Hoffa Blocks Challenge by AFL-CIO Insurgents

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—International Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has won a two-to-one victory over the AFL-CIO in a key representation election—one of the stiffest challenges to his leadership in the nation's largest union.

The official count in the National Labor Relations Board election was 4,893 for the Teamsters and 2,550 for an insurgent group known as the "Voice of the Teamsters," which had the public support of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

At stake in the four-day election which ended Sunday night was the right to represent 8,200 over-the-road truckers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, members of four Teamsters locals.

A jubilant Hoffa, in Philadelphia for much of the past 15 weeks directing his campaign, received the news of his victory by thrusting two fingers downward. "The Voice down," he said. "Down the Voice."

"The figures are tremendous," he continued. "It proves once again that the truckers will not be fooled by Meany or any tricks of the Voice."

AFL-CIO regional representative William Kirchner, present as an adviser to the Voice, commented, "When the president of the Teamsters takes 15 weeks to squeeze out a 2-1 victory in the heart of his union, he's in the trouble. These fellows the Voice struck the first real blow to clean up the union."

VOICE SHOCKED
Voice Chairman Charles Meyer expressed shock at the outcome of the election.

Kirchner said that Hoffa had made "the greatest array of promises ever seen in a campaign."

"If Mr. Hoffa makes good on 50 per cent of his promises the efforts of the Voice will have been well worthwhile in developing more responsiveness and democracy in the Teamsters."

In a previous representation election last November, the Teamsters won by 596 votes of 7,144 cast. That election was set aside by the National Labor Relations Board because of alleged violence in the campaign.

Meyer said the second election was a fair one.

The four locals which have chosen to retain Teamsters representation are Locals 107 and 470 of Philadelphia, Local 312 of Chester, Pa., and Local 331 of Atlantic City, N.J.

Local 107 is the fourth largest in the 1.5-million member Teamsters Union, with a membership of about 11,000.

Dems Doubt Recount Fund Will Hit Goal

$25,000 Would Cover New Tally Expense on Constitution Vote

LANSING (UPI)—The financially pinched State Democratic party began having doubts today it will be able to afford recounting the April 1 election that saw Michigan's new constitution adopted by a 7,829-vote margin.

State Democratic Chairman Zolton A. Ferency admitted contributions to finance the recount have been slow in coming in "and if we don't get sufficient funds I would strongly recommend that we abandon the recount. I don't think anybody is interested in just wasting time and money."

Through today, the party has received only $4,700 and more than $25,000 would be needed to finance a full recount of the state's 5,209 precincts.

State law demands a $5 deposit for each precinct recounted.

"The money collected would buy about 900 precincts and I'm meeting with Auditor General Billis S. Farnum tonight to find out our minimum program should be," Ferency said.

"Farnum has been working to make up a list of selected precincts. I don't know how many it would be, but it would be more than 900."

"We do expect to get more money in and we haven't given up hope," Ferency said.

In an interview, Ferency said, "When the Board of Canvassers certifies the election, we will then be faced with an irrevocable deadline. We'll have 48 hours to decide if we have enough money for a worthwhile recount."

A noticeable absentee from the list of contributors is the state AFL-CIO.

Ferency said he did not think the labor organization would make any substantial contribution, but in Cleveland, August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, said it was still possible "we would make at least some contribution to cover the expense."

U.S. Declines Post on OAS Commission

WASHINGTON — The United States has declined representation on the fact-finding commission the Organization of American States (OAS) plans to send to Haiti, an OAS official reported today.

OAS Council President Gonzalo Facio of Costa Rica last night named the United States as one of five nations making up the group to investigate charges by the Dominican Republic that Haiti is endangering hemispheric security.

Facio said today he understood the United States declined an OAS request to serve on the mission because the Haitian government feels the United States is not impartial toward the government of President Francois Duvalier.

U.S. officials said that Haitian-American relations are delicate, therefore it would not be proper for the United States to participate in the mission.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White was asked why the United States had withdrawn from the committee of five.

White said that the United States in fact had not withdrawn because it had not agreed to serve.

When asked if the United States had been approached by the OAS to serve on the group, White said, "I have no information whether it was or was not."

OTHER MEMBERS

The four members chosen so far are Colombia, Chile, Ecuador and El Salvador. Facio said after a

Betancourt Promises Support Should Clash Erupt in Caribbean

From Our News Wires
Venezuela offered the Dominican Republic armed support today in its apparently imminent showdown with Haiti that threatened to flare into fighting between the two neighboring Caribbean island nations.

The Dominican Republic canceled troop leaves under a state of alert and threatened to take armed action against Haiti — including dispatch of gunboats to the capital of Port-au-Prince — unless Haitian troops left the Dominican embassy by 7 p.m. EST.

A report from the armed forces secretary in Santo Domingo said Dominican troops had started moving toward the Haitian border. It gave no details.

An armed clash has been threatening between the two neighbors of the Caribbean island of Hispaniola ever the Dominican Republic charged that Haitian troops invaded its embassy. Haiti broke diplomatic relations.

A Dominican foreign office spokesman in Santo Domingo said Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt had assured President Juan Bosch by telephone that his country would furnish the Dominican Republic any air and naval support it might need in the showdown.

Dominican Foreign Minister Andrew Freitas said the Dominican navy already has dispatched warships to waters off Haiti.

"The Dominican Republic will take whatever action is necessary to defend the national sovereignty," Freitas said.

U.S. officials expressed confidence the Haitian and Dominican governments, which have quarreled bitterly through the years, would accept the good offices of the Organization of American States (OAS) to patch up their differences.

Local Airport Busy

By DICK BUCK
Telegraph Editor

Name the fourth-busiest airport in Michigan. Then name the 18th-busiest airport in the north central United States. You name the nation's 100th-busiest airport. Unless you answered Pontiac Municipal Airport in each case, you were wrong.

This 438-acre piece of aeronautical real estate in Waterford Township has encountered varying shades of publicity in recent years.

Talk of its development as a major jet air terminal brought loud protests from nearby residents.

Its new terminal building and control tower put Pontiac on the map as an airline city a couple years back. But this airline faltered, and Pontiac's future as an air carrier stop is clouded.

County supervisors have looked upon Pontiac Municipal as second best, preferring instead to cast their aspirations for a major airfield toward the Allen Airport site in Orion Township.

Yet the city's airport has weathered these exterior storms unscathed and is keeping Pontiac on the aeronautical charts in a most efficient way.

Last year, there were 107,014 operations (take-offs and landings) at Pontiac Municipal. That's a gain of 9,614 over 1961. And the growth is expected to continue.

BUSIEST OUTSIDE DETROIT

The 1962 figure made Pontiac Municipal Michigan's busiest airport outside the immediate Detroit area. It trailed Detroit City, Detroit Metropolitan and Willow Run, in that order.

Candidates for Congress Confused Over Districting

By JIM DYGERT
Potential candidates for Congress from Michigan's new 19th Congressional District—destined for Oakland County—are more confused than ever today but they're ready to act fast when the confusion clears.

All they need to know is where in Oakland County the 19th District will be.

The final answer had been expected Saturday from the State Legislature, but a typographical error ruined Republican plans to complete the matter.

However, a plan did evolve from last week's rapidly changing events, that appears headed for final approval.

Republicans hope to have enough votes left to pass the plan in June when the legislature reconvenes.

The plan, which was approved Saturday by the State Senate and nearly by approval of the House, would put Pontiac and most of Oakland County in the new 19th District along with Livingston County.

REDUCED IN SIZE

Left in an 18th—reduced in size from its present encompassing of the entire county—would be the county's southeast corner: all cities and townships south of 20-Mile Road (South Boulevard) and east of Inland Road.

As the House was about to approve it, Rep. Joseph A. Gillis, D-Detroit, discovered that the bill had Bloomfield Township in both the 18th and the 19th.

Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Township, said today the intent was to keep Bloomfield Township in the 18th. It was a typographical error, Hogan said.

The House decided it could not approve the bill until it was corrected, and could not correct it without the Senate's approval.

So it was put over until June 4, when the legislature will return.

LATEST PLAN

The latest plan was drafted by Hogan and Gov. George Romney's legislative aide, Robert Danhof.

Hogan and Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, indicated today that Hogan's latest plan was the one that would be presented this week, the White House said today.

No News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will skip a news conference this week, the White House said today.

3 Tots Die in Southfield Fire

Three young sisters were killed in an early morning blaze yesterday that gutted the first floor of a two-story home in Southfield. Their parents and a 10-month-old infant were hospitalized.

The blaze started at 7 a.m. Sunday, trapping the three youngsters in an upstairs bedroom.

The 37-year-old father, Oraha Shouneyia, and his wife, Najiba, 27, were in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, today, recovering from injuries suffered in their frantic efforts to save the children.

The three girls, Carmen, 2, Ayne, 3, and Ayser, 4, died of smoke inhalation.

The suburban brick home caught fire while the Shouneyia family slept. A neighbor discovered the blaze. Neighbors helped Shouneyia rescue five other children.

Four of the children were coaxed to safety from atop an attached garage. Mrs. Shouneyia carried out the youngest girl, Vivian, 10 months, who is hospitalized for observation.

Ellen Shouneyia, 11, said later that young Ayne had awakened her and tugged her out of bed.

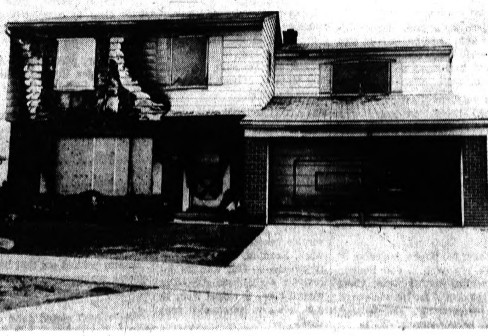

"Ayne saved us. She woke us all up," Ellen said.

Shouneyia, aided by neighbors, late. The three children were tried to reach the three girls but dead on arrival at William Beaumont was driven back by the flames from Hospital.

When Southfield firemen finally reached the bedroom, it was too late. She is in satisfactory condition, while Shouneyia is listed in "fair" condition.

Southfield firemen said they were unable to determine what started the blaze, but a cigar or cigarette is believed to have touched off the fire in the living room.

MIT Student Describes Bombing Run on Cuba Oil Field

Copyright, 1963, Boston Traveler
BOSTON (AP) — An adventurous Massachusetts Institute of Technology student and a daredevil pilot today admitted to the Traveler their part in last Thursday's bombing raid on a Cuban oil refinery near Havana.

The student, who is 21, called it an "almost terrifying experience" but said he would be willing to go again.

"I leaned back in my seat and prayed after we dropped the bombs," said the crew-cut third-year student. "Our plane zoomed out less than 100 feet above the ground.

"I felt sick at my stomach and I was wringing with sweat. I've never been as scared in my life."

Dressed in khakis and a white shirt, the soft-spoken youth, who lives in Back Bay, recounted details of the hair-raising raid.

CUBA TO PROTEST

The bombs reportedly did not explode, but the Cuban government said it would protest the incident to the United Nations and that it was holding the United States responsible.

The student and the pilot, also an American, said they did not want to be identified because they feared reprisals from the United States government. The student also said academic sanctions might be leveled against him by MIT.

The men were accompanied on the raid by Alexander I. Rorke Jr., flamboyant head of a group called the U.S. Freedom Fighters, and a prominent Cuban exile leader from Miami, who has not yet been identified.

The student said he provided "technical assistance" on the trip in preparing the five home-made bombs—four napalm fire bombs and a 100-pound high explosive.

"We had trouble with the fuses," he said. "We tried to work out a concussion-type cap for the big bomb, but didn't have any luck. A timed detonator didn't work either; we ended up using regular fuses."

The student said their twin-engine plane swept into Havana over the treetops—"we were about 100 feet above the ground"—and headed toward the Esso-Shell oil refinery, where a 100-foot tower spouts flame 24 hours a day. That was their beacon.

"My right wing nearly tipped the tower as we came in on our first run," the pilot said. "I wish we'd gotten a bomb down that thing."

SECOND PASS

"I wasn't scared particularly. I was too busy flying the plane to worry. After the first pass—we got the 100-pound bomb down—and one napalm—I made a 180-degree right turn, so I kept the refinery under my wingtip at all times."

"We made a second pass and then Rorke yelled, 'Let's get the hell out of here!' I yelled back, 'That's exactly what we're doing!' "When we hit the coast and were over the water again, I dropped back down to 50 feet and flew by altimeter at that height nearly all the way back to our base."

"We had to keep low to duck radar."

The pair said there was no interference from the ground—"not a shot"—and they saw none of Castro's planes.

The Cuban acted as a bombardier, the student related, and lit the 15-second fuses with his cigar.

He said he first met Rorke about a month ago after hearing him on a radio interview.

"I told him I was familiar with explosives and would like to help in some way if I could," he said.

"I think the United States is selling out Cuba. I don't want to criticize the White House or the Pentagon, but I disagree with them."

The student said that he did not consider the raid a failure, even though the bombs apparently failed to explode. He said it at least proved it was possible to fly in, reach a target, and get out safely, even in a small private plane.

Storms Blast Texas, Plains; Child Killed

By United Press International
Heavy thunderstorms, rain and hail pelted Texas, Nebraska and Kansas residents today trying to dig out from the aftermath of the worst tornado since the season.

Minor flooding was reported in eastern Kansas and north Texas.

A score of twisters plus 52-mile-per-hour winds swirled through the western plains yesterday, killing at least one person, injuring dozens and leaving one missing.

Fort Worth, Tex., where damage estimates soared as high as $1.5 million, bore the brunt of a howling wind and rainstorm. But the most tragic result of the tornado assault occurred near Auburn, Neb.

A black funnel cloud swept up a car containing Mrs. Fred Shilling, 37, Vandalia, Ill., and her eight children, hurled it through power lines along the highway near Auburn and bounced it along the ground, scattering the occupants at intervals of 400 to 500 feet.

One of the children, Diane, 14, died on an operating table at the Auburn hospital four hours after the mishap. The seven other children and Mrs. Shilling were in serious condition.

In Fort Worth, a flood watch was kept on lowlands of the Trinity River, swollen by the heavy rains. Flash flooding was forecast for creeks and arroyos in all of North Texas.

improved the situation in that Southeast Asian country.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman conferred over the luncheon table with Prime Minister MacMillan and Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath on the Laotian problem.

In a brief stopover in London, he gave the British a report on his conversation with Premier Khrushchev in Moscow over the weekend.

Harriman said Khrushchev seems in good health and apparently retains full control of the Soviet government.

Speaking to reporters at London Airport, Harriman scoffed at recent rumors that Khrushchev was preparing to step down either as the chief of the Soviet Communist party or as premier or both.

A full in the Laotian fighting went into its fourth day with neutralists and pro-Communists apparently biding their time during diplomatic negotiations.

The Communist-controlled Pathet Lao held fast to the territory it seized from the neutralists on the strategic Plaine des Jarres but made no advances.

TO RENEW TALKS

Leaders of the two factions were scheduled to meet again Tuesday to renew peace talks which have so far been unsuccessful. Pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong had demanded they be broadened to include such topics as neutralization of Vietnamese and not be limited to the Plaine des Jarres crisis.

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma has not indicated whether he would agree.

Souphanouvong charged that the United States had flown 500 Laotian right-wing troops to reinforce the neutralists. The U.S. Embassy and neutralist Gen. Kong Le denied this.

Illness Fatal to Author
WASHINGTON (AP) — Helen Todd, 50, author, died Saturday after a brief illness. Miss Todd's polio-in childhood, was born in biography of Ulysses S. Grant.

Speaker Defends Congress' Ethics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker John W. McCormack, who has served with thousands of them over the last 66 years, believes the ethical conduct of his fellow congressmen is "exceedingly high."

The veteran Boston Democrat, who succeeded the late Sam Rayburn as speaker of the House last year, came to the defense of the nation's lawmakers in an exclusive interview with UPI.

Discussing recent charges that some congressmen have abused their privileges, McCormack said that "occasionally, here and there, something might arise" which created an adverse impression.

But, he said, "The great majority of the members of Congress are dedicated men and women who are serving the people."

He added that Congress this year has taken steps to correct the "few abuses" which have brought on complaints.

In the interview, he also:

- Discussed the need for any drastic overhaul of the House machinery. But he said he favors a return to the "21-day rule," under which power of the Rules Committee once was curtailed.

The rule, in effect only in 1949-50, provided that any bill held up by the committee for more than three weeks could be forced to the floor for a vote.

- Defended the seniority system for selecting committee chairmen. "I'd like to have somebody make a suggestion to me on what you're going to put in place of it."

- Declared that congressmen should not use influence or pressure on behalf of their constituents. But said it would be a "sad day" for Democracy when a lawmaker could not help a constituent get a fair hearing before a government agency.

McCormack's comment on the 21-day rule came after he was asked about recent proposals that Congress, some way or another, should be "reformed."

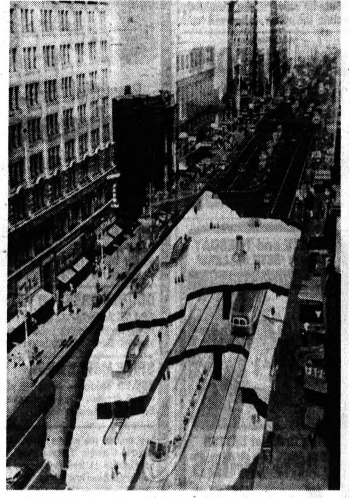

"The Rules of the House," he said, "are developed as the result of practice, experience. They are wise—but that does not mean there cannot be improvement."

Specifically, he cited the 21-day rule. If it were readopted, he said, he felt it would have a "very strengthening influence upon the rules of the House and in the ability to bring up bills where a rule cannot be obtained from the rules committee."

