3 Outside Police Heads Take Stand at Hearing

By MAX E. SIMON

Three outside police commanders were in the spotlight last night as the removal hearing of suspended Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley moved into its final stages.

★ ★ ★

On the stand in Straley's behalf were State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, Flint Police Chief George Paul and Lansing Police Chief Paul Taylor.

Cross-examination of Straley was interrupted in the middle of last night's Civil Service Commission session to let the trio of police heads testify.

Under the Civil Service Act, they told the Commission, a local police chief has little or no authority.

NO CLOSE KNOWLEDGE

None would comment on the Pontiac police situation, however, disclaiming any close knowledge of Straley's troubles with the city and the Pontiac Police Officers Assn.

Taylor told the Commission that in Pontiac, responsibility for running the Police Department rested on the shoulders of City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Cross-examined by City Attorney William A. Ewart, the Lansing police chief said the Fraternal Order of Police was barred in his city.

★ ★ ★

Lansing, Taylor explained, participated jointly in a suit with Detroit to prohibit the formation of FOP lodges in both cities.

Since then, Taylor said, Lansing has passed an ordinance which prevents Lansing police from joining any exclusively police group.

Pontiac's FOP lodge is one of two factions in the local police department. The Pontiac Police Officers Assn. has been feuding with Straley for two years while the FOP is pro-Straley.

Flint's Chief Paul agreed with the Taylor's evaluation of the Civil Service Act.

In his city, Paul said, a police commander who refuses to forward complaints of subordinates to higher authority is guilty of violating rules and regulations.

DOESN'T KNOW RULES

"Whether Chief Straley didn't meet with officers or take up their complaints with the city manager is something I can't comment on," Paul said. "I'm not familiar with the police rulebook here."

Commissioner Childs was the last of the three to testify.

His estimation of the Civil Service Act was the same as that of the two city chiefs.

Childs acknowledged, in reply to Ewart's question, that no law prohibited the mingling of criminal and civil case fingerprints in one file in cities.

A state law prohibits such mingling in State Police records, Childs told the Commission.

★ ★ ★

Defense witnesses have protested against Public Safety Director George D. Eastman's mixing in criminal and civil case fingerprints in the same file.

The State Police commissioner also told the Commission that State Police operated one man patrol cars during daylight hours, but switched to two-man cars nights.

Childs was also questioned about the Berkeley (Calif.) police department.

"I understand Berkeley has a fine police force," Childs said.

Eastman has been criticized by Straley's defense for switching the police records system of the local department to the centralized records system used in the California city.

★ ★ ★

Earlier in the evening prosecution attorney A. Floyd Blakeslee continued his cross-examination of Straley.

The suspended chief denied he had ever called police officers "crooks."

"I never said that as such," Straley said. "I did say that some were not fitted for promotion and

Return Straley, Ask Petitioners

Commission Presented With 4,000 Signatures, Delays Action

Petitions calling for Herbert W. Straley's reinstatement as Pontiac police chief were accepted by the City Commission last night.

Winford E. Bottom, president of the Pontiac Police Officers Reserve Assn., turned the petitions in, saying they bore close to 4,000 signatures.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said the Commission was powerless to act on Straley at present.

"Our hands are tied. Until the Civil Service Commission's hearing is concluded, we can do nothing about it."

"We will be happy to accept these petitions, though," the Mayor added, "just as we accepted Police Department petitions in behalf of Mr. (George E.) Eastman recently."

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Milton R. Henry interpreted the petitions as "a direct mandate for this Commission to throw Eastman out."

He promised that if Civil Service is repealed by voters Monday, he would ask again for Eastman's ouster on Thursday, when the Commission is to canvass the election results.

Commissioner Robert A. Landry promised to support Henry's move. He and Henry are the pro-Straley members on the Commission, having tried five times already to oust Eastman.

★ ★ ★

The petitions contained a brief pointed message, affirming "full faith and confidence in the integrity and ability of Herbert W. Straley."

SHARP COMPLAINTS

Bottom had some sharp complaints, which he laid at the doorstep of Eastman, the public safety director, who brought the charges that led to Straley's suspension.

Bottom alleged that some of the pro-Straley petitions disappeared while they were being distributed.

"Eastman's men picked them up and destroyed them," Bottom told the Commission.

★ ★ ★

Later, after the Commission meeting, Bottom said he had learned that on at least three occasions late last week, uniformed policemen had removed the petitions from places of business where they were being displayed for signatures.

He said that one of the places was a gas station and that he had learned the name of the officer.

But Bottom declined to divulge the officer's name. "I don't want to pinpoint anybody," he said.

He said that a complaint had been made to the Police Department about the gas station incident and that Officer Robert Hel-

Southwest Hit by Violent Spring Storms

Tornadoes Kill 6, Hurt 59, Cause Vast Damage in Texas, Oklahoma

By The Associated Press

Violent spring storms which struck devastating blows across sections of Texas and Oklahoma abated today, leaving a toll of dead and injured and extensive property damage.

Tornadoes killed at least six persons in two small communities in north central Texas.

More than a half dozen twisters which raked the two states also injured 59 persons, including 51 in Texas.

Tornadic winds which pounded the north central Texas area and sections of northeast Oklahoma flattened and damaged scores of homes, damaged gasoline plants and toppled 20 derricks in one of the largest oil fields in north central Texas.

The storms were part of a general pattern of severe weather from Texas into parts of eastern Oklahoma, western Arkansas, southeastern Kansas and western Missouri. Heavy rain, hail and strong winds lashed the region.

HARDEST HIT

The tornadoes in Texas hit hardest at the small towns of Vaughan and Bynum, 10 miles east. Three persons died and 20 others were injured in the wreckage of their homes in Vaughan.

Two persons were killed and 11 injured at Bynum. Seventeen persons suffered injuries when a twister hammered three small towns northeast of Gainesville.

The small community of Silver City, 30 miles west of Tulsa, suffered heaviest damage in the tornadoes which struck northeast Oklahoma. Police estimated three-fourths of the farm community was damaged. The second twister in Oklahoma skipped across a tourist court near Kingston on Lake Texoma, demolishing two cabins and a home.

April Fools Today Lack Imagination

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Everybody agrees that April Fool's day ain't what it used to be, but nobody can get together on the reason.

Some folks say it's because kids have lost their imagination and know-how.

★ ★ ★

They've slumped in front of the TV so long that their behinds have spread and their heads have shrunk.

They are consequently no longer capable even of dreaming up such April Fool's delicacies as toothpaste-and-jelly sandwiches, and milkshakes laced with caster oil.

Others claim that life is too easy, and nobody wants to lift a finger, even to surprise his parents. Like, remember the good old days when a kid spent all day March 31 sneaking around the house putting sugar in the salt cellers and tabasco in the gargle?

Now they're lazy. I mean, if you can't add linament to the orange juice without opening the can and adding cold water and shaking it up—well, really.

Another theory is that adults have gotten so serious and sensitive lately, they don't like to be fooled. Not by anyone over five. Now that father is a thinking man, pulling a chair out from under him is a touchy business.

And mother—well, mother has been reading the propaganda about how she is now the dominating force in society, and she doesn't see life as very funny anymore.

Of course, some police hold the theory that a lot of juvenile funsters, who might in the old days have been out shooting cap pistols at lovers on park benches, have turned to sterner adventures. Instead of only at April, they've become year-round fools.

I was just saying to the husband this morning, it's too bad families can't have jolly good spoofs like they used to.

And he nodded his big fat head in gentle agreement, as I opened the vial of "Arpege" and daubed sauerkraut juice behind each ear.

You're Only Bet to Help Absorb the National Debt

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Republican State Rep. Ken Stringer of Davenport turned poet to express his feelings about increased governmental spending.

He read the following to the legislature yesterday:

"Blessing on thee, little man,
Barefoot boy with cheeks of tan,
Trudging down a dusty lane
With no thought of future pain;
You're our one and only bet
To help absorb the national debt.
Little man, with cares so few,
We've a lot of faith in you;
Have your fun now while you can
You may also be a barefoot man."

Alcorn Thought Ready to Quit

GOP National Leader Sees Ike, Plans News Conference Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meade Alcorn resigned today as chairman of the Republican National Committee, effective when the committee picks a successor next week.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn conferred with President Eisenhower today amid reports that he is about to resign from his party post.

