Appeal Speeded to High Court in Girard Case

U.S. Seeks to Reverse Ruling That Japan Can't Try Soldier

WASHINGTON (INS) — The government moved at top speed today to obtain a Supreme Court decision on whether surrendering GI William S. Girard to a Japanese court would violate his constitutional rights.

U.S. District Court Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy ruled yesterday that the government's decision to permit Japan to try Girard on a manslaughter charge is "illegal and in violation of the Constitution of the United States."

In the face of the stunning defeat — latest in a recent series of major judicial setbacks to the government in issues involving constitutional rights of individuals—the government filed prompt notice of appeal with the district court.

Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin returns to his office today to take personal charge of the appeal procedure amid speculation that the government will seek to by-pass the appeals court to get a prompt hearing and decision from the Supreme Court.

The high court had planned to recess for the summer next Monday, thus making the need for speed more urgent.

Judge McGarraghy declared that Girard is entitled to a military court-martial for the alleged slaying of a Japanese woman on a firing range in Japan Jan. 30, because he was on duty at the time.

He based his decision largely on a 67-year-old Supreme Court ruling that federal employes accused of committing a crime in the discharge of their duties must be tried by federal courts.

The State and Defense Departments made the final decision to

Teamsters Union Bosses on Trial

WASHINGTON (INS) — Attorneys for number two Teamster Union official James R. Hoffa went to the Court of Appeals today to seek a week's delay in Hoffa's conspiracy trial which opened this morning.

Daniel B. Maher, actually counsel for Hoffa's co-defendant Hyman I. Fischbach, carried the plea for an Appeals Court order to the higher tribunal. This development came after U.S. District Judge Burnita S. Matthews denied a defense motion for a delay and denied a request for a 15-minute recess to permit the appeal.

DELAYING TACTICS

Assistant U.S. attorney Edward P. Troxell labelled the defense moves "delaying tactics."

Edward Bennett Williams, representing Hoffa, then charged that wire tapping was used to obtain information about Hoffa, Fischbach and John Cye Cheasty, principal government witness.

Hoffa and Fischbach are charged with seeking to plant Cheasty as a spy on the staff of the Senate Rackets Committee. They are charged with three counts of conspiracy and bribery.

WIRE TAPS

Williams contended that a man whom he identified as Lawrence Burns of Detroit gave the defense information about wire taps but said he could not locate Burns and produce him in court immediately.

Williams then asked for an immediate appearance of Cheasty in court to testify on the wire tapping charge.

Judge Matthews denied the request on grounds that the defense had made a charge without any supporting evidence and that the issue of wire taps could be raised throughout the trial.

WASHINGTON (AP)— Frank W. Brewster testified in his contempt of Congress trial today that it was on advice of counsel that he refused to produce records and answer questions before the Senate Investigations subcommittee in January.

Brewster said his attorney, Samuel B. Bassett, told him the subcommittee was going beyond its powers.

UNLAWFUL SEARCH

Brewster, 60, chairman of the Western Conference of the Teamsters Union also said Bassett advised him subpoenas for the production of union records were so sweeping as to violate the Fourth Amendment guarantees against unlawful search and seizure.

★ ★ ★

U. S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica, before whom Brewster is on trial without a jury, asked whether his counsel also advised him that if his legal advice turned out to be wrong that Brewster would have to suffer the consequences.

"I believe that he did," Brewster replied. "I'm the one on trial."

"In other words, the lawyer doesn't have to serve the time," Sirica commented.

"I knew the lawyer wouldn't have to serve the time," Brewster replied, "He'd get me out in a year or two."

You Can't Hide!

A new sign appeared this morning on the picket line in front of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, 1410 S. Telegraph Rd. It read: "We couldn't find Hoffa last week, but we know where he is today."

The pickets are seeking to end Hoffa's 3½-year trusteeship of the Pontiac local. He has consistently refused to meet with them, they charge.

Eight Are Killed; Oil Slick Perils Rescue Attempt

One Sailor Missing; Number of Survivors Not Determined

BREST, France (AP)—Two ocean-going tankers collided in darkness and heavy fog off the French Atlantic coast early today.

The French radio station at Brest said rescue ships on the scene reported eight sailors dead and one missing.

The number of survivors could not be determined exactly.

One tanker, identified as the Liberian - registered Stony Point, which previously was reported sunk, was lying low in the water and burning but had not gone down.

French maritime authorities said the other vessel was the Greek tanker Ionis.

The Brest station reported one crewman was missing from the Stony Point and eight men of the Ionis had lost their lives in the collision or the subsequent fire.

Thick fog and blistering flames from spreading oil slicks made rescue operations perilous as the crews apparently abandoned the two burning ships.

★ ★ ★

The Stony Point was reported to be a 15,000-ton ship, while the Greek vessel was 19,000 tons.

RESCUE 36 MEN

Lloyd's Register, however, lists only one Stony Point, a 10,576-ton American ship operated by the United States Petroleum Carriers, Inc., New York.

The German ship Eric Reckmann reported she had picked up 36 men from the Greek tanker, including 10 injured, and 16 survivors from the Stony Point.

It was believed that the dead men were injured who died after being picked up.

The Reckmann radioed 10 men were missing from the Greek tanker and 16 from the Stony Point.

Turnpike Group in New York

They'll Discuss Bonds to Pay for Expressway Past Pontiac

Michigan Turnpike Authority officials flew to New York City today optimistic that their proposed 76-mile long north-south toll road past Pontiac will soon be a reality.

Chairman George N. Higgins of Fernadale and other authority members will confer tomorrow with the brokerage firm of Allen & Co., the organization that helped breathe new life into the authority this spring.

The subject of the discussion will be whether the brokerage can market roughly $165 million in bonds to finance Michigan's first toll road from the Detroit Industrial Expressway to the Fenton-Clio Expressway at the southwest edge of Flint.

Higgins firmly believed that the firm will agree to the bonds, although the authority floundered last summer when bonding companies believed that a toll road was too risky financially.

At that time, State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler was threatening to build free highways in the turnpike corridor giving the toll road stiff competition for traffic.

However, the legislature recently guaranteed a cushion of up to $3,000,000 in state gas tax money to insure payment to interest on turnpike bonds if tolls fell short of expectation.

Higgins credited the Allen Company with suggesting this cushion, and added that with the guarantee the firm felt it could find bond buyers.

It was the Allen Company, Higgins pointed out, that figured out a similar scheme to sell Mackinac Bridge Authority bonds, when all other proposals proved unattractive to buyers.

Several legislators accompanied Higgins, including Sen. Haskill L. Nichols, of Jackson who championed the gas tax cushion legislation. Nichols is chairman of the Senate Highway Committee.

Storm Fells Trees, Power Lines

Cool Weather Proves Costly

Severe thunderstorms yesterday ushered cooler weather into Oakland County, but caused damage to trees, power lines and telephones.

Moving slowly across Southeastern Michigan in an easterly direction, the squall line struck Pontiac at 4:30 p.m. Temperature plummeted from 86 to 72 in 10 minutes with the cooling rain.

After the first storm, the temperature gradually rose to 79 at 5:30, but dropped sharply again to 68 degrees at 6:30, with high winds, rain and lightning.

Trees toppled throughout Pontiac and wires went down interrupting telephone service for some 45 Pontiac subscribers.

Police and the Department of Parks and Recreation reported calls of trees down began about 6:30 when the wind struck. It was the worst blow this spring, a parks department spokesman said, with some 50 calls coming in.

Crews worked far into the night removing the fallen trees to clear the roads. The Pontiac High School campus was particularly hard hit.

A resident, Dale Hampshire, of 77 S. Sanford St., reported, "We were just clearing the dinner table when we heard the wind and the sound of breaking tree tops. We headed for the basement."

Hampshire said tree tops struck his house and fell across power lines. The wind also toppled several television and radio aerials.

Pontiac firemen were called at midnight last night to stand by near some electric wires which were down at 74 S. Johnson Ave.

CAR WAS HIT

Kenneth R. Howard, 4861 Kempf, Drayton Plains, reported to Pontiac Police his 1957 auto was damaged by a broken tree limb about 6:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Howard's auto was parked in front of 27 N. Johnson St., while he was visiting a patient at Pontiac General Hospital. Police report the rear, top and left side of the auto were damaged.

Michigan Bell Telephone reported 300 phones knocked out by falling wires and wet cables throughout the county. Rochester was hard hit, with more than 100 phones out.

In Gingellville, lightning struck the garage of the Harold Van Camps, of 3414 Gregory Rd. It followed electrical lines into the house, knocking out the wiring, telephone, and television. The Van Camps had just replaced the television set's picture tube last Saturday.

POWER LINES DOWN

Detroit Edison suffered scattered damage to its lines, mainly in the Milford and Commerce Township areas. Power lines were also down in Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Fifty customers of Consumers Power were without service for an average of three hours in the county, but no major damage was reported.

The storm brought an hour and a half tornado warning to the Detroit area, but no twisters materialized. The forecast was limited to the area from Detroit southward into Ohio and Indiana.

In downtown Port Huron, lightning struck a utility pole and coursed downward into underground gas mains touching off an explosion which wrecked a 35-foot section of pavement.

'I Don't Intend to Resign,' Says Bakers' Union Boss

WASHINGTON (INS)—Bakers' Union President James G. Cross said today he intends to stay in his post despite charges at Senate hearings that he "betrayed" dues-paying members and mis-spent their money.

Cross described as "very ridiculous" a published report that he will resign Monday and be replaced by former President Herman Winter, until a new leader can be found.

He told newsmen: "I never did (plan to resign) and I don't intend to."

Cross made the comment while waiting to be called before the Senate Rackets Committee, which devoted a morning session to questioning union lawyer Herman Cooper, of New York, on how Secretary - Treasurer Curtis R. Sims was suspended after accusing Cross of misuse of dues money.

Sims charged among other things that Cross romanced a Hollywood party girl at the expense of the union treasury.

Cross, who indicated to Senate rackets investigators yesterday he will not draw a wall of Fifth Amendment silence about his activities, was the star witness at the probe of the 165,000-member international bakery and confectionery workers union.

The bulky bespectacled labor chieftain was branded in yesterday's testimony as a "dictator" who ousted or mauled those in the union who opposed his policies.

He appeared briefly to assure the committee he would answer all "pertinent" questions if the panel would subject each of the witnesses to a series of questions propounded by Cross' attorney, Abraham Harris.

Peter Carbonara, of Skokie, Ill., secretary-treasurer of Chicago Bakers Local Number One, said 120 employes of the Zion Industries bakery and candy plant in Zion, Ill., were denied permission to strike at a time when the company's owners were lending Cross more than $100,000.

Carbonara agreed with committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy's contention that Cross' action amounted to a "betrayal" of union members.

Japan's Prime Minister Arrives in Washington

WASHINGTON (INS)—Japanese prime minister Nobusuke Kishi arrived in Washington today for a visit he hopes will "prepare the way for a new era of Japanese-American relations."

Kishi was warmly welcomed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon as his plane reached Washington National airport at 9:50 a.m. EDT.

In his prepared remarks, Kishi said he intended to hold "frank and friendly discussions" with President Eisenhower, Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other top-level American officials.

Teenagers Give Dance Proceeds to Aid Hospital

Two junior high teenage girls had a small but heart-warming message for Pontiac city commissioners last night.

"The Les Filles and Demiteens sororities held a teenage dance last week and we would like to give a portion of the proceeds to completing the hospital," said Peggy Warren, 13.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners welcomed the donation, which Peggy said would be around $30, and instructed that it be sent to the director of Pontiac General Hospital.

"We decided there were many worthwhile projects," Peggy said, "but that finishing the hospital was most important." This was seconded by her friend Janet Livingston, 14.

Youngsters Save Baby in Lake

Two youngsters came to the rescue of a baby in White Lake Township yesterday and ended up tackling a man-sized job.

Just before noon, Peter Smith, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Smith, 1285 Grove Point Dr., and his buddy, Dale McFarland, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McFarland, 1261 Grove Point Dr., were swimming in Round Lake, behind Peter's home.

★ ★ ★

Unknown to them, Peter's baby brother, Stephen, 2, had crawled out onto the dock near them and was creeping dangerously near the edge.

Suddenly the baby fell off the other side of the dock, into from five to eight feet of water between two boats.

Peter saw the baby under the dock and swam quickly to his assistance. Dale followed and swiftly climbed into one of the boats.

Then Peter grabbed the baby and handed him up to his friend.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Smith came running down to the dock as she heard the boys calling for help. She and the boys hurried back to the house with little Stephen. There they removed his wet clothing and put him to bed.

Said Mrs. Smith, "The baby is fine. He only swallowed a little water. The boys certainly displayed presence of mind in acting so quickly to save his life."

Urges County OK on State Public Works Act

Oakland County may become the first Michigan county to come under the state's new Department of Public Works act Monday.

Supervisor Harold K. Schone of Birmingham said he will ask the Board of Supervisors to vote their acceptance of the act's far-reaching provisions and agree upon establishment of a new county Department of Public Works with authority over water supply and sewage disposal projects.

★ ★ ★

Schone, head of the board's legislative committee, termed the bill and the powers it gives the county "a major step" toward solution of public utility problems confronting such fast-growing metropolitan areas as Oakland County.

The legislative committee and the county's five legislators in Lansing backed passage of the legislation last month. Gov. Williams signed the bill into immediate effect June 4.

"We believe the bill will aid materially in facilitating construction or acquisition of water supply and sewage disposal systems in those parts of the county where there are needed," Schone told supervisors in a letter announcing Monday's proposal.

AVOID PRESENT DELAYS

"Acting under the bill's provisions, we should avoid some of the present delays we are experiencing on proposed projects."

The Board of Supervisors will be called on, he said, to create a public works department, allocate a budget and hire a staff of three, five or seven members. The Oakland County drain commissioner would automatically be one of the members.

The act would give the county authority to pledge its full faith and credit behind local bond issues for projects between two or more communities. The Department of Public Works could plan and initiate projects involving several communities.

But Schone said the county would not be able to enter a community without its consent and approval from the Board of Supervisors.

Cultural Center Proposed in Area

Family Willing to Donate Land

Residents of Waterford Must Express Interest, Frank W. Steere Says

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Of Our Waterford Bureau

The Frank W. Steere family is willing to donate approximately 18 acres of choice property to Waterford Township for a library, art center, park, bird and wildlife sanctuary, if the residents are interested in such a project.

This was announced by Steere today at a luncheon for a group of civic leaders. The proposal was more or less a "test balloon" to get reactions of the community.

IN HEART OF AREA

Situated in the heart of Waterford Township on M59 at Pontiac Lake road, the land now serves as a bird sanctuary and has been in the Steere family for many years.

Two conditions were specified if the township is to be given the land.

None of the property can be sold, and a library building will be erected to cost not less than $200,000.

CULTURE CENTER

"The intent is to provide a cultural center in Waterford Township, rather than a recreational park and playground. Steere said.

The entire tract of land, which few people have ever seen, is a beauty spot in the area. The property includes a small pool surrounded by trees, and gently rolling hills.

There is an ideal setting for a library building in the center of the property, on the crest of a slight hill. This was cleared of timber years ago for a huge garden.

NARROW ROAD

A narrow road winds around the property and is lined with hundreds of pine trees, some 40 feet high, planted by Steere and his two sons, Morris and Frank Jr. He also has a daughter, Jean. Mrs. Steere died in March.

The Steere family first came to their summer cottage at Watkins Lake 30 years ago. Gradually they acquired more land and a permanent home was designed and built by Steere who is a retired engineer, inventor and farmer.

A large barn dominates another part of the land. It has been kept in perfect condition throughout the years and is a fine example of early American barn architecture.

Steere said the proposed cultural setup for Waterford Township would be somewhat of an innovation. "I don't know another spot in the community that would be more suitable for such a project," he added.

At the present time, the library is located in one corner of the Community Activities Building and is maintained solely by volunteer workers and donations from township people. Mrs. Kenneth Valentine is librarian.

In talking to the group today, Steere said, "We are asking you people to help us decide if the citizens here would be interested in such a project. If sufficient interest is shown, I will make a formal proposal to the township board. Then the taxpayers can say yes or no."

PROPOSED CIVIC DONATION — Retired Waterford Township engineer and inventor Frank W. Steere has offered to donate 18 acres of land at M 59 and Pontiac Lake road to the township for a library site, art center, park, and bird and wildlife sanctuary. He announced the offer at a luncheon for civic leaders today. The scene above is typical of the gentle rolling land.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does a falling barometer always mean bad weather ahead?

A falling barometer is never an indication of good weather. It may mean that a storm, or rain, or gusty, changeable weather, is on the way, but it seldom produces clear, cool weather.

Should good weather follow a lowering barometer, it would be only temporary, unless the lowering pressure was a slight movement, corrected almost immediately by a rise.

★ ★ ★

If the wind is blowing from the east direction moving north, and the barometer is falling, look out for severe weather—a storm with heavy rain is a good bet.

★ ★ ★

If the glass is falling and the wind is from the south or southeast direction moving to east, rainy weather should follow, but it will not be prolonged. You can usually count on the rain ending in a day or less. A weather vane, used with a barometer, will greatly improve your forecasting. And, like the barometer, more can be deducted from the direction the instrument is moving than from the reading itself.

No Specific Plans Made on Waterford Police Force

No specific plans have been made for operation of the pocket-size Waterford Township police force, reduced from 10 members to 5 at Monday night's board meeting.

Under the cut, township Supervisor Elmer Johnson will handle the administrative duties of the department.

PLANS MEETING

He said today that he is planning a meeting with Capt. Millard Pender of the police department, who will head the force in the new setup.

In addition to discussing personnel and equipment usage, Johnson said he would confer with Pender, and possibly the township board, on the selection of the three patrolmen provided for in the cutback order.

They are to be picked by seniority, according to the order, but Johnson said five of the six patrolmen have almost identical seniority time.

The position of police chief has been eliminated as well as the jobs of three patrolmen and a radio-operator-typist.

Johnson reported that seven men have already offered their services as volunteer policemen to supplement the regular force. Four have no experience, he said, but three others have some experience including two special deputies who have uniforms and gun permits.

There were no calls of complaint or approval from township citizens regarding the cut, Johnson said.

He said he has not talked to Sheriff Frank Irons about the proposal to depend on that office for daytime patrol in the township.

DESIRE TO HELP

He said, however, the sheriff has expressed a desire to help when they conferred following an earlier cut in the township police force, in April.

Earlier, the township force was cut from 16 men, when $100,000 a year revenue from justice court cost was ruled out by Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Ziem told county justices to follow an attorney general's opinion that costs assessed violators must be the actual cost of prosecution.

Mrs. Tremper Still Improving in Red Hospital

A former Pontiac resident, Mrs. Margaret Tremper, of Grand Rapids, was moved yesterday to a Moscow hospital from the airport hospital where she was taken after a plane wreck.

The move meant that her condition had somewhat improved. Doctors had feared to move her earlier.

Mrs. Tremper, who was born and raised in Pontiac, was among the five Americans injured or killed in the crash of a Polish airliner in a storm near Moscow Airport, Friday.

Her condition is still described as serious. She suffered internal injuries, shock and concussion in the wreck. She now shares a room with her daughter, Michele, 12, who is in satisfactory condition.

Her husband is in Copenhagen awaiting a Soviet visa to allow him to join his family in Moscow.

Birmingham Man Dies in Two-Car Collision

Fatally injured in a two-car collision yesterday was Herman F. Bundy, 49, of 210 Fairfax, Birmingham.

This accident, in downtown Detroit, brought the city's traffic fatality count to 81 for the year. The number was 104 at the same time last year.

Slaying Suspect Bound to Court

Arraignment Set for Birmingham Man in Stabbing of Wife

James D. Shepherd, 36-year-old Birmingham man, today was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on a charge of first degree murder in the May 27 fatal stabbing of his wife of five months.

Arraignment has been set for 1:30 p.m. June 24, according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

In a 2½-hour pre-trial examination before Birmingham Justice John J. Gafill this morning, Janet Hutton, 13, daughter of the dead woman, testified she saw her stepfather remove a knife from a wall collection and stab her mother.

Further testimony by Dr. Herman Linn of William Beaumont Hospital revealed that death was caused by the stabbing.

There were no arguments presented by the defense before Justice Gafill. Shepherd is being held without bond in the county jail.

According to Ziem, Janet testified that she ran downstairs when she heard her mother screaming for her. She then saw the alleged stabbing.

Following this, she said, Shepherd grabbed her by the throat and then released her.

Sheperd has insisted that he "blacked out" from the time he went to bed at 9 p.m. until almost two hours later when he discovered his wife dying on the living room floor.

Police have theorized that the slaying followed a family argument, and that Mrs. Shepherd had threatened to leave her husband.

Seek Dismissal in Loan Case

Pontiac Men Claim Evidence Can't Support Racket Charge

A motion has been made to dismiss charges against two Pontiac area men indicted in April in the alleged racket involving government insured GI home loans in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Attorneys for Joe Pollina, 46, of 3540 Oakshire St., Waterford Township, and William N. Gilmore, 40, of 32035 Waltham St., Southfield Township, have asked dismissal on grounds there is "insufficient facts to base charges," according to Dwight K. Hamborsky, U. S. District Attorney.

Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman will hand down a decision July 21 based on briefs by both sides, Hamborsky said.

The trial of Louis C. Linteau, 42, of 615 E. Tennyson Ave., has been postponed indefinitely due to the illness of Judge Frank Picard.

THIRD MAN

Linteau, a former Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 official, was a third man indicted in the case. The government charges him with trying to interest GI union members with better jobs in return for veterans' rights to homes in the Walton Ranch Homes, Inc. in the township.

A fourth man, Leroy Stein, 42, of Detroit, was sentenced last month. He was fined $1,000 and placed on two years' probation.

Pollina is superintendent of Motorcar Transport Co. in Pontiac, while Gilmore formerly was salesman for the building corporation.

It was the first major stoppage since the waterway was opened to full-scale traffic April 9, following removal of ships sunk in it during the British-French-Israel invasion.

Missing Widow Found in Youngstown Hospital

DETROIT (AP) — A 77-year-old Grosse Pointe widow, missing on a bus trip to Connecticut, was located yesterday in a hospital in Youngstown, Ohio.

A daughter said Mrs. Henrietta Gagnier, widow of former Grosse Pointe fire chief Fred Gagnier, was suffering from exhaustion.

The elderly woman left last Thursday from Eveleth, Minn., where she had been living with her daughter. A police search began when she failed to arrive as scheduled at another daughter's home in Moodus, Conn.

Fight 7 California Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Firemen in three counties manned fire lines today at seven major Southern California fires. Acreage burned totaled more than 7,500 early today.

The Day in Birmingham

Practice Six Measures for Safeguard of Birds

BIRMINGHAM—Six of the seven "protective" measures suggested by the Detroit Audubon Society for the safety of birds during spraying against Dutch elm disease are already in practice here, City Forester Charles W. Gale revealed today.

The society suggests that cities stop elm planting until the disease is brought under control; have one annual spraying before leaves are out; do the work in the November 15-April 15 period; use a mist blower rather than hydraulic spray; remove dead and dying elms immediately; and enforce state law that requires this be done within ten days.

No action, however, has been taken locally on their seventh proposal. This calls for a ban on private operators spraying during the summer months. Gale said he feels there is not enough of this done in Birmingham to warrant the adoption of such an ordinance.

Gale's report came as an answer to residents' complaints that DDT sprays are killing birds. His office he said has thoroughly checked spray methods using information from Michigan State University, University of Michigan, Michigan Department of Conservation and other state and federal agencies to determine an adequate program to fight Dutch elm disease and at the same time present no threat to birds.

The Rev. Reginald Becker of Embury Methodist Church said summer service schedules will go into effect, Sunday. There will be one preaching service at 10 a.m. The nursery school and classes through the sixth grade also will be held at this time. The 9 a.m. church school for seventh grade and up will continue.

The request of Wah Tam, for a sidewalk along his property on the east side of Elm street between Chestnut and Hazel streets has been referred to city engineers. It was pointed out that since the 1957 sidewalk plans are not yet completed Tam's request would be included in the program.

Parking lot meter revenue shows a slight increase over a year ago with the exception of the 30 minute meters, according to Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley. Half hour meters this year averaged $4.28 per week as compared to $4.30 in 1956. Other meters and averages are one hour $2.43-$2.28, two hour $1.35-$1.25.

U.S. Speeds Appeal in Girard Decision

surrender the 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill., Army Specialist 3.C. to Japan for trial, and President Eisenhower supported them.

They based their ruling on an administrative agreement with Japan which provided that the U. S. can waive jurisdiction in cases where the alleged crime by a serviceman overseas occurs while he is on duty.

NEW TREATY

Some authorities said the decision requires negotiation of a new treaty with Japan concerning American GIs. Japan's justice minister declared in Tokyo that the ruling could develop into a full-fledged "international legal dispute."

Coincidentally, the decision came on the eve of Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's arrival in Washington today for important conferences with Eisenhower and other officials.

The prime minister declined any comment on the case. He said before leaving Japan, however, that Girard's trial by a Japanese court would be proper procedure, and made clear his government would be sorely disappointed by an adverse ruling.

McGarraghy did not grant the request of Girard's attorneys, headed by Joseph S. Robinson and Earl J. Carroll of New York, for a writ of habeas corpus which would have brought the GI back to the federal court in Washington for a hearing.

Instead, the judge issued an injunction against "the proposed delivery of the petitioner to the Japanese government." Such a transfer, the jurist held, "would violate the rights of the petitioner guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States."

The possibility that a new treaty may have to be negotiated was raised by Sen. Sam Ervin (D-N.C.), chairman of a subcommittee which each year reviews "status of forces" treaty operations with friendly nations.

RIGHT DECISION

Ervin said he believed the McGarraghy decision was the right one. So did Senate Armed Services Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.). Russell said the case has been "miserably mishandled" and after Girard was turned over to the Japanese it posed a "great problem" for the President and Dulles.

He added: "I don't want to see a single American boy sacrificed in the game of international politics."

Several other senators expressed surprise at the verdict and voiced concern over its impact on American troop relations abroad. Some contended that the judge had, in effect, declared the status-of-forces treaties unconstitutional.

McGarraghy, however, in his decision did not touch on this issue and twice before has upheld the constitutionality on the treaties in cases involving GIs accused of crimes committed off-base and off-duty.

The judge based yesterday's decision on the ground that Girard was on official Army duty when he allegedly fired an empty cartridge case from a grenade-launcher to fatally injure Mrs. Nakai Saki. He noted several previous cases in which a soldier or federal official was kept in federal jurisdiction when charged with crimes committed while on duty and state courts sought jurisdiction.

The Japanese have contended all along that Girard was off duty at the time of the shooting. Japanese justice minister Umekichi Nakamura reasserted this in Tokyo and said the right of a Japanese trial for Girard was agreed upon by the joint American-Japanese committee under the two countries' administrative agreement.

Sugar Ray as Actor?

Storm Fells Trees, Cuts Power Lines

469 Lowell St., was overcome by heat exhaustion, firemen said.

★ ★ ★

A 10-year-old South Lyon girl, Diane Driver, narrowly escaped death when lightning struck a tree under which she was standing. She ran under the tree when rain interrupted a picnic she was attending.

The storms ushered a cool and dry air mass into the Great Lakes area and pushed the hot, humid air eastward toward the Atlantic Ocean.

A limb which was torn from a tree at the Clinton River bridge on Pontiac Lake road during last night's storm, caused a pair of accidents in a manner of minutes after it fell.

Charles Murphy Jr., 33, of 5280 Lynsue Rd., Waterford Township, hit the limb just as it fell on the road.

Minutes later James Hodge, 32, of 4885 Irwindale Dr., Waterford Township, swerved to avoid the limb and hit the side of the bridge.

★ ★ ★

Neither man was hurt and both were able to drive their cars away from the scene.

Five days of broiling temperatures in the eastern half of the nation and floods in the mid-continent took at least 234 lives. Most of the 206 heat casualties were drownings. Floods caused another 28 deaths.

Ike Cites Merit in Soviet Disarmament Plan

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today Russia's latest disarmament proposals are a hopeful sign deserving of the most earnest and sympathetic study.

Eisenhower told a news conference he is not suggesting that the United States should agree to any unlimited and unconditional suspension of atomic weapons tests.

★ ★ ★

Both the United States and Russia would have to know exactly what was going on under any suspension program, Eisenhower said.

His remarks were a comment on the Soviet Union's recent proposal for an internationally supervised ban on atomic weapons tests.

★ ★ ★

On the same subject, Eisenhower said forcefully that Harold E. Stassen, his disarmament adviser, was not reprimanded when he returned from London talks briefly last week.

★ ★ ★

There was some feeling, Eisenhower said, that Stassen had been rushing ahead too fast. But he added he certainly does not feel Stassen's usefulness has been ruined.

Disarmament is a very complex, delicate matter, Eisenhower said, and it is necessary to call negotiators home sometimes for consultation.

★ ★ ★

He added that was the case when Stassen was asked to return from London.

★ ★ ★

In response to a question, Eisenhower said he would be willing to have the United States enter into a temporary agreement for suspension of atomic tests while efforts are continued to achieve a "package" disarmament pact covering much more ground.

This was Eisenhower's first news conference since he was stricken with a stomach upset June 9-10. He joked about the illness at one point and appeared to be in the best of spirits.

The session with newsmen was one of the most lightly attended of any Eisenhower has held since taking office.

There probably were two reasons:

INTENSE HEAT

1. The intense heat. It was 87 degrees outside, and it seemed at boiling temperature in the conference room, which is not air conditioned.

