Williams Remedy for Cash Ills Due Tonight

Cites Power Over Competitors

Split GM in Two, Says Romney

DETROIT (AP) — Declaring that competitors of General Motors have existed only because General Motors let them exist, President George Romney of American Motors Corp. proposed today that GM be broken into two companies.

Romney, head of one of the two smaller firms of the industry's five car manufacturers, said his proposed GM breakup "would give us two companies with the competence of General Motors, instead of one."

At the same time, Romney proposed antitrust curbs for what he termed the excessive power of unions that "threatens to make union members the principal beneficiaries and bosses of our economy and nation."

Excess concentration now exists in the automotive and other industries, Romney said in a speech prepared for delivery befor the Detroit Adcraft Club, adding that most basic industries are dominated by one, two or three large companies.

GEORGE ROMNEY

In the auto industry GM Ford and Chrysler, the "Big Three," are by far the chief producers. American Motors and Studebaker-Packard are the other two.

"If," Romney said, "General Motors should decide to operate at an average profit satisfactory to all industry, say six per cent, there would be fewer companies left in the automobile industry in a very short time."

'BARELY MINIMUM'

The American Motors president said he thought the five passenger car manufacturers left "constitute barely the minimum number of adequate consumer choice and discipline."

But he quickly added: "Certainly, none of the remaining five automobile companies should be guaranteed a continuing existence."

Turning to the future of his own company, fourth among the five, Romney said "American Motors' future should depend upon our ability to produce cars and appliances, or render other services that customers voluntarily pay for, in sufficient quantity to maintain our economic life and vigor."

General Motors built 2,169,186 passenger cars in 1958, more than 51 per cent of all those produced in the United States. Romney's company built 217,281, against 114,084 in 1957 and was the only company to show a gain last year.

Reiterating proposals which he said he laid before a Senate committee a year ago, Romney said:

"When an individual company engaged in only one basic industry is doing more than 35 per cent of the business, or, when a company engaged in more than one basic industry is doing more than 25 per cent of the business, such companies should be required to submit their own programs for reducing their percentage of the particular business involved.

"An obvious way for them to do this would be through the creation

Will Spell Out State Tax Plan in TV Address

Levy Program Has Been Best-Kept Secret of Governor's Term

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Gov. Williams goes before the people on television at 7:30 p.m. tonight to divulge probably the best-kept secret of his 10 years in office — his prescription for raising 140 million dollars in new taxes.

Williams already has issued a new cash appeal to the state's "big money" businesses.

The governor asked 23 of Michigan's largest business taxpayers to send in their payments early to help the state out of its financial hole.

The favorite guess on Williams' plan was that he would recommend a graduated state income tax, a fairly stiff corporation profits tax and with few exceptions the other devices favored by a citizens' tax study group.

Unprecedented precautions were planned to safeguard the text of his TV script from premature publication or broadcast.

The dramatic buildup for the telecast was heightened the last two weeks by an extraordinary series of "brain picking" conferences held by the governor with leading bankers, industrialists, labor leaders, insurance men, municipal officials and others.

Joseph F. Dodge, president of the Detroit Bank and former U.S. budget director, and big three automotive tax experts were among those he consulted.

Publicly, the governor has only specified the size of the tax package he will urge on the Legislature next week to answer the state's long run revenue needs.

It coincided almost exactly with the proportions of the program advocated by all but three members

Roads Treacherous as Rain Becomes Ice

Road conditions were treacherous throughout Oakland County early this morning as the temperature hung at the freezing mark slickening rain covered roads and highways.

Police expect the main roads to improve through the day as travel over them increases, but dropping temperatures forecast for late afternoon and tonight may create extremely hazardous driving conditions by Saturday morning.

The official U.S. Weather Bureau forecast is for snow flurries, windy, and turning colder today. A high of 38 was recorded in Pontiac at 2 a.m. The thermometer had fallen to 30 by 8 a.m.

Temperatures will fall slowly during the day with a low of 15 forecast for tonight and a high of 20 Saturday. Winds will be northwesterly at 20-30 m.p.h. today diminishing tonight and tomorrow.

The five-day outlook calls for temperatures in the Pontiac area to average six degrees below the normal high of 33 and low of 19. It will be cold throughout the period with some warming about Tuesday. Snow will average about one-half inch Sunday and again Tuesday.

Police and sheriff's deputies in the Oakland County area received many calls inquiring about road conditions and reports of numerous minor accidents.

Patrolman Raymond Kent was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with a head cut suffered when he slipped and fell in a municipal parking lot while making parking meter collections.

Kent was treated in the emergency ward and released.

Policewoman Bernice Berger was a bit luckier. She was involved in a two-car collision at Franklin and Square Lake roads shortly after 9 a.m. but was uninjured.

Three occupants of the other car suffered minor injuries. They were Sadie L. Jackson, 27, and Annie Nelson, 19, both of 172 South Blvd., and Annie Jordan, 53, of 179 Harrison St.

Mrs. Jackson and Jordan were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and the Nelson girl was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

Pontiac police had received at least a half-dozen reports of property damage accidents by noon. State Police at both the Pontiac and Redford posts reported twice that number this morning as motorists started for work over glazed highways.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies reported four accidents from midnight to 8 a. m. and twice that number from 8 until noon.

The most bizarre smashup was reported by deputies shortly after midnight on U. S. 10 near M-15 in Independence Township.

Leonard J. Kopka, of 6421 Cramiane St., Clarkston, told deputies he was trying to stop for traffic ahead of him waiting at a traffic light but he skidded on icy pavement and went into a spin.

His auto shot wildly off the highway and smashed through two large plate glass windows in the front of a used furniture store at 6673 U.S. 10.

Deputies said no one was injured. The store was closed at the time.

An 18-year-old Pontiac youth, Jerry L. Christonson, of 3675 Oakshire St., was treated for minor

But No Murders Reported

City Crime Rate Soars in 1958

The amount of crime reported last year showed an increase over that of 1957, according to year-end figures released by the Pontiac Police Department.

A total of 2,046 crime complaints were made to the department in six major categories, ranging from auto theft to rape. The 1957 total was 1,850 cases.

In one major crime category —murder— no cases were reported last year. Six homicides in 1957 were all cleared.

The 1958 figures show there were 4 rapes reported, 33 robberies, 43 aggravated assaults, 668 burglaries, 1,139 larcenies and 165 auto thefts.

Burglary complaints showed a major increase, up from 560 in 1957. Only 448 burglaries were handled by the department in 1956.

The number of cases cleared by arrests showed the police posting a batting average of 100 per cent on the rape cases and 91 per cent on the aggravated assaults.

However, the percentage of burglaries cleared by arrests was far lower. Only 33 per cent were solved in 1958. This was still an improvement over 1957, when 29 per cent were cleared.

Auto theft arrests cleared 55 per cent, compared with 48 per cent the year before; and robbery arrests cleared 45 per cent, as against 35 per cent a year earlier.

Total arrests and tickets issued by the department in 1958 were 29,736, compared with 39,143 for 1957. These figures count only those persons formally charged.

Drunks arrested (644) dropped off from 1957 when 796 were placed in the hoosegow.

Other arrest figures show: 19 for forgery, 21 for embezzlement or fraud, 20 for illegal purchase or possessnon of weapons, 53 for sex offenses (up from 29 in 1957), and two for possession of stolen property.

Arrests by vice officers soared upward, with 42 prostitution arrests in the year, compared with 20 in 1957.

Gambling arrests totaled 256, up from 93 the previous year; and liquor law violation arrests numbered 116, as against 83 in 1957. One person was arrested in '58 for violating narcotic drug laws.

The traffic squad is past history (it was abolished at the end of 1958), but during the year police officers made 131 arrests for drunk driving, down from the 184 in 1957. Traffic tickets and arrests reached

London Smog Lifts Slightly

Poisonous Clouds Still Hover Over Rest of Fearful Britain

LONDON (AP)—Choking clouds of frightening smog lifted slightly from London today but still rolled their poisonous way across the rest of Britain.

Londoners hoped that the break meant there would be no repetition of the "yellow death" smog that killed 12,000 persons in Britain in 1952.

Enough fog was left, however, to slow all road and rail traffic. The capital's airport, 20 miles from the city center, was completely closed in.

Dense smog settled on Manchester, metropolis of the north. But a quick break in the Western approaches gave ships the chance to run for Welsh ports.

Government scientists warned that the concentration of smoke and poisonous fumes in the fog already is worse than on the first day of the killer smog in December, 1952.

Weather experts predicted no early break in the fog belt stretching from the Yorkshire moors to the south coast. Hourly readings on automatic measuring devices tended to get worse.

The poison content of the fog gradually built up as the black shroud trapped smoke and other fumes which normally would rise away from the public's breath space. Householders were asked to cut down on coal fires to reduce the smoke.

The peak of the 1952 smog was reached after four days. In London alone 4,000 persons died, mostly because of sulphur fumes from factory chimneys.

To Meet Tomorrow

County GOP Wants Action

Republicans of Oakland County are out to show President Eisenhower that the local party cannot be likened to a "hibernating elephant."

Party election workers, from precinct captains down to the housewife that rings your doorbell in a get-out-the-vote drive, will converge on the Bloomfield Hills High School tomorrow morning for a new type of "Action Conference."

LAWRENCE B. LINDEMER

"We think this meeting offers a new twist to the technique of political planning," said Arthur G. Elliott Jr. county chairman. "In essence, we're asking all of our workers for their ideas to help draw up a plan of action for the party for the coming years."

President Eisenhower had warned party leaders to not let the party become like "the hibernating elephant who wakes with a mighty trumpet blast at election time."

"The elephant here is wide awake and we're not going to let it sleep again," declared Elliott.

Coming here to make sure this doesn't happen will be Lawrence B. Lindemer, state GOP chairman, who is expected to be the "whip" behind a reorganization campaign here.

Lindemer, who will seek reelection as chairman at the state convention in Detroit Feb. 13-14, will moderate a discussion period after the workers split into panels to offer suggestions on how the organization can be spruced up.

"We expect to receive some fine suggestions," Elliott remarked. "But we also figure that teamwork will develop when the workers feel they have had a hand in the planning."

Cochairmen of the event will be Gordon T. Getsinger and Marshall Wolfe, both of Bloomfield Township.

Crash on Dixie Kills Flint Man

Car Skids Head-On Into Path of Steel Trailer in Holly Township

A 26-year-old Flint man was dead on arrival at Flint's St. Joseph Hospital early this morning, after losing control of his auto on icy pavement on U.S.-10 and smashing head-on into a double-bottom semi-trailer loaded with steel.

Oakland Highway Toll in '59 3

Flint State Police identified the victim as Dwight A. Suggs, 26, of 502 E. Fourth St. He was alone in the car.

The accident occurred at 6:45 a.m. about 1½ miles south of the Oakland-Genessee County Line in Holly Township.

Suggs was traveling north near Lahring road when he lost control of his car on an icy curve in the highway and skidded across the center line into the path of the southbound truck driven by Howard F. Wendel, 34, of Wyandotte, troopers said.

Chance Meeting Nets MSUO $100 Contribution

Mr. and Mrs. Colbert became engaged in conversation with a fellow passenger on a recent trip and it developed in the discussion that Mrs. Colbert was a member of the MSUO Foundation. The stranger asked whether this was the institution of which "Woody" Varner was recently named chancellor and he was advised affirmatively.

"He and I went to the same university," said the stranger, "and I admire him and his work tremendously. I'm from Houston but I'm going to give you a check for $100 to go toward a scholarship at this new university as a token of my regard for Varner."

Mrs. Colbert has the check and some lucky young man or woman in the Pontiac area will go through part of one year on the beneficence of a stranger who admires the head of the new institution. The Houston man's name is Michel T. Halbouty.

Area Woman Dies, Mate Hurt in Crash

Headed for a Florida vacation, a Waterford Township woman was killed and her husband injured in a three-car smashup 10 miles west of Ann Arbor early last night.

The car of John C. Mitchell, 58, of 2349 W. Walton Blvd., skidded out of control on a patch of ice on U. S. 12 and collided head-on with another auto, Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies said.

Mitchell's wife, Lillian, 54, was dead of crushed chest injuries on arrival at University Hospital in Ann Arbor. Mitchell was treated at the hospital for head and leg injuries.

Seriously injured was the driver of the other car, Peter J. Smith, 37, of Detroit, who suffered internal injuries and a broken arm, leg and ankle, the hospital said.

The third driver, Richard Gutekunst, 43, of Jackson, struck the rear of Smith's car and was not hurt, deputies said.

Pledges U.S. Haste to Put Man in Space

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. T. Keith Glennan assured a Senate space inquiry today that the U.S. will try "with the same sense of urgency we had during the war" to place a man in orbit "within the next couple of years."

The director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration made the pledge in a statement to the Senate group headed by majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) which is investigating U.S. progress in space exploration.

"This committee wants to know where we now stand," Johnson said. "When can the American people expect to catch up with the Russians?"

Glennan's statement did not answer the question directly, but said the effect of Russian space achievements has been "enormous," and "our space mission is so vital we must carry it forward with the same sense of urgency we had during the war."

Glennan reported that the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis will build "capsules we hope to use to send a man into orbital flight within the next couple of years."

"We are calling upon every scientific and technological capability of the nation that can contribute to this program," he said.

The NASA chief also:

—Said that before the end of the year a flight of the Air Force X-15 rocket plane to an altitude of 100 miles should "stretch our big toe into the edges of space." The plane will go almost high enough to achieve an orbit, but lack of speed would prevent this.

—Predicted that the "cluster" of Jupiter rockets being put together by the Army will make it possible in 1962 "to put 10 tons of payload into orbit and to send two tons of payload into deep space, far beyond the moon." The 10-rocket cluster is expected to have a total thrust of 1,500,000 pounds.

Johnson commented that Russian space successes "indicate boosters of greater power than we possess and give evidence of their technical achievements."

Before Glennan testified, Johnson announced he would ask the Central Intelligence Agency to clear up conflicting reports on Soviet missile strength. He said officials of the super-secret agency would be questioned later in a closed-door session.

Pontiac Industrial Leader Announces His Retirement

GOODLOE H. ROGERS

Goodloe H. Rogers, one of Pontiac's long-time industrial and civic leaders, today announced his resignation, effective Sunday, as president and general manager of American Forging & Socket Co.

He will be succeeded as general manager by Robert B. Stewart, vice president, who has been with the Pontiac firm since 1942.

Although relinquishing the post he has held almost 15 years, Rogers planned to remain active in business and professional circles and to continue as a board member with the auto parts manufacturing concern.

An attorney, sports enthusiast, one-time circuit judge and Pontiac official, Rogers was first affiliated with American Forging & Socket Co. in 1933 in a legal capacity and joined its Board of Directors the next year.

He served as secretary with the

2 Orion Youths Face Charges

To Be Arraigned Today for Cutting Brake and Gas Lines on Buses

Two Lake Orion teenagers faced arraignment today on charges of damaging school buses, causing an estimated 1,000 Lake Orion pupils to miss classes.

Complaints against Lee Shoup, 17, of 30 S. Andrews St., and Peter Shaw, 17, of 209 E. Jackson St., were filed by Superintendent of Schools Arlie A. Reed.

The Lake Orion High School seniors will probably be arraigned this afternoon on charges of malicious destruction by Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stanaback, said Jerome K. Barry, assistant prosecutor.

Two other boys, ages 14 and 15, whom Reed described as "bystanders," were to be taken by state police to Juvenile Court for possible prosecution.

Reed said Shoup and Shaw admitted cutting brake and gas lines on five school buses the night of Jan. 13, giving as a reason only that "we wanted to get a holiday from school."

Because the $65 damage was not discovered until drivers set out for their runs the next day, about 40 per cent of the school district's children failed to make it to school, Reed said.

Another 10 per cent who normally would ride the buses were delivered to schools by parents, he added.

The decision to prosecute the boys was made at a Board of Education meeting, Reed said.

Young Shoup is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Shoup. Shaw's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Shaw.

Car Output Totals 119,300 This Week

DETROIT (AP) — Passenger car output in the United States this week will total 119,300 units, compared with 126,843 last week and 104,359 in the same 1958 week, Automotive News said Thursday.

The decline is attributed to curtailed operations at Chrysler and Buick plants and reduced overtime operations at Oldsmobile.

The trade paper said truck output this week will amount to 24,650 units against 24,465 last week and 18,272 in the same 1958 week.

U. S. Offers Variety of Weather

By The Associated Press

A variety of weather prevailed across the country today, with precipitation in much of the Eastern half and in northwest sections.

It was wintry in northern areas from the Rockies into the upper Great Lakes region, with fresh snow and cold.

But warm air from the Gulf sent temperatures upward from the Gulf Coast to Pennsylvania and West Virginia. They were above freezing as far north as Southern New England.

A snow storm from the Great Plains moved into northern Midwest areas and heavy falls were in prospect from northwest Iowa northeastward into upper Michigan.

Rain, drizzle and fog prevailed in wide areas from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic coast, near the cold front separating the warm and cold air masses. Skies cleared west of the cold air.

Dahlberg Urges United Church to Save World

Speaking at the 40th annual meeting of the Detroit Council of Churches, Dahlberg said that critical world situations make imperative the need for churches to stand together. He declared:

"It is not communism alone that we have to fear. We need to fear much more the judgment of God—the possibility that all nations together, of every race and ideology, may be doomed to annihilation by satanic instruments of our own making."

Dahlberg said that the people need to realize that "our defense must be more nonmilitary than military — it must be defense by repentance rather than by deterrence."

He added that "far more important than stepping up our resources for massive retaliation is stepping up our message of massive reconciliation".