Two years ago, the House enlarged the conservative-dominated Rules Committee in order to try to make certain that more of President Kennedy's controversial bills would be moved out for a vote on the House floor.

McCormack said that even with the Rules Committee enlarged, he would like to see the 21-day rule adopted. But, he conceded, "in all frankness, I don't think the votes exist in this Congress."

Titan Missile Hits 4,000-Mile Target

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A mighty Titan 2 missile—the most powerful in the nation's arsenal—was right on target after a 4,000-mile flight over the Pacific Ocean, the Air Force says.

Officers described Saturday's launching as the first successful West Coast firing of the giant 100-foot missile from its underground silo.

The first test last February ended when the missile exploded less than a minute after launching.

How?

With your life insurance... and the help your agent is trained to give you!

YOU: You mean I had this security the moment I got my policy?

AGENT: What's that?

YOU: Well, suppose there were no such thing as life insurance. You'd still want to provide financial security for your family, wouldn't you?

AGENT: Exactly. That's one of the unique advantages of life insurance.

YOU: Naturally.

AGENT: Then think how much you would have to save—even to attempt this. Think how long it would take to save the amount you needed.

Pontiac Twp. Board

Submits $166,000 Budget

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The Township Board today submitted a $166,000 annual budget and a request for funds to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

It also received word of approval of an $18,276 federal grant application for urban planning in the area.

Although the budget was not brought up at Saturday's annual meeting, the board has informally agreed upon $166,000

AREA NEWS

In expenditures for the next fiscal year.

Estimated revenue for next year is $162,000.

total disbursement of $153,600 for the township's last fiscal year, which ended on March 31.

Total revenue for the year was $165,000.

On May 13 the county's tax allocation board will decide what percentage of the total 15-mill tax county levy it will allow for township expenses.

"The proposed budget is about the same as last year's all the way down the line," commented Clayton L. Lovelace today. Lovelace is assistant to the township supervisor, Leroy Davis.

One change in the budget is the amount allotted to the salaries of township officials.

At Saturday's two-hour township meeting, adjourned from March 30, the 35 residents attending voted to hike the salaries of the supervisor, clerk, treasurer and the two fire dispatchers.

Davis will receive $7,600 next year, a $600 raise. The pay of both Clerk Mrs. Greta V. Block and Treasurer Mrs. Goldie B. Mailahn was also hiked $600, $5,500 to $6,100.

The township's two fire dispatchers received $300 boosts, from $2,500 to $2,800.

Voters at Saturday's session also okayed a substantial raise in trustees' salaries. The new scale calls for a $250 flat rate for the year plus $25 for each meeting.

Last year township trustees received $17.50 for each session they attended and no yearly wage.

In other business at the annual meeting residents voted to place the question of abolishing the session on a regular election ballot.

Lovelace said that the decision will probably be made in the November election.

Davis said that the $18,276 federal grant was requested to aid the township with its share of the cost involved in work of the Avon, Rochester, Pontiac Township Regional Planning Commission.

The grant will cover approximately three-quarters of the township's cost of planning activities for the next two years. Total expenditures for the community is estimated at $24,237.

Seeks Return to School Board

Mrs. C. E. Scully Eyes 2nd Walled Lake Term

WALLED LAKE—Mrs. Charles E. Scully, completing her first term on the board of education for the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools, has announced that she will seek re-election.

Julian Beals, the other member whose term is about to expire, said his name will not be on the ballot because he is moving from the community.

When they cast their ballots June 10, voters will use machines for the first time in a school election here.

Precincts have been altered and their number increased from five to six. Polling places are at Walled Lake Junior High School, Union Lake Elementary School, Commerce Elementary School, Wixom Elementary School, Walled Lake High School and Twin Beach Elementary School.

Second question on the ballot concerns the transfer of $859 from the 1951 debt fund to the operating fund. The sum was left over when the debt was retired. Board candidates must file petitions at the board of education office, 615 N. Pontiac Trail, by 5 p.m. May 10. The petitions, which can be obtained at the office, require the signatures of at least 50 qualified school electors.

Nary a Clue to Whereabouts of Four Escaped Convicts

JACKSON (UPI) — Not since the days of the fabled Willie Sutton, one of the most notorious prison escape artists, have four men vanished so completely after an escape.

The four desperate convicts, three of them serving life terms, escaped from the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson without a trace and without anyone seeing them.

It was the cleanest getaway in the history of the world's largest walled prison.

State police said today they had no clues as to the whereabouts of the four prisoners who made the escape from the maximum security block of the prison.

The quartet, described as "highly dangerous" is made up of: James J. Hall, 40, Battle Creek, serving life for murder; Robert L. Gipson, 39, Chelsea, also serving life for murder; Richard E. Mauch, 40, Lansing, sentenced to life for attempted murder; and Elmer J. Crachy, 35, Chicago, serving 20-30 years as a habitual criminal.

Crachy was believed to be the mastermind of the break-out.

One state police trooper said, "We haven't even got the usual two or three tips a day in the past couple of days."

The escape led to the suspen sion of four prison guards on duty the time of the escape and the early retirement of Charles F. Cahill, deputy warden in charge of security at the prison. Cahill's retirement is effective June 2.

The fugitives worked out an elaborate escape. They sawed and drilled their way through their cell bars, dropped to a grassy area in the yard, made their way across the yard and sawed through a fence.

At first, prison officials thought only one man had escaped.

But several hours later dummies were discovered in the beds of the other three convicts and a general alarm was issued.

"It's almost certain now," a state police sergeant said, "that they had outside help. Otherwise they couldn't have eluded the dragnet this long."

The fugitives are now being sought by the FBI on the premise that they crossed state lines to avoid capture.

Southfield Gets Bids on Center

Contract to Be Let on Portion of Project

SOUTHFIELD—Plans for a $7-million civic center here will move forward tonight with the letting of a contract for the first phase of construction.

Bids for $1 million worth of bonds for construction are to be opened.

The low construction bid of $1,882,000 submitted by Durin and Armstrong Inc. of Detroit is expected to be accepted by the council.

Plans call for the building of the center to be spread over four five-year phases.

Construction of the first stage, to begin immediately, will include the city hall, parks and recreation building and library.

The civic center is to be located on a 166-acre site at 10½ Mile Road and Evergreen.

Five public hearings on rezoning and dust control are also on tonight's council agenda.

Mayor S. James Clarkson will seek the council's approval of four appointments.

It Seems to Me....

Economic Pain, World Woes Give Russia Big Headache

Russia has her problems. Laos is just as big a headache in the Kremlin as she is in the District of Columbia. Further, interior developments aren't particularly rosy.

The past winter was just as severe proportionately in Russia as it was here. That means it actually was much worse over vast stretches. Further, it lingered far beyond the usual dates and spring planting was dangerously delayed.

In addition, the industrial program is lagging. The first quarter did not produce totals sufficient to meet the demand. Iron and steel are dragging perceptibly.

Soviet land has run out of "five-year plans." These were the repeated programs which leaders announced to set forth their intentions. They failed time and again. Now they're readying a "two-year plan" for 1964 and 1965. Russia's economy is staggering along in the fifth year of the current "seven-year plan," which terminates in 1965.

Apparently, the last two years will be shelved and a new schedule substituted. Hope has to be eternal in the Russian breast.

Russia's expenditures on military matters and space research are staggering.

Her economy has been strained to the bursting point and the entire nation's productivity is woefully short of carrying expenditures.

Frankly, Russia's "in a mess." Farm production for 1962 was barely a whisker in advance of 1958. By now the Russian leaders had planned on gigantic strides forward.

These haven't materialized.

Red China is a painful thorn in Asiatic flesh. If the Russians live up to the Geneva agreement, she'll be on the side of the United States in promoting peace.

That's an unwelcome prospect. On the other hand, if KHRUSHCHEV lets the Red Chinese run unchecked, they'll be digging in deeply along huge stretches of valuable and productive farm lands.

It's a tough problem. K isn't happy.

'Rocky' Blunders....

Gov. NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER addressed 1,500 of America's leading newspaper executives Thursday in New York. He did very little to advance the burning ROCKEFELLER cause.

"Rocky" is a red-hot candidate for the GOP's presidential nomination, and here was a self-made springboard that he couldn't have bettered, if he had been permitted to select the listeners himself. The Governor goofed.

There was nothing inspirational, arousing or challenging in his remarks and the bulk of the audience expressed disappointment as the meeting broke up.

Gov. ROCKEFELLER is a very able man and he still stands as the most conspicuous GOP candidate.

But he missed a big opportunity.

And quite incidentally, all the New York newspapers are buzzing openly about Mrs. MURPHY. Her divorce is complete and friends and foes alike anticipate a quiet marriage soon. Whether this will damage his chances for a presidential bid is something only the future can tell. He may escape unscathed. Or he may hear the strident voice of disapproval.

Taxpayers Score....

One FRANK CAMPENNI has been drawing a $14,500 salary from the taxpayers while "working" for Sen. WILLIAM PROXMIER. The challenging tidbit lies in the fact that FRANK is attending the University of Wisconsin.

Wisconsin newspapers printed this interesting anomaly and the mail began pouring in. It continued and finally the Senator surrendered.

Frank's off the payroll.

Furthermore, PROXMIER is repaying the Government the $9,000 CAMPENNI has drawn. Taxpayers, be ye of good cheer. Your letters DO count and they ARE read and they PRODUCE RESULTS.

And in Conclusion...

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Three cheers and sugar cookies to ROSEMARY VERNIER, Mrs. REX RANSOM and RICK LAVOIE for coming up with the word that has all the vowels in order: "facetiously." And sugar cookies they will receive.

About 400 feet is the current depth to which submarines can dive. Navy men are anxious to reach 20,000. At this depth the water exerts 8,800 pounds of pressure per square inch, so the problem is titanic.

By 1970, needle-nosed airplanes that fly 2,000 miles an hour will be in commercial service. Britain and France are joined in a venture that runs $450 million.

I can't prove it, but I'll bet a sugar cookie you didn't know that Mickey Mantle picks Rocky Colavito as the probable home run champion of 1963.

Don Campbell, who holds the world's speed record on water (260 miles an hour), plans an assault this summer on the land record of 394 miles an hour.

New York City is planning a redevelopment of its West Side and plans to spend $670 million. That's urban renewal on the ultimate level.

They tell me it isn't cruel to debar a dog. It's done under anesthetic and is painless. Neighbors cheer for hundreds of feet in all directions. The misguided hound continues to go through the motions, but the neighbors are spared. I have a candidate.

I might risk another sugar cookie today with the belief you never knew that a German girl grew to eight feet, four inches and died at 17. The tallest on record today lives in Louisiana and is eight feet two.

Overheard: "We don't have to fear any invasion. We have the best-armed and the biggest number of juvenile delinquents in the whole world."

Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: The C's—MITCHELL MILLER for singing those two corksing Michigan songs; the J's—them pigeons.

Yoga For The Multitudes

David Lawrence Discusses:

Nikita, a Machiavellian Master

WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev is a smart politician. If he had been born and raised in Britain or France or the United States, he might well have won high office by election.

He knows how to evade some issues and capitalize on others. He knows the art of deception in politics, and is one of the most skillful practitioners of "managed news" in the world today.

So it isn't surprising to read that the Soviet demagogue now is applying to himself an old rule of politics: "Never wear out your welcome — don't wait till you are thrown out. Beat them to the punch."

Mr. Khrushchev has made the first move. He points out, in a speech to his party, that he is 69 years old and can't "hold on for all time" the position he now has "in the party and the state."

He doesn't indicate whether he might give up his post as Soviet premier or as first secretary of the Communist party.

Ambitions will be stirred in the Kremlin by the news of prospective change. The men on their way up will look enviously at the high posts that would become vacant.

For certainly promotion will come from within the present government circle.

In a sense, however, the change in the premiership will be a test of strength. If Nikita Khrushchev is really not as popular inside the Soviet Union as the outside world has been led to believe, the decision to shift posts could really be a shrewd move to deliver its bomb. Our risk as a base country is infinitely greater as a result.

"We need greater strength here. We need to belong to NATO or, that failing, a closer and stronger tie with the United States."

U.S. military and other aid to Spain has fallen to almost nothing in the past few years, compared to the great benefits that came to Spain during the building of the air bases at Terceira, Moron and Saragossa, the Navy base at Rota, the laying of fuel pipelines across the country and the construction of roads.

Anti-Communist Spain now ranks just below Communist Yugoslavia on the list of American benefactors.

The Spanish-American defense arrangement, signed early in the Eisenhower administration over strong protests from liberal quarters, has worked out better than any similar deal on the books.

A dangerous geographical gap in the containment of Soviet aggression was sealed off. The free world's armed forces were beefed up by the tactic, dedicated land army under military dictatorship and highly disciplined.

Spain's crack tactical airmen have put up with such fighters as the obsolete P-86, while airmen of perhaps less dedicated nations receive our superior jets.

Each base has two commanders, Spanish and American. Only

Common Market formula, is beginning to achieve — in the domain of economic prosperity. So the Soviet leader, who has turned many somersaults — including his denunciation of Stalin, his bosom friend of yesteryears — may be on the way out of two jobs, though probably for a while he will cling to one.

Maybe if conditions get worse, he will be retired before long from the second one, too. For Joseph Stalin once made a significant remark to a skeptical

Bob Considine Says:

Spain Considering Terms for Renewed Defense Pact

MADRID — Spain shortly will spell out her terms for renewal of the ten-year-old defense pact with the U.S.

Notice that renegotiation clauses would be debated as served to Washington in January. The "other shoe" is about to drop.

"Spain will seek a more realistic contract," Mr. Manuel Fraga Iribarne, Generalissimo Franco's chief information officer, told us.

"When the pact was made in 1953 it was agreed by both sides that the presence of three air bases and a naval base would be sufficient.

"Russia had nuclear weapons at that time but no suitable means of delivering them to Spanish or other targets. Now it can deliver its bomb. Our risk as a base country is infinitely greater as a result.

"We need greater strength here. We need to belong to NATO or, that failing, a closer and stronger tie with the United States."

American — the late Harry Hopkins — who had arched his eyebrows in disbelief when the Soviet chief said he also had to be mindful of public opinion. Stalin retorted: "Oh, yes, we have our public opinion, too."

In the Soviet Union today, 210 million people can use any man or group of men at any moment they decide to exercise their concerted will. And Mr. Khrushchev recognizes a political current even before it reaches the proportions of a tidal wave.

'Can't Push the Teachers'

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—"School board members are learning the hard way that teachers can no longer be taken for granted, can no longer be pushed around," an Arizona educator said today.

Fred Daniel R. Davies of the University of Arizona added, "If school boards and teachers don't learn how to work together, we will get into an era of jungle warfare of the type that industrial labor and management once went through."

Davies spoke in an interview at the annual meeting of the National School Boards Association. NSBA delegates are frankly worried that the determination of teachers to have more voice in decisions about their salaries and conditions is a threat to local control of education.

The situation in Utah, Davies said, is a case where "each side has gone almost too far for there to be any hope of friendly agreement being reached."

When I look upon your hair, dear... As the sunlight on it gleams... Instantly appears the rapture... Of a host of lovely dreams... And my thoughts begin to wander... Into years now far away... When my heart was young and carefree... In a golden summer day... And there will be recollections... Of the perfume in the breeze... From the flowers in your garden... And the pine among the trees... And I also shall remember... Sparkling stars upon the skies... When beneath the dusky heaven... They reflected in your eyes... Oh, when sunshine will be gleaming... On your haunting wavy hair... In my heart will be the picture... Of the day dreams evermore. (Copyright 1963)

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Monday, April 29, the 119th day of 1963 with 246 more to follow.

The moon is approaching first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1862, New Orleans, gateway to the Mississippi River and once a stronghold of the Confederacy, fell to Union forces.

In 1913, Gideon Sundback of Hoken, N.J., was granted a patent for the "zipper."

In 1945, American soldiers liberated 32,000 Nazi prisoners at Dachau, the oldest and worst of the Nazi concentration camps.

In 1945, the bodies of Italian dictator Mussolini and his companions, executed by partisans the day before, were hung in a public square of Milan.

A thought for today — English poet Alfred Tennyson said: "In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love."

Lack of Funds?

The Nashville Banner

Annually, the United States shovels out millions of dollars in foreign aid, most of strictly on a no-strings-attached gift basis. Yet the Federal Aviation Agency reports inadequate radar and incomplete modernization of air traffic control methods, coupled with pilot error, are the chief reasons why airplanes have nearly collided in the air.

Research, money and training to alleviate the weaknesses in the Air Traffic Control (ATC) system, the experts maintain. If this known lack exists because of lack of funds, it would be hard to justify, certainly, the United States Government an effort to "aid" itself and its citizens by making money available to update ATC procedures and equipment.

This report came after an investigation into the near tragedy in which an Air Force plane narrowly rammed a commercial airliner. The alert pilot of the passenger ship veered sharply to avoid collision.

As for pilot error, the flying business cannot afford to have reckless personnel at the controls either in a commercial or military craft. Pilots who make mistakes and survive should be permanently grounded.

Price Tag for Frisco Rapid Transit System Hits $996 Million

By LEIF ERICKSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The traffic-clogged San Francisco Bay area is the first metropolitan region ever to vote general obligation bonds to finance a completely new rail rapid transit system.

The $792-million issue to be repaid by property taxes in San Francisco, Alameda, and Contra Costa counties is the largest bond issue ever voted.

The state legislature has allocated another $133 million from bridge tolls for a four-mile transit tube under San Francisco Bay, linking Oakland and San Francisco.

Another $71 million in revenue bonds will buy rolling stock and equipment for the 75-mile system. The $996 million price is huge. Voters in the district's three counties decided it was worth it to try to solve the plaguing problem of increasing motor traffic congestion.

