West Virginia Senator Dies

H. M. Kilgore Elected Three Times to U. S. Senate; Age 63

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harley Martin Kilgore, the first West Virginian ever elected to three successive terms to the U. S. Senate, died early today.

Death came at 2:23 a.m. to the 63-year-old Democrat at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

He became seriously ill Feb. 25 when he suffered "a minor stroke" at the hospital. He had gone there 12 days before for a physical checkup and treatment for high blood pressure.

With Kilgore's death, the Democratic majority in the Senate was reduced to one seat, 48-47. The West Virginian was the first senator to die in this session of Congress.

During his more than 15 years as a senator Kilgore sponsored legislation for stricter mine safety, more adequate social security and unemployment compensation. He also authored labor bills, a federal program to combat adult illiteracy, and small business and antimonopoly legislation.

Foreign Policy Quiz Facing Dulles Today

Secretary of State Set to Answer 2nd Round of Public Questioning

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles faces his second round of public questioning today in the great American Foreign Policy debate.

The first round, was on Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The debate there was expanded from an argument about 18 light tanks for Saudi Arabia into a classic controversy over whether the United States is doing well or poorly in the cold war with Russia.

In answering politically-hostile Senate questions, Dulles claimed that free world strength has beaten the old Communist tactics and has forced the Russians to try a new line.

Many newsmen, skeptical of the Dulles' claim, have the chance to test new questions at the secretary during today's news conference.

The reporters were almost certain to ask the secretary to give specific evidence to support his claims that the U. S. is outdoing Russia in the cold war.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) added new fuel to the controversy yesterday with a speech on the senate floor in which he posed a series of questions to Dulles.

Through the questions, Fulbright charged that Dulles was not taking the American people into his confidence and was painting a distorted picture of the world situation.

Fulbright, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that free governments of the world have been working together through informed public opinion, but then asked:

"Are these systems of government well served when a Secretary of State misleads public opinion, confuses it, feeds it pap, tells it that if it will suppress the proof of its own senses, it will see that Soviet triumphs are really defeats, and western defeats are really triumphs?"

His Wednesday news conference may produce the answer to the big question, but it is regarded as unlikely that the President will delay his announcement beyond that date.

At his last meeting with newsmen, on Feb. 9, he said: "It would seem to me that I am going to have as much information by the end of this month as I am going to get. I think I can't go much longer than that and be honest with myself."

If his answer is "yes," as most of official Washington expects, there is little reason to consider the impact on the stock market, which would react favorably.

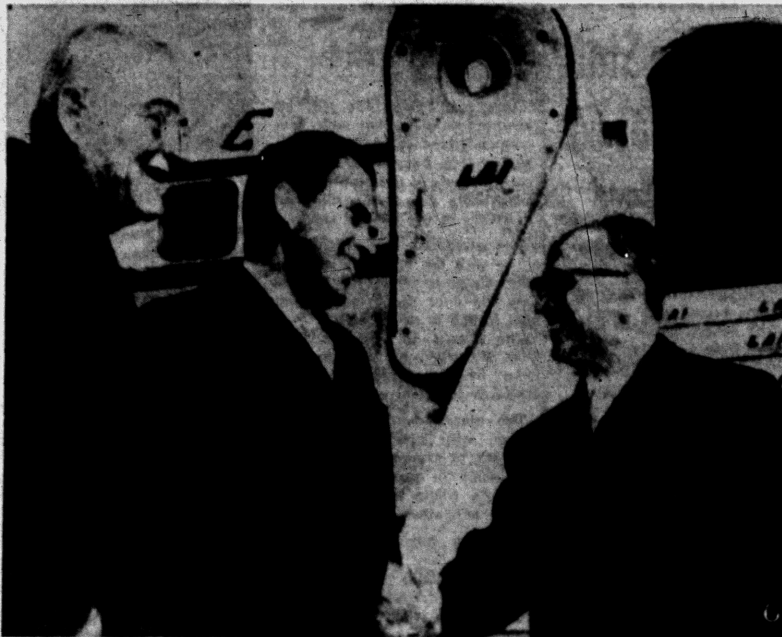

But if the President's answer is to be "no," it might be delayed until after the stock market had closed for the day.

This would be at least 3:30 p.m. (EST).

Close members of Eisenhower's official family were still in the dark as to his decision, if it has been made.

