

Commission Has Heated Session

Housing, downtown redevelopment, politics and race issues sparked discussion at a heated City Commission meeting last night.

Principals in the discussion included City Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., John B. Maye, president of UAW Local 653, Robert Newby, head of the Progressive Action Committee for Equality (PACE) and Charles M. Tucker Jr., president of the Oakland County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

WILLIAM H. TAYLOR JR.

Much of the talk centered on PACE, its activities and statements. Fowler sharply criticized both PACE and Newby.

Fowler said, "At no time has he (Newby) accepted my advice. He's tried to stab me in the back with the longest knife he could find."

Newby replied that "we have said nothing we have to be ashamed of, we've always sought the truth and a bit of human dignity."

He said the six commissioners (in reference to the majority that approved the Taubman agreement) did not have a monopoly on brains. Therefore, he contended some questions raised were completely valid.

NEVER PRESENTED

Newby said that charge was based on the contention that the Taubman plan had never been presented to the Civic Improvement Advisory Committee or the planning commission.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. replied that the Taubman plan had been outlined to city planners in a joint meeting with the commission.

Maye pointed out that the housing problem was not just Pontiac's, but an area problem. He urged that surrounding suburbs be asked to help solve the housing shortage.

Noting the heated discussion, Tucker suggested that the commission plan an informal meeting for a private discussion of the problems under debate last night.

3 Men Lead City Fiscal Study Unit

The nucleus of a broad base committee to study Pontiac's fiscal crisis was named last night by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

Taylor announced that Robert R. Eldred, Edward E. Barker and James L. Howlett would head the new Pontiac Financial Study Committee.

Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank, is to be chairman of the committee, which results from a series of two meetings with community leaders on the city's financial plight.

The committee, to be selected from about 35 names turned in by community leaders, was charged with making:

- An analysis of the present financial problems facing the city today and recommendations for increased revenues.
- A more extensive and detailed study to provide a long-range financing plan for the future.

Taylor said Eldred and Barker, president of Pontiac State Bank, represented broad experience in banking and financial matters.

Howlett, meanwhile, a local attorney, headed a similar study committee for the Pontiac School District.

The committee's projected short-term study is expected to be keyed to a possible spring vote on some proposal to provide more general fund revenue.

Taylor said the appointed nucleus of the study committee would meet Friday with City Manager Joseph A. Warren for further discussion on the broad committee's formation.

The mayor further said Eldred would furnish a progress report on the committee's formation within 30 days.

Social Security Pay Hike Urged

LBJ Proposes at Least 10 Pct. Boost for '68

Minimum of $100 in Monthly Checks Is Included in Plan

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—President Johnson outlined today a broad blueprint for at least $2.2 billion of increases in Social Security pensions. Under his proposal, the average pensioner would get an additional $8.50 or more a month.

The President said he wants Congress to approve average benefit increases of at least 10 per cent. And he proposed minimum monthly checks of $100, compared with the present $44.

Some Republicans, noting Johnson made his pronouncement less than a month before the Nov. 8 election, accused him of playing politics. But many Congress members from both parties said Social Security benefits should be expanded.

None of the hikes would take effect until Jan. 1, 1968 — another election year.

Johnson sketched out his proposals — details will go to Congress in January — at a Social Security awards ceremony here.

FIRST STOP

The federal pension program, which ships monthly checks to 22 million Americans, has its headquarters in Baltimore.

Maryland's largest city was the first stop on a two-day presidential tour that will have awfully political aspects.

Johnson was bound for New York City and the annual Columbus Day parade — plus some speech-making urged upon him by Frank O'Connor, the Democratic candidate for governor, and Democratic House members seeking reelection.

Not Quite So Cool in the Area Tonight

Sunny and a little warmer is the forecast for Pontiac area residents.

The weatherman predicts partly cloudy and not so cool with lows of 42 to 46 tonight.

Mostly sunny with little temperature changes, highs ranging from 64 to 68, is tomorrow's forecast. There's a chance of a few showers Friday.

Today's westerly winds at 8 to 16 miles per hour will become light variable tonight.

Thirty-seven was the low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 59 at 2 p.m.

Five Detroit Youths Nabbed, Linked to Auto Theft Ring

Wixom police and Oakland County sheriff's deputies last night and early today took into custody five Detroit youths, cracking a suspected stolen-car ring.

Wixom Police Chief Darcy Young said arrests of the five, along with apprehension of a 16-year-old juvenile, eliminates nearly a month of investigation.

Held at the Oakland County Jail on $2,500 bond each following arraignment for possession of stolen autos are Charles Reed, 20; his brother, Danny Reed, 18; Ray Daniels, 21; William Justus, 21; and Joe Blankenship, 18.

The Reed brothers, Daniels, and Justus were arrested at their homes yesterday on warrants.

Wixom Justice Elwood Grubb scheduled their preliminary examination for Oct. 21.

WAIVED EXAM

Blankenship, said by Young to have been caught by State Police troopers yesterday on I-696, waived examination and was bound over by Grubb to Circuit Court for trial.

Young credited success of the investigation to efforts by State Police, Sterling Township.

"Sure my teacher's nice to you, but you don't have to sit in the front row every day."

Housewives Angry

He Saw Too Much!

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — "Woodsmen, spare that tree!" may be an old saw but a group of suburban housewives found out that it doesn't cut like the gasoline-powered kind.

These days a good power saw can level a 20-year growth of woods before nature lovers can even get a hearing.

When such a sawer showed up yesterday and began ripping into a grove of pine trees in a quiet Henrico County neighborhood, Mrs. Walter Hyer Jr. and some of her neighbors were incensed.

Since the grove borders the Tuckahoe Elementary School, they called the principal to protest.

He referred them to the superintendent of school construction and maintenance, who, it turned out, was in Utah.

A secretary referred them to the county school superintendent, but he was in court.

IN THE WAY

A call to Henrico Supervisor L. Ray Shadwell Jr. yielded a reply that the trees were a school board matter.

It seemed there was to be an addition to the school and the trees were in the way.

Finally, somebody called State Sen. William F. Parkerson Jr., who lives in the neighborhood, and he arrived at the site with the architect for the school addition, Macon G. Norman.

There, surrounded by the neighborhood women, they discovered a 40-foot error in the plans for the project. The trees didn't have to be cut after all. But by that time dozens already were.

ship authorities, and police in several areas of Macomb and Wayne counties.

He said 24 cars — most of them 1966-model two-doors with four-speed transmissions — had been reported stolen from plant parking lots throughout the three-county metropolitan area since about Sept. 20.

The stolen automobiles, which

Young said have all been recovered, were then taken to various locations in western Oakland County and stripped, usually in a partly-hidden wooded area.

Taken from the cars in the stripping operation, according to Young, were transmissions, power train components, electrical systems and "practically anything usable."

4,000 GIs Arrive

McNamara in War Zones

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara toured quieted battle sectors of South Viet Nam today as 4,000 fresh American combat troops arrived in the country. The new troops, the last contingent of the 4th Infantry Division, brought the American force in Viet Nam to 325,000 men.

As the buildup continued, ground fighting subsided into small skirmishes.

But on the political front dissension flared between northerners and southerners in Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's cabinet.

Five civilian ministers from the Mekong Delta were reported threatening to resign.

LEAVE TROOPSHIP

The 4,000 fresh American combat troops, comprising the "Ivy" Division's 3rd Brigade, began coming ashore from a troopship at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

Their arrival brought the division to full strength, making it the fourth complete U.S. Army division in Viet Nam.

In addition to the 325,000 American soldiers in Viet Nam, there are nearly 42,000 troops from five other allied nations and some 705,000 South Vietnamese under arms.

U.S. strength is expected to reach between 370,000 and 400,000 men by the end of this year.

McNamara, after two days of military briefings in Saigon, flew to Phu Cat, the case in the central coastlands for the U.S. 1st Cavalry's Operation Irving, which has costed the war's biggest bag of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong prisoners.

Maj. Gen. John North, the 1st Cavalry's commander, briefed McNamara on the operation, in which South Korean and South Vietnamese troops are also taking part.

Armed Bandits Hit Fortino's

Masked Pair Take Cash and Valuables

Two masked bandits armed with a sawed-off shotgun and a chrome-plated revolver tied up four persons at a Pontiac restaurant early today and escaped with $400 in cash and valuables.

Also taken — but recovered by Pontiac police shortly after the holdup — was a late-model car belonging to one of two customers in the restaurant's bar.

The robbers, one wearing a silver Halloween mask and the other shrouded in a hood, came into Fortino's Steakhouse at 1250 W. Wide Track about 12:30 a.m., police were told.

Joseph Fortino, owner of the restaurant, said one of the bandits told Fortino, a waitress and two patrons, "Get down on the floor on your faces and don't look up or we'll kill you."

Fortino was then forced to open the cash register at the bar, turning over $335 cash to the robbers.

CUSTOMER ROBBED

After relieving Robert Grange, 57, of 91 Wall, a customer, of $15 and a watch valued at $15, the two men then tied the four (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Road Crashes Claim Lives of 2 in Area

Two accidents, one in Farmington Township yesterday and one in Troy today, claimed the lives of a 16-year-old Plymouth boy and a 26-year-old Troy man. Detroit State Police said Artie Pack Jr., 16, of Plymouth was trapped and burned to death in the cab of a rubbish packer truck after it collided with another truck at 5:16 a.m. yesterday at the corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty.

Arthur A. Truskowski, 26, of 6638 Livernois, Troy, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital following an accident at 3:28 a.m. today at E. Square Lake Road near Rochester Road in Troy.

Troy police said Truskowski apparently fell asleep in his car and hit a tree.

State Police said Pack was trapped in the cab of a truck driven by Fredrick W. Collier, 20, of Belleville. Collier was taken to the University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The driver of the second truck, Donald M. Carless, 32, of Plymouth was not injured.

Pontiac Reluctant to Join Area Sewer System Plan

City of Pontiac officials will answer a loud "no" to the second request to join Oa's area County's proposed Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System.

According to discussion at an informal meeting Monday, the City Commission is to continue its plans "to go it alone" in construction of a sanitary trunk sewer on Pontiac's northeast side.

Taylor Reviews Taubman Plan

Dr. president, the NAACP letter was read. It asked that a statement made at the public hearing on the Taubman plan agreement by a NAACP spokesman be included in the commission's official minutes.

Tucker reiterated an NAACP request for representation on the city's Civic Improvement Advisory Council and the downtown liaison committee.

Meantime, the Urban League letter, which characterized the committee's okay of the Taubman agreement as a "farce," was not read.

Taylor said this was because the letter had been released in news media prior to being sent to the commission.

SPECIAL SESSION

At a special meeting of the Urban League board of directors last night, called regarding the letter sent to the commission, board members Charles F. Brown, Theodore B. Bloom, Dr. Jaap Delevie and Harry J. Reed protested the "abusive" tone of the letter.

The letter, composed by the executive committee of the Urban League, was signed by league President E. Eugene Russell, strongly rebuked the City Commission for failing to heed public sentiment expressed at the Sept. 27 public hearing on downtown redevelopment.

Endorsing the letter were Rabbi Ernest Conrad, Mrs. Laura A. Carey and several other members. No action was taken on the letter.

Honey Crop Up

LANSING (AP) — Michigan will be 11 percent sweeter this year, at least measured in terms of honey production, the Federal-Spot Reporting Service predicts. It forecast production of 7,700,000 pounds of honey, up from 6,900,000 in 1965.

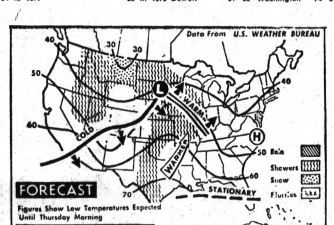

Meanwhile, it is below-normal in seed-maturing, to begin the normal condition to begin the coming winter.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain and showers are forecast tonight for parts of the Plains and Mississippi Valley into Texas and the western Gulf Coast. Rain will fall in the central and northern Rockies, turning to snow in higher elevations. It will be warmer in the central states and cooler in the Plains.

3 PRINCIPALS IN TRIAL — State Sen. Bernard F. O'Brien Jr. and his wife, Mary Louise, are shown during a recess in his morals trial. He is charged with soliciting Michigan State University coeds to pose for nude pictures. Two of the students—Christine LaGasse, 20, of Honolulu and Linda Outcalt, 19, of Ann Arbor (background) — gave testimony yesterday.

2 From GOP, Dem Backed in Judge Race

Two Republicans and a Democrat received the endorsement yesterday of the Detroit Building Trades Council in the race for three posts on the Oakland County Circuit Court bench.

"Receiving the campaign support for the Nov. 8 election were Republicans William R. Beasley, Ferndale attorney; Farrell E. Roberts, state senator from the 14th District; and S. Jerome Bronson, first Democratic proctor in the county in over 30 years.

Of the three, only Bronson had been endorsed by the council before the primary election in August.

Birmingham attorney Eugene J. A. Moore was endorsed in his bid for an eight-year term as a probate judge.

All Democratic candidates on the state and local level received the council endorsement if it was requested, according to Jack Wood, executive secretary of the council, which represents 40,000 members.

These include Senate candidates, Paul Livingston, 14th District; and Sander M. Levin, 15th District; and state representatives, Francis Crowley, 6th District; Arthur Law, 62nd; Robert Slingerland, 63rd; Bill Huffman, 66th; Albert K. Famer, 67th; and Daniel Cooper, 68th.

Charge Foils Cong Ambush

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — It was a day the sergeant won his sixth Purple Heart, stabbed a Viet Cong with his knife and heard the enemy wounded coughing and moaning all around him.

In the first 15 seconds, the U.S. Marines took heavy casualties — and fought back.

"We messed them up, I guess, because they expected us to work that way. They just ran the hell in to them," said Sgt. Clovis Coffman, 34, of Richmond, Va. "We charged and broke their skirmish line."

The Marine reconnaissance platoon had been in the field two days, observing enemy movements and gathering intelligence about 10 miles south of Chu Lai. Three times the Viet Cong hit them with grenade and rifle fire.

Rail Union on Strike Despite Court Order

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A strike by the Switchmen's Union of North America against the Rock Island Railroad is in full swing despite a temporary restraining order issued early today in Chicago by Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U.S. District Court.

A railroad spokesman said the order would take effect just as soon as it could be served against "various union officers."

The strike involves a grievance with the line at Eldon, Iowa.

MSU Policeman Admits Error at Morals Trial of Senator

LANSING (AP) The policeman who arrested State Sen. Bernard F. O'Brien Jr. on morals charges last June 3 testified today his report was mistaken about the color of the legislator's eyes.

Sgt. Dan E. Hankins, 29, of the Michigan State University Campus Police, said his report indicated O'Brien's eyes were brown. He conceded from the witness stand they are blue.

O'Brien is charged in Justice Court with asking a 22-year-old

MSU coed, Marion Lukens of Santa Anna, Calif., to pose for nude pictures and engage in sexual intercourse.

Hankins, a prosecution witness, was questioned by defense attorney John O'Connell about descriptions of the mysterious "Larry Angelo" who allegedly solicited Miss Lukens and two other coeds.

DESCRIPTION

All three girls have identified O'Brien as the man who called himself Angelo. One coed, Linda Outcalt, 19, of Ann Arbor, also described "Angelo" as having brown eyes, Hankins testified.

Another prosecution witness, William Wilkie, was quoted as saying the man he saw "had possibly a few gray streaks in his hair."

O'Brien had no such streaks in court today.

O'Brien's trial was in its third day today, with the defense expected to begin its case later today. O'Connell said he had 20 or more witnesses. O'Brien said he would testify in his own defense.

The lame-duck senator is charged with soliciting Miss Lukens to perform lewd and immoral acts and with being a disorderly person.

Each charge is a misdemeanor or carrying a maximum penalty of a $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

CHARGES FRAME-UP

O'Brien contends in statements to newsmen he was "framed" by an "insurance policy" which opposed two bills he introduced in the Senate.

O'Brien, a freshman Democrat from Detroit, was defeated in the August primary election.

