Congress Action Spurred on Slum Housing Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats searched today for a housing answer to riot-breeding slum conditions as Republicans reversed their field by offering support for President Johnson's rent supplements program.

The Senate Banking Committee is sifting five proposals aimed at improving housing conditions in big city slums.

There was private determination among Democratic members to come up with some program to lower the cost of homes and rental housing to slum dwellers as an alternative to a well-publicized private enterprise proposal by freshman Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

Percy's home ownership bill would subsidize the costs of private construction through government contributions to loan interest rates and guarantees of mortgages involved. If they can prevent it, Democrats indicated, they are not going to let Percy walk off with any slum aid program.

Republican reaction to street violence was etched for all to see when Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen told a news conference yesterday of a "somewhat different feeling" among his party colleagues toward the rent supplement program than prevailed last year.

SUPPORT GROWING

Dirksen said he could tell by looking at the faces of GOP Policy Committee members at a closed meeting that support was growing for the program.

The House earlier this session rejected President Johnson's request for $40 million in rent subsidies for low-income families. Individuals who occupied projects constructed under the program would pay 25 per cent of their annual income in rent.

The remainder needed to finance the project would be collected by builders in federal supplemental payments.

Dirksen turned a cold shoulder, however, to a bipartisan proposal by Percy and Democratic Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, of Connecticut. They suggested yesterday that Johnson be given authority to transfer up to $1 billion in appropriated money to use as an emergency fund to alleviate urban slum conditions.

DOUBTS SPENDING

Dirksen indicated he doesn't believe the money would be spent wisely under programs that would have to be developed quickly.

In a related move, the House voted yesterday to turn over most of the money for Johnson's anticrime program to the states in the form of lump sum grants. It added a Republican-sponsored provision requiring that "highest priority" be given in state anticrime plans to detection, prevention and control of civil disorders and organized crime.

MURDER SUSPECTS — Lucille Brumit, 29, of Grand Rapids and Lloyd W. Higdon, 25, of Lansing are shown prior to their arraignment in Jackson today. The two are charged with the murder of Roxanne Sandbrook, 13, of Lansing. The girl's body was found in a dump near Jackson on Sunday. Higdon waived examination, while Miss Brumit demanded examination. (See story, page A-2.)

Student Held in Slaying of Dying Mother

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman critically ill with leukemia was shot to death in her hospital bed yesterday in what police described as a mercy killing by her son.

Robert Waskin, 23, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Alice Waskin, 52. Hospital spokesmen said Mrs. Waskin was a terminal leukemia patient with only a few days to live.

"She asked me to do it," Waskin told police after his arrest at Wesley Memorial Hospital.

Waskin, a senior at the University of Illinois Chicago Circle campus, admitted the slaying to police and said he had tried to put her "out of her misery" Sunday by giving her an overdose of sleeping pills, police said.

Mrs. Waskin was taken to the hospital Monday and placed in an intensive care unit for treatment for an overdose of sleeping pills.

NURSE HEARD SHOTS

Joann Calendar, a nurse at the hospital, said she heard three shots and saw Waskin drop a 22-caliber revolver on a desk and walk to the hallway where his father, Daniel, 52, was waiting.

"Well, now she's out of her misery," she said the younger Waskin told his father.

Nurses said Waskin was calm as he approached his father and offered no resistance as hospital security guards held him for police.

NAACP, Young Negroes Heard

By BOB WISLER

Young adult Negroes and representatives of the Oakland County Chapter of the NAACP last night presented city commissioners with resolutions and recommendations aimed at ending racial difficulties.

About 70 youthful Pontiac Negroes attended the meeting. Several of the more outspoken asked for immediate action.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. advised them that the City Commission would consider all recommendations. He indicated that he had been meeting with members of the group and certain positive steps had been taken.

Copies of nine resolutions, presumably adopted by the group, were presented to the City Commissioners.

The resolutions urge:

- Good housing for all.
- Making black people politically and economically aware of their roles in voting and buying.

- A review of qualifications for city commissioners.
- An end to "police exploitation" in black communities.

- That hiring practices be investigated by the Civil Rights Commission.
- City investigation of price levels of merchants in black communities.

- Updating public facilities in black communities.
- Striving for black pride and excellence in the educational system.
- A review of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity in relation to overstaffing and underaiding the young black adults seeking help.

SIX SUGGESTIONS

James Mathews, president of the Oakland County chapter of the NAACP, read six suggestions which he said the chapter's executive board encouraged the commissioners give immediate attention.

The board suggested a complete revamping of programs at the Hayes Jones Recreation Center "to provide a more complete program for area teen-agers and young adults," and establishment of a youth advisory council to help plan such programs.

Mathews said consideration should be given to employing more Negro youths

UAW Strike Poll Set

DETROIT (AP)—Leaders of United Auto Workers locals at General Motors plants around the country today were making plans to poll their membership on whether or not to strike the auto industry giant to win contract demands.

The union, replying to company demands for an adjustment in the cost-of-living formula, announced yesterday it has asked for a strike-authorization vote from the nearly 400,000 UAW members at General Motors.

The strike vote, scheduled for GM workers for the week of Aug. 20, will be the first such vote since negotiations began July 10.

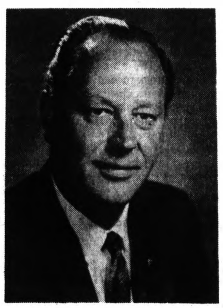
"Only by rallying our ranks can we bring GM executives back to the world of reality," wrote Leonard Woodcock in a letter to leaders of union locals. Woodcock is a union vice president and head of the UAW's General Motors Department.

Woodcock put heavy emphasis in the letter on the company's demands for an adjustment of the cost-of-living provisions of the contract.

UAW contracts covering 750,000 workers at GM, Ford and Chrysler expire Sept. 6.

Woodcock charged that the company was asking workers to "pay back the 18 cents an hour earned as cost-of-living protection during a term of the present agreement."

GM announced last Thursday it would ask the union for some adjustment in the cost-of-living program.



NEW MANAGER — J. L. Hudson Co. announced today that William M. Roberts of 4215 Bluebird, Commerce Township, has taken over as manager of Hudson's Budget Store in the Pontiac Mall. Formerly assistant budget store merchandise manager at Northland, he joined Hudson's in 1951.

FBI Is Probing Killing in Detroit

LANSING (AP) — The adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard said today the FBI was investigating another fatal shooting during Detroit's riot and that the probe "hit me cold."

Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Schnipke said an FBI agent whom he did not identify called him yesterday and questioned him about the shooting which he said apparently took place at a National Guard roadblock.

Schnipke said the call came "as a shock." He said he did not recall the name of the victim.

The FBI refused any comment and would not say whether the investigation was a routine check being made into all 43 of the riot deaths.

DEATH NO 17

Death No. 17 which occurred at 2:10 a.m. Tuesday, July 25, was that of Henry Denson, 27, a Negro of Detroit.

Denver Is Shaken by Intense Tremor

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The most intense earth shock ever recorded in Denver shook sections of the city today and was felt by residents as far as 120 miles away.

Dr. Maurice Major of the Colorado School of Mines said the quake registered 5.3 on the Richter scale. The worst previous shock was on April 10.

There were no immediate reports of injuries or serious damage.

$20-Million-Project Plans Shown

Preliminary plans for a $20-million multiple dwelling-shopping center complex were unveiled for the City Commission last night.

The commission set an Aug. 29 public hearing on the proposed developer's petition to rezone a 53-acre site in the northeast section to make the complex possible.

The plans of the developer, Dr. John R. Ylvisaker of Bloomfield Hills, call for construction of 1,000 units, 300 to be contained in high-rise buildings of 10 to 12 stories.

Designed by C. Don Davidson, a University of Detroit architect, the plan entails extensive use of pedestrian decks connecting living units and the shopping complex, parking facilities underneath the units and the pedestrian walkways, and two-story low rise units.

Consisting mostly of one-and two-bedroom units, the apartments are expected to rent for near $140 per month for one-bedroom units and $145 to $160 for two-bedroom units, Dr. Ylvisaker said.

If the rezoning is approved, construction on the first 100 units is expected to begin this fall.

About 10 acres would be set aside for commercial shopping facilities, seven of which would be centrally located and envisioned to contain a restaurant and "convenience" stores.

Related Stories, Page A-10

Parking in the shopping center area would be under and on the main surface.

MAIN FEATURE

James Bates, director of planning and urban renewal, said main features of the plan are the separation of pedestrian and vehicular traffic and the achievement of higher density than usual while at the same time retaining a large green area.

"A pedestrian can move anywhere within the site without crossing a road using the decks or green area," Bates said.

The City Planning Commission, which reviewed the plans and recommended rezoning to R-3 and C-1, liked the idea of integrating high-rise with low-rise units, Bates said.

The high-rise units are planned for parcels at the northeast, southwest and center of the project.

RESERVED AREAS

The developer agreed to dedicate 27 feet to the north for future widening of Walton and 50 feet to the south for an extension of Pontiac Road.

Living units would feature living rooms, kitchen, and patios on one level and bedrooms on a higher level.

In another action, commissioners approved rezoning to Residential 3 a 15-acre parcel between Madison and Perry across from Perry Mount Park Cemetery for construction of a 252-unit apartment complex.

The developer, Harold Ross of Detroit, said construction would be under way next year. He said 84 one-bedroom units would rent for $145 and 168 two-bedroom units for $170.

POOL FEATURED

The complex would feature a swimming pool.

The land is on property owned but not utilized by the cemetery. A discount type department store is scheduled for construction on property east of the parcel, land bounded mainly by the intersecting Perry and Madison streets.

Showers ending this morning will leave temperatures somewhat cooler tonight, the low about 55 to 60.

Skies will be partly overcast tomorrow, but the weatherman promises mostly sunny with the high in the 70s. Fair and not so cool is the outlook for Friday.

The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 70. By 1 p.m. the mercury had reached 84.

GIs Attack Complex of N. Viets

SAIGON (AP)—A company of American air cavalrymen made a helicopter assault early today into what turned out to be the center of a North Vietnamese army tunnel complex and ran into a fierce mortar, antiaircraft and small arms attack. Three troop-carrying helicopters were shot down and two others hit.

The savage battle in the Song Re valley, in the central lowlands 330 miles northeast of Saigon, and another battle Tuesday in which 65 Viet Cong were reported killed ended another prolonged lull in the Vietnam ground war.

At midafternoon the men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division were reported still in heavy contact with the enemy in the Song Re valley west of Duc Pho. First reports from the field said at least four Americans had been killed and 22 wounded.

American troops estimated they killed 40 enemy soldiers in the initial fighting in the first landing zone.

COPTER DOWNED

The first four Americans killed were in a helicopter shot down by Communist gunners firing antiaircraft machine guns from entrenched, well-fortified positions.

Officers in the field said U.S. Air Force tactical fighter-bombers attacked a dozen of the machine-gun positions that were spotted from the air. Pilots reported destroying seven of them and damaging five others. Each of the machine-gun positions was said to contain twin-mounted weapons.

A multibattalion force of air cavalrymen launched the drive after two days of aerial reconnaissance indicated a bunker complex and recently built tunnels in the area. Reports from the field said it was the first time allied troops had entered the region.

One company—about 200 men—was lifted by helicopter into the initial landing zone and quickly came under fire.

2 COMPANIES

First reports said the enemy force was made up of at least two companies of North Vietnamese regulars.

Along with the first major ground fighting in several weeks, improved weather allowed U.S. pilots to hit the northeast and northwest railway lines deep in the industrial heartland of North Vietnam Tuesday for the first time since Aug. 4. Pilots flew 166 missions over the North, and there were no reports of any U.S. planes shot down.

Communist shore batteries also were active Tuesday, firing more than 70 rounds at the U.S. destroyer Rupertus as she and the destroyer George K. MacKenzie shelled several North Vietnamese coastal defense batteries near Dong Hoi.

Cmdr. E. J. Burke of San Diego, commanding officer of the Rupertus, said his ship had light shrapnel damage on the bridge and port side of the main deck but no one was hurt.

An estimated battalion of Vietcong attacked a company of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade nine miles southeast of Quang Ngai City Tuesday, but the attack backfired.

Escapees Hold Girl Hostage

Pair Surrenders After 3 Terrifying Hours

TUCKER, Ga. (AP) — Two escaped prisoners held a terrified young woman hostage for nearly three hours yesterday, most of the time with a gun at her throat before law enforcement officers talked them into surrendering on a crowded interstate highway.

The dental receptionist, Martha Ann Mobley, 20, collapsed into the arms of police and ambulance attendants screaming, "Thank God! Thank God!" after her captors freed her.

Officers said the leader of the two convicts, James S. Lowe, 23, cocked and uncocked the gun he held at Miss Mobley's head as they pleaded with him to let her go. They said he also threatened to kill his fellow escapee, Bobby Joel Yarbrough, 23.

Lowe first demanded that he be allowed to escape in a car with the woman and a policeman accompanying him, then demanded to see Gov. Lester Maddox, to whom four escaped convicts surrendered several months ago at the governor's mansion to dramatize alleged poor prison conditions. The incident touched off a probe of prison conditions.

Lowe said he would talk with FBI agent Richard Davis, who had been questioning him in recent days in connection with a federal violation. Police summoned Davis and the agent and Weaver pleaded with Lowe.

RELEASE VOWED

Lowe finally said he would release the girl if Weaver would accompany him to the governor's mansion to see Maddox.

The governor instructed officers not to try to disarm the convicts on the way to the mansion. He said he thought he could talk them into surrendering.

Weaver said Lowe finally surrendered after he was promised some minor concessions such as being taken to the west wing of the DeKalb County jail where he said he had some friends, and being allowed to talk to a special solicitor he considered a friend.

Law Proposed to Require Utility Lines Be Buried

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission has directed City Attorney James L. Howlett to draw up an ordinance which would require utility companies to place their overhead lines and cables underground in the city's central business district.

Howlett had been asked by the commission for an opinion as to whether the city had the power to enact such an ordinance.

He replied that the city does have the power and that the courts will not interfere with the exercise of it unless it is used in an unreasonable manner.

Asst. City Manager John Saefke said that the utility companies will be consulted before any ordinance is enacted.

The ordinance, he said, will allow "a reasonable length of time" — possibly five years — for the lines to be installed underground.

SHARE EXPENSE

The city and the utility will share the expense of the project, with the utility paying an amount equal to the accumulated depreciation of the lines to be replaced.

The commission ordered that overhead utility lines and poles in the Pierce-Merrill alley be removed immediately and placed underground.

The city will bear the $2,900 cost.

City Engineer William T. Killeen reported to the commission that the city would probably not pay if the work is done after the new ordinance is enacted but that there would be a delay in getting the work done.

Saefke said the block-long alley is being renovated and that it was desirable to have the work completed as soon as possible.

2 Head for Runoff in Mississippi Vote

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — State Treasurer William Winter and U.S. Rep. John Bell Williams headed today for a runoff battle for the governorship of Mississippi after outdistancing the other five candidates in the race.

With almost 62 per cent of the state's precincts reporting, Winter and Williams each held a commanding lead of some 50,000 votes over their nearest rival.

Mississippi Negroes scored their biggest victories since Reconstruction days. More than 50 Negroes ran for local and county offices throughout the state and several triumphed over white opponents.

In the governor's race, former Gov. Ross Barnett, 69, whose efforts to block integration of the University of Mississippi in 1962 made him a national figure, trailed badly and was out of contention. He had campaigned vigorously.

SEGREGATED SCHOOLS

With 1,100 of 2,124 precincts reporting, Winter had 95,061 votes, Williams 90,262 and country music singer James "Little Jimmy" Swan 49,604. Swan had promised free segregated private schools if elected, and it was believed he cut deeply into Barnett's expected vote.

Barnett was running fourth, with 31,120 votes, and Dist. Atty. William Waller of Jackson fifth with 27,229. The other two candidates, Vernon Brown and C.L. McKinley, received only a token vote.

The Negro victories came in counties where their race predominates. In Claiborne County, Calvin Williams, a Negro, received enough votes to gain the runoff for sheriff. In the same county, Negroes won Democratic nominations for chancery clerk, justice of the peace, constable and county supervisor. They have no Republican opposition.

In Adams County, the Rev. W. S. Scott, a Negro minister, won the nomination for justice of the peace, beating three white men. Sandy Nealy, another Negro, won the nomination for Dist. 4 constable. Neither has GOP opposition.

HOMEWARD - BOUND — Outgoing U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, 68, was flown home today seriously ill with infectious hepatitis. He took sick last Friday while on a lecture tour of Australia and was flown to Bangkok, Thailand, where he was admitted to a U.S. Army hospital.

2 CIA-Directed Invaders Captured Sunday--Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban security forces intercepted an armed landing party on the north coast of Pinar del Rio Province Sunday, Havana Radio said today. Two members of the invading group were captured.

Two other members of the landing party got aboard their boat and returned to the United States, according to a broadcast monitored in Miami, abandoning equipment and documents on the beach.

"The armed group was obeying direct orders from the CIA and left from the United States to carry out CIA missions in Cuba," the radio said, referring to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

One member of the invading group was wounded and captured near the scene of the landing, according to the radio. The other was caught Sunday afternoon after an all-day chase.

Both men, the radio said, will be put on display before delegates attending the Latin-American conference of leftist revolutionaries in Havana.

The documents also will be shown, the broadcast said, as new proof "to unmask the criminal policy of the U.S. government toward Cuba."

Sunday, the Cuban government displayed six captured exiles at a news conference. Two of them said an objective of their mission was to kill Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Ford Raps Restrictions on Air Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford opposes sending more troops to South Vietnam unless President Johnson okays air attacks on unscathed military and strategic civilian targets in North Vietnam.

The Michigan Republican, charging Johnson's administration has pulled "our air power punch," said two-thirds of the military targets in North Vietnam and high proportions of its power plants, roads and petroleum storage areas have been spared air attack.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, while not questioning the figures on untouched targets supplied by Ford — statistics which the GOP leader said he got from sources he can't reveal, accused Ford of misunderstanding U.S. objectives.

McNamara said U.S. air power isn't directed at destroying North Vietnam or paving the way for an invasion, but at curbing the flow of troops and equipment into South Vietnam.

House Clerk Raps Romney, Annoys GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Clerk of the House W. Pat Jennings said today he sympathized with angry Republicans in the Michigan House delegation.

"If I had a governor like George Romney, I'd be mad, too," he said in an interview. "But they shouldn't be mad at me."

The Michigan Republicans were deeply annoyed by Jennings' speech at Norfolk, Va., Monday night, when the former Democratic congressman from Virginia said Romney "fiddled while Detroit burned" during last month's riots.

Through ignorance or fear, Jennings said, Romney failed to establish a legal basis on which President Johnson could have sent federal troops into Detroit any more promptly than was done.

Romney failed to call up his own National Guard as promptly as other governors have done in the face of a riot, Jennings said.

2 Brothers Jailed in Murder of Girl

GIRARD, Pa. (AP) — Two Erie County brothers are in jail today awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of murdering 12-year-old Connie Rae Carstater, whose body, bound with her own clothes, was found in a wooded swampy area Tuesday.

State police Tuesday arrested Jerry E. Bearce, 15, of Rt. 1, Albion and his brother Daniel, 23. The two were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Esther Meeder, who remanded them to Erie County jail without bond. A preliminary hearing will be held within ten days, police said.

A tip that the brothers were seen near where Connie disappeared Sunday led to their arrest, police said. They said they found evidence at the brothers' house indicating the two were involved in the slaying, took the brothers to the police barracks and arrested them following interrogation.

2 Being Held in Girl's Death

State Teen's Body Found Near Jackson

LANSING (AP) — A Lansing man and a Grand Rapids woman today were held on open charges of murder in the death of a 13-year-old Lansing girl whose body was found in woods near Jackson.

Higdon waived examination and was being held without bond. Miss Brumit asked that her arraignment be postponed until today so she could have an attorney present.

IDENTIFIED BY RING

Roxanne's body was found about 40 feet from a road, she was identified by a ring and watch she was wearing. Dr. J. H. Ahronheim at Jackson Memorial Hospital said Roxanne had been ahead for two to four weeks.

House Clears Revamped Anticrime Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats, forged in part by recent riots, ran roughshod over administration forces in completely revamping President Johnson's anticrime bill.

Eighty-four Democrats, all but 10 of them from Southern and border states, teamed with 172 Republicans in the key vote Tuesday that converted the crime bill from a federal grant program to be run by the attorney general into a largely state program using federal funds.

The 256-147 vote nailed into the bill an amendment by Rep. William T. Cahill, R-N.J., for "block grants" to the states. The House then passed the measure by a vote of 377 to 23, sending it to the Senate.

The effect of this summer's urban riots showed clearly in adoption of an amendment stressing the need to give priority to detection, prevention and control of riots, civil disorders and organized crime. It also was an issue in approval of Rep. James G. O'Hara's proposal for a 50 per cent increase to $75 million for the bill, with $30 million earmarked for riot training.

ATTEMPTED OUSTER

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark—who would lose control of most of the funds in the House-passed measure—was the target of a move to eliminate his place in the Cabinet.

But an amendment by Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, to abolish the Justice Department and replace it with an office of justice headed by a noncabinet officer appointed for a 15-year term was ruled out of order by the parliamentarian. Minshall said he would introduce it as separate legislation.

Arson Blamed for Second Fire

The second fire in a day at a Pontiac home late yesterday caused some $6,000 damage and took city firemen more than two hours to extinguish.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz termed the blaze which broke out about 8 p.m. at 409 S. Jessie "definite arson."

He pointed out that between midnight and 1 a.m. yesterday two attempts were made to set the two-story occupied frame building on fire.

First, rags soaked in lighter fluid were tossed in through a window, but they failed to ignite anything else, Metz said.

Shortly thereafter, a pile of rags in the house was set off with matches and a subsequent fire caused several hundred dollars damage to building and contents, according to Metz.

Metz said he had not yet determined how last night's blaze was started.

Two engines and a ladder truck under the command of Asst. Chief Lee Nye responded to the alarm.

Metz, who said his department is working on several leads, indicated juveniles may be responsible for the fires.

NATO Role Seen as Major Issue in Italy

ROME (AP) — Italy's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is developing into a major issue for national election next spring.

Some leaders of the Socialist-Christian Democratic coalition fired away at the Communists over the weekend, saying it would be "unthinkable" for Italy to invoke the treaty clause permitting a member of the alliance to break away then.

But a sizable number of Socialists and even a few of the traditionally pro-Western Christian Democrats are calling for a reevaluation of NATO policy and programs.

MAY EFFECT GOVERNMENT

A hard struggle over the issue would have profound effects on the center-left government in power since 1963. Observers believe many politicians will be reluctant to see NATO continue after 1969 without significant changes in the organization's character and purpose.

There are two big dangers to the coalition:

- A serious dispute in the next center-left government that is almost sure to result from the vote.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers and thundershowers are forecast tonight from the southern Plateau region through the northern portions of the southern Plains and the lower Lakes area. Showers also are expected in the lower Mississippi Valley, southern Florida, the Carolinas and the mid-Atlantic states. It will be warmer in the northwest mountains.

in the city's youth assistance program and he asked for a city-adopted resolution supporting by ordinance, open housing, "as other Michigan cities have done."

He also suggested "initiating immediate plans for fully integrated public housing in other locations of the city," primarily for persons unable to qualify for rent supplement housing or townhouse units, with a high percentage of three-, four- and five-bedroom units.

NEGRO APPOINTEE

Mathews' statement called for appointment of a Negro, who can be "representative to the needs and concerns of Lakeside Homes," to the existing vacancy on the Public Housing Commission.

The final suggestion was for abolishment of the Pontiac Human Relations Commission, or, if not, a paid full-time staff.

Matthews said the commission "exists only on paper with no meaningful function . . . It is apparent that this committee means nothing to our city government, since, to our knowledge, they were not called upon to function in any manner during our recent disturbance."

His statement encouraged the commission "to utilize these young adults who are representatives in sharing in making meaningful decisions in our community."

MEETING SLATED

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said a meeting has been arranged to consider changes in the Hayes Jones recreation programs.

Taylor indicated that city action on all the matters presented could not feasibly be handled immediately and this touched off comments by some of those present.

"We want action now. You can go on considering for quite some time," one said.

In reading the resolutions, Shirley Roberts, said goals were presented to the commissioners because "each should be aware of our interests."

She also mentioned that the young Negroes are "aware of some of you taking steps to eliminate the causes of social unrest."

TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. said he would attempt to meet with the group "to work out complex problems without destroying lives and personal property."

Legislator's Bribery Exam Put Off Until September

The preliminary court examination of State Rep. Bill S. Huffman on a charge of soliciting a bribe was adjourned yesterday until late September when it will be determined if the legislator should be bound over to Circuit Court for trail.

Huffman is accused by Oakland County Grand Juror James S. Thorburn of soliciting a bribe regarding a package liquor license being sought by Leonard Peltier, the owner of a party store in Madison Heights.

The alleged incident, according to Thorburn, occurred in April 1961 while Huffman was mayor of the south Oakland County city.

Two weeks ago, Peltier testified at the start of the hearing that he and Huffman once discussed the license, but then said that Huffman contacted him three days later and said to forget it.

Peltier said that Huffman had told him it would be necessary for him to have an attorney and quoted Huffman as saying, "Through my efforts I promise I can get you a license. But you have to have an attorney. You pay him and he pays us. We have to have money for our campaigns. We can't pay for it out of our own pockets."

Yesterday, Huffman's attorney, Carlton Roeser of Pontiac, asked Peltier: "Did Bill Huffman ever say give me this and I'll see that you get your SDD license? Did he ever promise you anything?"

"No, he did not," answered Peltier.

Peltier then said that he only paid the normal state fees to get his license.

On Monday, a former Madison Heights druggist, Emil Pavlovics testified that he had given Huffman a $5,000 "campaign contribution" in 1959 and about two weeks later got his package liquor license.

ADJOURNMENT ASKED

Roeser requested the adjournment from Bloomfield Hills Justice of the Peace Jack Baldwin so that he could review the transcript of the proceedings.

It will be a month before it can be transcribed and another 10 days before the hearing can resume.

In another grand jury development yesterday, a Ferndale man, John Johns, was cited for contempt of court for the second time in less than a week for refusing to answer questions when he was called as a witness by Thorburn.

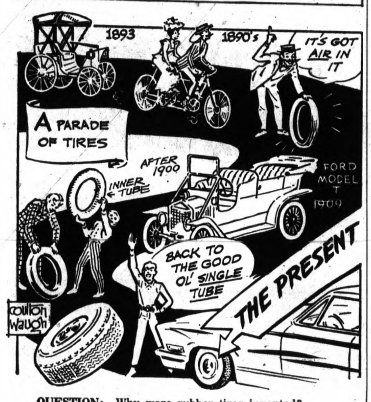
Johns, 53, of 818 Pinecrest, refused to answer yesterday even after being granted immunity from any prosecution.

A hearing on the first contempt charge had been scheduled for yesterday, but was adjourned until Tuesday when it will be decided by Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts if Johns should be found guilty on both counts.

Junior Editors Quiz on TIRES



QUESTION: Why were rubber tires invented?

ANSWER: Rubber stretches further than most other substances. As it does so, it stores energy which allows it to snap back to its original shape. So, a rubber tire will absorb road shocks by first giving in and then coming back. As vehicles began to move faster, rubber tires became even more important.

With the first cars, such as the Duryea (upper left), solid rubber tires were used, as was the case with early bicycles. But about the time of the "bicycle built for two," tires which had air pressure inside were invented, proving far superior to solid ones.

Cars began to use such single tube pneumatic tires in 1895. However, they were difficult to repair and their use was discontinued after 1900 because a great improvement had been made.

This was a hard outer casing to contact the road with a flexible inner tube to hold the air. The first such tires had high air pressure, 55 to 75 pounds, and would last for about 4,000 miles. Then came a larger tires with lower air pressure which would give five times the mileage.

Now, thanks to tougher inner construction, we have gone back to the widespread use of the tubeless tire. Some automatically seal themselves when punctured.

Choice Is Tax Hike or Inflation, Johnson Warns

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Inflation or higher taxes — a variation of the old law of supply and demand—is the choice President Johnson gives Congress in urging adoption of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Failure to approve higher taxes, the administration contends, could only lead to spiraling inflation.

The economic effect of a potential budget deficit of $29 billion—the ultimate possible figure presented by Johnson—is governed in a free economy by a basic law of economics.

Briefly stated, when the supply of goods is plentiful and the demand low, the price will be low. But when the supply is short and demand high the price will rise.

SAME LAW APPLIES

The same law applies to financing a deficit.

The administration can cut spending to trim the potential deficit, a course urged strongly by some Republicans. Beyond that, however, it must borrow money or raise taxes, or both.

