

Traffic Snarled; Schools Closed

Worst Blizzard in Years Paralyzes County

The worst blizzard in many years swirled into the Oakland County area last night, causing a traffic jam that all but paralyzed business, industry and schools.

The Oakland County Road Commission committed all available men and machines to the battle with the elements late last night, but their best efforts were all but useless.

Robert Vincent, road commission maintenance superintendent for District 4, said this morning the county's entire fleet of 75 plows, trucks and scrapers were being used just to keep trunklines open. Most secondary roads are impassable, he said.

Road crews were able to keep one-lane traffic moving on I-75, but exit ramps were blocked by drifts and stalled vehicles.

Traffic was also moving on most state roads, Vincent said, but major tieups were reported on Telegraph Road at Long Lake and Maple and U.S.-10 north of Andersonville, where traffic was unable to move up the inclines.

Troopers from the local State Police post were maintaining normal patrol, spending most of their time helping drivers keep their vehicles moving.

No major accidents had been reported to state or city police, but minor collisions were running about 50 per cent above normal.

City officials enlisted the aid of local contractors this morning when the city snow removal equipment proved unable to keep major streets open.

Clyde Christian, superintendent of the department of public works, said 15 plows, scrapers and front-end loaders had been on the job since 5 p.m. yesterday.

Some streets had been plowed four times, Christian said, in an effort to keep traffic moving. Extra effort was being concentrated around local hospitals, Christian said, to prevent emergency vehicles from getting stuck or blocked off by stalled traffic.

Oakland County Courthouse was closed at noon, except for hearings in the juvenile division. Pontiac Transit Corp. ordered (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

U-M Book Gives State Outlook

To Need 860,000 New Jobs

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan is going to need at least 860,000 new jobs by 1975 to keep up with the work force explosion, and it won't be able to count on its keystone automobile industry to provide all of them.

That's one of the conclusions reached in a book published today by the University of Michigan.

Titled "Michigan in the 1970's—An Economic Forecast," the volume was put together by the Bureau of Business Research of the university's Graduate School of Business Administration.

Its introduction, which attempts to pull together the book's various themes, was written by William Haber, dean of the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts, and W. Allen Spivey and Martin R.

Warsaw, members of the business school faculty.

Discussing the book, Haber singled out nine points for consideration.

SUBSTANTIAL HIKE
"First," he said, "our population increase will be substantial. In the current decade, Michigan population will increase by 14 per cent. In the 1970's, it will grow by another 15 per cent."

"Second . . . the population in the 15-24 age bracket will grow by 59 per cent in this decade alone. The implication for education . . . is quite overwhelming."

"Third, the Michigan labor force . . . will increase by 500,000 in the decade of the 1960's and by another 500,000 during the 1970's."

These estimates are based on the assumption of zero migration to Michigan. As a result, we estimate in this volume, that 860,000 more jobs will need to be created between 1970 and 1975 if unemployment is to be kept at about 4 per cent . . .

20 PER CENT
Haber said the auto industry could not provide all the new jobs needed now. He said that even "on the basis of a 10 million car year" it is estimated that only about 20 per cent of the new jobs needed can be created by the auto industry, either directly or indirectly.

The fifth point then, he said, was that "expansion of other manufacturing and more employment opportunities in non-manufacturing must be developed . . . We cannot rely on the sequence of good auto years alone."

Haber's sixth point was that the job outlook for nonwhites in Michigan was "much more serious than for the general population."

He said too few Negroes had the education and training necessary for the skilled jobs of the future and urged "we not lose any time in assisting Negro youth to enlarge their education. A massive effort is needed in this area."

FINAL POINTS

This tied him to his final three points which were, briefly:

More progress in the cooperative relationship between business and government; the likelihood of college enrollment reaching 400,000 by 1980 means "that we shall need to expand our investment in human capital to a far greater degree than at any time," and, finally, the state's tax structure badly needs overhauling with a state income tax providing "the only sensible solution."

"Our choice . . . is between a continuation of recurrent fiscal crises or a major tax change based upon an income tax which, by its very elasticity, responds to the state's needs as the state grows."

Drop 1 Charge in Rights Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A federal judge today dismissed one of the indictments against 17 men charged in the slaying of the three civil rights workers.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox tossed out the most serious indictment—one of two—on grounds there had been no violation of existing federal statutes and jurisdiction was lacking.

The bodies were found this summer beneath an earthen dam near Philadelphia, Miss. Included in those indicted were Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Cecil Price.

Cox did say, however, "the indictment surely states a heinous crime against the State of Mississippi, but not a crime against the United States."

"This is a court of limited jurisdiction," he said. "The indictment simply does not charge either of these defendants with any offense against the laws of the U.S."

In his decision, the federal jurist cited previous decisions in similar cases. A federal grand jury had in-

GOP Picks 5 Much of Lower Michigan Brought to Near-Standstill

House Dems Invited to Name Similar Group

LANSING (AP)—House Republicans took a step toward fiscal reform yesterday—and House Democrats indicated they would meet them halfway.

The Republican caucus appointed a special five-man committee to work with the Democrats toward fiscal reform. House Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, invited the Democrats to appoint a similar committee.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said the Democratic caucus most likely would appoint a committee "to find areas of agreement."

But at least one Democratic leader complained that the initiative was coming from the wrong quarter.

"I favor this," said Rep. J. Robert Trazler, D-Bay City, majority floor leader. "But we want the governor to take some action."

NO PACKAGED PROGRAM

Gov. George Romney, whose fiscal reform program was killed in a special 1963 legislative session, said he would not present a packaged program this year, but would work with legislative leaders of both parties to work out a mutually acceptable program.

He already has met and discussed the area in general terms with Republican and Democratic legislators.

He has expressed fear that any proposals he made would be labeled "Romney's program."

POTENTIAL CANDIDATE

Romney frequently has been mentioned as a potential GOP candidate for the presidency in 1968.

A blinding, choking snow slashed across much of Lower Michigan today, clogging roads, reducing visibility to near zero and bringing vehicle and pedestrian traffic almost to a standstill.

The snow began falling late yesterday and continued through the night, heaping up to six inches in the Detroit area and up to eight inches at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Detroit said it expected the snow to continue falling until late this afternoon and the snow depth in Detroit to increase to 18 inches.

It said if the snow did reach 10 inches it would be the greatest snowfall to hit the state's largest city since 1934 when 9.8 inches were recorded.

For the first time in many years, Detroit city schools were closing for the day because the snow made it impossible for the children to come to classes.

SUBURBAN SCHOOLS

Suburban Detroit schools also were closing.

The snow also forced out-state schools to close their doors.

All schools in Clare and Ionia Counties were reported closed. Most Montcalm County schools also were closed.

REST OF U.P.

The rest of the Upper Peninsula was reported clear.

The bureau said the southern part of the Lower Peninsula was hardest hit.

A newsman at Ypsilanti described conditions in that city as "terrible."

Roads and sidewalks in Detroit were all but impassable.

SIDEWALKS COVERED

Pedestrians, unable to navigate the heavily covered sidewalks, took to the roads, walking along runs made by slowly moving automobiles.

Suburbanites who had to come to the central city to get to their jobs reported snow in driveways half an hour to points where steady winds had drifted it.

Some said they had to shovel for as long as half an hour to open their garage doors and free their cars.

One woman described the John C. Lodge Expressway in the city as "an automobile junkyard."

She said cars barely could move on the usually fast-moving streets. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

U.S. Not Engaged in Talks on Viet Peace---Reedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House says it is not engaged in any negotiations for a Viet Nam settlement and that no one has been authorized to negotiate in behalf of the United States.

George E. Reedy, presidential press secretary, made these points yesterday after U.N. Secretary General U Thant said in New York that he had made concrete proposals aimed at a negotiated settlement of the Vietnamese war.

France and the Soviet Union are also seeking such an agreement.

But Reedy said: "I know of no specific proposal for negotiation that has been made to this government."

One child of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson was saved. The rescued child was 9-year-old Dennis. Names of the other four children were not available.

An invalid reported living in the home later was found to have left the house before the pre-dawn fire. Heavy drifting snow handicapped St. Clair County sheriff's deputies and an ambulance in reaching the isolated farm located 15 miles northwest of Port Huron.

President Johnson is known to feel that, at this stage, there is no evidence that the Chinese and North Vietnamese Communists are interested in serious talks on Viet Nam.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said yesterday that complete, immediate and unconditional talks on Viet Nam.

Corporation Forced to Dissolve

City Asked to Save Industrial Park Plan

Development of a future industrial park in the south-east section of the city has encountered troubled waters and appears headed for the rocks.

Bruce J. Annett, president of the Greater Pontiac Industrial Development Corporation (GPIDC), disclosed today that the entire project has been offered to the city to take over.

City officials reportedly are considering the GPIDC proposal.

Development of a 25-acre industrial park was launched in 1963 with a public subscription drive that netted more than $100,000.

GPIDC was to buy, improve and then resell property on the northeast corner of South and East Boulevards in South Park subdivision.

INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT

Object of the project was to develop an industrial district for the location of new industries and the expansion of existing ones.

However, the project is headed for the rocks, according to Annett. Unless, of course, the city takes it over.

Annett said that GPIDC had reached the limits of its financial resources and made its last monthly payment on land contracts in December.

EMPHASIZES NEED

Although Annett emphasizes the need for an industrial park still exists, the corporation cannot go any further.

He explained that the park project suffered from a lack of adequate financing. The developers had hoped to raise $300,000 for the project, but only $110,200 was received.

Some contributions, he said, hit a legal snag when certain types of businesses discovered they could not buy GPIDC stock as they had pledged to do.

Also, Annett said the city's legal authority would probably be needed in the acquisition of remaining properties in the proposed park district.

STILL TO BE PURCHASED

He said that 11 homes and 12 vacant lots remain to be purchased.

The corporation owns 31 lots in the proposed park area and is purchasing another 143 lots with a balance of $66,750.

There is presently owing against the property about $2,800 for 1963-64 taxes and roughly $4,000 as an assessment for the Murphy Park trunk sewer.

Annett said there is a note of $22,119 that fell due Jan. 1, 1965.

TAKE OVER PROJECT

He said that the city could take the project over and pay an estimated $50,021 in 1965.

Annett said that the GPIDC encountered difficulties from inadequate financing and the need to acquire all of the proposed 25-acre parcel.

"We have had no choice," he commented. "We could not negotiate to acquire further property because we had no money."

A delay in the construction of the Murphy Park sewer, held up because of a Macomb County suit that challenged the bonding authority, also hampered the industrial park development, said Annett.

City officials, meantime, have informally received the GPIDC proposal, but have made no decision on it.

The city has ordered Gear Associates Planning Consultants Inc., of Bloomfield Hills to study the proposal.

'Not Planning Talks'

ditional U.S. withdrawal is Peking's price for negotiations.

TWO CONDITIONS

U.S. officials give two conditions for any talks on Viet Nam: An end to attacks by the Communist Viet Cong and a cessation of subversion, infiltration and supply of the guerrillas from outside South Viet Nam.

And Reedy noted: "This matter would be terminated very quickly if aggressors cease their aggressions."

The U.S. position appeared to be that, in the absence of real hopes for negotiations now, the anti-Communist position should be strengthened as much as possible with an eye toward talks sometime in the future.

This was underscored by the news from South Viet Nam that American-manned jet bombers had taken part in several raids on Viet Cong positions in the key central region of South Viet Nam.

APPROPRIATE ACTION

This broadening of the U.S. role, in a land where some 24,000 American personnel are functioning officially as "advisers" to South Vietnamese forces, was described by the State Department as "in accordance with the government's stated policy of continuous action that is appropriate, fitting and measured."

In Saigon the officers who overthrew Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh sent him off to the United States with full honors.

Several embraced him with tears in their eyes.

YIELDED REINS

Several hours earlier, Khanh formally turned over command of the Vietnamese armed forces to Maj. Gen. Tran Van Little.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Oakland Schools officials reported all 29 school systems in the county were closed, giving some 200,000 children an unexpected holiday.

Pontiac and Waterford schools convened at the normal time this morning, but the few students who showed up were sent home at 9:30.

Absenteeism also had a crippling effect on many local businesses and industries.

Most downtown stores closed by noon, but auto license plate business was reported as brisk at the Pontiac Secretary of State Branch Office.

A number of stores at the Pontiac Mall and Bloomfield Miracle Mile shopping centers either closed before noon or never opened at all when their sale staffs failed to show up for work.

Most of the stores at the Tel-Huron Shopping Center remained open, however. In some cases the stores were a few hours late in opening.

Long distance telephone calls were limited to emergencies when only about 40 per cent of the normal force of long distance operators had showed up at 9 a.m.

AVAILABLE PERSONNEL

Eugene Russell, district manager of Michigan Bell Telephone, said all available personnel were being utilized as operators, leaving only two girls to run the business office out of a normal force of 40.

Local service was curtailed somewhat due to overloading of dial equipment, Russell said, but there had been no

City Schools Forced to Close

A long tradition was broken today.

For the first time in perhaps 20 years, Pontiac schools were forced to close because of bad weather.

"We have had a tradition here that the schools always remain open, and this is the first time since I have been a part of the system (10-11 years) we have not held classes," Superintendent Dr. Dana Whitmer said.

Most of the Pontiac students live within walking distance of the school, and bad weather isn't usually a problem, he said.

"But at 9 a.m. today when we surveyed the schools we found that many students and even more staff members didn't make it today," Whitmer added.

There weren't enough teachers or students to warrant staying open, he said.

Birmingham Area News

Drive to Open Monday for Community House

BIRMINGHAM—Area campaigners will begin working Monday to collect $87,250 for the Community House.

Labeled "realistic" by fund drive chairman Harvey Kresge, the goal is based on an estimate of administrative and maintenance requirements for the coming year.

Since its establishment in 1923, the Community House has spent 42 years serving Birmingham-Bloomfield residents and others from surrounding areas.

It is the headquarters for civic, cultural, educational and social functions.

A 10-room, two-story structure, the Community House was used by nearly 200,000 persons in 1964 and was the location of more than 3,600 organizational meetings.

35 COURSES

Some 35 courses were offered last year in a continually expanding educational program. Included in the curriculum were several classes sponsored by the Community House and Oakland University and taught by instructors from the university.

In the entertainment field, the Community House offers selected color films and nationally-known narrators.

Among a variety of services offered by the facility are catering, a lending library of hospital and sick room supplies, a mimeograph-addressograph service, an employment service for day help and the use of meeting rooms.

Almost all of the cost of operation is contributed during the annual fund drive.

"Sweden Year Around" is the title of this week's color travel film at the Community House.

The film, to be presented at 8 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday, is narrated by Ed Lark.

Lark photographed Swedes as they vacationed along their country's coastline in the summer and made full preparations for the dark months to come.

Also photographed were the nomad Laplanders with their ancient culture and traditional dress.

Preceding the film at 6 p.m. will be a traditional Swedish smorgasbord. Reservations for the dinner should be made by 5 p.m. today.

Getting Late on Auto Plates

It's getting late for some 30,000 Pontiac Area auto owners who have yet to purchase their 1965 license plates.

The deadline is midnight Sunday.

Offices of the secretary of state will remain open Saturday until 8 p.m. to accommodate late shoppers, and everyone in line at that time will be served.

This year, motorists may purchase plates by presenting their certificates of registration or title. It isn't necessary to bring the title. Plates will be issued with last year's registration.

The Pontiac office of the secretary of state, 96 E. Huron, estimates that sales are about 11,000 ahead of last year and are running better than 1,200 a day with a steady lineup all during the day.

Other offices of the secretary of state in the area are located at 282 Park, Birmingham, and 114 E. 4th, Rochester, and the Waterford Township Hall at M59 and Crescent Lake Road.

Shows Are Canceled

Pontiac Northern has canceled its performance of "Carousel" tonight due to the weather.

Tickets for tonight's performance will be honored either at tomorrow's 2 p.m. matinee or at the 8 p.m. show tomorrow.

Also canceled is the Mid-Winter Concert slated tonight at Wallied Lake High School. It was rescheduled for March 4.

Family Service of Oakland County announced cancellation of its annual dinner tonight.

Maintenance crews at Pontiac Municipal Airport were doing their best to keep one runway open for emergencies, but low visibility canceled the prospects of any normal air traffic.

Wind gusts up to 45 miles per hour were recorded at the airport. Snow depth was measured at six to eight inches, with drifts as deep as three feet.

Temperatures were holding steady at around 20 degrees, in contrast to the zero readings earlier in the week.

TODAY'S HIGH

The high for today was predicted at 20, with a low tonight of 6 to 12.

The snowfall is scheduled to diminish to flurries this afternoon, but winds up to 35 miles an hour will cause severe drifting, making driving hazardous.

The high winds are expected to continue into tomorrow with cloudy skies and a high of 14 to 20.

Mostly sunny and warmer weather is expected Saturday. The temperature was 20 at 8 a.m. but had dropped to 16 at 2 p.m.

Junior Editors Quiz on RADIATORS

LET IT SNOW!

QUESTION: How did radiators come to be so widely used?

ANSWER: What could be more cozy on a cold winter day than being warmed by a hot radiator, like the young man in our picture?

We should be grateful that we live in times when radiators are widely used, for until fairly recently, American homes were very differently heated.

American pioneers had to rely entirely on fireplaces. These sound romantic, but much of the warm air went up the chimney, and cold air had to come through chinks to replace that being lost, with the result that the pioneers baked on one side and froze on the other.

Cast iron stoves, first made in Lynn, Mass., in 1642, were much warmer, because the iron stove body would radiate heat into the room. But stoves could heat only one room.

Experiments with circulating hot water using primitive radiators began in America about 1840.

Later came the use of steam. This proved valuable for such large buildings as hotels and apartment houses. Smaller houses at first tended to use hot air or circulating hot water with radiators presenting many surfaces to give out heat.

Today, steam, hot water and hot air are all used. Stoves can heat well and are still being used in many places.

But the various kinds of central heating, including the kinds which use radiators, are displacing stoves because they can heat an entire house, are cleaner and save time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Radiators give out heat both by "radiation" and "convection." Check the meaning of these words in a dictionary or encyclopedia.

Went From Sharecropper's Son to Muslim Chief

CHICAGO (AP) — A hush falls over the jammed auditorium when Elijah Muhammad mounts the dais to preach the antiwhite, anti-Christian doctrine of "the nation of Islam."

But when the soft-spoken "messenger of Allah" speaks of the "white devils" and of eventual black supremacy, the hush is shattered by chants of, "You're right."

Muhammad, 67, will address his followers, popularly known as Black Muslims, at their annual convention, which begins Friday and ends Sunday at the Coliseum. Heavy police protection is planned on the strength of reports that Muhammad has been marked for death by avengers of Malcolm X, a Black Muslim defector who was assassinated in New York City Sunday.

Muhammad, a light-skinned, wiry native of Sandersville, Ga., has built the Black Muslims from a few scattered followers in the 1930s to an organization with a reputed membership of thousands. Membership figures are kept secret.

Born Elijah Poole, son of a sharecropper, he moved in the early 1930s to Detroit, where he met W. D. Fard, founder of the Black Muslim movement.

UNKNOWN FATE

Poole later claimed that Fard was Allah, the god of Islam. Fard disappeared in 1933 and his fate is unknown.

About this time, Poole disavowed his surname, saying it was that "of the slave master of my grandfather."

He became Elijah Muhammad, the "messenger of Allah."

In 1933, he built a temple in Detroit, then moved the Black Muslim headquarters to the South Side of Chicago.

50 TEMPLES

Now there are 50 temples, or mosques, across the nation, plus schools in Chicago and Detroit to teach Black Muslim principles.

Muhammad lives in a 19-room, red brick mansion about six blocks from Mosque No. 2. Bodyguards called the "Fruit of Islam" are near him at all times; the also has a home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Muhammad teaches his followers to hate all whites and all Negroes who want to live in white society.

ELIJAH MUHAMMAD

"All your lives you've been hated by white people," he has said. "The white man can't love you. He is the devil himself."

The sect has asked the government to give them a state in which they can live in complete segregation.

Muhammad has predicted that Black Muslims will triumph over the whites some day, saying: "We are the people to rule after them."

The Black Muslims abhor the word "Negro" because it is one given the race by whites. They call Negroes the black people.

SELF-DEFENSE

Indonesia Orders Ban on 21 Papers

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian Information Minister Achmadi withdrew the licenses today of 21 newspapers and periodicals in Jakarta and North Sumatra that were involved with the banned anti-Communist BPS movement.

President Sukarno had ordered Achmadi to ban all periodicals connected with the BPS — the Body for the Promotion of Islam. The organization of journalists was exposing tactics of the Indonesian Communist party.

The banning is expected to leave the Communist press in a commanding position.

not believe in violence, except in self-defense. But Muhammad has said "plenty of blood will be shed" before whites are exterminated.

Black Muslims follow traditional Islamic disciplines, such as abstention from alcohol and tobacco. They pray to Mecca five times daily.

Islam, primarily a Middle East religion, teaches brotherhood and equality, rather than group supremacy. Orthodox Muslims claim the Bible is an antecedent to the Koran, the teachings of the Prophet Mohammed. They recognize Jesus as a prophet and claim he foretold the coming of Mohammed.

But Elijah Muhammad considers the Bible a "poison book" and teaches that Christianity was designed to keep the black man in chains. Negro ministers are "as the black friends of the slave masters," he says.

Muhammad, father of six sons, was in prison from 1943 to 1946 for violation of the Selective Service Act.

Felix Frankfurter

The death of FELIX FRANKFURTER takes from the American scene a legal mind that shone with rare brilliance for half a century.

Until retirement in 1962, he had served as a U. S. Supreme Court justice for 23 years after a long career spent as professor of law at Harvard and special assignments in the national capital at the call of Presidents Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt.