2. Reporters probably did not get word in time that the meeting was being held half an hour earlier than usual.

On arrival, Eisenhower noted that several sweltering reporters were in shirt sleeves. He remarked with a grin that he was glad to see that display of good sense.

But he kept his light gray coat on.

The president also discussed:

The Supreme Court's recent series of decisions dealing with individual rights are being studied carefully by the Justice Department, he said, to determine whether there should be any further tests of the laws involved.

Without specific mention of a District Court ruling yesterday barring the government from turning GI William S. Girard over to the Japanese for trial, Eisenhower said he would not care to discuss the case at this time lest it cause some possible damage to Girard.

Eisenhower also said today his civil rights program is moderate and decent and is not aimed at persecuting anyone.

LAD LEFT IN RFD BOX — Nurses at Grand Haven Municipal Hospital have named this 6-pound baby Tommy RFD because he was found in a rural mail box when the carrier attempted to deliver mail. Holding the baby, believed to be a week old, is Eunice Mednis. The postman, Robert Bethke may ask for custody of the child if his parents are not located.

Woman Blows Her Top —Trading Stamps Gone

NORTH SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Thieves finally made Mrs. Grace Sebastian angry.

Police said she told them she didn't care enough to report the theft of a $100 watch, $80 in cash, $100 worth of liquor and some gas from the car over a period of six weeks.

"But when they took my seven books of trading stamps I got mad," she complained. "I licked every stamp myself."

To Stay Awake?

NEW YORK (INS) — The Pan-American Coffee Bureau estimates that more than 27,000,000 U.S. workers will drink 47,000,000 cups of coffee during coffee-breaks today. The organization reports that a survey found that 71 per cent of all factory, office and store workers in the nation take coffee breaks as compared with 49 per cent in 1950.

Strike Delays Liner's Leaving

Liberte Can't Leave Paris for New York Because of Walkout

PARIS (AP) — The French liner Liberte was forced to delay its scheduled departure for New York today because of a strike by maritime engineers and mechanics of the Communist-dominated General Workers' Union (CGT). The strike was in its third day.

Shipping officials expressed concern that the delay in the departure of the French line vessel would throw transatlantic passenger traffic into confusion in the midst of one of the heaviest tourist seasons in decades.

★ ★ ★

Passengers for New York switched to the liners United States and Queen Mary. The most serious difficulty posed by the continuing strike was on the other side of the Atlantic where hundreds of passengers already have booked eastbound passage aboard the Liberte.

Normally at this time of year westbound Atlantic passenger traffic is relatively light. The heaviest passenger traffic is toward Europe's summer vacation attractions.

★ ★ ★

Striking members of the CGT have called on other workers in all French ports to join their walkout to back up demands for a 10 to 15 per cent wage increase.

At Le Havre, France's principal port for transatlantic passenger ships, the big liner Ile de France, the Colombie, the Antilles and a number of French cargo ships also were stranded by the strike. The liner Flandre is due to arrive at Le Havre Friday and, if no solution has been reached, it, too, will be immobilized.

Week-Old Baby Left in Mail Box in Good Health

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Municipal hospital attendants reported "Tommie RFD," a baby boy abandoned in a rural mailbox south of Grand Haven, spent a normal night and apparently remained in good health.

The boy, believed less than a week old, was found yesterday by rural carrier Robert Bethke when he delivered a newspaper at the box before the Richard VanderYacht residence on Lakeshore drive.

Ottawa County sheriff's men believed the abandonment was planned because the box is screened from the VanderYacht home by trees and hidden from view of neighboring homes by a bend in the road.

★ ★ ★

An investigation continued to establish the baby's identity.

Hospital spokesmen, who named the foundling "Tommie RFD," maintained their estimate that the 5-pound, 12-ounce infant was no more than a week old and described him "quite normal in every respect for a baby."

Bethke yesterday approached county juvenile authorities, expressing an interest in gaining temporary custody of the boy with a view toward later adoption. Bethke, 41, a disabled World War II veteran, is the father of three children.

States Facing New Challenges

Coming of Atomic Era Poses Many Problems for All Areas

CHICAGO (INS)—The expanding atomic energy program has created new and diverse responsibilities for the American states in areas of health, education, conservation and control.

The Council of State Governments at a recent meeting in Chicago, called upon each state to meet the new problems and challenges stemming from the increasing development of atomic energy facilities and use of radioactive materials.

★ ★ ★

The group urges cooperation among states and the federal government in the development and enforcement of health and safety standards pertaining to the use of nuclear materials.

The national shortage of trained personnel in scientific fields prompted the council to stress that states improve the teaching of science and mathematics at all levels and to encourage students to pursue education in these fields.

State public utility commissions, the members warn, could either hinder or promote the development of atomic power for the generation of electrical energy by their decisions involving questions of financing, allocation of costs for development and rates to be charged consumers.

★ ★ ★

Delegates from 40 states attending the conference note that the location of atomic installations is subject to land use controls exercised by state and local governments.

They say that every effort should be made to develop standards on which zoning for these plants can be based.

Other responsibilities listed by the Council concern:

State policies dealing with workmen's compensation for atomic industries, insurance for private concerns operating reactors, conservation of natural resources needed for atomic development and regulations on transportation of nuclear materials.

Israel Still Has None

Red Subs Reported in Egypt's Fleet

JERUSALEM (AP) — News that have joined the Egyptian fleet caused new alarm today among Israeli officials. They are believed to be Egypt's first undersea craft, and Israel has none.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion met with his Cabinet in a special session which lasted until early this morning. A communique said only that security matters were discussed, but it was obvious that the Egyptian-Soviet submarine deal was high on the agenda.

Israeli officials feared the undersea craft would be used against Israeli shipping, particularly in the disputed Gulf of Aqaba leading to the southern Israeli port of Eilat. Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Jordan claim the gulf is Arab territorial water.

★ ★ ★

Since the Israeli invasion last fall Egypt has had no effective way to interfere with shipping to and from Eilat. Israeli troops occupied and destroyed Egypt's Sinai Desert gun positions commanding the entrance to the gulf, then turned the position over to the U.N. Emergency Force. Egypt has been wary of sending her warships against Israeli shipping since the one surface action of the invasion ended with the damaging and capture of an Egyptian frigate.

Egyptian purchase of the three Russian subs was confirmed last night by Egypt's semiofficial Middle East News Agency, which said they had joined the Egyptian fleet and were in Egyptian waters.

The British admiralty reported the passage of the subs through the English Channel nearly two weeks ago. It said one was a small coastal type and two were long-range boats.

McNamara, Potter Agree and Disagree

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Sens. McNamara and Potter voted with the majority last night as the Senate rejected, 55-31, an atomic treaty amendment to forbid the President to release fissionable materials to an international atomic agency without prior Congressional consent.

But the Michigan Senators split as the Senate ratified the treaty approving United States membership in the International Atomic Energy Agency. Democrat McNamar voted for ratification and Republican Potter against it.

Fire in Williams' Home Causes $10 Damages

LANSING (AP) — A fire caused some excitement, but only $10 damages, at the home of Gov. Williams last night.

The governor and his wife, Nancy, were not at home at the time. Their son, Gery, smelled smoke and called firemen.

Deputy Chief Robert Simmons said a charred section was found in some insulation board forming the basement ceiling. He said some remodeling work had been going on and apparently a spark from a plumber's torch caused the material to smolder.

Expected to Follow Civil Rights

Hells Canyon Dispute Near Action in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hells Canyon fight—the nation's hottest private vs. public power row—may break out again in the Senate today.

A Hells Canyon bill was listed next on the Senate calendar after expected discussion of civil rights legislation.

Twenty-eight senators, mostly Democrats, are cosponsoring a bill to authorize a high federal dam in the Hells Canyon reach of the Snake River bordering Idaho and Oregon.

The project would flood the sites of three low dams which the Idaho Power Co. plans to build in the Columbia River tributary, with the approval of the Eisenhower administration. This and related projects authorized by the bill would cost half a billion dollars.

★ ★ ★

A similar bill was defeated in the Senate by 10 votes last year. Since then the Federal Power Commission has given Idaho Power a construction license. The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court have upheld the legality of the license, and the company has started work on one dam.

EXPECT CLOSE VOTE

Advocates of the high dam are pinning their hopes on a dispute involving a tax writeoff privilege granted Idaho Power, and on Senate changes resulting from the November elections. The vote is expected to be extremely close.

Sponsors held little hope for this year's bill until the Office of Defense Mobilization issued "accelerated amortization" certificates to Idaho Power last April 17.

The certificates will permit the company to write off in five years, as depreciation for income tax purposes, 65 per cent of the cost of Brownlee Dam and 60 per cent of Oxbow Dam. Estimated coast of the two dams is 103 million dollars. The usual writeoff period is 20 years.

ODM said Idaho Power's larger-than-normal deducations in the first five years would be offset by smaller than normal deductions later. Idaho Power said it was getting only a tax deferral.

However, Democrats protested the writeoff amounted to a "subsidy" and "interest-free" loan for dams which they said were supposed to have been built at no cost to the taxpayers.

Bills have been introduced to cancel Idaho Power's writeoff and to prohibit issuance of such certificates to private utilities on a basis of defense needs.

★ ★ ★

At hearings before a Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee, witnesses estimated the writeoffs would benefit Idaho Power in the amount of 329 million dollars and that the nation would "lose" 83½ millions.

Opponents of the bill say these are gross overestimates and that a federal dam would commit the government to huge expenditures.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, the subcommittee drew an opinion from a Library of Congress legal expert that the writeoff "seems contrary to the legislative purpose and spirit" of the law.

C. H. Kenall, ODM counsel, told the subcommittee no legal opinion on the writeoff action had been sought before the grant was made.

Delivery Not Routine for Off-Duty Policeman

NEW YORK (AP) — Off-duty Patrolman Vincent F. Campbell, 38, delivered a baby for a young Brooklyn mother who couldn't make it to the hospital yesterday.

That's all in a day's work for many policemen. But for Campbell there was a big difference this time.

The baby he delivered was his own.

A 5-pound, 8-ounce daughter was born to Campbell's wife Barbara Marie, 26, in their apartment. Doctors said later that the patrolman did a fine job.

Farmers Urged to Seek New Jobs

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today urged low income farm people to seek income opportunities off the land.

★ ★ ★

"A dollar will buy just as much health, just as much education, just as much good living if it is earned in off farm employment as if it is earned growing crops or livestock," he said in a speech prepared for the Tennessee farmers convention at the University of Tennessee.

★ ★ ★

Benson called attention to the government's rural development program. This program, he said, is designed to help able low income farmers to develop efficient farming units.

But for those who would choose nonfarm employment, he said, the program offers training in the trades and industry, job information and programs of local industrial development.

The Gold Coast has opened a campaign to teach reading and writing to illiterates of the Ga, Ewe, Fante and Twi peoples. Churches and social organizations are cooperating.

Says Ike's Policies Give Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey Tuesday credited the administration's fiscal policies with causing unparalleled prosperity. But he said prosperity brings problems.

"I acknowledge imperfections in our accomplishments," Humphrey told the Senate Finance Committee, "but I entertain no doubt as to the propriety of our goals or the wisdom of our policies."

★ ★ ★

The secretary, whose "tight money" policies have drawn considerable congressional fire, said it is "nonsense" to allege that "higher interest rates benefit only the bankers."

"Bankers are brokers of money," he declared in an 11,000-word statement prepared for the opening session of a broad committee study of the nation's financial condition. "When they receive more, they pay more."

★ ★ ★

Higher interest rates paid by banks to their depositors encourage savings, he said, and those savings are converted to increased capital investment which means more jobs.

Humphrey, whose resignation as Treasury secretary is expected to become effective in mid-July, told the committee the Eisenhower administration has a record of "a prospering America with new high levels of employment, rising income, and increasing purchasing power.

★ ★ ★

"It is a record of more and better jobs, more homes, more cars, more leisure and more recreation," he said. "It is a period of unequalled prosperity with both the blessings and the problems of such a period."

Humphrey said "this growing prosperity has extended to nearly all segments of our society except the farmer."

And, he added, the outlook in that field is brightening somewhat.

★ ★ ★

One of the basic problems of prosperity, Humphrey said, is that "with growing confidence on the part of lenders as well as borrowers," there has been a rapid upturn in the demand for credit. He said this poses an ever-present threat of rising prices and runaway inflation.

Ike Asks Extra Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for an extra $64,701,500, including an additional $34,200,000 for construction and launching of this country's earth-circling space satellite.

The request for the supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year starting July also includes 15 million dollars for the President's disaster relief fund. Congress already has provided 10 million dollars, but the White House said a big increase in disasters such as tornadoes and floods since April makes it necessary that more money be provided.

★ ★ ★

The President also asked for $2,200,000 for construction of a United States exhibit in Moscow's Gorki Park.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said negotiations with Russia have not been completed, but added that it looks as though agreement will be reached.

PIGEON (AP) — Lebrado Lopez, 37, was found dead yesterday afternoon in a field on the farm of Mrs. Henry Elbing near Pigeon. Huron County Sheriff Merritt R. McBride said that Lopez apparently was struck by lightning some time Monday afternoon.

Thanks to Robert Oliver Are Richly Deserved

Pontiac's School Board passed a resolution of thanks to Robert B. Oliver for the splendid contribution he has made in educational circles and school advancement in this area.

It was richly deserved.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Oliver has been a public spirited citizen from the beginning of his business experience here in Pontiac. He has always been aligned on the side of progress and advancement.

OLIVER

He believes in Tomorrow as few men in this area and makes his decisions in the light of the greatest good for the greatest number over the long haul.

This spells vision.

Every community is everlastingly obligated to certain reliable wheel horses who dig in and do the hardest work without thanks or praise during the most important periods of development.

Pontiac schools owe a definite debt to Robert B. Oliver which can never be repaid. However, he has the inner satisfaction of knowing that he has labored wisely and conscientiously for the education of our youth, and his own associates on the School Board have just shown their appreciation by the current resolution of appreciation.

This newspaper heartily concurs.

Versatile 'Copter Takes Over Navy Tugboat Job

The air age is now definitely established. This fact has come to light with the helicopter proving its ability to operate as a flying tugboat. This does not mean that ships will be operated with wings in the future.

★ ★ ★

In a recent series of tests off San Diego, conducted in cooperation with the United States Navy Amphibious Base, a military helicopter successfully demonstrated its potential capability in salvaging surface vessels and landing craft.

This type of work is normally done with strong navy tugboats. Apparently this new type of operation is simpler and much faster. In naval maneuvers many times speed is number one in importance.

★ ★ ★

Here are some of the feats performed by the helicopter during the tests. An LVT (Landing Vehicle, Tank) was deliberately immobilized on the beach, but the helicopter tugged it out of its sand trap, into the water and onto a safe beach.

A two and a half ton amphibian "Duck" was pulled off shore with ease during a simulated invasion maneuver.

★ ★ ★

The helicopter maneuvered to shore and anchored a 200 foot pontoon causeway, then hauled an LCU (Landing Craft, Utility) laden with caterpillar tractors on and off a surf washed beach.

The 'Copter towed a 3000 ton LST (Landing Ship, Tank) at five knots, about half the normal cruising speed for the LST. The ship was found to be more maneuverable under tow by helicopter than it is under its own power.

★ ★ ★

The day of the "Whirlybird" as arrived, and we predict that it will become more and more a part of our every day life.

Mayer Will Spark Golf

Golf has experienced a helpful impetus.

When young Dick Mayer captured the National Open championship, defeating Cary Middlecoff in a playoff, it threw new color and glamour into the tournament division.

★ ★ ★

Cary Middlecoff is a veteran and he hasn't been the most popular victor with his associates or the golfing public. Personally, no one has a thing against the dentist-pro, but he annoys the galleries and his opponents alike on the course.

He's the world's slowest.

He takes forever.

Often during an important competition, two full holes will slowly open up ahead of the group that has been weighed down with Middlecoff.

★ ★ ★

Dick Mayer, on the other hand, plays rapidly, easily and without the studied fuss and labor that besets Middlecoff's every move. Mayer is bound to prove popular. His own associates like him and people take to him instinctively.

He will be a popular champion.

At the End of the Communist Rainbow

James Marlow Says:

Court Upsets Convictions of Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government—because of the Supreme Court decision overturning the convictions of 14 Communists — may have to drop its cases against another 45 already convicted, or attempt to try them again.

PUT BRAKE ON

The court's decision Monday put a brake on the prosecution of Communists. They can still be prosecuted. But the government will have a tougher time. And one charge, used in almost all Communist trials, can't be used at all any more.

This is an explanation of what the court did and what the government faces:

★ ★ ★

In 1940 Congress passed the Smith Act, under which the government has obtained convictions against 103 Communists. For the purposes of this explanation, the Smith Act says three things:

CRIME TO CONSPIRE

1. It's a crime to conspire to organize a party or group whose purpose is forcible overthrow of the government.

2. It's a crime to teach or advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

3. It's a crime to be a party member, knowing its purpose is forcible overthrow of the government.

Only 4 of the 103 convicted Communists were tried and found guilty under No. 3. They are appealing now to the high court.

But the remaining 99 were tried under Points No. 1 and No. 2: the combined charge of organizing and advocating. Of those 99, the Supreme Court has upheld the convictions of only 28. Five convictions it threw out because of the questionable testimony of a witness.

A total of 52—excluding the 14 whose convictions were thrown out Monday — are now in the process of appealing the guilty verdict against them to the Supreme Court.

The Communist party was actually created in 1919. It changed its name to the Political Action Assn. in 1944. In 1945 it resumed the name of Communist party.

It's a fact the party is continually recruiting new members while old ones drop out. But the court this week decided the party under the terms of the Smith Act was organized in 1945.

The court said the 14—whose convictions it overruled this week — should not have been convicted on the organizing charge. It gave this reason: There is a statute of limitations which says a man cannot be tried for a crime under certain laws—including the Smith Act — unless tried within three years after committing the offense.

But, the court says, the Communist party was organized in 1945. So unless a man was charged with organizing it within three years of 1945, he can't be charged or tried.

Thus the court ruled the conviction of the 14 Communists whose cases it ruled on Monday can't stand because they weren't indicted until 1951, which meant six years, instead of a limit of three years, after 1945.

★ ★ ★

This means the government henceforth can't charge or try a Communist on the organizing part of the Smith Act. But all of those 52 now appealing their convictions to the Supreme Court were charged with organizing as well as advocating.

Yet all were tried after the three-year limit. Does the government have to abandon its case against all 52? No. In the cases of 7 of them the trial judge threw out the organizing charge before the cases went to the jury.

★ ★ ★

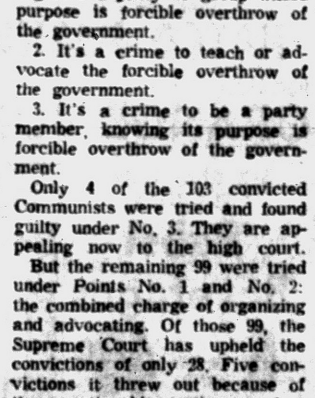

But in the cases of the remaining 45 the trial judges did not tell the jury about the three-year limit, toss out the organizing charge and let the jury consider only the charge of advocating forcible overthrow of the government.

For that reason, the government —because the case of the 45 is similar to that of the 14 who won in the court Monday—may have to drop its fight against their appeal and, if it wants to, retry them on the advocacy charge alone.

Country Parson

"A charitable man will give away one of his last 10 dollars—a selfish man will promise to give a million from his first 10 million."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Use of Iodin Medicinally Has Only Doubtful Value

Iodin is modern spelling of iodine.

Coryza, says Webster, is "an acute inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nasal cavities; nasal catarrh; cold in the head."

Iodism is a state of the body caused by iodin (iodine) or iodid (iodide), such as potassium iodide or sodium iodide, taken in excessive medicinal doses or overdoses.

DR. BRADY

In former days iodism was a common occurrence. KI (iodide of potash, potassium iodide) was the favorite remedy for syphilis in the third stage. I rather from correspondence with elder readers that many of them still use KI on their own, as a remedy for various chronic ailments, such as rheumatism, asthma, arteriosclerosis; but I regret to say I doubt whether medicinal doses of iodin or iodid are remedial for any of these ailments.

This is, if I had third stage syphilis, chronic joint disability, hardening of the arteries or asthma. I wouldn't take iodin or iodid in medicinal quantity; but I'd make sure to get an optimum daily ration of nutritional iodin — as described in the pamphlet The Iodin Ration, available for a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The most familiar indication of iodism is coryza, with profuse nasal discharge, watering of the eyes, watering of the mouth (salivation), maybe frontal headache and a peculiar metallic taste early in the morning.

For emphasis I repeat, iodism is due to excessive intake of iodin or iodid, as medicine, by inhalation of breathing volatilized iodin, by swallowing it by mistake or with intent to poison (it is seldom if ever fatal) or by absorbing it from abscess or cystic cavity where it has been injected for X-ray diagnosis or as a form of treatment.

But in my judgement it is absurd to ascribe iodism or any skin eruption (such as pimples, boils, hives) to regular intake of the amount of iodin required to maintain good nutrition. It is conceivable, of course — but we rarely find a mouse's nest in the cat's ear.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Older Folks Should Keep Active

Grandpa Miller presents the usual problems of elderly folks who are getting wobbly on their feet. Scrapbook today's column so you can employ these ideas on elderly members of your family. And encourage old folks to walk or their legs will soon attrophy till they can't raise themselves out of a chair. Then they'll require constant nursing.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-315: Eli Miller, aged 94, is my father-in-law.

He lives alone, except for his dog, in the farm house on our little summer place in Indiana.

CRANE

Since it is only 135 miles from our front door in Chicago to the farm, we drive down every two or three weeks to see him, as well as my father and mother, who also live in the village a mile north.

Mrs. Crane tries to perk up her dad's appetite with some home cooked pies and other novelties which he doesn't get when we are away.

For he still cooks his own meals. His breakfast consists of fried eggs or fried mush and fried potatoes, plus strong coffee.

He has a foolish aversion to canned foods, so he refuses to eat vegetables and fruits from the grocery store.

As a result, my wife tries to fill him up on such things when we are there. And I leave him vitamins, plus some multiple chemical capsules.

★ ★ ★

When we are down there, we see that he swallows one of each at breakfast. And he promises faithfully to do likewise while we are gone.

But he forgets? For when we go back a few weeks later, I may find that he hasn't swallowed more than two or three in that entire interval.

PERK UP GRANDPA

Moreover, he loses track of time because he is in the house alone almost exclusively during the winter.

So he used to mark off each day on the calendar with a heavy black lead pencil. Then I hit upon a new idea by which to prod him about his vitamins and also keep him abreast of the correct date.

With some narrow strips of scotch tape, I'd fasten his daily capsules on the wall calendar.

For example, I'd cover each day from 1 through 31 with his two capsules. Then when he removed the capsules covering "1", he'd realize it was the first of the month.

Next morning he was to do likewise for the capsules covering the "2", etc.

This helped prod him into taking his medicine and also served as a means of letting him keep up-to-date.

ALUMINUM WALKERS

Another great boon to Grandpa was an aluminum walker. Because Grandpa had a bad hip, he had used a crutch and a cane in recent years.

But this twisted his hip. It also tended to let him slip and fall more often.

When Maurice Williams, the sales manager of the newspaper syndicate that handles this column, lost his mother a year ago, he suggested we try her aluminum walker for Grandpa.

And it proved far superior to his old cane and crutch. For it not only gives him far more support, but permits him to swing his legs more freely in walking.

Thus, he travels almost twice as fast as formerly. For with the aluminum walker, the patient has a very light, four-legged metal frame upon which he can rest both hands.

★ ★ ★

His posture is thus straighter and he can place far more weight

on his hands than is possible on a cane.

So Grandpa improved a great deal when he started using the aluminum walker. And he would have made even greater progress except for the fact that he had started employing a wheel chair a few weeks earlier.

Like a child with a new toy, he was so enamoured of that wheel chair that he would wheel himself all over the house therein, rather than walk.

So we finally had to "lend" it to a woman with a broken hip to get it away from him. For elderly folks need to keep their muscles strong by daily use.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Readers Reply to Question About Christians' Smoking

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

My answer to the question about smoking is that it does influence one's work as a Christian. I won't try to preach, but instead, here are some verses to read. Look them over carefully and listen to what God says: I Corinthians 3:16, 17 and 10:31; II Corinthians 6:16; Ephesians 5:3. May the blessings of God be upon you as you read.

We are told to do everything to the glory of God. Do you think smoking would glorify God? It is a dirty habit. We are the temple of God and the temple of God is holy. Anything that is harmful to the body is sin and tobacco is harmful.

What would you think if a worker came up to you and said he is a Christian and had tobacco on his breath?

Christian

★ ★ ★

If God is going to turn away all those who smoke, I'd be willing to bet that he'll do the same with people who overeat and get themselves fat as hogs. Smoking in excess is unhealthy, but no more so than obesity. One is just as sinful as the other.

Another Christian

★ ★ ★

If God intended for us to use our noses for chimneys, he'd have placed it on top of our heads. It's sad, but true, that people who regularly attend church are not necessarily Christians. So it's best to study the Scriptures and see what the Lord has to say about our bodies and our lives. Read Romans 12: 1, 2; I Corinthians 6: 19, 20; I John 3: 24 and 4: 13. Let's not smoke Him out while testifying to His saving grace.

'Weekend Wrecks May Be Planned'

I'm beginning to doubt that all those weekend wrecks are accidental. I'm almost convinced they're the result of exasperated motorists who deliberately crash into stupid drivers. If I could afford it I'd buy a big, heavy car and use it as a battering ram against all the idiotic drivers I see.

They would be people like the joker who gets stuck driving kitty-corner across four lanes of heavy traffic, holding up everyone for miles; like little mothers who slam on the brakes at 50 miles an hour to turn around and slap Junior; like little old ladies who drive in the third lane when traffic is stalled in the other two; like the shopper who stops cars for blocks while he waits for someone to pull out of a parking spot.

Believe it or not, I saw all these things happen in one short, harrowing 15-minute drive Saturday. I doubt even Freud could resist the urge to drive headon into such people.

Drayton Plains Supermarket Wrigleys Fifth in Area

The fifth Wrigley supermarket to serve residents of the Pontiac area, has been opened at 5060 Dixie Highway, in Drayton Plains.

★ ★ ★

Covering some 18,750 square feet, the new store has a parking lot for 300 cars. It is the 99th Wrigley store in Michigan.

At opening ceremonies, Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson and Independence Township Supervisor Duane Herstall, were flown to the new store by helicopter, from Pontiac airport.

First customer, Mrs. Emma Sadler of 4954 Irwindale, got an aerial lift home with her bag of groceries, via the helicopter.

★ ★ ★

A parcel pick-up station has been established in the front of the building, enabling customers to pick up their packages as they leave the parking lot.

A special oven in the building's bakery section will allow customers to place their frozen pie orders as they enter the building, and pick up the fresh baked pie upon leaving.

During the opening week, which ends Saturday, the store will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thereafter, store hours will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday, and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

To guarantee fresh merchandise, daily deliveries of perishable goods are made from Detroit, including dairy, produce, bakery and meat. A new meat-wrapping machine has been installed in the Drayton Plains store to enable meat cuts to be wrapped faster, thus cutting down on the length of time the meat must be packaged in advance of peak shopping hours.

★ ★ ★

As in Wrigley stores, ice channels will be installed in the produce department to maintain the proper temperature and degree of humidity for fresh fruits and vegetables. Designed by Wrigleys, the ice channels allow for the free flow of air through the produce displays and provide the correct amount of moisture to keep merchandise fresh and attractive.

For shopping ease and convenience, the store aisles are six feet wide. A new type of shelving in the grocery department enables Wrigleys to replenish stock continually and avoid congestion in the aisles. The Drayton Plains store contains 1,200 square feet of sales area.

★ ★ ★

The new supermarket has been designed to allow sufficient space in the rear of the store to price all merchandise before it is brought out to be put on the shelves.

JACK RAPP

Managing the new Wrigley store in Drayton Plains is Jack Rapp. He joined the company in 1951 as a student manager, and has had 17 years experience in the supermarket business. He formerly was manager of the Wrigley supermarket at 4321 Oakman Blvd., in Detroit.

NEW MARKET OPENS — Large crowds of shoppers visited Wrigleys new supermarket in Drayton Plains Sunday. The 300-car parking lot was nearly filled as Sunday customers sought to visit the new supermarket, which is the fifth Wrigleys store to open in the Pontiac area. The supermarket, which occupies 18,750 square feet, is the first store to open at the location, which is the site for a future shopping center development.

TABLE-TRIMMED MEAT STRETCHES FOOD DOLLARS

Wrigleys table-trimming policy assures you the biggest mealtime pleasure and the most meat to eat for every penny you spend.

Table-trimming means that the excess fat, suet and bone that you ordinarily would have to trim off before you cook the meat or after it is served on your plate is removed before the meat is weighed and priced.

Once trimmed, the meat goes to an air-conditioned packaging room where quality and freshness control are maintained. Expert packagers wrap the meat in the finest transparent wrapping materials available.

Next the meat goes to the scaling and labeling station, where it is weighed and a label proclaiming weight and price is affixed to the wrapper.

Wrigleys points out that all scales at these weighing stations are set so that the wrapping and additional shrinkage are allowed for so that the customer pays only for the meat and not the wrappings.

