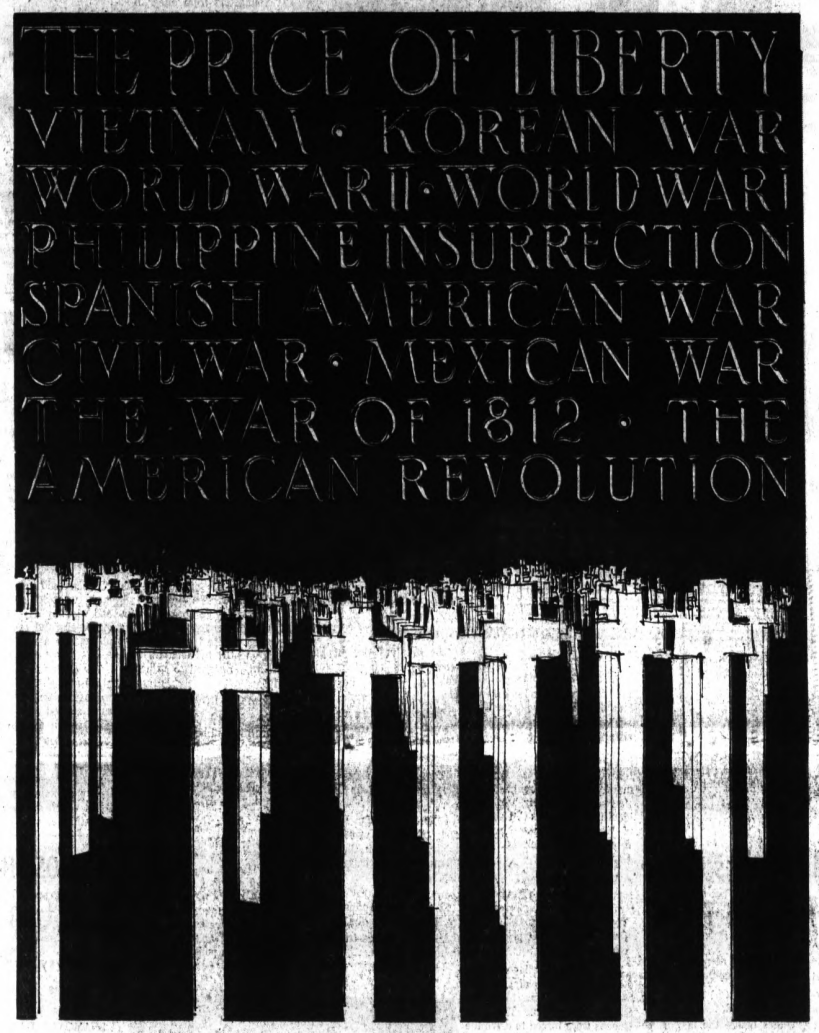
Israel Vows to Reopen Aqaba Gulf to All Ships



Egypt Paper Claims Tanker Turned Away

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israel said today it would "undergo every sacrifice" to reopen the Gulf of Aqaba to all ships.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban made the Israeli pledge at a news conference a few hours after the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported that a Liberian-American tanker was barred from the gulf early yesterday by a warning shot from an Egyptian patrol boat. But the U. S. State Department said it knew of no such ship in the area.

Eban said Israel will "have nothing to do with any suggestion or arrangement which provides that all ships can go through and Israeli ships cannot."

Free transit of the gulf—the route for Israel's oil supply—is a "vital national interest which will under no circumstances be surrendered or abandoned . . . and on which our nation stakes all it has and will undergo every sacrifice," Eban declared.

Referring to his talks last week with officials in Washington, London and Paris, Eban said it had "become clear that other powers are prepared to make common cause with us for the restoration of the situation."

The foreign minister also cited the Egyptian troop buildup in the Sinai Desert, on Israel's southwest border, and said Israel had responded with the buildup of its own forces which is "at least corresponding to the Egyptian measures."

In Cairo, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser claimed Soviet support for his blockade of the gulf, the sole outlet for the Israeli port of Elath and the main route for Israel's oil imports.

In Jerusalem, Premier Levi Eshkol told Israel's parliament he expects the big Western powers to make a combined effort to keep the gulf open for international shipping without discrimination.

★ ★ ★

The United States and Britain urged the U.N. Security Council to ask all sides in the mounting dispute to shun belligerence and stressed their belief that the Egyptian blockade was a belligerent act.

Al Ahram did not identify the tanker which it said was of American ownership and Liberian registry. It said it was intercepted by an Egyptian torpedo boat patrol as it approached from the Red Sea.

School Tax Increase for City Is Largest in at Least 6 Years

Pontiac property owners will pay a school tax increase of $1.56 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1967-68, Vernon L. Schiller, school business manager, reported yesterday.

The increase is the largest in at least six years, according to figures released by Schiller.

A tax rate of $28.16 per $1,000 of assessed valuation is now final, Schiller said, since the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board has made a final ruling on the 1967 taxing authority.

Last year's tax rate was $26.60, an increase of $1.28 over the previous year.

★ ★ ★

What the new tax rate means is that a taxpayer whose property has an assessed valuation of $4,000 will pay $112.64 in school taxes, Schiller explained. One year ago, he paid $106.39.

DEBT RETIREMENT

Accounting for the rate increase is a jump in the levy for debt retirement because of the recent passage by the board of education to issue bonds totaling $3.8 million.

Some projects to be financed with the funds from the bonds are two units of the Human Resources Center, new elementary school near Lincoln Junior High and one to replace Twain and Emerson schools.

The millage for the forthcoming fiscal year will be 22.35 mills for Pontiac and 20.95 outside of the city compared, respectively, to 21.11 and 19.71 last year.

★ ★ ★

Since 1961, the previous largest tax increase was in 1963-64 when the rate jumped $1.31 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

BUILDING PROJECTS

Increases in the past two years have been due to a higher state equalization factor and increased building programs.

Property in the city accounts for 90.4 per cent of the school district's assessed valuation. The 1967 state equalized valuation of the school district is $457,204,499.

Rates for property in the area outside the City of Pontiac will vary according to the state equalization factors for the various units.

Memorial Day: Pride and Sorrow

Unlike other national holidays, Memorial Day is a celebration marked by mixed emotions. It is patriotism cloaked in the robes of religious piety; pride which gains its strength from the sadness of ultimate sacrifice.

Today we honor our war dead.

Five weeks from this day, Americans will celebrate their freedom and independence. Today they pause to reflect on the high cost in human life to preserve that most cherished gift of liberty.

As we pause today to pay tribute to those who died for the cause of freedom, that honor roll is steadily growing in Vietnam, where American servicemen are fighting and dying to prevent free people from falling under the yoke of dictatorship.

Below are the names of those fighting men from the Pontiac area who have died from Jan. 1, 1961 to date in the Vietnam conflict, according to the Associated Press and the Directorate for Statistical Services Office of the U.S. Department of Defense.

To these men we pay humble tribute.

Waterford Acts to Block County

The Waterford Township Board last night took steps to block Oakland County's proposed purchase of 111 acres in the township.

The board unanimously supported Trustee E. Frank Richardson's motion, authorizing township attorneys to take immediate action to enjoin the county from buying the property.

Located northwest of Children's Village, the six land parcels involved in the purchase extend west to Scott Lake Road, north to Alliance and are bounded on the east by Grand Trunk Railroad right of way.

The County Board of Supervisors authorized an expenditure of $250,000 for purchase of the land for future expansion of the county service center last Thursday.

★ ★ ★

INDUSTRIAL TAX BASE

"I think this tore the heart out of any potential industrial tax base we had," asserted Richardson.

"I think this is not in the best interest of Oakland County residents and certainly not in the best interest of Waterford Township residents," he said.

★ ★ ★

"I think this is a violation of integrity," Richardson added. "I think we should take some action to protect ourselves."

The boxcar derailed and caught fire yesterday morning near Switzer, 18 miles south of Spartanburg.

Traffic Death Rate Behind Last Year's

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths in the extended Memorial Day weekend appeared running behind last year's record high but safety experts expect the final toll will reach the preholiday estimate of 650 to 750.

The latest figures showed 445 persons had been killed in traffic accidents since 6 p.m. local time Friday. The tally for the four-day holiday period ends at midnight tonight.

A spokesman for the National Safety Council, which had made the 650-750 death toll estimate, said at the current rate there could be about 637 deaths during the 102-hour period.

The toll in the three-day Memorial Day holiday last year was 542, the highest for the Decoration Day observance of any length.

LOWER RATE

Howard Pyle, council president, said that although the rate this year is lower than in the 1966 holiday, there is no reason for complacency.

"There is a fourth day in the holiday period this year," Pyle said. "And, additionally, the last day of a holiday period is the deadliest because that is when vacationers are hurrying home."

* * *

Traffic deaths in the most recent four-day Memorial period, in 1961, totaled 46. An Associated Press survey during a comparable nonholiday, 101-hour weekend, May 12-16, showed 560 traffic fatalities.

In addition to the highway fatalities during the long weekend, 77 persons drowned and 30 others lost their lives in boating accidents.

The bodies of Daniel Greenwood, 6, and his brother, Garret, 8, both of Detroit, were recovered yesterday from a canal where the boys had been swimming Sunday.

* * *

Dragging operations were underway yesterday in Sanford Lake for the body of Michale Crone, 17, who disappeared while swimming early in the day.

The deaths of a 49-year-old New Baltimore man and a 19-year-old Imlay City youth yesterday raised the weekend holiday death toll to 30 on Michigan highways.

John J. Clark of New Baltimore died in a head-on collision involving three cars on M97 near Mount Clemens.

* * *

Dale C. Crake of Imlay City was killed when his car ran off M21 in Lapeer County and struck an enbankment.

The Associated Perss traffic death count began at 6:00 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight tonight.

William Dunsleth told police that the men entered the store about 10:20 p.m. and ordered him to open the cash register.

De Gaulle Blocks Talk on Britain Entering Market

ROME (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle today blocked discussion of Britain's application for membership in the European Common Market and the issue was postponed for a week.

* * *

After four hours of argument at a Common Market meeting in the Italian foreign office, it was decided the foreign ministers of the market countries would take up Britain's application in Brussels June 6.

One agreement was reached. A new executive commission was set up to run the Common Market and related bodies. Former Belgian Economics Minister Jean Rey was proposed as president of the commission.

But on the issue of Britain, there was a French stone wall. Five market members demanded that the Rome meeting decide whether to begin negotiations with Britain for membership.

* * *

De Gaulle refused to accept the demand.

A conference source quoted him as saying British membership would "cause great changes."

"We must not be afraid of changes," argued Dutch Premier Petrus De Jong.

Kelley Files Appeal Over Pratt Probe

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley filed an appeal Monday of a lower court decision which has stymied operations of Oakland County's one-man grand jury probe.

In its appeal, Kelley's office argued that the state Court of appeals was "patently in error" when it ruled Oakland Circuit Court acted illegally in appointing Judge Philip Pratt as grand juror last Aug. 16.

* * *

A panel of three judges held the appointment illegal May 23. They said Pratt had investigated the same alleged crimes for more than a year.

Pratt headed a six-month grand jury probe which ended last June and two months later was appointed to a second grand jury to investigate alleged wrongdoing by public officials.

* * *

Kelley's appeal contends the appellate court ruling would prevent a circuit judge from serving as a grand juror more than once during his entire judicial career.

Pratt's current grand jury has less than 80 days to complete its work.

Allegedly Helped Convicts

Five Charged in Ionia Escape

Five area residents, who allegedly helped three escaped convicts from Ionia State Reformatory before their capture early yesterday, have been charged with concealing and harboring an escaped prison felon.

* * *

Facing the charge are Jerry L. Harrison, 20, of 3748 Oakview, Waterford Township; Michael D. Taylor, 19, of 1551 Petrolia, West Bloomfield Township; William H. Dye, 20, of 663 Cameron, Pontiac; and John J. Larson, 22, and Gerald L. Taylor, 21, both of 9351 Big Lake, Springfield Township.

All five suspects pleaded innocent at their arraignments yesterday before Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead. The trial for each was set for 9:30 a.m. June 20.

The charge, a misdemeanor, carries a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail or a $100 fine or both.

* * *

Pontiac State Police captured the three fugitives shortly before 6 a.m. yesterday at Harison's house. They offered no resistance.

CONVICTED SLAYER

Among them was convicted murderer Allen Smith, 30, of Jackson. The other two were identified as Dennis C. Hyde, 22, of White Lake Township; and Gerald Van Hoorelbeke, 20, of Grayling.

Hyde was at Ionia for assault with intent to rape a Detroit woman in Springfield Township in July 1963. Van Hoorelbeke was in prison for car theft.

The trio had allegedly abducted a young Belding couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clare McQueen, Sunday afternoon. The McQueens were forced to drive the convicts to Grand Rapids and then to Pontiac where the trio got out of McQueen's car.

* * *

The McQueens then reported the incident to State Police who eventually traced the convicts to 3748 Oakview.

OTHER HOMES

The fugitives also stopped at other homes after arriving in Pontiac, according to State Police.

Reformatory guards returned the fugitives from Oakland County Jail to Ionia prison yesterday.

Kidnaping and escape charges face the trio in Ionia County.

* * *

Smith, Hyde, Van Hoorelbeke and convicted armed robber Welton R. Slayton, 21, of Mount Clemens escaped from Ionia Friday night.

Slayton was captured Sunday by Hazel Park police.

All four men had trusty status at the institution.

Teamster Members Give Pact Overwhelming OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters Union announced Monday overwhelming approval by 450,000 members of a three-year national contract with the trucking industry providing 76 cents per hour in wage and benefit hikes.

* * *

The contract was approved by a four to one margin with some 70 per cent of those eligible casting ballots in the biggest mail vote ever conducted by a union, the Teamsters said.

* * *

A national committee of the trucking industry, representing some 12,000 firms, earlier approved the contract which was negotiated after a rash of small strikes and a three-day national lockout last month.

* * *

The Labor Department, under the direction of Undersecretary James J. Reynolds, supervised the counting of the Teamsters ballots.

NOT A MINORITY

"The conduct of this referendum and the results should put at ease the minds of those who continually tell the world that only a small minority in the union has a say-so on the contents of an agreement and whether or not it should be accepted," said Frank Fitzsimmons, Teamsters general vice president.

* * *

Fitzsimmons has run the 1.8 million - member union since Teamsters President James R. Hoffa went to prison last March on a federal jury tampering conviction.

* * *

Fitzsimmons said he and the Teamster's general executive board were extremely pleased with the approval of the new contract.

* * *

"Not only have we given every person involved an opportunity to vote, but also their stamp of approval established a guideline for agreements for another 150,000 to 200,000 members in the industry," Fitzsimmons said in a statement.

WAGE RANGE

Wages before the new agreement ranged from $3.32 an hour to about $5 an hour, with long-distance truck drivers making the higher rate on the basis of mileage payments.

* * *

The 76-cent package in the new contract includes hourly wage hikes of 25 cents an hour this year and 15 cents hourly in each of the following two years. The rest of the money goes to increased mileage payments, health and welfare benefits, pensions, vacations and cost-of-living pay hikes.

* *

The package is about 6 cents an hour higher than an earlier tentative national agreement that was junked when Teamsters and the Independent Truck Drivers Union continued striking in Chicago and the industry countered with another lockout in that city.

U.S. Said Redirecting Air War

WASHINGTON (AP) — American pilots are reported staying clear of targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas after a period of bombing of power plants, railroad bridges and other key facilities close to both cities.

This development follows indications that President Johnson and some of his top advisers have been considering redirecting the air war against North Vietnam to concentrate once again on communications routes feeding the Communist forces in South Vietnam.

* * *

The Defense Department declined comment on what it calls rules of engagement.

There was no indication how long the targets close to Hanoi and Haiphong might remain off limits. Sources said many new restrictions could be removed on short notice if conditions warranted.

MAXIMUM PRESSURE

Any easing of the air war would likely be opposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other senior military leaders, who believe maximum pressure should be brought against all possible targets in North Vietnam.

Sources said there actually are few military targets left untouched in and around Hanoi and Haiphong, except two major MIG bases near Hanoi and the harbor of Haiphong.

* * *

The Joint Chiefs long have favored striking hard at all the MIG fields and either mining the approaches to Haiphong or bombing the docks over which an estimated two-thirds of North Vietnam's imports flow.

* * *

A vital thermal power plant 1.1 miles from the center of Hanoi was reported by government sources to have been knocked out.

MIG FORCE

The North Vietnamese MIG force was reported to be fewer than 100 planes, many of them based at Phucyen and Giam Lgam, which have so far been spared bombing. Both are close to Hanoi.

Replacement aircraft were said to be available to the North Vietnamese at seven Chinese airfields but it was believed the North Vietnamese are not anxious to bring down these planes and expose them to possible destruction on the ground.

* * *

U.S. reconnaissance pilots, it was said, have reported that the North Vietnamese have been using dummy aircraft in some cases in an apparent attempt to fool American bombers.

* * *

U.S. bombing in North Vietnam in recent days, sources said, has concentrated on railroad lines stretching northwest and northeast of Hanoi, on army barracks, and troop training areas—all more than 20 miles outside of Hanoi and Haiphong.

Daly to Head VOA Network

TV Quiz Moderator Replaces Chancellor

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Charles Daly, whose urbane use of English on television's longest-lasting quiz show made him a national figure, soon will take charge of the government's Voice of America radio network.

Daly, 53, a long-time broadcast newsman with experience covering the White House and World War II, was named Monday to head the agency.

* * *

He told a news conference he'll take over the VOA's top spot after Labor Day, when "What's My Line?"—the television program he moderated—leaves the air after a 17-year run on the CBS network.

Daly will give up a television income estimated at $250,000 a year to accept the $24,500 VOA post vacated by John Chancellor, who resigned to return to NBC.

PERSONAL ROOTS

The 6-foot-1 South African-born Daly will be returning to a city where he has deep personal and professional roots.

He started as a reporter in 1937 with CBS in Washington, covering the White House until 1941.

His wife, Virginia, is the daughter of Chief Justice Earl Warren. The Dalys have two sons. He also has three children from a previous marriage.

Daly, who always has insisted "I'm a newsman," hasn't held a news job since quitting his ABC job as news and public affairs director in a policy dispute.

Bank Bandits Seen Heading Toward State

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A two-state lookout is posted for a pair of handsome and sharply dressed bandits who held up the Lucas County State Bank in Toledo of $78,000 Monday night.

The bandits were last seen heading toward Michigan in a new black convertible bearing Michigan license plates.

* * *

Police said one of the two men, wearing surgical gloves and wielding a pistol, forced 20 customers and seven bank employes into a vault.

* * *

The other man, armed with a pistol and a rifle, kept watch at the bank door, wearing a dark suit, striped tie, powder blue shirt and a dark hat.

* * *

Then, police said, the robber inside fired into the vault. Four persons were injured slightly by the ricocheting pieces of a bullet which splintered as it hit a grating.

Explosion Kills 6 in Gun Shop

Pennsylvania Blast Injures 8 Persons

SHAMOKIN DAM, Pa. (AP) — An explosion rocked Shooter's Paradise gun shop Monday, killing six persons and injuring eight others.

"The blast made the whole ground vibrate," said one witness, Faye Shuman. "Everything shook." Flames quickly engulfed the shop.

