Small to Claim Madness Drove Him to Kill Rival

Lawyer Says Dentist's
Testimony Will Prove
He Was Insane

From Our Wire Services

ALLEGAN—Society dentist Kenneth B. Small takes the witness stand in his own defense today to tell how a "killing madness" drove him to murder the wealthy New Yorker who stole his wife's affections during a Florida vacation.

The 30-year-old dentist's attorney, Leo W. Hoffman, said Small's testimony would "prove he was insane and undergoing mental torture" when he stormed into a fashionable Lake Michigan home and shot Jules Lack, 45, president of a New York air-conditioning firm.

Hoffman said "Small's world came crashing down when he became convinced Lack was making a toy" out of his pretty wife, Edith, who loaned the New Yorker $10,000 shortly before he was murdered.

Small and his wife took advantage of the excitement created by the collapse of his father during Wednesday's sessions to have their first private talk since the killing.

Small told his wife's attorney, Harry Klein, he would like to thank her for her testimony, which he felt aided his plea of temporary insanity. Deputies Dwight Watson and John Atkins took the two to the prosecutor's office quietly and they talked for 10 minutes. There was no show of emotion during the talk.

Hoffman launched his defense of the Detroit dentist Wednesday as the first-degree murder trial went into its third day in Allegan County's 65-year-old red brick court house.

Crowds jamming the courtroom in 90-degree heat sat through the lunch recess to be sure they had seats for the afternoon session.

Small's father, Jacob, overcame with emotion after Hoffman's opening statement, collapsed and had to be carried from the courtroom moments before he was to testify. He was reported later to be in "good condition" and Hoffman said a deposition from him would be presented today.

Small's wife, Edith, 31, who witnessed the Memorial Day weekend killing with other guests, broke down for the second day in a row during testimony and fled the courtroom in tears.

The dentist's mother, Lena, 63, sobbed openly as she testified.

Detroit Bar Brawl Hospitalizes Four

DETROIT — A bat-swinging bottle-throwing brawl in an East Side bar ended today with four persons hospitalized and five under arrest. Six carloads of police turned out to restore order.

The bar owner, Anthony Deliberio, 42, of Detroit, accidentally shot himself in the left foot as he struck one of the belligerents with the butt of a pistol. The man hit, Anthony Edmond of Windsor, Ont., was among the hospitalized.

None of those hurt was believed seriously injured.

Police said Robert Downey, who works at the bar, told them four men left the bar once, but returned at 2:15 a.m. and forced their way in. One jumped behind the bar, grabbed two baseball bats and a cane and passed them out to his companions. Then, Downey said, the four, all Canadians, started swinging.

Faulty Air Raid Sirens Rouse Entire Township

TEANECK, N.J. — Air raid sirens burst into action at 11:48 o'clock last night, during the height of a wind and rain storm, rousing the entire township.

So many persons phoned police headquarters that police were unable to make an outgoing call, so:

All of the 200 auxiliary police turned out for what they thought was a civil defense emergency.

The sirens, set off by a short circuit, finally were turned off at 12:11 a.m.

Burch Named in Conservation Appointment

LANSING — The executive office today announced Gov. Williams' appointment of Frank E. Burch, executive secretary of the Detroit Sportsmen's Congress, to the State Conservation Commission.

Burch, 35, fills the unexpired term of the late Donald B. McLouth of Detroit who died recently. The term expires April 1, 1957.

Prior to his position with the sportsmen's group, Burch was a salesman and florist. A native Detroit, he graduated from Cass Technical High School and is a veteran of World War I.

Burch said he classed himself as an independent Republican.

In the governor's absence, the executive office quoted him as saying that Burch "is a representative of the average Wayne County sportsman and a long-time exponent of conservation education. He has been a leader in promoting a program of better farmer-sportsmen's relations."

I am confident of his ability to make a significant contribution to the cause of conservation in Michigan.

Electric Storms Batter Ohio; Leave 3 Dead

Power, Phone Service
Disrupted as Severe
Winds Sweep State

COLUMBUS (AP) — Angry winds upset great portions of Ohio last night in severe electrical storms that caused at least three deaths. The storm raced from northwest to southeast, climaxing a day of near record heat and injuring scores of Ohioans.

Fires were set by lightning, roofs lifted, trees uprooted and power and telephone service disrupted. Winds of hurricane strength lashed Franklin County (Columbus) and reached a brief peak of 76 miles an hour.

At Wapakoneta, 8-year-old Carl Pester was killed when winds collapsed a barn he sought shelter in during the storm. Charles Gard, 69, died on a fractured skull caused by flying debris.

Mark Richardson of Marietta was electrocuted when he came in contact with a fallen live wire.

Earlier Alvin Minck, 31, of Columbus died of a heart attack in the 104-degree heat that baked the Ohio capital in the afternoon.

Cities plunged into darkness by power failures included Zanesville, Newark, parts of Columbus and Dennison.

The lights went out when 10-year-old Glenda Arbaugh was wheeled into Newark city hospital for an emergency appendectomy. But she was listed in good condition after an operation illuminated by flashlights.

In Franklin county, where radio and telephone service was badly handicapped by the storm, firemen said they located fires by searching for bright spots in the sky. Lightning set many barns afire.

A woman and two children were injured when lightning struck a Zanesville home causing the roof to cave in. They were Mrs. Anna Lou Cain, 22; Robert Brown, 15, and Curtis Cain, 9. Curtis is the son of featherweight boxer Teddy "Redtop" Davis. Mrs. Cain is the boy's aunt.

The Columbus weather bureau said the storm entered northwest Ohio and gathered strength as it spread across the state.

The storm followed a day of blistering heat with the mercury shooting past 100 over much of the state. The readings included 103 at Cincinnati, 106 at Portsmouth and 105 at Ironton and Logan.

Report Notes 758 New Polio Cases

WASHINGTON — The Public Health Service reported today there were 758 new cases of polio last week. This was an increase of 4 per cent over the preceding week.

The agency said, however, that the week's total is about 20 per cent less than the number reported in the corresponding week last year.

The cumulative total for the year is 5,458 cases compared with 5,621 for the corresponding period of 1953.

Bingo Petitions Short of Names

Proposal May Be Kept
Off Ballot by Signatures
Ruled Invalid

LANSING — Unless the State Board of Canvassers rules otherwise Monday, initiatory petitions to legalize bingo have fallen short of winning the proposal a place on the November ballot.

