirates, 3-2, in 12 innings last night to gain a game in the National League Race. Musial hits two doubles and a two-run homer in the 12th to win it.

Chargers Win With Kemp Leading Way

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterback Jack Kemp Thursday night led the Los Angeles Chargers to a 22-13 victory over the Houston Oilers.

* * *

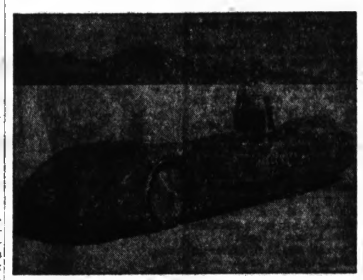
The American Football League exhibition drew a paltry crowd of 11,491 in the Coliseum.

Although his passes didn't figure directly in the scoring, Kemp completed 19 of 26 throws for 261 yards. He also executed several fine runs. But he made two erratic throws and Houston turned both into touchdowns.

* * *

Bob Reifsnyder, the former Navy star, booted three field goals for the Chargers, one for 42 yards.

Jim (Jetstream) Smith took a pitchout from Kemp and went 30 yards for the first Los Angeles touchdown in the opening period. The Chargers got another touchdown in the fourth on a 1-yard plunge by Howie Ferguson.



HIGH SPEED — Driver Mickey Thompson will again go after the world land speed record in his sleek, four engine powered "Challenger 1," at Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah. He hopes to exceed 400 m.p.h.

Racer Pontiac-Powered

Thompson Aims for Mark

LOS ANGELES — A young American will be fighting time and possible death in an attempt to break the world land speed record this month before an Englishman can make his bid next month.

Mickey Thompson, 32, Los Angeles, will take his Pontiac-powered "Challenger I" to Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, on Saturday for his try. He wants to exceed 400 miles per hour before Donald Campbell of England arrives for his run on September 12.

Athol Graham, Salt Lake, was killed earlier this month during his record attempt on the Flats when he lost control going 300 mph.

Last year, Thompson reached a top speed of 367 mph, but this was way short of the 394 record set by John Cobb in 1947.

* * *

Thompson has installed superchargers on the four Pontiac engines that push his 20-foot streamliner, and with the power supplied by a special blend of Mobil racing fuel his overall horsepower will be increased from 2000 to 3000.

Thompson insists that all parts and supplies used in his car be American-made. Goodyear has designed and made his tires, which must withstand tremendous centrifugal force. Mobil has developed the fuel that will give the extreme acceleration required to hit 400 mph, then power the car through the 1-mile timing traps.

Campbell's car is 30 feet long and is powered by a gas turbine engine capable of 4100 horsepower.

Gail Harris? Sure You Must Remember Him

By United Press International

Three pitchers — two of them to St. Paul first baseman Gail Harris — cost Dallas-Fort Worth an American Association game last night.

* * *

Harris, former Detroit Tiger, homered twice for six runs. With the bases loaded in the 10th, saints catcher Rene Friol sent reliever Bob Giggie's first pitch out of the park for four more. When it was all over, St. Paul won, 10-6.

* * *

At Charleston, the Senators lost their 16th straight to Minneapolis, 2-1. Louisville trimmed front-running Denver, 4-2, and Indianapolis put together a single, an error and a double in the 11th inning for a 4-3 decision over visiting Houston.

"Any Deer" Season Opinions Split

HIGGINS LAKE (UPI) — Opinions on proposed "any deer" season regulations were almost evenly split yesterday at the conservation commission's informal meeting here.

The commission met in a special session last night to discuss the pros and cons of the conservation department's recommendations in light of the arguments presented. A decision on the recommendations was due at the commission's formal meeting today.

Three state representatives were among those who lined up on either side of the proposed season.

Rep. Walter Nakkula (R-Gladwin), who was a loud critic of the department during the legislative session, commended the department for recommending a cutback in the kill from the number harvested last year.

But he said it was "just a drop in the bucket" and the entire season should be scrapped. Nakkula said his constituents in Arenac, Gladwin, Missaukee and Roscommom counties were not in favor of continuing the "any deer" season.

* * *

Nakkula was joined in his opposition of the proposed "any deer" season by Harold Bigford, Grand Rapids president of the greater Michigan Conservation League; Tom Buzzo of the Lake County board of supervisors; Tom Carnahan of the Lake County Conservation club, and Milford Mellon, Bitely, president of the Michigan Townships Assn.

Carnahan termed the season a "slaughter of does and fawns" in his speech before the commission. He said Buzzo said there was little cause to allow the season in Lake County. Buzzo asked the commission to order a two-year moratorium on the season in Lake County.

Bigford said his organization recommended that control of the deer herd be made by "any deer" seasons only after the deer range in Michigan is properly built up.

Two state representatives sided with the department's recommendations.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski Democratic floor leader from Detroit, commended the department for doing an excellent job in deer management. He was supported in his approval of the department's work by Rep. Hans C. Rasmussen (R-Ludington), chairman of the House Conservation Committee.

All took part with the Pontiac team which finished eighth last weekend in the Michigan Recreation Association tournament at Detroit.

Waterford Wins to Eagles, Dobski's

The Waterford National League softball playoffs finally got rolling last night following three postponements with the Eagles and Dobski's Bar victorious.

Scoring in every inning, the Eagles slammed the Lakers 11-6. Dobski's rallied to tie in the 2nd and took charge in the 3rd on the way to tripping Hobby Painting, 9-3. Winner Ken Golt had two hits.

The Eagles and Dobski's tangle tonight at 8:30 following a 7 p.m. game matching the Arrows and Big Jim's Drive-In.

Bosox Celebrate Ted's Historic Home Run Clouts

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Boston Red Sox broke training Thursday night as 6 twice with the press was declared champaga was served aboard the flight carrying the Sox party from Cleveland to Baltimore.

The host? Ted Williams.

The occasion was the celebration of the 41-year-old slugger's historic 512th and 513th home runs Wednesday night which moved him past Mel Ott into third place among the all-time home run hitters.

Hostesses aboard the flight served the refreshments after a meal on the airliner, Boston traveling secretary Tom Dowd announced the party was on Williams.

A toast was offered and a rousing cheer giving old No. 9 who says this definitely is his final season as a player.

Fred Haas Jr. is the only golfer to represent the United States in international team competition with Great Britain both as an amateur and as a professional. He was a member of the Walker Cup team in 1938 and a member of the Ryder Cup team in 1953.

Education Board Authorizes Application

Waterford School Borrowing Okayed

Application for a $375,000 loan to continue operations until state aid arrives was authorized by the Waterford Township Board of Education Thursday night.

Since local taxes will not be collected until January and state aid, an expected $250,000, or about 75 per cent of the first installment, will not arrive until November, School Supt. William A. Shunck told the Board that the loan was necessary to carry on operations.

The school system will pay approximately $500,000 in back loans today, it was announced. Total state aid, arriving in six installments, amounts to about $2 million.

In other business, the Board awarded paving and curbing contracts at Kettering High School to the Ann Arbor Construction Co. and J. A. Fredman Co. for a total of $55,758.

Kettering architect, George D. Mason and Co. of Detroit announced that the changeover from concrete to asphalt paving will put present high school construction costs $58,000 under the building budget.

Three bids, ranging from $9,702 to $7,393, were received by the Board for storm drain construction at Henry R. Schoolcraft Elementary School.

Bids for the drain contract by Gay Brothers Construction, Inc., Northwest Contractors, Inc., and S & S Excavating, Inc. were referred back to the Johnson and Anderson engineering firm for further study.

An answer was made to Lake Oakland Heights Park Association parents concerned over the alleged danger their children must face in walking to newly completed David Grayson elementary school. The Board authorized its attorney "to see what steps can be taken for condemnation and purchase of property for a sidewalk along Walton boulevard from the western boundary of the subdivision to Dill road."

Subdivision spokesman Donald W. Porter of 3736 Mariner St. told the Board that the 400 children the area expects to send to the new school would be in extreme danger if forced to walk along heavily traveled Walton boulevard.

The Board also approved a recommendation that the 1960-61 school accident program be given to the Old Security Life Insurance Co.

The Board also approved the new Carl Sandburg Elementary School attendance area as presented by Shunck.

Portions of Covert and Leggett school attendance areas have been incorporated into the attendance zone for Sandburg school.

Ikes' Helicopter Lands on Field Near Camp David

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—A helicopter carrying President Eisenhower to his Camp David retreat for the weekend landed today on a baseball field in this little community near the camp.

Cloudy weather prevented Eisenhower from making a planned landing at Camp David. The President was met by a car and taken on to the Catoctin Mountain retreat.

Local Amvets Sell White Clovers Today

Amvets in Pontiac are selling white clover, their memorial flower, on downtown streets today and tomorrow to raise money for veterans welfare and rehabilitation projects.

The white clover was chosen by the World War II and Korean conflict veterans organization as their official flower because it grew profusely on the shores of France when Allied troops landed in Normandy in the invasion of a Nazi-held Europe.

Tar Jumps Overboard Into History

PT. MUGU, Calif. (AP) — Boson's Mate 3.C. Robert W. Carroll, 22, took a deep breath—and jumped feet first into history.

Bobbing in the ocean twenty feet below him was the capsule of the Discoverer XIII satellite. Bright orange against the yellow-green dye marker it released when its plunge from space ended in the Pacific.

In went Carroll, wearing trunks, swimfins and an inflatable life jacket. The helicopter he jumped from dropped a line. He attached it to the 300-pound capsule, a winch whirred, and history was made.

Carroll, a Navy frogman Keene, N.H., became the first man to touch an object recovered from orbit.

The helicopter rushed the capsule to the satellite-recovery ship Haiti Victory, where it was crated and returned to Honolulu.

Twining May Quit JCs Chairmanship

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Gen. Nathan F. Twining have discussed Twining's retirement as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff but no date for his retirement has yet been set, the White House said Thursday.

Twining's current term as the nation's top military officer is not due to expire until Aug. 15, 1961.

However, he has been having health troubles. The 62-year-old Air Force general underwent surgery last year for removal of a lung cancer.

Under the practice of rotating the joint chiefs chairmanship among the services, Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, top Army officer, would be in line for the post if Twining gave it up.

St. Clair-Erie Sailors Match Yacht Skills

DETROIT (UPI) — Lake St. Clair sailors will match their skills against Lake Erie sailors tomorrow in the Ford Yacht Club's annual regatta off Grosse Ile.

About 50 crews are expected to race from the southern tip of Hickory Island to the Detroit River light, to Milleville Beach and back to Hickory Island.

The sailors will return to Lake St. Clair Sunday to get ready for the 15th annual National Thistle Class championship which will be held for four days starting Tuesday.

Congress Expects Long 'Short' Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politics and the holidays may keep the current post-convention meeting of Congress in session well into September.

While Labor Day—Sept. 5—is the adjournment target date set publicly by congressional leaders, their private estimates aren't as optimistic.

★ ★ ★

One thing is reasonably certain: If Congress doesn't adjourn by Labor Day, it could be in session a long time after that.

The Senate convened last Monday to start work on a backlog of measures left unfinished in July. The House won't convene until next Monday, but its members have been told they can stay away until Aug. 22 because there is no business on tap in the House for next week.

BIG JOB, SHORT JOB

That leaves two weeks—if the Labor Day target is to be hit—in which Congress will have to dispose of a docket it couldn't complete in almost six months of pre-convention sessions.

Home members straggling back for next week's opening are basing their adjournment plans on mid-September or early October.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, Democratic whip, said he doubted that Congress would adjourn before the middle of September.

Another top Democrat, who wouldn't permit identification because he publicly has been boosting the Labor Day adjournment date, said privately he would settle for Oct. 1.

"There is just too much work to be done," he said. "The little things can be handled in a hurry. It's the big things, like school housing, medical aid, and farm legislation, that could slow us down."

To Start Sault Bridge —Financing Okayed

LANSING (AP) — The long-dreamed-of international bridge linking the Sault Ste. Maries in Michigan and Ontario has taken a long step toward reality — in fact it's practically all over but the construction.

The State Administrative Board gave final approval to a resolution for financing and construction of the $20 million two-and-three-quarter-mile long bridge at a special meeting Thursday.

Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held Sept. 15, said Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, former mayor of Sault Ste. Marie and one of the leaders in the push to get the bridge out of the dream stage.

Soviets Picture Drunks When at Their Worst

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet technique to reform alcoholics—photograph them when they look their most ghastly — was described at the U.N. Congress on the Prevention of Crime today by L. N. Smirnov, deputy chairman of the Soviet Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

Many youths have volunteered to photograph drunken men, and the next day the offenders and their families are shown the evidence of their misbehavior, Smirnov said. Some photographers go around in patrols.