* * *

Mrs. Shuman and her husband operate a flower shop across the street.

DEAD LISTED

"A woman ran out the door," Mrs. Shuman recounted. "She was on fire. It was horrible. She ran out onto the highway. People were trying to put out the flames, but she wouldn't lie down. She died there right before my eyes."

* * *

The woman later was identified as Evelyn Gusky of Shamokin.

Among the dead was Donald F. Hane, owner of the shop which was one of central Pennsylvania's largest retail outlets for guns and ammunition.

* * *

Police also found the charred bodies of Jack Lahr of Treverton, an employe; Wendell Herb of Sunbury; Joseph Dicinque of Royesford; and Dicinque's son, Anthony, 5. Mrs. Gusky was the youngster's maternal grandmother.

Fire Chief Harry Stover, who estimated damage at $150,000, said although the first explosion touched off the fire, a second blast 20 minutes later was more destructive.

* * *

"It tore the whole south wall away," Stover said, "and blew some of my firemen as much as 30 feet. I was blown 25 or 30 feet myself."

State police said a preliminary investigation indicated the explosion was touched off by the test firing of a 45-caliber pistol by Hane.

Mrs. Semon Knudsen of 31500 Bingham, Bingham Farms, has been named chairman of this year's International Freedom Festival Women's Committee.

Tracking Machine Gets Viet Tryout

By PETER ARNETT

DI AN, Vietnam (AP) — The perils of body odor are normally associated with the social scene, but in the increasingly technological Vietnam war, a man can get killed if he sweats too much.

His nemesis could be an experimental American device nicknamed the "People Sniffer." It picks up the odors of men digging foxholes under a thick jungle canopy, or camping beside a river, and shows the intensity of the smell on a meter.

* * *

A skilled operator, flying above in a helicopter, can see at a glance the area of a troop concentration and bring air and artillery fire to bear on invisible targets.

U.S. field commanders hope that the "People Sniffer" may help to roll back the Vietcong's jungle cover.

GADGETRY

The device is the latest in a line of technological gadgetry that has taken on bizarre overtones, even to the extent of attempting to use hungry bedbugs to detect a hidden enemy.

U.S. Army chemical war experts dealing with the smelling device have reported the experiments a success so far, and have declassified the project.

* * *

"There is no question about it now: It works," says Lt. Col. Alvin Hylton, Los Angeles, 1st Infantry Division chemical officer.

The 20-pound device was designed at the Limited Warfare Laboratory at Aberdeen, Md., and the contractor is General Electric. It was originally designed to be carried and is officially known as an 'E63 Manpack Personnel Detector."

SENSITIVE

The device failed on the ground, mainly because of its bulk and the sensitive nature of the probe that could pick up 405 different smells. Unless the lead man in a unit carried it, and upwind at that, the device would be recording his own unit's odors.

Someone hit upon the idea of attaching it to a helicopter and flying over the jungle at treetop level, eliminating competing odors. Experiments showed that at speeds of 100 miles per hour, the probe could easily detect the presence of ammonia and carbon in the air.

Ammonia floats in clouds above any group of men, particularly in Vietnam's normally humid 90 degree to 100 degree heat. The carbon particles come from campfires.

The sniffer has obvious defects. One of its most enthusiastic handlers, S. Sgt. Penn G. Wilson, Jacksonville, Ala., says, "It's sorta like a scout dog. You've got to know your machine, know it can make mistakes. All our machines have personalities."

WAR ZONE C

Wilson handled one of two machines attached to a helicopter that crisscrossed War Zone C northwest of Saigon for three hours recently. At several locations, the meter flashed to the maximum reading. These were compared with infrared photographs taken by high-flying planes. They show that large elements of possibly the Vietcong 9th Division have moved back into the zone.

The device could not specify how many of the enemy were underneath, whether they were men or women, or if they were friendly or unfriendly.

NOT NEEDED

That degree of exactitude would be welcome, but is not really necessary considering the way the Vietnam war is fought today.

War Zone C and large areas of Vietnam has been designated "free bombing zones." Anything that moves there is regarded as fair game.

Dictatorship Not Changing Basic Flavor of Greek Life

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Military dictatorship has failed to change the mixture of Eastern heritage and Western methods that make up the basic flavor of life in Greece.

Democracy no longer exists in this land that invented democracy more than 2,000 years ago, but the physical signs of impact of other democracies can be seen and felt everywhere.

★ ★ ★

Poverty is no longer the hopeless burden it once seemed to be. Though still one of the poorest members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Greece, until the military take-over, was having the greatest boom in its modern history.

Even under dictatorship Athens is far more vibrant than any city in the Balkans.

TAVERNS FILLED

Restaurants and taverns are filled with people, shop windows with consumer goods and streets with cars.

While television is still in the beginning stage, the inevitable forest of antennas is rising. Athenians stand sometimes 10 deep outside appliance stores gawking at the foreign models selling at $400 to $600.

★ ★ ★

Sleek and busy with its new luxury apartment buildings, chic cafes and high-style offices, Athens nonetheless continues to show its old Eastern face under the Western overlay.

Turkish-style coffee shops abound along with tiny cluttered loft factories where workers produce textiles, closely fashioned leather goods, copperware and rugs.

MIDDLE CLASS

The gaps between rich and poor are enormous but a middle class of white-collar workers, professionals and technicians has begun to emerge to serve the new kind of life evolving in the past 20 years. A vital factor in that evolution has been the infusion of $4 billion in U.S. aid since the proclamation of the Truman Doctrine in 1947.

This aid brought roads, bridges, farm improvements, better port facilities, airports, tractors, terracing, fertilizer plants, and a national power system.

American aid also equipped the armed forces.

With its physical and economic improvements and the degree of stability it helped create, American aid was crucial in attracting the interest of foreign investors.

★ ★ ★

Tourism skyrocketed. Foreigners who fell in love with the country turned out books, movies and a musical comedy lauding the Greeks as frank, earthy, life-loving people.

Despite the boom and the surface look of relative prosperity, the economy is fragile and lopsided. The coup's effect on tourism and foreign investment could wipe out the gains of recent years.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. government, feeling at the time that Greece was ready to stand on its own feet, ended its aid program in 1963, when the boom atmosphere was at a peak.

Since then the boom has gone somewhat sour, with the economy developing what specialists call "too much fat and not enough muscle."

★ ★ ★

Domestic investment has gone into such "safe" projects as housing and real estate instead of factories to provide new jobs.

Prices today are at record highs. The cost of shoes and clothing is up to U.S. levels. Food is going up.

Housing Discrimination Is Expensive to Everyone

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG Jr.
Executive Director
National Urban League

There are few areas of life in which discrimination harms Negro citizens more than housing. But it also harms the whole country. Housing discrimination comes with a very high price tag — and everybody pays.

YOUNG

The Negro, of course, pays most. Because discrimination prevents Negroes from moving elsewhere, they become a "captive market," paying more rent for their bad housing than do people in better housing.

In Harlem, more than one of every five families living in dilapidated housing pay more than $80 per month for it. Rent per square foot for some of these apartments is higher than it is for some luxury buildings.

A Labor Department study concluded that poor families in the ghetto get less value for their rent dollars than those who are better off, and a Chicago Urban League study recently found that Negroes pay, on the average, $10 per month more for comparable apartments and $1,500 more for comparable homes than do whites.

★ ★ ★

And that is just the money cost of discrimination. Beyond the figures and the statistics is the daily battle with no heat, poor plumbing or none at all, lack of space and decaying surroundings and the nightly war against rats.

TRAGIC BACKGROUND

This is the tragic background that breaks the spirit of so many people and it is the background to the valiant struggle being fought daily by the majority of slum families who create homes of dignity and cleanliness in the midst of despair.

Children pay the cost of housing discrimination too. Almost half of Negro children live in overcrowded housing, mostly in the ghetto.

President Johnson told Congress: "A child growing up in such an environment must overcome tremendous man-made obstacles to become a useful citizen. The misery we tolerate today multiplies the misery of tomorrow."

Discrimination in housing also results in an almost unbearable cost to our cities. The social cost of slum housing and the spreading ghetto contributes to the tremendous financial pressures on local governments.

It is estimated that the municipal services to slum areas cost almost twice what those areas pay in taxes. And as segregation increases, these costs rise. Even in the most integrated northern cities, the vast majority of Negroes live in segregated housing.

Arizona Sen. Wing Ong

Without a 'Chinaman's Chance,' He Succeeded

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — State Sen. Wing Ong says he wasn't given "a Chineman's chance" when he was born 60 years ago in Kwantung, China.

Now he is the first person of Chinese ancestry to serve in the upper chamber of the Arizona Legislature.

The Democratic lawmaker has plenty of background for the job, having served two terms in the Arizona House two decades ago. He also holds a law degree.

Ong was born in the Chinese Village of Hoy Pin and it wasn't until he was 14 years old that he learned his father had American citizenship by virtue of being born in California.

He walked 150 miles to the sea coast and then made his way to California broke and with no knowledge of English. He enrolled in the first grade in Arizona at age 15, then completed his education through high school in five years.

At age 20 he bought his first grocery store. Eight years later his bride from China came to Phoenix, and they were married after three days. They have six children and 16 grandchildren.

Ong became a wealthy man after World War II when land he had invested in soared in value.

After losing a race for the Arizona House by 17 votes in 1940, Ong decided he needed more education. So he left his wife in charge of the store, completed six years of college in five years and finished third in the state bar exam.

Then he ran for the legislature again and was elected.

Friends liken Ong to an Asian typhoon, saying he sometimes talks like Confucius and other times like a character out of a Damon Runyon short story.

Determined Negroes Build Textile Plant From Scratch

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Taliaferro County Negroes were told it couldn't be done — but they set out nevertheless to build a textile plant of crude materials and with unskilled hands.

They want to prove something to themselves and to people in similar poverty pockets throughout the rural South. They want to prove they can become self-sustaining.

Their "plant" is an old, hand-hewn log building near here that was built by Taliaferro Negroes before the State of Georgia provided them with a school and before the federal government told them they could go to the white school.

The project got under way last fall through grants from the Southern Rural Action Project, part of the Citizens' group headed by church, civic and labor officials.

★ ★ ★

An earlier project, begun with grants from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, limped along for about six months before it collapsed.

CONSULTANT-DIRECTOR

A Roswell, Ga., textile industry veteran, Van Bible, has been hired as consultant-director for the undertaking.

Bible, the only white person involved, said his first reaction on seeing the facilities available for the nonprofit operation was dismay.

"We'll never set up a plant here" he said then.

★ ★ ★

But Bible said he did not account for one factor — determination — and that made the difference.

WON'T QUIT

"Pretty soon the place was all fixed up," he said. "Ever since then, it has been kept so clean you could eat off the floor . . . I have never seen such enthusiasm. Half of them won't quit when time for a coffee break comes."

Bible's job was to teach unskilled Negroes to operate sewing machines. He reported, after three weeks of training, the plant was able to fill small orders for shirts.

All the trainees were unemployed when the plant got started. Many of them had lost their jobs during the 1965 integration dispute when white students were transferred to all-white schools in neighboring counties and Negroes boycotted the all-Negro high school in protest.

★ ★ ★

One of the trainees is Calvin Turner, head of the local Negro movement, who was fired during the racial unrest.

HELPING NEGROES

The project director, Randolph T. Blackwell of Atlanta, a Negro, said the plant is aimed at helping Negroes as well as the entire community.

Blackwell said he hopes similar projects will be started in other poverty-ridden communities — one of which is all-white in North Georgia.

One of the major purposes of the project is to train Negroes to become sewing machine operators and move them into jobs in manufacturing.

★ ★ ★

Blackwell said the shortage of such operators is causing manufacturers who formerly hired only white persons to consider placing Negroes.

'UNEMPLOYABLE'

Both Blackwell and Bible said the Taliaferro experiment, if successful, will prove the "unemployable" can be productive.

"They are rural people, with no orientation toward industrial skills," Bible said. "But they give it everything they've got."

Arson Suspected in Barn Burning

SAGINAW (AP) — Arson is suspected in a fire which destroyed a barn at Burt, about 12 miles south of Saginaw, early Monday, according to Saginaw County sheriff's deputies.

The blaze also destroyed about 600 bushels of corn, 200 bales of straw and parts for farm implements. Birch Run and Albee and Teymouth Townships fire departments fought the fire.

New Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The office of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., announced Monday a new post office will be built in Edwardsburg, Mich.

The U.S. has 60 million bicycle riders.

Governor Romney Spells Out Memorial Day Significance

(In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Memorial Day message has been written by Gov. George Romney.)

By GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY

Holidays, like many institutions of life, are too often taken for granted.

Christmas to many means Santa Claus and gifts. Thanksgiving is the festive turkey. Labor Day is getting the children ready for the new school year.

ROMNEY

In each case the true meaning is sometimes lost to the artificial acceptance. Memorial Day is no exception.

For many this holiday is the beginning of summer—a trip to the cottage or an outing with the family.

In some communities hearty veterans hold parades and observances before increasingly sparse crowds. We try to remember to salute the red, white and blue, but we forget just why we are doing so.

★ ★ ★

Do you know why we celebrate Memorial Day? This is the meaning it holds for me.

History will record that the first Memorial Day was held 99 years ago, in 1868, to pay homage to those members of the Grand Army of the Republic who gave their lives in the Civil War to save the Union.

Since then American servicemen have answered the call to duty in five wars—from the Spanish-American War in 1898 to Vietnam today.

Behind them have stood millions of other Americans who have answered without qualm or equivocation the call to duty at home.

And since the founding of this Nation, when our forefathers fought at Valley Forge and Yorktown, nearly 2.5 million Americans have either given their lives or suffered wounds in the service of their country.

Their sacrifices have come in defense of human freedom and liberty here and on distant shores—to halt tryanny and oppression, and to seek the assurance of peace and tranquility to peoples everywhere.

★ ★ ★

It is in their memory that we pause one day each year.

But Memorial Day, 1967, is not and cannot be restricted to past service and sacrifice. For even today, as you read these words, American men and women are writing their own chapter in the annals of American service.

Their dedication to the principles of freedom and peace is no less resolute than the dedication of those who have served before.

Their sacrifice is no less personal.

Their devotion to their nation is no less determined.

Our country is rift with disagreements over the purposes which have taken these men and women to Vietnam. These disagreements reach into every corner of our American society.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps today, at least, these disagreements can be temporarily forgotten and our thoughts can go out to these servicemen.

For whatever our personal beliefs may be about the decisions which have taken them there, these gallant Americans deserve our support and our prayers.

So on this Memorial Day let us remember them.

Let us give our hearts and our minds, and observe this national holiday with the respect and meaningful purpose for which it is intended.

Study Shows Men Excel Women – in Free Time

Man works from sun to sun, but woman's work . . .

Well, woman's work is done more often than the old saw maintains. Recent statistics, however, indicate that it is less often done than man's.

According to the Women's Medical News Service, a 14-nation study made by the United Nations shows that mothers, both working and nonworking, in Communist and capitalistic countries alike, have less free time than their husbands.

★ ★ ★

By free time is meant time to do what one wants to do as opposed to what one has to do.

For the United States, the study found that the working mother has an average of 2.8 hours of free time on weekdays and 7.1 hours on Sundays. The nonworking mother has comparably 3.5 and 7.5 free hours.

The working father, in contrast, has about 4.1 hours of leisure time on weekdays and 8.5 hours on Sundays.

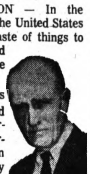
★ ★ ★

Not a great deal of difference, to be sure, but enough to start a good argument.

Mideast Presages Peril for the U.S.

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In the Middle East, the United States is getting a taste of things to come, and they won't be pleasant.



MARLOW

The years since World War II — certainly the early years when this country had an atomic monopoly and was the most powerful force on earth—may have seemed like a new era.

But, gradually, the postwar years have come to look like an interim period between an era that ended with the war and a new one not fully arrived yet when the United States must share its dominance with the Soviet Union and Red China.

For most of its history, the United States has been the captain of the Western Hemisphere, hardly at all at first, then with increasing power and intensity although for a while abusing its power with its Latin neighbors.

Through the years, it sought to keep foreign intruders out of this hemisphere and now, because of its strength and willingness to use it, can force them to stay out.

The capture of Cuba by Castro's communism was a historical freak. This country was sound asleep to what Castro really meant. When it realized the mistake, it backed a disastrous Cuba-exile invasion to throw him out.

A LOCAL BOY

Even so, Castro was a kind of local boy. It was when Moscow tried to move into the hemisphere by putting missiles in Cuba that this country fully asserted itself, ordering the Soviets out, even if it meant war.

Moscow was at a disadvantage. It was butting into something far from its home base, and it backed down.

No wonder the United States at the moment is being quiet about its intentions if the Israeli-Egyptian dispute becomes a war. Further, there's a limit on how much involvement this country can endure.

★ ★ ★

It's up to its neck in Vietnam. Does it want to do the same in the Middle East? And what if war breaks out elsewhere? Does it get involved there, too?

FACE NEW ERA

The world is moving toward a new era — three spheres of influence: one dominated by the United States, one by the Soviets, one by Red China which soon will be a nuclear power.

There was a time, when the United States was the No. 1 nation, when it could risk involvement around the world. No one else was a match for it. That time is passing.

★ ★ ★

Just as the United States wants the rest of the world to stay out of this hemisphere, Moscow and Red China can be expected to demand — and, even more, compel — the same about the areas around them.

Each Generation Pays the Price

Capital Letter:

There's Room at Top Under LBJ

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration offers dramatic proof of the old adage that "There's always room at the top." Scores of ambassadorial posts, judgeships and commission vacancies remain unfilled while departments and agencies tell would-be applicants for lower-echelon jobs that there's no room at the bottom.

Ruth Montgomery

Undersecretary of Defense Cyrus Vance is reportedly planning to resign, creating another Texas-sized headache for President Johnson, who took five months to replace Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy with Nicholas Katzenbach, and another half-year to appoint Ramsey Clark as Katzenbach's successor.

The most glaring current vacancies are in the Commerce Department, which had been a headless horseman since the resignation of Secretary John T. Connor last January.

To add to departmental woes, the No. 2 job of undersecretary has also been vacant since Leroy Collins quit eight months ago to return to private law practice.

During this hiatus two assistant secretaries of commerce have been serving as acting secretary and undersecretary, which leaves their own jobs virtually untended, and still another Commerce vacancy yawns on the regional commission created by the economic development act.

Thus, the foremost commercial nation in the world is struggling along in somewhat the same manner as a rudderless ship at sea, while we struggle to overcome our unfavorable balance of trade position with the rest of the world.

More than a century ago Alexis de Tocqueville visited our shores and wrote glowingly: "America is a land of wonders, in which everything is in constant motion and every change seems an improvement.

"The idea of novelty is indissolubly connected with the idea of amelioration. No natural boundary seems to be set to the efforts of man; and in this endeaver what is not yet done is only that he has not yet attempted to do."

James G. Morton, press assistant to the commerce secretary, insists that the idea of amelioration has lost none of its magic "force for progress" in the intervening years, and that the Great Society is propelling us to new achievements on every side.

As Morton points out, during the last three years we have hauled down many of the barriers to voting booths, public accommodations, classrooms, housing, business opportunity and equal justice, and it does seem "ironic that the greatest breakthroughs in the history of civil liberties in America should be accompanied by such manifest dissatisfactions."

