WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson approaches his full term "in a mood of cautious responsibility as he ponders how to use the vast power of the presidency and the might of the nation he leads," the Washington Post said today.

Looking back toward two of his predecessors, the Post reported: He feels John F. Kennedy "left him not only an inheritance of specific problems but a legend of style and grace which riddles him because it was such praise."

Franklin D. Roosevelt is still his major hero but he is determined to avoid what he considers an FDR mistake over-riding his mandate after his great 1936 victory.

"He knows full well what the problems are, at home and abroad, but like many a president before him he has come to realize that the chief executive is not the only power in the land nor is the United States omnipotent in the world."

causes Mr. Johnson seems overly cautious, particularly after the reinforcement of his massive election victory. His caution seems born of a determination to be surefooted in what he does so."

They and his thinking, in brief, are: ATLANTIC ALLIANCE Atlantic alliance: He did not try to dictate to British Prime Minister Harold Wilson on the multilateral nuclear force concept and he has done his best to convince French President

Charles de Gaulle that he is not out to cause him trouble. Changes in the alliance are necessary, he realizes, but they must not be forced by the United States. And so as far as the MLF or any variant of it concerned he has returned American policy (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

U.S. N-Power Is Ample, McNamara Tells Allies

PARIS (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today further large-scale investments in strategic nuclear weapons are unnecessary because the United States possesses enough power to bring 100 million quick casualties to the Soviet Union. In such an all-out nuclear exchange the Russians would expect to inflict the same number of deaths on the American population, he told the annual winter ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

OU Among Schools Seeking More Funds

Oakland University is among the state-supported schools seeking increased funds for 1965-66, according to local officials.

A state advisory group on higher education warned yesterday that new taxes could be needed to support the money demands of state institutions.

Chancellor D. B. Varner said that OU has requested a 23 per cent hike in its operating budget for 1965-66.

In addition, the local institution seeks $2.3 million for capital outlay.

Both requests have been approved by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees and submitted to Gov. Romney.

The governor must recommend a higher education package to the legislature.

PROJECTED INCREASE A projected increase in operating funds for the 10 state-supported institutions of $47.5 million to $178.7 million brought on the warning from the Michigan Coordinating Council for Public Higher Education.

New taxes might also be necessary, said the advisory group, to meet the $35 million needed for the 1965-66 building program of the state schools.

According to Varner, Oakland University has requested a hike in their operating budget of $497,000, up from the current year's $2.2-million budget.

He said the increase — about 23 per cent — is sought to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Hodges Quits as Secretary of Commerce

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today the resignation of Luther H. Hodges as secretary of commerce and named as his successor New Jersey industrialist John T. Connor.

Connor, who will take over the commerce post on Jan. 15, has been president of the New Jersey drug manufacturing firm of Merck & Co. Inc. since 1955. The 50-year-old executive was active in business groups supporting Johnson during the presidential election campaign.

Hodges has been secretary of commerce since the start of the Kennedy administration in January 1961. He told Johnson he had planned to remain in the post only four years because he soon will be 67 years old.

Hodges was the second member of the Cabinet of President John F. Kennedy to resign since Johnson entered the White House. The first to resign, last summer, was the late president's brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

Johnson is expected to lose another Cabinet member shortly. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon has made tentative plans to resign within a few months, it was learned today.

See Recovery for the Duke

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Duke of Windsor underwent a delicate 67-minute abdominal operation today and a hospital spokesman said a complete recovery is anticipated.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, world famous cardiovascular surgeon, removed a large aneurysm — a blister on the wall of the former British monarch's aorta artery.

"Dr. DeBakey was pleased with the operation," said Tom Fourqurean, an associate administrator at Methodist Hospital.

"For Dr. DeBakey, this was routine even though the aneurysm was as large as an orange and needed to be removed."

"The duke is regaining consciousness and will be going back to his room about noon," Fourqurean said.

FULL RECOVERY

When asked if full recovery is expected, Fourqurean replied: "It is anticipated."

"The duke now is in the post anesthetic recovery room and his condition is now satisfactory," he added.

"In a few days the duke probably will be sitting up in his room."

TELLS OF FORD IN FUTURE — Henry Ford II (left), Ford Motor Co. board chairman, gave his annual year-end report to the press in Detroit yesterday. He said the company anticipates 1965 will be an even bigger year than 1964. With him is Arjay Miller, Ford president.

Sees 10.1 Million Production

Ford Tops Auto Executive Predictions

By HARRY J. REED Managing Editor, The Pontiac Press

DEARBORN—Henry Ford II topped the 1965 predictions of other auto industry leaders with a 10.1 million car and truck outlook yesterday, and hit at the "excessive bargaining power" of unions.

Following predictions of 9.4 vehicles of General Motors' chairman Frederic G. Donner and Chrysler's Lynn Townsend's 9.5 to 10 million estimate, Ford said his figure was based on a continued growth in the U.S. economy.

"The basic strength of the economy and of automobile demand suggests that records established this year will soon topple," Ford told newsmen.

"This year's remarkable economic growth was achieved with little increase in prices," he added.

Taking up the subject of the unions, Ford said the recent strike in the auto industry cut production by more than 675,000 units, worth more than $2 billion.

$500 MILLION LOSS

He pegged the sales loss to Ford and direct suppliers at $500 million. The 77,000 Ford employees idled by the strikes lost a total of $18 million in wages, he added.

"Something has to be done to put us on at least an even basis with the unions," Ford said.

"The Ford strikes were called after we had agreed to the largest national settlement in the history of our relationship with the UAW," he stated. "Next time we settle nationally, we can't have the local problems like we had this time."

He listed as a strike cost 115,000 cars and 50,000 trucks and said earnings will be down 10 per cent from what they would have been, because of the strike.

LOOKS TO FUTURE

Looking to the future, Ford said the firm's confidence in the new year is reflected in the production schedules. Ford helped to bring the auto industry out of the recession.

"We never know from year to year when the avalanche will hit," he said.

Referendum Petitions Get City Clerk OK

No Election Date Set, Must Be Between Feb. 1 and March 20

Pontiac will have a referendum on its controversial income tax.

City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley reported to the City Commission that referendum petitions filed Friday by the Citizens Committee on Taxation contained a sufficient number of signatures and had been certified by her office.

The commission must still set the date of the election. State law provides that the vote be scheduled between Feb. 1 and March 20, 1965.

A form of ballot and notice of election were ordered by the commission last night.

Charles Nassstrom, chairman of the taxation committee, said that his group hoped to make a comprehensive study of city finances.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. answered that the commission had acted under the state law. He said the commission was not opposed to a vote, but that the election would delay benefits of the tax until 1966.

Taylor added that the facts on city finances were being put together.

"Perhaps it (the election) will bring to the people's attention the city's outstanding needs," commented the mayor.

"Believe me we are at the Commission's expressed confidence that the people would back the income tax proposal at the polls."

S. Viet Nam Casualties Highest in Eight Months

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —South Vietnamese government troops last week suffered their highest casualties in eight months in the war against the Communist Viet Cong, a U.S. spokesman said today.

Government forces killed 550 Communist guerrillas, however, compared with 260 of their own dead.

A total of 385 government troops was killed or wounded, the spokesman said. The figure did not include the battle in An Lao valley, where casualties were reported heavy.

Thirteen Americans were killed in action last week. The U.S. Army also increased its casualty total in the Viet Cong bombing of a U.S. barracks Monday in Thu Dau Mot.

key to what it was in the early Kennedy years: if the European allies can agree on something to improve the alliance, the United States will give it careful consideration.

Viet Nam: His first instinct was to call his advisers together and say there is only one way going on, let's win it. It did not take long to discover that it was far from that simple.

Recently he asked Sen. Richard B. Russell, the Georgia Democrat who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, "what he thought of dropping some bombs to teach the Chinese a lesson — one idea got under Washington."

So, he asked Russell whether we should pull out our troops, as Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., demands. Russell said that would shock the neo-Communists.

The conversation "reinforced the President's view that the only thing to do is more of the same only better, in part as a means of containing Chinese expansionism. He wants no war with China and he feels that dropping bombs would mean such a war."

The Great Society: "Really his hope of improving the quality of American life. And if he can move 1 or 2 per cent of Americans out of the poverty group each year he will have done all he believes can be done in that time."

Snow, Deadly Winds

Storm Hits Northwest

By The Associated Press

A mammoth snow storm packing deadly winds churned through the Northwest today, driving temperatures far below zero in some areas and closing schools and roads.

The powerful storm — described by the Weather Bureau as almost unprecedented for late autumn — covered the entire northwestern quarter of the nation.

A Weather Bureau meteorologist in Helena, Mont., said "venturing out of doors is considered dangerous unless a person is thoroughly prepared."

A van carrying nine prisoners from the county jail in Seattle, Wash., to a reformatory tipped over on a snowy highway, but officials took no chances — a law truck righted the vehicle with the prisoners still inside.

Robert L. Brown Jr. was awakened by the howling winds in Bellevue, a suburb of Seattle. He rushed outside and moved his new station wagon under his trees. But two of his neighbors' trees tumbled — one on his car and the other on his house.

Schools were closed in Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Washington.

Visibility was cut to zero in blowing snow in some areas. Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Montana, Wyoming and North and South Dakota.

Winds at 35 miles per hour made life miserable in Cut Bank, Mont., where the temperature was 27. Tuesday. Official lows in Montana included -40 in Havre and -38 at Summit, a mountain-top community. Great Falls had a December record low of -24.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Schools were closed in north central Montana and U.S. 12 was blocked by blowing, drifting snow in the northwestern part of the state. Wind gusts period m.p.h. at Livingston, north of Yellowstone Park.

Huge clouds of dust floated over the plains of Kansas and Colorado. U.S. 87 north of Denver was closed for a period. Tuesday after a series of auto accidents caused by dust. One pileup on Valley Highway in Adams County involved 12 to 15 cars.

INCHES OF DIRT

Residents in Bear Valley, southeast of Denver, reported dust clouds of 16 m.p.h. at one point. The low in Colorado was a paralyzing -31 in Alamosa.

Winds of more than 80 m.p.h. toppled a brick wall in a residential section of Cheyenne, Wyo. The snowfall in Wyoming ranged from 6 to 12 inches, but more snow was falling and piled into deep drifts by strong winds.

At Powell, on the storm's fringe, the temperature dropped from 27 above zero to 12 below in a matter of minutes.

New Mexico was hit by 72 m.p.h. winds, shifting snow into drifts.

Destructive winds accompanied by bitter cold belted Washington State, closing schools to an estimated 10,000 pupils. Snow falls ranged from 1 to 12 inches.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in North Dakota and Northern Minnesota with up to 4 inches of new snow predicted, accompanied by strong winds and extreme cold temperatures.

Temperatures dropped to -60 over Alaska. Even the usually moderate Alaskan Panhandle reported sub-zero readings.

A proposal to build a 200-bed extension on the county medical care facility was presented to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday by the welfare committee.

The resolution was referred to the ways and means and buildings and grounds committees for consideration.

Plans for expanding the medical care facility were first drawn up in 1948. The project has never passed beyond the planning stage.

Major remodeling of the building, which was built in 1923, is presently under way to comply with state fire regulations. The project will result, however, in a slight decrease in bed capacity.

Yesterday's proposal, presented by William Supervisors R. W. Lohi, chairman of the welfare committee, said in part: "Due to the increase in population of the county and the continued increase in the number of indigent persons within the population, the need for more beds for the type of care given in a medical care facility has become acute."

MILL LEVY

Such a project could be financed by a one-tenth of a mill levy for construction, permitted by current legislation.

The committee's resolution proposed that such a tax be levied and that "the highest priority" be given the project.

In other action, the board voted to extend for one year a private lease on the county-owned Allen Airport.

The airport is presently leased and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred E. McGraw, who pay the taxes and insurance on the buildings for the privilege of operating the small air facility.

PROJECT APPROVED

The board also approved a lake level control project proposed for White Lake, a large recreational and residential lake in Highland and White Lake townships.

Petitions have been prepared for submission to the Circuit Court, which will establish a legal level for the lake. Engineering studies will then be made by the drain commissioner, who will establish a special assessment district to finance the project.

Dismiss Case for 7 Women

Allege They Tried to Halt Work on Tower

Christmas arrived 10 days ahead of schedule for seven Waterford Township housewives. The women, awaiting trial since last July for allegedly trying to halt construction of a water tower, learned yesterday that the case was dismissed by Waterford Township Justice Patrick K. Daly.

Daly said that Paul Valente, attorney for the women, called him and asked that the case be dismissed.

"Then I contacted Paul Mahel (attorney for Waterford Township) and asked if he had any objections," Daly said. "He had none so the case is dismissed."

The women were arrested July 10 by township police who said they were blocking a temporary road leading to the water tower site at Main and Walton and prevented a concrete mixing truck from entering.

HOUSE FIRE

Police declared their intention to arrest the housewives, all residents of Lake Oakland Heights subdivision, at 11:30 a.m. but a nearby house fire required police to leave the scene.

Police returned and made the arrest at 1 p.m., charging that the ladies had violated a section of the township's Disorderly Persons Ordinance.

Their arraignment followed and trial was set for July 20. It was later postponed until July 30 because the attorneys had conflicting court commitments.

NEVER RESUMED

Due to the inability of scheduling a new trial date convenient to both attorneys, the trial never resumed.

Arrested and freed the same afternoon on $100 personal bond were Mrs. Samuel Ferguson, 3843 Embarras; Mrs. Curtis Hood, 3643 Mariner; Mrs. John Hastie, 3381 Levee; and Mrs. Roger Smith, 3341 Levee.

Others were Mrs. John Ripley, 3612 Embarras; Mrs. David Keaggy, 3807 Aquaria; and Mrs. William Beal, 3621 Embarras.

satisfactory picture. Present force goes are adequate to meet aggression, he said.

He added that except for a few countries there is no need for increases in national defense budgets.

ROSY PICTURE

The secretary painted a rosy picture of the power and capability of the 15 North Atlantic countries to defend themselves against possible Communist aggression.

The United States, he said, has more than 500 intercontinental ballistic missiles plus more than 300 other nuclear missiles aboard Polaris submarines at the service of NATO.

Additionally, hundreds of American aircraft are capable of carrying out intercontinental operations with nuclear explosives.

DEPLOYED FORCES

McNamara made it clear that the strength of the United States was not deployed merely to defend American territory.

The vast American nuclear arsenal, he was quoted as saying, is targeted with equal priority on Communist installations threatening both Western Europe and the United States.

Birmingham Area News

Reaction Is Favorable on Board Office Plan

BIRMINGHAM — Favorable reaction has been expressed to a plan which would provide a Merrill Street site for the board of education's proposed administration building.

The Citizens Action Committee (CAC) is working on the plan to keep the board headquarters in the downtown area.

The proposed $175,000 building was included in a $6,350,000 bond issue approved by school district voters in June. The board had designated as the probable site a piece of property it owns on Pierce across the street from Pierce School.

The CAC's cooperative study committee has been meeting for several months to evaluate comparative costs, financial advantages and the community impact of various sites.

The committee is composed of representatives of various community groups, including the Birmingham City Commission and board of education.

RECOMMENDATION

Its recommendation is that the building be constructed on the Merrill right-of-way between Bates and Henrietta. It has suggested that the site be exchanged by the city for the Pierce property.

Before proceeding further, the committee asked both the school board and city commission for expressions of opinion on the matter.

Last night the school board added its tentative support to that given by the City Commission Monday night.

EXCHANGE POSSIBLE

Without mentioning the Pierce property, the board said it might exchange property "of comparable value."

Trustees noted there are problems to be solved. A minimum of 15,000 square feet would be needed for the building, along with parking would have to be provided.

The building's design would have to be in keeping with the downtown area and yet be constructed within the budget figure.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Two Eastern Star officers will be honored at a double reception, dinner and program tonight at the Birmingham Masonic Temple.

To be held by Birmingham Chapter No. 220, Order of the Eastern Star, are Edward C. Stutz, publicity committeeman for the grand chapter of Michigan, and Mrs. Charles Martz, president of the Oakland County Association.

The event will start at 6:30 p.m.

p.m. at the temple, 257 S. Woodward.

The local chapter will be host to Clawson Chapter No. 496 for a composite school of instruction at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, at the temple.

To Seek Loan of $1.7 Million

City Needs Cash to Run for 1st Half of '65

Pontiac will make application to the Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $1.7 million in tax anticipation notes.

The City Commission gave its approval to borrowing the money last night.

According to a letter submitted by City Manager Joseph A. Warren, the borrowing is necessary to provide the city with cash during the first six months of the year.

Taxes are billed and collected during July, said Warren. However, the fiscal year begins in January.

"This results in a problem each year of financing the first six months of the budget year," he explained.

TAX NOTES

Warren said he proposed the tax notes rather than "the hit-or-miss methods" of the past.

He said that the general fund would probably have enough cash carry-over to meet city payments in January.

However, added funds are needed for the period February 1 to July 1, when the city begins receiving tax receipts, he said.

Previously, the city had expected to borrow only $1.5 million, Warren said. This figure was refined since the 1965 budget was presented, he added.

SHORT-TERM NOTES

Since not all of the $1.7 million will be needed at once, Warren proposes to invest some of the proceeds in the 30 and 60-day U.S. Treasury notes.

Warren said he could not tell what interest rate the treasury notes might earn or what interest rate the city would get on the tax notes.

In U.N. Security Council

More Invektive Against U.S. Expected

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The chorus of anti-American invective in the Security Council's Congo debate was expected to continue today despite a Nigerian attempt to quiet it.

Burundi, accused by the United States of aiding the Congolese rebels, was to be the day's first speaker as the council rounded out its first week of stormy discussion.

The United States and Belgium received their first African support Tuesday. Foreign Minister Jaja Wachuku of Nigeria strongly defended their sending Belgian paratroops to the Congo to rescue white hostages from the insurgents.

"I see nothing wrong in the Congo asking for aid in a delicate operation that involved the nationals of other countries," Wachuku said.

OTHERS TO BLAME

He said African nations which have refused to send aid to Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe are to blame for the predicament Tshombe faces.

"If a government is prevented from discharging its duties by those who are regarded as brotherly states, surely the next best thing to do is to turn to those who are regarded as friends," Wachuku said.

Wachuku called on African nations to respect the sovereignty of Tshombe's government in accord with the U.N. Charter and the Organization of African Unity.

"It is not for anybody to tell the Congo who their government should be," he said.

LEADS SUPPORT

He expressed support for a U.S. proposal that the council send a mission to investigate interference by outsiders in the affairs of the Leopoldville government.

Wachuku's words contrasted sharply with those of Foreign Ministers Joseph Mumbumi of Kenya and Antoine Guimail of the Central African Republic, who preceded him. Both accused the Western powers of trickery and hypocrisy in the rescue operation.

Britain and France also took the floor to support the United States and Belgium.

British Minister of State Lord Caradon blamed the Congo's troubles on nations he accused of trying to turn the country into "a cockpit of the cold war."

GIVES REMINDER

French Ambassador Roger Seydoux reminded African critics that the rescue mission was carried out with the approval of Tshombe's government.

'4 Nations Pour Arms Into Congo'

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The commander-in-chief of the Congolese Army charged yesterday that four African nations are running guns to rebels trying to overthrow the government.

Gen. Joseph Mobutu said it is "a regular, organized airlift for arms."

He named the participating nations as the United Arab Republic, Algeria, Ghana and Mali. The general said "It has been going on for some time."

Reports from Khartoum, capital of the Sudan, earlier this week said 12 Soviet-built transport planes carrying Congo-bound supplies landed at Juba, a Sudan town near the border with the northeast Congo.

It is in that area of the Congo that rebels are said to have most of their strength.

CHINESE WEAPONS

At a news conference yesterday, Mobutu displayed automatic weapons made in Communist China and said they had been taken from captured and killed rebels in Stanleyville.

He said instructors, doctors and other "advisers" from Algeria have been flown to the Congo-Sudan border to help the rebels.

Mobutu's charges echoed Congolese complaints filed with the United Nations Security Council in New York.

The situation has caused increasing concern for the United States and other Western nations. They fear that the tortured Congo might develop into another Viet Nam.

In related developments:

● Gaston Soumailot, one of the rebel leaders, was quoted in a Cairo interview as charging that President Johnson "betrayed the American people by the traitorous act in the Congo."

Soumailot, in a dispatch distributed by the Middle East news agency, said the Belgian-American airlift for rebel-held hostages was an act of aggression.

● The Congolese government postponed general elections for three months because of the unsettled situation.

An official announcement said the government wants "to re-establish peace and order in the entire territory of the republic" before calling any election.

Uncle Sam a 'Patsy' in U.N. Maneuvering

Regardless of the outcome of the U.S.-led power-restriction move against United Nations members — notably Russian and France — in default of their peace-keeping assessments, it is time for Uncle Sam to take a long, hard look at his position in the organization.

Organized in 1945, the global league comprised 51 nations, with the seat of power vested in the 11-member Security Council.

Needless to say, compromise in many areas was needed to get the charter members into the fold — particularly with respect to Russia, then feeling her international oats to the utmost.

The Reds demanded, and got, a total of three votes in the General Assembly against one for the United States, on the grounds that two divisions of the Soviet Union — the Ukraine and Byelorussia — were entitled to separate-country status.

In addition, JOSEPH STALIN, then the Communist leader, gimmicked up the Security Council consisting of five permanent and six revolving members so that full veto power was invested in each of the permanent members. Needless to say, Russia, along with the United States, was one of those members.

During the 20 years' life of the United Nations, the Kremlin has invoked its veto power 102 times, the U.S. not once.

So obstructionist to the functioning of the Security Council has Russia become, that in 1950 the U.S., supported by a majority of U.N. members, revised the United Nations apparatus so that the General Assembly, governed by majority rule, became the seat of power.

At that time, the General Assembly totaled 60 nations, in the main friendly to the U.S. And though the Reds often opposed actions ordered by the Assembly, they could not block steps taken by a body in which no member had an absolute veto and each had an equal vote.

But things have changed tremendously — to the disadvantage of the United States. Today the U.N. membership embraces 115 nations heavily weighted with small and weak ones — many of whom are opposed to the U.S.

The United States, with but a single vote though presently carrying 40 per cent of the cost of United Nations operations, thus sees itself in a position where the U.N. through votes in the General Assembly can take actions in conflict with the national interest of this country.

Such prospect is leading the United States to restudy its position with respect to the advisability of a return to the Security Council setup with its one-member veto power, unsatisfactory as that instrument proved to be. But we would at least have equal veto power under it.

World's Super Bridge Another N. Y. High

There seems to be no end in sight to the bridge-building marvels spun across America's water expanses and their successive record-breaking magnitude.

The latest is the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge across the waist of New York Harbor linking Brooklyn with Staten Island.

Five years abuilding at a cost of $325 million, it has the longest central span of any suspension bridge in the world — 4,260 feet — exceeding by 60 feet the previous record span boasted by San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge.

The six-lane bridge that has handled 100,000 cars daily since it was recently opened is expected to ease the monstrous traffic congestion of Manhattan.

Before the bridge, motorists traveled between its extremities via Hudson River tunnel and bridges further north, leading to estimates that 60 per cent of the cars on New York streets were just passing through.

The specifics of this new water-hopper provide interesting comparison with the once-renowned Brooklyn Bridge. That wonder of the times, opened in 1883 after 14 years of construction, has a suspension span of 1,595 feet and cost $18 million.

Court's Decision Decade's Biggest

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court unanimously has given its most important civil rights decision since it declared public school segregation unconstitutional 10 years ago. The 1954 decision was also unanimous.

The court Monday upheld the constitutionality of a key section of the much fought-over 1964 Civil Rights Act which forbids racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

It ruled: hotels and motels must serve all races if their customers or food move in interstate commerce. There may be some exceptions which don't affect interstate commerce. They'll be few. The court didn't spell out details.

The court could have reached its decision in one of two ways or both: the Constitution's commerce clause gives the government power to regulate interstate commerce; the 14th Amendment guarantees all citizens equal treatment.

The court based its decision on the commerce clause. But the road to Tuesday's action was a long one.

After the Civil War, black action was taken to give newly freed Negroes equal rights. The 13th Amendment to the Constitution 1865 said they were citizens; the 14th Amendment 1868 said all citizens must get equal treatment; and the 15th 1870 said Negroes could not be denied the right to vote.

SIX CIVIL RIGHTS ACTS

Between 1866 and 1875, Congress passed six civil rights acts to carry out the intention of those amendments. One, in 1875, said Negroes must get equal treatment in inns, amusement places and other public accommodations.

This was meant to back up the 14th Amendment. But Negroes were discriminated against. It took them eight years to bring five such cases before the Supreme Court.

The court skipped over the commerce clause which it could have used — the power of the government to regulate interstate commerce — and concentrated on the 14th Amendment's guarantee of equal treatment.

It ruled that the 1875 act forbidding discrimination in public accommodations — under the 14th Amendment's equal protection — "only intended to forbid states to pass discriminatory laws. The court held that it didn't apply to individuals, like hotel or theater owners, who were thus left free to discriminate.

