Critical Defense Steel Supplies Will Be Frozen

Stockpiles Will Be Used for a 'Limited Period'; More Layoffs Seen

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The government intends to freeze certain critical steel supplies for a while to keep defense production unhampered as long as possible during the nationwide steel strike, already hurting other segments of the nation's economy.

An order instituting the freeze has been drawn up, and will be issued tomorrow, taking effect Friday. It is expected to remain in force for only a limited period, possibly no longer than two weeks.

The action is designed to channel to defense producers selected steel items now stockpiled in warehouses, assuring continuance of the vital national defense program for the longest possible time.

Meanwhile, Independence Day brought a lull in the wave of layoffs and business cutbacks across the country resulting from the four-day-old strike of 650,000 United Steelworkers members against 90 per cent of the basic steel industry.

Unemployment in allied industries stands at nearly 47,000. The figure is expected to climb sharply the rest of the week.

Tomorrow federal mediators will confer here separately with both sides in "exploratory" sessions aimed at reviving deadlocked contract negotiations.

The 4th at Roundup City

Pageantry Highlights Girl Scout Spectacle

Some 5,000 Girl Scouts in encampment at the national roundup near Milford togged themselves out in their finest uniforms today to celebrate the Fourth of July.

A patriotic observance will call the delegates into Roundup City's natural amphitheater this afternoon in the Highland State Recreation Area, campsite for girls from each of the 48 states and other parts of the world.

The program will include a salute to the girl troops from U. S. Air Force and Navy planes flying in formation overhead. Among the highlights of the ceremony will be the award of a prize to Jo Anne Warden of Lubbock, Texas, winner of the Girl Scouts National Essay contest.

Guests at today's ceremonies will be Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, mother in the best-selling book and the movie, "Cheaper by the Dozen"; Jacqueline Cochran, aviatrix and cosmetics manufacturer; Charlton Heston, motion picture star, and Enid Haupt, editor of Seventeen magazine.

Miss Warren will read her prize-winning essay, "What America Means to Me" in the arena ceremony this afternoon. Jo Anne arrived at the all-state encampment Tuesday afternoon.

Before the pageant Jo Anne is to be honored at a luncheon. At that time she will be given the title of "Miss Young America in Girl Scouting" by Mrs. Enid Haupt for Seventeen magazine.

Other honored guests, camp officials and the mayors of Detroit, Pontiac and Milford have been invited to attend.

The spectacle in the arena, directed by Mrs. Martha Coe of New York City, will feature a massing of the colors.

Over 150 American flags, as well as all the state flags, will be carried onto the grassy stage by representative Scouts from each troop.

Music and a verse speaking choir will also be featured.

Exhibits in the Administration area will be open all day. Demonstrations of skills and regional games and folklore took place between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m.

Camp tours will be conducted throughout the day.

Snowballs Fly on 4th of July; That's No Lie

Firecrackers may be illegal in Michigan but 11-year-old Jimmy Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Nelson, 70 Illinois, doesn't plan to miss them a bit.

Last January Jim decided he'd be prepared when it came time to celebrate our Independence Day. He promptly filled Mom's freezer with 50 snowballs.

Purpose?

To throw snowballs on the fourth of July!

So today's the day. Jim and his friends around the Illinois neighborhood are set for a "battle royal." They'll heave away as long as the 50 snowballs last.

Mrs. Nelson has advised them not to throw too hard. "They're just about as hard as rocks," she said.

Clouds, Showers Predicted Tonight

The United States Weather Bureau predicts cloudy with occasional showers tonight. The low will be 57 to 63.

Occasional showers is also the forecast for tomorrow with a high of 75 to 80 degrees.

The lowest temperature reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 60 degrees. The thermometer registered 68 at 10 a.m.

First Independence Day in American Colonies

—SPIRIT OF '76—The atmosphere in the American colonies on the first Independence Day, 180 years ago, is conveyed in the above color drawing by Associated Press artist Ed Gunder. The change from colonial status to affirmation of the right to independence is symbolized by the two signs in the doorway. The "king's" sign has been taken down. In its place, up goes the sign of "The United Colonies." Under the name is a quotation from the Declaration of Independence. That historic document was passed by the Continental Congress July 4, 1776.

The Boston Tea Party, one of the significant acts of defiance during the pre-Revolutionary days, is recognized by the inclusion of a box marked "tea," and a ship in the background.

The "United Colonies" were not united unanimously, however. England had her Loyalist supporters in those days and right through the Revolution. The red-coated figures represent them.

Almost two centuries later, the Declaration of Independence still stands as one of the great documents of all time, and still serves as an inspiration to men not yet free and independent.

Police Vigilance Raised as Nation Celebrates 4th

Cool Weather Expected to Cut Road Casualties During Observance

County traffic officials this morning were rubbing their eyes and wondering if their calendars were right.

There have been no traffic fatalities so far during the traditionally murderous Independence Day rush to holiday areas.

And police at Pontiac, Redford and Romeo State Police posts, Pontiac Police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Waterford Township Police reported only two injury accidents since 6 p. m. yesterday.

A forecast of cool, cloudy weather with thunderstorms is expected to cut down the expected high toll of Michigan lakes, which took 22 lives over last year's three-day holiday. State traffic deaths mounted to 18 as 407 died on the nation's highways.

This year, a national toll of 130 is predicted by the National Safety Council, but with the outgoing rush nearly completed, only 24 traffic deaths have been reported in the United States.

Eight drownings and three miscellaneous deaths have been counted.

In Michigan, three traffic deaths have been reported.

Last year's three - day holiday was marred in Oakland County by a triple-fatal highway crash, a drowning and the death by heart attack of a man wading in a county lake.

'FINGERS CROSSED'

Area law enforcement officials, their fingers crossed in hopes of continuing the near-perfect traffic record in the county, will continue their heavy road patrols today and tonight.

Police today also were optimistic that the predicted cool, rainy weather will cut down number and length of holiday auto trips.

According to the National Safety Council, last year's figure of 805 violent deaths was the biggest over-all holiday death toll in the nation's history.

An Associated Press survey, taken for comparative purposes during the 30-hour period from 6 p.m. June 19 to midnight June 20, showed a death toll of 66 in traffic, 21 drownings and 21 deaths in miscellaneous accidents.

The National Safety Council says the normal highway death toll for a Wednesday in July is about 80.

Political Rivals Kill Each Other

Oklahoma Sheriff and Election Winner Duel in Courthouse

STILWELL, Okla. (AP) — Sheriff Chester Crittenden and the man who apparently beat him for his job in yesterday's primary election shot and killed each other last night in the courthouse jail.

Eleven persons reportedly saw Crittenden and Bob Alberty draw guns and shoot it out.

There was no known motive.

County Atty. Owen Grant said there apparently had been no ill feelings between the two men.

Grant said Alberty had defeated Crittenden in the election.

But the county election board quit counting ballots after two precincts were in. At that time, Alberty was leading almost 2-1, 240 votes to 48.

Both men ran as candidates on the Democratic ballot. Crittenden had served one term previously.

We Pledge Our Lives, Fortune, Sacred Honor

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

"And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

It had been a fine day in Philadelphia, only 76 in midafternoon. Now, in early evening, the breeze through Chestnut Street was even cooler. Very pleasant weather for July.

In the steepled brick statehouse, however, the atmosphere was not so pleasant. The Continental Congress was in night session. All day, in fact through several days, the delegates had been working over a document entitled "A Declaration of Independence."

They were far from agreement. They harbored different feelings about the contents of the paper, the timing, the phraseology, and especially about the wisdom of the great political step it proclaimed.

John Adams, studying faces in the flickering candlelight, sensed "regret . . . and several others with many doubts."

And portly Ben Franklin, mellow with his 70 years, the oldest man present, had observed to a friend:

"The novelty of the thing (the establishment of a central government and the forming of alliances, etc.) deters some; the doubt of success others; the vain hope of reconciliation many."

Above all, every man in the chamber clearly understood the penalties and dangers in this document.

"Our lives . . . our fortunes . . . our sacred honor."

Only the night before, on July 3, (and in words that recall a statesman of a later era), Adams had written his wife:

"I am well aware of the toil and blood and treasure it will cost us to maintain this declaration, and support these states."

Some rich men were present that night, men such as Charles Carroll of Maryland, and John Hancock of Massachusetts, and Robert Morris of Pennsylvania, men with great fortunes at stake. Would they sign?

In a different way, a man like Sam Huntington of Connecticut stood to lose even more. He had been a poor man, a barrel-maker, studying law at night. Now, years later, he was a justice of the Supreme Court and a member of the Governor's Council—but both by appointment from George III of England. Would he sign away these crowning rewards?

Could Francis Lewis of New York, in a flash of clairvoyance, see his home burning, and hear the cries of his wife in prison? Could John Hart of New Jersey look into the future and see his wasted farm and damaged mills? Could Richard Stockton, a lawyer loaded with honors now, suspect that soon he would be dying in total poverty from the hardships of war?

"Our lives . . . our fortunes . . . our sacred honor."

Benjamin Harrison, of Virginia, cracked a macabre joke about hanging, that night, in talking with Elbridge Gerry, of Massachusetts. "I am fat and will die of a broken neck, instantly," he said. "But you, being thin and slight, will twist and strangle a long time."

To others, it was an hour of pure heartbreak, one of the cruelest they would ever know.

It brought sadness to Thomas

June Smashed 3 Heat Records

Along with the first day of summer, June also brought winter chills, heat waves which broke records, severe rain and wind storms and tornado warnings.

A chilly 40-degree wave settled on the Pontiac area June 1 and a 30 degree drop in temperatures were experienced in a 24 hour period.

This year's low for June 1 was only one degree above an 83-year record low of 39 in 1910. Last year a low of 50 kicked off the first day of June.

After several days of rather cool and rainy weather the first part of June the temperature finally reached a high of 90 degrees on the 11th and remained in the 90's to snap three heat records.

On the 12th, a 62-year old heat record was broken when a blistering 95 degrees topped the old record in 180 when the mercury climbed to 94.

On the 13th, a 1920 record of 90 degrees was broken when the thermometer rose to 96 and on the 14th for the third consecutive day a sizzling sun shoved the mercury to a record-breaking 94 degrees.

The previous record for June 14 was 93 established in 1952.

Severe thunderstorms, on the 17th which dumped nearly four inches of rain on the Pontiac area, brought at least temporary relief from a week-long heat wave, but instead of a cool night's rest many residents faced new hardships with hundreds of basements flooded.

Streets became rivers, power lines fell and telephones were knocked out by torrential rains and lightning.

Pontiac firemen battled a three-hour blaze at Pontiac Motor Division's main plant when seeping rain started a chemical fire. The water mixed with sulphide, firemen said, causing spontaneous combustion.

A sudden rain and wind storm, with high winds up to 65 m.p.h., tore into Pontiac on the 24th, cracking large trees and causing excessive damage throughout Oakland County. One hundred trees were reported down in the city and one Michigan death was attributed to the storm.

Tornado warnings were posted the 26th for many parts of the state but all that struck Pontiac was a flash electrical storm with heavy rains.

The weather statistics show that the average high temperature for the month of June was 80.3 degrees and the average low was 59.6.

The total precipitation was 4.67 for the month of June, a little over last year's total which was 4.13.

House Restricts Aid to Schools

Proviso Denying Funds to Segregated Areas Is Attached to Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to provide federal help to the states for building schools today faced a fate made doubly uncertain by the attachment of a provision to deny money to areas which continue to segregate children by race.

The House wrote in that provision late yesterday by a 164-116 vote on which members were not recorded by name. The action could be reversed on a formal roll call before the House acts finally on the measure, urged by the Eisenhower administration.

With Congress in recess today because of the holiday, the House will resume consideration of amendments tomorrow. Final action is expected late in the day or Friday.

The House agreed yesterday on a five - year program of federal grants to states at a rate of 300 million dollars in each year—1½ billions in all.

The administration had proposed 1¼ billion dollars. A rival Democratic - sponsored plan, approved by the House Education Committee last year and hanging fire ever since, called for 400 million dollars in each of the next four years, for a total of $1,600,000,000.

Recommends Immediate Building Program

Judge Moore Tells of Children's Home Crowding

Possible temporary and long range solutions to the overcrowding problems at the Oakland County Children's Home have been advanced by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

In a letter to the County Board of Supervisors, Judge Moore has outlined the past history and problems of the Home, and revealed some of the conditions concerning Home officials.

Judge Moore pointed out the Home was built in 1928 and intended to care for 80 children. At present, he said, the main building houses 137 children, with 20 boys at Camp Oakland and 36 smaller children in two cottages.

Children at the home generally are wards of Juvenile Court, Judge Moore said, and cannot be placed in boarding homes; other institutions, or on probation.

In addition, he said, the home should be able to care for additional children on an emergency basis, since it is a receiving center for children needing shelter.

On some weekends, he said, "We are confronted with 15 or 20 children who are brought to the home at all hours of the night and must be housed and sheltered and cared for until some other disposition can be made."

With 137 children in the home, Judge Moore pointed out, there are 57 boys over the home's normal capacity. They are now being housed by doubling room capacity in every possible instance, using roll-away beds in halls and dining rooms, and placing mattresses on the floor.

Crowding has forced conversion of recreational facilities to dormitories and classrooms, the letter continues. As a result, there is no room in the home for anything except sleeping, eating in shifts, and classroom activity.

A temporary solution, Judge Moore believes, must include living quarters for at least 35 boys and adequate additional staff to care for and supervise them.

At a recent Board of Supervisors meeting, supervisors heard Mrs. Helen Roberts, chairman of the Juvenile Committee, recommend that the Contagious Hospital be used for this purpose.

Supervisors received without action a report suggesting the merger of the Contagious Hospital with the Tuberculosis Sanatorium, freeing the hospital building for "other county uses."

A permanent solution to the problem, Judge Moore continued, must allow for an expected increase in the home's needs. He estimates that in five to 10 years facilities will be needed for the care of 350 children.

New buildings must be provided, the Judge said, for sleeping facilities for 128 children. It "would seem wise," he said, to provide additional cottages and some dormitory space for this purpose.

Acute problem cases, the Judge advocates, should be housed in other cottages similar to those now in use. He urges a cottage capable of handling 15 incorrigible children and 15 mentally disturbed cases.

Recreation and activities rooms now in use as classrooms should be converted to their original uses, the Judge believes, and nine new classrooms and additional vocational schoolrooms should be built.

Other added facilities should include an all-purpose room, staff personnel and psychiatrists' consulting and clinical service rooms, and kitchen and dining space, he said.

Urging "an immediate building program" after a survey of the home's needs, Judge Moore asked to present the problem to a committee of the Board of Supervisors "at their earliest convenience."

Production High at Truck, Coach

53,296 Units Completed During First 6 Months of 1956

Figures released today for the first six months of production show the GMC Truck & Coach Division ahead of last year's pace.

The division produced 53,296 units for the first six months of 1956, compared to 51,858 in 1955.

The auto industry's "Big Three" of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler built 3,082,129 cars and 456,103 trucks during the first half of 1956.

This compares with 4,030,460 cars and 498,041 trucks for the same period in 1955.

During the half year, General Motors produced 1,805,119 cars and 271,382 trucks, compared to 2,188,314 cars and 270,318 trucks in the first six months of 1955.

In the local divisions, Pontiac produced 22,929 cars in June, compared to 44,581 in June 1955. GMC Truck & Coach produced 7,398, compared to 11,691 in June, 1955.

The six month figures place Pontiac at 191,582, compared to 312,310 for the first six months of 1955.

Move to Restrict Levels of Houses Gets Short Shrift

Commissioner John A. Dugan (District 5) sparked a suggestion before his fellow commissioners last night that builders in the city should be prohibited from building homes below the level of streets.

The idea arose after Charles Lauinger, 1519 Joslyn Ave., appeared before the City Commission declaring a sidewalk now under construction on Joslyn necessitated building his driveway up to pass over the walk.

Dugan's plan prompted City Manager W. K. Willman to comment, "You're getting into an area where we don't belong."

Although City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn admitted there was "a difficult problem on Joslyn," he added the grade of the sidewalk was necessary in compliance with the level of the road.

"I don't think you can legally limit a man as to what level he wishes to put his home," Willman told Dugan.

Lie Test Absolves Burglary Suspect

Harry Dickerson, 37, of 241 W. Wilson St., was absolved of all blame in connection with a recent city breakin after passing a lie detector test yesterday, Pontiac police announced today.

The man was arrested as a suspect June 29 and had been held in Oakland County Jail until cleared Tuesday.

He had been under investigation following a breakin of a Harrison Street home in which a cigarette lighter and stand were stolen, detectives reported.

Plane Sabotage Bill Goes to President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any sabotage of an airplane which results in passenger fatalities would be punishable by death under a bill passed by the Senate and sent to the White House yesterday.

The measure applies to planes and buses used in interstate or foreign commerce. Existing laws cover sabotage of trains.

The bill stemmed from the explosion, blamed on a homemade bomb, of an airliner over Colorado last Nov. 1. Forty-four lives were lost.

The Real Meaning of 'Glorious Fourth'

Heyward, of South Carolina, whose family was divided in loyalty between the King and the colonies.

It brought pain to the devoutly religious. "Upon the Declaration of Independency," said the Rev. Jacob Diche, "I called my vestry and solemnly put the question to them whether they thought it best for the peace and welfare of the congregation to shut up the churches, or to continue the service without using prayers for the royal family."