The billion-dollar price will provide electric trains able to travel at 70-mile-an-hour top speed and to move 30,000 passengers an hour on each track. Trains will be available every 90 seconds at peak periods, to serve an area population of 2.6 million.

The system will be double-tracked, with one set of rails outbound and one set inbound.

Fares will range from 25 cents to $1. Commuters will ride on credit cards.

If Congress votes federal aid for metropolitan transit projects, the system could be completed in 1968.

Without federal aid the project could be completed by 1972.

Metropolitan regions around the world are watching the San Francisco project closely to see how effectively it may overcome the threat of economic strangulation.

Many major cities have studied transit plans and have bogged at the massive costs. None outside the San Francisco region has been willing to commit payment of rapid transit costs with general obligation bonds.

The voters' verdict on the bonds last November was just 1.2 percent over the required 60 percent majority. A special act of the state legislature had fixed the bond vote requirement at 60 percent. The State Constitution prescribes a two-thirds vote for most other public bonds.

The project took 12 years of planning and ardent campaigning to reach the stage of voter-authorized start on construction.

A final roadblock remains. This is a taxpayers' court suit seeking to invalidate the bond issue election. Whatever decision Superior Court Judge Martin E. Roth-berg may hand down in the case, both sides declare an appeal will be carried to the California State Supreme Court, which could rule before the end of 1963.

David Birenbaum, attorney for the challenging taxpayers, is attacking the project on two key issues.

He contends what he called the "superbly effective promotion and public relations job" by the district's staff in the bond election campaign violated state laws limiting public agencies to "producing information, not a sale promotion."

Birenbaum also challenges as illegal a cost plus contract with a joint venture group for the project's engineering design and construction supervision.

Adrien J. Falk, president of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District, confidently predicts a court victory to clear the way for the first bonds.

Rapid district officers estimate the tax load will peak at 67 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in 1971 and decrease thereafter.

The present costs for the same commuter driving alone across the bay bridge amounts to about $850 a year.

The project's backers bank on cost savings like this for fast and frequent service by subway into the downtown centers of San Francisco and Oakland to pull commuters and shoppers out of their automobiles.

San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher predicts modern rapid transit will bring to the bay area "the biggest economic boom since the gold rush days."

Astronaut Glenn discusses a down-to-earth problem

Colonel Glenn has stated that the success of his orbital flight depended as much on his physical and mental fitness as it did on modern technology. Consequently, he has made this appeal: "I call on all parents to provide for their children the proper physical education that shows vigorous activity." Is your child's school doing that Colonel Glenn recommends? Many of our schools aren't. As a result, about one-third of our youngsters can't pass minimum physical achievement tests. Make sure that the school your youngster attends has an adequate fitness program. Talk to your school officials. If you would like more information, write to The President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D.C.

President's Death Drapes Celebration

Israel Mourns on Anniversary, Under Arab Shadows

By ELIAV SIMON
JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—The State of Israel became 15 years old today, still threatened by the surrounding Arab nations which tried to conquer it in the first hours of its existence.
There will be no celebrations of the anniversary this year.
Because of the death last week of President Itzhak Ben-Zvi, receptions will be called off and soldiers will march under flags draped in black.
Israel actually became a nation May 14, 1948, when the British ended their Palestine mandate, but the date is reckoned according to the Hebrew calendar and falls on April 29 this year.
There has been no serious war-tanks and several hundred jet fighters and bombers.

ISRAEL ARMY STRONG
Israel's army is strong and well-equipped and has defeated Arab forces twice — the first time when they attacked within hours after the British withdrew in 1948, and the second time in Sinai.
But the constantly increasing cost of the military machine is holding back badly-needed development projects.
Finance Minister Levi Eshkol has said that Israel would be self-supporting by now if it did not have these defense costs.
As it is, it depends on contributions from abroad and reparations from Germany to make up its trade deficit. Someone once said one Jew out of every six in the world lives in Israel — supported by the other five.

But reparations will end in the next few years, and if Israel is to be self-supporting by 1970 as officials hope, defense costs will have to remain stable.
Recent developments in the Arab world, however, make this seem unlikely.
If the Israeli man on the street is troubled by the size of the surrounding Arab armies, he is more alarmed by the rocket program being directed by German scientists in Cairo.
U. A. R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser already has boasted his missiles can reach "any place south of Beirut" — a clear reference to Israel.
Premier David Ben Gurion and his cabinet, it is understood, do not rule out the possibility of an Egyptian atomic bomb.
Moshe Dayan, one-eyed former chief of staff and present minister of agriculture, believes that Israel should exert all forms of pressure "to prevent German and other foreign scientists from collaborating with these Egyptian 'development' enterprises."
Israel's defense policy is based on the assumption that Nasser will not attack if he has a chance of losing.
Thus it seeks to build its deterrent strength, knowing if it falls behind the Arabs, it will be lost.

Gunmen Steal Contents of Safety Deposit Boxes

MONTREAL (AP) — Two gunmen escaped with the contents of 50 safety deposit boxes from a branch of the Canadian Imperial

Bank of Commerce Sunday after overpowering manager John Best. There was no immediate estimate of the amount stolen.
Best said the well-dressed robbers tied him up and took two hours to rifle the boxes.

Blaze Hits Boardwalk in New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fire raged through the tinder-dry boardwalk at Coney Island last night and destroyed a three-block section of the famous Atlantic Ocean resort.

Officials said the fire, fanned by ocean breezes, started in the center of the Coney Island amusement section. It destroyed a dozen concession stands, two bath-houses and a tavern.

The nine-alarm blaze started in a closed pizzeria and quickly spread through the wooden frame buildings. For a time, it threatened Steeplechase Amusement Park, a complex of rides which includes a huge roller coaster and a parachute jump.

The fire department said nine alarms were sounded, mostly as a precaution and because of the threat to many surrounding frame residences.

Only one injury was reported, a fireman had his eye damaged. Brooklyn firemen, aided by 10 companies from Manhattan, battled the fire for an hour and 40 minutes. Several fire boats were called into action, and one "hose" of the Brooklyn-Battery Tunnel was cleared to permit equipment to race from Manhattan.

The amusement park has not yet opened for the summer season. But the fire brought out thousands of spectators.

West Awaiting K's Ban Reply

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stille said today the United States and Britain are "earnestly awaiting a favorable reply" from Soviet Premier Khrushchev to their latest proposals to break the nuclear test ban treaty deadlock.

Stille told the 17-nation disarmament conference a solution to the deadlock required "but a simple effort from the Soviet Union."

"The United States firmly believes the advantages (of a test ban treaty) far outweighs the risks, provided there is real and reasonable assurance that all testing has in fact ceased," he said.

Stille gave no details of the western proposals submitted to Premier Khrushchev in Moscow April 24.

The new initiative, he said, "reflects the genuine interest of the government and people of the United States in a nuclear test ban treaty."

Rusk En Route to Treaty Group Mideast Meeting

TEHRAN, Iran—Secretary of State Dean Rusk left for Karachi today to attend the 11th Ministerial Council Session of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) opening tomorrow.

During his 22-hour stay here, Rusk had discussions with the Shah, Premier Assadullah Alam and foreign minister Abbas Aram.

He told newsmen he had had "most pleasant and profitable" talks with Iranian leaders and had reviewed international and Middle Eastern affairs with the Shah.

Famed Cellist Reports $6,000 Jewel Theft

Nine Killed in Traffic on Michigan Weekend

By The Associated Press
Highway accidents in Michigan during the weekend killed nine persons.
Another seven died in fires, by drowning and in miscellaneous accidents, state police reported today.

The Associated Press tabulation of weekend deaths began at 6 p.m. Monday and ended at midnight yesterday.

The victims:
Traffic:
Debra Sorenson, 8, of Muskegon, died yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday when she ran into the path of a car near her home.

Killed in a fiery three-car collision near Grand Haven Saturday night were Wayne Dirkes, 22, of Holland; Steve Holland, 44, of Muskegon; Phyllis Gerbrecht, 17, and Cherida McWilliams, 16, both of Holland.

Police said a car driven by Dirkes struck a car in which the other victims were riding and which was being towed by another vehicle. Officers said flames enveloped the wreckage.

Lawrence Snorton, 50, of Detroit, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a car in Detroit.

Benjamin Collins, 48, of Detroit, was killed Saturday night when his car went out of control on a curve and struck a utility pole at a Detroit intersection.

James A. Ward, 13, of Utica, was killed Saturday when he rode his bicycle into the path of a car near his home.

Drownings:
Mrs. Ann Sims, 40, of Ypsilanti, drowned yesterday when the boat in which she was a passenger overturned in Ford Lake, three miles southeast of Ypsilanti.

Miscellaneous:

Ayer Shouneyia, 4, and two of her sisters, Ayme, 3, and Carmen, 2, died in a fire in their Southfield home yesterday.

Southfield fire department officials said the girls were found in their parents' bedroom and were apparently overcome by smoke.

Floyd Martin Kemp, 68, died of apparent asphyxiation yesterday when fire gutted the living room of his Ypsilanti home.

A Marlette man, Ernest Dunsford, 51, apparently suffocated Saturday after he was pinned to the ground by a tree. Police said Dunsford cut a supporting branch on a fallen tree causing the tree to fall across his chest.

Arthur Haner, 17, of rural Freeland, was killed Saturday when a tree felled by a companion toppled across a tractor driven by Haner and hit him on the head.

Nigeria Will Join the Commonwealth

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa announced today that Nigeria will become a republic within the British Commonwealth next October on the country's third anniversary of independence.

Nigeria's first president will almost certainly be the present governor general, Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe, who has stood above politics since he was appointed late in 1960.

The exact form of the republican constitution — whether the President will be an executive head of state or a figurehead leader — is so far undecided.

Ionia Warden Named

IONIA (AP) — Lloyd Balderson has been named deputy warden at Ionia State Reformatory, succeeding Edward Calbut, who was appointed warden two weeks ago. Balderson had been assistant deputy warden at Ionia since 1958.

Belgian Prince Killed

NAMUR, Belgium (AP) — Prince Albert de Ligne, 51, a member of an old Belgian family, was killed Saturday in the smashup of a sports car in which he was riding.

Police halted the car Saturday and found a 12-year-old boy who told them he "wanted to go to you side (of a mountain) to see my grandmother."

Officers asked the youngster, whose head barely reached the steering wheel, how he saw to drive. "I stood up," he promptly replied.

Police Chief E. H. Weststead said the car had been stolen from a used car lot and he took the youngster, who was not identified, into custody.

Flashy Cow Fitted With New Choppers

TOMBSTONE, Ariz. (AP) — There's an 8-year-old cow down Tombstone way that can flash a shiny set of choppers with every moo. Dr. Charles Behney, a Bisbee, Ariz., veterinarian, fitted the cow with a set of stainless steel teeth Sunday in an effort to prove his claim that cows will be healthier, happier and more productive of calves if they have dentures to replace teeth worn down and decayed after years of grazing. The dentures cost $20 a set and are expected to last from three to five years. The experiment is being conducted on the Jack Duran ranch near here.

In Farmington

Couple Is Wed

Trinity Episcopal Church, Farmington, was the setting for the Saturday vows of Rebecca DeWitt to Thomas Richard Kershner.

Pink sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots comprised her bouquet.

Honor maid Charlotte Osmon and Kathrina DeWitt, her sister's bridesmaid, appeared in pale green dotted Swiss and carried cascades of pink geraniums.

Gaer Guerber was best man for the bridegroom, son of the Ralph Kershners of Tilbury Place. William Vasu and Anthony Hammer ushered with James Kershner and Laurence DeWitt, brothers of the bride couple.

The bride, an alumna of Kingswood School, Cranbrook and Stephens College, attended Oakland University where her husband received his degree.

After September, the couple will be at home in Cambridge, Mass., where Mr. Kershner will begin graduate studies at Harvard University.

She held a colonial arrangement of white carnations and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Frank Lowry, her sister's matron of honor, wore pink silk crepe and carried carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Margaret Palmer, Clarkston and Lucian Prudhomme of Pontiac, had his brother Frank for best man. Gary Palmer seated guests with Charles Young and Ronald LaBarge.

Encourage Eating With Right Hand

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My daughter is left-handed and I always set her place at table especially for her.

A: My husband thinks I am wrong to do this and says she should be made to eat with her right hand, and if we don't correct her she will find it a great handicap later on. I would very much like your advice on this matter.

A: She should be encouraged to try to use her right hand as much as she easily can, but she should not be forced into doing this.

However, setting her place at table specially for her is a mistake. She will find it very awkward when she sits at a table away from home where her place will be correctly set.

Q: Will you please tell me the correct forks to use in the setting of my table for the following menu. I will serve a crabmeat cocktail for an appetizer, the main course will consist of meat, vegetable and potato, then a tossed green salad followed by dessert and coffee.

A: I have two-pronged forks, salad forks and regular forks. Which fork is used for each course and where is it placed on the table?

A: The forks are placed at the left of the plate. The one on the outside, which is always the one to be used first, would be your two-pronged fork for the crabmeat; to the right of this you put your dinner fork for the meat, followed by the salad fork next to the plate.

Q: When a man and girl (not engaged) stop seeing each other, what should be done about presents that she received from him, such as a wrist watch and a portable radio.

A: They are to be returned? I have had several different opinions on this matter and would like to know what is correct.

A: These presents that were given to you as a friend, and not as a fiancée, need not be returned.

Q: I am a widow and have a 20-year-old son living at home. I received quite a few Easter cards from friends and not one of them included my son's name even though they all know him.

A: They do the same at Christmas. I feel my son is being slighted and that his name should also be included.

I would like your opinion.

A: If your friends know your son at all well, it would be polite to write a message on the card addressed to you, saying "Best Easter (or Christmas) wishes to John."

How and when to introduce people seems to puzzle many. The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Introductions," gives helpful information on this subject.

To obtain a copy send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Too Many Bears, Pigs

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My brother died three years ago and left his wife some stocks. She got into the habit of asking my advice on certain stocks.

I made it plain I was NOT advising her, only telling her what I was doing with mine. She followed my moves.

Like many others I sold some stocks I should have kept, and kept some stocks I should have sold.

Every morning this sister-in-law calls me up and needles me about some stock she sold a while back which is now going up—or some stock she held onto when it was going down.

I don't want to make an enemy of her, but I'd appreciate seeing this letter in print with your comments.

All she reads is your column and the stock market.

NEEDED DEAR NEEDED: Giving advice on the stock market is tricky and thankless. It's a beastly business—loaded with bears, bulls and pigs.

DEAR ABBY: When you go out with a boy, where should you draw the line?

ARTHRITIS AND THE WEATHER

Q: I am sure that my arthritis gets worse when the weather changes. My friends say it's all imagination. Can you prove I'm right?

A: We can try. Results of an experiment in which complete environmental control was possible show that variation in a single factor such as temperature, humidity, pressure or air flow, did not materially affect patients suffering from rheumatoid arthritis. But when two factors were altered, such as increasing humidity and decreasing barometric pressure, definite worsening of arthritic symptoms occurred. It can be concluded from this that weather changes may well induce flareup of arthritic symptoms.

GLANDULAR FEVER

Q: What causes glandular fever? Can it be spread from one person to another?

A: The causative agent of glandular fever (the medical name is "infectious mononucleosis") is not definitely known but it is thought to be a virus which is transmitted from person to person by intimate oral contact (kissing).

MRS. JAMES R. SPRAGUE

Candlelight Setting for Pair's Vows

Jody Ann Watson exchanged nuptial vows with James Russell Sprague in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in All Saints Episcopal Church.

She is the daughter of the Albert W. Watsons of Monticello and chose a gown of sequined white Chantilly lace and marquisette for her wedding. A Swedish coronet of seed pearls and crystals secured her short veil of illusion.

Lemon leaves encircled her semicascade bouquet of white roses, gladioli and lilies of the valley.

Attending the bride were Phyllis M. Newton, maid of honor, her niece Jilda Lin-genteller and Carol Nelson.

Gary L. Sprague assisted his brother as best man. They are the sons of Mrs. James Sprague of Crescent Boulevard and the late Mr. Sprague. The bride's nephew, Jon L. Blocher, and the bridegroom's cousin, Ronald F. Felix, seated the guests.

The U. S. has treaties with about 300 Indian nations or tribes.

Breathing Is Important

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When contemplating the importance of deep breathing, most folks think of inhalation only. Actually, there is more to deep breathing than just filling the lungs with air.

Exhalation is also extremely important in order to rid the lungs of stale air.

Carbon dioxide is the harmful by-product of breathing. Some of this lingers in the lungs after exhalation.

I read once about some deep-sea divers who suffered from too large a residue of carbon dioxide.

We should expel all the air we can from the lungs. We have placed so much emphasis on breathing in, that we have neglected the value of breathing out strongly.

Those who do hard labor usually discover out-breathing for themselves. For instance, a man experienced in chopping logs will most likely grunt at the end of each ax stroke.

This is audible evidence of complete exhalation. This increases the oxygen intake.

Here are two deep-breathing exercises which emphasize breathing out as well as breathing in:

1) Stand tall with your arms at your sides. Breathe in deeply and slowly, filling your lungs as you raise your arms sideward, shoulder height, palms facing forward.

Now lower the arms swiftly to the sides as you exhale vigorously with a big "huh." Squeeze as much of the air out of your lungs as possible. Continue.

2) Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor. Bend both knees and place the feet on the floor. Breathe in deeply. Hold for a few moments. Now expel the air with a series of small puffs.

If you would like to have my deep-breathing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 26, "The Fountain of Youth." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

BRENDA J. BRIDGER

Early August vows are planned by Brenda J. Bridger, daughter of the A. L. Bridgers of Taylor Road and Thomas E. Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cox of Lookout Drive.