Completing a careful count of 326,000 signatures filed, the State Elections Division said that approximately 40,000 signatures have been ruled invalid and that the petitions are approximately 1,000 short of the 286,000-odd necessary to put the proposal before the voters next fall.

The board could, however, hold that some of the questioned signatures are valid and declare the petitions sufficient.

A division spokesman said the largest number of the petitions were thrown out because of incomplete affidavits from the circulators. A substantial number were ruled invalid because they were inscribed as being circulated in cities which are in reality villages.

The division reported that petitions must be circulated in cities and townships and not in villages because only cities and townships have full registration lists against which signatures can be checked.

The Michigan and Detroit Councils of Churches, which had opposed placing the bingo issue on the ballot, had demanded that the board send the petitions back to county clerks to determine whether the signatures corresponded to the actual signatures of registered voters.

The Michigan Association of Non-Profit Charitable Organizations was the sponsor of the drive to collect the signatures.

Wilson Wants Laws on Risks

Asks Legal Authority for Pentagon to Handle
Subversives

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today the Pentagon lacks legal authority to protect vital defense industries as fully as necessary against subversives and security risks.

Wilson told the Senate Armed Services Committee he hopes Congress will pass legislation to plug up the loophole.

He particularly called for passage of the Defense Facilities Protection Bill and one to give the Subversive Activities Control Board authority to deal with Communist-dominated organizations.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) contended during the stormy hearings on his dispute with the Army that it would do no good to turn over to the Defense Department a list of security risks in defense plants because it lacked power to move against them.

Wilson declared: "In our opinion we do not have sufficient legal authority to fully protect all industries vital to national defense from the danger of subversives and security risks."

He said also that the "undesirable results" of the Peress case—which led to the Army-McCarthy hearings—were due at least partially to the Army's failure to correlate security information.

He said all branches of the Defense Department are now under orders to correlate this information promptly.

The Peress case involved former Maj. Irving Peress, an Elmhurst, N. Y. dentist branded by McCarthy as a "Fifth Amendment Communist."

Indochina Talks Near Showdown

Mendes -France, Eden
Elated by New Support
From U. S.

GENEVA — France and Britain, elated by new support from the United States, today opened the showdown phase of negotiations with the Communists aimed at ending the Indochina war.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden reportedly feel the Eisenhower administration's decision to resume a major role in the Geneva talks has boosted chances of getting an Indochina cease-fire before July 20. Mendes-France has promised to resign if he fails to get a peace agreement by that date.

The French and British leaders flew back here yesterday after a quick meeting in Paris with Secretary of State Dulles which produced the U. S. decision to send Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith back to Geneva Friday.

Eden conferred with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov last night and got him to agree to continue private huddles between delegation heads until Smith gets here.

France and Britain appeared agreed on trying to negotiate a truce by dividing Viet Nam, largest of the three Indochina states and main war arena between the Communist-led Vietnamese and French Union forces.

Dulles has frowned on such a partition plan. He and Smith had stayed away from Geneva to avoid associating the United States with a settlement giving the Communists domination of important northern Indochina areas, possibly including the city of Hanoi.

There was no confirmation that Dulles, as a result of his Paris talks with Mendes-France and Eden, liked the idea of an Indochina partition any better.

But it was believed the three Western Allies now are much nearer some kind of understanding which will allow them to display a more united front when full negotiations resume with Molotov and Red China's Chou En-lai.

GMC Workers to Invade Walled Lake for Outing

More than 25,000 fun-seekers will invade Walled Lake Amusement Park this Saturday for the biggest single picnic of the season.

The annual outing is sponsored by GMC Truck and Coach Division for its employees and their families, and the division is working diligently to make this better than any of the 17 previous programs.

Arrangements are being made for free rides for children from noon to 4 p. m., continuous contests from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and special exhibits and hobby displays.

Owen O'Neill, GMC Truck employee relations supervisor, who is chairman for the picnic, said one of the main attractions will be a hobby show in the roller rink.

Hobbyists will display equipment ranging from homemade harpoons to skin diving aqualungs. Exhibits will include model airplanes and antique cars.

A special safety exhibit in which fires are actually started in a miniature cut-away house will be another highlight of the program. Ken Goodell, GMC Truck fire chief, will demonstrate the model and give a talk on fire safety.

Movies on GMC products also will be shown during the all-day program.

Various contests will be staged in a recreation area adjoining the park on the south. They will include golf chipping tests, bait and fly casting, archery and basketball throwing.

A softball game, pitting the GMC Girls' Softball Team against the girls' team from River Rouge, will round out the athletic part of the program.

Detroit Interceptor Sewer Report Is Well Received by Affected Communities

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Well received by area officials was the report made yesterday on financing the proposed Detroit interceptor sewer to serve Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, City of Lathrup Village, and Bloomfield and Southfield Townships, city manager Donald C. Egbert said today.

He said the report submitted by the engineer and legal and financial consultants for the advisory committee of the Oakland-Rouge Sanitary District closely estimated the number of connections to exist ultimately in each municipality, so that capital costs would be allocated proportionately to each community.

Maintenance and operating costs would be borne by the residents using the system. It would be left to each community to determine its own method of raising its share of the cost, and Egbert said, "financing doesn't appear too difficult and would be within the abilities of each unit to handle."

Bloomfield Township representatives again evidenced an interest in joint action with Birmingham on the project, Egbert said, and this phase will be taken up at Monday's City Commission meeting.

He added that the group agreed on a name change, with the district now to be known as the Evergreen Drainage District.

What transpired at a committee session held this week by the City Commission and planning board has not been entirely divulged, but the two groups met for discussion of the Pembroke Manor area, currently beset by legal entanglements.

One topic of conversation revolved around the sale of six vacant city-owned lots, in the block bounded by Maple, Coolidge, Yorkshire and St. Andrews.

The sale of this land will be put to a public vote Aug. 3. Also discussed was the so-called "triangle case," which the city plans to appeal to the State Supreme Court.

The triangle in question is the area bounded by Eton, Graefield Terraces and the Grand Trunk Western Railroad right-of-way. In May, Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Doty ruled against the city of Birmingham in a zoning suit brought by the Industrial Land Co. by declaring that single family residence zoning there is unreasonable and confiscatory.

Judge Doty recommended business zoning for the area.

