UNMANNED POLICE CARS—Pontiac's first snow of the season covers the city's unmanned police cars. For the second time within two weeks, only a handful of detectives and patrolmen reported for work today. Supervisory personnel attempted to fill the gap caused by the "rash of illnesses" to policemen.

42 Pontiac Police 'Sick'; Chief Says 'No Emergency'

By DAVID J. COOK

Only a handful of Pontiac police detectives and patrolmen reported for work today as 42 men called in sick and unable to work their scheduled shifts.

It was the second apparent protest in two weeks by members of the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA), presently in the midst of a wage dispute with the city.

The illnesses included 10 patrolmen scheduled to work last night along with 15 patrolmen and eight detectives scheduled for today.

In addition, nine men asked to work an additional shift at the conclusion of their regular afternoon duty yesterday said they were "sick" and unable to.

Police Chief William K. Hanger said the city "faced no emergency as yet" because of depletions in the 117-man police force.

"We've got some tired supervisors (captains, lieutenants, and sergeants)," he said, "but right now we're able to man our assignments on a nearly normal basis."

CALL UNANSWERED

Only one call — a complaint of unauthorized parking on private property — went unanswered through the morning as staff officers manned patrol cars.

Patrol Bureau Commander Capt. Harry Nye, who slept only two hours last night between impromptu work shifts, said a required minimum work force would "positively" be on hand this evening.

'Pay Hikes Will Mean City Deficit'

Any pay adjustment for city employees will almost certainly cause a deficit in the City of Pontiac's 1967 budget, according to City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Warren released a letter last night at the City Commission meeting in reply to six citizens who had written him of their concern over city employee wages.

Led by police and firemen, city employees have sought pay hikes to keep them in line with similar employees elsewhere. City officials have said the city does not have the money for increased wages.

Warren detailed the history of recent pay increases — one in 1964 and another last year, pointing out that the city compared favorably with other areas until last June.

Patrolmen and fire fighters are paid $6,084 a year to start and receive $7,659 after three years service. After five years patrolmen can advance to a senior patrolman rating and receive $7,228 a year.

DETROIT PAY

Warren said "unbelievably large pay adjustments" made in July in Detroit kicked off a series of pay adjustments for municipal employees in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Pontiac's unusual budget year (a calendar year) results in the city just now preparing its 1967 budget.

While agreeing that a pay adjustment was essential, even if it meant major cutbacks in services and personnel, Warren indicated that even at present pay rates it was going to be almost

N-Arms Accord Near in U.N. Unit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's top political committee was expected to give overwhelming approval today to a U.S.-Soviet appeal to all nations to refrain from any action that might help spread nuclear weapons.

Informed sources predicted the East-West proposal would receive almost unanimous support in the 121-nation committee, with only Albania voting no and France probably abstaining.

The 38-nation resolution was introduced as a stopgap measure until an accord can be reached on a treaty banning the spread of nuclear arms.

Agreement on that pact has been held up by Soviet suspicions that the United States would flood some loopholes to give nuclear arms to West Germany as a member of an Atlantic nuclear force.

The United States is reported preparing to draft the wording of the treaty which it has proposed in an attempt to reassure the Soviet Union that no nuclear arms will fall into West German hands.

Red China's fourth nuclear weapon test last week and its announcement that the warhead was carried by a guided missile has increased clamor for a non-proliferation pact with the loudest demands coming from nations within firing range of the Chinese.

'NEEDLESS CONFUSION'

India has urged that all the nuclear powers be obliged to halt atomic arms production under a nonproliferation pact, but Western delegates complain privately that the Indian demand creates needless confusion and will achieve nothing.

State Drivers Face Retesting

New Law in Force on Suspended Licenses

LANSING (AP)—Some 9,307 Michigan drivers whose licenses were revoked or suspended recently will have to undergo extensive testing to get them back, Secretary of State James Hare said today.

Hare said the drivers lost their licenses during August and September because of too many violation points, mental or physical incompetence, or failure to comply with the state's financial responsibility laws.

