Work Progresses on Pontiac General Parking Lot

$20 Million State Aid for Schools Released

LANSING (AP)—Backed by Democrats and a scattering of GOP mavericks in the House, a 146-million-dollar "piggy-back" income tax plan poised today for its first big legislative test.

Meanwhile Gov. Williams and his cabinet today released $5,600,000 for the major state universities and decided to send school districts 20 million dollars in past due state aid.

The state aid distribution to 2,350 school districts, some of them in dire financial straits, will go out the first of next week.

The aid distribution will in all probability be the last major payout to schools for the fiscal year ending June 30, leaving the state 30 million dollars in arrears to shcools.

In other action the State Administrative Board formally ordered distribution of bi-weekly paychecks totaling $5,100,000 to 26,000 state employes. Pay day is tomorrow.

The nine-bill tax package was ready for a House vote late this afternoon or early evening after breezing through preliminary debate yesterday with scant discussion for or against it.

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit) and Allison Green (R-Kingston), Democratic and Republican floor leaders, both predicted it would squeeze through the lower chamber this week.

Across the Capitol rotunda, however, the heavily Republican Senate waited confidently in expectation of dealing it an early death. Republicans are pushing for a use (sales) tax increase and twice have seen their Senate-approved bills killed or pigeonholed in the House.

The income tax package, a bipartisan product of the House Taxation Committee, calls for individuals to pay the state 7 per cent of their federal income tax liability. Corporations would pay 12 per cent of their federal tax and financial institutions 14 per cent.

Together, these would yield 276 million dollars, but repeal of the business activity tax and intangible property tax, plus virtual repeal of the corporation franchise tax, would cut off 130 million dollars.

Even with Republican help, the 55-member Democratic delegation may have trouble getting it past the House.

At least three Republicans have indicated they would vote for the plan, which needs 56 votes to pass. But at least one Democrat, Rep. S. James Clarkson (D-Southfield), said he would vote against it.

SPEECH PREPARED

"In fact," he said, "I've got a speech explaining my opposition right here in my coat pocket. All these bills do is pass on to Michigan all the inequities in the federal income tax."

Rep. Wilfred G. Bassett (R-Jackson), assistant GOP floor leader, tried to interest lawmakers in placing the package before Michigan voters within the next few weeks.

The legislative stalemate on taxes stems from a "fundamental difference in tax ideologies," he said.

★ ★ ★

"So let the people speak," he said. "I'm willing to submit any income tax or use tax to the people and let them decide."

City, Romeo Banks OK Merger Plan

The board of directors of the Community National Bank of Pontiac and the Romeo Savings Bank, Romeo, have approved a basis for the merger of both institutions.

The merger is subject to the approval of shareholders of both banks and also requires the approval by the U.S. comptroller of currency.

Details are now being worked out and will be presented to the shareholders in the near future, according to a joint announcement from Alfred C. Girard, chairman of the Board of Community National Bank, and Lawrence M. Kelly, president of the Romeo bank.

The Romeo bank's assets totaled $5,700,000 at the time of its last published statements. Community National assets are approximately $100,000,000.

Federal Agents Nab Dope King

HOLRUDEL, N. J. (AP) — Carmine Galente, sought for a year as one of the top figures in a multimillion-dollar narcotics ring, was arrested by federal agents Tuesday night.

The agents had tailed Galente's car for eight hours before it was caught on the rainswept Garden State Parkway.

Galente apparently had been hiding out in a beach house on Pelican's Island, a community near Toms River.

Two men riding with him were arrested. They are Anthony Macaluso, 44, of New York City; and Angelo Presenzano, 50, of Brooklyn, N. Y. They were held on an open charge.

All three were taken to Newark for arraignment before a U.S. commissioner.

Galente, 49, was wanted as a fugitive for conspiracy to violate the federal narcotics law.

The ring operated from a New York headquarters for about three years, government attorneys said, and distributed several million dollars worth of narcotics annually.

Galente has been wanted in connection with other investigations. Galente was named in January 1958 by a federal agent as the slayer of Carlo Tresca. Tresca was the anti-Fascist editor of an Italian language newspaper in New York who was killed in 1943.

Says Strauss Anti-Semitism Would Be Sad

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said today that the Geneva foreign ministers meeting had not yet, in his opinion made sufficient progress to warrant holding a summit conference.

The chief executive held his first news conference in three weeks for over 200 reporters.

He also said any injection of anti-Semitism into the Senate confirmation battle over Secretary of Commerce Lewis Strauss would be a tragic, sad affair, completely unwarranted by Strauss' highest type character and ability.

He labeled as completely untrue a charge by John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, that he was basically against labor in the steel negotiations.

In this connection, Eisenhower said his interest in big-business men was only slight compared to his interest in the ultimate fate of the working classes.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower said no decision had been reached on asking Congress to permit an increase in the interest rate on long-term federal securities. But it was obvious, he added, that the government simply had to do something to avoid financing too much of the 288 billion dollar public debt with short-term securities.

STANDS BEHIND PLANS

As for the differences between the armed services on the missile program, Eisenhower said he was standing behind the defense plans he submitted to Congress in the late winter, pending completion of new study of the missile program by the secretary of defense.

He said it was true that he was disturbed over recent polls showing a decline in the national acceptance of the Republican party. He said plans to attack the situation were being drawn up and would be announced in the near future, presumably by the Republican National Committee.

Answering questions about the embattled nomination of Strauss, Eisenhower said he rejected the theory that even if the commerce secretary is confirmed, his usefulness will be seriously damaged because of the charges made against him in the Senate.

Eisenhower said he found no criticism of the manner in which Strauss had operated the Commerce Department for the past eight months and he saw no reason why the same situation would not continue as long as Strauss holds the post.

Plan Initial Rite for Courthouse

Lawsuit on Contract Award, However, May Delay Groundbreaking

With yesterday's awarding of contracts out of the way, plans were being laid today for ground breaking ceremonies and starting constuction on a new Oakland County courthouse.

David Levinson, chairman of the Board of Supervisors' Special Courthouse Building Committee, said he expected ground breaking to take place later this month, with construction to follow immediately.

These plans could be stymied, however, with a threatened lawsuit stemming from yesterday's awarding a $2,116,740 general construction contract to the Pontiac firm of J. A. Fredman Inc., instead of the low bidder in this field, A. Z. Shmina & Sons Co. of Dearborn.

The Board of Supervisors awarded the largest of the three construction contracts by a 70 to 4 vote. An earlier move led by Birmingham Supervisor Carl F. Ingraham to give the big contract to Shmina failed by a 67 to 7 vote.

Levinson said there was but a "small difference" of $2,305 between the Shmina and Fredman bids, taking into account many alternates, substitutes in materials, bonds, and the fact that the general contractor will assume supervision over two subcontractors.

They will be R. L. Spitzley Co. of Detroit, who received the mechanical contract coming to $645,550, and Schultz Electric Service of Pontiac, awarded the electrical contract of $306,542.

In answer to Ingraham's questions on why Fredman was selected, Levinson said he believed giving the job to a local firm might mean more work for area people, and that Fredman stipulated to complete construction 35 days sooner than Shmina.

Courthouse-planning supervisors like Levinson and others have been

County Seeks Tax Guarantee

Support was being sought in Lansing today for a plan which would guarantee retention by Oakland and other counties of a share of any new state taxes.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and Supervisors Inter-County Committee, representing six Southeastern Michigan counties, was to have a luncheon meeting with Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) and Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton).

Geerlings is chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee while Conlin is chairman of a similar committee in the House of Representafives.

It is proposed that counties retain 30 per cent of any new state tax. This then would be split with the county keeping one-third and the school districts in that county two-thirds.

TO REPORT PROGRESS

Oakland supervisors yesterday approved the idea, but assigned the job to its Legislative Committee of watching its progress and report back to the full board before further action is taken.

The "watchdog" clause was added when Pleasant Ridge Supervisor Arthur G. Elliott Jr., chairman of the Republican Committee of Oakalnd County protested the board giving "blanket approval to any new taxes."

Elliott, voted down in his suggestion that supervisors' support of the plan be tabled, suggested rather than seek new taxes a "thorough review" be given by the state of unnecessary governmental services.

His GOP committee proposed to the Republican State Central Committee in February that a 10 per cent cut be made in all departments to meet Michigan's cash crisis.

The tax retention plan was born in the midst of the Oakland Tax Allocation Board's problems in slicing up the property tax limitation of 15 mills between the county, schools and townships. A freeze on 1958 rates was approved.

The tax plan has the backing of the SICC and the Oakland County School Board Members Assn.

No Celestial Conspiracy

May Rains Just Normal

If you were tired of cutting the grass so often last month, and thought that every time you picked up a golf club or a paint brush for some trim work the heavens dumped a bucket of rain on you — it just SEEMED that way.

But as far as the first five months of the year are concerned, there is no doubt, things were a lot damper here.

The average precipitation for May this year was 3.62 inches, only a raindrop or two above the normal 3.61.

It just seems like more because we've had twice as many rainy days in May as we did last year.

The reason for everything looking so much greener than last year is the heavy snowfall we had, and the fact that last year we had a drought.

This figure is more than tripled during the watery months of 1959, with 3.21 inches averaged. Normal average for this period is 2.63. Much of this high water figure can be attributed to the long-lingering snows in one of the roughest winters in many years.

From January through March, we recorded 26.3 inches of snow, with just a trace in April. Last year, including April, it amounted to 11.2 inches.

We've had some pretty hot and muggy days for so early in the season. Temperatures in May were 4.4 degrees above the 57.8 average.

But May's warmth is just making up for the many cooler-than-usual days earlier. The five month average temperature this year is 38.42, and last year's was 38.76.

To show how variable Michigan weather is, January 1958 was warmer than it was this year, but February was colder, March last year was warmer and April was about the same.

Weatherman Paints Bright, Warm Picture

Sunny skies and warm temperatures will continue in the Pontiac area a few more days. The low tonight will be near 56 degrees.

The weatherman said Thursday's high will be about 84 and the low tomorrow night 56-62.

For the next five days temperatures will average about five degrees above the normal high of 76 and normal low of 55.

Friday will continue to be warm, but temperatures will turn a little cooler late Saturday and warmer again Monday.

Rainfall will average near two-tenths of an inch, mostly as showers Saturday or Sunday.

Fifty was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 82.

Hit-Run Death Suspect Arrested in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Alfred Polk, 29, was arrested last night in connection with the hit-run death Sunday of Richard Milner, 28.

Ship Brings Portion of His Dream

Joseph Borys, 40, of 2405 N. Lake Angelus Rd., and his brother Francisz, 36, separated for 22 years by a war and political red tape, are to meet today when the Polish liner Batory docks in Montreal, Canada.

Joseph left Poland at 18, came to America and has since become a successful restaurant operator. He presently is owner of the Conant-6 Mile Bar, 17132 Conant, Detroit.

He left Francisz, then a boy of 14, in charge of the family farm. Their parents were murdered by bandits in 1930.

BROTHER RUNS FARM

Francisz later turned over management of the farm to his twin brother, Andrew Chester, and went to work for a creamery.

Joseph's first attempts to get his brothers to America were interrupted by World War II. Since then, the Russian occupation of Poland has been his major obstacle.

Joseph is married. He and his wife have three children and have lived in the Pontiac area for about six years. His wife accompanied him to Montreal today.

Francisz has a wife and two children still in Poland. They are to join him after he is settled in the United States.

The finale is yet to come, however, when Andrew Chester joins his brothers. He expects to arrive in America sometime in July to complete the long-awaited reunion.

Most of Country Smiling as Warm Weather Prevails

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were a few wet spots but generally pleasant weather was in prospect for the major part of the country today.

Rains which hit areas in the south Atlantic states Tuesday moved along the middle Atlantic coast during the night and fairly heavy falls were reported in areas from North Carolina to southern New England.

Scattered thunderstorms persisted near the South Carolina coast but the rains in the Northeast tapered off during the morning. Tornadic winds pounded areas near Old Dock, N.C., and Horry County, S.C., Tuesday.

Philadelphia was soaked with more than 1½ inches of rain during a six-hour period Tuesday night. Heavy falls also were reported in Boston, Harrisburg, Pa., and Washington, D.C.

Skies were mostly clear throughout the middle part of the country although showers sprinkled areas from west Texas into Kansas during the night.

It was a little cooler in the Northeast with temperatures mostly in the 50s. But light southerly winds brought a general warming trend to the northern half of the plains and into the upper Great Lakes region. Warmer weather was indicated from the middle Mississippi Valley across the Ohio Valley.

Geneva Talkers Stiffen Strategy

Expected to Tell Soviet's Gromyko Time Is Here for Berlin Solution

GENEVA (AP)—Western Foreign ministers reportedly decided today to call for an early showdown with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in secret talks over the Berlin crisis.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and ministers of Britain, France and West Germany agreed in a midday strategy meeting, officials said, that Gromyko should be told the time has come for the Soviet Union—which touched off the crisis last November—to put up new, constructive proposals for a solution.

Gromyko's reaction to this challenge, it was hoped, should shortly disclose whether the Geneva meeting has any chance of success in easing the East-West dispute on Berlin and clearing the way for a summit conference.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was asked after the meeting whether the ministers had talked about trying to get some firmer commitments from Gromyko.

"We reviewed the way in which we will handle the meeting this afternoon," he said.

LITTLE CHANGE

Earlier, Herter conferred with the intelligence chief of U.S. European Army headquarters at Heidelberg, Germany. The chief, Maj. Gen. Ralph M. Osborne, and Col. Robert G. Lawlor, also of the intelligence office, spent 30 minutes talking with Herter.

An American spokesman said the "situation with regard to Berlin was not appreciably advanced" by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's statement to the Big Four conference Tuesday.

But British and French diplomats said Gromyko's speech was being studied with extreme care because it contained intimations the Kremlin may be interested in finding a way out of the Berlin deadlock.

Tuesday's conference session ran for more than three hours, resulting in postponement until this afternoon of a private meeting of the ministers originally scheduled for Tuesday night.

British and French experts cited four points in Gromyko's speech as possibly significant.

1. The Soviet Union, Gromyko asserted, is not asking the United States, Britain and France to grant diplomatic recognition to East Germany's Communist government, something the Western Allies adamantly refuse to do.

2. The Soviet Union does not question the Western powers' legal right to have troops in West Berlin although it considers the occupation of the city is outdated. Gromyko insisted some new arrangement must be made for West Berlin.

SOVIET TROOPS TOO

3. Although he again called for demilitarization of West Berlin under international guarantees, Gromyko said his government would agree to Western troops remaining in Berlin providing their number is limited and Soviet troops also are admitted.

4. Gromyko urged the Western three to join the U.S.S.R. in trying to "bring our positions closer together."

Claims Rebels En Route From Cuba

Nicaraguan Dictator Girds for Boatloads of Invaders

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza marshaled his forces today to meet three boatloads of invaders reported en route from Cuba to join in Latin America's latest vestpocket revolt.

Somoza ordered his ambassador in Washington, Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa, to ask the Organization of American States for an investigation of the threat to his regime, one of Latin America's last three dictatorships.

The Foreign Ministry said Tuesday night it had learned that three schooners carrying revolutionaries and arms set out from Cuba for Nicaragua to support 75 or more rebels who landed by plane from Costa Rica over the weekend. The government claimed it had that group on the run. Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, asked in Havana about the report of invasion from his country, said he was too busy to answer "baseless charges."

Once a fiery advocate of aid to rebels against dictatorship, Castro has been denying he is aiding such movements since a Cuban-based invasion of Panama backfired in April while the Cuban leader was trying to make friends in the United States.

Managua is calm, but troops on guard everywhere lend a tense atmosphere to the capital.

"The government claims the situation is under control. Unconfirmed rumors circulated however of clashes in the provinces with the rebels who flew in from Costa Rica Sunday and Monday.

The government announced destruction of one of the rebel planes and capture of arms and ammunition but denied the reports of clashes. There has been no announcement of casualties.

The government put on display 15 rifles, a machinegun and about 4,000 rounds of ammunition it said had been captured near the destroyed plane. The guns carried Costa Rican markings.

Nicaraguan exiles in San Jose, Costa Rica, claimed four rebel groups had seized impregnable mountain positions between Santo Tomas, east of Lake Nicaragua, and Mu Muy, about 85 air miles northeast of the capital.

Fredman's company built also the Pontiac City Hall and Public Safety Building.

The new courthouse will be located on a parcel of land on what is known as the County Service Center. Located between Telegraph road and West boulevard, county buildings like the Juvenile Home, Health Dept., Welfare Dept. and the County Board of Education are already situated there.

A project supervisor will be hired by the county to coordinate construction of the new six-story courthouse, expected to take nearly two years to build.

Supervisors approved appropriating $10,000 from the county's Contingent Fund to pay for the supervisor's salary. Levinson emphasized the figure was but a maximum, and that no actual salary had been arrived at as yet.

After the courthouse unit is completed, it is expected that an administrative building and supervisors' room will be built next.

Levinson said it is hoped that by studying different materials for the courthouse, $100,000 may be trimmed from the total $3,068,832 of the three contracts.

In other action yesterday, supervisors by a vote of 73 to 1, approved transfering $174,924 from four miscellaneous county funds to add to the $1,879,680 already in the Building Fund to finance the new building.

Supervisors also approved the sale of vacant county-owned properties. Money from this sale, as well as the future sale of the old courthouse and site, will provide additional monies, supervisors agreed.

Mooney Sentencing Postponed to June 29

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty has granted another postponement in the sentencing of former Waterford Township teacher Arthur C. Mooney to June 29.

Mooney, convicted May 6 of gross indecency with a 16-year-old student, is confined to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn with sclerosis of the liver, according to Carlton S. Roeser, his attorney.

Mooney, 50, of 1651 Grimshaw St., faces a possible 5-year prison term.

Roeser said he was preparing to request a new trial for Mooney.

serted the Legislature would "abdicate its responsibilities" in authorizing a referendum. Bassett's proposal lost 25-55, but he said he would bring it up again when the package comes up for a vote.

Sallade carried the ball on the nine bills yesterday. He explained each one and called the package "eminently fair, adequate and suited to the long-range needs of the state."

Minutes earlier, a GOP House caucus had renewed its stand against any income tax and come out again for a 1 per cent use tax increase, calculated to produce about 108 million dollars a year.

The caucus also authorized GOP members of a bipartisan negotiation committee to continue meetings with Democrats in an attempt to draw up a compromise. They talked of a 1 per cent tax on wholesale products, which might yield about 100 million dollars a year.

House Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan) acknowledged it would have the effect of a sales tax boost, since wholesalers would pass on the tax to retailers who in turn would shift it to their customers.

"Perhaps this would clear the air," said Pears. "We believe negotiations should start over with the income tax out of the discussion."

Rep. Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) questioned whether the piggy-back plan was even constitutional.

"It violates the Constitution's uniformity clause and is based on another tax, also unconstitutional," he said.

Meanwhile, Senate Republicans stood pat yesterday in their support of a 425-million dollar general fund budget for fiscal 1959-60. It calls for a [illegible]-million-dollar boost in existing revenues.

Disagreement over the level of state school aid accounts for a big share of the gap in spending programs.

Dulles Was in Pain on Last Mission

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Foster Dulles was in constant pain and "unable to keep down a single meal" during his last diplomatic trip to Europe a few months before his death from cancer, Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today.

Despite this, Nixon said in a signed article in Life Magazine, Dulles "was never better at the negotiating table than at this most difficult period of his life."

Nixon quoted Dulles as telling him: "I told my associates they were to watch over me carefully and that they were to inform me immediately whenever it appeared my physical condition in any way impaired my ability to carry on the negotiations in which we were participating."

He said the secretary of state told him: "I never felt any pain while the negotiating was taking place. Then at the end of the day it would come down on me like a crushing weight."

Average Miles Per Gallon in '57 Was 14.40

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average passenger car traveled 9,391 miles in 1957 and got 14.40 miles to a gallon of gasoline, the Bureau of Public Roads reported today.

This was slightly less than the 14.95 miles to the gallon calculated for 1948.

The drop reflected the trend toward bigger cars, Automatic transmission and more powerful engines. These changes slightly outweighed greater engine efficiency, thereby trimming miles per gallon.

The average truck traveled about 10 per cent more miles in 1957, the bureau said, but consumed twice as much fuel, averaging 7.87 miles per gallon.

For all vehicles — cars and trucks — combined, travel totaled 647 billion vehicle-miles. The total, which has been rising steadily, was estimated at nearly 700 billion for 1959.

A vehicle mile is a unit combining the number of cars and miles they travel. For example, five cars making a five-mile trip cover 25 vehicle-miles.

Congress Must Pick Missile

Budget Decision Nears on Whether to Back Nike-Hercules, Bomarc

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House confused by conflicting claims must decide today where to throw its support in the Pentagon's battle for missile money.

★ ★ ★

Nearing a showdown vote on a $38,848,339,000 defense appropriation bill for 1960, it faced a choice between the Army and the Air Force in the current row over which service has the better air defense missile.

★ ★ ★

If the House follows the recommendations of its Appropriations Committee, it will sustain a deep cut in Bomarc missile funds and a substantial hike in Nike-Hercules money.

The Bomarc is the Air Force antiaircraft missile whose effectiveness and availability have been the subject of debate both in and out of Congress.

The committee cut $162,700,000 from the Bomarc program and shifted some of the extra money to the Nike-Hercules project. Some committee members contend the committee went too far, others say it didn't go far enough.

Rep. William E. Minshall (R-Ohio) has offered an amendment to cut out all the 200 million dollars remaining for Bomarc production but to allow $84,600,000 for continued tests and evaluation.

Minshall called the Bomarc program a "billion-dollar-boondoggle" promoted by "high-pressure salesmen in and out of uniform." He said the missile is not operational and would be useless if and when it reaches the firing pads.

★ ★ ★

But Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, senior Republican on the committee that drafted the bill, defended the Bomarc and said recent tests of an improved model have been successful.

Go Out of Bees-ness

COMMERCE TOWN, Colo. (UPI)—Two youngsters who broke into a building behind a high school and also raided a nearby beehive were identified for police yesterday by the bees. Officers arrested a 12 and a 13-year-old boy who had been stung on the face, hands and chest.

The Day in Birmingham

Animal Owners Warned After Cut Up Dog Found

BIRMINGHAM — Bloomfield Hills Police are alerting all dog owners in the area to a new, gruesome danger threatening their pets.

Police Capt. Walter Sluiter said this morning that officers found the dismembered body of a black Labrador retriever in a ditch along Trowbridge road near Woodward avenue yesterday.

The dog's remains had been put into four paper bags and wrapped in a pink blanket, Sluiter said.

"Nothing like this has ever happened here before, and we have no report in the immediate area of a missing dog," he said.

"About two years ago," Sluiter added, "there were many reports of cruelty to animals in the White Lake Township area. We suggest that owners of pets, particularly dogs and horses, keep them under close surveillance."

The Senior Men's Club will hear a talk by Miss Jeanne Lloyd, head of the Baldwin Public Library, on the service the library has to offer the community, when it meets Friday at the Community House.

Miss Lloyd also will speak on the $150,000 addition which will be built on the Baldwin Library in the near future.

The club discussion group has chosen "The Small Car" for its topic, with A. Z. Mitchell as moderator.

Mrs. Laura Turner is presently entertaining children from all area schools, as well as those from Pontiac and several from Detroit, at her home, Devon Acres, on Telegraph road near Quarton road.

Animals, including pigs, sheep, geese and a cow and calf, have been brought in from the Turner Farm in Waterford Township for the entertainment of the children.

Junior High school students belonging to the First Presbyterian Church will hold their final service Sunday with a special program in the church at 5 p.m. for members and their parents.

Ninth graders who are completing their church classes will be honored and delegates to summer camps and conferences will be commissioned.

Registration for the weekday church nursery school will close on June 12. Full details can be obtained at the church office.

Boys 13 and 16 years old, who are members of the YMCA, may now select two or four-week camping tours at the Loud Island Senior Camp at Van Etten Lake, according to Olin Manchester, secretary of the Birmingham YMCA.

Camp periods will start on June 25 and July 23.

Commission Okays Pay for 30 Days, Rejects 35 More Requested

The check covers 30 days of accrued vacation time which Straley said the city owed him at the time of his ouster by the Civil Service Commission, April 4.