Roy Campanella and Wife Differ on Their Separation

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Crippled Roy Campanella, his face choked with emotion, today explained the crackup of his 13-year marriage.

"She wants to get rid of me," he said bitterly, as his partially paralyzed fingers tried vainly to grip the sides of his wheel chair.

"She told me I'm of no use to her any longer. She complained that she was tied down to me. So I'm letting her go. She's free to go and do as she pleases."

* * *

Roy's attractive 38-year-old wife, Ruthe, her face clearly showing the shock of her husband's separation suit filed last week, tearfully protested the accusation she had tired of the former star catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"I tried very hard to keep the marriage from falling apart," she said. "I've learned to adjust myself every since Campy returned from the hospital over a year ago. The trouble with Roy is he has not learned to adjust himself."

IN SEPARATE

Husband and wife still live under the same roof in their spacious ranch home, overlooking Long Island sound but occupy separate quarters. Three of their four children, of whom Campanella seeks custody, live with their parents. The other, 17-year-old David, is staying with Ruthe's mother. David is Ruthe's son of her first marriage.

"There's no turning back now," said Campy. "I just can't take it any more. She's dropped all responsibilities as a mother. She's stayed out all night on occasions and she's neglected the children and she's ignored me completely."

* * *

Mrs. Campanella denied she has been anything but a faithful wife. "It's all his imagination," she said. "Ever since he's returned from the hospital, he's had a suspicious mind. He just doesn't trust any one any more. I can't take a step out of the house without his asking where I was and who I was with."

Perry Mason to Win All Again

Unbeatable 'Lawyer' to Start 4th Season Soon as Morality Symbol

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Perry Mason will soon start his fourth season of practicing law on television. And he won't lose a single case this year, either.

While star Raymond Burr was busy hamstringing a witness in a scene from "The Case of The Wandering Widow," this week's effort, the popular show's executive producer and part-owner explained why Perry can never fail.

"Basically," said Gail Patrick Jackson, who once was a film star herself, "Perry Mason is a symbol of human morality and responsibility. He's a contemporary hero in the classic sense, and this kind of hero must never lose. If he does, both he and one of life's great philosophies — that good eventually triumphs over evil — are destroyed."

HE LIVES THE PART

Burr himself takes his role so seriously that it sometimes seems, even to the people closest to him, that he really is Erle Stanley Gardner's hero. Because the heaviest part of the acting load is on his shoulders, Burr lives during the week in a small, three-room bungalow a few steps away from the set. (The living room bookcase is filled with legal tomes, including a 100-volume set of "Corpus Juris Secundum," which presumably Burr picks up for relaxing reading.)

* * *

When he is not acting—even on most weekends — Burr follows a self-imposed but crushing schedule of personal appearances. Many of them are speeches before bar associations. One of the proudest boasts of everyone connected with the show is that lawyers like the show and approve of the way it presents their profession.

Tighten Death Probe of Dearborn Widow

EAST LANSING (AP)—State Police studied today the rain-soaked wallet of Mrs. Thomas Lacey, wealthy Dearborn widow strangled on Mackinac Island last month.

The wallet, with $40 missing but with all its contents believed intact, was found Wednesday by an island resident a considerable distance from where her body was found.

Still missing are the watch and walking shoes she was believed wearing.

Lt. Robert Bilgen, who is heading the state police investigation, said more searches are planned in the area where the wallet was found. So far, police have checked out 137 leads—some as far away as Los Angeles, Calif. and St. Petersburg, Fla.

STUDIES HIS NOTES — Vsevolod N. Generalov, an assistant air attache at the Soviet Embassy in Washington, leafs through a stack of literature collected at the Association of the United States Army convention. The annual meeting in Washington ended Thursday. Generalov was one of six Communist observers attending. All were there legally with credentials available to military attaches. An Army spokesman said seven defense items disclosed at the convention had not been seen before by the general public. Generalov was especially interested in a turbofan engine of the type used to power our B52 bomber.

Yoon Bo-sun Elected President of S. Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Election of Yoon Bo-sun as president of South Korea today set the stage for a bitter factional fight for the premiership, the position of real power under South Korea's new constitution.

* * *

Yoon, 62- year-old elder statesman of the Democratic party and one of Korea's oldtime fighters for independence from Japan, won overwhelming approval from the newly-elected National Assembly. Balloting was quiet in contrast to the squabbling and confusion that marked past assemblies.

* * *

The president now has only a shadow of the power once wielded by Syngman Rhee, who was forced out of power by the spring "student revolution." Rhee now is in exile in Hawaii.

* * *

Yoon's first big job as president will be to nominate a premier for approval by the House of Representatives, which is controlled by the Democrats. If his choice is not approved, he must find someone else.

Customer Finds Out When Java Is Not Coffee

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta man wound up in a hospital after he drank what he and a waitress thought was coffee.

It wasn't coffee. It was a mixture of hot water and cleaning powder being used to scour the coffee urn at a downtown cafeteria.

* * *

Mort Baker was served the mixture by mistake by a waitress who was unaware that the coffee-maker was getting its early morning cleaning.

* * *

He was given an antidote by Frances Schell, cafeteria manager and taken to the hospital. Doctors said he suffered no serious effects.

Your Lawn May Need Some Food

Do you seem to be caught up with your landscaping chores for this time of year?

Agronomists with the Armour Agricultural Chemical Company suggest that you take a second look now to determine whether your lawn is doing as well as it could with a little additional care.

Many fine lawns that started growing well may tend to lose some of their lush, green color during the hot summer months, the Armour agronomists say. This generally is the result of improper or insufficient food to keep them productive, they explain.

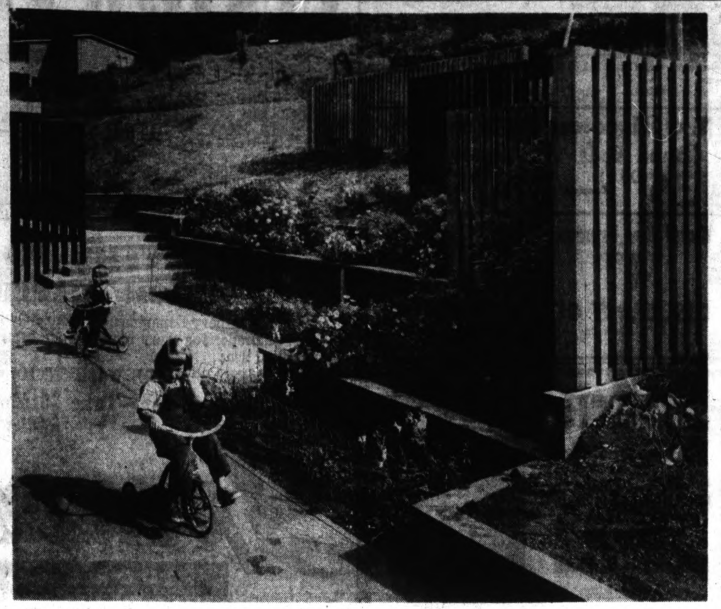
If your lawn seems to be faltering now, chances are that it needs an additional feeding of the proper plant food to restore it to life and keep the grass growing well all summer. Many gardeners are finding that summer feeding of lawns pays extra dividends by encouraging greener, healthier, weed-free turf.

The amount of fertilizer to use for this summer application will be about half the normal feeding applied at other times of the year. The Armour agronomists recommend about one to one and three-quarter pounds of fertilizer for turf and trees (such as 10-6-4 analysis) for each 100 square feet of space.

Fertilizer should not be applied while the grass is still wet with dew or when the weather promises to be particularly hot and humid. Always water the lawn thoroughly after each application.



BEAUTY IN FENCES — Cleverly designed and inexpensive fences can add immeasurably to the beauty of your home. Made of rough sawn, lower grades of western red cedar, these hillside fence screens make a rare garden spot out of a hard-to-handle waste area.

Just the Right Fence Adds Beauty to Your Garden

Fences are going incognito most of today's contemporary settings, under the guise of screens for patios, frames for handsome plantings, and continuing architectural lines of the home to improve the looks of the land.

Of course, fences in all their finery still perform such practical functions as marking off property lines, shutting the young fry and four-footed trespassers in or out, and cutting off the street or a bad view. But homeowners are beginning to integrate their fence indesign with the design of the home, combining beauty and dignity with utilitarianism.

Many homeowners are discovering that whether they prefer a simple dramatic line to their fence or fence section, or a rustic motif to blend with the surroundings of nature, western red cedar or inexpensive grades of Douglas fir adapt to any design.

If your back yard is on a slope, perhaps you will want a step-up fence, or fence sections placed at different levels up the side of the slope. Cedar boards, 1"x8", nailed in a louvred effect to top and bottom sawtooth stringers, make a frame for plantings and sculpture, but allow air to circulate freely.

Fence sections can be constructed of 1x4 strips of rough cut cedar or fir nailed to a 2x4 across the top and bottom, attached to posts driven in the ground. These sections may be built as high or as wide as you prefer, and they make a beautiful backdrop for "hanging gardens"—plantings on different levels, boxed up in cedar retaining walls.

Two-by-sixes can be used for the retaining walls, capped with a board of the same dimensions.

A basket-weave fence may be built of low grades of fir very inexpensively, without sacrificing beauty or longevity. There are dozens of designs to be incorporated into fence construction, depending upon your property location and your way of living.

An interior wall of the house may be extended outdoors as a windbreak for a patio, or split cedar fence with recessed niches for shrubbery makes for privacy without a formidable look.

Combed cedar stakes are informal and make a good neutral background for plants. Weathered boards, alternately narrow and wide make a lovely barrier and become more attractive with age. Aluminum and galvanized nails should be used to prevent rust.

These fences may be stained for particular effects, or some are left weathered and alternate with sections finished with loggers oil for smart contrast. Usually these fences are capped with a two-by-four to prevent wood's weathering at the top and to give the installation a finished look.

Garden accessories may tie right in with your wooden fence. Cedar tubs are practical because of their weather resistant qualities, as well as being attractive and easy to build. Size, and shape, which ranges from low square tubs to hexagonal and rectangular outlines, varies with the particular bush or shrub. Styles may also be varied with your ingenuity. Planters, built right in with the fence line, are also attractive and practical.

★ ★ ★

If posts, which are to come in contact with the soil, are pressure treated, and inside of planters treated with asphalt paint, the wood will last indefinitely.

Public Invited to Detroit for Floral Design Institute

Flower lovers and home stylists of will have an opportunity in August to attend an International Floral Design Institute which is being presented by the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association in celebration of its 50th Anniversary Convention.

The Design Institute will take place Sunday evening, August 14, from 7 to 9 p. m. at Detroit's new Cobo Hall located at the foot of Washington Boulevard. There is no admission charge. However, each person attending must have an admission ticket since there will be limited seating. Tickets are now available in all FTD florist shops.

★ ★ ★

"Flowers Around the World" is the theme of the Design Institute, and the emphasis is on artistry and creativity. Six master designers from North America and six from European countries will alternate in creating flower arrangements suitable for all occasions.

Two of the top floral commentators in the country, Sylvia MacGuffog Valencia of Westboro, Mass., and Ed Dallos of Chicago, Illinois, will be on hand to explain the styling, construction of arrangements, color harmony, and the use of various flowers. New techniques and trends in flower arranging will be stressed.

Mrs. Valencia is one of the best known personalities in the floral world. She is a talented designer as well as commentator and was awarded a gold medal this year at the International Flower Show in New York. Edward J. Dallos, the second commentator, has appeared at flower shows throughout the country including the Metropolitan in New York.

Arrangements of foreign countries will be demonstrated by designers from England, Holland, Denmark, France, Germany, and Italy.

This time is the first time Florists' Telegraph Delivery has opened its professional Design Institute to the public. Annually, members of this flowers-by-wire organization, which now serves 188 countries, gather to exchange new techniques in flower arranging and styling.

Aluminum foil such as used for freezer and kitchen purposes is also satisfactory. Be sure to pack snow down tightly about the trunks so that mice cannot burrow underneath.

DDT Does Job of Killing Pesky Flies, All Insects

Flies seem so loaded with curiosity, you would like to hit them with a club, or maybe you are the guy who actually does. We know of a lot bigger club to use in DDT. In spite of all the talk about resistant flies and how they thrive on it, DDT still works.

