Plan New History Approach

The philosophers of Greece and the empire-builders of Rome will be downgraded in history courses at Michigan State University Oakland.

That decision was arrived at by four MSUO faculty members who will teach the university's basic course in western civilization.

The four instructors met Monday and Tuesday on the campus to decide the content of the history course at the university which opens in the fall. It was the first meeting of a faculty group at MSUO to make specific plans for what will be taught in the classrooms.

Explaining the decision to play down ancient Greece and Rome, Dr. George T. Matthews, group chairman, said:

"No single course can do everything if it is to avoid being a superficial catch-all, designed to yield up to students only rubrics and intellectual ornaments to be admired but not understood.

"No one course could hope adequately even to introduce the student to all the modes, traditions and experiences of 'Western' civilization."

Dr. Matthews said the history course will take only a limited segment of civilization for inspection and analysis. "And a very large part it is, even so," he added.

The faculty members agreed that they will concentrate on the development of Western social institutions and ideas from the close of the Middle Ages to the present.

"Within the economy of time at our disposal, it is not wise to attempt to start with the stone ages, the ancient Jews and the Greeks as so many courses try to do," Matthews declared.

"Rather we should start with the close of the Middle Ages, regarding the beginning as a plunge into the middle of things (as all

Bell Will Spend $2.8 Million Here in Next 1½ Years

Improved Facilities to Include New Poles, Cables, Equipment

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. plans to spend $2,800,000 in the next 18 months to improve facilities in the Pontiac area, it was announced today.

The company will spend $1,300,000 during the rest of this year and $1,500,000 in 1960, said Raymond H. Storm, Pontiac district manager.

The outlays will bring the company's expenditures here to more than $10 million since 1956, he said.

Part of a $171 million construction program throughout Michigan, the Pontiac expenditures break down into $1,542,000 for new cable, poles and other outdoor facilities; $312,000 for additional equipment for the central office in Pontiac; and $1,011,000 for equipment on customers' premises.

There was no announcement concerning the number of new customers the company expects to serve in the Pontiac area. The number of telephones here — not counting extensions — has jumped from 30,983 in 1948 to 86,055 at the beginning of this year.

At the some time, Storm announced plans for a new telephone book for the area which he said would make it more convenient for Pontiac customers to look up numbers in neighboring areas.

Next spring, Storm said, directories will be distributed with a single alphabetical listing of all telephone users in Pontiac and surrounding communities served by 10 other exchanges — Auburn Heights, Birmingham, Commerce, Drayton Plains, Mayfair, Rochester, Royal Oak, Southfield, Troy and Walled Lake.

A new classified section will be issued in January, he said, combining alphabetically communities served by the Auburn Heights, Commerce, Drayton Plains, Pontiac, Rochester and Walled Lake exchanges.

Storm said that population growth in the metropolitan area prompted the consolidation of area telephone numbers into fewer books.

He said that the 29 telephone exchanges serving more than 100 communities around Detroit will be grouped into three directories and six classified sections.

'They Spit at Me: Why Go?'—Nikita

WARSAW (AP)—"When they spit in my face, a guest, why should I go?"

Thus Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev explained the sudden cancellation of his three-week August visit to Scandinavia.

"I only want to go to places where my message can be helpful," Khrushchev told newsmen at a Soviet Embassy reception Tuesday night celebrating his "friendship tour" of Poland.

"Maybe I will go later," he added.

'NOT STEP TO PEACE'

"My visit to Scandinavia would not have been a step to peace, but would have led to sharpened tensions."

"I think well of the Swedes," Khrushchev said at the reception. "They beat us and then Peter (the Great) beat them at Poltava. I consider we are quits. I have nothing against (Swedish Premier Tage) Erlander nor against Premier H. C. Hansen of Denmark.

"But when a government newspaper (which he did not identify) comes out against my visit, that is another pair of shoes."

Asked what he thought about the Geneva conference, Khrushchev replied:

"I think nothing. Why must I think? Ask a horse because a horse has a big head for thinking. We have our minister of foreign affairs. Let him think."

Opinion Slams Plans for Drain on 8 Mile Road

Attorney General Says Supreme Court Edicts Force Rejection

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

The Oakland County Drain Commission today learned its $4,400,000 bond issue drafted to finance the Eight Mile road storm drain has been branded as "illegal."

Attorney General Paul L. Adams yesterday advised the State Municipal Finance Commission to reject the county's application on the basis of "pertinent State Supreme Court decisions."

The Finance Commission received the advisement in the form of a memo drawn up by Assistant Attorney General Eugene Krasicky.

Adams' comment was in the form of a conclusion affixed to his assistant's memo. It reads:

"The drain bonds which are sought to be issued in the Eight Mile Drain application with the pledge of the full support and credit of the county are not in accordance with the law and the Commission (Municipal Finance) should disapprove the application," Adams said.

A group of Southfield residents have opposed the application since it was filed last December claiming they would be overassessed.

The greater part of the proposed 3.7-mile-long drain would be located in Southfield with a portion of it in Oak Park.

Oakland County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry, who has termed the issue a "political football," received the news incredulously.

"It is hard for me to believe we might have failed somewhere along the line," said Barry. "Similar bond issues have passed approval easily. This one appeared perfect."

Adams said a copy of the advisement from his office to the State Municipal Finance Commission has

Cost of Living in June Soars to Record Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living rose four-tenths of one per cent in June to a record high. This was the largest monthly increase in 14 months.

The Labor Department said today that all major items in the living costs of city families advanced.

Commissioner Ewan Clague of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the upsurge of prices was "not a sign that the index is about to take off." He said the increase was largely seasonal, due to a sharp advance, chiefly in fresh fruits and vegetables.

The price index is six-tenths of one per cent higher than a year ago.

The increase will mean wage boosts of 1 or 2 cents an hour for about 600,000 workers whose union contracts have escalator clauses calling for periodic adjustments of wages to the cost of living.

Average take-home pay for the single man in factory employment was $73.06 a week, and for the worker with three dependents it was $81.21. The comparable figures last month were $73.49 and $81.03.

★ ★ ★

But the purchasing power of the pay checks declined because of the rise in prices, and was slightly below the all-time records set in May.

Pontiac's Water Works Tops 4-Year-Old Record

A new record was reached last week. On July 16, there were 21.3 million gallons pumped, breaking a four-year-old record of 21.1 million gallons established in July of 1955.

If the Pontiac plant worked continuously at full speed it could pump up to 27.4 million gallons during a 24-hour period. The Water Department is currently installing a new transformer bank at the East boulevard plant so that electric pumps will be able to work even faster, increasing the plant's capacity by 2.5 million gallons a day soon.

The heaviest strain on the plant is during lawn-sprinkling time, 8:30 to 9:30 p.m., Herbert Parker, assistant superintendent of water, reported.

On July 14, the plant exceeded itself during the peak hour, pumping briefly at a rate that would have measured 27.8 million gallons a day if the pace had been kept up for 24 hours.

This set a new record for peak hour pumpage, said Parker. The old record for peak hour pumpage was 25.5 million gallons, also set in July, 1955.

The old record was broken on six other occasions this month, Parker said.

On July 7 the plant pumped at a rate that would have equaled 25.9 million gallons; July 8, 27.4 million gallons; July 9, 25.7 million gallons; July 10, 26.2 million gallons; July 13, 26.4 million gallons and July 15, 27.3 million gallons.

Ford Profits $5.22 a Share

Earnings Spiral Over Last Year's 29 Cents in 2nd Highest 6 Months

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co's comeback from the recession was reflected today in a profit of $285,900,000 for the first six months of 1959, equal to $5.22 a share.

Ford's six months consolidated net earnings for this year were about 18 times its net for the same period of 1958. The company issued its 1959 half-year report yesterday.

For the first half of 1958, Ford reported a profit of $16,100,000 equal to 29 cents a share.

Ford was the first of the auto manufacturers to make a 1959 six months report. Similarly favorable reports are anticipated later this month from Ford competitors.

The earlier first quarter reports from the industry indicated the upward trend.

Six months sales totaled $2,954,300,000, compared to $1,987,300,000 for the like 1958 period. This included car sales of about 950,000, as against about 594,000 for the like period of last year.

The sales figure was the second highest in the company's history for a half-year period. The record of $3,009,500,000 was set in the first half of 1957.

Ford's tractor and truck sales also were well up this year. Truck sales were 177,311, against 115,915 and tractors 32,902, compared with 26,693.

The company said its second quarter earnings this year were $151,100,000, or $2.76 a share, compared to a loss of $13,700,000 for the same quarter last year.

Oregon's Douglas McKay Dies of Heart Ailment

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Douglas McKay, 66, long-time Oregon political figure and President Eisenhower's secretary of the interior from 1953 to 1956, died today of a heart ailment.

He suffered from a heart ailment for months. On June 12 he walked into the hospital and his condition worsened steadily, kidney complications arising. He was in a coma the last 24 hours.

DOUGLAS McKAY

As secretary of the interior, McKay helped to formulate the Eisenhower administration's partnership plan for development of hydroelectric power, looking to private industry to build power dams and the federal government multi-purpose dams. This was a subject of heated controversy in the Pacific northwest and was one of the issues in the 1956 senatorial election which he lost.

Wrapped up in it was McKay's championship of Idaho Power Co.'s plan for three dams in the Hells Canyon reach of the Snake River and his opposition to a federal high dam. It brought charges from political foes of "giveaway" of natural resources, a charge which friends indignantly denied.

At his death he was chairman of the U. S. section of the U. S.-Canadian international joint commission for water resource development.

He resigned from the cabinet in 1956 in an effort to unseat Wayne Morse from the United States Senate. Morse had been elected as a Republican but switched to the Democratic party. The effort to defeat Morse failed and the loss was the only one McKay ever met in a career that took him through city and state offices to the Oregon governorship.

Big Foreign Aid Bill Moves On to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed a compromise $3,556,200,000 foreign aid bill. This sent it to the Senate which, with comparable speedy action, could send the measure on to President Eisenhower today.

The roll call vote was 253-153.

Voting for the compromise bill were 179 Democrats and 74 Republicans. Against it were 86 Democrats and 67 Republicans.

'Right-to-Know' Bill Passes State Senate

LANSING (AP) — The "right-to-know" bill for local school boards passed the Senate today. A 28-4 vote returned it to the House for agreement to minor amendments.

The bill provides that school board meetings "shall be public meetings and that no person shall be excluded therefrom." It further provides that a Board may hold executive meetings but no final action may be taken at any such closed meetings.

'I'll Cry Tomorrow,' Susan Says

Fifteen American beauties will vie tonight in the Miss USA finals of the Miss Universe contest, but Susan Westergaard won't be among them.

The 20-year-old Southfield beauty was eliminated from the contest last night as the original 46 American contestants were pared down to 15 finalists.

"I'm not going to cry now, but to tell the truth, I think I'll cry later," said blonde, green-eyed Susan as she left Memorial Stadium in Long Beach, Calif., after last night's initial judging.

Susan and other contestants had paraded in bathing suits and evening dress before a crowd of 3,500. Susan was representing Michigan.

News of the defeat was taken philosophically by Susan's mother, Mrs. Bjarne Westergaard, 26060 W. Nine Mile Rd.

"What was to be was to be," she said. "But I do hope Susan won't be too disappointed. It's been a wonderful experience for her anyway, and I'm sure she'll never forget it."

MAY STAY ON

Susan may stay on in California until selection of Miss Universe climaxes the contest Friday, or she may visit friends on the West Coast, or she may come straight home. Mrs. Westergaard isn't sure which.

Susan was defeated in a contest which she never thought of entering until after she had been selected as a contestant in the Michigan finals July 4 at Walled Lake Amusement Park.

Her boss, the manager of the John Robert Powers Agency in Detroit, had sent her picture and application in to the contest unbeknown to her. Susan is office manager of the agency.

MSUO Offering Course in Historical Geography

Michigan State University today announced a new course, "Historical Geography of the United States," which is available to Pontiac area residents this summer.

The course, which carries three term-hours of graduate or undergraduate credit, will be given at Michigan State University Oakland tomorrow through Aug. 13.

The class will meet Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. at the MSUO Continuing Education Center.

Course instructor will be Robert S. Vogel of the MSU Department of Geography.

DUAL ANALYSIS

"The principal objective of this course," explained Dr. Vogel, "is to reconstruct the geography of various periods of the past.

"It includes an analysis of both the cultural and natural environment that existed at the time."

The course begins with the nature of the known parts of the United States during the colonial period and follows the spread of settlement westward across the country at various periods in history, according to the instructor.

Topics include the Atlantic seaboard at the opening of the 19th century, the Ohio River and Lower Great Lakes region to 1830, the Northwest (1820-1870), the Great Plains and bordering regions to 1870, and the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Coast to 1870, Vogel said.

★ ★ ★

3 Widows Sue Helicopter Firm

Bloomfield Hills Mother Asks $600,000 in Death of Husband

The widows charge the Bell Helicopter Co. with two counts of negligence and breach of warranty in the deaths of their husbands, vitcims of a 'copter crash in Warren in March 1958.

Those who fell to their deaths in the mishap were Louis A. Garavaglia, 40; his brother, Jule, 28; and their pilot, James A. Kennedy, 31. The brothers were on a business trip for their firm at the time.

Mrs. Audrey Garavaglia of 508 E. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills, widow of Louis and the mother of three children, is asking $600,000 in the lawsuit.

Mrs. Bridget Garavaglio of Grosse Pointe Woods, widow of Jule, is asking $500,000. She has one child.

The widow of the pilot, Mrs. Gerda Kennedy of Detroit, is asking $300,000. She has three children.

Witnesses said the helicopter was flying at low altitude when it suddenly exploded and plunged to the ground.

Rains Dampen Southern Plains; Fair Elsewhere

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms rumbled through the southern plains and into the Ohio Valley today and there were widely scattered patches of dampness elsewhere around the country.

★ ★ ★

Heaviest rainfall during the early morning hours fell in Arkansas and Tennessee. Jackson, Tenn., was given a 1.10-inch soaking and Fayettesville, Ark., measured a 1.06-inch wash-down.

The Kansas highway patrol said locally heavy rains at Kingman, in the south central section of the state, were flooding U.S. Route 54.

Skies were generally fair to partly cloudy elsewhere over the map, but a smattering of rain fell over the northern plains, the far northern Great Lakes, in Florida and from the southern Rockies into the southern plateau states.

Thunderstorms late Tuesday took on a violent aspect in the West. A farmer and his son were killed by lightning at Glenn Ullin, N.D., and heavy rains loosed flash floods in three west central Texas towns. Twisting winds whipped Falls City, in south Texas.

Rain fell too fast to drain in Brownwood, Coleman and Rising Star, Tex., and 3.80 inches in four hours sent the Copperas Creek out of its banks briefly at Rising Star. Coleman measured 8 inches of rainfall from three days of storms.

The fire was reported by Birmingham Police Sgt. Malcolm Ross and Patrolman Donald Moonen at 3:27 a.m. today while on routine patrol.

No one was injured in the fire which was confined to the plastics firm's shipping room, a 30 by 50 foot area on the ground level.

Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined, according to Birmingham Fire Chief Park Smith.

He estimated damage at $12,000 and said a waiting shipment of plastic-covered work gloves was destroyed in the blaze.

"Damage to the building itself was only two to three per cent of total damage," said Smith. "The entire loss is covered by adequate insurance."

The building is of concrete block construction and heated concrete made further investigation of the fire's cause impossible this morning, Smith declared.

Firemen from two engine companies and one ladder company fought the flames.

The fire was the second in five days at the manufacturing firm. Firemen were summoned Friday when an overheated firepot caused extensive fumes but no damage.

Election of the Rev. Lester Mondale as minister was announced Monday by the Pulpit Committee of Birmingham Unitarian Church.

The Rev. Mr. Mondale, presently with the Ethical Society of Philadelphia, will conduct opening services Sept. 13 when the church reconvenes in its new buildings on Lone Pine road at Woodward avenue. The congregation is currently recessed for the summer.

The appointment of a new minister follows the death last May of the Rev. Walter B. Pedersen.

The Rev. Mr. Mondale has served in Unitarian churches in Hingham, Mass.; Evanston, Ill., and Kansas City, Mo.

He is a graduate of Hamline University and Harvard Unitersity and the author of several books on liberal religion.

At its meeting in Birmingham Community House at 10 a.m. Friday, the Senior Mens Club will hear a talk by Harold Smith of Delta Airlines.

His topic will be "Important Things."

County Sewer Bonds Are Branded 'Illegal'

ASKED TO BE HEARD

Stevens had said he wanted to be heard if an adverse opinion were indicated. He will be invited to attend next Tuesday's Commission meeting in Lansing, Adams said.

Stevens, who drafted the bond issue, said this morning he had not yet received the attorney general's report on why the issue was branded illegal.

"This is a very unusual thing," Stevens said. "I can't see any reason why the bond issue could be regarded as unconstitutional.

"The Drain Code does state that there should be a pledge of the full faith and credit of the county, but we haven't been rejected on that before."

Stevens cited Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski, a member of the State Finance Commission, as another opponent of the measure.

Szymanski, recalls Stevens, was quoted last December as telling the Southfield protest group in Lansing, "We can turn it down if we want to."

Stevens said it is possible he would take the matter to the Michigan State Supreme Court if the bond issue is rejected officially Tuesday.

Drain Commissioner Barry held no hope for approval, despite whatever means and efforts Stevens might use in his appeal at the coming meeting.

"It looks to me like they're going to turn it down," he said.

The attorney was slightly more optimistic, with reservations, Stevens said, "I will know what other avenues are open after I see the statement from Lansing."

Stevens said he called Adams this morning to learn the reason behind the crippling memo.

"Adams said he could not tell me on what grounds of illegality his office based its report to the Finance Commission.

"He said the final drafted opinion of his office on the advised rejection had not yet been completed, but that he would mail it to me as soon as it is.

"When I find out what we are up against I will try to get together with Adams to discuss the matter and work something out."

New History Course Planned by MSUO courses in history must), picking up ancient strands only when they are needed."

It was agreed that political, social and economic institutions would be stressed in history courses.

"Our aim is not gross coverage of all things, but analysis of certain limited features of the Western tradition," Matthews said.

Emphasis in the basic history classes will be upon discussion among students with the instructor.

"Informal lecturing by the instructor to his class will undoubtedly be part of the total technique, but there will be no formal lectures, delivered by some 'star' to a mass audience of students," Matthews declared.

Matthews said the aim of the class meetings would not be for students "to recite" but the exploration and analysis of certain ideas or points of view based upon or growing out of reading assignments.

Because of limited library facilities, there will be limited outside reading.

"But the students will find they'll have plenty to do," Matthews promised.

Each instructor will exercise considerable freedom as to emphasis, point of view and pace in the study with his students, Matthews said.

"Instructors should feel free to speed up or slow down as suits his needs," the group chairman added.

"The daily reading assignments are heavy and will place even the best students under pressure to increase reading speeds," Matthews asserted.

"We shall try to show our students new ways of looking at the world they live in," Matthews said, in discussing the aims of the course.

★ ★ ★

"It is important that students be taught to ask questions — and questions which are meaningful."

Boxer Art Aragon KO'd in Brawl With Ex-Wife

When a witness told the court Tuesday that Georgia Aragon knocked Art down during a brawl at her home July 12, Aragon shouted from his seat in the courtroom: "I slipped, your honor."

Mrs. Aragon said she didn't want to put Art in jail, that he acted on impulse, and she admitted she bit him and called Miss Shey an uncomplimentary name.

Municipal Judge William Rosenthal said that although he would dsimiss the charge "I do not condone your molesting or striking your wife."

Muskegon Gets New Editor

Former Pontiac Press Reporter Takes Over Chronicle Post

MUSKEGON (AP) — Retirement of C. D. McNamee as editor of the Muskegon Chronicle and appointment of Robert C. Herrick, city editor of the Flint Journal, as his successor was announced today.

John A. MacDonald, president of Booth Newspapers, Inc., which publishes the Chronicle, the Journal and six other Michigan newspapers, said the changes will be effective Aug. 1.

Herrick, 48, joined The Pontiac Press as a general reporter in 1935 and became sports editor in 1937. In 1938, he became editor of the Capitol Bulletin, a weekly at Lansing. He moved to the Flint Journal as a reporter in 1939.

After his return from war service, he served as editorial writer of the Flint Journal from 1946 to October 1958 when he was named city editor, succeeding Ralph Curry, who was named editor of the Journal.

He is married to the former Doris Cook of Grand Rapids and has a daughter, Julie, 12.

Herrick has been with the Flint Journal for 20 years, except for four years during World War II when he was in the army.

He is a native of Waukegan, Ill., attended Jackson, Mich., schools and won recognition as an outstanding high school athlete. He made the Associated Press all-state high school basketball team in 1929 and won honorable mention as quarterback of the AP's all-state football team the same year.

A graduate of Michigan State University, he was captain of the basketball and golf teams in 1935.

McNamee, 69, is a native of Vernon, Mich., and was graduated from Corunna High School in 1910. He started newspaper work while still in high school as a part time reporter for the Owosso Press-American, now the Owosso Argus-Press, in 1908.

McNamee joined the Detroit News as a reporter in 1911 and later became state editor and telegraph editor of the old Detroit Tribune. He joined the Muskegon Chronicle staff in May, 1917.

Attend MSU Workshop

Three Pontiac area educators were among 150 elementary school principals, representing 30 states and Japan, who recently participated in the 17th annual summer workshop for elementary school principals at Michigan State University.

Irene Albright, principal at Baldwin School here, and Geneva Forslund, principal at Wing Lake School, and Mrs. Hazel MacGirr, principal at Vaughan School, both of the Bloomfield Hills School District, attended the workshop.

The session was designed to provide participants with a closer look at the prospects for American elementary schools in this decade.

The two-week workshop activities were centered on the theme, "Administrative Leadership for the Changing School Program."

May Be Worst Year Since 1955

Polio Cases on Upswing; Paralytic Instances Mount

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may be going through its worst polio year since the Salk vaccine was introduced in 1955.

Cases of polio are increasing each week. The number of paralytic cases is almost double the total for the same period last year.

A spokesman for the Public Health Service released figures today that showed the mounting incident of polio in July.

There were 174 cases, 105 of them paralytic, in the week ending July 4; 179 cases, 111 paralytic, in the week ending July 11.

The spokesman said reports indicate an even greater increase for the week ending July 18.

DETROIT (AP)—Parke, Davis & Co. announced today the start of distribution of its new 4-in-1 vaccine designed to protect children against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and lockjaw.

The company said Quadrigen reduces from six to four the number of injections required for immunization by other vaccines.

Parke Davis recommends three separate injections at four-to-six-week intervals for children six months to six years of age with a booster shot six to 12 months later. Four injections spaced about a month apart were recommended for children under six months.

From April 1, the start of the polio disease year, through July 11, there have been 940 cases, 604 of them paralytic. This compares with 567 cases in the similar 1958 span, of which 282 were paralytic.

For the year beginning Jan. 1, there have been 1,208 cases through July 11, 791 of them paralytic, compared with 754 cases, 385 of them paralytic a year ago.

The worst outbreak this year has been in the Des Moines area. Iowa had 105 cases up to July 11, compared with 9 in the first 27 weeks of 1958. It had 58 paralytic cases, compared with four a year earlier.

There have been considerable increases in polio in New York, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, Arizona, Washington and California.

Studies in Des Moines and Kansas City show the larger proportion of those stricken are in the lower socio-economic groups.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney has repeatedly urged intensive campaigns to vaccinate everybody under 40.

23 County Lots Bring $13,988

Sale Will Boost Fund to Build New Oakland Courthouse

Oakland County sold 23 lots yesterday for a total of $13,988, to be used to bolster funds for the building of a new courthouse.

Bids were opened by the County Board of Auditors. All but one of the lots announced for sale were purchased. No bid was received for a lot in Milford with a minimum asking price of $300.

The amount received yesterday was more than $4,000 over the total minimum price of $9,850 set for the property.

John C. Austin, vice chairman of the Board of Auditors, termed the response "very good." He said the money would be turned over to the county treasurer for distribution to the courthouse building fund.

Sold were 14 vacant lots in Pontiac, 8 in Avon Township and one "semi-improved" parcel in Madison Heights.

The Board of Supervisors last month decided to dispose of the county-owned properties, believing the lots could bring in tax dollars when purchased.

The supervisors reported the lots as surplus, unoccupied and "of no useful purpose to the county."

Most of the property was secured by the county over the years when previous owners could not pay taxes.

'Parents' Battles Inoculate Kids for Marriage'

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI) —The British Medical Association has been told it is not always bad for parents to fight in front of their children.

"It is better that the children should sometimes see their parents quarrel and so become inoculated with small doses of marital disharmony," Dr. D. Stafford Clark of London's Guy's Hospital told the BMA convention.

"They would become immunized against it and know that it was a normal kind of thing happening in marriage."

Asks Crackdown on Use of Huron as Teen Hangout

Mayor Philip E. Rowston has asked the city to crack down on teenage drivers who use W. Huron street areas as a hangout spot.

★ ★ ★

The mayor called for elimination of nighttime parking on Huron in the vicinity of Chippewa road and an end to all parking on Chippewa south of Huron.

"Teenagers are using this vacant area as a picnic grounds at night," Rowston said.

"Beer bottles were found there over the weekend, although the land is private property."

Rowston explained that the youngsters park along Huron and Chippewa, then "loll around" the grounds next to their cars.

★ ★ ★

If parking were illegal, police would have a weapon to keep teenagers from congregating, Rowston believed.

The Commission recently called upon police to crack down on teenage hotrods speeding on W. Huron during the night hours.

Hope Has Heck of a Time

LONDON (UPI) — Bob Hope said the Monte Carlo golf course he played last week was a fine one. "The fairways are so hard the ball just kept on rolling like it was trying to get back to the factory," he said. But Hope said he had another problem. He played with his friend, the Rev. Pardee Erdman, and "I've got a crick in the neck through having to turn my head every time I want to swear."

Russians Are Soreheads

Pillow Famine Bad

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Russian newspaper today lamented a pillow shortage that has produced an oversupply of headaches for Moscow residents.

It takes months of intensive searching to come across a pillow in Moscow, said the newspaper Moscow Pravda.

"When a buyer finally is in line to receive some benefit of the output of the single Moscow pillow factory, he finds the products smell so much of feathers they virtually cackle," the paper added.

The paper said the situation always was bad enough, but it is even worse now with a new government regulation requiring prospective pillow purchasers to show a properly stamped passport before they can take their head-rest home to rest their weary heads.

WHAT NEXT?

"Today you have to produce a passport. Tomorrow they'll demand a certificate from your place of work, then maybe your birth certificate, then, finally, they may demand your record from the trade union committee."

"Why is there no increased pillow production?" wailed Moscow Pravda.

The newspaper pointed out that a request for the one pillow factory in Moscow to expand had been circulating for years in the five organizations whose permission is needed.

Court Halts Stock Sale in Oil Well to Detroiters

DETROIT (AP) — Three men accused of selling $200,000 in Kentucky oil well stock to Detroiters in violation of federal laws were ordered to stop in U.S. District Court yesterday.

The stock was sold without registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission, government attorneys said. The three consented to a permanent injunction unless SEC approval is secured.

The defendants—Fred T. Haley, formerly of East Detroit and now of Owensboro, Ky.; Meno F. Haan of Roseville and Lieber DeFillippis of Scotch Plains, N. J. — sold stock in wells on a farm near Owensboro.

Government counsel said the three misrepresented the sales and that an investigation is continuing.

Back Bill to Ease GM Stock Transfer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Support from business was registered with Congress Tuesday for legislation to give tax relief in cases involving involuntary divestiture of stock and property under court antitrust decrees.

It was given before the House ways and means committee on bills arising from a decree ordering the Dupont Co. to dispose of some 63 million shares of General Motors Stock.

Under a distribution plan, the GM stock would be apportioned among Dupont shareholders. Present law would require Dupont stockholders to pay ordinary income taxes on market value of the GM stock. Proposed legislation would waive the tax or otherwise provide immediate tax relief.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States said enactment of a new law is necessary to prevent serious injustice.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said in a statement filed with the committee, that in the Dupont-GM case thousands of investors would be saddled "with an inequitable tax burden in a situation beyond their control."

Adverse market consequences for both Dupont and GM stock would be sure to result from a forced stock distribution, testified Winthrop C. Smith of the stock firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith.

First 6 Months Higher Than Last Year

Corporation Incomes Soar in '59

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Four out of five corporations reporting net income after taxes in the flood of statements in recent days show gains over the first six months of 1958. In many cases 1959's first half set a record.

For the first 259 companies to report, the over-all increase is 37.3 per cent. Many industrial giants have yet to report — including the steels, oils and motors — and the final figures may show the over-all gains even higher. In the first quarter of 1959 the year-to-year spurt was 54 per cent.

The big upsurge in profits is due largely to the climb in sales over the recession months of 1958.

But other factors enter in. One is that many companies cut costs sharply during the recession, and luxury habits. Another is that increasingly the companies have started up production in the more efficient plants built in recent years and begun to use the new and better equipment installed — much of it of the labor saving variety.

Some observers think the year-to-year gains in profits may be less pronounced from now on. They note that the building of new plants and ordering of new equipment slowed down a year or more ago, so that the boost to earnings from this source will be less for awhile.

Also production schedules today call for much over-time work — an expense that was missing during recession days with which tomorrow's profits will be compared.

And that big enigma — how long a steel strike? — casts a shadow over all predictions.

Of the 259 companies to report so far, only 55 had less profits than in 1958's first half, both years, as always, there were some companies operating at a loss — 12 this year against 19 the year before.

Only four railroads have reported so far, but the Assn. of American Railroads estimates net income for the first five months at 233 million dollars, compared with 75 million the year before.

Soaring first half profits have been a tangible boon to stockholders. The Department of Commerce says dividend payments in the first half of the year came to $6,009,100,000, or 3 per cent more than the year before. And Wall Street's awareness that earnings were climbing fast gave a big push to the bull market in stocks.

Some industries have made striking gains. In the chemicals, Du Pont reports first half earnings up 49 per cent. Union Carbide had an 81 per cent increase, Monsanto 102 per cent, and Allied Chemical and American Cyanamid doubled theirs.

International Business Machines earnings were up 29 per cent. Johns-Manville reported profits up 58 per cent.

The large steel companies won't be reporting first half results for another week or so. But Wall Street expects the increases to be notable. In the first three months of the year their gain over the recession quarter of 1958 was 137 per cent.

Whatever the summer may bring, the year so far has been good to most businesses.

Cows Can Be Costly

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—When a cow produces more than 11,000 pounds of milk a year she starts costing her owner money, according to a study of 464 New York State dairy farms.

The survey, conducted by the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, shows that when Bossy goes over that figure, she tends to cost more for labor than the extra milk is worth. Economists say the best yield is between 7,000 and 11,000 pounds per year.

Mr. Strong died at his home after an illness of one year.

Surviving are his wife, Ida; a daughter, Mrs. Irma Thick of Highland Park; four sons, Elmer and Albert, both of Rochester, Norman of Pontiac and Forest of Everett; 26 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Deaths Elsewhere

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harold Duane Jacobs, 69, founder of the Baltimore Post for the Scripps Newspapers in the 1920s and former publisher of the Pittsburgh Press, died Tuesday. Before founding the Post, he was United Press bureau manager in Washington and later managing editor of the Washington Daily News. He suffered a stroke last winter.

Surgeon Says Smoking Form of Suicide

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Alton Ochsner, a New Orleans surgeon lecturing at the post-graduate medical assembly of Texas here, said Tuesday the advance of lung cancer is due entirely to cigarette smoking.

"Lung cancer since 1955 has become the most frequent of all cancers," he said.

"Until 1935 lung cancer occurred in the male and female in about the same number of cases. In that year males started gaining. Now 85 per cent of all lung cancer occurs in males."

"Smoking is a form of suicide," he said.

★ ★ ★

The tobacco industry, which has financed extensive research in the field, contends there has been no scientific proof of a connection between cigarette smoking and cancer.

Propose Establishment of Road Safety Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Establishment of a highway safety board was proposed today by Rep. Seymour Halpern (R-NY) to halt what he called growing highway carnage.

"For too long the automobile laws and safety codes have been considered matters purely within the purview of states," Halpern said. "With today's modern highways the auto is definitely a federal responsibility."

More than half of all the hospital beds in the United States are occupied by mental patiente.

