

Outline Coming Hospital Vote

HOSPITAL BOND ISSUE EXPLAINED—Carl I. Flath (center), new Pontiac General Hospital director, huddled with Harold B. Euler (left), hospital Board of Trustees public relations chairman, and Fred V. Haggard, a committee chairman for the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council, to go over last night's discussion of the Oct. 28 hospital vote. The council organized the public meeting to inform citizens of the importance behind the vote, and just what the $350,000 issue will eventually purchase.

Or Board Up Addition, Warns Director

Must OK Hospital Bonds

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
If voters say "no" at the Oct. 28 hospital bond election, citizens can look forward to the four million dollar addition at Pontiac General Hospital being "boarded up."

This was the statement of Carl I. Flath, hospital director, when he appeared last evening to reveal the facts behind the vote at a public meeting called by the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council.

CANCEL CONTRACTS

"There is enough money to proceed with the contracts up to a certain point," said Flath, "but after that we have to cancel contracts."

"The consequences of having to board it up would be alarmingly tragic," the director stressed to some 70 council delegates and citizens at the City Hall commission chambers.

Flath, several hospital board members, and city commissioners greeted the curious crowd to answer questions posed by a hospital fact-finding committee of the council headed by Fred V. Haggard, past council president.

VOTE YES

At the conclusion of the two-hour meeting, delegates unanimously called for a "yes" vote on Oct. 28 and ventured out to their respective civic organizations to disclose the facts outlined at Thursday's session.

The committee asked why the addition couldn't have been built with the original $3,000,000 addition approved by voters in November of 1954.

Flath answered by declaring it took 18 months between the time the estimate was made (February, 1954), and when the bids were received (April, 1956). During this time, the director continued, building costs soared in this area 22 points (8 per cent), or enough to increase costs $240,000, "even without the addition of complicating design factors."

TRIMMED DOWN

In answer to another question, Flath said officials trimmed down to $350,000 the May 20 issue of $1,500,000 in the interests of economy. During this cut some $208,000 of presently non-essential equipment was removed from the plans.

This brought a question from Mrs. George Wyman. "What must happen to get these things that have been cut out?" she asked.

Flath answered that he hoped

Peace Today in Little Rock but Ike, Faubus Both Taut

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An escort of soldiers encountered no trouble today in taking nine Negro students into Central High School for a 10th day of integrated classes.

About 100 white students were massed before the front entrance of the school. Three or four of them displayed small Confederate flags but there was none of the hooting or jeering that marked the last two days.

All the Negroes were present today. Yesterday one of the six Negro girls was absent because of illness.

Sixteen rifle-carrying National Guardsmen escorted the Negroes halfway across the campus.

There four regular Army paratroopers met the Negroes and took them the rest of the way into the school.

There was no sign of the 75 white students who walked out of Central High yesterday in what was scheduled as a mass demonstration but turned out to be a flop.

They were either absent today or else inside seeking to make their peace with school officials, who had threatened them all with suspension.

Opposing sides were still deadlocked today in their efforts to solve the integration crisis. No one had come up with a new plan under which federal troops might be removed.

Pleasant Football Weather Tomorrow

The weather man must be a football follower too. For tomorrow, he has promised fans going to the Michigan-Georgia game at Ann Arbor, or to other grid contests, a pleasant day. The outlook is partly cloudy and warm.

Very heavy coats may be left at home this Saturday as the mercury will rise to a comfortable 62-64.

The outlook for Sunday is not quite so pleasant. The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts partly to mostly cloudy and a little warmer with showers likely over most of the area.

The mercury fell to a chilly 44 last night in downtown Pontiac. However by 1 p.m. it had climbed to 67.

WINNING SMILE—Teamster vice president Jimmy Hoffa of Detroit was off to a good start in his bid today to replace Dave Beck as head of the far-flung International Teamsters.

Hoffa was leading 3-1 in early roll-call balloting of the approximately 1,500 delegates at Miami Beach.

Beck Says He'll Quit Post Oct. 15 Instead of in December

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press
MIAMI BEACH — Early balloting today had favorite James R. Hoffa just where everybody, but his opponent, said he would be: out in front by 3 to 1 in the three-man race for the $50,000-a-year presidency of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The opening of today's session was gavelled to order by outgoing President Dave Beck 15 minutes late because of parades staged by Hoffa, William A. Lee, and Thomas J. Haggerty supporters.

Hoffa's name was put in nomination by John English, veteran union secretary treasurer, who called Hoffa "The champion of the Teamsters."

KEEPING TALK
English said the convention met at a crucial time for the union—with agents, he said, of the FBI, Senate Rackets Committee and the AFL-CIO here keeping tabs on what went on.

English said Hoffa had done more for the Teamsters than anyone else in union history and anyone else in union history and although the union faces "a little trouble here and there, he'll take 'Now is the time to show Jimmy our appreciation," English said.

AHEAD OF MONEY

Haggerty was nominated by Peter J. Hoban, Chicago. Hoban declared his man always puts principal ahead of money. He said the union today stands before the court of public opinion and all organized labor wants Hoffa defeated.

Thomas J. Mahoney, Chicago, nominated Lee. With Lee as president, Mahoney said, the union's present scandals will be cleared away "and this union can again hold its head high."

He said under Lee there would be no dictatorship and local unions could operate autonomously. Lee's nomination was seconded by Frank W. Brewster, Seattle.

However, a first ballot election of Hoffa, the Midwest Teamster boss from Detroit, to succeed retiring President David Beck seemed almost certain.

The convention Thursday seated the last of its delegates. The final count showed the credentials committee, which tolled as long as the candidates, had accredited 1,753. Sixty-five delegates were rejected while 50 withdrew their credentials.

Pontiac Local 614's delegation of Leann Harrison, Floyd Harmon, Alvy Bush and Frank Orsini was one of the last groups to be approved. A group of 614 members and the Senate Rackets Committee had questioned the four's legality of being seated.

In probably one of his last acts, Beck announced late yesterday that he would surrender his office to his successor Oct. 15 instead of Dec. 1 as provided in the constitution.

This unexpected move on Beck's part is presumably to help Hoffa, on whose calendar there are a couple of important dates in Oct. On Oct. 15 Hoffa is expected to

Jewish Services, Fasting to Mark Yom Kippur

Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the Jewish calendar, will be observed in synagogues throughout the world from sunset today until sunset tomorrow.

It is the Day of Atonement, traditionally observed with prayer and fasting, and the climax of a 10-day period of penitence which began with Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, on Sept. 26.

The Day of Atonement ritual is inaugurated on the eve of the holy day with singing of "Kol Nidre," the celebrated prayer in which the worshiper asks divine forgiveness for trespasses and errors committed during the past year.

The liturgy for the entire day contains collective admission of guilt and supplications for the power to overcome sin and wrongdoing. The service is concluded, after a full day of fasting, with the blast of the "shofar" or ram's horn.

Reform Jewish services will be held at Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake Rd., at 8:30 p.m. tonight. James Rosenthal will chant the Kol Nidre prayer. Rabbi Nathan Herschfield will speak on the topic, "Alone."

Yom Kippur morning services will begin at 10:30 Saturday and last all day. Rabbi Herschfield will preach on "The Dance of Life."

SERVICE FOR CHILDREN

A children's service will be held at 2 p.m. with members of the confirmation class conducting.

The memorial service is scheduled for 4 p.m. and will conclude with the Neilah, or closing service, at 5 p.m. Music will be furnished by the Temple Choir with James Rosenthal and Mrs. Rebecca Gould, soloists.

Orthodox Jewish Services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel, 143 Oneida Rd., beginning

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Declares

'Like It or Not -- U.S. Is World Leader'

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

"America is facing world leadership whether we like it or not," Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt warned member of Birmingham Town Hall yesterday.

Just returned from a month-long visit in the Soviet Union, the former U. N. delegate and member of the American Association for the U. N. opened the Town Hall series.

Mrs. Roosevelt addressed 1,500 Town Hall members yesterday and again today. The Birmingham Theater was filled to capacity for her speech.

"A year ago we shared this leadership with our allies, Britain and France, but since the Suez crisis, this leadership has fallen on us," declared Mrs. Roosevelt.

"If the United States is going to accept the challenge of world leadership, it must take the responsibility that goes with it. This includes knowledge of the background of people in the 'slave' areas of the world," explained the 73-year old wife of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"We must show these people that we care about them, we must not try to buy their friendship, and we must show them we really don't want war. We can't lead with words, we must lead with deeds," Mrs. Roosevelt said.

