$150,000 Blaze Demolishes Carpet Store

Pontiac Press Photos

SMOKE-FILLED SKYLINE — Pictured against the Pontiac State Bank Building, smoke from the blazing McCandless store gushes skyward to a height that could be seen from at least five miles away. (Other pictures on Page 13.)

CHARRED REMAINS — Twisted girders, charred wood and shattered masonry remain after collapse of the mid-portion of the two-story McCandless building at the peak of the fire. Firemen were called away from this rubble-filled area about a minute before the collapse.

Five Other Businesses Damaged During Fire

By PETE LOCHBILER

A $150,000 five-alarm fire destroyed a carpet store, damaged adjacent buildings and threatened other downtown Pontiac businesses for nearly 1½ hours early last night.

More than 70 firemen and nearly every available piece of city firefighting equipment were marshaled to combat the blaze, which broke out at the W. N. McCandless, Inc. Floor-coverings Store, 11 N. Perry St. at 6:19 p.m.

The two-story brick and cement block carpet store and its inventory were "a total loss," said Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz, while extensive smoke and water damage occurred to stock at the adjacent Modern Age Furniture Store, 15 E. Pike St. he said.

Five other businesses in the four-building cluster at the northwest corner of Perry and Pike suffered smoke and water damage "to some extent," Metz said.

Preliminary estimates of the damage varied. Fire Chief John Schroeder placed the loss as high as $200,000. Metz figured the loss at $150,000 and other estimates fixed it at more than $300,000.

At the height of the blaze, a 40 foot section of wall tumbled on the north side of the carpet building, hurling cement blocks and masonry into an area that had been evacuated by a half-dozen firemen about a minute before.

The roof, second floor and mezzanine in the central portion of the building also collapsed.

STREETS FILLED

Downtown streets were filled with hoses, sirens and the red flashing lights of fire trucks, police cars and ambulances.

Firemen from the main fire station, which is across Perry street from the McCandless store, were the first to arrive at the scene. Most of them ran over.

"By the time we got there, flames were coming out the front door of the burning building," said one fireman.

Although none of the firemen were injured during the hour and twenty minutes it took to bring the fire under control, at least one of the spectators was overcome by smoke. A Consumers Power Co. employe slashed his hand while turning off a gas main.

It was the biggest Pontiac fire since the explosion that struck the Fire Sparks Traffic Snarl, 2 Accidents

As firemen fought the downtown blaze last evening, police and sheriff's deputies sought to untangle a maze of congested traffic on nearby city streets.

Two accidents resulted in seven injuries.

A car driven by Eugene B. Voss, 58, of 4805 Keithdale Ln., Bloomfield Hills, rammed the rear of another driven by Donald L. Kelpin, 29, of 47515 Winthrop St., Utica.

Voss, president of Home and Auto Loan Co. located next to the burning building, was hurrying to the scene.

Kelpin, his wife Shirley, 21, and their daughters Sanda, 4 months, Denise, 1, and Debra, 4, were all treated and released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

A taxicab driven by Raymond M. Johnson, 31, of 519 Going St., collided at S. Saginaw and Pike with a police car driven by Patrolman Leroy E. Hartman Jr., 29, of 714 Robinwood St., who was on his way to the fire.

Hartman was uninjured. Johnson was treated and released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where his passenger, Allie M. Timmons, 56, of 3082 Norcott St., Keego Harbor, is in satisfactory condition.

KLM Liner, 99 Aboard, Crashes Off Irish Coast

From Our Wire Services

SHANNON, Ireland — A KLM Super-Constellation with 99 persons aboard crashed into the Atlantic Ocean today on a flight from Amsterdam to New York.

Officials of the KLM Royal Dutch Airlines conceded that the wreckage of a plane sighted 130 miles west of Shannon was theirs. They feared the death toll was heavy.

Several American passengers were aboard the aircraft, which left Shannon Airport at 4:05 a.m. today (10:05 p.m. Pontiac time last night) headed for Gander, Newfoundland.

The passenger list was released in New York. It contained last names only. But a spokesman for the airline said "at least 10 nationalities were included in those aboard. The crew was all Dutch.

An incomplete list of passengers has been revealed. At press time, only two persons, from Plymouth, are from Michigan. (See adjoining story.)

LOSES RADIO CONTACT

Shannon Airport lost radio contact with the plane at 4:40 a.m. (11:40 p.m. Pontiac time last night). There were indications that this was about the time the plane ran into a sudden violent wind-and-rain squall and crashed.

The wreckage was sighted first on the radar of a British Overseas Airways Corp. airliner on a New York-to-London flight.

One of six Royal Air Force long-range Shackleton planes, dispatched from points in Ireland, England and Scotland to search along the airliner's route, reported sighting the wreckage at 2:45 p.m. (8:45 a.m. Pontiac time).

The Shackleton pinpointed the wreckage at 53 degrees 14 minutes north longitude and 12 degrees west latitude, about 130 miles west-northwest of Shannon.

The search plane reported it saw bodies in the water, floating wreckage and a few half-inflated life rafts. It reported no sign of life.

A KLM spokesman in New York said at 10:15 a.m. EST that "It is assumed that the aircraft is down at this time." He said the airline had no confirmation that the wreckage sighted off Ireland was that of the plane.

But KLM headquarters in the Hague, Holland, announced the plane was down and a spokesman there added that although the fate of those on board "cannot be told with certainty, it must, alas, be said that the hope to find survivors must be deemed small."

In New York, a KLM official said the Super-Constellation carried several inflatable rubber life rafts and other survival gear for use in the event of a crash at sea.

He said the rafts were equipped with food, water and a portable radio for sending emergency messages. He added that the plane had an adequate number of life jackets aboard and each passenger had been instructed in their use before takeoff.

An Air Ministry official said the airliner may have been struck by lightning during the squall.

Michigan Couple Told Their Son, Wife on Plane

NEW YORK (AP) — A Michigan father and mother turned away stunned from the KLM counter at Idlewild Airport today as they learned their son and daughter-in-law were aboard the plane that crashed off Ireland.

The abbreviated passenger list, put out hastily soon after the crash, said: "Miller, male" and "Miller, female." Later, the latter designation was made "Mrs. Miller."

That must be his son, Keith, and his bride, Phyllis, said Peter R. Miller of Plymouth, Mich., who came here to welcome the couple on their return from a European trip.

Keith, 28, was a sportswriter for the Freeport, Ill., Journal Standard, the older Miller said. He spent three years in the service, and had taken his bride of a year on a tour of some of the towns he was stationed in overseas.

County GOP Picks 'Team' for State Convention Fight

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Republicans of Oakland County put together a "team" last night, elected a captain, mapped their plays, and announced "we're just beginning to fight."

Calling signals for the 141-member county Republican team at the state convention in Grand Rapids Aug. 30 will be Dr. John P. Wood, Birmingham orthopedic surgeon.

Dr. Wood, 55, of 644 Rudgate Rd., Bloomfield Hills, was the unanimous choice of the 150 precinct delegates who held their 1958 convention at the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

Before the convention adjourned around midnight, county Republicans had selected the delegate team of 141, plus alternates, which will make up the largest delegation in the state when party platforms are built in Grand Rapids.

Here delegates will select the Michigan delegation to the presidential nomination convention in 1960.

Oakland Republicans will converge on Grand Rapids with an eight-point "creed" which they hope the entire state delegation will endorse.

"This is the statement of beliefs of members of the Republican Party in Oakland County," said Henry L. Woolfenden, Bloomfield Hills chairman of the resolution com-

British Welcome Ike's Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Britain today welcomed President Eisenhower's Middle East peace plan as a solid foundation for "reconciling our points of view" and achieving constructive results.

The British position was outlined by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd before the emergency session of the 81-nation General Assembly which was opened yesterday by Eisenhower.

While throwing Britain's full support behind the President's six-point plan for bringing political and economic stability to the Middle East, Lloyd expressed sharp disappointment over the tone adopted by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the opening Soviet speech.

Informed quarters said Britain and the United States were in close consultation on a resolution, dealing with part of the Eisenhower program.

This was understood to cover some political aspects, including establishing of conditions which would make possible the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan.

Lloyd began his speech by referring to a remark by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold that the U.N. can serve as an instrument of negotiations among governments.

"If I may say so," he added,

City Resident Dies in Accident

Car in Which He Rides Goes Out of Control, Strikes Steel Gatepost

A Pontiac man was killed Wednesday when the car in which he was riding went out of control, striking another auto and a steel gatepost, according to Pontiac Police.

John Zielinski, 69, of 359 E. Wilson St., was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at 4:15 p.m.

He was a passenger in the car being driven by his wife, Kazmiera, 65, who was treated for minor injuries and released.

The Zielinski auto apparently went out of control as it turned onto S. Sanford from E. South Blvd. It struck the curb, then hit a car driven by Albert Spadafore, 44, of 3286 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, and ran into a steel post.

Zielinski suffered a crushed chest. Spadafore was uninjured, said police.

Dutch Girl, 17, on Other Plane

Was En Route to Join Parents Now Living in Royal Oak

A 17-year-old Dutch girl, originally booked on the Dutch airliner that crashed into the Atlantic today, met her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pennock of 209½ W. 5th St., Royal Oak, at Idlewild Airport in New York today. She arrived safely aboard a companion flight.

The oldest of the Pennocks' four boys and seven girls, Marijke, had been denied entry to this country 17 months ago when the others came over, because she had been ill with tuberculosis.

"We are doubly fortunate in seeing our daughter again," the grateful mother told newsmen at the airport, in gratitude that her daughter hadn't been aboard the ill-fated flight.

A Dutch airlines spokesman said the girl's flight change was a coincidence. It was found that the first flight was sold out and she was transferred to the other plane.

Marijke, now reported cured of TB, was granted a visa after arrangements were made for her to go to the Deborah sanatorium and hospital at Browns Mills, N.J., for a six-week series of tests before joining her family in Royal Oak.

Search Billy Hoffa's Place

Seek Herman at Local Farm

The search was part of a nationwide hunt under way today for the Teamster leader who dropped out of sight last week on the day his fatally-burned nephew, Frank H. Keirdorf, staggered into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

State Police Det. Charles A. Leaf, who participated in the raid on the farm, said no evidence was turned up to show Herman had ever been there.

William Hoffa has already been questioned by authorities in connection with the arson of a Flint dry cleaning pickup station in which Frank is believed to have accidently suffered his injuries.

"If I did know,- I probably wouldn't tell you, grey-haired Mrs. Kierdorf, 58, was quoted as saying by Beattie.

Both Mrs. Kierdorf and her son made emphatic denials, Beattie said, that they had knowledge where Herman is, or had been in contact with him directly or through other persons, since the disappearance 10 days ago.

Beattie admitted that authorities were "no closer to finding Herman."

He said that Richard told of receiving an anonymous telephone call Aug. 4, the day Herman dropped out of sight, the gist of which was "you don't have to bother about picking up Herman."

Richard said he received the mittee. The "Republican Creed" is:

(1) We believe in equal opportunity for labor, agriculture and business so that they can grow together as partners in prosperity;

(2) We believe in the economy of local government, as opposed to the inherent wastefulness of big state or mammoth federal government;

(3) We believe that the well being of everyone in Michigan depends upon the election of public servants who will bring more jobs into the state and keep them here — so that families can enjoy incomes instead of unemployment checks;

(4) We believe that behind-the-scenes control of our state government by labor bosses — or any group of special interests — is bad for the state and bad for the people;

(5) We believe that our system of American free enterprise has given America the greatest prosperity and the highest standard of living in the world — and that it should be defended against every form of socialism;

(6) We believe that world peace and national security depend on strong, international friendships among the nations of the free world;

(7) We believe that the principles of human equality should be suported by action, rather than words, and;

(8) We believe that the best way to preserve our American heritage is to work Republican, give Republican and vote Republican.

Delegates unanimously approved the creed, as well as pledging their support of all Republican candidates in the Nov. 4 election—from Sen. Charles E. Potter, gubernatorial hopeful Paul D. Bagwell, on down to the six county officials seeking re-election.

Delegates indicated that the county would probably not have any "favorite son" candidate as state Republicans come up with their choices for state treasurer, attorney general, auditor general and secretary of state in Grand Rapids.

"We'll go with Donald A. Brown (of Royal Oak) for lieutenant governor," declared Chad M. Ritchie, 1956 county committee chairman.

But "a surprise" might be in store at a midnight Oakland caucus in Grand Rapids Aug. 29, promised Dr. Wood as he adjourned last night's delegation.

Prior to adjournment delegates heard Sen. L. Harvey Lodge say that he was "a little put out by statements that the Republican Party is downgraded in the county."

"Are we going to replace experienced officials with a bunch of neophytes?" Lodge asked.

Oakland County Democrats will have their chance to answer this tonight when they gather in the same Supervisors' Room for their convention.

Republicans in every county of the state massed last night to select delegates to the state convention.

Making a surprise visit to the Oakland conclave was Vince Murray, 41-year-old Detroiter, who asked Oakland Republicans to "consider" him as a possible candidate for auditor general.

While Murray was in Pontiac, a heated battle was going on in his 14th Congressional District in Detroit between Fred M. Alger Jr. and Richard C. Durant for chairman of that delegation in Grand Rapids. Alger, former secretary of state and ambassador to Belgium, lost, 163, to 129.

Lodge, who introduced Murray, lashed out at Democrats with a shouting promise that Republicans "will not run away from a good fight" and "We're just beginning to fight."

"We beat you by 30,000 last time," Lodge said, "this time it will be closer to 50,000."

Other officers of the Oakland delegation to Grand Rapids elected last night are: Gordon D. Haupt of Ferndale, vice chairman; Mary Marshick of Royal Oak, secretary; and Evelyn E. DeLong of Ferndale, assistant secretary.

Body Found of Detroiter

Battered Store Owner Under Basement Debris; His Safe Rifled

DETROIT (AP) — The bludgeon slayer of a wealthy Detroit furniture store owner whose battered and nearly naked body was found hidden in a basement was sought today by police.

The body of Rudolph G. Fahl, 67, was found last night under a pile of cardboard cartons and furniture pads in the basement of one of his two furniture stores. Fahl last was seen alive Monday by a business associate.

The body was discovered by police who were called to the store by Fahl's attorney, Fred Potvin.

Homicide Detective Lt. Albert Isaacs said a trail of blood led from Fahl's bedroom in the rear of the store to the basement. The body, clad only in an undershirt, was found under the debris. The hands were tied.

Isaacs said Fahl, a widower, apparently was bludgeoned to death in his bed and then dragged to the basement by his slayer. A safe in the bedroom was rifled.

Potvin said Fahl had been selling his possession and property in order to retire and live with his daughter, Mrs. Margie Laurie, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Potvin said Fahl recently sold a home he owned in Riverside, Ont., for $35,000. He said Fahl valued the building in which his body was found at $125,000. In addition, Fahl owned another furniture store and had numerous real estate holdings in the Detroit area.

Tebbetts Resigns as Reds' Manager

He announced his decision himself as Gabe Paul, general manager, listened.

Tebbetts had been manager of the Redlegs since Sept. 29, 1953.

"This was not an easy decision to make, because I have always felt that a manager should never quit," Tebbetts said.

HERMAN'S RELATIVES—Richard Kierdorf and his mother, Lila, are shown as they left the Oakland County Prosecutor's office yesterday after telling authorities they had no knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing Herman Kierdorf. Richard is Herman's son, Lila is Herman's wife.

call at a home in Detroit, while on the way to Willow Run Airport where he was to pick up his mother and Frank's wife, Jessie, returning hurriedly from a Florida vacation.

He would not identify the home, Beattie said, nor would Mrs. Kierdorf, who said she spent her first few days back in Michigan there.

Richard said he did not know who made the call, but "the voice sounded familiar."

Beatties said that the missing man's son did not go into further details, but apparently accepted the message "without questioning it."

Authorities did not know what significance to give the call. It was reminiscent of a telephone call Herman claimed he received the morning Frank was injured.

According to Herman, an anonymous man threatened him with the words, "You'll be next, you ——!".

Mother and son expressed the belief that Herman would show up "of his own free will" as soon as "all the furor had died down," Beattie said.

Mrs. Kierdorf felt her husband was afraid authorities wanted to charge him with more than possession of a silencer for a pistol, which is the charge presently against him.

Atty. Gen. Paul Adams has indicated he wants to find out what Herman knows about the fire, but doubts that Herman helped Frank set it.

Beattie said that Herman's son and wife told their stories under oath and "very cooperatively."

Mrs. Kierdorf said that her husband kept her in the dark about his business—just as Frank reportedly never talked over his affairs with his wife, Jessie. But she believed that Herman did not own any property outside of the country.

Ziem said he may make up his mind today whether to release Myron D. Weiss, 54-year-old Detroiter who is the last known person to have seen Herman. Weiss has been held in custody since Saturday, but has told authorities "next to nothing." Ziem said.

★ ★ ★

The only other person held in custody was freed on a writ of habeas corpus yesterday. He is Jack Thompson, 41, a fellow business agent of Frank's at Flint Local 332. Thompson had been held as a suspect in the arson, but was released by Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth when Genesee County authorities refused to seek a warrant against him.

Fire Demolishes Carpet Store

Pontiac Varnish Co. last Nov. 18, Schroeder said.

Metz and his inspection crews began digging through the rubble today, looking for evidence to explain how the fire began. "It is fairly apparent that it was accidental," he said.

Aiding the regular Pontiac firemen, some of whom responded to the call although off-duty, were crews and equipment from Birmingham and Waterford Township, plus volunteers from Independence and West Bloomfield Townships.

About a half-dozen members of the Pontiac Firemen's Auxiliary also pitched in, pushing the total number of firefighters who participated to close to 100.

Assistant Fire Chief John J. Morrissey believed the blaze began on the mezzanine, where inflammable linoleum and plastics were on display.

Firemen concentrated on containing the fire within the carpet store and preventing its spread to the furniture store and other businesses.

An opening in the fire wall between the carpet and furniture stores permitted some flames and a "terrific amount of smoke" to enter the latter establishment, Metz said.

The opening was made without permission of the fire inspection department, he said, and connected the furniture store to the second floor rear of the carpet firm. The furniture store was renting this area of the carpet store for storage, Metz said.

Also threatened were the Top Value Stamp Store, 1 N. Perry St. and the Home & Auto Loan Co., 7 N. Perry, which occupy a new, two-story brick building adjacent to the McCandless store on the south; the Lakeland Hotel, 25½ E. Pike; the Gridiron Bar and pool hall, 23-25 E. Pike; and Howard Signs Co., 21 E. Pike.

Flames did not spread to the loan company and stamp store, thanks to a thick firewall erected when the building was constructed in 1956, said Metz.

A 15-foot wide areaway separated the other establishments from the burning store. Flames were not able to cross it.

Besides hosing tons of water into the first and second floors of the furniture store, firemen mounted its roof by means of an aerial ladder and played water across to the carpet store.

Owner of the carpet store, Donald J. O'Meara, believed that loss to his stock and fixtures might run as much as $100,000. His insurance would only cover $75,000 of the loss, he said.

O'Meara, 27, of 3213 Hickory Lawn, Avon Township bought the business last year from W. N. McCandless, who still owns the building.

O'Meara said he locked the store up at 6 p.m. and was only a short distance away when word of the fire reached him.

OPENS DOOR

"I ran back and the firemen told me to open the back door. I did. It was thick with smoke inside already."

The young businessman, formerly comptroller of a Detroit carpeting firm, said he was able to remove two automobiles from the rear of the building, one belonging to the firm and the other to a salesman.

A salesman for the furniture store, Harry Moss, 29, of 2937 N. Alexander St., Royal Oak, said he and several other employes had been working in the rear of the store until closing time at 5:30 p.m., when everyone left and the store was closed.

EVERYTHING IN ORDER

McCandless, of 576 Lennox St. estimated the loss to the building at about $150,000, and added that it was not completely covered by insurance.

O'Meara said that among the stock that perished in the blaze were about 14 or 15 small, valuable oriental rugs.

Berkeley Voss, president of the loan company, said any loss to his firm from smoke or water would be covered by insurance.

Eugene Burdette, 39 Lincoln St., assistant manager of the loan firm, was working alone in the office when the fire broke out. "I heard sirens, but didn't realize the fire was next door until I saw firemen running across the street," he said.

M. C. Kratt, the hotel manager, said that four guests who were in the hotel were evacuated "almost immediately," with some of them taking valuable possessions along. About 16 others were staying at the hotel, Kratt said, but they were out at the time.

The owners of the bar and pool hall, James P. Marinos and George P. Pratt, said they ordered customers to leave at 6:45 p.m. Water and smoke filled the rear of the pool room, they said.

Another potential danger point was the Strand Theater, 12 N. Saginaw St. About 75 persons remained in the theater throughout the movie, apparently without knowledge that only a rear alley separated the theater from the blazing building.

The manager of the theater, Edward W. Plett, said he was ready to evacuate the customers if flames endangered the building.

However, firemen easily kept the fire from spreading in that direction.

Plett said he stopped ticket sales shortly after the fire started and then began them again at 7:40 p.m., after the fire was under control.

The smoke victim was Alice Reed, 20, of 1575 Lakeview St., Sylvan Lake. She was with her mother, Mrs. Louise Reed, who took the girl to the nearby Waldron Hotel, where she revived without medical assistance.

Mrs. Reed is a saleslady at the McCandless store who was downtown with her daughter on her day off.

The injured gas company employe, Richard Charboneau, 30, of 2799 Shimmons Rd., Pontiac Township, cut two fingers on his left hand as he broke through a cast iron door on the gas box in the sidewalk in front of the burning building. Charboneau said he also lost a $130 wristwatch at some point during the fire.

About 15 members of the Army Reserve pitched in to help police control the crowd. They are members of the 579th Field Artillary which was holding a drill at the W. Lawrence street armory when the fire broke out.

Ironically, the last big downtown fire was at the Modern Age Furniture. This was caused two years ago by a lighted cigarette left in the store by a customer shortly before closing time, Metz said.

Modified Farm Bill Approved by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed and sent to the Senate an eleventh-hour compromise farm bill.

The bill, pronounced satisfactory by the Eisenhower administration and Democratic House leaders, was passed under abbreviated procedure requiring a two-thirds vote.

Passage was by voice vote.

The bill now goes to conference with the Senate to compromise differences. Senate farm leaders announced in advance they would not accept the House bill without change.

The Day in Birmingham

Four Juveniles Arrested in Series of Auto Thefts

BIRMINGHAM — A series of recent car thefts in Birmingham have been cleared up following apprehension of four 14 and 15-year-old Birmigham area boys, Juvenile Officer Jack Kalbfleisch said this morning.

Two of the youths were arrested over the weekend while driving a car stolen from the Kroger store parking lot on E. Maple road near Hunter boulevard. They were spotted by Sgt. Glen Foltz and Patrolman Lamar Gilchrist.

The other pair was picked up later. Admissions yesterday by the four have implicated several other youths, Kalbfleisch said.

The boys told him they began taking autos last spring while hitchhiking home from school in Detroit. He said they would steal a car, drive it to a point near their home and abandon it.

Later, they began taking autos for "joy rides," Kalbfleisch said.

Five of the thefts were from parking lots in Birmingham during the past few weeks, Kalbfleisch said.

The boys have been released to the custody of their parents and their names have been turned over to the Detroit Youth Bureau for possible questioning.

The newest piece of city machinery and one of the newest on the market will arrive in Birmingham within the next 10 days.

In manufacture less than a year, it is a stump remover, which grinds them up with a rotary drill type device, according to Charles Gale, city forester.

The $3,000 price tag on the machine will be offset by its economy operation, he said.

Stumps now are hauled out by tractor after considerable digging. Then they must be loaded onto trucks and taken to a dump near Rochester where a disposal fee is charged.

Besides the removal expenses, Gale said, walks and curbs are nearly always damaged by the tractor and must be repaired by the city. There is a large backlog of work awaiting the new stump router, Gale noted.

Discussion of architect's plans for expansion of Baldwin Public Library is scheduled for tonight's Baldwin Public Library Board meeting, President Charles Kass said. The meeting will be held at the library at 8 p.m.

City Manager L. R. Gare has been asked to report on two sidewalk requests recently presented to Birmingham city commissioners.

The Village Players have asked the city to put in a walk from Hunter boulevard, connecting it with the present sidewalk in front of the playhouse on Chestnut street.

The other request was made by 56 residents who want a walk installed on the east side of Henrietta street between Townsend and Brown streets.

U. of M. Enrollment Up 515 in 1957-58 Year

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan had a total student population of 47,708 in the recently concluded 1957-58 academic year.

The figure represents the enrollment on the main Ann Arbor campus and extensions and branches throughout the state. It was 515 higher than the 1956-57 enrollment.

Wayne County was tops in the number of students on the Ann Arbor campus with 6,874. Washtenaw with 4,243 followed. Oakland follows with 2,423.

Coed Jumps Into River; She Wants to Cool Off

PITTSBURGH (AP)—It was one of those hot, muggy days. Gloria Loden, a 20-year-old University of Pittsburgh coed, said she wanted to cool off.

She jumped into the Allegheny River and refused to come out when workmen and police pleaded with her. A patrolman finally dived in and fished her from the water.

She was treated for shock and taken to St. Francis Hospital for observation.

Both Michigan Senators Vote for Education Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's two senators voted with the majority last night as the Senate passed the 1½ billion dollar federal aid to education bill.

Senators Charles Potter, Republican, and Patrick McNamara, Democrat, both were on the winning side of the 62-to-26 vote for passage.

Champagne Caves 5th in Tourist Attractions

PARIS (UPI) — The champagne caves of Reims and Epernay now rank fifth among the many attractions that draw tourists to France.

The Tourist Office here said the famed cellars, in which millions of bottles of champagne nurture their sparkle, drew 480,000 visitors in 1957. This was only 150,000 less than visited the art museum of the Louvre, and far more than climbed the Arch of Triumph. The biggest attraction was the Eiffel Tower, followed by the palace of Versailles, the airport at Orly and then the Louvre.

In Step With the Times

CLEVELAND (AP)—The city council in nearby Bedford came to grips with the Space Age. A recent session of the council approved an ordinance prohibiting the firing of rockets, projectiles and missiles within the city limits.

Wind Tunnel Gauge Notes Stress, Strain

PARIS — The Eiffel Laboratory in Paris has developed a new tool for testing automobiles and other vehicles in wind tunnels.

★ ★ ★

A specially developed dynamometer is installed in the floor of the tunnel so the velocity of the wind and the air pressure on all sides of the test vehicle simulate highway use.

★ ★ ★

The instrument, composed of stress levers with strain gauges, can give an almost-simultaneous measurement of the strain on each easily computed. The test takes only 30 per cent as long as former methods required.

U. N. Book Shows Way to Study in Foreign Land

PARIS (UPI) — Want to study Indo-Aryan linguistics in Ceylon?

You can, you know.

And if you're an American male under 35, equipped with a B. A., you can apply to the University of Ceylon for a scholarship that will pay part of your expenses.

