100 Commuters Killed as Trains Collide in Fog

LONDON (AP)—An electric locomotive teetering over twisted wreckage today delayed the search for more victims of a rush-hour crash of two trains in thick fog.

Rescue workers today said approximately 100 persons died in the rush-hour crash of two trains taking commuters and Christmas shoppers to their homes in thick fog last night.

Salvage crews, moving through a nightmare scene of fog and twisted metal, brought out 73 bodies.

They said more than 35 other bodies still were trapped in the mangled coaches.

Police said more than 200 others were injured, including 110 seriously hurt. Determination of the final toll of dead and injured may take several days.

Arms and legs of still bodies protruded from the windows and shattered roofs of the coaches. The rescue crews said there was no hope that any still remaining in the wreckage were alive.

Rocket Explodes in Texas School

Instructor of Chemistry Class Killed; 7 Students Injured in Blast

FLOYDADA, Tex. (AP)—A rocket made from a piece of pipe blew up during a high school chemistry class experiment yesterday, killing the teacher and injuring seven students.

Garland Foster, 40, the teacher and a former employee of the Atomic Energy Commission research center at Los Alamos, N.M., was killed.

Keith Hollums, 18, and Jerry Crawford, 17, were seriously injured. The other five had minor injuries. Three more were treated for shock and released.

Hollums had several teeth knocked out and suffered other mouth injuries and was hospitalized here. Crawford suffered ear and face injuries and was taken to a Lubbock hospital for surgery.

Dennis Whitfill, 18, a member of the class who was only a few feet from the explosion but escaped injury, gave this account: "The teacher used to work at the Atomic Energy Commission and had learned about rocket fuels.

"We had mixed together carbide, potassium chlorate and sulphur and placed it inside this one-foot-long piece of pipe. The ends were capped with a hole in one end.

"We had twice tied to the rocket, which was on a roller skate, and had planned to hold it back with the tube. Later, the teacher said, we would make a stronger fuel, and might even try to launch the rocket."

The youth said 14 members of the chemistry class were gathered around the teacher on the school grounds when he struck a match to the opening at one end of the rocket. The match went out.

"The next time he tried," Whitfill said, "the rocket fizzed just a second and then exploded. Pieces of iron went in all directions. The roller skate, what was left of it, was blown about 20 feet away."

VILLA RICA, Ga. (AP)—Twenty persons were burned, some believed seriously, in a fire following an explosion in the business district here today.

Testimonial Dinner to Honor Broomfield

The North Woodward Republican Club will honor Oakland County's Congressman William S. Broomfield with a dinner at 7 p.m. Monday at Adrian Cotter's Tavern, Twelve-Mile and Woodward.

More than 200 state and county officials and club members are expected to be on hand. President Gustav G. Scharff will make the opening remarks and County Republican Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. will be toastmaster.

Testimonials for the 35-year-old Congressman will be made by State Senator L. Harvey Lodge, State Representative Theodore F. Hughes and Duncan S. MacDonald for Royal Oak Schools. Justice of the Peace Ralph F. Finley of Berkley and Robert B. Lamb also will take part in the ceremonies.

Broomfield was elected to Congress for the first time last year. He previously served eight years in the state legislature in Lansing as both a state representative and senator. He also served as speaker pro-tem of the House.

Members of the dinner committee are Ted J. Simon, chairman, Robert D. Harvey, Louis Solomos, Alyn H. Thompson and Delphine I. Lamb.

London Chokes in Grip of Fog for Second Day

LONDON (AP)—The season's first great fog, an acrid lung-burning blanket of moisture and smoke, still hung tightly to southern Britain today.

For the second straight day, London airport was still.

On the River Thames and in the vast port of London not a ship moved.

Bus schedules were disregarded. Drivers took buses through the fog at reduced speed or left them in garages.

Railways in the southern London area were routed around the scene where about 100 persons were killed last night when one train ran into the rear of another in the fog.

11 Admit Thefts at Selfridge

MT. CLEMENS (INS)—Nine civilian employees of Selfridge Air Force Base and two airmen, one a supply sergeant and the other an airman first class, pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of stealing government property.

Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle deferred sentence pending probation reports. The 11 were released under one thousand dollars bond each.

A 10th civilian, Woodrow F. Soulliere, 39, of Fair Haven, a warehouseman at the base, was arrested late last night.

An FBI spokesman said lost valued at more than $4,000 was recovered from homes and lockers of the "accused persons."

The lost included food, clothing, oil, paint, tools, office supplies, sports equipment and stationery.

An Air Force spokesman said the thefts were individual and stressed no gang was responsible for the stealing. The thefts were discovered when one of the suspects was spotted leaving a ration distribution building with a sack of groceries. He admitted stealing the goods and told of similar thefts by others.

Col. Richard L. Dick, base executive officer, said it was not immediately possible to estimate the value of the goods stolen.

10th Civilian Arrested; Loot Found in Homes Valued Over $4,000

There had been some speculation Meany was now willing to let James R. Hoffa remain in a subordinate position in the Teamsters Union and escape an expulsion move, if only Hoffa would quit as Teamsters president-elect.

In the past Meany had said Hoffa's ouster from any sort of post in the Teamsters was the prime requisite to that union's staying in the federation. The Teamsters, already under AFL-CIO suspension, have a tenth of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members.

The United Textile Workers Union was suspended last night.

OUT FOR ACTION

However, the AFL-CIO leaders appeared determined to push convention expulsion action against the Teamsters, Bakery, Laundry, Distillery and Textile Workers unions. They comprise about 1,800,000 of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members.

All five unions have been under fire in congressional investigations, with the Teamsters and Hoffa especially being charged before the Senate Rackets Committee with misusing union funds and powers.

Meany announced that the AFL-CIO Executive Council had suspended the textile group and

Leaking Valve Halts Launching of Baby Moon

Wind Also Interferes; Satellite's Official Title to Be '1957 Gamma'

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Defense Department announced it will try again to launch the first U. S. earth satellite tomorrow. A brief statement said only that the launching "is now planned for the daylight hours of Friday."

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.

—The United States called off its proposed test launching of the Gamma baby moon last night only 50 minutes short of the target hour.

The combination of a series of minor difficulties forced postponement—particularly a leaky disconnecting valve on the launching rocket's liquid oxygen tank—and a bad break on the weather.

In Washington, John P. Hagen, director of the U.S. Project Vanguard program to launch a series of research satellites during the international geophysical year, said it was his guess that the launching process would be resumed later today so it might be completed tonight or in the early hours of Friday.

But J. Paul Walsh, deputy director, told a news conference at Patrick Air Force Base officers club that there would be no resumption of the launch.

Snow Forms White Tablecloths in New York

COOL CAFETERIA — Snow which skipped south of Michigan Tuesday didn't miss the mark in New York yesterday. The season's first snowfall, a very heavy one, left scenes like this one on the terrace of the Central Park Zoo cafeteria. Beauty had its drawbacks, however, with slush underfoot and countless traffic snarls. The city measured nearly six inches of snow on the ground by early afternoon.

'No Deals' on Corruption, Meany Tells Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany told the opening session of the federation's convention today there would be no deals in the federation's drive to eliminate labor corruption.

Meany denied reports the AFL-CIO high command is in any way willing to water down its cleanup demands on the Teamsters and other AFL-CIO unions accused of corrupt leadership.

There had been some speculation Meany was now willing to let James R. Hoffa remain in a subordinate position in the Teamsters Union and escape an expulsion move, if only Hoffa would quit as Teamsters president-elect.

Hoffa, Beck Feel Squeeze as 3 Courts Call Witnesses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Teamster chieftains James R. Hoffa and Dave Beck were faced with big problems in court today. At the same time, AFL-CIO President George Meany issued an ultimatum to the Teamster Union to get rid of Hoffa as president or be ousted from the giant federation.

At the Hoffa wiretapping trial in New York today, two women employees of Teamster Union units in Detroit testified yesterday that they never gave anyone permission to listen to their telephone conversations.

Mrs. Judith Seymour Wall and Miss Bernice L. Burridge were government witnesses at the Federal District Court wiretap conspiracy trial of Hoffa, Teamsters president-elect; professional wiretapper Bernard Spindel; and Owen Bernard Brennan, president of Detroit Teamster Local 337.

The trial resumes today. The trio are accused of conspiring to tap illegally telephones in the Teamsters' Detroit headquarters from January 1953 to last May 15, when they were indicted.

Soviet Launches Surface Vessel

LONDON (AP)—Russia scored another first today, launching the first atomic-powered surface ship.

The 16,000-ton icebreaker Lenin slid down the ways in Leningrad, Moscow radio announced.

The Soviet Union needs giant ice breakers to work along its frozen north coast.

The first U.S. atomic-powered surface ship, the 31,000-ton merchantman Savannah, is scheduled to be completed in 1960.

The U.S. Navy has been operating atomic-powered submarines for several years.

The Soviet vessel has sleeping accommodations for 1,000. Its top speed will be 19 knots, its draft 30 feet, length 435½ feet and maximum beam 90 feet. Its engines were rated at 44,000 horsepower.

Connecticut to Virginia Area Battles to Clear Record Drifts

NEW YORK (AP)—A bright sun returned today in the wake of yesterday's early season snowstorm that lashed the east coast from Connecticut to Virginia, causing 10 deaths and snarling transportation.

Despite the sunshine, the temperature in many places continued below the freezing mark keeping highways slippery and hazardous.

Huge forces of road workers turned out for the giant task of clearing travel lanes.

There were record snowfalls in New York and New Jersey, and stinging hard winds piled up huge drifts in spots. As the storm moved on into the Atlantic, the wind eased.

The snow measured up to two feet in Maryland. In northern Maine, temperatures fell to 10 below zero although the state itself escaped the snowstorm. Winds reached 45 miles an hour.

Accidents were numerous and transportation difficulties great yesterday in many places, particularly the heavily populated New York and Philadelphia areas.

Birmingham Man Is Killed

Joseph Tusly Struck While Crossing Street in Franklin Village

A Birmingham contractor, Joseph H. Tusly, was struck and killed by an auto at 5:30 p.m. yesterday while he crossed 13 Mile Road, near Telegraph in Franklin Village.

Tusly, 55, lived at 24306 Riverwood. He was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital.

The driver, Michael F. Cox, 55, of 285 John M. Clawson, told State Police he did not see Tusly until he was too close to stop. It was dark at the time of the accident.

Cox is expected to make a statement to the Oakland County Prosecutor's office today.

FBI Entering Search for Missing Girl, 7

SYCAMORE, Ill. (AP)—The communitywide search for a missing 7-year-old girl continued today as the FBI joined the hunt and police expressed belief evidence indicated a kidnapping or sex crime.

Police said they had found no clues in the search for the child, Maria Ridolph, who was reported missing early Tuesday night while playing near her home.

FBI agents declined to comment on the case but reportedly they questioned operators of filling stations, merchants and teenagers in Sycamore and nearby communities.

Hundreds of volunteers in this northern Illinois city of 7,000 aided authorities in hunting for the little dark-haired girl.

Airplanes and two-way radio cars also have been pressed into the search.

Both Police Chief William Hindenburg and Sheriff Alfred Diesz said it appeared almost certain Maria was kidnapped. Her mother Frances said she believed her daughter, who was last seen in company with a strange man about 24 years old, is dead.

"I hope it's not a sex crime, but I'm afraid it is," Hindenburg said.

Police have found no clues. Searchers found a man's shirt, with what appeared to be blood stains, about a mile from Maria's home. It was sent to the state police crime laboratory. The FBI sent the missing girl's doll, found near a garage near her home, to the FBI laboratory in Washington for examination.

Shortly before Maria's disappearance she was playing near her West Side home with a neighbor girl, Cathie Sigman, 8.

Cathie told police a man approached and said: "I'm Johnny and I'm married and I'm 24 years old." He asked the girls if they wanted a piggy-back ride.

Cathie left to get her mother's permission and when she returned Maria and the man were gone.

Scrub to Get in Top Shape — Oh Yeah?

CALGARY, Alta. (AP) — To housewives who aim at top physical condition: Get down and scrub the kitchen floor.

This advice comes from Dr. Doris Plewes, consultant for Canada's Health and Welfare Department, now on a tour testing physical fitness of Canadians.

"Some of the best exercises for women are done on the hands and knees and utilize floor scrubbing motions," she says.

Physical fitness is the basis of charm, Dr. Plewes stresses and is important in everyone's life.

"Take a mother," she says.

"She is the shock absorber for the whole family. A physically fit woman will absorb all the problems and crises of the day and remain relatively calm and serene."

"One who doesn't keep fit will be tense and brittle-tempered although she may be mentally efficient. Her tenseness will transmit itself to the rest of the family."

Leaking Valve Halts Launching of Tiny Moon

newspaper of the launching attempt today.

Walsh said the launching crew could get the 72-foot rocket ready immediately if it had to, but it would be up to the Defense Department to set the date for a new attempt.

He added that supervisors of the missile test range, 5,000 miles into the South Atlantic from the test center here, had been asked to give the satellite project the best time available for another effort.

OTHER MISSILES WAIT

Cape Canaveral is teeming with test missiles—Army Jupiters, Air Force Thor and Snarks, assorted Navy weapons — awaiting firing schedules. Fitting them in has become a Herculean task for its overworked, overcrowded center.

At Cambridge, Mass., the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory announced that the 6.6-inch, 3 1/2-pound test sphere, once it has entered an orbit, will be known officially as "1957 Gamma" for the third letter of the Greek alphabet.

The names would signify that this was the third man-made moon of the year. If the Soviets launch a third Sputnik before Gamma gets going, the U.S. moon presumably would take the name of Delta, or No. 4.

In missing its date to become a moon, Gamma provided this part of Florida with unusual drama and excitement.

It had been indicated at first that at 9 a.m. Tuesday the launching crews would start an 11-hour countdown or checkoff period during which every detail of the complicated rocket vehicle would be made ready for functioning. At the end of the countdown, the first of the three rocket stages would be touched off and the device would start its 300-mile climb to orbital altitude.

There were delays, and the proposed 11-hour countdown actually started at 5 a.m. yesterday with 4 p.m. as the tentative hour of launching.

The checkoff proceeded smoothly and on schedule for more than seven hours. Then the "hold" — temporary delays, during which the countdown was suspended — began. The anticipated launching hour — changed progressively to 5:40 p.m., 6:30, 6:45, 7:40, 8:20.

All Florida kept tabs on the launching attempt, and a goodly part of the population of this area thronged to the beaches providing a view of the cape launching area. The test center itself is closed to the public. Newsmen joined the public in "birdwatching" from the beach.

A morning overcast lifted after noon for the launching. Unhappily the wind also rose. Winds of 15 miles an hour can make difficult the launching of a tall rocket. A 20 mile an hour wind can topple it.

Throughout the sunny afternoon and into the moonlit night the beach areas fronting on the cape became crowded with automobiles and people.

Groups of residents banded together at beachside spots to build fires for warmth. Youngsters cooked hot dogs.

Press, newsreel and television cameramen who stayed to the end on Bird Watch Knoll—about two miles from the spot where Vanguard was to be launched — protested that the military did not inform them when the shot was off but left them standing in the cold.

Reporters were told that the order to "scrub" came from Daniel G. Mazur of Buffalo, N.Y., head of the project for the Naval Research Laboratory.

Among workmen streaming home after the exhausting hours on the launching site, there were expressions of confidence that the next attempt would be successful.

After all, the long hours of delay were a part of every new program, and the inevitable product of growing complexity.

But other workers were openly disgusted and discouraged. The loading and then the unloading of liquid oxygen had been a hazardous, tiring and messy job.

There was grumbling too at a reported decision that the launching procedure must not extend past midnight.

"We would have had the thing about whiffed if we hadn't had to quit by midnight," one man complained.

the union again to avoid any secret ballot election of new officers. Speaking of the UTW, Meany said that whereas the AFL-CIO thought the union had launched genuine reforms they found out in recent days "further financial irregularities have been carried on right to the present moment. It is the most brazen thing I've ever seen in my life."

"There was no finesse at all and the robbing is still going on," Meany added.

Man Has Wrong Scent

DEARBORN (INS) — Mrs. Virginia Hall didn't like the way her husband smelled after he "went out with the boys." She won a divorce in Wayne County Circuit court yesterday after testifying her husband, Lyman, came home from his nights out with the "boys" smelling of cologne instead of alcohol.

GMC Truck, Coach Comptroller Named

Appointment of Robert L. Ganter as comptroller of the GMC Truck and Coach Division was announced today by Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the division.

Ganter, formerly comptroller of the Delco Appliance Division, Rochester, N. Y., succeeds Vincent P. Blair, named yesterday as general manager of Delco Products Division in Dayton.

Ganter is 43 years old and has 21 years of service with General Motors. He was graduated from Ohio State University in 1936 with a degree in business administration and then joined GM as a clerk in the cost department of the Fisher Body Division in Detroit.

In 1941 he was transferred to the Terminal Division where he supervised the cost and financial analysis department.

In 1944 Ganter was made a member of the comptroller's staff in General Motors central office. In 1952 he became director of the operations analysis section and two years later was named director of the cost analysis section. He assumed his recent duties at Delco Appliance three years ago.

conditions and extra numbers of riders swarming on them.

PHILADELPHIA HIT

Similar conditions existed in Philadelphia, which measured 6 inches of snow in the city and 10 inches in suburban areas.

Many rural and suburban schools were closed.

The storm center, located off the Delaware coast, veered out to sea last night. But before bowing out, it spread a white blight for hundreds of miles.

Bogging down under the impact were auto and bus traffic, rail lines and plane service.

Twelve inches of snow, heaped up by the wind, grounded planes at New York City's Idlewild Airport, Newark (N.J.) Airport and points in Maryland and Virginia.

Landon County, Va., reported 14 inches. A 2-foot reading was reported in northern Maryland. Western Maryland had 10 inches of snow.

TRAINS JAMMED

Commuter trains, jammed with extra passengers because of highway hazards, all reported delays. One Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train was 3 hours and 20 minutes late. It stalled in a huge drift in Freehold, N. J. The conductor walked a mile for help while 12 passengers shivered in the single car and waited.

Several hundred subway passengers were stranded on a wind-swept trestle over New York's Jamaica Bay as trains stalled on an overwater section of track where snow and ice knocked out power. Some passengers had to wait there four hours.

Connecticut officials warned motorists to stay off the Merritt Parkway. Pennsylvania completely closed sections of its turnpike. Speed limits on the New Jersey Turnpike and the New York State Thruway were cut from the normal 60 m.p.h. to 35 m.p.h.

Thousands of autos were stalled throughout the affected region.

In Rockland County, N. Y., cars stuck in the snow were backed up as far as seven miles. Westchester County, N.Y., police alone reported 1,000 cars abandoned.

Motels and roadside rooming houses were filled by stranded motorists while thousands of others spent last night in their cars waiting for road crew help. Others left their autos for nearby diners.

Tunnel and bridge approaches were kept open only by repeated sanding.

Schools in many areas were closed or the pupils sent home early. New York's 5 p.m. rush hour began an hour earlier as offices closed to give employees more time to get home.

The Day in Birmingham

28 Years as Policeman Concluding for Lt. Timm

BIRMINGHAM — A 28-year career as a Birmingham policeman will end Dec. 20 with the retirement of Lt. Henry Timm, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley revealed today.

Timm, 59, became a member of the force in 1929. He has been especially active with children and was named to head the juvenile division when it was organized seven years ago.

Timm has become well known to all of the youngsters through his traffic safety programs in the schools. He has helped organize many bicycle campaigns, including the check for mechanical performance and the briefing of riders in safety practices.

Lt. Timm and his wife, Gladys, plan to leave their home at 1275 Cedar St. the day after his retirement for Bradenton, Fla. After the completion of their new home there, Timm has indicated that he will begin working again.

Under the direction of Kent McDonald, organist and choir master of St. James Episcopal Church, the Women's Auxiliary will present Nioma Sherman, soprano, and the boys' and girls' choirs in a public Christmas concert.

The affair will be held in the church Undercroft at 2 p.m. followed by a tea at an hour later.

The annual Sweet Sale, sponsored by the Auxiliary of Metropolitan Club Spirit No. 9, will be held Friday at the Detroit Edison show room on Merrill street.

Registration for swimming class opens Dec. 9-13. All listings will be by mail. Enrollees are asked to give name, address, telephone number, height and classification—beginner, polypog, intermediate or advanced. The pool desired (Barnum, Derby or Birmingham High School) also should be listed. This information, with the $2 fee, should be mailed to the Recreation Board offices in the municipal building.

Birmingham firemen responded to 41 calls last month, with fire damages estimated at $185. In addition to 22 fire runs, there were four gas investigations, eight first aid, six miscellaneous and one false alarm.

A pancake supper, complete with home made flapjacks, sausage, apple sauce, beverage and dessert, will be served from 5 to 7:30 p.m. today at the IOOF Hall, 1471 Livermore (N. Main street). Clawson, by Pride of Oakland Rebekah Lodge No. 445. The public is invited.

Cardinals, Redlegs Exchange 5 Players

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS) — The St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Redlegs announced a five-player deal today involving mostly young players.

The Cardinals received, outfielder Curtis Flood and Joe Taylor. They sent pitchers Wilbur Schmidt, Ted Wic and Marv Kutyna to the Redlegs.

It was the first deal completed by St. Louis' new general manager Nick Devine. Devine, Cardinal manager Fred Hutchinson and Cincinnati general manager Gabe Paul completed the deal this morning, after lengthy negotiations.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Is there any standard form for government weather forecasts? Is it true that these forecasts sometimes dodge the issue of predicting the weather?

There is no standard form for weather forecasts, as printed in the nation's newspapers, which requires a guess on all of the points of interest to the average reader.

One day the forecast might mention winds, or on another day the forecast might skip the precipitation question, forecasting only clouds. These "hedges" usually mean the forecasters are uncertain about coming weather.

Critics claim the official forecasters should attempt to cover all points of interest in all forecasts, even if they are often wrong. The idea is that they would be right more than wrong and this would be of some benefit.

Indonesia Reds End Anti-Dutch Strike

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Communist union leaders today called off their drive to take over leading Dutch firms in Indonesia, bowing to pressure from moderate government chiefs.

Red union flags came down from the buildings of the KPM shipping lines and three Dutch trading companies seized by the workers Tuesday and yesterday. Dutch circles considered the situation much calmer and most business proceeded normally. But union pickets still harassed three Dutch banks and retained the keys to safes and account files which had passed back and forth between the bank directors and the pickets during negotiations. Premier Djanda's government disclaimed responsibility for the union seizures and warned that severe action would be taken against those taking over Dutch firms without official sanction. The government obviously was alarmed at the possible effects on Indonesia's precarious economy from the workers' action against the biggest foreign investors in the island republic.

Terms Juvenile Halls Just 'Genteel Prisons'

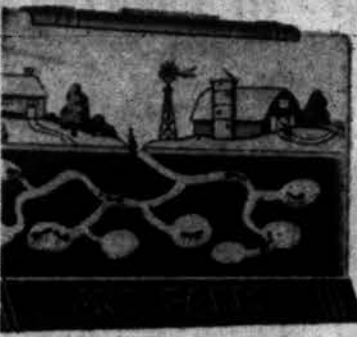

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The sheriff of Cook County, Ill., says most of the nation's juvenile halls are nothing but "cleaned-up and genteel prisons."

Joseph D. Lohman, sheriff of the nation's most populous county, which includes Chicago, said methods of handling juveniles years.

"insure that young people become adult criminals." Lohman made his remarks in a speech before the Western Institute of Prosecuting Attorneys. "Two out of three offenders committed to juvenile authorities end up in adult criminal courts," Lohman said.

The use of envelopes for mailing purposes dates back about 100 years.

Adlai Advises, Ends as Critic

Consultant-Cynic Roles
May Be Beneficial to Both Parties

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration got a bear by the tail in Adlai Stevenson. He and the administration have worked together briefly. It's probably the last time for both.

He came in as a consultant, goes out as a critic. Yet his role as consultant and then as critic may work to the benefit of both himself and the administration.

If Stevenson had refused to help the administration with advice, any criticism he offered later might be regarded as typical Democratic criticism from a constant critic.

But, put in the position of a man whose ideas the administration wanted and who saw policy making from the inside, he can expect a more attentive audience for what he says.

Yet his very criticism—it seems he doesn't think the administration is asking Congress for enough money in foreign aid and enough secret sharing cooperation with the allies—may help the administration.

It will if he is persuasive in inducing Congress to give Eisenhower at least as much as he requests. It's usual in the capitol to give a president less than he asks.

People in a position to know Stevenson's thinking said last night he has no quarrel with administration plans as far as they go, but doesn't believe they go far enough.

These informants said Stevenson next year will go before Congress and appeal publicly for a "crash program," bigger and broader and more urgent than he believes the administration is considering now.

The administration invited Stevenson in as a consultant because it was anxious for as much solid Democratic-Republican backing—politicians call it bipartisanship—as it could get.

This put Stevenson in a funny spot from the start. As the Democrats' last presidential candidate, he is titular head of the party. But no one in the party has to heed him, least of all the independent-minded Democrats in Congress.

Some of them weren't happy about his participation in administration program-making. It would give some appearance of Democratic responsibility for whatever the administration proposed.

Stevenson made it clear when he took the job that, as a patriotic duty, he would give the advice he thought best and reserve for himself the right to criticize what he didn't agree with.

All this would seem to indicate what seemed pretty clear in the 1956 campaign: that Eisenhower and Stevenson think pretty much the same on basic programs and that their differences are a matter of degree.

Postal Workers Meet Challenge of Birthday Cake

ROY, Utah (AP)—Attention Mrs. Lilly Anson of Baltic, S.D.: Little Linda Claussen, your granddaughter in Roy, got her birthday cake O.K.

Not one of the 11 candles was out of place. Linda's cake came daintily decorated in a box with a plastic lid. Apparently the fragile shipment, which wasn't even marked for special handling, was a challenge to all postal workers along the way, said Roy Postmaster Emma Russell.

Little Linda, a fifth-grade student, had a wonderful birthday party earlier this week and the cake was the centerpiece.

Postmaster Russell doesn't recommend shipping any more cakes this way. Usually a parcel of this kind would be turned down—especially during the Christmas rush.

Speeder Had Reason to Keep Going

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The judge read the police report concerning a man before him on a reckless driving charge:

"Driving 93 miles an hour... Fled from officers... Chased about a mile... 'Why didn't you stop?' Municipal Judge Thomas L. Griffith Jr. asked.

"I couldn't, your honor," replied Ramon Butler, 23. "I didn't have any brakes."

"Five days and $50," said the judge.

2,000 Jews Return to Germany in Year

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — 2,000 Jews who left Germany to escape Nazi persecution have returned the last 12 months, primarily from Israel and South America.

Announcing this, Heinz Gallinski, chairman of the Central Jewish Council for West Germany, said the returnees had brought the number of Jews living in Germany to more than 30,000. Some 2,000 of these are in Communist East Germany.

Before Hitler, Germany's Jewish population was about 500,000.

Public Demands Censure for Parker's Actions

PARKER's action does not call for forgiveness. He displayed just about the lowest type of sportsmanship we have ever seen.

Condoning this debacle is a definite black eye for the entire league. If pro football is to continue, the bums should be cleared out.

When PARKER said in his own words that he had helped defeat the Lions against both the Bears and the Colts, he was indicating that perhaps the game was not on the level.

The PRESS does not believe this. This is the type of action that will eventually start the fingers wagging that the games are loaded.

We feel that it is high time Mr. BELL tightened up on the reins for the good of the game. In the past the Commissioner has attempted to cover up tirades and fights on the field of play.

This he has attempted to do by control of the TV crews covering the games. They have had orders from BELL's office to switch off of any fight action or serious injury on the playing field.

This proved tremendously unpopular with the fans, and rightly so, since in many cases it had a direct bearing on the game. This year the edict has been eased, and the fans have witnessed the game in its entirety.

Now the Commissioner has another problem. Get Parker in line or give him the heave ho.

NATO Paris Meeting of Utmost Importance

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations have decided to go ahead with plans for the December council meeting whether or not President EISENHOWER will be able to attend.

The need for complete agreement in defense planning is urgent in the light of Russia's lead in missiles and other weapons. Co-operation also is needed in sharing nuclear information and in establishing a NATO wide approach to basic scientific research.

The 15 nations comprising NATO are determined to safeguard the freedoms and civilizations of their peoples and to promote peace and stability in the whole area. NATO stretches 4,000 miles from Norway to Turkey and has an army of two million, including 250,000 Americans. Its American, British and French fleets are in the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean. It has air fleets, massive military stockpiles, communications systems and scattered land and sea bases.

In addition to military matters the meeting will discuss expansion of trade, increased aid to less developed member nations and co-ordination of all foreign aid programs. In addressing Parliament recently Britain's Prime Minister MACMILLAN well expressed the urgency when he said:

"Great changes are required along with adaptations of many of our most ancient national traditions, because communism, in its evil way, is dynamic and if the free peoples of the world are to defend themselves they must develop an equal dynamism."

All proposals for the Paris meeting are intended to strengthen common NATO strategy and policy to combat the world strategy of Communism.

Biggest in State Oakland County Plans to Become Its Top Ski Center

Winter: One of the finest seasons of the year — if you'll help make it so.

What was developed in one season into Southern Michigan's leading ski resort, and drew the biggest crowds of any such resort in the entire state, is ready for at least 100 days and nights of good skiing during the coming winter. It now merely is waiting for the proper weather. It is at Mount Holly, beside the four-lane Dixie Highway, 18 miles northwest of Pontiac.

During the past few months the entire ski area has been further improved. The slopes have been made longer, wider and smoother, and now are completely safe. According to

Morton Graddis, who pioneered the project and is president of the

Mt. Holly Ski Club, Inc., all slopes now have power rope tows and are excellently lighted. The beginner's area with its slow moving tow is a feature.

The snow making equipment is in readiness to keep the slopes in condition whenever the natural snowfall is not ample. The project includes a lodge and restaurant, ski toogery shop, ski school, parking for several hundred cars, and every other facility for the accommodation of this exhilarating outdoor winter sport.

Last year over a thousand skiers were on the slopes at Mt. Holly during some days and evenings when the season was at its height, and the attendance often exceeded 10,000. Daily snow conditions there may be determined by phoning LI 5-0711.

The 16th anniversary on Saturday of the attack on Pearl Harbor brings vividly to mind my visit there three years ago. Standing beside the hulk of the Battleship Arizona, in which 1,100 of our young men still are entombed, pauses an ordinary guy greater than anything else I ever have experienced. The visit on the same day to the grave of Newsman Ernie Pyle in the veterans' cemetery in the crater of an extinct volcano also was a solemn enduring incident.

Trying to stump me, Glenn H. Durkee asks the name of the first sheriff of Oakland County. It was

David Lawrence Asks NATO:

Why Not Meet in Washington?

WASHINGTON — Why shouldn't the NATO meeting be held in Washington instead of in Paris? This question is raised now not because President Eisenhower may not be able to go abroad at this time, but primarily because there is need for bipartisan unity in the United States. It will not be attained just by adding a prominent Democrat to the American delegation.

It could be achieved by holding the meeting in Washington, where Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson—the two Democratic leaders in Congress—along with the chairmen and ranking members of the two foreign affairs committees could sit in on important conferences with representatives of the other NATO governments. President Eisenhower could then give more time to the business of NATO, whereas in Paris his time would be limited.

If the arrangements for the Paris meeting have gone so far that they cannot be altered in time for a December session, then the meeting could be postponed till January. It is far more important for the cause of NATO to get congressional co-operation in the United States than to hold a meeting now abroad that can be barren of results.

What Europeans do not realize is that, under the American system of government, the executive branch, which handles foreign affairs, is separate from the Congress, which votes the money and has a good deal to say about the implementation of foreign policy.

Today the Republican Party controls the executive branch, while the Democratic Party controls both houses of the legislative branch. This is perplexing to a European, who is accustomed to single control of both legislative and executive functions by the party with a majority in Parliament.

This same question baffled the Europeans in 1918, when President Wilson went to Paris leaving behind a Republican Congress whose leaders were miffed because he took some inactive Republicans from outside Congress with him on the delegation.

The failure of the Republicans in 1919 to support American entry into the League of Nations—a blunder that changed the course of history and helped to bring on World War II—has been attributed to the friction then between the Republicans in Congress and the Democratic executive.

In the last few days this country has witnessed the sorry spectacle of a former Democratic Party candidate for the presidency refusing to go along on the American delegation to the NATO meeting at Paris.

He doubtless was under pressure from some of the extreme partisans who fear that if Stevenson becomes too intimately identified with what is done at the NATO meeting, it will deprive his party of a chance to play politics with the administration's policies in world affairs.

But, realistically, does Mr. Stevenson represent the Democratic Party today? Can he speak for it? Isn't Speaker Rayburn or Sen. Lyndon Johnson in a better position to speak for the Democratic Party, especially in Congress, where the decisions taken at a NATO conference must be ratified or modified or rejected so far as American participation is concerned?

There is at the moment an erroneous impression in this country and abroad that, if President Eisenhower goes to Paris, he can accomplish something of a miracle in strengthening NATO.

He could do no more at Paris than he could in Washington, and perhaps less. That's because the festering sore in America's world position is the divided government here at home.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Tea, Coffee in Moderation Healthful for Grownups

"I have been raised to believe that tea and coffee are stimulants and are not healthful. So you may please explain why you say they are healthful to adults, (Mrs. C.V.L.)"

Tea and coffee are virtually identical in effect. As generally brewed, a cup of coffee is equivalent to two or three cups of tea, the principal effect of either being due to the caffeine in the beverage. A cup of properly made (never boiled) DR. BRADY coffee contains about 1½ grains of caffeine. A cup of tea approximately a half grain.

Caffeine stimulates the cerebrum, nerves, heart and kidneys in that order. I mean the effect on the cerebrum is most characteristic and the effect on the kidneys least pronounced.

Because tea and coffee are stimulants (cocca and chocolate too), they are harmful to children under 16, in my opinion.

These beverages are particularly harmful to children who wet the bed. In this respect, cocca and chocolate are even worse than tea and coffee, for the alkaloid (drug) in chocolate and cocca, theobromine, allied to caffeine, produces a great increase in the flow of urine.

GOOD IN MODERATION It appears to be the consensus of physicians that moderate use of these beverages is healthful for adults. Moderate use means two or three cups of one's favorite beverage a day.

Health beverages for growing children, at home or in school, are fruit and vegetable juices, drinks, and milk. Milk as it comes from the cow, goat, camel, yak or what have you, and not doctored up.

One with heart trouble, particularly coronary insufficiency, derives real benefit from one or two cups of coffee at breakfast and, if desired, another cup at dinner. The happy effect of caffeine is to keep the coronary arteries dilated or relaxed so they will deliver a full supply of blood (oxygen) to the heart muscle.

A chapter in Little Lesson No. 8, What to Eat and Why, (35 cents) and stamped, self-addressed envelope) tells How to Make Coffee and Win Friends. Chief essentials are (1) freshly ground coffee; (2) let it stand for an hour or overnight in cold water, which extracts and holds the aroma; (3) brew when ready to serve, making sure the coffee does not boil.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Gifts Can Steer Child's Education

Freddy often pleads, "Tell me a story, Grandma." She should counter with "Let's READ a good story," and with such moral tales as "Little Sandy Sleightfoot," she can buoy up his spirit, stimulate religious ideals, and also teach him to like books, as well as a desire to be a good reader. Use books as excellent Christmas gifts.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE CASE W-364: Freddy F., aged 4, has a high I.Q.

"Dr. Crane, he has toys of all descriptions," his grandmother said.

"So what else of a semi-educational nature should I get him, I'd like to help encourage him to go on to college in later life."

SMART GRANDMAS

Bravo to you grandparents who thus think far ahead: Toys are obviously very good for children. But the men folks will generally select mechanical gadgets as their gifts to youngsters.

So you mothers and grandmothers should stress appropriate books and reading games.

"Tell me a story, Grandma," is a common plea of children.

"Let's READ a good story," DR. CRANE should be your reply, for thus you start teaching a child to look on books with fondness.

And as the toddlers sit on your lap while you read aloud, they begin to learn the words and develop a liking for the very act of reading.

So pick an uplifting Christmas

Voice of the People

Minister, Parent Discuss Importance of Education

Addressing the Oakland County Advisory Committee on Education, the Honorable William S. Broomfield said the U. S. should have a national academy of science, on a par with military academies. This proposal should receive wide and thorough study, not alone as a defensive measure, but as a means of increasing man's knowledge and enriching his life. Our representative should have the counsel and encouragement of his constituency when he presents this proposal to the next session of Congress.

People of Oakland County should be prepared to impress upon the nation the advantages of locating such an institution here. We have access to some of the outstanding educational institutions of the nation, such as University of Michigan. Plans for the new MSU of Oakland are well under way and will lead to an outstanding institution within a generation. Research centers of great automotive industries are at hand as well as laboratories of other industries.

Cresh programs in science must not obstruct our vision of wider, deeper and higher needs of men. Every effort must be made to conserve and enhance our cultural and moral heritage and to nurture religious faith. Ancient Greece reminds us that Athens, with its greater freedom and richer intellectual and spiritual life, made a more significant contribution to mankind than did Sparta, with its more efficient regimentation. Old Testament Israel played a part in history far more vital than the momentarily successful Assyria. Active interest of those concerned with larger dimensions of human spirit is an essential safeguard against scientific training operating on the basis of an inadequate naturalistic reductionism.

Edward D. Auchard, Pastor

Orchard Lake Community Church

Congratulations to the teacher who had the courage to speak his mind. It would be interesting to hear how our teachers feel if they could speak without fear of consequences.

Many of us have been aware of the need to improve our educational system, but how do we about it? What about public meetings to discuss it, called by our Boards of Education? Who establishes the curriculum? Some changes in elementary grades could be made immediately. Proper conduct should be taught in kindergarten and improved as the child advances. No pupil should be promoted without passing work, as no one profits by being rewarded for work poorly done, least of all the student.

Upper grades should de-emphasize "frill" courses, if not drop them entirely. Any boy can pull a car to pieces and build another without "hot rod" courses paid by taxpayers. Any girl can learn to sew or cook if she can read simple English. And what about eliminating physical education? Did the Russians learn to stand on their heads in order to put Sputnik in the sky? Mr. Walker is right. Brain, not brawn, will win the next war, and it behooves us all to develop that gray matter.

'Let's Get Santa a New Red Suit'

Did R.J. take a good look at Santa's suit when he watched the Saturday parade? If not, he should have. It was atrocious. The parade itself was very nice, but why neglect the most important part—our children?

They wait for months to see Santa come to town and then have to look at him with stringy yellow hair and a suit that is dull, either from age or misuse. Let's get Santa a new suit next year. It will not only brighten up the parade, but also the eyes of our children.

Asks About Policy on Credit Slips

Recently my husband bought some merchandise from what we thought to be a good firm. We found out later we didn't need the things, so we returned them. We were given a credit slip instead of a refund, and we bought all we could use from them.

