House Critics Campaign

ABM Foes in Last Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — House military spending critics are mounting a last-ditch campaign to block deployment of the controversial Safeguard antimissile system, a campaign they're almost sure to lose.

They're also trying to strike the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft (AMSA) bomber and a host of other major weapons system from the $70-billion defense appropriation that went to the House floor today.

★ ★ ★

But no effort was expected against the cluster nuclear warhead MIRV, which has $84 million in the defense bill.

The House Appropriations Committee already had moved to steal some of the critics' thunder by cutting the bill $5.3 billion, the deepest slash in a defense bill since 1963.

$779 MILLION

The bill contains $779 million to begin deploying Safeguard antimissile — ABM — sites in Montana and North Dakota.

Although the effort to block deployment money faced almost certain House defeat, the vote is expected to be close in the Senate where Safeguard authorization was approved by only one vote.

★ ★ ★

The House effort is being led by 10 members of the Appropriations Committee who argued in dissenting views to the bill last week that hundreds of millions of dollars will be wasted by deploying the system before research has been completed.

★ ★ ★

"To proceed with deployment now will increase the risk of huge overruns in the ABM program," they said in the dissenting report, "which already costs out to more than $8 billion."

EQUALLY CONTROVERSIAL

Development of MIRV — multiple independently-targetable vehicles—has been as big a controversy in Congress as Safeguard but critics have made no effort to cut funds for it.

The reason, said Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., a major MIRV critic, is that while opponents don't want the weapon completely developed so long as a U.S.-Soviet agreement outlawing it is possible, they also don't believe the United States should unilaterally stop work.

★ ★ ★

"I would flatly say there is no real sentiment for unilaterally stopping development," Cohelan said in an interview.

Other proposed cuts in the House included $100 million for the TOW anti-tank missile, which opponents contend is simply a wasteful duplication of the existing Shillelagh system.

★ ★ ★

Benefits Gain Eludes Neediest

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than a million of the neediest Social Security pensioners probably will get no benefit from the 15 per cent increase in payments expected to be approved by Congress.

Those involved are the 1,181,000 old persons and others whose Social Security benefits are so low they are supplemented by state welfare payments.

★ ★ ★

They would be affected in this way by the bill on which the House votes this week. A much broader Social Security increase voted by the Senate as part of the tax reform bill would not pose the same problem.

But the House version is considered more likely to prevail and to determine, for a time at least, the status of persons receiving both Social Security benefits and welfare payments.

SITUATION DESCRIBED

This is their situation, as described by officials:

The law governing the federal-state welfare program—not the Social Security program— requires each state, in setting the level of welfare assistance, to consider a recipient's income. This includes any income from Social Security.

So if a person is receiving Social Security benefits and a supplemental welfare payment, a raise in the Social Security level would simply mean a corresponding reduction in the supplement, and the pensioner would get the same total payment.

★ ★ ★

The House Ways and Means Committee was aware of this when it drafted the legislation, sources said, but decided it could not get into the intricacies of welfare legislation and still produce a Social Security increase bill in time for enactment this year.

★ ★ ★

However, the sources said, the problem will be considered early next year when the commmittee undertakes extensive overhaul of both the Social Security system and the welfare program.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., a member of the committee, said "We have to unravel this, but we can't unravel it in a few days. What we are passing now is really emergency legislation to see that the great majority, at least, are helped to cope with the increasing cost of living."

STATES COULD HELP

There are ways in which at least some states could help the left-our recipients, but officials said as a practical matter they are not likely to be used.

★ ★ ★

States could refigure their estimates of minimum living budgets, thus giving all their welfare recipients an increase.

★ ★ ★

Among the more than 25 million total Social Security beneficiaries, officials said, are 12.4 million retired workers, including 2.1 million receiving the minimum payment of $55 a month, and 1.3 million disabled workers, including 53,000 receiving the minimum.

★ ★ ★

Widows and widowers number 2.9 million and the remainder is made up of children and other dependents.

3 Officers Shot in LA

Police Ring Panther HQ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Black Panthers barricaded their main headquarters and exchanged gunfire with police today. Three officers were wounded as a task force of 300 surrounded headquarters.

About three hours after the pre-dawn police raid started officers issued an ultimatum: Come out with your hands up or we'll come in.

★ ★ ★

The deadline passed with only one man following the instructions.

Grenades were tossed at police about 20 minutes after the surrender deadline.

'4 OTHERS INSIDE'

Police said they understood at least four others were inside the building, a former store located across from the street from Wrigley Field, the former baseball park. The area is mostly Negro.

Police made no immediate move on the building.

Sgt. Dan Cook, a police spokesman, said the pre-dawn raids were not connected with recent Black Panther confrontations with police in other areas around the nation.

He said simultaneous raids were ordered to serve warrants on two persons after authorities received information machine guns and other weapons were stored at the main headquarters —located about four miles from downtown Los Angeles — and two other Panter-occupied locations.

BUILDINGS 'SECURED'

Police described the two other buildings as "secured."

The wounded officers were in the task force around the main headquarters.

Cook said he was not sure what type of grenades were tossed at police.

He said the building was sandbagged at doors and windows. Those inside, he said, appeared to be equipped with gas masks since tear gas had no effect. They also were reports that they had bullet-proof vests, Cook added.

★ ★ ★

Cook said officers entered the two other Panther buildings without shots being fired.

Officers carried warrents for the arrests of Paul Rede and Elmer G. Pratt charging assault with a deadly weapon against a police officer in connection with an incident a week ago.

★ ★ ★

A 16-square block section was cordoned off. Neighborhood residents, roused from their homes by gunfire, stood in the streets.

President Goes on TV Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon faces a barrage of questions at his televised news conference tonight.

Much has happened since Nixon's last news conference Sept. 26 to spark tonight's questions — reports of the alleged massacre in Vietnam, the defeat of Judge Clement Haynsworth's Supreme Court nomination and general balkiness of Congress, the start of U.S.-Soviet arms control talks, continued inflation, the two latest antiwar demonstrations, Henry Cabot Lodge's resignation as chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of the news media.

★ ★ ★

The President spent the last part of his weekend at his Camp David lodge in the Maryland mountains preparing for the 9 p.m. EST news conference, with only a few aides present.

The White House said only that Nixon would have no opening remarks and would go straight into the questioning.

WILL BE CARRIED LIVE

The session will be carried live by the major television and radio networks.

CBS said it plans several minutes of summation and analysis by Eric Sevareid and Roger Mudd after the conference.

NBC said John Chancellor will offer a brief summary before the network returns to regular programming.

ABC said it will have a brief summary if the news conference ends before 9:30 p.m., to fill out the half-hour. If it runs more than a half-hour, the network will go directly to regular programming.

Germany, Russia Start 'Thaw' Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union and West Germany today opened talks on a nonaggression pact, marking a new phase in East-West relations.

West German diplomatic sources said the negotiations were the most important between the two nations since the late Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to Moscow in 1955 to open diplomatic relations with the Kremlin.

★ ★ ★

West German Ambassador Helmut Allardt arrived at the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs to begin the talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The discussions were considered to be preliminary formalities prior to detailed negotiations later.

The talks, signaling a thaw in the 20-year-old East-West freeze in Central Europe, were expeceed to open the way to bilateral negotiations between West Germany and other East European nations.

The Bonn government had proposed the talks to Moscow Nov. 8 as part of its diplomatic campaign to bring about an improvement in relations with Communist East Europe.

The speed with which the Kremlin accepted the West German proposal surprised West German diplomats in Moscow, diplomatic sources said. The earliest they had expected Soviet acceptance was in early January.

The Soviet move came only three days after the seven Warsaw Pact nations held a Moscow summit meeting and issued a vaguely worded communique authorizing contacts between pact nations and any European country, including West Germany.

Western diplomats interpreted the communique as meaning the Soviets have dropped their 20-year-old policy that West Germany must formally recognize East Germany before other pact nations can negotiate with Bonn.

Diplomatic sources said the Moscow talks with West Germany are almost certain to be followed by similar discussion in Warsaw. Brandt already has announced his government would like to establish diplomatic relations with Poland.

Some Snow Likely Through the Night

The weatherman has a case of the Monday morning blahs as the sunshine hides behind banks of dark snow clouds. The clouds are expected to dump occasional snow showers on the Oakland County area by afternoon and through the night.

No heavy accumulation is anticipated.

★ ★ ★

Winds are southwest to west at 15-25 miles per hour. Skies are expected to remain partly cloudy tomorrow as temperatures nose lower.

Tonight's low will range between 25-30 degrees with tomorrow's high in the low 30s.

Fund Drive for Library Plan Has College Kids Scurrying

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — The campus of Eastern Menonite College was in turmoil for the third day in a row today.

Coeds poised for invasion of the home economics building and a final assault on their goal of baking hundreds of pies, cakes and cookies by nightfall.

Male students girded for penetration of the town and countyside to chop wood, wash cars, clean up yards, do odd repairs, and knock on doors for donations.

It all began Friday when college trustees announced they were $110,000 short of the $400,000 needed to approve plans for a new $1.5-million college library. Tonight was the deadline the trustees had set for the fund-raising.

WORD WAS OUT

By early Saturday, the word was out and so were the students, all 950 of them, all over town.

One man paid a student $1,000 for chopping wood. Several others had their cars washed and waxed for $200.

Coeds became housemaids. Male students became butlers and yardmen. A few even hired out as singing messengers.

By 1 a.m. today, the drive had netted $54,000, a college spokesman said.

"I know some students who have borrowed as much as $500 just to give to the fund drive," said Everette Ressler, a student coordinator for the effort.

Ressler said efforts would be redoubled today and would be capped with a three-hour auction on campus tonight. That's when all those pies, cakes and cookies, as well as hundreds of items donated by students and townsfolk, will go on the block.

Waterford Tax Bill No Yule Treat

By DICK ROBINSON

The average Waterford Township taxpayer is going to pay $96 more in 1969 taxes than in 1968.

This pre-Christmas tax message — the 1969 township tax bill being mailed today — will show a 25 per cent increase over, 1968, according to township officials.

Township, county and school taxes and special assessments are included in the bill.

Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson blames the large tax hike on "inflation in real-estate values."

Township Treasurer Mrs. L. Catherine Wolters cites a reason: the township isn't assessing property at half its value in computing taxes, as required by state law.

$24.17 HIGHER

This year's property tax bill is figured at the rate of $121.14 per $1,000 of township assessed valuation — $24.17 higher per $1,000 than last year, says Mrs. Wolters.

In addition, some residents may have street lighting assessments ranging from $2.25 to $15 or other special assessments.

The average Waterford taxpayer will get a bill of $484.56 — up $96.68 over a year ago, Mrs. Wolters said. That's based on $4,000 assessed valuation, $10,400 state equalized valuation (SEV) and $20,800 market value.

Waterford Township assessors place a valuation on each piece of property, Johnson explains.

PROCESS EXPLAINED

State equalized valuation is half of market value. Because the township isn't assessing at half of market value, SEV is figured by multiplying assessed valuation by the township's equalization factor of 2.63.

"Let's face it, our tax rate (46 mills) is high," says Mrs. Wolters.

Some observers claim that a high equalizing factor — Waterford has the third highest among all cities and townships in the county — magnifies injustices in the assessment of property. Johnson thinks this is true.

"We can't keep our assessed values current with the economy," Johnson said.

YEARLY EVALUATION

Most cities and townships are working towards the goal of reassessing each property each year. This would make assessments equal to SEV for an equalizing factor of 1.

"We have only four assessors and could use 12 or 15," the supervisor says. "So we can't reassess all property each year. "It would take at least $200,000 to hire an outside appraiser to reassess all of our 40,000 parcels of land."

★ ★ ★

Injustices come about when property is not frequently assessed, Johnson acknowledged.

Take two pieces of comparable property today. The one that hasn't been assessed in a long time will be paying less taxes than the one newly assessed.

"I've lived in my house for 35 years," comments Johnson. "I still have the same assessment."

Land prices in Waterford have about doubled in the past 10 years, estimates Donald White, a local real estate broker. Prices are now leveling off because of tight money.

Commercial land has been going for an average of $1,500 to $1,800 per acre and residential property for a high of $2,000 to $2,500 per acre, according to White. Gasoline firms are buying corner lots for retail outlets for about $120,000.

★ ★ ★

"There's a vacant lot off of Walton Boulevard that sold for $3,000," Johnson said. "Then within two to three months it was sold for $4,500 and then $6,000."

★ ★ ★

Waterford is expected to collect $9.3 million in 1969 taxes, Mrs. Wolters

Here's a breakdown of some typical 1969 Waterford Township tax bills:

| Assessed Valuation | State Equalized Valuation (factor) | County Tax | Twp. Tax | School Tax | 1969 Total | Incr. Over '68 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| $1,000 | $ 2,263 | $ 23.36 | $11.85 | $ 85.93 | $121.14 | +$ 24.17 |
| | (2.63) | (19%) | (10%) | (71%) | | |
| $3,000 | $ 7,890 | $ 70.08 | $35.55 | $257.79 | $363.42 | +$ 72.51 |
| $4,000 | $10,400 | $ 93.44 | $47.40 | $343.72 | $484.56 | +$ 96.68 |

Troop-Cut Hint Stipulates No Word Tonight

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird hinted after a meeting with American peace negotiators today that President Nixon would announce a further reduction of 40,000 or more troops in Vietnam before year's end.

At the same time the visiting defense chief said he did not expect such an announcement in Nixon's news conference tonight.

★ ★ ★

Vietcong deputy spokesman Lyn Van Sau told a news conference today the Vietcong would order their troops to cease firing on Australian forces if Australia announced its decision to withdraw from the Vietnam War.

Two days ago the Vietcong said they would stop attacking departing Filipino troops if they lived up to certain conditions.

U.S. WITHDRAWAL

The spokesman said any American effort to withdraw its troops would require negotiations before there is any cease-fire.

Laird and Secretary of State William P. Rogers conferred with America's peace negotiators about the deadlocked talks this morning.

Following the meeting, Laird said "Vietnamization still provides the best and quickest route to achieve our objective" of disengaging U.S. troops and safeguarding the right of the South Vietnamese people to self-determination.

At a news conference held at the U.S. Embassy, Laird said he would not anticipate the announcement of a further troop reduction by Nixon tonight.

VIETNAMIZATION SUCCESS

The defense secretary was then asked whether Vietnamization was not going as well as Nixon once thought, and whether this had had any effect on the President's publicly expressed hope that the United States would be able to announce the withdrawal of 100,000 troops before the end of this year.

On the contrary, Laid said, the strength of the Vietnamese government forces "has increased at a rate that is somewhat ahead of schedule," thereby improving their capability to take over more combat responsibility from U.S. troops.

★ ★ ★

"In answering that question (about troop reduction announcements), I merely meant to indicate that I did not anticipate any further reduction announcement being made today. I did not want to give you the impression that further announcements would not be made this year," Laird told newsmen.

Nixon Urged to Set Up Panel to Probe My Lai 'Massacre'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has been urged by two influential Democrats to appoint an independent fact-finding panel to investigate the alleged massacre of civilians by U.S. soldiers at the South Vietnamese village of My Lai.

The proposals came separately yesterday from Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Stennis said the panel should be composed of persons "outside the government and outside the military" and should survey the March 1968 incident, determine the facts and make a special report to the President.

Humphrey told newsmen the panel should be similar to the Warren Commission, which probed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The former vice president said in Los Angeles "enough has been said that there needs to be an examination."

NO CONGRESSIONAL PROBE

Stennis said the special panel's probe could be undertaken while trials of the accused are under way.

But the senator spoke against a full-scale congressional investigation, saying "if we in the Congress go to holding a hearing now and before that trial is over, it will go off in different directions, be highly confused and totally unfair to the defendants."

★ ★ ★

Stennis spoke on the ABC interview program "Issues and Answers."

First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon leader in the company which led the assault on My Lai, faces a court martial on charges of killing 109 Vietnamese civilians. A staff sergeant also is charged with assault to commit murder.

IMPACT ON SOCIETY

Stennis said the slayings, if true, are shocking and "not within the Army's training or our policy, of course." Humphrey said the special probe is needed to determine My Lai's impact on "the whole moral structure of our society."

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg and a group of jurists Thursday urged Nixon to appoint such a commission. But they suggested the probe go beyond My Lai to the entire area of American conduct in Vietnam.

The Army is investigating the My Lai charges and a special panel headed by Lt. Gen. William Peers is holding closed hearings to determine whether there was a cover-up of the incident by military officials in Vietnam.

The panel summoned two more witnesses for today. The Army identified them as Maj. Frederick W. Watke, who was a member of the 123rd Aviation Battalion, which provided assault helicopters to the Americal Division; and Capt. Dennis H. Johnson, who at the time of the My Lai incident was an intelligence officer attached to the company involved.

HOW TO TRY SOLDIERS

Secretary of the Army Stanley J. Resor also said yesterday the Army's general counsel is studying two possible ways of trying soldiers who were at My Lai—one by military commission, the other by a general court-martial.

Resor appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press," along with Navy Secretary John H. Chaffee.

★ ★ ★

In Saigon, it was disclosed Sunday the Army has impounded daily operational records of the Americal Division company involved in the alleged massacre.

5 in Family Bound, Gagged

Bandits Rob City Home

What started out as a great day, trimming the Christmas tree, ended on a sour note last night for Freeman Shuart and his family as they were tied up and robbed in their home by four bold bandits.

The robbers, all armed and wearing ski masks, took over the Shuart home at 527 Brooks after forcing their way in by breaking windows at the front and rear of the house about 9:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

"They knew exactly what they wanted," said Shuart, 39, explaining that the only things taken were a $1,500 coin collection and about $80 in cash. "None of the gifts under the tree or in an upstairs bedroom were touched."

Shuart's wife Geraldine, 35, described the robbers as "sort of considerate." When they tied us up they wanted to know if any of us had heart trouble or hardening of the arteries because they didn't want to hurt us."

Shuart, a real estate salesman, said he was cleaning up water that had leaked into the basement when one of the gunmen broke a window and "poked in a rifle and told me to sit still."

The rest of the family, including three children, Cynthia, 14, John, 12, and Bobby, 4, were in bed when another robber ran upstairs and told Mrs. Shuart, "Don't get excited. No one will get hurt."

★ ★ ★

"Bobby, slept through the whole thing even though they tied him and taped his mouth," said Mrs. Shuart.

Mrs. Shuart and the two oldest children then were herded to the basement where all were bound and gagged. Shuart was able to free himself about 15 minutes after the four left in his 1967 white Pontiac Catalina station wagon. He called police from his brother's home next door.

Holmes: Draft Likely to Hit All State 1-A's

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's Selective Service director today said he expects all Michigan men with a 1-A draft classification to be drafted next year, even if they received a high number in last week's draft lottery.

"I have no doubt men with the number 366 will be drafted," Col. Arthur A. Holmes told a news conference he called to explain the new lottery system.

Holmes said Selective Service officials "have been forced to dip into the 19-year-old category each year since 1964 to meet our manpower quotas."

He said 19-year-olds have been drafted only after all older persons with 1-A classifications have been drafted.

NOT AVAILABLE

"We won't have those 19-year-olds available to us next year because they won't be eligible until Jan. 1, 1971," he said.

"There's been so much of a play-up of this 'get a high number and you're out,'" he said. "If the calls stay up I can't see but what we're going to have to draft every man who's eligible to be drafted."

★ ★ ★

He said if draft calls drop in future years then he would expect persons drawing high numbers to not be drafted.

But, he said, he has been told some 260,000 men will be drafted in 1970—about the same as have been drafted each of the past few years.

Holmes said most of the phone calls his office has received since the holding of the lottery came from young men with high numbers who want to get rid of student deferments or get out of National Guard commitments.

"Individuals who feel they can manipulate the draft this way are going to be shocked," he said. "My advice to them is that each man do as he did before the lottery."

The five firemen were treated for cuts, strains or burns and released.

Chinese Treated Two Yanks Well

HONG KONG (AP) — Two Americans released yesterday after 9½ months as prisoners in Communist China said they generally well treated and had to sign "repentance" statements before they were released.

Simeon Baldwin, a 56-year-old Hong Kong businessman, and 46-year-old Mrs. Bessie Hop Donald were seized last Feb. 16 when their yacht strayed into Chinese waters while on a pleasure cruise with several other yachts to Portuguese Macao.

★ ★ ★

The 13 others — all non-Americans — were released April 3.

Baldwin and Mrs. Donald were initially detained at a point about 10 miles from Macao, then were moved to two communes in the vicinity of Canton. They were separated the entire time.

Both said their Chinese captors gave them adequate clothing and plenty of cigarettes.

"Doctors were always available, even for a headache," Mrs. Donald told a news conference Sunday. "It was almost embarrasing."

It's a Familiar Voice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy was smoothly narrating Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" at a Christmas concert of the Washington National Symphony yesterday when a voice from the audience interrupted her.

"Hi, Mommy," yelled out her 2-year-old son, Patrick, several times after recognizing his mother on stage.

Press Corrects Error on Vote

In Saturday's Pontiac Press, the three state senators from this area were reported as voting Friday for a measure containing parochiaid.

★ ★ ★

Actually the three — Republicans Robert J. Huber of Troy, L. Harvey Lodge of Waterford Township and George W. Kuhn of West Bloomfield Township — voted to reconsider a previous Senate vote approving the school-aid measure containing parochiaid. This reconsideration attempt was defeated, 20-14, sending the bill to the House.

★ ★ ★

In Friday's voting, a vote for reconsideration, in effect, was a vote against the school-aid bill which provided for parochiaid.

New County Dem Organization Is Born

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

A new Democratic organization was born in Oakland County Saturday, followed by a 2½-hour political family squabble.

A constitution and bylaws were adopted in the first 1½ hours of the Oakland County Democratic Convention replacing the "Oakland County Democratic Committee" organization with the term, "Oakland County Democratic party."

★ ★ ★

Nineteenth District Cochairman Aldo Vagnozzi explained the reason for the change: "It's to broaden our base of activity in the county, to involve more people in the decision-making process."

County Democratic Chairman George Googasian explained that the new "party" would give anyone who purchased a membership a vote to the policy matters of the organization.

MEMBERS ELIGIBLE

"Previously, only officers and elected precinct delegates voted on official business," Googasian said. "Now, anyone who buys a membership (nominal dues payments that vary from year to year) can vote on resolutions and policy at monthly meetings."

★ ★ ★

Googasian said, however, that nonelected "party" members could not vote on statuatory matters such as decisions by the executive board.

Other business to come before the convention, held at Pontiac Northern High School, was advisory consideration of the controversial report of the Michigan Democratic Party Political Reform State Convention in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Democrats meeting by congressional district and county convention throughout this month are asked to take advisory votes on the Political Reform report in preparation for vote on acceptance next month at the Democratic State Convention in Detroit.

UAW SPEAKS OUT

The UAW, a strong segment of the Oakland Democrats, opposed the presidential primary proposal of the Political Reform report and union members spoke out individually against the question.

★ ★ ★

The many arguments and questions forced the convention to compromise on the primary issue and bypass voting on the Political Reform Commission's proposal altogether.

★ ★ ★

The UAW faction contended that presidential primaries should be held on the same day in every state and that a primary in Michigan would not work toward that goal.

The compromise—devised by the prestate convention study committee headed by Tom Gray of Troy and Verne Leopold of Huntington Woods—called for state voters to select by ballot their candidate choice and for the Democratic party State Convention to elect delegates to the national convention based on the people's vote.

Squeaker Seen on OEO

Rumsfeld said yesterday that President Nixon fully supports him in opposing efforts to turn major responsibility for the program to the states. But he said he didn't know if the administration could come up with the necessary votes.

Backs Up Class Lessons

Teacher's Helper: Tape

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Roosevelt school pupils in the cassette program "feel real important when they put on headsets — they don't treat them as a toy," explains principal William Floto.

The teachers who use the innovative program — teaching by tape recorder to "reinforce and supplement their instruction" — are equally enthusiastic.

"I'm completely sold on this approach for my age group," says Mrs. Richard Fell, third grade teacher. "We're using the tapes as reinforcement and a remedial thing.

"I also let advanced students study more difficult lessons while I'm teaching the rest of the class — as an enrichment program," she added.

Youngsters in kindergarten and grades 1 and 2 also use tapes to reinforce such areas of instruction as reading. The tapes, supplied for a fee by book companies, offer back-up instruction in subjects ranging from listening properly to various vowel sounds.

Ten youngsters can hook up to each cassette.

The classroom visitor can find one child talking back, answering the speaker's question unconsciously outloud, and another tapping his fingers on the table in time with the background music. All industriously answer questions on worksheets supplied with the tapes.

★ ★ ★

"We've discovered that the moment we put headsets on the child we have captured his attention," said Floto.

Instructors discovered that confusion is still possible after the teacher makes a presentation — especially if the child's mind is temporarily wandering — but the reinforcement captures the lesson, according to Floto.

STARTED LAST YEAR

Mrs. Victoria Carr, a first-grade teacher, explained that she and another instructor decided last year that their lessons needed stronger reinforcement. They began making their own tapes but then discovered that many book companies already make tapes. The school began ordering tapes.

★ ★ ★

"The tapes are a good way to keep up with changing times," noted Floto.

Brandon School Vote Due

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Voters in the Brandon School District will go to the polls Wednesday to decide the fate of a $3.7 million bond issue for the second time.

The school board's building bond proposal had been defeated in June on a 410-410 tie vote.

Board and administration officials maintain the proposal will not cost property owners any additional taxes.

They say the 8.27 mills the district allocates for debt reduction would furnish the revenue necessary to finance the bond issue, which calls for a new high school and additions and renovations to elementary buildings.

PLAN CUTBACK

Space plans for the new high school have been reduced by 20,000 square feet since June. Projected cost of the high school is $2,722,000.

School Supt. Clyde Fischer said it was necessary to reduce the high school size due to the sharp rise of construction costs over the last six months. He said the reduction was necessary to keep the high school proposal at the same cost as in June.

★ ★ ★

Fischer noted that the one vote that would have put the election over in June cost the residents approximately $440,000.

Fischer said the district had been levying 12 mills for three previous bond issues. He said the new rate would pay for the last three millage elections plus the new one.

2 KEY FACTORS

David Blomquist, assistant superintendent of schools for business affairs, said recent legislation authorizing school districts to borrow more from the state's building and loan fund plus the district's newly voted 6.8 mill incease has created the feasibility of financing the bond issue proposal at no extra cost to the taxpayer.

He added that the possibility of new school construction without extra taxes depends on the continuation of existing operating levies for three years and no changes in state legislation.

★ ★ ★

Other projects in the bond proposal include a classroom addition to Bell Ann Elementary school; conversion of the multipurpose room at Bell Ann into a learning resource cener and construction of a new multipurpose room; remodeling of the middle school at the existing high school building, renovation of the Howard T. Bert Elementary School and new equipment for Bell Ann, Bert and the high school.

Plans for a new administration building and bus wash rack were eliminated.

Fischer said if the bond issue passes, the board probably will have difficulty selling the bonds because of the current six per cent limit. Earliest construction could begin in September, he said.

The superintendent said the need for the new high school is becoming increasingly critical. He forecast that the present high school no longer will be able to serve the district's student population within two or three years.

Passage of the bond issue, he explained, would provide the high school in time to meet the districts expanding needs.

Raid Brings Arrest of 280 Men, Four Alleged Strippers

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A total of 280 men and four alleged strippers were arrested in a gambling raid on a sportsman's club last night.

Twenty Pontiac State Police troopers, five Liquor Control Commission officers and an Oakland County assistant prosecutor surrounded the Multi Lakes Conservation Association Inc., 3860 Newton, at 6:20 p.m. yesterday, police said.

Several men escaped arrest on disorderly persons charges, according to Detective Max Waterbury.

He said one man tried to escape by diving through a window. He was captured unhurt.

WITHIN 10 DAYS

All of those arrested were released on their own recognizance for a trial before a Walled Lake District Court judge within 10 days, Waterbury said.

"There was a crowd of more than 400 men there," Waterbury said. "They were coming and going after the girlie show."

He said there was dice and card gambling going on at the club, which has about 1,000 members.

A charge against the club and its president, Dan Young, may be made today, Waterbury said. In addition, the club's liquor license was violated, he said.

Snow Leopard—A Shy Fellow

New Leopard at Detroit Zoo 'Loses' Spots

ROYAL OAK — The Book of Jeremiah asks if a leopard can change its spots. The Detroit Zoo has one that can and does.

Pound for pound, one of the most ferocious animals in captivity, a Russian snow leopard is the newest addition to the zoo, at 8450 Ten Mile.

The 85-pound, 3-year-old male leopard was captured recently in the Ural Mountains in western Russia and bought by the zoo for $5,000. A female snow leopard is expected in a couple months.

The leopard is cream colored with circular black rings during warmer months; but, when winter comes, the spots disappear so he can blend into the snow background.

★ ★ ★

An "endangered" animal, according to William Austin, the zoo's education curator, there are less than 1,000 snow leopards still alive in the world.

As yet unnamed, the leopard will have to go through a committee to get some identity.

He'll never fully adjust to captivity, Austin said, but he will become more manageable.

American Bombers Attack N. Viet Positions, Killing 52

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese base camps and gun position near the Bu Dop Special Forces camp today and the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported killing 52 of the enemy in the region.

About 35 of the big bombers dropped more than 1,000 tons of explosives 4½ miles northeast of Bu Dop and within two miles of the Cambodian border.

The camp, 88 miles north of Saigon, has been the target of sporadic shelling for more than a month. Five rockets hit the camp's airstrip Sunday, killing six Vietnamese and wounding 12 as they waited for helicopters. "Light" American casualties also were reported.

Despite the shelling, no major ground attack has been made on the camp. U.S. officers maintain that heavy B52 raids and constant air and ground reconnaissance by the 1st AirCav have prevented the North Vietnamese from massing for such an attack.

The U.S. Command said the air cavalrymen battled the North Vietnamese in half a dozen clashes Sunday, supported by rocket-firing helicopter gunships and U.S. fighter-bombers. Along with the 52 North Vietnamese reported killed, two Americans were killed and 12 wounded.

The U.S. Command reported 23 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night. It said the only American casualties were at the headquarters of the 1st Infantry Division's 1st Brigade, 42 miles northwest of Saigon. A spokesman said some Americans were wounded but none was killed.

New Pulitzer to Be Offered

Prize for Criticism or Commentary Set

NEW YORK (AP) — A new Pulitzer prize for criticism or commentary in American newspapers has been announced by Columbia University.

Andrew W. Cordier, the university president, said Sunday the new prize will be awarded next year for the first time.

★ ★ ★

The prize with a certificate and a $1,000 cash award for the winner, will be the 10th prize in the field of journalism.

The prizes are awarded annually by the trustees of Columbia University, acting on recommendations of the Advisory Board on the Pulitzer Prizes.

With the exception of editorials, all forms of critical writing, columns on public affairs and other forms of commentary will be eligible, Cordier said.

The deadline for submitting material for consideration in all journalism categories is before Feb. 1, 1970, the university said.

★ ★ ★

Awards in other journalism categories are a gold medal for public service by newspapers, four prizes for reporting at local, national and international levels, two for photography, and one each for cartooning and editorials.

Defense Takes Over in Chicago 7 Trial

CHICAGO (AP) — The defense takes over today in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring to cross state lines to incite rioting during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Defense Attorney William Kunstler said the first move would be to ask U.S. Dist. Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman for a directed verdict of acquittal.

★ ★ ★

The defense claims the government failed to prove that the defendants came into Illinois with the intention of fomenting violence.

During the prosecution's case—which began Sept. 24 and brought in 54 witnesses—the defense regularly requested mistrials but Judge Hoffman rejected the motions.

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Defense attorneys also have argued that the law under which the seven are charged—an amendment to the 1968 Civil Rights Act—is unconstitutional. They contend the law violates the defendants' First Amendment rights of free speech and peaceful assembly.

Early in the trial, the defense mentioned former President Lyndon Johnson, former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Chicago Mayor Richard Daley as possible witnesses.

★ ★ ★

The trial lost one defendant when Judge Hoffman declared a mistrial for Bobby G. Seale, Black Panther party chairman. Seale, who at one point was gagged and tied after repeatedly demanding the right to carry out his own defense, was sentenced to four years in prison for contempt of court. His attorney says he will appeal.

★ ★ ★

The prolonged trial is one of the most expensive ever held in Chicago. Sequestering the jury of 10 women and 2 men in a downtown hotel is costing $5,000 a week. The transcript of the trial is already nearly 10,000 pages long.

Congressman Wiggins Tired of Being Among Last

Z-to-A Roll Urged in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman down in the Ws whose dinners get cold and whose planes leave without him wants the House to reverse the alphabetical sequence of roll call votes every other year.

That way, Zwach would vote first, Abbitt last — and Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., promoter of the plan, 19th instead of 417th.

★ ★ ★

Reaction of his House colleagues to the plan ranged from "ahh" to "z-z-zzz."

"Surely, you're not serious," one congressman wrote. But the 42-year-old Wiggins, now in his second term, insists he's dead serious.

Wiggins said he was tired of missing planes while the Abbitts, Abernethys and Adairs have voted and gone to dinner. It takes about 30 minutes to call the 435 names on the roll.

ZWACH AGREES

Rep. John Zwach, R-Minn., tail-ender in the roll call, will join Wiggins in sponsoring the resolution.

"I think it would bring justice to the whole thing," he said. "Just because your name is last in the alphabet is no reason you should always be called last. Turn-around would be fair play."

★ ★ ★

"After many years at the end of the line," said Roger H. Zion, R-Ind., "it would be a refreshing change to be recognized first."