Another possible lawsuit may come over the six city lots, a lawyer for nearby property owners told the City Commission recently. Their property, mostly Maple avenue frontage, is suitable for business zoning only, they contend.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert is holding out for single family residence zoning. He would like this stipulation included in the Aug. 3 ballot.

A long day tomorrow is ahead for girls and boys participating in the YMCA Da-Y program. This time it's an all-day trip to Bob-lo.

Land Is Condemned for Junior High

BIRMINGHAM—A Circuit Court jury of 10 women and two men yesterday condemned a 22-acre site for a new school.

Before Judge George B. Hart, the jury turned in a verdict "condemned by necessity" for 22 acres bounded by Derby and Adams roads; Buckingham street and the Grand Trunk Western Railroad right of way. A sum of $86,252.20 was awarded.

The Board of Education sought the land for a new junior high school, and a playground for an existing school nearby. A school offer of $1,250 per acre was turned down by owners, who made a counter proposal of $4,750 per acre. Birmingham school district voters recently approved a $3,500,000 bond issue for the junior high and an addition to the present high school.

Drivers on West Maple avenue found a detour awaiting them this morning, with the start of the paving and widening project from Linden to Westchester way.

City Engineer L. R. Gare said westbound traffic will be directed south on Southfield, west on Lincoln to Cranbrook, and north back to Maple, with the same route in reverse for eastbound drivers.

He estimated that the detour will end just before Labor Day.

Additional samples returned from laboratories at Michigan State College show that of 63 trees tested, 52 positive cases of Dutch Elm disease have been uncovered in Birmingham, Harvey Rasch, assistant city forester, said yesterday.

Pontiac City Opens First Parking Lot

said, "The lot has been designed for the convenience of the general public wishing to spend a limited time in the downtown shopping area."

"It is hoped the lot will relieve traffic congestion by reducing the number of cars cruising in search of short-term parking and assist in keeping up property values in downtown Pontiac by making it easier for people to use downtown services."

The lot's history is traced through a series of plans, counterplans, legal actions and debates recorded since 1947.

One of the first concrete steps toward development of a parking program was taken in April 1947 when former City Manager George E. Bean appointed a Parking Study Committee of seven businessmen to investigate the problem.

The group made its final report in January 1948 recommending that 10 lots be built over a two-year period to provide space for 1,885 cars.

They pointed out that increasing traffic would eventually force nearly all street parking to be banned and cited the danger to Pontiac's business section if additional parking were not provided.

The Pontiac Press published a series of articles in the spring of 1949 describing Pontiac's parking situation and illustrating public parking programs in other Michigan cities.

In August 1949 the Parking Lot Assn., a group of private lot operators, made a report to the City Commission stating that no shortage of space existed. It said the problem was one of traffic congestion and felt that a reorganization of private lot operations would help solve the problem.

The group's suggestion came after rejecting a request by the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, which has strongly backed municipal lots to be financed by special assessment of property owners.

Meanwhile various civic organizations were sponsoring public discussions and studies.

In May 1950 the City Plan Commission turned down the private operators' proposals and backed the original 10-lot idea.

On Sept. 5, 1950, Oscar M. Gunderson, Detroit traffic engineer, was retained by the city to make a parking study. He reported in June 1951 that Pontiac needed 900 more spaces and recommended that two short-term lots, to hold 375 cars, be built immediately.

One of his suggested sites was the lot opened today. Gunderson proposed that revenue bonds be issued to finance the lots. The bonds could be paid for from parking meter revenues, he explained. He emphasized the great need was for short-term parking.

In August 1952 city commissioners received a report made by Lloyd B. Reid, New York traffic engineering consultant hired by Sam L. Stolorow, president of the Outdoor Parking Co. which owns a majority of Pontiac's private lots.

Reid's report stated that lots were rarely over 60 per cent full and again pointed to traffic congestion as the sore spot.

On Feb. 10, 1953 city commissioners passed an ordinance providing for a revenue bond issue of $190,000 to build the present lot and one on the site of the former County-City market at 40 Mill St. Pontiac then owned 40 per cent of the market and none of the Parke-Pike land.

On March 17, 1953, a petition seeking a public vote on the proposed bond issue was filed by the private operators. Although the petitions apparently were valid, City Attorney William A. Ewart ruled that no vote was needed as long as the city did not issue the bonds.

On May 4, 1953, commissioners passed an amendment to the 1953 appropriations ordinance providing an alternate method of financing the lots through use of parking meter money and funds in the city's unappropriated surplus. Stolorow filed a suit in Oakland County Circuit Court June 4, 1953

Small Will Claim 'Killing Madness'

Small had been a "model son" until his wife's romance with Lack broke up his home. He changed after that, she said.

"He was nervous and irritable. He slammed doors. He never acted that way before. He cried and couldn't be reasoned with. Once he threw a glass at his father and said 'Pa, I don't like you any more,'" she said.

Mrs. Small said she first learned of her son's interest in Edith, his wife, when he told her he had met a very fine girl in Ann Arbor and was dating her. That was shortly after Dr. Small had graduated from dental school, she said. Later, when he was at a naval station in Idaho, she received a letter from him saying "Edie" and he had decided to get married.

The mother said she and her husband attended the wedding in Detroit Nov. 22, 1944, and "everybody was very happy."

In his opening statement, Hoffman said "the pain in Small's mind" was like a "physical blow" after Mrs. Small returned from a Florida vacation last spring and asked him for a divorce.

The attorney said Mrs. Small "locked the bedroom door" after she returned and Small, who "wasn't given to drink," went out and got drunk. When he returned, Hoffman said, Mrs. Small called the police.

Hoffman said the dentist's "breaking point" came when his wife went to the Lake Michigan home for a weekend rendezvous with Lack.

She said she was going to Chicago to visit friends, the attorney said, but later called from Fennville, which is near the summer home, to check on her three children.

"The word 'Fennville' was the breaking point," Hoffman said. "From then on Small was compelled without reason to see what was going on."

The attorney said Small "doesn't remember much of what happened after he left Detroit to find his wife" at the Lake Michigan home.

Dr. George Barahal, professor of psychology at Wayne University, was one of the chief witnesses Wednesday. In describing an interview with the defendant, Dr. Barahal said Dr. Small had told him he would do anything to preserve his marriage.

"If psychiatric help was necessary, he was eager to take treatment," Barahal said.