The former police chief claimed the city owed him pay for a totaf 65 vacation days, because he said he had taken virtually no time off during his 8½ years in office.

But City Commissioners last night would approve only 30 days, on grounds that it was contrary to city policy to pay for more.

City Finance Director Marvin Alward said he would probably mail the check to Straley today.

He said Straley had once told him that he would refuse the check if it didn't cover 65 vacation days.

In approving the check, Commissioners noted that it had nothing to do with the Circuit Court case by which Straley is seeking to reverse his ouster.

Been to the Moon

HUCKNALL, England (UPI)—A policeman asked Ronald Rowlett, 18, why he was sitting on the sidewalk in tears. "I've been to the moon," Rowlett sobbed. He was fined $1.40 yesterday for drunkenness. "The Moon," it came out in court, is the name of a pub.

This Was D-Day . . . Chapter 2

Key Mistakes Breed Successful Invasion

By GEN. J. LAWTON COLLINS
Written for The Associated Press

The darkness was almost pitch black off the coast of France when the anchor chain of our command ship, the Bayfield, rattled out on D-Day 15 years ago.

Except for the fact that we were 12 miles off shore, its sudden clanking might have alerted the German defenders whose radar had failed to pick up the approach of the vast armada of ships and planes which was poised to attack the east coast of the Cherbourg peninsula.

As Rear Adm. Don P. Moon, the naval commander of Task Force Utah, and I looked out from the bridge of the Bayfield, nothing could be seen of the hundreds of transports, LSTs, and smaller landing craft and accompanying naval escorts which we knew were all around us. They had been under way from the southern ports of England for almost 24 hours, ploughing slowly but steadily through six-foot waves under lowering clouds driven by winds up to 20 knots. So bad was the weather that the responsible German Adm. Francke had no patrol boats in the English Channel.

This weather, which proved a protective screen for the invasion, could have been disastrous if it had worsened. It had already postponed the invasion a day and had threatened the final departure of the expedition. In fact, as I wrote to my wife en route to France on the early evening of June 5, 1944:

"First of all, it is a relief to be off at last. After months of rehearsals and feverish preparation, we began loading a few days ago, only to be threatened with a long delay when the weather suddenly turned against us. In fact some of our landing craft had to be turned back after being under way several hours.

"Gens. Bradley and Kean, Adms. Kirk, Moon and Wiltse, several Britishers and I were none too optimistic as we assembled last night (at British naval headquarters in Plymouth) for the word as to whether or not we would get under way again. It was with a mixture of relief and misgivings that we received the decision to go ahead, subject to final confirmation early this morning. For the weather was still threatening, and a great amphibious operation such as this has to have just the right conditions of wind, tide, sea and ceiling to insure the almost perfect coordination of naval, land and air forces that is essential for success.

"We were greatly relieved when we came out from our meeting to find the moon breaking through scattered clouds, the wind down and the sea appreciably quieter.

We went back aboard the command ships to await confirmation. Don Moon woke me from a sound sleep at dawn this morning to give me the final word that we were definitely on the way.

"Perhaps it was because I had a sense of unreality about this thing that I was able soon to go back to sleep again. It was scarcely believable that the Germans would permit the assembly and departure of this tremendous force with only a few sporadic and ineffectual air raids. That this has happened is a tribute to the work of our Air Forces and the R.A.F. . . .

★ ★ ★

"I thought of you all most keenly yesterday morning, as I do each Sunday, as mass was celebrated in the main mess hall aboard ship. The hall was packed with soldiers, sailors, officers and men alike. I am sure the thoughts of everyone were more on families at home than they were on the service, though the seriousness of the project on which we were about to embark was to me, for the first time, clearly in the air. This dual feeling was reflected in the frank whole heartedness with which the men joined in, the singing of hymns that most of them had rarely sung since they were boys. . . ."

★ ★ ★

Even before the Bayfield cast anchor off Utah Beach, the parachutists of the 101st Airborne Division, led by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, began dropping back of Utah Beach at 1:30 a.m. south of the town of Ste. Mere Eglise. The 82nd Airborne Division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Matthew D. Ridgway, commenced its drop about one hour later astride the Merderet River, west of Ste. Mere Eglise. These two divisions had the mission of seizing key communication centers and the western exits of the causeways which led across an inundated area just inland from Utah Beach.

Don Moon and I looked up as we heard the roar of our air transports returning from their drop. A shiver of apprehension ran up my back as the first planes approached almost at masthead level. I recalled that many had been shot down by our own troops and naval gunners at the landing in Sicily a few months before. In order to avoid this danger, plans called for the returning airplanes strictly to avoid the transport area by swinging to the north. However, the discipline and good judgment of the troops and naval gunners saved the situation and not a single shot was fired as the air transports lumbered overhead.

But a new fear beset me as I realized that at least some of these planes must have dropped their loads outside the prescribed landing zones. Later, this proved to be the case. This made it tougher for the airborne divisions to accomplish their mission, but the scattered drop of parachutists over broad areas of the peninsula added to the confusion of the Germans and slowed their reaction to the principal drops and to the seaborne landing.

At 3:53 a.m. the medium bombers of the 9th Air Force began dropping their bombs on the German coastal batteries. There was no evidence of enemy counter air action.

As the sky grew lighter, the great array of ships began to loom around us. First, the other troop transports close at hand; then the bulky LSTs, crammed with tanks, artillery and vehicles which were to follow the smaller landing craft ashore; next the ghost-like outlines of cruisers and destroyers which were to furnish fire support for the assault; and finally, off toward shore, the long thin lines of bobbing personnel landing craft which looked awfully small and powerless as they approached the beach.

The infantrymen in these craft received very powerful fire support. Hundreds of rockets saturated the landing beaches, raising great clouds of sand and smoke until the beaches themselves and the assault waves of troops were lost to view.

Poor visibility, combined with a strong tidal current, caused the assault waves to hit the beach almost a mile farther south than planned. This error, like the scattered parachute drop, proved a blessing in disguise, since it landed the troops farther away from the one German battery which had withstood the air and naval bombardment and on a section of beach that proved to be less well defended than the intended landing area.

Radio messages soon began coming in to the command center aboard the Bayfield reporting steady progress against only light resistance from the still-befuddled defenders. The first round had been won and we knew in our hearts that there would be no stopping us until France was once again free.

Central Michigan's Anspach Lauds 20 Years

Retiring College President 'Millionaire'

By ROGER LANE

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Dr. Charles L. Anspatch, standing before a heap of 2,000 one dollar bills, told 400 well-wishers last night "I'm a millionaire."

In a response climaxing a round of extravagant verbal tributes at a salute dinner, the retiring president of Central Michigan University surveyed the cash gift and said:

"I am a millionaire not from the standpoint of the world's goods but from the standpoint of a rich life made so by you people and a host of others."

"These have been 20 golden years," he went on. "I am not retiring—just leaving this job. A lot of things remain to be done."

ENROLLMENT TRIPLES

He spoke of a period that saw tripling of Central Michigan's enrollment, a sixfold increase in its plant and a rise of the institution from teacher college to university status—the latter made officially only on Monday.

Anspach, 64, steps out July 1 to make way for Dr. Judson W. Foust as sixth Central Michigan chief executive.

Gathered in the room on the CMU campus for the sendoff banquett were high ranking figures from business, publishing, legislating, education, the law, state administrative office, outdoor life, banking and the professions.

From many persons unable to be present came a shower of congradulatory telegrams, including several sent by out-of-state college and university presidents, one by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and one by Gov. Williams.

President Eisenhower wired he was pleased that Central Michigan has "grown steadily in strength and service" under Anspach's leadership. The message wished Anspach and his wife, Mary, a happy retirement.

Mrs. Anspach was presented a silver tray.

Most of the 12 speakers touched on Anspach's humanitarian qualities, some on his faith, energy, vision, candor, courage, breadth of interest and pioneering spirit.

"I never saw a person who was so willing to give people a second chance, who had a belief there were capabilities and they were latent," said Foust.

Foust praised his retiring predecessor for a "sense of mission, of dedication, a magnificent obsession that this institution had a great place to fill and that it was worth the last once of effort."

"And yet, he always had time to do the little things of life, which are perhaps the big things," he added.

Anspach was saluted as "a master educator and the uncommon man of education in Michigan" by Dr. Victor Spathelf, president of Ferris Institute in Big Rapids.

High officialdom in the state was represented by Supreme Court Justice Harry F. Kelly, a former governor; Atty. Gen Paul L. Adams, State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown and more than a dozen Senate and House members.

So, surrounded is Michigan by its three Great Lakes — Huron, Erie and Michigan — that no point in the state is said to be more than 85 miles distant from one of them.

Cash Customers Called Financial Squares

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—The only thing of which I am absolutely certain, in these days when money and youth are national symbols, is that I was brought up wrong.

★ ★ ★

My pappy quoted to me from Laertes' pappy and said "Never a borrower be."

My mother quoted to me from her mother and said, "Never lie. Never evade the truth. Be honest as the day is long."

Well those days—those days of honesty, full length—have passed and unevasive truthfulness today will get you a bad name. To be honest about others is considered cruel and will get you nowhere in the battle for social status. And to be honest about yourself, particularly in matters of age and disposition, marks you backwoods.

About borrowing, which daddy thought was almost as odious as stealing or gambling. Today, borrowing is the most lauded road to financial success. In fact, the man or woman who saves, who speculates with, or spends his own hard-erned money, is considered a square.

Borrow to the hilt, recommend our economist friends. Establish all the credit you can. A good credit rating is worth years of salary.

The trouble with us depression kids, who were given the bum pitch from Polonius—we've always paid our way and thus are poor credit risks.

If we're going to get money to make money, we've got to open charge accounts like mad, expand our wallets with credit cards instead of cash, buy a house to get a first mortgage, and remember never to pay for anything in a lump sum.

Then, gradually, we may overcome the stigma of having been solid cash customers . . . which is in as poor economic taste as stowing away inflation money in socks.

Getting back to honesty about one's age: It is socially unacceptable after the 20th year, and prior to the 80th. Partly because of the advances in the cosmetics industries and in public health and prosperity, physical youthfulness has become the goal of Americans of both sexes.

You can blab about anything you want in this democracy except age. Lying about age is a civil liberty. To betray one's age is tantamount to treason.

Having been grounded in truth, as mentioned, I came to New York in my semi-tender years and interviewed by first movie queen. Her mimeographed biography listed the month and day of her birth, but gave no year. In all stupid honesty, I thought there had been an oversight and asked her how old she was.

"I was born," she said coolly, "the year my mother and father became parents. And you, Dear?"

Only last month I discussed the sensitivity of the age question with a male television star—who said he would drop dead before revealing his age. Only then would it come out.

"I don't withhold my age because I'm vain," he said. "I do it for the same reason everybody in this idiotic society does it—because when you're too young, or too old, nobody wants you.

This is the age when everybody who gives it a try can look like Peter Pan. Everybody says age is how old you feel. Everybody says chronological age is unimportant. Everybody says why even bring it up?—A woman of 60 looks like a woman of 40 did a century ago.

"But try to be honest about your age after about 39 and see if you can get a good job.

"An employer looks, right and imagines lines. Under the through the hair bleach and sees jazzy weskit he visualizes you've gray. He sees under the make-up got a weakening heart.

"As they say, age in America isn't important. Not as long as you shut up about it."

Michigan Should Pass Humane Slaughter Bill

A worthy bill is up for consideration before the Agriculture Committee of the Michigan House of Representatives which we feel is necessary to prevent gross cruelty in slaughterhouses in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Humane slaughtering methods are now practicable and should be in force. Most of us would be astonished if we took the time to go and see how our livestock in Michigan is slaughtered.

The old, crude tools used are outmoded. New humane techniques should be required of all slaughterhouses.

Currently there are only four packing plants in Michigan that have Federal meat inspection and must adopt the methods in accordance with P.L. 85-765, which is the Federal humane slaughter law passed last August.

There should be no excuse for further delay in ending these old-fashioned inhumane tortures of our meat animals.

Our Michigan bill is H.B. 196 and should be supported by all the people in Michigan. Notify your legislators that this corrective action should be passed.

Support Michigan bill H. B. 196.

It's Too Bad Able and Baker Can't Talk

Would that Able and Baker could talk!

The two little monkeys could hold a press conference to end current press conferences. Can't you hear an eager reported asking Able before she died:

"What's it like when gravity is gone?"

And little Able could reflect momentarily and then say: "Well, it's like sitting on a sunbeam. You don't have to be held up."

And another could ask Baker: "What does the earth look like?"

And Baker could scratch her little nose and reply: "From 300 miles away, it really looks like a ball — round, you know, and not flat. I could see the Pacific Ocean very clearly although we were over the Jersey coast."

Little Rock Settling Integration Problem

It may still require more time, but the Little Rock situation is slowly clearing up. The citizens of the city just threw a curve to Governor ORVAL E. FAUBUS.

★ ★ ★

Three pro-segregation members of the school board were recalled. The other three favor integration on a leisurely basis. The three that were dumped stood solidly against it.

★ ★ ★

The Little Rock situation has received an unfortunate amount of publicity. The city reeled, the state suffered and the United States took it right on the chin throughout the world. Our dear Russian friends capitalized on the situation at every turn of the road. They painted the entire nation as a group of Little Rockers and held up this actual instance as "just one more example" of the devious and dastardly ways of the United States.

★ ★ ★

Apparently the Little Rock high schools will reopen in September. At least the wind is blowing in that direction and if all the well disposed outside interests will keep their big noses out of Little Rock and let the home folk work out a program, the segregation schedule will probably be instituted in some workable form.

The Man About Town

Our Late Spring

Bad for New Sown Crops; Good for Wheat-Forage

Raisin: A worried grape.

A survey among farmers in the Pontiac area shows that they are between two and three weeks behind schedule in their spring work. Crops that should have been planted in early May are dragging over into June.

The lingering winter made oats planting so late that many farmers substituted corn or other later crops, so our acreage of wheat will be small. Corn and potato acreage will show a corresponding increase. And the fate of all spring planted crops rests with conditions during the summer and the promptness or tardiness of Jack Frost next fall.

But there's something to cheer about. It has been a great spring for the growth of wheat, hay and all forage crops. They thrive on the cool weather, and are looking fine. Nature usually strikes a balance.

Here's congratulations to the thousand or more local Boy Scouts who'll enjoy the privileges of Camp Agawam this summer, as the Camp Director will be

It's Getting There That Counts

David Lawrence Says:

Local Politics Sabotaged Lloyd

LONDON — Suddenly and with no apparent reason except domestic politics, the influence at the Geneva conference hitherto wielded so skillfully by Selwyn Lloyd, the British foreign secretary, has been torpedoed.

LAWRENCE

Seldom has there been such a vivid illustration of how, with the best intentions, a political maneuver, designed to ease the way for the promotion of a man to a higher post, can turn out to be a faux pas.

For, whatever may have been the motive—and it probably had to do with preparing the way to remove some of the handicaps the Conservatives face in their general election to be held soon—the net result was to throw a monkey wrench into the wheels of international diplomacy at a critical moment.

To announce that one of the big four ministers is on the way out is to say, in effect, that there is something wrong with his performance as a foreign secretary. The London Times, which published the first article, had a "scoop" on Monday morning, but the information wasn't presented in a simple news article with even anonymous attribution of the sources. The story was made up of speculative comments such as are usually found on the editorial page. It said in part:

"We may safely accept that Mr. Macmillan has lately taken Mr. Selwyn Lloyd's arm in paternal grip, led him to one side, and spoken from the heart. Call it the personal advice a leader offers to a favored lieutenant, or call it the first unmistakable hint about the prime minister's intentions if he is summoned to form another ministry after the general election—it makes no difference. What matters is that Mr. MacMillan has let Mr. Lloyd know that at the foreign office, in these troubled times, enough is enough."

★ ★ ★

The article went on to say that Lloyd has done well but that continuance in the foreign office might sap his health. It then adds:

"But the transposition of Mr. Selwyn Lloyd to another department office is clearly still several months ahead."

Then, it might be asked, what was the purpose of the obviously inspired story, particularly at this time when the foreign secretary of Great Britain is approaching the most critical week in the foreign ministers conference at Geneva? Is it possible that those who were so absorbed in domestic politics chose to ignore the obvious effects internationally, or did they just forget about them as politicians sometimes do when they move unswervingly toward their goal in a politics-above-all-else tactic?

The feeling here is that some timid elements in the Conservative Party, looking ahead to a close election, had considered that Lloyd's previous association with the Eden regime—when the tragic Suez episode occurred—could lose votes for the incumbent party and that hence a change would be salutary.

But even conceding the desirability of presenting a strong front in the elections, why was the story given such prominence, and did the Times perhaps overplay a piece of political gossip that never was intended to affect Lloyd's present position at Geneva?

Unfortunately, the Soviets will have no difficulty putting an interpretation on the whole affair that will suit their purposes. They will take it for granted that Lloyd was "too tough" to suit Macmillan and too harmonious with the viewpoints of the French and American envoys, and that this development represents a retreat by the British and a split in the unity hitherto presented.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Vitamin B Is Essential in Treating Alcoholism

People who "feel their oats" have vite — or vice versa.

Remember what I have said here several times: the addict takes a drink or several drinks because he or she "just wants to feel better." That's the drinker's way of expressing the wish to forget for an hour or two how miserable, ashamed, unhappy, unfit, morbid or inferior he or she feels.

DR. BRADY

It is a sad commentary on American life that so many Americans today consider a narcotic — alcohol — essential for sociability.

The person with vite feels just fine and dandy and doesn't want or need anything to make him forget it. One with better-than-average nutritional condition enjoys being alive more than anyone can enjoy the effects of alcohol or drug.

The relaxation, tranquility or good cheer produced by cocktail or highball is precisely the same as that of the early stage of anesthesia. You can't deny that alcohol is a narcotic.

Better-than-average nutritional condition not only makes total abstinence easier to practice, but it is a great help to the addict who wants to quit drinking.

Regular, steady or habitual drinkers generally have poorer-than-average nutritional condition because they take liquor instead of food for which they have no appetite.

For instance it is rarely indeed that a steady or heavy drinker consumes the minimum daily ration of milk that is requisite for good nutrition — 1½ pints, or three glasses.

It is universally recognized that vitamin B in large doses is indispensable in the successful treatment of acute and chronic alcoholism.

QUESTION BOX

"Subject to frequent headaches, began using for relief — (an acetanilide mixture). Now I have to take a whole bottle of it every day . . ." (O. E. J.).

Answer — Many persons become addicted to coaltar derivatives in such pain killers. They need medical care, in hospital or sanitarium if necessary. If they drift along without medical care they inevitably suffer physical and/or mental breakdown. I have a pamphlet Why Have Headache?, available free if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Do you approve of use of carbolic salve or ointment as a first aid application to minor wounds or burns? If not, what do you advise for the purpose?" (W. H. A.).

Answer — No, carbolic acid (phenol) is not advisable for the purpose. I advise sterile petrolatum (petroleum jelly), from a collapsible tube, not from a can, box or jar unless it is freshly sterilized by heat. Medicaments in collapsible tubes remain sterile a long time. Those in boxes or jars become infected (contaminated) the first time they are used and thereafter are not fit to apply to fresh wound or burn unless freshly sterilized before each use.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Wants to Strengthen Laws Governing Motor Scooters

Maybe the tragic death of those two teenagers riding that motor scooter will wake up some parents and they'll forbid their youngsters to be riding those potential death traps.

There should be a law forbidding anybody under 21 to ride them, but the Legislators are not too interested. Teenagers have not started voting yet.

Teacher's Request Stirs Readers

Scrawny Pete

Have they published the names of the teacher committee that wants the pie in the sky brought straight into Pontiac?

Arnold

What's wrong with the teachers making a fancy play to double their salaries in ten years? Suppose we all got our salaries doubled in ten years? It would make Pontiac the most prosperous town in the old U.S. We could start retiring at 48 or 45 and we would be the envy of the entire nation, maybe the world. More power to this teacher committee.

Urges Hart to Back Farm Bill 6150

I see by the papers Senator Hart thinks farmers should plant all the wheat they want for their own use and seed wheat. He's 100 per cent right, but he didn't go all out to give farmers their freedom back with free enterprise for them. Hart's bill would stop farmers selling wheat if they had more than he could feed up, but still the CCC keeps on importing wheat to use.

★ ★ ★

We have had a cancer for a farm program for 21 years. You can see what it's done to the farmer. If you had cancer, would you have only half of it cut out?

★ ★ ★

If your doctor told you to cut out half, you'd get a new doctor at once. Why not tell newspapers they can print all the papers they want but can't sell them? Then have papers imported. Would that be a free press? I hope Hart gets behind bill H.R. 6150 and cuts this cancer out for the farmers and taxpayers.

Protests Sending Monkeys in Space

How can man send into space God's creatures that were created for a zoo or jungle? If man wants to be sent into space, that's his business. He can agree or disagree. A poor animal can do neither. He's forced to make the trip, which is plain cruel.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Gives Facts of Pregnancy

Marilyn is a frustrateed wife. In a single sentence I could have told her WHAT to do, after the Question-Answer plan of most advice columnists. But I find that most of you prefer the fuller explanation which I offer in this column. You like to know the WHY behind scientific advice.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-452: Marilyn M., aged 25, has been married five years.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," she began anxiously, "John and I have been happily married for five years, except for our failure to have any children.

DR. CRANE

"We want a family and still I do not become pregnant. Our doctor has checked both of us and says we are O.K. physically, yet still I don't have a baby.

"Except for our possibility of adopting a child, is there nothing else that can be done?"

Thousands of wives like Marilyn, who had previously been childless for 3 to 20 years, have reported success by following the modern medical advice below.

First, the time for conception in the month may be limited to a matter of only a few hours (possibly 12 to 24 at most).

This conclusion is based on research which shows that the male sperm cell loses its vigor to such a degree that in a few hours (some say 6 to 12), it is too feeble to fertilize an egg (ovum).

And other researchers think the female ovum may degenerate so rapidly after it ruptures free from the ovary that in 12 to 36 hours it may be incapable of fertilization.

So it is possible that in otherwise healthy couples, the timing factor explains their childlessness.

Latest evidence suggests that a wife ovulates about 15 days prior to the onset of her next period.

The exact hour is difficult to set, for the same wife will very slightly from month to month. Thus her cycles may run 27, 28, 26, 27, 29, 28, 26, 25, 29, 30, 27, 28, 26 days for a full year.

That means the wife just mentioned fluctuates between 25 and 30 days, and nobody can tell in advance whether the current cycle will be 25 days long, or 30 days or some in-between length.

The "rhythm theory" involves use of the shortest and longest cycles as terminal points.

If the current cycle should prove to be 26 days long, then 25-15 would give the 10th day from the last period's onset, as the most likely time for her to conceive.

But suppose this month should prove to be a 30-day cycle. Then 30-15 would suggest the 15th day as the ovulation date.

Her likely time to conceive would thus fall between the 10th and the 15th. To allow for extra leeway, an additional 3 days is added to each end of this fertile period, so she would regard her pregnancy period as falling between the 7th and the 18th days from the last onset.

NEW MEDICAL FACTS

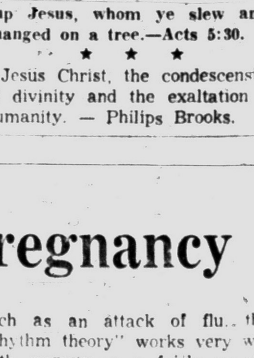

Although an occasional exception may occur, due to some major upset of a wife's normal physiology, such as an attack of flu, this "rhythm theory" works very well with women on a fairly regular cycle.

★ ★ ★

To help insure conception, an alkaline douche, consisting of a teaspoon of ordinary baking soda per quart of warm water, seems valuable.

For acidity paralyzes the sperm cells and some wives are more acid than others. Since the soda douche is not harmful in any way, but does appear to increase chances of conception, I recommended it to Marilyn.

And two months later she had conceived. Obviously, if her tubes had been surgically removed or she had no ovaries, or if her husband were sterile, she could not have conceived by this simple method.

Park Property Sale to Be Recommended

LANSING (AP)—Sale of an 870-foot strip of state-owned bottom land along Lake St. Clair to the City of Grosse Pointe Farms for $37,000 will be recommended to the Conservation Commission at its June 12 meeting here.

The property, occupied by the city park, is appraised at $215,000.