We still had a few dollars left, but they wouldn't give us a refund. Being off work, we can't afford to spend money for things we don't need, and they didn't have anything else we needed. A firm must sell pretty poor merchandise if it must do business that way. Does this happen other places?

"As the twig is bent," runs a truism, "so will the tree be inclined." Books help bend the childish "twig" and steer him into a more cultured adulthood.

A typewriter is also a splendid gift for teen-agers, since it helps make them better spellers. And it indirectly raises their school marks, too, for neatly typed papers rate higher grades.

A good dictionary is likewise a MUST and so is an encyclopedia. Best of all, a children's book of Bible stories also helps "condition" the child toward a higher moral plane while encouraging him to like reading.

"Let's READ a story" should henceforth be your motto with children.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and the 5c cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets. (Copyright, 1957)

Laud Priest's Help in Nebraska Storm

GREEN BAY, Wis. (U) — A priest who doubles as a ham radio operator has been cited by the American Radio Relay League for his part in handling emergency messages during a blizzard.

The Rev. Fidelis V. Filippek, chaplain at St. Vincent's Catholic Hospital here, received the "public service" certificate after extensive investigation by the league.

Father Filippek was chaplain at St. John's Hospital, Huron, S. D., when a blizzard struck the Dakotas and Nebraska early in April of 1956. He spent nearly all his time during a two-day period keeping in contact with other operators relaying messages to emergency personnel. Regular communication lines were down at the time.

Public Demands Censure for Parker's Actions

Apparently BERT BELL, National Football League Commissioner, is going to let BUDDY PARKER get off scot free after his recent ungentlemanly trade against GEORGE WILSON and the Lions.

PARKER's action does not call for forgiveness.

He displayed just about the lowest type of sportsmanship we have ever seen.

Condoning this debacle is a definite black eye for the entire league. If pro football is to continue, the bums should be cleared out.

When PARKER said in his own words that he had helped defeat the Lions against both the Bears and the Colts, he was indicating that perhaps the game was not on the level.

The PRESS does not believe this.

This is the type of action that will eventually start the fingers wagging that the games are loaded.

We feel that it is high time Mr. BELL tightened up on the reins for the good of the game. In the past the Commissioner has attempted to cover up tirades and fights on the field of play.

This he has attempted to do by control of the TV crews covering the games. They have had orders from BELL's office to switch off of any fight action or serious injury on the playing field.

This proved tremendously unpopular with the fans, and rightly so, since in many cases it had a direct bearing on the game. This year the edict has been eased, and the fans have witnessed the game in its entirety.

Now the Commissioner has another problem. Get Parker in line or give him the heave ho.

NATO Paris Meeting of Utmost Importance

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations have decided to go ahead with plans for the December council meeting whether or not President EISENHOWER will be able to attend.

The need for complete agreement in defense planning is urgent in the light of Russia's lead in missiles and other weapons. Co-operation also is needed in sharing nuclear information and in establishing a NATO wide approach to basic scientific research.

The 15 nations comprising NATO are determined to safeguard the freedoms and civilizations of their peoples and to promote peace and stability in the whole area. NATO stretches 4,000 miles from Norway to Turkey and has an army of two million, including 250,000 Americans. Its American, British and French fleets are in the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean. It has air fleets, massive military stockpiles, communications systems and scattered land and sea bases.

In addition to military matters the meeting will discuss expansion of trade, increased aid to less developed member nations and co-ordination of all foreign aid programs. In addressing Parliament recently Britain's Prime Minister MACMILLAN well expressed the urgency when he said:

"Great changes are required along with adaptations of many of our most ancient national traditions, because communism, in its evil way, is dynamic and if the free peoples of the world are to defend themselves they must develop an equal dynamism."

All proposals for the Paris meeting are intended to strengthen common NATO strategy and policy to combat the world strategy of Communism.

The Man About Town

Biggest in State

Oakland County Plans to Become Its Top Ski Center

Winter: One of the finest seasons of the year — if you'll help make it so.

What was developed in one season into Southern Michigan's leading ski resort, and drew the biggest crowds of any such resort in the entire state, is ready for at least 100 days and nights of good skiing during the coming winter. It now merely is waiting for the proper weather. It is at Mount Holly, beside the four-lane Dixie Highway, 18 miles northwest of Pontiac. During the past few months the entire ski area has been further improved. The slopes have been made longer, wider and smoother, and now are completely safe. According to

Morton Graddis, who pioneered the project and is president of the

Mt. Holly Ski Club, Inc. all slopes now have power rope tows and are excellently lighted. The beginner's area with its slow moving tow is a feature.

The snow making equipment is in readiness to keep the slopes in condition whenever the natural snowfall is not ample. The project includes a lodge and restaurant, ski trolley shop, ski school, parking for several hundred cars, and every other facility for the accommodation of this exhilarating outdoor winter sport.

Last year over a thousand skiers were on the slopes at Mt. Holly during some days and evenings when the season was at its height, and the attendance often exceeded 10,000. Daily snow conditions there may be determined by phoning LI 5-0711.

Awarding the prizes in our postage contest is being held up by a few of the contestants failing to send in the manner in which each of their combinations was determined. If you reported over 700 combinations, you can disqualify yourself by not doing this.

The 16th anniversary on Saturday of the attack on Pearl Harbor brings vividly to mind my visit there three years ago. Standing beside the hulk of the Battleship Arizona, in which 1,100 of our young men still are entombed, pauses an ordinary guy greater than anything else I ever have experienced. The visit on the same day to the grave of Newsman Ernie Pyle in the veterans' cemetery in the crater of an extinct volcano also was a solemn enduring incident.

Trying to stump me, Glenn H. Durkee asks the name of the first sheriff of Oakland County. It was William Morris who held the office for eight years after the county's organization in 1820. Next!

One of my highly valued fellow workers, and the giver of tips to make this column interesting, tells me that he saw a sign in a Detroit apartment house: "Do not shake dust mops out the windows." Get it? I didn't when I read it over the first time.

After seeing deer tracks around his home for several months, Clarence Lovegrove of Waterford never saw a deer until the day after the season closed, when a beautiful buck was quietly sniffing at things in his back yard.

Take It Easy, Fellows

David Lawrence Asks NATO:

Why Not Meet in Washington?

WASHINGTON — Why shouldn't the NATO meeting be held in Washington instead of in Paris? This question is raised now not because President Eisenhower may not be able to go abroad at this time, but primarily because there is need for bipartisan unity in the United States. It will not be attained just by adding a prominent Democrat to the American delegation.

It could be achieved by holding the meeting in Washington, where Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson—the two Democratic leaders in Congress—together with the chairmen and ranking members of the two foreign affairs committees could sit in on important conferences with representatives of the other NATO governments.

President Eisenhower could then give more time to the business of NATO, whereas in Paris his time would be limited.

If the arrangements for the Paris meeting have gone so far that they cannot be altered in time for a December session, then the meeting could be postponed till January. It is far more important for the cause of NATO to get congressional co-operation in the United States than to hold a meeting now abroad that can be barren of results.

What Europeans do not realize is that, under the American system of government, the executive branch, which handles foreign affairs, is separate from the Congress, which votes the money and has a good deal to say about the implementation of foreign policy.

Today the Republican Party controls the executive branch, while the Democratic Party controls both houses of the legislative branch. This is perplexing to a European, who is accustomed to single control of both legislative and executive functions by the party with a majority in Parliament.

This same question baffled the Europeans in 1918, when President Wilson went to Paris leaving behind a Republican Congress whose leaders were miffed because he took some inactive Republicans from outside Congress with him on the delegation.

The failure of the Republicans in 1918 to support American entry into the League of Nations—a blunder that changed the course of history and helped to bring on World War II—has been attributed to the friction then between the Republicans in Congress and the Democratic executive.

In the last few days this country has witnessed the sorry spectacle of a former Democratic Party candidate for the presidency refusing to go along on the American delegation to the NATO meeting at Paris.

He doubtless was under pressure from some of the extreme partisans who fear that if Stevenson becomes too intimately identified with what is done at the NATO meeting, it will deprive his party of a chance to play politics with the administration's policies in world affairs.

But, realistically, does Mr. Stevenson represent the Democratic Party today? Can he speak for it? Isn't Speaker Rayburn or Sen. Lyndon Johnson in a better position to speak for the Democratic Party, especially in Congress, where the decisions taken at a NATO conference must be ratified or modified or rejected so far as American participation is concerned?

There is at the moment an erroneous impression in this country and abroad that, if President Eisenhower goes to Paris, he can accomplish something of a miracle in strengthening NATO.

He could do no more at Paris than he could in Washington, and perhaps less. That's because the festering sore in America's world position is the divided government here at home.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Tea, Coffee in Moderation

Healthful for Grownups

"I have been raised to believe that tea and coffee are stimulants and are not healthful. So would you please explain why you say they are healthful to adults. (Mrs. C.V.L.)"

Tea and coffee are virtually identical in effect. As generally brewed, a cup of coffee is equivalent to two or three cups of tea, the principal effect of either being due to the caffeine in the beverage. A cup of properly made (never boiled) DR. BRADY coffee contains about 1 1/4 grains of caffeine. A cup of tea approximately a half grain.

Caffeine stimulates the cerebrum, nerves, heart and kidneys in that order. I mean the effect on the cerebrum is most characteristic and the effect on the kidneys least pronounced.

Because tea and coffee are stimulants (cocca and chocolate too), they are harmful to children under 16, in my opinion.

These beverages are particularly harmful to children who wet the bed. In this respect, cocca and chocolate are even worse than tea and coffee, for the alkaloid (drug) in chocolate and cocca, theobromine, allied to caffeine, produces a great increase in the flow of urine.

GOOD IN MODERATION

It appears to be the consensus of physicians that moderate use of these beverages is healthful for adults. Moderate use means two or three cups of one's favorite beverage a day.

Health beverages for growing children, at home or in school, are fruit and vegetable juice drinks, and milk. Milk as it comes from the cow, goat, camel, yak or what have you, and not doctored up.

One with heart trouble, particularly coronary insufficiency, derives real benefit from one or two cups of coffee at breakfast and, if desired, another cup at dinner. The happy effect of caffeine is to keep the coronary arterioles dilated or relaxed so they will deliver a full supply of blood (oxygen) to the heart muscle.

A chapter in Little Lesson No. 8, What to Eat and Why, (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) tells how to make coffee and Win Friends. Chief essentials are (1) freshly ground coffee; (2) let it stand for an hour or overnight in cold water, which extracts and holds the aroma; (3) brew when ready to serve, making sure the coffee does not boil.

Dr. William Brady is a physician and a member of the American Medical Association. He is the author of "What to Eat and Why," a book available in Little Lesson No. 8, 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

He could do no more at Paris than he could in Washington, and perhaps less. That's because the festering sore in America's world position is the divided government here at home.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Gifts Can Steer Child's Education

Freddy often pleads, "Tell me a story, Grandma." She should counter with "Let's READ a good story," and with such moral tales as "Little Sandy Sleightfoot" she can buoy up his spirit, stimulate religious ideals, and also teach him to like books, as well as a desire to be a good reader. Use books as excellent Christmas gifts.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE W-364: Freddy F., aged 4, has a high I.Q.

"Dr. Crane, he has toys of all descriptions," his grandmother said.

"So what else of a semi-educational nature should I get him. I'd like to help encourage him to go on to college in later life."

SMART GRANDMAS

Bravo to you grandparents who thus think far ahead:

Toys are obviously very good for children. But the men folks will generally select mechanical gadgets as their gifts to youngsters.

So you mothers and grandmothers should stress appropriate books and reading games.

"Tell me a story, Grandma," is a common plea of children.

"Let's READ a good story,"

DR. CRANE should be your reply, for thus you start teaching a child to look on books with fondness.

And as the toddlers sit on your lap while you read aloud, they begin to learn the words and develop a liking for the very act of reading.

So pick an uplifting Christmas

Minister, Parent Discuss Importance of Education

Addressing the Oakland County Advisory Committee on Education, the Honorable William S. Broomfield said the U. S. should have a national academy of science, on a par with military academies. This proposal should receive wide and thorough study, not alone as a defensive measure, but as a means of increasing man's knowledge and enriching his life. Our representative should have the counsel and encouragement of his constituency when he presents this proposal to the next session of Congress.

People of Oakland County should be prepared to impress upon the nation the advantages of locating such an institution here. We have access to some of the outstanding educational institutions of the nation, such as University of Michigan. Plans for the new MSU of Oakland are well under way and will lead to an outstanding institution within a generation. Research centers of great automotive industries are at hand as well as laboratories of other industries.

Crash programs in science must not obstruct our vision of wider, deeper and higher needs of men. Every effort must be made to conserve and enhance our cultural and moral heritage and to nurture religious faith. Ancient Greece reminds us that Athens, with its greater freedom and richer intellectual and spiritual life, made a more significant contribution to mankind than did Sparta, with its more efficient regimentation. Old Testament Israel played a part in history far more vital than the momentarily successful Assyria. Active interest of those concerned with larger dimensions of human spirit is an essential safeguard against scientific training operating on the basis of an inadequate naturalistic reductionism.

Orchard Lake Community Church

Edward D. Auchard, Pastor

Congratulations to the teacher who had the courage to speak his mind. It would be interesting to hear how our teachers feel if they could speak without fear of consequences.

Many of us have been aware of the need to improve our educational system, but how do we about it? What about public meetings to discuss it, called by our Boards of Education? Who establishes the curriculum? Some changes in elementary grades could be made immediately. Proper conduct should be taught in kindergarten and improved as the child advances. No pupil should be promoted without passing work, as no one profits by being rewarded for work poorly done, least of all the student.

Upper grades should de-emphasize "frill" courses, if not drop them entirely. Any boy can pull a car to pieces and build another without "hot rod" courses paid by taxpayers. Any girl can learn to sew or cook if she can read simple English. And what about eliminating physical education? Did the Russians learn to stand on their heads in order to put Sputnik in the sky? Mr. Walker is right. Brain, not brawn, will win the next war, and it behooves us all to develop that gray matter.

'Let's Get Santa a New Red Suit'

Did R.J. take a good look at Santa's suit when he watched the Saturday parade? If not, he should have. It was atrocious. The parade itself was very nice, but why neglect the most important part—our children?

They wait for months to see Santa come to town and then have to look at him with stringy yellow hair and a suit that is dull, either from age or misuse. Let's get Santa a new suit next year. It will not only brighten up the parade, but also the eyes of our children.

Garage Fire Destroys Stars' Sports Cars

LOS ANGELES (U) — Twelve deluxe sports cars, including the custom-built models of light heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore and actress Jayne Mansfield, were destroyed last night when fire swept through the Barris Kustom Auto Shop in nearby Lynwood.

George Barris, owner of the shop, estimated the loss at $250,000, including $100,000 worth of cars. He placed the value of Moore's car alone at $25,000. The value of Miss Mansfield's auto was not given.

six sons, Fred, Donald and Harold, all of Lapeer, Carl of Columbia, Cecil of Hadley and Harry of Pontiac; three daughters, Mrs. Mabel Coulter of Lapeer, Mrs. Alice Huffman of Pontiac, Mrs. Wilma Anderson of Merland, Md.; a brother, Oliver of Mayville, and two sisters, Mrs. Edna Owens and Mrs. Emma Brady of Metamora. Twenty grandchildren and four great grandchildren also survive.

He leaves his wife, Mary Jane; three children, Kathleen, Patricia and Frank A. Jr., all at home. His mother, Mrs. Mae O'Donnell of Birmingham; three brothers and two sisters also survive.

MRS. FRANK RANDALL

ROCHESTER — Service for Mrs. Frank Randall, 78, of 416 East Third St., who died Tuesday, will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at the William R. Potere Funeral Home. Officiating will be Dr. J. Douglas Parker of St. Paul Methodist Church. Burial will be in Richards Cemetery, Armada.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Mary Shipman of Rochester, Mrs. Frances Wood of Kalamazoo and Mrs. Cathryn Hill of Inkster; one son, Robert of Kalamazoo; two brothers, Dr. W. M. Drake of Breckenridge and Harcourt Drake of New York; two sisters, Mrs. J. I. Sowers of Florida and Miss Lene Drake of Rochester. Six grandchildren also survive.

HERMAN RETZ

IMLAY CITY — Service for Herman Retz, 71, of Imlay City will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Lester Smith and Son Funeral Home, Imlay City, with burial in Imlay Township Cemetery. He died Wednesday.

Surviving are his wife, Effie; one brother, Frank of Imlay City, and several nieces and nephews.

SYLVESTER E. SANDUSKY

ROCHESTER — Sylvester E. Sandusky, 56, of 3325 Samuel St., died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital yesterday evening.

A resident of Rochester for 29 years, Mr. Sandusky was an interior decorator.

He is survived by his daughters, Mrs. Orpha J. Lindley of Rochester, Mrs. Edith M. Goad, Mrs. Betty L. Toney and Mrs. Wanda I. Boswell, all of Brownsburg, Ind. His sister, Mrs. Ernie Stockwell, and brother, Louis, both of Pontiac, and brothers, Buren of Louisville, Ky., and James of Rochester also survive.

His body is at the Pursley Funeral Home.

MRS. WILLIAM STEUMKE

CLARKSTON — Mrs. William (Augusta) Steumke, 85, of 7510 Oakhill Rd., died this morning.

A native of Germany, she was a former Almont resident.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Sharpe Funeral Home with burial at Lakeview Cemetery. The Rev. Arvid Anderson of Christ Lutheran Church, will officiate.

ADOLF YOCKEY

ROCHESTER — Service for Adolf A. Yockey, 54, of 1090 W. Tiemen road, who died Tuesday, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Higginson Funeral Home, Detroit.

Mr. Yockey was a member of the Shrine Club here and Waverly Masonic Lodge 527, in Martins Ferry, Ohio, where he was born.

A retired Detroit detective, he leaves his wife, Jeannette, and son, Thomas.

WILLIAM VANHORN

LAPEER — Service for William Vanhorn, 80, of 72 Turrell Ave., who died Wednesday at his home, will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday at Muir Brothers Funeral Home. The Rev. Raymond Lamb will officiate with burial in Stiles Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Daisy;

Laud Priest's Help in Nebraska Storm.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (U) — A priest who doubles as a ham radio operator has been cited by the American Radio Relay League for his part in handling emergency messages during a blizzard.

The Rev. Fidelis V. Filippek, chaplain at St. Vincent's Catholic Hospital here, received the "public service" certificate after extensive investigation by the league.

Father Filippek was chaplain at St. John's Hospital, Huron, S. D., when a blizzard struck the Dakotas and Nebraska early in April of 1936. He spent nearly all his time during a two-day period keeping in contact with other operators relaying messages to emergency personnel. Regular communication lines were down at the time.

Hollywood Has Live One

Santa Shuns All Publicity

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood, where everything is supposed to be make-believe, has a real, live Santa Claus who has brought Christmas cheer to thousands of persons throughout the country.

He has another name and another identity, but to those startled persons who find checks signed "Santa Claus" in their mail boxes each Christmas, he's the genuine article, right down to the last whisker and the last jolly laugh.

For the 10 years during which he has conducted his one-man gift-giving campaign Hollywood's Santa has jealously guarded the secret of his identity. A few years ago, however, a writer tracked him down and found behind the white beard and the rumpled red suit a trim, youngish radio executive with a big salary and a novel idea of how it should be spent.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

He got the idea back in 1947 when he was staying at a hotel and by mistake received a telephone call intended for a famous movie actor in another room. The caller was a woman who said her daughter was dying and had made a last wish for a puppy. She had seen one that cost $25. Would he give her the money?

He did, and the child recovered.

"That really started me thinking," he recalled later. "I saw for the first time how much good you could do with a few well-placed dollars."

In the decade since then, Santa has sent checks ranging from $20 to $300 to nearly 3,000 persons, most of them what he calls "pressure cases."

"They're people with specific needs," he says. "When you take care of these needs, you put them back in operating condition."

And so each year the checks go out, usually accompanied by a note specifying what the money is for—a wheelchair for a cripple, a typewriter for an invalid who wants to be a writer, a train ticket to reunite families.

He has friends in all parts of the country helping him find the most deserving cases. And he has set up a corporation to handle the distribution of funds, with "Santa Claus" as the official check signer.

SPREADS THE WORD

Besides doing good with his dollars, he has another major aim—trying to get others to follow his lead. With each check goes a letter telling of the joy of giving which the recipient is asked to copy and send to "a few outstanding men with big hearts in your town."

That's an apt description of Hollywood's Santa — an outstanding man with a big heart.

"People might misunderstand if I used my own name," he said once in explaining his reluctance to disclose his identity. "In this town they'd think it was all a publicity stunt."

Car Colors an Index?

NEW YORK—White is today's favorite in car colors, according to the publication, Product Engineering. In 1934 blue was most popular, accounting for 30 per cent of sales.

One automotive company says blue seems to rise in popularity as the stock market rises; white may be an index of instability, while black, green and gray advance as the markets drop.

Nobel Prize Winner Scores Educational 'Fallacies'

CHICAGO (INS) — Nobel prize winner Dr. Harold C. Urey urges schools to adopt a 5½-day week, a six-hour day, a 10 months-a-year program, and regular homework.

He listed these and other drastic changes in this country's educational system to cope with "these dangerous times."

Dr. Urey also said a new respect for the intellectual is essential. He continued:

"It seems to me that the population of this country has a considerable predilection for trusting essentially stupid people and mistaking those who are brilliant."

The University of Chicago professor and scientist who is leaving next July when he reaches the compulsory retirement age of 65 to join the University of California, warned in a paper read recently to 1,000 members of the Central Association of Science and Mathematics Teachers meeting in Chicago.

"Possibly our unintellectualism is something which could kill us all."

He declared: "Fallacious assumptions" dominating American education have been a major drawback in training scientists. Among the fallacies he outlined were these:

—That the higher the age limit for compulsory education the better. He explained that our entire approach to compulsory education needs to be re-examined because many youngsters cannot profit from the prolonged attendance how legally required. "Our schools should not be used as a means of keeping teenage children off the streets, out of the corner poolroom and out of the juvenile courts. A certain amount of productive activity is good for young people," he said.

—That all children get the same basic education, regardless of capacity. Because of this fallacy, he said, superior children have to adjust their pace to be less capable and learn to be indolent. Urey suggests grouping children on the basis of their intellectual ability.

OTHER MISTAKES

—That the purpose of education is to develop personality and not primarily to acquire knowledge.

—That children should never face a definite test of attainment or be required to face the disappointment of a failure — unless they desire to be athletes.

Dr. Urey also was critical of college students, saying that most

Lodge Denies Staff Kept Him From Ike

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U) — Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge has denied that he had been stopped by Sherman Adams or anyone else from seeing President Eisenhower during last year's Suez Canal crisis.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said in Dover, N. H., Tuesday that Adams, the President's chief assistant, had barred Lodge last year.

Lodge replied today in a statement.

"To say that Mr. Sherman Adams ever prevented me from talking with the President is fantastically untrue," he said. I have never been stopped by anyone from talking with the President and it is cruelly unfair to Gov. Adams and to the devoted men and women of the White House staff to say that I have."

Tebaldi Cancels Met Engagement for This Season

NEW YORK (U) — Renata Tebaldi, the Metropolitan Opera's star soprano, has canceled her operatic and concert appearances for the rest of the season because of the death of her mother.

The 34-year-old Italian singer is flying to Italy with the body of her mother, Mrs. Giuseppina Tebaldi, 68.

Mrs. Tebaldi, who died Saturday of a heart ailment, will be buried in Langhirano, home town of the Tebaldi. Funeral services were held here yesterday at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan, announced Miss Tebaldi's decision yesterday. Expressing sympathy for his star, Bing said "Miss Tebaldi needs the comfort of her friends in her homeland." He said she will return to the Metropolitan next season.

Traffic Snarls Planners

ANN ARBOR (INS) — A University of Michigan planning expert says the severest problem facing metropolitan planners is the automobile.

Richard L. Meier, U. of M. research associate in planning, said the situation will become progressively worse considering the current rate of population increase.

Total 1957 Hawaiian sugar production is estimated at 1,125,000 tons.

Clay Ups Crop Yield

EAST LANSING (INS) — Sandy soil may produce more crops if clay is added to it.

Tests conducted by Michigan State University soil scientists show yields of alfalfa, oats, wheat and corn can be increased when clay is added to sandy soil.

Probe Teamster 'Goon Violence'

Trucker Who Survived Shot From Ambush Called as Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — A truck driver who survived a shot from ambush was called as a key witness today in a probe of alleged Teamsters Union goon squad violence in six states.

As the Senate Rackets Committee opened a new series of hearings, counsel Robert F. Kennedy confirmed that Ray Byrd of Batavia, Ohio, has been subpoenaed. Kennedy said Byrd was called to tell how he was shot in the back in August 1956 near LaFollette, Tenn., when gunmen ambushed his truck. Police never have solved the shooting, Kennedy added.

Kennedy said the committee is launching an inquiry into activities of what he termed "a goon squad drawn from some Teamster locals in Tennessee."

Much of the investigation will deal with violence in that state, Kennedy said, but it also will study reports of violence in Ohio, Kentucky, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi against truckers operating in those states.

Kennedy said other first-day witnesses include J. R. Pemberton, Clinton, Tenn., an executive of the Pemberton Truck Lines which employed Byrd, and Paul Andrews, an official of the B. & S. Motor Lines of Nashville, Tenn.

Duke of Windsor Cracks Social Ice in London

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Windsor attended an official function in Britain last night for the first time since he abdicated in 1936.

The former King Edward VII was the guest of honor at a dinner given by 51 officers of the Prince of Wales company of the Welsh Guards, a company named for him when he was heir to the throne.

There had been previous reports the duke might even make a speech at the private gathering, but a spokesman said the only words addressed to the company by anyone was the usual "loyal toast" to the Queen.

"I'm just here to meet old friends and to see the chaps," the duke told newsmen before joining the party.

8 Candidates Seek Carey's House Seat

DETROIT (AP) — Six Democrats and two Republicans have qualified as candidates in the special primary election Dec. 20 for Third District state representative.

State Rep. Ed Carey resigned after he was elected to the Detroit Common Council.

County Clerk Edgar M. Branigan threw out the nominating petition filed by Duane R. Jasper, 39, a Democrat, on the ground it contained 63 invalid signatures.

Democrats on the ballot are Thomas J. Murphy, 43, whose nominating petition also was challenged but found adequate; John A. Smith, 50; William A. Ryan, 38; Henry J. Mariotte, 35; Glenn T. Lottier Jr., 26, and George R. Elliott, 41.

The two Republicans are Mrs. Mary Walkowski, 44, and Vincent J. Murphy.

Gas Main Explosion Hurts Three Persons

NEW YORK (AP) — An explosion attributed to the careless tossing of a lighted cigarette butt into a big gas main undergoing repair yesterday touched off a tower of flame and injured three persons.

Flames shot five stories high after the blast near Times Square, at 40th Street and Broadway. Thousands gathered at the scene despite a snowstorm.

Firemen put out the blaze by pouring water into the trench—15 feet long, 3 feet wide and 4 feet deep.

Two passers-by and one workman received slight burns.

2 Cuban Rebels Killed

HAVANA (AP) — The army announced today that a member of Fidel Castro's rebel forces was killed and several others were wounded when a band was surprised trying to fire a sugar cane field in Oriente province. The communique added that another rebel was killed while trying to fire a cane field in the Guantanamo area.

Unwilling to Be Counted

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Patrolman John Hunt, one of 16 rookie policemen assigned to take a dog census, met one dog unwilling to be counted. The bite wasn't serious, police said.

Holiday Weekend Called Dangerous Traffic Time

Looking forward to a happy holiday season? Then be a little more careful than usual when you're on the highway, either crossing it or driving on it. Insurance statistics show that almost 40 per cent of highway fatalities happen on weekends. All holiday weekends are the most dangerous of all. Some 715 people lost their lives on U.S. highways during last year's Christmas weekend. Another 412 were killed in automobile accidents over New Year's weekend.

More traffic casualties happen between the hours of 4 and 8 p.m. than at any other period. According to the National Safety Council, more than one-fourth of all fatal traffic accidents occur during these hours.

With these facts in mind, safety engineers prepared a safety checklist for Yule motorists:

1. Don't drive your car to Christmas or New Year's celebrations. Where possible, take a bus or taxi, especially if you plan to do any drinking. If parties are within walking distance, walk.

2. If you must drive, don't drink. Stay well within speed limits and keep your eye peeled for drivers who may have ignored "don't drink" warnings.

3. If roads are slippery, don't drive without chains or snow tires.

4. Be sure your tires have good treads. Check them for cracks or swellings. When in doubt, replace them.

5. Turn your steering wheel very gradually when taking corners. Recommended: a series of short, slow turns.

6. If you skid, remove your foot from the brake and steer into the skid; i.e., in the direction you're skidding. Never push down hard on your brake if the road is icy. Slow the car gradually, with gradual pressure. It's best to use a series of pumping movements.

Mann Mansion Open

LUEBECK, Germany—The Buddenbrook house in Luebeck, after which Thomas Mann entitled his famous novel, "Buddenbrooks," has been restored and opened to the public. The old patrician mansion, once owned by a family named Buddenbrook, was bought by Mann's father in 1841 and occupied by the Mann family until 1891.

Are You Candidate for $20,000 a Year?

NEW YORK—Do you have the makings of a $20,000-a-year man? Do you have the necessary potential for a top spot in the executive suite?

You do, points out an article in a recent issue of a national magazine, if you make yourself look as much as possible like what the management specialists are seeking.

Some of the ways this can be done says noted industrial psychologist Robert N. Murray, are:

(a) Time your suggestions to when your boss is relatively free to listen to them.

(b) Think up ways to save his time by suggesting a better way of handling the details he doesn't like or volunteer to do them yourself.

(c) Visualize the boss' bulging briefcase and make your reports mercifully short and to the point.

(d) Show that you know when to save your energy for the big nail and when to place a tack with a tap.

Flood Lamps, Colored Lights Can Brighten Yule Appearance

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — Decorating outside as well as in this Christmas? Here are a few pointers from the home service department of the Dallas Power & Light Company.

Take a good look at your home from across the street, pick out its outstanding features and concentrate on them—but remember the best design is the most simple.

If you plan to string outdoor colored lights to outline the porch, the roof line or fence tops, attach them this way: Put screw eyes at intervals along the wood surface, then hang the wire to the hook by a circle of electrical tape.

Flood lights with cutouts are very effective and simple to install. Try a lamp hidden between two plywood cutouts of a Christmas tree for unusual emphasis of the tree shape.

Or put a flood lamp eight or 10 feet in front of a big cutout on the lawn, so the light casts a giant shadow of the cutout on the house.

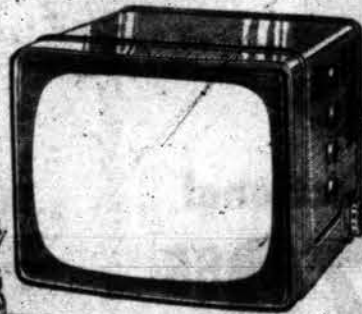

For still more effect, put a colored light directly behind the cutout.

It's effective, too, to simply flood your front door with a bright white light, and a red or green one on either side of the door.

Children and Puppies —Yule Combination

Children and puppies are a favorite combination for Christmas. At this time a child's demand is hard to resist. Unfortunately, Nature can't comply with this seasonal requirement. Therefore, it's important to shop early to get the best possible selection.

In fact, according to dog care center in Va., a puppy is one present that should be chosen long before Christmas Day.

The excitement of Christmas Day is hardly the best time for introducing a puppy into his new home. A week or 10 days before Dec. 25 is preferable.

It's also important to see that a puppy comes with needed and useful equipment and care products.

These include a dog bed and mattress, a collar and leash, a waterless canine cleaner, vitamin powder or capsules, flea powder, a worming remedy, a disinfectant made for use around dogs and a stain preventive for use when the pup mistakes the broadloom for the paper in housebreaking training. Most important is to make certain that the dog will be a welcome gift in the home.

Then, match the dog with the surroundings of the home and the personality of the master-to-be.

If size of the home is a consideration, find out how big the dog will be when he's full-grown. To try to cram a great Dane into a chihuahua-sized apartment could be cruel to the dog and disastrous to the apartment.

Another cruelty is to get a very young and small puppy for a very young child. Also dogs have personalities and they should be compatible with those of the people who will surround them. For a sedate child or adult, a frisky terrier or setter which requires plenty of exercise may be too taxing.

Use Paper Plates, Ease Yule Work

"This the season to be jolly—and surely not the time to be spending extra time in the kitchen. Mother can serve the family meals on disposable paper plates. With many varieties of colors, sizes and shapes available, using new and different plates for each family meal will have a holiday excitement all its own.

Since they are waterproof, heat-resistant and sturdy, there'll be no squawks from the family.

Teenage youngsters can serve their guests midnight snacks from paper plates with no rattling of dishes to disturb the rest of the family.

Symbol of Yule Waits 7 Years

Soldier in Korea Asked Mother to Keep Tree
for His Return

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—For seven long years a Christmas tree has been standing at the Salvador Lopez home here, waiting for a soldier boy who never will see it.

Its needles, brown and brittle, still cling to the branches. It's gay, colorful ornaments are dusty. Its limbs are shrouded with cobwebs. But Mrs. Lopez has no plans to take it down.

"Richard told me to save it," she tells visitors.

Richard was a corporal in Korea in 1950 when Gen. MacArthur thought the war would be over by Christmas.

"Save my Christmas for me, Mom," he wrote. "I don't want presents, just a Christmas tree."

REDS SPOIL PLANS

The Chinese Reds spoiled prospects that Christmas for celebrations at home by U.N. troops, but Mrs. Lopez saved the tree.

Prospects for Richard became darker when word arrived that he had been trapped with the Marines in the Chosen Reservoir area, but brightened with news that he had escaped uninjured.

"Mom, I'm coming home," he wrote joyously in the early summer of 1951.

The tree was then still sturdy and green, although not planted in dirt or water. It was waiting for Richard.

Then that July Richard drowned off Kobe, Japan, while on the way home.

It was on the day that Mrs. Lopez received word of his death that she first noticed the leaves turning brown. But he had asked her to save the tree and save it she would.

SPECIAL SHELTER

Now the tree is sheltered in its own home, the Christmas Tree House, erected by the Lopez family in 1953. To Mrs. Lopez it is as much a part of her son as are the Bronze Star, the National Defense Medal, the Korean Service Medal, the divisional citation, the letters and the pictures showing a dark-haired, bright-eyed youth.

This year, for the seventh straight year, the lights of the tree will glow again on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Christmas Town in Maryland Always Shown

MARDELA, Md. (AP)—It's Christmas all year 'round in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Hochmuth in this community on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

A Christmas village, built by their two sons, 25-year-old William and 28-year-old Joseph, is on permanent display in an entire room set aside for that purpose.

The village grew over a 15-year period from a few little buildings and a train to its present size—big enough to fill a room 16 x 16 feet. There are now three trains and a painted background.

The Hochmuths live on a 300-acre dairy farm near here. There are three other sons and a daughter away from home.

Children in the neighborhood drop in occasionally to start the trains running and watch the houses light up.

Yankees Once Lotus-Eaters

Sacred Oriental Plant Has Lost Out to Hot Dog as U.S. Fad

WASHINGTON—Bustling America was once a land of lotus-eaters. As a food the lotus has lost out to the hot dog, but the plant long held sacred by Orientals is at last being honored in the United States. A lotus festival now is held each July at Virginia Beach, Virginia, near a large stand of the American yellow lotus.

BAD NAME

Lotus-eating has had a bad name in the Western world since Homer reported, "Whosoever of them did eat the honey-sweet fruit of the lotus . . . chose to abide with the lotus-eating men, ever feeding on the lotus and forgetful of his homeward way." Lotus-eating came to mean idle dreaming or "wool-gathering."

Actually, says the National Geographic Society, the American lotus is not only nice to look at, but safe to eat. The rootstalks have a pleasant mealy flavor, suggestive of sweet potatoes. The acorn-shaped seeds taste something like chestnuts. They can be made into bread.

American Indians prized the lotus as a food, and perhaps traded lotus seeds to food-short colonists.

Eating lotus might save the life of a man lost in a march, but garden clubs discourage casual lotus-eating. Though it grows in ponds and slow-moving streams from Ontario to Texas and east to the Atlantic, the American lotus (Nelumbo lutea) is rare in many areas, particularly in the North.

DEEP ROOTS

Rootstalks of the lotus extend as much as 50 feet under the water. The round or shieldlike leaves generally rise above the surface, instead of resting upon it. The flowers are pale yellow. The seed pod has a flat top with perforations revealing the seeds. It resembles a giant pepper-shaker.

The American lotus is probably not at all like the lotus mentioned by Homer. This may have been the jujube shrub, from whose berries a wine may be made. But the American lotus is closely related to the sacred lotus of the Orient.

Ancient Egyptians noted that the lotus flower opens to greet the rising sun, and gave the plant a place in their sun worship. Many Hindus believe Brahma was born from a lotus. For Buddhists, the lotus symbolizes purity, since it springs from slime with its beauty undefiled.

SEEDS DESSERT

Chinese lotus-eaters slice and boil the stems, and use the seeds as a dessert. The Chinese also use the yellow stamens both as a medicine and cosmetic, and the leaves as wrapping paper.

Lotus seeds are the most long-lived known to science. Plant pathologist Horace V. Wester of the National Park Service successfully germinated two lotus seeds found in a peat bog of Manchuria. A radio-carbon test later showed the seeds were between 836 and 1,350 years old.

The seed coverings had become so tough that Wester had to cut them open to start germination. Descendants of these aged lotus plants, born in the 20th Century by a "Caesarean operation," are flourishing at the Kenilworth Aquatic Gardens in Washington.

Bird Starts House Fire

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP)—Dropping burning cigarettes in bed isn't restricted to people. Firemen called to extinguish a blaze in the eaves of a business building traced the fire to a cigarette a bird had picked up and carried to its nest.

Cornish Choir Annual Feature

Other Nationalities Join but Old World Flavor Is Still Preserved

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. — Residents of this historic Sierra gold mining town look forward to each Christmas for two special reasons: Santa Claus and carol-singing by the town's celebrated Cornish Choir.

Founded 80 years ago by miners brought over from Cornwall to work the Mother Lode's deep shaft mines, the all male choir has been an annual Yuletide feature and is still going strong.

It is assembled about the first of October every year. By December, the 35 to 40 voices have been rehearsed into shape and the group is ready to harmonize its quaint carols on street corners, in churches and over the air.

"Cornishmen have always been singing men," says Harold George Sr., a retired music teacher who has been conducting the choir for 40 years.

ALWAYS SINGING

"Anytime you get a group of Cornishmen together, waiting to go into the mines, they will break out in song."

However, things have changed since those first hardy immigrants from Cornwall on England's southwest coast organized the choir.

Faced with a dwindling supply of native Cornishmen, the choir now accepts "Honorary Cornishmen" of all national backgrounds.

Secondly, the carols are no longer sung in Cornish dialect but in modern English, although the Old World flavor is still preserved.