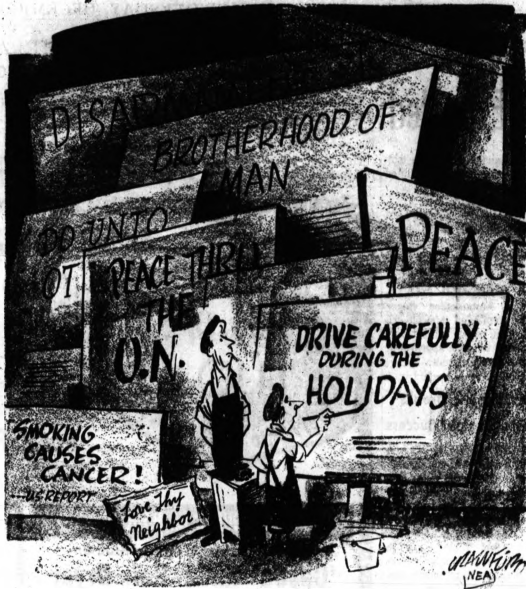

But after the 1883 decision of the court, Congress passed no other major legislation against discrimination in public accommodations until the summer of 1964, even though after the 1883 decision states piled up segregation laws.

One of the main and most persistent arguments against the 1964 act was that telling businessmen they had to serve all kinds of people would deprive Americans of personal and property rights. The act was passed after a record Senate filibuster and signed into law by President Johnson last July 2.

It ran into some quick defiance and test cases were rushed to the court. Tuesday's unanimous opinion was written by Justice Tom Clark.

"Sometimes I Wonder If We're Getting Through To Them"

David Lawrence Asks:

Is Barry Target in Burch Case?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater regards the fight to remove Dean Burch as national chairman of the Republican party as a move to repudiate not only the Republican presidential nominee but also those who worked for him in the recent election campaign.

The Arizona senator, in an interview published this week in "U.S. News & World Report," was asked what is behind the fight against Burch. Goldwater said:

"Let's face it — a vote of 'no confidence' would be aimed right at me, and at millions of people who have been working their hearts out in this party for what they believe in."

This view has been corroborated unwittingly by Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who, in a speech a few days ago in New York, said with reference to the removal of Burch as national chairman: "The unhappy impression is abroad in the land today that the Republican party has tended toward a policy of exclusion, rather than inclusion."

"At this time and in this context of exclusion," I would favor replacing the national chairman even if he agreed absolutely and completely with me on every issue, on every philosophical detail.

Capital Letter:

Vision of LBJ 'Starvation' Dances in Ruth's Head

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Visions of starvation rather than suppers have danced in our head since learning that 1964's Nobel Prize winner in medicine — President Johnson — is fast for several days at a time to keep trim.

We can see it now: LBJ stoical, MONTGOMERY sipping a glass of tap water while the rest of the Johnson clan gorges itself on turkey 'n' trimmings at a festive Christmas table. Lady Bird hiding the nuts and oranges that Santa leaves in her husband's stocking . . . the little beagle refusing to share a bone with his hungry master.

Will the President do it?

We took the challenge directly to George Reedy, the President's hulking press secretary.

"Whether he is a conservative or a liberal or a moderate or a right-handed fiddle player, the national chairman must step down because that's the only way we can begin to say to Americans that we truly want to become a broad-based, majority party."

NO SIGN

The split in the Republican party is far from being repaired. Goldwater gives no sign of retreating or surrendering on policies or viewpoints which he has expressed. He feels that he has been beaten not entirely by the Democrats, but by fellow Republicans. He declared in the magazine interview:

"Now, the reasons for the loss of the campaign go way past him (Dean Burch). It just happens to be the man who was chairman. He's been doing a fine job, and he should be given the chance to show what he can really do, with a little time to do it."

"Frankly, I think that I was beaten July 15 . . . the events leading up to the convention — not the convention itself — but the culmination when Rockefeller and George Romney — not Scranton so much, because Scranton pitched in — when they refused to back the ticket, except by voice in Rockefeller's case."

"I think that made it virtually impossible for us to do anything to retain the Republicans that they, seemingly, influenced by the bomb scare and the Social Security scare."

In 1912, the regular Republicans nominated William Howard

Taft, but the "progressives" disagreed, organized their own party and nominated Theodore Roosevelt.

Naturally, the three-party election meant a split Republican vote and a sure victory for the Democrats.

It took four years for the Republicans to get together again, and in 1916 they were united when they nominated Charles Evans Hughes, who was then a justice on the Supreme Court.

Maybe the Republicans will again have to get someone who has not participated in the party battles of 1964 to be their next nominee.

Senate's Good Name at Stake

The San Diego Union

As the U.S. Senate Rules Committee reports a partial investigation of the Bobby Baker case, the question still is not whether he did wrong, but how extensive was his wrong. Baker voluntarily resigned last year when it was learned he used the influence of his position to amass a $2 million fortune in more than 25 years of government employment. His highest salary had been $19,600.

After more than a year of talk and perfunctory investigation by the Senate Rules Committee, the Baker case remains clouded with continuing overtones of immorality, payoffs, wrongdoing and general "wheel-dealing."

All attempts at a thorough probe in the full public exposure in the past have been rebuffed for political reasons.

Lemmon P. McClendon, attorney for the Rules Committee, said as the investigation reopened he will stick to a single subject — that of an alleged $2.5 million payment on a performance bond for the Washington stadium. A witness has said

Reader Suggests Possible Constitution Amendment

The constitutional provision for election of judges is good. The new constitution should be amended to provide for the election of several circuit court judges "at large."

This would make qualified elected judges available for appointment by the governor to fill vacancies caused by death or resignation and provide a pool for assignments to temporary duty as replacements for judges who are ill.

Such an amendment would obviate the necessity for holding special elections at prohibitive cost.

OBSERVANT

Delinquency Weapon

The Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel

A juvenile court judge in Memphis has a new weapon in the fight against delinquency: Bill the parents for the cost of keeping wayward children in institutions. This cost is normally borne by the state, which is to say taxpayers as a whole, so the actions of Judge Kenneth Turner are revolutionary. Judge Turner thinks most of the problems of juvenile delinquency can be traced to the training and guidance youngsters receive from parents.

So in actually forcing parents to pay out cash for the rehabilitation of youngsters, Judge Turner is in the first place, he is reminding them through their pocket books of their duty to their homes and society in general. And what if the parents don't pay? Judge Turner holds it is to keep its good name. Unless the wrongdoings are pursued to the end the people's confidence in government will be undermined.

Judge Turner operates his court on the theory that "delinquent parents cause delinquent children" in 75 per cent of the cases, and I'm trying in every way possible to hold such parents responsible for their behavior."

It is possible the Turner method may have some beneficial results. If so, it should be widely copied.

Hare: Resume Dem Donations

Branch Officers Told
After Ferency Talk

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare asked his branch managers to resume contributions to the Democratic party Tuesday after a "full and frank" discussion with party chairman Zoltan Ferency.

Earlier this month Hare asked the managers to withhold contributions until campaign fund allocation could be reviewed.

Ferency refused to comment on any aspect of the meeting.

Hare issued a two-sentence written statement, then left his office.

FRANK DISCUSSION

The statement said: "I have had a full and frank discussion with party chairman Zoltan Ferency and we have reached an understanding. Based on that understanding I am asking the branch office managers to resume making voluntary contributions should they so desire."

The more than 200 managers, political appointees, contribute about 20 per cent of party funds, by Hare's estimate.

Hare had estimated the party was not giving enough financial help to lower-level candidates or those in close races.

NOT AWARE

Ferency had said Hare was not aware of recent campaign fund procedure changes—which he refused to discuss. The matter had been brought up Thursday at a party financial committee meeting.

Prize Student Is Charged in Church Thefts

GENAZZANO, Italy (AP)—A 50-year-old photographer was accused today of stealing $160,000 worth of church art from the monastery where he had been raised as an orphan and was regarded as the priests' prize pupil.

Charged with theft was Appio Marselli, 25, who had his own quarters at the Roman Catholic monastery in this community outside Rome.

Police called in to investigate a series of thefts extending over the past two years said they found many missing items hidden in Marselli's room, including a 35-inch gold cross, candlesticks and antique paintings.

Marselli came to the monastery at the age of 11. His shyness and honest, helpful manner quickly made him a favorite. He was regarded as part of the religious community.

But police said he had been living quite a different life away from the monastery.

They said he bought a car, took frequent trips to Rome, had a wardrobe of elegant clothes and was known in neighboring communities as a free spender.

83 Orphans Benefit

CMU Aids 'Adopted' Koreans

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—Central Michigan University students tucked an extra $50 "for Christmas" into their December check for 83 adopted brothers and sisters half a world away—in Korea.

The "brothers and sisters" are orphans, and Central Michigan students have raised $10,200 for them since "adopting" the walls in 1959.

Providing for "Central's Chosen Children" has become a universitywide project since it first was organized by Neil Kirwin, a student smitten by the thousands of orphans he had seen in Korea as a U. S. soldier.

Working with the American-Korean Foundation, Kirwin's group chose 46 children at Yoon Sen Orphanage outside Musan, about 40 miles north of Seoul and less than 10 miles from the North Korean border.

CHOSEN ONES

Children there still are Central's chosen ones, but the population has grown, thanks largely to the affection shown by some 5,300 big "brothers and sisters" on the mid-Michigan college campus.

The 1964 fall campaign raised $2,790, and a 30-member committee of students and teachers, headed by sophomore William A. Nowak, is planning a benefit their departure will create room for others.

How do Central Michigan's students raise money for their chosen children?

There are slave sales, in which co-eds bid against one another for male students who will become their slaves for a day, bound to obey every order. Dormitories nominate coeds for queen, and the crown goes to the girl whose dormitory raises the most cash.

SMASH CAR

For those with a yen to smash something, they can get a sledge hammer and an old car to beat up—for a price.

Raising activities for April 12.

The December check forwarded through the foundation to Musan was $400, instead of a customary $350 for the month.

"We never send items, always money," the 19-year-old Nowak explained, "because money travels much more inexpensively than shipped goods."

URGENT NEEDS

But money often is designated for certain purchases, because Corn Sow Song, an orphanage staff member, keeps up a correspondence he started with Kirwin, outlining most urgent needs.

For instance, Central students are donating $50 a month to pay off a mortgage on three acres of farm land purchased for the orphanage, which is run by Mrs. Sa Nyo Kang.

"This new farm land," Nowak said, "can help them become more self sufficient, with less money required to purchase food."

The orphans range in age from 2 to 16. Agriculture is one of the subjects taught in the orphanage school which is primarily devoted to vocations.

Detroit Court Action Possible in Olsen-Rights Group Split

DETROIT (AP)—Possible court action may be taken to test the position of Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen in advising police agencies they may refuse to cooperate with Michigan's Civil Rights Commission on criminal cases.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley met Tuesday with Detroit officials and commission representatives in an effort to thrash out the dispute.

After the meeting, Kelley told newsmen he hoped to correct a y misinterpretations that might result from a letter Olsen sent Monday to the 90 police agencies in Wayne County, including Detroit.

Kelley, who has issued an opinion granting sweeping power to the constitutionally-created Civil Rights Commission, said he believed Olsen's advice to be in error.

He said if the area of disagreement cannot be settled by administrative interpretation, "we stand ready to take immediate action in court."

The dispute was touched off when Olsen told the police agencies.

"You are advised that you need not respond to inquiries nor permit investigation to be made by any representatives of the commission of the details, records, evidence or other information concerning complaints of violations of law in any cases being prepared by your department for possible or eventual presentation to my office."

In this area, interrogation of police officers and witnesses need not be permitted."

In rebuttal, the commission said Olsen had "curiously misinterpreted" its powers and authority. It added:

"His advice, if acted upon, would deprive citizens of equal protection of laws, contribute to the defiance of the Constitution by law enforcement authorities and threaten this constitutional agency of government contrary to the will of the people."

Olsen in turn branded the commission statement "ludicrous."

It is his constitutional function as prosecutor, he said, to recommend warrants where there has been misconduct by any police officer.

Playing Down Detective Role

NEW YORK (AP)—In the old days, the Pinkerton National Detective Agency had a hand in tracking down such notorious badmen as Jesse James, Sam Bass and the Younger brothers.

Starting Jan. 1, the world's biggest private police force will be known simply as Pinkerton's, Inc. It wants to play down its private eye role and emphasize its less glamorous work as industrial guards.

Robert A. Pinkerton II, the fourth-generation member of his family to head the agency, announced the name change Tuesday.

Almost 90 per cent of the agency's business this year has been in noninvestigative work, said Edward J. Bednarz, executive vice president and general manager.

Pinkerton's was founded in Chicago in 1850 by a Scottish-born detective, Allan Pinkerton.

John Pierpont Morgan, financier-banker, was instrumental in forming the U.S. Steel Corp. in 1901 and International Harvester Corp. a year later.

School Stiffens Drinking Policy

DETROIT (AP) — In one of the strongest crackdowns on student drinking in public school history, the principal of Detroit's Denby High School has warned that students who come to school functions after drinking will be taken to a police station.

Parents will be called by the police. Principal Irvin Wolf said in a letter sent to 2,700 families, and students will be suspended from school immediately.

Wolf said his decision to act before the holidays was prompted by "address at the thought that one or more of our students will be involved in an accident in which drinking is a factor." The anti-drinking campaign, he added, is based on a joint decision on the part of concerned students, parents, faculty and himself.

"I consider it a serious problem," he said. "We conducted a sample survey among 300 sophomores, juniors and seniors and discovered that 61 per cent of the student body has drunk liquor at sometime or another."

Reservists Advised to Sit Tight on Defense Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is advising reservists to sit tight and wait for the switch to the National Guard.

"Army reservists have nothing to do in preparation for the move except to continue to serve in their jobs and capacity, until the conversion is completed," it said.

Defense officials said Tuesday the National Guard will be expanded to a 550,000-man force wholly on a volunteer basis and that a Reserve unit could make the change to the Guard if 60 per cent to 70 per cent of its members agreed.

In response to a series of questions, the Army among other things confirmed reports that the conversion is due to be completed by March 31, 1968. It will begin next July 1.

OTHER QUESTIONS

These were some other questions the Army answered:

Q. What happens to men who have amassed retirement points?

A. Individuals who are transferred to the active standby Reserve may continue to amass points for retirement although at a somewhat slower rate. If the individual is transferred to the inactive standby Reserve, he will not accrue further retirement points although he does not lose those which have been previously amassed.

Q. What happens to the college ROTC programs? Will all graduates go into the Guard?

A. Nothing happens to the college ROTC program as a result of the restructuring action. Graduates will go into the Guard only on a voluntary basis. Those who do not want to go into the Guard will remain members of the Army Reserve in a manpower pool not subject to regular drills but liable for possible summer training.

Q. What choices now are open to draft-age youths who have been able to enlist in the six-month reserve program, go on active duty for that period and serve out the rest of their six-year reserve obligation with either Guard or Reserve units?

A. Under the proposed change, an individual has the opportunity to enlist for Reserve unit service only in the National Guard.

Q. Since there still are racially segregated National Guard units in the South, will reservists be placed in segregated units?

A. The concept envisions that reservists will be transferred, both as individuals and as units, to the National Guard in accordance with skill requirements and geographical location.

GOP Senator Praises CIA After Secret Tour of World

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A senator just back from an inspection trip around the world said today the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) is doing a better job than its Soviet counterpart, and with less men.

Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., based his conclusion on a top-secret tour of CIA posts in 14 countries and American military installations in 15 foreign nations.

He made the trip as a member of the special Senate subcommittee authorized to examine in detail the CIA's multimillion dollar budget—the actual amount of which is "hidden" in budgets of other agencies.

"I was not quite satisfied that I was voting intelligently on their appropriation requests," Young told United Press International in explaining the purpose of his trip.

Young said he was tremendously impressed by operations of CIA agents throughout the world. He added: "Their work is far more effective than the public generally gives them credit for."

SOVIET COUNTERPART
"Their results are better than those of the Russian KGB, the Soviet counterpart, even though the Russians have more than twice as many personnel," Young declared.

The North Dakota Republic

can said some previous criticism of CIA may have been justified, but he added that "it is a far better organization now than in the years past."

Young praised the administration of CIA Director John A. McCone. "He is as good a man as we could have," Young said. "It would be unfortunate if he were replaced."

The senator said he found U.S. military installations overseas at a high state of preparedness, "ready to fight almost immediately if they have to."

HELICOPTER FLIGHT
A helicopter flight over South Viet Nam persuaded him that the proposal to bomb supply lines of the North Vietnamese might do some good, Young said.

"But it's not as important as many persons think it is," he said. "The Viet Cong guerrillas live almost entirely on the economy of South Viet Nam, stealing and capturing what they need."

Young was high in praise of U.S. military and diplomatic officials there, and said he believed this country must continue to provide help to South Viet Nam.

"But the South Vietnamese are going to have to win the war," he said. "They can if they have the will and the leadership. Otherwise, it's a lost cause."

Shows Charged Particle Field

Satellite Finds Earth Has Invisible Magnetic Tail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Imp 1 satellite has confirmed that the earth is a sort of "magnetic comet," wagging behind it on the side away from the sun a gigantic "tail" of invisible magnetic force lines.

Gone forever is the classic picture of a symmetrical magnetic field around the earth with force lines dipping uniformly on all sides from high points over the equator to low points toward the poles.

Imp also has discovered and explored a "magnetic limbo" on the night side of the earth which may be the charged particle bank maintaining the Van Allen radiation belts and generating Northern and Southern Lights.

According to Dr. Norman F. Ness of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's God-

dard Space Flight Center, this could explain the mysterious "gegenschein" — a faint glow in the night sky which man has been observing for 200 years without knowing what caused it.

Ness announced Imp's discovery of the region of little or no magnetic activity — called a "neutral sheet" — and of its confirmation of the "magnetic comet" concept yesterday at a news conference.

LOOKS LIKE INSECT
Imp, an "interplanetary monitoring platform" resembling an insect, was launched Nov. 26, 1963.

Its designed lifetime was one year. But nearly 13 months after launch its instruments, the most sophisticated ever flown on a satellite, still are sending back 1,000 minutes of information daily.

Imp plunges more than 122,000 miles into space in every circuit of the earth. It takes more than three days to complete one orbit.

A "solar wind" of charged particles collides incessantly with the edge of the earth's magnetic field on the side next to the sun.

STRETCH LINES
This flattens the so-called magnetosphere on that side but distorts the force lines on the opposite side "much more than was thought before," scientists said after analyzing Imp's data.

These lines, vastly elongated on the "antisolar side," stream far out into space. Imp discovered on the earth's backside, at a distance of about 40,000 miles, a region of hardly any magnetic activity.

This "neutral sheet" varies in thickness up to 4,000 miles, depending on how actively the sun is boiling off charged particles.

On the sun side of the earth, the solar wind creates a standing shock wave and a region of magnetic turbulence at the edge of the magnetosphere about 50,000 miles from the earth's surface.

EASY WAY OUT
Charged sun particles which can't drive through the shock wave take the easy way and flow out and around the earth into the tail region behind it.

In the twilight zone of the neutral sheet, with only weak forces or none at all operating on them, they tend to accumulate and regroup.

Diffusing from this region, they spill into the high atmosphere, creating the Northern and Southern Lights.

That, at least, is the theory. This region may also be the long-sought particle depository from which the Van Allen radiation zones are replenished.

These zones, named after Dr. James A. Van Allen of the State University of Iowa, were discovered by the early Explorer satellites launched in 1958.

Shots Exchanged Near Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP) — A speedboat loaded with armed Indonesians traded fire with a Malaysian territorial army unit stationed on an island off Singapore Tuesday night.

There were no known casualties, officials reported today.

A spokesman estimated that seven Indonesians were aboard the speedboat, which sped back toward Indonesian waters after the exchange of fire.

King Hails Compliance With Civil Rights Act in Southern States

By the Associated Press
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has joined other Negro leaders in hailing widespread Southern compliance with the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act.

The president of the Atlanta-based Southern Christian Leadership Conference said in Paris Tuesday that compliance "has been good up to now and will be improved" as a result of the U. S. Supreme Court decision upholding the ban on discrimination in public facilities.

King, who was en route home from Oslo where he received the Nobel Peace Prize, added: "The hard core of resistance, it is hoped, will recognize and obey the law of the land."

But pockets of resistance remained in some rural sections of the South, especially in communities where there were no biracial committees. Such groups helped smooth the path for desegregation in major Southern cities.

NEED TESTING

Paul Anthony of the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta said businesses in most rural communities probably would comply if the act were tested.

Richard Haley, regional director for the Congress of Racial Equality at New Orleans, said his office has received only six complaints from Louisiana since the civil rights law went into effect.

This absence of complaints, he said, could mean little effort is being made to test the public accommodations section.

Tests in some Mississippi cities resulted in compliance with the law, but there is little desegregation in the state. The Jackson Chamber of Commerce recommended compliance in July and most facilities which did not comply converted to private clubs.

SMALL RESISTANCE

In North Carolina, no major areas of resistance were reported. The president of the NAACP in the state, Kelly Alexander, said that next year his organization would work for better educational and employment opportunities.

The need to concentrate on discrimination in jobs, education and housing also was mentioned by Negro leaders in Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia.

In South Carolina, many businesses have complied with the law. In Texas and Virginia, where there has been little open resistance, voter registration is being emphasized rather than demonstrations and sit-ins.

The Lee House Diner in Petersburg, last known holdout against the civil rights law in Virginia, said it would comply with the law after the Supreme Court upheld the public accommodations section.

DESEGREGATION

Desegregation of restaurants and motels continued in Atlanta

once the scene of demonstrations and mass arrests.

But Lester Maddox reiterated that he would never serve Negroes at his segregated Atlanta cafeteria. His case is pending before the Supreme Court.

John Lewis, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said he was gratified by the degree of compliance in rural Georgia.

Lewis and other civil rights leaders said there would have been no compliance with the law and little or no desegregation without demonstrations and testing.

Ex-U. S. Official Dies

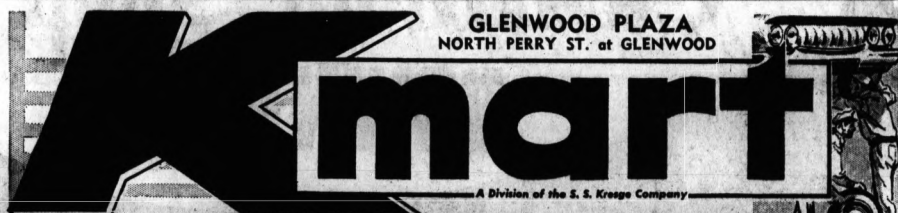

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Attorney Louis H. Grettengberger, 68, who had served formerly as an assistant U. S. district attorney and as deputy city attorney and also was a city charter commission member in 1961, died Tuesday at Butterworth Hospital. He was admitted last Friday.

Home Blaze Kills 4 Young Sisters

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — Four young sisters died Tuesday night in a fire which destroyed their one-story frame home at nearby Corriganville. State police said Paula Jean Feters, 8, and her sisters, Dorothy Louise, 7, Clara Fay, 3, and Debbie Kay, 2, were killed.

Another sister, Darlene, 16, was in fair condition at Sacred Heart Hospital with second- and third-degree burns.

The mother, Gladys, 36, and three sons and another daughter escaped unharmed. The father, John J. Feters, 38, is a patient at Sacred Heart, where he has been employed as an orderly.

Delay Launch of Craft Set to Map Radiation

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The launch of a radiation-mapping satellite to help chart future Apollo moonship flight paths has been postponed from Friday to Saturday at the earliest.

The shot, last on the 1964 space launch schedule here, was delayed by troubles with a device used to ignite the solid propellant in the third stage of the satellite's Delta launch rocket.

The Food and Drug Administration has warned against the use of tranquilizers unless prescribed by a physician.

Try to Rebuild Bombed Church for Yule

OVERLIN, Ohio (AP) — They're calling it "Carpenters for Christmas" and the plan is to help rebuild a bombed-out church so Negroes in Ripley, Miss., will have a shelter to worship the Christ child.

About 30 students, teachers and townspeople, mostly from Oberlin, will leave here Saturday for Ripley, where the Antioch Missionary Church was bombed and burned Oct. 30 following a Freedom Democratic party civil rights rally.

More than 1,300 Oberlin College students will skip dinner today and chip in the $500 saved to help finance the project, which is led by the Oberlin Action for Civil Rights group. It's an independent organization church.

chartered by Oberlin College. Final goal for fund-raising is $10,000. Oberlin church congregations gave Thanksgiving Day offerings to the fund which now stands at about $1,500.

ABOUT $5,000

"About $5,000 would at least put a roof over their heads," said Jerry VonKorff, chairman of the project.

The "carpenters" plan to complete the shell of a newly designed building by Jan. 2, at the end of Oberlin's Christmas vacation, so students and teachers can return to classes.

The workers include a mason contractor, a skilled carpenter and several persons with experience in carpentry. They will work along with men of the Oberlin Independent organization church.

The "carpenters" are receiving help from the Council of Federated Organizations, composed of all civil rights groups working in Mississippi.

Ex-Warden Succumbs

WASHINGTON'S CROSSING, N.J. (AP) — Mark O. Kimberling, 78, who as warden of the state prison at Trenton, N.J., executed Bruno Richard Hauptmann in 1936 for the kidnap slaying of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., died Tuesday at his home after long illness. Kimberling later was New Jersey state police superintendent.