All this comes to light in the ninth edition of a UNESCO best-seller called "Study Abroad."

"Study Abroad" is a sort of Sears Roebuck catalog of the educational world. This year it lists more than 75,000 fellowships and scholarships offered for foreign students by governments, foundations, universities, corporations and rich people.

Groups all over the world (83 nations plus many "non-self-governing territories") are offering unique opportunities to individuals all over the world.

In Finland, for example, the government is offering, among other awards, eight-month scholarships "to nationals of (a) Iceland and (b) Italy who are pursuing, or have completed, university studies."

Meanwhile, back in Houston, the Texas-Swedish Cultural Foundation is offering scholarships to "nationals of U. S. A. from State of Texas; college level or above. Awards are to further cultural relations between Sweden and Texas."

In Putney, Vermont, a group called The Experiment in International Living continues to offer foreign students coming to the U. S. an opportunity to live with an American family for one month before beginning their college studies.

The 836-page tome also says that in 1956 — the last year for which figures are available — there were about 150,000 foreign students enrolled in 74 countries. The U. S. led the way, playing "schoolmarm" to 36,494 men and women from abroad.

France was second with 16,877. Then came Russia with 12,300, Argentina with 10,782 and Great Britain with 9,723. Leader in the Middle East was Egypt with 3,671. Japan, with 3,137, ranked first in Asia.

A UNESCO survey of 36 countries showed that in 1955-56 the humanities still was the most popular study. Engineering came second.

Study abroad, anyone?

Remember, its broadening.

Safety Expert Says Everyone Is Poor Driver

Nobody really is a very good driver, says Joseph Zabelski. He's a safety-education consultant for the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"You can turn out skillful drivers but even they have their moments," he admits. "In fact, about 95 per cent of the good drivers have accidents.

Zabelski says most of the nation's 80 million drivers — about half the population — are untrained. He adds that 98 per cent of drivers are handicapped emotionally.

He spoke at a University of Michigan conference on driver education.

Goldfine Intends to Fight Citation

Contempt of Congress Edict Passed by House Vote of 369-8

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Goldfine intends to fight a contempt of Congress citation tendered against him for refusing to answer 22 House subcommittee questions about his financing dealings with a Boston company he owns.

Attorneys for the millionaire Boston industrialist promised the fight last night after the House voted the citation 369-8.

Goldfine, friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, refused to answer the questions on grounds they were not pertinent to the subcommittee's investigation of federal regulatory agencies.

Samuel M. Sears, Goldfine's chief attorney, said in Boston the contempt citation will be fought on the same grounds.

Although Goldfine balked at several subcommittee questions, he emphatically denied that his friendship with Adams got him preferred treatment from the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission. Adams made similar denials.

If prosecuted and convicted Goldfine could receive up to one year in prison and a $1,000 fine. The decision whether to prosecute is up to the Justice Department. If it decides to do so, the case will be presented to federal grand jury.

In urging the House to back up his group's recommendation for a contempt citation, Oren Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the subcommittee that investigated Goldfine, asked:

"Is the Congress going to let an individual . . . say to the Congress: 'I'm going to decide whether the questions are relevant and pertinent?' "

Harris argued that "The legislative processes of this House have been thwarted."

The only extensive argument against a citation came from Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo). He said the Supreme Court has overturned contempt citations on grounds "exposure for exposure's sake is not a prerogative of Congress."

Both Goldfine and Sears said the House citation came as no surprise. Goldfine refused further comment.

Judge George Hartrick's Death Great Loss for Everyone

Judge GEORGE B. HARTRICK's sudden death comes as a great shock to a host of Oakland County residents. The Judge stood forth as one of the best known citizens in this area, as his younger days were spent in the southern part of the county and he closed his busy and constructive lifetime on the Circuit Court bench in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Judge HARTRICK is one of a staunch Royal Oak triumvirate consisting of himself, GEORGE A. DONDERO and Judge ARTHUR B. MOORE. Each of the three always insists that the other two are Royal Oak's most influential and affluent citizens while the speaker pictures himself as languishing at the feet of his two mighty compatriots. They were staunch pioneers in the early days of Royal Oak and the development of Oakland County. Two of the three went on to important positions in Pontiac while GEORGE DONDERO went to Washington as our Representative.

★ ★ ★

Judge HARTRICK was a fearless and outspoken jurist and yet he tempered his decisions with an understanding of human frailities and deserving litigants were always assured of sympathetic consideratiton, however his rulings went.

JUDGE HARTRICK

In his earlier days, GEORGE HARTRICK crossed swords with the so-called black legion and he conducted other probes into underworld and political machinations. In fact, the day of his death, an Oakland County witness testified in Washington that Former Governor SIGLER had told Judge HARTRICK he would make him a Supreme Court Justice if he handed the Purple Gangster "long sentences."

★ ★ ★

That's precisely what George Hartrick did, and that's precisely what he would have done had the Governor been in Australia. It didn't require special prodding on the part of Lansing to make sure Oakland County hoodlums didn't escape lightly. Knowing George as intimately as I did over a quarter of a century, I am sure he was irritated at the Governor's suggestions and probably told the Chief Executive where to go as bluntly as he did the crooks.

★ ★ ★

The stern press of duties rarely kept at least a fleeting or shadowy smile from a rugged but kindly face for too long a time. Judge HARTRICK loved humor and was a past master at chiding his friends from all angles and without let-up. The writer of these lines rarely offered any comment at the Pontiac Rotary Club without having Judge HARTRICK arise immediatetly to refute as much as possible. And the same held true in reverse. GEORGE and I have staged many small verbal battles and then walked back to West Huron Street together and lamented over important points we should have scored against each other.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County has been especially well served over an extended period of years in the matter of the Circuit Courts. Judges Frank L. Doty, H. Russel Holland, Clark J. Adams and George B. Hartrick constituted as capable a quartet as you will find. All men of great personal experience, of time tested and valuable training in both the law and business in general, the four comprised a judicial bench of judgment and exceptional capabilities.

★ ★ ★

Among these four stalwarts, Judge GEORGE B. HARTRICK bowed to no one and his reputation in Michigan was on a comparable level. At the time of his death he was President of The Michigan Judges Association, a high position for which he was eminently qualified and deserved.

★ ★ ★

Circumscribed as he was by judicial restrictions, yet he gave as freely as he could of his time for general community betterments. He served as District Governor of the Rotary Club and gave the assignment a full stint out of his crowded calendar.

★ ★ ★

Only sixty-seven years old, Judge George B. Hartrick could have given many more years of useful and valuable service to mankind in this area had he been spared. But the Supreme Judge ruled otherwise; and in all humility, George would have been the last one to ask for reconsideration. One of the kindliest souls departs. One of our time-tested officials lays down his gavel unexpectedly in the midst of a wonderful career. The story ends — unhappily for most — but in the inexorable way all stories must sometimes end.

Paris Fashion Note: Sack Is to Be Sacked

David Lawrence Says:

Ike's U.N. Message Impressive

WASHINGTON — There have been great addresses in the past by presidents of the United States in the periods preceding big wars, but none that has been the equal of the speech delivered by President Eisenhower to the United Nations General Assembly with the aim of preventing a world war from breaking out over the Near East situation.

LAWRENCE

It was an impressive message because it reiterated the traditional principles for which the United States has consistently stood throughout its history. It will be effective throughout the free world, primarily because the address reflects bipartisan support here. This is but another way of saying it is a true expression of the purposes and intentions of the people of the United States.

For the speech means that America has not yielded in her firm insistence that the independence of small nations must be protected against any aggression by a major power even if measures of protection bring on a crisis of major proportions.

The President at the very outset spoke of "the danger that nations under aggressive leadership will seek to exploit man's horror of war by confronting the nations, particularly the small nations, with an apparent choice between supine surrender or war." He added: "This tactic reappeared during the recent Near East crisis. Some might call it 'ballistic blackmail.'"

Eisenhower in those few sentences served notice that the American people would not be terrorized, would not appease dictatorships and would not compromise on basic principles of national sovereignty. He denounced the cry of "aggression" which the Soviets have raised against the military aid given by the United States at the request of the government of Lebanon. He said, "If it is made an international crime to help a small nation maintain its independence, then indeed the possibilities of conquest are unlimited."

Here, therefore, is the great cause to which the President says America is dedicated — a cause that champions the rights of small nations to work out their own destinies without external interference. This is reminiscent of President Wilson's plea just 40 years ago for the "self-determination" of people and of President Roosevelt's similar point in the Atlantic Charter of 1941.

But, while conceding that each nation has a right to make any change — in fact, he said that "change is indeed the law of life and of progress" — Eisenhower declared that this carries with it an obligation to bring about change "in peaceful ways." The President insisted that, above all else, there must be "an end to external interference in the internal affairs of the Arab states of the Near East."

The speech was carefully designed to express agreement with the legitimate aspirations of Arab nationalism, but at the same time it was unmistakably directed at the major threat to world peace today — the dictatorship in the Soviet Union which seeks to dominate smaller nations and stir up trouble between them. The President's pointed reference to the damage done by inflammatory broadcasts was an example of what realistically is causing crisis after crisis in the Near East.

Obviously the plan for economic development of the Near East by means of a regional arrangement is a response to those who have all along insisted that money is needed to assist the peoples of the Arab world to develop their resources and improve their standard of living. America's promise to help is significant. If taken only on its face value, it would aid immeasurably in relaxing tension and bringing peace to the Near East.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Castor Oil Worth a Try to Remove Plantar Warts

"Dear Doc Brady: You and I have been friends for years, inasmuch as I read your column every day.

DR. BRADY

"On the subject of warts, believe me, please, when I say that any type of wart can be entirely taken away by morning and night application of plain castor oil.

"My daughters wouldn't believe this and had an appointment with a specialist for removal of warts from the sole of her foot. Her family physician wouldn't handle it.

"I persuaded her to defer the appointment for a month. I gave the castor oil to my 10-year-old granddaughter with instructions how to apply it. In less than a month all the warts were gone and never came back. NOW they believe me. No hocus-pocus. The castor oil was IT.

Sincerely, ——"

Referring to Volumette XX, "Cosmetic Blemishes," of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, I'm a little embarrassed to notice that nearly four pages deal with this insignificant subject. But maybe people with warts won't regard it as insignificant, especially if they have warts on the sole of the foot, plantar, that is.

The booklet describes half a dozen remedies or treatments for warts, ordinary or plantar, including castor oil, iodine, corn collodion, surgical diathermy or fulguration (spark), electrolysis, clean surgical excision under local anesthesia, and application of raw onion. There is mention of low-dosage X-ray in the hands of an expert, but if I were the patient I'd have ONLY one such exposure.

Testimonials of the efficacy of the castor oil treatment for warts are as numerous as testimonials for any other remedy or treatment and equally significant, I suppose. I mean to say that warts come and go without rhyme or reason, and it is human nature to believe that the last remedy or treatment tried before the wart or warts spontaneously disappeared was the cure.

It is only fair to say that the application of castor oil to wart or warts once or twice a day, or constantly by strapping on a bit of gauze or cotton soaked with the oil, is at least harmless, especially for plantar warts. If I had a plantar wart I'd have a go at the castor oil treatment for a month, before I'd submit to either surgery or X-ray.

I can't help being impressed by the number of reports received from people of obviously high intelligence who, like the Indianapolis correspondent, have found castor oil a good remedy for plantar warts.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Little Leaguers, Examples of Preventive Delinquency

The 1958 program of the Pontiac Metropolitan Club has been targeted on "Preventive Delinquency." To that end we have outfitted and sponsored nine teams, or a total of approximately 150 boys, in the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Little League.

★ ★ ★

It was our intent that at the close of the season we would take our sponsored teams to a Tiger ball game. However, the idea mushroomed and finally grew to include the entire 36 teams in the League.

★ ★ ★

On Wednesday, August 6th, we loaded ten buses with 692 Little Leaguers and their managers, and took off for Briggs Stadium. Much to our regret, for the second year in a row rain prevented the boys from seeing a complete game.

★ ★ ★

I especially wish to extend my thanks and the thanks of the Pontiac Metropolitan Club to all who contributed their time and efforts to make this trip possible.

★ ★ ★

Our special thanks to the team managers for their fine cooperation and supervision of the boys, and we wish to commend the boys for their excellent behavior.

Can't Afford High Price of Rides

We took our children to the 4-H Fair and were having a good time until we got to the ride section. The price was 20 and 25 cents a ride for each child.

★ ★ ★

My youngest is too small to ride the merry-go-round. About to hand the ticket girl 40 cents for my two children, she said everyone must have a ticket, even me. I only wanted to go on with the youngest to make sure he wouldn't be afraid or fall off after the ride began. I then decided none of us would ride it.

★ ★ ★

Who ever heard of handing out 60 cents for a merry-go-round ride! We sure felt sorry for families we saw with four, five and six children who couldn't afford to let them ride because of the expense. What is worse is that the children may be too little to understand that the price of a ride could be used to buy them food. I wonder how many people agree with me?

Disgusted

We Will Answer for All Things

In answer to another woman again read I Peter, Chapter three, verse three. This is still free America, so wear what you please and do what you please.

★ ★ ★

You are so right when you say class will turn against class, children against parents, and our good teachers attacked for it's all predicted in scripture. As for Christians being turned out carnal, that's what is wrong with the world today for carnal means worldly one who partakes of worldly things during the week and tries to honor God on Sunday.

★ ★ ★

May I add, the devil rocks the cradle and he has many asleep today. Someday we will all answer to God for all things.

Belongings Stolen While Swimming

Can't Enjoy City Park; My children go to Avon Park in Rochester on a school bus. While there, all children are chaperoned by adults.

My children have had money, shoes, bathing suits, and beach towels taken or stolen. What kind of a park is it when kids don't dare remove any clothing to go swimming or remove wet clothes for dry ones without having them stolen.

People can't afford to let their children go for any afternoon of fun at our city park. Let's hear from some other victim who has had such things happen.

Don't Blame Ike for Pension Bill

What won't they blame Eisenhower for next? "A Taxpayer" is blaming him for the bill to give presidents a pension after retirement. Does he think the President wrote this bill?

I think if he will check a little further he'll discover that it's the Democrats pushing this bill, with Harry S. Truman in mind. Herbert Hoover is the only other living president, and does not need a pension. In fact, I wonder how many remember that he would not accept a salary while he was president.

Crane Often Causes Controversy

Editors are subjected to far more coercion than you readers ever dream of! I have photostats of letters in which editors have been high-pressured by business interests, college professors and churchmen, who selfishly disagree with ideas pioneered in this column. But editors are the fiercest defenders of freedom of speech. They are thus the greatest protection for this Republic.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane's column is dynamic," he admitted to the Syndicate salesman who showed him my first month of copy.

DR. CRANE

"But he has the temerity to point out flaws among the clergy. Why, here is a case in which he says a clergyman is at fault when people snore in the pews!

That may be quite true, but it is heresy to criticize churches or their leaders.

"And he even indicts many college professors for poor teaching. He also says wives are 50 per cent to blame when their husbands stray.

"That's dynamite! I'm afraid to run Dr. Crane's column. It is too far advanced for newspapers nowadays.

"If you can get the editors of the major papers within 300 miles of Chicago to print Dr. Crane's column, then come back to me and I may take it."

COURAGEOUS EDITORS

★ ★ ★

Even then, this editor couldn't make up his mind. After he died and John S. Knight bought the Chicago Daily News, then my column finally hit Chicago, for Mr. Knight is a leader instead of a follower.

The basic aim of good newspapers is to challenge outmoded thinking and encourage people to move ahead to a higher plane of civilization.

This is part of the "more abundant life" which Christ said we should enjoy.

Progress, however, is always fettered by outmoded rules of the past, many of which are definitely unscientific.

So newspapers, as the chief teachers of Americans, should be the pace-setters for new ideas.

Obviously, there will be differences of opinion.

"When two men in a business always agree," said the late William Wrigley Jr., "then one of them is unnecessary!"

Sometimes disagreeing fragments of the public will try to high pressure an editor. They will write letters threatening to cancel their subscriptions and will belabor me as 100 per cent wrong.

Instead of answering me with logical arguments, they even resort to the "ad hominem" fallacy of trying to use emotional invectives to coerce their local editor.

But I keep on writing this column as a scientific faculty member of your "University in Print," which is what every good newspaper is.

You readers may not realize it, but I have lost papers because I have answered teenagers who wanted me to give them the medical and psychological facts about tobacco.

I also have documented cases where a few editors have cancelled this column because I exposed the selling of whisky on airplanes before mothers and toddlers.

Some churches have tried to pressure their editors because I needle poor orators among clergymen and tell you it takes a live-wire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation!

But 95 per cent of American editors are fighters for truth and cannot be coerced. They may not always agree with what their columnists write but they subscribe to Voltaire's motto, who said:

"I disagree with what you say but will lay down my life in defense of your right to say it!"

That was John Peter Zenger's philosophy, too, who gave us our free press.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Lurk in Ambush for Planes, Rockets

Gusty Winds Zigzagging Across Skies

These treacherous rivers of air known as jet streams, whip across the sky at speeds up to 450 miles an hour. They travel at altitudes ranging from about six to ten miles, the National Geographic Society says.

Rocket tests have been postponed for days when meteorologists reported jet streams were passing overhead. Airplane pilots take pains to avoid a stream going in the wrong direction. When a stream is going the right way, a pilot can almost coast to his destination.

For centuries men knew nothing of these high winds. Then in 1883 a virtually unknown volcanic island called Krakatau, lying between Java and Sumatra, exploded with such fury it was heard nearly 3,000 miles away. The earth-shaking volcanic blast carried ash an estimated 17 miles above the earth.

DUST SPREAD

The speed with which the clouds of dust spread around the world suggested the existence of fast-moving winds far above the earth. But decades passed before the clue was followed up. As aviation got under way, pilots began reporting that winds at high altitudes would enable them to break speed records—or bring their planes almost to a standstill despite engines running at full tilt.

British meteorologists during World War II secretly plotted the jet streams so that planes could float down the river of air to Germany in record time, get off, and fly back in ordinary air. Japanese placed balloon-borne bombs in a jet stream moving across the Pacific. A number of the bombs reached Pacific coast areas of the United States.

Meteorologists believe the streams have an enormous effect on the weather below. Undulating from west to east around the world, they move northward in summer and southward in winter, like birds and tourists. They may pull a storm or even a hurricane far out of its destined course. It was perhaps a jet stream that took a Japanese typhoon far off course to drown about 1,000 persons on an unwarned ferryboat off the island of Hokkaido in September, 1954.

The streams, tracked by radar bounced off high flying balloons, are usually no more than about 300 miles wide. Broad strips of calmer air separate them. Big jet streams occur from Tokyo to Honolulu, over the southeastern United States, and from North Africa to the Indian Ocean.

SCIENTISTS UNCERTAIN

Meteorologists do not fully agree on the cause of the streams. Possibly the most popular theory at present is that the streams result from the confluence of broad masses of cold polar air moving south and warm equatorial air pushing north. This confluence may start the big winds. The turning of the earth doubtless influences the streams, since the earth does not drag its surrounding air along with complete evenness.

Some weather men believe that the jet streams are the chief means by which air is exchanged between the tropics and the poles. If it were not for this exchange, the equatorial regions might become impossibly hot.

States Give Legal Aid

CHICAGO — More than half the people accused of crime in the United States can't afford to hire a lawyer and they're assured of legal counsel in non-capital cases in only 22 states, a report in the American Judicature Society's journal indicates.

Bob Considine Says:

Alaska Abounds With Influence of Irishmen

UNALAKLEET, Alaska — We had been grounded for 36 hours by fog that pressed down the surrounding hills like gray whipped cream and lay there without motion.

But now the stuff stirred and trailed off, and again we could see Wonder Lake, a body of water in central Alaska that the mapmakers hardly recognize.

It was five in the morning, and Bill Burke of Alaska Airlines came into our little place at Camp Denali to prove triumphantly that he could make a wood fire and brew some coffee that would take the pelt off a mastodon.

We skidded down the precipitious hill of mud and rock in the camp jeep, put on hip boots and sloshed to the Cessna 180, floating confidently nearby.

Pat Fricks, who used to fly Pan-Am's fib-winged boats and now teaches a course in psychiatry at the University of Alaska, took the busy little plane off the lake and flew us westward through the pass and out across a land as strange and untraveled as the other side of the moon.

The sun came out, revealing writhing rivers, bogs which might engulf Rhode Island, endless armies of militantly stiff spruce and a curtain of nameless mountains to the north.

In time we set down at McGrath, a river village of 150 population. A DC4 of Alaska Airlines was waiting, bound for Nome. It carried a curious load:

A stretcher on which lay a handsome old Eskimo chief named George Rock being brought home from the government hospital in Anchorage to die among his people. He was a terminal cancer case, attended by a young doctor from Oklahoma. The stoicism of the old man was something to behold and remember.

Behind him sat a hep and snazzy Eskimo returning from Hollywood, where he had played a film part. Up front an Air Force officer read a cheap novel, headed for a field that lies hardly thirty seconds by jet from its Soviet counterpart across Bering Strait.

Beyond a curtain that divided the cabin in half was lashed several tons of freight.

Unalakleet is an Eskimo village of 600 on the barren Bering Sea. The postmaster is an Eskimo named Frank Ryan. The cab driver who took us into town was named Frank Degnan.

"Some San Francisco Irishmen stopped by here some years back," building harbors. As you can see, they stayed a bit. Look at that field of Irish potatoes."

Degnan looks like a cross between Pat Rooney and an Indian squaw. He's running for the Senate of the new state legislature on a good stout Irish platform that Eskimos are as good as anybody else in Alaska and will take lip from no man.

Postmaster Ryan's Eskimo son, Sheldon, an intelligent young man who finished his Army duty, took us up the North River in his outboard job to the dog-leg where it meets the Unalakleet.

On the peaks in the distance sprouted the scanners, towers and platters of the radar defense line and Alaska's Army-operated telephone system, called White Alice.

But the salmon and the Dolly Vardons cared for nothing save the hooks of our little party. In Alaska, they throw back catches which at home would be considered prizes worth photographing.

The DC4 made its run into Nome, gassed up, and flew back to Unalakleet to fetch us. We were headed for Anchorage, a place with a name that has acquired romance and beauty since the great Capt. Cook touched there in search of a northwest passage and in his log, spelled it with a small "a." The aerial road led back through Mcgrath.

There was time for a drink at Jack McGuire's. McGuire is a strictly non-Eskimo Irishman, still able to break up any fight that starts in his bar.

We ordered a Scotch and water. Jack winced, reached a rough-hewn fist through a small forest of Irish whisky bottles, found the Scotch and put it down firmly next to our glass.

No measuring glass. Just like the movies. We poured discreetly. Mcguire's quite big. In fact, he's the size of Alaska and much like it.

Provides Broad Federal Aid

Senate Passes Education Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a broad federal aid to education bill designed to help meet the challenge flashed by Soviet scientific advances.

The bill was passed 62-26 last night after a session lasting 14 hours. While generally similar to a measure passed by the House last week, there are differences that remain to be compromised.

Cost of the Senate bill was estimated at about $1,300,000,000. The House measure would cost about 910 million dollars.

A feature of the Senate bill is provision for the award of about 23,000 college scholarships annually to outstanding students, particularly in the fields of science, mathematics and foreign languages.

The Senate amendment would limit individual scholarship grants to $250 a year, or a total of $1,000 for four years of college. But it would permit needy scholarship winners to borrow up to $750 a year from the government.

Loans would be made at 2 per cent interest, and a borrower who entered the teaching profession would be forgiven his loan at the rate of one fifth for each year of teaching.

TAX BILLS NEAR OK

Senate-House conferees last night adjusted differences on a trip of measures to afford tax relief to small business, movie theaters, community swimming pools and skating rinks, stock brokers, parochial schools, whisky distillers, gold mines, investors and a myriad of other taxpayers.

At the same time, the legislation would close loopholes in the law which permit taxpayers to claim mistresses as income tax deductions, deny retired couples larger credits on their retirement income, or allow U. S. citizens to escape federal estate taxes by taking up residence in Puerto Rico.

These are but a few of many provisions contained in three bulky and complex bills revising the revenue laws, making adjustment in the excise tax laws, and setting up special tax relief for small business concerns.

Meanwhile, amid predictions that anything can happen, the House Labor Committee is meeting today in a session that may decide the fate of a labor control legislation at this session of Congress.

Committee Chairman Graham Barden (D-NC) said in advance of the meeting that it would be "wide open."

The committee has two major proposals before it:

1. A general bill for regulation of labor unions passed by the Senate almost two months ago.

2. A somewhat more far-reaching substitute measure backed by some of the committee's Republican members.

Great Lakes Cargoes Dip 34 Million Tons

CLEVELAND (AP)—Shipments on the Great Lakes of iron ore, coal and grain to Aug. 1 totaled 48,324,041 net tons, down from 82,551,110 tons carried in the corresponding period last year.

★ ★ ★

The Lake Carriers' Assn. reported today that only grain shipments showed an increase over the tonnage moved in the 1957 period. Grain cargoes totaled 6,169,786 tons compared to 5,189,496 tons the year before.

★ ★ ★

Coal shipments of 17,790,458 tons were almost 10 million tons below those of last year, and iron ore cargoes of 21,753,390 gross tons were down from 44,523,468 tons moved in the 1957 period.

Fresh Start Foiled, Youth Takes Own Life

Mrs. Sharron Butler said her 16-year-old brother hoped to make a fresh start in school, leaving behind a poor scholastic record at Callaway.

Yesterday, Shannon learned that he would have to transfer his school records to enroll in high school here.

Rocket to Moon Will Tell Story in an Auditorium

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A rocket's own story of its trip toward the moon is scheduled to unfold in an auditorium here.

Informed sources say the Air Force will fire its first rocket at the moon next Sunday from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Once the rocket flashes into space, its scientific devices will, the Air Force hopes, send back information about the historic journey.

Half a dozen stations around the world will start tracking it. They are in Manchester, England; Singapore; India; Hawaii; Florida; and California.

Their raw information will be flashed here by code to be fed into electronic computers and correlated.

The findings will be announced simultaneously in Washington, Cape Canaveral and here.

The tracking hub is in the heart of the Ramo-Wooldridge Corp. complex, where the Air gForce Ballistic Missile Division makes its headquarters.

As soon as progress reports and other data from the rocket are compiled in Ramo-Wooldrige's space technological laboratories, they will be announced in a news headquarters set up in a Ramo-Wooldridge building.

★ ★ ★

The news center—a big auditorium—will be dominated by a lined screen called a Prob-o-graph. On this giant chart, a moving line will disclose the rocket's expected the vicinity of the moon. There will be at least four progress reports a day.

Faulty Valve Floods Part of Ticonderoga

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Repairmen today were cleaning machinery and electrical equipment aboard the attack carrier Ticonderoga, damaged Tuesday when sea water poured into the main engine room.

★ ★ ★

The water entered a valve that had failed to close, flooding the compartment. Crewmen escaped uninjured.