JOANNE ELLEN HILLOCK

A May wedding is planned by Joanne Ellen Hillock, daughter of the Dennis R. Hillocks of Rochester, and Curtis Eugene Talley, son of the James C. Talleys, West Walton.

Lodge Plans Banquet

Welcom Rebekah Lodge No. 246 completed plans for the mother-daughter-son banquet May 13 in the Oakland Park Methodist Church. The women's auxiliary of the church will serve the dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Members of the Past Grands' Association will also meet May 13 in the Lakeview Street home of Mrs. Clarence Cavalier.

More than 100 members gathered for Thursday's meeting and were served refreshments by Mrs. Ted Sutton, Mrs. Randall B. Wilson, Mrs. Vernon F. McFarland and Mrs. Cavalier, who shared hostess honors.

His 'n' Her
Haircut Fad

His 'n' her haircuts are the feature of high class men's grooming salon in New York. Designer Norman Norrell started it by sending his models for the flat boyish haircuts he insists upon for his spring and summer "look."

The girls brought their girlfriends, also models, who brought their husbands for sort of look-alike hair cuts. The "hers" in their slick, side cut bobs look more like his than the "his" look like hers.

Paintings for Out-of-Doors

Something borrowed from the mores of the Pennsylvania Dutch: weatherproof outdoor paintings based on the authentic barn hex signs and other folk art.

Designed primarily for use on the outside of the home—on patio or porch or under roof of house or garage—the circular paintings are hand screened with waterproof paints on tempered hard-board.

Polly's Pointers

Way to See Toddlers

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—When I sit down to sew, I place my sewing machine in front of a good-sized mirror. That way I can always see where my toddlers are and what they are doing.—MRS. K. G. B.

DEAR POLLY—I used to just grin and bear it when lady dinner guests blotted their lipstick on my linen napkins. Now I have a solution to the problem.

Pour about a teaspoon or more of salad oil on each stain and rub the spot until the cloth is saturated through to the opposite side.

The oil seems to melt the lipstick and laundering takes out the oil. I apply the oil about five or 10 minutes before putting the napkins in the wash.—JERI

DEAR POLLY—Tie an empty spool to the string of your child's balloon. It makes it easier to carry, and the spool serves as a slight weight so the balloon does not get away so quickly.—MRS. M. S.

DEAR POLLY—Discarded or outgrown raincoats make good waterproof covers for the children's schoolbooks. Rather than covering each book separately, a large envelope could be made so that all books and papers could be put in it on rainy or snowy days.—J. J.

DEAR POLLY—I line the shelves of my medicine cabinet with strips of blotter. This absorbs spills and prevents the bottles from slipping off the shelves.—K. O.

CATALOGNew pep
husbands!

No wonder so many women complain that their husbands come home "too tired out to step out!" The churning tensions millions of men face on their jobs constantly drain them of the energy and vitality they might otherwise have.

That's why many doctors recommend supplementing the daily diet with Kretschmer Wheat Germ, nature's great "bounce-back" food. Made from the germinating heart of the wheat kernel, wheat germ is the most healthful food known, according to official U.S. Department of Agriculture studies of the nutritive values of foods.

Kretschmer Wheat Germ actually provides a total of 30 natural usually balanced nutrients essential to good health, vigor and stamina! In addition, it acts like a spark plug to help the body use other high-energy foods more fully.

Serve your husband this remarkable natural food every day for breakfast and see for yourself how much more zip and vitality he has!

Use these delicious, tiny toasted flakes as a cereal, on cereals, or add to pancakes and scrambled eggs.

Kretschmer Wheat Germ is great for the entire family, so be sure to get some. Look for it in vacuum-sealed glass jars in the cereal section of your food store. Choose either regular or Sugar 'N' Honey.

Schools Need This Service

Running a school system day to day is more than placing a teacher in front of a roomful of pupils. Someone has to provide the chairs, desks, and sometimes even the room.

This far-from-small task falls to three departments in the Pontiac school district. Operating out of the central offices at 40 Patterson St., these departments assure the daily operation of the district's 34 buildings.

Cloyd Houts, for example, heads the maintenance and operation department, which is a compact collection of eight smaller departments or shops.

Among other things these shops will paint junior high football helmets, repair cement walks and refinish desks. Although the work is assigned and coordinated out of the central offices, a great deal of repair work is done at the individual school buildings.

Like maintenance, supplies are necessary for the day-to-day operation of Pontiac institutions of learning. The purchasing and transportation department, under A. S. Levely, buys supplies—amount $1 million's worth a year.

The purchasing office not only buys pencils and paper for students but such things as pickled frogs for biology classes and typewriters for stenographers.

"From snow plows to seeds" is the motto Levely follows in processing some 6,000 purchase orders annually.

While the maintenance department makes sure all chairs have four legs on them, the purchasing office makes sure the chairs are there to begin with.

However, still a third department is necessary.

Vernon L. Schiller is the director of financial management for the Pontiac system. As the keeper of more than $9 million, Schiller is the pocketbook for all three departments.

HELLO THERE — Ralph Stanley of 3534 Frankman, Drayton Plains, discovers that unusual visitors come through the Pontiac school system's warehouse at 40 Patterson.

The warehouse is part of the school's purchasing department which distributes supplies to the system's 34 buildings.

FULL THROTTLE — Cutting grass at Winer Stadium is only one activity that keeps the five-man grounds crew hopping. However, the stadium serves as home base for the grounds crew. George Firman of 2214 Crane, Drayton Plains, is all set for the grass-cutting season.

AUTO REPAIRS — Buses, trucks and staff cars are serviced in the school system's own garage. The auto mechanics shop has two full-time employees for the school's fleet of vehicles. Wayne Madar of 3823 Mill Lake, Lake Orion, adjusts a carburetor in this photo.

WIRE TROUBLE — Dawsey Forbis of 4134 Baybrook, Waterford Township, unscrambles wiring in the electrical shop of the maintenance department. Full-time employees repair record players and movie projectors as well as perform other electrical chores throughout the system.

MAN IN THE IRON MASK — Welding is a common chore in the heating and ventilating shop. Foreman Don Dows of 1776 Eason, Waterford Township, demonstrates how it's done. Together with the plumbing, the maintenance work of the heating and ventilating shop is usually done at the individual schools, but bench work is also necessary.

GRID WORK — The paint shop handles both big and little assignments. One day Victor L. Smothers of 185 Cornell, Pontiac, may repaint football helmets for one of the system's junior high squads, and the next day he may tackle a desk, chair or even a room. The Pontiac School District employs ten men in the paint shop. The nearly three dozen buildings keep them busy.

WOOD HOSPITAL — Twisted legs, broken backs and marred seats make the carpentry shop sound like a hospital. Of course, the legs, backs and seats belong to chairs and desks that the carpenters repair daily. Foreman Man-

Austrian President Wins Resounding Victory for 2nd Term

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—President Adolf Schaefer of Austria will remain in office for a second six-year term after a resounding election victory.

Schafer, 73, a Socialist, defeated Conservative former Chancellor Julius Raab, 72, Sunday, 2,473,694 votes to 1,813,787.

Schafer's victory was attributed not only to his personal popularity but also to a prevalent feeling that a Socialist president would tend to balance the Conservative party's weight in the Conservative-Socialist coalition government. Conservative Chancellor Alfons Gorbach heads the government.

Former Head of Prison Dies

Was Jackson Warden During 1952 Riots

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Julian N. Frisbie, 68, warden at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson during a 1952 prison mutiny called one of America's worst prison riots, died of a heart attack yesterday in Oak Knoll Naval Hospital. He underwent surgery last week.

For five days, 176 rioting prisoners held 11 guards hostage in the Michigan uprising.

One prisoner was killed, 10 were wounded and $2.5-million damage was done to the prison, the largest wall institution in the United States.

Frisbie and Gov. G. Mennen Williams bowed to the prisoners' 11-point reform program, and the guards were freed.

Born in Springfield, Ill., Frisbie enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps in 1917. He saw service in Santo Domingo and Nicaragua and later was a member of the 1st Marine Division which landed at Guadalcanal in World War II.

His last military assignment was as warden of the naval prison at Portsmouth, N.H. He retired in 1948, a brigadier general and recipient of the Silver Star and the Navy Cross.

He then became warden at Southern Michigan Prison.

In 1957, he moved to Los Altos, Calif.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Osteoporosis... No Joke, but Also, No Killer

How strong are your bones? Throughout life our body tissues are being torn down and rebuilt. This is as true of bones as it is of muscles, nerves and blood vessels.

Whenever the tearing down process exceeds the rebuilding in bones, a condition known as osteoporosis exists.

Mild degrees of osteoporosis are seen in the X rays of more than half the women over 50, and more than half the men over 60. With mild osteoporosis there are no symptoms, but if the condition progresses there may be loss of height and a persistent backache.

This is because the process occurs almost exclusively in bones of the pelvis and spine.

Since there are many causes for osteoporosis (only a few of which will be mentioned here), a doctor must determine the type of the disease before he can treat it.

The commonest form is postmenopausal osteoporosis in women between 50 and 65 years of age.

This is essentially the same process as the osteoporosis of aging seen in both men and women who are over 65. It occurs as a result of the physiologic decrease in the internal secretion of sex hormones into the blood, but occurs at an earlier age and more abruptly in women.

In these elderly persons an inadequate intake of calcium is often an added factor in causing the condition.

When the disease is severe, one or more of the vertebrae may become so weak it collapses.

This results in a stooped appearance, and may or may not be painful.

There is apparently no relationship between severity of symptoms and the degree of osteoporosis seen on X ray and, in spite of the collapse of a vertebra, there is usually no damage to the spinal cord or spinal nerves.

ANOTHER FORM

Another form of osteoporosis that may occur in younger persons is due to inadequate protein intake. This was seen in concentration camps during the war.

Prolonged bed rest causes faulty protein metabolism, and may thus produce a similar type of osteoporosis, one of disuse.

Any normal movement, especially walking, stimulates bone formation and helps to prevent this form of the disease.

Another type unheard of until a few years ago is produced by prolonged treatment with cortisone and other steroid hormones.

This is one reason I keep stressing that these very valuable drugs should be used to tide you over an acute episode of an inflammatory disease, but never as a prolonged treatment for a chronic condition.

So if you suffer from osteoporosis, you may have to spend a few days in bed and your doctor may have to give you pain killers, but the sooner you can get up and walk about again, the better recovery you will make.

As a temporary measure you may have to wear some sort of back brace or orthopedic corset, but this should be discarded as soon as possible if you are to avoid the osteoporosis of disuse.

AVOID HEAVY LIFTING

You must avoid heavy lifting and you should sleep on a hard mattress with no sagging. If you use a thin mattress, place a bed board under it.

Calcium is usually given either in the diet or in tablet form. Women may get some benefit from taking female hormone, and men from taking male hormone.

There is some advantage in both men and women taking combined treatment with both types of hormone, but any treatment should be carefully supervised by your doctor.

Osteoporosis is no threat to life. Many persons who have had repeated attacks of vertebral collapse have lived to a ripe old age.

If you ask me how you are going to do this when you have four children to take care of, I can only agree that this does complicate your problem.

Creating a relaxed atmosphere is an art, and it can be achieved even with four children.

It is certainly worth striving for. In addition to this, you should cut down drastically on sweets and starches, and, above all, avoid laxatives.

Police Get 'Baloney' From Boy

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—He was only 3, but Phoenix police found him the toughest subject they had questioned in some time.

"What's your name, sonny?" asked the desk sergeant.

"Baloney!" declared the youngster.

"Aw c'mon," the sergeant pleaded. "What's your real name?"

"Baloney," was the reply.

Bribes didn't work. The boy ate a candy bar and refused to change his story.

Later a woman called, asking police to help find her lost son.

"What's his name, ma'am?" an officer asked.

"Baloney," replied the woman.

Mrs. Fred Daley of Phoenix explained that the boy's real name is Fred Daley Jr., but everyone calls him "Baloney."

House Rules Leader Claims He's Cooperating With Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: KENNEDY-CONGRESS: Rep. Howard W. Smith says the record proves his House Rules Committee has been cooperating with President Kennedy and moving administration bills to the floor for a vote.

"We have been clearing most of the bills as fast as they reach us, but we can't act on a minute's notice," the Virginia Democrat said in an interview.

Speaking of his legislative program, the President said at a news conference Wednesday, "the only thing that has ever concerned me is whether the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives will release it for a vote."

Smith said the committee has acted promptly on most legislation sent to it by other committees. Last week it sent to the floor—and to passage—two major administration measures, one dealing with feed grain controls and the other with federal aid for medical and dental schools.

Smith noted that many of the President's major proposals, such as federal aid for public schools, medical care for the elderly, tax reduction and revision and a civil rights program are being held up in other committees.

"We can't act on bills before they reach us," he commented.

BY PROCLAMATION: President Kennedy has asked Americans to unite in offering "a prayer for lasting peace" on Memorial Day.

Kennedy called for the prayer in a proclamation setting Thursday May 30 as the day to pay tribute to the nation's war dead. He designated 11 a.m. as the time for each locality to "invoke God's blessing on those who have died in defense of our country and pray for a world of freedom with peace and justice."

In another presidential proclamation, Sept. 17 was designated as Citizenship Day and the week beginning Sept. 17 as Constitution Week. The Constitution was signed Sept. 17, 1787.

NEAR MISS: The Navy has disclosed that only a last-minute warning over an underwater telephone prevented a possible collision of the nuclear submarine Skate and SeadrAGON in their historic rendezvous last summer at the North Pole.

The Skate had surfaced and the SeadrAGON was coming up right under it at a 90-degree angle when Skate lookouts spotted smoke floats—signals of surfacing. The Skate's skipper, Cmdr. Joseph L. Skog, Jr. of Seattle, spotted an underwater phone and shouted a warning to the SeadrAGON's skipper, Cmdr. Charles D. Sumner, of Nashville, Tenn. The SeadrAGON swung about and surfaced close to her sister ship. The SeadrAGON's executive officer was Lt. Cmdr. John W. Harvey, of Philadelphia. On April 10, his luck ran out. For Harvey, then skipper of the atomic submarine Thresher, was one of 129 men lost at sea when the craft vanished off Cape Cod. LAKES: Sen. Stuart Symington said the United States should consider, Symington said in a television interview, is bombing North Viet Nam if the Laotian Hanoi, capital of Communist South Viet Nam and in Laos, crisis is not settled peaceably.

One possible action that should be considered, Symington said in a television interview, is bombing their infiltrating in Cambodia, in

Pays Bridge Toll With Barrel of 22-Caliber Rifle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Golden Gate Bridge toll collector John McAllister reached out for the usual quarter yesterday but instead felt the cold steel of a 22-caliber rifle barrel.

"I'm your next bridge customer," announced the man in the automobile huffily. "And I'm not going to pay your toll."

The car roared off, but another customer saw the rifle being thrown on the roadway and took down the license number.

Highway patrolmen later identified the man with the gun as Donald F. Lorenzetti, 39, who was arrested and taken to the psychiatric ward of the general hospital in his home city of San Francisco.

Murder in the Living Room

Death Dean Expounds Theory

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Prof. Alfred Hitchcock, dean of murder at MCA University, delivered the lecture before a UCLA student audience at the presentation of the Samuel Goldwyn Creative Writing Awards.

His address was titled: "Two of the Fine Arts—Movies and Murder."

He offered important insight on the two subjects, in which Prof. Hitchcock is an acknowledged authority.

Before the address, the scholar declined to present his academic credentials.

"They are tattooed on me," he explained to this reporter.

Dr. Goldwyn, renowned for his advances in the use of the English language, told the packed audience in the UCLA Theater Arts auditorium of his respect for his colleague's scholarship.

"I respect him because he has made murder pay," said Goldwyn. "He has been at it for longer than the 30 years I have known him, and he has done all right by him. He looks well, and his bank account is very beautiful."

Prof. Hitchcock acknowledged the applause of the collegiates and began: "I am sure you are wondering why I am here speaking at a writing award—, who recently authored that appalling sentence, 'The Birds is Coming'."

ENRICH THE LANGUAGE

"Actually, I think it inspired my invitation here. You see, those four words demonstrated that I could join Mr. Goldwyn as one of the men who not only produce motion pictures but enrich the language as well."

The professor launched into his thesis: The decline in the art of murder.

"Like many other institutions,

Common goals in the growth and development of the six-county metropolitan area, including Oakland County, will be discussed at an all-day conference in Detroit's Cobo Hall next Monday.

Attending will be leaders in local government, industry, education, religion and community planners from all of the counties concerned.

Among the principal speakers will be George Weaver, federal administrator of the housing and home finance agency, and U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

These and others will analyze metropolitan goals in the physical, economic, social - cultural and governmental fields.

The conference has 42 sponsoring agencies, including the Detroit Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, Engineering Society of Detroit, The South-eastern Michigan Metropolitan Community Research Corp. and the Supervisors' Inter - County Committee.

Caro to Hear Romney

CARO (AP)—Gov. George Romney will be the principal speaker at dedication ceremonies for the new Caro Community Hospital May 7. The one-story building, which has 35 beds, cost more than $500,000 to build and equip.

murder is a victim of the 20th century," he said. "There are many causes for alarm, but I am particularly concerned with the decline of murder in the home."

"When I was young, respectable people committed murder in private, behind closed doors and among friends. It is a sad commentary on the decline of family ties that men will now leave hearth and home and commit acts of violence in places in which, in my day, no gentleman would have thought of going."

BACK TO LIVING ROOM

"As if that were not enough, they frequently murder people to whom they have not even been properly introduced."

"This is precisely why I entered television some eight years ago. I was determined to bring murder back into the living room, where it belongs. I would have entered television earlier, but I had to wait until the television screens became large enough to accommodate me."

"The engineers who accomplished that miracle have now turned their sights to an ever greater challenge. The possibility: the Jayne Mansfield hour."