Alcorn, who has headed the GOP National Committee since January 1957, met briefly with Eisenhower at the White House. His visit was not announced until after he had left, and newsmen had no opportunity to question him.

He had set up a news conference this afternoon, however, presumably to discuss the resignation reports. (Earlier story page 38.)

Mrs. Anne Wheaton, associate White House press secretary, told about the conference in response to questions. But she said she had no information on whether Alcorn told Eisenhower he has decided to resign.

Early today Alcorn told a reporter he was not prepared to say anything at the moment.

Alcorn was pictured as feeling he must recoup the loss of income from his Hartford law practice which he sacrificed while serving more than two years as chairman without salary.

Several names were being mentioned in speculation over a successor, including:

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, now serving his first term in the Senate; Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a former House member who was GOP chairman in 1948-49; Ray Bliss, Ohio state chairman and head of the 1960 GOP convention site committee; Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana and Fred C. Scribner Jr., undersecretary of the Treasury and former general counsel of the National Committee.

Temperature to Take Slight Slide Down

A little cooler with a low of 38 is tonight's forecast for the Pontiac area.

Tomorrow's high will be near 48.

For the next five days high temperatures will be in the 50s with the low remaining in the 30s, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts.

Friday is expected to be somewhat warmer with little day to day change thereafter.

Precipitation will average around one-half an inch in showers Friday night or Saturday and again Monday.

In downtown Pontiac, the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 37 degrees. The mercury rose to 52 at 2 p.m.

410-GAUGE SHOTGUN — Sheriff's Det. Leo Hazen examines 410-gauge shotgun which police believed a Highland Township father used during the night to slay his 15-year-old son and then himself.

Police Believe Two Fatalities Murder-Suicide

Think Father Took His Own Life After Killing Sleeping Son

A Highland Township father and his 15-year-old son were found shot to death this morning in their home in what police believed was an apparent murder-suicide.

The bodies of Joel M. Beckman, 59, an unemployed electrician, and his son, Daniel, were discovered in their small home, 3321 Woodland Dr., on the west side of White Lake, by a neighbor boy at 7:30 a.m. today.

Sheriff's Det. Harry Mauer said he believed Beckman shot his sleeping son during the night and then turned the shotgun on himself.

The boy's body was found in bed, his father was sprawled on the floor nearby. The boy had been shot in the back of the head and Beckman in the mouth.

The gun lay on the floor near Beckman, but no suicide note was found, Mauer said.

The father and son had lived alone in the cottage since the death of Beckman's wife, Emma, about three years ago, neighbors said.

The neighbor boy, Albert Carlson, 14, of 3324 Highland Ct., said Beckman regularly drove him and Daniel to school in Milford six miles away.

Albert said he knocked, as usual, on the Beckman front door this morning, got no answer, and became worried.

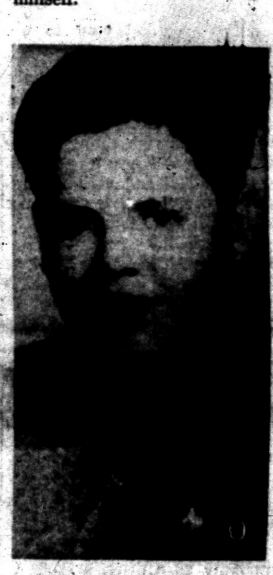

He said the door was unlocked so he entered and saw the bodies in the bedroom. Albert ran to a neighbors, who telephoned authorities.

Clarence Carlson, Albert's father, said he was acquainted with Beckman and expressed dismay over the shootings.

"Beckman and his boy got along very well together. They went hunting and fishing together often, an ideal pair," he said.

Beckman had been despondent since suffering an injury at work about 18 months ago, according to a neighbor, Mrs. Lilith Biller, 3307 Lakeview Dr.

A falling pipe hurt his back and neck, apparently preventing him from going back to work, she said.

Beckman Told Lawyer He Was Down to $1.30

Joel M. Beckman, a 59-year-old unemployed electrician, walked into his attorney's office yesterday afternoon and said, "What am I going to do? I'm down to $1.30."

This morning Beckman was found dead on the bedroom floor of his home at 3321 Woodland St., Highland Township. His son lay dead nearby. Sheriff's detectives and State Police said the father apparently shot his son and then himself.

The attorney, Frank Fortino of Pontiac, was shocked at the news today but added, "I, personally, didn't think he was right mentally. His despondency yesterday actually frightened me."

A head and neck injury suffered while working put him in line for workmen's compensation. He got payments until Jan. 1 of this year. They were cut off because "he wouldn't give us a chance to obtain medical evidence in his favor," Fortino said.

REFUSED PHYSICAL

"He refused a physical, but complained of headaches. One psychiatrist said he suffered from a mental disorder and another thought he was faking."

Fortino said that "whenever he came in to me he kept talking about his wife." She died four years ago.

"I tried to do all I could for him," Fortino said. "He wanted help and needed it, but refused to help himself."

Allies Have Package on Germany

Readying Deal for Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allied foreign ministers were reported working steadily toward agreement today on a package deal to propose to the Soviet Union for sweeping settlements of the Berlin crisis and the future of Germany.

★ ★ ★

Their primary purpose is to probe the Soviet Union's willingness, if any, to negotiate at Geneva next month on German unification and European arms control measures.

They were reported pessimistic about the possibility of a favorable Soviet response but were described as agreeing that the effort must be made.

The foreign ministers of Britain, France, West Germany and Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter were scheduled to hold the second round of their Washington talks in a State Department conference room.

NEW WARNING

The initial session Tuesday, held by Herter with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville produced a new warning to the Soviets against taking a summit conference this summer for granted.

The May meeting of foreign ministers "must make some progress" toward solving the Berlin and German problem in order to justify a meeting at the summit.

They welcomed Monday's note from the Soviet Union agreeing to the May 11 Big Four conference at Geneva.

★ ★ ★

But the Western statement Tuesday night specified once more that the Germans should be included in the foreign ministers meeting as "advisers" because the Soviet note had referred merely to representation from East and West Germany.

But Jury Not in Courtroom

Kierdorf Testifies at Flint

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

FLINT — Herman Kierdorf, 68-year-old former aide to Teamster boss James R. Hoffa, set aside his customary cigar today to enter Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth's courtroom and mount the witness stand for the first time in the trial probing the torch death of his nephew, Frank.

Kierdorf, no stranger to courtrooms, offered in evidence Frank's version of the fiery incident that inflicted fatal burns over most of his body.

But the story — how two hoodlums lured Frank out of his Flint home last Aug. 3, drove him to near Pontiac, then flung inflammable fluid over him and set him ablaze — was not told for the benefit of the jury, which is sitting in judgment of Jack D. Thompson, accused of aiding Frank in the arson of a Flint dry cleaning pick up station.

The jury was excused by Roth on grounds that Herman's testimony was hearsay. But Thompson's counsel, James E. Haggerty Sr., was allowed to question Herman for the record, anyway, while the jury was out of the courtroom.

HERMAN KIERDORF

Herman's testimony might go to the jury later on in the trial, if the defense shows it is material to the case, Judge Roth ruled.

The doughty Teamster, duper as usual, had little to add to the story that Frank gave out to authorities from his death bed in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital two days before his death, Aug. 7.

Herman was present when Frank told authorities about the two mystery men, whose existence authorities have always doubted.

Herman said that in cooperating with mystified law authorities he told his burned nephew:

"It looks pretty bad for you, Frank. Please tell us what happened."

★ ★ ★

And that was when Frank, who had remained silent up to then, spilled out his story, Herman recalled.

The Teamster maintained he

still believed that Frank's version of the burning was the true version.

"I told Frank that I'd seek revenge for him, but he told me, 'Never you mind. Let the law take its course. They'll find them.'"

Herman, who has waited 11 days for his turn on the witness stand, testified for only 12 minutes and then was excused.

He then went to collect a $60 check covering his service on the stand and his hours of waiting outside the courtroom door.

Another potential witness who has waited with Herman won't be called to testify, it appeared today.

He is Leaun Harrelson, president of Pontiac Teamster Local 614, who police suspect aided Herman in transporting Frank to the hospital from a spot near Pontiac where Thompson allegedly delivered the injured man.

But Haggerty, who got permission yesterday to cross-examine Harrelson, said today that he wouldn't be called.