Bob Considine Says:

No Red Carpet Treatment for 1st Moon Returnees

HOUSTON — The first astronauts who return safely from the moon will not get a ticker-tape parade — at least not for a period of time. They will be treated more like pariahs, or prisoners.

CONSIDINE

They will be quarantined for about one month after the completion of the most amazing voyage ever undertaken by earthlings.

NASA now feels it will take at least that long to determine whether they have brought back to earth any communicable disease which might baffle the medical authorities of the world, any bacteria of a type that does not yield to known antibiotics.

Their wives, children and parents will be permitted to visit them in their guarded quarters at the Manned Space Center. But there will be no embraces.

★ ★ ★

They will converse through a plate glass window, almost as in a penitentiary's visitors area.

MOON SAMPLES

The 100 pounds of moon samples they bring back with them, if all goes well, will be handled — at least in the early stages of examination — by remotely controlled "hands" much like those used at atomic installations to claw and work with Uranium-235 and plutonium.

The aircraft carrier that fishes the three-man capsule out of the Pacific after the splash-down will deposit it and its occupants in a bus-sized box on the flight deck.

The men will still be inside the capsule.

★ ★ ★

The box will be sealed immediately, before the men pop out.

OWN CLINIC

It will have its own oxygen system, clinic, and staff. The staff — as of now — will be confined to a doctor and a public relations man from NASA. It will also have communications with the outside world.

The carrier will race to Pearl Harbor, lift the animated coffin on to a flat-bed truck, and it will be trundled to Hickam AFB where a C141 or an even overwhelming C5A (if that's ready by the time) will fly it and its occupants to Houston.

There will be several TV and printed media interviews with the returned lunanauts during their period of incarceration, and probably a showing of the films they brought home.

★ ★ ★

But it will be a good month before they will be welcomed back into the species called earthlings.

Driver's License Office Gave Courteous Service

I was very pleased with the courteous and efficient service I received recently from the personnel in the driver's license bureau of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Any chore that takes a person to that office—testing, renewing, reporting a lost license—is something that most of us dread, especially fellows of my age (75).

Most of the people waiting for service had a look either of disgust or grouchiness but they were put at ease by the courteous answers and instructions given by the employes.

Comments on Developments in Commerce

The five-member Commerce Township Board has accomplished something that 5,000 registered voters could not do last November — the election of a new supervisor and a new trustee. Judging from recent developments in Commerce, township officials might go to work one day and find that the City of Walled Lake has annexed the township hall.

Urges Citizens to Attend Township Meetings

The most disturbing aspect of the Sylvan Manor water problem is the conduct of a township board which is apparently acting legally but questionably. The board understands Public Act 188 but many citizens are unaware of its relatively new mechanics for obtaining funds for public improvement.

A matter which might have been given enough advance publicity so the people understood it was, instead, managed according to the provisions of Public Act 188. Citizens of this area should attend board meetings and study the implications of this present board action.

'No Mention Is Made of Drinking Problems'

Bobby Kennedy has again made front page news by sponsoring a bill that would force cigarette manufacturers to state the amount of tars and nicotines on each cigarette package—the same Bobby Kennedy who started the Nader witch-hunt by suggesting that automobiles were unsafe because of defects. Why doesn't he suggest some way to control the liquor and beer traffic which is breaking up homes, producing alcoholics and causing death on our highways? Could it be the Kennedy millions made through the liquor business would keep him from mentioning the name of old John Barleycorn?

Reader Comments on Taxes in Michigan

What does Gov. Romney think the people of Michigan are? We pay tax and more tax, and for what? So he and other lawmakers can have a big hike in pay? A man with a family of four who earns $5,000 a year can hardly make it. I'd like to see most of the lawmakers try and live on that. It's pretty rough these days and soon a paycheck will mean nothing — just give it to the governor for taxes.

Question and Answer

I have a '57 truck that has been idle for some time. I'd like to get it in driving condition but have a problem. I was told I can't get a license for it unless I know what it weighs, which I don't. But I can't drive it to get it weighed without a license. Is there a solution, or should I just bury my old truck?

DENTEN

REPLY

Put away your shovel. Cpt. Clark of the State Police tells us the law provides for just this sort of problem. If you have title or proof of ownership, you are allowed to drive it to the weighing station and then either back home or to the Secretary of State's office to get a license.

Effects of WWI Answer Critics

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A good proportion of those people who oppose the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam are fundamentally against any sort of bombing as somehow inflicting a worse death than is caused by other means in war.

BIOSSAT

Most recently, some critics of the present bombing, including a few senators, have contended that what happened to the British people in World War II proves that bombing "only stiffens morale" and can have little telling effect in war.

The story of that British experience would surprise some of these critics.

Over-all, counting every phase of the air battles and the bombing over Britain, this celebrated assault covered the period from July, 1940, to May, 1941.

★ ★ ★

At the height of the assault, Germany raided London for 57 successive nights. An average of 200 bombers a night droned over the city.

But the glow of admiration the free world placed around that horrifying chapter has tended to obscure some important facts.

In the entire July to May period, some 42,000 Britons were killed in Nazi raids and related activity. London itself, blitzed and battered and burned, suffered 21,000 dead.

★ ★ ★

No one is ever likely to cheer those totals as insignificant. Yet the fact is that they are small compared to what happened to German and Japanese cities later in World War II.

The British saturation raid on Dresden killed an estimated 135,000 Germans in less than two days. One giant U. S. B-29 fire raid over Tokyo killed 97,000 Japanese in a single night — almost five times the number of Londoners lost in a period of several months.

Allied bombers gutted some 6,000 acres of Berlin, 10 times as big an area as was ever bombed out in London. An even larger part of Hamburg was destroyed.

★ ★ ★

The later perspectives on that war raise grave question as to how Britain would have borne up had the Nazi attacks been more severe and more efficient. Sir Winston Churchill himself, in his history of World War II, says this:

"It would be unwise to suppose that if the attack had been 10 or 20 times as severe — or perhaps even two or three times as severe—the healthy reactions I have described (the raids stimulating action, comradeship, clarity of view) would have followed."

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere in those writings Churchill adds:

"It is difficult to compare the ordeal of the Londoners . . . with that of the Germans in the last three years of the war. In this latter phase the bombs were much more powerful and the raids far more intense."

Churchill is perhaps a sufficient authority on this subject, since it was his ringing words, delivered months before the heavy German assaults, that did more than German bombs to lift and sustain British morale at the war's turning point.

A Junior Editors Quiz About WEST POINT

QUESTION: Why was West Point started?

ANSWER: Early in our history as a nation, George Washington and other Revolutionary leaders realized it was important for the United States to establish a high class military academy.

In the Revolution, the U.S.A. had the help of foreign military experts. Later, it was felt, the new nation should train her own. Accordingly, Congress authorized the establishment of a military academy in 1802, which began as a training school for engineers, with five officers in charge and 10 cadet students.

West Point, in New York state, is a spur of land projecting into the Hudson River at a point where the river narrows sharply.

A fort had been erected there which had been important in preventing ships from sailing further upriver. It was still a strategic area and so was a natural selection as a site for the new academy—which is usually spoken of as West Point.

Under the leadership of Maj. Sylvanus Thayer, the academy began to turn out large numbers of highly trained officers, helping to raise the efficiency of the United States army. This is still West Point's mission.

Were Bugged Feds Stung in Chafer Showdown?

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — A couple of the boys down at the Agriculture Department laboratory began fooling around a few years ago trying to find the right formula for an insect lure.

WEST

Specifically, they wanted to devise a chemical compound that would attract the European chafer.

They mixed up a little batch of this and a little batch of that without notable progress. Then one day they happened to mix up a little batch of "2, 4-hexadienyl butyrate." Bingo!

The Agriculture Department announced last week with appropriate fanfare that the experiments of the two chemists, Terrance P. McGovern and Morton Beroza, had been crowned with success.

When the "2, 4-hexadienyl butyrate" formula was tested, not a single European chafer was attracted to it. But it did attract a big swarm of yellow jackets.

★ ★ ★

The department implied that finding a lure for yellow jackets was even more important than finding a lure for the European chafer. But personally, I suspect the department was only trying to save face.

ALMOST ANYTHING

It has been my experience that darn near anything will attract yellow jackets. A picnic lunch, for instance.

Just why the discovery of a synthetically produced chemical lure should be regarded as a big deal is beyond my ken. But then, the Agriculture Department often works in strange and mysterious ways its wonders to perform.

Anyway, the incident may shed some light on a minor historical mystery that came to my attention during the recent visit here of John Gilbey, an English gin maker.

★ ★ ★

Gilbey made a tour of this country giving illustrated lectures on "the martini: then and now." With the help of a friendly bartender, he would trace the evolution and development of the martini through the last 100 years.

OLD RECIPES

Gilbey had martini recipes dating back as far as 1860 (one jigger gin, one wine glass sweet vermouth, one dash bitters, two dashes maraschino liqueur).

There was, however, one glaring weakness in the demonstration. He was unable to say who discovered or invented the martini.

"Theories as to its origin are as varied as are the ratios of gin to vermouth," Gilbey said, "but the name of the great genius who concocted the first martini is lost to history."

★ ★ ★

In the absence of conclusive evidence, Gilbey and his countrymen cling to the legend that the cocktail was named for the Martini & Henry rifle used by the British army during the Boer war.

Maybe so, but I am convinced the most likely hypothesis of how the martini came into being can be found in the insect lure experiments of McGovern and Beroza. It goes like this:

The world's first martini was made by a woman who actually was trying to mix a "pink lady."

Detroit GIs Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Detroit soldiers were among 91 men killed in action in Vietnam whose names were released Monday by the Defense Department. They were Spec. 4 Leonard A. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Morgan, and Pvt. Gary M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. August M. Smith.

Malawi Jail Crackdown Eyed

ZOMBA, Malawi (AP) — Prisoners in Malawi will no longer live high on the hog and play card games with their jailers if recommendations of the special Commission on Criminal Justice becomes law.

The commission set up by President Banda has reported that it has "found some things radically wrong in the administration of criminal justice."

The present penal system was inherited from the British colonial system and by African standards is almost luxurious.

In fact, some years ago, the central prison in Zomba was known locally as "The King Georgie Hotel."

According to the recommendations of the commission, a murderer should not only be punished by being sent to prison or hanged but he should also have to compensate the relatives of his victim.

His goods and property should be seized upon conviction and given to the dead man's relatives.

Another recommendation of the committee was that prosecution and defense quarrels should be done away with. There have been some spectacular clashes in court between volatile Nigerian recruited lawyers.

Recruitment of outside lawyers should continue until Malawi lawyers are trained in sufficient numbers.

Board Candidates to Speak at Rally

A candidates rally for the June 12 Pontiac Board of Education election will be at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Pontiac Mall Community Room.

The city's seven candidates have been asked by the Pontiac League of Women Voters, who are sponsoring the event, to answer "What do you think is the most pressing problem facing the board of education presently, and what solution would you offer?"

The public, which may submit written questions to the candidates, is invited to attend, Mrs. George Gray, chairman of the Voters Service Committee, said.

Malaria War Progresses

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The mosquitoes appear to be holding their own in the eradication war in Latin America, a report of the Pan American Sanitary Office says.

But tremendous progress, nevertheless, has been made in stamping out malaria, carried by mosquitoes.

Hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent in the antimalaria campaign during the last 13 years and many millions more will be required during the next three years, officials said.

Even then, it cannot be predicted with certainty when total eradication will have been achieved.

★ ★ ★

In fact, there are doubts because the mosquitoes have been developing immunity to the poisons being spread, principally in Mexico, Brazil, Colombia, Haiti, Bolivia, Ecuador and Nicaragua.

The insects also have shown an unexpected mobility in swarming to areas previously classified as "eradicated."

★ ★ ★

The current program covers another 73 million and about 12 million more live in areas to be included in future programs.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS are expected in working in orbital workshops. Discussing them recently were engineers and astronauts when a "walk-through" of the future Saturn S-IVB orbiting laboratory was staged at the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ark. Racial Violence Question Stumps Chicago Experts

CHICAGO (UPI) — In Chicago the big brutal question is: Will there be racial violence this summer?

The experts agree on the answer. They say they don't know.

Orlando W. Wilson, who as police superintendent is as close to the problem as anyone, stated the case this spring to a group of men who gathered in a hotel room for the specific purpose of assessing the situation.

"I am a born optimist," Wilson said. "I doubt we will have as much trouble this summer as we had the past two summers.

"But we know it doesn't take much of a spark to touch off major disturbances."

Wilson made the statement a few hours after announcing he was retiring July 1 as boss of the 12,000-man police force, a position that could have brought him under heavy fire from both sides of Chicago's racial debate this summer.

Wilson has been lucky in dodging verbal flak during the past two summers, when hundreds of persons have been arrested and scores injured in racially inspired skirmishes.

This could indicate Wilson's stature as a police administrator is beyond reproach. More likely, it could be attributed to a concentration of bitterness against Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The mayor, one of the most powerful Democratic city bosses of the twentieth century, has been reviled by leaders of both camps. He has drawn so much fire from Negro and white extremists, there just doesn't seem to be much left for anybody else.

Yet, Daley last April rolled up a monumental reelection victory. He ran like a champion, even in the all-white neighborhoods where residents last summer were accusing him of trying to wreck their property values by moving in Negroes.

Mixed Marriage Handicap Fading

May Britt Returns to Acting

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Seven years ago, Swedish actress May Britt married Negro entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., thus writing an apparent end to her promising career in films.

Today she is back in Hollywood to act in a television film, and her return to public performing has caused no particular stir.

* * *

"I think people have gotten used to us," she commented, referring to her husband. "Also I think that peoples' attitude toward mixed marriages may have changed in seven years. And I'd like to think that the example of Sammy and me may have contributed to a more mature attitude."

CLIMATE DIFFERENT

The climate was different when she married Davis. May—pronounced My—Britt had been one of 20th Century-Fox's new stars. After five years under contract to Carol Ponti in Italy, the willowy Swede had come to America to star in "Murder, Inc.," "The Young Lions"—the only film she recalls with pleasure—"The Hunters" and "The Blue Angel"—"I still don't know why they remade it".

Everyone in Hollywood agreed that her marriage to Davis made her unhirable for movies.

* * *

"Oh, no one came right out and said, it," she remarked. "But I had my feelers out, and I could tell what was going on. My contract was dropped at the next option, which was the studio's privilege."

The actress retired to be Mrs. Sammy Davis Jr. and mother of Mark, now 7, Tracey, 6, and Jeff, 2. In the years following she received three or four acting offers.

LIFETIME JOB

"But that may have partly been because most people believed I wasn't interested in acting again, she said. "And I wasn't particularly. I am not one of those frustrated housewives. I think caring for a husband and children is a lifetime job, and a challenging one. Also, I was married to a man who had to travel a great deal. Someone had to stay home and care for the children."

Recently Davis's agent brought her an offer of a starring role with Van Heflin and Horst Bucholz in a drama for the new Danny Thomas anthology on NBC. She telephoned Davis, who is touring in Europe, and he gave his approval.

She believes that her hiring for a television drama reflects a more mature climate in race matters. "I'm sure the producer must know that the sponsor will not protest," she said.

With her haystack hair and cheetah eyes, May Britt appears little changed during her seven-year absence from films. Yet there is evidence of a depth of character that wasn't apparent during her earlier Hollywood years. That may be due to the fact that she and her husband were subject to as much vituperation as any couple in public life has had to endure.

UGLY LETTERS

"You learn to live with it," she commented. "After a while you learn not to open the ugly letters.

"The important thing is to know what you are getting into before you get married. I did. Actually, Sammy had more to lose than I did. He had to earn a living before the public; I didn't. Fortunately he is such a fantastic entertainer that he was able to get people to accept him on that basis and set aside their prejudices."

Three kinds of smoke come from a car's exhaust. Blue smoke indicates oil is burning, black smoke shows there is too much gas in the exhaust and white is the engine's way of ridding itself of condensation which buildups up inside.

WHERE ARE THE CROWDS? — Not even a balmy Sunday brings crowds to the beaches of eastern Venezuela, where the occasional bather shares acres of sand and mild Caribbean surf with a few pelicans.

Empty Beaches in Venezuela

'Riviera in the Raw'—It's Quiet

By GEORGE ARFELD

CUMANA, Venezuela (AP) — That deserted, palm-fringed beach on a Caribbean island you've been dreaming about probably lies right on the South American mainland.

Along the coast of Venezuela, the southern edge of the Caribbean, are some of the last unspoiled beaches in the Antilles.

They are free of crowds, refuse and many of the trappings of a well-developed tourist area.

Amazingly enough, scores of splendid tropical beaches in this country are empty although only a few steps from first-class paved highways leading to and from Caracas.

Longtime foreign residents of Venezuela say that some of the finest Caribbean sands are found along the scalloped stretch of coast between the oil port of Puerto La Cruz and Cumana, the oldest city on the continent, 250 miles east of Caracas.

This area, sometimes called a Riviera in the Raw, is underdeveloped enough to keep away a flood of tourists, yet offers visitors hotels ranging from a deluxe, American-operated establishment in Cumana to modest boarding houses in Puerto La Cruz, gateway to rich fishing waters.

The constant inefficiencies, which the gloss and luxury of the finest of these hotels cannot camouflage, are the price guests pay for this undisturbed area, untouched by cruise directors and tour operators.

Cumana and its surrounding area is a showcase of Latin American provincial life and some of the problems afflicting this continent.

Here burro and late-model limousine share the road.

Mud huts thatched with banana leaves are a stone's throw away from elegant villas and youngsters pad their way to public water taps past gardens glistening under water sprinklers.

Whys of Viet Buffalo Story Answered

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — A few weeks ago in Vietnam, I wrote a war-front story which provoked widespread and sometimes critical response from American newspaper readers.

The story was about an American GI, a water buffalo and an old Vietnamese rice farmer. As it happened, the GI senselessly shot the buffalo to death, while its owner, the farmer, looked on in confused disbelief.

Some readers found the article difficult to comprehend and bitter to contemplate. Many of them thought it was a sad commentary on the American image.

Thus they questioned it: "Why?"

Why did the soldier do it? Why did the military let him do it? Why did I write about him doing it? And why doesn't the federal government do something to compensate the innocent victims of such misdeeds?

JUST BRAINLESS

First, the soldier. Most GIs do not shoot anything, animal or otherwise, unless it is absolutely necessary. Yet this one undeniably did. Maybe he was bored, spiteful or just brainless. In war, neither side is without both saints and sinners.

Second, the military. They just couldn't prevent the shooting. With 440,000 U.S. personnel stationed in South Vietnam, it is obviously impossible to watchdog everyone. The Army did, however, make every effort to find the guilty soldier and punish him.

Why did I write the story? Because it happened. Because although I defer to no one in admiration of front-line soldiers, I'm in the business of reporting what happens.

Finally, the government, why doesn't it make amends? It does.

WAR DAMAGE

Fact is, both embassy and military people in Vietnam are deeply involved in war damage compensation, so deeply that thousands of Vietnamese citizens have received millions of American dollars for damage inflicted by careless or luckless servicemen.

Usually, government or service offices handle the reparations responsibilities. But often the fence-mending is accomplished by independent groups of concerned GIs who simply pass the hat.