"From a practical point of view, it would help us to make evening commitments which otherwise would be impossible while waiting for our names to be called," he said.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC

But Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., last man on the roll for years until Zwach came along, isn't enthusiastic.

"I got along for 21 years near the end of the list. I don't see any need for a change."

★ ★ ★

One man caught in the middle, Rep. Edward J. Patten, D-N.J., suggested a lottery to set the order. "This might give me a chance to get out of the middle. All my life I've been in the middle of roll calls" he said.

The No. 3 man on the roll, Rep. E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., said he wouldn't object to a change, but added: "Knowing the House, I'd be surprised if the resolution passes."

Watkins Abbitt, D-Va., longtime front-ender on the House list, lined up against Wiggins.

"It's set up right and proper now and I hope it will continue this way," Abbitt said.

"We're used to the way it is now and a change might confuse things."

School Voters Pass Test

We commend the electorate of the Utica school district on their approval of a $29.6 million bond proposal that will provide the system with the six new elementary buildings, two senior high buildings, and funds for additions and renovations to other buildings and facilities. It will also provide a reserve for future site acquisition.

In the face of a dismaying number of school bond and tax-millage-increase proposals that have been thumbed down by voters, the nearly 3-to-1 affirmative vote in Utica stands as a tribute to the community's sense of responsibility for proper education for its children.

Significantly, the amount of the bonding proposal was reportedly the second largest ever passed in Michigan, exceeded only by a $60-million issue passed in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

A sidelight to the election outcome was that the 38-year-old Utica district superintendent of schools has never seen a school election defeat during his four-year tenure.

Utica has set a fine example of willingness to meet the costs of present-day education that might well be emulated by numerous other school districts.

Nervy Bus Rider Aids Driver

At a time when public indifference to imperiled human beings is common, it is a pleasure to chronicle the forthright action taken by a Detroit woman who went to the aid of a bus driver under attack. Her action stands in sharp contrast to that of a dozen motorists who recently passed the scene where a 70-year-old woman was being beaten by a gang of teen-age purse-snatchers, and subsequently died of injuries inflicted.

★ ★ ★

As a score of other riders cowered at the rear of the bus, 71-year-old Mrs. Bernice Kuliszko ran to the front and physically engaged the assailant. After taking a couple of punches, the courageous woman resorted to one of her sex's most potent weapons—a scream—which she vented out a window. The ruffian thereupon panicked and fled the bus.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. KULISZKO was awarded a citation of commendation by the bus company for her courage and sense of civic responsibility.

Arms Talks Off to Good Start

If nations were given marks for diplomatic good behavior, both the United States and Soviet Union would be taking home A's for their performances at the opening of the strategic arms limitation talks.

For a refreshing change, a major international conference has begun without prolonged wrangling over the shape of the table, who sits where and whose order of business takes precedence.

★ ★ ★

Not that the cordiality in Helsinki is to be taken as a sign that these negotiations, toward which the world's two superpowers have been maneuvering for years, will be smooth or agreement rapid.

These are only talks on talks as yet, laying out an agenda and ground rules for the serious bargaining to begin after the first of the year.

This could well go on for years, with each side supercautiously weighing every move toward the goal—a halt to the economically ruinous nuclear arms race—against the dangers of a potentially disastrous surrender of national security.

★ ★ ★

But at least in getting down to their deadly serious business, the American and Soviet delegations have sensibly dispensed with the insults and polemics which have been such a dreary fixture of East-West confrontations for a quarter of a century.

Bruce Biossat

Nixon Problem: Getting GIs Home

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon clings seriously to the prospect of a negotiated settlement with Hanoi because it is probably the only way of getting all U.S. forces—not just ground combat troops—out of Vietnam within the next few years.

His withdrawal timetable concerns only ground combat units and possibly a modest number of backup elements.

Assuming that the President's timetable foresees a ground combat cutoff point somewhere between the end of 1970 and April, 1971, it leaves out the later withdrawal of our air-sea support forces and perhaps 200,000 noncombat troops intended, for a time, to back up the South Vietnamese armies.

Within the last few weeks, two high administration officials have deliberately fended off newsmen's questions on how and when these remaining forces could be removed from Vietnam. There is more than a faint suspicion that, at this moment, the President does not have a suitable answer.

The potential magnitude of the problem, in terms of numbers and time, was indicated the other day by Dean Acheson, secretary of state under President Truman. Said he:

★ ★ ★

"If anyone had said to me that the United States, nearly 20 years after the Korean war began, would still have 50,000 troops in Korea, I'd have said he was crazy."

Acheson suggested we might have a force of at least comparable size in South Vietnam for 10 years.

It is this issue which sustains the President's interest in a negotiated settlement. Only such an agreement — involving Hanoi, Saigon and the Vietcong in some plan for supervised elections looking toward some kind of coalition government — could provide us with a widely acceptable excuse for the early withdrawal of all our forces.

New poll findings show Americans more than 3 to 1 opposed to quick withdrawal of all U.S. forces. Not unfairly, high U.S. officials argue that this indicates quite general support for Nixon's idea that withdrawal must be staged in a way that allows South Vietnam full chance to achieve stability and at least relative independence.

★ ★ ★

Once withdrawal of our combat troops is complete and our prospective casualties cut to a very low figure, the nation's patience with the process of stabilizing South Vietnam might be sustained a long time. A professional and largely volunteer army might bear the burden of our continuing noncombat assistance.

Why, then, retain any faith in the Paris talks and the presumably related prospect of faster withdrawal of all our units?

That faith, as voiced today by a handful of key U.S. officials, sounds almost mystical, like the grossest sort of wishful thinking. One man suggests, indeed, that Hanoi may display "maximum and implacable ferocity" in its attitude until just before it is ready to settle at Paris.

The reasons for hoping must lie in this range: Fear of the uncertain but probably heavy budgetary drain that would accompany a long-sustained, though noncombat, U.S. presence in Vietnam; and the serious inconsistency of that perhaps high (100,000-man) presence with Nixon's new doctrine of a lowered American profile all around the globe.

Outcry on Agnew Speech Ironic

The searcher after ironies can offer a small, dry smile to those now shouting "censorship" and "intimidation" over Vice President Agnew's speech on network television. Many days have passed since he delivered it, but more tears are still flowing over his words at Washington cocktail parties than scotch or gin.

De TOLEDANO

Under the First Amendment, any newspaper can color the news and plow its ideological furrow as it wishes. But the outcries from the liberals over Mr. Agnew's suggestion that network radio and television is licensed and therefore subject to rules of fairness to all the citizenry is truly ludicrous.

★ ★ S

For years they have been applauding efforts of other liberals to have the Federal Communications Commission revoke the licenses of stations in the South because they are purportedly editorializing in their news coverage.

ANY GROUP

Any group of people, if they have the will and the money, can start a newspaper.

When I was a boy, New York City supported 14 papers, but an erosion of a free press has occurred in that metropolitan area of some 10 million with all but three going out of business.

★ ★ ★

But to start a television station is close to impossible if one wants the VHF channels now preempted by the networks.

There are just so many VHF channels, and just so many hours in the day, and to say that the networks have a God-given right to them is, on the face of it, wrong.

DUTY OF FCC

It is the duty of the FCC to see that those who have fastened on TV channels run their businesses as a public trust.

It is the duty of the FCC, as well, to make sure that one ideology and one small cabal does not dominate what is, after all, public property.

This is what Agnew was saying — and if the network executives took time out to wipe away the crocodile tears that blind them, they would have to agree that the vice president had a real point.

The networks, however, have had it their way for so long that they respond with outrage and indignation whenever what they consider their prerogatives are questioned.

Barbaric Ugulap Tribe Has a Lottery to Learn

One of the strangest customs of the Ugulap savages is the drawing held each fall by the High Priests of Draff—the deity who the superstitious natives believe protects them from a vague evil known only as "the Red Terror."

HOPPE

Weeks before the drawing, the priests pass among the villages selling tickets on the lottery. The only natives eligible to purchase tickets are young men who have reached the mystical age of 18½.

Amid an air of gay expectancy, a blindfolded priest reaches into a giant coconut shell to draw forth the names of the lucky winners.

As each name is announced, the fortunate young savage leaps for joy. He is the envy of all. The winners are then inducted into the service of Draff.

NOTHING TOO GOOD

From that point on, nothing is too good for the winners. They are feted with the best food, the finest native brews and the fairest maidens.

After two years, the sated and weary youths are garbed in special uniforms and brought before the priests.

★ ★ ★

"We have given you the highest honors, the greatest glory and the most generous rewards that lie in the power of a grateful nation to bestow," says the High Priest. At this, the Ugulaps cheer and crowd around the youths.

Then they kill them.

CONVERT SYSTEM

Understandably, our military adviser to the Ugulaps, Col. Gritley Grommet, hopes to convert this barbaric practice into a fair and civilized system of military conscription based on the U.S. model.

"Is your system fun?" inquired the High Priest.

★ ★ ★

"Well, not exactly," said Col. Grommet.

"Are the winners joyful and the losers unhappy?" asked the High Priest.

"It's more the other way around," said Col. Grommet.

★ ★ ★

"Are those to be sacrificed given every honor in the power of a grateful nation to bestow?" asked the High Priest.

"Oh, yes," said Col. Grommet. "After they're dead."

Since then the colonel has been known among the natives as "Coocoohead Grommet."

In 1949 the Chinese Nationalist Government, defeated by the Communists, moved its headquarters from the mainland to Formosa.

Writer Is Leaving Ranks of the 'Silent Majority'

I am part of the silent majority. My silence has indicated an approval of the Administration's handling of the Vietnam war. This I did not intend. I am writing letters to Washington, D.C. today. Why are we silent when young men are dying and being wounded year after year? The difference between a gradual cessation of involvement and an immediate pull-out is the number of lives and limbs lost.

★ ★ ★

We can't win. We have already "lost face." Let's pull out and take a long hard look at ourselves. Does a manned moon trip come before pollution control and after cancer research? Do we save the South Vietnamese or our minority groups first?

Recently and publicly, without offering a single supporting premise, a school teacher at Malkim had the temerity to accuse the Pontiac School Board of disrespect and "white institutional racism." The indiscretion, emotionalism and unsubstantiality of the Malkim schoolmarm's accusation showed that she suffers either from a deplorable ignorance of rudimentary logic or from a deep-seated prejudice.

'Oppose Cigarette Tax for School Funds'

We need tax reform. Property taxes are outdated and loopholes need closing. My last cigarette burned out in August 1967, yet within legal limits I'll fight the unfairness in Gov. Milliken's proposal which asks cigarette tax increases for school funds. No single segment of the buying public should be asked to pay extra. Education is for all.

★ ★ ★

Taxes should depend on what we earn and what we spend, not on what we already own or are paying off. If some family wishes or needs one large home rather than two or three cars, a boat, expensive vacations, etc., to each his own. Income taxes would cover people according to ability to pay.

Comments on Discontinuing Radio Program

Station WPON discontinued "Phone Opinion" for December, saying the Christmas season was not a good time for controversial issues to be aired. "Phone Opinion" afforded individuals the opportunity to ask questions about community affairs and to express views freely. The curtailment is a definite step backward, and a curtailment of free speech.

Two Discuss Comments on Time Changes

A recent Press column purporting to show that Michigan might be the only state with "Double Daylight Saving Time" was misleading. Every state immediately south of us has at least part of the state on fast time. Outside our own state, there was no area in the United States as far east as Pontiac that was not on Eastern Daylight Saving Time last summer. The preference for Daylight Saving Time is not due to a lack of comprehension of the time zone concept, as indicated, but is a result of the need for daylight to accomplish things.

8407 HURON RIVER DR., UNION LAKE

As I read the recent column on Daylight Saving Time, it became evident that the author was using propaganda instead of reason. He appeals to our vigilant instincts and warns us that someone might someday attempt to sway us in favor of "triple daylight saving."

(Q) Could you please find out for me where I can write and get information on the Peace Corps?

CURIOUS

(Q) I'm trying to find records with these songs on them. Maybe they're not even on albums yet, but if they are, where could I get them? Jim Nabors—"He Gave Me a Mountain to Climb" and Burl Ives—"Bobby Lee" and "Sugar Loaf Mountain."

PUZZLED

(A) Apparently the Burl Ives songs haven't been recorded yet, because they aren't listed, but the Jim Nabors song is included in the album, "Galveston." Lakeland Record Shop, 4516 Dixie Hwy., Drayton Plains, OR 4-1303, usually has it in stock, but if they're out when you need it, they'll order it for you.

It Seems to Me . . .

It's Time to Blow the Whistle on These Hijacking Outrages

Everyone is incensed at the way these hijackers thumb their noses at the airlines, the public and the government. The total number is around 60 and when you consider that this means once a week for more than a year, it leaves you aghast.

Who's to blame?

Who's negligent?

★ ★ ★

Are the airlines culpable or does the responsibility rest on the governments? No one seems to do a blasted thing. Who wants to end up in hostile Cuba? In one instance, a flight began on the West Coast and concluded in Rome. They landed two or three times to refuel but authorities were completely impotent. That was the all-time exhibition of cringing, kow-towing and crass ineptitude before one, lone skywayman.

★ ★ ★

Eastern Airlines may have the answer. No Eastern plane has been hijacked where the idea is operative. Passengers who arouse the least suspicion pass through a device that ferrets out guns, grenades, etc. Apparently this is the first defense against piracy at 30,000 feet.

Other lines should adopt it.

★ ★ ★

Swift, certain and extreme punishment is the only deterrent. Let's adopt such measures immediately.

Push Calley Case . . .

Anybody anywhere that seeks to delay the court martial proceedings against Lt. WILLIAM CALLEY JR., is playing with fire as far as the people of this Nation are concerned.

★ ★ ★

The prompt refusal to allow interested parties to silence all news media was received with acclaim. Any other action would have precipitated nationwide indignation.

★ ★ ★

If the two parties want some advice from Pontiac, Michigan, we give it freely, voluntarily and without restraint:

Get into court.

Start rolling right now.

Gold and White . . .

During the formative days of Oakland University, Gold and White were selected as the official colors.

Surely gold is beautiful. And so is white. Both are used frequently in striking combinations, but they don't particularly complement each other.

They're too similar.

The eye slides away.

★ ★ ★

Many came to this conclusion quietly when they were selected. However, it seemed a bit unfriendly towards a lusty, new institution to offer criticisms. Therefore, they were accepted —happily by those who approved and with silent assent by others.

But now the matter's out in the open. The State of Michigan honored Oakland by adopting our colors for 1970 automobile licenses.

And a loud cry arises:

"They can't be seen."

Truthfully, they can't be distinguished at an appreciable distance. Officers of the law complain mightily and The PRESS accepts these criticisms as justified. This brings the matter into sharp focus.

★ ★ ★

Thus, The Press suggests that Oakland University might adopt a new combination. Perhaps the campus prefers Gold and White. If that's a fair consensus, let's go forward and consider the matter closed. If the colors are a dubious combination, this may be the moment to reconsider. The protests by officers of the law and citizens in general can be the basis for a reappraisal, especially since autonomy may be directly ahead.

★ ★ ★

If Oakland is made completely independent of M.S.U. that might be a good time to consider changing the colors.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Fans at National League football games express increasing criticism because the players don't have names on their uniforms as they do in the American League. This may be corrected. . . . . Overheard: "Could the trouble be today that there's no arrest for the wicked?" . . . . . Deer hunting annually shorts all Michigan business to the point it hurts. 1969 was no exception. . . . . The Chicago Sun Times reports that 26,000 of its 40,000 ballots (65 per cent) on the Vietnam war want all U.S. troops home by the end of 1970. This sentiment gains ground daily all over the Nation.

★ ★ ★

Scouts advise me that Candi Babb deserves mention as one of the attractive younger ladies in the area. . . . . Overheard: "Maybe the fastest way to get to Mars would be to let a hijacker board a spacecraft bound for the moon." . . . . . Manufacturers will pay more attention to disposable materials in the years ahead. . . . . Haynsworth's defeat emphasizes the strength of the union lobby in Washington. Its permanent group runs 25 and there are over a hundred when completely mobilized. AFL-CIO president George Meany says: "I think frankly we have the most effective lobby in Washington."

Trying to Understand World

Study Unit Goes International

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, where scholars are employed to think and talk, has announced a major reorganization to make it international in scope.

Its new program will be "nothing more nor less than a multidisciplinary attempt to understand the modern world," said Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, 70, one of the center's founders.

★ ★ ★

Hutchins, who was a law school dean at 28 and president of the University of Chicago at 30, announced over the weekend that he was stepping down as president to devote full time to the center's academic program.

The new president is Harry S. Ashmore, a Pulitzer Prize-winning former newspaper editor. Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court was named chairman of the executive committee.

ENDOWMENT HUNT

Hutchins also announced plans to seek an endowment "to guarantee the center's most precious asset, its independence."

Hutchins has led the center through many controversies in the 10 years since it was created by the Fund for the Republic, financed by the Ford Foundation.

★ ★ ★

Anti-Communists have called it leftist, liberals have called it right-wing, some have called it pro-Catholic or pro-Protestant or atheistic. Hutchins calls it a truth-seeking, nonprofit educational institution.

The most recent controversy came last summer and was intramural. The center fired five senior fellows, and one of them sued, saying Hutchins and Ashmore had acted maliciously.

'PART OF REORGANIZING'

The dismissals were part of a reorganization not specified then. Hutchins explained its purpose in his weekend statement:

"It is evident now that democratic institutions cannot be understood except in a global framework in the light of social, economic, political and technological changes going on in the world. . .National boundaries no longer define or enclose issues of environmental pollution, race, education, nuclear war or urbanization. . . "The center's program has some chance of demonstrating the utility of the center for independent thought and criticism at what may well turn out to be one of the turning points in history."

Those asked to resign included Wilbur H. Ferry, a center vice president, and the late Dr. James A. Pike, former Episcopal Bishop of California.

★ ★ ★

Crime Reaping Credit Benefit

Mass Card Mailings Stolen and Resold

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized crime is profiting from the unsolicited mass mailings of credit cards by selling them on the black market for as much as $100, a Senate subcommittee has been told.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., held a rare Sunday session to hear testimony on bills to restrict or ban the widespread mailing of unasked-for credit cards.

★ ★ ★

Robert L. Mead, a spokesman for the President's Committee on Consumer Interests, said Post Office officials have told him mass mailings of credit cards have caused a 700 per cent increase in mail-fraud cases in recent years.

Mead said many cards have been stolen and have wound up in the hands of racketeers who sell them for up to $100. But he urged caution in banning or restricting distribution of unsolicited cards because of the effect the moves could have on competition.

U.N. Observers Along Suez Have Tough Job

AP Wirephoto

WATCHFUL WAITING — Wondering whether it's safe to leave his sandbagged bunker, a South Vietnamese infantryman waits out a lull in the North Vietnamese mortar fire on the Bu Prang camp, about 110 miles northeast of Saigon.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Often at the risk of their own lives, U. N. observers keep a record of every shot fired along the Suez Canal, but often it's impossible to tell from their reports who started the shooting or who stopped first.

Almost daily, the Security Council receives accounts from some 95 observers stationed at lonely outposts on the Israeli and Egyptian sides of the waterway.

* * *

These reports often are made at grave personal risk by the blue-helmeted observers, but the council rarely takes any action, and delegates seem to pay little attention to them.

One reason is the difficulty of drawing any meaningful conclusion from most of these reports.

A study of a 16-day period, Oct. 31-Nov. 15, 1969, showed that the Egyptians were responsible for 335 shooting incidents and the Israelis for 167.

MEANT LITTLE

But the disparity in figures meant little, since some incidents consisted of a single rifle shot and others marked a rolling artillery barrage. Some reports spelled this out, but many did not.

The officers and men who serve along the canal operate in teams of two or three at 10 observation posts on the Israeli side and nine on the Egyptian side, identified by code names.

* * *

Set up after the June 1967 war, the observer teams draw their manpower from Sweden, Finland, France, Ireland, Argentina, Austria and Chile. Anyone signing up must agree to stay at least three months, but he is actually expected to serve a year.

For long periods the observers had little to do but gaze at their reflections in the canal, but they have often been under fire recently.

SEND MESSAGE

All an observer can do when caught in crossfire, is send a message such as: "At 1530 GMT heavy exchanges of fire were taking place around Violet and Echo."

That means that at 3:30 p.m. Greenwich (England) Time, there was heavy shooting in the vicinity of two observation posts.

* * *

Sometimes the aggressor is clearly pinpointed in these reports, as in one from Outpost Pink on Nov. 15 which said in part: At 0645 intense artillery and mortar fire by U.A.R. forces, and at 0658 intense rocket fire by Israeli forces."

But often there are reports such as this from Outpost Yellow on Nov. 6 which said: "At 0652 small-arms fire by both parties. Fire ceased by both parties at 0747. UNMOs (U.N. Military Observers), could not determine which party fired or ceased fire first."

FLAGS FOR PROTECTION

Often as exposed as the front-line troops, the observers rely on the U.N. flags flying over their posts for protection. If the bullets whine too close to their crudely constructed observation towers, they can dive into dug-outs protected by sandbags.

The observers have complained that both Israelis and Egyptians take advantage of the neutral U.N. positions by creeping as close to them as possible so that the enemy cannot fire without risk of hitting the observers.

* * *

Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, U.N. truce supervisor, has proposed that neutral zones be set up around the outposts to protect them from crossfire.

Secretary General U Thant recently warned the Security Council that the observers might have to be pulled out unless they received some protection.

"These are unarmed men doing their best under extraordinary stress and strain to fulfill the task assigned to them by the Security Council," he said. "They cannot be expected to serve as what amounts as defenseless targets in a shooting gallery."

More than a thousand of Colorado's peaks rise higher than 10,000 feet and 55 top 14,000, says National Geographic.

Dissent Heard in Prehistoric America, Too

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — Dissent and violence troubled prehistoric Americans, too. More than a century and a half before the arrival of Columbus the urban center of Casas Grandes in present-day Mexico was vandalized and burned.

In Peru dissent threatened the great Inca Empire. To forestall revolt, its leaders shifted entire populations, placing protesters among loyal subjects and moving proven friends to potential trouble spots.

The Incas' methods, though harsh by present-day standards, were effective. At the height of its power, the empire embraced all of western South America from the northern border of Ecuador to Chile's midpoint.

Authors George E. Stuart, a National Geographic archaeologist-cartographer, and his wife Gene, an art historian, tell the story of prehistoric man's achievements in a new book, "Discovering Man's Past in the Americas." They record his rise from Ice Age hunter to builder of great stone cities whose size rivaled those of contemporary Europe.

The first Americans came from Siberia at least 12,000 years ago. For generations they followed migrating herds into Alaska, unaware that they were crossing the great Bering land bridge that connected Asia and the Americas during the Ice Age.

Within a thousand years, their descendants had reached the very tip of South America.

An early form of corn did more than anything else to shape destinies before the Europeans arrived. The plant transformed nomadic hunters into settled farmers who produced dazzling civilizations in Middle and South America.

In North America corn sustained the hardy settlers who built the imposing cliff dwellings and vast irrigation systems of the Southwest, as well as the varied peoples who raised the thousands of enigmatic mounds that lie scattered along today's eastern United States.

U.S. Arabs Warn of More Aid to Israel

DETROIT (AP)—Delegates to an Arab-American convention adopted a resolution Sunday declaring continued United States aid to Israel "carries with it the danger of involving the U.S. in another Vietnam-like conflict.

★ ★ ★

More than 250 delegates at the second annual convention of the Association of Arab-American University Graduates, ratified a lengthy policy statement at the concluding session of their three-day convention at Wayne State University.

The convention, which named Dr. Cherif Baissouni of the College of Law, DePaul University, Chicago, as its new president, called for continuation of Arab struggles against Israel forces in Palestine.

Delegates contended that Arabs had been deprived of the rights to self-determination in Palestine, long a battleground between Jews and Arabs.

COURSE ENDORSED

The convention's over-all resolution read:

"In the light of the persistent and arbitrary denial of this right of self-determination of the Palestinians by imperialist and Zionist forces, the Association endorses the current necessary course of the Palestinian people to a war of national liberation of their homeland."

★ ★ ★

Delegates unanimously adopted the resolution describing what they called the Arabs' "aspiration to liberate all sections of the Palestinian community from all manifestations of racial and national prejudice and other forms of human oppression."

Acting in the wake of a Saturday panel discussion of Jewish retaliation against Arab freedom fighters, the convention called for such Arabs to be covered under the Geneva pact covering treatment of war prisoners.

It said of the guerrilla fighters, "according to the Geneva Convention of 1949, guerrilla fighters are entitled to the status of prisoners of war and are not to be treated as common criminals.

Stamps Worth $250,000 Stolen

DETROIT (AP) —A major stamp collection, valued at $250,000, was stolen during the burglary of a Detroit home Saturday.

Frank Foltyn, 64, reported to police that the collection known as the King Farouk Collection was taken from his home sometime Saturday. He said the prize winning collection was contained in six to eight large green albums.

Foltyn said two other smaller prize-winning stamp collections were stolen too. He fixed the value of the three collections at $250,000.

Police said Foltyn also reported the theft of $10,000 in U.S. savings bonds and cash, a color television set and a fur coat.

The thieves apparently gained entry to the two - story brick house by breaking into the milk chute and then opening a back door, officers reported.

Evers 'Fires' City Attorney

She Weds Black, Loses Job

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP) — A 28-year-old Lansing woman has been forced out of her position as the only white public official in the small Mississippi town of Fayette.

Mayor Charles Evers says former city attorney Martha Wood wasn't fired, but "terminated" her own employment when she married a Negro policeman.

★ ★ ★

The policeman's job was also "terminated," Evers said.

Evers, the only Negro mayor of a biracial municipality in Mississippi, said charges made Saturday in Detroit by the woman involved were not true.

The former Miss Wood recently married Monroe Jenkins, 28. She said both she and her husband were fired by Evers when he learned of their intent to wed.

Evers said he had no objection to the marriage, but felt it would have posed additional difficulties for him in his effort to show that Negroes can win elections and administer governments in Mississippi.

"I told them, begged them, that whatever you do is your business, but don't do it here. Their last words were, 'We are going to get married and live in Fayette, 'and my answer was "you won't live here as city attorney and as city policeman.'

I didn't fire her, I gave her an alterntive," said Evers.

★ ★ ★

"We did not terminate her, they terminated themselves. I am not here to marry anybody or deny anybody from being married. But I know our first job here is to make this government work. We are going to make it work and I can't help who the hatchet chops off.

"I feel personally that Fayette is not the place and this is certainly not the time for us to go out here and promote white and black marriages on our staff.

'CAN'T HAVE IT'

"I am for togetherness and I am for you marrying who you want to. At this particular time we just can't have it.

"There are plenty of people, racists and bigots, who aren't going to accept that all we need is one killing in this town. We have had enough killings and I know Mississippi whites."

★ ★ ★

Jenkins joined the Fayette police force last July after working in Milwaukee. Mrs. Jenkins, a native of Lansing, Mich., was an unpaid member of Evers' staff.

They said they were now seeking employment in Michigan.

State GOP Aim: Defeat of Hart

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The Republican State Central Committee has been told that defeating Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., is the first goal of Michigan Republicans next year and former Gov. George Romney is the man to do the job.

"I think it's time to get the Rambler on the road and take Hart with Romney," Rep. Marvin L. Esch, R-Mich., said over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

If Romney chooses to remain U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Esch said, "then there are a dozen other Republicans fully capable of performing a 'Hart transplant'."

An informal vote at the caucus on a preferred Senate candidate came out Romney, seven votes, and six votes for Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., R-Mich., from Flint.

She Creates Music, Ceramics, Gardens

By JUNE ELERT

Theatre owners of the old days must have thought there was something unnatural about silent entertainment. Perhaps that was why they invariably hired a piano player to supply mood music to accompany the presentation of silent films.

Mrs. Loyal Nancarrow of Troy played those improvised accompaniments in the original Royal Oak Theatre over a half century ago.

★ ★ ★

Gladys studied piano at the Detroit Conservatory, starting when she was 15 and continuing until she married about five years later. The job in the theatre ended then too, since it was the style in those days for married women to stay at home.

So music has been "for fun" ever since. The Hammond Concert Grand in the dining room and the grand piano in the living room testify to an unflagging interest.

★ ★ ★

The Nancarrows raised four sons (three of whom play well by ear). They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last summer amid 17 grandchildren and four great-grandsons.

NEW INTERESTS

Gladys's interests broadened about 1942, when, in a very short space of time, three of her boys went into military service, leaving a void that she knew was a preview of what life would be like when they were all grown and had left the nest.

She turned to gardening and ceramics. "I don't know why I always choose things that are such hard work," she said. "I garden in the summer and do ceramics in the winter."

The Nancarrow property covers about three quarters of an acre and glows all summer with iris and Hemerocallis (day-lillies) which Gladys sells to regular customers and others who stop by on their way to White Chapel Cemetery which is a mile or so down the road.

Gladys has two kilns to accommodate her ceramic work and still has a rushing time keeping up with orders for seasonal pieces. In the past she has conducted classes, teaching others the craft, but prefers now not to have to work on a strict time schedule.

When filled, some of the moulds for the larger items, like patio frogs and the currently-popular lighted Christmas trees, weigh up to 40 pounds — considerable weight for a great-grandma to handle.

Looking forward to retirement? "No, my husband sees some of these retired fellows. They come into his shop and sit around — they just don't have anything to do. I guess we'll keep on going like we are — for a while yet, anyway."

TO GIVE CONCERT

Mrs. Nancarrow will make a guest appearance as organ soloist Tuesday at the Hammond Organ Society's monthly meeting in Grinnell's on South Saginaw Street. Her program will include some of the old tunes that were so adaptable to so many scenes in so many different films.

★ ★ ★

Later this month, she and her husband, who plays the trumpet, will perform in duet at the Society's Christmas party.

Tuesday Musicale Program to Feature Strings, Chorus

The Royal Oak Baroque Strings, a 28-member ensemble from the Kimball High School Orchestra, will present several numbers on Tuesday Musicale's Christmas program.

The annual concert will be held in the sanctuary of Central United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m. The public may attend without charge.

The string group, under direction of Carl Picklo, studies concert music of all periods with special emphasis on the Baroque.

★ ★ ★

They have been invited to tour England next summer, with concert dates scheduled in London, Canterbury, Bath and Oxford, as well as visiting the Royal Academy of Music in London and the festival in Bath.

CHORUS

The Musicale's 40-voice chorus, directed by Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, will present a program of sacred and secular music.

★ ★ ★

The sacred portion includes the "Missa Brevis in D," by Benjamin Britten, featuring soloists Nancy Puskas and Marilyn Chapman. Written in 1959, it is medieval music in modern dress and was intended for performance by boys' choirs or women's voices.

Phyllis Gehman will carry the solo line in "Jesus, Jesus Rest Your Head," an Appalachian folk song, on the secular part of the program.

Mrs. Walter Schmitz will accompany on piano and organ.

Mrs. E. M. Peterson and Mrs. D. S. Smith head a large social committee.

Husband Helps Couple Keep Romantic Secret

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in a profession which caters to women. (It's a personal service, but please don't say what kind.) He is of Italian descent and speaks the language very well, although he was born and raised in the U.S.A.

One of his clients recently returned from a vacation in Rome. She is fiftyish and married to a rich man. She's very attractive and obviously a swinger because while in Rome she met and had an affair with an Italian. (Don't ask me how an American woman who can't speak Italian, and an Italian man who can't speak English ever got to this point, but they did.)

Well, this woman got a love letter from this Italian man, and since it was written in Italian she asked my husband to translate it for her. He did. Then she dictated a letter to her lover in English, and my husband wrote it for her in Italian.

At first I thought this was funny, but I don't think it's funny anymore. (The Italian is also married.)

I told my husband I didn't think he should be doing this. He thinks I'm "square." What do you think?

"SQUARE"

DEAR "SQUARE": If you're "square", I want to be in all four of your corners.

DEAR ABBY: Lately my husband just loves to go to these discount stores to buy groceries for me. Abby, my kitchen cupboards are filled with things I have no use for. I would prefer to buy my own groceries as no one knows better than I what I need in my kitchen.

Also, lately, he won't allow me to wash his socks and underwear. He washes them out himself every night. I tell him I can do it like I always did, once a week, but he says I "lose" them for him! Now, Abby, I've been married to this man for nearby 40 years and I haven't lost any of his laundry yet.

★ ★ ★

We raised four nice children who are all married and gone now, and there are just the two of us home. He retired last year and this should be the happiest time of our lives, but his strange ways are making me nervous. What should I do?

Don't tell me to send him to the doctor. If you could see him eat, you'd know he wasn't sick.

NERVOUS IN MAINE

DEAR NERVOUS: A "healthy appetite" doesn't necessarily indicate good mental health. Your husband's sudden "strange ways" could be a signal that there is something "wrong" with him. By all means, get him to a doctor for a thorough examination from the neck both ways.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO EARL: Money IS important. But only because it enables you to buy the things that are more important than money.

★ ★

She's Out of This World

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Melanie Leigh Vincz of Indianapolis, Ind., won the Miss Outer-Space beauty contest and the $1,000 prize that went with it made a nice birthday present. She was 20 Sunday.

Miss Vincz, a 5-foot-7 model with measurements of 36-22-36, "is the first girl willing to go to the moon . . . if the government will let her," said Syd Friedman, originator of the contest.

An antiques buff who plans to open a shop in the basement of her home, she was Miss Indianapolis in the Miss World contest this year.

Marketing Profile

Calorie Counter Average Eater

EAST LANSING — Ladies, meet your collective self — 5 feet 4 inches tall, 130 pounds and calorie conscious.