For being the first shopper to visit Wrigleys new supermarket in Drayton Plains Sunday, Mrs. Emma Sadler and her son Dennis, age 3, of 4959 Irwindale, Pontiac, were flown home by helicopter. The helicopter was a major attraction to customers visiting the opening of Wrigleys 99th Michigan supermarket.

WRIGLEYS SUPERMARKETS CELEBRATING 20 YEARS of OPERATION

Wrigley's Supermarkets, which opened its newest store in Drayton Plains Sunday, is celebrating its twentieth anniversary this year.

★ ★ ★

It was 35 years ago when John Lurie, now executive vice president of ACF-Wrigley Stores, Inc., rented space in a meat market in Detroit and sold fruits and vegetables to the butcher's patrons, who became his customers as well. John's Saturday helper was his brother Nathan Lurie, today chairman of the board of ACF-Wrigley Stores, Inc.

The little fruit stand prospered because of the Luries geniality and the high quality of their produce, and they were soon able to expand and buy out a neighborhood store when the Wright and Parker chain went out of business.

BEGINNING OF CHAIN

Soon another store was added to their enterprise, and the Luries had the beginning of what is now a major chain in the nation. After several years spent in acquiring more know-how and capital for further expansion, they purchased a chain of six markets. In 1937 they opened their first self-service store and called it Wrigley's.

In 1951 the corporation acquired the entire chain of Packer's Supermarkets to become the largest retail food distributor in Michigan, operating 60 stores.

Wrigleys completed its centrally-located headquarters at 13901 Joy Road, Detroit in 1952. The office-warehouse stands on a 12-acre site and covers more than 748,000 square feet.

★ ★ ★

Enormous strides in expansion were made in 1955 when in August Wrigleys and ACF-Brill Inc. merged. A month later there followed a merger with the Big Bear Markets of Michigan and then the acquisition of the Standard Food Markets and Humpty Dumpty supermarkets of Oklahoma. The new organization was known as ACF-Wrigley Stores, Inc.

In February 1956, ACF-Wrigley Stores acquired 13 supermarkets operated by the Food Town Stores in the Cleveland area. That same year the chain purchased the Fred P. Rapp chain in St. Louis.

An announced expansion program for the Wrigley division of ACF-Wrigley Stores includes stores in Port Huron, Rochester, Battle Creek, Lansing, and Owosso, Michigan, as well as Toledo, Ohio.

WRIGLEY SPIRIT

Perhaps the biggest reason for the success of Wrigleys is the company's eagerness to keep up with the food industry, to incorporate the latest innovations of the supermarket business in its operations, to seek better and faster ways of service. High-quality meats are selected by Wrigleys own buyers. Day-to-day purchase of produce, coupled with delivery to Wrigleys individual stores, results in better products for the shopper.

The spirit behind Wrigleys success is an intangible quality made up of the Luries' philosophy and faith in the future, a practical and forthright approach to solving the problems involved in supplying housewives with the finest of foods and a pioneering instinct concerning new policies and techniques.

PROGRESS IS KEY

The Lurie brothers have been willing to experiment, to take risks, and to be at the forefront of every new food merchandising development.

This spirit is common, too, among Wrigleys employes because they know that the firm is constantly on the alert for new ideas and quick to reward those who suggest them. The majority of executives of Wrigleys are men who started as stock boys, learned their business from the bottom and progressed to the top of the ladder.

Wrigleys liberal, modern personnel policies also have played a big part in the company's success. The firm does its utmost to offer ideal working conditions, train all employes for their specific jobs, provide insurance and hospitalization and operates a credit union.

GOLD BELL GIFT STAMPS GIVE EXTRA SHOPPING VALUE

Shoppers at the new Wrigleys Supermarket in Drayton Plains will have an opportunity to receive extra values for their purchases in the form of Gold Bell Gift Stamps. They will receive one stamp for each ten cent purchase. The gift stamps, which have become popular in Michigan, are given with each purchase at Wrigleys, except for beer.

The Gold Bell redemption for Drayton Plains and Pontiac area residents is located at 21 Water Street, in Pontiac.

Merchandise bearing the name of many well-known, national brands is available for Gold Bell Gift Stamps. Products with such famous names as International Silver, Libbey Glass, Seth Thomas, West Bend and Westinghouse, are a few of the names familiar to every homemaker. Many Wrigley shoppers use the stamps to obtain extras for the home, an added luxury for someone in the family, or as a gift.

The selection of items at the Gold Bell Redemption Center has been planned to offer a fine group of gifts suitable for everyone. The youngster may choose a cocker spaniel puppy without any hesitation, but mother is likely to hesitate in trying to make her choice from the hundreds of fine, nationally advertised items for the home.

There are gifts to please dad or a young man in the family, too, including the Remington "60" Deluxe Shaver, a large variety of tools, Shakespeare fishing gear and equipment for camping, hobbies and sports.

KRISPY GUARDS FRESHLAND PRODUCE FOR COOL KRISP FRUITS, VEGETABLES

Kool Krisp is the name for Wrigleys Supermarkets produce, and that label assures customers of peak freshness and top quality.

Krispy, the little man identified with all Kool Krisp fruits and vegetables, is the symbol that insures you of the finest produce when you visit Wrigleys Freshland. At Freshland, you will find fruits and vegetables four ways fresher; bought fresher, shipped fresher, sold fresher, and served fresher.

From the moment Wrigleys receives its produce, to the moment you buy it, the store recreates the night's coolness and stimulates the morning's dew to keep that Kool Krisp look and flavor.

From California comes carrots and artichokes; from Arizona, lettuce and melons; from Texas, broccoli and endives; from Florida, cucumbers and tomatoes.

MICHIGAN PRODUCTS

From Arkansas and Virginia comes radishes; from the Carolinas and Virginia comes spinach and from Michigan nearly every nameable item of produce.

All of these items arrive at Wrigleys Detroit warehouse in refrigerated trucks or railroad cars, but that's only the beginning. Once they arrive, they are transferred immediately into one of the many refrigeration rooms.

Much of the produce goes into the wet refrigeration room where it is retained at high humidity at 42 degrees above zero.

Frozen foods are kept in a special refrigerated room where the temperatures range between 10 and 15 degrees below zero.

But once the produce comes into the warehouse it is never kept more than 24 hours.

DAILY DELIVERIES

Then it is on its way to the individual stores where it is placed immediately in coolers. Shortly before the store opens it is taken out, thoroughly washed and trimmed, and placed, when necessary, in transparent bags.

Although most Kool Krist products are packaged, no Wrigley customer must buy one pound of product if she wants less.

At the produce department, she can get self-service or personal service. Wrigleys produce personnel are happy to re-package any Kool Krisp item in the amount the customer wants.

ICE-CHANNELING

The modern method by which Wrigleys keeps its Kool Krisp produce at a constant temperature surrounded by freshness-retaining moisture, is ice-channeling.

Constant research brought about Wrigleys own method of ice-channeling. The produce chiefs realize that 70 to 95 per cent of all produce is moisture, and that when the moisture is removed, dehydration and spoilage begin.

Various methods such as sprinkling, ice boxes, humid refrigeration and beds of crushed ice were predecessors of ice-channeling. The ice-channel, made of rust-proofed steel, is 28 inches deep, 10 inches high and three inches wide.

The channel employs the simple principle that cool, moist air travels downwards and sideways.

Ice-channeling does away with ice beds in wet racks and at the same time acts as a neat divider between display layouts.

Because of this careful attention to the selection and grading on the farm and the protection given it in the stores, Kool Krisp has come to mean top quality fruits and vegetables throughout Michigan.

An elaborate produce department aroused much interest from visitors at the Wrigley store opening Sunday. Note the ice channels between the various displays of vegetables which keep the produce fresh and crisp and properly cooled. Inspecting the produce are Mr. and Mrs. George Cheney and their two daughters, Debbie and Anna, of Clarkston.

ICE CREAM LEADS SUMMER DESSERT PARADE

The half-gallon package of ice cream has become a must on most weekly grocer lists. It seems to be the right amount for the average family, and fits easily into most freezer compartments.

Increased freezer space in refrigerators and the use of many more home freezers has made ice cream once again the all-American dessert. Sales have literally zoomed during the last five years, and they remain amazingly high during the winter months as well as all summer long.

TOP FROST

Now that warm weather has arrived, you will find that ice cream is the cool answer to your dessert problems.

Your family will particularly enjoy Top Frost ice cream with the smooth texture and rich flavor. It is so reasonably priced, so readily available in protective paraffined cartons from the freezer section of your Wrigley store and so easy to serve anytime.

Top Frost combines the qualities of creamier, finer texture of hand-packed ice cream, and the flavor-freshness of that packed at the freezer.

DESSERT COMBINATIONS

Ice cream hardly needs "dressing up" but there are many delicious desserts in which it makes a fine flavor addition.

Crushed strawberries or raspberries head the list of good things to do with ice cream. Halves of ripe, golden cantaloupe, filled with vanilla ice cream, have been a popular combination for more than a half century.

Cool, green honeydews, or Persian melons, served a-la-mode are perennial treats of the melon season. Cantaloupe served with strawberry, vanilla or pistachio ice cream with a topping of fresh sweetened strawberries, blueberries or raspberries is a wonderful combination.

FROZEN DESSERTS

Ice cream pies using pre-baked plain pastry, cereal or graham cracker crusts are nice to have on tap in the freezer. Just pile slightly softened ice cream into the pie crust and pat it down smoothly. Top with whipped cream if you wish and serve with fresh fruit.

For a delicious variation, fill a baked meringue shell with chocolate ice cream and garnish it with shredded cocoanut. Just before serving pour rich chocolate sauce over the top.

The five most popular ice cream flavors sold are vanilla, strawberry, chocolate, neopolitan and butter pecan. A flavor of the month is a Wrigley feature. In June, it is dutch apple.

Wrigleys has designed a new type of display case for ice cream. There are no glass tops to slide back and forth; the case is open at the top, allowing shoppers to make their selection easily and quickly.

WRIGLEYS BUTTER EARNS TOP RATING

The wording "AA" 93 score you find on every pound carton of Wrigleys Old Fashion Country Churn butter tells a story.

It tells the customer that this is quality butter that has passed inspection with flying colors and is described by butter graders as possessing a fine, highly pleasing flavor.

All butter must be graded by a state or federally appointed inspector.

SALADS MAKE WARM WEATHER HIT

"Fair and warmer" is the forecast from the weatherman. That's the cue to a crisp and green menu, by way of the salad bowl.

The produce department at Wrigleys is ready with all the fresh, crunchy makings for salads that will be cool, crisp and inviting.

For attractive salad plates, choose a variety of greens — romaine, chicory, watercress, curly endive, as well as the various types of lettuce — Bibb, leafy green and creamy white heads of butter lettuce.

DASH OF COLOR

Try the greens singly or in combinations of two's or three's. For additional color, add crunchy radishes in penny-size slices. Paper-thin slices of cucumber serve the dual purpose of good food and garnish.

And forget the old wives' tale about cucumber rinds being harmful. Wash this beauty of the vegetable world well and run down the sides with the tines of a fork for extra decoration to do your salad bowl proud.

Treat the salad makings gently if you'd like your salad to appear young and fresh. Remove the core from head lettuce and loosen the leaves by running cold water through it. Then drain off excess moisture and dry the leaves between two clean towels.

Wash leafy greens in lots of cold water, sloshing them up and down and lifting them out of the water. Shake or drain off the excess moisture. Drops of water and salad dressing do not blend. And never, but never, cut salad greens. Tear them into bite-size pieces.

SELECT YOUR DRESSING

A vegetable salad may be made of almost any vegetable you choose, provided the vegetable is edible raw — or is cooked or canned — and is not mushy.

It may be a single vegetable, such as sliced tomatoes on a bed of watercress, or asparagus tips on lettuce. Or a salad bowl in which two or three different kinds of vegetables are arranged in separate groups or in alternating rows on greens.

Another type is a mixture of numerous sliced and diced vegetables well seasoned and tossed with the shredded greens.

When it comes to dressing the salad there's a great difference of opinion. One school of thought says nothing but a good grade of vinegar and salad oil over the greens, lightly tossed with a few herbs, salt and freshly ground pepper.

Other salad fans depend on the wide variety of ready-made dressings to be found at Wrigleys where you'll find your favorite dressing whatever your choice may be.

A most important point for all salad makers who would be successful: keep it cold. Chilled and crisp vegetables should be served on cold plates or salad bowls with an uncluttered look.

224 FRESHLY-FROZEN FOOD ITEMS CARRIED in WRIGLEYS SUPER MARKETS

The American housewife's ever-changing cooking habits have resulted in a marked increase in the number of frozen food items carried in today's supermarkets. Bill Frasure, frozen food director for Wrigleys Supermarkets, reports that the number of frozen items carried today has more than doubled since 1952.

Wrigleys carried 244 frozen products, including 16 in the meat department alone. This figure does not account for the different brands of each item.

Because today's cook frequently has more jobs other than housekeeping, the demand for frozen foods has turned to main dish items, reports Mr. Frasure. The cook builds an entire meal around a frozen dish.

Popular main dishes include barbecued beef, Chinese dishes, the "twin Pack" of Swiss steak, pot roast and roast turkey, and many items such as salmon loaf, shrimp creole, lobster, tuna and noodle casserole.

Controlled quick freezing at the point of processing seals in the freshness. A frozen food item on the table has the same flavor as if it had just come from the home garden.

FROZEN POULTRY

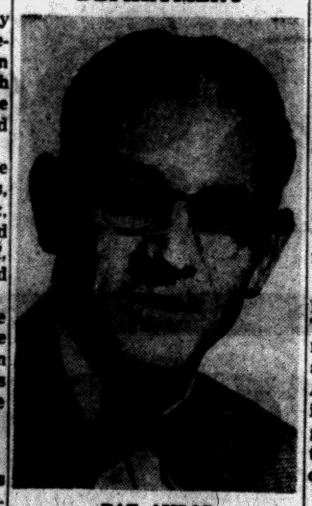

Frozen poultry is the big news in the meat department at Wrigleys. Bob Bell, meat merchandiser, says that Wrigleys now handles frozen turkeys, ducks, geese, cacklebirds and Cornish hens.

Turkeys are now available — and popular — throughout the year, rather than for two or three holidays. The cacklebird, that especially bred chicken from Maine, caught on from the day it was introduced. The delicate flavor and extra meat from the broad-breasted bird makes them ideal for entertaining or satisfying a hungry family. Cacklebirds weigh between four and six pounds.

Other popular items in the meat department are spareribs, beef livers, pork hocks and beef tenderloins.

HEADS PRODUCE DEPARTMENT

PAT AUDAS

Pat Audas will handle the reins of the produce department in the new Wrigley store which opened this week in Drayton Plains. Mr. Audas joined the company in 1951. He was formerly produce manager of the Wrigley supermarket on Hunter Blvd., in Birmingham. He and his family make their home in Pontiac.

FRESH ORANGE JUICE SUPPLIED BY MACHINE

Fresh orange juice is squeezed daily in Wrigley's warehouse and delivered to the company's markets the same day. The new $12,000 orange juice squeezing machine occupies 200 square feet of floor space in a separate enclosed room.

The machine has four squeezing heads that are automatically adjustable so that any size orange or other juice fruit can be squeezed.

Capacity of the machine is 800 quarts an hour. Nearly four carloads of oranges are required to fill just the orange juice requirements weekly. One man and four women are needed to operate the machine.

The oranges come from the hopper into the squeezing machine. There the peels are automatically removed, diced and discharged to a garbage disposal on the spot. After the juice leaves the squeezing department it goes into a 300-gallon glass lined tank. From there it is automatically fed to quart jars on a conveyor.

The only time the human hand touches the fruit or the jar is when the women affix the jar lids. After this the jars are packed in corrugated cases with dividers and are ready for shipment to the stores.

At various times of the year, depending on the supply, grapefruit and a blend of orange and grapefruit juices are squeezed and delivered to the stores.

LOOK FOR FINE GRAIN, MARBLING TO ASSURE TOP QUALITY MEAT CUTS

Wrigleys Supermarkets consistently, day in and day out, offer for your table only top quality, naturally tender and table-trimmed meats.

According to Wrigleys meat directors, these are the things to look for in top quality, grain-fed beef: A fine grain and a fine marbling. The latter means that there should be a streaking or marbling of fat throughout the lean. This marbling produces an exceptionally fine flavor and tenderness.

★ ★ ★

These are the things that Wrigleys meat directors look for when they buy top quality meat for your table.

Wrigleys meats are first of all naturally tender. This means that top quality meat, which is all the company buys, is properly, naturally aged, until its goodness, tenderness and flavor are at their very best.

★ ★ ★

Wrigleys meats are table-trimmed. This means that the excess fat, suet and bone that you ordinarily would have to trim off either before you cook the meat, or on your plate, is removed before the meat is weighed and priced in the store. Because of this you get, and pay for, only the best part of any cut of meat you select.

★ ★ ★

Wrigleys buys only top quality meats from the principal marketing locations throughout the country.

TABLE TRIMMING: This is how a porterhouse steak is trimmed by a Wrigley meat cutter to eliminate excess fat, suet and bone.

★ ★ ★

Beef cattle over the years have been scientifically bred for the best eating qualities and the goodness of the meat at the table comes from a thorough knowledge of what the housewife wants.

★ ★ ★

Steers, purchased for their top quality, are brought to the slaughterhouse where they are processed under strict supervision of government inspection agencies to assure wholesomeness.

EXPERIENCED BUYERS

After chilling, the steers are placed in holding coolers where Wrigleys buyers make their selections for top quality. The meat buyers have together more than 130 years of experience and are therefore very capable of following the rigid standards of the company.

Once the selection of beef is made Wrigleys Buyers stamp their purchases and the meat is held for the store's customers.

Stamped with the date of purchase, the meat is held in coolers for proper aging. After the meat has been aged to insure tenderness, the meat is put in the hands of Wrigleys expert cutters, to be trimmed for packaging.

These packages go to the self-service refrigerated display counters where an always adequate supply for customer selection is maintained under the watchful eye of the meat manager.

Housewives who plan their meals from Wrigleys meat advertising are never disappointed, for this is the Wrigley policy that is never violated:

Only Wrigleys regular top quality, naturally tender meats are offered at the stores and supermarkets and only these items on which the supply is ample to meet the customer's demands ever find their way into Wrigley ads.

NATURALLY TENDER: This is the porterhouse steak as it is ready for the shopper, table trimmed for a tempting and tantalizing meal.

BEEF IS MEAT FAVORITE IN AMERICA

For most Americans there is no finer meal than steak. Wrigleys low beef prices enable many shoppers to serve the finest steak, and still not break the budget.

★ ★ ★

Figures from food budgets prove that you buy more beef than any other meat. At least two out of every five meals you serve are built around beef. This means your family depends on beef for 40 per cent of its meat needs and relies on it as an important source of protein.

★ ★ ★

Wrigleys Naturally Tender beef is available in your favorite cuts, or if you like, cut to order. Wrigleys roast cuts include: standing rib; rolled rib; chuck with round bone, blade bone, English cut; and rump with bone in or rolled. Steaks are available in cube, club, t-bone, porterhouse, sirloin, sirloin tip, round, swiss and flank. There is also short ribs, brisket, and plate beef.

TO PREPARE

The following are the suggested methods of cooking Naturally Tender Beef:

★ ★ ★

Broil: Thick-cut club, t-bone, porterhouse, sirloin steaks. Standard cut club, t-bone, sirloin steaks.

Pan Fry: Standard cut club, t-bone, sirloin steaks, cube steak, round steak.

★ ★ ★

Braise: Round, sirloin tip, swiss, and flank steaks. Chuck roasts . . . round bone, blade bone, English cut, short ribs.

Roast: Rib roast, standing or rolled. Rump roast, bone in or rolled.

Boil: Brisket and plate beef.

HELPFUL HINTS

Cooking guides for preparing a delicacy such as broiled porterhouse steak are few and very simple.

Preheat broiler and place steak on rack of broiler pan. Adjust rack so that the top of the steak is 3 to 3½ inches under heat. Broil for half the required time (see chart), season the cooked side, and turn to finish broiling.

★ ★ ★

The following cooking guide will insure the proper cooking time to have the steak done to just the right degree for your family.

	Rare	Medium
1"	10-12 Min.	14-16 Min.
1½"	14-16 Min.	18-20 Min.
2"	20-25 Min.	30-35 Min.

Serve with potatoes, vegetable and green salad bowl and you truly have a meal fit for a king.

★ ★ ★

A light dessert, perhaps fruit, sherbert or tiny sweets, top a hearty steak dinner and leave you with a wonderfully satisfied feeling.

MEAT MANAGER

Managing the meat department in Wrigleys Drayton Plains store will be John Kozar who joined the company as meat manager in 1946. He left in 1951 and was rehired as meat manager in 1953. He was formerly the meat manager of the Wrigley store at 59 S. Saginaw, in Pontiac.

YOUNG MEN TRAINED BY WRIGLEY CHAIN

Wrigleys is a company of rising young executives, according to Nathan Lurie, one of the company's founders.

Young men, reported Lurie, who already occupy key positions, are being trained to take over the reins of the company as the older men retire.

"A business of our kind must always be looking to the future," said Mr. Lurie. "Because of this we need young men for their ideas and new methods. We value their thoughts on a public relations policy and added service to the community."

According to Mr. Lurie, young men have a fresh point of view and without this a business would stagnate. This is why Wrigleys is carefully selecting young men and training them to be top executives.

CHEESE IMPORTED DIRECTLY From EMENTAL, SWITZERLAND

Wrigleys Supermarkets imports its own Swiss cheese directly from Emental, Switzerland.

Also in the dairy departments you will find a large display of brand name cheeses. For years Wrigleys has been importing its Swiss cheese because importing directly is less expensive and thereby a saving can be passed along to the customers.

★ ★ ★

The cheese is shipped in tubs and in each tub are three or four wheels of cheese. A wheel weighs 180 to 200 pounds, measures 34 inches in diameter and is six to eight inches thick. Each wheel is stamped on the outside with indelible Swiss marks to indicate its genuineness. Delivery requires only eight weeks.

RAPID DELIVERY

On the day after the cheese arrives in the United States it is in store cases. This includes the time used by the Detroit Health Department to inspect the shipment and the U. S. customs to clear it to the Wrigley warehouse.

In the warehouse, the wheels are cut up and made ready for shipment to the supermarkets where they are further cut into pieces or sliced ready for serving and sealed into wrappings for the customers.

To insure extra goodness in dairy products, Wrigleys features its own brands of butter, margarine, eggs and an all-purpose yellow cheese.

Wrigleys Old Fashioned Country Churn butter is packaged in an economical two pound crock, and in quarter pound sticks, which are wrapped individually in foil to insure sweetness and freshness.

Wrigleys Mel-O-Spred margarine is also packaged in quarter pounds.

Lily Brand eggs are stocked in four sizes during the seasons they are all available — extra large, large (both A and B grades), medium and small. The B grade of large Lily Brand eggs are specially recommended for cooking purposes.

Wrigleys own cheese, Del Crest, is sold in the two pound loaf, an all-purpose yellow cheese similar to the popular American cheese. Del Crest is ideal for sandwiches — grilled and as a complement to meat — and a favorite tid-bit for snack trays.

CHEESE TASTE CULTIVATED

Americans now are consuming twice as much cheese as they did ten years ago, and Wrigleys has kept pace with the demand.

★ ★ ★

A general operating policy prescribes that the best place for a market to win good will is in the flexibility of its perishable departments.

★ ★ ★

Wrigleys has built a reputation for its diversified array of more than one hundred cheese varieties that can be found in all of the company's stores. A few of these varieties are the standard processed cheeses, but a great majority consist of bulk cheese that was known and accepted by only a few gourmets prior to what might well be referred to as the advent of the Wrigley cheese era.

Several new varieties have been developed under the careful supervision of Wrigleys dairy department. Among the more popular of these exclusives is Pinconning, which is bought in large quantities and carefully aged in a specially equipped curing room.

★ ★ ★

Shoppers soon come to realize that they can buy truly aged cheeses in various degrees of sharpness. It is not unusual to find cheese that has been cured since 1952 on sale as regular stock.

★ ★ ★

Cheeses are cut and packaged to suit every shopper's need. Cheese that is sliced thin for sandwich use is carefully packaged in what is known as the "shingle wrap," a process that involved packing the slices so that one slightly overhangs the other for easy handling by the customer.

Elmer Johnson, supervisor of Waterford Township, and Duane Harvell, supervisor of Independence Township, are greeted by Anthony Conn, sales manager of Wrigleys Supermarkets, as they arrive at the opening of Wrigleys new Drayton Plains store by helicopter. Upon their arrival, the two supervisors, who enjoyed their first helicopter ride, were interviewed in the store by radio station WPON.

BAKE-O-MAT DESIGNED TO ASSURE FRESH BREADS, ROLLS and PASTRIES

The 30-foot Mel-O-Crust bakery in the new Drayton Plains Wrigley market features an oven that bakes frozen pies on the spot.

The Bake-O-Mat, another Wrigley innovation, offers you another shopping "extra." As a customer enters the store to begin her shopping she stops at the oven and places her order for the pie of her choice. It takes approximately 25 minutes to bake either the large pie that serves six, or the individual tarts.

The pies, which are available in six fruit flavors, are delivered and stocked at the store in a frozen state. Oven fresh pies are available in cherry, blueberry, peach, apple, rhubarb, pineapple or dutch apple flavors. The extra rich crust, which has been especially developed by Wrigleys, will delight the most discriminating.

The gravity-fed Bake-O-Mat has been incorporated in the planning of all new Wrigley supermarkets and those planned for the near future. The popularity of the Bake-O-Mat is testimony enough of the value of this method of bakery display.

TWENTY-FIVE VARIETIES

Wrigleys Mel-O-Crust breads and rolls, pre-packaged and pre-priced for your assurance of cleanliness and economy, are stocked in Wrigleys bakery department. Mel-O-Crust baked goods are exclusively Wrigleys, baked to rigid specifications to assure top quality, freshness and high nutritional value.

There are twenty-five varieties of Mel-O-Crust products including cinnamon rolls, raisin bread, cinnamon roll bread, dinner rolls, hamburger buns and a host of other cakes, cookies and sweet rolls.

Other leading brands of baked goods are also available, to afford you the widest variety possible in this department as in all other sections of the supermarket.

All of Wrigleys baked goods are stocked on the shelves from the back. This method of stocking is employed to insure the freshness of the baked goods you select.

VETERAN EMPLOYEES HONORED YEARLY

Each year John E. Lurie and Nathan W. Lurie are hosts at a dinner to the yeteran employees of the company who are members of the Long Service Club, an organization of employees with more than five years service.

The program includes a buffet supper and entertainment. This year the event was held at the Latin Quarter in Detroit. During the ceremonies, pins are presented to employees with more than five years service, pins or rings to those with more than 10 years service and diamond set pins or rings to those with more than 15 years service.

WRIGLEYS WAREHOUSE HUMS WITH ACTIVITY

The only time Wrigleys warehouse at 150 North Harrington Street, in Detroit, closes its doors is between 5 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

Every other hour of the week, railroad cars arrive and Wrigley trucks leave . . . stocked with fresh produce and perishable merchandise for the company's stores located throughout southeastern Michigan.

Produce that arrives by freight car — and the Harrington warehouse handles seven cars inside the building — is in your market the next morning. It is on the counter, cleaned, trimmed and cooled by the time the first customer enters the store.

Wrigleys warehouse men inspect each carload of produce as it is unloaded from the railroad car; it is then sent directly to the selection area of the warehouse to be put into insulated trucks for specific store orders. In cases where more produce arrives than is needed for the next day's orders, it is stored in wet produce coolers at the warehouse.

When perishable merchandise is delivered to the store during the night, the truck driver sees that it it put into the cooler so that at no time can the produce get firm or dry out.

Wrigleys system of expediting the delivery of produce is unique in the country.

Store managers order carefully to avoid any left-overs; in fact, they can change their order as late as 9 p.m. the night before.

DAILY DELIVERIES

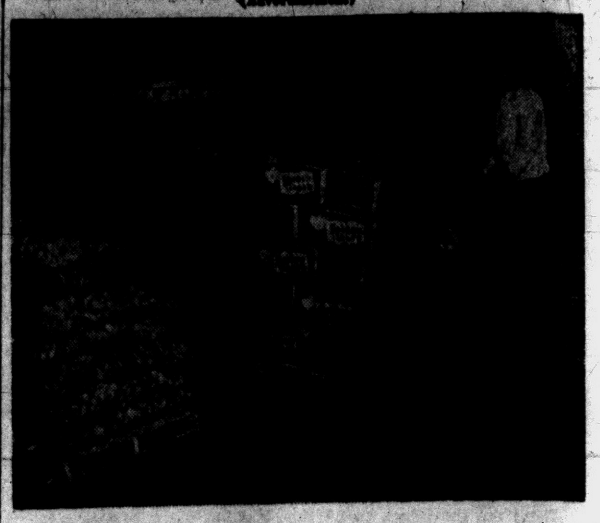

Forty insulated trailers are required to distribute the produce each day, while five trucks specially designed to transport frozen foods are on the road, and five other insulated trucks make deliveries of cheese, butter and other dairy products.

Dairy products are delivered in separate trucks for two reasons; all cheese is stored at the company warehouse on Joy Road, and separate delivery precludes the possibility of odors being absorbed by dairy items.

Wrigleys ninety-seven varieties of cheese are stored in six insulated rooms at the Joy Road warehouse. The temperature and humidity are carefully controlled in each room to preserve the cheese in prime condition. The aging of cheese ranges from three months to two years, depending on the sharpness desired.

