Senator Sees Gap Before Extension

Surtax Time Running Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senior Republican on the Senate Finance Committee says it is highly doubtful Congress can complete action on the 10 per cent surtax extension bill by June 30.

Noting that the House is not expected to pass the bill until late next week at the earliest, Sen. John J. Wiliams said: "They're not going to be allowing us much time for Senate consideration."

The Nixon administration is strongly urging the measure be sent to the White House by midnight June 30, when the current 10 per cent surtax expires.

Williams said a number of matters could delay final action beyond June 30.

10 DAYS TO ACT

The Delaware Republican said it appeared the Senate would have only 10 days for finance committee and floor action and for a conference to settle any differences between the two houses.

Williams said he had advised Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy it would be wise for the administration to seek a temporary resolution extending present income tax withholding rates 30 or 60 days beyond June 30 while Congress works out the extension measure.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the finance chairman, has said he will open hearings on the legislation immediately after the House passes it.

These probably will last two or three days. In addition to Kennedy and other administration witnesses, Long is committed to hear business spokesmen protesting repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit.

The House Ways and Means Committee has decided to repeal the credit which permits companies to subtract from their tax bills up to 7 per cent of their spending on new plants and equipment.

Williams said two issues he might raise could complicate quick Senate action.

The other involves measures to close what he regards as big loopholes in the tax laws.

Plea to a Thief: Bring Bike Back

Whoever you are, please return Dennis McDowell's bicycle. There will be no questions asked.

You see, it isn't an ordinary bicycle. It has training wheels for its 10-year old owner because Dennis can't move his legs quite as well as other 10-year-olds.

DENNIS

Dennis is a burn victim. In January 1965, Dennis was burned over 80 per cent of his body in a home fire that claimed the lives of his sister, a brother, an uncle and the family dog.

Last February—after 22 months in the hospital, after 40 operations, a twisted spine and a scarred face that had to be rebuilt—the doctors decided that Dennis could again ride a bicycle.

RODE EVERY DAY

Thursday he walked to the front porch of his home at 78 S. Tasmania for a ride in that bright sunny morning. The bicycle had been stolen.

In the hospital, Dennis cried once. An orderly asked him why, and he said "Nothing." He never complained of the pain, and even tried to talk that same orderly out of taking him to surgery.

If you would ask Dennis what's wrong today, he would not admit the pain . . . but it is there.

JUST PUT IT BACK

Whoever you are, please return the bicycle. Day or night, just put it back on the porch at 78 S. Tasmania . . . no questions asked.

The bicycle could never mean more to you than it has to Dennis.

County Backs Rehabilitation Plan for Inmates

An attempt to provide some sort of rehabilitation program for prisoners at the Oakland County Jail needs only the approval of Sheriff Frank Irons.

The program as presented by the nationally sponsored Comprehensive Area Manpower Planning Systems (CAMPS) was endorsed yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors Human Resources Commission.

It reportedly will cost the county nothing.

CAMPS would make use of existing county services to provide alcoholism therapy, remedial education and perhaps work-training programs for prisoners according to Edward Revis, director of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity and CAMPS chairman.

SANCTION, SPACE

All the program needs is the sanction of the sheriff and the space in which to work, representatives told the committees.

"If there are any gaps in service to the people, the county jail is where they are," according to Philip Peterson, director of the South Oakland Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Peterson maintained that punishment in cooperation with rehabilitation can accomplish something — prisoners once started on rehabilitation programs can keep them up once they are free. "It can help to break the cycle of arrests and rearrests," he said.

A Genesee County official told supervisors of the success of a similar program being conducted there. He said a high percentage of prisoners are either functionally or mentally retarded and the training programs are their only salvation.

MANY TRAINED

The Genesee County program used a vacated property room as its classroom. The official said he has seen 11 prisoners gain the equivalent of a high school diploma, and many others trained for productive employment.

CAMPS officials pointed out that due

Rip-Roaring Party to Mark Trail's End

PAGOSA SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — In the best tradition of Abilene and Dodge City, railheads of the 19th century, Pagosa Springs welcomes today 600 cattle and the cowboys who drove them 160 miles to summer pasture.

The tiny ranching community, nestled in the shadows of the Rocky Mountains in southern Colorado, planned a free barbecue, Indian dances and a gala western dance to herald the end of Great Western Land and Cattle Co.'s 13-day cattle trek across western New Mexico.

"This is the first cattle drive to come here in 18 years," mayor Eldon Gibson said, "and we felt the community ought to welcome the cattle drive."

Gibson, who runs a local motel, and Pagosa Springs' 1,800 other residents braced themselves for an expected 2,500 persons at the barbecue.

A FEW THROUGH TOWN

The cattle drive, which began May 31 at Bluewater in central New Mexico, reached Pagosa Springs yesterday after winding its way along the continental divide and across two Indian reservations. The cowboys planned to drive a few cattle through town today as a symbol of the arrival.

Local barbecue experts began preparing 1,000 pounds of prime beef Thursday afternoon for 48 hours of cooking in an open pit west of town.

Before the barbecue, Indians from the nearby Jicarilla Apache and Southern Ute reservations were to dance along with the local champion 4-H club square dance team.

The 600 head of Charolais cattle will spend the summer in the lush 7,000-foot mountain meadows of southern Colorado.

SENTIMENTAL PLUS

The drive was staged as much for sentimental as for economic reasons, Great Western officials indicated. They also said the cattle would gain weight on the drive across grasslands.

Murdered Girl Had Dream: Combating Social Problems

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR — Alice Elizabeth Kalom's ambition was "to combat social problems" and she said "an important place to begin this work is with young people and in a location where they are conveniently gathered—the school."

That's why the 21-year-old sixth girl victim of murder in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in less than two years had applied to the University of Michigan to begin graduate study next January toward a master's degree in social work.

While police in this university community searched for the killer, Alice's parents buried their only daughter today in a grave 100 miles from where she was brutally murdered.

The body of Alice lay in the First Congregational Church in Kalamazoo as friends from the University of Michigan paid their last respects to the recent graduate, who was slain sometime Sunday morning.

University of Michigan coed slain in what police say are six sadistic murders that may have been committed by the same person.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey said the four police agencies studying the unsolved crimes have uncovered leads they won't talk about yet and have had suspects who "look good."

"I definitely don't think we're on a dead-end street," Harvey said. "We do have something we can't talk about. And several suspects we have in mind look good."

Joseph Kalom, the father of the latest victim, who earlier castigated university officials for not offering enough protection to coeds on the sprawling University of Michigan campus, said today he was donating $1,000 to the university's art school from which his daughter was graduated in May.

GRADUATION GIFT

The $1,000 was to have been a gift to Alice for a trip to Europe she had planned this summer.

Alice drew a character self-portrait of herself in applying for graduate study, saying she wanted "to explore as many avenues as possible" to better prepare herself for teaching.

Miss Kalom earned a bachelor's degree in art in May and expected to receive a teaching certificate in August, and would have been accepted for graduate work.

Dr. Thomas J. Larkin, professor of art, wrote that he understood that "a strong sense of social responsibility, which she feels will not be satisfied in the art field" led to her switch.

Weekend Scene: Cool, Damp Days

The weatherman seems to have changed his mind about the weekend forecast. Yesterday, he predicted sunny skies today.

The prediction this morning was light showers through tonight.

The official forecast looks like this:

TODAY — Increasing cloudiness with chance of occasional light rain this afternoon, high 64 to 69. Cloudy and cool tonight with occasional light showers ending by morning. Low 43 to 49.

MONDAY — Mostly fair with little temperature change.

Probabilities of precipitation are 30 per cent today, 40 tonight and 20 tomorrow.

Fifty was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The 2 p.m. reading was 60.

Hitches Figure as GIs Withdraw

DONG TAM, South Vietnam (AP) — "I don't believe it. I just don't believe it."

That's what jubilant "short-timers" in the U.S. 9th Infantry Division were saying today after they heard the unit's 1st and 2nd brigades would be leaving Vietnam soon.

But some of their buddies who still have several months of their one-year tour to go were less enthusiastic.

Maj. Gen. Harris W. Hollis, commander of the 9th Division, indicated there would be some reorganization to assure that the men who have served the most time in Vietnam would be among those going home first.

"As a general rule," Hollis said, "those who have completed the major portion of their normal tours may expect to be redeployed. Those who still have a significant period to serve before their 12-month tour will be completed can expect to remain in Vietnam under current guidelines."

The U.S. Command also announced Regimental Landing Team 9 of the 3rd Marine Division would be withdrawn.

County on Verge of Ambulance Crisis

(EDITOR'S NOTE — An ambulance crisis faces many Michigan communities. Its effect in Oakland County is examined in this, the first of a three-part series.)

By DICK ROBINSON

Crash!

Two cars collide on a rural road in a sparsely populated area of Oakland County. One person is seriously injured and bleeding.

He needs an ambulance. Today the wait for that ambulance probably will not be the difference between life and death. After July 1, the wait will get noticeably longer.

Three funeral homes of the seven in the county which offer emergency ambulance service are going out of the ambulance business at the end of this month, they said.

Pontiac Press Photo

An Ambulance Streaks Into The Night On A Lifesaving Mission

The exodus of the funeral directors from the ambulance business will leave the whole western side of the county without an area-based ambulance service.

Police officers in the northern and western sections of the county have told the health department their citizens would be in "dire danger" if the area funeral directors lay their ambulance services to rest.

Ambulances from adjoining counties or from other parts of Oakland County will have to make long trips into these low-population areas. Ambulances will take longer to get to the scene of an injury.

NEW REGULATIONS

Funeral directors have been dropping out of the ambulance business for years in every state, but a mass exodus is expected in Michigan because of new regulations going into effect July 1. A minimum wage is stipulated for attendants, along with first aid training.

The largest number of ambulances — some 65 per cent — were operated from funeral homes just two years ago, according to a survey of the Michigan Department of Public Health. Now most are run by private ambulance companies.

Pentagon Gag on Aide Is Off in About-Face

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, in a crisp about-face says a civilian efficiency expert who was ordered yesterday to withhold testimony from a subcommittee probing defense spending will be available to the congressmen next week.

The subcommittee already has been informed that the expert, A. Ernest Fitzgerald, feels the practice of contract-supervising military officers later being employed by contractors or parent firms is "common enough to be our next national scandal."

When appearing before the Senate-House economic subcommittee yesterday, Fitzgerald disclosed he had been ordered to withhold documents related to the Mark II electronics program for the F111 fighter-bomber and the C5A superjet transport. He said he didn't believe this material presented sensitive national security problems.

* * *

PERMISSION GRANTED

John L. McLaus, acting secretary of the Air Force, said last night that Fitzgerald would be made available to the subcommittee next Tuesday, or any other date.

He defended the earlier decision to ask Fitzgerald not to provide further "partial information" pending a full departmental response to the request for information on contract matters.

Proxmire had demanded the Pentagon explain its orders to Fitzgerald — which Fitzgerald said came just 15 minutes before he was scheduled to testify — or produce, by Tuesday, the documents Proxmire had sought.

Fitzgerald had said a memorandum from his superior, Asst. Secretary of the Air Force Thomas H. Nielsen, informed him that it would be "inappropriate for anyone from this office to release additional information" concerning programs in view of the defense agency's efforts to respond to Proxmire's request for information.

DOCUMENTS SOUGHT

Proxmire had asked Fitzgerald for documents to substantiate the witness' contention that the Pentagon is indifferent to cost control, is hostile to workers who want to reduce costs and favors contracts with padded prices that keep large contractors in business.

Meanwhile, the subcommittee has been told five Air Force officers who helped oversee a missile components contract later were employed by the contractor or its parent firm. The company built the guidance-and-contol system for the Minuteman II, the nation's primary retaliatory rocket.

* * *

The reports on the officers came from testimony Tuesday by management commemoranda by Fitzgerald made available by the Pentagon and placed in the subcommittee record yesterday.

Marine, Buddies Killed in Crash

A 19-year-old Pontiac Marine and four of his friends were killed this morning, apparently while on their way home from North Carolina, when their car left I-75 south of Monroe and struck a bridge.

John E. Johnson, 65 Peggy, was identified by State Police of the Erie post as a passenger in the car.

Troopers said the driver, David P. Bianco, 21, of Portage, apparently fell asleep about 5:10 a.m.

All five were believed en route to their homes from Camp Lejeune, N.C. They were pinned in the car about 30 minutes.

Other victims were listed as Edward L. Lisiechki, 21, of Allen Park; Michael T. Phillips, 20, of Lincoln Park; and Richard B. Quiliette, 20, of Pinconning.

House Pours Out Last-Minute Bills

LANSING (AP)—Compulsory arbitration for police and firemen, guaranteed automobile insurance for high-risk drivers and stiffer rules governing private nursing home operators are among last-gasp measures to emerge from the Michigan House of Representatives.

The bills face Senate review in coming weeks, after the Legislature completes action on Gov. William G. Milliken's $1.52 billion budget, now some $20 million above his recommendations.

Deadline for action on the budget is June 28 and the two chambers have allowed themselves until July 11 to review the other's proposals.

The lower chamber labored long into the night yesterday, committed to a Senate-imposed deadline to approve or kill all bills by midnight.

TEMPERS SHORTER

Tempers grew shorter as the workload dwindled, and House Speaker William A. Ryan and his Democratic floor lieutenants had to call an early-evening caucus to quell a rank-and-file attempt to dump the whole pile of bills into the September basket.

* * *

Milliken, with apparent acquiescence of legislative leaders, has indicated he'll propose educational reforms based on recommendations of his blue-ribbon commission.

Postponement until autumn of 128 measures could distract legislators from the undivided attention Milliken hopes to command for his own plans.

* * *

NO PENALTIES

While the House bill provides for arbitration after a 30-day period of free, collective bargaining, it does not contain penalties written in the Senate bill. That measure proposes a $500-a-day fine to either party not adhering to rulings by the arbitration board.

Soviets, Offering Talks to Peking, Snub Land Cry

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union published today a note rejecting Chinese claims to Soviet territory. However, it offered to make border adjustments in negotiations in the next few months.

The lengthy note, containing a historical review of Russia-Chinese border agreements, was delivered to the Chinese embassy in Moscow yesterday. It was published today by the Soviet Communist party newspaper and distributed by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The Soviet Union proposed the two countries meet in Moscow "within the next 2-3 months."

The note is the latest step in an exchange that began March 29 with a Soviet proposal for border talks.

FLARING INTO OPEN

Earlier that month the longs-mouldering Soviet-Chinese conflict had broken out in an open fight along the Ussuri River.

In a hurry to stop further outbreaks, the Soviet Union originally proposed that negotiations start on April 15. However, China waited until May 24 to reply that it was willing to hold talks.

The 4,500 mile Chinese border has been the scene of thousands of incidents and conflicts in recent years. Most of them went unnoticed until two bloody clashes on the Far Eastern Ussuri River border last March 2 and again on March 14 and 15.

The Soviet Union reported 31 Soviet border guards were killed and 14 wounded in the first battle. No casualty figures were given for the second conflict. Chinese losses were never reported.

During the past week China and the Soviet Union exchanged a new series of notes over another incident in which a woman herder was reported killed.

The note did not specifically mention the incident. It said Soviet border guards strictly avoid border violations and expressed a hope that the Chinese would do likewise.

OU Plans Setup on Teaching the Disturbed

Oakland University will begin a new master's degree program this fall to prepare teachers in special education for emotionally disturbed children.

Students completing the program will receive fron OU's School of Education a master-of-arts-in-teaching degree.

They also will be certified to the Michigan State Department of Education as having met all requirements for certification as special education teachers for emotionally disturbed children.

Long-range objectives for the new program will include establishment of an interdisciplinary center, to be known as the Oakland University Research and Training Center, for work in the area of the emotionally disturbed.

COMMUNITY LINK

The center is envisioned as an integral part of a communitywide agency charged with planning for the mental health and education of all exceptional children.

In citing the need for more teachers for emotionally disturbed children, Dean Laszlo J. Hetenyi of the OU School of Education showed that of 67,790 emotionally disturbed children in the state, only 800 were enrolled in public school classes specially designed for them.

The survey showed there were only 70 teachers in public school programs for emotionally disturbed and 6,770 were needed, Hetenyi said.

* * *

Statistics for the tri-county (Wayne, Oakland and Macomb) areas revealed that only 520 of the 22,921 children needing special services were being taught in public school programs for the emotionally disturbed.

Birmingham

Local Firm Controls 2nd Swiss Bank

BIRMINGHAM — Urania Investment Co., a Birmingham-based partnership led by Donald H. Parsons spearhead of a Detroit organization of investors known as the "Parsons Group," has acquired control of the Urania Bank of Zurich, Switzerland.

This is the second Swiss bank acquired by the group in less than a year. The first bank, Bank Winterstein, was purchased in October.

Urania Investment has acquired 50 per cent of the shares by par value of the Urania bank and has been assigned the voting rights to all of the outstanding shares.

Parsons, a Birmingham attorney, is chairman of COMAC, a local consulting firm, and chairman of Detroit's Bank of the Commonwealth.

NUMEROUS BANKS

He and his organization, consisting mainly of University of Michigan graduates and Detroit-area bankers, attorneys and industrialists, have acquired control of numerous banks in Michigan in recent years and only recently began seeking international interests.

Urania is a retail bank specializing in consumer installment credit and savings deposits. Bank Winterstein specializes in international banking.

On the Urania purchase, Parsons said, "We see it as an opportunity to contribute to the growth of a relatively underdeveloped segment of European financial markets. Consumer credit is growing much faster in Europe than in this country."

"In Switzerland it has doubled in the last five years, but it is still far behind the United States, with only $37 of credit outstanding per person as compared to over $500 in the United States."

'GROWTH INEVITABLE'

"Rapid growth is inevitable as mass consumption of durables such as automobiles, refrigerators and television sets begin to approach U.S. standards."

George B. Kilborne of 1045 Suffield, the other major participant in the Urania deal, is managing partner of COMAC, and chairman of the Muskegon Bank and Trust Co. and the Public National Bank of Washington, D.C.

U.S. Widens Wiretap Scope to Hit 'Internal Subversives'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has claimed broad new powers to use wiretapping against organizations and persons it suspects of trying to "foment violent disorders" across the nation.

Moreover, the Justice Department contended yesterday, the government does not have to secure court approval before installing electronic surveillance devises in such domestic cases.

In a memorandum filed in U.S. District Court in Chicago, the department admitted bugging at least five of eight antiwar demonstrators charged with conspiracy in connection with disorders during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

It said the wiretaps were designed to gather "foreign intelligence information" and to collect information "deemed necessary to protect the nation from attempts of domestic organizations to use unlawful means to attack and subvert the existing structure of the government.".

Both types of surveillance, the government said, were perfectly legal and were carried out under "the inherent power of the President" to engage in any intelligence gathering operations he "believes are necessary to protect the security of the nation."

Such presidential authority, relegated Such authority has long been recognized in cases of wiretapping for foreign intelligence purposes.

Decisions on whether to employ electronic surveillance in those cases, the department said, fall "peculiarly within the area of executive rather than judicial competence" and, therefore, are not "subject to judicial review in a warrant proceeding."

Just as the President can authorize surveillance necessary "to protect the nation against hostile acts of foreign powers," the memorandum contended, "similar considerations compel the conclusion" he has the constitutional power to use wiretaps against subversive domestic organizations.

Loss of $2 Million a Year Feared

New Medical Facility Pushed

Oakland County moved towards a new medical care facility for the indigent yesterday, even as supervisors showed concern over pending state legislation which could remove $2 million a year from the present medical program.

The County Board of Supervisors Human Resources Committee assigned priority in the county's capital outlay program to a 200-bed medical-care facility costing an estimated $3 million.

The priority, however, is subject to results of a $50,000 medical-needs survey recommended by the committee, and to the approval of the full board of supervisors.

No construction timetable was recommended, but supervisors pointed out that the license of the present County Sanatorium probably will not be renewed within the next five years.

The county has had to update the present facility yearly in order to meet state requirements, officials said. Supervisors also noted that the building is 40 years old. Meanwhile the committee expressed fear that legislation approved by the State House of Representatives and now in the Senate Appropriations Committee would remove nearly $2 million a year in state reimbursements for medical care.

The legislation would do what State Director of Social Service Bernard Houston has threatened to do — cut hospital reimbursement rates to the lower level nursing homes receive.

Costs at the sanatorium are estimated at $38 a day, and the county has been reimbursed for the full amount. The maximum reimbursement under the proposed legislaton is $17 a day.

The county could have to ante up to $1.25 million a year extra for the sanatorium and for patients in private hospitals, should the legislation pass and care be maintained at its present level, Chairman Daniel T. Murphy said.

Another area in which the county would suffer is in shared medicare costs for direct relief patients. The state now pays 40 per cent of those costs, but the bill would remove this obligation.

That tab could easily amount to another $55,000 a year, social service officials indicated.

The matter was referred to a special meeting of the legislative committee called for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

to lack of space, Oakland County's program in the beginning necessarily would be small.

They viewed construction of the new jail with facilities for rehabilitation programs as the prime setting for a more extensive program.

Spy-Swap Deal Seen

LONDON (AP) — The American spy team of Morris and Lola Cohen may be returned to the Soviet Union under a deal being negotiated by Russian and British authorities.

The British Foreign Office announced yesterday that negotiations were being conducted for the release of Gerald Brooke, a British citizen imprisoned in the Soviet Union in 1965 on a charge of distributing anti-Communist leaflets.

Ambulance Crisis Nearing

One main reason funeral directors cite for abandoning their ambulances is that they can't afford to pay attendants and drivers the required $1.60 per hour minimum wage to sit around and wait for an ambulance call.

"Most funeral directors have been paying ambulance help $5 per call," says Edward Bossardet, president of the Oakland County Ambulance Association. He runs Bossardet Funeral Home in Oxford, which is not dropping out of the business.

'GETS COSTLY'

"It will get costly to pay a man the minimum wage whether he goes out or not, and then overtime and double time," he remarked. "Most of the funeral homes don't have enough emergency calls to make a go of it."

Funeral directors answer only an estimated 10 per cent of the daily emergency calls.

For many county funeral directors, who charge anywhere from $12 to $30 a call plus mileage and supplies, the wage increase wipes out the profit from ambulance runs.

"Paying the minimum straight time would cost us $70 from an accident in Oxford to a Pontiac hospital," Bossardet comments.

$5,000 A YEAR

"One ambulance now costs us $5,000 a year to serve the community."

Other funeral directors planning to drop their ambulance service say they can't put up with the increased cost of Medicare and Medicaid, and can't find help over 21 years of age who meet the new requirements.

Medicare has increased the costs of record keeping and billing. Collections have been slow, and this has reduced the cash flow.

"We can't find qualified people over 21 to run the ambulances," says Richard Phillips of Phillips Funeral Home in South Lyon. "We've been using high school students who don't have advanced first aid training."

SAME PROBLEM

Nearby Harbin Funeral Home in Novi said it has the same employment problem. Both report they are going out of the ambulance business.

Residents now served by Phillips and Harbin will have to depend on ambulances 10 to 15 miles away from Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne counties, they said.

A Michigan law taking effect in July requires that every ambulance driver, attendant or driver-attendant have training equivalent to the American Red Cross advanced first aid course.

For some funeral homes — Sherman in Ortonville and Bossardet in Oxford there is no problem. They use regular employes who already have first aid training.

AN OBLIGATION

Funeral directors who are staying in the ambulance business feel as does William Price of Price Funeral Home of Troy. He said: "I feel we are primarily a funeral home, not an ambulance service, but we will continue the service as an obligation to our community."

Some in the funeral business have other opinions. "I don't think funeral homes should be in the ambulance business at all," insisted Mrs. Jon Flumerfelt of Flumerfelt Funeral Home in Oxford.

They will discontinue their part-time nonemergency home calls July 1, she explained. They stopped traffic accident service about three years ago.

"With Roth's Home for Funerals in Romeo going out," says Bossardet, "that leaves the whole northeastern side of Oakland County to be covered by St. Onge in Avon Township and us in Oxford."

Highway researchers have calculated that 50 to 75 per cent of rural highway deaths need not have occurred if prompt and experienced emergency medical services had been available.

Even so, most people have a supreme confidence that an ambulance will arrive quickly whatever the hour of day or night. Actually, in many parts of the nation — and even Oakland County — people may not get the ambulance service they expect.

(Next: The New Law.)

Forty-three funeral directors are in business in Oakland County.

According to the county health department, seven provide emergency ambulance service. Three are going out of business. Four remain to handle accident cases.

The seven providing emergency service and one nonemergency (Flumerfelt) are:

N. Carolina Governor Stumps for Cigarette Tax After Rebuff

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott flies across North Carolina today, taking to the people his campaign for a tax of five cents a pack on cigarettes after it sustained a major rebuff in the legislature.

North Carolina, a major grower of tobacco and producer of cigarettes, is the only state without a tobacco tax, and no other governor has ever asked for one. The cigarette tax would raise an estimated $50 million of the $95.5 million in proposed new taxes. The total state budget is a record $3.58 billion.

The governor supported the cigarette tax in a statewide radio and television broadcast Friday, saying it is needed for such things as pay raises for teachers.

