Violence Flares Anew as Negro Starts Class

Longshoremen Hit With Taft-Hartley

NEW YORK (U)—Longshoremen quit work on Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports today after their contract expired. Within 10 hours, President Kennedy invoked the Taft-Hartley Act in an attempt to end the work stoppage.

The presidential action, the first step in Taft-Hartley machinery, appeared to be the only immediate likelihood of bringing the unionized longshoremen back to docks from New England to Texas.

OKs Asking $8 Million for County

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors today approved seeking nearly $8 million in federal grants under the new Department of Public Works Acceleration Act.

Now included among 12 projects for which the board is applying for the federal matching funds is a $2-million, civic auditorium proposed for construction on the Michigan State University Oakland campus.

In asking for the board's overall approval of applying for the funds, Ways and Means Committee Chairman David Levinson said the proposed auditorium would not cost the county a cent, although it would be constructed for the benefit of all persons in the county.

An interested citizens group already has raised $37,000 toward the local share of the auditorium's cost, which would be half of the total $2 million, he said.

The other 11 projects call for further development of the County Service Center on Telegraph Road. These projects include plans for a Children's Village, where all county juvenile facilities would be centralized and expanded, a second wing on the courthouse at a cost of $1,008,000, and additional utilities at the service center, including water and sewer lines and more parking lots.

An amendment to Levinson's recommendation, which would have given the Children's Village priority over the other proposed projects at the center, was defeated by a majority vote of the board.

The construction priority was sought by White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Chezy, who later said he is anxious "to see the county do something for children before it builds any more additions to the courthouse."

Burned-Out Cars in Front of Ole Miss Lyceum

Campus Shambles After Riots

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — By dawn's early light the University of Mississippi campus lay in shambles.

At least 15 automobiles lay smashed or smoldering from flames that consumed them in last night's riot.

The campus was strewn with broken glass, soft drink bottles, sticks and small bottles that were used by the rioters.

Some windows in the Lyceum Building, which is the main administration building on the campus, were smashed.

One station wagon that was burned could hardly be recognized as a vehicle. Other cars had been literally pounded to pieces.

As day broke on the campus the place resembled a battlefield being mopped up by troops.

Army units were marching in battalion strength to the cadence of "step-two-three-four" from commanding officers. Other soldiers were killing on the grass in a rest area.

In the final stages of last night's demonstration, rioters tried to smash everything in sight and managed to plunge most of the campus into darkness by breaking out streetlights.

A bulldozer that was commandeered by the mob at one point last night was parked in front of the Lyceum Building where it had stalled.

A fire truck which students named in a tug-of-war with federal marshals who finally captured it also parked in front of the Lyceum. Its hoses were gone, its lights and windshield smashed.

Outside the Lyceum Building a force of battered but sturdy Unit 1 State marshals still held their firm, thin line.

Meanwhile, the editor of the student newspaper told her fellow students they are bringing "dishonor and shame" to their university and state by participating in riots.

An appeal was made in a regular edition of the Mississippi Journalism students put out today as usual despite the sounds of gunfire and exploding tear gas shells which rang in their ears as they worked.

Barnett's Plea 'Not Surrender'

Says Call for Order Was Misunderstood

From Our News Wire

JACKSON, Miss. — Gov. Ross Barnett, who issued a plea for peace and order yesterday upon learning that James Meredith had entered the University of Mississippi campus, said today the plea was not a surrender.

"We will never surrender," the governor said.

He delivered his plea shortly after receiving a telephone call from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy informing him that Meredith had been escorted on the campus.

"My heart still says 'never,' but my calm judgment abhors the bloodshed that would follow," said Barnett.

Today he said some persons had wrongly interpreted his plea to mean he was weakening in his defiance of integration orders. "I repeat to the people of Mississippi: I will never yield a single inch," he said.

Barnett planned to send his attorneys to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today—perhaps to seek removal of the stern penalties for contempt leveled against him.

Attorneys for the governor are scheduled to appear before the appellate court in New Orleans, La., this afternoon.

Apparently they will ask the judges to rescind the civil contempt finding against Barnett and perhaps also against U.S. Gov. Paul Johnson, who once prevented Meredith from registering.

Barnett must purge himself of contempt by 11 a.m. tomorrow or he will be jailed and fined $10,000 daily. This was the penalty set by eight appeals judges for blocking entrance of James H. Meredith, 29, Negro, in the University of Mississippi.

Part of the purge may come last night when Barnett, an emotional message to Mississippi citizens, indirectly said he was giving up physical resistance to federal court edict.

"We are now completely surrounded by armed forces and we are physically overpowered," he said in a statement issued from the governor's mansion where he spent the night.

In the statement, issued before the rioting began on the Ole Miss campus at Oxford, 130 miles away, the 64-year-old governor vowed he would "never yield a single inch in my determination to win the fight we are all engaged in."

National Guard Shoots Over Heads of Mob

Troops Fight Crowd in Campus Town of U. of Mississippi

OXFORD, Miss. (U)—James H. Meredith, 29, a Negro, enrolled in the University of Mississippi today under the bayoneted rifles of the federal government. Minutes later renewed violence began in downtown Oxford.

Mississippi National Guard troops — under federal order—fired over the heads of an angry mob in downtown Oxford in a pitched battle.

The Tupelo, Miss., guardsmen drove away a mob from which the sound of firing sounded minutes before, using the threat of bayonets.

The new outbreak of disorder came after a lull in night-long rioting in which two persons—a newsman and an Oxford resident—were killed.

Federal troops numbering 4,000 took over the courthouse square of this seething town of 5,283. With bayonets at the ready, they blasted groups of angry youths into rout with tear gas.

Business ground to a virtual halt in the heart of town. Doors to many shops were locked.

Arrests jumped to 112. Officers of the riot-trained Military Police said many of those taken into custody lived up to 500 miles away.

VENT WRATH

Roving groups of incensed Southerners vented their passions in bitterness over the registration of Meredith — the first Negro knowingly admitted to Ole Miss in its 114-year-old history.

Meredith registered as a student in a 15-minute session with the registrar, Robert Ellis, that began at 8:15 a.m. during which angry students gathered across the street.

Meredith emerged smiling—his customary smile that seems to mask any nervousness he might feel.

Immediately he got lost with his marshal escort en route to his first class, regrouped to the scene of his registration and left soon thereafter in a caravan of Army vehicles.

Tangible evidence that the passions of the night hadn't blown away came from jeering, shouting students.

The 11 hours of violence on the campus during the night officially ended at 6:15 a.m. when Brig. Gen. Charles Billingsley, commander of the federal troops in Mississippi, said: "I now declare this area secure."

But, in fact, the bayonets and the gas launchers of his men cleared only the campus and 40 minutes later the first of the rearguard trouble hit the streets of Oxford, close to the guarded fringes of the school itself.

After some building of momentum, groups of men and youths, many carrying soft drink cartons as ammunition holders—appeared at many intersections.

BOTTLES FLY

The bottles began to fly through windshields and bang against the side of Army jeeps, even the cars of the passing citizens of Oxford. In Washington, the Justice Department said that Meredith's entry into the campus Sunday came only after Gov. Ross Barnett (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

JFK Reaffirms Stand to Preserve Law, Order

From Our News Wire

WASHINGTON — The White House today reaffirmed President Kennedy's determination to "do whatever is necessary to preserve law and order" in the Mississippi desegregation crisis.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger was silent, however, on possible further federal moves.

The Chief Executive conferred with key aides until 4:30 a.m. Pontiac time and then resumed the strategy talks four hours later after a brief sleep.

With Negro James H. Meredith attending classes at the University of Mississippi at Oxford, the President and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy kept in close touch with developments at Oxford.

But Salinger deferred any comment on specific government action designed to keep peace on the campus until at least this afternoon.

He said, however, that Kennedy also had been in consultation with Burke Marshall, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division.

'Flying' Stewardess Testifies Before House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A dark-haired former stewardess testified today before a House subcommittee investigating charges of lax safety practices in civil aviation.

Miss Dorothy said her stint at the controls of a big Eastern Airlines plane grew out of a job in conversation with the pilot and a flight from Atlanta to New York in 1953.

The sharply former stewardess said she was in control of the plane for 35 to 40 minutes. The subcommittee also heard from:

- A former Trans World Airlines' purser who said he flew planes about two dozen times during a five-year period.
- A former Pan American Airways stewardess who saw a stewardess at the pilot's controls of a flight.
- A veteran flight engineer who testified to witnessing "frequent" safety infractions during a 20-year career with Western Airlines.

Daisy Threatens to Halt Schirra's 6-Orbit Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Chances of astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. making his projected six-orbit flight on Wednesday were listed at 50-50 today because of weather threats.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that a weather briefing that the main concern was tropical storm Daisy, whose 6-mph-per-hour winds were taking dead aim at the area in the Atlantic where Schirra would land if his flight were terminated after three orbits.

Senator Calls Gen. Walker 'a Sick Man'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who has participated in rioting at the University of Mississippi was described in the Senate today as possibly a "sick man" who "ought to be committed" and was linked with "violent segregationists or psychopaths."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., told the Senate that if Walker led students in rioting against federal authority he should be charged with "inciting an insurrection."

"As an ex-army officer," Morse said, "Walker's conduct is all the more reprehensible."

"Maybe he's a sick man," Morse continued. "If he is he ought to be committed." He ought not to be at large."

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, told the Senate this is a time for cool heads, and not for "the ranting of violent segregationists or psychopaths such as ex-Gen. Edwin A. Walker."

Young said if Walker made the statements attributed to him, "I am glad he is an ex-general and a private citizen instead of in command of any youth in this country."

"I told him in utmost contempt for his appearance on the campus of this great university, 'Old Miss,' and for attempting to lead a charge of some 1,000 unruly students against United States marshals," Young said.

Disenchanted from Oxford, Miss., said Walker sought to lead a charge by rioters against U.S. marshals, and quoted him as saying to students: "If you can't win, go home. Don't let's not quit. We can win."

Rioting as Negro Enrolls

...sett, leader of his state's resistance, had capitulated by telephone to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Sunday morning.

Justice officials said the Mississippi governor promised:

- That he would see that U.S. marshals and Meredith would be admitted to the campus without opposition and would "guarantee to preserve law and order with state police or in cooperation with U.S. marshals" against any violence which might erupt.

On Capitol Hill Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., told the Senate that "incompetency and unjustified actions" by Justice Department officials and U.S. marshals provoked the riot on the University of Mississippi campus.

Eastland, who heads the Senate Judiciary Committee, said an investigation by his committee and the entire Mississippi congressional delegation had been invited.

READS RESUME

Eastland said he had received a resume he said he had sent from University of Mississippi officials of events related to the registration of James H. Meredith, 29-year-old Negro who obtained a court order that the university must enroll him as a student.

The resume said the rioting was touched off by "the unfortunate firing of gas shells" by U.S. marshals stationed on the campus to protect Meredith.

At the outset of last night's violence, the Mississippi Highway Patrol withdrew from the gas-fueled field of battle and did not return.

Col. Tom Birdson, the patrol commander, said the patrolmen had deflected gas masks.

In Jackson, Gov. Barnett—who had sworn to go to jail rather than submit—was not available for comment on the disorders or the attorney general's statement.

Barnett indirectly gave up physical resistance yesterday in a public statement to his citizens. President Kennedy broadcast a nationwide appeal for public order.

Still, aroused students and the students said gunfiring outside—exploded into wild disorder even as President Kennedy made his plea.

Armed escorts—either federal marshals or regular troops—Meredith into the Lyceum, the administration building of Ole Miss, about 8:15 a.m.

Because of the Sabbath, university officials had refused to complete admission when Meredith first arrived on the campus. He had stayed in a college apartment overnight.

When Meredith went to be registered, incredible litter clogged the campus streets—the hulks of more than half a dozen burned-out cars and trucks, the glittering shards of soft drink bottles, exploded tear gas shells, bricks and stones.

Two persons had been killed and 20 injured. Ninety-three had been arrested. In addition to seven burned out cars and trucks, 20 other vehicles had been badly damaged.

Senate Passes JFK's Public Works Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today passed 63-8 and sent to conference with the House the $2,217,400 public works money bill.

The Senate began debating the bill Saturday, defeating 44-16 a Republican attempt to chop $20 million off the $200 million carried in the bill for job-making projects in distressed areas.

This $200-million allotment was included under the $400-million emergency public works authorization requested by President Kennedy and sent to him by Congress Sept. 10.

Mississippi's Infamous World Reacts to 'Crisis'

The Soviet Tax News Agency informed Russian readers that President Kennedy had called for a "peaceful settlement of the Mississippi violence. It said he was forced to act "under pressure of public opinion."

The Times of London said the Oxford, Miss., showdown proved a Little Rock desegregation battle in 1957.

In Singapore, the newspaper Straits Times said "there have been few graver crises in American domestic history."

It supported President Kennedy's stand and said Mississippi is a battle he must win "no matter at what cost."

BOBBY KENNEDY PRAISED

The Paris afternoon newspaper Le Monde praised Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy's direction of the federal forces in Mississippi.

"The inflammatory suggestions of Barnett and resigned Major General Edwin Walker have borne their fruits: blood ran Sunday evening in Oxford and tension seemed to be growing Monday morning," Le Monde said.

The Vienna newspaper Arbeiter-Zeitung, called the Mississippi governor a man "who wants to provoke another Little Rock."

It supported President Kennedy's stand and said Mississippi is a battle he must win "no matter at what cost."

The Day in Birmingham City, Bloomfield Township Will Consider Rezoning

BIRMINGHAM—Two rezoning requests, one of them strongly opposed by a neighborhood improvement association, will be considered tonight in Bloomfield Township and Birmingham.

It is near a site on Woodward Avenue which is being considered as the location for construction of a $1.8 million motel, restaurant.

Developers of the motel-restaurant are seeking to have the Woodward Avenue property between Big Beaver and Main Roads rezoned for commercial use. It also is presently zoned for residential purposes.

The rezoning for the restaurant motel has been turned down by the planning commission and its backers have appealed their request to the Township Board of Trustees.

The township board must make the final decision in all rezoning cases.

Scheduled to come before the Birmingham City Commission tonight is a request to rezone a small, triangular-shaped piece of property near the northeastern city limits from residential to neighborhood business.

The property, less than an acre in size, is just south of the Bloomfield Township-Birmingham border between Adams Road and the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks.

The railroad and the Cranbrook Realty Co. have asked for the Birmingham rezoning.

JFK Is Determined to Maintain Order

Special Consultant Theodore C. Sorensen and special assistants Kenneth O'Donnell and Lawrence F. O'Brien.

The President returned to his office this morning after staying up most of the night to keep watch on the campus crisis. He was able to get but four hours of rest.

Kennedy made it clear in a radio-television speech last night that he would use whatever force was necessary, including federal troops, to enforce the court order for Negro James H. Meredith's admission.

But he had hoped U.S. marshals could do the job.

The President declared it was his inescapable duty to call out troops when Mississippi defied court orders to enroll Meredith at the state university.

Grim, yet conciliatory at times, the President said in his short address to the nation that he hoped it would be unnecessary to use troops, even though conciliation and persuasion had failed to open Meredith's admission.

After his address, Kennedy said he would be in the White House getting up-to-the-minute reports on rioting, gunfire and tear gas sweeping across the university campus at Oxford — and the arrival on the scene of federal military reinforcements.

Man-Sought in County Abduction-Robbery

He identified himself as James Wilson, 27.

Wilson walked into the sheriff's office in Pontiac with Attorney David Wiley of Pontiac saying he had been out of town since the Sept. 5 robbery that resulted in the death of one bandit and the arrest of three others charged with the crime.

Wilson told deputies he had spent part of the money taken in the robbery.

He said he had been traveling throughout the country and even went into Mexico because he was scared.

He returned to give himself up after phoning his father from Yuma, Ariz., he said.

They said a member of Wilson's family contacted him and asked him to intervene.

Wilson, a U.S. Marine for nine years, left the service July 12, he told sheriff's deputies.

He is being held for questioning by Royal Oak police.

"The more impressive look of this car," announced J. P. Wolfgram, General Motors vice president, heralded the new line.

Overall length of the F85 has been increased only four inches, and the maneuverability of its 112-inch wheelbase has been retained.

The new models will be displayed Oct. 4 in this area at Jerome Motors Sales Co., 280 S. Saginaw St., Houghton & Son, 523 N. Main St., Rochester; and Haskins Chevrolet-Olds, Dixie Highway at M15, Independence Township.

The Jeffire, Oldsmobile's exclusive turbo-charged hardtop coupe, has been designed inside and out for even greater sports car styling appeal.

In addition to the Jeffire, other sports-type models in the F85 line include the Cutlass coupe and the Cutlass convertible.

The interiors of all F85 models are fashioned for smarter, richer appearance.

On all models the instrument panel has been redesigned for improved appearance and readability with recessed control knobs for greater safety.

The Hydra-Matic transmission, Wolfgram said, "is much smoother than the transmission of the full-sized Oldsmobile 88 and 98."

Reaction to JFK Appeal Is Split

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional reaction to President Kennedy's appeal for integration is split generally, with some urging compliance by Mississippi and others opposing it. Kennedy's address to the nation on Sunday night was the first since the University of Mississippi in Jackson refused to admit Negro students.

PLAYWRIGHT'S BABY — A daughter, third wife, the former Ingeborg Morath. They are Rebecca Augusta, was born Sept. 15 in New York City to playwright Arthur Miller and his first wife, Ingeborg Morath.

Senators from the North and West praised it as being an expression of the public will. Some, however, as between Sen. Alan J. Ellender, D-La., referring to federal court orders demanding admission of Negro James H. Meredith to the all-white University of Mississippi. Ellender said: "I don't like the decision of the court in this case a minute, but since it is the law, I don't see how it can be bypassed."

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said succinctly, "I disagree entirely with the President's speech."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, of Montana, said, "Thank God that reason, understanding and law seem to have prevailed."

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., called the address "both a strong and reasonable statement."

SUPPORT FROM GOP

The President's speech drew support from Republicans, too. Sen. Everett Starnes, R-Mass., said, "I thought the President expressed the sentiments of the government and the people of the United States extremely well."

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said of the speech, "Of course, I agree with it and I hope it will be effective."

Eastland joined Sen. John Stennis and five of Mississippi's six House members in a statement denouncing the speech and Kennedy's actions in marshaling federal forces to back up the court orders.

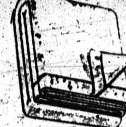

"Just as we have in the past, we shall continue to oppose the invasion of the civil rights of all the people of these United States and the concentration of all power government into some form of a totalitarian state," they declared.

Former President Harry S. Truman, in a Kansas City interview, commented that Kennedy "is on the right track. He's doing exactly what he should do. To straighten it out, he should take whatever steps are necessary."

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., in a political meeting at Beverly Hills, Calif., called the Mississippi crisis "sad and disgraceful" but praised Kennedy's handling of it.

