DEATH CAR WRECKAGE—This was what remained of the station wagon in which a Drayton Plains man met death early this morning. Thomas L. Walsh, 29, failed to stop at a Drayton Plains railroad crossing, police said. A freight train struck his auto, smashing it to a pile of rubble and killing Walsh instantly.

Drayton Plains Man Year's Eighth Road Fatality

Area Father Killed as Train Rams Car

A 29-year-old Drayton Plains father of two was killed at 6:45 this morning when his auto was struck by a southbound freight train at a Hatchery road crossing near Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

Thomas L. Walsh of 4141 Woodmont St. was pronounced dead at the scene by Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. M. G. Prosser.

His late model station wagon was turned into a mass of twisted steel. He was thrown 45 feet from the point of impact, Waterford Township Police said.

The engineer of the Grand Trunk Western Railway freight train, Curtice A. Lawrence of Detroit, said signal lights and bells at the crossing were operating and that he sounded his horn before striking the car.

He told police that Walsh had approached the train, driving parallel to the tracks along Saginaw trail. Walsh then turned right onto Hatchery and crossed the tracks.

The 55-car freight train, pulled by two diesel engines, struck Walsh's auto in the left rear, ripping out the left side and pulling it to a rail end on a side track.

Pioneer Streaks Close to Moon

WASHINGTON (P)—Pioneer IV streaked close to the level of the moon today in America's most successful probe into the mysteries of the farther reaches of space. The tracking station at Goldstone Dry Lake in the Mojave Desert re-established radio contact at 7:33 a.m. EST and reported the gold-plated cone 192,000 miles out, with its speed down to 4,775 miles an hour.

The 13.4-pound capsule of scientific instruments reached an altitude of 207,908 miles above the earth at 11 a.m. EST, and was clipping along at 4,689 miles an hour. At that hour it had completed about five-sixths of its flight toward a late-afternoon rendezvous with the moon.

The probe was still on its near-miss course past the moon toward a predicted orbit around the sun where Soviet Union claims it already has a satellite.

Revised calculations indicated the space traveler would make its closest approach to the moon at 8:24 p.m., or about 37,000 miles away.

Scientists gave themselves a plus-or-minus allowance of 2,000 miles on the distance computation. At that time the Pioneer should be 239,000 miles from earth. That is more than the distance to the moon itself because of the slight error in flight angle which will carry the Pioneer farther to one side of the moon than the scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had hoped. They had aimed at something inside of 10,000 miles.

The Goldstone station, which had been out of touch with the Pioneer for more than 15 hours at the time of the 7:33 contact, expected to lose touch again around 4 p.m. as the trajectory and the earth's rotation carried the probe below the horizon.

Tuesday's final tracking report fixed the tiny space probe's position at 118,852 miles. This was more than half the 239,000-mile distance to the moon and by far America's deepest penetration into space.

In its dizzying ascent into the unknown, Pioneer IV gradually slowed down. But this is customary. Approximately 17 hours after it was blasted aloft from Cape Canaveral, Fla., shortly after midnight Monday, Pioneer IV had dropped from a launching speed of 24,890 miles an hour to 5,398 miles an hour.

RAISE FIGURES—Scientists had reckoned earlier that the 13-pound cone would pass the moon at 2 p.m. today, coming within 35,000 miles of it. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Hospital Agrees to Pay Disputed Repair Expense

City to Receive Refunds After Pontiac General Builds Cash Reserve

Pontiac General Hospital has agreed to pay the cost of extra repairs blocking the expansion program. The precedent-breaking concession was announced to the City Commission last night.

The hospital Board of Trustees voted to cover the extra costs as depreciation not as new construction, thus avoiding a direct reversal of its traditional policy of not sharing in construction costs, said Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

This technicality had been suggested by the city a week ago when commissioners agreed they would not advance funds for the repairs unless the hospital promised to reimburse the city later out of hospital revenues.

Under the new agreement, between city and hospital, the city will advance necessary funds for repairs out of 1961 capital improvement funds.

The repairs—involving replacement of utilities in the hospital's east wing—probably will cost $350,000-400,000, it is estimated. How much of this will come out of public funds is dependent on whether the Detroit Area Hospital Council provides a $300,000 construction grant, now under consideration.

Other features of the agreement: 1. The hospital will begin paying back whatever the city advances "as soon as operating conditions permit."

2. The payments will be spread over a long span of years.

3. They won't start until the hospital has built up sufficient cash reserves to cover one month's operating expenses—about $400,000. This comfortable financial position may not be reached until months or several years later. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

LOU COSTELLO

Heart Attack Claims Jolly Lou Costello

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jolly little Lou Costello is dead.

The slap-happy member of the famed Abbott and Costello comedy team died yesterday following a second heart attack, only three days before his 53rd birthday.

Hospitalized last Wednesday by a heart attack, Costello was given last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

He was pronounced out of danger later in the week, but a blood clot snuffed out his life yesterday a few minutes after his wife Anne left his bedside to prepare dinner for the family.

Costello's unexpected death shocked Hollywood. His former partner, Bud Abbott, was in a state of collapse.

On hearing the news Abbott sobbed, "What can I say? What can I say? It's the worst thing that ever happened. Poor little Lou. He's dead. He's dead."

Straightman Abbott said he was watching a rerun of an old Abbott and Costello comedy routine on his TV set. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

OK 2 Proposals by Margins of Under 400 Votes

Special Millage Hike Winner With Biggest Construction Program

By narrow margins, voters of Waterford Township School District yesterday approved the biggest construction bond issue in the district's history and okayed special millage for operational costs.

Preserving their 10-year record of never turning down a school financing proposal, property owners cast 1,552 ballots in favor of a mammoth $5,000,000 bond issue and 1,200 against it.

All voters were eligible to ballot on a special millage increase of five mills for five years, and this passed by an even slimmer margin of 1,467 votes to 1,314. The millage is to cover expenses and salaries, not to retire the new bonds.

To be financed by the bond issue are a new high school, at least five new elementary schools and additions to several existing school buildings.

Also included in the huge school building program will be additions to the Maintenance and Board of Education buildings, as well as the purchase of additional sites for future schools.

Approval of the two propositions climaxed months of research, study and public explanation by Board of Education members and Supt. William Shuck.

Expressing his gratitude for the residents' support, Shuck said: "With so many Michigan school districts saying 'no' at the polls, and with our State Legislature still functioning in an atmosphere of indecision, it is gratifying and reassuring to know the people in the Waterford Township School District. Broadened Tax on Sales Asked

State Senate Support Grows; Fence Over Borrowing Issue

LANSING (P)—Support was gathering in the Senate today for a new $8 million dollar proposal to broaden the base of the sales tax. It would not change the existing three per cent rate.

Meanwhile, Republicans and Democrats in the House struck an Alphonse and Gaston pose in continued fencing over some sort of borrowing proposal to offer voters April 6. Chances of agreement neared the vanishing point.

Sen. Perry W. Greene (R-Grand Rapids), prime mover of the sales tax base broadening plan, said he could get a dozen or more signers for his bill, including some Democrats, if it were ready to go now.

After a conference with revenue department officials yesterday, he said it will take another week or so to get it ready.

Mainly, it will call for lifting present exemptions on machinery, equipment and supplies used in industrial processing and agricultural production.

Macmillan Suggests Pullback in Europe

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

LONDON—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called on the West today to study the possibility of a partial pullback from Central Europe to prevent war.

Macmillan told the House of Commons he and Soviet leaders had a "useful and constructive discussion" on the subject of limiting nuclear and conventional forces in an area of Central Europe.

"I think it is one of the matters which must be further studied together with all the countries concerned," he said.

This obviously would include the United States, which has the largest number of troops stationed in Western Europe.

The Prime Minister was loudly cheered when he entered Commons this afternoon to make a report on his Russian journey. Both Conservative and Laborite politicians agreed the visit was worthwhile and they showed it in their applause.

The British leader is assuming the role of mediator between East and West in an effort to get diplomatic negotiations under way immediately to avoid a military showdown over Berlin.

He was understood ready to tell President Eisenhower, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle that the visit was worthwhile and they showed it in their applause.

Mooney stood mute to the charge when arraigned Dec. 19 before Judge Hodge. His non-jury trial was postponed three times and finally got under way last Friday.

He now faces trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on a gross indecency charge plus appeals on lower court convictions on charges of drunk driving and driving with a revoked license.

Hodge handed down his decision of not guilty yesterday afternoon saying, "My ruling was based primarily on the credibility of the prosecution witnesses."

"I may have been wrong, or may have been right, but legally I found it more than I could do to believe the story of the three youths. It is quality, not quantity that counts."

The youths testifying for the prosecution were James Palmieri, 17, of 7861 Locklin St., West Bloomfield Township; Frank Secan, 16, of 2660 Overridge St.; and Captain Frank Wilson, 16, of 1043 Boston St., both of Waterford Township.

The three testified that they "got together $2.22" and went to Mooney's home at 1651 Grimshaw St., Commerce Township and asked him to buy them two six packs of beer.

Wilson said he went to a store with Mooney while the others stayed at Mooney's place.

A fourth teenager with the group was killed later that night (Dec. 13) when the youths were involved in an auto accident.

Mooney said the youths were at his home that night but denied buying beer for them.

Fear Bolivian Boy's Funeral May Stir Up New Violence

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Some 700 Americans in La Paz gathered outside Bolivia's capital today in fear that the funeral for a victim of Bolivia's anti-U.S. riots might touch off further violence.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White said in Washington that Americans in the capital, including the U.S. Embassy staff, had been moved to the suburbs for better protection by the Bolivian army.

Reinforced police patrolled the tense mountain capital to avert any repetition of Monday's angry outbreak over an article in Time magazine, when rioters stoned the U.S. Embassy and burned an American flag.

A 15-year-old boy killed in the first eruption was to be buried today.

The riots claimed a second victim Tuesday night. Police fired to break up a group of demonstrators trying to rush the apparently deserted U.S. Embassy building. A Bolivian dentist standing nearby was killed by a stray bullet. The government said Victor Villegas, a member of the Trotskyite Workers Revolutionary party, led the mob and ordered his arrest.

White denied reports in Washington that the U.S. government had dispatched chartered planes to Bolivia to evacuate Americans. But he said that arrangements obviously had been made for evacuation "if and when it seems necessary."

No Americans have been reported injured. Nor have there been any reports of attack on American property other than the embassy and the U.S. Information Service building.

ORDERLY DEMONSTRATION—Thousands demonstrated in orderly fashion Tuesday against the article. All government and private offices were closed. Top officials, military leaders, veterans and businessmen, marched in a civic parade to the Presidential Palace. Police were out in force.

Speaking from the palace balcony, President Hernan Siles said Bolivia had come close to an explosion, but that cool heads had prevailed.

Several U.S. congressmen expressed belief in Washington that the Bolivian riots were an emotional explosion by a few extremists who believed a false report. But Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) told reporters he favors sending U.S. troops to La Paz and stopping foreign aid to Bolivia if the violence continues.

Ah, Sweet Spring

A DOG'S FANCY—This is a weather picture. It is spring in San Francisco. Warm, balmy weather prevails. Heart Attack Claims Jolly Lou Costello

TV set when he heard the news. "I was laughing my head off at our old 'Who's on first' bit," Abbott wept. "Then all of a sudden I got the call about poor little Lou dying."

"My God, I just can't believe he's gone."

Costello is survived by his wife, three daughters, Patricia, 22; Carol, 20, and Christine, 11; and a brother Pat, all of Los Angeles.

His only son, 1-year-old Lou Jr., drowned in 1943 when he toppled into the family swimming pool.

Rosary will be said Friday evening at St. Francis of Assisi followed by Requiem Mass Saturday morning at St. Francis de Sales at nearby Studio City. Entombment will be at Calvary Cemetery in Los Angeles.

Since the Abbott and Costello team broke up two years ago, the cracked-voiced "Mr. Five by Five" appeared on TV shows and in an unreleased movie (Lou Costello and His 30-foot Bride) as a "single."

During the past five years he and Abbott indulged in frequent spats and feuds.

"But they loved one another like brothers," their manager, said. "Bud was a constant visitor at the hospital and they were talking about the future together."

Their last movie together was "Dance With Me Henry," made in 1936.

The zany, laugh-provoking partnership of the fat little clown and the sour-pussed straightman traces back to a Brooklyn burlesque theater in 1930, where both performers appeared on the same bill.

Neither was successful on his own, but by joining forces they became one of the most famed comedy teams of their era.

They perfected their act for eight years in second rate burlesque houses and in traveling "tab" shows.

In 1933 Abbott and Costello achieved stardom on Kate Smith's radio show, and finally won a program of their own in 1934.

Hollywood beckoned and the boys made their picture debut in "Caribbean Holiday."

Then, during the war years of the early '40s, Abbott and Costello made a series of pictures that kept the country laughing and the box office spinning.

Their hilarious rips in "Back to Back" established them as the top comedy team in show business.

They starred in more than 40 pictures, including "Keep 'em Flying," "In the Navy," "Hold That Ghost," "Rio Rita," "Who Done It?" and "The Noose Hangs High."

For 15 years Abbott and Costello were the mainstays of Universal International Studios.

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration attributed the revisions to updating of preliminary calculations, not to any malfunction in the probe itself.

The key link in the tracking process is a large radio telescope on Southern California's Mojave Desert at Goldstone Dry Lake.

There still was no estimate from NASA on just what type of orbit it expects Pioneer IV to assume around the sun, which is nearly 93 million miles from earth.

However, some fairly definite picture is expected before the probe's tiny battery-operated transmitter goes dead, probably some time late Saturday.

Although Pioneer IV appeared to be a spectacular success, it still fell short of the trail-blazing accomplishments the Soviets claim for their Mecha probe fired last Jan. 2.

'We'll Sign Own Pact'

Nikita Reports Germany Plan

Says West Refuses His Ideas, Proposes Unreasonable Setup

LEIPZIG, East Germany (U.S.)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the Soviet Union will sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany if the West fails to come to terms on an all-German settlement.

Khrushchev also accused the West of refusing his proposals on Germany without proposing any alternatives "that a normal human intelligence can agree to."

Khrushchev had just arrived for consultation with his East German Communist allies and a visit to Leipzig's trade fair.

Speaking before a big crowd in a rain, he insisted all the Soviet Union wants is peace.

"However much these people rage," he said of Western leaders, "nothing will come of it."

A crowd which the East German Communist radio estimated at "tens of thousands" heard the brief speech without marked enthusiasm. They did cheer and applaud, though, when he spoke of peace.

"In the name of the Soviet Union," he said, "I declare that those people could be reasonable who are responsible for signing a peace treaty. The United States, England, France and all nations want peace. Now the governments should listen to the voice of their people, and the peoples say we want peace, peace, peace."

Khrushchev declared that "only politics can seek solutions by war."

He made that statement at an airport near East Berlin after arriving from Moscow, where he and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan wound up talks on cold war issues Tuesday.

Khrushchev responded to a welcome from East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl and Communist party leader Walter Ulbricht. Officially he is here to visit the trade fair in Leipzig, 110 miles from Berlin.

Khrushchev told the welcoming party that a peace treaty with Germany is now "most necessary." His words were relayed by the official East German ADN news agency.

He said his talks with Macmillan were fruitful. Naturally the viewpoints were not the same but in any case each now knew better the standpoint of the other, he said.

He called for peaceful competition in which "welfare and peace, not weapons, would be victorious."

Khrushchev said that his visit to Leipzig would also give him a chance to talk with "representatives of Western countries." It was assumed he referred to businessmen in town for the fair.

There has been speculation that Khrushchev will sign a separate peace treaty with his German satellite if the West fails to accept his conditions for a German settlement.

Khrushchev's program has not been announced, but he was expected to remain over the weekend, with plenty of time for talks with top East German officials. Moscow sources indicated he would go on to East Berlin.

Cool Weather Dominating the Midwest

By The Associated Press

Windy and cool weather prevailed across most of the Midwest and in eastern sections of the country today.

Gusty winds fanned cold air from Canada into the northern Midwest, dropping temperatures to near zero in some northern border areas. The cool air spread eastward and some of it dipped into the South.

Temperatures in the coldest region, from North Dakota through northern Minnesota and Wisconsin into Upper Michigan, were mostly from 10 to 20 degrees above zero.

South and east of the Great Lakes region, readings were about the same, mostly in the 30s from the eastern Great Lakes through New England and southward into northern parts of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. However, they were in the 40s in coastal areas from Pennsylvania southward, with the 50s prevailing in Florida.

Scattered showers and snow flurries fell in the Great Lakes region and eastward through New England and southward along coastal areas to Georgia.

Summer-like weather was reported in western sections Tuesday with 90-degree readings in the Southwest desert. The mercury climbed to 86 in Oakland, Calif., and to 77 in San Francisco.

TICKET ANYONE? — David S. Neal and Roland A. Reservations are limited to 150 for the special event which will feature a film-lecture about the Shrine Club's aid to crippled children throughout the state.

Records 2,385 Deeds of County Property

During the month of February the Register of Deeds branch of the Oakland County Clerk's office recorded 2,385 property deeds and six new land patents, according to Daniel T. Murphy Jr., clerk-registrar.

Murphy said in a monthly statement that total business for the month was $16,817.95 for 10,997 papers handled. This amounts to an increase of $1,585.20 for the same month in 1938 when 10,979 papers brought in $15,032.75 in receipts.

February also saw 1,088 regular mortgages ($3,854.25) and 5,064 chattel mortgages ($5,064) handled in the local office. Other business included 423 photos ($578.95); seven bills of sale ($7); 2,030 miscellaneous matters ($3,256.50).

The topic of the motion picture and speech is "Temple of Mercy." The program will outline the Shrine Club's work here and throughout the country in contributing to the cure and care of crippled and deformed children.

David Neal of 245 Voorhees Rd. event chairman, said reservations will be limited to 150. They may be obtained by contacting him or R. J. Stanton, club secretary, before March 9.

Asks Local Leaders to Back Bond Drive

A five-day intensified campaign of "salesmanship and encouragement" was asked of a group of Pontiac civic, business, labor and educational leaders to increase the number of employees buying U.S. Savings Bonds through payroll deductions.

The plea was made yesterday noon by Delmar V. Cote, state director of the Savings Bonds Division of the U. S. Treasury Dept.

Paraphrasing what a General Motors official recently said about a similar bond drive to Flint, Cote said:

"It requires not only leaflets and a display of posters, but also requires a little bit of salesmanship and encouragement."

Robert S. Nelson, chairman, said the local "Share-in-America" campaign will be kicked off Monday and will run through March 13.

Campaigners hope to add 2,500 new employees in Pontiac to the list of workers purchasing bonds by weekly payroll deductions.

Yesterday's meeting attracted 26 to the Waldron Hotel where Nelson, Cote and Bill McDonald, assistant national director of the Treasury Department's bond division, prepped employers about the "why" of the campaign.

Nelson, vice president of the Universal Oil Seal Co. in Pontiac, gave a run-down of events in Washington a week ago when he and other 1939 campaign chairmen from 88 large cities listened to President Eisenhower and many other top officials speak about the importance of buying bonds.

A 1939 Oakland County sales goal of $15,578,000 has been set, Nelson said. Michigan's 1939 goal is $307,500,000.

A local drive will fall, McDonald warned luncheoners. If employers don't make a person-to-person campaign to solicit buyers of "these indestructible and absolutely safe" bonds.

Throughout the Tuesday noon gathering it was repeated how such an investment not only serves as a worthwhile source of security for the purchaser, but

Truck Weight Limits Lowered

County Restrictions for Spring Thaw Season Effective at Midnight

Spring weight restrictions will go into effect at midnight tonight for trucks using the more than 1,600 miles of blacktop and gravel roads in Oakland County.

Tom Kennedy, county weighmaster, said the new restrictions will be 11,700 gross weight pounds for single axle trucks and 16,900 gross weight pounds for tandems. Normal restrictions are 18,000 for single axle and 26,000 for tandems.

Because of the extremely heavy snow during the winter, followed by the warming trend lately, Kennedy said it was more important than ever that weight restrictions be observed.

Restrictions are put into effect as the heavy weight of trucks easily tear up blacktop and gravel roads when their surfaces are loosened due to thawing, he said.

"We've got several feet of frost underneath the surface of the roads," said Kennedy. "Roads are already breaking up fast. So we will be keeping an extra close watch out for violators."

Truckers exceeding the limits can be ticketed and fined based on the amount of overweight, according to Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer for the Oakland County Road Commission.

Meanwhile, the State Highway Dept. said similar restrictions forced by the spring road breakup will go into effect at noon today.

The restrictions apply on all gravel and blacktop trunks, except those designated as all-season routes south of, but not including, M21. Some 15 miles of M78 from Battle Creek south to Athens have been deleted from the all-season trunkline system, the department said.

Students Run London Streets Naked and Dyed

LONDON (AP)—The naked and dyed ran through the streets of Chelsea Tuesday night while hundreds cheered.

There were three of them, students at the Chelsea College of Science and Technology. As part of an initiation ceremony, they were stripped, dyed, daubed with syrup and feathers and chased into the street.

Roger Stamp, 20, was dyed red. Richard Howland, 20, was a brilliant yellow. Norman Strauss, 22, came out a bluish green.

The three were rescued by police. No charges were filed. Chelsea is an artists' district where—as one of the initiators explained—"everybody knows all about the human body."

Strauss, who emerged from a three-hour session in the bathtub, told a reporter: "I look like a daffodil. This confounded green dye won't wash off."

How One City Got Rid of Obscene Magazines

By ANN PINCHOT

"Look what I found in Jenny's room—" a friend told me, holding up a picture magazine that was on a level with obscene French postcards.

"It makes me sick to think she's even seen anything like it! When I questioned her, she said these magazines were passed around in class. In the sixth grade, mind you!"

"What can we do?" another mother demanded at a PTA meeting. "How can we stop this corruption of our children?"