With higher taxes and spending cuts, Johnson says the deficit can be cut to between $14 billion and $18 billion. It's this amount which must be borrowed.

A $29-billion deficit covered by borrowing, government economists say, would only result in more inflation with its higher interest rates and higher prices.

EXPECTED TO RISE

One top government official said prices are expected to rise further in coming months—but not as much as last year—even if taxes are raised.

Here basically is what government economists think would happen if the deficit reached $29 billion:

The Treasury Department would be forced to borrow the money in a market where interest rates have already soared to near last year's heights because of heavy borrowing by corporations and state and local governments.

Because of the law of supply and demand this would push interest rates even higher.

Money would be diverted from the mortgage market into these more lucrative investments, and the housing industry, now struggling to recover from last year's depression, would suffer a severe setback. This would mean unemployment and fewer paychecks in the construction industry.

COST OF MORTGAGES

It would also send the cost of mortgages rocketing skyward again because the supply of mortgage money would be below the demand.

The Federal Reserve Board, as an alternative already rejected by both the board and the administration, could expand the nation's money supply through its regulation of national bank and securities transactions. This would cover the increased borrowing but would have an extreme side-effect—heavy inflation.

With extra money floating around in the economy, the demand for goods and services would increase and prices would rise.

A wage-price spiral would result as labor tried to offset higher prices with demands for higher wages.

The idea behind raising taxes is to keep the economy on a more balanced course, stemming some of the demand a $29 billion deficit would create.

One way or another, Johnson said, the nation must pay—through higher taxes or through inflation, tight money and shortages.

Probe Urged on Charges Against Poverty Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John J. McClellan said today there was "enough indication" that federal antipoverty workers have been involved in big city riots to warrant a full-scale investigation of the charges.

"I certainly think it should be thoroughly investigated," the Arkansas Democrat said. "If it proves to be true, we have to take appropriate steps to stop it."

Not only have policemen from several cities made accusations against the poverty program and its workers but several senators, notably Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., are soliciting the allegations.

Nashville Police Capt. John A. Sorace made the most damaging charge when he said a $7,700 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity went to Fred H. Brooks, director of a "hate whitey" school in Nashville. Brooks is also chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in Nashville.

Faced with an unanswered allegation, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., quickly rushed the Rev. J. Paschall Davis, chairman of Nashville's antipoverty program, to the witness stand.

STATION WAGON

Davis denied that any money has gone to Brooks or the so-called "liberation school" which teaches preteen negroes to hate whites. He conceded, however, that Brooks was driving a station wagon leased by the Metropolitan Action Commission (MAC), largely funded with federal money.

Oxford Twp. Board Withholding Okay

Proposed Lake Park Lagoon Studied

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — A second engineering study is under way here to determine the fate of a proposed lagoon in Lake Park subdivision west of the village of Oxford.

Objections to the lagoon have come from nearby home owners and from Trustee William Offer of the Township Board.

They say:

- Creation of the lagoon along Tanview Drive would rob the swampy area of its wildlife.
- By creating further access to Tan Lake, the boating traffic would be increased.
- Creation of the lagoon and its possible effects on the soil could lower property values.
- The lagoon might carry silt into Tan Lake.

Supervisor Lee Valentine doesn't agree.

"We've had approval for the lagoon from the county Board of Health, the State Department of Conservation and the township engineers," he reported. "There is already a public access to the lake," he said in regard to boat traffic.

So far the Township Board has withheld its approval.

At stake is a 600-by-60-foot lagoon, south of Tanview Drive, emptying into Tan Lake in the area where spillover from Davis and Park Lakes now flows.

Michael Chirco, developer of Lake Park Subdivision, has asked that the project be approved.

3-PHASE PLAN

He plans 24 $30,000 to $45,000 homes on about 30 acres — the first phase of a three-phase development plan.

Three homes are now occupied and six are under construction, according to Valentine.

Chirco feels that with construction of the lagoon he could build up part of the swampy area to fit in more lake-access homes, both in the first and second phases of his construction project.

Three special meetings of the township board have been held in connection with Chirco's request. At the last meeting July 12, some 20 home owners were present to object.

At that time it was recommended that all plans be submitted to a second engineering firm. Flint Surveying and Engineering Co. was selected. Valentine said he expects to get their answer within a few days.

Meanwhile the township still has an unpassed resolution into which the following safeguards were written:

- That soil borings be made before the sale of lots and building permits be issued on the canal.
- That a change of the Davis and Park Lake overflow to the upper end of the canal be made if the water doesn't move properly. (It now hits about midway on the side of the proposed lagoon.)

- That pipe from the existing tile between Park and Tan Lake be extended to the closed end of the channel to insure a flow of water if expected springs are not found.
- That approved perk tests are to be taken on each lot where fill is required previous to the sale of lots.
- That the channel is to be dug in such a manner that no sediment will flow into Tan Lake.
- That a cash bond be provided by the developer and continued for two years to insure proper and successful flow of the channel water.

SEVEN LAKES

The proposed lagoon is located in an area of seven lakes — all of them now sprouting new subdivisions around their edges.

The lakes are Davis, Park, Tan, Cedar, Long, Clear and Squaw.

Davis which is spring-fed and Park which is connected to Davis by a channel are some 2.5 feet higher in level than the others.

A recent move by the Davis Lake Improvement Association to establish an official lake level has been before the County Drain Commission.

PRELIMINARY STUDIES

Representatives were told that preliminary engineering studies would cost $2,000 and that a petition to establish the level must be signed by two-thirds of the 25 actual present landowners on the lake.

Valentine said should the project be completed, costs would be split on a special assessment basis.

Milford Deal on High School Site Approved

MILFORD — The board of education has approved the purchase of 50 acres for a proposed high school.

The $60,000 site is on Bogie Lake Road near Thompson Greenhouses, Inc. The board announced no specific plans.

The board tabled the final architectural plans for additions to the existing high school at 2380 S. Milford. The board is awaiting more information on the drawings.

Architects for the additions are Richard Prince Associates of Kalamazoo who have designed three of the elementary schools.

The high school expansion includes a library, science facilities, an industrial arts room, an art room and several classrooms.

AWARDED BID

The board also awarded the bid for asphalt paving of Watkins in front of the high school.

The C. W. Anderson Co. submitted the low bid of $26,581. Work is expected to begin sometime this fall.

Norman L. Rogers was appointed new transportation supervisor for the school. He comes from the South Redford district where he was head mechanic and substitute transportation supervisor.

Developers Get Novi Approval

NOVI — Developers of about 70 acres on the northwest corner of eight Mile and Hagerty got approval from the Village Council to establish multiple dwellings and businesses.

The approval came as a rezoning of the parcel from agricultural to multiple dwelling and thoroughfare commercial.

In other business, the council appointed three planning board members.

Reappointed were Kalin Johnson and Paul McCollun.

2-Car M24 Crash Kills Lapeer Girls

METAMORA TOWNSHIP — A two-car crash on M24 just north of Broecker Road yesterday afternoon killed two 16-year-old Lapeer girls.

Dead are Suzanna Lynn Seib of 844 S. Main and Laura Diane Hawkins of 54 Court.

Lapeer County sheriff's deputies said the Seib girl apparently tried to pass a car, decided against it and lost control of her car as she attempted to cut back into her lane.

The car, in which Miss Hawkins was a passenger, flipped over and slid into the path of a car driven by Vicki Suzanna Walz, 17, of 705 N. Main, Lapeer.

Miss Walz is in fair condition in St. Joseph Hospital, Flint.

OLD ELM REMOVED — One of the first large land developers in the county, Henry Clay Ward, supposedly planted this elm, reportedly more than 100-years-old, now being cut down because of the Dutch Elm disease. The tree stands on what was Ward's 195-acre orchard. Shown is the present owner of part of the land and the tree, John M. Williams of 1695 Ward, Sylvan Lake. The tree removal is part of a countywide control program.

'Dutch Elm Disease Incurable, but Control Techniques Work'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Try to kill Dutch Elm fungus with alcohol and:

"All I can picture is a drunken elm weaving back and forth," quips Dr. William Wallner, a Michigan State University Entomologist. "The alcohol won't help kill the disease."

Neither will zinc nails pounded into diseased elms, turpentine sifted into the tree through tubes or epsom salts sprayed on a tree which has lime around the base and "scratched roots."

All have been proposed as cures for the disease that kills up to 95 per cent of the elm trees in a city.

"There are no cures for Dutch Elm disease, despite what you may have read," contends Dr. John Hart, MSU plant pathologist, who works with Wallner on Dutch Elm disease control methods.

CONTROL METHODS

"But there are control programs — and they work," Hart says.

The programs must include sanitation, destruction of root grafts and chemical control with insecticides.

Sanitation means keeping all old and dying branches pruned out of elm trees, he said. In addition, it means removing dead elm trees and those that are low in vigor because on insect attack, flooding or other types of injury before the beetles breed in them.

Hart explains destruction of root grafts as killing elm roots in a limited zone to keep them from spreading the disease to healthy trees. This can best be accomplished by applications of a soil sterilant, he says.

Chemical control involves musting or spraying trees with an insecticide that will kill bark beetles that transmit Dutch Elm disease.

"Opponents to these control programs point out that you cannot completely eradicate Dutch Elm disease, so the program is a waste of money," Hart says. "They also say that the spray can kill birds, gold fish and make a mess out of newly-painted houses.

"But these people overlook the fact that Dutch Elm disease programs really do work.

"Furthermore, if they're not used, the city can spend millions of dollars cleaning up after a Dutch Elm epidemic that has occurred when no control program was used."

EXAMINATION OF TREES

Hart urges home owners who suspect their trees have the disease — maybe the leaves just seem to wilt? — to have the twigs and branches examined by professional plant pathologists.

"If not, and the tree is diseased, the bark bettle — the most efficient spreader of the disease — will get into the tree and breed," Wallner explains.

"The beetle then will feed in smaller twig crotches of a live elm and possibly transmit the disease."

Dutch Elm disease first appeared in the United States around 1930 on the East Coast. In the 1950s it moved into Michigan and has spread throughout the state.

EFFECTIVENESS OF CONTROL

Hart says that cities using Dutch Elm control programs have lost about 10 per cent of their elms over the past decade. Cities that have not used the program have lost up to 95 per cent of the elms.

Holly Twp. Man's Challenge

Rec Area Being Carved Out of Rough

HOLLY TOWNSHIP — Tired of the 9-to-5 office routine? Bored with life within the confines of a white collar and an air-conditioned office?

Six months ago Ned Cole of 2154 Miner answered yes to both those questions and in March sold his prosperous insurance agency in Flint.

He has poured his energies — and his time — since then into the monumental task of turning 140 acres of woods and farm land into a golf and country club and year-around recreation area north of Tinsman and west of Fish Lake roads.

The project has been virtually a solo effort to the present and will continue to be so for the foreseeable future.

Since early April when the project got under way, Cole has worked seven day weeks and has put in dawn-to-dark hours.

Portions of the acreage that were formerly used as farmland were plowed, and leveled into a playable lie and seeded in that first month.

A half-acre man-made lake was carved out of a wooded area with a bulldozer and drag lift.

Water was pumped into a depth of 14 feet from nearby Iroquois Lake on which 2,000 feet of Cole's land fronts.

His efforts bore their first fruits July 1 when the 3,300 yard front nine of a planned 18-hole golf course was opened for play.

'STILL ROUGH'

"It's still rough," Cole said, "but its playable and is an interesting and challenging course for any man."

The club, called Bramblewood Golf and Country Club, is a public recreation area now and will be so for the foreseeable future.

The response to the opening of the course has so far been light and probably will not improve measurably this season, according to Cole.

"I don't think we'll have any large volume this year," he said. "we started late and not many people are aware that the course is here."

SMALL CLUBHOUSE

Plans call for a small temporary clubhouse to be built this fall. It will serve as a warming shelter during the winter when the club will host winter sports enthusiasts.

The property has two long, steep hills suitable for skiing, and tobaggan runs.

Iroquois Lake as well as the small, man-made lake will be used for skating.

The second nine holes will be open for use next season and work on a permanent $75,000 clubhouse will be underway by next spring.

PRIVATE FACILITY

Cole hopes eventually to turn the club into a private facility for about 250 families. It will be about five years, he said, before his plans for a plush country club can be realized.

"This has been hard work," he said, "It just takes time."

Oxford Applies for Property Study

OXFORD — Application for an in-depth study of village property to be included in a proposed urban renewal project has been started.

Manager Robert Smalley last night told the council that representatives from the Chicago Housing and Urban Development office have investigated the area and reported favorably on the village's chances for federal funds.

Smalley said he had applied for the necessary forms to continue the process.

In other business, last night the council approved rezoning of about nine acres from residential to light industrial. The land lies west of Glaspie and north of Powell.

Abutting the site of an investment casting factory now being constructed in the township, the land was recently purchased in the township, the land was recently purchased by Henry Lanthier, factory owner.

Samlley reported the rezoning had been approved by the planning commission.

The council accepted the resignation of Roy B. Cloud from the village board of canvassers. Cloud, a teacher, said he had accepted a new position out of Oxford.

W. Bloomfield School Tax OK'd

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education has approved a 33.2 mill school tax, the same rate as last year.

Of that total, 26.2 mills will go for operating expenses and 7 mills will handle debt retirement.

The board also approved paying one-half of the cost — $2,200 — of a gravel road to connect Tamerlane and Nicholas. The township will handle the other half of the cost.

The 60-foot-wide stretch is intended for junior high school students. They had been cutting across private properties.

The board also heard a progress report on the construction of high school additions. The architectural firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, reported that lockers will not be delivered until January.

COMPLETION DATE

Otherwise, all other work on the additional 24 classrooms will be completed by Sept. 1.

The board also approved the purchase of a language learning laboratory for the high school. It will cost $5,849 and will serve 30 students, said schools superintendent Leif Hougen.

Wixom Approves Ring Road Study

WIXOM — The City Council gave the green light last night for a study on the southeastern part of the ring road around the city.

The ring road is being developed to allow motorists to avoid the railroad throughways in the city, said Mayor Wesley E. McAtee.

In other action, the council appointed Bill Miner, 30290 Beck, to the planning commission. Miner is replacing Raylord Underwood, who resigned because out-of-town work kept him from some meetings, said McAtee.

Area Hero Goes to His Final Rest

LT. RICHTER

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Richter was shot down and killed on his 198th mission over North Vietnam. He was a hero at the age of 24.

Recipient of the Distinguished Flying Cross for becoming the youngest pilot ever to shoot down a MIG over Southeast Asia, Lt. RICHTER turned down a chance to come home after flying 100 missions, choosing instead to remain in Vietnam serving his country in active combat.

Air Force officials, his friends and former teachers all regarded him as a rare personality. The sorrow felt by his family may be great, but it is tempered by a deep feeling of pride. For them, that pride is manifested in many trophies, Air Force certificates, commendations and medals, and in fond memories.

But the pride does not stop there. It belongs to all of us. We can all be proud that Holly Township produced a man of such high caliber as Air Force First Lt. Karl Richter.

Carmichael Rebellion Calls for Swift Justice

As the cartoon on this page says, "must we take it lying down?" The invective screaming by Carmichael & Co. needs immediate attention, and is no place for wrist-tap.

When CARMICHAEL named President JOHNSON, DEAN RUSK, ROBERT S. MCNAMARA, and Britain's HAROLD WILSON to "pay the price," it is time instant justice takes action.

If Carmichael returns to U.S. soil he should be arrested and made accountable for his actions. His partner, H. Rap Brown should be dealt with the same way.

The actions of these firebrands is so obvious that every concerned American is aghast. Their combined utterances are amounting to armed rebellion against the United States of America.

Our Nation's two hundred million citizens, white and black, are fed up with this kind of preaching.

We don't believe that this type of talk comes under the heading of "Free Speech" within the meaning of the First Amendment.

Credit NY Bank With 'the Most' in Credit Cards

One of New York City's largest banks has come up with a new slant on credit cards. Called an "Everything Card," it will allow the holder to charge anything from an accordion to a zipper.

The American businessman and the American tourist have long been wedded to their credit cards. The original oil company cards, which were first good only for gas, oil, and perhaps tires, are now honored in motels and lots of other places. The big "T & E" cards—travel and entertainment — are issued by American Express, the Diner's Club and Carte Blanche. These already cover a wide gamut of chargeable necessities and pleasures.

A droll byproduct of the credit card is the growth of individual credit accounts, particularly in hotels and restaurants. Show the maitre d' or the hotel cashier a "T & E" card and you're likely to be invited to open your own account with the establishment.

The reason? The issuers charge a minimum of 7 per cent for service to the establishment who's extending the credit—and make it wait 45 days for its money.

The "T & E" cards cost their holders $10 to $12 a year membership dues in the issuing agency. The new York bank card, will be offered free of charge, so long as the holder's bill is paid in full within 25 days.

If the holder needs cash he can get an instant loan at any branch bank. The system starts out with charge privileges at 30,000 establishments in New York City and two adjacent counties. The bank says you can charge "almost everything you can see, touch, taste or feel."

City Riots, Viet War Shackle U.S.

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON—This country's two most baffling problems — city riots and the war in Vietnam — are like handcuffs on America for no one has found the key to either.

MARLOW

Since this year's riots the air has been packed with suggestions for preventing or eliminating them: more jobs for the impoverished, more money for their areas, more recreation, more education, sterner police action.

It's odd how often the people of good will in their ideas for a cure concentrate on more benevolence and ignore or hardly mention the criminal elements in the riots even though they are a product of slum conditions.

With great speed Congress began hearings and President Johnson set up a distinguished commission to investigate riots. But it's doubtful any remedial legislation will result from the congressional hearings this year.

And there won't be any solutions from the President's panel this year. It won't finish its work until about mid-1968. Meanwhile, there may be more riots this year and worse ones next year.

VIET BOMBING

This past weekend the United States hugely intensified its bombing in Vietnam, and Johnson announced he would send up to 50,000 more troops to Vietnam by next June 30, bringing the total there to 525,000.

That will be about 500,000 more than were there in early 1965. But, despite the U.S. troop buildup and the escalation of the bombing which didn't begin until early 1965, victory looks no closer now than then.

Johnson himself, repeating what he said last January, told Congress last week: "I wish I could report to you that the conflict in Vietnam is almost over. This I cannot do.

"We face more cost, more loss, more agony. For the end is not yet. I cannot promise that it will come this year—or come next year."

INDIFFERENCE HIT

And this week the New York Times, in a full-page report on the stalemate after all the optimistic utterances by other U.S. officials, hit at the war's most sinister cancer. This is the indifference of the masses of peasants about the outcome.

Yet, over the weekend Clark Clifford, one of Johnson's special envoys to sound out thinking among U.S. allies in this war, said they agreed their goal "is the right of self-determination" of the people of South Vietnam.

But the elections coming up there soon, although supposed to be a form of self-determination, are almost a cinch to keep in power the little group of military leaders who run the show now.

Ironically, this country where the allies want the people to have self-determination would likely collapse in chaos if the strong-armed military men didn't run the show. They'd probably undercut any civilian leadership.

NO INSPIRATION

But the military men haven't shown any particular perception about the need to win the interest and allegiance of the masses if a stable government is to be established when the war ends.

In short, the people haven't been reached or inspired. The only ones who seem to be following an ideal are the Vietcong and the North Vietnamese.

Must We Take It Lying Down?

David Lawrence Says:

Justice Dept. Autonomy Urged

WASHINGTON — At last some members of Congress are beginning to wake up to the absence of a code of ethics in governmental affairs, and are now urging the complete separation of the Department of Justice from the influences and pressures of party politics.

LAWRENCE

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, has just written to his colleagues in the House asking them to support an amendment he has introduced to the the anticrime bill that would remove the Department of Justice from control by the President.

It has always been a matter of concern in Washington, during this and preceding administrations, that the White House directs, for instance, the activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Likewise, court prosecution in important cases is undertaken only with the approval of the chief executive.

It is understandable but not commendable that an administration doesn't wish to investigate its own officials or the acts of its political henchmen throughout the country.

RARELY PROSECUTED

Thus, for example, violations of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act in connection with campaign funds are rarely the subject of prosecution by any attorney general.

The most conspicuous example of neglect today, however, is in connection with the "civil rights" movement.

The Department of Justice has failed to prosecute Negro or white agitators, with or without Communist connections, who have been instrumental in fomenting disorders and riots in this country in recent years.

The Department of Justice is in reality an arm of the courts, and as such is entitled to an independent status.

CUSTOM DEVELOPED

If this reform should be adopted, it will be not because of happenings under the present administration alone, but because of the custom which has developed whereby an attorney general is named either from a circle of close personal acquaintances of the president or from among high-ranking party chieftains.

Again and again, an attorney general has previously been active in either the Republican or Democratic campaigns, and naturally has been under obligation to many individuals — in business, in labor unions, in state and local offices—who have rendered valuable support during political contests.

Separation of the Department of Justice from the control of the president of the United States could be one of the most significant changes in American government.

It could prove to be a most important step in the growing effort to secure nationwide respect for our system of law and order — not only in the selection of judges as well as juries but in the whole process of investigation and prosecution of crime.

Bob Considine Says:

59 Nazi War Criminals Reportedly Free in U.S.

NEW YORK — There are at least 59 Nazi war criminals living in America today, some of them as citizens and all of them convinced that the government will do nothing to send them back to Germany and possible genocide trials, according to a new book, "The Fifth Horseman," by Nathan Miller Adams.

CONSIDINE

It is written in novel form but its facts were culled from the Institute of Jewish Affairs and scores of articles printed abroad.

One naturalized American was accused at a war crimes trial in Krasnodar, U.S.S.R., of killing 200,000 Jews, another 800, another 1,592.

The former Antonas Ludvikus Impulevicus, now living under another name in a large Eastern city, was commander of an extermination squad in White Russia and Lithuania which murdered 50,000 in Kaunas, Minsk, Baranowicze and other places.

SENTENCED TO DEATH

He was tried in absentia and sentenced to death in Vilna in 1962, after the U.S. refused an extradition request by the Soviet Union.

Another man, a Catholic priest who left the church, was known as the Black Commander who killed 1,200 persons near Skuda, Lithuania, in 1941.

He was sentenced to 15 years in prison in absentia by the supreme Court of the Lithuanian Soviet Republic. He lives in Brooklyn.

The U.S. is not a party to the Genocide Convention.

After extensive research in Washington, Adams feels certain that the chief reason why we dismiss extradition calls as "Communist propaganda" is that the U.S. immigration authorities don't want to admit the mistakes they made years ago in failing to screen immigrants carefully enough.

More than any other single factor, the cost of the war in Vietnam is warping the federal budget. The administration has persistently underestimated that cost, with the result that the fiscal year showed a deficit of $11 billion, compared to the $1.8 billion originally estimated.

Even at the present rate, the deficit for the fiscal year just begun stands to hit $13 billion, and some economists are warning it could go to $25 billion.

Gen. William Westmoreland says he needs more troops in Vietnam and a rough rule of thumb indicates that for each 50,000 men added the cost rises another $5 billion a year.

Entirely aside from the human cost in casualties and the moral and political disputes arising from the war, McNamara bears a heavy burden of decision in assessing the financial side.

The final decision lies with President Johnson, but he leans on McNamara's computer-type brain when it comes to deciding how many men are needed in Vietnam.

The President proposed months ago that a 6 per cent surcharge be added to personal and corporate income taxes. His budget estimates assumed the added tax would be collected beginning July 1, but with that date passed the tax issue is still up in the air.

Economists argue over the effect of the added tax. Would it hurt business by reducing profits and actually cut tax collections, or is it necessary to forestall a new, inflationary boom some now see in the making?

But the one fact that can't be waved away is that huge federal deficit, and there's no doubt about its link with the Vietnam war.

Apparently Mr. Johnson is getting some down-to-earth political advice in Congress that goes something like this: "You can't sell a tax increase on the ground of inflation alone. So wrap it in the flag, say it's needed to support the war in Vietnam, and push it through."

Neither a tax increase nor a whopping deficit will be politically popular, and it's possible Mr. Johnson will end up with both.

More Readers Discuss Recent Disorder

I take exception to your editorial regarding the use of Federal troops during the recent riots in Detroit. While it is true, as you state, that President Johnson is running for office, it is only fair to state that Mr. Romney is also running for President. I believe Mayor Cavanagh was the only official who wanted to use Federal troops regardless of the consequences.

Mr. Romney was caught in a dilemma. In order to have the troops come in he would have had to admit to a state of "insurrection" in Detroit. Such an admission would have negated any insurance claims resulting from the riots. He had to "request" (not recommend) that the troops be sent into the area and agonized for hours over the use of that one word because it would have been an admission that the situation was out of hand—and he is running for President.

Mr. Johnson insisted that the letter of the law be met because violent racial disturbances had broken out in many areas of the country and he was fearful of setting a dangerous precedent regarding Federal intervention. Mr. Johnson is also running for President.

It appears that neither Mr. Johnson nor Mr. Romney is entirely blameless as far as playing politics is concerned. The real tragedy is that thousands of innocent people were suffering needlessly while all of this in-fighting was going on.

THOMAS L. CARRY
486 W. IROQUOIS

I can't help comparing the men in high places, who passed the buck while Detroit burned, to Pontius Pilate who turned over an innocent Christ to the angry mob and then washed his hands—thinking by so doing he exonerated himself from all blame. This, too, was a political move. I hope to see the day our country again has leaders who can make a decision without first checking to see which side gave them the most votes.

MRS. EDNA TORREY

Why does LBJ have to spend more tax dollars on a "commission" to study the cause of riots such as Detroit and other cities experienced? Stokely Carmichael gladly supplies him with all the "causes"—and from Havana, yet! We will allow him back into this country to continue waging "guerrilla warfare" and pay a blindly liberal commission to sit in Washington and study the reasons for it.

Most Negroes don't support the causes Carmichael advocates. The ones who have worked to own property, cars, homes and other material possessions wouldn't trade them for an anti-capitalist system any more than their white, red or yellow brothers.

LOUISIANA FIRE SCENE — Smoke and flames are still belching from the burning Cities Service Oil Co. refinery in Lake Charles, La., yesterday afternoon following an explosion in the huge oil complex. At last report, three were dead and three missing.

Fiery Refinery Blasts Kill 3, Leave Damage in Millions

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Fire control squads prowled today through the gigantic Cities Service Oil Co. refinery struck by fiery blasts which killed three men and wreaked damage in the millions. Three other men were missing and presumed dead.

The fire fighters allowed flames to burn through the night rather than risk allowing collection of explosive gases which could be touched off by a spark.

Authorities expected to find the bodies of the three missing men in a burning section too hot to enter. After fuel feeding the fires burned out, searchers planned to probe the ruins.

HUGE FIREBALL

The blasts, followed by a huge fireball, came early Tuesday in the hours of darkness at the $380-million plant which sprawls over 2,000 acres like a forest of silvered towers, pipes and storage tanks.

One man working in a unit north of the major eruptions said the explosions left his unit without steam, water or air. When that happens, he said, "If God is with you, the whole thing doesn't blow up."

The three victims were found about noon near one of the major blast areas. Officials said J. R. Dansby of Vinton, L. D. Richardson of Sulphur, and A. L. Rothchild of Sulphur were caught by fire as they ran.

The men missing and presumed dead were identified as H. R. Smith of Lake Charles, H. E. Hoffner of Sulphur and R. W. Taylor of Maplewood.

6 HOSPITALIZED

Burns and shock caused six men to be hospitalized. Eight others were treated and released.

Thirteen relatively minor explosions followed the first big ones at 4:45 a.m.

Administration Lacks Moral Capacity, Says Fulbright

HONOLULU (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says the Johnson administration lacks the "moral and psychological capacity" to end the Vietnam war and advance social justice at home.

"The country sickens for lack of moral leadership," the Arkansas Democrat told the American Bar Association Tuesday as he linked the war to violence in big cities at home.

"Far from building a safe world environment for American values," he said, "our war in Vietnam and the domestic deterioration which it has aggravated are creating a most uncongenial world atmosphere for American ideas and values.

"The world has no need, in this age of nationalism and nuclear weapons, for a new imperial power.

DECENT EXAMPLE

"But there is a great need of moral leadership—by which I mean the leadership of decent example.

"That role could be ours but we have vacated the field, and all that has kept the Russians from filling it is their own lack of imagination."

Prefacing his address to about 600 lawyers by calling for "introspection," Fulbright noted his opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam and said, "We'll wait and see who's right."

"It seems to me," he added, "that self-adulation should not become a way of life."

DIRECT CHALLENGE

In his 5,000-word speech, interrupted five times by applause, Fulbright directly challenged the Johnson administration's contention "that we can indeed afford both Vietnam and the Great Society."

"They produce impressive statistics of the gross national product to prove it. "The statistics show financial capacity," he said.