★ ★ ★

The 42,000-ton ship is out of action until repairs are completed. An investigation is being made to determine the extent of damage and cause of the accident.

Sacramento Opens War on Skunk Invasion

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The skunk tally is 13 certain and 3 probables in Sacramento's war between the people and the polecats.

"If we can get 'em at that rate we'll beat 'em," said City Poundmaster George Martin yesterday, the third day of the offensive.

The skunks, estimated at 500, have invaded a residential section in southwestern Sacramento.

Industry Using Infrared Light

Invisible Rays Receive More Civilian Chores

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A light you cannot see is adding today to its big role in the missile age by finding more civilian chores to do for industry.

It discovers an incipient hot box before a railroad train must grind to an annoying and costly halt. This same infrared radiation checks on the internal wear and tear in machinery parts before they break down. Or it detects potential explosion conditions in oil tanks—in time to save lives.

★ ★ ★

Infrared radiation is an invisible part of the electromagnetic spectrum. Your eyes can't pick it up, but everything that has molecular movement (and some awfully solid things do) gives it off.

Science has learned to measure the rays and record the internal heat they reveal.

In World War II the Sniperscope, with an infrared sighting mechanism made by the Radio Corp. of America, let U.S. soldiers look down their rifles and see the whereabouts of enemy soldiers at night while themselves remaining hidden to the naked eye.

Today the Sidewinder, a deadly missile with a guidance system by General Electric, uses infrared to track down an enemy plane. Infrared also goes into the bombsights.

Industry is adapting these military uses for some needs formerly closed to it.

The Servo Corp. of America, New Hyde Park, N. Y., has a Servotherm infrared pyrometer to measure temperatures of objects from a distance. Oil companies can use infrared to check on temperatures in tanks and flow lines. Refineries use infrared devices to make continuous steam analyses in refineries.

Among other companies making infrared devices are Beckman Instruments, Avco Research Laboratories, Perkin-Elmer Corp., Aerojet-General Corp. and Barnes Engineering Co.

Metalworking plants have found infrared a help in testing castings and continuous welds. The atomic industry uses such devices to test materials and their resistance to radiation.

★ ★ ★

The medical profession is trying them out to determine temperature distribution over the human body. And scientists are using infrared cameras to do the same thing in studying plant life.

India Launches Study of Workers' Expenses

NEW DELHI—India has selected 50 industrial centers where family-budget questions will be asked of workers. The object of the queries, which will cover factory workers, miners, and plantation workers, will be to compile a more useful consumer price index.

Institution Obsolete

Orphanage Disappearing From American Scene

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The orphanage is vanishing from the American scene.

National prosperity combined with startling advances in the fields of medicine and psychology have made the lonely secluded institutions obsolete for raising homeless children.

This bright outlook for underprivileged youth is revealed by child care experts of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

They explain that today's trend is toward small clinical type buildings which specialize in caring for emotionally disturbed children, homeless adolescents and juvenile delinquents. Instead of trying to raise these youngsters, their job is to help them learn how to lead a happy life with their own families or in a carefully selected foster home.

Social workers proudly point to the last census statistics which show a dramatic decline in the number of youths in institutions for neglected or dependent children.

In 1933 there were 144,000 boys and girls receiving institutional care. But in 1950 the number had plunged to 95,000. Child care experts believe the next census will show a continued decrease.

One of the principal reasons for this steady reduction is that there are fewer orphans today than ever before, social workers report.

Modern surgery techniques have amazingly lowered the number of mothers who die during child birth. And new drugs have stopped epidemics of once fatal diseases. Because of these medical advances plus a multitude of others, the chances of a child losing both his parents are slim.

Also, extensive research has shown child care workers that the old style regimented orphanages are harmful to a youngster's psychological make-up.

That's why welfare agencies throughout the country are placing as many orphans or neglected children as possible in foster homes. Their emphasis on a child's need to grow up in a family setting has had amazing results.

Latest U. S. Children's Bureau figures show that 105,000 children were being raised in foster homes in 1933. But in 1954 the number had jumped to 175,000, and bureau officials estimate that during the last three years the number has spiraled higher.

New Plastic Resin Bonds Steel Tightly

NEW YORK — One type of new high-temperature adhesive looks like blackish putty. It contains 80 per cent powdered steel and 20 per cent high-temperature plastic resin.

In gluing surfaces together, the adhesive is combined with a small amount of a catalyzing chemical and it reacts quickly to form an ultrapowerful bond.

The adhesive, besides linking itself to the surfaces to which it is applied, binds together the powdered steel in the putty, in effect becoming solid steel that can be drilled or machined.

KENT, O. (UPI) — Big tree moving is not really a modern science at all, according to historians at the Davey Tree Expert Co.

The trees were up to 80 years old and from 30 to 50 feet tall. They were moved on carriages four miles across two rivers to a new home on an island.

Cheshire Is Earliest of British Cheeses

LONDON — Of all Britain's cheeses, by far the most popular is Cheddar, which takes its name rom the village of Cheddar at the foot of the Cheddar Gorge in Somerset. It is still made there, but also in many other parts of the country.

Cheshire is the oldest British cheese to which references can be found. Writers as early as the 12th Century praised it.

The people of Cheshire contend that Cheshire cheese cannot be successfully made outside its native county because the Cheshire soil imparts a high degree of saltiness to the milk of cattle that graze there. Cheshire is made in three varieties: red, white, and blue.

About one-half of the surfaced highways in the United States now have painted dividing stripes running down the middle of the roadbed.

Rivers of Wisconsin Well Below Normal

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Wisconsin's spring drought has cut stream "flows" to 40 to 60 per cent of average this year, the U. S. Geological Survey department reports.

Recordings made of river elevation and correlated to "flow" rates show that southeastern Wisconsin rivers are well below normal. The Milwaukee River has a flow 16 per cent of the recording made at the same time in 1957.

The survey department predicted that if the current rainfall deficiency persists, Wisconsin streams may exceed the record lows of the "dry 1930's."

Turks Favor Tractors

ANKARA — The number of tractors in Turkey increased from 6,281 in 1950 to 43,355 in 1957 and tractor-drawn plows went up from 6,050 to 48,214.

Automatic Furnace Has Seven Controls

NEW YORK — Automatic gas furnaces have six controls besides the room thermostat. They have two different gas-pressure regulators. One controls the pressure of the gas coming into the house from the street main, the other the pressure of the gas going to the furnace.

Then there is the automatic safety pilot. The gas feeding this pilot is automatically shut off if the pilot light goes out.

Another control keeps the air in the furnace from going into the ducts until properly heated. An upper-limit temperature regulator turns off the furnace if for any reason the blower doesn't work and the furnace becomes overheated. Another sentinel answers the call of the room thermostat and sets off the blower.

Firemen Battle Early Evening Blaze in City

FIGHT BLAZE — The front of the McCandless store is obscured by gushing smoke as firemen hose tons of water into the flaming building to halt the spread of the blaze.

SMOKE OVER SAGINAW STREET — Ominous, black clouds of smoke errupting from the McCandless carpet store blaze mushroom over downtown Pontiac to a height of several hundred feet.

Boy Rides Bicycle Into Path of Auto

WASHINGTON — A nine-year-old Washington boy was injured slightly yesterday afternoon when he rode his bicycle into the path of an oncoming car near his home.

Roger F. Leonard, son of Mrs. June Leonard, 56060 Van Dyke Rd., was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, with a bruised back and pelvis. He was treated and later released.

Driver of the car was Philip G. Wood, 27, of 24200 Majestic St., Oak Park. He told Romeo State Police he saw the boy suddenly turn in front of his car from the shoulder on his side of the road. Wood said he applied his brakes and hit Roger just hard enough to knock him off his bike.

U.S. May Not Buy Surplus
Cherry Growers Angry

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Indications that the U.S. Department of Agriculture may not buy cherry surpluses for school lunch programs has drawn criticism from the secretary-manager of the Great Lakes Cherry Producers Marketing Cooperative.

★ ★ ★

Berkley I. Freeman reported that S. R. Smith, director of the Fruit and Vegetable Division of the Agriculture Department indicated to cherry growers that the reduced 1958 harvest could be disposed of in normal domestic channels.

"As growers, we are opposed to agriculture becoming a ward of the government," said Freeman.

"However, when as Americans we find the government spending 80 billion dollars a year and then are denied access to this market because we are not in as much difficulty as some other commodities, this poses an entirely different problem.

"It would seem to us that if the department is to really encourage market stability and self-help for agriculture they must base some of their purchases on a consistent program and not on the fact that a commodity must be in trouble before it merits consideration by government programs."

What's This? Firemen to Burn 6 Homes!

Plan Big Blaze Sunday in Commerce

By STAN BOK
Press Correspondent

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Six houses will be set afire Sunday afternoon on one street in Commerce Township and as many fire departments will be at the scene to see if they can extinguish the blazes.

And it's all legal.

The small frame structures on Woodbury avenue have been condemned. Commerce Township Fire Chief Ray Price has received permission to destroy them while staging a "live" practice drill with neighboring departments.

Working with the State Fire Marshal's office in Redford Price planned the project to enable local fire departments to gain experience in coordinating their efforts.

"This project will serve as a practice session to show the value of close cooperation between local fire departments," Price explained.

In addition to two fire trucks from Commerce Township, one each will come from Walled Lake, White Lake, Waterford, Milford and West Bloomfield townships.

All 32 members of the Commerce department, which includes the volunteers, will be on hand. Teams of six will man fire trucks from surrounding areas.

The other departments will retain certain fire fighting equipment in their areas to answer calls.

Trucks from participating communities will meet at the Commerce Township main fire station in Commerce village at 12:30 p.m. to complete last-minute arrangements.

Present plans call for setting fire to the substandard dwellings and then extinguishing the fire. Later, each structure will be burned to the ground.

Price said that each department will have one house to practice on. Location of the Huron River near the scene of the fires will insure

Fire buffs are welcome, he said.

Seeding of Rye Brings Extended Pasture Season

A seeding of rye can help stretch the pasture season this fall and open it several weeks earlier next spring.

★ ★ ★

Jay Poffenberger, Oakland County agricultural extension agent, says rye is well adapted to light soils for pasture purposes. In the spring when it's wet, cattle won't punch up the soil. The punching and walking can damage the structure of heavier soils.

A seeding of Balbo rye at 1 to 1½ bushels per acre in mid-August will do the trick, Poffenberger says Balbo makes excellent and rapid growth both in the fall and early spring.

Although the rye will provide some grazing this fall, it is recommended that it be grazed lightly. This will keep plants in good shape for an abundance of spring growth.

★ ★ ★

Many farmers also use a fall seeding of rye for green manure purposes. An additional advantage of the seeding is that it provides winter cover for the soil, Poffenberger says.

Warns No Pill H-Bomb Match

Antiradiation Tablets Thought Less Effective Than Makers Believe

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — An American scientist warned today that no antiradiation pill ever will be a match for the H-bomb.

At the same time a French scientist expressed doubt that pills thus far developed are as protective against atomic rays as their makers believe.

Earlier this week Dr. David G. Doherty of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory reported to the International Congress on Radiation Research on a cheap pill which he said could reduce injury from a given amount of radiation by 50 per cent.

Today Dr. Walter Gordy of Duke University cautioned against giving people the "false hope" that they can be immunized against radiations such as would be loosed upon them in all-out hydrogen warfare.

In any event, Gordy said, "they can always make the H-bomb bigger faster than they can make the pill bigger." He said the only good protection against nuclear war is peace.

Dr. Raymond Latarjet of Paris also cautioned against expecting too much from such pills. Doherty had said his Oak Ridge pill would double the dose of radiation a person could take without increasing the damaging effects.

Admits Dragging Wife, but Denies Hitting Her

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — He may have dragged her through a tomato patch, but he didn't hit her.

Police said that's what Robert M. Connelly told them after his wife Maxine, 41, complained. She didn't like it when he made her sleep in the chicken coop for three nights either, she told officers.

Connelly drew a 25-day jail sentence.

Kalamazoo Awaiting Walker From Regina

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Walking John Frye of Fairbanks, Alaska, is expected to stroll into Kalamazoo this weekend from Chicago on his way from Regina, Sask., to the Florida Keys.

★ ★ ★

The 64-year-old native of Saint Moritz, Switzerland, said he plans to visit Ann Arbor, Detroit, Columbus, O., Washington, Norfolk, Va., and Miami Beach on his way to the Keys.

Frye, who once walked 9,000 miles in 410 walking days—"not counting short side trips of 50 or 100 miles," averages 21 miles a day carrying his 40-pound pack.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of the trip is to talk — but Frye is incidentally carrying a letter from the premier of Saskatchewan to the governor of Florida.

MARY CONDON: Play politics for schools, not with them.

Urges Teachers to Play Politics

Mary Condon Believes It's the Only Way to Get Financial Aid

By JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Teachers are going to have to start playing politics if they want to solve the financial problems of American education.

That's the outspoken opinion of Mary Condon, new assistant director of rural services for the National Education Association.

"I'm sick and tired of listening to my fellow educators piously announce that they take no part in politics as if to do so would be unprofessional," she declares.

The plain talking official explains that teachers should never play politics with schools. Bu· she definitely believes in playing politics for them.

"I'm a great believer in getting in there and slugging ot out," she says.

Miss Condon believes teachers should take an active role in picking candidates for public office. "You just can't get around the fact that it's going to cost money to get the kind of education America says it wants," she explains. And since public officials hold the purse strings, Miss Condon thinks teachers are missing a bet by not helping strong school supporters get elected.

Miss Condon's philosophy of spicing education with politics has paid big dividends in some of her personal efforts to help U. S. schools.

When she was state Superintendent of Public Instruction in Montana, she decided something needed to be done to improve educational opportunities for Indians.

Her friendship with three important senators easily enabled her to bring her case before some key congressional committees. The result was that 40 million dollars was made available for public school buildings on or near Indian reservations. The Blackfeet tribe was so grateful that it made her an honorary princess.

Miss Condon's devotion to aiding American education has won her positions on many important national committees. During recent years, she has been consultant to the Council of State Governments and National Manpower Council; delegate to the White House Conference on Education and chairman of the National Advisory Committee on School Savings.

She explains that what she likes to do most is make speeches. "I'm a good public speaker and I like to do it," she explains.

Military Develops Mask for Atomic Protection

WASHINGTON — An "atomic" protective mask without any outside canister has been developed for military use. The one-piece, lightweight mask is said to protect its wearer from radioactive particles and a wide variety of poison gases. Pads of gas-aerosol filter material in pouches on each side of the facepiece replace the conventional canister.

Burglar Was Hungry

The haul from a recent cafe burglary here was 54 hamburger patties, 10 pounds of shrimp, a case of chicken and half a crate of tomatoes.

Hal Boyle Says:

Novelist, 26, May Hit Top With Her 1st Book

NEW YORK (AP)—"Show me a man who won't run away when a girl says, 'I love you,'" remarked Rona Jaffe, "and I'll show you a man who's married to somebody else."

Miss Jaffe, who is pretty, dark-haired and only 26 years old, is being groomed as the literary discovery of the 1958 fall season.

"My ambition is to be a famous novelist—to be No. 1 on the fiction list," she said.

She may make it this year with her first novel, "The Best of Everything," to be published next month. Some 30,000 advance copies already have been sold, and producer Jerry Wald has snapped up the movie rights for $100,000.

Rona, a bright and determined daughter of well-to-do parents, was graduated from Radcliffe at 19. She got a job in a publishing firm, wrote and sold eight short stories in the next few years.

★ ★ ★

Last summer, during a visit to Hollywood, she heard producer Wald say he was looking for "a modern Kitty Foyle."

"Kitty Foyle," by Christopher Morley, was one of the most successful novels ever written about the "pore working girl."

"I decided then and there I'd write it," Rona said. So she came back to Manhattan, quit her job and settled down to write the realistic story not of one, but of five working girls.

"I had been living with my parents," she said. "But I moved into another apartment to be by myself. I wanted to be frank, and knew I couldn't write it under the roof of the sweet, well-meaning people who were going to get the shock of their lives when they found out what their little Frankenstein had written.

"I set myself a goal of five pages every day. I wrote the book in exactly five months and five days plus"—she smiled archly—"plus the suffering of 26 years."

★ ★ ★

Magazine editors read the novel in galley proof, gulped, and decided against serializing it. Their verdict: Too spicy. But producer Wald read only 150 pages, then plunked down his $100,000 gladly. The paperback edition rights sold for twice the advance received by "Peyton Place."

Miss Jaffe, who has been used to the best of everything all her life, plans no big splurge with her money.

"I already have an apartment, a mink jacket and a sports car," she said, nonchalantly, "I think I'll buy stocks and bonds."

She said working girls today have two major problems—loneliness, and the fact their values change so much they find it difficult to find happiness.

"What they really want isn't a career but someone to love who loves them," she says.

"But they get more and more sophisticated, demanding, cynical, and harder to please. They mature. They're looking for something more than the boy next door."

Mayan Calendars Used Four Different 'Years'

WASHINGTON — A report published by the Smithsonian Institution tells of an effort to unscramble the "time mess" of the Mayan civilization.

The Mayas, it points out, had a 260-year century based on a 260-day year, or "tun," the most significant of the four kinds of year recognized by these pre-Columbian New World people.

They also recognized 360-day and 365-day years and a Venus year of 584 days, based on the rotation of the planet Venus around the sun.

And they had a 13-day fortnight and an 18-day month.

Man, 89, to Tape, Preach His Own Funeral Sermon

NORWALK, Ohio (UPI) — Former State Sen. William H. Herner, 89, is all set to preach his own funeral service.

Herner tape-recorded a 20-minute funeral sermon. In it, he preaches for 15 minutes and recites his own poetry for five more.

He decided to preach at his own service, Herner said, because he's "attended quite a few services and never was too impressed with some of the sermons." He limited the service to 20 minutes because "most services are too long."

Warning to Pill Users

VANCOUVER (AP) — A warning against misuse of tranquilizer pills was sounded by Dr. J. B. Tyhurst, head of the University of British Columbia psychiatry department, who recommended instead a glass of sherry for old people, a barbiturate for a student and "a few drinks for people generally."

Contagious Hospital Setup to End

Oakland County will discontinue operating the Contagious Hospital on Telegraph road strictly for contagious patients after the city of Pontiac's lease on the building expires Friday, a county spokesman said today.

A special committee of county supervisors and officials has been named to look into the future use of the hospital situated at 1075 N. Telegraph Rd.

Fred W. Smith, chairman of the committee from Royal Oak, said the county was strongly considering converting the 80-bed facility into a receiving hospital, with possible provisions for a number of contagious cases.

"There aren't enough contagious patients to warrant continuing the hospital solely for this purpose," Smith, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors, said.

Pontiac General Hospital took it over Dec. 1, 1956 to supplement facilities while the present addition was under construction at the main hospital.

The doors of the Contagious Hospital first opened Aug. 12, 1926. It was designed to care for all county patients with communicable contagious diseases which required isolation, with the exception of tuberculosis. These cases are placed in the Tuberculosis Sanitorium.

Until the committee finalizes future plans for the Telegraph road hospital, county contagious patients will be cared for at Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital, Smith said.

Smith's contention that "there aren't enough contagious patients" to continue the hospital just for this purpose, is borne out by figures released by John C. Austin, vice chairman of the county Board of Auditors.

Austin said that there was a daily average of 12 patients in the hospital in the first months of 1956, an average of 18 in 1955, and a daily average of 22 in 1954.

The county spent $144,903 in the first eleven months of 1956, before the hospital was leased to the city of Pontiac, to operate it.

'NOT ECONOMICAL'

"It is just not economical to operate the hospital when there are so few patients," Austin said.

The special committee plans to meet next week sometime, Smith said, to study future uses.

The committee is composed of Smith; Luther Heacock, Mrs. Hope F. Lewis, both of Birmingham; Cyril E. Miller, of Avon Township; and Elmer Kephart, of Bloomfield Hills; all supervisors and chairmen of committees. Also serving on the committee are the members of the Board of Auditors and Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director.

HONORED — Vice-Admiral John M. Will, commander of the Navy's Sea Transportation Service, has been awarded the American Legion Achievement Award in recognition of service during 1957 in continuing betterment of the American Merchant Marine. The award was made by Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy in the Pentagon.

Seek Federal Protection for Ancient Pine Trees

The Methuselahs, bristlecone pine trees up to 4,600 years old, live at high altitudes in the White Mountains of California, east of San Francisco near the Nevada border. Their great age was announced by the National Geographic Society.

The United States Forest Service, which administers the tract as part of the Inyo National Forest, is taking steps toward designating some 30,000 acres as a protected area, closed to mining or lumbering, and guarded from vandals.

Conservationists fear that curiosity seekers might damage the trees in taking souvenirs. The trees are kept safe for the moment by heavy snow in the mountain area. The Forest Service expects to have the tract set aside before the snow melts and travel becomes possible.

Joseph T. Radel, supervisor of the Inyo Forest, has suggested that the tract be dedicated as a memorial to the late Dr. Edmund Schulman, who determined the ages of the trees.

Finding the trees was the culmination of a 20-year search by Dr. Schulman, a dendrochronologist with the Laboratory of Tree-Ring Research and associate professor at the University of Arizona. He worked to learn more about the climate of the prehistoric American West.

It has long been known that tree rings, each representing a year of growth, are wider in wet years than in dry. National Geographic expeditions in the 1920s correlated ring patterns in living trees with those cut down by Indians centuries ago. This "calendar" proved that Pueblo Bonito in New Mexico was built about 800 years before Columbus discovered the New World.

But longer records were needed for research into earlier climatic periods. Scouring the West for old trees, Dr. Schulman and his associates gradually pushed back the tree-ring diary.

During last year's research, a rumor led them to a grove of bristlecones that shattered all age records. Seventeen of the trees, Dr. Schulman wrote, are more than 4,000 years old. One is over 4,600.

These gnarled and shattered trees of the high altitudes deposed the handsome California sequoias of the lowlands as the oldest living things known. The most venerable sequoias, including the famed General Sherman Tree, are about 3,500 years old.

Dr. Schulman did not have to cut down the bristlecones to determine their ages. He used a steel borer, which removed a core about as thick as a lead pencil. The operation did not hurt the trees; resin healed the wounds.

Ike's Heart Specialist Dedicates Bicycle Path

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP)—Dr. Dudley White, 72, cut a blue ribbon yesterday, mounted his bicycle and spryly pedaled seven miles to the opposite end of this island and back again.

Dr. White, heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower, considers bicycling one of the finest kinds of exercises.

The ribbon cutting marked dedication of a short strip of the commonwealth's first state-financed cycle path. About 25 enthusiasts of various ages followed him over the 14-mile route.

Wanda Hendrix on the Rebound After Collapsing

Miss Hendrix was talking to her estranged husband, wealthy sportsman James L. Stack Jr., by long-distance phone yesterday when she apparently went into shock, her physician said. She was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Miss Hendrix's attorney Oscar R. Cummins said she had been trying to see Stack for weeks about their separation. A call was made between Stack and his attorney in Reno, Nev., and Miss Hendrix and Cummins here.

Cummins said the 29-year-old actress asked about a reconciliation, but Stack refused to discuss it.

Miss Hendrix screamed, clenched her fists and slumped in her chair, the attorney said. She was immediately hospitalized.

Her physician said she soon came out of shock and is "progressing very well."

In Reno, Stack's attorney Richard Blakey, said: "It sounds more like a case of bad histrionics than a bad case of hysterics."

Miss Hendrix and Stack, brother of actor Robert Stack, were married in 1954. Her marriage to actor Audie Murphy ended in divorce in 1950.

Given Death Sentence in Detroit Slayings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former Detroit man faces execution in the San Quentin gas chamber for the slaying of his former wife and her second husband.

Judge Lewis Drucker held yesterday that James Merkouris, 42, formerly of Detroit, was sane when the slayings took place.

Earlier a jury found Merkouris guilty of first-degree murder in the December, 1954, shootings of Despine and Robert Forbes and sentenced him to death.

Judge Druckeer set Oct. 10 for hearings of a motion for a new trial.

Boy Tells Sister to Pull Trigger; She Kills Him

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—In that unpredictable small boy manner, 13-year-old Steve Richards handed a loaded .22 rifle to his little sister and told her: "Go ahead—pull the trigger."

★ ★ ★

Eight-year-old Jeanne Richards did.

Steve died almost instantly, shot in the heart.

Police said Steve found the rifle and some ammunition, owned by an elder brother, yesterday. They said he was demonstrating the weapon to his sister and a neighbor, Sharon Pacheco, also 8.

Prisoners Not Taxed, Perhaps Get Refund

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — State and federal officers are investigating a scheme through which six Folsom Prison inmates are reported to have received tax refunds on nonexistent 1957 earnings.

Richard A. McGee, state director of corrections, said at least one of the convicts had been in prison since 1952. Tentative estimates are that the fraudulent refunds totaled $1,600.

The convicts' names were not released.

Warden Robert A. Heinze of Folsom said federal internal revenue agents will check all refunds made to prisoners this year.

The scheme involved filling in a W2 form, used by employers to report earnings and withholding tax, and reporting earnings up to $300.

The phony forms were attached to regular income tax returns and forwarded to the Internal Revenue Service. The refund claims were based on statements that income tax was deducted for the first few months of the year, and the income stopped when the man went to prison, thus entitling the convict to a refund of money taken out for taxes.

Idaho Vote a Gamble Issue Is Gambling

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—State Sen. A. M. Derr, who awnts to legalize gambling in Idaho but says he's not a gambler himself, holds a slim margin for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Unofficial returns from all but 8 of the 898 precincts reporting in Tuesday's primary election give Derr 25,598 votes and his nearest contender, State Sen. Max Hanson of Fairfield, 25,434.

Neither concedes and the winner will not be determined until the official canvass Aug. 23. Even then there may be a recount because it's so close.

The Republican candidate is Gov. Robert E. Smylie. He was unopposed. But he opposes gambling.

Derr said during the campaign that he had been told he was favored to win in betting circles by odds of 6-1. Did he take any of that money?

Bride Wins Annulment After 10 Kissless Days

That was her first night at home as Mrs. Shirley Rainey, the bride told a judge yesterday in winning an annulment.

The marriage lasted 10 days, and was without a kiss, she testified. She is 23. The groom was Robert C. Rainey, 31, a salesman.

AF Space Researcher Also Injured

Training Balloon Crash Hurts Builder

ASHLAND, Wis. (AP) — The crash of a training balloon last night injured the balloon builder and an Air Force researcher who was preparing for a solo flight to test man's reaction to isolation in space. The test was postponed.

Capt. Grover Schock, 32, and Otto C. Winzen, 40, suffered extensive injuries when their open gondola plunged 100 or more feet to the earth after they cut loose from the balloon as it headed out over Lake Superior. They apparently released rather than be blown over the water in darkness. They smashed into a pasture half a mile inland when the parachute on the basket failed to open.