Our town of Stamford, Connecticut, is like a lot of other industrial communities. Our children are no different from most. However, we began to have an epidemic of teen trouble. And it seemed to coincide with the increase of muck magazines on newsstands near schools.

So the mothers of our town talked to the teachers and ministers. They discovered that the sale of muck magazines was big business, well organized and deeply entrenched. To smoke them out of our town would require careful, concerted action.

It was then that Joe Kinsella, our police chief, stepped in. Joe, an orphan at three, was raised by an uncle who taught him values and respect for the law.

"In Proverbs it says, 'The law is light' and that's what I go by," Joe states. He also believes the Law has its ethical and moral basis in the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount.

First, Joe made a survey of the situation. "You want me to censor every magazine?" one retailer demanded, pointing to the overloaded racks. "I wouldn't have time for anything else."

Once Chief Kinsella had decided on a master list, he sent this letter to each distributor:

"Enclosed is a list of objectionable or obscene magazines which you are requested to remove permanently from sale by local outlet. I know that in this list there are some which are acceptable as second class mail, but I request years after the expansion program is completed.

As an added expense, the payments will affect room rates, which are the only source of revenue the hospital has. The degree to which room rates will be affected depends on the terms of payment.

The terms will be decided upon when the hospital gets into a financial position to begin payments.

Several commissioners privately hailed the agreement as a victory. Since the $3,000,000 hospital construction bonds were sold in 1954, the city has given or promised the hospital an additional $1,450,000 out of tax revenues to complete the expansion program.

The hospital itself has contributed no funds to meet extra or added costs encountered as the building program progressed.

The Board of Trustees consistently has taken the position that its job is limited to running the hospital, while the city is obligated to provide the physical plant.

With the agreement completed, City Manager Walter K. Willman said he would reopen negotiations with local contractors for a final agreement under which they will begin the repair work and complete remodeling on a time-and-material basis.

Willman has estimated it will take at least eight months to complete the work, once it is begun.

The remodeling was halted last fall when the faulty installations were first discovered and there were no funds on hand for their replacement.

Macmillan Hints at West Pullback

Gaulle that Khrushchev is determined to have his own way on Berlin and that negotiations are a must if a showdown is to be avoided.

A mid-March meeting between Eisenhower and Macmillan was being arranged today. Macmillan is expected to fly to Washington late next week.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty in Washington announced Tuesday that Eisenhower had asked Macmillan to come here. He put it in these words: "The President has invited the prime minister of Great Britain to come here to Washington at his convenience."

Barry asked, "By whom?" The father paused a long moment, glanced at his wife some 20 feet away and said he, "By Anne."

She remained motionless, head bowed and handkerchief clutched in one hand. The mother never raised her head through the morning.

Indiana Pioneers Had to Survive Both the Illness and the Remedy

By DON REEDER

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Know somebody who wants to stop stammering? Try smacking him in the face with a piece of liver.

Got lumbago pains? Boil an old shoe and drink the residue.

The Indiana Historical Bureau reports these and similar home remedies were common among Indiana citizens of a century ago—and even more recently.

It is a noble tribute to the hardness of Hoosier pioneers that they survived not only their illnesses but their cures.

W. Edson Richmond and Elva Van Winkle, two Indiana University staff members, went searching for remedies that were a part of Indiana life 100 years ago. Here's the list they compiled:

If somebody with blue gums bites you, rub the bite with some black hen litter, and the biter will lose his teeth.

For a cut, bind on a poultice of fresh cow manure.

Asthma—Drink a tea made by boiling a hornet's nest.

Leg cramps—tie some eel skin around the leg.

Croup—Rub the throat with skunk oil and take a dose of oil.

Inflamed finger joints—Catch a weasel and squeeze it to death.

Gout—Pass a dead person's hand over the throat.

Influenza—Drink hot milk laced with pepper.

Chills—Step across a creek backward.

Rheumatism—Carry a potato or a chestnut in the pocket.

Toothache—To prevent tooth aches, trim fingernails only on Fridays.

Warts—Rub the wart with a stolen dishrag and then hide the dishrag in a tree stump.

Measles—Rub with sheep dung.

Rabies—Burn the bite for at least eight seconds with a red-hot iron.

Rheumatism—Rub the afflicted parts with the blood of a freshly killed rattlesnake.

Not all the cures were so disagreeable. Many ailments—including cholera, fever, lung fever and others—called for a liberal dose of whiskey or gin. That particular remedy undoubtedly went down easier than the horse's nest tea.

Other pioneer prescriptions fell into the category of "spells" instead of medicine. Like these:

Press Urged to Form United Front Against Hemisphere Dictators

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—A South American journalist called on the World Press Congress today for a united front against aggression.

"The free press is the backbone of democracy and the principal enemy of totalitarianism," said Julio Hernandez, executive manager of El Colombiano, Medellin, Colombia, in a prepared address. "If we stand united as one in the struggle against all kinds of totalitarianism, democracy will forever prevail."

It was the third day in which Latin American delegates had appealed to journalists from the rest of the world for assistance.

Previous speakers touched on troubles in Cuba, Haiti, Paraguay and Nicaragua. Dr. Rodolfo Abaunza of Leon, Nicaragua, called it a "powerful storm gathering in the Caribbean."

Hernandez said Colombia was not plagued with a dictator since a bloodless revolt in 1957.

All of the principal daily newspapers of the country, he said, joined in assisting the overthrow of Gustavo Rojas Pinilla and "thus it was that the free press of Colombia was, to a great extent, responsible for the downfall of the tyrant."

The federal gas tax in effect now costs the taxpayers more each year than the total tax receipts of the national government from all sources about 40 years ago.

Florida Indians Once Hunted for Whales in 1667

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Florida Indians used to combine dangerous sport with their hunt for food. An account of a whaling trip is contained in L'Amrique, a description of the New World, written in 1667 by Sanson d'Abbeville, geographer and teacher of King Louis XIV of France. He wrote:

"Fish for the whale is done with great skill and courage. Europeans would never dare to hunt whales as these natives. When a whale is sighted, it is followed by the Indians. As soon as they approach the whale, an Indian jumps on its back and rides it."

"He drives a stick into one of its nostrils. If the whale dives, he waits for it to surface and then drives another stick in his other nostril. He ties a rope to these two sticks and returns to his boat. As the whale is unable to breathe, it weakens, and is towed to land where it is cut up and dried and ground into a powder for storage."

Volume one of d'Abbeville's history was recently translated into English and published by Bloch and Company of Cleveland under the title, "America—1667."

Putting Man on Moon Low in Public Priority

ANN ARBOR (AP)—There are other matters more important to Americans than putting a man on the moon.

The University of Michigan's Survey Research Center says only three per cent of a nationwide public opinion sampling gives top priority to the moon project.

On the other hand, 54 per cent voted for medical research, 32 per cent for studies in the cause and cure of juvenile delinquency and seven per cent for basic research.

Four-fifths of the dwellings in the U.S. are detached, single-family houses.

Approve Bond Sale for Detroit X-Ways

LANSING (AP)—Sale of 25 million dollars in bonds for Detroit expressway construction has been approved by state, Wayne County and Detroit officials.

A syndicate headed by Blyth & Co. of New York bought the bonds at 3.54 per cent. State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown yesterday called this "a very good interest rate."

Most of the borrowings, supplemented by Federal funds, will be used to finance construction on Walter P. Chrysler, John C. Lodge extension, Southfield and Fisher extensions.

The bond issue is the first of a planned series of 100 million dollars.

Prefers Whip Over Psychiatry for Criminals

DETROIT (AP)—When it comes to choosing between psychiatry and the whip for criminals, a veteran Scotland Yard detective says he prefers the latter.

"Psychiatry is a lot of rubbish. I have no faith in it," declared former Detective Inspector Robert H. Fabian, in a speech before the Detroit Athletic Club yesterday.

"When you give a man a taste of the lash he doesn't come back a second time," Fabian explained. "It not only hurts him physically but it hurts his prestige."

Fabian, who served 28 years at Scotland Yard and finally wound up as head of the detective division, also took a dim view of Michigan's lack of capital punishment for what he termed "horrible murders."

"In England we believe in making the punishment fit the crime," he said. "For some murders the drop (hanging) is the only correct punishment."

Display Chance for Symington

Heads Subcommittee to Look Into Possible Space Duplication

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—An assignment to police the efforts to conquer space gave Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) an expanded forum today to display his wares as possible 1960 presidential aspirant.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas appointed Symington Tuesday to head a subcommittee to inquire into possible duplications among 14 government agencies with authority and responsibility in the field of outer space.

It will be the job of the Symington subcommittee to determine what each of the agencies is doing, head off conflicts in authority, and recommend legislation to the Senate.

In this field, Symington will be enlarging the base of his operations as the chief congressional critic of the administration's defense program. He has contended that because of what he says soon will be a substantial lag behind the Soviets in missile development "we are now faced with the problem of survival."

The tall, graying senator from Missouri at 57 has made something of a political career out of long-time efforts to jack up the nation's defenses.

As long ago as 1950 he resigned as secretary of the Air Force under President Harry S. Truman in protest against what he called "armament reductions for the sake of budget balancing." The Missouri senator thus can claim a kind of consistency on this issue that doesn't always mark the record of some of his potential rivals for the 1960 democratic presidential nomination.

In a Senate which boasts at least three of these, Symington has been notable for sticking largely to the subject of defense while other possible contenders have spread their talents widely.

Occasionally Symington dabbles in other matters. He has tried to make himself an expert on farm issues, for instance, because agriculture pursuits are important not only in Missouri but in many other states with substantial electoral votes. But mostly he talks about defense needs.

This is in sharp contrast to Sens. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), who speak about and issue statements on almost any topic.

Sen. Johnson, as majority leader, is involved in nearly every issue that comes before Congress. He has covered the field in his own "state-of-the-union" speeches.

Bolivia's Anti-U.S. Riots Put to Tempers, Times

By BEN MEYER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Nobody gets mad in this country when somebody says "Let's give New York back to the Indians." With the volatile Bolivians, it's different. If a U.S. magazine quotes a U.S. Embassy official as wisecracking that the country ought to be abolished, then riots break out.

There is a saying in La Paz, about 12,000 feet up in the mountains, that water boils quickly there, and so do tempers. Bolivia has had a history studied with troubles. It once formed a part of the Inca empire and was seized by the Spaniards in 1538. The natives were killed or put in practical serfdom. Rich mines once made Bolivia a source of wealth, and of speedy population growth. Potosi, a mining town founded in 1545, rose to a population of 160,000 in 1850—was once the largest city in the New World. As mines gave out, its population fell to 8,000 by 1825.

Independence came to Bolivia in 1825, and the country has been fighting much of the time since.

In a war with Chile, Bolivia lost its Pacific seacoast area. After a terrible war with Paraguay, which decimated the male populations of both nations, Paraguay emerged in possession of most of a disputed area known as El Gran Chaco. The three-year war ended in 1935.

Bolivians say their country was despoiled by tin barons who lived like princes in Paris and other European capitals while the Indian miners died of starvation, malnutrition and overwork.

In recent years, the country's president, Hernan Siles, has come to be regarded as one of the ablest and most conscientious chief executives in Latin America. Everyone agrees also he has had a job of tremendous difficulties. The country has been plagued by economic troubles, political strife, a few plots, and low living standards. Things seem to have improved, however, since Siles took over in August 1936.

The job in Bolivia, however, is so tremendous that the country still faces many problems. That is why the United States has made grants to Bolivia of about 139 million dollars since 1933.

CATTLE FIGURE—Increased beef prices last year led to the greatest elimination of cows from milking herds since 1945. Milking cows now account for only about a third of the total, in contrast to over half in 1939. Newschart shows breakdown of herds, based on Department of Agriculture figures.

Single Barrier Between WSU and April Ballot

LANSING (U)—A single legislative barrier remained today to a statewide vote April 6 on giving Wayne State University constitutional status.

Wayne thus would take its place alongside Michigan State University and the University of Michigan—but with some differences. If the House accepts changes written into its resolution yesterday by the Senate before 30 to 2 approval.

The Detroit institution, unlike the other two, would be required to give the Legislature an annual detailed accounting of spending and income from all sources.

And the powers of its Board of Governors would be limited to general supervision of the university, with the board's duties defined by the Legislature.

Death Likely for Bill to Call Convention

LANSING (U)—A proposal for another public vote on calling a constitutional convention hung narrowly to life in the legislature today. But death appeared imminent.

It won a 68-32 vote of approval in the House yesterday, but will need 74 votes in another roll call for the immediate effect needed to put it on the April 6 ballot. The Senate has yet to consider the bill.

The measure would give the people their second chance in five months to vote on the question. It failed to carry in the November election.

House members scrapped a companion constitutional proposal to permit the governor to call a special election for picking convention delegates. It proposed 144 delegates, selected on the same basis as the 110 House members and 34 Senators.

GOP Hopeful Cites School Service Lack

LANSING (U)—Hugh H. Holloway, Republican candidate for state school chief, has called for "less paper work and more school services."

He stated the Department of Public Instruction headed by Lynn M. Bartlett has become "a paper work army whose chief occupation is shuffling papers from one desk to another."

Bartlett is bidding for a second term as superintendent of public instruction in the April 6 election.

Holloway, on leave as superintendent of Saint Ste. Marie schools, campaigned in Ingham County yesterday.

Falling Conveyor Kills Construction Worker

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Clair Deters, 24, of Grand Rapids was injured fatally yesterday while working on a fire station construction project in Grand Rapids Township.

The Kent County Sheriff's Office said Deters suffered a crushed chest when struck by part of a conveyor which fell while carrying equipment to the top of the work project.

Build Launching Pads for Minuteman ICBM

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force is building launching facilities at Edwards Air Force Base on the Mojave Desert for Minuteman missiles that have a range of up to 10,000 miles.

The Corps of Engineers will open bids March 19 for construction of two deep pits from which the ICBMs will be fired. Total cost will be about $1,770,000. The Minuteman, a multiple-stage rocket, uses a solid propellant, enabling it to be launched without the long countdown required for missiles using liquid fuels.

Two State Groups Get Federal Grants

WASHINGTON (U)—Two Michigan regional planning commissions were awarded federal grants today to help in the preparation of growth and development plans for metropolitan areas.

The St. Clair planning body will receive an $18,300 grant for the Port Huron metropolitan region. The sum will be matched by $22,500 in local funds.

The Tri-County Planning Commission of Lansing will receive $13,830 to plan for the development of the metropolitan area of Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties. The commission will match the federal figure.

Both grants will be provided by the Urban Renewal Administration.

Dulles Brother Might Prove Best Successor

President EISENHOWER said at a recent news conference that decision as to whether JOHN FOSTER DULLES can carry on as Secretary of State will be made by DULLES himself.

We are not questioning this reasoning, but as The Press pointed out a few weeks ago in an editorial, Mr. DULLES is running a one man show. This has been true for a long time and since he is stricken with cancer, it now becomes a serious problem.

Meantime, speculation over a possible successor continues—and a new name has been added to the list. "Try this one for size," wrote Ernest K. Lindley, the astute political observer for Newsweek magazine, when he brought forth the name of Allen W. Dulles, the Secretary of State's brother, now head of CIA.

This is not merely a shot in the dark, since ALLEN DULLES has both a sound strategic grasp of the world struggle and intimate knowledge of various specific problems confronting us in all parts of the world.

Many feel that he is singularly fitted either to work with his older brother or to stand on his own two feet as Secretary of State. Although a different personality (and this might be helpful)—more affable and more tactful—he has the DULLES name.

His appointment might be interpreted worldwide as proof of the basic stability of American policy. Recently he has been called to the hospital to help brief his brother on the world situation.

Another first rate qualification ALLEN DULLES enjoys is that he is an A-1 administrator, as opposed to the often heard criticism of his brother that he would not delegate authority. "A DULLES for a DULLES"; it might just work.

Looks Like Stassen Is Up to Old Tricks

Talk about wrong-way CORRIGAN and it brings to mind HAROLD STASSEN, whose burning ambition to be President has taken him up some strange streets, but never Pennsylvania Avenue.

In just what direction is Mr. STASSEN traveling?

Twice rebuffed in his attempt to get the GOP presidential nomination, Stassen started a revolt in 1956 to keep Vice President Nixon off the ticket. His drive had about as much strength as a puppy dog.

Many felt that had he succeeded, he hoped the vice president hat would descend on his broad shoulders. But it didn't work, so hapless HAROLD went off to Pennsylvania where, within a year, he unsuccessfully sought the GOP nomination for Governor of that state.

Now, we note that he is on a new tangent. Coyly he has let it be known that Philadelphia Republicans are trying to get him to run for mayor next year. This might be a good spot, but it has all the ear marks of another Corrigan.

With the stronghold the Democrats have held on Philadelphia's city offices since the downfall of the old VARE machine, it appears that Mr. STASSEN is being offered up for slaughter again.

If he keeps on, (and he is a determined man) STASSEN eventually may make the city council. But the low end of the ladder has a few more rungs.

"The Iowa Supreme Court has ruled that a man has the legal right to spank his wife." News item. He also has the legal right to butt his head into a hornet's nest.

The Man About Town Many Attorneys

Pontiac Suburb Claims the Greatest Intensity of 'Em

Idle rumors: The kind furthest from being idle.

Our suburban Birmingham claims to have more attorneys-at-law than any other city of similar size in the state—perhaps in the nation. The last roster of the State Bar of Michigan gives it a list of 89. Pontiac has 132; Detroit 4,032, and Flint and Grand Rapids, now quarrelling about which is Michigan's second city in population, stack up this way: Grand Rapids, 383; Flint, 213.

Other cities and villages in the Pontiac area, and their number of attorneys, follow: Royal Oak, 84; Mt. Clemens, 74; Oak Park, 25; Ferndale, 24; Warren, 22; Farmington, 22; Howell, 19; Lapeer, 16; Bloomfield Hills, 15; Pleasant Ridge, 11; Berkley, 12; Hazel Park, 11; Madison Heights, 10; Romeo, 10; Rochester, 9; Utica, 8; Huntington Woods, 8; Northville, 7; Milford, 6; Lathrup, 6; Fenton, 5; Clawson, 5; Drayton Plains, 5; Brighton, 5; Clarkston, 3; Keego Harbor, 3; Franklin, 3; Walled Lake, 3; Lake Orion, 3; Orchard Lake, 2; Oxford, 2; Holly, 2; South Lyon, 2; Waterford, 1; Troy, 1; Grand Blanc, 1; Imlay City, 1; Metamora, 1; North Branch 1.

Commissioner for the 18th district, which consists of Oakland County, is Donald E. Adams of Drayton Plains, and Glenn M. Coulter of Detroit, is Commissioner at Large, and on the Board of Governors of the American Bar Association. Both have much to do with the erection of the State Bar of Michigan's new building at Detroit, which will be dedicated this spring. Mrs. Coulter is a native of Oakland County, the former Dores McDonald of Holly.

On the list of odd names that stick in my memory is that of Jack Gordon Jaaskelainen Prosecuting Attorney of Keweenaw County to the northern tip of Michigan's Northern Peninsula.

Word comes to me directly from Charles E. Miller, Chief of the Lands Division of the Michigan Department of Conservation, that the department now owns one-ninth of our state's area, mostly in the north. However, it owns several thousand acres in Oakland County, now being developed into parks and playgrounds.

My very competent office fact finder hands me the following, under the heading of "Penell Chewers; Please Note." Making this nation's annual supply of lead pencils requires 565,000-gallons lacquer, 370,000 pounds dye, 300,000 pounds synthetic gum, 50,000 pounds antimony, 30,000 pounds lead, 30,000 pounds glycerine, 25,000 pounds sulphur and 20,000 pounds lime. How's the taste?

Proceedings of the Pontiac Board of Aldermen on July 17, 1892, show that Perry Davidson put through a motion recommending the purchase of another horse for the fire department, as only two of the present horses were fit for work.

David Lawrence Says:

Reds Stirring Up Unrest in Bolivia

WASHINGTON — And now it's trouble in Bolivia! Yesterday it was in Cuba, and before that in other Latin American countries where hostility against the United States was artificially intensified by the Communists.

Unfortunately, maneuvers of the Communists in the "cold war" are usually pooh-poohed by too many people in this country, despite bold propaganda operations that are obviously planned with care.

When the anti-Nixon incidents occurred on the vice president's tour of South America, it was conceded, of course, that an antagonism such as was manifested against the United States could readily have been brought into the open without the slightest stimulus by the Communists.

But this was no reason to ignore the impetus given anti-American sentiment there or anywhere else in the world by the Communists. It so happens that this week an article reporting an alleged remark by a minor American official was published in a magazine reaching Bolivia from the United States.

The idea that a chance comment in a magazine, circulating a relatively small number of copies in that country, could produce a riot against the United States embassy and cause the evacuation of its personnel is too fantastic to believe.

Only an organized conspiracy by those malcontents, with a desire to focus international attention on relations between the United States and an important South American country could have brought about the tragic episode.

The other day in Congress, Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) declared that Communist influence is back of some of the demands being made by the government of Panama for an extension of its territorial waters which would adversely affect American rights in the Canal Zone. He said:

"Those in charge of the Communist movement in Latin America, and especially in the Caribbean area, have undoubtedly focused their conspiratorial activities on the Panama Canal with the purpose of causing destruction of amicable relations between the United States and Panama, with complete liquidation of United States control over the canal itself."

Nor is Communist activity confined to any one part of the globe. It is noticeable just now in Africa, where fuel is being added to the flames of nationalism. It is operative also in the Far East.

A few days ago a United Press

The Country Parson

"Nobody can teach you how to be a Christian—you learn it on the job."

International dispatch dated Manila said:

"The Foreign Office warned yesterday it has received reports pointing to 'growing infiltration' by Communists among the Philippine student population."

"Foreign Secretary Serrano conveyed the warning to Rep. Lenardo Perez, chairman of the House committee on anti-Filipino activities, and told him to put his committee 'on alert.'"