A 1966 state law, Hare said, empowers him to set standards for retesting revoked or suspended drivers.

Many such drivers are in trouble, Hare said, because they fail to practice — and may have forgotten — the good driving habits they had when they were first tested.

And if a driver really does know good driving practices, repetition of the written and road tests may serve as a forceful reminder to return to them, Hare said.

NUMBER'S THE SAME—New 1967 license plates went on sale yesterday at secretary of state offices. George F. Adams of 2779 Campers, Highland Township, coincidentally received the same number as he had this year. Adams purchased his '67 plates at 10:55 a.m. at the Pontiac office. Last year he said he didn't buy his plates until about 2 p.m. in the afternoon of the first sales day.

Carpenters to Return on Friday if Pact OK'd

Carpenters are expected to be back on the job Friday in Oakland County if they agree to a new pact with contractors at a mass unionship meeting in Detroit tomorrow.

If the agreement is ratified it would end the month-long strike by some 17,000 carpenters in five Southeastern Michigan counties.

Tentative approval was given yesterday by officials of the Carpenter's District Council in Detroit and four employee groups that had opposed the carpenters demand for a separate insurance fund.

The ratification meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Cobo Arena. The mass meeting was called rather than each local holding its own in an attempt to have the carpenters return to work as soon as possible.

The reported agreement provides that contractors contribute 30 cents of a worker's hourly pay to the fund. The contractors presently are providing 15 cents.

The agreement reportedly also calls for a wage increase of 10 cents an hour immediately and another 10 cents starting May 1.

Reds Ambush GI Patrol Near Armistice Line

One Soldier Survives the Attack; Incident Is Worst Since War End

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—North Korean troops ambushed and killed six American soldiers and one South Korean below the armistice line before dawn today while President and Mrs. Johnson slept 30 miles away.

The incident was the gravest involving Americans since the Korean War ended in 1953.

It occurred eight hours before Johnson left Korea for the United States, but there was no indication that the President was advised of the ambush.

In Anchorage, Alaska, the traveling White House said President Johnson has asked for a complete report on the incident from Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea and of the United Nations Command there.

The President met with Bonesteel yesterday when he visited America and South Korean troops during his stay in South Korea.

GI SURVIVOR

There was one survivor from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division patrol.

Wounded by a grenade but reported in good condition, he said the attackers wore North Korean army uniforms.

A spokesman for the U.S. 8th Army said the attack occurred under a full moon and the firing was heard at the patrol's base camp.

A motorized patrol was sent out to investigate and found the bodies and the wounded man.

First Snowfall Blankets Area

Pontiac's first snowfall of the season blanketed the area early this morning. Drizzle and light flurries during the night turned to a blustering snowstorm by 8 a.m.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts cloudy and cool tonight with periods of snow occasionally mixed with rain or drizzle. Low tonight is expected to drop to 25 to 30.

Cloudy and colder with occasional snow and a high in the upper 30s is tomorrow's forecast. A chance of snow flurries and cold is the outlook for Friday.

The Weather Bureau said the snow was caused by a low pressure area moving northward from northern Georgia.

The ground and hard-topped surfaces are still relatively warm and there will be considerable melting that will vary with the surface, the Weather Bureau said.

A freezing 32 was the low prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The mercury had moved up to 34 by 1 p.m.

10 Die Fighting California Fire

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP)—A blast of flames sweeping up a steep hillside snuffed out the lives of 10 fire fighters in a crew of 25 battling one of four brush fires in Angeles National Forest.

The men were veterans, known as El Casiso Hotshots, from Riverside County who had specialized in combating the hottest of forest fires in Montana, Idaho, California and Oregon.

But they lost yesterday to that unpredictable quality of all fires — the wind behind them that kicked up before they could escape.

"It's something every fire fighter thinks about—a sudden gust of wind," said U.S. Forest Service spokesman Don Porter in reporting the death toll of a blaze that swept 2,100 acres.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Nine of the 15 survivors in the crew were in critical condition at the Los Angeles County General Hospital's Burn Center.