Most settlements are small. In the case of the dead water buffalo, the owner was likely investigated (Vietcong sympathizers are not given restitution) and then paid $50, the price of a new ox.

★ ★ ★

Other atonements have been even less significant, approaching the ridiculous. Complaints have been successfully brought against U.S. soldiers for everything from cutting down rubber trees to stealing coconuts.

One such nit-picking claim was reported by a 25th Division unit after an early 1967 field operation. During the maneuvers the company occupied a group of apparently abandoned huts. Afterwards, the hut owners showed up and demanded rent.

Normally, reparations officials are not easily bilked. Though they bend backwards to administer honorable claims, they sign no blank checks.

For one thing, the military seldom makes repayment for damage done during actual combat. That is to say, if a peasant's house is blown up because it is harboring a VC, the peasant can expect no compensation. U.S. law and common sense prohibit it.

But in valid cases, yes, the United States pays.

A civilian who is struck by a Jeep, a storekeeper who is socked by a disgruntled soldier, a plantation owner who suffers at harvest because of encamped forces, are all compensated, promptly and generously.

Rec Site Reached by Aerial Tramway

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Quincy has a tourist attraction in a new municipally owned aerial tramway traveling between Quincy and its 130-acre recreation project on Quinsippi Island.

The project is located in Quincy Bay of the Mississippi River. Billed as an outdoor paradise of natural beauty, the city plans to build a cabin village and a riverboar museum on the island.

Samuel Celemsn' riverboat pilot's licese and other personal belongings of the man who made literary history under the name of Mark Twain are among the items to be displayed in the museum.

Builder Plans Chain of Latin Resorts

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — A former Mexico City builder who created a sensation in Tunis introducing U.S. style home ownership, say he plans a chain of beach resort villa colonies throughout Latin America, including the Caribbean.

Alan Carnoy of New York City says he believes home ownership could be an important factor in speeding economic integration of Latin America.

"The construction industry could benefit greatly — and in turn bring benefits to the respective countries — through the creation of a Latin American common market," he says.

The Latin American resorts would be part of his worldwide network now shaping up, with projects scheduled for the Mediterranean and Far eastern coastal areas.

★ ★

He is here to confer with government officials on the Mexican portion of the project.

JULY DEDICATION

Tunisians snapped up the modern - type middle - class homes offered by Carnoy there in January, buying the 1,000 dwellings within five hours of the sale opening, Carnoy says.

The first 100 houses will be dedicated in July.

Carnoy chose Tunis as a building site to test his theory — which he says is also applicable to Latin America — that "the creation of capital by people whose income is barely sufficient to pay for the necessities of life is an exclusive economic advantage of democracy."

★ ★ ★

Carnoy several years ago published a book entitled "Democracia, Si! A Way to Win the Cold War."

He is a naturalized U.S. citizen, a native of Poland who fled there when the Russians occupied the country.

He lived in Mexico for six years and built housing developments here and in Acapulco.

The Tunisian program was worked out with cooperation of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID), the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance of Philadelphia, Bankers Life of Des Moines and Union Mutual of Portland, Maine.

Carnoy says he operates on a 5 per cent profit margin in the $5 million Tunisian project and re-invests all but $50,000 of his profits in Tunisia. The Tunisian Government has technical and accounting control but he makes all final decisions.

Brain Output Measured

By Science Service

PRINCETON, N.J. — Two Princeton University researchers have traced changes in electrical output from a cat's brain as he learned a simple task. It is thought to be the first time learning has been directly measured in terms of electrical activity.

Dr. Ernest Glen Wever, an authority on hearing, and graduate student James C. Saunders did their work on the cat's auditory cortex — the nerve center for interpreting sounds and making conscious decisions about them.

School Slates Homecoming

A homecoming will be held Sunday at Waterford Center Community School, which will be phased out following the current school year.

The open house will be from 2 to 5 p.m., according to Principal Robert Elliott.

Located at 1021 Airport, Waterford Township, the school has provided instruction for pupils for approximately 40 years.

In the future, the building will be used as part of the new school district administration offices planned for the property.

"Many of us have memories of events that occurred during these 40 years," said Elliott. "We invite you to relive some of these memories at the homecoming."

Purse Is Found in Lake After Surprise Exit

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — A purse belonging to Sheryl Lytle and lost from an airplane in September was found in April by a fisherman at Lake Sara near Effingham, 50 miles west.

Donald Keppler discovered the purse after he first saw a $10 and a $1 bill floating in the water of the lake. He investigated and found the purse, which contained $38.

The purse was lost by Sheryl who, with her parents and a sister, was being flown to St. Joseph, Mo., to visit relatives, by pilot Less Connours.

The window of the baggage compartment flew open near Effingham and the purse flew out.

Connours landed the plane at Effingham and a search was made, but it was not found and the party continued on to St. Joseph.

SALUTATION — Stu Smith, Rochester High School salutatorian, signs his best wishes for valedictorian Sue Talley as they relax after classes in the bustle of senior activities. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Charles W. Talley. The yearbook was distributed last Wednesday and this is a familiar scene around the school this week.

Prom With French Theme Is Friday Night at Central

By CHRIS BLAKENEY

Pontiac Central's senior prom, "La Paradis Terrestre," will be Friday.

The Parisian theme will be portrayed by awning-covered cafes with their red and white checked tablecloths and candlelight. An Eiffel Tower constructed of string will be located at one end of the room and a large flower cart filled with geraniums will be at the other.

To typify the sidewalk artists of Paris, Gordon Schulte, an area caricaturist, will sketch the couples' portraits.

Between numbers played by the band a strolling accordianist will wander through the cafes. Juniors will serve refreshments in smocks and berets.

The prom will be held in the Residential Cafeteria at Oakland University.

COUNCIL ELECTIONS

Election of next year's Student Council officers will be held tomorrow in homeroom. Those running for president are David Barker, Alana Cargle, Chris Lewis, and Jim White.

Vying for vice president are Linda Hess, Chris Brewer, Pete Marinos, Gary Parlove, and Mike Lee.

Mary Susan Morse, Nancy Appleton, and Brenda Mitchell are candidates for secretary; Gay Behler and Cherry Williams candidates for treasurer; and Marsha Goldman, Diane Cheal, Lyn Cline and Ron Young candidates for sergeant-at-arms.

The junior prom "Take a Chance," was held May 20.

"Charles Anthony and The Soul Masters," a Negro soul band composed of Central students, kept the dance floor constantly filled.

* * *

Chairman of the prom preparations Beth Vershure, said, "We had the largest turnout to a junior prom in years. The success was partially due to the general appeal of the "Soul Masters," of course, but I think the junior class has a lot of spirit."

SOCIAL WORK — Patricia Aikins, Waterford Kettering High School's salutatorian, gets to work to see that Dave Cox, 1967 valedictorian, who is too busy practicing his speech to bother with a tuxedo, is prepared for the senior prom. Called "Underwater Fantasy," it is scheduled for Friday at 9 p.m. at the school.

Holiday Off at Cranbrook

By RICHARD BOSLEY

For the first time in its history, Cranbrook School is recessing school today for Memorial Day.

Previously, classes have always been held as on any other day, except for a short service held in the quadrangle instead of assembly.

Exams begin next Monday. It is mandatory that each exam be cumulative of the entire year's work.

It was felt that with this great pressure placed on the students, a day off the previous week might come in very helpful.

On this day, students could study whatever they wished, concentrating especially on areas in which they were having trouble.

This "day off" will be unlike other vacations in that each member of the faculty was at his desk all morning and, if needed, in the afternoon, to give help to any student, day boy or boarder, who needs it.

Picnic Slated as Classes End at Kingswood

By MARY STEWART

During the last weeks of school at Kingswood School Cranbrook, many events are planned to add to the excitement of summer vacation.

The first of these activities is on K Day, Friday the last day on which regular classes will be held.

At the conclusion of classes at noon, the student body will attend a picnic at which athletic awards will be presented.

Also, participants from both Kingswood and Cranbrook Schools will take part in a modern dance presentation under the direction of Jesse Sinclair, instructor.

To conclude the day's activities, the finals of the Ellen Wallace Tennis Tournament will be played.

Representing the ties between the two classes, the junior-senior banquet will be held Friday.

The speakers, who are members of the junior class, are Harriet Winkleman, Marnie Greenwood and Vandy Seeburg.

On Sunday baccalaureate will be held at Christ Church Cranbrook for the seniors of all the Cranbrook institutions.

'Carousel' Produced at NFHS

By KATHY KOURTJIAN

All the magic and excitement of the carnival is captured in the opening scene of North Farmington High School's spring musical, "Carousel."

The colorful whirl of paper mache giraffes, unicorns, swans, ostriches, elephants and a paisley "uri" are on the floor with the audience.

The entire carousel, as well as other props and scenes have been constructed by the art department under the careful direction of Richard Shilling.

Last Friday and Saturday evenings, the combined efforts of the cast, the orchestra, choirs, director James Hunt, and student-director Mike Robinson, resulted in two fine performances.

In the lead parts of Julie Jordan and Billy Bigelow are Mary Kay Burr and Darryl Smith. Sandi Mallette has the supporting role of Carrie Pipperide, and Bob Davis is playing Enoch Snow. Nettie Fowler is portrayed by Janice Young and Steve Heyn is Jigger Craign.

A number of dances have been included in the musical, with a solo by sophomore Linda Pulgini as the daughter.

OTHER DANCERS

Other dancers are Cindy Davis, Chuck Hill, Coby de Lange, Wayne Huber, Jan Davis, Tom Huber, Nancy Wheeler, Tom Crozier, Shelly Axelson and Roger Schamanek.

Barb Lennis, as Rick Toohey, Pam Dauber and Dave Douglas, also perform.

All of the dancing has been supervised by Mary Feller.

99 Tires Worth $2,000 Stolen

A total of 99 tires — valued at $2,000 — were reported stolen in a break-in early yesterday at Pontiac Auto Supply, 392 S. Sanford.

Employe John Sherk discovered the break-in when he reported to work at 7:40 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Entry was gained to a warehouse at the rear of the property after an attempt to enter a front window failed because of heavy bars on window.

Police said the tires were taken from the warehouse, thrown over a fence at the rear of the property and then carted away.

Fluorides Taken for Baby's Teeth

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — If an expectant mother takes small doses of fluoride each day, her baby may have fewer cavities — at least in his baby teeth.

Several researchers find that fluoride given both before and after birth is more effective than when it is given only postnatally.

One milligram of fluoride a day is the approved dosage for pregnant women, although the American Dental Association "neither advocates nor discourages the administration of accepted doses."

There is no evidence that fluoride given before birth has any effect on the baby's permanent first molars, the only permanent teeth that show signs of calcification before birth.

But studies in pregnant and lactating rats show that when large doses of fluoride — 40 parts per million — were given, the baby rats suffered less tooth

'OK, Sinners, It's Your Turn'

LEBANON, Ky. (AP) — George Trotter recalls the time a pastor inserted a notice in the church bulletin. He asked for "God-loving folks to help clean up the church."

The notice was repeated twice but nothing happened.

Finally, the pastor put up this one:

"I asked God-loving people to help clean up the church. No one responded. I am now asking the sinners to come and help."

News in Brief

A typewriter and adding machine were reported stolen yesterday in a break-in at Oakland Automatic Heating Co., 133 Orchard Lake.

The theft of 30 sheets of lumber valued at $120 from a house under construction on lot 42 Sparton, Avon Township was reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday by Survey Homes, Inc., Detroit.

Warning Labels Will Be Put on Tear Gas Guns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA), citing a number of serious injuries resulting from accidental discharge of pen-type tear gas guns, is requiring that a warning statement be attached to each gun:

"Warning — irritant . . . explosive charge . . . tear gas . . . carefully read the instructions before loading device. Keep from children."

★ ★ ★

The FDA said yesterday the guns generally are hollow, pen-shaped cylinders, approximately 4 inches long. At one end there is a 20-coil spring and a sliding piece of steel, similar to the bolt of a rifle.

The device is fired by inserting the gas cartridge, pulling back and releasing the trigger. The cartridge explodes upon contact with the bolt, forcing out the tear gas.

Priest's Pal No Better Off

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Father Paul Powell was halted on a speeding charge in a nearby town and taken before the judge.

"Do you know Father ——?" the judge asked after noticing the priest's garb.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, he's a good friend of mine," the somewhat relieved priest answered.

"Well," the judge continued, "I fined him too, just last week."

Cash Box Taken From Area School

A box containing an unknown amount of cash was stolen from the Lotus Lake School, 6455 Harper, Waterford Township, it was reported to police yesterday.

Police said the school was broken into and that an attempt was made to open a coin-operated telephone at the Bundy Construction Co. building on the school property.

Estimated damage to the phone was $50.

U.S. Jets Hit Major MIG Base

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force Thunderchief jets attacked one of North Vietnam's major MIG bases again today, cratering the runway and thwarting Red efforts to get the field back in operation.

The raid on the Hoa Lac airfield 20 miles west of Hanoi was the ninth since it was first hit April 24th.

★ ★ ★

Ground action was generally light, enabling most American units to hold at least brief Memorial Day services. Some of the larger units dedicated Quonset chapels built during the past year.

The deputy Army commander in Vietnam, Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer Jr., messaged American troops: "The American soldier is fighting and dying in Vietnam in the same selfless way he has fought and died in other wars on distant battlefields. We who are fortunate enough to be alive owe an everlasting debt of pride and gratitude to our fallen comrades. They shall not be forgotten."

FIELD UNUSABLE

U.S. military headquarters said initial reports of the Hoa Lac raid indicated the field was again made unusable. Returning pilots said antiaircraft fire around the field was heavy but no North Vietnamese MIGs rose to challenge the raiders.

A spokesman said the raider flew through generally clearing skies in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, which has been covered by clouds for the past few days. He declined to comment on a report from Washington that raids have been diverted, at least temporarily, from the Haiphony-Hanoi area to supply routes to the Communist forces in South Vietnam.

However, no significant strikes have been made inside or very close to the two major North Vietnamese cities since just before the 24-hour truce May 23 for Buddha's birthday.

Since then a major effort has been made against the rail lines north from Hanoi to Red China and against supply lines south to the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam.

TRAFFIC ROUTES

The spokesman said 120 missions were flown over North Vietnam Monday, again concentrating on road, rail and water traffic from the Hanoi area south to the border.

The Navy said one strike hit Red shore batteries near Thanh Hoa that were shelling Navy destroyers off the coast. There was no report of which ships were involved or whether any were hit.

Scattered ground fighting was reported in the Meking Delta, the central highlands and in the U.S. Marine area just below the demilitarized zone.

U.S. Resorts to Violence in Self-Defense---General

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's top military man said today the United States has had to resort to arms in self-defense because "violence has been the chosen means of predator nations to gain their objectives."

★ ★ ★

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said "Some day, if men become wiser, nations may learn to settle their disputes by employing reason, not violence."

★ ★ ★

But unfortunately, Wheeler added, "such a world has not existed up to this time."

Wheeler spoke in remarks prepared for Memorial Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery.

MANY GRAVES

The setting for the ceremony was the white marble amphitheater surrounded by the graves of more than 143,000 Americans who have worn military uniforms.

Wheeler's speech did not refer specifically to Vietnam except to note some 500 American fighting men killed in that war already have been buried at Arlington.

★ ★ ★

The four-star Army general said the hundreds of thousands of Americans who have died in all the nation's wars have not died in vain.

"They would have died in vain if we confine our respect for their memory to strewing flowers on their graves on Memorial Day," Wheeler said.

BETTER WORLD

"Fortunately, each successive generation has made meaningful sacrifices of America's earlier defenders by dynamic building toward a world better than that of the past.

★ ★ ★

"So long as we never stop trying, it is honest and true to say that these young defenders have not died in vain."

He read a message from President Johnson calling on God to "bestow his blessings upon those who guard the ramparts in Vietnam."

Man, 29, Dies After Shooting Wife, Self

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) —A Roseville man who allegedly shot his wife to death and critically wounded himself earlier this month died Monday in a Mount Clemens hospital.

Robert G. Campton, 29, and his wife Shirley, 28, were out for a drive May 16, police said, when Campton shot her and then turned the gun on himself.

Campton, a gun shop owner, had been charged with selling guns without proper registration. He was awaiting trial in federal court on the charge.

'Don't Care to Monkey With a Flying Baboon'

CHICAGO (UPI)—An incoming Eastern Air Lines flight from Tampa, Fla., was reported to have a 60-pound baboon roaming loose in the baggage compartment last night.

Police and Lincoln Park Zoo officials were called to the hangar at O'Hare International Airport where the plane was towed.

The passengers got off the plane and waited for their luggage, which was delayed because nobody wanted to ask the baboon to help unload.

Baboons in herds can give leopards and lions a rough time. It was figured that one with sharp teeth and an excitable nature shouldn't find baggage handlers too much trouble.

★ ★ ★

Noises were heard from the inside of the closed baggage compartment of the big jet, and authorities said it could be a spider monkey or two which had escaped their cages.

NO VOLUNTEERS

Spider monkeys are small beasts with loving natures. But nobody felt like taking chances.

The zoo officials got to the scene and, tranquilizer guns at the ready, opened the door of the luggage compartment and eased inside.

No shrieking baboon bounded from the dark. Instead, they found three small, harmless Mazaques monkeys locked in their cages — red-faced Mazaques monkeys — en route to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Johnson Marks Holiday at His Ranch in Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson observed Memorial Day at his Texas ranch and planned upon returning to Washington in the afternoon or evening.

★ ★ ★

The Texas White House gave no advance word on how the President would spend the holiday. In a Memorial Day proclamation, Johnson reiterated his desires for peace in Vietnam and called upon Americans to join in prayers at 11 a.m.

Yesterday the chief executive was described as remaining "hopeful for a diplomatic solution" of the tensions between the Arabs and Israelis.

Press Secretary George Christian told reporters that "as long as the diplomatic processes are at work" in the Middle East crisis, "This is a hopeful sign."

But Christian refused to comment upon specific developments over the last few days.

ORIGINAL PLAN

Johnson originally, according to White House announcements, had planned to fly back to Washington Sunday night or yesterday. He arrived Saturday after speaking at the launching of the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy in Newport News, Va.

But Monday Christian said it was "likely" that Johnson instead would head back to the capital late this afternoon.

★ ★ ★

His calendar includes visits Thursday from Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt and Friday from British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. Saturday night, the President is scheduled to go to New York City for Democratic fund-raising activities.

Miracle of Resurrection Occurs in U.S. Today

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — America today wears a sprig of rosemary over its heart for remembrance.

A miracle of resurrection takes place in millions of households as the dead come home again — and walk the earth once more in gladness.

BOYLE

Their presence is invisible to the eye, inescapable to the spirit. For this haunting day of return they are as alive as we.

The loneliest man in the land is the man who has no one to remember on Memorial Day. He is indeed a soul lost — a stranger on the earth — a pilgrim going from nothing to nowhere.

KEEPS US HUMAN

For it is the memory of the dead that in great measure keeps us human, that sets us apart from stone and star, moss and mole, and all other feeling and unfeeling prisoners of the great jailor, Time. "What is Memorial Day?" asks the child. "Will I get a present— like on Christmas or my birthday?"

* * *

It is a hard question to answer. How can we, who are ourselves childishly bewildered by the mystery of both life and death, explain the puzzle of that living-loving death we call memory?