On Thursday, its opponents in the legislature had the revenue package sent back to the house finance committee. The committe was instructed to seek an alternative to the cigarette tax and report back to the House Wednesday.

FIVE STOPS

Scott planned stops at Asheville, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Wilmington and Greenville. A newsman asked him whether he would agree to a compromise.

"I'm sticking with the package," he said, "once it's broken, there's no telling what could happen . . . it could fly into a million pieces."

Among possible compromises mentioned frequently by legislators is a tax of two cents a pack on cigarettes and one cent a bottle on soft drinks.

With Democrats deeply divided on the tobacco tax issue, the 29 Republicans in the 120-member House held the balance of power in Thursday's crucial vote.

Republican state headquarters said a GOP "truth squad" would trail Scott on his swing, appearing after him at each stop to try to discount his arguments.

Scott said in Friday's broadcast that legislators who voted against the revenue package "let emotion take precedence over their better judgment."

Without the new taxes, "new and vital programs" for the state will go down the drain, he said, adding that the proposed state budget "is a conservative one."

Republican rontentions that it can be cut "are misleading" he said.

Fires Spread From AF Collision

ELMENDORF AFB, Alaska (AP) — Two forest fires, started by flaming debris of two Air Force jets that collided in mid-air Friday, spread rapidly as reinforcement fire fighters were rushed to the scenes late Friday.

The crew members of both planes parachuted to safety earlier in the day.

The fire containment efforts were more than usually hazardous because of air-to-air missiles carried by one of the planes, an F-102 Delta Dagger all-weather supersonic interceptor, that apparently were unexploded in the collision.

LOCATION PINPOINTED

Fred Cook, a spokesman for the Bureau of Land Management, said the flaming wreckage started fires at Castle Rock and Amos Lake, about 156 miles south of the Galena Airport.

One of the fires had spread over 100 acres by late Friday and the other was expected to reach the same magnitude by early today.

There were 12 men fighting the Castle Rock blaze, and 16 jumpers were sent into Amos—with 53 more men scheduled to go in early today.

An Air Force spokesman said the firefighters had been over 10 acres by late Friday, feet away from the unexploded missiles.

Truckload of 'Pot' Awaits Its Owner

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — The U.S. Customs Office at Nogales has a new truck loaded with a $176,000 cargo it says owners may claim.

The 1969 stake-bed truck was left on the Papago Indian Reservation Wednesday. The truck's occupants fled into Mexico when Indian police attempted to intercept the vehicle.

Dad Reigns Tomorrow

Tomorrow we pay tribute to the Old Man. It's his day, you know — Father's Day.

Over the years, the distaff members of society have reaped the lion's—er, lioness'—share of sentimental tribute, in song, prose and poetry. The appeal of the mundane male of the species has been all but obscured by the more glamorous and compelling image of the female.

But back in 1910, a Spokane, Wash., matron took pity on the plight of the nominal heads of families and came up with the idea of an annual day on which the fathers would be kings of their castles and family members his subservient and devoted subjects. The idea spread throughout the United States and Canada, and in 1936 the Day won national recognition.

So it is that on the third Sunday of each June we endeavor to let Fathers know that they aren't entirely taken for granted, that the sacrifices they habitually make for the benefit of their loved ones is indeed known and appreciated as is their day-to-day devotion to the well-being of those who cherish them as skippers of family ships.

It doesn't take much to ignite an inner glow of gratitude in the hearts of fathers—much as they may profess disdain for sentimentality in all its forms. A gift, regardless of value; a card; a special bit of thoughtfulness will do the trick.

And maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea to let the spirit of Father's Day find expression on undesignated occasions throughout the year.

John L. Lewis

JOHN L. LEWIS, a labor leader who became legendary during his lifetime, died at 89.

With the possible exception of SAMUEL GOMPERS, no champion of the working man has more profoundly advanced the cause of labor than the bushy-browed oratorical longtime president of the United Mine Workers and the first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO). Through the 1930s and 1940s, few names made more headlines as, under his leadership, the UAW-CIO breached the anti-union defenses of industry, notably that of the automotive.

Always a controversial figure who crossed swords with the Nation's industrial giants and on occasion defied the Congress and the White House, Lewis held true to his course of upgrading the lot of his union membership. He had little patience with emergent labor leaders who became political and social activitist, and vented his scorn of them impartially.

Born into an Iowa family of coal miners, LEWIS quit school in the seventh grade to drive mules in the mines. But his ability and ambition quickly took him out of the pits and into leadership roles in the American Federation of Labor. In 1919, he took over the presidency of the mine workers organization.

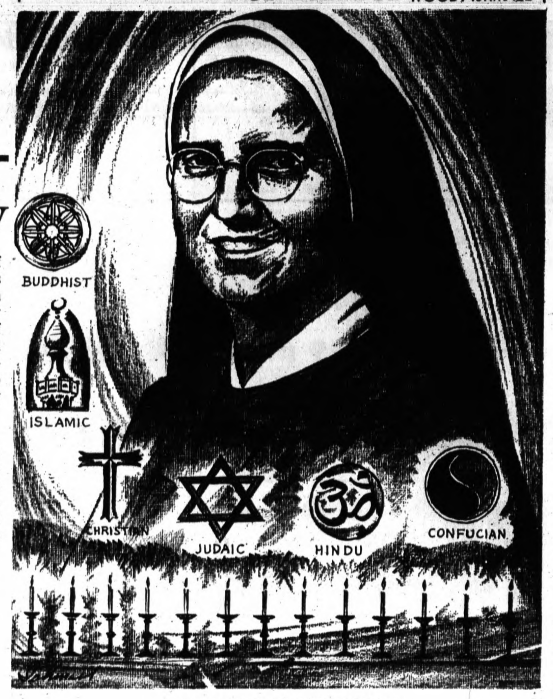
It was inevitable that in implementing his crusade on behalf of labor he would become anathema to segments of his countrymen while reflecting a heroic image to millions of others. But never was his personal integrity brought into question nor his basic Americanism.

Few men have more deeply etched their presence on the annals of their times than did John Lewis.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL



SPIRITUAL SUMMIT CONFERENCE NO. 2

Sister Barbara Mitchell, Order of the Sacred Heart, was one of three representing the Roman Catholic faith at the Spiritual Summit Conference in Calcutta, India. To Sister Barbara the five-day meeting of the 30 distinguished spiritual leaders, representing two and a half billion adherents to 11 world religions was an inspiring experience.

She said, "The most important thing about it was that it happened and it could be done. It proved we are all human beings first . . . how easy it was to find the common denominator and easy to accept."

Sister Barbara, conscious of the relevance of religion to the modern world because of her work with young people at Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart, Purchase, N.Y., was interested in observing the young people at the conference. They made their presence felt in a quiet reverent way. On the last evening of the conference the students proposed a closing prayer from thirteen of the participants.

In succession a representative from each religion stepped forward, lit a candle and said a prayer. When the 13th had finished there was silence for a moment. Then the grandfather clock at the end of the room struck 11. To Sister Barbara Mitchell and others there it was almost an omen. Can man solve his problems of prejudice, poverty, violence and war or is it the 11th hour.

'Flashing Traffic Signal Hazard to Safe Driving'

The flashing signal light at Paddock and Auburn is a hazard to safe driving. Many motorists do not know what it means. This is a high accident area and the traffic light does not help matters. When the light is in operation it only holds for 30 seconds.

If a person is in such a hurry that he cannot wait 30 seconds, he has no business driving a motor vehicle. He should be flying an airplane.

Comments on Orion School Millage Defeat

Hooray! We voters sure defeated this last Lake Orion millage proposal. Those greedy schools—always wanting more money. They'll just have to learn to cut down on all their frills like all common folk have to. Besides, I already pay too much in taxes, and food costs keep rising. If I voted for higher property taxes, how could I keep up the payments on my color TV, my stereo and my truck camper—let alone finance the new carpeting for my kitchen?

Expresses View on Commencement Music

Dr. Tatroe and Mr. Porter, thank God my children do not attend Waterford Kettering High School. I was shocked, as were many more guests at commencement, when you allowed your young graduates to receive their diplomas without a prelude of the National Anthem. I can now see where it's possible to have such a thing as draft dodgers and draft card burners in our wonderful country, when you conduct a program with as much importance as high school commencement and use the prelude "Great Themes from Great Italian Movies," instead of our National Anthem.

'Suggest Dress Code Be Set by Student Vote'

In the fall, when Pontiac Northern resumes school, there will be a new dress code in effect. Designed to restrict the students' rights, the dress code is a fine example of the narrow-mindedness in our school system and in the school systems throughout the Nation. Instead of letting the administration and a few select students and parents decide what is right for us, why not let us decide in a school election? Is it because the administration is afraid to let the students voice their opinions?

'Greatness Not Gained Through Demands'

This is the greatest and wealthiest country on earth but it did not get this way by rioting and demanding something for nothing. It got to be great by hard work, sweat and blood, law and order. How did great scientists, doctors, etc., get to be so great when they were only taught the simple 3 R's—without fancy buildings, swimming pools, sex education, etc. They worked for what they are.

Today high school graduates can't even read the comics or add two and two. But they know how to demand something for nothing. Who is to blame for this? The parents and greedy politicians.

Confident Living:

See if Solitude Can Work for You

By NORMAN V. PEALE

It seems there is a new status symbol in our society. It's called a PET. Now that used to mean a dog or a cat when I was growing up in the Midwest, but not today. Today, it's a Portable Electronic Telephone. I met a fellow the other day who owns one. It seems it cost him only $2,500. Imagine that, a pet that costs $2,500. And what does it do? Well, it's a telephone that fits into a small briefcase. You carry it around, and anybody, anywhere, can call you up. It doesn't matter where you are, you can be reached on the telephone.

DR. PEALE

This phone, in its briefcase, only weighs 14 pounds. All you have to do is carry it around and no matter where you are, day or night, you can get a telephone call. Anyone, in any part of the world, can ring you up and talk to you. And you can do the same thing to them.

Of course, I guess you don't have to answer the phone, but when you've paid that much for it, maybe you can't resist it. The man that told me he bought one said that now he could go out fishing alone and feel calm about it. He wouldn't be missing any important business transactions.

Well, I believe in progress and I certainly believe in technology. But I also believe in the human spirit. Communication with other people is a wonderful thing. But I wonder if communication carried this far isn't losing its meaning.

Before communicating with others, it's important that each of us learn to communicate with himself. It may be surprising, if you cut off the outside world, how much you have to say to yourself.

Too often we tend to think of solitude as something to be avoided at all costs. It can be much, much more than that. It can be one of the most important things in our life. Moreover, at times it can tell you far more with much greater eloquence than the longest conversation.

Alfred Lord Tennyson spoke of the "beautiful voice of silence," and Andrew Malraux, the French novelist, described the most beautiful works of art of all time as the "voices of silence."

Just as everybody needs a vacation from work, so do we need respite from noise and chatter. Without solitude it's almost impossible to come to grips with the complexity of life and discover the perspective to resolve our difficulties.

While trying to prepare an address for a business convention in Miami Beach last winter, I became aware that mounting tension within me was blocking the flow of creative ideas. Frustrated, I left my hotel room and went to the beach. I was alone with the sea and the sky, with the wind, the sun and the palm trees.

Then, with my back against a tree, I looked at the sky which Emerson so aptly called "the daily bread of the soul." As I listened to the deep roar of the sea, I began to feel quiet, relaxed, and peaceful. What wonderful healing there is in the sea, sand, sun and wind!

Right of Private Property Disregarded

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

Everybody is searching for the basic causes for today's many problems. We all hope that if we can isolate the real causes we will find the right and proper remedies.

DIRKSEN

Take the problem of crime. An examination of the state and federal codes reveals that most crimes are identified with property. There are exceptions, such as murder in the heat of argument or conflict, and rape. But for the most part crimes are related to property.

What is the essence of robbery, burglary, larceny, embezzlement, extortion, the confidence game, looting and homicide during robbery? It is the taking of another's property.

The riots in our major cities were all attended by looting and theft. So deliberate and far-flung were those efforts that even in the nation's capital it was possible for network television cameras to set up and get good shots of the whole mess while it was happening.

Thirty-five years ago we began to hear, to see and to feel the emphasis on what was called "human rights." Well, let's have a look at human rights. They are easily enumerated.

There are the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of human happiness, and all agree they are good. There are the rights set forth in the first 10 Amendments to the Constitution, such as peaceable assembly, freedom of speech and press and trial by jury, and with those, too, there is no controversy. There is the right to vote, and the Congress has gone quite far in protecting and implementing that right.

But there was also written into the Constitution another right. In the 14th Amendment, the Congress, and the people by their ratification on the amendment, provided: "nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law." In the 5th Amendment, a part of the Bill of Rights, is the provision that no person shall be "deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law" by the federal government.

However, rioters, looters and criminals seem to be able to do so with impunity.

In all the academic dialogue about human rights in the last 35 years, we seem to have forgotten about property rights. It raises a basic question: Can there be a stable, secure society without the sanctity and protection of property rights?

So you have a deed to your home. What gives it value? Not the signature of the grantor or the fact that it is recorded in the courthouse or that there was a consideration for the sale or that the proper stamps were affixed to the deed. It has value because a stable society respects and protects property rights.

What then is needed? Two things. The first is a re-education of the country as to what the right of private property means to a stable, peaceful society. The second is an all-out vigorous enforcement of the law where this right is flouted and abused.

REPLY

Writer's Digest, found on many newsstands, gives information on how to publish novels, poetry and other manuscripts.

Question and Answer

Can a police officer from another city or township arrest me if he sees me breaking the law here?

JUST CURIOUS

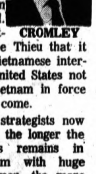
REPLY

Sgt. Cooley of Pontiac Police tells us any officer can make an arrest anywhere in the case of a felony. Pontiac officers are one of three departments in the state authorized to function anywhere within the state on any type of violation. State police and sheriff's deputies can also do this. With other officers, in the case of misdemeanors, they would probably contact the department within the municipality in which the violation occurred.

Behind the Scenes at Midway

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Although withdrawal of 25,000 U.S. troops grabbed the headlines, President Nixon also had three "behind-the-scenes" reasons for meeting with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu on Midway Island.



CROMLEY

● Nixon wanted to convince Thieu that it is in South Vietnamese interest for the United States not to stay in Vietnam in force for years to come.

Key Nixon strategists now are convinced the longer the United States remains in South Vietnam with huge numbers of men, the more the politics, the economy and the culture of that country will be warped. The Communists are given a rallying cry that must in the end win them more converts.

Past a certain point in time, the longer the United States stays in force, the less able the South Vietnamese will be to develop their own strength. It is like the man who relies so much on a crutch, he never learns to walk by himself.

These American advisers remember Laos, whose politicians wouldn't co-operate and whose armies didn't begin to fight until U.S. aid was cut drastically. Only then did the Lao realize they were on their own to sink or swim. They decided to swim.

● Nixon wanted to convince Thieu that time was running out, that Thieu must come up, and quickly, with some practical political plans for a post-war South Vietnam. This advice could best be done in face-to-face talks. In a memorandum, or in messages sent through an American ambassador, this sort of talk tends to sound like an ultimatum, the last thing Nixon wants.

Nixon wants Thieu to face the fact that there must be peace within some reasonably short period of time — not four, five or six years in the future.

He wants Thieu to set his sights accordingly and get to work quickly on getting the democratic forces in South Vietnam ready for that peace.

● Nixon wanted to urge Thieu in person to come up quickly with some sort of a practical approach; satisfactory to the South Vietnamese, for bringing the war to a satisfactory end.

Nixon wants more progress in the negotiations. Since his administration has decided that the political solution must be what the South Vietnamese want, the basic initiative in Paris therefore depends on the South Vietnamese.

Though administration officials talk blithely of U.S. negotiations on further troop withdrawals and South Vietnamese talk on political solutions, the hard fact is that troop withdrawals are so dependent on political solutions that U.S. troop negotiations in Paris can't make headway until Thieu's government makes progress in its approaches to the Vietcong and North Vietnamese on the political matters.

Thieu's approach on this is somewhat leisurely by U.S. thinking. Nixon wants to implant a sense of urgency in the mind of South Vietnam's president.

Marine, 15, Is Youngest Yank Killed

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Dan Bullock, the youngest American serviceman killed in the Vietnam war, died only three weeks after arriving in the war zone, U.S. Marine officers said yesterday.

Bullock was killed in action last Saturday at the age of 15, while helping defend a Marine combat base against a North Vietnamese attack. Bullock enlisted Sept. 18, three months from his 15th birthday in his home town of Brooklyn, N.Y. He lied about his age. He then was only 14.

He arrived in Vietnam May 18 and was assigned to the 2nd Battalion, 5th Marine Regiment.

He was on perimeter watch shortly after midnight Saturday when North Vietnamese troops firing mortars, rocket-propelled grenades and rifles attacked the An Hoa combat base, 20 miles southwest of Da Nang.

1 OF 5 DEAD

Bullock was hit by enemy fire several times. He was one of five Marines killed. Three others were wounded. Fifteen North Vietnamese troops were killed in the fight.

In Brooklyn, Bullock's sister, Gloria, 13, said she believed her brother enlisted "to help me get an education so that I could help my father."

Canada Easing Homosexuality, Abortion Laws

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's omnibus crime bill easing laws on abortion and homosexuality has passed its third reading in the Senate amid Conservative outcries that its proponents were "mad" and on their way "down to hell."

The bill now only needs the governor general's approval to become law. It changes many statutes in the criminal code, legalizing abortion where continued pregnancy could endanger a mother's health and permitting homosexual acts in private between consenting adults.

Conservative Sen. Malcolmn Hollett of Newfoundland said the Senate was "mad to pass this bill" and on its way "down to hell."

LANSING (AP) — Lansing Mayor Gerald Graves has announced the start of a free summer series of Saturday "Mayor's Movies" for young people. Graves said other summer programs will include teen dances, bowling instructions for some 4,000 teen-agers and a youth job-clearing bureau.

42TR—5-1—WOMAN TO GET

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio woman fired 11 years ago during a controversial tangle with the Air Force has won the largest back-pay claim ever granted by the U.S. Court of Claims—$100,935.24. Now she wants to go back to work for the government so she can get a pension.

The award went to Dorothy B. Louks of nearby Medway, who claims she was fired from her Air Force accountant's job Feb. 11, 1958, because she testified in a 1952 Senate investigation.

The Air Force said she was dismissed for refusing to accept a transfer from Wright Patterson Air Force Base here to the Air Force Depot at Memphis, Tenn.

A Justice Department official said, "This was the largest claim for back pay ever granted a government employe."

And Mrs. Louks' attorney in Washington, Thomas M. Gettings Jr., said Friday his client, looking toward future retirement, wants to build up her pension benefits by taking another government job.

Gettings said Mrs. Louks, a 26-year-veteran of federal employment, has filled out about 200 applications since her dismissal and claims she has been denied a job in every case.

The claims court based its order on a settlement reached by attorneys for both sides after ruling that Mrs. Louks was entitled to back pay from the date she was fired to Dec. 31, 1968.

The court at that time rejected Mrs. Louks' claim that the Air Force dismissed her because of her testimony at the Senate hearings.

The court ruled the Air Force decision to fire her was "arbitrary, capricious and not supported by substantial evidence." It said Mrs. Louks was "at all times willing and able to accompany a transfer of her position."

But Mrs. Louks maintains she was fired for her part in the Senate's "deep freeze" investigation centered around allegations that government officials in the Truman administration accepted food freezers and other gifts in return for favors.

At the time she was dismissed, Mrs. Louks was an Air Force budget administrator in a division giving budget and financial supervision to 240 Air Force commissaries around the world.

Mrs. Louks will receive a Treasury check for $93,153.46. The balance of the settlement will be used for payments to her Civil Service retirement fund and her employe's life insurance.

Senate Eyes Medicaid Probe

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate wants to know why some Michigan doctors are collecting up to $169,000 in state and federal money for treating medicaid patients.

Senate Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, Friday announced that he would seek an investigation into the situation.

Zollar cited Michigan Blue Shield records that show 82 medical doctors, osteopathic doctors and physicians groups have received payments ranging from $25,000 to $169,000 a year.

"No doubt some of the payments reported to us by Blue Shield must be legitimate costs," Zollar said, adding that "some get as much as $4,000 a week for these services. That would be a Herculean task for one man," he said.

HOW MUCH IS TRUE

"We want to find out how much of our information is truly based on illegal operations and how much of our budget (for medicaid services) might be reduced," he said.

Gov. William Milliken recommended $33.5 million for physicians' services in the coming fiscal year, some $8 million more than appropriated for the current year.

The Michigan State Medical Society and State Social Services Director R. Bernard Houston—whose department administers the payments through Blue Shield, welcomed the investigation.

"Whenever anyone is the recipient of substantial tax dollars, the public accountability must be satisfied," he said. "I think it has not in this case.

THEY WANT TO KNOW

"We may find there's no abuse," Houston said. "But if there is anyone getting money they shouldn't, we want to know about it."

Dr. Ross V. Taylor of Jackson, president of the Michigan State Medical Society Council, which governs the doctors' group, said:

"Certainly we'd welcome such an investigation. If there is abuse of (the services payment program) in any way, we consider this unethical conduct and we have procedures for taking action against the offenders."

Taylor said the society had tried unsuccessfully to obtain the Blue Shield list.

U.S. Denies OK of Pipeline Across Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of the Interior Russell E. Train denies that his department has made any decision on whether right-of-way should be granted for an 800-mile pipeline across Alaska.

"Any speculation that a pipeline decision has been reached by this department—or the nature of that decision—is without foundation," Train said Friday.

Earlier, Asst. Secretary Harrison Loesch had said, "It's policy that the permit will be granted when all conditions are met."

Trans-Alaska Pipeline System, a consortium of three oil companies, wants to construct the $900-million pipeline.

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel promised last January he would "freeze" the status of all federal land in Alaska for two years, and would consult House and Senate Interior committees before allowing exceptions.

NY Black Militant Killed; 'No Tie to Earlier Shooting'

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say they have no evidence linking the killing of one black militant leader and the wounding of another.

The attacks came within a week of each other.

In the latest case, Clarence Smith Jowars, described as the leader and organizer of a radical group, was killed early Friday by a fusillade of bullets fired into the lobby of a Harlem apartment building.

Last Saturday, Charles 37X Kenyatta, leader of the machete-carrying Harlem Mau Maus, was shot while he was getting out of his car in the Bronx. He remains hospitalized.

ONCE A MUSLIM

Jowars, 41, was once a member of the Black Muslims but was ousted by the late Malcolm X. Malcolm himself split with the Muslims before he was assassinated by gunfire in 1965.

Two years after his split with the Muslims, Jowars was shot and left for dead on a Harlem street. He recovered and afterward promoted the belief among his followers that "nobody could kill me."

Police said Jowars organized the group known as the "Five Percenters." The members asserted that 85 per cent of the black people acted like cattle, 10 per cent were Uncle Toms and 5 per cent were warriors.

Police said Jowars was shot as he was on the way to visit his wife, Dora, in a building that is part of the Martin Luther King Towers complex. Eight heavy caliber slugs were fired and seven struck the victim.

THOMAS McCORMICK

Youthpower Adult Adviser Reappointed

For the second consecutive year, Thomas S. McCormick, 451 Hauxwell, Lake Orion, has been named adult adviser for Youthpower Inc. in the Pontiac area.

He will be responsible for recruiting and supervising teenage volunteers for the program, which is a free summer job clearinghouse for 16- to 21-year-olds.

"I'm excited about the job," McCormick said. "The chance to help young people organize and operate their own clearinghouse for summer jobs is a great opportunity I have already talked with some of the young people who will be volunteering time to the program, and they have some great ideas."

In Youthpower's first summer of operation in Pontiac last year, some 580 jobs were filled and more than $50,000 was earned.

BEGAN IN 1964

Youthpower began in Milwaukee, Wis., in 1964 and by last summer was operating in 25 cities around the country. This summer, 30 cities will sponsor programs.

In the Pontiac area, the project is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees and Manpower Inc.

Young people looking for summer work can register at the Youthpower office at 80 N. Saginaw from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

Youthpower is also looking for persons who can volunteer time as staff members.

Employers with jobs available for young people may place requests by contacting Youthpower.

U.S. Freezes Cash of Exiled Cleaver

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has frozen the financial assets of Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver because of Cleaver's unauthorized travel to Cuba, where he has exiled himself.

The announcement confirmed Cleaver is in Cuba, something the State Department had not admitted previously. Cleaver disappeared in November, a few days after he was scheduled to go to jain in Californir for parole violation.

Among the assets which have been frozen are royalties from Cleaver's best-selling book, "Soul on Ice."

Teachers OK Pact in Detroit

Wage Hikes to Cost Up to $14 Million

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Federation of Teachers membership Friday approved a new two-year contract giving them wage increases that will cost somewhere from $10 million to 14 million.

The teachers voted 1,196 to 980 in favor of the new pact, which replaces the 1967 pact that will expire June 30. The union has over 7,400 members out of the 11,000 teachers in the city.

The complicated agreement did not specify wage rates for the teachers, but set the new rates for the various pay levels at the average of other top districts in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Some of the contracts upon which the Detroit salaries will be based have not been negotiated yet.