ILO Refuses to Seat Hungarian Delegates

Delegates to the conference of the International Labor Organization (ILO) in Geneva have refused for the second successive year to seat representatives of Communist Hungary.

The vote against admission was 145 to 70 with 26 abstentions. Delegates from eight Soviet bloc nations and Russia walked out in protest. ILO's rejection is based on Russia's brutal suppression of the 1956 Hungarian revolt. It held that Hungary's delegates did not represent the people but their Red overlords who had not been chosen by the people.

A United Nations affiliate, ILO promotes laws for the protection of workers. The agency gives technical advice to governments and promotes employment services, labor surveys, industrial safety and health.

★ ★ ★

By its action ILO showed more devotion to the principle than the United Nations itself. Although Hungary's government remains charged with violation of international law, justice and morality, its Red delegates have sat in two assembly sessions even though their credentials have not been approved.

Here's One Research Project Men Will Like

Men, take note: The day is not too far away when your lawn will need no more cutting. This is not a joke, but comes from careful research and study.

★ ★ ★

So the story goes, ten years from now you will be able to sit on a lawn that needs no mowing and reach up to pick a normal sized peach from the low branches of a dwarf tree.

★ ★ ★

All this will be possible because within ten years we will have an "anti gibberellin," Dr. JAMES A. LOCKHART, biologist at the California Institute of Technology, has predicted.

Gibberellin, the hormone that plants secrete to induce stem growth, has been widely studied, Dr. Lockhart pointed out. Considerable research is under way to discover an anti-gibberellin which would suppress the growth of plants without affecting their ability to flourish and yield normal crops.

An application of this anti-gibberellin by itself, or as an addition to the fertilizer could slow plant growth so that grass, for example, would need virtually no trimming.

Fruit trees treated with the substance would be the same as normal trees except for their shortened stems and trunks.

If the good doctor carrying on this study is in need of a few bucks, we are certain most male members of the households would be willing to cough up a dollar or two.

Road Building to End If New Taxes Denied

Senate-House conferees have come up with a compromise highway bill which does not change revenue for the next fiscal year. It holds out hopes of a tax cut for the following year and completely ignores the highway problem.

★ ★ ★

The House passed bill extended the war excise and corporate income taxes. The Senate, rejecting a gasoline tax hike, suggested repealing the wartime 10 per cent rates on travel and communication. The joint committee settled on cutting the transportation tax at the end of six months and eliminating the communications tax on local phone calls only but no new revenue.

★ ★ ★

On June 24 President Eisenhower warned of a critical situation in the road building program. He said that some states would be unable to issue contracts next month if new money were not provided for the Federal highway fund. Previously the President had asked for an increase of 1.5 cents in the Federal gas tax.

So far Congress has been unable to decide where new road money is to be found. Unless the highway fund is replenished the road building pay-as-you-go program will end in 25 states by January 1.

Work on the 41,000 mile network of interstate highways will stop unless some form of deficit financing is adopted or money is diverted from the general fund. Neither alternative would be acceptable to the President.

The Man About Town

June–September

Now Divide Honors on the Local Marriage Licenses

Inferior complex: Something not possessed by a cat.

Since the earliest recollection of the oldest inhabitants, June has been the most popular month of the year for weddings. But in Oakland County it now is being crowded by September.

No explanation can be offered, other than the realization that the cold nights of autumn and winter are approaching.

I also learn that the extra 50 cents that has been charged for a marriage license in our neighboring Genesee County has been ordered discontinued by the state. Now you can get a license at Flint for the flat rate of two dollars, the same as in Pontiac.

This two bucks is divided equally between the county and state. At Flint they were knocking down that 50 cents on the pretense of a notarization charge, which the Lansing boys now declare is illegal.

And now again comes that

of Birmingham, who asserts that the black panther may be the Detroit Tiger on the loose, and who adds, "If so, I'll catch him bare handed."

A former resident of the Pontiac area was

Douglas Clarke,

American President of the International Road Federation, who died of a heart attack Sunday at his chalet in Switzerland. His home was in Fenton.

"There's an exhibition of lightning fast action and a whole circus in watching our tame warty toad," phones of Waterford. She says its long tongue will lash out and catch a house fly on the wing or grab morsels tossed to it. The same toad has lived around their back step for several years, always hibernating in the same place under the porch.

Mrs. Perley Pickman

Not a resident of Oakland County, only because he lives on the east side of Dequindre Road, the county line, Congressman has gained committee approval at Washington on an item in a new labor bill which would require unions to report fees collected for work permits, and how they handle them.

Latest to send word that he will be with us for the Pontiac centennial celebration in 1961 is of Miami Beach, who went there 30 years ago "when it seemed like a hopeless morass, filled with alligators and snakes," and hasn't been back since.

John J. Cuthbert

David Lawrence Says:

Try to Seize States' Election Rights

WASHINGTON—Efforts are being made by certain members of Congress to ignore specific provisions of the Constitution by trying to enact laws that would take away from the states their exclusive right to determine the qualifications of voters.

★ ★ ★

The change, of course, could give the uninformed voters—including those who cannot read or write — the opportunity to override the wishes of the intelligent voters.

LAWRENCE

Sometimes, in close elections for the House and Senate, a small number of voters — influenced by groups able to spend lots of money to mislead the uninformed citizens — can swing the result.

Already there is talk of big money contribtuions in the coming campaign.

James Hoffa, head of the Teamsters Union, is reported to be getting ready to have about $9,000,000 a year collected from his organization, whose membership is the largest in the country. He is quoted as saying:

"We've got to stop those guys from passing laws to destroy the American labor movement."

To raise $9,000,000 a year is something unheard of in American politics, though in the 1958 campaign the AFL-CIO is reported to have spent many millions—far more than the regular Republican or Democratic campaign committees.

Much of this was contributed directly to state committees, and hence does not appear in the national totals formally disclosed by Congress.

"Labor leaders are flushed with the victory they won in a number of states last fall and plan to expand their activities next year. They have specifically indicated 10 members of the Senate that they intend to purge.

"Two of those members live in states that have poll taxes, and the other eight in states which have rather strict educational requirements for registration.

"Needless to say, if they can get Congress to take charge of that situation for them at this session, they could either win or create much confusion in contested elections in all of the ten states in question.

"No one in Congress has ever challenged the fact that Section 2 of Article 1 of the Constitution leaves to the states exclusive jurisdiction over the qualifications of voters.

"But Section 4 of the same article authorizes Congress to legislate concerning the time, place and manner of holding elections, and all three of the pending bills express the pious fraud that they are dealing with the 'manner of holding elections.'

"Of course, if the Senate passes any of these bills, it means that the states hereafter —barring relief from the Federal courts, which is not too likely— would be subject to the temporary whim of a labor-dominated Congress on what restrictions, if any, a state could put upon the election of state and local officials as well as Federal officials, because it is impractical to have two sets of qualifications.

"In other words, we are confronted with a very serious threat to constitutional government, as well as to the future opportunity of any state to be represented in the Senate by those who are unwilling to wear the yoke of organized labor."

The key to the problem is the qualification of voters. Some states have a "poll tax," which means that every voter must pay a small registration fee to help defray the expenses of government.

Some states, moreover, require literacy or intelligence tests. One state permits 18-year-olds to vote. The Constitution says in Article 1:

"The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Great in counsel, and mighty in work: for thine eyes are open upon all the ways of the sons of men: to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.—Jeremiah 32:19.

★ ★ ★

God is everywhere, the God who framed mankind to be one mighty family, himself our Father, and the world our home. — Samuel Coleridge.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Tranquilizers Are Dope, Regardless of Popularity

Several readers have complained or protested because I referred to tranquilizers as "dope."

Just where shall we draw the line bwtween opium, laudanum, morphine, heroin, on the one hand and the barbiturates on the other hand and the tranquilizers on the third hand?

DR. BRADY

If there is any difference between the various narcotics, hypnotics, sedatives, barbiturates and tranquilizers, it is one of degree only. They are all dope, in my judgment. That is to say they are habit-forming.

The demoralizing effect of meprobamate (sold under scores of different trade names) is insidious, compared with the effects of opium, chloral hydrate ("knock-out" drops), barbiturates or alcohol. So the use of tranquilizers is frighteningly popular among the wastrels.

The "indications" for tranquilizers, the symptoms that call for such dope, according to the elaborate advertisements — all calculated to make doctors prescribe the stuff — are essentially the same, week after week, month after month — irritability, anxiety, tension, insomia. Needless to mention worry, bad conscience, remorse or any scruples or doubts one may have about the way one lives.

Some tranquilizers are "unmarked, to make the name and type of medication unidentifiable to your patient." Others are just "pleasant and easy to swallow," convenient for the wastrel to carry in her bag and hand out to her friends or companions instead of the usual aspirin or barbiturate.

I do not mean to imply that opium, morphine, heroin, cocaine, chloral hydrate, barbiturates and tranquilizers have no remedial value. I do say that if any of these medicines is necessary the physician should administer it and none should be left in the hands of the patient.

QUESTION BOX

Is it injurious for a person with rheumatic heart to drink 6 cups of tea a day sweetened with saccharine? (Saccharin is the name of the artificial sweetening chemical). (J.S.)

Ans. — The tea itself, and the saccharin or sugar in it is comparatively harmless but usually the tea hound takes tea instead of food which he or she needs to maintain good nutrition. The maximum allowance of tea is perhaps two cups a day, and that AFTER a substantial meal. Send 35c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the red book What To Eat and Why.

After making many visits to ear specialists without any results my husband followed your advice about ear drops. Amazing as it was, the fungus infection of both ears cleared up in a short time . . . (Mr. and Mrs. K. R.)

Ans. — Thank you, Ma'am. Instructions for preparing ear drops for chronic running ear are available on request if you provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Girls, Don't Let Emotions Rule

Sharon's problem confronts thousands of girls each year, so read it carefully. Don't let your emotions stampede your mands are mathematically stupid. And morality is based brain, for her boy friend's destpid. And mohality is based on simple arithmetic. Send for the sex booklet below and use it in high school hygiene classes.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-393: Sharon G., aged 16, has been dating a high school classmate.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I am all confused," Sharon began. "My sweetheart says we have gone steady so long we are just the same as married.

DR. CRANE

"So he wants me to give in to him entirely. He says it doesn't matter, for we love each other.

"Besides, he says my parents are old-fashioned in their views about such things, for they would be shocked at my boy friend's suggestion.

"I love him, so would it be wrong for me to do as he wishes?"

YES, IT'S WRONG

Yes, it would be wrong!

For the test of what is right versus wrong consists of this yardstick. Whatever does the most good for the most people for the longest period of time, is right.

If Sharon submits to her escort's sexual experimentation, will that do the most good for the most people over the longest period of time?

★ ★ ★

What would Sharon gain? Perhaps another 25 to 50 dates before her senior year is over.

Then they will likely go to different colleges and within six months they may not even be corresponding with each other, for this is often the rule.

Torrid high school romances generally cool off fast after the couple go away to college.

what would Sharon lose? Well,

Against her 25 to 50 more dates, the very first and most important assets in any woman is her spunk or independence. Her spirit would be "humbled," as the Bible describes it.

It is a girl's high spirits and spunk whnch make her most attractive to males so you coeds better take note.

As soon as a girl submits sexually to a man, she no longer feels free. She is a psychological slave, fearing lest he may "tell" on her if he gets drunk or if she refuses further indulgences and he gets angry at her.

SEXUAL DEBIT SHEET

Meanwhile, such a girl may cnotract syphilis or gonorrhea or both, for these two venereal diseases are still very dangerous and it is possible to contract both at the same time.

★ ★ ★

Gonorrhea can make a girl permanently sterile. And syphilis can do the same, as well as affect the brain and even lead to insanity.

Sharon might also get pregnant. Then she'd be faced with dropping out of school before graduation, thus ruining her educational future.

And this shame would almost break the hearts of her devoted parents who have doted on her social success, and have revelled in her popularity and happiness.

If she bears a baby out of wedlock, she launches it with at least one strike against its future happiness in case she tries to keep it.

And if she lets it be adopted, then she will often feel pangs of remorse and regret.

So the price Sharon will pay for 25 to 50 more dates during her senior year can be so terrific, she'd be stupid to take such a gamble.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit.)

Use it in your high school hygiene class, for it gives you the straight facts of life.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Office Doesn't Alter Man; It Shows Real Character'

Recently a Press reader wanted to know if it's necessary to be a jerk before being elected or if that just comes automatically after you're in office.

★ ★ ★

Governor Long of Louisiana, quoted recently, said, "Sure, I want to be Governor. Only one person in more than 2,000,000 can be Governor of this state. Thing of that. Ain't it an honor? And every time you go to the door of the mansion, somebody's bringing you a turkey or a ham or a basket of something. I like that free stuff."

★ ★ ★

People of Louisiana might even settle for a crazy man to avoid a relapse to the sophisticated, sane reaction that bled them politely and excruciatingly for generations before Big Brother Huey set out to make every man a king. Money or success really never changes these boys. It just brings to the surface their true character and after that, who says an honest man can't be a politician?

'Call to League Proves Useless'

I'd like to tell my experience with the Michigan Animal Rescue League. A month ago a stray female dog, apparently very much pregnant, came to our house and wanted to stay. She had no identification but was marvelous with the children and was obviously an ideal house pet.

★ ★ ★

Having a dog of our own, we had to find a place for her, so I phoned the League, only to be told it does not accept pregnant dogs. They have to go to the pound. And that is humane?

Criticizes Press for Accident Story

July 16 your paper gave an account of an accident involving a man who had had polio. Headlines read "Polio Crippled Man Injured in Collision." The story, only 15 lines, mentioned twice more that the man was "polio-crippled" and wears "braces on both legs."

Why should this man's misfortune be brought out with such emphasis. What part can this man's disability play in the accident?

Can't the public accept the fact that some of us, though physically handicapped, are no different than others and don't appreciate undue publicity? Certainly the public can be expected to ogle "crippled" persons like a monkey in a zoo when our newspapers make such mention of these things. The cruel word "cripple" exists only in the minds of those incapable of accepting a handicap as something to be overcome, not publicized, laughed at or scorned.

From a journalism standpoint and a humane view, I consider this poorly written story the most pitiful example of a journalist's work I've ever read.

Suggests Groups Allow All Ages

★ ★ ★

Various organizations should take heed and stop regulating people into this age group or that. They should let it be known their facilities are available to all interested. This would do much to tear down the barriers which the illusion of age has created and certainly there would be less bored VOP readers.

Youth, strange as it may seem to society, isn't a closed corporation. There's no law against it enduring indefinitely.

Parke, Davis Emphasizes Windows

Designs Plant for Safety

HOLLAND (AP)—Parke, Davis & Co. is building a seven million dollar plant here designed specifically to minimize injury and destruction in case of an explosion.

The design calls for 10,000 plastic, popout windows to do away with the danger of flying glass. The shell of the plant is 80 per cent window area. The windows will be bowed out on installation to provide additional pressure release.

Windows will measure 14 by 24 inches and will transmit 25 per cent less heat and 45 per cent less light.

Engineers say there are other aspects of construction in the 120,000-square-foot plant that are revolutionary in the chemical manufacturing industry.

The plant will be opened in sections so that it will not be necessary to shut down any Detroit facility while the move is being made. At present the company employs 150 persons in Holland.

Ben-Gurion Fails to Form Government

He said, however, that he is willing to continue as head of the present caretaker cabinet until after the next parliamentary elections — to be held probably on Nov. 3.

'Policeman' Picks Wrong Man to Stop

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A factory worker, playing policeman, stopped a car on the Merritt Parkway Monday night and charged the driver with speeding. The driver heads the state police rackets squad.

"Yours was the first Connecticut car I stopped," Camillo J. Spina told Lt. Samuel Rome of the state police.

Dundee Man Makes 3rd Try

Probes for Civil War Ship

DUNDEE (AP) — Retired mail carrier Raynor T. McMullen has started his third attempt to find the sunken hull of the USS Monitor, which went down off Cape Hatteras, N.C., in a storm following its historic battle with the Merrimac.

McMullen left here Monday for what he believes is the location of the famed Union ship. Accompanied by two divers and elaborate underwater search equipment, McMullen hopes to make good on his third effort to find the wreckage of the Civil War vessel.

He hopes to use magnets to find the Monitor. The magnets, McMullen believes, will locate the Monitor in 35 feet of water by attaching themselves to the ship's turret.

The turret of the Union naval vessel is 22 feet in diameter. The Monitor sank Dec. 29, 1862 while being towed by another vessel during a storm.

The Monitor engaged the confederate Merrimac on March 9, 1862, in Chesapeake Bay. The battle is rated as the turning point in the use of iron or steel vessels over wooden ship by the world's navies.

McMullen has spent $5,000 in efforts to find the hulk of the Monitor. He says he is doing it on his own as an outgrowth of a boyhood fascination with the story of the battle between the two ironclads.

If he finds the Monitor, the ship will be his. The Navy has abandoned rights to the Civil War ship.

Previous efforts by McMullen in 1954 and 1958 to locate the remains of the Monitor proved unsuccessful. If he locates it this time, McMullen hopes to interest other parties in the famed civil war vessel.

Hare Urges Tests to Determine If Drivers Drunk

LANSING (UPI)—The "increasingly disturbing problem" of the drinking driver and accidents won't be solved until Michigan gets a "realistic program" to determine the real cause of accidents, secretary of state James Hare said Tuesday.

Hare urged use of scientific methods such a schemical tests and blood tests for finding out whether any persons involved in wrecks had been drinking.

He said the weekend death of Cecil Betron, former Detroit newspaper man in an accident indicated the other driver was drinking.

Adenauer Abandons No-Talking Policy

By HERB ALTSCHULL

GENEVA (AP) — The breeze of flexibility wafting through the western camp here has touched even Konrad Adenhauer.

Almost unnoticed, West Germany's 83-year-old chancellor has abandoned one of his basic policies —that his West Germans would never sit down and talk politics with the East Germans.

Adenauer isn't happy about it. But his advisers have convinced him there is no alternative if the Berlin crisis is to be solved.

This analysis of the German situation is based on information from authoritative informants. They report the ringleader in the convince - Adenauer campaign is his foreign minister, Heinrich Von Brentano.

For years the Soviet Union has been accusing Adenauer of being a stubborn old man who is keeping the cold war going by refusing to talk to the East German Communists.

★ ★ ★

But by agreeing to the new German plan submitted by the western powers at the big four conference Monday Adenauer has knocked some of the force out of that line of attack.

It is difficult to know whether Adenauer's acceptance of the western plan is due to persuasion by his advisers, to conviction or to belief the Russians won't accept it anyway.

This plan calls for continued negotiations on German unification under the big four with the East and West Germans sitting in as advisers. But the two Germanys would enter into direct negotiations if the big four considered this advisable.

A month ago Von Brentano told the West German Parliament's foreign affairs committee he regretted that Adenauer had said publicly the Soviets were successful in driving a wedge between Britain and West Germany at the Geneva talks.

Such a statement would have been incredible in the days before Adenauer's juggling with the German presidency.

As a matter of fact, the leaders of the West German foreign office at Geneva seem to have been feeling their oats recently.

Some informants said the German delegation began to move toward independent decision-making at the start of the Geneva talks May 11 when Adenhauer was an avowed candidate for president of West Germany.

His turnabout decision to remain as chancellor, taken June 4, was reported to have come as a shock to the German delegation. But the new-found feeling of independence among Adenauer's underlings seems to have persisted.

These underlings, of a far more flexible mind in dealing with the Soviets than Adenauer, are said to have little fears of talks between East and West Germans as long as they operate under the blanket of a big four commission and do not have the power to make independent decisions.

As a matter of fact the West Germans here have been taking the lead in promoting such a project as a compromise with the Soviets.

Yet only a few months ago Adenauer was saying his government would never hold political negotiations with the East Germans.

Underprivileged Children Attend Summer Carnival

The Summer Carnival, sponsored by Pontiac Elks Lodge 810, will operate to a capacity crowd with silent cash registers today.

Groups will come from the Oakland County Juvenile Home, Boys' Club of Pontiac, Pontiac State Hospital and the local Salvation Army as guests of the Elks, said Mrs. Ruth Gillotte, of 32 Murphy St., chairman of the matinee.

It all takes place at the Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave. The carnival, a Happyland Show, opened there July 14 and will end this Saturday night.

Jack Bender, Elks trustee, is chairman of the 12-day event. All proceeds will go to charity.

Kin of Freud Loses License for 'Auto Mania'

Frued's grandson today had his driver's license suspended for a year because he has a compulsion to pass every car in sight.

The presiding magistrate said "it is his mentality — there is a car ahead and he must pass."

The last time he was convicted, the judge told him, "I think you ought to see a psychiatrist." His grandfather was the founder of psychoanalysis.

House to Shelve GI Benefits Bill

Senate Passes Measure Despite Administration Objections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House appeared unlikely to take action this year on a Senate-passed bill to extend wartime GI benefits to peacetime servicemen.

The Senate on a 57-31 roll call vote late yesterday passed the bill over administration objections and despite charges it was discriminatory.

But the outlook was not bright at the other end of the capitol where the House Veterans Committee had a number of similar bills pending. No hearings have been held this year and none are scheduled.

Congress is expected to adjourn in late August or early September.

The Senate measure would cost an estimated $1,800,000,000 by its 1963 expiration date. Opponents argued the program actually would cost much more since it undoubtedly would be extended as long as there was a peacetime draft.

The bill would authorize educational benefits, vocational training and rehabilitation, and a program of loans and guarantees for the purchase of homes, farms and farm equipment for veterans of 180 days of active duty peacetime between Jan. 31, 1955 and July 1, 1963.

It is patterned on the GI bill of rights offered veterans of World War II and Korea. Voting for the bill on final passage were 48 Democrats and 9 Republicans. Opposed were 21 Republicans and 10 Democrats.

Stay Alive Longer!

Your Heart Is for Living

By LELORD KORDEL
Installment Nine

The pain struck Tom Newton as he was running to catch the 8:05 train home. It left him short of breath, and as he walked down the ramp he thought: "Must've been the hamburger I wolfed down in the station.

"And on top of that, running for the train. Guess I'll have to remember that I'm not exactly a kid any more."

On the train he ducked into the first empty seat in the nearest car, and waited for the pain in his chest to subside. Instead, it came on again, full-grown.

Searing as though it were a small, hot bulb, the pain remained contant. It concentrated on an area no larger than a quarter. He clutched at the oppression, which seemed to center four inches below his necktie.

Suddenly there was a second acute ball of pain, then a third left him struggling for breath. Everything in his body strained toward the left side of his chest. Now his body was nothing more than a container for that searing rod of pain.

He tried to clutch at the pain again with his left hand. He couldn't. The whole arm had become numb. He began to knead the useless arm with his right hand, and the pain radiated from his left shoulder down to his elbow.

At that moment Tom knew. He was having a heart attack.

Tom turned to find that a woman was sitting beside him. She was staring at him as he frantically rubbed his arm.
"I'm very ill," he told her.

Then he gave in to the pain and slipped away into unconsciousness.

He didn't wake until he felt someone putting a small pill under his tongue. It was a man in white. That and the wail of the siren told him he was in an ambulance on his way to a hospital.

TELLTALE SIGNS

Tom doubtless triggered his heart attack with his rushing for the train and the food he had eaten that day. Yet, he had received other telltale signs; his nervous indigestion, his sleeplessness, and his pallor. "Working too hard at the office," he would say. "Guess I'll have to take a vacation one of these years."

If you are overweight and feel even slightly under par, check up on your health.

Why not face it. Your heart is in your hands. This is the age of the coronary-disease epidemic. Doctors are trying a cure-through-prevention. But the greater part of this job must be done by you alone.

This disease is a prejudiced killer. It stalks through our land, striking down the hard-working, the able, the energetic—males by preference.

It is a vicious killer of the mature man—the man who is probably near the top of his business and who, like Tom, prides himself on being a healthy specimen, whose boast it, "Never sick a day in my life."

Coronary heart disease is characterized by a sudden, severe pain in the heart region or the pit of the stomach. Until about 40 years ago, it was called "acute indigestion."

Sudden death is not uncommon. Today, with our faster pace of living, it strikes not only the older man. Men in their thirties and forties are claimed as its victims.

HARDY HEART

Your heart is a masterpiece of nature. It is not a delicate or fragile organ, but a strong, hardy mechanism. Day after day, year after year, it performs a tremendous amount of work, never stopping for even a few seconds. This miniature pump is just about the size of your fist.

Each day the heart pumps approximately 4,320 gallons of blood through 60,000 miles of blood vessels. The quantity of blood it pumps varies from hour to hour. Yet your heart seldom complains. It adjusts its blood flow to your body's need.

Do you like to kid youself by thinking there's no connection between the foods you eat and thickened, hardened arteries? Imagining yourself immune you think that "pass the potatoes and gravy, honey" will do you no harm. That you can eat all of the high starch, high fat junk you have a mind to.

You may think that only with advancing age is one troubled, if one is to be troubled at all.

But did you know that there is plenty of evidence to show that coronary disease was found in three-fourths of 300 young men, averaging 22 years of age, who were killed in battle in Korea?

The excessive starches, the high fats—especially in combination—have a good deal to do with the yellowish, fatty material that deposits itself in scattered patches beneath the slick lining of the arteries, usually at the point where they branch. What do you suppose happens when these deposits start blocking the arteries?

The heart muscle warns you with a severe pain that is felt beneath the breastbone, across the upper part of the chest, or down the left arm.

Disregard this warning and you invite the real No. 1 killer or crippler to enter your life.

Such lesions on your arterial walls may slow down the circulation of blood to the extent that a clot forms at the point of narrowing—a clot that completely stops the blood flow which feeds your heart. Your coronary artery is plugged and you have coronary thrombosis—a clot on your heart.

With modern treatment your chances of survival from an initial attack of coronary occlusion are close to 90 per cent. Eighty to 85 per cent of coronaries who recover from such attacks are able to return to their jobs and to resume fairly normal lives.

The well-known New York heart specialist Dr. Arthur M. Master says: "There is no justification for the pessimism and psychological invalidism. Many of the patients who survive the acute attack live for many years and approach the ordinary life span."

Don't you be a heart-pessimist. He's the man who continues on his precarious way. He says, "I've got heart trouble, but there isn't anything I can do about it."

Listen to your heart's warning. You can increase your chance for survival. If necessary, say:

"I've got heart trouble, but there must be something I can do about it. Tell me what it is, and I'll do it!"

Redstone Good on 250-Mile Try

Canaveral Test Model Similar to One Planned for Astronaut Tryouts

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An Army Redstone missile was launched here Tuesday night on what appeared to be a highly successful 250-mile flight.

The Redstone, similar to that which will boost this nation's seven astronauts on space capsule familiarization tests, darted out over the Atlantic Ocean shortly before midnight.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has ordered several Redstone missiles to acquaint the seven space pioneers with the capsule which will carry one of them into an orbit about the earth, probably in 1961.

Most of the astronauts, who are now training at Langley Air Force Base, Va., are expected to take comparatively short trips in the capsule. Redstones will hurl the manned space capsules as high as 100 miles into the air and deposit them a few hundred miles out in the Atlantic for recovery.

Japanese Economy Recovers From Drop

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese government rpeorts today that the nation's economy had recovered from the 1957-58 recession at an "unexpectedly swift pace."

The report warned, however, that Japan "has lagged far behind the western nations in liberalization of trade" and urged that corrective measures be taken immediately.

He's in Red China Prison

U.S. Flier Living on Hope

HONG KONG (AP) — John Downey of New Britain, Conn., serving a life sentence in a Red China prison, is living on hope, his brother William said Tuesday on arrival from Peiping.

★ ★ ★

But the Chinese he talked to during the week he spent in the Red capital gave him no indication that John will be released, William told reporters.

He said that despite requests through the Chinese Red Cross, no Chinese government official would receive him or listen to his appeal. The Communists jailed John Downey in 1952 on espionage charges.

★ ★ ★

"But my brother shows no sign of despair," William said. "He is quite cheerful, was very happy to see me and appears to be in very good health. He is living in hopes that he will be released."

★ ★ ★

William said he was not allowed to visit Richard G. Fecteau of Boston, Mass., who was sentenced to 20 years at the same time as John.

Fecteau and Downey, civilians, were captured when a U.S. Air Force plane in which they were traveling crashed on a flight from Japan to Korea.

William saw John three times for two hours each during the week he was in Peiping.

★ ★ ★

William said he gathered from the conversation that John shares a cell with two Chinese prisoners and gets adequate food. He spends most of his time reading, gets one hour of exercise daily and is not subject to harsh discipline. Mail and food parcels from home are delivered promptly.

Bill Legitimizes Children on Marriage of Parents

LONDON (AP) — Parliament has approved legislation legitimizing children of adulterous affairs —provided the couple marry.

In an about-face, the House of Lords Tuesday night voted 83-64 to approve a bill it had rejected earlier. The bill removes the stigma of bastardy from 3,000 living children.

★ ★ ★

The House of Commons had previously approved the bill, which assures children born of adulterous liaisons rights of inheritance if the parents marry. Previously the parents had to legally adopt their offspring so they could inherit.

Society Plans to Spread Word of Judaism in U.S.

CHICAGO (UPI) — A newly-formed society laid plans today to open an evangelistic campaign to "spread the word of Judaism" among Americans who have not found a religious faith.

The campaign, sponsored by the new Jewish Information Society, will mark a milestone in American Jewish history.

The campaign is officially scheduled to begin Aug. 1. Although it will concentrate first in the Middle West, its sponsors hope the movement will spread over a far wider area. Eventually, missionaries may be used.

Rabbi Sholom Singer, one of the founders of the society and now a vice-president of the organization, said the program "is aimed at educating others in the Jewish religion."

Rabbi Singer, a former army chaplain on Okinawa, said it was not the society's objective to win converts away from other faiths.

"The drive will be directed at those who are unsure in their faiths or those who are completely unaffiliated with any belief," he said.

"We will try to bring the word not to those who are different, but to those who are indifferent."

The rabbi said the program will not be carried out in an evangelistic manner. He said written material, radio and TV programs and open forums will be employed to convey the message.

Rabbi Singer said it was about time the Jewish religion did something about actively promoting their religion.

"We've been using defensive tactics too long a time," he said. "If the religion is good enough for us it is good enough for others."

"The society's work," he said, "will bring new religious assistance and hope to those people who have no religions."

Vienna Awaits Opening of Huge Propaganda Battle

VIENNA (AP) — Vienna is looking forward to the opening next weekend of a huge east-west propaganda battle in its streets.

The occasion is what the Communist sponsors call "The seventh world festival for youth and students for peace and friendship." It begins with a massive show Sunday in Vienna's soccer stadium and continues for 10 days until Aug. 4.

Austria's overwhelmingly anti-Communist youth organizations and Vienna's press call it "A huge Communist propaganda swindle to ensnare the world's youth, which we never should have permitted to come to Vienna but which we are now determined to expose for what it is."

The Communist organizers said at first that 17,000 foreign delegates would come to the festival. Then India sharply cut passport issuance, the United Arab Republic decided to keep its youth away altogether and others restricted attendance. The latest published estimate now is for 15,000 foreign visitors.

The propaganda battle began in Vienna's streets last weekend when placards in five languages were hoisted by the Austrian youth organizations. These proclaimed:

"This so-called world youth festival is organized by the Communists and paid for by them. We Austrian youth are not participating in it and, in fact, protest against it. But we nevertheless welcome foreign youth here and we want to show you our lovely city and the advantages of democracy. We want you to take full advantage of freedom of movement and freedom of speech here and welcome you in discussions, when we will tell you why we are uncompromising opponents of communism

There's one of those new foreign cars that gets more than 50 miles to the gallon. Best part is, you only have to pedal it uphill. . . . Some marriages break up because the husband likes to spend an evening out with the boys; others break up because the wife likes to do the same thing.—Earl Wilson.

Retired Officer Law Advised

Bradley Tells House Probers Legislation Is Indicated as Safeguard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Omar N. Bradley, a five-star general with a $75,000 job in private industry, told House investigators Tuesday "legislation is indicated" to guard against possible abuses in the employment of retired officers.

Bradley, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and head of the Veterans Administration, talked freely with a House armed services subcommittee about his own affairs, including his present post as board chairman of the Bulova Watch Co. and its research subsidiary.

Bradley said he never had anything to do with buying while he was in the Army and has had nothing to do with selling to the government since becoming inactive.