The current cheese storage area covers 6,500 square feet; it will be increased to 10,000 feet shortly to allow ample storage for the domestic and imported varieties carried.

(Advertisement)

Two Wrigley employes load a shipment of Kool Krisp produce on an insulated Wrigley truck. The produce will be on the counters of your Wrigley supermarket the next morning, trimmed, cool and cleaned.

Oven fresh pies are another feature of the new Wrigley store. Frozen fresh fruit pies and tarts in six flavors will be available in the bakery department. Shown placing an order for a freshly baked pie are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams and their son Larry, of Watkins Lake, who will pick it up within 25 minutes.

PACK BOYS TRAINED ON THE JOB

What is the job of a pack boy?

Wrigleys, in its emphasis on personnel development, feels that the job of this young man is a vitally important part of the company's service, for on many occasions he is the customer's last contact with the store.

That is why after he carried your purchases to your car, he will give you a smile and a pleasant, "Thank you," Call again."

At Wrigleys these pack boys are trained on the job to help the customer unload her groceries as she approaches the check-out stand.

PACK 'EM RIGHT

Then comes the important step of correctly packing the groceries. Canned foods and heavy groceries are placed at the bottom of the sack, followed by the next heaviest articles.

Perishables and produce items are placed at the top, thus assuring that when the customer arrives home she will find her order has not been bruised and crushed because it was carelessly packed.

NEAT APPEARANCE

A "must" for Wrigley pack boys, as well as other employees, is that they are dressed cleanly and neatly, with hair combed and shoes shined.

Pack boys must keep an ample supply of proper sized bags on hand, keep the area clean and clear during the rush periods, be sure to include the sales tape in the grocery bag and pack the merchandise properly on the floor of the customer's car if carry-out service is requested.

To the family of each new pack boy goes an informative booklet outlining the duties of the young man, with an accompanying letter and postcard.

BIRDS EYE QUICKIE COOLERS

"Come on in, the refreshments are fine," is an invitation easy to issue when you keep your freezer stocked with a selection of Birds Eye quick-frozen concentrated fruit juices and fruit ades from Wrigleys.

The juices, when reconstituted with three cans of water, make one and one-half pints of pure, fresh-flavored juices; the ades call for more water to make a full quart of refreshing beverage. Serve them solo in tall glasses over tinkling ice cubes, mix two flavors together or try them in compatible combinations such as ice cream, ginger ale or sherbet.

RAINBOW FLAVORS

Frosty coolers can be made without reconstituting the frozen juices when crushed or shaved ice is used. To prepare for guests ahead of time make up a dozen or so of these drinks using all the flavors you will find at Wrigleys.

For your rainbow of finished frosteds you can have orange, lemon, a blend of the two, lime, pineapple or grape. All available in the handy storage six-ounce cans that take up so little freezer space.

To put your drinks on a production line basis spoon three tablespoons of any desired concentrate, undiluted, into several tall glasses. Fill each glass almost to the top with crushed or shaved ice, then add one-fourth cup of cold water and stir vigorously. Garnish each glass with fresh mint sprigs and maraschino cherries if you wish.

To add a special touch of elegance to your Birds Eye coolers, try frosting the edges of the glasses. Pour two tablespoons lemon juice into a one-pint bowl. Place two tablespoons of fine granulated sugar in another bowl. Dip each glass rim first in lemon juice and then quickly in the sugar. Place glasses in the refrigerator to chill and harden the sugar. The mixture is enough to frost eight glasses.

GRAPE JUICE WHIP

For garnishing your cold drinks use fresh mint sprigs, lime wedges, whole strawberries, slices of orange or lemon, fruit kabobs (spear toothpicks with melon balls, lime wedges, berries or cherries).

Two favorites join refreshingly in Frosted Grape Juice Whip when you combine Top Frost vanilla ice cream and Welch's frozen concentrated grape juice.

Empty one six-ounce can of the concentrated grape juice into a one-quart container and add three cans of cold water, stirring to blend well. For each serving place a liberal scoop of Top Frost vanilla ice cream in a glass, add three-fourths cup Welch's grape juice and whip together until ice cream is thoroughly dissolved.

Life on Mars Possible, Researchers Prove

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (INS)—Evidence that life exists on the planet Mars was presented in Flagstaff today by three biologists at the U.S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Laboratory experiments conducted under conditions that simulate the environment on the mysterious red planet indicate that living micro-organisms and bacteria can survive.

In fact, the scientists reported, the tiny living things are able to flourish in the severe climatic conditions on Mars.

The report was given jointly by Dr. Hubertus Strughold, Dr. Roland B. Mitchell and Air Force Lt. John A. Kooistra Jr.

The three biologists have been conducting experiments at Randolph Field near San Antonio for the past eight months, delving into the possibility that forms of life exist on the planet most similar to earth.

PRESENTED AT PARLEY

It was presented during a symposium on the campus of Arizona State College where the International Mars Committee and the Astronomical Society of the Pacific are conducting a joint three-day conference which began yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The symposium is the first time astronomers and biologists have convened to compare notes on whether or not living things as we know them can survive on Mars.

The experiments, conceived by Dr. Mitchell and carried out by Lt. Kooistra under his supervision, were suggested by Dr. Strughold in his book, "The Red and the Green Planet," a physiological study of the possibility of life on Mars.

In order to duplicate the conditions that prevail on Mars, Lt. Kooistra started by collecting soil samples from desolate regions in North America, including McGonacal Pass on the icy slopes of Mt. McKinley in Alaska, the Grand Canyon and the painted desert of Arizona, which most resemble the surface of Mars as determined by astronomical observations.

★ ★ ★

These samples were placed in bottles from which the moist, oxygen-rich air of our atmosphere had been removed to approximate the inert nitrogen atmosphere on Mars with its absence of oxygen and very small amounts of water vapor.

For sustenance, the bacteria in the samples had only the organic materials in the soil. Their only source of water was a trace of moisture present in the soil.

At night the specimen bottles were placed in refrigerators and kept well below freezing in accordance with findings that the temperature dips to a bone-chilling 95 degrees below zero on cold Martian nights.

During the day, the soil samples were brought up to room temperature in the air-conditioned laboratory at the aviation medicine school. The Martian tropics experience average 70-degree temperatures.

The scientists said that when the moisture in the soil was more than one per cent, as it well may be on Mars after the polar ice caps melt in the spring, the bacteria thrived.

★ ★ ★

When the moisture content dropped below one per cent, as in the dry Martian winter, the bacteria population dwindled.

But a certain number of microbes remained, the biologists added, and were able to reproduce in a moisture count of only two-fifth of one per cent.

The scientists concluded that they are not prepared to answer the age-old argument of whether intelligent creatures ranking with earthlings could live on the planet.

★ ★ ★

But the experiments do indicate, according to the report, that "the basic stuff of life can endure on Mars and even generate new strains that are better adapted to the harsh climate of Mars."

Sufferer Is Healthy One Moment, Sneezing the Next

Hay Fever Sneaks Up on Its Victims

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — There is something very sneaky about the way hay fever creeps up on and assaults a nose.

★ ★ ★

One day it's quite an ordinary nose — flesh-colored, that is, and dry as an unhealthy dog's — and the next day it's red and running clear, like a trout stream.

There appears to be no warning, as in the case of the common cold, to give you time to complete your inventory, bid adieu to your friends, and retire to your sealed, air-conditioned chamber before the pollen wafts into the nostrils.

With a cold, one at least feels a tickle in the roof of the mouth or a cold draft under the eyes. But with hay fever — nothin'. About noon on a Tuesday, say, all smell breaks loose from a nose and is replaced by an angry tickle that has come to roost till Labor Day.

VERMILION EYES

By 4 p.m. the same Tuesday, the eyes are as vermilion and dewy as the nose. And all in all, the hay fever victim looks all too similar to a chronic beer-drinker who is peeling onions.

I speak, not with tolerance, from long experience, but with dismay as one whose nose is only now realizing that, at a mature age, the affliction can be developed.

It does not seem quite civilized to have romped, dry-nosed, through the careless years of youth and then — in the prime of life, having learned to care for your health, and having developed the techniques of keeping the nose powdered and the eyes mascaraed — to contract hay-fever.

Somehow it seems like a problem you should have got out of your system when you were young and stupid. Like adenoids.

This day, at about noon, the onslaught of the molecular pollens began and as I was telling myself it might be just another cold (don't get fired up till you see the reds of your eyes, I always say), a letter arrived.

MILLIONS OF OTHERS

It was from the "Hay Fever Prevention Society," and offered the information that in the U. S. there are some millions of other persons who suffer from hay fever annually, and know it.

★ ★ ★

This does not include all the ostrich-type people who bury their watery eyes in the sand and say what they've got is a cold.

No wonder so many are suffering, either: A single mature ragweed plant gives off unto the winds one-billion pollen grains, any one of which can tickle up a sneeze. And one square mile of ragweed produces 16 tons of pollen each season. Put that in your nose and blow it!

Sounds sensible to me, though I am admittedly prejudiced by the proboscis.

★ ★ ★

My next rummage and cake sale will be along the "rub out ragweed" theme . . .

Reporter Decides Detour Beneficial to Good Health

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP) — Roving reporter Bev Ballard of the Morning News left for an assignment in Cheraw, 40 miles away.

From Martinsville, Va., the newspaper received this telegram:

★ ★ ★

"Picked up short stocky man near Society Hill who said he was going to Ft. Bragg, N.C. . . . Told him I would take him to Cheraw. . . . He stuck a gun in my stomach and said, 'North Carolina'. . . . so we headed for North Carolina."

Signed: Ballard.

★ ★ ★

Ballard, unharmed but minus $20, said the hitchhiker forced him to drive on, then made him throw away the ignition keys when the car ran out of gas near Martinsville.

Three Gunmen Also Steal Jewelry From Lauritz Melchior

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three gunmen last night invaded the home of opera star Lauritz Melchior and robbed him of furs, cash and jewelry he said were worth almost $250,000.

★ ★ ★

The men fled in an old sedan after binding Melchior, his wife Kleinchen and two employes.

The Danish-born singer said he was watching television in his hilltop home on Mulholland Drive when the three tall men, wearing masks and armed with .45-caliber pistols, forced their way in.

Mechior, 67, told newsmen later: "If only I'd gotten to my gun in time."

★ ★ ★

Melchior broke losse from his bonds in less than a minute. He told police he grabbed a rifle and ammunition from his cellar and ran to the street—but didn't get there in time to get a shot at the fleeing bandits.

He listed the losses at $500 in cash, $150,000 in jewelry and four fur coats, two of them sable. Mrs. Melchior estimated value of the coats at close to $100,000.

Justice Out of Order for Tipping Off Drivers

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Lorenzo C. Duran, 38, was charged with disorderly conduct here when he allegedly tried to warn motorists of a police radar speed station after he had been caught in it a few minutes earlier.

★ ★ ★

Police said Duran was issued a speeding citation after being clocked at 36 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone.

★ ★ ★

A few minutes later he backed his car about a block, got out and began waving a white handkerchief and pointing out the radar car to passing motorists, police said.

Allen-Sullivan Fight Becoming Hot War

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Bitterness is blazing in the Steve Allen camp since Ed Sullivan referred to Steve and his manager, Jules Green, as "two punks" — and Green especially is perspiring overtime booking Big Names to hurl against Sullivan.

"We just sewed up Pat Boone for June 23 — we're going to use Gen. Sarnoff's private plane to fly him in!" Green announced triumphantly.

Pat'll be in Lexington, Ky., working on a film Friday afternoon June 21 — he flies to Denver for the premiere of "Bernadine" that night — flies back to Lexington to emote Saturday — flies to New York overnight to sing two songs on Steve's show Sunday night — then flies back to Lexington in Sarnoff's private plane to return to work Monday morning.

★ ★ ★

"We're gonna take him," vows Green — meaning Ed.

"Oh yeah?" says Ed. "That's our ninth anniversary show and we have Burt Lancaster, Gene Kelly, Julie Wilson, the Aquabelles, Cypress Gardens Water Skiers, Showboat, and Ziegfeld Follies Girls—all from Jones Beach!"

State Faces 3 Cent Cigarette Price Hike

DETROIT (AP)—Cigarette smokers in Michigan face a three cent a pack price hike July 1. Cartons will cost about 27 cents more.

★ ★ ★

That includes a penny-a-pack price increase announced Tuesday by four major cigarette manufacturers and the new state school aid bill which boosts the state tax two cents on the pack.

The wholesale price increase is effective July 1. If Gov. G. Mennen Williams carries out his promise not to veto the cigarette tax boost, that also will become effective July 1.

The higher wholesale prices, attributed to increased production costs, were announced by American Tobacco Co., Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co., Philip Morris, Inc., and P. Lorillard Co. Other manufacturers are expected to follow suit.

★ ★ ★

A Detroit wholesaler, David Weiner of Tobacco Brands Distributors, Inc., said some vendors may enact higher markups on cartons than the 27 cents from the wholesale boost and the new state tax.

The new tax on cigarettes will bring the state's levy to five cents on each pack.

Chimp Acts Too Human, Loses Starring Role

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roy, long-time star of the titillating chimpanzee show at the St. Louis Zoo, has been removed from the cast.

"He just became too human," explained Mike Kostial, trainer in charge of the show.

"He couldn't stand to see any other chimp in the limelight."

Roy screams and rattles the bars on his cage when the show goes on now. He gets particularly excited when he hears the music used in his starring numbers.

He finally lost his role when he chucked an assistant trainer into the moat around the stage.

Elmer Discusses Theories

With Hair, It's Mind Over Matter

BY ELMER WHEELER

My doc has assured me if you have inherited the bad gene, that dictates you will be bald; nothing will help you.

Nothing except psychosomatics — and I'm coming to that later.

Some folks claim hats save hair; others that men without hats have more hair.

Some claim a two-minute workout does the job; others no rubbing for fear of disturbing the hair roots.

One clique goes in for tonics; another for salves; another for rare herbs from old countries.

Others, more sensible perhaps, go in for diet, working on the idea that foods make cells and cells make eyes, ears, nose and hair.

One group (myself included now) finds that the ultrasupersonic speed of today's living, with the tearing down of the body and its nerves, so deteriorates us that our hair falls out.

POSITIVE THINKING

Finally, there is another group — people who work on the theory of positive thinking. That your thoughts can make you well or ill; that your mind controls the physical body.

I have written a book or two on this myself.

I have seen folks make their daydreams and castles in the air become realities through the power of forceful thoughts.

"Worry books" — that is, how not to worry; how to stop worrying; how to be a success books — lead the sales on today's market, bought by people wanting to correct their mental frustrations and mixed-up minds and nerves.

What effect does this "great American worry" have on the body? Such as the hair?

Dr. Russell L. Cecil of Cornell University says worry strain cause many cases of arthritis.

Dr. William L. McGonigle told the American Dental Association that worry upsets the body calcium and causes lots of tooth decay.

WORRY BRINGS ULCERS

Worry, my own doc says, frequently causes ulcers, the "executive's disease." I can see how loss of hair can also be "an executive's occupational disease." He tears it out mentally, as well as with his fingers.

Dr. Flanders Dunbar writes, "Hypertension is more common and has been called more deadly than cancer.'

No wonder my own hypertension had put a hole in my hair, had changed my good hair into something that looked like grandma's old rug, with a moth hole in the center.

Yet the minute I started to relax, relieve myself of "executive tension," my body reacted favorably, and resulted in a clearer skin, clearer eyes, and a return to Elmer's forelocks.

My hair hole had almost clouded itself up. Two more weeks and the hole would have sealed itself up completely.

Step one, therefore, if your hair is thinning, especially in blotches, is to see your doc.

★ ★ ★

A good psychiatrist will help; but remember, your barber or drugstore owner is not a psychiatrist. He'll fill the doc's prescriptions, but don't expect him to prescribe.

Why can't your thoughts also affect your own hair, say these advocates of the mental side of the causes of falling hair, including my pal, Peter J. Michael, the hair research fellow.

Dr. Charles L. Schmitt of Pittsburgh reports in the Pennsylvania Medical Journal, that out of 50 patients examined for total baldness that 23 had histories of mental disturbances.

The mind does have a sympathetic mental relationship with your hair.

You see, physical upsets lower our resistances to the daily poisons we have inside us, and these poisons run to the weakest parts of our body, and the scalp, as pointed out, sure is weak on most of us, and I don't mean the brain —the hair.

★ ★ ★

When a person is troubled, his face "goes taut." The skin tightens. Circulation stops. The scalp is close to the face so it also tightens, and poor circulation results.

Mind over body.

So look into your mental life. Maybe you will find, as I did, thoughts that are dragging you toward the toupee.

"I think long hair makes a man look intelligent," said one lady to another.

The other lady replied, "it makes my husband look dumb every time I find long ones on his suit."

So with that I'll go home to my sheep dog.

Thousands Mob Polish Cardinal on His Return

WARSAW (AP)—An enthusiastic crowd of thousands mobbed Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski today on his return from six weeks in Rome.

Cheering, hymn-singing women threw flowers in the path of Poland's Roman Catholic primate. It took a cordon of young priests and laymen 20 minutes to clear the way from his train to his car.

Crowds at stations across Poland made the train nearly two hours late arriving. The thousands waiting in the capital sang the hymn "God be with Us," a symbol of the Church's struggle during the Stalinist era.

★ ★ ★

He had gone to the Vatican for his first visit since 1951 to receive his insignia as a Prince of the Church and to report to the Pope on the Church's reconciliation agreement last December with Poland's new "nationalist" Communist government.

State Policemen Given Awards

First 'Valor' Honor to Be Given in Over 20 Years

LANSING (AP)— Their bravery in a fight with a crazed gunman will bring special "valor awards" to three members of the state police force tomorrow.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will make the presentation at graduation exercises for 62 recruits on the Michigan State University campus.

★ ★ ★

Two of the awards, the highest the state police can bestow, will be presented posthumously to the widows of troopers killed in the skirmish last Nov. 19 near Clio.

They were Bert A. Pozza and George E. Lappi, both stationed at the Flint post.

The third award will go to Cpl. Robert T. Vesey, who pulled the two mortally wounded troopers to shelter and himself was wounded in the leg during the exchange of gunfire.

BARRICADED IN HOUSE

The gunman had barricaded himself in his house and fought off police with a high powered rifle before tear gas drove him outside.

He died of natural causes a few weeks later in a Flint hospital.

The awards are the first to be conferred in more than 20 years, and not more than half a dozen have been authorized in the history of the force.

Gov. Williams also will present bravery awards to troopers Norman E. Jones and Stewart W. Luckery for their part in the same encounter.

★ ★ ★

Three meritorious service awards will be presented to troopers Jack Dean of St. Clair, Edward Lenon of Pontiac and Richard I. Kill of L'anse. All were cited for "extraordinary service" in other criminal cases.

Pontiac City Affairs

Appeals Board Position Filled

The City Commission last night appointed Arthur M. Schick to the Zoning Board of Appeals to fill the unexpired term of W. Allen Booth, who resigned recently because of ill health.

Schick, of 18 E. Iroquois Rd., is a retired executive of a car rental company.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners postponed for one week filling three expired terms on the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees. They conferred on the matter "informally" in the city manager's office after their regular meeting.

The appropriation of $15,000 to set up a new water and sewer billing and collection system was authorized. Director of Finance Oscar Eckman requested the money to buy two modern accounting machines, one addressing machine, and new record files.

He told the commissioners the old billing machine had broken down. He added that the new system would save around $5,500 a year in operating expenses.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Walter K. Willman was given the green light for the city to proceed with construction of a $76,000 sanitary relief sewer in the vicinity of the city hospital.

Mayor William W. Donaldson explained that it would "relieve a tremendous overload on the system in this area."

REPORT ON HEARING

A brief summary of a recent hearing before the Civil Aeronautics Board in Lansing was presented commissioners by City Attorney William A. Ewart.

He and John W. Hirlinger, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce manager, and Homer D. Hoskins, Pontiac Municipal Airport Manager, appealed for commercial airline service for the local field before the CAB.

Other business on a 31-point agenda included mostly public improvement projects. Commissioners heard engineer estimates and confirmed nine special assessment rolls for projects.

Public hearings were set for July 9 for rezoning to Commercial 1 lots 91 and 92 on the east side of Joslyn avenue, and lots 81 to 96 on the south side of Orchard Lake avenue.

A contract with Chris Nelsen & Son, Inc. for a combined sewer and related work on Kennett road and Ivy street was approved by the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

With Commissioners Floyd P. Miles and Gilbert W. Long dissenting, a package beer and wine license was granted the National Food Stores at 685 N. East Blvd.

MSU Host to Boys' State

EAST LANSING (AP)—More than a thousand teenagers from every corner of Michigan will set up quarters in Michigan State University dormitories tomorrow for the 20th annual Wolverine Boys' State.

For the next eight days the youths will take part in a series of programs designed to teach them something about the practical workings of local, county and state government.

The program is sponsored by the Michigan Department of the American Legion. Boys attending are chosen for their records in school leadership and good citizenship.

★ ★ ★

Included on the schedule of activities are talks by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and other state officials and classes in various phases of government.

Each delegate will be assigned to one of two political parties. Then the group will organize 20 cities, 10 counties and finally a state government.

ANSWER TO VOTERS

As state senators and representatives, city councilmen and county supervisors, they will pass laws, serve on committees and answer to their home voters.

Climaxing the event will be election of a Boys' State governor and other top officials of a mythical 49th state.

The state bar of Michigan will present a mock trail and furnish several lawyers who will instruct the fledgling lawmakers.

The youths also will publish their own daily newspaper and for the first time this year use voting machines in place of paper ballots.

Near Tragedy Ends Gold Hunt by 6 Britishers

DARWIN, Australia—Another attempt to find the $12,600,000 in gold from the wrecked American clipper General Grant failed when six haggard men wound up in a hospital at Darwin, Australia.

They had got nowhere near the Auckland Islands, 300 miles south of New Zealand, where the gold is believed to lie. Survivors of the clipper wrecked in 1866, said seas swept the vessel right into a great cliff cave where she was broked.

Ever since, attempts to recover the gold have been made, but the sea has beaten them all. Several months ago, the latest expedition sailed from Britain in the Gold Seeker.

Six men went ashore on Portuguese Timor Island, north of Australia, to shoot game for provisions. While they were away the Gold Seeker was wrecked. In a small open boat they drifted for days in the Timor Sea until a naval tug rescued them.

GI Given 15 Years by Japanese Court

OTSU, Japan (AP)—The Japanese District Court today sentenced an American soldier to 15 years imprisonment for robbing and murdering a Buddhist priest.

The soldier, identified as Pvt. Randall B. Boyles, 24, Kenton, Del., was convicted of assaulting the priest last December, robbing him and tossing his unconscious body into Lake Biwa, where he drowned.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution demanded a light sentence. Judge Toshio Yanagida said he imposed a lighter sentence because Boyles had displayed a "penitent attitude" and presented $300 in sympathy money to the priest's widow. The army paid her $3,333.

Says U.S. Needs Good Depression to Regain Values

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—What this country needs is "not a good five cent cigar but a good depression," says James Francis Kurfees, a Louisville, Ky., paint manufacturer.

He says a depression would solve what he terms this country's swing away from "basic values."

Kurfees told a group of public school teachers at Memphis State College that "this country is in serious condition."

Here Are 9 Brief Sketches of Supreme Court Justices

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

In recent weeks the U.S. Supreme Court has handed down several far-reaching and hotly debated decisions. These are the nine men who now constitute the nation's highest court of law:

Earl Warren, 66, was named chief justice by President Eisenhower in September, 1953, after 10 years as governor of California. He was admitted to the bar in 1914. From 1919 until election as governor, Warren served continuously as a city, county or state attorney. He was Thomas E. Dewey's vice presidential running mate in 1948.

★ ★ ★

Felix Frankfurter, 74, was Vienna-born, brought to the U.S. at the age of 12 and educated in New York and at Harvard Law School, class of 1906. After eight years as a government attorney, Frankfurter returned to Harvard and served as a law school professor until 1939, when he was named to the court by President Roosevelt.

Hugo Lafayette Black, 71, born, raised and educated in Alabama, where he served as a Birmingham police court judge and prosecuting attorney before entering private practice. He served in the U. S. Senate from 1927 until 1937, when President Roosevelt named him to the High Court.

Harold Hitz Burton, 69, is Massachusetts-born and Harvard Law School-trained, but began his law career in Ohio. He entered politics in 1929 as a member of the State House of Representatives. Burton was mayor of Cleveland for five years before election to the U.S. Senate in 1940. President Truman named him to the Court in October, 1945.

MEMBER SINCE 1939

William O. Douglas, 58, has been a member of the High Court since 1939, after serving as head of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The rumpled, tousled-haired justice is noted as a world traveler, explorer, author, master outdoor chef and collector of rare flowers.

William Joseph Brennan Jr., 50, started his official career in New Jersey in 1949, was elevated to that state's Supreme Court in 1952 and became a U.S. justice in October 1956, succeeding the retiring Sherman Minton. Brennan, a Democrat, served during World War II as legal aide in the army service forces' industrial personnel division.

Charles Even Whittaker, 56, a Kansas-born Republican, practiced law in Kansas City, Mo., for 30 years before his appointment as a U.S. district judge in 1954. He was elevated to the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in June 1956, and named to the High Court March 2, 1957, to succeed Stanley Reed, who retired.

★ ★ ★

Tom C. Clark, 57, son of a successful lawyer in Texas, married the daughter of a Texas supreme court justice, joined the Justice Department as a lawyer in 1937 and served as U.S. Attorney General before his appointment as a Supreme Court justice in 1949. As Attorney General he was responsible for many anti-trust prosecutions.

John Marshall Harlan, 58, is a descendant of the famous 19th Century chief justice, John Marshall. Harlan, born in Chicago, educated at Princeton, Oxford and New York Law School, was a government lawyer in New York for five years until entering private practice in 1931. President Eisenhower named him to the U.S. Court of Appeals in 1954 and to the High Court two years later.

Official Notes Medical Gains

Parke, Davis President Talks at International Society Meeting

DETROIT (AP)—Harry J. Loynd, president of Parke, Davis & Co., noted the advances made in medicine in celebrating the Detroit pharmaceutical firm's 90th anniversary.

He was guest of honor and main speaker at a dinner here last night sponsored by the Newcomen Society in North America. The society, organized to promote scientific and cultural relations between this country and England, honors a Michigan firm annually.

Pointing out the importance of modern medicine, Loynd said:

"It would be interesting to note that if this meeting were held in 1857 rather than 1957, over half of this audience would not be present."

★ ★ ★

He said a variety of diseases, which have since been conquered by medical advances, would have claimed about half the audience in 1957.

Loynd also traced the history of his firm from the day Dr. Damuel P. Duffield opened a small drug store and manufacturing laboratory here. The store was the forerunner of Parke, Davis.

★ ★ ★

Loynd said today Parke, Davis has 61 branches and about 10,000 employes throughout the world.

Want $1,300? Start Working Pot-O-Gold

Money in the pot is really climbing now. If you wait too long to enter Pot-O-Gold, you may find that someone has already cleaned out the winnings. Read rules and clues carefully.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Plan Collection of Cigarette Tax

Dealers Will Be Sent New Forms on Monday for New Levy

LANSING (AP) — Machinery already has been set into action for collection of the state's newly increased tax on cigarettes.

Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner, said yesterday tax forms for filing of cigarette inventory reports will go out to 70,000 retail and wholesale dealers starting next Monday.

★ ★ ★

All must pay a two-cent "floor tax" on each package of cigarettes on hand July 1. The current three-cent tax already has been paid.

Floor taxes, which Nims estimated would amount to between $300,000 and $400,000, will go to the state school aid fund as will two cents of the five-cent cigarette tax collected hereafter.

The Legislature this year raised the cigarette tax and slapped a four per cent excise tax on liquor in its school aid bill.

WILLIAMS WON'T VETO BILL

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has yet to sign the bill, but announced last week he would not veto it even though he disapproved of the tax provisions.

After July 1 the entire five-cent tax will be collected by cigarette wholesalers, who in turn will pay the state.

The two-cent increase should bring in between 16 and 18 million dollars yearly, Nims said, "unless serious losses develop from cigarette bootlegging."

"We expect to ask the state police to alert their men to any new development in this respect," Nims said. "The penalties for bootlegging are severe, involving both jail sentences and confiscation of both the untaxed cigarettes and any vehicles used to transport them."

★ ★ ★

Nims recalled a case four years ago when six members of an organized bootleg gang were sentenced to Southern Michigan Prison for terms ranging from six months to five years after seizure of cigarettes and trucks valued at $110,000.

Liquor Sales Totaling $15,153,047 Reported

LANSING (AP) — The State Liquor Control Commission said today its sales last month came to $15,153,047.

More than two-thirds of the total — $10,465,400 — came from outlets in the commission's Detroit district. Sales came to $4,210,375 in the Lansing district and to $477,271 in the Escanaba district.

May case sales amounted to 356,806.

Senate Gets Documents:

Middle Eastern Boners Probed by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has sent three batches of secret documents to a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee which is trying to determine whether diplomatic boners caused troubles in the Middle East.

★ ★ ★

Informants said one section is a detailed account of the Eisenhower administration's record in offering and later suddenly canceling a loan to Egypt for the proposed Aswan high dam on the Nile River.

The other two batches were said to deal with foreign policy decisions by the Truman administration in 1946 and 1947, particularly involving efforts to keep peace between Jews and Arabs in what was then Palestine. This was before Israel was created in 1948.