Defense attorney John O'Connell said Tuesday the trial probably will continue beyond today. He said he will call witnesses to vouch for O'Brien's character and testify that the senator was at his office at the time Miss Lukens charges the illegal solicitations were made.

GUARANTEE FUND

Miller said the FDIC has established a guarantee fund of $10 million in order to facilitate the assumption of Public Bank's deposit liabilities by Bank of the Commonwealth.

Miller said all deposits of Public Bank have been transferred and checks previously written on Public Bank will be honored by Bank of the Commonwealth. New checks will be issued by Public Bank customers, he said.

Public Bank has not issued a report on its financial standing for the nine months ending Sept. 30. A call for the financial statement for all Michigan banks was issued last week by State Banking Commissioner Charles Lay.

It covered the Sept. 30 deadline.

Birmingham Area News Water Tower to Be Fenced In

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A fence will be constructed around the water tower at Maple and Lahser in an attempt to prevent further incidents such as the one last month in which a 14-year-old boy was killed in a fall from the tower.

The Township Board Monday night awarded a contract to the U.S. Steel Co. for $1,011 to put up the fence.

"It's hard to get up to the tower now," said Township Clerk Deloris V. Little, "but we feel it is a good idea to take every precaution possible."

Fourteen-year-old Anthony Mitchell, 420 Martell, Bloomfield Hills, died after falling from the 130-foot tower on Sept. 20.

In other action Monday night, the board passed a resolution denying a claim against the township.

HOUSE FELL

Mrs. Little said a suit was filed against the township when the wall of a house under construction in Bloomfield Village collapsed as the result of water draining down a hill.

She said that drainage was not handled properly in the process of construction of a new school at Covington and Quanton.

"This is the school's responsibility," she said, "and our attorney recommended denying the claim."

Boys from Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills participated in the "Allydium" Camporee this weekend at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park.

A first place prize in the Dakota observation game was awarded to Birmingham Troop 1027 and a second place award went to Bloomfield Troop 1035.

Archery and buffalo roping contest awards were given to Charles Schwarzwald of Bloomfield Troop 1047, Greg Kamp of Birmingham Troop 1029 and Jim Nelson of Birmingham Troop 1027.

Israel, Jordan Exchange Shots

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli and Jordanian forces exchanged fire for 20 minutes today after an Israeli army patrol strayed into Jordan's territory during an early morning fog, an Israeli military spokesman announced.

He said one Israeli soldier was wounded in the border clash near the Mejmit settlement southwest of Afulah, and that Israel had reported the incident to the U.N. Jordan-Israel Armistice Commission.

8 Organizers Being Sought by County OEO

The Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity is seeking to hire eight additional neighborhood organizers to work with low income families in poverty areas of the county.

A salary range of $4,200 to $4,800 is specified for the jobs which are open to both men and women.

Areas where new organizers are needed include the McConnell School area in Pontiac or a resident of Pontiac's Spanish-speaking community.

Others are Highland Township, Royal Oak Township, Hazel Park, Royal Oak-Ferdale, Clawson - Troy and Novi-Farmington Township.

Applications are available at the anti-poverty program's central office, 1 Lafayette.

'Captive Yanks Well-Treated'

Officials See No Sign of N. Viet Brutality

WASHINGTON (AP) — For scores of hopeful and worried American families, U.S. officials had good news: Their captured or missing husbands and sons may be receiving decent treatment as prisoners of war in North Viet Nam.

The officials revealed Tuesday the United States now has some evidence that American pilots held in prisons by the Hanoi government apparently are not being mistreated or brainwashed.

"The fragmentary and unreliable evidence we have is that they're being decently treated," a high State Department source involved in POW negotiations said. "There's no indication of brutality or mistreatment in the North."

The official added: "But we don't like to say they're not being mistreated when we can't get anyone in" to inspect the POW camps.

RECENT STATISTICS

Recent government statistics show that 54 men are known to be POWs, 65 are suspected captives and about 140 pilots are missing in North Viet Nam.

Many military sources, however, believe that as many as 200 pilots are imprisoned in North Vietnamese POW camps.

For their wives and families information is scarce. Some wives have told how they learned their husbands were alive only after seeing their photographs in propaganda pictures released by North Viet Nam.

Some State Department officials expressed regret about a misunderstanding in the widely publicized case of L. (Jig) Dieter Dengler, the German-born U.S. Navy pilot who escaped from a North Vietnamese camp last summer and lived to tell of the mistreatment he and others suffered.

They pointed out that many Americans did not realize Dengler had been shot down in Laos and mistreated by the Communist Pathet Lao — not the North Vietnamese.

MEA Voted In

DEARBORN (AP) — The Michigan Education Association announced Tuesday that teachers in two school districts had gained the association as bargaining agent with school boards.

Dearborn 8 voted 135-93 for the association and Lincoln Park voted 260-240. In each case, the teachers turned down the Federation of Teachers.

Whatever He Writes Is Wrong

A bad-check suspect is held in the Oakland County Jail following his arrest by Southfield police yesterday.

In the suspect's possession when taken into custody, according to police were:

- Twenty handmade drivers' licenses from seven different states.
- Fifteen license plates for cars, trucks, and boats, from the same states.
- "Official" rubber stamps bearing the names of six different firms.
- Blank checks drawn on 20 banks purported to be in California, Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Texas, Indiana and Missouri.

Southfield authorities said a description of all the confiscated items had been sent via teletype to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for an interstate check.

Legislators Ignore Prod by Romney

LANSING (AP) — Legislators, planning just a brief mid-campaign session, worked out short agenda Tuesday despite Gov. George Romney's listing of nine pages of items on which he said "action is needed now."

Republican Romney's special message to the Democratic-controlled Legislature was "as big as the message (State of the State) he sent us in January," said Senate Majority Leader Raymond Drendzel, D-Detroit.

"Much of this is political, coming in one month before the election with an agenda like this," Drendzel added.

Majority Democrats plan action today on a housing authority to provide housing for low-income families, a plan to revitalize dying lakes and a proposed changes in state property condemnation laws.

TO FIGHT VETO

Drendzel said the Senate also voted to override Romney's veto of a bill that would have eliminated the one-week waiting period before unemployed workers start receiving unemployment compensation benefits.

The housing authority, dying lakes and condemnation proposals were among 13 items Romney listed.

Chief of Police in Area Quits

Norman Denhke, chief of police in Bloomfield Township since 1967, has resigned his position effective immediately because of "situations that exist within the police department."

In his letter of resignation submitted yesterday, he said he was "quitting because of his 'inability' to cope with the situation and 'for the good of the department, the township and for my own well-being.'"

Denhke, 40, said today that during the past six or seven months, attempts to unionize the department have caused internal and external pressures.

"I'm going to take it easy and get back in shape both physically and mentally before I decide what to do," he said.

"I've been in police work almost 20 years and I'd like to try something else."

Denhke, 100 Alice, Bloomfield Hills, was a policeman in Detroit for eight years before joining the township department in 1964.

Township Clerk Mrs. Deloris V. Little said the resignation was accepted with regret because "he has done a good job for the township and his shoes will be hard to fill."

Areas where new organizers are needed include the McConnell School area in Pontiac or a resident of Pontiac's Spanish-speaking community.

Others are Highland Township, Royal Oak Township, Hazel Park, Royal Oak-Ferdale, Clawson - Troy and Novi-Farmington Township.

Applications are available at the anti-poverty program's central office, 1 Lafayette.

State Campaign Trail Rocky for 2 Hopefuls

By the Associated Press
Michigan's two candidates for the U.S. Senate campaigned at opposite ends of the state Tuesday, each having less than highly successful days.

Democrat G. Mennen Williams began his day at Alpena where he was greeted at the city airport by a group of Young Republicans bearing banners promoting his opponent Republican Sen. Robert Griffin.

At Sault Ste. Marie later in the day, Williams was greeted by cold wind, rain and even fewer Democrats than at Alpena.

Some 80 guests braved the bad weather to appear at a dinner in the Sault Ste. Marie Armory which had been set up for 250 persons.

FRIENDLY TERRITORY
Williams planned to leave Republican country today for friendlier territory—flying to the Democratic strongholds of Menominee, Escanaba and Marquette.

Meanwhile, Griffin drew friendly but not overly enthusiastic response in one of Williams' old campaign stomping grounds—Detroit's historic Broadway Market.

Griffin strolled through the market shaking hands with the lunchroom crowd and stopped in at food shops and counters selling such delicacies as pastrami, papaya juice and peanut butter.

At one point, two men, identifying themselves as independents, questioned the senator but remained, they said, later, unconvinced of Griffin's views.

VIET NAM IDEAS
Questioners seemed particularly interested in the Republican's ideas concerning the Viet Nam war. Griffin told them: "I think we should emphasize the use of air and sea power, getting our so-called albatrosses to put up more ground troops. I don't think it makes sense for the United States to provide all the land troops."

Another Republican, House Minority leader Gerald R. Ford of Grand Rapids, also called for more support from American allies in Asia Monday at a luncheon speech in his home town.

"We are engaged in a great crisis in Southeast Asia. We're attempting to meet aggression head-on, and you would think some of these nations would join us in the conflict," Ford said.

Zolton Ferency, Democratic candidate for governor, told a group of retirees in Detroit Tuesday the aged are shouldering a tax burden "far out of proportion to the rest of the American economy."

He said Gov. George Romney "has shirked his responsibilities in this area and has even thwarted advancements toward a better life for our senior citizens."

PRESS RELEASES
Meanwhile, Lawrence Lindemer, Republican candidate for attorney general, told University of Michigan Law School students Tuesday night that an attorney general must "subordinate (his) interest in press releases to effective enforcement of the law."

Lindemer said Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley "has

Setting in Addison

Monks Live Amid Beauty

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — In a beautiful setting the Benedictine Fathers and their young proteges live a life devoted to work and fellowship within the Christian concept.

The 6-year-old monastery sits on one of the highest elevations in Oakland County.

On a clear morning Prior Noel Pataconi says with field glasses he can pick out the Penobscot Building and Fisher Theatre dome 23 miles away in Detroit from the living room picture window.

What is vastly more apparent on these brilliant autumn days is the panorama of red, gold and yellow trees gracing the miles of hillside outside the monastery windows.

A lake, which in summer provides fishing and water recreation for the community, lies placid and still as winter approaches.

The community itself consists of six priests, of whom Prior Pataconi is the head, and 20 brothers.

Most of the brothers are young boys out of high school accepted into the community for the purpose of attaining a vocation in the priesthood or in the brotherhood.

The monastery is self-contained, the brothers doing the work that needs to be done.

They are cooks, laundrymen, housekeepers, gardeners, fruit growers, dairymen and pressmen.

All these activities keep the group in touch with day-to-day living, as do the monastery's nearby neighbors who sometimes look on the monks as friendly advisers and aides.

The monks are also carpenters as is the prior. Beautiful architecture throughout the monastery featuring a d e d extras done by the monks themselves, is a trademark of the place.

Prior Pataconi is very proud of his invention which allows the monks to ring two huge outside

FOCAL POINT—Their ultramodern chapel is the heart of the Benedictine Fathers' monastery at 2711 E. Draher, Addison Township. From there the six priests and 20 monks go out to conduct a life of work and study. Rev. Fr. Noel Pataconi is prior of the institution.

dinner bells placed in the courtyard from a comfortable warm spot in the refectory.

The reason for the two bells is that the monastery had one and a Methodist minister gave them another, "but only on the condition that we use it," according to the prior.

The monks keep in mind the life of their patron saint through statues in the monastery and on the grounds. St. Benedict was born in 480 A.D. in Montefano, Italy. He became a monk at the monastery established there by St. Sylvester, so the order is formally known as the Benedictine Sylvesterian Fathers.

As such it operates St. Sylvester's High School in Detroit, having made the move from Italy 28 years ago.

While the monks enjoy their lovely home, future plans are to adopt a more solidly constructed monastery and to erect a boys' high school on the 250 acres of the monastery grounds, according to the prior.

A nearby girls' school and college, De Lima, would fit into the picture, says Prior Pataconi. In the meantime, students requiring higher education are sent to the Orchard Lake Seminary and to a seminary in Toronto, Ont.

While a large herd of cows roam the monastery grounds, the monastery actually owns only three cows, two calves and two bulls.

As Prior Pataconi explains it, "They're housed in the 'cow department' not far from the 'Monk Press.'"

The latter is a fully equipped printing shop where brothers turn out their own literature and where they do some job printing.

A vegetable garden has yielded a heavy crop of "fine tomatoes" this year, according to the prior.

Main outside activity of the monastery, though, is the production of apples on the DuBrul estate three miles to the south of the monastery.

There the monks run the complete operation from spraying in the spring to picking and selling in the fall.

The monks celebrate the mass in their own ultramodern chapel.

Many mornings a consecration of the mass takes place as all six priests together conduct the service. The brothers recite their daily office there, and it is very much the focal point of their lives.

Water Service to Plant OK'd

ROME — The Village Council agreed to extend water service to the Ford Motor Co. plant under construction east of town at its Monday night meeting.

The estimated $25,000 cost of water line installation would be borne 50-50 by the village and Ford Motor Co.

Village Clerk Norman Engel says the village sewer line runs past the factory on its way to the sewage disposal plant so no negotiation appears necessary in that area.

Whether or not Macomb County Board of Supervisors will allow annexation of the 160 acres purchased by Ford for the factory will be determined Monday, Engel said.

Walled Lake Board Approves Elementary School Architect

WALLED LAKE — The board of education has approved the Warren Homes Co. of Lansing as architect for a new 20-room elementary school to be built with money from a recently approved bond issue.

The company is the same that designed the Keith and Oakley Park elementary schools.

Assistant Schools Supt. Roland J. Langerman said the new building will be a duplicate of the Oakley Park School, which will save time and money.

"We haven't been able to do this in the past," he said, "because rooms have been added in sections as they were needed."

"We're growing so rapidly now, though, that we need the whole building all at one time."

In other action Monday night, the board ratified the master contract with the School Bus Drivers Association subject to review by the school attorney.

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Circuit Court date for continuation of the show cause hearing on why Dura Corp. should not be allowed to build in Avon Township has been set for Oct. 24 before Judge Arthur E. Moore. The hearing was postponed Monday when a temporary injunction was denied.

Ike Blasts Barbaric Conventions

When a veteran of the wars — martial as well as political — like DWIGHT EISENHOWER expounds on matters related to the areas where in he has scaled the heights, his views merit deep consideration.

A recent blast by the five-star general and former president at the idiosyncrasy that pervades the national conventions of both Republican and Democratic parties couldn't be more well-founded.

Asserting that the conclaves "now resemble a rioting mob of juvenile delinquents," Ike urged that reforms be adopted before the 1968 events to end what he calls a thoroughly disgraceful spectacle which can scarcely fail to appall our own voters and create a shockingly bad image abroad.

EISENHOWER

Eisenhower's program for convention reform would:

- Give the chairman more disciplinary power in handling unruliness;

- Permit no one on the convention floor except delegates and those on official business;

- Ban walkie-talkies from the floor while providing closed-circuit telephones for necessary communication;

- Outlaw all noise-making devices and limit demonstrations to 10 minutes (standard duration for such synthetic eruptions now is from 20 to 30 minutes);

- Provide stern supervision of galleries to eliminate booing, hissing and other disruptive tactics.

Anyone who has been exposed to the rigors of a national political convention can only breathe a fervent "amen" to Ike's sentiments.

Two years remain before the GOP and the Dems assemble for their quadrennial quagmire — time enough to effect badly needed reform in the exercises.

But a still small voice tells us that, politicians being what they are, nothing will be done to scrap the standard script.

Columbus Discovered America for Peanuts

Four hundred and seventy-four years ago, Columbus braved the ocean's blow.

It was, by any calculation, one of the greatest bargain expeditions in history.

According to Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, the value of Columbus' three-ship fleet was $3,000 in today's money. His salary was $300 a year and that of his two captains $200 each. His crew members were paid about $2.50 a month.

All told, it cost FERNAND and ISABELLA $7,000 to finance the discovery of America.