★ ★ ★

A weekly spraying of walls, furniture, and floors of patios, porches and open breezeways can make outdoor living a real joy. This weekly treatment does much to discourage mosquitoes, spiders, and flying moths. And once it dries, is harmless to pets and children. Give it a try and see if you don't agree.

Motive Is a Mystery

Be Happy: Spend Money Over and Over

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Carbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Never trust a man who knocks money. He is bound to be a hypocrite.

Money is one of the truly great pleasures of life, and the man who turns against it has lost one of the great tools to finer living.

It is still true that money in itself can't buy happiness—and never could. But can you name a better down payment?

There are a number of ways of acquiring money, and how you acquire it determines to a considerable extent the fun you get from it. The average man's dream of utter glory is to inherit money. This proves again the instinctive wisdom of the common man. He knows what is best for him.

BOYLE

There are those who insist that only money earned by his own sweat ennobles a man and gives him character. But this is for most of us a terribly tedious way to build either cash or character, and sometimes we wind up without much of either.

★ ★ ★

Besides, earned money isn't nearly as much fun to spend as given money.

★ ★ ★

Show me a self-made millionaire and, in most cases, I'll show you a man with a padlock on his pocketbook who spends with a limited sense of joy because he is too aware of how much toil and lost sleep his money cost him. What he really enjoys more is bragging about how poor he was as a youth, and how many sacrifices he had to make to become rich. He has become a moneyed martyr.

GETS MOST MILEAGE

But show me a man who has inherited a million dollars, and I'll show you a man who will get five million dollars worth of mileage out of his fortune. Spared the agony of having had to earn it, he finds double pleasure in every dollar he spends.

The average man in this life is a prisoner of the next payday and the next pay hike.

If he is making $90 a week and expecting a $10 raise, he starts right in living at a $100 clip. When he finally gets the extra ten bucks, it makes no difference in his scale of living. He has already been living $10 a week beyond his means.

"I'm no better off than I was before," he moans.

★ ★ ★

Here we have the key trouble with money you earn yourself. You only get to spend it once—and it's gone.

★ ★ ★

Inherited money doesn't usually work that way. Suppose you have a crusty old uncle who has so much money he hides it in the crotches of trees.

Naturally, when he passes to his eternal reward, you will be manhandled in the will. But how much will you get?

"Who knows how much the old miser has really got squirreled away?" you muse. "Maybe he'll leave me $100,000."

SPEND IT OVER AND OVER

So you and your wife start planning what you'll do with the dough. In these daydreams you take a trip around the world, buy a Rolls-Royce, break the bank at Monte Carlo—do 1,001 things you could never do on your own income. You spend the money a hundred different ways, each time enjoying it more.

When you do finally get the bequest, even if it turns out to be a paltry $750, you've had more fun in advance with the money than your thrifty uncle could in a dozen lifetimes.

The moral is, don't always try to do things the hard way. It is the unexpected windfalls that make this world a wonderland.

Don't let false pride stand in your way. If you know how to inherit money, do so. You won't be sorry.

Testing Nearer for Minuteman

Blockhouses and Pads, Towers and Silos Cost to Run $7 Million

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force reports initial construction has been completed on test launch facilities here for the Minuteman intercontinental range ballistic missile.

★ ★ ★

The new East Coast launch area, built at a cost of seven million dollars, includes two blockhouses; two regular land launch pads and service towers; two 90-foot-deep underground launching silos—the first at Cape Canaveral—and assembly, storage, inspection and industrial area facilities.

★ ★ ★

The first Minuteman test firing is scheduled for next December. Launchings are slated at the rate of one every three or four weeks.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force plans to have the three-stage, solid-fuel rocket operational by mid-1962. It will be smaller, lighter and easier to maintain and operate than the liquid-fuel Atlas and Titan ICBMs. Like Atlas and Titan, it will carry a nuclear warhead more than 6,300 miles.

★ ★ ★

On the West Florida Coast, three Bomarc missiles were successfully fired Thursday, but the Air Force had trouble landing a drone target plane.

★ ★ ★

The missiles, two of the IM99A class and one advanced Bomarc-B, intercepted their targets 170 miles out over the Eglin Gulf Test Range at an altitude of 35,000 feet.

The B model scored a scheduled near-miss on a Regulus II target missile streaking toward the coast at more than 1,000 miles an hour.

Will Arraign Priest in Traffic Fatality

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest charged with manslaughter in a highway accident death Saturday was expected to be arraigned today in his Ann Arbor hospital bed.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Andrew P. Pawelczak, 57, of Warren, is reported in good condition with face and leg injuries.

Asst. Prosecutor John Hathaway said the warrant charges that Fr. Pawelczak was driving while drunk.

The victim, Edward McBain, 91, of Jonesville, died of injuries shortly after the car in which he was riding collided head-on with the priest's car on U.S. 112 in Pittsfield Township.

★ ★ ★

McBain's widow Mrs. Bernice McBain, 78; the driver of the car Albert G. Tracy, 48, of Highland Park; and his wife Opel, 43, are still hospitalized.

The Tracy's two children were released after treatment for minor injuries.

General Weakness Hits Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market slipped into general weakness today in early transactions on the Board of Trade. Most declines were in small fractions.

Nearby wheat months firmed slightly on word that Brazil had bought about 3¾ million bushels of hard wheat overnight. It was the first export business of consequence in that grain all week.

The moderate pressure on soybeans was described as continued liquidation. Although soybean oil staged a succession of new highs this week, soybean meal has been at season lows.

Gains Trim Off but Still High

NEW YORK (AP)—A strong stock market advance was tempered by scattered profit-taking early this afternoon.

Gains still showed a heavy majority over losses, but were trimmed back to around a point or so in the higher echelons. Trading slackened as reaction set in to the morning's strong performance, but the tape was still moving at a good rate.

Much of the market's early impetus came from the Federal Reserve Board's action Thursday in approving a lower discount rate (what member banks pay when borrowing from the Reserve system) in four Federal Reserve Districts.

A similar action in June was followed by a strong market rally and analysts noted that the step came only three days after the "Fed" allowed commercial banks to lower their reserves, thus expanding their lending power.

The twin credit-easing moves are designed to stimulate business activity — provided businessmen and consumers want more credit. Brokers also noted the market was in a strong technical position, having topped the most recent rally level in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials. This average continued to climb today, rising 3.48 to 626.36 at noon.

U. S. satellite successes helped to ease market uncertainties due to the tense international situation, it was said.

Just about every major group of stocks joined in the advance. Some recent trading favorites fell, however. Lionel was down nearly 2 points and Texas Instruments, up more than 4 at one time, turned lower by more than a point. Polaroid was up nearly 3, and Universal Match and Vendo around a point.

Family Is Pursuing Nikita's Aid in Trial

Virginia Bar Assn., Alexander W. Parker of Richmond and Frank W. Rogers of Roanoke.

CABLED SPECIALIST

Parker said he had cabled John N. Hazard, a Columbia University professor who specializes in Soviet and International Law, to join them in Moscow. Hazard now is in West Germany.

* * *

Parker told newsmen that Mrs. Powers had been advised by the state department that Soviet authorities would not permit her to talk with her husband until his trial ends. The Virginia lawyer said the pilot's family would be allowed to consult with the Soviet lawyer appointed by the Soviet government to defend Powers.

Parker's only comment on the case was: "We are hopeful that he will be found guilty of flying the plane (and not of espionage) and that his sentence will be as light as the Soviet government will permit."

* * *

Mrs. Powers said: "I am going to Moscow to be near my husband and I certainly hope for a light sentence for him."

* * *

The maximum penalty for espionage in the Soviet Union is death. Mrs. Powers told a news conference in Washington that a light sentence was as much as she could hope for.

VITAL SEQUENCE — The world's first space-capsule recovery, which took place Thursday near Hawaii, is illustrated in this schematic drawing. The 300-pound American Discoverer XIII circles in its tail-first position, then tilts 60 degrees, nose down, in its 17th trip around the earth. A retrorocket fires to slow it to 18,000 miles per hour, permitting a curved path toward the earth. Airplanes and ships listen to a satellite signal as they track. A parachute reduces speed as ships and planes patrol the 50-by-200-mile recovery area. (See story on page one.)

Bowles Quits Congress to 'Help' Kennedy Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Chester Bowles (D-Conn), often mentioned as a leading choice for secretary of state if the Democrats win the White House in November, will not seek re-election to Congress.

* * *

Bowles, foreign affairs adviser to Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, said he had no understanding or commitment with anyone. But he made it clear he wanted to be free to accept appointment to a high government post if it should be offered.

CAMPAIGNING FOR JACK

Bowles announced his withdrawal from the congressional race late Thursday, saying he would devote his time to campaigning for a Kennedy victory.

Kennedy said he sincerely appreciated Bowles' offer of assistance and stated "his aid will be invaluable to me." He added "Chester Bowles has always been motivated by the highest sense of public responsibility."

TO SERVE PRESIDENT

Bowles said he could not run for re-election in good conscience because "if the next president of the United States should ask me to serve in any one of several posts for which he might consider me qualified, I would want to feel free to accept. As a newly re-elected member of Congress, pledged to serve out my term, this would be impossible."

* * *

He said his "regretful decision" to withdraw from the congressional race was one of the most difficult of his life.

Bowles' successor in the race will be chosen later by the 16 members of the Connecticut State Central Committee from the Second District. The Republican nominee is Horace Seely-Brown Jr., a Pomfret fruit grower. He held the post for five terms before being defeated by Bowles in 1958.

City School Additions Ready for Fall Use

Work which began almost two years ago on two junior high school additions in Pontiac will be finished in time for use next month.

* * *

Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools, reported on progress of the Madison and Washington junior high school additions at last night's Board of Education meeting.

Each addition is a half-million dollar project approved by the Board in November, 1958.

ALSO REJECTS

Other action by the board included rejection of four requests by maintenance workers, approval of a raise in substitute teacher salaries, and changes in procedures governing the operation of food services in public schools.

The school addition at Madison contains 10 classrooms, a special education classroom, homemaking room, a shop, two science rooms, a typing classroom and an art room.

The total cost of the addition was $402,277.

* * *

At Washington, the new addition houses a new cafeteria, instrumental music room, two art rooms, three classrooms, a science room, a special education room, two vocal music rooms, and a typing classroom.

The total cost of this addition was $538,753.

Other additions announced for the fall term included classrooms at Herrington, Mark Twain and Franklin elementary schools.

Mark Twain School will also get a new multi-purpose room.

Dr. Hufziger listed the Pontiac Central High School swimming pool and the auditorium work at Washington Junior High as the top rehabilitation projects ready for use.

Central swimmers will display their skills in new $108,000 surroundings this year.

The pool structure is new as is mechanical equipment, surfacing, walls, ceiling, heating, ventilating and locker room facilities.

The auditorium at Washington has a new floor, new seats, and has been repainted.

In other business, the Board approved a pay hike for substitute teachers.

* * *

The 1960-61 salary schedule will raise the pay from $15 to $16 per day for those teaching on a special certificate and from $17 up to $18 a day for those teaching on a life, provisional or permanent certificate.

This will still leave Pontiac slightly below the median salary for substitutes in the Metropolitan Detroit Schools, which is $19 per day.

Changes in operating procedures of the food service policy were mostly minor and made only to clarify the administration's policy.

The one material change involved approval of a raise from 120 to 130 per cent in overtime pay for food service and maintenance employes.

British Plane Dives to Avoid Pan Am Jet

ROME (AP)—The pilot of a British European Airways Viscount dived his plane suddenly Thursday to avoid colliding with a Pan American World Airways jet airliner.

Twenty-three of the Viscount's 46 passengers were injured, none of them seriously.

BEA officials here said the action was taken by the Viscount's pilot when he noted the Pan Am Boeing 707 jet, taking off, was in his line of flight.

There was no time to warn the passengers to fasten their belts. As a result many passengers were bounced against the plane's ceiling and suffered bruises, cuts and shock. Eight of them were taken to San Giovanni Hospital for observation. Others were given first aid at the air field.

The Viscount, bound from Malta, via Rome, made a normal landing and departed later for London.

Fights Flies, Mosquitoes

China in Swat Battle

HONK KONG (AP)—Flies and mosquitoes, which were reported liquidated several years ago, again are swarming over some of the bigest cities in Communist China.

* * *

The People's Daily, Red China's official organ, reports a new "all-out battle against flies and mosquitoes" in Peiping, Shanghai and Tientsin.

* * *

Factories, schools and government organizations in the three cities participated in this mass campaign.

"In Tientsin," the paper said, "an army of more than 500,000 people is engaged in the battle against flies and mosquitoes." Some 2,800 anti-mosquito incense burning centers have been set up in the city.