He accompanied Wilson to the peace treaty negotiations at Versailles after World War I and played a major role in fashioning Roosevelt's New Deal program.

An immigrant boy who educated himself, FRANKFURTER's personal and judicial philosophy was of liberal orientation but, though the founder of the American Civil Liberties Union, he was stern in his objective and impartial interpretation of the law.

As a member of the Supreme Court, he held that a judge should overrule the executive and legislative branches of the government only under extreme circumstances. It was his conviction that a court which substituted its own views for those of legislators invited repudiation and possibly drastic reform, as did the "nine old men" of the Roosevelt-New Deal era.

No country was ever better served by one of her sons than was America by Felix Frankfurter, and his passing will be deeply mourned not only in his homeland but throughout the world.

'Farm Problem' Seen as Annual 'Product'

Since its enactment in 1938, the Agriculture Adjustment Act, which provides the crop control and subsidy headstudies that have plagued the National economy, has been a political shuttlecock batted back and forth by opposing political parties.

The party in power struggles desperately to cope with the agricultural Frankenstein, the opposition roundly condemns not only the Government's farm program and its administration, but promises a better one if voted into position to implement it.

In submitting the Administration's annual farm message to Congress, President Johnson but rubber-stamped the doleful year-to-year state of the national agriculture it reflects.

Keeping the Country's farms going during fiscal 1966 will cost American taxpayers nearly as much as the present budgetary $6.9 billion. But as disturbing as the continuous drain on the Treasury has been the lack of any concrete departmental plan to meet the farm problem. On the contrary, there is offered only another vague "fundamental examination of the entire agriculture policy of the United States."

Far from recommending that the $3.1 billion in farm subsidy be cut back, JOHNSON warned that the removal of price props "would have a catastrophic effect on farm income," and urged that support programs for six farm-production categories be increased.

At root of the unsound state of the agriculture establishment is the U. S. farmer's enormous capacity to produce. Recommended in the President's message as a step to curtail perennial overabundance is the diversion of between 50 and 80 million acres of land from crop production to recreational, highway beautification and other purposes.

Pointed to, also, as indication of the economic imbalance existing in the Nation's population are these specifics:

● Forty-six per cent of rural families have incomes of less than $3,000 a year.

● One-fourth of all farm homes are without running water.

● Educational attainment of rural dwellers lags two years behind their urban contemporaries.

Alleviation of these basic deficiencies is envisioned within the broad and still undetailed framework of the Administration's Attack on Poverty.

No greater challenge could be given the Great Society.

Despair Enters Viet Nam Picture

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—A new element, despair, may become the deciding factor for the United States in Viet Nam, a country beginning to look like a comic opera.

It has cost the United States hundreds of lives and billions of dollars to back South Viet Nam in the war against the Communist guerrillas ever since 1955 when the government there asked for help.

But that government, headed by President Ngo Dinh Diem, is gone and since he was assassinated, there have been at least eight new governments.

They actually change hands over night, as they did in the past few days. Old leaders get bounced, new leaders take over. The new leaders become the old leaders, and they get bounced.

Meanwhile, there's supposed to be a war going on against the guerrillas, and the United States is standing by with men, guns and planes, waiting to get with it. While it waits, the United States can't duck the basic question: How can it get on with the war if the Vietnamese leaders are more taken with shoving one another around than shoving the guerrillas around?

UNTIL SHOW INTEREST
Unless the Vietnamese begin showing an earnest interest in preventing a Communist takeover, the reaction in this country almost inevitably will be despair over whether the Vietnamese can be helped or are worth helping.

In getting into this fight, the United States has given a couple of reasons, one idealistic—to help the Vietnamese preserve their independence—and the other realistic—to prevent communism from taking over all Southeast Asia.

But the idealistic reason will be rendered ridiculous if the Vietnamese show themselves more concerned with factional disputes than saving themselves from communism.

And the realistic reason—using American forces to fight the guerrillas in Viet Nam—will look more and more like colonialism and aggression if the South Vietnamese themselves are indifferent about the Reds.

There is a view that the United States should step up the war against the Reds to show them this country won't yield and, when this has been done, work out a settlement with them.

CAN'T ESCAPE BITTER THOUGHT

But even if the United States tried that, it could not escape the bitter thought if there is no stability in South Viet Nam.

If a settlement is worked out with the Reds it can only mean an eventual Communist takeover if South Viet Nam disintegrates further and no real government is possible there.

Business as Usual

David Lawrence Says:

'Soundings' Begun on Viet Nam

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic "soundings" have begun in an effort to settle the Viet Nam war, but this doesn't as yet mean "negotiations." Diplomacy has its own vocabulary to describe communications between governments in times of crisis. The object, of course, is to avoid putting any nation in a position which might cause it to lose face or injure its pride.

But all the diplomatic "soundings," which are preliminary to a possible negotiation, do not indicate just what would be discussed at a peace conference, or what America would insist upon as a condition before entering such a conference.

Some light is thrown on this in the statement made on Jan. 23 by William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

"The negotiation that produced a return to the essentials of the 1954 accords and thus an independent and secure South Viet Nam would, of course, be an answer, indeed the answer."

"But negotiation would hardly be promising that admitted communism to South Viet Nam, that did not get Hanoi out, or that exposed South Viet Nam and perhaps other countries of the area to renewed Communist aggression at will, with only nebulous or remote guarantees."

This view was reiterated by the White House on Feb. 7, when it was stated that "the key to the situation remains the cessation of infiltration from North Viet Nam and the clear indication by the Hanoi regime that it is prepared to cease aggression against its neighbors."

It would appear that the United States government will insist at least on some kind of assurance that there will, in effect, be a cease-fire or a cessation of hostile operations inside South Viet Nam. It may be doubted whether the North Viet Nam government will agree to make such a pledge, but if the fighting happens to cease, the parties will be carried on anyhow.

Red China is ready to participate.

Meanwhile, the use of American-manufactured bombs for the first time in South Viet Nam may or may not be a coincidence, but it certainly makes clear that, during all the preliminary talk of "negotiation," the United States isn't halting its military operations.

The outlook is for lots of conversation on a diplomatic basis between the scenes in the next several days at least, with the possibility that some kind of international conference will emerge.

Billy Rose Tells of Role in Israel Culture Center

NEW YORK—A talk with Billy Rose. Part 1: "The opening of the National Museum of Israel in May won't be a secret. Everybody's covering it. And why not? It will be the first general art museum between Istanbul and Capetown. Modern as a Kennedy half-dollar."

CONSIDINE

"It all began so casually. The U.S. government gave Israel $25,000 in counterpart funds to do something about culture there, with the understanding that the Israelis would match it."

"They gave 50 acres in the center of Jerusalem as well as matching the money."

"When the curtain goes up in May, it will be a $10 million complex: the Shrine of the Book, with the Dead Sea Scrolls, a new showcase in Israeli marble for the old Bezalel gallery, which had been housed in a former Turkish harem; Sam Bronfman's great gallery, the Biblical and Archeological building; and the Billy Rose Art Garden, nearly six acres, designed by my great-nephew, Isami Naguchi. It will have my million-dollar collection of sculptures."

ASKED VALUE

"When I first met Mr. Ben-Gurion and told him about my wish to give my collection to Israel, he asked me how much it was worth and I said a million dollars."

"Then he wondered why I would want to put it on a hill in full view of some people who might want to destroy it, and I told him that if two and a half million Israelis were willing to risk flesh and blood by staying on that hill, so to speak, I could risk a couple tons of bronze."

"So he said he surmised that if there ever was an attack by the Arabs, I'd expect the Israeli government to carry Rodin's Adam and the other pieces to a safe place, and I said no, I'd want them melted and made into bullets."

"Mr. Ben-Gurion turned to Teddy Kollek, his friend and mentor, and told him to let me have anything I wanted. Nothing was too good, that sort of thing. I asked him why, in view of the fact that what I wanted to do for Israel looked like a plugged nickel compared to what others had done."

"He looked at me and said 'You're bringing us art, and that's mother's milk.'"

Vietnamese Are Not Cowardly

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—The canard is widespread that South Vietnamese won't die for what they believe. Let's look at the facts. In the past four years, Communist Viet Cong murdered 6,000 village leaders, rural police and their wives and children. These were men and women who refused to yield to V.C. threats.

About 1 a.m. one night, 30 armed Viet Cong moved into Binh Thanh hamlet, assassinated with gunshots a young girl, Phan Thi Trinh, chief of the hamlet Republican Youth. The terrorists pinned on her body a death sentence signed Forces for Liberation of South Viet Nam.

Eight o'clock one evening, 20 Viet Cong broke into the house of Ngo Tien, 58, of the Phu Hai hamlet council. They read an indictment condemning him to death, then knocked him down with submachine gun shots. The assassins left the indictment on his body signed Front for Liberation of the South. At midnight, Viet Cong en-

Feels Wide Track Drive Brought Problems to City

Downtown business people are not the only ones concerned by the problems Wide Track Drive has brought to our town. When I have reason to go downtown I remember that once you get on the mile-wide track you can't even get where you are going. Then I go to a shopping center or some other town.

I live two miles from downtown Pontiac but I can get to the courthouse (eight or nine miles) in half the time it takes to go downtown.

DIZZY FROM GOING 'ROUND AND 'ROUND

'Need More Police Force for Holidays'

We could have a more effective police force in Pontiac—one which would work on a citizen's problems even on a holiday.

After I was robbed of $70 worth of equipment last week, I personally got a lead on the people who stole my property and took it to the Pontiac police on Monday (Washington's birthday). They told me there was no one in on the holiday who could assist me in apprehending the man who robbed me.

I feel we should have enough men on the force to handle any type of investigation, holiday or no holiday.

Comments Continue on City Income Tax

If we had a sharp recession in business, wouldn't the City of Pontiac be knocked down if we had an income tax? All incomes would shrink and many would vanish—including corporate profits. Who underwrites the payless paydays that follow?

WONDERING

The proposed city income tax will be bad for Pontiac. The city needs new business development, more professional centers and desirable use of existing vacant buildings. The paper work involved in collecting the withholding tax, along with the tax on profits, makes this just enough to meet the city's need.

and some regular troops who only go through the motions of fighting. There are turncoats, traitors and weaklings.

But in the past four years, 30,000 Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in action and 25,000 wounded.

Consider, too, how difficult it is to fight under these conditions:

One of the earliest Communist Viet Cong operations was directed against the rural Vietnamese police. The Reds would send a small guerrilla force to the outskirts of a town, and entice the police garrison to come out and fight. The villagers expected these rural police to go out and protect them.

While the unit went out of its barracks, trying to grapple with this guerrilla force, another Communist group would slip into town and murder the families of the police left behind in the barracks area.

Some hamlet chiefs keep foxholes handy near their homes, depend on a youth lookout force to warn them when Viet Cong assassins sneak into the area.

Other officials sleep every night with friends in nearby towns, come back each morning to do their work.

Not all Vietnamese are brave, of course. The country has some village militiamen who run and hide when Viet Cong approach.

Today's 'Pot-Boyle'

Story of Everyday Life: Asking for Raise

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals is asking the boss for a hike in pay.

This is the greatest business drama in America today, and it takes place daily in thousands of offices.

The pattern usually goes as follows:

Your name is Jack Crestfall, and you finally get tired of hearing your wife complain about how hard it is for her to make both ends meet.

"If you don't ask for a raise, I'm going to have to start taking in the neighbors' washing," she threatens.

When you tell your buddies at the office you are going to hit the boss up for more money, all work halts while they give advice. Some egg you on, others say you are foolhardy. They recall the case of a fellow in the stockroom who asked for a raise 20 years ago, got fired and wound up on the streets carrying a signboard for a pants-pressing firm.

The next step is to enlist the aid of the secretary of the boss. You butter her up by buying her flowers and candy with your lunch money.

STAGE IS SET

Two months later she lets you know the stage is set.

"The boss is real pleased this morning because he had a good golf game yesterday, Jack," she says. "You'd better hit him up now — while his irons are still hot."

But the big man — old J.P. Grasper — seems in a mood of pure irony when you squirm across the thick rug up to his desk.

"Ah, Mr. Crestfall," he murmurs, "and may I inquire the purpose of your visit? I hope this is not another complaint about the lack of paper towels in the men's washroom."

"No, sir," you hesitate, and then the words blurt out. "I just got to have more money. My wife and kids —"

"You understand, of course, young man, that we are not exactly a welfare organization." This is the boss's favorite line.

"How many have we adopted?"

"No, sir, but I have been working hard. Last month I put 20 new ideas in the office suggestion box."

"Long silence."

A long, long silence. Grasper, toying with his eyeglasses and staring dolefully out the window, then gives you management's set speech. Management itself likes to move young men ahead as fast as it can, but management has its problems, too. Management is on a raft adrift in perilous seas. Business is bad, the market is tightening, no one knows what lies ahead.

Just as your backbone melts into complete jelly and you start to volunteer to take a pay cut to keep the firm afloat, Grasper throws out a lifeline.

"Well, Mr. Crestfall," he says rudely, "I guess it wouldn't break us to give you a $5 increase, now, my boy" — he comes around and pats you firmly on the back — "Get in there and show us our confidence in you isn't misplaced!"

To Pick Snow Queen Music Festival Set

MARQUETTE (AP) — Michigan's 1965 Collegiate Snow Queen will be chosen Saturday as the windup of an all-events week celebration on the Northern Michigan University campus. Thirteen coeds are in the running.

MARQUETTE (AP) — The annual Solo and Ensemble Music Festival at Northern Michigan University is expected to attract more than 700 students from 26 Upper Peninsula high schools Saturday.

You wobble weakly out to the office water cooler.

"What happened?" the gang asks.

"I got it! I had him eating out of my hand. I told him he had to put it on the line or else."

"You did?"

The next day as the boss enters he notes nine floral bouquets and nine boxes of candy on his secretary's desk. Grasper, wise in office ways, smiles craftily. He knows that nine more men are going to ask him for a merit raise before nightfall — and he also knows that all nine of them are going to come out of his office holding their heads in their hands.

Red-Carpet Treatment in U.A.R.

Honors Heaped on Ulbricht

By AZI ZYVUSTUS.

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser heaped more honors Wednesday night on visiting East German President Walter Ulbricht, including Egypt's highest decoration, the Collar of the Nile.

Ulbricht's red-carpet reception in Egypt brought a statement from West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard that he was standing by his decision to cut off economic aid to the United Arab Republic in reprisal.

Erhard and his Cabinet were considering political reprisals, which could mean a diplomatic break with Egypt.

Nasser told a banquet honoring Ulbricht that in relations with other countries, "We are not ready to accept threats, nor do we endure any checks to our freedom of policy."

He told Ulbricht: "We have always tried, and still are trying, to preserve sound and strong relations with the German nation along both sides of the artificial division line."

Nasser said the Arabs also "deeply understand the ordeal of the German nation by its division into two sections, especially that we Arabs suffer not only from division but also the expulsion from their country of some Arabs (Palestinians) who are now refugees."

"That is why we tried, and still try, to preserve good relations with you and with West Germany."

Along with the decoration to Ulbricht, Nasser conferred the grand cordon of the Order of al Kamal on Mrs. Ulbricht.

Ulbricht presented Nasser and his wife with East Germany's Grand Star for International Friendship.

Soviet Aide: U.S. Failed in Hassle Over U.N. Dues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko says the United States has failed in its fight to strip the Soviet Union and 12 other financially delinquent nations of their General Assembly votes.

"Such a policy of provocations has failed at the 19th session of the General Assembly," Fedorenko said Wednesday in an interview with the Associated Press.

Fedorenko said the penalty question became a dead issue when the U.S. delegation agreed to a roll call in the closing hours of the General Assembly without challenging the voting rights of the Soviet Union and the 12 others that are two years behind in their financial assessments.

When U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson agreed to the ballot which defeated Albania's attempt to force a showdown over peace-keeping dues, he said the move was procedural and did not affect the U.S. demand for voting penalties.

VOTING PENALTY

Fedorenko paused when asked if the Soviet Union would have quit the U.N. — as threatened — if the voting penalty had been enforced.

"In such a case the Soviet Union would have to reconsider its attitude toward the United Nations organization," he said.

"We must emphasize as strongly as possible that the attempts to go ahead with the course of provocations followed by the United States and some of its supporters pave the way to the breakup of the United Nations," he declared.

Fedorenko said, "If decisions regarding the establishment and financing of the U.N. forces are taken by the Security Council strictly in accordance with the Charter provisions, the Soviet Union will be ready to share in the expenditures" of U.N. peace-keeping forces.

The interview ranged over the merits and faults of the U.N., the question of Chinese representation and Indonesia's withdrawal from the world forum.

Clymer was accused of disorderly conduct during a student demonstration outside the U.S. Embassy Feb. 9 during which rioting students attacked him.

Soviet police held Clymer under detention for seven hours and accused him of striking a policeman. Clymer denied the accusation and the U.S. government protested his detention.

Pope Invests New Cardinals

Thousands Witness
Modernized Rites

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI invested 26 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today, conferring on them the red hats and rings of their princely office.

The cardinals included one American, Archbishop Lawrence Shehan of Baltimore, Md. The 27th prelate elevated by the Pope this week, Bishop Angel Herrera y Orta of Malaga, remained in Spain to receive his insignia from the Spanish chief of state, Generalissimo Franco, in accordance with tradition in that Catholic country.

The glittering public ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica was attended by thousands, including presidents of African states, Prime Minister Sean Lemass of Ireland and 36 other cardinals. But the ceremony was drastically revised, reflecting the current modernization of the church.

Today's ceremony took the place of three separate consistories previously held for new cardinals. For the first time, it opened with a Mass celebrated jointly by the Pope and the 26 new cardinals. This was to emphasize the spiritual aspects of the ritual, in line with decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

AROUND POPE

After the first part of the Mass, the new cardinals stood in a semicircle around Pope Paul's throne as he told them:

"Dearest brothers, a great and lofty dignity is conferred on you. You will be, in fact, our co-operators and counselors in the ruling and the governing of the holy Catholic Church."

"Know that you are obliged in a most particular way to commit yourselves with all your energy for the exaltation of the Catholic faith, for the peace of the Christian people and of all peoples, for the defense of ecclesiastical liberty."

This formula, a new one, also stemmed from the Vatican council and its decrees emphasizing the brotherhood of all men and the sharing of power over the Church by the Pope and bishops collectively.

TITULAR CHURCH

Pope Paul embraced each cardinal and assigned him a titular church in Rome as a reminder of the ancient day when the cardinals were the priests of the Church.

Josef Cardinal Beran of Prague, who came to Rome a week ago after 16 years in confinement in Communist Czechoslovakia, received great applause as he came forward.

There also was loud applause for Archbishop Paul Zoungana of Upper Volta, the church's second Negro cardinal.

Cardinal Shehan followed the African prelate to the Pope's throne, accompanied by more applause. More than 500 Americans, most of them from Baltimore, were in the basilica.

Afterward each new cardinal went to the Pope's throne singly to promise to the "Roman pontiffs, successors in the primacy of the blessed Peter, perpetual and collaboration."

Brain Surgery for Archbishop

CHICAGO (AP) — Albert Cardinal Meyer, 61, archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, undergoes brain surgery today at Mercy Hospital.

Dr. John L. Keeley, the cardinal's personal physician, said the surgery was decided upon after examinations by three brain surgeons. He said the surgery would "relieve the increased intracranial pressure that has been causing the cardinal's persistent headaches."

Dr. Keeley said Dr. Harold C. Voris, chairman of the neurosurgery at Mercy Hospital, will perform the operation heading a 10-member surgical team.

As a special precaution, the hospital learned from the U.S. Air Force the times of the two daily flights of B58 Hunter bombers that cross Chicago, causing sonic booms. The operation was to be timed so as not to coincide with a boom.

The cardinal has been in the hospital since Feb. 17. Last month he was hospitalized for 12 days for treatment of gall bladder.

Sanity Trial Seen Next Step for Ruby

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Jack Ruby appeared today to be heading for another round of courtroom drama — this time to determine whether he has become insane since he fired the fatal shot into Lee Harvey Oswald's abdomen 15 months ago.

The probability of Ruby appearing once again before Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown popped up yesterday when the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals decided not to review Ruby's conviction until the condemned killer's current sanity is judged.

The Appeals Court had originally planned to hear an appeal from Ruby's lawyers on March 10.

If Ruby is found currently insane he would be sent to a state mental hospital. But if Ruby is found sane, the Appeals Court would then review the conviction as scheduled.

The Appeals Court ruling was brought about by the Ruby family's request that lawyer Joe Tonahill be kicked off Ruby's defense team.

SHOULD BE POSTPONED

"We have concluded that the submission of this appeal and decision on the question as to who will be recognized by this court as appellant's counsel on appeal should be postponed to allow time for the trial judge to judicially determine" Ruby's mental state, the Appellate Court ruled.

This apparently left the way open for Brown, who sat on the bench during the Ruby trial last year, to call for a jury trial on Ruby's sanity.

Both Brown and Prosecuting Attorney Henry Wade refrained from extensive comment.

"I have never heard of anything like this before, but then I suppose it is an unusual case," said Wade.

But Tonahill, who said he would not leave the case no matter what the Ruby family says, hailed the court order as a "wonderful humane thing for the court to do."

Chances of California Split Said Nonexistent

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Senate has initiated action to split into two states that land of giant redwoods, crowded freeways, brassy Hollywood, sophisticated San Francisco, sandy deserts and snow-covered mountains.

Twenty-five of the state's 40 senators cosponsored a bill recently that would slash California into northern and southern divisions.

The measure was prompted by the U.S. Supreme Court order that both legislative houses be apportioned on the basis of population.

The California Assembly meets that requirement. The Senate is aligned geographically.

ORDER SENATE

A special three-judge federal court, sitting in Los Angeles, followed the Supreme Court action by ordering the Senate to complete reapportionment no later than July 1.