Before World War I, there was so much interest the choir was divided into two separate units. Later, Conductor George has had trouble getting the older men to turn out for the first rehearsals.

He once threatened to disband the group, but he confides it was just to pry the laggards from their television sets.

The choir's proudest moment came a few years ago when it did a nationwide radio broadcast from 2,000 feet down a shaft in the nearby Idaho-Maryland mine.

The program had just ended when George was called to a special telephone.

It was a California congressman who had just heard the broadcast and only wanted to say: "You're coming in fine."

Teach Good Will by Own Example Through Giving

Suggestions for encouraging the growth of goodwill through giving:

1. Look at your own feelings. They are what your children copy.
2. Let children make some of their presents.
3. Help children buy some of their presents, giving limited choices.
4. Accept children's products sincerely and don't try to fix them up.

'Choose and Cut' FarmsNew Way to Sell Trees Popular on West Coast

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—"Choose and cut" Christmas tree farms, where the price is right and the kids can enjoy a mountain picnic to boot, are catching on fast on the West Coast.

Turning cutover and unproductive timberland into tree farms where the city family can cut down a fir or a pine of its own choosing is paying off this year in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

And in the coastal ranges to the north and south many more such farms are coming into production.

NEW MARKETING TECHNIQUE

There is nothing particularly new about tree farms, as such, for they are big business across the land. But the "choose and cut" marketing system is something else again.

It wasn't until 1936, when about 14 farms in the Santa Cruz Mountains sold around 5,000 trees, that the project started paying off.

This year, somewhere between 5,000 and 10,000 trees will be sold in this area, according to Howard Nielsen, president of the Santa Cruz County Christmas Tree Growers' Assn. He vividly remembers last Dec. 3 when 2,000 people, most of them from out-of-town big cities swarmed to his place in response to a little newspaper publicity.

A 6-foot Douglas fir sells, for around $3.50 on a tree farm, perhaps twice as much in the city. In addition, the family that drives out into the hinterland—Nielsen lives nine miles out on a mountainous back road—finds parking facilities, picnic tables and other essentials for an outing. They make a day of it.

CUT YOUR OWN

When a family shows up they are given a curved saw and guided to the growing trees, rows and rows of them. After they pick their tree and saw it down, they haul it back to the farm, where the price is figured by the foot.

"It's a perpetual operation," Nielsen explained. "We ask the customers to cut the trees two or three branches above the ground. Then the tree sprouts and, growing about a foot a year, is ready for cutting again in five or six years."

Nielsen added that "people's

Attribute Carols to St. Francis

Legends Recall Monk as Originating Custom of Yule Singing

One legend attributes the first Christmas carol to St. Francis of Assisi. The story is that St. Francis built the first creche and started the custom of singing carols around it in the 13th Century to combat a heresy of that time which denied that Christ was Divine.

Although this explanation of carols has an engaging logic, they actually pre-date St. Francis by many hundreds of years. Carols originated also as early as Christmas became a regular feast in the Christian calendar.

Dancing accompanied these early carols—the word carol comes from the Italian "carolare" meaning a "dance ring." But dancing was frowned upon by the early church as irreverent, and that part gradually died out.

Most of our traditional carols are drawn from British and continental hymns written between 1200 and 1500. Many of the most popular ones, however, date from much more recent times when carol-singing underwent a great revival.

One of these is "Silent Night." Its history reads like a fairy tale.

It was Christmas Eve in 1818 that Joseph Mohr, minister of Oberndorf, sat down and wrote the verses of the world-famous carol. The same day he sent them to his friend, Franz Gruber, organist and schoolmaster, who, within a few hours wrote the melody. Hours later it was sung for the first time—in the church at Oberndorf before the midnight service.

Just before Christmas the church organ broke down. As the organ mender worked in the church, he heard the carol sung many times, and it so appealed to him that he learned it.

Returning to his home in Zillertal, he sang it to the four Strasser sisters, who toured Germany and Austria singing folksongs. They included "Silent Night" in their repertoire as a "folksong," and it became popular all over Europe. It was not until after Mohr was dead, and Gruber was an old man, that the true author and composer were given recognition.

Stork Wins 67th Race

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—Ambulance driver Jim Reid delivered his 67th baby yesterday. He got a call to take Mrs. Maxine Bohanan, 32, to a hospital. The stork arrived ahead of time, however, and Reid delivered a 4-pound, 11-ounce girl.

Pioneer Styles Vie With Modern in Toys

Antiquarian lore gets a spot in toyland this year, alongside atomic energy kits and rocket launchers.

A ranch phone modeled after an early design of Alexander Graham Bell's invention will be featured alongside of sleek dial phones in pastel shades.

The colonial four poster bed has varied toyland counterparts, the Toy Guidance Council reports.

Miniature grandfather clocks and captains' chairs provide graceful reminder of the nostalgic past. In contrast will be miniature ranch houses filled with sectional furniture geared to today's functional living.

There's a drum model inspired by Revolutionary War styles. The covered wagon, the buggy, the saliship and the wheel-propelled river boat are all inspired by means of transportation of the past.

Foreign-born population of the U. S. has decreased almost 20 per cent within the last decade, according to estimates of the census bureau.

PEDALER WITH PACK—Looks familiar. Seems St. Nick is taking a spin around the Christmas tree before depositing his many bundles. Bet he will leave this middleweight model to greet some starry-eyed youngster.

Saffron is the most expensive. The U.S. Navy launched its first of spices used in cookery today, electrically propelled ship, the Jupiter, 44 years ago. It's price is about $38 a pound.

Yule Should Be Happy, Safe Family Project

Christmas is more fun when it's a happy, hazardous family project.

Enlist dad's and youngsters' help in making Christmas 1957 the brightest, happiest and safest holiday ever.

A sewing institute suggests safe Christmas trimmings for house and tree that are fun and easy for everyone in the family to make.

Colorful angel-shaped Christmas tree ornaments made of felt, plastic or leather won't break, cut fingers or scatter glass fragments over the floor. Embroider a Christmas tree skirt to catch dried pine needles which might become a fire hazard. A one-piece Santa Claus window and door trimmings and a giant family-sized felt stocking for the fireplace are easy to sew and unbreakable, too.

With extra helping hands working about the house, be doubly safety conscious. Remember to keep scissors, pins, needles and other tools off chairs and floors. Corner wires. Don't place them across or under rugs where they are a fire hazard and endanger baby. Keep ladders out of the way and don't let small children climb them.

The new Nomad—the last word in station wagon style and distinction... 4-door 6-passenger.

Two new Brookwoods—4-door 6-passenger and 4-door 9-passenger models. Luxuriously appointed.

CHEVROLET SETS A NEW STYLE IN STATION WAGONS!

Two new Yeoman wagons—2-door 6-passenger and 4-door 6-passenger. Smart, durable all-vinyl interiors.

Wonderful's the word for Chevrolet's new wagons! They're boldly beautiful with new length and lowness, new sculptured grace. They're boldly engineered with new ideas that make loading easier, riding smoother, driving happier. And they're almost too new to be true.

Meet the year's smartest station wagon set! Chevrolet brings you five new wagons for '58—all long, low and loaded with news.

They're more than nine inches longer, dramatically lower. Graceful gull-wing contours accent the rear, and a new, larger liftgate curves around at the corners. Safety plate glass in all windows gives you crystal-clear visibility.

And these stylish new Chevrolet station wagons are the most practical beauties that ever took to the road. The new, larger liftgate is hinged into the roof and raises completely out of the way for easier loading. There's a new easy-opening tailgate, too, and room for longer cargo.

No station wagon built ever carried loads with more ease or passengers with more comfort! Chevrolet's new standard Full Coil suspension cradles you on deep coil springs at every wheel. And you can have a real air ride as an extra-cost option. New Level Air suspension almost makes bumps obsolete—and it automatically keeps your wagon level and on an even keel.

You can choose from two- or four-door, six- or nine-passenger models with livelier V8 or 6 engines. Stop by your Chevrolet dealer's and look them over.

Photography Rises for Yule

Once You Get Your Camera, You're In for Fever

NEW YORK (NEA) — Good Grief! Never mind the common cold: Somebody ought to invent an antidote to photography—quick, because it's about to get far more acute.

Available statistics (incomplete at best) for last year show:

1. Three out of four American families own at least one camera. As buyers, we spent about one billion dollars in the photographic marketplace. As addicts, we took more than two billion snapshots.

2. Cameras and photographic accessories are among the top three Christmas gift items. But camera stores show only about a 10 per cent swell in sales around Christmas, indicating our addiction is year-round.

3. You can forget about all those numbers and amounts because nobody knows exactly the extent of the traffic in borrowed and used equipment, home darkrooms and tourist purchases abroad.

4. Besides, the changing camera market means that we will probably buy more equipment for more money this year than ever before. Or, in the words of Erich Hirschfeld:

"Once you get a camera, you've had it."

Hirschfeld should know. He is the president of Willoughby's, the world's largest camera store.

A walk through his store and into the strange world of still-life turns up a picture of fierce competition, amazing progress and hopeless addiction.

While this country leads the world in motion picture equipment, film and photographic chemicals, most experts agree that the most professional reflex and 35 mm. cameras are foreign-made. Even Argus, this country's principal producer of 35 mm. cameras, makes no claim in this market.

Undisputed leader in high-quality reflex cameras, according to professionals, is Germany with brands like the Roll elf lex. But German leadership in 35 mm. types is today being challenged by Japan. The competition between them is the dominating force in the changing American camera market.

While Japanese manufacturers

do not see an immediate future when they will have driven German cameras off the market, they claim one major success in the competition: changing American camera habits.

According to Joseph Ehrenreich, president of the U. S. company which distributes the "high quality Nikon, beating the 'Made in Japan' stigma was the first step.

"Instead of hiding the fact," he said, "we pushed it. Once we had the professional newsmen using our cameras in the Korean War, we had proved ourselves. And we had given the American consumer a choice on the market!"

Since the days of Korea, his camera has been climbing into the quality market by steady 50 per cent gains each year—more than enough to shake German reliance on their years of prestige.

In addition, more and more German-made cameras are being used with Japanese-made Nikon lenses.

From the competition between German and Japanese manufacturers has come an overwhelming American preference for 35 mm. cameras throughout the industry, and an all-around higher 35 mm. versatility at lower prices.

"It's exactly what the American has always wanted," Willoughby's Hirschfeld said. "No aptitude? No matter. Click! And there's a good picture."

Added to camera-and-lens development, he said, was increased time for picture taking in this country plus American development of color film.

"A beautiful color snapshot," he said, "hides all kinds of imperfections—from poor composition to improper focus."

One of the camera store's executives, with catalog in hand led the way through what he called "a logical path" for the photographer — for any photographer who wants the best from his hobby.

"Let's say he starts with Nikon's SP because it's the newest 35 mm. out for the Christmas spending. Our photographer will probably want a couple of the 16 supplement-tary lenses like a wide-angle or telephoto or portrait.

"He'll need a light meter, a tripod. Probably some filters. Perhaps a strobe unit. Certainly a camera case and probably an accessories bag."

"He'll be shooting color film, so he'll need a projector, a screen, mounts for this slides and a file for them. Now, if he takes an interest in developing and enlarging his own pictures, he'll need . . ."

The list ran on and on.

A professional news photographer trying to get through the crowd to the lens counter, put it this way:

"It's getting so that nobody knows where he's been or what it was like until his pictures are developed."

Tiny Farms Are Among Toys for Toddlers

The push-and-pull set will be writing, instead of riding, the rails this year. A blackboard express uses blackboard panels as the sides of boxcars for their most legible efforts.

The toddler who likes to telephone is in for a surprise. A new doll phone includes a cuddle toy. And the young xylophonist will have a two-toned mallet. A hammer head with rubber on one side and plastic on the other results in two tones, just by switching sides.

Also in the music line, there is a tiny, electronic organ that holds the volume of tone as long as the key is pressed.

For children in an off-to-the-farm mood are full-scale barns, silos, tractors and cultivators.

A series of specialized farm trucks are designed to transport cattle and poultry. A miniature corral is complete with blooded stock for the young rancher hankering to put his brand on some steers.

MRS. RAY RUMMEL puts final figure on her "cookie" tree.

Why? It's Filled With Cookies

No Trouble Finding Help to Take This Tree Down

PIERRE, S. D., (U)—There isn't a light on her Christmas tree, yet Mrs. Ray J. Rummel has so many admiring visitors she has them register.

It takes this Pierre housewife, working alone, several days to decorate it. But she always has scores of volunteers to help take it down.

Mrs. Rummel's attraction is a "Mother Goose" Christmas tree decorated with more than 200 brightly colored cookies.

Every character out of childhood fairyland adorns the tree. Each year it takes three or more days of baking and icing artistry to make the ornaments.

There's Red Riding Hood, Little Bo Peep (complete with crook), Goldilocks and the three bears, the Cat and the Fiddle and the Cow jumping over the moon, Jack Be Nimble is jumping over a candlestick.

There is ample reason why there are so many helpers to take down the tree. All of the ornaments can be eaten and Mrs. Rummel invites the children in for the occasion.

They draw slips of paper to determine who gets what character. Mother Hubbard's cupboard may be bare but that doesn't matter. It's edible itself.

Mrs. Rummel started the Mother Goose Christmas tree in 1938 when she lived in Neligh, Neb., and her children were small.

The number of storybook subjects she had to design and decorate grew as the number of children her offspring invited in for the dismantling enlarged.

Although her own children are now grown, she's never had the heart to stop.

Night Helps Create Decorative Snow

DALLAS, Tex. (INS)—If you are dreaming of a white Christmas but have no hopes because you live in a state like Texas, here's a way to have snowflakes at nighttime anyway.

Hang geometric snowflakes cut from plywood from the roof, shutters or window sills of your home. Behind each put a small white light.

Add to the chilly feeling of the exterior by frosting your window corners, like nature does, with commercial snow in a can or window wax.

THE BERRYS

By Carl Gruber

Let Children Invite Friends to Informal Party

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—While your home is gay with holiday trim, let the children invite their young friends over for an informal Christmas party.

Invitations may be on green art paper, cut in the form of a Christmas tree. Ask each child to bring a 25-cent gift.

Put the name of a child on each gift and place it under the tree. Have another adult wear a Santa mask and distribute gifts after the games.

For one contest, each child can sing his favorite Yule song with a prize for the one chosen best by the youngsters.

Another holiday game can be "put a face on the snowman." Make a snowman by cutting a large circle of heavy white paper for the body and a smaller one for the head. Paste the two together at the edge.

Provide eyes of black paper and a mouth of red and give each child a chance to place the facial features on the snowman. Award a prize for the best one.

Refreshments can include Santa Claus and Christmas tree cookies and cocoa with marshmallows.

Second Wedding Certificate Sets Record Straight

LEBANON, N. H., (U)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eldridge of Fort Edward, N.Y., today have a new marriage certificate. This one correctly lists them as the principals at their wedding, not as witnesses.

Joseph B. Perley, Lebanon's first selectman and a justice of the peace, performed the marriage ceremony for the couple here last Saturday.

However, when the Eldridges returned from their honeymoon last Thursday they discovered the certificate listed them as witnesses at their own wedding. The Watson of Hudson, N.Y., and William Lewis of Fort Edward—the witnesses—in the space for the bride and groom.

Injuries Kill Pedestrian

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Theodore Hoag, about 55, suffered fatal injuries Tuesday night while crossing a Grand Rapids street. Police said he died at St. Mary's Hospital about three hours after he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Hedwig Roszkowski, 51.

Keep Hose in Bag

Hosiery won't snag in travel bag if tucked inside a household plastic wrap.

Toys for Little Girls Are Real Utensils

The little girls in the family who tend to domesticity won't be disappointed this year. There is a complete line of household utensils in miniature.

In the kitchen line there are electric stoves, and even an electric pop corn machine. Makers of brand name products also are packaging foods in miniature—everything from candies and cookies to soup and pizza pies.

To assist mother with the household chores, the Junior Miss has her own battery-operated vacuum cleaner or a carpet sweeper. But equally important are the doll-sized washing machines, washing powders and cleansers.

Father's Name Comes First in Card Signing

Father comes first when it comes to signing family Christmas cards.

Despite the "women and children first" slogans, a card "from all of us" starts out with father's signature as the head of the household.

Mother comes next, followed by the children in the order of their ages, regardless of whether they are boys or girls.

Grown daughters can remain on the list, but not adult sons.

Last names should always be used in case the person to whom the card is sent knows another group with the same set of Christian names.

Bring All Together in Fun

New Competitive Games Family Affair This Yule

Games will be a family affair this Christmas. New competitive items for Santa to pile under trees are slanted to bring teenagers, primary grade youngsters and grownups together in fun.

Catering to big families, designers give special attention to board and card games that help the child whose reading and counting skills are shaky.

One is Giant Steps—a board version of the favorite pavement pastime. Another that gives preschoolers a chance to compete with their elders is the Merry Bell Game, the first to use actual bells as part of competitive play.

Another game for everyone is Test Driver, played on a giant three dimensional board reproducing Chrysler's proving grounds. Magnetic action is used by each player to pilot his test car over the tortuous roads while an official timer clock clicks off the seconds.

Many games are designed to give helpful preparation for mastering school work. Steps to Learning, for example, has a series of six play kits developed by Milton Bradley after extensive research in schools.

Ten Little Indians, a kit of games based on the lingo and domino principles, provides a fun angle to mastering basic arithmetic. Clock and Calendar makes games out of telling time and identifying the days of the week and the months. Other step-to-learning aid youngsters in identifying shapes and forms and colors and recognizing letters and words.

Sports parlor games include versions of ice hockey, basketball, baseball and football.

Consideration for space limitations inspired smaller billiard and table tennis setups that can be folded away when not in use. A variety of bowling games and suction dart games are for indoor fun in small quarters.

New in bagatelle-type games is Mickey's Haunted House which lights up on lucky plays.

And for the convalescent child there is a combination bed table that's a base for games and also a convenient aid to eating.

Santa Reality in Oklahoma

He Has Been Written Into Law by Legislature, Gets Yearly Funds

By DAYTON BLAIR
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — You don't believe in Santa Claus? Oklahoma does. It's written into law. And 3,000 children — orphans — know that Santa Claus is real to them.

For 21 years Oklahoma has operated its Santa Claus Commission, the only one of its kind in the country. The state legislature backs it up with a $2,500 appropriation each year, to be augmented by private donations.

As a result, Oklahoma's orphans will open presents on Christmas morning just like other children the world over. They wrote Santa Claus several weeks ago what they wanted and they will get at least two presents plus candy and nuts.

The commission was created in 1936 after R. R. Owen, then state budget officer, and his wife visited the state orphanage and witnessed a lonely, drab Christmas Eve. Returning to the capitol they told a friend, Sandy Singleton, a member of the legislature, about it and he sponsored a bill creating the commission.

Mrs. Jessie Fountain, the veteran executive secretary of the commission, spends most of the year buying presents. She hunts for bargains and gets as many as possible at wholesale from sympathetic businessmen.

Then about Oct. 1 each year she opens a workshop at the capitol. With a small staff, she gets each package wrapped and addressed to some child. Highway department trucks are pressed into service just before Christmas to make the deliveries.

An effort is made to get the children what they want. Many ask for a Bible and they always get it. Some — just like your children at home — will ask that their brothers and sisters be remembered.

One of the letters Mrs. Fountain likes to talk about came from an Indian boy one year.

"Santa, my name is Yellow Bird Buzzard and I am 12 years old," he wrote. "I am in the seventh grade. For my first choice, I would like a gun and caps; second choice, a flash light and batteries, and my third choice, a Bible. Thank you." He was sent a Bible and one of his other choices.

SANTA'S EXECUTIVE SECRETARY — Mrs. Jessie Fountain examines inventory of children's presents. Toys will be distributed among Oklahoma orphans.

Find Barometer Useful in Home

Gadget Offers Clues to Weather in Vicinity for Next 24 Hours

It's nice to know what the day has in store. And you can sound like a walking weather bureau.

With a barometer at home you have a clue to the weather in your immediate vicinity for the next 24 hours.

Barometers have changed since the 1700's when they were introduced into the American home by retired seafarers keeping a weather eye out. Today, barometers serve a dual purpose in American homes; useful weather prophet and ornamental wall decoration.

For a traditional home, you'll find pendant "banjo" styles with cases of rich mahogany or walnut. There is also a pendant style in transitional design. It blends with French Provincial or other in-between styles. The ship's wheel barometer is a favorite for den, playroom, library or office.

Basically, a barometer is a device for measuring the weight of air. When bad weather is approaching the air is disturbed and weighs less. This change is detected by the barometer which begins to fall and thus predicts the advance of changing weather. The opposite happens when good weather, or a high pressure area, approaches.

Try Making Old Rose Jar

This Is Gift Suggestion That Can Wait Until Next Summer

Here is a do-it-yourself Christmas gift suggestion to save until next summer—the making of an old-fashioned rose jar.

While not a new idea, such a jar is a real treasure and one that gives pleasure for years.

Here is how to create it: Gather rose petals, and spread them on some flat surface to dry. (Gather plenty of them because they shrink when dried.) The drying takes a few days.

You will need two ordinary quart jars, and these spices: One ounce of ground cloves, one ounce of cinnamon, one ounce of ground allspice, one-fourth pound of dried lavender leaves, one-half ounce of mace, two ounces of powdered orris root, one-half ounce grated nutmeg, one-half ounce of ground cinnamon, one half ounce anise seed and table salt.

When the petals have dried, place them in one-inch layers in the first jar. Between each layer spread the ground cloves, the allspice, the shredded cinnamon, and some table salt. Press down firmly until the petals are packed in the jar. Keep covered for one week.

At the end of the first week transfer the contents of the first jar—once more in one inch layers—to the second jar.

Between these layers, spread the grated nutmeg, the orris root, the anise seed, and the lavender leaves. Then keep the second jar tightly covered for two weeks.

At the end of this time, pour the contents into jars in which you want to keep them permanently. You may also add a few drops of flower essence.

The lids of the permanent jars should fit tightly. If these are removed only five or 10 minutes daily, the rose jars will last for years.

Such jars will lend a delicate fragrance to your home and make a welcome gift at any time—one that ordinarily cannot be purchased in stores.

ON THE BEACH

In his office, scientist John Osborne found a report that said half of Melbourne had been stricken with radioactive infection.

On a tram, Osborne heard the tram driver boast, "I'll go on driving till I get sick. Been driving trams for 37 years and I'm not stopping now."

At home, Osborne found his mother dead, beside her a glass of water, an empty vial, a note.

Yule Presents Good Time to Introduce Tales

The enchanting world of story-telling comes to life at Christmas with the unfolding of the birth of the Christ Child. And it grows with Dickens' "Christmas Carol," "Twas the Night Before Christmas" and other holiday favorites.

It is a good time to introduce young readers to future fun through stories.

If they believe all fantasy or action is on TV, wait until they bite into "Snow White," "Uncle Remus, His Songs and Sayings," "Heidi," "Winnie the Pooh," "Peter Pan," "Robinson Crusoe," or "Treasure Island." These are just a few classics that are never old hat stories for young readers. Librarians can suggest old and new books to please children.

Red Subs to Launch Hydrogen Missiles

MOSCOW (AP)—An article in Soviet Fleet, the navy newspaper, with atomic and hydrogen warheads today rockets and missiles here and abroad.

Rockets, they said, had radically extended the sphere of the Soviet Union's submarine fleet, and could be launched both from the surface and below the surface.

Shaving was originally a protective measure since long beards were easy for opponents in combat to seize.

Flying Saucer Soup, Land-Sale on Mars Are Symptoms

Sputnik Space-Fever Invades Japan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Sputnik II, which carried a dog to its death in Russia's space-travel experiment, will reappear for early-morning observers in most parts of the United States in a couple of days, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory announced.

The 1,100-pound rocket, loaded with instruments and accommodations for the dog, will make three passes over the United States each morning just before sunrise.

The best observations may be during next weekend. The observatory said it is working on the paths the rocket will take across the country.

The big satellite, known to astrophysicists as "Beta," was sighted over Alaska yesterday. Launched Nov. 3, it is circling the earth about 14 times each day.

The Smithsonian Observatory continues to receive a variety of reports of objects which observers thought might have been the rocket of Sputnik I in its death plunge. Thus far, however, no report has been received indicating that the final plunge was witnessed.

Dr. Charles A. Whitney, Smithsonian astrophysicist, said today he had no doubt that the rocket which launched Sputnik I into its orbit, ended its days during the last weekend—probably on Saturday night over the Pacific.

He said many of the sightings now being reported by watchers of the night sky probably are linked with the arrival of the Geminid meteor shower which reaches its maximum from Dec. 10 through 13.

Dr. Whitney discounted a report which linked the sighting of a bright object over Milwaukee last night with the death plunge of the Sputnik I rocket. The rocket, if still aloft—should have been over the Pacific at the time.

Sputnik I the 23-inch, 184-pound sphere still continues to circle the earth and is expected to continue in its orbit for about a month or more.

Parents Get Aid in Picking Toys

Toy Guidance Council Puts Stamp of Approval on Few Items

By AILEEN SNODDY

NEW YORK (NEA) — The elevator creeps to the third floor of a Manhattan office building looming grayly over bustling lower Broadway. Slowly the door slides open — onto a world of toys.

This is the Toy Guidance Council, which has its finger in many children's mudpies.

AID PARENTS

Many shoppers wandering from toy counter to toy counter at Christmas will run across the "prestige toy" label handed out sparingly by the council. And they'll think, "this toy will be all right." Why they think this is a result of the council's self-appointed role "to aid parents in selection of correct play equipment for their children."

An independent business organization, the council has weathered many storms in the serious business of playland since Melvin Freud started it in 1933.

Reluctant toy manufacturers wary of advice about their toys and material — draining World War II were two obstacles.

A more recent pitfall such a promotional organization encounters was a restraint of trade suit (mainly for price-fixing) which resulted in a consent decree this fall. The decree in effect spans the whole toy industry for bad practices. And this is what the government had in mind in 1934 when it started checking toy retailers and wholesalers.

Christmas comes but once a year, and so does toy selection. Each spring as Manhattan shakes its coat of winter soot, toy manufacturers empty their packs for the Toy Fair. During it 10,000 games, dolls, stuffed animals, wheel toys, science and construction sets and amusing gimmicks line up for inspection. This is the time toy and department store buyers stock up.

Of these thousands of toys, though, only 104 will become "Educator — Approved Prestige Toys" to be publicized and promoted by the Toy Guidance Council.

Behind "educator-approved" is a panel of professors of education, high school superintendents and principals from New York, Florida, California and Illinois. Helping them with selections are toy wholesale distributors, retailers and consumers.

However, a toy must get a vote from a wholesale toy distributor before it is eligible for consideration. And once approved they earn the "prestige" stamp, are sold only through stores, usually one in an area, that have the approval of the council.

For Fun Afoot

For fun afoot during the evening, give her a pair of slipper-socks. Conventional heavyweight socks with reinforced soles, they give barefoot comfort combined with proverbial for trips to the refrigerator.

Santa Adds Cash Crop to U.S. Farm Production

CHICAGO (AP) — Santa Claus has long been recognized as the greatest boon to merchandising since the invention of the department store.

Now he is making his presence felt in fields far distant from the merrily ringing cash registers of the cities. He's added a cash crop to the traditional production of American farms.

According to a survey by the U.S. Forest Service, more farmers are raising Christmas trees this year than ever before. Farmers own about 70 per cent of the 225,000 acres in the United States planted solely to Christmas trees.

MOTHER SEES DOUBLE — But she did it herself by matching wool-robe for big man and little man-of-household. Robes of identical patterns sport black, white and gray plaid patterns with red overcheck design.

All Men to See More Red in Their Christmas Clothes

Gaily wrapped presents will have competition this year. It will come from inside the packages, especially those earmarked for men and boys.

Men are wearing brighter colors than ever and red will be the biggest color this Christmas, according to Herman Liebmann, head of a textile converting firm.

Peacock blue and turquoise also will find a home in shirts, jackets, ties, socks and men's accessories, he says.

However, for a conservative man or boy charcoal, black or white are still good. Silk prints from India and South Africa in a variety of colors also will add their luster to ribbons and ties.

Even though they joke about it, men always welcome a few four-in-hands or bow ties under the tree. Some this year will have metallic yarns for a distinctive difference.

Variety also is winning a place in the masculine sweater field. A bulky model in bold stripes is an excellent choice for college man or young graduate. Convertible collar sweaters that change to crew neck style fit the slightly older out-of-doors man.

Or he might like a Sherballe coordinates of a cardigan with knit sleeves, sports jacket, shirt and cap. A Scotchgard leather blouse-climber front jacket with knit collar and cuffs will give Dad or Lad the warm good looks he likes.

And it can be shirts unlimited in all colors and materials, stripes, checks and muted tones. One, for example, is a heraldic shirt of solid Cuplioni and cotton with fancy stitching and self-embroidery on the pocket. Don't overlook good drip-dry buys at Christmas, either.

Wallets are standard for men of all ages. However, a choice becomes personal by choosing a leather to go with a man's suit. Polished smooth leather goes with business or formal wear and textured leathers go with tweeds and bulky woollens.

Other good items in leather are alarm clocks, portable radios, pull-man slippers, brush sets and shaving kits and a jewel box.

U. S. farmers grow a third of the 39 million trees—with a retail value of about $2 million dollars—marketed last year.

The remainder of the crop was cut from Canadian forests and U. S. public lands—federal, state and county.

Ten years ago only 28 million trees were sold.

The states bordering Canada, North Dakota excluded, produce most of our Christmas trees. Montana, the only state to report production figures over a period of years, in one season shipped to 31 states. Even Cuba received a supply of Montana-grown evergreens. Under normal conditions, Montana can maintain an annual output of about three million trees.

More than 12 million trees are imported annually from Canada, Newfoundland and Labrador. Some tree dealers in the United States own or lease forested areas in Canada for cutting Christmas trees.

The northeastern and middle Atlantic states and the Pacific Northwest are the two biggest Christmas-tree producing areas in the country. But trees by the million also are cut in the Great Lakes region and in the South.

The most popular trees are Douglas fir, balsam fir, eastern red cedar, black spruce and Scotch pine, in that order. The Scotch pine is a plantation-grown tree and not native.

Because farmers have shown increasing interest in Christmas trees, 29 states issue bulletins on how to plant and harvest trees. These are 12 state or regional Christmas tree associations who help with such items as marketing, research and grading.

Tree farmer Carl Bretcher of Springfield, Ill., and his wife, Rita, are outstanding members of the Illinois Christmas Tree Growers' Assn. In 1946, the Bretchers bought a 53-acre woodland. Their pine tree farm now is their social security.

"Our retirement income plan is based on rotating crops of red, white, jack and Scotch pine on 18 acres of the plantation," Bretcher said. He planned to cut 4,000 marketable trees this year.

One of the nation's largest producers of Christmas trees is Halvorson Trees, Inc., of Duluth, Minn. Roy Halvorson, head of the company, estimates his cut last year was near 1½ million trees.

Halvorson cuts trees between February and May, and from late August to mid-December. He puts them in cold storage until shipping time by freight car or truck.

Says Radiation Effects May Be Helpful to Us

CINCINNATI (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission scientist has suggested that the long-range effect of atomic fallout on humanity may be beneficial.

Dr. Paul S. Henshaw told a meeting of the Cincinnati Radiation Society that in recent experiments the life span of rats and mice were lengthened by exposure to small amounts of radiation.

Christmas Parties in Offices Under Attack

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — A national office management association has just come out with the news that "Workers can take cheer—the odds are 3 to 2 they will enjoy an office Christmas party this year!"

This is the mostest of the moostest statement of the week.

NO HOORAYS

The thought of millions of Americans spending one of their last shopping nights before Santa Claus at an office debauch—either battering or buttering up the bosses—gets no loud hoorays here.

To many folk, bless their old-fashioned hearts, the spirit of Christmas is quite a different thing from the spirit of Christmas.

And the annual Yule party for the office staff has become a yearly free-load, dedicated to the unleashing of inhibitions at the expense of the boss. It is he who must not only foot the bill, but fend against the indelicate kiss of the frustrated secretary and indiscreet insult of the equally frustrated clerk.

Yet the association researchers report cheerily: "In spite of the feeling among many executives that the consumption of alcoholic beverages at office Christmas parties should be limited or forbidden, it still will be furnished free by over half the companies as part of the refreshments at their '57 parties."

"Another 19 per cent say they will permit employees either to bring or purchase alcoholic beverages for consumption at their parties."

(Dandy. In such cases the less the boss kicks in, the more the employee feels entitled to kick.)

The researchers say their survey began immediately after Christmas, 1936. They wanted the managements queried to feel party reactions fresh in their minds. The returns represent roughly 1,000 business firms of all types and sizes across the U.S., and reveal:

For two out of three Christmas parties this year, the complete tab will be picked up by the employer. (Which inevitably leads some of the personnel to drink up the equivalent of the bonus they'd rather have had.)

One out of six companies, however, will expect the employee to bear the whole expense. (Such parties are guaranteed deadly. And brief.)

The remainder—or 16 per cent—will ask the employee to share part of the cost with the company.

(This "togetherness" stuff can be carried too far.)

Sixty-one per cent plan to hold their office Christmas parties after working hours—50 per cent in the evening, 11 per cent over the weekend. (Insuring, usually, a mighty lively or sluggish Christmas Eve at home.)

And wherever, or whenever, the party is held—less than one in 10 companies will require the employee to attend. (Well, that's the best news we've heard all survey. Unless they cut off the bar before that decaive hour when the cup that cheers becomes the cup that queers interoffice relations, consider one option dropped.)

Choose Toys to Suit Child's Growth Stage

Toy makers team with child psychologists to make it easy for parents to match toys with a child's age, physical development and interests.

Which suggests a few simple

"rules of thumb" for picking toys to suit various growth stages.

The educated choice of toys begins at infancy, when the baby follows a colorful, suspended object with its eyes. At about four months, the infant begins to grasp small objects and by six months can hold a ball or rattle in his hand.

Muscular control appears at one year and, with it, curiosity. This is the time for toys that come apart for reassembling. When the child begins to toddle at around 14 months, push-pull toys help him enjoy the process of learning to walk.

Preschoolers like building houses and bridges with blocks and are fond of more complicated take-aparts, a Monogram Models survey revealed. It showed that these children are easily bored and need variety in toys.

By seven or eight, a child is ready for simple model building.

Holy Family Rested Under Egyptian Tree

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (U) — A gnarled and broken tree in a suburb of Cairo has a special Christmas significance to Egyptian Christians.

The tree is not an ordinary Christmas tree. A million Christians living in Egypt believe this old sycamore sheltered the Holy Family on the day they entered the Nile Valley after their long flight from the wrath of King Herod in Palestine.

In the West little is known about the flight into Egypt. The New Testament refers to it briefly in a few verses. But for nearly 400 miles up the Nile from Cairo, shrines found at intervals tell the story of the flight which spared the life of the newborn child Jesus from the slaughter of the innocents in Bethlehem.

Commemoration of this flight forms an important part of Christmas festivities for Egypt's Copts, an ancient Christian community founded by St. Mark in the First Century.

MARK BEGINNINGS

A series of gloomy caverns in Bethlehem mark the beginning of the flight into Egypt. Underneath the ancient church of the Nativity is the cave in which the birth of Christ is said to have occurred. Adjoining it is a similar cavern where the angel is said to have warned Joseph in a dream to take his family and flee the wrath of Herod. A third in the series of caverns supposedly was the mass grave for baby boys killed by Herod in his efforts to destroy the Child destined to be King.

On a hillside on the edge of Bethlehem is the so-called "milk grotto." Here the Holy Family paused to rest in a cavern. A drop of milk from the Virgin's breast fell on the stone and turned it white. A Franciscan chapel sits on the site today.

If the Holy Family tried to flee from Bethlehem to Egypt today, their way would be barred by the Arab - Israeli military frontier. Bethlehem is in the Arab kingdom of Jordan. The route to Egypt runs across Israel, at war with Jordan since 1948.

The Holy Family would have had to cross the armistice line a second time in leaving Israel to enter the Gaza Strip on the coastal plain of southern Palestine. From Gaza they would journey down the coast to enter Egypt proper in the Sinai Peninsula.

According to Egyptian legends, the Holy Family first moved out of the desert into the lush green valley of the Nile at ancient Heliopolis, a famous Egyptian city with a temple dedicated to sun-worship.

RESTED UNDER TREE

Exhausted by the ride across the desert, the weary family stopped to rest under the spreading branches of a sycamore tree.

Traditions say the Virgin sat on the roots of the tree, holding the child Jesus in her lap. Joseph leaned against the tree while the donkey on which Mary rode grazed nearby.

One legend says Herod's soldiers almost caught up with the family here. They escaped by climbing into the branches of the tree. A huge spider spun a web to hide the family from the soldiers.

The legendary tree still stands in Mataria, the modern suburb built on the site of ancient Heliopolis. The tree is so old its trunk has split in two and both parts of the trunk have been weighted almost to the ground by the continually spreading limbs. Wooden beams serve as props to keep the tree from collapsing completely. One of the trunks still has green leaves at the tips of its limbs; the other looks dead.

The tree is enclosed within a crumbling brick and plaster wall, inside a cornfield. Egyptian men in long cloaks will come to tell the legends of the Holy Family to any curious visitor.

The next stop for the Holy Family was on the bank of the Nile near what is now the residential suburb of Maadi. Here they boarded a sailing vessel for a journey up the river. Remains of the harbor where they boarded the vessel still may be seen.

From Maadi, the Holy Family sailed nearly 400 miles up the Nile to a point deep inside Egypt where they could be secure from Herod's soldiers and spies. Their refuge was near the modern town of Assiut, still a Christian center after 13 centuries of Moslem rule.

On that spot today is the Monastery of the Blessed Virgin founded in the Fourth Century and reputed to be the richest in Egypt. In that remote site the Holy Family remained till the death of King Herod allowed them to return safe to Palestine.

It's $120,000,000 Industry

Travels World Searching for Christmas Light Ideas

NEW YORK (NEA) — Albert V. Sadacca, chief luminary of the nation's $120,000,000 Christmas lighting industry, sat down at the interview table, proudly touched his ornate lapel pin and said:

"This signified my membership in the illustrious Order of Dragon Killers. I'm the founder. I'm called The Grand Exhausted One."

Somebody in the room coughed and explained that tree-lighting this Christmas would be far more jeweled. And with new developments in miniature bulbs, there would be new styles in table-top and mantle decoration.

"There are," Sadacca said, "about 400 Dragon Killers from all walks of life. It's a wonderful Order. Non-profit, non-commercial, non-tasteful."

Somebody explained that Sadacca's Glolite Co. had made great strides in replaceable miniature bulbs—about the size of a pearl. There was also a new safety socket which did not leave wires exposed in case of breakage.

"Of course," Sadacca said, "once the women found out about the Order, they wanted to join. So we organized the auxiliary Order of Dragonettes. Got one for the children, too: The St. George Escadrille."