In Peiping the battle slogan is, "Every man has a swatter in hand and swats to death every fly in sight."

Wants Added 130,000 Troops, Modern Arms, Enough Air Transport

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Association of the U.S. Army wants 130,000 more men in the active Army, all "obsolete" weapons replaced by modern arms, and sufficient air transport to move into trouble spots without delay.

★ ★ ★

The association urged that the Nike-Zeus antimissile rocket be produced on a "national crash basis." It also proposed an end to limits on the weight of Army aircraft and the range of Army missiles.

In a series of resolutions adopted at the end of its annual three-day meeting, the association called for action to back up President Eisenhower's statement to Congress that America must have vigilance and continuing strength in view of intensified "Communist truculence."

It said the present authorized army of 870,000 men gives "no reliable assurance" of being an adequate deterrent force.

The Army Association has 70,000 members among active Army personnel, veterans and others dedicated to pressing Army aims. More than 3,000 delegates attended the sessions here.

Owner of Midget Car Has Trick to Beat Light

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — One of those tiny foreign cars was stopped by a red light at a busy downtown Dallas intersection recently.

The driver apparently was in a hurry because he crawled out while the "walk" sign was still on, pushed his midget car through the intersection, wiggled back inside and drove on.

Courtesy isn't always a matter of what you say. Sometimes it's a matter of what you don't say . . . A local secretary boasts a perfect attendance record. For years she hasn't missed a coffee break. — Earl Wilson.

FROM NUTS TO CONES — After a lifetime diet of nuts, roots and similar fare, Pete the Squirrel this summer has learned the delights of ice cream. He grasps the cone firmly in both front paws and wades in. A man who likes to stroll through the Colorado state capitol grounds at Denver where Pete spends most of his time introduced the nut hunter to the frozen dainty.

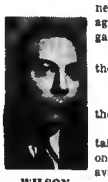
Gambling Is Booming Sky-High at Tahoe

By EARL WILSON

LAKE TAHOE, Nev.—Why go to the Alps when you can get high at Tahoe?

Get high, literally, that is—8,200 feet high . . . higher by almost half a mile than mile-high Denver. We're up here nearer Heaven than some of us will ever get again, at Harrah's, positively the biggest gambling operation I ever saw.



WILSON

People pass out here all the time—from the altitude.

★ ★ ★

Chorus girls newly-arrived rush right to the oxygen tank after a strenuous dance.

We had flown over the Nevada mountains from Las Vegas to Reno in a DC-3 in one of the roughest flights left in American aviation.

Such excitement when we got here!

The customers were winning!

Three customers had hit the Keno game for pots of $25,000 in the last 27 days. One was a "revenge" winner.

He'd been an assistant bartender who wanted to be promoted to bartender. Deemed too inexperienced, he'd been refused promotion just yet. He quit—and began playing Keno. Result, 25Gs.

★ ★ ★

The management notices things like that . . . when there are three in a month. Of course, it's good for business, because it causes talk.

Vacationists are pell-melling in now. Harrah's pays bus fares for many of them, to get them here. In the winter Harrah's is even more generous with visitors, because not as many are eager to come to this section then.

Skiers come anxiously in the winter, but skiers are not very good gamblers as a rule. They just sit around drinking coffee.

"They don't have money to gamble," somebody explained. "They are saving their money for their next trip to the hospital."

When they get fractured here, they do it literally.

Will Soap Opera Go? Tune in Later and See

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is a strong possibility that the familiar daytime radio "soap opera" may soon be dropped from the air.

It was revealed Thursday that the Columbia Broadcasting system radio network, the only network which still carries them, is considering doing away with the serials.

It was reported many of the CBS affiliates felt they could make more money from local programing on the time now allocated to the network serials.

The daytime serials are aired from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A network spokesman said there was no firm decision to drop the soap operas, but it was possible that such a decision would be made after lengthy talks with the affiliates.

Among the series which would be dropped by CBS if the decision goes through would be Ma Perkins which made its debut in 1933; The Right to Happiness, which started in 1940; Young Dr. Malone, who began his practice in 1940; and The Second Mrs. Burton, whose tribulations began in 1941.

Three more recent serials also in danger of the chopping block are The Couple Next Door, Whispering Streets and Best Seller.

The death of the serials would put some 50 actors, many of whom play more than one role, out of work.

Nehru Praises Vision and Wisdom of Dag

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold has acted "with much vision and also with wisdom" in the Congo.

Nehru told a news conference he welcomed the action of the Security Council and more especially those of the secretary-general. Nehru blamed the Congo trouble on the continued presence of Belgian soldiers.

Silents Please Too Noisy for Its Own Well Being

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—A television viewer too young to have seen Buster Keaton in all his pantomimic glory 33 years ago must have wondered over his morning crunchies what the silence in silent movies was all about.

The ABC Network last night presented the second in a novel series of summer reruns titled Silents Please.

Instead of being reruns of last winter's better shows, these are films from the archives of Hollywood's silent days.

Last night's star was Buster Keaton. He shared top billing with a wood-burning locomotive in "The General."

He also wrote and codirected the film. That was in 1927, shortly before sound movies talked Keaton out of a job.

Television nearly talked its way out of my sixth floor window during this presentation, for it failed to keep silent for a moment during "Silents Please."

Being a compulsive talker, my set babbled away almost the entire time, even between the commercials.

For some reason, perhaps for the benefit of the noise-conditioned younger generation, this was a silent movie with a sound track.

A rather somber voice persisted in explaining what was going on, and the funnier the movie was supposed to be, the more doomed the voice boomed forth.

Another thing, there were no titles. What is a silent movie without titles telling the viewer what is going on and what the actors are saying?

The voice of doom tried to do the work of the titles — and more too. It added its two cents every now and then on the significance of Keaton's once very funny antics.

And still another thing, there was no piano. Only an orchestra.

Nothing suits a good silent movie chase more to a T than a dramatic piano accompaniment, particularly when Buster Keaton is rescuing the whole Confederate Army and his lady love in a hair-raising locomotive chase.

Keaton, for those who were too young to read the title in 1927, appears as Johnny Gray, a Civil War confederate I-F who winds up driving a locomotive instead of carrying a saber and thus falls out of favor with his lady love, one Annabell Lee.

But Keaton manages to save the day for the Rebels when he chases Union plotters in his locomotive, named "The General," rescues Annabelle, blows up a bridge and a dam and narrowly escapes with his britches.

He winds up a Confederate lieutenant and the winner of the affections of Annabell Lee.

The commentator, trying to be helpful, managed to inform the watching audience that "the train has stopped." This was after the train had stopped.

Then the gloomy voice said that one of the greatest timing sequences in all movie comedy is about to occur.

Keaton manages to pluck timbers from the path of his locomotive just in the nick of time.

The voice's final major contribution came when it reported that a great scene of comic satire was coming up.

This hilarity involved the collapse of a bridge with a Yankee train on it. An angry general retaliated by drawing his sword.

What was said after that, this viewer cannot report. I finally outsmarted the one-eyes squawk box.

I turned off the sound and saw a real silent movie.

Silents Please would be a gem of a series if only it were silence, please.

Lutherans Note Loss of 33,000

World Gain Is Offset by a Big Fall in Countries Behind Iron Curtain

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Lutheran Council reports a net loss of 33,000 members in the world's Lutheran churches, largest of the Protestant denominations. The loss was blamed on a huge drop in membership behind the Iron Curtain.

According to the council, membership gains throughout the world were offset by this loss.

In East Germany, the Church of Saxony, Germany's biggest Lutheran denomination, reported a membership for this year of 3.8 million — a drop of 613,000 from last year's figure.

Throughout all of Europe, where some 80 per cent of the world's Lutherans are concentrated, there was a net loss from last year's figure of 431,225.

In the United States, second-ranking Lutheran country, there was a gain, however, of 214,523.

The Lutheran World Federation, with its headquarters in Geneva, reports the present world total membership of Lutheran churches, which include all baptized persons regardless of age, at 71,101,780.

Hail Two Outstanding U.S. Space Successes

Recover First Space Capsule in 13 Attempts

Discoverer Data Could Help Nation to Perfect Spy-in-Sky System

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting U. S. satellite was rushed toward Hawaii today with a payload of data that could help in perfecting a spy-in-the-sky system.

With recovery of the capsule for the first success in 13 attempts — the United States appeared to have won a lap in the space race with the Soviet Union.

The 300-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was fished from the Pacific Ocean about 330 miles northwest of Hawaii Thursday by a helicopter which hurried to the spot from a waiting ship.

A little over three hours earlier, the Air Force triggered the ejection mechanism of its Discoverer XIII as it made its 17th pass over Alaska in polar orbit.

With steering rockets starting it on the way, the capsule plunged downward into the thick air envelope of the earth. A parachute opened. Radio beacons helped observers plot its course. Then crews of waiting C119 planes saw the chute, followed the capsule down and circled above the spot.

SNAGGED BY COPTER

The Air Force plan was to snatch the chute and capsule into one of the C119's, but scattered clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A heli-

THEY'RE DWARFED — The circled men at the bottom of this picture appear as midgets in front of a 100-foot diameter plastic balloon of the type rocketed into orbit early today. Giant Balloon Sent Into Orbit; Relays Ike Talk

President Invites Any Land to Bounce Signals Off 10-Story Echo I

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States sent a huge communications satellite into orbit high above the earth today and quickly signaled its success by bouncing a message from President Eisenhower across the nation.

The new space messenger, Echo I, was rocketed up from this missile test center at 4:39 a.m.

A little over two hours later Space Administration announced the National Aeronautics and it was successfully in orbit.

Then less than four hours after launch, the recorded message from the President was played back at a news conference in Washington.

The message came back loud and clear when received at Holmdel, N. J., after being sent from Goldstone, Calif.

It said:

"This is President Eisenhower speaking.

"It is a great personal satisfaction to participate in this first experiment in communications involving the use of a satellite balloon known as Echo.

"This is one more significant step in the United States program of space research and exploration.

★ ★ ★

"The program is being carried forward vigorously by the United States for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind.

"The satellite balloon which has reflected these words may be used freely by any nation for similar experiments in its own interests.

"Information necessary to prepare for such participation was widely distributed some weeks ago.

"The United States will continue to make freely available to the world the scientific information acquired from this and

'Not White,' Say Troy Cemetery Officials

Indian Refused Burial With Wife

By DICK HANSON

State Atty. Gen. Paul Adams expressed deep concern today over refusal by White Chapel Cemetery in Troy to bury George Nash of Ferndale next to his wife's grave because he is an Indian.

"This seems to be a very gross case of discrimination," he said upon learning the news at Lansing today. "Our office is very much concerned, and will be looking into the matter further," he added.

"Since the matter has just been brought to our attention, I cannot say what action we might take at this time," the attorney general concluded. But he was certain the case would get further attention from his office.

George Nash wanted to be buried next to his wife.

But he couldn't be.

★ ★ ★

He is an Indian.

Wednesday's funeral service for George Nash, 66-year-old World War I U. S. Army veteran, who lived at 1363 W. Eight Mile Rd., Ferndale, was over.

★ ★ ★

His body had been laid to rest next to the grave of his wife in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery in Troy when the funeral director, Claude De Mund of Sparks - De Mund Funeral Home, Royal Oak, was told by cemetery officials that Mr. Nash could not be buried there.

"They told me he is not white," said De Mund, "and that I would have to take the body with me. When I went back to the plot, it had not yet been filled in."

"Neither the family nor I could understand it — we had just held the service in the chapel at the cemetery, complete with military rites," said De Mund.

TAKEN TO FUNERAL HOME

"There was nothing we could do, but take the body back to the funeral home," he said.

The body of George Nash, a member of the Winnebago tribe of North American Indians, did not rest easy, nor did the hearts of his three sons and daughter.

★ ★ ★

They contacted the American Legion post in Birmingham, of which their father had long been a member, and the Veterans Affairs Office in Pontiac.

Officials there appealed to officials of the White Chapel Cemetery Assn., but got nowhere.

He's not white, so he can't be buried in the cemetery, they said.

But, Mrs. Nash was part Indian, and she was buried at White Chapel in 1949 when her husband purchased the family plot without any question, argued Hugh McHugh of the Birmingham Legion Post.

★ ★ ★

"The cemetery people told me they decided she was white when the question came up later on," said McHugh, "but they never told Mr. Nash that he would not be able to be buried there."