"But they do not show moral and psychological capacity.

"They do not show how a president preoccupied with bombing missions over North and South Vietnam can provide strong and consistent leadership for the renewal of our cities.

BURDENED CONGRESS

"They do not show how a Congress burdened with war costs and war measures, with emergency briefings and an endless series of dramatic appeals, with anxious constituents and a mounting anxiety of their own, can tend to the workaday business of studying social problems and legislating programs to meet them."

Fulbright added: "Anxiety about war does not breed compassion for one's neighbors; nor do constant reminders of the cheapness of life abroad strengthen our faith in its sanctity at home.

"In these ways the war in Vietnam is poisoning and brutalizing our domestic life."

WASHINGTON — The thing that bugs the medical world most is public apathy toward research and "preventive medicine," particularly among the nation's young.

"Naturally older people stay up on medical news," a doctor at the National Institute of Health here said, "but to get the attention of the young you have to come up with something as dramatic as hitting them over the head."

That sort of drama is in the works now, relative to the nation's No. 1 killer — heart disease.

The government (National Institute of Health) has decided that it will soon begin the largest single medical experiment in history in an effort to reduce substantially the 700,000 fatal heart attacks suffered annually in the United States.

The study, as recommended recently by a government-appointed panel of heart experts, will take five years, involve up to 70,000 Americans and cost more than $50 million.

And hopefully, it will produce facts that whack a lot of young, apathetic pates.

The brunt of the attack is aimed at that much publicized little understood word — cholesterol. Cholesterol is a fat-like substance in all animal fats and oils that is "strongly suspected" of helping to cause atherosclerosis or "hardening" of the arteries.

What the heart specialists want to know is whether a switch away from fatty foods in the national diet will safely and significantly lower the blood level of cholesterol.

Those 70,000 Americans may not know it yet, but they're going on a five-year diet which calls for a doubling of unsaturated fats, such as corn oil-based foods, and a reduction by at least half of the saturated or "hard" fats, such as butter, egg and cheese.

The mechanism by which cholesterol might cause arterial disease is not now understood. There is, however, little doubt of its role since large quantities of the substance always show up on the walls of diseased arteries in heart patients.

The panel, an eight-doctor Committee on Diet and Heart Disease, headed by Dr. Irvine H. Page of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, was appointed five years ago by the National Heart Institute here to see if the new study was feasible.

After three years of research, the committee started pilot diets on some 2,500 middle-aged men in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Oakland, Calif.

As another monitor, the panel studied dieting patients at the Fairbault (Minn.) State School and Hospital, comparing the results against those of men living in "freedom."

No great mystery. The pilot study proved that diet change could lower blood cholesterol, the committee said in its recommendation.

The new, massive study will work mostly with men in the 45-54 age bracket, the segment of the population most prone to heart attacks.

When it is all over, the National Heart Institute hopes it can bombard the public, especially the young which can immediately practice their own "preventive medicine," with definite diet information that could lengthen a life-span.

Revenue Bond Sale Approved

Low Bidder Accepted Despite Objection

City commissioners last night approved the sale of $1.8 million in sewage disposal system revenue bonds to the First of Michigan Corp., the lowest of two bidders.

A representative of the Halsey Stuart & Co. Associates of Chicago, the other bidder, objected to the sale of $1.1 million in bonds because, he claimed that the bid submitted by the Michigan firm was not signed.

Financial consultant advised the commission that the sealed bid was signed immediately after its envelope was opened by a representative of First of Michigan.

They saw no irregularity and the commission voted to sell the bonds accordingly.

The first of Michigan Corp. submitted bids calling for interest rate of 4.3617 on $1.1 million in bonds and 4.3586 on $700,000 in bonds.

TRUNK LINE

The Halsey Stuart & Co. submitted bids calling for an interest rate of 4.4408 on $1.1 million in bonds and 4.4394 on $700,000 in bonds.

The $1.1 million in bonds will allow construction of the Galloway Creek sanitary sewer truck line and a pumping station.

The $700,000 in bonds is for a sanitary sewer trunk and pumping station on Opdyke from the sewage treatment plant near Auburn to proposed multiple housing units and a shopping center complex at the northwest corner of Square Lake and Opdyke.

Civic Center Vote

GRANDVILLE (AP) — Voters will have a second chance Oct. 2 to approve a proposed civic center complex. Last April, a new city hall, police and fire station and library was defeated by 240 votes. The October ballot will carry two proposals, one to construct a library and the other to build a city hall and police and fire buildings.

Rent Supplement Housing Is at Issue

Bid to Enlarge Project Tabled

Developer Charles L. Langs said quick approval was necessary in order to take immediate action to get the last of federal funds available for the rent supplement program.

City commissioners expressed apprehension over creating a problem area in approving another 200 rent supplement units.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the whole area of housing should be further studied and recommendations made by the privately formed Pontiac Housing Study Committee.

The committee recently received a report and survey of housing from a nationally known firm of economists which outlined Pontiac's housing needs and possibilities.

The mayor in referring to the rent supplement project on Kennett adjacent to Alcott Elementary School inferred that 720 units of this type of housing might be too many for one area.

"We could be creating in future years another mess," he said.

District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin said the housing project is "an experimental type program which is for all purposes public housing. Maybe we're generating a monster we don't want."

Irwin said that since the answers aren't known further investigation is necessary.

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. said he would not vote in favor of any future low-cost government-inspired housing unless there is a greater percentage of 3-and 4-bedroom units for large families included in plans.

Langs, who urged full speed ahead to take advantage of the government money, said the planned project calls for 1- and 2-bedroom units.

The only ones eligible for the rent supplement units are families with one spouse over 65 or physically disabled, persons displaced from former homes by natural disaster or governmental action or those living in substandard housing.

His proposal calls for another 10 acres to be added to the 525 units.

NOT APPROPRIATED

Langs said Congress has not appropriated any more money to continue the subsidy program. Available funds have been approved to allow rent supplement for the 520 units, Langs said.

The government approved a $156,288 subsidy this month for the first 200 units to be constructed in the first of three phases. That is expected to be the first of three totaling $409,500.

Last night's meeting was punctuated throughout by considerable discussion of available housing, the need for apartmental units of all types, but especially units which can be rented at moderate prices to low-middle incomes, and the dearth of new single-family housing construction.

City Affairs

China Admits 2 Rebellions

HONG KONG (UPI) — Peking today admitted Red Chinese air force officers tried twice in the past year to overthrow Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung's regime.

It marked the first official admission of full-scale military rebellion by Mao's regime in his year-long "cultural revolution" to purge the armed forces, the party and the government of all foes.

Travelers from communist China reported about 7,000 Red Guard fanatic supporters of Mao battled in the streets of Canton, south China's largest city, with knives and spears for 13 hours Monday. The travelers, quoted by the right-wing newspaper Hong Kong Times, reported the clash left "many dead."

Ordinance Review Begun on Motorcyclist Controls

A review of existing city ordinances to determine if they adequately control motorcyclists who cause nuisances is in process.

The City Commission last night asked Director of Law Shirwin M. Birnkrant to do so after District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood complained.

"Motorcycles in this day and age are getting to be a public nuisance, according to the phone calls I've been getting," Wood said.

The commissioner complained particularly about noise, especially during early morning hours.

District Commissioner John A. Dugan, said he thought motorcycle control is getting to be a big issue and the city should find out what other cities are doing to control them.

PETITION RECEIVED

Commissioners also received a petition signed by more than 30 residents of Durant and Englewood objecting to the storage of junk cars in the used car lot at the corner of Perkins and Durant.

Thomas E. Hunter, deputy city attorney, said the lot is in a Manufacturing 1 district which prohibits junk yards, the storage of junk, dismantled automobiles or used parts.

After receiving a complaint from the city inspector, Municipal Judge Maurice Finnegan issued a warrant against the owner for violating the zoning ordinance.

Police have attempted to arrest the owner, Anthony O. Grimaldi, under the warrant but have been unable to locate him yet, officials said.

OTHER ACTIONS

In other action, the commission:

- Approved taking bids for demolition of seven structures on Seminole, Menominee and S. Johnson for expansion of Pontiac General Hospital.
- Approved taking bids for some $30,000 worth of equipment at the city's two sewage treatment plants.

Joseph E. Neipling, director of Public Works and Service, said the equipment is needed to meet higher standards of sewage treatment now being required by health authorities.

Letters Praise Police, Firemen

'Outstanding' Work, Courage Are Cited

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., at last night's City Commission meeting, read letters from GMC Truck and Coach Division and the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce praising city police and firemen.

One letter, signed by Earl Maxwell, personnel director of GMC Truck and Coach, called the work of the police and fire departments during the civil disturbances "outstanding."

The letter from the Detroit board saluted all police officers and firemen for their courageous actions during the outbreaks and gave thanks to the fire department which provided a truck and men to Detroit during the early stages of the Detroit arson and looting.

City commissioners individually praised the departments and asked the director of law to prepare a resolution to do so officially.

Police Chief William K. Hanger, acting Fire Chief Charles Marion, City Manager Joseph A. Warren and Mayor Taylor came in for special praise for maintaining continuous surevillance and for directing operations.

Florida County, Jacksonville Plan to Consolidate

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The city of Jacksonville and Duval County voters Tuesday over whelmingly approved consolidating their two local governments.

The new Jacksonville, approved 52,585 to 28,872, will become Florida's largest city when the charter goes into effect Oct. 1, 1968.

The addition of some 300,000 residents from suburban areas affected by the vote will boost the city's population to more than 450,000.

Miami is currently the most populous Florida city with an estimated 338,000.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Fantasy Is Only Human, Normal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am married and have children, but if you print this, please don't say how many. I can honestly say that when it comes to being a wife and mother, I'm one of the best.

ABBY

My husband is sweet, loving, and devoted. What more could a wife ask for?

Well, for the last three years I have had a secret desire for another man. My husband has no idea that such a thought would ever enter my head, and if he knew he'd die.

The other man doesn't know how I feel about him. I see him all the time, and the thrill I get out of just looking at him is indecent. (He manages the supermarket where I trade.)

He's married and has a family, too, so nothing could ever come of this, but I can't help how I feel about him.

I can't tell anyone else about this as the Good Book says that to lust after someone is the same as committing adultery. I feel so ashamed and tormented, Abby. Is something wrong with me?

SECRET LOVE

DEAR SECRET: There is nothing "wrong" with you that isn't wrong with the rest of humanity. You are indulging in fantasy, which is normal. And it's harmless. The guilt feelings over your day dreams are doing you more harm than the day dreams.

Now, go scrub the kitchen floor and take a cold shower. You'll feel better.

DEAR ABBY: At 19 I married without my parents' consent. My husband and I then moved to another state.

At first my mother wrote to me, addressing the letters to Mary Smith which was my maiden name.

Finally she compromised and started addressing my letters to Mary Jones (Jones is my husband's name). Those I accepted and read, but a year has passed and she still refuses to address me as "Mrs."

This may strike you as being a trivial matter, but it is very important to me. What do you make of this?

MRS. ROBERT JONES

DEAR MRS. JONES: Your mother is determined to remind you that she hasn't as yet recognized your marriage, which doesn't make you any less married. Ignore it.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the woman who had a baby out of wedlock, had her maiden name on the baby's birth certificate, and later had the name changed (for only 50 cents) to her husband's name, should be clarified:

I am the mother of a child born out of wedlock. I later married the baby's father, making the child legitimate. The only thing we had to do was go to the city clerk's office where my husband swore under oath that he was the father of my child. We paid 50 cents to correct the record and we didn't have to go through any adoption proceedings.

A friend of mine had a child born out of wedlock. She later married a man who was not the baby's father. She called the Probate Court and was told they would have to file a petition for adoption and go through the regular procedure.

I can't speak for other places, but that's the way it is in Worcester county. Thank you.

Her flowers were a cascade of white roses centered with Phalaenopsis orchids.

Linda Lundstrom was maid of honor for her sister's wedding. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Lundstrom of Milford.

Clean Toe Plate, Defrosting Tray in Refrigerators

The toe plate grille on the bottom of a refrigerator or up-right freezer, designed to provide proper air circulation, must be kept clean to assure constantly efficient operation.

To remove it for cleaning, open the refrigerator or freezer door and pull the grille off.

Also remove the automatic defrost water pan located behind the grille; it rests on runners and can be pulled out easily.

Wash both the grille and the pan in warm soap or detergent suds; then rinse and replace them promptly.

Polly's Pointers

Prepowder Diapers

DEAR POLLY — I have been helping my daughter with her new baby. Her doctor said to put baby powder on the diapers instead of on baby and it would not cake. I decided to save her some time, so I sprinkled the clean diapers with powder as I folded them.

She really appreciated the diapers being ready to put on. This eliminated the need for an easily knocked-over can of powder being near the crib. — GRANDMA OF 7

DEAR POLLY — If your fancy pearl buttons become dull looking from repeated washings give them a coat of good quality clear fingernail polish and they will shine like new. — ALICE

DEAR POLLY — I collect unusual coffee mugs but needed a place to display them. A small colonial-type expanding coat or hat rack works perfectly. The rack resembles a small child's folding gate.

Mine has 10 protrusions. The handle of a mug slips on each one and is securely held in place. This is an attractive wall decoration. The racks are inexpensive and can be bought in any store that sells housewares. Collectors of cups and pitchers might like this idea. — MRS. M.G.

DEAR GIRLS — In answer to Mildred's question on how to whiten and clean her pieces of ivory I have this to pass on. A museum curator advised me that ivory naturally darkens with age and should only be dusted with a sable-tipped paintbrush. Many readers suggested the use of soap and water and bleaching in the sun which I was advised against. Water might cause the ivory to splinter. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When pulling threads in machine stitching to make gathers, be sure to pull the bobbin thread. Gathering is smoother and easier this way and there is less danger of the thread breaking in the middle of the ruffle or easing.

Vacuuming with an old, out-of-date vacuum cleaner can be a pretty tiresome job. To get the most pick-up power I find it really helps to vacuum AGAINST the grain or pattern in the rug. — G. J.

The Truth Is---I Like Being 'Auntie'

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My brother's boys, 11 and 13, call him "Gil." They also call their mother "Cam" or "Camilla," her first name. Though I've never approved of this, I've never said anything about it, of course.

But the boys who used to call me "Auntie" or "Aunt Peg" are now calling me "Peggy." I don't like it. However, I suppose you'll say that it's not important enough to object to . . .

ANSWER: I will not say that. If you don't like being called "Peggy" by these children, say so. Say to them, "Listen, you two. I very much enjoy being your aunt.

I like it so much I like to be reminded I am. So I am 'Aunt Peg' to you, not 'Peggy.' The truth is, I don't want this 'Peggy' business any more."

I'm absolutely with you in distaste for this elimination of parental titles between parents and children. Is it another side-effect of that idiotic "permissiveness" which compelled us to endorse all children's actions as agreeable to us as though no difference existed between us and them?

Americans generally are inveterate first-namers. A press agent who wants me to get his client's name in the paper will call me and say, "Muriel, how would you like to preview our new design for babies' potty-chairs?" I don't know him. He doesn't know me.

Neither of us feel the slightest interest in cultivating any personal intimacy. But there it is—an intimacy assumed in order to get past any resistance I might feel to his client. He has turned me into his "pal" to prevent my saying "No" to him.

That's why I think it's slightly batty to permit children to address us by our first names.

Oh, it's not the kids' fault! It's us "Gils" and "Camillas" who want to be the kids' "pals.' We like it that way. It's beautiful security against any obligation to say "No." We're all kids together having a wonderful time.

No loneliness of difference from the kids. No grownup dignity that might be challenged. No father, no mother authority we might be obliged to support and come through on. Just one big happy "play group."

MRS. R. K. CURRAN

A cascade of white roses, Stephanotis and ivy completed her bridal ensemble.

Maid of honor was Joanne Curran with bridesmaids Mary Kay Strzelecki and Iva Reichard. Christine Jo Christie served as flower girl.

Keep Fresh Set of Clean White Collars or Cuffs

After years of untrimmed necklines, fashion has decreed the return of face-flattering white collars.

Choir boy styles, frilled jabots, even big berthas with matching cuffs are "in" this season.

Immaculate cleanliness is required to maintain the charm of these accessories.

For practicality, they should be washable — and for convenience, they should be duplicated.

A second set can be made by home sewers or ordered when purchasing ready-mades.

Attaching snap fasteners to neckwear facilitates its removal and replacement when laundered.

After thorough sudsing and rinsing, crispness can be restored to white fabrics by light starching or by dissolving a few teaspoons of sugar in the last rinse.

Bottle Brush for Coils

Soaps for Fragrance

Bureau Asks Hospital Aids

Mature women are needed by an area hospital's Geriatrics division to entertain the emotionally ill.

Interested persons are asked to donate a few hours weekly or monthly to bring parties, square dances and other recreational activities to these patients.

For an appointment call the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau on South Woodward in Birmingham, a division of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

Dirt Gardeners Lawn Luncheon

Mrs. Reno Hermes was hostess for the group that met on the lawn of her Farrant Street home in Commerce Township overlooking the lake.

Artistic articles were presented and ideas exchanged for the material to be used in the Pontiac Mall exhibit in October.

Women Express Personal Tastes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Women buy furniture much the same way they buy clothes — each expresses feminine tastes.

As one manufacturer puts it, "Women express and complement their personalities when they buy clothes and furniture."

Says another: "There are a hundred expressions of a woman in one room. And furniture designer Milo Baugham is quoted by the American Walnut Manufacturers' Association as saying that a woman furnishing her home is comparable to a man choosing a car—both are establishing status.

Board to Consider Contract

MIDLAND (AP) — The Midland Board of Education will meet Monday night to consider a tentative contract agreement with the Midland Education Association. Details of the proposed pact have been withheld, pending its final approval.

Mail Backlog

There is a backlog of some 1,500 to 2,000 sacks of mail in Chile. Letters mailed in white envelopes get priority.

Detroit Policemen Free on Bond in Killings

DETROIT (AP) — Two white Detroit police officers charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of two Negro youths in a motel during July's racial turmoil today were free on $5,000 bond each.

The officers were freed Tuesday by Recorder's Court Judge Donald S. Leonard, despite protests by the Wayne County prosecutor's office that the action was unconstitutional.

Leonard also set $5,000 bond each for two Negro youths charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a Detroit policeman during the riot.

All four had been held without bond when they appeared before Leonard on Monday.

'EVIDENCE IS HEAVY'

James Garber, an assistant to Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan, said Michigan law is specific in allowing bond to be set "except in cases of treason and in murder cases where the evidence is heavy and the presumption of guilt is heavy and the presumption of guilt is great."

"It is our position that the evidence is weighty and the presumption great in these cases."

Patrolman Ronald W. August, 28, is accused of the shotgun slaying of Aubrey Pollard, 19, of Detroit. Patrolman Robert N. Paille, 32, is charged with the slaying of Fred Temple, 18, also of Detroit.

Pollard and Temple and a third youth, Carl Cooper, 17, of Detroit, were found shot to death in the annex of the Algiers Motel on Woodward Avenue on July 26. No warrants have been issued in the Cooper killing.

Cahalan said he expects to issue more warrants "in connection with the incidents at the Algiers," but probably not this week.

August and Paille were released by Leonard after he reviewed their records. He said he was convinced they would return for trial.

Leonard also set bond for Danny Royster, 20, and Charles L. Latimer, 19, both of Detroit, but they remained in custody when they were unable to meet bond.

They are accused of the shooting Patrolmen Jerome Olshove July 25 during a fight between police and looting suspects at a grocery store.

The two youths were given the chance to go free on bond, Leonard said, "Because the court is certainly going to provide equal justice in this case."

Lunar Orbiter 5 Shoots 1st Photo of 'Full Earth'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter 5 has snapped the first picture of the "full earth," but earthlings won't get to see it for several days.

Flight controllers at Jet Propulsion Laboratory say the photograph, taken Tuesday, will be televised to a tracking station at Madrid, Spain, on Friday.

It may be several days after that before the picture is released by the U.S. space agency in Washington.

Previous Orbiters have taken pictures of earth in partial shadow. The globe was in full sunlight when the latest photograph was shot.

MORE SHOTS

Scientists told a news conference Tuesday that Lunar Orbiter 5 has taken 48 pictures, most of them of the backside of the moon. It can take about 200 more before it runs out of film Aug. 18. Most of these will be of areas of scientific interest on the moon's visible side.

Geologist Harold Masursky of the U.S. Geological Survey, Menlo Park, Calif., speculated that astronauts may find frozen liquid on the floor of some perpetually shaded craters near the moon's poles.

He said photographs show definite indication of "fluidal material" meandering from lunar craters and added that some of it may be frozen in the polar regions. How useful the frozen fluid—possibly condensed gases—may be cannot be determined until man explores the moon, he said.

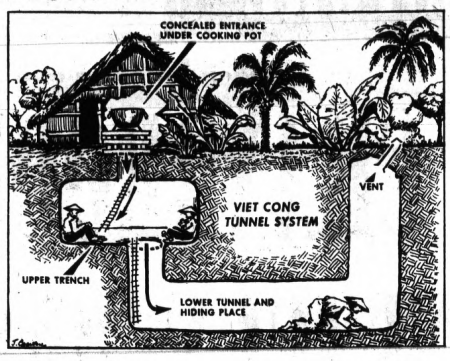
VC TUNNELS and TRAPS

Tough, crafty Viet Cong soldiers are experts in constructing tunnels in which to hide and booby traps that maim and kill.

The Viet Cong have made superb use of tunnels in the war. All over Vietnam our troops have had to go about the dangerous work of locating and destroying those tunnels.

A typical Viet Cong-held village of thatched huts in the jungle often conceals tunnel entrances hidden under cooking fires, well shafts or river banks. Ventilation holes are hidden by bushes. Millions of hours of work have gone into building tunnel systems. Our troops have discovered tunnel complexes large enough to conceal two North Vietnamese regiments, or nearly 4,000 men.

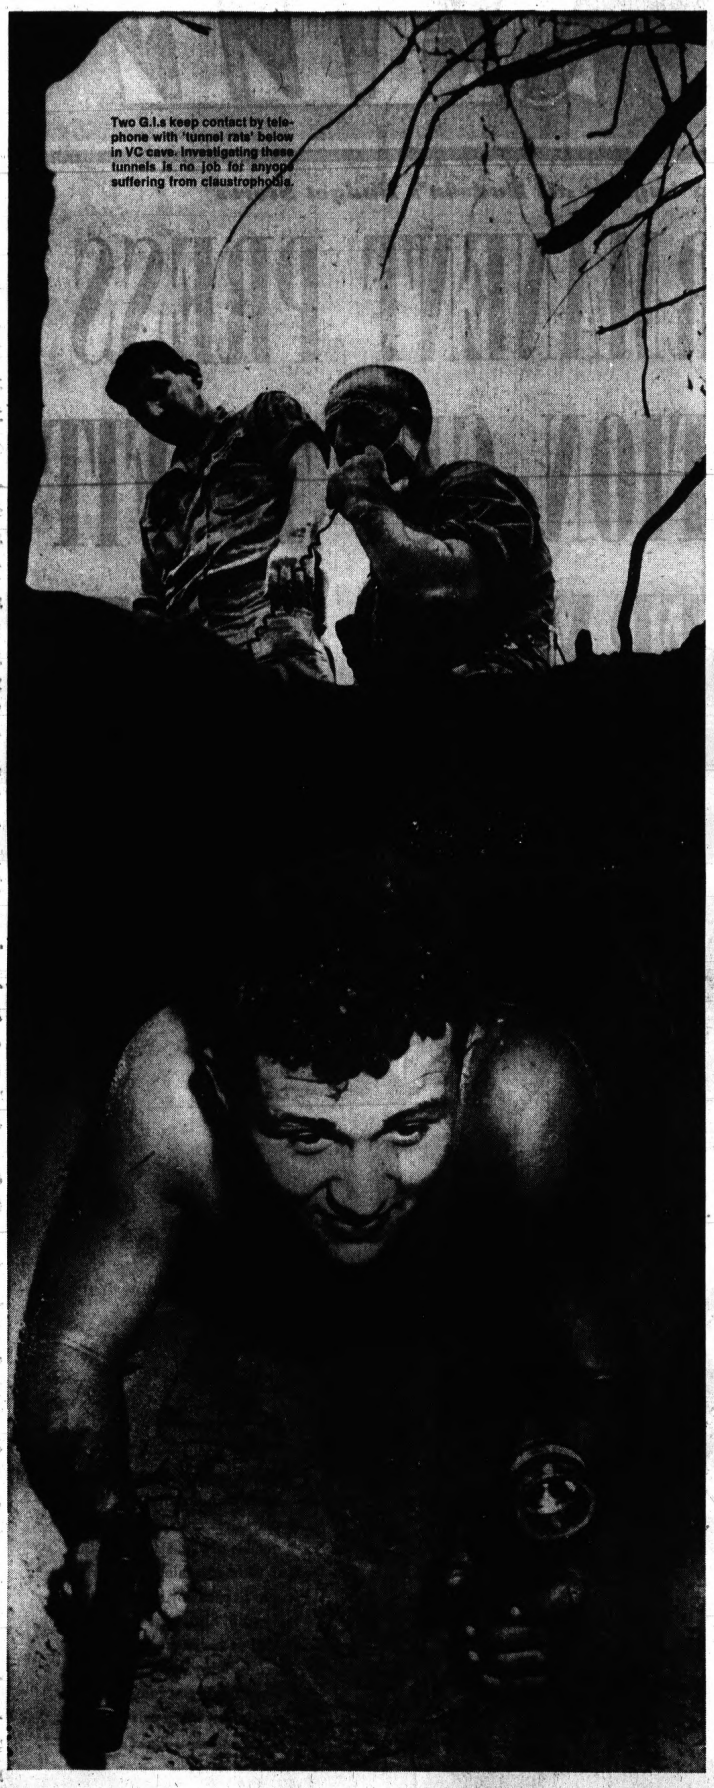


One of the most intricate complexes found yet by allied forces lies in the woods 20 miles northwest of Saigon. Some observers think this elaborate setup is part of a system that leads from Saigon west to the Cambodian border.

The formidable job of demolishing these hideouts and storage areas is carried out by the American and South Vietnamese soldiers known as "tunnel rats." Besides braving booby traps and cave-ins, the men who clear these tunnels and destroy them have to contend with poison spiders, snakes and rats, as well as bad air and the likelihood of getting lost in the labyrinths.

Another technique used to knock out tunnels is dropping 1,000-pound bombs on them. As soon as the area is clear of allied troops, however, the Viet Cong can dig the tunnels out again with much less effort than in building new ones.

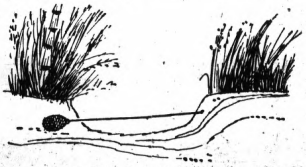
Below are some typical VC booby traps used against our ground forces in the jungles and swamps of Vietnam.



Two G.I.s keep contact by telephone with 'tunnel rats' below in VC cave. Investigating these tunnels is no job for anyone suffering from claustrophobia.

A sergeant lowers himself into entrance of tunnel inside Vietnam hut. Vietnamese woman looks on.

SOME BOOBY TRAPS USED BY VIET CONG

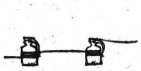


Most common type of booby trap consists of a trip wire stretched across a trail, anchored to a small bush or tree and to a friction type fuze in the grenade. Most other booby traps are variations on this basic idea.

Grenades may be buried under the gate. A short trip wire is attached to the gate so that when it is moved even slightly, the grenade is detonated.

Grenades have been attached to large punji stakes in helicopter landing zones to disable descending helicopters.

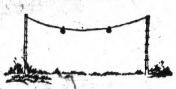
Recently the VC have been making bamboo arches across trails. A grenade with trip wire is secured at the top of the arch. Besides being effective at night as a warning device, it covers a large casualty radius. During the day the trip wire is loosened from the ground and wound around the bamboo arch to allow the trail to be used by the VC.



A daisy chain of grenades is made by first attaching a grenade to a tree or bush and tying it in such a manner that the handle is free to activate if the safety pin, which is attached to a trip wire, is pulled. When the first grenade is tripped and detonated, it releases the string to the next grenade, allowing the handle to fly free, detonate and, in turn, release the other grenades in the line. This arrangement is effective against closely spaced members of a patrol.

This mine is made from a large joint of bamboo filled with plastic explosive or black powder, plus scrap metal or other available material. Although usually detonated by a pull friction type fuze, other means can be readily substituted.

Often short stakes are employed on banks or gullies and streams in areas where it is likely that troops might jump from one bank to another. The stakes, 2" to 3" long, are usually hidden in grass or other growth on the stream banks.