When the legislative session began in January, Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, a Democrat from the northern California city of San Mateo, insisted that partition was the only answer.

Most legislative experts say chances of final approval by both houses are nonexistent. But Dolwig and other senators believe the plan may be accepted by the legislature and the California voters.

Reapportionment would mean a shift of 20 senators from northern California to the population centers of the south — Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange counties.

DIVIDING LINE

The Senate proposes the Tehachapi Mountain range, which stretches across the state from east to west, as the natural geographical and cultural dividing line.

This would put Los Angeles in the southern state and San Francisco in the north.

ALL 4 PARKS

The split would leave seven counties with a population of 10.4 million in the south and 51 counties with 7.9 million in the north.

ARE CONTACT LENSES SAFE?

Three years of diligent research have produced a new antiseptic contact lens which has been tested out to be chemically safe, according to Kindy Optical Company, 13 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac.

The safety features of the new lens have been confirmed by a leading Midwestern Medical School and a nationally recognized research laboratory. Tests prove that the new lens arrests the growth of germs, thereby preventing or retarding possible infections caused by carelessness of the wearer or by dirt particles.

Although all contact lenses are considered safe with proper fitting and proper wearing habits, Kindy presents the additional safety margin of the new lens.

Complete information and literature may be obtained without obligation at Kindy Optical Company, 13 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac, FE 5-7172.

The vast northern area has most of the state's water and recreational areas, including all four of California's national parks.

For the past quarter-century there has been a growing difference between the two sections. There have been fights over water control and development and how the state's gasoline tax money would be divided.

CULTURAL HEART

Those in the San Francisco

SPECIAL REPORT

Some state officials took the proposal seriously, as did Hugo Fisher, head of the state's resources agency, who said, "It would be total anarchy." Fisher also said that Southern Californians would have to come north for their hunting and fishing and could be faced with high nonresident fees.

EDUCATION SYSTEM

Educational leaders were concerned over how the huge University of California system would be divided.

The southern section would get national basketball champion UCLA. The north would get the University of California at Berkeley with all those nuclear laboratories built recently by the federal government.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said

California should never be divided.

"This is a great state. Southern California could not exist without the water from the north. Northern California could not afford to construct the dams unless the south purchased the water," he said.

Assemblyman William F. Stanton, Democrat from San Jose, took the proposal lightly and suggested California be divided into three parts — north, south and Disneyland.

Area Rezoned for Parking Lot24-Acre Parcel Will Serve Pontiac Mall

Rezoning of a 24-acre parcel to permit expanded parking at the Pontiac Mall was authorized Tuesday night by the Waterford Township Planning Commission.

The commission approved the change from agricultural to commercial zoning as requested by the A&W Management Co., owners and operators of the center, following a zoning hearing.

The parking lot area which is expected to be developed when expansion of the J. L. Hudson store begins, is located adjacent and west of the center.

Approximately 542 feet on Elizabeth Lake Road will be developed for parking. The parcel is 1,930 feet deep.

Expansion of the present J. L. Hudson store will begin this summer with completion slated by the fall of 1966.

TO TRIPLE SIZE

Size of the store will be tripled from the present 84,000 square feet of floor space to 252,000 square feet.

In other action at the hearing, the commission approved two other rezoning requests and denied two.

Approved for rezoning from agricultural to multiple family dwelling was a lot on Elizabeth Lake Road west of Stringham School and a two-lot parcel in Keith Acres from commercial to allow a small machine shop.

The commission denied rezoning to allow a camper sales operation north of M59 and west of Hillcliff because the applicants were not present and insufficient information had been provided.

REZONING DENIED

Also denied was rezoning of a parcel in Drayton Woods subdivision from commercial to manufacturing because the commission felt the present nonconforming zoning should not be expanded.

There were 2,860,000 color television sets in use in the U.S. at the beginning of this year, a 77 per cent gain over the previous year.

KNOXVILLE, TENN. —

Downtown Knoxville, boasting its third-extensive redevelopment project in four years, has converted its two major blocks into a sheltered shopping area providing the comfort of a modern shopping center.

The project, called GAY-

WAY, links 42 businesses by means of sidewalk canopies along both sides of Gay Street, the city's main retailing thoroughfare.

Business is booming and shoppers, especially the women, are lauding the comfort provided by the shelter.

The two previous projects

here are the Promenade, a back porch affair on 12 business streets, all of which are included in GAY-WAY, and Market

Square Mall, which replaced a dirty market house square one block west of GAY-WAY.

All of the developments were privately financed by property owners and merchants by assessing each property on the basis of front footage involved.

To date, more than $1,000,000 has been spent in the program, which is spearheaded by the

(DKA).

8 YEARS AGO

The DKA was formed six years ago by downtown property owners and merchants to combat the increasing drain by

Negro Gets a 'Boot'
From Idaho's KKK

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—For one whole day, Paul Bellesen was the great titan of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan for all of Idaho.

Then he got booted out.

"Now I just figured they might do something like that,"

said Bellesen.

He's a Negro.

BUSINESS OWNER

Bellesen, 33, owner and operator of a janitor service, was appointed Idaho's highest (and only) Klan official after writing a letter to Imperial Wizard

James R. Venable of Tucker,

Ga.

He said he mentioned that he was with the Elks Club ("I failed to mention that I do janitor work for the club") and thought he had followers sympathetic to the Klan.

Bellesen said he signed a statement that he was a "white,

Anglo-Saxon Protestant," and mailed his membership application along with the $15 fee.

"Being a Negro and supposedly unable to read anyway, I signed it," he said.

CATHOLIC, TOO

Incidentally, he's also a Roman Catholic.

Then Wednesday night Venable was informed that his new recruit was a Negro.

"He has perpetrated a fraud through the mail," said Venable, promptly revoking Belles-en's membership.

"It was a great challenge to me to see just how secret the Klan is and if I could get in,"

said Bellesen.

NO SECRETS

"I didn't send him any of our secrets," said Venable. "You have to go through initiation to learn secrets."

Bellesen also tried his luck

with United Klans of America,

Inc., but "they asked for my photograph." He didn't return the application.

This is not surprising to me about a Nigger belonging to Jim's Klan," said Calvin Craig,

the Georgia grand dragon of the United Klans. "He's already admitted to taking in Catho-

Craig and Venable already were at odds. Craig recently invited two newsmen to witness an initiation ceremony to "improve the Klan's image."

CALLED TREASON

Venable promptly accused

Craig of high treason. He said

Craig could face execution, but added that he was sure no such drastic action would ensue.

Bellesen said he opposes any group, white or Negro, that stretches violence, but hastened to add that he holds no ill feeling toward any individuals who belong to the Klan.

Workshop for Prospective
Businessmen

Prospective business owners in the Pontiac area will have an opportunity to learn about starting or purchasing a business at a one-day workshop announced today by Robert F. Phillips, regional director of the Small Business Administration (SBA).

The Pontiac area workshop will be conducted in the Board of Directors Room, Community National Bank, 30 N. Saginaw, next Thursday from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

It will be conducted by SBA without charge.

These workshops are open to individuals from all walks of life," Phillips said.

Chief Admits Police Were Last to Know of Teen Gambling in New Jersey Suburb

HAWORTH, N.J. (AP) — The police were the last to know about a teen-age gambling operation being conducted in the home of a 16-year-old boy, the police chief admits.

"It was common knowledge among the teen-agers," Chief Gaston Michel said Wednesday.

"My daughter Patty knew about it but said nothing. That's the way teen-agers are now. They won't tell you anything," the chief said.

He quickly added that neither

POLICE TIPPED

The gambling operation was brought to police attention by an anonymous tip. Police kept a $40,000 home in this quiet suburban Bergen County community of 3,750 under observation for 10 days and then raided the place, seizing a gambling table, dice, chips, and I.O.U. slips totaling $800.

The owners of the home, Oscar Olsen, who is an insurance salesman, his wife, Catherine, their maid, Minnie Chatham, and their 16-year-old son and two other teen-age boys were arrested. The teen-agers were charged with juvenile delinquency and the adults were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Michel said the gambling had been going on for about two months. "The boys saved their lunch money to gamble." About 50 boys participated.

"The town has mixed emotions about this. They're happy the thing has been broken up but upset by the publicity," the chief said.

Phyllis Gross, an attractive blonde mother of four teen-age boys, said her oldest boy had visited the gambling room. "He told me about it. He said those kids are playing for real. He thought they were a little crazy."

"I think the publicity in this matter has been wonderful in that it woke up some parents to what their children are doing," Mrs. Gross added.

Carl Steinmetz, 54, who served as mayor for 10 years before leaving office last month, said: "With all the advantages the youngsters have, particularly in the suburbs, it seems a shame that situations like this do occur. Guidance of young people is one of our biggest problems."

Father Paul Lehman, pastor of the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church to which the Olsens belong, appeared troubled.

"I've had little contact with the parents. The boy had not struck me unfavorably."

"I'm curious to talk to the boy. I should also like to ask the parents what is their conscience in the matter," he said.

Arthur Gross, 54, who operates a service station, said: "Gambling is here to stay. All life is a gamble. I played penny ante as a kid. I had no ill effects from it."

Theater Editor Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — Daniel Blum, 65, editor of "Theater World" and "Screen World" annuals and compiler of numerous other pictorial histories of almost all phases of show business, died Wednesday. Blum was former drama critic for the Chicago Journal of Commerce and longtime theater editor for "Manhattan Magazine."

Public Opinion Varies on Viet War as Mail Floods Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has been getting mail from home on Viet Nam, The Montana says it is running 25 to 1 against carrying the war to the North and for negotiating a peaceful solution.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan also has been hearing from the folks back home about Viet Nam. But he gets only three or four letters a day and 50 per cent of them support his position against negotiations now.

In one week — until 8 p.m. Wednesday night — 70 letters had flowed into the office of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D. But Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., has received no mail at all on Viet Nam.

In an effort to determine how mail to Capitol Hill is running on Viet Nam — particularly on the advisability of negotiations — the Associated Press asked a random sampling of members of Congress three questions:

1. Have you been receiving mail on the war in Viet Nam?

2. How has it been running?

3. Has it had any effect on your own position?

From McGovern's 700 letters to McCormack's none, the volume varies widely. But all those questioned are in general agreement that there has been negligible effect on their own views.

"I'd form my own opinion," McCormack said. It is unflagging support of Johnson administration policy.

"I haven't based my position in any way on the mail or on public opinion," said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

"My own views were made up long ago," said Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii. "We can't pull out."

VIEW NOT CHANGED

"My view hasn't changed," said Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y. "We must seek a diplomatic and political resolution, not a military one. It is time to negotiate."

Mansfield said he does not believe the mail is exerting major influence on positions taken by senators and representatives "because I think members recognize they have a special responsibility in this matter."

"But," he added in an interview, "Congress is deeply divided about the proper course for us to pursue in Viet Nam."

A week ago Wednesday, Sens. Church and McGovern sparked renewed debate on Viet Nam with floor speeches calling for efforts toward a negotiated settlement.

The 700 letters he got since then, McGovern told a reporter Wednesday night, are running about 20 to 1 in favor of such a settlement.

"The consensus is we can't just abruptly withdraw, but it also is that we should not get involved in a major conflict," the South Dakotan added. "The people seem to feel the President is searching for a way out."

Church said the last time he checked on his mail — two or three days ago — it was better than 10 to 1 for negotiations.

"There was no indication of any organized letter writing drive," he said. "The letters seemed spontaneous, genuine expressions of deeply felt emotions."

BACK LBJ

Ford, who along with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has backed the Democratic Johnson administration, hasn't been getting much mail on Viet Nam.

The congressman was not available for comment Wednesday night, but an aide said three or four letters have been coming into Ford's office daily. At least 50 per cent of them support Ford's position, the aide said.

Rep. Dante B. Fascell, D-Fla., a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he gets about 500 letters a day from his Miami constituents. But not much of it is about Viet Nam, and an assistant who checked an average load the other day didn't find one letter on Viet Nam.

Still, Fascell doesn't think "that's a true reflection of how people feel. They are concerned."

NOT MUCH

Not much mail on the subject is reaching Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., either. But the chairman of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee said the mail he does get "shows a certain, definite stream of concern."

"The people are asking questions," Stennis said.

Both Sen. Fong and Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., can detect no consistent pattern in their mail.

"I am receiving a lot on all sides of the question," said Fong.

Frelinghuysen said he has been getting some mail, "of mixed emotion and with no consensus shaping up."

All the mail to Washington isn't going to Capitol Hill, of course. Recently, a State Department spokesman estimated that about 40 per cent of the letters to the department and to the White House this past year have been on Viet Nam.

They reflect nationwide "frustration," he said. But, he added, because of a lack of manpower no effort has been made to tabulate them.

Rescuers Leave Avalanche Site

STEWART, B.C. (AP) — A rescue crew of 54 men left the wreckage of the Granduc mining camp 30 miles north of Stewart late Wednesday.

Evacuation of the camp site was ordered after danger of more avalanches arose because of heavy snowfall on surrounding mountains and glaciers.

Helicopter crews lifted the last of the rescuers out as more snow fell.

The camp was wiped out a week ago by a giant slide. Nineteen men died, and seven are missing.

Revival of Showboat at Lowell to Be Aired

LOWELL (AP) — A public meeting is scheduled March 10 to discuss reorganization and revival of the Lowell Showboat, a summer attraction of more than 30 years standing here before its nonprofit operating group disbanded late last year citing lack of interest and declining returns.

Villagers Threatened

Cong Said Seizing U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foreign aid official says some South Vietnamese village leaders have been forced under threat of death to share their American economic aid with Communist guerrillas.

He said that in one case the guerrillas left a receipt for goods they seized from a village chieftain so he could account to aid authorities and not be accused of corruption.

The official, who declined to be identified, said the apparent purpose was to make sure that American goods would continue to flow to the village so long as the aid in turn was shared with the Viet Cong.

The Communist tactic was related as high U.S. aid authorities said the Saigon government must take the offensive in the war if U.S. economic support is to serve a useful purpose.

President Johnson's budget request to Congress earmarked more than $500 million for South Viet Nam in the fiscal year starting July 1. The present rate of expenditure for aid is estimated at about $2 million a day, or about $700 million this year.

The American commodity assistance and other programs are designed to provide the kind of support that will enlarge the South Vietnamese wartime economy in which the cost of living increased only 6 per cent last year.

But if the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas succeed in shrinking the economy still further by cutting off additional pieces of real estate which are no longer under firm government control, it will make the U.S. assistance program still more difficult to carry out.

Therefore the problem as seen here makes it urgent for the South Vietnamese government to take offensive action now against the Viet Cong and at the same time check infiltration from North Viet Nam.

Khanh U.S.-Bound With Gloomy Viet Report

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
L. Gen. Nguyen Khanh is headed for the United States with some gloomy views about the prospects for the war in South Viet Nam.

strongman of Saigon report that he feels the war will be lost — this year — unless the Americans decide to extend it directly to the Communist North, even at the risk of hostilities with Red China.

Khanh, now designated an ambassador-at-large to lay Salgon's case against the North before the U.N. Security Council, is known to believe that the only chance to save Viet Nam from a Communist takeover is to convert the limited war in Indochina to a general war between Red China and the West.

Inside South Viet Nam he probably is far from alone in this viewpoint. Thus, in coming to the United States, he is pictured as seeing his prime role as diplomatic and his goal to bring the United States into open hostilities with North Viet Nam and even Red China.

SHARP CLASH

Khanh has clashed sharply with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor. Those who know the former strongman say he resents Taylor for opposing his assessment of the prospects. He is said to want to see President Johnson in person and lay his case on the line, confident that his views would be supported by many Americans — including military advisers with whom he has had contact in South Viet Nam.

Khanh preferred to deal with Taylor's predecessor, Henry Cabot Lodge, and when Lodge left last year, Khanh was quoted as advising Washington to "send me another Lodge."

For one thing, Khanh is represented by those who know him well as arguing that the Americans bungle, blunder into international political situations which are none of their business. Such intervention, he is said to feel, often causes Vietnamese leaders to oppose the Americans as a matter of principle, on the basis of sovereignty, whether or not their opposition represents wisdom.

As for the stability the Americans have been seeking so long in South Viet Nam's government, people who have talked with Khanh believe he would trust such stability could come only through cooperation with the predominant Buddhists.

Khanh is known to have complained that the Americans in Saigon insist upon thinking of Viet Nam as a case all to itself, without taking into consideration what the Red Chinese may be planning. He is represented as believing that there is little time left, that this is the year of decision in Southeast Asia.

Khanh is apparently of the opinion that eventually war between China and America is inevitable. If Oriental communism is not to engulf all the Orient, this opinion argues that the longer the China-West conflict is delayed, the worse it will be for the West, as China continues to build a nuclear arsenal.

Khanh has said publicly he believes the China bomb is a life or death question for the West and event which cost the Americans heavily. China now controls great masses of people in Asia, and Khanh speculates gloomily that achievement of nuclear weapons will tip the balance in Asia in China's favor.

North Viet Nam's propaganda calls Khanh's assignment abroad a "trick" by Ambassador Taylor to clear the decks of Khanh supporters. More likely,
Hanoi fears that Khanh in the United States will find a sympathetic audience for his views.

It would be no surprise if such views were widespread among the Saigon leadership. Indeed, the suspicion that a general war in Asia may be the result, before long, of frustration with the current state of affairs seems to be impelling the Soviet Union to diplomatic activity.

The Soviets and French have agreed that there should be international negotiations on Viet Nam. Some U.S. congressional leaders argue that any sort of talks now would be a form of surrender, the beginning of Red Chinese domination of all Southeast Asia. Khanh seems to think so, too.

Gordon's Gin or The Changing of the Guard

Mental Exam Ordered for Arson Suspect

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — District Judge Thomas Tallakson has ordered a psychiatric examination for Joseph Neussendorfer, the 21-year-old former Waterford Township man who police say admitted setting fires in the twin cities and several other cities.

Neussendorfer, charged with aggravated arson in a church fire in Minneapolis, waived preliminary hearing in municipal court. He was bound over to Hennepin County District Court.

Judge Tallakson also ordered the examination and instructed Neussendorfer to appear in court again March 8.

The young man is specifically charged with setting fire to Westminster Presbyterian Church here Feb. 16.

The examination was sought by Neussendorfer's attorney following the waiving of the preliminary hearing.

Neussendorfer is held in lieu of $50,000 bond.

There are some 15 million regular and occasional pipe smokers in this country.

California Mountaineer to Hunt for Abominable Snowman in Himalayas

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—An American mountaineer, Norman G. Dyhrenfurth, plans to search the Himalayas to see if the Abominable Snowman—the yeti—exists.

Dyhrenfurth, leader of the American expedition that conquered Mt. Everest in 1963, says he is "firmly convinced the yeti exists," and is ready to spend years if necessary to prove it.

As for those who will laugh or doubt—"Let them scoff," Dyhrenfurth, 46, lives in Santa Monica, Calif.

Past yeti-hunting expeditions, he said, have been all wrong in their approach or grossly unscientific.

That goes for the expedition led by Sir Edmund Hillary, the New Zealand mountaineer, who ended a four-month hunt in 1961 with the opinion that the yeti is a myth in the minds of Nepal's mountain people, Dyhrenfurth said.

He is said to stand erect, lopes across the mountain slopes in nighttime forays for food, and sometimes attacks people.

Hillary said all "evidence" has been explained away—seen fresh yeti tracks, and to have talks with literate mountain people who actually have seen a yeti.

Dyhrenfurth claims to have

The American explorer said

he will set up cameras equipped with trip wires to photograph yeti at night and, if possible, knock a yeti unconscious with special guns that fire hypodermic needles.

A house sparrow can rear several broods in one season.

Bill Is Offered on Youth Vote

LANSING (AP)—A new twist to the hot issue of the 18-year-old vote was offered Wednesday in the Michigan House of Representatives by Rep. Donald Holbrook Jr., R-Clark.

Holbrook proposed that any youth between 18 and 21 would be allowed to vote if a high school graduate. Previous proposals would allow any person passing 18 to vote without this restriction.

Holbrook, at 33 one of the younger legislators, said he saw his bill as a good compromise.

"The high school limitation would assure a basic educational background which would in most cases include a civics course. It would deny the franchise to those who are not so well prepared."

SIDE BENEFIT

"Another side benefit might be an increased incentive for young people to finish high school in order to earn the right to vote three years earlier than those who drop out," Holbrook added.

The 18-year-old vote proposal passed the Senate in 1964 but was killed in a House committee. Both the House and Senate have the issue under consideration again this year.

Hot Springs Reservation, in Arkansas, is the oldest National Park in the United States. Nine-hundred and twelve acres enclosing 46 hot springs, it was set apart by Congress in 1832 to retain in public possession the curative properties of the hot waters located there.

Girl at Detention Home Makes 'Key' Request

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Juvenile Court Judge Clark Owens was given a check for $100 from a local civic group to buy something for the Girl's Detention Home here.

Being at a loss as to what equipment to buy, he asked the girls for written suggestions. One which came in quickly from one of the 15 girls was: "Fifteen keys to the front door."

Wild or semi-wild horses live in large herds headed by an old stallion.

"If you come through the valleys with hundreds of porters, as most expeditions have, a shy, intelligent animal like the yeti naturally will take off," Dyhrenfurth said.

"We will go in with small teams, two or three men, set up lookouts and observe," he said.

EAGER BEAVERS

"We can't have any eager beavers who want to rush off and climb the nearest peak. We must be patient."

The mountain people say the yeti is about 5½ feet tall, covered with reddish brown hair.

3 More Days to Get Plates

DETROIT (UPI) — The Auto Club of Michigan issued a reminder yesterday that there are only three more days left to purchase 1965 automobile license plates if motorists want to drive legally on Monday.