★ ★ ★

"I'm convinced Harrelson had nothing to do with this," he said.

Judge Roth ruled yesterday before the defense began its case that eight witnesses whom the prosecution held back from calling had to be put on the stand for defense cross-examination. Herman and Harrelson were among them.

Judge Roth also denied a motion for a directed verdict of innocent, and ruled:

1. A jury of 11 women and 3 men will decide Thompson's innocence or guilt and not him.

2. Defense probing on whether Kierdorf gave a dying declaration to his uncle about two men setting him afire was not permissible as it constituted heresay evidence.

3. Law authorities could not be compelled to testify about statements given newsmen during the course of last summer's investigation that "Herman Kierdorf was definitely linked with the blaze."

Upset with these three major setbacks, Haggerty surprised a packed courtroom and reporters by openly criticizing Judge Roth for not allowing Thompson "a fair and impartial trial, as guaranteed under the constitution, by allowing me to pursue my cross-examination of these witnesses."

So was Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, whom Haggerty questioned closely about his direction of the Kierdorf investigation.

Over Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke's objections, the Detroit attorney produced two clippings from a Flint newspaper in which Adams was quoted as saying:

"Herman Kierdorf was definitely linked with the blaze and we have enough (evidence) to link him to the arson" and "Herman Kierdorf is a key, and there is every indication he is involved."

O'Rourke strenuously objected to Haggerty's questions whether Adams had made these statements. O'Rourke said what was said outside the courtroom to persons (reporters) not involved in the case was not admissible evidence.

Judge Roth agreed. Haggerty then said he had no further questions of the attorney general.

O'Rourke, too, had a near setback himself earlier in the day when Judge Roth told him he had not linked Thompson close enough to the arson for him to rule on Joseph's request for a directed verdict of innocent. Joseph made the motion as O'Rourke closed out his case after eight days of testimony from 42 witnesses.

The Genesee prosecutor returned after a noon recess and weaved together more in detail a web of circumstantial evidence which he says he must rely on if the jury is to bring in a verdict of guilty.

Chicago Offers GOP $500,000 for Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago has raised its cash bid for the 1960 Republican national convention to $500,000.

Chicago's previous bid was $300,000 cash plus fringe benefits totaling $126,500. These benefits, including payment of hall rental, janitor and usher service and building of the speakers platform, were dropped in the new offer.

The two other cities in the running for the convention, New York City and Philadelphia, have bid $500,000 and $475,000 in cash, respectively.

Research Group Reveals Study

School Revenue Rises 270 Pct. in 10 Years, but Enrollment Only 52

DETROIT (AP)—The Citizens Research Council of Michigan reported today that Michigan's annual school revenues increased 270 per cent between 1947 and 1957 while school enrollment rose only 52 per cent.

In the same period, it said, the average salary of teachers has risen 94 per cent, from $2,609 to $5,067 a year, and that the number of pupils per teacher has declined from 29.5 to 27.3.

The report covers the state's public elementary and high schools. It does not go into the rising costs of higher education. On a per capita basis, the U.S. Census Bureau shows Michigan ranks 11th in local school expenditures; 1st in higher education expenditures; 5th over-all.

The Council reported the average yearly teacher's salary in the largest school districts was $3,947 in 1947 and $6,500 in 1957. In the smaller districts the average was $1,643 and $3,368. The over-all average was $2,609 in 1947 and $5,067 in 1957.

EX-GM TREASURER

The council is headed by Meyer L. Prentis, retired treasurer of General Motors Corp. Its directors largely are industrialists, bankers and lawyers.

The Council says in a booklet, entitled "Exploding Some Michigan Myths," that annual statewide expenditures for school operation rose 304 million dollars and yearly expenditures for construction by 151 million dollars in 1947-57 period.

Referring to what it termed a myth that school enrollments have increased more rapidly than school revenues, the Council said:

"For every 100 pupils in 1947, the schools had 152 pupils in 1957; while for every $100 available in 1947, the schools had $307 in 1957. Revenues have consistently increased faster than enrollments."

★ ★ ★

Robert E. Pickup, the Council's executive director, conceded in questioning that so-called "suburbia" likely is finding the going rougher than long-established communities.

He said this probably would be especially true of communities mushrooming in districts without major industries.

While schools increased debts from 42 millions to 477 millions through bond issues, the Council said that represented only 2.5 per cent of the state's equalized valuation as of 1957. It was .6 per cent in 1947.

State law permits a school district to have bonded debt of 15 per cent of its property valuation. If it levies 13 mills for debt retirement and gets state OK it can exceed 15 per cent.

4,000 Petitioners Say Return Straley

ner had been assigned to investigate it.

Helner said that he never received such an assignment, but had heard rumors about the incident and had visited the gas station once on his own out of curiosity.

'JUST A RUMOR'

Initial questioning at the gas station showed that no one there had heard of the incident, Helner said.

"As far as I'm concerned, it was just a rumor."

Eastman said that to his knowledge no complaint was made to the Police Department.

"If there had been, it would have been investigated at once."

Informed of Bottom's allegation, Eastman denied any knowledge of the incident, although conceded readily that he knew the petition movement was under way.

"There are lots of rumors flying around right now," he observed.

Eastman expressed regrets at the possibility that the Police Officers Reserve was against him.

"I consider the reserve an important adjunct to the Police Department, one that helps us immeasurably in our work."

For the past three months, reserve officers have not been called on as often as they were while Straley had full command of the police force.

They've been used mostly as guards at such activities as basketball games, rather than walking regular beats on weekends or manning police cars for night traffic work.

Whether the reserve will be assigned the more important duties again "is a policy decision that will be made after the Straley hearing is over," said Eastman.

Bottom said that many of those who helped him obtain the signatures were members of the reserve, but stressed that the petition movement reflected the interests of "interested citizens, not the Police Officers Reserve."

Most of the 30 men that were with him before the Commission were members of the reserve, he said.

The Police Officers Reserve numbers about 70 men, who serve without pay. Bottom is a reserve lieutenant.

The Day in Birmingham

Home, 2 Filling Stations Burglarized Recently

BIRMINGHAM — Government bonds, stocks, cash, merchandise and tools were stolen from a house and two filling stations in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Township area, Birmingham Police reported today.

Detective Robert Chambers said he believed the buglary at the Elmer Kepke home at 1263 Brookwood Lane took place Monday night. It was discovered when Beverly Hills Police found a demolished safe on Edgewood street, south of 14-Mile road yesterday.

Kepke, contacted by phone in Milwaukee where he is visiting relatives, said the safe had contained $9,000 in government bonds, some Sun Oil Co. stocks and personal papers.

★ ★ ★

Police said the 500-lb. safe had been rolled out of the house and down the walk to a waiting car or truck. Area neighbors said they noticed no unusual activity around the burglarized home.

Bloomfield Township officer Jerry Weaver discovered the two gas station robberies about 5 a.m. today while making his rounds.

He said a small amount of merchandise was taken from the Lisk Filling Station at the southeast corner of Telegraph and Long Lake roads.

The Mobile Station at the northeast corner of the same intersection was broken into and $260 in cash, trading stamps, a tire and wheel and a number of tools were taken, according to Weaver's report.

The officer said both stations were entered by kicking in the front doors. He placed the time at between 3 and 5 a.m. when the area was heavily shrouded in fog.

The annual bowling party for the Community House-sponsored Newcomers Club members and their husbands will be held April 11 at the Birmingham Lanes.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Gerald K. Johnson of Birmingham and Mrs. Bernard Granadier of Sherman Oaks, Calif.; a brother and four grandchildren.

Man in Street Poll Finds 50-50 Split on Waterford Library

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

When Waterford Township voters go to the polls in the annual spring election Monday they will decide on a 1½ mill tax increase for the construction and operation of a $300,000 library.

It would be located on a 17-acre site at Highland and Pontiac Lake roads, which was donated to the township by Frank Steere.

He stipulated, however, that "proof of plans for a $250,000 library must be presented within one year's time, and that the building must be completed within a five-year period."

To get a sampling of opinion of township residents on the proposed library project, The Pontiac Press has taken a "man in the street" poll. In it, the Press reporter found about half of those interviewed in favor of the library, and the other 50 per cent opposed.

An amazing number of registered voters did not know that there will be three separate proposals, and that all three must be approved in order for the project to become a reality.