"If you want to use violence, it is much better to use it in intimate shots," in discussing his own technique.

"The basic element in suspense is giving information to the audience but not to the characters."

Take 11 of 21 NY Awards

Drama, Musical Are Tops

NEW YORK (AP)—A stinging drama and a rowdy musical are the big winners in the American Theater Wing's annual Tony derby for outstanding Broadway achievement.

Between them, the pair made off with 11 of 21 silver medallions distributed at the Wing's annual dinner Sunday night.

The tune show, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," took six; the play, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" swept five.

SUPPORTING AWARDS

The Tonys for supporting players went to dramatic actor, Alan Arkin, of "Enter Laughing"; supporting dramatic actress, Sandy Dennis, "A Thousand Clowns"; musical actor, David Burns, "A Funny Thing"; supporting actress, Anna Quayle, "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off."

In addition to the prizes for the show itself, Mostel and Burns "A Funny Thing" earned citations for authors Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbart, producer Harold Prince and director George Abbott. It was Abbott's fifth medallion. Mostel, Burns and Miss Hagen each had won once previously.

The honors for "Virginia Woolf" were rounded out with trophies to director Alan Schneider, Producers Richard Barr and Clinton Wilson.

The play by Edward Albee last Thursday won the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award as the season's best.

It Was Only Thing to Do!

PASSAIC, N. J. (AP) — It's dawn and the barking of your dog has awakened you and you realize the house is on fire. What do you save?

Joanne Ippolito didn't have to think twice before making her decision yesterday. The 21-year-old girl grabbed her white gown, veil and shoes. Then she and her dog, Jingles, scooted from the burning apartment building here.

About 12 hours later, Joanne wore the rescued outfit to Holy Trinity Church, where she was married to John Kiernan of Passaic.

Local Anglers Not Boasting

Trout Weather Good, Results Poor

By DON VOEGEL
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

GRAYLING — "I probably could have caught more trout than I did," said Bob Allen of West Hartford, Conn., in the 36-hole fishing tournament which he won for the third time and second year in a row here Saturday.

The Morganton, N.C., lumberman revealed after his 7 and a half hour session that he had missed the North and South Amateur Championship which he won for the third time and second year in a row here Saturday.

Such a move was in his mind as he wrestled with the bitter disappointment that was his here last September after he lost in the semifinals of the U.S. Amateur to the eventual champion, Labron Harris Jr.

"I thought it might be a good time to quit," he said.

What changed his mind? An invitation to play on the four-man U.S. team to compete a month later in the world amateur championship matches in Japan was tendered and accepted the day after he lost to Harris.

Allen, unheralded hereabouts despite his fine New England record of the last decade, put together six victories to reach the final. This was quite an achievement for the 38-year-old salesman who had played seven rounds in five months before coming here.

Allen had a horrible start and was seven down to Patton after the first 18.

Walter Weber of Walled Lake had just finished trying the Rifle River above the M55 bridge when he said the trout fishing around Oakland County "would have been much better."

"It's been a nice weekend — a little cold in the morning — but it's just like any other opening day," he pointed out. "My boy used to catch all the trout he wanted under the Clinton River bridge below the Dixie."

"Those people who fished near home had the right idea," Ernest Dunn of Lake Orion fished the Au Sable at several places between 10-4 bridge and Mio.

"No one was catching anything to brag about," he reported. "I don't care whether I catch any. It's nice to get some now and then, but it's even nicer just being up here."

GOOD SPOT
One hot spot was Big Creek below Luzerne.

Several limit catches were made opening day, on Sunday afternoon, since flies began emerging on Big Creek and the dry fly anglers had good success.

The Au Sable below its junction with the South Branch was six inches above normal and slightly discolored. We're a fished behind splitters proved to be the first best combination.

The flies only section of the Au Sable below here was heavily fished. But the overall result was below average.

The pond in Luzerne produced seven browns from 18-25 inches Saturday morning. The success quickly tapered off, however, and Sunday's catch was almost nil.

Fishermen on the streams early Saturday and Sunday morning had to bundle up as the temperature hovered near freezing. Sunday was very nice with skies clear and the temperature reaching 70.

The overall fishing pressure seemed to be down slightly from former years.

UCLA Star Surpasses 9,000

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Breaking through the mythical 9,000 point ceiling, rangy C. K. Yang of UCLA today over the world decathlon record, one that seemed almost unbreakable for the past three years.

The 29-year-old co-captain of the UCLA track team, in a post-feature of the Mt. San Antonio Relays, scored a total of 8,121 points in the windup Sunday of the two-day, 10-event grand.

Erased from the books was the 8,683 points that the incomparable Rafer Johnson, himself a former UCLA track captain, set in Eugene, Ore., July 7-8, 1960.

TWO OTHER MARKS
Two other world marks were produced in the relays proper Saturday. New York's Al Oerter threw the discus 205 feet 5 1/4 in; breaking his own mark of 204 feet 10 1/4 in.

The crack four-man mile relay team from Arizona State University ran in 3 minutes, 45 seconds, breaking the 3:05.6 set by a U.S. national team here in 1960.

Yang, tired but happy, disclosed that he feels capable of amassing 9,500 points.

The climax came in the cozy Mt. San Antonio College Stadium, tucked away in the rolling San Joaquin Hills 30 miles east of Los Angeles.

Later it was revealed that Yang fought through the final two events, the javelin throw and the 1,500-meter run, with painful leg cramps.

"I had to take it easy in the 1,500," C. K. admitted.

Most of the drama was wrapped in the eighth and ninth events, the pole vault and the javelin.

Yang at the mid-way point Saturday trailed Johnson's score at that stage by 207 points.

TRAILED
After seven events midway Sunday Yang trailed by 411.

Then came the pole vault and Yang scaled 15 feet 10 1/4. This was worth 1,515 points and sent Yang in front of the Johnson total at that point.

Some 1,200 fans thrilled and then groaned when Yang tried 16-4 1/2, aiming at a world record. Just the day before in the Penn Relays Washington's sophomore Brian Sternberg hit 16-5.

Yang missed poorly on the first two tries, but on the third he barely nudged the bar off with his chest on the way down.

Next was the javelin throw, like the vault one of C. K.'s better events. He needed a mark of at least 212-10 1/4 to break Rafer's record total by one point.

Yang's first throw sailed an unofficial 221 feet. The next was about 228. The third, the only one officially measured, was 235-5 and added 1,940 points.

Coach Ducky Drake, who tutored both Johnson and Yang, tried to kid C. K. that he had to run 5 minutes in the 1,500 to break 9,000.

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Here is a comparison of Rafer Johnson's 1960 world record at Eugene, Ore., and C. K. Yang's performance at the 1963 Mt. San Antonio Relays.

Undetected Borderline Cases

Minor Study Faults Cause Major Failures

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
It's always the extremes that attract our attention.

While we have special classes for the deaf, blind, retarded and gifted students, we often neglect "borderline" cases. Many of these students could do much better work except for their tendency to lean on one bad study habit.

DR. NASON

The borderline cases go undetected by parents and teachers. Even the students themselves are unaware of their faulty procedures. If we are to up-grade education, there is no area with greater promise than locating habits which cause students a "little trouble."

Some of the faults we teachers and parents should be on the lookout for are poor eye-sight, poor control of attention, lack of facility in handwriting.

A math teacher I know made a special point of searching out students with slightly defective eye-sight.

TEST SUGGESTION

He placed test problems on the blackboard and when he returned the papers he suggested, "You students who made errors in copying from the blackboard should have you eyes tested. Maybe you need glasses or, perhaps you need to sit nearer the front of the room. It may help raise your grades and also save your eyes."

Each year several students reported to him that they and their parents were startled to find they needed glasses. With glasses, each student improved his grades.

Some students found their vision adequate. What they needed was better control of their attention. This too is a specific, small fault that needs correction.

Faculty learning habits are formed by even the brightest children. They can succeed in elementary school in spite of poor habits. Less able students need help in correcting these flaws even more urgently.

Here are some of the habits which bring failure to a few and retard the learning of many:

1. The student learns by ear. (Quick to learn as a small child, he gets by with cursory reading. Faced with college courses, he finds he never really learned to read.)

2. He does only what he is told to do and only the minimum needed to get by.

3. He learns only by reading. (And does not know how to listen.)

4. He hasn't practiced handwriting to the point where it is sufficiently automatic.

5. He postpones his task until the last minute.

6. He depends on memory rather than understanding.

7. He avoids pencil and paper. (This, too, is a fault of the bright child. He jumps to conclusions in the early grades, and doesn't learn the technique of step-by-step solution of problems.)

8. He is satisfied with superficial knowledge.

9. He accepts failure as a way of life. (The main reason many students fail is the feeling they can't do better.)

North and South vulnerable

One of the many components that go to make up a really top flight bridge player is that mysterious quality known as "feel of the table."

South ruffed the spade lead and studied the hand a while. Six clubs looked like a mighty easy contract. In fact, South wished that he had gone all the way to seven. Then he studied the hand a trifle more and wondered why his not-vulnerable opponents had let him buy the hand at six clubs.

Seven spades had to be a cheap save for them no matter how their hands divided and someone must have thought that he had defense. In that case all three clubs would be in one hand. If East held them, South could lead a club to the ace and pick them up. Should West hold them South would have to lose a club trick in any event.

OUR ANCESTORS

By QUINCY
East had invited a spade save when he jumped to four, but West let the hand play at six clubs. If anyone held three clubs it would be West.

Now South led his king of clubs and sure enough East showed out, but South had no trouble anyway. He played the ace and king of diamonds. West ruffed and led a second spade. South trumped in, led a club to dummy's ace and finessed against East's jack of diamonds.

News Service
Elects Officers

President-Editor and VP-Manager Named

NEW YORK (UPI)—Boyd Lewis has been elected president and editor of Newspaper Enterprise Association (NEA) and Meade Monroe vice president and general manager, it was announced today.

Lewis succeeds Herbert W. Walker of Cleveland, Ohio, who retired after serving NEA in executive capacities since 1925 and as president and general manager since 1958.

Monroe joined NEA in 1937

as managing editor and has been vice president and assistant general manager since 1959.

Lewis has been vice president and executive editor of NEA for

after World War II.

Previously, he had been with

United Press (UP) in various managerial posts for 18 years in Boston, New Haven, New York, Chicago and on the western

At the close of the war, he was European news manager for UP.

He was a front line war correspondent with the U.S., Canadian, British and French arms and was one of three U.S.

German surrender at Reims.

The new NEA president, whose home is in Pelham, N.Y., will continue to operate from editorial headquarters in New York.

Monroe, who will continue to make his home at NEA's Cleveland, Ohio base, has been active in researching and developing new feature services, processes and products for the benefit of the newspaper industry.

He also served for several years in managerial positions.

Wayne Knitting, who

you feel some changes should

dends? C.C.S.

A) I think some changes should be made — not necessarily to increase dividends but to give you a more secure position in retirement.

Curtiss-Wright should be sold,

since earnings and dividends have

dozen years.

Wayne Knitting has paid a $2.00

annual dividend for a decade, but coverage has been rather slim

and I advise sale.

The reduced $1.50 dividend paid

from Bethlehem Steel may hold,

but I suggest a cut in your hold-

Asian Student Teaches Broomfield

S. K. Law of Sarawak, in South-

East Asia, is both a student and a teacher.

For the last five months, Law has been a student of American government from the best possible vantage point for viewing

Washington, D. C.

During four of those months,

Law's headquarters have been

field, Oakland County's Republican, foreign-affairs-minded congressman.

It's in Broomfield's office that Law sometimes switches roles and becomes a teacher; and the congressman is the student.

"S. K. has been a terrific help on Southeast Asia," says Broomfield, who is ranking GOP mem-

of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Law is well versed in the history and politics of his native

area — Borneo, Malaya, Singapore and Sarawak.

Formerly an editor in Singapore and Malaya, Law worked in the Sarawak government's information office before coming to the United States last fall under a fellowship sponsored jointly by the American Political Science Association and the Asia Foundation.

By the time Law returns home in August, Sarawak, now a British colony, may be independent and part of a brand-new nation

along with North Borneo, Malaya,

NEW KNOWLEDGE

Law, the student, hopes to take back knowledge that will help him and others in guiding this new nation.

Law, the teacher, has briefed

Broomfield on the importance of this new federation as a bulwark against communism and

Law even helped Broomfield prepare a major speech for delivery in Congress this week.

Law was in Oakland County

last week to attend a birthday party for Broomfield. Friday, he toured the Pontiac Motor Division plant as the firm's official responded to his request to see an American auto plant.

Wayne Knitting, who

you feel some changes should

dends? C.C.S.

A) I think some changes should be made — not necessarily to increase dividends but to give you a more secure position in retirement.

Curtiss-Wright should be sold,

since earnings and dividends have

dozen years.

Wayne Knitting has paid a $2.00

annual dividend for a decade, but coverage has been rather slim

and I advise sale.

The reduced $1.50 dividend paid

from Bethlehem Steel may hold,

but I suggest a cut in your holdings to 200 shares.

Proceeds from these sales could be reinvested in better quality

stocks. For instance, 100 shares

each of Standard Oil of New Jersey, First Charter, Duquesne

Light, and Marine Midland.

I would hold Allied Stocks,

Chesapeake & Ohio, Coca-Cola, and Sunray.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all questions, please see his col-

Educational Radio Received NBC Help?

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission is prepared to investigate a $100,000 contribution by the National Broadcasting Co. (NBC) to educational television station WNDT here, the New York Times said today.

The newspaper quoted an FCC spokesman, saying the commission viewed with the "utmost seriousness" the question of whether the program policy of the noncommercial station might be the subject of an understanding with NBC, a commercial broadcasting firm.

NBC volunteered a statement today on the story by Times television writer Jack Gould.

The network said its contribution "was for the sole purpose of assisting the station (WNDT) in meeting its immediate financial requirements" and that "it involved no understanding or commitment with regard to the station's programming."

The Times said the FCC inquiry, which it termed the first of its kind, would seek to make certain that WNDT has not delegated its statutory obligation to be solely responsible for its program policy.

WNDT's license comes up for renewal in June.

The FCC, the Times went on, has been following the WNDT situation since April 17 when Variety, the weekly entertainment publication, indicated a possible "deal" in commercial stations' support of the local educational television outlet.

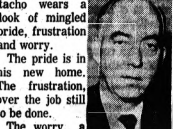

Samuel B. Gould, head of WNDT, called the Variety report "a lie."

Besides NBC, the city's five other commercial television outlets also have contributed financial aid to WNDT, including a $100,000 donation from the Columbia Broadcasting System.

UPI Foreign News Analyst BOGOTA, Colombia — In sprawling Ciudad de Techo, a half hour's bus ride from the center of Bogota, the brown face of Leopoldo Cristo wears a look of mingled pride, frustration and worry.

The pride is in his new home. The frustration, over the job still to be done.

The worry, a matter of simple arithmetic which tells him he cannot pay for it, despite low interest rates and payments of only $12 a month.

Nature endowed Colombia richly. It has lush agricultural lands still open only to the airplane or the jeep. It has minerals, gold, platinum, emeralds. Yet jungles remain to be explored.

But it also has an exploding population which increases at the rate of nearly three per cent per year and which threatens to outstrip its industrial gains.

An unskilled peasantry hoping to escape the banditry and poverty of the countryside crowds in upon the cities to the still greater poverty of the crowded shacks which crawl ankle up the mountain sides.

Unemployment is increasing and inflation has boosted the cost of living nearly 25 per cent in the last four and a half months.

More than 60 per cent of the people are illiterate.

GOVERNMENT GOOD WILL

In Bogota, Colombia's cloud-swept capital 8,500 feet high in the Andes Mountains, there is vast government, good will toward the United States and the idealism contained in the $20-billion Alliance for Progress program. And only a tugging impediment that the job cannot go fast.

Colombia hopes for a five per cent increase in gross national product annually over the next 10 years, and to help it the Alliance already has allocated to Colombia more than $100 million in aid.

But tax loopholes still permit the wealthy to avoid their taxes, and the inflationary spiral touched off by devaluation of the peso coupled with a general wage increase for city workers has hardened the small coffee grower, the man most in need of help.

From earlier hopes of a balanced budget, the government's position has deteriorated to the point where now a deficit of at least $100 million is anticipated.

The country's relative political stability as compared with the remainder of South America, and the fact that leftist forces are scattered and lack strong leadership.

Leopoldo Crisosto is a 30-year-old policeman recently removed from a Bogota slum with his wife and four children to Cu-dad de Techo, a huge housing project under the Alliance for Progress.

It lies whitely in the sun and dust now, only partially completed. But eventually it will provide homes for 55,000 people who now live eight and ten to a room in the unsanitary hopelessness of the slums which press in upon Bogota from all sides.

President Kennedy laid the first brick for the project in December 1961.

Off an unfinished street where children play amid piles of brick, cement blocks and mounds of dirt, left by the bulldozers, a sign proclaims that "Jacqueline" drugstore will open here — a tribute to the President's wife.

Cristacho and his family formerly lived in a two-room flat which cost him $5 a month. It had no lighting, hot water or plumbing facilities.

His new home will have all of that. The plumbing has been installed, but neither the water nor the electricity has been connected.

Cristacho figures his expenses at $12 a month for his mortgage, $10 a month for improvements, $10 for clothing and around $30 for food. Like his government, he is over his budget.

He points out ruefully he has nothing left over, even for a weekend glass of beer.

At this, his wife smiles indulgently, leading to a suspicion that he might slightly be oversteering his case.

PRESENT, FUTURE, PAST

Cristacho, the 33-year-old policeman is Colombia's present. Round-faced and eager Oscar Tard, who at the age of 15 already knows a man's responsibilities, is his future.

And the 16th century presidential palace, built of adobe and stone of Bolivar Square, is its link with its own cultural past.