The Congress passed a minimum wage bill calling for 75 cents an hour rate in 1949.

Peron Yields on 'No Politics' Order in Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Ex-President Juan D. Peron of Argentina has agreed to cease all political activities so he can continue to live in exile in Spain, the Spanish government announced today.

Some of Peron's associates said his acceptance of the Spanish government's conditions for continuance of his asylum was political suicide for him. They predicted a battle for leadership of the Peronist movement would follow in Argentina.

They also predicted that Peron's decision would be a severe blow to the prestige of his organization in Argentina.

They're Welcome to Try Out

Women Applying for Jobs as Astronauts

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Woman, not content with an almost complete conquest of man's world on earth, wants to help him conquer space.

Applications by the dozens are being received by the Manned Spacecraft Center from women scientists for one of the jobs being opened up for scientists-astronauts.

"We are not throwing out any applications just because they come from women," a space agency spokesman said today. "Being a man wasn't one of the requirements for the job."

"I don't know how many women have applied, but I do know it is a large number and many are still being considered. If there isn't a woman chosen, it won't be because of sex."

NO APPLY

More than 800 persons have been applied to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the 10 to 20 positions NASA will fill next year.

Of that number, 200 applications were tossed out because physical requirements were not met, the space agency said. Most of these were rejected because applicants wore glasses.

NASA said the objection to scientists wearing glasses was that pressure suit helmets and spectacles don't go together, and contact lenses are impractical in space flight.

MANY TYPES

Almost every type of scientist has applied, ranging from doctors to botanists. However, the Manned Spacecraft Center said there was a "particular interest in receiving additional inquiries from the geological sciences."

Recruiting ends Dec. 31. Recommendations will be made by the National Academy of Sciences to NASA in the spring of 1965.

If a scientist can't fly, he or she will receive flight training in jet aircraft and helicopters.

To qualify, a scientist must be under 34 years old, a U.S. citizen and no taller than 6 feet, and must hold a bachelor's degree and a doctorate or the equivalent in experience.

At present the nation has 28 astronauts, all men.

America's hydroelectric power needs are expected to be three or four times greater in 1990 than they are now.

How Children Fail—9

Pressure Forces Students to Be Answer-Conscious

By JOHN HOLT

Copyright 1964, The Folio Press, Inc. Kids in school seem to use a fairly consistent strategy. Even the good students use it much of the time; the bad students use it all the time; and everyone uses it when they feel under pressure.

One way of describing this strategy is to say that it is an answer-centered rather than a problem-centered. The difference can best be seen by comparing the way in which the two kinds of people deal with a problem.

The problem-centered person sees a problem as a statement about a situation, from which something has been left out.

In other words, there is in this situation a relationship or consequence that has not been stated and that must be found.

He attacks the problem by thinking about the situation, by trying to create it whole in his mind. When he sees it whole, he knows which part has been left out, and the answer comes almost by itself.

ANSWER-CENTERED

But most children in school are answer-centered rather than problem-centered. They see a problem as a kind of announcement that, far off in some mysterious Answerland, there is an answer, which they are supposed to go out and find.

Some children begin right away to try to pry this answer out of the mind of the teacher.

Little children know, especially if they are cute-looking, that if they look baffled or frightened enough, teacher will usually tell them what they need to know. This is called "helping them."

Bolder children are ready to sally forth into Answerland in a kind of treasure hunt for the answer. For them, the problem is an answer-getting recipe, a set of hints or clues telling them what to do.

These producers think, "Let's see, what did I do last time I had a problem like this?" If they remember their recipes, and don't mix them up, they may be good at the answer-hunting game, and the answers they bring home may often be right ones.

RIGHT ANSWERS

Practically everything we do in school tends to make children answer-centered. In the first place, right answers pay off.

Schools are a kind of temple of worship for "right answers," and the way to get ahead is to lay plenty of them on the altar.

In the second place, the chances are good that teachers themselves are answer-centered. What they do, they do because this is what they were or are told to do, or what the book says to do, or what they have always done.

In the third place, even those teachers who are not themselves answer-centered will probably not see the distinction between problem-centeredness and answer-centeredness, far less understand its importance.

Thus their ways of teaching children, and, above all, the sheer volume of work they give them, will force the children into answer-directed strategies.

I have noticed many times that when the workload of the class is light, kids are willing to do some thinking, to take time to figure things out; when the workload is heavy, the "I don't get it" begins to sound, the thinking stops, they expect us to show them everything.

IRONICAL CONSEQUENCE

Thus one ironical consequence of the drive for so-called higher standards in schools is that the children are too busy to think.

When kids are in a situation where they are not under pressure to come up with a right answer, far less do it quickly, they can do amazing things. One day I gave a class some problems.

I said, "You have never seen problems like these, you don't know how to do them, and I don't care whether you get them right or not."

"I just want to see how you go about trying to do them." The problems were basically simple algebra problems — the kind of problem that many first-year algebra students find so difficult.

IMAGINATION

The fifth graders tore into them with imagination, resourcefulness and common sense — in a word, intelligently. They solved them in many ways, including some I hadn't thought of. But it was about that time that the school began to worry about my going too slowly.

Soon I was told to speed up the pace, which I am ashamed to say I did, and the children lapsed right back into their old strategies. Probably for keeps.

U.N. Shot Weapon Was German-Made

NEW YORK (UPI)—Army ordnance experts revealed yesterday that the weapon used to fire a shell at the United Nations last week was a rocket launcher of German make and not a bazooka as originally thought.

According to police, a spokesman at Aberdeen (Md.) Proving Grounds said the U.S. bazooka has a slightly wider barrel than the launcher tube found across the East River from the headquarters of the world organization.

The shell, fired while Cuban Industry Minister Ernesto Guevara was addressing the General Assembly, fell short of its mark.

Bangkok, capital of Thailand, is a busy industrial center producing tin, teak, rubber and rice products. Oil refineries and shipyards also are vital installations.

Launched in Virginia

Italy Joins 'Space Club' With Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Italian spacecraft dubbed "San Marcos" and stamped "launched in the U.S.A." is whirling around the earth every 95 minutes.

Italians are jubilant over the success of the 254-pound satellite which was rocketed into orbit by an Italian crew late Tuesday from the U.S. space agency's station at Wallops Island, Va.

With the space achievement, Italy becomes the third nation to orbit a satellite. Only the United States and the Soviet Union had orbited space vehicles previously.

"Now Italy has joined a select group of nations that have placed a satellite into orbit," said Sergio Fenuelle, Italian ambassador to the United States. He thanked the United States for its assistance.

5-YEAR EFFORT

For the crew of 75 Italians, the successful launching capped an effort of more than two years, during which they had trained at various U.S. bases under an agreement between the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Italian Space Commission.

The Italians, many accompanied by their wives and children, celebrated after the shot with a "victory party."

U.S. crews had previously launched three satellites for foreign nations — one for Canada and two for Britain.

But except for the four-stage Scout rocket and some of the data and tracking equipment, everything for Tuesday's shot was provided by Italy, including the launch complex, the entire crew and tracking and support facilities which were not available from NASA.

PAID THEIR WAY

Under the terms of the agreement between NASA and the Italian commission, "no exchange of funds" was involved. Each country paid for the equipment it provided.

The 254-pound payload was actually a satellite within a satellite, with a light spherical shell covering a heavy metal sphere. Its mission is to study the ionosphere and measure atmospheric density at high altitudes.

First chartings indicated the San Marcos satellite was circling the earth in an orbit ranging from a low of 128 miles to a high of 518 miles.

The satellite is the first of a series which Italy plans to launch. Others will be sent up from floating platforms in the Indian Ocean.

Battle Brews Over 'Raid' on County Water

By PAT McCARTY

A battle which finds its counterpart in the history of the Old West is brewing between North Oakland County citizens and those of neighboring Genesee County.

"Never, since the days of the Old West, when sheepmen turned against cattlemen as their sources of water were diverted, has such an injustice been perpetrated by one community on another," Kenneth Van Natta declared.

Van Natta heads the North Oakland Water Association (NOWA) which is preparing to defend the area's groundwater supply from diversion by the Genesee Valley Utilities Authority.

The NOWA was formed earlier this month in reaction to the Genesee group's announcement that it would seek federal funds to investigate the feasibility of drilling a water well in Oakland County.

With the support of several North Oakland townships behind it, the NOWA is attempting to enlist more members and will make another appeal tomorrow night in Independence Township.

MEETING SET

Open to all county residents interested in the situation, the meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Meanwhile, the utilities authority has applied for a $221,000 loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency through its Chicago office.

The authority, composed of 10 Genesee County townships, has been considering North Oakland County as a potential water source since early summer.

Authority spokesmen have said the loan would be used for engineering studies, sinking a test well and other development work in Oakland County.

LEGAL ASPECTS

Robert McKenney, a Holly attorney, has been delving into the legal aspects of the intended operation.

He said J. P. Harris, regional director of community facilities for the federal agency, has indicated the authority has a good chance of getting its loan but that the procedure will take about 60 days.

"We have written to Chicago to demand a hearing," McKenney said. "Since they're spending over a quarter of a million dollars in public funds, it would seem to be that a careful and thorough investigation is required."

McKenney's question, and that of the NOWA, is: "Don't we have certain rights to resources in our county greater than those of outsiders?"

PROTESTS SENT

Copies of McKenney's protest have been sent to Sen. Philip A. Hart, 18th District Congressman and William Broomfield and Representative-elect from the 19th District, Billie S. Farnum.

AREA NEWS

— depleting of an absolutely necessary resource of one county for the use in another," McKenney said.

Aside from attempting to prevent the utilities authority from taking Oakland water, McKenney suggested that a federal grant could be sought for a "positive program to develop this for the Oakland County communities."

Supervisor John Carey of Springfield Township is preparing a similar idea for presentation to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

ASK ASSISTANCE

He plans to ask for the assistance of the county planning commission and department of public works in preserving and developing for future use the water of North Oakland County.

Carey is being backed by Supervisors Seeley Tinsman of Holly and Earl Rhinevault of Groveland townships.

NOWA's public relations committee.

He has contacted State Conservation Department officials who have indicated they will conduct a full investigation of the matter. The conservation department maintains several recreation areas in that portion of the county.

Townships already participating in the NOWA are Holly, Groveland, Brandon, Rose, Springfield and Independence.

However, NOWA members are seeking a broader foundation, based on the fear that "underground water removed from North Oakland County will affect the underground water supply all over the county."

In Pontiac Twp.

Water Main Plans to Proceed

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—About 100 township residents have been lopped from the plans, but the Township Board is proceeding with a scaled-down $1.19-million water main project.

The board has passed a resolution calling for preparation of a new assessment roll reflecting changes wrought by residents' petitions opposing the water main system.

A public hearing on the special assessment roll has been set for Jan. 25.

The assessments are to cover $610,500 of the total cost of the project, with the remainder coming from tap-in fees and other charges.

The water main plan has a somewhat leaner look, with one of 10 original assessment districts eliminated with petitions, and part of another cut out by the same means.

FOUR DISTRICTS

Petitions came from four of the 10 districts at a Nov. 17 public hearing on the plan, but District 10 was the only one to meet the requirements of Public Act 188 in eliminating itself from the proposal.

District 9, while it did not meet minimum requirements in terms of valid petition signatures, has had the lots on both sides of Lapeer Road between Walton Boulevard and Opdyke Road pared from the plans.

A minimum of 20 per cent of the property owners "of record" representing an equal or better percentage of the land in each district had to sign petitions in order to eliminate their district.

Opposition to the proposal as it was put before residents at the public hearing centered on the cost to individual residents and on the alleged failure of the board to consider less costly alternatives to the plan.

DETROIT WATER

One of these alternatives was the purchase of Detroit water from the City of Pontiac, which would construct and maintain the water mains.

Pontiac officials disclosed that it would be cheaper for the township to obtain Detroit water directly from the large main along South Boulevard by constructing its own system.

Opponents of the township system have argued that a "package plan" including both water and sewer systems could be obtained from the City of Pontiac at a net savings of 20 per cent on the sewer portion.

INFORMATION NEEDED

But Pontiac city officials indicated they could not supply accurate figures until the township could provide more specific information on its requirements.

Under the original plan, a total cost of $668 per residential unit was predicted for the water main system.

Under the altered plan, with District 10 and part of District 9 eliminated, the total cost per residential unit has been estimated at roughly the same figure, perhaps less, by Charles Moon, bonding counsel for the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The $668 included a $330 assessment regardless of whether the residents connected up or not, a $100 tap-in fee and $138 for the cost of a "stub" from the main to the property line.

Added to this was an estimated $1 per-foot cost for a two-inch main from the property line to the home, the only variable aspect of the cost.

Farmington Township Alters Zoning Code

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Provisions for multiple residence zoning in the township have been altered on two points.

Amendments to the township zoning code adopted by the Township Board call for review of site plans by the trustees and provision for two parking spaces for each unit.

Plans Under Way for School Project

WALLED LAKE — Plans already are under way for the first project to be tackled in the $1.5-million school building program approved here Monday.

The board of education has authorized architects at Warren Holmes Co. of Lansing to proceed with final plans and specifications for a seven-room addition at Keith Elementary School and for libraries at Commerce, Decker and Walled Lake elementary schools.

The firm designed the original Keith School which went into operation in January.

The $140,000 wing was cited as the most immediate need in the new program. It and the libraries are to be completed by the fall of 1965.

Area Peace Corpsman

Duty in Africa Calls

WALLED LAKE — The new African nation of Tanzania is the destination of Peace Corps volunteer Jo Ann Whipple, a Walled Lake native.

Miss Whipple, daughter of the Samuel L. Whipples of 1118 N. Pontiac Trail, is among 80 Peace Corpsmen who left for Tanzania last week.

During their 11-week training period at Syracuse University, they studied Swahili, the official language of the country. Also emphasized were the history and culture of the area, United States history and world affairs.

Miss Whipple, 29, is a graduate of Walled Lake High School and attended Greenville (Ill.) College.

A member of the charter class at Oakland University, she earned her bachelor's degree in April 1963.

WILL TEACH

In Tanzania, she will teach English on the seventh and eighth grade levels.

English, considered a key to the future success of young Tanzanians, is the country's second language and the standard medium of instruction from the sixth grade on.

More than 150 Peace Corps volunteers presently are at work in Tanzania in junior high education, agriculture, health, public works, law and secretarial projects.

For extracurricular activities, the volunteers may find themselves advising clubs, coaching drama groups or serving as librarians.

Those teaching in boarding schools also will work as dormitory supervisors.

JO ANN WHIPPLE

Will Await Ruling on Pay Hikes

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Setting of a referendum election on the salary increases of three township officials has been postponed by the Township Board.

Trustees have tabled action on a petition calling for the election until after a ruling on the matter is made by Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip J. Pratt.

Both the Circuit Court case and the election concern the raises granted the township's three full-time officials Nov. 2, the night before all were reelected.

The raises are to go into effect during fiscal 1965-66.

The election was moved by the board because the salary of Supervisor Curtis H. Hall from $11,200 to $15,000 a year, that of Clerk Floyd A. Cairns from $9,000 to $11,500 and of Treasurer Elsie Ayres from $6,300 to $11,000.

A week later 11 township residents filed a suit which claims that the action was illegal under state statute. Pratt has taken the matter under advisement and is expected to make a ruling soon.

1,700 SIGN

Meanwhile, a petition signed by nearly 1,700 township voters requested the board to place the issue on a special election ballot. The petition was presented to Cairns Dec. 1.

Request for a referendum election must be filed within 30 days after the action being questioned; therefore, the petitioners did not wait for Pratt's decision.

Cairns noted the board now will await further word from Pratt.

"It would be a little bit ridiculous to set an election on the raises and have the court declare them illegal anyway."

"That would be wasting the taxpayers' money," Cairns said.

All Wool Growers Urged to Keep Accurate Records

Wool growers, particularly those who market their lambs in the fall, were reminded today about the importance of keeping adequate sales records so that they can make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program.

According to Robert Long, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, the sales record for lambs sold should include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number and live-weight of lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn."

Some 300 Walled Lake school system employees and their spouses attended a dinner at Clifford H. Smart Junior High School last night to pay tribute to the man who has been school superintendent for 19 years.

Clifford H. Smart's resignation, effective Dec. 31, was made following his election to the Michigan House of Representatives from the 60th District.

Principal speaker at last night's event was Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland Schools Superintendent.

E. V. Ayres, high school principal, delivered a tribute from the staff. Smart received gifts from the staff and greetings from several officials, including Gov. George Romney.

Will Install New Officers

ORTONVILLE — Public installation of Ortonville Masonic Lodge No. 339 officers will follow a 7 p.m. dinner Saturday at the Masonic Temple.

Ellis Jencks will be installed as worshipful master.

Other officers to be installed are Ronald Turnbull, senior warden; Kenneth Kernen, junior warden; Benjamin Westerby, secretary; and Wilmer Kilbourn, treasurer.

Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn, to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before selling, he said.

The chairman also reminded growers that current marketings of wool and lambs through Dec. 31 will qualify for incentive payments under the wool program for the 1964 marketing year.

Beginning with 1964, the marketing year is the calendar year.

URGED TO FILE

Growers are urged to file their applications for payment, supported by the required sales documents, with the ASCS County Office as soon as possible after their fall sales are completed.

While applications for payments on 1964 marketings may be filed no later than the end of January 1965, an application may be submitted at any time between now and then.

Long said that lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records which will establish the length of time they have owned lambs on which they apply for payment.

Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lambs during the seller's ownership.

PLANNED FOR ROCHESTER—This is the architect's rendering of the 288-unit apartment complex to be built on Baldwin between Rochester Meadows subdivision No. 2 and the New York Central tracks in Rochester. Cost of the over-all project, including improvements, will total $3-million. Developer of the garden-type units is Bernard J. Head of Royal Oak and architect, Lorenz & Paski of Detroit. Herman Ippolito owns the 18-acre site. This will be the largest apartment complex ever constructed in Rochester.

Whale Is Mystery to Experts

DESTIN, Fla. (UPI) — A 15-foot whale which died after a shark attack has proven to be a mystery to sea life experts at the Gulfarium.

The 1,500-pound mammal died in a large "hospital tank" at the Gulfarium despite efforts of veterinarians and other specialists. The whale washed ashore near here Monday.

Local marine biologist were at a loss to identify the variety of the whale, and a post-mortem examination could not definitely find the cause of death.

Photographs and other information about the whale were to be sent to Dr. David K. Caldwell, curator of the Los Angeles County Museum in California.

Pontiac City Affairs

Propose 2nd 90-Day Extension of Bus Service Agreement

A second 90-day extension of the city's agreement with Pontiac Transit Corp. for bus service was proposed last night. City Manager Joseph A. Warren presented the proposal in a report on the bus situation to the City Commission.

The commission authorized the drafting of the formal agreement with the bus company. It is slated for action next week.

This is the second 90-day contract okayed with the bus firm. The first agreement expires at the end of the year.

The latest contract would expire March 31, 1965.

Essentially the same as the current pact, the new agreement provides for the city to pay bus company losses up to $1,715 per month.

STRAIGHT SUBSIDY

Of this amount, the city will pay a $430 per month straight subsidy without regard to the profit or loss incurred during the three months.

The monthly balance — $1,285 — is to be paid the bus company in any month in which revenues do not cover operating costs.

Pontiac Transit Corp., according to Warren's report, has had a net loss of $12,284 from July through October of this year.

The city, under its month-to-month arrangement with the bus firm, must absorb $6,000, while American Transit Corp., parent firm for Pontiac Transit, will absorb $6,534.

AGREED TO

Warren said that the extension of the bus contract has been agreed to by Ken E. Totten, regional manager for American Transit.

In other business last night, the commission approved an offer by the State Highway Department to purchase city-owned property for the projected M59 freeway.

The highway department seeks to purchase 21.8 acres within the city for $68,150 for M59 right-of-way. The freeway would run between the Grand Trunk Railroad and Union.

Also, the state seeks $4.8 acres for M59 roadway in Avon Township. The state offered $86,000 for the city's property in the township, now part of a tree farm on Crooks Road.

PROPERTY SALE

The M59 right-of-way sale included $550 to use city-owned land as waste disposal in connection with the freeway project, and $30,150 to borrow "fill" for the highway project.

Before okaying the sale, the commission had ordered an appraisal by John D. Mills, 45½ N. Saginaw, local realtor-appraiser.

Also last night, the commission heard a report from City Manager Warren on traffic problems on Wide Track.

Warren said accidents at the intersection of West Lawrence and West Wide Track had prompted a request to the State Highway Department for a traffic light there.

NOT CONTROLLED

He said the intersection is not now controlled by a signal.

Verbal okay of the light was received yesterday for the new light, said Warren.

The city manager said the prohibition of left turns from westbound Orchard Lake onto West Wide Track and from eastbound Auburn was also being discussed with state officials.

Warren indicated he was hopeful the restriction on left turns could be lifted, but said that the regulations on Wide Track were established by the state.

Will Consider Cray Vacancy

Waterford Township Board of Education members tomorrow night will consider the appointment of a junior high school principal.

The vacancy at Cray Junior High School will arise next term due to the planned transfer of present Cray Principal David Freeman to the new Mason Junior High School as principal.

Also slated for board attention is a formal resolution supporting the need for sidewalks in the school district to promote greater walking safety.

Trustee Donald Porter requested two weeks ago that such a resolution be prepared.

Board members will hear a report by Dr. Burton Thorn, vocational education director, on plans for the proposed expansion of the vocational education program in the 1964-65 school year.

A review of the annual athletic financial report also is slated for board attention.

Wins a NY Lot Good for Growing Spaghetti

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward Horowitz, 81, bought a 150-foot-long lot in midtown Manhattan at a city auction for $25.

"It just took a chance," he said after Tuesday's purchase. "It's on a corner. Maybe I can sell it to a neighbor and maybe I can put a sign up on it." The lot is six inches wide.

Union Spokesmen Fight Rating System Proposed by Insurers

LANSING (AP) — Union leaders fought a proposed Blue Cross-Blue Shield change in the rating system for group subscribers Tuesday. One called it "bad medicine."

Spokesmen for both the Blue Cross prepaid hospital service and Blue Shield prepaid medical plan replied that nongroup subscribers, older and the retired would not immediately be affected by such a change.

Some 150 persons attended the hearing at Lansing conducted by State Insurance Commissioner Allen L. Mayerson.

The Blues at present have a uniform, communitywide rating plan for group subscribers. Under the new, merit rating proposal, rates for the various groups would be determined by the extent of their use of the service.

ANOTHER HEARING

"They (the Blues) are saying now they will subsidize the aged," said Mayerson in summing up the hearing. "If they say a year from now they won't subsidize the aged, I won't approve it."

Mayerson said he plans another hearing, to be held in Detroit, probably Jan. 7 or 8.

He said he was "hopeful a decision could be made by early February."

Douglas Fraser, member of the United Auto Workers Union executive board, declared his union, with some 400,000 members in Michigan, represents the largest group of subscribers to Blue Cross-Blue Shield in the state.

He said the proposal "would not only be bad medicine, it would be costly medicine."

PUBLIC INTEREST

"The Blues are institutions who, from their very start, have themselves emphasized their almost public nature," Fraser said. "Thus they have a moral as well as a responsible obligation to maintain positions which are in the public interest."

"Their proposal for merit rating is a retreat from this obligation to the sick, the disabled, the older workers, the aged, the unemployed and the community generally."

The merit rating system, he said, would lead only to difficulties and higher costs for many Michigan persons.

Dave Miller, president of the Detroit Area Council of Retired UAW Workers, said he represented some 100,000 union retirees and their wives.

OPPOSE PLAN

"We oppose merit rating," Miller said, "because of what it will do eventually to individual elderly subscribers, to widows, to the unemployed or underemployed, to the chronically ill or disabled and to pensions in groups partially or totally abandoned by the companies they worked for."

"The rates for subscribers in the nongroup, senior and group conversion categories of enrollment will be unaffected," responded Bennett McCarthy, vice president and general manager of Blue Cross.

"These categories include approximately 425,000 members, of which about 120,000 members are 65 years of age or more. To make the point abundantly clear, we emphasize that none of the persons in these categories of enrollment, including elderly and retired workers will be affected adversely by merit rating."

Dr. Sidney Adler, president of Blue Shield, seconded the guarantee.

"We share with all responsible citizens the determination to shield the senior citizens and the needy from excessive costs," he said. "We do not anticipate any change in the Michigan Medical Service senior citizens' rates for at least two years."

Spokesmen for the two groups said their enrollment is declining.

"If this trend is not arrested and reversed, we must either increase the rate of the better-health groups and drive more of them away from Blue Shield or defeat the purpose of Blue Shield by pricing the disadvantaged out of the health care market," Adler said.

Rates for some groups, with extensive use of the service will be higher, they said, but rates for other groups will be lower.

Also against the proposal was Harry Schultz, president of the Michigan Association of Health Underwriters, composed of commercial sellers of health insurance.

"This present proposal, in our opinion," Schultz said, "is no solution to their problems, but in its true light becomes just another, ill-disguised request for ever-increasing rates, albeit on a slightly different basis than in the past."