At least that's a partial composite of the average feminine American consumer drawn recently by a marketing specialist at Michigan State University.

George Stachwick, director of MSU's consumer marketing program, says that based upon consumer profile information, Mrs. Average American Consumer takes in approximately 3,000 calories a day and would like to reduce. There is, however, only about one chance in four that she will be successful in shedding those extra pounds, Stachwick says.

Each year she consumes about 170 pounds of meat, 314 eggs, 99 pounds of sugar, 12 pounds of cheese, 112 pounds of potatoes, 80 pounds of fresh fruit, 80 pounds of bread, 240 quarts of milk, 191 bottles of pop and 2,500 inches of spaghetti.

If she has reached the age of 40, putting away all that food may be somewhat difficult, since she probably has lost about half of her teeth.

To keep herself poised, painted and generally pretty, she spends at least $50 a month on beauty treatments, hair appointments and clothes. In five years she will consume her height in lipstick.

Her 2 pound 11 ounce brain handles about 10,000 thoughts each day, and she daily utters some 4,800 to 5,000 words. Not surprising, she will spend about one year of her life on the telephone.

CHILDREN

The chances are 50-50 that she will have either two children or none.

Running errands and doing housework, she will walk about eight miles a day. This should help her get a good night's rest, but it does not. She does not sleep too well. Forty percent of her sleeping problems are worries, of which 30 percent are things she can't do anything about and 10 percent are relatively unimportant.

When things get to be just too hectic, she is apt to take a cup of the 21.75 pounds of coffee, tea or cocoa she consumes every year and dream of the social function at which she met her husband. She may even recall the night they sat in his car and he presented her with a ¼ carat diamond.

Institute Readies Masters' Exhibit

The personal art collection of the late Robert Hudson Tannahill willed to the Founders Society of The Detroit Institute of Art is now being readied for display to the public beginning May 6.

Among the masterpieces in the collection are five paintings by Picasso, two Van Goghs and three by Renoir.

No Muzzle on His Wife

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Mrs. John N. Mitchell, the wife of the U.S. Attorney General, believes in free speech.

And, according to her husband, there's no muzzle on his free-speaking wife.

When asked to comment on recent charges he edited his wife's public remarks, Mitchell said he must first deny it "as a husband, and then as attorney general."

★ ★ ★

Mitchell said, as proof of his wife's free speech powers, that "photographers took her picture and newsmen questioned her" at a dinner party Thursday night in Minneapolis. The Mitchells attended the dinner for Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., who is seeking the seat of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn.

★ ★ ★

The muzzling question arose after Mrs. Mitchell told a television audience her husband would like to take some of the "liberals in this country" and exchange them for "Russian communists."

★ ★ ★

Mitchell later said he would like to substitute the words "violence-prone militant radicals" for "liberals," adding, then "I would be delighted to change them for some of the academically inclined Marxist communists."

The custom of giving cigars at the birth of a child began in Europe in the 17th century, when cigars were very rare. It took such a profoundly gratifying event to get a man to share a treasure that might not be replaced until his ship returned from the New World.

Coal Tar Gel Promises Aid to Countless Psoriasis Victims

There's a season for almost everything — including some skin problems. Skin specialists report more visits from patients with psoriasis during late fall and early winter than at any other time of the year.

Psoriasis ranks high on the list of the top ten most common skin problems. One of the safest and most satisfactory remedies, according to a pamphlet issued by the Public Health Service, includes a combination of coal tar ointments.

★ ★ ★

A refined, sophisticated formulation which includes coal tar and allantoin (an ingredient that helps speed healing) is available in a colorless, gel form. The product, called Alphosyl Gel, comes in a 2-oz. tube and spreads like a liquid. It leaves an invisible film on the skin.

★ ★ ★

Alphosyl Gel has the same basic formula as Alphosyl Cream and Lotion, which a number of prestigious medical journals have reported as helping to soften skin, speed healing, and to control psoriasis effectively.

★ ★ ★

Reed & Carnrick, the company that developed the cosmetic gel, describes it as the first effective cosmetic approach to treatment of this common skin condition, affecting one out of every 50 persons in the U.S.

Smell of Waffles Lures Sleepers

The delightful aroma of waffles lures the most reluctant sleepyhead, stay-a-bed to the breakfast table. Waffles taste best when the crust is golden crisp and the inside thoroughly cooked.

For extra crispness, spear the waffle with a fork to remove it from the griddle. Then hold on fork for a second or two before dropping it onto a plate.

Serve chilled canned cling peach halves in pretty glass dishes with a spoonful of rumflavored whipped cream on top of each serving.

Use Dry Sherry for Baking Ham

For company entertaining bake a 2-pound slice of ham this way. Place it in a shallow baking dish and cover with one-third cup medium dry Sherry. Bake one-half hour in moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

Then place canned cling peach halves, one to a person, over the peaches. Baste with Sherry and continue baking another half hour.

Salad at Left

Company coming? If salad is being served as a separate course, after the main dish, the salad plate should be placed (with the left hand) from the guest's left side.

Gas Station Lingo Is Confusing to Women

One problem for a woman getting her car serviced is that she often has trouble with the language.

Service station men, like people in many other specialized professions, have their own way of saying things. As time goes on, they forget you may not "comprende la lingua."

★ ★ ★

To add to the confusion, when you confront your favorite car-care expert with, "My husband said you'll probably want to check the framiscron — or something like that," nobody knows what anybody is talking about.

What can be done about it?

The first thing you can do is to be sure of what your husband said. Next for the uninitiated, here is a pot pourri of expressions your automotive service man may throw at you.

For example: When he says, "You're aimed at the tree tops and weak on low beam," what he means is, "With your headlights that far out of aim, and one of them weak, you're lucky you can see at all. And how about the other drivers you are blinding?"

He says, "This sludge will wreck your lifters."

He means dirty oil and a clogged oil filter aren't doing their job. Grit and other conteminants work their way into finely machined parts of your car, including the valve lifters. The result is a noisy engine that grows old too soon.

"She's about to blow this hose."

This is a warning that you would be stranded in the middle of nowhere with a burned-up engine. Radiator hoses don't last forever, and with pressurized cooling systems (which work on the same principle as the pressure cooker in your kitchen) when a worn-out hose bursts, it really goes!

"You've got corrosion on your terminals."

Translation: You may have trouble getting your car started unless you have the important battery connections cleaned and tightened.

"It acts like your PCV is clogged."

Very simply, PCV means Positive Crankcase Ventilation. Your car could be polluting the air and seriously hampering the performance of your engiine.

"Your timing is so late, I'm surprised she ran at all."

The service man is talking about late ignition timing, an indication that you are late for your tune-up.

"You're toed out, Ma'am, and slightly out of balance."

Nothing personal. Your car probably is not steering too well. It may be shaking, wobbling and wearing a lot of rubber off the tires — all because you haven't had the front wheels aligned and balanced in awhile.

"You've got brittle blades and a weak arm."

No wonder you have been having trouble seeing in the rain. Wiper blades can grow brittle, dull and inefficient after about six months of normal use. After a couple of years, the wiper arms lose their tension and don't exert the right amount of pressure, to hold the blades against the glass.

"You need two clamps and a pipe to get you back in shape."

He is talking about exhaust pipes and the clamps that keep connections tight. When any parts of your exhaust system rust through you are in trouble. Worse than the noise is the carbon monoxide gas that can creep into your car. It is lethal.

"We changed your fluid, tightened your bands and adjusted your linkage; so it ought to feel better now."

It certainly should. Your car had been feeling sluggish, seemed to slip when it should have been shifting. It needed ATF (automatic transmission fluid) and some adjustments to get it back to normal.

Criticism for Wives

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Some wives of successful businessman, "turn the house into a chaotic battleground," a City University psychologist writes in the December issue of the one-million circulation magazine Family Health.

The article, by Dr. Mortimer R. Feinberg, titled "A Man on the Way Up Needs a Boost", takes sharp exception to many of the complaints of middle class women and their life styles.

Addressing himself to the dissatisfied college trained married woman with a growing family, Dr. Feinberg comments, "If you want to keep your brain working, nobody is preventing you." He adds that women with a college degree often tend to resent their family duties to the point that it turns them into "insensitive women with a carping leitmotif that damages the relationship with their husbands and children and psychologically unfits them for marriage."

* * *

He comments further that, "The real problem is that most women who end up complaining about all they have sacrificed for marriage should have gone to college in the first place, let alone gotten married."

Dr. Feinberg also expresses grave doubts about the value of suburban living.

"There is," he writes, "nothing wrong with houses and lawns, fresh air and good schools except that their cost cannot be computed solely in financial terms." He cites the wear and tear of commuting on the husband, the isolation of the wife, and a lack of sufficient time available to spend with children.

BIG BURDEN

The main burden of maintaining a well balanced family life, Dr. Feinberg insists, rests on the woman. "If she really wants to build and maintain a peaceful atmosphere for everyone, she can," he concludes.

Simmering Is Best Way

That famous "New England Boiled Dinner" will satisfy winter-whipped appetites from Maine to Montana. A classic favorite, the vegetables cook right along with the corned beef brisket for flavorsome variety.

Of course, a "Boiled Dinner" is never really boiled, reminds Reba Staggs, home economist with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

She recommends long slow cooking of the meat because boiling tends to toughen rather than tenderize.

NEW ENGLAND "BOILED" DINNER

3 to 4-pound corned beef brisket
Water to cover
4 to 6 medium-sized carrots
4 to 6 medium-sized onions
1 small head cabbage, cut in 6 wedges
Cooked beets, if desired

Cover corned beef with water and cook over low heat until nearly tender, about 3 hours. Add carrots and onions and continue cooking about 40 minutes or until tender.

Add cabbage wedges 10 to 15 minutes before end of cooking time. Serve with boiled or canned beets, if desired. 4 to 6 servings.

Sausages, Apples for Filling Peppers

Sausage and apples make a savory stuffing for peppers. Cut tops off 4 medium green peppers and scoop out seeds and membrane; cook in boiling salted water until almost tender. Drain; place in 10x6x2-inch baking dish.

Meanwhile, in skillet brown 1 pound bulk pork sausage; pour off fat. Stir in 1 medium tart apple, peeled and diced; ¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs; and 1 egg, beaten.

Fill peppers with sausage; pour on 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with mushrooms. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

To Start Meal

Cut avocados into halves and remove the seeds; do not remove shells; fill cavities with French dressing to which catchup or chili sauce has been added and serve as a first course — to be eaten with spoons.

Your Creativity Is Killing Me

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

"What is it, girls? You're going to give a play? Of couse, you may. I think that's wonderful! I mean, mother is really glad you children are going to make your own fun. Mother believes too many children these days are simply ruining their imaginations by lying around on the floor watching television. And, to think my two daughters wrote a play!

"Oh. You'd like me to type the scripts? Yes, I'll copy them for you. After all, I don't really need to keep my appointment with the hairdresser, do I? Children should be encouraged and helped, especially when they are being creative. That's what I'm always saying, isn't it? Well, almost always.

Yes, I know I wouldn't let you give a swimming party but, NO mother would let you turn a basement into a swimming pool. Flooding a basement is NOT creative.

"Snacks? For intermission? I suppose so. No, I don't mind. Honestly, I don't mind. But don't you think you should have asked before you cut the cake? I can always buy a cake at the bakery for my bridge club but, still . . .

* * *

"ALL the ice cream? You've made clown ice cream cones from TWO gallons? No, it is all right. I'll buy some more. No, I am certainly not going to serve clown ice cream cones at the bridge club. The last time, remember, I had to use ice cubes made out of grape juice because you had that lemonade stand and I can expect my friends to put up with just so much of this kind of thing.

"Let me finish typing the scripts, now. I don't mind encouraging you, but I do have other things. . . .

"Costumes? Yes, I know you have to have costumes and I think it is wonderful that you've gone ahead on your own and . . .

"And, Babs, honey, I'm just going to close my eyes and when I open them you won't be standing there wearing one of mother's good dining room curtains, will you?"

"Oh, look at Cissy!

"Yes, it looks exactly like a brocade robe a princess would wear. I thought of that very thing when I bought the bedspread.

* * *

"But how did you manage to fix a collar like that? That is really clever. That is REALLY a hole cut in there, isn't it? Yes sir, right in the center.

"I'm sorry. Really. Really, I'm sorry and, really, I didn't mean to scream at you that way.

"Of course, I love you. Yes, I DO want you to be an actress some day. I wish you were an actress right now—in London or Paris. Yes, I am going to stop crying this way. In 10 years, maybe. About the time you leave for drama school."

Try Ketchup, Chili Sauce as Flavor Aids

Quick change treatment for plain tastes is captured like a genie in every bottle of ketchup or chili sauce. For everything from soup to nuts—yep, that's right, nuts—there's a trick that they can perform.

For instance, imagine, there you are with Sunday lunch for the family all planned, eggs and sausages and corn muffins, and suddenly a couple of friends drop in. Too few eggs for the individual servings planned, you whip out a bottle of chili sauce and some mushroom stems and pieces; you have a great sauce for extending scrambled eggs or an omlet.

* * *

Another time, you feel like serving the family an appetizer for a treat. Out comes the bottle of cranberry juice and to accompany it, you spread saltine crackers with mellow cheese spread. Indent the center, cover with ketchup and place under the broiler for a few minutes.

* * *

Be sure to consult the ketchup or chili sauce bottle, too, when you want to doctor prepared baked lima, or butter beans, corned beef hash, and other hurry-up dishes. For the beans, crispy bacon, brown sugar, and mustard making an appealing combination.

* * *

The hash does nicely for a main dish with just the tomatoey ketchup taste and poached eggs made right on top in indentations pressed into the hash.

* * *

As for the nutty part of the claim, slivered nuts sprinkled over a layer of ketchup gives a delightfully different flavor for broccoli. It's fun to try something new for a change.

Louisiana Yams Bring Out Flavor

For extra flavor and fun, drain three cans of Louisiana yams. Mash and heat with melted butter or margarine, a touch of instant minced onion, salt and pepper to taste.

Top with a choice of toasted coconut, cooked crumbled bacon, coarsely crushed corn chips or chopped pecans. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Savor Rice Dish Served With Meat

Serve this elegant rice-vegetable dish with roast beef or meat loaf. In skillet lightly brown ½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced, in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Stir in 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, thawed; 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with onions and ½ teaspoon ground cumin, if desired.

Simmer 10 minutes; stir in 2½ cups cooked rice. Simmer until heated through. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

If you have two or three cooked sausage links leftover from breakfast, slice them and add to spaghetti sauce for pungent flavor.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Before we know it, the free-wheeling world of the 1970s will be here. Since starting out a new decade on the wrong foot could get the whole 10 years off to a bad and bumpy beginning, let's look first to our feet.

Surveying the new shoes of the season, it's safe to say that we will step into the super-charged 70s in footwear both exciting and easy-to-wear. Featured are the most supple leathers, full round toes, high but substantial heels, wide-banded sandal silhouettes and high-front pumps, platforms and wedges. With such shoe styles, the view of 1970 at ground level is a fresh, flattering and foot-happy one.

★ ★ ★

The Leather Industries of America says that, looking back, it salutes the 60s for bringing comfort back to footwear fashions. It is true that, with the comfort, there was once a clumsy look that most women disliked intensely. Happily, this ugliness is now a thing of the past. The broad mannish lines of those early monsters have been refined and rounded into the elegant contours of the beauties that may currently be found in most stores.

ROUNDED TOE-BOXES

There's wiggling space in the roomy rounded toe-boxes ushering in 1970. And in the wind for spring are open-toed city sandals in a variety of leathers, freeing toes completely from their bondage.

As noted, heels are again on the rise. Women have always liked the flattering of a higher heel, but many decried the disadvantages of the old "stilettos." The high heel of 1970 is sturdy yet graceful and well-balanced, a more solid support than the needle-thin heel popular in the 50s.

To ring in the new decade, an old "shoe look" returns: the platform. You'll see it underfoot on all types of footwear — daytime or evening sandals, dress pumps, at-home shoes — matched mostly to the higher heel. Often, this extra layer between sole and upper is in a contrasting color. Also hitting the comeback trail is another former favorite, the comfortable wedge.

MANY LEATHERS

As shoe designs display their "new and now" character, so do the leathers from which they are crafted. The list is endless. There are grained and suede leathers; glowing genuine patent leather clear or antiqued); embossed and printed leathers; tought-tanned brushed, glove and waxy leathers, and many more.

These soft and supple shoe leathers offer their own "instant insurance" against foot fatigue. Leather's natural porosity, moldability and flexing action, supported by new comfort-oriented styling, provide the key to real walk-and-wear comfort and protection.

So although old acquaintances should not be forgot, let's look ahead to the 70s. To meet the challenging decade coming up, we'll have to be light and fast on our feet. Fashion-wise, this should be an easy assignment. It looks as though our feet are going to be happy to.

His Handicap Didn't Hinder Walk Up Aisle

CHESAPEAKE, Va. (AP) — A young former Marine injured by enemy grenades in Vietnam walks up the aisle on artificial legs today at his wedding.

Thomas Edward Greene, 20, weds Ina Kathleen Woodruff, the 18-year-old girl he met a month before he left for Southeast Asia.

"If anybody had told me I'd walk up the aisle to be married this month I'd have told him he was crazy," Greene said.

★ ★ ★

On June 18, 1968, Lance Cpl. Green's unit was attacked at Khe Sanh. Shrapnel from North Vietnamese hand grenades "hit me in the legs and neck," he said. He lost both legs just below the knees.

Greene was sent to the naval hospital in Philadelphia. After he was given artificial legs "it took me about six weeks to learn to walk without help."

Kathleen and her mother visited him at the hospital and there the young couple became engaged. They had met in October 1967 while Greene was visiting his brother who lived next door to the Woodruff family in Chesapeake.

POSTAL JOB

Greene, who receives a total disability payment of $615 a month, has applied for a job in the Portsmouth post office.

"We've rented a four-room house in Portsmouth," he said this week. "We've bought furniture. It will be delivered Saturday. We'll move in the same day."

"I plan to be a full-time housewife," Kathleen said.

Wed Wednesday

St. James United Methodist Church was the setting Wednesday for the marriage of Caroline Waldron of West Huron Street and Thomas M. Griffin Jr.

The couple is honeymooning in Florida.

Toasted Walnuts With Vegetables

Add chopped toasted California walnuts to melted butter and pour over such favorite hot cooked seasonable vegetables as cauliflower, broccoli, or brussels sprouts. Or, top the vegetables with mustard mayonnaise and sprinkle with chopped toasted walnuts.

To toast walnuts, drop kernels into rapidly boiling water; boil three minutes, drain well. Spread evenly in shallow pan and bake at 350 degrees, stirring frequently, about 15 minutes or until golden.

If you're using prepared chocolate frosting mix, add instant coffee to give a distinctive mocha flavor.

Area Collector Gives Document to Bowdoin

BRUNSWICK, Maine — An unusual document, joining the Bowdoin and the Hawthorne names, has been presented to the Bowdoin College Library by C. E. Frazer Clark Jr., of Sodon Lake Road.

The documents is a manuscript receipt, dated Boston, December 29, 1737, from James Bowdoin, the father of the governor of Massachusetts for whom Bowdoin College is named, to Hannah Hawthorne, an ancestor of the novelist Nathaniel Hawthorne.

It is the earliest recorded association between these two families, and shows the original spelling of "Hathorne" before Nathaniel began including a "w" in the name while a student at Bowdoin as a member of the Class of 1825.

★ ★ ★

Thomas Flucker received the payment of "seven pounds, thirteen shillings, two pence, in full for my master James Bowdoin Esq." from Hannah Hathorne through the agency of Johnathan Norton. Flucker, then only 18, later married Bowdoin's daughter, Judith, and rose eventually to the position of Secretary of the Province of Massachusets Bay.

James Bowdoin, the first of three family members with that name, was a highly successful Boston merchant and at his death left the largest estate probated in colonial Boston.

HONORS PRESIDENT

Clark, who has assembled the finest collection of Hawthorne books and manuscripts in private hands, presented the document in honor of the recent inauguration of Dr. Roger Howell Jr., as Bowdoin's tenth president.

In making his presentation, Mr. Clark said "I have searched for something appropriate to Bowdoin, to Hawthorne, and possibly to the occasion—a tall order. The best I can find is a treasure from my own collection, which makes it difficult to part with, but so appropriate to the occasion that I have come to feel it must be yours."

★ ★ ★

The manuscript receipt is on display with other Bowdoin family memorabilia in the college's Hawthorne-Longfellow Library.

Eggnog for Lift

A Vermont egg nog will get you and your family off to an energetic start in the morning. For each person, blend one cup of milk, one egg, and two tablespoons of maple-blended syrup until frothy. Drink up.

A runcible spoon is a fork with two broad prongs and one curing sharp-edged prong.

Washing Soda a Boon in Pre-Holiday Cleaning

Mix last minute Christmas shopping with last minute house-cleaning and something's got to give . . . probably you. By the time Dec. 25 comes 'round you'll feel like a piece of leftover minced pie.

Moral: Start housework now. Then you can devote fulltime to your shopping and face the holidays with nothing more than a case of sore feet.

To start you on your merry way, here are reminders on easily-overlooked check-points.

★ ★ ★

What's the state of your good linens . . . tablecloths, napkins, guest towels, etc. If their color has gone listless, strip them. That means tossing them into the washer with four tablespoons of washing soda . . . nothing else . . . and running them through the regular wash cycle.

This simple treatment removes the cause of dulling . . . a build-up of detergent residue that's refused to rinse out during past launderings. Sudsy water will confirm your diagnosis, for washing soda has no sudsing action.

Now wash them as usual with detergent, but less than you'd normally use plus four tablespoons of washing soda, and your linens will look alive as the day you bought them.

FINGERPRINTS?

Check your woodwork. Grubby fingerprint smudges, especially if they're within eye-catching reach of Christmas wreaths, are particularly unattractive. Since you're dealing with an oil-based grime . . . it's the oil in your hands that makes the imprints indelible . . . few housekeeping jobs are more frustrating. That's because so few products are especially formulated to fight grease.

One that is, is your laundry ally, washing soda. Four tablespoons of it combined with a quart of hot water lifts those imprints with a single swift sponge-down. Rinse with fresh water and then dry with an old terry cloth towel.

★ ★ ★

Use this same treatment on mirrors, windows, glass ornaments . . . anything designed to sparkle. It's especially effective if you live in an industrial area where a coating of airborne grease clings to surfaces and acts as a fly-catcher to dust.

Salt for Storage

Before rolling up canvas awnings or canvas chair backs for storing, sprinkle them freely with salt and then roll and tie in the usual way. Store in any cool dry place. The salt will absorb the moisture and prevent mildew .

Clean the way for the Christmas wreath or other holiday adornment by lifting fingerprint smudges from doors, woodwork and windows with a washing soda solution.

Use Sausage Bits With Sloppy Joes

Savory sausage makes super sloppy Joes. In skillet brown 1 pound bulk pork sausage with ¼ cup chopped green pepper; pour off fat. Stir in 2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits and ½ teaspoon sugar. Simmer 5 minutes. Serve over 6 hamburger buns, split and toasted. Makes 6 servings.

Neat Closet Encouraged by 'Op-Up'

"Up" is at a premium in many closets . . . especially in closets devoted to stacking "up" the many collectables of today's teen-agers. Shoes are frequently the losers, their lifetime spent being kicked around bedroom floors.

Phoebe Hodges, fashion coordinator for Hush Puppies, has devised a Christmas gift idea that should appeal to the instincts of any teen-ager as well as to her harassed mother. It's an "Op-Up" which opens additional space for shoe storage.

An "Op-Up" works on the same principle as a chest of drawers — only it's a chest of boxes. You can do it yourself in about two hours.

A shipping carton (9¼x10¾x17¾) plus nine ladies shoe boxes and about four rolls of adhesive-backed paper (depending on pattern and manufacturer) is all that is needed. Perhaps the shoe retailer from which you purchase the shoes will come to your aid with a shoe manufacturer's shipping carton and the nine shoe boxes.

First, remove open cardboard flaps on one side of the carton with a sharp single-edged razor. Then cover the outer box and the individual shoe boxes with the adhesive-backed paper, choosing one of the "op art" patterns which are readily available.

Or, use bright, contrasting solid-colored papers to color-code the shoes in a psychedelic rainbow.

★ ★ ★

The "op-Up" also can serve as a bedside table, or a notions table for inveterate floor-sitters.

Not only can Hush Puppies combo-colored shoes be worn with a multiplicity of today's mix-match separates—but, given at Christmas with this op art two-hour do-it-yourself storage unit, it is an invaluable way of keeping teen-agers' shoes off bedroom floors. It also doubles as a bedside table or stand. Christmas is only days away—start your long-range projects soon.

Domestic Help Must Pay Social Security

By ANNE TAYLOR
AP News Feature

A domestic worker wrote to me recently that because ill health and advanced age she can no longer work. She said, "I am without benefits because my employer never paid Social Security taxes."

Desperate and bitter, she asks: "Who helps the domestic worker, anyway?"

My answer: The Social Security Administration. This woman is not so badly off as she thinks. But the employer who didn't withhold the tax payments is in worse financial shape than she imagines.

The situation is all too common, and for that reason I believe we should briefly review the responsibilities involved before proceding with the answer.

First, the responsibilities belong almost entirely to the employer. It is up to her to withhold 4.8 per cent of the worker's gross pay, match that sum with a payment of her own, and send the entire amount to the government.

And what if she doesn't? The domestic must go to local Social Security office with her records. The employer than will be billed for all back payments — her own and the worker's — plus interest, plus a fine.

COSTLY TO BOTH

Some housewives have been shocked out of their shoes to receive such bills. Few women are really aware of how serious their responsibilities are. And often the domestic is equally casual about withholdings, even more so.

Here are some typical situations:

— The employer overlooks her responsibility because she is unfamiliar with the law. Or she decides to ignore the payments as a burden that can be dealt with later.

— The worker wants to cheat a bit on reporting her wages to the IRS. She asks her employer not to deduct Social Security payments in order to hide from the government the real extent of her taxable income.

In either situation, the law is being broken and it could be very costly to everyone involved.

★ ★ ★

The financial shock to the employer is obvious. But sometimes the employe loses out also because the Social Security people cannot find the former employers and thus cannot collect the back payments.

This is especially true in cases where the domestic has worked for a long list of people over a period of years and never has had the deductions made. If the employers cannot be found, the domestic sometimes is denied benefits.

CALCULATED DECEIT

Sometimes a domestic asks that the Social Security payments not be withheld, knowing full well that when she reports the facts to the Social Security officials they will bill the boss for both employer and employe shares.

The best advice for employers, therefore, is to refuse to accede to the worker's request. This might menn the loss of a worker, and this is no small matter today. But to agree can mean an even bigger bagful of troubles.

The safest, most responsible and only legal course is to fill out a Form 942 at a Social Security or IRS office. Each quarter of the year another form will be mailed automatically, to be returned with payment.

An amusing one-of-a-kind chess set that's sure to warm the cockles of a father's heart, a grandfather's or favorite uncle's . . . and it's a snap to stir up a game with play clay. The expense . . . little more than the cost of the clay which is cooked up out of baking soda and corn starch.

Mold a Fantastic Clay Chess Set

Do you sit wondering what on earth to give some of those "have everything" poeple on your Christmas gift list . . . trying to balance your savings against your forthcoming spendings?

Well, have you ever given your talents a fair try? Products of your loving hands contain the precious ingredients of surprise and originality. They're more special and personal than anything you merely buy. And the financial investment, of course, it tiny.

For example, how about an amusing one-of-a-kind chess set to warm the cockles of a father's heart, a grandfather's or a favorite uncle's . . . and it's a snap to stir up a game with play clay.

★ ★ ★

You'll need baking soda, corn starch, straight pins, white glue, poster paint and brush and clear nail polish. And here's the recipe for the play clay:

2 cups baking soda (1-pound package)
1 cup corn starch
1¼ cups cold water

In a saucepan, thoroughly combine baking soda and corn starch. Add water, mixing until smooth. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook a minute longer or until mixture resembles moist mashed potatoes (overcooking makes clay crumbly).

Remove from heat immediate, transfer to plate and cover with a damp cloth until cool enough to handle. Knead a little and store all but what you're about to use in closed plastic bag so it won't dry out.

Now, move over, Michelangelo, and start creating.

24 PIECES

One chess set requires 2 kings, 2 queens, 4 each bishops, knights and rooks and 16 pawns. Plan to work on a single group at a time.

In the set shown, the larger cubes and balls are about 1-inch in diameter, the smaller ones, about ⅝-inch in diameter. The balls used for horse ears and rook towers are so tiny they defy measurement. So that everything comes out the same size, make a sketch to guide you.

★ ★ ★

To form balls, roll clay between the palms of your hands and to form cubes pat the balls into squares. Make all components needed for one group, set them on waxed paper to dry for half an hour, then rework any that have settled into "squash-hood."

Allow another half hour drying period. Meanwhile, start another group.

To build the pieces, cut the heads off a batch of straight pins. Dip in in white glue and stick it half-way down into the center of each cube base. Push protruding pin top into a ball, which comes next. Repeat for each section you use.

The pinning should be done before the clay is completely dry. The mini balls on the rooks and knights are applied by moistening with water and pressing.

SEQUIN CROWNS

The crowns for the king and queen are cut from a big coin-shaped silver sequin and pushed into the clay at this stage. Or you can use little jewels, a bit of gilt braid, anything shiny.

When the pieces are hard and completely dry, paint them with poster paint. When the paint's dry, coat with nail polish.

As for the board, while you can buy one for practically nothing it's more smashing to have one that's color coordinated to your chess pieces.

A board is composed of sixty-four equal squares, eight by eight, in alternating colors. Glue squares of felt or vinyl on a piece of cardboard; border the board with matching felt or vinyl strips. Or paint one with poster paint and spray-lacquer it.

Woman Is Food-Wise

You just don't expect a Brigadier General, even an attractive, blonde one, to be so knowledgeable about food. However, Dorothy Larsson, the first woman to be awarded temporary rank of Brigadier General by the Air Force (1964) and who feeds about 3,000 people a day in the 5 plants at the Cincinnati Milling Machine Company has made some interesting observations about people and the food they eat.

"Weight control is a major concern," says this lady who presides over the cuisine at the largest machine tool company in the world, "but one thing strikes you deep . . . men watch their weight much more conscientiously than women. The girls talk about dieting, but the men actually follow the diet routines."

The "General" fluffed her blonde hair as she pondered a question. "Yes, there is a definite trend toward lighter lunches among blue-collar workers, office personnel and executives," she says.

★ ★ ★

"We introduced a light-lunch line for girls originally, but men are the biggest patrons of it. Even foundry workers and others who do heavy manual labor used to go for hot lunches featuring meat and potatoes, but sandwiches, soups and salads get a good deal more attention from them now.

"Everyone is more diet conscious, and people are constantly asking questions about cholesterol, which seems to be of greater concern to them than cyclamates.

"We have found that people want food that's easy to eat at lunch, things they can pick up with their fingers. I don't know whether that's due to the drive-in influence or the pressure of time but, I believe, one reason is concern over weight control.

"People are eyeing nutrition and they definitely are eating less in quantity, although the calorie intake has not been reduced too much.

"Tastes in food are a lot more sophisticated than they were 20 years ago. Once people get over their suspicions or inhibitions about foreign food they seem to prefer it as a change of pace.

"Occasionally we have an international-type lunch to lend a festive air to the cafeteria and serve Chinese, Mexican' and Italian food and specialties such as fish and chips. They go over very well, with only the most die-hard conservatives refusing to try them at least once."

As Dorothy Larsson has seen a strong trend away from meat and potato lunches among blue-collar workers and middle aged female personnel she notes that because most company cafeterias, such as her own which is subsidized by management, have low prices, many people tend to eat the heaviest meal of the day at noon.

Working parents, men and women who have small children, understandably prefer to eat with the small fry after work. The older employees who have no young children might be inclined to save on that awesome thing, the food bill, and eat in the company cafeteria, but even they prefer the lighter lunches these days.

Israel Denies Claim That Egypt's Troops Crossed Suez

Israel has denied Cairo's claim that 250 Egyptian troops crossed the suez Canal and occupied Israeli positions for about 24 hours.

"Nothing of the kind is known to us," said an Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv. "No Egyptian force entered any Israeli stronghold, neither did it remain there or blow it up."

Today, Israeli jets attacked Egyptian military targets in the central Suez Canal area for 20 minutes, the Israeli command announced. It said all the planes returned safely.

Egypt claimed that its troops crossed the northern part of the canal Saturday night and occupied positions on the Israeli side.

★ ★ ★

"Our troops succeeded in forcing the enemy to retreat three miles from the raided area," the communique claimed. "Both sides exchanged artillery and tank fire."

★ ★ ★

Cairo said the commander of the Egyptian force "managed to stay until 7 p.m. Sunday when he was ordered to withdraw." The Egyptian force "destroyed all Israeli fortified positions before withdrawing," the communique said. A later statement said the operation "established the combat competence of the Egyptian soldier and the enemy's hesitation to confront him face to face."

★ ★ ★

The raid was the biggest action claimed by Egyptian troops since the Arab-Israeli war of 1967.

In Beirut, the Lebanese Parliament approved the new government of Premier Rashid Karami, ending an eight-month political crisis resulting from the Lebanese army's attempts to curb Palestine guerrillas using villages in south Lebanon as bases for attacks on Israel. Karami was premier at the time, resigned, and had been trying ever since to form a new government.

RESTRICTED TO AREA

He succeeded Nov. 25 after the army and the guerrillas concluded an agreement restricting the guerrillas to a certain area.