New plates must be on all cars as of 12:01 a.m. Monday morning.

The Auto Club also pointed out that this year, motorists renewing their car registrations may do so by bringing either the car's title or the current registration certificate as proof of ownership.

Previously, only the car title was valid proof.

The club warned that motorists waiting until Saturday to purchase plates could expect to stand in the traditional last-day lines.

Jerry E. Fisher, Auto Club tour manager, said a survey of Auto Club division offices throughout the state shows that sales are up about 15 per cent compared with this time last year.

And one final reminder. Contrary to previously prevailing custom, the cost of your new auto plates is not deductible when making out your 1964 federal income tax.

Harriman Due to See Israel Chiefs Today

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—American troubleshooter W. Averell Harriman planned today to see Premier Levi Eshkol and Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir on the current political crisis in the Middle East.

Government sources said topics high on the agenda would be Israel's strained relations with the West German government over the cancellation of arms shipments and the United Arab Republic's friendly relations with Communist East Germany.

Bonn stopped its military aid to Israel in the apparent hope Egypt might not give a warm reception to East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht, now on an official visit to the U.A.R.

When it appeared Ulbricht would get the red carpet treatment, the Bonn government halted its economic aid to Cairo.

Israeli officials appeared anxious to minimize the part which Israeli-West German relations might play in talks with the revolving ambassador. President Johnson was believed to have sent a personal letter to Eshkol with Harriman discussing the purpose of his visit.

Leaders of Prolonged Civil Rights Struggle Continue to Work in Close Cooperation

By REX THOMAS
SELMA, Ala. (AP) — There are a lot of leaders in a civil rights struggle such as the one in Selma, but they work together surprisingly well. And the only way it can be done is through the close cooperation of the separate Negro organizations, says the Rev. James Bevel, a key member of Dr. Martin Luther King's staff

"Actually," explained Bevel, "we, that is the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, don't make the decisions. That is done by the local groups like the Dallas County Voters League in Selma.

"What we do is to decide how to implement the decisions." No one who has witnessed the prolonged struggle here and elsewhere in the South can fail to recognize that King is the undisputed leader. He is the force that keeps the campaign going.

But the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner makes few decisions without consulting members of his staff, said Bevel.

"The SCLC has an executive committee, and we work things out together," he continued. "And we confer regularly with the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. We are in basic agreement on most things and it's mainly a matter of working out the details."

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
Bevel is a member of the executive committee, together with the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, the Rev. Andrew Young, the Rev. C. T. Vivian, Hosea Williams, and Randolph Blackwell. The civil rights struggle is financed by voluntary contributions, primarily from religious organizations because, Bevel said, "we are a church-oriented group."

During the campaign now in its sixth week in Selma, Negroes make their donations at the almost nightly mass meetings which have become an integral part of the civil rights movement.

The ranks of high school and college students give civil rights leaders a ready source of new recruits. While the work is done mostly by Negroes, white volunteers, most of them college students and some trained in civil rights schools, also do their part.

In Selma, as in other Southern communities, King and members of his staff have been called outside agitators. They insist, however, that they participate in civil rights struggles only at the invitation of local Negroes.

2 Million Diabetic Cases Undetected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Public Health Service says that at least 2 million Americans have diabetes and don't know it.

The agency said yesterday the number of persons tested for diabetes needs to be increased sharply and testing programs should be overhauled to focus on groups more likely to have the disease.

Officials estimated that besides the undetected cases, there are about 2 million Americans with known cases of the disease.

Have Lengthy Service

NORTHFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Eleven of the 14 children of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Randall — 10 sons and a daughter — have served in the armed forces for a total of nearly 50 years.

Horns differ from antlers in that neither core nor sheath is ever shed.

News Analysis

Avon Hospital-Exec on Insurance Unit

Dr. Ralph S. Green, medical director of the Haven Hospital and Psychiatric Center in Avon Township, has been appointed a member of a subcommittee of the American Psychiatric Association Insurance Commission. The commission will deal with the new provisions of the 1964 UAW contract which provides for outpatient psychiatric treatment.

The first contract of this type for any large union, its benefits are scheduled to become effective in September 1966.

Opera Chairmen Report at Luncheon

Mrs. Ernest A. Jones, chairman of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills committee for the Metropolitan Opera, entertained her committee members at luncheon on Wednesday.

Mrs. Lynn A. Townsend, general chairman for the opera, announced that there are still some tickets available for most performances.

Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, chairman of the adult education series, spoke of the course starting Wednesday at Cranbrook.

This course, offered by the University of Michigan, is the largest of 236 courses given by the school.

OVERTURE

This year, Pontiac is to have performances of "Overture to Opera." One such program was given at Oakland University several weeks ago.

A free daytime performance for students is scheduled for March 17 at Pontiac Northern High School.

On March 18, there will be an 8:15 p.m. performance for the public. Admission is $1.

These "Overture to Opera" programs offer selections from six of the operas to be presented during the May series and the new National Company of the Met series next fall.

Dr. David DiChiera is producer and cochairman of Overture with Mrs. Robert Anderson. Oakland University personnel are on his production staff.

WORKSHOP SERIES
In April, a library workshop series in Birmingham will be given for those who can attend daytime classes. Mrs. K. W. Cunningham Jr. is chairman of this.

On March 13, there will be an "Opera in the Country Party" at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. Mrs. Charles Himelhoch is chairman. Mrs. Charles P. Noonan will be in charge of decorations.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames: George W. McClellan, C. L. Wilson Jr., Paul J. Shine, Harvey L. Winston Jr. and Ralph M. Fox.

Others are Mesdames: Dorell C. Roberts, Harry O. Hoyt, Jr., Robert C. Fisher, Charles Weir and Richard J. Meurer.

luncheon Mrs. Ernest Jones gave for area women working on the 1965 Metropolitan Opera.

Jones is chairman of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills committee. Mrs. Townsend is general chairman. Mrs. Brewster originated the course in opera which is presented annually at Cranbrook by the University of Michigan.

U. of M. Unit Has Meeting

Helen Travis opened her Cherokee Road home to members of the University of Michigan Alumnae club of Pontiac Tuesday evening.

Assisting the hostess was Margaret Seward, Mrs. Ralph Behler, Dr. Caryl Kulsavage, and Kate Sawyer.

Mrs. Jean Smith of the Pontiac Central High School, art department presented the program on hand-made jewelry. The March 22 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Donald Brownlee of East Square Lake Road.

The famed bentwood chair, a classic which dates back more than a century to the Vienna World's Fair, is revived by American of Chicago. Formed in rare giant steam presses, the chair is noted for both its beauty and strength. This season it captures the imagination of decorators who are featuring it as an accent piece or in a mix and match color scheme. Made in any shade desired.

Tips From Designer

Advice on Selecting Chairs

The two errors most commonly made by young furniture customers in selecting chairs for their living rooms, according to interior designer Elizabeth Canavan, relate to scale and color.

She says that often the youthful homemaker selects chairs that appear to great advantage in the retail showroom, forgetting that her own living area is not so generously sized.

The young homemaker may also select upholstery colors that are highly pleasing when seen in relation to other colors in the retail setting, but which may not harmonize with colors she is using in her home.

Interior Designer Canavan suggests that the young shopper keep well in mind the size of the room where the chairs will be used and sizes of other pieces of furniture with which the chairs will be grouped.

For instance, the chair arm should be level with the lamp table — and the lamp should be tall enough to provide good reading light. Both table and lamp should be in scale with the chair.

NOTE COLOR

She noted things to remember about color: One well-defined pattern is enough for one room; too much design presents a cluttered look.

Well over one-half of the room should be in one color for pleasing effect; for contrast, use some subtle coloring and some bright.

She said the fact that manufacturers presently offer a wide choice of both color and texture in fabrics makes it easier for the homemaker to work out pleasing color schemes and to have variance in texture.

In her opinion, today's furniture shopper is much more informed in regard to all furniture, through informative articles by shelter magazines and newspapers, than was her mother or grandmother — and, in addition, has a much greater selection of furnishings.

EVERY PURPOSE

Chairs in every conceivable design — in both formal and informal feeling — are produced today, for tall and short men and women and for children.

There are special constructions for those who prefer soft cushioning to firm support; there are all kinds of lounge chairs, club, barrel, wing-back and designs for occasional use and for accent as well as the low chairs styled to go with continental height party or game tables.

There are also swivels, swivel-rockers, and recliners.

SIT-TEST

She advised sit-tests for lounge chairs by individuals to use them, inasmuch as you can't judge a chair's comfort qualities by its bulk.

For reading and lounging comfort in a natural, relaxed position, the person to use the chair should test it for right seat depth, correct back pitch and comfortable arm height.

In her opinion, recliners are most at home in the den, in a very casual living room, or recreation room.

However, the homemaker whose husband insists upon having his recliner in the semi-formal living room can so arrange her other furnishings that the focal point of interest is away from this chair and brings forward some other area of the room.

Take a look at the Stratorester pictured above. It's a quality constructed recliner with Danish Modern good looks; decorator, button tufted back; elegant wood trim, and loose-cushion seat. And, for the consumer looking for that special, functional chair for a family room or den, it retails for about $109. Also available in smart, easy to clean vinyl fabric.

The bamboo carving of chair frames can be traced back to early 18th Century England... and they borrowed this design from the Orient. Hibriten Chair interprets the feeling of this fine traditional motif in a new, highly contemporary chair. All chairs shown available locally.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was so distressed when the Supreme Court ruled that there shall be no more prayers in the public schools.

I certainly hope that in time enough people will complain so that they will reconsider and go back to the old way. Please print this. It might stir up something.

FOR PRAYER

DEAR FOR: Don't worry. As long as there are examinations in school, the kids will continue to pray.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago a lady wrote you that a friend of hers pointed out to her that she was breaking etiquette by going under the name of Mrs. John Smith after her husband had died.

This friend claimed that, since there was no longer a John Smith, neither was there a Mrs. John Smith, and she should call herself Mrs. Geraldine Smith. You replied: "Dear Mrs. Smith: Your friend is wrong. When you took the name of Mrs. John Smith, you took it for as long as you lived (unless you took another husband), not for as long as HE lived."

A dear relative of mine sent me this article, and it was such a comfort to me. After I became a widow, seeing letters addressed to Mrs. Mary Jones made me feel so alone.

Won't you please put it in your column again? I'm sure other widows feel the same as I and I'm sure there are still many who do not know the proper way to address a letter to a widow.

God bless you.

GRATEFUL IN IOWA

DEAR ABBY: My problem is about to drive me out of my mind. My husband and I have lived in his parents' home (if you want to call it that) ever since we were married nine years ago.

I am 29 and my husband is 33, and we have two children. There is no running water in this place and not even a bathroom.

The walls need paint badly and the place is falling apart. We aren't nearly as poor as we look, but my husband and his people like it this way.

I had a nervous breakdown in 1962, and have been on tranquilizers for two years. I talk to myself all day and cry all night.

GOT THE BLUES

DEAR GOT: Recruit your physician, your clergyman and trustworthy friends in a campaign to persuade your husband to move.

If none of this succeeds and you cannot reconcile yourself to what sounds like a sordid environment, the next move should be yours.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROB:

When a girl breaks a date, she usually has to—when a fellow breaks a date, he usually has two.

Don't pull that stunt too often.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mad crush on my study hall teacher. You wouldn't believe it. I've never had a crush like this before in my life. There is no reason for it, either.

It just happened. This teacher is extra nice to me, which I wish he wouldn't be because it just makes me like him all the more and there is no future in it.

Please don't put me in the category with women who think their doctors are in love with them. I know this teacher doesn't care a thing about me.

I just want to know how to get over this feeling.

GOT A CRUSH

DEAR GOT: As long as you recognize a crush as a crush, yours is not a serious problem. Crushes (such as the one you describe) are normal. And they have a way of fading away.

The less time you invest in daydreaming about it, the faster it will fade.

Problems? Write to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Church Unit Gathers

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Gordon Cox, the March group served luncheon for the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday.

Mary Thomas, a teacher in the Barranquilla Girls School, Barranquilla, Colombia was the speaker. Her topic covered politics and education in this Caribbean seaport.

Mrs. William Hilderly and Mrs. Harry Pattison were elected to serve on the nominating committee for church officers.

Rural but not rustic is this chair from Sam Moore Furniture Industries' new Rural French series. A country cousin of French court styles, this chair is designed in generous proportions to sit comfortably and get up gracefully at home with collector's items. Outlined in wormy maple-wood for authenticity and covered in a woven tapestry pattern, the chair is a harmonious teammate for the heirloom French chest.

Garden Clubs Help in Flower Show

Mrs. Fred M. Trickey of Orchard Hills, Bloomfield Township, will be in charge when area women take their display to the Flower and Garden Show of Michigan, Inc., at the State Fair Grounds this weekend.

For the second year, the Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association (WNFGA) will display a garden in the flower arrangements and table settings' section entitled "Fun, Family and Flowers."

RUNS A WEEK

The show will open Saturday and continue through March 7 in the State Fair Grounds Coliseum.

The Michigan WNFGA division will participate Saturday through Monday.

On display, will be 12 exhibition tables, 12 arrangements on pedestals and 12 arrangements in large niches.

OSAGE BRANCH

Mrs. Trickey of the Osage Branch will be chairman of the day for floral and table exhibitions and chairman of the garden committee.

Entries' chairmen are Mrs. Arthur Stiller of the Holly Branch, Mrs. Arthur Cox of the Milford Branch and Mrs.

Simon Banda of the Inkster Branch.

Among members of the four branches creating the "Garden of Today" is Mrs. Frederick Stefanski of the Osage Branch.

The asymmetrical garden will feature "Jill," a fountain placed in an elevated area surrounded by birch trees, pink azaleas and evergreens.

WORKING

Among those bringing spring to Michigan through their creative efforts are Mrs. Wilson McClellan, Mrs. L. Clancy Nanry, Mrs. John C. Calhoun, Mrs. Earl Weston, Mrs. Lawson McKenzie, Mrs. P. N. Askovics, Mrs. Gordon Andrus and Mrs. Ada Kusny.

Other exhibitors are Mrs. Earle Heft, Mrs. Cyde Peterson, Mrs. Stewart Walls, Mrs. Arthur Phelon, Mrs. W. D. Seauzer, Mrs. Clare Dean, Mrs. Richard Mason, Mrs. Gladys Oliver and Mrs. Frank Whitmyer.

Mrs. Clarence Maguire is president of the Michigan division.

Host Dinner for Couple

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wood of Mayflower Court will host the rehearsal dinner Friday in the Kingsley Inn for their son Kenneth Ames Wood Jr. and his fiancée Amie Burkle.

Mrs. Dean Fields of Lost Tree Way honored the bride-elect at a recent kitchen shower and Mrs. Wendell M. Young of Franklin entertained at a linen shower.

Hostess at a recent evening bridal shower was Mrs. Darrell Miller of Mayflower Court. Mrs. Burkle who lives on Elizabeth Lake Road is the daughter of Mrs. James Brown of Essexville.

NANLEE FITZSIMMONS

June vows are planned by Nanlee Fitzsimmons of San Francisco and Thomas Jeremy Hollis. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Fitzsimmons of Upper Saddle River, N. J. and the Thomas J. Hollises of South Genesee Avenue. She graduated from Goucher College.

Betas Name Delegates to Sorority Convention

Two delegates from the Beta Omega Chapter of Lambda Chi Omega Sorority were selected to attend the annual spring business meeting.

The Beta Pi Chapter of Birmingham will host the event scheduled for Sunday, March 28.

The delegates chosen are Mrs. James Greenwood and Mrs. Larry Schlichter.

The local chapter also took a tour of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Tuesday.

Afterwards, the group held its regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs.

Richard Ervin of Sylvan Village.

EASTER PROJECT

For an Easter project the sorority chapter plans to make artificial flower arrangements to be given to the senior citizens at the Medical Care Facility.

The group also will purchase a portable TV for the patients.

Local Artist Exhibiting in East

Zoltan Sepeshy, Bloomfield Hills artist, is among the exhibitors at the 140th annual exhibition of the National Academy of Design, New York City. The exhibit opened today and will continue through March 21.

It includes 387 exhibits, painting in oil, sculpture, prints, drawings, and watercolors by artists from 31 states and the District of Columbia.

The National Academy of Design is the oldest art group in New York City, organized and administered by artists for the advancement of the arts in this country.

In addition to holding contemporary art exhibitions in its galleries, the National Academy operates a School of Fine Arts at 5 East 89 Street, the oldest art school in New York City.

Samuel F. B. Morse, famous portrait painter, whose work is catalogued in private collections and museums in the United States and abroad, but better known to the world at large as the inventor of the telegraph, was its first president.

Kate Reid Returns to Stratford

STRATFORD, Ont. — After an absence of a year, Kate Reid returns to the Stratford Festival Theatre stage as Lady Macbeth, Katharine in "The Taming of the Shrew," the Nurse in "Romeo and Juliet," Cassandra in "Troilus and Cressida," Adriana in "The Comedy of Errors," Queen Katharine in "Henry VIII," Jacquenetta in "Love's Labour's Lost" and Helena in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The volatile, red-haired Toronto actress will play Portia, Brutus' "true and honorable wife," in Douglas Campbell's production of "Julius Caesar," and Madame Ranevskaya, the aristocratic landowner in Anton Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard," to be directed by John Hirsch.

The other plays in the summer's repertory are "Henry IV" (Henry IV, Part 1) and "Falstaff" (Henry IV, Part 2), both of which will be staged by Stuart Burge.

It was only because of the postponement of a Broadway play that Miss Reid was able to sign her contract today at the Festival Theatre.

The production of Tennessee Williams' "Two Sidelong Tragedies," in which she is to star and which was to have gone into rehearsal during the next few weeks, has been delayed until the fall.

Miss Reid had a long run on Broadway last season opposite Sir Alec Guinness in "Dylan." The previous year she headed the matinee company of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" also on Broadway.

Treasurer Is Main Speaker at WCTU

Mrs. Walter Mollan of Columbusville, state Women's Christian Temperance Union treasurer, was the featured speaker at the 19th District's second annual workshop Wednesday.

Mrs. Mollan reviewed the life of Frances Willard, one of the leaders of the first national organization.

Hosted by the Pontiac union, the workshop was held at the Church of the Brethren on North Rosewood Drive. Unions from Fowlerville, Columbia, Howell, Brighton and Pontiac were represented.

Emilia in "Othello" and Celia in "As You Like It." Kate Reid has appeared on the Festival Theatre stage as Lady Macbeth, Katharine in "The Taming of the Shrew," the Nurse in "Romeo and Juliet," Cassandra in "Troilus and Cressida," Adriana in "The Comedy of Errors," Queen Katharine in "Henry VIII," Jacquenetta in "Love's Labour's Lost" and Helena in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

OES Unit Plays Host to Friends

One hundred seventy-five members and guests were present at the recent friendship and Oakland County night of the Pontiac chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Guests from county chapters and Lexington exemplified the work.

Oakland County officers honored were Mrs. Charles Marx, president; Mrs. Daniel Abraham and John Mikusak, vice presidents; Mrs. Leland Walz, secretary and Mrs. Laura Wail, treasurer.

Other officers were Mrs. Cree Wheat, Mrs. G. A. Kelly, Mrs. Grace Roberts, and Mrs. John Avannall.

Mrs. Robert Walls was hospitality chairman, assisted by Mrs. Glenn E. Williams, Mrs. Robert Gilbert and Mrs. Duane Boughton.

Others working on arrangements were Mrs. Kenneth Anthony, and Mrs. Robert Calvary.

Students Take Her for a Ride

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "I'm ready to go back up again," smiled a 91-year-old woman after an airplane ride with a former student.

Miss Eunice Delaney was taken aloft by Don Flower.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Flower were students at Memorial High School when Miss Delaney was the principal.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream."

As well known on television as she is on the stage, Miss Reid has been seen this winter on CBC-TV in "Mother Courage" and "The Trial of Dr. Fanny."

She will also appear on April 7 in the NBC-Hallmark production, "The Holy Terror," a story of Florence Nightingale, with Julie Harris.

The Stratford Festival Company — which this year includes Mervyn Blake, Douglas Campbell, Eric Christmas, Leo Ciceri, Peter Donat, Bruno Gerussi, Martha Henry, William Hutt, Frances Hyland, Paul Massie, William Needles, Douglas Rain, Tony van Bridge and Hugh Webster — will report for rehearsals on April 19. The 13th season opens on June 14 and will continue through Oct. 2.

OU Students Get Scholastic Honors

Some 100 Oakland University students were honored for academic achievement, Tuesday, at the annual recognition banquet.

Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence College and noted author-lecturer was the featured speaker.

Special freshman honor awards for the top two per cent in last year's entering class were presented to Glen I. King, Pontiac; Susan A. Stacey, Birmingham; Paul D. Patent, Auburn Heights; and Robert W. Hill, Utica.

Sophomore honor awards, also for the top two per cent, went to Diana K. Haines, Pontiac; Frederick W. Clegg, Birmingham; Nancy J.

Hough, Union Lake; Bruce N. Parkinson, Troy and Nancy W. Weidman, Walled Lake.

Junior honor awards were given to Kay E. Cline, Pontiac; Richard W. England, Utica and Janet L. Dixon and Kenneth H. Renner, both of Rochester.

Doctor Will Speak

Arsha Bartelevan, M.D., will speak to members of the Fashion Your Figure club on "The Emotional Part of Overweight."

The Pontiac State Hospital staff-psychiatrist will present a talk tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Adah Shelley library.

Hostess Is Right on the Subject

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I invited three couples in for dinner last evening. I hadn't planned any special entertainment for after dinner. I thought we would just spend it in pleasant conversation.