SUGGEST NEW BURIAL

The problem became more pressing. Floyd Cremer, director of Veterans Affairs in Oakland County suggested to the family that Mr. Nash's body be buried in the veterans' plot a Perry Mount Park Cemetery in Pontiac.

In desperation, the family agreed.

Well known among Indians throughout the nation, Mr. Nash died Monday at his home of a heart attack. He had been em-

U2 Pilot's Family Claims Mr. K's Promise of Help

LONDON (AP) — The family of Francis Gary Powers headed for Moscow today, claiming Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's promise of help for the American U2 pilot who goes in trial Wednesday as a spy.

"I will see Khrushchev. He said he will help me," Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., father of the pilot, told newsmen on arrival in London Thursday night.

The elder Powers said he had received word from Khrushchev but refused to say how the message came.

"I am going to help my boy," he said. "That's all I have to say."

Three other members of the pilot's family and several friends or advisers are flying to Moscow for the trial.

Oliver Powers was accompanied by his wife, Ida, who suffers from heart trouble; Dr. Lewis K. Ingram, her physician, and Sol W. Cary, a friend of the family.

They were to leave London late tonight and to arrive in Moscow early Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Traveling to Moscow separately, the pilot's wife, Barbara Moore Powers, arrived in New York City Thursday night. She was to leave for Brussels tonight and was due in the Soviet capital Saturday afternoon.

With her are her mother, Montean Brown of Milledgeville, Ga., and two lawyers appointed by the

X15 Rockets Pilot to Record Height

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif (AP) — The X15 today rocketed an Air Force test pilot more than 24 miles skyward, man's highest flight yet. The new record: 131,000 feet.

Major Robert M. White, in the same plane that set a world speed mark of 2,196 m.p.h. last week, pointed the sleek black dart up at an angle of 51 degrees and let its mighty twin engines roar all out until his fuel was exhausted.

At the peak of his climb, White radioed back: "This is really fantastic up here."

1st U.N. Unit in Katanga With Dag

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and the first U.N. force to enter secessionist Katanga province landed here today.

The force—220 Swedes—arrived in five planes, touching down at 10-minute intervals.

★ ★ ★

Hammarskjold and the soldiers almost did not land after all. The crowd at the airport saw Hammarskjold's plane circle the airfield three times.

Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe and other government officials waiting at the airport were told as the plane circled that the secretary refused to land.

Airport officials dashed back and forth from the control tower to find out what was happening.

★ ★ ★

It appeared the control tower's European operator had told Hammarskjold he would be allowed to land but that permission would be refused to the planes carrying the Swedish soldiers.

To Name James M. Ginn New County Dem Leader

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

All that remains is for the candidates to place the crown as new Democratic county chairman on James M. Ginn tonight.

In a heated meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel Thursday night, county precinct delegates voted overwhelmingly to recommend to the candidates the 32-year-old Franklin attorney as the new chairman.

The 13 candidates nominated in the Aug. 2 primary meet in the same setting tonight—but promising to be much more orderly — in what could become the mere formality of naming Ginn to the leadership of the local party.

★ ★ ★

Reversals to the six-member labor-dominated slate of new county officers drafted at Thursday night's shouting match appear unlikely leaders predict. Most candidates are tight-lipped as to how they'll vote.

One, however, denounced the slate as being "shoved down our throats." He said he'd push to put former County Chairman Willis M. Brewer in as party treasurer. He lost the nomination by 27 votes.

Pushing through its slate of favored county officers proved a third major triumph for Mrs. Harriett Phillips' liberal-labor faction of the party.

WOULD FROST CAKE

Naming Ginn tonight would put the frosting on the cake.

It took the appearance of the party's gubernatorial nominee, Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, to tone down the four-hour session.

Here to try to mend wounds between his forces and those of the local party who backed Secretary of State James M. Hare, whom he defeated in the primary, the rested and tanned Swainson urged

4 Chances to See Echo Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP — Preliminary estimates on the path of the Echo satellite indicate the whole lower region of the Great Lakes will have four and possibly five views between dusk and dawn, says the Standard Oil Co. Research Laboratory.

8:10 to 8:20 p.m. (EST) — Low in the southwest. This sighting is doubtful as the huge balloon will be near the horizon.

10:15 to 10:25 p.m. — Rising from the south, reaching a height of 45 degrees, disappearing in the east.

12:25 to 12:35 a.m. — Rising in the west, climbing to 75 degrees, disappearing in the northeast.

2:33 to 2:43 a.m. — From the west, heading slightly southeast, climbing to 65 degrees and disappearing to the east.

4:40 to 4:50 a.m. — Rising a little north of west, climbing almost overhead (90 degrees) and disappearing in the southeast.

The satellite should be brighter than a star on most passes, and the last one should be spectacular.

Lake Orion Doctor Tells of Family's Escape

'U.N. Forces May Save Katanga in Congo'

Pontiac Press Photo

By PETE LOCHBILER

The arrival of United Nations troops in secessionist Katanga Province of the Congo was hailed today by a Lake Orion missionary-physician who has served the past three years in a Katanga missionary hospital.

"The presence of the U.N. force, however small, in Katanga is probably the only way to prevent that country from becoming another Korea," said Dr. Percy S. Marsa, a 41-year-old surgeon.

"The Katanga natives are friendly to Americans. But there was much talk there of Russian troops coming in to keep peace, and talk that American troops would have to follow.

"The U.N. force, I hope, will forestall any situation like that."

Dr. Marsa, his wife Jean, 46, and their daughters Linda, 6, and Ann, 14, returned Monday to their home at 540 E. Flint St.

The first 600 miles of the trip back from Africa were the hardest.

With Linda in tow, the couple was visiting in Northern Katanga early last month, discussing with tribal leaders in a village 35 miles west of Kongolo the possibility of establishing a hospital there.

Reds Expel Another Tourist

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today expelled a young American YMCA tourist, accusing him of trying to enlist a Ukrainian in "anti-Soviet agitation" by giving him clothes, three Bibles and American publications.

The American was identified as James Schultz of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

An article in the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda said that Schultz' act had "caused indignation among honest people and he is being expelled. He forgot the elementary rules of decency and politeness."

Schultz was the third American ordered out of the Soviet Union in as many days. On Wednesday Col. Edwin M. Kirton, the U.S. Air Attache in the Soviet Capital, was accused of setting up a spy apparatus and told to go. Thursday Robert Christner, 27, a tourist from Sparks, Nev., was accused of taking spy photographs and expelled.

The American Embassy said it had no information on the Schultz case.

Komsomolskaya Pravda said that the incident happened in Kiev, the Ukrainian capital. It said Schultz found there "a rascal ready to sell his honor for foreign rags."

It said that in return for "rags"—a reference to the fact that most tourists in the Soviet Union are bombarded with pleas to purchase their clothing—Schultz demanded that this person in Kiev "carry on anti-Soviet agitation."

Besides the clothing, the newspaper said, Schultz "immediately gave prepayment: three copies of the Bible, an American book of provocative material and an American magazine of the same nature."

The newspaper said that despite this "and other abuses of hospitality, the doors of the Soviet Union are open and will remain open to everybody who wants to get acquainted with its life and culture."

In another apparent attempt to whip up public feeling against the United States before the Powers trial, Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, today printed a letter from five Soviet citizens denouncing the U.S. Embassy here for having sent them "propaganda material."

Tap Ginn as Dem Leader

a united stretch drive to November.

Recommended by the delegates as Ginn's lieutenants were

For vice chairman (two to be chosen): Mrs. Margaret McCall, Holly newspaper writer, and Mrs. Betty McVay, president of the Birmingham Democratic Club.

For recording secretary: Mrs. Mildred A. Burns, office secretary for the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, from Waterford Township.

For corresponding secretary: Robert Bowens, Pontiac Motor Division crane operator and barber, from Pontiac.

For treasurer: Louis H. Golden, Detroit steel distributor, from Waterford Township.

None of the incumbents were recommended for re-election.

After a debate as to how the officers should be nominated, 25 nominations finally came from the standing-room-only crowd of delegates. The labor selections all by nearly 2 to 1 margins.

Not mentioned for any of the offices was Carlos G. Richardson, county chairman the last five years and the target of the resurgent group. Richardson had announced earlier this year he was relinquishing the reins of the party.

In his own song Thursday evening, the mustached 62-year-old party conservative had his hands full trying to maintain order, interrupted frequently by wrangling over parliamentary procedure.

"I'm going home now and enjoy life," Richardson said as the votes were being counted. He was cheered. There were no plaudits for his non-paying efforts.

Richardson also called for workers to support the new chairman to the fullest.

"I've tried to do my best always," he said. "I admit I've made mistakes, but I'm not the only one who has."

A motion to give the candidates a vote of confidence on whoever they may pick, and not let "some delegates pressure or intimidate them," failed and started another debate.

The undecided delegates were aided in their selections with small slates of the six winners distributed as they filed into the hotel.

But when John F. Williams, Independence Township delegate and secretary-treasurer of the State AFL-CIO, moved to expedite the meeting by nominating a full slate, some delegates rebelled. Williams lost.

"We find we're going to be snowballed right off the bat," declared a new delegate.

* * *

August (Gus) Scholle, union president, proved to be the man with the answer. Make nominations one at a time for all five positions and let delegates vote by secret ballot on their six choices, the Royal Oak delegate suggested.

It worked but only after long delays in assuring that only duly elected delegates were voting.

Cranbrook Pool Claims Boy, 2

History Teacher's Son Drowns in Fall Into Shallow Water

The two-year-old son of a Cranbrook School history teacher drowned yesterday in a shallow wading pool in the school grounds when he wandered away from his home.

* * *

The child was Jeffrey Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Harris of 15 Faculty Row, Bloomfield Hills.

An unidentified woman first discovered the boy's body. Her screams brought a passing youth, Phillip Osborn of Livonia, to the scene. He pulled the body out of the water and ran for help.

When Bloomfield firemen arrived, Peter Dewitt, a lifeguard at the adult pool more than 100 yards away from the children's pool, was giving the boy artificial respiration.

TREES BLOCK VIEW

The small pool cannot be seen from the adult pool because of large trees.

Police said no children are permitted in the small pool without parents' supervision.

Apparently the child walked out on a small platform over the pool, lost his balance and fell in the water.

* * *

The pool is less than a foot deep, police said.

* * *

The Harris home is only a short distance from the children's pool.

Among his effects were U. S. Army discharge papers where it stated: George Nash, served from April 13, 1918 to Feb. 12, 1919, "character excellent."

Except for the time he spent in the military service, Mr. Nash was a resident of Michigan since coming here from Nebraska as a 16-year-old boy with his parents.

He is survived by his sons John, 28, Vincent, 30, and Louis, 12, who lived with him, and a daughter, Mrs. Ellen Mendez of Chicago.

Their hearts are smoldering.

"They probably will arrange to have their mother's body 'moved' to a plot at Ferry Mount Park, so she can be near her husband's," said Cremer.

"We'll take this case up at the department's (American Legion at state level) fall conference in Lansing and protest it further at the national level later on," said McHugh.

Milder Weather With Fair Skies Reigns in Nation

By The Associated Press

Except for some southern discomfort, the nation enjoyed pleasant weather today.

Clear skies and mild temperatures ranged from New England southwestward through the Ohio Valley into North Texas and northward through the Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes.

A warming trend from the Plains states moved into northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, raising temperatures as much as 15 degrees over the previous night's. In the West, skies generally were clear, rainfalls scattered and sparse, temperatures warm in inland areas.

other experiments in its program of space exploration."

The recording was broadcast to the satellite on its first sweep around the earth.

* * *

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, NASA administrator, described the Echo launching as "well-nigh perfect."

The fact that the satellite was in successful orbit had been confirmed by both telemetry and visual sighting.

Observers on the Pacific Coast reported that in the early morning darkness it shone some seven times brighter than the North Star.

The 100-foot sphere, called Echo I, was designed to prove the feasibility of using satellites for worldwide telephone, radio and television systems.

Standing as tall as a 10-story building, the big ball would be the largest, but not the heaviest satellite ever sent aloft. It was aimed at a circular orbit 1,000 miles above the earth.

Also dubbed a satelloon, it would shine bright as a star and be clearly visible in areas over which it passed during hours of darkness. Strong optical aids would be needed to see it in the daytime.

The 90-foot Thor-Delta blasted off at 4:40 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Is Retort to RO Twp. Vice Charges

'Find More Jobs,' CIO Told

An outgoing Democratic county officer from Royal Oak Township last night told the CIO not to try to be the peacemaker in eliminating the "deplorable conditions" in the township.