Meanwhile, the Soviet government in effect extended recognition to the Palestine guerrillas by inviting a delegation from the Palestine Liberation Organization to visit Moscow at the end of the month. The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said it was the first time the Soviet government had invited an official delegation from the guerrillas to Moscow.

At the United Nations, the Arabs and the Israelis sides lobbied to line up votes for and against a resolution that Arabs displaced by the 1967 Middle East war be allowed to return to their homes.

Th resolution, recommended by the General Assembly's special political committee, calls on the Security Council to take action on the refuge problem.

VOTE WEDNESDAY

The General Assembly will vote Wednesday on the resolution. The committee approved it 50-22 with 38 nations abstaining and 16 absent. Only a simple majority was needed in the committee, but a two-thirds majority is required for passage in the assembly, and only four additional votes against the resolution would kill it.

The assembly passed resolutions in 1967 and 1968 calling on Israel to let displaced inhabitants of occupied Arab territories return to their homes.

Action on Revenue Bills Due in House

LANSING (UPI) — Bills to hike the state income tax and wipe out $48 million worth of tax loopholes to pay for Gov. William G. Milliken's education reform package are the big items in the House this week.

The 13-member taxation committee plans to spend today refining a bill that would boost personal income tax rates from the current 2.6 per cent rate to 3 per cent beginning July 1, 1970. Also included in the bill are increases from 5.6 to 6.5 per cent in industrial state income taxes and from 7 to 8.2 per cent for financial institutions.

★ ★ ★

The increase in the three categories is expected to generate $123 million in extra revenue during the 1970-71 fiscal year. The increase in the personal rate would bring in an additional $83 million, the industrial rate $36.9 million more and financial institutions an extra $1.7 million.

The income tax hike is designed to take the place of a Senate-passed bill calling for the repeal of the $116 million state income property tax credit which Milliken had proposed.

UNACCEPTABLE

House Democrats, who control the chamber, have indicated they would be unwilling to accept the tax credit repealer because they claim it hurts the low-and middle-income earner much more than well-to-do persons.

★ ★ ★

House Speaker William A. Ryan has proposed a plan allowing for partial repeal of the tax credit, but reportedly would be willing to accept the income tax hike instead of the repeal.

★ ★ ★

Despite the fact that 1970 is an election year, Ryan has been confident that lawmakers would be willing to vote the income tax.

In another tax area, formal floor debate is expected to begin later this week ona series of bills aimed at repealing tax execmptions worth $48 million.

REPORTED OUT

The Senate-passed bills were reported out of the House Taxation Committee late last week with only technical amendments added.

Little trouble is expected in getting the bills passed by the total House membership.

The bills, authored by Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, remove exemptions in such areas as nonprofit corporations, church cars, beer and liquor, catalog printing, 500-ton boats, a g ricultural processing, industrial processing, newspapers, magazines, radio, television, construction contracts, diesel fuel and food subsidies.

A bill dealing with the inheritance tax exemptions is being drafted by DeMaso and will be included in the total package.

SIX-MONTH STUDY

DeMaso drew up the exemption repealers following a six-month study of tax loopholes in Michigan.

Together, the exemption repealers and income tax hike would bring in about $171 million extra to state coffers to pay for part of a $183 million increase in the 1970-71 state school aid bill.

The total aid bill, which includes a $25 million allotment to parochial schools, is over $1

Abortion-Law Reform Hearings in Traverse City

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Hearings on possible abortion law reforms move to Traverse City today after the first of the 12 hearings was dominated by those favoring reform.

The first hearing by a state Senate committee was held in Detroit Saturday.

★ ★ ★

At the Detroit hearing, Dr. George Pickett, health director for Detroit and Wayne County, called for liberalized regulations saying a large portion of child abuse cases involve unwanted children.

However, a Wyandotte mother of six, Mrs. Leona Matkovich, contended that, "If we are going to liberalize abortion, it's for the irresponsible."

Scholarship Set; Honors Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) —A scholarship for minority group women has been established at the Columbia Journalism School in memory of LaRue Heard, a Detroit Free Press reporter killed in an automobile accident in the Virgin Islands last fall.

The scholarship was established jointly by Columbia University and the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. with funds partly donated by Miss Heard's coworkers.

Happy Birthday, Rudy

Friml Feted at 90

NEW YORK (AP) — With a lively buck-and-wing and a sparkling piano medley of his Broadway hits, Rudolf Friml startled 1,100 admirers at his 90th birthday party at the Shubert Theater Sunday night.

The American Socity of Composers, Authors and Publishers threw the party, featuring "The First 90 Years with Friml," a survey of his songs, backed by film clips and slides. Peter Lind Hayes was the narrator.

★ ★ ★

As the two-hour show ended, Friml, red-haired and with a red carnation in his buttonhole, sat at the piano and played his tunes with dazzling runs that had the aidience gasping.

Among his hits are "Indian Love Call," "The Donkey Serenade," "Rose Marie" and "The Vagabond King."

CONTEMPORARY VERSIONS

When a rock group, the Threshold, played contemporary versions of his songs, Friml leaped through a buck-and-wing, said he might publish some new tunes, and added, "Maybe this time though, I better get a guitar."

The slender, Czech-born composer told Constance Towers, who sang "Indian Love Call," "I've never heard 'Indian Love Call' sung better than this girl did it tonight."

★ ★ ★

He told the audience his mother had made him play the piano and recalled, "When I was six years old I was already making money playing music. Mothers should make their children learn something."

Other singers at the party were Allan Jones, who sang "Donkey Serenade," Jack DeLon Clifton Davis and Nancy Dussault. Jay Blackton conducted an orchestra that was heavy on romantic violins.

★ ★ ★

Ogden Nash read a poem written for the party, then all the guests joined in the only non-Friml song of the night, "Happy Birthday."

Blaze Claims State Girl, 12

CHATHAM (AP) — A 12-old girl, who returned to her burning home in an effort to save some gifts she planned to give for Christmas, was overcome by smoke and died in the blazing structure.

State Police said Dawn Jean Kempainen was dead on arrival Sunday at a hospital in nearby Munising.

Troopers said all six persons in the house fled when a fire began in an upstairs bedroom. But the girl returned to the burning building and died of suffocation. Her mother and a brother were treated for burns.

Most of the house was saved from the flames, troopers said.

Brutality Charges Against Political Police Spark Brazil Probe

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Charges of the physical and psychological torture of political prisoners and common criminals alike have spurred a government investigation into Brazil's security forces.

Reports of inmates beaten and subjected to other tortures have been trickling out of army and police installations for weeks. A Brazilian magazine and a group representing two jailed lawyers have leveled charges of brutality against police squads.

* * *

President Emilio Garrastazu Medici, whose government enjoys only limited popularity, has ordered his security forces "to immediately review their repressive schemes."

The influential newspaper O Estado de Sao Paulo said that in facing the charges "the government knows it opened a front that has its delicate aspects, but felt it could not take a defensive stand or allow its as of yet unfinished image to be deformed by suspicions of tolerance or complacency at excesses. It was a topic that could not have been withheld for long."

SIMULATED EXECUTIONS

Veja, a weekly news magazine, recently charged political police squads with subjecting political prisoners to electrical shocks, beatings, hunger and simulated executions before a firing squad. The magazine said the prisoners were confined in small, damp cells resembling coffins.

Justice Minister Alfredo Buzaid was quoted as saying he would launch "an inflexible investigation of responsibilities" as soon as he received a document from the Brazilian Order of Lawyers, which charged two lawyers in Brasilia were beaten by political police agents seeking to extract confessions.

* * *

Buzaid told newsmen last week he "knew of no cases of torture." His statement prompted the independent daily Correio da Manha to publish a cartoon in which a policeman, armed with a cat-o'-nine-tails and a blackjack, sucks his thumb and puts on an innocent air while the minister says: "Torturers. If there are any, they will be punished."

Leopoldo Heitor, a Sao Paulo lawyer who was held without charges for two weeks by the Sao Paulo political police, had a written a letter to Buzaid detailing some of the torments he witnessed.

HUNG FROM FEET

He claimed having seen priests, arrested in connection with charges of harboring alleged terrorists, "hung from their feet, absorbing shocks and beatings." He added that he saw a student walking by his own means into the police installation and leaving "the first interrogation carried by others, his hands and feet looking like the stump of a mortar, swollen all over."

Gen. Viana Moog, head of the Sao Paulo security police, has rejected charges that his men resort to tortures in the course of investigations.

"My Christian spirit does not accept such practices," he told Brazilian reporters.

Like other laywers, Heitor criticized regulations that allow authorities to keep political suspects incommunicado for 10 days.

However, lawyers have charged some prisoners are kept isolated for as long as two or more weeks. They specifically mention the case of a priest in the southern city of Porto Alegre, who they said was recently held incommunicado for 16 days.

Church Bans 'Silent Night'; Town Irked

MIESBACH, Germany (AP) — Residents of this town south of Munich are outraged because the local Roman Catholic Church council has voted to ban the carol "Silent Night" from Christmas services this year.

The council voted to stop using the 150-year-old song on grounds it has become commercialized through overuse and is played in every department store.

"The text and music of this song have lost their value for use in church, in part because of the song's everyday use for purposes opposed to the sentiments of the song," a pastoral letter explained.

Pastor Otto Fritz, who voted against the council's majority on the question, said there has been such a public furor that the matter will be reconsidered next week. "I got phone calls, letters and postcards and the whole town is up in arms defending the song," he said.

One elderly woman said: "Just wait, We'll sing 'Silent Night' in church Christmas even if the organist plays something else."

Soviets Plan Fastest Car

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Institute for Automobiles and Roads has set its sights on building the world's fastest car. The newspaper Pravda Ukrainy reported engineers are designing a car to reach the speed of sound 742 miles an hour.

The vehicle will have gas turbine engines capable of delivering 5,500 horsepower. It will be about 30 feet long.

Because of the high speeds, the first tests are to be made using radio signals rather than a human being, chief engineer Vladimir K. Nikitin said.

The newspaper described another car, still on the drawing board and quoted Nikitin as saying:

"I have no doubt that it will be the fastest in the world. We propose to overcome the sound barrier with it. The first testing field will probably be the frozen surface of a lake.' '

No dates were announced.

Charges Dropped Against 6 Men

DETROIT (AP) — Extortion conspiracy charges have been dropped against six men after six others were acquitted following a trial which lasted nine months.

Attorneys for the state's Organized Crime Division said "the ends of justice would not be served" by prosecuting Leo Detroit; Russell Badamo of Warren; and Albert Bucciero and Richard Zimmerman of East Detroit.

Sentries Guard Ruins of Viet Camp With Slingshot, Rat Traps

GUNTERSBLUM, Germany (AP)—U.S. Army sentries are guarding the ruins of a military camp near here, armed with a slingshot and two rat traps.

Sentries were assigned to the Rhine River camp when it was deactivated as a training site three years ago. The Army says the sentries are there to keep vandals away and prevent wanderers from injuring themselves.

There's little left to vandalize, and the guards' big problem is not with wanderers but with the camp's sole occupants—big, brown river rats.

The soldiers seem a little incredulous at the assignment.

"They just brought us out here and said guard it," Pfc. Dennis Walker, 18, of Oklahoma City, told a newsman. "But they didn't give us any special orders or weapons."

ONLY INTRUDERS

Spec. 4 Roy Richardson, 18, of O'Fallon, Ill., said the only intruders so far have been the rats.

"It's a regular herd of them. They've worn a path from the latrine to what used to be the septic tank," he said. "We have two traps in the latrine, but it wouldn't do any good to set them. The rats are bigger than the traps."

Walker said that as far as he was concerned, his only weapon was an old slingshot someone had left at the camp. "Anybody wants to take anything, they're welcome," he declared, pointing at the 14 dilapidated barracks.

* * *

When temperatures dropped to freezing in November, the Army parked a van at the site to serve as living quarters for the guards, who are changed every week.

UNIT LINK

Linking the guards with their unit, the 535th Engineers—an hour's drive away in Mannheim—was Spec. 4 Willie Davis, 25, of East St. Louis, Ill. He delivered mail and 25 gallons of diesel oil for the sentries' generator and stove.

"If it was up to me I'd run a bulldozer through, scrape everything into a neat pile and burn it," Davis said.

* * *

An Army spokesman, who described the camp as being "in a state of disrepair," said plans are being made to raze it.

Seven persons out of every 50 in the world today are Indians. India has a population of more than 526 million, 14 per cent of the world total, rising by 2.5 per cent a year.

4 Die, 4 Born as 300,000 Jam Rock Fest

TRACY, Calif. (AP) — A free rock music festival that police estimated drew 300,000 young people to the dry brown hills east of here brought with it a blanket of litter, four deaths, and four new babies.

The babies arrived prematurely to mothers who were taken to medical-aid tents staffed by 19 doctors and six psychiatrists. The staff also reported treating many youths for overdoses of drugs.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said the four men who died were:

● Meredith Hunter, 18, of Berkeley, Calif., stabbed in the back and face during a scuffle in front of the stage, where members of the Hells Angels motorcycle clan guarded the featured British Rolling Stones and other rock groups during the six-hour concert.

● An unidentified youth who toppled down a bank into a canal and drowned.

● Richard Salov, 22, of Elizabeth, N.J., and Mark Feiger, 22, of Union, N.J., who were run over by a car leaving the speedway site Saturday night after the concert. The two were lying on the ground in a group bedding down around one of the many campfires.

TRAFFIC JAM

Thousands of youngsters had poured into the area near the Altomont Speedway auto race track on Friday, the night before the concert, and hundreds stayed over Saturday night rather than fight what highway patrolmen called one of the Bay Area's most massive traffic jams.

The major highways into the isolated area were blocked for about 30 miles in the concert vicinity Saturday morning. Thousands of vehicles were parked while their occupants walked miles to the festival. Some 200 cars were impounded for blocking roads or being on private property.

There was much wine drinking, pot smoking and a few instances of open nudity, but police said most in the turnout were seeking to avoid trouble.

The Rolling Stones arrived late, near the end of the concert, which began about noon, and one fan swung at one of the Stones as they were being escorted to the dressing tent, said John Jones, a representative of the rock group.

VOLUNTEER CLEANUP

A volunteer crew of about 12 turned out Sunday to clean up the wine bottles, papers and other litter.

Proceeds from commercial films made at the festival were to be donated to a charity selected by the Rolling Stones, promoters said.

Jaguar Freed From NY Zoo

MIAMI (AP) — Rebecca the jaguar — caged by man for 14 years at Central Park Zoo — has been freed by a woman and soon will have a whole continent to prowl.

Julia Allen Field and Rebecca, 200 pounds of spotted agility, are on their way to South America's lush animal paradise, the Amazon Valley.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Field, slight and blonde, bought Rebecca after New York City's Central Park Zoo offered the cat for sale when she refused to adjust to captivity.

The wealthy Mrs. Field, a former zoo director who used to train lions and tigers, paid $810 for Rebecca despite zoo officials' warnings she had attacked a keeper and was the worst animal they ever had.

SECOND CHANCE

"She s getting a second chance to live," Mrs. Field said.

"I wanted to make certain we got it, considering the alternatives: being put to sleep or having the zoo sell it to some roadside attraction."

She said the cat had been captured in South America when it was two years old, probably somewhere in Brazil.

Mrs. Field said a private airplane provided the plane trip to South America for nothing, and said she has received several contributions.

Celebrities 'Sell' Love in All Colors

NEW YORK (AP) — "Love — It comes in all colors," is the message from the Urban Coalition.

More than 100 public figures, including former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, former world heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, Johnny Carson and Ed Sullivan, got together Sunday to film a television commercial aimed at putting the message across.

The would-be singers gathered at a Studio on East 44th Street under the baton of Mitch Miller. Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Ind., actress Myrna Loy, Chet Huntley, opera star Leontyne Price and jazz musician Cannonball Adderley were also in the chorus.

The cameras scanned the group as it sang "Let the Sun Shine In," from the rock musical "Hair."

BOOST MINORITIES

The words, "Love — It comes in all colors," will flash on the screen after the song.

The Urban Coalition, a private, nonprofit corporation, seeks to better minority employment, housing, health services and educational opportunities in 48 localities.

"The fact that all these people of every color agreed to come to the studio this afternoon shows what can be achieved," said Morton Dubin, who produced the commercial. "I think it will get that message across."

Filming took two hours, after which the cast, which had donated its services, held a buffet.

International Touch Baked in Yule Bread

In every part of the world, Christmas feasting is a splurge meant to sustain us through the last lap of winter until the first buds of spring break through. Christmas brings promises of light in the midst of darkness.

Christmas memories wouldn't be complete without nostalgic recollections of home-baked holiday breads. Yeasty coffeecakes golden with eggs and brimming with candied fruit and nuts are the stuff of which happy holidays are made.

★ ★ ★

Many of them are prepared from treasured family recipes handed down from generation to generation. They are served not only for the big family dinner, but are offered to guests throughout the season.

★ ★ ★

Here are three traditional Christmas favorites from other lands: the famous omelet-shaped Stollen of Dresden, Germany; a Lithuanian-inspired loaf flavored with lemon and poppy seed; and a rich golden round bread from Verona, Italy.

★ ★ ★

All are prepared by the Rapid-mix Method developed by Fleischmann's Yeast. Instead of dissolving yeast in warm water, Rapidmix treats it as a dry ingredient added with some of the flour, sugar and salt. In addition, initial beating with an electric mixer not only facilitates mixing but makes doughs lighter and easier to handle.

STOLLEN

5½ to 6 cups unsifted flour
½ cup sugar
1¼ teaspoons salt
2 packages active dry yeast
¾ cup milk
½ cup water
⅔ cup margarine
3 eggs (at room temperature)
¾ cup chopped blanched almonds
¾ cup mixed candied fruits
½ cup golden raisins
Confectioners' sugar frosting

Shape Yeast Dough Into Boy, Girl Figures

Finnish people share a love of pastry and breads with their Scandinavian neighbors. Finnish Christmas Rolls are flavored with cardamom, a popular Scandinavian spice, and are made from the same dough as the Swedish lussekatter.

Shaped into boys and girls especially for the Christmas season, these rolls are easy to make using the "dry - mix" method.

FINNISH CHRISTMAS ROLLS

Dough:
1 cup milk, scalded
⅔ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup cold water
3 eggs, beaten
5½ to 6 cups sifted all - purpose flour
2 pkg. dry yeast
1½ cups oatmeal (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1 teaspoon cardamom

Egg Wash:
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon milk
1 tablespoon water

For dough, pour scalded milk over sugar, salt and butter; stir to melt butter. Add cold water and cool to lukewarm. Stir in eggs, 2 cups flour and yeast; beat 2 minutes. Add oats, cardamom and enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until smooth and satiny, about 10 minutes. (Dough will be somewhat soft.) Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted shortening.

Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour. (Dough can be refrigerated several hours or overnight.) Punch dough down; divide in half. Use one half of dough to form "boys" and the other half to form "girls."

★ ★ ★

To form "boys," pinch off ten 1½ - inch balls for "heads" and ten 3 - inch long rolls (about 1 inch in diameter) for "bodies." Roll remaining portion of this dough into long "ropes" and cut into pieces (each about 1½ inches long) for "arms" and "legs." Assemble on greased cookie sheets.

GIRLS

To form "heads" for "girls," pinch off ten 1½ - inch balls; divide the balls in half (a total of twenty pieces). Shape ten of the pieces into balls; roll the other ten pieces into long "ropes" and shape around balls to form "hair." To form "bodies" pinch off ten 3 - inch long rolls (about 1 inch in diameter), form into triangular shapes for "dresses."

Roll remaining dough to form "arms" and "legs." Assemble on greased cookie sheets.

Brush lightly with melted butter. Cover; let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 30 minutes.

For egg wash, combine egg, milk and water; brush lightly on each roll. Decorate "faces" with raisins and red cinnamon candies. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in preheated hot oven (400 degrees) about 10 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 20 rolls.

NOTE: If dough is refrigerated, let stand at room temperature about 10 minutes before shaping.

Rice Keeps Well for Some Time

It's a fact — rice is as good a product reheated as when it was first prepared. Rice can be refrigerated about a week or frozen up to eight months either separately or with any other food that freezes well.

When storing cooked rice, cover the container so that the grains will not dry out or absorb the flavors of other foods.

To reheat, add rice to enough hot liquid in pan to prevent scorching. Cover pan tightly, reduce heat to simmer and steam about five minutes.

FRIED RICE AND MEAT

Measure 2 tablespoons fat or oil in large fry pan over medium heat. Add 1 cup chopped cooked ham, chicken or canned luncheon meat and ½ chopped small onion. Cook over medium heat until onion is tender.

Add 4 cups cooked rice and 2 tablespoons soy sauce. Reduce heat; cook 10 minutes. Break 1 egg into small bowl and beat well. Add to rice mixture. Cook and stir 5 minutes.

FINNISH CHRISTMAS ROLLS — Youngsters will love having their breakfast rolls at Christmas time in the shape of dough boys and girls. Tell them children in Finland have them this way.

Pontiac Open Bowling Semifinals Next as Qualifying Ends

Excess of 500 Bowlers Gain Target Scores

More qualifying records fell by the wayside as all qualifying for the Pontiac Open Bowling Championship ended yesterday at nine sites.

Some 502 bowlers finished with the target score of 600 or better in three weeks of qualifying and they will go into the semifinals next weekend at Firebird Lanes.

★ ★ ★

The percentage of qualifiers was extremely high as indicated by yesterday's totals.

Several establishments had better than 50 per cent qualifying.

★ ★ ★

The total number of bowlers failed to pass the 1,423 which participated in 1967, but the percentage of qualifiers was higher.

★ ★ ★

Last year some 356 bowlers qualified, which was 35 per cent of the total. This year almost 46 per cent of the entries qualifed, with houses like West Side, Collier, Billy G., Cooley and North Hill finishing with the highest percentage.

MOST ENTRIES

Firebird Lanes had the highest total of entries and the most number of qualifiers.

Among yesterday's outstanding scores, Dale Remley fired a 712 actual at Firebird, while the highest actual of the tournament was Nick Coates' 759 at North Hill.

★ ★ ★

Coates bowled scratch and thus his total failed to surpass the 761 posted by John Zoellner at North Hill.

The highest total among women bowlers was rolled by Gerry Hintz whose 652 actual at Firebird gave her a 696 total.

At North Hill, little Yvonne Jaques posted a 664 total.

★ ★ ★

At Bill G. Bowl, 19-year-old Ken Scourtes fired a 735 total and Bob Leibler erased the Cooley qualifying marks with 691 total and 258 high game.

HIGH ACTUAL

Norm White took top qualifying honors at 300 Bowl where he fired a 681, while Jerry Perna posted a high actual series at West Side with his 670.

HIT THE PINS HARD — Nick Coates (right) had the bowling ball working yesterday as he rolled a 759 actual at North Hill. His total wasn't enough to oust John Zoellner (right) whose 761 was high qualifier in the house. Yvonne Jaques was the top woman bowler at North Hill with 664.

Baltimore Fans Show Wrath

Lions Tie Boo-Delayed Game With Colts

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Those 60,238 vociferous Colts fans had the Lions up a tree. Detroit coach Joe Schmidt thought it was a little bush.

Baltimore's rooters loosed all their pent-up frustration over the Super Bowl and a disappointing 7-4-1 season in the third quarter of Sunday's 17-17 tie with Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The din of boos sent quarterback Bill Munson back from the line of scrimmage 10 times before he was finally able to get a play started — a 32-yard pass to tight end Charlie Sanders. The delay lasted 11 minutes.

★ ★ ★

The uproar was created by a correct officials' ruling that a David Lee punt which caromed off Larry Walton of the Lions into the end zone, where it was downed by Jum Duncan of the Colts, was a touchback for Detroit rather than a touchdown for Baltimore.

RULING MADE

The NFL Digest of Rules clearly states "Touchback: A touchback is the situation in which a ball is dead on or behind a team's own goal line, provided: The impetus came from an opponent and provided it is not a touchdown."

★ ★ ★

"Impetus is the key word, being earlier defined in the rules as "the action of a player which gives momentum to ball." Detroit would have had to have possession for the play to result in a Baltimore touchdown.

★ ★ ★

"I thought it was bush," Schmidt said of the crowd reaction to the play. He likely would have said the same thing if he could have heard announcer Chuck Thompson's criticism of Munson's refusal to put the ball in play on television.

★ ★ ★

Thompson, who does the Orioles' games on radio and used to follow the Colts regularly until CBS put its rotating announcers system into operation, said Munson would have to put the ball in play and take his chances. Munson was clearly within his rights under NFL rules not to call a play until the signals could be heard,

Huskie Cagers Play Tonight at Highland Park

Pontiac Northern will travel tonight to meet powerful Highland Park in a rescheduled basketball game at Hackett Field House.

The game, originally set for tomorrow at Hackett, had to be changed for tonight because of a court conflict.

★ ★ ★

Highland Park started its season last Friday by whipping the always-tough River Rouge Panthers, 57-53.

The Huskies opened the season last Tuesday by defeating Clarkston, 74-60, as Charlie Moncrief netted 23 points.

★ ★ ★

"Highland Park is always tough in that little gym," said coach Dick Hall. "In fact, anyone who beats River Rouge has to be tough."

Game time at Hackett fieldhouse on Third Street in Highland Park is at 8 p.m.

Chicago Tears Wings' Defense

The Chicago Black Hawks tore through Red Wing defenses Sunday night to wrest a 5-1 win in National Hockey League action in Chicago.

The victory over Detroit was Chicago's first in three games, but it still left the Hawks trailing the Wings by a point in the race for the playoffs.

★ ★ ★

Both teams were weary—Detroit was playing its eighth game in 12 nights and the Hawks their fourth in five days. Sunday night the goalies were overworked.

★ ★ ★

In other NHL action Sunday, New York downed Montreal 6-3, Boston tied Minnesota 2-2, Pittsburgh topped Toronto 3-2 and St. Louis dumped Philadelphia 4-1.

POWER PLAYS

Detroit goalie Roy Edwards had yielded power play goals to Bobby Hull and Eric Nesterenko in the first period and appeared to have the Hawks well contained until late in the third period when Doug Mohns, Stan Mikita and Lou Angotti cracked through the Red Wing defense.

Angotti was serving a major penalty for having slashed Garry Unger across the back of the head when goalie Tony

Browns Beat Green Bay

Kelly Runs Wild Against Packers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leroy Kelly ran for 151 yards, the National Football League's best individual performance of the season, and the defense held the Green Packers in check Sunday as the Cleveland Browns closed their home season with a 20-7 victory.

Kelly ran 14 times for 118 yards in the first half and Bill Nelsen completed nine of 18 passes for 116 yards, including a 30-yard touchdown to Paul Warfield, as the Browns built a 13-0 halftime lead.

Don Cockroft, who had made only eight of 19 previous field goal attempts, booted 20 and 45-yard field goals for the other Browns' scores in the first half.

Cleveland padded its lead in the third quarter when safety Ernie Kellerman ran an interception 40 yards for a touchdown.

TOP YARDAGE

Kelly's 151 yards came on 22 carries as the Central Division champions upped their record to 9-2-1 before 82,137 fans.

It was the 11th straight home crowd of more than 80,000 for the Browns and set a season record of 663,892 for seven regular games and the pre-season doubleheader.

★ ★ ★

The Packers (6-6) failed to penetrate Cleveland's 40 until the fourth quarter.

★ ★ ★

The Browns lost a their bid for their first shutout of the season with 1:46 left to play, when Green Bay quarterback Don Horn threw 29 yards to Dave Hampton for a touchdown.

It was the Browns' first win over the Packers since 1956.

The Browns lost four regular season games and a championship game to the Packers in the intervening years.

The Browns mounted their first scoring drive late in the first quarter from the four-yard line. Kelley ran four times for 48 yards and fullback Ron Johnson four times for 26 yards to set up Cockroft's first field goal from the 20.

Kelly ran three times for 59 yards in the second scoring drive, which was capped by Nelson's 30-yard pass to Warfield in the end zone.

Cockroft's 45-yard field goal came with just 12 seconds left in the half and was set up by Nelsen passes of 14 yards to Warfield and 22 and 5 yards to Milt Morin.

The Browns gave up only four first downs and 90 total yards in the first half. Horn completed only three of 10 passes for 45 yards, and Travis Williams led the Packers rushers with 28 yards in seven carries.

★ ★ ★

The Browns, meanwhile, picked up 13 first downs and totaled 273 yards in the first half.

The Packers' score came at the end of a 63-yard drive in which Horn completed passes of 18 yards to Perry Williams and 14 yards to John Spilis.

An interference penalty against Cleveland linebackers Jim Houston put the ball on the Cleveland 12, but holding penalty three plays later put the ball back at the 29.

Horn hit Hampton on the next play for the TD.

ONCE BEFORE

It was the 20th time in Kelly's career he gained more than 100 yards in a game. He had turned the trick just once before this year.

The league's rushing champion the past two years was slowed by a leg injury early in the season, but now has carried 168 times for 706 yards.

Kellerman's interception was his second of the season. It was the fourth TD scored by a Browns defender this year.

Travis Williams ended up with 47 yards in 14 carries to lead Green Bay's rushing, and Hampton had 33 yards in eight carries.

★ ★ ★

Horn finished the game with 10 completions in 23 tries for 122 yards, and Nelsen had 10 completions in 24 attempts for 137 yards.

Morin caught five passes for 63 yards, and Warfield two for 44 to lead Browns receivers. Hampton had three catches for 38 yards for the Packers.

Booing Turns to Cheers for Dolphins' QB

MIAMI (AP) — Booed and cursed, Rick Norton inspired Miami to a 27-24 upset of Denver Sunday before 25,332 fans who suddenly found themselves cheering for the heretofor $400,000 flop.

★ ★ ★

Denver's Bill Thompson bobbled a punt at the Bronco 15-yard line to give Miami the opening it needed to snap a 17-17 deadlock. Frank Emanuel recovered and it took Jim Kiick three plays to blast over for the go-ahead score.

★ ★ ★

Lloyd Mumphord, brilliant as a cornerback all day, intercepted a Steve Tensi pass to stall Denver's hope for victory and Karl Kremser delivered a 15-yard field goal to give Miami plenty of cushion.

Miami now has a 3-9-1 record going into next week's windup against the New York Jets. Denver is 4-8-1 and must beat Cincinnati to escape the Western Division cellar.

★ ★ ★

The Dolphins, playing for a coach—George Wilson — on the hot seat for his job, are on the Eastern Division's bottom, but Sunday was all theirs.

Falcons Wallop Saints, 45-17

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Quarterback Bob Berry hurled three touchdown passes and running back Harmon Wages scored two and threw for another Sunday as the Atlanta Falcons manhandled New Orleans 45-17 in a National Football League battle.

Berry and Wages teamed up on an 88-yard scoring bomb in the second period and Wages broke loose in the final quarter on a 66-yard touchdown run. Both plays set Atlanta records for distance on scoring plays in those categories.

★ ★ ★

Berry also whipped scoring passes of 13 yards to Paul Flatley and nine yards to Gail Cogdill, who made a great one-handed catch in the end zone.

Wages pitched a 16-yard pass to Flatley for a touchdown in the first quarter.

Two Falcon linebackers also figured in the Atlanta scoring as the Falcons ended New Orleans' three-game winning streak.

PUNT BLOCKED

Ron Acks crashed through to block Olie Cordill's punt in the first quarter and fell on the ball in the New Orleans end zone for Atlanta's first touchdown.

Middle linebacker Don Hansen filling in most of the season for the injured Tommy Nobis, intercepted two passes in the second half, returning one 40 yards to the 12 to set up a touchdown and other 11 yards to the 15 to set up a 19-yard field goal by Bobby Etter.

★ ★ ★

Berry completed 10 of 18 passes for 211 yards before sitting out the final eight minutes.

The Saints scored on Tom Dempsey's 20-yard field goal and Bill Kilmer's three-yard pass to Tony Baker in the second period. They added another touchdown in the final three minutes of the game on Ernie Wheelwright's one yard plunge ending an 80-yard drive.

Fumble Helps Redskins Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fumble recovered for a touchdown by rookie end John Hoffman and quarterback Sonny Jurgensen's second touchdown pass rallied Washington to a 34-29 National Football League victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday and assured Vince Lombardi of at least a .500 record in his first season as Redskin's coach.

The Redskins trailed 16-13 at halftime played on an ice-covered Astroturf that made the footing treacherous. Hoffman a 260-pounder from Hawaii, fell on a fumble in the end zone by Eagles' quarterback Norm Snead with 7:54 remaining in the third period to send Washington ahead to stay.

Despite their victory, the Redskins were eliminated from the NFL's Capitol Division race which was clinched by Dallas who beat Pittsburgh Sunday 10-7.

GIANTS' TALLY — Halfback Joe Morrison of the New York Giants (40) goes over for a touchdown in the first period of the game against the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday as Larry Wilson (8) tries to stop the advance. The Giants walloped the Cardinals, 49-6.

Giants End Loss String by Blistering Cardinals

NEW YORK (AP) — When a pro football club that has lost seven straight suddenly turns around and piles up 517 yards in offense while winning 49-6, explanations are in order.

That was why the writers swarmed around Fran Tarkenton's locker Sunday afternoon after he had thrown four touchdown passes and led the revived New York Giants to a ridiculously easy win over St. Louis.

"Everybody was so frustrated," said the Giants' scrambling quarterback," they just played one heck of a game. The good thing was to see the kids come out there as late in the season as this and play as hard as they did.

"Everything in the world has happened to us this year. Today our defense simply overpowered them and they are as good an offensive team as there is in football. We stopped their running game."

SPECIAL TEAMS

Just how good are the Giants? "If our special teams (punting and kickoffs) had just played even with the opposition, we'd be 9-3 instead of 4-8," said Tarkenton.