Continuing, she said, "We are at the crossroads and we must face this responsibility of leadership as the rest of the free world has come to depend on us."

One question asked of Mrs.

Roosevelt at a luncheon held later at Birmingham Country Club was:

"Do we have an exchange student from Russia?"

She answered: "No, the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act has wrapped the United States in an Iron Curtain tighter and more binding than Russia's."

Mrs. Roosevelt said that Americans may go to Russia, but that it is "next to impossible" for Russians to come to America. "Our simple, immediate need, is to lift our own iron curtain. Because the Soviet Union has set up an iron curtain, I think it is stupid that we do the same."

She urged the lecture audience to "tell our representatives in Congress we're not afraid to meet the Communists. We do not expect to be won over by their ideas. What we do expect," she said, "is that they will be impressed by ours."

She told of a group of 30 women

Lone Pilot Keeps Radio Silence on Non-Stop Flight to Rome

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Radio silence cloaked the progress today of ex-Marine fighter Pilot William Wyatt, who took off hoping to set a record by flying non-stop to Rome, Italy.

Wyatt, 25, from Dallas, winged away from the Galveston Municipal Airport at 12:57 p.m. (CST) yesterday. He is flying a Mooney Mark 20, a small, single-engine monoplane built by Mooney Aircraft Inc., of Kerrville, Tex.

A Civil Aeronautics Administration employee here said its only word from Wyatt since takeoff was his 5:27 p.m. CST report yesterday that he was over Greenwood, Miss.

BEHIND SCHEDULE — This was taken to indicate he was running behind schedule. He had filed a flight plan calling for his plane to pass over Muscle Shoals, Ala., by 4:45 p.m. CST yesterday.

Wyatt had estimated he could fly to Rome in 36 to 40 hours. The 5,000-mile hop would better a 4,857-mile mark set in 1949 by William Odom in flying from Honolulu to Terboro, N. J.

His flight plan called for the former Marine to follow the Great Circle course. He was due to fly over Jackson, Miss.; Muscle Shoals, Ala.; Boston; Tor Bay, Sidney, Nova Scotia; across the Atlantic to Pelonia, France; Nice, France, and thence to Rome.

STORIES FOR TRIP — Wyatt, a lean, 6-foot bachelor, planned to get short naps by letting his automatic pilot fly part time. He had an alarm clock to keep from oversleeping. His provisions for the marathon flight were four sandwiches, coffee, orange and tomato juice, candy and water.

Three of the four seats in his plane were removed and tanks installed to increase gasoline capacity from a normal 50 gallons to 200 gallons—enough to keep him in the air 48 hours, the flier estimated.

His craft had a gross takeoff weight of 3,503 pounds, a 950-pound overload. He traveled 2,300 feet down a runway getting into the air.

The plane is equipped with both short and long range radio and is designed to float if forced down over water. He also carried an emergency life raft.

Mooney Aircraft president, Hal Raphael, said the monoplane's 150-horsepower Lycoming engine made it capable of flying 170 m.p.h. but it would cruise most economically at 150 m.p.h.

Know THE Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Is it true that clear weather frontal systems from the northwest bring with them a different smell (in the air)?

We commented once before that the air sometimes does smell differently. In the fall, when cooler, clear frontal systems often move in on us and produce football and hunting weather, people sometimes say they smell the odor of the north woods.

And that is possible. The air we have over us today was probably about six hundred miles to the west or northwest yesterday and it may well have been over a fir tree forest or over the great forests of Canada, etc.

And it may have brought with it just a faint odor of these great forests.

leaders in Russia who have been trying to come to the United States for years but have been refused permission by this country.

Another question was "what is the status of the church in Russia?"

"The church is comparatively free, but emphasis is not on religion. The state takes its place, Mrs. Roosevelt said. "Older people go to church, but there are few young people who attend."

"There is nothing to keep you from going to church, but party members do not attend. The party takes its place," she said.

"Was the Little Rock affair discussed in the Soviet Union?"

"Yes. According to communist newspapers, it was the only thing that happened in America. You can't buy anything but communist papers in Russia."

Later in a press conference, Mrs. Roosevelt was asked how she remained so relaxed. Her bright blue eyes twinkled and she said, "I don't worry about it, I don't have time to worry about relaxing."

She lives in a small New York apartment by herself and has one maid for cooking and housework. She says she does a great deal of entertaining and just the day before her talk in Birmingham, she entertained 10 people, including three of her sons and their wives.

That same day she entertained at a tea for a Danish friend she met while abroad, winding the evening up with a birthday party for another friend.

Her own birthday is next week, but she doesn't "celebrate them any more."

The balloting today was to be a lengthy affair. Besides the top post of president, a secretary-treasurer, 15 vice presidents and three trustees were to be elected by roll call votes.

Hoffa has thrown his support behind English for re-election. Hoffa also presented his slate Thursday of his favored 13.

In addition to English, Hoffa is backing Harold J. Gibbons, St. Louis; John T. O'Brien, Chicago; John J. O'Rourke, New York; Murray W. Miller, Dallas; Thomas E. Insanity Claimed in Slaying

Charged with the fatal stabbing of his wife, James D. Shepherd, 36, will plead temporary insanity at his trial next week, it was indicated today.

Shepherd's attorney has given notice that he will call expert testimony to show Shepherd was "mentally ill" at the time his wife, Elizabeth, 42, was stabbed in the back in the living room of their Birmingham home, 1509 Pierce St.

Shepherd, charged with first-degree murder, is scheduled for trial at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams. The attorney, David C. Pence, of Pontiac, has indicated he may waive a jury trial.

The trial was scheduled after Judge Adams granted Pence a two-weeks delay in order "to develop new medical evidence."

Pence said he was studying the combined effect of alcohol and tranquilizing drugs.

Shepherd, who has never admitted the crime, maintains he "blacked out" the night of the stabbing, May 27. He said he had several drinks that day and took "a couple" tranquilizing pills before going to bed.

He said he remembers nothing more until standing by his dying wife about 2½ hours later.

Pence indicated to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem that he will call three expert witnesses, presumably to testify about Shepherd's mental condition. Two of them are Pontiac psychiatrists, Dr. L. Jerome Fink and Dr. Maurice E. Willis.

The third was identified as Dr. Heidt, of Ford Hospital, Detroit. Ziem said he believed that this Dr. Heidt is the psychiatrist who examined Shepherd in 1944 and 1945.

The prosecutor said he hopes to have Shepherd examined by two prosecution experts this weekend. They are Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, superintendent of Pontiac General Hospital, and Dr. Clinton Mumby, of Pontiac. Dr. Mumby already has agreed to the examination, Ziem said.

A plea of temporary insanity does not mean that the defense is maintaining Shepherd is insane now.

Urge 'Yes' Vote on Hospital Bonds

later the funds for this equipment "will come from somewhere."

Judge Clark J. Adams, council president, inquired of the director whether with this reduced $50,000 issue, the addition will become a "going concern." Flath gave an emphatic yes.

An employee of the hospital asked why the hospital project wasn't included in Pontiac's public improvement program. Mayor William W. Donaldson replied that under the city's present millage financing plan, all other civic buildings and improvements, such as sewers, sidewalks, street paving, would have to "stand still for 12 years" if the hospital was in the program.

Donaldson pointed out also that it was impossible to tell now whether the forthcoming bond issue would mean a tax increase. But if a hike is necessitated, he said, it would "probably" be no higher than 20 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The Day in Birmingham Volunteer Firefighters to Be Replaced Next July

BIRMINGHAM — Next July will mark the end of an old institution in Birmingham — the volunteer fire department.

Commissioners, according to City Manager L. R. Gare, have approved establishment of an auxiliary to the fire department, similar to the group working with the police department.

The volunteer department remained after the department became full-time and moved into the municipal building station in 1927. The group of 16 men has dwindled to nine, who answer "general alarms" for major fires in the city. Their last official call was in 1954 when a Birmingham mother and two sons lost their lives in a home fire.

Gare said the auxiliary unit would supplement the regular department in any major disaster. Training of new recruits will be in the hands of the remaining volunteers, headed by Capt. Sam Shell and Lieut. Don Cummings. They will train newcomers not only in fire fighting but in first aid and rescue work, as well as other details which might arise in a disaster.