It's a pity the doughty voyager's cut-rate exploring can't be scaled to today's exploration of outer space.

Only Reputable Drugs Right for Medicare Issue

Already the ugly specter of politics is casting a shadow over the Medicare program. The issue has been raised as to whether the government should be constrained from paying for drugs unless they are purchased under their generic names.

The political charge has been made that private drug firms selling quality brand-name drugs to Medicare patients might benefit unduly at taxpayer expense.

The main question should be the welfare of the recipients, not how to acquire cut-rate drugs.

As a matter of fact, buying drugs by generic name only can be a risky business. A few years ago, a pharmacist in England became suspicious of generic drugs on his shelf that he had purchased at "bargain prices."

Upon investigation, officials found penicillin tablets that were below the strength claimed on the label, antibiotic creams of little more than half-strength and eye drops that were as much as 75 per cent below strength.

In New York recently, the Food and Drug Administration seized a heart medicine because it was low in potency.

These instances do not mean that generic-name drugs are always inferior. But they are a reason doctors prescribe trademark products.

Prescription drug prices have steadily declined while the price of most other items which go to make up the cost of living has risen steadily. When a person is ill he deserves the best that science can provide. He should not be a pawn in the game of politics.

GOP Sees Votes in Viet Woe

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (U) — In sum, the latest prescription offered by Republican policymakers to deal with the war in Viet Nam adds up to two words: Fight harder.

It was offered with congressional elections a month away, and with GOP pollsters reporting that the war is the No. 1 concern of American voters.

Republicans clearly have concluded that concern can be translated into votes on Nov. 8.

Their polls indicate a substantial block of undecided voters. And their strategy indicates they believe that pronouncements calling for victory in a frustrating Asian war could help GOP candidates attract some of these voters.

Some GOP strategists believe that voter frustration over the complex war situation will work against incumbents in the coming election, regardless of their party.

FEWER INCUMBENTS
If that is the outcome, comeback-seeking Republicans will benefit, simply because they have fewer incumbents than the Democrats.

One major unknown factor: The impact of President Johnson's 2½-week Asian tour which will end only six days before the election.

It will include the two-day Manila summit conference where Johnson will meet the leaders of six nations helping to fight

Communist forces in Viet Nam. The Republican coordinating committee tempered its hawk-like pronouncement on the war by endorsing that conference as a potential avenue toward peace.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen served notice that the GOP expects an accounting of that mission — "and we expect results."

VOTER EXPECTATIONS
Dirksen said he thinks the voters will expect results, too.

Having endorsed the Manila conference — and noted that Republicans weeks ago urged an all-Asian conference on Viet Nam — the coordinating committee declared: "We insist that every practicable step toward winning the war engaged in deadly combat."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has underscored the party position in a series of statements, promising to support whatever steps Johnson finds necessary in Viet Nam — and saying: "We must do whatever is necessary to win as quickly as possible."

In general, the Republican position all along has been one of support for Johnson's war program — with peripheral criticism considered in bounds.

(James Martin, who usually writes this column, is on vacation.)

Any Similarity Is Purely Coincidental

David Lawrence Says:

Language Not U.S.-Red Barrier

WASHINGTON — Language is no longer a barrier to mutual understanding between the governments of the United States and the Soviet Union. But what can produce mutual trust?

When President Johnson talked for an hour and a half at the White House on Monday with Foreign Minister Gromyko — who speaks excellent English — the news reports said that the Russian foreign minister had by his side translators to present certain official statements. But there was plenty of intimate conversation in English on an "off-the-record" basis.

The United States started in the 1930s to train its diplomats to speak Russian. There are today between 90 and 100 foreign service officers who have served in the American Embassy in Moscow and have made a special study of the entire Soviet environment.

Foy D. Kohler, who is returning from Moscow to become deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, speaks the Russian language, and Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., who has twice served as American ambassador to the Soviet Union and is resuming that post, also talks fluently in Russian.

When President Johnson in his speech in New York last Friday appealed for a united Europe, he said this will happen only "as East and West succeed in building a super foundation of mutual trust."

CAREFULLY PLANNED

Mr. Johnson's public utterance was carefully planned to produce the kind of friendly atmosphere which makes it possible for the Soviet foreign minister to go back to Moscow with a definite impression about the sincerity and earnestness of the United States in wishing to live at peace with the Soviet Union.

The President's address in New York contained several overtures that undoubtedly will impress the Soviet government.

He outlined a series of points, including better tariff and trade treatment generally for the Eastern bloc of countries.

Communist states and help to four of them in getting commercial credits.

The list of proposed actions the United States might take in certain fields is perhaps the most comprehensive program that has been launched in a long time to improve Soviet-American relations.

STEP BY STEP

Mr. Johnson said that "We want the Soviet Union and the nations of eastern Europe to know that we and our allies shall go step by step with them just as far as they are willing to advance."

Bob Considine Says:

Diem's Destruction Seen as Costly U.S. Blunder

NEW YORK — History may well brand the callous destruction of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem as a tragic blunder that boomeranged into thousands of American casualties and billions of blasted dollars.

It can now be revealed — three years too late — that our CIA knew 48 hours in advance that Diem was to be overthrown. It had aided and abetted the plot, and apparently had assured the plotters that U.S. recognition would come quickly after the overthrow was successful.

In the last hours of the unsuspecting Diem's reign, and life, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge urged him by phone to seek asylum there and there in the U.S. Embassy.

Diem refused. He assured Lodge that he would somehow surmount the multiple difficulties piled on him by the Kennedy administration, influential elements of the press, his brother, his sister-in-law and himself.

Lodge called Diem several times without success. When it was abundantly clear that Diem could not be budged, Lodge then contacted leaders of the military group that was about to take over.

SAFE PASSAGE
The long-since-forgotten Gen. "Big" Minh, now living handsomely in Bangkok, solemnly pledged that Diem would be guaranteed safe passage out of the country after his downfall.

Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were riddled with bullets while in the custody of the junta's troops.

Diem was as touchy as a stratus cloud, angry as a wet mule, hard to budge from his own, "mandarin's road" to democracy, or a reasonable face-simile of same.

Skilled Workers Fight Decision of NLRB

Skilled tradesmen are outnumbered in the UAW approximately six to one. They don't have fair representation in this organization. The trades are getting so bad that soon they will be dropping the "skilled" from "Skilled Tradesmen." I believe this is what the top men in the UAW have been working toward. This is why many skilled tradesmen want to leave the UAW.

Part of the Taft-Hartley Law was intended to protect the right of a citizen to belong to a union of his own choice. It is too bad our lawmakers have allowed a politically-controlled group, the National Labor Relations Board, to police the law contrary to the reason it was enacted in the first place.

I hope that skilled trades workers don't sit idly by and let the Walter Reuther run-National Labor Relations Board get away with the decision just handed down that is trying to keep them captive in the UAW.

Suggests Referendum on Public Housing

"If the City Commission is interested in what the citizens think about public housing, the most democratic way to determine this would be to put the question on the ballot Nov. 8, or, if time does not permit, call a special election at a later date.

An important issue like this should not be arbitrarily decided by seven men. As resident, home owner and taxpayer, I am opposed to public housing.

Non-Resident Lost Her Way Downtown

Why isn't the Drivers' License Bureau at the new courthouse on Telegraph Road?

I had the most frustrating experience trying to find it downtown. I came in on Saginaw and could see the building but couldn't turn left. I proceeded one block north on a one-way, two-lane street. At the corner of West Tack, there is a small sign on either side: "left lane must go left," "right lane must proceed ahead." No warning signs ahead of time. I was in the right lane.

From there I had to ask directions several times as no one person could direct me through the labyrinth of one-way streets, dead-end streets, etc., back to 1-Lafayette.

The (Lansing) State Journal

Another move aimed at a settlement of the war in Viet Nam is due at the United Nations this week.

Calling for a Viet Nam peace meeting and urging Russia to reconvene the 1954 Geneva Conference on Indo-China, Britain's foreign secretary, George Brown, said last Thursday he will spell out his peace plans when he addresses the U.N. General Assembly.

His proposal includes a call for an early cease-fire, cessation of bombing of North Viet Nam and a halt to reinforcements by both Hanoi and the United States.

In unveiling his proposals, Brown said that Hanoi was "the main stumbling block to progress toward negotiations and a political settlement."

"The truth, however unpalatable it may be to some people, is that only when someone can persuade Hanoi to go as far as the Americans have already gone shall we be on the way to creating the climate and finding the situation and the moment when a peaceful settlement may be achieved," he added.

Brown's suggestions deserve careful study by the United States. It is hoped they ultimately will receive the same treatment from the Communists.

Tacky Tactics . . .

The New York Times

A reasonable and desirable bill to provide fairer tax treatment for foreign investors is in jeopardy because of the antics of the Senate Finance Committee. To date the bill has been weighed down by 27 unrelated and mostly irrelevant amendments offered by Senators who cannot resist mounting their own hobbyhorses even if they handicap the prospects for passage of a measure that would help the balance of payments.

Some of the proposed amendments would not get very far if they were considered individually. But others merit serious consideration. Certainly a case can be made for Senator Russell B. Long's proposal for financing Presidential election campaigns. Mr. Long would have the committee's approval for his amendment, which would enable taxpayers to allot one dollar of their yearly tax payments to a special expense fund. Every four years the money would be turned over to the two major political parties to cover campaign costs.

There is a real need to do something about the high and rising cost of political campaigning which threatens to restrict public office to the rich and to those who may be influenced by big donors. But Senator Long's solution and other proposals designed to encourage contributions by the ordinary voter require careful and thorough study. In tackling his proposal onto the foreign investment bill along with amendments regulating excises for hearses and depreciation allowance for oyster shells, Senator Long, who is chairman of the Finance Committee, is belittling its importance.

Cub Reporter in 1899

News His Beat for 65 Years

By MARGUERITE MITCHELL
Colorado Springs
Gazette Telegraph
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — At age 85, Charles Spencer Dudley has been a newspaper reporter for more than 65 years. And he says that if he had it all to do over again, he'd still be a reporter.

"I guess I'm not ambitious, not wanting to be an editor," says Dudley, with a twinkle in his eye, "but I just always wanted to be a reporter."

Dudley has been reporting on the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph continuously for 65 years.

Since 1960, he has been writing his "I Remember" column for the paper. In earlier life, he worked on newspapers in his native Iowa (he was born Mar. 22, 1881 at Grinnell), in Missouri, in Colorado and in California. Dudley recalls that when he first went to work as a cub reporter on the Denver Post in 1899, all reporters but one wrote their stories with a pencil.

The one reporter who had a typewriter locked it up when he left the office.

At the St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette, where he went the following year, Dudley was told he'd have to use a typewriter. He recalls:

"I sat up all night practicing. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party. I had an awful toothache, but sat up all night any way, practicing. The next morning I knew how to run a typewriter."

Dudley points out that in those days all vehicles, including ambulances, fire equipment and patrol wagons, were horse drawn.

HARD TO AFFORD
Taxicabs, too, were equine-powered but reporters seldom could afford them.

He was on the Los Angeles Examiner in 1906 when the great earthquake struck San Francisco.

He was given expense money in gold and told to head for the disaster. He took a horse-drawn cab to the depot, but missed the train for San Francisco.

It was a crestfallen young reporter who returned to the Examiner where his angry city editor made him fork over the fare he'd paid the cabbie.

Dudley recalls a departed breed of editor who reigned at one paper where he had applied for a job.

"While I was waiting to talk to someone about a job, a woman editor walked over to an editor," he said.

"She was holding a piece of copy. She told the editor she had cut the story as close as she could — as he had requested — but couldn't cut it any more."

"So the editor grabbed it and said he'd take care of it. He reached for his scissors, whacked the story in two, letting the excess fall into his waste basket. The lady left in a huff."

Dudley was at the scene when William Jennings Bryan, Teddy Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson spoke. He photographed Charles Evans Hughes when Hughes campaigned in California for the presidency and, in 1910, he watched the passage of Haley's comet.

Ombudsman Plan Eyed by Congress

NEW YORK (AP) — The day may come when the time-honored advice "Write your congressman" will change to "Write the ombudsman."

That's what citizens who feel put-upon or neglected by courts or bureaucrats do in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, New Zealand and Britain.

Impressed by the way it works, a joint committee on the organization of Congress is toying with the idea by setting up an ombudsman in Washington to deal with trefling Americans.

Meanwhile, small-scale trials are under way in Michigan and New York's Nassau County.

The ombudsman is a Swedish invention. The word translates literally as "a man who is a representative," and what the man represents is the nation's faceless little people.

Sweden incorporated the office of ombudsman in its constitution of 1809, primarily to guarantee civil rights.

It is the function of Sweden's "man who is a representative" to make sure that courts and other government agencies hew to the law of the land. When he feels they are remiss, the ombudsman take up the matter with Parliament.

ADVANTAGE

As far as Parliament is concerned, a main advantage of the ombudsman system is that crank complaints are sifted out, leaving only those with some merit to be dealt with.

The Swedish ombudsman receives more than 1,000 complaints a year. If he declines to handle a complaint, he has to state his reasons, but the law protects him from any attempt by members of Parliament to influence his actions.

Finland provided for an ombudsman in its Constitution of 1919. Denmark followed suit in 1954. New Zealand in 1962. In Britain, Prime Minister Harold Wilson appointed Sir Edmund Compton a month ago as the nation's "parliamentary commissioner for administration."

A U.S. Senate-House committee considered the establishment of an American ombudsman during hearings last year but took no action.

Some members thought that channeling complaints to an ombudsman would weaken the direct relationships between congressmen and their constituents. However, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., a leading backer of the ombudsman proposal, argues: "A member of Congress is today a harried man. The days are hardly long enough for him to think and act soundly on all the great issues of war and peace, national prosperity and civil rights."

CONSTITUTIONAL BUSINESS
"Yet, the congressman and his staff must also cope with an astonishing amount of constituent business — the requests and demands from voters that require him to serve as their mediator with the federal government, even though it can take up as much as 90 per cent of his time."

"So why don't we hire a professional 'grievance man' to serve all of us, to take as much of the load off our backs as we care to refer to him, and at the same time give our constituents better help by putting their problems in the hands of a truly expert staff?"

The Michigan Department of State recently appointed a kind of ombudsman — title, special assistant for citizen complaints — on an experimental basis. He is Gordon Alexander, 26, a Michigan State University graduate in social science.

Secretary of State James Hare said Alexander would be "in charge of receiving and resolving citizen complaints on any procedure or policy now being practiced by our various divisions."

Food Prices Lowered

CHICAGO (AP) — Major supermarket food chains in the greater Chicago area are engaged in price-cutting, and housewives think it's just wonderful.

Jewel Tea Co., which operates supermarkets in five Midwest states, started lowering prices on nonperishable items in late September and the other food chains quickly followed.

Jewel advertised reductions in prices of 2,227 items, calling them new low "miracle prices."

Harry Becker, vice president

SOME SAMPLES

Some sample reductions:
A 2-pound can of Royal Jewel coffee for $1.19, previously $1.29; a 28-ounce can of pears for 29 cents, previously 39 cents; a large jar of stuffed olives 44 cents, previously 50 cents; a large can of tomato juice 37 cents, previously 44 cents; a jar of salad dressing 33 cents, previously 39 cents.

"I don't care if it's a price war or not," said Mrs. Earl Aykroyd of suburban Park Ridge. "Just so prices go down. These reductions are welcome and amount to quite a savings."

Beckner said Jewel decided on price cuts of 10 to 20 per cent in staple items "in anticipation that the bargains would attract additional business. We are going to hold the low prices as long as we can."

Most of the price cuts are in staples such as canned goods and package items that are bought in quantity and held for some time without danger of spoilage.

PRICES REDUCED
A & P stores announced in two-page advertisements "scores and scores of prices reduced."

The newspaper advertisements also plugged a current prize contest.
A & P stores had personnel working the last two Sundays and delayed the Monday store openings an hour to revamp prices.

Some of the chains also announced reductions in fresh meat prices.