It brought a fearful decision to those, like the Quakers and Moravians, who would not shed blood, yet loved their country.

HE WAS EDITED

As he listened, the thoughts of Thomas Jefferson were in a different vein. He had written this document. ("You are ten times a better writer than I," John Adams had said, pressing the task on him.)

* * *

And now, Jefferson was undergoing the exquisite torture of literary vivisection. The Congress had spent the day cutting, rewriting and changing the declaration. Whole passages had been excised, and in Jefferson's view, some of his best prose jettisoned. In short, he was being edited.

* * *

To take his mind off the proceedings, the tall Virginian scribbled notes. When a deep cut was made in his manuscript, he wrote:

"The clause reprobating enslaving the inhabitants of Africa was struck out in complaisance to South Carolina and Georgia . . . our northern brethren also, I believe, felt a little tender under those censures; for tho' their people have very few slaves themselves, yet they had been pretty considerable carriers of them to others."

He thought of the effects of the declaration on foreign policy, anticipating that—

"France and Spain had reason to be jealous of that rising power which would one day certainly strip them of all their American possessions."

* * *

Then his restless mind took another tack. He began listing the cleavages and divisions in the colonies, the factors that worked against a unanimous signing of the declaration. He wrote—

"The people of the middle colonies, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, the Jersies and New York were not yet ripe for bidding adieu to the British connection."

Jefferson could have listed more.

Yet, little doubt remained that the declaration would be signed, and even unanimously. Even then, Caeser Rodney, of Delaware, was spurring his horse through a storm, riding 80 miles to vote for independence and break the tie in that state's delegation. In the interests of a solid front, South Carolina would swing into line.

Jefferson himself had written to a friend—

"There is not in the British Empire a man who more cordially loves union with Great Britain than I do. But by the God that made me, I will cease to exist before I yield to a connection on such terms as the British Parliament propose—and in this I think I speak the sentiments of America."

Now, in the State House, a final reading of the declaration began.

"When in the course of human events . . ."

High in the steeple, they say, an old bellman had been waiting all day to ring a bell signalling the signing of the Declaration of Independence. He had instructed a small boy to run to him with the news. Suddenly now, the boy appeared, "Ring! ring!" he shouted. The old man pulled the rope of a great bell on which was inscribed:

"Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof."

Pontiac City Affairs

Public Improvement Issues Fill Commission Agenda

The City Commission last night approved the reappointment of Karl A. Walter to a five-year term on the Pontiac Housing Commission.

Most of the other items included on a relatively routine 24-point agenda involved public improvement projects in the city.

Confirmations and payments were established for 12 projects while hearings were conducted on three other jobs.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles (District 4) was granted a week's postponement of a hearing on a special assessment roll for a sidewalk and related work on the north side of Virginia Street from the Pontiac, Oxford, and Northern Railroad to Saginaw Street.

A low bid of $6,845.60 from the H. R. Nicholie Agency for one-year coverage of city-owned vehicles for public liability and property damage was accepted by the commissioners.

Michigan Mutual Liability Company's low bid of $2,000.72 for workmen's compensation for city waste collection employes also was approved by the commission.

A resolution commending the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, the local Navy Recruiting Service, and the Pontiac Paint and Varnish Co. for aiding in painting the home of Mrs. Ella Wilcox, 38 N. Shirley Ave., was adopted.

The commission granted Detroit Edison Co. a quit claim deed for a tract of land in exchange for nearly five acres needed to straighten out the boundary line of Murphy Park.

Read by title last evening was a proposed ordinance to amend the city's zoning ordinance setting regulations as to hospitals and schools in all city districts. A public hearing will be held on the ordinance July 24.

Ten lots in the Robert Herndon Pontiac Apartment Subdivision were approved sold while a resolution was passed authorizing the sale of city-owned lot 64 in the Homestead Park Subdivision.

A deed for the property at 48 S. Johnson Ave., to be bought by Pontiac General Hospital, was accepted by the commissioners.

Four Days Left for Registration, City Clerk Says

There are only four more days to register to vote for the coming Aug. 7 primary.

In order to aid as many non-registered voters as possible, the City Clerk's office in the City Hall will remain open until 8 p. m. tomorrow and Friday. The office will also open Saturday from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

On the last day to register, Monday, July 9, the office will open from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m.

In addition to the clerk's office, registrations are being taken in both city banks (only during regular banking hours), the Oakland County CIO Council office, 21½ E. Lawrence, three local union halls, and at 141 W. South Boulevard.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said her earlier hopes of 40,000 registered voters by the primary, were diminishing. At presnt there are approximately 37,500 registered voters in Pontiac.

About $25 in a billfold plus $1 in change in a pair of trousers were reported stolen yesterday from a house trailer at 648½ Franklin Rd., Pontiac police said.

The victim, John Laster of that address, said the empty billfold was found on the trailer floor and the trousers discarded outside the trailer.

Muskegon Lion Injures Girl, 2½

Grabs Child's Head in Jaws; Father Frees Belding Tot

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A chained lion grabbed a small girl by the head with its jaws yesterday and held the child in a vice-like grip until her father freed her by forcing the animal's mouth open.

* * *

The lion, trained for night club acts, turned on the girl when she ventured within reach in the owner's back yard.

The girl, Beatrice Ann Harris, 2½, of Belding, was in critical condition from head and chest wounds.

Police said Beatrice Ann apparently slipped through a back gate of a fenced enclosure confining the chained animal, along with a lion cub.

The grown lion seized Beatrice Ann's head in its jaws. Her father Gerald Harris rescued her by rushing to the 270-pound beast and ramming his knee and arm between its jaws.

Beatrice Ann first was taken to Hackley Hospital here. Then she was rushed the 40 miles by car with police escort to Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids.

At the hospital it was said she suffered several depressed skull fractures and a chest wound. Her father was hospitalized for shock.

The Harris family had been visiting friends here.

Deputy Sheriff Joseph Sugarbaker of Muskegon County said the lion's owner George DeNio, a night club man, described the animal as "not mean."

Both the lion and the cub lion were ordered confined to traveling boxes pending further investigation.

Best Way to Kill Roaches and Ants
Best Way to Kill Roaches and Ants

COCKROACHES and ants are the most difficult household pests to control. Now you can kill these pests with Johnston's Super No-Roach.

No-Roach is a white viscous substance which you apply with a brush. Within minutes it dries to form a colorless, odorless contact insecticide, that stays effective for months.

Cockroaches

Apply No-Roach to cupboard walls, baseboards, near sink and cabinets, on pipes, and wherever you see cockroaches.

Ants

Brush No-Roach around table legs and counter tops, across window sills and door sills, and across ant trails. Ants will not cross the coating. Pour a few drops into ant hills.

No-Roach is also effective against resistant roaches, spiders, silverfish, waterbugs, bed bugs and other crawling insects.

Common Sense Way

Remember, when you use Johnston's Super No-Roach, you don't have to move dishes, pots and pans, or breathe harmful vapors, as you must with contaminating sprays. Apply No-Roach just where you want it, the invisible coating stays effective for months.

Election Ruling Scheduled for Change by Kavanagh

A recent opinion by Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh that township clerks, supervisors and treasurers will be ineligible to act as election inspectors in the coming general elections will be reversed, the Michigan Institute of Local Government said Saturday.

But according to Oakland County Clerk Lynn D. Allen, the reversal will futher complicate an already confused situation.

The original opinion came as a surprise to township officials, who have been acting as election inspectors for years. By statute, clerks, supervisors and treasurers are named to the township boards of election commissioners and canvassers.

According to D. Hale Brake, chairman of the Michigan Institute of Local Government, Kavanagh's original opinion was based on the misconception that the three named officials would themselves be running for re-election this fall.

Kavanagh promised the reversal, Brake said, when informed that township offices won't be included on the ballot. The ban will still apply, he said, where township issues sponsored by the township government are included.

* * *

Allen said yesterday he is waiting for confirmation of Brake's letter from Kavanagh's office before notifying township officers of the change.

* * *

"We hope it will come through quickly," he said, "because it's getting too close to the time when the township boards of commissioners appoint the election inspectors for this year."

Bob Considine Says:

Jersey Profits Via Courteous Toll-Takers

NEW YORK (INS)—A big manufactures who doesn't have to be named chose New Jersey as the site of a new plant not long ago, though several other states had made him flattering overtures.

* * *

The decision came as something of a surprise to New Jersey, and after recovering from shock a state official asked why the man had selected as he did.

"Because the fellows in those toll booths on the Garden State Parkway are always so darn nice to me when I drive through—you know, 'Good morning,' 'Good 'afternoon,' 'Goodnight,' and 'Thank you.' "he said. And the state is consequently that much richer.

When the beautiful parkway opened it possessed a feature which some of its too-takers still do not know about. Their booths are wired for sound. Their manner with the passing motorist can be tuned in on at headquarters.

* * *

As one result, they are the most unfailingly courteous toll-takers we've ever been frisked by. They should give lessons to every other toll-taker in the land.

Most toll-takers give a motorist the impression they want Him to do the thanking after paying.

THE POLITICAL SEASON

If these two letters do not officially open the political season, so far as letters to the editor are concerned, we'll just have to wait for something better to come along.

"I've been a Democrat for 50 years but am no New Dealer. I vote as I please. My man is Nixon. The only reason Ike got my vote the last time was because Nixon was on the ticket.

"Every Democrat I know feels the same way. We wouldn't vote for Sherman Adams for dog catcher. But if Nixon doesn't run, we'll go fishing."

And:

The chairlady of the Greater New York Unit, Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club, opines, "It is an accepted fact that the 1952 Taft-MacArthur Republicans are very much disappointed in President Eisenhower.

"If a poll was taken at meetings of conservative Republicans and they were asked 'who here supports Eisenhower?' the answer would be 'non'; but Sen. Knowland does!

"Hence my word to members of the 'Knowland for President IF Committee. When a patriotic group stages a rally to demonstrate that the majority of the people are for constitutional government, one of two names is a must on the program-Sen. McCarthy or Sen. Jenner. Sen. Knowland is conspicuous by his absence.

"I am inclined to believe that the only way you will be successful in having Mr. Knowland supported by the conservatives is if Sens. Jenner and McCarthy endorse him."

* * *

And so it will go until the morning of Nov. 7.

READING IN JAPAN

Chronic TV addicts and fanciers of movie theater popcorn will be jarred, perhaps, to learn that the average Japanese adult buys 80 books a year, including periodicals.

That comes to 500,000,000 books plus, valued at $600,000,000, sold annually in Japan. More than 80 per cent of the Japanese public would be classed as bookworms in this country.

Favorite American authors: Hemingway, Faulkner and Steinbeck.

We never play a round of golf—the way we play—without thinking of the irate New Yorker who stormed into Scribner's and demanded his money back on Hemingway's "Across the River and Into the Trees."

Thought it was a golf book.

Extra Money Congress Appropriated for AF Must Be Spent, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N. Mex.,) charged yesterday that the Pentagon will be flouting a mandate of Congress if it fails to spend the extra 900 million dollars voted for airpower.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson disclosed in testimony yesterday that there is no current plan to spend the money. Congress voted the extra funds over President Eisenhower's recommendations and against White House objections.

The President yesterday signed the military appropriations bill which provides more than 34 and one-half billion dollars for the armed services including the additional money for long-range bombers.

The secretary said that if Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff, "changes his mind when he comes back from Russia" and thinks production of B-52 long-range bombers should again be increased, "I shall certainly listen."

But Wilson said the Air Force position now is that 20 of the big bombers a month is enough.

CONTRARY TO CONGRESS

Chavez, chairman of the Senate Military Appropriations Subcommittee and sponsor of the 900 million dollar Air Force increase, said Wilson's postion was "contrary to the will of Congress."

The New Mexico Senator declared: "Congress intended the money to be spent in this fiscal year. According to my way of thinking, it was a mandate."

But Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, Mass., ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, defended Wilson's position.

Saltonstall said spend of nearly one billion dollars "is going to take a little thinking I believe he (Wilson) is saying all that he can about it at this time."

The secretary, under questioning all day Monday, disputed the contention of Symington that this country needs more ocean-spanning B-52's because of the danger it will lose overseas base from which B-47's could strike at Russia.

Wilson said he did not believe "we will lose any bases." He declared that "If we do, we will lose something even more important—allies."

The secretary also made it clear he does not subscribe to the "fortress America" view of former President Herbert Hoover.

Wilson said: "If we get forced back to the 'fortress America' idea, it is a pretty dangerous thing for our country."

The secretary emphasized throughout his answers that this country is ahead of Russia in airpower and will remain ahead. Symington accused him of failing to give the "entire story" by omitting reference to the Russian "Bear", a turbo-prop bomber of exceedingly long range.

* * *

Symington said he mentioned the Soviet "Bear" because he didn't want the American people to get the impression "we are sitting quite as pretty as you indicated."

Vote Increase in Vets' Pay

Committee Approval Given to Hike Money to Disabled Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Veterans Affairs Committee has voted for a general 10 per cent or more increase in payments to some two million veterans disabled by their military service.

Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex) said Democratic leaders want the House to act on the bill, a companion to the controversial nonservice-connected pension bill passed last week.

But it remained uncertain whether either measure has a chance of passing the Senate to become law this late in the congressional session.

The bill previously passed and sent along to the Senate would allow veterans of World War I pensions of $90 a month when they reached 65 if their income drops below fixed limits.

The bill for the disabled would add an estimated 172 million dollars the first year to present compensation payments, totaling about $1,800,000,000 a year. The committee reportedly approved the bill by unanimous vote.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1956

July 4, 1776, Saw Us Escape From Trap

That great event in world history that took place 180 years ago today was not a spontaneous action.

It was under consideration for years, and the principal undercover project in the colonies for several months.

★ ★ ★

In the war in which Britain won Canada from the French a few years before it had accumulated an enormous debt. This King George III sought to wipe out largely by taxation on his colonies.

He had a dual purpose — to liquidate the debt, and to keep his provinces so tax ridden that they never could accumulate the strength to fight for their independence. Our colonies sensed both objectives.

America's resources looked tempting, and he sought to bleed them by every means. As the oppression increased the independence agitation became intense. The colonies were mere vassals of the crown.

★ ★ ★

Hearing the rumblings, he maintained a big English army here, on the flimsy excuse of "protecting the colonists from the Indians," but really in anticipation of an uprising.

The Stamp Act, tax on tea and other oppressions piled up until on the night of April 18, 1775, Paul Revere made his ride.

He roused the Boston vicinity to action. The next day 70 embattled farmers at Lexington "fired the shot heard 'round the world," the British red coats killing seven of them.

The Continental Army was raised, entirely by volunteers, the king sent more red coats, and George Washington was appointed Commander in Chief on June 15, 1775.

★ ★ ★

Always facing the penalty of death they knew the king would impose if the revolution failed, the colonies had many people who failed to support it.

But early in 1776 Massachusetts, New Hampshire and South Carolina set up independent colonial governments and on May 15 the colonial legislative powers advised the other ten colonies to follow their example.

After weeks of debate, the Declaration of Independence was completed on July 2, and all the delegates signed it on July 4, except those from New York who did not affix their signatures until five days later. It was made official Aug. 2.

The masterful wording of the declaration individualizes King George III, making the specific charges against him and not the British government.

Eighteen of the paragraphs recounting the charges start with the pronoun "He," and the other ten are merely supplemental to them.

★ ★ ★

Not many years after the English defeat in the Revolution, the king went insane, and historians record that the loss of his most valued colonies had much to do with it.

However, he lived to see the United States defeat his country a second time, that being in the War of 1812. He died in 1819. In the latter years of his reign he was supplemented by a regent.

There are in this world today colonies purposely brought by taxation and otherwise by their mother country to the lowest standard of living, so they are too feeble to start an uprising—and purposely kept that way.

★ ★ ★

Our forefathers in their foresight and stamina refused to be caught in such a trap, and laid well the foundation for the greatest nation in the world's history.

Oakland County Now in the Tornado Belt

Repeated occurrence of severe windstorms are convincing evidence that Southern Michigan now is, indeed, in the tornado belt. That being true, what can an individual do about it?

★ ★ ★

Worry and fear will not help. Thus far, man knows no way to fend the storms off, nor to steer them onto a different course.

They will come occasionally.

The thing to do is to plan a course of action and be prepared to execute it should the need arise. Beyond that, all that is necessary is to be watchful when conditions indicate that a tornado may be forming.

Decide in advance what spot in your home offers the best protection, and see to it that you are always able to get to it quickly and without moving half a dozen boxes or a stack of screens.

If you are away from home when an alert is reported, look about and decide on safest refuge, or your wisest course of action. In other words, if possible do not wait until you see a funnel in the sky before you decide what you are going to do.

Beyond that, common sense dictates reasonable watchfulness when an alert has been sounded, or when conditions are right for a tornado. It also suggests that you should not make any unnecessary trips during an alert. When trees and live wires begin to fall, a highway can be even more dangerous than usual.

Suggested That National Jamboree Visit This Area

Vacation: When more people are killed than in any other period of their lives.

Oakland County is doing such a good job at entertaining the national meeting of the Girl Scouts that we're convinced we could do as well with a National Boy Scout Jamboree. This is held every four years. The last was in 1953 on a ranch near Los Angeles, and was attended by over 50,000 scouts. It will be held at Valley Forge next year.