OFFERS CAUTION WORD

Yet, in his budget message to the Legislature on Tuesday the governor cautioned against concluding on this basis that he was "endorsing or otherwise accepting the committee's report as to specific measures."

The Citizens' Committee package was keyed to a personal income tax, with rates graduated from three to eight per cent and a $40 per person tax credit, estimated to yield 220 million dollars a year.

It was conceivable but improbable that a flat rate income tax, viewed with more favor by many Republican legislators, could get Williams' blessing—but only provided exemptions were far higher than any now in effect in a northern state.

The state revenue department estimated the 23 big taxpayers will pay a total of 28 million dollars in taxes due June 30.

"If we can get some cash in the treasury now," Williams said, "we will be a lot better able to keep the universities, state payrolls and welfare payments going for a while longer."

He added that advance payment of taxes "will just stave off the crisis for a little while."

At Ann Arbor, U. of M. faculty members who were told today they may not get paid after March 5 were worried about the "long range" effect on U. of M. as well as their own personal "cash crisis."

injuries at General Hospital after skidding into a tree on Williams Lake Road near M59, in Waterford Township late last night, said deputies.

All schools in the Rochester, Avondale, Birmingham districts were reported open today but buses only traveled on the main highways. Students who are usually picked up by the bus on the back roads had to walk to the main highways for the transportation.

Hazardous road conditions forced Romeo and Armada Community Schools to close today.

Farmington Township police reported miles of traffic jammed up on roads throughout the township this morning. However, only one injury accident has occurred in the past 24 hours, they said.

Jeanette Helgren 22, of 28570 Shroeder Rd., suffered minor head and face injuries when riding as a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Frances Brim of 28598 Greencastle Rd. She is being held under observation at Redford Medical Hospital.

The car skidded on the icy pavement into the bridge abutment on 10-Mile road, a quarter of a mile east of Middlebelt road at 7:30 this morning.

Since midnight 10 minor accidents have been reported in Southfield, according to police.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 29 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 26.

Man Dies, Road Melts as Oil Truck Burns

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit truck driver burned to death last night when the oil truck he was driving went out of control in nearby Brownstown Township, crashed into a tree and burst into flames.

Police said Orie Seibole, 47, was trapped in the truck cab.

The fire closed the southbound lane of busy Telegraph road to traffic and heat from the flames melted the asphalt for 100 yards.

The truck was pulling two trailer oil tanks. It was owned by Rex Transportation Co. of Taylor Township.

WATER SAFETY GEAR ON DISPLAY — These are some of the water safety and rescue devices being exhibited this week at the Detroit Boat Show by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department lake patrol. The patrol, which went into operation for the first time last summer, is staffed by almost 50 special deputies.

Display Draws Interest at Boat Show

Sheriff's Lake Patrol Featured

The unique display features diving and lifesaving equipment used by the patrol, which was organized last summer.

The booth is being manned by 33 local patrolmen working in shifts. Its main objective is to educate boat enthusiasts on the various aspects of water safety.

The deputies hand out to all those interested a free pamphlet listing the dos and don'ts of boating and swimming.

On display are different types of life jackets and preservers for both adults and children, and deputies readily demonstrate the proper use of these items.

An interesting part of the display is the diving gear complete with oxygen tank that Bill Jackson, department skin diver, uses whenever called upon to make a fast rescue or recover the body of a drowning victim.

The booth also displays pictures of water patrol activities during the past year. The department's official rescue boat is also there.

"The men are doing a fine job of proving that they are far more interested in teaching people how to avoid the dangers of water sports than in merely handing out tickets," said Sheriff Frank W. Irons.

The doors open daily at 11 a.m. and remain open until 11 each night.

'58 Brings Increase in Crime Rate Here

27,718 in 1958, a steep drop from 37,141 a year earlier.

In reviewing the statistics, it is apparent that crimes of violence were down in '58 from the previous year. No homicides, 4 rapes and 43 aggravated assaults were handled in the past year — as against 6 homicides, 12 rapes and 86 aggravated assaults in '57.

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman said the high increase in vice arrests over '57 does not indicate more vice in Pontiac, but increased enforcement activity by police officers.

"There is a possibility that statistics in 1959 will show an increase in criminal cases," Eastman said. He explained that all complaints received by the police department are being checked out, whereas in the past officers filed reports only on cases they believed to be of a serious enough nature.

Ask Committee to Probe State Labor Picture

LANSING (UPI) — Four Republicans and one Democrat want to establish a special Senate committee to investigate labor activities and Michigan's over-all business climate.

A resolution filed before the Senate Business Committee yesterday would create a committee to see that Michigan's labor force is not "enticed away nor weakened."

Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater), chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, said the investigating committee would not be created to "harass anyone."

Other members of Smeekens' committee joined with the Coldwater Republican in sponsoring the bill — Sens. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland), Arthur A. Dehmel (R-Unionville), Paul Younger (R-Lansing) and Garland Lane (D-Flint).

On GM's dominance, he said:

"Not only has General Motors dominated the industry for the past 20 years, but in the absence of an adequate and effective antitrust policy, its competitors have existed only because of the pursuance by General Motors of a policy that permitted them to exist.

"General Motors has the power to eliminate some other companies from the automobile industry. Evidence of this ability is contained in its profit level.

"Now, because of their tremendous contribution, General Motors is entitled to much more than an average profit, just as Floyd Patterson (heavyweight boxing champion) is entitled to more than the average purse for the average heavyweight. To provide incentive and competition, the champion in industry should expect and receive a champion's reward."

'MUST BE SATISFIED'

Saying that the United Auto Workers Union had raised the question of whether GM's profits are too high, Romney said that "citizens and consumers must be satisfied that profits being earned by a company are achieved in competition with an adequate number of competent competitors, and added:

"Unless they are satisfied, we are exposed to the ability of those now attacking our economy to persuade the people that the government should intervene in some manner that will seriously impair the functions of our competitive system.

"This is already developing. We are confronted with reluctant presidential hints of wage-price control. We are threatened with UAW back legislative proposals for price hearings prior to companies' instituting price increases and many other proposals."

In 1958, General Motors had profits of $333,541,249, equal to $1.17 a share of its outstanding common stock. It made $843,592,000 or $2.99 a share in 1957 and a record $1,189,477,000 in 1955.

"If you will analyze the current position of General Motors," Romney said, "it cannot grow significantly in the automobile industry without finding itself in difficulty with the government and the antitrust laws, even though antitrust laws are currently deficient in their application to companies that clearly dominate an industry."

Insisting his split-up plan, with the capital gains tax to apply only when a holder sold his shares in one of the remaining companies, would give "a greater degree of competitive equality," Romney said it also "would remove a principal excuse for the excess power now wielded by monopolistic unions."

Sen. Green Resigns as Committee Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI) resigned today as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee because of his age and failing eyesight and hearing.

Green, 91, is the oldest senator. The committee called a hurried meeting to elect Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) as Green's successor.

A native of Detroit, Rogers has spent almost all of his life in Pontiac. He and Mrs. Rogers, who make their home at 25 Ottawa Dr., are planning an extended vacation in the near future.

Educated in Pontiac schools, Rogers attended Olivet College and took his law degree at the University of Michigan Law School in 1913.

After post-graduate work at Harvard University and a period in which he was active in professional sports, Rogers began private practice in Pontiac.

Two years with the legal department of the Oakland Motor Car Co. were followed by 10 years as director of law for Pontiac, 1922-32.

In 1935, Rogers was appointed to serve a year on the Oakland County Circuit Court bench, filling the unexpired term of Frank L. Covert.

In later years, Rogers served several times as president of the Pontiac Manufacturers Assn. and was president of the Automotive Parts Manufacturers Assn., a national group, in 1954.

He was 1935 president of the Oakland County Bar Assn., chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee in 1940, and served two three-year terms on the University of Michigan Board in Control of Intercollegiate Athletics, 1946-52.

Selected as an all-state quarterback during his undergraduate days at Olivet, Rogers was a star catcher at the U. of M. and later went on to catch for several professional teams, including the old St. Louis Americans and Pittsburgh Nationals.

He coached several years at University of Detroit and Pontiac Central High School before turning his full attention to law.

AAA Says Record Bad

Said the AAA:

The Day in Birmingham

Saturday Morning Swim Is Popular With Youths

BIRMINGHAM — Based on attendance figures compiled by the city's Recreation Board, the Saturday morning swim classes for school children was one of the most popular programs offered last year. During the 30 weeks of swimming at Barnum Elementary School, Derby Junior High School and Birmingham High School over 14,000 "man-hours" were recorded.

The summer playground program had a record year with 10,500 attendance chalked up in the 42 activities held.

Robert Girardin, recreation director, said nearly every program offered last year showed a substantial increase in attendance.

Baseball again led the summer program with the 21 school and park diamonds attracting an estimated 35,000 players and spectators.

Riflery had 305 boys and girls enrolled from June 23 to Aug. 1. Children were trained in the use of firearms as well as how to shoot straight. The success of the latter was proven by Frank McCormick who turned in a perfect 1,000 score in the annual meet.

New to the program last year was the week-long Art Festival held throughout the city. This event featured the work of most of the area's best-known artists. It attracted thousands of visitors from out of town, especially to the open displays in Shain Park.

The 18 areas used for the recreation program included city-owned parks, schools and their athletic fields and for several special events, the Community House.

Participants came from the School District which extends beyond city limits.

Feeling that other organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce and the Recreation Board are better suited for the job, the group which has for the past 22 years supervised the annual Halloween Party has resigned.

Roland W. Reese, committee chairman, said the entire records of all past parties will be turned over to any new committee named in the community.

He said the old group will do what they can in an advisory line but it is their honest opinion that a new committee can stage the party with a greater degree of success.

Slipping and sliding, 375 women toured the city last night on the annual March of Dimes. Chairman of the drive, Mrs. Arthur J. Otis, 475 Puritan Rd., said about $5,500 was taken in during the one hour campaign against polio.

The Young Adults Club at the Birmingham YMCA will meet at 1:45 p.m. Sunday at the "Y" building for a two hour skating party at Eton Park rink. Chairman Bill Etheridge said dinner at a nearby restaurant will conclude the afternoon's activities.

Seek Applicants for 18 Pontiac Police Posts

Applications for 18 vacancies on the Pontiac Police Department force are now being accepted at the personnel office in City Hall.

Applicants must be between 21-28 years of age and have resided in Pontiac at least one year in order to qualify for the force.

Deadline for submitting applications is 5 p.m. next Friday.

Instead of attending the Detroit Police Academy, the 18 rookie patrolmen will be trained in Pontiac, Public Safety Director George D. Eastman said today.

The training course will start off with four weeks of classroom instruction, followed by four weeks of field work.

Rookies will attend classes again for four weeks, and then be coached by veteran officers for two to four weeks, Eastman said.

Outside instructors will teach the new patrolmen, in addition to Pontiac police officers. The training course will last for approximately 16 weeks, the public safety director said, after which time the new men will be assigned regular duties.

Seek to Restore Michilimackinac

Ask State for $17,500 to Plan Renewal of Old Mackinaw City Fort

LANSING (AP)—The Mackinac Island State Park Commission Thursday asked the Legislature for $17,500 to start planning on a proposed $400,000 to $500,000 restoration of Old Fort Michilimackinac at Mackinaw City.

W. Stuart Woodfill, commission chairman, depicted the project as "a boon to the north country, another step in a large scale restoration of the Straits of Mackinac area."

Woodfill said the commission hopes planning will be finished late this year and first bonds sold in the summer of 1960. The restored fort, he said, will be opened the following summer if all goes well.

Bonds would be retired by paid admissions.

The commission this month sold $75,000 in revenue bonds for the second phase of its restoration of Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island.

Nearly 119,000 persons who paid to visit the fort last summer retired the first $50,000 bond issue in one year.

Mental Patients Better Off With Jobs at Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An experiment in assigning patients with serious mental illness to jobs in Letterman Army Hospital has won enthusiastic acceptance by supervisors.

Lt. Col. Thomas B. Hauschild, chief of Letterman's psychiatric service, said when the three-year program was started in 1956, most ofthe patients involved were convalescing from acute psychotic episodes.

Hospital supervisors were skeptical about giving them run of the place, Hauschild said.

Job assignments range from messengers to assistants in chiropody.

"There is increasing appreciation that isolation of the psychiatric patient in a mental hospital may be detrimental for him," Col. Hauschild said.

37,000 Die in Highway Accidents

Traffic Toll in '58 Lowest Since '54

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents in the United States took a heavy toll in 1958, but the number of persons killed, 37,000, was the lowest since 1954.

The National Safety Council, reporting today on motor vehicle accidents said it estimates that 1,300,000 persons suffered crippling traffic injuries.

The cost, including property destruction, wage loss, medical expense and overhead cost of insurance, was put at $5,400,000,000.

"When you think of the price we are still paying for highway accidents in life and limb and money," the council commented, "there is little cause for complacency or satisfaction over the reduction of the death toll."

The traffic death toll of 37,000 was 1,700 lower than in 1957 and approximately 900 below the total of 39,628 in 1956. Thus, the council said, the result was a two-year saving of 2,600 lives, achieved in the face of a five per cent increase in highway travel for that period. The 1958 death rate was 5.6 deaths for every 100 million vehicle miles.

In 21 of the past 24 months, the council said, the death toll was lower than the same month of the preceding year.

Despite the two-year downtrend in fatality statistics, the death toll was roughly equal to the 1950 population of Portsmouth, Ohio, or Newport, R.I. Las year's deahs on the highways were four per cent under the 38,702 in 1957 and seven per cent fewer than the 39,528 in 1956. The total compared to the 1954 toll of 35,586, which was the lowest since 1950. The record toll is 39,969, set in 1941.

The council said "there has been sustained improvement" in the accident toll. "There are indications everywhere that the public is becoming more and more aroused over the needless bloodshed and destruction on the streets and highways," it added.

Thirty-one states reported fewer traffic deaths in 1958 than in 1957, ranging from 27 per cent in Vermont to 3 per cent in Missouri. Of 693 cities reporting to the council, 308 had fewer deaths than the previous year. Toledo's 41 per cent reduction was the greatest among larger cities. However, 133 cities had perfect no-death records for the year.

'We Will Not Integrate' -- South

(Editor's Note: For the past 10 days, Jack V. Fox, roving reporter for United Press International, has been traveling through Virginia, Alabama and Georgia. Earlier he was in Little Rock, Ark. In the following dispatch he gives an outsider's observations on how the South stands today on segregation.)

By JACK V. FOX

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI)—You hear on every side in the South today the flat and uncompromising point that this region will never integrate Negroes and whites.

The white stand is that the South not only will not integrate, but by tradition, culture and decades of custom, the South cannot integrate.

And yet on every side, in various ways and in individual instances, the South is in fact integrating.

The schools of Norfolk, Virginia's largest city, and three other communities in the state, apparently are going to admit a small group of Negroes next Monday morning after collapse of the "massive resistance" laws which closed nine schools serving 13,000 students.

Atlanta, the South's great metropolis, has just quietly accepted the desegregation of Negroes on its trolley system. There has not been an incident over it. Thirty-four other southern cities now have integrated buses, including Little Rock, New Orleans, Miami, Nashville, Richmond, Chattanooga and Dallas, Raleigh and Charlotte.

On the Border States, more than a quarter-million Negro children are now going to public schools with whites. There are 10,000 more in white classes in Texas. North Carolina has token integration.

Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia—up to now—are segregated at public school levels and most of those states have authorized the governor to close any school faced with integration.

But the wedge has been opened on the college level in three of them — Louisiana, Virginia and Florida.

Just outside Montgomery, Ala., the first capital of the Confederacy, a state circuit judge went through the motions of keeping voter registration records in two heavily Negro counties from President Eisenhower's new Civil Rights Commission.

He turned them over instead to county grand juries but those bodies promptly made the records available to the federal investigators.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson's proposal for some sort of "mediation board" on segregation disputes is evidence that the very top southern Democratic leadership feels the South must take some new positive approach to the problems.

LITTLE ROCK SYMBOL

Little Rock has become a symbol of the South's determination to shut the schools if it is necessary. But the city's new school board is now faced with a federal order to proceed with the re-opening of controversial Central High School and to admit some Negroes. It is noteworthy that half a dozen other Arkansas communities have integration.

A factor of considerable significance is the growing momentum of those moderate southern forces who are not willing to pay the price of a complete shutdown of the public schools. They are prominent here in Atlanta where signs can be seen on automobiles, "We want our public schools."

It is not a question of southerners going over to the side of integration. Polls have shown that six out of seven whites are against it. But they are frustrated and distraught at the endless skirmishing and maneuvering and employment of subterfuge to get around it.

It dominates almost every conversation. There is no question of southerners not wanting to talk with the outsider about it. Instead they are movingly eager to get their point of view across.

There is reason to believe they are making headway in convincing northerners that this matter of proceeding "at deliberate speed" means integration should be going more slowly than it is.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, probably the foremost spokesman for the Negro integration force, sees danger in this.

GRADUAL MEANS NEVER

"Gradualism in the white South means never," he says. "Certainly the process of Negro equality is going to take time. We don't think that integration is going to come tomorrow. Certainly there are cultural and educational lags on the Negro's part in a number of areas in the South.

"But the southern whites don't want it to come gradually — why the Little Rock plan was going to 10 to 12 years. It was the epitome of gradualism."

It was interesting to note the impact made in the South by Sen. Herman Talmadge's proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution. It would turn over administration of public schools exclusively to the states and their subdivisions.

Editor Ralph McGill wrote in the Atlanta Constitution:

"He (Talmadge) became the first Deep South Senator or Congressman publicly to state the Supreme Court decision on the schools 'is an accomplished fact' which will remain so until it either is reversed by the court itself or nullified or modified by the Congress or the people.