Mysterious Object at Edge of Universe

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. — Exciting news has just reached our planet earth.

It may be tidings of the birth of a mysterious object out toward the edge of the universe.

For perhaps five billion years the news has been racing through space at the speed of 185,000 miles per second.

TELESCOPE PICTURE

The news was picked up only three weeks ago in a picture taken with the giant 200-inch telescope on Mt. Palomar in California.

The picture showed that something had happened suddenly since a last look in that particular direction of the universe in 1962.

The distant light — still streaming toward earth — may be disclosing the story of the birth of one of the most puzzling of all heavenly bodies, says Dr. Allan R. Sandage of the Mt. Palomar and Mt. Wilson observatories.

The objects are known as quasi-stellar forces, abbreviated to QSF. They are an entirely new source and kind of energy in the universe.

AGAINST RULE

They simply do not follow the rules or laws of physical forces that astronomers and other scientists have so far figured out.

They know why our sun keeps burning. They know that our sun is one of about 200 billion stars in a great family or galaxy — the Milky Way. They know there are billions of other huge galaxies. They have many ideas as to how stars and planets and galaxies were formed, and guesses about how the universe began.

But none can yet explain why the QSF's emit such prodigious energy — why they are trillions of times brighter than our own sun, why they broadcast so much radio energy, how or why they came about.

Only about 34 quasi-stellar sources have been identified so far, just within the last few years. Most of these were detected within the last year.

EXCITING NEWS

So the exciting news is that now perhaps — Dr. Sandage stresses the perhaps — a QSF is being seen in the process of being formed.

Dr. Sandage described the discovery to the second Texas Symposium of Relativistic Astrophysics, and amplified in an interview.

The studies may show that a QSF is formed by an explosion within the nucleus or center of a galaxy, he said. On the other hand, the newly observed light waves could represent only a temporary flare within the galaxy.

This object, known as C3-2, has been known to be a source of strong radio signals, as are other QSF's. But it has not stepped up its output of radio noise.

FAINT LIGHT

In 1951 and later, a sky scanner showed C3-2 to be visible only in faint red light. This was taken to mean it was a rather ordinary distant galaxy.

This year's new look with the 200-inch telescope brought the surprise. Now it was suddenly visible in blue light, as well as under a red filter. The sudden blue light visibility signified an explosion.

Dr. Sandage said it was a highly lucky chance for him and Philip Vernon, a young research student from Paris, France, to have made the discovery. They checked with Dr. Willem Luyten at the University of Minnesota, who had photographed C3-2 two years ago. His pictures did not show anything visible in blue light.

Creates Things That Don't Exist

Diamond Maker Is at It Again

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Dr. H. Tracy Hall, the man who first made diamonds in the laboratory 10 years ago today, now makes things that don't exist.

Which is not really so different, because man-made diamonds didn't exist until he made them for the first time, Dec. 16, 1954, at the General Electric Laboratory in Schenectady, N.Y.

The so-called "belt" apparatus he invented achieved the extremely high temperature and pressure necessary to re-pack the loosely spaced carbon atoms of graphite into the tight-packed carbon atoms of diamond.

Hall went to Brigham Young University the next year as director of research and the patent on the "belt" stayed with GE. The Department of Commerce slapped a security restriction on the "belt."

ANOTHER MACHINE

So Hall had to invent another machine to do his research. It's called the tetrahedral anvil press with an X-ray diffraction attachment to take pictures of the atoms being repacked.

It can create pressures — 3,000,000 pounds per square inch — equal to that at the bottom of 2,000 Washington Monuments stacked one atop the other.

It can subject a compound to temperatures — 5,000 to 10,000 degrees centigrade — like those on the surface of the sun.

He has forced boron and sulfur atoms to combine to form a compound that doesn't exist in nature and which, when heated later, will generate a higher voltage than any known thermoelectric substance — a possible commercial byproduct for transistors.

NEW COMPOUND

And of course he always has his eye open for a new compound harder than diamond — no success, yet.

The 45-year-old physical chemist and father of seven got his first glimpse of this process when he was a teen-ager in Ogden, Utah, watching a grocer pack tomatoes for sale.

He couldn't figure how the grocer could repack six bushels of tomatoes delivered by a farmer into seven bushels.

The incident flashed back when he was studying the packing of atoms at the University of Utah where he got his Ph.D. in 1948.

"I felt as one who had just glimpsed a deep, dark secret," he said in an interview.

The secret is in packing atoms — or tomatoes — so that you vary the space between them.

Repacking atoms is Hall's specialty. He still makes a few diamonds now and then, just to keep in shape. But he uses his tetrahedral anvil press for basic research.

So do many other scientists. Last month the French Atomic Energy Commission bought one for $175,000.

One of these days, somebody might get the notion to start making industrial diamonds with it. Hall said that is a possibility but he doesn't know of any firm plans by anybody to do so.

On Guard Against Con Men, Color-Conscious Landlords

U.S. Mission Seeks to Protect Unwary U.N. Diplomats

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. mission to the United Nations has teamed up with New York's City Hall to try to protect unwary envoys from con men and color-conscious landlords.

"The mission intends to do all in its power to see that diplomats are given every courtesy to make their stay enjoyable," says Frank Montero, an American Negro staffer whose job is to iron out rough spots for African and Asian delegates.

A recent gang attack on a Mauritanian diplomat hasn't eased Montero's task.

Montero and the New York City Mayor's Commission to the U.N. have charted a campaign aimed at New Yorkers in daily contact with foreign delegates and their families.

SERIES OF TALKS

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will beam a series of five-minute talks to the police force over closed circuit television, stressing protection for foreign visitors.

The mayor's commission has a series of spot announcements on New York radio stations hammering at the theme of fair play for delegates and U.N. employees.

"New York as a diplomatic capital is still in its infancy," said Ellen Rosen, acting commissioner. "We frequently fail to perceive the international effects which can result from our attitude towards members of the U.N. community."

Mrs. Carmel Marr, a Brooklyn-born lawyer, has been wrestling with problems of New York's diplomatic colony since she joined the U.S. mission in 1953.

FRIENDLIER CLIMATE

"We are trying to create a friendlier climate for diplomats in a strange land, but there are always irresponsible persons who create incidents we can't do much about," she said.

Stevenson's staff is trying to get up meetings with officials of unions and trade associations representing taxi drivers, restaurant owners, doormen and others who rub elbows with the 5,000 members of New York's diplomatic colony.

Contacts also are being sought with real estate interests in hope of opening more doors to African and Asian diplomats who have had trouble finding suitable living quarters.

The mayor's commission has issued a primer for new diplomats. In friendly informal vein, the book tells how much to tip in restaurants — 15 per cent of the check for waiters and 25 cents for the hat-check girl.

ENVOYS URGED

It urges envoys to complain to the City Rent Administration if they are being overcharged for an apartment and to inform the New York Human Rights Commission if a landlord bars them on racial or religious grounds.

Diplomats are told they can rent almost anything in New York from baby's diapers to a tuxedo, but that they may run into profiteers. If there is a serious overcharge, the Department of Licenses will step in.

The commission also circulates a monthly news letter warning of new rackets. One cautioned against freelance photographers who have approached delegates offering to take "publicity" pictures, then submitted bills running into hundreds of dollars.

"Housing is the area where we have the most trouble," says Mrs. Rosen "whether it be a Negro diplomat who has been frozen out of a neighborhood or a white one who is being overcharged."

"We recently found a woman working for the U.N. secretariat was paying more than $300 a month for a flat that was supposed to rent for $38."

An African diplomat telephoned a rental agent about apartments in midtown and was told one was available. When he showed up, the agent informed him everything was booked.

AFRICAN MISSIONS

Most African missions refuse to let their delegates live in New York's Harlem because they consider segregation degrading. Lower echelon diplomats avoid the suburbs because they often cannot afford a car and the subway system baffles them.

The housing situation became critical for U.N. diplomats in 1960 when 17 new African nations joined the world forum.

Most delegates wanted apartments near U.N. headquarters, an area where vacancies are infrequent. Those who were rebuffed began to attribute all housing shortages to racial and religious prejudices.

"I became less enamored of the United States than I was before I arrived here," recalled

Ambassador Gershon B. O. Collier of Sierra Leone.

Authorities find it difficult to prove that an African or Asian has been barred on racial grounds. Landlords say diplomats move too often and use diplomatic immunity to protect themselves against suits for nonpayment of rent or sudden departure.

Many delegates refuse to enter a formal complaint if they have been swindled or otherwise mistreated.

"They are cautioned by their governments not to get embroiled in domestic disputes while abroad," said Mrs. Rosen. "Landlords and business firms are usually aware of this policy and some undoubtedly take advantage of it."

CRIMINAL CASES

"We have told diplomats that in criminal cases they can appear before the grand jury and avoid the limelight, but they still shy off. It took us six weeks to persuade the Mauritanian who was beaten up to appear before the grand jury. His government was terribly against it."

Three youths were indicted; the case is pending.

Diplomats are less shy about airing their grievances in the U.N.

When three students from Kenya scuffled with city police last summer, Kenya's chief delegate called a news conference and exhibited the youths, pointing to bruises and a bloodstained shirt. He accused the police of brutality.

U.S. UNHAPPY

The U.S. mission regretted the incident, but it was plainly unhappy that the U.N. had been linked to a case that had nothing to do with diplomats.

Post offices provide assistance to local election boards throughout the nation in checking registration lists for proper addresses.

Bonds Fail to Sell in Mississippi

NEW YORK (AP) — Some $4.75 million in Mississippi state school bonds are to be offered for sale today, one day after a Mississippi water district failed to receive acceptable bids on a $24.5 million revenue bond issue.

The Pearl River Valley Water Supply District of Jackson offered the issue Tuesday. A district spokesman disputed claims by two civil rights organizations that their calls for a boycott on Mississippi bonds helped deter investors.

Two financial syndicates that decided against offering bids said they were not influenced by requests from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality that they boycott the sale.

The district received only two bids. Robert Hederman Jr., president of the water district board, said one, offered by a syndicate headed by Francis I. duPont & Co., was turned down because it set too high an interest cost.

TECHNICAL FLAWS

The other, he said, contained some technical flaws, but was taken under consideration.

Opinion on Wall Street was divided over what the bid failures meant.

Some brokers discounted any influence by civil rights groups, saying the lack of bids simply reflected objections to the 3.65 per cent interest ceiling the district had placed on the bonds. The district is trying to refinance earlier bonds that offered a 4.15 per cent interest rate.

Other brokers countered that the objections of the NAACP and CORE could not be ignored, because investors tend to shy away from controversy that could make the bonds difficult to resell.

SYNDICATE BIDDING

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, said the lack of syndicate bids are reflected "a recognition by the investment community that participation in Mississippi bond issues is direct tangible support for the Mississippi system of calous racial discrimination." Carl Rochlin, national counsel for CORE, said his group felt "the companies have shown a great moral responsibility" by not bidding.

Hederman said the district attaches no importance to what happened, adding, "We're not hurt at all because there are no projects awaiting financing."

He said the district may try to sell the bonds by other means. The duPont syndicate included John Nuveen & Co., Equitable Securities Corp., Deposit Guaranty Bank of Jackson, First National Bank of Jackson, Leland Speed Co. of Jackson, and other dealers.

The bid taken under consideration asked an effective interest rate of 3.494 per cent. It was submitted by a group headed by Almon, McKinney & Dudley, Inc., of Dallas, and J. S. Love Co. & Associates of Jackson.

The two groups who were considering bidding but decided against it were headed by Smith, Barney & Co., and F. S. Smith & Co. They said they did not think they could sell the bonds within the district's interest limitation.

French Doctors Protest Arrest

NANCY, France (UPI) — Doctors in northeastern France united last night to protest the arrest of a colleague for failing to come to the aid of a mortally wounded man.

Physicians in the Meurthe-et-Moselle Department (county) decided they would not answer night calls until further notice — unless asked by police.

Dr. Gerard Collin was arrested last Friday and charged with "failing to aid a person in danger," after police had investigated a dance hall slaying.

Roger Fleury, 26, was stabbed fatally in a quarrel. A witness to the fight said he ran to Collin's home at 3:30 a.m. on Dec. 1 and asked the doctor to come to the dance hall.

Collin refused, the witness said, directing that the injured man should be brought to him in an ambulance.

When the witness returned to the dance hall, Fleury was dead. Collin was released last night.

Tobacco Heir Cremation Set

Lung Disease Given as Cause of Death

LUCERNE, Switzerland (AP) — The body of tobacco heir Richard J. Reynolds Jr. is to be cremated tomorrow.

Reynolds, 38, died Monday at a Lucerne clinic. He moved to Lucerne two years ago after he was stricken with chronic emphysema, a lung disease.

The cigarette heir's doctors had testified during a court action in 1961 that his ailment had been aggravated by excessive smoking.

His fourth wife, the former Dr. Annemarie Schmitt, 35, of Germany, was with him when he died. Six sons also survive, and the widow is expecting a baby.

Reynolds was born in Winston-Salem, N.C., the eldest of the four children of tobacco magnate R. J. Reynolds. He ran away to sea at the age of 17, inherited $25 million from his father at 23, and made his own mark in the aviation and shipping industries.

In 1940 he was elected mayor of Winston-Salem and in January 1941, was named treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

JOINED NAVY
He resigned both posts in 1942 to enter the Navy, where he won a Bronze Star for service aboard a carrier off the Philippines.

After the war he made large investments in a variety of business interests and also gave millions to research and charity particularly in Georgia and North Carolina.

Reynolds' first wife was Elizabeth McCaw Dillard, daughter of another tobacco magnate who bore him four sons. They were divorced in 1946 after a 13½-year marriage.

Estimates of the divorce settlement ranged from $3 million to $11 million. She died in 1961.

SECOND WIFE
Movie starlet Marianne O'Brien was Reynolds' second wife. They were divorced in 1952 and she received custody of their two sons.

That divorce settlement provided Miss O'Brien with $750,000 in cash, a $750,000 trust fund, $18,000 a year for their children, homes in Manhattan and Miami Beach, three automobiles and attorney fees.

Reynolds' third wife was the former Muriel Marston of Toronto.

Their marriage was dissolved after two divorce decrees — one in 1959 which the courts ruled overturned and another that was resolved on June 24, 1962, by the Georgia Supreme Court.

Reynolds married his fourth wife, a doctor of philosophy, on a steamship in the South China Sea on March 15, 1961.

Detroit Acts in Alleged Fix of Salt Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's Common Council has authorized the hiring of an attorney to intervene for the city in a Federal Court suit against three major salt suppliers for allegedly rigging prices on rock salt used on streets to melt snow and ice.

Anthony Marchese Jr., assistant corporation counsel, said Detroit may have been overcharged up to $1 million.

The city will intervene in a suit already brought by the City of Philadelphia against Morton Salt, International Salt and Diamond Crystal Salt.

"Each year, the companies have submitted identical bids," Marchese said. "We have tried rejecting bids, splitting the business among them and everything else, but we are never able to be sure that we are being overcharged."

LAWYER RETAINED
Marchese said the city has retained Philadelphia lawyer David Berger, who will get one-third of any damages recovered. Berger already is representing Philadelphia and several other cities.

Nearly 90 per cent of the police charges made in the nation are for minor crimes and misdemeanors.

'Capitalism Is Creeping'

Peking Warns of Internal Struggle

HONG KONG (AP) — Peking has warned its people that the danger of a capitalist takeover still exists in Communist China and that "elements" are struggling to seize power.

The warning was contained in a speech delivered last month by the Chinese Communist party propaganda director, Lu Ding-yi. Lu's speech was printed in the official Peking People's Daily but was omitted from the overseas service of the New China News Agency. It has just become available.

Lu said "capitalist elements" were very influential in the cultural, educational, art and academic fields and were united with "the feudalistic class and with slave owners."

Reports reaching Hong Kong recently have told of purges of university professors and writers.

LONG STRUGGLE

"They are carrying out a struggle against us and even actively cultivating their own successors, so as to struggle with us for generation after generation," Lu said.

"Their aim is to overthrow the Socialist system and retrogress to the capitalist system."

Lu repeated an official prediction made last July that Communist China will not become a complete Communist society for "five to 10 generations" or possibly as long as 300 years. He said the Chinese Communists must be prepared to carry out incessant revolution until the realization of communism.

"Imperialists, landlords, rich peasants and rightists of the bourgeoisie all wish to melt us ideologically," Lu said.

"They wish that modern revisionists like Khrushchev will emerge in our third or fourth generations and that the restoration of capitalism will appear."

Colored Pencils Make Attractive Tree Decorations

NEW YORK (AP) — Colored lead pencils make attractive tree decorations.

Give the children the job of tying thread to the eraser ends of multi-colored pencils and attaching them to the tree on Christmas Eve.

Small fry will get a great kick out of hanging pencils as well as ornaments.

In the Christmas colors of red and green, pencils may be taped on to wrappings or inserted in the ribbon bows on packages for added gay touches.

As holiday gift items, there are about 350 kinds of pencils to choose from.

A set of water-soluble colored pencils may start someone on a water-colorist's hobby.

A high school student may appreciate drafting pencils, the do-it-yourselfer may like carpenter's pencils, grade school students will delight in shiny pencil cases.

Dad may like a pencil caddy fitted with pencils for his desk at the office, and Mom may enjoy gardening pencils which are weather-resistant or china marking pencils for freezer packages.

Tokyo Monorail Chief Calls New System a Success

TOKYO (AP) — Crawford MacDonald, 34, an employee of a British airline, commutes to his job at Tokyo airport aboard this city's new monorail.

"Whether I go by taxi using the new freeway, or by monorail it takes about half an hour. But the monorail saves me $2.78 a day," MacDonald said. He used to spend $5.55 a day on taxis.

MacDonald, is among the few of Tokyo's airport's 12,000 workers who have adopted the monorail for regular commuting. For the majority of the Japanese employees, 70-cent one-way fares is too high for regular commuting. The same distance—eight miles—can be covered by surface railway and bus for one-fifth the price.

The $54.5-million monorail connects the airport with Hamamatsucho, a mile from the inner city center, in 15 minutes. It carried one million passengers in its first 65 days of operation. This meant an average of 15,000 persons daily—with a maximum of 54,000—or half the number needed to make it pay.

UTILIZE FLIGHTS

Tetsuzo Inumaru is president of the Tokyo Monorail Co. and also of the Imperial Hotel. He considers the monorail a success. Inumaru said he observed that about half of the passengers taking domestic flights utilize the monorail.

Only rarely do foreign passengers arriving on international flights come into town aboard the monorail. This is because of the luggage problem which makes taxis more convenient.

Inumaru predicted that the new airport freeway will reach its peak capacity of 80,000 cars a day within three years and then the monorail's role will increase in importance.

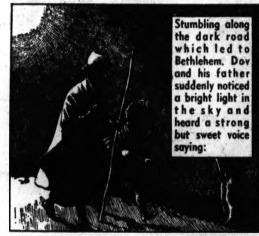

"No transportation business in Japan makes money in the first three years," he said.

One reason for the relatively high monorail fare is that five miles of the line had to be built over Tokyo Bay. This involved costly drilling of more than 100 feet through soft mud to reach a hard foundation.

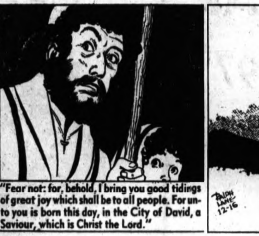

Under better topographical conditions, construction cost should be about one third to one sixth of what it costs to build a subway, officials say.

"Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day, in the City of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

Dairy Fresh and Dairy Good

Plenty of Gifts Available for Those With Everything

NEW YORK (AP) — For the man, woman, child, and yes, even the pet, who has everything, there is still hope this Christmas.

With a hefty check, there are to be obtained:

His-and-her hot air balloons, wall-to-wall mink carpeting, sin boxes, nothing rocks, and make-yourself sports car knits — among other little trinkets.

For the kiddies a Copernican model 500 planetarium at $96 is this year's holiday special at I. Magnin, Los Angeles. Last year the store stocked sea-going submarines, seating two, for around $1,000.

Designed for lads who love war is a 20,000-piece collection of hand-painted soldiers at New York's F.A.O. Schwartz to be had for $10,000.

Even Santa has his price —

SPECIAL REPORT

MINK HANGERS

For the ladies, mink hangers in any shade to match the mink in the closet are big sellers at Georges Kaplan, New York.

Prices of safety pins run $250 each in Magnin's jewelry department, but they're diamond-encrusted. At Neiman-Marcus, Dallas, Tex., a holiday dandy is a collar of diamonds and emeralds at $125,000.

Sable bathrobes, floor length and some sipped, are really last year's rage. But a few are around at the big name furriers in New York for upward of $40,000. For a four-figure check you can also pick up a mink jumper, white mink knickers, or Persian lamb slacks.

For the man of the house, if he's a draftee, from Neiman-Marcus a violin case concealing a hefty fifth may strike a chord with him — $10. A hollowed-out cane walking stick at Abercrombie & Fitch, $18.50, can be filled with some staggering stuff. Also available there is a silver flask with two openings for a double-quick kick.

HOPSNOTCH RUG

For the home, redecorate from the ground up with wall-to-wall mink carpeting, installed by Georges Kaplan on Christmas Eve, for $400 a square yard. Or there's a hopsnotch rug by Norman da Liberta for around $600 with the game all mapped out for adults who never grew up.

Order a set of twin opium beds. The 17th century rosewood Chinese beds, available at Neiman-Marcus are linked by a canopy wood top and a low opium table. Made in Hong Kong, the set sells for $1,500, not including opium.

LAP ROBE

Bedspreads in empress chin-chilla, at Kaplan's, can be had for $12,000. A matching Rolls-Royce lap robe will be thrown in for an extra $5,000.

For the kitchen or opulent camping, New York's Tiffany's makes a sterling silver fry pan for $350. Or, for $1,000, also at this store, you can buy the garden tool shed a glittering silver spade.

The Doggery, a pet supply shop in Beverly Hills, Calif., sells $50 mink coats, ski sweaters with turtle necks, wool coats with muskrat collars, sunglasses, red flannel pajamas, raincoats, rain boots — and personalized, plastic placemats, all for dogs.

For the man with cold feet — electric socks, battery-operated, $4.95 at Hammacher Schlemmer.

MYSTERIOUS BANKBOOK

For internal revenue collector: a bankbook from which a hand mysteriously emerges, grabs the coin and disappears, $5, at Hammacher Schlemmer.

For bird watchers: a life-sized Mommy or Poppy bird — nobody is sure which it is — that repeats what its master says, has wing and tail tremors, and glass eyes that light up in a bloodshot malevolent gleam, at Hammacher Schlemmer, $39.95.

For gamblers: coral and gold dice, $25 each at Tiffany's. For sinners: a sin kit, in corhide, containing travel bar and game set, $41.25, at Hammacher Schlemmer.

For nobody much: a nothing rock, $25 each at Tiffany's. The hollow rock contains a historical marker with such words as, "On this spot Feb. 29, 1775, absolutely nothing happened" — $30, at Hammacher Schlemmer.

For mere humans, a something box that blinks and blinks like a compact computer for one year and then goes dead, irreparably, $25 at Hammacher Schlemmer.

For him and her: real mont-golfier balloons with orange and white-striped canvas. A propane burner heats the air, a steel basket lifts the passengers to cloud nine, for $6,850, at Neiman-Marcus.

THE NOSE KNOWS — A bit of winter romance touches Nan and Dan II at the Prospect Park Zoo in Brooklyn, N.Y. The couple, Roosevelt Elks, are sweethearts, zoo officials say. But the officials dared not venture a guess as to what question Dan put to his lady that drew the startled reaction. At any rate, the lady finally sweetened up.

Board Accepts 2 Resignations

Woman is Named to Social Welfare Unit

An appointment and two resignations were announced yesterday to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Introduced as state appointee to the county social welfare board was Mrs. John Ramsey of 5656 Wing Lake, Bloomfield Township.

Active in the Oakland Citizens League and the Citizens Home Rule Council, Mrs. Ramsey was appointed for a three-year term.

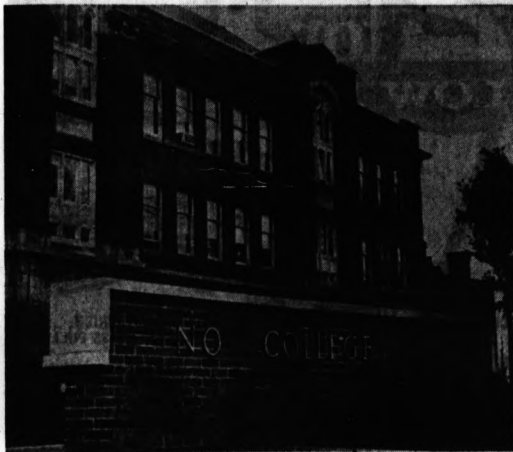

She replaces Mrs. Walter N. Jackson, who had served three years on the board.

The resignation of Albert W. Weber as chairman of the tuberculosis sanatorium board of trustees was reluctantly accepted by the board.

OVER 30 YEARS

The 32-year-old industrialist has served on the board more than 20 years. He has been chairman 17 years. His resignation is effective Dec. 31.