The site always is picked out three or four years in advance. When Los Angeles was selected the Pontiac area was among over 50 applicants. At that time Kent Lake Park was the proposed site, and the national committee gave it second place. With the enormous crowds now coming there every day, perhaps it would not be available for the national jamboree a few years hence. But the Pontiac area has other locations. Anyway, we should be thinking about it, and be prepared to have our say when the matter comes up.

Sam Dawson Claims:

Steel Strike Presents a Dilemma

By SAM DAWSON

FONTANA, Calif. (AP)—Which will hurt businessmen and consumers more: Stoppage in the flow of steel in the present strike or the chance that a new onset of creeping inflation may be the aftermath?

* * *

Unemployment could spread across the nation from a shortage in the supply of steel if the strike is a long one. The cost of living is already headed for a new record high, pushed on by the belated effects of the Korean War inflation. Some fear that another wage-price hike could add to the inflationary forces.

At this West Coast steel making center the question is academic at the moment. Kaiser Steel's contract with the United Steel Workers of America at its plant here—now being increased to a 1½ million tons a year capacity—has two more months to run.

* * *

Even so, Kaiser officials are warily watching for signs of a sympathy strike that could close this integrated plant with its three blast furnaces, nine open hearth furnaces and nine rolling mills. They fully expect that the strike which has idled 90 per cent of the nation's steel making capacity will end with higher wages and higher steel prices.

They foresee that, as in the past their management-labor talks, now just starting, will end in a new contract along the lines finally to be worked out by the big companies of the east—especially U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic. Western mills of Big Steel and Bethlehem are strike-idled.

Many steel officials say a price hike is due anyway to meet expansion needs.

* * *

The long term effects of a wage-price hike on the general public can be explained this way:

Mother doesn't send junior to the store for a pound of steel, and won't care much at first what's its price. But in time father will buy a new car, the family will get new kitchen gadgets or replace an old toaster.

If father is a manufacturer who uses steel, and the majority do in one form or another, he'll feel quickly the effect of any price hike on the total costs of his operations.

* * *

Many makers of capital goods—where steel accounts for from one-fifth to three-fourths of total manufacturing costs—should be able to pass along higher steel prices. They also may add in some of their own higher operating costs when setting their new prices this fall. Demand for their products—construction equipment, railroad cars, oil field pipe, mining machinery—is high and supplies tight.

* * *

Many makers of consumer goods — farm machinery, autos, home appliances—would like to pass on all or part of higher steel prices if they can.

But often their markets are soft and their stocks high. The consumer might balk. In the present highly competitive market, someone — manufacturer or dealers—may have to absorb some or most of any steel price hike.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul;—I Peter 2:11.

Lust is a captivity of the reason and an enraging of the passions. It hinders business and distracts counsel. It sins against the body and weakens the soul. — Jeremy Taylor.

Polish Reds May Call Off New Policy of Liberalism

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Polish Red leaders now face an urgent decision whether to curb some of the new freedom of expression that has arisen in the postwar anti-Stalin era.

* * *

The anti-Communist riots in Poland are attributed to various factors:

The intense hatred of Poles for Soviet Russia and its puppets in Poland; memories of the Katyn Forest episode when the Russians massacred approximately 15,000 Poles and sought to blame it on the Nazis; and the suffering of workers caught in a squeeze of low wages and high prices.

Poland has been the most restive of all the Soviet satellite lands conquered in the war. For years underground anti-Red guerrillas fought the Soviets.

* * *

Stalin sought to conquer Poland from the outset of the war. He found a ready conspirator in Hitler in the 1939 Soviet-German pact which divided Poland.

After the Nazi attack on the Russians and Hitler's defeat, the Soviet dictator kept half of Poland and pushed the Western frontiers of the nation far into territory that had been German in population for many centuries.

NEEDS RED SUPPORT

Poland would have little chance of keeping the present Western frontiers along the Oder and Neisse Rivers without Soviet support.

* * *

When the current Kremlin leaders began debunking Stalin some satellite leaders seemed to be shy in joining in. But Polish Reds who have their own version of nationalist Communism were quickly outspoken in denouncing not only Stalin but many aspects of Stalinism.

Some Polish Reds closely associated with Moscow were dismissed from their posts quickly. Amnesties for political prisoners were declared.

One of the released men was Wladyslaw Gomulka, former Communist Party secretary general who was expelled from the Central Committee and the party itself in 1949 for alleged Titoism, and who was arrested in 1951.

* * *

Gomulka has been called by some the "most popular man in Poland" because of his high nationalism and his opposition to aping the agricultural collectivization of the Soviets. Now that the riots have occurred he is being mentioned as one who might get a new high post.

Roman Catholic churches still are crowded in Poland despite persecution of clergymen. Polish peasants still resist being herded into collective farms.

* * *

The riots show what might happen to Red leaders if they lost Moscow support.

But the Polish Reds do not intend to lose that support, and now may crack down hard again on the "liberalism" that has shown itself in the press and public assemblies.

The ties linking Warsaw with Moscow still are strong economically — and militarily. A former Soviet field marshal, K. K. Rokossovsky, still commands all the defense forces in Poland.

Voice of the People

'Will State Gasoline Tax Decrease Federal Aid?'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

On the front page of the paper was an article concerning the tax we here in Michigan pay on our gasoline, and on the other side of the page, the article on the government's road tax and source of revenue.

Last year we received a one-cent increase on gasoline tax to pay for road building in Michigan. Now the government has done the same thing by increasing the tax one cent. The revenue raised by this will be $14,800,000 over the next few years. As our state will get its share of this, I think we should now drop the one-cent tax we added last year and give the drivers of this state, the tourists and all consumers of gasoline a fair shake.

If we do not drop the tax, what effect will this have when the government starts giving each state their share of the road tax which is allotted for road building? Will they say the people of Michigan get less because they are already collecting one cent for road building or will the one cent tax be channeled to some other bureau to be spent?

As of right now, we here in Michigan pay about the most for a gallon of gasoline of any place in the nation. I will be very interested in seeing what develops in this situation over the coming months.

Money Collected Used as Intended

To those who gave to the little girls who took up a collection some time ago so they could help buy a monument for a recent death in the family and who gave with no questions asked:

This was unknown to the parents until afterwards, and now we don't know who gave or the amount. We would like the ones who gave to know that the money was used for the marker in behalf of the little girls and their wonderful neighbors.

Negro Girl Tells Job Limitations

I am a 17-year-old Negro girl attending Pontiac High. I also plan to attend college, and I decided to attempt to secure a job to help. But downtown Pontiac will not hire me. I have been in practically every store and the theaters.

My applications are accepted but the only job that is available is washing dishes or being a maid in a store. In two stores I see high school girls, that I attend school with, behind the counters. There are no other positions available except running the elevator in a few stores.

Sure, we buy merchandise, ride on buses, yet you refuse a Negro a decent job. Many feel the same way I do. I don't hold any malice although they won't hire me. There is only one difference between you and me . . . the coloring of my skin.

I may be the loser now, but I am not worried, because I have faith in One that is powerful and richer than all of your businesses put together, the Almighty God.

Smiles

In the really happy home, a pair never beats a full house.

Most accidents occur in the home, possibly because so many men get home late from the office.

* * *

It's a big decision—always saying what you mean, or keeping your friends.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Permanent Color of Eyes Apparent After 5 Weeks

A child in our neighborhood has beautiful blue eyes. Both of her parents have brown eyes, dark brown. The child's paternal grandparents both have dark brown eyes, but her maternal grandmother has light blue eyes, the maternal grandfather dark brown eyes. They say the great grandmother had blue eyes.

* * *

Now we think these people are . . . but some of our neighbors refuse to accept . . . (Mrs. C. W.)

Some of your neighbors will bear watching, Ma'am.

All eyes are "blue" at birth. That is, the amount of pigment in the iris, the ring around the pupil, is small. Permanent coloration of the eyes becomes apparent only after four or five weeks.

Sometimes this pigment is lacking altogether and the eyes have a pinkish hue — the color of the choroid or vascular (blood vessels) coat of the eyeball showing through—albinos.

The pigment which determnies the color of the eyes is always brown. There is never blue or black pigment in the iris. When the minimum of pigment is present we call the eyes "blue." When a maximum of pigment is present we call the eyes "black." Varying quantities of pigment make the eyes look gray, green, hazel, brown, etc.

* * *

Galton and other authorities on genetics (heredity) found that "when both parents are brown-eyed, either all the children will be brown-eyed; or, if there is any variation from this rule, 75 per cent will be brown-eyed and 25 per cent will be blue-eyed."

It is a statistical fact that one person in every twenty whose parents were brown-eyed has blue eyes.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Offers Plan for Oldsters' Care

Naomi brings out an excellent idea for saving the taxpayer's money and for keeping grandparents far more happy. Study it carefully. Millions of houses in towns and villages are occupied by just one person when they could easily house two or three more.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-303: Naomi N., aged 58, a vivacious widow, living in a village of 800 population.

"Dr. Crane, I have an income of about $80 per month and a little frame house," she began.

* * *

"I am able bodied, but there is no place for me to get a job in our small town.

"So I feel frustrated. I need more income to live on, for when I pay taxes, heat my home and try to live—all on that $80 per month, I run short

"Why couldn't able-bodied widows like myself rent a room to some elderly person? That would give me more income and take such old folks off the taxpayer's back in our state institutions.

"As long as such an elderly person were able to hobble around I'd be glad to feed him or her and give them a room for $60 per month.

"If they ever became totally bedfast and thus demanded constant supervision, then why not let us caretakers have $90 or $100 per month, as from their regular Social Security check?"

HORSE SENSE

What do you readers think of Naomi's suggestion? Most of our small towns have plenty of private homes wherein a widow lives alone.

* * *

And many of these widows are pinching pennies to make ends meet, exactly as Naomi outlines.

Just one roomer in the house would relieve such a widow of much of the financial load. And the two older folks would be a lot of company for one another.

A widow of 60 may thus be very active and alert so she could easily look after one or even two boarders and roomers who could still hobble around.

MENTAL TONICS

Such a cottage arrangement has other advantages, too, for there is more mental stimulation when elderly folks retain their independence and can hobble to the village church, as well as the post office.

They get more physical exercise in so doing, but the mental tonic is as effective as the physical.

* * *

So their wits remain more alert. This mental tonic actually steps up the blood supply to the brain so it is better nourished. Thus, they have fewer foggy spells wherein they become woozy mentally.

Space limitations will not permit a fuller outline of the advantages in utilizing the millions of small homes in towns and villages where an extra income of $50 to $100 monthly would be a boon.

And we taxpayers would likewise get some relief. For at present, we must finance the costly erection of large new hospitals and state institutions, as well as then help finance the feeding, nursing care and heat, water and light bills, too.

USE EXISTING HOMES

Under Naomi's plan, we'd not need to spend so much money for state buildings, since we'd be utilizing the wasted rooms in these cottages now occupied by widows in our small towns.

And the Social Security income of the aged would usually pay all of the costs, at least until such persons became chronically bedfast.

When I get old and senile, if I have no relatives to look after me, I'd personally rather live in a little town as a roomer and boarder in a private home like Naomi's than be in in a state rest home or mental institution.

And this is no criticism of the latter, for they render an admirable service to our people, but they are already jammed full of too many patients, so we must use horse sense and solve this problem more economically.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Witness Tells of Invasion Plans

FBI Agent Says U.S. Reds Told to Prepare in '48 for Soviet Attack

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — A disbarment case witness testified yesterday that U.S. Communists in 1948 got orders to pave the way for a Soviet invasion of the United States.

* * *

The witness— a former FBI undercover agent — said also that he joined with Communists in discussing the "elimination" of circuit Court Judge George E. Holt of Dade County as troublesome to the party in Miami.

Joseph D. Mazzei of Pittsburgh said that he was sent to Miami in 1948 "by the city of Pittsburgh Communist party to assist in coordination of plans here, because this is a seaport. When I arrived, I learned the local cell was much disturbed because a judge named Holt was making trouble for them. There was talk of doing something about it — eliminating him . . ."

Holt received national publicity in 1948 when he set bond at $100,000 for Mrs. Leah Adler Benemobsky, who refused to say whether she was a Communist. Later he sentenced 35 persons for contempt in a probe of Communist activities.

* * *

Holt told newsmen yesterday he received a telegram June 16, 1955 —a day after Circuit Court Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth vanished at Palm Beach — telling him: "You're next."

No clue has been reported in the disapparance of the Chillingworths under circumstances that suggested violence.

Detroit Teenagers Jailed as 'Unfitted for Society'

DETROIT (UP) — Two youths in their mid-teens got long prison sentences yesterday for taking part in gang attacks on women.

Recorder's Judge Paul E. Krause sentenced Joseph Louis Barrows, 17, to 10 to 25 years and Joseph Louis Cole, 16, to 7½ to 25 years.

A probation report said the two were "unfit for civilized society." Both pleaded guilty to rape. Police said they belonged to a gang which attacked more than a score of women. Others remain to be sentenced.

House Approves Bill for Shore Protection

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House today approved a bill to broaden the scope of federal shore-protection measures to include privately owned property in certain instances.

Beach protection and restoration work on privately owned property would be authorized where this would be to the public benefit.

Tennis Star, Wife Win Victory on New Court

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Tennis star Jack Kramer and his wife, Gloria, are victors in a $100,000 damage suit filed against them in connection with an automobile accident.

Mrs. Teddye Louis Jacquemart, 59, Los Angeles, contended the accident was due to careless driving by Mrs. Kramer. She said she suffered neck, back and other injuries in the collision in 1952.

Mrs. Kramer told a superior court jury the accident was caused by an illegal turn made by Mrs. Jacquemart. The jury returned a verdict denying the damages.

About 14 per cent of U.S. spending units (families and single people) had incomes of $4,000 to $5,000 a year in 1955.

Williams Enters Dispute

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams planned today to seek a resumption of work on the new seven million dollar state prison at Ionia. Some 60 workmen in nine craft unions walked off the job last week in protest against possible use of inmate labor on some minor jobs in connection with the project.

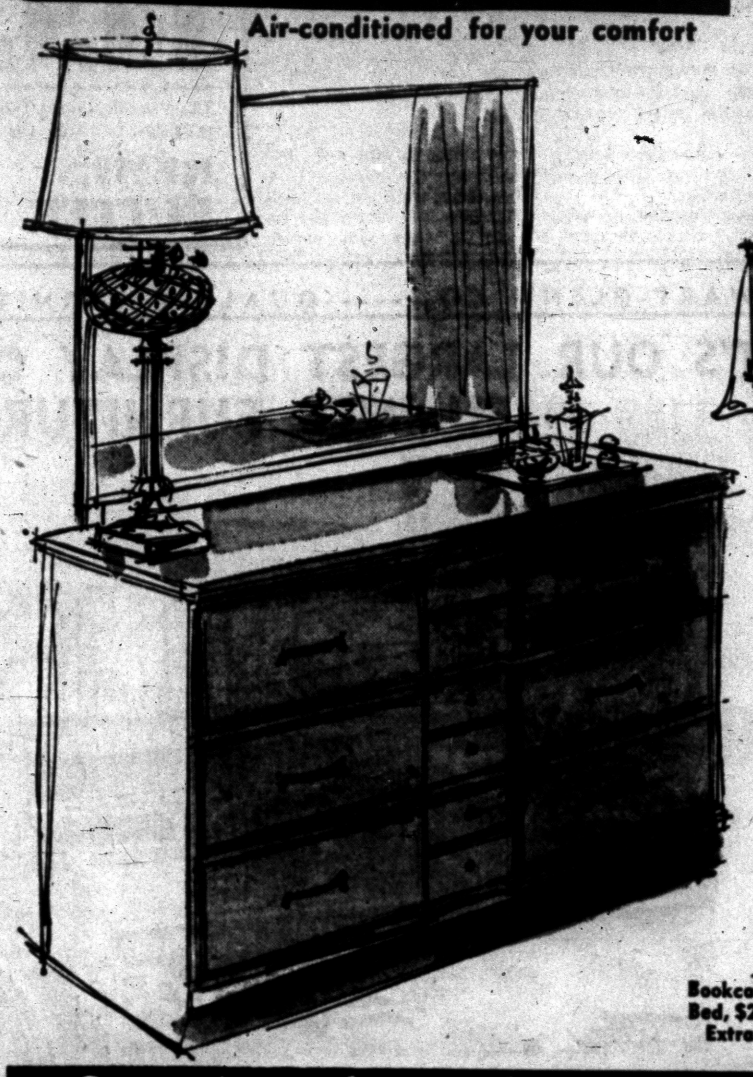

Lithium is a metal which, in its pure state, will float on water briefly until it vanishes in a chemical reaction with the water.

Seeks Road Commission

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Roads subcommittee Chairman Albert Gore (D-Tenn) has introduced legislation calling for a Federal Highway Commission to oversee the super-highway program just enacted.

Hal Boyle Says:

'Pretzel Town' Reflects Story of America

LITITZ, Pa. (AP)— Independence Day holds a special significance for Lititz, known across the nation as "The pretzel town."

* * *

The community, deep in the Pennsylvania Dutch country where the first commercial pretzel in America was baked in 1861, is celebrating its 200th birthday.

Lititz, now a thriving agricultural and industrial center of more than 6,000 population, has had an unusual history. In its way it capsules the story of America.

* * *

It was founded in 1756 as a Moravian community, and for 99 years the church elders largely ruled its business as well as its social and spiritual life.

You couldn't borrow or lend money, board a stranger overnight, or even go into a new trade without permission of the congregation's all-powerful committee on temporal affairs.