The first proposal asks permission to float $300,000 in bonds to pay for the library. The second asks for a 1 mill tax increase to pay for the bond issue, and the third proposal asks for ½ mill for maintenance and operation of the library.

GIBSON

A Waterford grandfather and school maintenance worker, Forest Gibson of 3445 Curwood Ave., thinks residents should take advantage of acquiring this choice piece of property in the heart of the township because there is a possibility that part of it can be used for a future hospital. He said:

"It's a long way to the Pontiac Library. Although we have some scenic spots here, nothing compares to this proposed center. We shouldn't let this land donation slip by."

Sixty-eight-year-old retired Grover Kite and his wife Kate, who have lived on their five-acres on Scott Lake for the last 12 years, wonder "if there is going to be any end to this taxation." Although they voted whole heartedly for the recently approved $5 million school bond issue, Kite said:

KITE

"If our taxes have to be raised again, I suggest the $300,000 be used to purchase the County's Contagious Hospital. It's in Waterford Township and we need a hospital more than we do a library."

★ ★ ★

A mother of two school children, Mrs. Geraldine Miner of 4966 Highland Rd. says "anything that will benefit the education of children is a good thing for everyone."

MRS. MINER

"A library in Waterford Township would be a wonderful asset, both as a source of education and pride to the community," she added.

Truck driver Raymond Eaton, of 1420 Hospital Rd., who has three children in school, believes the libraries in the schools are adequate for those that care to use them.

EATON

"I think we are paying enough taxes at this time. We just got through voting for the additional schools—with good library facilities—and until this recession is over I feel we should not load up with more taxation."

★ ★ ★

Housewife Mrs. Adolph Stoll of 1209 LaForest St., thinks a library would eventually "grow on people" and once they got use to using such an accommodation they would appreciate it more.

MRS. STOLL

"A library is as important to a community as a drug, grocery or hardware store. Not only does it provide good reading material and reference books, but wonderful colored movies and recorded music," she said.

Telephone lineman Frankie Kimble of 5824 Jerose St., who has two children, says if there is to be any improvements it should be in the Waterford Township Police Department.

KIMBLE

"A library is just fine but by the looks of the number of calls our eight policemen make every month I think we need more men in that department. A library can come after a few more essentials have been taken care of."

A Waterford Township High School student, Ron Goins 17, of 3596 Forest Ave., Watkins Lake, believes that many high school pupils would take full advantage of a township library, particularly for outside reference work.

GOINS

"A school library is okay but we are only allowed to use it one hour a day unless special permission is given. We have to do a lot of research on our term papers, and with Pontiac library so far away, it makes it hard."

Many people interviewed refused to be quoted either way. However, one man said, "I'm against building a library at this time. But to say I'm against culture would be as bad as saying I'm against motherhood."

If approved, the increased millage would be extended over a 10-year period, but would probably be paid off much sooner because of the anticipated increase in population, according to chairman of the Library Study Committee, the Rev. Walter Teeuwissen.

Legislators Talk of Adjournment

Few State Bills Passed, but House OKs May 29 Closing Date

LANSING (AP) — With only a few bills passed, most of them minor, the Legislature already is talking about adjournment.

With no sign of dissension, the House yesterday adopted a resolution which will set adjournment machinery in action when the Senate okays it.

If it's adopted this week, the 1959 session would close May 29.

Democrat-Republican squabbling today threatened to slow action on the bill to extend unemployment compensation benefits for 28,700 of Michigan's jobless workers.

President Eisenhower signed the bill yesterday, extending the temporary federal jobless pay program through July 1. It covers workers whose benefits otherwise expire today.

The GOP-controlled State Senate passed a bill Monday which would enable the state to take advantage of the federal program. Democrats, however, complained it was full of "fishhooks" restricting coverage of eligible claimants.

★ ★ ★

Wary Republicans who want word of the financial plight of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University directly from the source are going to have to wait another day.

A hearing scheduled for today was postponed until tomorrow. Under discussion will be the mortgaging of the veterans' trust fund.

Bus Workers Vote to Strike

But Pontiac City Lines Walkout Is Delayed to Await Results of Talks

A new note in contract negotiations between Pontiac City Lines, Inc., and its drivers and maintenance men was introduced last night as the employes approved a strike vote.

★ ★ ★

The strike has not been called and won't be at least until after April 9, date of the next negotiating session, said John Sytsma, president of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes Local 1097, AFL-CIO.

The 37 members of the Pontiac local voted 95 per cent in favor of striking as the 1958 contract with the company expired last night, Sytsma said.

The company, a subsidiary of National City Lines, Inc., was informed of the strike vote today.

DEMANDS PAY HIKE

Sytsma said the local was demanding a wage increase and other benefits. He said top salary for drivers was $1.72, and that the union was demanding at least $2.25.

Among minor fringe benefits, the union is asking for at least six paid holidays, he said. Although the buses don't run on holidays, the drivers don't get any holiday pay at present, Sytsma said.

★ ★ ★

The union also wants adjustments in vacations and insurance.

3 Outside Police Heads Testify

had done things I considered questionable."

Straley denied he ever upbraided officers in a loud tone of voice which could be overheard by the public.

"I talked to my men in the same tone of voice I'm using now," Straley said, "and more than 100 people can hear what I'm saying." (Last night's hearing was held in one of the city's two municipal courtrooms in the Public Safety Building.)

Straley said he had never been critical of the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office but was sometimes at odds with Pontiac's two municipal judges.

★ ★ ★

"They were not as cooperative as they should have been to effect proper law enforcement," Straley declared.

Asked what advantage he gained by berating Samuel G. Chapman, author of the PAS report which was highly critical of Straley's reign as chief, Straley said:

"I wished to explain his recommendations didn't mean much and that he lacked experience. I certainly don't feel he was trained in one of the better police departments, necessarily. That's a matter of opinion."

(Chapman for four years was a patrolman in the Berkeley (Calif.) Police Department.)

The chief refused to comment on a police officer he allegedly hired although the applicant had a prior arrest record.

The officer was later dismissed after being involved in a shooting incident, Blakeslee declared.

Straley admitted vaguely remembering the case but said he'd have to review the record before making any comment.

"I'm not certain about whether he had been arrested once before being hired as a police officer," Straley declared.

★ ★ ★

The chief conceded that on two occasions he hired officers with arrest records. "A check showed that the charges were dismissed by the courts," Straley explained.

Straley, who wished to bring charges against Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley for not mentioning an arrest on his employment and promotion applications, was asked:

"Weren't you aware that the charge against this man was dismissed in court?"

"No, I was not," the chief replied sharply.

Straley was also questioned about alleged acts of misconduct on the part of certain officers.

He admitted he put a report in the file of Lt. William K. Hanger about "misconduct." The report was that Hanger testified in a promotion suit brought by four officers against the city of Pontiac, in Oakland County Circuit Court.

"I wanted that for reference and information," Straley said. "It was wrong of him to do that."

The officers were promoted later under a writ ordered by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

★ ★ ★

An act-of-misconduct report inserted into the file of Lt. Fred Goines said that Goines matched coins with fellow officers behind the front desk of the station to decide who'd buy coffee.

"That would leave a bad impression with the public."

A report on Capt. Oliver Lemeaux said that Lemeaux had been seen talking to "trouble-makers."

He agreed with recommendations of the PAS report and was striving for favor with the rebels, Straley said.

The chief said that any commanding officers who disagreed with his opinion of the PAS report should have "turned in their badges."

Straley said such men "were opposing the chief of police and his policies."

★ ★ ★

Asked to name the department "trouble-makers," Straley reeled off eight names.

They were Lt. Hanger, Capt. Lemeaux, Lt. Raymond Meggitt, Lt. Fred Goines, Det. James LaPonsie, Det. Richard Evans, Lt. Donnie Ashley and Sgt. Cooley.

"Perhaps there were a few others," Straley said.

"Just what specific acts of misconduct were these men guilty of?" Straley was asked by Blakeslee.

"They allied themselves against the chief of police and his policies, demanded he be fired, accused him of being incompetent, and made other ridiculous and false accusations," the chief said grimly.

Straley also renewed his complaint that he failed to receive proper support from the city manager.

"On seven or eight occasions I asked Mr. Willman to file charges against these men. I told him they were, insubordinate, insolent and disrespectful, but he wouldn't do it," Straley said.