"It cuts through the hypocrisy that has been one of the features of politics in the Deep South. A good 99 per cent of the South's political leadership has all along admitted that the court's action was constitutionally valid. They have said, privately, "we know it is inevitable that the schools close unless some positive action is taken." But publicly they have encouraged the mob, the haters, the minds which think in terms of bombing churches and schools, by the most outrageous vilification and denials of court authority and law."

See Lowest Death Toll

EAST LANSING (UPI)—This weekend will decide if this month will have Michigan's lowest January peacetime highway death toll in 25 years.

There were 56 deaths through Wednesday, a reduction of 34 from the 90 for the same period last year. The lowest January death other than during the wartime was 81 in 1952.

State Police said there were 14 deaths last year on the weekend compared with this one.

Commissioners Suggest New Vote on Civil Service for Police

Pontiac's Commissioners want another vote on this Civil Service for the police. The vote asking the referendum was unanimous.

Under the previous system, our City moved ahead with a minimum of noise, confusion and loud shouting. But since we've had this particular Civil Service package, the corridors of the City Hall have echoed and reverberated with calumny and hideous sounds. There have been charges and counter charges. There have been recriminations. There has been altogether too much chaos and just plain confusion.

Civil Service seems to do great things for many employes in many occupations. But our type of Civil Service for a police force may be a horse of another color. Perhaps it isn't adaptable. Perhaps it simply won't work. And perhaps we had the wrong Civil Service set up. Other cities with the same deal as ours seem to be having trouble and regrets.

After all, there may be a fundamental difference between the administration of a police force and working conditions in an apiary, a foundry or a zoo. Certainly the City of Pontiac has witnessed more dissatisfaction in in the Police Department than we had before by a wide, wide margin. There's absolutely no argument about this.

NEVER has there been such a turmoil.

NEVER has the place rocked on its foundation as it has under this setup.

The PRESS feels the City Commissioners have become convinced the citizens should be given an opportunity to toss this one particular Civil Service into oblivion.

Maybe that's where it belongs.

Maybe that's where it should have been all the time.

The motion was made by Commissioner WILLIAM DONALDSON, former Mayor, and one of the closest students of Pontiac's city government in the past decade. City Commissioner ROBERT A. LANDRY said:

"Morale in the department has reached a new low and will continue to decline. Real discipline is now unattainable."

We don't need military setups in civilian life, but the police department must have certain organizational features that tend in this direction. Anything else might prove to be folly.

THEODORE CARLSON, former Chairman of the Civil Service Commission said he would fight the repeal personally. Perhaps it would be more becoming for the former Chairman of the Commission to assume a neutral position and a more judicial and impartial attitude. He has a personal oar in the puddle.

If the people are happy over the way the Police Department has gone, they can re-affirm their previous vote. If they think we need a change, they can vote accordingly. The Press feels that a change could only move in one direction — upward.

Aren't we at the bottom now?

Pontiac Area Fortunate to Have Service Center

Pontiac and this area should voice a vote of thanks to the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center for its splendid contribution to our area.

Major ERNEST ALDER and his competent assistants have achieved an outstanding record in their first full year of operation. The unusual part of the center's activities is that they have never asked for a penny's worth of assistance since coming to Pontiac.

Particularly newsworthy is the fact that the center operated on a budget of $238,377 for the year. According to Major Alder, that is precisely what they spent and what they took in.

Our area has benefited from their activities since they cared for 447 emotionally disturbed men. In the past, this service has not been available on an expense-free basis.

Rehabilitation of this growing army of unfortunates is a continuing problem and we are exceptionally fortunate to have the advantages of this Salvation Army's Service Center.

Good Samaritan Acts; Some Others That Aren't So Good

Ground hog: An animal that if he's getting restless he's a chump.

This column wishes that four certain young men would identify themselves. They have a light truck and have been pulling cars back into the highway, that have run off the roads between Pontiac and Rochester.

They refuse to accept any pay for their work, saying only, "We're Boy Scouts." Several people for whom they did the Good Samaritan act have phoned me about it.

Also sought is the identity of the young man who stopped when the car of

of Clarkston skidded into the ditch on the Rochester Road. When he saw it was a female driver, he merely grunted, "Just like a woman," and drove away. But the above four young men came to her rescue later.

When his car got stuck in a drift on Cranbrook Road, of Birmingham went for help. When he returned he found that somebody had unsuccessfully tried to get it out and took his top coat and ski boots.

Many drivers are wasting gasoline by carrying a few hundred pounds of slush and ice under their cars and on the roof, hood and rear deck. The wise driver doesn't give it a ride any longer than absolutely necessary.

There's a dog around the home of

on the Dixie Highway, near Waterford Hill, that jumped from a car when it skidded into the fence the other night, and ran away. The owner waited for a few hours, but the dog did not return until the next morning. Now it won't eat, and whines most of the time.

Something Happened to the Middle of the Road

David Lawrence Says:

Talmadge Bill Needs Addition

WASHINGTON — Eight southern Senators have taken a significant step to refute the notion that the south believes in lawless ways. Senator Herman E. Talmadge, of Georgia, Democrat, has introduced a proposed amendment to the federal constitution which is intended to give the states exclusive control of their school systems.

LAWRENCE

Whether one agrees or disagrees with this proposal as a solution of the tragic conditions brought about by the segregation-integration controversy in the courts, the fact is that the southern Senators have come forward with a legitimate means of overcoming what they consider the ill effects of the 1954 "desegregation" decision of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The big question, however, is whether the proposed amendment, when analyzed, does really provide the solution desired by the south. Senator Talmadge rightly says:

"The closing of any school anywhere is a lamentable occurrence. The closing of a public-school system is a terrible tragedy. The destruction of public education in an entire region of our nation would be an unparalleled catastrophe."

Yet a realistic appraisal of the facts of the matter affords no conclusion but that that will be the inevitable result of binding the citizens of the South in the chains of circumstance now being forged around them. And the real losers of such an eventuality unfortunately will be those who have the least to say about it — the school children of the South and their parents.

But the amendment which Senator Talmadge offers does not delineate the fundamental constitutional right of the parents to decide for themselves how their children shall be educated.

The text of the proposed amendment is as follows:

"Administrative control of any public school, public educational institution, or public educational system operated by any state or by any political or other subdivision thereof, shall be vested exclusively in such state and subdivision and nothing contained in this constitution shall be construed to deny to the residents thereof the right to determine for themselves the manner in which any such school, institution or system is administered by such state and subdivision."

It would be easy enough, however, for the Supreme Court to rule that even today nothing in the Constitution interferes with the right of local school authorities to "administer" the educational institutions themselves and that discrimination on the basis of race or color or creed is not an "administrative" matter at all but a question of citizenship rights.

What needs to be done, of course, is to include in the proposed amendment an affirmation of the right of parents — the citizens themselves — to determine what kind of educational institutions they wish their children to attend. The individual may discriminate but the state cannot.

This means, under present conditions, two school systems or two sets of classes within the same school buildings or separate buildings.

Obviously there are parents who do not mind seeing their children enrolled in "integrated" schools. Other parents want their children in segregated schools.

A constitutional amendment that spells out the rights of parents and gives a discretionary right to the state legislatures or local school boards to set up a dual system is the only method that will assure "freedom of choice" for the parents.

The tuition-grant system offers another alternative, but, in the absence of some new constitutional authority, this cannot mean any quasi-public-school system but a 100-per cent-private system.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Grind Own Whole Wheat and Be Sure of Vitamin E

Vitamin E, say Bicknell and Prescott in "The Vitamins in Medicine" "cures and prevents muscular dystrophy in rabbits, guinea pigs and various other animals. It is difficult to understand why wheat germ oil should ever be given in preference to whole wheat germ. It is certain that the oil cannot contain anything not present in the parent germ, and it is equally certain that much of the value may be lost. Is, indeed, without doubt lost in as far as the vitamin B complex and minerals are concerned."

DR. BRADY

It has not been positively established that lack of vitamin E is a fact of muscular dystrophy in humans. There is no scientific evidence to support the widely propagated theory that vitamin E prevents heart failure or cures heart disease.

There is scientific evidence that vitamin E deficiency is a cause of sterility in animals.

Wheat germ is superior to wheat germ oil as a source of vitamin E. Wheat germ oil becomes rancid more quickly than wheat germ, and even the slightest rancidity, scarcely perceptive to smell, indicates great loss of vitamin E.

Injections of wheat germ oil have no greater effect than wheat germ oil by mouth. Beware the "clinic" racketeer who keeps you running to his shop for "shots" of this or that vitamin.

From experiments in animal feeding, many nutrition authorities have concluded that vitamin E deficiency is a cause of abortion or premature birth, and some good physicians are convinced that this applies to humans too. So these physicians prescribe about 1-10th grain of tocopherol (concentrated wheat germ oil) daily to prevent threated or habitual abortion. Why they prefer concentrated wheat germ oil to whole wheat germ is difficult to understand—but doctors are as likely to be gullible as anyone else.

Wheat germ begins to become rancid in a few days, so in order to get full vitamin value, one should get it fresh from the mill at least once a week, better twice a week.

If that is not practicable, use plain wheat instead of wheat germ, ground or cracked in the old coffee mill or electric home mill. For instructions send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Wheat To Eat.

It is certain that wheat germ cannot contain anything not present in plain wheat. But to enjoy good eating and good health which the staff of life provided for our forefathers one must have the determination or the gumption to lay in a supply of wheat.

Many poor geeks are too timid to do so. They think wheat is not quite fit for human consumption.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

A recent survey revealed only about 25 per cent of Pontiac population adequately protected. It's imperative that steps be taken in time to correct this situation before another polio season rolls around and we find ourselves in an epidemic as Detroit did.

'You'll Be Repaid for Feeding Birds'

My husband and I think it would be wonderful if more folks took it to heart about feeding the little birds and every starving creature. We have a large flock of birds around our home that we take care of the best we can.

The little birds know they'll have food waiting for them in the morning. We also have a little squirrel that knows he is very hungry when he will take food from my hand. My husband and I love every wild creature.

Please, folks, feed the wild life as best you can. You shall be rewarded by them for doing it. Also, God shall reward you for helping them.

Why shouldn't Castro shoot the opposition down? Batista set the style in Cuba.

Castro looks across a small stretch of ocean and sees the United States bowing and bending before the bloodiest bully of them all, the Russian crown prince. If he gets into six figures, he might visit the United States and get wined and dined by the top business men, for that's the kind of reputation that seems to make friends.

With the tiny number he has knocked off, he'll only be entertained by the skid row gang. Castro better raise his sights to bigger and better murdering.

Likes Statement by Old Gentleman

I like the current statement of a 91-year-old man who said:

"Years ago I gave away all my life's savings to prevent its unjust confiscation by government death taxes. At the present time, I am the honored guest of my children and grandchildren, which is one kind of old age insurance that has always enjoyed the blessing of Almighty God."

44-Year-Old—and Jealous

Case Records of a Psychologist:

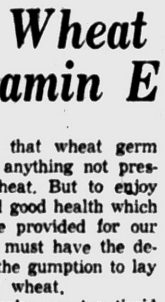

Newness Isn't Always Popular

Note George's query. Despite the popular emphasis on novelty and "newness", don't you still order your lifelong breakfast menu item of "ham and eggs" or "coffee and rolls"? A successful newspaper, like a money-making restaurant, must offer the basic menu that people crave all the year around. Memorize the secret of human interest given below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-441: George A., aged 38, is a professor in a leading journalism school.

"Dr. Crane," he began as we dined together recently, "I am very much interested in your column.

DR. CRANE

"Although it is probably the oldest current 'advice' column, our latest polls show it is still the most widely read. Which brings up an interesting point. Many editors have a fetish about 'newness.'

"They are like automobile manufacturers who constantly want to vary the make of a car.

"But newness doesn't necessarily mean efficiency or success, do you think?"

NOVELTY FAD

This professor has raised a dandy topic for debate, for many editors of the old school are obsessed with the idea that "change" or "novelty" is the chief virtue in a feature.

Oddly enough, those same advocates of novelty still order the same menu of ham and eggs for breakfast which they have consumed for maybe 60 years.

And most diners in America don't want novelty with reference to their basic foods!

Oh, I'll admit that some housewives like to scallop the edges of the grapefruit for variety, but the basic human hungers are not greatly influenced by such frills.

If you are interested in business or journalism, please remember our rule for determining "human interest," for it says:

"Every inch that you move away from a person's own skin, you begin to lose his interest.

"And every second that you move away from the present moment of time, you likewise find waning interest.

"Tersely stated, human interest means, 'Me, here, NOW.

BASIC HUMAN HUNGERS

The number one hunger of mankind is called self-preservation. That includes health, food and shelter, as symbolized by money.

So I include one case in this column per week on health, plus one in the wide field of applied psychology (advertising, selling, etc.).

The second basic hunger (instinct) in human beings is love. So I include two cases per week on love and marriage problems.

The third terrific hunger of mankind is for cuddling and coddling some weaker, defenseless creature called a baby or a child-substitute.

That's why I offer you one strong child-rearing case per week. Over the period of a year, you thus obtain 52 child cases, or the equivalent of a small textbook on child psychology, courtesy of this newspaper.

A fourth tremendous hunger of human beings is for ego inflation. It is shown by that invisible tattoo across everybody's chest which says:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT!"

Which is why I include one case per week on how to win friends, or carry on conversation, gain more prestige and become the life of the party. This underlies my emphasis on paying compliments.

You know that those are the major interests. And their power is documented by every poll taken of newspaper reading habits.

Leon Parkinson, astute editor of the Pulliam paper at Muncie, Ind., said 91 per cent of women and 86 per cent of men follow this column. Other polls have always shown it tops, just because it meets Americans' desire for the "ham and eggs" type of mental menu.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Your Income Tax No. 4

You Must List Expense Account Profits

(This series has already discussed which form is best, classes of returns, exemptions and non-taxable income. Today's topic is job-connected expenses and expense accounts. Future articles will explain deductions and provide tips on guarding against errors. Clip and save all for use when you begin filling out your return.)

By FRANK CORMIER
AP Staff Writer

For 37 years, Uncle Sam has been trying to ferret out chiselers who make money on expense accounts but try to escape getting taxed on their profit. This year he's trying something new.

All tax forms have been revised so every taxpayer has to give yes or no answers about expense accounts.

Ever since 1921, the law has required taxpayers to report as income all money received on expense accounts. Such income could be offset, at least in part, by deducting actual job-connected expenses.

SOME NEW RULES

In addition to revising the tax forms, the Internal Revenue Service this year has changed the rules for listing expense money as income. They boil down to this:

So long as you didn't make a profit on your expense account—by collecting more than you spent—you don't have to list expense money as income.

If you did make a profit, you have to report it as "excess reimbursements" on line 5 of tax form 1040 (you can't use the simple form 1040A) and pay a tax on it.

Even if you didn't make a profit, it may pay you to give IRS an accounting of your expense money. This could be the case if you spent more money in connection with your job than you collected on your expense account.

If so, you can list expense money as income and deduct your actual expenses. Some of these expenses can be deducted on page 1 of form 1040 and some can be deducted only if you itemize deductions on page 2. The different categories will be explained later.

FORM 1040 ONLY

Any taxpayer who chooses to deduct job-connected expenses must use form 1040.

Regardless of which form you use, however, you're going to have to answer at least one question about expense money.

Line 8 of form 1040A has a new box which you check if you had to account to your employer for the expense money he gave you during 1958. The accompanying instructions state that if you didn't account for expense money, or collected more than you spent, you must file form 1040.

On form 1040, two new questions have been added on page 1. They must be answered by everyone using this form. The questions:

1. "Did you receive an expense allowance or reimbursement, or charge expenses to your employer?"

2. "If 'yes,' did you submit an itemized accounting of expenses to your employer?"

A "no" answer to the first question means you can forget about the problem of job expenses as far as IRS is concerned. However, if you had job-connected expenses and weren't reimbursed by your employer, you can still claim deductions for these outlays.

If you answer "no" to the second question, you have to list for IRS your actual job expenses together with expense money received from your employer.

LISTING EXPENSES

You can make the accounting on a plain sheet of paper, which you should attach to your tax return. This statement must give the nature of your occupation and list the number of days you were away from home on business during 1958.

In listing your expenses for IRS, you break them down into broad categories such as transportation, meals, lodging and entertainment.

A statement of this type must also be submitted if you report "excess reimbursements" or claim deductions for expenses which exceeded reimbursements.

DEDUCTIBLE ITEMS

Items which you can deduct on line 5 of form 1040 are:

1. Expenses of busines trips away from the city where you normally work, provided you stay away at least overnight. You can't include here any entertainment expenses or such personal outlays as getting a suit pressed.

2. Other transportation expenses, though not the cost of getting to and from work. This can cover taxi and streetcar fares and the use of your own auto while on business, even in the city where you work.

3. Expenses of outside salesmen. This includes all necessary and ordinary expenses. It applies only to fulltime salesmen who solicit business for their employers away from their employers' place of business.

4. Any other job-connected expenses. These can be deducted on page 1 of form 1040, but only up to the amount for which you were reimbursed by your employer. If you weren't fully reimbursed, the additional expenses must be listed among itemized deductions on page 2 if you want to claim them.

SPECIAL TREATMENT

If you were off work in 1958 because of illness or injury and your employer continued to pay you, at his expense, you can exclude up to $100 a week of such pay. If you continued to draw pay through a plan you paid for, the $100 ceiling doesn't apply.

Your sick pay exclusion begins on the first day you're absent from work if you're injured, or if you are hospitalized for even one day because of illness.

If your absence is due to illness and you aren't hospitalized, the exclusion begins after one week away from work.