Their fall was witnessed by a police officer, a waiting ambulance crew and two men in a plane sent aloft to follow the balloon.

Mrs. G. E. Terwilliger, on whose farm the crash occurred, said, "There was a terrific thud when the gondola came down 100 yards from our house."

She said the balloon had been flying low, dragging a line that came close enough to grab.

"I saw the balloon pass behind a grove of trees and while it was out of sight I heard a loud report. Then the balloon climbed into the sky without the basket."

When she reached the scene, the open parachute was spread on the ground and Schock and Winzen were being placed in an ambulance.

Schock, a space biology specialist, was cut under the chin from one side of his face to the other. He also suffered back and possible internal injuries. He was in critical condition but showing improvement, according to Capt. George Ruff, an Air Force physician treating him at St. Joseph's Hospital here.

The physician said Schock could not be moved to determine the full extent of his injuries. Assigned to Holloman Air Force Base, N. M., Schock was raised in Galesburg, Ill.

Winzen is president of Winzen Research, Inc., Minneapolis, builder of plastic balloons for experimental purposes. He is in good condition, but suffered two broken ribs, a fractured right arm and back injuries. He will be hospitalized for several weeks.

M. Lee Lewis, former Navy balloonist employed by Winzen, said it was the first accident resulting in injuries during the 12-year history of plastic balloons.

The pair had ascended from St. Paul, Minn., 175 miles southwest of Ashland, yesterday morning. The flight was made so that Winzen could qualify Schock for a stratosphere takeoff.

Schock was scheduled to start his 20-mile-high flight tomorrow morning from an open pit mine near Crosby, Minn.

★ ★ ★

An Air Force officer said in Minneapolis that the flight had been postponed indefinitely, but will be carried out at some future date with a replacement for Schock if the officer is not able to make it.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The emergency session of the U.N. indicates the world's statesmen have had a scare.

"Sober" was the word used more than any other here to describe yesterday's opening session on the Arab East. All fully appreciated the gravity of the crisis and the possible consequences from it.

The emergency session now boils down to a three-way contest over the future of Arab nationalism.

The United States is hopeful that this force — President Eisenhower called it "a great surge" — can be persuaded to provide the energy for a stable community of Arab nations. To this end, the United States has pledged support to whatever feasible economic goals the Arabs may feel suit their needs.

The Soviet Union, moving cautiously in a dangerous situation, says it too is in favor of economic betterment of a long-neglected, backward area. But many of its policies have left little doubt that communism would prefer to keep the area in ferment and off balance.

The third contestant is Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. He cannot yet be absolved of the suspicion that he sees Cairo — and himself — as the eventual master of an enormous strategic slice of the world.

Nasser's chief source of ammunition is the force of Arab nationalism. Up to now he has been the only champion it has had to cling to. It provides him with his slogans, generates great emotional force for him. For many Arab nationalists there has been nowhere to look but to Cairo.

The U.S. President has made a gesture to that nationalist feeling. It was a hesitant, groping gesture, acknowledging the common Arab memory of past glory and the common yearning for future self-respect. To back it up, the United States offered to support an economic program offering bright prospects for the area.

General reaction to the President's proposals was favorable, sometimes cautiously favorable, except among the Arabs themselves. And the United States purpose was not to impress the rest of the world, but to impress the Arabs.

Comment in Cairo was brusque and defensively hostile. Nasser still was using the Soviets as a potential bludgeon against the West. But in private, Arabs at the U.N., including U.A.R. representatives, indicated they were watching and waiting for developments. Apparently they want something more.

The Arabs are aware of the meaning of the fateful contest. A key question is whether the area someday will come under Soviet economic or political domination.

It would be difficult to find a bona fide Arab nationalist leader who wants to see Soviet influence make significant gains. Even Nasser, for all his propaganda and his continued flirtation with Moscow, continues to fear the Communists.

President Eisenhower now has reached for a safety valve. He has made a start toward relieving the dangerous pressure. What remains now is for the United States to build a climate of confidence in American intentions. Even before economic aid, the Arabs need this psychological aid. If that climate can be created, the Communists will have suffered an important defeat.

Support Seen for Ike's Plan

Solon Urges President to Follow Through on Mideast Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said today President Eisenhower will have overwhelming congressional support for any immediate and bold steps to carry out his six-point Middle East program.

Mansfield, assistant majority leader of the Senate, said the President should follow through on his address yesterday to the United Nations General Assembly "with hard and fast proposals to implement each of his suggestions."

The senator, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview: "The President is on the right track and the peoples of the world will applaud our support of expanded U. N. police forces to keep the peace, multilateral aid for economic development and technical assistance and all the rest.

"Resolutions should be pressed immediately in the United Nations for approval of the program in concrete form. If any of them need congressional implementation, I am sure the President can count on overwhelming support from Democrats and Republicans alike."

If this is done, Mansfield said, the pressure from peoples all over the world will be felt by the Soviet Union.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), a critic of Eisenhower Middle East policy in the past, said he was "proud to be an American in the light of the speech before the General Assembly."

"The President," Morse told the Senate, "laid down a program that will stand to the everlasting credit of our foreign policy."

He too called for concrete steps to push it through the U.N.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), another frequent critic of the administration, called Eisenhower's proposals a program "for our own government, the United Nations, and, I might say, for Congress, and I personally support it."

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) led the Republican rooters. He called Eisenhower's presentation one of the greatest speeches he ever had heard.

★ ★ ★

In the House too, Eisenhower's Mideast proposals drew bipartisan support. Among those praising it were Representatives John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) and Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis). Vorys is a senior Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Say Death Accidental

DETROIT (AP) — Authorities said today the death of a man found lying in the hull of a ship in River Rouge was accidental. Dr. Robert S. Sileiry, chief deputy Wayne County medical examiner, said Arnold Endicott, 27, of Lincoln Park, was electrocuted while using an electric torch. Endicott was working on a ship at the Great Lakes Engineering Works.

Juliana to Leave Throne to Beatrix

THE HAGUE, Holland (NEA)—It may be only a matter of months now before Queen Juliana of the Netherlands abdicates in favor of her eldest daughter, 20-year-old Princess Beatrix.

If the rumors have it, she steps down from the throne she has held since 1948, it will be for two reasons:

1. She has never really enjoyed the job of "queening." Her ideal is a quiet, uneventful life with her family.

2. She believes the recent rift between herself and her prince consort, Bernhard, has undermined the authority of the House of Orange.

After a bleak childhood, dominated by her stern mother, Queen Wilhelmina, Juliana was crowned Queen of the Netherlands as a kind of consolation for a tragedy.

She had been a heavy, dour girl of 23 when she met the dashing, impoverished German princeling, Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfeld. His charm, breeding and glamour had made him the "Carnation Prince" of Europe's blue-blood drawing rooms. He was something new for Juliana.

They were married in 1936 and she began to change. She lost 25 pounds, took a startling interest in latest fashions under the guidance of Bernhard and took on a happy look for the first time in her life.

TRAGEDY STRIKES

She was pregnant when she suffered an attack of German measles. The doctors warned her that the unborn child had probably suffered the consequences of the disease. Juliana disregarded their advice. The baby was born—Princess Marijke — almost totally blind.

★ ★ ★

Juliana's despair was tragic. In an endeavor to comfort her and provide her with a new goal in life, Queen Wilhelmina abdicated in favor of her daughter.

Now the palace had new rulers and a new guest: a Rasputin in petticoats, Greete Hoffman, who claimed she could cure the blind infant with magical powers.

Every other means had failed, it seemed. But the child grew no better under the witch's powers. Prince Consort Bernhard did not trust her but could not make Juliana drive her from the palace.

The rift between the royal couple widened. Bernhard went off to explore Africa, piloted his own jet plane, or drove fast racing cars.

From time to time he would visit the palace to see his daughters. And meanwhile his wife was again the dour, heavy woman she had once been.

Two years ago, however, Bernhard came back to the palace a different man. He sent the witch and her followers packing. And he brought in new medical authorities.

A few months later both parents were astounded to see young Marijke riding her bicycle around the lawn. While her eyesight has never been completely restored, she is now able to live a normal life as a school girl.

Now, for Juliana and Bernhard there is another chance to save their marriage — but only, the Queen believes, by her becoming a wife again.

Western Strike Hits Truck Drivers Here

DETROIT (UPI)— Some Michigan truck drivers and freight handlers may be laid off because of a Teamsters Union strike and employers' lockout in 11 western states, trucking officials say.

The trucking officials said the strike-lockout has halted shipment of about 600 truckloads of cargo a day to the western states from the Detroit area alone.

About 60 Detroit area trucking firms which handle freight shipments to Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and California have advised their drivers not to accept cargo destined for the embargoed area.

"I would say more than 90 per cent of the motor freight between here and the affected territory will be stopped, even though they are letting government shipments through," said Carl S. Holecheck, vice president of the Motor Carriers Central Freight Association.

"With no other cargo allowed, it will be too expensive to handle only government shipments."

Students Still Seeking U.S. Merchant Ships

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—A group of Suffolk high school students wrote the Norfolk Propeller Club they would like to drive the 20 miles to Norfolk to visit an American merchant ship. They were writing essays on "The American Merchant Marine and its Importance to the National Economy."

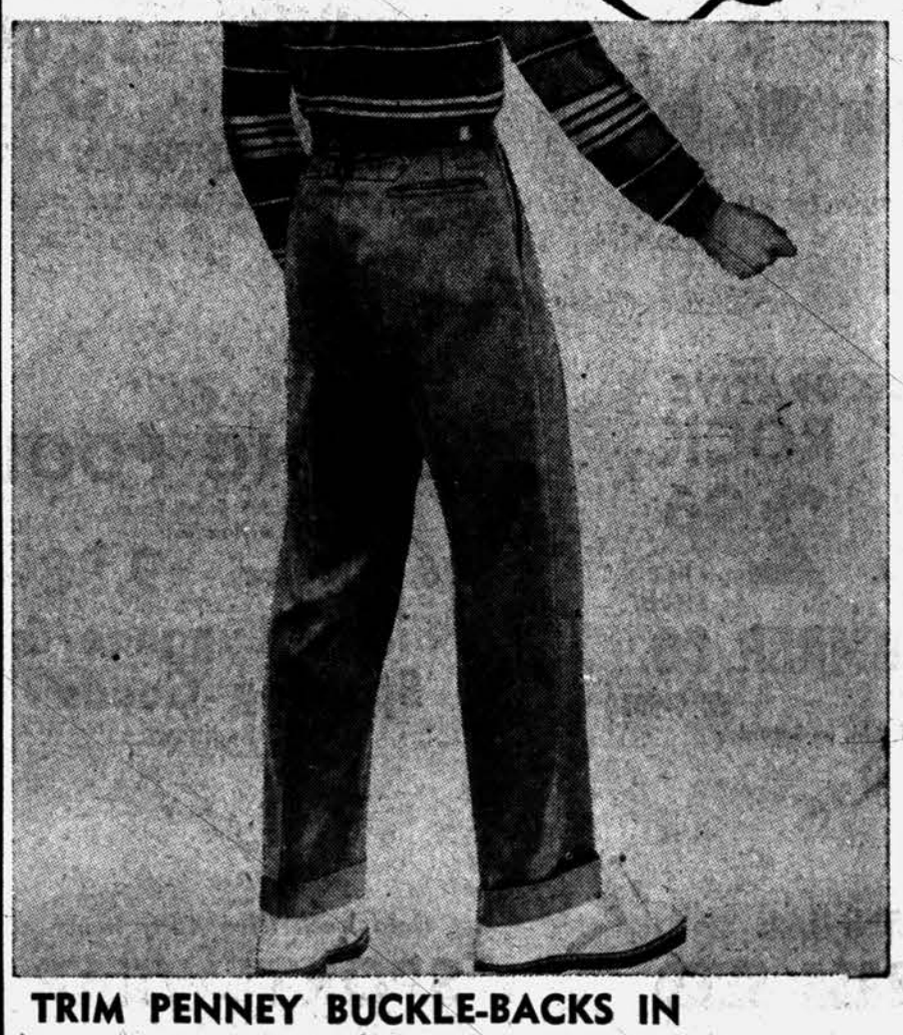

Propeller Club members escorted them to the waterfront on busy Hampton roads. There were plenty of ships in port but all merchant ships were foreign.

Major Demand in U.N. Middle East Address

Gromyko Calls for Troop Withdrawal

IN ANSWER TO IKE — Here are studies of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko during his address before emergency session of the U. N. General Assembly Wednesday afternoon. After President Eisenhower's speech, Gromyko replied with a slashing attack on the U. S. and Britain, charging they were chief cause of unrest in the Middle East. AP Wirephoto

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Following are textual excerpts from the speech Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko made to the U.N. General Assembly Wednesday.

The calling of the present emergency special session . . . became necessary as a result of the armed intervention undertaken by the United States of America against Lebanon and by the United Kingdom against Jordan . . .

In order to justify this armed intervention, a legend was launched regarding indirect aggression which allegedly threatens Jordan and Lebanon from all sides — from the east, from the south, from the north, from everywhere except the west, that is to say, from where the armed forces of the aggressors, in fact, came to Lebanon and Jordan.

This allegation of indirect aggression is merely a propaganda slogan by which the governments of the United States and the United Kingdom would like to cover up the direct aggression which they themselves undertook in the near east. . .

Oil, oil and oil again — that was the thing that was tempting the monopolies of the United States and the United Kingdom in the Arab East, and that is what prompts them to undertake continuous military adventures in this area . . .

One can say that the military occupation of Lebanon is an example of the implementation of the Eisenhower doctrine . . .

Today, when the last bastion of imperialism is crumbling — I speak of the Baghdad Pact, a name which today sounds like an anachronism — the leaders of the United Kingdom and the United States have embarked upon the course of dangerous military adventures.

Soldiers, tanks, bombers — these are the means by which they wish to settle the situation in the Near and Middle East. We must also add the atomic weapon with which the secretary of defense has publicly threatened the Arab states . . .

Focal Point of Military Danger

The Soviet Union cannot remain indifferent to the fact that in the immediate neighborhood of its frontier there is a focal point of military danger . . . it would be a grave mistake if member states of the United Nations would allow themselves to be lulled to sleep by statements to the effect that the military intervention of the United States and the United Kingdom is limited to two small countries, Lebanon and Jordan, and that it was not going further for the time being.

As long as there are United States soldiers on Lebanese soil and British soldiers on Jordanian soil, the danger of the aggravation of the military conflict remains . . .

To the optimists and sceptics who deny the danger . . . I will only say this: You strangely resemble those statesmen of western Europe on the eve of the second World War who, even when the smell of powder was in the air, reassured themselves and calmed others by saying: There is no reason to be alarmed . . .

In carrying out their aggressive actions in this region, the governments of the United States and the United Kingdom seek to drag into them in one form or another a number of other states, especially the members of the North Atlantic Treaty, thus turning them into their accomplices. The territories of the federal republic of Germany, Italy and Turkey are being used in order to transport American troops to Lebanon. The island of Cyprus, the population of which has for years been engaged in a struggle for liberation from foreign domination, is being used as a base for armed forces being shipped to Jordan. The air space of Israel was used on a large scale for the transport of British troops . . .

It is clear that playing the role of porters for the colonial ventures of the United States and the United Kingdom cannot be regarded as being in accord with the national interests either of Wstern Germany, Italy or Turkey . . .

The Soviet Union sincerely wishes to maintain good relations with Turkey . . . It warns the government of Turkey of the dangers which are implicit in Turkey's present support of the current actions of thhe United States and the United Kingdom in the Near and Middle East . . .

"Armed American and British intervention in Lebanon and Jordan was undertaken at a time when preparations for a Summit meeting, proposed by the Soviet Union, were under way for the purpose of putting an end to the cold war and the armaments race, and just when the Soviet Union had adopted a historic decision to discontinue the testing of hydrogen and atom weapons.

The question arises whether the leaders of the United Kingdom and the United States did not calculate that one of the results of their actions in respect of Lebanon and Jordan would be to frustrate that turnabout in the direction of improving the international situation which had become marked and which displeased them. Now when the armed incursion of the United States and United Kingdom in the Middle East has placed the United States in a parlous and dangerous situation, it is particularly clear how necessary it is to put an end to the doomed and sinister policy of positions of strength and to approach the solution of international problems rather from positions of reason.

Urges Agreement on Nonintervention

A big step forward along this path would be to achieve an agreement among the great powers for nonintervention in the internal affairs of the countries of the Near and Middle East and strict respect for their sovereignty and territorial integrity. Such a special agreement has long been advocated by the Soviet Union. Not only would it meet the needs of the maintenance of universal peace — which, of course, is the most important consideration—but in addition it seems to us it would be useful from the point of view of the interests of the western powers, since it would constitute one of the essential elements for the creation of stable political and economic relationships between the western powers on the one hand, and the countries of that region on the other.

"As early as February 1957 . . . the Soviet government proposed an agreement pursuant to which the governments of the great powers would assume specific obligations in respect of the securing of a lasting peace in the Near and Middle East.

"The peoples of the Arab countries are demanding indignantly that foreign troops be withdrawn, as is also indicated by the recently elected president of Lebanon, who announced that the from Lebanon is the main task in the national policy of his country.

"We have heard talk to the effect that foreign troops must be kept in the Near and Middle East until, as some put it, "order has been restored there, until the situation has been stabilized."

There is hardly any need to speak in detail of the dangers implicit in the policy to which some are trying to push the United Nations, for if any state or group of states arrogates unto itself the right to impose such order as it pleases in other countries, then in international affairs no place place would be left for law or right.

"I am not even referring to the well known intention of the government of the United States as a token gesture to withdraw one battalion of its occupation troops from Lebanon. Is there any need to argue that these theatrical stratagems have nothing in common with actual measures to restore the independence of Arab countries which have been subjected to occupation?

They ship into the territories of other countries dozens of battalions in order then to withdraw one battalion with pomp and circumstance, and then they strive to argue that this is a reassuring development in international relations.

"One cannot ignore one other tactic which has been frequently resorted to recently. Seeking to divert the attention of public opinion from the concentration of armed forces of the United States and United Kingdom, the official spokesmen of these two powers make increasingly frequent resort to statements to the effect that they are eager to contribute to the economic development of the countries of the Near and Middle East. This is what we heard, for example, in today's speech of the President of the United States of America, Mr. Eisenhower.

"Extending assistance to the economic development of the countries is surely something that is good. The Soviet Union has always favored the extending of such assistance without any political or military strings attached, and it actually builds its relations with other countries, including the countries of the Near and Middle East, on the foundation of the full equality of the rights of all parties in mutual benefit.

Troop Withdrawal Is First Issue

The considerations on questions of economic assistance set forth by the President require careful and suitable consideration; but I submit that, first of all, the chief question must be solved, and that is the question of the immediate withdrawal of foreign troops.

In these circumstances the Soviet government deemed it its duty to present the question to the General Assembly for its consideration in the emergency session.

It is doing that, however, not for the purpose of worsening relations between our country and the United States and the United Kingdom or doing any harm to the prestige of the United States and the United Kingdom. It is not our intention in any way to worsen relations between these two powers and the countries of the Arab East either.

In submitting (A) draft resolution, the Soviet delegation wishes to express confidence that the General Assembly will examine it with suitable attention and with a proper sense of responsibility. I think we are not far from wrong if we say that the overwhelming majority of states represented in the United Nations are in favor of the withdrawal of foreign troops from the Near and Middle East.

Many of those who participate in the session of the General Assembly are engaged in the search for a suitable formula through which the demands for the withdrawl of American and British troops could be clothed. It seems to us that a suitable formula is contained in the draft resolution of the Soviet Union.

This does not mean that we refuse to help in the search for a mutually acceptable formula worked out with due consideration of the views of other delegations, if it meets the main purpose — the withdrawal of foreign troops from Lebanon and Jordan.

Even today, if you please — I repeat, even today — we are prepared to enter into official or unofficial consultations, any sort of consultations, with any delegations, concerning the preparation of such a constructive decision which could be adopted by the General Assembly in the interests of peace.

The Soviet Union, like other peace-loving states, will continue to do everything in its power in order consistently to champion and defend the cause of peace. This resolute decision found clear expression in the recent Soviet-Chinese communique concerning the meeting between the chairman of the Coucil of Ministers of the U.S.S.R., Nikita Khrushchev, and the chairman of the Chinese People's Republic, Mao Tze-Tung.

This is what guides the delegation of the Soviet Union in the current session of the General Assembly. This session can serve the cause of peace well if we are filled with the feeling of profound responsibility for the outcome of its work.

Nationalists Down at Least 2 Red Jets

TAIPEI (UPI) — The Chinese Nationalists, scoring their first air victory in more than two years, shot down at least two and probably three Russian-made MIGs over the Formosa Strait today, it was announced here.

A Nationalist jet did not return from the dogfight 14 miles south of the Matsu Islands, officially because it was crippled by "engine failure." Search craft found no trace of the missing jet.

An air force spokesman said crewmen of a U.S. destroyer escort saw "at least two" Red jets crash in flames. A third MIG was "missing from its flight formation" when it returned to the Red-held mainland, the spokesman said.

Authoritative Chinese sources said flatly that three Communist planes were destroyed in the dogfight, but the spokesman could not confirm the third kill.

Colorado is known as the Centennial State because it was admitted to the Union in 1876, just an even 100 years after the United States Declaration of Independence.

Grain Shipments Up; Ore Hits 3-Year Low

CLEVELAND—Grain shipments on the Great Lakes in November totaled 1,828,948 net tons, a three-year high, according to the Lake Carriers' Association. Iron-ore shipments for the month totaled 4,066,257 gross tons, a three-year low and less than half of the November, 1956, tonnage. However, ore shipments to December 1 totaled 84,595,236 tons, the fifth highest to that date in history.

To Cover Nazi Grounds

NUERNBERG (UPI)—Nazy Germany's biggest and bleakest monument, deserted for nearly 20 years, is coming back to life as a giant housing project.

The Nazy party grounds, where hundreds of thousands of Hitler's brownshirts marched during the 1930s, has been empty since the start of World War II in 1939.

Since 1945, successive city governments have been wondering what to do with it. The Nazis built in such heroic proportions, that razing or alteration meant major budget outlays.

Work has now begun on a housing project, with parks, a lake, shops, and apartments for 40,000 persons. But before the buildings can go up, much of Hitler's architecture must come down.

The 11 pseudo-classical stone towers around the giant assembly field, some of them more than 100 feet high, must be blown up at a cost of half a million dollars. The acres of paved ground that once thundered with goose-stepping boots will be broken up in patches to make room for trees.

The pit excavated for the "German Stadium" that was never built filled with rubble and muddy water since the war, will be cleaned out and made into a lake. The mountains of rubble surrounding it will be covered with top soil and smoothed into a park.

Hitler's Speakers' Tribune and the surrounding stands, scene of American G. I. baseball for the past 13 years, will remain as a city athletic field to be shared by the Army.

The toughest problem of the postwar planners as the Nazi Congress Hall, a structure that was to hold 120,000 party members for indoor meetings. Designed along the lines and spaciousness of the Roman coliseum, the hall was only two-thirds completed when the war began.

To tear down the hall would have taken most of the housing project funds. To leave it, vacant and gloomy, in the midst of the new residential area would discourage tenants.

A solution was found with the formation of the Corporation of Sportsmen and Industrialists to complete the walls and use the hall as a stadium. The Nazis left the construction material at hand.

Thousands of huge stone blocks, cut to fit the building plans and carefully numbered, lie piled or scattered along the roads leading to the party area. Some have been covered with dirt and planted with grass, since other removal solutions would have cost too much. They probably will be dug ou again.

REPUTATION RESTORED

The housing project will put an end to one of Nuernberg's biggest law-enforcement headaches. Since the early occupation days, residents of suburban Nuernberg have been afraid to go near the party grounds at night. There have been two murders and innumerable robberies there.

The Valka Refugee Camp, scene of several displaced persons riots, occupied part of the the overgrown stone towers and weedy piles of rubble as meeting places.

The project also represents Nuernberg's efforts to erase the bad name Hitler gave it. He chose the city for his party meetings in 1929 because of the old Germanic legends connected with its past, which the Nazis were fond of borrowing for their own propaganda.

Nuernberg, after the war, was associated with the Nazi leaders tried by the International War Crimes Tribunal.

The housing project will be a contribution to its new reputation as a city with model social and welfare plans. Despite opposition because of the notoriety of its name, Nuernberg was chosen to represent West Germany at the Brussels World's Fair as an example of city planning and services.

About 72 per cent of U.S. movie theaters are in cities of 50,000 or more.

Death Foils Plan to Blow Up Village

CREMONA, Italy (UPI)—Police believe the sudden death of 75-year-old Cesare Pellegrini may have averted a major disaster in the small village of Castelponzone.

Pellegrini often had threatened to wipe the small village off the map, but neighbors merely laughed off the threat.

After his death of a heart attack yesterday, police searched his small hut. They found two iron tubes loaded with high explosive ready for immediate use, fuses and all.

Record for Longevity?

LISIEUX, France (UPI) — Mrs. Marie Langlois died yesterday at the age of 107 — possibly a longevity record in modern-day France.

Mrs. Langlois, who was born March 7, 1851, lost her first husband in the Franco-Russian war of 1870. She remarried and eventually had 3 children, 14 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren and 40 great-great-grandchildren.

Rhine Problem, Too

DUESSELDORF, Germany (UPI) — Drunken driving is a problem even on the Rhine River. At least two barge accidents last year stemmed directly from "drunken driving," the annual report of the river police said yesterday.

Disney Cartoons Strike TV Critic as Being Thin

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — Views and reviews:

I watched repeats of four Walt Disney cartoons — "Casey At the Bat," "Casey Jones," "Johnny Appleseed," "Martins and the Coys" — on ABC TV's "Disneyland" and I was struck by their thinness.

It seems to me there has been a gradual hardening of the arteries going on at the Disney studios since about the time of "Snow White."

Disney's products in recent years — however admirable they may be technically — have an air of mechanical slickness, a formula-strapped sense of fun that adheres too closely to what have become Walt Disney cliches.

There has been very little art evident in the recent Disney product — including his cloying, kittenish series of nature films — only a fast buck assembly line product that walks a dreary tightrope between monotony and mush.

Change Milk Ordinance

DETROIT (AP) — The City Council has approved an ordinance change requiring that dates of the month be substituted for days of the week in dating milk cartons. The change was made, sponsors said, to remove any question as to when milk could no longer be sold as fresh. The regulation becomes effective Sept. 8.

Hollywood Fireman Lived Like the Stars

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fireman Curtis R. Clawson was no Hollywood star, police said, but he certainly lived like one.

★ ★ ★

Drinking Lana Turner's liquor.

Clawson, 45, was booked on suspicion of stealing more than $1,700 worth of property from stars' dressing rooms at Universal-International Studio, where he was stationed.

Ike Angered by Pentagon?

Senator Says President in Rage Over Study of Surrender Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I've never seen the President so mad. He turned everything upside down in the Pentagon getting to the bottom of it."