A special State Department task force headed by Bernard Noble, chief of the Historical Division, was reported working on another nine groups of documents intended for the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark). These documents may reach the Senate group within the next few months.

The State Department was instructed to submit all necessary papers and documents covering an 11-year period beginning in 1946 to aid the subcommittee in its investigation of American Middle East policy.

★ ★ ★

The most controversial and most eagerly sought by the senators was the section dealing with the Aswan dam. Fulbright has contended that Dulles' action in publicly canceling this loan last summer led Egyptian President Nasser to seize the Suez Canal, thus touching off the Middle East crisis last fall.

Dulles and other top State Department officials were reported reviewing some of the more controversial documents included by the Historical Division before deciding whether they should be passed on to the subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

The records and papers are being made available to Fulbright's group with the understanding they are to be regarded as "confidential" and are not to be made public.

Dulles opposed the investigation initially on the grounds it would reveal secrets which would jeopardize the conduct of American foreign policy. Later, he agreed to cooperate.

Weldon Hart Appointed MSU Music Director

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. Weldon Hart, composer and educator, will become head of the department of music at Michigan State University Aug. 16, the University announced today.

Now director of the University of West Virginia's School of Music, Hart will succeed Dr. Roy Underwood, head ofthe department since 1940. Underwood, who resigned because of ill health, will continue in a teaching assignment.

Hart, 45, has composed a number of major works for orchestra and other instrumental groups. A pianist, he holds degrees from George Peabody College, the University of Michigan, Ward-Belmont College and Eastman School of Music.

Sitters No Problem

NEW ORK (AP)—An acting couple, Stanley and Javotte Greene, had no problem in finding a sitter to take care of their youngsters while they perform in the new off-Broadway hit, "Simply Heavenly." The solution was simple. The two children, Perry and Stanley Jr., are also in the cast.

The American Bible Society distributes Scriptures in more than 100 languages.

Police Sifting Tips in deCaussin Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — A 24-man police squad sifted through more than 250 tips today in their weary search for the slayer of 6-year-old Mary deCaussin.

State Police Lt. Howard Whaley said the only leads turned up yesterday were a stained blanket and a pair of trousers which are being tested by the Detroit police laboratory.

The tattered blanket was found Monday night in a dump in suburban Wyandotte, about a mile from where the mutilated body of the Ecorse Township child was found last Thursday. Residents said they saw a man drop something at the dump last Thursday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

The trousers, stained with what appeared to be blood, were given to police by a Wyandotte dry cleaner. Police planned to question the owner.

No one now is being held for questioning in the case.

Copper Price Reduced

NEW YORK (AP) — The Phelps Dodge Corp., the nation's second largest producer of copper, today cut the price of the metal 2¾ cents a pound to a level of 29¼ cents a pound, effective immediately.

Other major producers of copper were expected to follow suit.

Wild rice is not a rice; it's a perennial grass raised mostly in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Defender Uses Drama to Hail Girard Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—Earl J. Carroll, defender of Army Specialist William S. Girard, is a tall, sturdily built man of 53, with thinning brown hair, busy blue eyes and a sharp nose for news as well as law and the dramatic arts.

Carroll and his partner Joseph S. Robinson, both international lawyers, fought Girard's case in American courts. Yesterday a federal district judge in Washington ruled that Girard could not be turned over to the Japanese for trial.

★ ★ ★

Within the hour, Carroll called a news conference with the aid of John Griffin, a New York press agent. The conference was held in the attorneys' pine-paneled offices in a 5th Avenue penthouse and as fate would have it, attention focused on Carroll.

He read a victory statement three times for the TV cameras while Robinson nodded. The statement said it was a victory not only for Girard but for American civilians as well as soldiers, and for "our constitutional form of government."

★ ★ ★

It employed a quotation from "In Flanders Fields" by John McCrae, Canadian soldier poet who died in World War I.

"To you from failing hands we throw the torch—be yours to hold it high; if you break faith with us who die we shall not sleep. . . ."

And the statement concluded, "Tonight all Americans, living and dead, can sleep in peace. May it be ever so."

Carroll then took questions from the floor. Did he think the court ruling might embarrass the State Department in its relations with Japan?

"The State Department," Carroll said, biting on a dollar cigar, "embarrassed the American people by its illegal procedure."

Would Carroll defend Girard at a U.S. Army court-martial?

"If there is a court-martial, if Girard asks us to, and if we are sure our participation would not prejudice his case, we would defend him. But I'm afraid the Army might try to throw the book at him because of us."

There were more questions from reporters. Then a secretary came in to say she had Girard on the phone. The conversation between lawyer and client became very public.

HADN'T HEARD NEWS

It developed that Girard had not yet heard the good news.

"You can't be turned over to the Japanese," Carroll said while reporters took notes. "We have won this round. If there is an appeal, don't worry about it, we'll defend you in the next round. Don't let anybody talk you into voluntarily accepting jurisdiction of a Japanese court. . . . Why didn't they tell you of the decision sooner? Why were they hiding it?"

★ ★ ★

(It was 5 a.m. in Tokyo.)

Carroll, who began his law practice in his native San Francisco and later served four years overseas with the Army Air Force in World War II, has come to be known by some as the "GIs' Clarence Darrow."

★ ★ ★

He has, he said, defended "hundreds" of GIs in various scrapes with Army brass. He hesitated to disclose his batting average because "if I start boasting that I'm beating the Army that might prejudice my next Army client."

Carroll denied that he wages perpetual war against the Army brass, insisted he has the highest respect for the military, but said he had defended many GIs, without fee, because "the Army has a large number of individuals who abuse their power and authority."

He also prosecuted the commanding officer and subordinates accused of mistreating AWOL GIs at the Army prison camp in Lichfield, England, after World War II. Of more financial importance, Carroll more recently helped to return vast holdings seized by Allied occupation authorities to the Krupp family in Germany. For that one, his fee was variously reported as 1 million, 10 million and even 25 million dollars.

FEE WAS SUBSTANTIAL

"The actual fee was a mere fraction of the reported fee," Carroll explained yesterday. "Still it was substantial. Law has been good to me and I feel that I owe the profession something. That's why I take on cases like Girard's without fee, where a principle is involved."

Mostly in the past 10 years, Carroll has been busy dashing around Europe defending various clients. He rushes so he frequently forgets briefcases in airports and overcoats in foreign hotels.

He has been so busy he has been able to spend only a total of a week's time since 1939 with his wife Georgie, who still lives in San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

"The last time I saw her," Carroll said, "was in '53, in Washington, but we had very little time together because I had a case there. We're not separated legally, just geographically. She doesn't like the hectic life I lead. She has a poor husband, a crusader chasing rainbows all over the world."

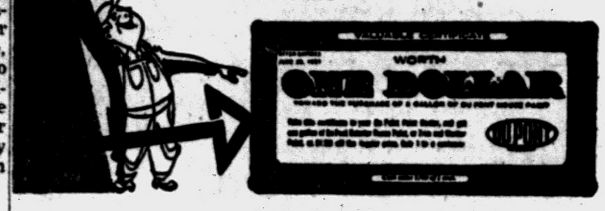

Auto Club Issues Warning on Brakes

DENVER (INS) — The Rocky Mountain Auto Club reminds motorists that if the car engine dies there is no "booster" effect on power brakes.

★ ★ ★

Because the car, when in motion, is usually so sensitive to the touch, a motorist might think the brakes are completely gone when the engine is off. In such a situation, the Auto Club says, a motorist should merely apply added pressure to the brake pedal and stop his car as though it were not equipped with power brakes.

I WAS CRIPPLED WITH ARTHRITIS UNTIL I TRIED O-JIB-WA BITTERS
"I could barely walk or raise my arms because of Rheumatism and Arthritis," says Mrs. Frank Gaeman, 611 Wisconsin Avenue, Gladstone, Michigan.
I had been bothered slightly with rheumatism and arthritis for six or seven years, when suddenly two years ago, it became so severe that I was confined to bed for days at a time. My hands were stiff and I couldn't raise my arms to my head. My legs would get cramped so bad, that I could barely walk. My husband had to do the housework, and wash the dishes, as I was unable to do any of it. Believe me, I was really suffering terribly. Then I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in my newspaper and decided to try it. It took about a month before the pains and cramps were gone. Soon I was back doing my own housework and a lot of things that I believed I would never be able to do again. I'm getting around fine now, and just finished washing the walls and ceiling of my kitchen. Why I'm even able to get out and help other people with their housework that are ailing with one thing or another. Last winter I shoveled the snow from my walks, and that's pretty good for a lady going on 72 years old, who just a year ago was in bed, all crippled up with arthritis. I give O-JIB-WA BITTERS full credit for putting me back on my feet. I am always recommending O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and it's helped lots of people around here. I'm sure anyone trying this truly wonderful medicine which contains no pain killing dope, will be as happy with the results as I was."

CHAPTER 21

Nela and I walked up the path to the house, and it seemed to me that in the short time Alec Dodson had been gone a noticeable decay had set in.

I followed Nela through the front door into the living room. It looked like a boar's nest. Four men were playing cards, but Gene Dillingham was not one of them. Merle Turner was there, looking exactly as I remembered him: big head, red eyes, and fang-like teeth which were never quite hidden even when his lips were closed.

* * *

"Howdy, Nela," Turner said, and went on playing.

"Merle, I want you to meet Will Beeson from the Box P," Nela said.

Turner put his cards down and rose. "Will Beeson," he murmured as if he had trouble placing me. "I remember you. Worked for Joe Pardee, didn't you?"

I nodded. "You remember me, all right."

He shrugged. "I remember Joe Pardee, too. I hear he finally got what was coming to him."

"He was shot, if that's what you mean."

* * *

He started to say something, but picked up his cards instead. Nela introduced me to the others: Hec Troy, Lew Secore, and Lin Runyan, ordinary men who would probably follow Turner in any direction he took.

"We missed you this morning in church," Nela said.

The three looked embarrassed, but Turner shrugged. "We got started on this game early this morning," he said. "You know how it is when you work hard all week. Give me two, Lin."

Nela looked at me and nodded toward the door. "Where's Dillingham, Turner?" I asked.

"Gene? Oh, he went to town, I think."

I left with Nela, sure that Turner was lying, but if Dillingham wanted to stay under cover while I was there, I'd let it go at that.

* * *

I helped Nela into the rig, and went around the back and climbed in beside her. She retained her composure until we were out of sight of the house. Then she began to cry. I pulled up and put an arm around her. She came to me willingly, lowering her head against my shoulder, but only for a minute; then she straightened and pushed my arm away.

"I hate weepy women, Will," she said, "but I did need your strong shoulder for a minute. Everything finally piled up on me. I didn't think Turner would be working today. I don't think he's worked since Dad sent him up there. I just had to go see what was happening. Dad spent so much money for the place, not even knowing what he was getting. Just taking Turner's word."

Because there was nothing I could say, nothing I could do, we rode in silence until we reached the cabin. She got down, said, "Thank you," and ran inside. A moment later she called from the doorway, "Sarah's ready to go home, Will," so I waited. John Mathers appeared in the doorway with Sarah in his arms; he carefully set her in the seat beside me, then kissed her and stepped back.

* * *

I said, "Goodbye," and touched the brim of my hat to Nela, who was standing just outside the cabin. She smiled and waved. We drove fifty yards in silence, then Sarah said, "Now you know about John and me."

"Yes," I said. "I knew before," and after that neither one of us felt like talking.

* * *

We did not go back to the colonists' settlement or to Mathers' place. Sarah said it was too hard on her. She'd rather stay at home where she was familiar with everything and had her wheel chair. Instead, Mathers and Nela came to the Box P for Sunday dinners. As soon as the meals were finished, Nela and I always took a walk, or I'd saddle up a couple of horses and we'd go for a ride.

I was not aware of it at first, but it wasn't long before I knew I was in love with her. I wasn't sure just how she felt, and I was afraid to find out. Even if she did love me, there was no future for us so far as I could tell.

So I lived for each Sunday, trying not to think about the tomorrow that was always in Mathers' mind. Every afternoon with Nela was like a too sweet dream.

Sarah kept telling me everything was going fine with the colony, but Nela told me how it really was, with more and more discontent among the colonists, who were finding that building new homes in the wilderness was quite different from the idyllic concept of life in Easter Valley that John Mathers had given them.

* * *

"And now Dad's broke," she said bitterly. "Just the farmers are left and they'll stay."

She had said that before, and I'm sure she believed it. I did too, if they had enough land. That, as I had known all along, was the crux of the whole thing. It was on a question of time until they spilled out on Brahms' and Costello's grass, and on the Box P's.

So we lived through much of the summer, waiting for the bubble to break. Then, one evening in August, with purple twilight steadily deepening in the valley, I crossed the front porch of the house and stepped through the doorway. I stopped, flat-footed, unable to breathe, Sarah was on her feet, a full two steps in front of her wheel chair. I hadn't seen her stand upright since her accident.

I stood there staring at her, and she looked back at me. The light inside the house was so dim I could not make out the expression on her face.

Suddenly she cried, "Will, look! I can walk! I told you I would." She took two more steps toward me, slow, hesitant steps, then toppled headlong to the floor.

* * *

I ran to her and picked her up. "I'm all right, Will," she whispered. "I'm all right." I would have taken her to her bed but she wouldn't let me. "Put me on the couch," she said. "I'm not hurt, I tell you."

I obeyed. "Just let me rest here a few minutes," she said, "and then put me in the chair. I've been doing two steps forward and two back. I wanted to surprise you, but I didn't hear you come in, and when I saw you I got excited and thought I could walk to you. I should have known better. I suppose it will be months before I can walk across the room, but I am improving, Will."

I pulled up a chair and sat down beside the couch. She reached out and took my hand and squeezed it, whispering, "Will, Will, you didn't believe me, did you?"

"I do now," I said.

I leaned forward until I was close enough to see the beads of sweat on her forehead, the expression of agony on her face. It must have been painful for her to stand up, let alone walk. Then her fall . . .

* * *

"Sarah," I said, "do you love Mathers so much that you've got to walk for him?"

"Maybe it isn't just him," she said. "I've been a drag on you for a long time. Maybe I want to walk for your sake, Will. Have you thought of that?"

"No. You haven't been a drag on me. I thought it was Mathers—" I stopped, completely confused by what she had said, and added lamely, "It just doesn't seem right to be torturing yourself."

"I've got to, Will." She still held my hand, and her face seemed devoid of expression in the fading twilight. "Will, aren't you getting too interested in Nela?"

My heart started to pound. This was the first time Sarah had mentioned it. She didn't sound at all pleased.

"You're so young, and you've never been in love. If you aren't careful, it can destroy you," Sarah is going to tell Will. Continue "Gunlock" here tomorrow.

Japan May Ask Sympathy Fund

Hopes to Collect $3,718 for Family of Woman Killed by Girard

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's Cabinet, hoping to collect from the United States, today decided 629,000 yen —$3,718—will be paid as sympathy money to the family of the woman William S. Girard killed.

A U. S. Army spokesman confirmed that a claim is being considered but denied Japanese press reports that the Army has made a commitment that it will cover the payment to the husband of Mrs. Naka Sakai and their six children.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper Asahi said the Japan Procurement Board, which handles U. S. military spending, had reached an agreement with the U. S. Far East Command, subject to approval in Washington.

★ ★ ★

The United States usually pays sympathy money to the families of Japanese killed or injured in military accidents. The Japan-U. S. administrative agreement sets up a scale of compensation, based on the victim's age, his life expectancy, income and number of dependents.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Sakai died Jan. 30 after being struck by an empty cartridge case while she scavenged scrap metal on the firing range. The U. S. government's decision to let Japan try Girard, an Army specialist 3rd class from Ottawa, Ill., on a manslaughter charge has caused a furor in the United States.

Bob Considine Says:

Deformed Man Bequeathes Beauty

WASHINGTON (INS)—Exactly a century ago today a remarkable man who was to help beautify the nation's capital, and at the same time stimulate interest in history's greatest writer, was born in obscurity in Brooklyn.

★ ★ ★

For years he preferred to keep it that way. Henry Clay Folger was born with only the merest shadow of a chin. The deformed child, made fun of by children too young to be other than pitiless, rebelled against going to public school.

His parents scraped and sent him to a private school where he was calculated to meet the least number of beraters.

Six of his schoolmates were the sons of Charles Pratt, the Astral lamp oil magnate and philanthropist. They befriended the chinless boy. One of them, Charles M. Pratt, was largely responsible for persuading Folger to enter Amherst with him in 1874, and the elder Pratt paid his tuition.

★ ★ ★

The painfully shy and pathologically embarrassed Folger survived his college days, but would not attend the commencement exercises at which his diploma was to be given. He feared the ridicule, even silent, of the polite group which attended. He hurried back to Brooklyn and again went into hiding.

RESCUED AGAIN

The Pratts rescued him again. Would he go to Columbia Law if funds were provided? Once again the prospect of meeting many new people of his own age—whole people—presented an appalling prospect.

But one day before the school term he informed the Pratts that yes, indeed, he would accept their kindness. A wonderful change had come over him.

Henry Clay Folger was growing a beard. A lifetime of humiliation was nearing an end.

If the Pratt boys liked and admired Folger, Emily Folger, their sister, loved him. They married and lived happily ever after, a life marred only by their childlessness.

★ ★ ★

Lawyer Folger turned out to be an outstanding man in his field. He went into Standard Oil in his early days, rose through the years to chairman of the board of Socony.

LIVED SIMPLY

Though their income was enormous, the Folgers lived simply in Brooklyn through many years of their marriage. Few of their neighbors knew of their wealth, nor were they aware of Folger's absorbing hobby:

The quiet man whose graying beard was his chin had become the greatest private collector of books, manuscripts, paintings, engravings and other properties relating to William Shakespeare that the world has yet known.

With his wife taking an active role, Folger combed the treasure troves of Britain's private collectors, bought from museums, pored over great stacks of booksellers' catalogues, and traveled thousands of miles in search of objects pertaining to the Bard.

The Brooklyn house bulged to the wall-breaking point. The Folgers rented a warehouse.

One day in the 1920s Henry said to Emily, "I think I'll give my collection to the nation." It is not as simple as it sounds. Dr. John Franklin Jameson of the Library of Congress, Dwight W. Morrow (whose daughter was to marry a flier named Lindgergh) and Cal Coolidge — all Amherst men — pitched in.

BEAUTIFUL LIBRARY

Folger then presented the whole fabulous collection to Amherst and, to give it a proper stage, provided the money to build the magnificent white marble Folger Shakespeare Library here on Capitol Hill.

★ ★ ★

It is a temple of rare beauty, designed by Paul P. Cret and Alexander M. Trowbridge, and it houses a breathtaking array of the master's works and the bric-a-brac of his day.

The bearded man didn't live to see the dedication by President Hoover on St. George's Day, April 23, 1932. He missed by two years.

But his widow and the Pratts were there in the replica of Shakespeare's own Globe Theater, as this permanent abode of the great works became a part of the cultural landscape of the nation.

★ ★ ★

It was a big day around the Washington Post, I recall. James Waldo Fawcett put together a beautiful supplement to that day's edition, and among those the staff lined up to write pieces about the man from Stratford-on-Avon was my contribution—Bill Tilden—whose piece started, "That play is the thing."

Anyway, it started a century ago today, and it will be here a century from now.

Misses Money, Dies

TOKYO (AP)—A 70-year-old kimono dealer died of shock today when he tried to pay for a new supply of material and found his roll of 200,000 yen ($555) missing. At the morgue the money was found inside the lining of the old man's trousers. It had slipped through a hole in his pocket.

Junior Editors Quiz on
NATURE'S TOOL

QUESTION: What tool is man's worst enemy, and best friend?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Fire has been man's best tool through all time. Before early man even had a place to live, fire kept him warm and frightened off wild beasts.

But, at the same time, fire has been a terrible enemy when he gets careless. Fire destroys homes and people and leaves horrible scars.

Early man probably first found fire in thunderstorms. A bolt of lightning would strike a tree, setting it on fire. Later, as man learned more, he discovered he could start fire himself by rubbing two sticks together until they became very hot and smoked into fire.

Centuries later, man found other uses for fire. It is burning gasoline that makes the automobile engine run, for instance. Fire is very easy for any one to use now, since we have invented matches and lighters. But it is just as dangerous to us as it was to early man.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Look through this newspaper for several days and from the stories, count the number of fires started by carelessness. You may also color this picture of an Indian, making fire by twirling a stick. Soon the heat, caused by friction, will set on fire the dry stuff under the pieces of wood.

Gets Out the Skeptical
'Bring a Friend' Hikes Graham's Followers

NEW YORK (AP) — One person brings another.

That's a key way by which New York Christians are getting skeptical acquaintances into Madison Square Garden each evening to hear Billy Graham. Businessmen and housewives, the famed and the lowly are taking part in the job.

★ ★ ★

It's called "Operation Andrew"—derived from the fact that the apostle Andrew brought his brother, Peter, to Jesus.

"Very few ever came to Jesus without somebody bringing them," Graham says.

There are some striking examples of how the process is working to get a variety of people out to hear the evangelist — who otherwise might not go — but who end up in some cases dedicating themselves to Christ.

One Manhattan business executive, Jewish-born Jack L. Lewis, who was led to Christianity by Graham, has reserved a box at the Garden, and brings about 15 to 18 guests each evening.

"I've never been so happy as since I found Christ," he said. "I was always groping for something . . . and now that I've found it, I want others to find it too."

He rounds up his groups by hundreds of telephone calls to friends, customers and bussiness associates, and on occasion, by taking large parties out to dinner before the Graham meetings.

Morris Townsend, another New York businessman, fills a re- guests.

★ ★ ★

His sermon text last night was 2 Corinthians 4:4. At the close of his sermon, 445 people made "decisions for Christ," raising the total to 19,545.

Hal Boyle Says:
Educator Raps Spoiled Collegians

NEW YORK (AP)—"It seems to me that a dangerous philosophy has grown up that the world owes us a living," said Dr. John R. Bertrand, who at 42 heads one of America's most unusual educational institutions.

★ ★ ★

"We try to teach our students that it is up to a man to create his own opportunity — and that hardship need not in itself be regarded as a cause for unhappiness."

Dr. Bertrand, who last year became president of the famed Berry Schools and College near Rome, Ga., is an unusual educator himself.

After graduating from high school, he ran his father's Texas wheat farm for five years to save enough to start college. In the second World War he served 19 months as a submarine combat officer in the Southwest Pacific. Most of his fighting time he spent aboard the USS Bowfin, which torpedoed nearly 200,000 tons of Japanese shipping.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Bertrand is a tall, spare, dark-eyed man.

"Many college students in the United States today are spoiled. Things have been too easy for them," he said.

They aren't at the Berry Schools, founded in 1902 to give an education to boys and girls of the Southern highlands who could get one no other way.

The schools now have 1,000 students and a 30,000-acre campus, the largest in the nation.

No student is allowed to have a car. There is no football. The students wear uniforms to avoid social distinctions.

Every student—boy or girl—studies four days a week, spends two days at work to earn his room and board. Some 60 per cent also work at the school during the summer to earn their tuition for the following year. All students attend religious services every Sunday.

The schools operate their own dairy farm, grow their own produce, market timber from their forest. Students have constructed many of the 100 buildings on the campus, even turning out the bricks themselves.

★ ★ ★

"The students also provide most of their own entertainment," said Dr. Bertrand. "We stress these things—the dignity of work, Christian living, and the importance of beauty in daily life."

This concept might sound a little stuffy to many a student who regards college as a long lark at parental expense. But some 16,000 students over the last century have proved the worth of the Berry formula.

The schools have turned out hundreds of teachers, ministers, farm experts, industrial technicians. Several graduates have become legislators and lawyers. One is a college president, another a magazine editor, a third vice president of a major Manhattan bank.

★ ★ ★

"Our graduates don't have any trouble getting located," said Dr. Bertrand, smiling. "Having had a good work background, they aren't afraid to tackle a new job just because it's hard."

Dr. Bertrand, who resigned as dean of the University of Nevada's college of agriculture, to take up his present post, says one of the pleasantest things about it is that he rarely has a disciplinary problem.

★ ★ ★

"A student who is getting his education by the sweat of his own brow knows the value of it. He isn't in a hurry to get into trouble."

Police Hope to Trade Old Guns for New Ones

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police here hope to trade some old guns for new ones.

Up for swaps are 1,206 confiscated weapons. They won't be sold because the law says the money would then go into the general city fund, not to the police department.

So Police Commissioner Thomas Gibbons is out to trade them for new .38 revolvers, shotguns, rifles, handcuffs, leg irons and quick-draw holsters. Only licensed gun dealers are eligible and the entire lot must go to one bidder.

Feline Cat-astrophy: Just 4 Cats Per House

HILLSIDE, N.J. (AP)—Cat lovers in this town will have to content themselves with a maximum of four felines per household.

The Town Committee voted that quota last night. Earlier, they had planned to set the limit at two, but feline fanciers howled that this would be cat-astrophic.

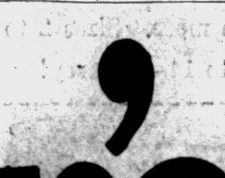

The action was prompted by one citizen who complained that his neighbor owned 17 cats.

MYRNA LOUISE PAUL

1 Doctor to Leave for Congo, 2 to Help at Home

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Pontiac Press Church Editor

Dr. Percy S. Marsa of Lake Orion and Drs. W. Walker Oliphant and E. Arthur Calkins who are completing their internship at Pontiac General Hospital, have arranged a medical missionary assignment for themselves. Each will go to the Belgian Congo, on a rotation basis.

Because he has been to the Congo, Dr. Marsa will go first, leaving around July 4. Accompanying him will be his wife, Jean, and four children, Gordon, 17, who has been in pre-med school at Emmanuel Missionary College; Stanley, 14; Ann, 11, and three-year-old Linda.

While he is in Africa, Drs. Walker and Oliphant will take over his practice in Lake Orion and share the income with the Marsas.

When Dr. Marsa returns, one of the other doctors will go with the two physicians in this country supporting the one in the Congo.

WAS A MINISTER

Dr. Marsa was a Seventh Day Adventist minister in the jungle area of Africa when he realized he could do more for the African people if he were a doctor as well as a minister.

"Here we have one doctor for every thousand persons. In Africa, there is a doctor for every 50 thousand," said Dr. Marsa.

He came back to the United States and enrolled in the College of Medical Evangelists, Los Angeles, where he was graduated in 1952.

He then studied tropical medicine in Belgium, interned at Pontiac General Hospital, took a year of surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and built up a practice at Lake Orion.

MET IN UGANDA

Dr. Oliphant first met Dr. Marsa in Uganda. He too, was a Seventh Day Adventist minister serving at a mission station in British East Africa. He returned to study medicine, so that his work would be more helpful.

The two doctors met again at the College of Medical Evangelists. They became acquainted with Dr. E. Arthur Calkins, a former Wisconsin farmer, who was bent on a missionary career. The three planned the rotation arrangement.

The Oliphants have four children, Carol, Bill, Sue and Jimmy. The Calkins have two daughters, Winona and Gail.

Mrs. Calkins told this reporter that she and her husband had always wanted to do something special in the religious field. Her father is a minister and Dr. Calkins has three brothers who are pastors.

MOVED TO ORION

The Oliphants and Calkins moved from Pontiac to Lake Orion about two weeks ago.

The Marsa family will sail from New York on the African Moon for Cape Town. They will drive from Cape Town about 2,000 miles up to the Congo over rough roads.

Dr. Marsa will be assisting Dr. Marlowe Schaffner for a year at the Songa Hospital. When Schaffner returns to the United States, Marsa will take charge.

COLLECTED SUPPLIES

Mrs. Lester G. Auberlin of Detroit has helped get the vital supplies asked for by Dr. Schaffner. The equipment is some that has been discarded by Detroit hospitals and doctors.

Dr. Marsa said, "I still need a cystoscope, a sigmoidscope and antibiotics. Africans have all our diseases plus leprosy, sleeping sickness, tick fevers, yaws, malaria and a great deal of general infection."

The Marsas will take along a mill and grind their own flour. The oil from palm trees will be used for fat, and water will be found at springs and boiled before use.

★ ★ ★

"We will be living on a plateau," said Mrs. Marsa. "The weather will be like Michigan's August. We will grow our own vegetables and fruits such as oranges, lemons and bananas. I'm looking forward to returning to Africa."

A graduate of Emmanuel Missionary College in Berrien Springs and a major in French and education, Mrs. Marsa will supervise the education of the younger children. Gordon will attend Heidelberg College near Cape Town.

"I hope our friends will write to us," said Dr. Marsa, "letters are a big event when you're a long distance from home."

Barbara Snover Weds James Spring

The Nuptial High Mass of Barbara Jo Snover and James Jon Spring was solemnized at 11 a.m. Saturday in St. Benedict Church. The Rev. John J. Hoar officiated.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Snover of West Huron street. James' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Spring of Illinois avenue.

The bride's gown was of imported white Chantilly lace over satin. The elongated bodice had long tapered sleeves and a scoop neckline, set with a yoke of pearl re-embroidered lace. The full skirt fell into a chapel sweep.

Barbara's veil of French illusion fell from a headpiece of lace and pearls. She wore pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white orchid and stephanotis on a prayer book.

ASSIST BRIDE

Barbara Schwalm of Pontiac served as maid of honor. The other attendants were Barbara Hess and Mrs. Michael Kelly of Pontiac, and Mrs. Russell Anderson Jr. of Ann Arbor.