* * *

Anyone who was caught in such "gross heathenish sins" as excessive drinking, wenching, gluttony, cursing, lying, cheating, stealing or quarreling and fighting was subject to prompt expulsion from the community.

* * *

Some of the early town regulations make interesting reading today. For example, this one:

* * *

"No dancing matches, taverning (except for the necessary entertainment of strangers and travelers). Beer-tappings, fearings at weddings, christenings or burials, common sports and pastimes, nor the playing of the children in the streets, shall be so much as heard of amongst the inhabitants. They that have inclinations that way bent cannot live at Lititz."

* * *

Swimming and skating were also banned, because of possible injury to the immortal souls of the pious. As one member wrote, "what would the dear Saviour think of such actions?"

But human nature was still human nature even in those days, and the diaries of the church committee note many lapses from grace. Here are a few entries:

"Oct. 22, 1779. It was an unbrotherly stroke of business for Heinrich to charge two poor brethren 18 pounds for their trusses, which he made in half a day."

* * *

"Nov. 4, 1783. In our opinion Claus Collin charges too much for the coffins he makes; therefore it will be well to confer with him the matter."

"Nov. 1809. Members...must see to it, as much as possible, that the smoking of cigars by children and youths is stopped, about which parents and masters were recently spoken with."

Modern youngsters, who start "going steady" in their teens, would have found the early regulations unbelievably strict.

There was no such thing as courtship. Single men and women were quartered in separate buildings. Marriage wasn't by choice; it was by lot.

* * *

When a man expressed a desire to marry, the elders decided which girls were eligible. The name of each was written on a piece of paper and inserted in a goose quill. The goose quills were placed in half a coconut shell. The bridegroom then reached in and selected a goose quill at random. The girl whose name it contained became his bride.

This custom died out after 1818 when John Beck, the village schoolmaster, stoutly insisted on his right to pick his own bride—and did.

* * *

Some oldtimers still insist that, by and large, the marriage by lot system didn't work out too badly.

"Marriage is a lottery any way you try it," one said, smiling, "and in the old days there weren't many divorces."

New Orleans Plays Host to Multi-Legged Critters

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—New Orleans, ever eager to lure tourists to its many attractions, was busily contending today with one kind of visitor which it sorely wishes would go back to wherever it came from.

For this is the time of year that the city annually plays unwilling host to millions of multi-legged "critters" known as "tent caterpillars." And according to Felix Seeger, superintendent of the city park and parkway commission, the varmints are showing up in record numbers.

"In all my years with the department," Seeger declared, "I've never seen so many caterpillars. The streets are lousy with them."

The city official, sympathizing with Florida which has its hands full with the Mediterranean fruit fly gobbling up its citrus groves, thinks the record infestation of the tent caterpillars is due to the unusually heavy rain-fall in recen weeks.

Seeger explained that the creature gets its name from the tent-like structure it builds in trees, shrubs and other foliage which turn out to be nurseries for its little blessed events—thousands of them.

The fuzzy, white creatures have a voracious appetite for leaves, vegetables and flower petals.

Seeger, a horticultural enthusiast, is particularly vexed with the caterpillars' taste for flowers.

"How would you like it if you spent months cultivating hibiscus or hydrangea bushes only to find them eaten up by a caterpillar?" he demanded.

But the official is not standing idly by and watching the city's greenery disappear down the throats of the insects. He has marshalled the department's three huge spraying machines and ordered a frontal attack against them.

There's one consolation, though. Eventually, the tent caterpillars turn into butterflies.

"And at least butterflies are pretty to look at," Seeger shrugged.

THE NATION HAS A BIRTHDAY—3

A Nation Is Born

On June 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee of Virginia said in the Continental Congress at Philadelphia: "These united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states."

A document called "A Declaration of Independence" was then drawn up, and on July 4 it was adopted. We celebrate this day as the nation's birthday.

The Congress met in a building, now known as Independence Hall, that had been erected as a State House for the Province of Pennsylvania.

The Liberty Bell, bearing the inscription: "Proclaim Liberty throughout the Land to all the inhabitants thereof," rang out to tell the people that the American colonies had become an independent nation. There was great rejoicing, with singing and bonfires, and John Adams, later to become President of the new nation, wrote: "I am apt to believe that it (the day) will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to another from this time forward forevermore."

Four days later the Liberty Bell was rung again, before and after the first public reading of the Declaration. Although now cracked and silent, the Liberty Bell has traveled through the country in a special car, and thousands of Americans have visited it in its permanent home in Independence Hall.

(For being the first to suggest this idea Steve White, of Cresskill, N. J. wins $10. Send in your idea for Junior Editors care of this newspaper and you may win $10. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures).

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

THE STORY: House Detective Patton investigates a report from a woman that a dead man is in room 316 of the Hibiscus Hotel. He investigates and finds things in perfect order. Five minutes after the call a woman is running down the alley in terror. Someone is pursuing her.

Chapter III and IV

The headlights of a car on the street behind her picked up her fleeing figure. At the same moment a running man slid to a stop on the sidewalk at the spot where she had fallen. He looked quickly in both directions as the car drew abreast of him, saw her in flight half a block away and started in pursuit.

* * *

She looked over her shoulder once, saw the onrushing car and the man just behind her. Her heart was pumping wildly. She realized there was only one possible chance of escaping. She whirled off the sidewalk directly in front of the fast-coming headlights, waving her arms frantically above her head, standing resolutely at a point where she would be run down if the driver did not stop.

There was the blat of a horn and the angry scream of brakes. The car lurched to a stop with its bumper inches from the girl's knees.

It was a taxi without the signal lights that would have indicated it was cruising empty. The uniformed driver leaned out angrily to shout at the frightened girl, but she darted around the left headlight to claw open the rear door, gasping, "Please go on—fast. Please, please."

She was inside and slammed the door shut. The driver turned his head to argue with her, but her fist pounded on his shoulder as she sobbed out, "Go on! Before he gets here. Can't you see—?"

PLEASE DON'T STOP

The driver could see she was young and beautiful and terrified. He also saw through the rear window the figure of the running man on the sidewalk behind them. He grunted sourly and threw the taxi in second and stepped on the gas. When the car leaped forward it threw the girl back against the rear cushion. Only at that moment did she become aware of the other passenger in the right-hand corner beside her—a woman, staring at her in complete bewilderment.

"I'm—I'm terribly sorry," choked out the girl. "Please let me ride just a few blocks until I can think what to do. Please don't stop where he can get me."

She was addressing both the driver and his passenger impartially, and the driver tossed back over his shoulder curtly, "It's all right with me, lady, long as my fare don't mind."

* * *

His original passenger said quietly, "It's all right, of course, driver." She had a young and throaty voice, and spoke as calmly as though it were the most ordinary thing in the world for her to share her taxi with strangers who came running desperately out of dark alleys practically gibbering with fright.

NOT THE POLICE

"Well, look here, Miss. You want I should find us a cop and report it?"

"Oh, no! I don't think so. Not the police. They're—they won't believe me. They just won't. They'll ask all sorts of questions—". Her voice trailed off miserably.

"What do you wanta do?" asked the driver, patiently. "I got this other fare, see?"

"It's perfectly all right, driver," the placid young voice said again from the right corner of the rear seat. They were approaching Biscayne Boulevard now, and she suggested, "Just turn toward Flagler, and I'll tell you where to drop me."

"I don't know what I should do," sighed the other girl forlornly. "If I go to the police, they'll say I'm crazy. I'm not, but I can't prove it."

"I betcha can't, sister," muttered the driver under his breath as he swung left onto the Boulevard.

* * *

"But somebody's got to help me," she went on desperately. "I'm a stranger in Miami. Perhaps you'd know, driver. Some private detective. An honest one. Who'd listen to me and not think I'm crazy, and help me."

CAN'T WASTE TIME

"You might try Mike Shayne, Miss. He always seems to be getting himself mixed up in screwy cases."

"Is he—a good detective?"

"Best in Miami. Best in the country, I guess," added the driver with civic pride. "You need somebody to handle that gink was chasing you with no questions asked, Shayne's your man."

"It isn't exactly that. It's — but I can't waste time talking about it," bursts out the girl distractedly. "Would there be any chance of contacting him at night like this?"

"Lady," said the driver, "you picked out just the right cab when you jumped in front of me back there and like to get yourself killed. I always read the write-ups on Shayne's cases in the papers and I know exactly where he hangs out at night."

* * *

She said eagerly, "Could you take me there?" Her fingers nervously clutched a black suede handbag in her lap. "I can pay you—I'll be glad to pay."

The driver said, "If the other lady don't really mind—?"

* * *

"Go right ahead, driver." A crisply amused voice came from the girl's companion. "I honestly haven't decided yet where I want you to drop me."

9:39 P.M.

The running man slid angrily to a panting stop half a block north of the Hibiscus Hotel as the taxi ahead of him gathered speed and the red tail lights grew dimmer and then disappeared around a corner.

* * *

He had seen the name of the taxi company and the car's license number.

He hesitated only a moment, then turned and strode back to the hotel behind him. Entering the lobby, empty except for the desk clerk and switchboard operator whispering together excitedly, he glanced around and went directly to a telephone booth near the door.

He looked up the street address of the taxi company he sought, made a notation of it and went out to a car parked at the curb just south of the entrance. He got in and drove to the address he had written down and found it to be a large garage with taxis filling all the parking spaces in front.

He parked up the street and returned, found a large, lighted office on the ground level with drivers lounging about in front, half a dozen others seated in chairs against the wall inside.

Beyond, there was a large desk with a burly red-faced man seated behind it talking into a telephone. Beyond him, in a cubby-hole, a thin, faded blonde was talking in a bored voice into a microphone suspended from the wall in front of her.

WANT A TAXI?

The lounging drivers looked at him curiously as he entered and went directly to the desk. The burly man put down the phone and called back over his shoulder, "No. 203, Gert. Pickup at 147 Brickell," and looked up to ask, "Want a taxi, Mister?"

"Not exactly." The tall man with the scarred face frowned and leaned forward with his palms flat on the desk. "How much chance is there to get in touch with the driver of one of your cabs—if I can give you his license number?"

"Not much. If you've got his name or the number of his hack—"

His telephone burred. He scooped it up and said, "Yeh?" listened a moment and said, "Right away," looked over at one of the seated drivers and said, "You better take it, Tom. The Starbright Club."

BUT IT'S LATE

In the meantime the man in front of the desk had gotten out his wallet. He drew out a ten, hesitated, and added another ten to it on the desk. He said, "You must have records showing the license number of each cab."

"Sure we got records," grunted the burly man. "But it's late and there's only a skeleton staff in the office." He jerked his head to the left where an open door showed two girls working at desks inside.

The man said, "It's really very important. Matter of life and death, you might say, for me to find about a fare this cab picked up near the Hibiscus Hotel about 20 minuutes ago." He reached for a piece of paper and wrote down the license nuumber he had memorized.

* * *

The man at the desk shrugged and said, "That makes it easier. Hibiscus, 20 minutes ago." He pushed back his chair and went back to confer with the blonde radio dispatcher, and they consulted a chart together and he made some notations on the paper with the license number.

THAT'S NO. 62!

It was almost 10 minuutes before the girl came in and put the paper in front of him. He glanced at it and said affiably, "That's Archie. No. 62. That what you wanted?" His thick fingers gathered up the two $10 bills.

"I want you to get him over his radio. Find out where he took the woman he picked up in the street near the Hibiscus half an hour ago."

Blunt fingertips drummed thoughtfully on the desk. "That ain't regular, Mister. You want to wait around till Archie checks in?"

* * *

"I need it now—fast," the man said impatiently. "It's my sister, see? And she's in trouble. I've got to find her in a hurry. Isn't $20 enough for a small favor?"

The big man shrugged. "Go back and talk to Gertie if you want. None of my business what she puts over the mike."

WILL YOU DO IT?

The man with the scarred face compressed his lips, picked up the paper and strode back to stand beside the dispatcher.

He asked, "Can you call Archie in No. 62 on that thing?"

"That's what it's for."

"Will you do it and ask him where he took the young lady he picked up in the street a block from the Hibiscus Hotel about half an hour ago?"

"Gee, Mister. We're not supposed to send any personal messages over the radio. That's regulations."

* * *

"I've got to locate my sister." He drew in a deep breath and went on, "Well, she's in real bad trouble. Danger, maybe. Might save her life if I get to her fast."

Uncle's Always Liked —Silver Dollars or Not

LUDINGTON (AP)—The 10 grandnieces and nephews of Gordon Alway clinked silver dollars today, musical accompaniment which denotes a visit from the retired western lumberman.

It marks the third time that Alway, 75, has motored 2,000 miles from Susanville, Calif., to nearby Scottsville, carrying the silver pieces as gifts for his late brother's grandchildren.

This time he distributed them from a two-pound coffee can.

Alway, formerly of Manistee, went west as a young man and worked in lumber mills at Susanville many years before his retirement.

Kim Novak Is Rewarded With Jeanne Eagles Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Kim Novak's reward for bringing the crowds in to see "The Eddy Duchin Story" is the colorful role of Jeanne Eagles in the life story of that all-time great actress. Kim will make the Jeanne Eagles story next.

If you ever saw the delicate, beautiful Jeanne in "Rain," you know what special charm and talent this frail girl possessed.

Many years ago when I was on the Morning Telegraph, one of the most famous columnists in the country was Rennold Wolf, who was desperately in love with Jeanne, about whom he wrote so much. He was very much broken up when they parted after a quarrel at a New Year's Eve party.

Harry Cohn, who has been picking them pretty well these last few years, believes that a newcomer named James Darren is headed for big things.

Young Darren, 20 years old, was brought to Columbia by David Selznick's niece, Joyce Selznick, who also discovered Tony Curtis. Darren has many of the qualities of Tony, and if he does as well as the Curtis lad, he will, indeed, carve out a career for himself.

You'll see him in "Rumble on the Docks," his first picture for Columbia.

LETTER FROM JUNE

June Allyson writes from Munich that Dick Powell is so enchanted with Germany that he can't keep film in his camera, he's shooting so much of the scenic splendor.

June also adds that her very pretty secretary and good friend, Barbara Salisbury, has her first movie role in "Interlude."

"Barbara has always wanted to be an actress," says June. "Ricky and Pamela, our two children, are in a sequence with other children learning to sing."

One of the most important purchases of last week was made by Charles Vidor who bought "Honey From a Dark Hive" by Bernice Kavinsky. He'll make this after he finishes "The Joker is Wild."

The book, which is just now coming out, is an Abie's Irish Rose idea, with a young Jewish boy falling in love with a Catholic girl and the problems they face with both families.

GOING INTO SERVICE

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Twenty-two-year-old David Andrews, Dana's son, received his greetings from Uncle Sam and reported for basic Army training Tuesday.

The Cameron Mitchells celebrate their 16th wedding anniversary Aug. 17, and I'm glad to report that they are happier than ever and will take a two-month vacation in Canada with their children.

Roberta Linn tests at Warners for "The Helen Morgan story."

At Zardi's Jazzland, Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas were having a ball—just the two of them.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, who did just as everyone expected and said her engagement to Hal Hayes was kaput, had herself a time in Paris with a relative of Aly Khan.

After Nat "King" Cole's first show at the Sands in Las Vegas, Jack Entratter tore up the King's contract, although it had a year to run, and made him a new deal with more money.

Some of that big alimony Lili Damita received from Errol Flynn has gone into a citrus grove in Florida.

Fess (Davy Crockett) Parker is now taking singing lessons to train his very good baritone voice.

It's a draw between Arthur O'Connell and Vittorio de Sica as to which admirer escorts Marlene Dietrich in Monte Carlo.

The movie fight John Agar had with Touch Conners in a scene for "The Fish and the Spur" resulted in a sprained ankle for John.

Expect 2 Freed Priests in Hong Kong Friday

HONG KONG (INS) — Two American priests, imprisoned by the Chinese Communists for three years, reportedly left Shanghai today aboard the ship Hamburg which is due in Hong Kong Friday.

The priests are John William Clifford and Thomas Leonard Phillips, both Jesuits from San Francisco.

Fathers Clifford and Phillips completed their three-year sentences on June 15 and were expected to reach Hong Kong a day or two later. No explanation has been given for the delay.

Employment in the chemical industry in the United States totals 830,000. This represents an increase of 11 per cent in the past four years.

Hope for Fewer Cases of Polio

List Only 48 Incidences This Year in State as Against 82 by July '55

LANSING (AP) — Michigan polio cases are running well behind 1955, a light polio year, but the normally high incidence period is still ahead, the State Health Department claims.

* * *

Through Monday, the department received reports of 48 polio cases. On the same date a year ago, 82 persons had been stricken.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the disease control, records and statistics division, said hopes are strong that the polio immunization program will hold down incidence but that it is too early to tell.

Polio usually strikes most heavily in July, August and early September, reaching its peak in the latter part of August.

1½ MILLION IMMUNE

Leeder said a conservative estimate would put at about one and one-half million the number of persons, all in the "highly susceptible group," that have been immunized since last polio season.

"It should show up dramatically," he said. "If it doesn't, we just will have to take another look at the vaccine."

In 1955 polio cases numbered 1,177, the smallest count in several years. There were 2,168 in 1954, 2,346 in 1953, 3,912 in 1952 and 1,463 in 1951.

Ike Approves Paying Damages to Vatican

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has signed a bill authorizing the payment of $964,199.35 to the Vatican for damages caused by U. S. Planes in World War II.