Anyone making $100 a week or less excludes from his income one day's pay for each working day covered by the sick pay rules. If you make more than $100, you divide $100 by the number of days you normally work a week, then multiply this amount by the number of days you're entitled to exclude.

ATTACH DATE LIST

You should attach to your return a statement showing the dates you were absent, the nature of your illness or injury, whether or not you were hospitalized and when, and how you figured the amount excluded.

Some income from pensions and annuities can also be excluded. The law permits retired people to get back, tax free, the amount they paid toward pension or annuity plans while working.

The rules are spelled out on page 12 of the instruction booklet that goes with form 1040.

Even if some of your pension or other retirement income is taxable, you may be able to claim a tax credit of up to $240. This is discussed on page 14 of the instructions.

Drive Fizzles for Candidate

No Support Found for Boosting Senator as State GOP Chairman

LANSING (AP)—An attempt to rally Republican legislators to the support of Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) for GOP state chairman appeared to have fizzled out today.

The move to dump Lawrence B. Lindemer from the job drew a lukewarm reception from Smeekens himself. He said it came as "a complete surprise."

Lindemer, a Lansing and Stockbridge attorney, has announced from re-election at the GOP state convention Feb. 14 in Detroit.

Montgomery Shephard of Benton Harbor sent telegrams to several GOP legislators yesterday asserting that Smeekens "will run for Republican state chairman provided he has the support of the legislature."

"He has statewide delegate and Washington support," Shephard said.

Shephard, former Berrien County Republican chairman, is identified with the conservative element of the party. So is Smeekens.

The move was seen by some observers as supporting published reports that Postmaster Gen. Arthur E. Summerfield, former GOP national committeeman from Michigan, was trying to reassert his influence in directing party affairs. Summerfield is most influential with the GOP's conservatives.

Smeekens, a 34-year-old manufacturing executive starting his second term in the legislature, said he had had no contacts with Summerfield or Shephard on the matter.

If Republican lawmakers decide to support one of their own number for the state chairmanship, he said, they should make the choice themselves.

Among those who received telegrams from Shephard were House Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan), Sen. Harry F. Litowich (R-Benton Harbor) and Rep. Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe).

All three said they had no quarrel with Lindemer, who was elected two years ago.

Bill Aims to Control Civil Service Raises

LANSING (AP)—A Republican legislator, irked by an 11-million-dollar pay raise ordered for state employes, wants to harness the power of the state Civil Service Commission to set salary scales.

Rep. George A. Gillespie (R-Gaines) yesterday proposed a constitutional amendment requiring legislative approval of any pay adjustment ordered by the commission.

Another amendment proposed by seven Republicans would limit Michigan's governor to two terms in office.

Ten Republicans and five Democrats signed Gillespie's resolution, which needs a two-thirds favorable vote in the House and Senate to go before the voters in the April election. Feb. 16 is the deadline for amendments to go on the ballot.

The Civil Service Commission, made up of two Republicans and two Democrats, last month ordered a seven per cent pay boost for state employes effective in July. It will cost the state about $8,600,000.

Gillespie said the commission should have postponed a pay increase in view of the state's financial troubles.

"It's high time the legislature has something to say about it," he said.

Rep. Ben E. Lohman (R-Hamilton) headed the signers of the proposal to clamp a lid on the governor's tenure. Twenty-three of the 49 states now set limits.

Gov. Williams, a Democrat, this month started his sixth straight two-year term, a national record for consecutive service by a governor.

Scares Nations He Wants to Impress

Nikita's Words Boomerang

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Nikita S. Khrushchev is doing a job of Western propaganda that the west seems unable to do for itself.

Khrushchev's statements to the 21st Soviet Communist Congress sow fear among leaders of countries he has been hoping to impress. His protests about the purity of Soviet intentions toward the sovereignties of others will get a skeptical reception.

Khrushchev solemnly told the Soviet Communist Congress that the U.S.S.R. "never interferes and has no intention of interfering in the domestic affairs of other countries." Only a few sentences beyond that, he openly scolded Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. Nasser was "wrong" to take action against the Communists in Syria and Egypt.

Such Khrushchev protestations of innocence must have sounded strange, too, to the Soviet Union's Finnish neighbors. Only a short time ago Moscow seriously menaced Finland's economy by halting Soviet-Finnish trade because Finland had installed a conservative government. Relations didn't improve until Finland got a government that promised to get along with Moscow.

Soviet and Chinese Communists are causing concern in Asia, particularly in Indonesia where President Sukarno seems to be backing away cautiously from the bear's embrace.

Asians are alert to the pressure Moscow placed upon Yugoslavia's Tito. The Yugoslav, president now is winning up an Eastern trip. His neutralist attitude has been equated in Indonesia and elsewhere in south Asia with the Pantjasila—five principles of peaceful coexistence which require strict non-interference in another's affairs.

The Pantjasila also are known as the Bandung principles adopted by African and Asian countries at Bandung, Indonesia, in 1955. Red China and the U.S.S.R., by their pressure on Tito, are viewed by many in Asia now as violators of those principles.

Whenever the Communists have an opportunity to throw charges of interference and imperialism at the United States, there is a great propaganda hue and cry. Moscow makes the most of such situations. But when the shoe is on the other foot, Western propaganda seems to take little advantage of it.

Noise Is Part of Air Defense

Michigan May as Well Get Used to Sonic Boom

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—The Air Force says Michigan residents had best get used to the sharp, explosive clap of the "sonic boom." It's going to be around as a part of the state's air defense.

Colonel Glenn E. Duncan, F-102 supersonic jet fighter command pilot at, Selfridge Field Air Force Base, says the boom may rattle windows and flood police switchboards with irate telephone calls, but it does little property damage.

"Because of its concern with both the economics and phychology of damage reports," Col. Duncan said, "the Air Force has conducted careful tests of the forces created by sonic booms."

"The highest boom pressure scientists have recorded, about 33 pounds per square foot, was recorded on a mountain top from a plane flying 280 feet away, and that is 39,720 feet closer than our planes would be flying to the people of Detroit. Most booms carry pressure of less than five pounds per square foot. Such forces are far below the level which causes damage."

"It is conceded that panes of window glass have been broken by booms," he continued, "but in most of these cases, if not in all, the glass has been shown to contain 'built-in' stresses from faulty manufacturing or installation."

Col. Duncan said Selfridge Field Air Force Base regulations require jet planes to fly at supersonic speed above 30,000 feet. He said normal training exercises are carried out at altitudes above 40,000 feet.

French Churches Show Great Artists' Works

PARIS—Great contemporary artists are leaving their marks on churches in France. A church at Assy in the Alps has stained-glass windows by Roualt, decorations by Matisse, and a mosaic by Leger.

CHAPTER XL

"And he agreed?"

"Not exactly. But he said that it was obvious I couldn't be permitted to go with the present set of passengers, having made myself so obnoxious—his word, and a nice one, ob-noxious. He said I could go in their car and sit in front with the driver.

"If I so much as turned my head, he said, he'd knock it off. Nice prospect, I must say. One would think I'd committed a series of crimes."

"You wanted to send Lord Lorrimer into the river."

"My dear fellow, I didn't plan to hurt him!"

"Then what was the idea?" . . .

"Well, when my delaying tactics fell flat, I reasoned that the chief thing that had attracted a world-famous beauty like Rosamond Blake was his handsome countenance and youthful appearance—so if she saw him with an old look, she might take a new look.

"In other words, if he arrived in Lisbon looking a bit the worse for wear, she'd think again. These old boys put on years after any kind of shock—look at the Admiral, falls down backwards and gets up looking ten years older. If Holt hadn't interfered, Lord Lorrimer would have taken a gentle roll into the river and been hauled out again and he would have arrived in Lisbon looking a bit more like the grandfather he's shortly going to be. The girl would have been instantly cured."

"Neither you, nor I nor anybody else has the slightest right to inrerfere in this affair."

"Why not? It isn't an affair between two ordinary people. The girl's at the top of the tree and the man's been there for years and they've both got a hell of a lot to lose. I don't care what he loses, but Rosamond Blake happens to be my favorite actress, an I think she's much too young and lovely to throw herself away on a dry old pod like Lorrimer.

"If he wants to have another kick at life, and if he's tired of his wife—who I daresay is very dull—let him choose some nice model who's trying to hit the headlines. I don't want him to be a good boy and go home, not at all.

"He can do what he likes, just so long as he keeps his aged paws off Rosamond. Is that sense, or is it what Holt calls non-sense?"

"It's sense—but neither you nor I have any right to try to make him see it. His life's his own. The fact that he's on his way to mess it up doesn't give his fellow-passengers the right to offer unwanted advice or to try to shape his destiny."

"Well you may be right, but I don't agree with you. You're not, by the way, going to put me on the Empress black list, are you? If I don't like the look of this Lisbon job—and something tells me I'm not going to—I've got to get home again, you know."

"I shall report the fact that you arranged to leave the coach and travel with the Admral. I'm a courier, not a probation officer."

"If you're worrying about whether I'm going to tell Angela, you needn't. You can set your mind—or do I mean your heart?—at rest. I won't breathe a word to her."

"Good-bye," said Angus.

"Oh, thats a harsh word. Let's keep it open," suggested Maurice. "Au revoir, my dear fellow. I was going to offer my congratulations, but let's keep that open, too." He gave a wide, malicious grin. "My dear Angus I wouldn't be in your shoes for anything. Not for anything."

Wild Hounds Deliver Food to Chained Pal

VIENNA, Austria (UPI)—Farmer Franz Napetschnig was puzzled when he found his chained-up dog munching on a 12-pound piece of smoked pork.

He informed gendarmes who said a pack of wild hounds operating near the village of Diex auf der Saulalpe in the Carinthian Mountains raided a nearby farm and took the meat to their lonesome friend.

Jury Debating at Waldron

One Missing as Alyea Deliberation Continues Into Third Day

The jury deliberating the fate of accused killer Raymond L. Alyea was back behind closed doors today—minus one woman juror and in new quarters at the Waldron Hotel.

Yesterday Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer ordered the jury to continue deliberating although jurors, then 12 in number, said they couldn't reach a verdict.

This morning when jurors reported to the Courthouse there were only 11—seven women and four men—that answered roll call. The eighth woman called in sick.

So Judge Beer consulted with Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang and Alyea's attorney, William R. Beasley, and both agreed to continue with only 11 jurors. Alyea himself was put on the stand and he agreed also.

Judge Beer said he hadn't decided whether he would ask the panel to continue deliberating through the weekend.

Richard Henry Files Suit in Racial Issue

The younger brother of Pontiac City Commissioner Milton R. Henry has filed a suit charging the Greenville, S. C., Airport Commission with making him await a flight in a "waiting room for colored folks."

Richard B. Henry, 28, of 21689 Glenfield Ct., Royal Oak Township, asks a preliminary injunction to restrain the commission from making a distinction based on color at the airport.

Representing Henry, assistant director of information at Selfridge Field, is Thurgood Marshall of New York, legal counsel to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Henry, a former newspaper writer in Detroit and Pontiac, has been a civilian civil service employe of the Air Force since February 1958.

His suit was filed in federal court in Greenville.

He was sent down there to cover some field operations and was on the way back to Selfridge when the alleged incident happened.

Pull Diver Out After Six Hours

CHICAGO (AP) — A veteran diver, trapped for more than six hours in 75 feet of icy water deep under a Chicago street, was rescued Thursday after a desperate battle.

Death apparently was only inches away when Frank Hefling, 55, was pulled from a 12-foot, 179-foot deep shaft leading to a water tunnel on the south side.

His diving suit was torn and filled with water up to his chin. Only the pressure in his air hose kept the water from filling the helmet and drowning him.

His own efforts and those of two fellow divers who repeatedly descended into the murky, near-freezing water finally freed the husky Hefling.

Hefling, a diver for more than 25 years, was trapped when he descended into the tunnel to free a stuck valve and check a bypass gate set into a big, five ton watertight door leading to a 16-foot water tunnel under construction.

Increased suction drew the diver toward the gate. His leg was drawn through the opening and held there as if in a vise. He was trapped.

For more than six hours thereafter rescue efforts went on. Two divers finally freed Hefling and got him into a steel bucket of a dragline crane that was lowered into the shaft.

Doctors said the diver had suffered only minor injuries to his right hand and leg. They said his greatest need was rest.

Quake Rocks Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — A sharp earthquake rocked Tokyo today. The government central meteorological board said the quake was not big and there is "nothing to worry about." No damage was reported.

Highland Girl Held in Thefts

Oklahoma Police Say Lucille Haglund, 2 Men Admit Burglaries

A 16-year-old Highland Township girl and her two male companions were being held by Oklahoma authorities today after they admitted burglaries which netted them $3,000 in jewelry.

The girl is Lucille Haglund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Haglund of 2505 Lakeside Dr. She told police she was staying with Dave Holt, 37, of Muskogee, Okla. and Robert Hobbs 19, of Farmington, N.M.

The girl's father said this morning that his daughter had run away from home Dec. 2 with Hobbs, whom he said was from Highland Township.

"We put a tracer on her as a missing person but then we got a letter from her Dec. 8 saying they were in Farmington, N.M. and were married," he said.

He added that the girl had known Hobbs for almost a year and since he had been to the Haglund home "a lot of times," he didn't press charges against the boy.

"He seemed like a pretty good boy. I guess I was wrong," he added.

The girl had been writing her parents regularly until last week, he said, and had told them her husband had gotten a job as a carpenter.

The three are being held for New Mexico authorities who want them for the burglary. Officers said they found several hundred dollars worth of jewelry in the motel room they were using.

3 Steel Plants Hit by Walkout

Men Vote to Continue Wildcat Strike Over Safety Conditions

DETROIT (AP)—Workers at three Detroit area McLouth Steel Corp. plants remained off their jobs today in a dispute over plant safety conditions.

The workers, members of United Steelworkers Local 2659, yesterday rejected the pleas of union officials to return to their jobs and instead voted to continue their wildcat strike.

Some 300 workers at the firm's suburban Trenton plant began the walkout Wednesday night after a fellow worker, Joseph K. Cotey, 34, of Wyandotte, was burned fatally. Two other workers died earlier this month in plant accidents.

Pickets ringed the plant but dispersed peacefully when police armed with tear gas and riot guns arrived.

The walkout spread yesterday to McLouth's plants in Detroit and suburban Gilbralter. The Trenton plant employs 2,200. Another 1,000 work at the Detroit plant and 450 at the Gilbralter plant.

WSU Confers Degrees

DETROIT (UPI) — Degrees were conferred last night on 1,289 mid-year graduates of Wayne State University. Wayne President Clarence B. Hilberry conferred the degrees in commencement exercises in Masonic Temple Auditorium.

W. B. Taylor rowed on the Harvard crew in an intercollegiate reggatta in 1875 and next day won both the seven-mile walk and the three-mile walk.

Hal Boyle Says:

Japanese Star Has Won Heart of Broadway

They don't walk three paces behind their husbands.

"If we did we'd never get anywhere on time," said Myoshi Umeki, star of a new Rodgers and Hammerstein musical."

Miss Umeki became an instantaneous pet on Broadway, a street more noted for its jealousies than its warm welcomes.

"She's got the best sense of humor of any actress I ever knew," Oscar Hammerstein told a friend.

Myoshi, a jazz band singer in Japan, had yearned to come to America since she saw her first movie at the age of 7. But it was a sad day for her mother and eight brothers and sisters when she left Tokyo in 1955.

"My mother kept sending me rice for some time," she recalled, smiling. "She didn't think they had rice here."

But success came in giant strides to the slender Nipponese beauty. She quickly became a television favorite and won an Academy award for her first film in "Sayonara." She met and married Winfield Opie, a TV director.

Stardom has made little change in her way of life.

"I like to live like everybody else," she said, "except I go to the theater more often — eight times a week.

"I have no more ambitions. My big ambition was to come to America, and I have no more goals or dreams. I am happy now every day—and never crying too hard. My biggest problem is to make my dog understand my English."

Miss Umeki's favorite sport is skiing—she has broken a leg at it —and her biggest fear is of bugs.

"I love all animals," she said. "I would like to tame lions. I bet I could ride an elephant. But I am afraid of butterflies. I could not touch them."

Dieting is no problem with 5-foot-1 Myoshi who weighs only 100 pounds. She likes to go on food binges. When she discovers something new to her, she'll eat nothing else for days.

Is she ever homesick for her native land?

"I miss my mother," she said. "She is ill and losing her sight.

"Ten years I have been in this business, and my mother has never seen me on the stage. She is so shy. She said she would be scared to go into a theater. When she was told I had won an Oscar, she asked, 'What is it? What is it for?'

"She is old-fashioned, my mother, but she is all Japan to me."

Will Visit Georgia, Mexico

President Plans 2 Trips

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to make a quail shooting trip to Georgia and a goodwill visit to Mexico within the next three weeks.

The White House, announcing both trips Wednesday night, said he hopes to leave for Thomasville, Ga., Feb. 4 or 5 and to return to Washington Feb. 9. He will be the guest of George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury.

The President has visited the Humphrey estate each February for the past five years.

Eisenhower will hold informal talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos at Acapulco Feb. 19-20 at the invitation of the Mexican President. The resort center is on Mexico's Pacific Coast.

The trip will be Eisenhower's second visit to Mexico since he entered the White House. In 1953 he crossed the border briefly when he dedicated Falcon Dam on the Rio Grande.

Sampson Again to Head Stereotypers Union

CLEVELAND (AP)—James Sampson of Chicago was elected to his second consecutive two-year term as president of the International Stereotypers and Electrotypers Union in a recently-completed mail referendum. His new term starts Feb. 1.

Elected for their 12th consecutive terms were Joseph O'Neil of Boston, secretary-treasurer, and James Kelley of Cleveland, editor of the Union Journal.