Detroit Tax to Bear Fruit This Month

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit city treasurer's office was expected to receive between $5 and $6 million this month in the first quarterly returns of the city's income tax.

The amount, withheld from paychecks of persons employed in Detroit, is due to be collected before Oct. 31.

However, Detroit has already collected some tax money, about $25,000 from 422 employers who prefer to remit the withholding monthly rather than quarterly.

The 1 per cent income levy went into effect July 1 despite the protest of suburban residents, many of whom work in Detroit. City Treasurer Charles N. Williams says employers should receive the forms by today or tomorrow.

Albert L. Warren, director of the income tax division, said that by mid-November the city should be able to gauge just how much the tax will produce annually in new revenue.

Ex-SS Men Gather

BAD WINDSHEIM, Germany (AP) — More than 1,000 former members of the Nazi SS (Elite Guard) 8th Mountain Division held a reunion here Sunday behind closed doors. Then they marched in silence through this small Bavarian town to a war crash landed at the Hurn County memorial for a ceremony in memory of fallen comrades.

Cornelius Terwilliger, 37, and Otto Engler, 39, were taken to Hubbard Hospital. Neither was believed to be in serious condition.

BAD AXE (AP) — Two Bad Axe men were injured Sunday when an airplane in which they were making a test flight after repairs crash landed at the Huron County memorial for a ceremony in memory of fallen comrades.

Note From JFK
Caps Weekend
for Nurse Class

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—The junior class at Wheeling Hospital School of Nursing got a surprise telegram Sunday.
The telegram said, "If we ever sick we will go to the Wheeling Hospital," signed, "President Kennedy and White House staff."
The 23 girls of the junior class turned out along the motorcade route here when President Kennedy visited Wheeling last Thursday night for a political speech.
They presented the President with an engraved paperweight in the shape of a nurse's cap.

Sputnik Plus Five

The U.S. led off 1960 in space in March when the Pioneer V interplanetary probe set a long-distance radio transmission record of 29 million miles. Even more successful was Time 1, launched in April. World's first weather satellite, it relayed thousands of pictures of the earth's cloud patterns.

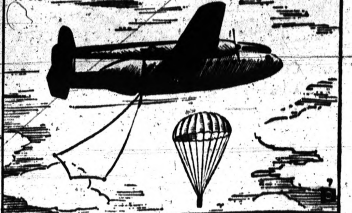

(7) Parade of Satellites

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

April also saw the launching of Transit 1-B, the first navigational satellite. In August, Echo 1 became the largest satellite put into orbit. The 100-foot-diameter reflecting balloon paved the way for a world-wide communications system.

In preparation for manned space flight, Russia announced in May the launching of its first "space ship." A malfunction (first ever admitted by them) sent it into a higher orbit instead of bringing it back to earth. On Aug. 11, the U.S. was first to recover a satellite from space when divers retrieved the 300-pound Discoverer XIII capsule from the Pacific. A week later, Discoverer XIV was snagged in mid-air, a feat which became routine. On Aug. 20, Russia recovered another spaceship containing two dogs and other animals after 17 orbits. Clearly, the coming year would see men go into space.

It Seems to Me

Mississippi's Governor Barnett
Is Fighting a Stupid Battle

Has "Ole Miss" gone crazy?
Is she trying to declare war?
How can a reputable and established University and Governor defy the Government, the Constitution and the Federal courts in the reasonably enlightened year of 1962?

Why even the minor league malcontents on the Pontiac City Commission are only presuming to challenge the Constitution. They have no plans for opposing the Army, Navy and Federal courts.
Governor ROSS BARNETT is making a ridiculous and pitiful spectacle of himself by taking on everything in sight and during the whole Nation to integrate a colored student in his university. His attitude is revolting to the point of nausea. Colleague integration is an established matter. It isn't an academic theory open to debate. It hasn't been assigned to some districts and not to others. It applies everywhere. Mississippi's no exception.

The Governor of this recalcitrant commonwealth is in high contempt of court. He has all the rights that accrue to every American. He can argue his viewpoint, fight his battle and labor diligently in behalf of his own cause. He can even hear invectives and resounding criticism on judicial personnel. BUT HE CAN'T DEFY THE U.S.
And that's what he's doing.

He has engaged a former president of the American Bar Association to represent his losing cause in court. But it will be of no avail. "Ole Miss" will capitulate. Otherwise, this great Nation has two sets of laws: one for the 180 odd million that represent the rest of us; and a special value for those that reside in Mississippi.

How can a man knowingly make such a spectacle of himself? And if it isn't done "knowingly," how did a man of such lesser intelligence get to be Governor of Mississippi? Someone better break the news to this belligerent czar that the Civil War's over and the rules were changed a 100 years ago.
It's time the U.S. Government blew the whistle — once — and for good.

Mississippi has given this Nation a black, black eye all over the world. There have been so many U.S. success stories that an unfavorable one gets tremendous attention. It receives front page prominence far, far beyond its actual value. The Russian press will scream about this daily and place the worst possible interpretations on everything that happens. So will her satellites and all other enemies of which we have an uncomfortable number. Neutral nations and even our friends will reluctantly follow along.
Governor Barnett is probably the worst publicist the United States has had in all history.

Truck and Coach

General Manager CALVIN JO WERNER's report on the past year's operations of the GMC Truck and Coach Division is most heartening. It's a tremendous and almost incredible report.
The division hung up a 34 per cent increase over the previous year which is more than double the 16 per cent recorded by the truck industry as a whole.

For many decades, the Truck plant has been popularly referred to as "the balance wheel of Pontiac." When other things lagged, the Truck company usually continued perking at a normal or even slightly accelerated pace, and thus held the community together.

Citizens of this entire area are proud of the big institution on South Boulevard. Its products are champions in a wide succession of lines and activities and its name stands forth proudly and prominently in a tremendously varied and competitive industry.

Are Dems Worried?

The Democrats are really scared of the Michigan election.
President JOHN F. KENNEDY has been officially scheduled to make — not one, but two — appearances in this great commonwealth between now and voting day. That's a record assignment for the President of the United States.

They are judiciously spaced apart to develop the maximum impact. Nothing has been left to chance. Apparently someone with authority and someone who knows the way the wind is blowing pressed the panic button. Washington has been alerted. And JFK will respond.

It's on his agenda already. A few years ago, Michigan lost a U.S. Senate seat when President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER refused to make more than one brief, token appearance in Michigan at a time when he was desperately needed.

He merely gave the Wolverine commonwealth lip service and his candidate, Homer Ferguson, went down to defeat by a very narrow margin. A real honest "hurrah-boys" appearance by EISENHOWER would have saved the day.
But GOP headquarters ruled otherwise.

The Dems don't intend to drop the same little pop fly.

And in Conclusion

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:
Someone at ringside in Chicago, said it was the first time the "Star Spangled Banner" took longer than the fight.
"British Motors" is authority for the statement there are 20,000 assembled pieces in an automobile and an accuracy of 99.99 leaves room for 20 mistakes. Think of the thousands of all star craftsmen we have working here in our own city.
You can rent a mink coat for two hours in New York for $75 and a limousine for an additional $16.
"People in the United States can be divided into two classes: the 'haves' and the 'have mopes'."
Hollywood is living off TV filming. Costs have sent the majority of the big pictures to foreign lands.

I can't prove it but I'll bet a sugar cookie Gary Jay Gubner will break the world's record in the shot put by a full foot within a year. He's reputedly the strongest young man in the world.
Trusted scouts advise me Beverly Jean Noshachuk deserves rating

BEVERLY

David Lawrence Says:

Mississippi Entitled to a Hearing

WASHINGTON — There is nothing in the Constitution of the United States or in the laws passed by Congress which authorizes the use of Federal troops to compel any public educational institution to admit a certain student just because he demands that he be enrolled.

There is nothing in the Constitution which denies the government of a state an opportunity to be heard by the full membership of the Supreme Court of the United States in a dispute between a state and the Federal authority.

There is nothing LAWRENCE in the Constitution which even mentions "education" as one of the subjects coming within the powers of the Federal government.

Whatever authority the Department of Justice or the Federal courts claim today in this field is derived from a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1954 which gave no legal reason but only "sociological" considerations for an argument for reversing an 1896 decision that "separate but equal" facilities in dealing with segregation.

The 1954 decision cited the Fourteenth Amendment as the basis for the ruling, but the amendment was never legally adopted by the necessary number of states. In fact, the legislatures of some of the Southern states were compelled at the point of the bayonet by Federal troops to "ratify" it.

Since this happened in 1958 — three years after the War between the States was over — the Supreme Court of the United States has never been willing to rule on the validity of the process by which the 14th Amendment was allegedly ratified.

Yet one of the ten original as one of the area's especially attractive young ladies. I agree.

Someone suggests we shouldn't get too downhearted as the Russian astronauts will never get to the moon ahead of our national debt.

California Democrats ascribe Nixon's campaign as "how to try in politics without really succeeding."

Asked if he saw the Patterson-Liston fight, "Slap Maxie" ROSENBLUM said: "Naw. Them fights make me sick." And a bystander remarked: "I understand, Maxie. I saw you fight three times."

Scientists say when the moon rocket is fired, the noise will be so terrific, people will be vacated within a radius of 15 miles.

amendments — known as "The Bill of Rights" and duly ratified in 1791 — does say that no person shall be "deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law."
Gov. Barnett nevertheless has been threatened with jail — without due process of law.

Last Saturday Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in a telephone address to the American Bar Association convention at San Francisco, said that the distinguished lawyers of Mississippi had not spoken out in the battle over integration.

Apparently Mr. Kennedy didn't note the speech made in the Senate just two days before by Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, one of the ablest lawyers in the country.

He told of the origin of the case, of James Meredith, the Negro applicant, as a private adult against the board of trustees of Mississippi's state university and how a learned judge of the U.S. District Court ruled that the Mississippi College authorities were justified in denying admission to Meredith.

Mr. Stennis described the subsequent legal battles in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He referred to the fact that in the Circuit Court of Appeals one judge said he thought Meredith would be a troublemaker and should be denied admission.

But the main point of criticism by Sen. Stennis was that the state of Mississippi was being denied a hearing by the Supreme Court of the United States. The Constitution specifically provides that the Supreme Court must hear as a matter of "original jurisdiction" all cases involving a conflict between a state and the Federal government and that the lower courts have no right to decide such a question.

Dr. Wayne Brandstadt Says:

Variety of Problems Posed by Influenza

Every cough is not pneumonia although some persons like to think it is. By the same token every cold is not influenza.

Whereas the common cold may run its course with little or no fever, influenza is accompanied by a fever and, in general, the symptoms — headache, generalized aching, and weakness — are more severe.

Influenza is much more likely to lead to pneumonia and that is what makes it a disease to be dreaded in spite of the new drugs now available to combat such complications.

There are several strains of influenza virus. Unfortunately, the vaccine that protects against one strain will not protect against the others.

In order to overcome this difficulty several strains are sometimes combined in one vaccine, but this does not always solve the problem.

Influenza has the habit of spreading rapidly from city to city, state to state and now with our greatly accelerated means of travel, from continent to continent.

A person who is exposed to influenza in Paris may feel fine, board a plane, land in the United States still feeling fine, and have a sudden onset of the disease that night or the next morning.

Voice of the People:
Tell of Need for Stoplight at Five Points Intersection

Tuesday there was another accident at the Five Points intersection. This one was more serious than many during the past three years, but fortunately no one was killed. This intersection, located at the entrance of MSU, handles upwards of 1,000 cars twice daily at its peak traffic hours.

Many requests by student groups and administrative personnel have been ignored by the road commission. Finally an attempt was made to improve the situation by painting large yellow letters on the pavement. Right after this was completed, another accident occurred. Certainly this does not speak well for the engineering department of the road commission. Could it be that not as much thought was spent on this problem as some people have been led to believe?

It seems ironical that a state known as the automobile capital of the world and a state that leads the nation in its highway development does not have the manpower or the ability to find a workable, efficient solution to a problem that gets worse every year.

James D. Bruckner
MSU Junior

At five separate times at the Five Points intersection we have had serious accidents in our front yard, just feet from our house.

It has become a risk to even leave. The Pontiac Press warned and asked for traffic control but got none. On Oct. 18 another fatal accident brought a letter from Mrs. Gordon Lindsay and last Tuesday it took two ambulances to take the injured to the hospital.

Over 20 years ago my mother and others petitioned for a traffic light and since then others have made similar requests but to no avail. How many will have to be killed before proper traffic lights are installed?
Mrs. James Wells

Something should be done right away in regards to a traffic light at the Five Points intersection. There have been two serious accidents within a week. If we can't have a light let's lower the speed limit.

One Who Is Concerned
For the second time in less than a week there was an accident at the Five Points intersection. Within an hour of the second accident a third was narrowly avoided as a man ditched his car to avoid a collision.

When do we get action?

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Duck Hunting
Des Moines Register
Duck hunting moved one more step toward becoming just another page in the memory books of Midwestern sportsmen with announcement of this fall's regulations. That's a step was the shortening of the open season by another five days and the constitution of the daily limit of two birds.

Both restrictions will cut the size of the kill and help preserve dwindling duck numbers. They are both wise and necessary as most avid duck hunters will agree.

The question actually is whether or not they are too liberal. A good many sportsmen are reluctantly coming around to the conclusion that it might be even wiser to close the season entirely for a year or two in hopes of achieving a real comeback in the duck breeding while there is still a chance.

The major obstacle to such drastic action is that it would cut off receipts from the sale of federal migratory bird stamps. These receipts together with private and organized donations finance the purchase and maintenance of breeding areas in the northern states and Canada. The argument that any curtailment of this program would result in greater reductions in the duck population than the short seasons and shotgun bag limits is difficult to refute.

The amerie action of the United States in defense of its own interests, a type of ingenueness that should not be permitted among leading officials, and the very human desire not to expose its youth to the tragic consequences of an armed clash, have permitted the blackball by Cuba to reach the level of provocation of the establishment of a Russian military base in the island.

Cuba-Berlin Deal Ruled Out by Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says there is no possibility of a deal to end Soviet intervention in Cuba for Western concessions on Berlin or American bases abroad.

"You cannot support freedom in one place by surrendering freedom in another," Rusk said in reply to a question.

"In any event, we have special commitments here in this hemisphere under our hemisphere charters, and we cannot connect in negotiations or in trades the problem of Cuba with the defense of freedom in other places."

Rusk's comments were made in a pre-recorded television interview.

'Fair Lady' Takes Leave of Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—"My Fair Lady," the longest running musical in theatrical history, is gone from Broadway after 2,117 performances over a 9½-year span.

But don't bet it won't come back for a curtain call — someday. All the elaborate settings are being stored away for a possible revival production.

The last performance of the current run went off Saturday night amid tumultuous cheers, some sentimental tears and farewell champagne toasts by the cast.

"My Fair Lady" grossed $85 million in its runs on Broadway and elsewhere and through sale of record albums before bowing out of the Time Square scene.

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special)—One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results—here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids—without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observation. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H® or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

More Arrests Seen in Yemen

Executions Reported Under Military Rulers

ADEN (AP) — The new military rulers of Yemen have announced more executions and arrests, apparently tightening their grip on the little Red Sea country. They also claimed Soviet as well as United Arab Republic support for their regime.

Unconfirmed reports told of various moves within the country aimed at crushing the revolutionary regime and restoring the monarchy.

The radio at San'a, mountain capital controlled by the military regime, said five more members or supporters of the royal family were executed Friday. It brought to 17 the total of the slaying of the Imam, or king, Muhammad Al-Badr.

A broadcast also said a public trial of collaborators with the old regime.

The Yemeni legation in Jordan said the claimant to the throne, Prince Sali al-Islam al-Hassan has arrived in Yemen. The Jordan radio said Hassan had set up a headquarters and established subcommands for a drive by loyalists against the regime headed by Col. Abdullah Salal.

There was no way of verifying the reports, including one that royalist tribal units were marching toward San'a in three columns. Almost the only source of information from inside Yemen was the San'a radio controlled by the rebels.

President Expected to Urge Domestic Peace Corps

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — One of the hottest legislative packages that President Kennedy expects to unveil for the 86th Congress next January is a bill to create a "domestic peace corps."

The first to do so will be President's sister, Eunice Kennedy Shriver, who raised a total of $100,000 for the creation of such a corps in a speech at Chicago last week.

Her husband, Senator Shriver, heads the present Peace Corps, an exclusively overseas operation which has proved to be the most popular single innovation of the Kennedy administration.

The idea of a peace corps immediately drew the imagination of youthful voters when candidate John F. Kennedy began talking about it, almost in offhand fashion, during his '60 presidential campaign.

Both houses have passed an authorization of $63,750,000, the full amount requested by Shriver and the President.

The House subsequently trimmed the appropriation to $60,000,000, but the Senate is expected to restore at least part of the cut when it takes up the foreign aid bill next week.

No estimates are yet available on the cost or size of a proposed domestic peace corps. It also remains to be seen whether adventure-loving youths would be as eager to volunteer for work in city slums of America as in the more remote sounding jungles and mud villages of foreign lands.

Mississippi Fatality Was Desk Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Guillard, 30, the reporter who was killed last night at the University of Mississippi, worked in the New York Bureau of Agence-France Presse. He also was a part-time correspondent for the London Daily Sketch.

Guillard, normally a desk editor, had been assigned to the integration story on his day off because his office was short-handed.

He arrived in Mississippi yesterday, filed his first story from Jackson, then proceeded to Oxford.

An editor of Agence France Presse said Guillard described the atmosphere at Oxford as "absolutely unreal," and compared it to a carnival. HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Meredith Wilson, 50, composer-conductor of radio, stage and movies, is reported recovering satisfactorily after an emergency appendectomy.

Upset Possible in Primary

Hawaiian Governor Opposed

HONOLULU (AP) — Republican Gov. William F. Quinn, seeking reelection to the post he has held since 1957, is facing opposition in Hawaii's primary election Oct. 6.

His rival is Lt. Gov. James K. Kono, Hawaiian-born, who is pushing a "local boy" appeal. Kono has the support of the influential International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Results of the U. S. senatorial primary are regarded as a foregone conclusion that will set up a colorful November election contest between the son of a poor Japanese immigrant and a member of one of the islands' oldest and richest families.

The immigrant's son, Rep. Daniel K. Inouye, 37, a Democrat, has only taken primary opposition Benjamin F. Dillingham II, 45, of the old family, is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

They will vie in November for the seat being vacated by Sen. Green E. Long, 73, who is retiring.

Inouye's primary opponent is little-known Francis John Troy, 36, a bachelor who bills himself as "Fighting Frank."

In other primary action, six Democrats and three Republicans are seeking nominations for the congressional seat being vacated by Inouye and a second congressional spot set aside for Hawaii for the first time.

The successful candidates will run at large because no agreement has been reached on setting up individual districts. The Democrats are favored generally to take both seats in November regardless of the primary outcome.