* * *

The measure was sponsored by Majority Leder John McCormack (D-Mass), and minority leader Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass).

During fighting between American and German forces in Italy in 1944, the Papal domain, Castel Gandolfo, was bombed accidentally by American aircraft. The Army claims Service made a survey of the damage, and concluded the U. S. should pay the Vatican the sum included in the bill.

Week of July 23rd May See Session End in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders predicted today Congress will quit for the year some time between July 21 and July 28.

* * *

Sen. Clements of Kentucky, acting Democratic leader, told reporters he thinks both houses can clean up their work by July 28 "or earlier."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said he thinks Congress could complete its tasks by July 21 if all goes well.

* * *

He conceded, however, that if the House attaches an antisegregation amendment to a school aid bill scheduled for action there this week "it would make things difficult." Southern Democrats would fight any such amendment and might resort to a time-killing filibuster.

Italy's Commie-Boss Comments on Poznan

ROME (INS) — Italy's red boss Palmiro Togliatti has warned the Communist world that the Poznan riots were a sharp reminder that the "capitalist ruling class" still is an active "enemy."

Echoing warnings from Prague and Budapest, Togliatti wrote in the newspaper Unita that "the enemy has not given up its attempts to prevent the march toward socialism."

"The enemy," he added, "exists. He is strong, active and without mercy. The events in Poznan remind us of this with particular energy."

Driving Without License Brings 20-Day Jail Term

Theodore Trammel, 21, of 5230 Eastman St., West Bloomfield Township, was sentenced to serve 20 days in the Oakland County Jail yesterday for driving without an operator's license.

He pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before Springfield Township Justice Emmett C. Leib.

Chicago Scouts Arrive

WHITEHALL (AP) — A group of 1,000 Boy Scouts from Chicago arrived yesterday in the nearby Crystal-Blue Lake area for their annual vacation encampments. The period, covering eight weeks, has attracted some 3,800 scouts. One group of blind boys has been assembled at Camp Beard, led by Byron Webb, partly blind Chicago attorney.

Interesting Meeting

MOSCOW (INS) — Prince Norodom, ex-king and former premier of Cambodia, visited yesterday with Nikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist Party.

Sylvan Shores Folks Stay Near Home for Holiday

"That's some firecracker!" agree "Butch" Newton (left) and his brother, Steven, of Woodbine drive. The "hoboes" were photographed before the Independence Day celebration at Sylvan Shores Parksite. Gail Gaffney of Sylvan Shores drive is the "firecracker" and Linda Kaye Adams of Sylvan Shores drive represents her community as "Miss Pontiac Press," attired in a dress made of newspapers.

"It was nothing," George Newton said when the menu was prepared for the picnic to be held at Sylvan Shores Parksite this afternoon. Mrs. Sam Hoffman, who is shown with Mr. Newton, and Mr. Hoffman (not photographed) are cochairmen of the Fourth of July celebration. President of the Sylvan Shores Improvement Association is Mr. Newton.

Adding to the fun of the celebration are the water sports. All set to take a spin on the terraplane owned by Jack Nicolls (in boat) of Sylvan Shores drive are Jackie Collins of Elsinore drive, who came as "Little Adam"; Susan Moore of Shore View drive, "Uncle Sam"; Janet Johnson of Shore View drive, "Yankee Doodle," and Mike Mack of Woodbine drive, who posed as Joe DiMaggio, thinking a little baseball wouldn't hurt anyone. Their parents are all members of the Sylvan Shores Improvement Association.

4th of July Celebrated at Parksite

Civic Association Sponsors Parade, Picnic, Games

Members of the Sylvan Shores Civic Improvement Association celebrate the Fourth of July in the good old-fashioned manner. No long tiring road trips for this suburban group.

* * *

Junior and sister stay at home, and so do Mom and Dad, 'cause they don't want to miss the celebration at Sylvan Shores.

Everybody looks forward to this event which begins with a dress parade for the young ones at 2:30 p. m. There'll be gaily decorated wagons, bicycles and doll carriages to attract your eye.

Don't mind the fantastic costumes, but do agree that there's plenty of imagination out Sylvan Shores way.

* * *

The big parade begins on Shore View drive and continues to the parksite. Judges are going to have a big job choosing the most unusual costume. Prizes are awarded on the basis of originality, beauty and comic appeal.

Games for all ages will follow, including a horseshoe tournament and a picnic supper at 4:30.

Maybe you never heard of succulent Roast Limb of Shoat or low calorie Pomm d Terre Saute a la Saratoga, but you will if you happen to be lucky enough to be on the guest list.

General chairman of the affair are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hoffman assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Walton Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Omer W. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Mack.

* * *

Games and the parade will be under the direction of the Charles Gaffneys and the John B. Nicolls.

Pontiac Press Photos

"Leader of the band" Johnny Hoffman takes the lead on the slides, too. Next in line are Kathy McHugh and Diane Tee. All reside on Sylvan Shores drive.

Special Festivities Mark Holiday

For those who will stay close to home over the Independence Day holiday, many events are taking place at the nearby lakes, parks and clubs.

Orchard Lake Country Club has scheduled a full day of activities for members and guests. A buffet dinner is being served from 1 until 8 p.m.

Many special activities have been planned for the children. Among them are foot races, a treasure hunt, pony rides and entertainment by California Joe and Montana Frank.

The annual intra-city swim meet and team trial will be held today, with special sailing, canoe and rowing races also featured on the day's program.

Among the families having reservations are the W. W. Raymonds and the Vernard D. Hannas of Birmingham, the George Watsons of Barrington road and the Ray L. Jacobers of Plymouth.

Also planning to be at the club are the John E. Quirks of Orchard Lake, the Grant Seivers of Franklin and the W. Ogden Vogts of Birmingham.

Climaxing the day's program will be the fireworks display at 9 p.m.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ekelund are entertaining a group of friends at their farm home near Davison. During the evening a display of fireworks awaits their guests.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lyons and son, Michael, of Chippewa road are leaving soon on a vacation that will take them by plane through the Western states. They plan to visit in California, Washington and Oregon before returning home.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Ericson Lewis of Chippewa road have had as their houseguests Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sellers of Miami, Fla., Mrs. R. H. Sebree of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McFall of Maywood, Ill.

The guests attended the Saturday evening wedding of Darla Gillies and Richard Lewis in Flint.

* * *

Maureen McCarthy, daughter of Mrs. Joseph McCarthy of Draper avenue, will return home by plane Friday from San Fernando Valley, Calif., where she has spent the past month visiting Mr. and Mrs. John McHugh and family. She also visited in San Francisco, San Diego, Tihuana and Ensenada, Mexico.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bigham of South Johnson avenue are entertaining at dinner today. Among their guests are their daughter's fiance, Edward T. Vanderworp, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed J. Vanderworp of Virginia avenue.

* * *

Washing Tricks to Make Glass Shining Clean

All summer, there's a rush on glassware. It's a big frosty pitcher for ades, your tallest glasses, the glass-topped table for outdoor meals and lots of vases for the fruit of your gardening efforts.

All these special summer items need special cleaning care.

The easy way to remove them is with baking soda. Either fill the pitcher with water, add a couple of tablespoons of soda and let it stand for a few minutes; or, if you want the job done and over with fast, rub over the inner surface of the pitcher with moistened soda applied with a brush or sponge.

Even fine hair can be a simple pleasure to keep pretty and well groomed with use of a hair spray. This young woman is using one that contains no lacquer or shellac. The fragrant lotion leaves the hair soft, silky and natural looking. It can be used either for pin-curl setting or for grooming and keeping the hair in place.

Way of Designating Quality of Material

When purchasing bed linens remember that the word "combed" refers to finer, stronger and more even yarns. Carded yarns are supposed to be the heaviest.

Muslin sheets are utility-type sheets that give longer wear although they do not have the soft feel of lighter percale.

Paris Features Elegant Stoles in Wide Variety

PARIS (INS) — During the hot summer months Parisiennes wear light silk or organdy stoles.

Easy to pack and graceful to wear, a fabric stole can stand in for a summer coat or fur wrap. All leading Paris designers propose their own stoles to complete elegant summer dresses.

* * *

Dior shows a long white organdy stole edged all around with an organdy flounce. Worn over a black dress, it provides a summery touch.

More casual are large squares of plaid patterned silk. Dior suggests folding them into triangles to be worn as summer shawls. They have self-fringes on the edges. One in blue and green plaid looks particularly chic when worn with a white dress.

Lanvin-Castillo has designed a stole which looks almost like a coat. It is made of red ottoman and trimmed with a large white organdy collar and two flapped pockets.

* * *

Home seamstresses in Paris often buy an additional two yards of a dress fabric to make a matching stole. A printed silk dress, for instance, looks smart with a matching printed stole lined in silk of the basic print color. Plain colored summer dresses can be worn with a jersey stole in either matching or contrasting shades.

For vacation a washable knitted white wool stole will be more dressy than a cardigan to see you through cool evenings.

Golf Club Gathers

Pontiac Country Club was the scene of the Tuesday golf play and meeting of the Tuesday Tee Golf Club. Plans were made for golf and a luncheon on Guest Day July 17. Mrs. John Talbot of Ostrum street invited the group to her home Aug. 7 for the annual picnic.

Trend Extends to Coiffure Too

CHICAGO (INS) — Fashionable women in Chicago like others elsewhere, are wearing clothes that hug their figures. But they are going their out-of-town sisters one better by adopting head-hugging hairdos, too.

* * *

"This year," explained Lillian Boynton, "it's the narrow-as-an arrow dress silhouette that counts and not even a woman's hair is being allowed to get out of line."

Miss Boynton is president of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' Association.

Hair stylists in the nation's second largest city are allowing women to choose a variety of hair lengths, from short to shoulder tresses.

Miss Boynton said a hairdo with supple arrangements of waves up and away from the hairline provides a dramatic finish for siren or sheath costumes. She said:

"Even where a woman wants a curly look she has it softened by large, loose waves—always close to the head."

Emphatically, she added, "Only hats will be allowed to break the slim line this year—the bigger the better. Fashion decrees it so and Chicago is going along."

Cotton knits are seen as sheaths, skinny pants, beach parkas, romper playsuits, overblouses, sweater coats.

Trick to Find Swim Suit to Suit Mature Figure

A bathing suit for a mature woman is a tricky problem. Even with the greatest of care, a woman's body does age.

Any woman who added years without changing her appearance at all would either be a lady Dorian Gray or would be spending far too much time on her looks.

Yet a woman does not choose to look wholly unattractive in a bathing suit. She does want to play up the lovely aspects of her growing old—her silvery hair or her dignified posture.

It's not easy to find a bathing suit that's becoming to a woman in her middle years that does these things.

* * *

Color is a great weapon. The suit should be a color becoming to complexion and hair. Probably the favorite colors in dresses would be right.

Black, while it may conceal wrinkles around the middle, may be unflattering to a heavy woman.

Mature women with rosy coloring or mature women who tan well look attractive in white suits. They are clean, dignified and comfortable-looking. Large prints may look lumpy on a larger woman.

A most attractive suit on many mature women is a dressmaker. The tennis dress is worn with impunity by many grown women. It never looks too young or too dowdy.

The dressmaker, which is on this order, would have neat box pleats, a slightly longer skirt to cover the tops of the thighs, a tailored top and wide shoulder straps.

* * *

Many mature women increase their comfort by sewing a favorite bra into a suit and wearing a rubber girdle under it.

Welk Insists on Wholesome Entertainment

This is the last of a series of articles on the sudden "discovery" of veteran bandleader Lawrence Welk by television fans, revealing his formula for success.

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — There is a saying in show business that when other performers begin imitating or parodying your act, you are in the big time.

* * *

If that is true, Lawrence Welk must be on his way to becoming a theatrical institution, "champagne music" and all.

For since he quadrupled the rating of his ABC television show in six months and started his slicker, better publicized network competitors to asking themselves bewildering questions, Welk has become the target of innumerable, somtimes bitter, parodies.

It is paradoxical in a man who feels acutely his own shortcomings that this situation bothers Welk not one bit.

* * *

In fact, he chuckles merrily at the better, more pointed take-offs on his just-plain-folks type of entertainment.

LAUGHED AT CAESAR

"Considering the heights to which the band has risen," he said with an easy smile, "it's really unusual that there haven't been more pot-shots.

"I saw the parody Sid Caesar did and laughed myself sick. That's part of our American way of life, and we don't get upset about it."

* * *

But if those who consider Welk's sometimes halting speech, jouncy, un-modern music and homey entertainers fair game think their barbs will alter his approach to show business, they are wasting their time.

After nearly three decades in the dance band business, Welk has formed several concrete ideals that serve as his guideposts in all phases of his complex career.

In the selection of music for his shows and recordings, for example, he feels bound both by his own strict moral code and by his loyalty to his reciprocally loyal fans to offer only that which is healthy, pleasant and pure.

"In the system I use—and it isn't an easy one to use—I must have control," he said flatly in the cool brown atmosphere of his agent's office above the famed Brown Derby restaurant.

CHILDREN WATCHING

"When you go into people's homes, you play to children, and you can't do anything wrong. When you have a family watching television, you want to feel comfortable knowing they won't see anything they shouldn't.

* * *

"Many songs written today don't teach the right moral values. There aren't too many of them, but there are enough to make it worthwhile to be very careful.

"I was asked to use a song the other day that . . . why, for any amount I couldn't play it on television. The lyrics said it was right to do wrong."

By the same token, Welk selects his band members and performers for their characters more than for their musical abilities, although he insists that nothing short of top-notch musicianship will suffice on his shows.

* * *

The struggles of his own youth in show business also propel him toward youth in finding talent for his growing operations. Many of his performers are young, and one is in his teens.

CAMPUS TALENT

And for the new show Welk will launch for ABC in the fall, he expects to delve into colleges and theatrical schools in search of youngsters yearning for a "break."

"I had a terrible tough time getting started, and maybe that's why," he reminisced. "But these youngsters are the future America. You can't close the door on young America.

"The world has been good to me, and if I can help young talent, why that's the thing for me to do.

"Sometimes people ask me why I hire some youngster and pay him just the same as a polished professional would cost me. Well, the professional can get other work."

* * *

Welk also believes that introducing new performers to television has helped his own standing because "the more you can give people, the better chance you have to please them."

PLENTY OF FRIENDS

Another high-point of the Welk philosophy—a rather unique one in Hollywood—is his conviction that no one can have too many friends.

* * *

Making friends, with his fans, associates, performers and anyone else who happens along, is a point he stresses constantly to his aides, both for its professional and personal values.

Welk seldom overlooks the opportunity to give someone something. He makes it a practice to remember the birthdays and anniversaries of the members of his cast, presents newsmen he encounters with pencils in the shape of champagne bottles and bombards friends and acquaintances with pens, calendars, letter openers, cuff links, earrings and dozens of other items.

This is a costly operation for a man whose business expenses are tremendous and who only recently began reaping profits from his recordings.

* * *

But if the Dakota farm boy worries about money, either his earnings or his expenses, he does not discuss it publicly.

NO YEN FOR WEALTH

"I never cared to make a lot of money," he said with conviction. "It doesn't take a lot to keep me. And I don't spend the kind of money some people do in this business.

"I don't carouse around much."

Nor is Welk jealous of revealing the secret of his sudden success on television.

"It's just good entertainment, good musicians and good people," he said simply.

Home Exhibition Puts Focus on Yellow

NEW YORK (INS)—Better repaint your pink pots and change your turquoise towels, ma'am: The stylish new housewars are all yellow.

A unanimous trend toward yellow, for everything from rolling pins to garbage cans, was shown at the furniture market in Chicago and confirmed by the International Housewares show in New York.

RED RATES SECOND

Yellow has even nudged out red, the number one housewares color for years.

* * *

Plastic housewares expert Irving Levine of Fort Worth, Tex., summed it up this way at the New York show:

"Yellow's going to new heights, red is going down and pink is dead. The pink . and . charcoal combination is very dead."

Levine also said copper finishes are "laying an egg" this year, at least in plastic items.

* * *

Displays at the housewares show backed up his opinion. Not a single booth showed any pink-and-charcoal, and most put turquoise where pink used to be.

CHROME SHINES

As for copper, it was overshadowed by plain familiar chrome. Brass wasn't as obvious as it used to be, either.

The move toward yellow in small kitchen items, including the trim on clothes driers and the handles of brooms, matched the new yellow kitchen schemes as shown in Chicago by all the big appliance makers.

The housewares show also displayed at least one other new style trend, and a variety of new gadgets. The stylenote was for black on the table—especially in serving dishes, plastic salad sets and accessories such as pepper mills, pottery and figurines.

FANCY GADGETS

The gadgets included such items as a really yellow rolling pin (dyed yellow under its wood varnish), an accordian-fold clothes drier with multi-color arms, a gold shoeshine kit with sequin trim, 20-gallon trash cans made of plastic for one - handed lifting, and carpet sweepers trimmed with butterflies and posies.

The decorated carpet sweepers come in gold with fake gems, baby blue with pink posies and a yellow butterfly, or black trimmed with red buds and white lily-of-the-valley. The manufacturer explained the idea was to provide a sweeper suitable for use during bridge teas and parties.

Kuhn Family Holding Reunion

Mrs. Charles F. Kuhn of Lake Angelus is hostess to the 42nd annual reunion of the Kuhn family today.

* * *

Among the 80 dinner guests are her 11 sons and daughters, their husbands and wives, and her 21 grandchildren.