He testified that at the time of the shooting, in his opinion, Dr. Small knew right from wrong.

"What concerned me most was that she had told her husband about Lack against my advice," Dr. Barahal said. "I had suggested that they stay apart until they had seen a psychiatrist but that no violence might be provoked."

Richard Allen Davies, 20, of East Lansing, died on Lansing's Walnut Hills Golf course when lightning struck his metal umbrella handle. Lightning also set fire to a Scio Township wheat field in Washtenaw County.

Pontiac observers reported no serious wind damage and a fairly mild lightning toll. The oversized hail that peppered part of Independence Township, Bald Mountain and Squirrel roads apparently missed Pontiac completely.

"It was like being bombed," Mrs. Mae Hileman, 3236 Joslyn Rd., reported. "The hailstones were an inch and a half thick—and so heavy they covered the lawn."

Charles McNulty, 3328 Bald Mountain Rd., reported hailstones the size of walnuts and Mrs. Forist Cotcher, 3745 Squirrel Rd., said the stones were so big they dented temporary roofing on part of her home.

In Independence, Mrs. John Putnam, 5640 Maybee Rd., said her lawn looked "like it was raining ice cubes." Her family packed some of the inch-thick hailstones in their refrigerator to show friends.

Consumers Power Co. said an electrical buildup from lightning burned out fuses in a transformer supplying 25 Washington Park homes.

Detroit Edison Co. reported the only big line break came in a

Dem Candidates Get Into Hassle

Lieutenant Governor Race Is Enlivened by Hart, Fitzgerald

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor was enlivened last night by a sharp exchange between the two candidates.

Philip A. Hart said George S. Fitzgerald "was ordered into the race by forces whose only aim is to defeat Gov. Williams."

Fitzgerald fired back that Hart is a "hand-picked machine candidate."

Hart told a television audience that Fitzgerald was spending "enormous sums" of money in his campaign. He said Fitzgerald "took a walk" from the party in 1950 and "gave aid and comfort" to former Gov. Harry F. Kelly in his comeback campaign against Gov. Williams.

"Neither my opponent nor the forces he represents are interested in the Democratic program for Michigan," Hart declared. "They want only to elect a Republican to the governorship in 1954 as they tried to do in 1950."

Fitzgerald, just back from a swing through the Upper Peninsula, accused Hart of "attempting to split the Democratic Party."

The AFL Teamsters Union attorney and former Democratic national committeeman asserted:

"If I'm going to have to fight a machine, I'm going to take off the kid gloves."

"The Democratic voters never did submit to dictation by any machine," he added.

State Firms Get Army Contracts

$96 Million Defense Order Awarded to 12 Michigan Companies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve Michigan firms were awarded $96,000,000 in defense contracts today. The awards included $88,783,000 from the Army; $6,764,000 from the Air Force and $1,000,000 from the Navy.

Senator Ferguson said the contracts in some cases were new while in others they were expansions or continuations of work already in progress. None of the Michigan allocation had been disclosed prior to today.

Chrysler Corp. was given contracts for tanks and combat vehicle parts plus other work listed by the Pentagon as "classified."

Others included:

Ford Motor Co., a tank contract.

General Motors Plants got spare tank parts, parts for the 4.5 rocket and an automatic gun.

Continental Aviation and Engine Co., turbo-jet engines.

Wolverine Diesel Power Co., general sets and spare parts.

Outstate Michigan contracts included:

Reo Motors, Lansing, trucks;

Kelsey Hayes Wheel at Jackson, 105 mm howitzer shells; Crampton Manufacturing Co., Grand Rapids, 4.5 rocket; Continental Motors, Muskegon, engines and parts; Lear Co., Grand Rapids, the F-5 automatic pilot and the Gibson Refrigerator Co., Greenville, 75 mm shells.

Charged with negligent homicide in the traffic death of his father, William F. Vorce, 37, of 180 S. Paddock St., waived examination and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court Wednesday by Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum. His $500 bond was continued pending arraignment Monday.

Vorce's father, Ora F., 63, of 1220 1/2 Baldwin Ave., passenger in an auto driven by his son, died in Pontiac General Hospital two days after the June 19 auto accident at Telegraph Rd. and Orchard Lake Ave. Pontiac Police quoted witnesses as saying Vorce made an improper left turn in front of an auto driven by Donovan E. Kidd, 26, of 722 W. Flint St., Davison, causing the accident.

Army Files Disciplinary Action Charges Against Sergeant, Lieutenant

FT. DIX, N. J. (AP) — Court-martial proceedings have been ordered against an Army lieutenant and a sergeant charged with having their company stand at attention for an hour in 90-degree heat.

An investigation into the June 21 incident led to the court-martial order yesterday by Col. Earl R. Ringler, commanding officer of the 272nd Infantry Regiment.

Ringler ordered a July 22 trial for Lt. Robert S. Morgan, 28, of Wilkes Barre, Pa., and Sgt. I.C. Richard J. Witbeck of Wellington, Ohio, on charges of taking mass disciplinary action against Company L.

Both men—Morgan was company commander and Witbeck his administrative first sergeant—have been relieved of their duties.

Several soldiers reportedly fainted during the disciplinary action, which was imposed for a reason not explained by the Army.

In his order yesterday, Ringler said Morgan would be charged with dereliction of duty under Article 92 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice "in that he negligently failed to take appropriate corrective action to prevent the unauthorized treatment of personnel in his command."

As for Witbeck, he will be tried under Article 93 for alleged maltreatment of company personnel "by keeping them in formation and attention for an excessive period of time."

Ringler's name cropped up in the recent Army-McCarthy hearings in Washington in connection with Pvt. G. David Schine, who had been an aide to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). He was Schine's commanding officer when the former consultant to McCarthy's subcommittee took his basic training here.

Results on Second Try

FLINT (UP) — A man drove up to the Eddy Lumber & Coal Co., stopped his car and fired a brick at a plate glass window. The glass didn't shatter so the man retrieved the brick and tried again. His second shot did the trick. Otto Correll, who lives across the street from the lumber company, related the details to police. The damage was estimated at $100.