"Alex (Coach Alex Webster) knows what we need to do to be a consistent winner. I am confident the whole situation is going to turn around very rapidly. We have two games to go. We need to win them and I think we will.

"We've struggled through a hard season. I think it brought these kids together. We've put in some motion and some different formations to put more pressure on the defense. We have gained 300 or more yards every week for five weeks.'

Joe Morrison, 32, scored three touchdowns and caught seven passes for 96 yards.

L. A. 11-Game Streak Ended by Minnesota

Western Division Tilt Still Ahead for Big Defensive Rivals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The question today: If Los Angeles couldn't beat Minnesota in sunny, 70-degree Ram weather, can they do it in Viking weather Dec. 27?

That's when and where these two National Football League powers will decide the Western Conference title and the right to meet either Dallas or Cleveland, the Eastern finalists, for the NFL championship.

The Rams lost their renown as pro football's only unbeaten team to Minnesota Sunday, 20-13. Down the drain went the dream of a perfect season.

Los Angeles had won 11 straight. The Vikes now have won 11 in a row. Coastal and Central Division winners, each team is now 11-1.

Sunday's combat had no essential significance since each team had its division locked up.

BIG CROWD

But a season Ram record crowd of 80,430 jammed Memorial Coliseum for the live action and a national television audience was tuned in.

Viking Charlie West raced the opening kickoff back 78 yards to the Rams' 22. Five plays later Dave Osborn bulled over from the 4.

It was a Viking afternoon from then on until the Rams, trailing 20-6, awakened to score a touchdown with 2 minutes 59 seconds remaining and pose a momentary threat to tie it up in the final 50 seconds.

It was not to be. The violent Vikings ended the threat in midfield.

Ram Coach George Allen would have no part of a theory that perhaps the pressure as an unbeaten team might be relieved.

"Losing," said Allen, "never relieves pressure. People who don't want pressure deserve to be buried."

"This game," said the Vikes' coach, Bud Grant, "furthered the respect we have for each other."

RUSHING ATTACKS

Minnesota quarterback Joe Kapp completed 8-of-16 passes for 72 yards but emphasized his rushing attack in the second half. Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel completed 31-of-37 for 186 yards, most of them during a hot final quarter.

Minnesota's bruising running backs, Bill Brown and Osborn, and later Brown's replacement, Oscar Reed, accounted for 177 yards rushing.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota's defensive units, with middle linebacker Lonnie Warwick patricularly outstanding, limited the Ram rushing to 61 yards.

"We lost to a better team. We didn't play as emotional a game as in the past." said Allen, the disconsolate Ram boss."

Baseball Era Ends, However . . .

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Baseball truly has come to the end of an era, but the game's revisionists have yet to realize the brave new world they hope to inhabit.

The winter meetings, which capped the major leagues' centennial year and marked the conclusion of Warren Giles' half-century of service, broke up last Saturday without resolution of a bold plan to streamline the game.

★ ★ ★

Player-swapping was fairly brisk during the week-long meetings, with the Oakland A's most active on the market, but the biggest administrative development proved to be the election of Charles "Chub" Feeney to succeed Giles as National League president.

And that development apparently blocked any chance of immediate changes in the game's power structure.

The owners heard a report Saturday from their planning committee on restructuring, of which Feeney is a member, before returning home.

But no action was taken on such far-reaching proposals as making the league presidents responsible to the commissioner as well as their member clubs and relocating all the offices minor and major league under one roof.

On the trade front, several clubs left the meetings with needed additions, among them the A's, the world champion New York Mets, the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators.

The A's came to Florida looking for pitching, catching and outfield help. They returned to the West Coast with three new pitchers (Al Downing, Diego Segui and Jim Grant), a catcher (Frank Fernandez), a topflight outfielder (Felipe Alou) and an infielder (Ray Oyler) in deals with Atlanta, the Yankees, Seattle and St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

The Mets obtained speedster Joe Foy from Kansas City for two young prospects, ending their search for a right-hand hitting third baseman to replace retired Ed Charles.

★ ★ ★

The Yankees dealt temperamental Joe Pepitone to Houston for Curt Blefary and acquired Danny Cater from Oakland for Downing and Fernandez in a bid to add more run-production.

Washington, shopping for second basemen, got two of them —Dave Nelson in a multi-player deal with Cleveland and Bob Schroder in a conditional purchase from San Francisco.

The Schroder sale was the 15th and last player transaction at the meetings.

Chargers Bomb Patriots

SAN DIEGO, Calif (AP) — Veteran John Hadl came off the bench to throw two touchdown passes, including a 76-yard bomb to Lance Alworth, and the San Diego Chargers rolled past the Boston Patriots 28-18 Sunday.

The Chargers, 7-6, killed the second place playoff hopes of the Patriots, 4-9, in the Eastern Division of the American Football League before 33,146 fans at San Diego Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Hadl watched rookie Marty Domres quarterback the Chargers to a 14-3 halftime lead, then entered the game to complete five of seven passes for 165 yards in the third quarter.

The Chargers took a 21-3 lead when Hadl pumped a 17-yard pass to Gary Garrison who split two defenders and ran into the end zone.

Mitch Hanson and Jim Thorsen pulled down 11 rebounds to help the Country Day cause.

Leading only 35-34 at halftime, Country Day went into a third period stall and gave up only one bucket.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — With a stunning left hook and right cross, Leotis Martin knocked out former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston Saturday. To the former champ's manager it was "a freak.'

"It was a freak break that he got,"said manager Dick Sadler, referring to a Martin-inflicted nose bleed that slowed the 37-year old Liston.

"There was nothing wrong with him Liston," Sadler maintained. "He could fight 100 times and never have it happen again."

Lifting himself from the canvas several minutes after the fight, Liston, 219, of Las Vegas, said he would be "doing better next time."

Martin, 199, Philadelphia, entered the match a 13-5 underdog, but surprised Liston with the devastating combo with 1:28 left in the ninth round. He left the ring recognized as North American heavyweight champion by the North American Boxing Association, which includes nine states and Mexico.

Policemen Better Deputies in First Annual 'Pig Bowl'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—About 1,500 hardy spectators braved drizzle and wet snow Sunday to watch the Ann Arbor Police Department overwhelm the Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies 19-0 in the first Pig Bowl football game.

The benefit game, organized by Police Chief Walter Krasny, Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey and the Southeast Michigan Kiwanis Club, was designed to raise funds to buy needy children Christmas toys. Organizers said about 3,000 tickets were sold at $2 each and they hope to make it an annual affair.

Both Harvey and Krasny agreed to the name Pig Bowl in what was termed "an attempt to turn an epithet into a benefit." At the end of the game, District Judge S.J. Elden presented the trophy, a vintage hog slop bucket, to the police.

Wings Lose 5-1 Decision

Esposito moved to his right to snag a puck with his glove. As he was attempting to steady himself, the puck dropped out of his glove onto the stick of Gordie Howe who had the net to himself.

★ ★ ★

New York's Jim Neilson scored his first NHL goal of the year Sunday, putting the puck into the unprotected cage after a spectacular fake by Rod Gilbert had lured Montreal's Rogatien Vachon away from the net. That broke a third period tie and led the Rangers to their 6-3 win.

Boston's Dallas Smith dove in front of a vacated Boston net Sunday night to save a potential Minnesota goal in the second period and then scored one himself in the third as the Bruins battled the North Stars to a 2-2 tie.

In other NHL action Sunday, Pittsburgh tripped Toronto 3-2, St. Louis dumped Philadelphia 4-1 and Chicago ripped Detroit 5-1.

In Saturday's action, Minnesota edged Montreal 4-3, Toronto blanked Pittsburgh 5-0, Boston took Chicago 6-1, Detroit dumped St. Louis 5-1 and Los Angeles whipped Oakland 5-3.

FAKED OUT

The Rangers and Canadiens were tied at 2-2 when Gilbert drew Vachon away from the net by winding up for his slap shot. Then he slipped the puck to Neilson, who had cut for the unprotected net. That goal made it 3-2 and less than a minute later, Gilbert and Neilson set up Jean Ratelle for another and New York pulled away.

The victory stretched New York's unbeaten streak to 13 games—their longest in 30 years—and opened a four-point bulge for the Rangers over both the Canadiens and Boston.

★ ★ ★

The Bruins were tied by Minnesota in the last five minutes when Bob Barlow scored. That gave the expansionist North Stars three of a possible four points over the weekend against Montreal and Boston — two of the powers of the established East Division. Minnesota beat Montreal Saturday.

Smith blocked a shot from the corner by Minnesota's Billy Collins, who had pulled goalie Ed Johnston out of the Bruins' net. Then Smith scored the Bruins' go-ahead goal which stood up until Barlow hit.

★ ★ ★

Rookie Michel Briere scored a pair of goals and Pittsburgh knocked off Toronto. Dean Prentice scored his 11th goal of the season for the Penguins and the 307th of his NHL career.

The victory kept the surprising Penguins in third place in the West, just one point back of Minnesota.

St. Louis widened its West lead to six points by beating Philadelphia with two goals by Red Berenson. Phil Goyette had three assists for the Blues.

Palmer Charges to Victory

Arnie's Army Happy Again

MIAMI (AP) — The charge was there, the shouting, stampeding gallery was there and it was the Palmer of old.

★ ★ ★

"Charge, Arnie, Charge," they shouted, and Arnold Palmer grinned that infectious grin, hitched up his britches with a characteristic gesture, and responded.

★ ★ ★

He responded like the Palmer of years gone by, charging up from six strokes off the pace with a seven-under-par 65 that brought him the title in the $125,000 Danny Thomas-Diplomat Golf Classic and left Gay Brewer—the front-runner for three days—panting in the dust of Arnie's whooping army.

★ ★ ★

"This thing, this winning, means everything to me," said Palmer, a non-winner for more than a year and now author of consecutive triumphs, the only player to score that feat this year.

★ ★ ★

"Getting it going again is probably the thing I wanted most in my life. I knew I was going to play again, but I didn't know how successfully. There were some doubts in my own mind."

NO FLUKE

If anyone had any lingering doubts, any thoughts that last week's victory was a fluke, the old master dispelled them with a game from out of his past, a game in the tradition of the dramatic style that was his trademark in the decade he dominated the game.

The gallery was relatively small, about 10,000, but they all were with Palmer.

★ ★ ★

"Go, Baby, Go," they pleaded. He started to move on the fifth hole, canning a 10-foot birdie putt while Brewer, with a six-shot lead going into the day's play and playing one twosome back, took the first of three consecutive bogeys.

★ ★ ★

Palmer put a wedge six feet from the pin on the next hole and canned the putt. He just missed a hole in one on the ninth, tapped in for another bird, and turned just one shot back.

STILL PUSHING

Brewer, who finished with a 73 for 272, and Palmer parred the next three holes but Gay went one more ahead with a birdie on 13. He might as well have waved a red flag at a bull.

★ ★ ★

Palmer put a four iron eight feet from the hole on 14 and made the putt. He was one stroke back. A nine iron to four feet on the 15 and it was even.

Gay bogeyed the 16th from the woods and Arnold was alone in front.

He nailed it down with birds on the last two holes, two-putting the par five 17th and running in a 12-footer on the last hole.

Canine's Shot Helps Ohio Sink Purdue

By The Associated Press

Former All-Oakland County and all-state cager John Canine from Hazel Park hit the key bucket that gave Ohio University the lead and an 80-79 victory over highly ranked Purdue Saturday night in Athens, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

With 1:57 left, Canine hit a 20-foot jumper to put Ohio University ahead 77-76 and a few seconds later Tom Corde hit the free throws to ice the game over the highly rated Boilermakers.

★ ★ ★

Canine finished with 14 points, on seven field goals while another ex-County star, Craig Love from Groves, added 11.

Purdue's Rick Mount had 29 points and Greg McDivitt had 20 points and 20 rebounds for Ohio U.

No. 1 South Carolina was beaten by Tennessee 55-54.

Kentucky, No. 2, enhanced its standing by clubbing Kansas 115-85 while No. 4 UCLA nipped Minnesota 72-71 in overtime.

Hoping to move up at the expense of South Carolina and Purdue are Davidson, New Mexico State, North Carolina, Marquette and Villanova — Nos. 5 through 9 — after victories Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Davidson had the roughest time before subduing Michigan 91-85. New Mexico State rolled past Baylor 102-83, Marquette slammed Wisconsin-Milwaukee 86-58 and Villanova topped Princeton 60-46.

Tomjanovich and Rodney Ford combined for 50 of the Wolverines' points in a game Saturday night which saw the unranked visitors leading by 10 points midway through hte second half.

But Bryan Adrian, a sophomore who led the Wildcats in scoring with 24 points, hit three straight field goals to shave the Michigan lead to four points with 11:06 remaining in the game.

Then, Davidson took control with five minutes left as Jan Postma and Mike Maloy scored field goals and Doug Cook netted several key rebounds.

★ ★ ★

Davidson held the edge in rebounds 55-35 to offset the scoring of Tomjanovich and Rodney Ford.

After 22 Years, EMU Beats Titans, 73-66

By the Associated Press

For the first time in 22 years, Eastern Michigan's basketball team can truthfully say it enjoyed a trip to Detroit.

Eastern rallied from an early first half deficit Saturday night and took the lead for good with 1:43 remaining in the half en route to a 73-66 victory over the Titans.

★ ★ ★

It was the first time since 1947 that Eastern had beaten Detroit.

Larry Moore poured in 25 points for the Titans to become the game's leading scorer while Earle Higgins led Eastern with 18.

In other games involving Michigan teams Saturday night: Michigan bowed to fifth-ranked Davidson 91-85; Michigan State lost to Toledo 82-80; Pacific nipped Western Michigan 77-75; Albion downed Alma 93-79; Wayne State stopped Windsor 71-57.

NORTHERN BATTERED

Wayne State led almost from the beginning against Windsor and three of the Canadian team players fouled out in the final minutes.

Spring Arbor topped 100 points for the sixth time in seven games while beating Bethel. Three Spring Arbor players, Gerald Byrd, Bobby Tompkins, and Jerry Neigh topped 20 points.

Simpson Fouls Out in Defeat

Rockets Rally for Last Period Win

EAST LANSING (AP) —Sophomore sensation Ralph Simpson was expected to be the key to Michigan State's basketball fortunes and without him the Spartans have absorbed their first loss of the still young season.

★ ★ ★

Simpson fouled out midway through the second half Saturday night and unbeaten Toledo nipped the Spartans 82-80. Simpson had 20 points, the night's top performance by a Spartan when he went to the bench.

★ ★ ★

The sophomore drew his fourth foul with just over 13 minutes remaining and the Spartans leading by five points. Simpson went to rest and the Spartans made just one of their next 13 shots as Toledo took a seven - point advantage.

★ ★ ★

Simpson played only 10 more seconds before drawing his fifth foul and leaving the game for good. Lloyd Ward scored 11 points in the final five minutes but it was not enough to save the Spartans.

★ ★ ★

Bob Murnen led the Rockets' scoring with 18 points.

It's Official: Rose Captures NL Bat Crown

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Pete Rose, the official National League batting champion in 1969, won the crown with a 13-point higher average than in 1968 when he first accomplished the feat.

★ ★ ★

Rose's mark this year-.348-was characteristic of averages throughout league, generally above those of 1968 known as "The Year of the Pitcher."

Eleven of the league's top 15 batters this year cracked the .300 figure while only five did so in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Both Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh with a .345 average this year and Cleon Jones of New York at .340 would have won the batting title in 1968. The Pirates' Matty Alou, who finished second in 1968 with .332, wound up fourth this year with .331.

Les Bingaman Collapses on Dolphin Field

MIAMI (AP) — Defensive coach Les Bingaman, who had been cutting off the pounds for more than a year to avoid further trouble with his heart, collapsed on the sidelines Sunday as his Miami Dolphins wrapped up an American Football League victory over Denver.

Bingaman, 45, was reported alert and conscious in a Miami hospital today.

Cardiologist Dr. Edward St. Mary said Bingaman, whose weight is now 70 pounds less than the 295 pounds he carried as one of pro football's first agile big men, suffered "an irregularity of the heart-beat which caused him to go into temporary shock."

Dr. Herbert Virgin, the Dolphins' team physician, said Bingaman "had no pulse or blood pressure for about three minutes" after collapsing during the final two minutes of play in the Dolphins' 27-24 victory.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Virgin revived the assistant coach with a shot of adrenalin administered directly to the heart. "I shot him in the chest with a needle and it seemed to spur him somewhat, but it was a bad scare," Dr. Virgin said.

Bingaman, former All-Pro middle guard for the Detroit Lions, suffered a congestive heart failure in early 1968 and later went on a strict diet.

Ruffles Gets Win in Queensland Net

BRISBANE (AP) — Ray Ruffles defeated fellow Australian Allan Stone 6-4 7-5 9-7 in the Queensland lawn tennis men s singles final today.

The match was postponed Sunday by rain, with Ruffles leading 6-4 7-5 3-4 on his own service.

It was his third win of the tournament—on Saturday he paired with Karen Krantzcke to win the mixed doubles final and today he paired with Stone to defeat Geoff Masters and John Bartlett of Australia 8-6 9-7 6-2 in the men's doubles final.

Game Stalled 11 Minutes by Colt Fans

This is a town that has had league champions and played in the Super Bowl, Schmidt said. "I just can't understand it.

"Almost everywhere else you play the fans will stop the play two or three times, but nothing like in Baltimore."

OFFENSE STUMBLED

The Lions' head coach also displayed disgust with his offense, which threw away enough opportunities to win eight games.

"They gave us 140 opportunities to win and we didn't take advantage of it. We muffed at least three balls in the end zone and our quarterback fumbled the ball while retreating to pass when we were in there deep — I haven't seen that happen before in my 17 years."

Coach Don Shula of Baltimore was a little enraged himself over the ruling on the touchback, saying: "That's the first time I've ever seen that. I think we should have had a touchdown.

"I could understand it being a touchback if the Lions had recovered the ball," he said, "but not under these circumstances. If that's what the rulebook says then the rule should be looked into."

Pistons Explode in Third Period

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Piston explosion in the third period broke up a close match Sunday night as the Detroiters outshot the Phoenix Suns 118-113 in National Basketball Association play.

★ ★ ★

The Pistons scored ten of the last twelve points of the third period to take a six-point lead. Jimmy Walker, game high scorer with 30, keyed the Detroit surge with 18 point in that quarter.

★ ★ ★

In the only other NBA action Sunday, the Atlanta Hawks moved up 3½ games ahead of San Francisco in the Western Division following their 104-103 triumph over Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

The Sun's Gail Goodrich scored 29 points and did not miss a field goal attempt until the fourth period. Paul Silas and Connie Hawkins added 21 and 20 points to the Phoenix total.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit surge toward the end broke up a game that was tied 10 times with the lead changing hands on 11 occasions. But the closest the Suns came in the fourth period was three points.

STREAK SNAPPED

The loss snapped Phoenix four-game winning streak.

The Hawk's Jim Davis helped Atlanta to a 30-24 first-period lead, then scored a big basket after the Los Angeles Lakers had chopped a 14-point deficit to 102-101 with 1:13 left.

★ ★ ★

Walt Hazzard paced the Hawks with 27 points while Elgin Baylor poured in 36 for the losers.

Bob Isaac Has Lady Luck Co-Pilot in Texas '500'

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Isaac, contending lady luck was his co-pilot, streaked to a two-lap victory Sunday in NASCAR's inaugural Texas 500 stock car race.

"It's my biggest win," he said," and the happiest day of my life. Things just went my way after a lot of bad luck. I'm sorry some of the other boys had bad luck . . . out now they know how I've felt."

Averaging 144.265 miles an hour on the two-mile Texas International speedway, Isaac, 34, drove a 1969 Dodge Daytona Charger to his first super speedway triumph.

★ ★ ★

He plucked $15,640 from the $93,000 purse, moving him up into fourth place for the year in the final 1969 standings of NASCAR Grand National stock car competition with $79,760. It was his best season.

Isaac, of Catawba, N.C. and 1969 Ford Torina driver Donnie Allison of Hueytown, Ala., were locked in a duel for the lead with 20 laps remaining over the 250-lap run.

But Allison's car was forced to the pits with 10 laps left with a slashed tire, and Isaac, who led only a total of 20 laps, sped on unchallenged to the checkered flag.

★ ★ ★

The race itself was bizarre, threatened all week by rain which limited practice, washed out two of three qualifying trials and contributed to vast tire problems for the 38 cars.

Only 17 finished.

★ ★ ★

Seven drivers exchanged the lead 37 times, and with 178 laps behind them, Isaac, Allison — who won $8,200—LeRoy Yarbrough, Richard Petty, and Buddy Baker were glued in a battle for the lead.

1. Bobby Isaac, Catawba, N.C., 1969 Dodge, $15,640.
2. Donnie Allison, Hueytown, Ala. 1969 Ford, $8,200.
3. Benny Parsons, Detroit, Mich., 1969 Ford, $5,675.
4. James Hylton, Inman, S.C., 1969 Dodge, $4,175.
5. Richard Brooks, Spartanburg, S.C., 1969 Plymouth, $3,500.
6. Ray Elder, Caruthers, Calif., 1969 Dodge, $2,530.
7. Jack McCoy, Modesto, Calif., 1969 Dodge, $2,000.

Pro Ranks Lure Top '68 Amateur

MIAMI (AP) — Bruce Fleisher, the 1968 National Amateur champion and one of the country's leading amateur golfers, announced Sunday he intends to turn professional.

The flamboyant Fleisher, a 21-year-old native of Miami, will not be able to play the full professional tour for some time. He must first attend the PGA's school to receive his approved players card. The next school isn't scheduled until October.

GAMBLE PAYS OFF — Texas won a 15-14 decision from Arkansas Saturday afternoon and the mythical No. 1 college football ranking through the aid of this play. Late in the fourth period, with a fourth down and three yard situation, Texas passed long. Randy Peschel (pictured being hit by Dennis Berner of Arkansas) gathered in the pass and picked up the necessary yardage before being tackled. Arkansas back Jerry Moore (18) comes up from the rear.

'Gutsy' Longhorns in Cotton Bowl

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —It was hours after the sting of defeat and Arkansas coach Frank Broyles was reflecting on the play that turned Texas into the probable national champion and gave the Longhorns a ticket to the Cotton Bowl.

"It was real gutsy," said Boyles. "You had to hand it to'em. They decided to go for all the marbles right there."

Broyles was speaking of Texas' bomb on a fourth and 3 situation from the Longhorn 43 with less than fiev minutes remaining.

Texas quarterback James Street, who has guided the Longhorns to 19 consecutive victories, found end Randy Peschel with a 44-yard strike to the Razorback 13. Two plays later Jim Bertelsen scored from the two and Happy Feller kicked the point for a 15-14 victory.

Texas coach Royal admitted the play was a bold gamble with Arkansas leading 14-8 at the time.

"Every now and then you just have to suck it up and pick a number," Royal said. "You don't use logic and reason. You just play a hunch."

With the victory over the second-ranked Razorbacks, who swarmed the Longhorns and shut down their offense for three quarters, Texas is a shoo-in to finish at the top of The Associated Press final regular season poll.

But Texas must uphold the ranking against Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day because there is another poll after all the bowl games. Undefeated Penn State meets Missouri in the Orange Bowl and the Nittany Lions feel they have a claim to the national title.

President Nixon agreed, saying it "was one of the great games of all time."

EASTERN PROTEST

Texas was given a plaque by the President designating it as the No. 1 team and this didn't settle too well in Pennsylvania.

In fact, editors of the Penn State newspaper sent hundreds of telegrams to the White House, protesting Nixon's action.

President Nixon said "the fact that you (Texas) won a tough game and the fact that you didn't loose your cool makes you deserving of No. 1."

There will be hot stove arguments over the game in the Ozarks for years to come, particularly on Street's 42-yard touchdown run on the first play of the fourth period.

Street dropped back to pass, failed to find a receiver and broke tackles. He picked up several blocks, including one that was close to being a clip, and dashed to the score that breathed life into the embattled 'Horns.

Birdie Gives Nagle Victory

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — Australian Kel Nagle's birdie on the 16th hole Sunday enabled him to edge out New Zealand's John Lister for first prize in the $16,668 Christchurch Garden City Classic golf tournament.

Nagle, 49, shot a final round, 1-under-par 72 for a 72-hole score of 272. Lister, 22, carded a par 73 and a 274 total.

After knocking off the host school in the semifinals, Oakland University went on to defeat Northwood Institute 103-78 in the finals and capture the Lake Superior State Kiwanis Invitational basketball tournament Saturday night in Sault Ste. Marie.

The Pioneers earned their finals berth by defeating Lake Superior State College the day before, 93-74, while Northwood beat Laurentian (Ont.) University, 98-76.

John Eley, who was voted the tournament's most valuable player, was one of five Pioneers to score in double figures posting 11 markers.

Carvin Melson paced Oakland with 21 points followed by Gordon Tebo 14, Ron Kirkwood 15, and Tom Allen with 12.

Eley, along with teammates Ed Holloman and Carvin Melson, were also elected to the all tournament team.

LEFTY O'DOUL

Heart Attack Fatal to 'Lefty' O'Doul

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Frank Joseph "Lefty" O'Doul, who twice won the National League batting championship during his 40 years in baseball and helped introduce the game in Japan, is dead at 72.

He was "coming along fine" at French Hospital here where he had been since Nov. 12, recovering from a stroke, when a massive heart attack ended his life Sunday afternoon, Dr. P. Edmund Stalteri said.

★ ★ ★

Only a half hour before the fatal attack he had talked at length by phone with friends, telling them he wanted to visit Japan again "as soon as I get out of here — probably in the spring."

It was in 1931 on a tour with Babe Ruth that he helped get baseball started in Japan, and he had been back there 30 times to promote the game's growth.

O'Doul had the highest lifetime batting average of any living major leaguer, .349 for 10 season. The honor now passes to Ted Williams, whose lifetime average is .344.

HIGH AVERAGE

O'Doul's baseball career began in 1917 with Des Moines of the Western League and he started in the major leagues as a pitcher for the New York Yankees in 1919. He batted and threw left-handed.

★ ★ ★

After a 1923 season with the Boston Red Sox he went back to the minors with arm troubles, but returned in 1928 with the New York Giants. In the following year, as an outfielder, he won his first National League batting crown with Philadelphia.

Gurney Has '300' Lead

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Mario Andretti had won eight U.S. Auto Club championship races this year but the pre-race favorite for the final race on the tour-the Rex Mays 300-just had to be Dan Gurney.

★ ★ ★

Gurney seems to own the Riverside course. He lives not far away in Costa Mesa and for 99 laps Sunday it seemed that Andretti, suffering early mechanical troubles, would be defeated by the local pro.

★ ★ ★

The favored Gurney took over the lead early in the race after Mario, of Nazareth, Pa., was forced to make an unscheduled pit stop to fix a broken wheel and failing rear brakes. But Gurney, unlike other races here, failed to pull away with authority, as is his custom.

Bronco Rally Short by Two

KALAMAZOO (AP) —A frantic Western Michigan rally fell just short and University of the Pacific escaped with a 77 - 75 intersectional basketball victory over the Broncos.

Western, trailing by as much as 23 points in the early going, cut the gap to 15 at the half and continued its comeback in the second half Saturday night.

The Broncos tied the game at 71-71 with 3:48 left in the contest and moved to within one point with 38 seconds remaining. But Western never was able to grab the lead.

Earl Jenkins scored 20 points for Western and Ellis Hull chipped in with 18. Bill Strickler paced all scorers with 22 points for Pacific and teammate Robbie Sperring had 20.

U-M Eruption Nips Spartans

Four Second-Period Goals Cinch Win

EAST LANSING (AP) — A barrage of four goals within one minute and six seconds of the second period has helped Michigan to an 8-6 victory over Michigan State in a Western Collegiate Hockey Association contest.

The score was tied 3-3 in Saturday night's clash when Michigan erupted. Both clubs now have 2-2 records.

★ ★ ★

Gilles Gagnon achieved the trick for the Spartans with one goal in the first period and two in the third but it was not enough.

Paul Gamsby and Bernie Gagnon each scored twice for Michigan and goalie Karl Bagnell recorded 42 saves for the Wolverines.

It was a hardfought match with nine penalties for such offenses as roughing, elbowing an sticking in the first period.

Crockett Hit for Releasing Two

DETROIT (AP)—Facing criticism from police officers, Detroit Recorder's Court Judge George W. Crockett Jr. said Sunday he ordered the release of two men arrested after an armed robbery attempt because no evidence against them was available immediately.

Crockett said he had no legal alternative to freeing Theopus Terrell, 25, and Gerald E. Catchings, 26, both of Detroit, because their lawyer presented him with a writ of habeas corpus Saturday.

Police said both men, arrested after a department store robbery, should have remained in custody until witnesses could try to identify them in a police show-up.

One of the men was arrested Friday night fleeing from the scene of the robbery on the outskirts of Detroit. The other man was apprehended later the same evening.

SHOW-UP PLANNED

The pair was kept overnight at police headquarters. Police said they had planned to hold a show-up at 11 a.m. Saturday, but that Crockett had ordered them into court before then.

Crockett said when their lawyer, Mrs. Alice B. Rucker, applied for the writ of habeas corpus early Saturday, he was legally obliged to sign it and hold an immediate hearing.

According to the transcript of the hearing, Crockett said holding the arrested men for a show up was unnecessary delay. He warned police that if they did not have witnesses present before court adjournment for the day, the two men would be released.

In an interview Sunday with the Detroit Free Press, Crockett noted, "The public generally has a notion—it's almost become a fixation—that the police are entitled to arrest you and hold you for investigation and that includes a show-up, and that they don't have to bring you before a judge until a show-up."

EARLIER CRITICISM

Crockett said that notion is incorrect.

The judge drew criticism last March 30 when he released several persons after two policemen were shot outside the New Bethel Baptist Church in Detroit, where black militants had gathered for a meeting. Crockett ruled at that time there was no evidence available immediately to warrant holding those persons arrested.

Nixon Wage, Price Policies Rapped

NEW YORK (AP) — A former economics adviser to John F. Kennedy said today that while the Nixon administration pursued a "policy of rigid self-discipline" for government it "seemed to declare open season on inflationary private wage and price decisions."

★ ★ ★

In a speech for the Business Week conference on money, Walter W. Heller, professor of economics at the University of Minnesota, said:

"The administration made the battle against inflation sound too easy. Last February, the President publicly declared that he was not about to intervene in the private preserve of labor and management, namely wage negotiations and price decisions. "It sounded as though he was applying the economics of pain in the public sector and declaring for the economics of joy in the private sector."

Heller had several suggestions for price stability.

"As it is now doing in the construction field," he said, "The government should move into other fields like medicine and health care in a joint government-business-labor effort to break bottlenecks ... speed productivity growth, and moderate the pace of wage-price increases."

Heller also suggested an overhaul of agricultural subsidies to lower costs to consumers, as well as modification or elimination of oil import quotas.

Village Receives Weather Shield

ROHRMOOS, Germany (AP) — A good percentage of this three-family, 18-person village in the snowiest, wettest German Alps can take shelter under an outsize umbrella received on special order.

It is 8 feet in diameter and is carried by two adults. Annual precipitation measures around 92 inches.

Wallace Urged to Run in 1972

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — State political organizations spawned by Geroge C. Wallace's 1968 presidential bid have urged him to support a convention of independent parties to draft a platform and pick presidential and vice presidential candidates in 1972.

The National Committee of Autonomous State Parties, representing 27 states, invited the former Alabama governor Sunday to seek the nomination for president himself.

★ ★ ★

But the organization, in its resolutions, also asked him to respect the "rights of sovereignty" of autonomous state third-party groups, complaining that his 1968 national campaign organization was dictatorial.

William K. Shearer of Los Angeles, chairman of the participating National Committee of the American Independent party, predicted Wallace would run again and would seek organized third-party support to avoid the expense of running in state primaries.

Grosse Pointe Pupils Face Drug Poll

DETROIT (AP) — School officials in the posh Detroit suburb of Grosse Pointe, seeking "first-hand" information on drug use, plan to ask fifth- and sixth-grade pupils whether they use narcotics.

Supt. Theos Anderson said, "We know its a problem, and we want to find out more about it. We think asking the students is the way to get it first-hand."

★ ★ ★

The survey will cover pupils in the two elementary grades plus a random sampling of pupils in the seventh through 12th grades.

Questions in the survey will include how much the children know about drugs and whether they use drugs themselves. Anderson said replies will be anonymous but school officials want to know the size of the problem and at what level to begin teaching the dangers of drugs.

ALREADY IN EFFECT

There already is a program warning against drug use being taught at Grosse Pointe High School.

"These children may be a lot more sophisticated than we realize about drugs," Anderson said. He added, "To beat this thing, teachers, parents and students have got to work together."

★ ★ ★

Police have estimated that 2 per cent of the suburb's schoolchildren are seriously involved with drugs while nearly 20 per cent use them.

Anderson observed that "drug use seems to be a problem associated with affluence. These children have too much money to spend, and so they are able to buy drugs."

Soo-Locks Closing Delayed a Month

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers, acting at the request of the Lake Carriers Association, has delayed the closing of the Soo Locks from Dec. 15 to Jan. 15.

★ ★ ★

Last winter's season was also extended until Jan. 15, but the locks closed Jan. 4 because of severe icing.

★ ★ ★

Since 1897, the locks have closed on the Dec. 15 date only 18 times.