This booby trap, found by the 3d Marine Division in I Corps, consisted of two bamboo poles, 15 feet high, spaced 30 to 40 feet apart with barbed wire suspended between poles. The lowest part of wire is about 10 feet above the ground. Two grenades, evenly spaced, are attached to the wire. A vehicle passing between the poles will strike the overhead wire and detonate the grenades, which are placed at such a height as to cause injury to tank-mounted infantry. Such a booby trap will cause no damage to the tank itself.

Baby Talk Linked to I.Q.

By Science Service

A baby's early "da-da" may be a sign of intelligence.

Three University of California researchers have found this, as part of a "modest" means of testing 1- and 2-year-old girls for adult I. Q. The work supports the notion that intelligence is indicated by a baby's early "talk."

The match between early sounds and intelligence, however, was true only for girls, not boys, for reasonss unknown, report James Cameron, Norman Livson and Nancy Bayley of the Institute of Human Development at Berkeley.

Their new scale for measuring intelligence includes six kinds of sounds and one movement. The signs appear between 5.6 months and 13.5 months. In order, they are: vocalizes eagerness; vocalizes displeasure; uses interjections; says "da-da" or its equivalent; pulls string for a purpose; says two words (at 12.9 months); and uses jargon.

If your little girls does that, start saving for college.

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As devoutly as any soul brother, the Justice Department is hanging on every public word of Black Power advocates Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

But a thicket of legal, political and evidence-related problems surrounds the department. Members of Congress and more than a thousand indignant, letter-writting citizens are asking about the applicability of various laws to the pair's activities.

No federal prosecution of either is in progress.

News Analysis

LOOK FOR VIOLATIONS

Lawyers in the department's internal security division comb newspapers and magazines and study broadcast transcripts to look for possible violations of federal law.

Although department and FBI officials won't talk for the record about pending investigations, these are some of their problems:

LAWS—Sedition is advocating overthrow of the government. Treason means levying war against the United States or aiding her enemies. A Selective Service law prohibits counseling persons to evade military service. The obstacles from a legal standpoint in each case are gigantic.

Sedition prosecutions have been unpopular in this country since the infamous Alien and Sedition Acts of 1798, written by Federalists to curb Jeffersonian criticism of the John Adams administration.

And the courts—since a Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes opinion in 1919—have weighed the balance heavily in favor of the freedom of speech and press guaranteed by the First Amendment.

SPECIFIC INTENT

A clear and present danger must be proven; the danger must be grave and immediate. And specific, deliberate intent to provoke the forbidden acts also must be shown.

The Constitution itself imposes the tightest restrictions on treason prosecutions. It says treason against the United States "shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession i open Court."

While Stokely Carmichael is on the record as having said "Hell, no, don't go" into the armed services and Vietnam, the Justice Department would be hard-put to find he specifically counseled an individual to evade military duty or that anyone tried to evade it because of what Carmichael shouted to a cheering, shouting audience.

EVIDENCE—Can the government prove a harangue led to anything? It is trying to produce witnesses to Carmichael's recent statements in Havana, in which he was quoted as urging guerrilla warfare in American cities and, according to Havana reports, made other derogatory remarks about this country. But Western journalists were barred—and newspaper accounts, while plentiful, are inadmissible as evidence.

"If he said these things in this country," one high-level lawyer said, "it might be a different ball game."

RESULTS—Some believe prosecution of a Negro militant for words alone might trigger greater trouble than anyone bargained for.

There are other, less concrete problems:

● Some laws being scrutinized have little or no history of litigation to provide guidance.

● The department keeps coming up with discrepencies in reports of what a speaker said. Even tape recordings, with their backgrounds of chanting, shouting and laughter, often are of little use. And filmsy, unsure evidence is especially to be avoided in cases where the emotion-laden issue of freedom of speech is the defense.

Nobody at the Justice Department is discounting the possibility of prosecutions. There are hawks who would do it tomorrow. But others caution patience.

2 Senators Urge U.N. Viet Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says it has been giving "serious consideration" to a proposal to have the Vietnam war placed on the agenda of the United Nations Security Council.

Senate Democrat leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., have called for a Security Council debate to include North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Communist China and representatives of the Vietcong.

Oldest Son Killed on Iwo Jima, Youngest in Vietnam

GARDEN CITY (AP) — The Elzeur Trombleys of Garden City say that when their oldest son, Duane, was killed on Iwo Jima, he was "fighting to defend out homeland."

The Trombleys' youngest son, Michael, 20, was killed a week ago today in Vietnam. A Marine lance corporal, he died in an explosion while guarding a unite scouring a road for Vietcong mines.

"We have to believe he was fighting for a good cause or else all those boys have died in vain," said his sister, Mrs. Home Deshais of Redford, a Detroit suburb near Garden City.

But the Vietnam war is different. "In World War II, we were fighting for our homeland. In Vietnam, we're fighting for other people," said Michael's brother Don, 22, who recently served 13 months in Vietnam with the Marines.

STOP COMMUNISM

Don, still serving out a four-year hitch in the Marines, asserted that "People have to be in Vietnam to stop communism."

Michael joined the Marines when he was 19. "He knew he had to go, so he enlisted. He felt it was his duty," said his mother.

"I certainly wouldn't have wanted him to burn his draft card or go to Canada as a lot of boys are doing."

Mrs. Deshais says there is a lot of talk of pulling U.S. troops out of Vietnam. "A lot of people over there would just as soon we left and let them fight their own battles," she said.

But, said Mrs. Deshais, "the worst thing is that he didn't have to be there." Defense Department regulations say only one member of a family has to be in Vietnam at a time. Michael had been stationed in Vietnam for 10 months.

Mrs. Trombley just bowed her head. "When death comes, it comes, it's just something that happened."

U-M Regents Boost Tuition

State Student Fee Up $72, Others $300

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The University of Michigan yesterday hiked its tuition charges in amounts ranging from $72 to $300 to fill the gap left by slashed state appropriations.

The school followed the pattern set by other colleges in the state but avoided the complicated and controversial ability-to-pay formula adopted by Michgan State University.

The school's regents adopted a general fund budget of $83.2 million, $4.6 million of which will be provided for by the increased fees.

The U-M had been appropriated $59.1 million for its general fund—$17 million less than it asked and $3 million less than Gov. George Romney recommended.

The school promised that part of the increase will go back into loans, grants and scholarships so that "no University of Michigan student will be prevented from continuing his education because of insufficient fiancial support."

Under the new setup, a full-time resident of the state will pay $420 for two terms an increase of $72. Out-of-state students will pay $1,300 for two terms, an increase of $300.

GRADUATE FEES

Graduate students from the state will pay $460, an increase of $80 while nonresident graduate students will pay $1,400, an increase of $300.

In the professional schools, the fees were all upped by $100 for Michigan residents and $300 for nonresidents.

President Harlan Hatcher said "Though the burden of the increase is placed most heavily on the out-of-state students, it seems to us both impractical and unrealistic to place the entire financial burden upon them."

The school expects to have an enrollment of 37,063 full and part-time students this fall.

SALARY HIKES

The regents said the additional funds raised by the fee hikes will be used to take care of the new enrollment and to raise nonacademic salaries.

The regents approved allocation of $530,000 from the higher fees for additional student aid. This will bring to $2 million the amount of money available from fees for students aid.

Legislator Agrees on Parking Fees

LANSING (AP) — Legislators should not be exempted from paying parking fees at the State Capitol, a member of the House said Tuesday.

Rep. Thomas Brown, R-Lansing, agreed with the Michigan State Employes Association, which called the charging of parking fees for state workers and allowing lawmakers to park for free "discriminatory."

School Tax OK'd

MADISON HEIGHTS (AP) — School officials say that passage of a 10-mill tax will allow reinstatement of junior and senior high sports, music and art programs dropped in the Madison Heights School District. Voters approved the measure, 893 to 85 Monday.

Navy Acronyms Help Keep Messages Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has put out its latest dictionary of gobbledygook allegedly used to inform sailors about transfers or assignments, and FYI, ROB PA doesn't mean stick up your father.

ROB is "report on board."

PA means "pending availability."

SHORTENS MESSAGES

These are the simplest of an assemblage of verbal mishmash which the Navy has drawn up to keep interservice messages short.

A new Navy order sent to all ships and stationsdirects commanding officers to use the abbreviations "to the maximum extent possible, except where the need for clarity is an overriding consideration."

Not only are there abbreviations in the little Navy dictionary but also equivalents for certain phrases, sentences or groups of sentences used in naval orders—280 entries in all, ranging from ABPM to WHAP.

Take these:

ADVAIL-TRANSPOE— advise date available for transportation from POE. POE isn't deciphered but "port of entry" might be a good guess.

COMLTRANSAUTH—EXPED—where government transportation not available, travel via commercial transportation authorized where necessary to expedite completion duty.

OBLISERVONEASIX—this stands for 40-odd words which, even if recited here, wouldn't mean anything to the man on the street.

AKIN TO DRUG NAMES

And some that sound like bugs or drugs: INACTNOTERM, REPNARESTRAPROG, TERMINACTRAORD, INSUPGENCRUIT, UNITOPOS AND VOLMAIN.

The Navy managed to use as few commonly known abbreviations as possible but improvised on one or two. In addition to FYI, there's FYIG which means "for your information and guidance."

CONUS means "continental United States," but the Navy also has INUS, "in the United States," as well as OUTUS, which means you-know-what.

Some abbreviations are deceiving. NOMOP has nothing to do with the floor, PHYSEXAM has nothing to do with sex and PHYSQUAL isn't to be confused with fiscal.

'RIDICULOUS'

"It's ridiculous," one officer said, "but if we had to spell those words out, our communications would be behind three years."

He maintained the list is useful WHAP—when and where applicable.

Some might challenge that for HUMS—humanitarian reasons.

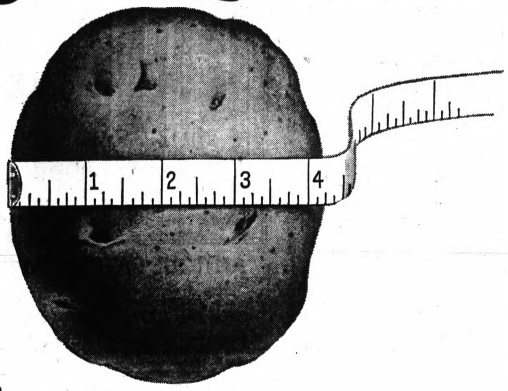
Good potato



but we won't use it

This is a NO. 1 grade potato.
But we won't use it for Jane Parker Potato Chips because it measures more than 4 inches in diameter.
We have minimum and maximum sizes to insure the best chips...the best eating.

But size isn't the only thing we're fussy about.
We'll use only certain varieties of potatoes.
There are 20 or more varieties we wouldn't think of using
...they just don't make good chips.

We're careful about potato sugar content.
It must be low to produce chips of uniform color.
We're fussy too about crispness, thickness and lots of other things.

This may seem like an awful lot of fussing, but that's the way we are about all Jane Parker products... about all the products we make.

When you think about it,

Tiny Island's Fight Against Britain Is Watered Down

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (AP) — Debate in the ancient Manx parliament watered down a resolution by fiery legislator Roy Macdonald to get Britain arraigned before the United Nations as a colonial oppressor of this tiny holiday isle. Instead, the Manx rebels will appeal to the Commonwealth.

Macdonald's charge resulted from the British government's insistence that Radio Caroline North, a pirate radio stationed anchored off the Irish Sea island 35 miles of the English coast, must shut down by Aug. 15 in accordance with British legislation banning pirates that beam commercials into the United Kingdom.

Macdonald's motion originally called for an appeal to the United Nations, but as cries of "Farce!" went up, he agreed to support a motion to complain to the Commonwealth.

The lower house of the 1,000-year-old Tynwald, the Manx parliament, walked out of a joint session with the upper house Tuesday when the largely appointed upper house voted 10-0 against the resolution calling on the Commonwealth prime ministers to intervene.

REPEATED VOTE

The 24 members of the lower house strode over to their own chamber and repeated the vote of 16-8 they had recorded in the joint session in favor of the resolution.

A delegation from the lower house may soon go to the Commonwealth Secretariat office in London, run by Canadian Secretary General Arnold Smith, and ask for mediation.

"Some important countries are still on our side," Macdonald said after the stormy session. "I'm not saying which they are, but don't rule out the United States of America."

Macdonald, a former wing commander in the Royal Air Force and chairman of the Tynwald's broadcasting commission, had said earlier: "This isn't just about radio stations. The real principle is our freedom."

'NO DICTATION'

Speaker Charles Kerruish of the lower house told newsmen the "elected representatives of the Manx people . . . will not accept dictation from the upper house." But he added: "We have these blowups every few years. This one can be settle by negotiation."

The Tynwald provided a welcome diversion on a rainy day for some of the holidayers who are the island's chief source of revenue. Hundreds lined up for seats in the small public gallery, but most of them couldn't get in.

An "independent sovereign country under the British crown," the Isle of Man's 50,000 residents have control of their internal affairs, but every bill passed by the Tynwald must receive the royal assent of Queen Elizabeth II before it became law. And upper house concurrence is necessary before a bill is submitted to the queen.

SHE'S IN MIDDLE OF CAREER—Actress Yvette Mimieux was discovered 10 years ago while horseback riding in the Hollywood Hills. Since then she has made 14 films, including "The Caper of the Golden Bulls," from which this shot is a scene. She recently completed work in "The Desperate Hours," a television adaptation of Joseph Hayes' novel.

Red Chinese Influence Spreading in Zambia

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — A whiff of Chinese influence has come to this copper-rich country in central Africa.

President Kenneth Kaunda has made a state visit to Peking and Red China has given the country an interest-free loan equal to $16.8 million. It has offered to finance and build the $280-million Zamtran railroad which would provide a link to the sea in Tanzania.

In some downtown bars Africans argue as they thumb through red-covered copies of Mao Tse-tung's thoughts. A 10-foot plastic statue of a smiling Chairman Mao, together with 200 life-size portraits of the Chinese leader, dominated the recent Zambian trade fair. Gray-suited Chinese handed out hundreds of bright red Mao tiepins and booklets of Mao's thoughts. An immigration official at Lusaka Airport wears one of the tiepins.

Zambia is about the size of Texas with a black population of nearly four million. It was a British protectorate called Northern Rhodesia until it became independent in 1964.

TROUBLED INDEPENDENCE

Zambia has been troubled since independence, mostly by the sanctions against her white-ruled neighbor Rhodesia, whose Prime Minister Ian Smith declared independence in November 1965. The world's third largest copper producer, Zambia's mineral exports topped $560 million last year.

Kaunda would like to sever all trade links with his immediate white-ruled neighbors — Portugese Angola, Mozambique and especially Rhodesia. Zambias landlocked position doesn't allow this. Most of its copper exports must be shipped through white-dominated territories.

Rhodesia and Zambia are partners in a railway and airline.

Kariba, a massive hydroelectric project, provides power for both countries. The powerhouse control is on the Rhodesian side of the Zambesi River.

Lockheed Hercules C130 aircraft operate a costly round-the-clock shuttle service between Lusaka and Dar es Salaam, flying out copper and returning with fuel.

South Africa promptly stepped into the trade vacuum and now its goods are in many Zambian shops. South Africa's trade with Zambia reached $81.2 million last year, with Britain running a close second.

Zambia's copper is largely extracted by American, British and South African interests. Many of the country's 65,000 whites, mainly South African and Britich, supervise copperbelt mines.

In bars, cafes, hotels, movies and social clubs something of an economic apartheid exists—few Zambians can afford the same luxuries as whites.

There is growing racial antagonism, much of it fermented by government ministers who claim Africanization of important jobs is being slowed by whites.

Some observers see China's offers of industrial and economic aid as a threat to Kaunda's policy of nonalignment.

Red China already has influence in neighboring Tanzania including the offshore island o Zanzibar.

Brainy Hollywood Beauty Well Past Starlet Stage

By HAL BOYLE

BOYLE

It proved a stepping stone to stardom for Yvette Mimieux, one of the brainiest as well as most beautiful of America's young actresses.

Ten years ago, while riding on horseback through the Hollywood Hills, she saw a helicopter make an emergency landing. She galloped up to see if she could be of assistance.

To the pilot, James Byron, a publicist and talent manager, the blonde girl looked like a vision of Joan of Arc on horseback. He signed her as a client.

Since then Miss Mimieux has been in 14 films, ranging from "The Time Machine" to "Toys in the Attic." In her latest, "Dark of the Sun," she stars with Rod Taylor.

TV ADAPTATION

She recently completed work in "The Desperate Hours," a television adaptation of Joseph Hayes' novel, for the American Broadcasting Co network.

"Right now I feel I stand somewhere in the middle in my career," said Yvette, a talented girl who likes to cook, sew her own clothes and write poetry and short stories.

"The beginning is over certainly. I believe that a t least five of my films were good ones, and that I've earned a reputation of being a good actress, but I haven't yet worked for some people in the industry I'd like to.

"To me the important thing is to work with creative people. That means more than whether the role you get is large or small, tragic or comic."

RARE ZEST

Yvette is a sprightly miss who gets a rare zest out of everything she does.

"I feel you should enjoy every moment to the maximum," she said. "Every age in life can be great, and it's a shame not to get the best out of each part.

"When I get to be a grandame with lots of grandchildren, I hope to have a salon, wear long dresses with pearls, and serve tea to people prominent in literature and the theater. I'll also write novels, have an English flower garden, and bake marvelous bread.

"Every grandmother should bake bread."

LOTS OF LIKES

But that time is a generation in the future. Here are things Yvette likes now:

"Painting—skin-diving—camping—intelligent and witty men—listening to classical and rock 'n' roll music-dancing the boogaloo until 4 in the morning—surfing, mountain climbing and sailing—wearing either very chic clothing or, to be comfortable, blue jeans and a sweater—cooking Indian dishes that have at least 30 ingredients."

TV Shouts Earth Presence to Heavens, Theorist Fears

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Television is doing something besides allegedly providing entertainment — it is telling the whole universe that living creatures are here, on this little planet we call earth. And it may not be a good idea.

This is the view of Stephen H. Dole of the Rand Corp., an expert on interstellar theories and the author of the book, "Habitable Planets for Man," and, with Isaac Azimov, a popular version called "Planets for Man."

Dole believes that we should not "advertise our presence on the galactic scene."

"After all," he says, "we have absolutely no knowledge of the great unseen radio audience out there or of their manners and morals. There is no reason for us to attribute to these completely unknown extraterrestrials a set of virtues far superior to those of some human beings or some human societies."

Dole thinks we should listen, and listen carefully, to see what we can pick up from space.

HALF-BILLION PLANETS

He estimates there are a half billion planets in the universe which could support some kind of life — although whether or not such life has evolved is another matter.

Until television came along, any curious listener on any of these planets would have been unable to tell that our planet had life on it. Our ordinary radio signals were not the sort to travel long distances.

"But," Dole says, "experts feel that our television stations, and especially those concentrated on the North American continent, send out a fan of noise every 12 hours as the earth rotates.

'NOT INTELLIGIBLE'

"Those signals would not be intelligible, but they would be an indication of the presence of living creatures on this planet."

It will take a long time for this faux pas — if, indeed, that is what it is — to manifest itself.

A star that is 100 light years away will not get our television signals for 100 years — and, since television began around 1947, it will be 2047 before some curious astronomer on that star begins to suspect our presence here.

The immensity of the distances in the universe is one reason why Dole is against any deliberate attempt to communicate with the possible residents of some other star.

TECHNICALL YPOSSIBLE

He theorizes that it is now within the realm of technical possibility to construct radio transmitters or lasers powerful enough to reach a star 100 light years away.

One of the most hideous of tortures a player can inflict on his partner is to keep on repeating cue bids at him. Once in awhile an opponent is kind enough to help the victim by doubling. In that case the victim can pass and make the cue bidder get out of his own troubles. Today's case is taken from the 1964 summer nationals.

JACOBY

South chose to overcall with only one diamond on the theory that someone was going to bid and that he would get another chance.

Strangely enough everyone had found a bid by the time it got back to South. What's more, everyone had enough or almost enough to act.

This gave South his chance to go into cue bidding to correct his first underbid. West was kind enough to double the first cue bid and North was glad to pass. South wasn't dismayed in the slightest. He made a second cue bid. Again West was kind enough to double and again North was delighted to pass.

South could have cue bid again but he decided to give poor North a break. South jumped to six hearts. As South explained later on, "I clearly had shown seven diamonds and six hearts and it was up to North to go to seven diamonds with that king."

As North replied later, "I had bid one no-trump and that was as far as I intended to go."

It was just as well for South that North did pass. The 4-1 heart break would have led six diamonds to sure defeat.

It might also have taken care of six hearts but South ruffed the spade lead and led a low heart toward dummy's jack and made the heart slam.

Strangely enough, most six diamond declarers went down when they led out the ace and king of hearts. The safety play at six diamonds was to cash one high heart and then lead low.

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:
♠K 9 ♥A J 5 4 ♦4 3 2 ♣K 10 7 6

What do you do now?

A—Bid two clubs. We have no criticism of a one no-trump call but do prefer the two-club bid. A stronger bid is unnecessary since we have shown values by our redouble.

Study Comets, Soviet Urges

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mankind, spending millions of dollars on rocket research, is neglecting natural "rockets" endlessly traveling in space regions where man has yet hardly penetrated.

These are the comets, and a Russian scientist has suggested they should be used by researchers as "natural probes of interplanetary space" performing experiments at present beyond the ability of man.

Dr. S. K. Veskhsvyatskii of the University of Kiev made the suggestion in a paper prepared for presentation at a symposium in London on results obtained under a worldwide scientific program called "the International Quiet Sun Years."

This was a coordinated program of research into the earth and its environment in space in 1964 and 1965—the least active years of the solar cycle. Scientists from more than 50 countries took part.

Dr. Veskhsvyatskii, who assembled the comet research, said the findings thus far show it is time to take the subject out of the hands of "enthusiastic amateurs" and organize it on a worldwide basis in close contact with interplanetary space programs.

1,500 Folks in U.S. Speak for Population

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — There the 1,500 folks in the nation who next week may change the course of battle in Vietnam, who next month may influence legislation on homosexuality, who next year may abort the hopes of an entire political party.

Not congressmen or generals, but just folks.

One may be a night shift waitress in Fargo, N.D., another a Negro bootblack in Sacramento, Calif., and a third the town drunk in Green Bay, Wis.

In all, they are the Gallup Poll, adult American civilians 21 years and over who, for 32 years, have acted as the collective conscience of the land . . . and whose prolific pronouncements have altered more strategic decisions than any of them know.

A few weeks ago, as example, Gallup's 1,500 felt President Johnson had handled the Middle East and Glassboro summit conference well enough to rate eight additional percentage points of national public support.

ISSUE ENDORSEMENT

Immediately after, 18 Democratic governors endorsed the more popular LBJ as their 1968 Presidential choice.

Coincidence or not? You can get arguments either way.

The important thing is that there is room for argument at all. That there is even the slightest possibility that 1,500 people can influence anything so major. That, therefore, some men truly believe 1,500 people can speak for all America.

One man, George Gallup, obviously believes they can.

Now 66 and still daily active in his Institute for Public Opinion, Gallup insists that a few "carefully selected" individuals can act as accurate spokesmen for the population as a whole.

The trick, he explains, is "careful" selection.

Here's how his system works:

The Gallup survey (called a "modified probability sample") slices the nation into four major and eight minor geographical areas. Cities in these regions are bracketed as to population. From this map, 300 "sample points" are chosen at random.

Part-time field employes are hired in the sample areas. According to Gallup, the employes have no freedom of choice but receive all orders from the home office—when to survey, what to survey, where to survey, whom to survey, how to survey.

On a given assignment, each employe interviews five people.

The people are selected according to eight demographic categories, including race, religion, age, occupation, etc. Gallup says care is taken to include people from all walks of life . . . even the town drunk in Green Bay.

Certain types, however, are excluded from the polling. Inhabitants of prisons, hospitals, hotels, religious and educational institutions are not questioned. Neither are people under 21.

Field employes are provided routes and on each assignment are instructed exactly where to begin ("corner of Elm and Jefferson"). They are also obliged to obtain specific subject patterns . . . all men, say, or three men and two women.

Each interview is then held in the home.

Gallup assignments are normally completed in five days. Results are tabulated at the home office and distributed to nearly 120 newspapers by mail.

Speed is critical because breaking news can often dramatically color public opinion.

And that's it.

Thomas Looks Into Claim That British TV Is Best

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

LONDON (AP) — "You know, of course," said the London-based American executive with a note of finality, "that the British have the best television in the world."

THOMAS

I have heard similar statements from other persons, American and English. Since it is folly for a tourist to spend his time in swinging London watching TV in a darkened hotel room, I will have to take their word for it.

But it seemed worthwhile to investigate why English television is so good, and so I journeyed to the British Broadcasting Corp's. Broadcast Centre to inquire about its programming methods. There are two sources of TV in the British Isles: Independent Television — ITV, a privately owned enterprise which sells advertising as a magazine does; and the BBC, which is government-operated and carries no ads.

The BBC is housed in a huge building shaped like a stack of doughnuts. From this broadcast complex emanate two television networks, radio programs for the British Isles and broadcasts to vast areas overseas. A press officer filled me in on matters of TV programming:

BBC I is the basic network; it reaches 98 per cent of the country. BB CII is slightly more serious in content; its coverage is 70 per cent. Always there is a contrast in programming. If BBC I has a serious program, BBC II features an entertainment show—"no other country in the world has two complementary networks."

LITTLE BARONIES

The programs originate in "output departments, each a little barony." These are divided into drama, current affairs, light entertainment, features, outside broadcasts and news. Each network has a program chief. Overseeing the entire operation is Hugh Weldon, controller of programs.

Weldon resembles the actor Trevor Howard, both in appearance and gusty vigor. Unlike network executives of the United States, he operates from an office no bigger than those of his underlings. Like his American counterparts, he has scorn for his competition.

"The recent audience surveys figure 48 per cent for BBC and 52 per cent for ITV" he cited. "That's not a bad percentage for us, considering the number of our shows that are not aimed at mass audiences, and the amount of top movies and trash that they have."

Yes, they have ratings in England, too, and Weldon declared he must be aware of them.

"But while we must consider the ratings on a broad basis, we need not be bothered about a national position program-by-program. In the selection of individual programs, we have nobody to please but ourselves."

OPERA PRODUCTION

It pleased Weldon recently to present a lavish production of Benjamin Britten's opera "Billy Budd."

The hit of BBC's season was a glittering serial of John Galsworthy's "Forsyte Saga." Next season BBC will offer a 12-chapter "Vanity Fair," its first major production in color. Weldon said he was looking for other long works of literature that could be so adapted.

By regulation the BBC is limited to 15 per cent of foreign programming, and most of it is American series like "The Man from U.N.C.L.E.," "The Virginian" and "The Monroes." Welden doubted if he would increase the number of American shows if able.

BBC documentaries are much acclaimed, but the backbone of the programming seems to be dramas.

"We do 10 new full-length plays per month," said Weldon with no small pride. "There has been no problem in finding material; there are plenty of talented writers, if you take the trouble to look for them. We have done so, and as a result we are now feeding writers to the theater and films. Most of the best playwrights in Britain today are BBC graduates."

A Red Sauce Tops Puffs

Cream Puffs With Strawberry Sauce

1 package (3¾ ounces) vanilla pudding and pie filling
1 cup milk
1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream
½ teaspoon vanilla
6 large cream puffs, split
Strawberry Sauce

Turn pudding and pie filling into medium saucepan. Add milk and cream gradually, stirring until smooth. Stir over medium heat until mixture comes to full boil. Stir in vanilla.

Cover with plastic wrap; cool; chill. Fill cream puffs with filling (½ cup of filling for each cream puff). Cover with strawberry sauce.

Strawberry Sauce: In a 1-quart saucepan, thoroughly mix 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Gradually stir in the juice (about ½ cup) from a 10-ounce package of defrosted sweetened strawberry halves.

Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until clear and thickened; add strawberries.

Note: Make the cream puffs from a standard recipe based on ½ cup flour.

Tart Sherbet Is Made With Milk Base

Sure, you can buy lemon sherbet. But it's such an easy dessert to make in your own refrigerator that you'll want to try it.

Nice for parties or the family.?

Frosty Lemon Milk Sherbet

2 cups evaporated milk
1½ cups sugar
2 cups water
2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint
½ cup fresh lemon juice
¾ teaspoon grated fresh lemon peel
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
½ teaspoon ground mace
⅛ teaspoon salt
Grated fresh lemon peel

Pour evaporated milk into freezing tray. Place in freezer and freeze until firm, about 1 hour.

Combine sugar, water and fresh mint in saucepan. Bring to boiling point and boil 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat and cool.

Stir in lemon juice, lemon peel, vanilla, ground mace and salt. Turn into freezing tray and freeze to a mush, about 1 hour.