TO END SILENCE — The four bells in the University of Detroit tower, 175 feet above ground, are to ring out for the first time in 13 years Oct. 20 when the school inaugurates its new president, the Rev. Malcolm Carron of the Society of Jesus. Four students have donated 500 hours of time to rebuild the electrical mechanism which rings the 1,100-pound bells. They tested the first one yesterday.

Bells to Ring Again at U. of D.

DETROIT (AP) — The pigeons are forewarned. They'd better leave their 13-year home in the University of Detroit tower before all the bells clang.

One of the four 1,100-pound bells was rung Tuesday in a test that vibrated the birds' right out of their roost.

Ever since 1953, the bells have been silent at the top of the 175-foot tower.

Paul Bricker, a 24-year-old U. of D. graduate student in physics, is leading a group of young workers in repairing the mechanism that rings the bells.

On Oct. 20, when the Rev. Malcolm Carron of the Society of Jesus is inaugurated as U. of D.'s new president, the four bells stopped working, they tore out will ring out the traditional signal for the Angelus. The Ange-lus is a Catholic devotion commemorating the Incarnation.

NEW CLAPPERS

The four-man repair team has spent about 500 hours in making new clappers for the bells, installing electrical devices to set off the clappers, rebuilding a timer and wiring the mechanism together.

They had to climb 156 steps to work on the bells in a windy opening in the tower.

So they built an elevator out of a bicycle seat, rope and a counterweight.

Their labor is free. Cost of materials is $500, paid by the university.

"I had to start from scratch," Bricker said. "When the bells started working, they tore out everything."

Last time the bells rang, in conjunction with four clocks on each side of the tower, something went awry.

Party Excuse: Dig Up Model T

DETROIT (AP) — If there's one thing Mrs. Arthur A. Allen likes it's a nice party.

And it's a good thing she does. Some people she has never met have invited half the city of Detroit out to her house Saturday to dig under an apple tree for an old model T Ford that supposedly was buried there 40 years ago.

"I was planning to make coffee. It could turn out to be such a nice party if the people don't get too rambunctious," said Mrs. Allen today.

Mrs. Allen, a mother of four and wife of a police lieutenant, lives on property once owned by a man named Perry Andrews.

NO BUYERS

Andrews tried to sell his 1913 model T in 1928. Nobody would buy it, so he tried to give it to his son-in-law.

When the son-in-law, William Morris Sr., now 63, said he'd like to have the car but wanted to put a sports body on it, Andrews apparently couldn't bear the thought.

Morris dropped in one day and found Andrews digging the hole.

'Call Single Reserves, Not Whole Units'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor believes trained individuals rather than whole units should be called if Reservists must be called to active duty.

This was disclosed last night in a confidential memorandum, known in the Pentagon as a "working paper," which circulated among high officials.

A Defense Department spokesman said there is "no current proposal by the Army to call up any Reserves." He said the paper was the thinking of Resor on the course to be followed if a call-up came.

Earlier yesterday Congress passed and sent to the White House the $38 billion defense appropriation bill which also contained unsought authority for the President to call individual Reservists.

The call-up provision of the bill technically would apply to almost all the nearly 1 million men in the National Guard and the ready Reserve forces of the military services.

Johnson had not sought the authority nor given any indication he would use it.

It was passed in Congress under pressure from those who believe Reserve service had become an escape hatch for those trying to avoid the draft and Viet Nam duty.

Prof Lectures to His Students by Telephone

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Prof. Harold Groves gets through to his students, by telephone. Groves, a specialist in public finance who teaches an economics course at the University of Wisconsin, had been told by his physician to stay in bed as a result of a slight heart attack Sept. 12.

He resumed his lectures recently using a telephone hookup linking his home and his lecture hall.

Cuban Refugee Tragedy Points Up Ferrying Risks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A risky ferry service has been brought to public attention with the disappearance of 44 Cuban refugees in a small boat caught by Hurricane Inez.

Thousands of refugees have been whisked out of Communist Cuba by exiles in this country who make the hazardous voyage back and forth across the often rough Florida Straits.

The Coast Guard investigated the tragedy of last weekend in which only the boat's captain, Enrique Gonzalez, 32, survived. A second man picked up with Gonzalez later died and four bodies have been recovered.

Gonzalez said the disastrous voyage was his eighth, and the first unsuccessful one. He said he and 45 passengers were tossed into the sea when a "huge wave" capsized his overcrowded 24-foot blockade runner.

HIGH PRICE

Some members of Miami's Cuban colony of 150,000 claim the price of bringing refugees to Miami has been as high as $1,000 each.

But operators of the shuttle service say there is no fare.

Salvage Operation on Freighter Due

ST. CLAIR (UPI)—Salvage operations will begin tomorrow on the West German freighter Emstein, damaged in last Thursday's fiery crash with the Liberian freighter Olympic Pearl in the St. Clair River.

Spokesmen from McQueen Marine Limited in Amherstburg, Ont., said water would be pumped from the vessel, and a 140-foot hole in her side would be repaired.

The operations are scheduled to last 18 days, after which the ship will be repaired in Sarnia, Ont.

An exile identified only as Juan, said he has made five ferry trips to Cuba and has brought back more than 200 refugees.

"It costs more than $1,000 to make a trip," he said. "You may make it into Cuba, or the Castro patrols may kill you or capture you. You may make it back or you may not."

SOME PAY NOTHING

"We allow people to pay us whatever they wish to bring back their relatives. Some give us their car or a gold ring or money. Others nothing."

A relative of nine members of a family lost on the ferry smashed by Inez said she paid nothing.

"I had nothing to pay," said Maria Perez. Her 70-year-old father, a sister and brother-in-law and their six children vanished in the storm.

Juan said: "Thirteen thousand Cubans have come to the United States in small boats, and half of these have been brought out by Cubans who went from Miami to get them. That is the only way most of them can get out. There are no boats available to them. Castro sees to that."

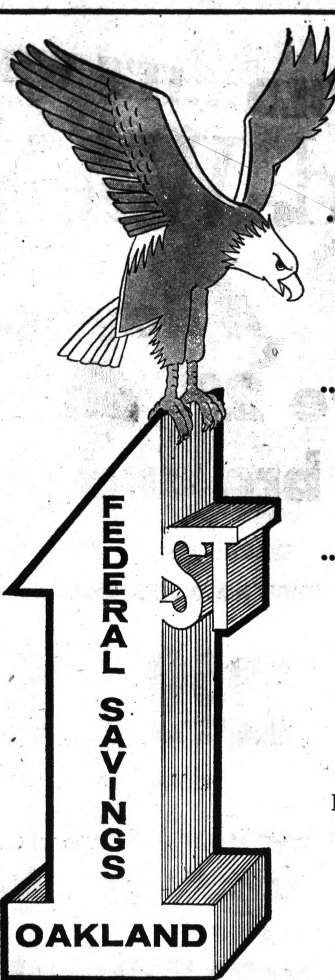

Ten flights arrive weekly in a refugee airlift financed by the U.S. government. More than 37,000 have arrived by airlift.

But the young, draft-age men are not permitted to make these flights and so the ferry service continues.

Body in the Alley Wore a Fur Coat

DETROIT (UPI)—A squad car pulled up and a small crowd gathered to look at the body dumped in a dark alley.

It was a 200-pound black bear, shot in the neck. Police theorize a disgruntled hunter dumped the carcass after a trip from the north woods because he couldn't figure out what to do with it.

Pontiac Symphony Orchestra Opens Its 13th Season

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Felix Resnick, was heard last night in a fine, well-planned concert, the first of the 1966-67 season.

The program, which contained some old favorites as well as some unfamiliar and intriguing music, featured the lovely lyric soprano voice of Doralene McNelly Davis.

Miss Davis has fine control, a wide even range and a genuine warmth and spirituality which makes her singing a truly esthetic experience for the listener.

Ranging from two arias from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" to three songs from the Auvergne district of France, to her beautifully delineated interpretation of the Jewel Song from "Faust," Miss Davis sang with directness, ease, immaculate diction and artistic phrasing.

To this listener, the charming, at times gently humorous, songs of Auvergne were the high spot of the evening, with their light simplicity and oriental flavor.

The orchestra accompanied these songs, which were delightfully orchestrated with a delicate contemporary flavor by Canteloube, in a charming graceful manner.

BERNSTEIN'S MUSIC

Opening the concert at Pontiac Northern High School was Leonard Bernstein's Overture to "Candide." While the orchestra did a fine job of playing it, the music is rather trivial, and certainly not up to Bernstein's usual standards.

Much better was the Suite Number Two from Bizet's "Carmen." The five numbers caught the color and the exotic character of Bizet's opera. Mr. Resnick and the orchestra made the most of the opportunity and played with fire, smoothness and enthusiasm.

The best orchestral performance given by the orchestra in many years was "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Dukas.

It was sensitively conducted, and smoothly performed by the various sections of the orchestra, particularly in the brasses and woodwinds.

Lyle Lindsey's "broomstick" was a great credit to his excellent bassoon playing.

The new concertmaster, Nathan Snider, brings added smoothness and assurance to the first violin section, and we are looking forward to hearing him in more solo sections in future concerts.

Nathan Snider, a native of Philadelphia and graduate of Curtis Institute, joined the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra Tuesday night for his first performance as concertmaster. He also plays in the first violin section of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Walter Lange, Sylvan Lake, had charge of the art display in the lobby at Pontiac Northern High School before the first symphony concert. Members of the Pontiac Society of Artists will exhibit at each performance.

Just before the orchestra was ready to play, usher: Carol Holmes of Lakewood Street showed Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ostrander, Loch Leven Drive, West Bloomfield Township, to their seats.

Mrs. Romney Slates Talk for Beth Jacob Women

MRS. ROMNEY

This Winner Wants Tip on Religion

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letter has been chosen as the most interesting one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette" has been sent to Lois Holloway of Canfield, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Post: I can't seem to find the answer to my question in any of the etiquette books. Frequently I am the weekend guest of friends whose religious preference differs from mine. I go to their service with them on Sunday, and am concerned about etiquette in their holy place. I take part in their singing and reciting from their prayer books, but should I kneel with them, etc.?

I don't want to seem disrespectful to their creed in any way, so that is why I am requesting your advice. Thank you very much. — Lois Holloway

Dear Lois: The best part about your letter is the fact that you are willing to accompany your friends to their church rather than to insist on attending your own service or staying home. It is a broadening and enriching experience to learn a little of other faiths.

If you are secure and sincere in your own beliefs, attending another service with an open mind should serve to strengthen, not weaken them as some people fear.

Unless some part of the service is directly opposed to your own religious convictions, you should attempt to follow the lead of the congregation in standing, kneeling, praying, etc.

If there is some part in which you do not wish to participate, simply sit quietly, saying a silent prayer of your own if you wish, until that portion is finished, and you will draw no attention or criticism from the other worshippers.

Meeting Canceled

The regular Thursday evening meeting of the Fashion Your Figure Club of Pontiac in the Adah Shelly Library has been canceled this week.

The one act opera, "Captain Lovelock" was chosen to open the season of the Tuesday Musical of Pontiac. An overflow audience was present at Central Methodist Church.

Mrs. W. A. Schmitz is president; Mrs. J. F. Radenbaugh, first vice president; Mrs. J. G. Haviland, second vice president; Mrs. M. G. Shane, recording secretary; Mrs. G. H. Griffin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. L. Haushalter, treasurer; Mrs. E. A. Gordon, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. D. E. Moolhart, historian.

The social committee for the day included Mesdames: C. R. Haskell, chairman; F. V. Rowe, G. E. Stranan, W. D. Lefurgy, D. M. Steiner and Miss Margaret Steward.

Hostesses were Mesdames: F. F. Warczak; C. F. Larkey; V. M. Lindquist; A. D. Esler and C. D. Matson, Jr.

Ask Lawyer, Then Pastor

Check on Legalities First

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I were secretly married by a judge last year while we were college seniors. Now we are graduated and my parents want to give me a church wedding. My being an only child it would mean a lot to them. We live in a small town and with my own ears I have heard our pastor tell things he had no business telling.

Do we have to tell him we were married before? He would surely tell someone and it would get back to my folks, and I hate to have them hurt. Also, is it legal to have two marriage licenses on file without a divorce in between?

MUST KNOW
 DEAR MUST: First, find a lawyer in your town who talks less than your pastor. (This should be easy.) Ask him about the legality of two marriage licenses. And I advise you to tell your pastor about the previous ceremony.

But tell your parents first. Since it was only a civil ceremony, they will want to have a religious ceremony as well.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years I have sent many greeting, anniversary, birthday, get-well, and sympathy cards. And Abby, I am not lying when I say that out of 52 cards sent last year, only three people have had the courtesy to thank me.

Aren't people supposed to say "thank you" for being remembered with a card? Should I just save the price of these cards, my postage, and my time?

IGNORED
 DEAR IGNORED: People of breeding still telephone their thanks, or drop a note in response to a greeting card. If you enjoy remembering people with cards, continue to do so, but if the rudeness of some have soured you for all, call a halt.

DEAR ABBY: My son passed away suddenly a year ago. He was only in his twenties and left a widow and two small children, 1-year-old and 2 years old. The day after my son was buried, my daughter-in-law got rid of every slice of clothing he owned, took down their wedding picture and put away his pipes, and everything that was his.

She said that way the children wouldn't ask questions about where their father was. My son was a good husband and father and he loved these children. She never visits us. If we want to see our grandchildren we have to go there. This has been on my mind so long I just can't stand it. Please help me.

HEART-BROKEN
 DEAR HEART-BROKEN: Your daughter-in-law could have been understandably distraught and befuddled when she removed all reminders of her husband, but as time heals the hurt, she should realize that the children should know something of their father.

Until and unless she changes, it will be up to you to visit your grandchildren and to preserve the memory of your son.

CONFIDENTIAL "HUMILIATED HOST" IN BIG SPRINGS, TEXAS: Don't invite him again. It is just as ill-bred and hoggish for a man to monopolize the conversation all evening as it is for a guest to eat all the food at the dinner table.

Problems? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno J. Gruda of Warren announce the engagement of their daughter, Joann Marie, to Harald H. Falk, son of Mrs. Gustav Falk of Joslyn Avenue, and the late Mr. Falk.

Makes Hair Silky Soft

If your hair is brittle after the drying effects of sun, wind and salt or chlorine water, shampoo it with a rich lanolin cream.

Apply a whole tube of the treatment cream if necessary and leave it on overnight.

Rinse it out next morning, then set as usual. Repeat each week until your hair feels soft and silky again.

Do It Right

Be sure to let those drip-dry garments really drip dry. Don't let them go through the spin cycle of your washer. Remove them before the machine starts to spin and hang outdoors.

Rug Cleaning Tips

DEAR POLLY — The best method I know for cleaning a goatskin rug is to brush or shake out all the loose dirt and then shampoo with soft water and GOOD soap so it will not yellow. Repeat the shampoo two or three times if necessary, rinsing well after each shampoo.

Hang to drip almost dry and stretch and pull into shape while it is drying. Comb with a coarse comb or wire brush.

— MRS. M. O.

DEAR POLLY — When a flat knit kind of pajamas that cover the feet and snap together at the waist, a new pair two sizes larger may be combined with the old pair to make two pair that fit.

For instance if the child has size three and needs size four, buy a pair of size five and combine a size three top and a size five bottom and vice versa. This type of pajama always becomes too short to snap together at the waist while there is still ample width.

When the youngster is ready for the next size put the size five top and bottom together again. This method certainly provides lots more wear out of each pair and they can be used until worn out not just outgrown.

— MRS. R. F.

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to take off wallpaper that has been painted over with cold water paint. The paper is now cracking in so many places and I do not want to use a steamer if there is some other way to do the job.

— MAE

DEAR POLLY — This morning when helping my wife with breakfast I told her I had an idea for Polly's Pointers. She asked what it was and when I told her she said it was silly but I still think it a good idea.

After the bacon was placed on paper towels to drain I rolled it up, loosely, like jelly roll. This not only gets more of the grease to absorb into the towels but it helps keep the bacon warm.