The pay for starting teachers will probably not be much affected—it is already the highest in the area. However the contract will significantly help teachers with advanced degrees and seniority, where Detroit is relatively behind other districts in the area.

In return for the pay increase, though, the teachers gave up on a demand for a limit on class size. Current class sizes are in the 35-40 student range, which teachers wanted reduced to 25 in low income areas and 35 students per class elsewhere.

PCH Is Planning August Session to Orient Sophs

Letters have been distributed recently to 9th graders in feeder junior high schools announcing the program which will be held during the last week of August.

Students and their parents will be invited to meet administrators and counselors, and to become oriented with Central High School's program and facilities.

New high school students in the city will also be invited to attend one of three orientation sessions planned.

Waiting to bat for Grand Old Dad

Dad at Bat; Kids Run Bases

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

Hey pops, bend down, the junior league has a world or two about Sunday that you should hear.

Yep, tomorrow's the day, your day again, when it's legal to watch the Tigers on TV with your feet on the couch or take off for the golf course without an excuse. Might even watch the grass grow if you please.

Batting for Grand Old Dad are the kindergarten champs from Frost Community School and their pitching ace, Mrs. Grace Webb. Like their heroes, the Bengals, the champs are slow starters.

"The father of the family does the cooking and the washing . . ."—Strike.

PROUD

By the fifth inning dad would have been proud.

According to the score card, father comes out ahead when: washing the car, cutting the grass, driving everybody around, shining shoes, taking the family to the zoo . . .

Oh yeah, he makes money and pays the bills—Home run.

As Mrs. Webb steps up to the pitcher's mound, the roar breaks, the room is quiet, the atmosphere tense.

"OK, now that we've told what father does, what are we going to do for him on Father's Day?"

"I'm going to give him a Christmas present," beams you know who.

Do Celebrate Special Date With Mother

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents will be celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary. My father has lost his memory and it was necessary for us to put him in a nursing home. My mother visits him daily. He might know who my mother is, but he doesn't recognize any of the rest of us.

Would a small celebration of family and close friends in the dining room of the home be appropriate? Or should we children just give a nice gift to my mother and forget about a celebration? — Mrs. B.N.

Dear Mrs. N.: You would be much wiser to confine the celebration to a gift for your mother, and possibly a nice dinner at a restaurant for her and the immediate family. To have a party at the home, which could mean nothing to your father, would only serve to point out the tragedy of their circumstances.

KEEP RING ON

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been a widow for over a year, and recently met a man who is a widower. He has asked me out to dinner with another couple. Should I remove my wedding ring before going out? — Paula

Dear Paula: No, unless your relationship with this man develops into an engagement, you should continue to wear your wedding ring. I am assuming he knows you are a widow.

STROLLING PLAYERS

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a friend and I had dinner at a restaurant where the entertainment was provided by a pianist, a bass, and several "wandering" violinists. We arrived rather early and three violinists played at our table. As the people began arriving, the players moved around the room singly. Just what was the proper amount to tip and to whom? — Gertrude

Dear Gertrude: It would be awkward to chase around the room in order to tip all three violinists separately. If you cannot tell which one is the leader of the group, ask the headwaiter. Then go to the one pointed out and give him the tip — telling him it is for all three.

If there is no particular "leader," do the same thing with the violinist nearest you. Three dollars would be an adequate tip for the three players.

Consult Lawyer on Problem Concerning Family Affair

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Talk about a mess! Originally I was unhappily married to John (made up name) and we had two small daughters. I fell in love with Peter (also made up name) and a wild love affair followed from which I had a third child— a son. I was still married to John when this boy was born, so the child legally was John's son. A year later John and I were divorced and I married Peter, who legally adopted all three children.

Now the problem: My son is the image of his REAL father, but the records show that he is ADOPTED. The boy is sure to wonder why, if he is ADOPTED, he looks exactly like his "stepfather." I would rather not tell him the truth, but how can I get away with it?

MIXED UP AFFAIR

DEAR MIXED UP: Put this into the hands of a competent lawyer. In some state, much progress has been made to spare embarrassment to innocent parties (your son) in such mixed up affairs

DEAR ABBY: I used to think you made up the letters in your column, but here's a true one for you that takes the cake.

A 50-year-old co-worker of mine has been married and divorced four times, and now she's engaged to marry "Number Five." Her mother is giving her a MISCELLANEOUS shower—which means, bring anything. The whole office is invited. Men included.

Now, Abby, a woman who has been married off and on for 30 years doesn't need to be set up in housekeeping. Who would you say was to blame for this shocking lack of taste? The bride who permits it? Or the mother who is putting it on?

AGGIE

DEAR AGGIE: I'd say it was a joint venture. Your co-worker and her mother want to fill the joint with free goods.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 34-year-old mother of six children going roller skating?

I took my three oldest children skating, and since I used to skate when I was their age, I rented a pair of skates and joined them on the rink.

It was just wonderful. The exercise made me feel so good, and I can't tell you how many good laughs we all had.

Well, when I got home and told my husband about it, he sure lit into me. He said a woman my age with children has no business roller skating with a bunch of kids. He has been downgrading me and ridiculing me ever since Abby, if you think he's right, please tell me. I'm not a silly childish woman. I mind my own business and don't drink or smoke.

LOVES TO SKATE

DEAR LOVES: Your husband is out of line, Lady, and you can tell him I said so.

DEAR ABBY: My father is a sweet old man, age 82. My biggest worry is his driving. Lately he has been involved in several minor accidents. (It's always the other fellow's fault.)

Abby, whenever anyone mentions that maybe he shouldn't drive anymore, he puts up a terrible fuss. He's as stubborn as a mule. I'm afraid for his life, or someone else's every time he gets behind that wheel. What can I do?

LOVES POPS

DEAR LOVES: As long as "Pops" is licensed to drive AND can get auto insurance, there's not much you can do. But that's not likely to continue for long.

Everbody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bride Deceived on Two Counts; Judged Aright

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Aurelio, in granting pretty brunette Julie Ann Leeds an annulment, Thursday, said, "you are an attractive young lady. It was unfortunate that you met this snake-in-the-grass with such an evil heart.

"Better luck next time," he added. "I hope you get a real millionaire."

The 28-year-old airline stewardess charged the man she married, who claimed to be a nobleman worth $40 million, turned out to be a 10-times married lothario.

Julie said when she met Jerry Robert Leeds, 40, he claimed he was the head of Leeds International and other corporations.

"He said he was worth $40 million and had never been married," she said. "When he proposed he said he was related to the Duke of Leeds in England and that we would go to his palatial estate for a honeymoon.

CHARMED

"I believed him. He was so convincing and had so much charm."

They were married in Las Vegas Dec. 11, after a month-long courtship and she left him a month later after discovering misrepresentations. Leeds was married twice in New York State and, Julie said, a private investigation revealed he had been married eight other times in California and Texas.

Saw Niagara Flowing

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Mrs. William Breech of Bloomfield Hills just got back from Greenfield, Mass., where she went to pick up daughter Kathy at the end of her sophomore year at Stoneleigh-Burnham College.

Mrs. Henry Forster Jr. of Orchard Lake went along for the ride, and to help with the driving.

The trip back was leisurely, including a stop at Niagara Falls—the first time Marjorie has seen the great waterfall—and other scenic spots between here and there.

Son William, slated to graduate next year from Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School, will spend part of his summer looking around for a college at which he can study oceanography, his first love.

Marjorie will have house guests arriving next week for a 10-day stay—Mrs. James O. Bailey, an aunt, and her daughter (and Marjorie's namesake) Marjorie, of Oxnard, Calif.

Mrs. Thomas Torgerson of Bloomfield Village gave the rehearsal dinner Friday for Susan Wetherby, daughter of good friends Mr and Mrs. Lyman Wetherby of Detroit. Guests from this area were Mr. and Mrs. M.A. Mitchell of Bloomfield Hills — Mrs. Mitchell is Susan's godmother — and the Henry Sobells also of Bloomfield Hills.

Susan is to be married this afternoon at the Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, with a reception following at the Detroit Golf Club.

Robert V. Daly of Bloomfield Hills, and his daughter Debbie Ann, who is a 10th grader at Bloomfield Country Day School, just got back from a week's trip to Hawaii. Debbie is brown as a berry; had the time of her life.

Passage Likely of Casanova Bill

LONDON (AP) — Separation would become ground for divorce in Britain under a bill that has been approved in the House of Commons. The bill reaches the House of Lords June 30.

But the government has promised a companion bill providing for adequate property settlements in broken marriages, and this means the liberalized divorce law might not take effect before 1971.

The measure, approved Friday, would permit divorce if a husband and wife have lived apart for two years and neither objects to a divorce, or if they have lived apart for five years and one does object.

Opponents of the bill denounced it as "a Casanova's charter," but supporters say it would permit thousands of common-law marriages to be legalized and would pave the way toward legitimatizing 180,000 children of parents not able to wed under present law.

A breakfast at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills, followed the marriage of Diane Mary Dorais to Dale Russell Hernden today. The morning ceremony was performed in St. Regis Catholic Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dorais of Beverly Hills was attired in an ivory organza gown with circular skirt and Chantilly lace strips.

The bridegroom is the son of the Russell Herndens of Warren.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Patricia Dorais with bridesmaids Nance McDonald and Mary Grace and Katie Dorais.

On the esquire side, Ronald Hernden performed the duties of best man for his brother. James McDonald, Charles Dorais and Robbie Thompson were ushers.

The newlyweds will reside in East Lansing where he is a senior at Michigan State University.

Couples Plan August Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Clebert R. Moore of Clintonville Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Christine Marie, to Gary Floyd LaClair of Drayton Road, Independence Township.

Miss Moore's fiance, who attended Oakland Community College, is the son of Mrs. Floyd P. LaClair of VanZandt Street and the late Mr. LaClair. August 23 vows are planned.

Edelen-Cutter

The George Edelens of Keego Harbor announce August 30 vows for their daughter, Janet Marie, and Charles Cutter, son of the Donald Cutters of Plainwell. The bride-elect is a June graduate of Henry Ford School of Nursing of Detroit.

Father: Why He Rates High on List

By BETTY CANARY

June 15th is Father's Day. The heart warms and the mind boggles at the thought of all the little hands now busily nailing and gluing up tieracks and desk calendars in honor of the occasion.

A lot has been said lately about fathers abdicating their positions at the heads of American families, and I, for one, want to come to their defense. I have no polls or statistics to back me up, but I'll bet that for every runaway father, we could find at least 10 who have found happiness amid the oatmeal bowls and the wreckage of personal dreams.

All the conflict between fathers and offspring we see today, well, some would have us believe it to be a phenomenon of the '60s. This is patently ridiculous. All generations have had their difficulties in communicating with each other.

For example, when I was a teen-ager I thought my father hated me — just because he would look at me, shake his head and say, "Betty, what you're good for is a lot of talk!" As I grew older I realized that he actually meant to encourage me. So, I started making speeches.

I am sure that my own five children will someday make their own discoveries. They will wonder how their father could possibly have used all the key holders they patiently sawed out of plywood, the calendars posted up with pictures from Life and National Geographic, the pencil holders made of painted orange juice cans. And they will discover he has used the new ones each year and saved the old ones in a file cabinet drawer.

He has gently laid them to rest along with handmade greeting cards signed with Xs and Os, next to stacks of expensive cards — including the one Stu bought and proudly presented one year without realizing the gold letters said, "Happy Father's Day to My Favorite Uncle."

POSTER

They will understand someday that not everybody has a father who will laugh when he comes home to find a picture poster nailed to the door of his den. Especially a poster picturing W.C. Fields with the caption, "A Man Who Hates Dogs and Children Can't Be All Bad."

I am certain they will remember that he's the man who will not allow bumper stickers or decals on car windows no matter how much a child pleads.

But, I think they will also remember the even billion wheels he has replaced on toy cars and scooters and wagons.

They know right now a good father is one who does not believe in merely learning to tolerate something but one who believes in actively working to change things for a better life.

I don't quite know how I'm going to get it across to my daughters when they get old enough to marry. I mean, it does sound terribly unromantic but, if they are going to look for a good father for their children, I'm going to suggest they try to find someone who knows a lame excuse when he hears one and, especially, a person who never in a million years would be referred to by a child as "My Old Man."

THE BOSTON HERALD, FRIDAY, NOV. 21, A 25

Let the Buyer Beware
Go to a Reputable Jeweler and Be Happy

By WALTER J. GLENNON

QUESTION: I am about to become engaged to a nice young man who had the foresight to consult me before purchasing my diamond engagement ring. We have shopped around and there seems to be such wide discrepancy in prices that we are confused. Is there any advice you can give us?

ANSWER: Yes, go to a reputable jewelers, select the ring you like, purchase it and go home and be happy.

Added Precaution

As an added precaution, obtain a bill or statement containing information as to the item purchased: price, weight of stone, color, perfection, plus all representations made at the time of sale. Any merchant telling the truth will not hesitate to do this. This procedure holds true for any purchase, but particularly for merchandise referred to as "blind items," such as diamonds, furs, etc.

My reason for advising this is that, if anything is wrong after your purchase, your chance of obtaining a refund is very good. Written representations cannot be denied and the question of credibility is not involved. In the face of such evidence, any smart merchant would realize that he would not stand a chance in any civil court and might be liable to criminal prosecution.

But my reasons for saying, "Purchase it and go home and be happy" is that, all too often, young couples such as you make a purchase only to have it spoiled by worrying over its actual value. The girl is at first happy with the thought that she has a nice boy, a nice ring and what appears to be a happy future. The boy is proud of the fact that he could purchase a ring that the girl he loves is contented with.

Then some well-meaning friend says, 'Have you had it appraised yet?"—and the trouble starts. People who had enough confidence to invest a goodly sum of money in a diamond ring from a particular jeweler strangely lose all confidence in him immediately when a second jeweler belittles the purchase. (If their confidence was so strong in the second jeweler, why didn't they make the purchase from him in the first place?)

Must Be Familiar

This is not a condemnation of all appraisals. But it is a fact that diamond appraisals must be made by a person familiar with diamonds. Anyone familiar with diamonds is, in some manner, in the diamond business and very often in direct or indirect competition with the seller. Human nature being what it is, competition sometimes influences the judgement on appraisal.

In some large cities groups of unscrupulous jewelers band together and place an identifying mark in the shank of their ring. If the mark is there, the appraisal is high and vice versa.

Some jewelers advertise "appraisal permitted," even going so far as to represent, prior to the sale, that they will refund money if the appraisal does not come up to the selling price. After the sale is made, and the money safely tucked into the cash register, they will direct the purchaser to a friendly appraiser who is warned in advance that you are coming over and approximately what price to appraise the ring for.

Sparma Baffles KC in Gaining 4th Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Joe Sparma didn't need much help but Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash were there when needed as the Detroit Tigers shut out the Kansas City Royals 6-0 Friday night.

Sparma, who pitched a four-hitter and only allowed two Royals to second base, had a variety of pitches and speeds that had members of the American League expansion team talking to themselves.

Sparma, now 4-1, wasn't even breathing hard at the end of seven innings even though he had a slender 2-0 lead. At that point McAuliffe and Cash apparently decided to put the game on ice.

McAuliffe, who scored Detroit's first run in the first inning and wound up with three hits, belted his seventh homer of the season into the right field seats in the eighth, making the score 3-0.

Kansas City starter Dick Drago, 3-5, then faced Al Kaline who rattled a double off the left field fence that just missed clearing the wall by inches. Cash then knocked in his second run of the game with a solid single to right.

That brought in Tom Burgmeier, who had pitched 16 consecutive scoreless innings and had allowed only one run in 27 innings over 11 relief appearances for the Royals.

Consecutive singles by Jim Northrup and Willie Horton ended the string and raised the score to 5-0. Burgmeier then walked Bill Freehan intentionally, loading the bases.

Burgmeier next unintentionally issued a free pass to Tom Matchick boosting the score to 6-0. He stayed in to quell the uprising but the damage had been done.

ONE CHANCE

'Mystery' Surrounds Beman in Mid-Point of Golf Classic

HOUSTON (AP) — Tough, cocky little Deane Beman says a mystery program, not yet complete and 1½ years old, put him in the second round lead in the U.S. Open Golf championship.

The trim, blond former amateur champion won't identify his program, but he says "it's improved my game a great deal."

Asked if he would share his secret if another player asked him, the former insurance broker from Bethesda, Md., replied:

"If you mean pick my brains and soul, the answer is no."

The 150 pounder shot a second round 69 Friday for 137, three under par for two trips around the long, steaming, 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek layout at the Champions Golf Club.

TIED FOR SECOND

That gave him a one-stroke margin on Bob Murphy, the first round leader who went to a 72, and Miller Barber, 71. They're tied at 138. Bob Rosburg is alone at 139 after 69.

Canadian George Knudson, 70, Al Geiberger, 72 and Charles Coody, 68, are tied at even par, 140.

Big Jack Nicklaus remained in contention with a 67 for 141. Arnold Palmer fell back with a 73 for 143. Gary Player had a 75 for 146, Masters champ George Archer went to 74 for 143 and Julius Boros had a 73 for 144.

Defending champion Lee Trevino, troubled by an injured left knee, blew to a 75 for 149— and missed the cut for the final two rounds. The field of 150 was trimmed to the low 60 scorers and ties, with a score of 148 needed to make it.

Beman, twice a U.S. Amateur champ and once the British Amateur titleholder, is an articulate, intelligent man with a sensible approach to the game.

"This isn't a life or death matter," he said. "If I don't win this time, I will win another time. I am convinced of that."

Will the pressure bother him?

NOT JITTERY

"My game will take care of that. I'm not jittery or nervous at all. I'm playing very well and see no reason not to continue to play well.

"In fact, I usually play better in final rounds. I think I have more sub-70 rounds on the last day than any other player. I've had a couple of 62s, a 63 or two, some 64s, 65s, 67s and untold 68s and 69s."

Beman, who turned pro only two years ago after a lengthy amateur career, scored his first professional victory a month ago in the Texas Open.

He's a relatively short hitter off the tee, one of the shortest on the tour. But it doesn't bother him.

"You have to be concerned with your total performance," he said. "If you become absorbed in distance you can suffer. Sure, I'd score better if I hit the ball 20 yards longer, if I hit it as straight. But when I see someone 20 yards in front of me, well, I just don't think about it.

"You have to work on your misses, on the things you're not doing quite right. That way, if your swing is a little off, you aren't in that much trouble, you can still salvage something."

He had three bogeys and four birds in his second round, matching a bogey with a bird on the front nine and coming home in 34. He bogeyed the 10th when he missed the green, got it back with a six-foot birdie putt on 11, then three-putted the 12th. He coaxed in a 25-foot putt on the 15th, and rammed in a four-footer on the next hole.

Murphy complained he was bothered by photographers.

RAPS PHOTOGRAPHERS

"Twice, on 16 and 18, they took pictures right before I putted," he said. "They cost me two shots. When that click goes off before you putt, you lose your concentration."

Barber, a bespectacled tour veteran, said he "feels like I've got a heck of a chance to win. I'm playing real well right now and have a good mental attitude."

Trevino said he hoped to get some rest on his ailing knee, injured when he stepped on a ball about two months ago.

"My knee is bothering me some," he said. "But that's not an excuse. I just played very poorly."

Others missing the cut included leading money winner Gene Littler, 152, and former Masters champion Gay Brewer, who had a nightmare nine on a par three hole—he was in the water three times—en route to an 83 for 158.

OCC Linksman All-American

Special to The Press

ROSWELL, N.M. — Oakland Community College has its first golf All American today in Troy Hornberger of Birmingham.

TOP TWELVE

A final-round 76 gave Hornberger a 72-hole total of 294, putting him in the No. 10 slot along with Bob Lawrence of Flint and Mark Beatty of Brevard, Fla. The low 12 scorers were named to the All-American team.

Just missing the "magic 12" was OCC's Paul McIntosh, who played a steady 72 holes and finished with a 296. The OCC team wound up with 1,222 strokes and placed 14th in the field of 34 teams.

St. Peterburg took both team and individual honors. Jim Barber led all the way and took the title with a 283, one-under-par, while the St. Pete team totaled 1,172, five shots ahead of Chipola, Fla.

Mike Bonallack Beats Hyndman for British Title

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — England's Mike Bonallack defeated American Bill Hyndman III 3 and 2 today and became the third player ever to win the British Amateur golf championship four times.

The 34-year-old British Walker Cup team-captain made it two straight in this 84-year-old championship—the first to take two consecutive titles since American Lawson Little won in 1934 and 1935.

Bonallack grabbed a 1-up margin at nine holes, stretched it to 3-up at 18, and held that margin at 27 over the 53-year-old grandfather from Huntington Valley, Pa.

Bonallack stretched his lead to 4-up on the 30th which he won with a par 4 to Hyndman's bogey 5. The American, admittedly weary, fought back gamely to keep the match alive with a par that earned him the 33rd hole.

This cut Bonallack's margin to 3-up with three to play. But Hyndman ran out of holes.

PUTTING SPREE — Dave Cameron, former University of Michigan golfer playing out of Oakland Hills went on a putting spree yesterday in the 20th annual Pine Lake Invitational Golf Tournament. He had seven straight one-putt greens and had birdie putts of 20, 20, 20 and 35 feet in his match teamed with Pete Jackson. (See story page B-2)

F. Robbie Triggers Orioles 5-2 Victory

By the Associated Press

This is what Earl Weaver means when he says Frank Robinson does it all for the Baltimore Orioles:

—A sixth-inning single that put the Orioles' first run in scoring position.

—An eighth-inning, two-out single and an alert dash to the plate with the tying run.

—A ninth-inning single with two out and the bases loaded that drove in two insurance runs.

The result of all this action was a 5-2 victory for the Orioles over the Chicago White Sox Friday night.

In other American League games, Cleveland trimmed Minnesota 6-4, Oakland defeated Boston 4-1, Detroit blanked Kansas City 6-0, Washington knocked off California 6-2 and Seattle edged the New York Yankees 2-1.

In the National League the Chicago Cubs trounced Cincinnati 14-8 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh nipped Atlanta 2-1 in 10, Houston stopped St. Louis 2-1, Los Angeles edged the New York Mets 1-0, Philadelphia defeated San Diego 6-1 and San Francisco shaded Montreal 4-2.

"Frank started when the season started," Weaver, the Oriole manager, said Friday night. "He's done everything. He's done it all for us."

Robinson, his eyes finally seeing everything properly after a year of trouble, is batting .322, has hit 14 homers and has driven in 42 runs.

Robinson walked his first two times at bat against Chicago, but in the sixth he singled Paul Blair to third, from where Blair scored on Boog Powell's single.

Then in the eighth, with Baltimore trailing 2-1, Frank singled with two out, and Powell followed with a double. Robinson, however, didn't stop at third.

When he saw Walt Williams' throw from the outfield going over the head of relay man Bobby Knoop, he raced for the plate and scored the tying run.

"That's one thing about him," Weaver said. "He has that extra sense of doing the right thing at the right time."

He did it again the next inning when, with two out and the bases loaded, he singled for two more runs.

Ken Suarez was the big man for Cleveland, triggering a four-run outburst with a homer in the sixth and then driving in the decisive run in the ninth with a single. Harmon Killebrew made it close for Minnesota with a three-run homer in the ninth.

Oakland home runs by Reggie Jackson, his 20th, and pitcher Lew Krausse assured Jim Lonborg's first loss after six victories for Boston this year.

Frank Howard and Bernie Allen connected for Washington homers, and Roger Repoz hit one for California. But the Senators also scored three runs in the third inning with the help of three infield singles.

Local High School Group Claims Mark for Cage Contest

A group of Seaholm High School students, most of them just promoted to the 11th grade this week, claimed an endurance basketball game record this morning at Berkshire Junior High School in Birmingham.

Responding to a radio comment claiming 42 hours as the longest basketball game on record, the group began play in three-hour relays at 1 p.m. Thursday afternoon.

The 50 boys passed the 42-hour mark this morning at 7 a.m. and set their sites for a 3 p.m. cutoff, giving them a 50-hour target. Chris Olson led the scoring with 362 points in his 12 hours of playing time, but the scoring lagged as the substitutes became late for their shifts.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Tony Mason, probably one of the best known assistant college football coaches, was to headline an allday grid clinic at Grand Rapids' Civic Auditorium today. Mason, currently on the coaching staff at Purdue, is a former University of Michigan assistant.

It's now a matter of record that steel gave the shaft to wood and that's part of the evolution of the game of golf treated in some 600 pounds of golf memorabilia that Warren Orlick gave to the University of Notre Dame this week.

Orlick, 56, is head professional at Tam O'Shanter Country Club in Orchard Lake and currently secretary of the National Professional Golfer's Association.

Gift of the letters, magazines, golf clubs and other assorted material will go to the Sports and Games section of the Memorial Library at Notre Dame. Former Notre Dame and Detroit Lions' football star Leon Hart accepted Orlick's material on behalf of the university.

Hart, marketing manager for American Brakeblok in Troy, is Michigan chairman of Notre Dame's world-wide effort to procure material to stock its Sports & Game section of the library. The goal is to create an international research center for writers and scholars. The organization is seeking material on all sports.

FIRST RESPONSE

Orlick's contribution is the first major response by a Michigan resident to the program.

Hart has enlisted the aid of a number of Michigan sports personalities in the program. Orlick and former Oakland Hills professional Al Watrous are among them.