Carefully preserved in the palace is the bedroom of the liberator Simon Bolivar, who in 1828 escaped assassination there by leaping from one of its windows.

In the room is a full-length portrait of Manuela Sanz, his Colombian sweetheart who warned him of the plot.

Present occupant of the palace is President Guillermo Leon Valencia, a courtly man with a greying lionine head of hair, the son of one of Colombia's great national poets.

In an interview with this correspondent, he described Colombia as an "open window" ready to exhibit the fruits of the Alliance for Progress, but, he added, a window which still is mostly empty.

"But upon the Alliance," he said, "depends the future of all of South America. Either democracy will flourish, or the misery continent must sink into miseries and chaos.

"In that event, a Communist take-over is inevitable."

At the San Jose Conference of Central American Presidents, President Kennedy called for a vast program of education for Latin American youth and their right to use it in the safeguarding of future Latin America.

Neither is apt to come to Oscar Tard.

He is bright and should be in school. But in Bogota there is no free secondary education.

Oscar earns $40 a month as a messenger. School not only would cost $9 a month, it also would take that $40 out of the family income. His widowed mother and three other brothers cannot afford it.

"But," said a Colombia friend thoughtfully, "in a way they are lucky. The boys are unskilled, but they can earn a living.

"If a widowed mother were left in similar circumstances with four daughters, their only means of support would be prostitution. The road from Bogota's high Savannah to the coffee country below winds steeply downward

Officers said Rice lost $30 in a dice game Saturday and then left the home of Lennie McClain, 38, the winner. He returned with three gallons of gasoline, poured some on McClain and tried to ignite him after setting fire to his house.

Rice was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

TV Stars Plan to Marry

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television actors Bart Reynolds, who plays the blacksmith in "Gunsmoke," and Judy Carne, daughter of the English family in "Fair Exchange" plan to wed June 29, a CBS spokesman says.

among mist and clouds drifting through the Andean peaks.

Along the way, Tequendama Falls makes its spectacular 500-foot leap, and the road skirts canyon walls that drop a sheer 1,000 feet.

One treacherous turn, there is a shrine where drivers light a candle to the Virgin to protect them.

Farther down, Juan Valdez, Colombia's traditional independent coffee grower, raises his crop under shade trees growing along the mountain's sides.

Valdez' discontent is growing — and there are hundreds and thousands of Valdezes in Colombia.

If Valdez had even five acres, he could make a profit, although coffee prices are low. But he usually has only an acre or an acre and a half.

He cannot make a profit because the tiny plot cannot keep him busy. He also is underemployed.

Valdez is so poor he cannot even afford to drink his own coffee, and he is the victim of bandit gangs which are a remnant of Colombia's civil war which ended in 1953.

START IS MADE

But, great as are Colombia's problems, a start is being made.

U. S. Ambassador Fulton Freeman presents a partial list: 31,175 houses started in 1962, 155 classrooms built, 300 started and contracts let for nearly 1,200 more, 24 public health centers built, and $5 million pounds of food distributed under "Food for Peace."

And thoughtful Colombians cling to the belief that if any South American nation can achieve Alliance goals, theirs is the one.

Ava Gardner, Rich Realtor in Spain, May Quit Movies

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Ava Gardner's privately told friends that her last film, "55 Days in Peking," for which Sam Bronston paid her $500,000, "could be the end of my picture career." The former Carolina farm girl who became a millionaire has become "the real estate queen of Madrid," or so her friends say, and she's made a fortune wheeling and dealing.

One close friend of "Happy" Murphy's set makes the fearless forecast that she and Gov. Rocky won't get married — ever — if they've ruled it out because of age differences.

Judy Garland's decided to do her TV show from Hollywood. Her re-reconciled husband Sid Luft is now in the driver's seat and Judy's making some of her plans independently of some of her former associates.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ex-Miss America Ann Mohney's excited—she got Tab Hunter as her co-star in "Tender Trap" in stock . . . Vince (Ben Casey) Edwards has offered the lead opposite Betty Davis in Joe Levine's film, "Empty Canvas" . . . Duo: George Raft and actress Hope Holiday . . . Kim Novak's one-time beau, ski instructor Tony Kastner, is long-lancing Jayne Mansfield . . . One of the hottest films in Tokyo now is "The Grapes of Wrath" (which has just been released there for the first time).

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Why do they call it "the coming generation"? It seems to spend most of its time going to the beach. EARL'S PEARLS: Two kinds of women wear Bikinis — those who have the figure, and those who have the nerve.

Khrushchev, visiting China, said a goat and walked with it. Mao Tse-tung came along and asked, "What are you doing with this pig?" K said, "That's not a pig, it's a goat." Snapped Mao, "Who's talking to you?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Ex-Gambler Aids Poor of Arkansas, Missouri

By HARRY A. HAINES
Editor, Blytheville (Ark.)
Courier News

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—One night in 1953, Paul Kirkindall propped a Bible against the twin beer spigots of his tavern and began preaching the Gospel.

Since that time he has spent $31,000 of his own funds in a new career as pastor of this town's most despoiled citizens.

Once a gambler known over the southern and midwestern states, Paul Kirkindall underwent a sudden transformation.

Today he heads Blytheville's Mississippi County Union Mission which has an annual budget of $31,000. The mission is governed by some of the area's most prominent business and professional men. It serves thousands of poor people in northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri.

He preaches six or seven sermons a week; visits hospitals; personally screens applicants for food and clothing; calls regularly at jails and the county farm and confers with law enforcement officers.

Kirkindall, 52, has done his job so well that last month he was offered an annual salary of $10,000, plus a home, car and certain expenses to take over a mission in an eastern city.

"I don't think the Lord wanted me to go," Kirkindall said. He makes $300 a month in his present job.

Kirkindall stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 200 pounds. He has a voice like a carnival barker and he talks just as fast.

"People will listen to me sometimes," Kirkindall said, "people in college towns, people a lot smarter than I am. And do you know why?"

"Because once they learn what I was and then get some idea of what I stand for today, they know I've just gotta be sincere."

His about-face took him completely by surprise, says Kirkindall.

"I was making good money as a gambler. I wasn't broke. I was drinking too much though. A good gambler shouldn't drink."

But one night Kirkindall accompanied his wife to church.

"I thought every word that preacher said was directed toward me and I was burned up. I figured I'd beat this guy up some day."

GAVE HIMSELF UP

And then, he said, when the invitation was given to come forward, "I found myself walking down the aisle to the front of the church. I thought, 'This is crazy. Don't go down there.' But I couldn't help it and I went up there and gave myself to Christ."

As soon as he got out of church he locked the doors to his small tavern and suspended gambling in the pool hall which was under his management.

He quit drinking, bought a Bible and began a series of speaking appearances in churches over Arkansas, Texas and Missouri.

Usually he didn't even make expenses.

Kirkindall's mission has long since outgrown his tavern where he once stood behind the bar each evening and preached to a handful of people. Presently the mission is a large structure in Blytheville's business district. The building includes a dormitory where as many as 25 men sometimes sleep.

Kirkindall said his last brush with gambling was only last month.

"A nice lady called and said her group was having a raffle and wanted the proceeds to go to the mission."

"I said, 'Now look lady, if we're going to finance this mission by gambling then I'll put a couple of tables in here and do it right because I can make more money in five hours than you can in two weeks of selling those raffle tickets.'"

"But we haven't come to that and we never will," he said with finality.

Rockefeller's Mum on Hinted Nuptials

NEW YORK (AP)—Associates of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller offered a terse "no comment" today to a published report that he will wed recently divorced Margaretta (Happy) Fidler Murphy next month.

A copyright story in today's New York Mirror quoted an unidentified friend of the Rockefeller family as saying:

"The date will be Saturday, May 18, or Sunday, May 19. The ceremony will be performed at a Protestant Episcopal church—but not the one where Rockefeller usually worships, the (interdenominational) Riverside Church on Riverside Drive."

The Mirror quoted the Rockefeller family friend as saying 25 to 50 close relatives of the couple will attend the wedding—including the governor's children; his brothers; Mrs. Murphy's mother, Mrs. George E. Bartol Jr. of Wynnewood, a suburb of Philadelphia; and her cousin, Mrs. Peter Iselin of New York City.

QUIET CEREMONY
The friend was quoted as saying there will be "just a quiet ceremony and no reception."

"Possibly the friends and family who attend will have a champagne party—but the bride and groom won't stay for it," the friend was quoted as saying. "They will slip out immediately after the ceremony and hop aboard a plane for Europe."

After a week or so in Europe, the Mirror said, the couple will go to Rockefeller's big ranch in Venezuela for a few days and then return to his estate at Pocantico Hills near Tarrytown, N.Y.

The governor, widely mentioned as a potential 1964 GOP presidential candidate, has a full schedule of political engagements starting early in June.

There is, however, a three-week gap in the governor's official calendar from May 9 to May 31.

Republicans to Tour Detroit See Facilities

DETROIT (AP)—A red carpet tour of Detroit convention facilities awaits three Republican National Committee members who are due here May 13 to inspect the city as a possible site for the party's 1964 convention.

The delegation is made up of Harry G. Haskell Jr., of Delaware; Helen C. Mitchell, of Maine, and Mrs. Byron Ising, of Wisconsin.

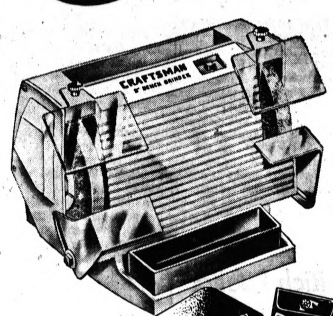

The trio also will visit Windsor, Ont., to inspect hotel and motel accommodations pledged to house delegates if the convention should be held in Detroit.

The Republican officials will also visit Chicago and then meet in Denver with members of the party's other site committees.

The entire committee will then visit the cities which receive favorable reports before a final decision is made.

The Democratic site committee toured Detroit in March.

Hoffa Blocks Challenge by AFL-CIO Insurgents

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—International Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has won a two-to-one victory over the AFL-CIO in a key representation election—one of the stiffest challenges to his leadership in the nation's largest union.

The official count in the National Labor Relations Board election was 4,893 for the Teamsters and 2,550 for an insurgent group known as the "Voice of the Teamsters," which had the public support of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Seeks Release of Suspect in Dixie Killing

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—An attorney planned today to seek the release of a murder charge would be lodged against Simpson today with the signing of a state warrant by the circuit judge and the prosecutor.

Attorney William M. Beck, Sr. of Port Payne said he would attempt to post bond for Simpson, 40, father of six children.

State and county officers conducted investigation of the Tuesday night slaying of Moore, a 35-year-old postman who died from two bullet wounds in the head. Moore had said he was en route to Jackson, Miss., to give his views on integration to Gov. Ross Barnett.

Feelings ran high in the rural community of Colbran, about 30 miles to the northwest, where Simpson operated a grocery and service station. Residents, predominantly milkworkers and farmers, showed strong hostility to inquisitive strangers.

A Gadsden Times reporter, M. L. Ray, was thrown out of Simpson's store by an unidentified fan.

Where's New 19th District?

Congress Candidates Confused

By JIM DYGERT

Potential candidates for Congress from Michigan's new 19th Congressional District — designed for Oakland County — are more confused than ever today, but they're ready to act fast when the confusion clears.

All they need to know is where in Oakland County the 19th District will be. The final answer had been expected Saturday from the State Legislature, but a typographical error ruined Republican plans to complete the matter.

However, a plan did evolve from last week's rapidly changing events, that appears headed for final approval.

Republicans hope to have enough votes left to pass the plan in June when the legislature reconvenes.

The plan, which was approved Saturday by the State Senate and nearly won approval of the House, would put Pontiac and most of Oakland County in the new 19th District along with Livingston County.

At stake in the four-day election which ended Sunday night was the right to represent $200 over-the-road truckers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, members of four Teamsters locals.

A jubilant Hoffa, in Philadelphia for much of the past 15 weeks directing his campaign, received the news of his victory by thrusting two fingers downward. "The Voice down," he said. "Down the Voice."

"The figures are tremendous," he continued. "It proves once again that the truckers will not be fooled by Meany or any tricks of the Voice."

AFL-CIO regional representative William Kirchner, present as an adviser to the Voice, commented, "When the president of the Teamsters takes 15 weeks to squeeze out a 2-1 victory in the heart of his union, he's in trouble. These fellows the Voice struck the first real blow to clean up the union."

VOICE SHOCKED
Voice Chairman Charles Meyer expressed shock at the outcome of the election.

Kirchner said that Hoffa had made "the greatest array of promises ever given in a campaign."

"If Mr. Hoffa makes good on 50 per cent of his promises the efforts of the Voice will have been well worthwhile in developing more responsiveness and democracy in the Teamsters."

In a previous representation election last November, 4,188 Teamsters won by 596 votes of 7,144 cast. That election was set aside by the National Labor Relations Board because of alleged violence in the campaign.

Meyer said the second election was a fair one.

The four locals which have close to retain Teamsters representation are Locals 107 and 470 of Philadelphia, Local 312 of Chester, Pa., and Local 331 of Atlantic City, N.J.

Local 107 is the fourth largest in the 1.5-million member Teamsters Union, with a membership of about 11,000.

ship in both the 18th and the 19th.

Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Township, said today the intent was to keep Bloomfield Township in the 18th. It was a typographical error, Hogan said.

The House decided it could not approve the bill until it was corrected, and could not correct it without the Senate's approval. So it was put over until June 4, when the legislature will return.

LATEST PLAN

The latest plan was drafted by Hogan and Gov. George Romney's legislative aide, Robert Danhof.

Hogan and Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, indicated today that Hogan's latest plan probably will be approved in June.

But this left potential candidates still unable to make a definite decision.

County Clerk - Register Daniel T. Murphy of Pontiac has said he definitely is interested in being a candidate for the GOP nomination from the new 19th District.

Pontiac's Airport Busy

By DICK BUCK
Telegraph Editor

Name the fourth-busiest airport in Michigan. Then name the 18th-busiest airport in the north central United States.

Finally, name the nation's 100th-busiest airport. Unless you answered Pontiac Municipal Airport in each case, you were wrong.

This 438-acre piece of aeronautical real estate in Waterford Township has encountered varying shades of publicity in recent years.

Talk of its development as a major jet air terminal brought loud protests from nearby residents.

Its new terminal building and control tower put Pontiac on the map as an airline city a couple years back. But this airline faltered, and Pontiac's future as an air carrier stop is clouded.

County supervisors have looked upon Pontiac Municipal as second best, preferring instead to cast their aspirations for a major airport toward the Allen Airport site in Orion Township.

Yet the city's airport has weathered these exterior storms unscathed and is keeping Pontiac on the aeronautical charts in a most efficient way.

Last year, there were 107,014 operations (take-offs and landings) at Pontiac Municipal. That's a gain of 9,614 over 1961. And the growth is expected to continue.

BUSIEST OUTSIDE DETROIT

The 1962 figure made Pontiac Municipal Michigan's busiest airport outside the immediate Detroit area. It trailed Detroit City, Detroit Metropolitan and Willow Run, in that order.

3 Tots Die in Southfield Fire

Three young sisters were killed in an early morning blaze yesterday that gutted the first floor of a two-story home in Southfield. Their parents and a 10-month-old infant were hospitalized.

The blaze raced through a home at 2912 Guy shortly after 7 a.m. Sunday, trapping the three youngsters in an upstairs bedroom.

The 37-year-old father, Oran Shouneya, and his wife, Najima, 37, were in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, today, recovering from injuries suffered in their frantic efforts to save the children.

The three girls, Carmen, 2, Aimee, 3, and Ayser, 4, died of smoke inhalation.

FAMILY ASLEEP
The suburban brick home caught fire while the Shouneya family slept. A newsboy discovered the blaze. Neighbors helped Shouneya rescue five other children.

Four of the children were coaxed to safety from atop an attached garage. Mrs. Shouneya carried out the youngest girl, Vivian, 10 months, who is hospitalized for observation.

Ellen Shouneya, 11, said later that young Aimee had awakened her and tugged her out of bed. "Aimee saved us. She woke us all up," Ellen said.

Shouneya, aided by neighbors, tried to reach the three girls but was driven back by the flames and intense heat after getting into the house from the garage.

When Southfield firemen finally reached the bedroom, it was too

Dominicans, Haitians Move Close to War

Two Countries Trade Charges, Threats as Tension Mounts

The Dominican Republic canceled troop leaves under a state of alert today and threatened to send gunboats to the Haitian capital of Port-au-Prince in a bitter rift that stirred fears of armed conflict between two neighboring Caribbean nations.

President Juan Bosch gave Haitian President Francois Duvalier 24 hours to withdraw troops surrounding the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince. The Embassy is sheltering 22 of Bosch's Duvalier.

"Unless the outrages against the Dominican Republic in Haiti end within 24 hours, we will put an end to them by all means within our power," Bosch said.

The Dominican deadline was originally set for 6 a.m. (Pontiac time). But the government said it had extended the ultimatum until 8 p.m. because of an inter-American effort to keep peace.

CHARGE SECRET TIES
Haiti declared it would defend itself by "all available means."

The Dominicans charged that Haiti had developed secret ties with Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia that were "furthering Communist infiltration in the Caribbean area."

Haiti countered by charging the Dominican government was trying to wage a "megamannical" democratic crusade.

The Dominican armed forces secretary, Maj. Gen. Victor Elie, Vinas Roman, announced all troop leaves had been canceled. But he said there was no military movement toward the Haitian border.

The new flare-up was the latest in a long series of disputes between the two nations which share the island of Hispaniola.