FIRE CONTROL

Suppression leaders said the fire was 90 per cent contained early today.

Of the other two fires, one on Camp Pendleton Marine Corps reservation in San Diego County swept 1,900 acres. In Ventura County, a 300-acre blaze burned inland from U.S. Highway 101 through an oil tank farm without damaging structures.

In the Santa Susana Mountains west of the Angeles crest, fire, two blazes scorched more than 150 acres.

The death toll was one of the worst. In 1956, a fire in the Inaja Forest above San Diego took a similar number of lives. In 1933, 29 died in a brush fire in Griffith Park, Los Angeles.

The inferno of flame coursing through Pacoima Canyon in the Angeles crest fire was touched off by a downed power line.

LBJ Is Back on U.S. Soil

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — President Johnson returned Tuesday night to American soil and promised that America will take a firm, anti-Communist stand in Asia — "and you can put it in your pipe and smoke it."

Returning from a seven-nation tour, Johnson was greeted by several thousand residents of Alaska's largest city in a steady, but gentle, midnight rain.

The President told well-wishers at Elmendorf Air Force Base, four miles from town, that United States is taking a stand in Asia — and Viet Nam — "that stand is going to come true."

Wearing a hat at a rakish angle and an unbuttoned white raincoat, Johnson stood on the doorstep of his limousine — head popped up above the roof — for much of the drive into Anchorage.

SMALL CROWD

Although the dampened late-hour crowd was the smallest of his 31,000-mile journey around the Pacific, the President took his auto microphone in hand to urge repeatedly that his greeters "move back a yard there" and let the motorcade proceed.

One feature of the reception was a bonfire in the center of a block destroyed in the 1964 Alaska earthquake.

Approaching the blaze, Johnson spied a welcoming banner suspended from two aerial fire ladders, making an arch across the street, and said: "Thank you very much, firemen. Come on down to the fire."

When he got to the bonfire site, a local singing group broke forth over the public address system into "Deep in the Heart of Texas" — drowning out Johnson, who was trying to compete over the smaller loudspeakers mounted in the trunk of his car.

SINGERS QUIET

"We're not in Texas tonight," he said, and stared stonily toward the singers a hundred yards away. They subsided.

Viet Nam was the theme of his impromptu speech in Anchorage, too. He said the United States won't permit the Communists to take over South Viet Nam — that if they succeeded there, "they might be in Dutch Harbor tomorrow."

Dutch Harbor is a community in Alaska's Aleutian islands.

The President said he did not believe in ignoring a fire "until it gets to your front yard."

VIET NAM AIM

He emphasized again that his aim to get Communist North Viet Nam to the negotiating table, "and the sooner they realize it, the better they'll be."

In remarks prepared for an early morning gathering in Anchorage, Johnson summed up his arduous trip, saying:

"It has been the most rewarding, the most thrilling, the most encouraging journey of my life. I believe it may also have been the most important and the most historic."

Birmingham Area News

Public Schools Closing 2 Days

BIRMINGHAM — Public schools will be closed tomorrow and Friday for the two-day annual Conference of Regions meeting.

The meeting is sponsored by the Michigan Education Association.

The purpose of the conference, which covers all subjects and all grade levels, is to provide teachers and administrators with an opportunity to hear what other school systems are doing to improve the quality of education, particularly new programs.

A number of the sessions will be workshops. Information chairman for the workshops is Walter J. Piel, administrative assistant for the Birmingham Public Schools.

E. Ross Hanson, a member of the Birmingham Board of Education since 1960, resigned last night because of what he termed "increased responsibilities at work."

Appointed to fill his position until June 30, 1967, was Mrs. George N. Hilsinger, 15649 Dunbar. Her appointment will become effective Jan. 1.

Mrs. Hilsinger has been active on citizens committees and is a member and past president of the Birmingham-Bloomfield League of Women Voters.

Hanson was president of the board from 1963 to 1965.

Weather's Dirty Politics Hurling State Candidates

By the Associated Press

In some of Michigan's tight races for public office it's still hard to tell how the political wind is blowing.