In all, Orlick turned over to the university some 5,000 pages of sundry golf magazines along with many wood-shaft clubs of pre-1920 vintage.

Orlick began collecting his golfing library in 1931 and his contribution to Notre Dame represented only a portion of the material that's packed into the basement-office of his Birmingham home.

"The material has really been crowding me out of my office in the basement," said Orlick. "With demands on my time I haven't had an opportunity to index the material so it's good that it will be gonig to a place where persons interested will have an opportunity to look through it."

Among the items retained by Orlick, which he says in time he'll turn over to what he anticipates will be a PGA Hall of Fame, are 10,000 feet of movie film, some pre-1900 golf balls, clubs of all types including some with leather faces and a large painted picture of the great Walter Hagen.

Jackson Brothers Eye PLCC Finals

By BRUNO I. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Brother vs. brother! This could happen in the finals of the District Championship Flight today in the 20th annual Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament.

Mike Jackson and Bud Badger of Red Run advanced into today's semifinals with a 2-1 victory over Clare Shephard and Jim Pilz of Pine Lake, in the upper bracket.

Today they are facing Gene Woodard and Tom Wilson of Lochmoor in the morning semifinals.

In the lower bracket, Pete Jackson and Dave Cameron of Oakland Hills whipped Howard Downing and Wayne Christianson of Flint Golf Club, 4-3, and their opponents in the morning semifinals today are Blair Kamin and Jerry Rogers of Tam O'Shanter.

HOPE FOR MEETING

Should the Jackson brothers win their semifinals matches, they will meet for the first time in a finals' match of a tournament.

Cameron, 25 year old former University of Michigan golfer, was the hottest player on the course yesterday.

In shooting a 69 on his own ball, Cameron sunk birdie putts of 20, 20, 30 and 35 feet and he one-putted seven straight greens from the 9th hole through the 15th, at which point he was four under par.

Pete Jackson made an important contribution to the victory at the 13th hole where he dropped an eagle putt to put his team, 3-up.

Badger, former Bloomfield Hills High golfer, fired a 71 on his own ball and after key birdies on the 4th and 9th holes, the turning point came at No. 16 where he and Mike Jackson took a 2-up lead.

Jackson hit an out of bounds shot and both opponents, Shephard and Pilz were shooting for birdies, which could have knotted the score.

Badger sunk a 15 footer for a birdie and when Shephard and Pilz both missed theirs, this broke the match open.

300 YARD DRIVE

On the birdie on No. 9, Badger drove his tee shot 300 yards, wedged a 70 yarder to within eight inches to win the hole.

* * *

Their opponents however, Woodard and Wilson have been tough on the Pine Lake course. Yesterday they were five under when they finished their match against Lauer and Semerjian.

Matching Cameron's 69 on the course was Pete Green of Orchard Lake who was relegated to a consolation flight after losing in the first round.

Green had eight 3's and a pair of dueces on his own ball as he and Tom Purdy won over Jim Krause and Bill Bradford.

JAYCEE PARK—Talbott vs. OCC High-land Lakes, 2:30 p.m.; Teamsters vs. CIO, 5 p.m.; R. T. Clippers vs. M. G. Collision, 7:30 p.m.

The parade of shutouts accompanied by the victory march of M.G. Collision grew lounder in the city men's Class A baseball race Friday night as three makeup games were played at Jaycee Park.

The collision crew, intent on regaining the city championship it lost last summer, made it five wins without a loss by trimming the once-powerful Teamsters 6f4, 8-3.

Talbott Lumber shocked the R. T. Clippers, 8-0, to assume sole possession of second place, and Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes team blanked Carl's Golfland, 6-0, in the other games.

Out of 18 men's league games played this season, 10 have now ended in shutout decisions and nine of those came this week. Five different teams won shutout verdicts in the past five nights.

Dave Moilanen tossed a three-hit whitewashing for Highland Lakes, and also drove in the final two runs.

Spencer Tops Colonial, 10-0

Lee Sherby flipped a two-hitter and fanned a couple last night in pitching Spencer Floor (8-1) to a 10-0 victory over Colonial Village (1-7) in Waterford Township fastpitch softball.

Spencer erupted for four runs in the third and pushed across six more in the fourth. Tom Dabbs triggered the fourth-inning uprising with a two-run single, Jim Patterson set the pace with three of Spencer's 11 hits.

In a second game, Tru-Bilt Redi-Mix (3-3) pushed across five runs in the sixth in a come-from-behind 9-7 decision over Milbur Industry (3-4).

Tru-Bilt managed only seven hits but had the help of seven Milbur errors. Fred Brown picked up two hits, scored once and knocked in two markers for Tru-Bilt.

Skating Queen Gayla Grammer Follows Music

State Queen 'Tracks' Honors

There are several tracks being followed by the Michigan Roller Skating Queen.

Most of them lead through the world of music for Gayla Grammer. However, one has a cinder quality to it and another follows an accented path.

Gayla, who will be a senior at Pontiac Northern in September, followed the musical sounds from wax discs to national honors in roller skating a couple of years ago.

The 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Grammer of 69 W. New York is rated a good chance to become the North American Roller Skating queen later this summer.

"She not only has the necessary beauty," said Mrs. Ivan Findlay, who has coached Gayla in roller skating at University rink for the last seven years, "but more important, she has the personality that is so necessary."

SHOULD KNOW

Mrs. Findlay has first hand knowledge of what it takes to become North American queen. She won the honor in 1955 while representing Rolladium.

Several categories are considered by the judges, but looks and personality are the big items.

Gayla was the unanimous choice of judges in the recent state contest. She will compete against other state queens and those from Canada at the North American championships in Little Rock, Ark., in August.

Skating activities will take a back seat after this summer.

The talented Gayla plays the bassoon, a four-foot woodwind instrument, with such ability that she appears with the Pontiac Symphony and was Northern's only representative to Michigan State Band Honors during the last school year.

MARCHING ALONG

The instrument will be laid aside during the football season when Gayla will become the marching band's drum major. So much for the musical end of her activities.

The other "tracks" include being a member of the girl's track team at PNH and a participant in the German Club. She also has been very active in the Baptist Youth Fellowship.

"She was always after us to take her skating after University was opened," said Mrs. Grammer. The rink is near Gayla's home.

She entered figure skating competition in 1964 and two years later won the state junior championship. In 1967 she was first in the Great Lakes regional and became the first skater from University to place in the North American when she gained a third.

Last year she moved up to intermediate class and tied for second in the state meet. She is not skating this year, concentrating on the queen contest.

Clarkston Nips Troy in Legion Lidlifter

Roy Phillips and Gary McMillan teamed to give Clarkston a 4-3 night-game win at Troy to wrap up the first full slate of District 18, American Legion baseball activity Friday.

Only three teams emerged with victories, however, since Waterford and Berkley struggled to a 2-2 tie, and the Walled Lake-Pontiac lidlifter was postponed by poor playing conditions.

Southfield ripped Farmington, 9-3, behind Rick Ellison's mound work and Lance Korthals' big bat. Madison Heights topped Milford, 6-4, as Dub Brady struck out 14.

Southpaw Phillips yielded only three safeties and fanned 10 for Clarkston. McMillan drove in two runs with a pair of hits in the win.

HAS THREE HITS

Korthals cracked three hits for Southfield. Ed Daniels had two others and Ellison allowed Farmington only thrge while whiffing 10.

Berkley's Scott Dedenbach twirled no-hit ball until the seventh at Crary JHS' diamond. A double steal in the first and a passed ball in the fifth gave him a 2-0 lead to nurse.

But with one out, Frank Ballard of Waterford bombed a two-run triple to tie the game. He was stranded on third, though, and the game was called without a decision.

Syron Tourney Slated at PCC

54-Hole Medal Play Open to Amateurs

A tournament in honor of the late Frank Syron Sr. is on the golfing schedule for July 4 weekend.

It'll be the Frank Syron Memorial Medal Play, a 54-hole event to be played over Pontiac Country Club on July 4-5-6.

PRO-OWNER

The Syron family has owned the Pontiac CC since the early 1940's and Frank Sr. served as head professional there for 27 years. He died after a lengthy illness in March of this year.

The tournament is open to all amateurs, says Lloyd Syron, who manages the club along with his brother Frank Jr.

LARGE FIELD

A field of at least 100 is anticipated. "If it gets too big, we'll have to close at 120," said Lloyd.

"We're interested in having it a tournament for Pontiac and Oakland County area players. They're really the ones who knew dad."

Entry fee is $25, which includes green fees, prize money and a victory banquet Sunday evening July 6. Entries are now being taken and Syron has set a deadline date for entering at July 1.

Golfers Await Qualifying in National Publinx

The U.S. Open, from a player standpoint, is not the most sought after title offered by the United States Golf Association.

SLIMMED DOWN

In some areas of the country that number was reduced considerably in a pre-qualifying test last week and it will be slimmed to 149 this coming week.

The 149 who remain after the 36-hole qualifying round next week will then join defending champion Gene Towry of Texas for the 72-hole championship proper which is slated for Erie, Pa., July 9-12.

LOCAL PLAY

A field of 107 Michigan players will be gunning for 10 spots in the final lineup when they tee off Monday in their 36-hole sectional test at Burroughs Farms near Brighton.

Michigan will definitely have 10 in the finals and state Publinx president Tex Ellison said it's possible that the state would get two additional places. We won't know, however, until late Monday afternoon, he said.

Among the lineup at Burroughs Monday will be former professional Bob Davis of Southfield, who led the pre-qualifying last Monday with a two-under-par 69.

Western Michigan University team captain Timo Kilpelainen of Farmington will be on hand, along with Rocky Pozza, a member of the University of Michigan team.

Did 'He' or 'They' Murder Six Ypsi-Area Girls?

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Is one mati man, or is it six, responsible for the brutal, mysterious and unsolved murders of six young women in the twin college cities of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti in less than two years?

Campus conversation at the University of Michigan here and Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti about the six slayings usually emphasizes "he" in such as: "I hope they get him before he gets another one."

There is sufficient similarity to suggest the killer of the others slew Alice Elizabeth Kalom, 21, whose slashed, shot and violated body was found only last Monday in an outlying field.

And then there are enough differences to suggest more than one killer is involved.

LAWMEN DON'T KNOW

Law enforcement authorities concede they don't know how many.

But Prosecutor William F. Delhey says: "By solving one, we'll solve more than one, I can tell you that."

"It appears," says Robben W. Fleming, president of the University of Michigan, "that we are faced with a deranged mind and it is difficult, if not impossible to provide total security."

Two of the victims were from Michigan's campus, two from Eastern Michigan's. One was a 16-year-old high school dropout, the other a 13-year-old junior high school girl.

5 AGENCIES WORKING

The trail of deaths began Aug. 7, 1967. Five law enforcement agencies combining efforts to find a solution have come up with nothing pointing to the identity of a killer or killers.

"The trouble, of course," said Prosecutor Delhey, "is that we're attempting to ascribe a logical line of reasoning to an illogical and savage man.

"We're thinking as supposedly normal individuals about the motives, the whereabouts, the identity of a person who is abnormal, to say the least. We'll never get this just trying to dope it out. We've got to come up with something solid."

Two legislators have introduced a resolution at Lansing proposing that a four - member committee from the House of Representatives be authorized to probe the killings.

LEGISLATURE REWARD?

And Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has been asked whether the Legislature can offer a $10,000 reward, which Reps. Thomas Guastello, a Democrat, and Edgar Geerlings, a Republican, also propose. Meanwhile, the resolution awaits committee action that could send it to a vote.

Whoever killed them had a car. All the victims were found in outlying areas.

And all of them, so far as authorities can ascertain, apparently entered the car willingly. In only one instance has the sign of struggle been found at the murder sites.

Shards of more solid stuff and a fresher trail have been uncovered in the Kalom slaying than in the others.

BABUSHKA FOUND

Saturday afternoon, a week ago, she purchased a yellow and white babushka that was found tossed over her head when her body was discovered some 48 hours later. She visited a girl friend later Saturday, ironing her purple blouse and miniskirt.

The blouse was in shreds, the miniskirt pulled below her knees when her body was discovered by three boys wandering through high grass in a field on an abandoned farm Monday.

Miss Kalom was seen at a birthday party for a young man at 12:30 a.m. Sunday at a onetime railroad station now converted into a rehearsal hall for rock bands and rented for private parties. An estimated 200 were there.

Detectives said others told them they "thought" they saw her as late as 2:30 a.m. at the party, talking with four men, one of whom she had dated. Despite reports otherwise, police vow they haven't come up with a witness who saw her leave.

DIGESTION CLUE?

Prosecutor Delhey says "We know she had eaten three or four hours before she was slain, the extent of digestion confirms this."

But did she eat Saturday night, just before going to the party? Or did she eat Sunday night? Food found on her apartment stove Tuesday is being tested in hopes it will give an answer.

"We'll find somebody who was with her in that three-hour period from 2:30 a.m. to dawn Sunday," one detective said. "But if we're going to have to go through all her contacts through Sunday, it's going to be a long road."

But by weekend no one had discovered who saw her alive Sunday, which raised another question. Did the killer dump her body immediately or did he keep it, dumping it later four miles from where she is known to have been slain?

FOUR OR FIVE

Four of the five other victims were disposed of immediately.

Pathologists report, however, the body of Joan E. Schell, 20, an Eastern Michigan University coed, apparently was kept in an earthen cellar for three or four days prior to its discovery in a field July 5, 1968.

Dirt found under her fingernails and on her body normally is found only in such excavations, authorities said. Pathologists explained that the low temperature of a cellar likely held back decomposition, making death appear more recent than actually it had been when the body was discovered.

Buttons from Miss Kalom's gaily-colored raincoat and a pair of loafers she had been wearing were found on a makeshift road leading to a gravel pit. There was dried blood there, too. "Enough," said Sheriff Douglas F. Harvey, "that a person losing it would die."

Since Miss Kalom and her apartment mate usually went their own way and the roommate was home only briefly over the last weekend, the slain girl's body lay unidentified for 30 hours in a University of Michigan Hospital morgue. She had not been reported missing.

NOT ALL RAPED

Miss Kalom had been raped. Not all of the others had. But there were knife slashes across her breasts, as in the case of four others, and also on her stomach and throat. One victim bore 19 knife wounds.

She also had been shot in the head. Only one other had. That was Jane Mixer, a 23-year-old Michigan law student, shot twice and laid on a grave in a cemetery east of Ypsilanti last March.

She had posted a notice shortly before on the Student Union bulletin board that she was looking for a ride home to Muskegon.

Miss Schell was last seen hitchhiking from Ypsilanti to Ann Arbor to see an AWOL soldier friend who was living there. Witnesses told authorities they saw her enter a red and black car occupied by three males.

Mary Fleszar, 19, an Eastern Michigan coed, was the first victim in the string, and her slaying was the most macabre. Her body was discovered Aug. 7, 1967, on a rubbish dump obscured by a clump of box elders.

Apparently Miss Fleszar, a farm-girl scholar from the little community of Willis, Mich., had been slain six weeks earlier. Identification was possible only through dental records and plastic sandals she owned. Both feet had been slashed off. So had the fingers of one hand and an arm. Decomposition was too far advanced to determine any sexual molestation.

Maralynn Skelton, a 16-year-old dropout and a frequent runaway, was killed last March 25 by massive skull fractures. She had been undressed and whipped, apparently with a belt, and also slashed. She also had been sexually abused, possibly after death. A stick was used to violate her.

Evidence indicated that 13-year-old Dawn Basom, was killed in the basement or yard of an abandoned farm house. The body was found last April 16 along a dirt road 2½ miles away.

Broken glass was found in the farmhouse basement and also in the girl's shoes. She had been garroted, apparently from behind while running, with a piece of electrical cord found embodied in her neck, and she was later slashed and stabbed repeatedly. The body was nude except for a torn blouse and brassiere pulled up around her shoulders.

State Senator Charged With Being Disorderly

LANSING (AP) — Lansing authorities Friday issued a warrant charging State Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, with disorderly conduct after he was involved in a minor auto accident.

The warrant was issued after the other motorist, Rufus Seals, siged a complaint.

The complaint alleges that Brown did "resort to being a disorderly person in that he engaged in indecent and obscene conduct" after the accident, which occured at 1:45 a.m. Thursday, just 45 minutes after the Senate adjourned for the weekend.

The Wednesday night Senate session had been marked by a 36-minute standoff between Brown and Senate President Thomas Schwiegert, R-Petoskey, as Brown refused to return to his seat and Schweigert refused to let discussion continue until he did.

Goods, Cash Stolen at Doctor's Office

More than $610 worth of office equipment, pills, syringes and money was reported stolen from a Pontiac doctor's office sometime early yesterday, police said.

Dr. Stanley Levine, 43, of 667 N. East Blvd. told police he was missing an undetermined amount of sleeping pills, plastic syringes and cash and one typewriter worth $500 and an adding machine valued at $110.

The office was entered by breaking a window, police said.

38 Are Nabbed in Raid in City

Thirty-eight persons were arrested by Pontiac Police in a raid on an alleged blind pig early this morning.

The vice squad and other officers closed in on a home at 151 Bagley at 3 a.m. and made the arrests in what Sgt. Guy White, head of the vice squad, said was a "pretty large" operation.

Two females were charged with soliciting as prostitutes, two men with possession of betting slips and the other 33, including six women, with loitering in an illegal liquor establishment, according to White.

OFFICERS ARE 'PLANTS'

White said police officers had been planted in the "establishment," which he said had existed for a long time.

Most of those arrested have been released on bond for arraignment Tuesday. Those who can't post bond are scheduled for arraignment Monday.

Bond was set at $50 each for those charged with loitering and having betting slips, $100 for the accused prostitutes and $500 for Jones. Jones posted bond and was released.

Clans Fight Sub Plan to Hunt 'Nessie'

INVERNESS, Scotland (UPI) — Scottist clans united today against plans to launch a yellow submarine to hunt for the legendary Loch Ness monster.

Lord Lovat, chief of Clan Fraser, and Lord MacDonald, chief of Clan MacDonald, said the concern was that marine zoologists might hurt the monster by trying to take a piece of its skin for scientific testing.

For generations reports have circulated that some sort of monster lives in the loch's depths. Such reports usually proliferate during the tourist season.

"Nessie (the monster) is a quiet, benign beastie which has never done anyone any harm," the Herald said. "Every true Scot . . . has no need for scientific evidence to know that Nessie is there."

Area Woman Arraigned on Drug Charge

A Birmingham woman was arraigned on a charge of narcotics possession before Judge Alice Gilbert in 48th District Court yesterday.

Preliminary examination for Mrs. Christine Crona has been set for Thursday.

Mrs. Crona's home at 1008 Haynes was raided Thursday night by Birmingham and State police detectives, U. S. Customs Officials and an assistant Oakland County Prosecutor.

Officers said they found a quantity of the drug hashish in the Crona residence.

Police said the drug allegedly was mailed to Mrs. Crona from Israel.

THINK ABOUT IT!

FATHER'S DAY

On Father's Day, dad is 'supposed' to have his slippers brought to him; to have his pipe or cigars handed to him; to have the right to select TV programs of his choice on his special day when he is 'King' . . . Most dads are realistic though and understand even if these 'Kingship' advantages don't happen.

Let's face it. There are all sorts of fathers, just like all sorts of women and children. Some dads are considerate, some inconsiderate. Some are affectionate, some indifferent. Some are contented, some discontented. Some are happy, some unhappy. Some are ambitious, some are not. Some are companions to their families, some are aloof.

In all these contrasts, one thing stands out. Blood relationship is one thing. A friendly relationship is another thing. And a blood relationship without a friendly relationship is tragedy. For all of you who read this, we sincerely hope Father's Day is a triumphant day — a friendly day for all fathers and families — everywhere . . . HUNTOON FUNERAL HOME, 79 Oakland Ave., Pontiac. "ELOI, ELOI LAMA SABACHTHANI?"

J. L. VOORHEES

In the 15th Chapter, Verse 34, of the Gospel of St. Mark, we find that, "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani," are the words of Jesus as he was dying upon the cross. Translated, this means, "My God, My God, why has Thou forsaken me?"

In these troubled times the fear of nuclear holocaust is not so great when we know that mankind, too, like Jesus, have not, nor ever will, be forsaken. The loss of a loved one is always a personal loss filled with grief. At a time like this, what a wonderful comfort it is to know that the sting of death has been removed. What wonderful assurance it is to know that the words of the Master applies to us, "VERILY I SAY UNTO THEE, TODAY SHALT THOU BE WITH ME IN PARADISE."

Junior Editors Quiz on ALBINOS

QUESTION: What causes some animals to become albinos?

ANSWER: In the outer layer of an animal's skin are pigments, such as melanin, which give a deeper color. The hair also is affected by this pigment.

But nature seems full of restless experiment; individuals may be born strikingly different in some way. Occasionally we find an animal whose skin and hair lacks normal pigment; such a one is an albino.

The hair will be pure white; eyes and skin pink; the iris blue. Albinos may be perfectly normal in every other way. Moby Dick, in Melville's story, was an albino white whale. There have been albino elephants, squirrels and so on. Yet, among wild animals, albinos are very rare, perhaps one in 10,000.

Imagine the thrill of coming across a pure white giraffe such as we show, silhouetted against the dark green jungle! Even more extraordinary is the pure white gorilla, nicknamed Snowflake, who was discovered with his jet black mother in 1966.

In a number of familiar animals — white mice, white chickens and so on — there are so many white individuals that the whiteness has become hereditary; they all turn out that way.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Tot Turns Table on Snake

STILFONTEIN, South Africa (AP) — Mrs. Norma McMylor heard her 18-month-old daughter making a spitting sound in the next room and found the youngster holding a deadly puff adder.

The child had bitten the snake and was making a face to show she didn't like the taste.

Mrs. McMylor knocked the snake out of the child's hand and quickly killed it. The child was unharmed.

Prison Housing Crisis Feared

LANSING (AP) — "We are fast approaching a crisis in prison housing," State Corrections Director Gus Harrison warned yesterday.

Harrison made the comment as it was announced the Marquette Prison honor camp, closed since 1964, will be opened within two weeks because of the increase in the number of inmates in Lower Michigan penal institutions.

Warden Raymond J. Buchkoe said he has been instructed by the State Corrections Commission and Harrison to make the camp ready for at least 48 inmates, all prison trustees.

Harrison said the state's prison facilities are being strained by an increase of more than 1,000 inmates during the past year.

Harrison said the increase in inmates over last year is rising at a rate of between 35 and 40 a week. At this rate, he estimated, there will be an increase of at least 1,600 prisoners this year.

"We are within 200 cells of being completely filled," Harrison said. "At this rate, they will be filled within a few months. Then we face some pretty serious problems.

Harrison said 100 cells are out of service at the Ionia Reformatory because a new locking device is being installed. These cells are expected to be ready for use in September.

One new housing unit for 120 men is under construction at the Michigan Training Unit at Ionia, Harrison said. This won't be available until next January or February, he said.

"The main reason for the increase is that the average minimum term has gone up from 26 months to four years in just the last two years," Harrison explained. "The judges are getting tougher. So the turnover isn't as fast."

Harrison noted the Corrections Department had asked the budget division for a new 600-man institution, a new reception center and for a 100-man maximum security block at Marquette. The only money allowed, he said, was planning money for the Marquette maximum security unit.

Toll Up to 4 in San Quentin Racial Feud

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Warden Louis Nelson blames a "Ku Klux mentality" on both sides for a Negro-white racial feud that has cost the lives of four inmates this year at San Quentin prison.

"The vast majority of the inmates want no part of it," he said this week in ordering most convicts locked in their cells through the weekend after seven whites were stabbed, one fatally. Three Negroes were killed earlier.

Nelson said there was a continuing struggle between 200 to 300 militants of both races.

San Quentin has about 3,600 inmates, 30 per cent of them Negro, 53 per cent white and 17 per cent Latin American and other minorities.

Nelson said that Wednesday's seven white victims were chosen "for the simple reason that they were white—targets of opportunity."

They were stabbed, he said, in a "well-planned, well-timed" attack. The assailants used a scissors blade and toilet plunger rods honed into knives.

'1776' Gamble Paying Off for Its All-or-Nothing Writer

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I used to think I gambled when I went to the track," Sherman Edwards said, "but you know there are gamblers and gamblers.

"Las Vegas was nothing to how I gambled. Here I was, a successful song writer for movies and TV and for Elvis Presley, I'd been accompanist for Lisa Kirk and Mindy Carson, and I got this burning passion to write '1776.'

WILSON

"I started it when I was 40 and I'm 50 now," he said.

"I got so I could do nothing else.

"That's where the gambling came in. I was gambling my family and my life and my money—and my morale. And morale is more important than money.

"Well after seven or 10 years of not writing anything else, I got to the point where I had to borrow. And everybody was telling me the idea of a musical about the Continental Congress was stupid anyway.

"On March 15, the day before we opened, my assets were $111.

"And after those reviews . . . I'll have enough for this world, and the next world, too."

It was because he was briefly a history teacher that he got fascinated about John Adams ("He was a holler guy like Eddie Stanky") and Ben Franklin.