But they were betting along with the rest of the capital that he has decided to be a candidate.

Nixon and Dulles Greet Visitor

Italian, U. S. Presidents Confer on New Red Threat

WASHINGTON (INS)—Italian President Giovanni Gronchi confers with President Eisenhower today hoping to cement closer bonds of co-operation in face of the new Communist economic offensive.

The 67-year-old Italian statesman goes to the White House this morning in his first opportunity to broach serious policy matters with Eisenhower.

Gronchi arrived at the capital yesterday and was given the traditional red carpet welcome accorded visiting chiefs-of-state.

The White House session is not likely to produce any signed agreements since Gronchi's tour is billed as a state visit.

But it is expected that the two leaders will try to arrive at a closer accord on basic cold war policies.

Gronchi is an outspoken advocate of expanding the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and presumably will make his views on this subject plain to Eisenhower, who headed NATO before he became a presidential nominee four years ago.

The Italian President is also expected to emphasize these other points at the White House meeting:

1. That the only way to defend the free world from communism is to raise the living standards of the people, and the U. S.—with its vast resources—must continue to lead the way through its overseas aid programs.

2. The western powers should work more actively toward German reunification to prevent the Germans from falling into the Soviet orbit.

3. The smaller NATO countries, including Italy, should have a greater voice in the affairs of the Atlantic Alliance; and the organization should be expanded to include political and economic collaboration as well as military.

The meeting today is the only one scheduled between Presidents Gronchi and Eisenhower.

It will be followed by a White House luncheon given by President and Mrs. Eisenhower in honor of the Italian chief executive and Signora Gronchi.

Massachusetts Collision Injures Many Critically

One Boston and Maine Commuter Hits Second at Swampscott

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (AP) Two Boston & Maine Railroad passenger trains collided here today in a crash that took a large toll of dead and injured.

Early reports from the scene listed 14 dead.

Scores of others — some critically injured — were rushed to hospitals in the area.

About a thousand passengers were reported on the two trains.

Ambulances and doctors were summoned from as far away as Boston to carry the victims to hospitals. Priests were called to administer last rites to victims.

A Portsmouth, N.H., to Boston seven-car stainless steel streamlined train plowed into the rear of a halted Danvers to Boston four car train, with the rear car of the latter crumpling under the blow. It was in that car that most of the victims were riding. The first car of the Portsmouth train was split open by the impact.

The snow was falling as the commuter-laden trains crashed.

SEES BODIES Edward Peniman, a reporter for the Lynn Item, told of seeing 13 bodies. Another was pinned in a car.

In the first batch of 25 injured taken to the Lynn Hospital were many reported critically injured. The hospital summoned about 75 nurses.

Other victims were taken to Marblehead and Salem Hospitals and Union Hospital, Lynn.

The Boston Red Cross blood center sent 50 pints of blood to the Salem Hospital, and prepared to make a similar shipment to the Lynn Hospital for transfusions for the injured.

The Boston & Maine Railroad's streamlined Budd Highliner train, which left Salem at 8:02 a.m. EST, was due in Boston at 8:33 a.m. The Budd train struck the rear of the diesel, the B&M said, which had left Portsmouth, N. H., at 6:40 a.m., and was due in Boston at 8:14.

NEAR BOSTON The collision occurred at Swampscott Junction as both trains were headed southwest. Swampscott is about six miles from Boston.

Howard Ross of West Newbury, a Lynn Item stereotyper, was a passenger in one of the trains. He was thrown from his seat by the crash.

"There was nothing left of the first car of the Danvers train except the platform," he said.

A piece of the metal body of the Danvers train flew past the last car of his train, Ross reported. Ross said only one of the passengers in his car, a woman, seemed to be injured.

He walked a half mile into Swampscott, and took a taxi to work.

Tomorrow, he said, the office will be open from 9 a.m. "until the last customer leaves."

Temperatures are expected to average from 2 to 4 degrees above normal for the next five days according to Michigan weather reports. It will be warmer Thursday and somewhat colder Saturday. There will be snow or rain about Friday.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 13 degrees. The thermometer registered 29 at 1 p.m.

Truckers Ask Boost

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's trucking industry has petitioned the State Public Service Commission for a 7 per cent rate increase. The move was seen as a natural follow-up to the railroad's request to the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) for an equal rate boost.