That is how a senator describes President Eisenhower's reaction on learning of reports that defense officials are studying the possibility of a U.S. surrender in a nuclear war.

The senator refused use of his name, saying Eisenhower and Defence Department officials had urged secrecy on the matter.

There was no immediate comment from the White House or the Pentagon.

In relating the story last night, the senator said Secretary of Defence McElroy and other Pentagon leaders had assured the President "there is no thought or plan for surrender and the studies were only theoretical."

The directive for the surrender study, the senator said, was made by John B. Macauley, deputy assistant defense secretary for research and engineering.

It was described as part of an over-all study of all possibilities of a war between the United States and the Soviet Union, including conditions under which either side might be forced to surrender.

Eisenhower, however, flared at the suggestion that U.S. officials were even considering the possibility of a surrender, much less making a study, the senate informant said.

"The President was horrified," the senator said.

Eisenhower is reported to have first heard of the study from Senate Republican leaders at a White House conference last Tuesday.

They were said to have called attention to an insert made in the Congressional Record Aug. 8 by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), noting an article in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch by its military writer, retired Army Brig. Gen. Thomas Phillips.

The story said a study was under way as to when this country should surrender in an all-out nuclear war.

Symington, a former secretary of the Air Force, used excerpts from the article to renew his criticism of administration military policy.

Symington's action attracted no Senate attention at the time. But he told a reporter last night he heard the President was upset. Symington added he had written to McElroy asking Pentagon comment.

Expect Millionth Vehicle to Cross Bridge Sunday

MACKINAC BRIDGE (AP) — On the basis of the current traffic pace the one-millionth vehicle to cross the Straits of Mackinac Bridge will do so at 5:17 p.m. Sunday.

This prediction, or calculated guess, comes from the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

The bridge authority needs to know. It's lining up things for the big event. The driver of the one-millionth vehicle is to get a citation from the State of Michigan and a bridge photograph and plaque from the authority. Merchants gifts also will be pressed upon him.

For the first 12 days of August, 944,572 cars and trucks went over the bridge.

Population Doubled

WASHINGTON — Mexico's population has doubled in three decades to reach more than 30 million. Only the United States and Brazil have larger populations in the western hemisphere.

All-Time High Set in July

Personal Income Rises

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government says Americans' personal income rose to an all-time high last month, part of the increase ironically came from jobless pay benefits.

An official report yesterday said personal income last month was running at a seasonally adjusted rate of $358,900,000,000.

The former record was $352,100,000,000 in August of last year. After that, personal income started dropping and in February touched a recession low of $346,400,000,000. Since then there has been a steady overall rebound.

Included in the latest rise were jobless benefits which mounted as 20 states granted temporary extensions of payments to the long-term unemployed.

Wages and salaries, a key economic indicator, advanced for the third straight month but still fell short of pre-recession marks.

Retroactive salary increases to federal employes, plus social security, also helped push personal income to its new record high.

Farm income fell 200 million dollars to a July level of $16,700,000,000, according to the federal report.

Personal income also includes rents, interest, dividends and unincorporated business income. Its recent rise has bolstered consumer buying power and has figured heavily in economists' expectations that business will substantially improve in the next few months.

Not including the retroactive government payments, the personal income rate last month was $354,500,000,000, some $2,500,000,000 higher than in June.

Economists said this figure is the one which should be used for realistic comparisons.

Experience With Barefoot Gang Shakes Police

Catching them was fairly easy. But then the police station was turned into a fun house.

"Oh boy, just like on television," one of the suspects crowed when told they were going to be fingerprinted.

He picked up an ink roller and ran it up and down an accomplice's face.

Gang members dashed around the detective division, opening drawers and fingering papers. Meanwhile, they chattered about their exploits.

One is four years old, two seven, one eight and the girl is 12.

Investigators say they broke into a warehouse, committed numerous petty thefts, stole bicycles and dropped them off bridges into a river and committed hundreds of dollars in malicious destructions.

They were turned over to their parents momentarily. Police said petitions may be filed to make some of the youngsters wards of the Probate Court.

Jackson Boy Tops in Fisher Contest

FLINT (AP) — A Jackson boy, James Sampson, will be going to college on a $5,000 scholarship as a result of his craftman's talent.

James was one of the three Michigan winners named last night in the $39,000 college scholarship car model contest of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild.

The $5,000 scholarship to the Jackson youth was top prize in the senior division. The next best prize in the division was a $4,000 scholarship, won by Terry Henline of Lincoln, Neb.

4,800 Pieces of Mail Found in Carrier's Car

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Richard A. Conrad, a former substitute mail carrier, was arrested last February when postal inspectors found 4,800 pieces of mail dating back to October 1957 in his car.

★ ★ ★

Conrad pleaded guilty yesterday to delaying the mail. He was fined $400 and placed on three years' probation.

★ ★ ★

U. S. Dist. Judge Wallace S. Gourley stipulated that Conrad stay away from alcoholic beverages during the probationary period.

IN LOW GEAR — Getting the pony was easy, but finding proper harness and cart was a horse of another color for Kathy White, of Lowell, Ohio. Kathy finally came up with this hitch, which worked all right until the tub hit bumpy ground.

Acquits Duncan on 2nd Charge

Jury Finds Ex-Mayor of Rouge Innocent in Bribe Conspiracy Case

DETROIT (AP) — Former Mayor M. Warren Duncan of River Rouge, defendant in graft grand jury indictments, stands freed of another charge.

A jury in Wayne County Circuit Court yesterday acquitted Duncan, 56, of a bribe conspiracy charge that he traded his vote as a city councilman for $2,000 on a city purchase.

The jury of 11 women and one man deliberated four hours at the end of a trial that lasted three and a half weeks.

Duncan, six-time mayor of the downriver community, wept at the verdict. He called it "the end of a terrible nightmare" and said he was the "most grateful man in the world."

The one-man grand jury of Circuit Judge Theodore H. Bohn accused Duncan of selling his vote in the city's purchase of a $23,240 lifting crane. Judge Bohn's grand jury has probed alleged corruption in local government.

Last November Duncan was acquitted of an extortion charge in connection with a $25,000 city paving contract. He faces retrial on a bribe charge in the same case. The jury was hung up on that charge.

In the case just ended the state failed to prove its allegation that Duncan got an envelope containing $2,000 in bribe money from a representative of the company from which the city bought the crane.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sam's Honolulu Moon, a tavern, was damaged by smoke and water. The fire broke out in the basement while G. W. Gilmer, a fire prevention inspector, was making a routine safety check in a back room.

Upper Broadway Cook Bakes Pizza in Window

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — You just have to like the John Foster Dulles impersonation at the Copacabana. "Now our interpretation of John Foster Dulles arriving at the Washington airport," says Comedian Mitch De Wood—and his partner, Marty Allen, runs in breathlessly, waves, and shouts, "'Bye!" . . . Have you noticed how the country's gone pizza-punchy? The B.W. found a spot on upper B'way where a cook makes pizza in the window instead of flapjacks as in the long ago.

After the Baseball Old Timers—including Ty Cobb—had a party at his saloon, Toots Shor groaned, "Those old timers made an old-timer out of me" . . . Gradually the idea's fading: that beauty winners can't do much else.

Lovely Louise O'Brien of Tulsa, who was "Miss Oklahoma" and one of the runners-up in the '51 "Miss America" contest, is now singing daily on the Arthur Godfrey CBS daytime TV show . . . Taffy Tuttle was sure surprised when she visited California. She'd always thought the Hollywood Bowl was a bowling alley.

Backstage on T.V.: What's what with "Sgt. Bilko"?—I asked Phil Silvers, resuming his fourth season filming "Sgt. Bilko," if he was a little bored with it—actors usually get that way— and Phil replied:

"I don't want to get sage about it but I'd like to pass on some things I've learned to some other people." ... ...

So you may see Phil getting into the directing and producing end before long. Although he's still keenly interested in his own great success with the Army show, to the extent that he's put Keefe Brasselle in with him as another sergeant.

WANT'S BING'S SONS

And then you've heard the report that he's trying to grab off Bing Crosby's sons to be members of the platoon.

"I wouldn't exploit them," said Phil. "They know I wouldn't. I've known them for a long time. Gary is almost as glib as his dad right now. He can't sing as well, yet, of course."

They wouldn't be known as "Crosby" on the show, but would be actor-type soldiers.

"What about that new one that was just born the other day?" I asked Phil.

British Bank Rate Dips to 4½ Per Cent

LONDON (AP) — The British bank rate was reduced today from 5 to 4½ per cent.

★ ★ ★

The reduction, fourth in five months, will mean cheaper loans and free circulation of money in Britain. It is a further sign of confidence on the part of the Conservative government that it has inflation under control and that Britain's hard currency reserves are in good shape.

The new rate is the lowest since February 1955 and compares with a rate of 7 per cent imposed last September when inflationary pressures were at their peak.

The bank rate is set by the government-controlled Bank of England and represents the interest the bank charges on money it makes available to other financial institutions. Since the Bank of England is the keystone of the sterling bloc's banking system, changes in the rate carry over to other sterling banks. Reducing the rate makes money cheaper to borrow all along the line and is a spur to business activity.

Allan Jones Permitted to Cut Down Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Superior Court has ordered singer Allan Jones' $1,500 monthly alimony payments reduced $500.

Storm 'Becky' Threatens Rain, but Little Wind

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Still lacking hurricane force, tropical storm Becky today threatened Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands with rain but little wind. The storm watch was canceled.

In the Weather Bureau's latest advisory, Becky was about 280 miles north-northeast of San Juan, P.R., and about 1,200 miles east-southeast of Miami.

The storm was moving west-northwest at about 20 m.p.h. Highest winds were estimated at 60 m.p.h.

"We are not regarding it at the moment as any great threat to Florida or any other land areas," said chief forecaster Gordon Dunn of the Miami Weather Bureau.

The advisory said little change was expected during the next 12 hours in size or intensity. Movement should continue toward the west-northwest at 20 m.p.h.

Consumption of Fats Shows Gain in U. S.

WASHINGTON — An analysis of an Agriculture Department household food survey indicates that Americans are consuming more fats than at the time of similar surveys in 1936 and 1948.

The analysis indicates that if all the fats entering the kitchens of American households were eaten, average daily per capita consumption of fats would total nearly 1,400 calories. The increase has resulted from greater consumption of meat, poultry, and fish.

FILLED HAMBURGERS — An easy-to-make outdoor treat is filled hamburgers. These new recipes featuring hamburger, the old reliable, are easy for the outdoor chef to slap together. They offer interesting combinations of mustard, cheese, and pickle. Dad will make a hit when he sets a platter of these before his family and guests.

Special Care Needed to Keep Cold Cuts

Cold cut time is here again and smart homemakers will want to keep the easily served meats on hand for luncheon, snack-time, and late-evening sandwiches; and for main courses of tempting summer meals.

Cold cuts should be stored in the fresh food compartment of the refrigerator for no longer than four or five days. They may be left in the self-service prepackaging if they are to be used within this time.

Freezing is not recommended for these sliced ready to serve meats because the salt present in the meat favors the development of rancidity when the meat is frozen. The texture of cured sausage-type meats—especially franks—is affected adversely by freezing.

Fully - cooked boned ham that comes in a roll makes fine slices for serving with breakfast eggs. Just brown the slices quickly in a buttered skillet.

Vary Kind of Meats Used in Cooked Loaf

Whe preparing a meat loaf, do you always use just one type of ground meat? Beef or maybe lamb are some of your choices. Did you ever think of combining two ground meats such as ground ham and ground pork, or perhaps putting ground beef and ground veal together in a meat loaf or ring? There are any number of various combinations.

However, it must be remembered that whenever you are using fresh ground pork in a loaf, the loaf must be baked in a 350 degree oven. Other loaves not containing fresh pork are usually baked in a 300 degree oven.

Try Filling Hamburgers With Zesty Mixtures

The pal of outdoor cookers, the hamburger is a succulent snack in almost any form. It has been fried, broiled, cooked with cheese onions, in chili and spaghetti. Just as some dramas are called "actor-proof," so hamburger could be called "chef-proof"—good no matter what is done to it.

These new filled hamburgers are a set-up for dad to slap together and cook. They offer interesting combinations of cheese, mustard and pickle. They will titillate the most jaded outdoor appetite.

Filled Hamburgers

Allow ¼ pound ground beef for each hamburger. Press gently into two thin patties, about four inches across. Spread or arrange any of the following fillings on one patty, leaving ½ inch around edge for sealing. Top with second patty, pressing edges together. Broil on each side. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Serve on warm hamburger rolls.

Fillings:

1. Spread one patty generously with prepared mustard. Place thin slice of onion in center. Add a spoonful of pickle relish if desired.

2. Cream together ¼ pound of butter, ¼ pound Roquefort or blue cheese and 3 tablespoons prepared mustard. Spread generously between the two thin hamburger patties. (Also good on broiled steaks and chops.)

3. Spread one patty generously with prepared mustard. Place small cubes of processed cheese and a spoonful of pickle relish in the center, then top with second patty.

Sweetened Milk Is Base of Cream Fruit Dressing

Fruit salads, as luncheon mainstays or dinner desserts, have gained great favor, especially in the United States, in the last few years. Our increasingly abundant supply of good fruits, canned, frozen, fresh, is one reason. Another may be our realization that fruit has great health value.

Here are suggestions for fruit combinations: Diced pineapple, strawberries, grapefruit and orange sections. Piled in a hollowed-out pineapple shell they are a really eye-appealing vision. Fresh or canned pears, drained, arranged on nests of lettuce, the core cavities filled with cream cheese mixed with chopped nut meats.

Creamy Fruit Salad Dressing

⅔ cup (½ 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
⅓ cup lemon juice
⅓ cup salad oil
½ teaspoon essence of peppermint (optional)
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine sweetened condensed milk, lemon rind, lemon juice, salad oil and essence of peppermint in a mixing bowl. Beat with rotary beater until well blended and thickened. Chill. When ready to serve, fold in whipped cream. Serve with fruit salad. Makes 1-2/3 cups.

Roast pork should always be well-done: the color should be a grayish white with no pink tinge and the juice should show no tinge of pink.

Quick Cooking Best for Squash

Summer squash is easy to fix on those hot summer days when you don't feel like much puttering around the kitchen. Just cut into pieces, and pop into a pot of salted boiling water (just enough to keep from scorching) for about 15 minutes or until tender. Then season with plenty of butter or bacon drippings and serve hot.

No need to worry about the rind or seeds. You can eat them if the rind is tender enough to be broken easily. Summer squash with a hard rind has to be peeled and is likely to have stringy pulp.

USDA reporters say summer squash is coming to market in plentiful quantities right now and is a good buy. You might try the white patty-pan, the green cocozelle, the yellow crook neck and straight neck, or the green striped zucchini.

For a slightly different taste to summer salads, slice some fresh zucchini in with the other vegetables. You'll find it has a flavor something like avocado.

You can bring out the delicate flavor of summer squash by panning it. For every two cups of diced squash, use one tablespoon of fat. Cook in a heavy covered skillet at moderate heat for 10 or 15 minutes. Remove the cover and cook a little longer for the liquid to evaporate. Then season with salt and pepper and serve.

The next time you serve scrambled eggs, fold in ½ cup of cottage cheese while the eggs are still creamy. Makes for a wonderful new treat.

Plain or Fancy—It's a Hot Dog

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If you ask a group of children what they want to eat for lunch, their automatic response is, "Hot Dogs." So popular is this easy-to-fix meat that 25 million of them a day will be eaten in America during the summer months.

Although there is nothing easier to fix than a hot dog, it is a meat that can be varied with many ingredients. Every family has its own favorite ways with frankfurters.

Michigan has stringent laws about all kinds of sausage meat. Hot dogs are classed as sausages so you can depend upon getting good quality meat. Hot dogs sent in from other states must also pass the same rigid inspection as state-made sausage. Have no qualms about your youngsters' eating them.

Frankfurters come in a variety of flavors and sizes. You may want the giant size to serve for dinner or miniature ones for a cocktail party. The average size runs nine to the pound. Be sure to store them in the refrigerator. Freezing for any length of time is not recommended; for short periods it is all right.

Cheese Broiled Frankfurters

Slice frankfurters lengthwise almost all the way through and lay open on broiler pan. Cover with thin slices of cheese and sprinkle with paprika. Broil until the cheese melts and browns. Serve with buttered noodles and spinach.

* * *

Frankfurters With Spiced Sauerkraut

1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut
1 teaspoon celery seed
Dash celery salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
6 frankfurters
3 small onions
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

In a bowl, combine sauerkraut, celery seed, celery salt and mustard; toss lightly but thoroughly. Slash each frankfurter diagonally in four places. Peel onions and cut each into 8 thin slices. Insert an onion slice into each slit in frankfurters.

Arrange half of sauerkraut mixture in bottom of a 1½-quart casserole. Place 3 frankfurters on top of sauerkraut mixture in casserole. Top with remaining sauerkraut mixture. Place remaining 3 frankfurters side by side on top of casserole.

Pour melted butter or margarine over all. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 minutes.

French-Fried Fritter Franks

Sift together 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir in 2/3 cup milk and 1 beaten egg.

French-fry the dunked franks in 360-degree fat for one minute. Serve while they are crispy-hot.

Smooth Lemon Sauce Good on Lots of Food

For a delightful and versatile dessert sauce: grate the rind of one lemon and squeeze and drain the juice of four lemons. Combine the juice, with the rind, three fourths (1½ sticks) of butter, two cups of sugar and cook over a low heat until the butter is melted and the sugar dissolved. Remove from the heat.

Stirring vigorously, slowly blend in four eggs. Return to low heat and cook, stirring constantly until mixture coats the back of a spoon. Cool and serve on ice cream, fruit cake or hot mince pie.

"JUNKET"
RENNET-CUSTARD

And no wonder! Here's the only dessert with the magic rennet enzyme in it. It's a light, refreshing, milk dessert that's even easier to digest than milk itself—thanks to magic rennet. Comes in 7 delicious flavors that delight the young and old.

At Your Grocers'

Lemonade Winner at Beating Heat

When your family roots for lemonade with the flavor of lemon peel thrown in for good measure, you probably head for the fresh lemons. You might compare the cost of a dozen medium sized lemons to 4 small cans of frozen lemonade concentrate (sugar already added) or a pint of bottled lemon juice. They all produce about a gallon of lemonade.

* * *

If your family begins to show a mid-season slump in interest, take a tip from the shrewd baseball manager and switch your lineup. Try teaming up old reliable lemonade with orange, pineapple or grape juice. Another time add a bit of lime or lemon sherbet.

* * *

Put some green mint leaves into the game. Star pink lemonade or add a drop of different food coloring to each glass. With a few of these tactics your batting average will be close to the 1.000 mark, with a generous sprinkling of home runs.

Bread Cubes Top Dish

Topping tip: When you want a crusty topping on macaroni and cheese or a similar baked dish, you'll find ¾ cup tiny fresh bread cubes mixed with a couple of tablespoons of melted butter or margarine will be fine for a 1½-quart casserole that's about 7½ inches wide and 2½ inches deep.

Lemon Ice Cubes Flavor Drink

FROZEN LEMON ICED TEA CUBES

1 cup fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 cup sugar
½ cup loose tea (15 tea bags)
1½ cups freshly boiling water
Mint flavoring to taste

Combine lemon juice, peel and sugar, stirring well to dissolve sugar. Pour boiling water over tea. Brew 5 minutes and strain into the lemon syrup. Pour into ice cube trays and freeze. Makes one tray of cubes or 14 cubes 2"x1½".

To serve, put two lemon-tea cubes in a glass. Add ¾ cup water and allow cubes to dissolve. Add additional plain ice cubes if desired. This drink has a good full-bodied flavor. It is delicious any time of the year, but is especially thirst-quenching during the hot summer months.

These cubes will not have the familiar clear amber color of iced tea, but neither the flavor nor thirst-quenching qualities are affected. Both the freezing and the lemon concentrate tend to turn the cubes dark brown in color.

With plenty of Lemon Iced Tea Cubes in the freezer or refrigerator trays you'll be ready to meet any thirst crisis any time of day. Topped with a sprig of mint, this lemon-iced-tea flavor combination is one of the most pleasant and refreshing summer beverages yet to be discovered.

Salt Prevents Darkening

To prevent fruits from darkening before canning, cover them for 5 minutes with a solution of 1 quart water, 1 teaspoon of salt, ½ tablespoon of vinegar. Rinse fruit thoroughly before further processing. This preserves their natural appealing colors in the jar.

Keep a Supply on Hand

Marinate thinly sliced cucumbers and onion rings in olive oil, vinegar, sugar to taste and salt and pepper. Keep in a covered container in the refrigerator and serve with meat loaf, hamburger, steaks.

BLUEBERRY BOUNCE — Quick-frozen lemonade concentrate, blueberries and soda are combined to make a lively summer drink. The blueberries actually bounce as you pour in the soda.

Three Desserts Peach Centered

Stupendous! Colossal! Mystifying! Fifty million bushels of peaches disappear before your very eyes! Magic? Well, not exactly, because you're going to help do it. If you need a bit of magic assistance, home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have reached into their bag of tricks and come up with a three-way peach recipe that can appear, disappear and reappear as shortcake, cobbler or turnover, all at the flick of a spatula.

To begin your performance, sift together 2 cups of flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder and ¾ teaspoons salt. Cut in 4 tablespoons fat, make a well in the mixture and add ⅔ cup of milk. Stir until a soft dough forms.

Then turn out on a slightly floured board, knead 6 times and Abracadabra! You've got a 3-way magical biscuit dough!

If you care to conjure up some short cake, roll and cut dough into 2-inch rounds and bake at 425 degrees for about 12 minutes. When they're browned, split and fill with sliced peaches, sweetened with brown sugar. Cover with whipped cream and serve.

For peach cobbler, roll dough until it's the right size to cover a half-filled baking dish of peaches sprinkled with brown sugar. Press dough down firmly at sides of the dish, slash so steam can escape and bake at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes.

Your dough and peaches will turn into turnovers if you cut dough into 5-inch circles, spoon chopped peaches, sweetened with brown sugar, on half, fold dough over, sealing edges and bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

Cook Peas With Lettuce

To pep up frozen green peas, try them this way. Put the frozen peas, with about 2 tablespoons of butter and a few wilted lettuce leaves in a heavy saucepan with a tightly fitting cover. Cook over medium heat for 10 to 15 minutes or until peas are completely and cooked; watch so as not to scorch. Add a tablespoon of heavy cream just before serving.

ROMAN BLEACH is

BEST for NYLON

WHITE NYLON, rayon, dacron lingerie and blouses are whiter white when you wash them with Roman Bleach. Roman Bleach is softized, extra gentle on fine fabrics. Directions on label.

Berries Bounce in Glass of Bubbling Lemonade

Have you ever seen a blueberry bounce? Neither had we until the other day when we enjoyed a drink we promptly christened Bubbling Blueberry Bounce. To make this refreshing and fetching summer cooler, you simply put a couple of tablespoons of quick-frozen lemonade concentrate in the bottom of a tall glass along with a couple of ice cubes and one or two tablespoons of blueberries.

Fill up the glass with soda water and just watch those blueberries bounce! It's the effervescence in the soda, of course, that makes the blueberries rise in the glass, so be sure to serve the drink at once.

Youngsters are bound to go for this bubbling drink. Another they'll like is a home-grown lemon-cola beverage, as good as the neighborhood drugstore dispenses. For this, again you'll use that convenient can of quick-frozen lemonade concentrate. Just put a couple of tablespoons in the bottom of the glass and fill up with cola beverage.

Bubbling Lemon Fruit Drink

2 or 3 tablespoons quick-frozen concentrated lemonade, partially thawed.
1 or 2 tablespoons fresh or frozen blueberries, thawed.
2 or 3 ice cubes.
Club soda.

Combine the concentrated lemonade, blueberries, and ice in a tall glass. Fill remainder of glass with club soda and stir to mix well. Serve immediately. Makes 1 serving.

★ ★ ★

Lemon Cola

2 or 3 tablespoons quick-frozen concentrated lemonade, partially thawed.
1 bottle (6 or 8 ounces) cola beverage.
Ice cubes.

Meat Prices Dip Slightly Produce Very Reasonable

It's "peaches and cream" time in Michigan. The Red Haven peach harvest is now well underway in the large southwestern growing area. The remainder of August and September should be a housewife's delight because of the plentiful supplies of Michigan fruits and vegetables, says the Marketing Information Agent.

Large supplies of choice grades of beef and slight increases in pork supplies are bringing very reasonable prices at the meat counter for this season of the year.

PRODUCE OUTLOOK

The early Red Haven peach is coming to market in good volume in the southwest part of the state. Supplies of this popular variety will be finished in about 10 days in that area, will be starting to harvest about August 15 on the east side of the state.

Peachy predictions for the peach crop. Beautiful quality, with the best fruit size that observers can remember. A good supply at reasonable price until probably September 20 is the prospect.

Lettuce is a vegetable most families buy every week, but celery is not. At this time supplies of both are large, and prices should not pinch any family's pocketbook. Michigan, Canada, New York and California harvesting lettuce at the same time is resulting in generous supplies.

Michigan's celery crop is at its peak in volume. Growers report the finest crop ever; quality is excellent.

Michigan blueberries are still in good supply and will be until about Labor Day. Blueberries are one of the easiest fruits to freeze. Choose fully ripe, blue-black berries. Sort, wash gently, then drain.

If you plan to use blueberries for pies or salads during the winter, just dry pack and freeze. For fresh fruit desserts of any kind, cover with a 40 per cent syrup (3 cups sugar, 4 cups water). Leave one-half to three-fourths inch at top of the container to let the berries expand when they are frozen. Seal, freeze and store at zero degrees or below.

Corn continues in peak production. Potatoes are abundant as several large growing areas are harvesting at the same time. Homegrown items for the weekly check list: cabbage, cucumbers, peppers, beans, tomatoes.

Several buyers report declining beef prices due to larger supplies of choice grade cattle. This trend is expected to continue through August.

Although packers report hogs are not too plentiful, some pork cuts are reduced at retail level. Picnics, Boston butt, rib-end roast range from 17 to 24 cents per serving. Frankfurters and sausage meats continue to be favored warm weather choices.

Ground beef, some types of liver, fresh and frozen haddock and cod are meat choices within the price range of 15 to 20 cents per serving.

Have you noticed the lower than usual prices on meat cuts that need roasting or braising? Less demand for these cuts in warm weather is one reason for lower prices. If thrift is considered, you might find new ways of using these.

Have you cut blade chuck into individual steaks or into one to one and one-half inch cubes and tenderized them in a marinade of oil, food acid (vinegar, tomato juice, lemon juice) and spices overnight in the refrigerator?

Have you used the "top" of choice round steak for broiling? Of course it won't be the same texture or flavor as T-bone, but there is a real price difference.

Have you roasted a picnic or Boston butt in the cool of the morning and after cooling it, chilled it in the refrigerator for use in salads or sandwiches? Either can be a cool meat to serve on a hot day when you don't go near the kitchen.