But for candidates on the campaign trail, the winds are blowing cold — so cold, in fact, several campaign appearances had to be canceled Tuesday and today.

trouble if and when these 16-hour work shifts start piloting this.

The rash of reported sickness drew fire from at least one city official.

CALL IT STRIKE

"They're actually on strike," said Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. "It's just a different procedure."

Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley, PPOA president, said however, that the association "cannot condone" the use of reported illness as a protest maneuver.

"I'm no fool," said Cooley, "but I cannot say I have any information that these men are not in fact sick."

An anonymous message scribbled across on the department bulletin board read, "Let's notify all departments this week and have everybody off . . . even the rookies."

PREVIOUS WAVE

A previous wave of reported illness Oct. 21 failed to affect the detective bureau, with about 15 patrolmen calling in sick.

Taylor Tells Why Architect Unhired for City 'Concept'

WILLIAM STRINGFELLOW

Great Society Is Myth, Says OU Speaker

The Great Society was labeled a "myth," a "fraud" and "blasphemy" yesterday by an attorney-author speaking at Oakland University.

William Stringfellow, who has written several books as a Harlem attorney and a theologian, addressed students and faculty members in the current series of appearances by nationally prominent speakers.

"The Great Society blueprint repairs, while the old house has rotted and is in collapse, and it is a new house which must be built," Stringfellow said.

Relatively inconsequential as a movement of social change, the Great Society movement is "a reactionary and retarding influence in American life and in the life of the world," he said.

Commenting on foreign policy, Stringfellow said it is based on the myth that America gains its economic, political and military power because of the moral superiority of "the American people of life."

'SATELLITE NATIONS'

"This view is used as a justification to establish a system of satellite nations, through 'economic conquest' as well as by the use of military power," he said.

Turning his attention to the domestic situation, Stringfellow charged that "the War on Poverty is itself impoverished."

Stringfellow gave priority to America's racial crisis as the issue "which will determine the very survival of society, as well as any claim to greatness."

Stringfellow also proposed restructuring governmental units to meet "the realities of a mass, automated, urbanized society."

He warned that attitudes currently prevalent "will lead to the destruction of American society as a society worth living in."

Joseph Hermann DuRoi, a former national director of Erhard's Christian Democratic party and chief of the influential Westphalian chapter, publicly called on Erhard to resign and help choose his successor.

No architect has been hired yet because there is no plan, only a concept for downtown Pontiac redevelopment, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. explained at last night's City Commission meeting.

Taylor replied to questions raised by spokesmen for the Citizens Committee for Pontiac's Positive Progress, a self-appointed group interested in the downtown project.

"We question your judgment, not your honesty," said the committee's president, Donald R. Frayer of Don Frayer Home Furnishings, Inc., 1108 W. Huron, Waterford Township.

Debate continued last night on whether the city had sufficient architectural advice prior to its decision to approve an agreement with developer A. Alfred Taubman of Oak Park for downtown redevelopment, which features a mall-type shopping center.

MOTION REJECTED

Last week the commission rejected a motion to seek further advice.

Spokesmen for the citizens committee last night repeatedly asked what architects were employed by Taubman or had counseled the city.

Taylor said Taubman, who the mayor claimed was a graduate architect, used five architects at various times on his shopping center projects.

"There is no basic plan yet. The traffic study has not been completed, so no architect has been hired yet," explained Taylor.

'I DON'T CARE'

District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan commented, "I don't really care about architects. I'm not interested in architects at this time, the only thing I was interested in was what Taubman could produce."

Taylor said a member of the liaison committee was an architect and had been involved in meetings with Taubman and the city.

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said it was possible that Taubman had not yet selected his architect and probably wouldn't until he had signed contracts with tenants.

"We have the right man," said Taylor. He reiterated that the final plan for downtown would have to be approved by the commission.

FINAL PLAN

He said the final plan might include some of the elements contained in the University of Detroit design.

Robert Jackson, a member of

the citizens committee, charged that the city did have a plan and not a concept. He claimed that if the city was to purchase 30 added acres and provide parking any attempt to call it a concept was "twisting the issue."