"If Ben Franklin came into Gallagher's today he wouldn't be surprised by anything including the lights in here. He'd say, 'Oh, they finally got around to that.' "

Edwards found he wasn't the greatest dramatist and got Peter Stone to rewrite his story using his lyrics and score, and conception.

He gives credit to his wife Ingrid Secretan, one of the original Toastettes on the Ed Sullivan Toast of the Town show 20 years ago. "She took the big gamble with me," he says.

"Ed should get all those Toastettes and their children and grandchildren on stage some night. Maybe not . . . might not be room enough on his stage for all of them now."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Richard Burton, whose ancestors worked in Welsh coal mines, has never been asked to play a coal miner. "All I can get in the way of parts is kings and princes," he said, such as Henry VIII in "Anne of the Thousand Days."

Asked to present the Muscular Dystrophy Award to Herman Kenin, pres. of American Federation of Musicians, Jack Benny said okay only if he's allowed to play his violin before so many musicians . . . Astrid Anderson, the Danish Festival queen, is making personal appearances here.

REMEMBERS QUOTE: Past and to come seem best; things present worst.—Shakespeare.

EARL'S PEARLS: Movies are getting so sexy, drive-in patrons now watch the screen instead of other cars.

Sentence Near for Policeman

DETROIT (AP) — Suspended Highland Park policeman Michael Joseph, who was convicted Thursday of burglary and larceny, will be sentenced July 24.

Patrolman Joseph was one of 13 of the city's policemen indicted by a 23-man grand jury last winter on charges ranging from larceny to abortion conspiracy. Nine have been acquitted and charges against another were dropped this week.

Joseph was convicted by Wayne County Circuit Judge James N. Canham after four-day trial.

LA's Little Teachers Make the Grade in School Experiment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When you set children to teaching younger children, the young ones learn faster and the older ones become sharper-witted.

The teachers gain time to spend with pupils who need them most.

The principal solves his teacher shortage.

TO INVOLVE ALL GRADES

This year, fifth and sixth graders have tutored kindergarten and first grade pupils. Next year, all grades will be involved.

"Most of what kids learn comes from other kids anyway," said Dr. Ralph J. Melaragne, one of the project directors. "We're capitalizing on this.

"One of the great needs in education is for more individual instruction. This is the best and least expensive way we've found of providing it.

"Instead of one teacher for 30 children, we now have one for every five or six. The tutors are warm and close to the younger children, but they make them work."

INSTRUCTION PERIOD

The student tutors receive several weeks of instruction before they are assigned to duty.

"For example," said Melaragne, "we don't let them say to the little ones, 'You're wrong.' When mistakes are made, the tutors simply tell them what the correct answer is."

Judy Walsh, a teacher, said:

"I was worried at first that I would not know what the younger children were doing, but the older ones do a good job of keeping me posted on progress.

DISCIPLINE GOOD

"As for discipline, it couldn't be better. If I have to leave the room, I find when I come back that they don't even know I've been gone."

What do the children think of it?

"It's fun," said Kate Suda, 10, who takes an hour a day from her fifth grade studies to tutor in kindergarten.

Looking down at 5-year-old Jeffrey Harris, she said, "He's doing so much better."

Said Jeffrey: "I like Kate. She's nice."

Many of Pacoima's 1,600 students—45 per cent Negro, 40 per cent Mexican-American, 15 per cent white—come from poor homes. Many have emotional and mental problems.

NOT FOR POOR ALONE

"But the program is not designed for poor areas alone," said Principal Bill Lyle.

Lyle said selection as a tutor "changes the whole attitude of the one chosen. He's important, he finds a place in the sun."

The younger ones benefit, too, he said. "There's an understanding between children that is difficult for a teacher to achieve, especially with 30 or more children in the room."

Heart-Power Seen From House Current

WASHINGTON (AP) — An artificial heart powered from ordinary household electrical current without wires through the skin?

Scientists raised the future possibility yesterday as they reported development of an experimental device that can beam electrical power from a coil outside the body to one inside.

A team from the Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, Calif., said such an induction device has been used successfully to transmit power through the skin of experimental goats for up to 12 months. They now are working to link the transmitted power to heart-assist devices.

They reported at an artificial heart conference sponsored by the National Heart Institute.

In theory at least, artificial heart scientists have previously said, a patient equipped with an implanted artificial heart or heart-assist device could tap electricity from a wall plug in sufficient quantities to fill implanted storage batteries.

Thus, he'd have enough heart-power to last him until he needed a refill again.

Meanwhile, other scientists reported at the meeting work is also in progress to develop radiowave-emitters that could at least be attached to the skin, and eliminate use of wall plugs as cardiac-energy filling stations.

NOTICE

Operations at the Kennett Road Landfill will be discontinued as of 2:00 P.M. Sunday, June 15, 1969. Effective 8:00 A.M. Monday, June 16, the Collier Road Landfill Site, on the north side of Collier Road midway between Joslyn Avenue and Baldwin Avenue will be opened for the use of the residents of the City of Pontiac and those Townships and Cities having contracts with the City of Pontiac.

Has Brittle-Bone Disease

Boy, 8, Spends a Lot of Time in Casts

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — John Betzler's bones break so easily he wraps his dog in gauze so there will be something around that looks kind of like he does.

But, the dog disappeared Sunday, and John, 8, walked into the kitchen of his home Tuesday, slipped and broke both legs again. He lie in his hospital bed and watches the red bird at the window and wonders where his missing dog Fanny is.

When John was born, his father Charles saw him and told his wife "He has your disease."

A doctor at St. John's Hospital, where John spends a lot of time, said either it will go away after hundreds of fractures when he matures or will worsen when he's older.

Mrs. Betzler was told she had rickets until doctors at the Mayo Clinic diagnosed Genisus Imperfecta in 1946. She outgrew the most horrible aspects of the disease while a teen-ager and prays her son has such good fortune.

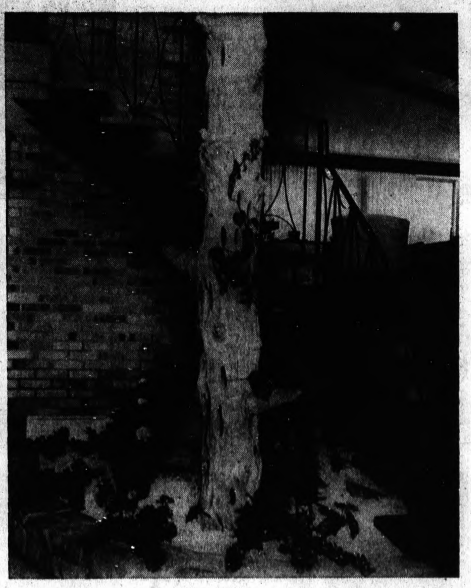
Trilevel Of The Lyle J. Walkers In West Bloomfield Township Combines Stone, Brick, Redwood



Pontiac Press Photos by Rolf Winter

Driftwood Trunk Is Foyer Conversation Piece

Fingerprints Don't Faze Trilevel's Interior Theme

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Fourteen grandchildren scurrying between the lower-level family room and the midlevel kitchen can leave quite a trail of fingerprints if you're not prepared

"That's why," chuckled proud grandmother Mrs. Lyle J. Walker, "we wallpapered the foyer in a brick pattern. It's perfect."

Dominating the indoor garden, the focal point of the entry, is a full-sized trunk of driftwood, its weather crannies making ideal spots to tuck wisps of plastic ivy and its trunk stubs, perches for colorful birds.

"Just once, one of our grandsons got adventuresome and tried climbing the tree," she paused, her eyes twinkling. "He got marooned and we had to rescue him."

The tree trunk was found on Lake Superior, brought back and bleached before it was mounted in the garden. Because the light in the foyer is not adequate to support leaf growth, the Walkers have used lifelike plastic plants in the raised bed. White gravel adds an interesting color contrast.

Sculptured red carpeting covers the wrought-iron-railed open staircase which leads to both the formal living area, the kitchen and the sleeping wing. The five-bedroom trilevel was built in 1962.

Adding to the spacious effect of the living room is the paneled and beamed cathedral ceiling. Before the brick fireplace Mrs. Walker has placed a curved sofa covered in a floral of green, gold and beige, a curved-back gold velvet chair and a travertine marble-topped coffee table.

Mr. and Mrs. chairs with matching ottoman in a gold-on-green fabric and a round marble-topped drum table complete the room's other conversation grouping.

One step leads to the dining room centered by a drop-leaf cherry table on a green and scarlet area rug. The scarlet of the area rug repeats the color tone in the living room's sculptured carpeting to coordinate the two rooms' color theme.

Dishwashers Gain in Favor

Summer often means more entertaining — more meals and refreshments for more people — and, of course, more dishes to wash afterward.

Dish-washing doesn't have to be work. In fact, for millions of housewives it isn't.

Modern, automatic dishwashers take the drudgery out of after-meal cleanup. And this fast, efficient appliance is more than just a worksaver — it does a better, more sanitary job than ever possible by hand.

Also, it means less handling of dishes, minimizing the chances of breakage.

In addition to washing dirty dishes after meals, automatic dishwashers also can be used to prewash crystal and silverware before meals — to wash vases, knickknacks and figurines — and to wash broiler racks and other removable parts of the range.

IMPROVED

Today's improved models are more efficient and quieter than ever. They feature larger load capacity and multi-directional water jets that give complete washing and rinsing action.

Water at temperatures of 140 to 160 degrees kills bacteria and sanitizes far better than the lukewarm kind used when washing by hand.

Many models have push button controls to set different wash cycles — much like an automatic washing machine. There are cycles designed to handle anything from fragile crystal to greasy pots and pans.

A pre-wash cycle allows the homemaker to rinse breakfast and lunch dishes, then wash them all together with the supper dishes — this cuts down dishwashing to once a day.

Some styles feature dispensers that automatically add the correct amount of detergent during the cycle.

Available in built-in or portable models, there are automatic dishwashers for every family's needs and budget. A reputable plumbing contractor will be glad to discuss price and installation.

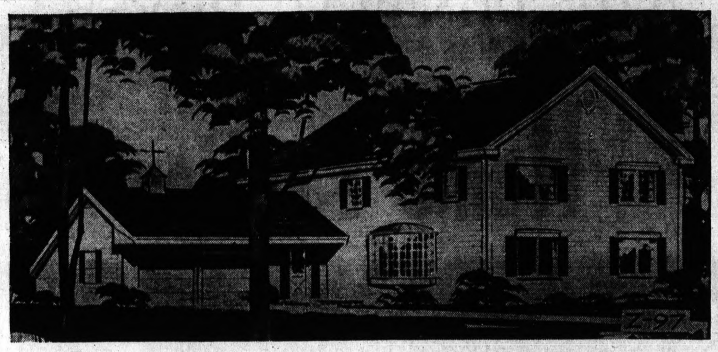
Group Pictures Before Painting

If you are planning to rearrange pictures and mirrors after a new paint job, why not try out the new locations before you start painting? Then you can see how these objects look and not worry about marring a newly painted wall.

After you've decided where they go, you can remove the old hooks and nails and patch the holes with spackle or patching plaster.



Colonial styling of the type still seen in many parts of New England is quickly evident on the outside of this two-story house, which nevertheless is completely up-to-date on the inside, including a family room with a fireplace.

Nantucket Flavor in Two-Story Home

This modern-as-tomorrow house has exterior styling reminiscent of Colonial residences on the island of Nantucket.

Recognizing the preference in many regions of the country for traditional architectural lines, arthitect Herman H. York has placed within such a framework the popular family room, the large slate-floored foyer, the laundry room and the two-car garage.

The modest over-all dimensions of 56' by 44'8" include these features as well as a patio that stretches along the entire rear portion of the basic house.

Moreover, the two-story plan permits utilization of the second floor for at least four bedrooms and, if necessary, five.

As one approaches the entrance door, an immediate feature is brought into focus—the large bow window of the living room.

Because of the L-shaped design, this attractive window actually is at the side of the house yet faces the entrance, illustrating that an eye-catching asset such as this need not be restricted to a front location.

The off-foyer powder room serves all areas, formal and informal, and can also be conveniently reached from the garage and service area.

At the rear of the house and adjacent to the patio is the family room, with two pairs of French doors, beamed ceiling and fireplace.

This room can be furnished and decorated in the traditions of Colonial New England and doubtless would become the focal point of the house because of its strategic location, just off the foyer and between the patio and the kitchen.

KITCHEN

The kitchen has all work centers in the efficient U-shape.

The dining room is separate but partially open to the living room, which has a window seat at the previously mentioned bow window.

Upstairs, there are four bedrooms and a sitting room.

The latter can be a fifth bedroom, but if used as part of the owner's bedroom, becomes part of a master suite with two walk-in closets a private bath and space for a chaise, desk and television set.

Because the chimney runs up that side of the house, a small fireplace could be located there if desired.

The two-car garage can be entered under cover and from the service portion of the house.

It is large enough to allow its two front doors to be located at the front as shown or toward the side, with the side entrance especially desirable if the property should be a corner plot.

Storage space is provided for garden tools and power equipment.

The narrow beveled siding, corner boards, cornice detail, shutters, chimney cap, cupola and main entrance door all have the flavor of the Colonial period.

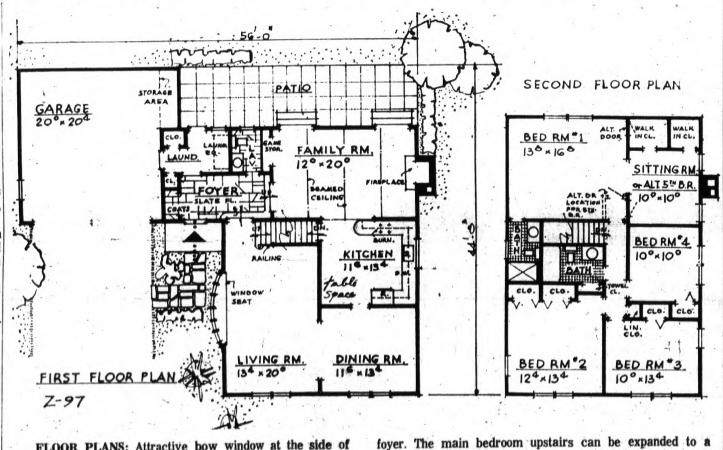
Z-97 STATISTICS

Design Z-97, a two-story Colonial, has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, foyer, laundry room and lavatory on the first floor, with a total habitable area of 1,123 square feet. There are four bedrooms and a sitting room (or five bedrooms) on the second floor, plus two baths, with a living area of 1,052 square feet. The over-all dimensions of 56' by 44' 8" include a two-car garage and a patio.



FLOOR PLANS: Attractive bow window at the side of the living room, rather than in the usual location at the front, lends decorative touch to the passageway leading to front foyer. The main bedroom upstairs can be expanded to a master suite if a fifth bedroom is not needed.

Bright Room Aids Good Atmosphere

A child's room should be bright and cheerful . . . a happy place to play or study.

But when nap time comes, it's important to achieve a restful, darkened atmosphere.

The window treatment which will accomplish this dual purpose best is the Venetian blind.

When open, Venetian blinds allow light and air to enter a room, yet a closed blind is the most effective method of darkening a room.

Noisy Plumbing Top of Complaints

In a recent survey on what women like and don't like about their bathrooms, noisy water closets ranked high on the list of complaints.

The survey also showed that the "average" homemaker doesn't realize that water closets, like everything else she can buy, come in various qualities.

When it comes to bathroom equipment, it certainly pays to buy the best.

The best water closet is the siphon jet. It has the best flushing action, is the quietest and the easiest to keep clean.

Grading of Oaks

Oak flooring is graded by appearance, not strength or durability. The Oak Flooring Institute says that all regular grades of oak flooring are strong enough, and durable enough, to make fine floors.

Plan Plumbing to Save Dollars

Plumbing afterthoughts are costly. It's advised that you can save yourself a good deal of money by planning the plumbing of your new home to facilitate eventual installation of additional fixtures and appliances.

Headed by Former Pontiac Resident

New Firm Enters Factory-Built Home Market

By ED BLUNDEN

Another firm, LeBon Home of the Pontiac and Metropolitan Corp., has entered the factory-built housing field — an innovation that is expected to have a profound effect on the future Detroit area.

The new firm is headed by a former Pontiac resident, LeBon B. Walker of Detroit.

A model of a LeBon home is on display at 500 Clairpointe, two blocks south of East Jefferson in Detroit. At a special press opening of the model last week, Walter Reuther, UAW president and also chairman of the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MCDCA), was present and added his personal endorsement to the concept of factory-built housing and the LeBon company.

Reuther labeled the concept, "Industrialized housing . . . it will be a tremendous contribution to answering the housing needs of the entire metropolitan area," he said. "We can make millions of these on production lines," he added.

CONTRACT AWARDED

Reuther also added the announcement that the MDCDA had given LeBon a contract for 250 of his homes. The MDCDA has finance plans involving some $25 million Reuther called "seed money." This will enable low-income families to purchase the homes with long-term, low interest loans. The intent is to instill pride through home ownership in low-income, ghetto families, he explained.

The LeBon's home is designed to sell in the $11,700 range, for a three-bedroom unit. The firm's president, Walker, said his home is a quality product with brick exterior and is made by the factory-built modular construction.

He rejects the term prefabrication explaining his homes are entirely completed at the factory and need only hookup of utilities at the site. (In general the term prefabrication is used when pieces of a structure are assembled at a site.)

Though Walker and other factory-built housing firms recently formed in the Detroit area have found a market for their product, no actual factories are yet producing. Walker feels his factory, now being set up, will be producing by August.

THE CLAIRPOINTE

His home, called the Clairpointe, features a large living room, adjoining dining room, kitchen with custom-built cupboards, laundry room, three full-sized bedrooms, bath, two linen closets and wall-to-wall closet space. Walls are prefinished paneling and floors are cushion-tone vinyl.

The homes will come in several models according to size, coloring, furnishings or desired utilities.

LET'S MAKE A POINT ! ! !

A month ago we deliberately omitted pictures and copy about houses in our classified advertising.

OUR TELEPHONES AND OFFICES HAVE NEVER BEEN BUSIER.

Which proves a point (several points, as a matter of fact) which we have been contending for years:

1. Clients do NOT purchase homes through chasing individual houses in classified and picture ads.
2. Prospects rarely buy a specific home they call in on. (We sold 4 homes this week that sold so quickly that we could not even advertise).
3. Prospects rarely stay in a price range in which they start making inquiries; they invariably "up grade" as homes are presented.
4. Nothing is gained by giving out addresses of listed properties over the telephone so "I can just drive by and see if I am interested." (This is strictly against our policy, as a matter of fact.)
5. We feel classified advertising is essential to a successful real estate operation, we are all for it and will continue to use it as another service to our clients.

However, the point we're making is this:

You MUST, in most cases, work with a reputable Realtor in order to be as completely satisfied with a home purchase as is possible. You MUST be counseled as to which type of financing is best suited to your circumstances. You MUST be counseled to not over-buy or under-buy. In any case — you must be SHOWN homes that competent real estate personnel feel best meets your requirements or desires.

SO, give us a call, let's "get to the point" NOW!!! — we know our full time staff can be of assistance to any of your housing problems.

Tips for Aid From Sunburn

Here are tips intended to help guide you . . . and the rest of the family . . . from getting sunburned in the first place!

If good intentions fail and you do wind up with too much exposure, suggestions are also included on getting back to normal as quickly as possible.

Redheads are the most sun-sensitive among us. They can take less sun than blondes, who can take less sun than brunettes.

The fairer the skin, the more it needs protection. But remember that with very few exceptions, everyone's skin requires protection, especially at the outset of exposure.

SLOW START

Begin with a sun bath of no more than 15 to 20 minutes — and work up slowly to longer exposures.

Test your individual limits, and don't exceed them! Results may be damaging to the skin, and the pain can last!

The presence of water and sand compound the problem with reflection, and increase exposure all the more.

FILTER

Ordinary window glass filters out ultra-violet rays. That is why, if you are riding in a car, skin doesn't burn even though the sun comes through the windshield.

It is the arm resting on the door when the window is down that gets a surprise burn during a ride.

Ordinary sunburn symptoms and signs usually appear in from one to 24 hours and, except for unusually severe reactions, generally pass their peak after three long days and nights.

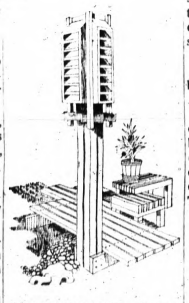
Fever, chills and weakness may result after a day in the sun. A doctor should be called if severe chills, or nausea or vomiting occur.

LET HEAL

Never expose a sunburned area to the sun again until the skin is completely healed!



ACCENT LAMP — Lamp post is imaginative, practical accent for front walk or patio. Easily built of western red cedar, lamp can stand alone or team with minideck planting stages. Plans are 15 cents from Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 539-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

Be vigilant! People who regularly work outdoors should be particularly careful about taking precautions to protect exposed skin areas.

Sports enthusiasts, gardeners and sun worshippers should apply sun-screening creams or lotions frequently.

Above all, keep handy a remedy for sunburn relief.

The newest treatment for sunburn is Un-Burn. In aerosol, lotion or cream form, it relieves pain in seconds, has an antiseptic action that helps prevent infection, and conditions skin as it soothes.

PRICE

It is nicely priced from about $1.39 to $1.98 at toiletry counters nationally, and it is clean scented, with no offensive telltale smell to increase the discomfort and humiliation of sunburn victims.

It may turn out to be your best friend on the way home . . . and later that night!

Here's more advice from the experts: Wear a hat with a brim to prevent direct heating of the head, and avoid undue exertion in very hot weather. In other words, try to take it easy. The sun should be respected.

Painting Hints for Woodwork

When painting woodwork use a round, one-inch brush for window sash, and a two or three-inch one for the balance of the trim. When you paint panelled doors, it's a good idea to coat the panels first, then the center rail.

The top and bottom rails come next — then the verticle stiles. Paint the edges last.

With Summer Comes Mosquitoes

Happy days are here again — and so are the mosquitos.

Family camping trips, al fresco parties, smoky barbecues, excursions to the beach or just henging around in the backyard sun are all part of the joys of summer

These activities are happy times for humans, but they can also provide a veritable banquet for mosquitos.

Man and the mosquito have been waging a stinging, slapping and scratching war since prehistoric times, but despite the efforts of man and science, mosquitos are still with us in astounding numbers.

In fact, the world's animal population is still 80 per cent insects, just about what it was when the first cave man discovered that whacking his mate over the head with a club also could kill a few annoying mosquitos.

HABITS

Most people know what mosquitos look like, sound like and sting like. But mosquitos have some curious habits, and knowing these habits can be a help toward achieving a mosquito-free summer for you and your family.

They raise about 30,000 a week for use in testing new insecticides and repellents. (The mosquitos lead short lives in ideal insect conditions before their demise.)

* * *

MALES

The female causes all the trouble. In order to reproduce — laying between 50 and 400 eggs at a time — she will take a blood meal every 24 hours or so.

* * *

The male seldom bites anybody and, after mating, he spends most of his time sipping nectar and hanging around with the boys until he dies — in about 10 days.

The female, though, stays alive as long as 30 days on her blood diet, biting as many as 30 persons, or even a single person 30 times.

Mosquitos need stagnant water to breed. A discarded can partially filled with rain water will support as many as 500 mosquito larva.

Mosquitos do prefer some people to others. Although scientists have some clues, they have not yet determined exactly why some people are offensive to mosquitos and never get bitten.

PRIME TARGET

But it is generally agreed that the prime target of the female mosquito is a perspiring man dressed in dark clothing who has just applied some shaving lotion or hair tonic.

Mosquitos may feed at almost any time of day or night, depending on the species, but dusk seems to be the worst time as far as people are concerned.

Mosquitos usually stay close to home. Although they are found from the tropics to the Arctic regions, most species seldom travel more than two blocks from their brithplace.

This means that your friendly neighborhhood mosquitos — and their offspring — will be your summer neighbors until they die.

HOME BODIES

Because mosquitos are such homebodies, your first step should be to make sure that the area around your home is cleared of anything that holds water — cans, old tires, uncovered trash cans, etc.

This will prevent your backyard from becoming a mosquito breeding ground.

Mosquitos like to rest during the day by hiding in tall grass, so mowing the lawn regularly will at least keep them on the move.

Fogging a backyard or barbecue area with a combination insecticide-repellent will provide several insect-free hours even during a period of heavy mosquito infestation.

Because mosquitos are attracted to dark-colored clothing, it is both stylish and practical to wear light and pastel colors during the summer months.

REPELLENT

By using a personal repellent, you can make yourself unattractive to mosquitos and other insects.

A liquid, spray or foam repellent should be applied at intervals during the day and also just about dusk, when mosquitos are ravenous.

And finally, it won't do much good to get rid of the mosquitos outside your home if you let them inside.

Modern space-spray insecticides will take care of any that manage to get in, and the use of a residual insecticide on screens and doors will help prevent them from getting inside the house at all.

Summer can be a happy time for you and your family — and not a banquet time for mosquitos — if you follow these rules.

Contract Negotiated ---Firm Ready to Go

A black businessman formerly from Pontiac has moved to the fore in the burgeoning factory-built home construction industry. He's LeBon B. Walker of Detroit, president and founder of LeBon Home Corp., who took a giant step this week toward getting his factory in operation — he negotiated a contract with his employes.