Vernon Griffith, during his term as fire chief, said the department owed much to the volunteers. He praised their loyalty to the department, and the skill which they exhibited in assisting at major blazes. His successor, Chief Park Smith, has expressed the same feeling toward these men, city residents and businessmen, who have remained with the department to serve their city and their neighbors in time of need.

Ed Kirbert, YMCA executive secretary here, has announced that several new men have been listed among those supervising Gra-Y clubs in the area.

Newcomers include Pete Booth, working with the fifth and sixth grades at Adams school; Fred Sawyer, Baldwin fifth and sixth; Tom Hawkins, Bloomfield Village, and James Keenan, Pierce third and fourth.

Returning to the job this year are Bob Gleason, Baldwin third and fourth, and Joe Pearson, Pie fifth and sixth.

A new group formed at Valley-woods will become active as soon as the gymnasium is completed. It will be under the supervision of Ed Breedlove.

Through error, the name Bloomfield Hills was used in a story concerning a one-half tax levy for trunk line sewers. The vote next Tuesday will come between residents of Bloomfield Township and has nothing to do with the city of Bloomfield Hills.

The nine Negroes entered the school Sept. 25 under guard of federal troops flown here under orders of Eisenhower. Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division used bayonets to break up crowds of white demonstrators. That was the last of the demonstrations until yesterday's student walkout attempt.

Inside the school yesterday highly trained paratroopers of the 101 took over again from National Guardsmen.

This military change apparently took place because white students roughed up some of the Negro students in the two previous days. Guardsmen remained on duty on the campus.

Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus, accused by Eisenhower and others of inciting segregationists when he stationed the National Guard — then under the governor's control — at Central High Sept. 2, continued to receive ovations from crowds of Arkansans.

He was greeted with rousing cheers yesterday as he rode in a parade opening the National Cotton Picking Contest in Blytheville, Ark.

President Eisenhower and Gov. Faubus appeared further apart than ever today in their positions. Both men indicated they did not believe another face-to-face meeting would help solve the critical situation.

There was no sign of any impending White House action.

TOOK CARE OF BOY

The boy's father, Thomas M. White of suburban Reseda, said Mrs. Durston had taken care of Ronald in his early years and was "all wrapped up in the boy."

This was the second time in a little more than two months, police said, that Mrs. Durston had spirited the boy away. On July 24, they said, she left a note saying she was "taking the boy for my own" and going on a trip with him to Mexico and Colorado. The note said she was suffering from cancer of the hip and didn't have long to live.

She was stopped on that occasion, officers said, shortly after she drove away with the boy in a taxi. No charges were pressed.

Ronald's mother, Mrs. Evelyn D. White, reported the boy missing Wednesday when she learned he hadn't arrived at school that day. She said she feared her mother might have taken the boy away.

Police began searching for the youngster, but there was no trace of him until Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larson Jr. went to the abandoned house last night to remove some light fixtures. Mrs. Larson's mother had lived in the home until about a month ago. The house is in Woodland Hills, a San Fernando Valley community not far from Reseda.

Frenchman Impressed by Ice Cream Industry

FLINT (AP)—C'est Formidable! That's the impression of a young Frenchman after watching American dairy plants turn out ice cream.

DRINK MILK
When Eric Bouwens, 21, came to the United States four months ago to study the dairy industry, he already knew Les Americans were great milk drinkers.

What amazed him after a first-hand study of dairy plants was the huge amount of ice cream and the variety of flavors turned out.

Frenchmen, of course, eat ice cream, but in comparatively daily amounts.

Bouwens believes the American dairy plants have a good idea in emphasizing ice cream.

So he's going to put a lot of emphasis on the product when he returns home this fall. He figures manufacture of ice cream novelties will become an expanding part of the dairy industry in France. Frenchmen who refuse to drink milk can be enticed into eating it.

Bouwens has been studying production methods at the McDonald Co-Operative Dairy Co. plans in the Flint area.

It's something of a post-graduate course. He previously had studied dairying at the Institute Agricole De L'etat in Fribourg, Switzerland. He worked in dairies in Lyons and Paris and in Odense, Denmark.

He also attended the Institute National Agronomique in Paris.

LIKE TO STUDY
Then he decided he would like to study in the United States. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Gerard Bouwens of Paris had befriended an American Army officer stationed in Paris during World War II.

Mr. Bushnell Trembley, now a Flint attorney, met the Bouwens family through the French Welcome Committee. He soon was playing cards at the Bouwens home about once a week and became a close friend of the family.

Trembley received a letter indicating young Bouwens' desire to come to this country. The attorney immediately replied he would be glad to sponsor the youth for a six months stay.

Young Bouwens was surprised at the industrial might of a city like Flint in a rich agricultural area. Flint is a big auto production center with the home plant of General Motors' Chevrolet Division.

Besides ideas on making ice cream, Bouwens is taking back home good impressions of the American milk industry's sanitation methods. He observed that sanitation at the farm is highly important. He said the French farmer does not give milk the same care it gets on an American farm.

LOOKOUT—Pugnacious Pekingese "LeWahn"

Tiger Tomcat Freezes in Tree for Four Days

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—"Fast Runner" is a slow climber. He's a tiger tomcat—one of 16 belonging to the Lee Corder family here—and the other day he climbed a tall tree. Then he "froze" on a high branch. After four days of coaxing, the family dispatched two men to climb the tree and lower "Fast Runner" in a burlap sack. Only then did the cat live up to his name. Once on the ground, "Fast Runner" took off—fast.

Nearly half of American families do some canning.

Fifth of U.S. Acreage Is Federally Owned

WASHINGTON—According to figures released by the United States Chamber of Commerce, the Federal Government now owns more than 400,000,000 acres in the continental United States approximately one-fifth of the nation's area. Most of this acreage is non-farm land containing industrial resources, water supplies, recreational facilities, and other multipurpose features.

Top Length of Liners

CINCINNATI—Coal tows on inland waters throughout the nation frequently extend 1,107 feet, more than the ocean liner Queen Elizabeth, which is 1,031 feet long.

Fur People Important in June Havoc's Life

NEW YORK (U)—"The fur people are a great part of my life," said actress June Havoc, who keeps and is consoled by seven dogs and two cats.

"They are my companions. I started out with them when there were no 'skin people'—no children my own age—around to play with. Therefore the fur people have been a great part of my life, and still are."

"You know how a hobo, if you give him a handout, will make a mark on the pavement to let other hoboes know yours is a door to knock on? Well, I have a cross like that on top of my head."

"It's invisible to the skin people, but it says to all the fur people, 'This is the place, Charlie!'"

"Dogs can see it two blocks away and give me the wink. They know I know."

Miss Havoc has been honored by West Coast humane societies for her work in helping save 265,000 homeless cats and dogs doomed to extermination.

"I helped get them jobs," she said. "I particularly like to find jobs for middle-aged fur people who have lost their former homes. They are truly tragic. Everybody loves a puppy or a kitty—but who ever buys a middle-aged dog or cat?"

"Actors lead a life most people could never stand. They're always in and out of the freezer. They have so many low moments . . . Moments when nobody wants them . . . moments that can annihilate."

"Fortitude is 90 per cent of show business. Show business isn't really a career at all—it's a life."

June also has the pride in her profession that marks the true craftsman, and this is her goal: "I want to stay out of the ice-box . . . to be independent enough to say at 85, 'I do want that role' or 'I don't want that role' . . . and to die with my makeup on."

"I'm not a frivolous person. Is that too much to ask in this world?"

Iowa Man Piloted Gold-Carrying Plane

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U)—The Lebanese International Airways announced today that Capt. Bernard T. Kuhlmer, 37, Fort Monroe, Iowa, was the pilot of the airline's plane which crashed into the Mediterranean yesterday.

Kuhlmer and the 30 other persons aboard were killed. The passengers included two Americans but the airline still withheld their identities.

Woman Bitten by Snake but Bottles Up Rattler

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (U)—Mrs. Norman Martin, 32, found a small snake in the basement of her suburban home yesterday and was bitten on a finger while trying to put it in a bottle.

She completed the capture and, with the 14-inch snake in a jar, asked a neighbor if it was poisonous.

"It's a rattlesnake!" Mrs. Harold C. Hedges exclaimed. Mrs. Hedges gave first aid with a snake-bite kit, then took Mrs. Martin to a hospital. She was released after treatment.