"This is a plan, it's no longer a concept," concluded Jackson.

impossible to present a balanced budget for 1967.

"Whether or not the people of Pontiac would allow a deficit budget to continue very long is a matter that I am sure is going to receive considerable discussion."

CITY SURPLUS

He added that a deficit budget would begin using up the city's surplus, estimated at $37,000. He pointed out that the surplus was not inactive, but was used as working capital.

Warren claimed that the $37,000—half-a-million in cash surplus was not too large a figure for a $12-million operation.

The city manager also pointed out that the city could not single out any particular group of city employees and give them a pay hike without considering all employees.

Warren disputed the charge that Pontiac was not competitive, stating that 13 policemen had been hired since Jan. 1. He said the rate of pay for a patrolman and fire fighter had increased $1,010 a year by the two pay hikes.

LETTER IN REPLY

Warren's letter was in reply to one sent him by Mrs. Marie Johnson, bonds woman, Thomas Chavez, president of the Latin Americans United for Political Action; Hayward Gullatte, vice president of the Western-Bagley Block Club; Rabbi Israel Goodman of Congregation B'nai Israel; Clarence E. Barnes, executive director, Pontiac Area Urban League; and John F. Perdue, Pontiac director of School, Community and Human Relations.

The citizens' letter had reflected their concern of possible drastic action by the policemen, perhaps a strike.

The citizens called for an immediate action by the City Commission.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said last night that Pontiac municipal wages can never keep abreast of Detroit, but that the city would continue to keep wages in line with the metropolitan area.

TAX LIMIT

Taylor pointed out that Detroit had an income tax and also did not have the 10-mill tax limit that Pontiac has in its city charter.

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson commented that if a portion of the surplus were used for pay hikes, what would happen the following year if a new source of revenue isn't found.

"I hope people realize the financial crisis that we face," concluded Hudson.

It is expected that about five million color television sets will be sold this year.

GOP Blitzes City Airport

Gov. Romney and his "action" committee will stay at their statewide political blitz with a 5:00 p.m. rally today at the Pontiac Municipal Airport.

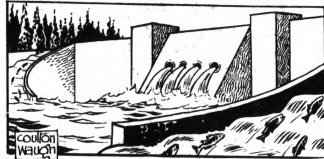

Local GOP candidates and a band will be on hand to greet Romney and meet the public.

The airport is located at Highland and Airport roads, Waterford Township.

At the conclusion of the three-day flying campaign, Romney, Lt. Gov. William Milliken, Sen. Robert Griffin and other top Republican candidates will have traveled more than 2,000 miles in 72 hours and visited two dozen cities.

SALMON

QUESTION: Can salmon really swim up waterfalls?

ANSWER: Our picture shows one of the most stirring sights in nature. It shows the large powerful salmon of the Northwest, who are driven, during the spawning season, by an irresistible urge to come back from the sea to the fresh-water streams where they were hatched from the original egg.

Foaming falls may lie in the way, but the big fish can hurt themselves up to 10 feet into the air.

By such leaps over the falls and hard swimming in the rapids, they fight their way to the quiet upstream shallows, where they lay their thousands of eggs and then die, their life cycle accomplished.

Many large dams, providing irrigation and electric power, have been built across the salmon streams. These would prevent the fish from swimming upstream, except that the builders include fish ladders, (lower picture), up which the salmon can easily move, leaving from step to step.

The fish ladders encircle the dams on both sides. After working his way up one of these, a salmon emerges on the upper level above the dam and continues to swim upstream.

Sex Clouds Issue of Airline Service

By DICK WEST

United Press International
WASHINGTON — The other morning on my way to work, I stopped by the airport and spent a few minutes interviewing passengers. I wanted to get their reaction to the dispute between the airlines and Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich.

WEST Mrs. Griffiths has challenged the requirement that stewardesses must be "young, attractive and single." It is her contention that boneily old married stewardesses could do the job just as well.