The pattern of student infiltration is worldwide. In Latin America, in particular, many of the anti-American demonstrations have originated in the colleges.

To plant young leaders who will use any provocation to work up passionate outbursts is a relatively easy device. It has been revealed in Cuba in the so-called "youth movement."

While the top officials there vehemently deny that the Communists have anything to do with the Fidel Castro regime, it is an open secret in Havana that the Communists are busy causing mischief wherever they can in the little republic which is struggling to recover from the ill effects of the Batista dictatorship.

In the Middle East the Communist plotters have been more successful than anywhere else. Everyone who has watched the situation in Egypt is aware that the Communists have played an active part there in anti-Western demonstrations.

It's a significant type of fighting in what has been misnamed the "cold war."

Dr. William Brady Says:

You Aren't Really Living Till You Learn to Breathe

Webster says the word belly is derived from the Anglo-Saxon belg, meaning bag, bellows.

The abdomen (accent the dough) is great body cavity containing the liver, spleen, pancreas, stomach and intestines.

The belly is the front and side wall of the abdomen.

Like a bellows, the belly expands, inflates, rises, bulges when you inhale, inspire, take in air. It flattens again, deflates, retracts when you exhale, expire, breathe out.

In normal breathing the belly muscles play only an insignificant part, by their elasticity or tone maintaining constant slight pressure on the liver, spleen, stomach, pancreas, intestines and the vast network of blood vessels within the abdomen.

This pressure is just sufficient during deflation or exhalation to permit full relaxation of the diaphragm and easy deflation on exhalation.

The diaphragm is a tarpaulin or dome shaped flat structure composed of numerous muscle fibers attached to the inside of the breastbone, the ribs and front of the lower spine, all focusing in a central tendon. It is stretched across the trunk, dividing the upper (thoracic) from the lower (abdominal) cavity.

When the diaphragm contracts it squeezes down on the liver, stomach, colon, gall-bladder, pancreas, spleen, small intestine and at the same time sucks air into the lungs—inflation, inhalation, inspiration, breathing in. At the same time it causes the belly to bulge—inflation.

Little more than a pint of air is taken at each breath by the average adult at rest, in a chair: 12 to 14 fluidounces when asleep. But a normal adult can by the deepest possible inhalation expel into a spirometer, 7 pints of air; a large man may have a vital capacity approaching a gallon.

Chest expansion, if any, doesn't matter. For health's sake don't pour your chest like a West Point plebe or a sideshow strong man. Instead, practice belly (bellows) breathing.

Bitter Pill Proves Best Medicine

Here's the final report on Donna, who fell in love at first sight with a no-good gambler and twice divorced man. If you are now involved in an unwise romance, read and re-read this case, for what ultimately happened to Donna can happen to you! But you must grit your teeth and work your way out of the dangerous infatuation. Contrast Donna with Rita, in tomorrow's case.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A - 469: Donna D., aged 23, is the heart broken girl whom we persuaded to give up the no-count Romeo with whom she had fallen in love at first sight.

"Oh, Dr. Crane, I don't want to live without Joe," she pleaded.

"But you admit he would make a poor father and rated 'Very Poor' on that 'Test for Sweethearts'." I added.

"Do you believe me when I tell you he is very unsuited to your permanent happiness?"

"Well, I guess you are right, but I still don't want to give him up," she replied.

"Then I'll make a bargain with you. If you do what I prescribe for the next six months, I'll then let you do as you wish without any further objections."

She agreed.

So I talked with her parents and they shipped her from Chicago to California, where she got a secretarial job.

Urges Extended Eligibility in Mental Case Treatment

In February, 1958, the Supervisors passed a resolution appropriating $50,000 for temporary security confinement of a limited number of mentally ill persons.

This worthwhile gesture of emergency care no doubt has lessened the gravity of the situation to some degree; however, this care cannot include children, older persons who might need long term care, any mentally ill person suffering from a physical illness as well as alcoholics.

The Society for Mental Health feels a short term, intensive treatment center should be available for those persons now denied care. We hope you'll watch with interest the action taken.

'Do Those on Dole Have Voting Right?'

Some eastern cities are debating whether people on dole should be entitled to vote. They're making no contribution to the support of the government and the question is should they be entitled to vote for office holders and how we do or don't spend money? Has this matter been considered by Oakland County and is it a coming thing around the country?

'Democracy Gives Association Choice'

Anyone who feels brotherhood and/or better human relations and are being promoted by forcing total integration of neighborhoods, schools, businesses, etc., should read "Color, Communism and Common Sense," the Book of Red Intrigue and race turmoil and also get from the Joint Legislative Committee a two-volume report on the hearings of March, 1957, on subversion in racial unrest by the State of Louisiana. Forcing association breeds contempt and hate. If a person can't choose not to associate, as well as to associate, with others, and if all people cannot create their own community by choice and pursue their own happiness in their own way, we have ceased to be a democracy.

'It's Time That We Take Responsibility'

In divorce both parties should have a second chance, but not at the expense of their minor children. Divorce and war are alike in that there are no winners. But good men sweat it out at the conference tables, and in juvenile courts.

We're so civilized that minor children and old parents fill our institutions, so we don't have to be inconvenienced. My hat's off to the "ignorant foreigners" who keep a warm place for the feeble aged and discipline their own children by example.

It's time we Americans shouldered our responsibilities instead

PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS

DEPENDENTS

The greatest number of exemptions for dependents on tax returns are the children of taxpayers. Questions are always asked concerning those children who have income of their own.

If your child has earnings of $600 or more and is less than 19 years of age, or is a student, the exemption may still be allowable. You must have contributed over 50 per cent of the support of the child in order to claim the exemption.

If your child had income during the year and used it for his support, you must take that into account in determining whether or not over 50 per cent of the support was contributed by you. If the child saved his money or invested it in a capital asset, those amounts are not considered as being used for support.

When referring to "over 50 per cent of the support," it is meant the cost of support and not the period of time.

The instruction book, on page 4, defines a student for this purpose.

An exemption of $600 is allowed for a child born alive during the year if the dependency tests are met. This also applies to a dependent who dies during the year.

Another thing to remember is, if you have a child who had earnings of $600 or more during 1958, he must file his own tax return.

If additional information is needed, it may be obtained by calling the local office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Meanwhile, I contacted a clergyman in Los Angeles who saw that she was properly introduced to a man named Larry who had the qualifications for an excellent husband and father.

After I had explained the situation to this talented clergyman, he had selected wisely.

Donna didn't want to accept a date with Larry, but she had promised to follow my prescription, which included frequent dates during the six months' experimental period. And she wasn't to contact Joe, her no-count lover.

"EARNED" LOVE

Donna dated Larry reluctantly. "It isn't fair to him," she informed me by letter, "for I don't care a snap of my fingers for him, though he is a nice boy."

"I don't expect you to care for Larry," I replied via airmail. "But your dates with Larry are like medicine. It will help cure your madness, even though the medicine seems bitter in the taking. So just keep on, anyway."

Donna did. Larry persisted in coaxing her to go swimming and to the movies. He treated her as a casual pal.

He would argue with her, as well as praise her when she did something commendable.

And he began to ask her opinions about his work, for he was a sales engineer.

They also attended church together and met a lot of fine people there, with whom they later went on picnics and swimming or boating parties.

Cape Canaveral 1st Seen in 1513

Ponce de Leon Sailed
Past, Claimed Barren
Island for Spain

WASHINGTON—Despite its time-honored place in New World cartography of Florida, the Cape (Cape Canaveral) until now has stirred little international or domestic excitement.

It was probably first seen by explorers in 1513 when Ponce de Leon sailed by to claim Florida for Spain. He called it Cape of Currents.

But the Cape appeared as Canaveral, meaning "canebrake" on the earliest Spanish maps of Florida. The name—seemingly inappropriate as little grows there—may have been bestowed by the Spanish explorer Pedro Menendez de Aviles, says the National Geographic Society.

Menendez mentioned Cape Canaveral in a statement to Philip II in 1573 or 1574. He reported the gum trees that two ships had sunk in a storm off the Cape most common were slain by Indians while attempting an overland journey to St. Augustine.

A similar incident occurred while Menendez was trying to expel the French from Florida. Violent storms blew the French fleet from St. Augustine toward the Cape, and the last of the shipwrecked army surrendered to Menendez near Canaveral.

During the Civil War, Cape Canaveral marked the boundary between the Union's South Atlantic Blockading Fleet and the East Gulf Blockading Squadron.

But Treatment Technique Improves

Cystic Fibrosis Still an Incurable Malady

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Doctors' efforts to combat a mysterious children's disease have caused one of the most ironic situations in the history of medical science.

Improved diagnostic and treatment techniques now enable them to prolong indefinitely the lives of many youngsters who have cystic fibrosis, an incurable malady which strikes the lungs and digestive system. Until recently it practically always proved fatal within months or a few years after birth.

But the only hitch to this encouraging scientific progress is that the disease is inherited. And, unless a remedy is found before these afflicted youngsters grow old enough to marry, an increase in the disease rate is expected to take place in future generations. A recent medical report shows that the ailment is already the second most common cause of deaths in children's hospitals.

The National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md. is spending more than one million dollars to find ways to control the disease. In January, NIH's Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases will join the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in sponsoring a special Washington conference on the problem.

Cystic fibrosis is a disturbance of the body's exocrine glands. These are the duct-type glands that secrete such fluids as saliva, mucus, tears and perspiration.

The disease usually strikes hardest at the mucus glands, transforming the fluid into a thick, sticky substance. The mucus may lodge in the windpipe and throw a child into fits of coughing.

It may also plug passages in the lungs, causing the air sacs to stretch or even collapse. Often the child's chest becomes distorted and enlarged.

His damaged lungs may cause him to start breathing rapidly and hard. He may develop a hacking cough and become a perfect target for pneumonia and other respiratory diseases. Victims who don't contract a fatal breathing ailment still stand a good chance of dying of heart strain.

Another organ endangered by the mucus is the pancreas. This is the body factory that produces enzymes necessary for the digestion of food.

Mucus may shut off the pancreas ducts and prevent the organ from secreting its life sustaining chemicals. Although a victim's hunger may be ravenous, his damaged digestive system is unable to convert food into nourishment that can be carried throughout the body. Thus, he is actually in danger of starving to death.

Patients with severe symptoms also may become pale, develop dark circles under their eyes and constantly perspire. Their fingers may become clubbed, and their lips often turn blue.

Doctors credit the development of antibiotics, such as penicillin, aureomycin and terramycin, with being one of the biggest aids to cystic fibrosis treatment. The power of these drugs to effectively combat respiratory infections has proved invaluable to increasing the life span of young disease victims.

Dangers caused by the disease's attack on the digestive system have been reduced by special diets and a unique system which enables doctors to replace the cut-off digestive juices with animal enzymes.

The NIH research projects call for making detailed studies of body systems of cystic fibrosis victims to find out in what ways they differ from those of normal persons. Other studies are geared to improve diagnostic and treatment methods. Another project is probing the genetic aspects of the disease by studying the life histories of victims' parents and grandparents.

It's estimated that one out of every 16 people unknowingly carries the faulty gene that produces cystic fibrosis in their offspring. Geneticists explain, however, that the gene must be present in both parents to do any damage.

Another mystery about the disease is that it seldom strikes Negroes and has never been found in Orientals.

Nighties Worn by Parrotfish

Marine Laboratory in West Indies Reports on This Mucous Covering

WASHINGTON—The parrotfish is one of the few fishes that masticates its food.

Aristotle once wrote that it "chewed a cud." But some species of the family have even stranger ways. They wear nightgowns.

Several years ago, observers at a West Indies marine laboratory noticed that a transparent mucous envelope surrounded certain parrotfish as they rested at night against supporting objects on the aquarium floor.

At first the covering—produced by the fishes' secretory system—was thought to be a symptom of sickness. But further study in laboratory and field, indicated that the activity was normal, say the National Geographic Society.

As darkness falls, the fishes begin exuding their diaphanous robes, starting near the mouth. Two small flaps are left open, front and back, for breathing and continuous flow of water over the gills. When daylight comes, the fishes wriggle forward or back out of their robes. The purpose of the night coverings has not yet been determined, enemies, or perhaps shelter the Scientists speculate that they may resting fish from the settling of offer protection against night smothering silt.

Detroit Police Slowdown Strike Tapering Off

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's police traffic-ticketing slowdown strike gave signs of tapering off today.

There has been a three-day demonstration against orders for integration of two-man scout cars.

Officials blamed the slowdown on issuing traffic violation tickets on what they called a few "extremists" among white traffic duty officers of the 4,300-man force.

Commissioner Herbert W. Hart, declaring racial integration of the force was "here to stay," ordered compliance or resignations.

The Detroit Police Officers Assn. condemned the strike as a violation of duty oath. It pledged support to the integration steps. Headquarters reported a big increase in the number of ticketed motorists on late shifts Tuesday after the warning by Hart.

Private Detective Turns Bank Robber

DETROIT (AP) — A private detective who turned bank robber when he couldn't find any clients, was held under $20,000 bond here today.

Richard Bagaria, 28, pleaded guilty yesterday to the $1,000 hold-up of a savings and loan office. Bagaria was captured by police who found him in a bar drinking beer 10 minutes after the stickup.

The officers trailed Bagaria on a witness' report that the robber wore a checked shirt.

Mrs. Edith Kaelin, 40, cashier, said she turned over the money to Bagaria when he demanded it and thrust an envelope at her at the Surety Federal Savings and Loan Assn. The holdup man had no gun.

Detroit Valuation Drops

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's assessed valuation for 1959 tentatively has been set at $4,930,560,200, compared with $5,005,008,550 for 1958. The valuation decrease of $74,448,350 would lop off about $1,716,000 in city taxes.

Highway Department Rapped

Stahlin, Mackie Feud Over Publicity Bureau

LANSING (AP) — Sen. John H. Stahlin (R-Belding), replying to an apology demand, says Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie should offer one for using gas tax dollars to build up a "Hollywood type" publicity bureau.

Mackie said last week the public had an apology coming from Stahlin for loose handling of highway department budget figures.

"It's encouraging to see that the senator from Belding has retreated from his totally false claim that the highway information office had 34 employees who received $305,000 a year in salary," he commented.

Stahlin said yesterday in renewing his feud with the Democratic commissioner that the public relations division had nine employees, compared with four on the payroll two years ago.

He challenged the propriety of spending gasoline tax income for a movie cameraman, a radio and TV script writer, and radio tapes and recordings.

"Why should Michigan have to make movies of its roads?" he asked. "You can tell a road is there by driving on it."

"Why should the department have a man writing scripts for weekly radio shows?"

"How are the tapes and recordings?"

Philippines Ask Red Fishermen to Cooperate

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines today asked the Soviet government to order bally fishermen of five detained trawlers to cooperate with intelligence officers investigating their surprise appearance in a remote northern Luzon Bay.

The Soviet trawlers, with 83 men aboard, were seized over the weekend in northernmost Luzon. They refuse to move to a Philippine naval base farther south until they had instructions from Moscow.

The trawlers reportedly were en route to Vladivostok from the Baltic. Their appearance in Philippine waters produced a rash of unconfirmed spy rumors.

Ask Early Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has a promotion problem: junior officers want advancement but officers want advancement but most senior spots are filled. The House will consider a 3½-million-dollar bill that may help by providing for the early retirement of about 3,000 senior officers. The Rules Committee cleared the bill Tuesday.

California Law Protects Reporter

SALINAS, Calif. (AP)—A trial judge Tuesday reaffirmed a reporter's right under California law to refuse to disclose the source of a story published in a newspaper.

Fred Sorri, Monterey, Peninsula Herald Reporter, invoked this section of the California civil code in refusing to answer a question at a perjury trial. Superior Court Judge Anthony Brazil called a 15-minute recess and studied the code before upholding Sorri.

The California Supreme Court previously upheld the constitutionality of the law.

Presses Button for Summerfield Ike Starts New P. O. Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower pressed a button in the White House yesterday, and in Washington's main post office giant machines began flipping letters around like mad.

It was the dedication of 12 million dollars worth of new equipment in what Postmaster General Summerfield beamingly pronounced "the world's most mechanized post office."

"The introduction of mechanized mail handling devices here in the modernized Washington post office opens a new era in the postal service, fully as important as the start of railroad service for mail in 1831, or the inauguration of regular air mail service in 1918," Summerfield said.

The Washington post office has been virtually rebuilt during the last year and new electronic and semiautomatic devices installed to speed the daily flow of five million pieces of mail handled in this city.

The general public was invited in to see the results, and to the hundreds who gathered there President Eisenhower said over a closed circuit from the White House:

"This development, a banner one in the Post Office Department's modernization program, will benefit all Americans as their mail is handled more expeditiously and more economically.

"The lessons learned in this working postal laboratory here in Washington will be used in post offices throughout the entire nation.

"It is a pleasure to congratulate Postmaster General Summerfield on this achievement."

Postal officials told reporters the improvements here are needed in about 60 other key cities. The Post Office Department is asking Congress for 100 million dollars to get this work started in a dozen offices.

Officials declined to name the dozen cities but mentioned Oakland, Calif., and Houston, Tex., as examples of where the modernization program is needed.

The new equipment here includes five miles of overhead conveyor belts for movement of mail between sorting areas on the work room floor.

Semiautomatic equipment can sort 18,000 letters for 300 different destinations every hour. A similar semiautomatic machine can handle up to 14,400 parcel post packages an hour.

12-Year-Old Catches Man Hiding Narcotics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jeffrey Kerker, 12, watched quietly as a car drove up suspiciously behind his house at nearby San Bruno. It had been raining.

A man got out of the car, lifted the hood and removed a plastic bag. He hid the bag under a rock. Jeffrey picked up a stick and scratched the car's license number in the mud. After the car drove away, he picked up the bag and took it into his mother, Mrs. Clarence Kerker, a former Navy nurse.

She recognized the vials inside the bag as narcotics containers and telephoned the police. The next night the same car rolled up to the same spot and a man got out. Narcotics agents and police arrested him.

That was nearly two months ago. Tuesday the San Mateo County grand jury indicted the driver, Earl J. Brinson, 36, and Garfield Hammond on charges of narcotics violation.

Officers withheld Jeff's story until then.

Social security checks to beneficiaries in New York State alone total more than 68 million dollars a month.

NEW FROM ALLSTATE...the company founded by Sears

Sickness, Accident and Hospital Insurance

- to protect you against today's inflated cost of medical care
- to help replace income you lose because you're sick or hurt
- to help provide for your family if you're killed in an accident

New Selector Plan lets you choose the exact type and amount of protection that's right for your needs...and your budget!

In the few minutes it takes to read this important message, sickness or accident will disable 600 people. Of these, 180 will be admitted to the hospital. Each will face a daily charge averaging $25 for basic care alone.

Even more shocking: while more than half our people have some form of health insurance, on the average it has paid only 30 cents of every dollar of their sickness and accident bills.

Most families are not aware how inflation has watered down the value of the policies they now have. Too many take for granted that having "some insurance" or workmen's compensation is all the protection they need. It is a tragic fact that today only 1 family in 10 is financially protected against the ruinous costs of lingering illness or serious accident.

Too many people risk going along with what they have because they assume that rising costs have priced adequate coverage beyond their reach.

But now Allstate's Accident and Sickness Insurance helps you solve these problems—at a cost you can afford.

WHAT THIS NEW POLICY BRINGS YOU

Here, in one flexible policy, you will find a broad selection of top-value coverages. You can select exactly the protection you need to close the gaps in your present insurance—at surprisingly little cost. This sensible plan lets you buy only what you need, without waste or duplication—pays in addition to any insurance you may now have. Or if you have no protection, it can be used as a sound basic plan.

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE WAYS ALLSTATE'S NEW PLAN COULD FIT YOUR NEEDS:

YOU MAY NOW HAVE

An employer or group plan that would pay you only for a few months after accident or sickness disables you.

YOU SHOULD HAVE

An Allstate coverage that will pay you a monthly, tax-free income so you can provide for your family's living expenses while you are disabled. (Maximum: 5 years if totally disabled from sickness; for life if totally disabled from accident; 6-month limit for partial disability.) You can select the amount of income protection you want up to $400 a month for total disability—up to $200 a month for partial disability.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE

A basic hospitalization plan which may pay you for only a few weeks.

YOU SHOULD HAVE

An Allstate coverage that will begin paying after your present policy stops, to give you protection against in-hospital expenses of serious, drawn-out illness or disability...that pays 75% of hospital expenses for as long as 2 years for each accident or illness for each member of your family. (Maximum payment: $5,000 per person.) Or you can strengthen your basic hospitalization plan with an Allstate coverage that will pay daily hospital expenses in addition to the protection you now have.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE

Insurance with relatively few benefits—that pays only a small part of the actual costs of a long, lingering disability.

YOU SHOULD HAVE

An Allstate coverage to help you with the major expenses of doctor, surgeon (including specialist) care, nursing costs and many other medical services.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE

Savings that could keep your family going for 6 months or a year if you were killed in an accident.

YOU SHOULD HAVE

An Allstate coverage that pays $18,000 cash if you are killed in practically any type of accident. Pays in addition to any other payments made by this policy.

Allstate's modern approach to today's most needed, least understood kind of insurance brings you these special advantages:

1. New sensible "Selector Plan." Allstate fits the insurance to your needs. You buy what you need, without waste or duplication. Your Allstate Agent is a thoroughly trained, licensed, professional insurance man who will help you choose the protection that is exactly right for your needs.
2. Sears kind of value—Allstate was founded by Sears and won more than 4 million friends with the same big-volume, low-overhead, quality-for-less way of doing business that made Sears famous.
3. Proven dependability—Allstate revolutionized auto insurance by cutting red tape, and settling claims fast, the modern efficient way. Allstate's Accident and Sickness Insurance is backed by the same considerate approach to claims service.

HOW WOULD YOU MAKE OUT? If you're like most people, your present insurance would cover only one-third of your expenses, should sickness or accident strike.

It's human nature to put it off...