"If the CIO wants to help us, why don't they find my people more jobs," shouted Mrs. Mattie L. Baker, Democratic committee vice chairman, at a meeting of precinct delegates at the Roosevelt Hotel in Pontiac.

Mrs. Baker, who will be replaced as an officer tonight, took exception to what she called the Union's attempt to interfere in township problems.

A liberal-labor block of the committee, headed by Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Tuesday night called for an investigation into what it called the "deplorable conditions" in the township.

"Mrs. Phillips knows this has been going on for 14 years," Mrs. Baker said. "Why, all of a sudden, is she bring it up now?

"If they (the faction) want some votes in Royal Oak Township they should do it some other way."

Mrs. Phillips' group went on record asking for an investigation now, claiming public officials have "blindly" let the conditions of corruption run their course long enough.

NO PUBLIC REPLY

The Huntington Woods housewife did not publicly answer Mrs. Baker at the meeting, which called for recommendations for new county officers. But she did urge Ruebin Harris, manager of the Oakdale Gardens housing development, to testify that help is needed.

"Yes, but you won't get it the way you're going after it," retorted Mrs. Baker, pointing a finger at a silent Mrs. Phillips in the audience.

Harris said he knew of families that were in need of welfare assistance but were denied it. He did not elaborate.

"This is not the problem of the CIO or anybody else's," Mrs. Baker said. "I don't appreciate Mrs. Phillips blowing it up this way."

copter from the MSTS ship Haiti Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule buoyed hopes of space scientists working on both the man in space program and the Samos sky-spy satellite.

The Samos is now being developed to send back by television what its camera eyes see as it scouts the face of the earth. But eventually it is hoped that actual films can be sent back to earth by capsule to provide much clearer pictures than television could furnish.

OTHERS HAD FAILED

It was No. 13 of the Discoverer satellite series which brought luck to the Air Force. Some of the previous launchings had failed to put satellites into orbit. Some went into orbit but failed to eject the capsule or ejected it in the wrong direction.

But Thursday everything worked. And the United States thus was the first, so far as is known, to bring back a package from a satellite. The Soviet Union like the United States, has recovered space cones and capsules of missiles fired aloft in conventional missile trajectory.

In a midnight news conference at the Pentagon, Lt. Gen. Bernard Schriever, boss of the Air Force's Air Research Development Command, was as elated as the cautious Schriever ever becomes.

* * *

This said he, really marked a space first. Until Air Force scientists turned the trick of bringing an object back through the searing heat of re-entry and depositing it in the intended spot "we were only part way in the space age."

He said that "without doubt, the Discoverer program has been the most complex program undertaken in this country and I believe in the world."

* * *

From here on the rate of recovery should go up, the general predicted, and there should be "better than a 50 per cent" recovery with the rate increasing as the program continues.

Orion Doctor Tells of Escape

8, just eight days after the Belgians had granted the Congo political freedom.

"Many of those who revolted in Kongolo and elsewhere during the next few hours wanted to drive the white man out of Africa," explained Dr. Marsa.

"The tribal leaders we were with were friendly — they had invited us there. They were very anxious for a hospital.

"They offered to hide us until the trouble was over, but I thought that for the sake of my wife and daughter we should leave as soon as possible."

Thus the Lake Orion family joined hundreds of white refugees fleeing from the heart of equatorial Africa.

For the Marsas, who had planned to leave Africa Aug. 1 anyway, the sudden exodus was a tension-ridden journey over 600 miles of rutted, dirt roads in their 1957 stationwagon with little Linda prone on a rear seat, hiding.

"The worst part was that we were strangers. Nobody along the way knew us. There was no one among the natives who could say, 'These white people are friends. They have helped us.'"

It was in a little village called Kabalo toward the beginning of their journey that the Marsas had what turned out to be their biggest fright.

"It was only a village of 1,000 persons. But they had already heard about the revolt in Kongolo.

"The natives were swarming over the road as we drove through.

"They shook their fists at us and cried, 'Kwenda! kwenda,' meaning, 'Get out! get out!'"

A few miles later, the Marsas were halted at a bridge over the broad Upper Congo River.

A native school teacher who joined us for part of the trip talked to the guards, told them we were missionaries and they let us through.

"But only a half hour later, a trainload of Europeans was halted at the same place.

"The passenger were terrorized for hours and eventually many of them were taken as hostages."

The Marsas' ordeal drew toward an end when they neared Kamina in Central Katanga, fifty miles from this city and its military air base, was the hospital where Dr. Marsa had served since the summer of 1957.

"We stopped just long enough to pick up a few belongings and then drove down to the air base, where hundreds of refugees already had gathered, including our hospital staff and our daughter Ann."

GET TO RHODESIA

A U.S. Air Force Globemaster transport evacuated the Marsas next day to Salisbury in Southern Rhodesia, a British protectorate.

The experience did not shake the Marsa family's determination to return to Katanga.

Dr. Marsa said he still plans to establish a hospital near Kongolo. "There are 100,000 natives there without any hospital at all," he said.

* * *

Aiding him in this venture will be two other Lake Orion physicians, Dr. W. Walter Oliphant and Dr. E. Arthur Calkins. Drs. Marsa and Oliphant are both ordained ministers in the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

* * *

The trio plans to divide its time between medical practices in Lake Orion and the Katanga hospital.

"We'll be earning money here to carry on our work there," explained Dr. Marsa.

While Dr. Marsa was in Africa, the two other doctors divided their incomes with him. Dr. Oliphant plans to begin a medical mission in Kenya later this year with the same type financial backing from his two friends.

* * *

Dr. Marsa's trip was under the auspices of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission Board, which operates the Kamina hospital where he practiced.

The Marsas have two sons, both planning to return soon from Africa. The oldest, Gordon, 20, is studying medicine at Capt Town University and Robert, 17, is finishing high school there.

The Day in Birmingham

Curriculum Studies Bring Several School Changes

BIRMINGHAM — Continued study of curriculum in Birmingham Public Schools has led to several changes in courses to be offered in elementary and secondary grades, said Daniel A. Nesbitt, director of curriculum, today.

* * *

The areas of foreign language and science will undergo the greatest changes, Nesbitt explained.

The Wylie E. Groves and Seaholm high schools will install language laboratories prior to the opening of school Sept. 6.

Through electronic means and use of tape-recorded lessons, each student can be monitored by the teacher while the class is reciting as a group.

BROADEN LANGUAGES

Monitored two-way conversations between teacher and pupil are possible without interruption to the class.

In an attempt to broaden course offerings in foreign language, a third year f German will be made available t seniors.

A class in biology will be offered to selected ninth grade students at the Groves High School on an experimental basis. In the past, biology has been offered only to seniors.

* * *

If the experiment proves successful, classes will be organized the following year at Barnum and Desby junior high schools.

Emphasis in science in the elementary grades will be placed upon more classroom demonstrations and experimentation by teachers and pupils.

* * *

Each elementary school has received considerable science equipment through se of the National Defense Education Act funds that have been matched by local schmny.

ADDED BOOST

An additional boost to the elementary science program has been the purchase of over 3,700 books on sience, in addition to 800 film strips and 18 movies.

These will circulate from the district's Instructional Materials Center, upon request from the classroom teacher.

The books purchases are not textbooks, but those of sourcebooks or reference nature that have been written for the elementary age child.

* * *

"With a report due from the Citizen's Committee studying curriculum, intensive study will be given to the recommendations presented to the School Board as the year progress," Nesbitt said.

ONE WAIL OF A TUNE — Dressed as the heroine of a new hit tune, two-year-old neighbor Deborah Doubleday is nevertheless a tough audience for Brian Hyland's rendition of "Itsy Bitsy Teenie Weenie Yellow Polka Dot Bikini" at his home in Woodhaven, Queens, N. Y. A 16-year-old high school student, Brian is one of the hottest new properties in show business as his recording of the tune has soared on the best-seller lists. Dubbed the bashful blond, Brian is moving into a whirl of TV shows and coast-to-coast personal appearances. He says he won't have time for college but hopes to put his six brothers and one sister through advanced schools on his earnings.

Not Really Stowaways, Girls Assure Purser

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Don't call us stowaways," said Ann Lee Smith. "We were only going as far as the Farallones."

The Farallones are tiny islands about 26 miles off San Francisco. Ann Lee, 16, and Joan Layden, 17, San Francisco schoolgirls, were aboard the Lurline, which was bound for Honolulu.

* * *

They were on the Lurline's deck Wednesday, waving to the folks on the dock as the luxury liner pulled out.

"Someone said if we went to the Farallones we could get back on the launch because it only cost $5," said Ann Lee.

"Then we got scared, just suddenly," said Joan, "It was awful."

So they went up to a purser and told him they wanted off.

"He was very nice, not a bit mad," said Ann Lee.

"Then they turned the ship around and one of the men told us it cost $1,000," said Joan, aghast. "Just to turn it around. Gosh!"

The Lurline radioed for a launch and the girls returned to San Francisco before the Lurline got outside the bay.

FBI agents took the girls to their homes after the U. S. attorney decided not to file a complaint.

Machines Take Over to Strip and Pick Cotton

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — The cotton pickin' machines are taking over.

The Texas A & M College Extension Service says machine stripping and picking of cotton accounted for 44 per cent of the state's upland harvest in 1959, up from 35 per cent in 1958.

1,000 Reds Off for Farm Work

Ex-Soldiers Quiz U.S. Moves

By ALINE MOSBY

MOSCOW (UPI) — More than 1,000 Soviet soldiers marched off to work on farms Wednesday under the new army demobilization plan, but they seemed more interested in arguing with American correspondents than in the farewell ceremony.

* *

Questions and heated arguments tumbled out as this correspondent and other Americans were pressed by a crowd of 50 soldiers.

"Why do you send spies and airplanes to our country?"

"There are do Soviet spies in other countries?"

"Why are you putting an economic blockade around Cuba?"

"Why are the Americans aggressing in the Congo?"

Officials had trucked out about 500 girl members of the Komsomol Communist Youth League to kiss the boys goodbye, or rather to peck a few sedately on the cheek.

* * *

The girls carried huge bouquets of red, blue and yellow field flowers and did spirited Russian flok dances.

* * *

They coaxed shy soldiers to dance to popular tunes.

One girl Komsomol in a tight purple sweater gave a ringing pep talk about fulfilling the seven-year-plan.

But when it was announced the civilians-to-be had 30 minutes to talk to foreign correspondents before their train pulled out, they surrounded Western reporters.

Between political arguments, the soldiers said they were all being sent to the Krasnoyarsk area of Siberia to work on collective and state farms.

* * *

They all were Komsomol (Communist Youth) members. Correspondents were told their demobolization to become much-needed workers in the agricultural "battle" was part of the Soviet troop-cut plan.

The mass of soldiers at Riga railway station in Moscow looked like a crowd scene from a Russian movie as they started their seven-day trip across the rolling prairies and birch forests of Russia.

Most were between 19 and 23 years old. Some were quiet, some swaggering. They wore belted khaki blouses, breeches, high black boots and some showed long hair curling beneath their caps.

* * *

No matter which soldier you talked to, all had an identical answer to the question: Why were they going on the farm?

* * *

The answer: "To fulfill the seven-year plan."

Tampa Trashmen Haul 2,250 Tons of Attic Junk

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—City Sanitation Department officials bowed to the wishes of homeowners and announced that trash collectors would haul away anything left at the curb.

* * *

Out came refrigerators, stoves, bathtubs, sofas, parts of automobiles, broken fans and thousands of other items from attics, garages and store rooms.

* * *

When the two-week cleanup ended, workers estimated the weight of the discarded junk at 2,250 tons — equal to the displacement of a Navy destroyer. City trucks made an estimated 4,500 trips to the garbage dumps with the stuff.

Hotel Bill Should Be Kept Low

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has been invited to be best man at the wedding of his college roommate. The ceremony will take place in another city. We have met neither the bride nor her family but have been invited to stay at the hotel as their guests. Everything we know about the bride's family indicates that they are well-off.

The question, therefore, is this: While guests at the hotel at their expense are items such as meals and garage placed on the bill, or are we responsible for paying for them even though the hotel is much more expensive than we would select for ourselves?

* * *

Answer: Most correctly the hotel expenses of the best man and his wife are paid by the bridegroom, unless they are invited to stay with neighbors.

But even if you are the guests of the well-off family of the bride, you should keep your hotel bill down to bare necessities such as the cost of your room and your breakfast. You should pay any extras such as magazines or drinks you order, yourselves.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: My son, aged 17, and I (mid-50) plan on driving to the coast next month. We will be stopping off at motels en route. I would like to know if it would be proper to engage a room with twin beds and bath, or is it necessary that we have two rooms. We are traveling on a limited budget.