Among the out-of-town guests are Mayor and Mrs. Arthur C. Kuhn of Pleasant Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. John Homchis of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Stofer and son, Bill, of Plymouth, Ind.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. Herman Meinke and family of Hazel Park, Dr. and Mrs. Albert H. Meinke of Eaton Rapids, Mrs. and Mrs. George McIntyre of Hazel Park and Mr. and Mrs. David Stewart of Grosse Pointe are others.

For some people to share their knowledge is like dividing the hole in a doughnut.

Hair Beauty Depends Upon Health

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sometimes we forget that our hair is a living, growing part of us. We have around 120,000 hairs on our head and each one is a fairly complicated piece of equipment. It consists of a tube-like follicle, the root, which is below the skin, and the shaft which is above the surface of the skin.

* * *

No hair is beautiful unless it is healthy. It reflects the food we eat, the exercise we take, the sleep we get, as well as our illnesses and worries.

Good health will show in your hair and it is ridiculous to expect a lovely topknot unless we adhere to the habits which build health.

We all know that times of nervous strain and illness can dull the hair and even make it fall out. Special attention should be given to your tresses after such times.

* * *

A certain amount of sunlight and outdoor life, a general health routine and good nutrition are essential beauty treatments as well as health measures.

SCALP MASSAGE

In addition, daily scalp massage will give your hair a lift. This stirs up the circulation and keeps the scalp loose. A tight scalp is an enemy of topknot attractiveness.

* * *

I have told you many times how to massage the scalp but in case you missed the directions or have forgotten them, I will repeat.

Spread your fingers over your scalp. Keep the fingers in place as you rotate the hands. Move the hands and repeat this until you have covered your entire head.

When massaging your scalp, keep the fingers in place as you rotate your hands.

Many women rub the fingers over the scalp, the result being scratching rather than massaging. Fifteen minutes each night will bring improvement.

* * *

At different times and in different countries there have been varying preferences in hair color and style. Gentlemen are supposed to prefer blondes; however, judging by the number of famous and sought after brunettes, dark tresses do not seem to be a handicap.

THREE APPROACHES

The truth is that any color of hair is lovely if it is clean and healthy and therefore has its own highlights. If you wish your hair to be an asset you must use three approaches: Good health habits, local care, and happy thoughts.

* * *

If you would like my free leaflet, "Stars in Your Crown," which has helpful hints on the care of your hair, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 52 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Bob Hope Lauds Women for Great Sense of Humor

Says Female Sex Easiest to Entertain but Single Gal Is One Tough Audience

NEW YORK (INS)—"Most women," says Bob Hope, "have a great sense of humor."

The fast-patter comedian who probably has laughed with more women—from queens to bobby-soxers—than any other man on earth talked about ladies at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

* * *

He sipped coffee in a brown bathrobe, munched a few red grapes and cast an inward glance back over women in particular and women in audiences during his fabulous years in vaudeville, musical comedy, films and radio and television.

"Women seem to be more excited," he said. "They're certainly more demonstrative.

"During the war we played the WAC encampment at Des Moines, about 2,000 young gals. Our announcer walked onto the stage to introduce the show and right away, for no reason, they all screeched and screamed.

* * *

"He couldn't figure it out. Finally, he stopped and turned around to see if something was happening. Nothing was.

LIKES WOMEN

Personally, Hope said, he "always found women audiences great. I guess they are more interested in a man. I was having dinner with my brother in a Toledo, Ohio hotel when a friend came in and asked me to slip into the banquet room. They were having a banquet for the dean of women at a university.

"I ran in and grabbed the old gal from the back. Put my arms around her. Most of the people there were women. It was a wild affair."

Hope explained that the main thing in an audience is how much it wants to be entertained, how excited it is. Opening your latest film at a sneak preview, he said, "is like a relative coming to eat." But women want to be entertained.

* * *

The comedian told of playing a show in Stockholm in English. "The audience didn't know a lot of English," he said, "but they were so eager that they didn't miss over five jokes in an hour and five minutes."

ONE GIRL 'TOUGH'

How about entertaining a single young woman? "That's an idea for a book, a manual. One girl is just about the toughest audience. You've got to make good right there.

"From my experience, the toughest routine is trying to impress a gal on a date. Usually they have a defense set up, or they're thinking hard about selling themselves."

But curvaceous Dorothy Lamour, said Hope, doesn't always set up a verbal defense. He grinned. "I guess Dorothy took the biggest bruising. During our 'Road' pictures she used to get caught in the crossfire between Crosby and myself. We'd be going at it, and she'd open her face. Then she'd take some stabbings. We called her 'fat.'"

* * *

He mentioned another star, Eva Marie Saint. "What a sense of timing," he said. "She did a tremendous dramatic job in 'Waterfront,' and such a comedy performance in this picture."

This picture is "That Certain Feeling," in which Hope and Miss Saint star with George Sanders. The comedian was in New York plugging the picture.

Angel Pie Is Super Dessert

Two Egg Mixtures Plus Cake Slices Make Special Dish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's a holiday today and just the day to make an extra-special dessert. Why not try Angel Pie? This recipe was given us by Mrs. Nelson Farley of Milford.

Mrs. Farley is a newcomer in the Pontiac area. A former art instructor, she uses her training in her daily life. Her home has many touches that show up her background.

Since coming to Milford, she has joined the Farm and Garden club and an Extension group. She has been a member of PEO for some years.

ANGEL PIE
By Mrs. Nelson Farley

Butter a pie tin and line with sponge cake slices. Beat the white of one egg and add 1 tablespoon sugar. Beat until mixture stands in peaks. Place in peaks around outside of pie pan.

Beat one egg yolk. Add ½ cup milk, ¼ cup sifted flour, ¼ cup sugar and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Pour over cake and meringues. Bake until firm in a 350-degree oven. Serve with ice cream.

Soothe tired feet by holding a cotton square, soaked in chilled good quality witch hazel, under the arches and lifting firmly. Repeat several times and then lie down for a few moments with the feet higher than the head.

These clothes travel with ease, since they don't know the meaning of the word wrinkle. They pack in little space, since they can actually be lumped up and stuffed in a spare corner.

Ski Slope Styles Move Indoors for Evening Wear

NEW YORK (INS) — What's stylish on a ski slope is going to be even more fashionable indoors next fall, according to prize-winning designer Anne Klein.

She's converted northwoodsy items like ski sweaters and lumbermen's jackets into clothes that should make the stag line yell "Timber!"

There's one "ski-sweater" evening dress that puts a ski-sweater bodice on a full floorlength red chiffon skirt. The knit top is red and white and blue, in an Indian motif — but it has no neck, no sleeves and the barest minimum of body.

Mrs. Klein also has adapted the red and black check of a lumber jacket into cocktail clothes. There's one sleeveless halter sheath of this fabric which is dramatic with rhinestone accessories, and a "little girl" short sleeve version that tops a red skirt with the red-and-black plaid.

Ski hoods also get notice from Mrs. Klein. She adds tight ski type hoods to the most improbable dresses—like on a skin-hugging black cocktail sheath.

Lighter Lipstick in Vogue

PARIS (INS) — French women consider lipstick shade a question of age as well as of season.

Francois, the French makeup expert in the Paris salon of Elizabeth Arden, said that this year all the mademoiselles and young madames insist upon truly pink lipsticks. But, he added, Parisiennes who have passed the thirties rarely follow a fad or mode to the letter.

The fashionable women meticulously match their lipsticks to their clothes, Francois said. With orange and mandarin among the leading summer fashion colors this year many orange tinted lipsticks are sold.

The individual outlook on fashion, according to this make-up expert, is particularly noticeable among middle-aged French women. Many dark-haired French ladies find that a raspberry color — light red with a bluish tone — corresponds best to their personalities.

The only lipstick shades really considered "dead" in Paris are the dark bloody-red and purple-red or mauve, vulgar looking on young women and old fashioned looking on the not-so-young.

* * *

Francois said that in general Parisiennes go in for paler lipsticks with rose and orange tones in summer and sunshine, but choose slightly darker shades in the bluish scale to wear with furs and wintry black or brown clothes.

Skirts the Thing in This Season's Newest Suits

NEW YORK (INS)—The skirt's the thing in next season's new suits.

Suit jackets will be the same fitted clasic shape that women insist on year after year. But skirts are playing tricks—even to hiding pleats under pleats

The pleat under pleat is one of the new skirt ideas of a maker of popular-priced suits. The usual kick-pleat in back now hides a little twin pleat, or even a fan-shaped flare of knife pleats.

Some skirts have unpressed pleats flowing in the back only. Others have large "open" flaps, which open only enough to show still another walking fold underneath.

Straight skirts have little pocket flaps on the hip or double stitching in back to match a jacket's double stitched back.

Gayest of the new suit ideas is the suit with the buttoned tummy. It combines a single-breasted jacket with an easy skirt that has two buttons set on the front, exactly below and in line with the jacket buttons.

Vain Regrets Steal Precious Time

By ANNE HEYWOOD

In helping people to successful lives, I have found that the first step is to eliminate what I think of as the holes in the garden hose.

All of us have habits or qualities or attitudes which channel off important energy, energy which we need if we're to forge ahead.

Sometimes these "holes in the garden hose" are bad habits like procrastination, drinking, pettiness or intolerance. But most frequent—and most disastrous—is regret.

Some people spend hours and hours in useless regret — enough hours, really, to accomplish anything they wanted to, if they directed the time and energy into working instead of regretting.

* * *

Mrs. K. was one of those women who felt she was growing old and losing her looks and her energy and her mental prowess.

MOURNED YOUTH

"I used to sit and mourn my departed youth," she told me. "The children are married and have their own homes, my husband is working hard and I had a lot of time on my hands.

"I would stare at the mirror, studying the lines and the gray hair, and I'd think regretfully of the time I had wasted when I was young, and so on."

"How did you lick it?" I asked, because it was obvious from looking at Mrs. K., and chatting with her, that she was now a happy and effective woman.

"One day," she smiled, "I decided that the hours I spent regretting the loss of my looks could better be devoted to restoring them—somewhat at least.

* * *

"I began to take a two - mile walk every day. Then I joined an exercise class and devoted real attention to brushing my hair and creaming my skin. In a month or so, I looked a lot younger.

VOLUNTEER GROUP

"Later I joined a volunteer group which was entertaining old people in our community. They desperately needed workers and I had plenty of time to give — the time I used to waste regretting things.

"I got so fascinated in the project, that I couldn't give it up now if I tried.

"I came to an interesting conclusion," she ended. "The more time you spend regretting, the more you have to regret."

Yes, by patching up that hole in the garden hose, Mrs. K. built herself a fine new life!

It's Difficult to Exclude Extra Guest

Hostess Will Find Refusal of Request Almost Impossible

By EMILY POST

A reader asks: "When a friend, invited to a party, asks the hostess, 'You don't mind if we bring Mary Jones along, do you?' how can one politely say that she does mind very much and that Mary Jones is not invited?"

Answer: I am sorry to say it is almost impossible to refuse—unless you, for instance, are havnig two tables of cards and an extra guest would not fit in.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My parents are going to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary shortly. The problem is this: One of my brothers married a widow with two children. I am married and have two children of my own and another brother has one child.

"We are going to send a notice of my parents' golden anniversary to the newspaper, and we are in doubt as to whether it should be said that Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So have three or five grandchildren.

"My parents are close to all the children and we do not want to hurt anyone, but we do want to do what is correct. Will you please advise me as we have had conflicting opinions on this?"

Answer: Say five, of course. On no account leave any of them out.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The proper use of 'my husband' bothers me. I'm not sure when to call him 'John' and when to say 'my husband'. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: The name of safety is "my husband," because with the exception of two circumstances it can't be wrong. To personal friends you naturally talk of him as "John." When speaking to general businessmen or tradesmen, or to those who work for you, speak of him as "Mr. Brown."

New Backless, Toeless Shoes 'Clutch' Arches

NEW YORK (INS) — Noted French shoe designer Roger Vivier has come up with something new in sexy shoes: Shoes with no back, no toe and a very firm clutch on your arches.

The shoes have no back at all or trick insides to keep them on. They stay on thanks to a really new idea — side "cinchers" which keep the foot firmly in the shoe even when dancing on tiptoe. The side "cinchers" are little suede-lined curved metal frames hidden within a bit of shoe on the side of the instep. They hug the foot just forward of the high heel and just aft of your instep arch.

The first pairs of this new design will be made only in limited editions. They will cost more than $100 a pair, but so did strip sandals when Vivier first launched them.

Coming Events

Francis C. Butterfield Tent Nine, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, will meet Thrusday at 8 p.m. at 128 W. Pike St.

What About Your Hands?

Volumes of poetry have honored ladies with lovely hands.

A million words of advertising have poked fun at dishpan hands . . . in this modern day there is little excuse for unattractive hands. Even if you don't have a manicure every time you get a hairdo, plan on a professional manicure at least once a month.

Once your fingers have had a professional "do" it's easier for you to keep them nice longer.

Wear lastex gloves when hands are in detergents, and keep your old leather dress gloves for gardening. Rub cream into the sides of your fingers where hard edges develop. One authority says, "High calcium foods (meat, eggs and milk) make nails stronger."

For her wedding, the bride wore a waltz-length, organdy gown with a long fitted bodice and draped V neckline. Her fingertip French illusion veil fell from a crown of pearls.

A gown of embroidered organdy accented with Venetian lace was worn by the bride, and a pearl encrusted cap held her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a French cascade bouquet.

A wedding reception was held in the church parlors, after which the newlyweds left for a short honeymoon at Cape Cod. The couple will then reside in Boston.

Soil Bank Funds May Come in Month

WASHINGTON (INS)—An Agriculture Department source disclosed today that the first soil payments are expected to be in the hands of some farmers within three to four weeks.

He said that some county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committees will probably have completed their field checks by then to determine compliance with agreement terms.

By extending the deadline from June 30 to July 15 before which farmers may mow or clip crops and still participate in the acreage reserve, the government hopes to increase overall farmer participation by many thousands.

July 20 is still the final date for signing an acreage reserve agreement for this crop year.

Lapeer Soil Survey Started by MSU Experts

LAPEER—A detailed soil survey of Lapeer County got under way last week with Michigan State University, Soil Conservation Service and the United States Department of Agriculture cooperating in the project.

There are four men in the mapping party: L. J. McKenzie, party chief, Paul Carroll, W. L. Thurmmel and C. O. Harthy.

According to R. S. Lincoln, Lapeer County Agricultural Agent, these men are walking across the land every quarter mile mapping soil characteristics in detail, on an aerial photo base.

They observe such characteristics of the soil as texture, slope, erosion, drainage, soil profile, depth to lime and reaction.

The work was started in Almont Township two years ago and during the summer the party will operate in Almont, Dryden, Attica, Imlay and Goodland townships.

* * *

Land owners in these townships are asked to cooperate with the work since a detailed soil survey map is a great asset to a county and Lapeer has never had such information available. In addition to its value to individuals the soil survey report will be used as an aid in planning farm management and soil conservation programs.

School Votes Are Impending

Walled Lake Voters Urged to Register for Tax Decision

School election news comes from several communities, along with warnings of impending registration deadlines for prospective voters.

WALLED LAKE

Residents of the area served by the Walled Lake Consolidated School District who are not registered voters must sign up by July 13 in order to cast a ballot in the July 23 school election.

* * *

Registration must be made with a city or township clerk.

District school board members issued the reminder in the hope that more votes would be cast in the July 23 election than on June 11 when a proposed two-mill tax increase for school operating expenses was submitted for the first time.

The turnout at the polls was not as large as expected when the issue was defeated by a small margin last month.

* * *

The election will be held if a special group of prominent citizens decides that the district needs more money at a special meeting to be held from 1:30 until 5:30 p.m., Monday, in the office of Clifford H. Smart, school district superintendent.

METAMORA

At the school elections held in the Brownell and Kile districts on Saturday, both districts voted for annexing to the Lapeer District.

The vote in the Brownell district was 24 to 18 favoring Lapeer, and in the Kile district it was 23 to 17 in favor of Lapeer.

IMLAY CITY

Township clerk Laurence Thatcher announces that July 9 is the last day to register for the primary election. Persons may register at the clerk's office each week day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The annual school election will be Monday, from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. in the high school. Two school trustees will be elected for a term of 3 years each.

The candidates are Hugh DeCamp, Wallace Johnson and Howard Caldwell.

Severo is a civilian instructor in math at West Point. Little Johnny, at 10, won two sectional singles titles. At 11, he won four singles titles and shared in two doubles championships.

Last season he paced the West Point boys tennis team to an 8-2-1 record in Hudson Valley competition. Keep the name in mind for the future—Johnny Galinato.

Minneapolis fans are swamping us with mail qualifying their city as potential big-league site.

One writes: "You forgot Minneapolis has come of age culturally, too, with many fine art galleries.

It boasts the Institute of Art and the Walker Art Center. The Minneapolis Symphony is one of the top five symphony orchestras in the country.

In addition, the University Artists Course presents outstanding guest soloists during the season. This is no one-horse town by any test."

This is horse racing season in Moscow. Three times a week sulky races are run by government-owned horses and driven by government-owned drivers on a track owned by the government.

Races begin at 11 A.M. on Sunday but on the other two days, Wednesday and Friday, races don't begin until 5:30 P.M., so there is no temptation for anyone to quit work.