Somebody pointed out that it was Sadacca's brother who first came up with the electric Christmas tree light in 1918. Since then, the company has branched out into all kinds of festive and ornamental lightings—from patios to street festivals.

"Each member gets a pin," Sadacca said. "Men get cuff-links, too. The children get rings. Everybody gets a parchment proclaiming he is a paid-up life member of the Order. We never collect dues."

Somebody said that in order to introduce novelties and new designs into Christmas decoration and lighting, Sadacca makes two trips around the world each year. He visits toy factories, designers, museums, everything — because ideas come from everywhere.

"I always send the Dragon Killers something from these trips," Sadacca said. "Postcards with dragon's blood. Miniature dragons. This time I brought back coins for the St. George Escadrille. Paid a lot of money in overweight. But I think they'll like it."

Somebody pointed to a small pine cone which had been decorated to look like an elf. With some changes, this Italian doll might well become one of next year's Christmas items. Japanese tiles, too, might find their way into the company's line, in that their color combinations might be used.

"Not everybody can join the Order," Sadacca said. "You've got to prove that you're really draggin' before you can be considered. Right now we have three classifications of fatigue, but we may need more."

Somebody said that one of the biggest problems Glolite had to face was safety. Not only making the illumination fire-proof, but the trees and decorations as well. Experts in the company have perfected an aerosol spray flame retardant, as well as a whole line of aerosol products.

"We make these in a separate company," Sadacca said, "under the Dragon label. And all the profits go into the treasury of the illustrious Order of Dragon Killers."

Buy Cards for Others

Do you know some older person who cannot get out to buy greeting cards? If so, why not buy cards and stamps for them to send before Christmas? It is sure to be appreciated.

New York City's first traffic light was erected at 42nd Street and Fifth Avenue in 1920.

Brighten Your Gifts

Nothing decorates a Christmas package more prettily than to tie pine cones under the ribbon box on top of a package.

Envelopes This Year Rival the Cards

This year's Christmas cards are a double threat—the envelopes are as well decorated as the cards. Some are adorned with gold stars and stripes, others are splashed with color or feature miniature designs that match the cards inside.

All men up to the age of 60 in Peru are required to vote.

Pioneered Tree Sales

Mark Carr, a Catskill woodsman, is said to be the pioneer in the huge American Christmas tree business. In 1931, he offered two sledloads of firs for sale in New York City. The idea caught on quickly with people who had neither time nor opportunity to cut their own trees.

Great Britain's coastline is more than 4,000 miles long.

Save Old Flash Bulbs

Old flash bulbs can be painted and used in Christmas decorations very effectively.

There are 11 articles in the United Nations Charter.

JUNIOR DETECTIVES — Girl dusts cup for tell-tale fingerprints while laboratory assistant prepares fingerprint paste. Soon they'll know the cookie snatcher. Set has hundreds of experiments for curious elementary school children.

Get Science Toy

What's in a toy? Perhaps a career. And mother, don't chew your nails at the thought of Junior blowing up the garage with his chemistry set. He may win a Nobel Prize some day.

Teen-age science contest winners of the last decade say their science interests started before they were 10 years old. A big boost came from chemistry and microscope sets.

These sets gave them a taste of scientific "wonders." Winners of A. C. Gilbert contests who are now adults carried it even further. All are in some phase of science professionally, a survey shows.

And even if Mother thought chemistry "dangerous," 60 per cent of the experimenters had home labs.

However, 7-15-year-olds can have fun with science without making it a career, the teen-agers agree. In fact, they can now solve neighborhood "crimes" with detection sets or surprise the family with a veritable garden, growing in water, applying hydroponics.

Freeze Candies to Enjoy Them More on Holiday

Some candies that freeze especially well are fudge, fondant, kisses, coconut covered nut and spice balls, peanut and raisin clusters, and caramel candy canes. If you want to know whether a particular candy recipe will freeze, address inquiries to your county or state extension agent.

To home freeze candy, follow the recipe as you would for immediate serving. Allow candy to cool thoroughly on wax paper or sheets of aluminum foil.

Then place the candy in square, waxed-board home freezing containers, separating the layers with sheets of wax paper. Crumple more paper and fill in the empty spaces to prevent breakage. Next, press down the rigid plastic lids to seal and place the containers in the freezer immediately. Candy takes around two hours to thaw.

Here are two freezer-tested recipes.

PEANUT AND RAISIN CLUSTERS

One-half pound semi-sweet chocolate; 1 cup unsalted shelled peanuts; ½ cup seedless raisins or currants.

Grate chocolate coarsely. Place chocolate in top of double boiler over hot water. Stir until chocolate is melted. Add peanuts and raisins or currants. Blend thoroughly.

Spoon onto wax paper, shaping into small rings to resemble holly wreaths in layers, separated by sheets of wax paper, in containers. Press down lids and place in the freezer.

CARAMEL CANDY CANES

Makes 15 canes

One-half pound (28) caramels; 2 tablespoons water; 8 cups rice or corn cereal, corn flakes, or puffed rice.

Place caramels and water in top of double boiler, over boiling water. Stir constantly until caramels are melted and sauce is smooth. Pour sauce over cereal and toss until cereal is thoroughly coated. Cool slightly. With wet hands, shape cereal into candy canes. Finish cooling and place in containers, alternating the canes top and bottom in an upright position. Separate canes with wax paper. Seal and place in the freezer.

Disc for Golf Goofs

Slip a merry song dedicated to par shooters, bogey shooters and just plain horrible shooters under the tree. It is "Golf's Lament." A 45 r.p.m. recording, it features John Charles Thomas, Best Hunt or Currants. Blend thoroughly.

Make Presents in Your Oven

Homemade Cookies, Cake Are Choice Gifts; Bake Early, Freeze

Homemade goodies make tasty and inexpensive Christmas gifts, all the more welcome because they have the personal touch.

To avoid spending the last days before Christmas in a frenzy of cooking and baking use the home freezer. Many cakes and cookies can be baked now, placed in moisture-proof, home-freezing containers and stored at zero temperature until the holidays.

There is a kitchen-tested recipe for a no-bake fruit cake that can be stored in the freezer months in advance.

These homemade fruit cakes provide a teenager, for example, with Christmas gifts that are easy on her shopping allowance.

Certain types of gift wrappings may be frozen, too, without losing their original beauty. You may wrap all containers of fruit cake before putting them into the freezer. Aluminum foil is recommended as the most suitable. It will not wilt nor droop in the freezer and there are many ways to decorate its silvery surface.

For example, cut strips of colored holiday tape, form letters to name the recipient and press them to the foil wrapping.

Foil gift ribbon will not droop in the freezer either. Another sparkling note may be added with metallic glitter. With a brush paint a name or design with rubber cement on the surface to be decorated. Then simply sprinkle on the glitter. This, too, has been freezer-tested.

NO-BAKE FRUIT CAKE

Yield — Four one-and-one-half-pint Vapocans.

One cup soft butter or margarine; 1 cup strained honey; ½ teaspoon cinnamon; ½ teaspoon nutmeg; 1½ teaspoons salt; 2 cups seedless raisins; 1½ cups each finely chopped dried apricots, figs and dates; 1 cup each candied orange peel, lemon peel, citron, pineapple and sliced candied cherries; 1½ cups chopped nuts; 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; ½ cup cherry or orange juice; 4 cups finely rolled graham cracker crumbs.

Combine butter, honey, spices and salt. Beat until blended. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Press fruit cake mixture firmly into four one-and-one-half-pint Vapocans and seal by pressing down lids. Freeze immediately. Allow to set for at least three weeks in freezer before eating. Thaw approximately four hours before serving.

Be Sure to Measure Mirror Space

Gift shopping for decorative mirrors takes some pre-buying scout work. New tall and thin, small and square ones to use as multiples don't just fall into a beautiful arrangement.

First measure the horizontal and vertical wall space to be used. Select mirrors with room decor in mind. Tall and slim mirrors add to room height while squares add width.

To determine wall space a grouping will cover, divide width of mirror into width of wall space and add two or three inches for space between each mirror.

Hang mirrors low. As a grouping hang them close enough together to form a cluster or unity. A small mirror often adds sparkle in picture arrangements, Carolina Mirror designers point out.

In using single small mirrors with pictures, again hang so the entire cluster forms a unified appearance.

For Hotheads

Hotheads or swellheads on the fairway can have something in common—a thermo golf cap. It comes in one size for all heads. The sponge-like material retains coolness for long periods of time. Just dip into cool water and wring dry.

It has been estimated that there are about 40,000 species of fishes in the world.

End Morning Grumps

End his grumpy search in mornings for cuff links or tie bars. A jewel box for men is an obvious gift these days as more and more men collect handsome accessories. Many jewel boxes come with slots for cuff links, straps for tie bars and special sections for tie pins or collar buttons. Grained leathers and corduroy are used for masculine appeal.

Sees U.S. 6th Fleet as Bond for NATO

affect the fleet's mission "to deter enemies and encourage friends."

The admiral commanding the fleet in the Mediterranean said his first reaction to news of the earth satellites had been launched by the West. Then he added quickly, "without the dog," a reference to the dog Laika aboard Sputnik II.

"I have to be ready to fight today's war with today's weapons," he stressed. "The Sputniks are not a weapon, only a promise of improved weapons in the future, but probably not in the time of the commander of the Sixth Fleet."

Brown said it would be impossible for an enemy to hit more than one ship with a nuclear bomb because the Sixth Fleet at sea is always effectively dispersed.

Immunizing Children Called Vital to Nation

ANN ARBOR (INS) — Medical experts at the University of Michigan have warned that the health of the nation depends on continued programs of immunization against diseases.

Dr. Ernest Watson, professor of pediatrics and communicable diseases, said immunization programs are the only things preventing old-time killers such as smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and scarlet fever from bouncing back.

"They will again become of epidemic proportions," he warned, "if routine immunizations should ever lapse."

Dr. Watson pointed out that 100 years ago, 33 out of every 100 children never lived past age five because of these diseases.

Today, he said, this number has decreased to 25 out of every 1,000.

Gets Lifetime Grant for Cancer Research

MADISON, Wis. (INS) — Dr. James R. Price, associate professor of surgery and cancer research specialist at the University of Wisconsin Medical School, has been awarded a lifetime salary grant valued at $392,296.

The grant was made by the American Cancer Society. Dr. Price, 36 years old, will be supported by the grant in pursuing cancer research for the remainder of his active medical practice. It is estimated that will be in 1991 when he reaches the age of 70.

Packages Foil Thieves

CHICAGO — Because retailers complained of excessive pilferage, manufacturers of toiletries developed larger cartons for lipsticks and purse-size cosmetics to discourage shoplifting.

Hungarian Fostered California Vineyards

LOS ANGELES — In 1861 Count Agoston Haraszthy, a Hungarian who is regarded as "the father of modern California wine growing," went to Europe, bought more than 100,000 grapevine cuttings from 300 of the choicest wine-grape varieties and had them shipped to California. Descendants of these cuttings produce grapes that go into many California wines today.

PRESENTS FOR ALL — This is the attraction most Navajos find in the Ganado Christmas parties. But missionaries are happy to reach them at least once a year with the Christian message.

Indians Leave Wastelands for Annual Yule Parties

By ROBERT A. BARNES

GANADO, Ariz. (AP) — The drab wastelands of the huge Navajo Reservation come alive at Christmas. Indian men, women and children converge, like spokes on wheels, on several locations.

What brings these people—most of them non-Christians—swarming by the thousands through the cold to remote gathering places at the time of the Savior's birthday?

The attractions are annual Christmas parties, staged by the Ganado Mission of the Presbyterian Church.

STRONG MEDICINE

A few years ago the parties drew only a few score Navajos. This year some 4,000 can be expected at the celebrations at the mission and at six other locations in a 35-mile radius.

Pickup trucks will bring many of the Navajos. Others will bump across the mesa country they love, in their John Deere wagons or will ride horseback. Some will walk.

A sign in front of the mission proclaims it "a lesson in practical Christianity." No white person who visits this oasis in desolate country, and who looks on at one of the Christmas parties, will question this description.

The Navajos watch patiently and listen intently as youngsters attending school here re-enact the Holy Birth in a land of shepherds like themselves. But a birth in a manger would not appear humble to the hogan-dwelling Navajo.

LUKE IN NAVAJO
They pay close attention as a member of their own race tells in simple language (with the gestures which are a must in the Navajo tongue) the story of the Christchild. They listen closely to "Silent Night" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" sung in Navajo.

Most of the adults do not understand English. For some this annual party is the only contact with Christianity, despite the efforts not only of the Ganado people but of many other missionaries of various faiths throughout the sprawling reservation.

The 75,000 or more Navajos here do not live in towns. They are scattered by small family groups throughout an area larger than many eastern states.

It is not the message in their own tongue which draws these people here, nor is it the Christmas hymns nor the sweet rolls and coffee. It is the gifts which they know are coming.

CHRISTIANITY'S BAIT

The presents, representing many hours of labor by church women in far sections of the country, are contained in a colorful cotton print bag. Typical gifts are shirts, pencils, crayons, writing tablets, towels. Children get dolls, picture books and other toy items.

"We cannot hope to turn them all into Christians in one day," former Ganado Supt. Dr. C. G. Salsbury once said, "but here at the mission we feel an obligation to crack the ignorance what little we can while we have them with us."

Pretty Trimmings for Party Can Be Useful as Well

Why not combine the decorative with the useful at a holiday table for bridge or sewing club members?

Cut out appropriate Christmas symbols—bells, trees, Santas, angels or choir boys—from heavy paper or felt. Fasten them over a bottle of hand lotion for all feminine guests as favors.

Making such favors is simple. For a Christmas bell, select a rectangular piece of colored paper or felt, big enough when folded in half crosswise to cover a bottle of Truslay.

With the folded edge as the top, draw a bell on one side of the paper. Cut out, through both pieces of paper, taking care not to cut through at the top (folded edge). Cut a hole in the center of the folded edge so the bottle cap will slip through.

The bell is slipped over the bottle, covering it front and back like a sandwich-board sign. Decorate bell with sequins, stars or glitter. Decorate cap, too.

For a snowman, a circle will serve. Draw faces on ovals or circles cut from white paper and paste to the bottle cap for heads.

Yule Readers Like Big Sellers

Along With Traditional Titles, Recent Books Top Lists

The books that sell the best at Christmas time sell the best at all other times, too.

Of course, there are the perennial exceptions: Dickens' "Christmas Carol" and the Holy Bible, which are especially popular right now.

But if you watch best-seller lists you'll find they don't change much with the calendar. More books sell in December, but they are more of the same; by and large the general buyer makes his choice rather on popularity than on timeliness.

That may mean for instance that some un-Christmassy works sell specially well at Christmas. All last December, for instance, fiction best seller lists were headed by Grace Metalious' "Peyton Place."

But books that do not violate the spirit of this particular holiday sell, too. A year ago Kathryn Hulme's "The Nun's Story" topped the non-fiction selections, and other numbers in demand were "This Hallowed Ground," by Bruce Catton and "Profiles in Courage," by John F. Kennedy.

Over the years the same pattern has been followed: Popular at one season, popular at all.

The most popular book in the 20th century, according to Alice Payne Hackett's "Sixty Years of Best Sellers," would have made a suitable number at any Christmas: Charles Monroe Sheldon's "In His Steps." Published just 60 years ago, it has sold perhaps eight million copies.

The moralizing Elbert Hubbard's "A Message to Garcia" sold four million copies since publication in 1898. Fulton Oursler's "The Greatest Book Ever Written" have together sold more than five million copies, though they are less than a decade old. A comparable success was scored by Jesse Lyman Hurlbut's "The Story of the Bible," published in 1904.

But there have been extraordinary successes which did not partake of the seasonal religious mood. Mickey Spillane and Erle Stanley Gardner are among the top best sellers of all time and all seasons. Erskine Caldwell is invariably popular.

Reporter Gives Raspberries to Comrade Nikita

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Correspondent

NEW YORK—I am sick of being threatened by Comrade Nikita Khrushchev. I am bored with his Sputnik - waving, missile-swinging, horror stories.

I am certainly not alone. Few Americans find life so precious, property so sacred that they would bow the head and bend the knee and kiss the hem of the soviet garment.

NUTS TO NAZIS

Remember the paratroop general who — when his outfit was surrounded and pressured by the might of Nazi panzers—answered a surrender demand with a classic "Nuts?"

We are not surrounded but we are indeed under the full pressure of Russian propaganda in the wake of Russia's scientific circus.

Since Moscow's satellite moon projected the minds of men into outer space the jolly dictator has opened the Kremlin's inner sanctum to all journalistic callers. There, rocking on his toes, index finger waving like a clock tick-tocking the seconds to doom, he has shouted:

FOUGHT IN U. S.

"The next war will be fought on the American continent."

"We have proved our superiority . . . Your bases and your cities could be stricken from the face of the earth . . ."

Yes, yes. We know. Boo! If we do not mend our democratic ways and enter trade with him and dump our allies we will see sky-bashed and broken. Shrines radioactive.

Ho, hum. Let those among us who quiver, quiver now. Let those among us who seek compromise speak now. The better to know them.

As for the rest of us we find the competition stimulating.

But Comrade Khrushchev is in error if he misinterprets our soul-searching for the shivers. In failure to lead with continent-trotting missiles and glove-circling spheres. This is the way of the republic.

That we fall on each other with critical words, blaming this administration or that bureaucrat, is no sign of timidity. It is no hand-erwing admission of decadence. But of confidence.

FINDS REFORMS

Before World War II it was Harry S. Truman—as chairman of a joint Congressional inquiry—who found our industrial plant limping. He spelled out needed reforms.

It was Gen. Eisenhower, as the new director of our expeditionary force, who found our troops lacking in combat efficiency. He spelled out needed reforms.

As Comrade Khrushchev describes in gory detail our fate—like an obituary notice marked "hold for release"—it is time to recall the old boxing story.

The veteran fighter passed the challenger on the way to the ring. He said: "You know, I've been knocking my opponents flat, popping their skulls like bubble gum. But boy, I'll go easy with you. Even though my right is lethal and my left breaks and cuts."

The challenger tapped one glove against the other and replied: "And while you're doing all this to me, champ, what do you think I'll be doing—reading a book?"

What does Comrade Khrushchev think we'll be doing when his intercontinental ballistic missiles go whizzing?

Will our supersonic jets by playing tick-tack-toe on the clouds? Will our rockets on bases ringing Russia be polished for Thanksgiving inspection. Will the strategic Air Command's heavy bombers be hauling dolls to Toyland?

Those who let Comrade Khrushchev's words give them butterflies are the wishy-washy kin of those who had the shimmies when Hitler said his Third Reich would last 1,000 years. Or when a Japanese admiral said he'd dictate peace terms in the White House—with a straight face.

If our schools need more hours for chemistry, they also need more for history. History shows the fate of dictators who bluster of a world chained to their chariots—or sputniks.

Of Napoleon in exile. Of Hitler going up in a Berlin bunker. Of Tojo on a gallows rope. Of Mussolini, head down, hanging in an Italian market place.

Isn't it possible that a bully's throwing a rabbit punch seldom press agents his blow in advance. Boo! Yourself.

about rockets shattering America, does he not fear a simpler knife or bullet in his own rib cage?

Is he not a prisoner of himself? What of those recently fallen to his ambition? Has Molotov no friends? Zhukov no admirers? And Malenkov . . .

Are not his dreams shadowy bullets of inevitable revenge? After all, the Japanese, equally keen on conquest, did not use public relations handouts to announce Pearl Harbor. A bully intent on throwing a rabbit punch seldom press agents his blow in advance. Boo! Yourself.

Give Special Gift to Bed Patient

Subscription to His Favorite Magazine or Paper Is Best

Do you have an adult on your Christmas list who has been a bed patient at home for a long time? Give special thought to choosing a gift for him?

Best of all is something that will help him pass away the long lonely hours. Subscriptions to your newspaper or to magazines or puzzles or books are possibilities.

Next best may be something to eat. More effort should be spent in the preparation of this than on any other gift. Find out from some other member of the family, just what the patient can eat and what he is especially fond of.

Pajamas, gowns or robes are fine and these should be as attractive as possible. If the person is a woman she will appreciate lovely pillowcases and sheets.

Toilet articles are very good too for the bed patient. For the woman, try a good cologne, bath powder and soap, deodorant, rouge or a perky lipstick. For the man, an electric razor, men's cologne, talcum, deodorant, after shaving lotion and tooth paste.

Pay special attention to the person who has been confined to his bed for a long time at Christmas. He needs the holiday cheer more than anyone else. When you take him a gift, plan to sit down and visit awhile.

5 Paraffin Cakes Make a Large Christmas Candle

To make a big Christmas candle, melt four cakes of paraffin wax until they are just soft enough to stick together.

Insert a piece of cord for a wick between the second and third. Then melt a fifth cake of paraffin completely, beat it to a froth and spread over the four cakes that you have stuck together.

You will have a large, snowy white candle. If you want another color, just add a colored wax crayon to the paraffin you are melting for the outside froth.

Place the candle on a saucer and around its base place pine cones, holly or anything suggestive of Christmas.

Rejects Prison Camp

LUDINGTON (In - Mason County's Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday to rescind approval given last October for establishment of a corrections camp in Mason County. The reversal followed protests of residents in Logan Township, site of the proposed camp. A committee of five will be appointed to work with state corrections and conservation department personnel to select another Mason County site.

Coffee Among Has-Beans in Coffee-Loving Turkey

ISTANBUL (INS) — There's not a drop of Turkish coffee anywhere in Turkey these days, and tourists who come in hunting for the real brew have to drink tea instead.

So do the Turks, and for them the whole subject of coffee is embarrassing. They just can't afford to buy any.

This coffee-loving nation, which considers coffee a social necessity rather than a beverage, is in the position of a housewife with a slim budget.

The Turks have just so much foreign buying power to spend, and they're spending it on machinery, hospital supplies and other priority equipment. That leaves no cash for coffee, and, besides, the world's top coffee-seller, won't give credit.

Result: the biggest case of coffee fitters ever shared by 24,000,000 citizens.

"We've been completely out of coffee for about three months," sighs Mubin Bey, who as assistant manager of the Istanbul Hilton has to keep explaining a coffee-free menu to surprised tourists.

"We tried rationing to stretch out the supplies, but a Turk usually drinks three cups a day, and pretty soon there was no more coffee."

Any coffee-lover ever deprived of his brew can appreciate how the Turks feel. But for them the agony is doubled by the fact that coffee is the basis for almost all social relationships.

A tiny cup of thick Turkish coffee is normally the first thing served to guests. It's the drink over which business is transacted.

It's also the drink over which marriages are traditionally arranged, since a groom's parents look over the prospective bride as she serves them a hospitality cup of coffee.

To top it off, Turkish fortune-telling is based on reading coffee drips, and fortune-telling is the national hobby. The Turks may uncomplainingly drink tea, but they're just not trained as tea leaf readers.

Their Turkey Got Cold as Men Chased Fire

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—When members of the Hope Hope Co. held their annual turkey dinner everything got cold but the engines on their fire trucks.

Five minutes after the meal was served an alarm sent the members out to a grass fire. They scarcely settled down to eat again when a second alarm chased them out to a fire fire. When another alarm called them out again in the midst of their business meeting they put out the fire and adjourned for the night.

EXTRA SPECIAL—Star candle guard cut from aluminum and sprayed with flecked paint heightens Yule candle effect.

Wisconsin Leads in Granting P. H. D.s

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The University of Wisconsin leads the nation's universities in the number of doctor of philosophy degrees granted during 1955-56.

Figures released by the Assn. of Research Libraries show Wisconsin granted 340 doctorates, California (Berkeley) 304; Harvard 296, Illinois 282, Michigan 273 and Columbia 272.

Shoppers Come in Many Varieties

Royal Visitors Miss Supermarket Patrons

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal to Queen Elizabeth II of England and King Mohammed V of Morocco:

Your Majesties have shown an interest, during your visits to these shores, in the American supermarket. Well you might. The supermarket, in its awesome majesty, is a growing symbol of American abundance.

What Your Majesties may have missed, though, in your marveling at the heaps of goodies, detergents, stockings, mops and phonograph records, is perhaps the most remarkable thing of all: the supermarket customer.

He—and especially she—comes in many varieties, but the following categories pretty well cover the field:

1. Big Bertha. She's the same gal who drives in front of you on the highway—right down the middle of the road. She drives her shopping cart as if it were a Sherman tank. One thing you must say in her favor: She is predictable. She will either run you down or leave her cart smack in the aisle where you're bound to trip over it.

2. Dottie Dither. She's in a frantic hurry to get out with a open the safe to find them.

tube of toothpaste which she won't need until next week. So she sneaks ahead of you in the check-out line, and then discovers she needs cigarettes, clothespins, anchovies and an assortment of items so off-beat that the manager has to go downstairs and

3. Helpless Harry. He's feeling put upon because his wife stuck him with the shopping detail. You can always spot him by the list he carries. It has such jottings as "B.S. R's," which he is supposed to interpret as "brown-n-serve rolls," and "4 D.F.'s," by which his wife means he is to get four cans of dog food if, but only if, there is a sale on it.

4. George, the Gourmet. He may have a list, too, but he pays small attention to it. He's gaily loading up with hummingbird tongues, fried worms and all manner of other delicacies which he doesn't know how to prepare and wouldn't eat. He thinks this sets him apart from the common herd of shoppers. Since there are degrees of idiocy, it probably does.

UH, ONE, UH, TWO — Daily jam session of rock 'n' roll or Dixieland is coming up. Youngsters will get kick from junior musical instruments. And Mom and Dad may join them in a tune or two in self defense.

Aging Is a Challenge to Face Personally

By RAY HENRY

The interests of older people haven't changed much over the years.

At least, that's the view of Dr. Leo W. Simmons, Yale University professor, who has spent a large part of his 60 years studying the aging of people.

He has studied it through the eyes of people who've recorded it for thousands of years and through his own experience and observations.

From his studies, he has concluded that the basic interests of older people seem to have always been:

—To live as long as possible or until the advantages of death outweigh the burdens of life.

—To get more rest and, thus, to protect and preserve waning physical energies.

—To stay active in group attairs, any such activity being preferable to idleness and indifference.

—To protect and even add to their skills, possessions, rights, authority, prestige, etc.

—To die as honorably and comfortably as possible with the best prospects of an attractive hereafter.

But, Simmons also has concluded, how to satisfy these has always been complicated. The efforts have met with varying degrees of success.

Indeed, he says, it seems that every conceivable way has been tried by people somewhere, sometime to enrich and round off the last years of life.

PROBLEMS INCREASE

The search still continues with the problems of old age greater than ever before, mainly because the world has never before had such a high proportion of people living on what has been called borrowed time.

In fact, civilization has created more problems for the aged, according to Simmons, than it has solved. Now we insure more and more life with less and less in it.

The challenge of today and of civilization, he feels, is to find new ways to put interest and zest in aging and for the aged.

There are some lessons to be learned from the past that Simmons thinks may give some insights for dealing with the future. First, aging can be good or bad, and when it is good it generally is more an achievement than a gift.

Thus, a secret for success for most people facing old age is to find for themselves places in society in which they can age with activity and satisfaction and to continue to be active up to as near the end as possible. Aging must be gamy to the end to be very good.

Second, aging has become a complicated and challenging thing to face personally.

To meet the challenge successfully is somewhat like riding a bicycle—to stop is to go down.

And, people must guard against comparing and choosing between old age and youth. The choice, really, is between aging and dying. It's also a mistake to regard aging primarily as a time of resting. "Old age for rest" is only a half truth at best. The efforts and plans of life had better go on.

Third, among all peoples a point is reached in aging where any further usefulness appears to be over and the aged person is regarded as a living liability.

Thus, whether life can be good to the last drop, really depends on when and how we drop.

FIVE MEMBERS — The Dayton Grandmothers' Club drill team parade for the photographer. Their director says her hardest job was to keep them from talking during drills, which require utmost concentration. Concentration was less than perfect here, where grandmother on the far right was caught out of step.

Dayton Grandmas Are on the March

Outstepping Father Time

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-eight Dayton grandmothers aren't letting Father Time get the jump on them. They're marching right along with him and enjoying every minute.

The 28 are members of a Grandmothers' Club drill team whose marching, 100 steps per minute, has charmed audiences and amazed husbands, children and grandchildren.

Communist Membership Zooms
Indonesia Is Danger Area

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Rich, undeveloped, chaotic Indonesia is a danger area for the free world today.

Communism is on the gallop there, and American officials are very concerned.

Only nine years ago Indonesian Communists were broken and in disgrace, their leaders dead and their 5,000 rank and file members scattered.

Today in Java it is a wildfire popular movement commanding nearly seven million votes — the biggest of the four main parties.

President Sukarno, an admirer of Chinese Red Leader Mao Tse-tung and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, has been accused of abetting the growth of the Communists. And he was a target last Saturday in an assassination attempt.

Sukarno, unable to exert federal power over other islands outside Java and plagued with a succession of economic plan failures, last summer created a new national council.

This group which includes Communists and fellow-travelers, is aimed at replacing the western system of parliamentary government by what Sukarno calls a "guided democracy" inspired by his visits last year to Communist bloc states.

VICTORY NEEDED FOR PRESTIGE

Sukarno badly needs some sort of victory, and this feeling is behind the present anti-Dutch uproar over U. N. failure to recommend negotiations between the Netherlands and Indonesia over his demand for control of Dutch New Guinea.

Although unable to govern its present territories, the federal government in Jakarta has kept up an agitation for extension of its boundaries by the cession of Dutch New Guinea, or West Irian as the Indonesians call it.

And some Britons fear that Indonesia also has eyes on British Borneo, Singapore and Malaya. The Malay or Indonesian language is understood and widely spoken in slight variations, except in tribal areas, from the four southern provinces of Thailand through Malaysia and the former Dutch islands to the South-Philippines. This is a wide area for possible red meddling.

Workers who seized a big Dutch shipping company office in Jakarta this week and raised the red flag belong to the Communist-controlled Sobel, or leading Indonesian labor organization with a current membership of 2,500,000 in a nation of 82 million.

With non-Communist Indonesian political parties warring against each other the Communists have made a sensational comeback. Former Prime Minister and Socialist party leader Sutan Sjahrir calls the situation "not just disturbing—but shocking."

Soft Drink Cans Gain

CLEVELAND—Production of cans of soft drinks in the first half of 1957 totaled 200,000,000, an 8.5 percent jump over the comparable 1956 period.

biggest job is to keep them quiet. In this work feet and mouth just can't be going at the same time.

Apparently this crisis has been solved at least during performances. The marching grandmothers, who range in ages from 42 to 80, can put on quite a show. They form a human wheel, a waving flag, a figure eight or a cross at cues from piano music. All of their marching routines are by memory.

The drill team marched into existence Feb. 19, 1951. After six months of training the marching matrons faced their first audience in Cincinnati.

"The Old Grey Mare," their theme, found them on that opening night shaking in their calico bonnets and skirts. But they were a hit, Mrs. Broedling said.

Since that night they have gone on to conquer audiences all over the Miami Valley area and at Grandmothers' conventions from Seattle to St. Petersburg.

City Has Week Free of Infectious Disease

Not one case of any of the 18 communicable diseases were reported to the Pontiac Health department last week according to Dr. John D. Monroe, health director.

Although new cases of communicable diseases were absent in the city last week, the county was swelling with 89 cases of mumps, compared to 15 the previous week.

The following is a breakdown and comparison of the cases reported to the city and county health departments last week.

Bob Considine Says:

Moscow Subway Is Lavish, Spotless, Fast

NEW YORK (INS) — More memories of a trip:

No matter what becomes of Kaganovich, who was tossed off the Presidium by Khrushchev not long ago, nobody is ever going to tear down his greatest monument—the Moscow subway. He built it as commissar of transport.

There's nothing like it on earth, so far as transportation is concerned. Some of its terminals are more lavish than most of our grandest museums. It is spotless throughout the nearly 100 miles of its cross-crossing and ring-like length. During rush hours there is a train, also clean and very well lighted, every one and a half minutes. They run at three-minute intervals at other times of the day and night.

A comestorian announces the name of the station the train is approaching over a public address system in each car. And gives the name of the next station as the train pulls away from the last one.

Escalators move swifter than their New York counterparts, and plunge much deeper below ground. Passengers, the day I rode the circuit, ranged all the way from trim officers in uniform to a family of hooded and booted Lapidars, one carrying her baby like a poodle. The fare: Two cents.

If there was private enterprise in Moscow the richest joker in town would be the guy who owned the hat-check concessions.

No one is permitted to enter a

Moscow theater without checking his coat. That goes for a great number of other places, too, including Kremlin receptions and visits to the ministry of culture.

There seems to be no official reason for this, except that it probably dates back to an era when the people in charge were not sure of their lives—and wanted nobody around who might be concealing a gun under his heavy coat.

Two things you'll never see in Moscow: A copy of the Wall Street Journal and a telephone book. They just don't seem to print the latter. It is also next to impossible to buy an ilon.

We asked an English-speaking Russian, "Why is it that we see only very old or very young people at the Catholic Church on Sunday? Is it against the law for young people or middle aged people to attend?"

"Not at all," he said. "Then where are they?"

"They don't want to go," the Russian said with finality.

"But suppose the parents of, let us say a teenager, say, 'Listen here, kid, get up this instant and go to church.'"

"No one would say such a thing," he said.

We then asked, "Tell me, really, could anybody ever advance in the Communist Party, or hold any kind of a good job, if he was seen regularly at church?"

Our friend said, "No. The party feels that there is no relationship between religion and party work; that one opposes the other. Therefore, religion must not be tolerated among those who work in and for the party."

As in the U.S., the Russian bachelor or spinster is most heavily taxed. There is a deductible clause for each child up to the number of six. After six kids, the family pays no tax. After 12, the mother is given a medal—"hero mother"—and the government pays her a monthly stipend.

Frank Conniff insists that one day when his traveling companions weren't looking, the Soviet Union awarded him the order of "hero mother—second class."

He gets all the breaks.

Using New Way to Test Thyroid

Effects of Mallet Tap on Heel Measured on Electromagnetic Gauge

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new type of "Achilles tendon" test for diagnosing faulty functions of the thyroid gland was described today to the American Medical Assn.

It involves a new electromagnetic technique for measuring the speed of the reflex resulting from tapping the Achilles tendon with a rubber hammer. The tendon is the tough sinew that leads from the back of the leg to the heel.

Dr. Jack A. Adelman, San Antonio, Tex., who described the device—developed by Maj. John D. Lawson, of Brooke Army Hospital—said it has long been known that dysfunctions of the thyroid gland have an effect on the tendon reflexes of the entire body. For example, when the thyroid is overactive, the reflexes are accelerated; and when it's underactive, they are slowed down.

But, he said, in borderline cases of thyroid dysfunction, the speed changes of reflexes may be so imperceptible that they can be detected only with a delicate instrument. In the past, he said, several such instruments have been developed, but each has certain drawbacks.

Adelman declared that the Achilles tendon reflex is a particularly good bet for testing purposes because, for one thing, the patient looks away from the source of the blow "and is less likely to anticipate it and, hence, cause inaccurate readings."

In the new instrument, a magnet is taped to the patient's heel. Then, two wire-wrapped iron coils are placed near the magnet. Any movement of the magnet towards or away from the coils sets up an electrical current which is recorded graphically on an electrocardiograph, the machine usually employed to record heart patterns.

When the doctor taps the Achilles tendon, the speed of the reflex response is recorded on the electrocardiograph.

Adelman told the 11th clinical meeting of the AMA in a scientific exhibit that the test is of value in diagnosing and differentiating between various types of thyroid dysfunction. And it is "more reliable," he said, than routine thyroid function tests—such as use of radioactive iodine.

Attorneys Don't Plan to Put Scott on Stand

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Attorneys for L. Ewing Scott, 61, say they will rest their case today without putting him on the witness stand to answer the charge he murdered his wife.

The lawyers, P. Basil Lambros, Tom C. Williams and Al Matthews, said they advised Scott not to testify and he agreed to abide by their counsel.

Mrs. Evelyn Throsby Scott disappeared May 16, 1955. She was then 63. Although several persons claim they since have seen a woman they believe was Mrs. Scott, neither she nor her body has been found.

The defense contends there is no proof she is dead.

The silver-haired defendant appeared confident yesterday has several more witnesses testified in his behalf. Among them was Julian Warnock, ticket seller at Los Angeles Union Station.

He looked at pictures of Mrs. Scott and said he sold her a one-way ticket to New York on the Santa Fe Super Chief of July 20, 1955.

"She said her name was Scott," Warnock testified. "She told me, 'I'm leaving Mr. Scott but he doesn't know it.' I was amazed at the quotation. I very seldom hear anything like that from an elderly woman."

Navy Makes Survey of Historical Relics

The U. S. Navy is making a country-wide survey of any items of historical interest concerning the Navy.

Cmdr. Bernard Woessner, of the Naval Reserve Headquarters, 469 S. East Blvd., today asked Oakland County residents to call the headquarters if they know of such items.

The Navy is interested in statues, old guns, anchors, documents or other relics. The owners will not be asked for their items, the Navy just wants to inventory them, Cmdr. Woessner said.

Leaks Delay A-Work

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Work on Denmark's first atomic reactor has been "seriously delayed" by leaks in the reactor tank, a spokesman for the Danish Atomic Energy Commission said last night. The tank, delivered by an American firm, was tested a few days ago and several leaks were found, the spokesman said.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Three fairies plan to sprinkle the new-born prince of Mitzenpoo with magic drops to make him strong, brave and wise. But they get mixed up and give him three portions of strength and none at all of courage or wisdom.

Chapter Two

THE COWARDLY PRINCE

The King of Mitzenpoo named his son Richard. He was so proud of his child he said that he would be the finest prince in the land, the bravest and wisest and strongest. When he became king no other kingdom would dare to attack them and Mitzenpoo would be peaceful for another 100 years.

But, alas — it was not long before the king found that Richard was not the prince he had hoped for.

As a baby, Richard cried all the time. He awoke crying in the night — he was afraid of the dark. He cried when his father held him — he was afraid of his whiskers. He cried when the nurse sang to him — her voice was loud and frightened him.

"Why always the tears?" complained the king. "Is he ill?"

"I should say not!" laughed the boy's nurse. "He is the healthiest child I've ever seen. And strong! Why we cannot keep him in ruffles. His tiny fingers crush every toy we give him."

"Why, then, is he always afraid?" asked the king.

"He will outgrow it," said the nurse. But the boy didn't outgrow it.

When he was seven he lost a playmate's football when he gave it a single kick and it sailed high in the air and away over the palace wall.

The playmate turned on Richard and raised his fists in anger.

"I'll hit you for that!" he cried. Richard turned white and ran behind his father.

"You're a prince!" cried the king. "Go out and fight for yourself."

But when the king stepped aside Richard sat on the ground and cried.

When he was eleven the king gave Richard a red and gold uniform and said that henceforth he would be a captain in the Guard. But Richard got sick in his stomach when a sword was placed in his hands. He threw it away with such force that it stuck in the palace wall and it took three men to pull it out.