— NORMAN

Thanks, Norman. When your wife reads your Pointer in print she may decide it was not so silly after all. — POLLY

Newsman Surveys Inez Mexico Binge

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Associated Press newsmen Gary Garrison and John H. Atwell, of the Tampico, Mexico, area Tuesday for a look at the destruction by Hurricane Inez, which had moved inland 24 hours earlier.)

By GARY GARRISON
BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The destruction was terrible and complete. Our plane couldn't land, but the littered, twisted path of Hurricane Inez through the rich farmlands north of Tampico was clearly visible.

Her grotesque footprints led from the blue waters of the Gulf of Mexico for 100 miles to the west, where she tore herself to pieces in the rugged Sierra Madres.

Fields were littered with pieces of tin from roofs, portions of homes and even a small airplane, twisted as if made of cardboard.

COVERED BY DEBRIS
The runway at the Tampico Airport, like much of the surrounding area, was covered by debris and water.

Gonzalez, a tiny community northwest of Tampico, was heavily hit. Huge cotton gins, constructed of tin and steel, lay crumpled like broken toys.

Tall palm trees were felled, cotton fields were underwater, homes were unroofed, trucks overturned and moored airplanes pitched around by the 135-mile-an-hour winds. Ambulances were parked around the town as the town dug out from the storm.

ROARING RIVERS
Once-peaceful rivers roared at high speed. Where the muddy water of the Rio Soto La Marina emptied into the gulf, an ever-increasing circle of brown fanned out into the blue waters.

It was near the mouth of the river, about 100 miles north of Tampico, that Inez went inland. From the air one could trace the hurricane's route by the swath of downed palm trees.

The area's rich cotton crop appeared almost a total loss. Much of it was underwater.

FLOODED ROADS
Roads were inundated, particularly in the rural areas.

Near Tampico, the Tampico-Ciudad Mante highway was open and filled with traffic as rescuers moved in to aid the thousands left homeless and marooned.

In Tampico, a Gulf port city of 200,000 persons, between 1,500 and 2,000 homes were reported destroyed and the city was without lights, water and telephones. The city was virtually ringed with flooded fields, but traffic in the harbor channel moved freely.

The Mexican ministry of national defense said it had no confirmed reports of deaths. Some estimates of the damage in the stricken area exceeded $50 million. About 350,000 babies of cotton, valued at more than $44 million, were believed destroyed.

Motorist Killed
DEARBORN (AP) — A car whipped out of control and skidded into a ditch Tuesday in Dearborn, killing the driver, Leroy H. Atwell, 38, of Garden City.

Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 40 years have found a way to fast relief from itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling soothing astringent formula — PETERSON'S OINTMENT. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. PETERSON'S OINTMENT is marvelous." $5c. All druggists. Be delighted or money back.

PATH OF DESTRUCTION — Only twisted wreckage remains of what was a cotton gin in Gonzalez, Mexico. The facility was hit with the full strength of Hurricane Inez, which roared through this area Monday.

Are Osmun's tailors really magicians?

Or is it all done with mirrors?

This is a case of the hand being slower than the eye.

Because the first thing an Osmun's tailor does is look. How are you built, how will you be most comfortable, how will you look? And how do you and your new suit look in the eyes of a craftsman?

Of course, we must confess that we make it easier for our tailors by starting with suits made with the best tailoring we can buy. For example, Ambassador, Phoenix, Martinelli, Petrocelli, Eagle, 'Botany' 500, etc.

So next time you need a suit, come to Osmun's.

And look in our mirrors.

Californian Files Claims on Part of Moon

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Santa Cruz County Clerk Tom Kelley announced yesterday he will accept a claim filed by John Karchez on a portion of the moon.

However, Kelley said he wanted more specific information on the land area involved before he passes the claim on to the U.S. Bureau of Land Management for consideration.

"I claim that part of the lunar body as the electronic eye did see," said Karchez's claim proposal, "in the name of my grandson, Bill Karchez, and in the name of the United States of America."

Karchez, with tongue in cheek, said the claim was based on the fact his grandson's name was scratched on the side of Surveyor I, the spacecraft which landed on the moon successfully and took thousands of photographs.

The 22-year-old grandson works at the Hughes Aircraft Co., in Long Beach, Calif., where the Surveyor I was made. He inscribed his name on the spacecraft with a steel pen.

Public Hearing Set Oct. 25 on Sale of Renewal Land

City Affairs

A public hearing was ordered last night for Oct. 25 on the proposed sale of two parcels of urban renewal land to the Pontiac Teachers Credit Union.

The City Commission set the hearing date after a report that the federal government had approved the land sale. The land is located on Auburn, opposite Hill.

The proposed purchase price is $15,220. A credit union office building is planned.

In other business, the commission awarded a demolition contract to Elkins Excavating Co. of Union Lake. The $6,375 contract is for the demolition of 13 buildings. In the R20 urban renewal area.

The low bid was one of five received.

Public hearings were ordered for Nov. 1 on proposed rezoning to residential-3 of 39 acres on the north side of Kennett, between the belt line railroad and corner of Johnson and Cass into Alcott School, and for residential-3 rezoning for houses 15 to 35 on East Howard.

REQUEST DENIED

The commission voted to deny requested manufacturing rezoning for the south side of Walton, between Highwood, Lehigh and Jaycee Park. A revised petition for commercial-2 rezoning for the westerly 400 feet of the site was referred to the City Planning Commission.

The commission set Oct. 24 as the date to take bids for additional tree planting and site work for a portion of Osun, Hovey to Paddock in the R20 urban renewal project area.

The commission approved dividing the lot at the northwest corner of Johnson and Cass into three lots.

A hearing was set for Oct. 25 on intention to grade and gravel the alley east of Joslyn, Beverly to First. The estimated total cost is $3,490 with $624 assessed and the city's cost $2,866.

HEARING SET

The special assessment roll was received for curb, gutter,

Housing Resolution Strays but Passes

Routine approval of a resolution to ask for an additional 350 units of public housing for the elderly strayed somewhat last night along the City Commission table.

The motion did pass by a unanimous vote.

District 2 City Commissioner Robert C. Irwin offered a word of caution to fellow commissioners and ended up accused of making "uncalled for" remarks.

Irwin, who said firstly that he was not opposed to the request for an added allotment of units, claimed the matter had not formally gone to the planning staff.

He suggested the advice of the city's professional staff should be used in development of the public housing units.

Other City Commissioners disagreed, claiming that planning staff personnel had attended a preview of the housing project proposed by developer Charles L. Langs.

Last night's request for 350 more units of public housing for the elderly and a planning loan of $52,500 are tentatively planned for a 90-acre housing project projected for Auburn, near the osteopathic college site.)

District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood charged Irwin with making accusations that were uncalled for. Wood said there would be lots of time to consult the planning commission.

Irwin maintained that city planners had seen the proposal, but had not been consulted.

CITY HALL STAFF
Commissioners Wood, John A. Dugan, Leslie H. Hudson and Mayor William H. Taylor contended that the City Hall staff was worked closely with.

They said last night's action merely entered a request for more units (the city already has been allotted 250 units for a site bounded by Cottage, Hovey, Osun and East Wide Track).

Taylor added the Pontiac Housing Commission would have to approve anything that went into the units.

"Anybody and everybody will scrutinize the developer's plans," concluded Taylor. Meanwhile, Congressman Billie S. Farnum, D-19th District, announced today that the preliminary loan had been approved for the city's first request for 250 public housing units for senior citizens.

Junior Editors Quiz on FILM NEGATIVES

ANSWER: When a camera's shutter clicks, light falls on a sensitive coating of silver salts covering the film. These salts retain a memory of the pattern of lights and darks.

Developing with chemicals changes the silver salts, which have been affected by the light, to various degrees of metallic silver.

Then, when the film is passed through a fixing bath, silver salts not reached by the light are washed away, leaving clear film.

Paper used in the final prints also receives a light-sensitive coating. When the developed film—called a negative—is placed over the print paper, light comes through the clear negative areas and turns these dark on the paper. But the dark, dense parts on the negative print lighter.

Developing is best done in total darkness, but a faint red light can be used.

Jerry is working in the kitchen with red cellophane around a lamp—he is following the directions given on the packages he bought, which contain developing and fixing materials.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get your parents consent and advice if you want to develop film at home. Use newspapers to cover everything that might be damaged by chemicals.

LBJ Will Find War Splits Australia Like U.S.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—When President Johnson comes here, he will find Australians think much the same as Americans about the Viet Nam conflict. Many dislike it. Some think Australians just have to be in it, others that they should be out of it.

Australia has 4,500 men in action, one is missing and 327 South Viet Nam, including two wounded. Headquarters staff. Advisers have been there since 1962. Over-all, about 7,000 Australians have been through Saigon and of these 73 have been killed who traditionally believe only volunteers should be sent out of the country.

Prime Minister Harold Holt said in Washington in June that Australia was "all the way with LBJ." This did not ring true with all Australians. Newspapers have said in editorials in the past few days that Johnson will find a strong majority of people opposed to America's policy in Viet Nam. Johnson almost certainly will see demonstrators against the war. The feeling is especially strong among those, who have the general election Nov. 26 it stake in it—those liable to draft, and those close to them.

Shot Detective; New Group Plans War on Teacher Bugaboos

LANSING (AP)—A man who pleaded guilty to shooting a detective will receive a new trial because he originally was not given a chance to request an attorney, Michigan's Appeals Court ruled Tuesday.

The court said William Winegar, 34, formerly of Lansing, was informed of his right to have a court-appointed attorney, but the trial court failed to give him a chance to ask for one.

The court also said the record of Winegar's arraignment before Ingham County Circuit Judge Marvin Salmon did not show any evidence that Winegar was advised of the consequences of his plea.

Salmon sentenced Winegar to life in prison on a charge of assault with intent to murder in the Oct. 23, 1961, shooting of sheriff's detective Phillip Malville.

LANSING (AP)—A new education research organization has been formed for Michigan, a group which the leaders of the future—aren't always eager for changes in the present, a founder says.

The organization, a federally backed corporation, will be able to freely discuss innovations that may do for the teacher what new math did for the pupil, says a prime backer of the group.

He is Alexander J. Kloster, assistant superintendent of public instruction and one of the Michigan incorporators of the organization to be called Michigan-Ohio Educational Research Laboratory.

Michigan is sharing the planned research program with other incorporators in Ohio, making it one of several bi-state research facilities established in recent years.

Kloster has been a major backer of the project in Michigan. He said a $180,000 federal planning grant will support the laboratory, which will act as a clearing house for research done elsewhere.

The program is expected to be in operation by Dec. 1, with a permanent staff of 20 in prospect. The laboratory is temporarily located in the Detroit Schools Center Building.

Such an independent agency, Kloster said, will make it possible to talk freely about "the nasty things that schools and educators don't want to talk about."

"It means the kind of research that may be professionally damaging to an individual or an institution," Kloster said. "Who knows? Maybe a teacher should not be all things to all people."

Dream Is Still Alive for Area Nature Center

By HUDSON WILLSE
In the Drayton Plains Nature Center, Waterford Township has a "North woods" in its own backyard.

Its adherents feel the 140 acres of woods, fields, rivers and ponds are highly desirable for an out-of-doors educational facility.

Progress, however, has been slow in developing the center, primarily because of lack of funds.

But the dream is very much alive.

If Waterford Township Schools come to the rescue, the problem will be all but solved.

FUTURE VOTE

At first look, the board of education failed to latch onto the project, but a future vote is expected which could place the center in school district hands.

Presently, about 82½ acres are owned by the Michigan Department of Conservation, which operated a fish hatchery on the site from 1918 to 1960.

The other 55½-acre tract is in the process of being purchased by the Natural Science for Youth Foundation of Bridgeport,

Conn., for Drayton Plains Nature Center, Inc., a nonprofit organization formed in 1964 to map the future of the outdoor "paradise."

However, this $45,000 is a loan.

FRACTION RAISED

Cost of the 82½-acre property is $62,500, but only a fraction of this amount has been raised.

Last year, a bill — introduced by State Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac — was passed by the legislature, authorizing the Department of Conservation to sell the land to the Nature Center group.

Unlike the school district, Drayton Plains Nature Center, Inc., is ineligible for federal funds toward purchase and development of the land.

If the school boards says no, the county might be interested in conjunction with its proposed park system which hinges on voter approval Nov. 8 of a ¼-mill proposition extending over a five-year period.

Otherwise, the operation, somehow, will have to acquire additional financial help from various foundations in order to fulfill its goal of developing a varied program of conservation, education, nature study and recreation for youth, families, schools and community organizations.

A $2,500 grant from the S.S. Kresge Foundation made possible remodeling of the main building on the property, a large two-story colonial-type structure which could be used for classroom and laboratory instruction.

The building consists of fish tanks, aquariums and more-than-adequate classroom space.

Another $1,000 has been pledged to the center by seven local branches of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, casting a ray of encouragement onto Charles Welsh, president of the corporation's board of directors.

RIVERSIDE HEAD

"If we can raise another $1,000, we may have classes this winter," said the optimistic Welsh, whose full-time job is principal of Waterford Township's Riverside School.

Designed as a dual function operation, the facility would serve as a working laboratory and classroom for students and as a nature center for the public.

Welsh estimates it would cost $50,000 a year, at the outset, to operate the center on a full-scale basis. Hiring of a director, assistant director, manager and part-time secretary is contemplated.

To defray expenses, admission would be charged to the public, according to Welsh.

TOUR FACILITY

At present, when the weather's right, about 25 to 30 persons visit the center Saturdays and Sundays. School classes also tour the facility.

The Conservation Department abandoned the property in 1960 when it was decided that the water temperature of the ponds was too warm to raise trout.

In 1961, Donald Richards, an educational consultant to the Conservation Department, contacted John R. Forbes of the Natural Science for Youth Foundation to discuss the possibility of using the land for a nature center.

Forbes was keen on the idea. The foundation subsequently loaned money to buy the 85½-acre parcel adjacent to the hatchery. Interested local residents, meanwhile, laid the groundwork for the project.

NATURE TRAILS

Wooded nature trails; aquatic study areas, a weather station, group lectures and programs, canoe instruction, waterfowl sanctuary, bird feeding stations, casting instruction, fish-for-fun pond and displays are some of the features planned for the center.

Welsh and John J. Shea, manager of the center, estimate there are more than 25 species of birds on the property, ranging from the small wrens and morning doves to large Canadian geese and blue herons.

In addition, about 15 varieties of fish live in the 20 some ponds situated on the land. Mammal life there includes possum, moles, squirrels, fox and raccoons.

Numerous forms of plant life also exist at the center, including several types of wild flowers and wild berries.

PLENTY TO SEE

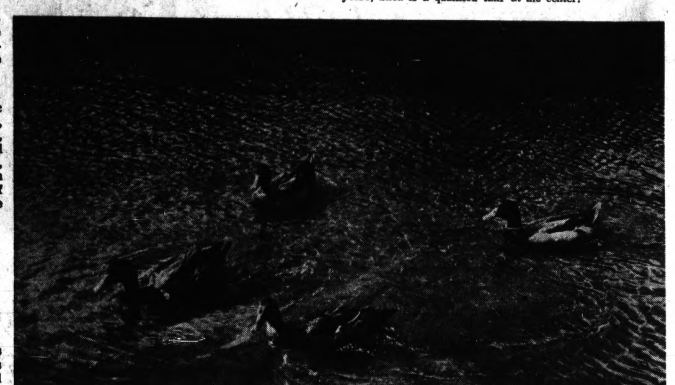

Welsh says one thing that intrigues him about the center is that he can see as much there in an hour as he can see in a whole day elsewhere.

"This can't be a losing venture," said Welsh. "Think of what it could do for the kids."

Welsh and Shea have the credentials and experience to help thrust the center ahead if the necessary funds can be raised.

Prior to this year, Welsh, dermatologist and plans to teach the headed the school district's outdoor education program.

Formerly employed as a naturalist aide with the State Conservation Department for three years, Shea is a qualified taxidermist and plans to teach the center to youngsters at the center.