Requests Central File to Stop Cheating Drivers

WASHINGTON (AP)—About one million drivers lose their licenses each year. But, the Commerce Department says, many continue driving by getting their licenses from other states. The department has asked Congress to set up a central file on drivers who have their licenses suspended or revoked. In this way, a state easily could check whether an applicant has lost his license in another state.

Road Improvement Plan Launched

The 1939 public improvement program got under way last night as city commissioners put a public necessity label on the first paving projects of the year.

A tentative list of public improvements had already been agreed on by commissioners, meeting informally two weeks ago. Stated for two-inch blacktopping are Cornell street, Baldwin to Carlisle; Adelaide avenue, Oakland to the point halfway between Howard and Baldwin; S. Jesse street, Prospect to Wilson; Fennoscandia avenue, Oakland to Montclair; Roselawn drive, Fiddle to Malvern; and Langford avenue, University to the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Mall road.

On the basis of a petition signed by 82 per cent of the residents affected, commissioners placed on the improvement program a sanitary sewer on W. Brooklyn avenue, Stanley to Richmond.

Two new assessment policies were adopted, one of them reflecting a change in the paving of secondary traffic arteries.

A new rate was set for 22-foot wide pavement, six feet less than the standard 28 feet that the city has laid in past years.

City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn explained that the 22-foot wide pavements will be laid on heavily-traveled gravel roads, making travel easier and keeping the initial costs down.

When funds become available, he said, the city can add another 22 feet to the roads, bringing them up to the standard 44-foot width for arteries.

The first road the city plans to pave in this fashion, he said, is Joslyn avenue from Walton boulevard to the city limits.

Assessment rates for the 22-foot wide paving were set at $3.50 a front foot, $1 less than the rates for 28-foot wide paving.

Commissioners also set a complicated rate formula covering grading and graveling of alleys between commercial and residential areas.

If the commercial half of the block wants the alley, commercial users will be charged $2.50 a foot. If it was decided, and the residential half of the block will be charged only 75 cents. But if the alley is put to both commercial and residential use, both will pay $1.50 a foot, according to the new formula.

Permission was granted the Montclair Bowling Center to open two hours earlier on Sunday, March 8, 15 and 22 for the annual tournament of the Pontiac Women's Bowling Assn.

Harold Stassen Next Philadelphia Mayor?

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold E. Stassen today accepted an offer of Republican leaders to be their candidate for mayor.

Acceptance by Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and one-time presidential disarmament adviser, virtually assured him of the GOP nomination.

City Chairman Wilbur Hamilton, 57, of 58 ward leaders, and independent W. Thacher Longstreth, the Republican mayoralty candidate four years ago, signed petitions asking Stassen to run.

His opponent probably will be Mayor Richardson Dilworth, who is expected to get backing of the Democratic City Committee in his bid for a second four-year term.

Rockefeller's Budget Runs Into GOP Revolt

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Republican Assembly members in full-scale revolt refused today to surrender control of the state budget until guaranteed new cuts would be made in Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's record tax and spending program.

Republican leaders struggled to put down the legislative rebellion, which threatened to wreck the GOP administration's plans to shift state income tax collections to a payroll withholding system by April 1.

MARGUERITE M. BUCKLEY

Likes Practicing in Pontiac Woman Attorney on Way Up

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Pontiac is now the home of Oakland County's first and only practicing woman attorney. She is Marguerite M. Buckley and she has just joined the firm of Houston and McLay.

Not only does she bear the distinction of being the only practicing woman attorney in the county, but she is also one of the youngest attorneys in the area. (She's one of the 5,000 practicing women-lawyers in the United States.)

Miss Buckley first became interested in the law at the age of 12. She decided that being a lawyer was "an effective way to help people out of trouble." An admitted idealist, she says she has always had this social outlook about the legal profession.

NEVER DULL

She also thinks the law is one of the most varied professions there is. "Things are always happening and rarely the same thing twice. Like the newspaper business," she added.

"The most exciting thing about law is that you never stop learning," she said. "The mark of a good lawyer is not necessarily having the answers, but knowing where to find them."

Miss Buckley was born in Detroit in 1932. She received her B.A. from the University of Michigan and her LL.B. from Wayne State University in 1957. She was admitted to the bar in Michigan Jan. 10, 1958.

When asked if she had encountered many problems in her job because she was a woman and so young, she answered that she has been very fortunate in not meeting with resistance.

She said she has never taken the attitude of a woman fighting against a man's world nor has she asked to be treated as an equal.

HER VIEWPOINT

Rather, she takes the view that she is a woman in a field of many men; that men are human and, treated accordingly, they will act like humans, giving her respect for being a woman lawyer but not taking advantage of the fact.

Often in trials, she is on the opposing side of male lawyer friends. She says they fight against her harder than those who don't know her, but are still her friends outside the court room.

The only trouble she ever had in court was last November. She was opposing a 60-year-old gentleman. Throughout the case he kept talking with the judge, saying, "You and I know what it was like back in the good old days."

By the way, she won the case. Because of her youthfulness, she is often mistaken for a secretary when clients come into the office. However she soon sets them right. She says she will take on any case that walks into the office. She has already done much work with divorce and criminal cases in Detroit where she worked before coming to Pontiac.

Miss Buckley thinks the law is a fine profession for a woman—and one that can be combined with marriage and family life. However, she warns, it is not an eight-hour-a-day job, but one you find yourself working at all the time.

TOUGH STARTING

Trying to gain the respect of the male side of the profession and establishing a reputation can make the first few years difficult for a woman, she says. However, if a woman can overcome these first difficulties, she generally remains in the profession the rest of her life.

She is now making her home in Waterford, and says Pontiac is a fine place to be. Everyone has been very warm and friendly and the judges have been most kind in their welcome.

She is an avid reader—of anything—and collects classical music records. She also plays bridge and chess and sketches some. While in the area she hopes to learn to ski.

She is an active member of the Detroit Business and Professional Women's club and is affiliated with Phi Delta Delta, a woman's legal fraternity, and with Women Lawyers Association of Detroit.

Mrs. Miller Hosts Opti-Mrs. Group

Mrs. H. A. Miller was hostess at her home on Wenonah drive Tuesday evening to members of the Opti-Mrs. Club of Pontiac. She was assisted by Mrs. Ralph Merkowitz. Members sewed cancer pads.

Election of officers is slated for the April meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Becker.

Guests were Mrs. Gordon Paine of Eagle Grove, Iowa; Mrs. Palmer Burns, Mrs. George Slonaker and Mrs. Robert Slonaker.

Sorority Gathers

Phi Epsilon Nu Sorority met at the home of Mrs. Robert Overcashier of Waldon road Tuesday evening. The next meeting will be held at the Sushabaw road home of Mrs. Charles Furlong. New members will be initiated.

Battling Families Need Help, Not Things

Editor's Note: This is one of three columns dealing with juvenile delinquency. Mrs. Muriel Lawrence has taken as her immediate point of departure the interest recently expressed by the U.S. Children's Bureau in her 1958 "Operation Help" proposal for forestalling delinquency.

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
In our country we have somehow developed a very odd notion—the idea that we can change people's feelings by giving them things.

We think we can assuage a child's anger by giving him ice cream. We think big alimony can mend a broken home. We think we can erase slums by pulling them down and building housing projects. We think we can make foreign countries admire us by paying their bills.

We are mistaken. The child stays angry. The alimony just buys an expensive boarding school. The shiny new housing projects start smelling like the old slums and the foreign countries just sneer harder at us as "materialist dollar imperialists."

This inborn faith in the giving of things is the cause of our failure to solve juvenile crime.

So maybe we'd better start knowing what we're up to when we rush into delinquent neighborhoods with new playground equipment, settlement house socials and little uplift programs on parent education.

It's time we know we are saying: "See how generous we are! Now please behave, love us—and stop bothering us with those feelings of yours that we find so inconvenient and ungrateful."

Oh yes, that's what the bribes are all about.

Well, people who bribe are regarded as fools by the people who take the bribes.

In Hawaii, they have accepted this truth. So instead of giving things to families with violent and ungrateful feelings, they are giving them a chance to explode the feelings harmlessly.

Parents and children are reducing the steam of their need to protest through talk, tears and confession of fears and shame to the social workers who staff Honolulu's "Operation Help" instead of through lawbreaking action.

Say Honolulu officials: "Our primary goal is to move into family situations at the points of initial crisis—and get at the facts which are causing the friction."

They add: "Few of the families need financial help."

Please mark that statement. Because our battling families don't need money, either. What they need is what the Hawaiians are getting—people to help them.

No Beanies
on Spring
Hat SceneMilliners Say
Ladies Ready for New Look

Women can shoot the works on hats this spring.

The new spring hats shown by New York's leading milliners are often startling, sometimes nostalgic and usually flattering.

There are sailors and bowlers galore, plenty of flower-trimmed picture hats, some jet-age abstractions and lots of pretty little suit hats that hug the head, frame the face and generally make a woman look better than she does without a hat.

Milliners have decided, it seems, that women are ready for hats that are really hats once more—not wigs or scraps of veil or beanies.

You'll be seeing practically every known version of the sailor hat in the Easter parade—trim little tailored versions, big Merry Widow cartwheels, flower-trimmed pan-cakes and high-crowned designs that have a prim 1910 look.

There is generally more height as well as more width of brim in the spring hat lineup. And one thing is certain—every woman will want a new hat this spring. The no-hat look is strictly old-hat in 1959.

New Ideas for Using Scarves
This Spring

Build up a scarf wardrobe for the wide, open necklines of spring clothes. Choose from a variety of houndstooth checks, gay prints, polka dots, mini-checks, and solids.

A scarf may be tucked into a hat band and worn with a matching scarf in a suit neckline. Or drape a soft scarf into a mushroom collar for low-necked dresses.

You also can drape a scarf just beneath the bosom for a high-waisted effect or float it from a high-crowned hat.

To fix snags caused by necklaces, bobbie pins, or bracelets, stretch a sweater gently. If the pulled thread fails to slip back in place, draw it to wrong side, and knot.

A Gift for Each Family

Many a girl would be happy if she could keep her hair light and her part dark.

Beauty Clinic

by Edythe McCulloch

HAIR COLORING

The natural color of your hair limits your choice of colors, but shades of coloring are so varied that you are bound to find a flattering one for you.

The lighter your hair the wider your choice because it is not necessary to remove color before receiving new color.

Dark hair limits your choice simply because the hair must have more processing to remove the natural color. The complexion of a brunette may not be complimented by light shades. You can avoid the hard look by keeping your hair a soft shade. The wig look comes from a solid color at the hairline. We will be happy to work with you or just advise you on hair colors.

Get Out of That Rut

Grandmothers Are Still People!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is something I simply cannot understand—the effect which being a grandmother seems to have on many women. These women write me as follows. "Dear Mrs. Lowman: I have meant to write you for some time hoping that you can help me with my problem. My husband and I are in our forties. He is a good man but always has been difficult to live with. I am a grandmother. Our main trouble is . . . etc."

Or "Can you tell me what causes this buzzing in my ears? I am in good health. I am a grandmother . . . Or, "I would like your advice about which colors are best for me. I have a good figure, am a blonde and 40 years old. I am a grandmother . . . Or "I am 45 years old, 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 138 pounds. I am a grandmother." Then comes this letter:

"I wish you would write an article about the dignity of growing old gracefully. I agree with the idea of keeping alert mentally and physically but extremes in anything do detract from the charm of a grandmother."

Reading this letter I felt sure it would be signed, "Grandmother." It was signed "ANOTHER Grandmother."

Certainly your figure and physical stamina are not affected by becoming a grandmother. Your daughter or daughter-in-law had the baby—not you.

The colors and hairstyle and clothes you should wear depend on your skin and hair tones, the shape of your face and figure, not on whether or not you are a grandmother.

I do not see why being a grandmother should do anything to you except bring you a great big hunk of new happiness. These letters sound almost as though a grandmother is no longer an individual.

TWO CONCLUSIONS

Well, I have tossed this about in my feeble brain and have come up with two conclusions. Evidently being a grandmother makes a lot of women feel older, and how silly can you be? It is possible to become a grandmother at a very early age. All you have to do is to marry young and have your children marry young and let nature take its course.

Just because you're a grandmother don't give up personal interests and live only through your grandchildren. Here's a youthful grandmother who has not lost her personal identity.

Then, as you know, women today of 40, 50 and 60 and more are extremely vibrant and attractive.

The second conclusion is that perhaps by the time some women have become grandmothers they have lost track of themselves as individuals. They have long ago given up personal interests and live only through their grandchildren.

Rather than thinking of your grandchildren as lovely bonuses, if you have gotten into a Grandmother Rut, why not do something about it?

Grandma Didn't Need Glamor Too

By RUTH MILLETT

Let's hear no more about how easy things are for the modern housewife, just because she has a few electrical appliances to make short work of what used to be drudgery.

Great-grandma used to spend hours over a scrub board, beat her rugs to get them clean and preserve her own fruits and vegetables.

But though there was plenty of back-breaking work for her to do, she didn't have to break her neck to stay young looking or wear herself out trying to be a companion to her husband.

Great-grandma didn't expect his wife and the mother of his children to look like a glamor girl. If her hair was neatly combed and her apron clean, she looked all right to him.

If she put on a little weight as she grew older and if her hair and skin showed the aging effect of time that was all right, too.

She could look and act comfortably middle-aged.

But look at how much time and energy a woman today spends on just trying to look young. Time at the beauty salon, time at the reducing salon, time shopping for just the right clothes, time spent on daily beauty routines . . .

Not much was expected of Great-grandma as a companion, either.

Musical League Holds Workshop

"Marches in Many Moods," was the theme of the Workshop held at the meeting of Student League of Junior Tuesday Musical Society Sunday afternoon at the Shore View drive home of Mrs. Lyndon Salathiel.

William Hartman read a story of the life of John Philip Sousa and played several of his recorded marches.

Piano selections were played by Amanda Malone, William Hartman, Sandra Bowden, Diane LaBair and Mary Slowik.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leo Bowden, Mrs. C. B. Payne and Mrs. Rudolph Hatman.

If she didn't have a sharp tongue or wasn't always ailing. Great-grandma thought himself a lucky man.

Now a wife is expected to share all of her husband's interests and enthusiasms. If he likes to hunt, she has to learn how to shoot a gun. If he is enthusiastic about fishing, she has to be enthusiastic about it, too. If he likes to dance, she has to learn to rumba.

It's safe to say that a modern wife spends as much time keeping herself young and being companionable to her husband as Great-grandma spent over the wash tub, the bread board, and the scrub bucket.

Why Does Bing's Wife Serve as Hospital Nurse?

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD UP—Why should a girl like Kathryn Grant be studying to become a registered nurse? Her movie acting career is building all the time. She is married to Bing Crosby, so she doesn't need the security.

"But there are different kinds of security," she comments.

Kathy has long puzzled her fellow workers in the movie mills. She has all the attributes of a film star, as anyone can testify who has seen her in the scanty aerialist costume for "The Big Circus."

Yet she refuses to play merely the role of screen actress—or the wife of a millionaire celebrity.

UP WITH BIRDS

When she isn't working at a studio or at one of the Crosby vacation homes, she reports at 6:35 a. m. to a local hospital. She serves as a scrub technician in surgery until 2:30 in the afternoon, sometimes transfers to the maternity section to help out there.

As part of her long-range program to become an M. N., she is also taking a correspondence course from the University of California in physiology.

"Oh, it's tough for me," she said. "All through school I avoided science courses. I got my degree from the University of Texas in fine arts, which is good for an actress but useless to a nurse. Now I have to learn a whole new vocabulary."

The reason for this drive? "I'm lucky to be in a line of work that is more like play. Bing always says when he makes a movie, he feels as if he's stealing money. I feel the same way. I about it."

Be Stylish Not Conspicuous

Belts again will be on the fashion scene this spring. Remember when selecting them that they are designed to make If a belt or other popular the wearers more attractive. accessory brings out your worst beauty features, avoid them. Being fashionable in this sense is only making yourself conspicuous.

Madison PTSA Set for Skits, Discussion

Students of Madison Junior High School will present a group of skits, entitled "What Is an Adolescent?" at the PTSA meeting to be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the school. After the skits, the audience will divide into groups to discuss, "Look Who's Smoking," "Granny, This Isn't 1890," "Who's Delinquent?" and "Shall We Go Steady?"

Submerge Wool When Washing

The cardinal rule in washing woolen is gentle treatment. Let the garment soak in lukewarm soap or detergent suds for about five minutes. Then gently squeeze the suds through the fibers.

Keep the fabric submerged, because the weight of the water tends to pull the wool out of shape. Rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water, blot in a turkish towel, and shape to dry.

Always insert a meat thermometer into the meat before placing the roast in the oven.

Don't Act as Go-Between—Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: One of my best friends is going steady with a boy she can hardly stand. She started going steady with him just to be able to say she was going steady. Sometimes she doesn't even wear his ring. Now she does not even have the decency to tell him she hates him. I feel sorry for him. Don't you think somebody ought to tell him?"

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: It is up to the girl herself to break off with the boy if she "can't stand him." A friend who acts as a bridge between a girl and her boy friend can expect to get stepped on.

"DEAR ABBY: I am going with a very nice man. He is only 36 but he looks much older because when he takes off his hat he is as bald as a billiard ball. I am sort of ashamed to bring him around to meet my parents because I know they'll think he is much older.

"He has a good job, goes to church regularly and treats me nice. I like everything else about him but I am wondering about this bald business. Do you think it is important or not?"

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Don't be influenced by anything so transient as hair. Tell them he had a "crew cut"—but the "crew" bailed out.

"DEAR ABBY: There is a girl who works with me. She is about 37 and single. She said she had lost a little weight and it made her knit suit baggy on her in one particular place. I asked her why she didn't get one of those girdles with a foam rubber seat. She said she didn't think her boy friend would like it.

"I told her if her boy friend knew her well enough to notice it and remark about it she should know him well enough to tell him why she was wearing a false bottom. Besides, some girls wear false tops, so what's wrong with a false bottom? She got mad at me and doesn't speak. How can I make up with her without telling her I was wrong, which I still think I was not.

CHARLOTTE

DEAR CHARLOTTE: Offer a simple apology like, "I'm sorry," but don't rehash the issue.

"DEAR ABBY: To 'Burned Up Waitress' who complained because the old folks left no tips, just a hankie at Christmas: I had an experience as a waitress that I will never forget. A woman came into the cafe with a little child. They were clean, but shabby looking. They sat at a table where there was salt, pepper, ketchup, crackers and sugar and cream. I brought two glasses of water and a menu.

"She asked me to please heat a glass of water and bring only a bowl and spoon. Curious, I watched her. She put the ketchup, hot water, salt, pepper and cream (intended for coffee) into the bowl. She mixed it and gave it to the child. I saw her open her purse and take out her last dime to leave me a tip. I was glad I had a job and wasn't the one who had to make 'tomato soup' for my child."

THANKFUL

CONFIDENTIAL TO CAR DRIVER: Your wife could use some improvement in the department department. Set a better example.

Flowers Can Be Birthday Gift to Her

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like to have your advice on the following situation: The woman for whom I have been secretary for a long time and I have remembered each other's birthdays with gifts. However, this year no mention was made of my birthday.

"Now that her birthday is again coming soon I would like to know if I could still remember her with a gift or would that be an embarrassing situation for her? I do not know whether to assume she forgot my birthday or whether she chooses to discontinue this friendly gesture."

Answer: I would suggest that that you send her a few flowers with your happy birthday wishes.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon. She is going to wear a bridal dress and veil for the ceremony and reception. However, much to my disappointment she has chosen a black suit to wear for going away."

"I do not think black a suitable choice for this happy occasion and think that she should wear something in color. I would very much like to have your opinion on this."

Answer: I agree with you that your daughter's choice of black for her going away suit is unusual and not a happy one, but there is nothing incorrect about it. It is easy to understand her preference if she thinks that a black suit will be of greater use to her later than one of a lighter color.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When I have a date with a girl and she stops at the drugstore to buy a pack of cigarettes, should I pay for them. Would it seem cheap on my part to let her pay for them herself?"

Answer: If she is going to smoke that pack of cigarettes while on your date you should pay for it. If, on the other hand, she is going to take it home unopened, she should insist on paying for it herself.

Bids Requested on Post Office at Mackinac Island

WASHINGTON (U) — Postmaster General Summerfield Monday asked for bids for construction of a picturesque post office on Mackinac Island, Mich.

The land, on which American Fur Co. had a two-story clerks' quarters in the early 1800s, is being made available to the federal government by the City of Mackinac Island on nominal rental terms, Summerfield said.

The old building, with foot-thick walls and heated by four giant fireplaces, was used for many years by fur company employees who dealt with the French and Indians in the area. The crumbling structure was finally taken down as a part of the island's restoration.

Private investors are being asked to bid on the new post office, which they would construct on post office specifications and lease to the department.

The one-story building will feature a cupola at one end. It was designed by Rindge & Rindge, Grand Rapids architects who also drew the designs for the restoration program.

The bidding will close April 15.

IN SEARCH OF A KILLER—A scientist at the National Institutes of Health uses an electron microscope in his research on multiple sclerosis.

Diet, Heredity Under Study in Fight on Nerve Disease

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When the world's most dreaded medical specialists talk about the weather these days, chances are their conversations are anything but small talk. For climate is believed to play an important role in the cause of multiple sclerosis, a disease that is considered one of the handle correctly signals from the brain.

The result is that MS victims may suffer from shaking spasms, loss of coordination, extreme weakness and paralysis that creeps throughout the body. It's estimated that about a half million Americans have the disease.

Medical researchers have discovered that the majority of MS cases usually occur in the colder northern regions. Most of this country's victims live in the Northeastern, Northwestern and Great Lakes areas.

The disease rate seems to decline gradually as the climate becomes warmer.

The same situation also holds true in Europe. Doctors report that the disease is quite prevalent in the northern countries but is regarded as a rarity in the hot Mediterranean basin.