Announcing his resignation from the board of supervisors was Paul W. McGovern, of Oak Park, who has served seven years on the board. McGovern has also resigned from the Oak Park City Council and is moving with his family to Southfield.

OPINIONATED VANDAL — By removing a few letters, a vandal in Galesburg, Ill., changed the name of Knox College. Knox, temporarily called 'no' college, has been around since 1837. It was the site of the fifth Lincoln-Douglas debate.

Turkey Expects to 'Cash In' on Tourists

EPHESUS, Turkey (AP) — The next hot tourist attraction is Turkey.

It can't miss. Friendly people, prices are right, and the great ruins of the ancient world in the whole business.

And beaches, mountains, lakes. All with plenty of history. Better hurry, though. Give the place five years and it will be like Spain, where the fellow under the next sombrero sells insurance in Wichita, Frankfurt or Liverpool.

TOURIST DOLLAR

The Turks have discovered the tourist dollar and they are going after it. At first, that means that there are, or soon will be, hotels with hot water and no numps in the beds — novelties now in these parts.

In Turkey today, many of the places where human history was made remain in remarkable preservation. A main reason is that there was for centuries no way for attackers to get to them and smash them up, as was done in so many other places.

You may run across a usable Greek temple at any turn in the road.

MARBLE-LINED

Take Ephesus, where St. Paul preached and St. John wrote part of the Bible. Pythagoras, the father of much school homework, was born here.

PD-4 OR TV

The streets were lined with marble — and still are, although no one has lived here for centuries.

All up and down the Turkish west coast other historic cities are practically untouched by tourists.

The Trojan War was fought, Alexander conquered, Cleopatra met Mark Antony for the first time — in St. Paul's home town, Tarsus.

STILL STANDING

Take Istanbul — it used to be called Constantinople — the last outpost of the Roman Empire. The walls the Turks stormed in 1453 are still standing.

Napoleon said possession of the city astride the narrow waters of the Straits of Bosphorus that separate Europe from Asia was the key to world domination.

Istanbul may not be that vital any more, but it's still a charm. It looks European if you come from Asia, and Asian if you come from Europe.

And it's impossible to tell how old anything is. It is sort of a civic Jack Benny.

LOSING SIDE

Kids kick footballs around in an authentic Greek palace 1,400 years old. Next door, the thing that looks like a Roman ruin is only a 1912 slum.

The Sultans gave Turkey a forbidden flavor for many years, and then the young Turks got the country in on the losing side in World War I.

It has taken Turkey a long time to live that down, and the result is it has been left out of most tourist itineraries until recently.

Now Turkey is out to get on the inside. Taxi drivers and tour guides are practicing up their English, French and German.

Waiters are busy figuring out what is 15 per cent of the bill in all foreign currencies.

The Parents Without Partners organization for parents who are separated, divorced or widowed, was founded in 1957 in New York.

Wolfe Not Afraid to Wed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hotelman Glynn Wolfe, 51, says he is getting married for the 17th time.

He said he and DeMerle Irene Ranklin Wolfe, 19, would honeymoon at Disneyland.

DeMerle was his 15th wife. She divorced him three weeks ago. But, like one of her predecessors, she decided to marry him a second time. They took out their marriage license here yesterday.

Wolfe told newsmen: "We've decided to try it over again. All my wives have been teen-agers, and sometimes they are hard to handle."

Mrs. Wolfe worked at the hotel Wolfe owns in Las Vegas. She married him Aug. 17 at Las Vegas an hour after she won a divorce from her first husband.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

'Frosted Tummy' Helps Ulcer Sufferers

Some time ago I reported on the new treatment for peptic ulcer which has come to be known as the frosted tummy technique.

This consists of introducing a balloon into the stomach and circulating a refrigerant through the balloon for 45 minutes at a temperature between minus 4 and plus 18 degrees F., thereby freezing the stomach.

In the past two years the method has been widely used and a clearer picture of the value of this procedure is beginning to emerge.

In most of those whose stomachs were frozen there was prompt relief of pain and suppression of the secretion of hydrochloric acid by the stomach.

The stomach acids returned in from six weeks to six months—a period sufficient in any case to allow the ulcer to heal.

2nd FREEZING

In a fairly large proportion of these subjects a second freezing was necessary to produce these results and a few required three or more freezings.

The suppression of the acid did not interfere with digestion because all the important digestive enzymes are supplied at a level below the outlet of the stomach.

This technique has its drawbacks, however. It is always followed by some bleeding from the stomach wall.

This stomach bleeding usually any treatment. Freezing may also be followed by an ulcer of the stomach wall but this too usually heals spontaneously.

Less frequently the freezing may cause stricture or obstruction either at the opening of the stomach or in a few days without esophagus into the stomach or of the stomach into the duodenum.

Because of these complications it is necessary to select carefully the persons on whom to use gastric freezing.

This technique is not used on those whose ulcer is deep or on those who already have some obstruction of the outlet of the stomach.

It has its greatest value in the treatment of those who have chronic ulcers that have responded poorly to diet and medical treatment and who are poor risks for surgical operation.

Gunman Gets $8,000 at Ann Arbor Bank

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Police today sought a lone bandit who brandished a snub-nosed revolver and robbed a branch of the Ann Arbor Bank of some $8,000 Tuesday. The man was last seen running down a street near the University of Michigan campus. He was described as a white male, about 40, five-feet-five and weighing about 140 pounds.

Behavior Will Decide Rightness

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: During a recent visit with a relative, I went out to the mail box one morning and brought in the mail. I looked through it on my way into the house to see if there was anything for me.

My cousin happened to see me do this and made it quite plain that she didn't like me looking through her mail. I was embarrassed and hurt at her insinuation that I was being nosy which was furthest from my thought. This has bothered me very much.

Do you think I was wrong? A: It depends on how you did it. If you shuffled quickly through the mail to catch anything addressed to you, you were not wrong.

But if you examined each letter to see where it came from and perhaps even read some of the postcards, your cousin had every right to object.

Q: I am going to marry a lieutenant in the Air Force. All men in the wedding party will be in uniform. Would it be proper for the groom, best man and ushers to wear boutonnieres? A: Boutonnieres are never worn with military dress—not even at a wedding.

Q: I bought a very pretty red suit which I had planned to take with me on my trip to Europe. I have just been told by a woman who travels a great deal that ladies do not wear red abroad as it indicates a woman of questionable character. Is this true? A: It is perfect nonsense. If you like red, you may wear it abroad just as you would at home.

Ask Mutual Friend

Aren't You Premature?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I have had very bad luck with husbands. One died, and I divorced two, and now I am alone again.

My thoughts keep going back to a very fine man I used to know between my second and third husbands.

About a year ago I heard that his wife had cancer and it was just a matter of time. I would like to find out if she is dead yet.

ABBY: I have lost all contact with my friends in that town but I do have this man's business address.

How can I let him know that I would enjoy seeing him again without having it look like I am chasing him?

Also, how can I find out for sure if his wife is dead yet? MILWAUKEE

DEAR MILWAUKEE: Information of this kind should be sought through a mutual friend.

And there is no way a woman can let a man know that she would "enjoy seeing him again" without appearing aggressive—especially when she would enjoy it so much that she can hardly wait to bury his wife.

DEAR ABBY: It seems that the saying, "Girls fall for men who are heels" is true, yet no one has been able to tell me why. I know it is true in my case because every man I have ever fallen for has been a heel.

They have all been rough, abusive, lying, cheating and strictly no good. But even knowing this, I can't stop loving them. Can you tell me why a woman goes right on loving a man like that?

MAD ABOUT JOE
DEAR MAD: There are many women who "go right on loving a heel" because they feel a deep sense of unworthiness, a need for punishment and, deep down, they feel that they don't deserve anything better.

It is a "sick" love that thrives on punishment.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CON- NIE'S SISTER, KATHY:" Please send me your address. It is very important that I get in touch with you.

Trio of Artists Joins Symphony

By CLIVE HENRY
Last night, the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra performed its second concert of the season. An impressive array of guest artists joined the ensemble on this occasion.

Featured in the Christmas Concerto of Corelli was harpsichordist, Charles A. Wilson Jr. of Pontiac, who imbued the lyrical music with an authentic baroque coloring.

The orchestra was then joined by Marjorie Gordon, former soloist with the New York City Opera Company, in a performance of the "Et incarnatus Est" from Mozart's Mass in C minor. The religious aspects of the music, however deeply felt, should not so completely dominate the essential lyricism of this composer, even in his sacred works.

OPERATIC SELECTIONS

Raymond Sharp, baritone, a native Detroit with wide experience, sang to great effect Renato's vengeful aria from Verdi's "The Masked Ball." The soloists then joined forces in Gilda's duet from "Rigoletto."

The main attraction of the evening, however, was a performance of Menotti's light hearted, if slightly moralistic one-act opera, "The Telephone." The stage was set with taste for this delightful domestic teaser.

What has happened to our privacy if this "two-faced monster" with miles of "un-biblical cord" can interrupt the most poignant of human situations? Obviously, Ben cannot "beat" them so he "joins" them and all ends happily ever after.

MARCH

The evening was concluded with the regally rousing Coronation March, "Crown Imperial," by Sir William Walton. An added attraction of the evening was a colorful display of religious art by the Pontiac Society of Artists.

Polly's Pointers

Snack Times Are Set

DEAR POLLY—Mine is a variation of a previously printed Pointer. Someone wrote that she set certain degrees of temperature when she would permit her children to swim and ice skate.

I set certain hours as snack time. No snacks after 10 a.m. until lunch and none again from 2:30 p.m. until supper time. It is absolutely amazing how it works if you stick by your guns.

When offered candy or some other treat my boys ask the time and if it is after limits they save the treat and with no questions asked—A DEVOTED MOTHER

DEAR POLLY—My granddaughter told me how to sharpen my pink shears by putting a few drops of machine oil on them, placing them in a plastic bag and leaving for a few days. I thought the idea was crazy but it sure worked and now my shears cut all the way across.—RETTA

Girls—I wonder if "sharpen" is really the right word, but mine certainly cut better and easier.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for Ruth who inquired about getting grease out of a pair of slacks. I find that mechanic's waterless grease soap removes even the blackest axle grease from cotton and synthetic machine-washable clothing.

Just vigorously rub a dab of the soap on and around the spotted area before washing the garment in hot or warm soapy water. I learned this while in college and also that such soap can be purchased in any auto parts store.

—A WOMAN'S EDITOR

Girls—I bought it at a gasoline station.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I like the new aprons that have a matching attached towel but I find that the towel gets soiled before the apron does. Yet, when I wear an apron without a towel it is a bother as I keep reaching for the towel that isn't there.

So I now pin the corner of a washcloth to an apron band. When the washcloth becomes soiled all I have to do is pin on a clean one.—GRACE

New Lights for Safety Look Good

Today's flashlights are designed with mility in mind. Many have built-in magnets, making it possible to attach them to appliances in the kitchen and elsewhere.

For storing, a cool location is preferable, for the life is shortened by heat.

Flashlights make welcome stocking stuffers, and to add safety to the holiday spirit, battery experts offer these suggestions:

- Have children carry a flashlight as they go caroling.
- Take one yourself — it's handy to light house numbers after dark.
- Keep one in the car glove compartment — if there's a white Christmas, a breakdown in a snow storm is less frightening with light.

- Check lights kept for safety every few months to see that they are in good working order.

For the holiday season, cut a circle of red felt. Cover it with rows of green and gold sequins. Draw it up with needle and thread and slip it over an outside doorknob. Fasten threads securely underneath by tying.

Don't Discard Empty Detergent Bottles

By MADELEINE DOEREN
"Bottle-craft" is sweeping the country, utilizing empty liquid bleach and detergent dispensers for decorative low-cost gifts.

Consumers who find "bottle-craft" fun include den mothers, shut-ins, sportsmen, gardeners, women's club program planners, and of course, the average homemaker.

The bare minimum in supplies, plus a little creativity, ability, and you are off on a "Can-you-top-this" hobby!

Is there a small boy who would not get up earlier just to look at these bright soldiers on his dresser or desk?

FILL WITH SAND

How about removing the top and filling the container with sand for paper-weights or even door-stops? Even father might like one for a desk in a dark corner!

To Mrs. Glen R. Hickox of Timore Drive, we are indebted for instructions on making the soldiers pictured, from liquid detergent and syringe dispensers.

These were featured in an exhibit staged by the Lorraine Manor Garden Club, a branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, at the recent Greens Market in the CAI Building.

SOUNDS EASY
It all sounds so easy when Mrs. Hixon says, "Simply press a styrofoam ball over the bottle cap for the soldier's head. Beads and red felt form his features."

An earring holds a pipe-cleaner ornament on its top hat, made of heavy plastic covered with fine corduroy for a ribbed effect."

A strip of gold braid, an earring for insignia and he's ready for the battle-field, we thought.

These bottles come in deep turquoise, red and brown. Perhaps the manufacturers will make them in green and orange.

They could march right up to a child's party table and could be a "conversation piece" when entertaining in games room or on a patio.

Men Take to Stitchery, Learn Fast

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mira Nobili teaches men on both sides of the Atlantic to do any darn thing — with a sewing machine.

She shows them how to darn socks, sweaters, trousers, skirts, shirts, scarves, mittens.

"American men are the sew happiest," she said in an interview, rating their enthusiasm for dexterity in the pin and needle business above that of male pupils in France, Greece, England, Holland, Belgium.

"But the males in England are the fastest learners — at darning, putting in zippers, making buttonholes."

FAMOUS EXAMPLES

Males deft with the needle needn't feel inferior when ranked with the brethren handy with sword. Plenty of famous ones are agile with both. Samples:

— The Duke of Windsor knits.

— Ditto for King Gustav VI Adolf, of Sweden.

— And the late Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, a Yankee-Boo-die heman who was ambassador to Moscow and head of the C.I.A. (Central Intelligence Agency) told intimates he did needlepoint for relaxation.

Miss Nobili, a petite brunette from Milan, is a field instructor for the Necchi Sewing Machine Co., her employer for the last four years and under whose auspices she has traveled through most of Europe.

She said her present assignment in America, of one year's duration, already has had her teaching males to sew in Atlanta, New Orleans, Pensacola, Detroit, Mobile, Boston, Hartford, Providence, New Haven.

Most of the males in her classes try their hands at stitchery in connection with their careers as sewing machine salesmen.

Store candles in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using to make them burn evenly.

Fireproof Holiday Tree

The United States Forest Products Laboratory has developed a formula to fire-proof Christmas trees and other decorative greens.

This authoritative source recommends spraying them with a solution of nine parts water glass (available at the drug store), one part water, and a teaspoon of household detergent.

In addition to its safety benefits, this spray gives the needles a shiny and translucent finish.

Hip Stretchers

For a skirt that is too small around the hips but otherwise good, let out the hem, remove the waist band and zipper, and cut as much material as you can off the skirt top. Then dart the skirt top to fit the waist, replace zipper and band and face the hem with matching hem tape.

Color Comes From Treated 'Logs,' Cones

Why not cheer up those evenings before the fireplace which are so much a part of the Christmas season and the following winter months? If your hobby is flame watching, just think how great it will be in technicolor.

First fold and roll some old newspapers into "logs" about 18 inches long and three to four inches in diameter. Tie them securely with twine and then soak them for a week or two.

Use a solution of a few pounds of blue vitrol (copper sulfate), green vitrol (iron sulfate) and rock salt (sodium chloride) in water.

BURN IN COLOR

After the "logs" are removed from the solution and thoroughly dried, they will burn slowly and give hours of rainbow colored flame.

An alternate method is to gather up pine and spruce cones. Soak them in salt solution and dry as before. They are shorter lived but produce bursts of color when added to the fire.

Soak some in copper sulfate for emerald green; barium nitrate or borax for apple green; strontium or lithium nitrate for red; potassium nitrate (saltpeter) for purple; copper chloride for blue green; calcium chloride for orange and salt for yellow.

Handy for Dough

Hose Tame Wild Bucks

ZULULAND, South Africa (The Women's) nylon stockings are playing an important part in nature conservation in South Africa.

A nation-wide appeal has been launched for thousands of old nylon stockings which are used for tying up buck in game reserves before they are transferred to farms for breeding purposes.

An official of the Natal Province Parks Game and Fish Preservation Board says that old stockings have been found to be the best means of securing the bucks because their legs are not injured by the strong but flexible material.

Instead of using tie-on paper tags, this California homemaker identifies her Christmas packages with color-matching, self-sticking, raised-letter labels made from the gun-like device she is holding. Household articles ranging from spice bottles in the kitchen to gardening tools in the garage also can be marked for identification with the easy-to-operate Dymo home label maker. If you are seeking a practical but unusual gift for Dad and the youngsters as well as yourself, this gadget will do the job. Available locally.

Can't Understand Child Without Self Knowledge

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My daughter, 12, had a very bad childhood. Her father and I separated when she was 3. As I had to work, she lived with my parents and my sister's families. She has never forgiven me for this childhood. Though I re-married two years ago in the hope of giving her a decent home and father, she gets back at me by defying me. She is supposed to check in at home after school but will not do it.

ANSWER: You are so eager to regard yourself as a bad mother that you have begun to convince your child you are one.

Why should she check in after school to please a mother who gave her such a terrible childhood? If you want this child to give you better consideration, you'll have to start giving some to yourself.

Were you so happy during that "bad childhood" of hers? Did you enjoy your separation from her? How were they for you — the lonely meals at night, the daily struggles at your of-

'Him' Surprises

When Dad and Brother hang their socks by the chimney with care, in the hopes that St. Nicholas soon will be there, don't disappoint them.

Practical gifts: pocket comb, nail clippers, razor blades and small bottle of witch hazel, tooth-paste and brush.

Did you have a fine time during those years of this child's "bad childhood"?

You know, we can give too much "understanding" to other people. We can struggle so hard to "understand" a child's reasons for mistreating us that we cannot even see how we are mistreating ourselves.

We so concentrate on the bad things which the child experienced that our own experience of bad things ceases to be real to us.

FORGET OURSELVES

So anxious are we to feel the child's hurts that we lose all feeling for our own. And with the loss of sympathy for them, we also lose our respect for the courage with which we endured

Grandma Is Loved

Look what's tied to Grandma's apron strings this Christmas! A flouncy skirt of candy-stripe polished cotton, with a big fringed pocket inscribed "I Love My Grandma."

This sentimental apron can be had in several versions, with the message "signed" by pictures of a little girl's head, a smiling baby face, or a "collective" design which says "We Love Our Grandma."

These gay red, pink or blue and white aprons — with solid color bands and pockets — can be laundered by hand or machine.

them. The meaning of our own brave struggles with adverse circumstances is overwhelmed in guilty pity for the child's.

If you could now begin to remember your own bad times during your daughter's "bad childhood," appreciation of yourself might begin to seem appropriate to you. By recalling your efforts to move out of those bad times into better times, those efforts would begin to seem worthy of respect.

Contemptuous treatment by other people would make no sense to you at all. And when it was given to you by this child, it would appear so unmerited to you that you would turn on her — and open her eyes to her mother.

Josip Broz-Tito was first Jan. 14, 1953, and re-elected in 1958 and last year.

Group Puts Emphasis on Youngsters

The Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital is placing the emphasis on Christmas for the pediatric department again this season.

Mrs. Thomas Hegwood and Mrs. Harold Knisley, who are co-chairmen, are being assisted by Lulu McGregor.

Mrs. Calvin Dennison of Birmingham recently presented a puppet show. Gary Page, clown, visited the children on Monday. Another appearance is set for Dec. 21.

The Lake Orion High School Future Nurses Club will present a program today.

CAROLERS

Virginia Haroutian will direct the Washington Junior High School carolers when Santa Claus distributes gifts next Tuesday. Gifts will be provided by the PGH Gray Ladies.

During Christmas week other musical events on the agenda will feature Karen Brunel and Mrs. LaVon Ryden, also Betty Fuller and her carolers.

Santa will find the stockings on Christmas Eve.

Fast Change for Uniforms

The "uniform suit" is a bright new fashion note for professional women who wear uniforms.

Now that WHITE has become a year-round color, a matching tailored jacket can turn a white uniform into street ensemble — without "changing" before leaving office, laboratory, or hospital.

Even such double-breasted blazers and jackets with vests can go into an automatic washer and dryer as safely as the uniform itself.

Ages That Attract

Pleasing to Small Fry

Want to please that tiny little girl in your home on her birthday anniversary or at Christmas? Then let her awaken to a vanity which is scaled to her size in her bedroom. Have everything ready and put it to after she has gone to sleep. With the aid of metal brackets, hang a tiny low-hung shelf in her room and attach a dainty skirt of flounces of washable material. Add a hassock just the right height for her, one that is trimmed with the same flounces. Stock the vanity shelf with tiny make-up articles designed especially for children's play, but add a real comb, brush and mirror. This diminutive vanity and bench will encourage your small daughter to practice better grooming habits.

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice:

I would like to make draperies but don't know how to go about measuring for the right amount of material. Can you help me? Mrs. A. G.

Dear Mrs. A. G.:

There are so many different types of draperies and so many ways of treating windows that it would be impossible to give you a helpful answer.

May I suggest that you visit your drapery department, you will find many interesting booklets on window treatment. With these suggestions and the help of salesgirls who know just exactly how much you will need, you should be guided in the right direction. If there is a pattern in your fabric you will have to allow for matching.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I have finished a suit which has the new severe, men's styling and I am having trouble with the collar for the first time. The collar will simply not cover the neckline seam at the center back. What did I do wrong and how can I correct it? Mrs. V. L.

Dear Mrs. V. L.:

It probably isn't anything you did wrong, the collars are so narrow on the new suits and coats that many women have been writing me about this same problem.

As long as the collars lay nicely on your back we can do something "sneaky." Lay collar over the back neckline, so it comes over the seam about 1/4 inch.

Now lift up the top collar, while still holding firmly in place, and tack the under collar very securely to the neckline of the suit. This should be tacked about 1 inch from the finished collar edge so it will not show. Be sure stitches are not showing, or even caught, in the top collar.

NEATNESS COUNTS

This week's Tailor Trix winner is Mrs. Bernard J. Gerrity, Shavertown, Pa. She sent this idea.

When using shredded foam for stuffing dolls, animals, small pillows, etc., for Christmas, hold the article to be stuffed in a very large paper bag on a table. What doesn't go into the toy falls to the bottom of the bag and not on the floor.

Glamorous Bobeches for Your Candlesticks

1. Cut the cardboard from an empty toilet paper roll into strips about 1/8 inch wide.

2. Paste brush fringe, red, green or white, inside circle of cardboard, brush edge up.

3. Paste a circle of the brush fringe on the outside of circle, brush side up.

4. Before lapping brush fringe, insert a small piece of artificial holly so it will stand straight up, or twist together the wires of two tiny, colored ornaments and insert them. There are many clever things you can do to these.

Slip over any candle stick (brush side up). You'll want to make dozens of them, they are so cute and different, add so much gaiety for just a few cents and minutes.

Treat Guests to Meat Balls in Caper Sauce

We always welcome with open pots and pans recipes which convert simple and inexpensive foods into glamorous fare — that is, at the same time, hearty and nutritious.

And we have one in wheat germ-Swedish meat balls in caper sauce with pilaf. It may be truly called an international taste triumph, what with the meat balls recipe coming from Sweden, the pilaf (seasoned rice) of Turkish origin, and the capers from the Mediterranean region.

It's a grand treat for buffet suppers or for some other special occasion when the home-maker wants to show off her culinary cunning.

The wheat germ, lending its wealth of essential nutrients, is an ideal extender. The caper sauce perks up the flavor of the Swedish meat balls, which too often are on the bland side. The well-flavored pilaf rounds out this meat-in-itself with its hearty goodness.

Swedish Meat Balls in Caper Sauce

2 cups (1 lb.) ground beef
¼ cup wheat germ
¼ cup milk
¼ cup finely chopped onion

1 egg
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons pepper
2 tablespoons shortening or cooking oil
Measure all ingredients except shortening into bowl. Mix well. Shape into ¾ 1-inch balls. Melt shortening in skillet. Brown meat balls on all sides in hot shortening. Remove from pan.

Prepare Caper Sauce (below) in skillet. Return meat balls to sauce. Cover and simmer until meat balls are done (about 10 minutes). Yield: 4-6 servings.

Caper Sauce

2 tablespoons flour
1 cup half and half (milk and cream)
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons drained capers
½ teaspoon salt
Stir flour into drippings in skillet. Add remaining ingredients. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened (about 1 minute).

Pilaf

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups precooked rice
¼ cup chopped onion
1½ cups water

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS — Wheat germ adds extra zest to these Swedish meat balls. Serve in caper sauce with pilaf for an elegant buffet supper or other special meal occasion.

Meringue Coat Hides Center of Ice Cream

The symbolism of the green fir tree, decorated and all twinkling with bright lights reaches back into the antiquity of the ancient Egyptians. Among these people, the date palm was the emblem of the star-lit desert skies.

They decorated their houses

Jelly Rolls Turn Into Yule Logs

The feast of Yule, celebrated by pre-Christian Scandinavians during the winter solstice, centered around the light and warmth of huge fires of oak roots.