She said the emphasis airlines put on sex appeal is "an insult to every man who rode a plane." And besides, she said, a stewardess wouldn't be less attractive after getting married.

I am pleased to report that if the passengers I interviewed are typical, Mrs. Griffiths' report is absolutely right. The first man I spoke to had just landed on the shuttle plane from New York.

"Pardon me, sir. Would you mind telling me whether the stewardesses on your plane were young, attractive and single?"

"Oh, yes. Yes indeed. Very much so."

"And did you feel insulted?"

"I have never been so insulted in my life."

"You resent the airline's emphasis on sex appeal, is that it?"

"No, I was insulted by a stewardess. When I asked her for a date she said she only went out with men who were young, attractive and single."

The next passenger I approached had flown in from Chicago.

"Sir, do you think stewardesses would be less attractive after she is married."

"No married men wouldn't give a single girl a second glance."

"Why are you talking so loudly?"

"That's my wife standing over there."

Highlight Horn Units at Concert

Two instrumental ensembles will appear in concert Thursday evening at Pontiac Northern High School. The Ball State Trombone Choir from Muncie, Ind. and the University of Michigan French Horn Ensemble will present programs in the Little Theatre at 8 p.m.

On Friday, both groups will appear in a recital-clinic at a session of the Michigan Education Association District VII meeting.

Bernard O. Pressler directs the Ball State group. Del Wise, instrumental director of John F. Kennedy Junior High School is a former member of the choir.

Prof. Louis J. Stout directs the U. of M. ensemble which has been playing for the past seven years. The musicians gave a concert here in May.

Both men will conduct a discussion-workshop in their fields.

Disinfectants in Your Wash

Health authorities generally agree that laundering with hot water detergent, followed by dryer-drying or air-drying in sunshine out of doors, is a safe procedure for ordinary home laundry under normal circumstances.

However, U.S. Department of Agriculture research indicates that using a disinfectant such as a liquid chlorine bleach during laundering can help prevent possible spread of disease-causing bacteria if there is illness in the family or neighborhood — especially when using public coin-op laundry centers or other communal facilities.

ADDING A TEAM — Commissioner Pete Rozelle (left) of the National Football League announces that New Orleans has been awarded a franchise in the NFL during a press conference yesterday in New Orleans. ## Domed Park in City Plans

Several Offers Made for Ownership

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The name and owner hasn't been decided but New Orleans will have a team in the National Football League when play opens next season.

The NFL franchise was announced here Tuesday by Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner.

"New Orleans has the population (about 1,650,000), it has the sports interest, it has the weather," said Rozelle. "Geographically, it fits into our plans and more important at this time it has the very attractive stadium available for the 1967 season."

The stadium is the 82,500-seat Sugar Bowl at Tulane University.

However, city officials were hoping to construct a domed all-weather sports stadium which would be home to the football club and available for other events.

Construction depends on whether voters in the state approve a constitutional amendment Nov. 8 authorizing the project, which would be paid for by a tax on hotels and motels hereabouts.

Rozelle said no one has the inside track in the bidding for ownership of the New Orleans club.

"We are going to immediately go into an investigation of the financial responsibility of those who have applied, their background, their character and this might take a couple of weeks," he added.

It was learned that Louis J. Rouse, a New Orleans oilman-financier, has lined up enough solid support from NFL club owners to block any other applicant.

Other applicants included Jack Sanders, a wealthy contractor who played with the Philadelphia Eagles 20 years ago; John W. Mecom Jr., millionaire Texas sportsman; and Edgar B. Stern Jr., New Orleans television station owner.

The new club will be given special concessions enabling it to draft men from the college ranks and also from other NFL clubs to stock its roster. However, details have not been set.

Rozelle said Tulane Stadium is one of the sites being considered for the playoff game between the champions of the NFL and the American Football League.

Whacky Big Ten Race Muddies Bowl Picture

CHICAGO (AP) — Except for the consistency of Michigan State, the current Big Ten football race has to go down as one of whackiest in history. It could get whackier.