Although climate is not thought to be the main cause of MS, it is believed by many specialists to help trigger whatever actually produces the disease. Theories concerning the identity of the elusive medical villain are numerous.

Some of those under investigation in a million dollar research program conducted by the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., involve diet, heredity and allergies.

One idea, which has sparked considerable excitement among doctors, is that MS is caused by the same virus that produces fever blisters on the mouth.

The theory was advanced by microbiologist Albert Sabin after he found that the virus could multiply in the special cells which produce the vital nerve covering.

Determining whether or not the virus actually destroys the fatty substance is the purpose of some complicated experiments which Dr. Sabin is conducting at Children's Research Foundation in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Preventing destruction of the nerve insulation material is also the object of experiments now underway at NIH's Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

Recently, NIH scientist Dr. Roscoe Brady discovered how one of the principal substances of the nerve covering is made by the body. He also found a way to connect the material in a test tube.

Based upon these findings, NIH scientists are now trying to discover a way to prevent the loss of this compound in MS victims and therefore help preserve the nerve coverings. Once this problem is licked they believe it may be possible to learn how to replace missing insulation material.

Would-Be Kidnapers of Actress Held

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A man wanted for a $25,000 supermarket holdup and several other robberies in the Los Angeles area today awaited the arrival of officers to escort him back to California.

Eugene Thorne Kling, 41, named by a convict as a conspirator in a plan to kidnap actress Kathy Grant shortly after her marriage to Bing Crosby, told officers he planned to waive extradition.

FBI agents arrested him Tuesday on a Los Angeles warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for robbery. Bond was set at $5,000.

Kling, a former steelworker at Fontana, Calif., also is wanted for questioning in the disappearance of his wife, Muriel. She vanished the day of the big supermarket holdup at Lakewood.

In Maintaining National Debt

Treasury Walks Tightrope

(There is increasing talk in Washington that the Treasury's current borrowing problems may be the prelude to more serious trouble. The possibilities are increased in this, the third of four articles in financing the national debt.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Managing a record national debt is like walking a high wire without the consolation of a safety net.

The footing is treacherous because lenders have lost much of their enthusiasm for Treasury securities — Uncle Sam's IOUs. Fearing rising interest rates and the possibility of inflation, they're reluctant to make loans on anything but a short term basis.

Unfortunately, Uncle Sam now has to borrow more money than ever before — just when lenders are balky. The national debt already has reached about 286 billion dollars and is headed higher, if only temporarily.

Real trouble could develop out of the fact that the Treasury has had to do most of its recent borrowing on a short term basis.

This is the type of borrowing which holds the greatest inflation potential because bank credit is the biggest single source of short-term loans.

Perhaps more important, short-term loans have to be refinanced (that is, the money has to be borrowed again) almost before Uncle Sam can draw a breath.

Since last July, the Treasury has raised new cash and renewed old loans amounting to 53% billion dollars. Except for about 2% billion dollars, all of this was obtained on a short term basis.

More than 33 billion dollars of the loans obtained or renewed since last July will come due between now and Dec. 31.

Adding to the problem, about two billion dollars of loans obtained before last July also will come due. And the government will have to raise about 10 billion dollars in new cash — more if the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is in the red.

What if the Treasury has to do all this 1959 borrowing on a short term basis?

At the end of 1958, the Treasury figured that 72½ billion dollars of the national debt would come due within one year. That includes regular weekly issues of Treasury securities not counted in the figures given earlier.

If, during the rest of 1958, the government could obtain no loans for a period longer than one year, this figure would mount to 82½ billion dollars by next Dec. 31. If such a situation persisted through 1959, with more of the present longer term bonds becoming due, the debt due in one year would soar to 129½ billion dollars. And that is assuming balanced budgets from now on.

Under present conditions, the government couldn't hope to borrow 129 billion dollars in a single year without inviting disaster. In fact, it would be in deep trouble before that point was reached.

History offers some encouragement. Conditions change. A year ago there was recession and ample chance for long-term borrowing. Who can say what the next 12 months will bring?

One well known mutual fund specializing in investment in growth stocks recently commented publicly:

"We are confident that as time goes on, institutional investors will place greater emphasis on the purchase of top-grade bonds yielding 4 per cent to 5 per cent and less emphasis on growth stocks yielding ½ of 1 per cent to 3 per cent."

If that sort of thinking spreads, the Treasury's problems may ease soother than most people expect.

U.S. Editors Will Hear Talk by Cuba's Castro

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba will address newspaper editors in Washington next month.

George W. Healy Jr., president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said Tuesday night the revolutionary leader had cabled him acceptance of the ASNE's invitation to speak at its annual meeting in Washington on April 17. Healy is editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Georgia Investigates 9 School Bus Deaths

TIFTON, Ga. (AP)—State and county investigators sought today to learn why a school bus tumbled from a dirt road into a pond, causing the drowning deaths of nine children.

It was not the bus Doyce Jones usually drove but a preliminary check showed the county-owned vehicle had no mechanical defects. Officials were baffled as to the reason the veteran 40-year-old driver lost control.

The bus careened off a road in South Georgia Tuesday. Nine Negro children perished before they could be lifted from the vehicle as it lay on its side in the shallow, muddy farm pond. Five of the victims were girls, four were boys. Their ages ranged from 7 to 14.

Jones' regular bus had seats for 54 students. The one he drove Tuesday could seat 48. Estimated as to the actual number of passengers varied from 60 to 90.

"It is virtually impossible to determine how many were aboard," said H. B. Allen, county school superintendent. "The driver normally would not take a count until the bus arrived at school."

Antarctic to Get Heat

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The United States is planning to light and heat its antarctic bases within three years with atomic power. Rear Adm. George Dufek, on his way home after commanding the U.S. program in the antarctic, told a news conference.

Her Problem Unzipped

PLYMOUTH, Eng. (UPI) — Mrs. Ida Crossman couldn't get out of her new evening dress when she returned home last night. The zipper stuck, so she called police. A young patrolman obliged. "I wasn't going to ruin the dress by sleeping in it," Mrs. Crossman said.

Dreams Turned to Ashes

CHICAGO (UPI)—Thieves burned open a safe in a five-and-dime store yesterday to get at $13,000 in bills, but found the currency charred to ashes from the heat of their acetylene torch.

Michigan Woes GOP Fault, Too

Republican Legislator Says His Party Must Share Blame

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Republicans must share the blame for any "welfare state" tag for Michigan, a Republican legislator said today.

Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor), one of the House "young Turks," made the statement in a talk prepared for delivery before a luncheon club group here.

Sallade suggested a moratorium on political warfare in the Legislature and said the charges and countercharges being leveled are doing Michigan increasing harm.

"If Michigan is a 'welfare state,' as it has been labeled," he said, "we must remember that it's a Republican welfare state as much as a Democratic one."

"Every dollar spent and every social program enacted since Jan. 1, 1949, has been approved by a Republican Legislature."

Sallade said that the record established by both parties in the Legislature so far has been one of "incredible folly."

"Remedies to meet the immediate cash shortage have been cast aside with an abandon typical of a lucky sweepstakes winner," he said.

Sallade said a favorable vote on proposed lifting of the constitutional debt limit is "an absolute necessity." Otherwise, he said, there will be increasing pressure to mortgage the Veterans' Trust Fund.

Filing Tenth Suit in Bradley Sinking

DETROIT (AP)—A 10th damage suit has been filed in the death of a crew member of the sunken Great Lakes freighter Carl D. Bradley.

The Bradley sank with the loss of 33 of her crew of 35 in a Lake Michigan storm last November 12.

Suit for $25,000 damages was entered in U.S. District Court yesterday in the death of Dennis B. Meredith, 25, of Rogers City. It brings to seven million dollars the total amount of damages asked in all 10 suits.

Like the others, the suit charges negligence to Bradley Transportation Co. of Rogers City, a division of U.S. Steel Corp.

Meredith's father, George B. Meredith, is plaintiff. He said his son was the sole support of himself and the sailor's mother, Evelyn.

Virginia-Ballot Lists Imposing Candidates

Man Only Taking Baby Steps in Space

Pioneer IV but Speck in Vastness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tiny Pioneer IV, soaring toward a rendezvous with the sun, is a big shot to America—but only a speck in the vastness of space.

Moreover, the distances the gold-plated 13-pound space probe has already traveled—tremendous by earthly standards—are but baby steps on the highways of the universe.

Pioneer IV is due to become an orbiting object in the solar system, measuring some seven billion miles in diameter, but still like a small bubble in the ocean of space.

The sun, around which the earth and the eight other major planets wheel, is only a minor leaguer in the heavens. It is only one of some 200 billion stars in the Milky Way galaxy.

The Milky Way itself, though having a diameter of 600 quadrillions miles, is only one of millions of other similarly vast systems in the universe.

The tremendous distances of space are measured in terms of light-years. A light-year is the distance that light, moving at 186,000 miles a second, would travel in a year's time. In mileage, it's six trillion miles.

By such standards our sun, with its planets and such earthly interlopers as the Soviet Mechta and the American Pioneer IV, is just a lonely soul tucked away in the suburb of the Milky Way. It is 30 quadrillion miles from the sun to the center of the Milky Way.

Closest neighbor to the sun among the other stars is one called Alpha Centauri, which is four light-years distant from the solar system.

There are numerous visible stars whose light, as seen on a given night, started toward the earth before Columbus discovered America.

Macmillan Finds Soviets Determined, Undiplomatic

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

Prime Minister Macmillan has ended his exploratory trip to Moscow without being able to map new territory.

The expedition found itself in a cul-de-sac surrounded by sheer precipices. Confirming that the Soviet Union is unwilling to give up any of its objectives for the sake of a better peace.

At the same time, when Macmillan indicated he had almost broken off the talks soon after their beginning because of Khrushchev's undiplomatic treatment, the Kremlin leaders did do enough of an about face to suggest that they don't want war, either.

Aside from confirmation that the Communists are determined to perpetuate the partition of Germany, perhaps the most significant result of the meeting is the new projection of the shadow of cold war far into the future.

For a time it appeared that the conference might actually contribute to the danger of war, by opening the door to expressions of animosity on all sides.

In the end, however, some good may have been accomplished by the allied display of unity and determination in the face of Khrushchev's repeated threats.

To that extent, tough talk in the United States about what would happen if the Reds tried another Berlin blockade may have provided Macmillan with a persuasive background for his warning about the danger of unilateral action.

At least Khrushchev is on the record, for whatever it is worth, as relying on negotiations rather than force for settlement of international issues.

tion to recognize what is substance and what is pose as the cold war moves along.

Macmillan says he is convinced the basic aim of both sides is to prevent a war.

If that is true, then the basic problem for the West remains as it has appeared for several years—how to prevent the international Communists from grabbing the fruits of war without actually fighting.

Castro Takes Over Phone Company

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government today took over control of the Cuban Telephone Co., an affiliate of the International Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The Cabinet authorized the Communications Ministry to appoint an interventor to run the company while a probe is under way. IT&T has a 30-million-dollar investment in the $5-million-dollar company.

The revolutionary government is chiefly interested in rate increases granted by ex-President Fulgencio Batista in 1957. Under the new law, the increases are nullified.

The company said previously the increases were granted to pay for expansion of telephone service.

10 Pct. Budget Cut Lambasted

Dems' Spokesman Says
State GOP Proposal
Is 'Irresponsible'

DETROIT (AP)—A Republican recommendation for a 10 per cent cut in the state budget has been termed "incredibly irresponsible" by a Democratic spokesman.

Neil Staebler said Republicans apparently want to pose as "the 10 per cent less party."

"But the 10 per cent budget cut they are asking means a 10 per cent across-the-board cut in essential services that would harm many people," he said.

Staebler, state Democratic chairman, spoke before a party meeting here last night. He referred to a formal resolution made by the Republican State Central Committee over the weekend.

He asked if Republicans seriously propose to cut off 10 per cent of the people now on welfare.

"We have approximately 1,000,000 children in public schools," he said. "Do the Republicans propose to send 10 per cent of these youngsters home? Or would they give the total number 10 per cent less education?"

He asked if this would mean a 10 per cent cut in the number of people in state mental institutions and a similar cut in the State Police trooper force.

demonstrate a shocking lack of concern for human needs. Either way, they are guilty of gross irresponsibility."

Marshall Still Serious

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, 78, who suffered a second stroke three weeks ago, remained in serious condition at Womack Army Hospital today. He entered the hospital following his first stroke Jan. 15.

Car Kills Pedestrian

ROSEVILLE 38—Elliott W. Tre-guna, 45, of St. Clair Shores was killed Tuesday night when he was struck by a car as he walked along 10 Mile road. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at Mt. Clemens General Hospital.

Hal Boyle Says:

Fat Women Take Heart: Slimness Just Fad

NEW YORK (AP)—Did Helen of Troy diet? Did Cleopatra count her calories?

We are stirred to these questions by a letter from a reader with a problem.

The letter: "Recently you wrote in defense of fat men. Well, what about fat women?"

"My girl friends criticize me because, according to their standards, I am 40 pounds overweight. But I feel fine and my husband says he likes me the way I am.

"Why do people laugh at fat ladies? What's so funny about them?"

It was signed: "Fat Lady." The answer, of course, is there is nothing funny about fat ladies. They are delightful. Those who laugh at fat ladies, like those who laugh at fat men, are envious idiots.

"They don't know what they are missing. You should laugh right back at them, fat lady."

The present vogue for slender dames is only a passing passion, a fad of the last quarter century. It was originated by beanpole male couturiers, many of whom hate women anyway and do their best to make them look ridiculous.

Throughout the rest of history, in most climates and cultures, the feminine form divine has been gifted with a blessed roundness. The ideal was one of abundance, not one of shortage.

The natural man looks for an angle-in-everything in life except the ladies. But then he instinctively prefers in the round.

The Turkish sultans, noted connoisseurs in these matters, filled their harems with ladies who were living symbols of padded plenty.

No sultan worth his water pipe would go for the skinny high fashion models of today, who resemble caricatures of anemic whooping cranes.

What about Helen of Troy? Does anyone think that a Greek, then or now, would launch a thousand ships to go after a married gal who was built like a fence post?

And what about Cleopatra? It is true that she herself rolled up into a rug in order to get in to see Julius Caesar. But that doesn't argue she was thin. They had mighty big carpets in Egypt in those days.

Besides, Caesar said he didn't like lean and hungry men around him. Is there any reason why he would go for a lean and hungry dame?

No, sir.

And who have the most famous artists and sculptors preferred to immortalize in paint and stone?

Chubby lasses, almost always. In the world of the arts—from Venus di Milo to Kate Smith and Mary Margaret McBride—the plump girls have been standouts.

It is true that the American pioneer mother tended to be thin, but that was because the Indians were after her. As soon as she reached the new homestead, she settled down and gained weight.

A skinny dame has no more secrets than a goldfish. It is the plump dame who is a dimpled mystery and holds depths of unplumbed allure.

Fat ladies are cheerful, contented, life-loving, comfort-giving. The mentality that laughs at these bounteous, wonderful reservoirs of good will and kindness is the same type of mentality that started crop control programs on the farm.

And where has crop control brought us?

Let us admire fat ladies, not jeer at them or their girdle problems. To paraphrase Abraham Lincoln, God must have loved fat ladies—he made so many of them.

Truman's Neighbor Wins Congress Seat

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A 48-year-old lawyer and fellow townsman of former president Harry S. Truman, is the new congressman from Missouri's 4th District.

William J. Randall will take the seat left vacant by the death of another Democrat, George H. Christopher of Amoret, Mo.

Returns from all but 12 of the 445 precincts in the west central Missouri district, including part of Kansas City, gave Randall 27,492 to 19,972 votes over Republican William R. McKee Jr., and lumber dealer from suburban Lee's Summit.

The district, normally Democratic, returned Christopher to office last November by nearly 64 per cent of the vote.

Nose Cones Fired From Bombers

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The Air Force announced here that it has fired nuclear-designed nose cones down into the atmosphere at speeds of more than 17,000 m.p.h.

Spokesmen at Kirtland Air Force Base said the speeds had been obtained with the use of rockets and firing the cones from B-29 bombers of the 42nd Test Group. Nuclear warheads and nose cones are designed at Kirtland, the spokesman said.

Officials would not elaborate as

Diving Biologist Eyes Feed Area for Nearly Extinct Animals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A frogman is helping the nearly extinct sea otter to become less so.

This was announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which said the Russians almost exterminated the sea otter back in the 1800s.

The frogman enlisted in the fight for survival of the sea otter is "a diving biologist" equipped with "self-contained underwater breathing apparatus (SCUBA)."

He is examining a sea otter feeding range in Kukul Bay, Aleution Islands, to estimate its capacity to feed sea otters.

Preliminary finding: "Plenty of sea otter food and lots of other sea life in which the sea otter has no interest."

The sea otter is an exuberant animal which likes nothing better, when not feeding than to romp with its children in the cold and wind-tossed water of Kukul Bay.

It grows to be about four feet long and has short legs, a blunt cylindrical tail, and large webbed feet.

It is a champion swimmer and diver. It sometimes dives at depths of 150 feet.

The reason the Russians almost exterminated the sea otter is that, according to the dictionary, "its pelt furnishes the most valuable of all fur."

From 1785 to 1788, coins for the independent Republic of Vermont were minted by Reuben Harmon.

Detroit GI Driver in Fatal Mishap

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—A soldier suffered fatal injuries and three others were hurt when a car plowed into a nine-man work detail at this central-Texas post Monday night.

David L. De Novellis, 23, of Chicago Heights, Ill., died early today, about six hours after the accident. He had been taken to Brooke Army Hospital, San Antonio, for treatment.

Others injured included Gale D. O'Dell, 18, of Inkley City, Mich. An Army spokesman identified the driver as Pfc. Thomas A. Res, 23, of 14144 East Seven Mile Road, Detroit, Mich.

Diversion Bill Nears Approval

Closed Session Slated by House Committee on Illinois Water Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—A controversial bill to permit Chicago to divert more water from Lake Michigan moved toward predicted approval by the House Public Works Committee today.

The committee scheduled a closed session to vote on the hotly fought measure sponsored by Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien (D-Ill.) and opposed by Canada and six Great Lakes states.

Before the committee met, both supporters and opponents were predicting the committee would approve the measure.

Rep. John Kluczynski (D-Ill.), a member of the committee and a supporter of the proposal, called a favorable vote a foregone conclusion.

Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Mich.), also a committee member and a strong opponent of the bill, conceded that opponents within the committee could not defeat it.

"I think it will take a presidential veto to kill this legislation," Broomfield said, "in spite of all the opposition to this plan."

O'Brien's bill would authorize diversion of an additional 1,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan for a trial period of one year.

Chicago now diverts an average of 1,500 cubic feet per second into the Illinois waterway for navigation and sanitary purposes, and uses about 1,600 for domestic purposes. This also is discharged into the waterway.

Canada and opposing Great Lakes states contend the additional diversion would do serious damage to navigation and power projects by lowering Great Lakes levels.

How Diversified Can Rockets Probers Get?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today the Senate Labor-Management Committee has been urged to investigate everything from doctors' fees to the conduct of some dance studios.

He said these are among hundreds of requests for investigations that he views as far outside the committee's assigned jurisdiction to seek evidence of evils in the labor-management relations field.

There are 32,542 rural routes in the U.S. serving 9.4 million families and 34 millions of persons.

To Take Stand in Death Trial

Woman Is Accused of Hiring 2 Men to Slay Her Daughter-in-Law

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan is scheduled to take the stand at her murder trial today.

Mrs. Duncan, 54, is accused of hiring two men to murder her daughter-in-law, Olga, 30, last November. Two laborers, Luis Moya, 20, and Augustine Baldonado, 25, have admitted the actual slaying.

The prosecution rested its case yesterday with testimony from a former jail inmate that Mrs. Duncan offered her $2,000 to help her break jail in January.

Mrs. Gladys Cline, 24, testified that Mrs. Duncan planned to overpower the jail matron in her cell and flee.

In the midst of Mrs. Cline's testimony Baldonado sprang to his feet and threw up his hands.

"Take me out of here," he babbled. "I've got to get out of here . . . I can't stand to listen to any more of this . . ."

He was taken to an anteroom. Mrs. Julia Ellen Price, 46, a convicted forger, said Mrs. Duncan told her she planned to kill the matron. Mrs. Price said she informed officers of the plan.

Another prosecution witness, Ralph Winterstein, 35, told the jury of eight women and four men that he once was asked to "take Olga Duncan for a ride and dispose of her."

Winterstein has admitted that he was the man who posed as Mrs. Duncan's son Frank in a phony marriage-annulment proceedings prior to Olga Duncan's death.

Says Vacationers Have Nothing to Fear There

Cubans Send Soft-Sell Tourist Director Here

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Most any night of the week, a New York reporter has a choice of three or more parties to attend. Usually they're stand-up, scotch-and-soda affairs in honor of movie stars, television premieres, new soap flakes or cars.

Last Friday it was different. There was a choice between a reception for Cuba's new Castro-appointed director of tourism or a soiree to celebrate the "freedom" of the Dominican Republic. After pondering for a good five seconds, we dropped in on the Cubans—not caring even to free-load for freedom, Trujillo style.

The guest of honor, a master of the soft-sell, was made around the chin and explained "I am one of the shaved barbudos." But he wore a small black moustache "as a gesture," and had a face as innocent of Madison Avenue influences as his confreres in the 26th of July movement, the country-boy rebels.

"We are ready now for the tourists of America," he said quietly. "Our hearts are still on our boys, and perhaps will be for a long time. But the guns are gone now. There is nothing to fear—only things to delight."

Oscar Ramirez had lived 15 years in the U. S. before he met Fidel Castro and was persuaded to become first treasurer and vice president of the 26th of July movement. "I got to know all kinds of Americans—Ah, I was so proud of them, the ones who gave us money—and so that is why Castro appointed me to this job.

"We want the kind of people who are workin' all the year round for the vacation," he said. "They will love our beaches and our quiet beauty."