Shortly after we had gone into the living room, two of the couples, who are ardent bridge players, asked if I minded if they played a rubber or two of bridge. I, of course, said "I didn't mind, but I really did."

I thought they showed very bad manners and were not only discourteous to me but to my other guests as well. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: Unless you invited them to dinner and to play bridge afterward, it was indeed very ill-mannered of them to play cards and not join in the conversation with you and your other guests.

WEDDING INVITATION

Q: I am going to be married soon and my fiancé would like to send a wedding invitation to a college friend of his.

He knows this man is engaged but he does not know the name or address of his fiancée.

Would it be proper to write "Mr. Jones and Fiancee" on the inside envelope of the wedding invitation addressed to him? If this is not proper, what is?

A: He should, if possible, find out from his friend the name and address of his fiancée and a separate invitation should be sent to her.

If this is not possible, then even though not correct, there is nothing else to do but to write "Mr. Jones and Fiancee" on the inside envelope.

If you would like the booklet entitled, "Manners in Public" send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Music Guild Has Concert

The Pontiac Music Guild presented students in recital Wednesday evening at the First Congregational Church.

Members of the guild presenting pupils were Mrs. Carl Clifford, Mrs. Don Derragon, Mrs. Hazel Gessinger, Amy Hogle, Mrs. Claude Kimler, and Mrs. Jack Robb.

Others were Mrs. Walter Schmitz, Mrs. Clarence Shepard, Mrs. Lester Snell, Elda Sutter, Charles Wilson and Mrs. Rodger Wood.

DOROTHY JANE DUCKWITZ

June vows are planned by Dorothy Jane Duckwitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Duckwitz of Westacres and Dennis Lloyd Berry of Dearborn, son of Albert Berry of Inkster and Mrs. Grace Berry of Dearborn. She is a senior at University of Michigan.

Spadea Designer Pattern by Anne Klein of Jr. Sophisticates

Spank Face Before Bed

Ever wonder why cosmeticians and beauty consultants place so much stress on skin fresheners? It is because this is the best way to encourage tone to tissue and muscle that gets very little exercise and which is covered by makeup most of the time.

Before applying makeup and before retiring make it a habit to invigorate the face with freshener.

One of the simplest and most effective methods is to spank the face lightly with the fingers, using good quality witch hazel. Witch hazel is a pure herbal extract having no foreign ingredients.

Navy nurses have been honored as commissioned officers since 1947.

Mrs. Olson Is Speaker

The Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club heard Mrs. Grace Olson, deputy state labor inspector, speak on "State Labor Laws" Tuesday.

Mrs. Olson explained her duties and the function of the labor department at the dinner meeting held at Devon Gables.

Also on the program was Mrs. Mary Todd.

Chairman for the dinner were Mary Eleanor Lockman and Mrs. Fred McGuire.

Hostesses were Mrs. Norman Smith, Violet McCoy, Bonnie Davidson, and Julia Dimond.

Fall vows are planned by Lynda K. Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Lucas of Round Lake Boulevard, White Lake Township, and Jack R. Josephson, son of Mrs. William Josephson of Point Street, White Lake Township, and the late Mr. Josephson.

Planning an October wedding are Linda Sue Thompson, daughter of the Richard D. Thompsons of Fourth Avenue and Harry Albert Bauers IV. He is the son of Mrs. Charles H. Neidrett of Keego Harbor and Harry A. Bauers III of Collinsville, Ill.

A mid-May wedding is planned by Shirlie Ann Robak, daughter of the Andrew Robaks of Chamberlain Street and James John Zugras Jr., son of the senior Mr. and Mrs. Zugras of Embarcadero Drive. Her fiancé is a recent graduate of Western Michigan University.

Clocks Chime Everywhere

PAWHUSKA, Okla., (AP) — Arthur Fortune has 125 clocks in his home—but each clock is set on a different time.

"If you had them set the same, they'd all be sounding the hour at the same time," he explains. "This way, you speed it out, and can listen to chiming all the time."

He admits, however, that his family knows which clock really has the right time.

Seek State Safety 'Queen'

The Michigan woman, married or single, making the greatest contribution to safety this year will be honored by the Women's Division of the 55th Annual Michigan Safety Conference to be held at the Lansing Civic Center, April 20-22.

Entries are now being received from organizations in all parts of the state in the annual competition for the selection of "M's Safety-1965." The 1964 honor was bestowed on Mrs. Ernest Selby of Benton Harbor.

The winner, either a Miss or a Mrs., will be officially crowned during the women's division program at the conference on Tuesday, April 21.

Entries in the competition should be sent to Mrs. Ramona Bretz, publicity chairman of the women's division of the Michigan Safety Conference, 709 S. Washington Avenue, Lansing, on or before March 12.

TO NOMINATE

The candidate for "M's Safety" may be nominated by an individual or an organization, according to Mrs. Bretz. Entry forms have been sent to women's organizations.

New Chairs Show Wood

Smart sofas and chairs are showing their hardwood frames. Or their backs and arms are wrapped in molded walnut, rosewood or teak faced plywood.

French provincial and Early American styles introduced exposed hardwood frames.

Designers and public liked the new look and it is now an important furniture fashion.

Strong, tough oak, hickory, elm and pecan are often selected for frames.

These woods have long fibers which strengthen even slender shaped legs.

Moulding and carvings, carrying out the design theme of coordinated style groups.

The competition is open only to "volunteers" in the field of safety. No consideration will be given a candidate whose job or profession involves safety education or accident prevention activities in her daily work.

A candidate should be one with family responsibilities who has experienced no personal accidents or accidents in her home, including fires, for the last five years.

Her contributions in the field of safety will be of vital importance to the judges. The candidate may have taken a leading part in child safety, home safety, fire safety, traffic safety, farm safety or public safety.

Young Marrieds

The median age of an American bridegroom in 1950 was 24.8 years compared with 22.8 years in 1920. For a bride it was 21.2 years in 1920 and 20.4 in 1963.

Romney Says Johnson's 'Great Society' Concept Inadequate

CHARLESTON, W.Va., (AP) Gov. George Romney said Wednesday night that President Johnson's Great Society programs "by themselves can never reach their lofty goals."

The Michigan Republican, often mentioned as a possible 1968 presidential nominee, said the Great Society ideas are "based upon a partial and inadequate conception of the society they seek to build and of the forces which must do the building."

"They may produce great government — a great big government," Romney said. "But a truly great society is something altogether different."

Romney set down at the Lincoln Day dinner his concept of the principles of which a great society is based. He had spoken in similar vein Tuesday in Chicago and at Hartford, Conn. His four moral principles:

1—Rights and responsibilities of man are derived from the creator in whose eyes each man is an individual with equal rights and responsibilities.

2—Each man in meeting his responsibilities has the right to freedom that does not infringe on the rights of others.

3—Freedom can be a reality only with separation of church and state.

4—The state derives all of its authority from the people and control.

ARRIVE FOR CEREMONY — Albert Lee, shown with his wife, Delphine, came to Lansing yesterday to take his oath of office as Michigan's first legislative auditor. The Detroit accountant takes up the duties of the new $22,500-a-year job immediately.

New State Auditor

Lee Takes Oath of Office

LANSING (AP) — Albert Lee, a certified public accountant and a 30-year Democratic party worker, took his oath of office as Michigan's first eight-year auditor general Wednesday.

Lee, appointed by the Democratic legislative majority last week, said he will meet with acting Aud. Gen. Allison Green, appointed by Gov. George Romney, next Monday.

Lee will take over most of the auditing functions handled by Green. Green's office will be eliminated in the government reorganization required by the new State Constitution within the next two years.

"You will be well satisfied with your choice (for legislative auditor)," Lee told legislators after taking his oath of office from Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh of the State Supreme Court.

UNANNOUNCED
Lee arrived at the capitol virtually unannounced, taking House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, up on an invitation to "drop around any afternoon about 2:00 to take the oath of office."

Lee asked the legislators to give him the staff he needs to do the job properly.

"I would like to run this like the (federal) General Accounting Office," he said. "The GAO is responsible directly to Congress and we will be responsible directly to the legislature. I want a staff to do that job properly."

"Our new duties are aimed more at investigative auditing—rather than just fiscal audits. We will not just be looking to see that so many dollars came in and the same number went out but we will have to determine how well those dollars were spent," he added.

"The constitution provides that the $22,500-a-year auditor "shall conduct post audits of financial transactions and accounts of the state and of all branches, departments, offices, boards, commissions, agencies, authorities and institutions of the state... and performance post audits thereof."

Serve Shrove Tuesday Pancakes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

In medieval days when strict fasting practices forbade the use of fats during Lent, housewives cleaned their larders on Shrove Tuesday.

The custom of serving pancakes on this day started then. Now, it is followed by many just as a tradition.

Old-timers will smack their lips when you put a plate of buckwheat pancakes before them for breakfast. If you have difficulty getting buckwheat flour, try a health food store.

Forty-five minutes rising time is all you'll need.

Buckwheat Cakes

- 2 cups warm water (105 degrees to 115 degrees F.)
 - 1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1 tablespoon molasses
 - 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) margarine, melted
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 2 cups unsifted buckwheat flour
 - 3/4 cup unsifted white flour
- Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in remaining ingredients; beat until smooth.

Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until light and bubbly, about 45 minutes.

Stir batter down. For each pancake pour 3 to 4 tablespoons of batter onto hot griddle. Turn when bubbles appear on surface. Stir batter occasionally as it is used. Makes 18 to 20 griddlecakes.

If you're serving pancakes for brunch, you'll want to serve a number of fillings and toppings. In addition to the usual syrup, jam, honey or sour cream, try an orange sauce.

Gourmet Breakfast Pancakes

- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1/4 cup maple syrup

12 thin pancakes
12 slices (1/4 pound) Prosciutto or boiled ham
1 Florida orange, sectioned

Combine undiluted orange juice concentrate with maple syrup. Warm slightly if desired.

Prepare a thin batter with your favorite pancake recipe and make 12 pancakes, about 4 inches in diameter.

Place slice of ham on each; roll while warm. Add orange sections to sauce and serve with pancake rolls. Yield: 6 servings.

*To section Florida orange, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane, then cut slice from bottom. Or, cut off peel round and round, spiral fashion.

Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. Cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core.

Remove section by section, over bowl to retain juice from fruit.

The French have long served crepes for dessert. These delicate thin pancakes always have some kind of filling.

The following recipe for coconut filling dessert pancakes comes from Ceylon. If you're going to follow through with a Ceylonese dessert, you'll serve tea too.

Coconut Dessert Pancakes

- 1 1/2 cups instant blending flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 cups water
- Butter for frying

Stir flour, salt and sugar together in mixing bowl. Beat eggs well and gradually beat in water. Add all at once to flour mixture and beat until smooth. Melt about 1/4 teaspoon butter in 6-inch frypan over moderate heat.

When beginning to sizzle pour in about 1/4 cup batter, tipping pan to make mixture cover. When golden on bottom side remove and place on plate.

Place about 2 heaping teaspoonful coconut filling over each cake and roll up while still hot. Keep in warm place until ready to serve. Makes 12 pancakes.

Coconut Filling

- 2 cans flaked coconut (3 1/2 ounces each)

- 1 cup dark corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/16 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon instant blending flour

Put coconut through food chopper, using finest blade or chop fine in electric blender; set aside. Bring syrup to full rolling boil; stir in coconut and sugar mixed with cinnamon, salt and instant flour.

Let come to boil again, lower heat and simmer, stirring constantly, until quite thick, about 4 minutes. Remove from heat and keep in warm place until filling pancakes.

Variety Meats Are High in Nutrition

Nutritional nuggets — that's what the variety meats, liver, kidneys, sweetbreads, heart, brains and tongue have been called. Recent research has reaffirmed this title and added new facts.

Variety meats are excellent sources of proteins, vitamins and minerals. They're low in calories, too.

Liver contains significant amounts of vitamin A and is an excellent source of dietary iron; kidneys also contain appreciable amounts.

Sweetbreads are exceptionally high in vitamin C; liver and kidneys are also rich sources. In addition to iron, other minerals present include calcium, phosphorus, potassium and sodium.

Dumplings of Cornmeal

Corn bread dumplings make a tasty topper for stew.

To one 18-ounce package of corn bread mix, add 3 tablespoons of chopped onion, 1 egg and 1/4 cup of milk. Mix according to package directions.

Place about 3 tablespoons of batter for each dumpling on top of boiling stew. Cover tightly and simmer 18 minutes.

Do not remove cover during cooking. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 8 dumplings.

Stock or soup from a simmered broiler-fryer is great for cooking vegetables. Use the same quantity as water, cook in the same fashion; the vegetables will be enriched in flavor.

Sweet Fruit Sauce Complements Fowl

Extra syrup from canned fruit is a neat trick for basting broiled chicken, points out the National Broiler Council.

Use the syrup right from the fruit and add a spicy note this way: To each cup fruit syrup in small saucepan, add 2 teaspoons cornstarch, blending well, 5 cloves, and 1/2 teaspoon powdered cinnamon; bring to a boil, stirring constantly.

The sauce complements the sweet, delicate flavor of chicken to perfection. Place drained peach halves or pineapple slices on broilers last 5 minutes before chicken is done.

The broiler is recognized by its large size and red-brown markings.

Give Lamb Shanks Overnight Marinade

It doesn't always take a lot of money to entertain at dinner if you are a smart shopper. For instance, you can buy an economical cut of Winter Wonder lamb . . . such as lamb shanks . . . and turn it into quite a spectacular dish.

Lamb shanks are always available in the neighborhood markets, but too few home-makers take advantage of them. With gentle browning and simmering the meat is just as tender and succulent as you'd ever wish it to be.

This particular party recipe for lamb shanks calls for marinating them overnight in a mixture of brown sugar and brandy. The mushrooms accompanying them also are marinated so you'll have a perfect blending of flavors.

After the lamb shanks have cooked the required length of time you can serve them on a bed of vermicelli or fine egg noodles. Top them with golden carrots and bring them to the table ablaze with brandy.

Brandied Lamb Shanks

1/4 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
1/2 cup brandy
1 can (6 ounces) broiled-butter mushrooms
6 lamb shanks (about 1 pound each)
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 1/4 cups water
1/4 cup cornstarch
Hot cooked vermicelli
6 cooked carrots

Combine sugar, 1/4 cup brandy, undrained mushrooms;

pour over lamb and marinate overnight.

Drain lamb and brown on all sides in hot oil in large skillet; drain off drippings. Add marinade and 2 cups of water; cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until lamb is tender; remove lamb and keep warm.

Mix cornstarch with remaining cup water; stir into skillet. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils one minute. Pour sauce over vermicelli, lamb shanks and carrots. Heat remaining 1/4 cup brandy in a ladle; set it aflame and pour, blazing, over lamb.

A Bavarian Is Dessert for Company

For a special occasion, something particularly delightful to look at as well as to eat, try this unusual Bavarian recipe.

Pineapple Eggnog Bavarian

2/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 envelopes plain gelatin
3/4 cup milk
1 (8 1/2 ounce) can crushed pineapple
3 eggs
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon rum or brandy flavoring
1 cup whipping cream
Canned pineapple slices for garnish

Stir together 1/2 cup sugar, salt, nutmeg and gelatin. Add milk, undrained crushed pineapple and beaten egg yolks.

Cook over hot water, stirring now and then, until mixture thickens and mounds on a spoon.

Beat egg whites until frothy, gradually beat in remaining 1/2 sugar until stiff peaks form. Beat cream until stiff. Fold egg whites and cream into pineapple mixture.

Turn into 1 1/2 quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with slices of pineapple, if desired.

Punch Includes Pieces of Fruit

From Spain comes the inspiration for a fruited wine drink served from a big pitcher. Fresh, frozen or canned fruits can be used, and red, white or pink dinner wines.

There's no set proportion for fruit and wine, but here's a tested combination to try the first time. After that, vary wine or fruit depending on what you have on hand.

Fruited Wine Punch

1 (4.5-qt.) bottle California Burgundy or other red dinner wine
1 orange
1 lemon or 2 limes, sliced
3 tablespoons California brandy
Variety of fresh, frozen or canned fruit (such as pineapple slices, peach halves, etc.)
Sugar (optional)
1 (7-oz.) bottle sparkling water

Pour wine into glass pitcher. Add the juice of the orange, lemon or lime slices and brandy. For best flavor, let stand several hours.

About 1 hour before serving, add the fresh, frozen or canned fruit. Taste and add sugar, if desired. (The punch should be refreshingly fruity but not too sweet.)

Just before serving, add sparkling water. Pour into tall glasses or large wine glasses, half-filled with ice cubes. Pieces of fruit may be added to each glass. Makes about 10 (3-oz.) servings.

Egg Contest Is Now Open

The search has begun for the nation's Champion Egg Cook of 1965! Your favorite egg dish could win you this title, plus a $1,000 Savings Bond.

The Third Annual National Egg Cooking Contest has been officially opened by the contest sponsors, the Poultry and Egg National Board in Chicago.

First prize in both the Senior and Junior Divisions will be a $1,000 Series E United States Savings Bond. A $500 Savings Bond will go to the second place winner in each division.

All non-professional cooks—teenagers, home makers, career girls and business men—are urged to enter their favorite egg dish in this nationwide contest. Deadline for submitting entries to PENB is midnight, March 15.

All recipes must be accompanied by an official entry blank, which can be found in leading retail markets and in egg cartons.

Or they may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Poultry and Egg National Board, Dept. 3, 8 South Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60603.

Preliminary state judging will be held between May and September to select one Junior and one Senior Division contestant from each state to compete in the national finals to be held in Chicago on Oct. 18 and 19, 1965.

The Senior Division is open to anyone 18 years of age and over as of Jan. 1, 1965.

Junior Division entrants must be at least 10 years old, but not 18, by that date.

Judging of the national finals and state competition will be conducted by panels of food experts. Selection of all winners will be on basis of appearance, originality, taste and ease of preparation. In addition to the Savings Bonds, there will be given many valuable merchandise prizes.

A total of 450 new movie theaters were constructed in 1964, according to Boxoffice, an exhibitor trade magazine. Of these, 349 were indoor houses and 101 were drive-ins, costing a record $131 million.

Defense Cuts Can Be Hard Blow to Aerospace Communities

EDITOR'S NOTE: A sudden shift in defense orders can strike a hard blow at an aircraft-aerospace company and its community. In this third of four stories, AP business news writer Roger Lane tells what happened when defense contracts ran out for two famed plane builders.)

By ROGER LANE

AP Business News Writer
SEATTLE, Wash.—The Boeing Co. on Jan. 8 found itself without any orders for military aircraft for the first time since 1924, when it was 8 years old. A few months later, the same thing happened to another veteran among military plane builders, Republic Aviation Corp., which began life in 1931 as Seversky Aircraft on the flats of Long Island, N.Y.

Boeing had just delivered a KC135 tanker-transport to the U.S. Air Force. It was the 630th sold over a decade for $1.9 billion to the Air Force, long Boeing's best customer and practically the only customer of Boeing and other plane makers during some lean periods.

Republic finished off a long series of contracts for fighter planes, a family that evolved from the P47 Thunderbolt of World War II through the F4U, F106 and several versions of the supersonic F105.

For Boeing, it was another dip — this one comparatively mild — in the aircraft-aerospace industry that some analysts believe is headed for trouble because of a downturn in defense spending.

For Republic, it was plain disaster — just about what gloomy forecasters were foreseeing for more than a few aircraft companies.

But at Boeing, only five days after its military orders ran out, the firm won a government order for its 500th commercial jet transport, an intercontinental 707-320B.

Jetliner sales, soaring again after a lull in the early 1960s, have brought in about $3 billion, and 1965 easily could add another billion. About two-thirds of the free world's jetliners are Boeing-built. Important new additions to the Boeing line, augmented in 1963 by a solid business-winner in the 727-trijet, are expected soon.

FIRM FOOTHOLD

Moreover, Boeing is estab-

Salvation Army Aided Thousands During Past Yule

During the past Christmas season the Salvation Army served 1,579 area families, according to a report issued recently by Lt. Gary B. Crowell, commanding officer of the Salvation Army's Pontiac Citadel.

In addition, 690 food checks were issued, 240 food baskets were presented, 1,483 toys and 7,924 other gifts were distributed. The Army helped 1,537 adults and 3,446 children. Members called at 14 different hospitals where 1,274 patients were visited, according to Crowell's report.

lished as a leader in the missile field, has a firm foothold in the U.S. space program and is battling hard and resourcefully for major new business in all principal fields.

Even so, over-all employment at 90,000 was down from 104,000 in 1962, and in the Seattle area stood at around 50,000 as against peak of 76,000.

Although declining, joblessness in the Seattle metropolitan area, reflecting the Boeing situation, averaged uncomfortably close to 7 per cent in 1964. It was under 5 per cent in 1962.

At Republic, however, phasing out of the F15D fighter plane left little to sustain big-scale employment.

ECONOMIC EFFECTS

The blow that fell at Republic was sighted a long way off. Two years ago worry about the economic effects was spreading in New York City's densely populated suburbs to the east. Nearly 1,000 subcontractors and suppliers located around the Republic complex were apprehensive. So were storekeepers, car dealers, cafe owners and political leaders.

It was feared that loss of 13,000 jobs paying $80 million a year would snowball, hitting 65,000 to 70,000 persons in all, knocking down property values and multiplying distress. Jobs fell from a peak of about 18,000 to about 5,000 before leveling off.

PREDICTED DISASTER

But the predicted economic disaster failed to materialize. By Jan. 1, slack largely had been taken up by an otherwise expanding economy and receipt of a big fighter plane contract at Grumman Aircraft Corp., Republic's neighbor at Bethpage, N.Y.

Among large communities buffeted by the violent ups and downs of aerospace demand, probably none has taken a worse drubbing than San Diego, Calif.

For the last four years, San Diego has been classed by the U.S. Labor Department as an area of substantial unemployment — in the 6 to 9 per cent bracket.