"In fact," he said, "I wouldn't know how to negotiate a contract."

Bradley steered away from specific recommendations about possible correcting legislation, but said " a time lag" after an officer leaves active duty and before he engages selling to the government would be a good idea. He said two or three years, allowing time for former associates to be reassigned, might be long enough.

Bradley, who as a five-star general technically never retired but is always on call, told the subcommittee he still receives $20,543 a year in Army pay and has an office and secretary to handle the military mail that keeps coming in.

He said he thinks the influence of former generals and admirals has been exaggerated and private companies "might do better to hire a captain who would know where the papers are in the Pentagon."

EOKA Leader Voices His Opposition to British

ATHENS (UPI)—Former EOKA leader George Grivas states that he is against the inclusion of Cyprus in the British Commonwealth.

Grivas also indicated he will campaign for pensions for EOKA members who fought against the British for their island's independence.

MOMS Unit Holds Silver Tea

Proceeds Go to Vets, Families

MOMS of America, Inc., Unit 2 held their silver tea Tuesday afternoon at the Adah Shelly library, with Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind as chairman. Proceeds from the affair will be used for hospitalized veterans and their families and also for gifts to boys leaving for service.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Frank Emery, Mrs. Maude Place, Mrs. Lillie Collins, Mrs. John Brewer and Mrs. Harry Sibley.

The national president, Mrs. Howard R. Estes of Birmingham and the Michigan state president, Mrs. Joan Huller of Ann Arbor were special guests.

Mrs. Malcolm Scantland, of Auburn Heights, state president of the Past Presidents Club was present and other guests included: Mrs. Fern Pittman, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Wilber Johnstone and Mrs. John Walrath, national officers from Birmingham; Mrs. Frank Polasek and Mrs. Samuel Sprague, state officers, Auburn Heights; Mrs. Otis McLane, Mrs. George P. Funck and Mrs. J. E. Burgdorf, also from Auburn Heights.

Concluding the list were Mrs. Rita Silves of Gingellville; Mrs. June Goedeke of Galloway Lake; Mrs. Lewis Cheal of Lake Orion; Mrs. E. M. Tick of Pontiac and her aunt Mrs. Rose Chase from Bloomfield, N. J.

Zone 8 of the Past Presidents Club will meet August 20 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Burgess on Joslyn road for election of officers.

The national board is meeting July 28 at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Estes in Birmingham.

Mrs. Stanley Jaruzel, left, offers a plate of cookies to Mrs. Pauline Mott at the card party sponsored by the Oakland County Federation of Democratic Women. Mrs. Mott was general chairman of the affair held Tuesday evening at the Hotel Roosevelt and Mrs. Jaruzel was co-chairman of the gifts committee.

Accepting a cup of coffee from Mrs. Robert P. Scott is Mrs. George Smith (standing) of Royal Oak. The occasion was a card party held Tuesday evening by the Oakland County Federation of Democratic Women.

Who Said Man Should Marry?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have read of nothing but trouble, fighting and misery between man and wife in your column which only confirms the wisdom of my decision thirty-six years ago, to remain a bachelor. I go where I please without asking the permission of a possessive woman. I am not subjected to "nagging" or bossing. I eat when I feel like it, and sleep when I am tired. I have no ungrateful children to support, I can get the companionship of a woman whenever I feel like it. It's cheaper in the long haul and I am happier. Who said that man couldn't live without a wife?

ABBY

SATISFIED

DEAR SATISFIED: God said so. (Genesis)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is married to a man who is 23 years older than she is. She is expecting a baby in a month. Her husband tells her she has to give the baby away because it isn't his.

Abby, she is a good girl and always has been. The only place she has ever been without him was to church. He won't go. I am her mother and am two years younger than her husband. I want to keep the baby. My husband says if I take the baby he will leave me.

Should I break up my own marriage of 34 years to give my daughter's baby a home, or should I let her adopt it out? She wants to keep it but her husband won't let her.

SAD HEART

DEAR SAD: Don't take the baby. It belongs with its mother. If your daughter knows that her husband is the baby's father, she should keep it. Her husband should see a doctor about his mental condition. He is behaving like a very sick man.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My father married a lady who was supposed to be a "mother" to me after my own mother died. She asked me to call her by her first name because she said she was too young to be my real mother(I am 13 and she is 33.) So I started calling her by her first name. Then she changed her mind and said it didn't sound respectful enough so I should call her "Mother." I can't call her "Mother" without getting a lump in my throat that won't swallow. What should I call her, please?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Make up a "pet" name such as "Mums" or something you have never called your real mother. If you feel that you are forcing yourself, just forget about a name until one comes naturally.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I married a fine man who bears a fine old German family name. Whenever it is mentioned people snicker, and with good reason, because in English it suggests something not mentioned in polite company. If we shortened it, it would be worse. We have three little boys growing up and already they have become the object of ridicule. My husband would go to court and change it, only we are afraid of what our friends might say. Should I encourage my husband to change it or not?

MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S.: Yours is perfectly legitimate reason for wanting to change your name. You need not be ashamed to do so.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 55 and in good health. I am a widower and have had experience as a janitor, night watchman and porter. I have been to the State Employment Agency and have my application in for many jobs but so far nothing has turned up. As I understand it, I am too old for work, too young for Old Age Pension, too old for the Army and too young to die. What can I do?

E. B.

DEAR E.B.: You are too young to give up. Keep looking!

These Autumn Styles Warm---Plenty Warm

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)— In the middle of a heat wave, London's fashion designers revealed today the secrets of what women are going to wear come autumn and winter.

First of all, everything's in the right place — bosoms, hips and waists.

Chests will be round and full — not flat.

Hips will be ample and visible and not sagging.

Waists will be right there where the good Lord put them, and not, as in some other years, up under the armpits.

"It is time," said Hardy Amies, one of Queen Elizabeth II's dressmakers, "that women looked fabulous and glamorous again after the lean years."

His ladies looked fabulous, all right, but they also looked hot.

WOE TO ANIMALS

A lot of animals are going to be slaughtered because the new fashions go in for much fur.

A feature of the coming season will be topcoats lined—not covered—with mink.

Skirts will be a trifle longer.

In a review of 142 dresses, not a single model's knee showed. Shoulders are going to be an itty-bit more padded.

★ ★ ★

Victor Stiebel featured a muted black.

And there was even something called a blacky-brown.

Present tense. . .No Comment . . .Soft Touch. . .Brag. . .Shoftly, Softly. . .Trust Fund. . .Rifleman . . .Iron Hand. . .Earthbound. . . Thursday's Child. . .Evening Star . . .Catspaw.

Short gloves are shown currently in Paris. This is true even for evening wear, when they are white or pastel blue kid.

Better Ring Bell Before Entering

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I went to visit my daughter, who was expecting me, and when I arrived the front door was unlocked so I walked right in without ringing the doorbell. My son-in-law thinks I was wrong to have done this and says I should have rung the bell and waited for someone to let me in. I can hardly believe such formality necessary when calling on a member of my own family and would like your opinion."

Answer: As your daughter was expecting you, it was not necessary for you to ring the doorbell, but ordinarily you should ring before entering anyone's (even your daughter's) house.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been appointed editor of our church bulletin and what puzzles me is how to refer to members of our congregation in writing up announcements and news articles. Generally the women are referred to as Mrs. but of late—and especially from the younger group—I am asked to insert announcements referring to Mary Brown, Jane Doe, etc., when I feel they should read Mrs. Richard Brown and Mrs. Andrew Doe, etc. Our church bulletins are not written informally. Will you please tell me which is correct?"

Answer: You are right, Mrs. Richard Brown and Mrs. Andrew Doe is how you should refer to them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is the wearing of an ankle bracelet considered in good taste? If so, will you please tell me on which ankle it should be worn—the right or the left?"

Answer: It is certainly not in the very best of taste but I doubt that anyone would consider the wearing of an ankle bracelet in bad taste. It is more often seen on the right ankle.

Berean Class Plans Bake Sale Saturday

Mrs. Isaac Thurman is serving as chairman for the event. In charge of baked goods are Mrs. Irene Godfrey, Mrs. Arthur VanZandt and Mrs. Ralph Graham.

Can Change Life

Vanity Is Healthy Attitude

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Call it vanity if you like but it signifies a good, healthy, mental attitude when a woman takes an interest in the way she looks. It is a danger signal when she becomes indifferent to her appearance.

Psychologists and psychiatrists long have recognized the fact that it is only when a woman loses her self-respect and her feeling of value as an individual that she slumps into dowdiness and indifference. Neurotics are known to be poor dressers.

I wonder how many of my readers know that every up to date mental hospital has a beauty salon and that a beauty treatment is one of the very first treatments given a woman when she is admitted. This is often done even before she starts analysis and sometimes the results are dramatic. In other instances there is less response, but in practically all cases there is some sign of recognition on the patient's part.

Many of these women come to the hospital in ill-kept clothes, with matted, oily or uncombed hair, without make-up or any other evidence of interest in grooming or appearance. They had lost all interest in how they look to others when they lost their sense of importance and sense of personal identity and had become deeply depressed.

We all can apply these facts to ourselves. Even the woman who is mentally sound and has a wonderful outlook can become, at periods in her life, so discouraged and depressed that she may find herself less interested in what goes on about her and in the way she looks. This self-neglect in turn leads to more lack of self-esteem and thus she finds herself in a vicious circle which is difficult to break.

Even a new hat can change the complexion of life for you.

The most feasible way to begin is with physical self-improvement. If you find that you have gotten into a rut of carelessness and indifference concerning your appearance, pull yourself out of it for a more vibrant approach to life. A better figure, a new hairdo, a new make-up, some new clothes, even a new hat, can change the complexion of life for you.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Woman of Fifty" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 33 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Marimont Baptist Rites Unite Pair in Evening

A candlelight ceremony performed Saturday evening at Marimont Baptist Church united Doris M. Davies and Kevork Eugene Kasarjian of Spring Arbor.

★ ★ ★

The former Miss Davies is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Davies of Emerson avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Avedis Kasarjian of Miami, Fla.

A floor-length white gown enhanced by a lace bodice, long tapered sleeves and round scalloped neckline was the bride's choice. She held an arrangement of white roses.

Bridesmaid Karen Bihl was gowned in a pastel pink street-length chiffon frock styled similar to the honor maid's. Both attendants held bouquets of yellow China chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom asked Millard Eldred to serve as best man. Ushers were David Kives, Lawrence Hull, and Robert T. Davies.

The bride changed from her gown to a navy blue dress with white collar and white accessories accented by the rose corsage from her wedding bouquet after the reception. The couple is planning a wedding trip later in the summer. They will reside in Jackson.

MRS. KEVORK E. KASARJIAN

The newlyweds are preparing to enter the mission field. The bride attended Moody Bible Institute. The bridegroom was a student at Spring Arbor Junior College and Seminary, as well as University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Eastern Michigan University.

Cushman-March Vows Said in Methodist Rite

Covert Methodist Church was the scene of the Saturday evening wedding of Barbara Jean March and Gary Kent Cushman. The Rev. Lottie Wier officiated at the candlelight ceremony before 150 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. March of Alhi street, and the bridegroom, a Michigan State University graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Cushman of Davisburg.

MRS. GARY K. CUSHMAN

IN LACE AND TAFFETA

A floor-length gown of delicate Chantilly lace over silk taffeta, featuring long pointed sleeves and a fitted bodice, was worn by the bride. The softly scalloped Sabrina neckline was enhanced by a billowy skirt which ended in a nylon tulle ruffle over tiny tiers of tulle.

A crown of heart-shaped sequins and seed pearls secured the bride's fingertip veil of French illusion. She carried a white orchid surrounded by white stephanotis and trailing ivy wth knotted white ribbons mounted on a small whte Bible, a gift of the bridegroom.

Geraldine March attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a cotillion blue dress of nylon organdy over silk taffeta, featuring an oval neckline and short sleeves and a taffeta cummerbund. Her heart-shaped crown of sequins and pearls with nosetip veil matched her gown, and she carried a cascade of pink carnations and sweetheart roses with pink ribbons.

Serving as bridesmaids were Constance Lewis and Karan Crandall. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor's, in light blue, and they also had cascade bouquets.

Wearing a gown of pink sheared nylon chiffon over pink taffeta, Rose Ann Kugler served as flower girl. She carried a basket of rose petals which she dropped in the path for the bride.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Best man was Lloyd Irland of Milford. Ushers included Charles Rose of Pontiac and Joseph Babin of Milford. Andrew Firman of Royal Oak, the bridegroom's cousin, attended as ringbearer.

★ ★ ★

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. March wore a pure silk sheath in champagne beige with white accessories. Mrs. Cushman was dressed in a light blue sheath with matching jacket and pink accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages with matching ribbons.

★ ★ ★

For traveling to northern Michigan, the bride changed to a black linen suit trimmed in white lace and white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon returning, the couple will live on Murphy street.

Thick Waist Gives Lump Look

Short waists threaten to make their owners look dumpy. Keep your waistline supple with exercises especially keyed for the abdominal and waist muscles.

Wax Faces Get Soaped

Wax figures of the seven Virginia signers of the Declaration of Independence, on exhibition at the New World Pavilion in Jamestown, take on the appearance of "headless horsemen" every so often.

On these occasions, their heads are at the beauty parlor, located in another wing of the museum. Their faces are washed and their hair—which is real — is carefully shampooed and styled. Even wax statues need soap - and - water beauty care!

Covered bridges are still being built in New England. A new one is at Sheffield, Mass.

Foundation Lotion May Show Flaws

Foundation makeup will show up in wrinkles and blemishes if applied carelessly.

A soft brush may be used to wisk away excessive amounts. It also is good to brush powder from the hairline.

To Stop Sticking

To keep starch from sticking to the drum of a clothes dryer, preheat the dryer a few minutes before adding starched articles.

Try Beige Gloves

Robert C. McNutt Claims Bride in Wisconsin Rite

Our Savior Lutheran Church in Hartland, Wis., was the scene of the Saturday afternoon wedding uniting Susanne Bassett Spence and Robert Curtis McNutt. The Rev. Carl Wildrick officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morton R. Spence of Hartland. Mr. McNutt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. McNutt of Bloomfield Hills.

Of floor length, the bride's gown was fashioned of white silk organza with bateau neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was caught by a matching lace cap.

ATTEND BRIDE

Mrs. Thomas V. McNutt of Myrtle Beach, S. C. served as matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Morton Spence Jr. of Oconomowoc, Wis., sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Edward Bowen of Livonia.

Flower girls were Sara Spence, sister of the bride, and Michele McNutt, a niece of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom's brother, Thomas V. McNutt, served as best man. Ushering were Morton Spence, Jr., brother of the bride; John Hart and John Hogshead, both of Detroit; Richard Huey and Ross Hohn, both of Glen Arbor; and Ronald Keyser of Wilmette, Ill.

HONEYMOON IN SOUTH

The couple is honeymooning in Virginia and will reside in Royal Oak.

The new Mrs. McNutt, a 1957 debutante, attended Carroll College and is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority. Mr. McNutt was graduated from Denison University, Granville, Ohio, and is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

Secretary Reveals Success Formula

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Here's the credo of Miss Ideal Business Girl, Barbara Ann Bray, 21, of Hollywood. She was chosen Sunday by Alpha Iota, 43,000-member international business sorority, at its annual convention.

"I try to be accurate, stable and well-groomed," says the tall secretary who takes 130 words dictation per minute and types at 60. "I try to be independent enough to take responsibility. When I fail in some way, I try again with more caution and level thinking."

She added that a secretary should never criticize the way an office is managed.

"Just do what the boss says."

MRS. LARRY RAY RICKARD

Married Saturday were Virginia J. Everett and Larry R. Rickard. Parents of the newlyweds are the F. H. Everetts of Lowell street and the Claude Rickards of South Cass Lake road.

Virginia Jean Everett Wed in All Saints Rite

All Saints Episcopal Church, with a choral communion service combining the choirs of the church, was the scene Saturday for the double ring ceremony which united Virginia Jean Everett and Larry Ray Rickard in marriage.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Everett of Lowell street and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rickard of South Cass Lake road. The bridegroom is a graduate of General Motors Institute.

IN LACE AND TULLE

A crown headpiece of imported German wax beads secured her fingertip veil, and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds centered with an orchid, on a prayer book.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS

Mrs. Everett chose a beige lace shirtwaist dress with metallic blue accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Rickard wore beige lace sheath accented by an overskirt and beige accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red roses and mint green carnations, respectively.

For traveling to Florida, the new Mrs. Rickard chose a black linen dress with a white shawl collar and white shoes. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet. Upon returning, the newlyweds will reside in Pontiac.

The name of the state of Arizona comes from the Spanish name of "Arida Zona," meaning "dry area."

Hats for Women to Please Men

NEW YORK—"I design hats for the woman wise enough to dress for men," says Mr. John. The milliner also says his new chapeaux have a "magical potency to make a lady look as young as she feels."

Descriptions of some new silhouettes: strawberry sailors of French milan, cricket casuals of gingham checks, carousel cartwheels of leghorn braid, and candy straw rustic rollers.

Tweeds Top Italian Fashions

By SUE CARDOZO

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Salt and pepper tweeds seasoned for differing palates have been featured throughout the Italian fashions now being shown for fall and winter. But nowhere have they seemed more appetizing than in coats seen Tuesday night in Veneziani's collection.

★ ★ ★

Some were more salty than peppery, others vice versa. Some were supple and whiskery, others shaven or gnarled. There was plenty to suit the taste of everyone among the slim, belted Veneziani coats.

One was reversible, with shaggy white fleece on one side and salt and pepper tweed on the other. Underneath was a shaggy white blouse and tweed skirt to match either reversal.

Fur hats and fur pocketbooks spiced Veneziani's suits, which were mostly long-jacketed and belted, the prevailing trend. Layered skirts were seen among the collection's dresses.

The best thing about the Guidi collection — also shown Tuesday night at the Pitti Palace—was an ensemble of salt and pepper tweed. The dress was straight-belted, the box-buttoned coat lined in bright red and slit at the sides and center into high-flying panels.

Another standout in Guidi's otherwise unspectacular collection was an emerald green raw silk ball gown, full length and full in the back. It had a high standup collar, plunging over the shoulder and down the back.

Men's fashions by Brioni included such things as felt-covered buttons on a glen plaid suit and a silk blazer striped in navy blue and olive green. He also showed a double-breasted blazer with white saddle stitching and a striped tweed sports jacket with two vents and no lapels.

Emilio Schuberth's collection lived up to his reputation for frills and furbelows. He startled the fashion audience with hobble skirts, puffed peplums, shirring, tucking, embroidery and beads.

Carosa's collection featured a dropped shoulder and straight-back skirts, slightly full in front. Carosa's conservative bent was reflected in hemlines which covered the knee and cautious styling that made even the most elaborate brocades appear sedate.

Necklaces Have Bulky Look

The many-stranded bib necklace has a new look. It is massed high on the throat. Tiny seed beads are mixed with rhinestone rondelles or small color-matched pearls.

★ ★ ★

The bibs can be twisted into bulky ribbons or worn in deliberate disarray above the bateau neckline. Slender, shiny bugle beads, as many as 10 strands, make good fillers for wide suit necklines. Lightweight bubble beads or crystals, usually in color, are bulked into chokers.

STAPP'S . . . a very special thought for mothers . . .

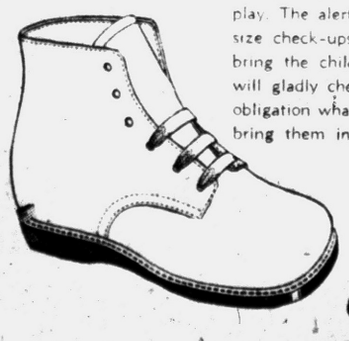

BABY FEET
NEVER HURT!

Baby rarely complains of misfitted shoes . . . yet an examination of 4,000 children recently revealed that 3,000 were found to be wearing outgrown or ill-fitting shoes. These facts were gathered by Buntees (R. J. Potvin Co.)

BUT baby will complain in years to come! Right now those infant feet are so soft and malleable they can be twisted, turned, and bent without experiencing acute pain. And, if those feet are cramped in outgrown shoes, don't expect baby to tell!

That's where the importance of expert shoe fitting comes into play. The alert shoeman can point out the dire need of frequent size check-ups. That is why we at Stapp's Stores invite you to bring the children in often . . . as often as you like . . . we will gladly check their shoes for size . . . of course there is no obligation whatsovere. For their sake do accept our invitation . . . bring them in for regular check-ups.

But Says Russians Play Politics to Win

Florida Governor Returns Hopeful From Soviet Trip

By JAMES GILLESPY

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, back from a four-week Russian tour, comments chances for world peace are better than he expected but warned that the Russians play politics to win.

Collins compared Russian politicians to the "Old St. Louis Gas House Gang."

"They are all out to win," he said. "They will get by with anything they can but they respect good strong opposition."

"They've got a lot of bluster, a lot of drive, a lot of speed and a determination to win by whatever means they can employ."

Collins, who toured Russia with eight other state governors, said he thought chances for peace were better than he thought before he made the trip.

"I was frankly surprized at the instinctive friendly reception we got from the rank and file of the people," he said. He said the governors went out of their way to talk to people they were not expected to see.

"We found uniformly a warm friendly feeling," he said.

The governor said he talked with officials of the Soviet government, and said he had a hard time getting them to ask him questions. He said he had a harder time getting the officials to admit any shortcomings or problems in government.

Collins said as far as he could tell, the biggest problem was in housing. But he said he felt the people of Russia believed they were better off now than ever before and were not unhappy with the government.

The governors will report on their trip to President Eisenhower in Washington July 31, and Collins will also make a report on the trip to the national governor's conference in Puerto Rico Aug. 2-5.

Collins said one result of the trip was his belief that the United States could re-evaluate its own way of life "with a view on placing emphasis on sound quality instead of frills."

He said he couldn't help but think of the waste in the United States when he saw how frugally the Russian people live.

"You can't help but see," he said, "that a great many things here are superficial and could be eliminated." As examples he noted the high tail fins on automobiles and lots of chrome.

'Blame It on Castro' Popular Reaction

Many Causes to Caribbean Unrest

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

Just as Cuba's Fidel Castro served to dramatize the revolutionary spirit existing in the Caribbean, so it has become the fashion of Caribbean nations where unrest breaks out to blame it all on Castro.

★ ★ ★

Castro is the avowed enemy of the dictatorships of the Dominican Republic and Nicaragua, both of which have been scenes of abortive uprising attempts within the last few months.

But unrest in Latin America is as many-colored as the rainbow and has as many different causes.

In some instances the hand of Moscow is apparent. The Soviet Union is making a strong bid to infiltrate Latin American economies and local Communist parties, both above and below ground, are working hard to extend their influence to the government level. In the Caribbean area this applies particularly to Cuba and Guatemala.

But the seeds of unrest lie also in these statistics:

Half of the inhabitants of Latin America are illiterate. Though two out of three make their living from the land, only five per cent of the land is cultivated. Farm productivity per man hour is less than one fifth that of the U.S.

Average food consumption is about one fifth less than in the U.S., and in some countries, one per cent of the population control 20 per cent of the wealth.

The 1950 census for Honduras, showed that only about 30 per cent of the population had shoes.

In April of this year, some 80 men made an invasion attempt on the coast of Panama. Their leader reportedly was Dr. Roberto Arias, former Panamanian ambassador to Britain and the case received initial attention because Arias' wife, famed British Ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn, was clapped into jail by the Panamanians.

Later, the Panamanian government quoted some of the captured invaders as saying they had set sail from Cuba.

The "invasion" later was dismissed as a quarrel among Panama's traditionally ruling families, and Cuba largely was absolved.

In mid-June a 112-man air borne force attempted an uprising in Nicaragua. President Luis Somoza promptly acused Castro of masterminding a "cold-blooded" plan to upset the Nicaraguan government. His brother, army chief of staff Gen. Anastasio Somoza said he was braced for "Communist" attacks in the future.

This month, a second attempt in the last six months was made against the government of Honduras. This, too, was dismissed as a strictly Honduran affair, led by former army chief of staff Col. Armando Velasquez Cerrato. July marked the fifth such attempt by Velasquez Cerrato in four years.

But whatever the cause, whether uprisings are born from within or without, the Caribbean is seething with unrest as it has not for more than 20 years.

Next month, in Santiago, Chile, foreign ministers of 21 American states will meet to study the broad problems of "unrest in the Caribbean."

It will be the most important meeting of the OAS in its 11 years, and its problems the most delicate.

Aside from unrest brought on by poverty and economic imbalances, there will be both old and new jealousies. Cuba and Venezuela will be arrayed against the Dominican Republic, and, to a lesser extent, against Nicaragua. And, sitting at the same table, will be such as Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras with burning memories of their own vest-pocket border wars.

Army's Hunter Missile Reported Ready for Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Army is reported to be readying a full scale test of its Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile.

The test probably will be staged within the next 60 days at White Sands Proving Ground, N.M. The Los Angeles Times said if the test is satisfactory, the Zeus will be hurled later from mid-Pacific island launchers against long range ballistic missiles from Vandenberg Air Force Base.

The Zeus is the only missile of its design now in advance stage of development in the United States.

American Workers Say Russians Are Inefficient

FLORAL PARK, N.Y. (AP)— Two American workers, who have just completed a three-week job in Moscow, report they found things pretty inefficient.

Russian workers "are 20 years behind the times, they don't even know what a union is," according to John Petrocelli, a 28-year-old carpenter.

He and George Hartman, 38, a painter, were among five Americans who worked on construction of a $13,000 house at the U.S. exhibition in Moscow.

Hartman and Petrocelli said the Russian workers were lost when they tried to handle such commonplace tools as a stapling gun and a ratchet brace and bit.

"We had them try to help us out," said Hartman, "but the windup was that we had to end up doing it ourselves."

Hartman said two American electricians could have done the wiring job in four hours. It took the Russians five days.

Petrocelli said the workers were friendly, "and they tried their best to help you. But they were very reserved, and I had the feeling that they thought I was a visitor from outer space."

Instead of unions in the building trades, he said, "there seems to be a kind of labor trust which handles all the workers. They send a group of men to do a job, and if they lack a particular type of worker, say a plumber, the whole job can get tied up."

Sen. Morse Withdraws From Primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) Tuesday withdrew himself from consideration as a Democratic candidate in Oregon's presidential primary. At the same time he put several possibilities on the spot to declare their intentions.

Oregon law leaves it to the discretion of the secretary of state to place prominently mentioned names on the ballot and it is up to the person involved to submit an affidavit of withdrawl if he does not want to be entered.

Morse filed such an affidavit with the secretary of state this week, and, in an accompanying letter, suggested several whose names should appear.

The Democratic ballot, he said, should include at least the names of Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Stuart Symington (D-Mo), Adlai Stevenson and governors Pat Brown of California, Robert Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

King Saud Stops in Italy

VENICE, Italy (AP) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia arrived Tuesday on his way to a West German SPA. With him on the Greek liner Adriatiki were four of his sons, 12 wives and a score of bodyguards.

Red Trackmen Award Medal to Dillon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven Soviet athletes encountered an American arch foe in the cold war Tuesday. The result was smiles and handshakes all around.

The Russians were members of the Soviet track team who competed against a U. S. team in Philadelphia last weekend. They paid a call on C. Douglas Dillon, acting Secretary of State and chief architect of U. S. economic measures against Red influences in underdeveloped areas.

The athletes presented him with a small medal. The nature of the medal was not disclosed.

Dillon congratulated the visitors on "your fine performance" and said the United States feels strongly that exchanges of visits help promote friendship between countries.

Navy Planning Some More Monkey Business

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Navy plans to develop a breed of space monkeys from Baker, the famous squirrel monkey who survived the Jupiter missile flight.

Dr. Donald Stulken, Navy physiologist, said Monday the service wants to breed Baker to see if her offspring will e even more adaptable to space travel.

Philippines Meet 1st in Asia

Signs of World Conflicts at Boy Scout Jamboree

MOUNT MAKILING, Philippines (AP)—Some quiet reminders of the sterner outside world appear amid the atmosphere of brotherhood here where boys from 51 nations are gathered for the first World Boy Scout Jamboree ever held in Asia.

Jews chat with turbaned Arabs and blacks eat with whites in the multi-nation campsites spread over the rolling mountainside "Jamboree City" south of Manila.

But there are also signs of world conflicts, old and new.

Even the youngest of the scouts in the big Japanese delegation, for example, might pause for thought at a banner in a Philippine camp which says "Remember Pearl Harbor." Another display by the delegation from Bataan province stresses the war theme and includes quotes from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

World scouting leaders say they would like to hold the next jamboree in the Middle East, possibly in the United Arab Republic. But, because the Israeli delegation would not or could not attend, they say chances are very dim.

There are 28 scouts in exile who march proudly in parades and move among 12,000 scouts gathered here. They are from Communist countries where the scouting movement is banned. Twenty-five belong to the Council of Scout Associations in Exile. They include Hungarians, Russians, Lithuanians and Ukrainians, now living mostly in the United States, Britain and Australia.

The other three are Poles, not associated with the council but working in cooperation with it.

TV Viewer Shoots Self

DETROIT (AP)—Another overconfident fan of television westerns is recovering from a gunshot wound. Gary Glenn Miller, 22, told his wife he could beat a TV cowboy to the draw. But he pulled the trigger of his .22 revolver too soon and shot himself in the right thigh Monday night.

More trucks in the U. S. are used for milk distribution — from farms to processors to consumers — than for any other single commodity.

He Pushes Car With Wife, Mother-in-Law Over Cliff

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A husband who sent a car with his wife and mother-in-law in it over a 450-foot cliff was under psychiatric observation today in the prison ward of General Hospital.

"I can't understand why he would do this," his wife sobbed Monday as police tied up Robert J. Briggs, 39, a building contractor, at the scene. Officers reported he was muttering incoherently and had tried to beat the women over the head with rocks and a pickaxe when the car stopped part way down the lonely canyon dropoff.

The wife, Norma, 34, and her mother, Mary D. Nilson, 65, suffered only cuts and bruises. Police said the women reported no previous trouble with Briggs.

Mrs. Briggs said her husband offered to take them for a ride along rustic Canyon Road, a ride they had taken many times before.

★ ★ ★

At the cliff, she said her husband complained the engine was overheating. He got out, looked under the hood and then, without warning, reached inside and pushed the drive button in the automatic push-button transmission.

Hatcheries Delinquent in Chick Production

LANSING (UPI) — Commercial hatcheries aren't turning out the chicks they did a year ago, according to the federal-state crop reporting service.

★ ★ ★

Hatcheries produced about 1,320,000 chicks in June, about two-thirds as many as produced in June a year ago. That total hatch for the first half of 1959 is about 14 per cent below the comparable period for 1958, the service said.

Joe Louis Beats Skins for New Record Firm

★ ★ ★

The onetime Brown Bomber from Detroit disclosed today that he is a partner in Triangle Records. His associates are songwriter Cecil (Count) Carter and Los Angeles businessman bill Graham.

Joe plans a lot of traveling to help promote the records.

The ex-heavyweight champion now lives here. He was married last March to Martha Malone Jefferson, Los Angeles criminal laywer.

Astor III Contests Will of Half-Brother Vincent

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—John Jacob Astor III today challenged an eight counts the will of his half brother, Vincent Astor.

The will left Vincent's estate, estimated at more than 100 million dollars, to his widow and a charitable foundation he set up to further progress of human life. The document didn't mention John Jacob.

John Jacob filed eight objections to the document in Dutchess County Surrogate's Court and asked a jury trial.

The objection paper said the "instrument" was not the last will and testament of Vincent Astor, and declared he did not have testamentary capacity when the purported will was executed.

"Captain Astor was mentally ill when the paper was executed," John Jacob claimed, adding "at the time of the execution of the paper he was suffering from senility. At the time of the execution of the paper he was suffering from advanced arterio-sclerosis and was thereby rendered mentally dificient and totally lacking in testamentary capacity. He was incompetent to make a will."

★ ★ ★

John Jacob also claimed "the purported will was not duly executed as required by law. The paper offered for probate was not freely or voluntarily executed but was caused and procured by the improper conduct and undue influence of Brooke Russell Astor (the widow), Luke B. Lockwood and Allan W. Betts."

Each of the Astor half-brothers reputedly received 70 million dollars from the estate of their father, Col. John Jacob Astor who died in the sinking of the Titantic.