Did that mean Cuba didn't want the wealthy, big-spender set as tourists?

"Ah well, do not put it that way. Put it that most, we want the other one."

Havana under late-fleeing Fulgencio Batista had its fill of the big-shot big-spenders and the milk-covered dolls who made quick weekend splurges to its racketeer-operated gambling casinos. Now, although the casinos at 16 plus clubs and hotels are again in operation, the search is for a different sort of trade altogether.

"We have gambling now," said Oscar, "for at least 90 days. We must have it, to keep the workers happy. But we look for another plan. And sooner or later, gambling will go."

Meantime, while the gambling is in operation, can he guarantee that it will be honestly run—that the mobsters, almost impossible to repress in a casino city, will be kept out?

"Listen," Oscar said, frowning, "if we don't keep it this way, we are entire loss. We have fight in of overthrowing him. He paused. We are not gonna stop... all I can say is, we think everyone has "Listen," he said, "I feel sure, a right to live in a Democracy."

The Sierra Maestra, where much of the bloodiest fighting took place between Batista's forces and Castro's rebels, is the section of Cuba which the tourist director visualizes as "a great, most beautiful place for you to come."

The mountains are high and overgrown. The roads, now, are not good. There are only a few small hotels scattered through the area.

The Cubans, however, will build it up and make the Sierra Maestra a magnificent resort area, Ramirez predicted, smiling with an expression that could be called confidence.

Still remembering the Dominican Republic celebration, we asked Oscar Ramirez whether it is true that many barbudos (bearded Castro rebels) have infiltrated Trujillo's stronghold with the intent

Courthouse Workers Favor New Building Downtown

Employees at the present Oakland County courthouse want a new one built on the downtown site, instead of more than two miles away on the proposed County Service Center plot.

An impromptu survey taken yesterday among most of the available courthouse employees showed 42 favoring the downtown site, 28 for the Service Center and five with no preference.

But wherever the new $2,875,000 courthouse is built—it is now, as in the past, slated for the past, slated for the Service Center—employees ask but one thing.

"It can be in Timbuktu for all I care. I just wish they would hurry up and build it," was one secretary's typical comment.

"NEW AND BIG"

Another said: "Just as long as it's new and big, I have no preference for location."

However, many of the feminine office workers in the courthouse envisioned their noonday shopping trips coming to an end with construction of the new building northwest of the downtown area.

The Oakland County Taxpayers League apparently has not given up its three-year-old fight to replace the present 35-year-old, three-story building with a modern courthouse at the current location, Saginaw and Huron streets.

Supervisors, however, are sticking to the 35-acre West Side site as being for "the good for the vast majority of the people of Oakland County."

Plans are being brought up to date following a favorable State Supreme Court opinion freeing funds to finance the building, the League in 1956 filed a lawsuit claiming these monies had been accumulated illegally.

Many of those who favored the selected Service Center site pointed out the better parking facilities which are to be made available.

State Capitol Flag in Bad Shape, Too

LANSING 16—The American flag flown over the State Capitol, like the state's finances, is in bad shape these days.

But unlike the finances, state officials hope to do something about the flag soon.

John Gaffner, state property manager, explained that a rope on the flag staff broke several weeks ago. Since then the flag has been suspended just by one rope.

The flag frequently tangles with the staff.

"We have a standing order for a stepladder to fix it," Gaffner said. "He's tried about eight times but just can't get up there because of the bad weather. We don't want to risk a man's life on it."

Gaffner added that it would cost about $5,000 to build a scaffolding to get at the flag so better weather is being awaited before a rescue is planned.

Voter Mail Not Likely to Change Things

Protest Solons Hiring Relatives

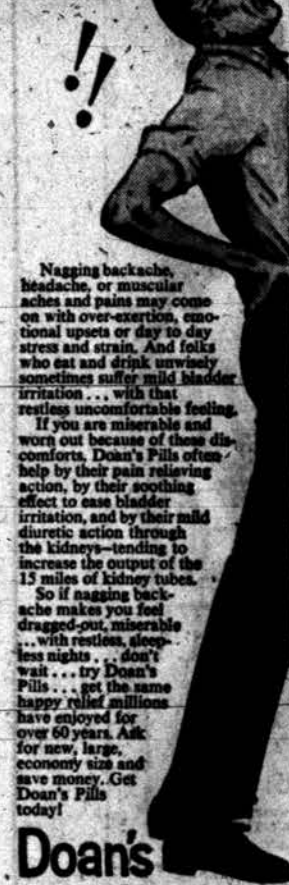

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A lot of voters are writing to Congress to protest against members putting relatives on their payrolls. But Congress over the years has become accustomed to this prerogative and doesn't plan to give it up. Despite criticism stirred by recent publicity of nepotism on Capitol Hill, not a single member of Congress so far has introduced legislation to stop the lawmakers from hiring relatives for their office staffs.

Any lawmaker who did sponsor such legislation would find himself unpopular with many of his colleagues.

The available evidence indicates that at least one out of every seven members—and possibly a much higher percentage —have employed relatives. Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson's brother, Sam Houston Johnson, has worked on his staff for many years.

Twenty-three years ago a House member sponsored a bill to bar members from employing relatives on their office staff. He was called before a House committee to explain it. At the hearing indignant committee members berated the Congressman as a publicity seeker. That was as far as the proposal ever got.

Nevertheless the indignant letters Congress is receiving are not being completely ignored.

House leaders earlier this year had planned early floor action on a bill to allow each of the 435 House members to hire a $14,160-a-year aide, boosting maximum payrolls over the $30,000 mark.

Now the measure is being delayed until the storm blows over. Some members fear it may be scuttled altogether.

Some of the sharpest barbs from letter writers were directed at the Rep. Steven V. Carter, freshman Democrat from Iowa who in January put his 19-year-old son on the payroll at $11,872, although he was taking part-time classes as a college freshman.

The wife of a serviceman stationed at Booster City, La., wrote Carter to complain that her husband gets only about $1 an hour "for defending the country" where as "if my arithmetic is correct" —Carter's son was getting $53 an hour for showing Iowa visitors around Washington.

Carter last week cut his son's pay to $6,400 and told the House the original pay had only been "temporary."

House Democratic leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) and House GOP leader Charles A. McNair (Ind.), neither of whom have relatives on their payrolls, recently expressed what is obviously the attitude of most members.

They said that a member of Congress shouldn't be barred from employing a relative, if the relative is competent and does work commensurate with his salary.

Most employed relatives fall into that category. Some do not. The Congressman himself is the sole judge of whom he hires and how much work the employee must do.

Riots Quelled in Colombia

Antigovernment Revolt Blamed on Communists by President Lleras

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Dozens of student ringleaders were reported in jail today and authorities claimed to have restored order after thousands of rioting youths battled police in antigovernment demonstrations.

Government Minister Guillermo Amaya Ramirez claimed the government had regained control of the capital.

The Cabinet went into emergency session after Tuesday's riots. Rampaging mobs overturned cars and smashed windows throughout the capital until police scattered them with tear gas, clubs and water hoses. Buses were sabotaged. Stores were forced to close.

Many rioters were reported injured. President Alberto Lleras Camargo charged that Communists and opposition leaders had inspired the disorders.

Some student organizations and unions issued statements denouncing the demonstrators.

It was the gravest outbreak against Lleras' regime since he took office last August as Colombia's first elected president in more than 10 years. The rival Liberal and Conservative parties reached a truce after ouster of dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, hoping to end their bitter civil war which for more than a decade had drained the nation's resources.

Grand Manitoulin, an island in Lake Huron, is almost as large as Rhode Island.

State Amvets Oppose Cui

DETROIT (AP)—State Commander Frank J. Lada of Allen Park is heading a Michigan Amvets delegation to Washington to oppose a $140,000 cut in the Veterans Administration's medical budget for Michigan. Lada's group also will oppose transfer of the VA's outpatient department from downtown Detroit VA offices to the Dearborn Veterans Hospital.

Daily mileage on 32,542 rural routes in the U.S. is 1,505,928 miles, or a total of 459 million miles a year.

Would Use 'Bet' Money to Start Cadillac Planning Fund to Attract New Plants

CADILLAC (AP)—Cadillac citizens concerned about the planned closing of a B. F. Goodrich Co. plant say they want to build a permanent industrial fund to lure new industry to this city of 11,000 persons.

At a mass meeting last weekend, the citizenry subscribed $26,000 and "bet" Goodrich it could make a profit if it stayed here.

Since then, the fund has grown to nearly $30,000. It will be returned to the contributors if the company pulls out as it has announced it would do.

"But," said Robert L. Kendall, president of the Cadillac Chamber of Commerce, "we've already had several citizens tell us to keep the money—some will even double it—to establish a permanent industrial fund to woo new business and industry to Cadillac."

At a meeting last night of the industrial promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the United Rubber Workers of America, Local 193, offered to take the lead in attracting new industry to the city. The local indicated it would also enlist the aid of other union members in the area.

Two major firms are reported to have shown an interest in Cadillac.

And Clyde O. DeLong, president of the Goodrich Industrial Products Division, has offered help in finding a new industry for this city of 1,800 unemployed workers.

But officials haven't given up hope in their efforts to keep Goodrich here.

The closing of the plant, scheduled for about May 1, means another hole in the community's economy. It would add 200 persons to the list of unemployed.

Gives $9,187 to Hospitals

DETROIT (AP)—More than $9,000 raised via a testimonial dinner for Andrew S. McFarlane, former president of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor, is being donated by McFarlane to two children's hospitals. Children's Hospital of Michigan gets $5,000 and the Children's Center at Kfar Saba, Israel, gets $4,187. The testimonial dinner marked McFarlane's 30 years of service to labor.

Escapee Added to Most Wanted

Garrison, Once Found in Detroit, Put Back on FBI List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edwin Sanford Garrison, who is described as "dangerous as a rattlesnake," today was put on the FBI's list of ten most wanted criminals for the second time.

Garrison first was named on the list Oct. 26, 1953, after his escape from an Alabama prison. He was captured eight days later in Detroit after an alert citizen, who had seen his picture in a newspaper, notified authorities.

Returned to prison, he escaped again Aug. 23, 1955. He was serving sentences of 15 to 30 years for burglary and grand larceny and life imprisonment for robbery.

Garrison, who will be 59 this month, was described as of slender build, 5 feet 9½ inches tall and weighing about 143 pounds. His numerous scars include two dim ones on his left forehead, one on the right, a 1½-inch scar on his right inner eyebrow and a ¼-inch scar on his left upper lip.

He has a criminal record dating back to 1925. During his time out of prison he has been employed as an auditor, bookkeeper, accountant, and calculator for a racing agency.

Hearing Opens on Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fight over labor legislation opens in the House today with Secretary of Labor, James P. Mitchell defending President Eisenhower's proposals against attacks from two sides.

A House Labor subcommittee scheduled Mitchell as the sole witness for two days of joint hearings on rival bills designed to curb racketeering and corruption in labor-management relations.

The chief rivals to the administration-sponsored legislation are a House version of a bill drawn by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and backed by a number of leading Democrats, and a sweeping measure offered by the chairman of the Labor Committee, Rep. Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.).

Kennedy's bill, strongly backed by the AFL-CIO, has been approved by the Senate Labor Committee.

Lauds High Achievement of Late Vice President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Charles Curtis, vice president of the United States 30 years ago, was a Kaw Indian. His record "marks the high tide of the American Indian in national politics." Patrick J. Hurley of Santa Fe N.M., said in a prepared speech today.

Hurley, a former secretary of war, spoke at ceremonies unveiling a bronze bust of Curtis in the Capitol. The bust soon will be placed in the Indian Hall of Fame at Anadarko, Okla.

The ship, The Lusitania, was sunk by a German submarine in 1915. It was a British liner, but carried 124 Americans.

Leader's MantleBritish Press Claims
Premier Has Emerged
as West's Key Figure

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was hailed in Britain today as the new leader of the Western alliance.

British observers said his visit to Moscow had made him the West's key figure in the future critical dealings with the Soviet Union on the issues of Germany and West Berlin.

Macmillan, on his return Tuesday, said Britain should "try to give a lead to find a way through."

The London Times commented: "With the American head of state's declining force, the German chancellor an old, unhappy man, and the French president fully preoccupied with other problems, the responsibility falling on the British prime minister to lead the alliance sensibly and yet strongly in the weeks ahead is paramount."

The Liberal News Chronicle said bluntly: "Macmillan arrived back in London from the Soviet Union and straightaway assumed the leadership of the West."

The Daily Telegraph said Macmillan was in a better position than any other Western statesman to assess the Soviet attitude.

"The skill and cool good sense he has shown in Moscow puts Macmillan in an enviable position of authority with which to fashion a united policy among the Western Allies," the Telegraph commented.

Macmillan appeared to have gained tremendous prestige as a result of his reconnaissance mission. Even opposition Laborite newspapers gave him a grudging slap on the back.

The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party said the prime minister "has done a good job in Moscow within the limits of the present Western policy."

The Daily Mirror, another fairly consistent critic of Macmillan, headlined its report from Moscow by correspondent Malcolm Muggeridge: "Macmillan — the man who broke the ice jam."

Researchers at the University of Illinois say it may be possible to use radiation to exterminate weevils and flour beetles, which ruin about $300,000,000 worth of grain and flour in the United States yearly. Tests indicate that low doses of nuclear radiation are effective. The quality of the irradiated flour is now being tested on rats and dogs.

OK Crackdown on Retirement

Commission to Enforce New Policy; Assessor First Affected

City commissioners last night placed top appointive officials within the scope of a new retirement policy, cracking down on repeated extensions past age 65.

The new policy says city employees can only get two six-month extensions, meaning they have to retire by age 66 from now on.

The first top official to be affected by the new policy is City Assessor Ray W. Ransom, who is 71. Commissioners decided Ransom would not be forced to retire until the end of the year.

The veteran assessor, who has been a city employee since 1934, said he would probably choose to work out the year, although he has been considering retirement for some time.

Besides the office of assessor, the other Commission-appointed posts included within the new policy are manager, clerk, attorney and finance director.

The change was suggested by the City Pension Board, which said it would be put into effect for all other city employees if the City Commission agreed appointed officials would be covered too.

With the Commission concurring in the new policy, it will now become effective for all city employees, officials said.

Pension board officials said that repeated extensions were defeating the purpose of the retirement system, and proposed the new policy to halt abuses.

Under the new policy, extensions will be granted only upon recommendation of supervisors, the pension board decided.

Manned Space Vehicles Urgent 1st for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.) said today the United States must be the first to develop a manned space vehicle that could deliver nuclear weapons.

"Manned space vehicles must have top priority," Stennis said in an interview.

He spoke as the Senate Space Committee approved authorization for $48,354,000 more money for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for use between now and July 1.

Farmers Urged to Feed Cows Sugar Beet Tops

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan farmers have been advised that sugar beet tops can be used as silage to increase dairy feed supplies or to replace some of the more expensive feeds.

C. F. Huffman, dairy scientist at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, says there is more than one and one-half million dollars worth of good feed not being used on Michigan farms where sugar beets are grown.

Huffman says one test showed milk production increased 7.7 pounds a day when 22 pounds of hay were replaced with 85 pounds of beet-top silage.

'People-Watching' Crow Flees Clawson Dog Pound

CLAWSON—Charlie, the "people-watching" crow, was bothering people.

"A vulture is roaming Clawson's main intersection," anxious residents informed police.

So, Charlie was picked up (the charge wasn't clearly stated) and the authorities brought him to the dog pound for observation.

That was more than a week ago. At the pound, between two frustrated cats and one rather bewildered basket hound, Charlie enjoyed all the luxuries Elmer A. Yench, the city's dog warden, could bestow.

Yench released Charlie the following day.

"It wasn't long before he was over at the Schalm School," Yench said, "following the kids around the playground and having himself a great time."

School officials found the disturbance too much, however, and it was back to the pound for Charlie. This time he was booked as a vagrant.

"This was a mistake," Yench said. "I let him go three times. He came back three times, regular as clockwork, following me around like a dog."

All efforts to give Charlie the bird failed. He refused to leave.

Finally Monday, as warm sunshine bathed the pound, Charlie sensed the need for his own kind. He cawed a farewell and soared off.

The absence may be only temporary. He's still gone but Yench feels "Who knows, he may be back. You have to say one thing about him," Yench added. "He was really a character."

Three Injured in Two Auto Accidents Here

Three persons were injured in two accidents late Tuesday night and early this morning, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Robert Algeo, 35, of 2275 Lakeville Rd., Oxford, and Wilbur J. Smith, 49, of 1500 Lapeer Rd., Lake Orion, were taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

Algeo, one of the drivers, was reported in fair condition today with face injuries and a possible concussion. Smith, a passenger in his car, was treated and released at the hospital.

Deputies said a car driven by Harold J. Gilbert, 33, of Utica, went out of control on an icy curve on Walton boulevard east of Squirrel road, Pontiac Township, and spun into the Algeo car head-on. Gilbert was uninjured.

A Pontiac motorist, Gerald H. Reno, 34, was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at 2 a.m. after he lost control of his car on ice and ran off Opdyke road near Auburn road, Pontiac Township.

Deputies said Reno, of 447 Thors St., ran onto the right shoulder, swerved back across the highway and smashed into a guard rail on the left hand side.

He was treated for minor injuries and released.

Romeo Bank Worker Fired After Shortage Revealed

ROME — Romeo Savings Bank officials today confirmed a shortage of between $3,500 and $3,600 in safety deposit box receipts following an audit by a Detroit firm.

Calling the shortage "misappropriations of funds," officials reported the consequent firing of one of the bank's employees, whose name they withheld pending possible charges by the bonding company presently conducting an investigation.

The former employee deemed responsible for the shortage has made partial restitution and will complete repayment as soon as possible, the bonding company reported today.

The shortage was discovered recently by bank officials and substantiated by an audit just completed by the Detroit firm of Touche, Niven, Bailey and Smart.

The shortage is not a matter of theft of one large sum but rather "misappropriations" of small amounts over a period of many months, bank officials said.

The exact figure will depend on an assessment to be levied by the federal government.

The employee's name is being withheld as no charges have been filed.

TRADING STAMP PLANS SCORED BY CANADA FARM FEDERATION!

Canada's largest farm organization, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, has protested to the Federal Government against the use of trading stamps by Canadian chain stores.

It has requested tighter laws against stamp plans.

In a brief submitted to the cabinet Thursday, the CFA said it believed trading stamps represented a costly form of forced tied-in sales of merchandise that served no other purpose than to make food distribution more expensive. SAVE MONEY—NOT STAMPS at TOM'S LEXINGTON, N. C. (AP) — A single-engine plane, went into a spin and carried three persons to their deaths Tuesday.

The occupants were Ben E. Radtall, 42, president and treasurer of the Carolina Yarn Mills at Cherryville; his wife, 37; Jack H. Scott, 35, general sales manager of the three Carolina mills; and Mrs. F. D. Quinn Jr., wife of the general manager of the Dora Yarn Mill at Cherryville.

Radtall, who frequently flew on business trips, was a member of the board of directors of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute. He was a past president of the Combed Yarn Spinners Assn.

The Radtalls are survived by three sons.

Mrs. Quinn was the mother of five children.

Scott is survived by his wife and three children.

Texas No Longer King but Has King of Beasts

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Residents in a northeast Dallas area told officers they heard what sounded like a lion roaring and thought possibly a mountain lion had moved into a wooded area.

Police found, instead, six African lions.

They were in cages, however. Earnest Ingraham of Maco, Ga., had parked the caged lions there while awaiting a date to put on a show at a local shopping center.

Fred Astaire Accepts Role With Lilli Palmer

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD — From far away Australia Fred Astaire cabled Bill Perlberg and George Seaton his enthusiastic acceptance of their offer to co-star with Lilli Palmer in "Pleasure of His Company," which they are getting ready for Paramount release.

The stage play by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Samuel Taylor was produced by Freddie Brisson and has been a smash hit on Broadway.

Taylor wrote the screenplay and this will be the first of Lilli's three picture deals for Perlberg-Seaton. She and Fred play the estranged parents who disagree on their daughter's marriage.

Fred has surprised everybody in "On the Beach" with his excellent performances — with nary a dance step!

David Selznick tells me that he will turn over "Tender Is the Night" and "Scarlet Lily," the story of Mary Magdalene, to 20th Century-Fox for Jennifer Jones. The first assignment given Sidney Poitier since he won the Academy Award nomination for "The Defiant Ones" (is by Hall Bartlett. Young Poitier, described as the most gifted young Negro actor in America, will be starred in "All the Young Men," a screenplay by Hall Bartlett, who will also produce and direct it.

Barbara Stanwyck laughed when I told her I had heard that it was all but settled for her to play Jennie Jans, Elsie Janis' dominating, hard-working mother.

"I never know what I'm going to do," Barbara said, "until I read it in your column. Naturally I would love to play that role — who wouldn't?"

Discouraged as Bob Hope is over the blood clot in his eye and the necessity for consulting a New York specialist, he still took time out to discuss with Dolores (Mrs. H.) the March 17 premiere of his picture, "Alias Jesse James."

Talk about type-casting — Buddy Bregman will play opposite Gale Storm in one of her "On Suspense" TV shows. Buddy plays a composer piano-playing character.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Erin O'Brien will pinch-hit for Burl Ives in Las Vegas April 6 so that he can attend the Academy Awards.

Eddie Foy Jr., who underwent surgery last week for removal of a kidney stone, is returning to Hollywood to recuperate.

David Ladd has himself a record deal with Dot records. He recorded "Bad Horse" and "Please Carry My Books" and on the strength of it, Randy Wood gave him a contract.

Shirley Boone will be on Pat's show Thursday night and they'll do a duet, "Side By Side," from their album which will be out soon. Pat says this is the first time he's had to hire a baby-sitter while hiring a guest star.

Stan Kenton whose wife, Anne Richards, opened a singing engagement at the State Brothers, got up and played the piano for her.