Unofficial tabulations indicate there'll be a record registration, and in Hawaii pretty well everyone who registers votes.

Where tabulations have become official — on the heavily populated island of Oahu and the more sparsely inhabited island of Hawaii — the new count represents 6 1/2 per cent cast Oct. 1960.

Inouye and Dillingham have been spending much of their time in the primary dickering about whether or not they should get into a public debate.

Jordanians, Israelis
Clash at Border

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordanian and Israeli forces exchanged fire for two hours in a border incident in the Tulkarm area yesterday, a military spokesman announced.

The spokesman said a Jordanian patrol met a jeep carrying six Israeli soldiers near the village of Hazlet Issa.

Shots were exchanged and the Israelis were joined by two more military vehicles from their side of the border, the spokesman continued. He said firing continued for two hours, then the Israelis withdrew.

The spokesman said there were no Jordanian casualties. The Jordanian authorities filed a complaint with the U.N. Mixed Armistice Committee.

State Traffic Kills 14; 2 Die in Fire, River

By The Associated Press
Fourteen persons have died, seven of them in a two-car crash near Cadillac, in Michigan highway traffic this weekend. There was one drowning in the state and one fire fatality.

Five Roman Catholic nuns died in the two-car collision. Two Indians, occupants of the second car, also died and two other nuns remain in serious condition. The Associated Press weekend fatality tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

One of the traffic deaths—that of 15-year-old Mary Ann Schaper of Burt—touched off a massive state police hunt for the motorist who allegedly failed to stop after the accident.

State police, supported by the Lansing Crime Laboratory, pieced together shreds of evidence from bits of clothing and came up with the leads that led to apprehension of a motorist who admitted he was the driver involved.

William La Canne, 38, of Menominee was injured fatally early Sunday when a car in which he was a passenger overturned on a Menominee County road.

Joyce Koon, 22, of Grand Rapids, died Sunday in a two-car head-on collision on U.S. 131 in Kalamazoo County's Schoolcraft Township.

David Snyder, 7, of Hastings was killed Saturday night in a two-car intersection collision on M-16 in Barry County's Rutland Township.

An auto struck 55-year-old John W. Hakala of Ishpeming on U.S. 41 in Ishpeming Saturday, injuring him fatally.

The five dead nuns, teachers at St. John's School in Essexville, were Sister Mary Ferdinand, 73, the former Anna Bauer, and Sister Rose Imelde, 57, the former Regina De Haus, both of Grand Rapids; Sister Joseph Ann, 53, the former Mary Popp of Lake Leelanau; Sister Jeanne Anne, 42, the former Jeanne Brunette of Alpena; and Sister Phyllis, 36, the former Eleanor Schoenborn of Marion.

Four of the nuns died Friday night after the fiery crash that also killed Mobey Johnson, 44, and his mother, Mrs. Marie Carrier, both of Beulah.

Sister Phyllis died Sunday at Reed City while being transferred by ambulance from Cadillac-Hospital to St. Mary's in Grand Rapids.

Larry Smith, 34, and Stanley Mucha, both of Detroit, died Friday night when their auto smashed up on an unopened stretch of the Chrysler Expressway.

The body of Chester M. Gray, 83, of Harnett Island, was found in the south channel of the St. Clair River near his home Sunday. State police said Gray apparently fell into the river while taking a walk Saturday.

Jesse Bodry, 73, died Sunday in a fire at his home in rural Luther in Lake County. His body was found in the basement of his charred home.

ALL THE LIVE-LONG DAY — As the familiar song goes, that's how crews are working on the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing on Oakland Avenue just south of Sanderson Street. Workmen are shown here placing new ties in the track. It is expected that the finished product will be a smoother crossing. Meanwhile, for about another week, northbound traffic will be rerouted along Saginaw to Montclair and southbound traffic will use Cass Avenue.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Where do birds go at night?

ANSWER: As you study birds you are certain to notice how active they are, hopping, flying, watching out for enemies, grabbing insects for food.

The fast pace at which they live means that they are tired at night, especially in their wing muscles, and need plenty of rest to prepare for the next day.

The boy who sent us this interesting question added that he couldn't seem to find any birds sleeping at night. This is because it is dangerous for them to go to sleep unless they are well hidden.

Birds are expert at concealing themselves and that's why we don't see them at night. Many sleep standing on the twigs of trees, high up and hidden in the foliage. Others sleep deep inside thickets on the ground such as the bobwhites we show, heads all facing out so the flock may scatter if alarmed.

Water birds often sleep on the water, where they are safer than they would be if on shore.

FOR YOU TO DO: Our hard working artist has put 23 birds, asleep and awake, into his picture. See if you can find them all.

Little Rock Tame Beside Mississippi

By BOB CONSIDINE

OXFORD, Miss. — During the Little Rock trouble we came across an old fellow in dirty overalls shouting to the crowd outside Central High School, "Let's go in there and kill them Niggers!"

Nine Negro children had just entered the school, flanked by troops under the command of Gen. Edwin Walker, of all people.

Walker, the long-since discredited John Birch, now proposes to raise a private army or lynch mob to keep a Negro named James Meredith from continuing his education at all-white Ole Miss.

We asked the old fellow at Little Rock why he wanted to "kill them Niggers." He scratched his scalp for a time, then said, "I don't want no Nigger blood in mine."

HAD AN ANSWER

We inquired how the presence of the nine children among 2,000 whites could bring about that miraculous change in his personal blood stream. He had an answer for that, too.

"I don't just know," the old man said, "but they'll find a way."

If he's alive today — and he was a very old man then — he unquestionably feels precisely the same way.

If President Eisenhower had ordered him mowed down by a ba-book or bombed by a B52 on the day of his starting — cry for the blood of the Negro students, he would have died positive that what he believed was right.

His counterparts appear to be in the majority today in Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina

Dance Classes to Open Here This Week

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's annual social dance classes will get under way this week.

Intermediate social dance classes will begin tomorrow night in the Alcott School multipurpose room, and beginning dance classes will start Friday in Stevens Hall, All Saints Church, at the corner of W. Pike and Williams streets.

Both programs meet once a week for eight weeks from 7:30-9:30 p.m. on their respective nights.

Registrations will be accepted at the first class meetings. Fees are $1 for Pontiac residents and $2 for nonresidents for the eight sessions.

and perhaps one or two other Southern states.

If they are not a part of the majority, they join it.

They are fearful of speaking up for federal law and order because they have learned, from some times bitter experience, that their businesses may be boycotted, their social status imperiled, their families ostracized or physically harmed.

Hence they clam up and sit still like the Swiss — waiting for another war to fade.

Looking back on Little Rock, it was tame compared to what this test is and can become.

I can still hear Gov. Faubus protesting that the only reason he called out the Arkansas National Guard to stop the children from entering Central High was to protect those "poor little Nigger kids" who were being exploited by the NAACP, which, overall said, everybody knew was a Communist front.

There wasn't any real confrontation at Little Rock of state and federal troops, never any suggestion that Faubus might go to prison as Gov. Ross Barnett might, no offers from other states to come to the aid of Arkansas.

Harry Ashmore, editor of the Arkansas Gazette, each day hampered out reasoned anti-Faubus and pro-Supreme Court pieces that were destined to earn him and his paper Pulitzer Prizes.

But there is no similar journalistic voice being raised today in Mississippi; let it rise and it could very well be crushed, via economic boycotts, by the citizens councils.

Mississippi's racist groups make up the strongest organization in the state with the possible exception of the Democratic party, and they are probably better financed than that political outfit.

POTENTIAL INFLUENCE

The councils have proved abundantly that they can sorely affect the sale of any nationally known product simply by stating in their newspapers or on radio and TV shows that the company involved once made a contribution to the NAACP.

Arkansas businessmen and the state's growing community of industrialists and well-to-doers such as Whitworth Rockefeller helped Faubus over his school integration shenanigans.

To a degree Arkansas also showed a sensitivity toward what people overseas were saying about Little Rock and did what they could to shatter the ugly image.

Mississippians apparently don't give a tinker's dam about what anybody overseas or inside the United States thinks.

At least some of them are as willing to fight a Kennedy as their great-grandfathers were ready to fight a Lincoln.

This Meredith case is Fort Sumter, reincarnated. President Kennedy's handling of it could make

Tricounty Area to Be Covered

Volunteers to Knock on Doors Tomorrow

The Vigilance Tax Committee's battle against Detroit's nonresident income tax will be carried into the homes of residents in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties tomorrow night.

Hundreds of volunteers will cover the tricounty area between 6 and 9 p.m. tomorrow with petitions aimed at halting the taxation of suburban residents who work in Detroit.

The volunteers seek signatures on petitions which ask the State Legislature to bar all city income taxes against nonresidents and to have all future income tax proposals submitted to a referendum.

Royal Oak Mayor William Hayward, chairman of the Vigilance Tax Committee statewide campaign, said signature quotas for the drive are based on half the number of registered voters in each community.

Hayward expected that 300,000 signatures would require the legislature to either enact the proposals on the petitions or to place them on the next April.

Troy Mayor Robert J. Huber is chairman of the committee's drive in Oakland County, where the campaign is expected to receive its greatest support.

Hayward and township officials head the campaign in most sections of the county.

Hayward said more volunteers are needed in every section of the county. He suggested that prospective workers contact officials of their own city, township or village in order to take part in the drive tomorrow.

Circulators of the petitions will stop at homes where residents have turned on their porch lights.

Hayward said petition signers do not have to oppose the city income tax in principle, but they may object to lack of limitations on community tax.

Hayward said the Detroit tax, which went into effect July 1 against residents and nonresidents who work in that city, contains no limit on the amount of money to be raised.

A similar one per cent income tax went into effect today in Hamtramck.

Weight Watchers Invited to New Club

AVON TOWNSHIP—Area women interested in watching their weight are invited to join the newly formed Stiles Slenderizing Club which meets tomorrow night at Stiles Elementary School, 3076 Livernois Road.

The club meets at 7:30 p.m. Its first president is Mrs. Richard Roll of 3792 Cone St.

Other officers are Mrs. Herman Lamb, vice president; Mrs. Earl Kitchen, secretary; and Mrs. Harper Dunlap, treasurer.

Pair Lives in California

UNION LAKE — Residing in Huntington Park, Calif., following their recent nuptials are Mr. and Mrs. George B. Lehto who exchanged their vows in Walled Lake Methodist Church, Walled Lake.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of tulle taffeta with a basque bodice and full skirt. Her bouquet was composed of a cluster of white roses and leaves with pearlized stems.

Diane Symanski of Detroit was maid of honor. Karen Lehto, sister of the bridegroom, and Mary Alice Winters of Union Lake attended as bridesmaids.

Assisting as best man was William Mandlik while George Booth of Union Lake and Arnold Brooks of Wisconsin acted as groomsmen.

The bride and groom left a few days after the wedding to make their home in California.

STILL WORKS — Even after some 100 years of usage, this miniature commode is as sturdy as when a furniture salesman carried it from door to door as a sample. The owner, Mrs. A. K. Obenaus, explained salesmen would show tiny samples and take orders for larger furniture. She and her husband, Dr. Obenaus, who live on Clark Road, near Davisburg, spend leisure time hours refining their treasures.

They Refinish Antiques

By REBA HEINTZELMAN DAVISSBURG — When Mrs. A. K. Obenaus and her young daughter were married during the last depression, they were forced to furnish their apartment with old used furniture.

From that first cash-scrape experience has grown a fascinating and absorbing hobby. They refinish everything from small wooden paper weights to grand pianos.

"My husband says I'm a junk collector, and he's the fixer-upper," commented the vivacious Mrs. Obenaus.

When their lovely Early American home on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds became too small to house the hundreds of finished pieces, the couple found and bought a small salt-box type home in the country at 1120 Clark Road near Davisburg.

WINDING AND WIDE. Roads leading to the 80-acre "farm" are like those in the most beautiful parts of northern Michigan. Narrow, heavily shaded, winding and wild.

Once inside the house with its old covered-wagon wheels flanking the driveway, there is a feeling of stepping back into the past. Luxurious braided wool rugs (she made six), hanging lamps, marble topped tables and the sunshining streaming through colored pressed glass in the windows gives a poignant long-time-ago feeling.

Most of the furniture is cherry. An elaborately carved square piano stands majestically against one wall — carefully refinished to bring out the satiny maroon glow of the rosewood.

Five coats of hardened paint was peeled off a little Martha Washington drop leaf table, revealing unusually beautiful lines in the mel-lows cherry.

In one corner, a huge floor-to-ceiling cabinet filled with dish and glass treasures jock down on the room in dignified alliance. Once this magnificent piece stood behind an old barn in Canada — its hinges ripped off, doors gone and an exterior that resembled driftwood.

It took the Obenaus' from one fall until late spring to "bring this cupboard back."

There's a massive four-poster bed, supposedly to have belonged to Michigan's first governor, Stevens T. Mason. (It says so on the foot end). A unique folding baby's bed is put away in a closet for tiny guests' use.

Old rockers, straight chairs, candle tables and commodes stand around just inviting usage.

Despite all the "junk" collected mostly from auction sales, the hand-finished antiques do not overwhelm and dominate the Obenaus' home. Even the small farmhouse furniture is placed tastefully to Old dishes, glass and silverware grace the table during mealtime. Electrified Victorian lamps are turned on and Mrs. Obenaus has fun at the square piano.

Never in all their married life have the Obenaus' varied from their love of Early American decor. They have patiently scrubbed, sanded, hand-rubbed and polished their historical furniture for the sheer joy of bringing to life useful items of another era.

4 Fire Units Fail to Save Home

Woman, Children OK in Brandon Twp.

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Fire leveled the Gerald W. Firman home, 1590 Baldwin Road yesterday shortly before noon, despite the efforts of four fire departments that battled the blaze unsuccessfully for over an hour.

Firemen from Oxford, Orion, Brandon and Independence townships attempted to extinguish the flames, which started from an undetermined cause.

Damage to home and furnishings was estimated at about $8,000.

Mrs. Firman was at home with three of her five children when the blaze started.

She said she had just washed the faces of Beverly, 2, Janet, 4, and Robert, 5, when she walked into the kitchen and saw "sparks coming out of the wall."

Her husband had taken their sons, Tom, 5 and Robert, 9, to Sunday school in Lapeer.

After extinguishing the sparks on the kitchen wall, Mrs. Firman walked outside and saw the roof flaming.

She grabbed her daughters and ran over a block to her neighbor's home, where she called the Brandon Township Fire Department.

The department received the call at 10:20 a.m. It later requested the aid of the three neighboring departments.

No one was hurt in the blaze. However, the home that Firman had built, from the ground up, for his German-born wife and five children was gone.

Firman is an employee of Fisher Body Division, Pontiac.

Rozek Vows Exchanged

Wed in Walled Lake

FARMINGTON — Donna Louise Sonnenberg became the bride of James Anthony Rozek in a Nuptial Mass Saturday morning at St. Williams Catholic Church in Walled Lake. Rev. Raymond E. Jones performed the candlelight service.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sonnenberg, 2510 Bartlett St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rozek, 1171 E. Walled Lake Drive, Walled Lake.

For her wedding the bride chose a Chantilly lace gown featuring long, pointed sleeves and a ruffled skirt that flowed into a petticoat chapel train. The Sabrina neckline was outlined with sequins and pearls.

A double-tiered crown of crystal and pearls held her bouffant bubble veil of illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white mimosas, roses, elegance and tuberoses with smilax accents.

Mrs. Lawrence Billet of Dearborn, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lynn Sonnenberg of Farmington, sister-in-law of the bride and Donna Casale and Judith Niland, cousin of the bride, both of Detroit.

On the equine side, Daniel Otis of Dearborn assisted his cousin as best man. The guests were seated by Lynn Sonnenberg of Farmington, brother of the bride; Lawrence Billet of Dearborn, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Frank Sella of Walled Lake.

A wedding breakfast for 100 was served at the Ford Motor Union Hall in Wixom after the party greeted 300 guests at a dinner at the same hall.

Upon their return from a two-week honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds will reside in Livonia.

education and welfare, due to lend his assistance next week, Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson took off from his re-election drive.

Romney started his day with a 9 a.m. "coffee stop" at Detroit's Masonic Temple. Next the schedule called for door-to-door hand-shaking in Detroit's 32nd and 37th precincts and a series of factory-gate calls as he heads into Macomb County.

The one-time American Motors president was to stop off at the General Motors Technical Center, the Dodge truck factory and the Chrysler missile plant.

The "golf with Romney" event was set-up for Burning Tree Country Club by the Macomb County Republican committee, which also is sponsoring a $100-a-plate dinner at Warren's Executive Inn this evening.

TRADED DAYS OFF
Romney took Sunday off, as is his custom, but Gov. Swainson was just as busy as the GOP candidate expects to be today while the governor rests.

Swainson shook hands and made at least four speeches in a swing through Dearborn—and Detroit's southwest side. At one of his meetings, a retiree's rally sponsored by Ford Local 600 of the United Auto Workers union, he had an audience of approximately 2,300.

And Swainson took the occasion to charge that Republicans say in election years they are for adequate medical care for the aged, but then vote against it.

Romney has termed Kennedy's visit "a federal rescue mission" for Swainson, but the governor said Kennedy "wants to make sure we keep moving ahead by electing more Democrats," and added:

"President Kennedy is coming to Michigan, as he visits other states, because of his determination to accomplish the best for all of our people."

"The only way to provide medical care for our older citizens, schools for our youngsters and jobs for our unemployed is to elect Democrats."

"It is obvious that the Republican, who lead double lives every election year, provide no support for programs to answer the needs of the people."

OTHERS CAMPAIGN
Both Democrat Neil Staebler and Republican Alvin Bentley were active in the congressional-at-large race yesterday. Each accused the other's party of misrepresentation.

Staebler told a Warren Democratic party meeting that the GOP has "deliberately distorted" the Michigan tax picture. He said the real tax problem in Michigan is "the overwhelming burden carried by property owners."

Staebler said "the whole emphasis of the Kennedy-Swainson program is toward lowering the (tax) burden on property owners," and added that "we need to re-elect a governor who will continue to look after Michigan in 1963—instead of the White House in 1964."

Romney has been mentioned as a possible Republican nominee for president in 1964, but has announced he will not seek the nomination.

Bentley, meanwhile, accused Swainson of "a phony political maneuver" when he recently invited Negro James Meredith to attend a college or university in Michigan if he were barred from the University of Mississippi.

"Ever presumptuous," can our chief executive in Lansing get Bentley asked before the Sunday forum of Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church.

"Ever since Michigan became a state," Bentley said, "its people have kept open doors of its education institutions to persons of all races, creeds and faiths."

DELTA-WING DESIGN — The prowl-like concourse and delta-wing design of the lodge at the new Pine Knob Ski Area is shown here in the architect's rendering as it will look when completed. The lodge is part of a $1-million year-round recreation area being developed three miles east of Clarkston. The lodge will open prior to this winter's ski season. Housed under its timbered, cantilevered roof will be a lounge bar, restaurant-night club, cafeteria, ski shop and locker rooms. A 1,500-car paved and lighted lot will adjoin the lodge and open air observation wings will flank the two-story concourse.