Foreign currency spent in Israel in 1958 totaled 12 million dollars. This is about twice as much as was spent in 1957.

E. Germany Boss Ulbricht Is Dangerous

Threat of War Does Exist

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Frank H. Bartholomew, president of United Press International, said Tuesday that the biggest "real threat of war" exists in the person of the Communist boss of East Germany.

Bartholomew said that on a recent trip to Russia he had found no indication of war preparations. There were no air-raid shelters in Moscow and no air-raid sirens, he said.

"There has never been an air-raid drill," he said. "Nothing in the press indicates that war is expected. The people are told that they will be successful in completing the 7 year plan and the government will be successful in preventing war.

"My own personal opinion, then, is that we are observing the preparation of the greatest military bluff in the span of written international history."

Bartholomew said, however, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Los Angeles Advertising Club, that "a real threat of war does exist."

"I think it lies in the person of Walter Ulbricht, secretary of the Communist party of East Germany and the Communist boss of that unfortunate section of his nation."

Bartholomew interviewed Ulbricht in his "moth-eaten" East German empire and said he was a curious fellow, about whom westerners should know as much as possible, "because he may loom of increasing importance in our scheme of things ahead."

"Don't take your eye off that little man with the bitter, sarcastic look and the itchy trigger-finger," he warned.

Bartholomew described Ulbricht as a German who has lived in the Soviet Union so long he speaks German with a Russian accent.

Ulbricht obviously regards his present position in East Berlin as "next to impossible," Bartholomew said. East Berlin is shabby while West Berlin is prosperous, he said, and Ulbricht can not hold the East Germans under his thumb forever with promises of a better life when they can take a subway ride to the west and see "what democracy really does."

"Hence Ulbricht knows the only way he can perpetuate himself and his crew is with the armed might of the USSR immediately behind him, or by demolishing West Germany and digesting it into his own motheaten empire," Bartholomew said.

"Therefore, all evidence points to the fact that Ulbricht wants trouble and is constantly urging upon the Kremlin that he be allowed to bring the situation to a head."

Bartholomew said it was his "educated guess" that a summit conference would result from the foreign ministers' meeting now under way in Geneva. He said it probably would result in an agreement to keep the status quo in Germany for a few years.

"That might be satisfactory to everybody but Ulbricht," he said. ". . . he could not survive a two-year moratorium, and I think that alternatives are very much in his mind at this moment."

Khrushchev Invites Kassem to Russia

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has invited Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem to pay a state visit to the Soviet Union, Baghdad radio said Tuesday.

The radio said Deputy Premier Vassi Kuznetsov, who led the Soviet delegation to the celebrations of Iraq's July 14 revolution, made the announcement at a Baghdad news conference. The radio did not say whether Kassem had accepted.

Kuznetsov also said the Soviet government would consider supplying Iraq with atomic weapons should Iraq ask for them.

Plastic Bags Are Deadly to Children

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Our technological age is constantly making daily life easier and pleasanter, but sometimes an improvement brings with it unexpected dangers.

★ ★ ★

It is self-evident that power mowers carry with them the possible danger of getting a foot or a hand injured. Almost all power tools are made with safety devices built into them, and customers are warned to avoid misuses which might result in accidental injury.

But that plastic bags could be dangerous comes as a tragic surprise.

Dry cleaners recently began to deliver cleaned clothing covered with large plastic bags. These bags are certainly practical for the purpose for which they were designed.

They are light in weight, their transparency makes the contents visible without destroying the covering. The plastic is airtight, it is dirt and moisture proof. Because of their many advantages the dry cleaning industry is rapidly adopting such bags as routine packaging.

But these clear, thin, transparent bags must not be given to a child to play with. That child may put the bag over his head. If he does, the plastic will very likely cling to his head and body and cut off all circulation of air

The child, realizing he cannot breathe, begins to claw at the bag. The plastic, however, is tough and doesn't tear; the more the child pulls at it, the closer it clings to the skin. The child becomes terrified, struggles and screams.

His violent exertions rapidly use up the last vestiges of air inside the bag. In a few moments the child suffocates and, unless someone is right there to pull the bag from his head, he sinks into a coma and soon dies.

A good many such terrible tragedies have been reported in the last few months. There have been reports of mothers using this material as a cover over a crib mattress.

Who could guess that such an attractive harmless-looking object has within it the power to do so much harm so very quickly?

Nevertheless such is the case and all parents need to be warned to keep plastic bags away from their children.

Other industries beside dry cleaning have been using plastic bags to cover their merchandise — bags large enough to do damage to children. Pillows, curtains, blankets are more and more being marketed in plastic bags.

The industries involved have been as horrified as the general public to learn of the occasional death caused by their plastic bags.

Doubtless before long each bag will carry some warning message telling people not to let children put these bags over their heads, but in the meantime parents should guard against possible risks involved in letting a child play with a plastic bag large enough to go over his head.

The safest practice is to tie the bags in a knot and throw them away immediately after delivery.

Want a Locomotive?

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A freight office had trouble getting rid of an item which was unclaimed because it was damaged in transit. It was a full-sized locomotive.

An average dairy cow in the U. S. produces 200 pounds of butterfat a year but some produce up to 600 pounds.

Yearly Meeting of Townsends Opens to 300

On hand for the convention was 93-year-old Dr. Francis Townsend, who founded the movement for pensions for elderly people in the 1930's.

Dr. Townsend missed the opening of the convention. He was uptown buying new frames for his glasses which he said had been bothering him. His son, R. C. Townsend, was temporary chairman.

Most of the delegates were elderly persons.

Dr. Townsend said his movement helped the social security system. But he added that "millions of old people who have given 40 or 50 years service to the nation still find themselves stranded in their old age, because of sickness or other causes."

★ ★ ★

The present Townsend plan calls for a gross receipts tax of 2 per cent on all income of more than $250 a month. The revenue would provide an income estimated at between $130 and $150 a month for each person more than 60 years old.

There were only about 12,000 students in U. S. colleges in 1850 and now the number of three million is anticipated in a short time.

Propose Fleet of Mercy Ships

4 Congressmen Suggest Use of 'Mothball' Group to Do Relief Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four members of Congress Tuesday proposed legislation to set up a "great white fleet" of mercy ships and planes fitted out for health and relief work in underdeveloped areas of the world.

★ ★ ★

They offered resolutions in both the Senate and House calling on President Eisenhower to remove ships and planes from the nation's vast "mothball" fleet to create the new force.

Sponsoring the proposal were Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) and George D. Aiken (R-Vt) and Reps. Ed Edmondson (D-Okla) and William H. Bates (R-Mass).

Humphrey estimated a small mercy fleet "task group" of four or five ships could be operated for $5,000,000 to $7,500,000 a year, plus costs of medical and teaching personnel and supplies.

★ ★ ★

The "mercy fleet," he said, could be supported logistically by the armed forces abroad. He proposed that foreign currencies acquired for U.S. use abroad through various aid, and surplus food sale programs could be used to buy supplies for the fleet.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, said the "mercy fleet" could be "designed from the keel up to deal with disasters." It also could do public health and relief work in overseas areas, he said.

The pattern already has been set, he said, by the "project hope" undertaking, a privately-financed movement which will send a medical mission to southeast Asia next January in a former navy hospital ship.

About three million Americans are taking special courses for adults provided by public school systems.

Communists Release Polish Church Leader

WARSAW (UPI) — Joseph Naumiak, the leader of the Church of Christ in Poland, has been released from prison with a six months suspended sentence, it is reported.

Communist authorities had warned Naumiak that he could not carry on his church activities unless his organization became affiliated with the United Evangelical (Lutheran) Church of Poland. He refused to affiliate and was arrested for leading an unauthorized organization.

There's Variety in Summer Squash

New neighbors can be interesting, but there's nothing quite so comforting as having old friends come back. Especially when they're such a nice, big, easy-going family as the Summer Squash family.

But don't be shocked to learn that they're a bunch of gay deceivers!

It's hard to think of a vegetable that's easier to cook than summer squash. Simply cut it into pieces that will be easy to serve; boil the pieces in lightly salted water for a few minutes. No need to peel, because the skin is so tender.

Some people feel a squash isn't a squash unless it has a large body and a long neck. Crookneck is a variety that meets this requirement. It has a more dignified cousin, appropriately called Straightneck.

A favorite of many people is the "green squash that looks something like a cucumber." This is the Zucchini (Zoo-KEEny). It has a large relative, similar in shape and color, named Cocozelle. More distantly related are the White and Yellow Marrow squashes. They, too, are long and slender.

★ ★ ★

After knowing the Summer Squash family so well, for so long, finding them so mild and amiable, you'll forgive their time-honored deception. They're not squash at all. They're pumpkins!

Pineapple Chocolate Frosting Is Different

Are you planning a special dessert for Sunday? Here's a festive frosting for your favorite loaf cake (made with a mix) that will finish the meal with a flourish.

Mix ½ cup of undrained crushed pineapple, 1 cup of sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and bring to a boil. Boil for 5 minutes, stirring continuously. Remove from heat and add ⅔ cup of semi-sweet chocolate bits, 1½ cups of miniature marshmallows and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Continue stirring until frosting is of spreading consistency. Pour frosting on cake all at one time and spread evenly over top.

Note to carvers: insert the carving fork in the meat or poultry you are slicing so that its position need not be changed frequently.

Chemists Work to Save Food Industry Waste

We are all familiar now with the chemically treated coatings which insure safety in keeping food fresh and pure. Tin and paper cartons are taken for granted in this regard. It is only fairly recently, however, that ply-wood containers for strawberries and oranges have received the same treatment.

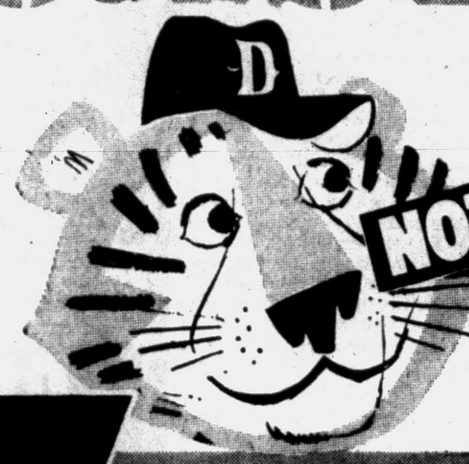

Chemists of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry discovered just the right formula for that also. An appreciable saving of food has been effected by thus preventing the spread of fungi from the wooden containers to the food.

Why Cakes Fail

There are four reasons why a butter-type cake may fall in the center: too much fat or sugar; too much baking powder or other leavening; too slow an oven; not baked long enough.

Biscuits Turn Into Crusty French Loaf

Barbecue chefs looking for new ideas to try on the charcoal grill need look no farther than the dairy case in their favorite grocery stores. Those handy refrigerated biscuits turn one of the tastiest tricks of the cookout season.

This trick turns two packages of biscuits into a lovely, crusty loaf of French bread by the simple device of baking them all in a row. This step can be done early on barbecue day, or many days ahead if you have a freezer.

When the loaf appears at the grill, wrapped in foil, it gets a ten-minute reheating right over the glowing coals. Cheese, onion, or garlic flavorings can be added, as per directions below, but plain or fancy—it's just right with the steaks and salad.

Quick French Bread

Open 2 cans refrigerated biscuits; place them on edge on ungreased baking sheet, pressing together slightly and pinching ends into a long loaf. If desired, brush with egg white.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 40 minutes until crust is a deep golden brown. Break loaf into sections, going almost to bottom crust. (Or cool completely and slice.) Spread with butter or margarine. Wrap in aluminum foil. Loaf may be baked ahead of time and frozen.

Reheat foil-wrapped loaf over glowing coals, turning occasionally, for about 10 minutes.

For Garlic or Onion Loaf: Substitute garlic or onion butter for butter.

For Cheese or Seed-Topped Loaf: Before baking, sprinkle loaf with Parmesan cheese or with sesame or other seed.

Well Dressed Fish

Best Steaks Thick Cook by Broiling

One broiled steak can serve the whole family, if the family is not too large and if the steak is sirloin. For broiling, buy one that grades U.S. Choice or Prime suggests the MSU Marketing Agent.

Figure ¼ to two-thirds pounds of sirloin steak for each serving depending upon your family's appetite. Have the steak cut at least an inch thick, or better yet, 1½ to 2 inches thick.

If the steak is 1½ inches thick, place it on a broiler rack 3 or 4 inches from the heat and allow about 15 minutes cooking time for rare meat, 25 minutes for well-done meat.

If you are frying cut-up young turkey (about four pounds ready-to-cook weight) you'll need to count on the bird taking about an hour in the skillet.

Creamy Gelatin Rings

In a small saucepan soften 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup of water or fruit juice. Place the pan over a very low gas flame and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Mash 2 cups of cottage cheese, add ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, a dash of tobasco and ¼ cup of milk. Turn into a ring mold and chill several hours in the gas refrigerator. Unmold and fill with sliced peaches tossed with honey and a little sherry wine.

Wheat Farmers at Polls Tomorrow

Only Minority Can Vote

LANSING (AP) — Michigan wheat farmers will join with those in the rest of the nation tomorrow in voting on whether fines for overplanting shall be continued.

But, only 20,000 of Michigan's 140,000 farms are eligible to vote.

It was a protest against inability to vote which touched off former Dowagiac farmer Stanley Yankus' rebellion against federal restrictions.

A top state official who doubles as a farmer has also scored the disenfranchisement of the small farmer.

If two-thirds of the nation's eligible farmers mark their ballots "yes":

1. Marketing quotas will remain in effect for the 1960 crop.
2. Farmers exceeding their quotas will pay heavy penalties.
3. Those who comply with acreage allotments will be eligible for price support at 75 per cent of parity—$1.78 per bushel.

If more than one-third vote "no":

1. Marketing quotas and penalties will be abolished.
2. Acreage allotments will remain in effect.
3. Farmers who comply with the allotments will be eligible for price support at 50 per cent of parity—$1.19 per bushel.

At present, a farmer can plant up to 15 acres without a penalty. But, he is denied price support if 15 acres is above his allotment.

He is denied a vote if he has an allotment of less than 15 acres unless he states he plans to overplant and pay the penalty.

However, his vote can be thrown out if poll officials "have reason to believe he is prevaricating," reports Clarence Prentice, state administrator for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office (ASC).

Yankus cited his inability to vote in wheat elections as a basic reason for his decision to move to Australia.

"Actually, Yankus was eligible to vote and his vote would have been counted," says Edwin J. Lunde, ASC program specialist. "He could state truthfully that he planned to harvest more than the 15-acre minimum."

One quirk of the law is that the number of votes from an eligible farm is unlimited. Thus, a big wheat farmer can vote along with his wife, minor children and hired hands by making them partners.

"The real inequity is that the only people who can vote on wheat allotments are those who benefit from them.

"That doesn't seem to be the American way of doing things. The whole thing is unjust and unfair."

But, he can't vote because he rents land on several small farms none of which has a 15-acre allotment.

"It doesn't seem fair to disenfranchise 85 per cent of the wheat growers just because they are not big operators," says Van Bonn.

"If marketing quotas and penalties were removed, the result would be $1 wheat," Sawyer says. "The big operators would hire cheap help and try to grow wheat even at that price."

The annual quota vote was installed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in 1940, suspended during World War II, and then reinstated in 1953.

Michigan farmers vote at various polls designated by county ASC committees with a trio of responsible farmers overseeing the election at each poll.

In 1954 and 1955, the state's wheat growers gave the proposition less than the two-third favorable vote required for continuance of quotas in the next crop-year. But, their negative action was overridden by the combined votes of farmers in the several states.

★ ★ ★

Expect Big Yield of State Wheat

Should Be Second Best on Record, Says Crop Reporting Service

LANSING (AP) — Michigan wheat yields this year are expected to be the second best on record, the federal-state crop reporting service has announced.

Yields still were forecast at below last year's high. Hessian fly damage, winter injury, rusts, root rot and lodging were cited as some of the factors cutting into the crop.

Below normal rains enabled farmers to make good progress with wheat combining earlier this week. About 15 per cent of the acreage was harvested and some southern counties had half the acreage combined.

Winter barley combining was well under way in southern Michigan. About 60 per cent of the acreage was combined last week.

A few fields of oats already had been combined. Most farmers were planning to get into the full swing of the oat harvest this week.

★ ★ ★

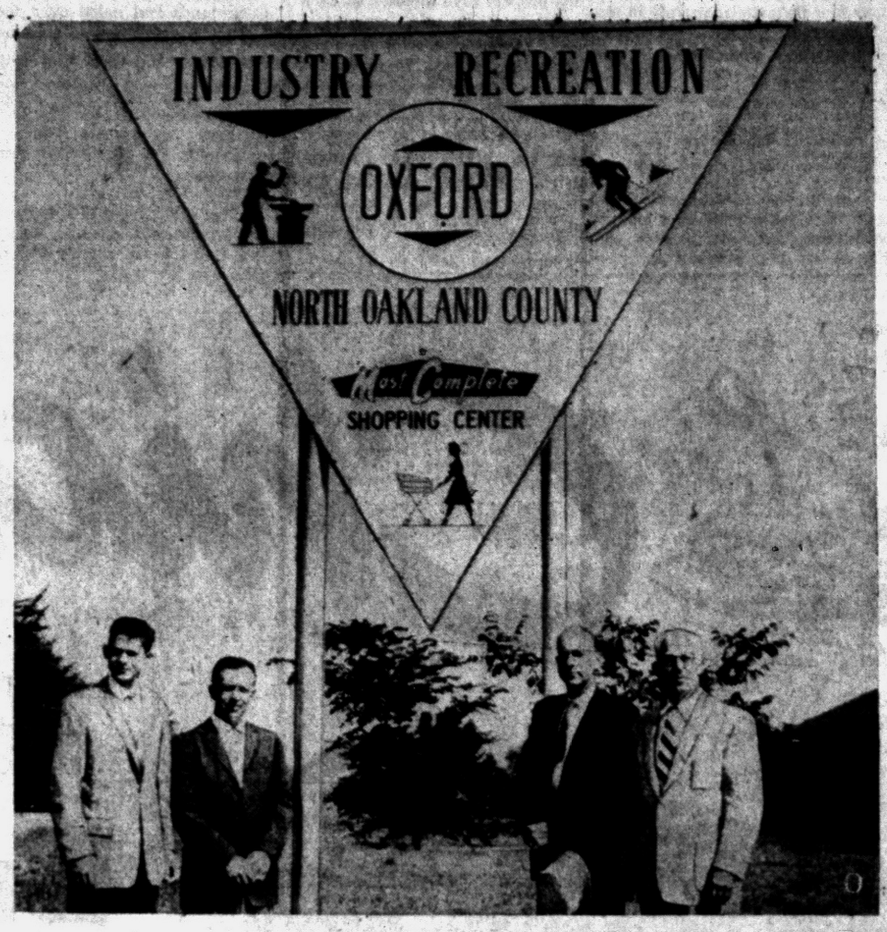

Oat yields were expected to be below a year ago because of unfavorable spring weather.

★ ★ ★

Nearly all sections of southern Michigan needed rain to build up soil moisture supplies for crop growth. Pastures were short and second growth hay was slow.

Overall corn prospects were good and yields were expected to be second only to last year's record.

Oxford C. of C. Sets Drive to Attract Major Businesses

WELCOMING SIGN — This huge sign, which is about 15 feet high and eight feet wide, has been erected on M24 at the south entrance to the village of Oxford. A similar one will be put up soon at the north end of town. Representatives of the organizations responsible for the idea and purchase of the sign were on hand yesterday to see the finished product. They were, from left, Jack Reid, Chamber of Commerce president; William L. Sisty, Lions Club president; Wayne Andreae, Rotary Club president; and Edmund Unger, village president pro-tem. The sign will have lattice work below with the organization emblems attached in the near future.

Firm Offering Industrial Site

Future Residential Area Proposed East of the Development

OXFORD — The Oxford Chamber of Commerce today made public plans for an industrial center and park designed to attract major business firm to the village.

American Aggregates Corp., largest company in the Oxford area, has given the C. of C. authorization to proceed with a drive to interest industry in parcels of land on the firm's 35 to 37-acre site at the southeast end of town.

The company has developed a former gravel pit east of the proposed center property as a future residential area. Features include gently sloped, grass-covered hills and a man-made lake in the center.

According to present plans, a "buffer zone," like a boulevard with poplar trees, will be created between the industrial center and the homesites.

Jack Reid, C. of C. president, said all of the property is within the village limits.

"The proposed industrial development is located in a beautiful area on a major railroad and in close proximity to Detroit. There is also an adequate labor supply available," said Reid.

WORKING AGREEMENT

The local C. of C. has entered into a working agreement with American Aggregates Corp. to stimulate interest in the industrial center.

In a letter to the C. of C., F. D. Coppock, chairman of the company's Board of Directors, suggested that a roadway be established on the east side of the 600-foot strip at the rear of the buildings.

The corporation will draw a map showing its ideas and suggestions for development of the industrial property for C. of C. use. It will include proposed set-backs for the buildings and other requirements, Reid said.

Oldsters Enjoy 'Days in the Sun'

By LEE WINBORN

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Two hundred and four men and women between 65 and 95 years of age are having their "days in the sun" this week at the Salvation Army Camp on the north shore of Lakeville Lake.

The "Golden Agers," as they are called, live for the rest of the year in crowded cities and look forward to their one-week stay in the country.

For the most part, guests at the camp this week ar from Detroit and their camp expenses are met by the United Fund. Others from Saginaw, Port Huron and Owosso and one from Alpena pay a nominal fee, $14, for their vacation.

Camp director is Mrs. Lt. Col. J. Clyde Cox of Detroit. She has 32 people, including college students, on her staff.

The week-long program is designed to appeal to all campers, Mrs. Cox said. There are activities going on all the time, but if people would rather just sit and look at the picturesque landscape, that is permissible, too.

The campers all congregate on the "village green" the first thing in the morning for the flag-raising ceremony. They have breakfast — and their other meals, too — in the main dining room which seats them all at once.

During the day, they may busy themselves with handicraft, basket weaving or other similar work with their hands. They also may play card games or checkers on the picnic tables set up under the trees overlooking the lake.

There are shuffleboard courts and a large, attractive swimming pool, lighted at night, which is a place that draws many of the guests, although few are active swimmers.

The pool, has cement pillars topped with planters rising above the water level. The filigreed base of each planter contains lights which are lit at night casting interesting shadows on the water.

A special program is planned for each evening during the week, Mrs. Cox said. The first night the staff put on a welcoming show, the next night a water carnival. Also planned were a nickelodion and a county fair plus a movie for Friday night. All are held in the recreation building.

Mrs. Cox said the "Golden Agers" have filled the camp to overflowing this year with the Kiwanis and recreation buildings doing double duty as sleeping quarters, too. There are 17 cabins which sleep about five on each side, she said.

The camp is open for eight weeks this year. Included among the groups who make use of the facilities for a week at a time are mothers and their children who otherwise would not get a vacation at all during the year. Thirty members of such a group were there from Pontiac last week.

Three are four weeks scheduled for mothers and children, one for the oldsters and three for youth groups. The latter category includes music groups, Girl Guards (analagous to the Girl Scouts in the Salvation Army), Junior Girl Guards or Sunbeams and Boy Scouts.

Speaking of the present group, Mrs. Cox said the formula which shapes the program is, "We feed them well and give them something to do with their hands and we have a happy camp."

The camp has been in operation for about three decades, and each year innovations are added to accommodate more campers and to make their stay in the country one which they will long remember.

ENJOYING VACATION — This group of people, ranging in age from 65 to 95 years, are but a few of the 204 "Golden Agers" spending a week at the Salvation Army Camp at the north end of Lakeville Lake in Addison Township. Most of the campers are from Detroit.

Cub Pack 8, Families Attend Honors Picnic

Approximately fifty boys from Cub Scout Pack 8 and their families attended a family picnic Monday night.

Lion badges were presented to Norman Harper and Roger Smith. Tommy Phillips received a Lion badge, one gold and four silver arrows. Norman Harper and Roger Smith were given Scout handbooks and advanced into the Webelos den.

Orion Township Sets Country Fair for Saturday

ORION TOWNSHIP — The grounds of St Mary's In-The-Hills Episcopal Church on Joslyn at Greenshield road will be the setting Saturday for a Country Fair beginning at 10 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Included among the attractions will be pony rides, a merry-go-round, special games and prizes. There will be a teenage record booth, and hot dogs and cold drinks will be served.

★ ★ ★

The white elephant booth will feature "next to new" clothes, hats and jewelry. Home baked goods, gifts and antiques also will be offered for sale.

A home-baked ham dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m.

★ ★ ★

A grand prize will be offered to the Brownie troop or Cub Scout pack bringing the most parents to the fair.

In case of rain, the event will be postponed one week.

Rush to Phones at Metamora

Residents Stay Awake to Try Out New Dial Phone System

METAMORA — After an initial rush by area residents to try out Metamora's new direct dial telephone system early Sunday morning when it was innovated, usage has dropped back to near normal, according to Carl D. Lamphier, district manager for the General Telephone Co.

Phone company officials described the operation as "smooth and successful" yesterday.

Preparations for the changeover began on schedule at 1:50 a.m. Sunday when toll operators began accepting long distance calls on a delayed basis.

Also, local operators began accepting only emergency local calls. Promptly at 2:01 a.m. the lines were cleared and workmen began pulling plugs and cutting cables to throw the entire system of about 350 phones over to automatic dial operations.

As various sections of the village were converted to the dial system, the central office switching equipment began to click as subscribers rushed calls through to see how the new system worked, Lamphier said.

"After the first wave of calls, there was a lull during the rest of the before-dawn hours," he noted "But early risers started another avalanche of calls as dawn broke over the community."

Cattle Swim Helplessly in Flooded Area of India

BOMBAY (AP)—Fifty thousand head of cattle were reported swimming helplessly today in flooded areas of the Kutch peninsula of northwest India. Several hundred herdsmen were said to have taken refuge in treetops.

Twenty-two inches of rain fell in two days in the area, compared with an average annual rainfall of 15 inches. The floods cover 600 square miles of the peninsula.

Area Sculptor Creates Novel Play Equipment

Working on his own time and using reinforced concrete, he designed wall sections two and a half inches thick and five feet tall, pierced with holes of various sizes.

Resembling huge slices of Swiss cheese in form, the concrete sections provide a permanent playground installation. Each is cast in a solid color—yellow, red, brown, green and other earth hues.

Miller's "brave new world" of concrete play forms is being erected in a naval housing development near Kinston, N. C. The mold he designed was shipped to North Carolina and cast there.

"The concrete is handled in the same way as in the construction of a septic tank. All the commercial equipment is available but nobody has really utilized it because of the complexity of developing a mold system," he explains.

Why did Miller turn from specific sculptural problems to designing playground forms?

"I wanted to give city children a take-off point for their imaginations," he says. "I grew up in the country and a cave or clump of bushes was a whole world where I could play. City children today don't have ready access to wooded areas. I decided to do something about it.

"In confined play areas children are mostly limited to use of swings and slides for which they have to wait their turn. I thought what was especially needed was a chance for kids to play together creatively," he said.

Ike to Break Ground for His Library

CHICAGO (UPI)—President Eisenhower will break ground Oct. 15 in his boyhood home of Abilene, Kan. for a new library which will house his military and presidential papers for posterity.

Benjamin F. Fairless, former board chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp., announced at a luncheon yesterday that the President plans to return to Abilene Oct. 13 for the ceremonies.

Fairless also revealed that a portion of the personal papers of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would be given to the library.

One million of the three million dollars needed to erect the structure has already been raised by public donation, he said.

Complete Addition to Bloomfield Library

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Work on the new adult reading room addition to the West Acres Branch of the West Bloomfield Township Library has been completed and it is ready for use today.

The room features modern lighting fixtures in an area removed from the children's section of the library and contains magazines as well as adult fiction and non-fiction books.

Book circulation from the library branch located at 7200 Cedar Bank Rd. is expanding rapidly, according to Mrs. Joel Warren, who is in charge of publicity. "Annual circulation at the branch in the fiscal year just completed reached 11,594 as compared to 4,718 four years ago," she said.

Pass Pay Hikes for Police, Fire Bureau Staffs

SOUTHFIELD — The City Council here has increased the yearly salary of its administrator and given pay hikes to all members of the police and fire departments.

City Administrator Robert J. McNutt was given an increase of $1,000, bringing his salary up to $15,000 a year.

The 23-man force of the fire department will receive annual raises ranging from $156 for captain and chief to $130 for its four sergeants and one lieutenant and $104 for the remaining members who are either mechanics of firemen.

The captain of police will receive an increase of $364, the one lieutenant will get a hike of $156; four sergeants, $130 and 15 patrolman, $104 annually.

All pay hikes will be retroactive to July 1, the council agreed.

ROCHESTER'S MAIN STREET — This is an aerial view looking north on Rochester's Main street. It shows this progressive community's business district with its modern store fronts, wide thoroughfare and space for parking behind a number of the buildings. It is expected that Rochester will become an even more thriving community with the influx of students and faculty at nearby Michigan State University Oakland which is scheduled to open this fall. This is another in a series of aerial photos appering in The Pontiac Press.

Summer Meat Dishes Can Be Different

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

To most people a two-inch steak is the best choice of meat. But let's face it! Very few of us get that choice often. Most of the time we put up with less expensive meats. And enjoy them too.

★ ★ ★

Summer time is no time to let up on the protein part of the family's food. We may not need such hearty foods as thick soups and stews.

But children and many adults are as active in summer, if not more so, than in cold weather. Appetites can be enormous after a day of baseball, golf or swimming.

When your budget doesn't run to the two-inch steaks, buy a well fatted flank steak, weighing about 2 pounds. Let it stand at least an hour in a flavorful marinade in the refrigerator.

Grilled Flank Steak

1 whole flank steak, about 2 pounds
1 large onion, minced
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Strip fat from steak. Combine remaining ingredients and spread half the mixture evenly over one side of the flank steak. Place prepared side down in a shallow pan or on foil. Spread meat with remaining onion mixture and let stand 1 hour.

Grill over hot charcoal or in the broiler. Five minutes on each side will make it medium rare. As it cooks, brush with marinade remaining in pan. To serve, cut on the diagonal to provide thick juicy slices. Serves six.

Lamb shoulder is an economical meat buy. In this recipe you make an elegant curry sauce with little effort. The base of it is canned soup. Just the thing for hot sultry days.

Summer Lamb Curry

1 pound diced shoulder of lamb
1 large onion, sliced
1 10½-ounce can condensed cream of celery soup
½ cup milk
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup flaked coconut
1½ tablespoons curry powder
Cooked rice

Cook lamb and onion over medium heat until lamb is browned on all sides. Add condensed soup, milk, lemon juice, coconut and curry powder. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve with rice. Serves four.

★ ★ ★

Another quick meat dish is made with frankfurters. With a tossed salad, iced tea and a fruit dessert, you'll have a summer dinner that's not only good but inexpensive.

E-Z Franks with Corn

¼ cup bacon drippings, butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
2 cans (12 ounces each) whole kernel corn
8 frankfurters

Heat fat in a large skillet and in it lightly brown onion and green pepper. Drain corn and add. Split franks lengthwise, almost but not not quite through; place on top of corn. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes, 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

Cold cuts seem to belong automatically to summer time. Instead of serving them the same way every time, get a little variety into the way you present them.

Cold Cuts Mold

2 cups tomato juice
1 package lime gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
½ cup finely cut celery
1 cup finely chopped summer sausage or bologna

Heat tomato juice, pour over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire and Tabasco sauce. Cool until partially thickened; fold in celery and meat and pour into molds which have been brushed lightly with oil. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Serve on salad greens. 4 servings.

Never boil beef but a very short time — if at all — because if you do the meat will be tough, stringy and dry.

Layer Orange Parfait With Blueberries

Blueberry and Orange Parfait

Combine 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt in a saucepan. Beat in 2 eggs. Gradually blend in 2 cups fresh orange juice. Cook until medium thickness over low heat, stirring constantly. Cool. Stir in ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind.

In the meantime, sprinkle 2 cups fresh blueberries with 2 tablespoons sugar and let stand at least 30 minutes. Spoon alternating layers of custard and blueberries in parfait glasses, beginning with a layer of custard and ending with blueberries.