Whip partialy frozen evaporated milk until fluffy, but still in a frozen state. Gradually beat in frozen lemon mixture. Return to two freezing trays and freeze until firm.

Garnish with grated lemon peel. Yield 8 servings.

Cheese in Onions Melts in Grilling

Different Grilled Onions

8 medium onions
¼ cup butter
¾ cup crumbled blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
¾ teaspoon each sugar and garlic powder

Peel and quarter onions keeping together the quarters of each onion; remove small section from the center of each quarter.

Mix together the remaining ingredients put each onion together again with some of the cheese mixture in the center. Tightly wrap each onion in heavy-duty foil.

Grill over hot coals or in a bed of charcoal for 30 to 45 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Smoked Salmon Makes Sandwich

Great with Potato Salad: spread large slices of rye bread with softened butter, then with softened cream cheese. Top with paper-thin slices of chilled sweet Spanish onion, and top with thin slices of smoked salmon.

Cut in diagonal halves. Serve open-face. Or top with a second slice of buttered rye bread. Good, good, Good!

Potatoes Top Meat, Cheese in Casserole

When members of the family come home from hiking or baseball or swimming, they are usually on the prowl for victuals. This cheeseburger casserole is a satifying answer.

Cheeseburger Casserole

1 pound lean ground beef
1 medium onion, sliced
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening, melted
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
One 12-ounce can vacuum-pack golden whole kernel corn, drained
1 cup shredded American cheese
¾ cup catsup
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1½ cup seasoned mashed potatoes

Brown ground beef and onion in melted shortening in large heavy frying pan. Drain off meat drippings. Stir in seasonings, drained canned corn, cheese and catsup.

Spoon mixture into well-greased 1½-quart casserole.

Blend egg yolks into mashed potatoes. Spread over meat mixture.

Bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes. For more crispy topping, place under broiler several minutes before serving. Six servings.

Vegetables Too

Have you used cottage cheese only in fruit salads? You must try it with vegetables. Make a cottage cheese garden bowl by adding it to your next tossed salad. Toss your salad, add your favorite dressing and top each bowl of salad with scoops of creamy cottage cheese.

California Mixture

Salad Is All You'll Need for a Meal

Ever heard of Cobb Salad? Or better still, have you ever eaten it? It's a wonderful meal-in-a-salad-bowl that's perfect for summer dining.

A combination of cooked chicken pieces, avocado slices, hardcooked eggs and crisp bacon, lightly tossed with a creamy French dressing, it makes an interesting hot weather entree.

Cobb Salad got its name from its inventor, Robert H. Cobb, who created it quite accidentally nearly forty years ago in California. Cobb was then owner of the Little Hat Derby, predecessor of the famous Brown Derby restaurants in the Los Angeles area.

It has since traveled across the country and appears now on the menus of some of the finest restaurants and hotel dining rooms.

The delicate, somewhat bland flavors of chicken, avocado and egg require a piquant salad dressing to give them a lift.

Tabasco liquid red pepper seasoning, a familiar condiment in all popular dining places, adds just the zest needed in the dressing to make the salad sparkle.

COBB SALAD

1 medium head lettuce, coarsely broken
2 cups coarsely chopped watercress leaves
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
½ pound bacon, crisp cooked and crumbled
2 medium-size avocados, peeled, pitted and sliced
2½ cups cut-up cooked chicken
1 tablespoon chives

Combine all ingredients; toss lightly. Line large or individual salad bowls with crisp greens. Add salad mixture. If desired, garnish with tomato wedges. Serve with Creamy French Dressing. Yield: 4 quarts, about 6 to 8 servings.

Creamy French Dressing

⅔ cup salad oil
⅓ cup vinegar
¼ cup catsup
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon Tabasco
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons crumbled Bleu cheese

Combine all ingredients and shake well in covered jar. Shake well before using. Yield: 1¼ cups.

Tabasco Parsley Bread

¼ teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
¼ cup soft butter
1 loaf French bread

Add Tabasco and parsley to softened butter; mix well. Cut bread into ½-inch slices. Spread bread with Tabasco butter; place on baking sheet. Bake in 375 degree oven, 15 to 20 minutes, or until hot and toasted.

COBB SALAD — This Salad originated in California nearly 40 years ago. Chicken, avacado, egg and bacon, tossed with a creamy Tabasco French dressing, blend in a super summer salad entree.

Freeze Layers

To concoct an ice cream layer cake, pack the same size pan in which you baked the layers, with ice cream and freeze. Turn out the ice cream on one layer of the cake and top with the other; wrap and freeze. Frost the cake before serving.

Vegetables Are Fine for Filling

If you like large-size capers, look for jars of them in the section of a food market that is stocked with Spanish-style foods Regular bottled capers, available in all large food markets, are small-size.

Lindsay Takes to NY Streets to Keep Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — The tall, blond man unwrapped himself from the back seat of his limousine and with long, sure strides crossed East 111th Street. An old woman reached out for his right hand, but someone else was shaking it. She looked crushed.

A 10-year-old boy rushed up, grabbed his left hand and held it tightly. John Lindsay, 45, smiled and slowed his pace so he wouldn't outdistance the youngster.

A crowd gathered on the street corner and chanted: "Lindsay! Lindsay! Lindsay! Viva, Lindsay!"

The mayor of New York City had the sleeves of his blue shirt rolled up to the elbows. His gray slacks were wrinkled. He wore neither coat nor tie and was unshaven. He looked as though he had leaped from bed into the first clothes he could find.

SOME REST

In fact, he had. For in the small, dark hours of that humid July morning, the telephone at the Long Island retreat where he goes for some rest had brought news that, on the street he now walked, there had been a riot. It wasn't a Detroit or a Newark. But the rock-throwing, fire-bombing, wave of mob violence could have wrecked what he had worked so hard for this summer: Peace.

It was to save that peace that Lindsay set out that morning on foot, unescorted, through the broken glass and shredded emotions of Spanish Harlem to find out for himself what had happened and what he could do to keep it from happening again.

"Hey, who flipped out? Que pasa?" he asked, falling easily into the language and vernacular of the streets he prowled.

Almost nightly, Lindsay walks unannounced through one of the city's slum areas, and one of the reasons is to check up on the city's Sanitation Department. When he comes across a pile of trash or accumulating garbage, he gets on the phone.

And frequently he hangs around to supervise the cleanup.

PERSONAL APPEAL

When Republican Lindsay won City Hall from the deeply entrenched Democrats almost two years ago, his personal appeal got much of the credit. And he's using that same kind of appeal to try and win his battle against tension.

Lindsay sometimes wanders through two or three slum areas in one day.

On one recent excursion he covered the Corona section of Queens, the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, East Harlem and the South Bronx—widely scattered areas in a city with 6,000 miles of streets spread over 365 square miles.

The night before, he was in Bedford-Stuyvesant, known to some as the "Harlem Across the River." When rioting began in Negro Harlem in 1964, it jumped the river quickly into Bedford-Stuyvesant.

"Man, I want to work," a Negro told the mayor. And Lindsay wrote down his name and address.

On one walk, a Puerto Rican leaped out of a second story window to shake the mayor's hand. And Lindsay leaped over the hood of a car to talk to him.

A man complained that he couldn't get books to fill his South Bronx library. "You'll be contacted on this," Lindsay promised.

There is another facet to "The Lindsay Tactic," aimed at the city's youth: "Keep them so busy during the day and evening that they're too tired at night to do anything but go home to sleep."

When Lindsay found two children's clubhouses in the South Bronx short of furniture and books, the filled the shortages. When he went back to seek how the children were getting along, they thanked him with fresh peaches.

'Game of Inches' Costs Bengals Sweep

McCraw's HR Saves Chisox in Twin Bill

DETROIT (AP) — They call baseball a game of inches and it was all of that for the Detroit Tigers Tuesday night.

Detroit was headed for a doubleheader sweep over the first place Chicago White sox when rookie relief pitcher Mike Marshall let one of his sliders get away from him. Chicago's Tom McGraw belted it for a two-run homer to tie the score at 4-4 in the eighth inning of the second game.

Chicago went on to win 6-4 and salvage a split. Detroit won the opener 2-1 on Denny McLain's four-hitter. Both games went 10 innings.

A sweep would have left Detroit in second place, one game behind Chicago. The split left the Tigers fourth, three games off the pace.

"I hit a slider up high," said the exultant McCraw, who had two homers in the nightcap. "Marshall wanted to make a low pitch but it broke right over the middle. I was figuring on going to left field for a hit but when it came in there, I poked it."

"I got stepped on trying to get my pitcher away from the umpire," said Stanky.

He referred to an incident in the Detroit ninth when Dick McAuliffe got into a row with Chicago relief pitcher Don McMahon after being hit by a pitch.

PLENTY OF WORDS

McAuliffe had words with McMahon while trotting to first and McMahon had words with plate umpire Bill Valentine over the call.

Stanky, trying to keep McMahon away from Valentine, was stepped on. He had to apply an ice bag to his toe after the game to reduce the swelling.

McAuliffe, the hero of the opener when he scored from third on a passed ball to give McLain his 14th victory, was the goat of the nightcap, making an error on a two-out grounder to let in the winning run.

Relief pitcher Dave Wickersham got the first two men he faced before Don Buford singled and McCraw walked in the 10th. Ken Boyer then hit a hard grounder at McAuliffe, who fumbled the ball, allowing Buford to score from second.

Rocky Colavito, roundly booed by a Shrine night crowd of 44,295, singled home another run to end the scoring.

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith, who said beforehand that Detroit needed to take three of the four games in the series to make any head way, was more concerned with the 14 runners Detroit left on base in the second game.

"We've been noted for that all year," he said, unsmiling. "But McLain came through for us in the first game."

McLain said it was the most important

Upset Over Umpire's Call

Win Doesn't Appease Adcock

By United Press International

Cleveland manager Joe Adcock had every reason to be happy. The Indians had just scored a pair of runs in the ninth inning to beat the Baltimore Orioles 5-3, and no one could blame the husky manager if he wore a big smile.

But Adcock's face was red with anger.

"It's a terrible thing, trying to win ball games when a man like Emmett Ashford is umpiring," he snapped. "He's not fit to work in this league. This is the second time he could have cost us a victory this week," continued Adcock, who was ejected from the game in the ninth inning.

"He didn't even have the nerve to throw me out while I was on the field. He kicked me out after I got to the dugout."

Adcock's bitter remarks stemmed from a series of rhubarbs in the game's last two innings. With Cleveland leading 3-1 in the eighth, Luis Aparicio walked, bringing Frank Robinson to the plate. Cleveland lefthander Ed Connolly's pitch appeared to hit Robinson and he trotted to first, and Aparicio took second.

Ashford, the plate umpire, then conferred with first base umpire John Flaherty and, after examining Robinson's hand, ruled the pitch had not struck him.

Play resumed, but Aparicio remained at second, despite protests from the entire Cleveland infield. Ashford ruled the pitch to Robinson was a ball and since time had not been called, Aparicio was entitled to advance.

After a 10-minute argument, with Oriole manager Hank Bauer contending Robinson had been hit and Adcock claiming Aparicio should return to first, play was finally resumed with Aparicio on second. Robinson then lined the next pitch into the left field bleachers for his first home run since June 21 to tie the game at 3-3.

Tense Struggles Dot First Round of WDGA Tourney

Defending champion Joyce Kazmierski's one-up victory in 19 holes over Mrs. Arthur Rosenberg was one of five tense duels Tuesday in the opening round of the Women's District Golf Association match play championships at Pine Lake Country Club.

Three of the five slim triumphs required extra holes.

In addition to Miss Kazmierski of Grosse Ile, Oakland Hills' Mrs. Gene Eyler nipped Margaret Watkins from the Country Club of Detroit on the 19th hole, and Detroiter Mrs. Robert McKee went 20 holes for her decision over Mrs. Morton Wohlman, Tam O'Shanter.

Another Tam O'Shanter golfer, Mrs. Louis Schwartz, lost one-up to Farmington's Mrs. C. F. Fox. Lochmoor's Mrs. Robert Gamble nudged Mrs. H. G. Marquardt of Gowanie, one-up.

Sally Werner of Indianwood trimmed Mrs. L. W. Smead (Oakland Hills), 5-and-4, in one of the more lopsided matches.

Miss Kazmierski trailed by two holes after the 13th, then posted two birdies in winning the next three before falling back into a tie on the 17th.

Bosox Deal Tillman

Tillman became available after the Red Sox obtained Elston Howard from the Yankees last week.

Americas Team Competes Against Europe at Expo

MONTREAL (AP) — Athletes of Europe and the Americas awaited tonight's first track and field meeting between the two continents.

The weather forecast said there was a chance of a few showers or thundershowers in late afternoon or evening.

The two-day meet, to be a biennial affair, winds up Thursday night at Montreal's Expo Autostade where the all-weather track is of rubberized asphalt.

Final lists supplied by meet officials showed the Americas team with 63 athletes, 42 men and 21 women. The European team has a total of 70, made up of 47 men and 23 women.

For the Americas team, the United States, big winners at the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg, has a massive entry of 36 men and 14 women for a total of 50.

The European squad embraces athletes from 16 countries. West Germany is the heaviest numerically with 11, six men and five women.

FOUR INVITATIONALS

There are 21 events scheduled for the two nights, 20 for men and 11 for women. In addition, four events are invitational, largely to allow Canadian athletes not competing for the Americas team a chance to perform.

Except for the relays, two athletes from each continent will compete in each event.

Five points will be awarded for first place, three for second, two for third and one for fourth. For the relays, there will be five points for first and two for second.

The European team came in Monday night by air from Frankfurt, Germany, and has been trying to adjust itself to the time difference. The Americas team flew in from Winnipeg.

Both teams worked out Tuesday at the Autostade, the Europeans in the morning and the Americas in the afternoon.

Hills' Linksman Seniors Champion

DETROIT (AP) — William E. Holt, of Bloomfield Hills, a stocky manufacturers representative, romped to a six-stroke victory in the Michigan Seniors Golf Association tournament at the Detroit Golf Course Tuesday.

Holt, 55, shot a six-over-par 76 on the North Course Monday and came back with an even-par 68 on the South Course Tuesday for a 144 total. This was the first year Holt was eligible to play in the Seniors.

His closest rival was Grosse Pointe millionaire George Haggarty, a three-time seniors champion, who shot a 150 for the 36 holes. James C. Sincock, 61, of Jackson, and Dr. Donald J. Jaffer, of Detroit, tied for third with 152 totals.

Holt made the semifinals of the British Amateur golf tournament in 1939 and won the Eastern Amateur title the same year. His 144 total ties the second-lowest winning score in the 46-year history of the Michigan Seniors. The record score is 142.

Tigers Split Twin Bill With Chisox

game he had pitched this year, and most likely, his best. He fanned five and walked only one in a nervy four-hitter.

McLain gave up a solo homer to Pete Ward in the second inning, the first he has given up in eight starts.

Al Kaline belted his 18th homer to tie the game in the sixth and Detroit won it in the 10th with veteran knuckleball pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm on the mound.

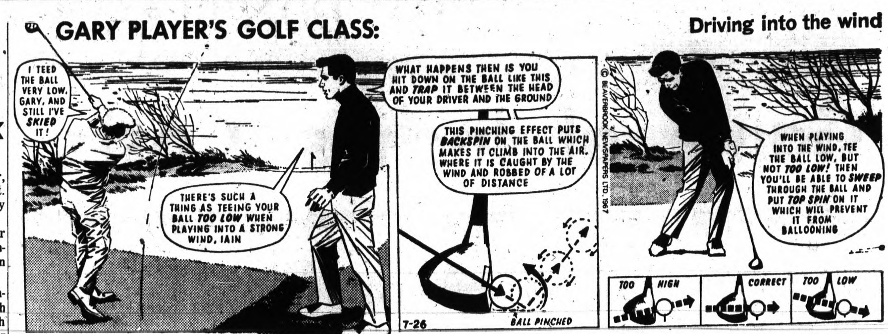
Wilhelm's secnd pitch to Willie Horton got away from catcher J. C. Martin and McAuliffe came home with the winning run.

The Tigers started strong in the second game with Johnny Podres turning in six innings of three-hit pitching before leaving in the seventh with 3-1 lead.

McGraw, who had two homers, hit a solo shot in the first but Detroit tied it up when Bill Freehan hit his 16th in the second. The Tigers picked up an unearned run in the fifth and Norm Cash belted his 15th homer in the sixth.

GARY PLAYER'S GOLF CLASS: Driving into the wind



Cincinnati Hurler Records Two-Hitter

Pappas Stays Cool Against Houston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milt Pappas, who burns up when he walks a batter, was the mildest mannered of men Tuesday night.

"I hate to walk guys," said the veteran right-hander. "It really burns me up."

Just minutes before Pappas had fired Cincinnati over Houston 5-0 with a smoking fastball and effective change-up. He walked none, yielded just two hits and struck out nine.

Pappas, who retired 16 straight men before hitting Joe Morgan with a pitch in the seventh, gave up singles to Jim Wynn in the first and Julio Gotay in the ninth.

In other National League action, Los Angeles beat first-place St. Louis 6-2, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 5-4 in 10 innings, New York nipped Atlanta 3-2 in 11 innings and Chicago topped Pittsburgh 8-4 in a day game.

"I felt real good tonight," said Pappas, who won his 11th game against seven defeats.

Cincinnati, snapping a three-game losing streak, scored a run in the third on three singles and then clinched it with three more in the fifth, two coming on Lee May's and another on Tony Perez' single. Perez slammed his 20th homer in the seventh.

Los Angeles tied St. Louis 2-2 in the third and then clinched its second straight victory over the Cardinals with three runs in the fifth on pitcher Don Sutton's RBI sacrifice bunt and Ron Hunt's two-run double.

Ron Fairly homered for one Los Angeles run in the third. Lou Brock extended his hitting streak to 15 games by singling in the first when the Cardinals scored both their runs.

New York, held to just one hit over seven innings by Denny Lemaster, tied Atlanta 2-2 in the ninth and then won on Bob Johnson's first-pitch homer off Jay Ritchie in the 11th.

BREAK THROUGH

Johnson also singled in the ninth when the Mets broke through against Cecil Upshaw, who relieved Lemaster in the eighth and got out of a bases-loaded jam. The runs came on Ed Kranepool's double and Ed Charles' single.

Philadelphia gained its eighth straight victory on Johnny Callison's two-out single, which drove in Johnny Briggs.

The Phillies tied the game 4-4 with two runs in the sixth on consecutive doubles by Rich Allen and Gene Oliver and a single by Bill White.

Dick Diets clouted a three-run homer in the fourth as San Francisco staked Ray Sadecki to a 4-0 lead. The Phillies came back with a pair of runs in the bottom of the inning.

Ernie Banks two-run double and Ron Santo's two-run homer, his 24th, sparked Chicago past Pittsburgh as the Cubs snapped a seven-game losing streak and moved back into second place.

Randy Hundley's solo homer in the second put the Cubs ahead to stay, 3-2, en route to their 60th victory, one more than won all last season.

Reaches Finals of City Playoff

Timberlane Advances; Triple Play Pulled

Timberlanes-II reached the finals of the City National League Men's softball playoffs Tuesday night with a 13-6 romp over Huron Bowl.

J. A. Fredman's advanced in the losers' bracket with a 4-3 conquest of L&S Standard, leaving the winner in a semi-final tilt with Huron tonight for the right to play the barmen for the title.

Last night's Slow Pitch lower division final regular season game found Hagen Shell trimming Sport - O - Rama Lounge, 8-1, while pulling a triple play in the process.

Timberlanes tallied six times in the fifth inning on three-run circuit clouts by Gary Acker and winning hurler Jim Fileds. Carl Pace had three singles for the winners, while Ron Hetherington cracked a double and two singles for Huron.

John Fowler's two-run homer in the fifth decided Fredman's victory. Amos Rankin blanked L&S over the final three innings, leaving two runners stranded in the seventh.

Norm Stemm and top Patch eac had a single, double and triple for Hagen Shell (3-11) and shortstop Larry Bowles snared a line dirve to start the triple against Sport-O-Rama (2-9).

Booth Romps, 11-0, in Class A Contest

Booth Homes smashed Teamsters-614, 11-0, Tuesday night at Jaycee Park to set up an apparent preview showing this evening of the city men's baseball championship game.

Booth meets M. G. Collision (an 11-0 winner Sunday over the R. T. Clippers) in a battle of the two winners at 8 p.m. under the Jaycee lights.

The winner tonight will move into the title game while the loser must meet the survivor of Thursday's scheduled Clippers-Teamsters' elimination contest.

Yesterday, Booth — who dropped two straight to the Teamsters in last summer's title series — made the unionmen pay for two costly errors.

BREAK TIE

The winners broke a 0-0 deadlock in the top of the fourth against previously unbeaten Mike Dodge on a leadoff error by Mike Marcum, Rick Pankey's single and Neil Roberts' one-out double for two runs.

Bob Rabaja then misplayed a drive and Jim Ward unloaded the bases with a three-run homer over the fence. Only one of the runs was earned.

Ed Sparkman delivered a two-run double and Morey LaPratt a two-run single in the following inning.

Dan Fife and Jim Burton shared the mound duties. Fife went the first five frames, yielding just one single and gaining his fourth win against no losses.

Burton walked himself into two jams but managed to preserve the shutout — the fifth for the home builders this season.

NBA Warriors Benefit Twice

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two decisions — one in court and official; the other informal —have recognized the San Francisco Warriors' claims to two key basketball players, Rick Barry and Clyde Lee.

Barry had jumped from the National Basketball Association Warriors to the Oakland Oaks and Lee to the New Orleans Buccaneers, both teams of the new American Basketball Association.

Barry signed for three years for $225,000 and fringe benefits; Lee for a rumored $90.000 for two years.

A San Francisco Superior Court judge, Robert J. Drewes, issued an injunction Tuesday restraining Barry from playing for any other team than the Warriors until the reserve clause in his Warrior contract expires Sept. 30, 1968.

Judge Drews upheld, in effect, legality of professional sports' option, or reserve clause which it maintains is essential to survival. His opinion said Barry breached his contract.

In the informal approach, new officials of the New Orleans club released Lee last week, explaining they considered the reserve clause legal and wanted to undo damage done by a previous management there.

Ex-Hawk Joins Blues

Glenn Hall Is in Fold

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—When the St. Louis Blues began to build a hockey team, they started with 35-year-old Glenn Hall.

Sid Salomon III, Executive Vice President of the Blues, said, "When we went into the National Hockey League's expansion draft, we asked ourselves: 'If we could have any player in the league, who would we pick?' "

Salomon said, "The answer was Glenn Hall, and, when we found the Chicago Black Hawks had put their top goalie on the expansion list, we grabbed him as our first choice."

When Hall puts on his 40 pounds of uniform for the Blues, he will be starting his 13th season in the NHL.

"I've been playing goal for a livelihood for 21 years," Hall said. "I've played major league and minor league and junior hockey and pee wee league, and if you add it all together, gosh, I must be 105 years old."

Hall started his major-league career with the Detroit Red Wings but moved to the Black Hawks in 1956. He has a 2.5 goals-against average for his 12 major-league seasons and has been chosen to the All-Star team a record nine times.

He holds the record for successive games in the nets with 552 and last year won the Vezina Trophy with the Hawks' other goalie, Dennis DeJordy.

"I hope to have a few years left," Hall said. "I'm playing a smarter game now and experience can count for a lot."

EXPERIENCE COUNTS

He said, "You'll notice that the kids coming up can skate and shoot all over the place, but the old bugger will skate two steps and intercept him. That's experience."

Hall admits that he will miss the Black Hawks because of "some very good friends and also because Chicago is a good city and a pice place to bring up a family."

However, he also admits that the fledgling Blues present a real challenge and he's anxious to start the new season.

"I'm looking forward to training camp next month to see how good we'll be," he said. "I've played against most of the players the Blues have drafted."

Perhaps thinking of the well-oiled play of the Black Hawks, Hall attempted an evaluation of the Blues.

"You can look on paper as much as you want to look on paper," he said. "But when you get on the ice, it's different. Some hockey lines look good on paper but bump into each other on the ice."

Hall ventured a guess that one of the expansion clubs—and only one—might finish as high as third in the NHL.

Lions Attempt to Deal LaBeau

All-Pro Cornerback Still Unsigned

Detroit Lions all-pro cornerback Dick LeBeau is up for grabs in the National Football League.

Lions General Manager Russ Thomas said Tuesday that LeBeau, the last unsigned player on the team, was being offered around the league in hopes of obtaining an offensive tackle or another cornerback.

LeBeau, a 24-day holdout, in a salary dispute has picked up $2,400 in fines at the standard $100-a-day rate.

"We have made efforts to trade him," Thomas said. He didn't indicate which teams have been offered LeBeau.

After the Lions suffered a humiliating 13-7 defeat by the Denver Broncos Saturday, Thomas said "there could be some changed faces around the camp."

He said he sees no ready solution for the LeBeau dispute. "I haven't talked to him since last Wednesday night."

Sweep of Doubleheader Earns Title for Spencer

Spencer Floor Covering swept the Waterford Township men's softball honors by winning a doubleheader Tuesday at the Drayton Plains diamond.

Spencer's, who had to come from behind during the regular season to gain first place on the final night, fought out of the losers' bracket to down Day's Sanitary, 3-0 and 3-2 in eight innings, during last night's playoff title series.

Jim McClellan's two-hit hurling enabled Spencer's to win the opener and force a second contest. He whiffed only two, walked one and allowed no runners past second base.

Charley Graves' solo homer in the fourth was the only run McClellan needed. Spencer's added single tallies in the sixth and seventh.

In the nightcap, a two-out double by Louis Seay and Jerry Hesse's rbi-single broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning.

Spencer's had taken a 1-0 in the first only to have Day's promptly retaliate for its two runs. Floyd Hicks then blanked the losers the rest of the way while his mates tied the count in the third frame.

Tomorrow night, the loser division finals will put Buckner Finance against McAnnally Auto Sales at7 o'clock.

Browns Trade Ninowski

Bears Play Redskins Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bears battle the Washington Redskins in a nationally televised exhibition National Football League game tonight.

A sellout crowd of around 45,000 is expected for the 8:30 p.m., EDT, kickoff in Washington, D.C. Stadium. The action will be televised over the CBS network.

The Bears are favored to repeat their 24-10 exhibition victory of last year over the 'Skins. Gale Sayers, the Bears' star runner, and Charley Taylor, the leading receiver in the NFL a year ago, are expected to provide an interesting contrast.

In a surprise move Tuesday night, the Redskins traded second string quarterback Dick Shiner to the Cleveland Browns for veteran QB Jim Ninowski.

Otto Graham, Washington coach and general manager, said he made the trade because he wanted an experienced man behind Sonny Jurgensen, his No. 1 quarterback.

Shiner will report to the Browns immediately, but Ninowski was given permission not to report to the Redskins until Sunday.

There were no other outstanding developments in other pro training camps as the clubs continued to drill for a heavy exhibition weekend.

On Sunday Cleveland is at San Francisco while Baltimore is at Boston in an NFL-AFL interleague contest.

State Play Opens Today

Junior Teams Settle Five Titles

Two post-season State Recreation Association qualifiers were determined yesterday at Jaycee Park as five city junior baseball championships were settled.

Rochester took the Class D title by nipping Cranbrook, 3-2, behind the stout relief hurling of Al Thomas. Rochester will meet Roseville 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Jaycee Park in a SRA District tilt.

In Class F, the Auburn Heights Boys' Club Pioneers finished their 4-0, eight inning conquest of Lakeland; and this morning the American loop titlist invaded Saginaw for a district clash.

Regular season leader Felice's Market kept alive its E-American title hopes with a 7-0 final round win over the AHBC Patriots. The two play again today for the right to entertain Saginaw at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

OTHER CHAMPS

Other city champions crowned Tuesday were Russell Sundquist, Uncle Charlie's Pet Shop and the Optimist Braves.

Sundquist's trimmed the Met Club, 4-1, in the Class E National play; the Pet Shop team topped favored Columbia Avenue Recreation Association, 6-2, although the losers had gone unbeaten during the regular Widget National season; and the Optimist squad won the T-Ball laurels, 24-2, from the Twins to complete a perfect summer.

Rochester's win over Cranbrook in D action was a thriller. The losers took a 2-0 lead on Chuck McCuen's rbi-triple and Dick Wallace's run-scoring single.

But Art Dahlberg's double, Denny Kasper's single and Ed Talley's steal of home brought Richester in front.

Thomas held the Cranes to one hit, but had to pitch out of jams in the final two innings. Jim Braithwite made a fine running catch to end the contest.

Uncle Charlie's was sparked by Chris Bass's clutch hurling and Hal Strait's three-run triple in the decisive sixth inning.