Peppermint Flavors Chocolate Sauce

Chocolate and peppermint are a happy combination of flavors if there ever was one. Put the two of them together in a smooth sauce and you'll have a success ingredient for many a dessert. To make such a sauce you'll need only three things — semi-sweet chocolate pieces, evaporated milk and peppermint extract.

★ ★ ★

Put 1 package semi-sweet chocolate pieces and ⅔ cup evaporated milk in top of double boiler. Cook over hot (not boiling) water until chocolate melts, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and add peppermint. Stir occasionally while cooling. Makes about 1 1-3 cups of Chocolate Peppermint Sauce.

Frozen Fried Chicken Retains Its Flavor

CHICAGO — Fried chicken can look and taste just as good four days later if leftover pieces are frozen.

Research at Purdue University has shown that freshly fried chicken eaten immediately, and freshly fried chicken which has been frozen and then thawed for eating, can't be distinguished for flavor and appearance if the freezing is properly done.

If the good flavor and appearance are to be retained, the freshly fried chicken, held not more than 3 hours at room temperature, should be wrapped in foil or wax paper, placed in a freezer or freezing compartment of a refrigerator for storage, then thawed at room temperature for serving.

This experiment revealed that wrapped, leftover chicken which was frozen showed no noticeable change or loss in quality as measured by taste or appearance. Yet, wrapped leftover chicken held in the refrigerator for the same length of time showed a noticeable drop in quality.

As the long months of summer roll on, teen-agers often get restive for a new idea for a group get-together.

Here's a tasty eating idea which will take the youngsters into the out-of-doors for a nourishing meal and a good time rolled into one. It's a Hobo Picnic, featuring fried chicken-in-a-blanket.

The chicken is pre-fried, cooled and then wrapped in squares of biscuit dough rolled ¼ inch thick. The pieces are then baked until the "wrapping" is brown and crisp.

The picnic includes a hobo salad of elbow macaroni and hard-cooked eggs, seasoned to taste and moistened with salad dressing. Tie the salads in individual servings with transparent wrap. Cranberry relish in plastic or paper cups adds a convenience note. Serve on paper plates with pickle slices.

For dessert, feature a decorative cake baked and carried to the picnic in covered cake pan. As a beverage serve milk or favorite soft drink.

Chicken-in-a-Blanket

6 broiler-fryer legs (6 drumsticks, 6 thighs)
1 cup flour
3 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon ground pepper
2 to 3 cups fat for frying
3 cups biscuit mix
Milk

Shake chicken, 2 or 3 pieces at a time, in a bag containing the flour, salt, paprika and pepper to coat evenly. Meanwhile melt enough fat in two skillets to have a ¼-inch layer. Brown chicken slowly in the medium hot fat. With 2 spoons or tongs turn pieces until lightly and evenly browned (about 15 minutes). Cover tightly, reduce heat but have fat bubbling moderately. Turn chicken 2 or 3 times to continue browning and cooking evenly.

★ ★ ★

Cook until thickest pieces are fork-tender (use table fork), 15 to 20 minutes. Total cooking time 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings. Transfer chicken to paper toweling or rack to cool.

BISCUIT DOUGH FOR CHICKEN

Stir just enough milk into biscuit mix to blend ingredients. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Knead lightly. Roll dough as thinly as possible. Cut dough in 6-inch squares. Wrap chicken, and pinch edges together to seal, enclosing chicken completely — except for the bone end of drumstick. Lay chicken on baking sheet with pinched edges down. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees), 20 minutes or until brown. Makes 12 pieces.

Picnic Loaf Cake

2⅔ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
1¾ cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract
3 eggs and 1 yolk
1 cup milk
¼ cup cider vinegar

Sift together flour, soda, and salt. Cream shortening, sugar, and extracts until soft and light. Beat in eggs and egg yolk, one at a time, until fluffy. Combine milk and vinegar. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk-vinegar mixture to creamed mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients; beat until just blended after each addition.

★ ★ ★

Pour batter into a greased and floured 9x13x2½ inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 to 50 minutes. Cool in pan. Frost with boiled frosting. Makes 24 pieces.

New Crabmeat Dip Uses Spanish Dressing

Mayonnaise made the Spanish way gives cocktail spreads or dips altogether new flavor. To make the mayonnaise, beat a cup of Spanish olive oil slowly into a beaten egg yolk, using an electric blender if you have one. When mixture has thickened, add a tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice and salt to taste.

Add 3 tablespoons of this piquant mayonnaise to a 6-ounce can of crabmeat which has been minced very fine, all gristle removed. Blend in ½ teaspoon each of cumin (or curry powder), powdered ginger and garlic salt. Beat until well-blended. Serve with potato chips.

Payoff on 12-Year Rule Hits Mom and Dad

Full Fare Not Half Fair, Say U.S. Teeners

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

If there is a teener who does not want to appear grown up, I have yet to meet him.

And still my question askers bring me the information that young people around the country are dead set against having thrust upon them too soon one of the marks of adulthood—the privilege of paying full rates at places of amusement and for transportation.

The managers of theaters, amusement parks and bus and train services are taking unfair advantage, they assert, when they make the age of 12 the point at which youngsters should start paying straight charges.

"It's a darned shame there is no way of boycotting every place like that," is a typical comment. "But then they've got you over the barrel — you can't just quit riding on trains and buses."

Specifically, 79 per cent of the boys and 71 per cent of the girls think teeners should pay lower prices than adults at places of amusement, an even greater number, 84 per cent of the boys and 76 per cent of the girls think that they should pay less on buses and other forms of transportation.

PARENTS, TOO

More understandably, perhaps, 92 per cent of the parents feel that the full fare age should come later.

"I certainly think that children ought to pay reduced prices until they are old enough to be making their own money," comments an Atlanta mother. "We have three boys 12, 14 and 15. When they can pay for themselves it will be different, but I am talking about now."

When should full fares be slapped on? There seems to be some disagreement on this between teeners and parents, but a quarter of the boys and girls, and 40 per cent of the parents would settle for age 16. Other answers range all over the lot, with special attention being given to ages 14, 17 and 18.

* * *

This brings to mind the often overlooked fact that when a youngster reached the age of 12 half a century ago he could be and often was a regular contributor to the family income. Today, even if he wanted to, he could not work legally in most states. His childhood has been extended by law.

TEENERS HAVE MONEY

But there is a good case for the opposition too. At last report, the average income, including allowance and earnings, of an average teenager in this country was nearly $10 a week, so that in many a household the younger generation has more actual spending money than the head of the household. To 20 per cent of the teeners and 6 per cent of their parents this is a convincer that youth can afford the going rates.

Quite a few young people feel that delaying the switch to full rates would keep many parents from fibbing about the age of their offspring.

"It was positively demoralizing," a high school senior recalls. "My folks always tried to pass me off on the trains and at movies as a kid to qualify for half rate. It made me feel like a crook."

* * *

On the other hand, theater owners whom we interviewed want no change in half fare age limitations. At least that's what 85 per cent of them say.

At least one organization, the Des Moines Dodgers baseball team, has made an experiment with low rates for teeners, and is not too happy with it.

Youngsters 12 to 17 years old are admitted at half price. Children under 12 are admitted free if accompanied by adults. But Manager Bob Musgrove says he has been getting crowds made up about one fifth of youngsters under 12.

"We get more rootin' with the youngsters coming this way," he comments, "but we need money in the till."

Don't Overdo 'Perfect' Color

Don't become a "one-color freak," warns a world famed beauty authority, by choosing your entire wardrobe in one flattering shade, or you run the chance of losing your own colorful personality to the one color itself.

For example, there are many women who become wed to blue simply because someone has flattered them by saying they should never wear anything but blue. As a result they soon fade into a monotonous blue background.

Farrar-Tate Vows Said

Marie O. Tate and Ernest W. Farrar were married Saturday at Bethany Baptist Church. The Rev. Duncan D. McCall officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of scalloped tiers of nylon lace over taffeta, with cathedral sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with blue rosebuds on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Joyce Tate was matron of honor, with Joanne Farrar and Muriel Tate serving as bridesmaids. Gayeann Heckman was flower girl.

Farewell Can Be In or Out

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When seeing visitors off who drive their own car, is it proper to stand at the door until they are off or out of sight, waving good-bye, or should one say good-bye at the door and when they start down the walk close the door?

"I always feel if I close the door before they drive away it looks as though I were in a hurry. My husband feels that when good-bye is said the visit is over and there is no use in prolonging the procedure."

Answer: This depends on a number of things: If they are ordinary afternoon visitors from the neighborhood, and other neighbors are also present, you bid them good-bye in your living room. If they are your only visitors and you go to the front door with them, you usually stand in your doorway, see them get in their car, and wait until they drive off.

"Dear Mrs. Post: If the bride wears a long bridal dress and a veil, should the mothers wear short or long dresses and must both wear the same length skirts?"

Answer: If the preparations are fairly elaborate, the mothers' dresses do not necessarily have to be long. Nor is it necessary that their dresses be the same length.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it not impolite to talk in a foreign language in the presence of visitors who do not understand this language?"

Answer: Definitely, yes; unless the person to whom you are speaking does not understand English. In this case you must speak in the foreigner's tongue—and insofar as is possible, act as interpreter to the others.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When friends are expected and they telephone to explain tire trouble and a delay, should the hostess serve dinner or wait for them? You have said not to wait more than 15 minutes or so for late guests, but when they explain this way then what?"

Answer: If they are your only guests you of course wait. But if you are having others, you would have to serve those present and put aside as best you can the portions for the latecomers.

"Dear Mrs. Post: In a restaurant does a hostess or her guest suggest leaving?"

Answer: Correctly, the hostess does. But if the hostess makes no move and a guest has an appointment, she (or even he) could look at her (or his) watch and say: "I'm very sorry, the time has gone so quickly—but I have to be at such a place at such a time."

Bryans Mark 25 Years Wed

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Orville E. Morgan and sons Jim and Jack of Silvis, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sames, Mrs. Don Pickel and daughter Nancy, all of Garden City, and Mrs. Lois Ball of Rock Island, Ill.

Teenagers, Play Up the Charm!

The teenager who has turned into a professional beauty, at, say, 15 or 16, is not unusual. We all know such girls, the ones who are much concerned with their own looks and nothing else really.

They spend endless hours experimenting with lipstick and hairdos, pressing clothes and shopping for new clothes.

Actually, a certain amount of this is not only normal but essential to a well groomed teenager. But when it becomes an obsession, it's a bore to everyone nearby.

The making of a human being with the power to charm others has much more to it than a mere concern with a pert little face.

Madame Recamier, a famous French beauty, is said to have had rather large feet, thin arms and irregular features. That didn't stop her from bowling over nearly every person—man, woman or child—who ever came into her presence.

There's a lesson to be learned from this. A pair of well pressed white shorts won't turn any teenager into a beauty.

New York Stages Doll Convention

NEW YORK (UPI)—We women may put our dolls away when we shed our pigtails, but we don't put them out of our hearts, says a woman who "keeps house" for generations of dolls.

"Women form close, deep attachments for dolls. They hate to see them thrown out and want them to have a good home," said Miss Janea Pinney, curator of the toy collection at the Museum of the City of New York.

"We get dolls from women who move, or who have no family to hand the toys down to. Others think their dolls aren't getting the proper love and care, so give them to us. And many women come back to visit their dolls," she said.

More than 150 of the museum's 700 dolls are on display in a special two-month exhibit called "A Doll Convention," which opened yesterday in conjunction with the annual convention of the United Federation of Doll Clubs.

The display includes wooden models dating from 1773 to a new doll which winks. The largest in the collection wears clothes which fit a 2-year-old child. Dresses are original, even down to "falsies" sewn in some 19th Century gowns.

Miss Pinney spends several months planning and arranging exhibits. She washes clothes by hand on her days off (only one dress has disintegrated), sews on buttons, cold-creams doll faces, and performs surgical operations.

"The dolls come to us in all conditions, like that one." She pointed to a wellworn face. "She had her nose kissed off."

Miss Pinney chooses props for displays from four cabinets and a storeroom full of china, furniture, clothes and accessories. There even are tiny platters heaped with fake food, and minute playing cards. The curator's insistence on detail leads to such tasks as tracking down miniatude palms potted in sugar bowls borrowed from a doll's china set.

A former school teacher, Miss Pinney came to the museum as a volunteer worker in the 1930s. She has held her present post since 1941 and also heads the museum's educational program for children. In addition, she hits the lecture circuit, writes articles about dolls and hopes someday to write a book about the "neglected" field of toys as collectors' items.

Unlike mose museums, the atmosphere is not one of awed silence. Children race through halls, press shining faces against exhibit cases and stand on tiptoe to peer through top windows of doll houses.

"Children love old toys. We teach them to respect the toys, so the youngsters never hurt anything. Only once have we had tears when it came time to leave the toys behind," said the curator as she scooped up a little girl and held her to an attic window.

★ ★ ★

"We get lots of adults, too — collectors, grandparents, even blind persons. Teachers also use the toys to teach vocabulary to non-English speaking children. Never a dull moment . . . if I can only keep my sanity," said Miss Pinney.

Wise Wife Feeds Dad Plain Food

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A veteran home economist retires this month with a parting word to cooks of the nation:

"Please the man of the house and forget the fancy recipes."

Mrs. Thelma Lison has followed her own advice for 26 years. After testing recipes for the food industry, she still practices cooking breakfast eggs the way her husband likes them.

"Most women cook to please their husbands," she said. "If father doesn't like the dish, it never will see the top of the table again."

Men prefer ground beef and frankfurters to all other meat dishes, she said. They rate lamb and liver last. They will pass up green peppers and lima beans for peas and corn, and dislike anything coffee-flavored, except coffee.

Puffy Eyes Detract From Beauty

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Few of us would choose to have a completely lineless face because in order to do so we would have to stifle all of the emotion which makes life colorful and rich. We would have a mask rather than a face. Lines of laughter and animation are attractive.

However puggs, circles and crow's feet (deep lines at the outer corners of the eyes), do detract from beauty and a youthful appearance. I never have forgotten the woman who wrote me some years ago asking what to do for "web feet." I was about to tell her to see a surgeon when another letter said, "I meant crow's feet."

Malnutrition, disease or illness or too little sleep, can paint circles on the face. These also seem to be inherited in some families. Sometimes more outdoor life and exercise and an eye to fine nutrition will banish these handicaps. If you have circles you should have a physical check-up.

Puffs under or over the eyes can come from disease, Kidney disease and a deficient thyroid are two causes. In this case you should also have a physical examination in order to be sure that no such trouble exists. Sometimes too much smoking will cause puffy eyelids. Also you may have the habit of sleeping with one eye dug into the pillows.

Never put powder on these puffs. It makes them appear more prominent. You must also be careful about using a makeup base over them. This may cause them to stand out like drums. A very light application of rouge helps minimize them.

Allergies often are responsible for puffed eyes. Investigate this possibility.

Crow's feet can be ironed out to a great extent by massaging ALONG the lines, using a finger in a rotary motion. Apply a lubricating cream first.

If you would like to have my leaflet "You Outer Coating" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "This Reader Complains of Tightness About Ankles."

Don't Expect Tan to Prevent Bad Sunburn

Many vacationers and people who regularly spend a lot of time out of doors will get "burned up" within the next few weeks, when they least expect it.

Having acquired a deep suntan during the early part of the summer, they think they are immune to the ravages of the sun.

But according to researchers later summer sunburns can be just as painful and damaging as those suffered early in the season. And contrary to popular belief, persons with deep suntans can suffer just as much from excessive exposure to the sun as can their more fair-skinned companions.

Plan Now for Security in Future

In a time of creeping inflation, like now, financial planning is a necessity if you want financial independence during retiremet, according to Grace Gerard of the home management department at Michigan State University.

During the past several years, the cost of living has been increasing on the average of about 1½ per cent each year — characteristic of inflation. This means that the money you put away buys less when you go to use it later even though the number of dollars remains the same.

If you have social security or another retirement plan you have a good "floor" for retirement income.

For a comfortable retirement you can figure this fixed income as about half — or a little more — of your retirement income. It can be counted on to take care of the bare necessities.

To take care of the added living cost from inflation and to add income for a few nonessentials, you can use a "variable income" type of investment.

Real estate and growth stocks are examples of these "growth" investments. They are called "growth" investments because they grow with the economy or increase in value as other prices rise.

Use Simple Jewelry With Bold Prints

Breakfast Table Charm Important

Actually a delicate wrapper shaped as a tea gown makes a practical, flattering breakfast coat. In drip-dry cotton with a tiny print, it is easy to keep clean and neat.

About 25 per cent of non-farm dwelling renters paid $50 or more a month in 1950, whereas in the 1940 census only about 7 per cent of the renters paid that much.

Give Teenage Daughter an Understanding Boost

If you want your daughter to grow up to be a happy successful woman, your influence had better make itself felt now if you want it to be effective. An article in a national magazine gives some tips to anxious mothers and fathers on raising teenage girls.

During her teens, a girl is a bundle of contradictions, the editors point out. Outwardly independent, she is inwardly baffled and frightened by what lies ahead. So the confidence your daughter needs to take any new situation in stride has to be developed. And this requires the tact and patience of a master diplomat.

AVOID OVERPROTECTION

Beware of being overprotective and overbearing. She must learn to think for herself. Don't push her to join a club or dictate who her friends should be.

Open up her own capabilities and interests to her. Show her that you are pleased with her and her regard for herself will grow.

Don't be overcritical of her mannerisms, language or dress. Remember times change. She will have to grow up not in your world, but in hers.

Induct her into the arts of cooking, housekeeping, dressing, conversing, dealing with men, caring for children. Give intelligent attention to what she says about books, politics, people—don't make her feel that she's "nothing but a girl."

Help your daughter set goals. Your job is not to yank her back to earth from her dreams of fame or glamor, but to help her understand that her life can be meaningful.

This means she must become an adult woman who has the ability to love and work whether the work is in her home or office or both. To help her learn how to love, there must be plenty of it around your house. And, to help her learn how to draw satisfaction from her work, lead her toward understanding of her role as a woman.

Point out that she doesn't have to compete with men to prove she's as good as they are. Help her learn that becoming a wife and mother is the healthy and happy fulfillment of her nature.

Lack of Sleep Robs Women of True Beauty

Women who consistently rob themselves of sleep, rob themselves of the fresh beauty which belongs to all women regardless of age, reveals a world-famed Hollywood beauty authority.

For a time, makeup can cover these unwanted sleepless signs. But if the lack continues and the face never has an opportunity to regain its fresh appearance, the makeup can only assist in camouflaging the unwanted marks.

Look your most beautiful by scheduling your sleep correctly. Then, makeup will add to your beauty rather than covering up a poor health habit.

Rub Meat With Spices for Unusual Barbecue

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's always fun to get recipes from out-of-town visitors. This one for a way to barbecue meat or chicken comes from another water wonderland, Alton, Illinois. There, the residents swim and boat in two rivers, the Mississippi and the Illinois.

Our cook is Mrs. Donald Pierce. She grew up in Pontiac as Frances Doyon. Her interests center around water sports, especially water skiing. She writes for a paper in Alton and sings in the church choir.

BARBECUED MEAT
By Mrs. Donald Pierce

This method may be used for cuts of beef or frying chickens. If you make the sauce alone, you may use it to heat frankfurters.

2½ pounds meat or chicken
½ cup brown sugar (scant)
2 tablespoons chili powder
2 tablespoons celery seed
1½ teaspoons salt
pinch black pepper
pinch cayenne pepper

Combine ¼ cup vinegar with ¼ cup tomato juice and bring to a boil in skillet. Drop prepared meat into liquid and boil gently for 15 minutes. Lower heat and simmer until meat is well done.

Prepare this ahead of time and take to a picnic or out in your boat. If cooking over an open fire, wrap skillet in aluminum foil to prevent blackening.

Use any leftover sauce on hot rice or noodles. Delicious.

Give Eyebrows Natural Look

Avoid a flat, painted-on artificial eyebrow look, warns a noted Hollywood makeup authority, if it is true beauty you are seeking.

★ ★ ★

First, brush away all powder from your brows. Then, be sure your eyebrow pencil is razor-sharp. Sketch on the color with short, hair-like strokes leaving the skin showing here and there as real eyebrows naturally do.

Next, brush all eyebrow hairs into place without flattening them to the skin by allowing them to stand away from the face in a natural way.

★ ★ ★

Keep the ends of the eyebrow arch, where there are no hairs, lightly powdered so the pencil will not look or become greasy. However, brush all stray powder from the hairs as you retouch your makeup during the day.

Maturity No Bar to Good Job

The forgotten woman, some people call her. She's the mature woman whose family has grown. Suddenly she finds herself with nothing to do, but she refuses to reconcile herself to boredom.

Or perhaps she finds it necessary to supplement the family income years after she thought she had left the business world for good.

Whatever the reason, there's an increasing number of mature-looking women seeking jobs. And an increasing number are getting them.

Employers are finding that older women who have gone back to work are generally capable, punctual and steady. Furthermore they provide a breath of viewpoint younger women just don't have.

But the woman herself, before she goes job hunting, is often shaky and unsure. Should she try to look younger? How should she dress? She'll be competing with younger people, so should she try to act their age or hers?

Trying to look young is usually a mistake, believes a beauty expert. It only makes you look like you're trying to be something you are not. Dignity in both manner and appearance is respected. So take that as your cue.

Dear Abby....

Forget Romance at 50? Utter Nonsense!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I have been married to this man six years and what I want to know is, after a man gets to be fifty is he supposed to forget about love and affection? My husband says I am a grandmother already (I am 48) and I should take up gardening or some other hobby to keep busy and forget the romance.

ABBY

"When I snuggle up to him or want a kiss or a pat he tells me he is not 19 years old any more. I can support myself and now I am wondering if I made a bad deal in marrying him. Is there a solution? I don't want a divorce."

SET ASIDE

DEAR SET: A man of 50 is not ready for the fox farm. Many men his age (and older) are bursting with love and affection. Have him see a doctor.

"DEAR ABBY: When my husband read your article on "Hi-Fi Shatters Family Nerves" he tore it out. I asked him what he was tearing out of the paper and he said, "Never mind, it will only start an argument." So I went to my neighbor's and read it.

"If that article didn't fit our family to a tee, I will eat my hat! I didn't write that letter but I am glad the wife who was a victim of a loud Hi-Fi set had the courage to send it in. Maybe other husbands will realize that their wives can't take all that racket and they will keep it low. Thanks, Abby."

ANOTHER HI-FI VICTIM

"DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I was engaged to marry a fellow who was in OCS. The date for our wedding was set and my parents bought me an imported lace wedding gown. My fiance was killed in a training accident. It took me two years to get over it, then I became engaged to another fellow. This time, to be perfectly honest, the man jilted me.

"I am now engaged to marry a wonderful man and we are both sure this is "it." My parents insist that I wear the first wedding gown they bought me. I am not superstitious, but I can't even look at that gown without feeling sick. They paid a lot of money for it and I think I am being foolish. Please tell me if I am wrong? I'll wear it if you say so."

MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: No one should blame you for feeling the way you do about the original wedding gown with all its unhappy memories. Sell it or give it away—but don't wear it. Buy a less expensive one for this happy occasion and good luck!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We have a house cat which I love very much but my mother is always giving him dirty looks because he claws the furniture. We have had to replace two chairs on account of him. I try to tell my mother that he keeps his claws sharp that way but she says he is a house cat and as far as she is concerned he doesn't need sharp claws.

"How can I keep him off the furniture? The next piece of furniture that gets ruined is going to be the end of him."

CAT LOVER

DEAR C. L.: Inquire at your pet shop about a certain product that is sprinkled on furniture that is guaranteed to keep the cats off.

Teenage 'Baby' May Be Acting Like One

By RUTH MILLETT

"My parents treat me like a baby," protests one of my teenage readers. Because that complaint is made so often by the young, let's talk about it.

If your parents treat you like a baby, it may be that you frequently act like one.

Do you throw a temper tantrum if you don't get your own way?

Are you careless about keeping your word, so that your parents are never quite sure they can rely on you to do as you say you will?

Do you dramatize the importance of everything that happens to you ("I'll simply die if I don't get to go"), so that your parents have no way of knowing what really is important and what doesn't make a great deal of difference?

Do you let the crowd persuade you to do things your better judgment tells you are wrong, foolish or dangerous?

Is your idea of a valid argument, "All the other kids get to do such and such"?

Do you expect your parents to do everything for you, and yet resent it if they ask you to do the simplest little thing for them?

When you are unhappy do you mope around the house until you have the whole family upset?

Do you try to talk your parents into buying you things you know they can't afford?

Do you complain that your allowance isn't enough, instead of trying to supplement it by taking on some lawnmowing or baby-sitting jobs around the neighborhood?

Do you look sulky and bored when your parents try to talk to you or try to explain why they have taken a certain stand on a matter that is important to you?

If most of your answers to those questions are "yes," then there's no wonder your family is still treating you like a baby.

Skin Too Oily?

Persons with oily skin have a consolation. Oily skin does not wrinkle as soon as a dry skin. But to keep it fresh and clear, oily skin requires constant scrubbing

Teach Neatness by Example

Youngsters pick up the clean, neat clothes habit if you lay out clean clothing each day for them, including socks and handkerchief.

Brushing Helps Control Hairdo

Brushing is extremely good for hair health. But it also contributes to a better hair setting, whether done at home or in a beauty salon. Brush your hair before combing it to loosen the curls. This also makes them easier to handle.

Hoffa Loaned Him $8,000

Defunct Cab Company Manager Before Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former manager of a now defunct Indianapolis taxi company testified today Teamster Union leaders took over the company before its president vanished mysteriously.

Hugh Wagner told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee the unionsts gave no explanation but later complained of mismanagement by Dave Probstein, the president who disappeared in 1955 and is assumed to be dead.

Wagner's statement came after testimony by Teamsters President James R. Hoffa that he scarcely knew Probstein but had loaned him $8,000.

The senators, who had spent yesterday trailing unsuccessfully for the identity of the higher-ups who squelched a 1953 House investigation of Hoffa, switched suddenly to study of the taxi company case.

Wagner, a thin, nervous man who now works as a locksmith, said Gene San Soucie and Gus Zapas entered his office with Probstein a few weeks after Wagner had become office manager of State Cab Co. in December 1954.

"They told me Mr. Probstein wouldn't have anything to do with State Cab Co. and I would take orders from Mr. Zapas," Wagner said.

The committee identified Zapas as president of Indianapolis Local 58 of the Bartenders Union and an employe of the Indiana Conference of Teamsters. San Soucie is president of Teamsters Local 135 in Indianapolis.

Hoffa testified he and Owen Bert Brenan, a Teamsters vice president, loaned Probstein $8,000 of their own funds—drawn from a firm owned in the maiden names of their wives—on May 14, 1954.

Hoffa said the money came from either the Hoburn or Test Fleet Corp., two of their Michigan holdings, and that only $7,000 of it was paid back.