To make matters worse the king feared that the prince was dim-witted as well as cowardly. Not only did he do poorly in his lessons but he did not understand what it meant to be a prince and the future king of Mitzenpoo.

"You might ask Santa," laughed the gardener.

The king said, "My son, I am old. You will soon be king. There are many enemies in the land. How will you protect Mitzenpoo when I am gone?"

"I will leave it to the Guard," said Richard.

"But you must lead them," protested the king. "And you must guide our people."

Richard hung his head. "I am afraid of people," he mumbled.

The king walked away in sorrow. Richard went into the garden and leaned against a holly tree.

"Look out!" said the gardener who was mean tempered and did not like Richard. "You're breaking my holly tree!"

Indeed, as Richard leaned lightly against the tree his strength was such that it caused the tree to break.

"Ah," sighed the prince. "Why am I such a sorrow to my father?"

"Because," said the mean gardener, "you've no brains and you're cowardly, too, it's said by all."

"But I am what I am," replied Richard. "How can I change?"

"You might ask Santa Claus," said the gardener jokingly. "Might he'd put some courage and brains in your Christmas stocking."

Then the gardener went off laughing hard to think he'd hurt the boy. But Richard wasn't hurt.

"Perhaps that's the thing for me to do," he thought. "Yes, I shall find Santa Claus and ask him for help."

High Dog Population

STOCKHOLM—Sweden has more than 300,000 dogs. In Stockholm the annual dog tax amounts to the equivalent of $8. The most popular breeds are foxhounds and beagles, followed by a gray, shaggy native dog somewhat like the husky. Next in popularity are dachshunds and shepherds.

It consists of a long body large enough to seat a small child, has four short legs and a long, tightly stuffed neck and head. The mane is made of finely shredded felt and the feet and other features also of felt.

Stuffed Toys Sewed in Home

Uses Plenty of Cotton to Fill Every Portion of Fluffy Playthings

DALLAS (INS) — Much of the success of a homemade cloth animal or doll is in the stuffing.

A Dallas woman who makes stuffed toys of all types, sizes and colors for fun and profit, believes that the stuffing is one of the most difficult but most important phases of the process.

Mrs. W. F. Fannin uses cotton, and plenty of it, and she stuffs each portion of the toy a little at a time until the seams "almost burst." This keeps the stuffed figures from going limp in a few weeks.

As for seams to hold the tight stuffing, Mrs. Fannin stitches all twice around with a fine stitch on her machine, using mercerized thread.

She uses many commercial patterns but adds her own twist, and for material ranges from men's socks to broadcloth.

Monkeys and clowns are made of socks, with the monkey's mouth formed of the heel of the sock; cats and some dogs are made of terry cloth; elephants are made of felt as are shoes, feet and features, and "autograph boards" and school mascots for teenagers are made of broadcloth in school colors.

Her special forte this Christmas will be a television horse, to keep little viewers quietly in one place in front of the TV set.

It consists of a long body large enough to seat a small child, has four short legs and a long, tightly stuffed neck and head. The mane is made of finely shredded felt and the feet and other features also of felt.

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIANS

QUESTION: Why did Indians wear feathers?

ANSWER: As you probably know, not all Indians wore feather headdresses. The war bonnets you admire in pictures were prized especially by the plains Indians such as the Black-foot. It's hard to say that Indians did this or Indians did that because there were hundreds of Indian tribes and sub-tribes, each one with varying customs. But the Indian who did wear a feather headdress was very proud of it. It helped tell what tribe he was from and what brave deeds he had done. Also he figured it made him look handsome and frightened his enemies. The feathers he wore were those of brave birds like the eagle and hawk, and the effect of a well made bonnet was impressive, as the owner meant it to be.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a strip of heavy, brown cloth to form a band around your head and trail down your back. Sew to it a series of real feathers or cutout paper ones. White feathers with the tips dipped in ink and dried provide a very Indian-like effect. That will give you the start of a good Indian outfit.

Morse Urging Ike Resign, Nixon Take Over

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) is urging President Eisenhower to resign so that Vice President Richard M. Nixon could succeed him.

Morse said he has "never been a great admirer" of Nixon, but he said it is apparent Nixon will exercise increased power in the months ahead, and should be president so that he would have both authority and responsibility.

The senator declared that it is "imperative" in the new "space-nuclear era" to have the office of president "fully manned by an individual in full possession of his faculties and in full possession of his vigor."

In a statement, Morse said that Eisenhower's "repeated illnesses are sincerely regretted by all of our people — we wish him long years of life and health." He continued: "However, it cannot be claimed that he now possesses the energy to discharge the awesome responsibilities of the great office he occupies."

"Nor does it seem possible for him to delegate essential tasks to others. Decisions which are necessary today and the three years ahead require hard work and racing thought. The work and decisions cannot be separated."

"It is painfully obvious that the president is not up to the tasks imposed by time and events."

He Shot to Miss

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Humane officer Howard Knowles is a good shot and it's a good thing. He came to the rescue of a bird which had become entangled in a kite string high up in a tree. Officer Knowles shot at the tree limb, bringing down branch, bird and string.

SOMETHING TO CELEBRATE—When Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Culver's 68th wedding anniversary falls on Thanksgiving Day, as it did a week ago, they have a reason to be extra thankful. Sixty-four years ago, Culver, a light house keeper, was reported to have drowned at sea in a small rowboat. Actually, he was thrown ashore on a remote island. The Culvers are both 89.

Blaze Destroys Storage Tanks

Louisiana Oil Co. Sees Million Dollar Loss; One Worker Missing

NEW ORLEANS (U)—Fire fighters today battled to restrain a raging fire that destroyed seven storage tanks containing more than a million gallons of gasoline and left one refinery worker missing and presumed dead.

Officials at the Ingram Oil and Refining Co. plant in suburban St. Bernard Parish (county) estimated damage would total more than a million dollars.

The fire was brought under semicontrol late last night when five plant workers dashed into the center of the blazing oil field to close a valve spewing raw gasoline into the flames.

A supply of a fire-fighting chemical was flown in from industrial and military centers in neighboring states. The chemical was shot on the blazing tanks through fire hoses at the rate of about 18,000 gallons per hour.

The missing man was identified as William Welch, company pumper and gauger.

Company chemist Alden Fredrickson said the fire started with the cave-in of a 14,000 barrel blending tank containing about 13,000 gallons of gasoline.

The smoke was visible for miles. Families were evacuated from 24 nearby houses.

F. B. Ingram, vice president in charge of the plant, credited the action of the five men in closing the valve as the turning point. He said it was difficult to control the blaze because the tanks were connected in the refining process and products flow from one to the other.

Israelis Slate Truck Convoy

U.N. Secretary General Works Out Agreement With Jordan

JERUSALEM (U)—Israel scheduled a truck convoy to carry gasoline and other supplies to Mt. Scopus today under an agreement with Jordan worked out by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to end a two-week dispute.

A joint U.N.-Israeli communique issued after four days of talks by Hammarskjöld here and in Amman merely said convoys to the Israeli enclave inside Jordanian territory would be resumed today. It did not mention gasoline.

An Israeli government spokesman said nine drums of gasoline would be on the trucks. An official in Amman said the convoy would be searched by Jordanian military authorities.

The Jordanian spokesman said, "The convoy will carry supplies approved by the Jordan authorities only." He would not say if that included gasoline.

Hammarskjöld planned to fly on to Damascus for a 24-hour visit. He will talk with Syrian officials about Syrian-Israeli border tension before passing through Beirut Friday on his way back to U.N. headquarters in New York.

The secretary general flew to the Middle East last weekend after Jordan refused to pass a gasoline shipment to Israelis stationed on Mt. Scopus.

Mt. Scopus is a 900-by-400 foot ridge east of the Old City of Jerusalem. Two weeks ago Jordan turned back one of the regular Israeli convoys to an Israeli caretaker unit guarding a university and library on the hill.

Woman Prisoner Pleads Guilty to Quit Tubless Jail

CONNERVILLE, Ind. (U)—A woman prisoner who insists she's innocent has pleaded guilty to forgery and asked to be sent to prison because there is no bathtub for women prisoners in the Fayette County jail.

The grand jury cited the case in recommending that the jail be improved or a new one be built. Sheriff Lester Enoch said there is no bathtub in the three-cell women's section.

The unidentified woman's bid for sentence and bath failed. The judge refused to accept the guilty plea because he felt it was not freely made.

Yule Wrappings Differ This Year

Modern Designs Here for Those Who Want Something Novel

Gift wrappings have gone unconventional this year, abandoning the tried and true red-and-green combination in favor of a large assortment of colors.

Soft pink, pale blue and orange stack up as top colors of Christmas gift wrapping paper, for people who want something different.

Admirers of modern design will be delighted to know that many geometric patterns on paper are available, using blocks, dots and triangles for an orderly array of colors.

You can be traditional with scenes of rural sleighriders, skaters and farmhouses, or you can be romantic with a paper that has the slogan "Pour Vous" (or you, in French) interwoven with red lips and mistletoe on a black background.

The dignified papers include one with clusters of pine cones, needles and holiday ornaments drawn in white against a silver gray background, while another has multi-sided stars accented with glitter alternate with broad bands of gold and white.

There's a special paper for the man of the house, entitled "Santa's Helper" and depicting a parade of saws, hammers and other do-it-yourself tools against a red and white background.

A teenage specialty is "Hi-Fi," portraying musical instruments, phonograph records and autographs of popular recording artists.

WATCH IT! Santa had better guard his board as little girl staples decorations, gift wraps and even Santa apron.

Stapler Does Holiday Job

Easy Way for Child to Make Decorations and Gifts

Half the joy of Christmas for most children is to be allowed to help with the preparations. There are numerous ways for busy parents to put eager, ingenious little hands to work.

For one thing, six and junior will find it fun to use an ordinary desk stapler to make decorations for parties, packages, the Christmas tree and table, and themselves.

Staple candy kisses in their silver foil wrappings to gaily colored ribbon and string on tree or hang nut caps covered with crepe paper and ribbon holders attached. Cotton whisks can be stapled on Santa Claus figures and halos fitted on angels.

A little girl can make an attractive Christmas apron by cutting a piece of white oilcloth into the shape of a snowman, and then using her stapler to fasten on a black oilcloth hat, eyes and nose. Red oilcloth buttons and ribbons to hold the apron around neck and waist can be stapled on to complete the simple and colorful outfit.

APRON FOR MOM

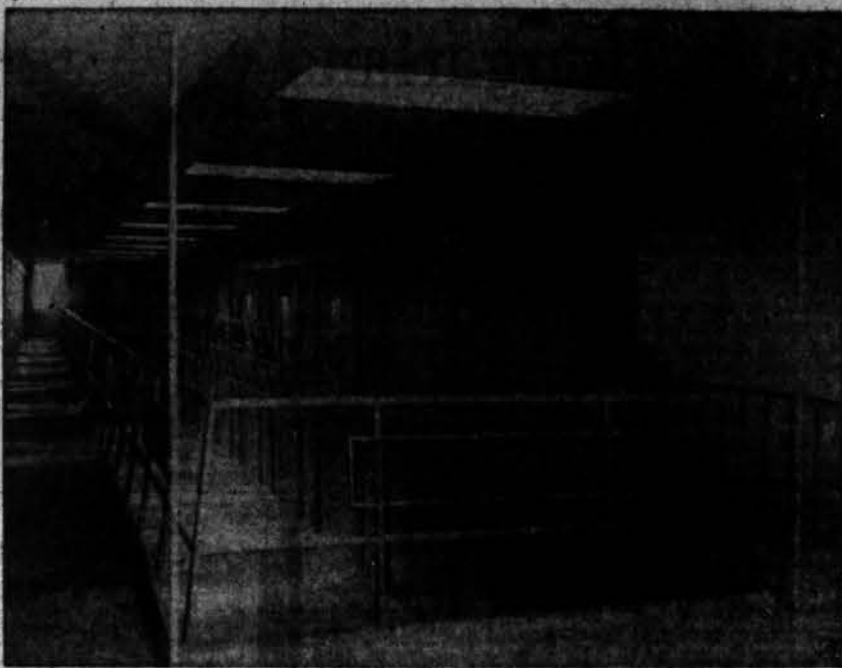

Sis can make an apron for mother, too. A piece of red or green organdy can be cut into a dainty apron shape. Staple on felt Christmas trees, angels and powder puffs simulating snowballs. A shimmering tinsel border is then fitted to the apron with staples.

To create interesting package wrappings use the fastener as a tacker with the head swung back.

And here's an idea for displaying Christmas cards. Simply staple them to red, green, gold or silver ribbon and hang the ribbon across the fireplace or Christmas tree.

You might even frame your doorway with cards.

The Mississippi river has more than 40 tributaries. The entire area drained by it extends over 1,340,000 square miles, which is roughly one-third the area of the entire U. S.

PRISON FENCES — These fences at the medium security prison at Ionia, are 13 feet high on the outside. They are 16 feet apart. Note flood lights and partially-completed guard towers.

Thinking Leans Toward Medium Security

State Putting More Felons on Outside

By ROGER LANE

(Second of three stories on Michigan prisons)

LANSING (U)—One of every three felons committed to state corrections department custody works and sleeps outside prison walls.

Two Couples in Minnesota Really Santas

ROCHESTER, Minn. (U)—Two Rochester couples are making reality out of the Santa Claus legend.

Every Christmas eve they don costumes and go from home to home distributing gifts and happiness.

Those whom Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Jameson seek out usually are the poor, the elderly who live alone, and others whose holiday season might be bleak.

Mr. Jameson recalls one visit to a very poor home where the father suggested he not leave anything that year because another nearby family needed presents more than he.

The other Santa Claus couple, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Torgerson, frequently call at the homes of invalid children who are unable to visit Santa at downtown stores and whose parents would like to see them have the fun of such an experience.

"Our reward," say the Torgersons, "is the joy of the children when they see Santa."

Neither the Jamesons, who have been carrying on their work since 1945, nor the Torgersons who started more recently, have children. They operate independently.

OFFICE MEMO — Man Friday around office may be "little shaver" to boss but he will welcome scented shaving kit.

The fact is a distinguishing mark of Michigan corrections thinking and a measure both of the diversity of the state's facilities and of the corrections program's flexibility.

Gus Harrison, state corrections director, believes the proportion of prisoners living outside the walls is the largest of any state.

By contrast, New York until about a year ago had no outside in the Michigan sense.

Of 10,124 persons in custody on a recent date, 1,017 were assigned to a dozen corrections-conservation camps, 234 to the Cassidy Lakes Vocational Camp and about 2,150 to farm barracks outside the three major walled institutions at Jackson, Ionia and Marquette.

FIRST IN 1948

Michigan years ago began to get away from the old and costly maximum security concept of penology geared to bigger, stronger prisons for all felons, and placed increasing emphasis on rehabilitation, especially of the young.

The first corrections conservation camp was built in 1948, setting up one milestone along the new road.

By 1952, the year of the big rash of riots in maximum security prisons across the country, Michigan had about one-fourth of its prisoners outside the walls, Harrison estimated. The trend has continued.

Harrison looks forward to the day when, with completion of the new medium security prison at Ionia, the department will have some place to meet the needs of nearly all major categories of felons.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

In the last five years, Michigan has relied increasingly on parole, judges have granted probation often and the corrections department has made a big push in an area Harrison calls "extracurricular activities."

Counseling and school programs have been strengthened.

Perhaps mindful of the storms that have shaken the corrections system in the past, Harrison is cautious in appraising results of the changing approach, saying only that as far as the evidence goes it seems to be working well.

A one-time state supervisor of paroles, Harrison recalls his first interview as a parole officer with a prospective parolee, a lifer who spent 37 years behind bars.

"The radio, telephone, cars and traffic as we know it today—all were new to him. The man was in a daze. He was no more fit to go out into society and earn a living than I was to fly," he said.

Austrian Small Car to Sell Under $1,000

VIENNA — Austria will soon be producing 100 small automobiles daily at its Graz Punch Works, Vienna reports.

Only models of the new car with special types of bodies will be exported. The fixed price of the car is still being withheld but it is expected to be well under $1,000.

The Fiat Works in Turin, Italy, is supplying the sheet-metal components for the body, while all other parts are being made by the Graz . . . Dalmier . . . Punch Works.

Thus there is only an external resemblance between the new vehicle and the Fiat 500, small Italian car.

The plant staff now working on production of the new car numbers 6,000.

Darts Old as Troy?

LONDON—Seven and a half feet has been established by the National Darts Association of Great Britain as the standard minimum throw for the game of darts. The association, formed in 1954, is talking of issuing a national rule book and perhaps a history of the popular pastime, which some say dates back to the Trojan Wars.

Bomarc' Knocks Down Enemy PlanesBuild 4 Missile Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four East Coast Air Force bases have been selected for construction of the first launching sites for the Bomarc, the nation's newest missile designed to knock down enemy bombers.

The Air Force reportedly feels about 15 such sites would provide antiaircraft coverage for the East and West coasts and the nation's northern boundary. The Bomarc can cover a wide area and travels faster than sound.

However, although it is designed to intercept enemy bombers as far away as 300 miles and as high up as nearly 12 miles, the Bomarc would not be effective against ballistic missiles.

Plans to build the first Bomarc launching sites were announced last night by the Air Force. It said it had signed contracts totaling 46 million dollars for work at Dow Air Force Base, Maine; McGuire Air Force Base, N.J.; Otis Air Force Base, Mass.; and Suffolk County Air Force Base, Long Island, N.Y.

In another defense development it was learned that U.S. scientists are working on development of midjet H-bombs for battlefield use. The main objective would be to reduce radioactivity fall-out.

They Already Know Your Weakness

By JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—So you think you're too smart to be a sucker.

Then take a closer look at the sincere, convincing gentleman who is going to make you rich overnight. For there's a good chance that he's one of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's five most wanted swindlers.

And his principal aim in life is to clean you out of every cent you've got.

Look at him carefully. Does he have blond hair, blue eyes, a crooked nose, and a scar on the back of his right hand? Does he know how to speak French? If so, the FBI warns that you may be about to lose your life's savings to Gerard Albini Groulx.

Last year, two brothers accused the 30-year-old Groulx of swindling them out of almost $3,000. Posting as a doctor, it's reported that he duped his victims into believing he had invented a new drug.

Then he convinced them that they could count on getting executive positions in the corporation which would produce his brainchild. In return, Groulx asked for money to help get the drug patented.

The brothers sacrificed their entire savings.

If you've just been guaranteed a killing on the horses, chances are you're dealing with Edward Thomas Freeman or Michael Victor Schilling, experts at pulling off the lucrative "Judge Baker Swindle."

Here's how it works: After gaining your complete confidence, the swindler reveals that he wants to help you win a fortune at the race track. Later he announces that he placed a bet for you and won.

But there's just one problem.

He's got to put up some "good faith" money in order to collect the winnings. And right now he's a little short.

The victim shells out and never sees his cash again.

Schilling is in his middle or late 50's.

The FBI reports that he is now living in Canada where he fled after jumping bail in California. He was accused of helping to swindle a Los Angeles couple out of $24,000.

An FBI spokesman explains that swindlers pick victims carefully, learning their weaknesses before ever making the pitch.

Instead of good looks and suave charm, they rely on a special technique to make people completely trust them.

"The skilled swindler has a superhuman ability to captivate and beguile you into believing that he's a tried and true friend," the FBI official says.

No Rocket Missiles Wanted by Morocco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Even if Morocco had the money, it wouldn't spend it on rocket missiles.

Ahmad Scoussi, foreign ministry spokesman, so told a news conference after reporting King Mohammed V was "very impressed" on a tour of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. plants in the Los Angeles area.

A newsman asked if Morocco was interested in buying rockets. "Not at all," replied Scoussi. "We would rather put the money in our domestic economy to help build our industry and our agriculture."

Bus Riders Increase

KALAMAZOO (AP)—City bus lines carried 185,169 passengers in November 1956, a 5 1/2 per cent decline from the passenger total of 196,028 in the corresponding month last year.

Adequate Preparation Is More Than a PlanCity CD Director Calls for Continued Exercises

The director of Pontiac's Civil Defense preparedness declared there still was more to be done despite the completion of the city's modern CD and natural disaster control plan.

"We've got to have necessary exercises for separate city departments and the full staff, and then supplement this with continued training of citizen forces," said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

He praised the plan and said such cities as Kokomo, Ind., and Grand Rapids had requested copies. The state and Federal Civil Defense Administration have copies also.

The plan, drawn up by the Michigan Municipal League, was put into force by Pontiac, the first such city in Michigan to do so. It outlines steps to be taken by all personnel of city departments in case of enemy air attack or natural disaster.

Woman's Fancy Lightly Turns Table on Boss

By PHYLLIS BATTIE
NEW YORK (INS) — Women are imaginative little devils. When in the mood, they can flout themselves mentally into enormous deceptions — sometimes lovely, occasionally fearsome.

No sex but the female can stand beneath a street lamp on a winter night and KNOW it is snowing diamonds.

None but a dame can yet after oysters casino and surmise WITH-OUT DOUBT that she is pregnant. Who but a woman can look at her infant and remark WITH DEVOUT CERTAINTY that this is the White House hope for 2006 A.D.?

So long as most women do their self-bewitching on the bright side, rather than the dark, they are bound to go far. And most do. For every lady who has the inclination to invent dour and dire nightmares, there are a dozen who can day-dream a fire escape into a glided circular staircase.

A PEACHY IDEA

Knowing the female propensities, a career woman named Velma A. Adams has come out with a peachy new idea for making one's job more palatable.

"Pretend," she advises, "you've handed in your resignation."

Now, the result of this exhilarating self-deception—for the woman who can kid herself out of the need for three squares a day—is that a great burden slips from your tension of boredom-hunched shoulders.

"Suddenly," Miss Adams writes in a national publication for businesswomen, "you feel both relaxed and efficient; very much in command of the situation."

A NEW VIEWPOINT

Knowing (or having convinced yourself) that you must get things ready for your successor (quite a dull girl, you can imagine), you must delegate some of the tasks you formerly hugged jealously to yourself.

You must clean out your desk, as if to leave. And assemble your thought, so you can give the new kid some idea of how the office operates.

Realizing (in your dream niche) that you'll soon be rid of all this nonsense, the petty gossip around the office loses your interest. The pressure to advance or even "hold your own" is gone, and you do better work, more easily, because there's a good impression to be left behind.

No need to fear the boss any more. After all, in two weeks you'll be gone and he can't touch you.

If you are in an executive position, you can stop being hesitant to commit yourself. Now, with nothing to lose and much reputation to gain, you can make sweeping decisions and just judgments.

By following this system, a woman with imagination becomes independent, clear-headed, less nervous, more vivacious. In secretly quitting her job, she gets a chance to sit back and look at it dispassionately.

She may decide it's better than she'd thought, and take back her mental resignation and reservations.

And if she concludes that her imagination did the correct thing, she is in line for rousing references.

Choose Gifts Matching Hobby

Thoughts for Presents Come Easy if Person's Likes Are Considered

Getting a Christmas gift for a camera fan, a hunter — or any other hobbyist—can be a problem. Here are some suggestions:

For gardeners: An "automatic gardener" for fertilizing, for killing insects, and for stopping the growth of crabgrass and weeds. It can be attached to any hose or sprinker system and mixes chemicals with the water spray.

A tropic torch which gives light without attracting insects. It burns kerosene and so operates as a smudge pot, also. They're available in aluminum and brass.

For bridge players: An adjustable lamp which stands on the floor and can be raised or lowered to a desirable height.

Card cases, which vary in size and material. They're available in four-deck or eight-deck sizes, and in leather, plastic and other materials.

For stamp and coin collectors: Whenever possible find out what the field of specialization is. Otherwise, concentrate on informative literature — catalogues, reference books, albums and auction records. New gadgets are always on the market, but collectors eventually fall back on standard items—pincers, glass, coin cases, etc.

Outdoor cooks: A service lamp for night-time barbecuing that attaches to the rotisserie spit motor.

A draft grill with a lever that opens and closes holes located at the bottom of the bowl, providing faster cooking with less fuel.

For model makers: Miniature trains which can be assembled, car kits, locomotive kits, and accessories; extra tracks, buildings, tunnels, etc.

Radio unit (for remote control) of model planes, boats and cars which can be put together at home.

For golfers: A puttee board, with electric cord attachment, for home practice.

A portable oasis — a plastic water container inside a leather case that straps on to the golf bag.

For hunters: A duck's muf in nylon with goose down lining. A lightweight shooting vest.

Pentagon Ax Shatters Morale of U.S. Families

(This is the last article on the lives and problems of American military families overseas.)
By ROSE McKEE

WIESBADEN, Germany (INS)—This is one spot in the world where Russia's Sputniks got only secondary place in the talk of the day.

The Pentagon's economy cuts and the firing of officers have caused far more commotion at this busy headquarters of the U.S. Air Force in Europe.

The shattering of morale shows signs of radiating out over much of the 17 million square mile area in which there are 284,000 U.S. personnel and dependents under the jurisdiction of this headquarters.

Some strange things have happened in the wake of Washington's economy axe.

A civilian connected with the military had his job abolished. At the time, he was on loan from his regular job for a temporary assignment, also with the military. The day the movers came to pack his furniture for shipment to the U.S., he was re-hired for the job he had been doing temporarily.

Considering the uncertainty here, he and his wife are glad to have the furniture off their hands. They feel they can pick up their clothes and leave any time if, as likely, he gets fired again.

MAJOR FIRED, TOO

The man's military boss, a major, has been less fortunate. He has been notified he will be fired by Jan. 31. He has had 16 years in the Air Force which he entered right after school.

He still thinks it is a wonderful organization but he doesn't know what kind of job he will get now. His contacts are 3,000 miles away, back in the States. He has two small children.

Americans here read the Stars and Stripes religiously every morning to keep abreast of world news. But the stories the men look for first are not about a Sputnik or the Space Age. They

Lacks Tourist Facilities

BANGKOK—With nearly 4,500,000 tourist dollars a year being spent in Thailand, the government is considering the establishment of an organization to promote tourism. Thailand's board of trade proposed such a body after a survey showed that, including all first-class hotels, only 650 rooms are available for tourists.

The British Speleological society has government permission for its endeavors. It is a cave-exploring society.

scan the paper for what members of Congress are saying about the Pentagon slashes.

The proposal of Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) for a freeze on the discharges, provoked favorable comment here. But most felt nothing could be done in time to help those who already have their notices.

There is worry that the economy wave will curtail the training of pilots. At Spangdahlem, Germany, this reporter was told the flying time had been cut 50 per cent. The officer who made the statement later said he was mistaken about it.

Spangdahlem is the home of the 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, charged with maintaining a ceaseless watch for all the NATO forces in Europe. It would be impossible to imagine a base where men are prouder of their outfit.

But they said that pilots newly arrived from the U.S. need extensive training in flying their cameras-carrying jets in Europe's foggy and cloudy weather. They considered 30 hours a month the minimum to keep pilots up to snuff and combat-ready.

Dear Bewildered:

He's Childish Not to Face Facts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me what to do with a man who flatly refuses to make out a will and refuses even to talk about it. We own our own home and automobile and what insurance we have is in his name.

Our children are married and I don't want them fighting about what is left in case we both go together, which may be the case in an automobile accident. Please tell me how to handle this. Every time I mention it my husband blows his top.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Your husband is childish in his refusal to face reality. If his reaction is explosive when YOU mention it, have your lawyer, family doctor or insurance man talk to him about it. They know how.

DEAR ABBY: My parents are like all other parents—they think they know what is best for me—but, Abby, I have a mind of my own and nobody can say I am stupid. I am 20 years old and am still in college but definitely want to graduate before I marry.

All I hear from my parents is money, money, money and family when it comes to fellows. I am in love with a boy who has neither money nor family but I know one day he will amount to something. My parents tear him down and make my life so miserable I pretend to be sick so I won't have to come home weekends. Please help me.

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: If your parents don't leave you alone, you won't have to PRETEND to be sick. Give your parents the respect that is due them—but when it comes to selecting your lifetime mate use your own judgment. It sounds pretty good to me.

Mary Patricia Flaherty Weds in St. Hugo Rite

White tulle and baby chrysanthemums banked the altar of St. Hugo of the Hills Church for the Saturday morning wedding of Mary Patricia Flaherty and Norris James McNerney. The Rev. Francis T. Stack performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Francis Flaherty of Bloomfield Hills are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of the John Howard McNerneys of Toledo, Ohio.

The bride chose an empire-style gown of silk satin and Alencon lace. The sweeping skirt was covered in back by a separate court train fastened at the waist by a tiny satin bow. Her pearl crown held a fingertip-length veil of silk illusion.

GOWNED IN GREEN

Katherine Frances Flaherty was her sister's honor attendant. She was gowned in an empire-style dress of green velvet and lace. She wore a crown of matching velvet accented by a circular veil and carried an arrangement of white flowers with ivy.

Bridesmaids Mary Howard McNerney, a sister of the bridegroom; Julia Marie Stack, cousin of the bride; Maureen McGinnis of Birmingham; Nanette Hammond of Bloomfield Hills and Florence McCaffrey of New York City, a college roommate of the bride, were gowned like the honor attendant.

Junior bridesmaid Josephine Ann Flaherty and flower maid Julia Frances Flaherty, both sisters of the bride, wore crystal satin gowns fashioned in princess style with velvet cummerbunds.

John H. McNerney served as his son's best man. The guests were seated by John Peter McNerney of Weston, Mass., a brother of the bridegroom; Walter Robert Diemer and Cornelius B. Phillips Jr. of Toledo, Douglas Gamble of Des Moines, Iowa, William K. Patton of New York and Edward Petrequin of Cleveland, Ohio.

CHOOSING BEIGE

For receiving guests at Bloomfield Hills Country Club Mrs. Flaherty chose a beige lace gown with matching hat. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue Italian silk frock with matching ribbon-hat.

Before leaving for a trip to Jamaica the new Mrs. McNerney changed to a beige wool dress. The couple will live in Toledo.

The bride attended Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart in Purchase, N. Y., and Mr. McNerney was graduated from Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

gust. She said the baby was premature. Can an 8½-pound baby be this premature?

WANTING TO KNOW

DEAR WANTING: The baby was on time. The wedding was late. Forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Although my husband and I have been separated for nearly a year, the divorce action was delayed and the divorce will not be final until the middle of next year. In the meantime I met a man and we fell in love. He proposed to me and I accepted. We will marry as soon as I get my final decree next year. The question is how can I accept an engagement ring from him when technically I am still married?

Would it be okay to wear the engagement ring on my right hand? It seems silly to wait until I'm married to him to accept his engagement ring. Please advise.

DEAR RINGLESS: Engagement rings are to be worn on the LEFT hand. You are wise to consider technicalities. Technically you are married until your divorce is final—so don't accept an engagement ring until you are legally free.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARLENE: I understand perfectly when you say "cook" for him and "clean" for him but please tell me what you mean by the "etc." This is important.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Psychiatric Aides Plan Yule Event

Psychiatric Aides Plan Yule Event

Committees have been appointed for annual bazaar which will be given by the Psychiatric Aides Association of Pontiac State Hospital on Dec. 14 in the hospital's recreational therapy room.

On the working committee are Matthew Finely, Mrs. O. R. Kisko, Mrs. Heber Walker, Ruth Moore, Mrs. Clair Young, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Larson, Mrs. Charles Estes, Mrs. Ray Schwartz and Mrs. Lavena Creager.

Mrs. Clair Young, Reginald Ouzts, Ruth Moor and Mrs. Troy Williamson are serving on the purchasing committee. Publicity is being handled by Mr. Larson, Mrs. Betty Bradshaw and Mrs. John Stratton.

Purpose of the affair is to raise funds so that every patient may have a Christmas gift and to aid Patients' Emergency Fund out of which the hospital purchases such items as dentures and glasses for patients having no relatives or funds.

Smart to Be Clean

Here's another good slogan to go with the popular "It's Smart to Keep Clean" phrase. Post this one on the family bulletin board for the little belles in your house — "Cleanliness Is Next to Loveliness."

Yule Feast Awaits Gls. in Capital

Club Will Serve Festive Meal for Servicemen

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — A free Christmas feast with many of the goodies prepared by wives of the top brass awaits some lucky but lonely servicemen stranded in the capital over the holidays.

The dinner, one of a number of holiday meals served during the year, will be dished up at the Soldier, Sailors, Marines and Airmen's Club, whose doors have never been closed since it was opened in 1888, the only club in the United States owned and operated by servicemen.

A SECOND HOME

"It is a home away from home for enlisted men of all branches of the Armed Forces," says Mrs. Charles P. Cabell, wife of Air Force Lt. Gen. Cabell, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, who is a vice president of the club.

"It's a real home because the boys may stay there overnight and they're looked after by real mothers."

One of these "real mothers," Mamie Eisenhower, kept the cash register and worked many long hours there during World War II. Mamie is a life member of the club and its honorary president. She says it's her favorite club.

The President recently sent over a stock of his mystery stories to the library, which is in the charge of Mrs. Walter Bedell Smith, wife of the former Army general and former U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

ANOTHER MOTHER

Another "real mother" dedicated to making the club homey for the boys is Mrs. Arthur MacArthur, whose Navy captain husband, a brother of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, died in 1923. Mrs. MacArthur had five children. Douglas MacArthur II, ambassador to Japan, is her son.

She rarely misses getting to the club Sunday mornings at 7:30 o'clock to give a fine breakfast to some 200 or more men.

"We had to turn away 40 or more who wanted to stay here last night," she said regretfully. "Sometimes they stick around anyway and we find them next morning curled up on sofas and chairs."

In 1956, according to club president, Mrs. Herman Feldman, wife of the former quartermaster general, 15,340 men were lodged at the club and countless others used the facilities offered for just a rest, a bath or a shave.

ORGANIZED IN 1872

The club was organized in 1872 by the wives of officers of the armed forces, who "visualized the spiritual and temporal needs" of the enlisted men in the armed forces.

Wards Greeted by Square Set

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ward were received as new members of Square Set Club when that group met Wednesday evening in Wever School. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Jack Ralph. Assisting with calls were Sid Olson, Ralph Price, Art Yarger and Pete Messelman.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Russ Williams.

Opti-Mrs. Gathers

The Preston avenue home of Mrs. Leon Bigger was the setting for a Wednesday meeting of Opti-Mrs. Club. Mrs. Orrin Huntton and Mrs. Gay Harrington assisted the hostess, Mrs. Jack McDowell was a guest of the group.

'Snow Ball' Planned

Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Wednesday evening in the Kennett road home of Mrs. Vincent Schneider. Further plans were made for a Jan. 31 "Snow Ball" dance at Elks Temple. Mrs. Schneider presented the program entitled "Your charm, Ma'melle."

Study Club Picks Slate of Officers

Mrs. Dale Nolf was elected president of the demonstration group of Parliamentary Study Club Wednesday at Masonic Temple. Also elected were Mrs. Milton Blood, vice president; Mrs. Robert Dorman, recording secretary; Mrs. John Braid, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ralph Humphries, treasurer, and Mrs. Lloyd Farley, auditor.

Mrs. Dorman was in charge of the guest book while Mrs. Paul Gorman acted as secretary pro-tem.

Mrs. Morris Cucksey, leader of the day, discussed motion to reconsider, renew or rescind, motion not amendable, motion not debatable and motions requiring no seconds.

Round Table Marks Season at Winn Home

Mrs. E. G. Winn of Bloomfield Hills entertained members of the Round Table Club Tuesday afternoon. She was assisted by Mrs. E. M. Orr, Mrs. M. L. Lamb, Mrs. A. T. Anderson, Mrs. R. C. Cummings and Mrs. Clark Hagstrom.

Mrs. Robert Anderson told of "The Seventh Christmas" by Comingsby Dawson and Mrs. Clayton Ruhl told the stories of "The Fourth Wise Man" and "Three Christmas Trees." The group sang Christmas songs accompanied by Mrs. Winn.

Contributions were voted for Girls' Ranch Camp Oakland and for the Salvation Army. Helen Teitgen, Amy Blackstone and Mrs. Donald F. Hoyt were guests.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald C. Davidson of Oxford appeared to be enjoying the evening thoroughly as they waltzed across the floor of the ballroom, which featured plastic foam candy canes, snowmen and gingerbread men at every window. Reindeer were suspended from the ceiling amid flashing discs of gold and silver foil.

Tipacon Chapter of American Business Women's Association held its annual Christmas party Wednesday evening in All Saints Episcopal Church. Part of the program was community singing of Christmas carols.

Accompanying the group was Mrs. Robert Irwin (seated) of West Huron street, and leading the group was Ruth Cramer (right) of Delaware drive. Tuning up for the photographer was Julie O'Brien (left) of Hamilton street.

Fit Scent to Hour

Let the time of day and occasion dictate what fragrance to wear. Rarely would a heavy, sophisticated scent be worn in the morning. If you work in an office, don't floor fellow workers with a cloying fragrance. Try a light floral or bouquet scent instead.

News From Bloomfield Hills

Three Parties Enliven the Social Scene

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Mrs. George T. Trumbull of Dunston road was hostess at a luncheon Wednesday at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Among the nearly 150 guests present were Mrs. Trumbull's daughter, Mrs. William D. Seibert, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George T. Trumbull Jr., as well as visitors from Detroit, Grosse Pointe, Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

The ballroom was decorated with silver foliage which covered the ceiling. Luncheon was served from a series of rectangularly arranged tables centered by eucalyptus and magnolia leaves with a variety of fruits interspersed with jewels.

Also on Wednesday Mrs. William J. Scripps of Bennington drive was cohostess with Mrs. Sam Keller of the Detroit Towers at a luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club honoring Mrs. Roy A. Fruehauf.

Going in from Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills were Mrs. William H. Breech, Mrs. Edgar B. Flint, Mrs. John S. Bugas, Mrs. William S. Cooper, Mrs. Henry Forster Jr., Mrs. Dietrich Kohlhaas and Mrs. Robert Fisher.

Mrs. Harry O'Connor, Mrs. Bernard F. Powell, Mrs. J. D.

Richardson Jr., Mrs. L. R. Twyman, Mrs. S. Gordon Saunders, Mrs. William E. Slaughter, Mrs. Russell Strickland, Mrs. Donaldson Thorburn and

Mrs. Fred W. Raeder also attended. Mrs. William H. Beatty and Mrs. Ralph L. Polk Jr. were hostesses at luncheon Monday in the Beatty home for Mrs. Norman E. Strouse of New York.

Delicate pink silk-rose petals, frosted with pin crystal beads, spill forward on the brow in a festive holiday hat by New Wadley. The glossy green rose leaves cover the back of the shallow toque that nestles smoothly on a soft, pouf hairdo.

Esther Unit Meets With Mrs. Byers

The James road home of Mrs. Eugene Byers was the scene of an all-day meeting of the Esther Group of the Church in the Home.

Attending the Tuesday event were Mrs. David Slater, Mrs. Chester Richert, Mrs. J. W. Murphy and Mrs. Burton Stevens.

Gifted Children Will Be Aided by Holiday Tea

Herbert Spencer will speak Tuesday at a holiday tea to be given by the fund-raising committee of the Gifted Child Project of City and Country School, Bloomfield Hills. The event will be held at Birmingham Community House. Mr. Spencer will speak on flower arrangements for the holiday season.