PANAMA (U)—Dr. Gilberto Arias, a son of ex-President Harnold Arias and a graduate of Harvard University, is Panama's new finance minister.

To Buy New Underwear Maugham Visits London

LONDON (U)—Author W. Somerset Maugham has returned to London to buy some new underwear.

"The British make the best men's underwear in the world," said the 53-year-old novelist and playwright. "They have to. The weather, you know, it's rather damp here at times."

Maugham, known to his close friends as Willie, lives most of the year at his villa on Cap Ferrat, a sunny spot on the French Riviera hard by Prince Rainier's Monaco.

The American fleet often puts in at nearby Villefranche. Sometimes sailors on shore leave knock at Maugham's door and ask for a look around.

"One of them pinched my pen," said the author. "Then he wrote me a charming letter and told me what he'd done. Audacious young men, American seamen."

Last night Maugham heard an opera version of his South Sea Island novel on the life of painter Gauguin, "The Moon and Sixpence," performed by the Sadler's Wells opera company.

"I enjoyed it very much," he said. "I haven't read my book for at least 35 years. Nor am I a musician. But this splendid company brought it vividly back to me."

In the same hotel where he always lives in London, the author whose books have sold over 35 million copies, talked about his work.

"My earlier works are rubbish," he said, stabbing the air with a long cigarette holder. "I won't allow them to be reprinted."

He added that he had forgotten the names of many of them.

"It's all so long ago," he said, "and I'm a very old party. But of those early ones, only 'Liza of Lambeth' was a success. And it earned me but 20 pounds—$100 then."

His lined, hawk-like face relaxed.

"I cannot expect to live much longer. I've had a full life. I face what will come calmly."

Asked if he had any immediate plans for the future, the crusty author replied: "Yes. Definitely. To live on."

Siamese Twins Born

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N.Y. (U)—Siamese twins joined at the pelvis were born last week in Mercy Hospital here. It was disclosed yesterday. The hospital said that, at the request of the parents, it was unable to release any information on the twins or say whether a severing operation was planned.

June, who is featured tomorrow night on Ed Murrow's CBS network program, "Person to Person," isn't in the freezer at the moment. She is writing her autobiography and rehearsing for a new Broadway comedy called, "One Foot in the Door."

"It feels wonderful," said June, who always keeps her spangles ready to hit the night club circuit when no suitable film or stage roles are on her horizon. "But I'm no idiot. I know I'll be back in the freezer again."

Miss Havoc, who never went to school a day in her life, is proud of the fact that single-handed she has written down the story of her early struggles.

"I wrote 42 pounds of words," she said. "The book carries me up to the age of 14—the wildest years of my life."

2 Women Arrested in Vice Squad Raid

Pontiac police vice squad members raided an alleged house of prostitution last night and arrested Betty Hall, 38, of 205 Hughes, on the charge of operating the house at that address.

Another woman, Léola I. Jones, 22, was arrested on the charge of being an inmate of the house.

Both women were arraigned this morning and pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for Oct. 16.

3 Designers in New York Win Highest Fashion Honors

NEW YORK — A fur designer who fought in the French Underground, a Philadelphia socialite who commutes to New York to design her couture fashions, and a sportsman who creates sports clothes for women, shared American fashion's highest honor, the Coty American Fashion Critics' Awards, last night at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The award's celebrated "Winnie" trophy was presented to two designers: Miss Leslie Morris, designer of made-to-order clothes for Bergdorf Goodman, New York, and Sydney Wragge of B. H. Wragge, New York designer of ready-to-wear sports clothes and coordinated separates.

A special award of a silver plaque was made to Bergdorf Goodman's fur designer, Emeric Imre Farto, who came to American fashion via his native Hungary and France where he served as a soldier and resistance fighter as well as a couturier.

Grover A. Whalen, representing Coty, presided at the ceremony in the Grace Rainey Rogers Auditorium of the art museum, with the Costume Institute of the museum as co-host.

A ballgown in the "great" tradition, by Leslie Morris, is of slipper satin with deep rose satin lining the cape. Another Coty winner.

At Waterford Civic Concert Pianist Captures Audience With Brilliant Playing, Wit

By MARY LOUISE LINDQUIST

Stan Freeman thrilled and entertained his audience last night with his brilliant piano playing and rare wit. The piano virtuoso opened the season of the Waterford Township Civic Music Assn. at Isaac E. Cray Junior High School to a capacity crowd.

The first half of his program was devoted to works of the serious mood, followed by a second half of satire, wit, and a unique interpretation of jazz.

SHOWED DEXTERITY For his opening number, Mr. Freeman played the "Sonata in B Flat" by Mozart. All three greatest test of a pianist, movements moved along in true Mozart style of light fast-moving dexterity. To play Mozart well is perhaps the and Mr. Freeman kept the style clear and delicate.

The following three numbers were works of Chopin. Each of these solos was done with clean technique that did not interfere with the melodic line. From the vast wealth of Chopin's piano music, Mr. Freeman chose the "Waltz in A Flat," "Polonaise in C Sharp Minor," and "Ballade in G Minor."

With a feeling of perfect peace, the artist played "Gardens in the Rain" and the ever-loved "Claire de Lune" by Claude Debussy. The picture of a quiet summer rain and a beautiful moonlight night were transmitted to the audience by his interpretive playing.

The runs and trills were clear and expressive in Mr. Freeman's rendition of Franz Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 13." He played both delicately and with much strength without indicating any real physical effort. His octaves were as interpretive as his runs.

EMPHASIS ON HUMOR The second half of the concert covered bits of Mr. Freeman's repertoire of musical stories, show tunes, and amusing musical satires on numerous phases of the American musical scene.

It was a pleasure to hear the familiar melodies played with such artistry and feeling. From Gershwin to Hammerstein, and from New Orleans jazz to rock and roll, Mr. Freeman made his audience feel a part of the musical scene he was painting.

Members of audience were spontaneously enthusiastic over the interpretations of nearly every style of piano playing. They should remember for a long time an evening of combined music, satire, and exceptional talent for entertaining.

CHARLENE MANDEVILLE Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mandeville of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlene Jean, to Howard Grant Brown. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur S. Brown of Petoskey.

Recognized Agencies Are Best

Couples Urged to Get Expert Aid in Adopting Tots

By JANE EADS WASHINGTON — If you want to adopt a child the best thing to do is to go to a recognized social agency in your community, or to your state department of welfare.

"In so doing," says the Children's Bureau, "your interests as well as those of the child and his mother will be best protected. Creating a family by bringing children without homes together with couples without children who want to adopt them isn't a matter of slapdash doing."

A FRESH LOOK The Children's Bureau, "taking a fresh look at the adoption picture today" in studying the role of the agency and social worker, says it is finding encouraging developments which should offset much of the criticism leveled at placement practices in the past.

"We will never have a pat pattern for finding the right parents or right child, but we are learning how to facilitate getting together the individuals who will form this family," said one official.

"More public agencies are developing adoption programs than ever before," says Miss Clara Golden, new Children's Bureau consultant on foster family care and adoptions.

"This is mainly because of the need to plan for more children and a recognition of the fact that more can be placed for adoption that were thought unadoptable at one time."

GROUPS SET UP The bureau, she said, is trying to stimulate interest in medical, legal, nursing, ministerial, and other professional groups to work cooperatively with different community social agencies, one of whose major concerns is adoption.

The result is that many committees are being set up in various areas to work out the problems together.

Other results listed by the Children's Bureau include: 1. A better appreciation of the importance of the doctor's contribution in considering a child for adoption. More specialists are drawn into cases where there are unusual problems.

2. In many states, a reappraisal of adoption laws. Generally, the focus is to consider advisability of requiring all adoptive placements to be made through recognized agencies; to determine legislative changes to control out-of-state placements; to determine the extent to which legislation should control the right of the mother to place her child.

3. Recruitment of adoptive homes for minority groups. "Adopt-a-Child" in New York is finding homes for Negro and Puerto Rican children; in San Francisco, "MARCI" is recruiting homes for Negro, Mexican, and Oriental children.

Special Guests for Rothbergs

Personal News of Interest in Area

Thursday — as luggage was cleared away after the arrival at Willow Run of Flight 99 from New York City — three people, all celebrities in their own ranks, were driven to the Lake Angelus home of the Jack Rothbergs to spend a few days.