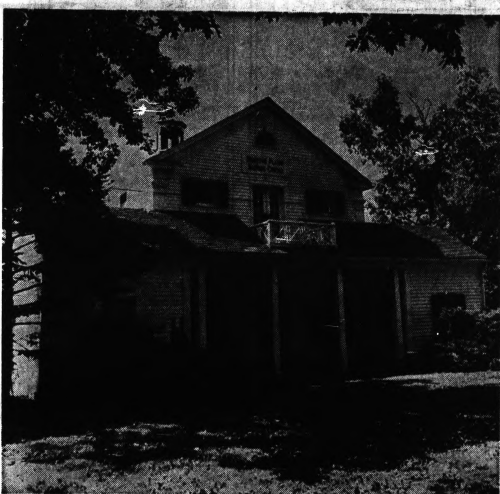

Pontiac Press Photos by Rolf Winter

the ponds combined cover about 40 acres. Paths circle each pond. According to Shea, there are about 16 different types of ducks at the center.

EXPLORE GROUNDS—Charles Welsh (right), president of Drayton Plains Nature Center, Inc., and Donald Maxwell, vice president, tour the grounds of the 140-acre facility. Employed by Waterford Township Schools, Welsh is principal of Riverside School, while Maxwell is science consultant.

MAIN BUILDING — Headquarters for the 140-acre Drayton Plains Nature Center, located just off Hatchery Road near Dixie Highway, is this large two-story colonial-type structure. Equipped with fish tanks, aquariums and more-than-adequate classroom space, the building is earmarked for laboratory and classroom instruction in water ecology — the relationship of fish to food and water temperature — and other subjects related to the out-of-doors.

Map Linked to Sailor for Columbus

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 453-year-old Turkish map depicting the New World apparently seen by one of Christopher Columbus' crewmen has been unveiled here by the university museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

The map, with a long Turkish inscription, tells of the adventures of "Colon-Bo, the Genoese Infidel" in the New World. It was drawn in 1515 by the Turkish admiral and nautical author Piri Re'is, apparently from information from one of Columbus' crewmen captured by the Turks around 1501 in the Mediterranean, according to the museum.

At a ceremony, the sugar industry minister, Orlando Borrogo, told the veterans of the cane fields and grinding mills, "We are proud that most of you purporting to show that America was discovered by Viking men about the year 1,000, Havana radio reported.

was unveiled by Yale University. The Turkish map, however simply gives a geographic outline and eyewitness account of the most widely accepted historical account that Columbus was the first European to discover America, in 1492.

The richly illuminated Turkish map, drawn on gazelle skin, is well-kept for its age. It shows the western coast of Africa, Spain, Portugal and the Straits of Gibraltar.

The New World, primarily Central America, is presented as part of the east coast of China and Japan, since contemporary geographers, including Columbus, believed he in fact had reached the Far East.

Accompanying it is a long inscription in Arabic script. It has been translated and begins: "There was a man named Colon-Bo, the infidel from Genoa, and this Colon-Bo found these lands."

Among the adventures of Columbus, according to the map, were an attack by natives who used fish bones as arrows, and a meeting with cannibals.

Cuba Honors 632 Workers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba has given diplomas and medals to 632 workers with 50 years service — but asked them not to retire yet.

At a ceremony, the sugar industry minister, Orlando Borrogo, told the veterans of the cane fields and grinding mills, "We are proud that most of you purporting to show that America was discovered by Viking men about the year 1,000, Havana radio reported.

Kids Having More Fun Sliding Into Space Age

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a better time than ever to be a kid.

You know this if you've had a look at the latest in playground equipment for the space-age small fry.

Consider that classic of the traditional playground: The slide. Compared with the latest, it's much too simple, drab, uninteresting, dangerous and fragile.

Now, the very young can climb up a make-believe rocket to a height of 20 feet and slide down any of several chutes. And, though higher, the rocket is safer because its upper reaches are enclosed (though the kids can see out).

TEACHES MORE

The flashy, colorful new equipment even teaches more, it's clear from a tour of exhibits at the National Recreation and Park Association congress here.

One slide in effect teaches what the free enterprise system is all about. Called "Earn-A-Slide," it has handgrips around its big, triangular sliding area. The kids who pull themselves up the highest get the longest slide down.

A swing called "Exerglide" is spelt when the swing pulls hand levers, which builds both arm muscle and incentive.

Other gear encourages the imaginations of the kids. One big piece is both climbing bars and a rocket. But in this move to modernity, the grand old past is not forgotten. Another set of climbing bars is also a covered wagon.

Hawaii Hopeful's Case Is Resolved

HONOLULU (AP) — A Republican nominee for Congress has submitted his resignation as major in the Hawaii Air National Guard at the request of his unit commander because he wore his uniform at a political rally.

But Brig. Gen. V.A. Sieferman, adjutant general, ruled the resignation not accepted.

John S. Carroll, attempting to unseat incumbent Democrat Rep. Spark Matsunaga, said he had just returned from training duty in Japan only 35 minutes before the political luncheon and went to it without changing from his uniform.

Education Needed for Leisure

By LESLIE J. NASON, E.D.,
University of Southern California

Should we be educated on how to enjoy our leisure time? Most definitely — yes!

Persons who lack the skills to fit successfully into the work world usually also lack the skills which would propel them into interesting Leisure activities.

Automotive and technical advances often force leisure upon those who are least prepared to make good use of it and to enjoy it.

Our old ideas of leisure-time activities must be revised. We need more than time to read or to play.

One must have a desire to read about something and to add to his knowledge. Even reading just to enjoy a clever writer demands a rather specialized background and experience in word usage.

ESSENTIAL FACTOR

In pioneer days, hunting and fishing were available to the entire population if they so desired. The undeveloped areas were wide expanses in comparison to the populated ones. Now this is rapidly being reversed. The world is becoming a crowded planet.

Music, painting, sculpture and poetry have always been leisure-time activities of those skilled in these arts and able to afford them.

To successfully use leisure time, every individual must learn to live happily with himself.

Parents and schools must help children develop into men and women interested in, and capable of, self-development coupled with a desire to be of service to family and community. Ideally, they should be able to read with sufficient ease to make some use of this avenue for increasing their knowledge and enjoyment.

They should have been exposed and have learned to appreciate and enjoy listening to music. Producing music on their own could be a leisure activity for many more individuals.

SPACESHIP SLIDE — Five-year-old Richard Weigel, followed by his brother Robert, 4, zips down the slide of one of the latest pieces of playground equipment. It is called the "spaceship with the weave slide." The boys are from Chevy Chase, Md.

Awards Won by Future Farmers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 19-year-old Upper Michigan boy who netted $4,000 from three harvests last year has received the Future Farmers of America's highest national honor in Jeff.

Jeff Stephan of Felch will bring home one of six national FFA honors earned by Michigan members.

Jeff, who has 20,000 Christmas trees awaiting future harvest, was honored both for his high school record and for his forestry enterprise.

Other Michigan awards presented today at the FFA convention went to chapters at Cassopolis, Corunna and Elsie and to Harold M. Byram, agricultural education professor at Michigan State University, and Thomas H. Kerrey, agriculture education consultant to the state.

Sheppard Seeks Trial Site Change

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Attorneys for Samuel H. Sheppard asked the court today to move his murder retrial out of Cuyahoga County.

Attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston, Sheppard's chief counsel, said his client cannot get a fair trial here and wants it moved to some other Ohio County. He said he favors Toledo in Lucas County.

The decision will be made by Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Tally, who has laid down strict rules for newsmen covering the change of venue hearing.

If Tally denies the motion, the trial will begin next Tuesday in his second-floor courtroom, exactly 12 years after Sheppard's first trial started in a courtroom across the hall.

Sheppard, 42, was convicted of second-degree murder in the bludgeoning slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, July 4, 1954, at their suburban Bay Village lakefront home. At the time of the slaying, Sheppard was an osteopath.

SERVED 10 YEARS

Sheppard spent 10 years in prison after his 1954 conviction, then was freed on July 16, 1964, by U.S. District Judge Carl A. Weinman at Dayton. Weinman ruled Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated in the first trial.

The U.S. Supreme Court last June, in an 8-1 decision, upheld Weinman, saying prejudicial news coverage and "bedlam" in the courthouse prevented Sheppard from getting a fair trial in 1954.

Tally has said no cameras or recording devices would be allowed in the courtroom. He also prohibited interviews of witnesses, participating lawyers and their associates and employees "before, during or after" the hearings.

Heiress Mishap a Closed Case

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — After questioning Doris Duke a second time, Police Chief Joseph A. Radice says he has closed his investigation into an auto mishap that killed Eduardo Tirella, a friend of the tobacco heiress.

"There is no cause to prefer charges against Miss Duke," Radice said Tuesday, and concluded that the fatality was accidental.

Hospitals Face Rising Costs

LANSING (AP) — Without gifts, grants and concessions, Michigan hospitals would have operated at a loss of $2.01 per patient each day in 1965 because of rising costs, a survey showed Tuesday.

Even with the nonpatient sources of revenue, hospitals had less than one per cent of total revenue available for replacing worn out equipment, the Michigan Hospital Association survey indicated.

The association issued a survey report on 388 hospitals just before Friday's mid-year business meeting of its 150-member House of Delegates at Traverse City.

Donald Walchenbach, association president, said the meeting will aim at forming programs to help members adapt to new state and federal health care legislation.

Aid for Sewage Facilities Sought by Legislator

LANSING (AP)—A legislator whose district borders the Detroit River says he is working on legislation that would make $15 million in state aid available for local sewage treatment facilities in 1968.

Rep. William Copeland, D-Wyandotte, said the federal government seems ready to commit the large amounts of money required for a total cleanup.

Copeland noted that in Congress the Senate has approved a $6 billion federal program and the house has voted for a $2.3 billion plan. Even the smaller plan would give Michigan about $100 million, he said.

He proposed a program of matching grants—30 per cent state, 30 per cent local and 40 per cent federal.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen is on his way toward becoming one of the most widely viewed commercials of the congressional election campaign.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, already has taped 30 television and radio spots, ranging in length from 30 seconds to five minutes, and has a score of ways to do before he makes his painful way to Walter Reed Army hospital next week.

Each of these is an individual effort, rather than a general appeal, in which the candidate's name is dubbed in.

In these commercials for Republican candidates for the House and Senate in the Nov. 8 elections, the tousled-haired Illinois senator is putting forth his general entertaining jing. It is generally agreed he doesn't

PRACTICING THESPIAN

As a practicing thespian who quotes from the Bible and Shakespeare at the drop of a hat, Dirksen is an eye-roller and a hand waver who never fails to claim attention. He also is a very practical politician who knows where the votes are, when to go along with President Johnson and when to fight him.

While Johnson is off touring Asia and attending the Manila summit conference, Dirksen will be in the hospital having 15 steel pins removed that have held together a fractured hip bone for months while it was healing.

Dirksen was invited to accompany the President, but declined with measured thanks.

The GOP leader revealed himself as an optimist in a news conference rundown Tuesday on senatorial races.

SON-IN-LAW

He predicted the Republicans will pick up seats in Tennessee, where his son-in-law, Howard H. Baker Jr., is the party nominee, and in Illinois, Montana, Oregon and possibly New Hampshire.

Dirksen credits GOP candidates with being in the lead in Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska and Texas. Democrats have mounted sharp attacks in those states in contests where seats now are held by the GOP.

He said he was sticking to his previous prediction that his party would gain 75 House seats.

Dirksen took a neutral position when asked about speculation that a move might be made by party conservatives next January to oust Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., as assistant Senate GOP leader.

Dirksen said he doesn't know whether there will be an effort to replace Kuchel because the Californian has declined to support the bid by Republican Ronald Reagan for the California governorship.

Kuchel, a liberal, has been publicly silent about the conservative Reagan's race against Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

In response to a question, Dirksen said he doesn't make the decision on filling the assistant leader's post. He said a conference of all Republican senators will do that at a meeting soon after the new Congress meets in January.

Student Protest Halts Project at Popular Spot

NEW YORK (AP)—The president of the City College of New York has ordered a halt to construction of a parking lot on a campus lawn after seven students sat down in front of a road-grading machine.

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher ordered the work stoppage by telephone from an educational conference at New Orleans Tuesday.

He said he would return shortly to look into the situation. The students were taken by surprise when they found the grader spreading stones over the lawn, a traditional sunbathing and touch football spot.

CLANDESTINE OPERATION

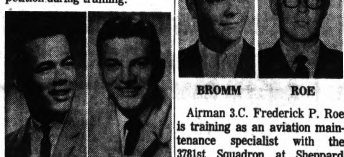

"It's a clandestine attempt to make a parking lot before we could do anything," said Melvin Allen, one of the demonstrators.

Area Service Personnel

A Pontiac man is in the Detroit Tigers Navy Recruit Company which won a Hall of Fame Cup, the highest honor at the award, the highest honor at the award, the highest honor at the award.

Seaman App. Michael Dyer, recruit chief petty officer during training, will go to Viet Nam on the USS Enterprise.

Dyer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dyer, 2767 Fremont, Waterford Township. This company, sponsored by the Detroit Tigers baseball organization, won 40 flags in competition during training.

Pvt. Jerry Lee Broom is in basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. Broom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Broom of 454 Auburn, was formerly an employee of K-Mart.

Airman S.C. Frederick P. Roe is training as an aviation maintenance specialist with the 3781st Squadron at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex.

Roe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Roe of 670 First, recently graduated from St. Michael's High School.

Airman S.C. Raymond B. Liddell has completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., and is now stationed at Keesler Air Force Base.

Liddell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Liddell of 288 W. Wilson, attended Ferris State College.

Timothy J. May, Post Office general counsel, earlier said he had reached the "tentative conclusion" that Ford violated the law in mailing copies of a September speech under his frank or signature—which allows delivery free of charge.

Congressmen are free to mail copies of political speeches to their constituents which they make in Congress as well as all government correspondence. But the franking rules bar other types of campaign mail.

Campaign material must carry postage stamps, according to the rules.

Ford protested the charges by pointing out that the speech had been later inserted in the Congressional Record.

Mao's Heir Acts Weary at Rally

TOKYO (AP) — Expert observers of Communist Chinese affairs said today that Marshal Lin Biao, Mao Tse-tung's heir apparent, appeared mentally and physically weary at the Peking rally Oct. 1 marking Red China's 17th anniversary.

Lin, 57, Red China's defense minister, was seriously wounded in the Chinese-Japanese war and was reportedly hospitalized in the 1950s with tuberculosis. Because of his health, many observers did not consider him a likely man to succeed Mao until he moved to the front this year. Deterioration in Lin's health could set off a new succession struggle in Peking.

China watchers in Tokyo report that a tape-recording of the 15-minute speech Lin delivered at the Oct. 1 rally showed that he made at least five mistakes, including one in the opening sentence.

CORRECTS HIMSELF

In most instances, Lin wrongly identified the celebration as the 10th instead of the 17th anniversary of the Communist victory in China. He quickly corrected himself, but in one case he erred twice before finding the correct words.

Lin's breathing also was noticeably heavy, his pronunciation was slurred and he seldom read a complete sentence in one breath. His speech was uttered two or three words at a time.

Lin's errors obviously were noted by Red China's propagandists, who edited them out of later domestic broadcasts.

Peking recently has gone out of its way to dispel reports that Mao and Lin were ill. In a report on the Oct. 1 celebrations the official New China News Agency made a point of mentioning that the two were in the best of health.

However, Sigmundists noted that after reviewing the march past at the eight-hour rally, the marshal did not join Mao for the fireworks display in the evening.

Santa Maria Floats Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another Santa Maria floats down the Scioto River into the downtown area today, kicking off a four-day Columbus Day U.S.A. celebration in this, the largest of 22 American communities named for the famous explorer.

A stand-in for Christopher Columbus will be met by a tribe of "Indians," made up largely of mayors and beauty queens from several of those cities.

A wreath-laying ceremony at a City Hall statue of Columbus — a gift from the people of Genoa, Italy — will follow the discovery reenactment and high-light today's observance of the holiday — 474 years to the day after Columbus set foot in the New World.