In the five major aerospace plants, 25,000 men and women toiled last December compared with 46,000 in December 1961, over 51,000 in late 1956 and just under 50,000 in July 1957.

FINANCIAL FAILURE

The colossal financial failure of the Convair 880-990 jet airliner series, a reverse that nearly ruined the parent General Dynamics Corp., and a turnaround in the Pentagon's missile program dealt the most severe blows.

San Diego was even harder hit by the wave of cancellations at the end of World War II when all but a few thousands of the jobs that occupied over 60,000 persons evaporated almost overnight. Recovery was almost complete for a while in the 1950s.

While big factory buildings at Republic stood vacant, the other side of the coin was teeming activity at McDonnell Aircraft in St. Louis, Mo., producer of the twin-jet, all-weather F4H fighter that the Pentagon chose in preference to the Republic F105.

McDonnell, also prime contractor for the Mercury space flights, had its force up to 35,000 employees. In a decade, its sales multiplied more than fivefold to $865 million in the year ended last June.

SUMP CONDITIONS

For slump conditions at Boeing's plant at Wichita, Kan., there was boom at the General Dynamics Fort Worth, Tex., facilities; for softness at Martin Marietta's missile operation in Colorado, a buildup by space contractors in the Houston-East Texas-Louisiana area.

Contract cancellations and failures, punishing whole communities in the past, can be expected to inflict hardship again but generally with reduce impact.

In 1962, California received about 23 per cent of Pentagon prime contracts and nearly half of awards by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. But the percentage has been declining.

However, economic dependence of Southern California on government contracts has been cut down by the area's growth. At the same time, defense-oriented manufacturing jobs fell about 22,000 each in 1963 and 1964 to 373,000.

For the State of Washington, agriculture, diversified manufacturing and forest products industries all outrank Boeing as an employer — but Boeing still represents about one job out of nine over-all.

(NEXT: The future for the aircraft aerospace industry.)

IN THE GOVERNMENT RANKS — The smartly uniformed presidential guard marches through Independence Plaza in Montevideo, Uruguay, where seven out of every 100 persons work for the government. In addition, another big chunk of the population lives off government retirement checks.

S. America's Smallest Nation

Little Uruguay Has Big Public Payroll

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — They tell a story here of the two African lions that came to Uruguay to make a living.

One went into the country while the other stayed in Montevideo, the capital. Meeting a year later, the bedraggled, scrawny country lion complained of rural life and asked: "How do you manage to look so healthy and well fed?"

"It's this way," the robust city lion replied. "I park myself by the ministries and eat one or two employees a day. There are so many no missers them."

The fable is intended to illustrate the state of the public payroll in South America's smallest country where seven out of every 100 persons — in a population of 2.6 million — work for the government. Another representative chunk of the population, 267,137 persons, live off government retirement checks.

HIGHLY LITERATE

The Uruguayans are a highly literate people who seem to have been invented expressly for this sort of thing.

The prevailing mood in Montevideo exudes individuality. Tucked into a tiny nook between two influential neighbors, Uruguay appears to have borrowed a dash of stiff Argentine conventionality and a touch of Brazilian informality to shape a character all its own.

'Other' Wife Due to Seek Annulment

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — "The beautiful Omaha wife of a 'dead ringer' John (Fritz) Johnson is expected to take action to have their marriage annulled in the next few days."

That action was announced by Johnson's Omaha attorney, Harry Farnham. Fritz would not comment, saying, "Anything I have to say will come from my attorney."

Farnham said Mrs. Johnson is taking the action because both she and Fritz have realized their marriage is void under Nebraska law.

He said both the pretty 24-year-old model and her flamboyant husband realize he is still legally married to an Akron, Ohio, woman.

The Ohio woman, Mrs. Lawrence Bader, declined to comment on the proposed annulment. Her husband disappeared on a Lake Erie fishing trip in May of 1967 and was declared legally dead in 1960.

RECOGNIZED — Fritz was recognized and identified as the missing man while he was attending a sports show in Chicago.

Since then, he has steadfastly denied any knowledge of any former life in Ohio. However, fingerprints indicated that he and the missing man are one and the same.

Farnham did not say what steps are planned beyond the annulment. The missing Larry Bader has a wife and four children in Akron.

The Johnsons have two children, one by a previous marriage of Mrs. Johnson.

FIRES UP — A U.S. Air Force pilot fires the ignition charge on his B57 medium bomber at Bien Hoa air base 15 miles outside Saigon yesterday. Bombers, like this one, and F100 fighter-bombers, armed with secret antipersonnel weapons, are carrying the war to the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam's dense jungles.

Jets With Secret Arms Attacking Cong in S. Viet

DANANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Armed with secret antipersonnel weapons, U.S. jet aircraft are carrying the war to the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam's dense jungles. The men manning American F100 fighter-bombers and B57 twin-jet medium bombers won't talk about the equipment which makes the high-speed jets more effective in an attack on scattered ground forces.

But one recent development has been a bomb casing which opens after being dropped and lays down a line of small antipersonnel bombs more than 100 feet long.

U.S. Air Force pilots here feel the effects of their bombing and strafing of the Viet Cong will be more psychological — inside and outside Viet Nam — than tactical.

JETS UNLEASHED

U.S. officials in Saigon disclosed Wednesday that the F100s and B57s, flown exclusively by Americans, had been unleashed for the first time last week against the Communists in South Viet Nam. U.S. jets, some of them operating from Da Nang, had previously bombed Communist supply lines in Laos and had participated in the retaliatory air strikes against North Viet Nam. Wednesday, they ran strafing and bombing runs to help out beleaguered ground forces in mountainous Binh Dinh and Pleiku provinces.

The mission pointed out both strong and weak points of missing jets with the jungle war. The jets blasted the flanks of a road near a government battalion, laying down suppressive fire while U.S. Army helicopters circled and picked up soldiers from the spot.

Their work effectively sealed off the helicopter landing zone from the enemy. Fire was directed on orders from a forward air controller circling the target area in a slow spotter plane. None of the F100 jet pilots saw any Viet Cong on the ground, although they received some groundfire. The B57s came from Bien Hoa.

"At 450 miles per hour, you don't see much of anything," Lt. Joseph C. T. Wang, 25, of Philadelphia said.

KOREAN MISSIONS
MacLachlan, commander of the F100s at Da Nang, said during his missions in Korea he "could see trucks, trenches and foxholes. For the most part, you don't have that sort of thing here."

British Doctor Dispute Grows

LONDON (UPI) — The number of doctors threatening to resign from the National Health Service over a "penny a patient" pay dispute rose to nearly 5,000 last night.

The latest voting to quit were 162 of the 180 general practitioners attending a meeting organized by the Reading and Berkshire medical committees in Reading. They voted to resign April 1.

The British Medical Association (BMA) has called for the resignations of all the 23,000 family doctors in the country.

The dispute was triggered when the government offered the doctors a package $15.4 million increase instead of a demanded $32.4 million raise.

The doctors said the government's offer came out to only "a penny a patient."

MRS. WILLIAM STEPHENS

The boy died Tuesday.

He was a student at Groves High School, Birmingham.

Surviving besides his parents are a sister, Wendy, and two brothers, John and Chris, all at home.

DETROIT (UPI) — Charges by a Detroit hotel man that two of Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's appointees solicited bribes to try and get him a catering contract at Cobo Hall were denied yesterday by the men involved and a witness the hotel man named.

O. Beverly Fritch, owner of the Hotel Fritch, told the Common Council at a public hearing that Oliver Nelson, a fire commissioner and James D. Friel, a Civic Center commissioner, sought payoffs for the catering contract.

He said Nelson wanted $10,000 to get him the contract, which had been surrendered by Al Green after city auditors found shortages in Green's accounts.

Fritch quoted Green as telling him that Friel had demanded a $10,000 payoff if Green wanted to stay at Cobo Hall.

But all three men, Nelson, Friel and Green denied the charges.

Fireman Suffers Smoke Poisoning Fighting Blaze

A Pontiac fireman suffered smoke poisoning fighting a stubborn truck fire at the Seaman Manufacturing Co., 29 W. Russell, early this morning.

Treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released was Allen J. Watts, 25, of 205 S. Marshall.

Fireman said the trailer truck was loaded with an insulating material that kept smoldering.

It took nearly three hours to bring it under control. The fire was reported shortly before midnight.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the truck and $250 to the contents. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Gets 5-15 Years for Fatal Stabbing

A 54-year-old Pontiac woman was sentenced yesterday to 15 years in the Detroit House of Correction for fatally stabbing her husband.

The jail term was ordered for Mrs. Viola Payne, 45 Hibbard, by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

She was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury on Feb. 9.

Her husband, Robert, 43, was killed during a struggle at the Western Recreation Center, 152 Western, on Nov. 18.

He was a student at Groves High School, Birmingham.

Sukarno Said Amenable to Afro-Asian Peace Terms

TOKYO (AP) — The Indonesian ambassador to Japan said today President Sukarno will accept any recommendation on withdrawal of Indonesian guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo or a plebiscite there provided it comes from a "legitimately formed" committee of four African and Asian nations.

Indonesia has demanded a plebiscite to determine if the people of North Borneo want to be part of the Malaysian Federation which Indonesian President Sukarno has vowed to crush. Malaysia demands that all Indonesian guerrillas withdraw from the disputed area.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — A preliminary court hearing for Mordecai Louk — the man in the trunk — opened today behind closed doors.

Louk, 30, was discovered last November at the Rome airport in a truck which Egyptian Embassy officials were trying to ship as diplomatic baggage to Cairo.

An Israeli citizen, he was sent home and indicted on six counts, including illegal crossing into the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip and supplying the Egyptians with secret information.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government called Wednesday night for a "total national effort" to increase exports. It also announced a 10-year program to expand existing universities.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson in a television address said that a "resistance to change" has built up which could turn Britain into a declining nation.

He said the British must "ruthlessly modernize our traditional industries, no matter who gets hurt."

Education Minister Anthony Crosland told the House of Commons the new education program would provide room for 300,000 more students in colleges and universities. Almost doubling the present number of students.

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — A state of siege is in effect throughout Guatemala. The ruling military junta said politicians had tried to overthrow the government.

Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, who heads the junta which overthrew President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes in 1963, said Wednesday night: "Several groups of armed men have attacked civilians

State Airman's Trial Near End

Charged in Slaying of Filipino 'Trespasser'

MANILA (AP) — The general court martial of Airman 1.C. Larry D. Cole, charged with unprompted murder in the slaying of a Filipino youth, neared completion at the U.S. Clark Air Force Base.

The prosecution and defense rested their cases and prepared to give closing arguments when the trial resumes tomorrow.

After the law officer gives instructions to the seven-officer court, they will begin deliberation.

Cole, 21, of Marshall, Mich., is accused of the fatal shooting of 14-year-old Rogelio Balagtas at the air base's Crow Valley bombing and gunnery range Nov. 25.

Filipino protest demonstrations stemming from the case and two other incidents have strained U.S.-Philippine relations.

KNEW COLE

Today, the defense introduced eight character statements from people who had known Cole as a schoolboy in Kentucky.

The statements said Cole had been an honor student at Exel High School in Morgan County and a letterman in basketball and basketball. The defense then rested.

But when the trial resumed this afternoon, the defense reopened its case to call a new witness. Maj. Harry Landis testified that a Filipino prosecution witness who had pointed to Cole in court as the killer of Balagtas had been unable to identify Cole earlier.

A ballistics expert, Army Warrant Officer Robert McCarthy, testified for the prosecution that the bullet that killed Balagtas came from the 22-caliber rifle which had been introduced in evidence.

Earlier in the trial, Cole testified he had fired a warning shot in the general direction of a group of trespassers he saw while bird hunting.

Finance Chief Favored for Swainson Job

LANSING (UPI) — Stuart Hertzberg, 38, Democratic State Central finance director, loomed today as a surprise top contender to succeed former Gov. John B. Swainson as Democratic national committeeman from Michigan.

Swainson, running unopposed for a Wayne County circuit judgeship, will give up the political post April 5 according to the code of judicial ethics.

Presently at least six men are in the running for the national committeeman job.

Besides Hertzberg, there are former Congressman Neil Staeble, who resigned the same job to run against Gov. George Romney last fall; Deputy Secretary of State Gordon Traye; Wayne County Registrar of Deeds Bernard Barney Youngblood; Wayne County Democratic Chairman David Lehenbom; and State Treasurer Sanford Brown.

But among top Democrats, Hertzberg is the name most often mentioned these days as the man to succeed Swainson.

Catherine Howard, 5th queen of Henry VIII, was beheaded in 1542 after exposure of her immoral conduct before her marriage.

Fire Brings Added Woes

BY ALLAN S. COLES
BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Until yesterday, life for Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Caudill of 965 Lockwood was a content of matching a total monthly income of $133 against the expenses of living.

The odds went sharply against them at about 9:30 a.m., when a fire of undetermined origin drove them from their home and gutted it.

Lost in the blaze were all their possessions, except the clothes they were when the fire broke out.

Caudill, 73, his 69-year-old wife Nancy, and daughter, Mrs. Wes Edwards, were forced out into biting cold by the blaze, along with 7-month-old Robert Eugene and 4-year-old Joey Edwards.

Alfred Caudill, toughened by years of work in various jobs and still strong enough to help neighbor farmers with the harvest, tried to put out the fire when he discovered it, with buckets of water.

FLAMES SPREAD

But the flames, which started in a partition dividing the dining room and kitchen, spread rapidly, outdistancing his efforts.

Mrs. Edwards, or "Rushie," as she is known, ran to a neighbor's house 100 yards down the key road.

The neighbor, Don Ledger of Modern Living Course Is Eyed

Class Would Stress Aspects of Marriage

SOUTH LYON — It takes more than the "I do's" to make a marriage work.

After the wedding vows come a multitude of lesser decisions which can help to fulfill or destroy a marriage.

Helping South Lyon High School graduates to cope with the problems they'll face as they start homes of their own is the aim of a new course which could be offered here next year.

Limited to seniors, the course is designed basically for those who will be married within five years after leaving school.

"Living for Young Adults" would be offered on an experimental basis in the fall and again the next semester if it proved successful.

WORK SESSIONS

Following a suggestion made in December, a high school staff committee has held eight work sessions on the idea. Its report was presented to the board of education this week.

"Why should the preparation for family living be limited to homemaking classes for girls when half of every beginning family is a boy with virtually no preparation for his role as husband and father?" the committee asked.

Members noted that the teacher chosen could be all-important to the success of the course, which necessarily will have limited materials during its first year.

They recommended that a team-teaching approach be adopted.

MANY ASPECTS

The course would touch on psychological, sociology, anthropological personal and economic aspects of modern living.

The academic terms, translated into daily-life concepts, would help the students to relate and function as members of a family and a society.

PARENTHOOD

Finally, the course would deal with the appreciation of the role and responsibility of parenthood.

Board members are expected to make a decision March 8 on whether the course should be incorporated into the high school curriculum.

Mrs. William Keinath and Mrs. John Toski.

TICKETS AVAILABLE

Tickets now are on sale for the show and are available from any club member. Mrs. Kenneth Hock is ticket chairman.

Not only will local people lend their talents to the show but those who attend also will be helping complete the Junior Woman's $10,000 pledge to the building fund of the Rochester Branch of Christian General Hospital.

Any proceeds left after the hospital pledge is met will go toward the YMCA building fund.

Groundbreaking for the $4.5-million hospital to be erected on Walton at the west end of the village is set for April 15. The facility will have 211 beds in the initial unit.

Ex-Solon Speaks Out for Generals

LANSING (AP) — A former state legislator said Wednesday that two National Guard generals, charged with gross neglect of duty, did only what "was demanded of them" by the legislature.

"In my opinion they acted in good faith, and this could be considered a bum rap," said Harry J. Phillips from his Port Huron home.

Maj. Gen. Carson Neffert and Brig. Gen. Ronald McDonald have been charged on three counts, one involving land transactions at Camp Grayling and two involving bookkeeping procedures.

Phillips, a member of the legislature from 1943 to 1963, was chairman in 1958 of the House subcommittee which handled the military establishment's budget requests.

He said he recommended a $200,000 cut in the military budget and the House ways and means committee agreed.

"We were short of money," Phillips said. "The feeling was let the guy (McDonald) be an administrator and make the best deal for the people at the least cost."

"If they sold land to buy land to make that range (at Camp Grayling) usable and safe then they kept faith," he added.

A 1951 law authorized the military establishment to exchange state-owned lands for acreage within Camp Grayling. McDonald and Neffert contend the land transactions in question were legal exchanges, while the charges say the deals amounted to illegal sale and purchase of land.

COMMERCIAL TOWNSHIP — Parents who want to check on the scholastic progress of their youngsters will have the opportunity to do so March 4 at Clifford H. Smart Junior High School.
Appointments for the parent-teacher conferences will be held during the PTA meeting through Wednesday at the school office.
A brief business meeting will be held from 8:30 to 9 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The principal item on the agenda is election of officers.

Liquor Prober Will Give Talk
ORCHARD LAKE — A Detroit Liquor License Bureau inspector will be the Monday night speaker in the "conversations" series sponsored by Aquinas Academy of St. Mary's College.
The discussion by Henry C. Majeski is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the campus assembly hall.
Having served with the Detroit Police Department since 1941, Majeski spent 15 years in the vice bureau before his present assignment.
The purpose of the Aquinas Academy is "to attempt to discover the significance of the created world as it is reflected in philosophy, literature, science and the arts."
Schools of Oakland County employed 7,493 classroom teachers in the 1963-64 school year.

Kelley Rules

Flat-Rate Tax Exemptions OK

LANSING (AP)—The legislature may grant exemptions under a flat rate income tax. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled today.

Kelley answered a query from Sen. Basil Brown, D-Detroit, who asked whether constitutional prohibition against a graduated tax also prohibited exemptions.

Kelley's decision was seen as another step forward for fiscal reform which frees Democrats to seek a high-income, high-rate income tax that would somewhat approach a graduated tax plan.

Brown has proposed two-step fiscal reform culminating in a graduated tax if the constitution is amended.

TAX ARTICLE

The income tax article of the constitution, Kelley said, "does not bar the legislature from exempting a certain dollar amount of gross income or a certain specified portion of a taxpayer's income, or from providing exemptions for a taxpayer and his dependents similar to those provided for under the federal law."

TAX ARTICLE

"We made it very clear in the committee report that a flat rate income tax could be made the subject of exemptions by the legislature."

TAX ARTICLE

Kelley went back to the Constitutional Convention debates to reach his conclusion.

TAX ARTICLE

During debate, delegate D. Hale Brake, R-Stanton, chairman of the committee on finance and taxation, said, "the legislature could prescribe reasonable exemptions for a flat rate income tax."

The convention record also showed delegate Richard Van Dusen, R-Birmingham, later Gov. George Romney's legal aide, saying:

"We made it very clear in the committee report that a flat rate income tax could be made the subject of exemptions by the legislature."

Dems Threaten State Budget

House Group May Ax Romney Money Bills

LANSING (AP)—A Democratic sword hung over Gov. George Romney's $788 million 1965-66 budget as House Democrats considered the possibility of killing Romney's budget bills.

They met Wednesday to discuss ways of handling legislation in the face of a constitutional requirement that the governor's budget bills must be disposed of before any other measures involving appropriations can be handed up.

One way of handling the problem would be a technical maneuver in which Romney's bills would be reported out of committee and killed on the floor of the House and Senate.

Similar—or even identical—bills could be introduced later and passed into law.

Democratic sources have indicated that the procedure has been under consideration.

"There have been a number of suggestions," said House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit. "But we have made no final decisions. We will meet with the Senate Democratic leadership Thursday and issue a policy statement."

"The attorney general has already ruled one of last year's bills unconstitutional because it was passed before action was taken on the budget," he added.

"And we could run the risk that if any money is spent as a result of such a bill, it would be attacked a year, two years or five years later," Kowalski said.

The constitutional provision was intended to prevent last minute scrambling to pass the budget as the end of a legislative session approached.

Legislators have found, however, that the repeated hearings, the controversy, and the long study generated by any major spending measure, produces a serious backlog of lesser bills that involve state spending.

NEW YORK — The nation's steel furnaces are today's big question mark in the country's prosperous domestic economy.

How long will they keep turning out record tonnage?

Will they be cooled down by a strike and if so, when?

Will production be slowed later in the year by overstocking of inventory?

Can the industry survive the winter?

Steel shipments are rising. But so are new orders. Some mills report orders coming in faster than shipments can rise, so that delivery time is being stretched out. In a few instances there are allocations.

There is talk also of extending the labor contract past the May 1 cutoff date, while the factions of the United Steelworkers of America settle their leadership battle and heal the scars of a bitter split.

STRIKE POSTPONEMENT

Some say this postponement of a possible strike would encourage more inventory building by consumers, and therefore would mean a bigger ledger under a new labor contract is reached, by whatever means, in the summer or fall.

But many in the industry contend that the inventory buildup is more important than real metal is being used by manufacturers faster than they had anticipated. And the stockpiles are still skimpy in relation to current production.

It isn't just the steel mills that are being flooded with new orders. Many steel consuming factories also are reporting a big and growing backlog of unfilled orders that would keep them going at full speed for weeks and months ahead, and chewing up any steel stock they might have succeeded in accumulating.

If the economy in general maintains its sprightly pace during the rest of the year, as a growing number are now predicting, steel users will be wanting sizable amounts of the metal.

Say U.S. Likely to Order New Steel Union Election

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Informed labor sources predicted today there was a good chance that the government would order a new election in the fight for the presidency of the United Steel Workers Union.

The Labor Department is watching the tabulation of votes in the contest between President David J. McDonald and the union's secretary-treasurer, I. W. Abel.