From the ritual honoring the pagan god, Thor, came the English custom of burning the Yule log. Traditionally, the log was so large and so compact that it was allowed to burn for twelve days and then extinguished.

A few remnants "called" "Christ brand," were carefully put away to kindle the next Yuletide log.

This table can be dramatized at the Christmas table in the form of a dessert.

Coconut Yule Log

1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
1 egg yolk
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 (11-ounce) bakers' jelly rolls
¼ cup moist-pack coconut, ¼ (4-ounce) can

Beat cream, confectioners' sugar, egg yolk, nutmeg and vanilla extract together until stiff. Place jelly rolls together and spread whipped cream mixture over top and sides of both rolls. Sprinkle coconut over whipped cream. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Yield: 12-14 servings.

with date palm branches at the time of the winter solstice to signify life triumphant over death; perennial life in the renewal of each year.

The Christmas tree is, in our time, symbolic of the Giver of Light. And it is not restricted to the tree, itself, appearing as it does on Christmas tables in shapes of cookies and cakes. Replete with the symbolism of the season are:

Christmas Tree Alaska
1½ pints peppermint candy or mint ice cream
4 egg whites
¼ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon sherry extract
18 (1½-inch) sugar or butter cookies
Colored sugar

Using a cone-shaped dipper, scoop 6 dippers of ice cream, arrange them on a cookie sheet and place in freezer or pack into cone-shaped paper cups and turn out. Be sure they are VERY firm before making this dessert.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Add sherry extract and continue beating until meringue stands in stiff peaks.

Arrange 3-4 high stacks of cookies (spread a little meringue between layers) on a greased cookie sheet. Remove cone-shaped ice cream scoops from freezer and place one on each stack of cookies. Over cookies and ice cream closely with meringue, making it resemble the shape of a Christmas tree. Work quickly, but be sure there are no open air spaces in the meringue.

Sprinkle colored sugar over meringue. Silver shod, or multi-colored sprinkles can also decorate each tree. Brown in a hot oven (400 degrees) for about two minutes. Serve immediately or place in freezer until serving time. Yield: 6 Christmas Tree Alaska.

Meringues Are Yummy

If you have leftover egg whites, you may want to make these cookies for your youngsters.

Meringue Surprises

2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

¼ cup sugar
1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces (1 cup)

Beat together the egg whites, vanilla and salt until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in sugar until stiff and shiny. Fold in chocolate pieces. Drop by teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet.

Bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Makes about 3½ dozen.

Storing Fruit Cake

Store fruit cake by sprinkling with sherry, fruit juice or brandy; then wrap in cheesecloth. Sprinkle the cheesecloth and overwrap with foil or saran. Store in an airtight box in cool place.

About 4.1 million Americans live in mobile homes, with the number increasing by roughly 300,000 each year.

Plentiful Olives Accent Stroganoff

The nut-like flavor of ripe olives adds a most distinctive touch to the sauce of "Olive-Buttermilk Stroganoff." There's a minimum amount of work in making this "skillet" entree, and it's a recipe that can be doubled easily if you're expecting company.

Ripe olives do so much for all manner of meat and fish sauces, salads and hot breads as well as being a "must" in your relish dish.

Olive-Buttermilk Stroganoff
1 cup ripe olives
1 1/2 lbs. stew beef, cut into 1-inch cubes

Salt
Pepper
1/4 cup flour
2 to 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup water
1/4 cup catsup
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup sliced onion

1/4 cup buttermilk or dairy sour cream
Hot cooked noodles
Drain olives, reserving 1/4 cup liquid; cut olives into large wedges.

Sprinkle beef with salt and pepper roll in flour and brown in butter in large skillet. Stir reserved olive liquid, water, catsup and garlic into skillet. Cover and simmer 1 hour.

Mix in onion; cover and simmer 1 hour longer or until meat is tender. Stir buttermilk and olives into skillet; cook until heated through. Serve over noodles. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Thick Soup Patterned in Spanish Style Contains Meat, Fish, Nuts and Vegetables

For most American families, soup is something that comes from a can (or package), generally to be served with sandwiches for a quick meal. The art of making a pot of soup with fresh, fragrant ingredients is almost a lost one. Yet there are many continental soups which take little time to prepare and are as deliciously hearty, they are meals in themselves. In the cool, crisp weather of autumn. In Spain, as in all the countries of Europe, soups are taken seriously, and there are all kinds from delicate consommés to intricately-flavored seafood soups to substantial bean soups. One of the most unusual has the charming name of "Quarter of an Hour Soup." This is a combination of fish, lobster, clams and green peas, garnished with chopped eggs and almonds.

QUARTER OF AN HOUR SOUP
(Sopa al Cuarto de Hora)
½ cup Spanish olive oil
1 medium to large onion, chopped
1 garlic clove, crushed
¼ pound lean ham, chopped
1 pound can tomatoes

2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar
3 cups water
2 tablespoons rice
1 pound codfish or halibut, cut in chunks
2 or 3 frozen lobster tails (4 oz. each) or 8 shrimp, shelled 1 7-oz. can minced clams and juice

1 10-oz. package frozen peas
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
Shredded, toasted almonds
For garnish, crisp fried croutons
Cook the chopped onion, garlic and ham in the olive oil until onion is soft. Add tomatoes, salt, sugar, water and rice, bring to a boil.

Trim the lobster by cutting away soft undershell, cut each tail into half or thirds by cutting through hard upper shell with poultry shears. Add fish, lobster (or shrimp), minced clams, peas and parsley, reduce heat, cook fifteen minutes.

Serve garnished with hard-cooked egg and toasted almonds or croutons. Makes 6 servings.
Note: For a meatless meal, the ham may be omitted if preferred.

It Takes a Little Longer to Cook Gourmet Fish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The king of chefs, Escoffier, in his Guide Culinaire (published at the beginning of this century) gives a delightful main dish of poached fish fillets, a delicate sauce and a garnish of Muscatel grapes.

American cooks have adapted this recipe to suit their own needs. Instead of garnishing the dish with grapes, they add them to the sauce.

When seedless grapes are in markets, they use these; when they're not, canned light seedless grapes are added.

This is a great dish to serve to guests for a meatless Friday night supper or a Saturday lunch.

You might like to accompany it with buttered rice with a topping of crisp toasted almonds. For a vegetable, green peas or julienne snap beans are a good choice.

Fish Veronique
6 fillets of flounder or sole, boned and skinned
Salt and white pepper
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons flour
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup finely minced onion
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup dry white wine
2 cans (4 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) light seedless grapes
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup light cream
Sprinkle each fillet with salt and pepper and roll up. Fasten with a wooden pick.

For poaching the fish, choose a 10-inch skillet or one in which the fillets will fit without crowding. Using the skillet cover as a guide, cut a circle of waxed paper the size of the cover; tear a small hole in center of the paper; reserve.

Cream together 1 tablespoon of the butter with the flour and reserve. In the skillet, melt the remaining tablespoon of butter; stir in onion and cook slightly. Place fish rolls on onion. Pour wine around fish. Cover with the paper circle. (This helps conserve all the good flavors. Bring liquid to a boil, then cover and cook over medium heat 5 to 8 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Meanwhile, heat grapes in their syrup. Gently remove cooked fillets to a shallow broiler - proof dish; remove picks. Drain grapes and arrange around fish.

Add light cream to juices in skillet; stir in reserved creamed butter and flour; Cook and stir until slightly thickened; pour sauce over fish.

Heat under broiler until lightly browned, about 3 to 5 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Melted Jelly for a Sauce

For extra tang, add this sauce to a molded pudding.

Red Currant sauce

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup water
1 cup (1 8-ounce jar) red currant jelly
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup lemon juice

Bring water to a boil in a small saucepan. Add jelly and lemon juice, stir until smooth. Bring to a boil again. Remove from heat. Chill. Spoon some of sauce over individual molds of farina pudding. Serve, extra sauce in a separate dish.

Peach Garnish Full of Spice

Canned cling peach halves studded with cloves are simmered in peach syrup flavored with lemon and ginger, then chilled overnight for "Spiced Peach Nuggets" - a delicious companion for baked ham or turkey.

Spiced Peach Nuggets

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chopped candied ginger
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice
Whole cloves

Drain syrup from peaches into saucepan; stir in ginger and lemon rind and juice. Simmer about 5 minutes. Stick each peach half with 3 cloves; add to hot syrup and simmer about 5 minutes. Chill peaches overnight before serving. Makes 6 or 7 servings.

Eggs, Broccoli Make Pattern in Gelatin

Give "the girls" something different for lunch.

Broccoli - Egg Aspic

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 can (10 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) consommé, undiluted
Salt and pepper to taste
2 slices hard-cooked egg
6 cooked fresh broccoli flowerets

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup mayonnaise
2 hard-cooked eggs, sieved
2 cups cooked diced fresh broccoli

Lettuce or chichory
Soften gelatin in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of the cold consommé. Heat the remaining consommé and stir into softened gelatin; add salt and pepper.

Cut the 2 slices of hard-cooked egg into 6 wedges and place in bottom of a 5-cup mold with the cooked broccoli flowerets. Pour in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of the gelatin mixture. Chill until firm.

Chill the remaining gelatin mixture until consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold in the mayonnaise, sieved eggs and diced broccoli. Turn into the mold over the egg and broccoli garnish. Chill.

Unmold onto a bed of lettuce or chichory. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Stir Dried Dill Into Soup Mix

Soup, as first course to dinner is not a bit unusual. Through the centuries it has held a place of honor as the preface to the meal of the day. In fact, it was Grimod de la Reigneire who is credited with the comment, "Soup is to dinner what a porch or gateway is to a building."

The very next time you are planning a small intimate dinner for friends, make it buffet-style and let soup set the scene.

Dilled Noodle Soup With Lemon

1 can (3 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) noodle dry soup mix
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon dried dill leaves
7 cans (4 cups) cold water
Lemon slices

Empty soup mix and dill into saucepan. Add water. Bring to boil, stirring often. Partially cover; simmer 7 minutes, stirring now and then. Garnish with lemon slices. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Christmas Cakes Are Rich

BY JANIS ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

One might as well face the fact that everyone does not like fruitcake. Does it matter? There are other cakes that are appropriate to the Christmas season. Perhaps when you entertain during the coming two weeks, you will choose to serve the traditional fruitcake, but also offer another kind of cake.

Spicy Pineapple Cake

1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1/4 teaspoon pure lemon extract
1/4 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 large eggs
1-1/4 cups sifted cake flour
1-1/4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/4 cup crushed pineapple
Spicy Marshmallow Frosting

Combine the first 6 ingredients. Mix well. Gradually blend in sugar, mixing well. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift flour with baking powder and add alternately with pineapple. Beat batter 1/2 minute.

Turn into 2 well-greased, lightly floured, round, 8-inch cake pans. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool in pans 10 minutes.

Turn out onto wire racks to finish cooling. Put layers together with Spicy Marshmallow frosting over top and sides. Yield: 8-inch, 2-layer cake.

Spicy Marshmallow Frosting:

2 large egg whites
1-1/2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon light corn syrup
1/4 cup pineapple juice
1-1/4 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1/4 cup miniature marshmallows

Combine the first 6 ingredients in the top of a double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water. Beat with a rotary or an electric beater at full speed 7 minutes or until frosting stands in stiff peaks. Remove from heat and add pure vanilla extract and marshmallows. Beat until marshmallows have melted. Yield: Enough frosting for top and sides of two 8-inch layers.

It could be a Chocolate

Mini Party Cake with its four layers separated by chocolate filling and the whole topped with pale green whipping cream.

Chocolate-Mint Party Cake

2-3/4 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening (including some butter - not more than half)

1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1-1/4 teaspoons vanilla
2 squares semi-sweet chocolate, finely chopped
3 egg whites
1/4 cup sugar
Chocolate Filling
Mint Whipped Cream

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening until softened. Gradually add 1 cup sugar; cream together until light and fluffy. Alternately add flour and milk to shortening mixture, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla; then fold in chocolate.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until egg whites will form stiff shiny peaks. Carefully fold into the batter.

Pour into two 8-inch layer pans which have been lined on the bottoms with paper. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. Cool.

Split each layer in half horizontally. Prepare Chocolate Filling and Mint Whipped Cream. Spread 1/4 cup filling between each of the layers and 1/4 cup over top of cake. Frost sides of cake with the whipped cream. Garnish with coconut and chopped candied fruit, if desired.

Chocolate Filling
6 squares semi-sweet chocolate
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons hot water
Dash of salt
3 egg yolks
1/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1/4 cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Partially melt chocolate over hot water. Remove from water; stir rapidly until entirely melted. Add 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons hot water and the salt; blend thoroughly.

Add egg yolks to chocolate mixture, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Stir in vanilla. Makes 1-1/2 cups.

Upside Down Cake Given a New Flavor

If you want to surprise the family with some real old-fashioned goodness, bake up this wheat germ pineapple upside-down cake.

It's a hearty cake, with the wheat germ contributing its good quality protein and its wealth of vitamins and minerals, but just as important, the cake is on the scrumptious side. The heartiness is delicately balanced by the candy-like topping of caramel over the pineapple slices and cherries. This old-fashioned favorite can be served hot or cold, and with or without whipped cream. It's delicious any way.

Wheat Germ Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

10 slices (No. 2 can) pineapple and syrup
10 maraschino cherries, halved
1/4 cup wheat germ (divided)
Water
2 eggs
15 or 16-oz. pkg. white or yellow cake mix
Melt butter in 8x13-inch oblong pan. Add sugar. Cook over medium heat until bubbly. Remove from heat. Arrange pineapple slices and cherries on sugar mixture. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup wheat germ.

Add enough water to pineapple syrup to make the amount of liquid called for on the cake mix package. Add liquid and eggs to cake mix. Mix according to package directions. Stir in remaining 1/4 cup wheat germ. Pour batter evenly over prepared fruit. Bake at 325 degrees for 45-50 minutes.

Loosen edges of cake. Invert pan onto serving plate immediately. Let stand 5 minutes before removing pan.

Serve warm or cold, plain or with whipped cream. Yield: 12 servings.

Onion Sauce

This great sauce goes so well over fried chicken, cooked noodles or cooked asparagus. Use it often. In saucepan, combine 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) chicken gravy and 1 to 2 tablespoons sliced green onions. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes about 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Lemon Sauces Good to Have for Desserts

Sauces give a crowning touch that makes your holiday desserts extra special, yet they require only a few additional minutes to prepare.

For example, serve a hot lemon butter sauce over warm slices of date pudding or other similar holiday dessert. The tangy flavor of the sauce nicely complements the sweetness of the pudding.

A sauce to serve either hot or cold is a traditional hard sauce with a lemony flavor. It's delicious on fruit cake or steamed pudding.

Both sauces are prepared from convenient bottled lemon juice... a great kitchen aid to have in your refrigerator during the busy Christmas season.

You can serve holiday sauces over many other dishes too. Have you ever tried pastas topped with a hard sauce? It's a particularly delightful combination for breakfast or brunch. Or serve hard sauce on mince or apple pie. Lemon Butter Sauce might also be spooned over cake or ice cream.

Lemon Butter Sauce
1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
4 eggs

Combine bottled lemon juice, sugar and butter or margarine in a sauce pan; cook over low heat until butter is melted and sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; blend into lemon mixture.

Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a spoon. Serve warm, over holiday pudding, ice cream or cake. Yield: 3 cups.

Lemon Hard Sauce
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1/4 cups confectioners' sugar, sifted
Cream softened butter or margarine; add lemon juice gradually and continue creaming until blended thoroughly. Add sifted sugar; stir until blended. Chill and serve. Serve over steamed puddings, fruitcake, pancakes or hot apple pie. Yield: 2 1/2 cups.

Heart Fricassee

1 small beef heart or 2 veal hearts
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup sliced onion
1 cup diced carrots
1 cup canned tomatoes

Wash the heart and remove the hard parts. Slice across grain. Dredge in flour and brown in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add onion and brown. Pour off drippings. Add carrots and tomatoes.

Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 hours or until tender. 6 to 8 servings.

Coat Sandwiches Like French Toast

This recipe is designed for leftover ham!

Ham Sandwiches French-toasted

1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
1/4 cup mayonnaise
Prepared mustard to taste
8 slices bread
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1/4 cup milk
Dash of salt
1/4 cup butter or margarine

Mix together the ham, mayonnaise and mustard; make 4 sandwiches with the mixture and the bread; cut each into 2 triangles. Beat eggs with milk and salt enough to blend; dip sandwiches into mixture. Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a large skillet; add sandwiches and brown slowly; turn, adding remaining butter and brown other side. Makes 4 servings.

Three out of four mobile homes are never moved after they are installed, a survey by industry leaders reveals.

Dime and diamond—rough stone is worth $90,000.

CUTTING CARATS

When you make small diamonds from a large one, a thin saw blade can cut the difference between success and failure. In the case of the 90-carat, $90,000-Sierra Leone diamond, success meant a 30-carat emerald cut solitaire, a 7.05-carat-marquise diamond, a six-carat round stone and a six-carat pear-shaped stone—all worth $250,000.

When George Kelrick, a New York City diamond merchant, bought the 90-carat Sierra Leone diamond, it looked like little more than a lump of alum. A big gamble, three months of work and a lot of worry produced four gems from it.

The first step in the process was plotting the grain for the critical first cut for the big gem. After the grain of the stone is determined, it is imbedded into a small pot of plaster of paris for cutting. The pot holding the stone is fitted into a rig that gently lowers it against a thin high-carbon steel circular saw. The dust created by the slowly rotating wheel does the actual cutting.

A veteran diamond cutter closely watches the saw's progress through a high-power loupe. It took two months of constant sawing to cut through the Sierra Leone stone.

In grinding and polishing, the diamond is fitted into a vise-like socket and held against a spinning cast iron turntable. Again, the diamond's own dust works as the grinding agent. The time spent in this step depends upon the number of facets to be put in the finished stone. The 30-carat stone was a month in the grinding and polishing process.

Kelrick described the work on the Sierra Leone gem as a "long range gamble." A miscue in any of the steps, especially in the cutting, could have ruined the big gem and it would have had to be cut into smaller stones.

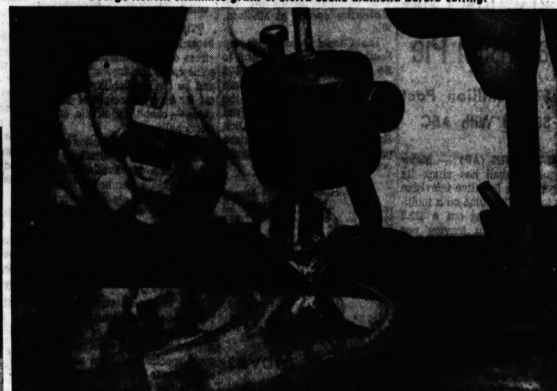

"You hate to lose the big ones," says Kelrick. "You feel like a doctor who has lost a patient."

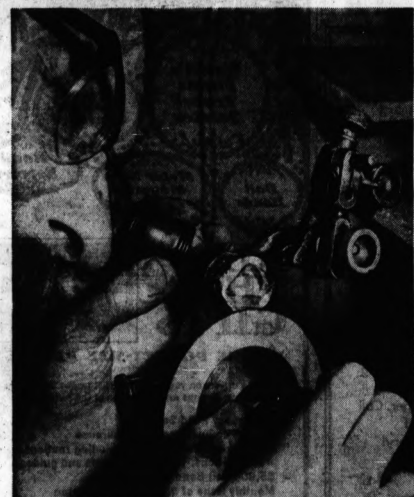

George Kelrick examines grain of Sierra Leone diamond before cutting.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis — Womp imprisons the prince in a magic circle drawn in the snow. Then he puts on the magic shoes and leaves for Fairyland to cast a spell over Santa Claus.

CHAPTER TEN

At dawn the turtle and the snowman arrived in Fairyland. While they waited for the prince to arrive they removed their magic shoes, for Tweedleknobs had told them the shoes were good only for a one-way trip to Fairyland.

They threw the shoes away and gazed around them, speechless.

They were in a place of enchantment where the sun shone every day and flowers bloomed all year long.

"I shall melt!" thought the snowman worriedly.

But he didn't because Fairyland is a place where the weather is neither hot nor cold but always just right for every creature who comes there.

HOMP ALONG

Fairies and elves and pixies romped among the flowers.

Storybook characters sat under the trees and told tales, old and new.

Strange insects gossiped together and animals who had always feared each other were friends today in Fairyland.

All around were the sights and sounds of the Christmas Music Festival that was about to begin.

Instruments were being tuned and voices tried out. Some musicians rushed about nervously pulling their hair.

STAMP FEET

Others stood muttering to themselves. Still others stamped their feet in time to tunes beating in their heads.

George began to shake with excitement. So many musicals! Could he possibly perform as well as they? He was sure he could.

He longed to throw back his head this very minute and show how beautifully he could sing, how golden the tone of his voice.

But where was the prince? George turned his head this way and that, searching. What could have happened to him? A sudden trickle of fear caused him to shiver.

SIGH OF RELIEF

"Look yonder!" whispered the snowman suddenly. "He's coming!"

With a sigh of relief, George turned.

But instead of the prince here was Santa Claus coming down the path.

He was short and fat and dressed all in red. He was jolly and smiling and as happy as the Music Festival were something he had been looking forward to for a hundred years, as indeed he had!

He came straight up to George and the snowman and said, "Welcome! Have you come to the festival to perform?"

COME TO LISTEN

The snowman said shyly, "I've come to listen. George has come to sing."

"Ah," said Santa nodding at the turtle. "I've heard of you! I love a good voice and I am looking forward to your performance. In fact, just to start things off right I shall put you down to sing first."

He took out a notebook and began to write down George's name.

But George said, "Please, if you don't mind, I'd like to wait for my friend, Prince Chad."

MAGIC SHOES

Then he told Santa how the prince had come all the way from Razelpie to see Santa and get his help for the people in his kingdom. He told how Patrick Tweedleknobs had, given them the magic shoes to get to Fairyland and how all the prince had to do was put them on and he would be there.

"I'm so afraid something bad has happened," he ended anxiously.

"Nonsense," said Santa cheerfully. "We'll put you down for number 15. By that time the prince will be here and you can sing your best."

He wrote George's name down opposite number 15 and then he called all the musicians together and said, "Let's begin!"

He led the way to the fairy queen's garden where the queen was waiting on her throne.

Santa sat beside her in a red-cushioned rocking chair. All the elves and pixies and animals and storybook folk settled on the grass around them.

As the festivities were about to begin there was a small commotion at the back of the garden. A latecomer had arrived.

George looked eagerly over his shoulder, sure the prince had come at last.

But it wasn't the prince. It was Womp, cloaked in black and carrying a flute in his hands.

Newspaper advertising makes things happen.

There's something about the very nature of the newspaper that stimulates buying action, whatever the product. Maybe it's because the newspaper has an atmosphere of action and urgency. Maybe it's because its pages are full of what's going on right now...right here...today.

Whatever it is, it gives the newspaper's advertising something extra and makes it more immediate, more compelling. That's why advertisers invested $3.7 billion in newspapers last year to generate buying action among the 100 million readers who shop the newspaper day after day.

Legislator Urges Reinstatement

Two in Guard Scandal Deny Charges

LANSING (UPI) — Two suspended National Guard generals have denied charges lodged against them by Gov. Romney in a surprise hearing before the legislative audit commission.

The commission chairman, Sen. Elmer R. Porter, R-Blissfield, said the testimony by Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert, when weighed against a report issued by Aud. Gen. Billie S. Farnum, was enough to convince him the officers should be reinstated as state adjutant general and state quartermaster general, respectively.

Porter, whose Senate term ends Dec. 31, said, "I think they should still be in office unless they've got something different on them than has already been shown."

"I think they should be put back on the payroll no matter what Gov. Romney says."

Romney fired the men Oct. 8, charging that Farnum had uncovered 11 administrative irregularities during an audit that had gone on for more than a year.

ACTED ILLEGALLY

On Oct. 31, Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley fired off a press release claiming Romney had acted illegally in firing the men without a hearing.

Romney reinstated the officers Nov. 6 but then had Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, commanding officer of the Michigan National Guard, suspend them.

At the time Romney promised McDonald and Neifert they would get an administrative hearing, but as yet no date has been set.

Monday Kelley announced that one of his assistants, Russell Seuri, had been selected to present the case against the two officers.

FIRST CHANCE

But their first real chance to tell their side of the so-called "National Guard scandal" came Monday when they were summoned to the State Capitol to attend a meeting of the legislative audit commission.

Using a series of charts, McDonald denied the Romney-Farnum charges count by count.

The major charges against the two officers concerned the alleged illegal sale of state property at Camp Grayling, illegal sale of liquor in National Guard armories and misuse of armory funds for construction.

As he has said previously, Mc-

Donald claimed the land transactions were in reality exchanges and not outright sales, that they were condoned by the State Military Board and that the National Guard vastly improved its summer training grounds at Camp Grayling with the deals.

NEEDED PROPERTY

He said in the exchanges the state got approximately 14 acres of property needed for training for every one acre it gave up.

Any charges brought concerning sale of liquor, McDonald insisted, should be lodged against Simmons and not he or Neifert.