Others elected were: Raymond Jeffress of San Francisco, first vice president; Leo Fenney of Newark N.J., second vice president; John McDermott of Philadelphia, third vice president, and George Fry of Toronto, Ont., Canadian vice president.

One Man's Viewpoint

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Mrs. Ruby McGee told a Sutter County divorce court that her husband, Robert, refused to work and told her: "A woman is lucky to get a man these days and you should support me."

Paul Paray to Conduct 4 New York Concerts

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Symphony Orchestra conductor Paul Paray, said Thursday he has accepted an invitation to conduct four concerts by the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, March 19-22, at Carnegie Hall.

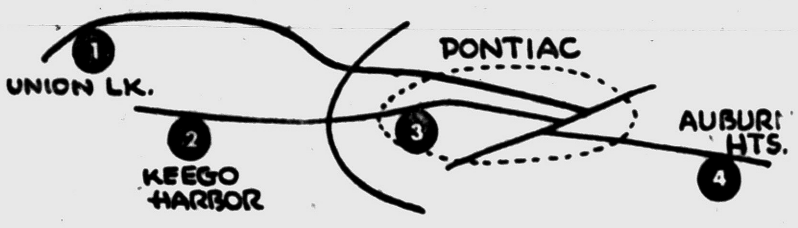

He will replace Dimitri Mitropoulos who is seriously ill. Valter Poole will take over the Detroit Symphony March 19.

Dems Drafting Own Farm Plan

Want to Tap Federal Treasury, Pay Growers for Basic Crops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Key Democrats today were drafting a new farm plan which President Eisenhower has promised to oppose.

The Democratic plan would enable the government to stop propping market prices for basic crops and would, instead, tap the treasury for direct payments to growers.

Some version of the new plan seemed likely to emerge as the Democratic Congress' answer to President Eisenhower's demand that it curtail the "excessively expensive" cost of farm price supports.

Democratic farm leaders and some farm belt Republicans rejected solution proposed yesterday by the President. Eisenhower in a special farm message asked for authority to lower supports on a dozen crops for which the law now provides mandatory price floors.

In apparent anticipation of the Democratic move, the President made it clear that he would oppose any direct-payment plan.

Republican leaders insisted that the President's program was a "sound" solution to the problem of farm surpluses. But Democratic farm leaders said it would bankrupt the farmers. Some midwest Republicans agreed.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-ND) said he was "disgusted" with the President's farm message.

The new plan on which influential Democratic Senators are working is a sharply-revised version of the so-called "Brannan Plan" which was advanced by the Truman administration 10 years ago and rejected by a Democratic Congress.

6 Found Not Guilty of Loitering Charge

In a jury trial before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCullum, six men yesterday were found not guilty of loitering in a gambling place.

They were William E. Parker, 23, of 216 Princeton Ave.; Walter T. Jones, 35, of Rosedale St.; Robert D. Bailey, 36, of Garden City; Delmar A. Potter, 28, 3173 Perrin Dr., Waterford Township; Bernard Teggart, 27, of Detroit, and Cleophas McCall, 35, address unknown.

They were arrested by Pontiac police officers Dec. 5 in a raid at 115 S. Saginaw St.

Stolen Car Back in Better Shape Than Before

A Royal Oak woman's "stolen" car has turned up again and in better shape than before it disappeared.

Miss Elsie Ulrich, 43, of 1008 Batavia St. found her car gone from the Michigan Life Insurance Co. parking lot yesterday noon when she left the firm's office where she is employed. She reported it stolen to Royal Oak Police.

Shortly after 1 p.m. it was back in its parking place, freshly washed and waxed. Then there was consternation elsewhere in the four-story Michigan Life Building.

A Goodbody & Co. employe flatly refused to pay an attendant from a nearby filling station for a wash and wax job. He pointed out his grimy car, untouched.

The man had left his keys with the attendant. He parks in the same lot as Miss Ulrich. Their cars are the same make, similar in color, and, as it turns out, his keys fit her's, too.

Asks Broadened Teacher Benefit

Requests Pontiac Board for 100-Day Sick Leave Accumulation

A request for an increase in the number of sick leave days Pontiac teachers can accumulate was taken "under advisement" by the Board of Education last night.

The request was made by Carl Balch, chairman of the Certified Personnel Committee, an organization of teachers employed by the Pontiac School District.

Balch, on behalf of the committee, urged the Board to raise from 60 to 100 the maximum number of sick leave days teachers can accumulate.

Balch urged the maximum of 60 days be raised to 80 during the current year, with 10 additional days being added during each of the 1959-60 and 1960-61 school years.

Upon retirement, he proposed, teachers should be compensated for unused sick leave days, up to a maximum of 30 days pay.

The board was also urged to grant two days leave yearly to teachers for personal business, with personal business days being deducted from sick leave days.

The board decided to delay action on the request until a later meeting.

Northern to Hold Own Exercises

Board Bows to Students

The Board of Education bowed before school spirit last night.

Before the policy makers of the Pontiac School District was the question of holding joint graduation exercises in the spring for Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Central High School students.

"Graduating classes would be brought together . . . each school could provide distinctive caps and gowns . . . Costs would be cut . . . principals and students from both schools would participate . . . a community would be graduating its seniors rather than just a school."

But, Dr. Whitmer added, Pontiac Northern's students want their own ceremony—in their own building.

"The students from Northern I've talked to want to go it alone," declared Board member Mrs. Elsie Mihalek.

"We've got to remember school spirit and the wishes of the students," interjected Board President Glenn H. Griffin.

Human Icicle Now Defrosted and Discharged

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—William Korpi, the human icicle, has been defrosted and discharged from the hospital.

Korpi left the hospital yesterday with only a slight discoloration of the hands to remind him of his frigid ordeal.

Korpi was found lying in a snowbank on Drummond Island Jan. 16 by two conservation officers. He was frozen stiff. His body was so rigid with cold that the officers couldn't bend him to get him into the cab of their truck. They had to lay him in the truck bed for the two-hour trip to the hospital here.

Cut in Aid Means Hike in Defense—Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today any cut in proposed foreign aid spending would make it necessary to boost outlays for U. S. defense forces.

And any such increase for the security forces would be far greater than any amount saved on foreign aid, Eisenhower added.

Foreclosure Suit Filed Against Rep. Hitchcock

Foreclosure proceedings have begun against State Rep. John C. Hitchcock and his wife for the backpayment of $6,829 which property owners claim the Hitchcocks owe for rental of property in Hazel Park.

Hitchcock, Democrat from Hazel Park, refused to affirm or deny whether he owed the money. "I have to talk to my attorney," he said.

However, the insurance and real estate salesman admitted the property in question was not his home, but rather was property he leased out to tenants.

Filing the foreclosure suit in Oakland County Circuit Court was Charles C. Mack and his wife Harriet M. They claim in the suit that the Hitchcocks entered into a land contract with them Nov. 22, 1955, for leasing the 1½-lot parcel.

The Macks stated that the $6,829 had accrued from non-payment of $83 per month payments and interest. They also said the Hitchcocks "have allowed the premises to be damaged by elements and deteriorat."

Poisons Survey to Warn Parents of Possibilities

VANCOUVER (AP) — A survey of accidental poisoning cases has been undertaken for the first time in British Columbia.

Dr. John Dean, director of Vancouver General Hospital Poison Control Center, said: "We want to be able to warn parents of the most likely circumstances under which poisonings happen."

Virginia Schools Stay Unmixed

Board in Charlottesville Sets Reopening Date for 2 White Units

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Charlottesville School Board announced today the city's two closed white schools will open next Wednesday on a segregated basis. The board said Wednesday was chosen to effect an orderly reopening of Lane High and Venable Elementary Schools.

Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday granted Charlottesville a postponement of its desegregation order until next fall. He refused, however, to stay a lower court order directing the admission of four Negro pupils Monday to Stratford Junior High School (white) in Arlington.

About 1,700 students from the two Charlottesville schools have been idled since the facilities were shut last Sept. 22 under Virginia's now defunct anti-integration laws. About 1,400 of these have been attending classes in the basements of private homes, churches and other temporary quarters.

Lower federal courts had ordered the admission of 12 Negro students to the two schools.

Meantime, preparations went forward in Norfolk and Arlington for the reopening Monday of Virginia's first integrated public schools. And in Richmond, a group of segregationists sought a test of legislative power with the state administration.

Girl Gets Best of Wolf

GOSENDE, Portugal (UPI)—Crisalida Duarte, a 15-year-old shepherd, is wary of wolves but not afraid of them. When a wolf seized the choicest lamb in her flock Crisalida grabbed the intended victim by its head and yelled for help. She won the tug of war. The wolf fled.

Paris Line Wins Favor Everywhere

PARIS (UPI)—Press critics, department store buyers and even the only people who have yet worn the new Paris spring line — the mannequins themselves—agreed unanimously today that it is the most wearable in years.

Their reaction to this year's collection was one of relief and jubilation that women finally will be allowed to show their natural shapes.

Sacks, trapezes and artificially high waists were things of the past — until next season, anyway—as every designer in this fashion capital paraded his own version of the natural female silhouette.

The consensus was that even if the collections have not made headlines they are going to make American women happy.

Their keynote is variety. So if you do not have a 20-inch waistline suited for one of the tightly belted numbers, there are tunics, middy styles and easy fitting ensembles for the choosing.

One of the buyers who viewed the Christian Dior show said the collection would certainly sell in America just because of this.

Back Into Routine

Doctor Must Give Go-Ahead Signal

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "How soon can one take exercises after an operation? I have gained weight since my operation because of my inactivity."

A. You must follow your doctor's advice in this matter. Do not begin exercises until he tells you it is safe to do so. He probably will be anxious for you to follow your routine as soon as you can.

Q. "Please tell me where I can get cosmetic wax. I have asked at several drugstores and they did not have it."

A. Practically all of the larger cosmetic manufacturers have cosmetic wax. Ask for it at the cosmetic counter of one of the large stores in your town. If you live in a very small community, you may have to write to one of the well-known cosmetic houses in New York or to a store in a nearby larger city.

Q. "Can you help me? I am 13 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh 138 pounds. My measurements are bust 36, waist 28 and hips 36."

How soon can you exercise after an operation? Follow your doctor's advice.

A. For your age you are very well proportioned. You are a bit on the chubby side unless you have a very large frame. I suggest that you eat a full, well-balanced diet but leave off some of the candy bars and cookies and banana splits for a while. In other words, watch it a little!

Q. "I have white heads in patches on my face. What can I do for them?"

A. Sometimes these will disappear by themselves if given half a chance. Wash your face with soap and water several times a day using a complexion brush in a rotary motion over the white-heads. If this doesn't help, they can be removed by a dermatologist.

Q. "I always read your column and have been helped by it. I lost 20 pounds and now wear a size 16. My problem is that even though I lost all of that weight I find that my bust has not reduced at all. I especially wanted to lose in this spot because I feel self-conscious about being top heavy. I can get into a size 14 dress sometimes if it weren't for my bust measurement."

A. Yours is an unusual letter because the bust is one of the first spots to show a loss. In fact this is generally a problem when reducing. Many women need and want to lose in the waist, abdomen and hips but hate the accompanying loss in the bust.

Perhaps you have not lost as much as you would like from your bust measurement, but I feel sure that you have lost some. I believe it to be impossible to lose 20 pounds and not do so. Perhaps you measured in a different spot or with a different bra. You should measure around the largest part of the bust. Be certain that the tape measure passes STRAIGHT around the torso. If it is up or down in the back or at the sides, this can make a difference of inches.

Q. "Please tell me how much underweight I am. I am 32 years old, 5 feet three inches tall and weigh 84 pounds. My measurements are bust 28 inches, waist 21 and hips 29½ inches."

A. You really are very much underweight and should make every effort to gain for health as well as for your best looks. You should weigh around 115 pounds even with a small frame.

Zonta Club Hears Talk on Investments

G. W. J. Linton, resident manager of a local investment firm, was guest speaker at the Thursday luncheon of Zonta Club held at Hotel Waldron.

Introduced by Helen Travis, Mr. Linton explained the importance of good investments rather than the speculative type, and told of the working of the stock exchange boards.

Zonta President Mrs. Chadd Mellinger announced a card party to be given by the Royal Oak-Ferndale Zonta Club Feb. 12. Proceeds will benefit Girls Ranch.

Guests of the day were Mrs. C. A. Clemence of Ionia and Mrs. Frank Coad.

The Zonta fair and auction will be held Feb. 18 from 6 to 10 p.m. at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

'Too Fast' May Have Been OK

Her Parents Under No Obligation to Pay Hotel Bill

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening the husband of a woman with whom I work stopped at the office to pick her up and drive her home. As we live not too far from each other, they offered to drive me home.

"While this man was a skilled driver, he drove entirely too fast to please me and I was getting very nervous. When I couldn't stand it any longer, I asked him to drive more slowly. He did, but I think he resented my telling him how to drive very much. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?"

Answer: If his driving was skillful and not much faster than the other cars on the road, you should have suffered in silence. If, however, he was passing car after car and convinced you he was driving dangerously, you were quite right in asking him please to drive more slowly.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is marrying a man from another state. His parents are coming here for the wedding. As we live in a small apartment, it will be impossible for us to put them up. Is it up to us to make the reservations for them at the hotel and also to pay the hotel bill?"

Answer: There is no fixed rule for this situation. If the bride's family are well-to-do, they do perhaps take a number of rooms in a nearby hotel for members of his family but this is not an obligation, and more often than not the groom's family pay their own expenses.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have received an invitation to a luncheon that is being given by my sister who lives in a neighboring city, in honor of her son's bride-to-be whom I met once. I would like to know if I am supposed to take a present to the luncheon?"

Answer: No, you send a wedding present to your niece-to-be after the invitations are out and no other present is necessary.

No Use Chasing This Lad — Abby

Leap Year Has Come---and Gone!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I have been in love with a man for six years but I feel cheap because he has never actually asked me out. We have spent a lot of time together but it has been all my doing. I manage to 'accidentally' turn up where I know he will be. I have invited him over to my apartment and have asked him to be my escort to places I am invited.

ABBY

"But, Abby, what gets me is that he always accepts, and seems to enjoy my company. He doesn't go with anybody else. WHY doesn't he ask me out? Am I making a fool out of myself or not? How can I get this man?"

DISCOURAGED

DEAR DISCOURAGED: After six years, he knows it is no "accident" that you "turn up" wherever he is. If he had any serious intentions, he would have expressed them by now. Drop the scent. You'll never trap him while he is still young enough to run.

"DEAR ABBY: I have been married for almost a year and my husband's snoring keeps getting worse and worse. What causes it? He never snored a bit before we were married. Thank you."

CAN'T SLEEP

DEAR CAN'T: Better have him see a doctor. Maybe he has ALWAYS snored but you've never noticed it.

"DEAR ABBY: My husband recently passed away after 28 years of philandering, lying and heavy drinking. My old sweetheart that I gave the brush-off to 30 years ago called on me. His wife passed away eight years ago. Before he was in the house 10 minutes he was begging me to marry him.

"He said he never stopped loving me. His character is beyond reproach, which is more than I can say for myself. He is a loyal churchgoer and a High Degree member of his lodge. I told him everything and he said, 'Let me cast the first stone.' Then the big dope put his arms around me and almost cracked my ribs. Do you think it is too late for me to turn over a new leaf and make this man happy?"

SINNED

DEAR SINNED (and who hasn't?): Of course you can make him happy. You have a winning combination: Humility, honesty and the willingness to do better. Good luck!

"DEAR ABBY: I have trouble with blondes. Every time I go for a girl and she is a blonde she turns out to be a gold-digger. I notice on TV whenever they have a gold-digger she is a blonde. The last blonde I went with asked me to buy her a record every time I took her out. She kept me busted buying her records. Should I pass up all blondes or keep on going with them until I find a good one?"

DEAR B. T.: Plenty of golden heads have golden hearts. Pass at your own risk.

Strive to Raise Pep, Finances

Newspaper Staff Offers Selection of 2 Varieties, Each for 75 Cents

By COLLEEN ADAMS

Salesman with oodles of school spirit will be swarming Pontiac Northern High School the next few weeks literally waving their flags.

They all belong to the school's newspaper staff, the Polaris, and the flags they are waving are school pennants.

The staff is selling this spirited merchandise to create enthusiasm and produce pep for Northern and to help raise funds to finance the paper during its first year of publication.

Purchasers have a choice of two kinds — one with white on red, the other, red on white — each read PONTIAC NORTHERN.

Following the purchase of the pennants Pontiac Northern students and rooters will now be able to bring them and the perky red hats, sold by the staff several weeks ago, to all home and away athletic events.

The five student teachers from Michigan State University who are "interning" at Northern are preparing to take over classes soon.

They now are busy meeting with Dr. Ted Ward of the University. He is in charge of them during their practice teaching and is helping them discuss the many problems which may arise in the classroom.

The photographer for the Avalanche, the school's yearbook, made another visit to PNH this week to take pictures of the many organizations for the book's first publication.

Youth Leaders Ready for Ike's Meeting

EAST LANSING (AP)—Some 50 youth leaders and experts on youth problems took a short training course this month which will help them get answers to such questions as:

1. Do young people generally show an active interest in politics?
2. How do youth decide what careers to follow?
3. What factors influence them most in forming their sense of values?

The group are helping to plan for the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth called by President Eisenhower. They were appointed by the Michigan Youth Commission, headed by Miss Clarice Freud, University of Michigan professor of social work.

After winding up their conference, the group will start gathering information in their home communities. Miss Freud said high school and college students also took part in the conference and will be asked to help in the quest for information.

Plans for similar surveys are in the making in other states.

It You Must Kiss, Make It Quick!

Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, says if students must kiss it should be an "instantaneous kiss — rather than one of longevity."