Many of the festival's major events are scheduled this week-end, including a beauty contest pitting queens from cities named Columbus for the title "Miss Columbus U.S.A."

CONTESTANTS

Contestants this year will come from such cities in Kansas, Mississippi, North Carolina, Wisconsin, Georgia, Indiana and, of course, Ohio.

The reigning queen, Sherri Miles of Columbus, Miss., will crown her successor.

Bullet Grazes Policeman, Boy Shot in Chicago Strife

CHICAGO (AP) — A sniper's bullet grazed a policeman's head and a 15-year-old boy was shot in the stomach Tuesday night in what police called another flare-up of gang warfare. Police moved in force to bar any spread of the violence that began when roving street gangs threw bricks at police cars in a South Side neighborhood just south of the University of Chicago.

More than 60 youths, many known to police as gang members, were arrested in a series of incidents punctuated by gunfire. Police said they seized three fire bombs from one of the youths.

Policeman Edward Carmody, 38, said the side of his head was grazed by a bullet which shattered the rear window of his squad car. He and his partner were rushing to the aid of other policemen who had said they were under fire or being hit by bricks and bottles.

RECEIVES FIRST AID

Carmody received first aid at Billings Hospital and was released.

Minutes later police found Walter Stewart, a high school student, sprawled on a sidewalk. He had been shot in the stomach. Stewart was hospitalized in fair condition.

William Griffin, police commander in the area, said crowds gathered when a policeman tried to question six youths in a parked car at 63rd Street and Harper Avenue.

Soon bricks were flying and the rear window of the police vehicle was shattered.

Police squads quickly rounded up troublemakers. Griffin said those arrested would be charged with offenses ranging from disorderly conduct to aggravated battery.

Many of those arrested were identified as members of the Blackstone Rangers, a street gang.

"We'll break the backbone of this gang business if we have to do something like this every night," Griffin said.

Six youths yelled "Mighty Blackstone Rangers" as they attacked him, Stewart told police.

Police say the cry Stewart heard has become a common

Screen Writers—1

Status Rise Not Fast Enough

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The screen writer in recent years has become a key figure in movie making. Bob Thomas explores the upturn of fortune for scenarists in a three-part series. The first follows.)

BY BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD — Jobs are plentiful and he is earning a bigger salary than ever before. The prestige of his profession is rising, but not fast enough to please him. For that reason and because of the conditions under which he must write, he is unhappy.

That is the state of the American film screenwriter in 1966. More money is being paid to writers than at any time in history. During the seasonal high of May all but a hundred of the 1,172 active members of the Writers Guild of America, West, were employed — 906 in television and 166 in feature movies. That compared with 516 in 1962 and 363 in 1956.

Writers are being accorded more esteem to the production councils of Hollywood. Some, like Stanley Shapiro — "Pillow Talk" — and Ernest Lehman, "The Sound of Music" — produce their own scripts. Others follow the examples of Richard Brooks — "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" — and Joseph Mankiewicz — "All About Eve" — and turn director.

TASTES CHANGE

Once Hollywood devoutly believed that glamorous stars and glossy production were all it took for a successful film. But public tastes changed. Now there is general acceptance of the notion that a sound story is indispensable.

Nowadays most stars won't commit themselves "until I see the script." Writers have joined the filmfold elite.

Television has brought forth a new breed of writer-producers, men like David Dortort — "Bonanza" — Leonard Stern — "Get Smart" — and Paul Henning — "Beverly Hills Cop" — who conceive and oversee series packages.

Despite his added prestige and the fact that he can earn more money with one script than Shakespeare saw in a lifetime, the film writer is beset with frustrations. He often sees his best scene mangled or misinterpreted by the director. "It still happens," says Billy Wilder — "Some Like It Hot" — "What the director will rewrite the script after along conference with his wife." Unlike playwrights, the screenwriter has no control over such editing.

"Films are a director's medium, and for reasonable and valid reasons," remarks Rod Serling — "Seven Days in May."

"In films you are dealing with material that is only half-alive until the visual aspect is added," he said.

LAST MAN

"The trouble is that the writer is the last man on the pole when the visual aspect is added. The producer, director and actor give their perspective, but seldom the writer. Yet he has conceived the project and has spent the most time on it."

Ray Bradbury — "Moby Dick" — cites another frustration: "I'd guess that only every fourth screen play is produced. The screen writer whose script is never made feels as if he has given birth to a baby, then, as he is leaving the hospital, someone grabs it and kills it."

Television writers rankle under the formula of weekly series. "I don't feel the sense of challenge in TV any more," comments pioneer Serling. "The ground rules are laid down for each show. Television is like a massive magazine, with everything departmentalized."

A movie writer makes this observation of status in Hollywood: "When a studio has a big premiere, they send a limousine for the director. The writer? He has to drive his own car."

Edward Anhalt — "Becket" — has offered another yardstick on the status: "Unless the studio thinks enough of the writer to give him an office with a private toilet and his own parking space, he hasn't arrived." Most writers are given neither.

Next — Film writer who made Dick — Ernest Lehman.

Jumping to Conclusions: Left-Handed Girls Switch-Hit When They Slap a Guy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Most left-handed girls, when a fellow gets fresh with them, switch to their right hand when they slap his face. Don't ask me why.

BOYLE.

Honest merit will never be fully recognized in this country until the dandelion is officially named as America's national flower. Anyone who doesn't admire this sturdy yellow democrat of lawn and meadow is a floral snob, and deserves to have crabgrass grow in his front yard forever.

No matter how helpful in his life a wife may be at other times, a man really never learns much from her while watching a pro football game.

The shorter a business executive is, the higher is the seat of his swivel chair from the floor. Even while sitting, he wants to look taller.

One way for Sweden to startle the world would be to make a movie fit only for children to see.

MAKES A DIFFERENCE

A woman who gets tangled at a cocktail party always feels more guilty afterward if she happened to be wearing a pearl necklace. She knows a woman should always act aristocratic while wearing pearls.

One of the things a middle-aged man finds mystifying about the younger generation is how so many of them can get through high school without ever having read "Lorna Doone" or "Ivanhoe."

The best way to preserve a wool bikini through the winter is to wrap it around a mothball—if it will go all the way around.

There is something economically pitiful about a fellow who can afford to eat only a 59-cent frozen television dinner while looking at a program on his $996 color television set. You get the feeling that civilization has gone astray.

I've known a number of fellows who kept their overshoes in the bottom drawer of their office desk, but none of them ever became president of the firm.

ANNOYING FELLOW

Nothing annoys a fellow more than meeting later in life the classmate who was voted most likely to succeed—and did.

A young man has only himself to blame if he marries a girl who refuses to go bowling on the ground that it is undignified. He'll be heckpoked until his final breath, suffocated by her prim manners.

Think what lovely mansions mankind could erect if beer and deodorants were sold in hollow building bricks instead of throwaway containers!

The electric chair—and it is getting almost as hard to keep one out of public office.

You can tell, generally, how long a man has been with his firm by the number of towels he uses to dry his hands in the office washroom. The office boy takes three to six, the 35-year veteran one or two at the most. Like the grizzly, neither the Alaska brown bear nor the Kodiak bear can climb trees.

AMY ADVISES:

'How to Keep Hubby at Home Nites'

DEAR AMY—I've got a problem. My husband likes to go out every night. For instance, Monday night he plays cards, Tuesday night it's the basketball games, Wednesday, the billiard room, Thursday night, out with the boys. Friday it's bowling. What can I do to keep him home more often?

Signed: Frantic

DEAR FRAN—Buy an Admiral Color TV home entertainment combination from Highland Appliance Co.

Note to Frantic's Husband:

No fooling, what can you see away from home that you can't see on an Admiral Color TV home entertainment combination? Football? Hockey? Basketball? No excuses here. See 'em on real-life color TV—just as though you were there. Going out Thursday night for culture? Just settle back and listen to your favorite recordings. Bored Monday night? There's always the beautiful music of FM-stereo radio. Cost of an Admiral Color TV Combination an excuse for not owning one? Not at Highland's low prices. Now there's just no reason for going out nights anymore. Except one. Tell her you're going out to Highland tonight.

U.S. Jump Team Is Favored

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania National Horse Show opens here Saturday with four countries competing for team honors in international jumping.

The United States, which has dominated team competition in past years, is favored to repeat over Canada, Ireland, and Chile, but the individual championship could go to any one of several riders.

The U.S. team has Billy Steinkurs and Frank Chapot, two Olympians who have won individual honors here before, plus Frank's wife the former Mary Mairs, a Pan American Games gold medal winner.

Among the top foreign riders are Ireland's Billy Ringrose, England's Annel Drummond-Hays and Canada's Jim Day. Ringrose won the $1,000 jumping stakes here last year and has beaten the best riders on the European circuit. Day won the individual title here two years ago.

FIRST JUMP

Miss Drummond-Hays, has won the two biggest three-day events in England, Burghley and Badminton, with her mount, Mervin-A-Monarch. This is her first trip to America.

England is not one of the four countries competing for the team title since it lacks the required number of riders. While most of the glamour goes to the international jumping events, the 21st annual Penn National also features a record entry of 1,064 horses and riders competing in open events for $34,000 in prize money.

JUMPER STAKE

The open jumper division has drawn the 1965 U.S. champion, Australis. Ridden by owner Danny Lopez of Glen Head, N.Y., the horse also won the Penn National championship and the $2,000 jumper stake here last year.

Also competing will be the second and third place U.S. open jumpers last year — Unouchable, owned by Mr. and

Bruins' Fans Hail Sextet in Exhibition

BOSTON (AP) — The college football season has yet to reach the halfway mark, but as far as Boston Bruins' fans are concerned the hockey season has arrived.

A crowd of 10,649 paid fans turned out at humid Boston Garden Tuesday night to welcome the 1966-67 edition, or a reasonable facsimile, of Boston's National Hockey League victory hopes.

The Bruins, loaded with youngsters, tried hard in an exhibition meeting with the New York Rangers, but bowed 3-1. It was Boston's third straight pre-season loss to New York.

Blanked 3-0 twice by the Rangers in Canada, the Bruins snapped the scoreless string on Gil Marotte's 25-foot screen shot in the first period while New York was short-handed.

The Rangers' Bernie (Boom) Geoffrion then tied the count by driving home a shot after a face-off in the Boston end. Billy Hicke put New York ahead 2-1 on a deflected shot in the second period before Earl Ingarfield fired into an empty net after the Bruins had pulled goalie Bernie Parent for a sixth skater in the final seconds.

Mrs. Patrick Butler, St. Paul, Minn., and Uncle Max, owned and ridden by Neal Shapiro of Glen Head, N.Y. Unouchable will be under the direction of Kathy Kusner, who won the international individual title here last year. This year she will compete in open classes only.

The hunter classes will be headed by the national champion in that division, Islide, a bay mare owned by Cismont Manor Farm, Keswick, Va. Islide won the $1,500 hunter stake here last year.

In the international jumping, Mexico will send as its lone representative Gerardo Rod-iguez, a sports car enthusiast as well as a top rider. He captained the Mexican team here two years ago.

For the Chileans, it will be their first visit here since 1957.

"We were indeed fortunate to receive entries from such high caliber teams," said C. George Deubel, president of the Penn National. "The United States should have an extremely strong team here if our showing on the European circuit is an indication."

"Ireland always does well and Canada has many good riders. The Chileans, with their daring riders, were big favorites here in 1956 and 1957. They did extremely well in 1956."

Although the Penn National does not officially open until Saturday, competition in children's classes will be held on Friday. The show continues through Oct. 22.

Giants Release Veteran Lefty; Burgess Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Veteran left-handed pitcher Billy Henry has been released by the San Francisco Giants, who said he would get a chance to get back on the roster when spring training opens in February.

CHICAGO (AP) — Smokey Burgess, who holds the major league pinch hit record of 136 hits, was given his unconditional release by the Chicago White Sox.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jerry Lynch, who swatted a record 17 pinch hit homers, was put on waivers by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets asked waivers on veterans Roy McMillan and Bob Friend.

MSU 11 Alone in State

By the Associated Press column, leaving just Central Michigan and Wayne State without victories.

The list of undefeated college football teams in Michigan dwindled to one — top-ranked Michigan State — as Albion and Hillsdale fell last weekend.

Michigan State beat rival Albion 20-7. But Northeast Missouri State defeated Hillsdale 26-13 and Ohio Wesleyan crushed Albion 34-6. Eastern Michigan and Alma finally moved into the victory column, leaving just Central Michigan and Wayne State without victories.

Wayne, idle last weekend, is 0-2 and Central 0-5.

Football Briefs

Purdue Sharpens Passing

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest Football Briefs: Purdue — Quarterback Bob Griese worked out with Purdue receivers including his No. 1 target, Jim Bernie. Passing has been 60 per cent of the Boilermaker offense this season.

Northwestern — Defensive back Phil Clark will have the job of covering Wisconsin's top receiver, end Tom McCauley. Safety man Tom Garretson will miss the Badger contest because of a pinched nerve in the neck. Wisconsin — Chuck Burt worked at quarterback as the Badgers sought offensive wrinkles to throw at Northwestern. Practice is secret at Wisconsin and Coach Milt Bruhn is expected to start sophomore John Ryan at quarterback.

Illinois — Special attention was paid to Illinois' pass defense in an effort to halt Indiana's Frank Stavroff. Stavroff has an amazing record of 56 completions in 83 attempts for a .674 percentage.

Indiana — The Hoosiers concentrated on individual assignments in preparation for Illinois because Coach Johnny Pont figures the Illini do a great job on capitalizing on defensive mistakes.

Minnesota — McKinley Boston was back as starting left tackle after being demoted the previous week. Halfback Dick Peterson has a sprained ankle and is doubtful for the Iowa game.

Ohio State — Coach Woody Hayes said his Ohio State club is in the "best shape it has been all season, for Saturday's game with No. 1 ranked Michigan State. First-team quarterback Bill Long, hurt in last Saturday's loss to Illinois, went full speed and Hayes said the first offensive and defensive unit is now intact.

Iowa — Despite three consecutive defeats this season Coach Ray Nagel of Iowa said the Hawkeyes still are in high spirits. He said this was apparent in a stiff long workout for Saturday's game at Minnesota. Nagel said Iowa has a good chance of beating the Gophers.

Self-Drive Cars to Be Available by Year 2000

LANSING (AP)—If you want to ride around in automobiles that guide themselves, make your fortune by the year 2000.

The Michigan Highway Department reported Tuesday that a few such cars probably will be in operation by then, but not many.

And they'll be expensive, the department's engineers said.

But don't let that superautomation fool you.

The department said the non-driving driver will have to grab the wheel every 300 miles or so, anyway, to avoid an emergency.

Road Job Starts

LANSING (AP)—Workmen have begun a $500,000 modernization project on M30 from Brown City west to Burnside on M53 in Lapeer County, the Highway Commission said Tuesday. Completion is scheduled for next October.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Jim says: "Here is an example of the Bath coup, as used by the late Milton Work in his lectures."

Oswald: "It is a classic example. South has nothing to gain by taking the first spade."

JACOBY: "If he does, he may still make three no-trump but probably will not."

Jim: "If he ducks the first spade West will still be on lead. Mr. Work pointed out that West would be end-played at trick two inasmuch as he would lose a trick irrespective of which suit he led."

Oswald: "The hand is rather complicated for a column. There are plays in all four suits. If West does lead a spade at trick two South will lead a heart to dummy and lose a diamond finesse. West will lead a third spade to set up two spade tricks for himself. South will be able to take the club finesse for his ninth trick but may try some sort of a heart end play and go down."

Jim: "If West shifts to a club at trick two he will give South a third club for his ninth trick. Similarly a low heart lead will give South a third heart trick. I will always wonder what would happen to South if West led the queen of hearts at trick two."

Oswald: "Milton never considered that play. It was just too much to assume the leader of queen from that holding."

Today there are many players who would make that very play and if they did I fear that any declarer would win with the ace, lead a heart back toward dummy for a finesse and lose to the jack of hearts whereupon East

He Points With Pride to Record

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (U)—William Jennings Bryan, the golden-voiced orator of the early 1900s, probably was the first political campaign by record player, according to actual records submitted to Pennsylvania State University.