* * *

Answer: I am sorry not to be able to give my full approval of your sharing one room with your son, but as you indicate that the economy of doing so is an important consideration, and you will have a bathroom in which to dress, I do not feel that you will have to go to the extra expense of two rooms.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper way to dispose of a piece of meat which can't be chewed and swallowed?

* * *

Answer: The only thing to do is to dry it as well as you can with pressure of your tongue against your closed teeth and then remove it from your mouth with your thumb underneath and four fingers pressed close together over your mouth (forming a screen over the piece of meat) and put it on your plate.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: At an informal dinner, is it proper to put celery and olives on the bread-and-butter plate, or should they be put on the dinner plate? And what about jellies and other condiments?

Answer: Pickles, jellies or condiments intended to be eaten on or with the meat are always put on the meat plate. Olives, radishes or celery are put on the bread-and-butter plate.

Abby Says: Get Yourself Lost

Let 1st Wife's Ghost Walk . . . See if She'll Do the Work

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago I married a widower with five children, ranging in age from 2 to 12. I don't like to boast, but I am known for my cooking and housekeeping and the interest I take in my childrens' activities, such as PTA, scouting, sports, etc. I recently made 33 costumes for a church pageant.

I love these children, Abby, but all I ever hear about is their "real" mother. I am competing with a ghost. They worship her memory.

ABBY

Their father wants them to "remember" their mother, which is fine, but I practically raised them and I feel like hired help in my own home. What must I do to get a little appreciation?

NOT APPRECIATED

DEAR NOT: Take a little "vacation." Let the "ghost" do the cooking, sewing and housekeeping for a week or two. You won't get appreciation by asking for it. We never miss the water till the well runs dry.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of love at first sight?

BOB

DEAR BOB: I think it's a wonderful time saver.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem sounds so silly for a healthy, normal man of 44, I am almost ashamed to write it, but here goes:

Whenever I eat anything at my mother-in-law's place I get sick as a dog. Not wishing to hurt her feelings, I've never told her. My wife knows it and she is stumped.

Now, you won't believe this, Abby, but last Sunday we were there for supper again. I said I wasn't hungry and wanted only a cup of coffee.

When we got home I was just as sick on the coffee! My wife and the rest of her family eat there and nobody gets sick but me. How do you figure it?

HEALTHY BUT SICK

DEAR HEALTHY BUT SICK: Since you're the only one who gets sick from your mother-in-law's hospitality, you are probably allergic to something in her home. I hesitate to suggest what it could be, but a doctor might be able to help you track it down.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO CHRIS: Get off the farm once in a while. You won't find a bride in the Sears and Roebuck catalogue.

Arabs Ban Old-Young Marriages

But History Says December-May Love Is Sweet

NEW YORK (AP)—The other day the United Arab Republic banned May-December marriages in what seems to be an unprecedented step against late-flowering love.

Henceforth in the UAR, marriages between men over 60 and women under 30 are out.

* * *

In most other countries, such things are left to nature, and nature—aided by medical advances in geriatrics — has been pretty liberal with its boundaries.

* * *

Just a couple of days ago, for instance, after the UAR clamped the lid on, a news item from Italy told about a 20-year-old countess who'd just had her second child by her husband—a sprightly 79.

And what about Charles and Oona Chaplin, who've had seven children since their 54-18 marriage 17 years ago, and ostensibly are still in the billing and cooing stage?

There are other famous couples whose union would have been prevented by a law such as the UAR's.

* * *

Pablo Casals, regarded as the world's greatest cellist, is his wife's elder by 61 years, but they're having a good time making beautiful music together. She was his pupil, walking, swimming, and decorating their home in Puerto Rico.

* * *

Another musical Peter Pan is Sir Thomas Beecham, who married his third wife, manager of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra which he directed, a year ago. He was 80 and she was 27. But it struck a harmonious note.

SO IT GOES

In the literary field, there's T. S. Eliot, considered one of the greatest poets of the age. His honeymoon occurred about three years ago when he was 68—and the bride, his secretary, was 30.

And so it goes.

The marriage counseling books are full of thoughts on the subject of relatively unequal marriages, carefully couched so as to offend nobody, even an octogenarian bridegroom. But you get the idea that the venture is fraught with peril; especially when the girl is really looking for a father, or when she wants to go out dancing and he'd rather stay home and read.

It's adjust, adjust, adjust. Which makes it sound strangely like every other marriage.

Women Told of Ideals

Explore Driving Rights

EAST LANSING — What is the meaning of the driver license you carry in your wallet?

Years ago, it was little more than a means of identification.

Today, in most states, it testifies to the fact that you have passed at least minimum requirements to become an automobile driver.

This is progress, but we are a long way from achieving recommended "ideal" driver licensing and improvement goals, women delegates from 45 states were told by John C. Kerrick, director, driver licensing program, American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

The women, who are all state safety chairmen of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Optometric Association met Thursday and today at Kellogg Center, Michigan State University.

The conference, financed by the Allstate Foundation, has been conducted by the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center through Continuing Education Services.

The delegates are considering driver licensing recommendations with an eye to what women can do to make the licensing process a greater safeguard.

* * *

"Ideal goals" were defined by Kerrick as the requirements that every driver demonstrate ability to drive safely before a license is granted and continue to show he has the ability and willingness to drive safely in order to keep his license.

The women heard speakers discuss the importance of research in developing new and better methods for testing drivers and for discovering and correcting driver deficiencies.

They were told of the need for stronger, more uniform legislation in all states and for cooperation between states in exchanging information.

FEDERAL LEGISLATION

New federal legislation will establish a central register in the secretary of commerce's office to make available to licensing authorities of every state the names of drivers who have had their licenses revoked for serious traffic violations, explained Mills W. Chalfant, MSU School of Police Administration and Public Safety and the Highway Traffic Safety Center.

This law was signed July 14 by President Eisenhower.

Thrasher-Hershovitz Vows Said

Green-tinted pompons and white gladioli graced the altar of Trinity Methodist Church for Saturday evening vows of Frances Arline Hershovitz and Edwin C. Thrasher Jr., pledged to the Rev. Robert Benedict.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Hershovitz of Wilbur street, Keego Harbor, the bride chose a gown of white Alencon lace over silk taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped sabrina neckline and sleeves ending in wrist-points.

A liara of seed pearls caught the fingertip veiling of silk illusion. White roses topped the bride's white satin-covered prayer book.

Pink nylon over taffeta for honor maid Mary Margaret Rucker was of ballerina length. Carolyn Leister of Altus, Okla., in blue, served as her cousin's bridesmaid, with the bride's sister Sharon in yellow and Mrs. Alexander Brown, sister of the bridegroom, in green.

Carnations arranged in cascades, were slightly darker than the attendants' pastel dresses.

MRS. E. C. THRASHER

Anita Gray of Rochester, and Cheryll Baill, in pale blue nylon, carried baskets of red rose petals. The bride's brother Larry was ringbearer.

Thomas S. Thrasher stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Edwin C. Thrashers of North East boulevard. Sterley DeVault, Alexander Brown and the bride's cousin, Leon Leister ushered.

* * *

Rust carnations complemented Mrs. Hershovitz' bouffant dress of yellow eyelet worn with brown accessories. Mrs. Thrasher, in a sheath dress of blue silk organza, wore a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

Among out-of-towners at the wedding were the bride's grandmother Mrs. James Calron of Altus, Okla., also the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. George Jeffrey and his great-aunt, Mrs. Etty Robinson, both from Lonaconing, Md.

Use Perfect Tomatoes for Italian-Style Bake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Now that local tomatoes are ripe, you will be able to use Mrs. Mary Capuzzi's recipe for a summer tomato dish that has both eye and taste appeal.

* * *

Mrs. Capuzzi devotes her time to homemaking and to caring for her family.

BAKED TOMATOES
By Mrs. Mary Capuzzi

3 ripe tomatoes
3 Bermuda onions
Salt and pepper
Garlic powder
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ cup dried bread crumbs
1 teaspoon dried basil
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ cup olive or salad oil

Peel and slice onions. Cut tomatoes in half and arrange both vegetables on an oiled shallow baking dish, cut side up. Sprinkle with seasonings.

Mix cheese and crumbs and pour over vegetables. Put parsley and basil on top. Pour oil over all very carefully.

Bake in 350-degree oven one hour, or until onions are tender. If tomatoes seem dry, pour just a little water over them.

How You Sit Down Can Reveal a Lot

(NEA)—Learn to sit down gracefully. It can be one of the most attractive motions or one of the most awkward.

One way to give the impression that you're a lot older and stiffer than you actually are, is to sink heavily into a chair instead of lowering yourself gracefully on to the seat.

Case for Culottes

(NEA) — Culottes are big fashion for campus wear this fall. Some designers would like to see career girls wear them in cities too, but time will tell on that. The girls may and, then again, they may not.

Make Over Eages Real Friends Truly Rare, but Are Loyal

By RUTH MILLETT

How many real friends do you have? That's easy to find out.

How many are there who would react to any good fortune that comes your way with pleasure untinged with envy or jealousy?

How many friends could you count on if you needed help that wasn't easy or convenient to give?

How many friends would feel that they could call on you if they needed that kind of help?

How many of your friends would stand up for you staunchly and bonds if you were being criticized by someone else?

* * *

How many of your friends feel close enough to you to tell you their troubles, knowing that anything they tell you in confidence will go no further?

How many of your friends would you trust with information you don't want spread around?

How many friends do you have that you feel free to be yourself with, not having to put up a false front or pretend to be what you aren't?

How many persons do you know that you are always glad to see and who always seem pleased to see you?

How many persons would be just as friendly toward you if you were reduced to a lower scale of living than you now enjoy?

How many friends do you accept "as is" instead of fretting over their faults or wishing you could change them?

* * *

See how easy it is to count your real friends.

Don't be discouraged if the number isn't as great as you supposed.

True friends don't grow on bushes.

That is why real friendships are worth nourishing through the years.

Young Teen-agers Go Steady Too Early

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

"Last night, my husband and I were discussing plans for our family vacation when our eldest child—she's 13—told us not to count on her. She wants to stay at a neighbor's while we're away because she's agreed to 'go steady' with a boy who has taken her to a couple of school parties. My husband was furious and has forbidden her to see the boy again. I think she's too young to start 'going steady' but this isn't the way to deal with it, is it?" — Mrs. A.

ANSWER: Maybe your husband felt shock and disappointment rather than anger at your daughter. He wants to share his vacation with her. Why not explain this wish to her?

If, in telling her his wish, he shows some respect for her wish to "go steady" with this boy, he may find her more respectful of his wish for her company on vacation.

I, too, think she's pretty young to start "going steady." But many youngsters of her age do so out of what child guidance authorities call their need for "security."

I don't think that's quite it.

We must remember that not too long ago it was parents who found husbands for their daughters. Because marriage was women's only future, parents started arranging marital opportunities for girls as soon as they reached mid-teens.

* * *

Mothers competed ruthlessly for invitations to balls where eligible males abounded. They paraded their daughters at resorts and hounded wealthy relatives for hospitality that might turn up a likely husband.

Daughters merely cooperated with all this parental finagling, content to let mama and papa manage the matrimonial competition.

Today things are different. Girl children soon learn that getting married is their responsibility. This obligation makes for precocious sexual anxiety — and our custom of precocious dating is a development of it.

Today children of 13 want endorsement of their sexual desirability because, unlike the children of Jane Austen's day, this, instead of parents, is what they have to count on to get themselves husbands.

If this is hard on us, it's harder on them.

* * *

If we keep their problem in mind when our youngsters announce that they have entered into independent sexual competition, we may behave more reasonably and kindly than we otherwise would.

Summer Company Time

(NEA) — Summer is the one season of the year when, for many women, hospitality is revived on a full scale. Vacation time means that there's an opportunity to invite friends and relatives for a visit lasting anywhere from a weekend to a week or more.

In order to enjoy these visits, make your preparations in advance. The hostess who waits until the last moment to clean the bathroom, put out fresh towels and get the guest room in order is usually the one full of breathless apologies as her guests arrive. And somehow, from there on, nothing ever really gets organized.

Be thoughtful of your guests' comfort, just as you expect them to be considerate of you. Small sizes of cosmetics, toothpaste and other oddments are readily available at the five-and-dime. Be sure that you have them on hand.

Don't expect your guests to share a squelchy bar of the family soap. This isn't really an inviting prospect. Instead, put guest size cakes of soap out on the dressing table in your guest room.