* * *

Perhaps the best answer you can give a child is to say, "Memorial Day is the day when everyone anyone ever knew is alive, and nobody is dead."

Isn't that about as close as you can get, anyway?

The dead have far more power over our lives than we ordinarily realize. We read dead men's books, sing dead men's songs, obey dead men's laws. Dead men taught us to sow the earth and reap the harvest. Dead men won us our present perilous safety — we especially honor them this day — and to dead men we owe our finest visions of heaven.

SACRIFICIAL STEPS

Every step upward we take in life has been made possible by the sacrifical steps taken by our guardian dead. As the preacher man says, what is our own breath but a brief mist on the surface of death's endless deep.

Earth is pocketed by more tombs than there are living men to journey to them. And so it is one must pick and choose which dead to revisit on Memorial Day, which to spend a moment with — or talk to for an hour.

* * *

Mostly, of course, we spend the time with those dearest to us through personal grief — the lost relative, the absent friend, the cherished neighbor who moved away forever.

But on this day I like also to pick up old books and bring to life again old comrades of my spirit I never knew in the flesh — fellows like John Keats, Thomas Hardy and Thomas Wolfe; girls like Sara Teasdale, Emily Dickinson and Mother Eve.

SHARED VOYAGE

It is a corruption of Memorial Day to make of it a journey into sadness and scalding self-pity. It should ideally be a shared voyage of rediscovery. For how often, when we summon up the memory of our dear dead, are we surprised to find that through some mystic alchemy we now understand them better and appreciate them more than when they walked daily among us!

* * *

Perhaps, on Memorial Day, the dead may even feel the same way toward us, the living. It well may be. Surely, if life has a perspective, death does, too.

LA Building Project Saves Old Trees for a New City

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Most housing developments start out surrounded by spindly saplings anchored in a sea of mud.

As builders erect sleek and functional modern towers, they plow under the vestiges of the past, trees and bushes, and start fresh with sodding and seedlings. It takes a whole generation for the shrubbery to grow to a stature to match the buildings.

In Los Angeles, a unique city within a city is rising, and its builders chose to bury their roots deep into the Southern California soil. Century City's skyscraper office buildings, high-rise apartment complexes, luxury hotel and shopping center are shaded by trees a quarter century old.

When the Aluminum Company of America and the Zeckendorf Property Corporation bought the 260-acre site of the Twentieth Century-Fox studios six years ago, they acquired a million dollars worth of rare trees.

For film-making purposes, the studio had planted and nurtured 25 different varieties of trees on its back lot, including some native to Southern California, and other more unusual specimens needed for movie sets. Varieties included Italian stone pine, aleppo pine, rubber, coral, bottle brush, palm, Victorian box, Brazilian pepper, jacaranda and olive trees.

Century City's president, Robert C. Erickson, recalls: "Here we had 1,200 trees of such caliber we could never have replaced them. We had a basic awareness of where we were going to need them, and the alternative was to knock them down. Instead, we preserved every one we could."

Erickson says the developers took their inspiration from the Keep America Beautiful program. "Money was a secondary factor. We knew we could not reproduce these magnificent trees. It would have taken 35 years for them to grow to this size."

Alcoa and Zeckendorf launched the largest tree preservation project in history by awarding a contract to Kaspar Burgi Inc. of Los Angeles to uproot, box and stockpile the trees.

Landscape supervisor Philip Melito estimates it cost $147,000 to box the trees and twice that to replant them. But he adds that is only a fraction of what it would have cost to buy them.

Boxing of the trees began in August 1961. The roots were cut up in a block of soil, placed in handmade wooden frames, and tilted from side to side to break the soil. Fifteen-ton cranes were used to lift the biggest trees and set them into soil basins. Some of them weighed as much as eight tons and were forty-five feet tall.

Organizational Meeting Set for County Airport Group

The newly established Oakland County Airport Committee that will function as legal operating agent for the two county-owned airports will hold its organizational meeting June 12.

Comprising three former U.S. military officers who presently are members of the aviation committee of the County Board of Supervisors, the committee was established by the supervisors Thursday.

Election of a committee chairman and a study of easing procedures at Oakland-Pontiac Airport are two items slated for the organizational meeting agenda.

The committee members are Wallace B. Hudson, 49, of 2342 N. Dorchester, Troy; Arthur T. Laurie, 47, of 2023 Vinsetta, Royal Oak; and Frederick S. Strong Jr., 80, of 4375 Pontiac Trail, Orchard Lake.

A member of the Troy City Commission, Hudson has served six years on the board of supervisors. He is president and owner of Surplus Lines Corp., an insurance firm.

AIR FREIGHT TRAINING

Hudson served as a major in the Army Transportation Corps during World War II and had extensive air freight training in an Army officer. He has been a member of the supervisors' aviation committee for five years and is in his fourth year as committee chairman.

Laurie has been a member of the board of supervisors for 3½ years and has served two years on the aviation committee.

General manager of Lawson Lumber Co. and vice president of K W Mills Building Co., both Royal Oak firms, Laurie was an Army Air Corps flight training officer during World War II. He was a first lieutenant.

Strong is a retired U.S. Army brigadier general. He was chief of the operations branch of the construction division whose responsibility was constructing airports and other Army bases in the western hemisphere during World War II.

Strong was appointed to the board of supervisors a year ago to the aviation committee. He is a member of the Orchard Lake City Council.

The aviation committee has served as a liason body with other supervisors' committees and county administrators in matters dealing with aviation.

When Oakland County purchased Pontiac Municipal Airport last Jan. 1, the aviation committee and County Board of Auditors were named as temporary operating agents for the two county-owned airports pending the establishment of a permanent operating agent.

* * *

By recommendation of the aviation committee the name of Pontiac Municipal Airport has been changed to Oakland-Pontiac Airport and the Orion Township airport, previously known as Allen Airport, now is Oakland-Orion Airport.

STANDING COMMITTEE

The seven-member aviation committee will continue as a supervisors' standing committee.

County officials have been discussing the establishment of an airport agent since the county acquired the airport formerly owned by the City of Pontiac.

Alternatives to the three-member committee drawn from the board of supervisors that was designated the agent were the County Road Commission or an intercounty airport authority.

* * *

Present state law specifies that road commissions operate county airports in counties whose population exceeds one million. Oakland's population is about 850,000.

TWO PRESENTATIONS

County officials heard two presentations from the road commission on its capability and interest in the airport operation assignment and through the aviation committee advised that the road commission would be considered.

* * *

Entering into an intercounty authority for airport operation as proposed by the Wayne County Road Commission also was considered.

The aviation committee recommended May 8 that the three-member board of supervisors committee be named as the airport operating agent. The supervisors Thursday accepted the recommendation and elected the three members.

HOW DO YOU FIND A BUYER WHEN YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL?

Basically, it is a rather simple problem in communications.

Whether you are a home owner with one item for which you have no further need, or a businessman with a large stock to dispose of, you need a low cost means of conveying your offer to sell to a large number of people. Once the public is notified of your offer, as if by magic, a buyer (or many buyers) will emerge.

To contact all of your prospective buyers one at a time is a hopeless (and very expensive) task. To reach many thousands of them in one stroke is easy.

All you need do is to place a low cost Pontiac Press Want Ad. Your ad will appear in a proven marketplace, where advertisers get quick response. It is the quick, easy, inexpensive way to find the buyer or buyers you are looking for.

Dial 332-8181. The Ad-Visor who answers will be prepared to answer your questions and help you word your ad for best response.

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

A Winnipeg reader asks, "I have played rubber bridge all my life and have just started duplicate. In rubber bridge I learned to play safe for my contract. Does it pay to risk your contract in a duplicate game in order to make an overtrick or two?"

JACOBY

The answer to this question is that there are numerous occasions when you should gamble for an overtrick. One instance is when you are in a normal contract and the odds favor your play.

South won the third spade lead and studied the hand carefully. He could duck one diamond and guard against a 4-1 diamond break and also make sure of holding himself to just three no-trump or he could run diamonds and make an overtrick if diamonds broke 3-2.

He knew that a suit will break 3-2 some 68 per cent of the time. His problem was to determine if all or nearly all the other North-South pairs would be in the same three no-trump contract he had reached.

★ ★ ★

It was a normal contract after the one no-trump opening but he was positive that several South players would have opened one club and rebid to one no-trump after their partner's one diamond response.

His conclusion was that after this start the North players would bid either two or three no-trump anyway and that every South would continue to three no-trump after a raise to two. Hence the only pairs missing game would do so after North made the bad rebid of two diamonds.

His last decision was that not even one North would do that and that it behooved him to go after the overtrick.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A Q 9 7 ♥ K 5 3 2 ♦ A Q 10 5 4 ♣ K 10 5 4
What do you do now?

A—Bid four no-trump. You are going to six or more.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid four no-trump and your partner bids five hearts to show two aces. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): If you insist on pressing point you arouse enmity. Know that peace and harmony are attainable. Strive for this goal. Don't encourage people to lash out at you when it is not necessary.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Some friends act in contrary manner. Realize this is a temporary condition. Ride with the tide. If you are calm, you gain respect. Accent today on your ability to remain NEUTRAL.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Dig deep for information. What appears solid may have imperfections. Applies to real estate, conditions at home and work. Wait for the facts. Don't depend on rumors.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Schedules are open to revision. Tread lightly. Not so good now for journeys. Take care with what you sign, put in writing. What you are attracted to is not necessarily constructive.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Responsibility is highlighted. Overcome obstacles by sticking to duties. Some may make fantastic claims. Take these with proverbial grain of salt. Believe what you KNOW — not what you hear.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Understand need for giving and receiving. Don't try to completely win any argument. Realize need for face-saving. If you disagree, do with opposing opinions . . . then you avoid real trouble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Tension results if you insist on getting involved in other people's disputes. Know that some are waiting to trap you. Be aloof without being rude. Stick to principles.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): A social event could be transformed into debating society. Your position is strong . . . but be gracious. Important to display fact that you need not always get your way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): How you react to criticism is important. Permit family member to express himself. Listen, be attentive. Later air clears and you could receive apology.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): You are wise if you delay important travel, communication plans. Don't be in too much of a hurry. Some would like to see you trip up. Know this and weigh words, actions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Don't permit pride to lead to foolish expenses. If analytical, you make valuable discoveries. Check sources, facts. Take nothing for granted. One you admire wants to make amends.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Key is self-reliance. Others may not know what you want, need. Be available. Stress independent research. Don't be bogged down by tradition, rumors or theories. LEARN BY DOING.

IF WEDNESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are practical, capable of outlining project and accomplishing basic goal. You win when you know the facts. You lose when you depend upon second-hand reports.

Coincidence Brings Way to Stop Leprosy

By Science Service

MEXICO CITY — In a campaign in Uganda, 8,000 children were immunized against tuberculosis — and seemed to become immune to leprosy as well.

Mexican researchers, inspired by this happy coincidence, have now developed a successful leprosy vaccine. Massive treatments begin next month.

"The synthetic vaccine, labeled Pogal, is the result of 17 years of investigation by five medical researchers," Dr. Alberto P. de Leon says, "and the product, like BCG, provides protection against tuberculosis."

BCG stands for Bacillus Calmette-Guerin. It is used against tuberculosis sucessfully in some countries, but mass inoculation is not officially approved in the United States because it interferes with T.B. tests given in schools.

"The leprosy vaccine is easy to apply, and produces no negative symptoms. Until now we have used it only with selected patients but results have been highly satisfactory," says Dr. Leon, an immunologist at Mexico's Tropical Disease Institute.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Leon indicates that when vaccine is produced in large quantity its cost will be low, and it will be offered elsewhere in the Latin American area, wherever needed.

Some Hints for Moving onto Street

ELIZABETH L. POST

Moving into a new neighborhood presents many problems in getting acquainted and being accepted. It would seem that once that is accomplished, the newcomers' difficulties would be over, but that is not necessarily so.

* * *

Neighborhood problems don't end. In fact they are endless. Frequently, problems are apt to be swept under the rug because most people prefer to avoid unpleasant situations.

How much better it would be if all the irritations were brought into the open and discussed frankly, rather than be allowed to fester until a bitter feud develops.

Children are probably the commonest ground for resentment as well as for pleasure. Suppose your beloved little Sandy doesn't make a hit with the neighbor's six year-olds? They think she's a goody-goody, or she's too fat or she's too smart in school.

Billy can't hit a baseball, so he isn't asked to join the neighborhood team or he cries if some one shoves him, or they think he's a bully.

* * *

Never let your child suspect that you think the others are "brats" or unfair — he will copy your attitude and that will be the end of his ever being accepted into the gang.

What you must do, no matter how difficult, is to encourage Sandy and Billy to keep trying. Ask the youngsters over to do things that yours can join in; invite them to a matinee or a beach picnic, pass out cookies and ice cream or get Dad to organize some games that Billy can excel at.

You may call this bribery, and in a way it is, but it's a worthwhile bribe if it opens the door to your children's contentment.

*

Other neighborhood problems have nothing whatever to do with children. Have you ever lived next door to a borrower? Every day she's out of sugar, or milk, or soap — in fact, you wonder if she ever goes to market at all.

The first time or two it's not annoying. But the fifth time you have said, "Oh, never mind returning it, I have plenty left," you being to wonder how you can stop up the drain.

There is only one way, and you can do it so politely that she'll be offering to help you out instead. Just tell her you're so sorry, you forgot to put it on your list and you're all out yourself.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Voted Most Influential

Mrs. Gandhi, Jackie Win

By United Press International

Mrs. Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India, and Mrs. John F. Kennedy were voted the two most influential women in the world in a poll of United Press International editors, writers and reporters, announced Sunday.

* * *

The voting was carried out this month in UPI offices on all continents in response to the question: "In your opinion who are the 10 most influential women in the world, and why?"

* * *

Mrs. Gandhi and Mrs. Kennedy were the only two women of 56 whose names were submitted to receive a perfect score of 100 under a point system devised for the balloting.

MRS. GANDHI

Mrs. Gandhi was named "chiefly because as prime minister of India she wages a determined day to day fight against the twin threats to her native soil and her people — Communist aggression from without and hunger from within."

MRS. KENNEDY

Mrs. Kennedy was chosen "because she brought youth and gaiety into the White House which too often has been solemn and stuffy . . . because millions of young people pattern themselves on her conduct and philosophy of life . . . but above all because in an hour of tragedy she taught us the lesson that while grief can be overpowering it is not invincible."

* * *

The other top 10 women in the poll, and why they were chosen:

MRS. JOHNSON

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson 90 points "because she is tireless and sincere in her campaign to make America beautiful . . . but chiefly because she stands at the right hand of the most powerful man in the world who frequently seeks her advice and follows her counsel when problems begin closing in from all directions."

QUEEN ELIZABETH

Queen Elizabeth of Britain 90 points because "in an age when royalty is unpopular over wide areas of the earth, the British throne has never been sounder . . . but chiefly because she has the esteem and affection, not only of Britain and the commonwealth, but of millions of persons who do not owe her allegiance."

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Elizabeth Taylor 90 points "because she is almost everybody's idea of the femme fatale . . . because she has a mind of her own and has pursued her own way into and out of matrimony and still kept her popularity . . . and because she proved in 'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?' that beauty is more than skin deep and that she has developed into a talented actress."

MME. MAO

Mme. Mao Tse-tung 70 points "because she is the woman behind the world's most frightening question mark . . . because reports from Red China say she has become increasingly active in politics and now is a powerful voice in the day to day decisions made in Peking."

MAAGARET MEAD

Margaret Mead, anthropologist 55 points "because she writes, not only with authority but clarity, about the cultures and habits of remote peoples and because, in a series of brilliant books starting with 'Coming of Age in Samoa' in 1923, she has shed much light on why we act the way we do."

MARY QUANT

Mary Quant, British dress designer 50 points "because, for better or worse, she liberated the female knee by inventing the mini-skirt."

HELEN KELLER

Helen Keller 40 points "because, becoming blind and deaf at an early age, she refused to feel sorry for herself and is a living lesson to all of us that courage can conquer in the end no matter how dark the day, how heavy the burden."

SEN. SMITH

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine 40 points "chiefly because she is a conscientious national legislator who faces squarely up to thorny issues and never ducks a crucial rollcall vote."

* * *

Bunched just behind the top 10 with 30 points each came Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama, human affairs columnist Ann Landers, and Princess Margaret of Britain.

This Fifteen-Year-Old Headed Wrong Direction for Romance

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and "G" is 18 and we are very much in love. I know you will say we are too young to know what love is, but you are wrong. We spoke to our parents about getting married and they laughed at us. "G" is not in school (he quit at 16) and he doesn't have to worry about the draft because he's 4-F.

ABBY

I could quit school and get a job and I know we could make a go of marriage, but kids can't get married unless their parents sign for them in this state.

If I got pregnant our folks would have to let us get married, right? I heard if a girl takes birth control pills and skips a few days she will be about 10 times more apt to get pregnant, isn't that true? Also, a girlfriend told me that the Planned Parenthood people give the pills to anybody who asks for them. Is that true?

I can't get mail at home so please print this.

NO NAME, NO CITY

DEAR NO NAME: If you were to become pregnant, your parents would not have to let you get married. Yes, birth control pills, if taken improperly, do increase one's chances for becoming pregnant. And the Planned Parenthood people do not give the pills to anyone who asks for them. What you need is self-control — not birth control.

Next time, sign your name and address and I promise you the biggest nickel's worth of advice you'll ever get in a letter.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a fellow, but his kisses turn me off. You see, he grew a mustache. I like the looks of it, but I don't like the feel of it. It reminds me of a grandfather I had when I was a little girl. When he would kiss me his big, bushy mustache would "scratch."

My boyfriend's isn't that big and bushy, but it does scratch. Anyway, the minute I feel it, it spoils my mood. Do I dare tell him how I feel? REPELLED

DEAR REPELLED: Yes, tell him how you feel, and tell him how he feels, too.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband is doing something which I think is wrong, but I need someone to back me up. Our son, six, is left-handed, so every time my husband sees him doing something with his left hand he gives him a smack and makes him try to do it with his right hand.

My husband says that when he was a boy he was also left handed, or started out to be, but he had a teacher who used to force him to use his right hand instead of his left, and she finally broke him of the habit.

* * *

He says he is thankful to that teacher because all the tools and things are made for right handed people, and it is a handicap to be lefty. Is this true or not? Our son is now writing with his right hand, but he wets the bed.

BATTLING MOM

DEAR MOM: The inconvenience of being left handed is nothing compared to the emotional damage a child might suffer from being forced to use his right hand. Tell your husband to let the boy alone.

Troubled? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nurses Keep Tab on Homes for the Aged and Ill

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second article on the part the Oakland County Health Department plays in assuring adequate and safe facilities in nursing homes and homes for the aged.)

By JUNE ELERT

In their visits of inspection, nurses Helen Beske and Doris Schuchter try to talk with all patients in the home. They check to see if treatment, food and sanitary arrangements are up to standard.

They investigate food complaints, review patients' records, frequency of physicians' visits, ect.

These inspections are made on an average of every six weeks and without prior notice.

* * *

A walk through the kitchen and a glance at the posted menu plus an observant look at food being served or in preparation is part of the routine.

If food complaints are numerous or seem serious, Mrs. Katherine Claus, nutrition consultant for the Oakland County Helath Department, may be called upon to investigate further.