Make Up Barbecue Sauce Ahead for Weekend

Hot stuff! That's a barbecue sauce for chicken, spareribs or hamburgers for the crowd you invited this weekend! Combine 1 cup unsulphured molasses, 1 cup vinegar, 2 cups prepared mustard, 5 ounces Worcestershire sauce, 3 tablespoons Tobasco and 2 tablespoons bottled brown gravy sauce.

Fresh Poultry Is Perishable, Keep It Cold

Poultry meat will be among your protein choices all summer, so why not check fryers, stewers and turkeys each week suggests the MSU Marketing Agent.

Fresh poultry meat is very perishable. From the time you buy it until the time you use it, keep poultry meat cold. At home, remove the fresh poultry from the store wrap, place it in a dish and cover loosely with waxed paper. This gives air a chance to circulate around the meat and prevents off-odors.

If chicken is cut up for frying or stewing, try to use it within a day. If the chicken is whole, use it within two days if possible.

If you buy frozen poultry, leave it in its original wrap and thaw it in the refrigerator.

New Asparagus Sauce

Heat one cup of water to boiling. Add mixture of 1½ tablespoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon sugar, ¼ tablespoon salt, and a dash of pepper mixed with a little cold water, to the boiling water. Cook over medium heat until thickened and clear. Remove from heat. Add ¼ cup lemon juice. Pour over cooked asparagus.

Keep Shelf Full of Handy Foods

How nice to have a shelf stacked with convenience foods, ready for any emergency.

The "little helpers" in this menu are cans of tender hearted pork and beans with tomato sauce, sliced peaches, and luncheon meat if you like. This brilliant colored and tasting skillet dish, is just right for family or unexpected company . . . and is especially helpful for Sunday Night Suppers.

Serve BEANS AND PEACHES IN SKILLET, in your skillet, perhaps a bright copper one. For crispness, fill your salad bowl with salad greens. Be certain to have lots of hot coffee or tea close at hand, to go with a dessert of cheese and crackers!

Beans and Peaches in Skillet

¼ cup diced cooked ham
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound) pork and beans with tomato sauce
½ cup drained sliced peaches
1 tablespoon brown sugar
Dash ground cloves

In skillet, lightly brown ham in butter. Add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Limeade Cubes

Dilute frozen limeade concentrate according to the directions on the can and freeze some of the drink in your ice-cube trays; add some of the frozen limeade cubes to tall glasses of gingerale. Refreshing!

Breakfast Claimed Most Important

ANN ARBOR—Breakfast is the most important meal of the day say dieticians at The University of Michigan Medical Center.

By breakfast time, the body has gone without food for about nine to twelve hours. The morning meal should furnish one-third to one-fourth of the daily food requirements.

Among the foods recommended for breakfast are: fruits to insure strong blood vessels and healthy gums; cereals, breads and fats for energy; milk for bones and teeth; meats or eggs for body building and repair of tissues; and fats to protect eyes and skin and to help guard against infections.

Spinach Stars as Luncheon Main Dish

Swiss Twist

1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt, nutmeg
2 teaspoons instant onion
¼ cup farina
½ cup well-drained chopped cooked spinach
1 egg (beaten until thick)
1½ cups medium-grated lightly-packed cheddar cheese

Bring milk, butter, salt, a dash of nutmeg and onion to the boiling point; slowly stir in farina. Cook and stir constantly until thick — 3 minutes or longer.

Over low heat mix in the spinach, egg and 1 cup of the cheese; remove from heat. Cool slightly; turn into buttered 8-inch heat-resistant glass pie plate (8½ by 1¼ inches); sprinkle with remaining ½ cup cheese.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve at once. Makes 5 servings.

Note: Cook 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach according to package directions and drain thoroughly; use ½ cup (about half of the spinach) in the above recipe.

Use Boiling Water

Making caramel syrup for custard or some other use? Add boiling rather than cold water to the melted sugar to have as little spattering as possible.

Blend Thawed Berries Into Pineapple Punch

A refreshing punch adds casual coolness on a summer's day. Here's such a festive punch for wedding receptions, showers, anniversaries or a small party for the "teen" crowd in the back yard. Place 2 No. 2 cans of pineapple juice (4½ cups) 1 cup lemon juice and 1 quart of ginger ale in the refrigerator to chill. Partially thaw two one-pound packages of frozen sliced strawberries.

At serving time, place the chilled fruit juices in the punch bowl. Add the strawberries and their syrup; stir to blend thoroughly. Then add the chilled ginger ale and blend. Add a molded block of ice and serve immediately. Makes 3 quarts of punch.

Mitchell to Dig Deeply for Steel Strike Facts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is going beyond mere profits and labor costs in steel strike fact-finding activities.

Eisenhower told his news conference that as his representative Mitchell will look for all of the facts pertinent to the steel wage dispute.

In this, the President said Mitchell even will go beyond profits and labor costs. Eisenhower did not elaborate on this point.

★ ★ ★

Each side has charged in the steel dispute that the other is attempting to bring about an inflationary settlement.

DETROIT (AP)—A truck driver told police he was beaten today while making a delivery to a factory adjoining the strikebound Great Lakes Steel Corp. Plant.

Thomas Myers, 34, of Flat Rock, said a tall, heavy-set man in a blue shirt dragged him from his cab and slugged him on the head. Myers said the man called him a scab and threatened him with more violence "if you try to run picket lines again."

Myers had made a delivery to the E. I. Du Pont du Nemours & Co. plant in Ecorse. He was treated for head cuts at a hospital.

Eisenhower has spoken out time after time against any agreement which would feed inflation.

Eisenhower said that in his role as a fact-finder Mitchell is doing what the law says the secretary of labor must do in any dispute that affects the welfare of the people.

Mitchell's move is without precedent. He said he knows of no other secretary of labor who has acted in a similar manner.

It is expected that the White House will use the information he provides as a basis for deciding whether to invoke the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Under Taft-Hartley, the federal government could issue an 80-day antistrike injunction if necessary. But it was felt this would accomplish little at this time.

Both sides appear to be dug in for a long struggle. Eisenhower reportedly feels that the 80-day cooling-off period would not change their positions although he has not ruled out the possibility of invoking Taft-Hartley.

The United Steelworkers Union strike has idled a half million workers in basic steel and shut down nearly 90 per cent of the nation's steel production. Another 45,500 workers in such allied fields as coal, railroads and trucking also have been idled as a result of the strike.

Vital defense projects, however, have been assured of enough steel to last until September, federal officials reported Tuesday.

The union seeks a 15-cent-hourly annual package increase, claiming that the industry can afford it without raising the price of steel. The industry has refused, claiming that any increase in labor cost would force a price increase, and thus contribute to inflation. Prestrike steel wages averaged $3.10 an hour.

The fact-finding will not interrupt the mediation that has been going on here in an effort to settle the strike. Federal mediators meet again with both sides today.

Both sides said after Mitchell's announcement that they would cooperate with him.

AP Wirephoto

BUT WHAT'S NEXT? — Two unidentified steelworkers leaving the Edgar Thomson Works in Pittsburgh take a look at their last big paychecks until the steel strike ends. This scene was repeated at steel mills across the nation, as workers braced for a financial drought which could come from a prolonged strike.

Jordan, UAR Agree to Restore Relations

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan and the United Arab Republic reportedly have agreed on a plan to restore diplomatic relations, broken off a year ago.

The secretary general of the Arab League, Abdel Khalik Hassouna, told a news conference the plan agreed upon should reopen the frontiers between the two nations soon.

The two nations broke off relations July 20, 1959, after the Iraqi revolution which destroyed that country's monarchy. Iraq's King Faisal, a cousin of Jordan's King Hussein, was killed in the revolt.

Boy, 6, Battered, Burned to Death in Clothes Dryer

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP)—Six-year-old Park S. Fisher Jr. liked to turn things on, his father recalls.

Tuesday the elder Fisher found his son battered and burned to death in an electric dryer in the laundry room of the Fisher home in nearby Denver.

Dr. Edward J. Kowalewski, deputy coroner of Lancaster County, said the boy apparently turned on the dryer and crawled inside. He issued a verdict of accidental death.

The population of West Germany ka, is 2,000. The nember of people who visit the historical gold ple who visited the historical gold rush town in 1958 was 2,800.

'Charge Is Over the Side'

Seismic Shoot Prepares for Mohole

(This is the second in a series of articles dealing with efforts to find the ideal spot to drill through to the center of the earth. Researchers aboard the Columbia University ship Vema probe the ocean floor off the coast of Puerto Rico and find the Project Mohole undertaking no picnic.)

By LEONARD ENGEL

ABOARD RESEARCH VESSEL VEMA (AP) — "Vema to Gibbs. Vema to Gibbs. This is shot V-493. Fifty-five pounds, 24-inch fuse, estimated burning time 50 seconds. One minute warning NOW."

"Gibbs back. Roger and out."

During the past few weeks, the Atlantic north of Puerto Rico has resounded to the explosion of more than $100,000 worth of TNT. Four U.S. research ships were conducting a seismic shoot—the biggest ocean seismic shoot on record.

In a seismic shoot king-size "firecrackers" are tossed into the sea. The explosive charges generate sound waves that travel to the ocean bottom. Some of the sound waves bounce off the bottom, some travel through the ocean floor before being bent back into the water. Listening ships pick up the traveling waves with hydrophones, which provide clues for mapping below-the-bottom rock strata.

Seismic shooting has long been utilized on land as an aid to finding oil. At sea, it's relatively new.

The record ocean shoot by Vema and three companion research ships was part of the first step toward one of the most ambitious adventures in deep-sea exploration in history — the Mohole project. Within a year or two, U.S. scientists hope to drill a miles-deep hole clear through the earth's crust to find out what the inside of the earth is made of. The miles-deep shaft will be drilled beneath the sea because the earth's crust is thinner below the oceans than on land.

We were searching an area of the Atlantic called the Outer Ridge for a drilling site.

The shooting began the morning after the four ships loaded ammunition at the U.S. naval base at Roosevelt Roads, P.R. It went on day and night for 18 days, with interruptions only for other research work or movement of the ships to new stations.

Three ships—strung out on a line 40 to 60 miles long—listened. The fourth ship steamed down the line, dropping charges as it went. Three and nine-pound charges were fired for ships close at hand; 24 and 55-pounders for ships farther away; full-sized depth charges containing 300 pounds of TNT for the most distant vessel.

Shots must be called to the receiving ships and shot times recorded. The depth of the water and the ship's position must be determined for every shot. Explosive charges must be made up and armed with fuses and detonating caps. Disastrous premature explosion can result from a slip — easily possible on a rolling deck — of the crimping tool used for attaching fuses to detonating caps.

Listening is an intricate process, also. Hydrophone cables must be slacked at the right instant for the phone to float free and undisturbed by wave slap as the sound waves generated by the shot come in. Recording equipment must be started, film developed within two minutes to show whether records are being obtained.

Five men are needed for a shooting party, five for receiving. The long shooting runs made for a long day, for there were numerous other tasks to be carried out aboard the research ship. And Vema had, beside the three men in the coring gang, only nine in her scientific party—including two visitors. Even the visitors—an observer from the Office of Naval Research and I, a reporter—were put to work.

★ ★ ★

The end result was a pile of hydrophone records and other research data that will tell eventually whether a suitable site for the history-making Mohole project has been found.

No Disturbances at High School Yet

Little Rock Registration Continues Under Watch

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Registration—under police surveillance — continues today at Little Rock's four high schools where 11th grade students were scheduled to sign up for classes this fall.

Officers watched Tuesday as 429 seniors registered peacefully in schools which were closed against integration last year, included in this group were five Negroes who expressed a desire to attend Central High, once an all-white school.

No Negroes attempted to enroll in Hall or Tech, the two other white schools.

Four of the five were among nine Negroes who attended Central under protection of federal troops during the 1957-58 term.

Police said there were no disturbances.

Supt. Terrell Powell said senior registration was a little below average but this was expected because registration was so early. School is scheduled to open Sept. 8.

Registration by Negroes at once-white schools does not mean they will be permitted to attend there. After registration is complete, the school board will invoke Arkansas' pupil placement law to assign students to the various schools.

Two private schools, which enrolled about 400 students last year, announced they had no plans to operate this fall.

Baptist High, which had 365 students, and Trinity Interim Academy, which had 27, went out of business. This leaves Raney High, a segregationist-backed institution, the only private, segregated school in the city. Raney had about 850 students last year and has enrolled about 900 for next term.

Charge They Beat Cripple

Jail Two Men Hired to Rough Up Customers of Miami Bar

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two men are under arrest on charges of breaking a crippled man's crutches over his head in a barroom brawl allegedly stemming from a jukebox war.

State Atty. Richard Gerstein said two other men named in information filed by his office are sought by police.

Jailed Tuesday were Leon Fieldbach, an owner of the Starlight Music Co., and James Conger, accused as one of two men hired to start fights in bars where competitors' juke boxes were used.

The information charged Fieldbach and Conger in the beating of Fred Nevels, a one-legged patron who was sitting in the Sidewalk Bar last July 15.

Nevels' crutches were broken over his head before his assailants dragged him into an alley and beat him, police said.

Proposes Hawaii Have Its Own Statue of Liberty

HONOLULU (AP)—A candidate for one of Hawaii's two U.S. Senate seats suggests a second Statue of Liberty be built at the entrance of Honolulu Harbor.

Republican territorial Sen. Wilfred C. Tsukiyama, 62, white-dean of Hawaii legislators of Japanese ancestry, made the suggestion at a political rally Tuesday.

He said the statue would symbolize to the Pacific and Asia the same ideals represented by the original Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor.

Ask Senate to Create Separate Veterans Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special bi-partisan subcommittee today recommended to the Senate Rules Committee that a separate nine-member committee be created by the Senate to handle veterans legislation.

The recommendation came from Sens. Howard W. Cannon (D-Nev) and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY). Veterans legislation is handled in the Senate by the Finance and Labor committees.

Cannon said the record showed these Senate committees had failed to act on many veterans bills because of other responsibilities.

Cuban Workers to Strike Demanding Castro Return

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's giant Confederation of Workers called a one-hour general strike Thursday to demand that Fidel Castro return to the government.

Secretary General David Salvador called on the confederation's million members to quit their jobs from 10 to 11 a.m. to make known labor's desire for the revolutionary chief to return as the government's leader in name as well as in fact.

Castro quit as prime minister Friday in a maneuver that forced out Manuel Urrutia as president. There has been talk since that he might put in a front man to look after the administrative details in which he has no interest while devoting his own time to his land reform program.

There is considerable speculation that Castro will announce his decision Sunday at the giant anniversary celebration of his July 26 revolution to which he has summoned a half million peasants from the provinces.

The cabinet held its first regular weekly session Tuesday night since Castro pulld out. He was not present, increasing speculation that he might not return to the job he said he did not want in the first place.

In an eight-hour session, the cabinet (1) repeated its rejection of Castro's resignation and asked his return; (2) created a commission to control stocks, bonds and other financial certificates, and (3) set up another commission to control potato imports.

Waterford Boy, Struck by Car, Still Unconscious

John, a seventh grader on his way to summer classes at Waterford Township High School was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Ewing Keith, of 2234 Hartford St., at Hatchery road and Frembes street.

According to State Police reports taken from a witness, Mrs. Thomas McClerren of 435 Hillcliff Rd., the Methner boy, watching her eastbound car, rode his bike out of a gas station driveway, into the path of Mrs. Keith's car.

Mrs. Keith's car was moving west on Hatchery road.

Start Chicago to Europe Service on Seaway

CHICAGO (UPI) — Passenger service from Chicago to Europe through the St. Lawrence Seaway began yesterday when the new five million dollar Princess Irene sailed for Montreal, Plymouth, England, and Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

The passenger-cargo vessel left from Navy Pier with 75 passengers from as far as California and Florida.

Cost of Living Index Unchanged in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The cost of living index remained unchanged for the Detroit area from May to June.

The U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the June figure of 123.4 represented a .6 per cent drop under the level of a year ago.

Increases in food and medical care were offset by decreases in transportation during the month period, the Bureau said.

'Summit Road Still Open' - Ike

Will Take Any Progress as Justification for Heads-of-State Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Eisenhower said today the road to a summit conference is open as long as any kind of arrangement can be made in Geneva that looks like progress.

He said continued negotiations will not cause an erosion of the Western position in Berlin, as some fear, because the West will stand firm on its basic principles of supporting the people of West Berlin.

He said his position has not hardened against a summit conference as a result of the Geneva stalemate. But as the conference has dragged on, he has lost some of his earlier hopes for something really productive coming from Geneva.

He reiterated that he would never order the use of nuclear weapons in areas where our friends might suffer.

UP TO HERTER

He said it is not terribly important how long the Geneva conference continues. He made it clear he was leaving it up to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter when the talks should break off, as far as the United States is concerned.

★ ★ ★

GENEVA (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was reported today to have drafted a new Berlin truce offer in hopes of saving the East-West conference from collapse. But new Soviet diplomatic moves made the outlook darker than ever.

The West expected the new offer to be a minimum concession that might avert an immediate conference collapse and with it the danger of a new cold war crisis. The Western ministers did not expect anything more than a delaying tactic, however.

★ ★ ★

Some diplomats said Gromyko might seek to win time by proposing to resume negotiations on details of a Berlin truce and "postpone" discussion of his demand that both Germany's talk over reunification on Soviet terms during such a truce.

NIXON IN MOSCOW

Conference sources said Gromyko, given a last chance to save the conference probably would try to keep it going until Vice President Richard M. Nixon confers in Moscow this weekend with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Success of the Nixon mission itself appeared endangered with a new Soviet attack on the United States today in the Communist newspaper Pravda. Pravda angrily denounced the U.S. Congress for calling for prayers for enslaved East Europe and accused the U.S. of planning anti-Soviet provocations.

Pravda linked the U.S. action with the Nixon visit and the opening of the American exhibition in Moscow on Saturday.

She Discovers, Too Late, What Burglars Stole

Miss Patricia Caswell, of 2775 E. Walton Blvd., told sheriff's deputies she set the alarm on her clock radio at about 11 p. m. Monday and went to bed.

At about 3:15 a. m. yesterday her slumber was interrupted by the sound of a car in her driveway. She saw a car "like the kind my fiance has," she said, and thought it was him.

Then she saw two men get out—neither her fiance—and walk to the house. "I was scared and ran to the bathroom and locked myself in," she said.

The men entered through an unlocked door. They rummaged through the house for about 45 minutes and left. Miss Caswell said she left the bathroom and looked around but could find nothing missing.

Puzzled, she went back to bed. She overslept and awoke late Tuesday morning. It was then she realized what was stolen—her clock radio.

Area Man Loses Segregation Suit

A Royal Oak Township man, Richard B. Henry, has lost his legal fight to end racial segregation in the public waiting rooms of the municipal airport at Greenville, S.C.

Henry, 21689 Glenfield, charged he was ousted from a white waiting room at the airport last fall and ordered to use a Negro waiting room

He filed suit in Federal Court in Columbia, S. C., asking an injunction against waiting room segregation for interstate passengers.

Former GM Official Dies in Florida

A Bloomfield Hills resident and former General Motors Corporation official, Strong Vincent Norton, died in West Palm Beach, Fla., yesterday after a long illness.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Norton, 76, who lived at 65 Lone Pine Rd., also had a home in Florida.

He was a trustee of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. His late brother, Ralph, founded the Norton Art Galley in West Palm Beach.

His wife, Julia, and family are expected to return here tonight or early Thursday.

Service will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Bell Funeral Home of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham, with burial at White Chapel Cemetery.

State Senators OK Small Loan Measure

LANSING (AP) — The controversial small loan bill passed the Senate 19-11 today. It was returned to the House.

★ ★ ★

The bill would jump the maximum size of loans from the present $500 to $1,500 and double interest rates in the $300 to $500 range in which small loan companies now do 80 per cent of their business.

★ ★ ★

The measure, an industry bill, would authorize loan companies to change borrowers for credit life insurance and make numerous procedural changes in the law.

In the $300 to $500 bracket, interest on loans would go up from three-fourths per cent a month (9 per cent a year) to 1½ per cent (18 per cent a year.)

Supporters generally argued it would add purchasing power to the economy. Critics said it would clear the way for small loan companies to milk their customers.

Will See Ike First

Nixon Off Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon arranged for a final word with President Eisenhower today before setting off on a history-making jaunt to the Soviet Union.

The last-minute White House briefing took on special importance because of the cold war tenseness between the United States and the U.S.S.R.

★ ★ ★

Nixon has a date in Moscow this weekend with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. Eisenhower believes that Khrushchev may offer Nixon some substantial proposal toward easing east-west differences.

★ ★ ★

The vice president leaves by jetliner tonight on the 11-day journey which will take him through four Siberian cities as well as Moscow and Leningrad.

★ ★ ★

The official purpose of the Nixon trip is to open the U.S. Exhibition at Moscow Friday. Broader interest centers on what impact he makes on the Soviets, what he reports back and what change if any this will bring about between the major international anatagonists.

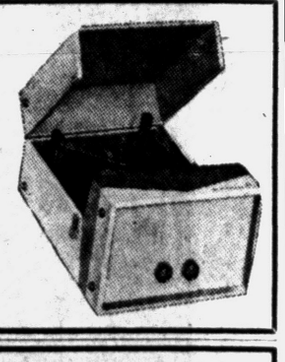

Kill Bill, Despite Nags

LANSING (AP)—A bill to scale down state subsidies to Livonia and Hazel Park to compensate for the "nuisance" of harboring horse tracks was defeated in the Senate last night. The vote was 16 to 15, with 18 favorable votes required.

Newsman Lost Glasses at Teamster Fire

'Hot Clue' to Arson Fizzles

A pair of thick-framed glasses, held by State Police arson squad detectives as a possible clue in the burning of a Teamster official's home last week, today turned out to belong to a Detroit radio newsman.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Howard Whaley of the Redford Post said the glasses were owned by Don McKinnon of WJBK, who had lost them while covering the arson case.

The glasses were found near the home of Charles O'Brien, 205 Harrow Circle, Bloomfield Township. They were undergoing a thorough examination when McKinnon informed police they were his.

"He told us he carries several pairs and didn't know where he had lost these until reading in newspapers that they were being examined," Whaley said.

Previously, a house-to-house check had failed to turn up the owner of the glasses and police thought they might have been dropped by whoever drenched the home with fuel oil and put a torch to it.

It's a Hole of a Fix

California Border Town Gets Sinking Feeling

JACUMBA, Calif. (AP) — This town is goin' down.

Not downhill or downtown—just plain down.

The 300 or so folks who live in this farming community two miles from the Mexican border figure they're in a hole of a fix. The mystery began a week ago when a small crack appeared in the ground near the town's emergency airfield.

It lengthened to 75 yards Monday and became a hole 150 yards long, 5 feet deep and 3 feet wide Tuesday.

It all but swallowed a tractor cutting across a field. A tow truck had to haul it out.

When rancher Hank Ketchum recovered his tractor, he noticed that water from his irrigation ditch was vanishing down two nearby holes. He had to dam up his irrigation ditch.

A 17-year-old-girl who went to look at it was buried up to her knees when the ground gave way beneath her. She was pulled out unharmed.

Geologist Don Weaver has an explanation.

Jacumba is about 150 feet above an ancient lava shelf. Runoff water from a nearby Mexican mountain rainge has caused subterranean erosion. The result: the shelf is caving in and the earth is settling. There were cloudbursts and flash floods here two weeks ago.

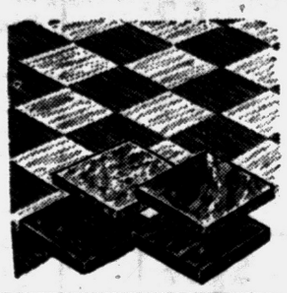

Weaver says the earth settling could continue for a week, 10 days or longer.

He's More the Leader . . . Politician

Eisenhower's Outlook on Duties Changing

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Something is happening to President Eisenhower.

He's becoming less conciliatory, less the man trying to get everyone together. He's pushing more of his own ideas, giving "a little more hell" to the opposition.

Says one amazed congressional leader:

"He's a different man. For the first time he seems to know what he wants to do and where he's going."

Says a Republican Party man:

"He's beginning to understand politics and why you have got to do certain things . . . and why you can't keep everybody happy. Only it's about six years late."

Says another Republican Congressman:

"We've been trying to get Ike to use his influence for years, get in and fight, use the pressures he's got. He's always said 'Why do that? Now he says 'I'll see to it. We'll take care of that.'

"Boy, he's really exerting leadership."

Says a man who has watched him closely in the White House:

"There was a time there in 1957 and 1958 he seemed tired of his job. He didn't have much interest or pep. Now that he's making his own decisions for the first time, he's beginning to like his job a lot better. He seems happier.

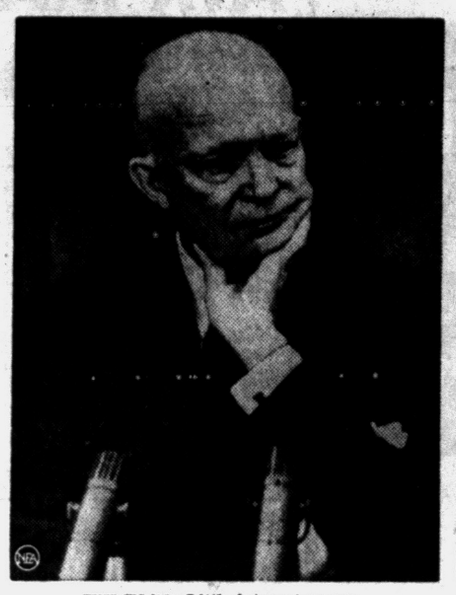

★ ★ ★

"Nowadays," says one administration official, "if the President heads into opposition, he talks about taking his argument to the people on TV, or he threatens an extra session of Congress."

Says one key Republican Congressman gratefully:

"He's not missing the little tricks that will help some of us get re-elected. Before, he didn't seem to think that sort of thing was important."

What's caused the change? There seems to be agreement on that, too. First, Sherman Adams, the White House major domo, resigned. And then Secretary of State John Foster Dulles became ill and died.

IKE IN '57: Little interest or pep.

IKE IN '59: He makes the decisions.

Says one man close to the White House:

"Sherm tried to keep details off the President. He made up his mind, then gave Ike the papers to sign. The President often didn't know what went into the decisions. He trusted Adams, didn't do much thinking about why things were done. And he leaned on Dulles like nobody's business. When Dulles thought something was the thing to do, Ike always went along.

"Then Adams left. General Persons (the man who took Adams' place) is a different sort of man. He can make decisions, if necessary, but he puts a lot more up to the President.

"Ike began to understand why you had to do some things for political reasons, what political pressures really meant in practice, what you were going to have to do if you were going to push things through against determined opposition.

"He began to see how government works . . . not storybook style, but in reality. He'd been too sheltered before.

"Then Dulles died. And the President became his own Secretary of State. That's not to say Herter isn't good at his job. I think he is. But he's not so close to Ike as Dulles was. The President is making decisions, making up his own mind on foreign affairs. This is doing him a lot of good."

And the President has done some thinking recently. He's not going to be running for anything after he retires from the Presidency. He can't get re-elected; that's the law.

He doesn't want any other office. He's not looking for any position. He wants to retire. And Mrs. Eisenhower enthusiastically seconds the idea. So he doesn't feel obligated to anybody.

Dwight Eisenhower all his life has tried to be the conciliator, to get along. His fame in Europe was based largely on his ability as a super diplomat. He was able to weld a mixed bag of star-studded military prima donnas into a victorious team.

President Eisenhower has been trying the same technique with Congress. And it hasn't worked very well. Now he's made up his mind to talk cold turkey to Congress to get through the bills he figures have got to get through this year and next.

He's going to call in congressional leaders with more regularity, or pass the word down, that he wants action, and that if he doesn't get it he'll do something about it. He'll fight.

★ ★ ★

As one key political worker put it "Ike has at last learned that conciliation and being the nice man to everybody doesn't work in politics."

Controversial Novel Ruled 'Not Obscene'

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal district judge ruled Tuesday that the long-controversial novel, "Lady Chatterly's Lover," is not obscene. He thus knocked out the government's latest attempt to bar it from the mails.

Judge Frederick Bryan ruled that the volume was entitled to "the protections guaranteed to freedoms of speech and the press by the first amendment.

Said the judge:

"To exclude this book from the mails on the grounds of obscenity would fashion a rule which could be applied to a substantial portion of the classics of our literature. Such a rule would be inimical to a free society."

Sixth X15 Test Flight Reslated Thursday

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The sixth test flight of the X15 rocket ship has been set back until Thursday.

The X15 had been scheduled to make a captive flight Tuesday under the wing of a B52 bomber but the test was postponed for technical reasons.

★ ★ ★

The rocket ship, designed eventually to carry a man to the edge of space and back, has made four captive flights and once was dropped from its mother ship to glide without power back to this desert base.

★ ★ ★

Thursday's flight is to be made wth a full load of fuel aboard the X15. The fuel will be jettisoned before it and the B52 land. On the following flight, pilot Scott Crossfield is expected to ignite the ship's engines for a brief flight before landing.

Letter About Washing Undies Cited at Inquiry

Slams Domestic Use of Soldiers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank Kowalski (D-Conn) read to House investigators Tuesday a letter from a retired army sergeant who told of having to wash dishes, babysit, and clean up after the dog at a general's home.

Kowalski, a West Pointer and former army colonel, produced the letter at a House armed services subcommittee hearing in challenging pentagon denials that enlisted men often are used as servants by high ranking military brass. He said he had received nearly 500 letters from enlisted men.

The retired sergeant, Joseph C. Bagwell of Washington, D.C., offered to testify before Congress "although I'm taking a chance because I might have to go back into the service."

Bagwell wrote that he was employed from about the middle of February 1957 to the end of 1957 at the home of a Maj. Gen. James R. Pierce. Bagwell didn't specify the post but a subcommittee aide said it was Ft. Meade, Md.

The household duties of himself and two other sergeants, Bagwell said, "ranged from washing dishes, cooking, answering telephones, babysitting for the daughter's children, who didn't even live in the same house, cleaning up after the dog, feeding the dog late at night as our last chore before we left."

One of the other sergeants, Bagwell continued, "had to do such duties as cleaning ladies lingerie and various other details that most men just don't do."

Bagwell said his hours ranged from usually 6 a.m. until 8 p.m. and that he and the two other sergeants often worked later if there were parties or "if Mrs. Pierce happened to be over playing bridge with some other ladies." He said he had to have dinner ready when she returned.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Charles G. Finucane, in his second appearance before the subcommittee in less than a week, repeated that despite Bagwell's letter he knew of no such instances.

He promised the military services will make every effort to eliminate waste of manpower and that any irregularity uncovered "will be immediately stamped out."

State NAM Man Claims Unions Broke Michigan

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI)—A Michigan businessman said Monday night that unionized labor had thrown his state "broke and head over heels in debt" and warned that labor also would try to take over Virginia's government.

Charles R. Sligh Jr., executive vice president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers and board chairman of a Holland furniture firm, told the Roanoke Area Manufacturers Assn. to become "part-time politicians."

Sligh said "mushy thinking liberals" are found in both major political parties and urged the businessmen to work for election of conservative candidates.

He said union control of Michigan's government had plunged the state into debt.

"The problem, plainly, is that the coffers of the unions are opened wide to finance labor-backed candidates," he said. ". . . What happened in Michigan need not happen in Virginia. Labor will try to make it happen here."

Brewery Heir Charged With Molesting Girl

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — A 27-year-old Oconomowoc socialite, heir to a several million dollar fortune, was named in two warrants Tuesday charging him with sex offenses against a 13-year-old girl.

Dist. Atty. George Lawler said that Walter David Tallmadge, a member of the family that controls the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co., is charged in one warrant with taking indecent liberties with the girl while she was staying overnight at the home of Tallmadge and his wife.

The second warrant alleges that last Friday Tallmadge took indecent liberties with the girl, enticed her away from her mother for immoral purposes and enticed her into a secluded place with intent to commit a crime against sexual morality. Penalty upon conviction ranges up to 15 years in state prison.

Roads Program Booster Sought

U. S. House Committee Calls Public Hearings as Funds Dwindle

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the highway trust fund facing a deficit, the House Ways and Means Committee seeks ways today to assure continued work on the nation's superhighway system.

Officials of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads were called to outline at public hearings a situation which could find the federal government unable to meet its commitments to the states later this fiscal year.

President Eisenhower has called on Congress to raise the federal gasoline tax from 3 to 4½ cents a gallon. Thus far, Congress has balked.