Mrs. America More Concerned With Family Than Title

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Dear Boss:

This is the answer to the assignment slip you placed on my desk this morning which said:

"Please interview Mrs. America today at 9:45 a. m. in the public relations office of GMC Truck and Coach. She is scheduled to christen the new Scenicruiser designed by GMTC for Greyhound. Remember, she is top glamour matron of the year and be sure and find out how she keeps her figure, manages a home, husband and child and appears so beautifully groomed before dozens of audiences every week. Incidentally, you are to have your picture taken with her during the interview."

The Editor:

Golly, Boss, I've had tough assignments before, such as the time you sent me out to chase the mystery of the rumored atomic energy plant in a small Lapeer County village which turned out to be a patentless screw and nut factory. Or the time I was supposed to find out about life in a cemetery from a man who made his home there.

But Heaven help me! A woman who poses with Mrs. America is beaten before she starts.

However, I did follow through on your assignment, but with a great deal of trepidation. Mrs. America (Wanda Jennings of St. Louis) turned out to be a real, all-American wife, mother and homemaker. She was more concerned over whether eight-year-old son Michael was getting a balanced diet and whether husband Madison was having his white shirts ironed the way he liked them than she was about all the fanfare surrounding her queenship.

She wore, for your information a simple, tone-on-tone blue cotton print, snug bodiced with shirred short sleeves and beneath, she said, there were several crinoline petticoats to give her that willowy-to-the-waist look with a very full skirt.

I asked her about glamour, just like you said, but she said she wasn't and wouldn't know how to be.

"Imagine," she said as her green eyes danced, "a tall, skinny, freckle-faced kid from St. Paul, Minn. growing up to be Mrs. America."

She still has the freckles and all these outdoor appearances are bringing them forth in full bloom. Reports that during her youth, she too, like every other freckled girl, tried buttermilk are true, but it didn't work.

She eats to keep her 135 pounds on her five foot nine and a half-inch figure. Butter, cream, candies and pastries are part of her regular diet.

In November she is to get a 25-day European tour with her husband, and what do you suppose she is looking forward to the most? No, not the fashion salons of Paris, but the rich Scandinavian pastries her Norwegian mother has always told her about.

Her husband, Madison Mansfield Jennings, is a chemist with the Shell Oil Company in St. Louis and they live in a modern suburban section of the city.

She was crowned Mrs. America this past March at Ellnor Village, Florida, where with 49 other contestants from the United States and Canada she lived with her family in simulated home situations.

Mrs. America is proud that it was more than pulchritude that brought her the crown.

"They watched us cook our meals and clean our houses and they observed how tactful we were about keeping out of the offsprings' squabbles when they would argue about who had the prettiest mother."

She sews, cooks, likes to clean, wash and iron, and her favorite household task is baking.

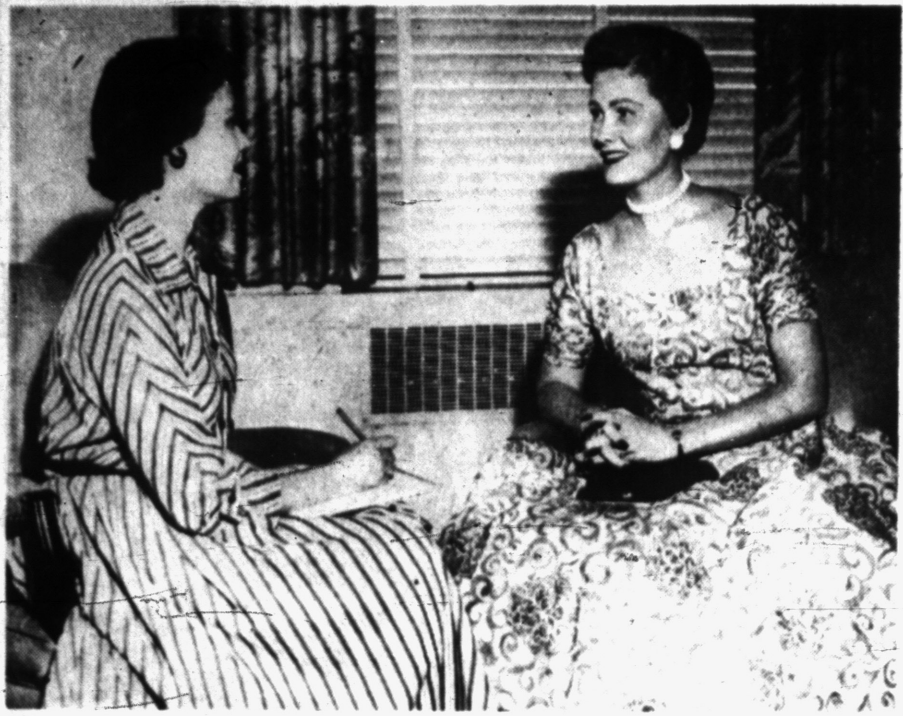

Strictly a soap and water girl, she uses a dab of pancake make-up just to help camouflage the freckles, a dash of lipstick, eyebrow pencil to darken her very light brows and a sweep of mascara.

No face creams, she said. Plenty of sleep, good milk and fresh fruits and vegetables will put the cosmetic people out of business, she claims.

She sings in the Presbyterian Church choir in St. Louis, is an active Parent Teacher Association member and claims she is just average Mrs. America — but not to the eyes she isn't.

Incidentally Boss, she is a 35-25-36 measurement, and as it turned out your assignment wasn't half so tough.

Your faithful reporter.

AN ALL-AMERICAN MRS. AMERICA — A little worried over just how to break a bottle of champagne, Mrs. America for 1954, 28-year-old Wanda Jennings of St. Louis, came to Pontiac Wednesday to christen the new GMC Truck and Coach Division Scenicruiser bus designed for Greyhound. Five feet nine and a half inches tall, she weighs 135 pounds and has a 35-25-36 measurement. A green-eyed, reddish-brown haired girl, she is enjoying her reign as the Mrs. queen of the year, but is looking forward to March of 1955 when she will once again be Mrs. Madison Mansfield Jennings of St. Louis keeping house for her husband and eight-year-old son, singing in the church choir and attending PTA meetings. She is shown being interviewed by Pontiac Press staff writer, Hazel A. Trumble.

Russians Unveil Normal Look as Their New Weapon

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Russians have unveiled a new weapon in the cold war.

It is the normal look.

Trapped in a monumental bureaucracy, the Soviets are attempting to convince the world that they are just as normal as anybody else, if not more so.