Steel contract negotiations have been suspended for several months pending the outcome of the election.

Now, with the threat of court action and the possibility of government intervention, many sources feel a steel crisis looms ever larger.

FBI Report Likely to Wind Up Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The long-running Bobby Baker inquiry appeared near an end today though Senate investigators still must hear from the FBI on one aspect of the case.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., of the Senate Rules Committee called another meeting of the panel for Tuesday. It was understood the session would be devoted to an FBI report the committee has requested but not yet received.

The report deals with testimony given the committee in closed session by insurance agent Don B. Reynolds, one of the chief accusers in the affair.

The committee asked the FBI to check into Reynolds' allegations. What these particular allegations have never been made public.

President Johnson's former top assistant told the committee yesterday Reynolds had been advertising time on a Johnson-owned television station in hopes it would pay off with a big life insurance sale.

IN WRITING
Walter W. Jenkins, the former

White House aide who resigned last fall after his arrest on a morals charge, made the statement in writing to the Senate Rules Committee.

Reynolds testified last year that Jenkins — through Baker — persuaded him in 1957 to buy $1,000 worth of advertising time he did not need on the Austin, Tex., television station owned by Baker's family.

He bought it after writing a $100,000 life insurance policy on Johnson, who then was Senate majority leader.

Jenkins said the whole thing was Reynolds' idea because "he wanted very badly to sell the policies and desired to purchase advertising time to be competitive."

HAD ADVERTISED

He said a Texas agent eager for the Johnson insurance business had advertised on the LBJ Co. station for many years and "had always related the amount of his advertising to the amount of his business done with the station."

Jenkins said he relayed this information to Reynolds — probably through Baker, with whom Reynolds had various dealings.

But Jenkins denied that this was what prompted the sale. He said Reynolds' firm was chosen because it had lower rates, provided a mandatory reduction at the end of the second year, was willing to write a larger amount than the Texas agent, was more convenient and was willing to buy advertising.

Jenkins' explanation of the deal was included among answers to 38 questions put to him in writing by members of the rules committee.

Newago Has Until

'66 to Act on Jail

WHITE CLOUD (AP)—Newago County officials have been warned by State Jail Inspector Robert J. Russell that they have until the end of 1966 to start on a new jail or close the present facility as inadequate. The Board of Supervisors indicated it will consider the state's complaints at its April session along with the problem of an addition to the county's medical care facility.

For a homey change, today's column will feature a dialogue between father and son. We start with a comment by father.

Oswald: Jim, what do you think of this hand from last year?

James: Well, dad, I like to bid and would surely have overcalled with the East hand in spite of being vulnerable.

Oswald: Where were you going with that diamond suit?

James: Nowhere, since my partner held only one point, but I would not have been in any trouble. Why do you think of South's six-heart bid, dad?

Oswald: A gambling bid. South did not want to ask for aces and give East a chance to double a five-diamond response. Also his bid worked.

James: Why didn't East double?

Oswald: East must have been afraid that South would be void of spades and the double would have called for a spade lead.

Pistons Post Win as Caldwell Stars

DETROIT (AP)—Rookie Joe Caldwell sank eight of nine shots, including the last seven in a row in the fourth period, in pacing the Detroit Pistons to a comeback 106-104 National Basketball Association victory over the Philadelphia 76ers Wednesday night.

The triumph enabled the Pistons to keep alive their hopes for the Western Division playoffs.

Detroit, trailing by as much as 19 points late in the second quarter and lagging by 16 at halftime, began its move in the third period when Reggie Harding and Ray Scott each dumped in three baskets.

Caldwell started his hot spree in the first 10 seconds of the closing period. Then the Pistons proceeded to outscore the 76ers 15-4 until a pair of baskets by Harding knotted the count at 89-89 with 7:36 left.

The score was tied seven times until Caldwell hit on a jumper with 2:12 to go and added another 15 seconds later to make it 104-101.

Wilt Chamberlain, who topped all scorers with 32 points, dumped in a shot before Caldwell climaxed his evening with a 20-footer from the side for the winning basket.

In their closing period drive, the Pistons made 15 of 24 shots or 62.5 per cent.

Harding led the winners with 25 points while Caldwell had 24. Sam Jones — Boston's new "super star" according to Coach Red Auerbach — set a Celtics' season scoring record with his 27 points Wednesday night against Los Angeles. Jones now has 1,763 points, 21 more than the previous high of 1,742, scored by Tom Heinsohn during the 1961-62 campaign.

Jones ranks fourth in the league scoring race, averaging 25.9 points a game.

Jones got a lot of help from Heinsohn and Bill Russell as the Celtics squeaked by the Lakers 97-95.

In other games, Baltimore whipped New York 111-100 and St. Louis downed San Francisco 111-103.

Northern Site of Mat Meet

Wrestling Regionals to Start Tomorrow

A two-day scramble for team and individual state high school wrestling championships opens at 10 regional sites in Michigan tomorrow.

Pontiac Northern will play host to 14 area schools in one of five Class A meetings. Other hosts in Class A are Hazel Park, Garden City, Battle Creek and Owosso.

The Class B battles are set for Dowagiac, Eaton Rapids, Chelsea, Freeland and Lowell.

Preliminary bouts are scheduled to start at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Pontiac Northern and continue through 10 p.m.

Semifinals will open at 1 p.m. Saturday. Finals and consolation will get under way at 7 p.m. Similar times will prevail at Hazel Park.

Chinese Pro in Golf Lead

MANILA (AP) — Hsieh Yung-Yo of Nationalist China, the 1964 Far East open circuit champion, fired a four-under-par 68 today and took the first-round lead in the Philippine Open Golf Tournament.

The 31-year-old Formosan posted a 32-36 after the first 18 holes in the 6,000-yard Wack Wack Golf and Country Club. One stroke behind in second place with a 32-35-69 was another Chinese, Lu Liang-Huan. Estanislao Pinet, a Filipino, was third with a 35-35-70.

Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez of Puerto Rico, bothered by an upset stomach, finished the opening round with a 39-37-76.

TOP FALCON — Birmingham Groves Falcons will have Pete Ruhf battling for the 133-pound championship when the regional wrestling tournament opens Friday at Pontiac Northern. Ruhf was seeded first in his weight division.

NIAA Title Contest Has Thrilling Finish

HOLLAND (AP)—Hope is the MIAA basketball champion. The Flying Dutchmen conquered second-place Calvin 104-102 on Don Kronmeyer's two foul shots after the buzzer in a second overtime period Wednesday night.

The exciting, nip-and-tuck contest ended in regulation time with an 85-point tie. It was 92-92 at the end of the first overtime and would have been tied at 102 at the end of the second except for the foul against Kronmeyer.

Carl Walters topped all scorers with 25 points and Floyd Brady added 24 for Hope. Rick Duistermaat paced Calvin with 21.

Hope ended the season at 9-2 in the MIAA and 15-6 over-all. Calvin finished 7-4 in the conference.

In City Playoffs

Heating '5' Warms Up

West Bloomfield Heating finished a disappointing fourth in the regular season Class A adult recreation basketball race but it is only one game now from the city championship round.

The heating quintet won its second playoff game and dumped regular season leader Roy White's Unbeatables into the loser's bracket last night with a 75-49 triumph.

Larry Hughes' 21, Paul Grammar's 19 and Dave Diehm's 12 paced the defending city champs. The Unbeatables had 21 by Harrison Munson, and 17 by Felix Brooks.

The other Class A playoff saw

The Students surprise Lloyd Motors and knocked the latter out of the post-season tourney, 86-66. Chuck Clark (27 points) and John Podgurski (24) led a four-man offense for the winners. Bob Finley topped Lloyd's with 20.

Al McClellan and Bill Smith each had 20 as New Hope Baptist scored a 95-46 romp over the Auburn Heights Boys' Club Buzzards in Class D; and the Tams upset K-Town Five, 56-54.

Richard Paces Montreal Win

Canadiens Top N.Y.,
Boston Nips Toronto

By The Associated Press
Although Henri Richard knew he wouldn't be able to observe his birthday this month, he still has managed to get in quite a lot of celebrating.

The Montreal center, who will but yet won't be 29 in a few days, scored three goals and added two assists Wednesday night in the Canadiens' 6-1 triumph over New York.

Chicago edged Detroit 3-2 and Boston defeated Toronto 3-1 in other National Hockey League games.

LEAP YEAR

Richard's problem is that he was born Feb. 28, 1936. Thus he has observed only seven birthdays instead of 28. But he was more than a mere youngster to the Rangers.

His goal midway through the first period tied the game 1-1. He fired across two more goals—his 19th and 20th of the season—in the second period, putting the contest beyond New York's reach.

Turning playmaker, Richard assisted on third-period goals by Dave Balon and Claude Provost.

Richard said after the game that he had "felt good all day" and knew he was in for a big night, "but I didn't think it would turn out this good."

NO GAIN

Despite Richard's play, the second-place Canadiens failed to gain ground on league-leading Chicago.

Ed Westfall's two goals carried the Bruins past Toronto, which remained tied for third with Detroit. Westfall snapped a 1-1 deadlock in the second period and added an insurance tally in the third.

Wayne Maxner scored Boston's first goal in the opening frame, but the Leafs' Frank Mahovlich tied it in the second period.

Tiger Pilot Greet Veteran Batterymen

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Ten days of watching the youngsters from teams in the Detroit Tigers' minor league system has given manager Charlie Dressen some idea of what to expect in the future.

Today, he welcomed his front-line batterymen, hoping to find the dozen or so pitchers who will make the Tigers a pennant contender this year.

Three catchers and 23 pitchers were slated to report for the first drills at Henly Field today.

Bill Freehan, one of the American League's few .300 hitters last year, is set as the number one catcher. Fighting it out for the second string spot will be rookies John Sullivan and Jackie Moore.

Sullivan hit .226 in 264 times at bat for Syracuse last season. Moore batted .238 in 206 at-bats with the same club.

Dressen, who expects Dave Wickersham and Mickey Lolich to duplicate their 19-and-18 victory season, will be looking for a number of things in the week the pitchers and catchers have the camp to themselves.

He would like to find two or three starters to go with Wickersham and Lolich. Hank Aguirre and Phil Regan, both of whom had arm or back troubles in the past, will be trying to show they are completely recovered.

Sherry, a 29-year-old right-hander, may head the bullpen staff. Fred Gladding is sure to join him there, with a few of the others in camp trying to make it as relievers, too.

Dressen also wants to find a lefthanded relief hurler. Former Tiger Billy Hoelt, who played the last two years in the National League, appears to have the inside track. Ron Nischwitz—also a former Tiger—Johnny Seale and Fritz Fisher are the other contenders. The rest of the Tigers are scheduled to arrive next Wednesday to work with the farm hands at Tigertown.

A few of the veterans in camp worked out at Henly Field Wednesday, while others continued to work with the farm hands at Tigertown.

'I Fear Nobody'—Cassius

Clay Scoffs at Rumored Threats

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay, known to his Black Muslim brethren as Muhammad Ali, scoffed at reports Thursday that he may be marked for death.

"I fear nobody," he said. "I'm with God. I'm going to die for truth. I'm ready. I'm not afraid of nothin'."

Rumors have it that the 23-year-old Clay may be next to die in retaliation for the assassination in New York last Sunday of his one-time friend, Malcolm X.

"I'm not afraid," he proclaimed. "You can tell them where I live and that I'm around for the asking. Tell them they're messing with God's messenger when they mess with my leader."

Clay was referring to Elijah Muhammad, head of the Nation of Islam sect to which Clay was converted.

EXHIBITIONS SET

"Tell them if they attack, we will fight back," he added.

At the height of the Black Muslim convention in Chicago this weekend, Clay will give a boxing exhibition in the policecordoned Coliseum Saturday. Seating capacity is around 10,000.

He will go on display against his brother, Rudy, for a four-round matinee then go another four at night with Cody Jones of Detroit.

Clay, recovered from a hernia operation that postponed his title match with Sonny Liston until May 25 in Boston, will open heavy training for that bout in Miami next week.

Meanwhile, he is upstaging the World Boxing Association title fight in Chicago's Amphitheatre March 5 between Ernie Terrell and Eddie Machen.

The Illinois State Athletic Commission stamped approval Wednesday of Clay's exhibition bouts while Terrell and Machen cooled their heels waiting their turn for an hour. Both WBA title contenders eventually were found fit and ready.

Clay was not present at the hearing and chairman Joe Triner said Clay was not required to take a physical examination.

"We assume he is healthy," he said.

AIR CLEARED

"We had this meeting with Clay's representatives simply to iron out some mechanical problems."

Later, Richard Friedman of the Illinois Attorney General's office, admitted there was more than just talk of the weight of Clay's gloves, etc.

May Fight Again

'Kicking' Boxer Tamed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Richardson's managers hope he will go into his next match for the California heavyweight championship in a "more reserved manner" than last time.

Last time was Feb. 10. Richardson jumped into the ring and began kicking state heavyweight champion Roger Rischer of Oakland before the bell had started the first round. The fight was called off before it even began.

Matchmaker Don Chargin says he hopes to restage the scheduled 12-round bout in mid-March, at the same Oakland Auditorium where the first fight was set.

CONDITIONS

Richardson, of San Jose, was suspended indefinitely Feb. 11 by the State Athletic Commission. Later he apologized to the commission's chief inspector, Bob Turley, who says Richardson may fight again if certain conditions are met.

The conditions include a $250 fine to be paid the commission, $250 to be paid Rischer for additional training expenses and a $1,000 bond to guarantee future commitments.

After the kicking episode, the two fighters mixed outside the ring and finally were separated by Oakland police.

Richardson said he was kicked by Rischer in an earlier bout at San Jose in which Rischer knocked him out in the 11th round.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Joe Balsis of Minersville, Pa. gained top honors for the day by defeating Harold Baker of North Hollywood, Calif., 150-120, in a round of the $19,500 World Pocket Billiards Championships Wednesday.

Balsis, a top favorite, ran the table almost seven times to give him the highest run to date, 103 balls. The match lasted only five innings. This gives Balsis a 10-1 record.

Harold Worst of Grand Rapids Mich., defeated Don Toner of Decatur, Ill., 150-83.

Other results: Luther Lassiter of Elizabeth City, N.C., defeated Robert Woods of Los Angeles, 150-97; Irving Crane of Rochester, N.Y., downed Verne Peterson of Anaheim, Calif., 150-116; and Al Gasser beat Jack Breit of Houston, Tex., 150-109.

Operative in 30 Minutes

Army Shows 'Boxed' Hospital

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The mushroom cloud erupted over Herr Hill, and the casualty count was devastating. It was only a mock attack—but it set the scene for the U.S. Army's new hospital in a box.

The hospital—flown by helicopter or loaded by truck—can be set up and ready for surgery in less than half an hour. In the primitive, hush world that must follow atomic attack, it is an impressive bit of civilization.

The units would replace the old canvas field tents in which Army doctors say some men died in war because the stresses of cold and heat added to the shock of their wounds.

"In some of those tents, you'd be operating on a man over a barrel," one doctor remembered.

Today the Army plays host to the House Armed Services Committee and representatives of industry and medicine to show off this new hospital concept that the Army wants for its strike units, and thinks is a prime development for civil defense.

"It's the first integrated advance in field hospitals since the Civil War," said Col. John Trenchum of the Army surgeon general's office.

The hospital comes in three boxed units—a gas turbine that supplies heat and air conditioning, electricity, hot and cold water; an inflatable ward that looks like a rubber Quonset hut; and a box that unfolds into a fully equipped surgical room.

Any number and any variety of the units can be joined together into a single building with the use of fabric air locks.

PROBABLY MORE
The Army would like to have at least 15 to 20 400-bed hospitals of this type, and probably more. It may test one of the prototypes within the next six months in South Vietnam.

The cost, fully equipped with modern medical devices from new operating tables to anesthesia units, might run up to $2 million for a 400-bed hospital.

Army doctors say the cost, twice that of current field hospitals, would be worth its weight in human lives.

The inflatable ward—though it seems vulnerable to a pinprick—is sturdy under fire from an automatic weapon. Army doctors say the structures provide excellent insulation.

The hospital units are manufactured by Garrett Corp. of Los Angeles, a firm which produces gas turbines and pressurized aircraft cabins.

The Army's demonstration takes place in south Texas on the hills of Camp Bullis outside San Antonio. GIs are made up to demonstrate the wounds that can occur when enemy aircraft deliver a small nuclear warhead to a sensitive target within the lines.

With the aid of his partners and an Allegan drilling firm, the operation began last December. The well came in Jan. 8.

Oil Output Drops at 'Secret' Wildcat Site

FENVILLE (AP)—The black gold in Walter Gillespie's "secret" oil well has dwindled to about 20 barrels per day from its original output of about 100 per day when first tapped Jan. 8.

Whether the source is not as vast as first thought or whether it is clogging the release pipe after recent acidation process in efforts to boost production.

Postal Ruling on Records Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Post Office Department, already under congressional scrutiny for its locker room peepholes and monitoring some mail deliveries, was in hot water today for a plan to destroy records.

The criticism came yesterday from Bernard Finsterwald Jr., counsel for a Senate subcommittee investigating government snooping. Hearings in the inquiry resume next week.

Louis J. Doyle, chief counsel for the Post Office, Department, told the subcommittee the plan to destroy records will be put into effect March 15 for lists of persons requesting delivery of Communist propaganda.

The reason for the decision, Doyle said, was a court ruling saying there was a danger the records might be used by other agencies for other purposes.

This prompted Finsterwald to say the Post Office seemed to be setting "a common pattern" for burning records. The remark was a reference to the department's failure to produce the names of persons whose mail had been ordered scrutinized.

RECORD-BURNING
Before the record-burning came up, most of the questioning centered on the Post Office practice of keeping tabs on deliveries to some persons and the use of peepholes to watch for thefts by employees.

The inquiry so far has been confined to post office operations except for an opening day session which featured displays and demonstrations of electronic surveillance equipment and other snooping gear.

The department is scheduled to be under inquiry for at least two more days next week before the subcommittee turns its attention to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The controversy over destruction of records occurred yesterday as the subcommittee touched on policies used to determine what constitutes obscenity in the mails and how foreign political propaganda is intercepted.

ASK PERMISSION
Irving Fishman, deputy commissioner of the Bureau of Customs, testified that customs officials ask the addressee's permission to open any mail that looks bulky enough to be subject to import duties.

If the permission is granted and the material turns out to be propaganda, it is turned over to postal officials who ask the addressee if he wants it delivered.

Doyle said postcards are sent to the addressee and their answers now are kept on file. If delivery of the propaganda is requested, future mailings of similar material are automatically forwarded, he said.

But the department was criticized for keeping a file of the requests in a recent court case involving the procedure, Doyle said. The court said there was a danger the files might be used by other agencies for purposes other than forwarding the mail.

FORDS HONEYMOON — Henry Ford II and his new wife, the former Marie Cristina Vettore Austin, are shown relaxing at the Palace Hotel in St. Moritz, Switzerland, yesterday. The couple was married last Friday in Washington, D. C.

Romain Gary Enjoys Hilltop Home

French Author Keeps Busy in Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — This beats writing in a garret.
Romain Gary, the noted French author, was putting pen to paper one sun-drenched afternoon in the Beverly Hills home he has rented with Jean Seberg while she is here to make a film, "Moment to Moment."

THOMAS

The style of architecture might be called Hollywood modern; the place comes equipped with ankle-deep carpets, sunken fireplaces, heated swimming pool and sauna.
"All it lacks is two poolides," Gary commented wryly.
He seemed to have been writing while oblivious to his surroundings, but he welcomed the interruption for a chat. As usual, his output is voluminous. He is turning out a play which is due for an October opening in Paris.

700 PAGES
"I am also writing a philosophical essay which started out to be 20 pages and is now 700," he sighed. "It is actually an introduction to three novels, and I am sticking my neck out because they aren't written yet. Besides these efforts, Gary has a new novel, "The Ski Bum," which has been well reviewed and was snapped up for films by the omnipresent Joseph E. Levine.

Nearly all of Gary's novels have been purchased for movies, generally with dismal results. "The Roots of Heaven" remains a mystery to him; he authored the screen play and it turned out "with only one line of misquoted dialogue written by me." Another book came out as a mishmash called "The Man Who Understood Women" with Henry Ford and Leslie Caron. "I don't suffer as an author when I see such movies," he commented. "I suffer as a moviegoer. I am an inveterate fan."

PROJECT SCRAPPY
Another Gary work, "The Lady L," had an abortive start with Tony Curtis and Gina Lollobrigida. "It almost busted MGM," said Gary. The project was scrapped after a reported cost of a couple of million, but now is being filmed in Europe with Paul Newman and Sophia Loren.

"Peter Ustinov is making it," Gary reported. "I visited him in Europe and he told me, 'You are the last person who will see the script.' That is fine with me."
For Gary, the return to Hollywood was his screen-star wife is something of a homecoming. For five years during the 1950s he was the French consul in Los Angeles.
"I can't understand people who say California is ugly," said the author. "You have the most beautiful trees in the world here. And there is no doubt that they know how to build attractive buildings."
"My duty in Los Angeles was one of the two best assignments I had in the diplomatic service. The other was Bulgaria, at a time when they had both a king and a Communist government. It was very exciting."
Gary, a dark-haired man with a Persian mustache, said he has no trouble occupying himself while Jean is at work. He writes 11 hours a day and still finds time to drive her to and from Universal Studios.

Warren Boy, 3, Chokes to Death on Candy
DETROIT (AP) — A suburban Warren boy, Jeffrey Skupny, 3, choked to death on a piece of hard candy.
The boy, accompanied by his mother, was given the candy by a woman in a physician's waiting room here Tuesday. The doctor, Antonio E. Ramon, performed an emergency operation in his office, but was unable to save the boy.