But with 2½ billion dollars of 1961 construction authorizations due for action next month, the Ways and Means Committee called for public advice after failing to reach a decision.

Such authorizations are usually made a year in advance of actual spending, and amount to a commitment to the states that the federal share will be forthcoming.

Federal Highway Administrator B. D. Tallamy informed the American Assn. of State Highway officials last week that the highway trust fund faces a deficit of a half billion dollars before June 30, 1960.

So long as this deficit in the financing fund exists, he said, a moratorium will be necessary on new construction contracts and future right-of-way purchases. This would bring the construction program to a halt.

If the states wish to keep their part of the interstate highway program rolling, Tallamy added, they will have to foot the cost themselves. The government won't be able to pay its share.

KERSPLASH!—And Mamie Eisenhower, tongue between her lips and eyes closed, sends the N.S. Savannah down the ways at Campden, N.J. The traditional bottle of champagne splattered the bow as planned and the world's first nuclear merchant ship is launched. The vessel still must receive many final fittings and installations and won't be ready for sea trials until 1960.

N.S. Savannah Getting Final Fittings Installed

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — The American ship Savannah was afloat today, a long step toward the time she goes to sea as the world's first atom-powered merchantman.

The sleek, white-hulled Savannah was towed to a fitting-out dock a few minutes after she slipped smoothly down the building ways Tuesday at the New York Shipbuilding Corp.

Today workmen swarmed through her, getting ready to install the final components of the atomic power plant, and the fittings that will make her interior match the yacht-looking appearance of her clean hull lines and rakish superstructure.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower gave the ship its nme and sent the 21,000-ton Savannah down the ways in the launching ceremony.

The first lady came by train from Washington to sponsor the ship her husband wanted built as this country's proof that mankind need not be destroyed by the atom but can master it for peaceful benefit.

Addresses by high government and shipbuilding officials emphasized the national prestige importance of this first atomic-powered merchant ship.

They said there would be more to come, the later ones able to compete economically with conventionally powered ocean-going ships.

While the first, static tests of the ship's nuclear reactor may be made before next year, the Savannah is not expected to start sea trials until 1960. It will be another year before she will be ready for long cruises with her 60 passengers and 10,000 tons of cargo to the far away ports of the world.

A small town newspaper rarely reveals anything new. It just confirms what most of the townspeople already know . . . The biggest decision some men have to make is when to throw away the old razor blade and put in a fresh one. — Earl Wilson.

Acheson Reveals Korean War Fear

Thought Bombers on Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson related Tuesday that during the early part of the Korean War Washington thought for a short time that Russian bombers were on their way to attack the United States.

Acheson said Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett telephoned him an alarm shortly before British Prime Minister Clement Atlee was to confer at the White House with President Truman. The Korean War began in June 1950, and Atlee came to Washington for conferences the following December.

Acheson said Lovett informed him that all aircraft in the United States had been placed on an immediate alert and that American fighter planes in Canada had been sent aloft.

Acheson told the story of the false alarm in an address to a strategy seminar under way here for a group of reserve officers.

He said that the incident brought out the imperturbability of the British. The former secretary of state recalled that he immediately telephoned the British ambassador, Sir Oliver Franks, who replied: "You don't say so."

Acheson said the ambassador went on to say that they would see each other at the White House conference later in the morning and that by then "we shall see what happens."

Acheson devoted most of his review of U.S. policy and strategy to a contention there is need for rebuilding the solidarity of North America and Western Europe. He said the Eisenhower administration destroyed confidence in this alliance during the Suez crisis. This marked a low point in American diplomacy, he said, because the United States "maneuvered itself into supporting its enemies against our friends," Britain and France.

Missing Pilot Found Dead in Wreckage

Emil Henderson, 74, found the body of John Visak, 58, in the wreckage of the plane. Visak had been missing since early Saturday on a flight from Gary, Ind., to Ludington where he was to have joined friends for a fishing trip.

Visak had been the object of an intense air and ground search.

Girls reaching the age of puberty in the Guajiro tribe of Venezuela are sent away for a period of several weeks to two years during which they learn to weave and keep house.

Pioneers Will Probably Tame Greenland Icecap

CHICAGO (UPI) — An army physician predicts that the Greenland icecap may eventually be a summertime playground.

"Those who pioneered the West found the Sierras almost impenetrable, but today city dwellers, without batting an eyelash, spend happy and unconcerned weeks there," Capt. Alan D. Matzger said.

Someday, he added, the frozen regions of the world will be similarly treated. But first much must be learned about the regions and their effect on man's health, he added.

Matzger, who is stationed with the U.S. Army medical research laboratory, Fort Knox, Ky., is spending the summer in Greenland, providing medical support for Army engineers near Thule.

In a guest editorial in the current archives of the Internal Medicine, published by the American Medical Association, Matzger noted that many persons already are living and working in the Arctic regions. They are no different from persons living in the United States, Australia or France, he said, and their lives are no more dangerous.

"Just as we learned that it is safer to cross an intersection when the light is green, they have their 'homely' safety precepts," he said.

Persons in Greenland know they cannot take needless chances and that they must be prepared to be isolated whenever they leave their communities. But such rules soon become second nature, Matzger said.

"There is some germ of pioneer in most of us yet," the Captain said. "Here is probably the last geographic frontier.

"Someone will take advantage of it. We will have to know about it."

Police Seek Thieves in Big Boy Robbery

ROYAL OAK — Police here are looking for a thief or thieves who broke into the Big Boy Drive-In restaurant at 4017 Woodward Ave. early this morning, getting away with $1,170.

Day manager of the drive-in, Roger Marsh of Highland Park, told Royal Oak Police he found the side door of the building had been pried open and the money taken from an unlocked safe and a cash register when he arrived at work at 6 a.m. today.

Fire Truck Caught With Radiator Down

KENEDY, Tex. (AP) — Fire caught the Kenedy Volunteer Fire Dept. Tuesday with its truck in a garage being repaired. The firemen pushed the truck, minus its radiator, to the blaze.

The fire burned out a cleaning shop and threatened two other buildings for a time.

Monitors, Hoffa Meeting Today

Board, Teamster Boss Discuss Court Order to Clean Up Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A court-appointed watchdog group meets today with Teamster President James R. Hoffa at his union's headquarters to discuss the carrying out of their cleanup order.

The union has asked the Supreme Court to stay an Appeals Court decision upholding the cleanup decrees issued by the monitors.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts yesterday granted the monitors permission to hire an outside legal firm to help speed their cleanup of the Teamsters Union.

In seeking the additional legal chairman of the monitors, said his group probably would file with Letts in the next few months petitions seeking the removal of James R. Hoffa as union president, and the ouster of other top union officers.

He said the group would study the 62 volumes of testimony involving the Teamsters before the Senate Rackets Committee and move against Hoffa and other union officials "as the evidence warrants."

He said the board had accomplished "very little" in the past because it had been tied up with so much litigation. The Teamsters have challenged most of the board's action.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A bank teller started his first day of work on the wrong foot. He inadvertently stepped on a hidden holdup alarm button, bringing police cars to the bank and an offer of help from the FBI.

Penetrating Wit at Geneva Pinpoints Big-Four Positions

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

GENEVA (AP) — Life is grim, life is earnest at the Big Four conference. But occasionally the stuffy, often tense sessions are lightened by sudden shafts of wit that pinpoint the rival East-West positions better than thousands of words of speeches.

A Western official was stressing to a Soviet representative the need that the Soviet Union would not seek to change the Allied position in Berlin.

"Yes," the Soviet interrupted testily, "but what is a 'gentleman's agreement?'"

"Why, any gentleman will tell you that," the Westerner retorted.

★ ★ ★

Last week Jacob A. Malik, the Soviet ambassador to Britain, was chatting with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd about the slow progress the Big Four were making toward new stopgap or temporary arrangements in Berlin.

Suddenly Malik sang out, "It's a long, long way to temporary," and Lloyd dissolved into laughter.

After demanding that East and West German delegates be allowed to join secret Big Four sessions, the Soviets Andrei Gromyko relented last week. He agreed they could be excluded from "social occasions."

He added: "Just put a bottle of whisky on the table and that'll make our meetings social."

★ ★ ★

The other day the conference air was full of reports of inter-Allied differences. The French and West Germans were said to be at odds. The British reportedly opposed both. The Americans were trying to hold the Allied front.

One Soviet lounging with a group of reporters discussing these differences, commented: "This is a conference of the Western Allies, and we Russians are merely observers."

Then there's the story an American reporter told a Soviet diplomat about the time he was strolling through the Moscow zoo.

The American said at the lion's den he saw a banner announcing a perfect example of the sort of peaceful coexistence the Soviets preach. Beside the lion in the cage was a frolicking lamb.

The American said he asked the zoo keeper how the Soviets trained the lion to lie down with the lamb.

Proposes Red Label on E. German Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D-NY) wants all imports from East Germany to carry labels to show that they are Communist goods. He has asked the Treasury Department to impose such a requirement.

As a matter of fact, he wrote Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, "I certainly have my doubts as to the wisdom of importing any goods from the Soviet-controlled countries at all."

Hollywood Headlines:

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV WRITER

PALOS VERDES, Calif. (AP)—Show business, which had seen about everything, now has a new kind of act—a trio of performing whales.

Who would ever think of teaching whales tricks? No one. Not until Marineland of the Pacific hauled in a 14-foot, 1,700-pound black pilot whale and named her Bubbles. The sea-life showplace would have been content merely to display Bubbles in one of its teaming tanks.

THOMAS

But she learned tricks, too. She and her recent playmate, 10-foot Squirt, perform five times daily such stunts as shaking hands, waving, lifting barbells, punching bags, wearing fancy hats and doing a ponderous fandango. A late arrival, ton-and-a-half Bimbo, has already learned to leap out of the water.

★ ★ ★

You start training a whale by getting its confidence. You toss some squid into the water closer and closer to you until the whale finally will eat out of your hand. That's half the battle.

Whales have short memories. They might not recall a trick done 10 seconds before, so trainers blow whistles before the reward of food. It signifies a job well done. No trick, no whistle, no squid.

Whales sleep, just like the rest of us. They nestle on the surface close together for safety, sleeping restively a few hours a night. Their eyes are remarkable instruments, seeing as well above water as below. The Navy is interested in this.

The Navy would like a lot of answers from Whales. How come they can slip through the water with twice the efficiency of any fighting craft? What about their sonar? Marineland hunters found captives could find a hole in the net in the murkiest of waters. How? The whales utter ultrasonic noises that echo back information. They can even tell kinds of fish that way.

Whales have bigger brains than we do, and well-convoluted. But no sense of smell. Who needs it out in the ocean?

Bubbles and Squirt are females and Bimbo is a male and they seem to like it that way. They've shown signs of mating. One sign is swimming straight at each other and cracking heads.

Norris has high hopes of a match, if not this year, maybe next.

Tigers Beat Nats at Own Homer Game

Kaline Returns to Lineup and Helps 8-1 Win

Bengals Get to Fischer With 7 Runs in Opening Two Innings

DETROIT (UPI) — Jimmie Dykes is not the type of manager to alibi, but he rightly placed the blame for Detroit's second serious slump of the season on the loss of Al Kaline.

With Kaline back in the lineup for the first time in more than a week, the Tigers exploded for seven runs in the first two innings last night and coasted to an 8-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Kaline's personal contribution included two singles, one run batted in and two runs scored.

"We scored only 11 runs in seven games last week with Al out of the lineup," Dykes pointed out, "As soon as he gets back, we start scoring again. If we can keep Kaline and the order regulars in action and get just so-so pitching we'll do all right the rest of the season."

Detroit had dropped 14 of 17 starts before routing the Senators in the opener of a 13-game home stand. Six of those losses came last week—three at Washington and three at Baltimore.

The Tigers didn't waste any time piling up the score, despite the fact that Bill Fischer was the Washington starter. Fischer had beaten Detroit three straight times this year.

Eddie Yost worked Fischer for a walk leading off the bottom of the first and Harvey Kuenn, dropped from second to third in the batting order, lined a home run into the lower seats in left. It was Kuenn's fifth homer of the season, and his first this year at Briggs Stadium.

Kaline walked, Gail Harris singled, Frank Bolling was struck by a pitched ball and Coot Veal walked to force in a run and prompt the departure of Fischer.

Detroit jumped on reliefer Russ Kemmerer for four more runs in the second on a walk to Yost, an infield single by Charley Maxwell, a base hit by Kaline and Lou Berberet's ninth homer of the season.

Maxwell lined his 22nd homer of the year to end Detroit's scoring in the fourth.

Paul Foytack went the distance for Detroit and earned his ninth victory against eight losses. He gave up only six hits and lost his chance for a shutout in the second when Roy Sievers hit his 13th home run of the season.

Dykes had Tom Morgan warming up after Sievers' homer, but Morgan sat down when Foytack retired the side after a single by Hal Naragon and a walk to Billy Consolo.

30-Foot Yawl Feather II Chicago-Mackinac Victor

MACKINAC ISLAND (UPI) — Feather II, a brand new boat put into the water just last week, was the overall winner of the 333-mile Chicago-to-Mackinac Island sailing race.

As expected, the Sabre, Roman Brotz's big 87-foot Class A yawl from Sheboygan, Wis., was the first boat across the finish line at 2:45 a.m. today.

But on corrected time, Feather II took most of the honors, covering the distance in 51 hours, nine seconds.

The Feather, owned by businessman W. G. Peacock of Evanston, Ill., was brought up by flat car from a Florida shipyard and was put into the water only two days before Saturday's race.

* * *

The small 30-foot yawl won the Jack Ritchie Trophy for the best overall time, the Mackinac cup for the best time in division two and the Heyworth Memorial trophy for class D boats.

The Sabre, which had to give time to every other yacht in the race, won the Royono Trophy for being the first boat to finish. It took the Sabre 61 hours and four seconds to race up Lake Michigan but its corrected time was 63:33:05.

The Barb, a cutter owned by Dr. D. Axelrod of the Jackson Park Yacht Club, was the winner of division one and took the Mackinac trophy. The Barb also won the Harbor Springs trophy for B class boats.

* * *

The only accident that marred the race occurred early today when the Hornet, a class A cutter owned by William Heinichen of the Chicago Yacht Club, went on the rocks at Ile Aux Calets, a shoal area 35 miles from the island in the Manitou passage leading to the Straits of Mackinac.

Other boats in order of finish, with their corrected and elapsed times, were:

Gypsy 61:52:58, 87:09:05; Talthona, 62:02:26, 54:58:55; Copperhead, 62:10:30, 55:65:19; Caribe, 62:10:42, 56:12:24; Nimbus, 62:11:43, 54:51:58; Barb, 62:36:42, 52:47:31.

Mouw Shares Lead in State Jaycee Event

Area Boys Are Among Low Scorers in Field of 112 at Lenawee

Mouw and MacDannel each posted first round scores of 72 yesterday as the Lenawee Country's Club's par of 35-35—70 proved too tough for the field.

Mouw had a chance to take the first round lead alone but missed a three-foot putt on the 18th green. MacDannel picked up four birdies on his 18-hole round with an outgoing 37 and an incoming 35. Mouw went out in a one-under-par 34 but came back in a three-over-par 38 while making two birdies.

One stroke off the pace at 73 were Bill Hallack of Ann Arbor and Don Stipcak of Waterford.

* * *

Jon Shaw of Waterford; John Kurzynowski, Jackson, and Willard Kari of White Lake had 74s, and were followed by Clinton Townsend, Ypsilanti; Michael Wiegand, Waterford, and Dennis English of Lansing with 76s.

The 17-year-old Mouw, a chunky 5-foot-6 swinger, will be a senior this fall at Birmingham High School. Only Monday he qualified for the National USGA Amateur in 18-hole trials at Detroit Golf Club.

Waterford's delegation to the tourney was reduced to four players when Don Cole of West Bloomfield High School could not attend. Richard Sing was a surprise member of the Pontiac contingent.

The four top scorers after today's final 18 holes will represent Michigan in the National Jaycee tournament, scheduled Aug. 22-29 at Portsmouth, Va.

Gary Mouw, Birmingham	34-38—72
Dennis MacDannel, Kalamazoo	37-35—72
Bill Hallack, Ann Arbor	37-36—73
Don Stipcak, Waterford	36-37—73

McLish Shackles Yanks to Keep Tribe in Lead

By The Associated Press

If there was any hope at all for the Cleveland Indians this past spring the bet was it lay in their young pitchers. Kids like Gary Bell (22), Mudcat Grant (23) and Herb Score (25).

But here it is late July, the Indians have been out front in the American League for most of the season and who's been their ace? A guy named Cal McLish, at 33 a right-hander with a 12-3 record and the best percentage in the league. No one in the AL has won more.

He kept them in first by winning his seventh in a row last night with a three-hit job that beat New York's perked-up Yankees 5-1. That left Cleveland .002 percentage points ahead of Chicago's second place White Sox, who beat Boston 2-1. It also put the fourth place Yankees 6½ games behind.

McLish hasn't lost since June 7, when he dropped a one-run decision to the Yankees. That's his only loss to the champs, and he's been the pitcher in four of the Tribe's seven victories over the Yankees this season.

And since his current spurt started, he's won seven and saved one in relief, figuring in eight of Cleveland's last 19 victories.

While barely staying ahead of the White Sox, the Indians pulled 4½ games ahead of third place Baltimore, beaten 8-1 at Kansas City.

All the hits off McLish were doubles, two by Norm Siebern, who paired with Bobby Richardson in the eighth to break through the big right-hander's bid for an elusive shutout. McLish, whose lone shutout in the majors was a National League job with the Cubs in 1951, walked none and struck out four in his seventh one-run game of the year.

The Indians got to southpaw Bobby Shantz (4-3) in the sixth, scoring three on Vic Power's infield single, Minnie Minoso's double, two errors and Tito Francona's 10th homer. The other two runs came in the seventh when reliever Jim Coates gave up a pair of bases-loaded walks.

The White Sox broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh against Tom Brewer (7-7) when Jim Landis blooped a scoring single to right on a checked swing. Dick Donovan (7-5) gave up six hits, one Don Buddin's sixth-inning homer, while winning three in a row for the first time this season.

Southpaw Bud Daley (10-4) blanked the Orioles on four hits until the ninth, when Walt Dropo homered. The A's had put it away early against loser Milt Pappas (10-5), scoring twice in the first and twice in the third. Dick Williams, who drove in three runs, hit a two-run homer in the seventh.

Weiss Twirls 3-Hit Shutout

Art Weiss twirled a classy three-hit shutout at Beaudette Park as Arro Realty defeated the Moose, 4-0, to headline last night's action in the City Softball League.

Weiss struck out eight batters and displayed excellent control by not walking a single man. Arro made five hits off Moose hurler R. D. Jacobs, one a solo home run by Bud Hayward in the 4th inning.

Harrison's Grill collected nine hits, three by winning pitcher John Geiger, for a 9-2 decision over Huron Bowl. Roger Voorheis relieved Geiger in the 7th.

Geiger and Voorheis allowed Huron only three hits while Dick MacIntosh worked the route for the loserse Harrison's wrapped up the verdict with six runs in the 6th frame.

Wright's Upholstery clubbed 10 hits, two each by Dick Goyette, Tom Sampey, Jim Skinner and Jerry Hill, to trim Buttercup Drive-In, 7-2. Fred Cox pitched three-hit ball and his teammates sewed up the contest early with five runs in the 1st stanza.

In the other scheduled game at Northside Park, the Autos of Europe gained a forfeit victory over Big Bear Construction.

Nicholie Upsets Grill, 5-4

Pirates Trip Jewelers, 4-3

The Pirates spotted Shaw's Jewlers a 3-0 advantage, then came storming back for a 4-3 victory in a Class A City League baseball game yesterday at Wisner Field.

In Class B action at Jaycee Park, Don Nicholie talled twice in the bottom of the 7th inning to upset league-leading Griff's Grill, 5-4.

The Pirates began their uphill climb in the 4th with two runs, then added the tying and winning tallies in the 5th with Bob Pearson delivering the key blow, a two-run double.

Larry Demrick hurled the distance for the Pirates and gave up only three safeties, two by Walt Honchell, and struck out eight.

The Pirates made six hits off the combined offerings of Bob Overcashier and Dick Goldsworthy with Demrick and Pearson getting two apiece. Goldsworthy, who relieved Overcashier in the 4th, was charged with the loss.

Griff's grabbed a 4-3 lead with one run in the top of the 7th on Chuck Moore's single, but the Nicholie team bounced right back to annex the triumph.

John Orr's leadoff single, a triple by Greg Meadows and Sid Gregory's single brought two runners home and spelled defeat for the Grill. Al Levy pitched the route for Nicholie while Denny Evans suffered the loss in relief of Terry Zellhart. Each team made nine hits.

A's Manager Suffers Minor Heart Attack

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Manager Harry Craft of the Kansas City Athletics suffered a minor heart attack yesterday.

Craft was taken to Downtown Hospital after he complained of chest pains. Physicians at first said the 44-year-old manager was suffering from exhaustion and tension.

But last night, Craft's doctor said the manager had a heart ailment. He said Craft's condition was not serious and that he has responded to medication.

Another electro-cardiogram was scheduled for today.

12 Strikeouts for Sutton

Pitcher Bob Sutton struck out 12 batters to steal the show as Russ' Country Store defeated Olson-Voorheis Drug, 6-2, in Waterford Junior Baseball League competition yesterday. In an exhibition contest, the Lakeland Optimists edged Ryeson's Market, 12-11.

Pontiac U. M. Church 9-7 Inter-City Victor

Mike Cullen was the winning pitcher and Murphy slammed a home run as Pontiac United Missionary defeated First Nazarene, 9-7, in Inter-City Church League softball action Tuesday. It was the lone contest scheduled yesterday.

In Monday's play, George Stallings and Bob Sutton each swatted homers and Jim Hibbs did the hurling as Parkdale Nazarene drubbed Zion Nazarene, 13-2. First Christian won a forfeit decision over Stringham United Missionary.

Drug Upsets Leaders in Waterford Loop

Drayton Drug toppled league-leading Nonne's Restaurant, 8-2, in American division action to highlight last night's two-game Waterford League softball program at Drayton Plains.

Jim Cuthrell pitched four-hit ball for the Druggists and Nonne's hurlers Bob Fargher and Norm Jennings yielded 11 safeties, one a two-run triple by Jim Patterson in the 4th inning when Drayton scored three times. Fargher was the starting and losing hurler.

In National loop activity, the Arrows chalked up a 5-1 triumph over the Eagles behind the six-hit twirling of Doug Rieck. The winners made only four hits off Jerry Redman, but iced the decision with four runs in the 1st stanza on two errors, fielder's choice, passed ball and single.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Swing still lacks rhythm.

DIAGNOSIS: Jerky approach to the shot.

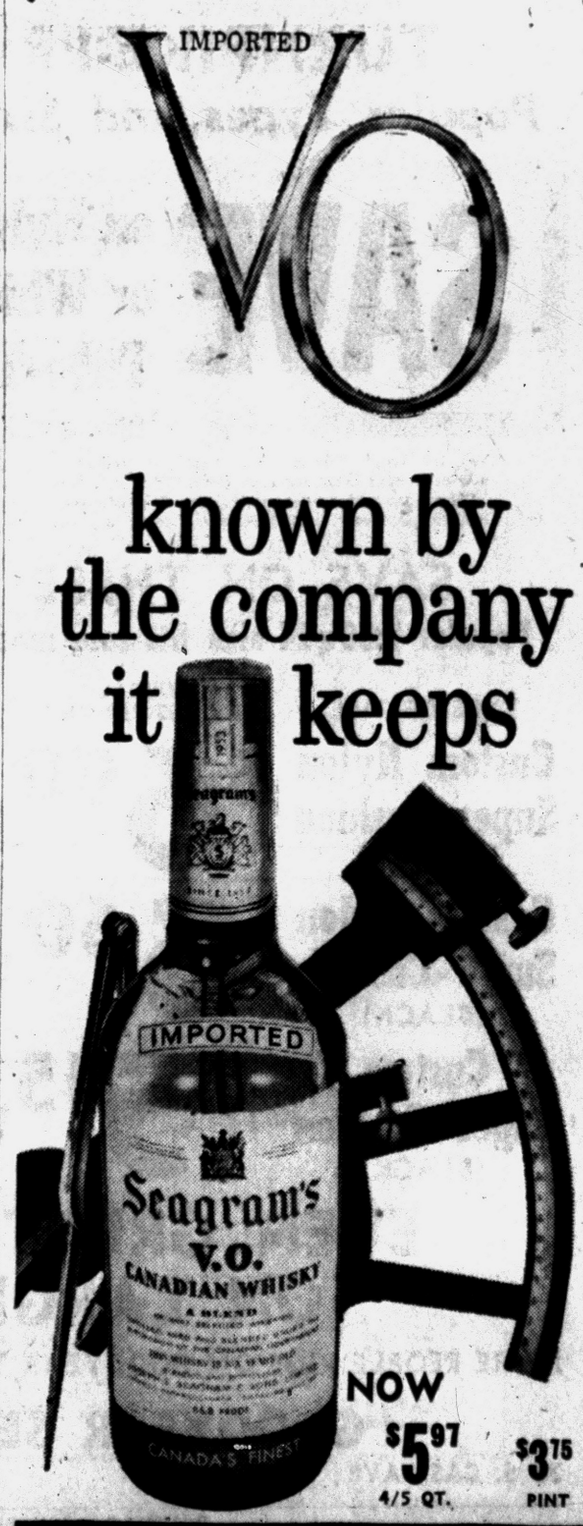

TREATMENT: Here I'm talking about the preliminary action before taking the stance for the shot. The shot really begins, you see, even before you take your stance to the ball.

What you want to do as you are stepping into your stance position is to "get with it." By that, I mean that you should start thinking in terms of a rhythmic and powerful swing, and you should be getting your muscles "into the swing of things" — much as you would before taking the first step on a dance floor.

My method of approach to the ball is to plant my right foot first, recheck the line of the shot, and then step in smoothly with the left foot to set my stance (see today's illustration). Meanwhile, I'm trying to set the right tempo for the overall action of the waggle and swing.

I don't suggest that you copy this method. I just want to impress on you that you'll swing better if you follow a rhythmic pattern in stepping up to the ball.

U.S. to Test Canadians in Davis Cup Zone Play

MONTREAL (AP) — The results of a new deal in Canadian tennis are to be tested this weekend when Canada plays Australia in the American Zone Davis Cup semi-finals.

A five-year junior development program and a new method of player selection resulted in Canada picking one of its youngest teams in many years—although no country matches Australia for young tennis squads.

Lorne Main, captain of the Canadian Davis Cup team, said today he couldn't be happier with the selection of rookies Francois Godbout, 21, of Waterloo, Que., and John Bassett Jr., 20, of Toronto, to go with veterans Bob Bedard, 27, of Sherbrooke, Que., and Don Fontana, 28, of Toronto.

"The Australians consider their players elderly at 25," Main said. "Yet, we've been using players 28 years old and older for many years.

"The United States last year gave up on its older players despite their rankings. They named a really young team and they won the Davis Cup. I think our youth movement will help Canadian tennis more than anything has before."

* * *

Main said the junior development program was started five years ago by Harry Marpole, then president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Assn.

"Well, we saw how they played and we named two. Maybe some ranking players like Val Harit of Montreal and Paul Willey of Vancouver get hurt by a system like this. But we've got to start our players in international competition when they're young."

* * *

The Australians, who have always emphasized youth, defeated Mexico 4-1 in Mexico City to advance against Canada.

Mrs. Hoxie Here With Troup at Crofoot Courts

Pontiac Press Co-Spons of Net Demonstrations Free to Public

Mrs. Jean Hoxie, renown "queen of tennis," will be the guest of a tennis clinic sponsored by The Pontiac Press and the Board of Education, Tuesday, July 28th at the Crofoot courts next to Pontiac Central High School.

Mrs. Hoxie will assemble her Hamtramck tennis troup to use during the demonstrations which will take place between 2:00 and 4:00 p.m.

Members of the troupe who will assist Mrs. Hoxie include 17-year-old Ray Senkowski, current U.S. high school singles champion; Francisco Castillo, state high school tennis champ; Julie Heldman, Detroit Women's city champ; George Karol of the University of Michigan team; Joyce Peniewski and Phyllis Saganski, top Michigan women's players.

One of Mrs. Hoxie's outstanding newcomers, Peaches Barkowicz, 10, will also assist in the demonstrations.

Mrs. Hoxie, who received honors as Michigan's top Woman in Sports, has produced some of the outstanding junior tennis players in the country. Her students have won over 300 junior titles.

Following the demonstrations, which can be attended with no fees, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation department will accept registrations from those interested in taking part in a tennis clinic for two weeks through August 14.

Japanese Win Trans-Pacific Championship

U.S. Tankers Beaten

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's hard-stroking swimmers defeated the United States in the three-day trans-Pacific aquatic championship today by winning the final 800-meter freestyle relay in world record time.

The Japanese relay team swam the final event in 8:21.6, two seconds faster than the world mark set by Australia at Melbourne in December 1956.

Japanese star Tsuyoshi Yamanaka, swimming as anchor man, finished more than three body lengths ahead of Indianapolis' Mike Troy to break a tie in the meet score. This gave Japan its fourth victory in the five meets against America by a 41-38 score.

The United States won eight events and Japan eight in the three-day competition, but the host team collected its edge on second and third places.

* * *

Australian Murray Rose staved off a frantic rally by Japanese arch-rival Tsuyoshi Yamanaka and won the 800-meter freestyle swim in 9:08.6—nearly six seconds faster than the world record.

Yamanaka, who lost by three strokes, was timed in 9:09.7, also bettering the 9:14.5 world record set by Australian Jon Konrads last year.

Jeff Farrell of Yale edged American teammate Joseph Alkire of San Diego, Cal., by three strokes to win the 100-meter freestyle in 56.1 seconds.

* * *

Isao Masuda of Nippon University frog-kicked to a new Japanese record of 1:13.4, followed by teammates Motoi Kimura and Yoshihiko Osaki. Fred Munsch of the New York Athletic Club finished three strokes behind Osaki in 1:15.4, a full second slower than the Japanese swimmer. The Detroit Athletic Club's and Michigan's Ron Clark was fifth in 1:17.

Frank McKinney exceeded his own American record to win the 200-meter back stroke in 2:19.3. McKinney, whose previous best was 2:21.7, finished 1½ body lengths ahead of Chuck Bittick of the Los Angeles Athletic club, whose time was 2:23.2.

Young Tennis Talent Coming to Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—The top young tennis talent in the United States will converge on Kalamazoo next week for the 44th annual National Junior and Boys' Tennis Championships.

About 250 youngsters will compete at Kalamazoo College's Stowe Stadium in the week-long event featuring competition in singles and doubles for both classes.

* * *

Favored in the chase for the junior crown (18-year-olds-and-under) is Chuck McKinley, from St. Ann, Mo., who was runnerup last year to Earl Buchholz Jr. of St. Louis.

* * *

He and Buchholz teamed to win the 1958 junior doubles crown. Buchholz will not be back this year, but seven of the top 10 finishers in the junior singles will return.

Horseshoe Play Until Aug. 20

Inter-League Tourney Slated at Conclusion of Regular Season

City Horseshoe League pitching, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, will continue each Tuesday and Thursday evening at Oakland Park until Aug. 20, league director Herc Renda has announced.

Two separate leagues see action each week with 16 players and eight doubles teams competing in each division.

The top eight singles contestants and the best four doubles teams of each group will meet in an inter-league playoff at the end of the regular season schedule. Plans are also being made for an open city tourney during the Labor Day weekend.

John Vitton in singles and the Walter Barkham-Mike Sapelak team in doubles are currently leading the Tuesday night circuit. Pacing the Thursday night loop are Jim Clarkson in singles, and the Milton Swigert-Clarkson tandem in doubles.

TIME FOR WATERING — A San Francisco Giants' ground crewman waters down the infield after umpires called time and ordered the watering because the dust was so thick Giant infielders complained "you have to plow your way to a ground ball." Giant players Jim Davenport (left) and Ed Bressoud seem to be enjoying the incident.

Milwaukee Falls 3½ Games Behind After Loss to Reds

Braves Drop 7th Straight

By The Associated Press

On June 30, 1953, a guy named Jim Konstanty beat the Dodgers 10-9 in relief when Bill Nicholson scored on a squeeze bunt for the winning Philadelphia run in the 10th against Joe Black.