'Washed Up' Wilson Beats Tigers, 6-0

DETROIT (AP) — Big Jim Wilson is knocking holes in the old argument that "they never come back" while rolling toward his best season in the Major Leagues.

* * *

The Chicago White Sox righthander came through with his 11th triumph and his 3rd shutout yesterday with a sparkling 6-0 decision over the Detroit Tigers. Wilson has lost only four.

The 34-year-old Californian has made the big climb to the Majors five times, despite a pair of serious injuries that threatened to end his pitching career. He had a 4-3 record with Baltimore when he joined the White Sox on May 21 along with Dave Philley in exchange for Bob Nieman, George Kell, Connie Johnson and Mike Fornieles.

On August 9, 1945, Wilson's first year in the Majors, he was struck in the head by a line drive off the bat of Detroit's Hank Greenberg. A fractured skull sent him to the hospital, where he lay for days in critical condition. Doctors said he never would be able to pitch again.

* * *

But Wilson came back the very next season and compiled a 10-6 record with Louisville in the American Association.

Wilson pitched only part of the 1947 season because of another line drive that broke his left leg. He got another shot at the Majors after posting a 24-11 record with Seattle in 1950, and has been "up" ever since.

Last season with Baltimore Wilson had a 12-18 record with an earned run average of 3.45.

This—his 10th season in the big leagues—may be the "big one" for the big guy who nearly had to call it quits.

Lefthander Billy Hoeft was yesterday's loser. His 6th defeat against nine wins made it 13 consecutive home games in which the Tigers have flopped.

Their Briggs Stadium record stands at 9-25.

The White Sox scored three times in the 4th, once in the 6th and twice in the 7th to blast out Hoeft. The reliefers were Walt Masterson and Al Aber.

* * *

Walt Dropo hit his second home run for the 6th inning score and the Tigers committed two errors to go along with three singles, a walk and a sacrifice fly for the two runs in the 7th.

The Tigers meet Cleveland in a holiday twin bill today and will send Paul Foytack (5-5) and either Duke Maas (0-4) or Frank Lary (4-10) against the Indians' Herb Score and Early Wynn.

A crowd of 35,000 is expected.

4 From U.S. Make Grade for British Open Test

HOYLAKE, Eng. (INS) — Four Americans were included today as a field of 96 qualifiers made a fresh start in the 72-hole British Open Golf Championship at Hoylake.

Thirty-six holes of qualifying whittled down an original field of 330 to a more manageable number, and six U. S. players were among those left behind in the process.

Making the grade, however, were Mike Souchak of Berwick, Pa., 1932 champion Gene Sarazen of New York, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., and PGA seniors champion Pete Burke of Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y.

Souchak established a course record at Wallasey, the subsidiary qualifying course, yesterday with a 68 for a 146 total. Sarazen had a 75-152, Stranahan a 74-152 and Burke a 75-152.

All were well off the pace of comedalists Peter Thomson of Australia, the defending champion, and 21-year-old Gary Player of South Africa. Both had 140 aggregates.

Americans who missed qualifying were Gene Eiler of Ojean, N. Y., 155; Lt. Joe Golden of Austin, Tex., 155; Lionel Noah of New York 169; Richard Hessemer of Houston, 160; Errie Ball of Chicago, 155, and Jo Zvalo of Sacramento, Calif., 166.

Welsh Golfer Equals Course Mark in Start

HOYLAKE, England (AP)—Dennis Smalldon, Welsh professional champion, equaled the Hoylake course record with a 68 as the first round of the British Open Golf championship started on a rain-soaked course today.

Argentina's Enrique Bertolino came right behind him with a 69.

Smalldon's round of 33-35-68, three under par for the 6,950-yard course, matched the record set by Gary Player of South Africa in the first qualifying round Monday.

Silver Lake Golf Club's women have arranged their annual picnic for July 10 at the home of Mrs. William Potter at Watkins Lake. They also planned their annual husbands' party for Aug. 19.

In Tuesday's round of golf Mrs. Elbert Looney again was low gross, with 48; Mrs. George Zannoth of Watkins Lake had low net with 32 and Mrs. William Bundy of Davisburg had low putts for the day, with 15. There were 23 players.

Money Making Trout

DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—Two weeks ago Al Mohr of Denver hooked a 20-inch, 4-pound trout in the Animas River. He went fishing at the same spot and caught one measuring 11 inches. Stuck in its gill was a dollar bill.

NEW SHOW HORSE — Mary Lou Wilson, sophomore coed at Michigan State University, has a new mount for future show activities. Wilson, Birmingham, who bought the fine hunter from Ken Mitchell of West Grove, Pa., especially for Mary Lou, one of the area's fine young riders. Dragnet was green hunter champion at Grosse Pointe show after taking honors in five (GH) classes. He was also yearling and two-year-old champ of Pennsylvania and Delaware. Mary Lou rode Dragnet for the first time in the recent Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Hills. He won three firsts at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Braves Haul Cincy Down From National's Top Spot

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That game of musical chairs the National League is staging in the disguise of a pennant race is still running strong, but Milwaukee's Braves may be sittin' in the cat bird seat.

* * *

The Braves, who should benefit from a 19-game home stand opening today, slammed back into first place as Lew Burdette laughed off Cincinnati's robust Redlegs with a five-hitter for a 7 - 0 decision yesterday. It gave Milwaukee a split of the two-game set at Cincy while ousting the Redlegs from their less-than-24-hour stay in the lead.

In the only other NL games, the Chicago Cubs handed fourth place St. Louis its 14th defeat in 20 games 7-4, and Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 6-5 on a two - run pinch homer by Bob Skinner in the ninth after the Phils had wrapped up a 7-2 victory in the completion of a May 13 suspended game.

* * *

A pinch single by Maury McDermott with the bases-loaded in the 12th inning brought the New York Yankees a 4-3 decision over Baltimore and kept their American League lead at 3½ games. Second place Chicago belted Detroit 7 - 0. Cleveland smacked Kansas City 9-3 and Washington trimmed Boston 6-5 in 11 innings as Jim Lemon delivered his fourth hit of the game, a triple.

* * *

Baltimore committed four errors in losing to the Yanks, two of them setting the bases-loaded stage for McDermott's payoff single against reliefer George Zuverink. Mickey Mantle misjudged a fly ball to open the way for a two-run Oriole rally in the ninth that tied it. Tom Sturdivant won in relief. George Kell erred in a three-run New York second—the first miscue by the All-Star third baseman in 71 games, four games shy of the record.

Tigers in New Hands by October 1

Bids of Syndicates Under Study

DETROIT (AP) — A three - man screening committee today had under study eight multi - million dollar bids for the Detroit Tigers' American League franchise.

There appeared a better than even chance that Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, the club's president since 1952, would remain with any new organization in some executive capacity.

* * *

The Tigers announced yesterday that eight syndicates formally submitted bids for the club and Briggs Stadium. Briggs, Harry M. Sisson, secretary and business manager, and Charles T. Fisher, treasurer, will examine the bids.

Within two weeks they are expected to forward to the American League President, Will Harridge, and Commissioner Ford Frick the names of those the committee considers "top contenders."

* * *

Provided approval is given the Tigers will announce by the end of the month the group that will assume control about Oct. 1.

The 44-year-old president said five of the eight groups have asked him and Sisson to stay on. He did not say which ones.

Best guesses placed the higher bids in the neighborhood of five million dollars.

These were the bidders:

Oscar L. Olson, D. Lyle Fife and Ray Whyte of Detroit — the only all-Detroit syndicate, made up mainly of directors of the Detroit Lions football team. The Lions wanted to bid but were barred by National Football League rules.

George Storer of Chicago and Miami, Charles O. Finley of Gary, Ind., and others.

Bill Veeck, Gerold Hoffberger and others of Baltimore, New York and Detroit. Veeck, who once owned Cleveland and the old St. Louis Browns is the only bidder with major league experience.

Jack K. Cooke and others of Toronto. Cooke owns the Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League.

J. W. Wartell Jr. and others of Jackson, Mich. Martell has George Halas of the Chicago Bears among others in his syndicate.

Robert Goldstein and others of Los Angeles. A syndicate including actor Clark Gable and movie director Raoul Walsh.

Fred Knorr of Detroit, John Fetzer of Kalamazoo and others, radio station owners.

Harold Gross of Lansing, also a radio and television executive.

Observers close to the club believe the Storer-Finley group and the Lions' directors have the inside track with Veeck's syndicate, which reportedly submitted the highest bid, running a close third.

Race Drivers After Record

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP)—Twenty-three race drivers were primed and ready to take a crack at the $15,000 Pee Dee 200 here today with the possibility that the old speed record of 123 miles an hour set by the late Manuel Ayulo in 1954 could be broken.

* * *

Thunderstorms, however, were forecast in the Darlington area for late afternoon.

The old lap record of 132.289 set in 1954 by the late Bob Swikert has already been smashed. Andy Linden of Manhattan Beach, Calif., driving a McNamara Special, set a new mark in time trials to qualify for the pole position in the race. His speed was 133.039 miles per hour.

* * *

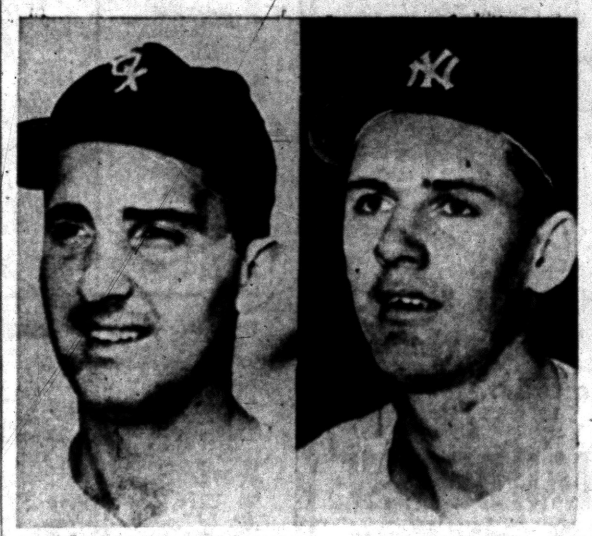

Second fastest man in the trials was Johnny Boyd of Fresno, Calif. with a speed of 132.246.

Figured to be up among the top contenders is Pat Flaherty of Chicago, Ill., who won the 500 - mile race at Indianapolis, Ind., this year. Flaherty will drive the Zink Special that won the Indianapolis event.

Nashua, Swaps Get Most Attention

Busy Holiday at Nation's Race Tracks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nashua and Swaps will be asked a couple of large questions today as they perform in major handicap races at Belmont and Hollywood Park. For Nashua, it will be whether he can shake off a slump, while horsemen wondered if Swaps might crack another world record.

Carrying 130 pounds in his last two races, the Metropolitan Mile and the Carter Handicap, Leslie Combs' Nashua finished out of the money both times. He will be asked to pack 128 in the $75,000-added Suburban Handicap, giving away weight to nine rivals in the tough mile and one quarter classic.

* * *

Swaps, pride of the Rex Ellsworth stable, meets only five rivals in the $100,000-added American Handicap at Hollywood. The California - bred 4-year-old speedster, who whipped Nashua in the Kentucky Derby last year then bowed to the same colt in their big Chicago match race, must pack 130 pounds in the American, which is at a mile and one eighth.

* * *

Busy afternoons also are on tap for Arlington Park, Delaware Park and Monmouth Park.

Two stakes are on the Arlington program, the $25,000-added Stars and Stripes Handicap and the $20,000-added Hyde Park.

* * *

Mrs. H. L. Nathenson's Blue Choir, with 124 pounds, heads a field of 14 grass runners in the mile and one eighth Stars and Stripes. The 5-furlongs Hyde Park is for 2-year-olds, with Jet Sub, Greek Game and Round Table sharing top weight of 122 pounds, in the field of eight.

* * *

Grass specialists also will appear in the $25,000-added Sussex Handicap at Delaware Park. Thirteen horses were entered in the mile and one sixteenth race, the top weight being given to C. Mahlon Kline's Kaster, 117, who equalled a Pimlico track record and won recently at Belmont. C. M. Greer's Lofty Peak, 115, has set track records at Delaware and Belmont this season.

Fifteen 2-year-olds meet in the $20,000-added Tyro Stakes at Monmouth Park. G. F. Strickland's Balaklava 2nd, bred in Ireland, and Pro-Brandy both shate high weight of 122 pounds.

Walled Lake Nine Holds Top Spot in Standings

Walled Lake Market maintained its position atop the National division standings by downing the North Side Merchants, 5-2, in a City Softball League game Tuesday night at Beaudette Park.

Cal Bidwell pitched a steady five-hitter to spark Walled Lake to its 9th victory in 10 starts. The winners collected six safeties off Jerry Bantin, two apiece by Max Burt and Doug Fitzgerald. Walled Lake wrapped up the decision with three runs in the 6th inning.

Royal Bar trimmed Lunsford Market in an exhibition scrap, 6-1, behind the two-hit hurling of Cal Atwood.

North Side Auto Parts swept a twin bill from girls' league foes at North Side. The Auto Parts squad spanked GMC, 10-2, as Mary Lou Carruthers slammed a home run. The Michigan Bell girls were walloped in the other contest, 20-0. Margaret Liddy homered and Barbara Heflin pitched a three-inning no-hitter.

The Drug team rapped Glenn (Wimpy) Johnson for 11 hits, three by Stu Hutchinson, to romp to an easy triumph in the opener. Arlo Flesher and Bill Goulet combined to limit the Baptist club to three hits, two by Johnson.

One run in the 7th inning proved to be the difference in Gidley's win. Randy Beedle's single, an error and a one-base knock by Steve Ryeson tallied the winning counter. A last-inning two-run rally by the VFW fell one short. Ryeson made three hits for the winners.

The Coachers coasted to their 14th consecutive victory Tuesday night at Wisner Field with a 6-3 verdict over the CIO Local 594 to extend their league lead to six full games over the runner-up Union club.

Unbeaten GMC scored three runs in the 1st inning against pitcher Jim Wagner and required only one hit to do it. Two bases on balls, a lusty triple by Judge Booker and a wild pitch got the Coachers off to a fast start.

GMC added two runs to its total in the 3rd stanza when Booker walked and Dave (Boots) Kringe followed with a home run. The same pair accounted for GMC's final run in the 7th, Booker doubling and galloping home on Kringe'st single.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

BY DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Hitting behind ball

DIAGNOSIS: Early wrist break

TREATMENT: Think of the swing as a wheel on which the clubhead revolves each time, and you'll soon develop a constant groove, if — You start the backswing in one piece. Do this by sweeping the clubhead straight back from the ball, low along the ground. Maintain a straight line from the clubhead through the hands to the left shoulder.

Important: No break in the wrists. No head movement. Allow the left shoulder, hip, and knee to turn freely. Pivot means power — and a groove.

Right elbow points at the ground. Comes down directly "into the ribs" as left arm, pulling downward, begins unwinding of body.

As sketch shows, right elbow is still pointing at the ground, hugging side, just before ball is hit. Left arm is straight and wrists are about to uncock as swing reaches the hitting area. Here the right hand applies its power. Break the wrists too far back in the swing, and you'll check the body turn. Thtat's when you hit behind the ball, merely slap it.

Chavez Beats Castro on Close Decision

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Veteran lightweight Eddie Chavez of San Jose, tonight took a close 10-round decision from Manuel "Kid" Castro, of Stockton and Guam in a hard, very fast main bout.

Chavez weighed 141½ to Castro's 141.

* * *

Chavez, a veteran of more than 50 fights, was awarded the decision by a slim margin of one point, 97-96, according to the card of sole Judge-Referee Pete Morelli.

Morelli awarded four rounds to Chavez and three to Castro and called three even. The equal rounds were the last three of the fight.

Archery Clinic for Adults, Children Opens Thursday

An archery program for all boys and girls and adults in Pontiac will be held at the North Side skating rink, Edison and Montcalm streets. Sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, the program for youngsters starts Wednesday, July 11, while adult sessions begin Thursday, July 5.

The youngsters' clinic, for boys and girls from 7 through 16 years of age, will be held every Wednesday morning from 9:30 until 11:30. Adult lessons will be conducted each Thursday evening, commencing at 7:30.

Thursday activity is considered a "family night" program and youngsters will be allowed to shoot only if accompanied by an adult. All equipment, including bows, arrows, finger tabs and arm guards, will be provided and there is no charge for the program.

Instructors for the clinic will be Harold and Hannah Hedges of Hannah's Archery Shop. Mr. and Mrs. Hedges are the regular instructors for the Pontiac Archers Association. LeRoy Addison will assist with the evening classes.

To inaugurate the archery program, Mr. and Mrs. Hedges will present four exhibitions today, starting at 1 p.m., at Oakland Park. The demonstrations are part of the Fourth of July celebration, co-sponsored by the Department of Parks and Recreation and the North Side Community Club.

The public is invited to attend the Oakland Park Carnival and witness the performances. For further information regarding the archery program, call the Parks and Recreation D epartment at FEderal 3-7131, or meet Mr. and Mrs. Hedges today between the hours of 1 and 6 and find out details from them.

U.S. Showdown With Aussies

Wimbledon Tennis Meet Reaches Semifinals in Singles Play

LONDON (INS)—Two Australian-American men's singles semi-finals—possible previews of a future Davis Cup showdown—claim the center court spotlight today at Wimbledon.

Vic Seixas, 1953 Wimbledon champion from Philadelphia, seeded eighth in this tournament, meets Ken Rosewall, second-seeded Aussie. Top-seeded Lew Hoad of Australia takes on Ham Richardson, the 22-year-old Rhodes scholar from Westfield, N. J.