French Fear British Isolation Try

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from the foreign news cables:
COMMON MARKET:
The chips will be down this month when Britain resumes negotiations in Brussels on conditions for her entry into the situation European Common Market.

British efforts are aimed at getting stronger support from the three Benelux countries and West Germany.

These moves have aroused suspicion in Paris that Britain is trying to isolate France in the European alignment, and the signs are that President Charles de Gaulle might consequently harden his terms for British entry into Europe.

France, sensitive to British pressure, has been suspicious of alleged British intentions to undermine the European alignment in which Paris wants the leadership.

Diplomats predict tough going when the talks resume Oct. 8.

INSIDE FRANCE:

At home, the de Gaulle government is bracing for a new eruption of strikes in nationalized industries. First government offers of wage boosts of only a little over four per cent have stirred up anger among the labor unions.

More trouble also is expected from farmers in Brittany indignantly over increased railroad freight charges for their produce. Meanwhile, the busy de Gaulle is expected to put in a personal appearance when the French army stages its biggest maneuvers since World War II early this month. He will use the occasion to boost his plans for a French nuclear striking force.

CUBA VS. BERLIN:

In Berlin there is speculation that any serious Russian attempt to end Western rights in Berlin or to interfere with access to it will end the Cuban problem.

The theory is that any aggressive Communist action against Berlin would draw United States retaliation not only to protect American rights in Berlin but also against Soviet influence in Cuba.

BEEFING UP:

Look for Japan to beef up her self-defense forces in an effort to become less dependent on American military protection.

Observers in Tokyo say the move is linked to Soviet threats that Japan would become a prime target in a nuclear war because of the presence of U.S. bases on Japanese soil.

Another reason for the move, observers say, is to hang onto top Japanese carrier officers by promoting them larger commands and more and better equipment.

BREAKTHROUGH:

Sources both in Japan and Korea are predicting a major breakthrough soon in the protracted Japan-South Korean talks. South Korea's ruling military junta is anxious to put relations between the two countries on a normal footing before turning power over to civilians next year. On their side, the Japanese want access to the South Korean market.

Birth Defects Top Problems of Infancy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Crippling and death due to birth defects are now the most pressing medical problems of infancy, reports the publication "Statistical Review," published by The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

The publication said that the proportion of malformed children receiving medical care under the federal-state crippled children's program has increased dramatically. In the past decade (1950-1960), the number of such children rose by 25 per cent as compared with a 50 per cent increase in the remainder of the case load.

So accurate is the baby's sonar equipment that it can dodge wires only slightly thicker than a human hair. The flying mammal can hear an echo from a target as tiny as a mosquito, compute its speed and direction, and swoop to attack in less than a second.

Tile Industry Takes Few Tips From Nature

Taking a cue from nature, beauty, modern appliances, buildings, automobiles and similar products often are fashioned in graceful, rounded shapes instead of the familiar squares (who ever saw a tree grow square?). The idea has long been practiced in the ceramic tile industry, which produces gently rounded "twin tile" for tiling corners at the edges of kitchen countertops and other areas.

Barnett's War With U.S. Lost Before It Began

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett, while doing himself no end of political good at home with his defiance, didn't have to think hard to figure how the federal government could box him in.

And, when he did get boxed, he said what must have been obvious to him from the start: that the power of the federal government was too much for him.

dent to run into defiance from a state or a governor. What they could do, he could do, and he did, which is what practically everybody outside of Mississippi must have expected him to do.

President Jackson got a sharp taste of this defiance before the Civil War when South Carolina, because it disliked a certain tariff act, decided it wouldn't let federal officials collect the duties in that state.

This was the so-called doctrine of nullification—sometimes called interposition—in which a state assumes the right to decide when to, and when not to, obey a law or consider it constitutional.

Then in 1957 Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus tried interposition without directly saying so. In fact, he was pretty oblique about his whole performance.

Called GUARD
Although a federal court had ordered Negro children admitted to a Little Rock high school, 1960.

Faubus called up the Arkansas National Guard.
He avoided direct defiance of the court-order by saying he had called out the Guard to keep order. But the effect was the same. The troops kept the children out of school.

Faubus backtracked fast when

130 Killed During Raids Into Nepal by Rebels

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—The Nepal government says 130 persons have been killed and 103 injured during raids into Nepal by Nepalese rebels based in India.

A spokesman told a new conference yesterday there had been 205 such raids, since King Mahendra dismissed Nepal's first elected government in December.

President Eisenhower sent in federal troops and, to take control of the Guard from Faubus, called the state troops into national service.
With these two examples of interposition—and others—completely rejected and discredited in American life, Barnett nevertheless tried his own brand of interposition.

PUSHED FURTHER

It must have been plain to him Kennedy could do not less than Eisenhower, if he pushed his defiance too hard. He pushed, even further than Faubus.
He directly defied the court order to let Meredith register at Ole Miss by personally blocking him. The court then found Barnett guilty of contempt.

It gave him until Tuesday morning to clear himself—by letting Meredith in—or face a fine of $10,000 a day for every day he blocked the Negro, plus being locked up.
Meantime, although he was slow in doing it, Kennedy sent in marshals, prepared to send in troops, and, like Eisenhower, called the Mississippi National Guard into federal service to take it from under control of the governor.

NO ESCAPE

Thus Barnett got himself caught between the court and the President, a box from which there could be no escape since, if neces-

So the Mississippi governor finally conceded he was out-matched. But as an aftermath of Barnett's performance men were shot in rioting on the school campus Sunday night and others were hurt.

The United States, which is trying to win the friendship of Africans and other colored people around the world and keep them from communism, becomes an international spectacle of bloody racism.

CAREER ASSURED

But, since Barnett had the support of a lot, perhaps most, white Mississippians where the Negro

Political Races Hot in Midwest

Sen. Dirksen Pressed by Chicago Democrat

CHICAGO (UPI) — The big, rumpled-looking man from Washington files home to Illinois to talk to the home folks.

It's possible neither else in Illinois can do a better job of this than Everett McKinley Dirksen of the town of Peoria.

But Dirksen is a busy man and sometimes a slightly huffed one. He is the highly respected and highly powerful leader of the Republican party in the United States Senate.

He is also up to his bushy eyebrows in a campaign for reelection to Congress, and determined to win. He is, of course, a congressman from Chicago's North Side.

Dirksen, the acknowledged master of the art of old-fashioned, spell-binding oratory — a man who lost one bit submitted to wave the flag and speak movingly of mother love — is trying to meet the demands of national political leadership in Washington and the grim necessity of getting re-elected back home.

NOT EASY

It's not the easiest thing in the world to do. Though years ago, the Senate party leader from Illinois tried the same trick and never saw Washington again as an elected official.

The loser in that race was Democratic Senate leader Scott W. Lucas and the man who defeated him was Everett M. Dirksen.

On street corners and from the steps of county courthouses this fall, the organ voice of Everett Dirksen echoed fellow Illinoisans to stand by Abraham Lincoln, old-fashioned honesty, old-fashioned Republicanism, and old-fashioned Ev Dirksen.

While Congress was in session, Dirksen had to be a weekend warrior of the electorate. But it was a love affair he has pursued for 36 years and his ardor was high.

Dirksen was forced to take a campaign breather last weekend. He suffered severe abdominal pains and his doctors advised him to check into Belvidere Naval Hospital for a complete checkup before he takes on a full schedule of campaigning.

Wherever the 66-year-old Dirksen journeyed, it was likely that Sid Yates had just left or would be stopping by any moment. The 35-year-old ex-basketball star, a 14-year veteran of Congress, had a man-sized job in making his name known outside of Chicago.

ODDS SHORTENED

Starting last March, Yates launched what his managers say is the most intense campaign in Illinois history. The odds against him were long when he started out. Many observers thought they had shortened by September.

The third bid of the word "magician" from Illinois, along with the gubernatorial aspirations of Michigan auto maker George Romney, were the glimmers of hope in the 1960 election season in the Middle West. They had the heads of the national significance and national figures.

Illinois and Michigan had no monopoly on knockdown battles and sharply contrasting personalities. In the campaign and during the campaign, an Eisenhower cabinet minister, Fred Seaton of Nebraska, fought for a governorship.

— A top Kennedy administration official, ex-Ford for Peace Administrator George McGovern, was after a Senate seat from South Dakota.

— Like Dirksen, five of Capitol Hill's most respected Republican figures — Wiley of Wisconsin, Halleck and Capehart of Indiana, Hickel of Iowa and Judd of Minnesota — tried to get home often enough to stay ahead of and coming young Democrats.

— There were the old charges of "do-nothingness" and the old calls to protect the family farm.

There was also new charges in which the John Birch Society and Americans for Democratic action played a role and new issues, notably the administration's defeated but politically potent Medicare program.

Illinois' Dirksen-Yates battle had a full supply of the old and new ingredients, plus the clash of political traditions and the power plays of a monolithic big city machine and of the White House itself.

Although his home town of Peoria usually votes Democratic, Dirksen is a full-blooded son of the heartland of Midwest Republicanism. Like his brothers, he was named after one of the Republican giants of the 1890's.

Young Ev flirted with the idea of being an actor, tried his hand at the baking trade, and showed up on a GOP ballot for the first time in 1938. By 1952 he was in Congress, taking his oath for office for the first time on the same day as President Roosevelt.

Dirksen served 16 years in Congress, retired briefly because of failing eyesight in 1949, then came back in a clear-eyed, whirlwind campaign which torpedoed Lucas out of the Senate. His 1956 re-election campaign was a walk-away and by this time Ev Dirksen knew every political twist of the state of Illinois from Cairo to Galena.

Yates knows he is bucking the time-honored tradition that Illinois' Senate seats must be divided between Chicago and a downstate and that fellow Democrat Sen. Paul H. Douglas is a Chicagoan.

Outwardly undismayed, he has been shaking hands from the blini-edged beaches of Chicago's North Shore to the overall country of "Little Egypt" down south.

Aided by his diminutive wife "Addie," he has plugged away at the issues of Medicare (Yates says Dirksen wrecked it), drug control (Yates says Dirksen dragged his feet) and the overall Kennedy record.

HELPS YATES

Chicago's Boss Daley has helped round up a cavalcade of big names to boost Yates in Illinois, with a mid-October tour by Kennedy himself as the high point yet.

The Kennedy record shaped up as a major issue in other Midwest races. Some of them:

— Indiana — Three-term Sen. Homer Capehart, 65, a blunt and wealthy industrialist, is challenged by a personable 35-year-old lawyer, Birch Bayh Jr. House minority leader Charles McNichols is in the term.

Bayh is trying to set House records for nonstop campaigning. Capehart's attitude was summed up in a recent meeting with Bayh. "Young man," he said, "you've got a lot to learn."

— Iowa — Bourke Hickenlooper, 66, also after a fourth Senate term, has done little campaigning yet against Democrat E. B. Smith, 42, a history professor on leave from Iowa State University who has gone down the Kennedy line.

— Kansas — Republicans appear to have little to worry about. The state's two GOP senators, youthful James B. Pearson and veteran Frank Carlson are breeding along and a good crop year in western Kansas will probably help their cause.

— Minnesota — 11-term Rep. Walter Judd, 63, who played with the idea of bowing out of politics earlier this year, is in a donnybrook with Democratic Sen. Donald Fraser, 38, former law partner of Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman.

TOUGHER ROW

A reapportioned congressional district makes Judd's fight tougher. Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen and Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag are in another toe-to-toe match for the governorship.

— Missouri — Democratic Sen. Edward V. Long, a Kennedy stalwart, faces a self-styled conservative, 35-year-old Kansas City banker H. Croby Kemper Jr.

— Nebraska — Former Interior Secretary Seaton, once a key White House adviser, has been in all 93 counties already trying to out one-term Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison. Unlike most Midwest Democrats, Morrison has not sought to ally himself with the Kennedy record.

— North Dakota — William Guy is a rarity in North Dakota political history — a Democratic governor. He may also become the first North Dakota governor in recent history not to win a second term unless he can get by his opponent.

Porpoise Sellers Very Particular

MARATHON, Fla. — Mr. and Mrs. Milton Santini are in the business of selling porpoises — but buying one from them is more like adopting a child than making a purchase.

The two, who love their porpoises as if they were people, insist on inspecting the quarters to which they are going. Even after the porpoise change hands, Mrs. Santini checks up on their welfare from time to time.

Says Mrs. Santini of the intelligence of porpoises: "Sometimes I'm not so sure but what they're ahead of men."

'Build Now, Swim Later' Is Gaining Popularity

The idea may be met with some skepticism, but the nation's swimming pool builders are beginning to "build now, swim later" plan.

The builders are encouraging homeowners to start their outdoor pools in the fall and complete them in spring, thus giving back-fall dirt around — original — construction a look drier and more serene. A flat alloy or latex paint is recommended.

His Ceilings Sky Blue

A well-known decorator uses sky-blue ceilings as his trademark, regardless of the color scheme of the home he is doing. His theory is that everything in nature looks beautiful against a blue sky; besides, this color makes any room look drier and more serene. A flat alloy or latex paint is recommended.

Killer Gets His Wish for Death

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — The strange life of 6 foot, 3 inch Melvin T. Darling, who had pleaded to die last Monday, was to end in the prison gas chamber today.

Darling, 29, in and out of prison most of his adult life, was convicted of slaying Alex T. Malcolmson III, 35, on Oct. 22, 1961.

Malcolmson, a San Francisco interior decorator, was the grandson of the man who helped finance the Ford Motor Co. in the 1920s.

Darling said he loved Malcolmson to his hotel room for robbery, then shot, pistol whipped and strangled him. Darling fled to Seattle, was captured later in Long Beach, Calif.

Darling was convicted, pronounced sane and sentenced to die Oct. 1. Three weeks ago he asked that his execution be moved up to Sept. 24.

He explained he had developed "a morbid curiosity about death" and was anxious to learn how it would feel to sit in the gas chamber. The plea was rejected as was pleas by Darling's attorneys for clemency on grounds their client was mentally disturbed.

K Expresses Hope for Kennedy Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has expressed hope that President Kennedy will find it possible to visit Russia sometime, according to informed sources.

These sources said last night that Khrushchev had made the statement in an off-hand manner to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, when he was winding up his recent visit to Russia.

The Soviet Premier mentioned no specific date for the suggested visit, and the sources said it could not have been considered a formal invitation in any way.

WSU Asking State for $22.5 Million

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne State University's board of governors has approved a $22.5-million budget request to the legislature for the 1963-64 school year.

The total budget is $27.4 million with the balance of the money coming from other sources.

The board said the request was cut $4.5 million from the amount asked by the colleges and departments of the university.

An official said the school has been asking the legislature for about $19 million—each year and getting about $15 million.

Soviets Snub Red Chinese Celebration

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union snubbed Red China's massive 15th anniversary celebration today, underscoring the continuing rift between the giants of communism.

British Laborite Hits Dixie 'Blot on West'

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—Chairman Harold Wilson of the British Labor Party today called the fight by Mississippi segregationists to bar James Meredith from the University of Mississippi a "blot on Western civilization."

Wilson, opening the opposition British Party's annual conference, described the Labor Party as a moral crusade and said it condemned both the Communist wall in Berlin and "the blot on Western civilization for which so-called white men are responsible in Mississippi."

Wilson, the party's expert on foreign policy, devoted most of his speech to criticism of the conservative government's negotiations to enter the Common Market.

2 in W. Berlin After Escape

BERLIN (AP)—Two refugees got through safely to West Berlin just before midnight despite some 20 shots fired by East German border guards, West Berlin police reported today.

The escape occurred near the Teltow Canal in the southern part of the city where the Communists have put up a series of barbed wire fences.

Dies in Vatican City

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Mgr. Giacomo Testa, 53, president of the Pontifical Ecclesiastical Academy of the Vatican, died Saturday.

More than 500,000 persons marched through the Square of Heavenly Peace in Peking, but not a single Soviet official of importance sat in the reviewing stand with Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung.

Evidence of continuing tension in Peking's relations with Moscow was coupled with admissions of shortcomings and mistakes on the home front—and a hint that a purge of some size is continuing.

The People's Daily, official organ of the party, said "in the past year, the class struggle during to isolate Red China and force her to change her policies. Chou said such a campaign would never succeed.

The ideological dispute dividing Red China and the Soviet Union was aggravated last week by the visit of Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev to Yugoslavia, a constant target of Chinese Communist criticism.

Premier Chou En-lai in a speech, Sunday night, lumped together "modern revisionists"—apparently meaning Yugoslav President Tito and perhaps Soviet Premier Khrushchev—together with the United States, imperialists and reactionaries who he said were trying to isolate Red China and force her to change her policies. Chou said such a campaign would never succeed.

ATTACK CONTINUES The attack continued today in the keynote speech of Vice Premier-Foreign Minister Chen Yi in Peking's Red Square. He called for unity in a struggle against "U.S. imperialist policies of aggression and war," an apparent dig at what Peking considers a soft Soviet policy of peaceful co-existence with the West.

Khrushchev sent the usual telegram of congratulations, but he and other ranking Soviet leaders boycotted a rally in Moscow.

On domestic matters Chou En-lai told a Peking reception last night, "The serious natural disasters for the three consecutive years from 1958 to 1961 and the shortcomings and mistakes in our work have indeed caused us difficulties."

The time of economic recovery was sounded by Chen Yi today, but he added "we are still confronted with many difficulties. It would not be right to fail to see them."

The speech made it clear that China, beset by food shortages, is still in the grip of hard times. The People's Daily, while it did not use the word purge, indicated that the country has been shaken for the past year by a severe struggle "against enemies at home and abroad."

This echoed a communique from the Chinese Communist party Central Committee, which acknowledged continuing resistance to the regime by "a tiny fraction of the total population."

Study to Be Made on Will to Succeed

Tests Not All They're Cracked Up to Be

By LESLIE J. NASON, E.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California
Tests are not all they're cracked up to be.
Selection on the basis tests may eliminate some of our best future leaders not only from top rank colleges—but from jobs in industry.

I grant that high school seniors making low grades on certain tests are a poorer risk for success in college than students making high grades. Nevertheless some of those with lower scores would succeed in college.
When a college admits a group of students with scores indicating that one out of three will not succeed, the college knows it is taking a calculated risk.

However, it may be well worthwhile if even one of those becomes a leader in his field.
Test-taking may become too important in industry, also. The man with experience and maturity may lack this skill and lose out to a younger. Yet test-taking may not be a skill required for the job.

TEN-YEAR STUDY
The Ford Foundation has made a $25,000 grant for a 10-year study by Williams College of the achievement of "calculated risks"—students with less than outstanding test scores but with promising qualities that defy scientific measurement.
John E. Sawyer, president of Williams College, describes such students as "individuals with a flair, a forte, a strength of character that would catch the population and the college—the individual of whom one would say 'There is going to be an interesting person.'