Ballet Costume-Scenery Treasures to Be Auctioned

LONDON (AP) — Costumes and scenery from the golden age of Russian ballet, some costumes once worn by Nijinsky, Balanchine, Lifar, Toumanova, some heavily encrusted with gold and silver brocade, will be sold at auction Dec. 19 in aid of aspiring young dancers and the care of the old.

Art lovers and balletomanes will have 10 days to examine the 145 priceless lots, beginning today at the Royal Academy.

Sotheby's, the auctioneers, have taken the Drury Lane Theater for the sale, and young ballerinas from London's Royal School of Ballet are modeling the costumes, some nearly 70 years old but still in perfect shape.

The treasures have been put up for sale by the Diaghilev and De Basil Ballets Foundation to raise funds for the training of young dancers and toward the support of some of the older artists from Serge de Diahgilev's Ballet Russe.

CHOREOGRAPHER'S APPEAL

In a foreword to Sotheby's catalog for the sale, dancer-choreographer Leonide Massine appealed to American and European cultural centers to purchase these masterpieces of scenic design and costuming for posterity.

Some of the costumes were worn by Massine himself for Col. W. de Basil's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

★ ★ ★

Designers represented cover the great names of ballet: Nicholas Roerich, Alexandre Benois, Leon Bakst, Alexandre Golovine, Natalia Gontcharova, Marie Laurenci, Maurice Utrillo, Joan Miro.

★ ★ ★

Undoubtedly, the centerpiece of the entire collection, are the 45 costumes by Golovine for the first performance of Swan Lake at the Imperial Theater, Moscow, in 1901.

BROUGHT TO LONDON

Diaghilev, pressed for time to put it on for the first time in the West at London's Covent Garden in 1911, bought the entire costume and scenery collection from the Imperial Theater—for three performances in London. The price he paid has not been disclosed.

The collection includes the heavy gold brocade outfit worn by Vaslav Nijinsky to dance the role of Prince Siegfried in the second act of the Convent Garden performance.

★ ★ ★

There are 12 costumes by Roerich from Diaghilev's first production of the revolutionary "Le Sacre du Printemps" (Rites of Spring), first performed to shouts of derision at Paris' Theatre des Champs-Elysees in 1913 and later that year at London's Theater Royal to equal mockery. The ballet's music was by Igor Stravinsky and the choreography was by Nijinsky.

★ ★ ★

There are 17 costumes by Golovine, Bakst and Gontcharova for the first production of "L'Oiseau de Feu" (Firebird) on June 25, 1910, at the Paris Opera House, with Fokine and Tamara Karsavina.

Satellite Observatory Bares Surprisingly Vast Universe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The universe may be several times larger than previously believed, astronomers say after studying observations made in the first year of the space agency's Orbiting Astronomical Observatory.

The 4,400-pound OAO2, described by the National Aeronautics and Space administration as the most complex unmanned spacecraft ever orbited, has been studying the sky in a nearly circular orbit 480 miles above the earth. This is well beyond the obscuring effects of the atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

NASA made public some of the findings since the OAO was launched last Dec. 7:

● "In studying the ultraviolet radiation from stars and galaxies, which does not penetrate earth's atmosphere, OAO2 discovered that many galaxies are much brighter in this radiation than astronomers had expected."

● "This unexpectedly bright ultraviolet radiation means that some of the very distant galaxies are intrinsically extremely bright objects. Since they appear so faint they must be very far away, perhaps several times farther than was previously assumed."

● "OAO2 has confirmed that hot stars lose as much as the sun's total mass in the relatively short astronomical period of 100,000 years, or the equivalent of the earth's mass in a single year."

● "The space observatory has established that the hottest stars are somewhat hotter than has been inferred from ground-based observations. Similarly, some slightly cooler stars are cooler than has been assumed."

ASSUMED MATTER

NASA said many man-made models of the universe assume a considerable amount of unobserved matter and added that the OAO2 result indicates that, if this extra mass exists, it does not radiate in the ultraviolet.

"A consequence of this observation may be that the universe is not a closed system as predicted by Einstein's theory of general relativity," NASA said.

★ ★ ★

In summing up the importance of the first-year findings of the satellite, NASA said its achievements have led some astronomers to rank the orbiting of OAO2 in importance with the invention of the telescope.

It has studied stars or celestial objects hidden from earth-based instruments.

A LOT LONGER

Before OAO2 was launched, NASA said, it took 15 years and about 40 sounding rocket flights to obtain some three hours of ultraviolet data from some 150 stars.

In comparison, by Nov. 9 of this year the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory's sky-mapping instrument package aboard OAO2 had taken 5,844 pictures during observations of 2,265 individual square areas of the sky.

The OAO2 is an octagonal cylinderlike shape about 7 feet in diameter and 10 feet long. Its instruments view the sky from each end.

National Big Brothers Sets Up Fund Program

The national board of directors of Big Brothers of America has established a volunteer National Big Brother program to increase its service to member agencies.

National Big Brothers includes persons (male or female) who contribute $5 a year or more to Big Brothers of America, the national organization, rather than to local agencies.

★ ★ ★

The national program does not infringe upon United Fund or counterpart regulations but provides an opportunity for Big Brothers of America to insure greater service to local member agencies, said Victor Gelb, chairman of the National Big Brother Committee.

'SAMPAN ALLEY'—Long lines of sampans crowd both banks of one of the canals of the Perfume River at Hue. The waterway is known by U.S. citizens living in Hue as "Sampan Alley." Crafts serve as homes for many Vietnamese.

Hue Making Gains 2 Years After Tet

HUE, Vietnam (AP) — The mood is peaceful but tense, wistful but optimistic in this ancient imperial capital nearly two years after its ordeal in one of the war's most savage battles.

The Tet offensive of February 1968 left the city 75 per cent destroyed in a 25-day battle. Everything here is dated from that time. People speak of things having happened "before Tet," or "after Tet."

* * *

Much of the old grandeur is smashed and overgrown with moss. A hole still gapes in the inner Citadel wall, through which South Vietnamese rangers stormed to trap the last enemy holdouts.

Tin roofs shimmer atop houses once sheltered by rich terra cotta. The left wing of the imperial palace inside the Citadel, damaged in the battle, is patched with tin.

STORES REBUILT

But across the Perfume River, in the newer part of the city, shoppers crowd the rebuilt stores and a shiny new market.

With aid from Saigon, the local economy is recovering slowly. The Long Tho lime factory six miles west of Hue has reopened, employing more than 200. Refugees are being resettled. Offshore fishing restrictions have been eased. More people are working in the rice fields and timber forests. Sawmills are starting up. Still, tax revenues are lagging and working capital and loans are scarce.

* * *

Most people, one municipal government official said, have snapped out of the stupor that followed the devastating offensive.

* * *

"They sat around and did nothing—perhaps from shock, perhaps from fear that whatever they built would be torn down again," he said.

TURNING POINT

The Tet offensive was not only the fire that nearly destroyed Hue. It also was the crucible in which its new character, attitudes and programs were forged.

For most residents, it was the dramatic turning point when Hue's people turned from what Col. Le Van Than, the Thua Thien province chief, likes to call "nonaligned" to embittered anti-Communists.

* * *

"The Communists made their biggest mistake when they tried to lay this city low," says a Vietnamese municipal official. "They gave the government an ally which it had not had."

"Well," said a U.S. official, "if they don't actively support the government, at least they're not openly sympathetic with the V.C. Now they either hate the Vietcong or they just dont' say anything."

3,000 SLAUGHTERED

A major reason for the change of attitude is that the North Vietnamese and the Vietcong slaughtered about 3,000 residents while they occupied the city. Bodies are still being dug up from mass graves.

* * *

The once militant Buddhist and student factions have adopted a passive stance, officials say. Many of the people who were passive before Tet are now openly pro-government.

* * *

An example of this is the Peoples' Self Defense Force, now 57,000 strong in Thua Thien province with 30,000 persons taking part in Hue alone, helping to protect their city from new depredations. Hue's population totals 160,000.

"Everyone in Hue has had relatives killed by the Vietcong," explained Ngo Dong, a biology professor at the rebuilt Hue University and the provincial chief of the self-defense force.

"After Tet, the people were fearful and depressed. As things went along they gained confidence. Where before they were afraid to receive weapons, they now ask for them."

Authorities say the force of men, women and youngsters from 16 to 65 is helping keep the populous areas secure and is encouraging villagers and hamlet dwellers to identify the Vietcong among them.

But the province chief, Col. Than, believes that 1970 will be a crucial year. The enemy, he says, has had nearly two years to rebuild its forces after losing about 5,000 killed in the battle for Hue, and may be preparing for a new strike.

* * *

Than thinks government forces can repulse any new enemy offensive, provided they can count on supporting U.S. firepower of artillery, planes and helicopters.

10 things America's new small cars won't talk about.

Nova talks about things those new little cars prefer not to mention. For instance, (1) a cargo-guard luggage compartment; (2) an extra set of fenders inside the fenders; (3) flush and dry rocker panels that help prevent rust and corrosion; (4) a quality built Body by Fisher; (5) Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish; (6) a firm, steady ride programmed by computer-selected springs; (7) six different engines and five transmissions available; (8) an available lighting group that even includes a monitor for your windshield washer fluid; (9) radios you can order, with antennas built right into the windshield and (10) the availability of a new, more compact radio/stereo tape system. America's little cars don't offer them. Nova does. Nova also has a very appealing price. And a lot of loyal friends. Wonder why.

Bridge Tricks From Jacobys

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "Some years back, I conceived the idea of a bridge team with specialists to cover all situations. One man for opening leads, another to play no-trump contracts, maybe a specialist for penalty doubles, etc."

Jim: "We might even have roving specialists. For instance, if South could have called in a specialist in playing four-card suits, he wouldn't have gone down at his four-spade contract."

Oswald: "He wouldn't need a great specialist. Just a man who would know how and when to play the trump suit."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "South certainly did not know when. He played dummy's ace of trumps at trick one and continued with a second trump. As he pointed out later, he was afraid that East and West might make their trumps separately."

Oswald: "This stopped that all right but, unfortunately for South, East won the second trump with his queen and was unkind enough to cash his king of trumps. Then he forced dummy to ruff a diamond and dummy was out of trumps."

★ ★ ★

"Later on, the king of hearts became the third trick for the defense and he set the contract with a diamond trick."

Jim: "The correct play would be to lead a low trump at trick two. If the defense returned a trump, he could establish the hearts while he still held a trump in dummy. If they forced dummy with a diamond, he would establish the hearts before playing out the ace of trumps. Either way, he would wind up discarding two clubs and a diamond on dummy's long hearts."

Junior Editors Quiz on CLEFS

QUESTION: Why is the clef of viola music different from that used by other music?

ANSWER: When, in the old days, composers were searching for a way to write down their music accurately, they hit on the idea of "staff lines" — lines on which one could put dots to represent particular notes.

The great staff, with 11 such lines (top), contained the notes needed at that time; but all those lines were impossibly confusing. You couldn't read a melody written on such a staff. So the musicians divided it in three.

The upper five lines they gave to the violins and singers, who play and sing high up on the scale. They called them the soprano or treble clef. They located the note G two lines up and put a clef sign around it, which was G in a modified form.

The lower five lines they called the bass clef and gave it a modified letter, four lines up, for the note F, showing where it is located.

In between these two staffs was an extra line. They took this and added two lines overlapping on each side. The middle line was C, so they gave this a different clef sign.

This is called the tenor or alto clef, and it is used by the viola because the range of this instrument is in the middle of the many notes shown on the piano keyboard, and it makes viola music easier to read.

From Auto Club of Michigan

Hints for Winter Car Starting

Nearly 60,000 Michigan motorists will be unable to start their cars the first day the temperature drops to 5, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

When thermometers hit below that mark last January, some 58,000 drivers called for assistance in getting their vehicles started. Two-thirds of the calls were from individuals who couldn't start their engines because of either battery or starter failure, the Auto Club said.

* * *

Since the key to successful winter driving is a strong battery, any motorist who begins the winter with a weak battery has two strikes against him before he turns the ignition switch.

Yet, not only do many motorists attempt to get through Michigan's coldest months with a weak battery, but they do not take the proper steps to safeguard against winter driving troubles, the Auto Club said.

10 COMMANDMENTS

To help drivers get their cars started and keep them moving even under the worst conditions, Auto Club has devised "The 10 Commandments to Cold Weather Car Care":

- Make sure your car battery is strong enough to meet the demands of winter.
- Change to a lightweight oil.

* * *

- Install snow tires.
- Have antifreeze tested.
- Check the ignition system.
- Check the exhaust system.

* * *

- Have your car lubricated.
- Park the car in garage or carport.
- Check heater, windshield wipers and other accessories.
- Get a safety check.

STRONG BATTERY A MUST

When temperatures fall near zero, the power output of the battery is greatly reduced. Since more power is needed in colder weather to spin the engine, a strong battery is a must.

Proper battery care includes keeping the battery cells filled with fluid and checking the terminals and cable clamps for dirt, corrosion and proper contact.

* * *

A lightweight oil reduces engine friction and makes the engine easier to turn over on cold mornings. The thermostat, radiator and heater hoses also should be examined.

Warning on Snowmobile Thefts

Nine snowmobile thefts in November — representing at least $9,000 in stolen property — have brought a warning from Oakland County Sheriff's Department Detective Charles Whitlock.

"Keep those snowmobiles out of sight," Whitlock stressed.

* * *

He explained that all nine thefts — and probably all those in the future — have been committed by the same method.

* * *

"The thief will cruise residential neighborhoods during the day and spot snowmobiles left in the front of homes or at the side of the house. Then he comes back late at night and simply lifts the snowmobile and sometimes the trailer as well into his vehicle and drives off," Whitlock explained.

STORAGE RECOMMENDED

"Our regular patrols hit the business areas and don't get into the residential neighborhoods too often," Whitlock said. "So people must guard their property carefully."

Whitlock recommended a strict practice of snowmobile storage in garages, sheds or under tarpaulins.

"Some people have chained their snowmobiles to the ground, but this has been ineffectual. In a few cases, the thief brings his cable cutters with him and very quietly cuts the bonds," Whitlock said.

None of the snowmobile larcenies in November have been solved, Whitlock said.

* * *

He pointed out that the thieves obviously have illegal outlets and part with the stolen merchandise rapidly, impeding police investigation.

Fossil Backs S. Hemisphere Land Theory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Part of a 200-million-year-old reptile skull found near the South Pole establishes the theory that most of the Southern Hemisphere was once a single land mass, a top scientist says.

Dr. Laurence M. Gould, chief scientist of the 1933 Byrd expedition to the South Pole, reported his find to the National Science Foundation. He said Friday it is "one of the truly great fossil finds of all time."

The skull was identified as from the Lystrosaurus, a reptile two to four feet long from the Lower Triassic age of 200 million years ago.

Gould said the reptile "is the key index fossil of Lower Triassic in the major southern land masses and establishes beyond further question the former existence of the great southern continent of Gondwanaland."

The theory is that Gondwanaland once spanned the South Atlantic oceans and included most of Africa, South America and India in a single land mass.

Pastor Training as Teacher in Pontiac Schools Program

By MARY SUNDSTROM

Why would a man leave a successful, lifelong career to learn to become an elementary school teacher?

"Society has reached a crisis, and some radical changes are necessary. You can't change prejudice in adults because it's seated in emotion," said the Rev. Mr. Luther Sherer of Saginaw, a former Lutheran pastor.

★ ★ ★

"We must raise up a new generation, relieved of prejudice. I want to teach some kids and try to help them live without prejudices," explained the 60-year-old teacher-in-training at Wilson Elementary School.

The Rev. Mr. Sherer is one of 35 college graduates in Pontiac Schools' Short-Term Teacher-Training Program, designed to provide education and experience to those interested in gaining a state teachers certificate.

ONE-YEAR PROGRAM

Under this one-year federally financed program, Sherer and the 34 others are spending half a day in a classroom and the other half in tuition-paid education courses at Oakland University.

After Dec. 19, the program's "teachers" will discontinue their regular classroom experience and work with reduced pay for the Pontiac School System as substitute teachers.

★ ★ ★

All of the student-teachers are expected to be state-certified in June.

The Rev. Mr. Sherer, who served for 34 years as a pastor during which time he built seven churches and started five new parishes — heard about the program in an indirect way.

WROTE TO WASHINGTON

He heard of a Teacher Corps program over a Saginaw radio station. He wrote to Washington to inquire about it and was referred to the Pontiac program.

He contacted the Pontiac School District about the two-year Teacher Corps (to train teachers for inner-city schools while they are gaining their masters' degrees), and then learned of the shorter program he is now in.

★ ★ ★

"Because I'm starting late, I wanted to get my certificate as soon as possible," said Sherer, whose wife has been a teacher for 18 years.

"All my life I wanted to be a missionary to New Guinea. The church is asking for older certified teachers. Who knows — I might go yet," he said.

LIKES EXPERIMENTS

His wife and family of seven now-grown sons are accustomed to experiments such as his venture into the teaching field.

"I did a lot of experimental ministry," he commented.

In 1947, he started a Lutheran parish in the Watts district of Los Angeles. "That's unusual to find a Lutheran Church in a black community," he commented.

★ ★ ★

Once in a parish on an austerity budget, the clergyman said he bought a motor scooter to make his calls, thereby saving the money he would have spent on a car.

The Rev. Mr. Sherer says he relates pretty well to the pupils at Wilson School, where they call him "Mr. Luther."

RELATE TO NAMES

He said the youngsters could't pronounce his last name so he asked them if they knew of Martin Luther King, or at least Martin Luther.

"They can relate to those names," chuckled blue-eyed "Mr. Luther."

★ ★ ★

He chose to teach the fifth or sixth grade rather than secondary grades.

"I think I can have a greater impact on the kids — having the same class all day. "I'm mostly an unstructured, informal teacher. Commotion doesn't bother me either. I also like to work with the kids in a one-to-one relationship," he added.

GRADUATE WORK

"The OU courses are designed for the graduate student. We don't recapitulate undergraduate work. The program also removes the anxieties and tensions a student usually suffers in graduate work."

"You almost can't fail if you have high motivation," he said.

★ ★ ★

His one complaint was that he felt he was not getting a complete background in what is needed to teach, though he added that classroom experience helps fill in some gaps.

Sherer said he will take a job, probably in Saginaw, "if I can be hired at my age."

AREA CANDIDATES

Most of the other people in the one-year program are from Pontiac and surrounding areas.

"When certified, we hope most of them will be interested in teaching in Pontiac Schools," said William Condon, program director.

★ ★ ★

"Our people this year (from ages 22 to 60) have a wide range of background and experience," Condon said.

Consumer Credit Topic of Meeting

Consumer credit protection will be the theme of the Thursday North Pontiac-Waterford unit of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity.

Mrs. Billie Battles, unit supervisor, said the meeting will feature a speaker and a question-answer period.

★ ★ ★

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Hayes Jones Community Center, Walnut near Orchard Lake, with a potluck dinner preceding the meeting at 6 p.m.

The dinner and meeting are open to residents of Pontiac, Keego Harbor, Sylvan Lake, and Waterford and West Bloomfield townships.

California Man Follows Doctors' Advice For Treating Piles

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Millbrae, Cal. Mr. C. H. Wahl of Millbrae reports: "I'm 68 years old and been suffering from hemorrhoids. I asked several doctors about it. They said I should continue using Preparation H which I had started to use. I'm very grateful for Preparation H. It has such a soothing effect and it certainly relieved my pain."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

NIPPY SEASON—Maybe these two brown bears at New York's Bronx Zoo are kissing cousins; but, in any case, they got together Friday to give each other a little lip. The goings-on took place outdoors with the temperature in the low 30s, so you can bet your overcoat that fur wasn't about to fly.

Hits No. 1 Again

'Gunsmoke' Counters Odds

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Once given up for dead, "Gunsmoke" has turned into a television series of amazing liveliness:

THOMAS

When a 16-year-old show turns up No. 1 in the television ratings, that's a remarkable achievement. But then "Gunsmoke" has a record of doing what seems to be impossible.

★ ★ ★

This year was the acid test. Not only did the veteran series face the upstart "Laugh-In" during its last half hour, it also was forced to contend with Operation Holddown, the industry's reaction to the nation's outcry against televised violence.

"Gunsmoke" has never been a polite show. Part of its appeal was the no-nonsense portrayal of the West as a place where the gun and fist provided the balance of power.

DEVICES DISCARDED

The political assassinations of 1968 brought a crackdown on violence in television, and "Gunsmoke" had to discard many of its customary devices.

"This season has been the toughest we've ever faced," remarked Jon Mantley, executive producer. "I've been in my office night after night until 11 o'clock trying to find and develop scripts without violence. That's not easy, when you're dealing in a time and place in which violence was the rule.

"Gunsmoke" isn't the same show that it was three years ago. Now we're doing a sleight of hand. It is presumably a western, but it is actually gutsy drama that could take place anywhere. We cover a wide range, from the broadest farce to melodrama."

Whatever the travails to Mantley and company, the extra effort is paying off. "Gunsmoke" was No. 1 in a recent week, equalling its ratings during its heyday as the king of Saturday night. And this was the series that was killed by CBS in 1967 in a power play that has never been fully explained. The death sentence lasted only two weeks, during which CBS stations in the Midwest let the network know in plain words that they did not want "Gunsmoke" dropped.

Why does the show continue to be so popular?

"I think the No. 1 reason is the people in the series," Mantley said, referring to stars Jim Arness, Amanda Blake and Milburn Stone.

"They obviously love each other, and their work. They have to. All of them are millionaires, and they don't have to be here if they don't love it."

Only Foolhardy Diners Complaining in Poland

WARSAW (UPI) — In Polish restaurants the service is often as bad as the food but only the foolhardy would complain, Warsaw newspapers said Saturday.

For instance:

Two waiters attacked a diner who refused to pay his check, which he said was too high for what he got to eat. The waiters were jailed for five years.

In Wroclaw, a diner at the Home of the Farmer Restaurant argued over his check. Waiters Mieczyslaw Mazgaj, 23, and Mieczyslaw Raczkowski, 32, dragged him behind the bar and worked him over.

"They also took money from his wallet to pay the check plus a worthwhile tip," the newspapers said.

OTHER BEATINGS

Customers have been beaten in two other Warsaw restaurants, including the plush Budapest Cristal Cafe, and such incidents become a topic of conversation.

The newspaper Kultura ran a cartoon the other day. It showed a customer asking a waiter, "What can you dish me up in a hurry?"

"A punch in the nose," said the waiter.

Columnist Krzystof Teodor Teplicz saw a hopeful note:

"The relatively low number of customers who are beaten by waiters indicates that inhibitions of a humanitarian or materialistic nature still have a strong influence among waiters," he said.

Actress Turns to Religion, Spurns Date With Beatty

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I felt the need for a little religion," Sharon Farrell said. "A lot of other Hollywood people are looking for religion, too, but don't know it yet."

So the shapely actress, who plays a prostitute in Steve McQueen's "The Reivers," began taking instruction in Catholicism, incidentally annulling her marriage to Ron Di Blasio, once manager of Bill Cosby and Tiny Tim.

★ ★ ★

"I come from Sioux City but my family wasn't religious," Sharon told me. "I was never baptized. I decided I like the pomp and ceremony of the church. It makes sense to me.

"Everybody in Hollywood is looking for their thing. They're studying their astrology charts or going to group therapy. In a couple of years they'll find out it's religion they want."

★ ★ ★

Sharon, who got a call from Warren Beatty, which is about the highest pinnacle a single girl can reach nowadays in Hollywood, has tried to recreate Sioux City in Mill Valley, Calif.

★ ★ ★

"It's a little Sioux City," she said. "I've got a little bit of acreage. I sit there and hibernate and concentrate on the scripts I turn down because the ladies in the pictures always have to expose everything.

★ ★ ★

"I'm from the Middle West and I can't do nude things. I'd be red all over my body from blushing. I got half way to Majorca on a picture before I read it and saw I couldn't do it. To undress in front of 1,500 extras and to be exposed all day long, getting blistered all over from the sun, besides the humiliation, would be more than I could bare."

Sharon didn't give Warren Beatty a date. She asked him instead, "Why don't you go to church?"

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Pat Henry admits that his wife isn't a quick thinker: "During a power failure she was stuck for six hours on an escalator."

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Phyllis Diller says she's trying a new vanishing cream: "It takes the wrinkles off your face and moves 'em down to where they won't show."

★ ★ ★

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "When I was a bellhop, I was always thinking about what I'd buy if I had money. Now I've got money, and I can't remember what it was I wanted so bad."—Roger Miller.

★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS: We heard of a H'wood star who became an alcoholic, so he had his stand-in join AA.

★ ★ ★

Current events are so grim, sighed a man, "that I don't know whether to watch the 6 o'clock news and not be able to eat dinner, or the 11 o'clock news and not be able to sleep." That's earl, brothre.

A Look at TV

IMF Hopes on Campbell

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — CBS network executives hope that the mid-season replacement of "The Leslie Uggans Show" with Glen Campbell's variety hour will help the ratings of the program that follows, "Mission: Impossible."

MISS LOWRY

After several fairly successful seasons, the adventure series seems to be dropping in the ratings.

★ ★ ★

One view is that the weak Uggams "lead-in" affected the program's popularity.

Another is that the angry departure of both Martin Landau and Barbara Bain, in a salary dispute, has something to do with the smaller audiences.

NOTHING NEW

A third opinion, offered here, is that the format of "Mission: Impossible" is so rigid and the story lines so much the same that viewers, after plenty of exposure to them, are losing interest.

Sunday night's hour was the usual complicated skein of disguises and fakery in which the heroic team saved the throne of a good king from the plotting of his evil brother. It featured a phony kidney transplant operation, but that was only a slight variation of a familiar theme.

The greatest disaster in show business is a comedy-fantasy that doesn't come off. Saturday night's "The Littlest Angel" had the hard luck to be a musical-fantasy-comedy and was so cute and coy about heaven and Christmas it must have turned away a lot of viewers.

This 90-minute "Hall of Fame" adaptation of a well-known story received a lavish production—heaven, where most of the scenes were played. It was beautiful, all soft clouds with backgrounds of stars and angels with fine white robes, big wings and golden haloes.

★ ★ ★

Johnny Whitaker of "Family Affair" seemed uncomfortable playing an 8-year-old shepherd boy who goes to heaven and doesn't like it.

★ ★ ★

The musical score was bouncy, undistinguished and, like the dialogue, tended toward the saccharine. Some very talented, attractive performers were mixed up in this—Fred Gwynne, E. G. Marshall, Tony Randall, Connie Stevens. They were wasted as was Johnny.

President Nixon's news conference tonight at 9 EST will upset the network schedules in various ways. CBS will skip "Mayberry RFD" and, if necessary, "The Doris Day Show."

Actress Arlene Dahl has married for the fifth time. The bridegroom yesterday in New York City was Rounsevelle W. Schaum, chairman of Western Video Industries Inc.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale at Marble Collegiate Church.

Miss Dahl, 40, previously was married to Lex Barker, Fernando Lamas, Christian R. Holmes III and Alexis Lichine.

Pope Sees Promising Symptoms of Peace

PAUL VI

Pope Paul VI says recent "promising symptoms" of peace include the U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks and President Nixon's renunciation of germ warfare weapons.

"Oh, how we would wish these promising symptoms were preparing happy reality in the near future," the pontiff said in a speech yesterday from his studio window to listeners in St. Peter's Square in Rome.

"The reality of peace among peoples is in the peoples themselves, in the hearts of everyone.

Gina, Businessman Still Plan to Wed

Gina Lollobrigida says she and George Kaufman, a New York businessman, still plan to get married, but not until next spring.

Gina Lollobrigida

The Italian actress had previously postponed the marriage from the original date of Dec. 18 until January.

"Everything is going full blast between George and me," she said yesterday in Rome. "We shall be married as soon as I finish my next film."

Widow of Ex-Bishop Pike Tells of Vision

The widow of former Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike said yesterday she saw a vision the day her husband's body was found in the Judean desert and "it made me almost envious."

★ ★ ★

In the vision, she told a standing-room crowd at All Saints Episcopal Church in Pasadena, Calif., "I saw all the people who previously had died waiting for him. It was very strange."

Diane Kennedy Pike and her husband were in Israel September doing research on Christ when Pike became lost in the desert.

★ ★ ★

"When Jim died," said the attractive 32-year-old blonde, "I was walking through the desert, and suddenly I knew that death had no power over me, and I felt his body, and I felt not one tiny, tiny, tiny bit of fear . . .

★ ★ ★

"This means that what we can expect is that we will be, here and in this living moment, free from the power of death forever."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Pike's husband originally had agreed to speak at yesterday's forum.

Farm Bureau Leader Says 'Welfare State Policies' Must Go

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans need "a big dose of courage" to overcome what one of the nation's farm leaders says is a sad state of affairs.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said today "it is time to rid the United States of welfare state policies" and return the country to a healthy climate of private enterprise.

★ ★ ★

His remarks are in a speech prepared for the Farm Bureau's 50th anniversary convention being held here this week.

"What we need in America is a big dose of courage," Shuman said, "courage to take a position on controversial issues; courage to reject compromise between good and evil; courage to take a stand on moral issues; courage to refuse to be 'bought' by government payments or private bribes."

CRUCIAL ELECTION

Shuman said 1970 will be "one of the most crucial election years in history" and that a change in direction is needed for the country to set its house in order.

A new Congress, Shuman said, could bring the necessary change if it is willing to control federal spending and assume a greater responsibility for stabilizing the economy.

"Much of the bitterness and frustration which is evidenced in the demonstrations and riots is in part a by-product of government fiscal irresponsibility," Shuman charged.

"Extravagant promises of instant prosperity and total security could not be fulfilled, and so the disillusioned protested."

PAINTS TO SPENDING

Shuman said the Vietnam conflict—which he called "a strange no-win war"—has generated inflation. "But so have the multi-billion dollar domestic spending programs such as urban renewal, poverty and farm subsidies."

★ ★ ★

The Farm Bureau, the nation's largest general farm organization, has been a longtime foe of government controls and payments. The group favors a gradual phasing out of farm programs in favor of a free market system for producers.

★ ★ ★

Shuman said last week's White House Conference on Hunger and Malnutrition brought new proposals for more federal spending to solve food problems for an estimated 30 million persons.

"Much of this so-called hunger is the result of ignorance of proper nutrition, prejudice about food, or unwise dieting practices and it cannot be cured by food stamps or other spending programs," Shuman said.

NEW BUREAUCRACY

In fact, he added, the hunger campaign "will probably result in a huge new federal bureaucracy" which then would solicit clients.

★ ★ ★

"Many people will be encouraged to reduce their efforts to help themselves and thus become eligible for food stamps," he said. "The 'hunger' situation may actually worsen rather than improve."

★ ★ ★

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin told the convention he did not believe the administration should be the sole architect of farm policy but that the responsibility should be shared with farm organizations.

Hardin said meetings with congressional farm leaders have produced several general ideas. These include improving farm income, enhancing reliance on the market, expanding farm exports, and giving farmers the chance to participate in farm programs, he said.

State Woman, 56, Is Found Dead

HOLLAND (AP) — Police in Holland report the body of a 56-year-old woman who wandered away from a local hospital before dawn Sunday was found about four hours later on the lawn of a home near the hospital.

The woman was identified as Elizabeth Hess of Holland. Cause of her death was not determined, but an autopsy was scheduled.

'Degrading' Texts Barred

DETROIT (AP) — Complaints by parents and teachers that a new series of school booklets were degrading to Negroes have resulted in the removal of some of the material from classrooms.

Board of Education officials have recalled eight of 28 supplementary booklets designed to improve reading skills at various elementary grade levels.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the racial complaints, some parents and teachers contended that the booklets contained too much violence, including murders.

The booklets, developed by the Behavioral Research Laboratories (BRL) of Palo Alto, Calif., also are used in New York, Washington, D.C., and San Francisco.

BRL TO REPLACE

Arthur Johnson, deputy school superintendent for community relations in Detroit, said BRL officials have agreed to replace the controversial texts with eight different books.

Cost of the reading program for Detroit, covered entirely by a federal Model Cities grant, was estimated at some $240,000 for the first year.

★ ★ ★

Kenneth McMillan, chairman of the education committee of the Model Cities Project in Detroit, commented: "There was some violence in the books, but I didn't think it was too bad. You can find a lot more in Grimm's fairy tales."

House Critics Campaign

ABM Foes in Last Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — House military spending critics are mounting a last-ditch campaign to block deployment of the controversial Safeguard antimissile system, a campaign they're almost sure to lose.

They're also trying to strike the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft (AMSA) bomber and a host of other major weapons system from the $70-billion defense appropriation that went to the House floor today.

★ ★ ★

But no effort was expected against the cluster nuclear warhead MIRV, which has $84 million in the defense bill.

The House Appropriations Committee already had moved to steal some of the critics thunder by cutting the bill $5.3 billion, the deepest slash in a defense bill since 1963.

$779 MILLION

The bill contains $779 million to begin deploying Safeguard antimissile — ABM — sites in Montana and North Dakota.

Although the effort to block deployment money faced almost certain House defeat, the vote is expected to be close in the Senate where Safeguard authorization was approved by only one vote.

★ ★ ★

The House effort is being led by 10 members of the Appropriations Committee who argued in dissenting views to the bill last week that hundreds of millions of dollars will be wasted by deploying the system before research has been completed.

★ ★ ★

"To proceed with deployment now will increase the risk of huge overruns in the ABM program," they said in the dissenting report, "which already costs out to more than $8 billion."

EQUALLY CONTROVERSIAL

Development of MIRV — multiple independently-targetable vehicles—has been as big a controversy in Congress as Safeguard but critics have made no effort to cut funds for it.