"I don't put nothing on my wife," Hoffa heatedly told the committee, when its chief counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, asked whether it would be necessary to call Mrs. Hoffa for questioning about the loan.

Before today's session, Kennedy told newsmen that Hoffa would be asked what he knows about the abandonment of the 1953 House probe of Hoffa's affairs.

Motorist Runs Into 3 Horses

Three in Car Injured; Two Animals Killed After Being Hit

An accident last night on Baldwin Rd. just south of Seymour Lake Rd., in Oxford Township, resulted in six casualties — three persons and three horses.

Two horses were killed and a third escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies listed the injured as Leo Hunkele Jr., 21, of 3720 Gregory Rd., Orion Township; Donald H. Price, 21, of 4561 Rohr Rd., Waterford Township; and Faye Wanda Roberts, 15, of 2066 Willow Beach Rd., Keego Harbor.

Hunkele was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital and is in satisfactory condition. The others were treated and released, said deputies.

Hunkele was driving north on Baldwin when he suddenly saw horses in the road directly in front of him, deputies said.

He skidded about 68 feet, hit one horse, glanced off into a second horse, then hit horse number three and went 126 feet into a fence.

Ike's Mideast Plan Cheered by Britain

"I thought that President Eisenhower's address yesterday was a admirable introduction to such an endeavor. His fine speech with its constructive and imaginative ideas has been most warmly welcomed.

"I must, however, frankly confess that I was disappointed by the tone and substance of the speech of the Soviet foreign minister yesterday.

"One delegate said afterward 'Well, you know, the last three minutes of Mr. Gromyko's speech were not so bad.' That may be true. It is a relative judgment. The other 31 minutes were certainly much to be regretted."

Actually Gromyko spoke 45 minutes.

Lloyd said that discussions "conducted in the tone of Mr. Gromyko's speech of yesterday would be unlikely to serve any useful purpose."

He accused the Soviet foreign minister of distortion and of indulging in "extravagant flights of fancy" in his attacks on the West.

"Nevertheless," Lloyd added, "I still hope that our discussions of these Middle East problems here in this special Assembly will be so conducted that a constructive result may ensue. I am confident that it is within our power to achieve acceptable solutions."

The British foreign secretary warmly endorsed the Eisenhower proposal for a Middle East economic foundation to help raise the standards of living in the area.

He called this proposal far sighted and pledged that Britain would give such help "as may be within our power to give and which is acceptable to the countries concerned."

On another main point in the Eisenhower plan—a standby peace force—Lloyd also agreed. Such a force, he said, "could make possible quick action in an emergency, quick action which would not be dependent upon the willingness of individual countries to act on their own."

He declared that Britain would be ready to withdraw its troops from Jordan "if the lawful government of Jordan requests it, or if suitable arrangements are made to preserve Jordan from external threat and to maintain its independence and integrity."

Airliner Carrying 99 Plunges Into Atlantic

which was reported by at least two trans-Atlantic flights.

The deaths of all 99 aboard would make this the worst disaster involving a single plane in the history of commercial aviation.

Eleven of the 91 passengers were Dutch. There were several children aboard.

The British Royal Air Force ordered three Shackleton planes carrying air-sea rescue equipment to search an area of the Atlantic about 400 miles west of the Irish coast. An Irish air corps plane joined in the search in an area 150 miles west of Shannon.

Capt. Kenneth Main, pilot of a Trans Canada Constellation, said upon landing at London that he tried to contact the Dutch plane over the Atlantic.

"We were about half way across the Atlantic when we got a signal asking us to try for contact," he told reporters.

"We tried there or four times—but there was no response. I assume that she either was not in our vicinity or that the aircraft had radio failure."

"We hit a very bad squall," said Capt. Everett Wolf after landing in London. "If that KLM plane had engine trouble she really might have been in a bad way."

"It was really rough down there," he said.

"We were a bit above the weather, but brother, we felt it. The squalls with rains lasted 25 to 30 minutes. It was really a rough one."

He said the KLM sky giant may have hit the squalls as it climbed out from Shannon.

"If she had a big load of passengers and there was some engine trouble, it could have been nasty," Wolf said.

Accidental Hot Foot

Gromyko Visit to New York Unlikely to Stir Up Trouble

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two small American flags hang today in the ground floor windows of a building on Park Avenue at 68th street. Behind them are the offices of a small private organization, the Bureau of Municipal Research.

The flags are there because next door is the residential and office headquarters of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations. A few weeks ago, Hungarian demonstrators threw rocks through the windows because they thought the offices also belonged to the Russians.

It is a mark of the anticipation that there could be trouble while Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is living there while leading the Soviet delegation to the General Assembly.

Gromyko's presence, actually, seems unlikely to stir emotions at all the way a visit of Nikita Khrushchev could. In any event, New York police are ready to squelch any demonstration quickly.

Police Commissioner Stephen Kennedy ordered 20 patrolmen, four sergeants and a captain to stand guard at the Russian building. Twenty more policemen were assigned nearby and a detective squad car was on hand to follow Gromyko wherever he goes.

The Russian foreign minister isolated himself in the building when he arrived Sunday with 34 aides and secret police bodyguards. The Soviets had reserved four suites in the towers of the Waldorf-Astoria, where President Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles are staying. But on arrival at the airport they drove instead to the Park Avenue building and canceled the Waldorf reservations.

Getting any news about the ordinary activities of Gromyko and his associates is almost impossible. This correspondent talked to Boris Ivanov, a press spokesman for the Russians. The conversation went something like this:

"Why did Gromyko go to the Park Avenue place instead of the Waldorf?"

"I don't know."

"What can you say about Gromyko's activities here?"

"What is there to say?"

"What kind of food do they serve at the Park Avenue residence?"

"Soup, fish, meat."

"What kind of soup?"

"Perhaps cabbage soup."

"Do they have American steaks?"

"No, we don't like the steaks."

"What, then?"

"Maybe beef stroganoff."

"Do you have your own cooks?"

"Yes."

"How many?"

"Two, I think."

"What about recreation here?"

"Gromyko has been here many times. He won't go sight-seeing."

"Do you and your colleagues like the Broadway theater?"

"Do you prefer straight drama or musicals?"

"It all depends. I saw one play by an Irishman . . ."

"Eugene O'Neill?"

"That's the one. I thought it was pretty heavy stuff."

Calls Fallout Peril in Nuclear Warfare

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Dr. Willard F. Libby, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, says fallout is the real danger in atomic and nuclear warfare.

"Cities can be washed off," Libby told a press conference yesterday. But, he added, the AEC still has found no practical methods of removing the top several inches of soil which soak up radioactive materials.

The commissioner said that it would take 10 years for the fallout from a stratospheric nuclear explosion to reach the earth.

He said he did not believe the fallout from the accumulation of all the high-altitude shots would be dangerous to the human race.

"I don't think I care to comment on that," Dr. Libby said when asked if he knew of any Soviet experiments in exploding nuclear warheads from guided missiles in the stratosphere.

He also said he favored a limiting of nuclear weapons testing rather than a complete ban.

"However, if we could get a complete agreement with the Russians that would be different," he said.

Erratic Tigers Make Another Bid for 2nd Place

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

CHICAGO—Buster Ramsey, assistant coach of the Detroit Lions, and Otto Graham, coach of the 1958 All-Stars assembled here, have one thing in common.

They both took part in two All-Star games as players. Each was on the team in 1943 and again in 1946.

In the 1943 contest played on the Northwestern campus at Evanston, Graham started at halfback while Ramsey was a starting guard from William and Mary.

When they got out of the service in 1946, the rules were so relaxed that they were permitted to take part in the classic that year.

The All-Stars won the 1943 game beating the Redskins, 27-7 with Graham racing 97 yards for a touchdown on an interception of one of Sammy Baugh's passes.

"Otto was listed as halfback because we weren't running the T-formation that year," said Ramsey, "but in 1946 he was at quarterback with the T-system."

The Stars defeated the Rams in 1946, 16-0 with Elroy Hirsch scoring both touchdowns, one on a pass from Graham.

★ ★ ★

"That year we had a squad which was older than the pros, since most of us were returning servicemen," said Ramsey," and most of the players even had more experience than the pros, with four years of college and a couple of years of service football."

RAMSEY WANTS TO WIN BADLY

"I never thought he was so outstanding," said Ramsey, who will be the key figure in setting up the defenses against Graham's offensive attack Friday night.

The former Browns' quarterback is said to be thinking of entering the coaching ranks and would like to use this game as a sample of his ability to handle a football squad.

Without even going back to their college days when they played together with the All-Stars, or in service or pro ranks when they played against each other, Ramsey has another reason why he wants to win this game. And he wants to do it without pulling any punches.

At the annual banquet a year ago, Graham made the inference that the Lions were physically in poor shape and in the anti-trust hearings in Washington, he gave testimony in opposition to pro football.

"Some of the remarks he made at our banquet, and others he has made against pro football were not very smart," said Ramsey, "this is as good a time as any to show him a few things."

Bengals Sweep Twi-Night Pair From Cleveland

Detroit Just Half Game Behind Bosox Following 6-2, 3-2 Victories

CLEVELAND (AP) — Detroit's unpredictable Tigers were back in the thick of a fight for second place in the American League today in the wake of a doubleheader sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

The Tigers, pushing their winning streak to five straight and 12 victories in 15 games, inaugurated their road trip by plastering the Indians twice in a twi-night twin bill last night, 6-2 and 3-2.

With Herb Moford pitching a three-hitter, the Tigers snatched up the second game to move into a third-place tie with the Boston Red Sox and a half game from second.

Detroit winds up the Cleveland series in a single game today. George Susce (4-1) or Billy Hoeft (8-9) was to pitch for the Tigers.

Paul Foytack came out the winner in last night's opener, scattering 11 Cleveland hits. He shut out the Indians from the second through the eighth. The Indians had to wait for their second run until J. W. Porter's ninth homer in the ninth.

In the first game the Tigers hit safely seven straight times in scoring five runs in the fifth inning.

Outfielder Rocky Colavito of Cleveland made his debut as a pitcher in the second game. He also got two of the three hits off Moford.

Gail Harris' home run with Reno Bertoia on base gave Detroit two runs in the fourth. The Tigers got their third run in the sixth on a sacrifice fly off Colavito.

★ ★ ★

Vic Power's home run in the fifth and Colavito's triple after Minnie Minoso's walk in the seventh gave Cleveland its only runs off Moford.

The Tigers wrapped up the first game with their splurge in the fifth inning.

Bucs' Win Streak Now 7 in Row

Braves Grab 2 From Redlegs

By The Associated Press

After losing a two-game series at Pittsburgh, the Braves got well again at Cincinnati last night, sweeping the Redlegs 9-2 and 4-2 in a twi-night doubleheader. That gave the world champs, who were 18-4 against the Reds last season, a 10-3 record against Cincinnati and a 5½-game lead over the pesty Pirates, who outlasted Philadelphia 10-9.

The Bucs now have won seven in a row—their longest success string since 1949, when they won eight straight.

Third place San Francisco rapped St. Louis 11-2, and Los Angeles escaped the cellar (while Cincinnati tumbled in) by beating the Chicago Cubs 6-5 in the other NL games.

A pair of solo, sixth-inning home runs by Ed Mathews and Andy Pafko bagged the nightcap for the Braves as Lew Burdette won his 12th with a six-hitter. Starter Alex Kellner gave up both blows, Matthews' 25th and Pafko's second, for the loss and a 4-3 record.

Joe Adcock's two-run 15th homer put the opener out of reach in a three-run first inning against Joe Nuxhall (9-9). The Braves then made it a rout with six in the eighth, with winning pitcher Juan Pizarro and Pafko each hitting two-run singles. Pizarro (3-1) struck out six, gave up seven hits, one Frank Robinson's solo 22nd home run.

The Pirates rushed to a 6-0 lead in two innings on a pair of two-run homers by Bob Clemente and Bill Mazeroski's one-on shot off loser Jack Meyer (1-6). They added two more on Dick Groat's single in the third, then got the clincher on a two-bagger by Ted Kluszewki, who hit two doubles and a triple, a walk and RBI singles by Frank Thomas and Mazeroski.

Bob Smith won his first, in relief, but Vern Law had to get the final out after the Phils, who closed the gap on a pair of pinch-hit, three-run homers by Rip Repulski and Bob Bowman, scored another three in the ninth, two on Willie Jones' homer.

Rookie Jim Davenport, Valmy Thomas and Willie Mays homered for seven San Francisco runs while Ruben Gomez won his seventh with an eight-hitter. He had a four-hit shutout until the seventh, when the Cards loaded the bases with none out on two singles and a walk, but counted only one run, on Gene Green's sacrifice fly. Wilmer Mizell (8-8) lost it.

The Dodgers, blowing a 5-0 lead, finally made it with one out in the ninth when Don Zimmer singled and Elmer Valo followed with a pinch double off losing reliever Don Elston (7-7). Cal Neeman hit his 10th homer, with two on, for the Cubs while Ernie Banks, the major league leader, hit his 35th. Fred Kipp (5-4) won it in relief, retiring the side in the ninth with one pitch.

Stops Tigers for 3 Frames

Colavito Makes Good in Major Loop Debut

CLEVELAND (AP) — When Rocky Colavito made his major league pitching debut by hurling three hitless innings against the Detroit Tigers last night he became one of the best hitting pitchers since Babe Ruth.

The strong - armed Cleveland right-fielder has whacked 24 home runs for the Indians this season. He also has 71 runs batted in.

Rocky faced 12 batters in his stint on the mound, retiring nine and walking three in a game which the Tigers won 3-2. Detroit also won the opener of the twi-night doubleheader 6-2.

Manager Joe Gordon summoned Rocky from his right field position to replace Hoyt Wilhelm with runners on second and third and none out in the seventh inning of the nightcap. The Tigers were leading 2-1.

Colavito walked Herb Moford—his opposing pitcher who hurled a three-hitter—and then retired Harvey Kuenn and Reno Bertoia on infield pops.

The hard-throwing right-hander was pretty close to the plate, despite his three walks. He threw 29 strikes and 18 pitches called balls. Only one ball was hit out of the infield.

Gordon was satisfied with the performance and so was Rocky. Most of the Tigers didn't think he was as fast as they had been led to suspect. But if the Rock needs any excuses, it should be noted he had been playing 15 innings when called on to pitch. He had been out at the ballpark since 3 p.m., including pre-game practice.

PYC Fleet Breaks Out the Spinnakers

Start of last night's Pontiac Yacht Club evening race offered landlubbers at Cass Lake a beautiful sight. On only a few occasions this summer the fleet has made use of the big spinnaker sails. Last night, with a seven-mile breeze, most of the 23 lightnings broke out the billowing wind-catchers right at the start, and the resultant scene was a striking one.

Alton Gray, with his family crew of Jerry and Joan led the way home, followed by Andy Roualet's boat, crewed by Bill Roualet and John Gottschalk. Third over the finish was Marilyn Goodwin, with hubby Mack and Dr. Robert Vedder, crewing.

Nats Finally 'Get' Ford; Orioles Rap Sullivan, 2-1

By The Associated Press

A couple of patsies had themselves a ball last night in the American League.

The Washington Senators, who hadn't beaten Whitey Ford in almost four years, rapped the New York Yankees' stubby southpaw ace in a five-run eighth for a 9-4 victory.

And the Baltimore Orioles, who had lost seven in a row to Frank Sullivan of Boston, beat the big right-hander for the first time since Sept. 9, 1956, with a 2-1 victory over the Red Sox.

Those turn-abouts cut the Yankees lead to a mere 14½ games over second place Chicago and dumped Boston into a third place tie with Detroit. The White Sox split a twi-night pair with Kansas City, winning 6-5 after an 11-inning, 2-1 defeat; and the Tigers swept two from Cleveland 6-2 and 3-2.

Ford, now 14-6, hadn't lost to Washington since Sept. 20, 1954. He had won 12 in a row since, three this year. Roy Sievers, the defending homer champ, tied hitless Mickey Mantle for the AL lead with his 33rd, a two-run shot that junked Ford's string of scoreless innings at 17 in the fourth. Mantle drew four walks and flied out in his only official at-bat.

Eddie Yost and Clint Courtney also homered for the Nats. Courtney's also was a two-run blow, capping the big eighth that bagged it after Norm Siebern and Hank Bauer had hit successive homers for a 4-3 Yankee lead in the sixth. Truman Clevenger (7-8) won it in relief.

Gene Woodling drove in both Oriole runs, breaking up a 1-1 tie with a single in the fifth. Arnie Portocarrero (9-11), who hadn't beaten the Red Sox before this season, made it five straight over Boston with Billy O'Dell's relief help. The young lefty worked out of a two-on, one out jam in the seventh, then struck out Dick Gernert, Bill Renna and Pete Runnels after Pete Daley had opened the ninth with a double.

Harry Simpson's home run won the opener for the A's, ending Dick Donovan's winning string at six. Ned Garver won his 10th with a seven-hitter, although walking six. Donovan's record s 9-11.

The White Sox nailed the nitecap with two out in the ninth on Billy Goodman's bases-loaded single off losing reliever Bob Grim. Bob Shaw won it in relief after the A's chased Jim Wilson in a five-run fourth capped by Roger Maris' grand-slam home run.

Spencer 9 Wins Title With Ease

Spencer Floor Covering ran away with the honors last night in the finals of the Waterford National League softball playoffs at Drayton Plains.

Dick Shell pitched a sparkling two-hit shutout and John Herrington slammed a solo home run as Spencer walloped Hubert Wall's Service, 10-0, to win the playoff championship.

Spencer, also the regular season champion, iced the verdict with five runs in the 1st inning. Play was halted after five innings by the league's 10-run rule.

Kocsis Team Tops Field

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Emerick Kocsis, member of the famous Michigan golfing family, and 3-handicap Fred Siegel of Spokane teamed yesterday for a best ball score of 59 and victory in the Pro-Amateur event, a preliminary to the second annual National Senior Open.

'DUCK FOOT' — Little Fay Anderson, 3½-years-old, of Lake Sherwood looks a little young for water-skiing, but widely-known instructor Jim Smith of Hamilton, O., says they start them young in the fast-growing aquatic sport. Kay is properly accoutered for the business of riding the waves, with a life-jacket about her shoulders and a pair of "duck-foot" boards on her feet. Smith was a contender in the recent Midwest Regionals, here.

NCAA Official Says 'Loose Talk' Hurts Colleges

CHICAGO (AP)—Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., said today that loose talk by college personnel too often gives the intercollegiate athletics an "undeserved black eye."

"College athletics — Recruiting controls, administration of financial aid and sound academic standards—are in far better shape than rumors would lead one to believe, and, unfortunately, we too often have ourselves to blame for injurious gossip."

Lions' 45-Man Squad to Meet All-Stars

'Stars' 13-Point Underdogs

CHICAGO — Using a double-unit backfield, the College All-Stars will try to outpass and outrun the Detroit Lions tomorrow night.

It is such a tall order the odds-makers think the All-Stars won't come within 13 points of winning. The pro kings will be shooting for their 16th decision in the series. Their last defeat came when the Cleveland Browns lost 30-27 in 1955.

The ex-collegians have seven victories. Two games were tied.

"We have a good All-Star squad but the trick is not to make too many mistakes," said Graham, who may decide he has enough manpower to relay plays to his quarterbacks in the manner of Paul Brown, his old Cleveland coach.

"We aren't naive enough to think the Lions will make many mistakes. If they do, it will be one of those breaks that might balance the game in our favor. We know we'll have trouble if the Lions feel like playing and want to win."

Graham's two-unit backfield system will key the offense. One set will be led by quarterback King Hill of Rice and include Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State at fullback and Jim Pace of Michigan and Dick Christy of North Carolina State at Halfback.

The other unit will have Jim Ninowski of Michigan State as quarterback, fullback Jim Taylor of Louisiana State, and Bob Mitchell of Illinois and Phil King of Vanderbilt at the halfs.

Seldom have the All-Stars had such fine break-away runners as Mitchell, Pace and Len Lyles of Louisville, the 1957 top collegiate scorer with 132 points.

They have power and speed in such runners as John Sample of Maryland State and Kowalczyk. They have exceptional passers in Hill, Tom Forrestal of Navy and Ninowski.

In addition to the fleet halfbacks they have outstanding receivers at end — such as Fred Dugan of Dayton, Jim Gibbons of Iowa, Bob Jewett of Michigan State and Tom Schulte of East Kentucky State.

Marks 3rd Time in 6 Years for Detroit Champs

Game to Be Telecast From Soldier Field in Windy City

CHICAGO — A forty-five man squad, 30 veterans and 15 rookies, will carry the Detroit Lions colors against the College All-Stars in Soldier Field, Chicago, Friday night.

The game will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast over the American Broadcasting Company Network. Kickoff is 8:30 p.m.

It marks the third time in the past six years that the Lions, as world professional football champions, have met the cream of the college crop in the annual classic sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities.

The Lions represented the pros in 1936 and were held to a 7-7 tie, but have gained easy victories in the last two outings, 24-10 in 1953 and 30-6 in 1954.

Coach George Wilson labeled his squad "fit and ready" early in the week after the return to full-time duty of guard Harley Sewell and defensive end Gene Cronin. Both were out of the team's final scrimmage but have recovered from throat infections and will see service.

Coach Otto Graham of the All-Stars has indicated that his game plans call for the collegians to "throw the ball." Lions' coach George Wilson hasn't issued any such game orders although its a safe bet that with passers like Bobby Lane and Tobin Rote, and receivers like Jim Doran, Steve Junker, Howard Cassady, Dave Middleton and Jerry Reichow that the NFL champs will use a few aerial weapons of their own.

Fires 'Hole-in-Nothing'

Nick Nardolillo of Spring Valley did it yesterday on the Esmeralda course during the Pro-Amateur warmup for the National Senior Open. A 17-handicap golfer, Nardolillo got one stroke on the eighth hole. He picked out a No. 3 wood and whacked the ball into the cup 208 yards away.

Because Nardolillo had a handicap stroke, the eighth hole was duly registered on both scorecard and score board as a "0."

Run at Metro Tonight

Joy Fair and Joe Doyle of Pontiac and Rochester's Chuck Partello are among the top-ranked drivers entered in tonight's 50-lap mid-season championship race at the Mt. Clemens Metropolitan Speedway. Of the three, only Partello has won a main event so far this year on Metro's half-mile track.

Pronovost Is Lone Red Wing Unsigned

Jack Adams, general manager, said Pronovost was not considered a holdout since "I mailed out the contracts and his is the only one which isn't back yet but it isn't due for another four weeks."

The Red Wings training camp opens Sept. 8 but players do not have to be signed to their contracts until the first National Hockey League game. In the case of Detroit, this would be Oct. 11.

Adams said 21 players already have signed their contracts.

Tigers Are Oversold Again

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — What's wrong with the Detroit Tigers?

More and more people are asking that question these days. Tiger players have been subjected to more booing and jeering in 1958 than any since the last-place 1952 club.

This season it is apparent the Tigers again have oversold themselves. This has become almost chronic.

One rival manager, discussing recently the Detroit club's history of cold weather optimism and mid-summer disappointment, said:

"It's bad enough to have a mediocre team, but it's 10 times worse not to recognize it. You have to be realistic about it, and look at your problems objectively. I know every team is supposed to be optimistic — there's nothing wrong with optimism in itself. But without realism, it can boomerang and damage your players and everyone connected with the club."

★ ★ ★

There is no doubt that unkept promises and false hopes have turned some Detroit fans against the Tigers. The city remains the best baseball town in the world and the club is sure to draw another 1,000,000 spectators at home this year.

So it is heartening to the front office, anyway, that while some fans may come to the park to hoot and jeer, they still come to the park.

The club has tried five different managers since Steve O'Neill last led it to an American League pennant in 1945. While there must be all types of good, fair and bad managers, the mere change in itself does not bring success.

Red Rolfe, O'Neill's successor, was fired after three and one-half seasons. Another two and one-half seasons and Fred Hutchinson got out on his own by demanding a two-year contract. Bucky Harris was brought back to Detroit after being fired at Washington but the easy-going veteran was adjudged to be the "wrong type."

Then came Jack Tighe and the club said he was the iron-hand-inside-the-velvet-glove type who would be fiery and aggressive enough to lift the same players who had failed under Harris.

Now the job belongs to Bill Norman, the man referred to by Doc Greene, the Detroit News' columnist, as "the newest Messiah."

It is not that Detroit clubs have been so bad — they have finished in the first division four times since 1945 — it merely is that they have told the world they are so much better than they really are.

It is just beginning to wear on their fans.

U. S. Cuppers Confident

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—A confident United States Davis Cup team takes the courts against Argentina tomorrow at the Westchester Country Club for the American Zone tennis finals.

Victory in three of the five matches to be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday means a trip to Australia, Down Under the winner of the U.S.-Argentine series clashes with either Italy or the Philippines for the right to challenge the Aussies late in December.

At 1 p.m. EST today Carlos A. Casal, consul general for Argentina in New York, makes the draw for the singles competition. The first two singles matches will be played Friday, the doubles Saturday and the final two singles Sunday.

But before Sunday, the Americans fully expect to have the zone finals wrapped up with Ham Richardson, the Rhodes scholar from Arlington, Va., and Barry MacKay, the Dayton, Ohio, bomber, carrying the bulk of the load.

Enrique Morea, playing captain, is the only player of international experience that the South Americans have to throw at the highly regarded Richardson and MacKay. Morea declined to say until the last minute whether Eduardo Soriano or Ernesto Rios will play the other singles match.

Sam Giammalva of Houston, Tex., and Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., are other members of the U.S. team. Giammalva likely will see doubles action and perhaps will get one of the singles assignments sunday if the U.S. has the series won by then.

Long Fight Best, Harris Says

Roy Declares He's Stronger Longer He Goes

'Heavy' Challenger Resumes Boxing After Two-Day Layoff

ARROWHEAD SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The longer the fight lasts, the better chance challenger Roy Harris believes he has to whip champion Floyd Patterson in their 15-round title fight Monday in Los Angeles.

The amiable, 25-year-old Texan, referring to his years as a barefoot brawler on his father's farm at Cut and Shoot, said:

"I always have grown stronger as a fight went along. I don't see where this 'un would be any different.

"Against Willie Pastrano, Bob Baker, against Willi Besmanoff, I was gettin' better as the rounds went on."

Trainer Bill Gore intimated Roy would box again today. He resumed glove drills yesterday after a two-day layoff. The rest appeared to do him good.

Lou Viscusi, Roy's managerial adviser, remarked:

Harris was asked how many matches he had as a youngster in his teens, battling all comers his dad, big Henry Harris, recruited among the roughneck oil workers in the county.

★ ★ ★

"How many? I have no idea. Every day we fought."

"More than once a day?"

"Once? Sometimes six or seven times. Against different opponents. We enjoyed it. All afternoon, at night by the gas light."

The gas light was fire from a waste gas line from a nearby oil well. You lit it and let it flare.