Pittsburgh beat the Giants 3-1 on June 30, 1953, when Cal Abrams hit an inside-the-park home run and Toby Atwell hit a two-run single. The Chicago Cubs rapped St. Louis 10-3 that day, with Ralph Kiner hitting his 16th homer and driving in three runs.

Konstanty? Nicholson, Black, Abrams? Atwell? Kiner?

That's how long it's been since the Milwaukee Braves last lost seven in a row. Cincinnati did it, 6-3, on June 30, 1953.

Last night, Cincinnati did it again, draping the Braves with their first seven-game skid in six years. The Reds did it with a frolicking, 12-2 breeze while belting one-time nemesis Lew Burdette and tumbling the defending National League champs to fourth place.

Still, the Braves are within 3½ games of San Francisco's leading Giants, whose edge was trimmed to a half-game by second place Los Angeles as Roger Craig outdueled Sam Jones in a double three-hitter for a 1-0 victory.

Pittsburgh moved into third ahead of the Braves, by picking up a 7-6 victory in the completion of a May 10 suspended game with Philadelphia before dropping a regularly scheduled game to the Phillies 4-2. Chicago broke a fifth place tie with St. Louis by belting the Cardinals 8-2.

★ ★ ★

The Braves, who haven't been fourth this late since two years ago (when they won the pennant), helped the Reds to their sixth victory in eight games with three boots good for a half-dozen runs. Don Newcombe (10-5) gave up only five hits, one Johnny Logan's home run in the ninth, walked none, struck out six and drove in three runs with pair of singles among the Reds' 15 hits.

Burdette (12-10), chased in a five-run fifth triggered by Gus Bell's two-on homer, now has lost five of his six decisions in the last month. He's 0-3 against the Red's, the only club he hasn't beaten.

The Dodgers, held hitless for six innings, won in the ninth on a single by Charlie Neal and a double by Gil Hodges—the same pair who homered to get the two-game sweep under way with a 3-2 victory Monday. Hodges also singled for the other hit off Jones, who like Craig walked three and fanned six.

★ ★ ★

The Giants missed putting it away for Jones (13-10) in the seventh, when Willie Mays singled for their third hit and two walks loaded the bases with none out. But Craig (5-1) then retired Jackie Brandt on an infield pop and got pinch-hitter Leon Wagner to hit into a doubleplay.

★ ★ ★

Ted Kluszewski, the Pirates' first hitter when the suspended game was resumed, tagged Jack Meyer's first pitch for a home run, for the cushion they needed. Roy Face, who had relieved winner Harvey Haddix (7-7), gave up Carl Sawatski's two-run homer in the ninth. Jim Hearn, since released by the Phils, was the loser.

Robin Roberts (9-8 beat the Bucs with a five-hitter in the regularly scheduled game, losing his shutout on Rocky Nelson's two-run homer in the eighth. Bob Friend, who has won but four, lost his 12th, giving up a deciding two-run homer by Dave Philley in the seventh.

★ ★ ★

Sammy Taylor's two-run single brought the Cubs from behind for a 3-2 lead in the sixth against loser Larry Jackson (8-8). Jim Marshall's three-run homer and Ernie Banks' solo 26th then made it a romp in the ninth. Art Ceccarelli, an American League castoff, won his third without defeat for the Cubs. Curt Flood hit a two-run homer for the Cards, who had won four in a row.

'Pumpsie' Green Joins Red Sox

One-Time Controversial Player Is First Negro on Boston Club

CHICAGO (AP)—Elijah (Pumpsie) Green, once the unwitting center of a storm of protest charging racial discrimination, has joined the Boston Red Sox.

The Red Sox called up the switch-hitting infielder from their Minneapolis farm club yesterday, after selling veteran infielder Bobby Avila to Milwaukee of the National League.

"I sure was surprised, but real glad. I hope I can help the team," Green said before Boston lost 2-1 to the White Sox.

★ ★ ★

He made a brief appearance as a pinch runner for Vic Wertz in the eighth inning and played shortstop in the ninth. He did not have a fielding chance.

Green is the first Negro to play for the Red Sox. He was with the team in spring training, but was optioned to Minneapolis before the season started.

2 No-Hitters in Class D

Two no-hit pitching performances in the Class D division, one a shutout, grabbed the limelight Tuesday in the City Junior Baseball Leagues.

Darryl Thorpe hurled a no-hit no-run game as Don Nicholie walloped Ritter's Market, 11-0. Thorpe struck out 13 batters and walked only two.

Dave Jones of Lytell & Colegrove pitched the other no-hitter to feature a 10-1 triumph for L & C over the West Bloomfield Boys Club. An unearned run in the 7th inning on an infield error and a passed ball spoiled the shutout. Jones also fanned 13 and walked two.

Johnson's Market and J & R Auto Store battled to an 8-8 deadlock with action stopped after eight innings on account of darkness in the Class E evening loop. Tel-Huron made only three hits, but still walloped West Bloomfield, 13-4.

In the Class E morning circuit, Independence Township nosed out the Junior Jets, 7-6. Rip's Bar & Grill forfeited out of the league by failing to field a complete team for its scheduled game with the Eagles.

The Eastside Dodgers outscored the Metro Chiefs, 18-10, and Malkim scored a 7-6 victory over Perry Drugs in Class F activity. Also in Class F, the Northside Kiwanis defeated the Moose, 23-5, with John Krause getting a home run and two singles, and B & B Sewer shut out the Auburn Heights Boys Club, 8-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Roger Hayward.

The Falcons collected 24 hits while drubbing the Pontiac Firefighters, 26-3, with Don Wright making four-for-four, and the Yankees forfeited to Don Nicholie to round out the Class F slate.

In Widget play, the Webfeet Mets had 17 hits while trouncing the Wild Dogs, 21-16. The losers did not make a hit against hurler Tom Griffin. Doug Gee socked a grand slam homer for the Mets.

Baldwin E. V. B. Church massacred the Fighting 69ers, 32-2, with Noel Campbell homering; Terry Roehm belted his 6th, 7th and 8th homers of the season as Auburn Heights walloped Preston Brothers, 27-3, and Sam Dura had a home run, single and two doubles to headline Hudson's 23-7 rout of Atlas.

Davis, Berry Surprise Arrivals in Colt Camp

★ ★ ★

Davis and offensive end Ray Berry were surprise arrivals at the training camp along with 23 rookies scheduled to start an indoctrination program.

★ ★ ★

Rookie Ed Keiffer, a 5-10, 190-pound halfback from Syracuse, also came to terms at the training camp. Keiffer, the Colts' 25th draft choice, had another year of eligibility for college ball but decided to drop it for the pro ranks.

There was only a light workout Tuesday.

New Football Coach

Bretenstein, a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, succeeds Robert Broome, who died last month.

Lion Rookies Check in at Cranbrook Tomorrow

AP Wirephoto

Six Top Detroit Draft Choices With All-Stars

Coach Wilson to Put Emphasis on 'Youth' Movement

The crew of rookies who checked in at the Detroit Lions' office today drew more than a casual glance from head coach George Wilson. It's apparent that the movement is toward youth for the Lions as they start preparations for their National Football League campaign.

★ ★ ★

Of the 24 rookies drafted by Detroit, the 18 who arrived today will be at Cranbrook tomorrow to receive equipment and physical examinations.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary drills will start Friday for the newcomers and for about a dozen veterans, mostly second-year men, who have been invited to the early sessions.

The six other rookies are working out with the College All-Star team and will join the Lions Aug. 8.

Most significant change resulting from the Lions' current emphasis on the "youth movement" is Wilson's statement that "we're going to switch John Henry (Johnson) to halfback."

Although Johnson was hampered by injuries last season when the Lions rang up a disappointing 4-7-1 record, he was their leading groundgainer and a permanent fixture at fullback when the team won the NFL championship in 1957.

The offensive guard slot seems likely to be filled, in a part-time capacity at least, by one of Detroit's other high draft choices. Rookies who will battle for this position are Mike Rabold of Indiana, Phil Blazer of North Carolina, Bob Grottukau of Oregon and Harry Jacobs of Bradley.

The final Lion representative to the All-Star game, tackle Ron Luciano of Syracuse, is also expected to bolster Detroit's offensive line.

He was assistant line coach at Nebraska last year after earning a first string assignment with the Lions in his first year of pro football in 1957.

The Lions also are expected to rely heavily on three other sophomores to handle starting assignments. They are ends Steve Junker and Jim Gibbons and defensive center Bill Glass.

★ ★ ★

Lion Grid Game for Pre-Season Is Rescheduled

DETROIT (AP) — In order to avoid a conflict with the University of Detroit's home football opener, the Detroit Lions have rescheduled their pre-season game with the Washington Redskins.

The game, previously scheduled for Friday night, Sept. 18, has been set back a night to Sept. 19. It will be staged in Briggs Stadium.

Detroit meets George Washington University in its opener the previous night. The Lions-Redskins clash is the third exhibition game in Detroit this season. The Detroit club will meet New York on Aug. 29 and Cleveland on Sept. 13.

Tourney at Meadowbrook, Aug. 13-16

$50,000 Cost to Stage Motor City

It is costing Meadowbrook Country Club at least $50,000 to stage the sixth annual Motor City open golf tournament Aug. 13-16.

It is customary for a golf club to publish a so-called program that contains overwhelming advertising copy and very little writing — and these programs generally bring in from $80,000 to $130,000.

Many advertisers long have felt that they are being hammered over the head, that they do not realize any real value from the advertising since the amount of program reading is negligible.

So, for the 1959 Motor City Open the people at Meadowbrook have undertaken a new approach to fund-raising. They are using the sponsorship plan started several years ago and staged so successfully for several seasons now in connection with Houston's Colonial Invitational golf tournament.

Under that no-hammer plan, a person, or a firm, becomes a co-sponsor by purchasing $100 worth of tickets. He receives a special pass, special parking and clubhouse privileges and gets his name or a sponsor's billboard.

The tournament thus is guaranteed of a certain amount of money in the bank, is assured of better-than-average crowds.

With the Motor City event still more than three weeks away, the tournament officials have nearly $50,000 in the till — and they are aiming to sell 20 additional sponsorships that would increase the take to $70,000.

The staging of a major tournament, such as the $25,000 Motor City affair, generally involves about five per cent of the club membership. The other 95 per cent do not want the tournament because it deprives them of their course during tournament time.

The argument for hosting such an event is that the city needs an annual major golf tournament, and that such an event adds prestige to the course and the club itself.

Meadowbrook originated the Motor City classic in 1948 and hosted it again in 1954. The 1955 PGA classic also was held at the course in suburban Northville.

"The decision to abandon the customary program with its guaranteed revenue was quite an abrupt departure," he said, "but we decided to give it a try because it has worked so well in Houston for several years now that merchants are actually anxious to take part. Frankly, we're quite happy with the progress we have made, too, especially since this is the first time such a thing has been tried in Michigan."

DRC to Finish This Saturday

Today the purse is $5,000 for the Plymouth handicap, a mile and 1/16th test for three-year-olds.

On Thursday, topping the card is the $7,500 Michigan futurity. This will be the third running of the Futurity, a race limited to two-year-olds foaled in Michigan.

The $10,000 devil diver handicap heads Saturday's closing program.

Three-year-olds and up are eligible for this mile and ⅛ test.

Sally Sharp Is District Victor

Relieved of her State Amateur title last week at Jackson, Sally Sharp of Birmingham bounced back yesterday to win the weekly Women's District Golf Association tournament at Forest Lake Country Club.

Miss Sharp shot 40-37—77 over her home Forest Lake course against women's par of 39-36—75 for a five-stroke margin over her nearest competitors.

Mrs. R. E. Leahy and Mrs. J. P. Stapchinskas tied for 2nd place with 82's. Leading scores in the field of 89 players:

Sally Sharp	40-37—77
Mrs. R. E. Leahy	41-41—82
Mrs. J. P. Stapchinskas	40-42—82

49ers, Redskins Deal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers traded Bobby Hoppe, defensive halfback, to the Washington Redskins for a high choice in the National Football League draft yesterday.

3 Lion Rookies Sign for '59

DETROIT (AP) — Three more rookies, including a lineman from Michigan State, have signed their 1959 contracts with the Detroit Lions.

Guard Jerome McFarland, a 230-pounder who earned three letters with the Spartans, came to terms along with halfback Ray Carter of Youngstown and guard Doug Kramer of Dayton.

All three signed as free agents and will report Thursday to head coach George Wilson when the Lions begin drills at Cranbrook school.

Carter is a 180-pounder who has run the 100-yard dash in :09.3. Kramer weighs 235 pounds and will try for an offensive line spot.

Giants Sign 2 Aces

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants have signed defensive aces Andy Robustelli and Tom Scott to 1959 National Football League contracts. Robustelli will be starting his ninth pro season while Scott, recently acquired from the Philadelphia Eagles, begins his seventh.

Cruising Club 'Trails' to Interesting Waters

By the Press Outdoors Editor

The old song about "Cruising Down the River," on a Sunday afternoon could well be the theme melody for a happy group of Pontiac area motorboat enthusiasts.

Almost every Sunday, and on most holidays during the past two summers the 20 to 25 members of the Pontiac Cruising club pack up, take off for some interesting waterway about Michigan, or even into Canada. But there's a big difference than just "taking off."

Each member trailers his boat. The club forms a "buddy" sort of caravan, going two-by-two, usually following a 5:30 a.m. rendevous at a Drayton Plains parking area. "Buddies" are designed to aid one another, in case of need enroute to the "dunking" spot. Also, the system breaks up the trippers to avoid any traffic situations on the road.

This year is actually the 3rd for the group, formed to sail new waters, enjoy outings and good companionships. Richard Carlsen of Drayton Plains is generally regarded as the "father" of the club. Its officers are Harley Hyatt, veteran area amateur golfer as commodore; Carlsen, vice commodore; Tom Brooks, cruise master; assistant, Jay Smith; secretary-treasurer, George Barbour of Milford, and public relations, Elsie Joyce.

VISIT MANY NEW WATERWAYS

So far this summer the club has cruised to Mitchell Bay, Dresden and Chatham, in Canada (Mitchell Bay last weekend, where the trip was an overnight stay Saturday), Grand Haven, Torch Lake, the Saginaw river, a shakedown cruise to Lake Fenton, and at Port Huron. Al Daisley, junior cruisemaster, handled last weekend's trip. Past cruisemaster's cruise is planned for the next jaunt and a "mystery cruise" is coming up soon. Only the cruisemaster will know where the waters to be visited are located.

Trips cover from 60 to 125 miles. All have been made without mishap, or difficulty of any kind, either on road, or water. Boats range in size from 14 to 19 feet, have power plants averaging 50 hp.

There's a specially-equipped Red Cross boat, flying the familiar flag, a mechanic's boat, with tools, flying a flag bearing a wrench symbol. Cruise flags are orange and black, carrying the club name and owners' registry number. Elmer Bauer's boat is the Red Cross "Ship," Paul Green's the mechanic "shop." All club boats comply fully with safety rules and equipment.

FISHING'S GOOD—HERE'S PROOF

An unusually big calico was taken this week by Glenn Slankster, 3216 Pridham, KH. The fish was 13½ inches long, 1¼-pounds heavy, taken on Otter lake with a cane pole rig. Mrs. Slankster, Mrs. John Doyen were along and helped take 8 other gills, 20 bullheads.

Albert Gay, 8027 Flagstaff, Union Lake, reports his all-time biggest perch, taken at the UP's lake Gogebic. It was 15½ inches long, weighed two pounds. His party got 15-20 about that size (his parents Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gay of Commerce, Mrs. Gay and Fred Humm of Commerce).

Fishing at Five-Channels dam on the AuSable, Robert Ihrke, 465 Going, took a 3-pound, 17-inch long smallmouth bass, the biggest bass of his fishing experience. His dad, Herman, 389 Prospect, was with him.

Larry Schneider, 9, and his brother Danny, 11, had an exciting time on Pine Lake, landing a 2-pound, 10-ounce largemouth bass. The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schneider of 2594 Pine Ridge and attend Our Lady of Refuge school. They were fishing at Shorty Hook's place.

Mrs. Floyd Sinkler, 907 Opdyke, landed a 4-pound, 12-ounce smallmouth bass on Portage lake, at Chassell, in the UP, while fishing with her husband, brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas West (Walled Lake). Her prize was 19 inches long, 15 inches in girth.

Darlene Wieling, 11½, who just started fishing a year ago caught two fine trout on Maceday lake, the biggest a 13½-incher. She lives near the airport.

SEEK INFORMATION ABOUT BANDED PIGEONS

Several area residents have sought information recently about ownership of pigeons either disabled, flight-worn, or dead, all bearing aluminum bands . . . Any one knowing identity of bands No. AU59, GMC 4-6-8, (found on beige and white bird by Mrs. Russell Gottschall); No. 944-AU-59 (gray-barred, injured, died; found by Joey and Danny Fisher), call The Press Outdoor editor.

Deer Harvest May Be Hiked

LANSING — With Michigan's deer herd faring well numerically but its major feeding range badly overbrowsed, Conservation Department game officials have tentatively set their sights on a harvest of 116,000 whitetails during this fall's deer seasons.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

During their informal review of the state's deer picture before the Conservation Commission last week, game men explained the anticipated kill mark would be sought by increasing special season permits and areas covered under "any deer" shooting.

★ ★ ★

Recommended regulations for these seasons will be formally presented to the Commission during its August 6-7 meeting at the Higgins Lake training school. This meeting will be open to the public.

As informally outlined, 100,500 special permits would be offered. Some 55,265 were issued last year. Thirty-nine areas would be open to "any deer" hunting, covering 18,457 square miles. Last year, 13,670 square miles were open in 37 special areas.

Illness Hits Holly Canoeists' Chances

2nd at Prince George

The Pontiac area's premier canoe racing team, one of the nation's top paddling combinations has returned from a long, arduous trip to British Columbia and the gruelling 144-mile Prince George marathon. Both Albert and LeRoy Widing were tired, but in good condition. They made the trip by automobile, carrying their canoes on top.

One of the toughest races ever paddled by the Holly pair, they reported that they came through a terrific test in good shape, finishing 2nd to their traveling companions, the Oscoda team of Ralph Sawyer and Jerry Wagner, friendly rivals of years' standing.

The Widings will get a brief rest before getting ready for the Aug. 2 Five-Channel (AuSable), Aug. 9 Caseville, and the annual Pere Marquette river test at Ludington on Aug. 16.

Illness that hit Albert prior to the race, after the boys had turned in some fast practice runs, hit their chances when the big race came off. They were only 12 minutes back of Sawyer and Wagner, the winners. Winning time was 13½ hours, three below the 1958 figure.

Heavy water, with the Prince George river at its highest point in years, and one seven mile stretch of rapids proved a tough obstacle. Fifteen canoes started, but only nine finished.

The Widings say the Canadian course was one of the best they had ever paddled. They, and their families are already talking about making the trip back to Prince George next summer.

TUNEUP JOB — Doing a bit of work on his motor, in preparation for coming events was Pontiac's Hank W. Ball (above) active 48-class boat racing driver, who was a winner last two times out. His Wait-4-Me (Y-77) is shown on the trailer with which Ball takes it to the various regattas in which he competes. Ball designed and built the hydroplane, his 4th racing boat.

Hank Ball Builds Own Racing Boats

Enjoys Winning Season

Hank has campaigned his "Wait-4-Me," a 48-class inboard speedster to four wins, several seconds and some third places, trailering his hydro around the Midwest for regional, invitational and other sanctioned regattas.

"The "Wait" is his fourth speedboat, all of which have been designed and built by the driver. He does all his motor work, also, using a basic Crosley four as his power plant.

"This is by far my best boat" says Hank. But he added quickly, "It will not be the last one."

Ball's latest win was at Columbus Ohio, a victory that boosted his official racing points to 1,500. He will seek more points at Salina, Ohio, at Melbourne, Ky., and probably later on at Buffalo, N.Y. and Madison, Ind. regattas.

Usually several carloads of friends go along on Hank's racing trips. There were nine persons in the group that accompanied him to the Columbus regatta.

Bar Bathers at Fish Sites

LANSING — Seven public fishing sites in southern Michigan have been closed to swimming, wading, bathing and loitering by the Conservation Department.

As designed, the ban will return these sites to their original use as public acess points. All seven are too small to permit a multiple use arrangement.

The restriction covers sites at Duck lake, Calhoun county; Diamond lake, Cass county; Woodland lake, Livingston county; Lakeville, Maceday and Union lakes, Oakland county; and Gravel lake, Van Buren county.

When outboard motor electrical needs consisted of ignition only, the flywheel magneto circuit was quite simple and entirely self-contained, but with bigger engine sizes these days, the use of starters and generators call for a far more extensive system.

When the starter is turning over the engine, heavy current flows. For this reason cables must be kept reasonably short. Where it is necessary to mount the battery some distance from the motor to improve weight distribution or for stowage convenience, special oversized cables must be used to prevent voltage drop.

Measure the length you need, and your dealer will order them for you if he doesn't have them in stock.

If your boat has no protective motor well, avoid placing the battery directly under the forward carrying handle. When the engine tilts it may damage or short-circuit the battery.

A fiberglas battery box is the best deal, protecting both the battery and the boat. In any case, the battery should be firmly tied down.

Two remote-control push buttons on the instrument panel lead to each outboard engine through low-amperage circuits which can be as long as you wish. Each button operates a solenoid, an electro-magnetic device for converting electricity into motion.

One solenoid closes a heavy-duty switch connecting the battery to the starter motor. The other closes the intake butterfly valve to choke the engine.

Flooding from over-choking is prevented either by spring-loading the butterfly valve just enough so that the vacuum created when the engine starts will open the valve, or by a series vacuum switch to open the circuit.

The alternator-rectifier systems are of simpler appearance, since all solenoids can be contained within the power head assembly. Direct current generators require voltage regulators, and these, along with the starter solenoids, are contained in junction boxes attached to the inside of the transom.

Unless you are familiar with electrical circuits and have had practical experience it's best to have your marine dealer make the complete installation.

Parseghian Guest at Football Clinic

Bill Perigo, Michigan basketball coach and Jack Heppinstall, retired Michigan State trainer, will handle other phases of the clinic.

High school coaches taking part will be Bill Doolittle of Flint Central. Walt Pawlowski of Holt, Gus Ganakas of East Lansing and Charles Hollosy of Detroit Austin.

The clinic is co-sponsored by the Michigan High School Athletic Assn. and Central Michigan University.

Raven Hill Pups Add More Wins in Monroe Match

Those Raven Hill Great Danes, Hank and Mary Jane Roberts' "Sugarfoot" and "Susie," have done it again.

Raven Hill's Sugarfoot Stomp went first in the male division of the 4-6-months-old puppies and sister Santuzza's Shadow was tops in the same class for females in the Monroe Kennel Club Show. Win was 2nd in a row for Sugarfoot and 3rd straight for Susie.

If the puppies do all right in several upcoming matches, the Roberts plan to enter them in the big Chagrin Valley show in Cleveland on Aug. 23.

'Duckerbird' Takes Place in Obedience

The winner, also winner of the utility class, was the well-known C.I Duckerbird Atomic, 3rd, owned by Charles Franks. Franks also had another winner in open B class, with his springer, Sho Hunt Bondon Tango CD. Duckerbird had 199½ points, Tango 199.

Other area dogs included:

Mrs. Maria Hayes (Troy) with Ch. Siefenjagenheim Vicki, dachshund, in novice B; Linda Armstrong's (Pontiac) retriever Golden Lady 193½ for a CD 193½; Henry Burkette, novice A, Art, a German shorthair, 187; Mrs. Lliv Boykin, Pontiac, boxer Suchess Dorcus Deidre, 192, novice A; James McKim, Waterford, miniature pinscher Bright Sparkle, 189 in novice B.

Wins Gold Cup Sail

Piloting his 3-year-old 5.5-meter Sabre with skill, Fay crossed the finish line more than two minutes ahead of Olympic champion Lasse Thoern of Sweden. Norway's Crown Prince Harold was third.

In Gold Cup competition, the first boat to win three round is declared the winner and awarded the cup.

Parks Will Turn Away 28,000 Camping Groups

LANSING — A lack of camping facilities will force Conservation Department parks men to turn away more than 28,000 camping groups at state parks and recreation areas in Michigan this year.

After last year when a record 134,500 camping permits were issued, Department officials noted a need for balancing campers with camping facilities, principally disposal systems. In too many cases these systems had been over-taxed creating dangerous unsanitary conditions.

Since funds were not available for adding or expanding these systems, the Department was forced to reduce usable campsites where these sites exceeded the new limit.

Thus campsite cutbacks were imposed at Baraga, Porcupine Mountains, Straits, Tahquamenon Falls, Fort Wilkins and Wells state parks in the Upper Peninsula.

Cutbacks were made at Lakeport, Sleeper and Warren Dunes parks and Metamora, Pinckney, Island Lake and Waterloo recreation areas in the souther Lower Peninsula.

90 Boats Expected in Lake Huron Race

PORT HURON (AP) — Spokesmen for the Bayview Yacht Club, sponsors of the annual Port Huron to Mackinac yacht race, said Tuesday 88 entries have been received for this year's race up Lake Huron.

Officials said more than 90 boats may be registered for the 285-mile race by the Friday night deadline.

Lombardo Names Pilot

SEATTLE (AP) — Guy Lombardo, the band leader whose avocation is boat racing, has named Mira Slovak of Seattle to drive his jet-powered hydroplane in an onslaught on the world speedboat record sources here reported.

The record of 248.62 miles an hour was set Nov. 11, 1958, by Donald Campbell of Great Britain in his jet-propelled Bluebird.

Expert Tells How to Bone Fish

BUHL, Idaho (AP)—Ever tote home a mess of fresh-caught fish and had the little lady greet you:

Maybe you can't do much with the slight odor, but take it from a professional fish packer — a woman at that — you can do something about the bones.

Mrs. Paul Hunt works for a trout processing company in Southern Idaho and some days she debones a thousand fish.

She and other boners in the plant use a special plastic holder to grasp the fish while they clean them. You'll have to rely on a strong grip or the kids.

1. Eviscerate the fish (not in the kitchen) and wash it with cool water.

2. With a sharp knife, cut along both sides of the dorsal top fin to a depth of one-half inch. Lift out the fin.

3. Flip the fish on its back, head toward you. Cut through the ribs along a line from the rear of the backbone to where the bone ends at the head, again cutting about a half-inch deep. Cut on both sides of the backbone. Turn the fish with the head away. Near the tail and from the point where you began your backbone cuts, cut toward the tail and under the backbone, slicing the caudal (tail) fine attachment. Do this on both sides also. The entire backbone, including the anal (rear) fin can now be pried from the body cavity with the knifepoint. A bit of tissue at the extreme ends of the backbone still holds it to the body but these are snipped with scissors.

4. The fish is now bonelsss except for the head, tail and ribs, lying against the sides. Again with the head toward you, and with the sharpest knife in hand, skin and peel the ribs and their thin covering of tissue carefully from each side.

5. If the little woman is ultra sensitive, lop off the head and tail.

Bob Considine Says:

Nixon Rewriting Speeches for Trip

WASHINGTON — In the crowded last days and hours before taking off on what could very well be a most momentous trip through the Soviet Union, Vice President Dick Nixon has had the problem of rewriting what the state department hacks feel he should say when called upon.

His suggested opening remarks upon his arrival at Moscow Airport, to open the first American fair the Communists have allowed in the U.S.S.R., were so filled with cliches and diplomatese that Nixon sat down and revised not only the wording but the posture and stance. He put some guts back into the talk, as outlined earlier.

He will be called upon to make other speeches, short ones mainly, at other Russian cities on his schedule. State forwarded the proper things for him to say — having to do with the place's bigness, smallness, ethnic flavor, production, role in World War II, place in history, etc. Nixon's rewrite will be earthier. It will have to do more with people than produce, more with men than materiel.

He will spend next Sunday with Khrushchev but, as of last night, he wasn't sure at which of the dictator's dachas, or country places. He's not sure it will be a lunch, a dinner, a talk, or an Indian wrestling match. Whatever, he'll insist that the American reporters covering the trip have the same access to what transpires as Tass and Izvestia.

★ ★ ★

Nixon doesn't want to associate himself with the dreary hogdown in Geneva, as suggested by Secretary of State Herter. If he makes a stop in Europe, coming out, he'd like to make it at Warsaw. The importance of such a visit hardly needs delineation. It would come hard on the heels of Khrushchev's visit there and involve such things as U.S. aid to that semi-satellite, our posture toward such conditions, a reassurance to eastern Europe that we still know what the score is.

The Russians are going to give Nixon an hour on their TV and radio, and here again we have the vice president in a mood to rewrite. The appearance is to be at the end of his visit and will take note of what he saw, the people he talked to, impressions gained, and so forth. Naturally, this talk has not yet been written. But Nixon is insisting that it be in the off-the-cuff and down-to-earth mood that Prime Minister Macmillan used when given the same opportunity. The state department has its misgivings.

As far as Nixon knows, the U.S. embassy in Moscow has no plans to acknowledge the presence in Russia of about 70 American newsmen representing all U.S. news services, radio and TV networks, news magazines, syndicates and major newspapers. It will invite Khrushchev to a luncheon it gives for the vice president and admit perhaps two of the 70 reporters. Because of starchy protocol, which penetrates the Iron Curtain better than the Voice Of America, Khrushchev cannot give Nixon a formal banquet because Nixon is not a head of state.

The vice president will return part of the way home in the newsmen's chartered Pan American 707. En route to whatever point it is — Keflavik in Iceland or Gander in Newfoundland — he'll hold an airborne on-the-record talk about what he thought about the trip, and following that an off-the-record account of what he really thought. Both should be interesting.

Inside Russia, Nixon will fly in Russia's famous but now somewhat obsolete TU-104 — a twin-jet which scarcely could get governmental approval to fly in this country. But, if exterior appearances count, he's looking forward to the experience.

Charlevoix Atomic Plant Won't Hike Power Rates

LANSING (UP) — A Consumers Power Co. official says construction of a 30-million-dollar atomic electric power plant near Charlevoix would not lead to a rate increase for company customers.

That assurance came from James H. Campbell, senior vice president, in testimony before the State Public Service Commission.

The PSC called the hearing on the company's request to charge off 10 million dollars of the construction costs to research and development, amortizing the figure against business expenses for a period ending in 1973. The company maintained a plant of the same capacity using conventional equipment would cost 20 million dollars.

"We think that prudent foresightedness requires that we engage in the development of atomic-power electric generating plants in order to meet the challenge in tthe future as Michigan continues to crow, industrially and otherwise," Campbell said.

Lively Trading Spurs Market

U. S. Steel and Lukens ran up close to a point. Bethlehem added a fraction. Colorado Fuel & Iron picked up about a point.

Ford, which reported sharply higher first half earnings, paced a firm motors group by picking up around 1½. General Motors and American Motors advanced nearly a point. Chrysler was about a half point higher.

Firecracker Blast Injures 12-Year-Old

Bruce W. McVittie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. McVittie, of 29 E. Washington St., was playing with firecrackers at a lake behind his home.

Won't Fight Williams on Election Bill Veto

LANSING (AP)— A Detroit Democrat last night suddenly called off his plan to try to upset Gov. Williams' veto of a Wayne County election bill.

"It would probably do more harm than good to try to fight the veto," said Rep. E. D. O'Brien after conferring at length with the Democratic House floor leader, Joseph Kowalski of Detroit.

O'Brien said he was "surprised and disappointed" that the governor's first veto of the session yesterday struck down a measure sponsored by a Democrat, himself.

In rejecting the bill, the governor said it violates a basic Democratic principle — namely, that precinct delegates are accountable to voters of their precincts.

Destructive Thieves Ransack Irish Tavern

The Irish Tavern, 4703 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, was ransacked early yesterday and five cases of beer and an undetermined amount of money stolen, according to the owner, Walter Summers.

He told Waterford Township Police that when he came to work at 10 a.m. the back door was open, and vending machines, pool tables and juke boxes were smashed.

Rainfall Sets Off Profit Taking

CHICAGO (AP) — Reports of rainfall overnight set off profit taking again today in new crop soybean futures but the July delivery was steady to firm during early dealings on a good volume of short covering.

Brokers said the new crop soybeans appeared to have been due for at least moderate selling even though there had been no moisture in the producing areas.