The reason, said Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., a major MIRV critic, is that while opponents don't want the weapon completely developed so long as a U.S.-Soviet agreement outlawing it is possible, they also don't believe the United States should unilaterally stop work.

★ ★ ★

"I would flatly say there is no real sentiment for unilaterally stopping development," Cohelan said in an interview.

Other proposed cuts in the House included $100 million for the TOW anti-tank missile, which opponents contend is simply a wasteful duplication of the existing Shillelagh system.

★ ★ ★

Benefits Gain Eludes Neediest

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than a million of the neediest Social Security pensioners probably will get no benefit from the 15 per cent increase in payments expected to be approved by Congress.

★ ★ ★

Those involved are the 1,181,000 old persons and others whose Social Security benefits are so low they are supplemented by state welfare payments.

★ ★ ★

This is their situation, as described by officials:

The law governing the federal-state welfare program—not the Social Security program— requires each state, in setting the level of welfare assistance, to consider a recipient's income. This includes any income from Social Security.

So if a person is receiving Social Security benefits and a supplemental welfare payment, a raise in the Social Security level would simply mean a corresponding reduction in the supplement, and the pensioner would get the same total payment.

★ ★ ★

The House Ways and Means Committee was aware of this when it drafted the legislation, sources said, but decided it could not get into the intricacies of welfare legislation and still produce a Social Security increase bill in time for enactment this year.

★ ★ ★

However, the sources said, the problem will be considered early next year when the commmittee undertakes extensive overhaul of both the Social Security system and the welfare program.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., a member of the committee, said "We have to unravel this, but we can't unravel it in a few days. What we are passing now is really emergency legislation to see that the great majority, at least, are helped to cope with the increasing cost of living."

STATES COULD HELP

There are ways in which at least some states could help the left-our recipients, but officials said as a practical matter they are not likely to be used.

★ ★ ★

States could refigure their estimates of minimum living budgets, thus giving all their welfare recipients an increase.

★

Among the more than 25 million total Social Security beneficiaries, officials said, are 12.4 million retired workers, including 2.1 million receiving the minimum payment of $55 a month, and 1.3 million disabled workers, including 53,000 receiving the minimum.

★ ★ ★

Widows and widowers number 2.9 million and the remainder is made up of children and other dependents.

Fight Seen on Union Proposal

Tax-Reform Bill Stumbles

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — An amendment that would remove much of the political clout from labor unions by eliminating their tax-exempt status is presenting a major stumbling block to an early Senate vote this week on the tax-reform bill.

Managers of the bill, now in its third week of Senate debate, say a final vote can be held tomorrow or Wednesday. But the amendment, sponsored by Arizona Republican Sen. Paul Fannin, must be dealt with first, and a tough floor battle is expected over the politically charged issue.

★ ★ ★

Fannin's proposal would deny tax-exempt status to unions and other organizations using members' dues and assessments to support or oppose political candidates or parties.

Strong opposition was expected from the unions and senators who have been beneficiaries from union contributions.

LABOR GREATEST CONCERN

Fannin insists his amendment would hit tax-exempt business groups equally with unions, but he concedes his great concern is with labor.

"It has been estimated," he says, "that over $100 million was spent by labor unions in the last national elections, not including wages and salaries of those in every-day activities that are truly involved in political endeavors."

★ ★ ★

The AFL-CIO contends these activities are legitimate because the funds are received in voluntary contributions from union members and because they are paid out not by the labor organization itself but by a separate group, the Committee on Political Organization—COPE.

In a speech prepared for today's session, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., told the Senate the 585-page tax reform bill carries a number of "hidden" provisions designed specifically to help a large number of businesses and organizations.

★ ★ ★

Among those who would get special tax breaks from narrowly drawn provisions in the bill designed to help only them, Kennedy said, were Lockheed Aircraft, the McDonnell Douglas Corp., Litton Industries the Transamerica Corp., the Mobil Oil Corp., Uniroyal, Inc., the Western Massachusetts Electric Co., 19 oil pipeline companies, firms which make barges used in offshore drilling operations, and the University of Virginia, Loyola University in New Orleans and seven foundations.

Antiwar Protests Felt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department figures show the antiwar movement in the United States is increasing the work of the nation's courts and federal prosecutors.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson said prosecutions are being initiated against more than 300 young men each month for refusing induction. This is about the number for an entire year only three years ago.

President Goes on TV Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon faces a barrage of questions at his televised news conference tonight.

Much has happened since Nixon's last news conference Sept. 26 to spark tonight's questions — reports of the alleged massacre in Vietnam, the defeat of Judge Clement Haynsworth's Supreme Court nomination and general balkiness of Congress, the start of U.S.-Soviet arms control talks, continued inflation, the two latest antiwar demonstrations, Henry Cabot Lodge's resignation as chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of the news media.

★ ★ ★

The President spent the last part of his weekend at his Camp David lodge in the Maryland mountains preparing for the 9 p.m. EST news conference, with only a few aides present.

The White House said only that Nixon would have no opening remarks and would go straight into the questioning.

WILL BE CARRIED LIVE

The session will be carried live by the major television and radio networks.

CBS said it plans several minutes of summation and analysis by Eric Sevareid and Roger Mudd after the conference.

★

NBC said John Chancellor will offer a brief summary before the network returns to regular programming.

ABC said it will have a brief summary if the news conference ends before 9:30 p.m., to fill out the half-hour. If it runs more than a half-hour, the network will go directly to regular programming.

Some Snow Likely Through the Night

The weatherman has a case of the Monday morning blahs as the sunshine hides behind banks of dark snow clouds. The clouds are expected to dump occasional snow showers on the Oakland County area by afternoon and through the night.

No heavy accumulation is anticipated.

★ ★ ★

Winds are southwest to west at 15-25 miles per hour. Skies are expected to remain partly cloudy tomorrow as temperatures nose lower.

Tonight's low will range between 25-30 degrees with tomorrow's high in the low 30s.

Germany, Russia Start 'Thaw' Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union and West Germany today opened talks on a nonaggression pact, marking a new phase in East-West relations.

West German diplomatic sources said the negotiations were the most important between the two nations since the late Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to Moscow in 1955 to open dipolmatic relations with the Kremlin.

★ ★ ★

West German Ambassador Helmut Allardt arrived at the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs to begin the talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The discussions were considered to be preliminary formalities prior to detailed negotiations later.

The talks, signaling a thaw in the 20-year-old East-West freeze in Central Europe, were expeceed to open the way to bilateral negotiations between West Germany and other East European nations.

The Bonn government had proposed the talks to Moscow Nov. 8 as part of its diplomatic campaign to bring about an improvement in relations with Communist East Europe.

The speed with which the Kremlin accepted the West German proposal surprised West German diplomats in Moscow, diplomatic sources said. The earliest they had expeced Soviet acceptance was in early January

The Soviet move came only three days after the seven Warsaw Pact nations held a Moscow summit meeting and issued a vaguely worded communique authorizng contacts between pact nations and any European country, including West Germany.

Western diplomats interpreted the communique as meaning the Soviets have dropped their 20-year-old policy that West Germany must formally recognize East Germany before other pact nations can negotiate with Bonn.

Diplomatic sources said the Moscow talks with West Germany are almost certain to be followed by similar discussion in Warsaw. Brandt already has announced his government would like to establish diplomatic relations with Poland.

Fund Drive for Library Plan Has College Kids Scurrying

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — The campus of Eastern Menonite College was in turmoil for the third day in a row today.

Coeds poised for invasion of the home economics building and a final assault on their goal of baking hundred of pies, cakes and cookies by nightfall.

Male students girded for pentration of the town and countryside to chop wood, wash cars, clean up yards, do odd repairs, and knock on doors for donations.

It all began Friday when college trustees announced they were $110,000 short of the $400,000 needed to approve plans for a new $1.5 million college library. Tonight was the deadline the trustees had set for the fund raising.

WORD WAS OUT

By early Saturday, the word was out and so were the students, all 950 of them, all over town.

One man paid a student $1,000 for chopping wood. Several others had their cars washed and waxed for $200.

Coeds became housemaids. Male students became butlers and yardmen. A few even hired out as singing messengers.

By 1 a.m. today, the drive had netted $54,000, a college spokesman said.

"I know some students who have borrowed as much as $500 just to give to the fund drive," said Everette Ressler, a student coordinator for the effort.

Ressler said efforts would be redoubled today and would be capped with a three hour auction sale on campus tonight. That's when all those pies, cakes and cookies, as well as hundreds of items donated by students and townsfolk, will go on the block.

Waterford Tax Bill No Yule Treat

By DICK ROBINSON

The average Waterford Township taxpayer is going to pay $96 more in 1969 taxes than in 1968.

This pre-Christmas tax message — the 1969 township tax bill being mailed today — and will show a 25 per cent increase over 1968, according to township officials.

★ ★ ★

Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson blames the large tax hike on "inflation in real estate values."

Township Treasurer Mrs. L. Catherine Wolters cites a reason: the township isn't assessing property at half its value in computing taxes, as required by state law.

$24.17 HIGHER

This year's property tax bill is figured at the rate of $121.14 per $1,000 of township assessed valuation — $24.17 higher per $1,000 than last year, says Mrs. Wolters.

In addition, some residents may have street lighting assessments ranging fron $2.25 to $15 or other special assessments.

★ ★ ★

The average Waterford taxpayer will get a bill of $484.56 — up $96.68 over a year ago, Mrs. Wolters said. That's based on $4,000 assessed valuation, $10,400 state equalized valuation (SEV) and $20,800 market value.

Waterford Township assessors place a valuation on each piece of property, Johnson explains.

PROCESS EXPLAINED

State equalized valuation is half of market value. Because the township isn't assessing at half of market value, SEV is figured by multiplying assessed valuation by the township's equalization factor of 2.63.

"Let's face it, our tax rate (40 mills) is high," says Mrs. Walters.

★ ★ ★

Some observers claim that a high equalizing factor — Waterford has the third highest among all cities and townships in the county — magnifies injustices in the assessment of property. Johnson thinks this is true.

"We can't keep our assessed values current with the economy," Johnson said.

YEARLY EVALUATION

Most cities and townships are working towards the goal of reassessing each property each year. This would make assessments equal to SEV for an equalizing factor of 1.

"We have only four assessors and could use 12 or 15," the supervisor says. "So we can't reassess all property each year. "It would take at least $200,000 to hire an outside appraiser to reassess all of our 40,000 parcels of land."

★ ★ ★

Injustices come about when property is not frequently assessed, Johnson acknowledged.

Take two pieces of comparable property today. The one that hasn't been assessed in a long time will be paying less taxes than the one newly assessed.

"I've lived in my house for 35 years," comments Johnson. "I still have the same assessment."

Here's a breakdown of the 1969 Waterford Township tax bill:

| Assessed Valuation | State Equalized Valuation (factor) | County Tax | Twp. Tax | School Tax | 1969 Total | Incr. Over '68 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| $1,000 | $ 2,263 (2.63) | $ 23.36 (19%) | $11.85 (10%) | $ 85.93 (71%) | $121.14 | +$ 24.17 |
| $3,000 | $ 7,890 | $ 70.08 | $35.55 | $257.79 | $363.42 | +$ 72.51 |
| $4,000 | $10,400 | $ 93.44 | $47.40 | $343.72 | $484.56 | +$ 96.68 |
| $5,000 | $13,150 | $116.80 | $59.25 | $429.65 | $605.80 | +$120.70 |

Land prices in Waterford have about doubled in the past 10 years, estimates Donald White, a local real estate broker. Prices are now leveling off because of tight money.

Commercial land has been going for an average of $1,500 to $1,800 per acre and residential property for a high of $2,000 to $2,500 per acre, according to White. Gasoline firms are buying corner lots for retail outlets for about $120,000.

★ ★ ★

"There's a vacant lot off of Walton Boulevard that sold for $3,000," Johnson said. "Then within two to three months it was sold for $4,500 and then $6,000."

★ ★ ★

Waterford is expected to collect $9.3 million in 1969 taxes, Mrs. Wolters

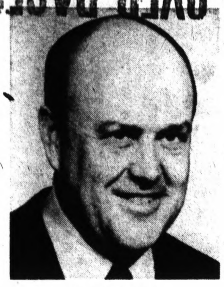
Nixon Urged to Set Up Panel to Probe My Lai 'Massacre'



MELVIN LAIRD

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has been urged by two influential Democrats to appoint an independent fact-finding panel to investigate the alleged massacre of civilians by U.S. soldiers at the South Vietnamese village of My Lai.

The proposals came separately yesterday from Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

★ ★ ★

Stennis said the panel should be composed of persons "outside the government and outside the military" and should survey the March 1968 incident, determine the facts and make a special report to the President.

Humphrey told newsmen the panel should be similar to the Warren Commission, which probed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The former vice president said in Los Angeles "enough has been said that there needs to be an examination."

NO CONGRESSIONAL PROBE

Stennis said the special panel's probe could be undertaken while trials of the accused are under way.

But the senator spoke against a full-scale congressional investigation, saying "if we in the Congress go to holding a hearing now and before that trial is over, it will go off in different directions, be highly confused and totally unfair to the defendants."

★ ★ ★

Stennis spoke on the ABC interview program "Issues and Answers."

First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon leader in the company which led the assault on My Lai, faces a court martial on charges of killing 109 Vietnamese civilians. A staff sergeant also is charged with assault to commit murder.

IMPACT ON SOCIETY

Stennis said the slayings, if true, are shocking and "not within the Army's training or our policy, of course." Humphrey said the special probe is needed to determine My Lai's impact on "the whole moral structure of our society."

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg and a group of jurists Thursday urged Nixon to appoint such a commission. But they suggested the probe go beyond My Lai to the entire area of American conduct in Vietnam.

The Army is investigating the My Lai charges and a special panel headed by Lt. Gen. William Peers is holding closed hearings to determine whether there was a cover-up of the incident by military officials in Vietnam.

The panel summoned two more witnesses for today. The Army identified them as Maj. Frederick W. Watke, who was a member of the 123rd Aviation Battalion, which provided assault helicopters to the Americal Division; and Capt. Dennis H. Johnson, who at the time of the My Lai incident was an intelligence officer attached to the company involved.

HOW TO TRY SOLDIERS

Secretary of the Army Stanley J. Resor also said yesterday the Army's general counsel is studying two possible ways of trying soldiers who were at My Lai—one by military commission, the other by a general court-martial.

Resor appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press," along with Navy Secretary John H. Chaffee.

★ ★ ★

In Saigon, it was disclosed Sunday the Army has impounded daily operational records of the Americal Division company involved in the alleged massacre.

Vietnamization Quickest Route to Goal---Laird

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said today the United States would pursue its program of turning over more fighting responsibility to Saigon forces as an alternative to the deadlocked peace negotiations in Paris.

★ ★ ★

"Barring a breakthrough in Paris, for which we all hope, Vietnamization still provides the best and quickest route to achieving our objective," Laird told a news conference.

"As we look to 1970, I would hope that more and more of the activities in South Vietnam will shift away from the battlefield toward strengthening still further the economic, political and internal security aspects of Vietnamization."

★ ★ ★

Laird pointed out that the U.S. troop ceiling in Vietnam has been reduced this year from 549,500 to 484,000 men. He said he did not anticipate that President Nixon would announce further troop cuts at his news conference tonight, but the secretary did not rule out a new troop withdrawal announcement before the end of the year. Later he said there would be further opportunity next year to reduce the number of U.S. troops, but he would not forecast a timetable for withdrawals.

TALKING TO NEGOTIATORS

Laird and Secretary of State William P. Rogers have been talking with the U.S. peace talks delegation, including outgoing delegation chief Henry Cabot Lodge and acting chief Philip C. Habib, following the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Brussels last week.

"We agreed that the progress in our Vietnamization program, which strengthens the Vietnamese capability to defend themselves, provides an additional strong incentive to Hanoi to negotiate," he said.

★ ★ ★

"If, on the other hand, the Paris talks continue to be stalemated, we also agreed that Vietnamization provides a means for the orderly disinvolvement of American troops.

5 in Family Bound, Gagged

Bandits Rob City Home

What started out as a great day, trimming the Christmas tree, ended on a sour note last night for Freeman Shuart and his family as they were tied up and robbed in their home by four bold bandits.

The robbers, all armed and wearing ski masks, took over the Shuart home at 527 Brooks after forcing their way in by breaking windows at the front and rear of the house about 9:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

"They knew exactly what they wanted," said Shuart, 39, explaining that the only things taken were a $1,500 coin collection and about $80 in cash. "None of the gifts under the tree or in an upstairs bedroom were touched."

Shuart's wife Geraldine, 35, described the robbers as "sort of considerate." When they tied us up they wanted to know if any of us had heart trouble or hardening of the arteries because they didn't want to hurt us."

Shuart, a real estate salesman, said he was cleaning up water that had leaked into the basement when one of the gunmen broke a window and "poked in a rifle and told me to sit still."

The rest of the family, including three children, Cynthia, 14, John, 12, and Bobby, 4, were in bed when another robber ran upstairs and told Mrs. Shuart, "Don't get excited. No one will get hurt."

★ ★ ★

"Bobby, slept through the whole thing even though they tied him and taped his mouth," said Mrs. Shuart.

Mrs. Shuart and the two oldest children then were herded to the basement where all were bound and gagged. Shuart was able to free himself about 15 minutes after the four left in his 1967 white Pontiac Catalina station wagon. He called police from his brother's home next door.

Tate Death Charges Expected Against 7

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Seven members of the mystic hippie "family" linked with the savage Sharon Tate killing and seven others were expected to be indicted today at the conclusion of county grand jury deliberations.

Two deputy district attorneys reported they will seek an eight-count indictment charging seven members of the pseudo-religious cult led by Charles Manson with conspiracy and murder.

★ ★ ★

A dozen witnesses were to testify at today's secret hearing but it was believed most of the evidence against the suspects already had been supplied by attractive Susan Atkins, 21, a member of "the Mason Family."

Three of today's witnesses were said to be fingerprint experts. Authorities have indicated one of the suspects, Charles D. Watson, 24, who is being held in Texas, allegedly left a fingerprint at the Tate home.

TIED TO OTHER DEATH

Another witness scheduled to be called was Daniel De Carlo, a former motorcycle gang leader who recently testified in a murder trial in Santa Monica that Manson directed the slaying in July of musician Gary Hinman. De Carlo reportedly lived for a short time with Manson and his "family."

Miss Atkins testified Friday about her relationship with the 35-year-old Manson and others in his group who are accused in the slayings.

★ ★ ★

In San Jose yesterday, Miss Atkins' father said he doesn't believe that she was under "hypnotic influence" during the Tate murders.

"I think she is just trying to talk her way out of it. She's sick and she needs help."

★ ★ ★

In another development, former friends of the hypnotic-eyed Manson say he spoke of a killing spree, using dune buggies mounted with machine guns, to trigger a Negro vs. white war.

The township's largest tax receipts are expected from Buick Motor Division Factory Service Parts Warehouse, 5260 Williams Lake, $145,053; The Pontiac Mall, $286,354 and Drayton Plains Shopping Center, $37,856.

★ ★ ★

Taxes of $96.97 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, on a $74.3 million tax base, brought in $7.2 million in 1968. In 1967, taxes of $96.74 per $1,000 assessed valuation on a base of $54.4 million resulted in income of $5.2 million.

The equalization factor went from 2.13 in 1967 to 2.09 in 1968.

Explosion and Fire at Home Injure 14

DETROIT (UPI) — Fourteen persons, including a 16-month-old child and five firemen, were injured in an explosion and the resulting fire that destroyed a six-room frame home in East Detroit yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The cause of the blast was undetermined but Lt. Carl Gerds of the East Detroit Fire Department said the house "looked as though it was blown apart by a bomb."

The five firemen were treated for cuts, strains or burns and released.

★ ★ ★

Among the injured were the owner of the house, Wildred Stockall, 65, and his wife, Beatrice, 65. The others, with the exception of a family friend, were relatives.

Chinese Treated Two Yanks Well

HONG KONG (AP) — Two Americans released yesterday after 9½ months as prisoners in Communist China said they generally well treated and had to sign "repentance" statements before they were released.

Simeon Baldwin, a 56-year-old Hong Kong businessman, and 46-year-old Mrs. Bessie Hop Donald were seized last Feb. 16 when their yacht strayed into Chinese waters while on a pleasure cruise with several other yachts to Portuguese Macao.

★ ★ ★

The 13 others — all non-Americans — were released April 3.

Baldwin and Mrs. Donald were initially detained at a point about 10 miles from Macao, then were moved to two communes in the vicinity of Canton. They were separated the entire time.

Both said their Chinese captors gave them adequate clothing and plenty of cigarettes.

"Doctors were always available, even for a headache," Mrs. Donald told a news conference Sunday. "It was almost embarrasing."

New County Dem Organization Is Born

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

A new Democratic organization was born in Oakland County Saturday, followed by a 2½-hour political family squabble.

A constitution and bylaws were adopted in the first 1½ hours of the Oakland County Democratic Convention replacing the "Oakland County Democratic Committee" organization with the term, "Oakland County Democratic party."

★ ★ ★

Nineteenth District Cochairman Aldo Vagnozzi explained the reason for the change: "It's to broaden our base of activity in the county, to involve more people in the decision-making process."

County Democratic Chairman George Googasion explained that the new "party" would give anyone who purchased a membership a vote to the policy matters of the organization.

MEMBERS ELIGIBLE

"Previously, only officers and elected precinct delegates voted on official business," Googasion said. "Now, anyone who buys a membership (nominal dues payments that vary from year to year) can vote on resolutions an policy at monthly meetings."

★ ★ ★

Googasion said, however, that nonelected "party" members could not vote on statuatory matters such as decisions by the executive board.

In other business to come before the convention, held at Pontiac Northern High School, was advisory consideration of the controversial report of the Michigan Democratic Party Political Reform State Convention in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Democrats meeting by congressional district and county convention throughout this month are asked to take advisory votes on the Political Reform report in preparation for vote on acceptance next month at the Democratic State Convention in Detroit.

UAW SPEAKS OUT

The UAW, a strong segment of the Oakland Democrats, opposed the presidential primary proposal of the Political Reform report and union members spoke out individually against the question.

★ ★ ★

The many arguments and questions forced the convention to compromise on the primary issue and bypass voting on the Political Reform Commission's proposal altogether.

★ ★ ★

The UAW faction contended that presidential primaries should be held on the same day in every state and that a primary in Michigan would not work toward that goal.

The compromise—devised by the prestate convention study committee headed by Tom Gray of Troy and Verne Leopold of Huntington Woods—called for state voters to select by ballot their candidate choice and for the Democratic party State Convention to elect delegates to the national convention based on the people's vote.

Squeaker Seen on OEO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Rumsefeld, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, says the vote in Congress on a two-year extension of the federal antipoverty act will be a close one.

★ ★ ★

Rumsfeld said yesterday that President Nixon fully supports him in opposing efforts to turn major responsibility for the program to the states. But he said he didn't know if the administration could come up with the necessary votes.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Gerald Miller, 39, a native Detroiter with 21 years' experience in the food service business, has been named manager of the Fox & Hounds, local Woodward Avenue restaurant.

The announcement was made by Dean T. Parker, president of AGF Food Services Inc., which acquired the 42-year-old English-styled inn less than a month ago.

★ ★ ★

The 200-seat restaurant is currently closed for an extensive $100,000 remodeling program, and is expected to open before the New Year, according to Parker.

Press Corrects Error on Vote

In Saturday's Pontiac Press, the three state senators from this area were reported as voting Friday for a measure containing parochiaid.

★ ★ ★

Actually the three — Republicans Robert J. Huber of Troy, L. Harvey Lodge of Waterford Township and George W. Kuhn of West Bloomfield Township — voted to reconsider a previous Senate vote approving the school-aid measure containing parochiaid. This reconsideration attempt was defeated, 20-14, sending the bill to the House.

★ ★ ★

In Friday's voting, a vote for reconsideration, in effect, was a vote against the school-aid bill which provided for parochiaid.

Backs Up Class Lessons

Teacher's Helper: Tape

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Roosevelt school pupils in the cassette program "feel real important when they put on headsets — they don't treat them as a toy," explains principal William Floto.

The teachers who use the innovative program — teaching by tape recorder to "reinforce and supplement their instruction" — are equally enthusiastic.

"I'm completely sold on this approach for my age group," says Mrs. Richard Fell, third grade teacher. "We're using the tapes as reinforcement and a remedial thing.

"I also let advanced students study more difficult lessons while I'm teaching the rest of the class — as an enrichment program," she added.

Youngsters in kindergarten and grades 1 and 2 also use tapes to reinforce such areas of instruction as reading. The tapes, supplied for a fee by book companies, offer back-up instruction in subjects ranging from listening properly to various vowel sounds.

Ten youngsters can hook up to each cassette.

The classroom visitor can find one child talking back, answering the speaker's question unconsciously outloud, and another tapping his fingers on the table in time with the background music. All industriously answer questions on a worksheets supplied with the tapes.

★ ★ ★

"We've discovered that the moment we put headsets on the child we have captured his attention," said Floto.

Instructors discovered that confusion is still possible after the teacher makes a presentation — especially if the child's mind is temporarily wandering — but the reinforcement captures the lesson, according to Floto.

STARTED LAST YEAR

Mrs. Victoria Carr, a first-grade teacher, explained that she and another instructor decided last year that their lessons needed stronger reinforcement. They began making their own tapes but then discovered that many book companies already make tapes. The school began ordering tapes.

★ ★ ★

"The tapes are a good way to keep up with changing times," noted Floto.

Brandon School Vote Due

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Voters in the Brandon School District will go to the polls Wednesday to decide the fate of a $3.7 million bond issue for the second time.

The school board's building bond proposal had been defeated in June on a 410-410 tie vote.

★ ★ ★

Board and administration officials maintain the proposal will not cost property owners any additional taxes.

They say the 8.27 mills the district allocates for debt reduction would furnish the revenue necessary to finance the bond issue, which calls for a new high school and additions and renovations to elementary buildings.

PLAN CUT BACT

Space plans for the new high school have been reduced by 20,000 square feet since June. Projected cost of the high school is $2,722,000.

School Supt. Clyde Fischer said it was necessary to reduce the high school size due to the sharp rise of construction costs over the last six months. He said the reduction was necessary to keep the high school proposal at the same cost as in June.

★ ★ ★

Fischer noted that the one vote that would have put the election over in June cost the residents approximately $440,000.

Fischer said the district had been levying 12 mills for three previous bond issues. He said the new rate would pay for the last three millage elections plus the new one.

2 KEY FACTORS

David Blomquist, assistant superintendent of schools for business affairs, said recent legislation authorizing school districts to borrow more from the state's building and loan fund plus the district's newly voted 6.8 mill incease has created the feasibility of financing the bond issue proposal at no extra cost to the taxpayer.

He added that the possibility of new school construction without extra taxes depends on the continuation of existing operating levies for three years and no changes in state legislation.

★ ★ ★

Other projects in the bond proposal include a classroom addition to Bell Ann Elementary school; conversion of the multipurpose room at Bell Ann into a learning resource cener and construction of a new multipurpose room; remodeling of the middle school at the existing high school building, renovation of the Howard T. Bert Elementary School and new equipment for Bell Ann, Bert and the high school.

Plans for a new administration building and bus wash rack were eliminated.

Fischer said if the bond issue passes, the board probably will have difficulty selling the bonds because of the current six per cent limit. Earliest construction could begin in September, he said.

The superintendent said the need for the new high school is becoming increasingly critical. He forecast that the present high school no longer will be able to serve the district's student population within two or three years.

Passage of the bond issue, he explained, would provide the high school in time to meet the districts expanding needs.

Weekend Death Count on Michigan Roads Is 17

By United Press International

Three persons were killed in two separate car accidents in the Upper Peninsula's Marquette County last night, bringing the weekend traffic death toll to 18.

State Police said William McMahon, 44, Newberry, and Virgil Wright, 34, Singleton, were killed when the cars they were driving collided head-on on M28 in Chocolay Township.

★ ★ ★

In an accident on U. S. 41 in Ely Township, 63-year-old Violet Richards of Houghton died when the car in which she was riding was involved in a head-on collision with another vehicle.

On Saturday, there were three double-fatality accidents, two of them in Kent County.

CAR OVERTURNED

Richard Felix, 21, Grand Rapids, and Edward Felex, 20, suburban Wyoming, died when the car they were riding in overturned on Peach Road, 20 miles north of Grand Rapids, and hit a treee.

Two 16-year-old Cedar Springs youths—Richard M. Uplinger and Karl E. Hanson—were killed in a two-car collision on Northland Drive in Algoma Township.

Claude Potter, 61, Bellaire, and his 60-year-old wife, Bernice, lost their lives on M88, four miles south of Bellaire, in Antrim County, when their car went out of control and ran off the road.

In a similar accident Saturday morning, Clayton Fenner, a 46-year-old Detroiter, was killed when he smashed his car into a tree in West Bloomfield Township.

Elizabeth Howard, 72, Berkley, was killed Saturday afternoon when she was struck by a car at the intersection of Woodward Avenue and Eleven Mile Road in Royal Oak.

Larry H. Ables, 21, Adrian, died Saturday morning when his car ran off the road and turned over on Deerfield Road, in Elmira Township, Lenawee County.

Fatal accidents Friday night claimed the lives of:

10 Arrested in Fracas at Northland Saturday

SOUTHFIELD (AP) — A disturbance, which began when two young women snatched a telephone from a third girl who was making a call, has resulted in 10 arrests at Northland Shopping Center.

Police said when they moved in to question the two women who grabbed the telephone Saturday they were faced with a crowd of about 400 youths yelling antipolice slogans.

★ ★ ★

There were no injuries but a trash container was set ablaze and a lamp in a display window was broken.

Police arrested two youths on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and eight others were charged with disorderly conduct.

Raid Brings Arrest of 280 Men, Four Alleged Strippers

A total of 280 men and four alleged strippers were arrested in a gambling raid on a Commerce Township sportsman's club last night.

Twenty Pontiac State Police troopers, five Liquor Control Commission officers and an Oakland County assistant prosecutor surrounded the Multi Lakes Conservation Association Inc., 3860 Newton, at 6:20 p.m. yesterday, police said.

Numbers of men escaped arrest on disorderly persons charges, according to Detective Max Waterbury.

He said one man tried to escape by diving through a window. He was captured unhurt.

WITHIN 10 DAYS

All of those arrested were released on their own recognizance for a trial before a Walled Lake District Court judge within 10 days, Waterbury said.

"There was a crowd of more than 400 men there," Waterbury said. "They were coming and going after the girlie show."

He said there was dice and card gambling going on at the club, which has about 1,000 members.

A charge against the club and its president, Dan Young, may be made today, Waterbury said. In addition, the club's liquor license was violated, he said.

★ ★ ★

Police said they knew of the scheduled show a week ahead of time through an informant.

Snow Leopard—A Shy Fellow

New Leopard at Detroit Zoo 'Loses' Spots

ROYAL OAK — The Book of Jeremiah asks if a leopard can change its spots. The Detroit Zoo has one that can and does.

Pound for pound, one of the most ferocious animals in captivity, a Russian snow leopard is the newest addition to the zoo, at 8450 Ten Mile.

The 85-pound, 3-year-old male leopard was captured recently in the Ural Mountains in western Russia and bought by the zoo for $5,000. A female snow leopard is expected in a couple months.

The leopard is cream colored with circular black rings during warmer months; but, when winter comes, the spots disappear so he can blend into the snow background.

★ ★ ★

An "endangered" animal, according to William Austin, the zoo's education curator, there are less than 1,000 snow leopards still alive in the world.

As yet unnamed, the leopard will have to go through a committee to get some identity.

He'll never fully adjust to captivity, Austin said, but he will become more manageable.

American Bombers Attack N. Viet Positions, Killing 52

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese base camps and gun position near the Bu Dop Special Forces camp today and the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported killing 52 of the enemy in the region.

About 35 of the big bombers dropped more than 1,000 tons of explosives 4½ miles northeast of Bu Dop and within two miles of the Cambodian border.

The camp, 88 miles north of Saigon, has been the target of sporadic shelling for more than a month. Five rockets hit the camp's airstrip Sunday, killing six Vietnamese and wounding 12 as they waited for helicopters. "Light" American casualties also were reported.

Despite the shelling, no major ground attack has been made on the camp. U.S. officers maintain that heavy B52 raids and constant air and ground reconnaissance by the 1st AirCav have prevented the North Vietnamese from massing for such an attack.

The U.S. Command said the air cavalrymen battled the North Vietnamese in half a dozen clashes Sunday, supported by rocket-firing helicopter gunships and U.S. fighter-bombers. Along with the 52 North Vietnamese reported killed, two Americans were killed and 12 wounded.

The U.S. Command reported 23 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night. It said the only American casualties were at the headquarters of the 1st Infantry Division's 1st Brigade, 42 miles northwest of Saigon. A spokesman said some Americans were wounded but none was killed.

New Pulitzer to Be Offered

Prize for Criticism or Commentary Set

NEW YORK (AP) — A new Pulitzer prize for criticism or commentary in American newspapers has been announced by Columbia University.

Andrew W. Cordier, the university president, said Sunday the new prize will be awarded next year for the first time.

★

The prize with a certificate and a $1,000 cash award for the winner, will be the 10th prize in the field of journalism.

The prizes are awarded annually by the trustees of Columbia University, acting on recommendations of the Advisory Board on the Pulitzer Prizes.

With the exception of editorials, all forms of critical writing, columns on public affairs and other forms of commentary will be eligible, Cordier said.

The deadline for submitting material for consideration in all journalism categories is before Feb. 1, 1970, the university said.