Who are the Rothbergs' famous guests? Dorothy Kilgallen, columnist for the New York Journal-American; her theatrical producer, radio and television star husband, Richard Kollmar; together with Howard Perry Rothberg (he's the son of the John Rothbergs of Lake Angelus) form the trio.

At a party to be given by the Rothbergs, Mr. Kollmar will present a run-through of his new musical, "The Body Beautiful," which is scheduled to open on Broadway in a few weeks.

Meanwhile, Howard Rothberg has been commissioned by Sherman Billingsley to redecorate New York's famed Stork Club.

Also entertaining out-of-town guests are Dr. and Mrs. William Stellwagen of Motorway drive. Dr. Stellwagen's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Baker of Seattle, Wash., flew to Willow Run and will spend a short vacation in Pontiac.

Last year when Mr. and Mrs. George Roper, of City and Country School, visited New York City, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt showed a great deal of interest in the program offered at the Bloomfield Hills school. She didn't forget the school either, for Thursday she paid students there a visit.

It's Best to Use Direct Approach

By ANNE HEYWOOD Sometimes I think we make such a science of human relations, such a project of getting along with people, that we overlook the fact that the easy, direct way is best.

You can defeat your purpose by being complicated and devious.

For example, one girl I know has a co-worker who gossips too much.

ANALYZING PROBLEM For months now, my friend has been analyzing the problem and figuring a way to get the girl to stop gossiping, at least while they're both working at their desks, typing.

"I want to wait until the time is just right," she tells me. "After all, it could be a traumatic shock to her, and I don't want that! So I'll wait until some day when she's looking especially well, and then I'll lead up to it—"

Along about here, I lose patience. I'm tempted to say, "Oh, for heaven's sake! Why don't you just tell her you can't work when she's talking and could she hold it until lunch?"

But my friend is not the advice-taking type.

SAID JUST THAT

However, a new girl was put in the office with them, and after a couple of days, said just that. Whereupon, the gossip cheerfully said, "Okay" and kept quiet!

That's the answer, too, I think, to a letter I have from a girl in Indiana:

"I have a job that I like, at least there are many things about it I like. But my boss is of the old school. He expects me to do the work of three people."

"I'm never out until after 7, lunch is usually just a 15-minute affair and sometimes I have to get in at 8 in order to plow through the day's work."

DIPLOMATIC WAY

"How can I tell him in a diplomatic way that I don't want to work like this?"

Well, who says you have to be diplomatic? Maybe he honestly doesn't know how much work you do or how late you stay. So, tell him.

Or if he does know, and is purposely victimizing you, why be charming? Tell him.

Keep a record for a few weeks of your hours and the amount of work you handle. Tell him that you can no longer do so much overtime and ask which of the jobs can you give up or does he want somebody else to handle them?

DON'T BE DEVIOUS Don't be nasty, but don't be deviously diplomatic.

If you're a good worker—which you seem to be—you have nothing to lose by being honest. In fact, you owe your boss honesty! (Copyright 1967)

Build Up Body, Increase Appetite

Exercises Benefit Thin Persons

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I am thin, very thin. I know that bad eating habits are a large cause of this but won't exercises help, too?"

A. It is true that the food intake is most important for the thin person. Not only should the underweight individual have a larger than usual daily calorie count but the diet must be carefully planned since vitamin deficiency is one reason for underweight.

Exercises for building up the bust measurement and the calves usually are needed and mild exercises is a splendid aid since it increases appetite. Most important of all, exercise relaxes nervous tension which is one reason for thinness.

Walking and swimming are especially good. Deep-breathing and relaxing are also beneficial as are any mild exercises, especially those which place the emphasis on stretching.

Q. "I am 14 years old and have legs like sandpaper. My legs are covered with small, rough bumps. Could this be an allergy?"

A. Yes, I suppose it could be an allergy. It also could be a vitamin deficiency. You should see your physician about it.

Q. "I am 14 years old and know that I am overweight. My parents and relatives discourage me about losing and tell me that I am just right. What is your opinion? I weigh 140 pounds and am 5 feet 6 inches tall. My bust measures 34, waist 27 and hips 37 inches."

A. You are overweight by the standards. If you have very usual standards, if you have a very large frame, you may be only a little overweight. I imagine you should lose at least 5 to 8 pounds by cutting out extras such as cookies and candy bars and rich desserts and sundries.

Your parents probably are afraid you will diet strenuously. You should not do this. Well-balanced meals and an adequate calorie intake are especially important at your age. Also take hip and waist-slimming exercises.

Q. "Is a glass of buttermilk the same number of calories that skim milk has? What about powdered fat-free milk?"

A. They are all approximately the same.

Broth Cook Vegetables for Chicken

By JANET ODELL

A delicious chicken and noodle dinner is today's specialty. Mrs. Laura Smithling of Rochester serves this to her husband when he has been doing heavy outdoor work.

Sewing and 4-H club work occupy Mrs. Smithling's time. This past summer she was clothing chairman for the local 4-H Fair.

CHICKEN AND NOODLES

Simmer a stewing hen in salted water until tender. Let cool in the broth, then remove from bones. Cut into stock 2 small onions and 2 stalks of celery. Grate 2 carrots into the stock and cook until vegetables are tender.

Add noodles and cook 10 minutes. Add chicken and cook another 5 minutes, or until chicken is heated through. Serve with mashed potatoes or peas or green beans.

Noodles

3 eggs, beaten
Salt
Flour (enough to make a dough you can handle and knead)
Knead like bread dough for about 5 minutes. Lightly flour top and bottom and roll paper thin until it looks like a chamois skin. Cut into desired widths. Make about 3 hours before using so that the noodles can dry.

If you are storing some of the noodles, be sure they are completely dry before you put them away.

Chemical Stops Mold in Cottons

Science has scored again. This time it's against the molding and rotting that fabrics are frequently subjected to in damp storage places, or when atmospheric moisture prevents them from drying completely.

A new chemical has been developed which virtually rot and mold proofs the cotton fabrics to which it is applied.

It is expected to be used initially on such items as military uniforms, tents and hotel linens. All will remain completely washable in hot soap or detergent suds, and are said to retain their mold and rot proof qualities no matter how many times they're sudsed.

Phyllis Herrick Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Herrick of Tasmania street announce the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Irene, formerly of Pontiac, to Boyd E. Winn of Santa Maria, Calif. Married July 27 in Los Angeles, the couple now resides in Santa Monica.

Is Medicine Chest Clean and Sanitary?

Your medicine chest should be kept sanitary and clean. Wash removable shelves, glass eyecups, and bottle stoppers and jars in hot soap or detergent suds, rinse and wipe dry.

Wipe the surfaces of jars, bottles, and tubes with a damp sudsy sponge or cloth—being careful not to loosen vital labels or identification.

And this is a good time to remember that medical and safety authorities advise discarding any medicines which have been around for more than three months.

Hand-Painted China Needs Quick Wash

Hand painted decorations on china and glassware are not usually permanently fired onto the surface. That's why such pieces should be washed quickly by hand with medium-hot soap or detergent suds and rinses. Hot water and soaking tend to fade hand painted colors.

Secret Diets Sound Fine but They Won't Catch On

Calorie-Counters Find Their One Joy in Describing Suffering to Others

By RUTH MILLETT

McCall's magazine for September has an article that could revolutionize luncheon and dinner party conversation.

The article tells how to diet in secret. Yep, in secret. It gives tips on how a dieter can sit down with her family or friends and keep to a diet without anyone's being the wiser.

The method is simple. You take a little of everything that is offered you, eat your small portions and don't go back for seconds.

If you keep your mouth shut, no one is the wiser that you are carefully counting calories.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the idea of dieting in secret would catch on? Then those who aren't on a diet could go back to enjoying their food without being reminded of the number of calories in sour cream dressing or a slice of apple pie.

But secret dieting, I am afraid, isn't going to appeal to most dieters. If they had to diet without talking about it most of them would probably give up in despair.

For one thing, women who have been on-again, off-again dieters for years find calorie talk an easy form of dinner table conversation.

Then, too, since dieting is a form of self-punishment the only joy connected with it is in letting everyone know how much you are suffering.

And there's always the temptation for a woman who has kept her figure fashionably thin to call attention to it whenever she turns down a hot roll or second serving.

Haven't you noticed that the women who talk the most about dieting are skinny women? They do the most talking about calories when there is at least one plump person present.