Bus Line Head, Family Found

Went to Florida After Threats; Said to Be in Financial Trouble

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A search for the president of the Kankakee Motor Coach Co., his wife and nine children has ended.

Victor Curtis wouldn't talk with newsmen about treatment he received in Illinois or why he put his family aboard a 37-passenger air-conditioned bus and drove to Tampa, but Mrs. Curtis had plenty to say.

Sheriff's deputy Daniel O'Loughlin of Kankakee County said authorities put out an alert Feb. 19, when the Curtis family and bus disappeared.

Mrs. Curtis spoke of telephoned threats to her and her husband. "Even our children have been threatened," she said.

"We were too aggressive. We took the bus line and I guess we took business that didn't belong to us."

The sheriff's deputy at Kankakee said Curtis had been having financial difficulties with the bus line.

Patrons complained of poor service, officials said. Curtis had been cited by the Illinois Commerce Commission for faulty vehicles during the year he ran the company.

A bank at Tampa seized the bus in which the family came to Florida. It gave Curtis 10 days to pay off a loan on it made by the City National Bank of Kankakee.

Mrs. Curtis, who said she had taken a job as a waitress, said an Illinois Commerce Commission member once asked her husband, "Why don't you wise up, pack your clothes and get out." She told newsmen the family would leave Tampa now that her husband's whereabouts was known. He has been working as a bus driver.

"We've got to go somewhere where they won't find us," she said. Mrs. Curtis wouldn't specify to whom "they" referred.

Kankakee police said they had never received any reports from Curtis or anyone else about threats to the Curtis family.

Girl, 11, Offers $61 to Erase Our National Debt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Kathy Hewitt, 11, grew concerned when she heard about the rising national debt.

In a letter to President Eisenhower, Kathy offered her life savings of $61 and added: "You don't have to pay it back."

The fifth-grader had been saving for a horse. But she told Eisenhower the horse didn't matter if the country was going bankrupt.

"Maybe the kids of the country could help out," she said. "Most kids would send you their savings."

The President was grateful, the White House said in a letter Kathy received Tuesday. But Wilton B. Persons, presidential assistant, said Eisenhower wants her to keep her money and buy that horse.

Grownups, the letter said, should worry about the national debt.

"The President wants me to explain to you," Persons said, "that young people do their part by being good citizens."

Feeling a little better about the economy, Kathy put the money back into the bank. "But I still believe," she said, "that our country is more important than luxury."

Political Machine Beaten in Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. Harold Grady, a young state's attorney in his first election fight, wrecked one of the last old-time political machines Tuesday night by defeating Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro in Baltimore's Democratic primary.

The 42-year-old prosecutor carried his running mates for comptroller and City Council president with him to victory as he turned back D'Alesandro's bid for nomination to a fourth straight term.

Grady candidates also were nominated to 7 of 30 City Council seats. Only one seat was held by an anti-D'Alesandro man on the present all-Democratic council.

In the May 5 general election Grady will oppose Theodore R. McKeldin, the city's mayor from 1943-47 and the only Republican ever to serve two consecutive terms as governor of Maryland.

The influential Baltimore Sun, departing from its policy of withholding endorsements in primaries, came out for Grady. In front-page editorials Sunday and Monday it urged voters to overthrow the administration.

FBI Arrests 2 in Bus Holdup

Traced by Trenchcoats in Search for Jersey Commuter Robbery

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Two nearly white trenchcoats led to the arrest of two young men the FBI contends are the bandits who robbed a commuter bus last Friday.

Donald Abbott, 21, of Upper Montclair, and Walter J. Shaw, 22, of Montclair, were arrested by FBI agents Tuesday.

They are charged with theft from interstate shipment.

The shipment was a De Camp company bus loaded with 62 passengers making a passage from New York City to Caldwell, N.J., and points in between.

Just after the bus emerged from the Lincoln Tunnel two young men aboard, clad in light-trenchcoats, said "There's going to be holdup." They collected $635 from the passengers before getting off in Ruthersford.

The FBI began checking stores. One in Montclair remembered selling coats to two boys answering the description of the bandits.

With the help of Montclair police, the FBI arrested Abbott near a tavern in Montclair and Shaw near his home. They said two .45 caliber automatics were in Abbott's closet.

Montclair police said the guns were stolen.

Turkey Battles 65 Pct. Illiteracy

Must Teach Soldiers to Read, Write Before Manual of Arms

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — The free world has a stake in Turkey's battle against illiteracy.

Although about 65 per cent of the nation's 24,000,000 population is illiterate, the Turkish army, a major factor in the NATO defense network, still must keep itself in fighting trim with up-to-date weapons manned by experts. This means teaching army recruits how to read and write even before they are taught the manual of arms.

Because of an all-out campaign against illiteracy the 500,000-man Turkish army's illiteracy rate now is down to 50 per cent and the figure, already better than the "savilla" rate, is decreasing every day.

The strength of Turkey's army relates to the free world because of the country's geographic position. A link with Europe and Asia, Turkey is the West's first line of defense against possible Communist aggression either in the Middle East or Europe.

In 1958, the government spent three billion, 500 million dollars for her armed forces, of which 887 million dollars came from United States military aid.

The 15,000-man air force was strengthened recently by F84 and F86F jets from Canada. The air force also is receiving F100 Sabre jets.

Bob Considine Says:

Hotel Magnate Has Own Foreign Policy

ATHENS — The Athens Hilton, whose cornerstone was troweled into place here the other day, will face the breathtaking heights of the Acropolis and its ragged but beautiful crown, the Parthenon.

The Nile Hilton fronts not only on that storied waterway but commands a view of the Pyramids. The Berlin Hilton looks down on Brandenburg Gate and beyond into sterile and regimented East Berlin. The Havana Hilton looms over the bay and Morro Castle. The Istanbul Hilton's balconies look out upon the needle spires of some of the world's most famous mosques. And so it goes, and will continue to go, wherever the man spreads his unique empire.

Hilton has a sense of history that transcends the hollow routine of making a decent return on his stockholders' investment. His prime motivation in expanding his brand of inn-keeping to foreign fields seems not so much an endeavor to add their peculiar monies to his fortune as an effort to stimulate what might be called his peace-through-travel-and-trade plan.

That is the strong theme that runs through all of the talks he must make on such occasions as the opening of the Nile Hilton.

His philosophy is quite simple; perhaps the more complex variety of diplomat would call it infantile. It is this: If you get to know your neighbor you diminish the chances of fighting him. The foreign hotels that bear his name are dedicated to that proposition. They make getting-to-know-your-neighbor a lot easier, more comfortable, more interesting.

The Hilton chain has spread through the world during a period of growing mistrust of our generally well-intentioned policies. But for him, the signs on the walls read "American, come here," instead of "American, go home." Perhaps the man himself is the key to the answer.

He comes to such places as Athens not so much in the role of the exploiter as an encouraging pit

Mackinac Bridge Revenue Rises

ST. IGNACE (UPI) — Increasing truck traffic over the Mackinac Bridge more than offset a decrease in passenger car traffic and resulted in an increase in bridge revenue for February over the same month last year, Prunty M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority said.

Total bridge crossings during February were 20,039 vehicles, compared with 21,670 during February, 1958, said Brown. But there were 7,148 crossings by heavy truck combinations last month, a 34.6 per cent increase over the 5,312 truck crossings in February a year ago.

The result was an increase in gross revenue to $99,948 compared with $94,842 in February, 1958.

Total revenue for the first two months of this year was $205,031 compared with $204,687 in January and February a year ago.

Admits Welfare Fraud

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Frances Rotondi, 42, of Detroit, admitted in Recorder's Court Monday she had been secretly employed for more than two years while she and her husband drew some $300 a month in aid to dependent children and disability checks. She pleaded guilty to defrauding the ADC of $5,456 while employed saying she needed the extra money for her eight children.

Flint Woman Shot to Death by Boss

FLINT (AP) — Miss Louise Riggs, 21, was shot to death today at the home of Alfred Austin, 36, where she was employed as housekeeper. Austin was arrested for investigation of murder.

Police said Miss Riggs returned home at 3 a.m. with a friend, Miss Margaret Hixon, 23, and renewed a quarrel with Austin who had objected to her going out with another man.

Austin told police the shooting was accidental. He said he got a shotgun from the basement to scare Miss Riggs. When he returned he said he found her peeling an apple and she made a pass at him with the knife and threw a vase at him. He said he was surprised when the shotgun went off because he didn't know it was loaded.

Miss Hixon said she was in another room when she heard a shot. Then she saw Austin carry Miss Riggs to a car and heard him say he was going to take her to a hospital.

Austin was arrested at the hospital where Miss Riggs was dead on arrival.

In St. Paul's Cathedral, the largest church in London, there is on the chapel floor an inscription: "To the American Dead of the Second World War from the People of Britain." Accompanying is a role of honor carrying the names of 28,000 British-based Americans killed in action.

Blame Melbourne Bowl Flood on Graham Crowds

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A downpour flooded Melbourne's new outdoor Music Bowl Tuesday night, and the crowds that turned out to hear Billy Graham were blamed.

The American evangelist drew a total of 350,000 people to the bowl for nightly meetings last week. The crowds overflowed onto the grassy mound surrounding the amphitheater, trampling the lawn into fine dust.

The heavy rain washed away the earth, clogging the drains and blocking the electric pumps which failed.

Portable pumps were working furiously today to clear the orchestra pit and dressing rooms of half a foot of water.

"It was an act of God," said one of Graham's crusade team.

The evangelist shifted his meetings from the bowl in the center of town to the city Show Grounds four miles away and suffered a sharp drop in attendance.

Between 23,000 and 60,000 persons had been coming out nightly at the bowl, but only 15,000 showed up Tuesday night.

Teach Boy He's Animal, He'll Be One, Says Solon

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — "If you teach a boy he comes from an animal, he'll act like it," said a sponsor of a bill to bar teaching of evolution.

Rep. Lloyd Estep (R) of Christian County told the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday night the teaching of evolution as a fact is equivalent to teaching atheism.

"I don't think we should teach that we came from ground squirrels or tadpoles," the lawmaker said.

Power--That's What Tigers Want in '59

Long Swat Is Badly Needed, States Norman

Kaline, Maxwell Must Carry Slugging Load This Season

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla.—Power, power and more power, that's what the Tigers are looking for this season. "We want all the singles we can get," said Tiger manager Bill Norman, but we have to get that long ball."

The two players who must supply this power are Al Kaline and Charley Maxwell among the regulars.

Kaline's average went back up in 1938 to .313 compared to .295 the year before, but his home run production fell off and as a result so did his RBI's.

Maxwell's 1938 figures fell in all departments for two consecutive years. "This is our problem," said Norman. "The batting averages of Kaline and Kuenn went up last year, but their production of extra base hits and runs batted in weren't as good."

Tuesday, which brought the best weather in a week, was a day for the hitters to get most of the attention. Norman put his hitters through three hours of hitting drills.

Kaline sent two balls over the left field fence with rookie Ken Walters blasting one over and another against the center field wall.

Walters, who batted only .255 at Charleston and had only eight homers, was hitting the ball hard after getting some help from Pat Mullin at Tigertown. It was doubtful, however, that Walters would make the 1939 squad.

In yesterday's drills Norman had outfielder Tito Francona working out at first base.

Gail Harris is a sure bet to secure the initial sack, but after him the Tigers have little to offer.

Big Larry Osborne is the player the Tigers may have to hold on to as Harris' understudy. Osborne hit .287 at Charleston and is actually the longest ball hitter to be found in the Detroit system.

He hit 21 doubles, one triple and 39 homers last year and had 97 runs batted in.

The Tigers thus have to admit that very little power can be found in the farm system. This leaves only one alternative for getting that power. That is a trade.

Who and when it will be is still unknown. Even the rumors are no longer heard.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

Pitchers Gerry Davis and Billy Hoak are the wind sprint champions while Tom Morgan and Paul Foytack hold up the rear in the races.

Catcher Charlie Lau and pitcher Bob Bruce, who played winter baseball, said the Cuban rebels were cordial to American players. "They're all wild baseball fans," said Lau.

Tigertown coach Pat Mullin was showing some of the Tiger rookies the film of the World Series to point out certain plays. When the film started to roll they came out upside down on the screen. "Must be the Japanese World Series," Mullin told the rookies.

The city of Lakeland begins its 25th anniversary celebration today, honoring the Tigers of 1934. All the Tigers present from that pennant winning year will be introduced in the exhibition season home opener ceremonies Sunday at Hensley Field. Sunday night a dinner for the entire present Tiger squad is planned.

CHICAGO (U)—Michigan had both winners and losers again last night in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

Then Boston Rallies to Tie Red Wings, 2-2

Howe Showered With Gifts

DETROIT (UPI)—"It's a long way from Saskatoon . . . don't mind the odd tear."

With that, the man claimed by many to be the greatest hockey player in history, Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings, broke down at center ice and thanked Detroit hockey fans for his "night."

His teammates presented him with a diamond ring but they had to settle for a 2-3 tie with the Boston Bruins, sparked by four of Howe's ex-teammates, in the only game played in the National Hockey League last night.

It was 20 years ago in Saskatoon,

Sask., that Gordie, who lived only for hockey, bashfully went up to the hotel where the Red Wings were staying while in town for an exhibition game and asked his hero, Sid Abel (now Detroit coach), if he could carry Abel's skates to the rink.

Since then Howe has been a superstar for Detroit for 13 seasons and helped the Wings to a flock of NHL and Stanley Cup titles.

Howe was given gifts valued at $10,000 to $15,000, including a 1939 Oldsmobile station wagon and the biggest surprise of all was that Howe's parents, Albert and Catherine Howe, were in it as it was driven onto the ice. They were secretly flown in from Saskatoon yesterday morning.

Howe, four-time winner of the Hart Trophy as the NHL's most valuable player—a mark tied only by the late Eddie Shore—chipped in with one assist in the game that broke a tie between Boston and New York for third place.

The Bruins went one point up on the Rangers while Detroit pulled within five points of New York and fourth place—the final Stanley Cup playoff spot. Both New York and Detroit have nine games left. The Wings have been in the playoffs an unmatched 21 straight years.

Ironically, it was former Detroiters that spoiled the night for Howe. Boston's "Ukrainian line" of Vic Stasiuk, Bruce Horvath and Johnny Bucyk, all former Red Wings, did the Boston scoring and another ex-Red Wing, Harry Lumley, turned in a standout job in the Boston net.

After Marcel Pronovost and Alex Delvecchio fired the Wings into a 2-0 first period lead, Horvath clicked in the middle period after a pass from Bucyk and Stasiuk set up Bucyk early in the last period. Lumley filled in for Don Simmons who underwent an emergency appendectomy Monday.

'M' Tankers Favored in Title Test

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Defending champion Michigan will be a heavy favorite to repeat when the Big Ten swimming championships open tomorrow in Michigan State's fancy new pool.

Michigan, with a string of 27 consecutive wins in dual meets, will be hard to beat.

Michigan's trio of Frank Laacki, Dick Haney and Carl Woolley will be competing with MSU's Don Patterson, Iowa's Gary Morris, Wisconsin's Fred Westphal and Ohio State's Don McPhee for individual honors in the freestyle events.

The meet will feature a private duel between Michigan's Cy Hopkins, Big Ten 100- and 200-yard breaststroke champion, and Frank Modine, NCAA champion in both events.

Two weeks ago, Modine edged Hopkins by one yard in establishing an American mark of 2:24 for the 200-yard distance.

Michigan's Tony Tashnick, the meet's only triple winner last year, will defend his 100 and 200-yard butterfly and 200-yard individual medley championships. Indiana's Bill Barton and Illinois'

Joe Rumsaker will be pushing Tashnick.

Indiana sophomore Frank McKinney, who holds the American record for the 200-yard backstroke at 2:22.4, is favored in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke events.

Much of the meet talent will be stacked in the 400-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relay events.

First place in the 400-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle events gets 14 points. A double winner could take 28.

Rests Near Scene of Triumphs Booth's Rites Today

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Little Albie Booth, Yale's legendary football hero, will be laid to rest today in the shadow of the Yale Bowl.

Burial will be in St. Lawrence Cemetery, which is diagonally across the street from the bowl, following a Requiem Mass at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in nearby Hamden, where Booth lived until his death of a heart attack last Sunday at the age of 51.

Many prominent sports figures, political leaders and ordinary fans who still remember Little Albie's glory days at Yale from 1909 to 1921 gathered here for his funeral.

The "Mighty Atom" was considered by many the greatest football player, pound for pound, in the game's history. His feats and spectacular last minute scoring made him a legend in his own time.

During his playing career, he never weighed more than 147 pounds and most of the time much less.

His alma mater considers him the living example of the fictional Frank Merriwell of Yale.

Booth captained five teams, more than any other man in Yale history, and won eight varsity letters. His fabulous feats lured Hollywood to make a movie about his football career in 1932.

Ex-Ring Champ Hit-Run Victim

JIMMY CARTER STRUCK DOWN NEAR HOME; HIS CONDITION IS SERIOUS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jimmy Carter, 35, former world lightweight boxing champion, was struck by a hit-run driver late last night and seriously injured, police reported.

Carter, who held the title three times and lost it for the final time to Wallace (Bud) Smith on June 29, 1935, was suffering from head injuries and face lacerations, doctors at Central Receiving Hospital said.

The veteran fighter was found sitting in the middle of the street on a block from his home in a dazed condition. Police said they have been unable so far to find any witnesses to the accident.

Carter, a native of Aiken, S. C., launched his pro-career in 1946 and captured the lightweight crown from Ike Williams in 1951 in New York. He lost the title the next year to Lauro Salas in May but regained it in October.

Paddy DelMarco took the title away from Carter in 1954 but Carter again won it the same year. After he lost the title to Smith in 1955, he had a rematch but lost.

Detroit's Fourth-Period Rally Fails to Avert 116-107 Defeat

NEW YORK (U)—The Detroit Pistons put on a strong, late drive but it fell short in a 116-107 loss to the Philadelphia Warriors last night.

Paul Arizin, bucketing 36 points, proved too much of a Philadelphia advantage. He shot 14 field goals and scored on eight of 10 free throws. The Pistons outscored Philadelphia 33-25 in the final quarter, but it was too little too late.

The National Basketball Assn. game was part of a doubleheader. In the other game, Syracuse won from New York, 127-120.

Detroit, led by Gene Shue with 20 points, came within nine points of the Warriors 99-90 with seven minutes to play. Arizin then wrecked the visitors' chances with four quick goals.

Big Ten in Spring Confab

Rose Bowl Renewal Studied

MADISON, Wis. (U)—Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors are expected to take up the question of the post-season Rose Bowl football game this week, even though West Coast schools have not made a move to continue the series past 1960.

The subject will come up at the Big Ten's annual spring meetings here beginning Thursday.

The current Rose Bowl pact between the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast Conference expires after the 1959 New Year's Day game.

Complicating the discussions is the fact that the Pacific Coast Conference, which provides the opposition, ceases to exist as a conference on July 1. Its place will be taken by the Assn. of Western Universities, embracing California, Southern California, UCLA and Washington.

U.S. Skier Wins at Squaw Valley

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—The United States finally came up with a winner in the North American Nordic Ski Championships. But he says he won't compete here next year in the Winter Olympics.

PFC. Lawrence Damon of Burlington, Vt., won the 20 kilometer (12.5 mile) ski-and-shoot biathlon yesterday in the final event of the meet. It was an Olympic trial race and the first biathlon ever held here.

Damon, 25-year-old engineer, said he can't compete in the Olympics because he plans to enter the University of Vermont graduate school after being discharged from the Army this year.

Damon toured the rugged course in 1 hour, 48 minutes, 9.3 seconds including 14 minutes penalty for missing seven of his 20 targets.

Skippers Unable to Halt Bentley Quintet; 70-50

Redford Union Defeats Vikings, 63-49, in 'A' District Opener

By BILL CORNWELL

The 1959 Michigan high school basketball tournament was a short one for Waterford and Walled Lake.

Both Inter-Lakes Conference members absorbed decisive lickings last night in the opening round of the Class A district tournament at the Southfield High School gymnasium.

Livonia Bentley had too many guns for the Skippers as the Bulldogs coasted to a 70-50 triumph after a fairly close 1st half. Redford Union's balance defeated the Vikings, 63-49, in the nightcap of the twin bill.

Only one game is scheduled at Southfield tonight, but it's of great interest to Pontiac Central. Host Southfield tangles with U. of D. High at 7 and the winner goes against the Chiefs on Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Waterford managed to make things interesting for the first 15 minutes, but Livonia's superior shooting and rebounding told the story after intermission.

Tom Eveland poured in 31 points to spark the Bentley attack, followed by Don Phillippi with 16 and Jim Carmichael's 15. Huskey Barry Campbell scored 16 for the Skippers, all in the 1st half, and little Ed Stigers tallied 15 points, 11 of them in the 4th period.

Walled Lake followed Waterford to the sidelines after trailing the Union cagers all the way in a sloppy, loosely-played contest.

The Vikings kept within striking distance during the 1st quarter, but a poor 2nd period put them 11 points down at halftime, 29-18. They fell 20 behind late in the 3rd stanza and their attempts to rally never came closer than 10 points.

Redford's balanced offense placed four players in two-figure scoring, paced by Ron Hagen's 19 points. Bob Smith netted 13 for Walled Lake.

Shamrocks Pressed to Trip Hartland

Rams Smother OLS

By H. GUY MOATS

An all-Suburban Catholic League finale for the District Class C state basketball tourney at Pontiac Central High gymnasium was assured last night.

With both Pontiac parochials victors in opening tests and their 2nd round opponents also members of the SCL, the district champion has to be an SCL club. And the odds favor Orchard Lake St. Mary, SCL kings, to repeat as district winners.

Eaglets tangle with St. Frederick, which faced with a hapless Our Lady of Sorrows club from Farmington, for a 58-37 win.