The sale agreement provides for the land to revert to the state if the city ever abandons it, reported George Taack, submerged land specialist for the Conservation Department.

Taack added that park use may be restricted to city residents.

Also up for approval will be sale of an 89 by 395 feet strip of Lake St. Clair bottomland to Grosse Pointe Village.

The land adjoins the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The recommended purchase price is $5,290 — 30 per cent of the appraised value.

Burglars Are Requested to Be More Considerate

CONCORD, Calif. (AP)—Burglars dipped six times into Joe Molino's restaurant safe in 18 months. They got $2,500.

Tuesday, the seventh time, the safe was empty.

On top was this sign:

Asking Officer Question Gets Woman a Fine

NEW YORK (UPI)—A businesswoman was convicted of a traffic violation and fined $7 for stopping to ask a policeman a question.

★ ★ ★

The defendant, Mrs. Meyer Fish, immediately hired a lawyer and announced she would appeal.

She testified that on Feb. 12 she was prevented by a traffic policeman from making her customary left turn into the street where she has a cash register business.

Mrs. Fish said that after circling the block several times and being waved straight ahead each time she stopped by the patrolman and said: "May I ask you a question?"

She testified the patrolman told her he'd give her a ticket if she did.

★ ★ ★

She asked anyway: "How do I get into the block to get to my business?"

She said she didn't know whether it was for failing to move on or for asking the question.

Vent testified it was for her failure to move on.

Magistrate Robert F. Mahoney found her guilty and sentenced Mrs. Fish to the $7 fine or two days in jail.

★ ★ ★

"I know its costing me a lot of money to appeal," she said out of court, "but it will be a pretty sad day for us here if we start to give up the principles in which we believe."

Rumor Buzzes About Europe

West Scoffs at 'Gold Ruble'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials laughed off today rumors the Soviet Union might jolt Western trading countries by suddenly announcing a "gold ruble."

Most versions of the rumor say the Kremlin soon will decree that rubles—now artificially pegged at four to the dollar—will become freely convertible into gold on demand, at least in the satellite empire.

The U.S.S.R. has a big horde of nine billion dollars in gold which could meet any run on gold which might develop, according to these reports.

The Soviet move would be part of a carefully calculated Kremlin drive, these rumors allege, to create a ruble bloc as a rival to the dollar bloc and the sterling bloc based on U.S. and British currencies.

Responsible authorities who have carefully checked into the rumor said they have seen no sign the Soviet Union is seriously contemplating any such drastic maneuver.

Several officials expressed the opinion any step to make rubles convertible into gold would be financially disastrous for Moscow.

The Soviet Union has never disclosed how much gold it has stored in its bank vaults. Nor has it ever revealed how much gold it mines annually.

But American experts said it is very likely the U.S.S.R. has less than half of the nine-billion-dollar cache it is rumored to possess. These informants also said the Soviets are mining perhaps only 50 per cent of the 675 million dollars in new gold some rumors estimate the Soviets dig up annually.

At the Soviet 21st Communist party congress in Moscow, Soviet spokesmen talked hopefully of the day the ruble would displace the dollar as the main currency in world trade.

Western diplomats, however, dismissed this as Soviet boasting. The Soviet Union has carefully shielded its economy from the free market world pressures. The informants said these pressures inevitably would drive the ruble down to what they described as its true value of a few cents.

★ ★ ★

County Deeds Office Business Shows Jump

Business remained good at the office of the Oakland County Register of Deeds last month, when 13,330 papers worth $19,450.85 were handled.

★ ★ ★

Daniel T. Murphy Jr., clerk-register for the county, said "an improved general business climate," corresponding increases in building and an increase in fees for tax liens account for the larger total.

Last month's totals correspond with 11,107 papers totaling $16,889.60 in receipts handled in May of 1958.

Six new subdivisions were recorded during last month, Murphy said.

Included in May's totals were 2,178 deeds ($4,561.25), 1,240 mortgages ($4,265.25), 6,692 chattel mortgages ($6,692), and 1,956 miscellaneous papers worth $3,208.25.

Store Movers 'Ice' Building Smack in Place

They needed 20 jacks to support the structure while they removed large beams from the underside before dropping the store on a new foundation. They didn't have enough jacks.

So they bought 14 100-pound chunks of ice, put the ice on the concrete slab foundation, lowered the structure on the ice and removed the beams. The ice melted Tuesday and the structure settled precisely in place.

★ ★ ★

Kalamazoo Farm Fire Thought Job of Arson

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—Fire Chief Earl Hayman said that he is certain a $50,000 fire near here was set intentionally.

He reported finding oil stains in several places at the scene of the Brook Farm blaze which destroyed five of the 12 buildings on the farm.

Fire departments from six communities and townships joined in fighting the blaze which Hayman said began at almost the same time as a farm fire two miles away.

Try Jail Break in Fire

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP)— Fire broke out in a warehouse at the city jail Tuesday night, and more than 300 prisoners tried to escape in the confusion. Troops and police reinforcements checked the attempted break.

Foreign Aid Bill Ready for House

New Provisions Give Tighter Rein on Agency, Stresses Economic Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — House members seeking a new course for foreign aid claimed an important preliminary victory today.

The Foreign Affairs Committee was ready to send to the House legislation for next year's program which would provide:

1. A tighter rein for the State Department to hold over its semi-independent operating agency, the International Cooperation Administration. Congress has heard testimony of waste and in a few instances, fiscal irregularities in some ICA operations.

2. A strong statement of Congress' intent that underdeveloped countries far from the cold war firing line not get extensive military aid, but be steered toward economic loans.

The bill, already drafted and agreed on informally, was to be introduced today and brought to a vote in the House if possible next week. It calls for $3,642,600,000 for the year beginning July 1, plus about 21 million dollars of funds appropriated in earlier years.

This represented a cut of 366 million dollars in President Eisenhower's proposals for military aid and economic grants, partly offset by a 100-million-dollar increase in loan funds.

Committee members who commented on the bill agreed that its effect on military aid would be more persuasive than mandatory.

"It spells out some restriction, in a mild way," said Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa). He added the administration had advised the committee "it could live with it."

Levy on Cars, Liquor, Cigarettes, Profits

House Unit OKs Special-Tax Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Ways and Means Committee today approved another one-year extension of wartime tax rates on corporation profits, cigarettes, liquor and automobiles.

These taxes were scheduled to drop to lower levels July 1. The administration had requested another one-year extension to prevent a two-billion-dollar loss of revenue. Such a loss would eliminate any chance for a balanced budget in the new fiscal year which starts July 1.

Key Democrats had considered pushing for a two-year extension now on the theory that Congress was certain to have to order another extension next year anyway, the Democrats decided against such a move.

The legislation would continue until June 30, 1960, the present 52 per cent tax on corporation profits, averting an automatic drop to the permanent 47 per cent rate.

It also would forestall scheduled tax reductions of one cent a pack for cigarettes, $1.50 a gallon for distilled spirits, $1 per barrel for beer and varying amounts for wine.

The extension bill also would keep the present tax of 10 per cent on the manufacturer's sale price of passenger automobiles and the 8 per cent tax on auto parts and accessories. These rates were scheduled to drop to 7 per cent and 5 per cent, respectively.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans told the committee the deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, now is expected to total $12,400,000,000 instead of $12,900,000,000 as estimated in January. That would still be the biggest deficit the federal government ever has recorded in peace time.

Reds at Geneva Smile Slyly . . . Play Patience

GENEVA (AP) — Gloomy as Western diplomats get about prospects of the Geneva conference, the Soviets keep smiling optimistically.

Soviet smiles persist although the foreign ministers' conference is bogged down over the future of West Berlin.

"Well, we can't have progress every day," rejoins Kharlamov, ever cheerful.

Kharlamov seems to be a happy fellow by nature but Western diplomats suspect his constant optimism adds up to something more than just a cheery disposition.

★ ★ ★

They think the Soviets are trying to make the world believe that progress toward a summit conference is being made.

Nikita Khrushchev is anxious to climb that summit with President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The Soviets in Geneva seem bound to keep smiling until their boss gets there, even if it sometimes looks as if they are being tickled constantly by an invisible ostrich feather.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko may have an idea that generating a pleasant atmosphere at Geneva will spur world public opinion to insist on the summit without substantial Soviet concessions.

The Western ministers contend there must be a measure of agreement on Berlin's future before their government heads will sit down with Khrushchev.

"Of course, there will be some progress here," say Soviet diplomats privately. Meanwhile they keep smiling.

Cops Nab 'Cowboy' – One of FBI Top Ten

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo. (AP)—A cowboy on an isolated cattle ranch, arrested Tuesday while he ate, has admitted his identity as one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men.

Richard Allen Hunt, 27, was sought on charges of kidnaping an Oregon policeman and wounding another last March.

"He seemed glad it was all over," Sheriff Eddie Todorovich said after he and Undersheriff David Schott surprised Hunt at a ranch 35 miles west of Thermopolis. "He said he'd be glad to get back to Oregon."

Hunt waived extradition and was jailed under $52,000 bond.

Todorovich said he and Schott were at the ranch and had recognized the fugitive from an FBI poster picture.

More than 45 million dollars worth of property and crops were destroyed in the Mississippi River flood of 1927.

City Lets Contract for '59 Blacktopping

City Commissioners last night authorized a contract with A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham to undertake the city's 1959 street blacktopping program.

Although the company submitted a bid of $105,882, the amount in the contract was only $87,032, since about a third of the city's recapping plans have been scuttled.

The firm agreed to pave the Pontiac General Hospital parking lot at the same unit price it is charging for other work—$1.35 a square yard.

Walton Owner Asks Decision

Wants Speedy Action on Bid to Rezone Two Lots to Commercial

A Walton boulevard property owner has asked for a showdown on his bid to rezone two residential lots to commercial.

The property owner, Orville Thompson, owns two of five lots at the northwest corner of Walton and University which the Planning Commission recommended for rezoning to commercial last fall.

City commissioners held up rezoning approval while the Engineering Department negotiated with property owners for purchase of frontage along Walton as right-of-way for future widening.

Thompson's attorney, Howard I Bond, said in a letter last night that negotiations have failed to reach an agreeable purchase price.

Bond asked the Commission to forget about purchasing right-of-way now and to proceed with the rezoning.

He hinted at court action if the Commission turns down the rezoning request. "I'm sure a court would grant rezoning without requiring the property owner to sell right-of-way first," Bond said.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A recluse who prowled alleys at night to pick up junk and waste paper left an estate valued at more than half a million dollars, the administrator of his estate reported Tuesday.

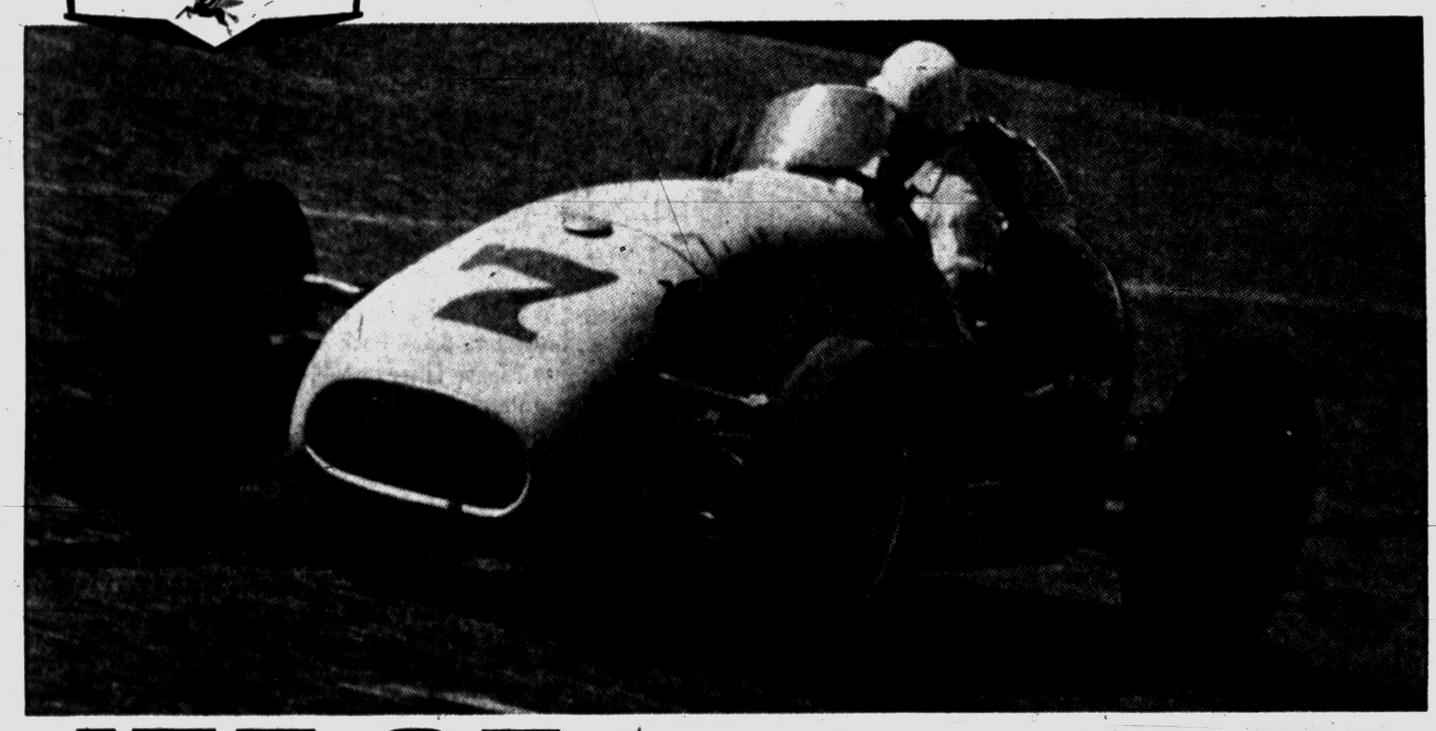

Gilbert A. Kneuppel, the administrator, said that the estate of Albert Friedrich, 86, may even reach $700,000. Nearly all of it was in blue chip stocks and bonds hidden in a garbage pail in his three-room hovel, Kneuppel said.

Acts on Wife's Petition

Judge Commits Gov. Long

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A judge committed ailing Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana to a hospital Tuesday "for his protection and that of others." He acted at the request of Mrs. Long.

Mrs. Long's petition said the governor "is exhausted, overworked and ill both mentally and physically" and requires observation and treatment in a mental hospital for 90 days.

Dr. Arthur Long of Baton Rouge, La., a cousin, also signed the petition filed with Probate Court Judge Hugh Gibson.

Dr. Titus Harris, chief psychiatrist at John Sealy Hospital, where Long, 65, has been a patient since Saturday, told the judge the governor is mentally ill and likely to cause injury to himself and others.

Physicians said he entered the hospital voluntarily but has refused to answer psychiatrists questions.

Judge Gibson's order will be in effect until a formal hearing to determine if Long is mentally ill and if he should be hospitalized. The hearing must be held within 14 days.

The law permits Long to attend the hearing with his own attorneys and ask for a jury trial.

Deputy Sheriff Garland Leslie, who served the custody papers, said Long mistook him for a Texas Ranger.

He quoted him: "Well, I'll be damned. Here is a Texas Ranger. At least I know the law is on my side. Sit down and let me talk to you, Ranger."

Leslie said Long did not seem surprised when he told him he had some papers for him. He asked if he would have a hearing and when it would be.

Leslie replied the hearing date had not been set.

★ ★ ★

"I'm glad to know you are helping me," Long said. "Now, son, sit down and read those papers you have for me."

Dr. John B. Truslow, executive director of the hospital, told Long the papers contained medical terms which needed explanation.

"Get Gov. (Price) Daniel (of Texas) on the telephone," Long said. "I want to talk to him right away."

A medical bulletin Tuesday night said Long "had a quiet day with continued slight improvement in his physical condition."

The governor's illness created political confusion in Louisiana. The Long administration faces many legislative problems as the legislative session nears an end after record spending.

Gov. Long had insisted he would seek renomination in the Democratic primary Dec. 5. His illness raised speculation U.S. Sen. Russell Long (D-La) will run for governor in an effort to maintain the Long machine. Acting Gov. Lether Frazer and others have been mentioned as candidates.

Frazer said "This is about the third day I have been acting governor and I know of no effort by anyone to build a political machine or of any need to hold any political machine in line.

"We're too busy at this time trying to find a few dollars to fit the financial needs of the state."

Want State Troops in 'Civil War Battle'

LANSING (UPI)—Bluecoated troops from Michigan will head for Virginia in 1961 to re-enact the Civil War battle of Bull Run "if at all possible," a state official said.

Dr. Lewis Beeson, executive secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission, said a meeting at Higgins Lake Friday will decide on recommendations to be sent to Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Williams will then reply to an invitation from Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to take part in the re-enactment.

"Michigan will participate if it is at all possible," Beeson said.

He said talks with the Civil War Centennial Commission indicated there is a good chance that troops will be sent, but problems as to what groups will go, how to line up support and what equipment is available need to be ironed out.

Panama Buyers Play Lottery on Installment Plan

You want to buy a $100 radio on time. You sign up to pay $10 a week for 18 weeks. That amounts to considerably more than the original $100 price. But the lottery gimmick brings in customers by the droves. Gambling is legal here.

★ ★ ★

Once you sign the contract, you may choose any number from 00 to 99. If your number comes up as the last two digits in the winning lottery number any week, you have won and your payments stop.

★ ★ ★

Some customers win in the first week or two. That puts them ahead of the game — and whets their appetite for a $1,000 dining room set.

Judging by their expressions, the guest speaker is already making a few interesting remarks. From left to right are Walter P. Reuther, Mrs. Harry Henderson, general chairman of the dinner; Owen W. Morgan, guest speaker; and Dr. Richard R. Galpin, president of the group. The picture was taken just before the annual dinner of the Michigan Children's Aid Society Oakland Branch got under way.

Three of the foster parents discuss children with Oriel Endelman, executive secretary of the Michigan Children's Aid Society. Tuesday evening's banquet was given by the society to honor the foster parents.

Tributes Paid to Benefactors

The Pontiac Press

Owen W. Morgan of the Merrill Palmer School was guest speaker at the annual family dinner of the Michigan Children's Aid Society. Given by board members and the staff. The banquet honoring foster parents and benefactors was held Tuesday evening at the Hotel Waldron. The society was founded in 1891 and the Oakland County branch was formed in 1921.

★ ★ ★

From a one-room office and a nucleus of eight to ten children in 1934, the organization has grown to a suite of offices and 150-175 children are cared for each year.

HONOR MISS ENDELMAN

After an invocation by the Rev. John J. Hoar, assistant pastor of St. Benedict Catholic Church, the master of ceremonies, W. E. C. Huthwaite introduced benefactors, including representatives of the Opti-Mrs. Club, and paid tribute to Oriel Endelman.

Miss Endelman has completed 25 years of service with the Oakland County Branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society, in the capacity of executive secretary.

Dr. Richard R. Galpin, president of the group, introduced the speaker whose topic was "What it Means to Be Human."

Mr. Morgan pointed out that survival these days depends on the breaking down of barriers between people. He gave examples of what he meant by being human, beginning with a quest for "meaningfulness."

★ ★ ★

He explained that the foster parents who were being honored could understand one principle that many natural parents forget, namely the importance of letting children grow up and move on to a more independent and mature relationship with their families.

'FAITH VITAL'

He cited the higher mental capacity of which a human being is capable, and stressed that a faith in mankind was vital, along with a capacity for growth and understanding.

Finally, Mr. Morgan pointed out that to be human is "not to be perfect" and advised parents not to be ashamed to be human.

Tribute was paid Annie King, who was the first foster mother in 1934 and to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gilmore, who became foster parents in 1938.

Miss Endelman was presented with two gifts, one from the Opti-Mrs., the other from the board, staff and the foster parents, in appreciation of her 25 years of devoted service in the society.

Mrs. Harry Henderson was chairman of the annual dinner, assisted by Mrs. William Kennedy, Mrs. Barney Habel and Mrs. Syver Thingstad, who is vice president of the group.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Trendle Jr. of Grosse Pointe who have contributed greatly to the Michigan Children's Aid Society, and Walter P. Reuther, whose wife is assistant secretary of the organization.

The invocation at the Michigan Children's Aid Society annual banquet was given by the Rev. John J. Hoar, assistant pastor of St. Benedict Catholic Church. Here he discusses the evening program with the master of ceremonies, W. E. C. Huthwaite, who is a past president of the club.

Celebrities, Mental Patients Sew Own Clothes at Westport Center

By MARY PRIME

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI)—Society matrons, celebrities and mental patients take to the needle at a unique sewing center here in Westport.

In the studio of the fashion fabric shop you may see Actress Eva le Gallienne and Mrs. Richard Rodgers, the composer's wife, sewing their own clothes or making hats.

The shop, which sells fabrics, holds classes in couturie, dressmaking and hat designing. Mary Johnson, author of "Sewing the Easy Way" (E. P. Dutton), teaches custom-house short cuts and methods. Millinery classes are taught by Rolan Mattson, who designs hats for Princess Grace of Monaco and Hedda Hopper.

"The women who make their own clothes are by no means ordinary suburban housewives," said Mrs. Belinda Meyers, shop owner. "The list of do-it-yourselfers reads like 'Who's Who'—wives of artists, authors, advertising executives, bank executives."

Psychiatrists send mentally disturbed and alcoholic patients to the center to gain a new interest in life.

MANY HELPED

"It helped so many people," Mrs. Meyers said.

Admission is $18 for a 10-week course of two-hour lessons. About 30 women are admitted to a class.

"These women rival Dior," said Mrs. Meyers. "They make everything and everything's fabulous—ball gowns, coats, suits, dresses, lounging attire. Some make bathing suits. We've had a rush on Bikinis lately."

That developed into the idea for a shop, which she established four years ago. Since then, more than 4,000 women from New York and Connecticut have taken the sewing course; the hat course, started this spring, has a waiting list. In summer, Mrs. Meyers adds a course for teenagers. Last summer, her daughter, Linda, 16, took the course and made her entire school wardrobe.

Mrs. Richard Hottelet, wife of a news commentator, is making a silk Italian brocade evening coat trimmed in mink. The coat will cost about $150 to make, but, Mrs. Meyers figured, if bought ready-made, it would cost at least $400.

Do any men sew?

"One, a prominent surgeon," Mrs. Meyers said. He brings his wife and whips up her clothes at evening lessons when women aren't around.

"He swore me to secrecy as far as his name goes," said Mrs. Meyers.

Chief Pontiac Junior Citizens Hold Meeting

★ ★ ★

Susan Ryan, 11 years old, was presented an award for composing the most outstanding essay entitled "What Freedom Means to Me." A contest for writing an essay on the subject of James Monroe was won by Constance Vanderlind.

★ ★ ★

The awards were given by Mrs. Lloyd Porter, regent of the General Richardson Chapter of DAR who also presented an outstanding citizens' pin to Boyd Cryer.

Drive Is Urged on Pornography

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs wants every federated clubwoman in the United States to join a campaign against indecent literature and pornography.

★ ★ ★

"Something must be done and now is the time," Miss Chloe Gifford, president of the federation, told the 68th annual convention of the group here Tuesday. "Teenagers and even gradeschool youngsters are becoming the target of these racketeers."

Dr. Mercer Weds

Dr. Frank Mercer of Ottawa drive and Mrs. John N. Fauver of Birmingham were married May 23 in Detroit. They will live in Birmingham when they return from a trip to Virginia.

Fashionette Club Gives Awards to 2 Members

Mrs. Virgil Lewis was awarded a trophy for losing the most weight during the week when the Fashionette Club of Pontiac met Tuesday at Adah Shelly Library. Mrs. Edward Cook was last week's winner.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Frederick Root received an award for losing the most weight during May.

★ ★ ★

The group is planning a June 23 picnic which will climax a six-month reducing contest. The member losing the most weight will be crowned queen and will be presented gifts from each member. Picnic committee chairmen are Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Bert Hillock, Mrs. William Woodruff, Mrs. James Newbigging and Mrs. John Neaves.

★ ★ ★

Members spent the evening bowling after their meeting Tuesday. High score was earned by Mrs. John Reichert.

A "Gym Night" program has been planned for next week. Members will exercise and play baseball.