He conceded it is all right for a student to kiss his girl good night, but he said "this close association, this clinging kiss of a long nature will cause people to begin talking."

Dr. Messick made his observations on kissing at a meeting attended by 400 of East Carolina's 3,600 students. He called the meeting to go over rules and regulations after police broke up a rollicking student party at an off-campus house Jan. 10. Forty-seven temporary suspensions resulted from the party.

KKK Doesn't Mean Klan —Is Kampus Klub

The 40 members indicated it would have a Greek organization significance to match fraternity and sorority activities on campus.

St. Mike's History Pupils View Civil War Scenes

By CAROL BAUER

Members of the senior history class at St. Michael's High School turned their thoughts and imaginations back almost 100 years this week and tried to visualize the Civil War.

It included replicas of the confederate and union uniforms, a miniature battle scene he constructed, a confederate flag and several guns and knives used at that time.

Five of the seven students who received all A's on their report cards last week were sophomores. They were Kathleen Daugherty, Monica Maddox, Anna Rita Massacesi, Margaret Worden and Michael Wyzgoski.

A panel discussion on foreign missions was conducted this week by Jim Zugras, president of the Catholic Student Mission Crusade at St. Michael's when the group meet for the first time this year.

A Paddle in Time . . .

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

SAUNDERS

FIVE ACES: Jumping back into the lead on local sales charts is "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" (The Platters) after a slight slump last week. "Donna" (Richie Valens) is very close behind with fewer but stronger votes.

Entrenched in a third-place tie are "16 Candles" (The Crests) and "Stagger Lee" (Lloyd Price). The same holds true but even more so in this case since the former is selling well over the general Pontiac area and the latter is selling hot in some shops and cool in others.

Fourth place goes to "Hawaiian Wedding Song" (Andy Williams), which is a rising star on sales sheets. "Lonely Teardrops" (Jackie Wilson) is still holding on to fifth place in this week's poll.

POP ALBUMS: Johnny Mathis has a new one on Columbia called "Open Fire, Two Guitars" (CL-1270). Although the title sounds like the mating call of a Cuban rebel, the LP is really a soothing collection of romantic ballads.

A top-notch LP vocally is "The Hi-Lo's—And All That Jazz" (CL-1259), devoted entirely to the jazz idiom. Sinatra's latest is "Love Is A Kick" (CL-1241), an LP which explores the less anguished aspects of romance.

This month's Capitol releases contain some first rate stuff along with a few of the "second volume" category.

"The Song Is June" (T-1114) is a 12-inch nugget by June Christy with Pete Rugolo's orchestra for backing. It's loaded with great stuff in the best of taste, for both the up-tempo and ballad sides of the tracks.

Andy Griffith has a potential powerhouse in "Andy Griffith Shouts The Blues and Old Timey Songs" (T-1105) with some fine blues guitar supplied by Brownie McGhee. Looks like a good seller, and sounds like one too.

Follow-ups are also the order of the month. "Sounds of the Great Bands, Vol. 2" (T-1067) is a follow of the first LP by Glen Gray and the Casa Loma orchestra, which was a surprise bash. This LP offers more of the same thing that put the Casa Lomas back on top sales charts locally for the first time in several decades.

"Freshman Favorites, Vol. 2" (T-1103) is another noteworthy LP by the Four Freshmen, and "From the 'Hungry I'" (T-1107) by the Kingston Trio is a follow of their first sales-smashing LP several months ago. This LP was recorded at San Francisco's famous bistro, The Hungry I, where the trio got its big start.

To Charge Ten Cents a Leg at Clarkston Benefit Dance

By JOAN PAYNE

Admission will be 10 cents a leg to the "Blue Crutch Dance" held at the Clarkston High School gymnasium tomorrow night from 7:30 to 11:30.

The benefit dance for the March of Dimes will be the first dance of the semester. Faye Jenks is chairman of the affair.

Tomorrow, 35 members of the CHS Biology Club will travel to Flint to visit the planetarium there and hear a lecture on the stars.

Twelve members of the GAA (Girls' Athletic Association) are practicing their shooting, dribbles and passing in preparation for the Girls' Basketball Clinic they will attend in Milford Tuesday.

After representatives of the Eastern Michigan College in Ypsilanti demonstrate the techniques of the game, the girls will play a tournament.

DANCE TONIGHT

The Clarkston High School Dramatics Club will sponsor the "Shakespearean Fling" tonight following the Milford-Clarkston basketball game in the gymnasium.

The dance, open to all spectators at the game, is being held to raise money to pay royalties on previous productions of the club and to buy new play books for the group.

Page Boy Job Still Up in Air

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several congressmen were at work today trying to give substance to Negro Jimmy Johnson Jr.'s dream of becoming a house page boy.

One northern liberal — Rep. Abraham J. Multer (D-NY)— said he felt the mixup over Jimmy could be "worked out quietly with the House leadership." He said involvement of other congressmen in the situation might only make matters worse.

But Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) of the Democratic Patronage Committee said creation of an extra page boy post would not help Jimmy, the 14-year-old Chicago lad who came to Washington thinking he had a job and found out that he didn't.

Walter said more than a dozen congressmen other than Rep. Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill), Jimmy's sponsor, would have the right under House seniority rules to claim any new post.

O'Hara pressed ahead in his attempt to rally northern liberal congressmen to support a resolution that would create the special job for Jimmy. The doughty Irishman vowed that he would not "stand by and see this fine boy go home with a broken heart because of a misunderstanding."

Reps. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) and Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) said they would join O'Hara in supporting the resolution. At present there are no Negro pages in either the House or Senate.

O'Hara repeated his previous statements that he does not believe racial prejudice was involved in the case. But he said Jimmy should not be made to suffer for the mistakes of the House.

Powell, a Negro, agreed with O'Hara on both points. He said he does "not think there was any plot to do wrong."

An estimated 647,675,000 gallons of ice cream is consumed annually in the United States.

Two to Swap Supersonic Jets for Space Ships

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Bewildered but proud, two veteran Air Force test pilots were trying to digest today the news that they might soon swap their supersonic jet planes for a spaceship.

Capt. Tom Bogan, 35, and Capt. William Bradbury, 33, were informed Thursday that they had been chosen with 108 other men as candidates for man's first venture to outer space.

Their names were the first to be released after the spacemen program was announced Tuesday by Keith Glennan, U.S. space chief.

"It was pretty hard to believe," Bogan said. Braadbury nodded in agreement.

Mexico Angered at Guatemala

Hostility Fed by Report That Bridge Destroyed, Planes on Prowl

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Hostility toward neighboring Guatemala mounted in Mexico today, fired by a report that Guatemalan demonstrators had destroyed a border bridge and Guatemalan planes had flown over a Mexican city in the southern area.

Guatemalan police in turn charged that 20 armed Mexicans had crossed the border Thursday and plundered the village of Santa Ana.

Mexico's government Party of Revolutionary Institutions called on half a million persons to assemble in Mexico City Sunday before the Presidential Palace to demonstrate support for President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Lopez Mateos broke diplomatic relations with Guatemala last week after President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes had rejected a Mexican protest against the strafing of Mexican fishing boats. Three fishermen were killed. Guatemala claimed they were trespassing.

Several thousand residents held a meeting to back Lopez Mateos Thursday night in Acapulco, a major fishing port as well as resort on the west coast.

Reports from Tapachula, largest Mexican city on the 500-mile border and military headquarters for the district, said a spontaneous demonstration on the Guatemalan side of the Suchiate River had got out of control Thursday. It resulted in destruction of the bridge linking Ayutla, Guatemala, with Ciudad Hidalgo, Mexico, the reports said.

The Stanleys have four sons, Thomas, Fred E. and Donald, all of Rochester and Robert of Flint, and a daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Beaver of Elkton. They also have nine grandchildren.

All members of the family plus a large number of friends and relatives are planning to attend the celebration.

Dave Hunter of WZRO at Jacksonville Beach turned off his record turntable at 6:09 p.m. in the showroom of a Jacksonville automobile dealer. He had been there spinning records 9 days, 9, hours, 9 minutes and 9 seconds.

When it was over, two ambulance attendants put him on a stretcher and drove him to his home in Jacksonville Beach. His wife Nancy had dinner waiting for him. Then he went to bed.

Hollywood Headlines

Wants Robert Wagner for Fox's 'Stage Door'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—Maybe Bob Wagner feels he's had it with Director Frank Tashlin in "Say One For Me," but Frank has no such feeling toward Roberto. On the contrary, he thinks young Mr. Wagner is such a good actor that he asked Jack Cummings for Bob in "Stage Door," which is Jack's first for 20th Century-Fox.

In the original stage play of "Stage Door" written by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, it was an all-woman cast, but this has been changed, and several big male roles have been added.

Dave Siegel, co-owner of Cal-Neva Lodge, is not only about to marry Cleo Ronson, but he'll soon burst back into film production with "Rivers in the Desert" by archeologist Rabbi Nelson Glueck.

Siegel made a bid of $150,000 to tie up the book which endeavors to prove the Old Testament to be actual history and has followed clues in the Bible to locate the actual sites of ancient Negev desert civilizations of southern Israel.

"Imitation of Life" will set Universal-International up in business and bring in plenty of that pleasant green stuff. I wish I owned 10 per cent. It's as corny as Main street in a Sinclair Lewis novel, but it's the corn the women love.

Moreover, it is beautifully done by Producer Ross Hunter and Director Douglas Sirk. The longhairs will think there's too much emotional stuff but then they never like anything that causes an honest tear or a natural laugh.

Talked with Jimmy Durante to ask him if the report that he and Margie Little are getting married this year is true.

Jimmy laughed and said, "I'll tell you first if I ever do get married—and it wouldn't be anybody else but Margie. She's the nicest girl I know. But don't you think I'm too old to get married?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There's no truth in the report that Elizabeth Taylor has asked to be relieved of doing "Two for the Seesaw." She'll do "Suddenly Last Summer" first. She and Eddie Fisher and her two sons were having dinner at Sportmen's Lodge and Elizabeth is starting to diet.

Ralph Story of the now defunct "$64,000 Challenge" is turning actor and will test for Screen Gems "Mr. Blanding" TV series.

You can't believe it, but it's true that John Wayne is actually relaxing in Acapulco with Pilar. They are swimming, fishing and forgetting movies.

Annual MPA Meeting Opens

600 Editors, Publishers on Hand to Trade Shop Talk, Hear Speeches

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan's newspaper editors and publishers, some 600 strong, gathered for the 91st time here today for the annual Michigan Press Assn. (MPA) mid-winter meeting.

The newsmen started registering at the Michigan State University Kellogg Center this morning to trade shop talk and hear a varied list of speakers.

Scheduled for the Friday noon luncheon was Sidney R. Bernstein, editorial director of Advertising Age magazine. The evening speaker at the MSU-sponsored banquet will be Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the U. S. national committee for the International Geophysical Year.

Saturday noon delegates will hear from Frank O. Prior, chairman of the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana). Featured in the evening at the "All Michigan" banquet will be Inez Robb, nationally syndicated columnist.

First to arrive yesterday were members of the MPA board of directors and the Michigan League of Home Dailies.

At Last! Wings Whip Montreal, 4-1

Canadien Home Winning Streak Snapped at 16

Tempers, Sticks Fly With Three Players Needing Stitches

MONTREAL (AP)—It took a long time, but the Detroit Red Wings at last have beaten the powerful Montreal Canadiens.

After absorbing six losses and three ties, Detroit notched its first win of the season over Montreal last night 4-1 to move into fourth place in the National Hockey League. Montreal is first.

The victory was only the second the Red Wings have been able to gain over the Canadiens in 26 games at the Montreal Forum.

The Detroit victory also broke Montreal's streak of 16 games at home without a loss.

As 14,601 fans looked on, the Red Wings and Canadiens battered each other throughout a battle in which tempers and sticks were high all night.

After only five minutes of action, Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk, just back after a three-game layoff because of a shoulder injury, suffered a five stitch cut and was out for ten minutes before returning to action.

Jean-Guy Talbot and Claude Provost of Montreal also needed stitches for cuts.

Provost drew a major penalty in the last period for inflicting a cut on Billy McNeill. In the same melee, McNeil and Henri Richard were given minors for high-sticking.

Marcel Pronovost provided an early lead for Detroit with a goal in the first period, but Henri Richard tied it up minutes later.

Norm Ullman made it 2-1 for Detroit in the second period and the Red Wings were in the lead for good. Jack McIntyre scored two third period goals to guarantee the game for Detroit.

Johnny Wilson, Red Wing left winger, ran his string of consecutive games to 495. The run started Jan. 20, 1952, and if Wilson isn't forced out for some reason or another he will hit a record 509 on March 3.

The record of 508 was set by Murray Murdock of the New York Rangers. His string ended in the 1936-37 season.

Detroit now leads fifth place Boston by one point and will get a chance to increase its lead when the Bruins host the Red Wings Saturday.

No Date—Site for Heavyweights

When? Where? for Title Bout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Cus D'Amato declared flatly today he prefers Colorado Springs, Colo., as the site for the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight, which was signed yesterday without date or location.

But promoter Bill Rosensohn insists he is considering five other cities besides Colorado Springs; also offers from two home-TV networks and one from an advertising agency for a national sponsor.

Sweden's unbeaten Johansson, champion of Europe, said, "I favor New York because of the bigger gate and because I expect 3,000 friends to come over from Sweden — and they wouldn't want to go clear to Colorado."

Edwin Ahlqvist, promoter of Goteborg, Sweden, and advisor to Johansson, said, "I hope this subpena won't prevent me from flying back to Goteborg next week. I have a big conference there Wednesday on taxes."

The subpena, served yesterday, orders Ahlqvist to give a preliminary stipulation at the offices of attorney Jack Hart on Wednesday. Hart is attorney for heavyweight contender Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., whom Johansson knocked out in the first round last September.

Machen is suing Johansson in New York Federal Court to restrain Johansson from fighting Patterson or anyone else before he carries out a return-bout contract, signed by advisor Ahlqvist. Machen alleges that Ahlqvist signed the contract as Ingemar's agent.

Concerning Colorado Springs, D'Amato — manager of champion Patterson, said: "I like that city's $500,000 net gate guarantee, and I like the people there — their hospitality and consideration for others."

Thayer Tutt, owner of the plush Broadmoor Hotel at Colorado Springs, confirmed yesterday the offer of a $500,000 guarantee from a live gate for the fight. The fight would be a feature of the Colorado Centennial celebration.

It was "even money" Patterson will knock out the Swedish challenger. The price was 5½ to 1 against Johansson's winning on a kayo, and 2-1 that the bout does not last the full 15 rounds, regardless of the winner.

Although Rosensohn has a deadline of Sept. 30 for staging the bout, he prefers the month of June. He says he will announce the site and date within 30 days.

The slender, brown-haired promoter, only 38, will confer with Mayor Robert F. Wagner next Tuesday about what inducement New York City will make to have the fight staged in Yankee Stadium.

On Wednesday, he will start a tour of other cities, where he now is making appointments for one-day conferences. They are Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Colorado Springs and Los Angeles.

Johansson, the first native Swede ever to get a shot at a world boxing championship in any division, plans to fly to Europe Monday. His contract provides that he must return to the United States two months before the fight, to start training. And he can have no fight before challenging Patterson although he may engage in exhibitions.

SERVICE WITH SMILE — A way to a pitcher's arm must be through his stomach. So Casey Stengel, canny manager of the New York Yankees, bows humbly to his chief breadwinner Bob Turley with a dish of food, after Turley signed his 1959 contract for an estimated $32,000 — an increase of about $7,000. Turley was 21-7 last season.

PCH Home, PNH on Road Tonight; Meet Tuesday

Chiefs Favored but Careful in Aiming for 8th

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern clash on the basketball court for the first time in history next Tuesday, but each team has other serious problems to surmount before that long-awaited evening arrives.

The more critical business of the moment is at hand tonight when the Chiefs play host to Saginaw Arthur Hill in a Saginaw Valley Conference game and Northern invades the Motor City for a date with Detroit Catholic Central.

Central — unbeaten in seven games, Saginaw Valley leader with a 5-0 record and rated Michigan's No. 1 Class A quintet — will be favored to beat Arthur Hill. Northern, on the other hand, will be the underdog at Detroit.

Arthur Hill poses a distinct threat to the Chiefs as they begin the 2nd half of their Valley schedule. Furthermore, coach Art Van Ryzin's cagers will have to get the job done without the services of graduated Charlie Barge.

Barge, a mid-year graduate, played his last prep contest for PCH a week ago tonight when the Chiefs routed Saginaw High, 69-43. Barge made his exit a glorious one with 27 points and he left a 22.3 per game scoring average behind him.

The loss of Barge is a bitter pill to swallow, but the resourceful Van Ryzin will try to fill the void by starting Amos Bailey, a 6 foot 1 sophomore with a deadly shooting eye.

Bailey will line up with regulars Bill Hayward, John Bandy, Phil Rabaja and Harrison Munson as the Chiefs try to preserve their undefeated status and top "A" ranking. George Fed, agile center and strong rebounder, also is expected to see heavy duty this evening.

Arthur Hill's won-lost record is unimpressive — 1-4 in the Valley and 3-6 overall — but the Lumberjacks are always dangerous and must be handled with extreme caution.

The Jacks gave PCH fits in their 1st encounter at Saginaw before bowing, 43-42, and they have lost some other hard-luck decisions. This is a critical SVC contest for the Chiefs and victory is all-important since they must play three of their final four league games on the road.

Goldbeck Champ of Golfers Over 55

Al Watrous' 72 Not Good Enough

(Special to the Pontiac Press)

DUNEDIN, Fla. — Al Watrous, Oakland Hills Country Club pro, shot a respectable 72 yesterday in the PGA Seniors Golf Tournament for golfers 55-and-over, but his big 77 of the first round Tuesday knocked him out of the running.