LeBON B. WALKER

Walker already has several large and small contracts to supply homes. All that remains is to get his factory moving. He expects to have his production lines rolling by August. "We'll fill all the orders and I hope we get enough to put on three shifts and work weekends, too," he said.

A graduate of Pontiac Central (1957), Walker attended Wayne State and Michigan State universities. He is a member of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce and keeps his Pontiac ties with membership in Harambee, Inc., a black community housing development group.

Harambee is planning several housing projects in Pontiac and may purchase LeBon homes. "I certainly hope they do. I'm from Pontiac. However we will be selling at competitive prices and hope to win our contracts on the basis of our price and the quality of our homes," Walker said.

POSITIVE APPROACH

He sees the low-cost home movement as a positive approach in curbing racial disorders. "If you want a man not to be destructive, let him have something to protect . . . He'll be too busy protecting his own property to bother anyone else's," Walker said.

Paint Roller for Pesky Ceilings

Here's a tip for keeping the paint rolling on smoothly.

When painting a rectangular room, work across the width of the room rather than the length. If you do this, you will be able to paint the second lap before the first lap has dried.

This will eliminate the problem of ridges forming between the laps.

Your Cellar a Catchall? Upgrade It!

"At best, they're inefficient for storage and ought to be modernized into auxiliary living, recreation or sleeping areas."

With built-in storage, the homemaker can have an orderly place for out-of-season clothes and other items even when an attic or basement has been converted to living purposes, the consultant says.

Wardrobe closets for suits and dresses are proposed for sleeping rooms to save space. Cabinets with ample drawer and shelf space for small wearing apparel are essentials.

CONVERSION

For converting rooms and creating useful built-ins, the thrifty home owner finds woodgrain hardboard ideal. Factory-finished, the sturdy panels "keep their looks" with minimum maintenance."

"The family will find a modernized attic or basement much more useful than the traditional space and its usual cluttered condition.

For free information on home modernization, ask the Home Service Bureau to send "new Fashions in Home Decor," enclosing a dime, and free plan AE-212, which details easy cabinet construction. Address Box B, Chicago, Ill. 60690.

Opening lead—♦K

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

North's jump to four spades was one of those scatter-gun bids. He had no idea about his partner's ability to make that contract but he felt sure that if South couldn't bring four spades home, then the hand would belong to East and West.

It turned out that the best East and West could do would be to make three diamonds so that it was up to South to make his four spades.

The contract turned out to be what is described in expert circles as a laydown. In other words, an expert would make the contract every time provided West holds the trump ace. What is laydown to an expert may not be that easy to the average player. So, let's follow the entire play:

Dummy's ace of diamonds wins the first trick. South ruffs a diamond at trick two and leads a trump toward dummy. West goes right up with the ace and leads a trump back. He is not going to break any suits for South.

South cashes the ace, king and queen of hearts, discarding a club from dummy on the queen. His next play is the nine of hearts and when West puts on the jack, South is ready with a loser-on-loser play to insure his contract. He simply discards another club.

West is on lead once more. Another diamond play will allow a third club discard from dummy and a ruff by declarer so the best West can do is to play his ace of clubs. This is the last trick for the defense since the king of clubs is now good and the last three tricks go to dummy's trumps.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South

Pass	2♦	Pass	3♥
Pass	4♥	Pass	5♣
Pass	6♥	Pass	?

♠Z ♥AKQJ874 ♦96 ♣A1098

What do you do now?

A—Pass. You can be sure that your partner doesn't hold both the aces you are missing.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding two diamonds your partner has responded one spade to your opening heart bid. What do you do now?

Answer Monday

U.S. Infantry Is Marking Time

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The United States Infantry marks its 194th birthday today.

It was established by a resolution of the Continental Congress June 14, 1775. Its headquarters here on the Chattchoochee River still provides basic training as old as the Army itself.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Sunday

Lunar position excellent for fishing, planting. Center activities around home, family. Many today get new look at what was familiar; there is excitement of rediscovery.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Many look to you as example. Be calm, cool and objective. Responsibility you feel is not your own — can be handled diplomatically. Then you earn respect — and love.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be with relatives even if it requires short journey. Day features activity, travel, ideas and slight confusion. Not wise to attempt detail work. Plan whole areas. Accent charm.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Concentrate on budget, money. Utilize experience to obtain legitimate bargain. Feeling of restriction is but temporary. You get what you want — but not in sudden fashion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You break through to real progress. What you seek is in view. Be willing to reach out for it. Key is to be adventurous. This can be a meaningful and wonderful day — make it so.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Obtain needed privacy. Be discreet. Bring family circle close. Get backing of those who really are concerned. You do not need accolades you require understanding — it is obtainable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with chance to give pleasure to loved ones. Get rid of groundless fears, doubts. Take a chance. Expose your emotions. You'll be glad.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Stress on what you want to achieve. Ambitions are highlighted. Accept responsibility. You have what you want, but you may not realize it. Think.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You can finish important task. You get what you need through written word. Study your paper. Read, write and outline formula. Keep communication lines clear.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Delve into the hidden, the obscure. Answers are obtainable. Key is to be independent and curious. Ask questions. Don't be satisfied with superficial answers.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Spotlight on marriage, partnerships, public relations. Much comes your way. Handle apparent dilemma with aplomb. Be receptive — don't try to force any issue.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stress moderate approach. Keep resolutions concerning work, health. Give special attention to pet. Repay those who have performed special services.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Creative urge may cause restlessness. Don't confuse being in love with love; with loving an individual. Realistic approach pays dividends. Know what you want and need.

IF SUNDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a warm, trusting individual. But many misinterpret your motives. New friends, different environment proves beneficial.

For Monday

Moon in Cancer favorable for fishing, planting. Fine for dining at home, cooking a family favorite. Good conversation tonight as people tend to open up and reveal aspirations.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Concentrate on basics. You are tempted to go far afield. This would not be constructive. Travel may not be wisest course. Key is to stick close to home base.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Avoid being a spendthrift. There are apparent minor points which need clarification. Avoid argument with mate, partner over division of funds. Mature discussion solves dilemma.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Not so good for signing legal documents. You need more time. Someone wants what you possess. You are in driver's seat but may not know it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emphasis on harmony at home. There could be disagreement about friend. Arguing solves nothing. Compromise could strike responsive chord.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A meeting that was supposed to be clandestine could become common knowledge. Not a good day for secrets. You could feel yourself if you think everything is hidden. If is not.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Conflict may exist between what you must do and what you would like to do. There is overtime, possible added assignment. Older individual holds key.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Journey may be postponed. Finish project which has been neglected. Take long-range view. Avoid tendency to be impatient. Know why you are doing what you do. Get busy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Don't let anyone rush you into financial commitment. Study TAURUS message. New contact proves beneficial. Stress originality and original approach.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You get ideas which help solidify your position. But don't be in too much of a hurry. Key is to be receptive. Avoid any tendency to brood about past.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Social activity picks up; you are more popular. Don't scatter forces. Finish one task at a time. Your sense of humor becomes valuable ally.

Church Couple Serves Camp

Howard Widemans on Staff Full Time

Howard and Elizabeth Wideman are an unusual example of Christian service and faith in this fast moving world. Active members of Five Points Community Church, 3411 E. Walton, Pontiac Township, since 1959, the couple serves their church in numerous ways.

* * *

Mrs. Wideman has been superintendent of the Primary Church for the past three years. Howard Wideman has served as a member of the choir and a leader of Christian Boys' Brigade. He has taught Sunday School classes and served as church custodian.

For the past six years he has been head mechanic for the Birmingham Public School System.

The Widemans have five children, Howard, Charles, Philip, Mary and Allan.

SERVE ON STAFF

After much prayerful consideration, the Widemans accepted the request to serve as full time staff members of Camp Barakel near Fairview.

The camp directed by Holman Johnson, desparately needed personnel to keep up the maintenance of the Christian camp.

Since the camp is a non profit organization, staff members must raise their own support just as any other missionary must do, Pastor Gordon Lindsay said.

Following the 6:30 p.m. service tomorrow, the primary department will honor the Wideman family with a fellowship hour.

At 7:30 Wednesday evening the Five Points Church will be host to the Shawnee Valley Boys' Ranch Ensemble. The ranch is a private independent Christian home and school in Arkansas.

A group of boys from the ranch will present a program of vocal arrangements, testimonies and a message with color slides.

Guest Speaks at Service

The Rev. Ezekiel Wright of St. Stephen Baptist Church will bring the message when the congregation of New Hope Missionary Baptist Church celebrates its 36th anniversary at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow.

* * *

Dinner will be served following the service. The Rev. Mr. Wright's choir and congregation will be guests of the New Hope Church.

What Wall Street Did

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market—alarmed at the tightening money situation—reeled to its worst weekly loss in nearly four months this past week.

The market was propelled into a steep slump by the increase Monday in the bank prime rate—the interest charged the biggest borrowers—to a record 8½ per cent from 7½ per cent.

The Federal Reserve Board and commercial banks have been closing the vise on lendable funds since last December by boosting interest rates. The aim was to stem inflation.

The broker-age firm of Bache & Co. said the "overriding factor" in the market decline was the monetary squeeze. And it expressed the opinion that "any change in the market's current defensive position must be preceded by investor feeling that the worst of the monetary restraint has been seen and a 1966-type crunch has been avoided."

On top of the prime rate boost came statements by Nixon administration officials that wage and price controls could not be ruled out if Congress fails to extend the surtax beyond its June 30 expiration date. This further upset the market.

Another brokerage house, E.F. Hutton & Co., commented that it was hardly any wonder that the stock market acted the way it did this past week because "an atmosphere of crisis and confusion has been created."

For the week the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 22.93 points to 894.84 in its biggest loss since it went down 35.30 in the week ended Feb. 21. This average, which has been sliding steadily from its 1969 high of 968.85 reached on May 14, hit a new low for the year of 892.58 Thursday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped to a new 1969 low of 318.4

Week in Stocks and Bonds

By WHAYNE EISENMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The bond market was subjected to two major influences this past week—the increase in the prime lending rate by the nation's banks and announcement that wage-price controls have not been ruled out by the Nixon administration.

Interest rates soared in the wake of Monday's announcement that bank's increased the interest rate to their best borrowers to 8½ per cent from 7½ per cent, then recovered substantially on Tuesday.

A more optimistic note — for fixed-income investors — was White House Spokesman who reversed a previous statement and declared wage-price controls had not been discounted as a weapon against inflation.

Bonds and other fixed-income instruments are more appealing to investors when they expect future interest yields will not go high enough to erode the value of current purchases.

An example of brisk demand was the quick sale of Beneficial Finance Corp's $65 million of 20-month maturity debentures offered at a return to investors of 8.375 per cent.

A longer-term issue, Florida Power & Light Co.'s $50 million in first mortgage bonds, sold out to yield 7.90 per cent in 30 years.

In municipal issues, the original calendar was reduced substantially as a result of high interest rates.

Unlike other major sectors of the bond market, municipals had no significant rally, although several fast selling issues helped to improve the market tone. So far, the June calendar for municipals is well below average.

In spite of the prime rate pressures on the market, government bonds continued to rally, according to the national investment firm of Salomon Bros. & Hutzler, particularly in those of over 10 year maturities.

S. Baptists Reject Manifesto

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A committee of the multimillion-member South Baptist convention has rejected as "outrageous" the demands of the so-called Black Manifesto.

The manifesto, authored by Negro militant James Forman, demands $3 billion in "reparations" from white religious institutions in America for their alleged past injustices to blacks.

In a report prepared for presentation to the convention's 16,000 delegates, the resolutions committee asked the body to "reject in total the demands, principles and methods proposed by the National Black Economic Council (NBEC), which made outrageous claims against religious bodies in our nation. . ."

Forman is director of the NBEC.

The committee also went on record "proclaiming our disapproval of the intimidation, threats and ultimatums propagated by the leaders of this movement."

The committee report came in response to a resolution submitted by a liberal youth group, Baptist Students Concerned (BSC).

BSC proposed the convention "reject the racist overtones of the Black Manifesto, But respond in some Christian way to alleviate black poverty."

The committee report, in effect, killed the student resolution. Moreover, the report indicated no drastic changes would be forthcoming in the convention's financial support of black capitalism.

The report asked "all citizens of whatever race, creed or national origin . . . work for racial justice, economic improvement, political emancipation, educational advancement and Christian understanding among all peoples of the nation and the world."

Mother of George Wallace Retiring in Alabama Job

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. Moselle Wallace, mother of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, has retired after 25 years with the state health department.

"It's been a short 25 years," she reflected Friday as she cleared her desk, "but pleasant ones."

Some family members—including the former governor and another son, Circuit Court Judge Jack Wallace—joined friends and co-workers in paying tribute to Mrs. Wallace. State health officer Dr. Ira Myers presented her a certificate commemorating her long service.

Curb Disruptions, Priests Told

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Cardinal John J. Carberry, prompted by threats by militants to "spit in the communion cup," has ordered St. Louis priests to take a hard-line stand toward disruptions of church services.

"Permission to speak in church during religious services is not to be granted; the same holds true for distribution of literature," the cardinal said, speaking from a set of guidelines to be read from pulpits in Roman Catholic churches tomorrow.

"If, in the judgment of the priest, a serious disturbance has been created, he should not hesitate to call the police."

The guidelines marked one of the hardest stands taken by church authorities against recent militant reparation demands.

Catholic people throughout the archdiocese."

He cautioned that Catholics attending disrupted services should exercise "patience and tolerance. Absolutely nothing is gained by violent reaction or by taking personal action," the cardinal said.

Percy Green, chairman of Action, said after the announcement that his group would continue its "Black Sunday" program. He said the group is nonviolent but does not

TWO GROUPS ACTIVE

Two groups have been active in church protests here in recent weeks One, the Black Liberation Front, has entered Presbyterian and Methodist churches demanding reparations for black persons in a national effort spearheaded by James Forman.

A local group, Action, has conducted "Black Sundays," demanding churches make public all their slum property, act as nonprofit bonding agencies and turn over 75 per cent of their net income to a fund for the poor.

Last Sunday, the Action "guerrilla force" used a bullhorn in the St. Louis Cathedral to threaten to "spit in the communion cup" if their demands are not met.

Carberry said the threat added "a very serious new dimension that has truly disturbed

Long-Time Gripe Smoothed, Then . . .

ST. LOUIS (AP)—For years residents have complained about the condition of the intersection of 59th and Elizabeth streets.

This week a city street department crew ironed out the bumps and ruts.

As the street crew pulled away leaving smooth new paving behind it, a telephone company crew, equipped with air hammers and digging machines, moved in to tear up the new surface and lay a cable.

Constable Faces 'Discredit' Charge

TORONTO (AP) — Constable Sydney Brown, president of the Police Association of Ontario, was charged Friday with bringing discredit to the Toronto Police Department by posing for a photograph with a tin cup and a sign reading: "Please Give Generously."

The charge was laid under the Ontario Police Act after the photograph appeared in the magazine Toronto Life with an article on a dispute over wages and working conditions between Toronto policemen and the Toronto Police Commission.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear grandfather, Jim Father's Day, Leo Boyl, who passed away June 14, 1966.
They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved,
How much we miss you yet.
Ever remembered Avis, Raymond, Ricky, Deana.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear father on Father's Day, Leslie F. Price, who passed away June 19, 1966.
When links of life are broken,
And loved ones have to part,
It leaves a wound that never heals,
On every aching heart.
Sadly missed by children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY of my husband George E. McKnight who passed away 2 years ago, June 15, 1967. Wife, Clara.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Sergeant Douglas E. Long, who passed away June 15, 1968.
Often a lonely heartache,
And many a silent tear.
But always a beautiful memory,
Of the one we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by mother, George and John, Gloria and Sandra.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Foster Fawcett.
So many things have happened
Since you were called away
So many things I shared with you,
If only you could have stayed.
I cannot bring the old days back,
Your hand I cannot touch,
But I still have precious memories
Of the one I loved so much.
Sadly missed by his wife, Fanny.

When we made this listing
We thought we stood on Hallowed ground.
And we said to ourself
"You've come a long way—from the bustle to the mini skirt

From the smoked bacon
Over palls of smoldering corn cobs
In the old stone smoke house.
To pre-cooked and eggs "put down"
In water glass and stored in a stone
Crock on the floor of the old
Michigan
Basement to your frost-free refrigerator

You've come a long way
From the time you emoties the ashes
Of the old kitchen range once a day
To a pile "out back" to the day
You flipped your cigarette ash
Into a creatively designed ashtray.

In fact-from this old log house to todays
condominium

From this old house situated on 33 well living acres in a real developing area between I-75 and US-10. Approximately halfway between Flint and Pontiac not far from Grand Blanc. About 700 ft. of frontage on a dirt road. This old house has been in 1 family over 100 years and is eligible to become a centennial farm. Still sound, if the floors are a bit uneven (they've been in that position for years) and the stairs go straight up. The logs are now covered with modern siding. The 2 brick fireplaces have been torn down but are bricked up, plastered and papered over. The old kitchen range is still there — with its warming ovens above the hot water reservoir on the side. Has outdoor plumbing and a Michigan basement. Electricity and a good garage. Only one concession to the present. We hope someone, appreciative of our American heritage, has the hard work, the calloused hands and aching backs this country was founded upon who have seen not only the investment potential of the acreage, but will restore and keep this house a memo of an honest, strong and proud past. Price — 33 acres and house — $45,000.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Jessee Arnelle, former Penn State basketball star who refused an award last year to protest the school's lack of black faculty and administration, Thursday became the first Negro elected to the Penn State Board of Trustees.

Arnelle, 36, is considered the best basketball player in Penn State history. He turned down the Nittany Lion award last May 17 at the annual State College Community Quarterback dinner where he was the honored guest.

Instead of accepting the statue, he criticized the university for having never had in its 113-year history a black full professor, dean, vice president or trustee. Arnelle, an assistant to the president of Ohio University, said at the time he hoped he could return to Penn State to accept the award "when freedom is really here."

He was not available for comment after his election was announced.

Blind, Diabetic Grad to Help Others

Hemple's wife, Margery, worked to support Hemple and their 11-year-old son while Hemple went through a junior college and San Diego State College.

Hemple made precision machine parts for 30 years. He became blind seven years ago after 22 years of diabetes.

The sightless social welfare student found he could not learn by Braille and absorbed his assignments by hearing them read to him.

"I always believed a man was responsible for what he did, but I can't believe it any longer," he said. "What I want is to help others."

Nixon to Get Big Daddy's Day Gift

President Nixon is going to get a Father's Day gift from his family tomorrow "that's bigger than him," daughter Tricia said yesterday. daughter Tricia said yesterday.

NIXON

Without disclosing the exact nature of the gift, she told reporters:

"It's a little unusual. It's something he never had before and will never receive again."

The gift is from the whole family to the President, Tricia said. "We all pooled our imagination and funds."

The one major hint she gave was that the gift is "for our new house" in San Clements, Calif.

King's Daughter Remembers Lesson

"The importance of living a good life," is the most valued lesson remembered by Yolanda (Youk) King, 13, elest child of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., on the eve of Father's Day.

"He often told us the meaning of life is not its duration or it's longevity," Yoki said yesterday in Atlanta, "but it is the inner drive to achieve for one's own, its personal ends and ambitions."

YOLANDA

Yoki wrote her first play when she was 8. This summer, she is attending an actors and writing workshop.

Yoki has two brothers—Martin Luther II, who is 11, and Dexter, 8—and a sister Bernice, 6.

If Taylor Widow Dies, Guardians Are Reagan, Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The will of actor Robert Taylor names California Gov. Ronald Reagan and his wife, Nancy, as guardians of Taylor's two children in the event of the death of his widow, actress Ursula Theiss.

Reagan, a close friend of Taylor's delivered the eulogy at memorial services Wednesday. The 57-year-old actor died Sunday of lung cancer.

The will, filed in Superior Court Friday, bequeathed half the estate to the widow and the other half set up a trust fund for the actor's mother and two children. Spokesmen estimated the estate at more than $1 million.

The children, Terance, 14, and Tessa, 11, would receive the entire estate upon the deaths of Miss Theiss and Taylor's mother, Ruth Brugh.

Flint Seeks Involvement

FLINT (AP) — A unique method of learning about grassroots problems in communities and offering assistance will be operational in Flint Monday in the form of a 40-foot blue and yellow trailer.

The trailer, dubbed "the mobile city hall" will be manned by police and high school students, called community service officers. The students are members of a group working with local communities to help solve problems. The trailer, which was donated for the project, will be stationed at 10 different sites throughout the city this summer.

Police Chief James Rutherford noted one of the greatest problems facing urban America today is the lack of communications "between residents, the police department and city government." He said the mobile city hall will help solve that problem.

Week for Women

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State University week for women will feature sessions on what student, racial and religious unrests can mean for women.

NBC Gets a Reply From Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—National Broadcasting Co. newsman Sander Vanocur has some in this West Michigan city hopping mad because he told a nationwide TV audience that Guam is "uninteresting, not much to offer, a kind of Grand Rapids with palm trees."

Oberg pointed out that Grand Rapids was named an All-American city a few years ago and added "it is not an unglamorous city — our city is bursting with life, vitality and a forward look." He included brochures, pictures and pamphlets on Grand Rapids.

Reagan Predicts More Strife Over Berkeley Park

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan predicts there will be more trouble in Berkeley over the "people's park" issue, source of violence and controversy dating back to May 15.

Despite recent relative calm and withdrawal of the National Guard, "the issue is not closed," the governor told a Commonwealth Club audience of more than 1,100 business and civil leaders Friday.

"A people's park negotiating committee has finally surfaced to declare there will be no real peace in Berkeley until the fence comes down," Reagan said.

He referred to an 8-foot steel fence around the University of California owned lot which some students and so-called "street people" had taken over for their own use as an informal park.

Fair-Airwaves Ruling Hailed

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The recent ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court upholding the Federal Communication Commission's "fairness doctrine" has strengthened the commission's hand in dealing with "broadcast hatemongers," says a University of Michigan specialist in broadcasting.

The court ruling reflects, among other things, a concern over "the growing use of the airwaves by irresponsible elements who peddle fear, hate, bigotry, all wrapped up in the cloak of patriotism," according to Prof. Ben Yablonsky of the U-M journalism department.

The Supreme Court's decision last week dealt with two subrules of the fairness doctrine.

The first was the "personal attack" rule, which requires stations to give free time to anyone whose honesty, character, or integrity has been attacked over the station's facilities. The second was the "political editorial" rule which requires that if stations endorse a political candidate, they must give his opponents a chance to reply.

Yablonsky said the court's ruling does not take "hate mongers" off the air, but the FCC can see "that there is a place for other points of view, for a chance at least, to reply to those who spread fear and hate over the air."

Graham's Crusade in NY Opens to 'Great Response'

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Graham, Bible in hand, was off to a running start in his return crusade in New York, attracting a vast opening-night multitude.

"It's a big surprise and a joyful surprise," he said Friday night. He added that it indicated a "great spiritual hunger in the city and throughout the country."

Not only did metropolitan dwellers turn out in massive numbers, about 25,000 of them, but an extraordinarily high proportion—more than 1,000—answered Graham's appeal to commit their lives to faith in Christ.

"I was just overwhelmed," he told a news conference afterward. He said it was "one of the largest, if not the largest, response we've ever had" on an opening night.

GARDEN SWAMPED

Although he had voiced advance doubts about the turnout this time, noting slackened trends in the nation's religious life since his crusade here 12 years ago, the variegated city throng Friday night swamped the 20,000-seat Madison Square Garden.

The overflow filled Manhattan Center with another 3,000, who received the service by closed-circuit color television. Others stood in the lobbies and halls of the Garden, listening to loudspeakers.

"It was far beyond anything I'd expected," Graham said.

In addition, the video-taped rally was carried shortly afterward over television outlets in 18 major cities across the eastern half of the country, a practice to be repeated nightly through the 10-day crusade.

BETTER THAN '57

Its beginning scope and ardor easily surpassed that of the start of Graham's 1957 crusade here, when the general religious climate was more promising, but the first-night crowd only partially filled the Garden.

The numbers built up, however, as that 16-week campaign went on.

Graham, in his sermon, said the crusade comes "in a crucial period in the history" of America, when people are idolizing materialism, hedonism and scientism.

"Unless this city and this nation turns to God, they will not be spared the judgment of God," he said. He likened modern society to ancient Babylon, Tyre, Nineveh and Sidon, destroyed for their corruption.

PORNOGRAPHY DECRIED

He said that Times Square, which he toured one night this week, is rife with the "filthiest, dirtiest pornography" he had ever witnessed, and he added:

"No nation in history and no city in history has ever gone in for that type of decadence and withstood the judgment of God."

He quoted Swiss psychiatrist Carl Jung as saying: "If Christianity is rejected, the horrors of old will come upon us again."

Two discordant incidents cut momentarily into the proceedings, once when a man whistled loudly in Graham's opening prayer, and again near the close, when another man shouted briefly.

ANTIRELIGIOUS NOTE

"I want to save the country!" he cried out as guards led him away. "I'm going to be president. I'm not crazy." He wore a hat and carried crutches. The whistler, also led out, said he belonged to an antireligious cult that whistled during prayers.

The lean, 6-foot-2 evangelist seemed scarcely to notice the sideline incidents, as did few in the vast arena.