A steelworker from Beaver Falls, Pa., Earl R. Johnston, has produced three historic cylindrical wax records, apparently made by Bryan in 1907 for the 1908 presidential campaign, in which he was defeated by William Howard Taft.

The gramophone records were among the first brought by his father after getting an Edison "talking machine" for a birthday gift in 1907.

The university, which links the records to present day spot political commercials on radio and television, will make tape recordings for use in both its political science and speech courses.

Ax Responsible

The colonists' mastery of the broad ax brought about the architectural transition in colonial America from Indian-type shelter to log cabins, say building historians.

Antibiotics' Danger Cited

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Antibiotics can be dangerous to man when used in animal feeds.

Discovery of hazardous residues of penicillin and other antibiotics in meat, poultry and fish more than a year ago triggered an investigation of the dangers to humans by a committee appointed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

At least 16 antibiotics have been approved for veterinary and nonmedical use for 10 to 15 years.

Nevertheless, the possible dangers to man from use of the drugs in animal feed have now prompted FDA to call together representatives of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Public Health Service, the Department of Interior and interested non-governmental researchers to study the problem.

"We believe we will have come to some conclusions by the end of six months," Dr. William W. Wright, deputy director of FDA's division of antibiotics and insulin certification, and executive secretary of the committee, told Science Service. "At least we will know what to do about labeling of these products."

Not Without Cost

VIENNA (U)—An effort by Vienna city fathers to keep the streets clean will result in a 20 to 40 schilling fine (90 cents to $1.80) for persons dropping cigarette butts and other waste paper.

First reports that police will slap fines for dropping a single cigarette butt and burnt-out matches were denied by city officials, though.

THREE COLORS

Snappin' crisp, with the tang of a seaside breeze!

This is the "inside story" of Quality. Good things like these pictured above go into Kroger Saltines—before we dress them up in our shiny new carton!

New Kroger Saltines: guaranteed fine as the best and cost you less

Because the Kroger bakers roll 'em so thin, our Kroger Saltines whiz through the oven in just minutes. So none of the flavor gets baked out—and all of the crispness gets locked in! Seconds later, the crackers are stacked one by one and heat-sealed in separate sleeves of moisture-proof film. Four stacks to a carton. No wonder Kroger Saltines carry oven-fresh aroma right through to your table! No wonder they stay snappin' crisp from first nibble to last handful. A soupbowl never had such fresh companions! And did you know that there are up to 17 extra Kroger Saltines per pound? Ever since we gave up baking fat crackers!

Fall Is the Time to Start Eating Eggplant

From the Market Basket

of Janet Odell

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
Eggplant is popular as a fashion color as well as a food this year. Eggplants are always one of the more decorative vegetables.

Botanists tell us that eggplant and tomatoes belong to the same family. Come to think about it, they do look somewhat alike when you slice them open; and you eat the seeds of both.

Buy eggplant that is firm and free from blemishes. Avoid any that look shriveled; you want one that is heavy. There are only about 100 calories in each pound of eggplant. What you add to it raises the calorie count.

In Europe and Asia eggplant is usually cooked whole. You can bake it in foil, cut it in half then stuff it and finish the cooking. You can bread it, and deep fry it. Or you can use it in a casserole.

This first one suggests simmering eggplant slices in beer before adding the rest of the ingredients.

CASSEROLE ITALIAN

1 medium eggplant, peeled and sliced
1 cup beer or ale
1 garlic clove
½ pound sliced ham
½ pound Provolone or Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
Slice 1 medium eggplant slices in beer with garlic clove in covered skillet for about 10 minutes. Remove cooked eggplant; reserving liquid. Place eggplant alternately with ham and cheese slices in 1-quart casserole.

Blend flour and butter until well blended. Add milk and salt to juices in pan; slowly stir in flour-butter mixture, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened and smooth. Remove garlic clove.

Pour sauces over ingredients in casserole. Bake in 350 degree) oven 20 minutes or until sauce is bubbly. Yield: 4 servings.

Stuffed eggplant has long been a favorite dish. A simple ground beef and rice mixture is good for either eggplant or green peppers.

STUFFED EGGPLANT

2 medium-sized eggplants
¼ cup oil
1½ pounds ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper—optional
¼ clove garlic chopped
1½ teaspoons Tabasco
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Slice eggplants in half; scoop out some of the insides and chop. Heat oil in skillet. Add eggplant pieces, beef, onion, pepper, garlic, Tabasco, salt; saute until eggplant is lightly browned. Toss in rice to blend all ingredients.

Stuff eggplant halves with filling. Place stuffed halves, skin down, in greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes. Remove from oven, sprinkle with lemon juice and serve. Yield: 4

A more unusual way of preparing stuffed eggplant is given in the following recipe:

CURRIED STUFFED EGGPLANT

1 large eggplant (about 1½ pounds)
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms
1½ teaspoons curry powder
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup ground cooked lamb
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

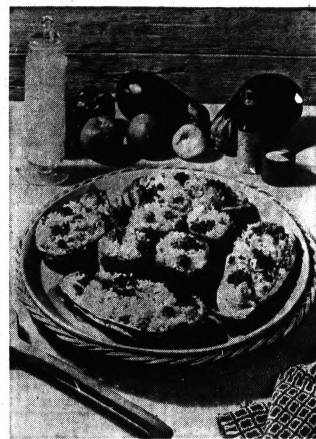

1 teaspoon salt
Toasted sesame seed for garnish
Fresh parsley for garnish
Wash eggplant. Prick in foil and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes or until partially done. Cut in half and remove pulp to within ½-inch of the skin, being careful not to cut skin. Chop pulp and place in a mixing bowl.

Saute onions, mushrooms and curry powder 2 to 3 minutes in butter or margarine. Add to eggplant pulp. Add lamb, bread crumbs and seasonings. Mix well.

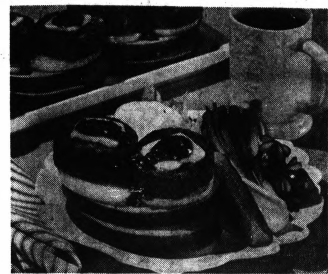

Spoon mixture into eggplant shells. Place halves in a close-fitting baking dish close together so they hold their shape.

Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 minutes or until browned. Garnish with toasted sesame seed and fresh parsley.

NOTE: To toast sesame seed: Place sesame seeds in a shallow pan and put into a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 to 22 minutes, stirring once or twice to toast uniformly.

SANDWICH PLEASER—Corned Beef Hash and Cheese Burger on rye bread is a scrumptious, hot and hearty sandwich—perfect for quick and easy lunches and snacks.

Corned Beef Hash Is Filler for Sandwich

Everybody loves corned beef hash! But when hot and hearty Corned Beef Hash and Cheese Burgers are served, the whole family will line up for seconds.

To make these flavor winners, broil slices of canned corned beef hash until they're crispy brown. Top with cheese and heat until the cheese softens temptingly.

Cover slice of rye bread with two broiled onion slices and two hash-cheese patties. Spoon on a dab of a tasty catsup-pickle relish mixture, and you've really got a special sandwich.

Serve Corned Beef Hash and Cheese Burgers to the lunch crowd or the hungry howling team. They're delicious and hearty for a Saturday family luncheon, too!

Canned corned beef hash is a life-saver. It heats in a flash, is no work to fix and is economical.

Popular Banana Bread Has Variety

We really don't know who made the first banana quick breads . . . couldn't have been before the mid-19th century (when baking powder was "invented") and probably not until the 1870s (when the first "commercial" cargo of bananas arrived from the tropics).

But how these delicious easy-bake delights have covered the country, and in infinite variation! In her recent travels across the United States and Canada, Chiquita Banana discovered that practically everybody has a favorite recipe for a with tangy dried apricots and baked banana bread, or muffin, or biscuit.

There are plain breads, the banana's sunny flavor enhanced with a bit of orange juice, banana-nut breads, breads made with molasses or honey; there are breads with added regional fruits — Banana Cranberry Bread, for instance.

And as for flavorings, they run the gamut, too . . . from honey cinnamon and nutmeg to the more exotic cardamom and ginger.

Two new recipes are herewith presented . . . the bread sparked with tangy dried apricots and the crunch of walnuts, and biscuits with a switch . . . the ba-na's not in the batter, but in the filling.

Banana-Apricot Quick Bread
2 cups packaged biscuit mix
1 cup quick rolled oats
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup chopped dried apricots*
1 large ripe banana, mashed
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup milk

Combine dry ingredients and mix well. Stir in walnuts and apricots. Blend banana, egg, lemon juice and milk. Add to dry ingredients all at once and stir vigorously until thoroughly mixed, about 30 seconds.

Turn mixture into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 1 hour or until done. Place pan on rack and cool 15 minutes before removing loaf. Do not cut until thoroughly cold. Makes 1 loaf.

Other dried fruits such as raisins, chopped prunes, etc., may be used.

Banana Filled Biscuits

2 cups all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup salad oil
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons dairy sour cream
1 large banana, diced
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Stir dry ingredients together. Combine but do not blend together, oil, milk and sour cream in a measuring cup. Pour all at once over dry ingredients. Use fork to mix into a soft dough. Round up into a ball and turn onto a piece of waxed paper. Knead lightly a FEW TIMES, until smooth.

Place a sheet of waxed paper on top of dough and roll out about ¼-inch thick. Combine diced banana, sugar, lemon juice in a bowl, spread at once over one-half the surface of the rolled dough. Fold over remainder of dough to cover fruit, replace waxed paper and roll lightly once or twice to press together.

Use a sharp knife to cut dough into squares and place on an ungreased baking tin. Bake about 12 minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees) until crisp and browned. Makes about 16 medium-size biscuits.

Three Layers Form a Good Dessert

Gingered apple delight is a dessert that can be made ahead of time or just before serving. Combine 1 (3½-ounce) package of instant vanilla pudding mix with 1½ cups of cold milk as package label directs. Set aside. Mix 2 cups of canned apple sauce with ½ cup of light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon of cinnamon, ½ teaspoon of nutmeg and ¼ teaspoon of ground cloves.

Spoon apple sauce mixture into 6 individual dessert dishes. Top each with 3 gingersnaps and cover them with the pudding.

Peaches Bake With Chicken

Chicken and fruit are old friends, and Baked Chicken with Peaches is as delicious as it is simple to prepare. The National Broiler Council points out that this spectacular casserole bakes in less than an hour.

Baked Chicken With Peaches
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound) cling peach halves
¼ teaspoon each, cinnamon and nutmeg

Place chicken in a shallow baking dish. Combine flour and salt; sprinkle over chicken. Dot with butter. Bake uncovered in 375-degree oven for 30 minutes. Place peach halves around chicken. Spoon ¼ cup peach syrup over chicken and peaches, sprinkle with spices. Bake 20 minutes longer. Yield: 4 servings.

BANANA QUICK BREADS—Practically everybody has a favorite recipe for baked banana bread, or muffin, or biscuits. Here are two new recipes . . . the bread sparked with tangy dried apricots and the crunch of walnuts, and biscuits with a switch — the banana's not in the batter, but in the filling.

Melt Chocolate in Heated Pan

"Is This Pan Necessary?" might have been the title for a recent research project to determine if it is essential to use a double boiler when melting chocolate. The Nestle Test Kitchen people were concerned about this question because some people don't have double boilers.

New, young cooks who probably have the greatest interest in making good things with chocolate may be least likely to have a double boiler when they set up housekeeping.

You may have noted that many recipes call for melting chocolate in a double boiler over hot water. The Nestle people, who make those delicious morsels of semi-sweet chocolate, tried another method and found it perfectly satisfactory. It doesn't require a double boiler at all. Here is what you do:

Preheat a heavy pan for a few minutes on top of range. Take it off the range and pour in a 6-ounce or 12-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Stir the chocolate, and you will find that the heat retained in the heavy pan will melt the little morsels to just the right consistency.

Young testers who tried this method liked it very much, and vowed that they would never bother with a double boiler again for melting chocolate.

A note of caution: Inexperienced cooks should be careful not to set the hot pan down on a counter-top. Set an asbestos pad down first, and then the pan on top of that. Also, to avoid risk of burning, don't leave the pan while preheating it.

For a quick Creole Sauce to serve with meat loaf, add sautéed onion and green pepper to canned tomato sauce and heat.

SWISS TORTE — Beautiful yet beautifully easy to make is this Americanized version of a Swiss torte that combines creamy chocolate and almonds on the side and preserves on top and between the layers. The torte starts with a white cake mix and adds extra flavor and richness.

Try to Eat Wisely at Any Age

EAST LANSING — Start now to plan for later years — this applies to many of life's problems, including nutrition and health.

But with nutrition, you can sometimes overcome early neglect. Dr. Portia Morris, foods and nutrition specialist with the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, says that the human body can repair itself even if it has been deprived for a period.

For a person in good health, a mixed diet gives the nutrients he needs without making it necessary for him to buy expensive mineral and vitamin supplements.

Watch the calories. Older people need fewer calories because they generally use less energy. A 55 to 75-year-old woman needs an average of 1,600 calories. This is about the same as a four-year-old child.

Dr. Morris urges older people to be sure they get adequate calcium, Vitamin C and protein. Studies show, she says, that older people have a tendency to decrease these important protective foods and eat more cereal.

Part of maintaining a nutritionally adequate diet is enjoying your food, she adds.

Since younger body tissues contain more water than older tissues, Dr. Morris' final suggestion is that older people consume more fluids.

Jam Fills Cake Frosted With Chocolate

When it comes to concocting rich tortes, the Swiss have a way with them. And when it comes to satisfying the American sweet tooth, a Swiss torte can't be beat.

The torte we have in mind is a three-layer cake that combines a creamy chocolate frosting on the sides with preserves on top and between the layers.

The Swiss start by creaming butter for the torte, but this new recipe does it the easy way by using a white cake mix and adding cinnamon and vegetable oil for extra flavor and richness.

The torte is baked in three layers, cooled, and each layer spread with preserves — apricot, peach, raspberry, strawberry, or your favorite flavor and color.

Around the sides goes a creamy but uncooked chocolate frosting that's also spooned around the top edge to form a decorative ridge. Toasted almonds pressed into the chocolate add the finishing touch.

Swiss Torte

1 package (1 lb. 2 1/2 oz.) white cake mix

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

3 tablespoons cooking oil

Water (amount given on cake mix package)

Egg whites (amount given on mix package)

1 jar (12 oz.) thick apricot, peach, raspberry, strawberry, or favorite preserves

2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened

chocolate

1/2 cup butter or margarine

2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

3 tablespoons milk

1 teaspoon vanilla

Dash salt

1/2 cup sliced or slivered almonds, toasted

Combine cake mix and cinnamon in mixing bowl. Add oil, water, and egg whites and mix as directed on package label.

Pour batter into three 8 or 9-inch greased layer pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until done, about 20 minutes.

Cool.

Spread 1/2 cup of preserves over each cake layer. Stack layers; chill.

Combine chocolate and butter or margarine; melt over very low heat. Cool. Combine chocolate mixture, confectioners' sugar, milk, vanilla, and salt; stir until smooth and the desired spreading consistency.

Set aside 1/2 cup frosting for decorating top edge of cake.

Spread remaining frosting over sides of cake. Spoon reserved frosting around edge of top layer or put it through a rose tip of a pastry tube.

Press almonds into frosting on sides of cake; chill. Yield: One 9-inch torte.

Herbs Add Touch of Italy to Meat

A hot, hearty snack is just the thing for many fall occasions. We're really looking for something to satisfy our energy needs. Italian cheeseburgers are just the thing for the gang after the game.

In a bowl, lightly mix 1 pound ground beef, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon each of garlic salt and basil leaves, 1/4 teaspoon oregano and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Shape into 6 patties and broil until desired doneness.

Top each patty with a slice of Mozzarella cheese and broil just until the cheese begins to melt. Serve on buns. Add a glass of milk and you have a hearty, energy-giving snack.