Bill Goldbeck, 60, of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., won the Bourne Trophy for this class with 71-69—140, three strokes ahead of Harold Sanderson of Summit, N. J. who had 71-69—143.

Sarazen, who had a 73 on his first round, took 39 putts on his second round to wind up with a fat 77 and a 150 total. The knickered squire from Germantown, N. Y., started out with 5-5-3-5, thus bogeying three of the first four holes, and he never recovered.

Goldbeck was a picture of consistency as he parred every hole on his out nine, hitting every green and two-putting all of them.

He started the back nine with another par, then birdied the next three holes before returning to par figures for the remainder of his round.

Souchak, Duden Set Pace

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Tournament-wise Mike Souchak and unheralded Bob Duden led a mass attack on par Thursday, carding 7-under-par 65s for the first round lead in the $20,000 San Diego Open.

Castro Favors Sports in Cuba

He told the Cuban Sports Federation that the provisional government has earmarked a half million dollars to revamp Cuba's recreational program and get it rolling.

Noting that less than 10 percent of Cuba's youth participate in athletics, he said the country needs ten thousand athletic fields in the cities and rural areas.

Castro indicated that landowners will be asked to help provide such facilities, making the government's program easier.

The rebel leader also indicated that the government was ready to help needy athletes so they can be in good condition for international competition. He called Cuba's teams in past competition "bluffs."

He blamed the regime of ex-president Fulgencio Batista for squandering money appropriated for sports.

'Dead Horse' Franchise

Trotters' Chief Tells NBA to Leave Detroit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Abe Saperstein, owner of the Harlem Globetrotters, said Thursday he and a group of Los Angeles businessmen are dickering for a National Basketball Assn. franchise for Los Angeles.

The roly-poly Chicagoan arriving from Hong Kong, also said his Globetrotters will play four exhibition matches next July in Warsaw and Krukow, Poland.

As for professional basketball, he said he will meet next week with Paul Schissler, Ed Pauley and Frank Bull in Los Angeles to complete plans to seek a Los Angeles NBA franchise.

If successful, he added, he plans to sell his interests in the Philadelphia Warriors, an NBA team.

If the NBA doesn't come to the Coast by 1960 it's crazy," Saperstein said. "And the way to come out is through realignment, not expansion to 10 cities. The loop should get rid of Detroit and Cincinnati."

He said Detroit is a baseball, football and hockey town while Cincinnati goes only for baseball and college basketball.

"Those who run the NBA are a bunch of mossbacks. They're not malleable. They don't adjust to conditions."

They're putting their money on a dead horse in Cincinnati and Detroit and leaving potentially great cities like San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle go to waste."

He called the Boston Celtic-Minneapolis Lakers San Francisco turnout (13,652) of two weeks ago a "straw in the wind."

NBA officials, however, said later there would be no moves this year and appointed a committee to investigate whether a move would be feasible.

Rams Face ROSM Saturday

Mikemen at OL Tonight

Two of the Pontiac area's parochial fives will collide in one of two games in Suburban Catholic Basketball League action set for this weekend.

Orchard Lake St. Mary entertains St. Michael in tonight's contest on the Eaglet's long court. Eaglets shoot for their ninth league win against one defeat. Shamrocks hope to make their season's mark 5-3. This will be the 2nd time this year the clubs have met, with St. Mary the winner in the first test, 41-30 at PCH. Eaglets are rated the edge once more.

Originally set for tonight, the St. Frederick-RO St. Mary contest has been moved to Saturday night. It will be played at Royal Oak, where the Rams, co-leader in the SCL race aim for their 8th win. Rams have lost one.

St. Benedict, third member of the three-way SCL leading group, entertains St. James, and was favored to chalk up its 8th win.

Coach Jim Niebauer of the Shamrocks said this morning he might send Don Mountain, the slim redhead, in as a starter against the Eaglets. He may replace Chuck Steinhelper at the start, Niebauer says. Don has height, moves well and is usually a good shot from the outside, where most scoring against St. Mary's has come this season. Eaglets have one of the league's best defensive setups.

St. Michael jayvees tangle in a preliminary at 7 p.m. with the Eaglet reserves. Varsity game is set for 8:15 o'clock.

Dolph Schayes Hero for Nats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Well, the National Basketball Assn. Nats would probably turn to their younger set to do the work. They did the job last night as the Nats turned in a 117-91 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers in Houston, Tex.

Schayes, one of the all-time greats in the NBA, is 31 and has been the mainstay of the Nats for 10 years with his 20-points per game average. Last night though, he got only six, but the job was handled by three players who are 25 and another who is 23.

Larry Costello, who scored 18 points, and Ed Conlin and Al Bianchi, who each scored 16 set most of the pace, while Hal Greer, only 23, also chipped in with 18 points.

Inter-Lakes Mat Meets

Vikings, Skippers Lose

The wrestling teams of Walled Lake and Waterford went down to defeat in Inter-Lakes matches last night.

Walled Lake bowed to Farmington 29-14 after being tied 8-8 and trailing only 14-11. Jim Teddy's decision was the only Viking victory in the last four matches as the more experienced Falcons pulled away.

Idle Oxford Cager Moves Up

Stott New Scoring Leader

By CHUCK ABAIR

Oxford star Doug Stott has taken over the Oakland County individual scoring lead although he hasn't made a point in two weeks.

He replaced Merv Gallup, who had paced the field all season, because the Birmingham ace has hit only 11 points in his last two games. Gallup dropped all the way to fourth with Pontiac Central's recently graduated Charley Barge and big George McDaniels of Holly also ahead of him.

Stott has had the layoff due to a postponed game last week due to weather conditions. He does not play again until Tuesday at Avondale.

Barge finished with 156 in seven games for a 22.3 average. McDaniels tops everyone for total and is the only cager in the entire area over 200 at 244. Rick Moos of Madison rounds out the 20-point boys at 20.3.

Another boy in the top 25 who has graduated is Royal Oak Dondero star Mike Joyce. He tallied 118 in seven starts for 16.9.

Although Rochester is unbeaten, the Falcons had not had an entry on the list until now when Gene Lothery moved into a tie for the very last position with an average of 14.

There is not much changed on the area list this week with Don Petroff of East Detroit, Jim Ward of Imlay City and tall Terry Wills of Armada rolling along.

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

Here's a friendly bit of advice to all high school athletes in Oakland County. If you want to continue serving your school in an athletic capacity—stay single.

Leastways, it would seem like a warning to be heeded in view of the action taken last week at the little hamlet of Mesick in Michigan's northland.

Dave Shively, a halfback, and Ron Cochrane, an end, were declared ineligible for sports competion during the 1958-59 school year by the Mesick school board due to their marital status.

The two boys filed a petition for a writ of mandamus against the Mesick board and last week Circuit Judge Howard L. Campbell dismissed the petition.

Campbell upheld the board's ruling with the statement that "school authorities must be allowed to determine what is best for the school."

The judge ruled that school authorities are legally empowered to bar students from extra-curricular activities if they are married. "The court should hesitate to interfere with authority clearly granted to the schools," Campbell declared.

"The boys are not being denied an education. Playing football is not an educational requirement," the judge added.

Shively and Campbell claimed they asked school officials if it would be OK for them to get married and were granted the go-ahead. Both boys are seniors who will be graduated next June and they are not expected to appeal the decision.

ODDS AND ENDS

Can any prep basketball player in the Oakland County area beat this for free throw accuracy? Fred Schwarze, Northville's diminutive guard, has sunk 46 of 50 foul shots in nine games.

Leroy Parks, ex-Clarkston basketball star and All-County performer, hopes to enter Flint JC next fall. Leroy is currently playing with Griff's Grill in the City League.

Clarkston's Dick Lippert, a teammate of Parks for two seasons, is seeing cage duty at Eastern Michigan College and Clayton (Cap) Pethers of Northville is a starter for Lawrence Tech.

Champion Avon Eleven Honored at Sports Fete

All-state tackle Bill Jennings was named the most valuable football player and center Tom Greenlees was honored as the most improved gridder at the annual Avondale High School All-Sports banquet last night.

Head coach Frank Crowell, who piloted Avondale to the Oakland B championship, and reserve boss Ken Kaestner gave out grid awards. Dick Bye, Ed Kalinowski, John Thompson and Elizabeth Diem of the coaching staff were other speakers.

Guest speaker for the evening was Lou Agase, Michigan State line coach. Films were shown of two of Avondale's title victories.

Rupp Wins No. 600; Big Ten Resumes

By the Associated Press

Long-time basketball powers Kentucky and St. Louis are riding higher than ever today — the Wildcats after nailing coach Adolph Rupp's 600th victory and the Billikens after snapping St. John's win streak at nine and ballooning their own to 10 in a row.

Kentucky put Rupp in the charmed 600 circle in his 29th coaching year with a 108-55 victory over Georgia at Lexington. St. Louis whipped St. John's 72-63.

Mississippi State, beaten only by unbeaten Auburn, made it 15-1 in a 53-52 squeaker over Memphis State. And Dartmouth won its seventh straight 64-62 over Boston Univ.

Kentucky, 16-1 and top-ranked nationally, had an easy time with outclassed Georgia. Rupp now is 600-104 since he took his first and only college job at Kentucky in 1930.

The Spartans will have the advantage of their home floor in trying to expand a 4-1 conference mark. Northwestern broke a three-game losing streak in topping Iowa 99-96 in overtime last week and now has a 3-3 record.

In other games Illinois (3-2) is at Purdue (2-3), Michigan (3-1) at Iowa (2-4) and Minnesota (4-2) at Ohio State (2-4) for an afternoon regionally televised contest.

Indiana is host to DePaul in a non-league game.

Northwestern expects limited service from Phil Warren, who was second in rebounding and third in scoring among the Wildcats before he suffered a fractured foot bone late in December.

MSU's balanced scoring is led by John Green who has a 20.4 average. Led by Green, the Spartans top the Big Ten in rebounding.

"MSU has experience, size and skill," said Northwestern coach Bill Rohr. "But the Spartans can be had. And if we play as well as we did in winning at Iowa last week I would say we have a good chance. But we will need a top performance from everybody."

If MSU should falter, Michigan will have a chance to move into the lead. The Wolverines are second with only one loss in four starts and have a fine scoring punch with M. C. Burton, who has been averaging 22.2, and sophomore John Tidwell, with 20.5.

Clarence Worldlaw heads Iowa with 20.3.

'A' Powers Split Exhibition Tilts

Shaw's Jewelers breezed to a 70-48 victory at the expense of the Nike Air Force Base quintet while the Lakeside Royals, city "A" champs for the past two years, dropped a 71-68 decision to the Mt. Clemens Packers in the nightcap.

Dave Diehm, former PCH star, fired 22 points to spark Shaw's runaway triumph. Bill Pembroke's 25 points and 20 more by Rudy Hill were not enough to save the Lakeside cagers.

City Hockey Kings Face Off Saturday

The contest wil serve as an added attraction to the annual citywide winter ice carnival sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

Jones in Dash, Hurdle Events at AAU Relays

Pontiac's Hayes Jones will defend his hurdles titles and probably run the dash event in the annual Michigan AAU relays, Saturday, at University of Michigan Fieldhouse. Hayes represents Eastern Michigan.

Several other Oakland County athletes will compete. They include Warren Cawley and Mike Agee of Farmington High School. They will compete unattached, Cawley in the college hurdles and Agee and Cawley in the novice 300.

Hayes last year tied state marks with his :07.9 and :07.2 for the 65-yard high and low hurdles, respectively. He faces a fast field in both events, Saturday.

Pontiac will be represented by two former Chiefs, John Phlegm in the hurdles and star miler and half-miler, Rog Coats, in the 300 and 600-yard runs.

PCH track coaches Dean Wilson and Ray Lowery, along with several other coaching staff members from Pontiac schools, will attend the meet.

Then there are ex-Chiefs Freeman Watkins in the dashes, and ace half-miler and miler Larry Beamer in the 300 or 600, and Jimmy Shorter probably in the 300. Watkins is a sophomore and Beamer is a freshman at U. of M. Shorter will run for University of Detroit.

The relays field will include 475 entries from 24 universities, colleges, clubs and high schools, as well as unattached athletes. The program will consist of 22 events.

Skippers Home, Rochester Away

By CHUCK ABAIR

All-winning Rochester and Waterford's "come close" Skippers swing back into acton tonight in two of the several league games featuring another big prep basketball schedule around the Oakland County area.

Rochester will be putting its unbeaten record on the line and going after a sweep of Tri-County opponents as guest of improved L'Anse Creuse while Waterford stays home to take on strong Southfield in an Inter-Lakes tussle.

Romeo goes to Lapeer in the other Tri-County duel. Farmington visits Walled Lake and Berkley travels to Van Dyke in other I-L contests. Berkley is unbeaten for all games.

Although they have almost opposite records, the Waterford-Southfield tilt is considered a toss-up with maybe a slim edge to the visitors.

The Skippers led the Bluejays all the way before bowing 47-46 in their 1st meeting. That was the start of some league nightmares for Gerry Wallace and Waterford fans. There have been only eight points difference in the five loop games involving the Blue and Gold.

Waterford is 1-4 in the league and 2-6 overall. Southfield is 3-2 and 8-3.

A full Eastern Michigan slate will have Royal Oak Kimball, another team which has lost several close ones, at Birmingham, 1st place Ferndale at Mt. Clemens and East Detroit host to Port Huron. Ferndale, although winless in outside games, is unbeaten against EML foes.

Troy can take another big step towards a repeat of the Oakland B crown by repeating an earlier triumph over Lake Orion at home. Avondale's young quintet seeks its 3rd straight at Clawson and Fitzgerald entertains Madison in other games.

Not much is expected to develop from a four-game Wayne-Oakland League slate unless 'ole man upset rears his ugly head. Host West Bloomfield will draw the chief attention as the Lakers attempt to drop Brighton from the unbeaten ranks. Holly, top contender, goes after another win at Clarenceville. Clarkston will be favored to regain its winning ways at Milford as Northville, with giant Jeff Goodrich back, visits Bloomfield Hills.

An all-out performance by scoring stars Ted Follis and Earl Richardson could give Ortonville a good chance of upsetting unbeaten Imlay City in the South Central feature at Ortonville. North Branch and Millington meet in the other contest.

Other games in various leagues will include Monroe at Royal Oak Dondero, Madison Lamphere at Lutheran East, Country Day vs Clintondale, South Lyon at home to meet Manchester, Utica at South Lake and Wayne St. Mary visiting Farmington Our Lady of Sorrow.

Justice Ingle Wants to Quit

Asks Constituents to Switch Votes in Feb. 16 Primary Election

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Allen Ingle, township justice of the peace, has announced that he is no longer seeking re-election to his position.

Although Ingle's name will appear on the primary ballot Feb. 16 as a Republican candidate for justice of the peace, he is asking that all persons planning to vote for him cast their ballots instead for Robert A. Nelson, the other Republican candidate.

Ingle, recently appointed president of the Board of Directors of the Farmington Savings and Loan Assn., said his new duties along with his private legal practice will require his full time and attention.

He added "Financially I can no longer maintain and operate a justice court without great personal sacrifice."

There now are seven justices of the peace in Farmington Township whereas Ingle started as one of two serving the community.

Transient Faces Murder Charge

Brought From Chicago by Royal Oak Police Who Report Confession

ROYAL OAK — A transient railroad worker accused of murdering a fellow worker here was turned over by Chicago Police yesterday to two Royal Oak detectives and brought back to face charges.

He will be taken to the Oakland County Prosecutors office today for a statement, local officers said.

Detective Richard Oakes and Sgt. George Tedder escorted John U. Graddy, 27, who was picked up in a Chicago skid row tavern last week, back to Royal Oak late yesterday.

Local authorities say that Graddy has admitted to FBI agents in Chicago that he struck George Scholar, 68, also a transient worker, with a pick-ax during an argument and took $55 from the victim's wallet. Scholar was living in Royal Oak at the time.

He was attacked on Aug. 16 and remained unconscious until he died Sept. 6 in William Beaumont Hospital here.

Willis Hanks, who is a U.S. mailman in midtown New York City has a route over which he walks four miles every day. Every evening he swims about five miles. He says he is conditioning himself to try for the English Channel

Oakland Chief a State Director

Elected by Supervisors

LANSING—Delos Hamlin, chairman of Oakland County Board of Supervisors, was elected a director of the Michigan State Assn. of Supervisors which yesterday concluded a three-day conference here.

Hamlin, 54-year-old Farmington supervisor, replaces James L. Gardner, former Commerce Township supervisor and association president (1955-56), as Oakland's only representative on the seven member Board of Directors.

The county's 37 delegates and other county officials present at the conference started early Wednesday drumming up votes for Hamlin. Label cards reading "Hamlin for director" were not uncommon around the lobby of the Hotel Olds.

With Hamlin's winning a three-year term (1959-62) on the board, a precedent was broken as he gained the spot by upsetting past association president James Middaugh, 161 to 89, for the seat. The past president usually is elected to the board.

Also elected were William Warren Sr. (Port Huron), first vice president, Edward McNamara (Birch Run), second vice president, and W. E. Dennison (Vernon), re-elected secretary-treasurer. McNamara is the other new director along with Hamlin.

Hamlin, who operates a bowling alley in Farmington is winding up an unprecedented third year as chairman of the Oakland Board of Supervisors.

DELOS HAMLIN

Before yesterday's convention windup, delegates adopted a policy statement expressing "full sympathy" with the Legislature's search for new revenue. However, the statement says any tax revision "should not and must not invade the right of local government to control local affairs."

The statement also opposed a proposal which would eliminate taxing of personal property.