STAY AWAY FROM THE RIVER DWELLERS

Eye Ice Warily

Fear St. Clair Jam Will Break Loose and Damage Property

PORT HURON — Property owners along the St. Clair River are keeping a wary eye on winds and weather these days, hoping they won't get together in a combination that could spell serious trouble.

For many weeks the river has been clogged with ice in the area's coldest winter in five years.

The major jam is at the entrance to the river at the foot of Lake Huron. Weathermen say a combination of a sudden thaw and heavy winds could break up the jam quickly, sending giant floes churning and crunching downriver into docks and other riverside properties.

Damage under these conditions almost certainly would be extensive. Winds from the northeast would drive the ice to the American side of the river.

Only one dock has been damaged so far. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

The Coast Guard cutters Tulepelo and Acacia have made attempts to break up the ice jam, from the Lake St. Clair end of the river, but results have been limited. The river has refrozen in their wake and the Coast Guard has called off the attack until warmer weather.

It is hoped the cutter Mackinac will be able to head south from the Straits of Mackinac as in past years to break up the jam before a damaging breakup takes place.

However, warming temperatures have been rare so far this winter, and little deterioration of the ice has occurred in recent weeks.

Sewage Disposal Plant Approval Is Withdrawn

Waterford Township Board withdrew temporary approval of the sewage disposal plant proposed for Watkins Hills and Smoker subdivisions last night.

This action was taken, according to the resolution, to permit further study of the sewage disposal plant problem.

Supervisor Lloyd Anderson reported he was in Lansing last week and discussed the proposed disposal plant plan for an area south of Pontiac Lake road near Crescent Lake Estates with the Michigan Health Department.

He discovered then, he said, that the proposed plant was to be an open pit type, which he considers undesirable for the proposed location. He said there was danger of odors from such a plant.

Last week state health department officials flew over the township area with Anderson. Following the flight, the group agreed on an area located off Lockhaven road near Hospital road as the only desirable location for an open pit plant.

The board emphasized that sewage disposal plants of any type are a temporary arrangement to be used only until the proposed Farmington Interceptor is placed in operation.

The open pit plant recommended by the health department, would serve approximately three subdivisions. Builders of such areas would have to share the expense of construction, Anderson explained.

Before construction of any disposal plant, Anderson pointed out that it must be approved by three units, namely, the state health department, Water Resources Commission and the township board.

Two weeks ago, approximately 150 persons representing the Crescent Lake area appeared before the board, objecting to the proposed disposal plant being located south of Pontiac Lake Road.

Group Submits Business Report

Senate Investigators Say Debt Management Firms Useful

LANSING — A Senate group that has been investigating the debt management business submitted its report Monday night and asked for more time to complete its studies.

The report said that the special committee, headed by Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) has concluded both that debt management firms render a useful and needed service, and that they need regulation.

However, more time will be required to come up with recommendations on state supervision of fees, licensing and franchise aspects of the problem and advertising and public relations activities in the field, it said.

The committee said it does not agree with the approach of some other states based on the thinking that the debt management business is bad in principle.

The clients of debt managers were described as "persons who have become victims of easy credit or financial reverses."

The management firms arrange with creditors to accept small regular payments in proportion to the debtor's whole debt until their entire obligation is cleared up.

For this service and related counseling, they charge a fee. The Broomfield group said that it had run across abuses by a few firms but that most of these have gone out of business and in general improved practices have resulted from the publicity given committee hearings in Detroit and Lansing.

Accused in Slaying of Estranged Wife

DETROIT — Police said a 39-year-old Flint area factory worker shot his estranged wife to death on a Dearborn street yesterday after she refused to return to him.

Assistant Prosecutor Clarence Laster said Frank J. Sedlacek, 39, of Swartz Creek fired a 12-gauge shotgun four times at his wife, Kvetta, 26, as she fled screaming from him. Two of the blasts hit her.

Laster quoted Sedlacek as saying he came to Dearborn to ask his wife to return to him. He waited for her at a bus stop to intercept her en route home from work.

The Sedlaceks, married in 1948, were separated six months ago. A 7-year-old daughter, Irene, lived with her mother.