"Gen. Simmons is the troop commander and the president of the military board. The sale of liquor is the responsibility of the commanding general," McDonald said.

He also urged that the old law which prohibits the sale of liquor at armories be amended to prevent the loss of between $50,000 and $100,000 a year in rental fees to the armories.

MILITARY CONSTRUCTION

On the subject of military construction McDonald pointed out that the legislature, in appropriating monies for the military establishment, made the allocation usually on a lump sum basis.

He said, therefore, the military establishment believed it had the authority to shift funds from one purpose to another — generally, in the case of Farnum's charges, from use at an armory to construction work at Camp Grayling.

"At no time has any equipment been purchased, any supply been purchased that hasn't at present the state tag on it."

"In other words, there wasn't anything in the supplies and equipment that was for any personal gain for anyone in the Michigan National Guard," McDonald said.

McDonald closed his presentation by telling the nine legislators at the hearing, "I know nothing about the law except I believe truth is the most important thing and if you gentlemen will listen to my side of the story as far as the law is concerned, we believe we did the best for the Michigan National Guard."

Junior Editors Quiz on TIME

QUESTION: What is apparent solar time?

ANSWER: We all know that the earth is actually going in an orbit around the sun, yet the sun appears to be taking a path around the earth, rising in the east and sinking in the west.

Men have always used this apparent path of the sun to measure time, and still do. We call this "apparent solar time" because "apparent" means "visible" — we can actually see the sun moving across the sky each day.

We count our days as ending when the sun seems to cross under the earth at midnight, with a new day beginning at once.

This sounds simple. But the sun, while it keeps exact time from year to year, does not give us exact time day by day — one of the reasons being that the earth's orbit around the sun is not exactly circular, making small variations in the length of the days.

To allow for this, astronomers have taken the average or "mean" time, which is what our clocks run on.

Your particular time is related to the meridian, or north-south line, on which you stand. Since it would be very difficult for you to keep resetting your watch as you travel around, four areas in the country are arranged as time zones, as you see in the drawing.

N. J. Teacher Vote Ends in Deadlock

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A hard-fought election in which two groups sought the right to represent Newark's schoolteachers ended Tuesday night in a tie.

The Newark Teachers Association and the Newark Teachers Union each received 1,373 votes.

There were 220 challenged ballots. Election officials will rule on their validity and count them Friday.

No Longer an Outlet for 'Dead End' Signs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville is going to live up to some of its street signs. "No Outlet" will replace "Dead End" signs.

"The word 'dead' carries a displeasing connotation to some people," traffic engineer Arthur R. Daniel said Tuesday.

Between questions and answers, the telephone rang and rang.

"I'm not in private practice," Papa tells them all. "I wouldn't dare advise you, or anyone, to use this testosterone, which happens to be an old-time drug which can be obtained only by prescription. It should be used only on the advice of a physician."

HE FALLS FOR KIDS — His stunt man friend was busy on another movie, so actor Mike Landon, one of the brothers on television's No. 1 program, "Bonanza," volunteered to take this fall for him and donate his pay to a children's Christmas party fund. Landon picked up a few bruises, but no serious injury.

Hair Raiser Vexed With Calls, Mail

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What happens to a doctor who may have discovered a way to grow hair on bald heads? He is pestered for samples of the alleged magic cream. He is besieged with requests to act as guinea pigs. His telephone rings and rings, even past midnight. His mail reaches movie star proportions.

Dr. Christopher M. Papa, 32, a resident in dermatology at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, is in that predicament — and doesn't like it. He is an angry young man who prefers the anonymity of his tiny, slide-cluttered laboratory.

"It's getting so I can't get any real work done," he said in an interview, admittedly anxious to resume his primary interest: the study of the causes and effects of aging skin and how to restore its youth.

AN ACCIDENT

"Growing hair on a bald head happened accidentally," Papa said with a sigh and shrug. "It was a by-product of other research. We didn't set out to grow hair. But we found that we were doing it as we rubbed the skin under the arm pits. So we tried it on the head — and hair grew. It took many months, but it grew. In one case it was a year before anything started to show."

"Sure, I'm happy to have been able to take this giant step forward in hair-growing research because up to now baldness was considered hopeless. "Now, I'm sure it isn't. Man can grow hair, which makes the process of losing hair reversible."

THICK HAIR

But Papa, with a head of thick black hair himself, insisted his apparently fortuitous discovery is still very, very experimental. "Much, much more study must be made," he said. "It may take years."

Between questions and answers, the telephone rang and rang. "I'm not in private practice," Papa tells them all. "I wouldn't dare advise you, or anyone, to use this testosterone, which happens to be an old-time drug which can be obtained only by prescription. It should be used only on the advice of a physician."

Movie Star Helps 'Home' That Helped Him as Teen

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — There is a handsome Christmas wreath hanging in the entrance to the MGM commissary with a sign saying others like it can be ordered by calling the office of Steve McQueen.

Why is a movie star selling Christmas wreaths? The answer is THOMAS goes far back into McQueen's past to an episode he has seldom discussed. It concerns another Christmas, when he was barely a teen-ager but possessed a toughness beyond his years.

Inevitably, he got in trouble with the law. He was offered the choice of stern punishment, or enrollment at Boys' Republic, a private institution dedicated to straightening out boys in trouble. He chose the latter.

Located at Chino, 30 miles east of Los Angeles, Boys' Republic is just that: a self-sufficient plant where the boys rule themselves, with adult guidance.

"The system works out fine," says McQueen in retrospect. "If you allow the boys to run the boys, you can pretty well be sure that discipline will be kept. When a clean cottage means the chance to see a movie once a month and one boy can wipe out the privileges by demerits, you can bet the others will see that he suffers for his infractions."

Young Steve didn't see the wisdom of the system at first. He ran away, landed in jail and was returned to Boys' Republic.

"I got my jumps from the other fellows," he said.

A LONG TALK

He also had a long talk with the superintendent. Steve remembers him as a formidable-looking man with a patient understanding of the motivations of boys in trouble. He gently explained the alternatives of Steve's future life: he could go on getting into trouble, or he could start learning to get along with other human beings.

Steve admits it was probably the turning point in his life.

He learned to do his work, and there is plenty to do at Boys' Republic. There are cattle and other livestock to take care of and a host of duties in maintaining the grounds and buildings. Steve soon discovered the boys who worked well got the better jobs.

"I had the garbage duty during my Christmas at Boys' Republic," he recalled. "Listen, it wasn't a bad job at all. You just had to haul out the cans three times a day. There were a lot of worse jobs."

ASSEMBLES WREATHS

One of his other duties was assembling the Della Robbia Christmas wreaths, which are put on public sale each year with proceeds helping to support the republic. Steve stayed there about a year, then left to ship out on a freighter.

The lessons he learned at Boys' Republic stayed with him, and the whole experience remains vital in his memory.

And that's how a movie star happened to be selling Christmas wreaths in the MGM commissary.

Plan Memorial to Rights Trio in Mississippi

NEW YORK (AP) — An architect has unveiled plans for a $250,000 bullet-proof community center in Meridian, Miss., as a memorial to the three civil rights workers murdered in that state last summer.

Architect Paul Willen told a news conference Tuesday that funds to construct the L-shaped masonry building will be raised by the Congress of Racial Equality as a memorial to Michael Schwerner, James Chaney and Andrew Goodman.

Willen said the structure will have high walls on three sides to "withstand gunfire."

Jackie Robinson, former baseball star and co-director of the drive for the center's building funds, said $22,000 had been collected.

Ted Kennedy Keeping His Promise to Walk Out of Hospital With Mended Back

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is keeping a promise today, to walk out of the hospital recovered from the broken back he suffered 180 days ago in a plane crash.

Kennedy and his wife, Joan, are flying to Palm Beach, Fla., where he will recuperate in a rented oceanside house a few doors away from the winter home of his parents, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy.

He is planning to be in Washington Jan. 4 for the opening of the new session of Congress, when he and his brother, Robert F. Kennedy, senator-elect from New York, will take their seats in the Senate.

Kennedy was injured in a crash in a Southampton apple orchard June 19 as he flew in for the Democratic state convention.

He was dragged out of the wrecked plane, his legs dangling helplessly, and was taken by ambulance to the Cooley-Dickinson Hospital in nearby Northampton.

Dr. Thomas F. Corriden of Cooley-Dickinson, the first to treat Kennedy, said: "When I first saw him I thought he was awfully, seriously hurt. When we found the extent of his injuries — well, the first couple of hours were pretty shaky until we got him out of shock. Then things were better."

Kennedy was flying to Massachusetts from Washington in a chartered plane, piloted by Edwin T. Zimny, 43, of Lawrence. Also aboard with Kennedy were long-time friend and aide, Edward S. Moss, 42, of Andover, and Democratic Sen. and Mrs. Birch Bayh of Indiana. Sen. Bayh was to be the keynote speaker for the convention.

The pilot was killed in the crash. Moss died several hours later. Sen. and Mrs. Bayh suffered relatively minor injuries. On July 9, Kennedy was transferred by ambulance to the New England Baptist Hospital in Boston. Kennedy has spent almost all of the last six months strapped into a Stryker frame — an orthopedic bed in which he could be rotated at intervals so that he could lie either face up or face down.

LBJ Faces New Term With 'Cautious Responsibility'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson approaches his full term "in a mood of cautious responsibility as he ponders how to use the vast power of the presidency and the might of the nation he leads," the Washington Post said today.

Looking back toward two of his predecessors, the Post reported:

He feels John F. Kennedy "left him not only an inheritance of specific problems but a legend of style and grace which rankles him because it won such praise."

Franklin D. Roosevelt is still his major hero but he is determined to avoid what he considers an FDR mistake — overusing his mandate after his great 1936 victory.

The Post article, a news analysis, was signed by Chalmers M. Roberts, one of the newspaper's veteran capital observers. He wrote of Johnson:

"He knows full well what the problems are, at home and abroad, but like many a president before him he has come to realize that the chief executive is not the only power in the land nor is the United States omnipotent in the world."

"To some impatient to right old wrongs or to press new causes Mr. Johnson seems overly cautious, particularly after the reinforcement of his massive election victory."

His caution seems born of a determination to be surefooted in what he does."

Three major problems face the President, the Post said.

They and his thinking, in brief, are:

ATLANTIC ALLIANCE

Atlantic alliance: He did not try to dictate to British Prime Minister Harold Wilson on the multilateral nuclear force concept and he has done his best to convince French President

Charles de Gaulle that he is not out to cause him trouble.

Changes in the alliance are necessary, he realizes, but they must not be forced by the United States.

And so as far as the MLP or any variant of it concerned he has returned American policy (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

City Clerk Reports Petitions Certified on Tax Referendum

Pontiac will have a referendum on its controversial income tax, according to a report last night by City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley.

The clerk reported to the City Commission that referendum petitions filed Friday by the Citizens Committee on Taxation contained a sufficient number of signatures and had been certified by her office.

The commission must still set the date of the election. State law provides that the vote be scheduled between Feb. 1 and March 20, 1965.

A form of ballot and notice of election were ordered by the commission last night.

Charles Nasstrom, chairman of the taxation committee, said that his group hoped to make a comprehensive study of city finances.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. answered that the commission had acted under the state law. He said the commission was

TELLS OF FORD IN FUTURE — Henry Ford II (left), Ford Motor Co., board chairman, gave his annual year-end report to the press in Detroit yesterday. He said the company anticipates 1965 will be an even bigger year than 1964. With him is Arjay Miller, Ford president.

Ford Tops Auto Executive Predictions

By HARRY J. REED
Managing Editor,
The Pontiac Press

DEARBORN—Henry Ford II topped the 1965 predictions of other auto industry leaders with a 10.1 million car and truck outlook yesterday, and hit at the "excessive bargaining power" of unions.

Following predictions of 9.4

vehicles of General Motors' chairman Frederic G. Donner and Chrysler's Lynn Townsend's 9.5 to 10 million estimate, Ford said his figure was based on a continued growth in the U.S. economy.

"The basic strength of the economy and of automobile demand suggests that records

Yule Mail Jam Begins at Pontiac Post Office

A jam-up of 300,000 pieces of mail has prompted the Pontiac Post Office to put its full-time employees on 12-hour shifts and to bring in 35 extra workers.

Postmaster William Donaldson said the post office does not bring in extra help until the rush actually begins.

"We never know from year to year when the avalanche will hit," he said.

Donaldson said it would be a bad situation to bring in Christmas help before the mail rush and have them standing around with nothing to do.

The jam-up in the Pontiac Post Office began yesterday morning with a heavy load of outgoing mail.

The rush of incoming mail follows the outgoing rush by about 24 hours normally.

SPECIAL HANDLING

Post office officials suggested that at this time of year, persons with special mail should use some means of special handling.

Otherwise it can get bogged down in the mass of Christmas mail and could be delayed.

Next day service is not possible when the post office gets hit with two or three times as much mail as normal.

News Flash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges resigned today. President Johnson selected John T. Connor, president of the Merck and Co. pharmaceutical company, to succeed him.

OU Among Schools Seeking More Funds

Oakland University is among the state-supported schools seeking increased funds for 1965-66, according to local officials.

A state advisory group on higher education warned yesterday that new taxes could be needed to support the money demands of state institutions.

Chancellor D. B. Varner said that OU has requested a 23 per cent hike in its operating budget for 1965-66.

In addition, the local institution seeks $2.3-million for capital outlay.

Both requests have been approved by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees and submitted to Gov. Romney.

Defense Chief Assures Allies of Commitment

McNamara Attempts to Block Separate N-Deterrent Systems

PARIS (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today further large-scale investments in strategic nuclear weapons are unnecessary because the United States possesses enough power to bring 100-million quick casualties to the Soviet Union.

In such an all-out nuclear exchange the Russians would expect to inflict the same number of deaths on the American population, he told the annual winter ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Massive as such a shock would be to either the United States or the Soviet Union, it would be even worse if a full nuclear strike hit the closely packed countries of Western Europe, conference sources quoted the secretary as saying.

Expect Dillon to Resign Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon has made tentative plans to resign within a few months, it was learned today.

His most likely successor: Donald C. Cook of New York, head of a large utilities firm and former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. He is 55.

Other names that have been mentioned for the post include David Rockefeller, 49, president of New York's Chase-Manhattan Bank, and Robert B. Anderson, 54, a close associate of President Johnson and a former secretary of the Treasury.

Anderson, a native Texan, now lives in Greenwich, Conn.

Back to Wall Street

Duke's Surgery 'Goes Well'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The 70-year-old Duke of Windsor underwent a 67-minute operation today for removal of a large, blister of an abdominal artery.

"His Royal Highness tolerated surgery well," a hospital spokesman said.

The resection of 10 to 12 centimeters is about 4 to 5 inches.

The operation began at 7:32 a.m. and ended at 8:39 a.m.

FAMED SURGEON

Dr. Michael DeBakey, a cardiovascular surgeon of international repute, performed the operation and was assisted by five physicians, including three surgeons, an anesthesiologist and a cardiologist.

A Methodist Hospital spokesman said three nurses also assisted and the Duke's New York City physician, Dr. Arthur Annenku, watched the surgery.

Germans Suggest Atomic Mine Field

PARIS (UPI)—West Germany has proposed the creation of an atomic mine field along the Iron Curtain to strengthen Western defenses in Central Europe, military sources said today.

The plan was said to be part of a West German "forward strategy" study presented to the NATO military committee last week.

It proposes the placing of atomic mines at points where an aggressor might be expected to attempt a breakthrough in the first stages of any war, sources said.

Gen. Heinz Tretter, inspector general of the West German Army, was reported to have presented the study.

LBJ Faces New Term With 'Cautious Responsibility'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson approaches his full term "in a mood of cautious responsibility as he ponders how to use the vast power of the presidency and the might of the nation he leads," the Washington Post said today.

Looking back toward two of his predecessors, the Post reported:

"He feels John F. Kennedy 'left him not only an inheritance of specific problems but a legend of style and grace which ranks him because it won such praise.'"

Franklin D. Roosevelt is still his major hero but he is determined to avoid what he considers an FDR mistake — overusing his mandate after his great 1936 victory.

The Post article, a news analysis, was signed by Chalmers M. Roberts, one of the newspaper's veteran capital observers. He wrote of Johnson:

"He knows full well what the problems are, at home and abroad, but like many a president before him he has come to realize that the chief executive is not the only power in the land nor is the United States omnipotent in the world."

"To some impatient to right old wrongs or to press new causes Mr. Johnson seems overly cautious, particularly after the reinforcement of his massive electoral victory."

Three major problems face the President, the Post said.

ATLANTIC ALLIANCE

Atlantic alliance: He did not try to dictate to British Prime Minister Harold Wilson on the multilateral nuclear force concept and he has done his best to convince French President Charles de Gaulle that he is not out to cause him trouble.

Changes in the alliance are necessary, he realizes, but they must not be forced by the United States.

And so as far as the MLF or any variant of it concerned he has returned American policy (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

City Clerk Reports Petitions Certified on Tax Referendum

Pontiac will have a referendum on its controversial income tax, according to a report last night by City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley.

The clerk reported to the City Commission that referendum petitions filed Friday by the Citizens Committee on Taxation contained a sufficient number of signatures and had been certified by her office.

The commission must still set the date of the election. State law provides that the vote be scheduled between Feb. 1 and March 20, 1965.

A form of ballot and notice of election were ordered by the commission last night.

Charles Nassstrom, chairman of the taxation committee, said that his group hoped to make a comprehensive study of city finances.

Mayer William H. Taylor Jr. answered that the commission had acted under the state law. He said the commission was not opposed to a vote, but that the election would delay benefits of the tax until 1966.

Taylor added that the facts on city finances were being put together.

"Perhaps it (the election) will bring to the people's attention the city's outstanding needs," commented the mayor.

"Believe me we are at the crossroads," he concluded.

Commissioners expressed confidence that the people would back the income tax proposal at the polls.

'U.S. Has Enough N-Power'

TELLS OF FORD IN FUTURE — Henry Ford II (left), Ford Motor Co. board chairman, gave his annual year-end report to the press in Detroit yesterday. He said the company anticipates 1965 will be an even bigger year than 1964. With him is Arjay Miller, Ford president.

OU Among Schools Seeking More Funds

Oakland University is among the state-supported schools seeking increased funds for 1965-66, according to local officials.

A state advisory group on higher education warned yesterday that new taxes could be needed to support the money demands of state institutions.

Chancellor D. B. Varner said that OU has requested a 23 per cent hike in its operating budget for 1965-66.

In addition, the local institution seeks $2.3-million for capital outlay.

Both requests have been approved by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees and submitted to Gov. Romney.

The governor must recommend a higher education package to the legislature.

PROJECTED INCREASE

A projected increase in operating funds for the 10 state-supported institutions of $47.5 million to $78.7 million brought on the warning from the Michigan Coordinating Council for Public Higher Education.

New taxes might also be necessary, said the advisory group, to meet the $52 million needed for the 1965-66 building program of the state schools.

According to Varner, Oakland University has requested a hike in their operating budget of $497,000, up from the current year's $2.2-million budget.

He said the increase — about 23 per cent — is sought to match an expected 27 per cent jump in enrollment.

ENROLLMENT RISE

In addition to salary adjustments, the added money would provide for 41 staff people, 24 of them teachers, to handle the anticipated higher enrollment.

Capital outlay plans for 1965-66 include:

- $232,000 to finish the third floor of the library and renovate that building's basement for a computer center
- $100,000 in planning monies

McNamara Attempts to Block Separate N-Deterrent Systems

PARIS (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today further large-scale investments in strategic nuclear weapons are unnecessary because the United States possesses enough power to bring 100 million quick casualties to the Soviet Union.

In such an all-out nuclear exchange the Russians would expect to inflict the same number of deaths on the American population, he told the annual winter ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Massive as such a shock would be to either the United States or the Soviet Union, it would be even worse if a full nuclear strike hit the closely packed countries of Western Europe, conference sources quoted the secretary as saying.

McNamara, by implication, suggested there was no need for separate nuclear deterrent systems such as those possessed by the British and French.

And he insisted in the strongest possible terms that the United States could not even contemplate a conflict in which Western Europe would be the battlefield and the United States and the Soviet Union would be nuclear sanctuaries.

GERMAN STORES

McNamara said the United States has stockpiled nuclear weapons in West Germany alone equal to 5,000 times the power of the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima — or a blasting power equal to a million tons of TNT.

In all of Washington's planning, McNamara said, as much interest is taken in protecting Western European targets as those in the United States.

He said that generally speaking the conventional power of the NATO alliance presented a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Duke's Surgery 'Goes Well'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The 70-year-old Duke of Windsor underwent a 67-minute operation today for removal of a large blister on an abdominal artery.

"His Royal Highness tolerated surgery well," a hospital spokesman said.

"The resection of the aorta involved an area of 10 to 12 centimeters."

The resection involved the replacement of an aneurysm — a ballooning blister the size of an orange — on the aorta with a synthetic tube.

The resection of 10 to 12 centimeters is about 4 to 5 inches.

The operation began at 7:32 a.m. and ended at 8:30 a.m.

FAMED SURGEON

Dr. Michael DeBakey, a cardiovascular surgeon of international repute, performed the operation and was assisted by five physicians, including three surgeons, an anesthesiologist and a cardiologist.

A Methodist Hospital spokesman said three nurses also assisted and the duke's New York City physician, Dr. Arthur Antonicci, watched the surgery.

Sees 10.1 Million Production

Ford Tops Auto Executive Predictions

By HARRY J. REED
Managing Editor,
The Pontiac Press

DEARBORN — Henry Ford II topped the 1965 predictions of other auto industry leaders with a 10.1 million car and truck outlook yesterday, and hit at the "excessive bargaining power" of unions.

"The basic strength of the economy and of automobile demand suggests that records established this year will soon topple," Ford told newsmen.

"This year's remarkable economic growth was achieved with little increase in prices," he added.

Taking up the subject of the unions, Ford said the recent strike in the auto industry cut production by more than 675,000 units, worth more than $2 billion.

$500 MILLION LOSS

He pegged the sales loss to Ford and direct suppliers at $500 million. The 77,000 Ford employees idled by the strikes lost a total of $18 million in wages, he added.

"Something has to be done to put us on at least an even basis with the unions," Ford said.

"The Ford strikes were called after we had agreed to the largest national settlement in the history of our relationship with the UAW," he stated.

"Next time we settle nationally, we can't have the local problems like we had this time."

He listed as a strike cost 115,000 cars and 50,000 trucks and said earnings will be down 10 per cent from what they would have been, because of the strike.

LOOKS TO FUTURE

Looking to the future, Ford said the firm's confidence in the new year is reflected in the production schedules. Ford plans to build 798,000 cars and trucks in the U.S. in the first quarter of 1965 — up 50,000 above the best previous quarter.

Ford said his firm spent $465 million in 1964, and would spend $700 million next year, "far more than we have ever spent in a single year."

Questioned about stockpiling of steel in case of a strike in that industry, Ford said the company was adding a 60-day stockpile, in addition to the 20-30-day normal supply.

Yule Mail Jam Begins at Pontiac Post Office

A jam-up of 300,000 pieces of mail has prompted the Pontiac Post Office to put its full-time employees on 12-hour shifts and to bring in 35 extra workers.

Postmaster William Donaldson said the post office does not bring in extra help until the rush actually begins.

"We never know from year to year when the avalanche will hit," he said.

Donaldson said it would be a bad situation to help before the mail rush and have them standing around with nothing to do.

The jam-up in the Pontiac Post Office began yesterday morning with a heavy load of outgoing mail.

The rush of incoming mail follows the outgoing rush by about 24 hours normally.

SPECIAL HANDLING

Post office officials suggested that at this time of year, persons with special mail should use some means of special handling.

Otherwise it can get bogged down in the mass of Christmas mail and could be delayed.

Next day service is not possible when the post office gets hit with two or three times as much mail as normal.

PONTIAC IS GETTING PREVIEW OF WINTER

O' Man Winter won't officially arrive until Monday but he's giving the Pontiac area a preview of what is yet to come.

The weatherman said temperatures will drop to 14 tonight and continue cold with snow flurries tomorrow, the high in the low 20s.

The forecast for Friday is clear and cold with a chance of snow flurries.

The low temperature in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 25. At 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 37.

Expect Dillon to Resign Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon has made tentative plans to resign within a few months, it was learned today.

His most likely successor: Donald C. Cook of New York, head of a large utilities firm and former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. He is 55.

Other names that have been mentioned for the post include David Rockefeller, 49, president of New York's Chase-Manhattan Bank, and Robert B. Anderson, 54, a close associate of President Johnson and a former secretary of the Treasury.

Anderson, a native Texan, now lives in Greenwich, Conn.

BACK TO WALL STREET

Dillon, 55, a Republican, apparently plans to return to the Wall Street investment banking firm founded by his father.

House Republicans Meet; New Leadership Is Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans meet today with talk of a change in leadership in the air, but nothing specific on the program.

Privately, several of the Republicans said they are sure a number of their colleagues would like to see Rep. Charles A. Stenholm of Indiana replaced as leader. So far nobody had stepped up to lead a revolt.