Loyalty Goes as Far as Budget Does

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please help me out on the following matter: A member of my husband's family has a clothing store for children in our city. He has very lovely things but I feel they are beyond our means and for this reason buy there only occasionally.

"I have heard through others that he is hurt when I buy our children's clothing elsewhere. Am I obliged to trade there? How far does my obligation go in this matter?"

Answer: Tell him quite frankly that his lovely things are, except for an occasional Sunday best, beyond your budget, and that you regretfully have to buy most of your children's clothing in less luxurious stores.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper to invite relatives of the bride-to-be who live in a distant city to a shower for her? I say "no" as it places them in the position of having to send a present. My friend disagrees and says that they will feel slighted if not sent an invitation. What is your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with you. It does not seem very fair to ask them to send presents to a party they can not possibly come to.

Fireside to Gather

Work Out Long Term Deal . . . Abby

Undertaker Has 'Lay Away' Plan

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: While my husband and I usually agree, there is one point on which he is unreasonable. He insists that because he is a veteran, the government will bury him. I want to put him away in style, regardless of the cost. Please tell me how to win my point.

ABBY

LOVING WIFE

DEAR LOVING: Don't argue about it. Get together with your friendly neighborhood undertaker and find out if he has a convenient long-term "lay away" plan.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a hairdresser. She is terrific but she talks too much. The minute I get in her chair she talks about her husband, her dog, her trailer and the other women who come in. She even talks about the people who work in the shop. She drives me crazy. I can't even pick up a magazine and get through a story for all her interruptions. She is just starting out and I would like to send my friends to her but wonder if I should. I could use some advice.

STANDING APPOINTMENT

DEAR STANDING: (and you are standing for a lot): If you want to do your hairdresser a favor, tell her in a very diplomatic way that women come into a shop to have their beauty work done and to relax. Quiet is essential to relaxation. You won't have to draw her any pictures.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My married brother was operated on for appendicitis and he was given a big dose of ether. While he was coming out of the ether he kept calling for his mother. His wife was there and she was terribly put out because he called for his mother instead of for her. Now my brother says he can't remember calling for anybody. My sister-in-law is very mad at my brother of this. Please tell me if she can hold my brother responsible for what he said under ether?

IN BETWEEN

DEAR IN: Any doctor will tell you that it is only "natural" to call for "Mother" under these circumstances. The wife should not feel hurt or slighted. When she raises a son, she will realize that no matter how old a man grows, he is still his mother's "child."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a little four-year-old girl who is very naughty? When I put her to nap in the afternoon she says, "You aren't my Mommy and I don't have to mind you!" (I am her grandmother.) Then she gives me a lot of back-chat and makes a face at me. If I put her in bed she doesn't stay there. She tears up the room (it's my house) and all is bedlam. Spanking is useless as she is so defiant she will not cry. I can't refuse to keep her because if I did, her mother (my daughter-in-law) would not have one day out a week. Is there a solution?

NANNY

DEAR NANNY: Quit being the goat! A mother who wants an afternoon out should train her child to be obedient, respectful and pleasant. Perhaps if you make it plain to your daughter-in-law that you refuse to look after her ill-behaved child, she'll get busy and do something about it.

Throw Away Wornout Images of Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I'd had a bad bout of flu. I looked awful and felt worse. But as I stepped into our apartment house elevator, I managed a "good morning" to another occupant, a mild, sweet-faced old lady who lives on the top floor. She peered at me through her glasses, clucked sympathetically and said, "How tired and pale you look, dear."

Six weeks later I met her again. I'd just bought a new dress and had admired my own appearance of bounding health. Delighted with myself and the world, I gave my neighbor an enthusiastic "Hello." She peered at me through her glasses, clucked sympathetically and said, "How tired and pale you look, you poor dear."

It still goes on. Whenever I encounter this old lady, regardless of what glories in my soul may be reflected in my face, she peers at me sympathetically and clucks, "If you don't mind my saying so, dear, you are looking too tired and pale."

Is she nearsighted? No. The old lady created an image of me recovering from flu, and nothing this side of heaven is going to change it.

We, too can retain an image of a child as he was that bears no resemblance whatever to what he actually is.

Six months ago young Billy couldn't button his own coat. So, though he's long since developed the co-ordination that enables him to button it, we still button it for him.

A week ago Marilyn made a fuss about going to bed. So every night since we broach the subject of bedtime with the belligerence that expresses our conviction that she's going to make the same fuss again. Like the camera that can only photograph one moment in time, our mind's picture of Milly and Marilyn is unchangeable.

OUR RESENTMENT

To appreciate their resentment of it, we have first to feel our own resentment at the pictures other people hold of us. Our mother-in-law saw us as extravagant when as a bride we bought an expensive sofa. Today, despite the bargain we got on our new drapes, she shook her head and said suspiciously, "They look too expensive for my taste."

Like Billy and Marilyn, we want to yell, "This is today, not yesterday! For heaven's sake, use your eyes. Listen instead of dreaming."

McConnell Group Pays Honor to 2 Retiring Teachers

Thirty guests and staff members of McConnell School met recently at Devon Gables to honor Mrs. Arthur Pinkall and Mrs. Louise Martindale. Both are retiring at the end of the school year.

★ ★ ★

Guests of the evening were Mrs. Thomas Temple, Arthur Pinkall, Walter Bennett, Mark Newman, Fred Mayers and George Robins.

★ ★ ★

Eunice Liskum presented tributes and gifts to the honorees. Mrs. James Bayley, general chairman, served as toastmistress. She was assisted by Nina Sackett, Dorothy Hensel, Helen Voss and Mrs. Francis Schell.

Paint Around Glass

When painting wood windows, dampen strips of newspaper about two inches wide and as long as needed. Stick along the glass until you're through painting. Then peel off the paper and the glass will be free of paint.

Some 'Musts' Have Become Musty

Child's 'Classic' May Be Passe

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's no use trying to recapture your youth by giving your children the books you once read. These "great old stories" like "The Red Shoes" and "Pinnochio" may be just old.

So says Josette Frank, education associate and advisor to the Children's Book Committee of the Child Study Association of America. A grandmother of two (she never changed her maiden name), Miss Frank has been with the association 36 years and on the committee 31 years.

The committee is made up of 25 volunteers, all women with children. The members review 1,500 books a year, and select them for published book lists, exhibits and anthologies. The group will present 30 years' accumulation of books—42 cartons—to the Pratt Institute Library school in Brooklyn May 1.

SOME ARE DRAGGING

"We all want our children to read the classics and get the same excitement we got from them, but have you tried to read them lately? As a friend of mine says, some of the 'must' books have grown musty. They haven't kept up with the pace of children today."

"Treasure Island," "Black Beauty," and "Little Women" still are dogeared in libraries, Miss Frank said, but children haven't time to read books like "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," "Last of the Mohicans," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," or "Around the World in 80 Days."

"They can see 'Around the World' in the movies, where it's much more exciting and takes just two hours, or they can see westerns on TV," she said.

"We have made great strides in books dealing with minorities. Old books were full of stereotypes that we wouldn't recognize today—Cooper's 'Savages,' Negroes pictured in humble stations with dialects, and proud-but-poor children. Today we would resist some of Hans Christian Andersen ("The Red Shoes") and C. S. Lewis. Even 'Hansel and Gretel.' Stories like that can be traumatic if read too young." But books like Huckleberry Finn are okay because they are "realistic," she said.

Non-fiction rates higher today because "children like information and they don't need it sugar-coated." Instead of drab books about Bill and Jane visiting an automobile factory, there are beautifully illustrated books about everything from mathematics to space and old favorites like horses and dinosaurs, Miss Frank explained.

"We still argue about that. But mainly, a book should have integrity and content suitable for the age group for which it is intended. Children should reach for knowledge, but not so far they won't enjoy it. We all need relief once in a while," she said.

Do You Burn?

Is Your Place in the Sun?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

1. In the first place classify your complexion as to fair, medium or brunette. If you are a fair complexioned person, do not expect to stay in the sunlight as long as your brunette friend can without sad results. If you are medium you should take care, too. Even the brunette can of course get a painful or even dangerous sunburn, but she has a little more leeway than her blonder friends.

2. In judging the amount of burn you might get also take factors other than your own coloring into consideration. For instance, the time of day, the season of the year, the part of the country you live in, the amount of fog or dust in the air, the reflection form sand or water, will determine how long you might safely stay in the sun.

Remember that it is possible to get a severe sunburn on a cloudy day since the clouds do not screen all of the ultraviolet rays.

Remember that it is possible to get a severe sunburn on a cloudy day since the clouds do not screen all of the ultra violet rays. Many people are fooled by a cloudy day and stay out longer than they would had the sun been shining brightly.

3. Start in slowly. Ten minutes exposure on each side is enough for the first day. This is not only a good health rule but is also a rewarding beauty measure. If you do not build up gradually with your sunbathing, you are sure to peel and there is nothing more unattractive than this splotched appearance. Because of this many women look as though they have some terrible skin disease during the first part of the summer. Go slowly for a smooth, even tan.

There are products on the market which screen out some of the ultra violet rays and therefore minimize the chance of sunburn. Olive oil does this to a certain extent. However, just because you use one of these products do not go haywire.

4. If you have a fair or sensitive skin, enjoy your outdoor life in the early morning or late afternoon. Protect yourself with a screening product and with hats and jackets or shirts.

If you are subject to freckles and dislike them, preventative measures are much more effective than any cure. In other words there really isn't any product I know of which will completely fade the freckles next fall. They may dim them some but not a great deal. If you don't want freckles use the same protective measures I suggested for the woman with fair or sensitive skin.

Happy sunning!

Lemon Cheese Pie Must Be Chilled Overnight

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe is for a simplified Lemon Cheese Pie. In contrast to the cheese cake recipe of last week, it takes few ingredients and little time.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Michael Glisky is our cook. She is active in church work, helping often with parish dinners. She belongs to St. Theresa's Guild and the League of Catholic Women. Sewing and cooking are her hobbies.

LEMON CHEESE PIE
By Mrs. Michael Glisky

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ pound cream cheese
½ cup sugar
1 large can evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup drained crushed pineapple

Butter two 8-inch pie pans generously. Press ¼ cup graham cracker crumbs in each. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Cool and add lemon juice.

Cream the cream cheese with sugar. Add cooled gelatin. Whip milk stiff (chill milk, bowl and beaters) and add vanilla. Fold gelatin mixture and crushed pineapple into whipped milk.

Is House a Home or Success Symbol

By RUTH MILLETT

Vance Packard, who once wrote "The Hidden Persuaders," and then got busy checking up on the great American drive to keep up with the Joneses, says that the American home is becoming the nation's prime status symbol.

The sad thing is that a house bought as a status symbol hardly ever becomes a happy home.

To begin with, it probably costs more than the couple who are buying it can afford to pay.

Then it has to decorated in keeping with its outside promise and in a manner that is up to par for the neighborhood. That puts a further strain on the family budget.

In order to get full benefit out of their new status symbol, a couple has to do a lot of entertaining. That costs.

Their is the landscaping of the yard so that the house can hold up its head proudly among the other neatly manicured yards.

Meantime, what's happening to the family who bought into a neighborhood where they are having a financial struggle to keep up?

Pop is working and worrying and complaining about bills, bills, bills. Mom is running herself ragged to try to give the impression of carefree, easy living. But she's pinching pennies wherever the penny-pinching doesn't show and being extravagant where extravagance is impressive.

The children are probably envying kids who live in neighborhoods where backyards are used for tree houses, rabbit cages, and vegetable gardens instead of patios and terraces.

So what's the point of struggling for a home that's primarily a status symbol?

SPEAKING of BEAUTY

donnell says:

Professional curlers contribute much to your beauty salon wave, too! Yes, I know you can use vari-sized curlers at home—but how can you guess just how to place each curler in order to shape your hairstyle as your hair waves on the rods? When we wind your hair for a beauty salon permanent, the process is like that of an artist preparing his canvas for a beautiful portrait. We pick each sized curler for a purpose. This takes years of professional know-how!

• • •

IS the waving lotion really different at the beauty salon? Compare it this way: Is the bottled remedy you pick from a drugstore shelf as exactly right for your condition as the medical prescription your own doctor gives you? We analyze your hair's texture and health just as your doctor analyzes your physical symptoms before he prescribes for you. Then, from our many permanent waves, we pick the one exactly right for your hair's present condition.

I'm often asked if home permanents have hurt our business. Actually, I think they've helped us to grow! Only by experimenting with your own hair can you understand the full value of professional care. One disappointing home experiment will show you why we learn our craft so carefully — and why we constantly attend classes to improve our techniques. So, next time, come to us . . . for results you know you'll be proud of!

Congress Fears Bias Caused by Ex-Brass in Defense Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is growing concern in Congress over the number of senior military officers retiring to take high-paying jobs with defense contractors.

The question nagging the legislators is whether there is a danger of favoritism by high officers toward companies which hire their former colleagues.

They also are worried about the possibility an officer might be tempted to be too friendly toward a company which he hopes will offer him a plush job when he leaves service.

Concern has reached the point where key House members even considered writing into the $38,818,000,000 defense money bill a ban against the award of a military contract to any firm employing a retired officer holding the rank of colonel or higher.

This drastic step was debated behind closed doors early this month by the House defense appropriations subcommittee headed by Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex).

* * *

The subcommittee finally abandoned that approach in favor of an inquiry when it tackles the next military budget in January.

In preparation for that investigation, the subcommittee has asked Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy to furnish a list of all officers of the rank of colonel or above employed by firms holding defense contracts.

It also called on McElroy's office to be prepared to explain why there is "a lack of defense-wide policy in this matter."

The House armed services subcommittee of Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La), which is charged with overseeing military buying practices, will conduct public hearings on the same topic this summer.

Hebert's panel obtained evidence which touched on the problem when it conducted hearings three years ago on costs and profits of aircraft production.

"The presence of retired military personnel on payrolls, fresh from the 'opposite side of the desk,' creates a doubtful atmosphere," the subcommittee said in its report on those hearings.

. . . Companies whose business is so closely interwoven with the military establishment ought to lean over backwards so that no suggestion of favoritism, influence, or 'old school tie' could be read into their conduct."

Cheap Stereo Radios Can Be Moved About

NEW YORK (UPI) — Low-cost stereo radio sets that can be moved from one room to another are now available. They consist of a pair of small AM and FM receivers that provide music from any station broadcasting on both bands.

The manufacturer (Granco Products, Inc., Long Island City, N. Y.) says each set requires only one electric outlet and measures five inches high, nine and a half inches wide and four inches deep.

Sheriff Slain on Stairway

Father of 5, Killed in Investigation of Family Argument

TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — "The sheriff and I walked through the back door into the hall and started upstairs. A little more than halfway up I heard a shot.

"The sheriff turned and fell into me. The only thing he said, was, 'Oh Lord, I'm shot.'"

That was the way Deputy Sheriff Joe James described the slaying Tuesday of Sheriff Thomas E. Bebber, 53.

* * *

The officers had gone to the home of Jones Ellis to investigate a family argument.

They were starting upstairs to talk to Ellis' son, Willard, 38, when the sheriff was hit in the back by a .22 caliber bullet.

Jones Ellis had complained that his son was throwing rocks at the house, and had telephoned the sheriff's office for help.

* * *

Willard barricaded himself upstairs after the shooting. A neighbor, R. Z. Matheson, finally persuaded him to surrender.

Willard first was jailed here, but later was whisked to a Statesville jail when a crowd formed.

Coroner L. M. Warren, who will act as sheriff until county commissioners appoint a successor, said Willard was being held without charge. Bebber, who was starting his third four-year term as sheriff, is survived by his widow and five children.

When the city of Dallas, Tex., did flood control on the Trinity River in 1932, about 7,200 acres of previously invaluable land was freed for development.

Survivors Tell of Boat Tragedy

Coast Guard Hearing Probes Mishap; Official Exonerates Craft Owner

DETROIT (AP) — Three girls who survived a Lake St. Clair boating mishap in which five young persons drowned testified yesterday at a Coast Guard hearing into the tragedy.

Marilyn City, 17, Mary Lou Gonyea, 17, and Nancy Benedetti, 20, all of Detroit, told of going to Strawberry Island in the boat May 24 with the five victims.

They said that when the group started to return the boat swamped and Roger Hogan, 21, and Robert Benedetti, 22, of Harper Woods; Theron J. Brooks Jr., 21, of Ferndale, Elfrieda Schuler, 16, of Detroit, and Valerie Quinn, 16, of East Detroit, drowned.

After the hearing, Asst. U.S. Attorney John M. Chase said no criminal action was planned against the owner of the boat, Joseph J. Hogan, 25. Hogan's brother Roger was one of the victims.

Chase said there was no evidence Hogan was negligent.

Hogan told the hearing he had cautioned his brother not to overload the boat which would hold only four persons safely.

Trooper Transferred

EAST LANSING (AP) — State police announced trooper Orville W. Rouse has been promoted to detective and will be transferred from Bridgeport to the Fire Marshal Division in Detroit.

White Lake Parish Begins Church Drive

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A new church building fund campaign was started today in the St. Patrick Catholic Church Parish here.

The Rev. Lewis M. Ellis, pastor, announced that his parish will seek a permanent church seating 850 persons and estimated to cost $150,000.

Directing the drive is John V. McCarthy and Associates, Catholic financial consultants, of Detroit.

At the present time, the parish is using a church building moved from Detroit in 1949 and enlarged six years later. Father Ellis stated that besides being a temporary structure, the present church is becoming too small for the growing parish.

The original chapel at St. Patrick's is the oldest Catholic church building in the Lower Peninsula. It was constructed in 1840.

The campaign's goal is to raise as much as possible of the parish's total need of $218,000 to cover building costs plus an existing debt, explained Father Ellis.

Heading the drive as general chairman is Stanley Freville. Assisting him are Marshall Morse as associate, and C. W. Kelly, memorial gift chairman, with William Best and Godfrey Shafto on the committee.

Albert G. Small heads the team captains in the campaign's general phase which will begin June 22 and last until July 8. Assisting him will be Clifford Alderman, Gerald McDonnell and Lou Vincler.

ROMEO — Some 12 girls are expected to vie for the "Miss Romeo" title in the contest to take place at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center, Mrs. Omer Walters, contest chairman, announced today.

Other aspirants for the crown may still apply up until one-half hour before the contest starts, Mrs. Walters said. They may contact either her or her assistant, Mrs. George E. McKeough.

Three out-of-town judges will grade each girl on the basis of beauty, appearance, poise, personality, knowledge of Romeo and ability to speak before an audience.

Harry H. Magahay of Utica will act as master of ceremonies. He will interview each of the candidates individually and then announce the winner and her two maids of honor after the judges have made their decision.

The trio will ride on the Romeo Peach Festival publicity float in area parades this summer.

"Miss Romeo" also will represent the village in the Peach Queen contest early in August. She will be competing with title holders from 10 other nearby communities for the crown.

2 Are Charged in Abduction

Two 16-Year-Old Girls Accuse Trio of Forcing Them Into Car

Two of the three Oakland County men arrested in the abduction of two 16-year-old girls have been charged with criminal assault and taking indecent liberties with a minor.

The third man arrested, Russell L. Gagnon, 28, of 588 South Blvd., Avon Township, was held for further investigation.

The three are accused of forcing two Sterling Township girls into their car and taking them to a remote spot on 23-Mile road, where one of the girls said she was assaulted.

The other girl told Center Line State Police how she managed to escape and call her father from a nearby house. He pursued the youths and got their license number, which resulted in the arrests by State Police.

Justice Francis A. Castellucci set bond at $5,000 each for Franks and Fink. Unable to raise the money, they were remanded back to jail.

Oakland County School District 5 which includes parts of West Bloomfield Township, Keego Harbor and Sylvan Lake, $120,000; Lyon, Oakland, Washtenaw and Livingston counties schools, $65,000; Walled Lake School District, $300,000; and Armada School District in Macomb County, $45,600.

Rochester was given the go-ahead on municipal borrowings totaling $280,000 in revenue bonds for water and sewer system projects.

Race Track Verdict Heading for Appeal

Five township residents and the organization listed as the Shelby Homeowners Assn. initiated legal action in January seeking to block the construction and operation of a big-time automobile race track on the Curtiss-Wright Corp. property here.

The group charged that the township acted illegally in rezoning the Curtiss-Wright property to permit racing. They also contended that the proposed track would create a nuisance because of noise, crowds, traffic, litter dust and vibrations.

The opponents of the track have said in court that the proposed speedway would cause an increase in taxes and depreciate property values in the township.

The Shelby group's case was dismissed May 28 by Judge Howard R. Carroll in Macomb County Circuit Court. He refused to enjoin the township from issuing permits needed by Curtiss-Wright to proceed with its construction program.

Company officials have pointed out that the township's action in amending the ordinance to permit the track resulted from "careful planning and preparation."

The ordinance was okayed after an advisory vote last November favored the establishment of the track. The ordinance limits races to six a year and prohibits night midget races, company officials emphasized.

The 25 to 30 homeowners who met last night at the home of the George R. McAfees at 8125 Gerhardt Rd. decided to tell their attorney, Donald C. Schindler of Detroit, who also was present, to proceed with the appeal.

"We still don't think the track will do our community any good," Mrs. Earl J. Brown, of 49551 W. Valley Circle, one of the plaintiffs, said today.

She added that the people opposing the track are "fighting for our homes."

Southfield Gets Proposal

Added Sewer Tab Tabled

SOUTHFIELD—The question of whether residents living in the vicinity of the proposed Evergreen Interceptor Sewage Disposal System will have to pay an additional $2 per foot of frontage was tabled by the City Council at last night's meeting.

Harold K. Schone, acting director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, had informed the Council last fall that $200 per home from residents facing the interceptor would be sufficient to cover all costs, City Clerk Patrick Flannery said this morning.

Administrator Robert J. McNutt proposed at last night's meeting the additional $2 to cover cost of arms or laterals for the interceptor. Flannery said some of the councilmen thought the additional cost unnecessary.

Bonds in the amount of $4½ million for the building of the interceptor were put on sale May 26. Construction is to begin within two or three weeks, Flannery said.

Engagement Announced

DRYDEN—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Northrop Sr. of Attica announce the engagement of their daughter, Etta Mae, to Richard O'Henley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Henley, of 290 Casemer St., Lake Orion. No date has been set for the wedding.

African safaris are available this year which range in price from $1,996 to $2,989 for 23, 31 or 38 days.

Promote U.S. Way, Symington Urges

He urged the United States to abandon what he termed its policy of containment.

In a speech to Town Hall, a civic organization, Symington said Tuesday: "We have made a fool out of Karl Marx. During the last 25 years American capitalism has disproved and confounded the Marxist dogma that the owner inevitably grinds down the workers, that the rich get richer and the poor poorer until the masses, in revolt, throw off their chains and establish a dictatorship."

But, the Missourian noted, the Soviets and Chinese are determined to "bury the United States in a great world struggle for economic supremacy."

To offset this danger, Symington said America should put its "ideas, ideals and treasure" into an aggressive campaign to promote its way of life.

Used Horse Sense

CHICAGO (UPI) — Arthur J. Langosch, recently retired after 46 years as a letter carrier, said that the day he started to work, nobody told him where to find the mail boxes on his route. "Nobody had to," he said. "My horse knew exactly where to stop."

Convicts See Queen Stroll to Garden Party

With the nine killers—all serving life sentences—were 11 other prisoners in a working party from London's Wormwood Scrubs Jail.

The convicts and their guards saw the Queen when she attended a garden party commemorating the 200th anniversary of the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew.

The men leaned silently on their shovels as the monarch in gay summer attire passed within a few yards. Nobody disobeyed the guards' instructions not to try to speak to the Queen or wave to her.

Elizabeth had been asked if the convict laborers should be allowed to work as usual at Kew during her visit.

"Of course they can be there," she replied in effect. "Why not? They are all my subjects."

Dragnet Is Out for Zip

FORT LEE, N.J. (AP)—There's a police dragnet out for Zip, a 45-pound rhesus monkey who didn't think life in an amusement park was much fun. Zip, 6 years old, spied a door ajar and swung out to freedom. His owner said Zip could live off neighboring vegetable gardens for days.

7 Generations, 42 Boys, Prize Has No Takers

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Pitofsky family is doing all it can to change the statistics that show the nation has more women than men.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jerome Pitofsky gave birth to a boy, Kenneth Lee, Monday — the 47th boy born into the family in seven generations, according to grandfather Louis Pitofsky.