The college will study the academic achievement of such students for 10 years. Their records will be compared with those of students admitted on the usual grounds of academic achievement—based on tests.
An entrance examination based on tests fails to measure these important factors:
Drive and will to succeed.
Ability to organize knowledge.
Skill in listening. (A college student gains 75 per cent of his new knowledge through listening.)
Critical thinking required in such subjects as philosophy.
Habits of thinking or manner in which the student learns.

In my own study of students who scored high on entrance tests and failed to make correspondingly high grades in college, I have found that neither school grades nor college entrance tests measure the way in which these students learn.
Whether the fault was memorizing rather than learning, a too-general approach to study, or lack of sound reading and listening procedures, these students failed college work because of a deficiency not measured by the tests.

It is hoped that the study at Williams College not only will identify characteristics by which students with low test scores succeed in college but also will lead the way to subjugating a great number of men and women in industry.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
The last day of the World Championship match was filled with hands that could be called "might have been."
The bidding in the box took place when Italy held the East-West cards. West's opening diamond bid was necessitated by the fact that they use an artificial club. As a result they pushed to a rather unsound game contract.
The hand can be made against any opening, but could also have been set if South had led anything but a club. Unfortunately for America, South listened to the bidding and knew that his partner would be short in clubs. He opened
west North showed out. North ruffed, but had to use up his trump trick.

Kennedy Spends Weekend Negotiating on Mississippi

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — It was the Sabbath, but not a day of rest at the White House. There was no holl before the storm.

The high-voltage hours of Saturday slowed right into Sunday, and the lights in the Army section of the Pentagon blazed past dawn.

The Pentagon's bright windows were just one tipoff that the clash between the state of Mississippi and the federal government over desegregation was building toward a climax.

TRIP CANCELED
The President canceled at the last moment a weekend trip to Newport, R.I., and remained in the White House, directing what his aides described as "a cool operation."

Three times Saturday he talked by telephone to Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi who had defied court orders and refused to permit Negro James H. Meredith to march in the school. Then Kennedy gave orders which kept the Pentagon's lights burning.

Coolly, deliberately and with no signs of anger, according to his assistants, the President arranged for absorbing the Mississippi National Guard into federal service and for assembling regular Army troops.

Dressed in a gray suit, white shirt and blue tie, he dined at his regular hour—about 8:30 p.m.

Later he signed the proclamation and executive order formally thrusting the federal government's power into the school crisis, and announced he was going to address the nation on radio and television Sunday night.

It was early Sunday by the time he was up at his living quarters. He turned on the hi-fi and listened to music before going to bed.

Sunday broke bright and rather chilly—by 10 a.m. Kennedy was attending Mass at St. Stephen's church.

The west or working wing of the White House, usually quiet as a tomb on Sundays, was humming. Several dozen newsmen overflowed into the lobby from the cramped press room.

The President huddled in his office with assistants including special counsel and chief speechwriter Theodore C. Sorensen, just back from more than a week in the hospital for ulcer treatments.

Twice Kennedy took time out for a thoughtful stroll about the south lawn, the vast spread on on her finger or shoulder and never tries to fly away when she takes it out for a dinner of flower nectar.

JFK, Home Repeat Firm Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — American and British determination to stand firm on Berlin has been restated by President Kennedy and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

After the two met Sunday at the White House, a communiqué said "there was complete agreement on the assessment of the dangers of the Berlin situation and on the continued need for the Western powers to stand firm on their vital interests."

They also expressed agreement on the serious nature of developments in Cuba and discussed ways of halting any further spread of communism in the Caribbean area.

The President entertained Home at a White House luncheon. Home has been in New York attending the U.N. General Assembly session.

Some British towns have permanent maypoles. Welford, Warwickshire, has one a hundred feet tall. At Padstow in Cornwall the residents do a May Day hobby-horse dance that lasts all day, day to ancient music.

Dem Leaders Blast at GOP

Failure to Present Alternatives Rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic leaders in both the Senate and House have accused the Republicans of abandoning their responsibility as a minority party in Congress.

Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., and Senate Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., lashed out at the Republicans last night on a nationally televised program.

McCormack said that the Republican party under constitutional government "has the responsibility of acting constructively" but, he said, "the great majority of Republicans in Congress have become a party of opposition."

Humphrey said he thought the GOP had a duty "to present an alternative program to the Kennedy administration."

"That they have not done," he said, "and they are going to pay for it at the polls."

Needn't Go Out to Car With Guests

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Will you please settle a disagreement my husband and I are having on the following point of etiquette?

When friends leave our house after having spent the evening or the day with us, is it necessary for my husband and me to see them to their car or least remain at the door until they have driven off, waving goodbye, or is it sufficient just to see them to the front door and close it as soon as they have gone out?

A: You need not see them to their car, but you should not close your door until you are certain their car starts, and you wave goodbye to them as they drive off.

Q: My daughter is going to be married at 4:30 in the afternoon with a reception at 6 and we have been having a discussion as to the correct clothes for the men in the wedding party.

My daughter thinks the men should wear striped trousers and cutaway coats.

I think they should wear evening clothes since the reception is taking place at an evening hour and they will be at the reception much longer than they will be at the ceremony. Will you please settle this?

A: Your daughter is right. It is entirely correct to continue wearing day clothes on into the evening but all wrong to wear evening clothes in the daytime.

Pioneer Renters Hail Knowledge

'Now, It's Art for Art's Sake'

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — A couple of sisters who pioneered the renting of art find the "arty set" shrinking and the truly knowledgeable art set growing.

"When we started this business, we'd get customers who thought of art as nothing more than decoration. Women would come in and ask for a painting of a certain size," said Mrs. George Butler. "Now, it's art for art's sake."

Her sister, Mrs. Henry Sadowsky, spoke up: "It is a most gratifying thing to see that people have learned to appreciate."

"We never hear these days, 'well, I don't know art, but I know what I like,'" said Mrs. Butler.

PLUG PUBLIC RELATIONS

The sisters are proprietors of the circulating library of art. They believe the public relations job museums across the country have done is a major factor in the increase in art lovers.

"People who used to take the children to the movies now take them to the museums," said Mrs. Butler, president of the firm. "You can't get into the Metropolitan (museum of art) on Sundays... so many kids."

Ruth Butler and Eleanor Sadowsky also have helped in their way.

The original aim of their business started 16 years ago was to rent paintings. But it turns out circulating library is a misnomer, they said. They end up selling at least 70 per cent.

"I've no idea how many thousands of works we've sold in those 16 years," said Mrs. Butler.

Their library grew from their own interest since childhood in art. They collected, and Mrs. Sadowsky studied art through high school and at the Art Students League. Both still take art courses.

Their father, H. Leonard Simmons, a prominent New York lawyer, now retired at 82, added to their collection. He also is an amateur painter.

ELEGANT GALLERY

The sisters pooled their collections — 1800 works in all — and opened shop in a basement in mid-town Manhattan. As the business expanded, so did their quarters. And this week they moved into their most elegant "gallery" yet — the main floor of a town house designed by the famous Stanford White.

A huge Waterford chandelier and elaborately carved marble fireplace dominate the high-ceilinged drawing room. Furnishings of the entire apartment are old world antiques.

Mrs. Butler and her husband, a stock broker, make the apartment their town home too — and the walls of the master bedroom and bath are filled just about from floor to ceiling with the Butlers' private collection which includes the French impressionists.

Mrs. Sadowsky adds to her private collection too, as she and her sister continue to shop the art galleries of the United States and Europe for additions to their art for rent.

Some 60 paintings for rent, or eventual sale, line the walls of the formal rooms of the apartment. Behind the scenes are others — about 800 in all, Mrs. Butler said. As soon as one picture goes out to a customer, another goes up from storage.

ONLY PRIVATELY OWNED

Museums have opened art rental departments, too. But Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Sadowsky said their "library" was the first and still is the only one in which the paintings are privately owned.

The cost of rental goes toward the purchase, if the customer decides to buy after living with the art for a while. Rents range from $8 for one month up to $50, depending on the value of the work.

The minimum period for rental is one month. But the sisters said on rare occasions they've known women who rented just to impress guests at a special party. "This we discourage," said Mrs. Butler.

One New York businessman has had a group of six contemporary paintings on rental for the seventh year now. Why he doesn't buy them the sisters haven't the vaguest notion.

Consulates are among their many customers, because apparently as consuls change so does the taste in art which decorates a government's foreign office.

"We've rented in just about every state," said Mrs. Butler. "Some of our customers are very wealthy. Some you know are pinching pennies to buy something beautiful for their home."

Men: 'Bachelor Girl' Has Her Say

Women to Shrug Off 'Problems' Tab?

BY GAILLE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — There are over 15 million single women in the United States. And widows, divorcees or bachelor girls, they're getting a little weary of being regarded as "problems."

They're also tired of being asked that nasty little question: "How does it happen that a girl like you isn't married?"

Many of them are tempted to answer that they see no reason why men should expect to do many things well and marry, too, while accepting complacently the notion that women should do just one thing: get married.

So out of this current battle of the sexes there emerges a new figure: the bachelor girl. A free cry from the spinster, she's free-wheeling, with a lot more freedom, a good deal more money (which she makes) and some ideas which many men may find upsetting.

NOT MINOR

One of these is that living fully, not getting married, is the purpose in being alive. Another is that a wedding band is not necessarily the badge of success. (Witness all those unhappy marriages.)

And a third is that women aren't really what Thackeray termed them: "minor animals."

The boredom of marriage vs. the problems involved in staying single are, at the moment, the particular concern of Phyllis Rosenthere, herself a bachelor girl who can, therefore, speak from experience.

A lively redhead who has been a sex columnist on the subjects of brides, grooms and bachelor girls, Miss Rosenthere thinks that it's high time that people wake up and discovered the fact that the old maid is passing from our scene.

"In her place, we have a very different woman and she's here to stay," Miss Rosenthere said firmly.

CAN'T MARRY

"Since women outnumber men in this country and other countries, too, it should be clear that many women can't marry. Add to these women who don't and you have a sizable number. These women vote, earn money, support themselves and others and are anything but secluded or retiring. Or shy."

Miss Rosenthere says that in her recent book, "The Single Women," she stresses the fact that a society distinguished for its high divorce rate, high rate of old bachelors and high percentage of unhappy marriages that never make it into a divorce court is in no position to say "finger at any single group."

And men, Miss Rosenthere thinks, have gotten a lot of mileage out of regarding women as problems, both in private and in print. And all the time, guess who the problem really were? Men, that's who!

"Let's face the fact that some women will never marry," she says, "and stop being snide about it. In the final analysis, the sexes can't battle constantly."

"Willie or nelly, they'll get together. But they could do it a lot more happily if they both got rid of the idea that marriage is the treasure at the end of the rainbow."

It's kind of a new way of looking at things and a good many men won't take to it at all. But if enough women get the notion, the next couple of decades should be absolutely fascinating.

Violet Table

Need an extra table for African violets growing in your basement? It's easy to make four sturdy legs for a table by setting 5- or 6-inch diameter pots top down and one inside the other until the height you want is reached. Set a square or round piece of plywood on top and if you don't want the table with burlap, canvas or felt, tacked to the sides and top. Make an attractive table for porch or terrace too.

Protect Patent

Apply a coat of petroleum jelly to your patent leather summer shoes before storing them for the winter. Simply dip a taste in the jelly and glaze over outer surfaces carefully. The jelly retards drying and cracking of the patent and will help keep the appearance of your shoes. Tack a paper towel in each toe to help them keep their shape.

Place of Luncheon

Women's City Club of Detroit will hold its luncheon honoring Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson Thursday in the City Club auditorium and not in the Village Woman's Club of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills as stated in an earlier story.

Yeast Raiser

Use a heating pad to help yeast dough rise quickly and evenly. Set the covered bowl on the pad dialled to medium temperature.

Smatter Budget

WASHINGTON — One warm evening a suburban Washington housewife stopped at a shopping center to make two purchases: a white shirt for her son and a package of birthday invitations for her little daughter's party.

She had not intended to spend more than $5. Yet, when she returned home an hour later, the woman had charged 13 times that amount.

How did this happen? The gift shop where she bought the invitations was featuring a lamp sale. The housewife could not resist buying a pair of white marble lamps, a glass at $25. And the boys' store next door had a rack of new spring sport coats on display, with matching slacks.

She had not intended to spend more than $5. Yet, when she returned home an hour later, the woman had charged 13 times that amount.

Can this be likened? A group of women in Arlington, Va., believe they have found the answer. Recognizing their need for mutual support in resisting the temptation to buy unneeded goods on the spur of the moment, they have formed a new club: Impulse Buyers Anonymous.

The women testify to harrowing results from following a set of principles worked out by the club's members.

"For the first time in years," says one member, "our family will have enough money for a summer vacation — because I haven't already spent the money on foolish impulse buying!"

CLUB MEETS REGULARLY The club works along the lines of other organizations that have been formed to combat a common addiction. The members meet at regular intervals, to discuss their problems, ask for the support of other members in times of temptation, and describe methods used to bring victory over impulse buying.

One woman, who must be anonymous, of course, says: "Before I joined the club, I couldn't go into a store to buy a pair of stockings without coming out with a new hat, a pair of matching gloves — and maybe matching jewelry too."

She didn't really need these articles she says. "But all day I was surrounded by small children who had to have their faces washed and their diapers changed and my house was always a mess. It seemed when I went to the store I suddenly wanted to buy all the glamorous things I could put my hands on."

The club prescribed for this member one afternoon off a week when she could visit cultural spots like museums or libraries or just see a movie and relax. Another club member offered her services free as a baby sitter. At the end of the first month, the distraught mother with the impulse buying problems found that her charge accounts were considerably less.

CAUSES DISCUSSED Sometimes the members discuss possible underlying causes for the addiction to buy. One member had an almost uncontrollable desire to buy new dresses. In examining her past, she realized that when she had gone to college her family could barely afford to pay her out of the question.

Club members suggested that she cancel her charge accounts and use cash for purchases.

One day she was in a coat of paying $55 for a cocktail dress, actually costing only $15. The clerk's hand, when suddenly she cried out: "No! That's too much! Take the dress back."

Bargain sales bring real testing times to impulse buyers. On such occasions, a member may place this typical call for help:

"Mary, I want to go to the white sales to buy four sheets. Come with me, please, to see that I don't fill my whole linen closet!"

STRESS AGGRAVATES Some members found that they were more likely to go overboard on impulse buying in times of emotional stress.

"After I have a quarrel with my husband," one woman reported, "I often straighten up my battered ego by outfitting myself in a new wardrobe. It makes me look sprucier, and besides, it teaches him a lesson."

This woman was persuaded to take up tennis as an outlet for her driving tendencies. She also was advised to avoid controversial subjects at home.

Result: her quarrels with her husband diminished, and so did her debts.

Club members evolved a general rule: "Substitute a satisfying activity for the urge to buy."

Some enrolled in a gourmet cooking course, others learned how to make hair hats, and one even joined a writer's club.

The women realize that, in many instances, professional help is advisable for people with deeply-rooted problems of impulse buying. But they believe that they have benefited greatly from the encouragement of fellow members of the group.

Q. How did "Hay Fever" get its name? There's no hay involved in my case — just grass.

A. The disorder known as "hay fever" was recognized and named by non-medical persons long before doctors were aware that the condition existed. People attributed the affliction to exposure to newly-mown hay, and consequently called it "Hay Asthma" or "Hay Fever." Nowadays the term "hay fever" is commonly used to describe allergy to ragweed or related pollen.

Minister's First Ceremony

Sharon Vasi Wed in Candlelight

Candlelight vows of Sharon Marie Vasi who became Mrs. Robert J. Kempf Friday evening in Barnett Chapel, First Baptist Church, were spoken before Rev. David Dunbar in his first ceremony performed in this country. He has returned from the mission fields in Rhodesia, South Africa.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Vasi of Littleton Avenue, the bride appeared in floor-length white silk brocade styled with double hair-shaped bustle. Her bouffant silk illusion veil was fitted to a jeweled coronation crown.

The bridegroom's gift strand of pearls and a cascade of white orchids, miniature roses and lilies, completed her ensemble.

Another cousin Celeste Marie Prudhomme, Berkeley, who was bridesmaid, Mary Elizabeth Vasi, her sister's junior attendant and Rebecca Sue Vasi, flower-girl, wore ice-blue chiffon.

Their headpieces were peau de sole roses and they carried blue-tipped white carnations.

The bridegroom, son of the Robert F. Kemps of Attica, had William R. Sloman of Inlay City for best man, Henry A. Prudhomme Jr. of Berkeley, ushered with Douglas Sawicki of Oak Park.

For the wedding and church reception, Mrs. Vasi chose a double-pleated silk brocade and the mother of the bridegroom appeared in a taupe knit suit. Their corsages were miniature white roses.

Returning from a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, the couple will reside in Pontiac.

For Even Hems Hang wet curtains from the selvage edge or top hem with plenty of spring-type clothespins, closely spaced, to avoid uneven curtain hems.

House plants that have spent the summer outdoors should now be brought in by easy steps. First set them on a shaded porch, then bring them into their permanent indoor locations after a few more days. If the tops have grown too large for the pots, making the plants out of proportion to their containers, report into larger clay pots and be sure to provide an inch of pebbles at the bottom for drainage. Water well until roots take hold.

Top Quick Coffee Cake With Tokay Grapes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Have you ever used Tokay grapes to top a coffee cake? That idea was completely new to us until we talked with Mrs. Stanley Kares who told us of her mother's special recipe.

Mrs. Kares is a member of the Daughters of Isabella. She enjoys many home-making activities and gardening. Rug making is one of her accomplishments.

GRAPE COFFEE CAKE
By Mrs. Stanley Kares
4 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
3 teaspoons baking powder

1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream shortening, sugar and eggs. Beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk and vanilla.

Scrape batter into 8x12 greased pan. Seed grapes and place on top of batter in any pattern. Bake for 35 minutes at 325 degrees.

Mix 2 tablespoons sugar with 1 tablespoon flour and sprinkle over grapes. Bake 5 minutes at 325 degrees. If you use a glass baking dish, reduce the heat to 325 degrees.

"Porkopolis" was a nickname applied to Chicago in the days when its chief fame was meat packing.

Teen-Ager Trying to Define 'Fathers'

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My husband is the stepfather of my oldest child—a 16-year-old girl. This summer she has suddenly begun to call him by his given name of "Fred" instead of "Pop"—the name she's called him since she was 8.

This change hurts us both as my husband has been a much better father to her than my ex-husband who deserted us when she was a small child and has fairly contributed to her support.

If she had recently seen her father, we might be able to understand it but she hasn't seen or heard from him for more than a year. Do you advise my asking her to explain the change?

ANSWER: Not if your question conveys reproach.