Complaints are received from various sources; relatives, physicians, employes, occasionally from patients.

The source must be evaluated — sometimes a disgruntled ex-employe may choose this method of "getting even," but no anonymous complaint is given credence.

Some months ago, complaints from several sources concerning food served in one particular institution caused Mrs. Beske to make several unannounced visits to the home at mealtimes.

Her observations appeared to support the complaints so the State Health Department was asked to send a nutrition expert to investigate in detail.

Food purchase records were examined and broken down to see how much of each essential nutrient was available to each patient on the basis of the quantity prepared.

INADEQUATE

It was determined that the diet of those patients was definitely inadequate. Immediate steps were taken to bring the food service up to an acceptable level.

Not all complaints are of such serious character. Mrs. Beske recently tracked down the complaint of an elderly man that the only vegetable he was ever served was peas.

It turned out he simply had a habit of calling all vegetables peas.

Romance is not absent from the nursing home scene. Most of the facilities are coed and there was one wedding between patients last year.

The Nursing Home Division personnel took great interest in this event, to the extent of arranging for a new dress for the bride.

MANY DUTIES

Many other duties devolve upon Mrs. Beske and Mrs. Schuchter, these two nurses.

- They consult with those facilities which are attempting to upgrade their services in preparation for Medicare certification.
- They keep an eye out for safety infractions, and may call for assistance on inspection teams from fire departments, sanitary and engineering department, etc.

Part of the job is to discuss with owners and administrators inadequacies observed or suspected and to encourage operators in efforts to improve facilities and services.

* * *

Mrs. Beske had a year's experience as Acting Director of Nursing in a nursing home before joining the Health Department two years ago as a consultant.

She assumed the licensure responsibility last fall.

Prior to that she was director of nursing services for five years at Pontiac General Hospital. She is a graduate of Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing.

* * *

Mrs. Schuchter graduated from Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago and joined the Home Nursing Division in September of 1966.

Recent Vows Repeated by Sheryl LaFond

Sheryl Ann LaFond became the bride of Michael John Pope Friday in St. Michael's Catholic Church.

Their parents are Mrs. Robert Fitzpatrick of Highland and the late Gordon J. LaFond, and Mrs. James Pope of Cherokee Road and the late Mr. Pope.

The bride chose a gown of white organza with lace bodice and sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by baby chrysanthemums.

Patricia Lamphere and George Strango were honor attendants with bridesmaids Phylis Powers and Jacquie and Paula Bailey.

Ushers were Michael DeConick, Gregory Magerman and Richard Detmer.

A trip to Cedar Point, Ohio, followed the reception in the Italian American Hall.

Northern Folks Mull on Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Love blossoms best in the South and West while folks in the North mill it over longer before getting married.

The Public Health Service reported that marriage rates for 1962, the latest figures available, show people of all ages were marrying at higher rates in the South and West than in the Northeast or north central region.

Nevada had a whopping rate of 195.4 marriages per 1,000 population, Idaho had a rate of 17 and South Carolina was third with 16.8.

Other states with a rate of 10 or higher were Georgia, Oklahoma, Maryland, New Mexico, Arkansas, Alabama, New Hampshire, plus the District of Columbia.

A veil of silk illusion completed the peau de soie and Alencon lace ensemble of Linda Sue Scott as she repeated wedding vows Saturday in Ortonville Methodist Church with Gary Grant Tennant, son of Mrs. Grant O. Tennant of Sashabaw Road, Independence Township and the late Mr. Tennant. Attending the bride, daughter of Mrs. Marcella Scott of Myron Street, Orion Township, was her sister, Mrs. Douglas Grovesteen. The bridegroom's brother, Philip Tennant was best man. A reception was held following the ceremony in the Ortonville Roto-Jay Hall.

Early evening vows Saturday in Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses united Sharon Ann Plawski, daughter of the John J. Plawskis of Beachland Boulevard and Richard Hernandez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hernandez of Seward Street. A front panel of white brocade highlighted the bride's gown featuring a chapel train. Attendants were Donna Rae Plawski, Mrs. Gary Ayer, Mrs. Raymond Rosales and Mrs. William Rogers. On the esquire side were Raymond Rosales, Gary Ayer, Dale Stanley and William Rogers. The Middle Straits Community Center was the setting for a reception.

Kay Kuykendall, daughter of the Joe B. Kuykendalls of Locklin Lane, West Bloomfield Township and Dennis James Dyer, son of the Harvey Sanders of Elkin Street, Commerce Township, exchanged vows Saturday in Commerce Methodist Church. Gowned in a white A-line dress, the bride carried white daisies. Attending the couple who left for a northern honeymoon following the church reception, were Mrs. Joe B. Kuykendall, Julie Petschler, Jean Holmes and Kimberly Kuykendall. Best man was William Sanders with Charles Sanders, William Caskey, Mark Coriaty, Joe Kuykendall and David Stier.

Vows were repeated Saturday morning by Susan Ann Noon and Thomas H. Sheffler in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Milford. Their parents are the Archie J. Noons of Milford and the Clifford Shefflers of Rowe Road, Highland Township. Attending the bride were Diedre J. Noon, Bridget Taulbee, Marta Sheffler, Maureen McCully, Lynn Turpin and Marybeth Wawserski. Julie Bohez was flower girl. On the esquire side were best man John T. Sheffler and ushers Ray Taulbee, Gary Anderson, Tony Olbres, Gerald Reis and Bruce Hancock. The bride was gowned in white peau de soie A-line gown with a finger tip mantilla.

Complex Toys Frustrate Tots

Toys should be carefully chosen to suit a child's stage of development. A too-complex toy will irritate and frustrate the pre-schooler, according to Playskool Research. Small toys or small parts can be troublesome to a child learning to manipulate his toys.

★ ★ ★

Yet, toys should be portable enough to satisfy the child's constant desire to move and carry things. A preschooler does need new challenges, but he shouldn't be given a toy which is so advanced, complicated, or unwieldy for his age that it merely makes him "quit trying."

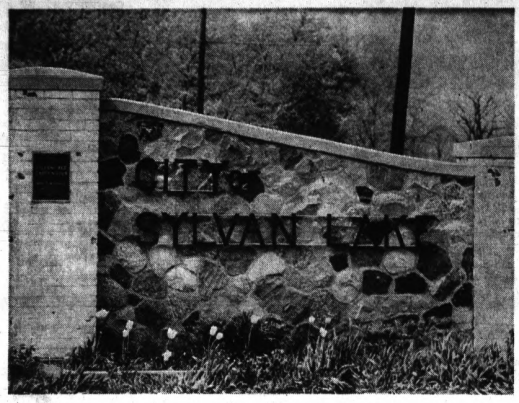
Sylvan Lake—Where the Livin' Is Easy



By LOIS MANDIBERG

Casual, year-round lake living and a strong sense of community pride are the most distinguishing factors of Sylvan Lake, a restful community southwest of Pontiac.

This city of 2,150 persons, which is registered as 85 per cent residential on the tax rolls, is nestled against one edge of Sylvan Lake and bounded on the other side by commercial strips on Orchard Lake Road and Telegraph.

Women in slacks can be seen wheeling through the village with their children seated in the bicycle baskets during the day. There are few moving cars to block the housewives' way on the blacktopped roads.

The pace picks up about 3:30 as the children flood out of school buses. Most of the students use the Pontiac school system except those living in a five-block strip on the far side of Orchard Lake Road. Those youngsters use the West Bloomfield School facilities.

BACK IN WATER

During the summer, the boats and docks, which are currently pulled up on people's lawns, are put back in the water.

The children spend most of the summer days in the lake, often an extension of their own front lawn.

There are two public beaches, Ferndale Park and the Community Center, which can be used only by Sylvan Lake residents.

* * *

A swim instruction program is open to persons wishing to learn how to swim or to learn their Red Cross cards.

CHARTER VOTE

Sylvan Lake voted for a city charter in February 1947. Since then a mayor and five councilmen have been working to maintain the city's slogan claiming their village as "the prettiest little city in the state of Michigan."

The city elects the councilmen who select a mayor from their ranks. Sylvan Lake Mayor John Hanson presides over the council this year.

The council sets policy which is then administered by a city manager.

* * *

Residents pay $13.46 per $1,000 of assessed valuation as equalized, he explained.

ABOUT 50 PCT.

"The total city taxes pay for about 50 per cent of the city government. The second largest source of income comes from state shared revenues," he said.

Sylvan Lake has an assessed value of $2,866,755 and an equalized value of $6,765,542.

Most of the area homes cost from $10,000 to $40,000. "We have no slums," boasted City Manager Leroy Trafton.

He explained some of the services instituted to meet the city's "prettiest" slogan.

SEWER SYSTEM

The city's sanitary sewer system empties into the Pontiac sewer system. Every home is connected to the system, according to Trafton.

The city manager also said that Sylvan Lake has its own independent water systems fed by two wells which have a capacity far in excess of demand.

LEROY TRAFTON
CITY MANAGER

JOHN M. HANSON
MAYOR

The police department has a man on duty who is available through police radio at all times.

* * *

The city has a contract for fire protection with the West Bloomfield Fire Department.

FULL-TIME EMPLOYES

In addition to the city manager, the city has 10 full-time employes, including a clerk-treasurer, chief of police and three policemen, an administrative clerk and a department of public works superintendent and two assistants.

Sylvan Lake citizens are particularly proud of their refuse disposal system, according to Trafton.

"All paper refuse stays in the garages where a man picks up the cans once a week. Once a month the metal garbage is picked up in front of the house," he explained.

* * *

Local residents claim Sylvan Lake living is special.

'RELAXED MANNER'

One woman explained: "We live in such a relaxed manner. We can wear casual clothes all day and not have to worry about dressing up every time we leave the house.

"I also love to watch the continually changing view on the lake out of my window," she added.

Another long-time resident said: "We moved out here for summers when this place was in the sticks 20 years ago. We used a rusty outside pump for water. We moved out for good several years ago and today wouldn't consider leaving."

* * *

One man, who commutes to Detroit, stated: "I don't mind the drive. I'll retire in a few years. I love living here because its' so relaxing. And our streets are the first one's cleared after the big snows during the winter."

Shattering Experience Ahead for Records in County Meet

The Oakland County Track Meet Friday could be a shattering expierence — for the record book.

At least seven existing records are in jeopardy and possibly two more may fall. One record will be set. The two-mile will be run for the first time.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-five schools are expected to send nearly 400 athletes to the meet at Hazel Park High School. The preliminaries will start at 4 p.m. and the finals at 7:30.

Pontiac Central is the defending champion and is favored to chalk up its sixth win in the eighth renewal of the meet. The Chiefs have added incentive for winning the title for the third time in a row.

★ ★ ★

The event is being dedicated to PCH track coach Dean Wilson.

Central's Bill Tipton will be making his final county appearance as a prep. And he's given a good chance at lowering two of the meet standards.

The 150-pound senior set the high hurdles (14.0) and low hurdles(19.0) marks in last year's meet. He has consistently bettered these times this spring.

★ ★ ★

It isn't a question of whether Tipton will win both events, but how fast he will go.

GOING UP

Another record in real trouble is the high jump standard. PCH's Don Lavalais established the mark at 6-3¾ last year, but Pontiac Northern's Mel Cole has been going higher everytime out and cleared 6-7 in the state meet last Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The 440 is another event where a record could fall. Rich Eaton of Royal Oak Dondero posted a second place 48.9 in the state meet. The existing mark is 50 seconds set in 1964 by Doug Ford of Kimball.

Another runner who has a good shot at the record in this event is Roger Hultz of Seaholm.

A major duel is shaping up in the 880 where the record is 1:-55.8 set by Bloomfield Hills' Bob Richards in 1963. Mike Imirem of Bloomfield Hill's was clocked in 1:56.1 while placing third in the state Class A field while Ortonville Brandon's Wayne Wills set a state Class C clocking with a time of 1:56.9.

★ ★ ★

Bob Donovan of Farmington is capable of staying with this pair.

Pontiac Central has other talent in its lineup who will add to the point total.

Pole vaulter Earl Polk has cleared 14 feet, seven inches better than the county meet standard set last year by Farmington's Ron Short. Ken Franks also could place in the vault for PCH.

Waterford's Larry Biskner is capable of breaking the record in this event. He cleared 13-11 in the state meet while placing second.

Another record that could be tested is in the 880. The existing mark is 1:30.7 set in 1966 by Kimball. Dondero was two-tenths of a second under this in the state meet.

DEFENDING CHAMP

Kim Hartman of Southfield returns to defend his mile championship. But it is doubtful if there are any milers competing who will push him to a record performance.

The 100, 220 and long jump records also appear out of reach. The same holds true for the shotput.

Seaholm's crack mile relay team won the state in 3:22.3 as against the county mark of 3:26.4 set by Kimball last year. Kimball's 1967 quarter also has been under this time.

Seaholm is a definite threat to PCH for team honors. The Maples are strong in the middle distances and shotputter Chuck Loiko will be favored along with Kettering's Gene Panker.

Cole could join Tipton as a double winner. The PNH star has long jumped 22 feet. He probably will be second to Tipton in both hurdles. Greg Myhra of Bloomfield Hills could share a runnerup spot.

Trophies will be awarded to the top five teams and the winning team in Class C-D. Brandon is favored to take the latter trophy.

Dan Lutkus, athletic director at Hazel Park, is meet director. The manager is assistant principal Willis MacMillian.

Captains' Ace Spins 2-Hitter in 6-0 Triumph

Faulty Fielding Leads to Defeat of Wolves' Top Pitcher Fife

By JERE CRAIG

The Dan Fife era ended for Clarkston High School Monday night but the legend of Kettering's Jack McCloud added another installment at Jaycee Park.

Kettering ousted Clarkston's Wolves, 6-0, from the Pontiac Invitational High School Baseball Tournament before the largest crowd ever to see a game in the six-year-old tournament.

An estimated 1,000 fans jammed the seating facilities and stood along the fences to witness an expected mound duel between WKHS' ace southpaw and Clarkston's star right-hander.

An unsteady defense on the part of the Wolves betrayed their title hopes. Kettering's six runs were all unearned.

McCloud, who struck out 13 and allowed only two singles, provided all the runs he needed in his first two at bats.

He reached first on a scratch single with one out in the first. After stealing second, he advanced to third on a passed ball as the next batter struck out (but had to be retired on a throw to first after the catcher dropped the third strike).

With two strikes on Dick Miceli, Fife cut loose a wild pitch, enabling McCloud to scamper home with the first run.

In the third, a single and two errors loaded the bases with none out. McCloud's sharp bouncer brought home the second run. Another grounder followed but catcher Jeff Keyser failed to tag the runner sliding home, and a force out brought in another run.

SECOND RBI

Miceli drove in his second run with a grounder in the fifth just before Dan Giroux unloaded a solid double to the fence in left for the final tally. A passed ball and an infield error led to both runs being unearned.

McCloud, meanwhile, mowed down the Wolves. A scratch infield single by Jerry McCloud, meanwhile, mowed down the Wolves. A scratch infield single by Jerry Ostrom in the fourth was followed by a double play on the southpaw's seventh strikeout.

It was Clarkston's only baserunner until the seventh when Ostrom walked, Tom Allen singled and Jeff Keyser walked to load the bases with two out. Strikeout victim No. 13 sealed the shutout — McCloud's second in two tournament outings.

He tossed a no-hitter — the tourney's first ever — in blanking Madison Saturday.

The Captains next will meet the survivor of today's Rochester-Romeo quarter-final tilt in tomorrow's 5 p.m. semifinal contest.

Alos today, Southfield plays Waterford at 4 p.m. and Pontiac Northern challenges Clawson at 7 p.m. to decide Wednesday's 7:30 p.m. semifinalists.

Clarkston, though, becomes the nonth team on the sidelines in the single-elimination tournament. The defeat marked the end of Fife's sparkling scholasti athletic career.

The senior three-sport star wi enroll at the University of Michigan next fall. A two-time Class A all-state basketball star, the 6-2, 185-pound youngster earned 11 varsity letters in four years, missing only in football his fresman term.

At Bloomfield Hills Lahser

Athletic Staff Taking Shape

Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School is making good progress on the construction of its academic facilities and Monday principal David Cook announced the appointment of a major portion of its athletic department.

Heading the new school's sports program will be Norm Quinn of 2575 Ivanhoe, a 1958 graduate of Central Michigan University.

Quinn coached football, basketball and track at Harbor Beach in addition to being its athletic director through 1964-65. His final cage quintet won its league, Class C district and regional titles.

★ ★ ★

He then moved to Essexville-Garber High School for one year before coming to the Bloomfield Hills system last fall. Married, Quinn and his wife Wanda have two daughters: Kim, age eight, and Dawn, five.

Working with Quinn will be football coach Dave Coatta, brother of John Coatta who is the new head grid coach at the University of Wisconsin. Dave will also coach golf at Lahser.

He has compiled a 32-4-4 record in five seasons at Gaylord. A graduate of Dearborn HS, the University of Arizona, Miami of Ohio and Colorado, the 28-year-old Coatta is married and has a son Kevin.

The basketball mentor will be Bill Ullenbruch, 41, who has 15 years' varsity experience around the state, including a brief stint at Walled Lake and a longer tour at Bay City Central.

Married and the father of three daughters (Sandy, 13; Teri 10; and Patti, 9), Ullenbruch also owns a fundamental basketball school that attracts state boys for instruction each summer.

Cook's announcement also revealed the appointment of the swimming, wrestling, baseball, track and cross country coaches for Lahser.

Former Pontiac Central tank mentor Doug Treais, an Eastern Michigan graduate, will have the swimming program and also teach biology at the senior high school.

East Hills' Junior High School physical education director Bob Veach will coach baseball. He is a 1961 Central Michigan graduate.

Another CMU grad, Don Rolston will guide the cross country and track teams. He presently is at Mayville High School.

Ex-Mid-American Conference heavyweight wrestling champ Al Kebl (from Bowling Green) will coach the matmen.

Not yet selected are the soccer, skiing and tennis mentors, plus assistants in most of the sports.

"We'll have a complete team sports program," Quinn advises. "In addition, we're going to get involved in as many individual sports as we can.

"My aim is, ideally, to get every single student in school involved. We're going to go to in the direction of (but not interscholastically now) athletics for girls, thus providing competition for everyone who wants it."

Question at Indy: Who Will Finish?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Wear and tear, as well as fate, sent a batch of uncertain favorites as well as snarling motorized "field horses" off as approximate 3 to 1 potential finishers in the Memorial Day 500-mile Auto Race.

Chances brightened for continuance of the Big Indy's fabulous weather luck with a revised forecast of only possible light showers threatening the 51st motor classic before more than 300,000 thrill hungry fans.

★ ★ ★

If the pattern of past grueling tests of 33 dare-devil drivers and finely-tuned, costly racing machines prevails, the mad chase after a record $700,000 total purse will become a sort of motorized Custer's Last Stand after the 11 a.m., EST blastoff.

Two of the last three races had catastropic mishaps at the very start of the scheduled 200 whirls around the 2½-mile asphalt oval.

But even under normal conditions, the sizzling pace, this year reflected by a 10-mile average qualifying record of 164.173 miles per hour—almost 4 m.p.h. faster than last year—figured again to be a survival of the fittest among the array of power plants. These ran from Parnelli Jones' highly-touted turbine car, an Indy first, to the noisy rear-engine breed of various pedigrees.