The hearing will resume at 4 p.m. today in the City Commission chambers with Straley again on the stand for cross-examination.

Commissioners are hopeful of winding up the hearing, now in its eighth week, tonight.

The new editor joined the News' staff in 1930. During his career in journalism, he has been a general reporter, a sports writer, a city hall reporter and a Washington correspondent.

More State Funds for Welfare Okayed

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams has signed a bill to enable the state to meet its welfare obligations until June 30.

★ ★ ★

The bill provides a 15-million-dollar deficiency appropriation for the ailing welfare treasury. Neither the Governor nor the Legislature, however, know yet where the money will come from. It merely boosts the state's growing deficit.

★ ★ ★

Most of the appropriation—$9,247,000—will go for direct relief payments. Another $2,850,000 will supplement old age assistance programs; $2,554,000, aid to dependent children; $260,000, aid to the disabled; and $89,000, aid to the blind.

Wayne Staffer Heads Research on Aging

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Illinois and Michigan educators were named today to the staff of the Senate subcommittee on problems of the aged and aging.

Sidney Spector, specialist on problems of the aging employed by the council on State Governments and former University of Chicago faculty member, was named staff director.

Dr. Harold L. Sheppard, professor of sociology at Wayne State University, Detroit, was named subcommittee research director.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich), chairman of the subcommittee, said the two would begin their new duties around April 20.

California Police Await Return of Diana Varsi

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Manhattan Beach police are a patient lot, and even if actress Diana Varsi has exiled herself in Vermont, they expect her back here.

★ ★ ★

She was given a traffic citation March 6 and ordered to post $31 bail. She left without paying the fine or making a court appearance, so a warrant was issued for her arrest Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The warrant has been placed in the future file and the police will watch the newspapers. If the star of "Peyton Place" comes back, as many expect, they'll be waiting for her.

Says Reds Hit Nehru 'Integrity'

India Deputy Minister Assails Embassy for Tibet Statement

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's deputy foreign minister today accused the Communist Chinese embassy in New Delhi of challenging Prime Minister Nehru's "integrity and honesty" in the Tibetan revolt.

★ ★ ★

The government speaker in Parliament, Mrs. Lakshmi Menon, said it was "highly improper" for the embassy to distribute a statement that the trading town of Kalimpong in northeast India was the "command center of the Tibetan revolt" after Nehru had denied the allegation.

★ ★ ★

Her sharp reprimand touched off an uproar in Parliament. The Communist minority sought to shout her down, but they were drowned out by cheers of other members.

Nehru is returning to New Delhi Thursday with relations between India and Red China approaching a delicate pitch.

★ ★ ★

The Communist New China News Agency last Friday carried the original statement describing Kalimpong—a center for Tibetan refugees—as the headquarters of the rebellion. Nehru denied the charge in Parliament on Monday.

★ ★ ★

The Chinese embassy, despite Nehru's repudiation of the charge, distributed the same statement Tuesday—this time from the official Peiping People's Daily.

★ ★ ★

Home Minister Govind Ballabh Pant said it was deplorable that the Peiping newspaper should "seem to repudiate Nehru's authoritative statement."

New Teachers School Aided

Big Ford Grant Given for 'Breakthrough' at Chicago University

CHICAGO (UPI)—The University of Chicago announced today it had received a $2,400,000 Ford Foundation grant to back a program of improved teacher training.

The money was given to Chicago's Graduate School of Education to speed what Ford Foundation officials called "a breakthrough in teacher education."

Chicago's grant was part of $9,161,210 awarded by the foundation to nine major U. S. educational institutions. Only Harvard received more—$2,906,000.

The University of Wisconsin was given $625,000, topped by Brown's $1,047,000, and Stanford's $900,000.

★ ★ ★

"We indeed are proud to announce assurance of this large grant so soon after the establishment of our new Graduate School of Education," Chicago Dean Franxis S. Chase said.

Chase said the graduate school, opened just last November, was "dedicated to providing society with the teacher-scholars that our times need so desperately."

There are about three and a half million horses and mules in the United States. The number is expected to decrease four per cent in 1959.

UAW Lays Off 26 Pct., Cuts Pay 5 Pct.

Recessions Affect Union Staffs Too

By A. F. MAHAN JR.

DETROIT (AP)—Unionists who work for unionists get hurt in recessions, just as unionists who work for unions get hurt in repocketbook.

Take the nuge United Auto Workers Union, for example. It has had two of what industry terms economic cutbacks in the last year.

The UAW has laid off 175 staff workers paid by International headquarters and its officers and executive board members were asked voluntarily to take a five per cent salary cut. The latter forewent 10 per cent for 18 weeks last year, but that had been restored.

The staff cutback among $8,000-and-down employes amounts to roughly 20 per cent of the International's work force. Officer salaries are scaled downward from President Walter P. Reuther's $22,000 to $12,500 for executive board members.

The UAW had an average monthly dues-paying membership of 1,026,050 in 1958, down 289,411 from the 1957 average of 1,315,461. Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey reported the UAW operated $2,373,298 in the red in 1958.

The dues-paying drop amounts to $434,116 a month at the International level. The International gets $1.50 of the union's basic minimum dues of $3 a month. However, 40 cents is earmarked for specific uses such as strike benefits.

Using the 1958 dues-paying membership average, the International's income was $1,539,083 a month or $18,468,876 for the year, including ear-marked funds.

Reuther, an everlasting advocate of full employment in industry, defends his own layoffs thus:

★ ★ ★

"The UAW is non-profit, existing not to make profits for stockholders and management but only to serve the interests and needs of its members. The UAW does not have access to excessive profits or reserves and can't float stocks or bonds to raise revenue when it wishes."

★ ★ ★

Union dues, he also points out, are fixed by the UAW constitution.

The UAW doesn't represent just auto workers. Its full title is: International Union, United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America.

And 1958 was a rough year for all but the agricultural implement industry.

Strikers pay no dues and siphon strike-support funds. Those laid off pay no dues. A rule is you must work 40 hours a month to be liable for dues.

ASSESSMENT LEVIED

The UAW strike fund paid out 22 million dollars in 1958 to strikers in 279 plants. A $1-a-month assessment was levied on all workers this year to build the fund back from 19 million to 25 million dollars.

But strikes and layoffs didn't cause all the UAW's dues-paying headaches. It developed what appears to be a chronic one in its automobile division several years back.

In the auto industry's most lush year, 1955, when it built more than nine million cars and trucks, total production-worker employment of assembly and supplier plants was figured at 746,400 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Production has fluctuated since, but there has been a production-worker decline every year: To 648,500 in 1956, to 630,100 in 1957 and down to a preliminary estimate of 476,700 in 1958.

W. L. Ginsberg, the UAW's chief of research, is partial to these union statistics:

"Motor vehicle production increased from 4,797,621 in 1947 to 7,220,000 in 1957, up 50.5 per cent. But in the same 10 years auto industry employment, including salaried workers, increased only 5.1 per cent from 715,000 to 776,200."

Privately, many union and management experts doubt the automakers ever again will hit 1955's employment peak even if car and truck production more than doubled last year's 5,115,375.

The eight jet engines of the B52 Stratofortress have the power of 30 diesel locomotives.

Name Change Overdue for Board of Agriculture

Proposal No. 2 on State questions which voters will be asked to decide April 6 is a change in name for the governing board of Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

The proposed amendment to the constitution would change the name of the governing board from the State Board of Agriculture to the Board of Trustees of Michi-State University.

This change is long overdue. The current name was chosen in 1861 when agriculture was the sole curriculum offered by the institution. During the next 98 years the College has grown to the stature of a great university.

★ ★ ★

Agriculture is but a part of the school. To be sure, Michigan State is proud of its agricultural tradition and will continue to serve Michigan well in this field.

But it certainly seems reasonable to believe that the name of the governing board should not be descriptive of only one segment of the broad educational program offered by Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

"This action was taken at the specific request of this Board, and hence is most welcome evidence of the Legislature's understanding of the desirability of a change in name," commented Dr. Connor D. Smith, of Pinconning, Chairman of the State Board of Agriculture.

★ ★ ★

The Press concurs with members of the Board and officers of the University in adoption of the amendment which we believe to be in the best interests of Michigan State University.

Vote yes on State Proposal No. 2.