You see, I doubt if your daughter really is. I think that she has temporarily withdrawn the name of "Pop" from your husband not because her affection for him has lessened but because growth is forcing her to try and separate her feelings about her absent father from your feelings about him.

At her age this is the proper thing for her to begin to do.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

In adolescence the child of an unbroken marriage will begin to define his difference from us by protesting anything from our views on labor unions to bikinis.

But the child of divorce often begins to define his separate identity by questioning our views of his absent parent.

Your daughter may have entered into this struggle to disentangle what you have told her about her father from what she herself knows about him. That is a painful but important thing to do.

A child who is fond of her stepfather may have to withdraw the parental title of "Pop" from him until she has clarified her confused feelings toward the two men who claim the role of "father."

So my advice is to let her get on with this clarification without any interfering or reproachful questions by you.

What you feel about your ex-husband is the result of your experience with him. But what your daughter feels about him is the result of hers. They are not the same experience.

The man whose wife evokes cruelty from him is quite capable of expressing tenderness to his child. A husband whose unreliability has provoked his wife to divorce him may have been the best teller of bedtime stories that the child has ever known.

How can you know what memories were created between your husband and your daughter? You can't know.

And not knowing, you have no more right to demand that she see him with your eyes than you'd have to require her to use your teeth to chew her food.

Even Animal Dressed Right

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I attended a wedding on horseback, so "Horse Crazy" needn't feel that her dream of having such a wedding is out of line. At this particular wedding, for the "something old" the bride wore an old buckskin jacket. The "something new" was a big white felt cowboy hat. The "something borrowed" was a silver saddle, and the "something blue" was a pair of blue jeans. Even the horse was dressed for the occasion!

WAS THERE

DEAR ABBY: I was tickled to note in your column that a girl signed "Horse Crazy" inquired about the possibility of being married on horseback. My ambition is a little out of the ordinary, too. I would like to be married underwater. My boy friend and I belong to a skin-diving club and we think it would be fun to have an underwater wedding. Has it ever been done, I wonder? So far everyone we have mentioned this to—except our skin-diving club—thinks we are crazy. But, Abby, you no idea how pure and spiritual you feel underwater. After all, isn't water a very important part of the baptismal ceremony?

ABBY

SKIN DIVER: I have never heard of an underwater wedding, so don't order the clergyman who shares your enthusiasm for it. Yours is a new version of water on the brain.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column signed HORSE CRAZY shocked me. I didn't know there were people who held the sacrament of marriage in such low esteem that they would consider getting married on a horse! Marriage is a solemn and sober business and in my opinion there is only one proper setting for it. And that is in a church.

SANE

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell my wife how foolish she is to put her name and address on her key chain? I tried to tell her that if she lost her house keys, whoever found them would know right where to go to rob her.

She thinks some honest soul will return them to her just because her name and address are on it. Or am I wrong in wanting to take no chances?

DEAR ED: You're right—although the majority of finders are not keepers. It pays to take no chances.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, California.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, California.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T GO HOME": Send me your name and address and I will send you a list of homes for unwed mothers in your area at once. Yes, some of them are free, and you will be cared for confidentially.

Little Girls Get Doll Patterns

The millions of youngsters who own the popular "Barbie," "Ken" and "Chatty Cathy" dolls can now increase their doll's wardrobe economically with professionally designed clothes by using the new expanded line of pattern kits introduced by the California manufacturer. Several different kits, each containing four to six patterns, are available for each doll.

Patterns are printed on easy to handle tissue, and are designed so simply that girls can easily cut and sew their own authentic "Barbie," "Ken" and "Chatty Cathy" costumes, giving the youngsters an added sense of accomplishment and closer participation in the "Barbie" world. The front of each kit illustrates the patterns included and the patterns are designed all-new so as not to duplicate any of the hundreds of ready-made wardrobe ensembles already available for the dolls.

The pattern kits are distributed nationally wherever toys are sold. Advance Pattern Co. of New York, maker of the patterns, will distribute them through yard stores.

The American Pilling House for the Blind is testing a new concept in Braille typewriters. The typewriter would have only six keys and be constructed mostly of plastic.

New Cosmetics Helpful

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There are so many simply wonderful cosmetics already on the market and new ones appear constantly. It's no wonder that a woman may feel overcome and somewhat confused.

There are so many good products that you could make a career of experimenting with them, and with profit, except that this would become boring and, anyway, who has time?

Once in a while I like to call your attention to some of the newer and greatly perfected items.

For instance, there is a medicated cream which very gently and slowly peels the excess layers of dead skin which are associated with acne, reduces the oily condition which is the background of acne and has an ingredient which inhibits the growth of bacteria, which also play an important part in the creation and spread of acne.

There is also a medicated mask which tends to loosen blackheads and helps control the excessively oily condition which causes them.

MEDICATED MAKE-UP

Then there is a medicated compact make-up consisting of a foundation and pressed powder blemishes and also is corrective with an antiseptic action. The puff to them.

If your skin is showing the wear and tear of sun and wind and summer flia, there are splendid moisturizing emulsions which are wonderful. You can use these around the clock.

One contains fermented milk proteins. This reminds me of the famous milk baths of the past and of Dr. Charlotte Davenport. I first interviewed her when she was 111 years old. She used nothing but cream (from milk) for complexion lubrication.

Remember that usually extreme oiliness is the father or mother of blackheads (who wants to claim that honor) and that blackheads are the ancestors of pimples.

So, if you are a teen-ager or a woman who has very oily skin, it is a good preventative measure to wash your face with soap and water several times daily.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clear The Way For Beauty" (how to deal with skin blemishes) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 48. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "More News About Cosmetics."

Easy Does It

When transporting plants in clay pots to your local flower show, make use of a sturdy slat box to keep the pots from toppling over. Remove the cover of the box and draw circles on it a half inch less in diameter than the pots that are at the top. Cut out these circles. Replace the cover on the box and set the plants to be moved in the holes. The pots will not tip and the cost box can be set on the floor of the car in such a way that it will not slide about.

Skin dried by summer sun and wind can be revitalized with moisturizing emulsion now available.

The answer is sound and simple: We're banking on you. We feel certain that you... will find these prices irresistible. This creates VOLUME (a larger number of customers and sales) and it is on VOLUME that we base this policy of EVERYDAY low prices. It's plain common sense. Our company can earn more by selling 40 items at a penny profit, than we can by selling 15 items at a profit of 2c. On an item like this our profit-per-unit is reduced by half, but our final profit increases. At low prices like these... we're bound to sell more, because these prices are hard to match. Cities Different, but Teams Same as '51 National League Playoff

Can You Name Series Greats and Their Memorable Moments?

Herbert, Pascual 20-Game Winners

Runnels AL Bat Champ, but Davis Uncertain in NL

From Our Wire Services
Pete Runnels won his second American League batting crown and Camilo Pascual and Ray Herbert became 20-game winners for the first time in their careers Sunday, but Tommy Davis could yet lose a batting title that a few days ago seemed as secure as a Dodgers pennant victory.
Runnels took the A. L. crown with a .336 average although sidelined by a 101-degree temperature as the Boston Red Sox split 3-1 decisions with the Washington Senators.

The spray-hitting first-baseman won the 1960 championship with a .330 mark and could only have lost this year's title had Mickey Mantle of the Yankees gone 5-for-5 Sunday. Mickey, however, retired after getting two hits in three tries.
Pascual gained his 20th victory with a three-hitter that enabled the Minnesota Twins to down the Baltimore Orioles, 1-0, while Herbert was credited with the Chicago White Sox' 5-4 win over the Yankees.

Pascual had never won more than 17 games in a season and Herbert had never won more than 14.
Davis went 1-for-3 in the Dodgers' 1-0 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals to finish the 162-game schedule with a .347 average compared to Runnels' .342.
Davis' performance in the pennant playoff series will count toward his season average, however, but he could fall to .341 by going 4-for-11.

The Twins' Harmon Killebrew made off with the A. L. home run crown with 44, while Runnels, with totals of 48 and 126 respectively. The N. L. home run crown went to Willie Mays, whose fifth of the season gave the Giants Sunday's 2-1 triumph over the Houston Colts, and Davis' 150 RBI's gave him a lead of 12 over Willie Mays in the batting race.
The A. L. pitching crown went to the Twins' Dick Stigman with a 12-3 record for a .706 percentage and the N. L. crown went to the Reds' Bob Purkey with a 23-5 mark for .821. No pitcher involved in the Giant-Dodger playoff can overtake Purkey.

GLAD IN DODGERLAND — The Los Angeles Dodgers, losers to the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, walked dejectedly into their room after being forced into a playoff with the San Francisco Giants.

GLAD IN GIANT LAND — After defeating the Houston Colts, 2-1, the San Francisco Giants' locker room was a happy scene. They just heard of the Los Angeles defeat to force a three game playoff. Harvey Kuenn, former Tiger, is the cheering Giant on the right.

Bunning Gets Tigers Into Money Position

DETROIT (UPI) — It's official. The Detroit Tigers are champions of fourth place in the American League by the slim margin of .003 percentage points.

The Tigers clinched the first division berth over the Chicago White Sox yesterday by whipping the Kansas City A's, 6-1 on a five-four-hitter by Jim Bunning.

The $600 prize money for the fourth place finish is a far cry from world series dough but will give the Bengals a little extra spending money for their tour of the Orient.

Bunning fell behind 1-0 in the second inning when he served up a Gopher ball to Kansas City rookie Bill Kern leading off. Then he retired 23 of the last 27 men he faced to record his 19th victory against 10 losses.

It fell one short of Bunning's major league victory high of 20 set in the 1957 season.

Norm Cash drove in three of the Tigers' runs with a home run (his 39th) and a two-run single to finish A's starter Bill Fischer. When Fischer walked Bubba Morton in the fifth inning it broke up his record-setting control streak of 34 1-3 innings without issuing a free pass.

A crowd of 6,299 — mostly non-Liv TV fans — watched the season finale for both clubs.

Cash's single knocked in two runs in the third when the Tigers broke out in front to stay, 4-1. One inning previously Cash had erased a 1-0 deficit with his homer into the upper stands in right field.

Rocky Colavito, whose third inning single actually provided the winning run, had three hits and ended the season with 37 home runs and 112 runs batted in.

The Tigers ended 104 games behind the champion Yankees with 35 victories and 18 defeats — somewhat under their sizzling 101 wins of 1961.

They'll be leaving on a five-week junket of Japan soon and it's a good bet that many of them won't be Tigers upon their return. James Campbell, newly-appointed general manager, is staying home to talk trade.

Oust McGaha From Teepee

Cleveland in Market for New Field Boss

CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Gabe Paul was looking for a new field boss for the Cleveland Indians today and said he had "a couple of choices in mind."

"I want the best available," Paul said Sunday after announcing that the contract of freshman manager Mel McGaha, 36, would not be renewed for 1963.

Paul has approached Leo Durocher, former manager of the Dodgers and Giants in the National League, about the Cleveland job. Durocher, now a coach for the Dodgers, must decide whether he prefers Los Angeles or another crack at managing.

McGaha was not around when the Indians closed out the season by winning a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels, 4-3 and 6-1. Paul said the skipper had been offered a job by another club and was granted permission to leave the tribe to confer with officials of that club.

Paul did not identify the other team, but one report had it that Charles Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, had offered McGaha a job in that organization as a coach. Hank Bauer resigned as manager of the Athletics last Friday and pitching coach Ed Lopat was named to succeed him.

Dodgers Lose to Cardinals as Giants Win

Podres Hurls Brilliant Game but Lone Homer Spells Defeat

By JOE REICHER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The players are different and the home cities of the two clubs have changed but it was 1951 all over again for the Giants and Dodgers as these two arch rivals engaged in the opener of another post-season playoff for the National League pennant.

Just as it was 11 years ago, it was the Giants who overhauled the Dodgers. The Giants, managed by Alvin Dark, the '51 team captain, didn't have to make up as much ground this time, but in some ways, the Dodger collapse was even greater.

The 1951 Dodgers dispensed a 135-game lead of mid-August but it was due to a tremendous Giants' surge rather than a Dodger foldup. This time the Dodgers, as even their manager admitted, had no one to rely on but themselves.

HELD LEAD
They had held the lead since July 7 and at one time, on Aug. 9, were 5½ games in front of the Giants. Only a week ago the Dodgers led the Giants by four games with but seven to play. They lost six of those seven. The Giants won five of their seven to make up the four-game difference.

The double crusher came Sunday when the Giants nipped Houston 2-1 on an eighth-inning home run by Willie Mays and St. Louis batted the Dodgers 1-0 on an eighth-inning home run by catcher Gene Oliver.

Johnny Podres pitched brilliantly, permitting only five hits, but lost the hurling duel to Curt Simmons. The veteran Cardinal left-hander also allowed five hits but did not permit a runner beyond second base as he evaded his season record at 10-10 and registered his third victory in four decisions with the Dodgers.

"It was the best game I ever pitched in my life," Podres moaned. "Yes, better than even the game (2-9) I pitched against the Yankees in the 1955 World Series."

Alston, trying desperately to hide his disappointment, refused to blame the Dodger collapse on Simmons.

"I don't know whether they were tense or not," he said. "I didn't see any evidence of it today. I would just blame it on a horrible slump. We're just not hitting worth a darn."

Alston named Sandy Koufax, southern slicker and sensation, to pitch today's opener against the Giants, after having been informed that the Giants planned to start Billy Pierce, the veteran left-hander.

Koufax has won 14 of 20 decisions, all his victories coming in the first half of the season. He recently returned to the starting rotation after being sidelined since July 17 with a circulatory disorder in the forefinger of his pitching hand.

The Giants and Dodgers fought evenly during the regular season, winning nine games. The Giants, however, won six of the last seven from the Dodgers.

This is the fourth playoff in National League history. The Dodgers have just involved in all of them. They lost again to the Cardinals in 1946, lost again to the Giants in 1951 and defeated Milwaukee (after Alston) in 1953.

ST. LOUIS
St. Louis won 14 of 20 decisions, all his victories coming in the first half of the season. He recently returned to the starting rotation after being sidelined since July 17 with a circulatory disorder in the forefinger of his pitching hand.

The Twins' Harmon Killebrew made off with the A. L. home run crown with 44, while Runnels, with totals of 48 and 126 respectively. The N. L. home run crown went to Willie Mays, whose fifth of the season gave the Giants Sunday's 2-1 triumph over the Houston Colts, and Davis' 150 RBI's gave him a lead of 12 over Willie Mays in the batting race.

The A. L. pitching crown went to the Twins' Dick Stigman with a 12-3 record for a .706 percentage and the N. L. crown went to the Reds' Bob Purkey with a 23-5 mark for .821. No pitcher involved in the Giant-Dodger playoff can overtake Purkey.

Jim Bunning won his 19th game with a four-hitter that gave the Detroit Tigers a 6-1 decision over the Kansas City Athletics and the Cleveland Indians swept the Los Angeles Angels, 4-3 and 6-1, under the direction of coach Mel Harder, substiting for ousted manager Mel McGaha, in other A. L. games.

In the National League, John Tatum's Howard Art Maloney's fourth bid for his 20th win by pitching the Cincinnati Reds to a 1-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. Dick Groat's three-run eighth-inning double gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 decision over the Milwaukee Braves.

Chicago Cubs scored a 5-1 win that dealt the New York Mets their 120th defeat of the season.

ST. LOUIS
St. Louis won 14 of 20 decisions, all his victories coming in the first half of the season. He recently returned to the starting rotation after being sidelined since July 17 with a circulatory disorder in the forefinger of his pitching hand.

Plum Runs 45-Yard 'Picture Play'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
BALTIMORE, MD. — They may not win any beauty contests, but the legs that belong to Milt Plum, Terry Barr and Wayne Walker were the prettiest things in Baltimore yesterday as far as Lions' coach George Wilson is concerned.

Plum, who was praised by Wilson for having the best "three second" arm in pro football, also showed he had a pair of legs to go with it in the 29-20 triumph over the Colts.

"It was the key play and the picture play of the game," said Wilson in reference to the 45-yard "quarterback sneak" which put the Lions ahead 24-20 late in the third quarter.

Calling the play from the bench, Wilson sent in fullbacks Ken Webb and Nick Pietrosante with the ball on the Colt 45 yard line and one yard to go on a 4th down.

Baltimore, expecting one of the fullbacks to dive for the first down, split the linebackers to cover each. Instead, Plum shot through the middle without a hand touching him and he raced the distance for the touchdown.

There were other "pretty" plays for the Lions which shocked the record Baltimore crowd of 57,966. Walker started the scoring on the first series of plays for the Lions with a 42 yard field goal midway in the first quarter. It was the third straight game in which the Lions scored in their first series of plays.

Baltimore came back after the ensuing kickoff to make it 7-3 at the 48 yard line in 9 plays with Tom Matie going one yard and Dick Bickel converting.

Cowboys Upset Rams as 49ers Roll Over Vikings in West

Don't Laugh at Redskins, But, Wha Hoppen, Nino?

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers withstood the early loss of scoring king Paul Hornung and sent fullback Jim Taylor charging for three touchdowns in routing the Chicago Bears 49-0 Sunday for their third straight National Football League victory.

Hornung, the league's scoring champion the past three seasons, suffered an apparent muscle pull in his left leg the first time the Packers had the ball and sat on the bench the rest of the way except for seven successful conversion appearances.

Don't laugh, but look at those Washington Redskins on top of the Eastern Division of the NFL, and Detroit fans might have a giggle or two and ask, "What happened to the Browns and Jim Nino?"

help from Washington's suddenly revitalized defense, which recovered four St. Louis fumbles and intercepted four passes, one of which was turned into a TD by defensive halfback Dale Hackbart.

That set the pattern of the game for the hapless Vikings, winless in three starts.

NEAR MISS — Yale Larry, the top punter in the NFL, had a close shave in nearly having a punt blocked yesterday by tackle John Diehl (78). Larry still got off a 60 yard boot as the Lions won a 29-20 game from the Colts in Baltimore.

Blisiak then made it 20-17 for Baltimore after 10 minutes of the third quarter, but Plum's "picture play" sneak followed and the Lions were ahead to stay, although both teams continued with big threats.

However, Taylor, the 25-year-old former Louisiana State standout, took charge. He capped a 60-yard march with a smash from the one yard line in the second period, and then scored on pile driving cracks at the line from the 2 and the 10 in the third quarter.

In the Eastern Conference other games, the New York Giants scored a 31-27 victory over Pittsburgh and Cleveland was whipped, this time by Philadelphia Eagles, 35-7.

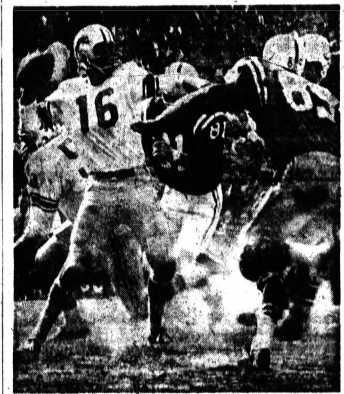

Tommy Jurgeon picked the Browns apart with a passing record and a solid crowd of 60,671.