Bogged down by an 11-16 record against nonconference foes and with Michigan State ineligible for the bowl bid because of the no-repeat clause, the Rose Bowl picture remains muddled as ever so far as the Big Ten is concerned.

Purdue and Minnesota, currently running one-two for the bowl bid, "can't afford to look ahead" to their Nov. 12 meeting in their coaches' words.

Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Murray Warmath of Minnesota made this clear to the Chicago Football Writers via telephone Tuesday.

Both teams hit the road against improving opponents this week and if both lose, the run for the roses could turn into a seven-team race with two weeks remaining.

Purdue is at Wisconsin and Minnesota at Northwestern.

OUT OF RACE

Aside from Michigan State, only Ohio State and Iowa have been mathematically eliminated. Purdue holds the upper hand with a 2-1 record to Minnesota's 2-1-1. The other five teams all have two losses.

"We can't afford to look ahead," said Mollenkopf. "If we lose, we're out of it."

"Look ahead," asked Warmath. "The way we've played this season we can't be overconfident about anything."

Purdue and Minnesota have won two of their last three games but in the process each has taken an unbecomingly shelacking. Purdue was humbled 41-20 by Michigan State and Minnesota lost to Michigan 49-0.

By contrast, Wisconsin and Northwestern have split even in their last three games. The two teams tied each other 3-3, went on to a conference victory each and then were stubborn in the last week.

Wisconsin bowed to Michigan 28-17 and Northwestern lost 22-0 but made second-ranked Michigan State struggle all the way.

MORE OFFENSE

"No team has improved in the league as much as Wisconsin," said Mollenkopf. "Their

W. Bloomfield to Entertain Hills' Eleven

Birmingham Seaholm Host Friday Night to Unbeaten Oaks

Two undefeated county prep championship teams with a lot to lose will encounter hungry grid opposition Friday night.

Blounts completing their careers at Birmingham City League and their season at arch-rival West Bloomfield at Royal Oak Dondero, the Border Cities League tist, will visit Birmingham Seaholm.

Dondero is the third best Class A team in the state according to this week's Associated Press prep poll. Once-beaten Seaholm was bidding for a spot in the top ten until suffering a bad defeat at Royal Oak Kimball.

Hills can match Dondero's 7-0 record and has the highest scoring team in its history, but hasn't attracted many votes due to the calibre of its opposition.

The Barons, however, did move into the 16th spot this week. They'll enter Friday's game in healthy shape, and needing one final victory to enhance their rating.

ONE LOSS
Coach Bill Tunicliff will have 25 seniors playing their final game for him after two years with only one defeat, and two W-0 titles.

West Bloomfield (3-4) has 11 Blounts completing their careers under coach Art Paddy who has seen the Lakers lose three of their last four after a good start.

Tackle Jim Simpson, a 238-pounder, and center Steve Garlitz, a 216-pounder, will be available for full-time duty after a spell of idleness due to ailments.

The Lakers will be missing ends Greg Van Acker and Correll Cox, however.

Game time is 8 p.m. and it will be Dad's Night at the West Bloomfield Stadium.

PUNCH
Dondero has a potent 1-2-3 punch in quarterback Dave Charlton and halfbacks Al Shephard and Rod Rider. The Oaks defense also has been rugged in their seven straight wins.

Seaholm, after a 6-1 record that includes a second place in the Southeastern Michigan Association behind champion Kimball, will conclude the season against Dondero and then offensively potent Brother Rice.

The Maples could add much lustre to their mark with two more victories. They have a slippery halfback in Chris Carlton and a respectable defense.

Seaholm, also, could catch the invading Oaks looking past this game to their season finale with RO Kimball's Knights.

Golfers, forget the snow and cold. Keep those clubs handy.

Weather permitting, Pontiac Country Club will play host to a best-ball tournament Sunday, Nov. 11. Players interested may reserve tee times by calling the club or they may sign up the day of the tournament.

In a best-ball outing Sunday, Lloyd Syron, course manager and former state amateur champion, teamed with Rod Skelton for a seven-under-par 55 to tie the best of Ken McClintock and Ray Allen.