The only girls to join the Pitofskys during that period have entered the family through marriage.

Grandfather Pitofsky made a standing offer several years ago to his three sons—first to produce a baby girl collects $5,000.

So far, no takers.

"For all I know," Pitofsky said, "There may never have been a girl born in the family."

Cancer Fund Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cancer Fund is $18.94 richer because of the public's penchant for tossing coins into fountains. The Renault display at the recent International Automobile show included a lily pond, which although not intended as a wishing well, turned out to be just that. The money was donated to the Cancer Fund.

Glacier National Park was created by act of Congress in 1910. It has an area of about 300 square miles larger than all of Rhode Island.

It Would Not Matter as He'd Be Turned Down

State Still Hopes to Sell Ferry

Mackinac Straits Boat in Mothballs but Some Inquiries Made

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan still is looking for a buyer for the diesel-powered Vacationland, pride of the Mackinac Straits ferry fleet.

The vessel, now occupied only by one watchman and a few seagulls, has been docked at Mackinaw City since the fleet was put in mothballs when the Mackinac bridge opened in November of 1957.

"We've had a few inquiries but nothing definite," said Philip H. Anderson, deputy director of the purchasing division of the state administrative department.

Highway Department officials feared the Vacationland, which has an appraised value of three million dollars, would be sidelined for another summer.

But Anderson said he was hopeful there would be a sale before the summer season ends. The other four ferries have been sold.

A Cleveland broker looked at the Vacationland three weeks ago on behalf of West Coast shipping interests. Anderson declined to name the firm.

"Now that we have the St. Lawrence Seaway and can get her out of the Great Lakes basin we shouldn't have too much trouble selling her," Anderson said.

Truck Driver Posts Fair Warning Notice

"Avoid that rundown feeling. Pass left."

The carnation was selected as official flower for Mother's Day because it was the favorite of Anna Jarvis' mother, in whose honor the first Mother's Day celebration was held in 1907.

State Senate Will Get Consolidation Measure

LANSING (UPI)—The chairman of the Senate Education Committee said today committee hearings probably will start next week on a bill to speed consolidation of high school districts.

However, the bill had a full public hearing before it was passed in the House so probably there will not be a public hearing in the Senate, said Sen. Arthur H. Dehmel (R-Unionville).

Dehmel said he has letters from school officials in Saginaw and Lansing expressing "concern" about the measure.

The bill, passed on a 66-36 vote in the House May 26, would require districts not having high schools to acquire them within three years or consolidate with district which do.

U.S. Soon to Have 49 Million Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of school age children in the United States is expected to increase by more than five million during the next four years, to reach a total of nearly 49 million.

The Census Bureau, making public these estimates today, said the number of children between the ages of 5 and 17 is now 43,347,000 — the highest number on record.

It predicted the 1963 total will be 48,815,000.

New Foreign Chief Likely for Canada

Diefenbaker has been acting as foreign minister since the death of Sidney Smith on March 17.

There was speculation that Trade Minister Gordon Churchill would take the Works portfolio and Transport Minister George Hees would move to the Trade Ministry.

Green, a tall, angular grandfather, has been a Conservative member of the House of Commons since 1935 and is now the government leader there. He has acted as prime minister during Diefenbaker's absences from the country, describing himself on one such occasion as "an acting lance corporal without pay."

Hold Up Well for Age

WILSON, N. Y. (AP)—A 900-pound iron statue of a 19th Century fireman, and the man who was model for it, have weathered the years well.

The statue, which stands near the firehall, was cast in 1886 and has been on outdoor display ever since. The man who modeled for it, George Singer, continues to live in nearby Lockport and celebrated his 92nd birthday this year.

Machine Transcribes Book to Braille in 1 Hour

Cards from the computer actuate a machine which punches the familiar dots of the Braille code into metal plates. The plates emboss the raised dots on the book pages

The swift operation is a far cry from the Herculean labor required for the first translation of the Bible into Braille. One man worked from 1877 to 1890, hand-punching each dot into sheet metal.

Braille, introduced in 1829, was a refinement of earlier methods of reading by touch, the National Geographic Society says. The ancient Peruvians devised the quipu, a set of knotted strings that indicated simple words by varying knot sizes and intervals between them.

In the 17th Century, many techniques of outlining letters for the blind were tried: engraved letters on wood blocks, patterns of pinpricks; pins inserted into pads; wooden and cardboard cutouts; and cast-metal letters.

It was Francois Lesueur, a blind boy rescued from a life of street begging, who by chance laid the groundwork for Braille. Francois had been befriended by Valentin Hauy, a Parisian interested in training the sightless.

One day the boy was sorting papers on his master's desk when his fingers touched a card strongly indented by type. Francois showed Hauy that he could decipher several letters with his fingers. Hauy, with mounting excitement, traced some signs on paper. The boy read them, and printing in relief was born.

Soon after, in 1784, Hauy opened the Institution Nationale des Jeunes Aveugles to teach blind children. His system of embossed symbols resembling capitals could not be easily written by the blind, and it was difficult for many to read. But the Hauy principle was employed by another Frenchman, Charles Barbier, to devise a system using combinations of 12 raised dots to represent the letters of the alphabet.

Louis Braille, a blind teacher at Hauy's Institution, reduced the base of 12 dots to 6. They proved sufficient for the alphabet, punctuation, mathematics, and music. Presence or omission of the dots in different combinations stands for letters, syllables, and abbreviations.

Many modifications of Braille have been developed, but the tendency now is toward a universal code. In 1932, Great Britain and the United States agreed on a standard system for English.

In 1951, under the auspices of the United Nations, linguists formulated a standard Braille alphabet for the Middle East, Southeast Asia, and Africa. The alphabets of two major African tribal languages, Zulu and Xhosa, have been put into Braille.

The noted blind and deaf author Helen Keller, summed up Louis Braille's achievement when she wrote that he "built a large, firm stairway for millions of sense-crippled human being to climb from hopeless darkness to the Mind Eternal."

Cheeses Key to Many Good Italian Dishes

Italy has contributed much to our present day American menus. This country's homemakers, who have adopted many specialty dishes as their own, can also profit by some of the simple tricks of Italian cooking.

Italian cooks have long known the value of using cheese as a source of protein in their diet. And the wide variety of Italian cheeses is responsible for much of the fame of Italian cooking: soft cheeses are used in cooked dishes and for desserts, hard cheeses are grated over meat, vegetables and "pasta" or crumbled into salads. The inclusion of cheese carries with it many of the nutrients of milk.

Now many famous Italian type cheeses, produced by domestic manufacturers, are appearing in American markets. Sharp-flavored Parmesan or Romano, are among the favorites because of their adaptability in a wide variety of recipes. In the recipe below for Noodles Parmesan, cheese provides the distinctive flavoring.

A large serving with a generous amount of cheese makes a substantial meatless entree, requiring only a salad of tossed greens and crisp bread to complete the main course. A smaller serving of Noodles Parmesan may take the place of potatoes in a menue which includes a meat entree and green vegetable accompaniment.

She Doesn't Even Stay for All the Excitement

Someone in the building across the street saw the woman faint, picked up the phone and yelled for the operator to call the fire department.

Community Aids Good Neighbors During Trouble

PETOSKEY (UPI)—The auction of the Greenier saw mill in Harbor Springs scheduled for Tuesday has been postponed until Aug. 3 and may not be held.

The saw mill was to be auctioned off to meet debts that the owner Clarence Greenier owed the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Cyril J. Smith, area director for the MESC, said he has every reason to believe that Greenier, who is in the little Traverse Hospital here, will be able to pay the debt, reported at between $3,100 and $4,500, by then.

Meanwhile Emmet County friends and neighbors are raising money to aid Greenier by washing cars, holding dances, giving auctions and making donations.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenier were voted "Good Neighbors of the Year" in Emmet County two years ago for helping others.

Sailing of Destroyers Opens Operation Inland Seas by Naval Force

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Sixteen destroyers sailed from East Coast ports yesterday in the opening phase of Operation Inland Seas, which will include a cruise through the St. Lawrence Seaway and visits to 25 cities in the Great Lakes area.

The ships will proceed to Annapolis where they will embark 1,092 Naval Academy and Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps midshipmen. After two weeks of under way training the ships will join Task Force 47 under command of Rear Adm. E. B. Taylor, commander of the Atlantic Fleet Destroyer Force, and enter the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Task Force 47, a 28-ship group which will include also the heavy cruiser Macon, four submarines and seven amphibious ships, will arrive off Montreal June 24 and will be cruising or visiting the Great Lakes until July 26.

Thrice-Staggered Town Punches Back

DE SOTO, Mo. (AP) — This is story of a town that never gives up.

★ ★ ★

Three staggering blows hit De Soto in the past year. Two plants closed and a third laid off 600 of its 850 employes. About 1,000 persons were out of work.

★ ★ ★

De Soto's 5,500 citizens reacted quickly.

They raised $300,000 in five days and resurrected a shoe plant by furnishing operating capital to the Hamilton Shoe Co. of St. Louis.

They built a plant and talked a St. Louis metal fabricating firm into moving in. A company which had shut down donated its plant to the city and prospects are bright that another company will move in soon.

"It was the first time in my life I ever had trouble stopping a fund drive," said George D. Turner, 40-year-old cashier of the American Bank. "We had the money we needed in five days."

★ ★ ★

An open house celebrating the reopening of the shoe factory will be held today for 295 investors and their families.

★ ★ ★

When the outlook was darkest in January, voters approved by almost a 4-to-1 margin a $450,000 bond issue to build a junior high school.

The fund drive had a grass roots beginning.

About 20 men went to work for Hamilton in St. Louis, 40 miles north of De Soto, after International Shoe, which employed 300, closed the plant in April 1958. They heard rumors that Hamilton wanted to expand.

★ ★ ★

A committee of three — a labor union official and two Chamber of Commerce members — visited Hamilton officials and learned the company was interested.

Then Turner met with C. D. P. Hamilton III, company president.

"When Hamilton asked me if De Soto could raise $300,000, I said I was certain we could," Turner said. "You know, I hadn't even discussed it with anyone."

★ ★ ★

The De Soto Trading Corp. was organized by five business and professional men. The money was collected and loaned at 5 per cent interest to the De Soto Shoe Co., set up as a wholly owned subsidiary of Hamilton.

Horace Pullen, a former union secretary and now a plant foreman, said, "These people have a lot of guts. They think De Soto is a good place to live and they won't quit on it."

The Missouri Pacific Railroad, which laid off 600 at its freight car shops last year, announced plans to build 600 new cars this year and has started to recall employes.

Italy's Rails Restored but It Took 15 Years

ROME (UPI)—A recent government report showed that it took nearly 15 years to repair and restore the 7,669 miles of Italy's railroad tracks which were destroyed or damaged during World War II.

The report added that the restoration cost more than 200 billion lire, or 320 million dollars.

Recent nutrition research studies reveal that millions of Americans, regardless of income, are getting less than the minimum daily amount of calcium recommended by the National Research Council.

How calcium starvation affects you.

Lack of calcium in the diet has a slow degenerating affect which may remain hidden for years. It can result in: Premature wrinkles and "leathery" skin that add years to your appearance. Excessive irritability, tense frayed nerves. Shorter "prime of life" that reduces your span of active, vigorous years. Lack of calcium can also cause improper functioning of heart muscles. And when your diet does not supply sufficient calcium for daily needs, the body withdraws calcium from the bones for use in the blood and soft tissues. This causes bones to become brittle—easily broken—especially among older people.

How much calcium do you need?

National Research Council recommends 800 milligrams of calcium daily for adults, 1000 to 1400 milligrams of calcium daily for children, depending upon their age. This is the amount of calcium supplied by three to five glasses of milk.

In order to get the calcium provided by 1 quart of milk you would have to eat: 7½ lbs. of carrots, 39 eggs, 27 lbs. of potatoes, 28 oranges or 6¾ lbs. of cabbage. Milk is the only practical source of calcium.

Children (up to age 12)	3 glasses daily
Teen-agers (age 13 to 19)	4 glasses daily
Adults (age 20 and over)	3 glasses daily
Expectant mothers	4 glasses daily
Nursing mothers	6 glasses daily

Why milk is nature's most nearly perfect food.

In addition to calcium, milk contains more of the essential nutrients—including proteins, vitamins and minerals—than any other food. Far from being fattening, milk is recommended for reducing diets because it supplies more nourishment per calorie than other foods. Whole, fresh milk also supplies more nourishment per dollar than other foods. From the standpoint of nutritional value, nutritional balance and simple economy, milk is nature's most nearly perfect food.

Herter Decides on Geneva Stand

Reds Must Meet Terms on Berlin

GENEVA (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter plans to sit tight indefinitely until the Russians either guarantee Western rights in Berlin or break up the foreign ministers' conference, high U.S. officials said today.

The decision was reached in the face of a statement made in private Saturday by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that Western troops "sooner or later" must leave Berlin.

U.S. officials said Herter believed Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev still wants a summit conference and will order Gromyko to get down to business once he is convinced the solid Western front cannot be cracked.

Two sessions were scheduled today, a plenary session this afternoon asked for by Gromyko to let the East Germans talk again, and a private session restricted to the Big Four after dinner tonight.

The U.S. delegation toughened its attitude, both publicly and in private, as the foreign ministers conference ground deep into the fourth week with little accomplishment apparent.

'MUST WITHDRAW'

Diplomatic sources said Gromyko told the Allies in a private session Saturday they must withdraw their troops from Berlin eventually and agree to a symbolic unit of Communist troops in West Berlin until that time.

He said Western troops never would be permitted in East Berlin.

This amounted to a complete rejection of the Western proposal that all Berlin be treated as a single unit with one city administration supervised jointly by Russia, Britain, the United States and France.

Assistant Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding said a "very, very small amount of progress" had been made in secret talks on Berlin with Gromyko but that Herter had no intention of letting impatience pressure him into breaking off the talks at this point or making undue concessions to the Russians.

Berding said Herter will stay "as long as there is a reasonable chance" of making progress.

He said lack of progress so far did not mean it was time to write off the conference because the Soviets "traditionally have negotiated by holding back until the last moment any concessions."

REDS SEEM OPTIMISTIC

Unaccountably, the Russians seemed optimistic as a result of yesterday's session in which West and East traded complaints about propaganda activities in Berlin.

Soviet press officer Mikhail Kharalmov said the session was useful and then added mysteriously, "I think that in the next few days you will know why."

Western sources said they knew of no reason for his optimism.

Berding made it clear last night that the United States had no intention of giving in to a Soviet demand that the U.S. radio transmitter "Rias" in West Berlin be silenced.

The West has agreed to consider Gromyko's complaints about other alleged propaganda activities and subversive operations in West Berlin. But the United States in return is demanding an end to Communist subversion, vituperation and actual kidnapings engineered in East Berlin.

Officials said Gromyko still had given no hint, even in secret talks, as to whether the Russians were willing to make the one concession the West wants before agreeing to a summit meeting—a guarantee of Allied rights in West Berlin and withdrawal of the Soviet threat to turn East Berlin over to the German Communists.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd's position as a cold war bargainer appeared to have been restored by a personal message from Prime Minister Harold Macmillan last night assuring him there was no foundation to reports he might be relieved of his post soon.

The U.S. delegation will undergo a shift this week. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy will return to Washington for a missile report to Congress. U.S. Ambassador to Moscow Llewelyn Thompson, who has been serving as a delegation adviser, will move up into his place.

14 Old Schools Will Help to Pay for Big New One

SCOTTVILLE (UPI) — Fourteen one and two-room schoolhouses in central Mason County will be auctioned next Monday and proceeds from their sale will help finance the district's one million dollar consolidation program.

School officials said money realized from the sale of the "little red schoolhouses"—most of them were painted white—will be used to help pay for furnishings and equipment for the district's new high school which will be used starting next fall.

The present high school will be converted for use by the higher elementary grades and students who attended the one-room schools this year will have classes in consolidated schools next fall.

The 14 schools to be auctioned were owned by primary school districts that have annexed to Mason County Central District during the last four years.

Gov. Long's Stand-In Ailing as He Girds for Wild Battle

Frazar has coveted the governorship since running on Earl Long's ticket in 1956, and at one time was considered heir-apparent to the Long throne after Gov. Earl K. Long's current term ends in 1960.

But a few weeks before the current state Legislature convened, Frazar suffered what doctors called a "blacking out seizure," and was hospitalized for several weeks.

An extended leave of absence followed, and Frazar, until assuming the governor's duties this past weekend, had been trying to curtail his working schedule to safeguard his own health.

Frazar, a close friend and associate of Earl Long since the Louisiana scandals rocked the state in 1939, has been Long's right hand man throughout this term of office.

He first came on the state political scene in 1936 as a member of the House of Representatives. He was president of Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette, La., at the time.

Frazar was involved in the Louisiana scandals, and was eased out of political life in 1939.

As an administration leader and close friend he is expected to carry out as far as possible the ailing governor's wishes.

Pasteur Is Runner-Up

Newton Voted Greatest Scientist

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI) — Who was the world's greatest scientist?

Sir Isaac Newton, according to an international poll conducted by the University of Bridgeport.

The British mathematician, who formulated the laws of gravity and motion, emerged as the most popular choice in a poll of 1,116 scientists and educators in 45 foreign countries and the United States.

The university asked voters to select science immortals for representation on its "Science Hall of Honor." a $1,400,000 science center, scheduled to be completed next January, will bear the names of the winners inscribed in limestone blocks.

Albert Einstein, often called the greatest scientist of modern times, was ineligible for the poll. He died in 1955. The balloting was only for scientists who died at least 10 years ago.

French chemist Louis Pasteur, who developed the process known as pasteurization, was a close runnerup to Newton in popularity.

Marie Sklodowska Curie, who with her husband, Pierre, discovered radium, was the only woman on the list. Both were awarded the Nobel Prize in physics in 1903, but Curie lost out in the balloting.

The 25 giants in science were Hippocrates, Aristotle, Euclid, Archmiedes, Leonardo da Vinci, Nicolaus Copernicus, Galileo, Johannes Kepler, Sir William Harvey, Rene Descartes, Robert Boyle, Joseph Priestley, Antoine Laurent Lavoisier, Karl Friedrich Gauss, Michael Faraday, Charles Darwin, Gergor Mendel, James C. Maxwell, Robert Koch, Wilhelm Rontgen, Max Planck and Lord Ernest Rutherford.

Rutherford, who died in 1937, was the "baby" of the group. Hippocrates, who died in 357 B.C., was the oldest.

After the building is completed, one name will be added to the list of scientific greats each year for the next 25 years.

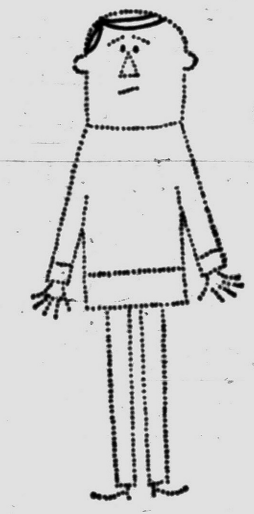

Red Cross Reports Finances Are Shaky

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)— The American Red Cross is in "touch and go" financial condition, the organization's national chairman said yesterday.

E. Roland Harriman said the Red Cross has been able to make ends meet only because of the "relative moderation of nature" over the past two years.

Harriman said one third of the nation's Red Cross chapters raise their funds through united community campaigns and that these chapters fell five million dollars short of the goal last year.

If We Take 3, That's 5, and 5, That Means 7

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Southern Methodist University Coliseum seats only 8,500, so Joe McElroy Jr. decided not to bring his whole family to graduation exercises Tuesday.

McElroy said the rest of the family was absent because:

"We couldn't take three of the kids without taking five, and if we had taken five, the other two would have wanted to come. And seven children are too many, even for the Coliseum."

Gliding Test of X15 Put Off Till Thursday

EDWARDS, Calif. (AP) — The gliding flight of the X15 experimental rocket plane, scheduled today, has been postponed until Thursday.

North American Aviation said the plane, with Pilot Scott Crossfield at the controls, will be dropped over Edwards Air Force Base from a B52 at 38,000 feet Thursday morning, if all equipment is functioning properly.

The X15, designed for altitudes of at least 100 miles and speeds to 4,000 miles an hour, has had four captive flights locked under the wing of a B52.

Bids to Be Received Thursday

MSUO Sewer Plan OK'd

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday gave the official green light to the Department of Public Works to build a sanitary sewer system for Michigan State University Oakland.

The department, which will receive bids Thursday on the sewers of the $560,000 system, hopes to have it completed when university classes open in September.

It will be constructed with no cost to the county, said Harold K. Schone, department director. Costs will be borne by the university and land developers in townships adjacent to the new school.

Residents of Pontiac and Avon townships stand to benefit also.

The system, which will be temporary in that it is hoped the university and nearby area someday will be served by a larger Clinton River sewage disposal system, will consist of an all-steel treatment plant and connecting trunk lines to buildings and homes in the areas to be served.

The plant itself is expected to cost $170,000, Schone said. It is slated to be built at Livernois and Avon roads.

Actually, all supervisors did yesterday was to allow Schone's department to proceed with the MSUO-and-area system, as necessary under the act which created the department.

The DPW moved ahead with the MSUO system realizing it will be several years before the larger project, to serve all of northeast Oakland County, can be constructed.

Drayton School Sets Kindergarten Tea

A "get-acquainted" tea has been scheduled for parents of next-year kindergarteners at the Drayton Plains school auditorium in Waterford Township all day Friday, according to principal Willis LaVire.

Children whose parents' last name begin with letters "A" through "M" have been invited to attend the tea from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Those whose names start with the letters "N" through "Z" will attend the afternoon program from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Parents have been asked to bring their child's birth certificate, and records should be completed and returned to kindergarten teacher Marilyn Wells, Friday.

★ ★ ★

School nurse Ayleen Wright and speech correctionist Kay Whelock will be present during the Friday session to talk with parents, LaVire said.

Waterford CD Police Course Begins Tonight

A new training course for Waterford Township Civil Defense Police will get under way at 7:30 tonight at the township hall, according to assistant director Lloyd Gidley.

Grief Enough, So Warble On, My Trainman

NEW YORK (AP)—Many years ago New Haven Railroad ticket collector Ed McCarthy learned to trill and warble like a bird.

He used to warble to wake sleeping commuters for their stops. He used to warble to still crying babies. Sometimes he used to warble for the sheer joy of warbling.

But when his accomplishment became the subject of a newspaper story, the railroad received several letters of complaint from passengers who indicated they had been suffering in silence.

So Ed was told, politely, to shut up.

"I think with all the grief there is in this life," said Alpert, "There should be room for a little playfulness like McCarthy's."

Land Sale to Community Bank Is Voted

The only other bid, submitted by P. F. Karner, 711 Menominee Rd., was for $12,500.

In other business commissioners began proceedings for sidewalk improvements this year and continued hearings on street improvements.

Twenty-four sidewalk improvements were declared public necessities, and hearings on intention to construct them this summer were scheduled for next Tuesday. Included are:

West side of Going street, Perry to Central; west side of Going street, Irwin to South boulevard, south side of Irwin avenue, Going to East boulevard, west side of south Sanford street, Irwin to Central.

West side of Drexel avenue, Paddock to South boulevard; north side of Auburn avenue, Eastway to East boulevard, both sides of California avenue, Howland to Franklin, both sides of Harvey avenue, South boulevard to Ditmar.

Both sides of Highland avenue, California to Ditmar, both sides of Luther street, Highland to Franklin, east side of Roselawn drive, Maines to Fiddis, both sides of Maines avenue, Roselawn to Tasmania, both sides of Tasmania avenue, Maines to Michigan.

West side of Tasmania avenue, Michigan to Lois, east side of Stirling avenue, Baltimore to Mt. Clemens, west side of Stirling avenue, Madison to Mt. Clemens, north side of Madison avenue, Perry to Arlene, west side of North Saginaw street, Rundell to Virginia.

South side of Rundell street, Saginaw to Hamilton; south side of Perry street, Joslyn road east, east side of Arlene avenue, Madison to Cornell, and east side of Stanley avenue, Kennett to Cornell.

City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn said these sidewalks, plus others approved last year, would constitute this year's sidewalk improvement program.