France Pushes Algerian Plan

Step-Up Military Action in North African Strife Is Government Aim

PARIS — Premier Guy Mollet's government today pushed a sweeping new plan to step up military action against rebellious Algerian nationalists.

The aim is to restore peace as a prelude to promised broad reforms in the revolt-torn North African territory.

Approved by Mollet's Cabinet at a marathon session, the new plan will be submitted today to the nation's top military advisers, the National Security Council. Later it will go to the National Assembly for endorsement.

The plan reportedly would send at least 20,000 more French soldiers to Algeria, swelling the French Fighting forces in North Africa to 350,000 men. Government sources said the expanded Algerian campaign would cost about 340 million dollars beyond the normal French military budget of about 24 billion dollars for 1956.

Mollet also will ask the Assembly for wide military, political and economic powers to cope with the 17-month-old rebellion.

Expect Opinion on Parking Vote

Clarence Smith Says Only Property Owners Should Cast Ballots

City Attorney William A. Ewart is expected to render an opinion at tonight's City Commission meeting on a demand of a city private parking lot operator that only property owners vote next Monday on the $600,000 municipal parking lot issue.

Clarence H. Smith, proprietor of a lot at 150 N. Perry St., submitted the demand through his attorney Harold E. Howlett, stating the special election March 5 should be limited to "such persons as their spouses who have property assessed for taxes in the city."

The communication quoted a portion of the Michigan Constitution saying "whenever any question is submitted to a vote of the electors which involves the direct expenditure of public money only such persons who have property assessed for taxes or the lawful husband or wife of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon."

The vote Monday on the parking program was necessitated by referendum action taken by an opposition group last December. Voters will cast ballots For or Against the issuance of $600,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance the proposed project.

The Day in Birmingham

Eton Widening Subject of Commission Debate

BIRMINGHAM — Widening of the present 18-foot-pavement on Eton road, a much-traveled street on the city's eastern edge, to a 41-foot wide roadway from Lincoln and Yosemite was the subject of long debate at last night's city commission meeting.

Commissioners heard discussion from a number of residents in a meeting which, with parking lot, annexation, and other details stretched to 11:30, when several items were continued to another date so that the commission could adjourn.

Eton road would be paved with funds from a special assessment district, which was considered last night. Parallel parking would be allowed on the east of the three-lane street, with industrial users needing the extra lane for turning, according to City Manager D. C. Egbert's report.

Costs would be split, so that residential property owners would not be assessed for the extra depth of concrete needed and the extra lane for industrial use. West side of the street owners would pay, according to Egbert's summary, $11,335 for paving, except for the city's 25 per cent. Industrial share of $29,845 would be paid, 15 per cent by the city, and 85 per cent by the industries. The project is expected to total $41,800.

More study by the city manager and the chief of police was requested as the commission tabled the resolution on Eton for three weeks.

Willis street widening and paving from Bates to Chester was approved, but Webster Cross-Over through Hunter boulevard was discussed but put off to be included with other traffic problems on the highway under current study.

The curve of Park street as it enters Hamilton was discussed again, with the property owners on either side, John Gaffill and Mrs. R. C. Chenault questioning whose property should give up the needed road area. The engineer and manager will study the matter further.

RECONSIDER PARKING — Parking Lot 3-A was reconsidered, and its necessity voted, without the Bany or Kassaban properties being included. The owners of the Bany store on Willis and the Kassaban land on Woodward near the Congregational Church asked to be in the levy but commissioners disagreed.

Parking on Maple, and the finance study for the parking lots were the items held over for lack of time, since they have in the past been subjects for long study sessions for the commission.

Candidates for commission and library board posts have filed their petitions to be placed on the April 2 ballot.

Mayor Charles Renfrew, on the commission since appointed to fulfill a term in September of 1951, and who has been mayor for two years, will run against three who have not served on the commission, Carl F. Ingraham, Donald K. Fill and Omar Hanson. Ingraham is on the planning board. There are two three-year terms open.

Dr. Dwight D. Ireland, Superintendent of Schools, and Cassius Miller are the only ones running for the two posts on the library unit. Both are incumbents.

John Krasnick, Birmingham Drug Store's owner, was fined $7,500 in Federal court in Detroit Monday, after pleading guilty to evading the Federal Excise Tax on cosmetics. U. S. Attorneys said he still was liable to a civil suit for alleged evasion of $10,000 in taxes over a ten-year period from 1943 to 1953.