Steve Zuck helped the Northside Optimist remain in the F-National playoffs by rapping a single, double and triple in a 4-3 win over the Optimists; while the Hustlers' Henry Mildbran blasted a homer and help the AHBC Chiefs to three hits in a 13-3 F-International playoff win.

Builder to Study Hydroplane 'Kites'

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Boat builder Les Staudacher, of Kawkawlin, Mich., said Tuesday he is temporarily discontinuing construction of unlimited hydroplanes because of recent racing accidents.

Staudacher, who built eight of the hulls currently on the unlimited hydroplane circuit, said he will hold up contruction of any new boats until a tendency to kite can be eliminated.

His announcement follows in the wake of accidents during Sunday's Gold Cup Race involving two Staudacher-built hydros, Notre Dame and Harrah's Club.

Few Fishing Lures Become Successful

By DON VOGEL

Each year a few hundred dedicated fishermen come up with home made lures that are successful for them. A few are made for friends who also consistently catch fish on the baits.

Invariably, one of the friends will say, "Why don't you get a patent and manufacture this bait . . . it will sell." Only a handful ever get as far as a patent attorney. And even fewer are able to gain a patent.

Next is the expense of going into production. Marketing is the biggest problem. Any fishing lure "must sell itself by being successful." And this means right now.

Most anglers will pick up a new lure and try it once. If it doesn't produce that one time, they will tuck it away and switch to lures they have more confidence in. Most new bait manufacturing concerns either fold or never get any larger than producing for a limited local market.

Even that highly successful import the Rapala would never have been accepted in the United States if it didn't catch fish. If had one of the greatest advertising pushes ever given a new lure before being placed on the market in this country.

The advertising made anglers aware of its presence. They bought it and the Rapala caught fish — a lot of fish — on the first try and quickly moved into the big leagues along side such famous lures as the Flatfish, Daredevle, Johnson Silver Minnow, Jitterbug and Mepps Spinner, just to name a few.

Roger St. Amant of Pontiac is on the verge of joining this select field with his Bayou Special. The spoon-type lure has proved highly successful on pike and lake trout in Canada, but even St. Amant admits "this isn't a true test because a lot of other lures work in Canada, too."

SUCCESSFUL ON BASS

The Bayou has been successful on bass in Michigan and continues to be a top lake trout lure in Michigan, Wisconsin and Canada. It has sold very well locally and is being given a good play by anglers in Middle Atlantic states.

St. Amant, who operates Service Plating, designed the lure while "looking for something a little better." It took over a year to clear the patent and the lure was put into production through REB Manufacturing in the spring of 1966. It comes in three sizes and a variety of color patterns.

"The best is still red on silver," he confides. That's his personal preference.

St. Amant started promoting in a big way this year. He journeyed to a tackle show in Harrisburg, Pa., and to the Sportsmen's Show in Detroit.

During the last four days he has been in Chicago at the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Association Trade Show. That's where the top makers in the U.S. display their tackle and lures to buyers. The show is not open to the public. It's strictly for manufacturers, tackle company representatives, jobbers and buyers.

Before he left, St. Amant stated that "this show will go a long way in determining how well we do with the special."

He already has a couple of things going for him. Two salt water winners in the 1966 Field and Stream contest were taken on the Special. An order from Ambercrombie & Finch's Chicago store was filled last spring.

State, Federal Battle Brewing Over Alewives

Commercial Usage of 'Nuisance Fish' Is Point of Contention

LANSING (AP) — Would you believe — in 10 years there may not be enough alewives in Lake Michigan to support the demand for them?

Those who saw the alewife litter this year are likely to be skeptical.

The boney, herring-like fish, died off by the hundreds of thousands and littered the lake shore and beaches. The stench and nuisance they created is blamed for causing the state to lose millions in tourist business.

Oceanology International Magazine, published in Indiana, says in its current issue there is a "battle brewing" between the Michigan Conservation Department and the Federal Bureau of Commercial Fisheries about what to do about the abundant alewives.

LIVESTOCK FOOD

The bureau has been pushing for their use as livestock feed or pet food.

The State Conservation Department ad advocated stepped-up planting to salmon and lake trout. The predator fish, the department says, will feed on the alewives, return a bonus of sports fishing and bring the nuisance fish under control.

"I don't think there's really a battle," said Wayne Tody, chief of the Michigan Conservation Department fish division. "There's been some misunderstanding, but we're gradually getting around to seeing eye to eye."

The fish do have some commercial value, Tody said, as pet food and protein meal for use in other animal feeds.

There are three plants, processing the fish now, two in Wisconsin and one at Menominee, Mich. In addition, there is a freezer plant for alewife catches at Saugatuck.

"We like both approaches as a means of control," Tody said.

"What bothers us is that we don't want to encourage over-investment in the alewife fishing industry."

In 10 years, Tody said, there could be a shortage of alewives — if they are fished heavily and if trout and salmon stocks are increased.

BETWEEN ROCKS

Commercial fishing boats, he said, can only net in places favorable for fishing. The predator fish, however, can follow the alewives all around the lake and down between the rocks.

The alewives now sell for one or two cents a pound. Lake trout are worth 60 cents a pound commercially. The fish division figures it takes five pounds of alewives to produce one pound of trout — a bigger return for the investment.

RESEARCH HUNTER — Dr. Richard A. Gilbert, 51, a surgeon, and his son, Dick, 12, display hunting equipment in their Washington home. Gilbert plans a trip to hunt wild animals with bow and arrow as part of chemical research. He will warm up for the safari on a hunting trip to Alaska.

'Shoot . . . Then Run'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lion may be lion-hearted because of a chemical in his body and that chemical conceivably could help humans survive surgery better.

With that assumption, a Washington surgeon is going to Africa in October to bag some lions and other toughies with bow and arrow.

Dr. Richard A. Gilbert, 51, will take no guns—just bow and arrow and laboratory equipment. His plan is to stalk lion, leopard, buffalo and elephants, shoot from 25 yards away "and then run."

He suspects these animals have a "stamina" chemical that enables them to survive for especially long periods—from 20 minutes to a half-hour—after a fatal arrow through heart or lung. They also show unusual stamina after being wounded by rifle fire, although a bullet in a vital spot can kill them immediately.

The chemical, previously unrecognized, may be associated with the adrenal gland fight-or-flight system, Gilbert believes.

The surgeon, in private practice, will also do some potentially important malaria research for the U. S. Public Health Service on his big game hunt.

Gilbert says bow - and - arrow shooting offers the best bet for uncovering the stamina chemical for these reasons:

The animal, even when lethally wounded, remains on its feet —"with his dander up"—for a longer period than when seriously wounded by rifle fire. Thus, there's longer period for the suspected chemical to manifest itself, possibly through a sudden outpouring from the adrenal gland system.

SMALL WOUND

The wound from an arrow is quite small in contrast to that from a rifle bullet which can "blast surrounding tissues" besides often felling the animal by its terrific impact. Thus, there's much less chance, in the case of the arrow, of destroying evidence of the chemical's presence.

He says an arrow wound in a vital spot can still produce tremendous internal shock, requiring tremendous stamina to offset it even temporarily. And he believes "some body chemical — in addition to adrenalin but possibly associated with it—may be responsible."

If such a chemical could be isolated, he adds, it — or some synthetic counterpart of it — might be a valuable thing to administer to surgical patients prior to an extensive operation. The aim would be to help them withstand surgical shock.

Gilbert will go on safari in Portuguese Mozambique in October. It will be his second bow-and-arrow hunt in Africa. Two years ago in Ethiopia he snagged a big buffalo "and just missed out on a lion." He also has felled the "big Kodiak bear" in Alaska, as well as moose.

It was during that earlier African trip that he learned from other hunters of the staying powers of the other animals he still seeks — especially the elephant.

"You can actually shoot an elephant's heart right in two with an arrow, and he'll keep coming right at you," he says.

Turkey Applicants Must Have License

The Conservation Department reports that it's too early for hunters to apply for permits covering this fall's anterless deer and wild turkey seasons in Michigan.

They will have to wait until hunting licenses and special application forms for anterless deer permits reach their local license dealers. The distribution of licenses and application forms should be completed to all dealers by early September.

In applying for both anterless deer and wild turkey permits, hunters first must buy appropriate 1967 hunting licenses.

Big Weekend Just for Dogs

The Pontiac Kennel Club's annual outdoor all-breed event will climax a dog show triple-header Aug. 18-20.

Traverse City will be Friday, Aug. 18; Flint will be Saturday; and Pontiac will be Sunday, Aug. 20.

Three shows in as many days will draw some of the top dogs in the nation to Michigan. Pontiac will be the top attraction with over 1,000 entries expected.

The entry deadline for all three shows has passed.

PKC's show has moved to Wisner Field this year. Judging will start at 8 a.m. in the quest to determine the winner of The Pontiac Press best-in-show trophy.

Obedience trials will be run at all three shows, but the major attraction will be the conformation matches. All three shows are unbenched.

The Traverse show will be at the Grand Traverse County Fairgrounds and the Genesee Kennel Club show will be at the Flint IMA.

SAINT BERNARDS

Saint bernard obedience class members are reminded there will be no class at the Waterford CAI Building Sunday due to the Festival of Saints this weekend in Newberry.

Sponsored by the Saint Bernard Club of Michigan, the Newberry Lions and radio station WNBY, the festival will feature a parade Saturday afternoon and a fun match for obedience and conformation Sunday afternoon.

Other activities will include a chicken barbeque sponsored by the American Legion and square dancing Saturday night, a pancake breakfast at the All Saints Episcopal Church Sunday, and a visit to the children's ward of the Newberry State Hospital.

Retired Major Al Braun of Paradise will judge obedience, and John Rizzi of East Lansing will do conformation.

The weekly obedience sessions will resmue Sunday Aug. 20. The graduation exercise is set for 3 p.m. Aug. 27.

There will be nine classes of dogs competing in the Wolverine Dog Training Club's obedience match Sunday.

Judging will get under way at 11 a.m. in the Dearborn Youth Center, Michigan and Greenfield, and continue until about 6 p.m. Entries will be accepted prior to the start of each class.

There will be competition in five rings for Sub-Novice, Novice A and B, Open A and B, Utility A and B, Brace and Graduate Novice. Judges will be Ray Chiasson, Bill Wells, Ed Stowe, Harold Lavene and Carol Silvermen.

Large Perch Being Caught at Pinconning

Jumbo perch hove been hitting on Saginaw Bay east of Pinconning with minnows the best bait.

But action on the Bay around the Thumb has been very slow with only a few perch biting. Party boats in the Grindstone City area haven't been going out every day because a lack of good perch fishing has caused a lack of angler interest.

A few good walleyes are being caught in the upper St. Clair River with McGinty's being best. Most effective crawler and troll or chug.

Fishing on area lakes has been slowed by the daily rains, but action has been fair on bass at Lakeville and Pontiac lakes. Blue gills are hitting in deep water at Walled, Union, White and Crotched.

Night fishing with minnows is producing good catches of calicos at Maceday and Cass. Perch fishing has been slow on area lakes and at Lake St. Clair.

Some sportsmen have already set their fishing gear aside in favor of tuning up for the hunting season. They are having good results on crows, particularly the youngster who are just getting on the wing and are not as smart as their elders.

Releasing Trout in Lake Superior

The Conservation Department has started releasing 800,000 finclipped lake trout in Lake Superior.

The Superior planting will continue until the middle of this month and then fisheries men will switch to northern Lake Michigan. Stream surveys to check for early coho salmon and steelhead runs have started along the Superior watershed.

Crees Open James Bay Hunt Camps

TORONTO — Hunters will have an opportunity this Fall to hunt snow geese and ducks with the Cree Indians of James Bay.

The Crees, noted for their ability to hunt and call geese down from the air, are operating three camps located on the main migration routes of the lesser snow geese.

The camps, at the mouths of four rivers — Albany, Kapiscau, Attawapiskat and Missisabi (on Hannah Bay) — are open to hunters from Sept. 15 to Oct. 18.

All three camps feature cabins and prepared meals:

Attawapiska Goose Camp is located 138 air miles north of Mooseonee on the Attawapiskat River, approximately one mile from the James Bay coast.

Kapiscau Goose Camp is 120 air miles north of Moosonee on the north shore of Kapiscau River, approximately three miles from the coast. The camp is 30 miles from the nearest settlement. The area has been hunted only lightly by Indians in the past few years. The shooting varied — Canadas, snows, blues and a variety of ducks.

Kasachewan Goose Camp is situated on Kasachewan Reserve, near historic Fort Albany on the Albany River. It has been hunted only by Indians on the Reserve.

Other goose camps are operated by Crees along the James Bay flats, near the mouth of the Missisicabi River on Hannah Bay. They also open Sept. 15 and continue throughout most of October.

These camps are of tent frame with plywood floors; heated as required.

Crees will guide sportsman hunting from the goose camps owned and operated by the Indians with the technical assistance of the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development and the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Further information may be obtained from the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development at Moose Factory, Ontario.

Success Ratio Low for Archers

More than 50,000 Michigan bow hunters took 1,920 deer last year, down 250 from the previous year, reports the State Conservation Department.

Only one in 26 of the bow and arrow enthusiasts bagged a deer compared to a one in 23 success average the previous year.

SPORTS

I Bet You Didn't Know

By John Carter

Did you ever realize how many athletes became big stars in a sport that was second choice and not their first? . . . For instance, baseball star Mickey Mantle originally wanted to be in football . . . Rocky Marciano wanted a baseball career and even went to spring training—but after being cut, he turned to boxing and became heavyweight champion of the world! . . . Terry Baker went to Oregon State on a basketball—not football—scholarship, but in his senior year, 1962, he was the Heisman Trophy as the best college football player in the nation! . . . And so it goes.

Anybody who ever had trouble getting a golf ball into the hole might be interested in knowing just how wide a golf hole is . . . It may seem smaller when you're putting, but the exact width is 4¼ inches.

What are the most runs ever scored by one team in one big league baseball game? . . . The all-time record is 36, set by Chicago of the National League in a game in 1897.

I bet you didn't know . . . that a good tire costs a lot less than those cheap firecrackers you see getting that full page treatment. Drop in and we'll prove it with the Dunlop Gold Seal Low Profile Tire.

Another Abbreviated Session

Mart Makes Moderate Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market carved out a moderate gain early Wednesday afternoon in active trading.

It was the second of four abbreviated sessions scheduled by the exchanges to allow brokerage houses to straighten out a big backlog of paper work.

The pace of trading was faster than Tuesday's and it looked as if the investment community was stepping on the gas to cram in as much trading in a four-hour session as on the normal day of 5½ hours.

Gains outnumbered losers by about 3 to 2 and the averages were ahead comfortably.

Blue chips put on a firmer performance as the session wore on, having put on a ragged showing at the start. Steels, rubbers and aerospace issues were ahead.

Most of the auto stocks were lower in view of rumblings of tough labor negotiations in their industry, but General Motors bucked this group trend, posting a gain of about a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 342.5 with industrials up 1.9, rails off .2 and utilities up .2.

Pan American World Airways eased as it paced the list on volume.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Gains of around a point were made by National Video and U.S. Leasing. Siboney was active and up a fraction. Among other very active low-priced issues, Associated Oil & Gas, Pancoastal Petroleum and Nuclear Corp. were all unchanged.

Hitco dropped about a point and CCI was off a fraction.

2 Issues Near Vote in Senate

Tied to Bill Extending Export-Import Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces in the Senate face a close fight on questions of arms sales to poorer nations and on the proposed sale of U.S. tools to be used in a Soviet auto plant.

The issues are being raised to a bill that would extend the Export-Import Bank for five years and increase its lending authority from $9 billion to $13.5 billion.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield obtained a time limitation on the debate, which was expected to bring final action on the legislation today.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, administration spokesman on the bill, told newsmen: "It has been very hard to get a nose count" on the two crucial amendments being offered.

ARMS SALES

One, by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., would knock out any Export-Import Bank financing of arms sales to the less developed nations. The bank has made many deals in this area in recent years.

The other, by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen would ban any bank role in the sale of American machine tools to Italy's Fiat Motor Co. to be used in a Fiat plant scheduled to be built in the Soviet Union.

Both amendments are opposed strongly by the Johnson administration.

Ellender and other senators declared they were shocked earlier this year to learn the Export-Import Bank was being used on a massive scale to finance sales of arms equipment around the world.

Ellender said it never was intended that the bank, first set up in 1934, be engaged in such deals.

The actual sales involved were made by the Defense Department.

Muskie, however, insisted sufficient notice had been given for members of Congress who wished to inform themselves.

He said he considered the bank a proper instrument to handle such sales so long as the President finds such transactions in the national interest.

SALES LIMITED

The Maine senator noted that the banking committee wrote into the legislation a requirement that such a finding be made in the future on any sales to the less-developed countries.

It also, he emphasized, included a restriction limiting such sales hereafter to 7½ per cent of the banking's lending authority.

Dirksen said he was trying to kill the Fiat deal because of "how the country feels about this when our kids are being killed in Vietnam by Soviet weapons."

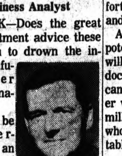
Contradictory, Questionable

Advice Floods Investor

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK—Does the great flood of investment advice these days threaten to drown the investor in confusion rather than information?



CUNNIFF

It cannot be proved, perhaps, but an examination of recent stock market literature and expert testimony at mutual fund hearings in Washington suggests the possibility.

It can be shown, for example, that many millions of pages of market letters are mailed or otherwise delivered each year, at a minimum, and that much of the advice in one letter contradicts that in another.

An examination shows also that the cost of advice, exhortations, come-ons and promotions of the marketplace may be unrelated to the results promised. For less than $10 you may purchase information on how to make a million. For hundreds of dollars you can buy advice on how to win a few points on a single stock.

Advice often is free. At the slightest show of interest this free advice will come pouring forth from friend, co-worker and neighbor.

Among the bookshelves, the potential stock market investor will find advice dispensed by a doctor who feels lots of people can make a million, by a dancer who claims to have made $2 million, by a former songsmith who runs one of the most reputable advisory services.

The potential investor is told by salesmen that mutual funds are the safe route to financial success, a tale that is accompanied by charts that trace a jagged line to the top of the page, showing how an investment of $5,000 in 1957 might be worth $12,500 now.

After being convinced, the investor is then told by men of integrity that all the figures and charts, though true, are an illusion, too.

DO AS WELL

The chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Manuel F. Cohen, insists that most investors would have done just as well as the mutual funds by making their own decisions.

Adding weight to this testimony is a statement by Paul Samuelson, an economist, that the fund administrators provide investors nothing that they could not gain by throwing darts and hitting random stocks."

Such a flood of propaganda, advice and information is one of the consequences, and one of the benefits also, of a free society. But it can, ironically, leave the investor ill-informed, confused, frustrated.

Nevertheless, that it exists means there is a market for it—an expensive one. Some of the highest priced literature in America never goes through book stores or ends up in libraries. It is stock market advice, some of which sells for several hundred dollars a year.

'TAINTED AT SOURCE'

Critics claim that some of this advice is tainted at the source, that brokerage houses that sell and promote stocks cannot very well give unbiased information. In one capacity, the argument goes, they are salesmen; in the other they are advisers.

Brokerage houses are well aware of this charge and discount it. Research, they say, is the heart of a strong organization and cannot be tainted by sales. In fact, one brokerage house within the past year fined an employe for putting undue pressure on the researchers to come up with a bullish report.

Nevertheless, some independent stock market advisors with nothing to sell but their own advice contend that their's is the only impartial advice, although they may find it difficult to prove their advice is better.

These independents are registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Brokerage houses with seats on the large exchanges must also submit their market letters to review boards.

REVIEW STAFF

The review staff of the New York Stock Exchange, for instance, consists of eight members who reviewed 25,000 pages of material last year, a mere sampling of the several hundred thousand pages printed each year.

Each of these letters goes to a few hundred to thousands of readers, meaning that the several hundred thousand pages becomes millions.

With such a proliferation of opinion and fact, there is only one additional bit of advice that responsible market men offer: Read, listen and learn if you can, then heed your own counsel.

Maine Riddle: Is Skeleton Sea Monster

BIDDEFORD, Maine (UPI)—There may not be any such thing as a sea monster, officials here concede, but they are trying to determine the identity of something that "looks just exactly like what a sea monster ought to look like."

The "Biddleford monster investigation" was launched after lobster fisherman Richard Gagne, 23, of Biddeford hauled up the part skeleton of "the oddest-looking thing I ever saw" Monday wound in the rope of a lobster trap.

Gagne said it was about eight feet long with a "head shaped like the head of a snake. I've never seen anything like it before."

The skeleton, which Gagne said still had some flesh clinging to it and a fin "that looks like a wing with the feathers of a bird on it," was found in 50 feet of water at the breakwater near the mouth of the Saco River in the Atlantic Ocean.

Gagne's brother Peter said, "the eye sockets on the head are bigger than the head itself. I can put my fist in each one of them." He said the eyes were on the side of the head, like those of a snake's.

CONFIRMED STORY

The Coast Guard station at Fletcher's Neck confirmed the Gagnes' story.

JFK Plot Case Trial Begins

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The perjury trial of lawyer Dean Andrews, accused of lying to a grand jury probing the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, opens today with the lines drawn for a long courtroom fight.

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's office subpoenaed the stenographic notes and voice recordings of testimony given by Andrews in 1964 to the Warren Commission, which ruled that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone assassin of Kennedy.

Garrison contends that retired New Orleans businessman Clay L. Shaw plotted under the name of Clay Bertrand to murder Kennedy.

Andrews told the Warren Commission that a Clay Bertrand contacted him shortly after the assassination in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, and asked him to represent Oswald. Andrews contends that Bertrand is not Clay Shaw.

DEFENSE WITNESSES

In his defense, Andrews subpoenaed 39 witnesses, including Garrison, Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen and the entire Orleans Parish grand jury.

However, the governor's executive counsel, William V. Redmann, sent a telegram Tuesday to Judge Frank J Shea advising that Andrews had withdrawn his subpoena of McKeithen.

The telegram said the governor is not liable to subpoena by the judicial branch, but will supply any required information that "appears necessary to trial."

'Negro Plot' Hearing Starts

NEW YORK (AP) — A hearing begins today in Queens County Criminal Court for 17 Negroes indicted on charges of conspiracy to murder moderate civil rights leaders.

Police declined to spell out precisely what security precautions would be taken in view of pleas by militant Negro leaders for a large turnout of spectators.

At a rally last Sunday, H. Rap Brown, the Black Power advocate and chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, urged that Negroes show up in force for the hearing.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 73 years old. I own Homestake Mining which cost 48½. Would you sell and put the money in Thiokol for dividends and growth?" E.S.

A. There is a school of thought — to which I do not subscribe — that gold mining shares such as Homestake are a good speculation on a possible rise in the price of the metal. Any such rise would have to be initiated by our government, and would be a major benefit to France and Russia — who are not two of our best friends. There is some attraction to the stock from its uranium operations, but in my opinion the multiple is too high and the yield too low on the recently reduced dividend.

If I were in your situation, I would sell Homestake but I would not put the proceeds into Thiokol which is also a low-yield speculation. Instead, in your position I advise International Harvester — a strongly established situation yielding a well-secured 4½ per cent with plenty of room on the upside, in my opinion.

Q. "I am 18 years old and plan to attend college next year. I have accumulated some money and would like to try my luck in the stock market. If I do so, I would want to sell out in about six months. I have no experience and would appreciate your help." T.P.

A. I feel very strongly that no one should buy stock when there is a relatively short time limit on the period of holding. Stocks are all subject to fluctuation and in my experience investment with a time limit usually works to the disadvantage of the buyer. It is for this reason alone that I discourage untrained investors from buying puts and calls. Your money should be in a savings institution, where there is no risk and where the principal will be intact six months hence.

State Hospital to Get Building

$3-Million Facility for Kitchen, Dining Area

Pontiac State Hospital is getting a new $3-million Service Building to house its general kitchen and dining rooms.

The hospital's architect will take about six months to prepare specifications and drawings and construction would take approximately two years.

"This is a building we have been planning since 1954," said Gerald A. Bax, administration officer.

"We are most pleased that after many years of delay we will finally realize our dream of adequate service facilities for Pontiac State Hospital."

Supt. Dr. D. W. Martin explained that the Legislature's Joint Committee on Capital Outlay authorized the hospital's building division last month to instruct the architect to procede with plans.

OPERATIONS

The building will house all stores operations, a new general kitchen and three new dining rooms.

It will be located west of the present kitchen and general dining room, which will be torn down along with the maintenance and carpenter shops and Men's T-Building.

Former Wife of Star Files to End Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Elaine Young is seeking to have her interlocutory divorce decree from actor Gig Young rescinded on grounds she was "deceived, misled and taken unfair advantage of" in a property settlement.

In her action filed Tuesday in Superior Court, Mrs. Young contended Young's agent, Robert Douglas, and Douglas' wife, Harriet, had "great influence" over her when she signed the settlement.

In a decree last month in Santa Monica Superior Court, Mrs. Young was awarded a $3,000 cash settlement, $1,650 monthly alimony for four years, $200 monthly support for their daughter Jennifer, 2, and a $98,000 Beverly Hills house.

The couple married Sept. 18, 1963, and separated July 1966, according to the complaint.

Hospitals Urged to Take Alcoholics for Treatment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A blue-ribbon committee on alcoholism yesterday urged general hospitals to accept alcoholics for treatment as individuals in need of medical care.

In announcing the recommendations of the 18-member panel he appointed last October, Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) said "discrimination" based on diagnosis could be relieved through federal suport for alcoholism workshops for medical professionals and hospital administrators.

The report by the National Advisory Committee on Alcoholism, under study of HEW, said that there is "insufficient manpower" for existing programs of treatment, prevention, education and research relating to alcoholism.

"None of the efforts which may be proposed for dealing with alcoholism can be effective unless manpower shortages are corrected," the report said.

Alcoholism strikes an estimated four to five million Americans and affects from 16 to 20 million members of their families. The cost of alcoholism to American industry has been tagged at $2 billion a year, due to absenteeism, lowered efficiency and medical insurance payments.

'MAJOR PROBLEM'

Gardner has termed alcoholism a "major health problem."

The committee recommended that financial support be offered to state and community programs for treatment, rehabilitation and education under both community health programs and special projects grants.

The panel also urged that modern alcoholism control methods be included in the teaching of medical students, nurses, social workers, clinical psychologists and other health personnel.

Gardner told his Committee Chairman, Dr. Robert Strauss of the University of Kentucky Medical College, that the recommendations are under "careful study" by HEW. Strauss is chairman of the university's department of behavorial science.

Crane Falls 10 Stories; 4 Injured

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A giant crane toppled 10 stories from the top of an unfinished building into the rush hour traffic of a downtown Tampa street today.

Four persons were injured, including crane operator Floyd Masterson, who rode the 150-foot high vehicle on its long fall. He was reported in fair condition at Tampa General Hospital.

Three women in an automobile in a parking lot missed death by inches when the tip of the crane's 87-foot boom speared through the back end of the car.

Several workmen on the ground scrambled to safety as the huge crane smashed down at the corner of Zack and Marion Streets, making a shambles of the area.

'FRIGHTENING'

"I heard a noise and looked up and saw it coming down," said Charles Tomlinson, 26-year-old steelworker from Plant City. "It was the most frightening thing I ever saw."

The women in the car, who escaped with minor injuries, were Janice Shiro, Ellen Labadie and Linda Simmons. They are employes of the General Telephone Co., for which the new building is being constructed.

Tomlinson's truck, a semi-trailer loaded with steel, was broken in two by the impact. A big hole was gouged in the street.

N.Y. Man, 72, Girlfriend Shot to Death

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP) — Police have charged a sewer plant operator with killing his 72-year-old father and a 31-year-old convicted prostitute in a shed on Long Island near what was once the old man's duck farm, reputedly among the world's largest.

Police Chief Stephen Grodski said Tuesday that John A. Warner, 41, "surrendered and gave me the weapon and held out his hands for the handcuffs."

Investigators found his father, Hollis V. Warner, shot once in the heart, and Rosemary Duff, described by police as the elder Warner's girlfriend, struck by bullets in the head, throat and torso.

Police said Mrs. Duff was convicted of prostitution in 1964 and sentenced to 10 days in jail and a $100 fine. The elder Warner, they said, paid the fine.

FATHER OF 4

His son is a sewage plant operator, president of the Riverhead Little League and the father of four children.

The duck farm when it was in operation 20 years ago was called one of the world's largest. When it failed, Warner converted the duck sheds into dormitories for migrant farm laborers who work raising eastern Long Island's potato and vegetable crops.

Merchants Get Check Alert

Novi Village police warn area merchants to be on the lookout for some 200 payroll checks taken in a recent burglary. An attempt has been made to cash at least one.