This is one of a series of events scheduled by the committee to raise money to cover additional expenses of special teaching staff and equipment for gifted children.

Sorority Dinner Set

Phi Epsilon Nu Sorority met Tuesday evening in the Briggs street home of Mrs. A. R. Bartlebaugh. Final plans were made for an annual Christmas banquet to be held Dec. 17 at Ray Croton's Supper Club.

Music-Loving Margaret Gets Honor Degree

LONDON (INS) — A solemn-faced Princess Margaret was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of music yesterday for her devotion to things musical, "from Mozart to calypso, from opera to the songs of Miss Beatrice Lillie."

Queen Mother Elizabeth, chancellor of London University, placed the white academic hood about the shoulders of her jazz-loving daughter.

Margaret curtsied deeply and listened attentively as the university's public orator, Prof. J. R. Sutherland, joined other speakers in extolling her devotion to music.

The official citation described Margaret as "a connoisseur of music and a performer, though alas! in private, of skill and distinction."

Sutherland declared: "It is in music that she finds her greatest satisfaction and delight. Her taste is catholic, ranging from Mozart to calypso, from opera to the songs of Miss Beatrice Lillie."

The academic honor was the first Margaret has received and the first the Queen Mother has conferred on one of her daughters.

Mad Plaid Skirt Must for Girls

AP Women's Editor

One really mad plaid skirt is a must for girls. A pet of this season is that old favorite, the Hudson Bay blanket, with its fleecy surface, strong colors and giant plaids.

For smart girls who sew their own, local sewing center experts suggest taking a look at some of the new fabrics in piece goods departments. Hudson Bay designs are now available in sanforized cotton, which can be washed with no fear of shrinkage. This new cotton has a fleecy surface which looks much like the warm and wooly blanket originals.

A bold plaid such as this is most effective in a full, gored skirt. For amateur seamstresses here are a few sewing tips: Remember that when sewing a napped fabric, all the nap must run in the same direction. The nap on skirts should run down. Lay out pattern carefully, with all nap in the right direction, and match plaid carefully at seams.

On a full skirt such as this, a narrow hem is best. Hang skirt for a day or so before hemming, so any stretch resulting from the bias cut will hang out. Then mark and cut hem. Sew bias seam binding along edge of hem and turn up not more than an inch of fabric. Blind, stitch in place.

Select a trim sweater picking up one of the colors of the plaid to complete the costume. If you wish, you may add a wide belt to emphasize the fullness of the skirt and the trimness of your waistline.

Metropolitan Group Elects New Officers

Mrs. Merrill Petrie was elected president of Ladies Auxiliary of Metropolitan Club Tuesday at the American Legion Home.

Named to serve with her were Mrs. Joseph Koren, vice president; Mrs. Victor O. Bodamer, recording secretary; Mrs. Park Nique, financial secretary; Mrs. John F. Schroeder, treasurer, and Mrs. Harold Wright, sergeant-at-arms.

Others are Mrs. Gilbert Brown, three-year trustee; Mrs. John C. Wilson, two-year trustee; Mrs. Clay Parrott, one-year trustee, and Mrs. Davy Gupin, parliamentarian. In charge of a January installation will be Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Ruel Baker, Mrs. Nique, Mrs. John Morse and Mrs. Petrie.

Niblick Club Names Committee Heads

Mrs. H. V. Pfeuffer was named chairman of the golf committee of Pontiac Niblick Club when the group met Tuesday afternoon at the Elks Club.

Other chairmen include Mrs. Oscar Eckman, telephone; Mrs. Peter Hoogerhyde, social; Mrs. Marty Farther, flowers, and Mrs. F. B. Geris, publicity.

Plans for Christmas parties were announced.

B'nai Israel Women Meet for Workshop

Mrs. Sam Priesont of Chicago, Mrs. Jack Sotter of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Beatrice Kampner were guests when Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel met Tuesday in the congregation social hall.

Mrs. David Horowitz, Mrs. Karl Berg and Mrs. Irving Posner presented a Chanukah Workshop. Leading community singing was Mrs. Jack Gambard, with Mrs. Sidney Czeizler as accompanist. Plans were discussed for a Dec. 22 Chanukah Bruch.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Maurice Schlusel, Mrs. Abraham Avadenska, Mrs. Jack Bodner and Mrs. Barney Rothenberg.

Woman Sheriff

MARKLESVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Lucile Brown has been named California's only woman sheriff. The Alpine County supervisors appointed her to serve the unexpired term of her late husband, Orrin Brown, who held the job for 22 years. Alpine County, in the high Sierras near the Nevada border south of Lake Tahoe, has only 241 residents. Mrs. Brown named her son, Orrin Brown Jr., to serve as her deputy.

Built-in Fullness

There is no need of daughter wearing a stiff petticoat when the same effect can be achieved easily without it. When making her dresses, just sew a 3-inch-wide strip of crinoline around the bottom of a full dress or skirt before turning up hem, then stitch hem in by hand.

Shampoos Clean Up Furniture

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

A shampoo will do the same wonders for your upholstered furniture that it does for your hair.

Before you try it, though, test for color fastness by shampooing a small, inconspicuous spot. If color doesn't run, clean the chair with a whisk broom to remove dust from all crevices and corners.

Make a soap jelly by dissolving soap flakes in hot water. Use one cup of flakes to one quart of water. Prepare ahead of time and let it cool. Take one-half cup of soap jelly and beat with an egg beater until it looks like icing. Take part of the stuff on a small, stiff brush and wash a portion of the chair, rubbing crosswise nine or ten times.

Be careful not to overdo it and get the padding of the chair wet. Rinse the part you have scrubbed with cloth wrung from clear water. Rinse again to remove all trace of soap.

Often spots on upholstered furniture are caused by liquids spilled on dusty surfaces. Fresh spots are more easily cleaned than old. If you know the cause of the spot, you can save time.

Sugar, syrup, candy, and fruit juices are most quickly removed by solvents such as alcohol, carbon tetrachloride, gasoline, or one of the dry-cleaning fluids. If chocolate candy has soiled the chair, wash out the sugar and remove grease.

When liquid or grease is spilled, prevent it from spreading further by covering the spot generously with french chalk, fuller's earth, corn meal, or talcum powder. When dry, brush off the powder, then apply a thick layer of paste made with any of the powders and a dry cleaning solvent.

Misconceptions Cleared Up

Answers Queries About Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

People have so many misconceptions concerning exercise and ask so many questions about it that I am going to answer some of the most unusual ones in the column today. I feel sure that many readers would like to know the answers to many of these queries.

1. How are figure - molding exercises different from others?

In a way all exercises are figure molding in that all of them affect the figure. However, there are some exercises which are especially effective in distributing our weight nearer to our heart's desire.

It is entirely possible to lose inches in the waist and hips and over the abdomen without losing pounds. You also can build up the chest and calf muscles so that you increase the bust measurement and the size of the calves of the legs.

So, when I say "figure - molding" exercises, I mean those which I have found to be most effective in correcting figure defects.

2. I have heard that one must do exercises for at least an hour a day in order to make a difference in one's silhouette.

This is not true. You will see a big difference if you do your exercises for 20 to 30 minutes daily. The important thing is to be regular - do not do the exercises for a few days and then miss for the next few.

Naturally you will get results more quickly if you can do them for 30 minutes morning and night. Also, it takes longer to increase a measurement than to reduce it. In the former situation you actually are building muscle.

3. I have heard that a woman should not start exercises after the age of 40. Is this true?

Impossible to do?

4. You say a woman can increase her bust, but my doctor says it is impossible to do.

Tomorrow: "35-25-40" Is Overweight - Should Trim Hips, Too.

The important thing about exercise is to do it regularly. Do not do the exercise for a few days and then miss for the next few days.

Many Jewels Worn by Joan Crawford

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Joan Crawford tops the list of Hollywood's best-jeweled women.

That's the opinion of Joan Castle Joseph, jewelry stylist who not only sells to the public but also supplies 90 per cent of all sparklers that wink at you from the movie screen.

"J. C." as she is known to friends and business acquaintances, named the top ten jewelry wearers of Hollywood. After Miss Crawford came these nine actresses:

Sonja Henie, Paulette Goddard, Irene Dunne, Loretta Young, Marlene Dietrich, Barbara Stanwyck, Ginger Rogers, Lana Turner and Ann Blyth.

"Miss Crawford," according to J. C. "is a movie star who is every inch a movie star, and that's as it should be. She dresses the part, and I wish there were more like her. She makes jewelry a fitting complement to the costume, always, and her collection of star sapphires happens to be one of the finest I've seen."

About Sonja Henie, J. C. commented:

"Business-wise, as well as entertainment-wise, Sonja has always been a very shrewd operator, and it is my impression that she collects fine jewelry as much for investment as for decor. But, unlike some who do that, she also wears her jewels for sheer enjoyment. She may wear a trifle too many at a given time, but wouldn't we all, in her place?"

Paulette Goddard is another named by J. C. as a smart investor:

"Paulette tends to do things in a slightly madcap manner, but her jewel collection, like her other enthusiasms, shows basic good taste as well as a sound sense of dollar values."

Continuing with her list, J. C. commented, "Irene Dunne and Loretta Young are two of a kind. They are restrained in their use of jewelry, and in perfect taste."

"I've noticed that Irene almost invariably wears a choker of large, beautifully matched pearls — real of course — but her earrings are usually diamonds or other stones. And Loretta has one piece in particular that I think is superb — a pin whose center is a huge baroque pearl shaped like the body of a swan, with yellow and white diamonds completing the swan image, and a miniature black star sapphire for its eye."

Marlene Dietrich came next. "You can count on Marlene to do something startling and stunning, such as wearing a diamond pendant in the middle of her forehead as part of an exotic evening turban."

"Barbara Stanwyck, on the other hand, is the epitome of casual perfection in dress. But even with her simplest sweater- and - skirt ensembles, she uses jewelry — gold bracelets and rings, for instance — to make the outfit look very special."

Lake Orion to Be Home for Couple

Married Friday morning in St. Joseph Parish, Lake Orion, were Esther Barbara McKenzie and Cpl. Ray Allen Casterline of Quantico, Va. The Rev. George Gling performed the ceremony before 50 guests.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. John McKenzie of Lake Orion and the late Mr. McKenzie. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Casterline of Hillsdale drive.

The bride was groomed in white French lace over satin and chiffon and wore a fingertip-length veil.

Attendants were Sharon Daugherty and Cpl. James M. Powers of Quantico, Va.

For a reception in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Cathrine Walsh, Mrs. McKenzie wore a blue sheath dress with beige coat and blue accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a gray suit with red accessories.

Before leaving on a trip the bride changed to a green sheath dress. The couple will live in Lake Orion.

VIRGINIA M. WAID

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Waid of New Hudson announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Mae, to Paul F. Fortino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fortino of Liberty street. The prospective bridegroom is a law student at Wayne state. A December wedding is being planned.

Philanthropist Receives Woman of Year Award

NEW YORK (INS) — Mrs. Adele Rosenwald Levy, philanthropist and charity worker, last night joined Eleanor Roosevelt, Helen Keller and Mme. Pandit as the recipient of a "Woman of the Year" award.

Mrs. Levy was honored by the Fashion Division of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York at the 11th annual Key Women Presentation for her work as a community leader, and for her worldwide aid in behalf of dependent and neglected children. This overall award has been given only four times since 1946.

Other gold key recipients in various fields were: Althea Gibson, tennis champion, for outstanding achievements as an athlete; Alicia Markova, ballerina, for outstanding achievement in the arts; Mary Roehling, banker, for outstanding achievement in finance; and Helen Valentine, editor-in-chief of Charm magazine, for creativeness in publishing.

Free-Form Silhouette Is Chic

The relaxed silhouette, the unbelted waistline, the nautical theme, all reminiscent of the 30's, are featured in this season's styles.

The nautical theme comes ashore with a variety of fabrics and patterns. Gay plaids represent every clan, menswear stripes are bold or conservative, glen plaid cotton suiting is neat and smart and jewel-toned foulard prints are also used to interpret these trends in a casual manner.

Sailor ties, middy tops and brass buttons are some of the accents on full ensembles. Even the little boy jackets get to the point with their brevity.

Free-form silhouettes with their undefined waistlines are new versions of the 30's look. A corduroy dress, slim but loosely styled with chemise waistband is typical of the trend.

A plaid ensemble features a mid-dy jacket pulled low to the hipbone and worn with a sheath. The demi-middy, a modern interpretation of an old favorite, often features a bow at the midriff of an undefined waistline and frequently has feminine accents of lace.

All these outfits reflect today's softly molded silhouette, inspired by styles of another day but given great chic through designing know-how.

Men Have Problems With Hair

Number of Baldies Throughout Nation Steadily Rising

Although it is women who seem to be most concerned about hair, it is the men who have the most serious problems. There are few bald headed women. On the other hand, the number of bald headed men, especially in the 30 to 40 age bracket, has been steadily rising.

A Helene Curtis survey of the situation reveals other hair statistics.

GO TO PARLORS

Seven out of every 10 women go to beauty parlors. They spend about six hours a month having their hair shampooed, cut, dyed, tinted or set — or all combined.

Eight out of every 10 men go to a barbershop for hair cuts. (Others have their wives do it).

Seventy-five per cent of women dye their hair. (Most of them choose a different color than what nature gave them).

Twenty-two per cent of men dye their hair. (Mostly from grey to dark brown).

HAVE DANDRUFF

About the same percentage of women as men have dandruff, but it shows more on men (due to shorter hair, dark suits).

Among toupee wearers only five per cent are women.

Fifty per cent more women than men run a comb through their hair in restaurants.

Men shampoo their hair on an average of once a week; women once in two weeks.

Most women would rather have blonde hair than any other color. Most men would rather just have hair.

There are more crew cuts on Madison Avenue than anywhere else in the U. S.

Most women change hair styles once every two years; men, once every 10 years.

Japan is the world's leading producer of fishery products with 17 per cent of the world's catch.

'Hanging of the Greens' Slated at Y

Holiday activities at Pontiac YWCA begin this week with the traditional "Hanging of the Green" party Friday evening. A tree will be put up and the building which will be covered with wreaths and ribbons.

Sunday afternoon will mark the YWCA annual pin award for girls who have served a year or more. Following the awarding will be a training session and cooperative dinner.

On Wednesday a Holiday Dance will be held at the National Guard Armory with several hundred men from Army Bases expected to attend.

Mrs. M. H. Slater, membership chairman, is heading a Tuesday Christmas observance for YWCA members, families and friends.

SLATES PARTIES

Both Golden Age groups have dessert luncheons and Christmas parties on Dec. 16 and 17. Ladies Day Out class participants will close the fall term with cooperative luncheons on Dec. 18 and 19 while children's Christmas parties will be held with Santa Claus at the same time.

Pontiac State Hospital's YWCA recreational group will have its Christmas party Dec. 18. Filling out the December program is the junior high canteen Christmas party Dec. 20. The YWCA staff will have a Christmas luncheon.

LEILLA BUNKER

The engagement of Leilla Bunker and Albert Ezell is being announced. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bunker and her fiancé is the son of the late Mrs. Ezell of Auburn avenue. Miss Bunker is a student at Mercy School of Nursing, Detroit.

Japan is the major seller of hardwood plywood to the United States, but a quota is enforced to prevent competition with United States manufacturers.

Make Sure That Shoes Fit Protect Baby's Feet

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The baby who is going through a first season wearing shoes needs careful supervision of feet.

Sound feet are very important to those first steps. It takes about 20 years for the foot to be fully formed, we are told, and in each stage of growth the child needs a shoe that helps the foot to grow without too much restraint.

A small child's feet will grow more rapidly than Mom anticipates. She must be alert to the need for checking the child's feet to make sure that the shoes are not too tight.

They may not show any wear and still be too short, too narrow or too small.

that is especially worn may reveal ankle weakness. If the lining is worn, the shoe may be too small.

First shoes should be training shoes with supple leather uppers. These give a small child's toes space to spread. The sturdy leather soles, too, give him a stable base on which to stand, protecting tiny feet.

Avoid putting the toddler in sneakers or sandals, no matter how hot the weather. Let him go barefoot on beach or at home if you like, but avoid shoes that do not protect the feet.

Baby will outgrow that first pair of shoes in four to six weeks. He'll need another pair of shoes about two months later, and about every three months until he is 18.

If a child's toes are to grow straight, be sure that each pair of new shoes gives him growing space at the tip of the shoe equal to the width of your thumb, and discard them before his toes have begun to crowd it.

It's a good idea to wipe baby's shoes clean with a damp cloth and a little soap before applying polish to shoes. For white shoes, choose a good white polish that doesn't rub off.

SHUN RADIATOR

If baby's shoes get rained on, keep them away from the radiator. Stuff them with paper and let them dry away from the heat.

First Philathea Class Has Christmas Party

First Philathea Class of First Baptist Church met with Mrs. H. H. Savage of West Huron street for its annual Christmas party.

Participating in the Tuesday evening program were Mrs. Philip Adams, Mrs. Suard Schultz, Mrs. Harry Haggard, Agnes Sturman and the Rev. H. H. Savage. Mrs. Ida Bryan and her committee were in charge of refreshments.

This sheer wool step-in dress by Tailored Junior is designed to step right into holiday festivities. The details (row of big, flat buttons, cummerbund and shawl-tie collar) make it an important daytime-to-date dress.

nine million children — one out of every four in the nation's schools — need some form of eye care, according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Why Can't Other Women Copy Marlene's Courage?

Most of Us Wear the Latest Fashions Even if They Are Unbecoming

By RUTH MILLETT

"Marlene Dietrich Vetos Parisian Sack Fashions," says a recent newspaper headline. And you know why Marlene, the grandmother with granddaughter's figure, doesn't have or intend to have a single sack dress to her name?

She thinks they're ugly. So do the rest of us women. But most of us, thinking a style is ugly is not sufficient reason for holding out against it if the fashion magazines tell us what we like is out of fashion and what we don't like is the very latest edict of the Paris designers.

Oh, we protest a little. We talk big sometimes about how we aren't going to raise or lower hemlines, or cover ourselves with sacks, or pull hats down to our eyebrows, or wear such pointed shoes that we have to cross our toes to get into them.

But all the while we are protesting, we know good and well that we'll fall in line eventually.

Most of us don't have the courage of Marlene Dietrich, who selects her clothes with only one thought in mind, "Is this flattering to me, or isn't it?"

Instead of regarding ourselves as individuals determined to emphasize our own individuality, we let the fashion designers persuade us to wear whatever they dream up as though we were so many coat hangers or store dummies.

Not only that, we kid ourselves that we are well dressed if we follow fashion slavishly; no matter how foolish we may look in the very latest thing.

Instead of just admiring Miss Dietrich's courage, why don't we have the gumption to act just as independently? If she can say nuts to the sack dress, why can't we?

I've never yet seen a woman in a sack dress who wouldn't have looked better in something else. Have you?

Ovens Clean Easy

Built-in wall ovens not only add beauty to kitchens, but they're also mighty handy to keep clean. One porcelain-lined gas oven has a door that lifts right off so the interior can be swabbed with a well-lathered cloth as soon as it has cooled after each use.

New York state borders on Lake Erie for an airline distance of 64 miles.

The loosely fitting chemise takes precedence in longer lengths. Wad-dress on tall figures. The shorter, pendant-type for small women.

The new simplicity that characterizes silhouette itself, makes it feasible to add some exaggeration of ornament. So jewelry is bigger and more brilliant to enliven the chemise, black crepe dress, and evening wear.

Long Visits Wear Out Sick Person

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been ill for two years now. I am never without pain and just don't know how much longer I can bear it. Sometimes I can hardly move, but I've kept going somehow."

"I do have wonderful friends who call on me often. Sometimes they sit with me for hours and talk. After these visits, I am completely exhausted."

"I know they mean to help me and I do love to see them, but I don't think they realize what a strain I am under. Short of going to a sanatorium, how can I cope with this problem?"

Answer: Unless you have a nurse or some member of your family who can tell your visitors that they must leave because you have to rest, I really don't know what you can do.

The only suggestion I can make is that instead of making a great effort to hide your weakness, you plainly show the fatigue that you really feel and tell them frankly that you are getting very tired.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell me the correct procedure to follow when leaving an elevator. My husband and I were in a hospital elevator the other evening along with several women. We were closest to the door."

"When we reached the main floor I got out first, but instead of my husband following me, he stepped aside to allow all the women to leave first. I told him that I thought this unnecessary, but he insists that it is only common courtesy."

Answer: Since the elevator was crowded and your husband was actually in the way of the women passengers, it would have been better for everyone had he followed you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: How may a girl suggest to a boy visitor, without hurting his feelings, that it is time for him to go home?"

Answer: She could look at the clock and say, "I am terribly sorry but Mother does not like me to have anyone stay after (whatever the time). I hope you will come again soon."

Simply wonderful!

Try Out Perfume

When buying a perfume, dab some on the inside of the wrist or palm of the hand. Test only two or three fragrances at a time. Otherwise, you will be confused as the odors overlap each other. After sampling, select the one that fits you.

Let Perfume Set

Most dressing routines call for a swift dab of perfume or cologne just before whisking out the door. This, however, does little good. Apply a fragrance 15-20 minutes before going outside. This allows it to set. Otherwise, it will disappear rapidly in the fresh air.

MR. and MRS. JAMES MEYERS

Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday will be Mr. and Mrs. James Meyers of East Huron street. To mark the event, a celebration will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Baptist Church. Among the Meyers' children are Mrs. Hazel Slater of East Huron street, Mrs. Claude Goff of Seminole avenue, William Meyers of East Huron street and Harold Meyers of Lapeer.

Barbara Barnard Speaks Vows With Richard Fuller

Before an altar decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. Bridesmaids Betty Wigginton, Patricia Young and Judy Rogers, sister of the bridegroom, also were gowned in dark green taffeta cocktail dresses. They carried bouquets of rust and yellow chrysanthemums. A brother of the bridegroom, Robert Fuller, acted as best man, while Tom Sweetman, Leon Weeks and William Barnard, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Barnard of Forestal avenue, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Charles Fuller of Euclid avenue.

The bride chose a gown of imported Valencia lace and tulle over satin accented by a Sabrina neckline and a chapel train featuring ruffles of tulle. Her bouquet consisted of a white orchid on a prayerbook with streamers of white chrysanthemums.

Maid of honor Edna Runyon, cousin of the bride, wore a gown of dark green taffeta and carried an arrangement of white and yellow chrysanthemums. Before leaving on a trip to Pennsylvania the new Mrs. Fuller changed to a black wool tweed dress with black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bridegroom attends Ferris Institute where he is a member of Phi Delta Chi fraternity. They will make their home on Summit avenue.

Hope They Please Wants

Fashion Designers
Are Not Dictators

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Fashion designers are not dictators who impose their whims on consumers.

Rather they are creators who hope the women of the world will want what they offer. Speaking as the designers' defender is Hector Escobosa, prominent West Coast retailer. He says the designers cannot and have no desire to dictate but "instead everlastingly grope to find clothes that please."

The complicated and vast business of dressing women is a constant process of trial and error, according to Escobosa, as the designers create and the stores present fashions.

Fashion design, which Escobosa feels has earned the right to be called an art, has no revolutions. But through it, he says, runs the thread of evolution.

From Dior and Balenciaga—rated at the top by the San Franciscans—to the lesser designers, all are influenced by what sold the last time. Guided by past acceptance, they create and propose for the new season.

Escobosa says the designer and the retailer are interested in every phase of people's activities "because the main current of life affects clothes."

Fashion, as defined by Escobosa for the students of the Rudolph Schaeffer School of Design, "is a style accepted by a majority of people—a wanted commodity that comes in gradually and is accepted gradually."

As president of a group of West Coast women's stores (L. Magnin Company), Escobosa goes to Europe yearly to study fashion at its inception. "Paris is still the major source of fashion because the Paris climate is conducive to creative work," he explains.

And each year observing the Paris collections, he finds tremendous similarity despite the great secrecy before the showings. "This shows that each designer working independently follows the current cycle in his work," Escobosa says.

The cycle can be delayed or accelerated by world conditions, such as wars, and its speed varies greatly by price levels.

Escobosa describes the current cycle in fashions as "feminine, youthful, gentle and comfortable." Women are more independent today and mature in their demands, he finds.

Conservative Europe, trying to please America, is putting more color in its collections and getting away from the somber blacks and grays.

"Women want lighter colors, all-year colors," he says. Women need wardrobes that are non-seasonal.

The flurry for black each July, he admits, is just a gimmick to make customers realize that summer is nearly over and it is time to get ready for fall and winter.

Taking a look at the fashionable male, Escobosa says now men are more willing to take

When you sort clothes before washing, sort according to color, kind of fabric and kind and amount of soil.

Famous Men Developed
Eyeglasses

The rollout of men in the field of ophthalmology — the science of vision — is filled with the names of well known historical figures, according to researchers.

They include Leonardo Da Vinci, Florentine painter, sculptor, architect and engineer, who, about 1508, recorded a theory of contact lenses; Roger Bacon, 13th century English philosopher, statesman and author, who made history's first mention of the employment of lenses as a means of assisting sight; and Ben Franklin, American philosopher and statesman, who invented (for his own use) bifocal lenses about 1760.

Perhaps the forerunner of all was Alhazen, an Arabian astronomer, who worked out the principles of optics in the 11th century.

Bathe Regularly,
Feel Different

A man or woman who bathes regularly and often feels different, looks different, and acts differently.

He becomes more fastidious about his linen, about his household surroundings, about public eating places, and about possible contamination of food. From personal consciousness about cleanliness grows civic consciousness about sanitation that makes for social progress.

Shampoo Hair
as Final Step in Home Waving

Most women consider a permanent to be indispensable. Barring the lucky few with naturally curly or partly curly hair, women would be ugly ducklings without the glamor a permanent lends.

But there's more to it than that. It gets a girl out of the time-consuming business of pin curling hair every night. It keeps her looking neat through rain, heat, humidity and fog.

There was, until now, a period of time when every woman detested her permanent. That was the week after she got it.

She couldn't shampoo her wave for fear of relaxing it too much. So she went about yearning for the week to go by. Meanwhile, she avoided dates or social engagements of any kind. Someone was bound to come up with a solution and someone has. A well-known maker of home permanents has brought out a home wave that lets you shampoo your hair as the final step of the permanent.

And there's no need to shampoo before you wave, the maker claims.

There are about 17,000 school-age children in the U. S. who are blind, according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

To Gain Weight

Take a load off your feet if you want to gain weight. Besides a recommended diet and healthful snacks during each day, rest as much as possible to add weight. If you are continually active, you are burning up more calories than when inactive. Relax as much as possible and conserve energy.

The Azores consist of nine volcanic islands.

Dryer Buying Tips

When you buy a clothes dryer, remember: The reliability of the manufacturer and dealer are important; check the guarantee and available service; buy the one that best suits your needs; put it in the most convenient place; use it effectively.

The number of farms in the U. S. decreased from 6,800,000 in 1935 to only about 5,300,000 in the 1950 census.

Older Workers

There are fewer working women in the 20 to 24-year-old bracket than formerly, the most typical working woman today being married and about 46 years old.

How Tall Is Average? How Heavy?

Government Experts Have the Answers — and Many More

OKLAHOMA CITY (INS) — Ask the man on the street if he is "average" and chances are he will hesitatingly: "No, who wants to be average?"

But the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture claim there is such a thing — and "average" women, too.

For example — If you stand on the corner watching all the people go by, you'll find the average man is five feet, eight and one-half inches tall. Short? Maybe, but the medium height for women is five feet, four and one-quarter inches.

Some of the "average" women may dash for their scales on these next figures but according to the experts their weight should be 133 pounds. The men have the edge in scale bending and should weigh 156 pounds — if they are average.

Women take first place in one field of averages with their median age slightly over 30 years. The average age of men is 29.9 years.

When it comes to marriage, the men once again take the lead in the numbers bracket. For instance, the usual marrying age for men is 23.8 years and his bride will be 21.4 years old.

A man in his twenties usually marries a woman a year or two younger than himself, but this span increases with the age groups. When the average man gets into the thirties, he usually takes a bride five years his junior.

By his mid-fifties, the average groom's Mrs.-to-be is eight years younger than he.

Statistics also show that one marriage in every six will end

French Fry Rutabaga

Peel and cut 1½ pounds rutabagas into ¼-inch crosswise slices. Cut into ½-inch strips and cook only until crisp-tender. Drain and dip strips in beaten egg and milk and then in fine breadcrumbs. Fry in a skillet with ½-inch hot fat until golden brown and crisp. Makes 5 to 6 servings. Small fry and teen-agers like this: chocolate sauce mixed with peanut butter and served over ice cream.

Broth Subs for Water

Use chicken broth instead of water to cook diced rutabagas until just tender-crisp. Then season to taste with butter or margarine, salt, ground white pepper and a generous sprinkling of crumbled whole rosemary leaves. Add a cup of cooked green peas and half as much sauteed fresh mushrooms and serve up a company dish for all. Small fry like cooked cereal ringed with sliced bananas.

Real Fancy Rutabagas

Combine 2 cups mashed cooked rutabagas with 1 cup fresh apple-sauce and 1 cup mashed sweet potatoes. Beat until fluffy with seasonings to taste. Place in a shallow baking dish, top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven till crumbs are brown. Makes 6 servings. Nice salad for lunch: cooked drained prunes stuffed with pecans and served with creamstyle cottage cheese dressing.

Corn Syrup Sweetens

For a quick party punch, empty a 6-ounce can of frozen orange or lemon juice into a large pitcher. Fill the can with light corn syrup, and add to frozen juice. Add 1 quart of ginger ale and 1 tray of ice cubes. Mix and serve immediately. Makes 8 servings. Wipe up any ice-cream spills fast! The effect of the lactic acid in the ice cream on a furniture finish is that of a mild paint or varnish remover.

Dates Star in Holiday Desserts

Pontiac Press Home Editor
It seems that a number of Pontiac residents go all out for steamed puddings for the holidays. Before Thanksgiving we had several recipes for steamed suet puddings. The one we give you today is a little different.
Mrs. Rick Thompson of Elm street is a cook who loves to experiment. She likes using herbs and spices in different combinations. She is the reader who had the hear to cook during hunting season.

You will need a food grinder to make Mrs. Thompson's Date Pudding; she grinds four of the ingredients.

DATE PUDDING

By Mrs. Rick Thompson

- 1 cup dates, ground
- 1 cup raisins, ground
- 1 cup bread crumbs ground
- 1 cup suet, ground real fine
- 1 egg
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup butter

1/2 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon each cloves, nutmeg, cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup molasses
Mix suet, sugar, molasses and egg until creamy and the color of a lemon. Beat well, add dry ingredients and fruit. Pour into buttered molds and steam two hours.
Serve pudding warm with a lemon sauce, whipped cream or hard sauce.

LEMON SAUCE

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch

1 cup water
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
6 marshmallows, cut fine
Mix sugar, cornstarch and water. Cook in double boiler until transparent. Add butter, lemon juice and rind and marshmallows. Beat with egg beater until smooth.

This last recipe makes a date dessert that is more like a cake. Its surprise ingredient is a quarter of a pound of marshmallows melted. These help keep the dessert moist.

Marshmallow Date Pudding

- 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1/2 pound marshmallows (about 16)
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 egg

Into a bowl, sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add pecans; mix well. Cut marshmallows and dates into fourths with wet scissors or knife. In a saucepan combine marshmallows, dates, and water; cook over low heat until marshmallows are melted, stirring occasionally. Add soda; mix well.

In large bowl, cream butter or margarine. Gradually add sugar and beat until mixture is fluffy. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and pecans. Fold in marshmallow-date mixture; blend well. Pour into greased 8-inch square pan.

Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 1 hour and 10 minutes, or until done. Cool thoroughly. Cut into squares and serve with lemon sauce or sweetened rum-flavored whipped cream.

Julienne Style Meat Appetizing

As an appetizer for the approaching festive season, try this easy suggestion, Meat Appetizer Supreme.

What is it? It's a recipe in which cooked meat, either beef or lamb, steps out of its usual leftover role into a culinary delight.

Leftover beef or lamb is first cut into match-like strips often referred to as julienne-style strips. These meat strips are then marinated in a dressing of sour cream and lemon juice. Sounds good — you bet it is.

Meat Appetizer Supreme

- 1 pound cooked beef or lamb, sliced 1/4 inch thick
- 1/2 cup green onions and tops
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/2 cup dairy cream
- 1/2 cup lettuce cups

Cut beef or lamb into match-like strips. Slice 4 green onions thinly and mix with salt, pepper, lemon juice and sour cream. Pour over meat strips and chill 1 hour. Place chilled mixture in lettuce cups. Slice remaining onions and sprinkle over meat for appetizer. Yield: 8 servings.

Green and White Soup Festive on Red Cloth

If the linen closet in your home contains a red tablecloth for the holiday, use it as a background for a turban full of green and white soup... a delightful combination of potato soup speckled with chopped broccoli.

The recipe? In a saucepan, combine 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup, 3 1/2 cans milk, 1/2 package (10-ounce size) frozen chopped broccoli, dash nutmeg and dash black pepper. Cook over low heat until soup is hot and broccoli is tender. Stir frequently. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Sour Cream Tang to Frozen Fruit Salad

A fruit salad that is an ideal accompaniment for the holiday bird is this Frozen Pineapple-Cranberry Salad, full of flavor and bright with color.

Frozen Pineapple-Cranberry Salad

1 (No. 2) can crushed pineapple, drained (about 1 1/2 cups)
1/2 cup pecans, chopped
1 cup commercial sour cream
Combine all the ingredients and place in one-quart refrigerator ice cube tray and freeze for several hours, or over night if more convenient. Cut in squares or slices and serve on greens. Yield: 8 servings. Note: This salad may also be placed in an 8-inch square cake pan and placed in the food freezer until needed.

Ever serve spaghetti with nothing but butter and grated Parmesan or Romano cheese? It's wonderfully good!

ANTICIPATING CHRISTMAS — Mrs. Rick Thompson of Elm street is busy already with food for the Christmas holidays. She makes a date and raisin pudding early and lets it mellow for a couple of weeks. To serve she heats the pudding and tops it with a lemon sauce, whipped cream or hard sauce.

Christmas Festivities Will Demand Cookies

Pontiac Press Home Editor

That time's here again! It's the season of the year when we can go happily crazy over cookies. Every year we vow we won't make so many. But we keep finding new recipes and that ruins all our good resolutions. Besides, we have one of those new cookie guns that shoots out cookies in various shapes.
Anything red looks good at Christmas. That's why this recipe for quick cherry cookies will be appropriate. You could use a mixture of red and green candied cherries.

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup new-type shortening
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup chopped candied or maraschino cherries

Sift together flour, soda and salt into mixing bowl. Add sugar, shortening and egg. Mix vanilla extract with milk and add to flour mixture. Stir to combine ingredients, then beat 2 minutes (300 strokes). Stir in nuts, cherries and coconut.

Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen 2-inch cookies.

You can bake cookies ahead of time. With a freezer you have no problem. Just freeze them as soon as they're made and cooled. With-out a freezer you can bake all but rich butter cookies right now.

Soft cookies and those rich in fruit may be stored to mellow in an airtight covered earthen jar or can with tight cover. You'll just have to find time to make the buttery ones later.

If you like the flavor of anise, you'll love the following cookies. They keep well, especially if you put an apple half in the jar with them. Be sure to let them stand 10 hours before baking.

Danish Anise Cookies

- 3 eggs
- 1 cup sugar, sifted
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon ground anise seeds

Beat eggs until light. Add sugar gradually. Beat until creamy. Add lemon juice. Sift together flour, baking powder and crushed anise seeds. Add to first mixture. Beat batter very well.

Drop from spoon or from cookie press, on greased tin. Allow batter to dry 10 hours. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: Approximately 30 2 1/2" cookies.

This bar-type cookie with a crunchy top has whole wheat cereal flakes in the mixture. You may substitute and cereal you have on hand for the whole wheat flakes. Do have fun baking cookies.

Mazatlan Bars

- 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine

- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 cup flour
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup shredded coconut
- 1 cup whole wheat flakes
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly. Add flour and mix well with fork. Press mixture evenly and firmly into bottom of a 13x9-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes or until delicately browned.

Beat eggs well; add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Spread over previously baked crust. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes. Cut into bars while still warm. Yield: 30 bars, approximately 2x1 1/2 inches.

Use Buttermilk to Sour Cream

"Sour cream can add new zest to your cooking," says Mary Kay Coleman, foods instructor at Michigan State University. Use it in sauces, soups, meat dishes, salads, bread, cakes, cookies, pies — in most anything that's good to eat!

Your dairy probably prepares sour cream commercially, but you can make it yourself at home and save about ten cents. All you need is sweet cream and some buttermilk.

If you use whipping cream, your sour cream will have more body. However, you can make a perfectly satisfactory sour cream with coffee cream.

To make a pint of sour cream, mix a pint of sweet cream well and pour half of it into a clean container. Shake the buttermilk and add five teaspoons of it to the sweet cream in the bottle. The reason you add buttermilk is that there are milk-souring bacteria in it that you want to get into the sweet cream. Not only will they help the cream sour faster, but they will prevent undesirable bacteria from growing.

Now pour back enough cream to fill the bottle to within three stopper the bottle and shake well. Stopper the bottle and shake well. Set the bottle of cream in a warm place for 24 hours. At the end of the 24 hours, you may use the cream, but the body will be better if you store it in the refrigerator for another day.

Leftover baking powder biscuits may be split and spread with a mixture of ground ham and cheese and toasted under the broiler. Top with a slice of sweet pickle.

Chicken Divan Calls for Broccoli

Holiday feasting usually leaves the chicken or turkey looking quite sad and bare... after a family guest dinner. Yet you're often hungry for more of the good dishes made from these birds. Let canned boned chicken or turkey team up with broccoli for a mouth-watering meal.

Here's the recipe: Cook 1 package (10 ounces) frozen broccoli, according to package directions. Break into pieces and place in a lightly greased 1-quart casserole. Cover with contents of 1 can (5 ounces) boned chicken or turkey.

Blend 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup with 1 teaspoon lemon juice; pour over chicken. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons buttered bread crumbs on top. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

ACTUALLY, Your Baking DEPENDS ON THIS...

It's the BALANCE of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, fluffy texture in the oven... That's the story of Clabber Girl's balanced double action... Better Baking everytime!

No Cook Candy Good as Gift

Candy without cooking is the latest short-cut for busy homemakers — particularly welcome in the bustling holiday season. Mary Lee Taylor has created new kitchen-tested recipes for a colorful variety of delicious sweets made with instant nonfat dry milk. No more candy thermometers, messy boiling or tricky testing in ice water—these modern easy-to-make candies are ideal for holiday giving. A gift of home-made candies carries that personal touch everyone appreciates and remembers.