Declared a public necessity last night to serve the Pontiac Northern High School area, the proposed grading and graveling of Arlene street, Perry to Madison, is scheduled for a hearing next Tuesday.

The cost is broken down into $1,317 in special assessments and $327 in city funds, with the assessed cost for a 298-foot side lot placed at $357.

Also scheduled for hearings next Tuesday are intention to add curbs and gutters to Howard street, Johnson to Adelaide, and replace the sidewalk in front of 5½ lots on Bartlett street.

The Howard street cost was broken down into $6,601 in special assessments, $360 in assessments for sewer stubs and $1,398 in city funds, with the assessment for a 45-foot lot set at $225.

Also scheduled for public airing Tuesday is the assessment roll covering the proposed widening of Cass avenue, Oakland to Wisner Stadium.

Killed because 59 per cent of the affected property owners opposed it was a proposal to grade and gravel Manhattan avenue, Emerson to Parkwood.

No objections were raised at hearings on intention to proceed with seven other projects this summer.

They include: curbs and gutters on Harriett street, Adelaide to Baldwin, and Arlene street, Madison to Second; grading and graveling of Kettering street, between Madison and Baltimore; East Huron street, from Douglas through Richardson Park to Paddock; the alley north of Auburn avenue, Sanford to Ardmore; sanitary sewer on Brooklyn avenue, Stanley to Richmond; and a sidewalk on the north side of Columbia avenue, Carlisle to Walton Boulevard Park subdivision.

Bids will be sought June 23 for insurance covering city cars and sanitation workers workmen's compensation.

Taken under consideration was a request for rezoning of the block bounded by Fuller, Arlene, Clara and Peacock from manufacturing to residential to allow the development of new homes in that area.

Remains Oxford Requirement

Snatch Latin From Grave

OXFORD, England (AP)—The dons of Oxford University changed their minds Tuesday night about burying Latin as a dead language.

By 301 votes to 282 they decided students must have a basic knowledge of Latin to enroll at the university.

The senior members of the teaching faculty reversed their decision a month ago to make knowledge of Caesar's language an optional entrance requirement, as Greek, German and Russian are.

The dons—senior members of the teaching faculty—packed into Oxford's 17th century Sheldonian Theater for the debate. A woman fellow of St. Hilda's College, Helen Gardner, probably won the day for Latin.

"The decline of Latin schools here, and its virtual disappearance in America, is one cause of a growing incompetence in the writing of our English," she said.

She urged that Oxford wait and see what happens at Cambridge, which voted out Latin two weeks ago.

Latin will continue to be compulsory, at least until a committee considering the whole matter of entrance requirements reports. That probably will not be until next year.

Die of China Dysentery

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin's Berliner Zeitung said today 100 East Germans have died recently from dysentery caused by food imported from Red China. East Germany's Communist press has made no mention of the epidemic.

Detroit Workers Pick City Teamsters

Employes of a Detroit seat cushion company have voted for Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 to act as their bargaining agent.

Employes of the Motor City Spring Co. chose to be represented by the Teamsters instead of the Upholsterers Union of the AFL-CIO, according to Leaun Harrelson, president of Local 614.

Sixty-two employes voted for the Teamsters, four for the AFL-CIO union and 25 were opposed to organization by any union, Harrelson said.

The election was conducted by the Detroit branch of the National Labor Relations Board. Harrelson said contract negotiations are under way with the company.

Ann Blyth to Address Graduates, Get Degree

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — Actress Ann Blyth will be awarded an honorary doctor of humane letters degree at St. Joseph College today.

★ ★ ★

She also will deliver the commencement address at the Catholic women's college.

★ ★ ★

Teamsters Like Everyone Else

So Hoffa Maintains in Reply to Charges of Corruption

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa says the more than 1½ million members of his Teamsters Union are no better or worse than any other large section of the American population.

Denying that the union is corrupt, Hoffa told a news conference Tuesday that, as far as he was concerned, his past testimony had answered all corruption charges made in hearings of the special Senate committee investigating labor-management relations.

Hoffa, president of the union, also said he planned to take no action against Vice President John O'Rourke, indicted in New York in connection with jukebox rackets.

Hoffa repeated a claim that the Teamsters Union has grown under his leadership. This was disputed by Sen. McClellan Saturday.

In a statement replying to McClellan, Hoffa insisted yesterday that the end of May the teamsters had 1,632,000 members, a gain of 131,589 over a year earlier.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa said a drive for more members would be stepped up. Independent oil worker unions in Baton Rouge, La., may not accept invitations to join the Teamsters, Hoffa said, but predicted that they eventually would.

'Uncle Earl' Liked to Call Himself 'Last of Political Redhot Mamas'

By JOHN G. WARNER
United Press International

Earl Kemp Long, who rose from peddling pots in the Louisiana Bayou country to the head of the political dynasty carved by his late brother Huey, is gone from the governor's mansion and no one expects him back.

The gravel-throated political brawler was getting ready to run for his fourth term as governor —which he would no doubt have won—when he collapsed. Now politicians and political observers alike doubt that Long will again be able to run. And if he does, they say he won't win.

This year, Long would have resigned from the governorship to comply with state law so he could run for the fourth term.

Long has lost races before, but he always won them on the second try. Health has been a factor before—he suffered a heart attack in 1950 while chasing a hog—but never as big a factor as it would be now.

The snowy-haired, 63-year-old governor was born Aug. 26, 1895, in Winnfield, La. He followed his brother Huey's footsteps and spent 10 years traveling through the backwoods, peddling pots, pans, and shoe polish while stumping for Huey.

He worked for Huey in the latter's unsuccessful campaign for governor in 1924. He campaigned for Huey again in 1928 and Huey won, taking over the statehouse and becoming the "Kingfish" of Louisiana politics.

In 1932 the brothers had a falling out, but old-timers say Earl may have saved Huey's career. They said he worked untiringly to block the Kingfish's impeachment and formed the "Roundrobin" group of state legislators who vowed never to vote to impeach Huey, despite the evidence against him.

Earl, some say, always resented being compared with his big brother, but lately many parallels could be found. Earl, however, said there was a big difference.

"I'm more patient than Huey was," he said one day while calling his bodyguards off a lawmaker who had called him a liar.

★ ★ ★

"Huey could think three times as fast as me, but I've got my feet more firmly on the ground."

★ ★ ★

"Ole Earl" was one of his favorite self-references. So was "Uncle Earl," and he liked to call himself the "last of the political red-hot mamas."

Much of Long's political magic may have been his speaking and in his speech. His language was crude and ungrammatical and often interspersed with milder curses. It went over big on backwoods stumps, where he won his elections.

He would pluck his suspenders and rip into an opponent without pulling punches.

Long's political philosophy may have been mirrored in a remark he made during his last wild appearance before the Legislature.

When an aide tugged at his sleeve and pleaded with the exhausted governor to sit down, Long said:

"Yes . . . I've talked long enough, God bless you. But the only way Ole Earl can get people on his side is by talkin' . . . If anything happens to close this big mouth, God help Ole Earl Long."

Long stood firmly opposed to integration, but made it clear to his Negro backers that they would get a fair break.

Segregation may have been a leading factor in his downfall. His collapse came after a bitter, but unavailing fight to ram two amendments through the Legislature that would have relaxed the state's voter registration laws. Long insisted they had nothing to do with Negroes, but segregationists fought them down.

It was then, with his closest followers falling away and his grip of steel on the Legislature crumbling, that he battled wildly to regain control, only to apparently fall victim to his exertions.

Small Brewery Is Run by Research Scientist

NEW YORK (UPI)—What is probably the smallest brewery in the world is run by a scientist.

His name is Irwin Stone and he is "brewmaster" of a research laboratory that turns out about 1,000 gallons of beer a year — compared with the 30 million gallons of a regular brewery.

Stone works for the Wallerstein Co. of Staten Island, N.Y., which produces the beer for the express purpose of testing it for such qualities as chillproofing, stability, taste, shelf life, and so on.

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Ed Creagh, Writing for Hal Boyle, Asks:

Why Are People Beating Up on Beatniks?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Why do people keep beating up on beatniks?

They write, paint, publish, talk and don't care whether anybody looks or listens. Or if they do they won't admit it.

Male beatniks may wear beards. So did George Bernard Shaw, and so does Santa Claus.

Beachicks—the female of the species—may go in for sweat shirts and pedal pushers. Whose teenage daughter doesn't?

Beatniks of all sexes may throw wild parties if by chance they can afford it. So? You should have seen the last "square" (beatnik term for nonbeat) party I attended in a supposedly sedate suburb. I doubt if the host has found his way out of the shrubbery yet.

All this comes to mind because of two recent events:

A bearded young man named Bill Walker has run into all manner of difficulty here because he wanted to open a coffee shop. That's right: Coffee. No booze. No marijuana. Just coffee, conversation and poetry if anybody felt like exhaling some—beatniks often do.

First the zoning authorities and then the police declared war on him. A neighbor actually fired four shots at him and his wife. He has every intention of opening his coffee house anyway. The squares can come or stay away, as they choose.

Then there is the case of a Chicago magazine. The Post Office Department is holding hearings to decide whether it can be sent through the mails.

The editors have been called beatniks by some of their critics. They don't seem to care much what anybody calls them. They wanted to put out the magazine, so they raised the money and did.

"Yes, there are four - letter words in it," says one of the editors, a suave young woman who looks as though she never heard about the birds and the bees. "I suppose that's what bugs (beat term for disturbs) the post office, poor little boys.

"But if those words aren't fit to print, what are they doing in the English language? and since they are in the language, why not use them if they say what you mean? I doubt if any child's mind is going to be warped. Children wouldn't read it in the first place"

What are these beatniks anyway?

Let the beatchick answer:

"They know about, and want more of, love, poetry and language.

"So they try to restore song, laughter and dancing in the streets. They dig (beat term meaning understand or appreciate or enjoy) the pulse of humanity, when they can find it. And they want things to be open—especially your and their sense of joy.

"Like unbutton your collar, rube, and dig this jazz. Maybe we'll have a poetry reading."

It's a mistake to tie today's beatniks to the vandals who have torn up towns in vengeful raids from their motorcycles.

Maybe they were part of the beat generation. Fellow-travelers, so to speak, looking for a similar release, but tearing down while the real beatniks were building their sometimes murky castles in the air.

Yes, the real beatniks talk a lot and experiment a lot—sometimes at the risk of their health and sanity. They tend to scorn steady jobs and square people.

But they are creating prose and poetry as Chaucer and Dante did in their day—enriching or defiling the language, depending on your point of view.

And minding their own business. Just asking to be left alone

The Suwannee River ("Way Down Upon the Swanee River") runs across north Florida into southern Georgia.

Bob Considine Says:

Not One School Integrated in Deep South

NEW YORK—What's the score on integration in schools, now that just five years have passed since the Supreme Court outlawed racial segregation and four years have gone since it directed desegregation must proceed "with all deliberate speed"?

Well, 802 of the 2,909 biracial school districts in the South and border states have integrated. Twenty-two of them were added last year. The Southern School News, a factual and objective report published in Nashville, breaks these figures down thusly:

"Of the 803 desegregated districts, 783 are in the border states: Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, Oklahoma, Texas and West Virginia. No public schools have desegregated in the Deep South states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. Florida and Louisiana do have some mixing at the college level.

"There are about 439,000 Negro public school pupils in what are referred to as 'integrated situations.' — Actually, the number attending schools with white children is about 140,000. The reason for this is that there has been no great rush to enroll in formerly all-white schools.

★ ★ ★

For instance, Lexington, Ky., schools desegregated at all grade levels in 1955 making 2,750 Negro children eligible to attend formerly all-white schools. At the end of last year only 68 had elected to do so.

". . . While the Supreme Court outlawed compulsory segregation, it did not order compulsory integration."

ANSWER ON TITO

People, largely indignant, who write to the State Department and ask why we continue to help Tito receive in response a pale purple ink form reply about as appetizing as the menu of a dismal restaurant. Excerpts:

"United States assistance programs in Yugoslavia have constituted an integral part of our general policy toward eastern Europe which seeks to encourage the peaceful evolution of countries in that area toward independence of Soviet domination.

"In extending this aid our government has made it clear that its actions do not signify approval of the internal policies of the Yugoslav regime . . . our policies toward Yugoslavia are, of course, kept under constant review.

"It may be noted that since 1948 relations between the United States and Yugoslavia have been maintained on a friendly basis and that some of the harsher aspects of internal Communist rule in Yugoslavia appear to have been ameliorated.

★ ★ ★

"In these circumstances it is believed that our policies toward Yugoslavia continue to serve the interests of the United States."

GABLES GAMBOL

Louella Parsons recently commented indirectly on the state of modern transportation. In an item about Mr. and Mrs. Clark Gable's impending trip abroad with Mrs. Gable's son and daughter in tow, Louella wrote:

"Since the children have never been on a train, Clark has promised them a ride across Europe on a railway . . ."

Good luck, kids. It will be the greatest thrill of your lives, after all those dull 600 mile-an-hour jets. Really.

Robert Allen, one of the major sucesses of Tin Pan Alley, started his career with 10 straight flops, including one called "Sweetenin' Stuff." It made him 73 cents. In subsequent years he has written six numbers which have sold better than 1,000,000 records.

He reveals that the songwriter shares so feebly in such sales that the composer of a record that sells a million copies earns hardly $5,000. But he's not going back to driving a cab.

"The real thrill," he says, "is to walk down the street and hear someone humming your song. Though you don't know him, you're not total strangers. He knows at least part of you."

Good idea: The Senate bill which would authorize the postmaster general to issue a National Health Research stamp in the four-cent denomination but which will cost the buyer six cents. The two cent difference on each stamp sold would be turned over to National Health Research.

The nation needs such funds so horribly.

Hollywood Headlines

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—It took "Let No Man Write My Epitaph" to get Shelley Winters away from "A Piece of Blue Sky," the stage play she's been trying out in the East for several months. Sam Briskin, head of Columbia, gave her a contract for Willard Motley's dramatic novel about Chicago, and Shelley will play a young skid-row mother.

Previously she had been mentioned for "Jovanka," and since her movie "Diary of Anne Frank," she's had many movie offers but she's preferred working like a trouper with the play which she still hopes will open on Broadway.

The script of "Epitaph" has been written by Robert Presnell Jr., and Boris D. Kaplan is slated as the producer.

With a complete disregard for the cost of a long distance call from Australia, Sal Mineo talked to me for fully 30 minutes. He said that he gets his way and will play Gene Krupa as a married man.

"If they made Krupa an unmarried man, I wouldn't have reported for work but would have gone on to Tokyo," said Sal—but with a laugh. I don't really think he would give up this part, he wants to do it so much.

Sal went on to tell me to tell his Hollywood tailor that he owes him three new tuxedos. He said the tailor had said the coats would stand wear and tear, but all three of them were torn off his back by the eager Australian fans. He said that Down Under they love American movie stars and went all out to prove it.

Right from the set of "Suddenly Last Summer" I hear that Monty Clifty is fighting Joe Mankiewicz on every scene. He's being very temperamental. They're all hoping—Joe, Sam Spiegel and the rest—that when his pal, Elizabeth Taylor, turns up for work she'll be able to keep him in line. I hear that Liz won't work though for two weeks because she's been put on a strict diet—she still has some weight to lose.

Spiegel, by the way, will do "The Story of Gandhi" next year in India. He has signed Alec Guinness to star and David Lean to direct.

In London, Cary Grant, Dan Dailey, Laurence Harvey and his wife, Margaret Leighton, Jack Lemmon, Camille Williams, who is Dan Dailey's dancing partner and one of Debbie Reynolds' closest friends, and Johnny Meyer were all at a dinner given for them at Les Ambassadeurs.

She said that Johnny Meyer said he still loves his wife Diane and their baby, and he would do anything to keep their marriage together. Lisa said that all during the seven days they saw him in London they never saw him with a date. He was always alone and always unhappy. She said Dan Dailey has just finished the "Four Just Men" TV series and is talking about doing another one.

Hope to Recover Space Rockets

4-Part Plan Devised That Would Cost Only Trifle of Savings

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Plans for recovery of the million-dollar booster rockets to be used in the Project Mercury attempt to put man in orbit were disclosed today by Space Recovery Systems Inc.

Dr. Peter C. Goldmark, board chairman, said the recovery system would be used to save rocket shells in other space probes. These shells now fall back into the atmosphere and are destroyed by the heat of re-entry.

He estimated the cost of recovery at about 1 per cent of the value of the rocket. In the case of the million-dollar Jupiter C, one of the boosters to be used in the Mercury series, this would be about $10,000.

First, a large balloon will be inflated when the expended rocket falls back into the first thin layers of atmosphere. This will start slowing it down.

As the rocket shell continues its plunge to earth, air brakes such as those used to slow fast-landing planes will pop out. Parachutes will lower the shell with all its expensive instrumentation gently to earth.

As an added safety precaution, bags of crushable materials will cushion the final impact.

Knacke said the firm, a combined operation of Columbia Broadcasting System's electronic laboratories and the parachute-making firm of M. Steinthal & Co. of New York, also is working on methods of recovering pilot capsules ejected from high speed fighters and bombers.

No Shots for Mine, I'll Take Jail First

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A father was indicted Tuesday for refusing to permit his two children to receive the Salk polio vaccine.

The charges against Ben Gamble were brought by the county health department under a 1909 act making it a misdemeanor not to have children in school immunized.

Gamble's two children, Arthur Ray, 14, and Elizabeth, 9, have received other required immunization shots.

Gamble, a laborer, said he would fight the indictment.

"I'm tired of being pushed around and being told what to do," he said. "If it means going to jail, they can get the cell ready."

Skin Divers Are Ruled Menace to Navigation

AVON, N.J. (AP)—The city has beached skin divers in the Shark River inlet.

Commissioner Henry Brewster says from now on skin divers will have to stay upstream. They are a menace to navigation in the inlet, he said.

Journey To Love

By Virginia Nielsen

© 1959 by Virginia Nielsen. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Someone has searched Kathie's strong box in which she has a steamship ticket to Hawaii, and a yellowed deed.

CHAPTER VI

It seemed incredible that someone else could have used the key without her knowledge. Mrs. Jensen was the only person who had access to her room, the only one who had seen her put the key away.

The older woman had been in her bedroom, where she had come to see Kathie's new clothes, when Kathie put her travelers' checks in the box.

Kathie went quickly in search of Mrs. Jensen. She found her down in the yard, and, surprisingly, Buck was with her.

Kathie was too angry to be polite. "Mrs. Jensen, what did you want from my strongbox?"

The older woman colored and glanced at Buck. That look gave Kathie Ebberts a hint of the truth and she was not surprised when Buck spoke.

★ ★ ★

Buck answered for Mrs. Jensen.

"It wasn't her, Kathie. She did it for me. I wanted another look at your Uncle Job's deed."

Kathie faced him, her eyes blazing. "And couldn't you have asked me?"

'COULD HAVE'

"I could have," Buck said unsmilingly. "But I didn't think you'd like what I intended to do. I wired the surveyor's description to Honolulu to find out if your deed's recorded."

"Oh, you did!" Kathie said scathingly. "And what did you find out, Mr. Fix-it?"

"Nothing yet," Buck said stolidly. "There hasn't been time."

"You might have saved your money," she said furiously, "because I'm going anyway."

He looked at her. "You mean that the trip means more to you than our marriage does, Kathie."

"Or that the money means more to you than anything else does!" Kathie retorted sharply. "You can't bear to see me spend it, can you?"

The deep, dark color came creeping up from his blue collar. "We may as well call things off, Kathie. I guess your ideas are too big for a farmer's wife."

Kathie tossed her head and turned swiftly away from him — swiftly enough so that he could not see the tears starting to her eyes.

For she knew now that there was no patching up the quarrel that had been growing between them ever since her uncle's death. She had taken a step that would change her whole life.

Mrs. Jensen followed her to her room. "I'm just as sorry as I can be, dear," she said unhappily. "I never would have done it if I'd known it would cause trouble between you and Buck."

"Why can't you forget that old deed, dear, and settle down here with Buck? Fifteen hundred dollars looks big to you, Kathie, but believe me, it isn't much money."

"Mrs. Jensen," Kathie asked, looking past her out of the window, "do you think your husband would help me arrange an auction? I want to sell everything of Uncle Job's — everything the bank isn't taking."

The older woman pressed her lips tightly together, realizing that her advice was not wanted. "Why, yes," she answered stiffly. "I'm sure he will help you."

Buck took the auction as a personal affront; Kathie knew, sick at heart, that he had been counting on Uncle Job's things as his own. He continued to help with the chores, for the bank had not yet taken the livestock away, but he stalked about the farm looking like a thundercloud.

★ ★ ★

The farmhouse and the barnyard were cleared by the auction. And Kathie added a few travelers' checks to her little packet, and some handsome pieces of luggage to her purchases.

ESTRANGED

On the day she was to set sail, the Jensens drove her to San Francisco to board the Lurline. Buck did not offer to see her off, and Kathie did not invite him. The estrangement was complete.

The Jensens boarded the ship with her somewhat hesitantly, after being assured by a ship's officer that they were allowed to do so. But they were ill at ease among the smartly dressed people who thronged the foyer, talking so confidently in gay, strident voices.

But nothing dampened Kathie's spirit. After the quiet, somber days at the farm, the excited chatter and laughter, the novelty of her surroundings, the pervasive scents of flowers and perfumes mingled with tobacco smoke, were as stimulating as strong drink.

They helped her check her luggage, then sat stiffly on the edges of the modern chairs, trying not to show their disapproval of this waste of her money, wanting badly to get away.

Kathie was fully aware of their discomfort, but at this last moment she wanted to cling to them as the last familiar things in a world more strange than she had anticipated.

Cocktail parties were in progress in almost every stateroom, and the noise and fervor spilled over into Kathie's room.

Mossi Becoming Newest Yankee-Killer

Tiger Southpaw Blanks Bombers on Four-Hitter

2-0 Triumph His 5th Straight Against N.Y.; Bengals Near .500

DETROIT (AP) — Don Mossi, quickly establishing himself as a blue-chip starter after long years in the bullpen, is the Detroit Tigers' newest Yankee-killer.

The veteran southpaw subdued New York's streaking Yankees last night 2-0 with a flashy four-hitter. It was his fifth straight triumph over them, including a pair at the end of last season.

The Tigers have won eight of their last nine games and 20 of 28 under manager Jimmie Dykes. Since Dykes took over after Bill Norman was fired a month ago, the club has risen from last place and a 2-15 record to within three and one-half games of the league-leading Cleveland Indians.

Mossi has posted four victories in that surge, against only one loss. The defeat came on a ninth-inning home run by Baltimore's Bob Nieman after the former Cleveland relief ace had hurled a shutout ball for eight innings.

He struck out five batters and did not issue a walk last night in going the route for the fifth time in seven starts. There were 42,268 spectators in Briggs Stadium to watch the local favorites take on the Yankees, who had won four in a row, and they cheered almost every pitch.

Mossi had a 2-6 lifetime mark against New York before he turned the tables with five straight successes.

Tonight, the defending world champions must face righthander Frank Lary, who holds an 18-5 lifetime mark against them. The Tigers have whipped the Yankees in all five meetings this year, Mossi getting three of the victories and Lary the other two.

"I've really changed things around since I became a starter," said Mossi. "I'm not throwing the fast ball as much. I've picked up a slider over the last two or three seasons and I'm using a little screwball as my change-up. I guess it keeps the batters off balance sometimes."

Maas, in trouble in three of those innings because of his own wildness and some shaky support in the field, yielded single runs in the second and third innings. A walk, single and Mossi's sacrifice fly produced a run in the second.

An error by first baseman Bill Skowron opened the third inning. A walk, an outfield fly and Gail Harris' deep fly to Mickey Mantle in center brought home the other in the fourth.

Maas went out for a pinch hitter after he struck out the side in the fourth inning but Enos Slaughter, sent up to hit, didn't get all his swings. Before he completed his turn at bat, Hector Lopez was picked off second base by Tiger catcher Lou Berberet.

It has been a long climb, but the Tigers finally are closing in on the first division and not too far out of the lead. A victory by Lary tonight over his favorite cousins would square Detroit's season record at the .500 mark.

10 GALLON WIN — Detroit pitcher Don Mossi's victory was as big as the 10 gallon hat he had on his head in the clubhouse last night after beating the New York Yankees, 2-0, at Briggs Stadium. Mossi pitched a four hitter and moved Detroit within one game of the .500 mark for the season.