★ ★ ★

Awards in other journalism categories are a gold medal for public service by newspapers, four prizes for reporting at local, national and international levels, two for photography, and one each for cartooning and editorials.

Defense Takes Over in Chicago 7 Trial

CHICAGO (AP) — The defense takes over today in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring to cross state lines to incite rioting during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Defense Attorney William Kunstler said the first move would be to ask U.S. Dist. Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman for a directed verdict of acquittal.

★ ★ ★

The defense claims the government failed to prove that the defendants came into Illinois with the intention of fomenting violence.

During the prosecution's case—which began Sept. 24 and brought in 54 witnesses—the defense regularly requested mistrials but Judge Hoffman rejected the motions.

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Defense attorneys also have argued that the law under which the seven are charged—an amendment to the 1968 Civil Rights Act—is unconstitutional. They contend the law violates the defendants' First Amendment rights of free speech and peaceful assembly.

Early in the trial, the defense mentioned former President Lyndon Johnson, former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Chicago Mayor Richard Daley as possible witnesses.

★ ★ ★

The trial lost one defendant when Judge Hoffman declared a mistrial for Bobby G. Seale, Black Panther party chairman. Seale, who at one point was gagged and tied after repeatedly demanding the right to carry out his own defense, was sentenced to four years in prison for contempt of court. His attorney says he will appeal.

★ ★ ★

The prolonged trial is one of the most expensive ever held in Chicago. Sequestering the jury of 10 women and 2 men in a downtown hotel is costing $5,000 a week. The transcript of the trial is already nearly 10,000 pages long.

U.S. Arabs Warn of More Aid to Israel

DETROIT (AP)—Delegates to an Arab-American convention adopted a resolution Sunday declaring continued United States aid to Israel "carries with it the danger of involving the U.S. in another Vietnam-like conflict.

★ ★ ★

More than 250 delegates at the second annual convention of the Association of Arab-American University Graduates, ratified a lengthy policy statement at the concluding session of their three-day convention at Wayne State University.

The convention, which named Dr. Cherif Baissouni of the College of Law, DePaul University, Chicago, as its new president, called for continuation of Arab struggles against Israel forces in Palestine.

Delegates contended that Arabs had been deprived of the rights to self-determination in Palestine, long a battleground between Jews and Arabs.

COURSE ENDORSED

The convention's over-all resolution read:

"In the light of the persistent and arbitrary denial of this right of self-determination of the Palestinians by imperialist and Zionist forces, the Association endorses the current necessary course of the Palestinian people to a war of national liberation of their homeland."

★ ★ ★

Delegates unanimously adopted the resolution describing what they called the Arabs' "aspiration to liberate all sections of the Palestinian community from all manifestations of racial and national prejudice and other forms of human oppression."

Acting in the wake of a Saturday panel discussion of Jewish retaliation against Arab freedom fighters, the convention called for such Arabs to be covered under the Geneva pact covering treatment of war prisoners.

It said of the guerrilla fighters, "according to the Geneva Convention of 1949, guerrilla fighters are entitled to the status of prisoners of war and are not to be treated as common criminals.

Stamps Worth $250,000 Stolen

DETROIT (AP) —A major stamp collection, valued at $250,000, was stolen during the burglary of a Detroit home Saturday.

Frank Foltyn, 64, reported to police that the collection known as the King Farouk Collection was taken from his home sometime Saturday. He said the prize winning collection was contained in six to eight large green albums.

Foltyn said two other smaller prize-winning stamp collections were stolen too. He fixed the value of the three collections at $250,000.

Police said Foltyn also reported the theft of $10,000 in U.S. savings bonds and cash, a color television set and a fur coat.

The thieves apparently gained entry to the two - story brick house by breaking into the milk chute and then opening a back door, officers reported.

Evers 'Fires' City Attorney

She Weds Black, Loses Job

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP) — A 28-year-old Lansing woman has been forced out of her position as the only white public official in the small Mississippi town of Fayette.

Mayor Charles Evers says former city attorney Martha Wood wasn't fired, but "terminated" her own employment when she married a Negro policeman.

★ ★ ★

The policeman's job was also "terminated," Evers said.

Evers, the only Negro mayor of a biracial municipality in Mississippi, said charges made Saturday in Detroit by the woman involved were not true.

The former Miss Wood recently married Monroe Jenkins, 28. She said both she and her husband were fired by Evers when he learned of their intent to wed.

Evers said he had no objection to the marriage, but felt it would have posed additional difficulties for him in his effort to show that Negroes can win elections and administer governments in Mississippi.

"I told them, begged them, that whatever you do is your business, but don't do it here. Their last words were, 'We are going to get married and live in Fayette, 'and my answer was "you won't live here as city attorney and as city policeman.'

I didn't fire her, I gave her an alterntive," said Evers.

★ ★ ★

"We did not terminate her, they terminated themselves. I am not here to marry anybody or deny anybody from being married. But I know our first job here is to make this government work. We are going to make it work and I can't help who the hatchet chops off.

"I feel personally that Fayette is not the place and this is certainly not the time for us to go out here and promote white and black marriages on our staff.

'CAN'T HAVE IT'

"I am for togetherness and I am for you marrying who you want to. At this particular time we just can't have it.

"There are plenty of people, racists and bigots, who aren't going to accept that all we need is one killing in this town. We have had enough killings and I know Mississippi whites."

★ ★ ★

Jenkins joined the Fayette police force last July after working in Milwaukee. Mrs. Jenkins, a native of Lansing, Mich., was an unpaid member of Evers' staff.

They said they were now seeking employment in Michigan.

State GOP Aim: Defeat of Hart

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The Republican State Central Committee has been told that defeating Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., is the first goal of Michigan Republicans next year and former Gov. George Romney is the man to do the job.

"I think it's time to get the Rambler on the road and take Hart with Romney," Rep. Marvin L. Esch, R-Mich., said over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

If Romney chooses to remain U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Esch said, "then there are a dozen other Republicans fully capable of performing a 'Hart transplant'."

An informal vote at the caucus on a preferred Senate candidate came out Romney, seven votes, and six votes for Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., R-Mich., from Flint.

She Creates Music, Ceramics, Gardens

By JUNE ELERT

Theatre owners of the old days must have thought there was something unnatural about silent entertainment. Perhaps that was why they invariably hired a piano player to supply mood music to accompany the presentation of silent films.

Mrs. Loyal Nancarrow of Troy played those improvised accompaniments in the original Royal Oak Theatre over a half century ago.

★ ★ ★

Gladys studied piano at the Detroit Conservatory, starting when she was 15 and continuing until she married about five years later. The job in the theatre ended then too, since it was the style in those days for married women to stay at home.

So music has been "for fun" ever since. "The Hammond Concert Grand in the dining room and the grand piano in the living room testify to an unflagging interest.

★ ★ ★

The Nancarrows raised four sons (three of whom play well by ear). They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last summer amid 17 grandchildren and four great-grandsons.

NEW INTERESTS

Gladys's interests broadened about 1942, when, in a very short space of time, three of her boys went into military service, leaving a void that she knew was a preview of what life would be like when they were all grown and had left the nest.

She turned to gardening and ceramics. "I don't know why I always choose things that are such hard work," she said. "I garden in the summer and do ceramics in the winter."

The Nancarrow property covers about three quarters of an acre and glows all summer with iris and Hemerocallis (day-lillies) which Gladys sells to regular customers and others who stop by on their way to White Chapel Cemetery which is a mile or so down the road.

Gladys has two kilns to accommodate her ceramic work and still has a rushing time keeping up with orders for seasonal pieces. In the past she has conducted classes, teaching others the craft, but prefers now not to have to work on a strict time schedule.

When filled, some of the moulds for the larger items, like patio frogs and the currently-popular lighted Christmas trees, weigh up to 40 pounds — considerable weight for a great-grandma to handle.

Looking forward to retirement? "No, my husband sees some of these retired fellows. They come into his shop and sit around — they just don't have anything to do. I guess we'll keep on going like we are — for a while yet, anyway."

TO GIVE CONCERT

Mrs. Nancarrow will make a guest appearance as organ soloist Tuesday at the Hammond Organ Society's monthly meeting in Grinnell's on South Saginaw Street. Her program will include some of the old tunes that were so adaptable to so many scenes in so many different films.

★ ★ ★

Later this month, she and her husband, who plays the trumpet, will perform in duet at the Society's Christmas party.

Tuesday Musicale Program to Feature Strings, Chorus

The Royal Oak Baroque Strings, a 28-member ensemble from the Kimball High School Orchestra, will present several numbers on Tuesday Musicale's Christmas program.

The annual concert will be held in the sanctuary of Central United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m. The public may attend without charge.

The string group, under direction of Carl Picklo, studies concert music of all periods with special emphasis on the Baroque.

★ ★ ★

They have been invited to tour England next summer, with concert dates scheduled in London, Canterbury, Bath and Oxford, as well as visiting the Royal Academy of Music in London and the festival in Bath.

CHORUS

The Musicale's 40-voice chorus, directed by Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, will present a program of sacred and secular music.

★ ★ ★

The sacred portion includes the "Missa Brevis in D," by Benjamin Britten, featuring soloists Nancy Puskas and Marilyn Chapman. Written in 1959, it is medieval music in modern dress and was intended for performance by boys' choirs or women's voices.

Phyllis Gehman will carry the solo line in "Jesus, Jesus Rest Your Head," an Appalachian folk song, on the secular part of the program.

Mrs. Walter Schmitz will accompany on piano and organ.

Mrs. E. M. Peterson and Mrs. D. S. Smith head a large social committee.

Marketing Profile

Calorie Counter Average Eater

EAST LANSING — Ladies, meet your collective self — 5 feet 4 inches tall, 130 pounds and calorie conscious.

At least that's a partial composite of the average feminine American consumer drawn recently by a marketing specialist at Michigan State University.

George Stachwick, director of MSU's consumer marketing program, says that based upon consumer profile information, Mrs. Average American Consumer takes in approximately 3,000 calories a day and would like to reduce. There is, however, only about one chance in four that she will be successful in shedding those extra pounds, Stachwick says.

Each year she consumes about 170 pounds of meat, 314 eggs, 99 pounds of sugar, 12 pounds of cheese, 112 pounds of potatoes, 80 pounds of fresh fruit, 80 pounds of bread, 240 quarts of milk, 191 bottles of pop and 2,500 inches of spaghetti.

If she has reached the age of 40, putting away all that food may be somewhat difficult, since she probably has lost about half of her teeth.

To keep herself poised, painted and generally pretty, she spends at least $50 a month on beauty treatments, hair appointments and clothes. In five years she will consume her height in lipstick.

Her 2 pound 11 ounce brain handles about 10,000 thoughts each day, and she daily utters some 4,800 to 5,000 words. Not surprising, she will spend about one year of her life on the telephone.

CHILDREN

The chances are 50-50 that she will have either two children or none.

Running errands and doing housework, she will walk about eight miles a day. This should help her get a good night's rest, but it does not. She does not sleep too well. Forty percent of her sleeping problems are worries, of which 30 percent are things she can't do anything about and 10 percent are relatively unimportant.

When things get to be just too hectic, she is apt to take a cup of the 21.75 pounds of coffee, tea or cocoa she consumes every year and dream of the social function at which she met her husband. She may even recall the night they sat in his car and he presented her with a ¼ carat diamond.

Husband Helps Couple Keep Romantic Secret

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in a professionw hich caters to women. (It's a personal service, but please don't say what kind.) He is of Italian descent and speaks the language very well, although he was born and raised in the U.S.A.

One of his clients recently returned from a vacation in Rome. She is fiftyish and married to a rich man. She's very attractive and obviously a swinger because while in Rome she met and had an affair with an Italian. (Don't ask me how an American woman who can't speak Italian, and an Italian man who can't speak English ever got to this point, but they did.)

Well, this woman got a love letter from this Italian man, and since it was written in Italian she asked my husband to translate it for her. He did. Then she dictated a letter to her lover in English, and my husband wrote it for her in Italian.

At first I thought this was funny, but I don't think it's funny anymore. (The Italian is also married.)

I told my husband I didn't think he should be doing this. He thinks I'm square." What do you think?

"SQUARE"

DEAR "SQUARE": If you're "square", I want to be in all four of your corners.

DEAR ABBY: Lately my husband just loves to go to these discount stores to buy groceries for me. Abby, my kitchen cupboards are filled with things I have no use for. I would prefer to buy my own groceries as no one knows better than I what I need in my kitchen.

Also, lately, he won't allow me to wash his socks and underwear. He washes them out himself every night. I tell him I can do it like I always did, once a week, but he says I "lose" them for him! Now, Abby, I've been married to this man for nearby 40 years and I haven't lost any of his laundry yet.

★ ★ ★

We raised four nice children who are all married and gone now, and there are just the two of us home. He retired last year and this should be the happiest time of our lives, but his strange ways are making me nervous. What should I do?

Don't tell me to send him to the doctor. If you could see him eat, you'd know he wasn't sick.

NERVOUS IN MAINE

DEAR NERVOUS: A "healthy appetite" doesn't necessarily indicate good mental health. Your husband's sudden "strange ways" could be a signal that there is something "wrong" with him. By all means, get him to a doctor for a thorough examination from the neck both ways.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO EARL: Money IS important. But only because it enables you to buy the things that are more important than money.

★ ★ ★

She's Out of This World

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Melanie Leigh Vincz of Indianpolis, Ind., won the Miss Outer-Space beauty contest and the $1,000 prize that went with it made a nice birthday present. She was 20 Sunday.

Miss Vincz, a 5-foot-7 model with measurements of 36-22-36, "is the first girl willing to go to the moon . . . if the government will let her," said Syd Friedman, originator of the contest.

An antiques buff who plans to open a shop in the basement of her home, she was Miss Indianpolis in the Miss World contest this year.

No Muzzle on His Wife

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Mrs. John N. Mitchell, the wife of the U.S. Attorney General, believes in free speech.

And, according to her husband, there's no muzzle on his free-speaking wife.

When asked to comment on recent charges he edited his wife's public remarks, Mitchell said he must first deny it "as a husband, and then as attorney general."

* * *M

Mitchell said, as proof of his wife's free speech powers, that "photographers took her picture and newsmen questioned her" at a dinner party Thursday night in Minneapolis. The Mitchells attended the dinner for Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., who is seeking the seat of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn.

* * *

The muzzling question arose after Mrs. Mitchell told a television audience her husband would like to take some of the "liberals in this country" and exchange them for "Russian communists."

* * *

Mitchell later said he would like to substitute the words "violence-prone militant radicals" for "liberals," adding, then "I would be delighted to change them for some of the academically inclined Marxist communists."

Coal Tar Gel Promises Aid to Countless Psoriasis Victims

There's a season for almost everything — including some skin problems. Skin specialists report more visits from patients with psoriasis during late fall and early winter than at any other time of the year.

Psoriasis ranks high on the list of the top ten most common skin problems. One of the safest and most satisfactory remedies, according to a pamphlet issued by the Public Health Service, includes a combination of coal tar ointments.

* * *

A refined, sophisticated formulation which includes coal tar and allantoin (an ingredient that helps speed healing) is available in a colorless, gel form. The product, called Alphosyl Gel, comes in a 2-oz. tube and spreads like a liquid. It leaves an invisible film on the skin.

* * *

Alphosyl Gel has the same basic formula as Alphosyl Cream and Lotion, which a number of prestigious medical journals have reported as helping to soften skin, speed healing, and to control psoriasis effectively.

* * *

Reed & Carnrick, the company that developed the cosmetic gel, describes it as the first effective cosmetic approach to treatment of this common skin condition, affecting one out of every 50 persons in the U.S.

Smell of Waffles Lures Sleepers

The delightful aroma of waffles lures the most reluctant sleepyhead, stay-a-bed to the breakfast table. Waffles taste best when the crust is golden crisp and the inside thoroughly cooked.

For extra crispness, spear the waffle with a fork to remove it from the griddle. Then hold on fork for a second or two before dropping it onto a plate.

---

Use Dry Sherry for Baking Ham

For company entertaining bake a 2-pound slice of ham this way. Place it in a shallow baking dish and cover with one-third cup medium dry Sherry. Bake one-half hour in moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

Then place canned cling peach halves, one to a person, over the peaches. Baste with Sherry and continue baking another half hour.

Salad at Left

Company coming? If salad is being served as a separate course, after the main dish, the salad plate should be placed (with the left hand) from the guest's left side.

Gas Station Lingo Is Confusing to Women

One problem for a woman getting her car serviced is that she often has trouble with the language.

Service station men, like people in many other specialized professions, have their own way of saying things. As time goes on, they forget you may not "comprende la lingua."

* * *

To add to the confusion, when you confront your favorite car-care expert with, "My husband said you'll probably want to check the framiscron — or something like that," nobody knows what anybody is talking about.

What can be done about it?

The first thing you can do is to be sure of what your husband said. Next for the uninitiated, here is a pot pourri of expressions your automotive service man may throw at you.

For example: When he says, "You're aimed at the tree tops and weak on low beam," what he means is, "With your headlights that far out of aim, and one of them weak, you're lucky you can see at all. And how about the other drivers you are blinding?"

He says, "This sludge will wreck your lifters."

He means dirty oil and a clogged oil filter aren't doing their job. Grit and other contaminants work their way into finely machined parts of your car, including the valve lifters. The result is a noisy engine that grows old too soon.

"She's about to blow this hose."

This is a warning that you would be stranded in the middle of nowhere with a burned-up engine. Radiator hoses don't last forever, and with pressurized cooling systems (which work on the same principle as the pressure cooker in your kitchen) when a worn-out hose bursts, it really goes!

"You've got corrosion on your terminals."

Translation: You may have trouble getting your car started unless you have the important battery connections cleaned and tightened.

"It acts like your PCV is clogged."

Very simply, PCV means Positive Crankcase Ventilation. Your car could be polluting the air and seriously hampering the performance of your engine.

"Your timing is so late, I'm surprised she ran at all."

The service man is talking about late ignition timing, an indication that you are late for your tune-up.

"You're toed out, Ma'am, and slightly out of balance."

Nothing personal. Your car probably is not steering too well. It may be shaking, wobbling and wearing a lot of rubber off the tires — all because you haven't had the front wheels aligned and balanced in awhile.

"You've got brittle blades and a weak arm."

No wonder you have been having trouble seeing in the rain. Wiper blades can grow brittle, dull and inefficient after about six months of normal use. After a couple of years, the wiper arms lose their tension and don't exert the right amount of pressure, to hold the blades against the glass.

"You need two clamps and a pipe to get you back in shape."

He is talking about exhaust pipes and the clamps that keep connections tight. When any parts of your exhaust system rust through you are in trouble. Worse than the noise is the carbon monoxide gas that can creep into your car. It is lethal.

"We changed your fluid, tightened your bands and adjusted your linkage; so it ought to feel better now."

It certainly should. Your car had been feeling sluggish, seemed to slip when it should have been shifting. It needed ATF (automatic transmission fluid) and some adjustments to get it back to normal.

Crockett Hit for Releasing Two

DETROIT (AP)—Facing criticism from police officers, Detroit Recorder's Court Judge George W. Crockett Jr. said Sunday he ordered the release of two men arrested after an armed robbery attempt because no evidence against them was available immediately.

Crockett said he had no legal alternative to freeing Theopus Terrell, 25, and Gerald E. Catchings, 26, both of Detroit, because their lawyer presented him with a writ of habeas corpus Saturday.

Police said both men, arrested after a department store robbery, should have remained in custody until witnesses could try to identify them in a police show-up.

One of the men was arrested Friday night fleeing from the scene of the robbery on the outskirts of Detroit. The other man was apprehended later the same evening.

SHOW-UP PLANNED

The pair was kept overnight at police headquarters. Police said they had planned to hold a show-up at 11 a.m. Saturday, but that Crockett had ordered them into court before then.

Crockett said when their lawyer, Mrs. Alice B. Rucker, applied for the writ of habeas corpus early Saturday, he was legally obliged to sign it and hold an immediate hearing.

According to the transcript of the hearing, Crockett said holding the arrested men for a show up was unnecessary delay. He warned police that if they did not have witnesses present before court adjournment for the day, the two men would be released.

In an interview Sunday with the Detroit Free Press, Crockett noted, "The public generally has a notion—it's almost become a fixation—that the police are entitled to arrest you and hold you for investigation and that includes a show-up, and that they don't have to bring you before a judge until a show-up."

EARLIER CRITICISM

Crockett said that notion is incorrect.

The judge drew criticism last March 30 when he released several persons after two policemen were shot outside the New Bethel Baptist Church in Detroit, where black militants had gathered for a meeting. Crockett ruled at that time there was no evidence available immediately to warrant holding those persons arrested.

Nixon Wage, Price Policies Rapped

NEW YORK (AP) — A former economics adviser to John F. Kennedy said today that while the Nixon administration pursued a "policy of rigid self-discipline" for government it "seemed to declare open season on inflationary private wage and price decisions."

* * *

In a speech for the Business Week conference on money, Walter W. Heller, professor of economics at the University of Minnesota, said:

"The administration made the battle against inflation sound too easy. Last February, the President publicly declared that he was not about to intervene in the private preserve of labor and management, namely wage negotiations and price decisions. "It sounded as though he was applying the economics of pain in the public sector and declaring for the economics of joy in the private sector."

Heller had several suggestions for price stability.

"As it is now doing in the construction field," he said, "The government should move into other fields like medicine and health care in a joint government-business-labor effort to break bottlenecks ... speed productivity growth, and moderate the pace of wage-price increases."

Heller also suggested an overhaul of agricultural subsidies to lower costs to consumers, as well as modification or elimination of oil import quotas.

Village Receives Weather Shield

ROHRMOOS, Germany (AP) — A good percentage of this three-family, 18-person village in the snowiest, wettest German Alps can take shelter under an outsize umbrella received on special order.

It is 8 feet in diameter and is carried by two adults. Annual precipitation measures around 92 inches.

Wallace Urged to Run in 1972

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — State political organizations spawned by Geroge C. Wallace's 1968 presidential bid have urged him to support a convention of independent parties to draft a platform and pick presidential and vice presidential candidates in 1972.

The National Committee of Autonomous State Parties, representing 27 states, invited the former Alabama governor Sunday to seek the nomination for president himself.

* * *

But the organization, in its resolutions, also asked him to respect the "rights of sovereignty" of autonomous state third-party groups, complaining that his 1968 national campaign organization was dictatorial.

William K. Shearer of Los Angeles, chairman of the participating National Committee of the American Independent party, predicted Wallace would run again and would seek organized third-party support to avoid the expense of running in state primaries.

Benjamin Franklin is generally credited with inventing the rocking chair.

Grosse Pointe Pupils Face Drug Roll

DETROIT (AP) — School officials in the posh Detroit suburb of Grosse Pointe, seeking "first-hand" information on drug use, plan to ask fifth- and sixth-grade pupils whether they use narcotics.

Supt. Theos Anderson said, "We know its a problem, and we want to find out more about it. We think asking the students is the way to get it first-hand."

* * *

The survey will cover pupils in the two elementary grades plus a random sampling of pupils in the seventh through 12th grades.

Questions in the survey will include how much the children know about drugs and whether they use drugs themselves. Anderson said replies will be anonymous but school officials want to know the size of the problem and at what level to begin teaching the dangers of drugs.

ALREADY IN EFFECT

There already is a program warning against drug use being taught at Grosse Pointe High School.

"These children may be a lot more sophisticated than we realize about drugs," Anderson said. He added, "To beat this thing, teachers, parents and students have got to work together."

* * *

Police have estimated that 2 per cent of the suburb's school-children are seriously involved with drugs while nearly 20 per cent use them.

Anderson observed that "drug use seems to be a problem associated with affluence. These children have too much money to spend, and so they are able to buy drugs."

Turnover Is Moderate

Stock Market Opens Mixed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened mixed today in moderate turnover.

Despite a lack of constructive news some analysts felt the list may be ready to move forward. One analyst noted that last week's sharp slide could bring in the bargain hunters although concern over tight credit and inflation still overhung Wall Street.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a loss of 0.08 per cent on 370 issues crossing the tape. There were 139 declines and 130 advances.

★ ★ ★

International Nickel dipped ¼ to 41⅝, while Sears, Roebuck lost ⅜ to 65⅞. Raytheon eased ¼ to 34⅜, Johns-Manville ⅛ to 31¼.

SHOWS GAIN

Newmont Mining gained ⅛ to 29⅝, Pittsburgh Forgings ⅜ to 25⅜, American Machine & Foundry ⅛ to 18½, and Xerox ⅛ to 104⅝.

In the oil group, Ashland slid ½ to 24⅝ and Occidental ⅛ to 23¼. Pennzoil also dipped ⅛ to 34⅜, but Gulf and Texaco held unchanged at 28½ and 28⅞, respectively. Standard of Ohio added ⅛ to 92⅛.

★ ★ ★

Monsanto eased ¼ to 37⅞ among the chemicals, with du Pont down ½ to 105¼, and Union Carbide unchanged at 37¾.

BRAless Tower Eases Tensions

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — West Branch folks breathe a little easier now that the BRA has been taken off their water tower.

The name of the town where former President Herbert Hoover was born was being repainted on the tank, but for weeks only BRA was visible. Last week the job was finished.

Mayor W. Minard Thomas explained: "Well, the painter got BRA painted on the tower and it started to rain. Then he got sick. It's a long story."

Mine Workers to Pick Leader

Vote Tomorrow Ends Bitter Campaign

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Mine Workers union votes for a president Tuesday after a long, bitter campaign between incumbent W.A. (Tony) Boyle and Joseph A. (Jock) Yablonski.

Boyle has held the $50,000-a-year office since he succeeded John L. Lewis in 1963. Yablonski, a member of the union executive board for 27 years, has accused him of mishandling union finances. They have sharply criticized each other in campaign appearances.

★ ★ ★

A Labor Department report, which Boyle denied, was made public Nov. 28 saying, among other items, that he raised the salaries of union officials including his brother and daughter without proper approval and okayed thousands of dollars in unverified expense claims.

A Boyle spokesman described the report as an attempt to influence the election in Yablonski's favor.

SIMILAR PROMISE

Both candidates promised the union's 200,000 members, active and retired, to work for higher pay and pensions for the rank and file.

To meet the added expense of bigger retirement benefits they proposed an increase in the royalty of 40 cents per ton of coal which mine operators now pay into the union treasury.

★ ★ ★

The campaign promises included a pay raise from $32 to $50 a day and a pension increase from $150 a month to $200.

Yablonski predicted Sunday he would win the election by 15,000 to 20,000 votes because the miners want "total democracy" in the union.

"John L. Lewis was a bit of a dictator in his own right, a rather benevolent dictator," said Yablonski, "and of course John L. Lewis was a very hard headed individual and he believed at he knew what was best for coal miners. The day of dictatorships, even benevolent dictatorships, is passed in America."

Jackson to Get 19 Demands From NAACP

JACKSON (AP)—The Jackson chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has drafted a list of 19 demands to be presented to the City Commission today.

★ ★ ★

The demands call for increased representation of blacks in local government, greater employment opportunity for Negroes and improvement of living conditions in predominantly black residential areas.

★ ★ ★

The demands were drafted at a meeting of the state NAACP in Jackson Sunday and received the backing of the statewide group.

★ ★ ★

Racial tensions rose again briefly in the troubled city of 50,700 Sunday when police reportedly broke into the offices of the Black Berets, a local militant group. Witnesses said police entered the offices after they were told a suspect in the Robbery attempted of a nearby gasoline station fled toward the office.

OFFERED KEY

Kenneth Brown, a spokesman for the Black Berets, said he offered police a key to open the door, but they declined and broke in. Police had no comment on the report.

★ ★ ★

Prosecutor Bruce Barton said the Berets refused to permit police to enter their office. He said the officers found a sawed off shotgun inside.

★ ★ ★

A crowd gathered while police surrounded the office, but later dispersed peacefully.

Later in the evening, police entered the offices again, this time with a search warrant. A police spokesman said they were still looking for the suspect in the robbery.

More Banks Drop Check-Service Fee

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

CUNNIFF

NEW YORK — Price cutting in the retail-banking industry has broken out in many sections of the country, with some banks dropping entirely their service charges on personal - checking accounts.

The situation is viewed by bankers as extraordinary and perhaps unprecedented, and by consumers as a welcome exception to the general rule of and higher prices.

Banks in the past have been stiff competitors but seldom in the area of prices. Instead, customers have been attracted by convenient offices, parking spaces, drive-in windows or giveaways.

Prices for loans and checking account services generally settled at a uniform rate that could be obtained from most banks in a locality. Price cutting, as practiced in other businesses, was almost unknown.

TRADITION IS UPSET

A study by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston shows that traditional marketing ideas are being upset, primarily by the trend to lower or dropped service charges on checking accounts.

Over the period of a year such charges can run from a few dollars for inactive accounts to $50 or more for accounts with considerable turnover. The loss of such revenue, some bankers believe, will seriously erode profits.

★ ★ ★

The cut-rate checking accounts began to appear in 1964 in Massachusetts and Connecticut, but have spread in a spotted pattern from coast to coast and border to border.

The Boston bank's study shows that much of the price-cutting competition comes from new banks anxious to build up their deposits. To them, the money to be made on checking accounts is of less concern than attaining sizable deposits that can be invested profitably in loans, bonds and real estate.

RELUCTANT ACTION

Reluctantly, the larger and more established banks are forced to cut the prices of their checking account services or face the loss of customers. Some banks have decided on the latter course as the more sensible.

In most instances, the price-cutting has not eliminated all charges. Many banks insist that a minimum balance be maintained in the account. Others offer free checking with no minimum balance only to customers who maintain a savings account with the bank.

★ ★ ★

The variety of plans is wide. At least one bank now offers checking accounts with no service charge to any individual who uses the bank's credit card to make purchases of at least $5 a month.

In theory, such inducements should help a bank increase the amount of deposits and thus permit it to make enough money from its larger investment portfolio to offset the lower income from checking accounts.

INDUCES CUSTOMERS

Another advantage to the bank is that the low-cost checking services can induce customers to use its more profitable departments, such as for personal loans, mortgages and trust services.

The drawbacks, however, appear to outweigh the advantages to banks.

★ ★ ★

Ironically, the low-cost checking accounts began to sweep the country at a time when banks began to suspect they were not clearing enough from checking accounts to cover bookkeeping costs.

In reducing charges at a time when financial studies indicated that increases were in order, the banks apparently dug themselves into a deeper hole. But with competition for funds keen as it is, they have little choice.

NEGATIVE EFFECT

"Cost and income prospects would appear unfavorable" for banks that eliminate charges, the study concludes. "In the aggregate, the effects would imply a negative impact on net earnings."

The only real winner, the bank states, is the consumer.

'Draft Lottery to Affect Recruiting Slightly'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department's manpower experts are convinced the draft lottery will have little net effect on armed forces recruiting or the reserve officers program.

They concede it may take some time to prove their point, because Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has already scheduled a 220,000-man reduction in the armed forces by July 1.

The result is that the draft, after being discontinued altogether in November and December, will take only 12,500 men in January. That is less than half of the monthly average for the first 10 months of this year.

With or without a lottery, the manpower experts say, a letup in the draft invariably brings a reduction in volunteering. So if recruiting shows a big reduction at the start of the year it may take some time to sort out the reasons for it.

The theory is that a man who drew a high number in the lottery is going to be motivated to enlist, and that his additional motivation will just about offset the man who can forget military service altogether because his lottery number was low.

The same will apply to men in college, who will carry their draft lottery numbers with them throughout their four years of study.

If their number is high, they will be motivated to remain in the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC).

Laird's economy reductions were scheduled at a time when the nation had a combined troop strength of 3,415,000 men. It is now thought that within 1970 the total may be brought down to 3,120,000, a reduction of almost 300,000.

This depends on whether additional withdrawals from Vietnam prove possible. For planning purposes, Laird is still assuming the total draft for 1970 will be about 250,000 men, or about 25,000 fewer than this year.

Viet Veterans Burn VC Flag

PITTSBURGH (AP) — About 15 young men, who said they were veterans of the Vietnam war, ripped and then burned two Viet Cong flags during a rally Sunday in downtown Point State Park.

About 200 persons watched the flag-burning at the "Remember Pearl Harbor" rally sponsored by the United Veterans Council of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

The young men said they would place the charred remains of the flags into a small replica of a coffin and send it to Hanoi.

"We back our President, our government and our boys serving in Vietnam 150 per cent. This is my country, their country and we intend to defend it with honor," said a young man who said he was a veteran of two years in Vietnam.

Items Stolen From Office

The statue of a schizophrenic person, a $700 camera, prescription blanks and a bottle of candy pills were reported stolen yesterday from the office of Dr. Francis Martin, 880 Woodward.

Police also reported that the thief or thieves attempted to rob other doctors' offices in the medical building but that no other suite appeared to have been disturbed.

★ ★ ★

Police theorize that the person or persons responsible hid in the building at closing time as there was no evidence of forced entry to the building.

Arms Talks Are Delayed on U.S. Plea

HELSINKI (AP) — The eighth working session of the U.S. — Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, scheduled for today, was postponed at the request of the U.S. Delegation.

The U.S. request seemed sure to give rise to speculation that trouble had developed in the talks, although an American spokesman insisted this was not the case. He said the session was postponed over the weekend by mutual agreement because "we did not have the required information."

★ ★ ★

The spokesman declined to explain further buy said the session probably would be held tomorrow. There is "no issue, no setback," he insisted.

There was no public inkling of the postponement until the U.S. delegation failed to show up at the Soviet embassy this morning.

The U.S. and Soviet delegations have agreed not to give out substantive information about the talks, making it impossible to know whether the public displays of good will are being by any real progress toward agreemtn on specific points.