Coconut Checkerboards

Ingredients:
 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk
 2 cups sifted powdered sugar
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 3 tablespoons water
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1 cup flaked or finely cut, shredded coconut
 6 oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Mix dry milk and sugar. Melt butter in a 2-qt. saucepan over low heat. Take from heat. Add water and vanilla. Add sugar mixture about 1/2 cup at a time mixing until smooth each time. Mix in coconut.

With wet hands press mixture into a buttered 8-inch pan. Let stand. Put chocolate into a 1-qt. bowl. Stir until chocolate melts about 3 minutes. Spread over coconut mixture. Chill for 30 minutes. Cut into squares. Makes about 3 dozen.

Chocolate Mint Clusters

Ingredients:
 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk
 1/2 cup broken nuts (see note)
 1/2 cup finely crushed, hard peppermint candy

Put chocolate in a 1-quart bowl. Set bowl in pan of hot (not boiling) water over low heat. Stir until chocolate melts about 3 minutes. Take bowl from water. Stir in dry milk and nuts. Drop mixture a teaspoonful at a time into crushed candy turning to coat all sides. Put on waxed paper. Chill until firm. Makes about 20.

Orange-Nut Slices

Ingredients:
 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk
 1/2 cup sifted powdered sugar
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 3 tablespoons orange juice
 1 teaspoon grated orange rind (see note)
 1/2 cup finely cut nuts

Mix dry milk and sugar. Melt butter in a 1 1/2-qt. saucepan over low heat. Take from heat and stir in orange juice and orange rind. Add sugar mixture about 1/2 cup at a time mixing until smooth each time. Shape into two rolls about 1 1/2 inches across. Roll in nuts and place on waxed paper. Chill. When firm cut into 1/2-inch slices. Makes about 20 slices.

To make Orange-Nut Bonbons reduce orange juice to 2 tablespoons and shape the mixture into 1-inch balls then roll in the nuts. Makes about 2 dozen.

Cranberry Confections Good as Decorations

Have you ever frosted, glazed or candied a cranberry? What a treat for those who like to make and serve the unusual. Cranberry Confections are easy to make, too, and as festive as the bright red berries themselves.

Frosted Cranberries

Ingredients:
 1 egg white, unbeaten
 1 cup confectioners' sugar
 2 cups fresh cranberries

Combine egg whites and confectioners' sugar. Beat until smooth. Dip cranberries in mixture so they are completely coated. Place cranberries on ungreased cookie sheet. Heat in very slow oven 250 degrees F. for 5 to 8 minutes until frosting is dry.

Glazed Cranberries

Oven method: Wash cranberries. Spread in single layer in well-greased baking dish. Cover cranberries with a layer of sugar. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 1 hour. Lift each berry from pan to waxed paper lined rack. Place in refrigerator to chill. Use in fruit cups or as garnish for cakes. Wonderful for snack time, too.

Candied Cranberries

Ingredients:
 1 cup fresh cranberries
 1 cup sugar
 4 cups granulated sugar
 1 cup water
 4 cups fresh cranberries

Mix water and sugar in large heavy skillet. Heat the mixture until sugar is dissolved. Stir in cranberries. Slowly bring to boil and remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm right in skillet. While cranberries are cooling, gently coat them with syrup in skillet. Repeat this boiling, cooling process three times. Drain cranberries and spread separately on waxed paper. Keep in refrigerator.

Uses: As confection, in fruit punches, ice cream topping, in fruit cups, to decorate white frosted cakes making outline of design with berries.

Frozen Artichokes Cooked in Broth

Frozen artichoke hearts are utterly delicious when prepared this way: Heat 4 tablespoons olive oil in a heavy pot or casserole which can be used on top of stove.

Add 1 onion, sliced, and 1 carrot, diced fine. Over these place 1 package frozen artichoke hearts. Dribble another tablespoon of olive oil over chokes, sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Cover, cook over medium heat until onions begin to turn golden. Stir to break up frozen chokes. Add 1 cup chicken broth, 1 teaspoon rosemary. Cover, cook until artichokes are tender, about 4 minutes more. Serve hot, add 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice to sauce.

CHRISTMAS TREE CAKE — This picture shows a simple, but effective method of serving cake for a holiday party. Bake your favorite cake in two 8x8 square pans. Remove from pans when cool. Cut each cake in quarters and cut each quarter diagonally to get 8 triangular pieces from each layer. Frost each triangle with green icing. Decorate with silver dragees. Arrange 12 pieces on a tray in the shape of a Christmas tree. Use remaining 12 pieces to form another tree on a different tray, or use the pieces to replace the original tree.

Children Love This Job

Your youngsters will get a big thrill if, on a bad-weather day when they are indoors, you make a batch of caramels. Let them cut waxed paper in strips and use it for wrapping the caramels, twisting the ends. Each piece of candy should be wrapped separately to keep it from getting sticky.

Oil Gives Steaks Crusty Brown Look

If you wonder how chefs get that brown crusty look on their steaks, it's with oil.

According to the American Hotel Association, steak experts either dip the steak in seasoned oil or brush it with oil before popping into the broiler.

Your Job to Preserve Game Hunter Bags

The hunter home from the hills, frozen, game and fish are a fine has long been revered in poetry, source of good eating now and long but actually a sportsman's "bag" after the hunting season is over, or "catch" can create a problem. Last year, over 14 million Americans bought hunting licenses and to preserve his prizes. With a hope brought home a variety of game, freezer, they can keep them from How much made good eating and going to waste or ending up in how much was wasted is unknown, giveaways. Properly handled and Game is delicious when correctly stored and cooked. It's only too gamey if mishandled or hung too long. Here are some tips on how to make the most of a hunter's triumphs.

First, check on your state law to find out how long game can be held in storage. Then consider these pointers: Game should be promptly cleaned, dressed, and cooled. Big, and some small game, and some game birds should be hung in a dry, cool place, well protected from flies. To freeze, they should be wrapped in moist-ure-vaporproof freezer wrappings in amounts to be used for one meal. Be sure to label each package well.

It's a good idea to soak the game birds and small game in a mild salt water solution for a few hours. This is a good "first step" in order to make sure that the meat will be tender and tasty after it has been cooked.

When cooking, remember that wild meats, being leaner than domestic, need to be larded or blanketed with fat—lard or salt pork or bacon. Like all meats, the tender steaks and chops may be broiled or roasted; the less tender braised or marinated in wine for 2 or 3 days and used in stews and casserole dishes.

Game birds should be promptly dressed after being brought down. If a thorough cleaning isn't possible at the field, at least remove craw and intestines to prevent flesh from taking on too strong a flavor. Then scald, pick, draw, and wash. Freeze as for poultry. Roast most value. Then package and or braise in a tart wine, in a sour cream sauce, or cook with sauerkraut. Small game should be cleaned and cooled as soon as killed or brought in. Skin, behead, eviscerate and carefully wash. Cut in pieces for cooking. Package and freeze. Use for casserole dishes, stew in stock, wine or vinegar. Venison and other large game should be cut into steaks, chops, roasts, stew meat, and ground meat. You may prefer to let your butcher do this for you to get the best value. Then package and freeze in the same way as beef.

Hide Pineapple Bits in Yam Puffs

Although "made to order" as a baked ham accompaniment, you'll find these potato puffs excellent with various other meats as well.

Yam Surprise Puffs
2 1/4 cups corn flakes
2 cups warm, mashed yams
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
6 canned pineapple chunks
Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Combine yams, seasonings and butter; mix well. Shape yams into balls around pineapple chunks; roll in crumbs. Place on well-greased baking sheet or in shallow pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes. Serve at once. Yield: 6 servings.

Handy with a decorating tube? You can use it to force hot mashed sweet potatoes over the top of creamed chicken and have a pie! Bake in a hot oven.

PEAR 'N CHEESE PIE—For a happy ending to your holiday dinner, bring forth this superb Pear 'n Cheese Pie. With this gala treat you may well establish a new tradition at your house. For here's a dessert that's rich-tasting and luscious to eat, yet light and easy on the calories.

Holiday Menu Features Light Fruit-Cheese Pie

This unusual Pear 'n Cheese Pie will remind you of a rich cheese-cake in flavor, although it's much lighter in texture. Skim milk cottage cheese and gelatin help to keep it light, and the non-calorie sweetener, sucaryl, gives it its lovely sweet flavor. Just by using this sweetener rather than sugar, 72 calories have been whittled from each delicious serving.

Pastry has been purposely omitted. You just don't miss it. A light scattering of toasted shredded coconut makes an agreeable topping, if you so wish.

Since your kitchen is sure to be a hubbub of activity on holiday morning, plan to make this pie the day ahead. You can keep it in the refrigerator until serving time. Here's the good and easy recipe:

PEAR 'N CHEESE PIE (Low-Calorie)

- 1 envelope gelatin
- 1 cup cold water
- 3 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 4 teaspoons sucaryl solution or 25 sucaryl tablets
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 pound cottage cheese (skim milk)
- 1 cup diced fresh pears

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler. Stir in lemon juice, lemon rind, sucaryl and salt. Cook over boiling water until thick; add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat and add cottage cheese and pears. Refrigerate until thick and sirupy.

Brown Onion and Ham in Oil to Top Spinach

Here's the way to give spinach brand-new flavor. First add 2 tablespoons olive oil to a pan, then saute in the oil 1 tablespoon finely-chopped onion and 1 tablespoon finely-chopped ham. Add this to hot spinach which has been cooked, drained and chopped, along with 1 tablespoon vinegar and 6 to 8 almonds or brazil nuts, chopped fine. This makes dressing enough for 1 pound of fresh spinach or 1 box of frozen spinach.

Sanitize for PROTECTION

During the "cold" season, it's important to disinfect children's hankies, towels, undergarments. Use Roman Bleach, triple-action bleach which makes clothes sanitary as it whitens them. You get extra health-protecting benefits when you use Roman Bleach.

ROMAN BLEACH IS A DISINFECTANT

Pork and Poultry Get Top Priority This Week

How do you decide the foods you will buy for the family? Will you choose the same foods week to week, simply because you have developed eating habits of having certain dishes on certain days. The wise food shopper will study seasonal trends and food supplies says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. Supplies and customer demand for different foods create price changes. If the amount you spend is important to you, study the market situation before making a shopping list.

This is the time to give pork and poultry priority on the meat list. Larger citrus supplies make the daily selection of Vitamin C easy and economical. Fresh, canned and frozen vegetables provide many choices at a price range to fit any food budget.

MEATS—Fryer supplies are expected to be about ten per cent larger than last December. Since there is less demand for fryers in winter, you can expect to find prices low this month.

Fryers may vary as much as 15 cents a pound from store to store. This is due to differences in size, finish and whether the birds are whole or cut up. The meatier roasting or steaming chickens may be your choice for the same price per pound as some fryers.

More than half the nation's pigs are born in the spring. After a six month period, these have grown to pork chop size and are ready for the fall-winter market. This larger supply of pork, (reaching a peak in early December), brings a price that is naturally pleasure-to-the-purse.

Pork loin cuts, bacon and sausage are in the limelight this week. The loin is divided into three pieces—the rib-end roast or chops, center cut chops or roast, and the loin-end roast or chops.

Pork at home should be loosely wrapped in wax paper and stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator. The best rule is to use it within three or four days. According to the American Meat Institute fresh pork stored in the freezer should be used within 3 to 4 months.

You will find some stores selling hindquarter beef cuts at about ten cents a pound less than last week. Round steak for cooking with moist heat and broiling steaks are cuts to check.

If you are trying to cut meat costs, let variety meats come to your rescue. Most range from 5 to 10 cents a serving and yield 4 to 5 servings per pound. Special emphasis is being given liver, the most popular variety meat.

PRODUCE—Because supplies are getting larger, you will notice a price change in citrus. Both Florida and Texas have more oranges than last year. In December, Florida markets mostly Hamlin and Parson Brown varieties. The first car of Temple oranges has arrived.

December is the peak month for tangerines with more than a third of the annual total coming to market. Supplies are slightly smaller than a year ago.

Grapefruit are sweeter than last month. Let your hand and eyes select grapefruit that is firm and heavy for its size; that has a smooth thin skin. The russeting on the outside will not affect the flavor inside. A half grapefruit will furnish the Vitamin C needed for the day.

Many canned and frozen fruits and vegetables are offered as specials this week. If your supply of peas, corn, applesauce, peaches, fruit cocktail, apricots or beans needs replenishing you may want to check these when shopping.

Fresh sweet corn is selling at summer-like prices. Quality varies from fair to excellent. Cucumber quality is excellent. The lettuce supply is heavy; heads are generally large and of good to excellent quality.

Liquid Smoke Seasons Oven Barbecued Bird

For oven barbecued smoke turkey — no need stuff the bird; just brush the cavity and outside well with liquid smoke seasoning; let stand overnight; and just before you put turkey in oven, brush again with liquid smoke.

As the bird cooks, baste frequently with drippings. If stronger smoke flavor is desired, add 2 tablespoons to drippings. Buy liquid smoke seasoning from your food store.

Broil Sugared Pineapple

Broil some drained canned pineapple slices to serve with broiled lamb chops. The pineapple should be sprinkled with sugar and drizzled with melted butter or margarine before going under the broiler shortly before the chops are done.

Cheese Crackers Can Be Made at Home

Crisp and tasty Wheat-Cheese Crackers informally served with chilled pineapple juice will give that right note of "something new" for your first fall luncheon. They not only have a "Til-have-more" flavor but, since each cracker has only six calories, Wheat-Cheese Crackers will be welcomed by your weight-watcher guests.

Wheat-Cheese Crackers are very thin crackers made of Parmesan cheese and instant whole wheat cereal, the kind with extra wheat germ added. They're easy to make and will keep in a covered tin for two or three weeks. The recipe makes 140 small nutritious crackers, so you'll have plenty left for evening snacks or when company drops in unexpectedly.

Use cookie sheets without any sides or, if your kitchen doesn't boast of such equipment, turn the pan upside down. The dough will be much easier to handle if you cover it with a large piece of wax paper and smooth it out with your fingers or a spatula. Be sure to make the dough as thin as possible; that's the trick.

Wheat-Cheese Crackers

1/2 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 cup instant whole wheat cereal
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup boiling water
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Preheat oven to 325 degrees (slow). Combine flour, salt and cereal. Melt butter in boiling water. Combine with cereal mixture. Add cheese. Mix thoroughly. Place on two greased rimless cookie sheets. Cover with wax paper and spread very thin. Remove paper. Mark pan upside down. The dough will be much easier to handle if you cover it with a large piece of wax paper and smooth it out with your

Baste Chicken First With Smoky Sauce

Cut up chicken country style—dash or brush freely each piece with Liquid Smoke, salt and pepper, roll in flour—and fry in deep fat until well done and to a golden brown.

Barbecue Basting Sauce

Juice and peel of 2 lemons
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup wine vinegar
1/2 cup Liquid Smoke
1 tablespoon of brown sugar or molasses
3 bay leaves
Bring to boil.

Canned Oyster Stew Perks Up Dressing

Easy to prepare . . . and simply favorite stuffing recipe, follow the elegant to eat. This traditional oyster stuffing for your holiday birds is as easy as opening a can of oyster stew . . . and substituting oyster stew in place of the water or milk called for in the recipe.

With all of the flavor of the fresh oyster carefully retained in this succulent stew, you can transform a plain dressing recipe into a gourmet's delight. You may use your favorite stuffing recipe, follow the packaged mix directions, or try the new recipe below. The secret is in adding a can of non-frozen oyster stew in place of the milk or water called for.

You can make your holiday bird extra festive . . . by serving this old-fashioned favorite.

Festive Oyster Stuffing

1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup butter
2 quarts (8 cups) dry bread crumbs

1 can (10 1/2 oz.) oyster stew
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
1 bay leaf
2 eggs, slightly beaten
Salt and pepper

Cook celery and onion in butter until soft, but not brown. Combine all ingredients. Recipe may be doubled for a larger bird. Stuffs 8-10 pound bird.

Stuff Apples for Pork

Stuff the core cavities of small apples with a mixture of chopped onion and celery, soft bread crumbs, melted butter, salt, pepper, a little sugar and a dash of poultry dressing. Bake and serve with roast pork.

Almond Dressing New

For a new flavor in salad dressing, crush half a dozen toasted blanched almonds in a mortar until smooth and paste-like (or grind very fine in food grinder or electric blender, then mash with back of spoon), and blend with 3 tablespoons olive oil, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon wine vinegar. Mix thoroughly, toss with salad greens.

Preparing a dessert with unflavored gelatin? Remember that the gelatin (after it has softened in liquid) must be completely dissolved (in hot liquid or over hot water).

Observe Ancient Yule Customs in Modern Germany

By HANNS NEUBOURG

MUNICH, Germany (U) — Centuries-old Christmas customs dating from heathen times are still being observed in atomic age Germany.

In lonely mountain villages tucked away in the towering Alps, Christmas is possibly more colorful than anywhere else in the world. Because of their isolation, these Yuletide celebrations have been less affected by commercialization and two world wars than those in the rest of Germany.

INFLUENCE WIDE

To German-speaking people, Christmas has a deep-rooted sentimental importance. The customs developed here from an ancient mixture of heathen and Christian cultures — many of them still widely observed in an almost pure form — are the source of many traditions now thriving in the United States.

Folklore experts say that Santa Claus — as we know him today — probably first presented his gifts to German children. The Christmas tree also originated in Germany or its German-speaking neighbor areas.

But some customs are unique to the snow-clad villages of Germany's Bavaria. In the Berchtesgaden area, the villagers shoot off medieval firearms during the Christmas season. The purpose is — like that of many other German Yule customs — to chase away demons.

Another custom originating in the pre-Christian era and still observed in Bavaria is the "Kloppfechte" (Knock Nights). These start on Nov. 30 with children and needy adults parading through the village streets after nightfall, singing Christmas carols and getting food from those they visit. They knock at doors with hammers and brushes and ring bells to drive away evil spirits.

COVERED WITH STRAW

Berchtesgaden villagers also run around during the pre-Christmas period clad in straw and ringing big cowbells. They accompany "Sankt Nikolaus" (Santa Claus) and the "Gangerl" (a devil-like creature) from door to door.

The Santa Claus figure had its origin in a Bishop Nicolaus of Myra, who lived in the fourth century in what is now Turkey and gained sainthood as a benefactor of the poor.

Veneration for this saint spread to all of western Europe in the Middle Ages. In Germany, "Sankt Nikolaus" was known as a giver of gifts at the turn of the 14th century.

His figure apparently fitted into pre-Christian worship of Wodan, a Germanic god.

In some rural areas of Germany, children still believe that Santa Claus comes riding through the air on a white horse, dropping his gifts into the chimney. According to them, they place a shoe into the fireplace to receive the gifts. In most areas, however, stockings, plates or shoes are put before the door or on the window sill for gifts. Sankt Nikolaus visits German children twice during the Christmas season — on Dec. 6 and Dec. 24. But he has a different name for his second visit. Then he's Weihnachtsmann" or Christmas Man.

On Dec. 6, he usually brings only apples, nuts or a small toy in his bag for the "nice children."

To the bad ones he points warningly to his traditional rod.

On Heiligabend (Christmas Eve) and again on Christmas Day Germans swarm into their churches by the millions. This nation is divided almost half and half among Catholics and Protestants.

Most German families light their trees before or after going to church for Christmas Eve services. The holiday extends to December 26.

Mom's Milk Allergy May Cause Asthma

DETROIT (INS) — Some children may have asthma because their mothers drank too much milk during pregnancy.

Dr. Meryl M. Fenton pointed out that some people are sensitive or allergic to milk at a recent panel discussion sponsored by Detroit's Wayne State University. He said: "Some women, who haven't drunk much milk, may drink two quarts a day during pregnancy. The doctor urges them to drink a quart a day so they reason that if one quart is good, two quarts must be better."

Dr. Fenton said if a tendency toward allergy to milk exists in the mother, it sometimes is passed on to the child, who may develop a greater allergy and asthma as a result.

U.S. National Guard units took part in eleven campaigns and 34 assault landings in World War II.

PAGAN AND CHRISTIAN — This mixture is apparent in this procession descending on a Bavarian village where ancient Christmas customs remain intact. St. Nicholas and a child helper are followed by the devil-like "Gangerl" and straw-clad villagers made up as cattle.

Discusses New Uses for Old Drug

Doctor Reports on Pep-Up Pill

NEW YORK (INS) — An award-winning scientist reports that research supports new claims for an old pep-up pill—iproniazid.

But Dr. Nathan S. Kline, assistant professor of psychiatry at Columbia University, warned about occasional side-effects. He said people should let their doctors decide whether or not the pills should be prescribed.

Dr. Kline delivered the warning in an interview during a two-day conference on new uses of the drug—sometimes touted as a "super-man" pill.

Iproniazid made news five years ago when it peppeped-up bed-ridden tuberculosis patients to a point where they danced in the aisles of hospital wards. But eventually it was all but discarded. It peppeped patients up too much.

However, Dr. Kline reported newly-established uses for the drug.

Among other things, it helps people down in the dumps to a happy frame of mind.

The drug acts like some additive that makes gas in a car burn at a slower rate, giving more miles to the gallon.

It helps depressed people get more mileage out of the body's energizer—adrenalin. Used in a mental hospital, the drug peppeped some patients up to a point where they could go home.

In old folks homes, it helped spread cheer by pulling men and women out of the doldrums.

Other guarded claims by scientists who have been working with the drug: It lowers blood pressure, helps mend bones marred by osteomyelitis, aids in treatment of certain skin conditions and rheumatic diseases, makes patients with angina pectoris more comfortable and improves outlook on life, state of mind, for patients with far-advanced cancer.

Dr. Kline, who won a Lasker award this year for his work with tranquilizers—peace of mind pills, is director of research at Rockland State Hospital in Orangeburg, N. Y.

He explained that the pills under discussion do just the reverse of what tranquilizers do. The latter calm people down. Iproniazid winds people up—when their motors aren't turning over fast enough to ward off depression.

Miracle Mile Only

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

With all the Soviet Sputniks and Muttiks the people of Russia apparently are determined to become a race of Muscliciks.

In a fine documentary article with 16 pages of color pictures, a national publication points out that physical culture has become almost obligatory.

The story relates that even in factories there are planned and supervised exercises. Every public park in Russia today has more statues of men and women athletes than of the Bolshevik generals.

It may be hard for many Americans to swallow, but the article claims that athletics and the physical fitness boom in Russia is unparalleled anywhere in the world today.

DITOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Jim Ninowski, who hung up his football cleats at Michigan State couple weeks ago, will have to divide his loyalties when the Browns and Lions meet Sunday at Briggs Stadium. At a sports gathering a couple years ago we heard Ninowski mention how he would like to play for the Lions. He was Cleveland's 4th choice this week.

The entire Press Corps of the South must have gone to the polls to get Auburn the number one AP ranking in the country this week. While the Midwest was hailing Ohio State and Michigan State, there was more drum pounding than voting and as a result Auburn jumped from 85 first place votes to 210 in one week.

The reserve game between Pontiac and Catholic Central on the Shamrock court Friday night will get started at 6:30 instead of 6:45 p.m. The intended purpose is the hope of getting the varsity game started at 8:00 p.m. sharp to allow those interested to take the short jaunt over to U. of D. to see part of the MSU-Titan basketball game.

The Jim Thorpe trophy is to pro football what the Heisman Award is to college football, and the Baltimore Colts are boosting former Pittsburgh sandler Johnny Unitas for the honor.

The annual Red Feather game which opens the football season for Central Michigan every year in Saginaw may be against Hillsdale next season.

Chisox Trade Again, Get Early Wynn, Smith

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — General Manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians shopped around today at the baseball convention for a second baseman—preferably Bobby Richardson of the Yankees.

Lane said he was still looking for trades after swapping with the Chicago White Sox yesterday in a deal that sent outfielder Minnie Minoso and infielder Fred Hatfield to Cleveland in exchange for pitcher Early Wynn and outfielder Al Smith.

Lane also has approached Washington on a deal that awaits a decision from manager Cooke Lavagetto, who was called away by the injury of his son in an Oakland, Calif., auto accident.

This proposal would send shortstop Larry Rainer, pitcher Hank Aguirre and first baseman Joe Altobelli to Washington for infielder Pete Rameau and lefthanded pitcher Bob Wiesler.

Bobby Bragan, Cleveland's new manager, expressed pleasure at the trade. "In Minoso, we landed about the liveliest player in the American League," Bragan said.

"Players of this sort are definitely going to help the Indians climb out of the rut into which they tumbled last year."

Aragon Cleared of Fix Charges

LOS ANGELES — "Let's not kid ourselves," said boxer Art Aragon, a fellow who used to kid just about everybody.

"I'm 30 now. That's getting a little old to be starting over again in boxing, which is what it amounts to for me after a year of inactivity."

The usually wisecracking Golden Boy was strangely serious yesterday, but obviously in high spirits.

And understandably so. He had just been cleared of fight fixing charges which, for almost a year, threatened to reduce his lucrative ring career to a round of intramural matches at San Quentin prison.

Aragon was the nation's third ranking welterweight and one of the biggest drawing cards in Los Angeles ring history when an unranked club fighter named Dick Goldstein charged Aragon offered him $500 to take a dive in a fight at San Antonio.

That was the second deal in 24 hours involving the White Sox here. Earlier the Sox sent outfielder Larry Doby and pitcher Jack Harshman and another player to be named later to Baltimore in exchange for infielder Billy Goodman, outfielder Tito Franco and Pitcher Ray Moore.

The deals fit in with White Sox manager Al Lopez' plans to present a brand new outfield. He expects to start Smith in left, Jim Landis, a sophomore, in center and Franco, another sophomore, in right.

May Defend Again in February

Brown TKOs Lopes in 11th

CHICAGO — Lightweight champion Joe Brown, fresh from blasting aside game, but over-matched Joey Lopes, today was poised for a probable February title against Ralph Dupas at Houston, Tex.

GOING DOWN — Joey Lopes goes to the canvas for the second time before losing a TKO to lightweight champion Joe Brown in the 11th round of their title bout in Chicago last night.

Pitt Cagers Win, 72-62

PITTSBURGH — Don Hennon, victory in the season's opener for Pittsburgh's agile scoring ace, resembles a stump in a forest of onks when he stands on a basketball court with his fellow players.

But the resemblance stops when he goes into motion; as Michigan found out last night when the early All-America prospect used his five feet, eight inches of speed and skill to spark Pitt to a 72-62 victory.

READY TO GO — Dave Payne, 127-pound All-Saginaw Valley selection last year, will lead Pontiac into the opening match of its 2nd season in wrestling tomorrow afternoon at Cranbrook.

round technical knockout of Lopes in a nationally televised championship bout that was more uneven than may have met the eye as far as it went.

On points, Lopes was still very much in the Chicago Stadium fight until the champion lowered the boom in 1:50 of the 11th round, but actually Brown was toying with the 4-1 underdog virtually from the start.

Brown fought a retreating fight in the early rounds, but scarcely used a right hand punch. In the seventh, the champion exploded a right to the chin which floored Lopes for a count of four.

The fight really was over right then. Lopes fought back gamely, but in the 10th round, the scrapper from Sacramento, Calif., wandered in a daze to Brown's corner and sat on the champion's stool.

In the 11th, Brown came out for the kill. A square right shot to the jaw dumped Lopes, who took a three count. Lopes righted himself, only to run into another explosive right to the chin which dropped him again. Lopes struggled to his feet once more. Brown savagely belted him and referee Joey White flew between the two to signal a TKO and save Lopes from possible serious injury.

Each fighter weighed 133½ for the scheduled 15-rounder, but that was the only thing really even about the match, despite the fact referee White called it all-square, 45-45 after 10 rounds.

Judge James McManus had Brown ahead 46-44 and judge John Bray also saw it for Brown, 47-44. The AP card had Brown in front, 45-44. But Brown actually held the outcome in his right fist all the way. It was just a matter of when the champion decided to put out the lights for the busy, pursuing Lopes.

Lopes was bleeding from cuts around both eyes and around the mouth. He shot his Sunday punches at Brown time and again, but they didn't hurt the champion.

Brown's manager, Lou Visconti, said the champion was considering an offer for a Houston match against Dupas, Kenny Lane or Italy's Duilio Loi.

First of seven home-pool swimming meets for Coach Bob (Des) Boyce's Pontiac High natators takes place Friday at 7:30 p.m. against Xpsilanti Central, an unknown quantity. Ypsi's new coach, former University of Iowa swimmer Robert Higgins, is making his coaching debut in this dual test.

Friday's meet is one of only three night events for Chiats this winter in a 12-meet schedule, that includes tests against five Saginaw Valley foes. SVC competition begins at Arthur Hill, Dec. 12, 2nd of the night meets, last of which is a Feb. 4 date at Saginaw High. All other meets are set for 4 p.m.

Michigan dropped deeper into the Western Division cellar last night as the sizzling Boston Celtics rallied in the final period to hand the Lakers a 108-98 setback.

The Lakers have lost 10 of their last 11 games and have won but three of 20 starts overall. The Celtics, running away with the Eastern Division race, own a 17-2 won-lost mark.

Boston outscored Minneapolis 37-17 in the fourth quarter after trailing by 10 points entering the period. The Lakers were behind 53-49 at halftime before Larry Ford sparked them to a 32-point third stanza while the Celtics were held to 18.

Lopes was bleeding from cuts around both eyes and around the mouth. He shot his Sunday punches at Brown time and again, but they didn't hurt the champion.

Brown's manager, Lou Visconti, said the champion was considering an offer for a Houston match against Dupas, Kenny Lane or Italy's Duilio Loi.

First of seven home-pool swimming meets for Coach Bob (Des) Boyce's Pontiac High natators takes place Friday at 7:30 p.m. against Xpsilanti Central, an unknown quantity. Ypsi's new coach, former University of Iowa swimmer Robert Higgins, is making his coaching debut in this dual test.

Friday's meet is one of only three night events for Chiats this winter in a 12-meet schedule, that includes tests against five Saginaw Valley foes. SVC competition begins at Arthur Hill, Dec. 12, 2nd of the night meets, last of which is a Feb. 4 date at Saginaw High. All other meets are set for 4 p.m.

Chiats' schedule:
Dec. 12 at Arthur Hill; 20, Pontiac Central; Jan. 10, at Bay City; 14, Southfield (4 p.m.); 17, Flint Northern; 21, Eastman; Feb. 4, at Saginaw; 14, at Flint Central; 21, Bay City; 28, at Flint Northern; Mar. 7, Valley championships at Flint Northern; Mar. 14, state meet.

Michigan dropped deeper into the Western Division cellar last night as the sizzling Boston Celtics rallied in the final period to hand the Lakers a 108-98 setback.

Sizzling Celtics Rally in Finale for 108 to 98 NBA Victory

It looks like a long, cold winter for the fast-fading Minneapolis Lakers.

Once the titans of the National Basketball Assn., when George Mikan was an active player, the lowly Lakers have fallen upon evil times.

Spartan Center Touted Best Midwest Lineman

NEW YORK (AP)—A halfback whose first field goal attempt made history, a "comeback" tackle and a senior giant making his varsity debut at center today were named to the 1957 Associated Press All-America football team.

North Carolina State's Dick Christy is the electrifying runner whose 45-yard boot climaxed a record 29-point finish to his brilliant year and clinched the Wolfpack's first Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

Quarterback King Hill of Rice, bonus pick of the National Football League, Texas A & M's massive John Crow and elusive Jimmy Pace of Michigan completed the backfield.

Rated by coach Forest Evashevski as a dismal flop when he was first a sophomore, Iowa tackle Alex Karras has become one of the finest linemen in recent years. The 233-pounder from Gary, Ind., is the lone repeater from the 1956 eleven.

Dan Currie of Michigan State was asked to plug a gap at center this season after two years in the guard slot. The 6-3, 255-pound Detroit lad did it so efficiently he was ranked the No. 1 player in the talent-laden area by the midwest board.

The remainder of the line includes Jimmy (Big Red) Phillips of Auburn's national titlists and Dick Wallen of UCLA at ends, rugged Lou Michaels of Kentucky at the other tackle with Ohio State's Aurelius Thomas and Oklahoma's Bill Krisher manning the guard spots.

The team was selected on the basis of recommendations from 12 regional boards complete through all games of Nov. 30. In poundage, it is one of the heaviest squads on the books. The team average is 208 pounds and the line runs 213 from end to end.

Hill and Crow represent the only paired backfield men from the Southwest Conference on the All-America with the exception of the two-platoon year of 1951.

Pace, picked by an eyelash over Michigan State's Walt Kowalczyk, is the Big Ten's leading scorer and ground gainer. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan calls Pace "Michigan's best running back since Tommy Harmon and Elroy Hirsch. Pace is the guy who made our team go."

He was so vital to Michigan's single wing system that when he hurt his ankle against Georgia and sat out part of the contest, the Wolverines were forced to switch to the T.

Kowalczyk, Bob Anderson of Army, Bob Stransky of Colorado and Lee Grosseup of Utah comprise the second team backfield.

Thomas led Ohio State to the Big Ten crown with his aggressive play.

"For consistent play of the highest type on both offense and defense, there is no better guard in college football today," So says Buckeye coach Woody Hayes.

Krisher, 215, wrecked Texas efforts to score when the Sooners were hanging on to a 14-7 lead. With an arm so sore he couldn't lift it, Krisher nevertheless blocked the conversion attempt which preserved a 14-13 Sooner triumph over Colorado.

"Best lineman in the country — no question about it," says coach Duffy Daugherty about Currie. Big Dan intercepted passes to foil two California drives, forced three fumbles and blocked a kick against Michigan. And he was superb against Illinois and Michigan.

Besides the bonus selection of Hill, Crow, Currie, Michaels, Phillips, Pace and Karras were selected in the first round of the NFL player draft.

Though the requirements for play in college and professional ranks differ, it is significant that Hill was selected as man most likely to help the Chicago Cardinals who got the bonus choice this year.

Cleveland Big Surprise in NFL

Even Browns Amazed

DETROIT — The Cleveland Browns have surprised even themselves with their 8-1 record and an opportunity to wrap up their seventh division title in eight seasons when they take on the Detroit Lions Sunday at Briggs Stadium.

This National Football League scrap can mean a certain title for the Browns — and almost certain death for the Lions' slim Western Conference chances. Or it might mean that the Browns will go into the final game of the season a week hence, needing at least a tie with the second-place New York Giants for the championship.

Currently the Lions trail the division — leading Baltimore Colts by a full game. A fifth setback for the Lions Sunday would mean that both the Colts and the San Francisco 49ers would have to go into tailspins to preserve the Lions' chances.

This week could end the races in both divisions. The Browns can wrap up the Eastern half by beating the Lions. The Colts can assure themselves of their first title by trimming the 49ers in San Francisco. That would put the Colts in a comfortable position with an 8-3 record — while the Lions and the 49ers would have 6-5 marks.

"No one — not even the Browns themselves — expected to do this well this season," said publicist Harold Sauerbrei yesterday.

The Browns are carrying 13 rookies — "twice as many as we've ever carried in any previous season."

They have an offense that has been completely rebuilt. Sunday,

Sam Williams, Michigan State's veteran and at 26 the oldest player, 1958 football captain, is a service on the Spartan grid team.

Kansas, Kentucky Show Reasons for Ranking

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kansas and Kentucky, each tabbed a strong contender for North Carolina's national collegiate basketball championship, have broken from the barrier in a hurry. So has Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain, the Jayhawks' amazing marksman.

Both "K" teams hung up their second victories of the infant campaign last night. The Jayhawks rode over Canisius 66-46 as Chamberlain poured in 33 points and Kentucky nipped highly-rated Ohio State, 61-54.

Pittsburgh also scored impressively, 72-62 over Michigan and tiny St. Norbert College upset supposedly loaded Marquette 49-47.

Kansas, which whipped Oklahoma State Monday night, led by only 28-24 at halftime. But, with Chamberlain catching fire with 20 points, the Jayhawks crushed Canisius in the second half. Wilt Stilt's output gave him a 62 point total for the year.

Ohio State gave Kentucky a rough time. The Buckeyes are rated tops in the Big 10 along with Michigan State and Indiana and they showed the Wildcats why. They managed to deadlock the game at 39-39 in the second half, but Vern Hatten's jump shot snapped the tie and the Wildcats led the rest of the way.

Marquette's loss was its second in two starts. This was the same club that its coach Jack Nagle described as his best since 1954-1955. That one put together a 24-3 record.

Still, their opponents from DePaul, Wis., had the answer in a ball-control strategy that moved them into a 23-15 lead at the half. St. Norbert lost the edge with six minutes to go but regained for good on Jerry Lamers' push shot.

Elsewhere, Clemson, which will touch off North Carolina's campaign Saturday afternoon, bowed to Georgia's Bulldogs 62-60. Henry

Sports Editor Dies

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Stuart (Stu) Dunbar, 55, sports editor of the Topeka, Kan., Journal, died of a heart attack here last night.

Dunbar collapsed in a hotel lobby after attending a banquet at the major-minor baseball convention. He was among 188 sports-writers and sportscasters attending.

Cabines was Georgia's big gun with 25 points.

Maryland, a strong Atlantic Coast Conference team, opened its season by turning back George Washington 44-35 behind Tom Young's effective rebounding and the 15-point production of John Nacelnick and Al Bunge.

In other games, Wichita's Wheatshockers built a healthy lead on Joe Stevens' sharpshooting and defeated Texas Western 71-54; Arkansas overcame an eight point deficit and beat New Mexico A&M 58-50 and Duquesne tripped Carnegie Tech 72-55.

Petition Blocks O'Malley's Plan

Legal Action Stymies Idea of Dream Stadium for LA Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A referendum petition has at least temporarily snafued Walter O'Malley's plans to build a dream stadium for his Los Angeles Dodgers in Chavez Ravine.

Signatures for the petition were collected by a group protesting the city's real estate deal with Dodger baseball club of the National League.

The petition was checked by the city clerk's office, which announced yesterday that the petition has the necessary 51,768 bona-fide signatures, with several thousand more still to be checked.

O'Malley, president of the club which moved here from Brooklyn, had hoped to start construction immediately on the 16-million dollar ballpark. The referendum means that at best his plans are sidetracked, perhaps permanently derailed.

The issue now rests with the City Council, which can:

1. Call a special election on the question.
2. Place the matter on the ballot at the June general election.
3. Rescind the ordinance covering the contract between the Dodgers and the city.

Trade Expected Between Cards and Cincinnati

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Redlegs will complete a multiple trade today, the Associated Press learned.

The trade will bring at least two pitchers to the Reds in exchange for some hitting power.

One of the players to come to the Cardinals will be a catcher. The deal involves at least four players but the Associated Press was not at liberty to reveal their identity.

Michigan State assistant basketball coach Bob Stevens is a Marine veteran of both World War II and the Korean conflict.

Vic Seixas Paired With Filipino Ace

ADELAIDE (AP)—The two veteran members of each team, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Felimon Ampon, were drawn for the opening singles assignment tomorrow in the interzone Davis Cup tennis final between the United States and the Philippines.

The second match sends Herbie Flam, of Beverly Hills, Calif., against Raymond Deyro, the Philippines national champion, in a stern test for the Yanks.