Prosecutor Set as Witness in 'Pot' Defense

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan will be called as a defense witness in the pre-trial examination of the Rev. C. L. Franklin on the charge of possession of marijuana.

Franklin's attorney, Nick Arvan, said he will also subpoena records of the Bell Telephone Co. and news film from station WJBK-TV.

These announcements were made in the fourth day of Franklin's examination to see if he should be tried on the possession charge. Franklin is the pastor of the New Bethel Baptist Church and father of singer Aretha Franklin.

The examination, being held before Van Buren Township District Judge James Stone, has been adjourned until June 23.

FOUND IN SUITCASE

Franklin was arrested May 24 when police claimed they discovered marijuana in a suitcase of Franklin's that had been delayed on his return from Dallas.

Police had been called to Metropolitan Airport by American Airlines officials when they said they discovered marijuana in the suitcase while trying to determine its owner.

Three Czechs Visit Austria for Wine

HOLLABRUNN, Austria (AP) — Three thirsty Czechoslovaks who illegally rode their tractor across the border to drink in an Austrian wine cellar were released Friday after spending 36 hours in jail for violating the passport law.

They were arrested Thursday after a gendarme noticed the tractor with Czechoslovak license plates outside a Kadolz wine cellar. He asked the men whether they came to apply for political asylum, but they said they were just drinking.

Authorities theorized the three Czechoslovaks came through one of the "loop holes" in the Iron Curtain known only to border residents.

Farm Prices Up

LANSING (AP)—The index of prices received by Michigan farmers as of mid-May was 274 per cent of the 1910-14 average, three points above the level for mid-April. The State Crop Reporting Service said the increase primarily was caused by higher prices for beef, hogs, calves and corn.

"NO MAN EVER STANDS SO STRAIGHT AS WHEN HE STOOPS TO HELP A BOY....."

A BIG BROTHER

is a man for a fatherless boy to look up to.

A big man, maybe a man like you. He's a volunteer, serving without pay, giving his time to help shape a boy's thinking, leading him toward the path to the kind of future no boy should be denied.

TV Playing Ball With Sports Buffs

Auto Racing, baseball and golf seemingly win by default as TV programming enters the lean summer months. Aside from sports, area viewing offers only a couple of summer debuts and a couple of current events-type shows as outstanding fare.

In auto racing, the French Grand Prix from Le Mans will be shown in part live via satellite on "Wide World of Sports" today at 4 p.m. on Channel 7.

Sunday the Langhorne (Pa.) 150, with many of the same drivers and cars that raced at Indianapolis in the 500 this year performing, will air live at 2 p.m. on Channel 4.

3 TIGER GAMES

Detroit Tiger baseball fans are treated to three televised games this week—Sunday at 1:30 p.m. when Kansas City hosts the Tigers, Wednesday at 7 p.m. when the New York Yankees play host and Thursday at 7 p.m., again in Yankee Stadium. All games are on Channel 2.

The U. S. Open Golf Championship at Houston, Tex., enters homes via TV today at 5 p.m. and tomorrow at 4 when third-round and final-round action, respectively, are presented.

Both shows debuting this week follow a musical vein. "Hee Haw," a Nashville-based country music and comedy series, starts Sunday at 9 p.m. on Channel 2. Roy Clark and Buck Owens are cohosts.

LOOK AT INFLATION

Inflation is the subject of a CBS news special Tuesday at 10:30 p.m. when Roger Mudd reports on a typical American family in LaCrosse, Wis., chosen as a typical American community.

Meet the Press, at 12:30 p.m. Sunday on Channel 4, expands to one hour this week for interviews with six mayors — Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit, Carl Stokes of Cleveland, Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, Joseph Alioto of San Francisco, Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis and Kevin White of Boston.

The French Grand Prix at Le Mans (here in progress in a previous year) will be shown live via satellite on "Wide World of Sports" today at 5 p.m. on Channel 7.

The Cover

Jimmie Rodgers (profile and full face) inaugurates his summer series of music and comedy Monday at 10 p.m. on Channel 2.

Roy Clark, comedian-singer-guitarist, is host with Buck Owens on "Hee Haw," a weekly country music series debuting Sunday at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

Plea to a Thief: Bring Bike Back

Whoever you are, please return Dennis McDowell's bicycle. There will be no questions asked.

You see, it isn't an ordinary bicycle. It has training wheels for its 10-year old owner because Dennis can't move his legs quite as well as other 10-year-olds.

Dennis is a burn victim. In January 1965, Dennis was burned over 80 per cent of his body in a home fire that claimed the lives of his sister, a brother, an uncle and the family dog.

Last February—after 22 months in the hospital, after 40 operations, a twisted spine and a scarred face that had to be rebuilt—the doctors decided that Dennis could again ride a bicycle.

RODE EVERY DAY

Thursday he walked to the front porch of his home at 78 S. Tasmania for a ride in that bright sunny morning. The bicycle had been stolen.

In the hospital, Dennis cried once. An orderly asked him why, and he said "Nothing." He never complained of the pain, and even tried to talk that same orderly out of taking him to surgery.

If you would ask Dennis what's wrong today, he would not admit the pain . . . but it is there.

JUST PUT IT BACK —

Whoever you are, please return the bicycle. Day or night, just put it back on the porch at 78 S. Tasmania . . . no questions asked.

The bicycle could never mean more to you than it has to Dennis.

Senator Sees Gap Before Extension

Surtax Time Running Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senior Republican on the Senate Finance Committee says it is highly doubtful Congress can complete action on the 10 per cent surtax extension bill by June 30.

Noting that the House is not expected to pass the bill until late next week at the earliest, Sen. John J. Williams said: "They're not going to be allowing us much time for Senate consideration."

The Nixon administration is strongly urging the measure be sent to the White House by midnight June 30, when the current 10 per cent surtax expires.

Williams said a number of matters could delay final action beyond June 30.

10 DAYS TO ACT

The Delaware Republican said it appeared the Senate would have only 10 days for finance committee and floor action and for a conference to settle any differences between the two houses.

Williams said he had advised Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy it would be wise for the administration to seek a temporary resolution extending present income tax withholding rates 30 or 60 days beyond June 30 while Congress works out the extension measure.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the finance chairman, has said he will open hearings on the legislation immediately after the House passes it.

These probably will last two or three days. In addition to Kennedy and other administration witnesses, Long is committed to hear business spokesmen protesting repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit.

The House Ways and Means Committee has decided to repeal the credit which permits companies to subtract from their tax bills up to 7 per cent of their spending on new plants and equipment.

Williams said two issues he might raise could complicate quick Senate action.

The other involves measures to close what he regards as big loopholes in the tax laws.

County Backs Rehabilitation Plan for Inmates

An attempt to provide some sort of rehabilitation program for prisoners at the Oakland County Jail needs only the approval of Sheriff Frank Irons.

The program as presented by the nationally sponsored Comprehensive Area Manpower Planning Systems (CAMPS) was endorsed yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors Human Resources Commission.

It reportedly will cost the county nothing.

CAMPS would make use of existing county services to provide alcoholism therapy, remedial education and perhaps work-training programs for prisoners according to Edward Revis, director of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity and CAMPS chairman.

SANCTION, SPACE

All the program needs is the sanction of the program by the sheriff and the space in which to work, representatives told the committee.

"If there are any gaps in service to the people, the county jail is where they are," according to Philip Peterson, director of the South Oakland Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Peterson maintained that punishment in cooperation with rehabilitation can accomplish something — prisoners once started on rehabilitation programs can keep them up once they are free. "It can help to break the cycle of arrests and rearrests," he said.

A Genesee County official told supervisors of the success of a similar program being conducted there. He said a high percentage of prisoners are either functionally or mentally retarded and the training programs are their only salvation.

MANY TRAINED

The Genesee County program used a vacated property room as its classroom. The official said he has seen 11 prisoners gain the equivalent of a high school diploma, and many others trained for productive employment.

CAMPS officials pointed out that due

SPIDERS' UNLUCKY DAY — Friday the 13th marked doomsday yesterday for dreaded South American violin spiders in Sierra Madre, Calif., where a great spider hunt got under way. William G. Waldron (left), Los Angeles County entomologist, maps a search at a women's clubhouse where a number of the spiders with a bite as poisonous as a rattlesnake have been found. The vials on the belt of the man in the foreground are to put spiders in, but only one slightly terrified specimen was found yesterday.

Rip-Roaring Party to Mark Trail's End

PAGOSA SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — In the best tradition of Abilene and Dodge City, railheads of the 19th century, Pagosa Springs welcomes today 600 cattle and the cowboys who drove them 160 miles to summer pasture.

The tiny ranching community, nestled in the shadows of the Rocky Mountains in southern Colorado, planned a free barbecue, Indian dances and a gala western dance to herald the end of Great Western Land and Cattle Co.'s 13-day cattle trek across western New Mexico.

"This is the first cattle drive to come here in 18 years," mayor Eldon Gibson said, "and we felt the community ought to welcome the cattle drive."

Gibson, who runs a local motel, and Pagosa Springs' 1800 other residents braced themselves for an expected 2,500 persons at the barbecue.

A FEW THROUGH TOWN

The cattle drive, which began May 31 at Bluewater in central New Mexico, reached Pagosa Springs yesterday after winding its way along the continental divide and across two Indian reservations. The cowboys planned to drive a few cattle through town today as a symbol of the arrival.

Local barbecue experts began preparing 1,000 pounds of prime beef Thursday afternoon for 48 hours of cooking in an open pit west of town.

Before the barbecue, Indians from the nearby Jicarilla Apache and Southern Ute reservations were to dance along with the local champion 4-H club square dance team.

The 600 head of Charolais cattle will spend the summer in the lush 7,000-foot mountain meadows of southern Colorado.

SENTIMENTAL PLUS

The drive was taged as much for sentimental as for economic reasons, Great Western officials indicated. They also said the cattle would gain weight on the drive across grasslands.

Murdered Girl Had Dream: Combating Social Problems

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR — Alice Elizabeth Kalom's ambition was "to combat social problems" and she said "an important place to begin this work is with young people and in a location where they are conveniently gathered—the school."

That's why the 21-year-old sixth girl victim of murder in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in less than two years had applied to the University of Michigan to begin graduate study next January toward a master's degree in social work.

While police in this university community searched for the killer, Alice's parents buried their only daughter today in a grave 100 miles from where she was brutally murdered.

The body of Alice lay in the First Congregational Church in Kalamazoo as friends from the University of Michigan paid their last respects to the recent graduate, who was slain sometime Sunday morning.

University of Michigan coed slain in what police say are six sadistic murders that may have been committed by the same person.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey said the four police agencies studying the unsolved crimes have uncovered leads they won't talk about yet and have had suspects who "look good."

"I definitely don't think we're on a dead-end street," Harvey said. "We do have something we can't talk about. And several suspects we have in mind look good."

Joseph Kalom, the father of the latest victim, who earlier castigated university officials for not offering enough protection to coeds on the sprawling University of Michigan campus, said today he was donating $1,000 to the university's art school from which his daughter was graduated in May.

GRADUATION GIFT

The $1,000 was to have been a gift to Alice for a trip to Europe she had planned this summer.

Alice drew a character self-portrait of herself in applying for graduate study, saying she wanted "to explore as many avenues as possible" to better prepare herself for teaching.

Miss Kalom earned a bachelor's degree in art in May and expected to receive a teaching certificate in August, and would have been accepted for graduate work.

Dr. Thomas J. Larkin, professor of art, wrote that he understood "a strong sense of social responsibility which she feels will not be satisfied in her present art field" led to her switch.

MONDAY — Mostly fair with little temperature change.

DONG TAM, South Vietnam (AP) — "I don't believe it. I just don't believe it."

That's what jubilant "short-timers" in the U.S. 9th Infantry Division were saying today after they heard the unit's 1st and 2nd brigades would be leaving Vietnam soon.

But some of their buddies who still have several months of their one-year tour to go were less enthusiastic.

Maj. Gen. Harris W. Hollis, commander of the 9th Infantry, indicated there would be some reorganization to assure that the men who have served the most time in Vietnam would be among those going home first.

"As a general rule," Hollis said, "those who have completed the major portion of their normal tours may expect to be redeployed. Those who still have a significant period to serve before their 12-month tour will be completed can expect to remain in Vietnam under current guidelines."

The U.S. Command also announced Regimental Landing Team 9 of the 3rd Marine Division would be withdrawn.

County on Verge of Ambulance Crisis

By DICK ROBINSON

Crash!

Two cars collide on a rural road in a sparsely populated area of Oakland County. One person is seriously injured and bleeding.

He needs an ambulance. Today the wait for that ambulance probably will not be the difference between life and death. After July 1, the wait will get noticeably longer.

Three funeral homes of the seven in the county which offer emergency ambulance service are going out of the ambulance business at the end of this month, they said.

An Ambulance Streaks Into The Night On A Lifesaving Mission

The exodus of the funeral directors from the ambulance business will leave the whole western side of the county without an area-based ambulance service.

Police officers in the northern and western sections of the county have told the health department their citizens would be in "dire danger" if the area funeral directors lay their ambulance services to rest.

Ambulances from adjoining counties or from other parts of Oakland County will have to make long trips into these low-population areas. Ambulances will take longer to get to the scene of an injury.

NEW REGULATIONS

Funeral directors have been dropping out of the ambulance business for years in every state, but a mass exodus is expected in Michigan because of new regulations going into effect July 1. A minimum wage is stipulated for attendants, along with first-aid training.

The largest number of ambulances — some 65 per cent — were operated from funeral homes just two years ago, according to a survey of the Michigan Department of Public Health. Now most are run by private ambulance companies.

Pentagon Gag on Aide Is Off in About-Face

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, in a crisp about-face says a civilian efficiency expert who was ordered yesterday to withhold testimony from a subcommittee probing defense spending will be available to the congressmen next week.

The subcommittee already has been informed that the expert, A. Ernest Fitzgerald, feels the practice of contract-supervising military officers later being employed by contractors or parent firms is "common enough to be our next national scandal."

When appearing before the Senate-House economic subcommittee yesterday, Fitzgerald disclosed he had been ordered to withhold documents related to the Mark II electronics program for the F111 fighter-bomber and the C5A superjet transport. He said he didn't believe this material presented sensitive national security problems.

Chairman William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., promptly charged the witness was being "muzzled and shackled" by the Pentagon.

PERMISSION GRANTED

John L. McLuas, acting secretary of the Air Force, said last night that Fitzgerald would be made available to the subcommittee next Tuesday, or any other date.

He defended the earlier decision to ask Fitzgerald not to provide further "partial information" pending a full departmental response to the request for information on contract matters.

Proxmire had demanded the Pentagon explain its orders to Fitzgerald — which Fitzgerald said came just 15 minutes before he was scheduled to testify — or produce, by Tuesday, the documents Proxmire had sought.

Fitzgerald had said a memorandum from his superior, Asst. Secretary of the Air Force Thomas H. Nielsen, informed him that it would be "inappropriate for anyone from this office to release additional information" concerning programs in view of the defense agency's efforts to respond to Proxmire's request for information.

DOCUMENTS SOUGHT

Proxmire had asked Fitzgerald for documents to substantiate the witness' contention that the Pentagon is indifferent to cost control, is hostile to workers who want to reduce costs and favors contracts with padded prices that keep large contractors in business.

Meanwhile, the subcommittee has been told five Air Force officers who helped oversee a missile components contract later were employed by the contractor or its parent firm. The company built the guidance-and-contol system for the Minuteman II, the nation's primary retaliatory rocket.

The reports on the officers came from testimony Tuesday by management conmemoranda by Fitzgerald made available by the Pentagon and placed in the subcommittee record yesterday.

Leaving NATO, Aide Hails Nixon

"Two things stricking about the Nixon administration," the retiring ambassador told a newsman, are closer consultation with the allies in decision making and the effort for teamwork in social problems common to the advanced countries.

"It's clear that he (Nixon) really means it about consultation," Cleveland said. "We have undertaken to talk with the allies on strategic arms limitation before starting the talks with the Soviets, for instance."

And a really new element, he said, is Nixon's proposal for pooling know-how among North Atlantic Treaty Organization members on such problems as city congestion and air pollution.

Cleveland, named to the NATO position in 1965 after serving as an assistant secretary of state during the Kennedy administration, stayed on the job until this month at the new administration's request pending arrival of his Republican successor, Robert Ellsworth.

House Pours Out Last-Minute Bills

LANSING (AP)—Compulsory arbitration for police and firemen, guaranteed automobile insurance for high-risk drivers and stiffer rules governing private nursing home operators are among last-gasp measures to emerge from the Michigan House of Representatives.

The bills face Senate review in coming weeks, after the Legislature completes action on Gov. William G. Milliken's $1.52 billion budget, now some $20 million above his recommendations.

Deadline for action on the budget is June 28 and the two chambers have allowed themselves until July 11 to review the other's proposals.

The lower chamber labored long into the night yesterday, committed to a Senate-imposed deadline to approve or kill all bills by midnight.

TEMPERS SHORTER

Tempers grew shorter as the workload dwindled, and House Speaker William A. Ryan and his Democratic floor lieutenants had to call an early-evening caucus to quell a rank-and-file attempt to dump the whole pile of bills into the September basket.

Milliken, with apparent acquiescence of legislative leaders, has indicated he'll propose educational reforms based on recommendations of his blue-ribbon commission.

Postponement until autumn of 128 measures could distract legislators from the undivided attention Milliken hopes to command for his own plans.

NO PENALTIES

While the House bill provides for arbitration after a 30-day period of free, collective bargaining, it does not contain penalties written in the Senate bill. That measure proposes a $500-a-day fine to either party not adhering to rulings by the arbitration board.

Soviets, Offering Talks to Peking, Snub Land Cry

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union published today a note rejecting Chinese claims to Soviet territory. However, it offered to make border adjustments in negotiations in the next few months.

The lengthy note, containing a historical review of Russia-Chinese border agreements, was delivered to the Chinese embassy in Moscow yesterday. It was published today by the Soviet Communist party newspaper and distributed by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The Soviet Union proposed the two countries meet in Moscow "within the next 2-3 months."

The note is the latest step in an exchange that began March 29 with a Soviet proposal for border talks.

FLARING INTO OPEN

Earlier that month the longs-mouldering Soviet-Chinese conflict had broken out in an open fight along the Ussuri River.

In a hurry to stop further outbreaks, the Soviet Union originally proposed that negotiations start on April 15. However, China waited until May 24 to reply that it was willing to hold talks.

The 4,500 mile Chinese border has been the scene of thousands of incidents and conflicts in recent years. Most of them went unnoticed until two bloody clashes on the Far Eastern Ussuri River border last March 2 and again on March 14 and 15.

The Soviet Union reported 31 Soviet border guards were killed and 14 wounded in the first battle. No casualty figures were given for the second conflict. Chinese losses were never reported.

During the past week China and the Soviet Union exchanged a new series of notes over another incident in which a woman herder was reported killed.

The note did not specifically mention the incident. It said Soviet border guards strictly avoid border violations and expressed a hope that the Chinese would do likewise.

OU Plans Setup on Teaching the Disturbed

Oakland University will begin a new master's degree program this fall to prepare teachers in special education for emotionally disturbed children.

Students completing the program will receive fron OU's School of Education a master-of-arts-in-teaching degree.

They also will be certified to the Michigan State Department of Education as having met all requirements for certification as special education teachers for emotionally disturbed children.

Long-range objectives for the new program will include establishment of an interdisciplinary center, to be known as the Oakland University Research and Training Center, for work in the area of the emotionally disturbed.

COMMUNITY LINK

The center is envisioned as an integral part of a communitywide agency charged with planning for the mental health and education of all exceptional children.

In citing the need for more teachers for emotionally disturbed children, Dean Laszlo J. Hetenyi of the OU School of Education showed that of 67,790 emotionally disturbed children in the state, only 800 were enrolled in public school classes specially designed for them.

The survey showed there were only 70 teachers in public school programs for emotionally disturbed and 6,770 were needed, Hetenyi said.

Statistics for the tri-county (Wayne, Oakland and Macomb) areas revealed that only 520 of the 22,921 children needing special services were being taught in public school programs for the emotionally disturbed.

Local Firm Controls 2nd Swiss Bank

BIRMINGHAM — Urania Investment Co., a Birmingham-based partnership led by Donald H. Parsons spearhead of a Detroit organization of investors known as the "Parsons Group," has acquired control of the Urania Bank of Zurich, Switzerland.

This is the second Swiss bank acquired by the group in less than a year. The first bank, Bank Winterstein, was purchased in October.

Urania Investment has acquired 50 per cent of the shares by par value of the Urania bank and has been assigned the voting rights to all of the outstanding shares.

Parsons, a Birmingham attorney, is chairman of COMAC, a local consulting firm, and chairman of Detroit's Bank of the Commonwealth.

NUMEROUS BANKS

He and his organization, consisting mainly of University of Michigan graduates and Detroit-area bankers, attorneys and industrialists, have acquired control of numerous banks in Michigan in recent years and only recently began seeking international interests.

Urania is a retail bank specializing in consumer installment credit and savings deposits. Bank Winterstein specializes in international banking.

On the Urania purchase, Parsons said, "We see it as an opportunity to contribute to the growth of a relatively underdeveloped segment of European financial markets. Consumer credit is growing much faster in Europe than in this country."

"In Switzerland it has doubled in the last five years, but it is still far behind the United States, with only $37 of credit outstanding per person as compared to over $500 in the United States."

'GROWTH INEVITABLE'

"Rapid growth is inevitable as mass consumption of durables such as automobiles, refrigerators and television sets begin to approach U.S. standards."

George B. Kilborne of 1045 Suffield, the other major participant in the Urania deal, is managing partner of COMAC, and chairman of the Muskegon Bank and Trust Co. and the Public National Bank of Washington, D.C.

The Rev. Eugene M. Hadwiger, pastor of Ascension, is director of the Detroit-based Mongoloid Achievements Foundation. He and its coordinator-consultant, Miss Marjorie Ann Buresh, will answer questions following the presentation.

Rev. Hadwiger and Miss Buresh recently finished conducting a mongoloid psychology course at the Free University of the University of Detroit, and soon will begin another series of counseling and guidance sessions for parents of retarded children.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has claimed broad new powers to use wiretapping against organizations and persons it suspects of trying to "foment violent disorders" across the nation.

Moreover, the Justice Department contended yesterday, the government does not have to secure court approval before installing electronic surveillance devises in such domestic cases.

In a memorandum filed in U.S. District Court in Chicago, the department admitted bugging at least five of eight antiwar demonstrators charged with conspiracy in connection with disorders during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

It said the wiretaps were designed to gather "foreign intelligence information" and to collect information "deemed necessary to protect the nation from attempts of domestic organizations to use unlawful means to attack and subvert the existing structure of the government."

Both types of surveillance, the government said, were perfectly legal and were carried out under "the inherent power of the President" to engage in any intelligence gathering operations he "believes are necessary to protect the security of the nation."

Such presidential authority, relegated Such authority has long been recognized in cases of wiretapping for foreign intelligence purposes.

Decisions on whether to employ electronic surveillance in those cases, the department said, fall "peculiarly within the area of executive rather than judicial competence" and, therefore, are not "subject to judicial review in a warrant proceeding."

Just as the President can authorize surveillance necessary "to protect the nation against hostile acts of foreign powers," the memorandum contended, "similar considerations compel the conclusion" he has the constitutional power to use wiretaps against subversive domestic organizations.

Loss of $2 Million a Year Feared

New Medical Facility Pushed

Oakland County moved towards a new medical care facility for the indigent yesterday, even as supervisors showed concern over pending state legislation which could remove $2 million a year from the present medical program.

The County Board of Supervisors Human Resources Committee assigned priority in the county's capital outlay program to a 200-bed medical-care facility costing an estimated $3 million.

The priority, however, is subject to results of a $50,000 medical-needs survey recommended by the committee, and to the approval of the full board of supervisors.

No construction timetable was recommended, but supervisors pointed out that the license of the present County Sanatorium probably will not be renewed within the next five years.

The county has had to update the present facility yearly in order to meet state requirements, officials said. Supervisors also noted that the building is 40 years old. Meanwhile the committee expressed fear that legislation approved by the State House of Representatives and now in the Senate Appropriations Committee would remove nearly $2 million a year in state reimbursements for medical care.

The legislation would do what State Director of Social Service Bernard Houston has threatened to do — cut hospital reimbursement rates to the lower level nursing homes receive.

Costs at the sanatorium are estimated at $38 a day, and the county has been reimbursed for the full amount. The maximum reimbursement under the proposed legislaton is $17 a day.

The county could have to anfe up to $1.25 million a year extra for the sanatorium and for patients in private hospitals, should the legislation pass and care be maintained at its present level, Chairman Daniel T. Murphy said.

Another area in which the county would suffer is in shared medicare costs for direct relief patients. The state now pays 40 per cent of those costs, but the bill would remove this obligation.

That tab could easily amount to another $55,000 a year, social service officials indicated.

The matter was referred to a special meeting of the legislative committee called for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Spy-Swap Deal Seen

LONDON (AP) — The American spy team of Morris and Lola Cohen may be returned to the Soviet Union under a deal being negotiated by Russian and British authorities.