Outside their borders they have had some success. Their cultural offensive has prospered. Dozens of Soviet writers, artists and athletes have sailed forth—under unobtrusive surveillance—to spread the word that the Soviet Union's regime is interested only in making the world one big, happy family. In turn, the Russians have dusted off the welcome mat for many a tourist from abroad.

The Russians have pulled the rug from under writers and scientists who in Stalin's day flourished by toadying to his pet fetishes. It is now proper for a Russian scientist to speak respectfully of Albert Einstein's relativity theory and Darwin's theories of evolution. Trofim Lysenko, the biologist who made himself a feared scientific dictator by hewing strictly to the Stalin line, now is in semidisgrace.

All this—and much more of the same—is good Russian propaganda abroad. In such a background, Russian arguments become more persuasive, Russian protestations of peaceful coexistence become more convincing.

Internally, Russia's social development is struggling toward the point passed by Western nations somewhere in the Victorian era. A Victorian morality—quite alien to robust Russians—is being imposed from on high.

The ruling Communist regime is attempting the impossible in trying to persuade Russians to avoid alcoholic stimulants — the same stimulants downed with such vigor by the big shots. The ordinary Ivan is just as fond of his vodka as Molotov is.

The controlled press is crying horror at the morals of youth. Teen-agers, spoiled brats whose Communist party parents give them too much money, are drinking, smoking, swearing and helling their way through life, avoiding work, becoming snobs, marrying for money, following fads, chasing girls, and doing all the things glided youth might have done in 1880 London.

The official press expresses concern for the sanctity of the home. Divorces are harder to get. Only recently young Communists were instructed in their official journal that jealousy no longer is to be regarded as a "bourgeois survival" but a proper emotion for the new Soviet man protecting his happiness.

All this may serve to convince some in the outside world that Russia is becoming more normal. But at home people must be confused.

State Police Arrest 2 on Auto Charge

Detroit Police arrested two Detroit men on auto theft charges yesterday morning before the owner knew his car was missing, according to Michigan State Police of the Redford Post.

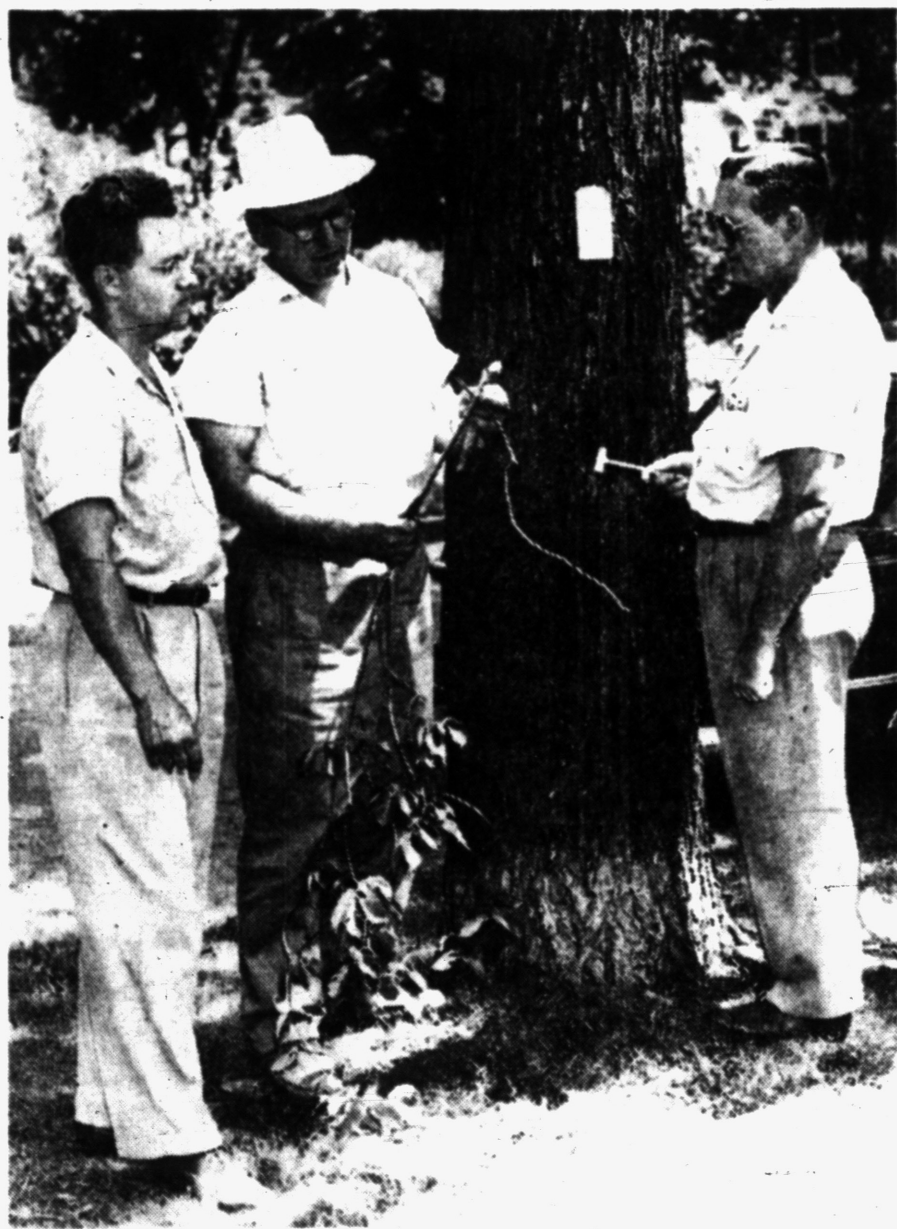

The pair, Howard Jarvis, 22, and William P. Rogers, 26, were arrested about 15 minutes after they allegedly took a car owned by Andrew Toma of 21500 Mahon, Southfield Township. Police had been called to quiet hotrodders and netted the suspects.

Redford Troopers Avery Goodrich and Calvin LePien took the suspects before Farmington Township Justice Allen C. Ingle, who placed them on $2,000 bond each and bound them over to Oakland County Circuit Court after the men pleaded guilty to the charges. Jarvis and Rogers are in Oakland County Jail awaiting arraignment in circuit court July 19.