Both rival captains, Bill Talbert of the United States and Dr. Alfredo Diy of the Philippines—expressed themselves as happy over the draw.

Old Coaching Rivals Meet in MSU-UD Tilt

DETROIT — Two old buddies, eager led the Titans to an 84-78 victory.

In 1956 the two teams met in Detroit and with Julius McCoy and Bill Ebben staging a scoring duel and the Spartans winning 85-78.

After a slow start last year Michigan State caught fire and finished in a tie for the Big Ten. The Spartans then moved into the NCAA tournament and were eliminated in three overtime periods by national champion North Carolina.

MSU will have a veteran team led by jumping Jack Green at center, Jack Quigley at forward and Larry Hedden at forward. Green collected 30 points in the 74-55 win over Butler Monday.

U. of D. will have regulars Don Haase, 6-6 at center and guard Mike Walsh returning from the 1956-57 squad. Senior Bob Kedzo, who stands 6-6, will help the Titans with height at the forward slot.

Anderson and Calihan played pro ball together when they led the old Chicago Bears to the championship after WWII, and later they became coaching rivals.

Calihan came to Detroit and Anderson took the reins at Bradley where he guided the Braves up the national cage ladder. Both were in the Missouri Valley Conference.

One year Bradley was riding the driver's seat as the number one team in the country when the Titans dumped the Braves from their perch.

During his years at Bradley, Anderson coached six teams to tournament play in the NIT and NCAA.

Michigan State and Detroit have met 33 times on the basketball court and the Spartans have the wide edge in the series with 31 wins and eight losses.

The last win for U. of D. came in 1954 on the MSU court where Guy Sparrow, ex-Pontiac High

A mistake early in your game (in your stance, for example) can breed many other mistakes as you try to overcome that first one.

That's why I emphasize the importance of a correct stance. You've got the time to make sure at this point. You can make changes. Once you get moving in your approach, it's too late.

Be sure you've got the correct angle. Get on the right starting spot. Know what you want to do. Keep relaxed and comfortable. Then, when you get moving on your first step, as we show today, you can be confident that everything is correct.

Don't stand too far back on the approach, or you'll ruin your timing by straining to reach the foul line in your normal approach. You may even release the ball behind the foul line. At any rate, your timing will be ruined.

Because one mistake usually causes another, if you can avoid making that first one, you're in good shape to roll the ball just where you want to roll it. (Copyright 1957, John F. Dille Co.)

GETS HONORED — Jerry Ohngren, Pontiac St. Michael's standout tackle, was awarded a 2nd team berth on the Associated Press Class C All-State team.

AP Names Honor Teams in Classes C, D

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A powerful squad spearheaded by one of the highest-scoring backfields in the history of Michigan high school football was selected today to the Associated Press Class C All-State football team.

The backfield — Carl Charon of Boyne City, Arnie Klott of Detroit, St. Thomas, Chuck Redding of

Hudson and Frank Hartway of Almont — amassed the amazing total of 424 points during the 1957 campaign.

Charon, a fast and powerful runner who led his team to a 7-0 season, led the pack with 141 points—second in the state over the regular season route—while Klott raced for 24 touchdowns and 6 extra points for 150 points. Klott's total included one playoff game.

The ends on the All-State team are Jim Chie of Ypsilanti Lincoln and Bob Van Eiken of Manchester. Wally Pietras of Ann Arbor St. Thomas and Bob Florian of Shepherd ran away with the tackle honors.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A one-armed youngster who overcame his handicap so thoroughly that he became one of the finest linemen in the state was named today to the Associated Press Class D high school All-State football team.

He is Arden Crance, a 17-year-old senior from Parma High School, an honor student and a brilliant two-way player on the football field. Crance lost his left hand in a carpenter's shop shortly after the 1956 season but insisted on playing football in his final year.

It was his fine blocking and stout defensive work that led Parma through an undefeated season. Parma's opponents never scored through the line while Crance was on the field. His unit yielded only two touchdowns and both came on pass plays.

And for the first time in AP All-State annals, Michigan School for the Deaf was represented on the honor team. Fullback Fred Mosher made the grade by carrying the ball for 806 yards, scoring 33 points and "excelling" as the team's middle linebacker.

Frick Favors National League Team for New York

Majors See Franchise Problems

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS) — The Minor Leagues were expected to vote to repeal the bonus rule today and the majors began meetings to determine what to do about the territorial rights to the one-team New York area.

Momentous legislation and the launching of a major league battle were billed on two fronts in the action-packed baseball convention.

The minors held court at the Antlers Hotel to vote on a total of 34 amendments, headed by proposals to kill the controversial bonus regulation and motions to revise the draft system and "free the slaves."

At the same time, four miles away at the plush and sprawling Broadmoor Hotel, the National and American league club owners got together in separate sessions and their main concern was big and blase New York and how to prevent it from going "bush" now that the Giants and Dodgers have moved west.

The New York area, with its

Chiefs Open Mat Season Friday

Wrestling moves into its second season for Pontiac High tomorrow as the anxious Chiefs go after an opening triumph in a 4 p.m. match at Cranbrook.

Led by 120-pound and Mel Nosenchuk, 133, Pontiac is out to settle several scores for severe beatings suffered last winter.

Cranbrook will provide no easy foe for the 1st outing. The Cranes have such talented grapplers as Capt. Lou O'Connor, 133, Gary Glikaschid, one of the best heavyweights in this sector a year ago, and 145-pound Jim Ludwig.

Farmington is the only other county wrestling team getting into action this week. The Falcons debut at Ann Arbor St. Thomas tonight.

Former Tiger Player Found Dead at Home

DELAND, Fla. (U) — John C. Ness, who was a first baseman for the Detroit Tigers in 1911, was found dead at his home here yesterday. He was 78.

Authorities said his death was due to natural causes.

A native of Round Lake, Ill., Ness also played for Chicago in 1915.

vast population, was left with one team, the Yankees, and one league, the American, when the Messrs. Stoneham and O'Malley decided to seek West Coast gold in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

At the time of their defection, commissioner Ford Frick let it be universally known that he opposed allowing the New York area to remain a one-team territory.

The American League has passed a resolution which would allow the national league to function in only one borough of the city — Brooklyn — and the National League must now revise its constitution to provide for franchises in both Brooklyn and the borough of nearby Queens.

An inter-league battle is expected because Queens appears to be the only site — if and when — another Major League franchise ever is set up in New York City.

Commissioner Frick holds the key. If the two leagues are deadlocked when they meet in joint session Saturday, the commissioner has the tie-breaking vote.

Another headache faced the Major Leagues. A committee of seven minor league presidents, headed by Frank Shaughnessy of the International league, was to call on the big league big-wigs to protest again over television.

The Minors are up in arms over plans to nationally televise a "game of the week" on Sundays next season. Presently, the Majors already have such a game videoed into minor league territory on Saturday and the minors view the new move as a crushing double play.

Shaughnessy's league voted unanimously to take the matter to court and commissioner Frick said he agreed with the Minors that the TV plan is "a bad thing" but that his hands are tied due to warnings from the justice department.

In a move to prevent anti-trust legislation against baseball, Frick and the Major - Minor executive council submitted to the National Association a proposal calling for the unrestricted draft of four year players. This proposal would kill the bonus rule, which provides that players who receive more than $4,000 for signing with a big league club must be kept by that club — without being sent to the minors — for two years.

Another amendment calls for making all minor league players subject to draft after their first year in organized ball.

All legislation passed by the Minors must be approved by the joint session of the Majors Saturday before becoming baseball law.

The Majors also had on their agenda a list of player demands and it appeared certain that the main one — to raise the minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,000 — was to be granted.

The players representatives met with the club executives and the commissioner yesterday and also expressed a desire to see the present bonus rule scrapped.

Orchard Lake-St. Fred Tangle

Falcons Initiate Gym

By CHUCK ABRAH

The dedication of Rochester's new $400,000 gymnasium, a local battle matching St. Frederick and Orchard Lake-St. Mary and the opening of play in the Wayne-Oakland league feature a busy slate of prep basketball games around this area tomorrow night.

Rochester and Romeo, each boasting an opening triumph Tuesday, will meet in the dedication game. Both have the offensive strength and size to become a powerhouse. This game could serve as a springboard to the winner.

Such well known personalities as Michigan grid All-American Jim Pace, Jim Orwig, Wolverine captain last season, Red Wing publicist Fred Huber, Doug Weaver of the Michigan State football staff, former Tiger pitcher Steve Gromek and Edwin Buchholz of the Michigan High School Athletic Association will be among the guests on the program at Rochester.

That Orchard Lake-St. Fred meeting will be an early showdown between Suburban Catholic League title contenders. St. Frederick will have the home court advantage.

Birmingham makes its season debut at home against twice-beaten Cranbrook, Walled Lake hosts Wayne, Oxford meets neighboring Lake Orion and Ferndale is at Southfield in some important non-league action.

The full schedule in the Wayne-Oakland will have Boonville Hills at Holly, Brighton at Clarkston, Milford at Clarkston and West Bloomfield at Northville.

Skrzycki will probably start at

It will be the 2nd night of competition in the Southern Thumb League. Almont will host Capac, Armada goes to Brown City and Memphis is at New Haven. Dryden has a non-loop outing at North Branch.

Other games involving area teams will be Livonia Bentley at Farmington, Clawson at Oak Park, Royal Oak Shrine at St. Theresa, Orionville at Linden, Millington at Maple Grove, Royal Oak Kimball at Fitzgerald, Port Huron at Flint Northern and Country Day at Rock Huron.

Catholic Central Has Height to Match Pontiac

Shamrocks Perennially Strong With Outcourt Shooting

Basketball opponents of Detroit Catholic Central always have one big fear—the perennial outside shooting strength of the Shamrocks. Pontiac, for the past three years, has become quite aware of Central's outcourt shooting and tomorrow night on the Shamrock court the Chiefs are expecting to see more of the same.

It will be the season opener for both teams who have met eight times in the past.

Every game in the series has been a spine-tangler, including two hectic affairs last year when Pontiac won both in the final seconds 45-42 and 63-62.

Two years ago the Chiefs also won both regular season games but then fell to the Shamrocks in the state quarterfinals 58-51 with Bob Skrzycki, now at Notre Dame, ruined PHS with his pivot shooting.

The series with Catholic Central has been relatively new except for two encounters in tournament play in 1945 and 1947. The Chiefs won those games, 25-20 and 35-20 but were later eliminated in the tournament.

The Chiefs, looking for high state recognition, will have to be careful tomorrow night. The Shamrocks will have one of their taller teams in several years with 6-5 Tony Mohr and a pair of 6-4 lads, Ed Skrzycki and Bill Steinmetz.

The Chiefs will go along with big Bud Ray at center, Jerry Williams and Jim Skinner at the forwards and Dick Whitmer and Alex Barge at guards.

Catholic Central is located at Outer Drive and Hubbell which can be reached by via of Telegraph to Northwestern. A right turn from Northwestern onto Outer Drive (between Seven and Six Mile roads) will go right past the school.

LEAGUE DEBUT — Bloomfield Hills makes its basketball debut in the Wayne-Oakland League tomorrow night with the big task of trying to beat contender Holly on the Holly court. Coach Hal Trott and his top scorer of last season Bob Elston set the strategy for the game.

Seniors Will Aid UCLA

PCC Action Helps Bruins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Coast Conference action creating a new crew of half-season football seniors for 1958 has increased the power of the UCLA Bruins.

Coach Red Sanders, operating without seniors the past season, came out with eight victories and two defeats.

Now he will get five game service from eight players including All-American end Dick Waden and All-Conference tackle Bill Leeka. So the Bruins should come closer to standards of the 1952-53-54-55 powerhouses.

In those years the Bruins' worst marks were 8-1, 8-2, 9-0 and 9-2. The '53 and '55 teams went to the Rose Bowl against Michigan State and lost both times, 20-28 and 14-17.

Sanders obviously was pleased to get his seniors even part-time, but the wise fox declined comment in easing eligibility penalties against players who were freshmen in 1955 at the time of illegal aid cases, PCC action yesterday covered eight juniors and five sophomores at UCLA, three juniors at the University of Southern California and one at Washington.

Sanders is familiar with the five game formula, having worked under it two years ago. Both USC and Washington have new coaches.

As UCLA, California, USC and Washington reached the winning side of the ledger of conference action yesterday, a proposal was approved to kill round robin football scheduling in 1961 and thereafter.

After 1960, teams will be able to schedule on a basis of free choice.

Five conference games are required to qualify for the football championship or the Rose Bowl game. The Rose Bowl would appear to be the binding factor.

Prep Teams Have Woes

Injuries and various other troubles have already weakened three Oakland County schools although last night was only the first full slate of the new basketball season.

St. Michael eager Chuck Steinhilber suffered a broken arm in the St. Fred football game and is out indefinitely. His teammate, Jim Fox, may take a job instead of playing basketball.

Ortonville has lost Bill Grapen and Charley Adkins. Grapen was killed in an auto accident Sunday, while Adkins may miss several games because of a recent appendicitis attack.

Three boys missed the Milford opener against Rochester. Scoring ace Pat Kelley, Andre LaVoy and Paul Sanford were the absent Redskins.

Kelley, discovered only recently that he suffered a broken leg sometime during the final weeks of football and is now on the mend. LaVoy has been hospitalized by illness, while Sanford has been out of the country as an exchange student and will return to Milford around the Christmas holidays.

Keating Named MVP in Interstate Loop

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — Waterford's Kerry Keating, senior halfback from Eastern Michigan's Hurons, has been named the most valuable football player in the Interstate Conference. The fleet halfback, who led Eastern to its first undisputed IAC football crown, was the state of Michigan's leading scorer and recently was selected to the Associated Press all-state small college team in Michigan.

Rangers Lose 6th at Home

Hawks Apply Whitewash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winning at home—a prime ingredient for success in any sport—is getting to be a most troublesome task for the New York Rangers, who only a week ago held down the top spot in the National Hockey League.

Today, the Blueshirts were four points behind front-running Montreal with the four other clubs moving up within striking distance.

New York blew another one on home ice last night as goalie Glenn Hall rang up his fifth shut-out for Chicago in a 2-0 victory. The Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs battled to a 9-0 deadlock in the other game.

Elmer Vasko and Ed Litzenberger got the Hawks' scores. Vasko got the winners off winging only 45 seconds after the opening face-off and Litzenberger clinched matters at 11:39 of the third period.

It was the Rangers' sixth setback in Madison Square Garden. They've won five and tied two. On the road, Phil Watson's men are 7-4-2.

The Toronto-Montreal encounter was highlighted by the fine work of goalies Ed Chadwick and Jacques Plante. Plante turned back 27 shots in the Canuck nets and Chadwick 26 for the Leafs. It was the first scoreless game in the NHL this year.

The women's field also will be trimmed to the final 15 who will enter the finals along with top-seeded Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., who has won six national Match Game titles.

Snow Big Business in State

Skiing Fastest-Growing Industry

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan's fastest growing industry is built on snow.

It is skiing. Park owners have invested an estimated $3,200,000 plus in ski facilities and do an annual gross business of at least $12,500,000.

The 1957-58 run got off at some parks Thanksgiving Day. Some opened with artificial, machine-made snow; others with winter's natural fall. All hope to be running before Christmas with deep, packed snow.

Michigan now has 64 skiing areas. Just four years ago, there were only 38.
Total attendance at ski areas now is estimated at 375,000 a winter, compared with 195,000 in 1953.
Practically all 64 ski parks reported building new and better slopes, installation of additional equipment or other improvements for the current season. Some projects involved up to $100,000.

Orioles Sell Wight to Cincinnati Club

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles sold left-handed Pitcher Bill Wight to the Cincinnati Reds for a reported $15,000.

Wight, 35, had a 6-6 record this past season. He appeared in 27 games and pitched 121 innings. He had an earned run average of 3.64.
Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds said he planned to use Wight in relief.

Four brand new parks are going into operation this year. They are:
Granplan Mountain Ski resort, off M-24 at Lakeville, north of Lake Orion, which has a snow-making machine, night lighting, eight tow, a warming shop and other facilities.

Summit Ski area, near Fenton, which also will have snow-making equipment and night lighting.
Indian Hills Ski park, in the Ogemaw Hills between West Branch and St. Helen.

Walloon Hills, near the Walloon Lake Junction of U.S.-131 and M-75, which was developed at a cost of approximately $100,000.

The Boyne Mountain Lodge at Boyne Falls claims to have installed the world's largest snow-making machine in a $150,000 improvement and expansion program.

Detroit Branch Robbed of $2,000 in Daylight; Gunman Escapes

DETROIT — Police are seeking a gunman who escaped with about $2,000 in a daylight robbery of the American Savings and Loan Assn.'s branch in northwest Detroit yesterday.

The bandit vanished after handcuffing two women office employees to a plumbing fixture.

Loretta Dutton, 20, a teller, told police the office was empty of customers when a man entered and told her he wanted to open an account. He then drew a gun and herded Miss Dutton and another employee, Ann Jordan, 26, into a lavatory in the rear of the office.

He handcuffed the two women together with one pair of handcuffs and with another pair locked Miss Dutton to a piece of plumbing. They said he then wiped the handcuffs free of fingerprints and fled.

Miss Jordan managed to reach a police alarm button in the lavatory and alerted a nearby police station. Police arrived an estimated five minutes after the gunman had left the two women and found the office empty.

Police said Miss Dutton had been bound with handcuffs of Spanish manufacture which could not be taken off until some three hours later. They finally were sawed off at police headquarters.

2 Children Die in Flash Fire in Mesick Home

MESICK — Two children died last night when a flash fire raced through the bedroom in which they were sleeping.

Dad wore Otto Loren Beam, 19 months, and his sister Astoria Nora, 5 months.

The blaze occurred while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Beam, were away from the small frame house.

Police said the fire apparently started after a stepmother, Rosalie Duran, 12, put a blanket over a light bulb to keep the light from shining into the children's eyes. Rosalie was uninjured, but was treated for shock.

Municipal Officials on Hawaiian Outing

SAN FRANCISCO — A party of 80 of the nation's municipal officials and their wives will leave by plane today for a Hawaiian outing after attending the American Municipal Assn. convention which closed yesterday.

All 80 will spend 6 days in Honolulu. Thirty will remain for an extended outing on the islands of Kauai and Hawaii.

Among them will be Cleveland's Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze and his wife. Celebrezze today was elected vice president of the association and will step up to the presidency in 1959.

Another visitor will be P. H. Beuval, of Allegan, Mich., the oldest city manager in point of service in the United States. He has been in city manager work since 1911.

TAKING LIFE EASY — Stan Laurel, surviving member of the famous comedy team of Laurel and Hardy, hid his characteristic wry expression behind a grin as he told reporters he doesn't expect to act again. Photographers caught him relaxing at his Malibu Beach, Calif., apartment. He still feels the effects of a stroke which incapacitated him two years ago, he said.

Stroke Was Blow to Career

Comedian Stan Laurel Says He Won't Act Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Stan Laurel, surviving member of the great comedy team of Laurel and Hardy, said today that he will never act again.

The wry-faced comic, now 67, made the comment at his apartment on the beach at Malibu where he talked freely about his own health, his long partnership with "Babe" Hardy, the state of comedy today and other matters. He showed the effects of a stroke that incapacitated him two years ago, but his face occasionally lighted up with his famous, wide-angle grin.

"The doctors called it a slight stroke," he related, "but I don't see how any stroke can be slight. Even if you get back to normal physically, you're mentally demoralized. I'm afraid even to go down on the beach, for fear I'll fall."

"I'll never be able to go back to work. I just don't have the strength for it."

The stroke paralyzed his side — "the left, fortunately" — but he now is able to walk.

But he limits his activities to occasional shopping trips to Santa Monica. The rest of the time he spends writing letters to friends and fans ("We still get mail; lately a lot has come from Ghana"), watching TV ("I can only get the three San Diego stations and some nights I get nothing") and seeing a few old friends ("Not many come any more — I guess because I can't give them jobs any more"). Babe died last August, his oncerotund body wasted away after a stroke that kept him immobile for almost a year. His passing was a blessing for Babe, Stan said, but it was still a blow to the remaining member of the team.

"It's a strange thing," Stan reflected, "but we really only got to know each other in the last years of his life. When we were making pictures together, we never saw each other off the set."

"After we were out of pictures, we did a lot of touring in Europe together, and that's when we got to know each other intimately." The general state of comedy now is poor, he sighed, because comics are burning themselves out from overexposure. "You can't pour out comedy every week," he said. "You've got to prepare."

In dismissing the annulment suit, Justice Henry Epstein said, "The evidence presented is insufficient to warrant a verdict for Mr. Baxter."

Otis M. Smith, commission chairman, announced that the hearing would be reopened Jan. 7 at the commission offices.

Michigan Bell filed an application in November 1956 for a $12,500,000 rate increase. A commission order last Aug. 6 granted a rate increase of approximately $2,835,000.

The company filed an application Sept. 11 for a rehearing of the case, claiming the commission erred in findings of fact and conclusions of law. The company also asked for permission to introduce new evidence to support its rate increase application.

The commission order granting the rehearing stated there was "possible merit" in the company contentions that certain errors were made in findings of fact and conclusions of law.

The first talking movie was "Don Juan," which Warner Brothers released in 1926. The sound was on synchronized photograph records.

Rocket Society Award Won by MIT Student

NEW YORK — A 20-year-old physics major at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has been chosen to receive a $1,000 research award sponsored by the American Rocket Society and Chrysler Corp.

The winner, John R. Roth of Millersville, Pa., prepared what was judged to be the best technical paper written by a student at a U. S. college or university this year in the field of rockets, jet propulsion or astronautics. Roth's paper was "an application of parabolic dynamics to the measurement of rocket exhaust velocity."

AT&T Now Arranging Special Repeat Service for Michigan

NEW YORK — Television viewers in an Ohio-West Virginia-Michigan area, along with those in the rest of the nation, may be seeing their favorite programs at the same hour regardless of daylight saving time, beginning in 1958.

Lawrence H. Rogers, chairman of a special committee of NBC affiliates, said yesterday that the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. is arranging to provide the repeat service.

Rogers is president and general manager of WSAZ, Inc., of Huntington, W. Va.

The basic step making this possible is the development of a system of instantaneous video tape recording in both black and white and color TV, announced last month.

At that time, however, NBC said it would not be able to provide circuits to serve the three-state area, although nearly all the rest of the nation would have them.

The instantaneous tape will permit recording of network programs during DST months to be played back one hour later, Rogers said, "without loss of live quality."

He said a microwave technique will be employed by AT&T to provide the service in the area that had been tentatively "black-out" until 1959.

Other members of the committee included John T. Murphy of WLW, Cincinnati, and Edwin K. Wheeler of WJW, Detroit.

Court Dismisses Baxter Annulment

NEW YORK — A Supreme Court justice has dismissed an annulment suit brought by TV actor Charles Baxter, 33, against 63-year-old asbestos heiress, Mrs. Lorraine Manville Baxter.

A jury recently failed to agree whether Mrs. Baxter, sister of Tommy Manville, was a drug addict when she married Baxter. A court-appointed physician testified during the trial that after examining her he could find no evidence that she was addicted to drugs, as charged by her husband.

In dismissing the annulment suit, Justice Henry Epstein said, "The evidence presented is insufficient to warrant a verdict for Mr. Baxter."

French Liqueur, Produced in U. S. Keeps Tradition

PENNINGTON, N. J. (INS) — A New Jersey liqueur plant which bottles a world famous cordial is flourishing thanks to a Frenchman who wanted to keep his family's product alive despite the war.

Since 1949, when Edouard Cointreau began bottling the now famous liqueur in Angers, generations of the family have operated the company. But when the Germans invaded France, Jacques Mercier Cointreau, was made a prisoner of war. He managed to escape to America.

Not knowing whether the Angers plant could survive the war, he selected Pennington as a site for a plant.

In 1943, the first Cointreau was bottled in the U. S. and recently the millionth case was produced. A close relationship is maintained with the original company in France which is operated by other members of the family.

Jacques Cointreau, now an American citizen, was recently awarded the French Legion of Honor for his devotion to France and for his work as a good will emissary for French culture.

South Africa Plans for Aged to Work

DURBAN, S. Africa — A plan to keep older people fit for work far beyond the accepted retiring age of 60 or 65 is being undertaken by the Medical Association of South Africa, in Durban.

It envisages a chain of hospitals for treatment of geriatrics — the science for treatment of disorders of the aged. There the elderly ill would be made well again and helped by modern psychiatric measures to discard the notion that life ends at 60.

In Britain, it is pointed out, the problem has been tackled with startling results. A new aggressive policy to make old men fit again, with a job to go to and able to regain their self respect has paid handsome dividends both to the aged and to the nation. In one hospital full of elderly people six months' treatment lifted 90 per cent from their beds.

Tot Critically Burned

MOUNT CLEMENS — Three-year-old John Gustin of near Anchorville, was critically burned over 95 per cent of his body Wednesday when he toddled into a burning rubbish pile while playing in a neighbor's backyard. He was taken to Mount Clemens Hospital.

Finletter Calls for More Funds

Former AF Secretary Says U.S. Must Add $10 Billion for Defense

ANN ARBOR — Former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter says the United States must add at least 10 billion dollars to its defense budget if it hopes to catch up with Russia in the guided missile race.

Finletter called the proposed addition of two billion dollars "inadequate" in a speech before a group of Democratic Party members here last night.

The onetime Cabinet member said the American people must be made to realize the need for closing up the "defense gap."

"The basic need in this country is a new state of mind and full information as to where we stand," Finletter said. "With a few exceptions, necessary to avoid leaks about our plans, I believe all the defense information possible should be given to the public."

He pictured the current arms race as being in a "mixed stage" with the Soviet Union probably ahead in missiles and the free world dependent on long-range bombers and a strong NATO as the chief deterrents to attack.

Although praising the appointment of John Killian as head of a concentrated missile program, Finletter said "the problem isn't solved merely by the changing of organization."

The B-29 Enola Gay, which dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima, was presented to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. on July 3, 1949.

Queen Bee Jelly for Cosmetics Is Profitable Turn

WELLINGTON — The sudden interest in "Royal Jelly" is a great help to one New Zealand beekeeper. He is Rex Hillary, brother of Sir Edmund Hillary, first man to conquer Mt. Everest.

Hillary has been offered from $250 to $400 for very small amounts of this jelly — the food that makes young queen bees take on a regal mien. (Eggs not fed on the jelly become worker bees or drones.)

Interest of humans in this high-priced jelly has been aroused recently. On the Continent cosmetic creams containing infinitesimal portions of the stuff are being sold to women at unbelievable prices.

Cork is Portugal's chief export. It is the dead outer bark of an evergreen oak, and may be removed periodically without killing the tree. Portuguese law permits the stripping of a tree once every nine years.

Oakland Dairy Awards Made at Commerce Banquet

Pinson Takes Press Trophy

Young Rochester Man Takes High Holstein Honors

A Howell man last night was honored as the outstanding dairyman of the year.

He is Harry Pinson, a long-time member of the Oakland County Dairymen's Association, who received The Pontiac Press Trophy which goes annually to the owner of the Holstein herd judged best by dairy association managers.

The trophy presentation took place before more than 100 county dairymen and their families who gathered at the Commerce Masonic Hall for the annual dairy banquet.

ROCHESTER MAN SCORES

Also coming in for high honors were Seward Hutchins, Rochester's young president of the County Holstein Breeders Association, and Carlos Long of Milford.

Hutchins received a cup for his Grand Champion female Holstein winner at the Oakland County Holstein Show earlier this year. O.V. Foster, manager of Lakefield Farms, Clarkston, made the presentation.

Long's cup was for having the best three female Holsteins at the county show. Miss Sarah Van Noanen Jones of Rochester presented it to him.

The winner of the Press trophy is selected by the managers of the four Dairy Herd Improvement Associations within the county. Among the factors considered are milk and butterfat production records, improvement in housing, breeding and feeding and management practices.

HAS 12-COW HERD

Pinson, who recently moved outside the county but who is still a member of the Oakland County group, has a herd of 12 cows, all registered Holsteins. His 1956-57 herd average was 12,125 pounds of milk and 459 pounds of butterfat.

Presenting the award for The Press was County Editor Joel Rippe. Three other dairy herds received honorable mention in the judging. They are the Pine Row Farm herd, Lake Orion, owned by Greene Foley and managed by Adolph Engler; the herd of Mrs. Walter Weibury of Milford and that of Charles Coe and Sons, New Hudson.

Following the honors program, the banqueters heard a "Farmer to Farmer" talk by Tiltman Bubenzer, agricultural consultant to the Tractor and Implement Division, Ford Motor Co. Introduced by toastmaster Sam Smith of Walled Lake, Bubenzer, a national authority on farm management, delighted the audience with practical tips on how to cut costs.

PLANES FROM CHICAGO

The speaker, who flew in directly from the National 4-H Congress in Chicago to attend the banquet, manages the Conner Prairie Farm, Noblesville, Ind.

He told how he built the Conner farm from a 44-cow herd to where it now has 225 head of dairy cattle and 400 beef cattle.

"I'll talk to you as farmer to farmer," he said. "And perhaps some of the ideas that helped me will be useful to you."

"If you want to make more money you'll have to cut costs," he said. Some of the things he cited were improved feeding efficiency and heating. Two factors most detrimental to profits are draft and moisture, Bubenzer declared.

His talk, spiced with home-spun witticisms and anecdotes, held the rapt attention of his listeners.

Fred Thompson, public relations manager for the Ford Division, accompanied Bubenzer from Chicago to the banquet.

Lansing Farm Bureau Must Honor Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board has ordered Farm Bureau Services, Inc., of Lansing, Mich., to recognize the Teamsters Union as the bargaining agent of its employees.

The NLRB also ordered the firm to withhold recognition from Farm Bureau Services, Inc., employees independent union as the representatives of any of its employees.

The board directed the firm to begin collective bargaining with the Teamsters Union when the union requests it.

Farm Bureau Services, Inc., manufactures chemical plant food.

Guernsey From Romeo New Production Champ

ROMEO (AP) — Langmeadow Minnie, an 8-year-old Guernsey of Romeo, Mich., today was named an all-breed production champion by the American Guernsey Cattle Club of Peterborough, N. H.

The club said Minnie, owned by Dr. Howard H. Colby of Romeo, produced 26,695 pounds of milk and 1,661 pounds of fat in one year of twice-a-day milking.

Christmas Tree Business Rolls Off to Good Start

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's five million dollar annual Christmas tree business appears to be off to a good start this year, the State Department of Agriculture reported today.

Dean F. Lovitt, assistant chief of the division of plant industry, said the first heavy movement of trees from northern Michigan to the metropolitan areas of the state is expected this weekend.

"So far, the movement has been primarily of early-cut pines from the western area of the state," Lovitt said. "The early volume indicates a good year, but we'll know more about the situation by next week. This will be our first big weekend."

The department will have some 25 men stationed along the highways in the northern part of the state, checking on truckloads of Christmas trees.

Persons transporting trees are required to have a bill of sale for the trees and the signature of the selling land owner plus a legal description of the property.

State law requires the bill of sale to prevent "bootlegging" of trees and illegal cutting.

"In the past," Lovitt explained, "we've had operators go into state or privately-owned lands and cut trees without the permission of the state or the owners."

"Also, we've had some cases of trees being stolen after they were cut and stacked."

Lovitt said that up to now, it looks like a normal season in both the supply and demand of the trees. Most of the trees cut in Michigan are sold within the state, he said, although some go to other states south of Michigan.

Oxford Junior Women's Club to Sponsor Ball

OXFORD (AP) — The annual Charity Ball, sponsored by the Oxford Junior Women's Club, will be held Saturday at the Hanoutte Show Room in Lake Orion. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. with Emil Sutt's Band providing the music.

General chairman Mrs. James Sherman is being assisted by Mrs. Donald Davidson, Mrs. Stewart Langley, Mrs. J. B. McQueen, Mrs. William Matus, Mrs. Robert Parenti, Mrs. Clyde Throop Jr. and Mrs. Addison Woodbeck.

The proceeds will go to various philanthropies of the club whose major object this year is helping to raise funds for the projected Camp Oakland for Girls.

Farmers' Price Index Up 2 Pct. During Month

LANSING (AP) — The Nov. 15 index of prices received by Michigan farmers rose five points, or 2 per cent, during the past month, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday.

The index was eight points, or 3.8 percent, above November of 1956.

A ten cent rise in the price of wholesale milk increases in some grains, beans, calves and the prices of most vegetables, more than offset declines in corn, hay, hogs and chickens.

Lathrup to Hold Special Election

February Vote Slated on Storm Sewer Plan, Downspout Ruling

LATHRUP (AP) — A special election will be held sometime in February on the city's proposed $712,000 storm sewer system, city councilmen announced.

Residents at the same time will have a chance to vote on repealing the controversial downspout ordinance.

The ordinance, enacted last spring, requires the disconnecting of downspouts in areas where heavy rains flood basements.

The ordinance raised a storm of protests with residents claiming that there would be no problem if the sewers were kept clean. A referendum, signed by more than 10 per cent of Lathrup's registered voters, demanded repeal of the ordinance.

The 30-day period the city council had to repeal the ordinance is passed. Therefore, the matter must be placed on the ballot in the next election, City Manager Leonard A. Watchowski said.

Watchowski added that the ordinance was adopted to abate pollution of the eastern branch of the River Rouge, which has been ordered cleaned up by the Wayne Oakland County Circuit Court.

Set Public Hearing on Street Lights

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Jan. 11 is the date set for a public hearing on the question of street lights in Pelton Heights Subdivision No. 1. The Independence Township Board will at that time hear arguments at the Township Hall in Clarkston for and against the project which will have an estimated initial cost of $1,143 to taxpayers in the subdivision. This amount and subsequent costs would be paid by special assessments on property owners in the subdivision.

Carl Anthony Jr. was named to represent the board at meetings of the recently established Recreation Commission in an unofficial capacity.

A communication from the Clarkston Gardens Improvement Association concerning speed limit signs and traffic control was received and filed.

Court Orders Plans for Sewer by Feb. 4

LATHRUP (AP) — Feb. 4 is the date set by Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland for this city to go to court with complete plans for its proposed sanitary and storm sewer system. Lathrup is being threatened with contempt of court for pollution of the Rouge river.

The city now has plans under way for a $328,000 sanitary system and a $600,000 plus storm sewer system. A major portion of the sanitary system will be financed by court order bonds.

Square Dance Slated

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Avondale Junior High School PTSA is sponsoring a Calico King and Queen square dance Friday from 9 to 12 p.m. Chase and Furney of Lake Orion will furnish music for dancing. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

Will Be Enclosed by Weekend

Romeo Hospital Doin' Fine

ROMEO (AP) — Building progress on the new Community Hospital, located on Van Dyke four miles north of here, is "right on schedule," construction superintendent Harold Lefstad said today.

The lathers are slated to start today on the ceiling and partitions—preparing the way for the plasterers. The interior door frames are due next week as the inside of the building begins to take shape.

All electrical and mechanical work will be done along with the lathing. This will include the nurses' intercommunication system, piping for oxygen, water lines and other electrical connections.

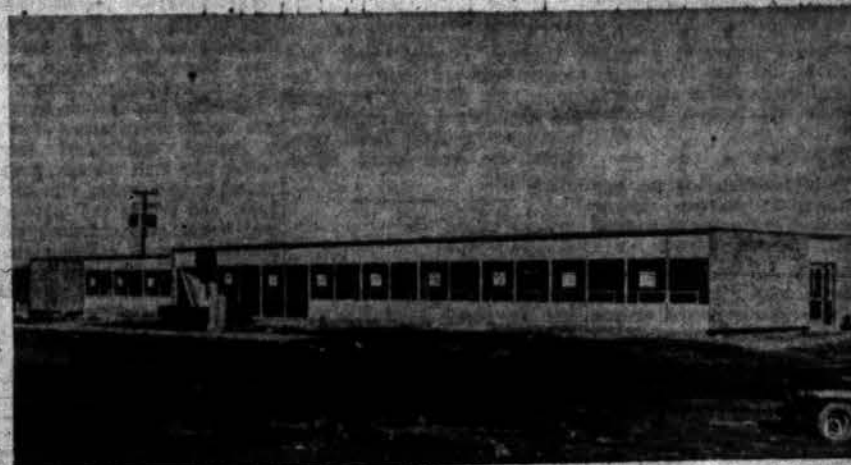

Lefstad said the building, designed to serve 13 communities within a radius of 15 miles, will be entirely enclosed by the end of the week.

Workmen are also building a separate concrete enclosure—south of the main structure—to house the septic tank for sewage disposal.

The Community Hospital Foundation, a non-profit organization, has raised the money for the 32-bed hospital through public subscription. The contract for $469,000 was awarded to the Walter L. Couser Co., Detroit.

Hospital officials say they plan a second fund-raising campaign early next year. They have set a goal of $200,000 to finish and equip the building.

"If we had an extra $38,000 right now, we could add 16 beds while the contractors are still on the job," said Dr. Louis R. Newlin, hospital board vice president. He said the board would welcome inquiries from any person or group interested in donating a wing. The new section would bear the name of the contributor of the sponsoring organization or firm, he said.

HOSPITAL ON SCHEDULE — The new 32-bed Community Hospital, under construction on Van Dyke (M 53) between Romeo and Almont, will be entirely enclosed by the end of the week. Work already has started on the interior and will continue throughout the winter months. The medical center is due for completion next spring.

Banker's Legacy Spreads Glee

PIERRE, S.D. — It would be hard to sell the children of the Pierre vicinity that bankers are as hard-hearted as "Ol' Scrooge."

It was a legacy of a banker which for the last 30 years has assured every Pierre child under 12-rich and poor—a Christmas party.

Their benefactor is the late Pattison F. McClure, former president of the Pierre National bank. He died in 1927.

McClure left his estate to the Masonic order with the provision that the interest would be used each Christmas to buy goodies for the kiddies.

The children swarm the city auditorium each Christmas to receive a generous bag of candy, nuts and fruits.

The Christmas caroling of a group of Campfire Girls helped the banker decide that a share of his estate should entertain the children during the Yuletide.

Topping Gift

Corduroy, flannel, wool and suede caps are good gifts for young men. In buying, remember the small-shaped slim cap is complimentary to most facial types except the very short, rotund young man.

Great Stuff

The stuffed animal sector of toyland includes a well-stocked kennel. The basset hound is a popular new arrival in the toy pooch field. French poodles and dachshunds also came in play miniatures.

Leather Bags Growing Bigger, Plump Looking

The lean and hungry look of leather handbags has given way to a plump and prosperous one. Many bags now resemble baggage in shape close to the old Gladstone and the new attache case. Some have luggage hardware and lock-and-key closings.

Interesting new daytime bags to give include combinations of soft-grained dull-finished black leather with maroon suede, grape-colored smooth leather with silver frame and closing and taupe-colored Scotch grain trimmed with smooth leather in a lighter gray. The beloved black suede bag looks new this year combined with textured leathers.

Soft black suede for evening is popular with frames of gold or silver, filigree or with jeweled clips.