They wore dresses of mauve-pink chiffon over taffeta, fashioned with pintucked bodices, shirred cummerbunds and full skirts. Pink looped chiffon headpieces and matching shoes accented the ensembles. Each attendant carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations and ivy.

Catherine Ann Francis of Pine Lake was the flower maid, wearing a bouffant pink and white organdy dress with embroidered flower trim. Her flowers were a miniature replica of the attendants' bouquets, and she wore a matching flower headband.

ATTENDS BRIDEGROOM

Martin Keller Jr. of Pontiac was James' best man. The ushers were James Wilcox, Pontiac; Russell Anderson Jr. of Ann Arbor; and Hugh MacDonald of Detroit.

Mrs. Leonard Mayer of Bessemer, aunt of the bridegroom, was the soloist.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Snover chose a sheath dress of Dior blue lace with chiffon trim. A matching feather hat and a corsage of pink Carol Amling roses pinned to her purse completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Spring wore a bouffant gray silk organza dress with satin trim for her son's wedding, and a large rose colored straw hat with pastel pink flower trim. She, too, wore a corsage of pink Carol Amling roses pinned to her purse.

Immediately following the ceremony a buffet reception was held at Rotunda Inn.

★ ★ ★

For the wedding trip to Miami, the new Mrs. Spring changed to a beige linen sheath ensemble with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Barbara Jo Snover and James Jon Spring were united in marriage Saturday at St. Benedict Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Snover of West Huron street, and the Peter L. Springs of Illinois avenue are James' parents.

Wife of Sen. Cooper Has Versatility, Charm

(This is the third of six articles in which a noted Washington correspondent takes you behind the scenes on the capital's cocktail circuit to meet the city's most exciting women.)

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
INS Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (INS)—If variety is the spice of life, then the amazing contrasts in the career of Mrs. John Sherman Cooper have certainly helped create one of the most fascinating additions to Washington's official social whirl.

The hazel-eyed, brunette wife of Kentucky's senator spent her girlhood commuting between informal California and the fabulous Orsini Palace in Rome.

Since her marriage two years ago, she has presided over our embassy in India, bowed to the King of Nepal in that remote mountain kingdom, campaigned 35,000 miles in two months through Kentucky, and folded bandages as a member of the Senate Ladies Club.

Chic, svelte and sophisticated, she also entertains elegantly in her Georgetown house which dates from 1800.

★ ★ ★

Born in languorous California, Lorraine Cooper's life underwent an abrupt change of pace when her mother, after the death of her father, married the Prince Orsini. He was the scion of one of Italy's oldest feudal families, whose duty it was to stand at the right hand of the Pope.

STUDIED IN ITALY

Lorraine, who insists that she wasn't "educated" enough to land a government job, nevertheless attended schools here and abroad and graduated from a finishing school in Florence, Italy, while her three brothers were making their mark at Oxford.

★ ★ ★

The future Mrs. Cooper first married at the age of 17, but as a grass widow came to Washington in 1947 to seek a career in the State Department.

The coveted position failed to materialize, but two years later while dining with Lord and Lady Balfour around the corner from her Georgetown abode, she met the shy, absent-minded senator from Kentucky.

Two years were to pass before she again met John at the home of United Nations Ambassador (then senator) Henry Cabot Lodge. This time, even Cooper remembered the encounter.

★ ★ ★

A leisurely four-year courtship ensued while Cooper campaigned his way in and out of Kentucky politics. Once he came to call on Lorraine and her brother in his home stamping ground of Lexington. Louis Rowan, who heads the California Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, was there for the horse sales, but Lorraine was more interested in a politician named Cooper.

The two were married at Princess Orsini's home in California on St. Patrick's Day in 1955 and left immediately for New Delhi, where John had just been appointed our ambassador to India and Nepal.

Lorraine, who speaks French, Spanish, Italian, German and Russian, immediately began a study of Hindi, only to discover that English was all that she needed in that exotic land.

CHARMED NEHRU

To say that she charmed the Indians was to put it mildly. Prime Minister Nehru, the mystic politician who never goes out to dinner unless a visiting head of state or foreign minister is there, nevertheless dined at the American embassy simply because Lorraine invited him.

When John presented his credentials to the King of Nepal, she knew that by tradition she would be permitted to watch only from a veiled balcony. Nonetheless, the new king suddenly reversed tradition and asked that Lorraine also be received.

Wearing a white suit, and completely eclipsed by her husband's top hat, cutaway and striped pants, she was escorted into the coronation room where the King, wearing his famed pearl crown topped by birds of paradise, graced the throne.

The honor was unique. This year, when U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker presented his credentials as successor to Cooper, women again were excluded.

Lorraine, new to the ways of U.S. diplomacy, was astounded to discover how much an ambassador's wife must know about her own country.

The Indian women were eager to learn about our hospitals, our schools, our home sciences and treatment for the blind. No college student ever crammed harder for an exam. Soon she was able to speak with authority, and to judge university debates.

Last summer the Coopers returned to America to prepare for Nehru's state visit. India has not seen them since. While here, Republican friends persuaded John to run for the Senate seat vacated by the death of Alben W. Barkley.

★ ★ ★

For two hectic months, Lorraine and John campaigned through Kentucky and "never slept in the same bed twice."

Now they are at home again, and take it from much-traveled Lorraine, home is best. To that, the Washington cocktail circuit will say "amen."

Julia Bex Wears Eyelet for First Baptist Service

A floor-length gown of embroidered eyelet organdy was worn by Julia Colleen Bex for her marriage Saturday to William Raymond Goodwin at First Baptist Church. A Sabrina neckline was a feature of the fitted bodice.

★ ★ ★

The gown's skirt was bouffant with three tiers. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls and sequins. An arrangement of calla lilies comprised the bridal bouquet.

Julia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bex of South Marshall street, had Mrs. Robert L. Trout of Marion, Ind., as her honor attendant. Mrs. Trout's pink ballerina-length gown featured a lace bodice. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of carnations.

The bride's other attendants, Robbie Bennett, Mrs. Paul Morse and Mrs. Harold Rouse, were were gowned alike in blue and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Andrea LaBair, dressed in pink organdy and carrying a bouquet of blue carnations, served as junior bridesmaid. Carrie Morse of Bancroft served as flower girl. She was also dressed in pink organdy and held a basket of rose petals.

The bride chose her sister, Kathleen Voss, to be her maid of honor. The other attendants were Gail and Susan Voss, Barbara Folin and Alain VanKirk, all of Birmingham.

Does Love Make Woman Generous, Tolerant, Kind?

Or Is She Cherished by Her Husband Because of These Attributes?

By RUTH MILLETT

Have you ever noticed—

That the woman whose husband is obviously in love with her is usually a generous, tolerant, friendly person? The question is: Is she loved because she is that kind of woman, or does the knowledge that she is loved bring out the best in her?

★ ★ ★

That a man doesn't start confiding in other women that his wife doesn't understand him until she finally understands him too well for his own comfort?

That the man who goes the farthest in his career isn't as likely to be the man with a dynamo of a wife who is helping him elbow his way up as the man whose wife in a gentle manner lets the world know what a smart husband she has?

That the husband and children of a highly successful career woman—even the one who claims "My family always comes first"— are rarely as enthusiastic about her career as she is?

★ ★ ★

That the most efficient and hardest-working clubwomen rarely have happy faces?

That some women get so much satisfaction out of getting a bargain that they will buy almost anything at any price if it is marked "half price"?

That a man can help in the kitchen and not lose any of his masculinity—unless you see him automatically tie on an apron before tackling the dishes? Then he looks a little too housebroken.

★ ★ ★

That there's nothing like a pretty young thing joining a party to make the middle-aged men throw back their shoulders and start telling anecdotes in which they starred as masters of the situation?

Bride's Dad Is Known by 2 Names

Family Wondering How to Deal With Invitation Problem

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister will be getting married soon and we need your help on the wording of the invitations. My father has a business and uses a business name. Quite a few invitations will be sent to his business acquaintances who do not know our family name.

"Would it be proper to enclose a business card of my father's with the invitations to these business acquaintances so that they will know who is meant, or do we have special invitations printed with my father's business name, or just what do you suggest in this situation?"

Answer: In your situation I cannot think of a better solution than the one you yourself have suggested of enclosing your father's business card in the invitations going to those who do not know his social name.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend is 19. We have been going together for a year now and his birthday is coming up next week. I want to buy him a shirt and tie, but mother disapproves of this type of gift.

"Many of my friends have given gifts of this sort to their boy friends and their parents did not seem to disapprove. I think my mother is very old-fashioned. Isn't such a present acceptable in the present day?"

Answer: The tie is perfectly all right but not the shirt. A tie can be considered an accessory whereas a shirt is definitely wearing apparel.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I went to the beauty shop for a permanent wave. My regular operator was busy when I arrived and so she asked one of the other girls to shampoo my hair while she finished her other customer. I would like to know if I should have given her a separate tip?"

Answer: Yes, she should have been given the tip customary for a shampoo to which no other attention is added.

NEED A CHANGE?

If in doubt about your summer hair style do what you like best! In fact the next three months would be an excellent time to try different coiffures while you are vacationing or living casually. If your face is small you will look better with your hairdo close to your head. If you have a full face, a fluffier hair do will make your face appear smaller. No matter what style you choose the first requisite is a good permanent wave. A good wave may be a very loose natural wave or a springy tighter curl. It is good if it keeps your hair style in place from one shampoo to the next. We would like to help you with your summer hairdo.

She Coddles Son to Reproach Dad

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Since Mr. Ainslie has become his firm's assistant sales manager, his suburban home has seen less of him. He has to take customers to dinner. He has to show them the town. When he travels, customers take him to dinner and show him the town.

Lately, his wife has begun to enviously compare his roaming freedom to her confinement by maternal duties. And to develop a good deal of resentment at it.

Her feeling has especially affected her 9-year-old son.

She fusses over him. Every afternoon she bundles the two younger children into the car and picks Ted up at school. She gets upset when he's baffled over homework. Last night when his father suggested it was time to reregister him for summer camp, she became extremely agitated.

★ ★ ★

She said hotly, "I don't want him to go to camp this year! He's had two colds this spring. I'm simply not going to have him sent into those woods to rough it again this year."

ANGRIER THAN EVER

After a moment, her husband muttered, "Women — holy cats!" and drove downtown for some cigarettes.

It made his wife angrier than ever. Yet his failure to understand her was no more unkind than her failure to understand herself.

★ ★ ★

If we let it, resentment can play its malevolent tricks on us, regardless of our sex.

Were Mr. Ainslie resentful of his wife, he might reproach her by flinging himself into intense business activity or a violent flirtation with a neighbor's wife.

These male forms of reproach are not available to Mrs. Ainslie.

So she's turned to the one that is—her fussing over Ted that tells his father what a grand, conscientious mother she is.

★ ★ ★

Where Mr. Ainslie's flirtation would cry reproachfully, "See what a desirable male I am!" her maternal fussings cry, "See what a good parent I am compared to what a neglectful one you are!

"See how I devote myself to your son's welfare while you devote yourself to your disgusting customers by showing them the town and goodness knows what else!"

USEFUL INSTRUMENT

Naturally, as Ted has become such a useful instrument for indirect reproach, she doesn't want to lose him to camp this summer.

Overprotecting a child is what we mothers often turn to when we dare not reproach his father openly.

Baggy Skin, Wrinkles May Result

Beware of Losing Weight Too Fast

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Human nature is like that! A woman may take 20 years to accumulate her extra pounds, but once she makes up her mind to lose them she is apt to want to see results immediately.

★ ★ ★

We all have seen the unattractive effects of losing a great deal of weight too rapidly. The skin did not have time to shrink to its new proportions and often the arms and neck are baggy. Wrinkles may appear which would have been avoided if the reduction had been more gradual.

If you have only a few pounds to lose you can do so rapidly without these unhappy byproducts. You can lose 10 pounds in a short time and look 10 years younger. However, if you have many extra pounds you should be contented with a loss of 2 to 2½ pounds a week.

You should remember that when you lose weight on the outside you also lose on the inside. You should not lose too much supporting flesh without giving internal organs time for adjustment.

★ ★ ★

You will not have to cut your calorie intake drastically if you aim at a loss of 2½ pounds weekly. You can follow these simple rules:

1. Take smaller helpings. Never eat until you feel stuffed.

2. Cut down on fats. This means that you leave off rich desserts, fried foods, gravy, cream sauces, drink skim or dried, fat-free milk, and decrease the amount of butter and salad oils.

TO REDUCE THE THIGHS — Contract the hip muscles and beat the thigh with your fist. Do not hit too hard, just a gentle, brisk pelting.

3. Build up on proteins such as lean meat, fish and fowl.

4. Build up on the vitamin-rich foods such as fresh vegetables and fruits. These are low in calorie count and high in health value. They are also filling.

5. You need some carbohydrate foods but control them.

★ ★ ★

You won't starve on 1,200 to 1,400 calories a day and you will lost 2 to 2½ pounds a week.

Remember, too, that exercise will be a great ally in firming you up while you lose poundage.

If you have only a few pounds to lose you may want my Nine-Day Reducing Diet. This gives you a loss of from 5 to 10 pounds in nine day's time. If you would like to have that booklet send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Pork Chops Baked With Vegetables

By JANET ODELL

If your assignment for the next picnic or pot luck dinner is a meat dish, why not try Mrs. Loren C. Sheffield's Cabin Casserole? It is so named because it was originated at the Sheffield's cabin up north.

Hunting pheasants and ducks is a favorite sport with the Sheffields. Mrs. Sheffield belongs to Guild Two of her church and is on the Board of Directors for the Visiting Nurses Association.

By Mrs. Loren C. Sheffield

Chili sauce

Approve Two of Eight Orion Petitions

By MRS. ROBERT SANFORD
Lake Orion Correspondent

ORION TOWNSHIP — The use of the former Scripps Wildwood Farms, which comprise over 2,900 acres in the heart of Orion Township, may "determine the future development and economy of the whole area" according to C. Adler, representative of Village Acres present owners, who has spent three years planning before presenting six petitions for developments. Eighty residents, attending the meeting, approved only two.

There was no question that Adler, F.H.A. Administrator and member of the panel rewriting Michigan's Building Code was qualified but no one present wanted commercial development in their own neighborhood.

The proposal to place a park-type cemetery on the south shore of Mill Lake was not contested. Funds from the sale of each plot will be set aside in escrow for upkeep.

The proposal to place garden-type apartments to the North of St. Marys of the Hills on Joslyn to Voorheis Lake with ample room around them was approved after group consideration.

OBJECT TO THEATER

W. E. Huthwaite, Pontiac attorney, was retained by several residents to object to the proposed drive-in theater on Orion-Clarkston road, where a small grocery and creamery have existed for years "because it introduces a commercial character to a residential area."

In the eyes of about twenty Randall Beach owners, who objected, the theater would be a nuisance.

A shopping center on Joslyn between Scripps and Greenshield roads was questioned because roads are not sufficiently developed, and as expressed by the Rev. William Hamm "the commercial development across from the church would intrude upon the pastoral setting which is St. Marys of the Hills' real beauty."

The planning which placed the center in the heart of the area an therefore, not a threat to merchants of Gingellville and Lake Orion as location on the outer perimeter would, was not discussed.

The proposed light manufacturing was met with resentment, although Adler assured the group that ample modern sewage disposal was planned "to assure the virgin lakes in the area would not be spoiled." Village Acres proposes a highly desirable home development around lakes in the area.

AID ECONOMY

Question of taxes on an all resident development in face of the school tax sifuation was introduced several times. Arlie Reed, Superintendent of Schools answered that our existing companies have aided the economy in this field and that in addition Artco alone pays $35,000 payroll weekly to township residents.

At the close of the meeting, John Fortier, chairman of the zoning board, assured those present that notices would be placed in the paper in ample time so that they can attend future meetings concerning these sites before any action is taken.

Romeo Picks Barbara Moskow

ROMEO — "I think it's wonderful," said blonde, blue-eyed Barbara Moskow when she learned of her selection of "Miss Romeo" in the contest held last night in the auditorium of Romeo High School.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moskow, 132 Sisson St., she is a sophomore at Albion College and an accomplished pianist.

Named first alternate was Mary Imbler, 18, a second year student at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids. She is the daughter of Mrs. Cort M. Imbler of Rochester.

Carol LeFever, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer LeFever, 29 Mile Rd. Washington was second alternate. She will attend Eastern Michigan College, Ypsilanti, next fall.

Master of ceremonies J. Gerald McLean, interviewed each candidate before the microphone, then the three out-of-town judges questioned several of the girls individually before making their final decision.

Judges were Mrs. Allen Bower and Mrs. Roy Sebert both of Armada and Francis Chapoton of Utica.

In addition to the winners, other contestants were Barbara Givens, Norma Kegler, Mona Wheaton, Carole Hiller, Marilyn Zuehlk, Barbara Stark, Stella Martin, Judy Gass, Geraldine Kelly, and Nancy Kimball.

The new "Miss Romeo" will represent the village in the Queen's Contest to be held later this summer. This competition is staged annually to determine which of 11 area queens will reign over the Romeo Peach Festival celebration, a traditional event of Labor Day weekend.

MR. and MRS. MICHAEL BAGGETT

Michael Baggetts Take Honeymoon to Smokies

AVON — Kay Norden became the bride of Michael Baggett at a double ring candlelight service at Stone Baptist Church, Saturday.

The ceremony was performed at 7 p.m. by Rev. Lawrence Dickens before 250 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norden of 373 South Boulevard and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baggett of 3648 Mildred street are parents of the groom.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of lace and nylon net over white satin. The tight fitting bodice featured a portrait neckline with long tapering sleeves ending in points over the hand. The bouffant skirt extended into a chapel train.

She wore a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Her finger tip veil of illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls and sequins. A bouquet of carnations and lilies of valley centered with a white orchid, completed the ensemble.

Mrs. Lee Johnston, sister of the bride of St. Clair Shores, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Gail Kent, Aileen Farner and Sarah Baggett. Barbara Johnston and Donna Harty, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

Donald Evilsizer served as best man while James Roberts and Larry Robertson seated the guests.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. The newlyweds left for their honeymoon trip to the Smoky Mountains.

Heifer Is Suspect in Fireball Hunt

NEW BALTIMORE (UP)—A hitchhiker's alarmed report that he saw "two balls of fire" floating in a field today touched off a police search in the early morning darkness.

Selfridge Air Force Base relayed the report from 18-year-old Fred Formi of New Baltimore to sheriff's offices and New Baltimore Police, who sent two cars to investigate.

Formi said the fire balls floated toward him as he stood on M29, then veered off into a field. After an hour-long search, officers turned up only a farmer who was searching for a stray heifer.

That, police concluded, must have been Formi's fire balls—he had seen passing car headlights reflecting on the animal's eyes.

Britain Emphasizes Unmanned Missiles

LONDON—Because of its changing needs — fewer planes and greater emphasis on pilotless missiles—Britain's Royal Air Force is going to supply pilots to the big air companies.

It will release them up to three years before their service terminates, to relieve the acute shortage of pilots in civil aviation, caused by the high cost of training.

It now costs almost as much to train a pilot to top airline standards as it does to qualify a doctor—around $11,000. The pilots need not hold a civilian aviation license. Air corporations will pay them about $1,700 a year while they are training.

'Fair Share' in South Lyon Willing to Strike

SOUTH LYON — (INS) — Dairy farmers of the Michigan Fair Share Bargaining Association have indicated they are willing to go on strike "whenever somebody says the word."

Union Leader Roland Brengle said more than 85 per cent of early returns in a poll of union members favor a strike "tomorrow, if a strike were to be called that soon."

He said, however, non-member dairy farmers in the Detroit milk shed will be polled before the association takes action.

★ ★ ★

The association is protesting prospects of a cut in prices to producers. Brengle said the price has already been reduced from $5.35 a hundredweight to $4.65.

Ceremony to Begin Improvement Plan

IMLAY CITY — Village officials and residents inaugurate the beginning of a capital improvement program when they hold ground breaking ceremonies for their new sewage disposal plant Thursday.

The short program at 2:30 p.m. will include an opening prayer by Rev. John H. Balfour, a short history of recent growth of the village and future potential growth by James Morrice, village attorney. President E. C. Muzzy will turn the first spadeful of earth.

The village is bonded for $200,000 for the plant and the contract was let to the Stedman Construction Co. of Bay City for $215,000.

Gets Music Award

OXFORD — Wayne Davisson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Davisson of 1205 Coates Rd. was awarded a piano and organ scholarship from the Sherwood Music School Chicago.

★ ★ ★

He will leave Sunday to begin a six-week study course.

Expect Bill to Test Senate on Civil Rights Sentiment

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate approaches today its first real test of civil rights sentiment in seven years with a boiling controversy in prospect over whether to act on a House-passed bill.

Led by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), a coalition of Republicans and self-styled "liberal" Democrats was confident that before the week is out they will have placed the House civil rights bill on the Senate calendar.

★ ★ ★

The effect of any such successful effort to bypass the Judiciary Committee — where similar legislation has been stalled for six months—would be to place the House bill in a position where any senator could move to call it up for a vote.

At that point, Southern forces would be certain to launch a filibuster—the same kind of endless talk that in the past has spell Knowland, Senate Repdeath . , death for civil rights bills.

OPINIONS DIVIDED

Knowland, Senate Republican leader said he is "confident we will get the bill on the calendar."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leading the Southern Democrats, said he has found "some indication there may be a legislative lynching on this bill."

★ ★ ★

"I haven't had time to assay the strength of the Knowland-Douglas axis, but I hope the Senate will follow its rules," Russell said.

"The Senate gets in trouble every time i departs from them."

★ ★ ★

This was an allusion to the announced intention of Knowland and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) to invoke a little-used rule by which they contend a House bill can be placed on the calendar without reference to a committee. Russell says this rule has been superseded by another which requires all such bills to go to Senate committees.

BACK KNOWLAND

ta5 Rights gal 2 wyyf JL19

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said urged the bypassing move last week were standing solidly with Knowland. He said he expects some other Democrats to join them.

Chairman Saltonstall (Mass) of the Conference of All Republican Senators predicted most of the 46 GOP members would back Knowland's move.

★ ★ ★

Given this support the indications were that Knowland — with an expected assist from Vice President Nixon as presiding officer—would be able to bypass the committee.

★ ★ ★

This would bring the measure the House passed yesterday 286-126 to the same point reached in May 1950 by a bill to establish a fair employment practices commission (FEPC).

England Tackles Smoking Issue

Researchers Claim Day's Breathing Has Same Effect as 100 Cigarettes

LONDON (AP) — Researchers hired by British tobacco companies said that Londoners each day breathe as much of one cancer-causing substance — benzpyrene — as they would get from smoking 100 cigarettes.

Benzpyrene is one of the substances most frequently mentioned by scientists seeking to determine whether smoking is a major cause of lung cancer. It is found both in tobacco smoke and in air polluted by industrial by-products and heavy automotive traffic.

★ ★ ★

The experts working for the British tobacco firms said they took samples of London's heavily polluted air and of the less polluted air of a country town.

"Measurements showed that the daily intake of benzpyrene from breathing of the west country town's air was equivalent in total volume to the intake from smoking about 40 cigarettes a day," they said. "In London it was equivalent to 100 a day.

★ ★ ★

"The conclusion is that it is most improbable that the amounts which would be absorbed from normal levels of smoking could be in any way injurious."

LITTLE FROM PAPER

Some scientists have suggested that the burning paper of cigarettes contributes much of the benzpyrene found in the smoke. The British experts said their experiments indicated that at the most, only about 10 per cent of the substance came from the paper and the rest from the tobacco.

They added that "from a limited series of experiments it appeared that pipe smoke contains at least as much benzpyrene weight for weight as cigarette smoke."

★ ★ ★

Other researchers have reported that the incidence of lung cancer is nevertheless much lower among pipe smokers than among cigarette smokers.

English Picture Will Tell Story of Mystery Crash

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Couldn't have had a nicer surprise than the call from my old friend, London producer Herbert Wilcox, who, with his wife Anna Neagle, is in Hollywood for just 48 hours.

Herbert told me of a fascinating picture he'll make late this year, "The Mystery of Flight 777," which is the story of the tragic flight on which Leslie Howard lost his life.

"There's always been a great deal of mystery about the cause of this crash," Herbert said. "Sir Compton MacKenzie has written a great script about it."

But the real business which brought the Wilcoxes to Hollywood is to sign an American actor to co-star with Anna in "The Queen and Smith," their next picture.

Herbert laughed, "So far, I don't know who we'll get—but I'll settle for Bill Holden, Charleton Heston, Robert Ryan or any other of the he-man Americans."

UPSET BY ROMANCE

Eva Gabor's romance with a well-known London restaurateur is upsetting her family and friends. But they'll be happy for her that she has landed the coveted role of Maurice Chevalier's girl friend in "Gigi." Next to Leslie Caron's, it's the most important femme part.

I hear that Arthur Freed and director Vince Minnelli took a look at Eva playing the glamorous newspaperwoman in "Don't Go Near the Water" before they took off for Europe.

So all they had to do when they arrived in London was to tell Eva she was set for "Gigi." She won't be coming home from Europe as the movie starts in Paris in early July.

Very proudly, Jeanette MacDonald introduced her bridegroom of 20 years, Gene Raymond, right from the stage of the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas.

She said marriage is a 50-50 proposition and she felt that Gene is really her better half. A wedding cake with all the trimmings was served and I was very happy to be a part of this sentimental occasion.

Gene left immediately after the party for March Field where, as a lieutenant colonel in the reserves, he's on active duty training pilot recruits.

Later, in Jeanette's penthouse, we reminisced about how I had carried a typewriter under my fur stole to her wedding and had written my story about it right at the reception. Jeanette, by the way, stepped in to replace the ailing Teresa Brewer at the Sahara on 24-hour notice.

AVA AND EVANS

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Ava Gardner's first date in New York was with Bob Evans at the Harwyn Club. This should stop the gossip that Ava and young Evans were feuding in Mexico because she wanted Walter Chiari to have Bob's part in "The Sun Also Rises."

Harry Warner's many friends will be sorry to hear that he is seriously ill at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Grace Hayes, mother of Peter Lind Hayes, and well known in show business, is another patient at Cedars.

Betty Hutton and Jacques Bergerac are listening to Cecil Barker's offer to co-star them on Broadway this fall in "Mr. and Mrs." — a funny play about a famous TV couple who suddenly find out they are not legally married.

June is a big month for Irving Asher and Laura La Plante. They celebrate their 23rd anniversary tomorrow and on the 29th their daughter Jill marries Lewis Morgen.

The most consistent dating in town, Zsa Zsa Gabor and telecaster Tom Duggan, this time at the Luau.

Sam Zimbalist will confirm any minute that Claire Bloom will be the femme star of "Ben Hur."

Probers Hunt Red Teachers

Seek to Learn Whether Communists Infiltrated Academic Field

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An inquiry into whether Communists infiltrated the teaching profession was continued today by congressional investigators who have lost one prospective witness by suicide and found a majority of others reluctant to testify.

The House Un-American Activities subcommittee served a subpoena on an attorney for the suicide victim, William Sherwood, a Stanford cancer research scientist. Atty. Bertram Edises promptly announced he would refuse to answer questions when called Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Edises asserted in a statement that the committee served the subpoena in retaliation for an attempt by the scientist's widow to appear and accuse committee members of driving "my husband to his death."

The widow, Mrs. Barbara Sherwood, handed newsmen a statement she vainly sought to read before the committee. The statement said her husband in younger days supported the Spanish Loyalists and became identified "with radical causes" solely because he wanted to ease suffering.

The statement said Sherwood abandoned politics when he matured, devoted himself to science and was at work on cancer and schizophrenia research when subpoenaed by the committee. He was found last Sunday in his laboratory dying of poison.

". . . When you drove my husband to his death," her statement read, "you destroyed a man of bright promise, a talented fighter in the army of devoted men who are warring against disease."

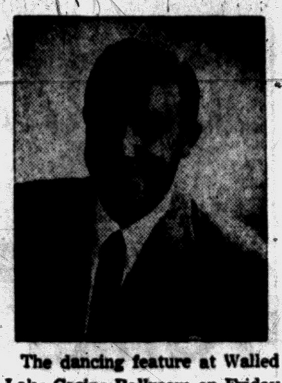

Fewer Mexicans Help Harvest Crops in U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Government officials predicted yesterday the number of Mexicans going to work on U. S. farms this year will be about half the total expected. They blamed bad crop conditions.

Early estimates were 450,000 workers would go to the neighboring country to help with harvests. The central migratory office said only 106,000 have gone so far — half the number for the same period last year.

Jailed by Police Money

KALAMAZOO (AP) — William Grooms, 36, of Detroit, received $3 after spending six days in jail on a five-day sentence for drunkenness. He told Municipal Judge Clark Olmsted, following his second arrest, that he spent the money on his favorite brand of liquor. He was given 30 days in jail on a drunk charge this time.

The dancing feature at Walled Lake Casino Ballroom on Friday and Saturday will be Ralph Marterie and his orchestra.

Labor's Story in Schools

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan CIO Council says its public school program to "bring labor's story to the classrooms" in state schools is expanding. It said the program was initiated to counteract the "propaganda campaign being waged" by the National Assn. of Manufacturers and includes supplying literature and speakers to schools.

Governor Leaves on Ten-Day Trip Friday to East

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams leaves the state Friday for about ten days, mainly to take in the annual Governors' Conference at Williamsburg, Va.

★ ★ ★

The Governor said he and Mrs. Williams plan to spend a couple days with friends in Virginia before the conference starts Sunday.