In any case, final action could not be taken until Jan. 4, when the newly elected and reelected Republican members have their first caucus of the new session.

icy to what it was in the early Kennedy years: If the European allies can agree on something to improve the alliance, the United States will give it careful consideration.

Viet Nam: His first instinct was to call his advisers together and say there is only one way going on, let's win it. It did not take long to discover that it was far from that simple.

ASKS SEN. RUSSELL

Recently he asked Sen. Richard B. Russell, the Georgia Democrat who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, "what he thought of dropping some bombs to teach the Chinese a lesson — one idea got around Washington," the Post said. Russell said that would mean war with China.

So, he asked Russell whether he should pull out our troops, as Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., demands. Russell said that would wreck the non-Communist world.

The conversation "reinforces the President's view that the only thing to do is more of the same only better, in part as a means of containing Chinese expansionism. He wants no war with China, and he fears that dropping bombs would mean such a war."

The Great Society: "Really his hope of improving the quality of American life. And if he can improve 1 or 2 per cent of Americans out of the poverty group each year he will have done all he believes can be done in that time."

Officially, the Republican conference of old and new members scheduled speeches by Halleck and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, conference chairman and the member most often mentioned as a possible replacement for Halleck.

'NO DECISION'

Tuesday night, Ford gave the talk of supplanting Halleck a little more substance by saying, "I have made no decision" on whether to challenge the Indiana.

However, the 49-year-old favorite of the Young Turks also told a reporter, "I have made a maximum effort to disassociate this leadership matter with the meeting tomorrow."

He added he has set no time when he may make a decision on whether to be a candidate for leader.

Most of the subjects listed for conference discussion had to do with the effort of the Republicans, who lost a net of 38 House seats in last month's election, to keep from being pushed too far to the wings of the congressional stage. There will be 140 Republicans in the new House compared to 295 Democrats.

GOP DEMANDS

In this category are long-standing Republican demands for the right to name more staff members directly responsible to the minority of House committees and stronger guarantees are discussed and voted on.

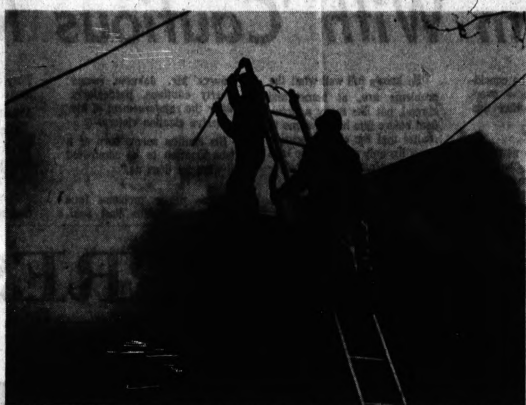

The conference also listed for discussion a proposal first made by some Democratic liberals and now backed by the leadership for a rules change that would prevent the House Rules Committee from delaying more than 21 days a bill the leadership wants brought up for action.

Italians Can't Agree on New President

ROME (UPI) — Parliament failed to elect a new Italian president in a first ballot today. The votes were divided among favorite sons of the various parties.

The inconclusive first vote was traditional and not unexpected. Giovanni Leone, candidate of the Christian Democratic party, won the most votes — 319 — but this fell far below the 642 votes needed to elect on the first two ballots.

From the fourth ballot onward, a simple majority is sufficient for election. The deputies, senators and regional representatives were to undertake their second vote later today.

Snow, Deadly Winds

Storm Hits Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mammoth snow storm packing deadly winds churned through the Northwest today, driving temperatures far below zero in some areas and closing schools and roads.

The powerful storm — described by the Weather Bureau as almost unprecedented for late autumn covered the entire northwestern quarter of the nation.

A Weather Bureau meteorologist in Helena, Mont., said venturing out of doors is considered dangerous unless a person is thoroughly prepared.

HOWLING WINDS

Robert L. Brown Jr. was awakened by the howling winds in Bellevue, a suburb of Seattle. He rushed outside and moved his new station wagon from under his trees. But two of his neighbors' trees tumbled — one on his car and the other on his house.

Schools were closed in Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Washington State.

Visibility was cut to zero in blowing snow in some areas. Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Montana, Wyoming and North and South Dakota.

Winds at 35 miles per hour made life miserable in Cut Bank, Mont., where the temperature was 27, Tuesday. Unofficial lows in Montana included 40 in Havre and 38 at Summit, a mountain-top community. Great Falls had a December record low of 34.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Schools were closed in north central Montana and U.S. 12 was blocked by blowing, drifting snow in the northwestern part of the state. Wind gusts hit 70 m.p.h. at Livingston, north of Yellowstone Park.

Huge clouds of dust floated over the plains of Kansas and Colorado, U.S. 87 north of Denver was closed for a period Tuesday after a series of auto accidents caused by dust. One pileup on Valley Highway in Adams County involved 12 to 15 cars.

4 INCHES OF DIRT

Residents in Bear Valley, southeast of Denver, reported up to 4 inches of dirt accumulation. The Colorado Department of Agriculture said the winter wheat crop was hit hard. It also reported a shortage of cattle forage.

The freakish winds in eastern Colorado reached gusts of 95 m.p.h. at one point. The low in Colorado was a paralyzing -31 in Alamosa.

Winds of more than 80 m.p.h. tumbled a brick wall in a residential section of Cheyenne, Wyo. The snowfall in Wyoming ranged from 6 to 12 inches, but more snow was falling and piled into deep drifts by strong winds. At Powell, on the storm's fringe, a temperature dropped from 27 above zero to 12 below in a matter of minutes.

New Mexico was hit by 72 m.p.h. winds, shifting snow into drifts.

Destructive winds accompanied by bitter cold belted Washington State, closing schools to an estimated 10,000 pupils. Snow falls ranged from 1 to 12 inches.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in North Dakota and Northern Minnesota with up to 4 inches of new snow predicted, accompanied by strong winds and extreme cold temperatures.

Utah had cold wave warnings. So did all of Kansas and northwest Missouri for today and tonight. Northwest-Kansas has some lying dust which cut visibility.

Temperatures dropped to -40

Medical Facility Expansion Is Proposed to County Board

A proposal to build a 200-bed extension on the county medical care facility was presented to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday by the welfare committee.

The resolution was referred to the ways and means committee for consideration.

Plans for expanding the medical care facility were first drawn up in 1946. The project has never passed beyond the planning stage.

Major remodeling of the building, which was built in 1928, is presently under way to comply with state fire regulations. The project will result, however, in a slight decrease in bed capacity.

Yesterday's proposal, presented by Wixom Supervisor R. W. Lahti, chairman of the welfare committee, said in part:

"Due to the increase in population of the county and the continued increase in the number of indigent persons within the population, the need for more beds for the type of care given in a medical care facility has become acute."

MILL LEVY

Such a project could be financed by a one-tenth of a mill levy for construction, permitted by current legislation.

The committee's resolution proposed that such a tax be levied and that "the highest priority" be given the project.

In other action, the board voted to extend for one year a private lease on the county-owned Allen Airport.

The airport is presently leased and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred E. McGraw, who pay the taxes and insurance on the buildings for the privilege of operating the small air facility.

PROJECT APPROVED

The board also approved a lake level control project proposed for White Lake, a large recreational and residential lake in Highland and White Lake townships.

Petitions have been prepared for submission to the Circuit Court, which will establish a legal level for the lake.

Engineering studies will then be made by the drain commissioner, who will establish a special assessment district to finance the project.

Dismiss Case for 7 Women

Allege They Tried to Halt Work on Tower

Christmas arrived 10 days ahead of schedule for seven Watertown Township housewives.

The women, awaiting trial since last July for allegedly trying to halt construction of a water tower, learned yesterday that the case was dismissed by Watertown Township Justice Patrick K. Daly.

Daly said that Paul Valentino, attorney for the women, called him and asked that he had any objections. "I had none so the case is dismissed."

"Then I contacted Paul Mandel attorney for Watertown Township and asked if he had any objections," Daly said. "He had none so the case is dismissed."

The women were arrested July 10 township police who said they were blocking a temporary road leading to the water tower site at Main and Walton and prevented a concrete mixing truck from entering.

HOUSE FIRE

Police declared their intention to arrest the housewives, all residents of Lake Oakland Heights subdivision, at 11:30 a.m. but a nearby house fire required police to leave the scene.

Police returned and made the arrest at 1 p.m., charging that the ladies had violated a section of the township's Disorderly Persons Ordinance.

Their arraignment followed and trial was set for July 20. It was later postponed until July 30 because the attorneys had conflicting court commitments.

A two-day trial in Daly's packed courtroom at 4500 Pontiac Lake Road ended in a hung jury with five members voting acquittal and one for conviction.

NEVER RESUMED

Due to the inability of scheduling a new trial date convenient to both attorneys, the trial never resumed.

Arrested and freed the same afternoon on $100 personal bond were Mrs. Samuel Ferguson, 2945 Embarras; Mrs. Curtis Head, 2643 Mariner; Mrs. John Hastie, 3381 Levee; and Mrs. Roger Smith, 3341 Levee. satisfactory picture. Present force goals are adequate to meet aggression, he said.

He added that except for a few countries there is no need for increases in national defense budgets.

ROSY PICTURE

The secretary painted a rosy picture of the power and capability of the 15 North Atlantic countries to defend themselves against possible Communist aggression.

The United States, he said, has more than 800 intercontinental ballistic missiles plus more than 200 other nuclear missiles aboard Polaris submarines at the service of NATO.

Additionally, hundreds of American aircraft are capable of carrying out intercontinental operations with nuclear explosives.

DEPLOYED FORCES

McNamara made it clear that the strength of the United States was not deployed merely to defend American territory.

The vast American nuclear arsenal, he was quoted as saying, is targeted with equal priority on Communist installations threatening both Western Europe and the United States.

Birmingham Area News

Reaction Is Favorable on Board Office Plan

BIRMINGHAM — Favorable reaction has been expressed to a plan which would provide a Merrill Street site for the board of education's proposed administration building.

The Citizens Action Committee (CAC) is working on the plan to keep the board headquarters in the downtown area.

The proposed $175,000 building was included in a $5,250,000 bond issue approved by school district voters in June. The board had designated as the probable site a piece of property it owns on Pierce School.

The CAC's cooperative study committee has been meeting for several months to review comparative costs, financial advantages and the community impact of various sites.

The committee is composed of representatives of various community groups, including the board of education.

RECOMMENDATION

Its recommendation is that the building be constructed on the Merrill right-of-way between Bates and Henrietta. It has suggested that the site be exchanged by the city for the Pierce property.

Before proceeding further, the committee asked both the school board and city commission for expressions of opinion on the matter.

The board authorized School Supt. Dr. John B. Smith to send a letter to the CAC indicating it is "very interested" in the proposition.

EXCHANGE POSSIBLE

Without mentioning the Pierce property, the board said it might exchange property "of comparable value."

Trustees noted there are problems to be solved. A minimum of 15,000 square feet would be needed for the building alone and parking would have to be provided.

The building's design would have to be in keeping with the downtown area and yet able to be constructed within the budget figure.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Two Eastern Star officers will be honored at a double reception, dinner and program tonight at the Birmingham Masonic Temple.

To be feted by Birmingham Chapter No. 229, Order of the Eastern Star, are Edward C. Stutz, publicity committeeman for the grand chapter of Michigan, and Mrs. Charles Martz, president of the Oakland County Association.

The event will start at 6:30 p.m. at the temple, 357 S. Woodward.

The local chapter will host to Clawson Chapter No. 495 for a composite school of instruction at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the temple.

To Seek Loan of $1.7 Million

City Needs Cash to Run for 1st Half of '65

Pontiac will make application to the Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $1.7 million in tax anticipation notes.

The City Commission gave its approval to borrowing the money last night.

According to a letter submitted by City Manager Joseph A. Warren, the borrowing is necessary to provide the city with cash during the first six months of the year.

Taxes are billed and collected during July, said Warren. However, the fiscal year begins in January.

"This results in a problem each year of financing the first six months of the budget year," he explained.

TAX NOTES

Warren said he proposed the tax notes rather than "the hit-or-miss methods" of the past.

He said that the general fund would probably have enough cash carry-over to meet city payrolls in January.

However, added funds are needed for the period February 1 to July 1, when the city begins receiving tax receipts, he said.

Previously, the city had expected to borrow only $1.5 million, Warren said. This figure was refined since the 1965 budget was presented, he added.

SHORT-TERM NOTES

Since not all of the $1.7 million will be needed at once, Warren proposes to invest some of the proceeds in 30-and 60-day U.S. Treasury notes.

Warren said he could not tell what interest rate the treasury notes might earn or what interest rate the city would get on the tax notes.

GOP Senator Praises CIA After Secret Tour of World

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A senator just back from an inspection trip around the world said today the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) is doing a better job than its Soviet counterpart, and with less men.

Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., based his conclusion on a top-secret tour of CIA posts in 14 countries and American military installations in 15 foreign nations.

He made the trip as a member of the special Senate subcommittee authorized to examine in detail the CIA's multimillion dollar budget—the actual amount of which is "hidden" in budgets of other agencies.

"I was not quite satisfied that I was voting intelligently on their appropriation requests," Young told United Press International in explaining the purpose of his trip.

Young said he was tremendously impressed by operations of CIA agents throughout the world. He added: "Their work is far more effective than the public generally gives them credit for."

SOVIET COUNTERPART

"Their results are better than those of the Russian KGB, the Soviet counterpart, even though the Russians have more than twice as many personnel," Young declared.

The North Dakota Republican said some previous criticism of CIA may have been justified, but he added that "it is a far better organization now than in the years past."

Young praised the administration of CIA Director John A. McCone. "He is as good a man as we could have," Young said. "It would be unfortunate if he were replaced."

The senator said he found U.S. military installations overseas at a high state of preparedness, "ready to fight almost immediately if they have to."

HELICOPTER FLIGHT

A helicopter flight over South Viet Nam persuaded him that the proposal to bomb supply lines of the North Vietnamese might do some good, Young said.

"But it's not as important as many persons think it is," he said. "The Viet Cong guerrillas live almost entirely on the economy of South Viet Nam, stealing and capturing what they need."

Young was high in praise of U.S. military and diplomatic officials there, and said he believed this country must continue to provide help to South Viet Nam.

"But the South Vietnamese are going to have to win the war," he said. "They can if they have the will and the leadership. Otherwise, it's a lost cause."

Shows Charged Particle Field

Satellite Finds Earth Has Invisible Magnetic Tail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Imp 1 satellite has confirmed that the earth is a sort of "magnetic comet," wagging behind it on the side away from the sun a gigantic "tail" of invisible magnetic force lines.

Gone forever is the classic picture of a symmetrical magnetic field around the earth with force lines dipping uniformly on all sides from high points over the equator to low points toward the poles.

Imp also has discovered and explored a "magnetic limbo" on the night side of the earth which may be the charged particle bank maintaining the Van Allen radiation belts and generating Northern and Southern Lights.

According to Dr. Norman F. Ness of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's God-

dard Space Flight Center, this could explain the mysterious "gegenschein" — a faint glow in the night sky which man has been observing for 200 years without knowing what caused it.

Ness announced Imp's discovery of the region of little or no magnetic activity — called a "neutral sheet" — and of its confirmation of the "magnetic comet" concept yesterday at a news conference.

LOOKS LIKE INSECT

Imp, an "interplanetary monitoring platform" resembling an insect, was launched Nov. 26, 1963.

Its designed lifetime was one year. But nearly 13 months after launch its instruments, the most sophisticated ever flown on a satellite, still are sending back 1,000 minutes of information daily.

Imp plunges more than 122,000 miles into space in every circuit of the earth. It takes more than three days to complete one orbit.

STRETCH LINES

This flattens the so-called magnetosphere on that side but distorts the force lines on the opposite side "much more than was thought before," scientists said after analyzing Imp's data.

These lines, vastly elongated on the "antisolar side," stream far out into space. Imp discovered on the earth's backside, at a distance of about 40,000 miles, a region of hard-boiled magnetic activity.

This "neutral sheet" varies in thickness up to 4,000 miles, depending on how actively the sun is boiling off charged particles.

On the sun side of the earth, the solar wind creates a standing shock wave and a region of magnetic turbulence at the edge of the magnetosphere about 50,000 miles from the earth's surface.

EASY WAY OUT

Charged sun particles which can't drive through the shock wave take the easy way and flow out and around the earth into the tail region behind it.

In the twilight zone of the neutral sheet, with only weak forces or none at all operating on them, they tend to accumulate and regroup.

Diffusing from this region, they spill into the high atmosphere, creating the Northern and Southern Lights.

That, at least, is the theory. This region may also be the long-sought particle depository from which the Van Allen radiation zones are replenished.

These zones, named after Dr. James A. Van Allen of the State University of Iowa, were discovered by the early Explorer satellites launched in 1958.

SINGAPORE (AP) — A speedboat loaded with armed Indonesians traded fire with a Malaysian territorial army unit stationed on an island off Singapore Tuesday night.

There were no known casualties, officials reported today.

The incident took place at Sekijang Pelapah Island, 3½ miles off Singapore in the Singapore Straits.

By PAT MCCARTY

A battle which finds its counterpart in the history of the Old West is brewing between North Oakland County citizens and those of neighboring Genesee County.

"Never, since the days of the Old West, when sheepmen turned against cattlemen as their sources of water were diverted, has such an injustice been perpetrated by one community on another," Kenneth Van Natta declared.

Van Natta heads the North Oakland Water Association (NOWA) which is preparing to defend the area's groundwater supply from diversion by the Genesee Valley Utilities Authority.

The NOWA was formed earlier this month in reaction to the Genesee group's announcement that it would seek federal funds to investigate the feasibility of drilling a water well in Oakland County.

With the support of several North Oakland townships behind it, the NOWA is attempting to enlist more members and will make another appeal tomorrow night in Independence Township.

MEETING SET

Open to all county residents interested in the situation, the meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkson.

Meanwhile, the utilities authority has applied for a $321,000 loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency through its Chicago office.

The authority, composed of 10 Genesee County townships, has been considering North Oakland County as a potential water source since early summer.

Authority spokesmen have said the loan would be used for engineering studies, sinking a test well and other developmental work in Oakland County.

LEGAL ASPECTS

Robert McKenney, a Holly attorney, has been delving into the legal aspects of the intended operation.

He said J. P. Harris, regional director of community facilities for the federal agency, has indicated the authority has a good chance of getting its loan but that the procedure will take about 60 days.

"We have written to Chicago to demand a hearing," McKenney said. "Since they're spending over a quarter of a million dollars in public funds, it would seem to be that a careful and thorough investigation is required."

McKenney's question, and that of the NOWA, is: "Don't we have certain rights to resources in our county greater than those of outsiders?"

PROTESTS SENT

Copies of McKenney's protest have been sent to Sen. Philip A. Har, 18th District Congressman, William Broomfield and Representative-elect from the 19th District, Billie S. Farnum.

"This would be somewhat of a novel question in the courts."

— depleting of an absolutely necessary resource of one county for the use in another," McKenney said.

Aside from attempting to prevent the utilities authority from taking Oakland water, McKenney suggested that a federal grant could be sought for "a positive program to develop this for the Oakland County communities."

ASK ASSISTANCE

He plans to ask for the assistance of the county planning commission and department of public works in preserving and developing for future use the water of North Oakland County.

Carey is being backed by Supervisors Seeley Tinsman of Holly and Earl Rhinehart of Groveland townships.

NOWA's public relations committee.

He has contacted State Conservation Department officials who have indicated they will conduct a full investigation of the matter. The conservation department maintains several recreation areas in that portion of the county.

Townships already participating in the NOWA are Holly, Groveland, Brandon, Rose, Springfield and Independence.

However, NOWA members are seeking a broader foundation, based on the fear that "underground water removed from North Oakland County will affect the underground water supply all over the county."

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP—About 100 township residents have been lopped from the plans, but the Township Board is proceeding with a scaled-down $1.19-million water main project.

The board has passed a resolution calling for preparation of a new assessment roll reflecting changes wrought by residents' petitions opposing the water main system.

A public hearing on the special assessment roll has been set for Jan. 25.

The assessments are to cover $610,500 of the total cost of the project, with the remainder coming from tap-in fees and other charges.

FOUR DISTRICTS

Petitions came from four of the 10 districts at a Nov. 17 public hearing on the plan, but District 10 was the only one to meet the requirements of Public Act 188 in eliminating itself from the proposal.

District 9, while it did not

The public is invited to the 7 p.m. concert in the church at South Grant and Auburn Road.

meet minimum requirements in terms of valid petition signatures, has had the lots on both sides of Lapeer Road between Walton Boulevard and Opdyke Road pared from the plans.

A minimum of 20 per cent of the property owners "of record" representing an equal or better percentage of the land in each district had to sign petitions in order to eliminate their district.

Opposition to the proposal as it was put before residents at the public hearing centered on the cost to individual residents and on the alleged failure of the board to consider less costly alternatives to the plan.

DETROIT WATER

One of these alternatives was the purchase of Detroit water from the City of Pontiac, which would construct and maintain the water mains.

Initial verbal discussion with Pontiac officials disclosed that it would be cheaper for the township to obtain a Detroit water directly from the large main along South Boulevard by constructing its own system.

Opponents of the township system have argued that a "package plan" including both water and sewer systems could be obtained from the City of Pontiac at a net savings of 30 per cent on the sewer portion.

Supervisor Leonard Terry recently wrote the Pontiac City Commission, requesting estimates on the cost and construction dates for a Pontiac-supplied water system.

INFORMATION NEEDED

But Pontiac city officials indicated they could not supply accurate figures until the township could provide more specific information on its requirements.

Under the original plan, a total cost of $568 per residential unit was predicted for the water main system.

Under the altered plan, with District 10 and part of District 9 eliminated, the total cost per residential unit has been estimated at roughly the same figure, perhaps less, by Charles Moon, bonding counsel for the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The $568 included a $330 assessment regardless of whether the resident connected up or not, a $100 tap-in fee and $138 for the cost of a "stub" from the main to the property line. Added to this was an estimated $1 per foot cost for a two-inch main from the property line to the home, the only variable aspect of the cost.

Area Peace Corpsman

WALLED LAKE — The new African nation of Tanzania is the destination of Peace Corps volunteer Jo Ann Whipple, a Walled Lake native.

Miss Whipple, daughter of the Samuel L. Whipples of 1118 N. Pontiac Trail, is among 30 Peace Corpsmen who left for Tanzania last week.

During their 11-week training period at Syracuse University, they studied Swahili, the official language of the country. "Also emphasized were the history and culture of the area, United States history and world affairs."

Miss Whipple, 29, is a graduate of Walled Lake High School and attended Greenville (Ill.) College.

A member of the charter class at Oakland University, she earned her bachelor's degree in April 1963.

WILL TEACH — In Tanzania, she will teach English on the seventh and eighth grade levels.

English, considered a key to the future success of young Tanzanians, is the country's second language and the standard medium of instruction from the third grade on.

More than 150 Peace Corps volunteers presently are at work in Tanzania in junior high education, agriculture, health, public works, law and secretarial positions.

For extracurricular activities, the volunteers may find themselves advising clubs, coaching drama groups or serving as librarians.

Those teaching in boarding schools also will work as dormitory supervisors.

Will Await Ruling on Pay Hikes

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Setting of a referendum election on the salary increases of three township officials has been postponed by the Township Board.

Trustees have tabled action on a petition calling for the election until after a ruling on the matter is made by Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip J. Pratt.

Both the Circuit Court case and the election concern the raises granted the township's three full-time officials Nov. 2, the night before all were reelected.

The raises are to go into effect during fiscal 1965-66.

The election-eve move by the board boosted the salary of Supervisor Curtis H. Hall from $11,200 to $15,000 a year, that of Clerk Floyd A. Cairns from $9,000 to $11,500 and of Treasurer Elise Avery from $9,300 to $11,000.

A week later 11 township residents filed a suit which claims that the action was illegal under state statute. Pratt has taken the matter under advisement and is expected to make a ruling soon.

1,700 SIGN

Meanwhile, a petition signed by nearly 1,700 township voters requested the board to place the issue on a special election ballot. The petition was presented to Cairns Dec. 1.

Request for a referendum election must be filed within 30 days after the action being questioned; therefore, the petitioners did not wait for Pratt's decision.

Cairns noted the board now will await further word from Pratt.

"It would be a little bit ridiculous to set an election on the raises and have the court declare them illegal anyway."

"That would be wasting the taxpayers' money," Cairns said.

All Wool Growers Urged to Keep Accurate Records

Wool growers, particularly those who market their lambs in the fall, were reminded today about the importance of keeping adequate sales records so that they can make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program.

According to Robert Long, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, the sales record for lambs sold should include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number and live-weight of lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn."

Tribute Is Paid to School Chief at Walled Lake

Some 300 Walled Lake school system employees and their spouses attended a dinner at Clifford H. Smart Junior High School last night to pay tribute to the man who has been school superintendent for 19 years.

Clifford H. Smart's resignation, effective Dec. 31, was made following his election to the Michigan House of Representatives from the 60th District.

Principal speaker at last night's event was Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland Schools Superintendent.

E. V. Ayres, high school principal, delivered a tribute from the staff. Smart received gifts from the staff and greetings from several officials, including Gov. George Romney.