Richardson was No. 6 in the seedings.

An inevitable British-American women's singles final developed yesterday when the revelation that she was to become a mother forced Mrs. Beverly Baker Fleitz of Long Beach, Calif., to default her quarter - final match with Britain's Angela Buxton.

The other semi-final will pair two ancient U. S. rivals, defending champion Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal., and Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Miss Fry staged a mild upset in eliminating Althea Gibson of New York, who had won 12 straight tournaments prior to Wimbledon. The score was 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Boxing Bouts on July 27th

Benefit Fights Being Scheduled for Auburn Heights Boys' Club

A benefit boxing show, for the purpose of raising funds to equip the newly formed Auburn Heights Boys Club, has been arranged for Wisner Stadium, Friday, July 27th.

Members of the Auburn Heights club will compete against those of the Boys' Club of Pontiac with 12 cups going to the winners.

The Auburn Heights club presently has a membership of 150 boys who stage their activities in the American Legion Hall.

Stephen Navarre and James Savage, members of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, are spearheading the benefit show for the Auburn Heights Club.

Tickets are being made available at numerous places in the Pontiac area, including Griffs Grill, Osmuns and Fowlers Foods.

Buc Infielder Takes to Mound for 2nd Time

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Three and a third innings of hitless relief pitching doesn't make a major league hurler, but Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates today ordered a pitcher's toe plate for infielder Johnny O'Brien.

Johnny's superlative relief performance yesterday against the Phillies, whom he held hitless in 2⅓ innings—helping the Pirates to a 6-5 victory—and an emergency one-inning appearance last week against the Cincinnati Redlegs convinced Bragan he had a new pitcher.

Italian Bantamweight Gets Offer to Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mario D'Agata of Italy has been offered a guarantee of $25,000 and $5,000 expenses to fight Los Angeles' Billy Peacock here in September. The offer was made yesterday by Matchmaker Babe McCoy of the Olympic Auditorium.

Oxford Wildcats Hitless but Auburn Barely Wins

The Oxford Wildcats didn't make a hit in seven innings of effort, but the Auburn Heights Boys Club was barely able to beat them, 6-5, in a Class E. Junior League b ball game Tuesday at Columbia-Joslyn's south field.

Seven walks by three pitchers plus an error and a passed ball contrived to hand the Wildcats five gift runs in the last three stanzas, wiping out an apparently safe lead and forcing Auburn to tally the winning counter in the bottom of the 7th.

Ironically enough, it was two bas on balls and an infield error that enabled Dick Snyder to score the deciding run. Tom Solhouse, Dick Baker and Bob Mitten shared pitching duties for Auburn, with Baker credited with the win.

The Clarkston Merchants trimmed Gingellville, 8-3, in another Class E contest at Columbia-Joslyn.

In Class F games on the Columbia-Joslyn diamonds, Matthews-Hargreaves outscored the Pontiac Sluggers, 16-7; Don Nicholie defeated Boys Club No. 2 by a 4-2 margin; West Side Kiwanis blanked the Clarkston Wolves, 16-0, behind the one-hit hurling of Fred Staley; and Boys Club No. 3 whipped GMC, 8-4.

The Senators trounced the Whitfield Cubs, 15-9; the Indians downed the Tigers, 5-3; and the Boys Club walloped Mahan Realty, 20-1, in Knothole League tilts at Jaycee Park.

The Pontiac Police, a Class D team, chalked up an 8-5 victory over the American Legion of the 'E' circuit in an exhibition game.

DERBY LEADER—David Martin, 15, of 428 Midway, Pontiac, proved the other day there are always bigger fish to be caught, even in a contest. The large-mouth bass the two boys (David is on the right, Bill Broaddus at left) took from an unnamed lake near Highland, now is the official leader of The Pontiac Press "big fish derby" bass division. Its 5½ pounds displaced two identical 5-pound, 4-ounce lunkers which held the spot for several weeks. The new leader was 21 inches long, 15 inches in girth. Bill (515 N. Blair) got the big bass in the landing net after a good fight. They were fishing from a dock.

Irate U. S. Official Slaps Army Conservation Views

WASHINGTON (INS)—An irate government conservationist has accused commanders of military bases within fish and wildlife preserves of being "stinkers."

* * *

Clark Salyer of the Interior Department's Fish and Wild Life Division told the house interior committee that army and air force officers have proved extemely uncooperative with government conservation efforts.

He urged passage of legislation which would prevent the military taking over public lands without the consent of Congress, expect during a national emergeocy.

Salyer plaintively inquired: "When the army has such fine officers, why is it the commanding officers we get are all such stinkers?"

* * *

He accused young airforce officers of having no interest in conservation, and of knowing only how to fly a plane and grow a mustache.

* * *

Salyer said the military now has 27 million acres of public land and is seeking an additional 15 million acres.

* * *

He told the committee that the various services and the nation would be better off if the military had only 25 per cent of its present land holding.

* * *

The conservationist declared: "the national refuge program is caught up in a back wash of jealousy, competition, disunity, arrogance, and wasteful duplication.

* * *

Salyer urged that enlisted men, as well as officers, be given permission to hunt on game refuges.

* * *

He said that conservationists have found the Navy much more cooperative than the other services in trying to protect wild life.

Rains Keep Woods Fire Hazard Down

LANSING (AP)—Thanks to timely rains, forest fires in Michigan have been few and far between recently.

* * *

The state conservation department says that only five were reported last week, and none of these in the wooded lands of the Upper Peninsula.

* * *

The five Lower Peninsula fires damaged only an acre apiece. So far this year, loss from 402 fires has totaled 2,271 acres of state and private forests and grasslands.

Solunar Tables

What good fishing periods await Pontiac area anglers during the coming week may be ascertained from the solunar tables, prepared by John Alden Knight, especially for this section.

Dangerous Waters!

Be Careful Over the Holiday Period

By JACK PATTERSON

July Fourth is the first major summer holiday and among other things it provides the opportunity for a surprising number of people to get into trouble in and about the water.

PATTERSON

There is only one reason for anyone's finding himself in a hopelessly dangerous position in the water: lack of foresight, or forehandedness, as it's known in nautical circles. Danger of fooling around in the water does not lie in what might happen. It lies in not recognizing beforehand what might happen.

* * *

This inability to spot a potentially dangerous situation can be attributed to a number of causes. Extreme youth is one, sheer native stupidity another, carelessness a third. Whatever the cause, the effect is all too often the same—a family tragedy, an additional name in tomorrow's obit column.

* * *

Since man is not an aquatic animal, a potentially dangerous situation exists whenever he is in or on the water. This is lesson number one, and a lesson many never learn until too late.

* * *

The old saw that familiarity breeds contempt is all too applicable to man's relation to water and activities therein. It's very easy to draw the fatal conclusion that since nothing's ever happened yet it never will. By the time you're sold on that one the skids are pretty well greased.

* * *

The time to avert a drowning is not when the victim is disappearing for the last time. The time to avert a drowning is before the victim goes in or on the water. That is when adequate steps can be taken to forestall disaster.

We live in a fresh water area. The great life takers of ocean bathing areas—offsets, rips, tidal vagaries are not a problem here. Our difficulties fall generally into one of the following patterns. Unattended children; perhaps the greatest source of drowning victims.

Any parent knows how to counter this one, most, fortunately, do. Non-swimmers step off drop-offs into deep water. Wearing life jackets would end this. Uncle Jim takes his 10 nephews and nieces out for a ride in the outboard. Junior wants a better seat and starts shifting around. If you can't guess what happens next, you don't read the papers much. The cure? A new head for Uncle Jim and life jackets for the kids.

Or, maybe it's the case of the young swimmer. Swims like a fish, never had a moment's difficulty, until suddenly—. It should be remembered that children, even though normally competent swimmers, can in a moment of panic, literally forget how to swim. The swimming habit hasn't become automatic.

And there's sure to be the case of the old fishing buddies who get caught far offshore in a blow in a boat that might get by on Hadsell's pond on a quiet day. Duck hunters will find 'em in the fall. Some good swimmers will manage too. Their sailboat will tip over a mile from shore. Can't hang on in safety and wait to be picked up. They'll swim for shore but won't quite make it.

Pretty elementary stuff, you say. Everybody knows better than to pull stunts like the foregoing. Yeah? Take a look at tomorrow's headlines.

State to Plant Tiger Muskies

Wolf Lake Experiments Successful; Plan to Put 6,000 in Lakes

LANSING (AP)—State conservation commission reports sucess in experimental muskellunge work at Wolf Lake Hatchery near Kalamazoo and says several thousand muskies may be planted in lakes later this summer.

Several ponds at Wolf Lake have been stocked with tiger muskies and these fish will be planted when they have reached fingerling size.

Department fish specialists hope to release 5,000 to 6,000 muskies in one or two lakes selected on the basis of recommendations from field personnel now being assembled.

The tiger muskies were hatched from eggs taken from Gogebic county lakes.

Park Officials Loaded Up With Lost Articles

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—State park officials yesterday were among the first to call for help from absent-minded beach visitors whose mislaid belongings threaten to overrun the park office.

Spokensmen said the items include everthing from shoes to hats, plus blankets, towels, fishing tackle, jewelry, wallets—some with cash—wrenches, car keys and even bathing suits.

Cuba has an estimated 3,000 amateur boxers.

Big Bass Gives Former Glover a Real Thrill

Landing a 4-pound bass Sunday, at a lake near Pontiac, gave Norman Schram, Boys Club instructor, his biggest fishing thrill.

"I've fished ever since I was a little kid," says Norm, "but I had never before caught a big fish. I'm still excited over it."

Schram, former colorful Pontiac Press Golden Gloves fighter, was accompanied by an uncle, John Schram. They took several cisco and a good string of bluegills.

The bass was about 20 inches long. It gave the angler quite a battle before being boated.

Court Shows Mercy for Romantic Couple

DETROIT (AP)—William H. King, 33, and his wife, Mary Ann, had that romantic feeling as they drove home from attending a wedding.

When Mary Ann leaned over and gave her hubby a kiss, a policeman had to be looking.

In traffic court referee John M. Wise reflected on all the facts. Then he gave King a suspended sentence for reckless driving.

Comic Will Star in Murrow Film

Fall Television Debut to Show Entertainer as U.N. Goodwill Envoy

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Kaye, probably the last top-flight entertainer who stoutly resists the lure of television, finally is enthusiastic about a television program.

* * *

Admittedly it's filmed and admittedly it will be a while before the viewing audience has a chance to look at it. But the combination of Kaye's debut on television and Kaye enthusiastic about it is news.

The program, which will be an Ed Murrow "See It Now" subject on CBS-TV in the fall, will star Kaye in an unusual role—that of Ambassador at Large for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

* * *

Kaye returned recently from an eight-week 32,000-mile tour of 11 countries for UNICEF. Visiting hospitals, nutritional centers and child aid organizations from England to Nigeria and from Spain to Israel, he doubled as both a journalist and an entertainer. Two "See It Now" camera and sound crews accompanying him shot nearly 200,000 feet of film.

* * *

A look at some of this film shows that Kaye's pantomime, comedy and song is a universal language. It shows him bringing smiles to the faces of handicapped children in Italy, delighting hundreds of lepers in a Nigerian leprosarium, and convulsing an audience of 5,000 in Yugoslavia. His talents certainly pierce the iron curtain of languages.

* * *

"Kids are kids everywhere," Kaye said recently. "No matter what their nationalities, they look and act alike."

The program will not be simply a vehicle for Danny Kaye. Rather, he is the symbol that brings together the problems and work of UNICEF.

* * *

"Not a word of script was prepared," said Kaye. "I hung a mike around my neck and we moved in. Now there's a real problem of cutting all that film. At this point we don't know whether there will be two programs instead of one."

Does this mean that Kaye has an increasing interest in television?

Postpone Action on Sewer Study

Commission to Continue Hearing in Two Weeks on Durant Issue

Whether residents of Durant street on Pontiac's northwest side will get a sanitary sewer as proposed by the city, is still undecided by the City Commission.

The commissioners last night decided to continue a hearing in two weeks on the plan which would place a sewer on the street between Pershing and Inglewood.

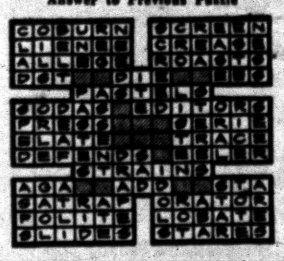

City Manager W. K. Willman was instructed to study the possibility of deletering a portion of the proposed sewer.

A protest petition was submitted last week and a report from the City Assessor's office revealed it to be 54 per cent signd. Commissioner Floyd P. Miles added that it was signed by eight of the 12 lot owners on Durant.

City Sanitarian Charles S. Cohen told the commission: "Installation of the sanitary sewer . . . is certainly desirable."

J. A. Tillson, owner of 11 lots involved, appeared before the commissioners last night voicing disapproval of the project. "I feel for the distance of my 11 lots there is no need for a sewer now and probably never will be."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

According to Benchley, Benchley Was Nothing

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I've said before and now repeat, it's a great pity nobody ever came along to take the place of Robert Benchley.

★ ★ ★

You see him occasionally now in the movie shorts that are still hilarious. But I had the privilege of knowing him slightly, and feel he was funnier in person.

He died Nov. 21, 1945. On May 16, 1944, we met and he was pouring—not tea, but Tom Collinses.

He was fetchingly attired in an old bootblack's apron that had caught his fancy once when he getting his shoes shined in Switzerland. As he sloshed about mixing the drinks I elected to remind him of one of his famous lines:

"I must get out of these wet clothes and into a dry martini."

All he did was knock Benchley. He said quite gravely that the martini line came from somebody's column. He'd read it there, repeated it, and this columnist had reprinted it—and credited it to him. A likely story! I swallowed it at first, but pretty soon it turned out Benchley hadn't ever done anything worthwhile, so I got to wondering.

★ ★ ★

"Me a success on the radio?" He winced. "Oh no, I'm not. I hate to be funny on the radio. I can stink up a small room, but to stink up a whole nation—you shouldn't do that unless you're broke.

"Well, I was, and like a sucker my secretary goes and pays people money I owe, so I have to do more radio.

"And in movies I'm bad, too. When I do it I think, 'Oh boy, am I comical!' Then when I see it, I know it's just a jerk up there who shouldn't be acting."

Then he confessed he hadn't written for four years.

His two most recent books were collections of earlier stuff.

"I just got so sick of Benchley's stuff," he explained.

His readers didn't share that view. Remember the Uncle Edith Christmas story, with Uncle Edith telling golden-haired Marian, 3, "Now be quiet or Uncle Edith will give you a great big abrasion on the forehead?" Or his nonsense line, "I would like to take this way of announcing to my hundreds, nay dozens, of friends . . ." Or his grimly serious speech, "Is life made too easy for the youth of today? Are we raising a generation of pampered dawdlers?: What is that on your necktie?"

He wrote that he belonged to an "exclusive set (no diphtheria allowed)" and that because of his habit of spitting at people at parties he was usually known as "'Sweet Old Bob,' or sometimes just the initials."

The late Frank Case, then the proprietor of The Algonquin, said he once visited Benchley's home and found some interesting towels, sheets and pillow cases in his room—they'd all been stolen from The Algonquin.

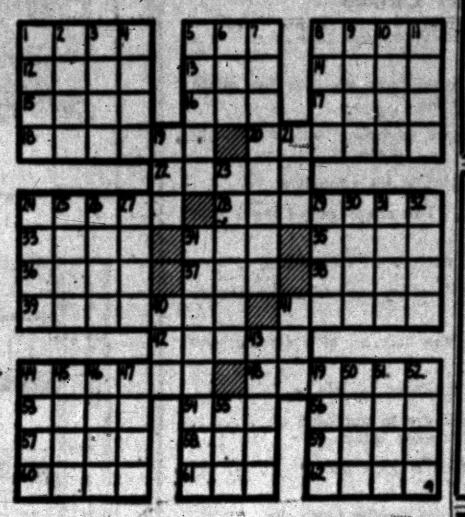

★ ★ ★

As I said, it's a great pity nobody's taken his place.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Frequently a bathing suit is all the material a girl needs to write a whole new chapter in her life."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Maestro Vincent Lopez told one of his musicians he couldn't raise his salary. "Okay," said the guy, "then how about paying me the same salary, but more often?" That's earl, brother.

Detroit to See Last of Museum Ship

DETROIT (AP) — The 37-year-old schooner J. T. Wing, long a Detroit landmark and marine museum, will be destroyed, the Detroit Historical Commission said.

* * *

The commission said it would take bids for the demolition work this week.

* * *

The vessel, tied up at Belle Isle, has had 300,000 visitors since it became a museum "with the finest marine exhibits on the Great Lakes," seven years ago.

* * *

The 110-foot mast will come down first. Dry rot has made the ship unsafe. It will cost about $5,00 to tear it down.

16 Short Words Can Win Cash in Puzzle No. 6

Like to play word games? — Well, even if you don't, you're bound to get a kick out of POT-O-GOLD in this summer's Pontiac Press. One big reason is that, aside from the fun you'll get from playing it, you have a weekly chance to win at least $100. Fill in the blanks below this week's puzzle, clip the whole thing out and send it to the address listed under Section 10.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conform to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

That's all there is to it. Good luck!

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 6 must bear a Tuesday, July 10, postmark (or below). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end, Labor Day. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.