They noted that the price rise in those deliveries had been rapid during the past week or so with setbacks small and of short duration.

After about an hour wheat was ⅜ cent a bushel lower to ¼ higher, July $1.86⅝; corn ⅛ to 1 cent lower, July $1.25⅝; oats ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, July new-type contract 69⅞; rye ¾ to 1¼ lower, July $1.27¾; soybeans ¾ to 1½ lower, July $2.22.

Representative Diggs Files Suit for Divorce

DETROIT (AP)—Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr. (D-Mich) has filed suit for divorce. He has been married 12 years.

The circuit court case was suppressed, preventing disclosure of charges pending a hearing Friday or a property settlement.

Diggs was elected to Congress from Detroit's 13th district in 1954 and was re-elected in 1956 and 1958. Previously he served three years in the state Senate. He was Michigan's first Negro congressman.

Detroit-Windsor Tunnel Fare Increase Refused

DETROIT (AP)— A proposed fare increase for the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel has been turned down by Canada's Board of Transport Commissioners.

The Detroit and Windsor Tunnel Co. had asked that the one-way fare for a car and single passenger be raised from 60 to 65 cents and the cost of a commuter ticket be increased from 40 to 45 cents.

The company said the increase was needed to avert a deficit because of declining traffic.

Detroit Edison President to Tour Soviet Plants

DETROIT (UPI)—Walker L. Cisler, president of Detroit Edison Co., was to leave today for a month-long tour of electric power installations and manufacturing plants in the Soviet Union.

In Moscow he expects to meet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov, whom he hosted while the Soviet official was visiting Detroit earlier this month.

Cisler will be in a group of 10 American electric-power executives who will be in Russia more than a month.

Pinch Isn't Felt Yet

Steel Strikers Line Up for Pay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nationwide steel strike entered its second week today but most steelworkers have yet to feel any pinch in the pocketbook.

Many drew full two-week paychecks Tuesday and others have similar pays coming. In another two weeks, most steelworkers will collect three or four more days' pay for work up to the strike July 15.

Steelworkers also may draw two weeks vacation pay if they wish.

"This strike is silly. I sure hope it's over very soon," said Harry chedwick, 39-year-old father of six. "Nobody worries about Harry, except Harry. Every day I lose money means a tremendous loss to my family."

Steelworker Edward Davis commented: "Nobody wanted to strike and very few men wanted a raise in pay. However, we are glad to strike if it means holding on to some of our benefits."

In addition to the 500,000 striking United Steelworkers, the shutdown has idled some 45,500 workers in allied industries. Hardest hit are railroads, coal mines, truckers and Great Lakes shippers.

In Cleveland, a spokesman for 18 trucking firms which haul steel said 500 more truck drivers were laid off Tuesday. That brought the total to 1,000. Some 100 truckers were idled in Pittsburgh.

Meanwhile, an agreement was reached permitting some 1,000 supervisory and salaried employes of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. to come and go freely at the firm's Pittsburgh and Aliquippa, Pa., works without inteference from pickets. The company agreed to drop court injunction proceedings.

In Detroit, the McLouth Steel Corp. charged striking pickets with keeping 15 maintenance men inside its plants. There was no comment from the union.

City Mulls Over Center Proposal

Investors Ask Pontiac to Lease Development Costing $921,000

City commissioners have under study a prospectus for a $921,000 community center in southwest Pontiac. The city is being asked to consider a leasing arrangement to help finance its construction.

★ ★ ★

The prospectus was presented by Commissioner Milton R. Henry, who is backing the project.

Figures on construction and operating costs were submitted over the name of William Goodman, Pontiac department store owner and landholder.

Goodman heads a group of investors who are willing to put up private capital to build the building, he said, if the city is willing to lease it for 25 years at a rental fee of $60,000 a year.

Goodman said this rate would net investors an annual, 6½ per cent profit on their investment.

According to his figures, it was estimated that the city could make a net profit of about $8,000 a year on the community center, at the same time gaining another $12,000 a year in property taxes from it.

These profits would come through operation of a 16-lane bowling alley and a 15-square foot skating rink which, he said, together with a 10,000-square foot multi-purpose area constitute the main recreation features planned for the center.

Goodman said he is prepared to sell as site for the center a five-acre parcel at Gillespie and Branch streets at a price of $40,000.

The prospectus listed as other initial expenses $670,000 for construction of a one-story building and a 300-car parking lot and $211,000 for equipment.

Henry believed that the city could operate the center "as a completely self-sustaining enterprise."

He said that reports are being readied on a posible design for the building and the need for recreational facilities to combat juvenile delinquency.

Smashup Injures Father, Two Sons

A Waterford Township father and two sons were injured Tuesday when their car smashed into the rear of another auto in front of 3738 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, Oakland County sheriff's deputies reported today.

Robert J. Lang, 33, of 3832 Faber Dr., and his sons Richard, 9, and John, 5, were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

The other driver, James L. Kling, 18, of 1210 E. Lincoln Rd., Royal Oak, said an auto ahead of him had suddenly stopped to turn left and he was forced to stop to avoid a collision.

Pontiac Students Taking Supermarket Course

Two January graduates of Pontiac Central High School are participating in supermarket distribution, a new education program offered at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

Garner Grogan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Garner Grogan Sr., of 547 W. Huron St., and Ronald L. Bunch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bunch, of 675 Second St., will alternate periods of on-campus classes with periods of supervised work experience in co-operating supermarkets.

The two-year curriculum, believed to be the first of its kind in the United States, prepares young men for management careers in the supermarket industry.

$133,000 for Introductions

She Hits Insuranceman With a Giant Law Suit

LONDON (UPI) —A Belgian divorcee who said she had been described as "Washington's No. 3 hostess" is suing a British insurance broker for the six figure salary she says he owes her for arranging introductions to top U.S. officials.

★ ★ ★

The divorcee, Mrs. Martha Brusset, 50, did not name any exact figure when her suit against Lloyds' of London agent Edward Lumley opened here yesterday.

But she contended that Lumley owed her "133,000 pounds plus" — more than $372,000— for the five years she worked consultant woman."

Mrs. Brusset testified she had given many lavish parties in Washington, and had visited the White House "more than once." She said she gave her parties "so that people could meet."

DENIES BLACKMAIL

The 50-year-old divorcee testified that she had been in love with Lumley and had had a heart attack and attempted to commit suicide when he broke off their relationship in 1956.

She denied a suggestion that her suit constituted blackmail.

Mrs. Brusset, who formerly had been married to a Belgian diplomat, showed up in court looking slim and elegant in a black Dior silk suit.

"What did you do to earn $78,400 a year?" Fearnley-Whittingstall asked her.

"I introduced nearly 50 people to Mr. Lumley," Mrs. Brusset replied. "One of them was the French ambassador to the United Nations."

"What did he want to do — insure the Suez Canal?" the lawyer asked. "Were you supposed to stroll through the salons of Europe and if you met anyone who wanted to insure their motor car, you sent a postcard to Mr. Lumley?"

VALUABLE TO BUSINESS

"He wasn't interested in motor cars," she said. "He was only interested in big business."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Brusset said her contacts among crongressmen, government officials and diplomats made her valuable to American businesses.

Before joining Lumley in 1951 she had worked for various other companies at up to $80,000 a year, she said.

She testified her job provided her with a $2,500-a-month expense account, an eight-bedroom house in Washington, two Cadillacs and three servants.

She also maintained a house at Franconia, N. H., she said.

★ ★ ★

American lawyer John M. Keesing, former president of two corporations that employed Mrs. Brusset, testified yesterday that she was "friendly with eight to 10 ambassadors in America and also with top people at the United Nations."

Dairymen of the U. S. have an income estimated somewhat in excess of $4.6 billion each year.

Vets Fund Move Crushed Again

Rebel GOP Senator Fails as Republicans Reaffirm Stand

LANSING (AP)—A rebel Republican move to spring loose the veterans trust fund to pay Michigan's most distressed creditors was crushed in the Senate last night.

A 19 to 11 vote of rejection underscored the fastness of the majority Republican stand for sitting on the 50 million dollar fund until Democrats accept their proposed use (sales) tax increase.

And it was a sharp rebuff to Sen. John A. Stahlin (R-Belding), author of the defeated plan, who was accused of conducting a race for Congress from the Senate floor. Stahlin denied it.

Bitter words marked the 40-minute debate labeled by one Senator a farce. Both Democratic Gov. Williams and the GOP leadership were described as "blind."

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland), who applied the tag to Williams, disputed Stahlin's appraisal of the state's cash situation as acute and answered his criticism of GOP Senate tactics.

Stahlin said that he approved last April 23 when the GOP majority took its present position on the trust fund.

Meanwhile backers of the Lesinski-Green tax compromise plan worked feverishly today to patch gaping holes that would triple business taxes paid by thousands of Michigan firms.

The four-bill package, hastily drawn last week by Reps. T. John Lesinski (D-Detroit) and Allison Green (R-Kingston), would couple a use (sales) tax increase with a business profits tax.

The pair huddled late into the night with state revenue experts to iron out bugs that embarrassed some of the 56 other signers of the bills, 28 from each party.

The House Taxation Committee sent the four bills to the House floor last night withut any recommendation. This requires 56 votes — a majority — to bring them up for debate.

Meanwhile there were signs that a flat rate income tax package drafted by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), tax committee chairman, was again on the verge of a House vote.

Train Engineers Need Firemen for Extra Eyes

ST. PAUL, MINN. (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said Monday he will fight to keep locomotive firemen on train crews as needed "co-pilots" for public protection.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

He said the firemen on a modern diesel locomotive is "another set of eyes and ears for the engineer" as well as supervisor of production of power. He said he is as needed as the "co-pilot" of an airplane.

Rain, Hail Damage Crops in Austria and Hungary

Help Wanted Male 19

Management Trainees

Do you consider yourself capable of competing with top quality men for top quality positions in a top quality organization? Do you really feel you have the ability to ultimately qualify for top responsibility positions?

If you're between 20 and 26, have college training (or its equivalent in business experience), like to sell, get along well with people, like the challenge of keen competition, and have a creative imagination . . .

WE WOULD LIKE TO DISCUSS YOUR AMBITIONS AND CAREER WITH YOU.

Adequate starting salaries and good training! There are no gimmicks — you'll be expected to work, think, and plan with the best! But if you're better than good, there is an unlimited career opport

Showgirl in Mexico to Divorce Billy Rose

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—Joyce Mathews, former New York showgirl, was scheduled to appear in a Juarez court today for a divorce from Broadway producer Billy Rose.

Juarez court sources indicated the decree, which is uncontested, should be granted Thursday.

Miss Mathews was to appear in person before Judge Ignacio Martinez Aguayo of the First Civil Court to ask for the separation on the ground of incompatability of characters.

Miss Mathews and Rose were married three years ago in New York when she was 36 and he was 56, but their romance had come to light in 1951 when she slashed her wrist and tried to jump out of a window of Rose's New York apartment.

Rose previously had been married to commedienne Fanny Brice and swimmer Eleanor Holm. Miss Mathews had been married on two different occasions to comedian Milton Berle. Her first marriage was to Gonzalo Gomez, son of a Venezuelan political leader.

'Frisco and L.A. Battle It Out for First Place

By EARL WILSON

BEVERLY HILLS — We have to start thinking of Los Angeles as potentially the biggest city in the world and of Las Vegas as its playpen, its Girltown, where people go to let off steam and money.

WILSON

San Francisco, the rival to the north, doesn't like to think of Los Angeles that way San Francisco, in fact, doesn't like to think of Los Angeles.

Your San Franciscans have all the warmth for Hollywood that Fort Worth feels for Dallas, and that St. Paul cherishes for Minneapolis.

And I fear the dislike spreads. When Ingemar Johannson announced that he would probably defend his title in Los Angeles, adding, "I like Los Angeles because I've never been there," this was gleefully seized upon by San Francisco Examiner columnist Prescott Sullivan.

"Thing it over and you'll agree that never having been there is the best possible reason for anyone liking Los Angeles," he said.

"What other reason is there for liking it? Can L.A. be liked for its smog, its monstrous freeway traffic jams . . . is it to be venerated for its oppressive heat, its crackpots, the Dodgers?"

To this, Matt Weinstock in the Los Angeles Mirror-News replied, "My, my, such bitterness. Only thing to do is smile and whip out the population figures."

I'd like to point out as a neutral outsider that it's possible to have a deep affection for both cities.

★ ★ ★

(I suppose I'll be accused of carrying scotch-and-water on both shoulders.)

It's accepted that Los Angeles has little night entertainment. Talking to Barbara Nichols, the Hollywood starlet, I inquired, "Where do you go in this town at night for some entertainment?"

"Home!" she answered instantly.

BARBARA

In San Francisco, of course, you can always go mountain-climbing on the city's hills, and if you should slip, you'll probably fall into a saloon, of which there are many with their arms wide open for the weary traveler.

San Francisco, in fact, drinks more per capita than any other American city. In Los Angeles it is claimed that San Francisco is drinking to try to forget Los Angeles.

The Angelinos (as they call the L.A. citizens) go to Las Vegas where, for example, they can hear Milton Berle saying, "Milton—you've got some mighty funny lines—but they're Milton, "What would you like to hear?"—and Milton answer: in your face." Or hear harmonica wizard Stan Fischer ask "Louis Prima—but we're stuck with you."

Do I make it sound gruesome? Anyway, as the San Franciscans like to mention, Los Angeles has plenty of good restaurants in easy access. It's only an hour and 5 minutes by jet now, they point out—slying, to San Francisco.

EARL'S PEARLS: A local showgirl boasts: "When I get married, it'll be for good—and plenty." . . . That's earl, brother.

Peck's Bad Girl Falling Far Short of Potential

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although Peck's Bad Girl doesn't fade from the CBS-TV schedule until next month, I'd like to give it an early send-off into oblivion.

This is one family situation comedy flop that seemed content to wallow in the trivia and pollyannaisms of all the other family-type shows on TV instead of striving to live up to its promising concept.

The solemn purpose of Peck's Bad Girl, as I saw it, was to teach Americans to honor and respect eggheads. This would be achieved by dealing with the family life of a research physicist played by Wendell Corey.

Now that's a noble girl. But instead of giving us the egghead and his offspring on a take-it-or-leave-it basis, they tried to prove that if you scratch a scientist, you find a Yogi Berra underneath.

In TV terms, that means the egghead is only fond of watching fights on TV, has a sharp sense of humor and is often befuddled by the children. That moved Peck's Bad Girl right back to the Danny Thomas-Donna Reed-Robert Young & Co. group.

SHORT SHOTS: On NBC-TV's It Could Be You, emcee Bill Leyden asked a lady in the audience to recite what he had just said. She replied, "I don't know—I was watching television."

The Andy Williams show on CBS-TV is holding up beautifully. Even Andy Griffith and his Broadway-hillbilly act benefitted by the highly creative staging and writing found on this show.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Trade sources report there is "a 50-50 chance" that Marlene Dietrich will sign with a cosmetics firm (Revlon) and serve as hostess on the new 90-minute variety show that will alternate with Playhouse 90 next season. Negotiations, which began five weeks ago, are still in progress.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's TV kicks off live from New York on Tuesday, Oct. 27 with a 90-minute version of "Bells of St. Mary's," produced by David Susskind.

Other productions in this series are as follows: Monday, Dec. 7, "Philadelphia Story," on NBC-TV; Thursday, Jan. 7, "Mrs. Miniver," on CBS-TV; Friday, Feb. 19, "The Citadel," on ABC-TV; Sunday, March 20, "Valley of Decision" on CBS-TV; Wednesday, April 20, "Ninotchka," on ABC-TV.

Drive Away Frogmen

TAIPEI (AP) — The defense ministry reported Communist frogmen sneaked ashore on Quemoy last night but were driven off by gunfire. The defense ministry did not estimate the number. Frogmen of both sides are trained in sabotage.

Report Queen 'Perfectly Fit'

Starts Touring Vast Wheat Province of Saskatchewan

The Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, were scheduled to spend two hours in Saskatoon, during which they will open a power plant, tour the University of Saskatchewan, visit City Hall and drive around an outdoor stadium so townspeople can get a glimpse of them.

They then will board the 16-car royal train and make 10-minute stopovers at Dundern, Hanley, Davidson, Craik and Chamberlain, before winding up the day with a visit to Moose Jaw, Sask. tonight.

The 33-year-old Queen looked tired when she resumed the tour yesterday after being sidelined for two days with a stomach upset in the Yukon while Prince Philip went visiting alone.

However, the Queen's press secretary, Edmond Butler, said she was "perfectly fit" and had enjoyed her four and a half-hour stay yesterday in Edmonton, the center of Canada's booming oil industry.

Yesterday it was announced that the Queen will return to England on a British Overseas Airways Corporation plane instead of aboard the royal yacht Britannia, as was originally planned.

However, Press Secretary Butler said the Queen's brief illness had nothing to do with the change in plans.

Says Custodians Get More Money Than Teachers

The school board said Tuesday a consulting survey firm found that 32 engineer-custodians, who are "class five engineer-custodians," receive $11,160 for a 12-month year.

The highest classified pay for teachers is the 10-month $8,500 salary paid to teachers who hold doctorate degrees and have 31 years of service.

State Senate Sounds Taps for Science Bill

LANSING (AP)—Taps sounded today for a proposal to bring Michigan under the federal defense education act providing subsidies for stepped up science programs in local schools.

By a 19-to-12 vote, the Senate last night routed the bill to its Appropriations Committee which killed an earlier version.

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) said the cost to the state would run one million dollars a year or more in matching grants after the plan took root.

Department of Public Instruction officials have said that only administrative costs would be charged to the state, and in the coming year they would run less than $100,000 while local districts would receive in excess of $3,000,000 from the government.

Idol Is Superman

Miracle of TV Entrances Japan

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—The little man settled down in front of his favorite television program. Across the screen flickered the masked idol of millions of red-blooded Japanese —Superman.

For the emperor and his subjects, "Terebee," as the Japanese call it, is a modern miracle that has opened a window onto a new and fascinating world.

The six-year-old industry is one of Japan's fastest growing businesses. A total of 69 stations and nearly three million sets—with the full market still untaped—makes Japan the third largest television nation in the world, after the United States and Great Britain.

From television, the average Japanese has formed a bewildered and somewhat hopped-up picture of life in the United States: atom bombs, southern lynchings, industrial greatness, and folksy national leaders.

And on the fictional side there are bright dogs, supernaturally endowed humans, ace detectives, cowboys and plain but comfortably funny married couples.

These impressions are leavened by ocasional broadcasts of visiting pianists, violinists, orchestras and ballets which indicate that the United States may, after all, have some kind of an artistic life.

In Japanese television, Russia is a collection of glimpses of the Bolshoi Ballet and a grimacing, newsreel Khrushchev. France is shapely Mylene Demongeot, Brigitte Bardot and the Eiffel Tower. Britain a rare shot of aging Winston Churchill.

"Superman" became so popular, particularly in the countryside, an enterprising producer put on a Japanese-style superman called "the moonlight mask." Its hero was a dedicated foe of evil, dressed in white angle-length tights, tight-fitting shirt, white cape turban, dark glasses, black belt and wearing a pistol.

"Superman's" alter ego here is bespectacled, 39-year-old Toru Ohira, who has been Reeves' Japanese voice for the past two years. After nearly 150 shows, some of which required 17 hours of dubbing, Ohira thought and acted like Reeves.

Closed behind "Superman" in popularity is "I Love Lucy" in a language baffled by the letter "L" it comes out "I Rub Rucy."

One of the most popular stars is a pretty, blonde American, Linda Beech. She's the heroine of a Japanese-style "I Love Lucy" called "Tokyo Blue Eyes."

Television fare is rich and assorted. On a typical day—from 7 a.m. to about 11:30 p.m—the viewer may see a full-length performance of the classical Kabuki drama, the Vienna operaa, any of a number of American movies, chamber music, popular jazz, cooking lessons, children's plays, the news, sports, or a seemingly endless snccession of American animated cartoons whose ancient animal heroes speak Japanese.

Thanks to the pubicly owned Japan Broadcasting Corp. (NHK) viewers don't have to sit through commercials if they don't want to. On the privately owned networks, advertising has a field day—but almost never in the middle of a program.

One reason television is growing so fast is that boldness and imagination are used to give audiences what they want. Case in point:

During one of the most sweltering days of last summer an Osaka producer dispatched 26 technicians and announcers, loaded down with four tons of equipment, up the sides of 12,395-foot-high Mt. Fuji. Then, for the next hour, he broadcast refreshingly cool views of its snow-covered summit.

Use Percentage Rates for Television Shows

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television runs on percentages. The higher the percentage of viewers, the greater the sponsor interest. And that largely determines what we see on the home screen.

Now the A. C. Nielsen audience rating company offers a comparative study of the sizes of audiences watching various types of nighttime shows in February 1958 and February 1959.

The amount of general drama of 60 aid 90 minutes offered in the comparable months remained the same, while the audience fell off by 12 per cent, it reports. The amount of 60-minute variety shows was the same, but the audience declined by 19 per cent.

In Westerns the 30-minute shows increased by 57 per cent, while the audience was up 40 per cent. The hour Western had a 75 per cent increase of exposure, and the audience grew by 100 per cent.

Perhaps the most significant figure was a 100 per cent increase in the audiences of information programs while information programs themselves increased by only 60 per cent.

Speaking of information, "Omnibus" has probably done more to bring a variety of information to the home screen than any program. Now after seven years, with 150 telecasts of 450 features, the program is in serious danger of not being renewed by NBC-TV.

A network spokesman says that a sponsor has not been found and that the network can't afford to carry the program unsponsored. On the other hand, a program spokesman says that three potential sponsors are interested.

Delbert Mann, topflight director of TV, movies, ad theater, has been signed to direct Budd Schulberg's "What Makes Sammy Run?" The telecast will be taped in August for showing as a two-parter of one hour each on Sept. 27 and Oct. 4 over NBC-TV.

Milton Berle will confine himself to four television appearances during the 1959-60 season. He says he'll do two specials and make two guest appearances on NBC-TV. The specials are slated for Oct. 11 and Nov. 1.

There will be a repeat performance of "The Night of April 14th," a drama of the sinking of the Titanic, on "Alcoa Presents" Aug. 4 (ABC-TV, 10 p.m. EDT).

Gov. Williams to Run Again?

Staebler Cautions Dems Against Taking It for Granted That He Won't

LANSING (AP)—Top elective state officials have been cautioned against taking it for granted that Gov. Williams will not seek a seventh term.

He agreed at Staebler's suggestion to send a representative to second level pow-wows of party leaders that are held in Lansing from time to time, meetings described as "party relations and liaison affairs."

One high-ranker at the luncheon professed to be puzzled at what he took to be Staebler's pointed remark. He said he for months has assumed Williams had clearly indicated a seventh term bid was out, although falling short of any public announcement.

Another said he saw no significance to the incident. This source said that while he expected Williams to "go national" some of his friends had suggested another race for governor.

Some Democratic legislators have expressed the opinion that another Williams run for Governor would be disastrous against the background of inevitable new taxes and for other reasons.

Staebler agreed last February to stay on as state chairman through the 1960 primary on the condition that Democrats aspiring to the governor's chair hold their ambitions in check at least until after the 1959 legislature goes home.

Desi Arnez Gives Report of Soaring Desilu Profits

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Desi Arnaz, whose wacky Spanish-accented dialogues with Lucille Ball on television provide many laughs, had something more substantial to offer his select audience yesterday —money.

Arnaz, president of Desilu Productions Inc., presided at the firm's first stockholders' meeting and gave a heavily-accented 10-minute talk which boiled down to a happy report on soaring profits.

"At the end of the first six months of this fiscal year," he told stockholders, "we estimate that the profits will be more than double the 22 cents per share earned during the fiscal year ended May 2, 1959."

Hits Legislature on Jobless Bill

Williams Says 20,650 Victims of GOP Stall on Temporary Pay

LANSING (AP) — The temporary unemployment compensation program, still being held up in the Legislature, covers 20,650 claimants eligible for $2,674,054, Gov. Williams reported today.

Williams said the total was obtained from the Michigan Employment Security Commission. Previous estimates, he noted, were that about 28,000 jobless workers could draw up to 4½ million dollars under the program authorized by Congress this past spring.

Republican lawmakers blocked passage of the Michigan program, objecting to a State Supreme Court decision that Detroit area Ford workers idled by a strike in an Ohio Ford plant could draw jobless pay.

Williams said the Ford case always has been described as involving one million dollars in jobless pay claims. Actually, he said, the total will not exceed $60,000.

"It is a tragedy that the temporary unemployment compensation question was ever tied to the Ford case," Williams said. "As it is, 20,650 long-term unemployed workers continue to be held as hostages because Ford Motor Co. lost a lawsuit."

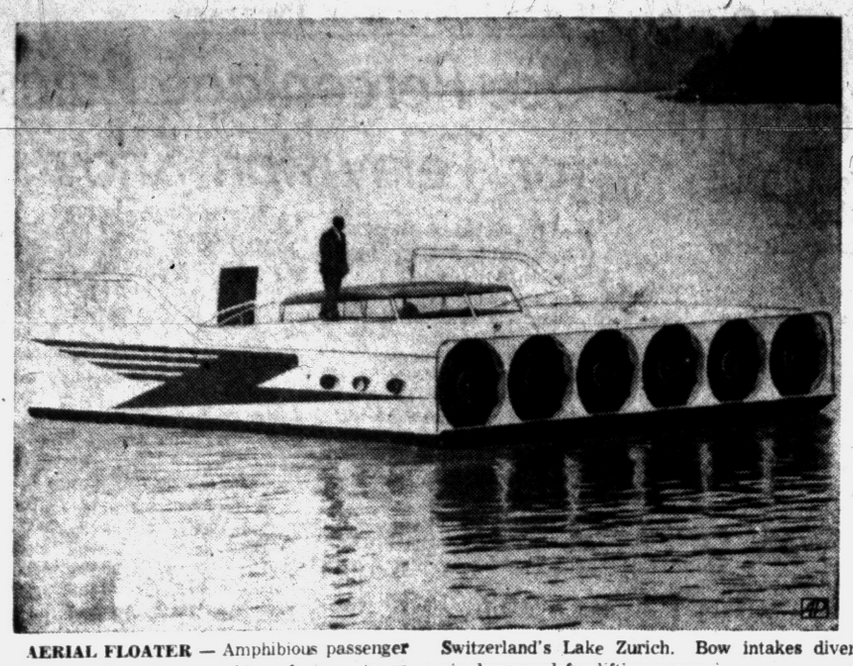

Between 1940 and 1950 the number of U. S. households increased 23 per cent.

New Commerce Sec. Mueller Thrives on Heavy Pressure

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The nation's new secretary of commerce says red tape and difficult decisions have the effect of a health tonic on him.

Frederick H. (Fritz) Mueller, 65, Grand Rapids furniture manufacturer who has been acting secretary since 1955, was nominated by President Eisenhower Tuesday for the commerce secretary post.

Mueller knows that government pressures bring ulcers to many but says, "I happen to enjoy the stimulation of challenges. I seem to thrive on them."

In the Commerce Department he heads one of the most complex of government operations. He has a staff of 4,500 at his command and will be in charge of some 100,000 persons in 1960 when an army of doorbell pushers heads out for the federal census.

A hard worker, he is at his desk by 8 a.m., takes only 20 minutes for lunch and seldom leaves for home before 6 p.m. He has had to give up his hobbies of golf and flying and finds little time for recreation other than an occasional game of bridge.

"Yet honestly," he says, "I feel in better trim than when I first went to Washington."

A widower, he has two children, Frederick E. and Marcia Mueller.

From the age of 13 he made himself handy around the furniture plant headed by his father, J. Frederick Mueller. Fritz attended local schools and was graduated from Michigan State University in 1914.

During World War II he served as president and general manager of Grand Rapids Industries, a group of woodworking manufacturers who pooled their facilities to make troop carrying gliders and other aircraft components.

Mueller says he found business life stimulating "but government is even more so."

A conservative in philosophy, he says the true conservative comes by his viewpoint "by experience rather than by theory." And Mueller says:

Monitors Plan Ouster Move Against Hoffa

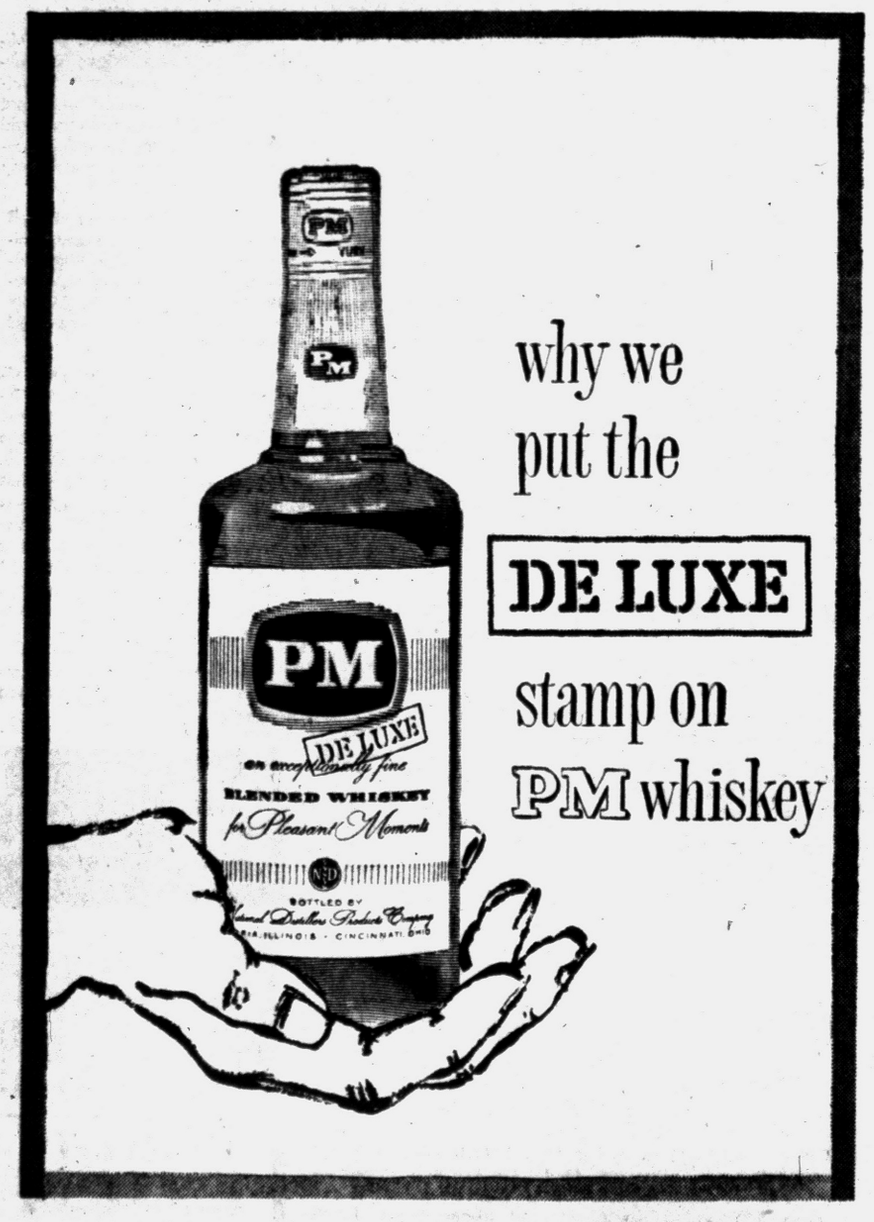

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Martin F. O'Donoghue said Tuesday the court-appointed board of monitors supervising Teamsters union affairs probably will petition for removal of James R. Hoffa as union president.

He said the action, likely to come in two or three months, also will be aimed at other Teamsters international officers.

All are serving under a compromise, accepted by the federal district court here, of a suit by a rank and file union group to prevent Hoffa and his slate from taking office. Creation of the monitor board to oversee union operations, was part of that compromise. The plaintiffs contended the election had been rigged and complained of dictatorship in the union.

O'Donoghue told newsmen of the planned ouster move after a hearing before U. S. Judge F. Dickinson Letts in which the monitors were granted permission to hire an outside law firm to aid them in litigation. The ouster proposal was mentioned briefly in the formal proceedings.

Lawrence T. Smith, another member of the monitors board, backed O'Donoghue in the proposal to employ lawyers. Daniel B. Maher, union-selected member of the three-man board, opposed the move.