Brown Favored in Title Fight With Paolo Rosi

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Champion Joe Brown, slender Negro boxer-puncher, is favored at 12-5 to beat Italian Paolo Rosi, a baldish raw-boned slugger, tonight in their battle of "oldest men" for the world lightweight crown.

They are the oldest pair to fight for the 135-pound title: Brown, 33, and Rosi, 31. But each is still such an effective puncher some "sportsmen" are offering 7-5 that the bout at Uline Arena does not last its scheduled 15 rounds, regardless of the winner.

Promoter Goldie Ahearn expects a near-capacity 7,500 and a gate of more than $50,000, despite two days of steady rain that curtailed somewhat the sale of tickets for this indoor show.

Washington's first title fight in 18 years will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. (EDT), with a local blackout on a 100-mile radius. The last championship fight here was on My 23, 1941, when Joe Louis won a seventh-round disqualification over big Buddy Baer.

Brown, who now lives at Baton Rouge, La., is making his seventh defense of the title in his 100th professional fight. He hopes within the next year to equal or surpass the eight successful defenses made by the late Benny Leonard who retired undefeated.

However, Joe indicated in his last three performances that he may be slipping. He kept his title by an eyelash after 15 furious rounds with southpaw Kenny Lane. He lost a non-title decision to Johnny Busso but managed to beat Busso in a title fight, last Feb. 11, over the full 15-round route.

Rosi — formerly of Rieta, Italy — but now a naturalized citizen living in New York — earned tonight's shot by coming through his last nine bouts unbeaten, although held to one draw.

11 Errors Can't Prevent Victory

A four-hit shutout, 11 errors by a winning team and an abbreviated no-hitter highlighted last night's four-game City League softball card at Beaudette and Northside parks.

Al Webster tossed the four-hitter as his Sport Shop team whitewashed State Hospital, 12-0. Catcher Marv Fuller swatted three hits for the Sportsmen in the International League contest.

Another IL game featured 11 miscues by Drive-In Cleaners, but the Drive-In club still managed to defeat Griff's Grill, 10-9. The winners tallied seven runs in the 1st inning and Art Harrison scored the eventual winning run in the 6th on a triple and infield error. Tom Metzdorf socked a homer for Griff's in the 5th.

In an IL contest at Northside, Earl Mudge threw a four-inning no-hitter as the Pontiac Police blanked the Pontiac Retailers, 10-0. The game was halted by the 10-run rule.

Ray Garrison hurled a four-hitter for the Autos of Europe squad and won his own ball game in a 4-3 National League victory over Wright's Upholstery. Garrison's single in the bottom of the 7th delivered the deciding run.

Bill Veeck to the Rescue!

This Was Baseball's Buggy Situation

CHICAGO (AP) — Knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm finally has been chased from the mound—but it took a swarm of gnats to do it.

It happened in the first inning at Comiskey Park last night. After the bug battle on the mound delayed the game 16 minutes, Wilhelm returned to pitch Baltimore to a 3-2 victory over the White Sox and into second place.

The seven-hitter marked the eighth triumph without defeat for the 35-year-old Wilhelm, who had a 3-10 record last year and was picked up from Cleveland for the waiver price. He has completed seven of his last eight starts.

Wilhelm never will forget that first inning.

"It's the strangest thing that ever happened to me in a game," he said. "There was a cloud of gnats over the mound so thick that they were flying in my mouth.

I never should have pitched a ball until they cleared away. But I went ahead and walked Nellie Fox. After I threw two balls to Earl Torgeson I had to quit — I was chased by the bugs."

He and Umpire Hank Soar began spraying the air.

Baltimore trainer Eddie Weidner joined the battle, rubbing insecticide ointment over Wilhelm's face and arms while Soar sprayed his uniform with the bug bomb.

But the gnats kept dive bombing.

The ground crew lit papers and went after the swarm of bugs like the charge of the light brigade. It didn't work.

Finally, Sox President Bill Veeck had a fireworks bomb placed on the mound. The explosion was deafening, the White smoke suffocating.

The gnats gave up.

Wilhelm continued. Apparently shaken by the bug battle, he walked Torgeson and hit Sherm Lollar with a pitch. With the bases filled, Larry Doby forced Lollar at second, Fox scoring on the play. It was the first run off Wilhelm in 22⅓ innings.

"I was so gooed up with ointment and stuff, I had to keep using rosin and dirt on my hands to keep from losing the ball," he said.

After it was all over, Veeck laughed: "Since I probably will be accused of having something to do with those bugs, I might as well say now I have had them in a bottle and have been training them for several years for just such an occasion."

But He's a Winner on 8-Hit Shutout of Cardinals

No Perfect Game for Haddix

By The Associated Press

Only Harvey Haddix can make that statement, however. It was Pittsburgh's slim southpaw who a week ago last night pitched a historic 12 perfect innings, then lost in the 13th. Last night, giving up eight hits and tiring in the late innings, he came home a winner, beating the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0.

"Winning is better than losing, anytime," said Haddix when he compared the shutout with that numbing, 1-0 defeat at Milwaukee in which he permitted just one hit.

A week ago he was working against a jinx. Last night he had one working for him. The 33-year-old left-hander lost his fifth in a row to the Braves in the heartbreaker. Last night he whipped the Cards, his ex-mates, for the fifth straight time.

With Haddix's first shutout of the season, the third place Pirates stayed within 4½ games of the National League lead after the Cards had wrapped up a 3-1 decision in the completion of a suspended May 3 game.

First place Milwaukee regained a 2½-game lead over San Francisco as Bob Rush's five-hitter beat the Giants 3-0. Fourth-place Los Angeles fell 5½ games behind with a 5-4 defeat at Cincinnati. The Chicago Cubs were rained out at Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Lindy McDaniel's three-innings of one-hit shutout relief saved Cardinal rookie Gary Blaylock's third victory in the mop up of the suspended game at Pittsburgh. In the regularly scheduled game, the Bucs scored in the third against lower Larry Jackson (3-6) on Bill Virdon's double and Dick Groat's single, then added two in the fourth, capped by Haddix's RBI single.

★ ★ ★

Haddix (4-3) who hasn't lost to the Cards since Sept. 11, 1957, now has given up just one run—that chiller at Milwaukee—in his last 26 innings. His only real tough spot last night came in the third when Gino Cimoli singled with two out and Stan Musial followed with a double. Cimoli was nailed at the plate by left fielder Bob Skinner's peg as he tried to score on Musial's 650th two-bagger.

Rush, a 35-year-old right-hander, gave up nothing but singles for a 4-0 record, a 1.46 earned run average and his first complete game in three starts this season. Stu Miller (3-1) lost it, giving up Ed Mathews' 17th home run in the first inning. The Braves scored their other two in the fifth on Frank Torre's single and an error after a single by Casey Wise and a double by Hank Aaron —who was 3-for-3, padding his average to .424.

The Reds ended their losing slump at three with an unearned run in the eighth against losing Dodger reliever Clem Labine (2-6). Don Zimmer's two-base error, a pinch-single by ex-Dodger Don Newcombe and a sacrifice fly by Johnny Temple did it. The Reds, who had 10 hits, got a two-run homer from Vada Pinson in the first inning and led until the eighth, when John Roseboro's two-run homer tied at 4-all against winning reliever Bob Mabe (4-2).

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Walter F. Pease of Plainfield, N.J., put together rounds of 34-39 for a 73 Tuesday to take the first round lead in the U.S. Seniors Golf Assn. championship at Apawamis Club.

Virgil Roby of Hartford, Conn., Frank Edwards of Spartanburg, S.C., and Jack Ahern of Hamburg, N.Y., finished in a three-way tie for second at 75.

8 More Golfers Earn Positions at Atlanta in Final Trial

ATLANTA (AP)—Pro Mack Briggs of Rock Hill, S.C., won the medal but amateur Walter W. Wood of Birmingham stole the spotlight Tuesday in sectional qualifying for the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

Briggs, who had missed in four previous tries for an Open berth, shot a 74-68—142 to lead the 37-player field at the East Lake Country Club.

Wood, who like Briggs is 30 years old, grabbed the limelight with a record 30 on the front nine. He posted a 67-low round for the day — to go with a morning 76 that gave him a 143.

Also at 143 were amateur Cobby Ware of Augusta, Ga., 68-75 and pro Paddy LaClair of Birmingham, Ala., with 70-73.

Pros Fred Wampler of Atlantic Beach, Fla., and Furman Hayes of Gastonia, N.C., had identical scores of 72-72—144.

Five players tied at 147 engaged in a sudden death playoff for the seventh and eighth berths in next week's 59th Open.

'Bug' Executive Sends 12 'Bombs' to Paul Richards

BALTIMORE (AP)—Charles E. Beach is an enthusiastic fan of the Baltimore Orioles. He is also the vice president of a company which packages aerosol insecticide bombs.

While watching the White Sox-Orioles baseball game on television Tuesday night, he got an inspiration when pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm had trouble with a swarm of gnats over the mound.

Beach ordered his plant manager to send by air express a case of a dozen 12-ounce cans of the bombs to Orioles Manager Paul Richards in Chicago.

"That ought to fix any future bug problems they have," said Beach.

BUG ATTACK — Gnats attack the pitching mound yesterday in Chicago and for 16 minutes the crowd was entertained as the bat boy, the umpires, the players and everyone else including Bill Veeck got into the act to repel the attack. Baltimore pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm in center of photo on left waits to get back on the mound. The Orioles beat the White Sox, 3-2.

8th Straight for Oriole Knuckler

By United Press International

Knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm scored his eighth straight victory without a defeat and pitched the Baltimore Orioles into second place in the American League Tuesday night when he defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3-2.

Bothered by gnats around the pitching mound, Wilhelm gave up a run in the first inning without a hit but then settled down and hurled a seven-hitter while striking out eight and walking only two.

Billy Klaus tied the score at 2-2 with a two-run homer off loser Bob Shaw in the sixth, and the Orioles fashioned the winning run in the ninth on singles by Willie Tasby, Gene Woodling and Gus Triandos.

Ron Samford's 10th inning homer powered Washington to a 3-2 win over Cleveland and reduced the Indians' lead to half a game. Samford hit his homer off Bud Podbielan, who relieved starter Jim Grant after the Tribe had tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth.

Ted Williams slammed the 2,500th hit of his career to help the Red Sox score three runs in the first inning but the Athletics came from behind to register a 5-3 victory on Tom Sturdivant's brilliant relief pitching.

Williams' 2,500th hit was a double that helped rout starter Ray Herbert. Sturdivant then replaced Herbert and although he needed help, too, from Rip Coleman in the ninth, he was credited with his first victory of the season.

Kansas City scored its first run in the second on back-to-back doubles by Frank House and Joe Demaestri, then went ahead to stay with three runs in the third on three singles, a double by Hal Smith and a sacrifice fly. Frank Sullivan was the loser.

No Fight TV for NY Fans

NEW YORK (AP)—There will be no home television of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight June 25. TV boxing fans are asking why.

The fight between champion Patterson and the Swedish challenger is to be held in Yankee Stadium in the city of New York, an area with an estimated 4.4 million TV sets.

That figure represents 10 per cent of what the TV trade calls "potential viewing homes." But more important the television packagers and admen along New York's Madison Avenue consider the metropolitan area as representing as much as one-third of the nation's potential TV sales market.

Although these figures are only estimates at best, they do give a fairly clear indication of why a TV outlet, the potential viewers are trimmed 10 per cent, the market 33⅓ per cent.

But the fight promoters are also cash-conscious. To permit the fight to be televised in New York would mean a corresponding loss of gate receipts. With Yankee Stadium, which can seat 80,000 for fights, scaled to 1½ million dollars for the title fight, the $5 general admission seats might go begging in the face of TV, not to mention the $50 ringside tickets or the plush $100 red-carpet admissions.

Hoy Shines on Mound for KC

Terry Blanks Jewelers, 9-0; Talbott Takes 6-4 Decision Over PBI

Pitcher Terry Hoy had too much stuff for Shaw's Jewelers and his teammates gave him eight-hit support as the Knights of Columbus breezed to a 9-0 win in Class A City League baseball action Tuesday at Wisner Feild.

In yesterday's Class B activity at Jaycee Park, Talbott Lumber piled up an early 5-0 lead and coasted to a 6-4 decision over Pontiac Business Institute.

Hoy hurled a masterful three-hit shutout for the Knights and Shaw's aided the K.C. cause by committing seven errors. Hoy fanned six, walked four and gave up singles in 2nd, 6th and 7th stanzas. Al Barkley sparked K.C. with a triple, double and single in three official times at bat.

John Warner was the winning pitcher for Talbott, but he had to have help from Bob Pickett in the 5th inning when the Institute team rallied for three runs. Larry Cates hurled the route in defeat.

WHICH CLUB SHALL I USE? — Mrs. Ralph Dailey of Orchard Lake ponders the choice of club for her next shot in the weekly Women's District Golf Association tournament yesterday at Orchard Lake Country Club. Mrs. Dailey, an Orchard Lake member who plays in the 3rd flight, did not have one of her better days and chose not to reveal her score. The caddy is Robert Brown of Orchard Lake. Mrs. Susie LeClair of Ann Arbor was yesterday's winner in the championship flight.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Confidence is an intangible but vital factor in succesful golf and Gene Bone had worlds of it when he went into Monday's U.S. Open sectional trials at Grosse Ile Golf and Country Club.

"I just knew that I was going to qualify," commented the 27-year-old Warwick Hills pro. "I never felt so confident of succeeding as I did this time."

"Although I didn't win any cash there, I still played good golf and I never doubted my ability to qualify for the National Open," Gene remarked. "I really felt confident while taking that plane ride."

Bone was a happy and justifiably proud young professional over his spot in the Open June 11-13 at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N.Y. "Only 150 players are lucky enough to qualify and this year I'm one of them," Bone said. "That's getting yourself into some mighty select company."

It was Bone's first successful qualification for the Open after four failures and he was not alone in this respect. Lee Raymond, the 21-year-old Toledo pro, and defending Michigan Amateur champion Glenn Johnson also landed berths in the Open tourney for the first time.

SHORT PUTTS

There were two substitute golfers in Monday's Grosse Ile trials and neither qualified. Reggie Myles Jr., assistant pro at Western, and amateur Ron Laug from Grand Rapids replaced Nick Berklich and Jim Barfield. Both were alternates from the local qualifiers May 18.

Pete Cooper, former Knollwood pro now playing out of Lakeland, Fla., decided to shoot for his qualifying position at Grosse Ile because he wanted to come to Detroit to buy himself a new car. Pete managed to make the grade after a two-hole playoff. He passed his qualifying test at Little Rock.

A 35 by Mrs. Wayne Harrison took low net honors Tuesday in the Women's Silver Lake Golf League. Mrs. John McCallum and Mrs. Elbert Looney divided 2nd place at 36. Mrs. Looney was low putt winner with 14 and also shared in blind hole laurels with Mrs. Loren Aris and Mrs. Ken Thayer with five on No. 7.

Frick's Approval Required

2nd All-Star Contest OK'd

By The Associated Press

The major league club owners have approved the players' request for a second all-star game this season.

The game, which must receive the blessings of Commissioner Ford Frick to become official, will be played on Monday, August 3, at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The players will receive 60 per cent of the gate and radio-TV receipts, with the remainder going to the club owners, who would use the additional cash to aid youth baseball programs such as the Little League and Babe Ruth loop.

The players may possibly use their share to set up a pension plan for umpires and help former players not currently benefited by the pension plan. The players' share of the first game to be played in Pittsburgh, July 7, goes into their pension fund.

Frick is expected to announce his decision next week after conferring with presidents Warren Giles of the National League and Joe Cronin of the American.

It was Cronin who disclosed the owners' endorsement of the second all-star game after two National League executives—President Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies and vice-president Birdie Tebbetts of the Milwaukee Braves—stated the owners had voted for it at a meeting in Columbus, Ohio, two weeks ago.

"The owners have authorized the second game at the players' request," said Cronin, "but as far as we have been informed no details have been worked out.

Giles said he expected to meet with Frick and Cronin in New York some time next week to iron out details.

"It's still in the formative stage," he said, "and nothing has been definitely set."

It was not an unanimous vote. At least six clubs—Boston, Washington, Cleveland, Chicago and Kansas City in the American League and San Francisco in the National—are believed to be opposed. Three of the antis have said they would go along with the majority.

64 Pontiac Skaters Take State Places

Pontiac Rolladium Skaters took 64 out of a possible 111 places in the State championships at Flint to sweep the meet and win the hi-point trophy.

There were 300 skaters registered in 400 events in the four day meet and the total turned in by the Rolladium was highest than in any previous state tourney.

Canadians Sign Ogiego

Queer Creature Dug Up in Yard of Pontiac Home

Digging in shallow soil in the yard of his home at 313 West Wilson, the other day, J. C. Jones uncovered what he described as "the queerest-looking, meanest-looking worm I've ever seen."

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The creature was 2½ inches long, three-fourths of an inch thick, and had a "tail" of two inches curled over its back. The cylindrical body was hairless, of a dark red color, and just back of what appeared to be its pointed head, there were several annular rings. There was no mouth and no eyes.

★ ★ ★

'58 Deer Loss Put at 69,000

LANSING—An estimated 69,000 whitetails perished in Michigan's woods between mid-November and early April, according to the Conservation Department's recently completed dead deer survey.

Herd losses were listed in six classes: starved, 16,000; shot, 13,100; dog or predator kills, 1,850; accidents and disease, 5,250; unknown but not starved, 14,500; cause entirely unknown, 18,300.

In 1956, when the last major spring survey was made, the total was an estimated 115,650.

Upper Peninsula losses this year were estimated at nearly 35,200 from all causes. They were 74,000 in 1956. Lower Peninsula figures were 33,900 compared with 41,650 in 1956.

Crop of Thoroughbreds 'Grows' on Kosiba Farm

By The Press Outdoor Editor

One of the largest, if not the biggest thoroughbred horse breeding establishment in Michigan, a highly efficient farm where scores of young race horses are being raised for future appearances on the nation's tracks, is the Kosiba plant near South Lyon (56191 Eight-Mile rd.)

The farm is operated by James and Grace Kosiba, a brother-sister combination. The Kosibas are not only extensively engaged in breeding fine racing stock, but also are actively interested in racing their own stable. They have a number of horses in action at metropolitan area tracks during current turf seasons.

STARTED BREEDING IN 1952

There are more than 50 head of fine stock on the premises. They include a half dozen stallions, 16 brood mares, 14 sucklings and 11 yearlings, besides others. The sires include Hez-a-Honey (10 years old), parent of stake winner Hez-First, which won the Duncan Tenner stakes in New Orleans in 1956 (for two-year-olds).

Sub-Factor (8-years old), Sir Roamer (5) and Abisok (Kosiba spelled in reverse) are other sires. Last named sired the filly, Abeam (2-year-old), first of his get now racing at Detroit. Abeam is credited with a :46:0 half mile.

Just now the Kosiba stable has 25 horses in the lists at DRC, will move over to Hazel Park for the fall meeting in August. Kosiba racers will run in Thursday's inaugural race for Michigan bred two-year-olds.

Visit to a Chicago horse auction in 1952 started the Kosibas on their thoroughbred farm, when they bought several brood mares. They purchased the farm that year from the Jerry McCarthy estate. They hope to institute training activities at the farm some time in the future.

OUTBOARDS PROBLEM AT FISHING SITES

With all its lakes, Oakland county has a problem that is growing by leaps and bounds. How to reconcile the use of fishing sites for both outboard-powered craft and anglers' boats, is getting to be a real touchy matter.

★ ★ ★

The state has had to limit the Pinckney area launching site to rowboats and canoes because of the jamming by motorboats there. A similar situation exists on a number of Pontiac area sites (Union lake is one), where fishermen are almost crowded out. At the larger park areas, like Dodge park on Cass Lake, there is no problem. A fine launching site is available there, and is heavily used. The Memorial Day weekend found the site packed. It was on of the most popular spots for outboarders last summer, while fishermen were cared for on the other side of the point.

Rochester Fisherman Takes Husky Rock Bass

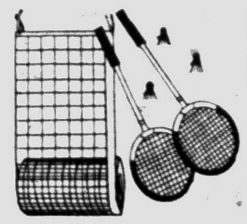

The biggest rock bass he ever saw, was captured first of the week by Raymond Hayes, 2879 Corinthia, Rochester. Hayes was fishing in a lake near Lake Orion when the "rockie" hit his lure.

"That fish gave me a rough time before I landed it," Hayes reported. He usually fishes for sunfish, took 15 this time.

State Considers Help for Preserves

Earlier Seasons Sought

LANSING (UPI)—The conservation department's game division wants some changes in the regulations governing the 35 shooting preserves now that it has a year's experience behind it.

The conservation commission, gathering at the department's Higgins Lake Training School June 11-12, will act on proposed changes to the rules offered by H. D. Ruhl, head of the division.

Ruhl asked that the season, which now runs 150 days concurrently with the regular season, begin Sept. 15 and run to March 31 for both pheasants and ducks. That would be a total of 197 days.

Ruhl also asked that quotas be increased so that a maximum of 80 per cent of the released birds be taken when more than 1,000 are released by preserve operators.

The commission will also be asked to approve purchase of land for public fishing sites on Three Legged lake in Van Buren county, Williams Lake in St. Joseph county, Birch Lake in Antrim county and Crooked Lake in Kalamazoo county.

Purchase of 330 acres in the Muskegon River state game area for $27,500 will also be requested.

Other recommendations for land acquisitions include Maple River State Game Area, Portland State Game Area, Pittsford Area, Shiawassee River and Waterloo areas.

RECORD-BREAKER — A record length sturgeon (9 feet 7 inches, 329 pounds) was taken on rod and reel by Marion Woodyard of Boise, Ida. It was caught in the Snake river, near Boise, is 40 pounds under the record, but longer than the listed record fish.

You're the Skipper

By JOHN BOHANNAN
Syndicated Boating Writer

Take a good overlapping jib off a fast sailboat working to weather and it's like dropping a drogue off the stern. And no wonder! The jib not only exerts a tremendous forward pull in its own right, but it increases the efficiency of the mainsail.

This is popularly called "the slot effect." When the jib bends the wind around behind the mainsail with just the right amount of curvature, a comparative vacuum is formed on the leeward side of the main.

This augments the pressure on the weather side of the mainsail and gives it that much more drive.

If the sheet leads to a point too far forward on the deck, the jib leach will be too tight. It will curve the wind too much, backwinding the mainsail. The slot will be spoiled particularly at the head of the jib, where the tight leach will prevent it from following the natural twist at the head of the main.

On the other hand, if the jib sheet is led too far aft, the jib leach will sag off to leeward and there will be a loss of comparative vacuum on the lee side of the main because the wind curvature is not sufficient.

If your boat isn't doing well to windward, study the set of jibs used by top skippers in your racing class, noting particularly the angle of the jib sheet lead. It's amazing the difference to be noticed by moving the deck block to its most efficient position.

Here's another point to remember—the farther a jib overlaps, the more important it is to set up the luff as tight as you can get it when working close to the wind.

Of course when reaching, or beating in very light airs, you may want to ease the luff a bit.

We used to have a keel sloop with a high aspect ratio. An old mainsail had been cut down for use in storms and the area was considerably less. Yet when this sail was substituted, there was very little loss in speed to windward as long as we kept a big overlapping jib on the job.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Use a wire halyard with a manila tail and thimbled eye splice to go over a mast hook when hoisted. Then set up the luff as tight as you wish, using a wire downhaul led to a gun tackle below the foredeck. On small centerboarders, a neat deal is to lead the jibstay to one side of a pivoting arm, and the downhaul to the other side. Then, the more the halyard is set up, the tighter the jib luff as well as the stay.

If the jib is small enough to be sheeted in hard enough with just a snubbing winch, it's to be preferred because of lighter weight

Memorial Day Toll Full of Foreboding

Danger Lurks on Summer Highways

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Just because you lived through the Memorial Day traffic, this is no time to get cocky.

The holiday toll ran some 20 per cent above National Safety Council estimates. And this is the beginning of the big summer travel period. From now until the fall, the nation's highways will swarm with cars like ants heading for a picnic.