Two Pontiac Persons Hurt in Crash on M24

A 16-year-old Pontiac girl was hospitalized and a 22-year-old man treated after a two-car collision Wednesday night on M24 at Stoney Lake in Oxford Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Pontiac General Hospital authorities said Mrs. Louella Anderson, 16, of 2205 Allerton Rd., is in satisfactory condition with a broken nose and face cuts. Cloyce C. Bailey, 22, of 2186 Allerton, with whom Mrs. Anderson was riding, was treated for bruises. Bailey, who was headed south on M24, said a car driven by Mack B. Morris, 52, of Detroit, made a sudden left turn in front of him. Morris told deputies Bailey was in the wrong lane.

Upper Peninsula's Pasty Is No Secret; Rose Brunelle Refuses to Go Big Time

FRED — UPPER PENINSULA
ESCANABA — Unquestionably, Rose Brunelle's pasties are part of the talk of the Upper Peninsula.

And more than that, too. The pasty is a tradition and Rose has helped to keep it alive to this very day.

The pasty, sir and madam, is a meat pie with a long and dignified history. And what a meat pie. But more about that later.

Its reputation goes back to the time when it was a high favorite of the miners at Crystal Falls.

Like the pasty, Rose Brunelle is herself remarkable.

Mrs. Brunelle cares nothing at all about disclosing the recipe of her combination of meat, potatoes and onions packed within a rich crust.

"Why should I?" she said. "I'm not getting rich, but I'm getting along. I sell all I can make and I don't want to expand."

Thus, she has ignored the advice of friends to become a woman of big business.

She makes the pasties in a kitchen converted from a garage and sells them off the cuff, more or less. It's a 14-hour-a-day job.

At the end of his own work day in a wood veneer factory, Rose's husband, Bernard, helps with the meat cutting and grinding.

Rose got the pasty recipe from her Aunt Zoe of Crystal Falls. Aunt Zoe brought it from England.

Rose's recipe is based on a 44-pasty production rate.

"But you can divide it to make it 22 or 11," she said.

For 44: 3 3/4 pounds flour, 5 1/2 pounds lard, three tablespoons salt, one tablespoon cinnamon.

Mix until the lumps are the size of "small peas, add 1 1/2 quart of water and mix "until a ball of it pulls a little bit when you break it — but not so it stretches."

A cupful of diced potatoes and onions, a little lean baby pork and a handful of lean beef — all folded within a crust and baked for 45 minutes, and there's your pasty.

Now that you have come this far let's mention pronunciation.

If you call it "pasty," as in "tasty," anyone up here will know you're an outlander and uninformed.

A pasty is a "pasty," as in "nasty." The "A" is short. Be careful.

Lake Orion Man Hurt in Dump Truck Accident

Pul W. Donner, 43, of Lake Orion, was treated for arm cuts by a physician after his dump truck overturned Wednesday afternoon on M-24 at Walton road.

Donner told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that he lost control, applied the brakes, and the truck skidded and overturned. He was ticketed for failure to have a chauffeur's license.

Windfall Profits Target of U. S.

Levitt and Gross to Be Asked About Methods of Sales and Repairs

WASHINGTON — Senators investigating housing scandals today summoned William Levitt, one of the builders of Levittown, Long Island, for questioning on the financing of rental homes built with government-insured loans.

Levitt and Alfred Gross, one of the sponsors of the huge Glen Oaks apartment project in the New York City borough of Queens, were two of several witnesses scheduled before the Senate banking Committee, which is investigating alleged irregularities in government-backed housing construction.

On of the principal targets of inquiry to date has been alleged windfall profits reaped by apartment builders who got government-insured mortgages larger than construction costs, then pocketed the difference.

Levitt is a member of the firm of Levitt and Sons, builder of Levittown. The community is considered by some a model operation for new building techniques.

Some 6,000 homes in the planned community, it was reported, were built for rental and the balance for outright sale under sections of the National Housing Act.

The Senate probers, headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), yesterday heard a tale of home repair salesmen being "trained and schooled" in ways to defraud small home owners under another section of the housing program.

Andrew Nicol, an investigator for the Bergen County, N.J., prosecutor's office, said such schools were set up all over the country to teach salesmen how to take advantage of loan insurance offered for repair and modernization of homes. The program allows full FHA insurance on loans up to $2,500.

Nicol said the schools train salesmen how to pretend to be mathematicians and to act like "factory executives, not salesmen." Under one method, he said, the salesmen are sent out to home owners who are told they have been selected "for advertising purposes."

Nicol said the owner is told that after his home is fixed up as a demonstration he will be paid a fee for every similar job done in his neighborhood. But actually, he said, the repair firm does shoddy work on the "sample" homes, collects its money and then moves on to another locality for a repeat performance.

Forest Fire Losses May Hit New Low

LANSING — Michigan appears to be headed for a record low in forest fire losses this year, the State Conservation Department said today.

The department said 3,025 acres of land have been damaged by fires to date. In the record low year of 1951, 3,445 acres were damaged during the same period. The total loss that year was 4,491 acres.

Foresters noted, however, that the hazardous late summer and fall seasons are still ahead and that a combination of dry weather and human carelessness could wreck any chances for a new low.

Fluoridation of Water Proving Good

LANSING (UP) — Fluoridation of water supplies, controversial of Health secretary, and it's a method of preventing tooth decay currently practiced by 46 Michigan communities, is "inevitable" throughout the state.

That's the opinion of Dr. Fred Wertheimer, Michigan Department of Health secretary, who said he expected to raise all the clatter of an upper plate in some circles.

Lansing, seat of the health department and supplier of the water that Wertheimer drinks, rejected a proposal last fall to add the decay preventive to its water supply.

State opponents of fluoridation cite a resolution before Congress last May that urged a bill "to protect the public health from the dangers of fluoridation of water."

The resolution was killed in committee after lengthy testimony.

The American Dental Association in its congressional testimony, said 16,847,209 persons in 944 U. S. communities are drinking water with controlled amounts of fluorine (partly water) added.

Michigan communities adding fluorine to their water supplies:

Algonac, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Bay City, Benton Harbor, Buchanan, Charlevoix, Gladstone, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, Grandville, Grosse Pointe Farms, Hastings, Highland Park, Hillsdale, Ishpeming, Jackson;

Kalamazoo, Lake Odessa, Ludington, Mancelona, Marquette, Marysville, Midland, Monroe, Mt. Clemens, Muskegon, Muskegon Heights, Maganue, Saginaw, St. Travers City, Wyandotte and Pe-

Joseph, South Haven, Stambaugh, Tawas.