Mayor J. A. Beresford, Charlton Eden on Ballot for Commission Posts

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Running unopposed for City Commission are the Bloomfield Hills Mayor, James A. Beresford, who was appointed to the mayor's post from the commission membership by that body itself, and Charlton G. Eden, a commission member. Saturday was the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the election, scheduled April 2.

Constable Homer J. Murphy, was the only one filing for the constable post.

Both Beresford and Eden have served over six years on the five-man board.

Two precincts will have votes for the first time in the city's history, since the city only recently tallied enough voters to step up from its single precinct where all voted at the municipal building just east of Woodward on Long Lake road. The new voting place will be St. Dunstan's Playhouse, for the southern part of the city.

Deadline for registration is 30 days prior to the April 2 election.

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Mickey Tondakos needs a new top for her convertible. A cow chewed it up while the car was parked in a lot. The cow suffered no pain. Mrs. Tondakos' insurance company said it will pay for a new top although the case was something of a precedent.

Re-Election of 11-Man Soviet Presidium Ends 20th Red Congress

MOSCOW (AP) — The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party Monday re-elected the 11 members of its ruling Presidium. Nikita S. Khrushchev was re-elected first secretary.

Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov, World War II hero, became a candidate (alternate) member of the ruling body, which was known in Stalin's day as the Politburo.

Thus the so-called collective leadership of the Soviet Union remained unchanged at the close of the 20th Congress of the Soviet Communist party. As first secretary, Khrushchev remains boss of the party, a position he assumed in 1953 when Georgi Malenkov relinquished the job. The first secretary is in a position to control the vast party apparatus throughout the country.

WOMAN ELECTED

The party elected six candidate (alternate) members, an increase of four. Among them was the first woman ever to serve on the ruling party body. A party secretariat of eight members, headed by Khrushchev, also was elected.

These are the presidium members:

Khrushchev, first secretary of the party and a deputy in the Supreme Soviet (Parliament). He has been the dominant personality in the party since the fall of 1953 when he took over its leadership, while Malenkov still was premier.

Nikolai A. Bulganin, who succeeded Malenkov as premier early in 1955.

Lazar M. Kaganovich, a first deputy premier, Supreme Soviet deputy and head of a wages and hours commission for Soviet industry.

Malenkov, former premier until he confessed failure at the job and now a deputy premier, minister of electric power stations and a Supreme Soviet deputy. His ministry came under fire at the recent party Congress.

A. I. Mikoyan, a first deputy premier, Supreme Soviet deputy and foreign trade expert.

V. M. Molotov, first deputy premier, foreign minister, Supreme Soviet deputy. He confessed to an error in ideology recently.

Mikhail G. Pervukhin, first deputy premier, Supreme Soviet deputy and Malenkov's boss as a leading Soviet industrialist.

Maxim Z. Saburov, first deputy premier, chairman of the State Planning Commission and a Supreme Soviet deputy.

K. Y. Voroshilov, a Soviet marshal and comrade of Stalin who now is chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, and in effect, President, but without presidential power.

M. A. Suslov, first named to the Presidium last July, former editor of Pravda and long a Central Committee member.

A. I. Kirichenko, named to the Presidium with Suslov in July. He came up from the Ukraine party organization — once Khrushchev's where he was first secretary. Member of the Supreme Soviet.

The candidate members, beside Zhukov, are:

Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the party for Kazakhstan, long a member of the Central Committee and the party secretariat. He is a former deputy chief of political administration in the Defense Ministry with the rank of lieutenant general.

N. A. Mukhitdinov, Premier of the Uzbek Republic and a deputy in the Supreme Soviet.

Dmitri T. Shepilov, a rising political figure. He served as editor in chief of Pravda and in the Foreign Ministry, where he was entrusted with important jobs, such as the wooing of Egyptian friendship.

Ekaterina A. Furtseva, the highest ranking woman Communist in the U.S.S.R. She has been head of the Moscow party committee secretariat and apparently is a favorite of Khrushchev. She is the first woman to be elected to the ruling body.

N. M. Shvernik, member of the Supreme Soviet Presidium and former president, he is now chairman of the all-union Council of Trade Unions.