Keep Skin, Scalp Clean for Beauty

Medical men and beauty specialists may differ on methods of achieving good looks—such as exercise and massage, stimulation and protection. But on one fundamental they all stand pat: If the skin and the scalp are to be healthy and beautiful, they must be clean.

Watch Stragglers

Being pretty as a picture in a picture hat calls for good grooming. Use a soft little brush around your hairline. This keeps stragglers in place and brushes away a dingy line left from cosmetics and, natural skin oils.

The fur coat reaches the peak of luxury with deep capes and huge collars. No definite size collar can be set for all women. It's a matter of modification to keep from looking ridiculously overpowered by too much fur coat.

Buddy Adler Set to Sign Fabulous New Contract

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Right from New York, from the horse's mouth, as we say, I had word that Buddy Adler is to have one of the most fabulous contracts ever given any motion picture producer. I happen to know that Spyros Skouras discussed the deal with Buddy when he was here a few days ago, and that Charles Feldman and Gregson Baitzer have a date with Skouras to finalize the fine print.

As I understand it, this new deal will give Adler complete say on the 20th Century-Fox lot, and is equal to the contract Darryl Zanuck had for so many years at that studio. The official story should be out soon.

This is a very smart move on the part of 20th, because Buddy has a fine record of having made very good pictures.

Dr. Myron Prinzmetal is writing a new book called "Living With Your Coronary," in collaboration with radio and television commentator William Winter, interestingly enough a former patient of his who is not only living—but working—with his coronary. Simon and Schuster are bringing it out around Christmas.

All Rome is talking about the exciting evening Vittorio Gassman staged at the Quirino Theatre as an associated cultural presentation. The gimmick is that every seat in the house is equipped with a set of earphones which simultaneously translate what is happening on the stage to the language of the listener.

You just make your reservations in the English, French or Spanish earphone sections, and follow the drama or comedy exactly as it is being played in Italian on the stage. It's a clever idea which could spread.

Vittorio, assisted by a company of 25 of his students, put on what else—"An evening with Vittorio Gassman."

Those who saw Eddie Fisher's first TV show know that he's launched a new and great career. The hour went too quickly.

One of the highlights was his number with Debbie in which she kids him about the success of "Tammy," and later when she sang it and he presented her with her first gold record.

Eddie's voice never seemed as good. Elaine Dunne, whom I had seen in Las Vegas, is a great assistance on the show, too, and I liked the repartee between Eddie and George Gobel.

Mirror Is Seeing-Eye to Detect Shoplifting

NEWARK — A Newark manufacturer has developed a large convex mirror which he says promises to curtail shoplifting. The mirror is mounted on a bracket that permits installation on up-rights, cross sections, or island displays in stores. The 26-inch-diameter mirror reflects almost every corner of a store, the manufacturer says, and "sees" above, beyond, and around objects normally hidden from view.

Brooklyn, Long Island, was founded in 1645. It was then spelled Breuckelon, Long Eyelandt.

Helen Harris Quits Post

By LEE WINBORN
From Correspondent
The forthcoming resignation of Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs president, Helen M. Harris of Muskegon, was revealed at this week's East Central District's convention in Elkton.

Some 200 delegates and visitors heard the announcement at Wednesday night's banquet, which featured Dr. Sarah Van Housen Jones of Rochester, as guest speaker.

Miss Harris told of her recent appointment to the post of guidance counselor in the public schools of Bergenfield, N. J. Her resignation from the top club office will become effective Nov. 1.

She will be succeeded by Mrs. John Hissman of Schenectady, N.Y., MSFVC vice president.

Mrs. Andrew M. Miller of St. Clair was elected president of the district during yesterday's annual meeting. She is a former active—now honorary—member of the Romeo Monday Club.

Other officers are: Mrs. C. H. Watterworth of Elkton, first vice president; Mrs. Fred Barth of Capac, second vice president; Mrs. Ward Atkins, secretary, and Mrs. Sherwood Rice Jr., treasurer.

Mrs. John Uphogrove Jr., of Port Austin, was named Girls-town representative, and outgoing district president Mrs. Roy Richards of Alma was named state representative.

The district bylaws were changed to extend the terms of district officers from one to two years, to conform with state policy.

MMPA Charges Contract Breach

Threatens to Cut Off Milk Supply of Wilson Dairy

Detroit (AP) — The Michigan Milk Assn. has accused Ira Wilson & Sons of a breach of contract and has threatened to cut off the dairy's milk supply.

Glenn Lake, MMPA president, said yesterday after a special meeting of the association sales committee, that Wilson was "attempting to cause strife in the market and deliberately wreck the entire price structure of the dairy farmer in the Detroit market."

The MMPA, bargaining agent for most dairy farmers supplying the Detroit market, reached agreements with area dairies last Aug. 1 for a price to farmers of $5 per hundredweight (46½ quarts) for drinking milk.

Lake said only Wilson had violated the six-month contract.

"Wilson's now want to pay some of its farmers one price and others another price," Lake said. "This is positively a violation of the contract we have with Wilson's. It is a clear attempt to pit farmers against each other and to drive the farmer milk price downward."

Lake said the MMPA would give Wilson until Monday to come to a meeting with contract terms. The association said it would cut off the dairy's milk supply Oct. 9 if it doesn't comply by Monday. Wilson is the fourth largest dairy in the Detroit market.

Meetings were scheduled tentatively for Monday night at New Baltimore, Farmington, Adrian, Ovid, Garrettsville, Mason and Ann Arbor to outline action to dairy farmers.

An intramural program has been set up for Avondale Junior High students. Each home room is represented by a girl's and boy's softball team and a touch football team. Winning teams of the Round Robin Playoffs will receive trophies or prizes. These same teams will compete in basketball and volleyball later this year.

Magazine Prices Missiles Atlas Costs $4 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Uncle Sam's missiles cost from $4,400 to more than four million dollars apiece, a trade publisher says.

Bennett H. Horchler of Cleveland, publishing director of the trade magazine Aeronautical Purchasing, told a news conference the magazine's Washington correspondent made these estimates of costs for 15 missiles:

Sidewinder, $4,400; Sparrow III, $40,000; Falcon, $9,000; Nike I, $20,000; Nike II, $80,000-$100,000; Tartar, $40,000; Bullpup, above $10,000; Petrel, $80,000; Corporal, above $100,000; Matador, $100,000; Redstone, $1,000,000; Lacrosse, above $50,000; Regulus II, $430,000; Snark, $1,000,000.

The Atlas, Horchler said, costs more than four million.

Romeo High Senior Hurt in Accident

ROMEO — A high school senior suffered head injuries last night when his car left the road, landing in a ditch on 32 Mile Rd., two miles east of here.

He is William Russell Neddemeyer, 17, of 140 Tillson St., who was reported in good condition today in St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

State Police of the Romeo Post said the vehicle was traveling at a high rate of speed when it left the pavement, catching fire in a drainage ditch. The Romeo Fire Department was called to extinguish the blaze.

West Bloomfield to Be Toured Voters Sponsor 'Go-See'

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The West Bloomfield League of Women Voters will sponsor "Go-See" Tuesday, the purpose of which is to acquaint the citizenry with its boundaries, historic landmarks, schools, industries, recreational facilities and other points of interest within the area.

The program, coordinated by Mrs. Jack Gussens, will provide chartered buses equipped with public address systems. Mrs. Irvin W. Sander provided the itinerary and will serve as guide on the trip. Maps will be available to "goers."

A luncheon at Rotunda Inn will be included in the affair. The meeting place will be at the West Bloomfield Township Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake Rd., at 9:15 a.m. Departure will be at 10 a.m., and arrival back at 3 p.m.

The league is extending an invitation to all those interested. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Sander, EM 3-4485.

Clawson Blanks Oak Park, 27-0

Action Scores Two TDs as Trojans Grind Out 3rd Straight Win

Clawson High School's football powerhouse hammered out a 27-0 victory over outmanned Oak Park Thursday night at Clawson. It was the 3rd straight win for the Trojans.

The fighting Redskins held Clawson at bay until the last five minutes of the 1st half when fullback Lowell Acton scored the 1st of his two touchdowns on a 15-yard burst through the middle.

Clawson tallied twice in the 3rd quarter. Quarterback George Almasny sneaked across from two yards out to complete a 67-yard drive and Acton bulled over from the five yard line to finish a march of 38 yards.

The Trojans scored their final touchdown in the last two minutes of play when halfback Dave Reese scooted across from the 10 yard stripe. Pat Hanes kicked three extra points.