ECM's Development Causing Difference

Complaints are coming from countries outside the three month old European Common Market (ECM) that its trade policies will lead to a permanent economic division of Europe. Sweden has issued a white paper to that effect; Austria says its steel sales to Italy have declined and Swiss newspapers are deploring regional markets.

★ ★ ★

Within ECM itself there are differences. Miners in Belgium have struck because of the closing of inefficient and money losing coal mines. Gemany has a suplus of coal and is barring U.S. imports. The Germans are buying some forms of French steel because after the Jan. 1 tariff reductions it is cheaper. All this was expected and that is why backers of ECM warned that it would take at least ten years to iron out differences.

Other countries have been incited to join the French, Germans, Italians and Benelux countries in ECM and may find it to their interest to do so. The British feel they cannot join because of Commonwealth ties but could be the first to abandon that stand.

★ ★ ★

By undertaking this commitment, Britain and the Commonwealth might get better economic terms than in any other way. There is no other form of association, says the Manchester Guardian, whereby Britain can align itself closely with the new Europe.

★ ★ ★

Former French Premier Jean Monnet, the moving spirit behind the formation of ECM and the Coal and Steel Community, feels confident that all Europe eventually will join and that will lead to political federation to the benefit of all. That's a long way off but it is something worth striving for.

ALL the eggs shouldn't be put in one basket, and all the cerebration necessary for forming and implementing our foreign policy shouldn't be concentrated under one Homburg.

WHY worry about the Berlin situation? Each side in the dispute categorically declares it will never shoot unless the other side shoots first.

Outstanding proof that we're getting more sensible is found in the almost complete discontinuance in the Pontiac area of the smart aleck's observance of April 1 as a time for the perpetration of foolish, fossilized, moss grown and childish jokes.

A check with more than a score of people with an above average IQ shows that none of them associate this day with the old custom. As one woman puts it: "The pulling of April fool jokes now appears to be reserved exclusively for the fools."

David Lawrence Says:

'Missile-Rattling' by U.S. Political

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — They used to call it "saber-rattling." But since the saber is outmoded, the appropriate term nowadays would be "missile-rattling."

The idea is to scare another government which might be thinking of an attack on your country, though the justification is always supposed to be reassurance to one's own people.

But, so far as the United States is concerned, there is an altogether different reason why the military chiefs and the secretary of defense find it necessary to go around the country these days telling the people we can "flatten Russia." It has to do with the low state of American politics.

For months now, the American people have been told that the Soviets are "ahead of us" or that there is a "dangerous gap." This might make pleasant reading in Moscow, but the ostensible purpose of the politician is patriotic.

He has convinced himself that he is not thinking of his own ambitions, that he is not playing politics with human fears, and that he is alerting his country to its own lack of preparedness. But, unfortunately, this is not the whole story.

A careful examination of the facts, as developed in testimony before congressional committees, would indicate that all the military chiefs have agreed that our armed forces and weapons today are capable of administering incredible destruction on the potential enemy and that plans have been made to maintain adequate strength for the future.

It has been easy enough to get these military facts, but this wouldn't satisfy political ambition.

It might be thought that in free America, whose proud claim has always been that "partisan politics ends at the water's edge," there would be more restraint on the part of public men in issuing deprecatory statements which, on the one hand, accuse the incumbent administration of neglect, but which, on the other hand, inevitably result in counterassertions by the military chiefs themselves in phrases that naturally arouse bad feeling between peoples theoretically preparing to fight each other.

If the Soviet people think they are doomed to destruction, they will tend to forget the hardships imposed by their tyrannical government and will rally behind it in desperation.

★ ★ ★

When Khrushchev, in one of his vodka outbursts, said to Western diplomats in Moscow a few months ago, "We will bury you," his boast was reported by the press of the world.

It aroused, particularly in the United States, a feeling that we were being threatened.

The same reaction can ensue within the Soviet Union from the reading of many of the comments on our defense capabilities which are being printed rather widely this week.

Our military men and the secretary of defense have been describing in their public statements the terrible destruction which our own military apparatus can inflict on the enemy, if attacked.

The Soviet press usually omits the words "if attacked."

★ ★ ★

No nation likes to be threatened by any other nation. Threats produce a jingoistic spirit and tend to arouse patriotic feelings.

Khrushchev, of course, did not do the cause of peace any service by his recent ultimatum demanding that the Western troops be withdrawn from West Berlin by May 27. He has since modified his position in the face of worldwide condemnation.

President Eisenhower has handled himself superbly. He has uttered no words of bluster about our military power. He has simply said we would not retreat an inch and would fight only if we were attacked.

This is not only the proper phrasing for diplomatic purposes, but it also serves to keep the argument on the wave lengths of peace so far as America itself is concerned.

Somehow the people behind the iron curtain ought to be informed that the debate inside the United States is primarily political and that there isn't the remotest intention here of attacking them.

★ ★ ★

America, to be sure—in case of attack—does not intend to wait until the "first blow" arrives before putting into effect its interceptive devices far distant from our own territory.

Dr. William Brady Says:

High Cholesterol, My Eye! I'll Take Balanced Diet

With Webster's definition of "degeneration," in the medical sense of the world, I agree in principle, if you will pardon my cheek, but not in tote. I quote the definition verbatim:

DR. BRADY

"4. Med. — Deterioration of a tissue or an organ in which its vitality is diminished; a substitution of a lower for a higher form of structure, either by chemical change of the tissue (true degeneration) or the deposit of abnormal matter in the tissues (infiltration)."

Infiltration my eye! What abnormal matter is "deposited" in the tissues?

From morbid anatomy, pathology, necropsies (autopsies) and biopsies (microscopic study of bits of living tissue) we know that fatty materials cholesterol and calcium compounds found in the artery wall, in the heart muscle and in the joint tissues are the product or consequence of chemical change of tissue — the change we call degeneration — the lower form of structure which replaces the higher form of the normal, healthy body.

This is the scientific truth.

No matter how eminent the research investigators are who conceived the cholesterol theory — or how convincing the "science writers" are who distributed it to the public via popular magazine articles, or how busy and successful (in the business sense) the doctors are who keep patients on low-fat (low cholesterol) diets gauged by frequent measurements of the cholesterol level in the blood —the idea is preposterous in any circumstance.

In many instances restrictions of diet imposed by the meaningless blood cholesterol tests makes worse what was probably poor nutrition in the first place.

However, ninnyhammer, they're your arteries, your heart, your joints, etc. and this is a free country.

I doubt if anyone places a higher value on his teeth, tonsils, arteries, hear, joints, nerves, digestion and metabolism than I do. It would take a parcel of better doctors than I know — and I know some very good ones — to persuade me to restrict my daily intake of meat, butter, milk, eggs, because of their high cholesterol content.

★ ★ ★

There's some cholesterol in every cell in the healthy body. The blood of a healthy person always contains considerable cholesterol, the amount varying from 60 or 70 milligrams per 100 cc. to 280 milligrams per 100 cc., depending on general activity, time of day in relation to meals, etc. Remember, ninnies, this is the state of good health.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

"Lots of folks are willing to offer help — if it doesn't look like much is needed."

Voice of the People

'Let's Thank God for Right to Be American Citizens'

Many of the things we think of as advanced today will make us wonder someday how we got by with them. Progress will continue because of experimental research. Our government and industry have put billions into it. They stand ever ready to hear, test and even help finance new ideas.

★ ★ ★

Even so, there's always the bellyacher who's ready to declare we have gone the limit, it can't be done and even threatens to leave the country if it isn't stopped. Let's encourage him with a one-way ticket.

★ ★ ★

In every point of the globe hundreds of outstretched hands are begging, "Please, Uncle Sam, let me in." Because of commercial and experimental research America is respected and watched by the world. It stands aghast and wonders what we'll do next. As America goes, so goes the world. Uncle Sam has never, is not now and never will play second fiddle to any. We should thank God for having the right to be Americans.

'Should We Revoke Women's Vote?'

Just because "Soapy, Laughing Boy" Williams shook hands and is well known, Angela B. will vote for him for life. Has she washed the hand he shook since that time?

★ ★ ★

Handshaking and baby kissing doesn't make a great governor. During World War II the American Army shook hands with Russia, too, but look where we are with them today. If women of today vote for friendly smiles and handshakes, let's go back to days before women had the vote.