The unmarked checks, a $150 portable tape recorder, a bottle of vodka and $2 were taken from the Chelsea Manufacturing Co., 40399 Grand River.

A breaking and entering of the building was reported to police Saturday morning by a company employe.

Saturday afternoon the police learned that a woman tried to cash one of the payroll checks for $127 at a Farmington bank.

SEEKING MAN

Police are also seeking the man whose name appeared on the check.

The two suspects ate at the restaurant across the street after they left the company, using the $2 they had stolen, according to police.

Town in Tizzy Over Use of Indian Burial Mound

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Is it a park or a cemetery?

The question has elected officials of this southern West Virginia chemical center in a tizzy.

A church group wants to hold an ice cream social on city property containing a large Indian burial mound.

That to Mayor L. O. McIlwain is unbelievable.

"Why not go up to Glendale Cemetery and have ice cream socials. I can't see the difference," he says.

"We ran the Indians out of this country," he told City Council members, "now the least we can do is let them sleep in peace."

VANISHED CIVILIZATION

The Smithsonian Institution dug into the 30-foot-high mound nearly 85 years ago and found skeletal remains of a prehistoric race of Indians commonly called the Moundbuilders. Archeologists have linked them with the vanished Adena civilization.

The mound covers most of a small piece of land given to the city years ago as a park. The deed prohibits commercial use of the land.

Defenders of the mound have had tough sledding in recent years. Each December it resembles a Christmas tree with colored lights strung up and down its sides. A section of the mound has been sliced off to make room for a basketball court and bandstand.

Council President Homer Pardon says the mound belongs to the public and ought to be used. "If not," he adds, "let's make a parking lot out of it."

"There'll be no ice cream socials there either," the mayor declared.

$11,000 Fire Hits Home in Waterford

Fire erupted at a Waterford Township home last night, causing an estimated $11,000 damage. No one was hurt.

Township firemen estimated damage to the one-story frame home at 1750 Eason at $8,000 to the building and $3,000 to the contents.

The home is owned by L. Melchie of 45382 West, Walled Lake, according to firemen. Michael Dick is the occupant.

Firemen said Dick was in the garage working on his car when the acetylene torch he was using ignited gasoline.

Fire fighters responded to the alarm at 9:07 and remained at the scene 73 minutes. Three pieces of equipment were used to battle the blaze.

3 Questioned in Burglary

Novi Village police are questioning two young men and a girl about a burglary early this morning at Nick's Groceries, 22106 Novi. One other male is being sought.

Patrolmen George Biggs and Ronald Arbor observed three young males and a girl flee from the scene, leaving their car.

At 12:55 a.m. two youths were observed carrying objects down a ladder near a window. When the patrolmen approached, the four ran.

29 Pct. in Fiscal Year PSH Readmissions Rise

Readmission of patients to Pontiac State Hospital increased 5 per cent during the past fiscal year, statistics released today showed.

Readmissions rose from 24 per cent in 1965-66 to 29 per cent in 1966-67 although the rate of return of those on convalescent status decreased from 38 to 35 per cent.

"Despite greatly accelerated admission (up 14 per cent) and discharged rates (up 20 per cent), our rate or return essentially held its own," Supt. Dr. D. W. Martin commented.

"These figures seem reasonable when we consider that the hospital is rapidly shifting away from the use of convalescent status to outright discharge."

Chief of the department from 1928 to 1932, he remained with the department until 1960 when he retired as honorary fire chief.

Past president and life member of Eagles Lodge 1230, he was a major of the Eagles State Drill Team and member of the Loyal Order of Moose.

$1,700 Ring Gone From City Home

Manley C. Kratt of 25½ E. Pike told city police the 1½-carat ring was taken from a box in a dresser drawer.

Investigators said there was no sign of forced entry to the home.

Fire Damages Steam Shovel

An estimated $500 damage resulted when a steam shovel caught fire behind 3225 W. Huron, Waterford Township, last night.

The owner of the equipment valued at $25,000 was not immediately known. Cause of the fire is under investigation, firemen said.

Grand Rapids Manager Quits

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Henry B. Nabers, 50, city manager the past two years, announced his resignation, effective Oct. 1, at a City Commission meeting Tuesday to enter private business. Nabers said he was giving up his $15,800 a year salary to join the Perma-Guard Corp. of Phoenix Ariz.

Before coming to Grand Rapids Sept. 9, 1965, Nabers was city manager of Spokane, Wash., and served as chief engineer of the Ministry of Planning and Development at Tripoli, Libya, until May 1965.

Prostate Cancer Treatment Is Argued

By Science Service

CHICAGO — A battle of doctors appeared to start Monday over the possibility that treatment of men with prostate cancer by female hormones may lead to heart attacks.

An article in Monday's Journal of the American Medical Association was flatly contradicted by a Nobel Prize-winning doctor who pioneered treatment of the prostate cancer by hormones and castration.

Dr. Charles B. Huggins of the University of Chicago said, "I disagree entirely with the implications of the study reported by Drs. John C. Bailor III and George T. Mellinger in the Journal."

In the JAMA article in the medical news section, based on an interview with Dr. Bailar, head of the demography section, National Cancer Institute Biometry Branch, the statement is made that "estrogen therapy may increase the risk of early death in all but the most advanced cases of prostate cancer."

Dr. Bailar says that although the hormones are indispensable for some patients, "it is clear that under certain circumstances and in certain groups of patients, estrogens can kill."

Early deaths from cardiovascular disease result far more frequently than expected, he says.

TEST RESULTS

Cardiovascular deaths were 60 to 70 per cent more frequent in the part of a group of 1,300 men who received estrogen in the VA study. Total number of men studied was 2,300.

People in the News

The Earl of Harewood and his bride, Australian model Patricia Tuckwell, have made their first official appearance together.

They introduced their 3-year-old son, Mark, to local farmers and villagers yesterday at the Harewood agricultural show, an annual event on the Harewood estate near Leeds, England.

The couple was married in Connecticut after Queen Elizabeth II gave her cousin special permission to marry Miss Tuckwell, 38, who was cited in the Earl's divorce suit brought by the first countess.

Japanese to Honor Perry

A Japanese admiral and about 1,100 sailors will be visitors in Newport, R.I., over Labor Day weekend when four Japanese destroyers call there.

Newport is the home town of Commodore Matthew Perry who opened the ports of Japan to shipping in 1854.

Rear Adm. Seizaburo Hoshino, commander of a Japanese maritime self-defense squadron, will lay a wreath on Perry's statue during the visit.

Swap of Son Grows Into Program

An effort to trade their 14-year-old son for another teenager has ballooned into a nationwide youth exchange program for Mr. and Mrs. Jules Williams of East Lansing.

It wasn't planned that way. Mr. and Mrs. Williams merely placed a small ad in the Humanist magazine offering to swap their son Brian for another family's teen-age son or daughter for a year.

In the past week, the family has been flooded with replies to the ad—so many the parents decided to start a clearing agency, the American Youth Exchange, to arrange similar trades for other teen-agers and their families.

"We weren't trying to get rid of Brian. He's not rowdy or dissatisfied," said Mrs. Williams. "He's come to take this community's advantages for granted. Having him live with another family in another community will help him become aware of the opportunities available."

Prison Choir to Tour Kansas

LANSING, Kan. (AP) — Two dozen convicts will get out of the Kansas penitentiary for two weeks in October.

Under auspices of the Kansas Junior Chamber of Commerce, the prison choir will tour the state by bus and give three performances a day at high schools.

Between numbers, some of the singers will tell the youngsters how not to get where they got.

The itinerary is being set up so each day's final concert will be in a town which has a jail large enough for the choir.

Riot Study Given $130,104 Grant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., announced today that $130,104 will be provided for a social and psychological study of the Detroit riot.

The grant, from the National Institute of Mental Health, will be given to the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit. Dr. Elliot Ludy will be the principal investigator.

NY Wildlife Attracts Duo en Route to African Hunt

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Bing Crosby and Phil Harris — bound for Tanzania, Africa, to film TV shows about wildlife — stopped off in Toots Shor's for some research about New York City wildlife . . . and immediately collided with Orson Welles and Joe E. Lewis, who seemed to be there for the same purpose.

WILSON

When usually blase bar customers sought Bing's autograph, Phil Harris recounted his favorite tale about Crosby going in a steam room in Hot Springs to avoid them.

One hard-to-discourage autographiac followed Bing into the steam room where he and Harris were clad in sheets. The autographer-seeker, fully dressed, was perspiring. Phil asked him many questions to delay him. The fan finally offered Bing a pen. Bing dropped it. And it disappeared down a drain. The fan turned to Harris and pleaded: "Do you have a pen?"

"I do," Phil said, "but I left it in my other sheet."

Gordon MacRae, now appearing at the Queen Elizabeth in Montreal, admitted to us on the phone that he's "very enamored" of Liz Schrafft, but said how can they get married "when she isn't divorced?" We hear Gordie starts doing "I Do, I Do" matinees in September . . . All you fans of Juanita Hall who remember her in "South Pacific" and want to help her now that she's virtually blind, diabetic, uremic, 66, and destitute, can send contributions to her ("for the Juanita Hall Fund") either to me or to the Actors Fund of America, 1619 Broadway, New York City . . . Veteran movie star Lila Lee is very ill in Los Angeles . . . Adam Clayton Powell's intimates think Corrine Huff, his current secretary in Bimini, an ex-beauty queen, will succeed wife Yvette if they divorce as is rumored.

The Capitol Theater people don't think we should hide the fact that "In The Heat of the Night" is breaking records. It may be another award winner for Sidney Poitier . . . Mamie Van Doren says the proprietor of the Biloxi spot where Jayne Mansfield was to play is so broken up (his son-in-law, the driver of the car, was killed) that he's cancealed her performance and others till she gets over the shock.

Stripper Joy Duval was visited at the Sans Souci Club, Fallsburgh, by boulevardier Si Seadler, who said, "You'll knock 'em dead, honey." Sure enough, she went out on stage, invited a guy from the audience to join her on stage, and he fainted dead away.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Kirk Douglas, unable to get a taxi on Broadway, rode to the Pierre on the Motor scooter of a passing delivery boy . . . Sugar Ray Robinson said at the 8th Wonder he won't do "Hello, Dolly!" with Pearl Bailey . . . Judy Garland took a deep bow at the Palace— and the Long zipper on her mod suit split; she exited holding herself together . . . There was a nun in the audience at Bob Newhart's Las Vegas Desert Inn premiere — his sister, visiting from Columbia.

Secret Stuff: A major TV producer's traveling around with a pretty blonde—and another guy, to divert suspicion . . .

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Woody Allen reports an embarrassing experience: "I asked my parents to cash a check, and they refused because I had no identification."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: You know what happens to little boys who keep interrupting? They grow up and make a fortune doing commercials on the Late Late Show.

"De Gaulle," says Jesse Kaplan, "is the sort of guy who'd come visiting, eat your best food, drink your gest liquor—and then take sides with your mother-in-law against you." That's earl, brother.

Congress Action Spurred on Slum Housing Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats searched today for a housing answer to riot-breeding slum conditions as Republicans reversed their field by offering support for President Johnson's rent supplements program.

The Senate Banking Committee is sifting five proposals aimed at improving housing conditions in big city slums.

There was private determination among Democratic members to come up with some program to lower the cost of homes and rental housing to slum dwellers as an alternative to a well-publicized private enterprise proposal by freshman Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

Percy's home ownership bill would subsidize the costs of private construction through government contributions to loan interest rates and guarantees of mortgages involved. If they can prevent it, Democrats indicated, they are not going to let Percy walk off with any slum aid program.

Republican reaction to street violence was etched for all to see when Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen told a news conference yesterday of a "somewhat different feeling" among his party colleagues toward the rent supplement program than prevailed last year.

SUPPORT GROWING

Dirksen said he could tell by looking at the faces of GOP Policy Committee members at a closed meeting that support was growing for the program.

The House earlier this session rejected President Johnson's request for $40 million in rent subsidies for low-income families. Individuals who occupied projects constructed under the program would pay 25 per cent of their annual income in rent.

The remainder needed to finance the project would be collected by builders in federal supplemental payments.

Dirksen turned a cold shoulder, however, to a bipartisan proposal by Percy and Democratic Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, of Connecticut. They suggested yesterday that Johnson be given authority to transfer up to $1 billion in appropriated money to use as an emergency fund to alleviate urban slum conditions.

DOUBTS SPENDING

Dirksen indicated he doesn't believe the money would be spent wisely under programs that would have to be developed quickly.

In a related move, the House voted yesterday to turn over most of the money for Johnson's anticrime program to the states in the form of lump sum grants. It added a Republican-sponsored provision requiring that "highest priority" be given in state anticrime plans to detection, prevention and control of civil disorders and organized crime.

HOSTAGE RELEASED — Members of the DeKalb County, Ga., Rescue Unit rush to aid Martha Jo Mobley, 20, a dental receptionist who was held hostage for several hours last night by two escaped prisoners in Tucker, Ga. Police said the prisoners had been taken to the dentist's office for treatment. They overpowered their guards and took the guard's weapons and the receptionist along in a getaway truck, which was stopped when police shot out the tires. Police said one of the convicts held a gun to the woman's head and threatened to kill her unless he was allowed to escape. (See story, page A-2.)

NAACP, Young Negroes Heard

By BOB WISLER

Young adult Negroes and representatives of the Oakland County Chapter of the NAACP last night presented city commissioners with resolutions and recommendations aimed at ending racial diffculities.

About 70 youthful Pontiac Negroes attended the meeting. Several of the more outspoken asked for immediate action.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. advised them that the City Commission would consider all recommendations. He indicated that he had been meeting with members of the group and certain positive steps had been taken.

Copies of nine resolutions, presumably adopted by the group, were presented to the City Commissioners.

The resolutions urge:

- Good housing for all.
- Making black people politically and economically aware of their roles in voting and buying.

- A review of qualifications for city commissioners.
- An end to "police exploitation" in black communities.

- That hiring practices be investigated by the Civil Rights Commission.
- City investigation of price levels of merchants in black communities.

- Updating public facilities in black communities.
- Striving for black pride and excellence in the educational system.
- A review of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity in relation to overstaffing and underaiding the young black adults seeking help.

SIX SUGGESTIONS

James Mathews, president of the Oakland County chapter of the NAACP, read six suggestions which he said the chapter's executive board encouraged the commissioners give immediate attention.

The board suggested a complete revamping of programs at the Hayes Jones Recreation Center "to privide a more complete program for area teen-agers and young adults," and establishment of a youth advisory council to help plan such programs.

Mathews said consideration should be given to employing more Negroe youths

Student Held in Slaying of Dying Mother

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman critically ill with leukemia was shot to death in her hospital bed yesterday in what police described as a mercy killing by her son.

Robert Waskin, 23, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Alice Waskin, 52. Hospital spokesmen said Mrs. Waskin was a terminal leukemia patient with only a few days to live.

"She asked me to do it," Waskin told police after his arrest at Wesley Memorial Hospital.

Waskin, a senior at the University of Illinois Chicago Circle campus, admitted the slaying to police and said he had tried to put her "out of her misery" Sunday by giving her an overdose of sleeping pills, police said.

Mrs. Waskin was taken to the hospital Monday and placed in an intensive care unit for treatment for an overdose of sleeping pills.

NURSE HEARD SHOTS

Joann Calendar, a nurse at the hospital, said she heard three shots and saw Waskin drop a 22-caliber revolver on a desk and walk to the hallway where his father, Daniel, 52, was waiting.

"Well, now she's out of her misery," she said the younger Waskin told his father.

Nurses said Waskin was calm as he approached his father and offered no resistance as hospital security guards held him for police.

UAW Strike Poll Set

DETROIT (AP)—Leaders of United Auto Workers locals at General Motors plants around the country today were making plans to poll their membership on whether or not to strike the auto industry giant to win contract demands.

The union, replying to company demands for an adjustment in the cost-of-living formula, announced yesterday it has asked for a strike-authorization vote from the nearly 400,000 UAW members at General Motors.

The strike vote, scheduled for GM workers for the week of Aug. 20, will be the first such vote since negotiations began July 10.

"Only by rallying our ranks can we bring GM executives back to the world of reality," wrote Leonard Woodcock in a letter to leaders of union locals. Woodcock is a union vice president and head of the UAW's General Motors Department.

Woodcock put heavy emphasis in the letter on the company's demands for an adjustment of the cost-of-living provisions of the contract.

UAW contracts covering 750,000 workers at GM, Ford and Chrysler expire Sept. 6.

Woodcock charged that the company was asking workers to "pay back the 18 cents an hour earned as cost-of-living protection during a term of the present agreement."

GM announced last Thursday it would ask the union for some adjustment in the cost-of-living program.

Showers Leave the Area Cooler

Showers ending this morning will leave temperatures somewhat cooler tonight, the low about 55 to 60.

Skies will be partly overcast tomorrow, but the weatherman promises mostly sunny with the high in the 70s. Fair and not so cool is the outlook for Friday.

The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 70. By 1 p.m. the mercury had reached 79.

Ford Hits Curbs on Air Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford opposes sending more troops to South Vietnam unless President Johnson okays air attacks on unscathed military and strategic civilian targets in North Vietnam.

The Michigan Republican, charging Johnson's administration has pulled "our air power punch," said two-thirds of the military targets in North Vietnam and high proportions of its power plants, roads and petroleum storage areas have been spared air attack.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, while not questioning the figures on untouched targets supplied by Ford—statistics which the GOP leader said he got from sources he can't reveal, accused Ford of misunderstanding U.S. objectives.

McNamara said U.S. air power isn't directed at destroying North Vietnam or paving the way for an invasion, but at curbing the flow of troops and equipment into South Vietnam.

"It is true that there are restraints on the bombings," said McNamara, "but they are restraints designed to save American lives, to avoid unnecessary devastation and civilian casualties in North Vietnam, and to avoid action which carries with it the high risk of widening the war with all that implies."

The White House declined comment on Ford's statements, contained in a House speech.

$20-Million-Project Plans Shown

Preliminary plans for a $20-million multiple dwelling-shopping center complex were unveiled for the City Commission last night.

The commission set an Aug. 29 public hearing on the proposed developer's petition to rezone a 53-acre site in the northeast section to make the complex possible.

The plans of the developer, Dr. John R. Ylvisaker of Bloomfield Hills, call for construction of 1,000 units, 300 to be contained in high-rise buildings of 10 to 12 stories.

Designed by C. Don Davidson, a University of Detroit architect, the plan entails extensive use of pedestrian decks connecting living units and the shopping complex, parking facilities underneath the units and the pedestrian walkways, and two-story low rise units.

Consisting mostly of one-and two-bedroom units, the apartments are expected to rent for near $140 per month for one-bedroom units and $145 to $180 for two-bedroom units, Dr. Ylvisaker said.

If the rezoning is approved, construction on the first 100 units is expected to begin this fall.

About 10 acres would be set aside for commercial shopping facilities, seven of which would be centrally located and envisioned to contain a restaurant and "convenience" stores.

Related Stories, Page A-10

Parking in the shopping center area would be under and on the main surface.

MAIN FEATURE

James Bates, director of planning and urban renewal, said a main feature of the plan are the separation of pedestrian and vehicular traffic and the achievement of higher density than usual while at the same time retaining a large green area.

"A pedestrian can move anywhere within the site without crossing a road using the decks or green area," Bates said.

The City Planning Commission, which reviewed the plans and recommended rezoning to R-3 and C-1, liked the idea of integrating high-rise with low-rise units, Bates said.

The high-rise units are planned for parcels at the northeast, southwest and center of the project.

RESERVED AREAS

The developer agreed to dedicate 27 feet to the north for future widening of Walton and 50 feet to the south for an extension of Pontiac Road.

Living units would feature living rooms, kitchen, and patios on one level and bedrooms on a higher level.

In another action, commissioners approved rezoning to residential 3 a 15-acre parcel between Madison and Perry across from Perry Mount Park Cemetery for construction of a 252-unit apartment.

The developer, Harold Ross of Detroit, said construction would be under way next year. He said 84 one-bedroom units would rent for $145 and 168 two-bedroom units for $170.

POOL FEATURED

The complex would feature a swimming pool.

The land is on property owned but not utilized by the cemetery. A discount type department store is scheduled for construction on property east of the parcel, land bounded mainly by the intersecting Perry and Madison streets.

GIs Attack Complex of N. Viets

SAIGON (AP)—A company of American air cavalrymen made a helicopter assault early today into what turned out to be the center of a North Vietnamese army tunnel complex and ran into a fierce mortar, antiaircraft and small arms attack. Three troop-carrying helicopters were shot down and two others hit.

The savage battle in the Song Re valley, in the central lowlands 330 miles northeast of Saigon, and another battle Tuesday in which 65 Viet Cong were reported killed ended another prolonged lull in the Vietnam ground war.

At midafternoon the men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division were reported still in heavy contact with the enemy in the Song Re valley west of Duc Pho. First reports from the field said at least four Americans had been killed and 22 wounded.

American troops estimated they killed 40 enemy soldiers in the initial fighting in the first landing zone.

COPTER DOWNED

The first four Americans killed were in a helicopter shot down by Communist gunners firing antiaircraft machine guns from entrenched, well-fortified positions.

Officers in the field said U.S. Air Force tactical fighter-bombers attacked a dozen of the machine-gun positions that were spotted from the air. Pilots reported destroying seven of them and damaging five others. Each of the machine-gun positions was said to contain twin-mounted weapons.

A multibattalion force of air cavalrymen launched the drive after two days of aerial reconnaissance indicated a bunker complex and recently built tunnels in the area. Reports from the field said it was the first time allied troops had entered the region.

One company—about 200 men—was lifted by helicopter into the initial landing zone and quickly came under fire.

2 COMPANIES

First reports said the enemy force was made up of at least two companies of North Vietnamese regulars.

Along with the first major ground fighting in several weeks, improved weather allowed U.S. pilots to hit the northeast and northwest railway lines deep in the industrial heartland of North Vietnam Tuesday for the first time since Aug. 4. Pilots flew 166 missions over the North, and there were no reports of any U.S. planes shot down.

Communist shore batteries also were active Tuesday, firing more than 70 rounds at the U.S. destroyer Rupertus as she and the destroyer George K. MacKenzie shelled several North Vietnamese coastal defense batteries near Dong Hoi.

Cmdr. E. J. Burke of San Diego, commanding officer of the Rupertus, said his ship had light shrapnel damage on the bridge and port side of the main deck but no one was hurt.

An estimated battalion of Vietcong attacked a company of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade nine miles southeast of Quang Ngai City Tuesday, but the attack backfired.

Escapees Hold Girl Hostage

Pair Surrenders After 3 Terrifying Hours

TUCKER, Ga. (AP) — Two escaped prisoners held a terrified young woman hostage for nearly three hours yesterday, most of the time with a gun at her throat before law enforcement officers talked them into surrendering on a crowded interstate highway.

The dental receptionist, Martha Ann Mobley, 20, collapsed into the arms of police and ambulance attendants screaming, "Thank God! Thank God!" after her captors freed her.

Officers said the leader of the two convicts, James S. Lowe, 23, cocked and uncocked the gun he held at Miss Mobley's head as they pleaded with him to let her go. They said he also threatened to kill his fellow escapee, Bobby Joel Yarbrough, 23.

Lowe first demanded that he be allowed to escape in a car with the woman and a policeman accompanying him, then demanded to see Gov. Lester Maddox, to whom four escaped convicts surrendered several months ago at the governor's mansion to dramatize alleged poor prison conditions. The incident touched off a probe of prison conditions.

Lowe said he would talk with FBI agent Richard Davis, who had been questioning him in recent days in connection with a federal violation. Police summoned Davis and the agent and Weaver pleaded with Lowe.

RELEASE VOWED

Lowe finally said he would release the girl if Weaver would accompany him to the governor's mansion to see Maddox.

The governor instructed officers not to try to disarm the convicts on the way to the mansion. He said he thought he could talk them into surrendering.

Weaver said Lowe finally surrendered after he was promised some minor concessions such as being taken to the west wing of the DeKalb County jail where he said he had some friends, and being allowed to talk to a special solicitor he considered a friend.

Law Proposed to Require Utility Lines Be Buried

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission has directed City Attorney James L. Howlett to draw up an ordinance which would require utility companies to place their overhead lines and cables underground in the city's central business district.

Howlett had been asked by the commission for an opinion as to whether the city had the power to enact such an ordinance.

He replied that the city does have the power and that the courts will not interfere with the exercise of it unless it is used in an unreasonable manner.

Asst. City Manager John Saefke said that the utility companies will be consulted before any ordinance is enacted.

The ordinance, he said, will allow "a reasonable length of time" — possibly five years — for the lines to be installed underground.

SHARE EXPENSE

The city and the utility will share the expense of the project, with the utility paying an amount equal to the accumulated depreciation of the lines to be replaced.

The commission ordered that overhead utility lines and poles in the Pierce-Merrill alley be removed immediately and placed underground.

The city will bear the $2,900 cost.

City Engineer William T. Killeen reported to the commission that the city would probably not pay if the work is done after the new ordinance is enacted but that there would be a delay in getting the work done.

Saefke said the block-long alley is being renovated and that it was desirable to have the work completed as soon as possible.

2 Head for Runoff in Mississippi Vote

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — State Treasurer William Winter and U.S. Rep. John Bell Williams headed today for a runoff battle for the governorship of Mississippi after outdistancing the other five candidates in the race.

With almost 62 per cent of the state's precincts reporting, Winter and Williams each held a commanding lead of some 50,000 votes over their nearest rival.

Mississippi Negroes scored their biggest victories since Reconstruction days. More than 50 Negroes ran for local and county offices throughout the state and several triumphed over white opponents.

In the governor's race, former Gov. Ross Barnett, 69, whose efforts to block integration of the University of Mississippi in 1962 made him a national figure, trailed badly and was out of contention. He had campaigned vigorously.

SEGRAGATED SCHOOLS

With 1,100 of 2,124 precincts reporting, Winter had 95,061 votes, Williams 90,262 and country music singer James "Little Jimmy" Swan 49,604. Swan had promised free segregated private schools if elected, and it was believed he cut deeply into Barnett's expected vote.

Barnett was running fourth, with 31,120 votes, and Dist. Atty. William Waller of Jackson fifth with 27,229. The other two candidates, Vernon Brown and C.L. McKinley, received only a token vote.

The Negro victories came in counties where their race predominates. In Claiborne County, Calvin Williams, a Negro, received enough votes to gain the runoff for sheriff. In the same county, Negroes won Democratic nominations for chancery clerk, justice of the peace, constable and county supervisor. They have no Republican opposition.

In Adams County, the Rev. W. S. Scott, a Negro minister, won the nomination for justice of the peace, beating three white men. Sandy Nealy, another Negro, won the nomination for Dist. 4 constable. Neither has GOP opposition.

8 Republican Governors to Discuss Riots

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven Republican governors have agreed to meet here Thursday with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to discuss means of dealing with racial disturbances in the nation's cities.

Rockefeller disclosed Tuesday he had called a meeting of the policy committee of the Republican Governor's Conference in his capacity as committee chairman.

His office said those who will attend include Govs. George Romney of Michigan, John Love of Colorado, Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, John A. Volpe of Massachusetts and Nils A. Boe of South Dakota.

Other governors who said they received invitations but would not be able to attend were James A. Rhodes of Ohio, Claude R. Kirk Jr. of Florida, Ronald Reagan of California, Dan Evans of Washington and Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin.

HOMEWARD - BOUND — Outgoing U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, 68, was flown home today seriously ill with infectious hepatitis. He took sick last Friday while on a lecture tour of Australia and was flown to Bangkok, Thailand, where he was admitted to a U.S. Army hospital.

House Clerk Raps Romney, Annoys GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Clerk of the House W. Pat Jennings said today he sympathized with angry Republicans in the Michigan House delegation.

"If I had a governor like George Romney, I'd be mad, too," he said in an interview. "But they shouldn't be mad at me."

The Michigan Republicans were deeply annoyed by Jennings' speech at Norfolk, Va., Monday night, when the former Democratic congressman from Virginia said Romney "fiddled while Detroit burned" during last month's riots.

Through ignorance or fear, Jennings said, Romney failed to establish a legal basis on which President Johnson could have sent federal troops into Detroit any more promptly than was done.

Romney failed to call up his own National Guard as promptly as other governors have done in the face of a riot, Jennings said.

2 CIA-Directed Invaders Captured Sunday--Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban security forces intercepted an armed landing party on the north coast of Pinar del Rio Province Sunday, Havana Radio said today. Two members of the invading group were captured.

Two other members of the landing party got aboard their boat and returned to the United States, according to a broadcast monitored in Miami, abandoning equipment and documents on the beach.