Selected for the secretariat with Khrushchev were:

A. B. Aristov, first named a secretary last July. He was in the secretariat, previously, but was dropped just after Stalin's death.

N. I. Belyayev, also originally named to the secretariat last July. He has headed the party machine in Altai province.

P. N. Pospelov, a high-ranking party theoretician for years and long a member of the party's secretariat.

Suslov, Brezhnev, Shepilov and Furtseva.

ZHUKOV RISING

The election of Zhukov as an alternate member of the Presidium once again spotlighted the rising influence of the Soviet armed forces in post-Stalin Moscow. During Stalin's postwar regime Zhukov had been in eclipse, apparently by Stalin's wish, in a military post in the Ukraine. Zhukov's star rose rapidly after Stalin's death. The marshal, a war-time acquaintance of President Eisenhower, became deputy defense minister under Malenkov, and was elevated to defense minister a year ago when Bulganin gave up the post to succeed Malenkov as premier.

Also considered noteworthy was the rise of Shepilov, chief editor of Pravda, who is now a Presidium to Molotov as foreign minister. He they visited Belgrade to make alternate. He frequently has been accompanied Bulganin and Khrushchev with the maverick Communist, Marshal Tito.

HERE'S FORD'S RECORD AT NASCAR'S DAYTONA BEACH NATIONAL SPEED WEEKS

in sports car acceleration.

A Ford Thunderbird set a new record for American production sports cars, sprinting a measured mile from a standing start in only 40.5 seconds—reaching a top speed of nearly 150 MPH.

FIRST
in top speed—class 4.