Elementary School Outing

Lakeville Ice Carnival Slated for Saturday

LAKEVILLE — Silver skates will flash across the sleek ice coating on Lakeville Lake when pupils from the Lakeville Elementary School participate in an "ice carnival" Saturday.

The childrens' outing is being sponsored by the Lakeville PTA from 2 to 5 p.m. in front of the lakefront home of Mr. and Mrs. Erich Kurschat, 1653 Rochester Rd. here.

The first half-hour of the program will be given over to free style skating.

At 2:30 p.m. a king and queen of the ice show will be crowned to "reign" over the remainder of the day's events. The "royalty" was selected by a popular vote among pupils today, the results of which are being kept secret until the crowning.

Crowns and regal robes were donated for the event by Mrs. Clinton Barrett, PTA member.

Following the coronation speed races will be judged by School Principal Donald R. Clark and PTA father Marshall Wilson. Purses of silver dollars will go to the winners in the first three places.

The Pontiac Skaters' Club under the direction of Mrs. Peggy Bowman will stage a figure skating exhibition next. This will be followed by "chow-time" scheduled for around 3:30 to 4 p.m. Then free-style skating by the youngsters will be resumed until 5 p.m.

Fanfare Will Mark Event Open to Public 2 to 5 P.M.

HOLLY — The new, million-dollar Holly High School will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Saturday to the stirring music of the high school band directed by Leland Brode.

Hailed as best in its class at the Michigan Assn. of School Board's recent architectural exhibition, the outstanding school will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. for the occasion, it was announced today by Holly Area School Superintendent Charles G. Coggins.

Dedication speaker will be Dr. Wilbert McKeachie, professor of psychology at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He is a graduate of Holly High School in the class of '38.

Presentation of Colors by the Boy Scouts will be followed by the invocation to be given by the Rev. Reginald Becker, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church here.

Master of Ceremonies will be John Thomas, school attorney.

The president of the Holly Area Board of Education, Buel Starr, will formally accept the school from the architects, H. E. Beyster & Associates Inc. of Detroit.

Also officiating will be the principal of the new school, Ray Barber, Coggins, and George McDaniel, president of the Student Council.

The new high school contains 10 general class rooms, additional facilities for teaching physics, chemistry, biology, commercial studies, homemaking, music, shop, gymnasium, library and a cafeteria.

The flexible design of the school enables other community activities to take place in the gymnasium and student center during evening hours.

Provisions for future expansion have been arranged for, according to the architects.

The first commander of the Continental Navy was Esek Hopkins, who lived in a house on Admiral street in Providence, R.I., which is still in use.

Power Saws Popular

NEW YORK—Americans bought about 400,000 gasoline-engine-operated chain saws during 1958. Forty per cent were bought by farmers who are growing 43,000,000 acres of trees as crops, some harvested each year. Others are used in the road construction, in cutting ice on the Great Lakes, and even in cutting up whales.

Warren Calm in Midst of Storms

By United Press International

When he says he is not at odds with President Eisenhower, the statement is easily believed. The 68-year-old Supreme Court justice doesn't look like the feudin' type.

Last December he missed the annual White House dinner in his oath of office in October 1953, with a virus infection, it was said at the court. Mrs. Warren attended alone.

When Warren presides over public sessions of the Supreme Court, he invariably welcomes new attorneys with a friendly word. He puts his questions pleasantly, even though they may have a sharp point.

To court visitors, he is a charming host.

Warren is now in his sixth year of service on the high bench. A former governor and attorney general of California, he was the first chief justice from west of the Mississippi.

Asked then about his political philosophy, he said, "I am by nature conservative but I do like to make progress."

Then, quoting Lincoln, "I'm a slow walker but I never walk backwards."

His critics might quarrel with this self assessment. Since taking his oath of office in October 1953 Warren has emerged as head of a revived "liberal wing" in the court.

The most controversial decision of the "Warren court" was the school segregation ruling of 1954. This, and other Warren opinions, have been clear, unencumbered by legalism.

In July 1957 Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) referred to the Chief Justice in a Senate floor speech as a "modern Thaddeus Stevens," who is destroying the American form of government. Stevens, a congressman of reconstruction days, is a name hated in the South.

Warren meets such attacks mostly with silence.

The Chief Justice was recently in the news when it became known that he had dropped his membership in the American Bar Association. He has declined to say why.

Warren is intensely concerned with federal court administrative problems, deploring the "choking congestion" in lower tribunals. The judicial conference, which he heads, keeps pressing Congress to authorize more federal judgeships.

On the lighter side, Warren in 1957 was honorary chairman of the Boy Scout circus here. He also headed the March of Dimes that year.

In 1955, before it was known that President Eisenhower would run for a second term, Warren's name kept turning up in lists of Republican candidates. Finally he issued a statement saying he had left politics permanently.

Scientists Owe Debt to Monkey

With Reaction Similar to Man, Tests Made in Space Work, Medicine

WASHINGTON—If man ever reaches the stars, he will owe a considerable debt to a fellow mammal, the monkey.

Already, scientists have sent monkeys into space to try to determine whether men can survive there.

"Old Reliable," a nine-month-old squirrel monkey, soared to 290 miles in the nose cone of an Army Jupiter missile in November 1958. In comfortable retirement in the National Zoo in Washington is "Mike," a space pioneer that flew at a speed of nearly 2,000 miles an hour in 1952, says the National Geographic Society.

Monkeys are vital to space research because of their many similarities, physical and emotional, to man. Their reactions to the stresses of great speeds and weightlessness tell scientists how man's heart might be expected to react.

Scientists also can gain an indication of how digestive problems and nervous tensions can be overcome by studying the monkeys.

At present, the greatest single debt man owes the monkeys is their use in the making and testing of polio vaccine. The virus from which the vaccine is produced flourishes in the kidney tissue of the Rhesus monkey (Macaca mulata), from the plains of northern India.

Thousands of Rhesus monkeys give their lives each year in order that children may live free of poliomyelitis.

To ensure that the vaccine is properly prepared, it is tested on yet another monkey, a Philippine species that reacts to polio in exactly the same fashion as man.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the discovery by an Austrian medical research team that polio could be transmitted to the Rhesus monkey. The Rhesus has given the first two letters of its name to the medically important Rh factor in blood, still another contribution to man's welfare.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY precious mother who passed away January 30, 1957.
Mother dear, I loved you so,
And miss you more each day;
My life has been unhappy,
Since you went away.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF PAUL E. Jarrell, who passed away January 30, 1958.
And friends from day to day;
But never will the one we love,
From memory pass away.
Sadly missed by your wife, son, and grandchildren.

Group Performs at White House

First Couple of Nation Must Be Very Careful About Giving Praise

BY MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ladies and gentlemen closely familiar with the reaction of President and Mrs. Eisenhower to professional entertainment say never have they seen the chief executive and his wife enjoy anything quite as much as Lawrence Welk.

The champagne music man who confounds the jazz moderns by his smashing success on television came to dinner at the White House this week. Welk, his orchestra and Alice Lon, the "Champagne Lady," entertained in the East Room after dinner.

Mrs. Eisenhower confided to Miss Lon that she and the President watch the Welk organization on television whenever possible. The President enjoyed the East Room musicale so much that he stayed up quite later than usual to have a private 20-minute chat with the orchestra leader.

Being a man of sensible taste, naturally Welk made no mention of his TV sponsor during the musical.

Knowing that he can count on the President and his wife as a rock-solid segment on his nationwide audience, it was in keeping that Welk as the band completed its evening serenade, called out to the Eisenhower assembly of cabinet members and congressional leaders, "I'll see you on television.

The fact that Mrs. Eisenhower, at least, is an inveterate television viewer has reflected itself in the just concluded White House social season. In addition to Welk, she also arranged for a simulated broadcast of the Voice of Firestone, another major TV musical show, for the entertainment of after-dinner guests earlier this month.

Television is the principal bridge between the Eisenhowers and the entertainment world because the President and his wife rarely attend the theater or concerts outside of the White House.

Only rarely can it be determined just what show Eisenhower looks upon with particular favor unless he indicates it at something like the dinner for the vice president and the cabinet where Welk played.

Eisenhower once said after a dinner where Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians entertained that he considered Waring "the greatest entertainer in the country today."

Some other folks in show business who thought they were pretty good, too, accepted this accolade for Waring with something less than hearty assent. The President realizes the inevitability of such a situation and as a result, is sparing with his superlatives.

44 Are Safe as Crippled Plane Lands

The port engine of the two-engine Convair quit shortly after the airliner had left Tulsa on a scheduled nonstop flight to Chicago. Pilot Ed Mayer of Dallas said he decided to ride a 65-75 mile-an-hour tailwind to Joplin instead of turning back. He called the landing routine. Mayer said he didn't know why the engine quit.

"No one seemed the least bit upset or afraid," said Stewardess Diane Shamness of Dallas. "As a matter of fact, they were eating dinner, and I don't think they stopped eating until we landed."

Legal Whisky Illegal in Tennessee County

MAYNARDSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — It's against the law to sell whisky in legally wet Union County. Tennessee law permits liquor sales only in towns of 1,000 or more and this East Tennessee county doesn't have one.

The county voted to go wet back in 1939, when Maynardsville met the 1,000 requirement. But a population drop in the past years leaves the county's largest town 400 residents shy of the legal mark.

Japan Says Koreans Can Go Back to Reds

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government today announced Koreans living in Japan will be repatriated to Communist North Korea if they want. The decision touched off a new crisis between Japan and South Korea.

"It is tantamount to breaking off current normalization talks," said Korea's minister to Japan, Yiu Tai Ha. "Nothing could be more unfortunate for friendly relations."

An estimated 100,000 of the 600,000 Koreans living in Japan—most of them in poverty—are reported ready to go to North Korea, where they have been promised jobs.

The South Korean government has long opposed the move, contending it is the only legal Korean government.

Shipbuilding Firm Likes Man's Idea, Pays $5,000

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Harry A. Bullifant had an idea he thought would solve the curved plate problem which has plagued shipbuilders since the early days of steel ships.

He took it to the research committee of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, for which he works. Result, a $5,000 check for Bullifant. The company believes it is not in conflict with any previous patent.

MAID AND MONSTER — His TV and movie roles belie the affection show folks feel toward Boris Karloff, warmly welcomed here by the star of the Gale Storm Show, in which he'll be guest Saturday (9 p. m. Channel 2). Karloff will play a dual role of killer and victim.

Maybe Earl Just Isn't Type for Wearing Hats

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Compliments, compliments, all I get is compliments. And the kind of compliments I get. I'd rather get insults.

"Dear Mr. Wilson," a letter started out. "We would like to present you with a new hat that will warm the cockles of your head." Just when I was enjoying this nice gesture, the letter said, "You are now wearing a flat-top hat and of all the men to wear a flat-top hat, you shouldn't."

I went over to this place, Thomas Begg on Park Avenue, and they hung on me a "demi-bowler," half Homburg and half bowler. I proudly wore it home where my B.W. said "I like that hat." I said, "Oh, you're sweet." She said, "On John Foster Dulles."

Rona Friedman of my office came forward with just the right compliment. "Gee, that's good lookin'!" she exclaimed. As I beamed, she said, "When was it that they used to wear those?"

Do you get compliments, too?

Edith Piaf sings better—and looks plainer—every year. When she opened the other night some fashion snob said, "Who doesn't design her clothes?" The flat-chested chanteuse (an oddity nowadays!) wore her usual plain black dress, with no waistline, no belt, and open-toed flat sandals—and her hair had been freshly mussed. Her face shone—she was out of powder. But this is Piaf; recovered from an auto accident which was almost fatal; she even danced a little. Hidden behind a screen was a chorus of some of Emil Coleman's musicians playing like a symphony. Piaf in that gamin getup will arouse more excitement than the busty dames who undress to music.

We were out with Frances Langford and her husky husband, Ralph Evinrude, the outboard tycoon, when my B.W suddenly got the hiccups.

"Let me treat her!" boomed Evinrude. He put her arms around the back of her chair and gave her a jolt in the back. She got over the hiccups — but three other people got them.

FRANCES

"Her voice's better than ever but she clams up and won't sing," he complains.

"I only like to sing when we're driving, so nobody but me can hear," she says.

They came up from Stewart, Fla., where they have a 419-pound piece of blue-fin tuna (which Fran caught) over the fireplace. Ralph, a cut-up, has put a big electrical glass eye in the head of the fish—and when Ralph can get Fran to sing, "When You Speak to Me With Your Eyes," the electrical glass eye winks. This is not the reason, though, that Fran doesn't like to sing.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Mrs. Gordon MacRae spent all day at home making her hair blonde for the Garry Moore TV show, after a beauty parlor'd mistakenly turned it red . . . When singer Gogi Grant wed attorney Bob Rifkind she wired her manager . . . George Greif: "Grant took Rifkind" . . . Sandra Church, who'll audition for the role of the young Gypsy Rose Lee, visited the 52d St. strip joints to see a stripper for the first time . . . Nat (King) Cole will pass up Miami dates this winter, do the better-paying South American tour.

EARL'S PEARLS: Ima Washout reports that a men's bowling team sponsored by a church group is called "the Holy Rollers."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Tony Pettito admits he loves cunning, scheming females: "I have to—there's no other kind."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Most people who complain about the high cost of education forget the high cost of the lack of it.—L.S. McCandless. . . . That's earl, brother.

Well, That's the Way the Ball Bounces

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP) —A bouncing tennis ball led to the arrest of a man in connection with a $9,800 robbery.

Boys were bouncing the ball when it became stuck in the rafters of an Arlington garage Thursday.

When they went to retrieve it they found an envelope containing $640.

He was charged with being an accessory to the robbery and receiving stolen money.

Playhouse 90 Confuses Magic With Trickery

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS-TV's Playhouse 90, which should know better, confused magic with trickery last night.

Good drama often enmeshes its audience in an enchantment-net, creating its own envelope of belief. That special kind of illusion is the magic of theater.

However, last night's Playhouse 90, Reginald Rose's "A Quiet Game of Cards," did not create illusion, but imposture. It was not so much a game of cards as it was a house of cards.

Rose uncrated a story about a group of five propertied, but bored citizens who decide to commit a murder which they believe will benefit the community. In a last minute gallop of conscience, they shy away from the act. But the murder is executed anyway by just the forces the quintet wishes to blame.

There was much mumbling at the close about "the flow of history" and what Rose was trying to say, I suppose, is that good men should not commit evil to destroy evil—that eventually evil will destroy itself.

To give Rose his due, once the implausibilities were shunted aside, "A Quiet Game of Cards" was mildly fascinating. But it was fascinating only in the sense that watching a man balance a saucer on the end of his nose is fascinating.

SHORT SHOTS: In a business in which everyone is trying so hard to manufacture a myth of lollipop niceness, it's heartening to catch the Crosby boys in action. Gary, Lindsay, Dennis and Philip checked in for the ABC-TV Pat Boone show last night and their cockiness, impudence and wiseguyness was going full blast. In small doses, they are an enormously engaging crew.

ABC-TV's Leave It to Beaver really was swinging last night with its spoof of the whitewash episode in Tom Sawyer . . . I leave NBC-TV's clean cut golden boy, Steve Canyon, for a couple of weeks and what happens? I come back to find him drinking, smooching heavily with a babe and even riding around out of uniform. Obviously, this boy will bear some watching.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: NBC-TV's Omnibus will tackle Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The Medium" in February . . . CBS-TV will shoot the test film for its new Maureen O'Hara anthology series on Feb. 16 in Hollywood—it'll star Tony Randall in a script by J. P. Miller.

Dick Van Dyke will make his dramatic debut in CBS-TV's U.S. Steel Hour, "Trap For A Stranger," on Feb. 25 . . . Perry Como will star in a special one hour show for NBC-TV in March . . . Gisele MacKenzie lost her baby.

Richard Boone, of CBS-TV's Have Gun, Will Travel will deliver Lincoln's Gettysburg Address at the Lincoln Memorial Feb. 12.

State Dem Party Calls Conclave

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic State Central Committee today issued an official call for a record 1,605 delegates to attend the party's state convention Feb. 20-21 in Grand Rapids.

Neil Staebler, state chairman, said the total represents a gain of 225 over the party's 1955 convention when delegate numbers were based on the same formula.

In non-presidential election years, he explained, counties are given one delegate for each 800 votes cast for the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State.

Delegates will name candidates for state superintendent of public instruction, two regents for the University of Michigan, two members of the State Board of Agriculture, a member of the State Board of Education, six members of the Wayne State University Board of Governors and two State Supreme Court justices.

The convention also will elect a chairman and vice chairman of the state central committee and act on district choices for central committee positions.

Smoking-Cancer Link Is Blasted

Evidence Still Only Statistical, Says Doctor in Annual Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Lung cancer is still linked to smoking only through use of statistics, the Tobacco Industry Research Committee says.

In the 1958 annual report, made public this week the committee's science director said:

"Exponents of the tobacco theory (linking smoking with lung cancer) have failed since the first public propaganda for the theory in 1953 to produce any new evidence that provides any qualitatively different support beyond the original type of statistical association."

Dr. Clarence Cook Little, director emeritus of the Roscoe B. Jackson memorial laboratory, Bar Harbor, Maine, is the science director of the committee, organized in 1954 by representatives of the tobacco industry.

The committee makes funds available for research on tobacco and health but undertakes no research itself.

The statistical evidence is full of loopholes and contradictions, the report said. It advised "continued caution and skepticism toward acceptance of aggressive antitobacco propaganda of a general and conclusive nature."

Youth Corps Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked Thursday to establish a 150,000-member Youth Conservation Corps. Sponsors of identical bills in the House and Senate said the plan would "put young brain and muscle to work on a broad scale in the field of conservation."