I guess ignorance is bliss.

'We Won't Avoid War at Any Price'

David Lawrence says "Keep us out of war at any price," is the directive of the American people to their Government leadership. Butt his thinking is in nowise attuned to the hearts of his countrymen. Honorable people are always eager to wage war, if need be, to defend the integrity of their country and sanctity of their homes.

★ ★ ★

We in the United States have the finest system of government ever devised by man. Though it is the legacy to us from forebears long dead, it is for us, the living, to defend it, that "when, like our sires, our sons are gone," this magnificent edifice may continue impregnable against the buffeting of greed and degeneracy.

★ ★ ★

It must be with the same stalwart courage and fierce determination which prompted the legions of the Blue at Gettysburg's fierce stand and for that host of whom the bivouac came to blend with eternity.

Asks Some Action About Crossings

Why doesn't someone do something about improving our railroad crossings in Waterford? The number of deaths and accidents occurring on railroad tracks is terrible.

★ ★ ★

Very often motorists don't see flashing lights or hear the faint sound of bells, especially during winter when car windows are up.

★ ★ ★

Let's get busy and have poles to block each crossing when a train is coming. Maybe a few lives could be saved. It will cost some money, but how much is a human life worth? If you don't know, ask some of the people who have lost loved ones in train and car collisions.

'People Like That Need Preaching'

Recently a letter said gospel preaching, psalm singing hypocrites should keep it to themselves. No matter where you go, whether at work, to the neighborhood gas station or grocery store, someone will rip out an oath. Don't they realize when they use such oaths to emphasize a point, it immediately stamps them as one whose education is not complete and that they should return to grade school to complete their education in speech? Those who use the Lord's name so loosely should be preached to.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Contradicts Rules of Composition

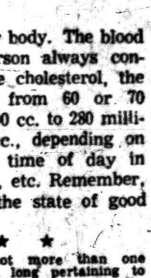

Clark's question brings out several new ideas in "print psychology;" so scrapbook this arrticle if you aspire to write or are a prize contest addict. By lab tests in psychology, we have found that many old rules of English composition are false, so send for the booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A - 493: Clark G., aged 24, is taking graduate work in Journalism School.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," he began, "we've been studying Chapter XII in your college textbook, wherein you deal with the 'Psychology of Writing.'

"Contrary to past custom, you urge writers to use Arabic numerals instead of spelling out the numbers below 10.

"And I notice you stress the discreet use of quotation marks, etc. Would you explain those more fully?

"My mother is an inveterate prize contest addict and I think she could use some of those ideas to good advantage."

PRINT PSYCHOLOGY

Print psychology is a new concept, but very valuable to newspapermen and advertising copy writers.

★ ★ ★

For we have been slaves to some outmoded rules of English composition, one of which states that numbers of less than two digits should always be written out.

Thus, it is still customary even in journalism to use the first statement below, instead of the second:

"On his first toss, the bowler knocked down eight pins."

"On his 1st toss, the bowler knocked down 8 pins."

★ ★ ★

But you don't need precise laboratory experiments with a tachistoscope to show you that the "8" in the second version, catches the eye much quicker than the "eight" in the first.

And that is because the Arabic numerals contrast with the Latin letters of our alphabet, thus giving more "eye appeal" to the "8."

For example, on one fleeting glance at a full page, you can spot the numerals even though you don't have time to read a single word!

★ ★ ★

And that is valuable in this high-speed age, for contest entries may be piled to the ceiling as the weary judges face as many as 1,000,000 so anything that will catch their eye, will give you an advantage.

BEWARE ROMAN NUMERALS

Another flaw in modern writing is the use of Roman numerals, which are just capital letters of the Latin alphabet, such as IV, V, X, etc.

Use Arabic and you'll rate much greater attention. And if you wish to add extra insurance, just place the Arabic number in parentheses, as:

"IV. The Decline of the Roman Empire."

"(4) The Decline of the Roman Empire."

Notice how that Arabic (4) hits you right in the eye!

★ ★ ★

Quotation marks also are a great attention-attracter, for they suggest dialogue or repartee. And whenever speaking is indicated, that usually means at least two people are present.

★ ★ ★

And 2 people form the basis for love, assault, sex, war and many other dramatic conflicts. The average reader thus cannot resist quote marks.

A-493

But break your opening quotation, as in the first sentence below, so you can get 3 sets of quote marks on the usual 2-inch newspaper line, for this device frebies interest value.

"Easy writing," said Sheridan, "is curst hard reading."

"Easy writing is curst hard reading," said Sheridan.

★ ★ ★

For further advice on modern print psychology, go to your library and read Ch. XII in my college text, or send for the booklet "How to Write Salable Copy." enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit).

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'The Babe and I'

By MRS. BABE RUTH with Bill Slocum

(Condensed from "The Babe and I" Copyright, 1959, by Mrs. Babe Ruth and published by Prentice Hall, Inc.)

In 1938 the Brooklyn Dodgers finished seventh. In his 20 full seasons in the majors, Babe had been in 10 pennant winners and only one other club that finished seventh. Nevertheless, the Babe felt 1938 had been a good year.

The team club drew out of all proportion to its standing because the fans wanted to see the Babe hit a few and coach.

★ ★ ★

His work on the baselines had been satisfactory and he had shown himself remarkably adept at coaching the Dodger hitters.

MacPhail treated us both well. We traveled first class and MacPhail met every promise he had made, as did the Babe.

An unhappy aspect of the season was Leo Durocher, a remarkably gifted shortstop who was finishing his active career. Leo had been a brash rookie with the Yankees when Babe was king.

They had disliked one another then and nothing through the years had changed those feelings. It was Babe's feeling that deft shortstop play was the sum total of Leo's civilized conduct.

OPPORTUNITY BECKONS

During the season, Leo let word get out that Babe had missed an important signal that cost the Dodgers a game. Assuming Babe did miss it — just assuming — Leo was still guilty of dirty pool.

All ball-players miss signals, and traditionally they confine their mutual recriminations to the privacy of the club house.

But loathing Durocher was old hat to Babe, and when the season was done he was hopeful. He was hopeful in the light of his full knowledge of the cruel facts of baseball life.. Burleigh Grimes, who managed the club that finished seventh, appeared doomed.

The ax fell, as expected. Babe found out about it in the newspapers. And he also found who would succeed Grimes—Leo Durocher!

Babe was crushed. He had done everything they asked of him and it hadn't been enough. He sat in the kitchen, head in hands, crying once again. He was out of baseball. And this time he hadn't even had the privilege of quitting. He was fired.

★ ★ ★

He heard nothing from MacPhail. There was no point to asking about 1939 and Brooklyn. Babe wouldn't work for Durocher and Durocher wouldn't let him. And in Babe's mind a friend had gone back on his word.

There was nothing on paper between MacPhail and Babe so there was nothing to call and talk about. MacPhail obviously felt the same way.

Babe and Larry's paths crossed accidentally at the Stadium one day. But it was the briefest of meetings; a few polite words and they parted.

Now Babe was out of baseball once more.

There was a sense of desperation about his anguish this time. The first time baseball had dropped him it had been done because he was too old to play baseball. That's the fate of every ball player, sandlot amateur or home run king.

★ ★ ★

The long delay between the end of his active career and the start of the traditional coach or managerial career had been trying, but the Babe had the ego-bulwarking thought that perhaps he was not called because his demands had been too high.

But then the call had come. And the result was failure.

BACK TO GOLF

The Babe took to the golf course, the fields and streams and woods. They filled in his time, kept him from getting fat, and got him away from the telephone that never rang.

Baseball writers, stuck for a rainy day store or filled with honest irritation wrote, as Sid Mercer did in the New York Journal on July 30, 1943, "Somewhere in baseball there should be a job for Babe Ruth."

But there wasn't.

The war came and the Babe was always available to help sell bonds or do anything else he could.

And in August of 1942 a call did come from the Yankees. They were putting on a game for the benefit of Army-Navy Relief and would Babe put on a hitting exhibition against another great old timer, Walter Johnson?

Babe hadn't swung a baseball bat in four years. But he was more than happy to try.

He would at long, long last have another chance to perform for Yankee fans.

He was like a child the night before the game. Was his uniform back from the cleaners? Were the spikes shined? Even more important than looking like Babe Ruth—could he still hit like Babe Ruth?