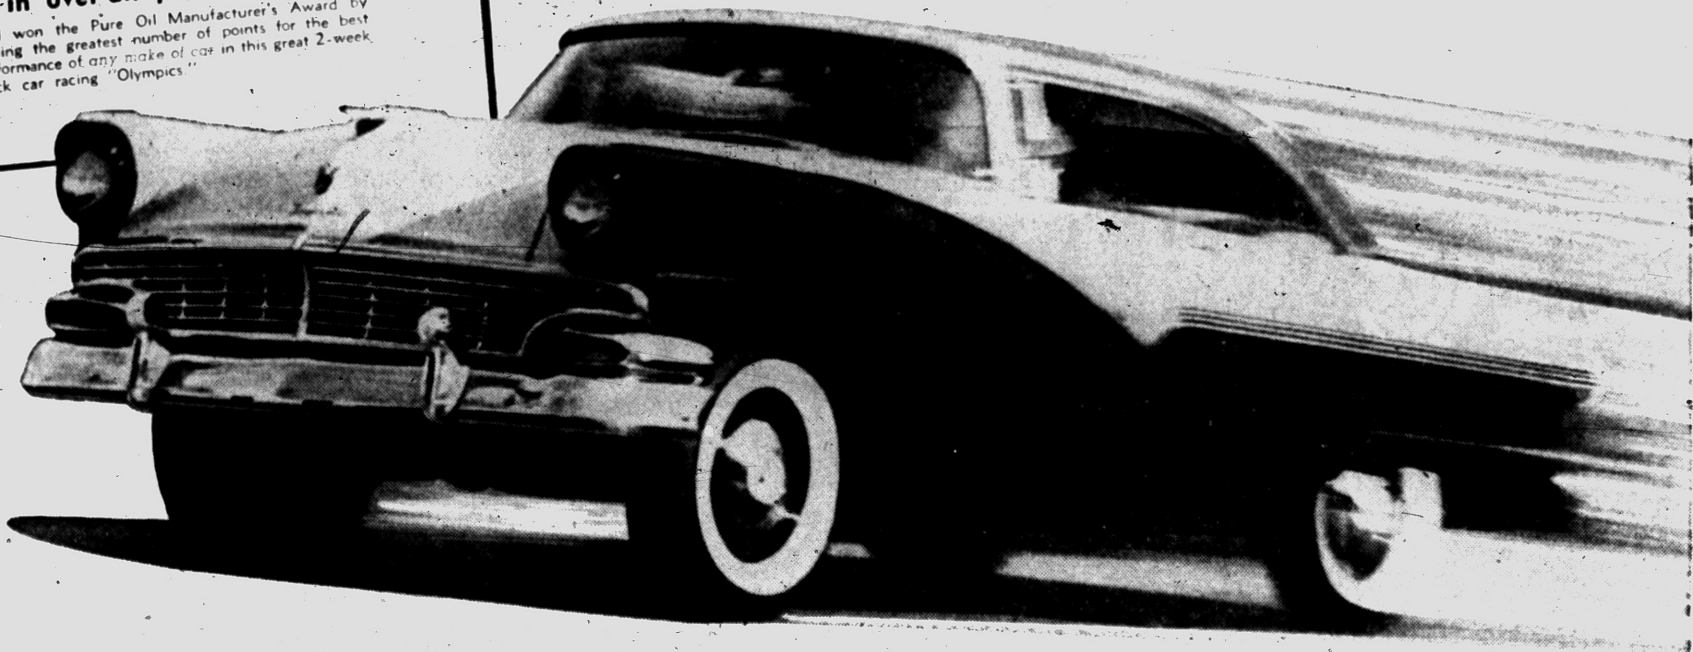

A Ford "Six" took top honors in the flying mile for Class 4 American production passenger cars.

FIRST
in 160-mile convertible race.

Ford V-8s took 1st and 2nd place in the National Convertible Championship Race. Ford not only won, but it also topped the all-over all cars entered, but it also topped the all-over time record for the Grand National Championship Race.

FIRST
in over-all performance.

Ford won the Pure Oil Manufacturer's Award by gaining the greatest number of points for the best performance of any make of car in this great 2-week stock car racing "Olympics."

The Ford V-8 again showed its taillight to all competitors in the "Olympics" of stock car racing at Daytona Beach, Florida.

In blazing across the finish line Ford demonstrated once more the sizzling performance that keeps it the largest-selling V-8 in the world. No other car in the field could match Ford for getaway "git" . . . for straightaway acceleration . . . for all-around roadability. To see exactly how the other cars trailed behind Ford, see the chart at the top of this page.

One of the secrets of Ford's performance is the tremendous torque (wheel turning power) developed by Ford engines. For example, Ford's new 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8 engine develops more torque than any other engine in the low-price field. This means quicker response, smoother running in the kind of driving you do. Just a gentle nudge of Ford's accelerator and whoosh! You pass in instants when instants count!

Ford now offers this mighty 225-h.p. engine with any Ford Fairlane or Station Wagon model with Fordomatic. What's more, these engines are coming off the assembly lines right now! So why wait? Come in today for a Test Drive. Find out for yourself about Ford performance. Find out why Ford is the V-8 with the biggest following!

Clarkston Voters Approve $1,200,000 for Schools

OK Bond Issue by Wide Margin

To Finance Building New Elementary, Plus Other Additions

CLARKSTON—A $1,200,000 bond issue to build a new elementary school and enlarge existing schools was passed by a 354-93 vote in a special election in the Clarkston Community School District yesterday.

A total of 447 of a possible 2,500 voters cast their ballots in the election.

Passage of the bond issue will not increase current taxes, school officials said. Tax rate will remain at the present $13 per thousand on state equalized valuation.

Reserves on existing levies will enable the district to apportion part of the present tax millage to pay off the new issue, by stretching the tax over a longer period of time.

The bond issue will finance the construction of an elementary school on the east side of Sasabaw road, between Maybee and Waldon roads. It also will provide for additions to the Clarkston Elementary School and Clarkston high and junior high schools, as well as needed additions to other school buildings.

Clarkston's school enrollment jumped from 1,200 in 1931 to 2,270 in 1936. A 1936 fall enrollment of 3,000 is predicted.

Ronald Webber, treasurer of the Clarkston School Board, said 900 more elementary students are expected by next year. This will require 30 additional classrooms.

Protest Fund Drive to Rebuild Church

OAK PARK (INS)—The Oak Park City Council yesterday received a protest to its fund drive to rebuild a burned-out church in the community.

The protest came from the Greater Detroit Evangelical Minister's Fellowship in a letter asking the council to rescind its resolution approving the drive.

The resolution was adopted a week ago and urged community aid to rebuild Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church, destroyed by fire on Feb. 17.

The letter, in part, said: "Let us make it clear that this letter has no personal bias either against yourselves or the church involved. However, it involves a serious principle which has been violated."

Councilman R. Hugh Dundas, who proposed the resolution and was appointed chairman as a private citizen, said, however, that "We do not intend to abandon the drive."