Acton suffered a leg injury midway through the 4th period and was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Tigers Ink Infielder for Class B Farm

DETROIT (AP) — George C. Smith, stand-out second baseman for the Indianapolis Clowns, has signed a minor league contract with the Detroit Tigers.

The 19-year-old Smith was signed to a Class B pact with Detroit's Durham, N.C., team. A right-handed hitter, Smith stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 170 pounds. He is from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Michigan 11 Heavily Favored

Big California Guard to Miss Spartan Game

Intersectional Contest on National Television Saturday at 4:30

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Proverb Jacobs, the University of California's giant guard, will not be in the Bear lineup for the nationally televised battle with Michigan State Saturday.

Coach Pete Elliott said yesterday Jacobs, who weighs 333 pounds, entered Cowell hospital at Berkeley for a checkup of a condition that indicated a possible kidney disorder.

Jim Green, a 210-pound sophomore, was moved up from the second unit to replace Jacobs, a senior.

The husky lineman had predicted the Bears would upset the Spartans, ranked No. 2 in the nation.

This first meeting between the two schools is set for the Memorial Stadium turf with the nation watching in the television game-of-the-week. Starting time is 4:30 p. m., EST.

The contest stacks up to be a fine offensive battle, with State's explosive multiple offense matched against a rapidly improving split-T formation of the Bears.

Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans already are under a full head of steam, after the 54-0 win over Indiana last weekend.

Elliott, in his first year at the Bear helm, has not been quite as successful, having dropped two close decisions to highly-rated opponents — 13-6 to Southern Methodist, and 13-7 to Washington State.

Heading Elliott's backfield corps is quarterback Joe Kapp, a husky 200-pounder, who has excellent support from halfbacks Jack Hart and Darrell Roberts and fullback Art Forbes, all of whom are experienced performers.

Michigan State, with sharp performances from its first two units and good play from a host of other substitutions provided Daugherty with "the finest opening game I have seen here," as it defeated Indiana.

Viking Cross Country Team Defeats Falcons

A second place finish by Bill Hosley paced the Walley Lake cross country team to a 24 to 37 victory over Farmington yesterday. John Marsh of Farmington won the meet in a time of 10:12. The once-beaten Vikings return to action Tuesday against the Southfield harriers at Southfield.

ELUSIVE BALL—Andy Pafko slides into third base as the throw from left fielder Enos Slaughter gets away from rookie third sacker Tony Kubek. The ball rolled into the Braves dugout and Pafko then scored. Kubek was charged with an error in this 4th inning play of the second game of the World Series.

Foursomes Begin Play U.S. Ryder Team in Lead

LINDRICK, England (AP) — The United States took a quick lead over England at the start of the Ryder cup golf matches today.

Doug Ford of New York and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., led in the first of the four scotch foursomes that opened the two-day competition. They made a 3 up lead after nine holes stand up for a 1 up lead after 18 holes of the morning round over the English pair of Peter Alliss and Bernard Hunt. They finished the 18 holes in 68, two under par, while Alliss and Hunt posted a 69.

The Americans led at the turn in each of the other three foursomes.

Art Wall of Pocomo Manor, Pa., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex. were 2 up at the turn over Ken Bousfield and Dal Rees while Ted Krell of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Jack Burke, of Bellaire, Tex. held a 1 up edge over Max Faulkner and Harry Weetman.

Pairings for today's foursomes: Doug Ford, Mahopac, N. Y., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla. vs. Peter Alliss and Bernard Hunt, England.

Art Wall, Pocomo Manor, Pa., and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex. vs. Ken Bousfield, England, and Dal Rees, Wales.

Ted Krell, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Jackie Burke, Bellaire, Tex. vs. Max Faulkner and Harry Weetman, England.

Dick Mayer of La Jolla, Calif., and Tommy Bell, Los Angeles, vs. Charlie O'Connor, Ireland, and Eric Brown, Scotland, 1 up.

It is 24 years since Britain defeated the United States in the Ryder Cup. Experts say that if Britain does not do it this time, then they never will. The Americans have won the Cup nine times and Britain twice.

At halftime, 12,000 high school musicians will entertain during the annual band day show.

Wolverines Vie Georgia in 1st Home Encounter

Peach State Gridders Figured to Be Three Touchdown Underdogs

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Tenth-ranked Michigan meets three-touchdown underdog Georgia here tomorrow in a game designed to test the Wolverines for the rocky Big Ten road ahead.

It'll be the last non-conference game for Michigan before it embarks on a 7-game conference schedule next week against Michigan State.

Ticket manager Don Weir predicts 80,000 spectators will sit in on the first game between the two teams. Kickoff for the intersectional battle will be at 1:30 P.M.

Michigan is plagued by nightmarish memories of its opener last week. The Wolverines held off determined Southern California 16-6 but looked nothing like the gridiron giants they had been called.

Georgia, as forecast in the pre-season, has shown little strength. The Bulldogs have lost twice, to Texas 26-7 and Vanderbilt 9-6.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has worked his Michigan team hard this week in an effort to apply more polish. Toward the end of the week, the Wolverines showed signs of snapping out of their doldrums. They were cracking through their plays with finesse.

Georgia, with Wally Butts in his 19th year at the helm, makes its first invasion of the Big Ten since 1922.

The Bulldogs are a pass-conscious team that had had trouble hanging on to the ball.

They've fumbled 13 times in their two games. This week they've practiced in steady rain every day. Both lines average about 208 pounds. But Michigan is given the edge due to experience.

Georgia has two promising sophomore quarterbacks in Charley Brett and Tommy Lewis. Both are young and still prone to making mistakes, but are said to be Butts' best passers in several seasons.

The Bulldogs also have one of the best pass catchers in Dixie, in right-half back Jimmy Orr. He led the southeastern conference in receiving two years ago and is on top again this season.

Left halfback Carl Manning and fullback Theron Sapp round out the Georgia backfield. Capt. Jefferson Davis, a speedy left half, is expected to play, having recovered from a leg injury.

At halftime, 12,000 high school musicians will entertain during the annual band day show.

Series Sorking Low

NEW YORK (AP) — The 10 runs scored thus far — five by each team — is the lowest total for the first two series games since 1951 when the Giants beat the Yanks 5-1 in the opener and the Yanks took the second 3-1.

Coleman Leads Hitters

NEW YORK (AP) — Of the regulars, Jerry Coleman, 300, of the Yanks and the Braves' Wes Covington, 500, took the Series fattest batting averages to Milwaukee, but Hank Bauer, New York right-fielder had a Series consecutive hitting streak of nine consecutive games.

Egad! A paean of plaudits has welled up across the land concerning the upsets I have given my gentle readers in advance — but I am not satisfied.

It is impossible for your versatile correspondent to be reconciled with anything but perfection. Therefore he has had to dismiss his chief astronomer, Dr. Vladimir McGrath, who predicted the tie game between Southern California and Oregon State. As you know the Trojans were beaten rather handily.

Dr. McGrath's explanation that he became confused by the label on a bottle of three-star refreshment seemed to me to be lame indeed. I have replaced him with the learned Romney Schultz, Jr. Juicy upsets for this week are

AAU Cross Country Meet Set Saturday

DETROIT (AP) — Ninety-nine distance runners from seven schools compete Saturday in the Michigan AAU cross country meet at the Warren Valley Golf Club.

The meeting brings together runners from Michigan State, Western Michigan, Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan, Bowling Green State of Ohio, Spring Harbor Junior College and host Wayne State University.

Fifty-four runners are entered in the senior division contest for varsity teams and unattached runners and 45 are scheduled for a junior class meet for freshmen and junior college participants.

Flu Bug Takes Toll of Football

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
The flu bug has taken its toll of high school football activity as a long list of games around the state scheduled for tonight were either cancelled or postponed.

Pontiac's home encounter with Ferndale at Wisner Stadium, slated for tonight, was called off because of the pesky snuffle-spreaders.

During the week, coach Ted Meister at Ferndale indicated that many of his players were stricken with the flu and yesterday when only 14 boys were left healthy on the squad, Meister announced he would not be able to play the game.

More than 25 per cent of the Ferndale student body were absent from classes in the past two days.

Pontiac also had several members of its squad hit by the flu, however, because most of the varsity was intact, attempts were made to get a substitute opponent for tonight without success.