People in the News

By The Associated Press
Prince Nicholas of Prussia, great-grandson of the last German Kaiser, has joined the British army.

He is training with 30 other recruits in the queen's own Hussars at the northern army base of Catterick. The prince, 18, said:

"I wouldn't join any other army than the British. It's all hard work, but I'm having a wonderful time."

He is the son of Prince Frederick of Prussia, who left Germany in 1937 and became a British citizen 10 years later.

Anti-U.S. Students Prevent Speech
Walt Rostow, State Department economist, was prevented from speaking at Buenos Aires University last night by students shouting anti-American slogans.
Some witnesses reported the demonstrators also pelted Rostow with eggs and tomatoes.

When Rostow tried to speak he was drowned out by shouts of "Cuba," "Free Viet Nam," and "Long live Communist China" from a group of about 25 youths. He later spoke to another group of students at the U.S. Embassy.

Soviet First Ladies Appear in Public
Mrs. Alexei Kosygin and Mrs. Leonid Brezhnev, wives of the Soviet Union's leaders, made one of their rare public appearances yesterday when they made a tour of a Moscow art show with Mrs. Urho Kekkonen, wife of Finland's president.

Ex-British Aide in House of Lords
Former British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler took his place as a peer in the House of Lords yesterday. Butler, who is to become master of Trinity College in Cambridge, has been given a life peerage.

'Goldfinger' Singer Is Divorced
Film Director Kenneth Hume won an uncontested divorce in London yesterday from Shirley Bassey, 25, the British singer who has made a recording hit with the song "Goldfinger."
Hume named movie star Peter Finch and a man identified only as John Patrick McAuliffe as correspondents in his suit.

Miss Bassey gave birth to a child 15 months ago, and a judge said blood tests proved Hume could not have been the baby's father.

DENIED MARRIAGE LICENSE — Mrs. Barbara Cooke, 29, widow of slain singer Sam Cooke, and guitarist Bobby Womack, 20, of Cleveland, applied for a marriage license yesterday in Los Angeles. The bureau turned them down because it said Womack isn't old enough to marry without parental consent and he didn't have written permission from his parents or guardian. Cooke, 32, was killed last Dec. 4 in a shooting that was later ruled justifiable homicide.

Vocational Aid at $1.7 Million

LANSHING (AP) — Michigan school districts and institutions of higher learning will receive $1.7 million in federal grants under the Vocational Education Act, the State Department of Public Instruction has announced.
Total amount of the projects is $3.4 million, half coming from federal funds and the other half from local support.
The largest grant went to the Detroit Board of Education, $420,417.
Other grants announced were: Grand Rapids Board of Education, $85,412; Petoskey Board of Education, $97,690; Flint Community College, $108,983; Alpena Board of Education, $175,107; Schoolcraft Community College, $436,000; Western Michigan University, $170,000.
Dr. Lynn Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said notification of the approvals has been mailed to the school districts or institutions involved.

BRONCHIAL CONGESTION Lessening for Prelate
BOSTON (AP) — Doctors say Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, has shown "a slight lessening of the congestion" that has hampered his recovery from abdominal surgery.
A medical advisory Wednesday said that doctors "will await complete relief from this bronchial condition before resuming previously scheduled increased activity" for the 69-year-old prelate of the Roman Catholic Church.

Tennessee Man Held on Forgery Charge
NASHVILLE, Tenn., (AP) — A man questioned a year ago in the slaying of an Ann Arbor, Mich., gas station attendant was held Wednesday by federal authorities for prosecution in Texas as a forgery charge.
Robert Shelton, 20, Sparta, Tenn., was jailed here on a federal charge of unlawful flight in connection with a check for $20 allegedly forged at Delhart, Tex., in July, 1964.

Ex-Banker Sentenced for Embezzlement
DETROIT (AP) — A former Minden, Mich., bank president charged with embezzlement was put on five years probation by U.S. District Court Wednesday.
A.L. VanWansee, 44, one-time head of the Minden City Savings Bank, had pleaded guilty to an indictment of embezzling $63,434 in bank funds and falsifying bookkeeping entries.

Kremlin Speaking Softly, but Using Big Stick, Says McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says that while the Soviet Union's new leaders are using diplomatic channels to urge relaxation of tensions, they are supporting Communist attacks in Africa and Viet Nam.

But he said that there is no expectation that either the Soviets or the Red Chinese would deliberately touch off a conventional or nuclear war in the near future.

He predicted that the Communists would continue "covert armed aggression, insurrection and subversion" such as is now under way in Viet Nam, Africa and parts of Latin America. McNamara testified Wednesday at a closed hearing of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Loomis, Voice of America

director since 1958, will become deputy commissioner of education next month, succeeding Wayne O. Reed who is being named an associate commissioner to concentrate on federal-state relationships, the Office of Education said Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Veterans Administration has been accused of disregarding the welfare of thousands of veterans by its controversial plan to shut some VA hospitals.

Commander William G. Dwyer, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, told the House Veterans Affairs Committee Wednesday that the VA plan "runs counter to the intent of Congress and the will of the people."

Dwyer said the proposal is "a definite beginning of an encompassing plan to eliminate the long-established care and services which Congress, in its wisdom, has seen fit to provide."

Traffic Snarled; Schools Closed

Worst Blizzard in Years Paralyzes County

The worst blizzard in many years swirled into the Oakland County area last night, causing a traffic jam that all but paralyzed business, industry and schools.

The Oakland County Road Commission committed all available men and machines to the battle with the elements late last night, but their best efforts were all but useless.

Robert Vincent, road commission maintenance superintendent for District 4, said this morning the county's entire fleet of 75 plows, trucks and scrapers were being used just to keep trunklines open. Most secondary roads are impassable, he said.

Road crews were able to keep one-lane traffic moving on I-75, but exit ramps were blocked by drifts and stalled vehicles.

Traffic was also moving on most state roads, Vincent said, but major tieups were reported on Telegraph Road at Long north of Andersonville, where Lake and Maple and U.S.-10 traffic was unable to move up the inclines.

Troopers from the local state police post were maintaining normal patrol, spending most of their time helping drivers keep their vehicles moving.

No major accidents had been reported to state or city police, but minor collisions were running about 50 per cent above normal.

City officials enlisted the aid of local contractors this morning when the city snow removal equipment proved unable to keep major streets open.

Clyde Christian, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, said 15 plows, scrapers and front-end loaders had been on the job since 3 p.m. yesterday.

Some streets had been plowed four times, Christian said, in an effort to keep traffic moving. Extra effort was being concentrated around local hospitals, Christian said, to prevent emergency vehicles from getting stuck or blocked off by stalled traffic.

U-M Book Gives State Outlook

To Need 860,000 New Jobs

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan is going to need at least 860,000 new jobs by 1975 to keep up with the work force explosion, and it won't be able to count on its keystone automobile industry to provide all of them.

That's one of the conclusions reached in a book published today by the University of Michigan.

Titled "Michigan in the 1970's—An Economic Forecast," the volume was put together by the Bureau of Business Research of the university's Graduate School of Business Administration.

Its introduction, which attempts to pull together the book's various themes, was written by William Haber, dean of the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts, and W. Allen Spivey and Martin R.

Warsaw, members of the business school faculty.

SUBSTANTIAL HIKE

"First," he said, "our population increase will be substantial. In the current decade, Michigan population will increase by 14 per cent. In the 1970's, it will grow by another 15 per cent."

"Second . . . the population in the 15-24 age bracket will grow by 59 per cent in this decade alone. The implication for education . . . is quite overwhelming."

"Third, the Michigan labor force . . . will increase by 500,000 in the decade of the 1960's and by another 500,000 during the 1970's."

These estimates are based on the assumption of zero migration to Michigan. As a result, we estimate in this volume, that 860,000 more jobs will need to be created between 1970 and 1975 if unemployment is to be kept at about 4 per cent . . .

20 PER CENT

Haber said the auto industry could not provide all the new jobs needed now. He said that even "on the basis of a 10 million car year" it is estimated that only about 20 per cent of the new jobs needed can be created by the auto industry, either directly or indirectly.

The fifth point then, he said, was that "expansion of other manufacturing and more employment opportunities in non-manufacturing must be developed . . . We cannot rely on the sequence of good auto years alone."

Haber's sixth point was that the job outlook for nonwhites in Michigan was "much more serious than for the general population."

He said too few Negroes had the education and training necessary for the skilled jobs of the future and urged "we not lose any time in assisting Negro youth to enlarge their education. A massive effort is needed in this area."

FINAL POINTS

This led him to his final three points which were, briefly:

More progress in the cooperative relationship between business and government; the likelihood of college enrollment reaching 400,000 by 1980 means "that we shall need to expand our investment in human capital to a far greater degree than at any time," and, finally, the state's tax structure badly needs overhauling with a state income tax providing "the only sensible solution."

Break Hinted in NY Killing

NEW YORK (AP)—Police say they know who was responsible for Malcolm X's assassination and hint a break in the investigation will come soon, perhaps today.

Despite phony bomb threats in Harlem, more than 7,000 persons have filed by the bier of the slain black nationalist leader in less than two days.

Malcolm X, 39, who broke with the Black Muslims 14 months ago and formed a rival group, was shot down as he started to speak at a Manhattan rally Sunday. Police believe five persons were involved. One man is in custody.

In Chicago, a heavy patrol of police and his own bodyguards protected the 19-room home of Elijah Muhammad, head of the Black Muslims, who Friday opens a three-day convention.

Chicago police checked reports that followers of Malcolm X were in that city to avenge his death. Muhammad has denied that Black Muslims were involved in the slaying.

In New York, Asst. Chief Inspector Joseph L. Coyle, in command of 50 detectives working on the case, said Wednesday that police were on the "right track" toward solving the slaying.

DIDN'T ELABORATE

He said this was because of "information" detectives have dug up as to who may be responsible. He did not elaborate.

Bayard Rustin, one of the Negro civil rights leaders who organized the 1963 march on Washington, yesterday visited the funeral home where Malcolm's body is on public display. With tears in his eyes, he told newsmen: "He had a tremendous impact on the Negro community. He caused many young Negroes to take a new vision of themselves."

GOP Picks 5 Much of Lower Michigan Brought to Near-Standstill for Fiscal Study

House Dems Invited to Name Similar Group

LANSING (AP)—House Republicans took a step toward fiscal reform yesterday—and House Democrats indicated they would meet them halfway.

The Republican caucus appointed a special five-man committee to work with the Democrats toward fiscal reform. House Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, invited the Democrats to appoint a similar committee.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said the Democratic caucus most likely would appoint a committee "to find areas of agreement."

But at least one Democratic leader complained that the initiative was coming from the wrong quarter.

"I favor this," said Rep. J. Robert Trazler, D-Bay City, majority floor leader. "But we want the governor to take some action."

NO PACKAGED PROGRAM

Gov. George Romney, whose fiscal reform program was killed in a special 1963 legislative session, said he would not present a packaged program this year, but would work with legislative leaders of both parties to work out a mutually acceptable program.

He already has met and discussed the area in general terms with Republican and Democratic legislators.

He has expressed fear that any proposals he made would be labeled "Romney's program."

"I find such silence disconcerting for a presidential candidate," Trazler said. "How can a man take on national problems, when he won't handle those at home?"

POTENTIAL CANDIDATE

Romney frequently has been mentioned as a potential GOP candidate for the presidency in 1968.

By The Associated Press

A blinding, choking snow slashed across much of Lower Michigan today, clogging roads, reducing visibility to near zero and bringing vehicle and pedestrian traffic almost to a standstill.

The snow began falling late yesterday and continued through the night, heaping up to six inches in the Detroit area and up to eight inches at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Detroit said it expected the snow to continue falling until late this afternoon and the snow depth in Detroit to increase to 10 inches.

It said if the snow did reach 10 inches it would be the greatest snowfall to hit the state's largest city since 1934 when 9.8 inches were recorded.

For the first time in many years, Detroit city schools were closing for the day because the snow made it impossible for the children to come to classes.

SUBURBAN SCHOOLS

Suburban Detroit schools also were closing.

The snow also forced out-state schools to close their doors.

All schools in Clare and Ionia Counties were reported closed. Most Montcalm County schools also were closed.

The Weather Bureau said the snow extended as far north as Traverse City with some light snow reported at Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette in the Upper Peninsula.

REST OF U.P.

The rest of the Upper Peninsula was reported clear.

The bureau said the southern part of the Lower Peninsula was hardest hit.

A newsmen at Ypsilanti described conditions in that city as "terrible."

Roads and sidewalks in Detroit were all but impassable.

Pedestrians, unable to navigate the heavily covered sidewalks, took to the roads, walking along runs made by slowly moving automobiles.

Suburbanites who had to come to the central city to get to their jobs reported snow in driveways waist deep at points where steady winds had drifted it.

Some said they had to shovel for as long as half an hour to open their garage doors and free their cars.

BARELY MOVING

She said cars barely could move on the usually fast-moving freeway and that many cars were stuck in snow on it.

The Automobile Club of Michigan urged motorists to avoid all unnecessary travel in Lower Michigan and especially in the Detroit area.

It said snowplows clearing main streets often were barricading side streets in the process.

U.S. Not Engaged in Talks on Viet Peace---Reedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House says it is not engaged in any negotiations for a Viet Nam settlement and that no one has been authorized to negotiate in behalf of the United States.

George E. Reedy, presidential press secretary, made these points yesterday after U.S. Secretary General U Thant said in New York that he had made concrete proposals aimed at a negotiated settlement of the Vietnamese war.

Reedy said the United States and the Soviet Union are also seeking such an agreement.

But Reedy said: "I know of no specific proposal for negotiation."

He said such silence disconcerting for a presidential candidate, Trazler said. "How can a man take on national problems, when he won't handle those at home?"

Reedy frequently has been mentioned as a potential GOP candidate for the presidency in 1968.

Corporation Forced to Dissolve

City Asked to Save Industrial Park Plan

Development of a future industrial park in the south-east section of the city has encountered troubled waters and appears headed for the rocks.

Bruce J. Annett, president of the Greater Pontiac Industrial Development Corporation (GPIDC), disclosed today that the entire project has been offered to the city to take over.

City officials reportedly are considering the GPIDC proposal.

Development of a 25-acre industrial park was launched in 1963 with a public subscription drive that netted more than $100,000.

GPIDC was to buy, improve and then resell property on the northeast corner of South and East Boulevards in South Park subdivision.

INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT

Object of the project was to develop an industrial district for the location of new industries and the expansion of existing ones.

However, the project is headed for the rocks, according to Annett. Unless, of course, the city takes it over.

Annett said that GPIDC had reached the limits of its financial resources and made its last monthly payment on land contracts in December.

EMPHASIZES NEED

Although Annett emphasizes the need for an industrial park still exists, the corporation cannot go any further.

He explained that the park suffered from a lack of adequate financing. The developers had hoped to raise $300,000 for the project, but only $110,200 was received.

Some contributions, he said, hit a legal snag when certain types of businesses discovered they could not buy GPIDC stock as they had pledged to do.

Also, Annett said the city's legal authority would probably be needed in the acquisition of remaining properties in the proposed park district.

STILL TO BE PURCHASED

He said that 11 homes and 12 vacant lots remain to be purchased.

The corporation owns 31 lots in the proposed park area and is purchasing another 143 lots with a balance of $66,750.

There's presently owing $2,800 for 1963-64 taxes and roughly $4,000 as an assessment for the Murphy Park trunk sewer.

Annett said there is a note of $22,119 that fell due Jan. 1, 1965.

TAKE OVER PROJECT

He said that the city could take the project over and pay an estimated $50,021 in 1965.

Annett said that the GPIDC encountered difficulties from inadequate financing and the need to acquire all of the proposed 25-acre parcel.

"We have had no choice," he commented. "We could not negotiate to acquire further property because we had no money."

A delay in the construction of the Murphy Park sewer, held up because of a Macomb County suit that challenged the bonding authority, also hampered the industrial park development, said Annett.

City officials, meantime, have informally received the GPIDC proposal, but have made no decision on it.

The city has ordered Geer Associates, Planning Consultants Inc., of Bloomfield Hills to study the proposal.

'Not Planning Talks'

and North Vietnamese Communists are interested in serious talks on Viet Nam.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said yesterday that complete, immediate and unconditional U.S. withdrawal is Peking's price for negotiations.

TWO CONDITIONS

U.S. officials give two conditions for any talks on Viet Nam: An end to attacks by the Communist Viet Cong and a cessation of subversion, infiltration and supply of the guerrillas from outside South Viet Nam.

And Reedy noted: "This matter would be terminated very quickly if aggressors cease their aggressions."

The U.S. position appeared to be that, in the absence of real hopes for negotiations now, the anti-Communist position should be strengthened as much as possible with an eye toward talks sometime in the future.

This was underscored by the news from South Viet Nam that American-manned jet bombers had taken part in several raids on Viet Cong positions in the key central region of South Viet Nam.

APPROPRIATE ACTION

This broadening of the U.S. role, in a land where some 24,000 American personnel are functioning officially as "advisers" to South Vietnamese forces, was described by the State Department as "in accordance with the government's stated policy of continuous action that is appropriate, fitting and measured."

In Saigon the officers who overthrew Lt. Gen Nguyen Khanh sent him off to the United States today with full honors.

Several embraced him with tears in their eyes.

At the moment, U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, with whom Khanh had often crossed swords, went to the airport with Sea.

Korea this became the first foreign country other than the United States to commit a substantial number of troops to the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Korea already has several surgical teams and several special advisory groups in Viet Nam.

Vietnamese howitzers blasted Viet Cong positions only 100 yards away today as government troops battled to get out of an ambush 70 miles east of Saigon.

HEAVY KILL

The shelling presumably was taking a heavy toll of Communist forces. But preliminary reports said the government forces suffered nearly 100 casualties, 10 killed, 20 wounded and 50 missing — in the series of fierce encounters along a road near the provincial capital of Ham Tan on the South China Sea.

Khanh has been named an ambassador-at-large with his first mission to present to the United Nations evidence of Communist North Viet Nam's assistance to the Viet Cong.

IN BATTLE GEAR

Three landing craft brought 600 Korean troops in battle gear to Saigon today for noncombat duty. The rest of a 2,000-man detachment is due in the next few days.

Senior Editors Quiz on RADIATORS

LET IT SNOW!

QUESTION: How did radiators come to be so widely used?

ANSWER: What could be more cozy on a cold winter day than being warmed by a hot radiator, like the young man in our picture?

We should be grateful that we live in times when radiators are widely used, for until fairly recently, American homes were very differently heated.

American pioneers had to rely entirely on fireplaces. These sound romantic, but much of the warm air went up the chimney, and cold air had to come through chimneys to replace that being lost, with the result that the pioneers baked on one side and froze on the other.

Cast iron stoves, first made in Lynn, Mass., in 1642, were much warmer, because the iron stove body would radiate heat into the room. But stoves could heat only one room.

Experiments with circulating hot water using primitive radiators began in America about 1840.

Later came the use of steam. This proved valuable for such large buildings as hotels and apartment houses. Smaller houses at first tended to use hot air or circulating hot water with radiators presenting many surfaces to give out heat.

Today, steam, hot water and hot air are all used. Stoves can heat well and are still being used in many places.

But the various kinds of central heating, including the kinds which use radiators, are displacing stoves because they can heat an entire house, are cleaner and save time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Radiators give out heat both by "radiation" and "convection." Check the meaning of these words in a dictionary or encyclopedia.

By REX THOMAS
SELMA, Ala. (AP) — There are a lot of leaders in a civil rights struggle such as the one in Selma, but they work together surprisingly well. And the only way it can be done is through the close cooperation of the separate Negro organizations, says the Rev. James Bevel, a key member of Dr. Martin Luther King's staff

"Actually," explained Bevel, "we, that is the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, don't make the decisions. That is done by the local groups like the Dallas County Voters League in Selma."

"What we do is to decide how to implement the decisions."

No one who has witnessed the prolonged struggle here and elsewhere in the South can fail to recognize that King is the undisputed leader. He is the force that keeps the campaign going.

But the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner makes few decisions without consulting members of his staff, said Bevel.

"The SCLC has an executive committee, and we work things out together," he continued.

"And we confer regularly with the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. We are in basic agreement on most things and it's mainly a matter of working out the details."

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Bevel is a member of the executive committee, together with the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, the Rev. Andrew Young, the Rev. C. T. Vivian, Hosea Wil-

said, "we are a church-oriented group."

During the campaign now in its sixth week in Selma, Negroes make their donations at the almost nightly mass meetings which have become a integral part of the civil rights movement.

The ranks of high school and college students give civil rights leaders a ready source of new recruits. While the work is done mostly by Negroes, white volunteers, most of them college students and some trained in civil rights schools, also do their part.

In Selma, as in other Southern communities, King and members of his staff have been called outside agitators. They insist, however, that they participate in civil rights struggles only at the invitation of local Negroes.

2 Million Diabetic Cases Undetected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Public Health Service says that at least 2 million Americans have diabetes and don't know it.

The agency said yesterday the number of persons tested for diabetes needs to be increased sharply and testing programs should be overhauled to focus on groups more likely to have the disease.

Officials estimated that besides the undetected cases, there are about 2 million Americans with known cases of the disease.

Have Lengthy Service

NORTHFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Eleven of the 14 children of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Randall — 10 sons and a daughter — have served in the armed forces for a total of nearly 50 years.

Horns differ from antlers in that neither core nor sheath is ever shed.

Avon Hospital Exec on Insurance Unit

Dr. Ralph S. Green, medical director of the Haven Hospital and Psychiatric Center in Avon Township, has been appointed a member of a subcommittee of the American Psychiatric Association Insurance Commission.

The commission will deal with the new provisions of the 1964 UAW contract which provides for outpatient psychiatric treatment.

The first contract of this type for any large union, its benefits are scheduled to become effective in September 1966.