"Not at first," Roy replied with a grin. "My big brother, that's Tobe, he could whip me. Gettin' whipped wasn't fun. When I got bigger, it was."

"I used to fight barefooted," Roy continued. "But when they got to steppin' on my toes, I got some shoes. Tennis shoes. Later I got a real pair of boxing shoes."

Mrs. Goodard Winner

Mrs. E. L. Goodard won the weekly Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournament Wednesday at Pontiac Country Club with an 18-hole score of 81, seven strokes over par. In 2nd place at 82 was last week's winner, Mrs. R. G. Martell. A total of 82 golfers played in the tourney.

Cranbrook 'D' Champ in Baseball Playoffs

Boys Club 'F' King

Cranbrook annexed the district Class D title yesterday with a 5-3 victory over Lake Shore from St. Clair Shores at Wisner Field and Pontiac Boys Club won the Class F crown with a 2-1 conquest of Saginaw at Jaycee Park.

East Detroit also earned a trip to the state tournament at Jackson by taking the district Midget crown with a 6-3 triumph over Roseville on the Jaycee diamond.

In the championship game with Saginaw, Pete Vasquez was the mound star and Thorpe took the hero's role at the plate. Thorpe's 4th-inning single scored Bob Rabaja with the eventual winning run.

Norb Hofman was the pitching ace in Pontiac's 4-0 semifinal victory over Center Line. Hofman's shutout featured seven strikeouts and only one walk. Saginaw defeated East Detroit, 6-4, in the other semifinal contest.

Cranbrook piled uo a 4-0 lead after three innings and staved off Lake Shore's late rallies to take Class D laurels. Larry Demrick and Andy Billesdon combined for a four-hitter with Demrick the starting and winning hurler.

East Detroit preceded its championship victory with a 12-3 semifinal rout of Centerline. Roseville qualified for the final round by outslugging Saginaw, 10-9.

Elks Enter Class A Final After Opponent Is Barred

Winners over Mt. Clemens Tuesday evening in the tourney opener, the Elks were scheduled to meet Southfield yesterday in semifinal action at Beaudette Park.

Before play ever started, Southfield was disqualified by Michigan Softball Association officials for using ineligible players and victory was awarded to the Elks.

The dropping of Southfield from the playoff automatically moves both the Elks and Mt. Clemens into the final round of the double-elimination tourney.

The two teams battle for the Class A title tonight on the Beaudette diamond at 7 o'clock. If a second game is required, it will be played Sunday night at North Side at 8:30.

To keep themselves feeling fit, the Elks played an emergency game with Shaw's Jewelers yesterday and the two clubs fought to a scoreless tie in a sparkling mound duel between Shaw's Perc McConner and Gary Boe of the Elks.

Action was stopped after seven innings to make way for another exhibition game between the Post Office and the Lakeside Royals. The Royals gained a 5-3 decision.

In exhibition activity at North Side Wednesday, the Sports Shop romped to a 16-6 victory over Franklin Products.

CIO Local 594 and Drayton Drug begin Class B district play tonight at Memorial Stadium in Mt. Clemens. The Post Office and Spencer Floor enter the Class D district tournament tonight at Drayton Plains while the Pontiac Police and Lakeland Pharmacy wait until Friday for Class C action in Pontiac.

The playoffs begin today on the Jaycee diamond at 5:30 p.m. Talbott faces PBI in a best-of-three series with the winner meeting Boys Club for the "B" title.

Class A playoff action also starts today at Wisner Field with CIO Local 594 facing the Jets in the opener of a best-of-three set. Game time is 5:30. The survivor meets Shaw's Jewelers for the "A" crown.

Boys Club tallied four runs in the 4th inning to break a 1-1 tie and hurler Dick Goldsworthy survived PBI's three-run 6th stanza to outpitch Leroy Nicholas in yesterday's season closer.

Goldsworthy struck out 13 batters and gave up four hits. Nicholas fanned eight while allowing five

Twin Beach Reports Season's First Ace

First golfing ace of the season for Twin Beach Country club was turned in yesterday by member Alfred Franks of Detroit, playing with Wynn Lancaster, Grant Walters and Jim Austin. Franks' four wood tee shot hit the No. 4 green, holed out on the first bounce for a 175-yard ace, only the 5th ever made at Twin Beach, and the first for 1958. It was also the first ace for the layout in three years. Fransk had 85 for the round, 40 on the first nine.

★ ★ ★

Twin Beach recently concluded its annual "ball-and-chain" (husband and wife) tourney, with Ed and Chris Urfels defeating Helen and Earl Harris, 1-up in 19 holes. Winners played six matches, had to go extra holes to win, on five of them.

Venturi Defends St. Paul Crown

★ ★ ★

Venturi faced the challenge of most of the ranking pros on the circuit, including PGA champ Dow Finsterwald, Masters titlist Arnold Palmer, Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead and Bob Rosburg.

They were pegged among the top favorites in the $25,000 tournament's silver anniversary.

It was hard to tell which was in greater jeopardy, Venturi's title or the record-tying 72-hole score of 266 he shot to earn it last year at Keller Course's par 36-36—72.

Ancient Community Unearthed in Mexico

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — An ancient mystery town unearthed from pre-historic lava near Mexico City, has been established as the oldest known urban center in Central Mexico by five University of California anthropologists.

Dr. Robert F. Heizer, professor anthropology, reported that he and his colleagues excavated three earth mounds 500 yards from the Cuicuilco Pyramid, which contained burials, pottery fragments and artifacts about 2,400 years old.

The mounds concealed man-made structures of large round boulders held together with clay. They apparently served as bases for the ritual temples of an ancient people.

With radioactive carbon the scientists were able to date the flow of the lava which covered the area at about 250 B.C. Heizer estimated the structures were abandoned some 200 years earlier but where the inhabitants went or why they left is a mystery.

Lou Costello's Fortunes Prospering After Split

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"When I saw Martin and Lewis break up, I thought it was a mistake. Now they're as big as ever doing singles. Maybe the same could happen to me."

This was Lou Costello's comment on his own breaking away from a long-time comedy team. And it appears that Lou's own fortunes are prospering now that he has made the split from Bud Abbott.

★ ★ ★

Tonight Lou makes his live debut as a single at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas. He's going back to where he got his start—playing comedy sketches ("Clean ones, mind you") in a Minsky's burlesque show. But it's not a matter of retrogression on Lou's part. He's drawing many, many times what he earned as a young comic amid the bumps and grinds.

Recently he completed two filmed shows for the new TV season. He plays a light comedy in a G. E. Theater segment and a straight drama in a Wagon Train adventure.

"That's right—straight drama," he emphasized. "This is a Lou Costello nobody has ever seen before. I play it with a heavy beard and all—and not a laugh in the whole show."

Initial reports of his work are so enthusiastic that other producers are interested. He is being wooed to play Debbie Reynolds' father in her next MGM feature. All this, plus his TV guestings with Steve Allen and others and the chance he may revive the old radio show "It Pays to Be Ignorant."

★ ★ ★

Unlike the Martin and Lewis split, Bud and Lou broke up amicably. The reason was simply that no one was buying Abbott and Costello. So they decided to separate and see if they could improve their fortunes alone. Bud chose to rest on his laurels. Not Lou.

He's busier than he was in the heyday of the A&C teaming. And happy too.

"I never felt so good in my life," he enthused. "When I used to come home from the studio while we were doing the comedies, I was mentally and physically exhausted. Nobody knew it, but I was almost sick. All those pratfalls! They take a lot out of you. I'd go to the studio feeling tired the next morning.

"But when I did those two dramatic shows, I felt terrific. I could hardly wait to go to work each day. Think what I've been missing all these years!"

Federal Judge Drops Henry Segregation Suit

Federal Judge Theodore R. Levin has dismissed the suit filed three years ago by Pontiac attorney Milton R. Henry who claimed the Pontiac Board of Education was practicing segregation.

Henry, who asked $1,000 damages from each board member, claimed in the suit his eight-year-old daughter's transfer to a school nearer the Henry home constituted segregation.

Judge Levin ruled in dismissing the suit that "the fact that in a given area a school is populated almost exclusively by the children of a given race is not itself evidence of discrimination."

Mexico Roads 'Trade Confusion for Logic

But not for long.

The Mexicans soon will install a new system so simple even the latest arriving tourist will be able to find his way around.

★ ★ ★

He'll not only know where he is but how far and in what direction he has to go to find what he's looking for.

★ ★ ★

The radical but logical system was devised by Enrique Elias

True, the well-to-do owner of a heavy equipment agency. It has been patented in both Mexico and the United States.

It's already being put into effect in Acapulco and several United States cities have shown an interest.

CABLES CONFUSED

For instance, there are 20 streets named Juarez. Some streets change names five or six times in a mile. As to numbers—well, 324 may be just next door to 22.

The center of the city, established by presidential decree in 1950, is the intersection of Tacuba, Puente de Alvarado, San Juan de Letran, and Sta. Maria la Redonda.

★ ★ ★

All numbers will branch from there. And they will be more than just numbers. They will represent the actual number of meters (slightly more than a yard) away from the center of the city.

If a building is located 357 meters away, that will be its number.

Next, the city will be divided into north, south, east and west zones. Street signs in each will be colored differently. For example, north may be purple, south gold, east blue, west red.

DON'T QUIT THERE

But that's not all.

The signs, about 28 by 20 inches and clearly visible, will have two arrows. The top one will be small, and will indicate the progression of numbers. If the number is 1132, and you want 1157, you follow the arrow. If you want 967, you go contrary to the arrow.

The large arrow is for traffic purposes. It will indicate the direction of the traffic flow. A red arrow will mean avenues, a green arrow ordinary streets.

Next, and very important, will be the name of the street in large letters. This is going to be a major problem — renaming streets.

Officials promise that under the new system, streets will keep their names, not change every few blocks—and no two streets will have the same name.

Chrysler Eyes Court for Aid Against Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Chrysler Corp. aimed court action today at an unauthorized walkout at its Twinsburg Stamping Plant. It declared a serious delay is threatened in getting 1959 models into production.

Next Monday the company is scheduled to call 42,000 employes back to work. The majority of them are in the Detroit area.

But the stoppage which began Monday with a picket line of 26 lift truck drivers at Twinsburg could affect production plans of all Chrysler divisions — Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto, Chrysler and Imperial. Large stampings for all these cars are produced here.

The company said it was asking Summit County Common Pleas Court to enjoin the men engaged in picketing.

Fearing possible violence, the company also asked Twinsburg and the county sheriff for extra police protection at the plant entrances and parking lots.

One of the world's deepest oil wells goes to 20,521 feet and is in the Wyoming oil basin. It was once abandoned and regarded as worthless.

Entertainer Charges Major Beat Him Up

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army says it is making a thorough investigation of an entertainer's charge that an Army major beat him up.

★ ★ ★

Timmie Rogers, Negro comedian and master of ceremonies for a troupe touring Army installations, made the accusation against Maj. Leonard Bailey of Salt Lake City, Utah, a veteran of 16 years Army service.

Rogers claimed that Bailey, on the night of Aug. 2, accused him of being late for a show at the officers club in Kaiserslautern and struck and kicked him.

★ ★ ★

The entertainer reported the incident to military police that night and later was treated at the Air Force hospital in Wiesbaden for broken ribs.

President Calls Troubled Area the 'Near East'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower, pinpointing the troubled area in the Arab world, used the term "Near East" throughout his speech yesterday.

In the reckoning of some geographers, this is a vast area extending from Greece, Turkey and Iran southward to east Africa and Pakistan. These geographers generally refer to the "Near East" as a smaller area usually including Cyprus, Turkey, Egypt and the Arab states east of Suez.

★ ★ ★

But in general, Americans have come to think of the whole area as the Middle East. It came with Britain's Middle East command in World War II.

Grain Market Drag Continues

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market was only barely in business again today with dealings still draggy and prices on the Board of Trade narrowly irregular.

★ ★ ★

Corn, which has been under the most constant pressure recently, was slightly weak, but other grains and soybeans held around steady in early transactions.

Export sales of corn continued at a good rate with 936,000 bushels booked for shipment under the government subsidy program by the end of November. About one-third must be shipped this month and next.

Near the end of the first hour, the market generally was weak. What was unchanged to ⅝ cent a bushel lower, September $1.83⅝; corn ¼ to ⅜ lower, September $1.27¼; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, September 62¾; rye ¼ to 1 cent lower, September $1.28⅜; soybeans unchanged to ⅛ lower, September $2.23¼; lard 5 cents a hundred pounds lower to 3 cents higher, September $12.42.

4 Area Residents Report Spotting Russian Satellite

Four Pontiac area residents report they were thrilled last night when they spotted one of Russia's satellites traveling over the area.

William Obel, of 29 Michigan Ave., and his wife first thought the man-made moon was a plane, but then decided the speed was too fast.

"We were in the yard and it was very visible about 9:35 p.m. . . . and looked like the rightest star," Obel said. He described the scene as "frightening."

Two Parke, Davis & Company employes in Rochester, Carl F. Church of 5355 Burgundy Dr., Independence Township, and Henry Cosey, 7025 Redmond St., Waterford Township, saw the moon about 19 minutes later while they were working.

"We watched it for about 30 seconds. It seemed to travel about three feet and light up and then go out and then repeat until it eventually went under a cloud," Church explained.

★ ★ ★

Former S-P Factory to House U.S. Offices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Studebaker-Packard's former Detroit auto plant may help to house a government agency.

★ ★ ★

Leasing of office space at an annual rental of $152,000 for the Detroit Ordnance District was approved yesterday by a House Armed Services subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

Selective Trade Market Feature

NEW YORK (AP)— Selective trading featured an irregular stock market today, with the accent on special situations and low-priced issues.

Changes ranged from fractions to a point or so in early trading. Most pivotal stocks moved in fractions.

For the second straight day, there was no late tape at the start. However, volume was a little heavier than yesterday.

AVCO and American Motors, the two most active stocks yesterday, both opened on blocks of 15,000 shares. American Motors was up a fraction to a new 1958 high and AVCO was steady.

Benguet, which closed yesterday at 1⅛, swung into the parade of low-priced stocks, moving on five blocks of from 1,000 to 10,000 shares. It was about unchanged.

H. L. Green opened on a block of 7,000 shares, up 1⅞ at 31⅞ and then cut the gain. Directors of the store chain approved a merger with Olen Co.

Murray Corp. rose a point or so after a favorable published report.

State May Surpass 1957 Record

Tourist Industry Booming

That was the word today from Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council.

Just returned from a tour of the Upper Peninsula and the northern Lower Peninsula, Furlong said he found "business good everywhere I went."

"Resorts, restaurants, motels which offer the tourist what he wants — good food, comfortable clean accommodations—are making money," he said.

Barring a siege of bad weather, Furlong said, there's a good chance the industry's gross income will equal or surpass last year's record 600 million dollars, recession notwithstanding.

"Actually, the recession has helped rather than hindered the tourist business in Michigan in some respects," he said.

★ ★ ★

"With this tight money situation, we've found that many people who might ordinarily have taken a long trip to the West or to another country are staying closer to home this year. Michigan, situated as it is within 500 miles of most of the large population areas, picked up a big share of that kind of tourist."

Other factors contributing to the rosy situation, he said, were:

1. The Straits of Mackinac Bridge, the state's newest and biggest single tourist attraction.

2. Good weather in July and early August after a siege of cold and rain in the spring and through much of June.

3. A steady increase in the size of the touring public.

4. Stepped up promotion programs on an area and community level.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

On the state level, Michigan's tourist advertising budget—$416,000 for 1958-59—currently ranks sixth among the states. Of this amount $120,000 goes to tourist associations in four areas of the state, the rest to the State Tourist Council.

In number of tourists, Michigan stands fourth.

Cement Makers Fear Invasion

Swiss Holding Firm Constructing Plant in Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune said yesterday it learned American cement manufacturers are concerned about an invasion of the Great Lakes area cement market by a Swiss holding company.

The size of the plant, its capacity and the ability of a holding company to operate on a narrower profit margin because of its diversification are the factors which are causing alarm to American manufacturers, the story said.

The holding company named is the Holderbank Financiere, Glaris, S. A. which through its St. Lawrence Cement Co. last November purchased a 1,400 acre site for the new six-million-barrel annual capacity plant.

The newspaper quoted a cement spokesman that in the Michigan area there already are enough plants to meet demand. It added that this could result in the new plant loading cement in bulk form on the Great Lakes ships and storing it in silos in large construction centers such as Chicago, which might bring on a cement price war.

The Tribune said, the plant may be completed for the 1959 construction season, and is expected to employ about 200 persons, including technical experts from Switzerland.

The Golden Gate bridge is about 8,949 feet in length; 4,000 feet between towers; and it rises an average of 746 feet above the waters of the bay and outlet to the Pacific.

Could Be 125,000 Higher

4th Quarter Car Output May Exceed Estimates

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)— If the car makers can escape a strike they will ship approximately 1,375,000 cars to retailers in this year's final quarter.

★ ★ ★

That's 125,000 more cars than originally were projected. But a strike is a real possibility. It would greatly upset production planning.

★ ★ ★

The auto workers' union plans a strike against one of the major car makers if contract negotiations are not successful before shipments of 1959 models are scheduled to start.

Should the industry escape a strike, this year's total car output will amount to approximately 4,313,000 units. In 1957 it totaled 6,115,454.

Retail sales could top factory output due to carryover and an inventory pileup earlier this year. But sales have been anything but encouraging in recent weeks. In the year's first six months they numbered about 2,370,000 units.

OVER 3 MILLION

Automotive News, commenting on January-June sales, says the total is the lowest since 1952, when deliveries numbered 2,139,875. Industry sources expect new model presentations to provide stimulus in car sales.

Running contrary to the general trend, foreign-built cars are attracting nearly twice as many buyers this year. January-June sales included more than 155,000 foreign-made units. In like 1957 about 80,000 imported cars were sold in this country.

American Motors, only U.S. auto maker to better its 1957 performance, accounted for nearly 79,000 unit sales in the first half of this year. In the like 1957 period deliveries numbered about 53,000 units.

While the over-all sales trend has been sharply downward in recent weeks, the continued tight rein on assembly line output has kept the dealer inventory from mounting. June retail sales totaled about 411,000 units. Unofficial computations indicate July sales amounted to fewer than 350,000 units.

What lies ahead of the industry with its 1959 model introductions continues to arouse considerable speculation in trade circles. Many expert observers are convinced price tags will have a major bearing on sales volume in the year ahead.

PRICES COMPETITIVE

Whatever else may be said about the industry it is competitive; its prices will be competitive. Few persons close to the industry believe some price increases can be avoided for 1959.

Yet there are many who say removal of the three per cent federal excise tax on freight will help retard price hikes.

That factor, however, probably will cut only lightly into the increased costs expected in various basic materials. Most important, perhaps, is what added costs will result from the yet-to-be drafted new labor contracts.

News in Brief

Nina Armstrong, of 87 Wall St., told Pontiac Police Wednesday that someone had entered her home and stolen a sewing machine valued at $129.

Dutch Lakes Line Bought by Another

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — The Oranje Line, a Dutch shipping line to the Great Lakes, has been taken over by another Dutch line, the Royal Packet Navigation Co., Ltd., of Amsterdam, it is reported.

The move is the result of the Amsterdam firm's efforts toward reorientation since losing its business in Indonesia. It is believed that about $13 million was involved in the purchase of Oranje Line stock.

The Oranje Line at present has eleven ships and another two on order. Its routes are between western European harbors and Canadian and U.S. harbors in the Great Lakes area.

Cafe Back in Business After Smelly Interlude

WASHBURN, Wis. (UP)—Hanson's Tip Top Cafe if back in business, but it took a crew of city workmen, a fire hose and a shotgun to get the front doors open.

The men used the hose and gun to get rid of a family of seven skunks that had made its winter home under the floor of a vacant store next door to the restaurant.

Arizona's population since 1950 has increased from 750,000 to 1,150,000.

Heart Attack Fatal to Presley's Mother

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Mrs. Vernon Presley, mother of rock and roll entertainer Elvis Presley, died in a Memphis hospital early today, apparently of a heart attack. She was 42.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Presley's physician said death came at about 4:15 a. m. (EST). It was unexpected, since she had reported "feeling so much better" only a few hours before.

Her husband was at her side when she died, but Elvis was asleep in his $100,000 mansion "Graceland" in suburban Whitehaven.

"She apparently died of a heart attack," the doctor said.

The husband said he was asleep on a cot in Mrs. Presley's room when he was awakened by her "suffering for breath" at about 4 a.m. He immediately summoned the physician, who pronounced her dead.

Elvis has been here on an emergency leave since Tuesday night, shortly after Mrs. Presley was admitted to the hospital for treatment of a liver ailment.

Betsy Palmer Sitting Out Video's Western Craze

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

★ ★ ★

"I will set here in New York and wait until the Western fad has worn itself out in television," said Miss Palmer happily.

SHE MEANS IT

And when Miss Palmer says sit, she means sit — on TV panel shows and TV game shows and filling in on accasion as women's editor of Dave Garroway's Today Show.

Meanwhile, gamesmanship has its rewards not altogether financial.

"I've never been one of these parlor game fiends," says Miss Palmer. "As a matter of fact, if I had a choice, I'd rather sit around and talk. I was surprised when the 'I've Got a Secret' people called me to ask me to fill in the first time—I can't remember whether it was for Faye Emerson or Jayne Meadows."

BECOMES REGULAR

Since then, Betsy has become an "I've Got a Secret" regular.

Betsy has achieved stature as a gamesman and ad libber, and she has faith that, like measles, Westerns are bound to run their course.

"I am very fond of my husband," says Betsy, "and it is very nice to be able to work and also be with him. Of course, if a very good film job came up, that would be different."

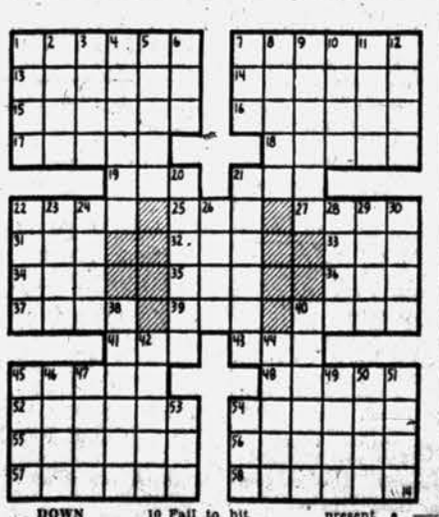

Meanwhile Miss Palmer and her husband have bought a big, old house just across the Hudson from New York and are launching an enormous remodeling job.

So between serving as major domo of the housing project, and playing games, Betsy is having a busy, busy summer. And maybe, come fall, the last roundup of the Westerns will be approaching.

Now someone's invented a golf ball that floats, and Ima Washout guesses it's for those wet 19th holes . . . Some wives we're told, never argue. (They just tell their husbands what's what, and let it go at that). — Earl Wilson.

Wife Divorces 'Spoiled' Actor Rock Hudson

Mrs. Phyllis Hudson, 32, was granted an uncontested divorce from the actor yesterday. After he became a big box office star, she testified he grew sullen and sometimes wouldn't talk to her for weeks at a time.

"Sometimes he would stay out all night and when I asked him where he had been, he would say, 'None of your business,'" she said.

Mrs. Hudson and the 32-year-old actor were married in November 1955. She was once secretary to Hudson's agent.

Under a property agreement she will receive a $35,000 home and $250 a week for 10 years. She charged mental cruelty.

World of Tomorrow Promises More People, More Jobs, More Pay

By SAM DAWSON
Third In Series
AP Business News Analyst

A bigger America — that's for sure. A better America—that's for us to decide. But chances are it will be better. And it might even be fantastic—for business right here at home as well as on space platforms and in colonies on the moon.

Growth of American business in the space age can be charted from figures we have today. We know there will be more people and therefore more needs. We know that research going on today will be able to meet these needs—and doubtless a lot of desires which right now we don't even know we'll have.

The business of meeting these demands and of spawning and then cultivating new desires — that's what the industrialist, the worker, the salesman will be up to when the next generation takes over.

There will be more jobs, more income per family. There is sure to be more youngsters to feed and educate, more cars to crowd more highways, more oldsters for the travel, entertainment and health industries to cater to, and a still higher percentage of Americans owning their own homes.

TV screens that hang on walls seem sure soon to be a salesman's item.

Stop worrying about leaving the windows open when you go out. Windows that close when it rains are nearing the drafting boards. You're barely used to blankets that heat as the temperature falls, before it's time to get ready for ones that cool you off on a hot night.

Now for the reasons that America is going to get a bigger and more crowded and therefore need so much more of the things you already use or know about:

★ ★ ★

You have only to project into time the millions of youngsters already born but still under marriage age to know that there will be a lot more families and a lot more middle - aged productive workers 10 and 20 years from now. True, marriages and birth rates rise and fall as times turn exceptionally good or exceptionally bad.

But remember, two million youths now turn 18 each year. Ten years hence there will be four million a year. And there's no reason to believe times will be bad in 1968.

There are 114 million persons now of driving age, and based on the known figures of present population there will be 132 million within 10 years. The auto industry confidently expects that the present 6 million families having two cars will have swelled to 12 million by then.

Industry leaders predict that just to take care of the greater population 15 years from now, with its added needs plus the added desires they intend to create, there will have to be 22 million more jobs. That will call for more business firms to make and distribute the growing total of production.

At its average rate over the last 15 years, the gross national product (the dollar value of the total output of goods and services) will go from its present 432 billion dollars annually to more than 700 billion dollars in the next 15 years.

Munich Views Kid Rocketeers

6 U.S. Students Build, Launch Three Rockets; Now Working on 4th

MUNICH (UPI) — This ancient Bavarian capital may be a long way from Cape Canaveral, Fla., but it has its American rocketeers and missile launching pad as well.

It also has, or rather did have its rockets as well — not giant Jupiters, but pencil-slim 16-pounders built by American students at the U.S. Army High School.

The strictly amateur missilemen began rocket construction under the supervision of pretty physics teacher Mary Rowe, who is from Santa Barbara, Calif. She and her six rocketeers caused a sensation recently when they announced plans to send a live mouse into "space" and bring it back unharmed.

When animal-loving Munich citizens heard of the proposed attempt they protested in letters to the local press.

"We decided then to fire the rocket without the mouse to avoid anti-American feelings," Miss Rowe said.

So far the amateur rocketeers have constructed three missiles — "Mustang," "Mad Cap" and "Elizabeth." They weighed, respectively, 16, 14 and 8 pounds and cost between $12 and $18 to build.

For a launching pad, Miss Rowe and her students dug an eight-foot hollow in an area used by U.S. paratroopers for training, lined it with cement and constructed a 14-foot launching runway.

First rocket tried was "Elizabeth." It climbed to the end of the launching pad and all three stages burned out at once. Then the launching of "Mustang" was in order.

"Mad Cap" went the highest, 1,200 feet. Then, according to schedule, the burned-out rocket drifted back to earth on a built-in parachute.