Safe driving can be fun. That's the word from three top drivers for the big auto companies—A. H. Esper, executive engineer in charge of Ford proving ground operations; F. R. Householder, staff engineer for Plymouth and Louis C. Lundstrom, director of General Motors proving grounds section.

The best place for your hands on the steering wheel is at a 10-2 or 10-4 o'clock position. (This also saves your left arm from getting sunburned).

Slow up before you come to a curve. Accelerate after you have passed the center. Stay in the right-hand lane — you'll meet enough bad drivers in your lane without getting into theirs.

Wet roads are apt to be more dangerous in the first rain after a dry spell. It takes a day or two of continuous rain to wash off oil film. Stopping will require about twice the normal distance.

Two things to consider at night are your eyes and your lights, for practically everything depends on one or both. Many accidents are caused by overdriving your lights. A good rule: Drive two-thirds as fast by night as by day.

If the rear of your car skids left, turn your steering wheel left; if to the right, turn right — always in the direction of the skid. After recovering control, pump your brakes gently and ease your foot off the gas.

Consider everyone else on the road as a potentially dangerous driver, but don't get excited about it. Watch the other fellow, but don't let his mistakes or carelessness upset you.

Forget there is such a thing as right-of-way. If there is any question, give the right-of-way to the other fellow. Courtesy is contageous and you should help spread it.

If you can't see pavement between your car and the one ahead, you are following too closely regardless of your speed. The rule is one car length between for every 10 miles of speed.

Watch for oncoming drivers making left turns in front of you. Keep an eye on the approaching car's left front wheel, if his turn signals aren't flashing. Be prepared to stop or turn the moment you see his left wheel move out of its normal path.

Noontime picnics, particularly when traveling with children, are excellent refreshers. Children get a chance to let off steam, and sit more quietly in the afternoon.

Above all, the inflexible rule for a safe family trip is "be flexible." Be able to stop when fatigue sets in, and don't get cocky about your anti-fatigue prowess.

Geneva, Summit Won't Aid Peace, Says U.S. Chie

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Charles H. Malik of Lebanon, president of the U.N. General Assembly, expects neither the present Big Four foreign ministers conference nor a summit meeting to alleviate world tensions.

"The Western powers and Russia are confronting each other with a certain degree of rigidity," he told newsmen Tuesday in an interview here.

He added, "So long as communism is aimed at undermining other areas, it will remain very difficult to have far reaching agreements."

Two Motorists Die as Car Leaves Road

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Two men were killed late last night when their car plunged off a curve and spun into a field about one mile west of here.

Dead are John G. Bruce, 31, of Detroit, and Robert E. DeGray, 32, of San Diego, Calif. Police said Bruce was driving.

Sheriff's deputies said the car, a small sports model, apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed. The vehicle was found about 150 feet from the highway by a farmer. Both men had been thrown from the car.

DeGray was visiting friends in Mount Clemens.

Ford Reports This May 70,000 Better Than '58

DETROIT (AP)— Ford Motor Co. has reported that it built 70,000 more cars in May this year than in May 1958.

Overall passenger car production for the industry's second biggest producer was 161,731 against only 91,003 in May of last year.

Ford Division accounted for most of the increase, building 143,841 cars last month against 75,650 in May 1958. Mercury showed the least change, 12,668 last month and 12,356 in May 1959. Edsel and Lincoln improved by greater margins.

Ford says it built 6,755 Thunderbirds in May, an all-time high.

Rackets Probers Hear Bribe Offer

Listen to Recording of Chicago Hood's Try to Buy Off Deputy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Rackets Committee today heard the recorded voice of a Chicago hoodlum offering a $50,000 bribe to a deputy sheriff to let him open a brothel and gain "corner to corner" control of gambling in Porter County, Ind.

★ ★ ★

The deputy, Harold D. Rayder of Valparaiso, Ind., told the committee he made the recording on May 4 while talking in an automobile with Tom Morgano, Porter County representative of the Chicago crime syndicate.

Morgano, holding a cigarette between his teeth, listened to a playback of the conversation in the witness chair and then invoked the Fifth Amendment to all questions about it.

But Rayder testified that Morgano offered to go as high as half a million dollars in payoffs to county officials in order to get a gambling and prostitution monopoly.

The deputy, who had been billed by committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy as an "extremely important mystery witness," took the stand as the committee dug deeper into rackets in Porter and Lake Counties in Indiana, near Chicago.

Lull Hangs Over Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market appeared today to be tightly wedged until some new significant factors develop as incentives to speculative transactions.

Prices on the Board of Trade barely stirred during the first several minutes of slow dealings and some contracts still were blank when activity virtually stalled after about a half hour.

Brokers said both long and short positions seemed to be well established as a market core awaiting influences.

After almost an hour wheat was ⅛ to ⅜ cent a bushel higher, July $1.84⅝; corn ½ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.25¼; oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, July 36½; rye ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.21¼; soybeans ¼ higher to ¼ lower, July $1.26⅛.

GM Doubles Value on Employe's Idea

DETROIT (AP)—A good idea has just doubled in value at General Motors Corp.

The corporation said today that up to $5,000 will be paid to GM employes for ideas on ways to make their jobs safer and easier and improve plant operations. Previous top was $2,500.

GM started the suggestion plan in 1942 when the top award was a $1,000 U.S. savings bond. This was increased to $2,500 in 1951.

In each of the past four years employes have won more than three million dollars for suggestions. More than two million ideas have been submitted and a fourth of these have been adopted at a total reward price of more than 28 million dollars.

1½-Hour Blaze Causes $4,000 Damage to Home

The fire was reported at about 8:40 p.m. Cause was attributed to children playing with matches in an upstairs bedroom of the 1½-story frame structure.

Firemen reported fire damage heaviest to the upstairs, with extensive water and smoke damage to the lower floor. Damage to the building was estimated at $3,000, with $1,000 damage to the contents.

Zoning Battle Ends Abruptly

Petition Is Withdrawn as Wrenn Rules Land Suitable for Houses

The fight over the proposal to rezone part of a northside residential neighborhood to locate a storage lot for an auto haulaway firm was terminated abruptly last night.

★ ★ ★

Arthur W. Kollin, attorney for the property owner seeking the change, from residential zoning to manufacturing, announced to the City Commission that he was withdrawing the proposal.

Kollin's move came after City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn said he believed the land in question was suitable for home construction.

Kollin had contended that Commissioners should rezone the land because it was not "usable" for home construction.

Kollin explained that it would cost extra to build foundations for homes because the land was once a swamp and is still filled with ground waters.

Nearby property owners have vigorously opposed rezoning, adding that their basements were not affected by ground waters.

Wrenn said he had investigated basements in four of the homes and found they weren't affected.

Kollin argued that the residential zoning is preventing the owner of the land from putting it to use.

A representative for the Contract Cartage Co. said the land was sought as a storage area for new Pontiac automobiles from the nearby Pontiac Motor Division plant.

A majority of the affected property owners were against the change, but Kollin last week asked the City Commission to forward the rezoning proposal to the Planning Commission anyway.

But Rejects Plan to Widen East Boulevard

City Oks Joslyn Road Paving

After an hour-long public hearing last night, City Commissioners voted 6 to 1 to hold the line on special assessments and push through paving of Joslyn road, despite strong neighborhood objections.

Later, in a 5 to 2 vote, they killed plans to widen a portion of East boulevard to four lanes.

Thus only two of the three big paving jobs proposed for this year have survived public hearings.

Besides paving of Joslyn for the half-mile stretch between Walton boulevard and Collier road at the city limits, commissioners have voted to widen Cass avenue to four lanes between Oakland and Wisner Stadium.

Joslyn road residents had asked for a break in assessments, since the pavement is designed mainly for through traffic to and from the upcoming Oakland County Expressway north of Pontiac.

Three-quarters of the affected property owners opposed paying regular assessment rates and asked that the project be dropped.

On motion of Commissioner John A. Dugan, who represents the area, commissioners decided not lower the special assessment formula.

"A change in the assessment formula now wouldn't be fair to others in the city who have already paid for improvements through the regular special assessment plan," said Dugan. "We must treat this street the same as any other street."

Dugan said the road some day will play "a leading role" in Pontiac.

"Improvements such as this must go through if we are to have a modern city," he added.

It is possible that property owners will be offered some financial relief in the form of an extended payment plan.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry opposed the paving on grounds there apparently was no public necessity for it at present.

He said that the proposal by the state to connect Joslyn with the expressway by means of an interchange was still in the planning stage.

Wood pointed out that the administration has no funds, at present, to widen the Clinton River bridge in connecion with the pavemen widening.

"I'm afraid the bridge would be a traffic bottleneck and a driving hazard," said Wood, asking the administration to plan to widen both bridge and street next year.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the city should proceed with East boulevard widening step by step, widening the street this year and the bridge later.

"We are trying to implement the traffic improvements recommended by the Barton highway study as fast as we can with available funds," said Willman.

The Engineering Department believed that traffic could funnel through the existing, 36-foot wide bridge, if its sidewalks were removed. The widened road would be 44 feet there.

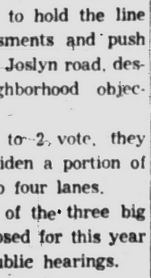

East boulevard residents also fought against paying full assessments for an improvement designed to benefit through traffic.

It is the city's position that property owners on major streets should pay full assessments for concrete paving, which are set at only 70 cents a front foot more for a complete job than the rate for blacktopping neighborhood streets.

Publisher of 'Three Pigs' Belittles Integration Link

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—A Florida segregation leader and a publisher of children's books disagreed sharply today over the social significance of a modern version of "The Three Little Pigs."

The Whitman Publishing Co., of Racine, contends its version of the old folk tale in "Whitman Tell-a-Tale Books," which has the pigs as white, black and white and black, does nothing more than tell a story to children.

David Hawthorn of Miami, Fla., however, claims that "clever integrationists are using the tale to brainwash youngsters" with a version picturing a black pig as superior to a white pig because he built his house of brick and it wasn't destroyed.

Hawthorn claims the pig story published by Whitman is worse than the rabbit story which came under attack in Alabama. In Alabama, the protests shoved from public libraries "The Rabbits' Wedding," a story about a black rabbit and a white rabbit.

He claimed that originally all the pigs were white but about seven years ago the book began appearing with two of the pigs in color.

Smith said that about a year ago a Florida congressman asked, on behalf of an unnamed constituent, who wrote the text of the story to determine whether it had been written for propaganda purposes.

★ ★ ★

The author replied, Smith said, that the color of the three little pigs in her version has no social significance." She added, he said, "I have also written stories about a brown bear, a brown beaver, a brown horse, a black and white dog, and a yellow cat, all of whom have, after a suitable number of misadventures, lived happily ever after."

Mexico Deports Florida Woman

Theft of 3,757,500 Cuban Pesos Brings Illicit Trade to Light

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An American woman who came to Mexico listed as a tourist has been ordered deported for engaging in a business deal that cost her more than a million dollars.

Marilyn Kay Thal, daughter of Miami Beach, Fla., realtor Sam Kay, also was fined 5,000 Mexican pesos — $400 — for violating immigration laws. Her husband, Sidney, was cleared of any wrongdoing.

Deported with her were two associates in a venture to sell 3,757,500 Cuban pesos — A. Karl Beveff of Miami Beach, an associate of her father, and Nathan Joel C. Orloff, described as a wealthy doctor.

Police are looking for Alfonso Arnaldo Acosta Meza, a Cuban. Mrs. Thal says stole the pesos while posing as a buyer of the lot for $1,356,300.

The American woman said Acosta Meza held her at gunpoint, grabbed the box containing the Cuban money and fled.

Mrs. Thal said the fortune in pesos came from a Miami Beach hotel sold by her father. She was trying to sell them for 36 cents each.

★ ★ ★

The peso normally is worth $1, but Fidel Castro's Cuban revolutionary government imposed curbs on converting pesos to prevent ousted President Fulgencio Batista and his associates from cashing millions they are accused of sending out of the country before Batista fled.

Quartet Saws Out of Iowa Prison

The four, one serving a life term for killing a policeman, sawed two bars from a window located in an outside cell of the prison after having sawed their way from their individual cells.

The breakout came in cell house 19, which houses about 400 prisoners. The four who escaped had to drop less than 10 feet to the ground after cutting the opening in the window.

Lawrence W. Smith, 53, night cell house captain, said he heard a noise on a walkway extending outside the cells, and saw Janes crawling along.

Smith said that was about 12:25 a.m. He pushed the alarm button.

Hoffa, Castro Birds of Feather

Legion Head Asserts Both Pose Threat to U.S. Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Legion's national commander said today "agents of the Kremlin are well on the way to capturing a major base of operations 90 miles from the United States"—Cuba.

The Legion official, Preston J. Moore, said Cuba's prime minister Fidel Castro and Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa present the United States with problems that have "striking — and sad—similarities."

Moore described Hoffa as "one of the nation's most expendable burdens," and added: "The people of Cuba traded Batista for Castro, and there's very little chance that they improved their lot. The members of the Teamsters swapped Beck for Hoffa, and there's no chance at all for improvement there."

Castro overthrew the Cuban regime of President Fulgencia Batista. Hoffa was elected to succeed Dave Beck as Teamsters Union president.

"The FBI represents America's uncommon response to the need for uncommon men to meet the uncommon menace of communism and crime to the national security," Cushing said.

BALLET RECITAL — An Oriental theme will dominate this year's annual Waterford Township Ballet Recital at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights at the high school. Five-year-old Patty Payne holds a "cherry tree," as Cindy Schwab gets her costume adjusted by Mrs. Rudy Boss. Wayne Snyder holds a dragon flag and watches the proceedings.

400 Youngsters to Take Part

Ready 2-Day Waterford Ballet

With more than 400 Waterford Township youngsters participating, this year's annual Ballet Recital Friday and Saturday promises to be one of the most spectacular presentations of the season, according to director Carol Wolfe.

At 8 p.m., the curtain at Waterford Township High School will rise on an Oriental scene depicting the story of "Pincess Moonbeam," who came from the heavens to keep an elderly couple from being lonely—so the story goes.

Featured throughout the recital will be the various feast-celebrations of the Japanese. Colorful dance numbers in toe, tap, ballet and soft shoe will be presented depicting the life of Princess Moonbeam and her experiences on earth.

All the costumes have been designed and made by mothers and relatives of the children, Mrs. Wolfe said. A professional orchestra will accompany the dance numbers.

★ ★ ★

Student Arraigned 3rd Time for Drugs

LANSING (AP)—A Michigan State University student has been arraigned for the third time in five days on separate charges involving possession and sale of marijuana.

★ ★ ★

William V. Reich, 23, of Chicago demanded examination when arraigned yesterday before Justice William Wise on a charge of selling the narcotic. He was placed under $20,000 bond to await examination.

★ ★ ★

Last Friday Reich and another MSU student, 20-year-old John M. Harper of McHenry, Ill. were arraigned on charges of possession of the drug.

Both stood mute, had not guilty pleas entered by the court and were jailed in lieu of $20,000 bond each.

The pair was arrested in East Lansing May 22 after Reich allegedly made a sale of marijuana to a police agent. Police said they found $30,000 worth of bulk marijuana in Harper's car.

Pepped-Up Shakespeare Leaves Critics Yawning

LONDON (AP) — A peppep-up version of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" at Stratford on Avon aroused only lukewarm reaction from most drama critics today. But Charles Laughton as "Bottom" was a hit.

★ ★ ★

Flock of Great Names Pay Thurber Tribute

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A reporter made good the other day. They gave a cocktail party for an old leg-man and feature writer named Jim Thurber.

★ ★ ★

Only he thought of himself as a reporter. Everybody else thought of him as the great literary lion, the Hemingway of the humorists. Tall and lean and gray, seeing little through his heavy glasses, he leaned over his cigaret and his scotch, at a small table, greeting each of the Great Names who elbowed up.

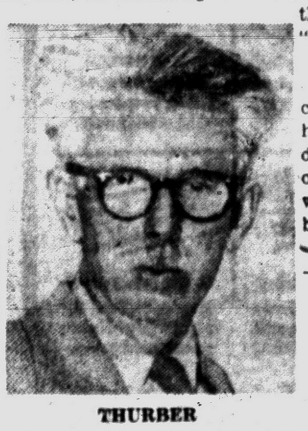

WILSON

"It's Buck!" sang out Playwright Russel Crouse. "I'm going to leave and make way for 80 more."

Jim smiled and pawed through his pockets for matches. On they came, Ogden Nash, Margaret Case Harriman, Charles Addams, all anointing him with new fame for his book about the late Harold Ross, titled, "The Years With Ross."

THURBER

But he disclaimed the fame. Admirers of Thurber's "Secret Life of Walter Mitty," and his drawings, say to him, "Why do you fritter away your time on journalistic pieces?" — whereupon Reporter Thurber barks:

He's proud of that work, as he is of having been a reporter on the New York Post and the Columbus Dispatch. Eddy Gilmore of the AP, visiting him in London once, said, "I'm only going to spend 15 minutes with you, Mr. Thurber." Thurber boomed: "You're crazy! You're going to spend an hour and you're not going to call me 'Mr. Thurber.'"

"James Grover Thurber" was the name he once used in New Yorker magazine pieces. It seems in those days all writers had three names (from Francis Scott Key up through Clarence Buddington Kelland and George Jean Nathan.)

★ ★ ★

He and Elwyn Brooks White are writing short pieces so short that one day somebody said, "Look, you guys, your signatures are longer than your articles." And thus departed Grover.

New Bridge Is Begun Over the Grand River

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) —Construction has started on the first new bridge built over the Grand River here in 36 years.

★ ★ ★

Work began Monday on the one million dollar expressway span about a mile south of the downtown area. It is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1960.

★ ★ ★

Danny Thomas Has Visit With Eisenhower, Family

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television comedian Danny Thomas spent 90 minutes at the White House yesterday visiting President and Mrs. Eisenhower and three of their grandchildren.

Thomas was in town for a benefit show Tuesday night to raise funds for a proposed 200 million dollar hospital at Memphis, Tenn., to treat children stricken with leukemia and other blood ailments.

He said the Eisenhowers invited him to the White House and the President bought four tickets at $3.50 each for the benefit.

"We were all out of $5.00 tickets when the President came to buy," Thomas added with a chuckle.

He said the President expressed regret that he would not be able to attend the benefit.

★ ★ ★

Thomas said the President also talked about his TV show, and commented that "he likes it very much."

Mrs. Eisenhower gave Thomas a personally conducted tour of the White House. On hand for the visit were three of the Eisenhowers' four grandchildren—David, 11, Susan, 7, and Mary Jean, 2.

"Strangely enough," said Thomas, "they are just like children in any other American home.

"I may be a cornball, but I was certainly very much thrilled by the invitation to visit the President."

New Checker Car on Sale This Month

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Checker Motors Corp. will enter the consumer car market sometime this month with its four-door sedan "Superba," which will have a suggested factory list price of $2,541, including federal taxes, it is reported.

State and local taxes, dealer delivery and handling charges and freight are not included in this price.

French Girl Returns Bracelet Lost 42 Years

★ ★ ★

His teacher said it had belonged to an American soldier of World War I.

★ ★ ★

The teacher sent the bracelet to the American base at nearby Portiers. It was shipped to the United States to its rightful owner, retired Lt. Col. Arthur Aeker of Williamsport, Pa. Aeker said the bracelet was a gift from his mother. He had lost it 42 years ago.

The Rio Grande is the third longest river in the United States, exceeded in total length only by the Mississippi and the Missouri.

New Daytime Quiz Show Follows Witless Pattern

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Across the Board is the kind of show that leaves me cross and bored.

★ ★ ★

The new daytime daily was unbottled by ABC-TV Monday and after watching it twice, I suggest they put the stopper back in.

It's not that Across the Board (and into the trees?) is so awful, it's just that it's another dull, witless, commonplace addition to a dull, witless, commonplace daytime schedule.

Across the Board is a game show which means you have to be pretty game to stick with it. This time, it's one of those crossword puzzle things with two customers thrown against each other in a contest to fill in the spaces.

The contestants are given cartoon as well as verbal clues and for the first couple of days, it was all absurdly easy.

Just to give you an idea of some of the first day puzzler words: bat, bag, ade, tar, file. On the second day, the answers were stepped up to the level of stupidity: idle, molar, terse, near.

Emcee Ted Brown, thank goodness, doesn't seem to take the whole business very seriously. Yesterday, he gave a lady an answer instead of her clue and just let the whole mess slide by.

Nobody seemed to care very much and I would say that about sums up my feeling about the show, too.

SHORT SHOTS: NBC-TV's Jack Paar announced on his show last night that he had talked by phone with ailing Jonathan Winters who reported he was feeling much better. I would class that as wonderful news — Winters is one of a handful of genuinely creative comics and TV sorely needs his peculiar genius.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: NBC-TV's Monday night special, "Summer on Ice," picked up a whopping 33.3 Trendex rating.

If Omnibus returns to NBC-TV next season, there's a good chance a kiddy-type Omnibus with Joseph Welch as host will alternate with it — its tentative title is Microbus.

Dick Clark will head up a live one-hour special, "The Record Years," on ABC-TV June 28 with Johnny Mathis, Les Paul, Mary Ford, Fabian, Stan Freberg, The McGuire Sisters, Fats Domino and the Stan Kenton Band.

Radio to Tell of Minorities

Series Will Explore Bias Past and Present in United States

NEW YORK (AP)—Some years ago when Matthew J. Culligan, executive vice president in charge of the NBC radio network, was in kneepants, his father took him aside for a heart-to-heart talk on the viciousness of racial, religious and national prejudice.

The elder Culligan opened his discourse by reading his son an employment ad from the New York Times of 50 years ago which concluded with the words, "Irish need not apply."

Joe Culligan never forgot his father's talk and that ad. Seeds planted then are bearing a harvest on NBC radio this week — and for three weeks to come.

"Image Minorities' is the subject of some 20 hours of special programming which will be heard on NBC "Monitor Summertime" Mondays through Thursdays for four weeks.

★ ★ ★

"This is not an angry expose," says Culligan, who wears a black eye-patch and stares at you piercingly with a single bright blue Irish eye. "Rather it's an attempt at exposition. We hope to build a platform which proves on the record that most minorities in this country have moved out of the area of being 'problem minorities.'"

It's a stimulating idea and, when you think back over our history, generally true. Grandfathers can remember the time when Irishmen were frowned on by some who'd beat them across the Atlantic by a few years.

The melting pot has kept bubbling, with Jews, Scandinavians, Italians becoming a part of the American broth. If you want to go away back, there never was a more difficult minority for the earliest Americans to swallow than those pale-faced Puritans of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Coming down to our times, Culligan points to Orientals, Puerto Ricans, Mexicans, Negroes and others.

In the course of the "Image Minorities" series listeners will hear from such diverse persons as Vice President Richard M. Nixon, former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney, former U.S. Commissioner of Information and Naturalization Edward Corsi, Harry Golden, author of the best-selling "Only in America." Bob Considine is the narrator of the series.

"We want to show the contributions to American life made by minorities," says Culligan, "and so give a message to those who still have it to do."

Heart Disease Declines for Middle-Aged Men

NEW YORK (UPI)—The number of middleaged men who die of heart ailments has dropped since 1949, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

However, bad hearts continue to be the nation's most serious health problem for people between the ages of 45 and 64.

Leonardo da Vinci's famous "Mona Lisa" was stolen from the Louvre Gallery in Paris on Aug. 22, 1911, and was finally found in Florence, Italy, on Dec. 12, 1913.

Kosher Meat Soothes King of the Jungle

NEW YORK (UPI)—Alexander the Great, a 700-pound circus lion, had a king-size stomachache recently, but everything's fine now that he's getting 40 pounds of kosher meat every day.

The beast, according to a "lion doctor," got the tummy-ache from eating frozen meat. Kosher meat, freshly-killed, is more like what he had been accustomed to in the jungle.

Antique Dealer Uses 43 Rooms for Goods

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Milt Shlig is one antique dealer who is more connoisseur than collector. Most of the things that Shlig finds he keeps for himself. He now has 43 rooms full of items ranging from Hesta Bateman silver to Corinthian teapots.

★ ★ ★

Tree Allergic to Man

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—While the American beech will often grow to the age of 300 to 400 in the woods, it won't last long in civilization. According to experts (of the Davey Tree Co. here), the beech is just allergic to man.