Jones, starting in the second three-car lane behind polesitter Mario Andretti, Dan Gurney and Gordon Johncock—all in Ford powered cars—had to contend with a jinx that wiped out an average of 23 cars the past three years.

★ ★ ★

Last year, when a bizarre, chain-reaction crash at the start knocked out 11 cars, only six other cars were running as England's Graham Hill scored the second straight victory by a foreign driver with a modest 144.317 m.p.h. average.

And only four went the full 200 lap route.

In 1965, Scotland's Jim Clark won an almost mishap-free race in the present record time of 150.686 m.p.h. But only 12 of the original 33 starters survived mechanical trouble and spin outs to be still throttling at the finish.

And only five completed the 500 miles before the finish flag cleared the track.

In 1964, a tragic flaming crash killed Eddie Sachs and Dave MacDonald and knocked seven cars out of the race on the first lap before A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., won his second title with a 147.350 m.p.h. record time.

Kimball Places 2nd in State Meet

MARSHALL (AP) — Flint Southwestern nipped Jackson Parkside and Royal Oak Kimball by one stroke Monday to capture the high school class A golf championship at the 18-hole Alwyn Golf Club course.

Southwestern had a 306 score.

Tied for a close second were Jackson Parkside and Royal Oak Kimball, with 307 each.

Sophomore Kurt Kretchman of Benton Harbor took medalist honors with a one-over-par 36-36—72.

★ ★ ★

The other teams, in order of finish were:

Mount Clemens, 314; Bay City Handy, 315; Saginaw MacArthur, 315; Ypsilanti, 318; Benton Harbor, 321; Grand Rapids Union, 323; Port Huron, 324; Grand Rapids West Catholic, 324; Dearborn, 324; Pentwater Township, 325; Traverse City, 327; Detroit Ford, 329; Waterford, Detroit Redford, 333, and Troy, 340.

2ND STRAIGHT

Battle Creek St. Philip won its second straight class C-D title.

Battle Creek St. Philip posted a 322 total. Runner-up Farmington Our Lady had 332.

Swartz Creek won the class B championship, nipping Brighton by two strokes, 306 to 308.

John Heible of Rockford took medalist honors in class B with a one-under-par 37-35—72.

Birds Get Richert in Swap

Orioles Bolster Sagging Pitching Corps

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harry Dalton, engineering his second major baseball deal in less than 18 months, may have traded the Baltimore Orioles to their second successive American League pennant.

Moving to bolster Baltimore's struggling pitching staff, the Orioles' vice president swapped promising but unproven youngsters Mike Epstein and Frank Bertaina to the Washington Senators Monday for veteran lefthander Pete Richert.

Epstein, who had gone home after refusing to report to the minor leagues, thus gained his objective of getting a chance to prove he has major league ability.

The Orioles, meanwhile, added to their starting rotation a pitcher who won 29 games during the past two seasons with eighth-place Washington, although his record so far this year is 2-6 with a 4.64 earned run average.

As far as opposing clubs are concerned, looking at the immediate effects of the trade, the Orioles picked up Richert for Bertaina.

TOP RATING

Richert, 27, was rated by Dalton as "one of the top left-handers in baseball...the quality pitcher we have been looking for since last fall."

Bertaina, 23, has appeared in 29 games for the Orioles during the past four seasons, and has a 1-1 record this year. Baltimore officials have long rated him a potential winner.

Dalton maintained that the Orioles were not forced into the deal because of Epstein's refusal to return to Rochester, where he played last season and gained minor league player of the year honors.

★ ★ ★

"We were drawn to the deal because Richert was available to us, and we have been interested in him for sometime," Dalton said. "We merely analyzed our pitching to see what we needed, and what deals we could make.

"We have said all along that we wouldn't trade Epstein unless we could come up with an outstanding pitcher."

The 24-year-old Epstein, who had been unable to dislodge 25-year-old Boog Powell from first base and failed in a trial as an outfielder, said from his home in Stockton, Calif., that he had just about given up hope that a deal would be made before the June 15 trading deadline.

★ ★ ★

"I had made up my mind that baseball and I had parted," the slugging first baseman said. "I'm elated it turned out this way. All I want is a chance to play."

Bentley Ousts Northville '9'

U.S. Rolls Past Mexico in Zone Davis Cup Play

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The heaviest rain and hail storm to hit the Chapultepec Sports Center area this year forced the suspension of the final token Davis Cup match after Arthur Ashe had defeated veteran Rafael Osuna to give the United States the American semifinal zone Davis Cup matches.

Ashe's 8-6, 6-3, 6-2 victory Monday put the United States in the finals against Ecuador in Guayaquil June 16-18. Ashe, of Richmond, Va., will not play, however, because of Army commitments.

Tiff With Ref Sends Cougar Pilot to Bench

DETROIT (AP)—John Colrain, player-coach of Michigan's new professional soccer team, has been suspended indefinitely from playing for the Detroit Cougars because of his tiff with an official.

★ ★ ★

Colrain is accused of striking linesman Bobby Jack in the face in last Sunday's opening game between the Cougars and the Boston Shamrock Rovers in the United Professional Soccer Association.

"I shook my fist under his nose but I didn't touch him," Colrain said. "I knew I shouldn't have done that either."

★ ★ ★

Colrain had been disputing Jack's signal that the Cougars were offside, an action that nullified a Cougars goal. The game ended in a 1-1 tie.

Colrain will be allowed to continue his coaching duties when Detroit meets Vancouver Sunday in the Cougars' home opener.

Champ Keeps Rolling

The list of unbeatens in Pontiac's Slow Pitch League was trimmed to three last night and the defending champion remained among those with unblemished records with an easy victory.

★ ★ ★

Shalea Lounge-MGM Cleaners, the defending champion, ran its record to 4-0 with a 21-5 nod over Sport-O-Rama (0-3).

Elsewhere, Wagon Wheel Tavern (3-1) handed Artco (2-1) its first loss. 13-3, Moose (1-3) whipped Grubb's Kennels (0-3), 11-10, and Chalet Inn (3-0) rolled past Hagen Shell (0-4), 14-11.

The only other unbeaten team — Pontiac Press (2-0) — was idle last night.

★ ★ ★

Left-fielder Bill Waun, who has collected 23 hits in 24 trips to the plate for Shalea-MGM, lashed out four last night, two of them home runs in the easy triumph. Ed Freeman and Chuck Meles also banged home runs for the winners.

Bill Manser clouted a pair of homers and teammates Dave Kursteiner and Al Fisher collected three hits apiece to pace the Chalet Inn decision. Dean Fisher rapped out three safeties for the losers.

★ ★ ★

Larry Olson banged a three-run homer and teammate Chuck Mason belted a solo job for Wagon Wheel in a game marred by 14 errors.

Al Jenks rapped a home run for Moose in the team's first win. Don Sargent and Bob Lorenz aided the cause with three hits each.

New York's Mound Ace May Retire

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford, the winningest Yankee of them all and the pitching ace of a one-time baseball dynasty, was expected to call it a career today.

The New York Yankees called a press conference — they said it would concern Ford — prior to their doubleheader with Minnesota today. Published reports that Ford would announce his retirement were general and widespread.

★ ★ ★

Neither Ford nor the Yankees bothered to deny it. They simply declined comment.

Ford, a doughty little left-hander with a pixie sense of humor, has had two operations on his pitching shoulder, the last Aug. 25, 1966 after he had only a 2-5 season record.

He had a good spring this year — even though he went to training camp without a contract — but has only a 2-4 record. The club recently disclosed that he has developed a bone spur on his left elbow.

Ford, 38, was born and raised in New York. He came to the Yankees mid-way in the 1950 season, posted a 9-1 record, won a game in the Yankees 4-0 World Series sweep of Philadelphia and then spent two years in military service.

TOP RECORD

When he returned, he forged one of the greatest pitching records in history. His 236 career victories is the best in Yankee history and his career 236-106 won-loss record represents one of the best percentage marks ever achieved in the majors.

Ford, clever and concise, pitched on 11 Yankee pennant winners and holds a flock of World Series records. Included are most victories (10) starts (22) and strikeouts (94).

One of his major accomplishments, and one that pleased Ford the most, was smashing Babe Ruth's World Series pitching record for consecutive scoreless innings.

He broke the record with consecutive shutouts in the 1961 Series against Pittsburgh and added another in 1962.

Firm Offers Rust Warranty

No matter what model '67 car you buy, you'll be getting the best bargain on warranties ever offered. Indeed, General Motors has extended its warranties to include "everything except tires which are warranted by the tire manufacturers."

But is "everything" except tires on cars getting factory backing for longer periods? Not necessarily. Still unwarranted is the actual car body, except for defects in workmanship or paint.

Ziebart Process Corp., 821 Oakland Ave., Pontiac, is offering a five-year, or 50,000 miles, warranty on cars treated by its rustproofing process. The warranty will protect against "any rust through" over the prescribed period.

The process involves spraying a petroleum-based chemical coating "inside" door panels, headlamp fixtures and other areas susceptible to rusting.

The average "treatment" costs about $55. Under the 5/50 warranty, motorists whose cars have been Ziebarted are called in each two years or 20,000 miles for a free inspection and "an extra shot of Chemical if it's needed.

Ziebart Process Corp., 821 Oakland Ave., Pontiac, will be happy to discuss their Guaranteed Protection program, just call FE 4-0502.

Prep Front

By JERE CRAIG

The spring (we almost had) term is ending for all Oakland County area preps but from a sports standpoint the season will just be beginning for many.

The high school gear may be locked up, but baseball equipment, golf clubs, tennis racquets and even track shoes will be evident as the more dedicated athletes sharpen their skills in non-school sporting programs.

The state high school athletic association doesn't have jurisdiction over these programs but it does keep a close eye on them since they could affect the eligibility of the participants.

Of particular concern to the MHSAA are the awards that might be offered to the more successful youngsters. The May MHSAA bulletin contains a reminder that deserves repeating.

★ ★ ★

The section under awards declares a student is ineligible for interscholastic athletic competition if he accepts from any source anything for participation in athletics other than a trophy.

A trophy is defined as a medal, ribbon, badge, plaque, cup, banner, picture or ring. It can't exceed $3 in value (not including engraving).

A dinner, banquet, luncheon, trip or admission to an athletic event as part of the award presentation would not affect the eligibility.

In any case, a student should not, the MHSAA warns, accept anything until after checking with the proper school authorities or the state association.

NOT FORBIDDEN

The student is not forbidden from accepting other awards, but he does so at the expense of further high school eligibility.

Two years ago a teen-ager received a golf bag for participating successfully in a summer tournament, reported it to his athletic director when he returned to school in the fall and chose to keep the bag and forfeit his remaining scholastic eligibility.

★ ★ ★

Under amateur practices, the state rule says that no student shall be allowed to represent his high school who has received money for playing athletics, or has received money or other valuable consideration for officiating interscholastic athletics, or has signed a contract with a professional baseball team.

The "other valuable consideration" refers not only to merchandise, but memberships or privileges in clubs or organizations, and personal services.

The summer can be a period of rapid development and improvement for gifted athlete-students in well organized programs. It can also be a test of the youngster's sense of values and his loyalty to his school and teammates.

EXTRA POINTS

Bloomfield Hills' entry in the Wayne-Oakland League is now known as Andover High School. The district's new school is called Lahser (pronounced LAH-sir, not LASH-ur).

Lahser teams and athletes will be nicknamed the Knights and wear black and gold school colors. The coaches, athletic director and early sports scheduling are discussed on Page C-1 in today's Press sports pages.

★ ★ ★

Teams entered in the annual Walled Lake Invitational Tennis Tournament beginning tomorrow include the host school, Clarkston, North Farmington, Farmington, Pontiac Central, Waterford, Pontiac Northern, Kettering, BH Andover and Northville.

Albion College athletic director Elkin Isaac was the principle speaker at the Detroit Country Day Winter and Spring sports banquet last week.

At least two Yellow Jackets who will see more of him next fall are All-State basketballer Tim Baughman and football linebacker Chuck Stiles. Most valuable players honored at the banquet included Baughman, Jamie Sonda (wrestling), Mike Meyer and Jack Epps (both ice hockey).

Church Squad Keeps Rolling

St. Stephens Rallies for 5-2 Triumph

St. Stephens Sutheran came from behind to gain a 5-2 victory yesterday and remain undefeated in Waterford Township Church softball action.

Trailing Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes 2-1 going into the seventh, Allen Campbell doubled home the tying run and Wayne Hadler ended the game an inning later with a three-run homer.

The win gave St. Stephens a 3-0 record in the National League division while the loss left Waterford Our Lady with a 2-1 mark.

Other NL games found Mandon Lake Community downing Central Methodist, 21-5, and Crescent Lake RLDS beating Donelson Baptist, 11-0.

★ ★ ★

Dennis Collier clouted a two-run homer to pace the Mandon attack while Wayne Janks allowed only one hit and fanned 14 in leading the Crescent RLDS victory.

Sparky Jaworski belted a three-run homer and added a double and single to drive in five runs in Memorial Baptist's 21-11 American League win over Lakeland United Presbyterian.

Two Keep Hit Streaks Alive

Rose, Perez Sparking Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pete Rose-Tony Perez entry is giving Cincinnati's front-running Reds that wire-to-wire look in the National League derby.

Rose and Perez kept long hitting streaks alive Monday night as the Reds divided a doubleheader with St. Louis to remain 1½ lengths ahead of the second-place Cardinals.

Perez' ninth inning triple and a sacrifice fly by Dick Simpson gave Cincinnati a 7-6 victory in the nightcap after the Cards captured the 11-inning opener 2-1 on Bob Gibson's six-hitter.

Rose, playing his first season in the Reds' outfield, stroked five hits — including three doubles — in the twin bill, running his hit string to 25 games. Perez, who recently made the switch from first to third base, had an 11th inning single in the first game and two hits in the nightcap, extending his streak to 16 games.

★ ★ ★

Tom Haller, sent into the game as a pinch hitter in the fifth inning, wound up driving in five runs and leading San Francisco past Philadelphia 12-9 while Len Gabrielson hammered a three-run homer, powering Los Angeles to a 7-2 victory over the New York Mets in the only other games on the schedule.

SIDELINED

Rose lashed two doubles and a single in the nightcap at Cincinnati, helping the Reds salvage a split despite the efforts of Cards' center fielder Curt Flood, who drove in five runs with a homer and two singles before being sidelined by a pulled hamstring.

Flood's two-run homer in the seventh tied the score at 6-6, but the Reds won it in the ninth on Perez' leadoff triple, a pair of intentional walks and Simpson's run-scoring fly to center.

★ ★ ★

In the first game, Gibson struck out 12 Reds on the way to his sixth victory against four losses. Cincinnati clipped him for a run in the seventh on Tommy Helms' double and Leo Cardenas' single. The Cardinals broke the 1-1 deadlock on 11th inning doubles by Tim McCarver and Julian Javier.

At San Francisco, Haller drove in a run in the fifth with a force-play grounder, then drilled two-run singles in the sixth and seventh as the Giants opened up a 12-3 lead.

CLOSED GAP

The Phillies closed the gap with a six-run burst in the ninth, Tony Taylor and Don Lock driving in two apiece before reliever Lindy McDaniel got the last out.

Gabrielson rapped his first homer of the year with two aboard in the Dodgers' four-run fifth, helping rookie Bill Singer record his first major league victory. Singer needed relief help from Ron Perranoski in the eighth after giving up nine hits.

Ex-Dodger Tommy Davis boosted his batting average to .342 with a double and two singles, driving in both New York runs.

Florida Golf Ace Sees Bright Year

FORMBY, England (AP) — The quiet American looked over the Formby golf links today and said: "This might be my year."

Downing Gray, from Pensacola, Fla., in his unassuming way advanced into the second round of the British Amateur Golf Championships with a 5 and 4 victory over Mike Jordan of England.

"This is my kind of course," the 29-year-old Gray said. "You have to hit straight and fortunately that's what I'm doing."

Gray was one of 27 Americans left in the field for the second day's play—and many experts thought Gray and Bill Campbell were the Americans most likely to win.

A measurement of miles;
But to the vast eternity
Beyond Our tears and smiles.

I miss you more each moment, Love,
And oh, I long for You.
The while my life goes on and
There is nothing I can do.

Until the time when We, may
Look upon each other in the vast eternity.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF MY WIFE, MARY L. Oertel, who passed away June 8, 1966.
A stronger person never walked,
On God's Earth so well;
A better mother never made,
Left in His world to dwell.
A lovelier wife never had I,
The right to choose;
A sadder thing never happened,
Than to have you just to lose.
Oh, how I still love you,
And long to see your face;
And one day I will, knowing,
That in God's kingdom,
You have found your rightful place.
—Sadly missed by husband, George.

IN MEMORY OF OUR MOTHER and grandmother, Mary L. Oertel, who passed away June 8, 1966.
The many wonders of your love,
Vanished a year ago today,
But the afterglow is forever;
Here within our hearts to say
That with you here beside us,
United did we stand.
Now in the dark you see us,
Reaching for each others hand.
With mother gone, there is no home,
In which to shelter there
The many problems that we have,
No one to say, I care.
Others are taken, yes we know,
But she was ours and we loved her so.
Sadly missed by her children.

Plane Hits TV Tower; 4 Die

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP)—Four persons were killed Monday in a light plane that crashed into a fog-obscured television tower while they were on their way to the Indianapolis automobile race.

★ ★ ★

The victims, all from the Kansas City area, were Donald L. Hainworth, 40; his son, Jack, 15; Clarence Goodrich, 45; and Thomas L. Potter, 18. The elder Hainworth held a flight instructor's license.

★ ★ ★

The plane plowed into the 540-foot tower two miles north of Marshall. The tower is part of a cable television system serving the city.

Chester Griffitt, 52, who lives a half-mile from the scene, said the plane hit the tower about 450 feet from the ground.

★ ★ ★

"I heard the engine speed up as if the pilot saw the tower and tried to get away from it," Griffitt said.

Teen a Suicide

The body of Steven Tallon, 18, of 651 Third was found at 5:55 p.m. yesterday in the rear seat of the family car which was parked in the garage with the doors closed.

The death was ruled a suicide by the coroner.

LONDON — City dogs suffer more cancer of the tonsils than their country cousins.

★ ★ ★

This cancer is fairly common among dogs in large cities, but only recently have rural dogs been tested for it.

Air pollution seems to be the answer.

6 Die, 131 Hurt in Train Wreck

MANILA (UPI) — A train wreck today killed six persons and injured 131, police and railroad officials said.

★ ★ ★

Rail officials said the 10-car passenger train jumped the tracks near the end of a run from Manila to the southern provinces. It left the capital with 800 aboard, but most had stepped off at stations before the wreck.

They said most of the dead appeared to be children. Police said many of the injured were freed from twisted cars.

★ ★ ★

Exact cause of the crash was not immediately known, officials said.

Youth Is Injured

David R. Carl, 18, of 143 Croswell, Romeo, was in fair condition in Almont Community Hospital today after his car hit a tree at 32 Mile and Van Dyke early this morning.

State Police said the youth's car apparently went out of control about 1:30 a.m.

Adjacent to Property County Wants

Land Parcel Rezoned

The Waterford Township Board last night approved a request to rezone property on Scott Lake Road opposite Wanamaker from single family residential to multiple dwelling for apartments.