"The armed group was obeying direct orders from the CIA and left from the United States to carry out CIA missions in Cuba," the radio said, referring to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

One member of the invading group was wounded and captured near the scene of the landing, according to the radio. The other was caught Sunday afternoon after an all-day chase.

Both men, the radio said, will be put on display before delegates attending the Latin-American conference of leftist revolutionaries in Havana.

The documents also will be shown, the broadcast said, as new proof "to unmask the criminal policy of the U.S. government toward Cuba."

Sunday, the Cuban government displayed six captured exiles at a news conference. Two of them said an objective of their mission was to kill Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The band of infiltrators was described later in Miami by their leader, Maj. Armando Fleites, as being part of an "irregular warfare" campaign to topple the Communist regime.

2 Brothers Jailed in Murder of Girl

GIRARD, Pa. (AP) — Two Erie County brothers are in jail today awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of murdering 12-year-old Connie Rae Carstater, whose body, bound with her own clothes, was found in a wooded swampy area Tuesday.

State police Tuesday arrested Jerry E. Bearce, 15, of Rt. 1, Albion and his brother Daniel, 23. The two were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Esther Meeder, who remanded them to Erie County jail without bond. A preliminary hearing will be held within ten days, police said.

A tip that the brothers were seen near where Connie disappeared Sunday led to their arrest, police said. They said they found evidence at the brothers' house indicating the two were involved in the slaying, took the brothers to the police barracks and arrested them following interrogation.

2 Being Held in Girl's Death

State Teen's Body Found Near Jackson

LANSING (AP) — A Lansing man and a Grand Rapids woman today were held on open charges of murder in the death of a 13-year-old Lansing girl whose body was found in woods near Jackson.

Higdon waived examination and was being held without bond. Miss Brumit asked that her arraignment be postponed until today so she could have an attorney present.

IDENTIFIED BY RING

Roxanne's body was found about 40 feet from a road, she was identified by a ring and watch she was wearing. Dr. J. H. Ahronheim at Jackson Memorial Hospital said Roxanne had bee ndead for two to four weeks.

House Clears Revamped Anticrime Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats, forged in part by recent riots, ran roughshod over administration forces in completely revamping President Johnson's anticrime bill.

Eighty-four Democrats, all but 10 of them from Southern and border states, teamed with 172 Republicans in the key vote Tuesday that converted the crime bill from a federal grant program to be run by the attorney general into a largely state program using federal funds.

The 256-147 vote nailed into the bill an amendment by Rep. William T. Cahill, R-N.J., for "block grants" to the states. The House then passed the measure by a vote of 377 to 23, sending it to the Senate.

The effect of this summer's urban riots showed clearly in adoption of an amendment stressing the need to give priority to detection, prevention and control of riots, civil disorders and organized crime. It also was an issue in approval of Rep. James G. O'Hara's proposal for a 50 per cent increase to $75 million for the bill, with $30 million earmarked for riot training.

ATTEMPTED OUSTER

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark—who would lose control of most of the funds in the House-passed measure—was the target of a move to eliminate his place in the Cabinet.

But an amendment by Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, to abolish the Justice Department and replace it with an office of justice headed by a noncabinet officer appointed for a 15-year term was ruled out of order by the parliamentarian. Minshall said he would introduce it as separate legislation.

Arson Blamed for Second Fire

The second fire in a day at a Pontiac home late yesterday caused some $6,000 damage and took city firemen more than two hours to extinguish.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz termed the blaze which broke out about 8 p.m. at 409 S. Jessie "definite arson."

He pointed out that between midnight and 1 a.m. yesterday two attempts were made to set the two-story occupied frame building on fire.

First, rags soaked in lighter fluid were tossed in through a window, but they failed to ignite anything else, Metz said.

Shortly thereafter, a pile of rags in the house was set off with matches and a subsequent fire caused several hundred dollars damage to building and contents, according to Metz.

Metz said he had not yet determined how last night's blaze was started.

Two engines and a ladder truck under the command of Asst. Chief Lee Nye responded to the alarm.

Metz, who said his department is working on several leads, indicated juveniles may be responsible for the fires.

NATO Role Seen as Major Issue in Italy

ROME (AP) — Italy's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is developing into a major issue for national election next spring.

Some leaders of the Socialist-Christian Democratic coalition fired away at the Communists over the weekend, saying it would be "unthinkable" for Italy to invoke the treaty clause permitting a member of the alliance to break away then.

But a sizable number of Socialists and even a few of the traditionally pro-Western Christian Democrats are calling for a reevaluation of NATO policy and programs.

MAY EFFECT GOVERNMENT

A hard struggle over the issue would have profound effects on the center-left government in power since 1963. Observers believe many politicians will be reluctant to see NATO continue after 1969 without significant changes in the organization's character and purpose.

There are two big dangers to the coalition:

- A bitter split in the Socialist ranks during the election campaign.
- A serious dispute in the next center-left government that is almost sure to result from the vote.

in the city's youth assistance program and he asked for a city-adopted resolution supporting by ordinance, open housing, "as other Michigan cities have done."

He also suggested "initiating immediate plans for fully integrated public housing in other locations of the city," primarily for persons unable to qualify for rent supplement housing or townhouse units, with a high percentage of three-, four- and five-bedroom units.

NEGRO APPOINTEE

Mathews' statement called for appointment of a Negro, who can be "representative to the needs and concerns of Lakeside Homes," to the existing vacancy on the Public Housing Commission.

The final suggestion was for abolishment of the Pontiac Human Relations Commission, or, if not, a paid full-time staff.

Mathews said the ccommission "exists only on paper with no meaningful function . . . It is apparent that this committee means nothing to our city government, since, to our knowledge, they were not called upon to function in any manner during our recent disturbance."

His statement encouraged the commission "to utilize these young adults who are representatives in sharing in making meaningful decisions in our community."

MEETING SLATED

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said a meeting has been arranged to consider changes in the Hayes Jones recreation programs.

Taylor indicated that city action on all the matters presented could not feasibly be handled immediately and this touched off comments by some of those present.

"We want action now. You can go on considering for quite some time," one said.

In reading the resolutions, Shirley Roberts, said goals were presented to the commissioners because "each should be aware of our interests."

She also mentioned that the young Negroes are "aware of some of you taking steps to eliminate the causes of social unrest."

TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. said he would attempt to meet with the group "to work out complex problems without destroying lives and personal property."

Legislator's Bribery Exam Put Off Until September

The preliminary court examination of State Rep. Bill S. Huffman on a charge of soliciting a bribe was adjourned yesterday until late September when it will be determined if the legislator should be bound over to Circuit Court for trail.

Huffman is accused by Oakland County Grand Juror James S. Thorburn of soliciting a bribe regarding a package liquor license being sought by Leonard Peltier, the owner of a party store in Madison Heights.

The alleged incident, according to Thorburn, occurred in April 1961 while Huffman was mayor of the south Oakland County city.

Two weeks ago, Peltier testified at the start of the hearing that he and Huffman once discussed the license, but then said that Huffman contacted him three days later and said to forget it.

Peltier said that Huffman had told him it would be necessary for him to have an attorney and quoted Huffman as saying, "Through my efforts I promise I can get you a license. But you have to have an attorney. You pay him and he pays us. We have to have money for our campaigns. We can't pay for it out of our own pockets."

Yesterday, Huffman's attorney, Carlton Roeser of Pontiac, asked Peltier: "Did Bill Huffman ever say give me this and I'll see that you get your SDD license? Did he ever promise you anything?"

"No, he did not," answered Peltier.

Peltier then said that he only paid the normal state fees to get his license.

On Monday, a former Madison Heights druggist, Emil Pavlovics testified that he had given Huffman a $5,000 "campaign contribution" in 1959 and about two weeks later got his package liquor license.

ADJOURNMENT ASKED

Roeser requested the adjournment from Bloomfield Hills Justice of the Peace Jack Baldwin so that he could review the transcript of the proceedings.

It will be a month before it can be transcribed and another 10 days before the hearing can resume.

In another grahd jury development yesterday, a Ferndale man, John Johns, was cited for contempt of court for the second time in less than a week for refusing to answer questions when he was called as a witness by Thorburn.

Johns, 53, of 818 Pinecrest, refused to answer yesterday even after being granted immunity from any prosecution.

A hearing on the first contempt charge had been scheduled for yesterday, but was adjourned until Tuesday when it will be decided by Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts if Johns should be found guilty on both counts.

LOUISIANA FIRE SCENE — Smoke and flames are still belching from the burning Cities Service Oil Co. refinery in Lake Charles, La., yesterday afternoon following an explosion in the huge oil complex. At last report, three were dead and three missing.

Fiery Refinery Blasts Kill 3, Leave Damage in Millions

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Fire control squads prowled today through the gigantic Cities Service Oil Co. refinery struck by fiery blasts which killed three men and wreaked damage in the millions. Three other men were missing and presumed dead.

The fire fighters allowed flames to burn through the night rather than risk allowing collection of explosive gases which could be touched off by a spark.

Authorities expected to find the bodies of the three missing men in a burning section too hot to enter. After fuel feeding the fires burned out, searchers planned to probe the ruins.

HUGE FIREBALL

The blasts, followed by a huge fireball, came early Tuesday in the hours of darkness at the $380-million plant which sprawls over 2,000 acres like a forest of silvered towers, pipes and storage tanks.

One man working in a unit north of the major eruptions said the explosions left his unit without steam, water or air. When that happens, he said, "If God is with you, the whole thing doesn't blow up."

The three victims were found about noon near one of the major blast areas. Officials said J. R. Dansby of Vinton, L. D. Richardson of Sulphur, and A. L. Rothchild of Sulphur were caught by fire as they ran.

The men missing and presumed dead were identified as H. R. Smith of Lake Charles, H. E. Hoffner of Sulphur and R. W. Taylor of Maplewood.

6 HOSPITALIZED

Burns and shock caused six men to be hospitalized. Eight others were treated and released.

Thirteen relatively minor explosions followed the first big ones at 4:45 a.m.

The initial concussion shattered store windows in Lake Charles—some six miles away. Ten miles from the plant, the blast pushed a car from a driveway of a home into the street.

Taylor Twp. Man Killed in Mishap

DETROIT (AP) — A suburban Taylor Township man died Tuesday when his car went off the road and struck a bridge abutment about eight miles northwest of Flat Rock.

Carter S. Klonn, 22, was dead on arrival at a Trenton hospital. Police said it took about 15 minutes to free him from the wreckage.

Fantasy Is Only Human, Normal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am married and have children, but if you print this, please don't say how many. I can honestly say that when it comes to being a wife and mother, I'm one of the best.

ABBY

My husband is sweet, loving, and devoted. What more could a wife ask for?

Well, for the last three years I have had a secret desire for another man. My husband has no idea that such a thought would ever enter my head, and if he knew he'd die.

The other man doesn't know how I feel about him. I see him all the time, and the thrill I get out of just looking at him is indecent. (He manages the supermarket where I trade.)

He's married and has a family, too, so nothing could ever come of this, but I can't help how I feel about him.

I can't tell anyone else about this as the Good Book says that to lust after someone is the same as committing adultery. I feel so ashamed and tormented, Abby. Is something wrong with me?

SECRET LOVE

DEAR SECRET: There is nothing "wrong" with you that isn't wrong with the rest of humanity. You are indulging in fantasy, which is normal. And it's harmless. The guilt feelings over your day dreams are doing you more harm than the day dreams.

Now, go scrub the kitchen floor and take a cold shower. You'll feel better.

DEAR ABBY: At 19 I married without my parents' consent. My husband and I then moved to another state.

At first my mother wrote to me, addressing the letters to Mary Smith which was my maiden name.

Finally she compromised and started addressing my letters to Mary Jones (Jones is my husband's name). Those I accepted and read, but a year has passed and she still refuses to address me as "Mrs."

This may strike you as being a trivial matter, but it is very important to me. What do you make of this?

MRS. ROBERT JONES

DEAR MRS. JONES: Your mother is determined to remind you that she hasn't as yet recognized your marriage, which doesn't make you any less married. Ignore it.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the woman who had a baby out of wedlock, had her maiden name on the baby's birth certificate, and later had the name changed (for only 50 cents) to her husband's name, should be clarified:

I am the mother of a child born out of wedlock. I later married the baby's father, making the child legitimate. The only thing we had to do was go to the city clerk's office where my husband swore under oath that he was the father of my child. We paid 50 cents to correct the record and we didn't have to go through any adoption proceedings.

A friend of mine had a child born out of wedlock. She later married a man who was not the baby's father. She called the Probate Court and was told they would have to file a petition for adoption and go through the regular procedure.

I can't speak for other places, but that's the way it is in Worcester county. Thank you.

SATISFIED MOTHER

A Chief Agitator in Riots

Hong Kong Publisher Defects

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Nationalist officials today announced the defection of one of Hong Kong's leading Chinese Communist publishers, a chief agitator in the current anti-British campaign of violence in the colony.

They said the defector is Wu Shu-tung, 61, a member of the People's Political Consultative Council in Red China's Kwangtung Province, adjoining Hong Kong, and the chairman and general manager of the Communist-owned China Publishing Co. in Hong Kong.

Wu flew to Taipei Aug. 2 with his wife, official sources said. Officials said he is the highest Communist official to defect to Nationalist China. They said he termed the Communist campaign in Hong Kong a failure, largely because of the arrests of troublemakers by the colonial government.

Wu's presence in Formosa was disclosed after he was received by Defense Minister Chiang Ching-kuo, President Chiang Kai-shek's elder son.

ON RIOT COMMITTEE

Wu told Nationalist officials that after the riots broke out in Hong Kong in May, he joined the Antipersecution Struggle Committee and was made chairman of its publications branch.

He disclosed that the committee is composed of 17 standing members and 114 ordinary members. It has four sections, he said: combat, responsible for terrorist activities; transportation, in charge of smuggling arms and ammunition to the terrorists; united front, in charge of behind-the-scenes maneuvers; and propaganda, handled largely through Chinese Communist newspapers in Hong Kong.

2 Issues Near Vote in Senate

Tied to Bill Extending Export-Import Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces in the Senate face a close fight on questions of arms sales to poorer nations and on the proposed sale of U.S. tools to be used in a Soviet auto plant.

The issues are being raised to a bill that would extend the Export-Import Bank for five years and increase its lending authority from $9 billion to $13.5 billion.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield obtained a time limitation on the debate, which was expected to bring final action on the legislation today.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, administration spokesman on the bill, told newsmen: "It has been very hard to get a nose count" on the two crucial amendments being offered.

ARMS SALES

One, by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., would knock out any Export-Import Bank financing of arms sales to the less developed nations. The bank has made many deals in this area in recent years.

The other, by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen would ban any bank role in the sale of American machine tools to Italy's Fiat Motor Co. to be used in a Fiat plant scheduled to be built in the Soviet Union.

Both amendments are opposed strongly by the Johnson administration.

Ellender and other senators declared they were shocked earlier this year to learn the Export-Import Bank was being used on a massive scale to finance sales of arms equipment around the world.

Ellender said it never was intended that the bank, first set up in 1934, be engaged in such deals.

The actual sales involved were made by the Defense Department.

Muskie, however, insisted sufficient notice had been given for members of Congress who wished to inform themselves.

He said he considered the bank a proper instrument to handle such sales so long as the President finds such transactions in the national interest.

SALES LIMITED

The Maine senator noted that the banking committee wrote into the legislation a requirement that such a finding be made in the future on any sales to the less-developed countries.

It also, he emphasized, included a restriction limiting such sales hereafter to 7½ per cent of the banking's lending authority.

Dirksen said he was trying to kill the Fiat deal because of "how the country feels about this when our kids are being killed in Vietnam by Soviet weapons."

The banking committee put into the bill a provision which would prevent the financing of any sales of equipment destined to wind up in Communist countries unless the President approved them as in the national interest.

Contradictory, Questionable

Advice Floods Investor

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK—Does the great flood of investment advice these days threaten to drown the investor in confusion rather than information?

CUNNIFF

It cannot be proved, perhaps, but an examination of recent stock market literature and expert testimony at mutual fund hearings in Washington suggests the possibility.

It can be shown, for example, that many millions of pages of market letters are mailed or otherwise delivered each year, at a minimum, and that much of the advice in one letter contradicts that in another.

An examination shows also that the cost of advice, exhortations, come-ons and promotions of the marketplace may be unrelated to the results promised. For less than $10 you may purchase information on how to make a million. For hundreds of dollars you can buy advice on how to win a few points on a single stock.

Advice often is free. At the slightest show of interest this free advice will come pouring forth from friend, co-worker and neighbor.

Among the bookshelves, the potential stock market investor will find advice dispensed by a doctor who feels lots of people can make a million, by a dancer who claims to have made $2 million, by a former songsmith who runs one of the most reputable advisory services.

The potential investor is told by salesmen that mutual funds are the safe route to financial success, a tale that is accompanied by charts that trace a jagged line to the top of the page, showing how an investment of $5,000 in 1957 might be worth $12,500 now.

After being convinced, the investor is then told by men of integrity that all the figures and charts, though true, are an illusion, too.

DO AS WELL

The chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Manuel F. Cohen, insists that most investors would have done just as well as the mutual funds by making their own decisions.

Adding weight to this testimony is a statement by Paul Samuelson, an economist, that the fund administrators provide investors nothing that they could not gain by throwing darts and hitting random stocks."

Such a flood of propaganda, advice and information is one of the consequences, and one of the benefits also, of a free society. But it can, ironically, leave the investor ill-informed, confused, frustrated.

Nevertheless, that it exists means there is a market for it—an expensive one. Some of the highest priced literature in America never goes through book stores or ends up in libraries. It is stock market advice, some of which sells for several hundred dollars a year.

'TAINTED AT SOURCE'

Critics claim that some of this advice is tainted at the source, that brokerage houses that sell and promote stocks cannot very well give unbiased information. In one capacity, the argument goes, they are salesmen; in the other they are advisers.

Brokerage houses are well aware of this charge and discount it. Research, they say, is the heart of a strong organization and cannot be tainted by sales. In fact, one brokerage house within the past year fined an employe for putting undue pressure on the researchers to come up with a bullish report.

Nevertheless, some independent stock market advisors with nothing to sell but their own advice contend that their's is the only impartial advice, although they may find it difficult to prove their advice is better.

These independents are registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Brokerage houses with seats on the large exchanges must also submit their market letters to review boards.

REVIEW STAFF

The review staff of the New York Stock Exchange, for instance, consists of eight members who reviewed 25,000 pages of material last year, a mere sampling of the several hundred thousand pages printed each year.

Each of these letters goes to a few hundred to thounsands of readers, meaning that the several hundred thousand pages becomes millions.

With such a proliferation of opinion and fact, there is only one additional bit of advice that responsible market men offer: Read, listen and learn if you can, then heed your own counsel.

Maine Riddle: Is Skeleton Sea Monster

BIDDEFORD, Maine (UPI)—There may not be any such thing as a sea monster, officials here concede, but they are trying to determine the identity of something that "looks just exactly like what a sea monster ought to look like."

The "Biddleford monster investigation" was launched after lobster fisherman Richard Gagne, 23, of Biddeford hauled up the part skeleton of "the oddest-looking thing I ever saw" Monday wound in the rope of a lobster trap.

Gagne said it was about eight feet long with a "head shaped like the head of a snake. I've never seen anything like it before."

The skeleton, which Gagne said still had some flesh clinging to it and a fin "that looks like a wing with the feathers of a bird on it," was found in 50 feet of water at the breakwater near the mouth of the Saco River in the Atlantic Ocean.

Gagne's brother Peter said, "the eye sockets on the head are bigger than the head itself. I can put my fist in each one of them." He said the eyes were on the side of the head, like those of a snake's.

CONFIRMED STORY

JFK Plot Case Trial Begins

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The perjury trial of lawyer Dean Andrews, accused of lying to a grand jury probing the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, opens today with the lines drawn for a long courtroom fight.

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's office subpoenaed the stenographic notes and voice recordings of testimony given by Andrews in 1964 to the Warren Commission, which ruled that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone assassin of Kennedy.

Garrison contends that retired New Orleans businessman Clay L. Shaw plotted under the name of Clay Bertrand to murder Kennedy.

Andrews told the Warren Commission that a Clay Bertrand contacted him shortly after the assassination in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, and asked him to represent Oswald. Andrews contends that Bertrand is not Clay Shaw.

DEFENSE WITNESSES

In his defense, Andrews subpoenaed 39 witnesses, including Garrison, Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen and the entire Orleans Parish grand jury.

However, the governor's executive counsel, William V. Redmann, sent a telegram Tuesday to Judge Frank J Shea advising that Andrews had withdrawn his subpoena of McKeithen.

The telegram said the governor is not liable to subpoena by the judicial branch, but will supply any required information that "appears necessary to trial."

'Negro Plot' Hearing Starts

NEW YORK (AP) — A hearing begins today in Queens County Criminal Court for 17 Negroes indicted on charges of conspiracy to murder moderate civil rights leaders.

Police declined to spell out precisely what security precautions would be taken in view of pleas by militant Negro leaders for a large turnout of spectators.

At a rally last Sunday, H. Rap Brown, the Black Power advocate and chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, urged that Negroes show up in force for the hearing.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 73 years old. I own Homestake Mining which cost 48½. Would you sell and put the money in Thiokol for dividends and growth?" E.S.

A. There is a school of thought — to which I do not subscribe — that gold mining shares such as Homestake are a good speculation on a possible rise in the price of the metal. Any such rise would have to be initiated by our government, and would be a major benefit to France and Russia — who are not two of our best friends. There is some attraction to the stock from its uranium operations, but in my opinion the multiple is too high and the yield too low on the recently reduced dividend.

If I were in your situation, I would sell Homestake but I would not put the proceeds into Thiokol which is also a low-yield speculation. Instead, in your position I advise International Harvester — a strongly established situation yielding a well-secured 4½ per cent with plenty of room on the upside, in my opinion.

Q. "I am 18 years old and plan to attend college next year. I have accumulated some money and would like to try my luck in the stock market. If I do so, I would want to sell out in about six months. I have no experience and would appreciate your help." T.P.

A. I feel very strongly that no one should buy stock when there is a relatively short time limit on the period of holding. Stocks are all subject to fluctuation and in my experience investment with a time limit usually works to the disadvantage of the buyer. It is for this reason alone that I discourage untrained investors from buying puts and calls. Your money should be in a savings institution, where there is no risk and where the principal will be intact six months hence.

State Hospital to Get Building

$3-Million Facility for Kitchen, Dining Area

Pontiac State Hospital is getting a new $3-million Service Building to house its general kitchen and dining rooms.

The hospital's architect will take about six months to prepare specifications and drawings and construction would take approximately two years.

"This is a building we have been planning since 1954," said Gerald A. Bax, administration officer.

"We are most pleased that after many years of delay we will finally realize our dream of adequate service facilities for Pontiac State Hospital."

Supt. Dr. D. W. Martin explained that the Legislature's Joint Committee on Capital Outlay authorized the hospital's building division last month to instruct the architect to procede with plans.

OPERATIONS

The building will house all stores operations, a new general kitchen and three new dining rooms.

It will be located west of the present kitchen and general dining room, which will be torn down along with the maintenance and carpenter shops and Men's T-Building.

Crane Falls 10 Stories; 4 Injured

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A giant crane toppled 10 stories from the top of an unfinished building into the rush hour traffic of a downtown Tampa street today.

Four persons were injured, including crane operator Floyd Masterson, who rode the 150-foot high vehicle on its long fall. He was reported in fair condition at Tampa General Hospital.

Three women in an automobile in a parking lot missed death by inches when the tip of the crane's 87-foot boom speared through the back end of the car.

Several workmen on the ground scrambled to safety as the huge crane smashed down at the corner of Zack and Marion Streets, making a shambles of the area.

'FRIGHTENING'

"I heard a noise and looked up and saw it coming down," said Charles Tomlinson, 26-year-old steelworker from Plant City. "It was the most frightening thing I ever saw."

The women in the car, who escaped with minor injuries, were Janice Shiro, Ellen Labadie and Linda Simmons. They are employes of the General Telephone Co., for which the new building is being constructed.

Oakland Schools to Hold Budget Hearing Thursday

A public hearing on $3.7-million special education and $1.5-million general fund budgets will be held by Oakland Schools intermediate district at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

A hearing will also be held at the meeting on whether three Troy School District homes should be annexed to the Birmingham District.

The special education budget is up $200,000 over last year and the general fund budget is down $400,000.

SPECIAL ROOMS

Special education expenditure include $2.6 million in transfers to school districts and $280,000 to operate special education rooms in the districts.

More than $612,000 is expected in general fund revenue from a 0.20 mill tax — 20 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation. The levy was 0.15 mill last year.

Nearly half a million dollars will be spent to put at least one model language arts project in each of the 29 school districts. The funds come from the federal government.

Instruction and operations total $1.4 million.

N.Y. Man, 72, Girlfriend Shot to Death

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP) — Police have charged a sewer plant operator with killing his 72-year-old father and a 31-year-old convicted prostitute in a shed on Long Island near what was once the old man's duck farm, reputedly among the world's largest.

Police Chief Stephen Grodski said Tuesday that John A. Warner, 41, "surrendered and gave me the weapon and held out his hands for the handcuffs."

Investigators found his father, Hollis V. Warner, shot once in the heart, and Rosemary Duff, described by police as the elder Warner's girlfriend, struck by bullets in the head, throat and torso.

Police said Mrs. Duff was convicted of prostitution in 1964 and sentenced to 10 days in jail and a $100 fine. The elder Warner, they said, paid the fine.

FATHER OF 4

His son is a sewage plant operator, president of the Riverhead Little League and the father of four children.

The duck farm when it was in operation 20 years ago was called one of the world's largest. When it failed, Warner converted the duck sheds into dormitories for migrant farm laborers who work raising eastern Long Island's potato and vegetable crops.

29 Pct. in Fiscal Year

PSH Readmissions Rise

Readmission of patients to Pontiac State Hospital increased 5 per cent during the past fiscal year, statistics released today showed.

Readmissions rose from 24 per cent in 1965-66 to 29 per cent in 1966-67 although the rate of return of those on convalescent status decreased from 38 to 35 per cent.

"Despite greatly accelerated admission (up 14 per cent) and discharged rates (up 20 per cent), our rate or return essentially held its own," Supt. Dr. D. W. Martin commented.

"These figures seem reasonable when we consider that the hospital is rapidly shifting away from the use of convalescent status to outright discharge."

Hospitals Urged to Take Alcoholics for Treatment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A blue-ribbon committee on alcoholism yesterday urged general hospitals to accept alcoholics for treatment as individuals in need of medical care.

In announcing the recommendations of the 18-member panel he appointed last October, Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) said "discrimination" based on diagnosis could be relieved through federal suport for alcoholism workshops for medical professionals and hospital administrators.

The report by the National Advisory Committee on Alcoholism, under study of HEW, said that there is "insufficient manpower" for existing programs of treatment, prevention, education and research relating to alcoholism.

"None of the efforts which may be proposed for dealing with alcoholism can be effective unless manpower shortages are corrected," the report said.

Alcoholism strikes an estimated four to five million Americans and affects from 16 to 20 million members of their families. The cost of alcoholism to American industry has been tagged at $2 billion a year, due to absenteeism, lowered efficiency and medical insurance payments.

'MAJOR PROBLEM'

Gardner has termed alcoholism a "major health problem."

The committee recommended that financial support be offered to state and community programs for treatment, rehabilitation and education under both community health programs and special projects grants.

The panel also urged that modern alcoholism control methods be included in the teaching of medical students, nurses, social workers, clinical psychologists and other health personnel.

Gardner told his Committee Chairman, Dr. Robert Strauss of the University of Kentucky Medical College, that the recommendations are under "careful study" by HEW. Strauss is chairman of the university's department of behavorial science.

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Is it a park or a cemetery?

The question has elected officials of this southern West Virginia chemical center in a tizzy.

A church group wants to hold an ice cream social on city property containing a large Indian burial mound.

That to Mayor L. O. McIlwain is unbelievable.

"Why not go up to Glendale Cemetery and have ice cream socials. I can't see the difference," he says.

"We ran the Indians out of this country," he told City Council members, "now the least we can do is let them sleep in peace."

VANISHED CIVILIZATION

The Smithsonian Institution dug into the 30-foot-high mound nearly 85 years ago and found skeletal remains of a prehistoric race of Indians commonly called the Moundbuilders. Archeologists have linked them with the vanished Adena civilization.

The mound covers most of a small piece of land given to the city years ago as a park. The deed prohibits commercial use of the land.

Defenders of the mound have had tough sledding in recent years. Each December it resembles a Christmas tree with colored lights strung up and down its sides. A section of the mound has been sliced off to make room for a basketball court and bandstand.

Council President Homer Pardon says the mound belongs to the public and ought to be used. "If not," he adds, "let's make a parking lot out of it."