Afterward, they expect to go to New York for their 20th wedding anniversary, and then pay a brief visit to Princeton University.

While the Governor is gone, the Legislature will reassemble in Lansing for the official windup of its 1957 regular session June 27, the Williams' anniversary.

★ ★ ★

"Unfortunately, I didn't know the Legislature would be in session," the Governor told newsmen yesterday. "I picked the date before they did—20 years ago. Or at least my wife did."

While they are in New York, Gov. and Mrs. Williams will see the Broadway show, "My Fair Lady."

Policemen Go to School

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit policemen are going to school to study human relations. Commissioner Edward S. Piggins said Tuesday the eight-hour course will include work on civil rights, racial tensions, personal prejudices and attitudes. He said the course was set up on the theory that local police aren't well enough informed on these subjects.

The U.S. Weather bureau was organized under control of the Department of Agriculture July 1, 1891.

White Sox Lead Cut as Pierce Loses

Yanks Set to Start Surge

NEW YORK (INS) — The inevitable is happening.

The irresistible New York Yankees are moving in on first place and neither the battling Detroit Tigers nor the sagging Chicago White Sox seem capable of stopping the world champions from reaching their goal by Sunday.

The Yankees opened their home drive for the top spot last night by edging the Tigers 2 to 1, the same score by which Baltimore beat the White Sox to cut Chicago's league hold to 2½ games.

Casey Stengel figures that after the remaining two games with Detroit and the four-game weekend set with the Pale Hose are completed, the Bronx Bombers will be back atop the standings to stay.

The White Sox lost with their best — Billy Pierce — and in the worst possible way. The southpaw, who already has won 10, walked the winning Baltimore run across the plate. Ralph Terry, recently acquired from the Yanks by Kansas City, hurled the A's to a 2-to-0 win over Washington although he needed Virgil Trucks to get the final out. Cleveland hammered four homers to edge Boston 7 to 6.

★ ★ ★

In the National League, front-running Milwaukee lost to the New York Giants 5 to 4 in their first meeting since Saturday's big trade. What's more, Ray Crone, an ex-Brave, won in relief for the Giants. Philadelphia, St. Louis and Brooklyn all trail Milwaukee by one game and fifth-place Cincinnati is two games back.

A grand-slam homer by rookie Harry Anderson helped the Phils beat the Chicago Cubs 7 to 6 in the only day game yesterday.

Art Swanson, 20-year-old bonus baby, hurled Pittsburgh to an 8-to-1 win over the Cardinals. Don Newcombe pitched and batted the Dodgers to a 7-to-0 win over the Redlegs.

The score was tied at 1-all in the seventh, when Chicago's Pierce gave up a single and three straight two-out walks. George Zuverink won in relief and now is 7-and-2. Baltimore's largest crowd of the season—41,515—was on hand.

★ ★ ★

Lou Skizas and Vic Power homered for the only runs of the Kansas City - Washington game. Terry pitched a five-hitter and Ted Abernathy took the defeat.

★ ★ ★

Vic Wertz, Chico Carrasquel, Rocky Colavito and Roger Maris all homered for Cleveland off Tom Brewer. Jackie Jensen's three-run homer sparked a too-little rally that couldn't stop Bob Lemon from winning.

Spahn lost for Milwaukee but he was hurt by errors by Johnny Logan and Bill Bruton. Wes Westrum homered for the Giants.

Swanson permitted the Cards only four hits and had the benefit of a 12-hit attack including two homers by Bill Vardon. Larry Jackson lost.

There are some 4,500 Little Leagues started or ready to go for this season. A total of 57 of these are outside the U. S. and Canada —eight each in France and Germany, two in England, one in Italy. There are others in Saudi Arabia, Japan, Guam, the Philippines, Alaska and Venezuela. It now costs $75,000 a year to run the national organization here with 22 paid employes at LL headquarters in Williamsport, Pa.

Oldtime Major League star Frankie Frisch is in favor of boosting player salaries in the minors. "The kids almost starve to death in the low minors. Frick Asserts Baseball Foundations in Danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today Congress would "threaten the foundations of the national game" if it placed baseball under federal antitrust laws.

Frick said such action would result in endless lawsuits, "uncertainty and chaos for players and clubs" and public suspicion of the "honesty of a game no longer allowed to regulate itself effectively."

★ ★ ★

In a statement prepared for a House antitrust subcommittee, Frick added that if antitrust legislation were applied to the national pasttime:

"I do not see better baseball, or lower admission prices, or better ball parks, or anything better for the fan. In short I see baseball set back 50 years."

★ ★ ★

Frick was the star witness as the subcommittee again took up its investigation of the status of professional team sports under antitrust laws. The Supreme Court has ruled baseball is exempt from the Sherman Act to curb monopolies but that football and boxing are covered. It has indicated the baseball decision likewise would not carry over to other team sports.

★ ★ ★

George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues, was on call after Frick. He was expected to back up the commissioner's testimony.

Rep. Herlong (D-Fla) previously told the subcommittee the minors would suffer along with the majors if Congress took away baseball's antitrust immunity.

Frick mentioned the proposed shift of the National League's Brooklyn and New York franchises to Los Angeles and San Francisco, and said present big league rules will "facilitate" expansion.

He prophesied a third major league will develop "in the foreseeable future" and said:

★ ★ ★

"The log jam which prevailed in major league status for 50 years has been broken and I predict that a good many changes are in the offing."

Little Southpaw Holds Detroit in Bay Since '50

Defeat Drops Bengals Back to 4th; Maas on Mound Today

NEW YORK (AP)—In the first eight games between the two teams this year, the Detroit Tigers tied the world champion New York Yankees in knots six times.

That record went a long way toward lifting the Tigers into third place and holding the Yankees in second place behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

But the magic charm wasn't there last night for the Tigers, who needed a sweep of their three-game series to overtake the Yankees and move into second place in the American League standings.

Behind the sharp pitching of Bobby Shantz, the Yank's winningest pitcher, the Tigers bit the dust 2-1 in the first game of the series. The victory was No. 8 for Shantz, a little southpaw who hasn't lost to Detroit since 1950.

★ ★ ★

For the Tigers the loss dropped them one slot back in the standings, from third place to fourth place, .002 percentage points behind Cleveland's Indians, the victors over Boston last night. Both the Tigers and Indians are 5½ games out of first place.

The Yankees are second 2½ games behind the White Sox, who lost to Baltimore last night.

The Tigers and Yanks met in the second game of the series today with Duke Maas, the surprising righthander who has won seven and lost three this year, on the hill for the Tigers and Tom Sturdivant (5-3) pitching for the Yanks.

★ ★ ★

It was Sturdivant who was pitching for New York at Detroit 10 days ago when a fight erupted over charges of a bean ball. Detroit infielder Ray Boone accused Sturdivant of aiming for his head. Sturdivant said the ball got away from him. The jabs exchanged by Boone and Sturdivant led to a general melee by players of both teams.

In last night's game, Tiger southpaw Billy Hoeft dropped his fourth game against one victory.

The Yanks broke open a 1-1 game in the fifth inning on Andy Carey's double and Bobby Richardson's single.

Canadians, Pistons Lose Bid for 'M' Ace

Kramer Is Top-Priced Rookie in NFL

ANN ARBOR (AP) — With an estimated $15,000 bulge in his pocket, Ron Kramer of the Green Bay Packers was just about the highest paid rookie in National Football League history today.

The Michigan All-America end merely signed on the dotted line here yesterday and the Packer's forked over the cash for one season of play.

It was that simple for Kramer after a month of hubbub and intrigue about where he'd play pro ball.

The Michigan nine-letter man had been harried and pursued by three teams since May 25 when his eligibility ran out. Bid after bid shot the ante skyward.

Representatives from the Packers, the Hamilton Tiger-cats of the Canadian Big Four and the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Assn. were holding a private auction. Kramer's athletic services was the prize.

Coach Lisle Blackbourn of the Packers made the best offer and Kramer was "sold."

"He's the toughest rookie I over tried to sign," said the grayhaired Blackbourn whose locks seemed to become more silvery during the auction. "I wanted him real bad. We were willing to do more for him than almost any other rookie."

In a month, the 6-foot-3, 220-pounder will report with Michigan teammates Tom Maentz and Terry Barr to the training camp of the College All-Stars. After the Aug. 9 charity game at Chicago against the world champion New York Giants, Kramer will go to Steven's Point, Wis., pre-season grounds of the Packers.

Kramer was the Packers' draft choice in the first round of the NFL grab bag last November. Another All-America, quarterback Paul Hornung of Notre Dame, was selected by Green Bay as a bonus choice.

Blackbourn said Kramer will be used at right end. Veteran end Bill Howton, an all-league performer, will be transferred to right halfback. Hornung will be used at left half.

Kramer's status as a basketball player remained in doubt. General manager Fred Delano of the Pistons said Kramer can have a tryout when football season ends in December. Kramer probably won't play, but he wants to think about it for awhile.

It was believed Kramer was swayed toward Green Bay by an outside job offer from the nearby Marathon Paper Co. He would be a trainee in the personnel department.

Chuck Kocsis Named to Team

Pick Walker Cuppers

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Joe Patton, and Bill Campbell are repeating members of a 10-man U. S. Walker Cup golf team named today to face Britain's best at the Minikahda Club, Minneapolis, Aug. 30-31.

★ ★ ★

Conspicuously missing from the lineup was the national amateur champion, Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, who is serving a year's probation on expense irregularities. He is applicant for reinstatement as an amateur.

Patton, who shared the halfway lead in the National Open last week at Inverness in Toledo, is the lone returning player on the squad which beat the British 10-2 at St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1955. Campbell served as playing captain of that team but did not inject himself into the lineup.

Charles Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949 amateur champion and member of the Walker Cup teams in 1949, 1951 and 1953, will serve as non-playing captain. As first alternate, however, he may take active status.

The complete team:

Patton, Morganton, N.C.; Bill Campbell, Huntington, West Va.; Rex Baxter, Jr., Amarillo, Tex; Arnold Blum, Macon, Ga; Joe Campbell, Knoxville, Tenn; William Hyndman III, Philadelphia; Charles Kocsis, Royal Oak, Mich; Hillman Robbins, Memphis, Tenn; Mason Rudolph, Clarksville, Tenn; Dr. Frank Taylor, Jr., Pomona, Cal.

★ ★ ★

Coe is first alternate. The second alternate is Richard Yost of Portland, Ore., and the third is Dale Morey of Indianapolis.

Gerald Micklem of Sunningdale, England will head the British team which, like the U.S. squad, will be automatically qualified for the National Amateur tournament at the Country Club in Brookline, Mass., Sept. 9-14.

Baxter is former national junior champion and 1954 Mexican amateur winner. He was fifth amateur in the 1956 National Open. Blum, Southern amateur champion, was a quarter-finalist in the 1956 amateur tournament.

★ ★ ★

Joe Campbell, formerly of Purdue, won the national college crown and was semifinalist in the National amateur last year. Hyndman, 41, long has been one of the East's leading amateurs. He was finalist in the 1955 amateur, won by Ward, and was the second leading amateur in the National Open this year at Inverness, tying for 13th at 291.

Kocsis, 44, is the oldest member of the team. A veteran international, he first played on the team in 1938 and was selected again in 1949. He came back into the picture by gaining the final round of the 1956 amateur against the winner, Ward.

Robbins, 25, is on active duty with the Air Force. He was national college champion in 1954 and semifinalist in the national amateur in 1955. Rudolph, 23, is a former junior champion who last year won the Western amateur. Taylor, 40, a dentist, has won the California amateur title twice and holds victories over Ward. He went to the fourth round in the amateur last year.

WITH WALKER CUP — Chuck Kocsis, amateur golfer from Royal Oak, was picked as a member of the U. S. Walker Cup team. Kocsis, 45, competed in the National Open at Toledo last weekend.

Carling Golfers Rip Links Apart in Cup Matches

Canadian Pro-Am Team Upsets U.S. in Fight for Best-Ball Trophy

By BILL CORNWELL

FLINT — The 72-hole Carling Open golf tournament begins Thursday morning and if the scores carded here Tuesday mean anything, par will take a licking.

Flint Golf Club's par 36-35—71 took a terrific battering yesterday as America's team of four professionals and four amateurs battled an 8-man Canadian team for the Carling International Cup in a tourney preliminary.

Canada's pro-am squad surprised the gallery by winning the best-ball match, 7½-4½, but the outcome was almost secondary to the beating absorbed by Flint's 6,625-yard layout.

Ten of the 16 golfers playing in the Cup match equalled or bettered regulation figures. Doug Ford, America's leading money winner this year, captured medalist honors with a blistering 32-33—65.

Former U.S. Open champion Julius Boros fired a 69 and so did Gerry Kesselring and Nick Westlock from across the border.

Amateurs Glenn Johnson and Doug Bloom shot the poorest rounds for the U.S. team with 74 and 75 respectively. Oddly enough, Blom was playing over his home links and the veteran Flint golfer still owns the course record of 64.

Dapper Jimmy Demaret, drawing the biggest gallery and scooting around the course like he was on a bicycle, posted a 70. Young Dow Finsterwald was the least successful pro, getting a 73, while Canada's veteran Stan Leonard had 72.

Royal Oak's Chuck Kocsis, Michigan's top amateur, fired a steady round of 35-35—70.

Ford, the Masters champion who hails from Mahopac, N. Y., stamped himself as the man to beat. He collected seven birdies, three in a row, and slipped to a bogey just once.

A bad round in the National Open last week cost Ford any chance of glory. But bad rounds have been few and far between for Ford in recent years and he was belting the ball hard yesterday.

More than 150 golfers will start firing tomorrow at 8 a.m. in search of $37,000 in total earnings. The winner's share will be $5,700. An 18-hole round is scheduled each day through Sunday.

Tries Distance Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Decathlon, unbeaten this year and practically invincible at six furlongs, tries again today to carry his speed over an extended distance. The 4-year-old colt goes in the $15,000-added Salvator mile at Monmouth Park carrying top weight of 122 pounds against eight opponents.

It's Mayfly Time Again

June Drake, Yellow May of Interest to Anglers

By JACK PATTERSON

If somebody hadn't beaten us to the draw and pretty well named the various parts of the year already we would call this particular period the time of the Mayfly.

PATTERSON

Not that Mayflies haven't been very much in evidence, off and on for some months, but because from mid-June to early July they pretty much establish air control over fishing waters.

Of the seven groups of Mayflies two are of particular interest to the angler at the moment, the June Drake and Yellow May. From personal observation over the weekend these seemed to be the dominant types in evidence.

The June Drake, an especially short-lived fly usually returns to the stream the evening of the same day it is hatched. A good imitation of the dun, or hatching fly is the Dark Cahill. The Light Cahill is a very good match for the returning spinner. Size 12 is about right.

Most any cream to light yellow dry fly will be close enough to match the Yellow May. Size 10 is a god bet. We ran into some particularly heavy falls of Yellow May spinners in the Au Sable watershed Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

Apart from matching dominant species, the angler could go through the contents of several loaded fly boxes trying to duplicate all the stuff that's airborne these days. Aside from the carnivorous mosquitoes, black flies and deer flies that seemingly enjoyed a splendid breeding season, the air is loaded with everything from midges to giant crane flies.

Although many of these are not worth fooling with the fisherman can have a lot of fun trying out patterns he'd long ago given up as useless.

For the occasional stonefly and caddis hatches a good all around artificial is a size 10 or 12 standard hook, brown or grizzly hackle, tied with a rather long, flat (horizontal, fore and aft) deer hair wing. Armed with this all-purpose fly and the two Mayfly imitations noted above, the guy that can't catch trout these evenings is no fisherman, or we're a liar, depending enirely on how big the guy is.

For local fishermen this is a fine time for fly rod work on bluegills. The fish are on or near spawning beds. Only trick is to locate beds and then get far enough away so the fish can't see you. Any old fly will do although we've always liked a gray hackle for this sort of thing.

Gray vs. Giardello

Joe Gray of Dearborn will meet nationally - ranked middleweight Joey Giardello July 2 at the State Fair Coliseum in the 1st program in a new series of boxing shows to be staged by Detroit promoter Julius Piazza.

More Than 400 Horses in Hunt Show

By H. GUY MOATS

With a field of more than 400 horses, and some of the country's finest riders, preparations for the 40th annual Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt club, East Long Lake road were being focused this weekend on the physical side of the big event.

Irving A. Duffy, show chairman, said today that "by Tuesday 2:30 a.m. (June 25) all our jumps will be up to Olympic standards, and we'll be ready for some real competitive jumping." He pointed out that many obstacles have been changed to provide more demanding, interesting and competitive performances.

OLYMPIC TEAM—Two members of the U. S. Olympic Equestrian team, from left, Charles Dennehy and Hugh Wiley (above) will be among highlighted riders in the 40th annual Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt, next week. Show opens June 25, runs through Sunday, June 30.

Layout of courses and construction of the jumps are matters of top concern in the show preparations. More than 50 types of obstacles are necessary for the colorful event, Duffy said that 450 jumps will be put in position and taken down during the 6-day show. The work will require the services of 125 men.

The show chairman again mentioned that the public is invited to witness what is regarded as the state's biggest horse show, and one of the top attractions of its kind in the entire country.

Early registrations include entries from many metropolitan area owners and exhibitors, The Van Lennep stable (Dodge Stables) with its national champion hackney pony, "Cora's Mite" and 19 others is expected to be in the lists as well as the E. Ronald Motch Jr. (Keene Va.) hunters headed by a conformation champion, "Thou Swell." Both stables are showing at Grosse Pte. show, starting Thursday. Many other Pointe show entries will also enter the Bloomfield event.

Among area and important outside entries (which come from Virginia, New York, Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Canada) are:

Max O. Bonham of Grass Lake; E. E. Wilson of Birmingham and two daughters, Kathy and Carol (grand daughters of C. E. Wilson); Mrs. Robert Haas of Farm Crest farm, Northville and daughter Patti; John Wallace of Northville; from Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Graham J. Graham, Sue and Peter Foley, Nancy, Richard and Susan Kuschell, Dinah Bugas, Howard Miller, Janel Polk, Carol Gurney and Bob Matheson; Susan and Peter Fisher, Marilyn Cole, Cindy Scott, and Joe Racine.

From Grosse Pointe—Bee Baldwin, Ethel Flinn, Marnest Farms (E. C. Putnam and Mrs. Laura B. Higbie).

Outside stables—from Mimico Ont. Capt. L. J. McGuiness, captain of the Olympic team and his mounts, "Colleen," "Skilly" and "Grey Knight"; George Sadlier stable, Indianapolis Ind.; Lauray Farms, Clayton Mo. (Raymond Firestone); The James R. Greene stables, Goodwater Ala.; Allen Staley, Mexico Mo.; E. B. Nemethy (Connecticut) of US equestrian team, Hugh Wiley of Maryland, Mrs. W. J. Barney Jr, Connecticut; Mrs. John Wofford, Milford Kas.; August A. Busch, St. Louis Mo. with "Miss Budweiser." Many others are also among the early entries.

FLYROD GAR —Sixteen-year-old Larry Budd (above), fishing at the east end of Orchard Lake had a time for himself when he landed a 39-inch (about 5-pounds) garpike on a 9-foot bamboo flyrod. With Bud, Walled Lake HS pupil, were Dave Clark and David Genta, Walled Lake. Boat operators at the lake told Budd this was the first gar taken from the lake since 1955. Te boys say there were many gars splashing about at the time.

State Studies Report on Game

LANSING (AP) — Recommendations for shooting small game in Michigan will come from a three-day meeting of conservation field men which opened here Tuesday.

About 40 employes of the state conservation department, stationed in all sections of the state, will base their recommendations on surveys and observations made during the last year.

Their report will be submitted to the state conservation commission at its July meeting.

Donald Douglas, head of the technical and advisory section in the department game division, said little of the discussions will be concerned with deer. The department prefers to wait until August when its spring fawn survey is complete, he said.

Dead deer counts, pellet surveys and hunter success last fall also will be used as a basis for making recommendations on this year's deer season, Douglas said.

TUESDAY'S HOME RUNS

Repulski, Anderson, Phillies; Bolger, Morgan, Cubs; Skizas, Power, Athletics; Wertz, Colavito, Carrasquel, Maris, Indians; Jensen, Red Sox; Virdon, Pirates; Westrum, Giants.

Angler Hooks Big One, but in Wrong Area

When Floyd Wesp, 107 West Rundell, hooked and landed a fine bass in a lake near Romeo Tuesday, he figured he had a good entry for The Pontiac Press "big fish derby." Wesp's fish weighed four pounds, 14 ounces, and would have zoomed right into the derby lead at the moment.

★ ★ ★

But for one important fact—contest rules provide that all fish entered in this annual affair be taken from Oakland county waters. Romeo and the lake from which the husky bronzeback was taken are both in Macomb county!

Asian Import Stirs Hunters

Number of States Testing New Quail

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not since their high school days have so many hunters shown so much interest in arrival of a new quail in the neighborhood as they have this spring.

This time it's a real one, Coturnix Japonica, a real beauty whose still-mysterious manners and mores lend enchantment to some, and dark suspicion to others.

Since Jack Stanford released his Missouri conservation commission preliminary study on Coturnix, the wildlife professionals around and about have given the Asian import some heavy study.

Indiana releases 7,000 birds for study purposes, but seasoned the announcement with grim reminders of how other imports turned out to be "weed" species instead of valuable wildlife additions. Arkansas also started releases with a few words of caution. Texas, however, decided that if sportsmen must be talked out of buying birds for release, the professoinals might as well get some good out of them. They're offering free bands to clubs so they can keep track of privately stocked birds.

Missouri which did the big preliminary study job, has asked that no amateur releases be made.

As a matter of fact, a few Texans had their appetites whetted last fall with Missouri Coturnix showed up in Texas quail coverts. The same thing happened in Georgia, to Ohio birds.

If Coturnix works out in the long haul, of course, hunter enthusiasm can give mass plantings a big boost.

But if it doesn't — well, there are always the horrible examples of other over-enthusiastic imports like the carp and the English sparrow.

YOUNG CHAMPION — Two-year-old "Sunnyflame of Englewood" didn't wait very long to achieve his championship status. The fine, talented Irish setter, shown above with his owner-handler, Volney R. Cotton of Ortonville, won his "CH" tag at a recent Monroe show, his 4th major win of a phenomenal record. AKC rules require only two majors within the 15 points necessary to complete a champion. Mr. and Mrs. Cotton hope to show the young champion in the coming Macomb specialty show (July 7 at Ryan Park).

Lake 'Put to Death'

Poison Gets Rough Fish

ALL OUTDOORS (INS) — Too many fish in a lake present a giant sized headache to Michigan marine biologists.

Solution: — Spray the lake with rotenone poison and kill all the undesirable species.

Such a poisoning program is under way in the Wolverine state and it promises to be the salvation of many lakes, especially lower area waters where there are too many rough and pan fish.

Just as a cattle rancher would be nuts to try to raise more cattle than his land could support, conservation workers must eliminate the stunted fish from these overpopulated lakes to permit sought-after games species to reach trophy size.

Glen Sheppard, Midland, outdoor editor reports on Murphy Lake when it was "put to death."

Sheppard said: "Last rites were said over Murphy Lake's rough and pan fish population.

"A stiff dose of rotenone turned this Tuscola county lake into a graveyard for stunted bluegills and perch.

"Slithering on top of the weed-choked water were hundreds, if not thousands, of oversize carp — some of them weighing 20 pounds and more."

The poison, derived from a south American root, is used as a "selective" killer.

Marion Hurls No-Hitter in Midget Baseball Tilt

Mick Marion pitched a no-hit, no-run game in the Midget division Tuesday to highlight City Junior League practice baseball contests. Marion fanned five while hurling Auburn Heights Boys Club to a 5-0 victory over the Baldwin All-Stars.

In other Midget games, Don Nicholie outscored the Silver Crest Flyers, 21-18; Clarkston trimmed the Junior Jets, 7-1, and Tel-Huron defeated the Sheriff's Department, 9-4. Three forfeits and two rainouts stopped all action in classes D, E and F.

Edward Jeremiah, veteran Dartmouth College hockey coach, won seven varsity letters at the Hanover, N. H., school. He competed in hockey, football and baseball.

Competes Friday in National Meet

Jones After AAU European Trip

Pontiac's Olympic track hope Hayes Jones gets a fine opportunity to add to his already long list of track laurels and also to earn a trip to Europe when he competes in the National AAU meet at Dayton this weekend.

Hayes, an 18-year-old Freshman sensation at Eastern Michigan College this heason, will be competing against the best in the nation in the low and high hurdles.

His opponents will include Olympic stars Milt Campbell and Lee Calhoun and several other outstanding collegians. He raced against Campbell and Calhoun during the indoor season in big meets at Cleveland and Chicago. In those events, Jones was a close 2nd each time. He beat out Calhoun once as Campbell won and then edged Campbell when Calhoun won.

The National AAU organization will select the top performers in this weekend's meet to go an exhibition tour of Europe with stops in Spain, France, Germany, the British Isles and Russia.

★ ★ ★

"I think Hayes has a good chance of being chosen for the trip because he is such a great sprinter," said his coach George Marshall today. He has been working out every day for this and is in top condition.

Marshall said the AAU will send the 1sht two or three finishers in each event on the European tour which will be featured by a 70-man performance in Russia.

The touring team is scheduled to leave New York early next week which would likely mean Jones would fly there with the group from Dayton if named for the trip.

★ ★ ★

Marshall will be unable to attend the AAU championships. Dr. Lloyd Olds, Physical Education Director at Eastern and chairman of the National AAU Track & Field Committee, will accompany Jones to Dayton. They leave Friday morning. Hayes will be in action Friday night in the 120-yard high hurdles and Saturday in the 220-yard lows.

Many AAU and possibly some world records are expected to be shatatered in the meet to be held at the Dayton High School Stadium track.

Oil Man 1st Foe for Charley Coe

DALLAS (AP)—Reed-thin Charley Cox of Oklahoma City, one of amateur golf's greatest winners, opens defense of his Trans-Mississippi championship today against a field that features eager, hot-shooting collegians.

Coe, former National Amateur champion and four times winner of the Trans, doesn't have to worry about the college boys in his first match. He meets Chuck Dresser, Houston oilman who formerly lived in Oklahoma City. But the collegians are scattered through the ranks and it won't be long before silent Charley has to take one on—if he gets by Dresser.

Doubles Action in Net Tourney

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — The eight quarterfinalists took a day off from singles competition in the national scholastic tennis tournament here today, but five of them were scheduled to compete in doubles play.

Both singles and doubles reached the round-of-eight stage yesterday with one round of singles competition and two rounds in the doubles. And the singles provided the only break in the seeded ranks.

Rangy John Karabasz of Coral Gables, Fla., turned in the tourney's first surprise when he upended fourth-seeded Donald Ralph of Washington, D.C., 7-5, 6-2.

Seeded players advancing besides Earl Buchholz were Jim Shaffer of St. Petersburg, Fla., No. 2; Larry Caaton of Pensacola, Fla., No. 3; Larry Nagler of Roslyn Heights, N.Y., No. 5; and Gerald Dubie and Ray Senkowski, both of Hamtramck, Mich., No. 6 and 7. Only Senkowski had to go three sets.

Rain Cancels Game for 3rd Time in Row

It happened again! Tuesday's Class A City League baseball game at Wisner Field between Griff's Grill and the Michigan Giants was called off in the top of the 3rd inning by sudden rainstorms which struck the Pontiac area.

Don Bren was pitching for Griff's and Louie McGuire was on the mound for the Giants. Two scoreless innings had been played and the Giants' 1st batter in the 3rd had struck out when the downpour arrived. It was the 3rd straight city loop postponement.

Today's game sends CIO Local 594 against Thomas Die & Stamping on the Wisner diamond. Starting time is 5:30 p.m.

DODGE outpulls "other two" low-priced trucks!

Here's the scientific way to measure the actual pulling power a truck can deliver to its rear wheels. All three low-priced trucks were hooked up, one by one, to a special dynamometer truck. Each was comparably equipped and test-loaded.

Super-sensitive gauges inside the dynamometer truck register the maximum pull of each truck at 10 m.p.h. Insets in photos above show actual gauge readings in each case. To convert these readings into pounds, simply multiply them by three.

The results are conclusive evidence that Dodge Power Giants give you a third more pulling power than either of the "other two" low-priced makes. And this is just one of a series of tests that prove Dodge is the best truck of the low-priced three.

Rye Stronger on Grain Board

CHICAGO (AP) — Strength in rye futures featured an otherwise dull grain market today on the board of trade.

Rye was up more than two cents in some cases in early trade. Trade authorities said the strength was due to word that the government is reducing rye imports from 3,300,000 bushels the current crop year to 1,600,000 bushels for the season starting July 1. This boosted prices here and caused weakness in rye at Winnipeg.

★ ★ ★

Wheat, corn and soybeans showed slight early weakness due to favorable harvesting and growing weather.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅛ to ½ lower, July 2.05⅛; corn unchanged to ½ lower, July 1.28; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July 64⅛; rye ⅞, to 2⅛ higher, July 1.21⅛; soybeans ¼ to ⅝ lower, July 2.31¼; and lard 10 to 12 cents a hundred lbs higher, July 12.67.

Millions Get High View

NEW YORK—Observation floors on the 86th and 102nd floors of the Empire State Building normally attract great throngs of visitors, estimated at up to one million persons during a year.

This Didn't Change

LEXINGTON—Surveyed in 1765, the Mason-Dixon line is still looked upon as the traditional boundary between the north and south areas of the United States.