Eaglets had drawn a bye. OLSM has defeated Rams, and both lives in the lower bracket where St. Michael faces St. Mary after outlasting Hartland, 45-37, in last night's nightcap. The Royal Oak team had a 1st round bye.

The Ram-OLS affair was really a mismatch. The Farmington club managed a single point in the opening period and that one didn't come until the last minute and a half of the period. St. Frederick hit for 18 (8 by Tom Derocher) in the same session. OLS didn't sink a goal until midway in the 3rd period.

Derocher set the scoring pace with 15.

Hartland proved unexpectedly difficult for the Shamrocks, who were outplayed much of the first half on the boards. After the intermission, however, the north-siders improved, and following a 27-27 tie in the 3rd period, ran out a 38-31 lead going into the finale.

Mikemen's scoring was well balanced, with all six who played figuring in the totals, led by Pat Campbell's 14, Chuck Strohman and Tom Dabbs 10 each.

Four Thumb Schools Win Highland Park in Romp

Highland Park, one of several Class A powers hoping to beat the state championship, got off to a good start last night by breezing past weak Royal Oak Kimball 60-22 as the district hoop tournaments got under way.

Lakeview was another area "A" victor. Almont and Brown City won in Class C as did Dryden and Memphis in "D" giving Thumb schools a 4-0 record for opening night. Armada was eliminated.

Highland Park had no trouble at all at Birmingham with the entire squad seeing plenty of action after the score reached 20-13 at halftime. John Kourakis topped the scorers with 19 which was matched by Kimball star

Mike Harris. Lakeview walloped South Lake 74-50 at East Detroit featuring a 20-point night for John Switchukis. Lakeview is automatically in the regionals.

Almont's 47-37 victory over Capac was its toughest of four wins this season over its league foe. Capac trailed by only two at halftime. Bob Wallace swished 14 and Don Eschenburg 12 for Almont as Bill Abraham and John Kersten had 15 and 11 in defeat.

Armada gave Marine City a busy time in the 2nd game of a doubleheader at Port Huron before bowing 68-52. Terry Wills of the Tigers paced both teams with 24 and Ken Montgomery added 14. The winners broke the contest open in the closing minutes. Armada had led 8-0 early and 15-10 at the 1st period.

Brown City coasted to a 54-33 romp over Harbor Beach at DeKerville sparked by Bob Fisher's 25. He had outscored the losers by four at halftime with the count 34-13.

Dryden had too much for Michigan School for the Deaf in a 56-35 triumph at Grand Blanc. It was just the opposite for Memphis which had to come from behind in the 4th quarter to down Detroit Sweetest Heart of Mary 44-36 at East Detroit. John Barber hooped 12 for MHS.

All the area winners will play their 2nd contests Thursday. Highland Park will meet Ferndale; Almont tangles with mighty Inlay City. Brown City battles the victor in tonight's Sandusky-DeKerville game. Dryden faces Flint St. Mary and Memphis goes against Marine City Holy Cross.

Anglers' Total Gains, Hunters Slip

By The Press Outdoor Editor
Fishing, probably the greatest single outdoor activity in the nation has strengthened its position in that respect, while followers of the chase — hunters — have slipped somewhat, from nationwide figures compiled by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

More people are going fishing, the government agency reports, with some 900,838 more licenses issued by the States, during the 12 months ending last June, than in the preceding 12-months period.

MICHIGAN LEADS IN HUNTING

For the same period, the service says, hunting license sales declined by 154,292. Altogether, the combined total of license sales reached 34,941,729. This figure topped the previous high mark of 34,195,183 set in 1956-57.

Michigan's place in the hunting license figures is at the top, with 1,154,450, leading New York and Pennsylvania.

Fishermen paid $45,410,462 for 20,177,005 licenses. The cost of 14,764,124 hunting permits was $53,607,608. Fishing and hunting are big businesses, anyway one looks at them!

More honors growing out of his sensational skeet shooting prowess over the last four or five years, have come 14-year-old Eddie Brown's way. The 1958 junior NEBA (and world's) champion, who shot an unprecedented 773x775 score at the world meet last summer at Oakland County Sportsmen's club, has been named captain of the Junior division for Jimmy Robinson's (Sports Afield) All-America skeet team.

Eddie's older brother, Bill, was also named to the team headed by permanent captain, Ed Calhoun of Salisbury, Md. Ains Borsum, of Baldwin, was the only other Michigan shooter honored on the squad. Calhoun, a chicken rancher, has headed the team for the last three years.

The Brown brothers are sons of Bill Brown, Birmingham motor dealer.

TEX CONTINUES HIS SPREAD!

Tex, the terrific Dane, a three-weeks old phenomenon of the canine world, has doubled his birth weight, now believed to be a record for the breed. Tex isn't his registered name, but it fits perfectly. Owners, and dumbfounded breeders, of Tex, the Hank Roberts of Raven Hills kennels, say he weighed 6-pounds last week, 3-pounds at birth.

"George Berner, editor of Dog World magazine, has written that he never heard of a Dane puppy weighing 3-pounds at birth. He is making a widespread check. At last weekend's DKC show we heard a lot of comment about Tex and his unusual size," Mary Jane Roberts reports.

Legislative action is sought, in a measure introduced by Rep. John Kilborn (R-Petokey), to boost the creel limit for bluegills, to strike at trout "smugglers" and to permit ice fishermen to keep trout that are hooked during winter ice-fishing. The bill is of interest to area anglers chiefly for the "gill and ice-fishing angles."

Current bluegill limit is 15, would be 25 under the bill. Many trout are hooked in winter, but must be thrown back. Mortality is high, and many fishermen feel it would be better to be allowed to keep the fish than to permit them to die, anyway.

CARS TAKE BIGGER TOLL THAN ARCHERS

For the third consecutive year automobiles have taken a toll of 3,000 deer, on Michigan highways. The total is believed larger than the 1958 archery-deer season, which has been the case since 1954. Total was 3,058 mostly recorded on northern Lower Peninsula roads. Number killed on southern LP highways was 834, Conservation Department says.

Newest group organization within the framework of OCSC is the Life Member club, headed by past-OCSC prexy, Dr. P. B. Jones. These "special" Sportsmen's club members expect to have a roster of about 100—with close to 50 now on the list. Besides Dr. Jones, other officers include Dick Daugherty, vice-president; Tice Woody, secretary-treasurer and Ken Van-Horn, sergeant-at-arms.

Fewer Bruins for Hunters

LANSING (U) — Bear hunters would be limited to one kill every other year under a bill readied for introduction into the House, Monday.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Emil Peltz (R-Rogers City), also would require bear hunters to buy a $2 stamp in addition to a small game hunting license.

Aquatic Iguana

The sea iguana is the only lizard to adapt itself to marine conditions. It lives solely on seaweed and will remain under water, feeding for a considerable time.

Record Ski Season for State Resorts

GAYLORD (AP)—The year of the big show has been a bonanza for people who run winter sports and ski parks in Michigan.

Directors of the East Michigan Winter Sports Council, meeting in Gaylord yesterday, were told this winter season will top all previous years by possibly two to one.

Deer Menace Autos

KING GEORGE, Va. (U)—William R. Gardner, chairman of King George supervisors, says deer are so numerous in the county that they are a menace to motorists. He is asking that a hunter's limit be increased from two to three a year.

Solunar Tables

The following solunar tables, designed especially for the Pontiac area, can be consulted to good advantage by anglers seeking the best times for their sport. Since rabbit season is now closed, hunters seeking "open shooting" may still find use of the tables as an aid to further sport such as crows and other nonprotected species. Tables are for the ensuing week:

Stresses Work in Superior

U. S. Battles Lampreys

LANSING — The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has been granted permission to continue its work in controlling and destroying sea lamprey in Michigan streams tributary to three of the Great Lakes.

Conservation Department Director Gerald E. Eddy designated 29 upper peninsula streams tributary to Lake Superior in which the federal agency may conduct chemical treatment.

Director Eddy also designated 83 streams tributary to lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron in which the Service may install, maintain and operate screens, weirs, traps and electrical devices. To meet its June 30, 1960 deadline for chemical treatment of all Lake Superior lamprey streams, Gaylord, supervisor at Ludington for the Service, says it will discontinue operating electrical barriers in 19 streams tributary to Lake Michigan during 1959 and 1960. The federal agency expects to operate its devices in the remaining 64 streams between April 1 and July 31.

Trout Festival April 24 to 26

National Trout Festival at Kalkaska, in the heart of the Michigan trout country, will take place April 24, 25, 26, John T. Shoemaker, chairman, announced this week.

The festival marks the beginning of spring and summer season for outdoors Michigan. This will be the 12th annual event, and it is expected thousands of sportsmen and their families will be on hand for the first week-end of the trout-fishing season.

Many Oakland County and Pontiac anglers annually visit the events at Kalkaska, try their luck opening day on the Manistee and Boardman rivers, or one of the many trout lakes in the area. Big rainbows and browns are among the opening day trophies for which many prizes are given away annually.

A trout king will be named soon to succeed Saginaw's Dick Davis, the 1958 "monarch." The queen contest ends on the 24th, when the new queen will be crowned at the festival ball. Cold and rain marred the opening a year ago, but it was a big success, despite the handicaps.

OCSC Archers Name Team for 'Classic'

Archery club members from Oakland County Sportsmen's club have selected a four-man team to represent the organization in the big Ben Pearson Classic, March 28-29, at Detroit Fair Grounds.

Based on final scores in a 16-shooter test, over a Chicago round, same as will be shot at Detroit, the top quartet averaged better than 700 of a possible 800 count. Team will include Louis Shelden, Bill Pascher, Tom Johnson and George White.

OCSC's archers also await the first outdoor shoot of the spring, April 5, over the club course. Club officials say any archer in the area may participate in this, or other regular shoot held by the group.

Audubons Convene

Pontiac Chapter of the Audubon Society of Michigan will convene this evening in the Community Chest building on Franklin boulevard, at 7:30 p.m.

Wildlife films will be shown and refreshments will be served. Meeting takes place in the board room on the second floor.

Keep Anglers, Campers Apart

LANSING (U)—Signs and guardposts will keep campers from competing with fishermen on Michigan's most crowded public fishing sites if state conservation officials have their way.

F. A. Westerman, chief of the conservation's department's fish division, will suggest the move to the conservation commission at its March 12-13 meeting here.

The state owns 725 public fishing sites bought with proceeds from fishing license sales. Camping is allowed on all but 46.

"Over the last few years camping with tents or house trailers has become so popular on some sites that it has presented a real problem from the sanitation and nuisance complaints from neighbors, as well as to limit the parking facilities for fishermen," Westerman said.

Signs and guardposts on problem sites might take care of the situation, he said, especially since caretakers aren't assigned to fishing sites.

Could It Be That Liz Doesn't Like Cigars?

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Eddie Fisher's suddenly given up cigars and has stocks of them he's going to give away to confirmed smokers. Eddie didn't say why he gave them up—but didn't Mike Todd—after he came under Liz Taylor's spell—try to quit "heaters," too?

Tallulah Bankhead is full of surprise. Miriam Hopkins, talking to her at a party about a show they were in, said, "I was trembling in my shoes at following you." Tallulah answered, "You should have been"—then added, "I was trembling myself."

The boss of a new music publishing outfit was being lofty to a composer. "You send us your song, and if it's good, we'll send you a check," the publisher said. "No," answered the composer, "you send me your check, and if it's good, I'll send you my song."

While in Japan directing film shorts, Arthur Cohen ordered some cigaret cases made up as gifts but told the native workmen not to label them "Made in Japan." The workmen nodded, and brought the cases to him marked, "Not Made in Japan." ... Speaking of a beauty queen, Mrs. J. W. Roach of St. Joseph, Mo., says, "She never reigns but what she really pours it on."

One of the busiest spellers of TV commercials on the N.Y. scene is a Boston gal with a down-east dialect.

Irene Hennessy, a pretty brunette who used to skate with the Icecapades, corrected her dialect by going to speech classes—which also taught her a little southern accent in case there was a job open for a Dixie sponsor. Wife of a Boston oral surgeon, mother of a 3-year-old son, Irene spends two or three days a week in New York doing commercials and watching for a chance to crash the Broadway stage.

One of her sponsors was a brewery. Irene had trouble with that because she hit her r's strong and usually said "brurrriiirrrrr." One time something went wrong mechanically and Hopalong Cassidy's picture stayed on the TV screen too long. Out of his mouth came the well-modulated voice of our heroine. Hopalong was heard saying, "Hello, I'm Irene Hennessy."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL ... Tony Bennett got so many angry letters from fans telling him not to have his nose bobbed that he'll probably give up the idea ... Frank Sinatra arrived in town quietly. Lady Beatty arrived a few days ago. Coincidence? ...

EARL'S PEARLS: The old-fashioned housewife's menus were carefully thought out, the modern woman's menus are carefully thawed out.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Robt. Q. Lewis hears that Lawrence Welk added two men to his Champagne Music band—a trumpeter and a grape stomper. ... That's earl, brother. (Copyright, 1959)

The association is constructing a major observatory on Kitt Peak, 40 miles southwest of Tucson, for cooperative use by astronomers and major universities with astronomy departments.

A spokesman said AURA officials have long been intrigued with the idea of space telescopes which they say would permit them to get better, clearer pictures of distant stars.

But he said such a development is many years in the future after many engineering problems have been solved and that the Kitt Peak project is still the group's major undertaking.

Builder in Wrong Turn, Puts Houses on City Land

NORFOLK, Va., (AP) — City Council rescued an embarrassed builder Tuesday who missed his building sites by two blocks and constructed three houses on city-owned property.

After a round of chuckles and wisecracks, council voted to accept an offer of $1,800 from the Karen Corp. for three lots.

"He turned right when he should have turned left," Councilman L. L. Layton speculated about the mixup. Mayor W. Fred Duckworth said it appeared there was nothing to do but "bail him out."

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP) — Strong security forces today tried to crush a wave of militant African nationalism the British government charged was instigated to massacre white settlers.

Screaming vampire jets and armored cars were called out to break up riots Tuesday that resulted in 26 African dead and scores of wounded, including 32 nationalists and several policemen.

Crowds gathered menacingly all over this sprawling British East African protectorate — roused to a fighting temper by the arrest of nationalist leader Dr. Hastings Banda.

The rioters were accused of using women and children as human shields in a raid on a prison at Mzimba to free a number of African nationalists.

The uprising shook the British government in London. Opposition Laborites in the House of Commons warned of another Cyprus.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd defended the proclamation of a state of emergency in the protectorate populated by 3 million blacks and only 6,000 whites. He declared the government had uncovered African plans for a massacre.

Mobile security forces, racing to far-flung trouble spots to put down every show of resistance, appeared to be gaining the upper hand.

The arrest of Banda, 54, who describes himself as "the extremist of the extremists" but against violence, was followed by the roundup of more than 100 nationalist leaders. The government banned their organization, the African National party.

Banda, seized in his pajamas, was quickly flown out of the country. Presumably he was taken to Bulawayo, in neighboring Southern Rhodesia, where more than 400 nationalist leaders rounded up last week are being held.

Southern Rhodesia is the ruling seat of the Central African Federation that includes Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia. The South Rhodesian government declared a state of emergency last Thursday to keep rioting from spreading over the border.

Jack Benny Gets Musicians' Card

Plays With Symphony at 'Frisco; Critic Says He Caused Earthquake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jack Benny has a musicians' union card now.

The comedian received an honorary membership card in the American Federation of Musicians Monday night in an appearance as guest violinist with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Herman D. Kenin, who recently succeeded James C. Petrillo as president of the AFM, and Charles H. Kennedy, president of San Francisco AFM Local 6, presented the gold card.

Benny's performance with the 100-piece symphony grossed $51,900 to benefit the orchestra's pension fund. It drew this comment from music critic Alfred Frankenstein of the San Francisco Chronicle:

"Musical criticism flinches, quails and quietly resigns its office when it is faced with an artist of Jack Benny's caliber."

Frankenstein declared that the harmless earthquake here Monday afternoon "was caused by Felix Mendelssohn whirling in his grave while Jack Benny rehearsed his violin concerto ... in preparation for last night's pension fund concert."

"If Benny had played the Beethoven Concerto, it would have been 1906 all over again." The great earthquake was in 1906.

Prepared Zoos Now Available

Hunter Sells Starter Set and Tells Keepers How to Handle and Feed

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fine art of pre-packaged merchandising now extends to zoos.

You can buy them ready-made. Wyman Carroll, a tall, young free-lance wild game hunter of rugged good looks, is peddling zoos for a mere $120.00 C.I. (Cages Included.)

His pre-fab zoo includes two giraffes, a pair of elephants, two rhinos, lions, tigers, jaguars, panthers, assorted small mammals, numerous reptiles and birds.

Carroll is now in East Africa, filling orders for perhaps three more currently zoo-less American cities.

The packaged, or starter-set, zoo is a natural outgrowth of Carroll's career. For about a dozen of his 29 years, he has tramped and trapped his way through jungles to pick up suitable specimens for various customers all over the world.

Carroll has a complaint about some zoos.

"Too many of them have become static and haven't tried to reproduce the animal's natural habitat as closely as possible. Gorillas must feel dirt under their feet."

"And zoo directors must continually find new ways to make the animals healthier and happier with better diets and cleaner surroundings."

"You know," Carroll said, "in the jungle, the lions eat entrails and viscera. But in our zoos, they get big chunks of meat. I once persuaded a zoo director to feed his cats on the jungle diet and the animals started to look better, with shiny coats of fur, bright eyes and better health."

"But along came some old dowager, type lady complaining about the cheap food the lions were getting. The director went back to the chunk meat diet and the cats went back to their listless, dull ways, too."

Carroll's chief dream is to build a permanent animal world's fair. "We have the land near Naples, Fla.," he said, "and all we need is about two-and-a-half million dollars. We'll place animals on islands so visitors can watch them as they appear in the jungle. We'll build life-size statues of animals that are no longer around, such as dinosaurs."

Fisher is believed to be seeking a Nevada divorce—which can be obtained in six weeks—presumably so he can wed Elizabeth Taylor, Miss Reynolds' California divorce of Feb. 19 will become final in a year.

There has been speculation that the singer will establish residence for a Nevada divorce when he opens a nightclub engagement April 1 in Las Vegas. He was not available for comment.

Try to Trace Deaths of 200 Memphis Tots

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Coroner J. Robert Teabeaut says he is trying to pinpoint an unknown malady that has caused scores of unexplained deaths among Negro infants.

The Commercial Appeal Tuesday quoted an unnamed official at City Hospital as estimating that 200 infants between the ages of 3 months and 18 months had died of the disease in 12 months.

Nearly all were brought to the hospital after they became ill. Teabeaut said the deaths have been listed as caused by an overwhelming infection.

'Manie's Friends' Delights as Honest, Unsticky Show

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK (UPI) — "There's so much talent backstage," said Bob Hope at one point last night, "that they caught Ed Sullivan in the hall with a net."

That's really not much of a joke, but I guess as well as anything it sums up "Some of Manie's Friends," a 30-minute special dedicated to Emanuel Sacks, an NBC vice president who died a year ago.

Hope, Frank Sinatra, Sid Caesar, Dinah Shore, Perry Como, Nat Cole, Danny Thomas, Rosemary Clooney, Eddie Fisher, Jane Wyman, Tony Martin, Kay Starr and Harry James were on hand to pay tribute to Sacks and to contribute their $200,000 joint salary for the evening to the Sacks Foundation, which researchers mental and physical diseases.

For a show hinged together from live and taped segments, it was remarkably flow and more important, for a tribute show, it was notably free of the cheap gush that too often mars efforts of this kind.

"Sincere" has become a sneer word in our language recently, but last night's show did have a genuine ring of sincerity—it was honest and unsticky in its niceness.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Jackie Gleason will star in a two-hour CBS-TV special, "The Baker's Wife," next season.

The Bing Crosby ABC-TV special pulled a 33.1 Trendex for its first half hour Monday compared to a 15.0 for CBS-TV's Ann Southern Show and a 16.3 for NBC-TV's Arthur Murray Party.

In its second half hour the Crosby Show dropped to a 23.7 but still out-Trendexed the 14.6 of CBS-TV's Dennis Day Show and the 28.6 of NBC-TV's Arthur Murray Party.

Fish Must Wonder: 'What's Their Line?'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — It was the first fishing trip of the year Tuesday for Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Martin.

They got up early, drove to a lake, rented a boat, loaded it with fishing poles, minnow bucket, sandwiches and coffee, found a nice isolated spot and happily watched the hungry fish leaping around them. Then they discovered they had left their fish hooks at home.

WORLD'S FASTEST — France's new Griffon jet fighter has set a 1,018-m.p.h. record for speed at Istres, France. The record, if made official, could eclipse the 727-m.p.h. mark set by an American Skyray. The griffon, after which the craft is named, is a mythological beast, half eagle, half lion. The mark was set on a 62½-mile closed course.

Old French Bell Goes to Chapel at Air Academy

EVERETT, France (U) — The U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., soon will have a chapel bell as venerable as some of the traditional trappings at West Point and Annapolis.

The bell, crated and secure, has left by plane for its new resting place.

The bell is an 800-pound beauty that was installed in the village Roman Catholic church of Neuville near here in 1812. It is the French custom to name church bells. Caroline Antoinette is the name the village gave to the bell now destined to bring Air Force cadets to worship.

Villagers recall the old bell as a fine tone, due in part to the 28 pounds of silver melted into it. It served the village well until 1950, when the old church, in bad repair, lost its faithful to nearby churches.

The bell was purchased by the Air Force for the chapel at its base here.

However, the architects and bell purchasers didn't coordinate. When the chapel was finished it was found that the bell tower wasn't strong enough for "Caroline Antoinette."

The bell remained crated and unused until the base here offered it to the Air Force Academy.

Confidence is the feeling you have before you know better. Facts are a terrible obstacle in the way of prejudice. A cynic tells us that ambition is just a case of working yourself to death so you'll be able to live better. — Earl Wilson.