* * *

A famous French perfume house has brought out a fine, hard-milled, long-lasting soap scented with its classic perfume. This soap comes in guest sizes, packaged in a modern black and white plastic box. There are eight bars to a box and the price, for luxury soap, is not high.

Home Builders Without Permits Upset Poland

WARSAW (AP) — Poland's supreme chamber of control is complaining about private homebuilders who simply ignore red tape and put up homes without permits.

The newspaper Zycie Warszawy says 18,800 cases of unapproved buildings were uncovered in 1958. It tells of "illegal legalization" or cases where officials granted permits to builders after their homes already were finished.

A number of cases have been sent to court and some officials removed from their posts.

Medical Care Bill Due Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill providing medical care for the aged probably won't be ready for the Senate until next week.

That was the word from Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which has been wrestling with the controversial issue.

Byrd's committee has been under pressure from Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, to have a measure ready for Senate consideration this weekend.

Red Attaches Gobble Up Defense Data — Legally

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Evening Star says that while the Soviet Union was expelling the U.S. air attache from Moscow Wednesday on espionage charges, four Soviet military attaches were winding up three busy days here collecting armloads of the latest defense information.

The story, reporting the observations of reporter Jerry O'Leary Jr. who followed the men through exhibits and lectures at the convention of the Assn. of the U.S. Army, says two other Iron Curtain military men from Poland were similarly occupied.

The Soviets were identified as Viktor F. Lobanov and Vsevolod S. Tovma, both being lieutenant colonels and assistant military attaches of the Soviet Embassy; and Vsevolod N. Generalov and August A. Yashin, assistant air attaches whose rank could not be learned.

POLES NAMED

The Poles were named as Capt. Edward Gordon of the military attache's office in the Polish Embassy, and Roman Miaztal, a clerk.

There was nothing illegal about the six Communist bloc men's three busy days—they were registered at the convention and had the credentials available to military attaches.

Neither was the data they crammed into bulging briefcases classified.

But an Army spokesman said seven items of defense hardware disclosed at the convention never before had been seen by the general public.

* * *

These included a T114 tracked reconnaissance vehicle planned to replace the armored car or the light tank; a new configuration of the Nike-Zeus missile; an artist's conception of the Army's new Mauler: a mobile automatic air defense firing system with electronic computer; and SD5 drone, a typical warhead of about 200 m.m.; a "Red Eye" hand-carried antiplane weapon, and a working model of a Sadac computer.

* * *

By way of background the story recalls that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told Congress last month that one of the results of democratic freedoms is the availability of information useful for military intelligence. Hoover quoted one Red defector as estimating that the Soviet military attache's office is thus able to obtain legally 95 per cent of the material it wants for the purpose.

Deer, bear, grouse, duck, woodcock, pheasant, snowshoe hare, cottontail rabbit, squirrel, coon, fox and wildcat are among the species sought by hunters in New Hampshire.

Jury Is Deliberating Fate of Sheriff in Murder Case

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — An all-male jury resumed deliberations at 9 a.m. today in the trial of former Sheriff Lawrence King, charged with murder in the love-triangle slaying of his deputy, William Kelly.

* * *

The case went to the jury at 4:30 p.m. Thursday. When no verdict had been reached about six hours later, Judge Henry Lee Rodgers ordered the jurors locked up overnight.

The state asked the death penalty for the former Montgomery County sheriff. If found guilty, and the jury recommends mercy or fails to agree on a penalty, he would get a life sentence.

* * *

King, 51, was accused of hiring two Negroes to kill Kelly in what officers described as a love-triangle involving the deputy's pretty, 23-year-old wife.

Mrs. Kelly has been cleared of any guilt.

She wept in court Thursday, in full view of the jurors, as prosecuting attorney Bradford Dye made an emotional plea, pointing out Kelly's two-year-old son would grow up without a father's guidance.

The son sat by her, looking bewildered.

The two Negroes in the case, Alex Joe Morris and Pink Earl Townsend, have both pleaded guilty to murder charges. They have not been sentenced.

State Selling Timber

LANSING (AP)—State forest timber sales totaled $795,000 in the fiscal year just closed, a second high to the 1956-57 year, the State Conservation Department reported. The Department said the figure represented a significant interest in timber marketing.

A hailstone weighing 1½ pounds fell on Potter, Neb., in 1928.

General Weakness Hits Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market slipped into general weakness today in early transactions on the Board of Trade. Most declines were in small fractions.

Nearby wheat months firmed slightly on word that Brazil had bought about 3¾ million bushels of hard wheat overnight. It was the first export business of consequence in that grain all week.

The moderate pressure on soybeans was described as continued liquidation. Although soybean oil staged a succession of new highs this week, soybean meal has been at season lows.

McHaney said cotton was the leading source of income for Texas farmers. Texas was fourth in sheep and lambs, fourth in peanuts and fifth in flaxseed in national agricultural statistics.

General Surge Zooms Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market raced ahead in active trading early today.

Gains of more than a point were frequent and included in most sections of the list.

The tape ran two minutes behind the pace of floor trading for a protracted period, the first time in some weeks that it has been more than one minute late.

It was 15 minutes before the tape caught up with transactions, compared with the two or three minute periods of lateness recently.

MOST GROUPS JOIN

Just about every group joined in the upsurge, which came after six straight advances plus yesterday's action by the Federal Reserve Board in approving lower discount rates in four Federal Reserve districts.

This was expected to make it easier for business and consumers alike to borrow money.

Successful satellite launchings and the missile recovery dispelled some of the uncertainty that has hung over the market because of the tense international situation.

DuPont moved up nearly 2 points, Eastman Kodak and Kennecott more than a point.

Gains of about a point were scored by Ford, Chrysler, Philco and Johns-Manville.

Some of the specialty trading favorites also took off, with Polaroid and Texas Instruments up more than 4, Zenith ahead more than 2 and Universal Match also up more than 2.

Other blue chips joining the march included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Radio Corp., American Telephone, General Electric, Chesapeake & Ohio and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Allied Chemical and Texaco eased.

Virginia Bar Assn., Alexander W. Parker of Richmond and Frank W. Rogers of Roanoke.

CABLED SPECIALIST

Parker said he had cabled John N. Hazard, a Columbia University professor who specializes in Soviet and International Law, to join them in Moscow. Hazard now is in West Germany.

Parker told newsmen that Mrs. Powers had been advised by the state department that Soviet authorities would not permit her to talk with her husband until his trial ends. The Virginia lawyer said the pilot's family would be allowed to consult with the Soviet lawyer appointed by the Soviet government to defend Powers.

Parker's only comment on the case was: "We are hopeful that he will be found guilty of flying the plane (and not of espionage) and that his sentence will be as light as the Soviet government will permit."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Powers said: "I am going to Moscow to be near my husband and I certainly hope for a light sentence for him."

★ ★ ★

The maximum penalty for espionage in the Soviet Union is death. Mrs. Powers told a news conference in Washington that a light sentence was as much as she could hope for.

VITAL SEQUENCE — The world's first space-capsule recovery, which took place Thursday near Hawaii, is illustrated in this schematic drawing. The 300-pound American Discoverer XIII circles in its tail-first position, then tilts 60 degrees, nose down, in its 17th trip around the earth. A retrorocket fires to slow it to 18,000 miles per hour, permitting a curved path toward the earth. Airplanes and ships listen to a satellite signal as they track. A parachute reduces speed as ships and planes patrol the 50-by-200-mile recovery area. (See story on page one.)

Poor Weather Hinders Attempt

Almost Net Capsule in Midair

HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE, Hawaii (AP)—An Air Force team, trying for one of the most spectacular catches ever attempted, missed by a hair Thursday, said Brig. Gen. Robert E. Greer.

But there was no error chalked up.

The 300-pound instrument-loaded capsule, released from the Discoverer XIII satellite, was supposed to land in an area 50 miles wide and 200 miles long.

But the capsule, released after 17 trips around the earth, landed about 50 miles north of its target, some 330 miles northwest of Honolulu.

★ ★ ★

"It was just a hair too far away for us to snatch it out of the air," said Greer, assistant chief of staff for guided missiles, who had flown here for the mission.

Capt. Lawrence Shinnick, 37, Frederick Md., was the pilot of the C119 flying boxcar which was first to spot the capsule and its orange and white parachute.

"We did not see the capsule coming down," Shinnick said. "The weather was not too good. But we heard the beacon signal and it got louder as the capsule descended."

BLAMES WEATHER

Shinnick said his plane, closest of the C119s strung out along the area, may have been level with the capsule.

"We might have snagged it had the weather been better," he said.

A winch operator in the tail of Shinnick's plane spotted the orange and white chute.

★ ★ ★

"I see something in the water," shouted Staff Sgt. Herman E. Caling. "That looks like it."

Gen. Greer, who conducted the Air Force news conference here after the recovery, was delighted with the flier's accomplishment.

"The air snatch program is good and before long we'll be bringing them back that way," he added.

The capsule — 27 inches long and 33 inches in diameter—was to be brought to Honolulu by helicopter. The capsule was aboard the USS Haiti Victory. The capsule was to be flown from Honolulu to Lockheed's missile headquarters at Sunnyvale, Calif., near San Francisco, and then on to Washington.

City School Additions Ready for Fall Use

Work which began almost two years ago on two junior high school additions in Pontiac will be finished in time for use next month.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools, reported on progress of the Madison and Washington junior high school additions at last night's Board of Education meeting.

Each addition is a half-million dollar project approved by the Board in November, 1958.

ALSO REJECTS

Other action by the board included rejection of four requests by maintenance workers, approval of a raise in substitute teacher salaries, and changes in procedures governing the operation of food services in public schools.

The school addition at Madison contains 10 classrooms, a special education classroom, homemaking room, a shop, two science rooms, a typing classroom and an art room.

The total cost of the addition was $402,277.

★ ★ ★

At Washington, the new addition houses a new cafeteria, instrumental music room, two art rooms, three classrooms, a science room, a special education room, two vocal music rooms, and a typing classroom.

The total cost of this addition was $538,753.

Other additions announced for the fall term included classrooms at Herrington, Mark Twain and Franklin elementary schools.

Mark Twain School will also get a new multi-purpose room.

Dr. Hufziger listed the Pontiac Central High School swimming pool and the auditorium work at Washington Junior High as the top rehabilitation projects ready for use.

Central swimmers will display their skills in new $108,000 surroundings this year.

The pool structure is new as is mechanical equipment, surfacing, walls, ceiling, heating, ventilating and locker room facilities.

The auditorium at Washington has a new floor, new seats, and has been repainted.

In other business, the Board approved a pay hike for substitute teachers.

★ ★ ★

The 1960-61 salary schedule will raise the pay from $15 to $16 per day for those teaching on a special certificate and from $17 up to $18 a day for those teaching on a life, provisional or permanent certificate.

This will still leave Pontiac slightly below the median salary for substitutes in the Metropolitan Detroit Schools, which is $19 per day.

Changes in operatin procedures of the food service policy were mostly minor and made only to clarify the administration's policy.

The one material change involved approval of a raise from 120 to 130 per cent in overtime pay for food service and maintenance employes.

British Plane Dives to Avoid Pan Am Jet

ROME (AP)—The pilot of a British European Airways Viscount dived his plane suddenly Thursday to avoid colliding with a Pan American World Airways jet airliner.

Twenty-three of the Viscount's 46 passengers were injured, none of them seriously.

BEA officials here said the action was taken by the Viscount's pilot when he noted the Pan Am Boeing 707 jet, taking off, was in his line of flight.

There was no time to warn the passengers to fasten their belts. As a result many passengers were bounced against the plane's ceiling and suffered bruises, cuts and shock. Eight of them were taken to San Giovanni Hospital for observation. Others were given first aid at the air field.

The Viscount, bound from Malta, via Rome, made a normal landing and departed later for London.

Fights Flies, Mosquitoes

China in Swat Battle

HONK KONG (AP)—Flies and mosquitoes, which were reported liquidated several years ago, again are swarming over some of the bigest cities in Communist China.

★ ★ ★

The People's Daily, Red China's official organ, reports a new "all-out battle against flies and mosquitoes" in Peiping, Shanghai and Tientain.

★ ★ ★

Factories, schools and government organizations in the three cities participated in this mass campaign.

"In Tientsin," the paper said, "an army of more than 500,000 people is engaged in the battle against flies and mosquitoes." Some 2,800 anti-mosquito incense burning centers have been set up in the city.

In Peiping the battle slogan is, "Every man has a swatter in hand and swats to death every fly in sight."