The British Foreign Office announced yesterday that negotiations were being conducted for the release of Gerald Brooke, a British citizen imprisoned in the Soviet Union in 1965 on a charge of distributing anti-Communist leaflets.

42TR—5-1—WOMAN TO GET

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio woman fired 11 years ago during a controversial tangle with the Air Force has won the largest back-pay claim ever granted by the U.S. Court of Claims—$100,935.24. Now she wants to go back to work for the government so she can get a pension.

The award went to Dorothy B. Louks of nearby Medway, who claims she was fired from her Air Force accountant's job Feb. 11, 1958, because she testified in a 1952 Senate investigation.

The Air Force said she was dismissed for refusing to accept a transfer from Wright Patterson Air Force Base here to the Air Force Depot at Memphis, Tenn.

A Justice Department official said, "This was the largest claim for back pay ever granted a government employe."

And Mrs. Louks' attorney in Washington, Thomas M. Gettings Jr., said Friday his client, looking toward future retirement, wants to build up her pension benefits by taking another government job.

Gettings said Mrs. Louks, a 26-year-veteran of federal employment, has filled out about 200 applications since her dismissal and claims she has been denied a job in every case.

The claims court based its order on a settlement reached by attorneys for both sides after ruling that Mrs. Louks was entitled to back pay from the date she was fired to Dec. 31, 1968.

The court at that time rejected Mrs. Louks' claim that the Air Force dismissed her because of her testimony at the Senate hearings.

The court ruled the Air Force decision to fire her was "arbitrary, capricious and not supported by substantial evidence." It said Mrs. Louks was "at all times willing and able to accompany a transfer of her position."

But Mrs. Louks maintains she was fired for her part in the Senate's "deep freeze" investigation centered around allegations that government officials in the Truman administration accepted food freezers and other gifts in return for favors.

At the time she was dismissed, Mrs. Louks was an Air Force budget administrator in a division giving budget and financial supervision to 240 Air Force commissaries around the world.

Mrs. Louks will receive a Treasury check for $93,153.46. The balance of the settlement will be used for payments to her Civil Service retirement fund and her employe's life insurance.

Senate Eyes Medicaid Probe

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate wants to know why some Michigan doctors are collecting up to $169,000 in state and federal money for treating medicaid patients.

Senate Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, Friday announced that he would seek an investigation into the situation.

Zollar cited Michigan Blue Shield records that show 82 medical doctors, osteopathic doctors and physicians groups have received payments ranging from $25,000 to $169,000 a year.

"No doubt some of the payments reported to us by Blue Shield must be legitimate costs," Zollar said, adding that "some get as much as $4,000 a week for these services. That would be a Herculean task for one man," he said.

HOW MUCH IS TRUE

"We want to find out how much of our information is truly based on illegal operations and how much of our budget (for medicaid services) might be reduced," he said.

Gov. William Milliken recommended $33.5 million for physicians' services in the coming fiscal year, some $8 million more than appropriated for the current year.

The Michigan State Medical Society and State Social Services Director R. Bernard Houston—whose department administers the payments through Blue Shield, welcomed the investigation.

"Whenever anyone is the recipient of substantial tax dollars, the public accountability must be satisfied," he said. "I think it has not in this case.

THEY WANT TO KNOW

"We may find there's no abuse," Houston said. "But if there is anyone getting money they shouldn't, we want to know about it."

Dr. Ross V. Taylor of Jackson, president of the Michigan State Medical Society Council, which governs the doctors' group, said:

"Certainly we'd welcome such an investigation. If there is abuse of (the services payment program) in any way, we consider this unethical conduct and we have procedures for taking action against the offenders."

Taylor said the society had tried unsuccessfully to obtain the Blue Shield list.

U.S. Denies OK of Pipeline Across Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of the Interior Russell E. Train denies that his department has made any decision on whether right-of-way should be granted for an 800-mile pipeline across Alaska.

"Any speculation that a pipeline decision has been reached by this department—or the nature of that decision—is without foundation," Train said Friday.

Earlier, Asst. Secretary Harrison Loesch had said, "It's policy that the permit will be granted when all conditions are met."

Trans-Alaska Pipeline System, a consortium of three oil companies, wants to construct the $900-million pipeline.

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel promised last January he would "freeze" the status of all federal land in Alaska for two years, and would consult House and Senate Interior committees before allowing exceptions.

NY Black Militant Killed; 'No Tie to Earier Shooting'

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say they have no evidence linking the killing of one black militant leader and the wounding of another.

The attacks came within a week of each other.

In the latest case, Clarence Smith Jowars, described as the leader and organizer of a radical group, was killed early Friday by a fusillade of bullets fired into the lobby of a Harlem apartment building.

Last Saturday, Charles 37X Kenyatta, leader of the machete-carrying Harlem Mau Maus, was shot while he was getting out of his car in the Bronx. He remains hospitalized.

ONCE A MUSLIM

Jowars, 41, was once a member of the Black Muslims but was ousted by the late Malcolm X. Malcolm himself split with the Muslims before he was assassinated by gunfire in 1965.

Two years after his split with the Muslims, Jowars was shot and left for dead on a Harlem street. He recovered and afterward promoted the belief among his followers that "nobody could kill me."

Police said Jowars organized the group known as the "Five Percenters." The members asserted that 85 per cent of the black people acted like cattle, 10 per cent were Uncle Toms and 5 per cent were warriors.

Police said Jowars was shot as he was on the way to visit his wife, Dora, in a building that is part of the Martin Luther King Towers complex. Eight heavy caliber slugs were fired and seven struck the victim.

Sparma Baffles KC in Gaining 4th Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Joe Sparma didn't need much help but Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash were there when needed as the Detroit Tigers shut out the Kansas City Royals 6-0 Friday night.

Sparma, who pitched a four-hitter and only allowed two Royals to second base, had a variety of pitches and speeds that had members of the American League expansion team talking to themselves.

Sparma, now 4-1, wasn't even breathing hard at the end of seven innings even though he had a slender 2-0 lead. At that point McAuliffe and Cash apparently decided to put the game on ice.

McAuliffe, who scored Detroit's first run in the first inning and wound up with three hits, belted his seventh homer of the season into the right field seats in the eighth, making the score 3-0.

Kansas City starter Dick Drago, 3-5, then faced Al Kaline who rattled a double off the left field fence that just missed clearing the wall by inches. Cash then knocked in his second run of the game with a solid single to right.

That brought in Tom Burgmeier, who had pitched 16 consecutive scoreless innings and had allowed only one run in 27 innings over 11 relief appearances for the Royals.

Consecutive singles by Jim Northrup and Willie Horton ended the string and raised the score to 5-0. Burgmeier then walked Bill Freehan intentionally, loading the bases.

Burgmeier next unintentionally issued a free pass to Tom Matchick boosting the score to 6-0. He stayed in to quell the uprising but the damage had been done.

ONE CHANCE

Tonight Earl Wilson, 5-5, will pitch against the Royals' Roger Nelson, 4-4.

OCC Linksman All-American

Special to The Press

ROSWELL, N.M. — Oakland Community College has its first golf All American today in Troy Hornberger of Birmingham.

TOP TWELVE

A final-round 76 gave Hornberger a 72-hole total of 294, putting him in the No. 10 slot along with Bob Lawrence of Flint and Mark Beatty of Brevard, Fla. The low 12 scorers were named to the All-American team.

Just missing the "magic 12" was OCC's Paul McIntosh, who played a steady 72 holes and finished with a 296. The OCC team wound up with 1,222 strokes and placed 14th in the field of 34 teams.

St. Peterburg took both team and individual honors. Jim Barber led all the way and took the title with a 283, one-under-par, while the St. Pete team totaled 1,172, five shots ahead of Chipola, Fla.

Mike Bonallack Beats Hyndman for British Title

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — England's Mike Bollack defeated American Bill Hyndman II 13 and 2 today and became the third player ever to win the British Amateur golf championship four times.

The 34-year-old British Walker Cup team captain made it two straight in this 84-year-old championship—the first to take two consecutive titles since merican Lowson Little won in 1934 and 1935.

Bonallack grabbed a 1-up margin at nine hgles, stretched it to 3-up at 18, and held that margin at 27 over the 53-year-old grandfather from Huntington Valley.

Bonallack stretched his lead to 4-up on the 30th which he won with a par 4 to Hyndman's bogey 5. The American, admittedly weary, fought back gamely to keepthematchalivewithaparthat earned him the 33rd hole.

This cut Bonallack's margin to 3-up with three to play. But Hundman ran out of holes.

'Mystery' Surrounds Beman in Mid-Point of Golf Classic

HOUSTON (AP) — Tough, cocky little Deane Beman says a mystery program, not yet complete and 1½ years old, put him in the second round lead in the U.S. Open Golf championship.

The trim, blond former amateur champion won't identify his program, but he says "it's improved my game a great deal."

Asked if he would share his secret if another player asked him, the former insurance broker from Bethesda, Md., replied:

"If you mean pick my brains and soul, the answer is no."

The 150 pounder shot a second round 69 Friday for 137, three under par for two trips around the long, steaming, 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek layout at the Champions Golf Club.

TIED FOR SECOND

That gave him a one-stroke margin on Bob Murphy, the first round leader who went to a 72, and Miller Barber, 71. They're tied at 138. Bob Rosburg is alone at 139 after 69.

Canadian George Knudson, 70, Al Geiberger, 72 and Charles Coody, 68, are tied at even par, 140.

Big Jack Nicklaus remained in contention with a 67 for 141. Arnold Palmer fell back with a 73 for 143. Gary Player had a 75 for 146, Masters champ George Archer went to 74 for 143 and Julius Boros had a 73 for 144.

Defending champion Lee Trevino, troubled by an injured left knee, blew to a 75 for 149—and missed the cut for the final two rounds. The field of 150 was trimmed to the low 60 scorers and ties, with a score of 148 needed to make it.

Beman, twice a U.S. Amateur champ and once the British Amateur titleholder, is an articulate, intelligent man with a sensible approach to the game.

"This isn't a life or death matter," he said. "If I don't win this time, I will win another time. I am convinced of that."

Will the pressure bother him?

NOT JITTERY

"My game will take care of that. I'm not jittery or nervous at all. I'm playing very well and see no reason not to continue to play well.

"In fact, I usually play better in final rounds. I think I have more sub-70 rounds on the last day than any other player. I've had a couple of 62s, a 63 or two, some 64s, 65s, 67s and untold 68s and 69s."

Beman, who turned pro only two years ago after a lengthy amateur career, scored his first professional victory a month ago in the Texas Open.

He's a relatively short hitter off the tee, one of the shortest on the tour. But it doesn't bother him.

"You have to be concerned with your total performance," he said. "If you become absorbed in distance you can suffer. Sure, I'd score better if I hit the ball 20 yards longer, if I hit it as straight. But when I see someone 20 yards in front of me, well, I just don't think about it.

"You have to work on your misses, on the things you're not doing quite right. That way, if your swing is a little off, you aren't in that much trouble, you can still salvage something."

He had three bogeys and four birds in his second round, matching a bogey with a bird on the front nine and coming home in 34. He bogeyed the 10th when he missed the green, got it back with a six-foot birdie putt on 11, then three-putted the 12th. He coaxed in a 25-foot putt on the 15th, and rammed in a four-footer on the next hole.

Murphy complained he was bothered by photographers.

RAPS PHOTOGRAPHERS

"Twice, on 16 and 18, they took pictures right before I putted," he said. "They cost me two shots. When that click goes off before you putt, you lose your concentration."

Barber, a bespectacled tour veteran, said he "feels like I've got a heck of a chance to win. I'm playing real well right now and have a good mental attitude."

Trevino said he hoped to get some rest on his ailing knee, injured when he stepped on a ball about two months ago.

"My knee is bothering me some," he said. "But that's not an excuse. I just played very poorly."

Others missing the cut included leading money winner Gene Littler, 152, and former Masters champion Gay Brewer, who had a nightmare nine on a par three hole—he was in the water three times—en route to an 83 for 158.

PUTTING SPREE — Dave Cameron, former University of Michigan golfer playing out of Oakland Hills went on a putting spree yesterday in the 20th annual Pine Lake Invitational Golf Tournagreens and had birdie putts of 20, 20, 20 ment. By the Associated Press

This is what Earl Weaver means when he says Frank Robinson does it all for the Baltimore Orioles:

—A sixth-inning single that put the Orioles' first run in scoring position.

—An eighth-inning, two-out single and an alert dash to the plate with the tying run.

—A ninth-inning single with two out and the bases loaded that drove in two insurance runs.

The result of all this action was a 5-2 victory for the Orioles over the Chicago White Sox Friday night.

In other American League games, Cleveland trimmed Minnesota 6-4, Oakland defeated Boston 4-1, Detroit blanked Kansas City 6-0, Washington knocked off California 6-2 and Seattle edged the New York Yankees 2-1.

In the National League the Chicago Cubs trounced Cincinnati 14-8 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh nipped Atlanta 2-1 in 10, Houston stopped St. Louis 2-1, Los Angeles edged the New York Mets 1-0, Philadelphia defeated San Diego 6-1 and San Francisco shaded Montreal 4-2.

"Frank started when the season started," Weaver, the Oriole manager, said Friday night. "He's done everything. He's done it all for us."

Robinson, his eyes finally seeing everything properly after a year of trouble, is batting .322, has hit 14 homers and has driven in 42 runs.

Robinson walked his first two times at bat against Chicago, but in the sixth he singled Paul Blair to third, from where Blair scored on Boog Powell's single.

Then in the eighth, with Baltimore trailing 2-1, Frank singled with two out, and Powell followed with a double. Robinson, however, didn't stop at third.

When he saw Walt Williams' throw from the outfield going over the head of relay man Bobby Knoop, he raced for the plate and scored the tying run.

"That's oen thing about him," Weaver said. "He has that extra sense of doing the right thing at the right time."

He did it again the next inning when, with two out and the bases loaded, he singled for two more runs.

Ken Suarez was the big man for Cleveland, triggering a four-run outburst with a homer in the sixth and then driving in the decisive run in the ninth with a single. Harmon Killebrew made it close for Minnesota with a three-run homer in the ninth.

Oakland home runs by Reggie Jackson, his 20th, and pitcher Lew Krausse assured Jim Lonborg's first loss after six victories for Boston this year.

Frank Howard and Bernie Allen connected for Washington homers, and Roger Repoz hit one for California. But the Senators also scored three runs in the third inning with the help of three infield singles.

Local High School Group Claims Mark for Cage Contest

A group of Seaholm High School students, most of them just promoted to the 11th grade this week, claimed an endurance basketball game record this morning at Berkshire Junior High School in Birmingham.

Responding to a radio comment claiming 42 hours as the longest basketball game on record, the group began play in three-hour relays at 1 p.m. Thursday afternoon.

The 50 boys passed the 42-hour mark this morning at 7 a.m. and set their sites for a 3 p.m. cutoff, giving them a 50-hour target. Chris Olson led the scoring with 362 points in his 12 hours of playing time, but the scoring lagged as the substitutes became late for their shifts.

Golf Contribution

Orlick Aids Irish

By FLETCHER SPEARS

It's now a matter of record that steel gave the shaft to wood and that's part of the evolution of the game of golf treated in some 600 pounds of golf memorabilia that Warren Orlick gave to the University of Notre Dame this week.

Orlick, 56, is head professional at Tam O'Shanter Country Club in Orchard Lake and currently secretary of the National Professional Golfer's Association.

Gift of the letters, magazines, golf clubs and other assorted material will go to the Sports and Games section of the Memorial Library at Notre Dame. Former Notre Dame and Detroit Lions' football star Leon Hart accepted Orlick's material on behalf of the university.

Hart, marketing manager for American Brakeblok in Troy, is Michigan chairman of Notre Dame's world-wide effort to procure material to stock its Sports & Game section of the library. The goal is to create an international research center for writers and scholars. The organization is seeking material on all sports.

FIRST RESPONSE

Orlick's contribution is the first major response by a Michigan resident to the program.

Hart has enlisted the aid of a number of Michigan sports personalities in the program. Orlick and former Oakland Hills professional Al Watrous are among them.

In all, Orlick turned over to the university some 5,000 pages of sundry golf magazines along with many wood-shaft clubs of pre-1920 vintage.

Orlick began collecting his golfing library in 1931 and his contribution to Notre Dame represented only a portion of the material that's packed into the basement-office of his Birmingham home.

"The material has really been crowding me out of my office in the basement," said Orlick. "With demands on my time I haven't had an opportunity to index the material so it's good that it will be gonig to a place where persons interested will have an opportunity to look through it."

Among the items retained by Orlick, which he says in time he'll turn over to what he anticipates will be a PGA Hall of Fame, are 10,000 feet of movie film, some pre-1900 golf balls, clubs of all types including some with leather faces and a large painted picture of the great Walter Hagen.

State Senator Charged With Being Disorderly

LANSING (AP) — Lansing authorities Friday issued a warrant charging State Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, with disorderly conduct after he was involved in a minor auto accident.

The warrant was issued after the other motorist, Rufus Seals, siged a complaint.

The complaint alleges that Brown did "resort to being a disorderly person in that he engaged in indecent and obscene conduct" after the accident, which occured at 1:45 a.m. Thursday, just 45 minutes after the Senate adjourned for the weekend.

The Wednesday night Senate session had been marked by a 36-minute standoff between Brown and Senate President Thomas Schwiegert, R-Petoskey, as Brown refused to return to his seat and Schweigert refused to let discussion continue until he did.

The office was entered by breaking a window, police said.

Rats, mice and worms appear to communicate with one another, according to scientists in recent tests.

38 Are Nabbed in Raid in City

Thirty-eight persons were arrested by Pontiac Police in a raid on an alleged blind pig early this morning.

The vice squad and other officers closed in on a home at 151 Bagley at 3 a.m. and made the arrests in what Sgt. Guy White, head of the vice squad, said was a "pretty large" operation.

Two females were charged with soliciting as prostitutes, two men with possession of betting slips and the other 33, including six women, with loitering in an illegal liquor establishment, according to White.

OFFICERS ARE 'PLANTS'

White said police officers had been planted in the "establishment," which he said had existed for a long time.

Most of those arrested have been released on bond for arraignment Tuesday. Those who can't post bond are scheduled for arraignment Monday.

Bond was set at $50 each for those charged with loitering and having betting slips, $100 for the accused prostitutes and $500 for Jones. Jones posted bond and was released.

5 GIs Killed in 1-Car Crash Near Monroe

MONROE, Mich. (AP)— Five servicemen were killed early today when their car left Interstate 75 south of Monroe and struck a bridge, police said.

All five were believed en route to their homes in the Detroit area from Camp Lejeune, N.C., home of the 2nd Marine Division and support units.

There were no skid marks indicating the 1968 Dodge struck the bridge railing at high speed, police said. Three of the servicemen were dead at the scene and two others died en route to University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor.

The victims were pinned in the mangled auto about 30 minutes while police and firemen worked to free them.

A Birmingham woman was arraigned on a charge of narcotics possession before Judge Alice Gilbert in 48th District Court yesterday.

Police said the drug allegedly was mailed to Mrs. Crona from Israel.

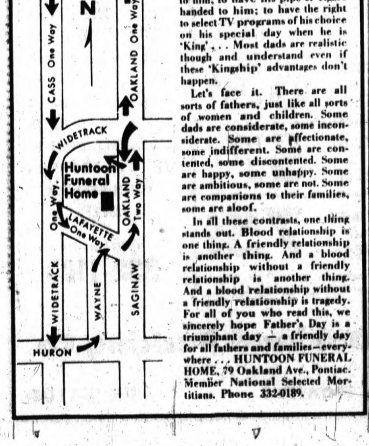
THINK ABOUT IT!

FATHER'S DAY



On Father's Day, dad is 'supposed' to have his slippers brought to him; to have his pipe or cigars handed to him; to have the right to select TV programs of his choice on his special day when he is 'King'. . . Most dads are realistic though and understand even if these 'Kingship' advantages don't happen.

Let's face it. There are all sorts of fathers, just like all sorts of women and children. Some dads are considerate, some inconsiderate. Some are affectionate, some indifferent. Some are contented, some discontented. Some are happy, some unhappy. Some are ambitious, some are not. Some are companions to their families, some are aloof.

In all these contrasts, one thing stands out. Blood relationship is one thing. A friendly relationship is another thing. And a blood relationship without a friendly relationship is another thing. And a blood relationship without a friendly relationship is tragedy. For all of you who read this, we sincerely hope Father's Day is a triumphant day — a friendly day for all fathers and families—everywhere . . . HUNTOON FUNERAL HOME, 79 Oakland Ave., Pontiac. Reflections

"ELOI, ELOI LAMA SABACHTHANI?"

In the 15th Chapter, Verse 34, of the Gospel of St. Mark, we find that, "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani," are the words of Jesus as he was dying upon the cross. Translated, this means, "My God, My God, why has Thou forsaken me?"

J. L. VOORHEES

M. E. SIPLE

In these troubled times the fear of nuclear holocaust is not so great when we know that mankind, too, like Jesus, have not, nor ever will, be forsaken. The loss of a loved one is always a personal loss filled with grief. At a time like this, what a wonderful comfort it is to know that the sting of death has been removed. What wonderful assurance it is to know that the words of the Master applies to us, "VERILY I SAY UNTO THEE, TODAY SHALT THOU BE WITH ME IN PARADISE."

CHILD TEACHERS — Robin Patterson (left), 9, instructs Tina Thorne, 6, during a reading session at Los Angeles' Pacoima Elementary School. In a radical experiment in education financed by the Ford Foundation, the school is using older students to help teach kindergarten and first grade pupils.

LA's Little Teachers Make the Grade in School Experiment

you set children to teaching younger children, the young ones learn faster and the older ones become sharper-witted.

The teachers gain time to spend with pupils who need them most.

The principal solves his teacher shortage.

TO INVOLVE ALL GRADES

This year, fifth and sixth graders have tutored kindergarten and first grade pupils. Next year, all grades will be involved.

"Most of what kids learn comes from other kids anyway," said Dr. Ralph J. Melaragne, one of the project directors. "We're capitalizing on this.

"One of the great needs in education is for more individual instruction. This is the best and least expensive way we've found of providing it.

"Instead of one teacher for 30 children, we now have one for every five or six. The tutors are warm and close to the younger children, but they make them work."

INSTRUCTION PERIOD

The student tutors receive several weeks of instruction before they are assigned to duty.

"For example," said Melaragne, "we don't let them say to the little ones, 'You're wrong.' When mistakes are made, the tutors simply tell them what the correct answer is."

Judy Walsh, a teacher, said: "I was worried at first that I would not know what the younger children were doing, but the older ones do a good job of keeping me posted on progress.

DISCIPLINE GOOD

"As for discipline, it couldn't be better. If I have to leave the room, I find when I come back that they don't even know I've been gone."

What do the children think of it?

"It's fun," said Kate Suda, 10, who takes an hour a day from her fifth grade studies to tutor in kindergarten.

Looking down at 5-year-old Jeffrey Harris, she said, "He's doing so much better."

Said Jeffrey: "I like Kate. She's nice."

Many of Pacoima's 1,600 students—45 per cent Negro, 40 per cent Mexican-American, 15 per cent white—come from poor homes. Many have emotional and mental problems.

NOT FOR POOR ALONE

"But the program is not designed for poor areas alone," said Principal Bill Lyle.

Lyle said selection as a tutor "changes the whole attitude of the one chosen. He's important, he finds a place in the sun."

The younger ones benefit, too, he said. "There's an understanding between children that is difficult for a teacher to achieve, especially with 30 or more children in the room."

Has Brittle-Bone Disease

Boy, 8, Spends a Lot of Time in Casts

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — John Betzler's bones break so easily he wraps his dog in gauze so there will be something around that looks kind of like he does.

But, the dog disappeared Sunday, and John, 8, walked into the kitchen of his home Tuesday, slipped and broke both legs again. He lie in his hospital bed and watches the red bird at the window and wonders where his missing dog Fanny is.

When John was born, his father Charles saw him and told his wife "He has your disease."

A doctor at St. John's Hospital, where John spends a lot of time, said either it will go away after hundreds of fractures when he matures or will worsen when he's older.

Mrs. Betzler was told she had rickets until doctors at the Mayo Clinic diagnosed Genisus Imperfecta in 1946. She outgrew the most horrible aspects of the disease while a teen-ager and prays her son has such good fortune.

Heart-Power Seen From House Current

WASHINGTON (AP) — An artificial heart powered from ordinary household electrical current without wires through the skin?

Scientists raised the future possibility yesterday as they reported development of an experimental device that can beam electrical power from a coil outside the body to one inside.

A team from the Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, Calif., said such an induction device has been used successfully to transmit power through the skin of experimental goats for up to 12 months. They now are working to link the transmitted power to heart-assist devices.

They reported at an artificial heart conference sponsored by the National Heart Institute.

In theory at least, artificial heart scientists have previously said, a patient equipped with an implanted artificial heart or heart-assist device could tap electricity from a wall plug in sufficient quantities to fill implanted storage batteries.

Thus, he'd have enough heart-power to last him until he needed a refill again.

Meanwhile, other scientists reported at the meeting work is also in progress to develop radiowave-emitters that could at least be attached to the skin, and elliminate use of wall plugs as cardiac-energy filling stations.