It added to political tension that has been mounting steadily (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

OAS Sending Group to Head Off Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Organization of American States (OAS) prepared today to send a special mission to Port-au-Prince to head off threatened armed conflict between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

OAS Council Chairman Gonzalo Facio met with envoys from the United States, El Salvador, Ecuador, Chile and Colombia to set a departure date for the mission. It was expected to leave this afternoon.

The OAS was working against a Dominican ultimatum giving the regime of President Francois Duvalier 24 hours to halt what it called "aggressive" policies toward Dominican envoys in Haiti. It raised a threat of military action if Haiti refused.

U.S. sources said the Haitian and the Dominican governments had indicated they would accept the good offices of the OAS to patch up their differences.

The OAS council met in a special session last night to hear the Dominican charges that Haitian authorities had harassed Dominican diplomats and broken into the Dominican consulate in Port-au-Prince.

The United States prepared to evacuate some 1,000 U.S. citizens from Port-au-Prince, if necessary.

U.S. officials said they had received reports that all other Latin American embassies in the city had been encircled by Haitian forces.

SEARCH VEHICLES
Dispatches from Port-au-Prince said police and militiamen loyal to President Francois Duvalier stopped and searched vehicles for arms, ammunition and suspected terrorists. But the nation generally was reported calm.

It was believed that the units were deployed by Duvalier in a move to block an uprising against his autocratic regime. The Haitian government apparently believed the Dominican embassy was harboring conspirators against Duvalier.

The Dominicans, fearing the move was a forerunner of an attempt to overthrow their government, accused Haiti of conspiring to assassinate Dominican president Juan Bosch.

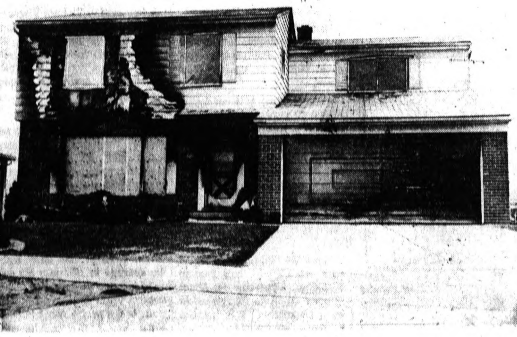

There was no word of fighting in either country and U.S. citizens were not believed in any immediate danger. However, precautionary measures were being taken to get them out.

The United States joined 12 Latin American nations in the OAS in voting to invoke the Rio pact, Brazil and Bolivia abstained. Haiti and the Dominican Republic did not participate in the vote.

The request for joint action was made by OAS Council President Gonzalo Facio, the Costa Rican representative. Facio message urged the Haitian and Dominican governments asking them to "refrain from any action that might jeopardize the present consultations."

It Seems to Me....

Economic Pain, World Woes Give Russia Big Headache

Laos is just as big a headache in the Kremlin as she is in the District of Columbia. Further, interior developments aren't particularly rosy.

The past winter was just as severe proportionately in Russia as it was here. That means it actually was much worse over vast stretches. Further, it lingered far beyond the usual dates and spring planting was dangerously delayed.

In addition, the industrial program is lagging. The first quarter did not produce totals sufficient to meet the demand. Iron and steel are dragging perceptibly.

Soviet land has run out of "five-year plans." These were the repeated programs which leaders announced to set forth their intentions. They failed time and again. Now they're readying a "two-year plan" for 1964 and 1965. Russia's economy is staggering along in the fifth year of the current "seven-year plan," which terminates in 1965.

Apparently, the last two years will be shelved and a new schedule substituted. Hope has to be eternal in the Russian breast.

Russia's expenditures on military matters and space research are staggering.

Her economy has been strained to the bursting point and the entire nation's productivity is woefully short of carrying expenditures.

Frankly, Russia's "in a mess." Farm production for 1962 was barely a whisker in advance of 1958. By now the Russian leaders had planned on gigantic strides forward.

These haven't materialized.

Red China is a painful thorn in Asiatic flesh. If the Russians live up to the Geneva agreement, she'll be on the side of the United States in promoting peace.

That's an unwelcome prospect. On the other hand, if KHRUSHCHEV lets the Red Chinese run unchecked, they'll be digging in deeply along huge stretches of valuable and productive farm lands.

It's a tough problem.
K isn't happy.

'Rocky' Blunders....

Gov. NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER addressing 1,500 of America's leading newspaper executives Thursday in New York. He did very little to advance the burning ROCKEFELLER cause.

"Rocky" is a red-hot candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, and here was a self-made springboard that he couldn't have bettered, if he had been permitted to select the listeners himself.

The Governor goofed.

There was nothing inspirational, arousing or challenging in his remarks and the bulk of the audience expressed disappointment as the meeting broke up.

Gov. ROCKEFELLER is a very able man and he still stands as the most conspicuous GOP candidate.

But he missed a big opportunity.

And quite incidentally, all the New York newspapers are buzzing openly about Mrs. MURPHY. Her divorce is complete and friends and foes alike anticipate a quiet marriage soon.

Whether this will damage his chances for a presidential bid is something only the future can tell. He may escape unscathed.

Or he may hear the strident voice of disapproval.

Taxpayers Score....

One FRANK CAMPENNI has been drawing a $14,500 salary from the taxpayers while "working" for Sen. WILLIAM PROXMIER. The challenging tidbit lies in the fact that FRANK is attending the University of Wisconsin.

Wisconsin newspapers printed this interesting anomaly and the mail began pouring in. It continued and finally the Senator surrendered.

Frank's off the payroll.

Furthermore, PROXMIER is repaying the Government the $9,000 CAMPENNI has drawn. Taxpayers, be ye of good cheer. Your letters DO count and they ARE read and they PRODUCE RESULTS.

And in Conclusion...

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Three cheers and sugar cookies to ROSEMARY VERNIER, Mrs. REX RANSON and RICK LAVOIE for coming up with the word that has all the vowels in order: "facetiously." And sugar cookies they will receive.

About 400 feet is the current depth to which submarines can dive. Navy men are anxious to reach 20,000. At this depth the water exerts 8,800 pounds of pressure per square inch, so the problem is titanic.

By 1970, needle-nosed airplanes that fly 2,000 miles an hour will be in commercial service. Britain and France are joined in a venture that runs $450 million.

I can't prove it, but I'll bet a sugar cookie you didn't know that Mickey Mantle picks Rocky Colavito as the probable home run champion of 1963.

Don Campbell, who holds the world's speed record on water (260 miles an hour), plans an assault this summer on the land record of 394 miles an hour.

New York City is planning a redevelopment of its West Side and plans to spend $670 million. That's urban renewal on the ultimate level.

They tell me it isn't cruel to debark a dog. It's done under anesthetic and is painless. Neighbors cheer for hundreds of feet in all directions. The misguided hound continues to go through the motions, but the neighbors are spared. I have a candidate.

I might risk another sugar cookie today with the belief you never knew that a German girl grew to eight feet, four inches and died at 17. The tallest on record today lives in Louisiana and is eight feet two.

Overheard: "We don't have to fear any invasion. We have the best-armed and the biggest number of juvenile delinquents in the whole world."

Why do most people evidently consider it far more deplorable for a person to die of injuries incurred in boxing than for one to succumb to injuries sustained in playing football?

Yoga For The Multitudes

David Lawrence Discusses:

Nikita, a Machiavellian Master

WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev is a smart politician. If he had been born and raised in Britain or France or the United States, he might well have won high office by election.

LAWRENCE

He knows how to evade some issues and capitalize on others. He knows the art of deception in politics, and is one of the most skillful practitioners of "managed news" in the world today.

So it isn't surprising to read that the Soviet demagogue now is applying to himself an old rule of politics: "Never wear out your welcome — don't wait till you are thrown out. Beat them to the punch."

Mr. Khrushchev has made the first move. He points out, in a speech to his party, that he now is 69 years old and can't "hold for all time" the position he now has "in the party and the state."

He doesn't indicate whether he might give up his post as Soviet premier or as first secretary of the Communist party.

Ambitions will be stirred in the Kremlin by the news of prospective change. The men on their way up will look enviously at the high posts that would become vacant.

For certainly promotion will come from within the present government circle.

In a sense, however, the change in the premiership will be a test of strength. If Nikita Khrushchev is really not as popular inside the Soviet Union as the outside world has been led to believe, the decision to shift posts could really be a shrewd move on his part to pass the buck to others who have been criticizing him in the secret councils of the party.

CONSTANT DISCONTENT

In a country of 210 million persons, it is not easy to assure uniform enthusiasm for any leader for any length of time. Economic troubles produce a constant discontent.

Unquestionably, conditions are better for the average family than they were a decade or more ago, but human beings are not satisfied with half measures.

Mr. Khrushchev has been able to prevent the discontent from boiling over into revolution by keeping a war scare going. He has talked of alleged threats of aggression by the West and has dramatized the possibilities of nuclear war.

All this has furnished an excuse for huge spending on armament instead of for making substantial improvements in the standard of living.

But, sooner or later, even war scares die down and the news percolates through from the outside that danger of war is leadership. This puts the Soviet leadership on the spot.

It is easier for Nikita Khrushchev to make speeches condemning capitalism and extolling communism than it is for him to set up an economic system that accomplishes what the United States has attained — or even what continental Europe, with its Common Market formula, is beginning to achieve — in the domain of economic prosperity.

So the Soviet leader, who has turned many somersaults — including his denunciation of Stalin, his bosom friend of yesteryears — may be on the way out of two jobs, though probably for a while he will cling to one.

Maybe if conditions get worse, he will be retired before long from the second one, too.

For Joseph Stalin once made a significant remark to a skeptical

American — the late Harry Hopkins — who had arched his eyebrows in disbelief when the Soviet chief said he also had to be mindful of public opinion. Stalin retorted: "Oh, yes, we have our public opinion, too."

In the Soviet Union today, 210 million people can upset any man or group of men at any moment they decide to exercise their concerted will. And Mr. Khrushchev recognizes a political current even before it reaches the proportions of a tidal wave.

Bob Considine Says:

Spain Considering Terms for Renewed Defense Pact

MADRID — Spain shortly will spell out her terms for renewal of the ten-year-old defense pact with the U.S.

Notice that renegotiation clauses would be debated was served to Washington in January.

The "other shoe" is about to drop.

"Spain will seek a more CONSIDINE realignment," Dr. Manuel Fraga Iribarne, Generalissimo Franco's chief information officer, told us.

"When the pact was made in 1953 it was agreed by both sides that the presence of three air bases and a naval base would be sufficient."

"Russia had nuclear weapons at that time but no suitable means of delivering them to Spanish or other targets. Now it can deliver its bomb. Our risk as a free country is infinitely greater as a result."

"We need greater strength here. We need to belong to NATO or, that failing, a closer and stronger tie with the United States."

U.S. military and other aid to Spain has fallen to almost nothing in the past few years, compared to the great benefits that came to Spain during the building of the air bases at Teruel, Moron and Saragossa, the Navy base at Rota, the laying of fuel pipelines across the country and the construction of roads.

Anti-Communist Spain now ranks just below Communist Yugoslavia on the list of American beneficiaries.

The Spanish-American defense arrangement, signed early in the Eisenhower administration over strong protests from liberal quarters, has worked out better than any similar deal on the books.

A dangerous geographical gap in the containment of Soviet aggression was sealed off.

The free world's armed forces were beefed up by the tacit addition of a well-trained and dedicated land army under military dictatorship and highly disciplined.

Spain's crack tactical airmen have put up with such fighters as the obsolete F86, while air-men of perhaps less dedicated nations receive our superionic jets.

Each base has two commanders, Spanish and American. Only the Spanish flag flies over the camps.

The new arrangement, whatever it is, is almost certain to survive the passing of Franco from the Spanish scene — the natural passing, that is.

The 70-year-old dictator, who appears to be in excellent physical condition, has indicated pro-American Gen. Munoz Grandes as his heir.

Man Defies Classification

The San Diego Union

How is a leader chosen? This question might be asked in this day of automation, of computer judgments, of group decisions, and of endless personnel ability-testing for qualities of leadership.

A short time before Easter, San Diego had the pleasant experience of a visit by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who in World War II commanded more power than in all the combined ships and navies of our history and, as a matter of fact, in all the navies of the world.

Adm. Nimitz is a slightly-built, modest, kindly and almost shy man.

Today, what card-file personnel factors of leadership, character and appearance, fed into a computer to select a leader of massive ships and superionic planes, and to hold the fate of thousands of men, could emerge in a prototype of a Chester Nimitz?

Man defies classification and stratification.

All human accomplishment flows from within a person, qualities which elude the technician and the sociologist, and which comes to the surface in the competition and challenges of life and experience.

What push button would have selected Navy leaders like Halsey, McCain, Spruance and Mitscher?

It is argued that our present naval leaders lack experience in combat command, as it has been 18 years since World War

'Can't Push the Teachers'

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—"School board members are learning the hard way that teachers can no longer be taken for granted, can no longer be pushed around," an Arizona educator said today.

Prof. Daniel R. Davies of the University of Arizona added: "If school boards and teachers don't learn how to work together, we will get into an era of jungle warfare of the type that industrial labor and management once went through."

Davies spoke in an interview at the annual meeting of the National School Boards Association. NSBA delegates are frankly worried that the determination of teachers to have more voice in decisions about their salaries and conditions is a threat to local control of education.

TOUGH SITUATION

The situation in Utah, Davies said, is a case where "each side has gone almost too far for there to be any hope of friendly agreement being reached."

Dr. W. Dean Belpap, president of the Utah School Boards Association, said Sunday that Utah's public schools are almost certain to remain closed next fall.

Utah teachers have voted not to sign contracts for the 1963-64 school year unless a special session of the legislature votes additional school funds.

Neither the teachers nor Gov. George D. Clyde has shown any sign of budging an inch, Belpap said.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Monday, April 29, the 119th day of 1963 with 246 more to follow.

The moon is approaching first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1862, New Orleans, gateway to the Mississippi River and once a stronghold of the Confederacy, fell to Union forces.

In 1913, Gideon Sundback of Hoken, N.J., was granted a patent for the "zipper."

In 1945, American soldiers liberated 32,000 Nazi prisoners at Dachau, the oldest and worst of the Nazi concentration camps.

In 1945, the bodies of Italian dictator Mussolini and his companions, executed by partisans the day before, were hung in a public square of Milan.

A thought for today — English poet Alfred Tennyson said: "In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love."

Lack of Funds?

The Nashville Banner

Annually, the United States shovels out millions of dollars in foreign aid, much of it strictly on a no-strings-attached gift basis. Yet the Federal Aviation Agency reports inadequate radar and incomplete modernization of air traffic control facilities, coupled with pilot error, are the chief reasons why airplanes have nearly collided in the air.

Research, money and training can alleviate the weaknesses in the Air Traffic Control (ATC) system, the experts maintain. If this known fault exists because of lack of funds, it would be hard to justify. Certainly, the United States Government can afford to "aid" itself and its citizens by making money available to update ATC procedures and equipment.

This report came after an investigation into the near tragedy in which an Air Force plane nearly rammed a commercial airliner. The alert pilot of the passenger ship veered sharply to avoid collision.

As for pilot error, the flying business cannot afford to have reckless personnel at the controls either in a commercial or military craft. Pilots who make mistakes and survive should be permanently grounded.

President's Death Drapes Celebration

By ELIAH SIMON
JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—The State of Israel became 15 years old today, still threatened by the surrounding Arab nations which tried to conquer it in the first hours of its existence.

There will be no celebrations of the anniversary this year.

Because of the death last week of President Itzhak Ben-Zvi, receptions will be called off and soldiers will march under flags draped in black.

There has been no serious warfare in the unsettled Arab-Israeli conflict since the Sinai Campaign of 1956, but Israel feels that recent Arab unity moves and Egyptian weapon development have made the 15-year-old threat more acute than ever.

Smaller than Massachusetts, Israel borders on four Arab states — Lebanon, Jordan, Egypt and Syria. The latter two are working out details of a vast new United Arab Republic, which also will include Iraq, to the east of Jordan. There is a possibility Jordan will become a member.

Even without Jordan, whose streets stare down on Israeli settlements from the divided city of Jerusalem, the U. A. R. would have an army of 300,000 regulars, 100,000 front-line reservists, 3,000 tanks and several hundred jet fighters and bombers.

ISRAEL ARMY STRONG

Israel's army is strong and well-equipped and has defeated Arab forces twice — the first time when they attacked within hours after the British withdrew in 1948, and the second time in Sinai.

But the constantly increasing cost of the military machine is holding back badly-needed development projects.

Finance Minister Levi Eshkol has said that Israel would be self-supporting by now if it did not have these defense costs.

As it is, it depends on contributions from abroad and reparations from Germany to make up his trade deficit. Someone once said one Jew out of every six in the world lives in Israel — supported by the other five.

But reparations will end in the next few years, and if Israel is to be self-supporting by 1970 as officials hope, defense costs will have to remain stable.

Recent developments in the Arab world, however, make this seem unlikely.

If the Israeli man on the street is troubled by the size of the surrounding Arab armies, he is more alarmed by the rocket program being directed by German scientists in Cairo.

U. A. R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser already has boasted his missiles can reach "any place south of Beirut" — a clear reference to Israel.

Premier David Ben-Gurion and his cabinet, it is understood, do not rule out the possibility of an Egyptian atomic bomb.

Moshe Dayan, one-eyed former chief of staff and present minister of agriculture, believes that Israel should exert all forms of pressure "to prevent German and other foreign scientists from collaborating with these Egyptian 'development' enterprises."

Israel's defense policy is based on the assumption that Nasser will not attack if he has a chance of losing.

Thus it seeks to build its deterrent strength, knowing if it falls behind the Arabs, it will be lost.

Gunmen Steal Contents of Safety Deposit Boxes

MONTREAL (AP) — Two gunmen escaped with the contents of 50 safety deposit boxes from a branch of the Canadian Imperial

Bank of Commerce Sunday after overpowering manager John Best. There was no immediate estimate of the amount stolen.