Grassroots Theater Started

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Next May 7 the Tyrone Guthrie Theater will open here as a gleaming showplace, billed as the best hope for breathing life back into the living American theater.

It is now a jumble of scaffolding and cement forms. But the revolutionary, asymmetrical theater is taking shape. When finished, it will offer an example of how a progressive city, prodded by theater zealots and a stage genius, might be able to rescue the legitimate theater from its expense-account ghetto.

It all started a couple of years ago. Tyrone Guthrie, whose stature as a stage director matches his own size (6 feet 5), grew weary of the over-priced, hit-or-miss commercial theater of New York City. Together with Broadway producer Oliver Rea, he conceived a desire to start a grassroots theater in the United States along the lines of English repertory.

MISTAKEN MAYOR

Sir Tyrone and Rea had formed the country for prospective cities. They were well received, though in one city the mayor chatted with them for 15 minutes about Irish whiskey; he thought Guthrie was a salesman for it.

The choice narrowed down to three cities far removed from Broadway and tourist towns: Minneapolis, Cleveland and Milwaukee. Minneapolis won because it had a good record in boosting the arts.

ing art and music; 2. Nearby University of Minnesota had a graduate drama school to provide a workshop group; 3. Minneapolis and St. Paul offered a ready audience of 28,000 college students.

Then there was the matter of money.

"Minn will come through," and the confident Guthrie.

Minn did. With publishing heir John Cowles Jr. as president, the Tyrone Guthrie Theater Foundation raised $2,150,000 from 3,500 local families. Guthrie signed on for three years at much less than his usual salary.

HAMLET FIRST

The first play will be an American "Hamlet," starring the young Southern actor George Grizzard, the native son in the film "Advise and Consent." Guthrie and Rea are recruiting other actors in New York and Hollywood. Joanne Woodward and Diane Baker have been mentioned for Ophelia.

The idea is to have a company of 25 professionals — 13 male, 10 female — to perform four well-known plays in a 20-week period starting in May. This time span was chosen to take advantage of the 250,000 visitors to the Twin Cities during that time; also it is the slack period for television actors.

MAY TAKE YEARS

Guthrie says: "We feel that the theater to realize its full value should become implanted here and not exist as a mere fungus on community life. Our long-term plan — it may take years and it may take a decade — is to produce works of a distinctive style only to be found here, and to make it an indigenous creation."

While attending the AP Managing Editors convention here, I visited the theater building. It is ingeniously designed by University of Minnesota professor Ralph Rapson, with ideas from Guthrie. The actors will perform on a platform extending into the audience, Shakespearean style. None of the 1,400 seats is more than 52 feet from the stage.

Explained the theater's one-man staff, Louis Gelland: "Guthrie believes there should be no second-class citizens in the theater."

Beauty Dies Weeks After Acid Attack

SAN FRANCISCO — Hungarian beauty Hajna Dekaplay died last night, a month after her husband told police he poured acid over her and mutilated her with a butcher knife because he thought she had been unfaithful.

The funeral of the beauty, Mrs. Ilona Piller, was at her daughter's bedside when death occurred at 11:45 p.m. at St. Francis Hospital.

A spokesman said Mrs. Piller was in shock and hospitalized under heavy sedation.

Death was attributed to "general deterioration" in condition of the 25-year-old bride of five weeks, slain by her husband in the couple's San Jose apartment Aug. 28.

U.N. Flag Raised Over W. New Guinea

Dutch Colonial Rule Ended in Asia

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP) — Three centuries of Dutch colonial rule in Asia ended today with the raising of the United Nations flag over West New Guinea in a prelude to Indonesian takeover of the rugged jungle territory May 1.

The U.N. flag was hoisted alongside the Dutch flag over the former Dutch governor's palace under an agreement providing for U.N. administration of the territory for the next seven months.

The United Nations, with the backing of a 1,000-man Pakistani security force, will try to maintain order among the Papuan inhabitants until Indonesia moves in.

Indonesia threatened to take the territory by force. The Dutch had ruled on West New Guinea in 1949 when Indonesia won sovereignty over the rest of the former Dutch East Indies.

Administration of New Guinea was handed over by acting Gov. Hain Veldekamp to Jose Rold-Ben of Guatemala, temporary U.N. administrator.

A flag-raising ceremony in Hollandia's public plaza was canceled to avoid provoking Papuan forces, who have pressed them a self-determination plebiscite before the end of 1969.

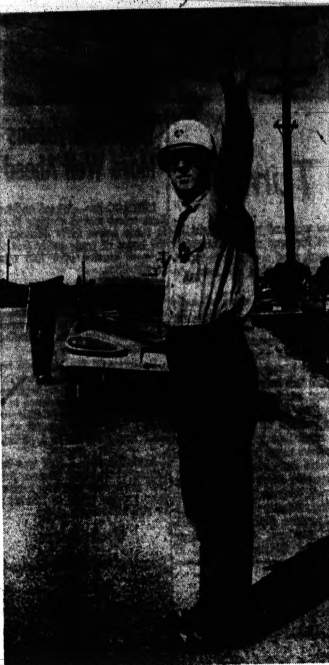

Loss of New Guinea leaves the Netherlands with only two overseas territories — the relatively rich South American territory of Surinam, or Guiana, and the Netherlands Antilles in the Caribbean.

RULED FOR 134 YEARS — The Dutch took over West New Guinea by proclamation 134 years ago, but did not make serious efforts to develop the territory or educate the natives until about 10 years ago. Australia administers the eastern half of New Guinea.

The main worry for the 700,000 Papuans now is that Dutch withdrawal has cost them any hope of eventual freedom.

Most Dutch policemen and civil servants have gone home or are on their way and there are signs already of a breakdown in administrative services and law and order. There have been reports of revived headhunting among some tribesmen.

WALT — Jack Berman, a member of Oakland Township Civil Defense Auxiliary Police, flags down traffic at Adams and Orion Roads intersection during an unannounced practice alert roadblock set up Saturday to test the efficiency of personnel and radio equipment. Civil Defense auxiliary police were summoned by RACES, a shortwave radio, amateur civil emergency service, as would be done if it was ever necessary to seal off an area because of a natural or military disaster. The surprise test program was planned by the Oakland County office of Civil Defense in cooperation with the Sheriff's Department.

Man Stabbed in Lake Orion

Assaulted by Trio at Intersection

LAKE ORION — Gerald Lamphier, 22, refused to allow three youths to damage his friend's car Saturday evening and was beaten, stabbed and shoved through a plate glass window for his efforts.

He was treated for scalp, back and head lacerations at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, after the encounter and then released.

Lamphier and his friend, James Hoffman, were stopped in Hoffman's car at the corner of Broadway and Flint streets for the traffic light.

Three pedestrians walked across Broadway to the car and demanded that Hoffman back up and let them pass, according to Lake Orion Police Chief Neal Leonard.

When Hoffman refused, the three youths climbed on to his car. Lamphier jumped out and the assailants forced him to the sidewalk, Leonard said.

They then forced him down the street to Van Wagner's drugstore, 3 S. Broadway St., where they pushed him through the plate glass window and stabbed him. Lamphier lives at 366 S. Broadway.

Plane Lands Near School, Hits Wagon

A student pilot successfully landed in a school yard in Springfield Township yesterday only to damage his small plane when it rolled into a farm wagon in an adjacent field.

Robert I. Wilson, 31, of 300 Alton St., told Police he brought down his single-engine, two-seater plane after smoke started coming from under the instrument panel.

Wilson, a salesman with Mead-Johnson Laboratory, was not injured when the plane crashed into the wagon next to the Andersonville Elementary School.

Wilson, who has his license to fly solo and was accumulating cross-country hours, was enroute from Owosso to Detroit when he had to land the plane at about 1 p.m.

Candidates Slate Talks in Waterford

The Greater Waterford Community Council will sponsor a public meeting tomorrow night featuring short talks by candidates seeking congressional, state and county offices in the Nov. 6 election.

Mrs. Edmund L. Windler, GWCC president, said the meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Pierce Junior High School, 5143 Hatchery Road, Drayton Plains.

List of Issues Stall Adjournment

Congress Session Drags On

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several "its" today belatedly hopes of the 81st Congress to adjourn for keeps by the end of this week.

There was a feeling of pessimism that what already has been the longest session since 1931 might carry over into next week.

The White House held the main key to hopes of Congress before the November congressional elections. Many members already have left Washington.

On President Kennedy's desk is a bill passed overwhelmingly by the Senate and the House to provide a tax break for self-employed people who set up their own retirement programs. The President has not indicated whether he will sign it or veto it.

The deadline for presidential action extends into next week. The bill's backers have ways of prolonging the session until the deadline arrives.

There still is a lot of work on the congressional docket but it can be disposed of quickly if adjournment fever sets in and a definite get-away date is sighted.

NY Times Publishes West Coast Edition

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Publication of the West Coast edition of the New York Times began today.

The western edition was distributed to 13 western states including Alaska and Hawaii. It is a duplicate of the New York edition, minus local New York news.

News is transmitted from New York at 1,000 words per minute and set into type at Rodgers-McDonald Publishers, Inc.

The western edition will be printed six days a week. Subscribers will continue to receive the Sunday paper by mail.

A pending catch-all money bill is being whipped into shape to finance the water projects measure.

Another potential barrier is a House-passed $5.9-billion bill financing the foreign aid program. The Senate added more than $700 million to the House figures and the House may not back down without a prolonged fight.

Also in the troublesome category is a House-passed bill to hike postal rates about $600-million. The Senate tacked on a pay raise for federal employees, estimated to cost more than $1-billion. Some influential House members feel the Senate bill is too liberal and may toss some technical hurdles in its path.

The U. S. Mint has 74 million silver dollars on hand. It has not stamped one out since 1935.

JFK Invokes Taft-Hartley on Longshoremen

Act Comes 10 Hours After Work Stoppage
at Atlantic, Gulf Ports

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen quit work on Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports today after their contract expired. Within 10 hours, President Kennedy invoked the Taft-Hartley Act in an attempt to end the work stoppage.

The presidential action, the first step in Taft-Hartley machinery, appeared to be the only immediate likelihood of bringing the unionized longshoremen back to docks from New England to Texas.

Prospects for quick agreement on a New York contract seemed remote.

The White House said Kennedy would create a board of inquiry to report to him by Thursday on the nature and scope of the work stoppage. On the basis of the report, the president will decide whether to order the usual 80-day cooling off period.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, during his administration, used a Taft-Hartley injunction to halt a waterfront strike that tied up more than 200 American flag ships for a week.

75,000 ORDERED OFF
The AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) ordered its 75,000 members off the job as of 12:01 a.m., when the union's old contract expired with 145 shipping firms.

William V. Bradley, ILA president, issued a midnight statement from the union's New York headquarters, saying: "The mandate of our membership of no contract, no work is now in effect."

"There is to be no work performed on the waterfront from Maine to Brownsville, Tex., until a favorable contract is signed."

Negotiations collapsed Saturday between the ILA and the New York Shipping Association, the employers' group here, after weeks of fruitless bargaining.

In an effort to clear ship cargoes before the longshoremen's work stoppage, more than 10,000 of them labored at overtime wages Saturday and Sunday at 52 New York harbor piers.

RECORD FOR SUNDAY
With four times the usual Sunday working force in operation, at least 54 ships left the port according to Charles McGee, spokesman for the New York Waterfront Commission. He said the number of departing ships set a record for a Sunday.

The longshoremen's action stopped all operations at Gulf Coast ports where pickets were posted initially at both Houston and Galveston, Tex. Pickets also were ordered posted in New Orleans, ILA officials there said.

One ship, which arrived Sunday from New Zealand with a cargo of frozen beef, was stranded at Galveston.

U.S. Marshal With Tear Gas Gun

2 Dead in Rioting at Mississippi U

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

OXFORD, Miss. — The University of Mississippi enrolled James H. Meredith, 29, a Negro, as a student today. His presence on campus has sparked night-long rioting in which two persons died.

It was not until 6:15 a.m. today—almost 11 hours after the rioting started—that Brig. Gen. Charles Billingslee, commander of federal troops in Mississippi, was able to say, "I now declare this area secure."

Entrance of the 29-year-old Air Force veteran as a student at the all-white school came under virtual siege conditions as fresh outbreaks of the rioting that took two lives and injured more than 75 spread to the downtown area.

A crowd of angry townspeople that had been throwing rocks and pop bottles at troops in the downtown area was broken up by a barrage of tear gas.

At least one soldier was reported injured in the downtown rioting. The crowd's fury was heightened by the presence of Negro soldiers.

OXFORD, Miss., (AP)—Firing broke out just off the Courthouse Square here as units of the 108th Cavalry arrived in the square, sealed off after several hours of rioting.

In the ranks of advancing soldiers, a Negro soldier was hit about the neck and shoulders with a bolt.

Before the order to fire the tear gas was given, an army truck's windshield was shattered by a large rock and a man leaped on a balcony to drop a big timber on a passing truck.

Tear gas flowed across Courthouse Square, where advancing lines of troops had pinned the students and cheering crowds of gas seeped into stores.

Women staggered from stores, their eyes burning tears. By mid-morning the town, as the campus, appeared to be under virtual martial law although there was no official proclamation.

TROOPS FOUR IN
Truckload after truckload of troops poured into Courthouse Square. Ten Army helicopters circled overhead.

Soon after the tear gas attack crowds began to reform in back alleys to regroup for another attack on the soldiers.

Meredith became the first Negro knowingly admitted to Ole Miss in its 114-year history.

Massed federal power—using bayonets and tear gas—faced the enrollment upon a bitter and stubborn state whose Gov. Ross Barnett had sworn to go to jail for the enforcement of its order had become an obligation of the United States government.

"Even though this government had not originally been party to the case," the Chief Executive said, "my responsibility as President was therefore inescapable. I accept it."

Early Woman Driver, Ford Secretary, Dies
DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Miller, believed to have been Henry Ford's first secretary and one of the first women drivers, died Friday in Detroit after an illness. She was 78.

Ford often had Mrs. Miller photographed in her linen dress driving an automobile to encourage women to take up motoring. She is survived only by her husband, Millard, 82.

15 Cars Lay Smashed or Burned

Campus Shambles After Riots

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—By dawn's early light the University of Mississippi campus lay in shambles. At least 15 automobiles lay smashed or smoldering from flames that consumed them in last night's riot.

The campus was strewn with broken glass, soft drink bottles, sticks and small bottles that were used by the rioters.

Some windows in the Lyceum Building, which is the main administration building on the campus, were smashed.

One station wagon that was burned could hardly be recognized as a vehicle. Other cars had been literally pounded to pieces.

A fire truck which students manned in a tug-of-war with federal marshals who finally captured it also parked in front of the Lyceum. Its hoses were gone, its lights and windshield smashed.

Army units were marching in battalion strength to the cadence of "hup-two-three-four" from commanding officers. Other soldiers were lying on the grass in a rest area.

In the final stages of last night's demonstration, rioters tried to smash everything in sight and attempted to plunge most of the campus into darkness by breaking out streetlights.

MARSHALS HOLD
A bulldozer that was commandeered by the mob at one point last night was parked in front of the Lyceum Building where it had stalled.

A fire truck which students manned in a tug-of-war with federal marshals who finally captured it also parked in front of the Lyceum. Its hoses were gone, its lights and windshield smashed.

Outside the Lyceum Building a force of battered but sturdy United States marshals still held their firm, thin line.

Meanwhile, the editor of the student newspaper told her fellow students they are bringing "dishonor and shame" to their university and state by participating in riots.

An appeal was made in a regular edition of the Mississippi which journalism students put out today as usual despite the sounds of gunfire and exploding tear gas shells which rang in their ears as they worked.

Many of the newsmen covering the riot used the journalism building as a command post. It is near the edge of the campus.

Barnett's Plea 'Not Surrender'

Says Call for Order
Was Misunderstood

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
JACKSON, Miss.—Gov. Ross Barnett, who issued a plea for peace and order yesterday upon learning that James Meredith had entered the University of Mississippi campus, said today the plea was not a surrender.

"I will never yield a single inch," the governor said.

He delivered his plea shortly after receiving a telephone call from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy informing him that Meredith had been escorted on the campus.

"My heart still says 'never,' but my calm judgment abhors the bloodshed that would follow," said Barnett.

Today he said some persons had wrongly interpreted his plea to mean he was weakening in his defiance of integration orders. "I repeat to the people of Mississippi I will never yield a single inch," he said.

ATTORNEYS IN COURT
Barnett planned to send his attorneys to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today—perhaps to seek removal of the stern penalties for contempt leveled against him.

Attorneys for the governor are scheduled to appear before the appellate court in New Orleans, La. this afternoon.

Apparently they will ask the judges to rescind the civil contempt finding against Barnett and perhaps against Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson, who once prevented Meredith from registering.

Barnett must purge himself of contempt by 11 a.m. tomorrow or he will face $10,000 daily fines. This was the penalty set by eight appeals judges for blocking enrollment of James H. Meredith, 29, Negro, in the University of Mississippi.

Part of the purge may have come last night when Barnett, in an emotional message to Mississippians, indirectly said he was giving up physical resistance to federal court edict.

"We are now completely surrounded by armed forces and we are physically overpowered," he said in a statement issued from the governor's mansion where he spent the night.

In the statement, issued before the rioting began on the Ole Miss campus at Oxford, 150 miles away, the 64-year-old governor vowed he would "never yield a single inch in my determination to win the fight we are all engaged in."

He said this fight would be in the courts.

Barnett said he had no plans at this time to close the university, although he had previously said he would shut the school to avoid integration.

Renewal Hearings Moving to City Hall

Circuit Court hearings on Pontiac urban renewal condemnation action involving some 250 persons with interests in 73 parcels of land will move tomorrow to the City Commission chambers at Pontiac City Hall.

The proceedings have been held in the courtroom of Judge William J. Bear at the County Courthouse, but are being moved to free the courtroom for the October jury term.

Jury trials are scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Now in the midst of presentations by defense attorneys, the hearings were resumed Sept. 11 after a five-week recess.

The jurors will decide on the necessity of the project as well as condemnation prices for the properties involved.

Frisco Hosts LA in Playoff for NL Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants, who finished in a tie for first place in the National League in the regular season, open a playoff today to determine which team will oppose the New York Yankees in baseball's World Series.

The best two-of-three playoff series—the fifth in baseball history—shifts to Los Angeles for the second game Tuesday and a third game, if necessary.

Opposing pitchers for today's game will be left-hander Sandy Kousser, who won 14 games and lost six for Los Angeles this season, and Billy Pierce, who won 15 and lost six for San Francisco.

The playoff games will be televised by WWS-TV (Channel 6), starting at 7:45 p.m. (Pontiac time).