Stocks Showing Mixed Pattern

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market became irregular in quiet early trading today.

Key stocks fluctuated from fractions to around a point.

After a moderately active and generally higher opening, more losers appeared, establishing a mixed pattern as turnover slackened.

The market was carrying through the partial recovery of yesterday from losses taken early in the day, but the buying trend dried up quickly.

Higher money rates in the open market led to continued comment on Wall street that a raise in the federal discount rate may not be far away. The anti-inflation policy of the administration was emphasized further by Treasury Secretary Humphrey.

Lukens Steel added a point to its gain of yesterday, Chrysler was up a fraction, General Motors and Bethlehem Steel were firm.

Goodyear advanced around a point, as did Gulf Oil. Fractional gains were made by Texas Co., Standard Oil (New Jersey), Westinghouse Electric, Anaconda, Montgomery Ward and United Aircraft.

But International Nickel and Amerada were off about a point and Eastman Kodak more than that. Revlon was easy after its recent gains.

Moon Won't Be Strange to Space Travelers

LOS ANGELES (INS) — An expert predicted today that the moon will be a far more familiar place to future space travelers than America was to Christopher Columbus.

Environmental facilities expert H. John Cull, of Los Angeles, said moon-fliers will be steeped in moon environmental conditions before they take off, an advantage Columbus didn't have prior to his sea voyages.

U.S. Automakers to Compete With Small Foreign Models

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—A couple of the nation's leading car makers are going to find out whether they can build a small car to compete foreign-built vehicles — especially those in the lowest price area.

Until this year the threat presented by West German's Volkswagen, France's Renault and Britain's MG, Hillman and Morris and others was not considered great enought to cause concern. But foreign car sales in the U.S. market so far this year have doubled those of a year ago. And several of the foreign companies have long waiting lists for delivery in this country.

The American car makers will not confirm reports of their deeper interest in the smaller car market, but at least two of them reportedly have directed production possibilities.

Among the figures that pique the interest of American car makers in the sales volume of foreign made cars are retail deliveries already this year of more than 55,000 units and indications that the year's total will come close to 150,000. The 1956 totals of such deliveries was around 105,000.

SMALL AUTOS

Several American car makers have small vehicles, but these are not competitive in price with the Volkswagen. The Volkswagen delivers in the United States for around $1,600. Ford's Thunderbird and Chevrolet's Corvette are in the $3,000-plus area. And the Thunderbird will be a larger car in 1958, its wheelbase being increased to 113 inches from the present 108. It also will have a rear seat.

★ ★ ★

American Motor's Rambler also has grown into a somewhat larger car than it started out to be, and even is available with an eight cylinder engine. Meanwhile, however, American Motors has its imported Metropolitan car to compete with other foreign makes in the Volkswagen category.

Industry gossip has it, too, that one car maker plans to cut down the over-all size of one of its lower priced units in an effort to get some of the market now led by the Volkswagen.

In any event foreign-built cars, which had less than one per cent of the U. S. market in 1954 now have more than 2.35 per cent.

Trainer of Fleas Eyes All Dogs for New Actors

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Flea trainer Bob Matthews is looking for some new performers. His last troupe was wiped out by the current heat wave.

★ ★ ★

"They carried on right to the end," he said sadly. "I thought Freddy — he was the weight lifter — looked a little peaked after the afternoon show. And Hildregard couldn't finish her act. But I didn't know how bad it was."

Matthews said all 24 of his fleas expired when the temperature hit 98 degrees in the amusement zone at the Long Beach Pike yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"But I'll get some more," he promised, casting an eye at a passing dog. "After all, the show must go on."

Actors Can Cool Off in Pool at Theater

NEW YORK (AP)—A new center for experimental theater productions opens here in July with a new kind of added attraction—a swimming pool.

★ ★ ★

Organized as the Murray Hill Academy of Theater and Arts, the sponsoring group has converted a former private clubhouse on midtown Madison Avenue. The building is to have two small proscenium auditoriums and a hall for theater-in-the-round productions.

The upper floors have office facilities and the swimming pool — which will be available for staff recreation instead of show.

Business Notes

Broadened supervisory responsibilities in the management staff of the Pontiac Motor Division account have been announced by Ernest A. Jones, president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., Pontiac's advertising agency in Bloomfield Hills. The following changes are effective immediately:

Hovey Hagerman, senior vice president and Pontiac account executive becomes account supervisor, charged with supervision of all account activities and reporting directly to President Jones.

James H. JOHN Graham, assistant account executive becomes account executive.

Colin H. John, account manager, becomes associate account executive. "It is felt that the changes better express the added duties undertaken by these men as the result of our recent service expansions," Jones said.

"The moves also provide Pontiac and ourselves with more clearly defined executive responsibility for every facet of account activity."

Police Feud in Background

Civil Service Group Will Not View Issue at Tonight's Meeting

The fracas between the Pontiac Police Officers Association and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley will not be on the agenda tonight at the Civil Service Commission meeting.

Commission chairman Theodore Carlson said today the meeting of the commission and the department's Civil Service Committee will only concern rules and regulations which will govern the police department under civil service.

Eleven such rules were approved by the association last week to be recommended and presented to the commission tonight. They include: regulations governing salaries, vacancies, entrance requirements, promotions, dismissals, demotions, resignations, removals, personnel records, annual reports and classification of duties.

These proposed rules as well as a list of suggestions from Straley will be discussed tonight. The commission may deny or accept the recommendations.

Grievances, including those against Straley by the association made in hopes of ousting the chief, will probably go through two other channels before reaching the commission, according to Carlson.

"The complaints will first go to the chief for consideration and solution. If Straley does not solve the problem, the city manager is then in order to try to do something about it. After he tries to correct the complaint he must give the commission a report of what he has done," said Carlson.

"If the commission is not satisfied with the way the grievance has been handled, they may take over and issue an order. Also, if the complaining officer still does not approve of the commission's decision on the grievance, he may appeal it to circuit court," Carlson said.

Railroads Face Big Headache

Fewer Freight Cars Must Haul More Goods Faster at Low Cost

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Making fewer freight cars haul more goods faster—and keeping costs down as much as possible—is a major headache today for the railroads.

★ ★ ★

The public is also watching because it demands more service — and at the same time frets at the steady climb in freight rates since the war.

★ ★ ★

Railroad men are divided over how to meet the problem. And so are the car makers. They are trying automation in car building plants as well as in the freight yards. And they are turning to research laboratories to study design of cars best fitted to the most tracks and yards.

Growing competition from trucks and barge lines spurs the search by the railroads.

Some railroads and some car makers stick to the traditional method of custom tailoring the cars to the specifications of individual roads and their customers. Others tout the advantages of standardization.

★ ★ ★

Today the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad gets delivery of the 10,000th standardized covered hopper car built in Pullman's Butler, Pa., plant. The road's president, A. W. Schroeder, favors standardized hoppers because "our four cement factories on-line appreciate them." He adds that standardization lets the smaller roads place orders at the same price and get the same delivery date as a larger line placing a larger order — because production schedules are speeded since no special retooling is needed.

Driver Chugs Along Off Beaten Track

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — That business about "damn the torpedoes—full speed ahead" may be all right at sea, but the idea has its drawbacks when applied to railroad tracks.

★ ★ ★

Pete Apostolo of Portland can vouch for that. He got lost while trying to find a friend aboard a ship at a Portland dock and pretty soon found himself driving down a road alongside railroad tracks. When the road petered out there were only tracks left, so Pete kept driving along them until his car got stuck.

Two section hands came along and helped him get his car loose just as a freight train rolled by.

★ ★ ★

Even the section hands gave up when Pete got his car stuck in some side rails minutes later.

A policeman finally came up with the right answer — a tow truck.

Pete never did find his friend.

Political Partisans Jailed

Peasants, Workers Flee Haiti in Fear of Violence

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Hundreds of workers and peasants have fled this seething capital city in fear that fresh violence may erupt.

Loaded with personal belongings, they began streaming out yesterday as the ruling military junta started jailing political partisans on a wide scale.

★ ★ ★

Those fleeing included supporters of both presidential candidate Louis Dejoie and his arch rival, ousted Provisional President Daniel Fignole.

Dejoie himself was in hiding. Six of his top advisers and scores of his followers were among those arrested.

★ ★ ★

The military rulers apparently concentrated on Dejoie's backers to keep them from again organizing general strikes. Most business firms in the capital followed orders from Dejoie in the recurrent strikes staged during the political turmoil that has unseated six governments since December.

The ruling junta has outlawed strikes. Troops and police patrolled the streets forcing stores and shops to remain open.

★ ★ ★

Port au Prince newspapers published detailed accounts of Fignole's activities in New York, where he fled after he was overthrown.

They said the junta had sent him $10,000 and that he also will receive $500 a month salary. His seven children left behind when Fignole and his wife were hurried out of the country were reported in good health and safe with friends in Port au Prince.

★ ★ ★

The number of persons arrested following Saturday's violent riots appeared to be near 2,000, but scores were released after being questioned.

Official reports on the death toll still were lacking, but many sources insisted that several hundred Fignole partisans were killed. The best available estimates were that at least 100 persons were killed and 200 wounded. Many of the wounded were said to have died later in hospitals.

★ ★ ★

The Dominican Republic became the first nation to recognize the junta government.

American tourists have cleared out of the island.

Find New Way to Heat Cars

Device Warms Autos in Only a Few Seconds, Stewart-Warner Says

DETROIT (AP) — Stewart-Warner Corp's South Wind Division has developed a new car heating device designed to provide full desired warming temperature in a few seconds instead of from 15 to 20 minutes or more.

★ ★ ★

The device, called "Minit Heat," operates in conjunction with the hot water heater with which most cars are factory-equipped. In effect it is a booster unit that takes over heating of the coolant moving into the heater the instant the engine is started. An atomizing type gasoline burner is used.

When the coolant temperature reaches 160 degrees fahrenheit the device automatically cuts out, returning the heating function to the regular system.

Stewart-Warner engineers, who demonstrated the unit at a news conference here yesterday, said it also had several cold weather starting advantages such as quick defrosting, fuel economy through better carburetion, quick engine block and oil warm-up and shorter period of fuel consuming choke action.

★ ★ ★

Company spokesmen said it would have a retail price of $69.95 plus installation charge. Installation time is about 70 minutes.

Senate Backs Atom Program

Supports Ike's Policy for U.S. Participation in World Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strong, bipartisan approval of U. S. membership in the International Atomic Energy Agency has given President Eisenhower another foreign policy victory in the Senate.

Democrats slightly outnumbered Republicans in the 67-19 vote by which the Senate last night ratified the IAEA treaty and approved U. S. participation. The proposed agency is an outgrowth of Eisenhower's "atoms-for-peace" proposals in 1953. No House action is necessary.

★ ★ ★

Democrats also outnumbered the Republicans in a 55-31 vote rejecting an amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) which would have denied Eisenhower authority to provide fissionable materials to the agency without prior congressional consent.

★ ★ ★

With Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the majority leader, supporting the President all the way, 35 Democrats voted for ratification and 31 opposed the Bricker proposal.

Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) and 31 other Republicans supported ratification. But 18 Republicans voted against Knowland—and the President—in favor of Bricker's proposed curb.

Nine Democrats and 10 Republicans opposed ratification of the treaty.

★ ★ ★

The Senate action, which will be implemented by legislation now pending before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, clears the way for the President to make agreements with the international agency when it is formed later in the year. Under these agreements uranium 235 may be made available for worldwide distribution for power and other peacetime uses.

Olson Clubs Maxim for Split Decision

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oversized Carl "Bobo" Olson looked like something of his old self last night in clubbing out a 10-round split decision over Joey Maxim of Cleveland, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

Olson, former middleweight king, now managing a Vancouver, Wash., night club, weighed 187 to Maxim's 188½.

★ ★ ★

The extra weight did not seem to bother Olson. He swarmed over the clever Maxim, former light-heavyweight champion, from opening bell to the end. And although he never had his opponent in trouble, he seemed to have things well in hand all the way.

The tournament is sponsored by the Michigan Seniors Golf Assn., comprised of golfers over 50 years old.

Give Dogs Protection

Hunters Want New Law

By H. GUY MOATS

Revealing the high interest sportsmen held in the matter of protection against wanton killing of hunting dogs that may stray on lands where they are not wanted, was the representation at a recent Municipal Court case here. A farmer was found guilty of shooting a hunting dog and assessed a judgment of $150.

Members of a number of sports clubs, including the OCSC, Oakland County Coon Hunters' Assn., several beagling and other dog groups were on hand. Almost to a man they have expressed the hope that Michigan will move quickly to provide a real dog protection bill.

They argue, like James R. Abney of the Oakland County Fox Hunters' Assn., that a dog should not be shot merely because it trespasses on land and does not commit any depredations. The present law, Abney says, is outdated. A measure which had the backing of sportsmen and the state Grange head was rejected. Its proponents felt it would have solved many of the complexities and difficulties in the 50-year-old present law.

"I believe the situation is serious enough," says Abney, "that lawmakers should put some serious work on it." He points out there are two sides to the matter, with the farmer needing protection against marauding dogs, and at the same time the "hunter should have his valuable dog protected from unreasonable people and dog haters."

'Y' Sets Dates for Field Days

Second annual field days for Pontiac YMCA boys and girls have been set on Saturday, June 22, (9 a.m.) and Thursday, June 20 (4 p.m.), respectively. It is expected, says youth director Morrie Tubergen, that 200 will take part.

Boys 9 and 10 years old compete in one division, those from 11-12 years group in another. Similar age brackets apply for the two girls' divisions.

Events in which both boys and girls compete (not against each other) include a 50-yard dash, high jump, broad jump, softball throw, shuttle relay and a cross-country relay. Any athlete may compete in three events.

Ribbons go to winners and runnersup.

Duane O. Johnson, 49, of 346 E. Pike, has been elected to the post of state trustee of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. He is secretary of the Huron Gardens Aerie 2887 and president of the Waterford Lions Club.

The election took place at a recent state convention of the Eagles at Battle Creek.

Waterford Sets Opening of Playground Program

Summer playground programs for Waterford Township and school district children will open Monday at eight elementary school playgrounds in the township.

Drayton Plains and Donelson playgrounds will be used on a full day basis weekly while a half-day program weekly will be used on the playgrounds at the Monteith, Covert, Four Towns, Stringham, Waterford Center and Burt schools.

All township and school district children from 6 to 14 years of age are eligible, according to Tom Belton, director of recreation for Waterford Township.

Programs during the summer will feature arts and crafts, quiet games, athletics, a pet show, a bicycle parade, "hobo" hikes and trips to the Detroit Zoo and recreation day camp.

2 LEADERS

An adult leader and high-school-age assistant will be in charge of each playground. There is no charge for the program except for arts and crafts materials.

The Drayton Plains and Donelson areas will be used on June 24 to Aug. 2 from 9-12 and 1-4:30 Monday through Friday.

The Covert, Stringham and Waterford Center playgrounds will be utilized from 9 to 12 daily from June 24 to July 12 and from 1-3:30 p.m. from July 15 to Aug. 2.

★ ★ ★

The opposite schedule will be used at Monteith, Four Towns and Burt, with the 1-4:30 p.m. sessions scheduled there from June 24 to July 12 and the 9 to 12 programs from July 15 to Aug. 2.

A 19-event program has been arranged for the Dixie Saddle Club's fourth annual spring horse show, June 23. This colorful affair takes place at the Glenn Ellis farm, 9331 Dixie Highway, near Clarkston.

The Dixie Club boasts a membership of riders that range in age from four to 74 years.

Competition begins at 10 a.m., runs most of the day.

Among the features will be the junior events, bending races, musical stalls and barrels, the beautifully gaited Tennessee walking horses and races of many kinds.

Chamber Warns of Ad Solicitors

Pontiac area businessmen are warned to guard against a professional solicitation group seeking advertising by long-distance telephone for so-called union publications.

The Business Ethics Board of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, with the cooperation of Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council, reports solicitors do not represent any official union publications.

Questions regarding these calls should be directed to the Chamber or council office, according to William L. Belaney, assistant manager of the Chamber.

Wyandotte Site of Phil Tryouts

DETROIT (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies will stage their annual tryout camp for Michigan baseball hopefuls next month in suburban Wyandotte.

The tryouts, for boys between 17 and 22, will be held July 4-6 at the Wyandotte Chemicals Club. They will begin at 10 a.m. under the supervision of Phillie scouts Tony Lucadello and Clare Whelpley.

Waterford Sees Rise in Swim Registration

Waterford Township recreation department officials said Tuesday they expect registrations for this year's swimming classes will surpass last year's total of 550. They reported registration for the first two days was running ahead of last year's figures.

Deadline for registration in the program is June 28, according to Tom Belton, township recreation director. Belton said special emphasis is being placed on adult classes this year.

Classes will be held Saturday mornings beginning this Saturday at 9 a.m. on Williams Lake. Instruction will be on the beginner and intermediate level.

Freighter Sunk in River Raised, Taken to Dock

DETROIT (INS)—The freighter Collingwood, which sank after a collision in the fogbound St. Clair River Monday, has been raised and towed to the commercial terminal at Detroit.

The vessel's cargo of newsprint will be unloaded and the ship taken in for general repairs.

★ ★ ★

The 346-foot freighter dragged anchor and collided with a boathouse and steamer Cornell, near Sarnia, Ont.

The Collingwood's bow was torn open by the collision. It then ran aground.

Brown Predicts a Knockout Win

Lightweight Champion Favored Over Zulueta in Title Fight

DENVER (AP) — Champion Joe Brown, 30, flatly predicting a knockout victory, is an 8-5 favorite over Cuba's Orlando Zulueta, 28, for their lightweight championship fight in Denver Coliseum tonight.

★ ★ ★

"I'll knock him out," said the champion shortly before he and Zulueta met for the official weigh-in at 1 p.m., EST.

★ ★ ★

Neither Brown, of Houston, Tex., nor his slick-boxing opponent was expected to have any weight difficulty. The champion hit the 135-pound limit on the nose and Zulueta weighed 134½ after their final workouts Monday.

The scheduled 15-round fight, starting at 9 p.m., EST, will be televised and broadcast over ABC, with the Denver area blacked out on TV screens.

Crawford Fight Set for Saginaw

DETROIT (AP)—Mickey Crawford, recent winner over two former world champions, takes on Toledo's Pat Lowry on Thursday, June 27, in an outdoor bout at Veterans Memorial Stadium in Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

And Dearborn's Joe Gray, who recently drew with ranking Tiger Jones, gets a shot at fifth-ranked Joey Giardello in a middleweight contest at State Fair Coliseum in Detroit July 2.

Crawford has won 16 of 17 bouts and will be a slight favorite to beat Lowry, the ex-Marine who has a wide edge in experience. Lowry has won 42 of 55 fights and has 28 knockouts to his credit.

36 Riders Shaken Up on Santa Fe Train

GRANTS, N. M. (AP)—About 38 passengers were bruised and shaken up last night when a freak accident slammed on the emergency brakes of the Santa Fe's westbound El Capitan streamliner.

★ ★ ★

No one was hurt seriously.

A railroad spokesman said about 14 miles east of Grants a loose tie plate flew up and severed the air brake hose on one of the cars. This automatically applied the emergency brakes. The four rear cars came uncoupled and then slammed back into the forward part of the train as it stopped.

★ ★ ★

A tie plate is an inch-thick piece of steel about 8 by 12 inches. It fits between the rail and a tie and is normally spiked to the tie.

The El Capitan resumed its Chicago-Los Angeles run about four hours late with all the passengers.

Aged Aga Kahn Suffers Relapse From Heat

PARIS (INS)—The ailing Aga Khan, 82, had a relapse tonight as a result of the Paris heat wave.

The fabulously wealthy spiritual leader of 20 million Moslems of the Ismaili sect left Paris for Geneva in a chartered viscount airliner. A heart specialist was at his side.

★ ★ ★

He was so weak he had to be carried aboard in a stretcher. His wife, the Begum, was pale as she told newsmen:

★ ★ ★

"I am terribly worried. He should never have come to Paris. I advised against the journey. Now he must get away from this awful heat at once."

Orioles' Boss Rates Zuverink Pitching 'Genius'

BALTIMORE (AP) — As a relief pitcher, George Zuverink, 30, is a "psychological genius," says Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles.

★ ★ ★

The righthander got credit for the 2-1 victory over the American league-leading Chicago White Sox. It was his seventh which puts him among the most successful in the league although he pitches only when the Orioles are in trouble.

★ ★ ★

It was the 24th time in 56 Oriole games this season that Zuverink has stalked in from the bull pen right into hot water. He's been cool as a cucumber, giving up only nine earned runs in 50 innings.

Ferris Blames Soviets

Track Negotiations Fail

NEW YORK (AP)—AAU chief Dan Ferris today laid the blame for the collapse of the proposed U.S.-Russia track meet in Moscow at the doorstep of the Soviets.

"It looks to me like they might just be stalling," said Ferris, obviously angry and disappointed after months of negotiations. "I simply don't understand why they would quibble on a matter of expenses."

★ ★ ★

The Russians cabled Ferris yesterday that they could not pay the transportation of the 70-man U.S. team to Moscow and furthermore, they would not submit to being fingerprinted as is required by law of all aliens entering the United States.

★ ★ ★

Discussions of the home-and-home series have been going on since the Russians first broached the subject at the Olympic Games in Melbourne last year. Under the agreement, the Russian team would come here next year. This year's meet was set for Moscow July 12-13-14.

"Our team is going to tour 11 countries this summer," said Ferris. "As hosts, they are paying our expenses. We expect the Russians to do the same. As hosts next year, we would pay the Russians' expenses."

Union to Ask Tax on Importing Copper

CALUMET, Mich. (AP) — Union leaders for a group of Upper Peninsula copper workers want the federal government to put a tax on importing of copper to block a price drop for ore in this country.

An accumulation of world copper supplies "threatens the American copper mining industry and the jobs of many skilled miners, millmen and smeltermen," they said yesterday in a letter to Rep. Bennett (R-Mich).

Leaders of Local 584 of the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union at the Calumet and Hecla Co. sought Bennett's help in getting immediate government action "to bring price stability and preserve the jobs of the workers in this country."

They noted the price of copper has fallen from a high of 46 cents a pound last year to 30 cents.

Detroit Woman Sues In-Laws for $150,000

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A Detroit woman sued her in-laws for $150,000 in Macomb County Circuit Court yesterday, charging them with alienating her estranged husband's affections.

Mrs. Olga Vivas Tufts Jr., 32, charged Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tufts Sr., of suburban Warren, with conducting a campaign "to deprive her of the society and assistance" of her husband, Robert, Jr. The younger Tufts separated in 1954.

The mother-in-law denied the charge. "I don't know anything about this," she said. "But I know we haven't got that kind of money."

The elder Mrs. Tufts explained her husband is out of work and "I've been looking for work myself."

Biggest Bust Leaves Dukes' Eyes A-Poppin'

ASCOT, England (AP) — The babe with the biggest bust in British show business gatecrashed the hallowed royal enclosure at the Ascot races yesterday. It was sensational, and the place may never be the same again.

The girl with the bust is Sabrina, nee Norma Sykes, known the length and breadth of the British Isles as "Television's Dumb Blonde." She has become famous by the simple process of standing in front of the cameras and breathing. The vital statistic is 41 inches.

Sabrina's appearance before the royal family and among the peers of the realm created a bigger shock than the Victory of an 8-year-old gelding named Bonhomie in the day's feature race, and Bonhomie paid 76-1 on the tote. They won't let you in the royal enclosure at all if you are divorced.

Dressed in a low-necked flowered organdy, Sabrina walked into the enclosure without a ticket while the gate man was groping around the royal turf for his eyeballs.

"Scandalous!" hissed 17 duchesses, or it may have been 18.

"Shocking!" muttered six viscountesses, or maybe it was seven.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, m'deah," murmured their titled escorts as they kept on looking.

A reporter who encountered the show girl asked her what in the world she was doing in the royal enclosure.

"Looking," giggled Sabrina, "for the ladies' powder room."

After a 15-minute search Sabrina departed as thousands peered, including a rare assortment of pop-eyed dukes, viscounts, lords, barons and earls.

Queen Elizabeth II and the other members of the royal family did not appear to notice.

Joe Matthews, Sabrina's manager, told newsmen later her neckline had a "cowl effect" and was "all right at eye level."

"It was quite proper for the royal enclosure," he concluded.

CIO Plan UP Tour

DETROIT (AP)—An Upper Peninsula tour conducted by the Michigan CIO Council will take in 12 community locals between July 22 and Aug. 6, The Council said Tuesday. The tour will feature reports on the activities of the state CIO and the state Legislature as well as talks by representatives of various international unions which have locals in the Upper Peninsula.

Australian Petroleum Co., which has spent $42,000,000 in a thus far vain search for commercial oil in Papua, will spend another $14,000,000, Port Moresby learns.

Paar Replaces 'Tonight' Show

Baseball Officials Nix Wallace-Type Interview of Ted Williams

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — The reason NBC snooted Milton Berle's highly touted but now ignored "comedy crime" series was Uncle Miltie's delusions as to what that strip of untried celluloid should sell for: $52.000 per half hour.

The "Tonight" show will sink, to be replaced by "The Jack Paar Show."

Baseball officials nixed Ted Williams' appearance an any "Mike Wallace-type" klatches...

The nation's telephone companies have changed their corporate minds and now are willing to carry pay-TV on their land lines, which may take that controversial system out of the too-hot-to-handle file . . . and get it rolling soonest . . .

The Steve Allens have confirmed the happy bulletin about a fall visit from the stork.

Whoever's been trying to make NBC the villain in Sid Caesar's exit from TV ignores the fact NBC asked Sid to stay for 10 shows because it just couldn't sell 20 . . . So it was Sid's decision to walk . . .

Nat Hiken's retreat from the Phil Silvers "Bilko" show which he created, wrote, directed and produced means he'll slump from $5,000 a week to $2,000 a week . . . Asked the difference between $5,000 and $2,000, Nat replied: "Taxes."

City Hikes Charge for Tapping Water

Tapping into Pontiac's water system is going to cost area residents $50 more as city commissioners seek to make up past losses in this service.

Commissioners, upon the recommendation of City Manager Walter K. Willman, authorized drafting an amendment which would boost the cost from $75 to $125.

★ ★ ★

Willman said the city lost $32,000 last year because the city's expense of installing services was greater than charges. "This will bring us in line with southern Oakland County communities," he said.

The charge is for new homes tying into city mains, connecting equipment and water meters.

Building in Pontiac Reported Lagging

Building in Pontiac is lagging behind that of a year ago, according to Carl F. Alt, city building inspector.

★ ★ ★

Alt said the city was not alone in the decline. "Building is slow all over," he said, "and at least we're doing better than some communities."

NOTABLE DROPS

He pointed out building statistics of several Michigan cities which, he said, are usually a gauge in building progress. All showed notable drops from last year.

Alt attributed the decrease to the "tight money situation."

A mid-month check of Alt's building inspection department shows home building here continuing to grow despite the official's report.

PERMITS ISSUED

So far this month, permits for 33 new single-family homes ranging in value from $7,000 to $10,000, were issued. Twenty-two of these will go up in the eastside Herrington Hills Subdivision.

"They have just about run out of lots in that 400-lot subdivision," Alt said.

The Board of Education was granted three permits for interior expansion projects at three schools. Total projects total $39,430.

The Waldron Hotel received a permit to continue its modernization of its Pike street frontage. The permit showed total valuation at $5,000.

A new $20,000 Gulf gas station will soon go up at 584 N. East Blvd.

A block warehouse and office will be constructed at 456 E. Kennett Rd. to house a cigarette vending machine business, Alt said.

The bulk of the rest of the permits were for many new home garages and various home alterations.

Both Paralyzed, but Love Blooms in Wheelchairs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pretty, brown-eyed Janet Sawyer proudly displayed an engagement ring today and clasped hands with her fiance, Dr. Thomas L. Heavern Jr., a medical school graduate—as they sat side by side in wheel chairs.

Both are paralyzed from the waist down.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Heavern, 24, was injured critically in a 1954 automobile accident at Covington, Ky. Janet, 21, is a polio victim.

They met two years ago at Bellevue Hospital's Institute for Physical Rehabilitation in New York. For four months, they rolled through Central Park in wheel chairs and took in Broadway musicals.

"We just kind of hit it off," Janet said.

★ ★ ★

"It will be a big wedding. That much I know. I've always dreamed of a big wedding. But the date? That will have to wait until Tom finishes his internship."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Heavern, who won a scholarship at the University of Louisville Medical School after recovering sufficiently from the car injuries to sit, will return to Covington next week and begin a year's internship.

Union Clips Barbers for Handouts to Kiddies

DETROIT (AP) — There'll be no more attracting the kids with lollypops for the 2,000 union barbers in the Detroit area.

Things were getting out of hand, Elmer R. Albrecht, secretary-treasurer of Local 552 of the barbers union, said yesterday.

"One barber was offering chances on a bicycle with every haircut, with a drawing every week," Albrecht said.

Hereafter, he said, any union barber caught giving away anything but conversation will draw a $25 fine.

About 11 per cent of the entire area of the continental United States is believed underlain with coal.

Tout State as Good Spot to Make House Trailers

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan was touted as a good place to manufacture house trailers at the third national semi-annual Mobile Homes Conference here.

Paul Herbert, chief of research for the State Economic Development Department, said yesterday 44 plants engaged in this activity are situated in 31 Michigan cities.

Herbert praised the quality and quantity of labor available for metal working.