Best said the well-dressed robbers tied him up and took two hours to rifle the boxes.

Nine Killed in Traffic on Michigan Weekend

By The Associated Press
Highway accidents in Michigan during the weekend killed nine persons.

Another seven died in fires, by drowning and in miscellaneous accidents, state police reported today.

The Associated Press tabulation of weekend deaths began at 6 p.m. Monday and ended at midnight yesterday.

The victims:
Traffic:
Debra Sorenson, 8, of Muskegon, died yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday when she ran into the path of a car near her home.

Killed in a fiery three-car collision near Grand Haven Saturday night were Wayne Dirkes, 22, of Holland; Steve Holland, 16, of Muskegon; Phyllis Gerbrecht, 17, and Cheridale McWilliams, 16, both of Holland.

Police said a car driven by Dirkes struck a car in which the other victims were riding and which was being towed by another vehicle. Officers said flames enveloped the wreckage.

Lawrence Snorton, 50, of Detroit, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a car in Detroit.

Benjamin Collins, 48, of Detroit, was killed Saturday night when his car went out of control on a curve and struck a utility pole at a Detroit intersection.

James A. Ward, 13, of Utica, was killed Saturday when he rode his bicycle into the path of a car near his home.

Drownings:
Mrs. Ann Sims, 40, of Ypsilanti, drowned yesterday when the boat in which she was a passenger overturned in Ford Lake, three miles southeast of Ypsilanti.

Miscellaneous:
Ayerer Shouneya, 4, and two of her sisters, Ayne, 3, and Carmen, 2, died in a fire in their Southfield home yesterday.

Southfield fire department officials said the girls were found in their parents' bedroom and were apparently overcome by smoke.

Floyd Martin Kemp, 68, died of apparent asphyxiation yesterday when fire gutted the living room of his Ypsilanti home.

A Marietta man, Ernest Dunsford, 51, apparently suffocated Saturday after he was pinned to the ground by a tree. Police said Dunsford cut a supporting branch on a fallen tree, causing the tree to fall across his chest.

Arthur Haner, 17, of rural Free-land, was killed Saturday when a tree felled by a companion toppled across a tractor driven by Haner and hit him on the head.

Nigeria Will Join the Commonwealth

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa announced today that Nigeria will become a republic within the British Commonwealth next October on the country's third anniversary of independence.

Nigeria's first president will almost certainly be the present governor general, Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe, who has stood above politics since he was appointed late in 1960.

The exact form of the republican constitution — whether the President will be an executive head of state or a figurehead leader — is so far undecided.

Ionia Warden Named

IONIA (AP) — Lloyd Balderson has been named deputy warden at Ionia State Reformatory, succeeding Edward Calhoun, who was appointed warden two weeks ago. Balderson had been assistant deputy warden at Ionia since 1958.

Belgian Prince Killed

NAMUR, Belgium (AP) — Prince Albert de Ligne, 51, a member of an old Belgian family, was killed Saturday in the smashup of a sports car in which he was riding.

MRS. THOMAS R. KERSHNER

In Farmington

Couple Is Wed

Trinity Episcopal Church, Farmington, was the setting for the Saturday vows of Rebecca DeWitt to Thomas Richard Kershner.

wore her mother's wedding gown of white dotted French organza and chapel-length veil.

Pink sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots comprised her bouquet.

Honor maid Charlotte Osmon and Kathrina DeWitt, her sister's bridesmaid, appeared in pale green dotted Swiss and carried cascades of pink geraniums.

Gaer Guerber was best man for the bridegroom, son of the Ralph Kershners of Tilbury Place. William Vasu and Anthony Hammer ushered with James Kershner and Laurence DeWitt, brothers of the bride couple.

The bride, an alumna of Kingswood School Cranbrook and Stephens College, attended Oakland University where her husband received his degree.

After September, the couple will be at home in Cambridge, Mass. where Mr. Kershner will begin graduate studies at Harvard University.

Too Many Bears, Bulls, Pigs

Stock Advice Thankless

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My brother died three years ago and left his wife some stocks. She got into the habit of asking my advice on certain stocks.

I made it plain I was NOT advising her, only telling her what I was doing with mine. She followed my moves.

Like many others I sold some stocks I should have kept, and I kept some stocks I should have sold.

Every morning this sister-in-law calls me up and needles me about some stock she sold a while back which is now going up—or some stock she held onto which is going down.

I don't want to be a make an enemy of her, but I'd appreciate seeing this letter in print with your comments.

All she reads is your column and the stock market.

NEEDED: Giving advice on the stock market is tricky and thankless. It's a beastly business—loaded with bears, bulls and pigs.

DEAR ABBY: When you go out with a boy, where should you draw the line?

BETTY COED

So when I go into the kitchen to cook, she says, "Get out—you're in my way—you'll only make a mess!"

Abby, how am I supposed to learn if she is always saying this? I am almost 15. WANTS TO LEARN

DEAR WANTS: Your timing is off. If you seem to be underfoot in the kitchen when your mother is busy and hurried, all you'll cook is your own goose.

Wait 'til she's in a good mood and then make an "apointment" with her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "L": Don't go around trying closet doors in search of secrets. The one that falls out could be your own.

ARTHRITIS AND THE WEATHER

O. I am sure that my arthritis gets worse when the weather changes. My friends say it's all imagination. Can we prove I'm right?

A. We can try. Results of an experiment in which complete environmental control was possible show that variation in a single factor such as temperature, humidity, pressure or air flow, did not materially affect patients suffering from rheumatoid arthritis. But when two factors were altered, such as increasing humidity and decreasing barometric pressure, definite worsening of arthritic symptoms occurred. It can be concluded from this that weather changes may well induce flareup of arthritic symptoms.

GLANDULAR FEVER
O. What causes glandular fever? Can it be spread from one person to another?

A. The causative agent of glandular fever (the medical name "infectious mononucleosis") is not definitely known but it is thought to be a virus which is transmitted from person to person by intimate oral contact (kissing).

Schaerf, 73, a Socialist, defeated Conservative former Chancellor Julius Raab, 72, Sunday, 2,473,694 votes to 1,413,787.

Schaerf's victory was attributed

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Osteoporosis... No Joke, but Also, No Killer

How strong are your bones? Osteoporosis progresses there may be loss of height and a persistent backache.

This is because the process occurs almost exclusively in bones of the pelvis and spine.

Since there are many causes for osteoporosis (only a few of which will be mentioned here), a doctor must determine the type of the disease before he can treat it.

The commonest form is postmenopausal osteoporosis in women between 50 and 65 years of age.

This is essentially the same as the osteoporosis of aging seen in both men and women who are over 65.

It occurs as a result of the physiologic decrease in the internal secretion of sex hormones into the blood, but occurs at an earlier age and more abruptly in women.

In these elderly persons an inadequate intake of calcium is often an added factor in causing the condition.

When the disease is severe, one or more of the vertebrae may become so weak it collapses.

This results in a stooped appearance, and may or may not be painful.

There is apparently no relationship between severity of symptoms and the degree of osteoporosis seen on X ray and, in spite of the collapse of a vertebra, there is usually no damage to the spinal cord or spinal nerves.

Another form of osteoporosis that may occur in younger persons is due to inadequate protein intake. This was seen in concentration camps during the war.

Prolonged bed rest causes faulty protein metabolism, and may thus produce a similar type of osteoporosis, one of disuse.

Any normal movement, especially walking, stimulates bone formation and helps to prevent this form of the disease.

Another type unheard of until a few years ago is produced by prolonged treatment with cortisone and other steroid hormones.

This is one reason I keep stressing that these very valuable drugs should be used to tide you over an acute episode of an inflammatory disease, but never as a prolonged treatment for a chronic condition.

So if you suffer from osteoporosis, you may have to spend a few days in bed and your doctor may have to give you pain killers, but the sooner you can get up and walk about again, the better recovery you will make.

As a temporary measure you may have to wear some sort of back brace or orthopedic corset, but this should be discarded as soon as possible if you are to avoid the osteoporosis of disuse.

AVOID HEAVY LIFTING

You must avoid heavy lifting and you should sleep on a hard mattress with no sagging. If you use a thin mattress, place a bed board under it.

AND MAKE EVERYONE THINK IT'S NEW

It takes a lot of motions and modern equipment to properly shape a man's suit. It takes knowhow to form shoulder contours, to properly roll lapels and shape sleeves. Only expert care will insure smooth linings and pocket flaps, straight cuffs and snug-fitting collars. Yes, it takes 25 separate steps, but it makes your suit look and fit like a tailor-made. Add electronically controlled humidity cleaning that gives fabrics fresh appeal and people will think it's a new suit.

Police Get 'Baloney' From Boy

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—He was only 3, but Phoenix police found him the toughest subject they had questioned in some time.

"What's your name, sonny?" asked the desk sergeant.

"Baloney!" declared the youngster.

"Aw, c'mon," the sergeant pleaded. "What's your real name?"

"Baloney," was the reply.

Bribes didn't work. The boy ate a candy bar and refused to change his story.

Later a woman called, asking police to help find her lost son.

"What's his name, ma'am?" an officer asked.

"Baloney," replied the woman.

Mrs. Fred Daley of Phoenix explained that the boy's real name is Fred Daley Jr., but everyone calls him "Baloney."

House Rules Leader Claims He's Cooperating With Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: KENNEDY-CONGRESS: Rep. Howard W. Smith says the record proves his House Rules Committee has been cooperating with President Kennedy and moving administration bills to the floor for a vote.

"We have been clearing most of the bills as fast as they reach us, but we can't act on a minute's notice," the Virginia Democrat said in an interview.

Speaking of his legislative program, the President said at a news conference Wednesday, "the only thing that has ever concerned me is whether the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives will release it for a vote."

Smith said the committee has acted promptly on most legislation sent to it by other committees—and to passage—two major administration measures, one dealing with feed grain controls and the other with federal aid for medical and dental schools.

Smith noted that many of the President's major proposals, such as federal aid for public schools, medical care for the elderly, tax reduction and revision and a civil rights program are being held up in other committees.

"We can't act on bills before they reach us," he commented.

BY PROCLAMATION: President Kennedy has asked Americans to unite in offering "a prayer for lasting peace" on Memorial Day.

Kennedy called for the prayer in a proclamation setting Thursday May 30 as the day to pay tribute to the nation's war dead. He designated 11 a.m. as the time for each locality to "invoke God's blessing on those who have died in defense of our country and pray for a world of freedom with peace and justice."

In another presidential proclamation, Sept. 17 was designated as Citizenship Day and the week beginning Sept. 17 as Constitution Week. The Constitution was signed Sept. 17, 1787.

NEAR MISS: The Navy has disclosed that only a last-minute warning over an underwater telephone prevented a possible collision of the nuclear submarines Skate and SeadrAGON in their historic rendezvous last summer at the North Pole.

The Skate had surfaced and the SeadrAGON was coming up right under it at a 90-degree angle when Skate lookouts spotted smoke.

Pays Bridge Toll With Barrel of 22-Caliber Rifle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Golden Gate Bridge toll collector John McAllister reached out for the usual quarter yesterday but instead felt the cold steel of a 22-caliber rifle barrel.

"I'm not going to pay your toll," announced the man in the automobile hubbly. "And I'm not going to pay your toll!"

The car roared off, but another customer saw the rifle being thrown on the roadway and took down the license number.

floats—signals of surfacing. The Skate's skipper, Cmdr. Joseph L. Skog Jr. of Seattle, sped to an underwater phone and shouted a warning to the SeadrAGON's skipper, Cmdr. Charles D. Sumner of Nashville, Tenn. The SeadrAGON swung about and surfaced close to her sister ship. The SeadrAGON's executive officer was Lt. Cmdr. John W. Harvey, of Philadelphia. On April 10, his luck ran out. For Harvey, then skipper of the atomic submarine Thresher, was one of 129 men lost at sea when the craft, North Viet Nam if the Laotian/Hanoi, capital of Communist South Viet Nam and in Laos," crisis is not settled peaceably. Educational Radio Received NBC Help?

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission is preparing to investigate a $100,000 contribution by the National Broadcasting Co. (NBC) to educational television station WNDT here, the New York Times said today.

The newspaper quoted an FCC spokesman as saying the commission views with "utmost seriousness" the question of whether the program policy of the noncommercial station might be the subject of an understanding with NBC, a commercial broadcasting firm.

NBC volunteered a statement today on the story by Times television writer Jack Gould.

The network said its contribution "was for the sole purpose of assisting the station (WNDT) in meeting its immediate financial requirements" and that "it involved no understanding or commitment with regard to the station's programming."

The Times said the FCC inquiry, which it termed the first of its kind, would seek to make certain that WNDT has not delegated its statutory obligation to be solely responsible for its program policy.

WNDT's license came up for renewal in June.

The FCC, the Times went on, has been following the WNDT situation since April 17 when Variety, the weekly entertainment publication, indicated a possible "deal" in commercial stations' support of the local educational television outlet.

At the time, the head of WNDT, called the Variety report "a lie."

Besides NBC, the city's five other commercial television outlets also have contributed financially to WNDT, including a $100,000 donation from the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Columbia Seeks Democratic Goals

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Phil Newsom has just completed a 25,000-mile assignment in Latin America. Following is the first of five dispatches.)

UPI Foreign News Analyst
BOGOTA, Colombia — In sprawling Ciudad de Techo, a half hour's bus ride from the center of Bogota, the brown face of Leopoldo Cristóbal wears a look of mingled pride, frustration and worry.

The pride is in his new home. The frustration is over the job still to be done.

The worry, a matter of simple arithmetic which tells him he cannot pay for it, despite low interest rates and payments of only $12 a month.

Nature endowed Colombia richly. It has lush agricultural lands still open only to the airplane or the jeep. It has minerals, gold, platinum, emeralds. Just jungles remain to be explored.

But it also has an exploding population which increases at the rate of nearly three per cent per year and which threatens to outstrip its agricultural gains.

An unskilled peasantry hoping to escape the banditry and poverty of the countryside crowds in upon the cities to the stark growth of the crowded shacks which crawl ankle up the mountain sides.

Unemployment is increasing and inflation has boosted the cost of living nearly 25 per cent in the last four and a half months.

More than 60 per cent of the people are illiterate.

GOVERNMENT GOOD WILL

In Bogota, Colombia's cloud-swept capital, 8,500 feet high in the Andes Mountains, there is vast government good will to the United States and the Alliance already has allocated to Colombia more than $100 million from all sides.

Colombia hopes for a five per cent increase in gross national product annually over the next 10 years, and to help it the Alliance already has allocated to Colombia more than $100 million in aid.

But tax loopholes still permit the wealthy to avoid their taxes, and the inflationary spiral touched off by devaluation of the peso coupled with a general wage increase for city workers hit hardest the small coffee grower, the man most in need of help.

From earlier hopes of a balanced budget, the government's position has deteriorated to the point where now a deficit of at least $100 million is anticipated.

The other side of the coin is the country's relative political stability as compared with the remainder of South America, and the fact that leftist forces are scattered and lack strong leadership.

Off an unfinished street where children play amid piles of brick, cement blocks and mounds of dirt left by the bulldozers, a sign reads:

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Germany has received its first U.S. Sergeant missile, a fast-firing, air-to-air, or air-to-ground weapon to 75 miles.

Informed sources said today the Sergeant went to the German forces last month. There was no indication how many were involved.

As with all other atomic-capable weapons, the United States retains control over any nuclear warheads that may be mounted on Germany's Sergeants.

The Defense Department announced about seven weeks ago its plan to start sending Sergeants to U.S. Army forces in West Germany in March. No announcement has been made of deliveries to the Germans.

The addition of solid-fuel Sergeants represents a strengthening of the firepower of the West German army, as it does for U.S. troops facing the Iron Curtain.

Germany pays for the weapons it gets from the United States.

Authorities said Germany already has 12-mile range Honest John and 75-mile range Corporal missiles as well as 8-inch howitzers capable of firing atomic shells.

Germany reportedly will buy 12-mile range Pershing missile when it is ready. The Pershing also is destined for U.S. troops in Europe.

At the San Jose Conference of Central American Presidents, President Kennedy called for vast program of education for Latin American youth and their right to use in the safeguarding of future Latin America.

Neither is apt to come to Oscar Taylor, but in Bogota there is no free secondary education.

Oscar earns $40 a month as a messenger. School not only would cost $9 per month, it also would take that $40 out of the family income. His widowed mother and three other brothers cannot afford it.

"But," said a Colombia friend thoughtfully, "it's a way they like. The boys are unskilled, but they can earn a living."

Thousands of Local 212 members failed to show up for overtime Saturday at plants which comprise the firm's stamping division.

The ban on the overtime was ordered by the local officers who said, in a statement posted on plant bulletin boards:

"No overtime — by action of a special executive board meeting due to the great amount of Local 212 members being on lay-off and the corporation scheduling unnecessary overtime."

He's Hotter Than His Dice

VENICE, Calif. (AP)—Police said Cecil Rice, 30, drew cold dice but got so hot after the game that he tried to set the winner on fire.

Officers said Rice lost $30 in a dice game Saturday and then left the home of Lonnie McClain, 38, the winner. He returned with two gallons of gasoline, poured some on McClain and tried to ignite him after setting fire to his house.

Rice was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

TV Stars Plan to Marry

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television actors Burt Reynolds, who plays the blacksmith in "Gunsmoke," and Judy Carey, daughter of the English family in "Fair Exchange" plan to wed June 29, a CBS spokesman says.

It lies whitely in the sun and dust now, only partially completed. But eventually it will provide homes for 35,000 people who now live eight and ten to a room in the unsanitary hopelessness of the slums which press in upon Bogota from all sides.

President Kennedy laid the first brick for the project in December 1961.