The playoff was forced Sunday, the final day of the regular season, when San Francisco beat Houston 2-1 on Willie Mays' home run; and Los Angeles lost to St. Louis 1-0, with Gene Oliver's home run accounting for the only score. It left each team with a record of 101 victories and 61 losses.

It marked the low point on a slump by the Dodgers, who had held the lead since July 8.

The last previous playoff was in 1959 when the Dodgers beat Milwaukee in two straight games, then went on to win the World Series four games to one in a playoff in 1961. The Giants won two games to one.

State Traffic Kills 14; 2 Die in Fire, River

By The Associated Press
Fourteen persons have died, seven of them in a two-car crash near Cadillac, in Michigan highway traffic this weekend. There was one drowning in the state and one fire fatality.

Five Roman Catholic nuns died in the two-car crash. Two Indians, occupants of the second car, also died and two other nuns remain in serious condition. The Associated Press weekend fatality tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

One of the traffic deaths—that of 13-year-old Mary Ann Schaper of Barre—touched off a massive state police hunt for the motorist who allegedly failed to stop after the accident.

State police, supported by the Lansing Crime Laboratory, pieced together shreds of evidence from bits of clothing and came up with the leads that led to apprehension of a motorist who admitted he was the driver involved.

William La Came, 38, of Menominee was injured fatally early Sunday when a car in which he was a passenger overturned on a Menominee County road.

Joyce Koon, 22, of Grand Rapids, died Sunday in a two-car head-on collision on U.S. 41 in Kalamazoo County's Schoolcraft Township.

David Snyder, 7, of Hastings was killed Saturday night in a two-car intersection collision on M-16 in Barry County's Rutland Township.

An auto struck 55-year-old John W. Hakala of Ishpeming on U.S. 41 in Ishpeming Saturday, injuring him fatally.

The five dead nuns, teachers at St. John's School in Essexville, were Sister Mary Ferdinand, 75, the former Anna Bauer, and Sister Rose Inwilde, 57, the former Regina De Haas, both of Grand Rapids; Sister Joseph Ann, 53, the former Mary Popp of Lake Leelanau; Sister Jeanne Anne, 42, the former Jeanne Brunette of Alpena; and Sister Phyllis, 36, the former Eleanor Schoenborn of Marion.

Four of the nuns died Friday night after the fiery crash that also killed Moley Johnson, 44.

Reed City while being transferred by ambulance from Cadillac Hospital to St. Mary's in Grand Rapids.

Larry Smith, 34, and Stanley Muebs, both of Detroit, died Friday night when their auto smashed up on an unopened stretch of the Chrysler Expressway.

The body of Chester M. Gray, 41, of Havana Island, was found in the south channel of the St. Clair River near his home Sunday. State police said Gray apparently fell into the river while taking a walk Saturday.

Jesse Bodry, 73, died Sunday in a fire at his home in rural Luther in Lake County. His body was found in the basement of his charred home.

Driver Ignores Key to Runaway Problem

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP) — When the accelerator on Dean Blaser's car suddenly stuck and the car lurched forward, the 19-year-old driver decided to try to ride the vehicle down.

He pumped on the brake but the racing engine pulled the car on. After swerving through Barberton, the brakes finally burned out. At that point a passenger leaped from the car and the vehicle smashed into a tree.

Police pointed out that in his excitement Blaser overlooked a very simple solution to the dilemma: He could have simply turned off the ignition.

Vigilance Tax Unit to Visit With Petitions

Tricounty Area to Be Covered

Volunteers to Knock on Doors Tomorrow

The Vigilance Tax Committee's battle against Detroit's nonresident income tax will be carried into the homes of residents in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties tomorrow night.

Hundreds of volunteers will cover the tricounty area between 6 and 9 p.m. tomorrow with petitions aimed at halting the taxation of suburban residents who work in Detroit.

The volunteers seek signatures on petitions which ask the State Legislature to bar all city income taxes against nonresidents and to have all future income tax proposals submitted to a referendum.

Royal Oak Mayor William Hayward, chairman of the Vigilance Tax Committee's statewide campaign, said signature quotas for the drive are based on half the number of registered voters in each community.

EXPECT RESULTS

Hayward expected that 300,000 signatures would require the legislature to either enact the proposals on the petitions or to place them on a ballot next April.

Troy Mayor Robert J. Huber is chairman of the committee's drive in Oakland County, where the campaign is expected to receive its greatest support.

Mayors and township officials head the campaigns in most sections of the county.

Hayward said more volunteers are needed in every section of the county. He suggested that prospective workers contact officials of their own city, township or village in order to take part in the drive tomorrow.

Circulars of the petitions will stop at homes where residents have turned on their porch lights.

Hayward said petition signers do not have to oppose the city income tax in principle, but they may object to lack of limitations on the Detroit tax.

Hayward said the Detroit tax, which went into effect July 1 against residents and nonresidents who work in that city, contains no limit on the amount of money to be raised.

A similar one per cent income tax went into effect today in Hamtramck.

Pair Lives in California

UNION LAKE — Residing in Huntington Park, Calif., following their recent nuptials are Mr. and Mrs. George B. Lehto who exchanged their vows in Walled Lake Methodist Church, Walled Lake.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of tulle taffeta with a basque bodice and full skirt. Her bouffant veil was secured by a cluster of white nylon roses and leaves with pearlized stems.

STILL WORKS — Even after some 100 years of usage, this miniature commode is as sturdy as when a furniture salesman carried it from door to door as a sample. The owner, Mrs. A. K. Obenaus, explained salesmen would show tiny samples and take orders for larger furniture.

They Refinish Antiques

Necessity Starts Hobby

By REBA HEINTZELMAN DAVISSBURG — When Mrs. A. K. Obenaus and her young doctor husband were married during the last depression, they were forced to furnish their tiny apartment with old used furniture.

From that first cash-see experience has grown a fascinating and absorbing hobby. They refinish everything from small wooden paper weights to grand pianos.

"My husband says I'm a junk collector, and he's the fix-upper," commented the vivacious Mrs. Obenaus.

When their lovely Early American home on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds became too small to house the hundreds of finished pieces, the couple found and bought a small salt-box type home in the country at 11200 Clark Road near Davisburg.

WINDING AND WIDE

Roads leading to the 80-acre "farm" are like those in the most beautiful parts of northern Michigan. Narrow, heavily shaded, winding and wild.

Once inside the house with its old covered-wagon wheels flanking the doorway, there is a feeling of stepping back into the past. Luxurious braided wool rugs (she's made six), hanging lamps, marble topped tables and the sunshine streaming through colored pressed glass in the windows gives a poignant long-time ago feeling.

Most of the furniture is cherry. An elaborately carved square piano stands majestically against one wall — carefully refinished to bring out the satiny maroon glow of the rosewood.

Five coats of hardening paint was peeled off a little Martha Washington drop leaf table, revealing unusually beautiful lines in the melow cherry.

In one corner, a huge floor-to-ceiling cabinet filled with dish and glass treasures looks down on the room in dignified silence. Once this magnificent piece stood behind an old barn in Canada — its hinges ripped off, doors gone and an exterior that resembled driftwood.

It took the Obenaus's from one full until late spring to "bring this cupboard back."

There's a massive four-poster bed, supposedly to have belonged to Michigan's first governor, Stevens T. Mason. (It says so on the foot end). A unique folding baby's bed is put away in a closet for tiny guests.

Old rockers, straight chairs, candle tables and commodes stand around just inviting usage.

Civil Service Schedules Test for Postmaster

WASHINGTON — Applications for the Civil Service examination for Washington postmaster will be accepted until Oct. 9, the commission has announced.

Requirements for the position are one-and-a-half years experience, managerial abilities and the ability to deal with employees and customers satisfactorily.

Education beyond high school may be substituted for half the required experience.

Other qualifications are that the applicant must be between the ages of 18 and 70 and have resided within the office-delivery area for one year immediately preceding Oct. 9.

Annual salary for the position is $5,370. Further information may be obtained from the Washington post office.

Woman, Children OK in Brandon Twp.

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Fire leveled the Gerald W. Firman home, 1950 Baldwin Road, yesterday shortly before noon despite the efforts of four fire departments that battled the blaze unsuccessfully for over an hour.

Firemen from Oxford, Orion, Brandon and Independence townships attempted to extinguish the flames, which started from an undetermined cause.

Damage to home and furnishings was estimated at about $8,000.

Mrs. Firman was at home with three of her five children when the blaze started.

She said she had just washed the faces of Beverly, 2, Janet, 3, and Debra, 5, when she walked into the kitchen and saw "sparks coming out of the wall."

Her husband had taken their sons, Tom, 5 and Robert, 9, to Sunday school in Lapeer.

After extinguishing the sparks on the kitchen wall, Mrs. Firman walked outside and saw the roof flaming.

She grabbed her daughters and ran over a block to her neighbor's home, where she called the Brandon Township Fire Department.

The department received the call at 10:20 a.m. It later requested the aid of the three neighboring departments.

No one was hurt in the blaze. However, the home that Firman had built, from the ground up, for his German-born wife and five children was gone.

Firman is an employee of Fisher Body Division, Pontiac.

Carpenter PTA Sets Bond Issue Discussion

ORION TOWNSHIP — The proposed $2-million bond issue will be discussed by School Supt. A. A. Reed at the Carpenter School Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The association also will install its new officers at the get-acquainted meeting. Parents of children at the school have been urged to attend.

Water Issue on Tap Tonight

Contract OK Expected Royal Oak Township

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Officials of Royal Oak Township tonight are expected to approve a contract for the purchase of Oak Park water to serve residents in an isolated section of the township.

The isolated section, a 92-acre portion near 10-Mile and Greenfield roads, is physically cut off from the rest of the township.

Residents of the largely undeveloped township "island," which is surrounded by Oak Park and Southfield, presently buy water from Oak Park for $124 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The rate is twice that charged Oak Park residents, according to Township Clerk Mrs. Artie Gray. The higher fee is required by Oak Park's charter, she said.

Because of increasing requests by developers, however, township officials have been negotiating to purchase the water at wholesale rates.

As the agreement now stands, said Mrs. Gray, the township would buy the water at $1.66 per 1,000 cubic feet and retail it to residents in the isolated section.

Oak Park City Manager Virgil Knowles said the city council may set an even lower rate at a meeting tonight with Township Supervisor Elwood Dickens and Township Atty. Maurice Merritt.

Under the proposed contract, the township would be responsible for meter reading and water billing, services now performed by Oak Park in the 92-acre township section.

Rozek Vows Exchanged Wed in Walled Lake

MRS. JAMES A. ROZEK

FARMINGTON — Donna Louise Sonnenberg became the bride of James Anthony Rozek in a Nuptial Mass Saturday morning at St. Williams Catholic Church in Walled Lake. Rev. Raymond E. Jones performed the candlelight service.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sonnenberg, 29100 Bartlett St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rozek, 1171 E. Walled Lake Drive, Walled Lake.

For her wedding the bride chose a Chantilly lace gown featuring long, pointed sleeves and a ruffled skirt that flowed into a peacock chapel train. The Sabrina neckline was outlined with sequins and pearls.

A double-tiered crown of crystal and pearls held her bouffant bubble veil of illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white miniature roses, elegance and tuberoses with smilax accents.

Mrs. Lawrence Billet of Dearborn, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lynn Sonnenberg of Farmington, sister-in-law of the bride, and Donna Casie and Judith Niland, cousin of the bride, both of Detroit.

On the esquire side, Daniel Otis of Dearborn assisted his cousin as best man. The guests were seated by Lynn Sonnenberg of Farmington, brother of the bride; Lawrence Billet of Dearborn, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Frank Sella of Walled Lake.

A wedding breakfast for 100 was served at the Ford Motor Union Hall in Wixom after the party greeted 300 guests at a dinner at the same hall.

Upon their return from a two-week honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds will reside in Livonia.

Grassroots Theater Started

By BOB THOMAS
AP Wire-Television Writer

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Next May 7 the Tyrone Guthrie Theater will open here as a gleaming showpiece, billed as the best new hope for breathing life back into the living American theater.

It is now a jumble of scaffolding and cement forms, that the revolutionary, asymmetrical theater is taking shape. When finished, it will offer an example of how progressive city, prodded by wealthy social and stage groups, might be able to rescue the legitimate theater from its expense-account ghetto.

It all started a couple of years ago. Tyrone Guthrie, whose stature as a stage director matches his own size (6 feet 5), grew weary of the over-priced hi-top commercial theater of New York City. Together with Broadway producer Oliver Rea, he expressed a desire to start a grassroots theater in the United States along the lines of English repertory.

SHAKEN MAYOR

Sir Tyrone and Rea brainstormed the country for prospective cities. They were well received, though in one city the mayor chatted with them for 15 minutes about Irish whiskey; he thought Guthrie was a salesman for it.

The choice narrowed down to three cities far enough removed from Broadway and tourist towns: Minneapolis, Cleveland and Milwaukee. Minneapolis won because it had a good record in boosting art and music.

2. Nearby University of Minnesota has a graduate drama school, provides a workshop group; 3. Minneapolis and St. Paul offered a ready audience of 28,000 college students.

Then there was the matter of money.

"Minn was chosen through," the confident Guthrie.

Minneapolis With publishing heir John Cowles Jr. as president, the Tyrone Guthrie Theater Foundation raised $2,150,000 from 3,500 local families. Guthrie signed on for three years at much less than his usual salary.

HAMLET FIRST

The first play will be an American "Hamlet," starring the young Southern actor George Grizzard (the nasty senator in the film "Advise and Consent"). Guthrie and Rea are recruiting other actors in New York and Hollywood. Joanne Woodward and Diane Baker have been mentioned for Ophelia.

The idea is to have a company of 25 professionals — 15 male, 10 female — to perform four well-known plays in a 26-week period starting in May. This time span was chosen to take advantage of the 250,000 visitors to the Twin Cities during that time; also it is the slack period for television actors.

MAY TAKE YEARS

Guthrie says: "We feel that the theater to realize its full value should become implanted here and not just as a mere fungus on community life. Our long-term plan — it may take years and it may take a decade — is to produce works of distinctive style only to be found here, and to make it an indigenous creation."

While attending the AP Managing Editors convention here, I visited the theater building. It is ingeniously designed by University of Minnesota professor Ralph Rapson, with ideas from Guthrie. The actors will perform on a platform extending into the audience, Shakespearean-style. None of the 1,400 seats is more than 52 feet from the stage.

Explained the theater's one-man staff, Louis Gelfand: "Guthrie believes there should be no second-class citizens in the theater."

Beauty Dies Weeks After Acid Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.) — Hungarian beauty Hajna DeKaplany died last night, a month after her husband told police he poured acid over her and mutilated her with a butcher knife because he thought she had been unfaithful.

The former model's mother, Mrs. Ilona Piller, was at her daughter's bedside when death occurred at 11:45 p.m. at St. Francis Hospital. A spokesman said Mrs. Piller was in shock and hospitalized under heavy sedation.

UN Flag Raised Over W. New Guinea

Dutch Colonial Rule Ended in Asia

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP) — Three centuries of Dutch colonial rule in Asia ended today with the raising of the United Nations flag over West New Guinea in a tribute to Indonesian takeover of the rugged jungle territory May 1.

The U.N. flag was hoisted alongside the Dutch flag over the former Dutch government palace under an agreement providing for U.N. administration of the territory for the next seven months.

United Nations, with the backing of a 2,000-man Pakistani security force, will try to maintain order among the Papuan tribes until Indonesia moves in.

The two-stage transfer, devised by U.S. diplomat Ellsworth Bunker, was agreed on by Indonesia and the Netherlands after Indonesian threatened to take the territory by force. The Dutch had held West New Guinea since 1949 when Indonesia won sovereignty over the rest of the prewar Dutch East Indies.

Surviving are his wife Pearl; three sisters, Mrs. Juan Estele Phillips of Pontiac, and Mrs. Estelle Williams, both of Chicago, Ill., and a brother.

A flag-raising ceremony in Hollandia's public plaza was canceled to avoid provoking Papuan. Indonesia has promised them self-determination plebiscite before the end of 1963.

Loss of New Guinea leaves the Netherlands with only two overseas territories — the relatively rich South American territory of Surinam, and Guyana, and the HAIT — Jack Berean, a member of Oakland Township Civil Defense Auxiliary Police, flags down traffic at Adams and Orion Roads intersection during an unannounced practice alert road block set up Saturday to test the efficiency of personnel and radio equipment. Civil Defense auxiliary police were summoned by RACES, a shortwave radio, amateur civil emergency service, as would be done if it was ever necessary to seal off an area because of a natural or military disaster. The surprise test program was planned by the Oakland County Office of Civil Defense in cooperation with the Sheriff's Department.

Man Stabbed in Lake Orion

Assaulted by Trio at Intersection

LAKE ORION — Gerald Lamphier, 22, refused to allow three youths to damage his friend's car Saturday evening and was beaten, stabbed and shoved through a plate glass window for his efforts.

He was treated for scalp, back and heel lacerations at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, after the encounter and then released.

Lamphier and his friend, James Hoffman, were stopped in Hoffman's car at the corner of Broadway and Flint streets for the traffic light.

Three pedestrians walked across Broadway to the car and demanded that Hoffman back up and let them pass, according to Lake Orion Police Chief Neal Leonard.

When Hoffman refused, the three youths climbed on his car. Lamphier jumped out and the assailants forced him to the sidewalk, Leonard said.

They then forced him down the street to Van Wagner's drugstore, 3 S. Broadway St., where they pushed him through the plate glass window and stabbed him.

Lamphier lives at 366 S. Broadway.

List of Issues Stall Adjournment

Congress Session Drags On

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several "it" today belatedly hopes of the 87th Congress to adjourn for keeps by the end of this week.

There was a feeling of pessimism that what already has been the longest session since 1951 might carry over into next week.

The White House held the main key to hopes of Congress before the November congressional elections. Many members already have left Washington.

On President Kennedy's desk is a bill passed overwhelmingly by the Senate and the House to provide a tax break for self-employed people who set up their own retirement programs. The President has not indicated whether he will sign it or veto it.

The deadline for presidential action extends into next week. The bill's backers have ways of prolonging the session until the deadline arrives.

'PORK BARREL'
A possible roadblock to adjournment is a $2.3-billion water project authorization bill which caused a blowup in the House Public Works Committee last Friday. Traditionally known as the "pork barrel" bill, the measure contains items of interest to many members of Congress who would be reluctant to go home without its enactment.

Another potential barrier is a House-passed $5.9-billion bill financing the foreign aid program. The Senate added more than $700-million to the House figures and the House may not back down without a prolonged fight.

Also in the troublesome category is a House-passed bill to hike postal rates about $603-million. The Senate tackled on a pay raise for federal employees estimated to cost more than $1-billion. Some influential House members feel the Senate bill is too liberal and may lose some technical hurdles in its path.

Phones in Mexico
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico has more than 65,000 telephones in service in 321 communities, the government announced.

The U.S. Mint has 74 million silver dollars on hand. It has not stamped one out since 1935.