Other area grid teams including Waterford and Holly were playing their games today with only a partial roster.

The Skippers, playing at Farmington this afternoon, will be without its entire starting backfield, including all five of the team's quarterbacks.

Halfback John Herrington, with only two days of practice, will call the signals for Waterford.

Holly will meet West Bloomfield tonight with both teams suffering the effects of the flu.

At Bloomfield Hills where the Barons host Milford, coach Don Hoff himself missed several days of workouts this week because of illness.

Twelve prep games were called off in Detroit, and all of the Grand Rapids schools were forced to postpone or cancel their games because of the city-wide epidemic.

Grand Rapids Catholic Central was slated to be at Flint North-ern tonight but that contest will not be played.

The Pontiac-Ferndale game has not been definitely reset, however arrangements are being made for possibly playing it the last week of the season. This would be Friday, November 22.

In Detroit, hardest hit was U. of D. High which had its game with Redford stopped by the flu.

Flymouth High, with 19 of 31 players stricken, will reschedule its game with Allen Park, Benton Harbor also postponed its clash with South Bend, Ind., and Hudsonville postponed its game with Freemont.

There were many other games around the state which were doubtful of being played tonight.

Rochester High School had an open date this weekend, but many of its gridgers missed practice sessions this week.

Little Trouble Ahead for Grid Powers

Top 10 Teams Have Easy Weekend

If there is trouble brewing for the nation's top 10 college football teams Saturday it doesn't show in the over-all scores of the ranked eleven and their opponents.

In going undefeated in 14 games, the teams comprising the first 10 in this week's Associated Press poll have rolled up a total of 460 points while holding their opponents to 72.

By contrast their opponents this week have won only five, lost 10 and tied three. In the 18 games, they scored only a total of 189 points while yielding 256.

On the basis of scores, not one from top ranked Oklahoma on down to tenth rated Michigan has been really tested. And by the same line of reasoning, it would be on upset if any of them bit the dust Saturday.

The potent Oklahoma Sooners, idle last week after blanking Pitt 26-0, go after their 42nd successive victory with Iowa State (1-0-1) as their opponents. Oklahoma has not been beaten by a Big Eight Conference team since Bud Wilkinson took over the coaching reins 10 years ago.

Second ranked Michigan State, 1-0 after blasting Indiana 54-0 in the Spartans' opener, meets winless California (0-2) in the game that will be seen on the national television screens. NBC will turn on its cameras at Berkeley, Calif., after completion of the World Series game at Milwaukee.

The remainder of the top 10 line up like this:

Minnesota, 46-7 conqueror of Washington in its only outing, meets Purdue, 0-1 after losing 12-0 to Notre Dame, in a Big Ten Conference opener for both. Duke, 2-0 with 26-14 conquest of South Carolina and 40-0 victory over Virginia, takes on disappointing Maryland (0-2).

The Texas Aggies, with a 21-13 victory over Maryland and a 21-0 blanking of Texas Tech to show for two starts, meet Missouri, 1-0-1 with a 7-7 tie with Vanderbilt and 35-13 victory over Arizona.

Navy, considered by many experts to be the best in the East after thrashing Boston College 46-6 and William & Mary 33-6, clashes with North Carolina (1-1) while Auburn, surprise 7-0 conqueror of Tennessee in its lone effort, should have no trouble against Chattanooga (1-0-1).

Iowa's Hawkeyes, who showed a great potential in downing Utah State 70-14, are at home to another intersectional opponent in Washington State (1-1). Oregon State, with a 20-0 victory over Southern California and 34-6 victory over Kansas, also steps out of its league for a clash with Northwestern (0-1).

Michigan, figured to be one of the title threats in the Big Ten, entertains Georgia (0-2) after turning back Southern California 16-6 in its only other start.

Although the nation's first 10 teams are favored, an oriental-type bug which causes influenza may have a say on the outcome of the games. Iowa, for one, has been hit hard. Coach Forest Evashevski called off Thursday's practice because of a flu epidemic and said "We have no idea as to what players will be able to play Saturday."

CONCENTRATE ON KEEPING THE AGGIES STRAIGHT. AVOID EASY ELBOW BREAK.

STRIKES AND SPARES

By Joe Wilman
Today, let's take up the fourth and final step in the four-step approach. If your footwork, arm swing and timing have all been correct up to this point, you should resemble the bowler in today's drawing.

Note how his left leg and right arm are moving forward together in perfect timing. Both knees are bent slightly, allowing him to bring the ball forward in an arc just above the level of the alley bed. The bent left knee also allows him to cushion his slide. It acts somewhat like a shock absorber as you slide to a stop. Your slide, incidentally, can be as short or as long as you like; but when you finish the slide, you should be from two to six inches behind the foul line.

Keep your right arm fairly straight, but don't let it become stiff or tense. Keep it relaxed, yet straight.

Be sure your body continues to face your target throughout your delivery and follow-through.

Howe Scores 2 in Wing Win

CHATHAM, Ont. (AP) — Gordie Howe scored two goals and assisted on another in pulling the Detroit Red Wings to an uphill 5-2 victory over the Edmonton Flyers last night.

The game marked the end of the seven pre-season series between the National Hockey League champions and their No. 1 farm club from the Western League.

The Wings have won four and tied three. Cummy Burton and Charley Holmes got the Flyers off to a 2-1 lead. But Howe, who evened the first counter, knotted it again midway in the second period.

Forbes Kennedy, Red Kelly and Norm Ullman added the other tallies for Detroit.

Pontiac's Beach 6th in Rushing Yardage

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Michigan football players are among the nation's top ten in total offense and rushing according to the NCAA's statistics of the small college football teams.

Doug Maison of Hillsdale was ninth in total offense with 316 yards in 23 plays.

Walter Beach of Central Michigan was sixth in rushing with 270 yards in 39 rushes. Beach is a Pontiac resident.

Grains Steady
in Early Trade

CHICAGO (U. P.)—Grain futures were steady in early dealings on the board of trade today.

Corn prices held within fractions of previous levels and there was pretty fair demand at the lower levels on resting orders. Overnight the Commodity Credit Corp. sold 1,685,000 bushels of corn for export.

Wheat held about steady with the December and March deliveries firmer, apparently on a carryover of yesterday's spreading operation. There was little demand continued flat.

Soybeans attracted professional selling in early dealings and there also were scattered offerings. Some buying was on resting order demand. Overnight receipts at Chicago totaled 379,000 bushels, which is considered very large. Weather for harvesting continued excellent.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was unchanged to 1/4 higher, Dec. $2.17 1/2; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, Dec. $1.20 1/2; oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, Dec. $1.28 1/2; soybeans were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, Nov. $2.27 1/2; and land was unchanged to 12 cents a hundred pounds lower, Oct. $11.02.

San Marino Reds
Blocked by Italy

SAN MARINO (U. P.)—Italy's tight blockade threatened today to starve San Marino's Red leaders into submission. They are locked in a fight with anti-Communists.

Food stocks were getting low as Italian police blocked all seven roads into the world's smallest republic. One public market already had closed because it had nothing to sell. The other had only a few potatoes, tomatoes and grapes.

What food reached the 36-square-mile country and its 40,000 people was smuggled in at black market prices by persons skirting the roadblocks and sneaking across the fields at night. Italian police brought up two tanks to the border again last night and used their searchlights to spot smugglers and infiltrators.

San Marino's Communist government still had 70 armed militiamen inside the old stone government house, but was feeling shaky.

Stock Picture:
Quiet, Lower

NEW YORK (U. P.)—The stock market was irregularly lower in quiet early trading today.

Pivotal issues took losses of from fractions to around a point, but there was a good scattering of small gainers.

The market was mixed at the opening in fairly active trading, but minus signs increased in later transactions.

Despite President Eisenhower's statement yesterday that he would oppose further cuts in defense outlays, aircraft continued to lose ground slightly today.

United Aircraft was off around a point, while fractional losses were taken by Boeing, Douglas Aircraft and General Dynamics.

International Nickel and Gulf Oil also were down about a point each. Other losers included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Ford, Goodyear, Kennecott, Allied Chemical and Illinois Central.

Small gains were posted for Chrysler, Baltimore & Ohio, Santa Fe and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Opening blocks included: General Motors, off 1/4 at 40 1/2; U. S. Steel, down 1/4 at 51 1/2; and Johns-Manville up 1/4 at 43 1/2.