All six board members attending last night's meeting favored the proposal, which had been tabled one week.

The property is adjacent to land the county proposes to purchase for future expansion of the service center.

The County Board of Supervisors authorized the purchase of the 111 acres last week, but the Township Board voted to take action to block the purchase last night.

In other business, the board tabled action on a request to reconsider a rejected rezoning proposal.

Action was deferred for a legal opinion on whether zoning cases can be reconsidered.

The applicant wants to rezone, from single family residential to local business and multiple dwelling, property at Walton Boulevard and Clintonville Road for retail shops and apartments.

A spokesman from Lake Angelus Golfview Estates Subdivision said residents there are almost unanimously against the proposed rezoning.

★ ★ ★

The proposed purchase of a billing machine for the treasurer's office was tabled until township attorneys study a State House bill which would permit charter townships to use surplus funds not appropriated in the budget.

LACKS SIGNATURE

The bill reportedly has been passed by the Senate and House and lacks only Gov. Romney's signature to become law.

"Apparently someone else must have had the same problem in order for it to go to the Legislature for correction," said Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson.

Also last night, the board approved the transfer of a 1966 Class C liquor license from James and Virginia E. Liddon to Margaret M. Borys and Lloyd A. Jones at the 99 Club, 86 S. Telegraph, and okayed a request by Anthony Aspiranti for a lot split in Lake Acres Subdivision.

★ ★ ★

The board also approved a proclamation specifying June as recreation and park month in the township.

Speaking of Humorists, Earl Points Modestly to Himself

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It's very embarrassing for a great, powerful, influential, leonine, herculean writer like I am, to be asked, "What did you ever say that was funny? Why don't I ever see you quoted in the humor magazines?"

All I know is that one day I said that Zsa Zsa Gabor is irresistible to men—"if they resist her, she breaks their arms."

WILSON

That's not too bad, is it? I wouldn't want to claim, however, that this is my chief contribution to the world's hilarity. The one that keeps coming back to me has to do with my Beautiful Wife saying she wanted to go back to Kansas City for a little class reunion.

"I'll dig up some of my classmates," she whinnied.

"You'll probably have to," I rejoined.

★ ★ ★

Several weeks later, when we were again speaking, we went to my son's graduation from Bucknell where he entertained, as it is called, at a recital in German, French, Italian and Spanish.

His father was overheard to snort:

"Four years, and $5,000, and my son sings in four languages I can't understand!"

But then ours has always been a close family. When I was doing a book and my wife was crazy to have me write a dedication to her, I did:

"To the wonderful little woman who cooks my meals, darns my socks and rears my son—my Mother-In-Law."

★ ★ ★

That didn't go down too well, so on the next book, which was about traveling around the world, I came right out with a lot of heart and proclaimed: "This is dedicated to Rosemary, without whose constant companionship on these travels, I'd have met a lot more girls."

But I have to admit that the wife, is the witty one of the family. We were in Moscow at a huge cocktail reception and soon everybody had arms around everybody and glasses in hand. My wife, after a third or fourth helping from the bar, put her arms around a Russian lady and announced:

Any country that invented vodka can't be all bad!"

★ ★ ★

When I was about to cover or uncover a nudist convention near Atlantic City and was advised I would have to go naked like everybody else, I thought I'd better ask my wife's consent to go traipsing around like that.

I figured she'd be pretty jealous.

"Thank God," she said, "you're going on one trip I won't have to pack a bag for you."

When I strolled around the nudist camp (in that condition) I was very hard put to know what to do with my hands. I didn't know whether to carry 'em fore or aft.

★ ★ ★

A couple of other thoughts and then I'll let you go:

"A historical novel is one that has a lovely girl on the jacket but no jacket on the lovely girl."

"Once upon a time a girl made a home for a man. Now she makes a man for a home."

Board Reappoints Three to Planning Commission

Three members of the nine-man Waterford Township Planning Commission were reappointed to three-year terms last night by the Township Board following a recommendation by Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson.

Reappointed were Commissioners Paul VanRoekel and James Clarkson and Vice chairman William A. Shunck.

In other appointments made by the Township Board last night, Trustee Herbert C. Cooley was named to the community schools and recreation advisory board and Treasurer L. Catherine Wolters was named to the library advisory board.

Mrs. Wolters will fill a vacancy created by Trustee E. Frank Richardson's resignation from the library advisory board last night. Richardson also resigned from the plumbing board.

In other business, the board took no action on a request by White Lake Township for use of Waterford Township library services.

The township, through its library advisory board, will negotiate with White Lake Township officials for a "more equitable" program than the one presented.

Bids were opened last night for fencing for the Drayton ball park. Five firms submitted proposals. Apparent low bidder for the fencing, without installation, was Montgomery Ward and Co. with a proposal of $532.

Some 500 feet of six-foot-high chain link fencing is to be purchased.

★ ★ ★

All bids were referred to Clerk Arthur J. Salley for report and recommendations at next Monday night's meeting.

Also last night, the board approved the low bid for a public employes honesty blanket position bond. Wilkinson Insurance Agency of Pontiac had outbid five other companies last week with a $291 premium extending over a three-year period.

★ ★ ★

It was announced last night that tickets for residents to use the West Kennett land-fill in Pontiac will be distributed at the three township fire halls each day. The tickets also are available in the clerk's office at the Township Hall on weekdays.

Speck Again Faces Delay

CHICAGO (UPI) — Convicted mass murderer Richard Speck is waiting. His sentencing on a conviction of killing eight nurses — possibly to death in the electric chair — was postponed again yesterday.

Public Defender Gerald W. Getty has until tomorrow to submit a full report on tests he proposes be given the lanky vagabond on the chance Speck suffers from uncontrollable epilepsy-triggered rages.

Criminal Court judge Herbert C. Paschen said he would submit the plan which, by his demand, covers the tests, doctors supervising them, where performed and security arrangements, to psychiatrists and psychologists who examined Speck last September before he was tried and convicted.

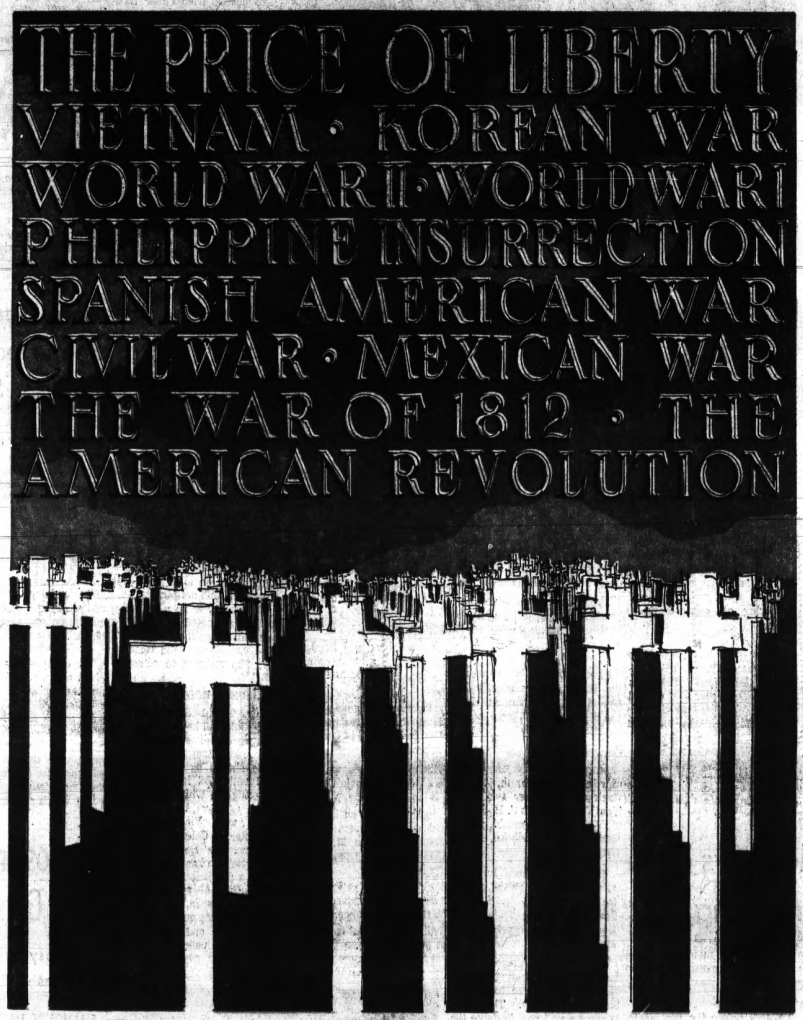
Israel Vows to Reopen Aqaba Gulf to All Ships



Egypt Paper Claims Tanker Turned Away

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel said today it would "undergo every sacrifice" to reopen the Gulf of Aqaba to all ships.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban made the Israeli pledge at a news conference a few hours after the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported that a Liberian-American tanker was barred from the gulf early yesterday by a warning shot from an Egyptian patrol boat. But the U. S. State Department said it knew of no such ship in the area.

Eban said Israel will "have nothing to do with any suggestion or arrangement which provides that all ships can go through and Israeli ships cannot."

Free transit of the gulf—the route for Israel's oil supply—is a "vital national interest which will under no circumstances be surrendered or abandoned . . . and on which our nation stakes all it has and will undergo every sacrifice," Eban declared.

Referring to his talks last week with officials in Washington, London and Paris, Eban said it had "become clear that other powers are prepared to make common cause with us for the restoration of the situation."

The foreign minister also cited the Egyptian troop buildup in the Sinai Desert, on Israel's southwest border, and said Israel had responded with the buildup of its own forces which is "at least corresponding to the Egyptian measures."

In Cairo, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser claimed Soviet support for his blockade of the gulf, the sole outlet for the Israeli port of Elath and the main route for Israel's oil imports.

In Jerusalem, Premier Levi Eshkol told Israel's parliament he expects the big Western powers to make a combined effort to keep the gulf open for international shipping without discrimination.

★ ★ ★

The United States and Britain urged the U.N. Security Council to ask all sides in the mounting dispute to shun belligerence and stressed their belief that the Egyptian blockade was a belligerent act.

Al Ahram did not identify the tanker which it said was of American ownership and Liberian registry. It said it was intercepted by an Egyptian torpedo boat patrol as it approached from the Red Sea.

School Tax Increase for City Is Largest in at Least 6 Years

Pontiac property owners will pay a school tax increase of $1.56 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1967-68, Vernon L. Schiller, school business manager, reported yesterday.

The increase is the largest in at least six years, according to figures released by Schiller.

A tax rate of $28.16 per $1,000 of assessed valuation is now final, Schiller said, since the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board has made a final ruling on the 1967 taxing authority.

Last year's tax rate was $26.60, an increase of $1.28 over the previous year.

★ ★ ★

What the new tax rate means is that a taxpayer whose property has an assessed valuation of $4,000 will pay $112.64 in school taxes, Schiller explained. One year ago, he paid $106.39.

DEBT RETIREMENT

Accounting for the rate increase is a jump in the levy for debt retirement because of the recent passage by the board of education to issue bonds totaling $3.8 million.

Some projects to be financed with the funds from the bonds are two units of the Human Resources Center, new elementary school near Lincoln Junior High and one to replace Twain and Emerson schools.

The millage for the forthcoming fiscal year will be 22.35 mills for Pontiac and 20.95 outside of the city compared, respectively, to 21.11 and 19.71 last year.

★ ★ ★

Since 1961, the previous largest tax increase was in 1963-64 when the rate jumped $1.31 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

BUILDING PROJECTS

Increases in the past two years have been due to a higher state equalization factor and increased building programs.

Property in the city accounts for 90.4 per cent of the school district's assessed valuation. The 1967 state equalized valuation of the school district is $457,204,499.

Rates for property in the area outside the City of Pontiac will vary according to the state equalization factors for the various units.

Memorial Day: Pride and Sorrow

Unlike other national holidays, Memorial Day is a celebration marked by mixed emotions. It is patriotism cloaked in the robes of religious piety; pride which gains its strength from the sadness of ultimate sacrifice.

Today we honor our war dead.

Five weeks from this day, Americans will celebrate their freedom and independence. Today they pause to reflect on the high cost in human life to preserve that most cherished gift of liberty.

As we pause today to pay tribute to those who died for the cause of freedom, that honor roll is steadily growing in Vietnam, where American servicemen are fighting and dying to prevent free people from falling under the yoke of dictatorship.

Below are the names of those fighting men from the Pontiac area who have died from Jan. 1, 1961 to date in the Vietnam conflict, according to the Associated Press and the Directorate for Statistical Services Office of the U.S. Department of Defense.

To these men we pay humble tribute.

Waterford Acts to Block County

The Waterford Township Board last night took steps to block Oakland County's proposed purchase of 111 acres in the township.

The board unanimously supported Trustee E. Frank Richardson's motion, authorizing township attorneys to take immediate action to enjoin the county from buying the property.

Located northwest of Children's Village, the six land parcels involved in the purchase extend west to Scott Lake Road, north to Alliance and are bounded on the east by Grand Trunk Railroad right of way.

The County Board of Supervisors authorized an expenditure of $250,000 for purchase of the land for future expansion of the county service center last Thursday.

★ ★ ★

INDUSTRIAL TAX BASE

"I think this tore the heart out of any potential industrial tax base we had," asserted Richardson.

"I think this is not in the best interest of Oakland County residents and certainly not in the best interest of Waterford Township residents," he said.

★ ★ ★

"I think this is a violation of integrity," Richardson added. "I think we should take some action to protect ourselves."

TNT-Filled Boxcar Burned Out, With Explosion Threat Passed

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP) — A burned-out boxcar that contained 220,000 pounds of TNT destined for an ammunition plant straddled the Atlantic Coast Line's railroad tracks south of Spartanburg today but the threat of an explosion had passed.

The boxcar derailed and caught fire yesterday morning near Switzer, 18 miles south of Spartanburg.

Day Will Continue Near Perfect

The weatherman must like parades and Michigan people.

The sun came climbing over the horizon in downtown Pontiac with not a cloud in the sky. And the weatherman says the day will continue near perfect with temperatures in the low 70s throughout the state.

Tonight will be fair and cool, the low in the mid-40s.

Thursday's prediction is sunny with little change in temperature, the high 66 to 72.

★ ★ ★

Northeasterly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour will continue throughout the day and evening.

The low prior to 7 a.m. was 46. The mercury registered 66 at 10:30 this morning.

Nigeria's Eastern Section Has Seceded, BBC Reports

LONDON (UPI) — The British Broadcasting Corp. today reported eastern Nigeria has seceded and declared itself the "Republic of Biafra."

The BBC quoted the eastern region's military ruler, Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, as announcing the secession on a regional broadcast.

Sylvan Lake—Where the Livin' Is Easy

By LOIS MANDIBERG

Casual, year-round lake living and a strong sense of community pride are the most distinguishing factors of Sylvan Lake, a restful community southwest of Pontiac.

This city of 2,150 persons, which is registered as 85 per cent residential on the tax rolls, is nestled against one edge of Sylvan Lake and bounded on the other side by commercial strips on Orchard Lake Road and Telegraph.

Women in slacks can be seen wheeling through the village with their children seated in the bicycle baskets during the day. There are few moving cars to block the housewives' way on the blacktopped roads.

The pace picks up about 3:30 as the children flood out of school buses. Most of the students use the Pontiac school system except those living in a five-block strip on the far side of Orchard Lake Road. Those youngsters use the West Bloomfield School facilities.

BACK IN WATER

During the summer, the boats and docks, which are currently pulled up on people's lawns, are put back in the water.

The children spend most of the summer days in the lake, often an extension of their own front lawn.

There are two public beaches, Ferndale Park and the Community Center, which can be used only by Sylvan Lake residents.

★ ★ ★

A swim instruction program is open to persons wishing to learn how to swim or to learn their Red Cross cards.

CHARTER VOTE

Sylvan Lake voted for a city charter in February 1947. Since then a mayor and five councilmen have been working to maintain the city's slogan claiming their village as "the prettiest little city in the state of Michigan."

The city elects the councilmen who select a mayor from their ranks. Sylvan Lake Mayor John Hanson presides over the council this year.

The council sets policy which is then administered by a city manager.

★ ★ ★

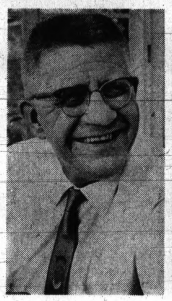
Residents pay $13.46 per $1,000 of assessed valuation as equalized, he explained.

ABOUT 50 PCT.

"The total city taxes pay for about 50 per cent of the city government. The second largest source of income comes from state shared revenues," he said.

Sylvan Lake has an assessed value of $2,866,755 and an equalized value of $6,765,542.

Most of the area homes cost from $10,000 to $40,000. "We have no slums," boasted City Manager Leroy Trafton.



LEROY TRAFTON
CITY MANAGER

JOHN M. HANSON
MAYOR

He explained some of the services instituted to meet the city's "prettiest" slogan.

SEWER SYSTEM

The city's sanitary sewer system empties into the Pontiac sewer system. Every home is connected to the system, according to Trafton.

The city manager also said that Sylvan Lake has its own independent water systems fed by two wells which have a capacity far in excess of demand.

The police department has a man on duty who is available through police radio at all times.

★ ★

The city has a contract for fire protection with the West Bloomfield Fire Department.

FULL-TIME EMPLOYES

In addition to the city manager, the city has 10 full-time employes, including a clerk-treasurer, chief of police and three policemen, an administrative clerk and a department of public works superintendent and two assistants.

Sylvan Lake citizens are particularly proud of their refuse disposal system, according to Trafton.

"All paper refuse stays in the garages where a man picks up the cans once a week. Once a month the metal garbage is picked up in front of the house," he explained.

★ ★ ★

Local residents claim Sylvan Lake living is special.

'RELAXED MANNER'

One woman explained: "We live in such a relaxed manner. We can wear casual clothes all day and not have to worry about dressing up every time we leave the house.

"I also love to watch the continually changing view on the lake out of my window," she added.

Another long-time resident said: "We moved out here for summers when this place was in the sticks 20 years ago. We used a rusty outside pump for water. We moved out for good several years ago and today wouldn't consider leaving."

★ ★ ★

One man, who commutes to Detroit, stated: "I don't mind the drive. I'll retire in a few years. I love living here because its' so relaxing. And our streets are the first one's cleared after the big snows during the winter."

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF MY WIFE, MARY L. Oertel, who passed away June 8, 1966.
A stronger person never walked,
On God's Earth so well;
A better mother never made,
Left in His world to dwell.
A lovelier wife never had I,
The right to choose;
A sadder thing never happened,
Than to have you just to lose.
Oh, how I still love you,
And long to see your face;
And one day I will, knowing,
That in God's kingdom,
You have found your rightful place.
—Sadly missed by husband, George.

IN MEMORY OF OUR MOTHER and grandmother, Mary L. Oertel, who passed away June 8, 1966.
The many wonders of your love,
Vanished a year ago today,
But the afterglow is forever;
Here within our hearts to say
That with you here beside us,
United did we stand.
Now in the dark you see us,
Reaching for each others hand.
With mother gone, there is no home,
in which to shelter there
The many problems that we have,
No one to say, I care.
Others are taken, yes we know,
But she was ours and we loved her so.
Sadly missed by her children.