In addition, 10 smaller communities pipe fluorinated water from these supplies.

State officials remain confident the pace will pick up.

"There are many more communities considering the plan," Dr. Wertheimer declared. "We are happy with the way things are going and are sure all Michigan communities will some day use fluorine. It's inevitable."

Officials of the communities using fluorinated water appear enthusiastic.

"The physicians of this community have observed nothing to cause them to feel that the use of fluorine in the water supply is harmful," Dr. Howard G. Benjamin, secretary of the Kent County (Grand Rapids) Medical Society, stated.

Benjamin cited a 66 per cent decrease in tooth decay, the most prevalent of human diseases, since 1945 in Grand Rapids, one of three U. S. cities to pioneer fluoridation.

At Least, Dulles Is Hoping

Premier Mendes-France Will Be Tough on the Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is believed to be bringing home an assurance that, urgently as French Premier Pierre Mendes-France wants peace in Indochina, he will never agree to surrender to the Communists.

Dulles is due here late Monday to report to President Eisenhower and to confer with Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith. Smith will take off for Geneva late tomorrow to sit in on the climactic round of Indochina negotiation with the Communists.

Dulles left here late Monday to confer with Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who flew from Geneva to Paris. Eden and the French Premier-foreign minister reportedly put heavy pressure on Dulles to go to Geneva himself or at least send Smith.

The essence of their argument was that the three Western Powers should not appear to be divided at so critical a moment.

Dulles' reply, made known in advance, was that high-level U.S. representation at the Indochina negotiations had to be avoided in the face of a danger that France would make an agreement which the United States would feel it had to repudiate. He is known to feel that if he was personally present and rejected the settlement it would constitute a spectacular break among the Western Allies.

The fact that he agreed finally to send Smith was regarded as evidence that this danger had been greatly minimized. Thus it appeared that while the settlement which may be made will not necessarily be desirable to the United States, it will at least be one that this country can "live with." And by holding himself personally aloof, Dulles obtained some freedom of action to criticize the agreement later.

American officials feel the probability is that the Russians and Chinese Communists will in the end make a satisfactory deal on Indochina although their final bargaining position has not been disclosed.

The United States may not formally support it. Eisenhower has said this country would never sanction an arrangement extending Communist control over new territory and populations. Nevertheless, the terms of the settlement so far as non-Communist territories are concerned could in effect be militarily guaranteed by a defense alliance which the United States has long been urging for Southeast Asia. Talks on the terms of such an alliance are under way here with the British — about three months late by Dulles' timetable. What will happen if in the showdown the Reds refuse terms which the French consider better than an open question. Mendes-France is committed to get peace in 20 or resign as premier. The outcome of his efforts therefore should be known in a few days.

Men OK but Nervous After Being Picked Up, Held for 12 Days

WALDHAM, Germany (AP)—Seven American soldiers, held in Communist Czechoslovakia since American Independence Day, crossed the border to freedom today at noon after 12 days in captivity.

The six enlisted men and a captain were turned over at this West German-Czech border point where Associated Press correspondent William Oatis was freed more than a year ago.

They were met by a detachment from the U. S. 2nd Armored Cavalry, which is stationed along the East-West frontier.

An Army spokesman said earlier that "after a routine interrogation, a news conference will be held," probably Saturday.

U.S. Army authorities said the men appeared to be in "good condition," and that they reported "the food was good."

They were brought to the border in a dusty Czech bus, and as they climbed out some of them appeared red-eyed and nervous, but in good health.

Capt. Davis, clothing a road map in his hands, spoke briefly for the group after they stopped momentarily on the German side of the border.

"My men are very tired and very nervous," he said. "The treatment was satisfactory. The food was sufficient and the billets were adequate."

Davis himself appeared nervous. His hands trembled as he spoke.

Two of the men were carrying cameras; they apparently had taken with them on their July 1 sighting trip to the border.

The men were met by Lt. Col. Archie Birken of the 2nd Armored Cavalry, who led a detachment of about 20 men. Behind him, where the dirt highway reaches back to the German town of Weiden, 12 miles away, armed jeep patrols rolled guard.

They were put into cars and conveyed toward Nuernberg.

The seven members of the 816th Field Artillery Battalion, are: Capt. Jack M. Davis, the battalion surgeon, Raytown, Mo.; Cpl. John F. Glasson, Oakdale, Calif.; Pfc. Jerry W. Griffith, Springfield, Ohio; Pfc. George Switzer, Milburn, Neb.; Pfc. Leonard D. Tennis, Alliance, Ohio; Pvt. Richard J. Jumper, Booneville, Mo., and Pvt. Ross F. McGinnis, Greensburg, Pa.

Amateur Sailors Saved From Raft

5 Who Tried Drifting to Hawaii Rescued Near California Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five wet and weary amateur sailors who had hoped to drift to Hawaii were plucked from their foundering, powerless raft 60 miles off central California early today.

The freighter Metapan radioed at 4:25 a.m. that all of the men had been rescued despite high seas and strong winds.

Presumably all were in good condition. Details of the rescue were not available.

The Metapan, which located the tiny yellow raft Lehi, 62 miles west of Point Sal, said it was heading for San Francisco, about 175 miles away. It was expected to dock late today.

The 32-foot six-sided raft was cast adrift by the Metapan, but the coast guard said the cutter Alert would find it and destroy it as a menace to navigation.

Coast Guard said the cutter Alert Search for the fragile raft, which put out from San Francisco last Friday, ended off Morro Bay, 8 1/2 hours after the Coast Guard answered an urgent SOS that the craft was sinking.

The Metapan, which sailed from Golfito, Costa Rica, July 9 with a cargo of bananas, was in the general area when it picked up the SOS. It was bound for San Francisco and Puget Sound.

The United Fruit Co. freighter picked up a radio signal from the Lehi at 12:25 a.m., and took the raft alongside less than three hours later in what the Coast Guard praised as a marvel of seamanship.

The Lehi's SOS, first sent about 8 p.m. and repeated at 8:15 p.m., said:

"Taking water. Bow opened during heavy sea. Need tow. Sinkable condition. Raft Lehi."

The call followed four days of private searching and two days of radio appeal by the raft's ailing radio operator, Don Smith of Santa Rosa, to be taken from the Lehi.

Toads of the Bufo marinus species multiply like rabbits and eat everything from cigar butts to paper napkins.