The Babe and the Lip in uneasy proximity.

The Babe worried and fretted far, far more than he ever worried on the eve of a deciding World Series game.

ONE MORE HONOR

The big crowd that turned out gave Babe an ovation such as I had never experienced.

Babe's old pal, Walter Johnson, the man who had never been wild, was wild that afternoon.

But he settled down and put his big, big heart into doing the job he and 69,136 people wanted done—give the old Babe one where he could really bust it.

The Babe tried and tried and hit a couple pretty well. But nothing in the old Ruthian tradition. I began to worry he would hurt himself.

Walter and Babe were both tiring as Johnson sent in his 21st pitch. The minute bat and ball met everybody in the park knew that Babe had hit one as only he could hit it. It landed in the third deck.

Babe, as always, had risen to the occasion. He flung his bat aside and trotted once more around the bases, his immense body carried along by skinny legs and schoolgirl ankles above twinkling feet.

I knew he was happy. And so did the 69,136 people who perhaps had sensed how very, very much Babe had wanted to do just what he had done.

His moon-like face was wreathed in a happy kid's grin. The face of Walter Johnson, handsome even beyond movie star standards, was filled with equal happiness.

People cheered, and a lot of them wept over this dramatic recreation of a scene that they remembered from perhaps their boyhoods.

They were still cheering for minutes after the weary Johnson and Babe disappeared into the dugout on their way to the dressing room to join a host of old friends who awaited them there.

Babe was to wear that uniform only once more.

ONCE MORE, TEARS

The Yankees won the pennant in 1943 and then they started to crumble. Babe watched with mingled dismay and hope. He hated to see his Yankees lose.

But he was neither a fool nor a hypocrite and he knew the best chance he had to get a manager's job with the Yankees was to replace a pilot who was being fired because of "the need for a change."

The inevitable change came in 1945 when the estate of Colonel Ruppert was forced to sell the club to two millionaires (Del Webb and Dan Topping) and Larry MacPhail.

Babe's never dormant hopes arose with the arrival of MacPhail.

Babe took hat in hand, figuratively, and went to the Yankees begging a job.

★ ★ ★

He didn't need money. He was making more out of baseball than most of the people in it. But he wrote a couple of letters to MacPhail that he would even go to Newark. And got no answer.

Then he telephoned. Larry was more than cordial. He hadn't answered because he didn't quite know what the answer would be, but the Yanks were definitely interested in hiring Babe.

They hung up on Larry's, "Sit tight, Babe. You'll hear from us." He didn't.

In 1946 Babe almost went mad as he watched MacPhail struggle to find a manager. The Yankees had not less than three that year—McCarthy, Bill Dickey and Johnny Neun.

On Sept. 20, 1946, Babe wrote an abject letter to MacPhail, begging for anything—anything at all—with the Yankees or their farm.

GETS ANSWER

He did get an answer. I brought him the letter with the Yankee inscription on the envelope. "It's bad news," he said. "They write the bad news and telephone the good."

He was right. Not only was it bad news but it was a cruel brush-off, filled with the gratuitous advice that Babe work with the sandlot kids, and in effect, stop bothering the Yankees.

The Babe wept once again.

Michigan—'State of Bankruptcy'

Cash Crisis Might Be Trail's End for Williams

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON—For Michigan's six-times Governor G. Mennen Williams this could be the end of the road.

Williams' State of Michigan is coming to be known as the State of Bankruptcy. That is bad for a politician who has had his eye on the White House.

The State of Michigan is broke. For two and one half months the newspapers and news magazines have been telling their readers about that.

It is bad advertising, so bad that it could and probably will be deadly to Williams' political ambitions. Deadly, at least, to his political ambitions outside the state.

Stories of the financial catastrophe which is overtaking Michigan never fail to identify Williams with the bad news. Much less emphasis is put on the fact that the legislature of Michigan is Republican-controlled and, further, that the immediate problem in Michigan adds up to a governor-legislature dispute on how to solve it.

★ ★ ★

Governor and Legislature pulling together toward a common objective doubtless could find quickly a temporary solution to Michigan's difficulties.

The Republican legislature wants to raise Michigan's sales tax by one cent. A friendly on-the-scene reported calls that proposal the one big solution offered by the Republican legislative leaders. This reporter adds:

"To Williams, a self-labeled New Dealer, and to his big supporters in Walter P. Reuther's United Auto Workers union, a boost in the sales tax is just about as tasty as a dose of castor oil."

Another on-the-scene report had this to say:

"Probably in all the United States there is no more bitter feud between Legislature and governor than in Michigan."

★ ★ ★

Paul Weber is Williams' press secretary. He is attempting to turn the tide of bad publicity which threatens to overwhelm his boss.

Weber mails friendly or merely fair news accounts of affairs in Michigan to political writers around the country, accompanied by little notes explaining that they are offered "in view of the many distorted versions of Michigan's financial problems."

Editorial comment has been severe on Williams, for example, this on how Michigan got into the mess:

"The state spent more than it took in, and kept on spending more and more."

Says Grandma, It's a Nice Way to Be Neighborly

OMAHA (AP) — "Grandma, would you do anything in the world for me?" asked Janice Wilberg, 8.

"Of course, honey," replied Mrs. Herman Draacek.

"Then ride my bike, exclaimed Janice.

★ ★ ★

Grandma mounted Janice's bike and down the street she went.

She rode about 50 feet. Then she took a tumble.

It wasn't much a tumble physically. Just a scratched ankle.

★ ★ ★

But an hour later grandma fingered her engagement ring. The set was gone.

Into the dark went grandma, papa Wilberg, Janice and nephew Gene Jr.

They beamed a flashlight and the family car lights onto the pavement. The neighbors came and more cars lined up to swep the pavement with light.

★ ★ ★

Grandma was ready to call it quits when Wilberg cried "Here it is."

Mrs. Draacek clasped the three-quarters of a carat gem tightly, sighed and said: "It's certainly an interesting way to met the neighbors."

Ice Jam Threat Sighted at Mouth of St. Clair River

DETROIT (AP) — An ice jam at the mouth of the St. Clair River was reported a threat today by the first freighter to get through Lake St. Clair's ice.

★ ★ ★

Capt. Kenneth Sanchagrin, veteran of the Great Lakes, forecast a likely ice jam as a result of the bad winter. He reported ice two feet thick between Harbor Beach and Sanilac.

The freighter S. T. Crapo, skippered by Capt. Sanchargrin has made port here with a cargo of 38,000 barrels of cement from Alpena. Coast Guard cutters cleared a path for her part of the way.

The Crapo made the round trip, having left here March 24. She was tied up at Port Huron for three days because of ice and northeast winds.

★ ★ ★

Capt. Sanchagrin, who has sailed the lakes for more than 30 years, described the trip as "just as rough as last year."

Jaycee Builders Show Receives Boost

The annual Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce Builders Show received a boost from the City Commission last night.

★ ★ ★

Jaycees will stage the show this year in the Pontiac Armory and Commissioners gave them permission to block off Water street between Mill and Parke streets for exhibits while the show runs, April 30-May 3.

Commissioners also looked favorably on a Jaycee request for permission to paint footprints on downtown sidewalks, calling public attention to the show, which is the largest Jaycee money-making venture of the year.

The show is returning to the Armory after several years of being held elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners, in other business, took under consideration a request from the Bowling Proprietors Assn. of Greater Pontiac.

The association wants the city to drop an ordinance that keeps bowling alleys closed Sundays until noon.

"Bowling leagues are going outside of Pontiac to play because of this requirement and our Pontiac alleys are losing business," said Commissioner Robert A. Landry, who advocated the change.

Commissioners promised further study at their next informal meeting.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston was authorized to proclaim April 8 as "Get America Back to Work Day" in Pontiac. That is the date of the big AFL-CIO push for more jobs in Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Walter K. Willman said that the closing hour for dumping at the Kennett road dump would probably be changed from 4 p.m. to a later hour.

"Apparently 4 p.m. is too early for many people," he told commissioners, promising to talk to Department of Public Works officials about the possibility of a later closing time.

Public hearings were held on nine neighborhood improvements and one of them was scheduled for another airing April 13, after residents protested.

This involved a proposal to install curbs and gutters on Carlisle avenue, Columbia to Sheffield.

No objections were raised at the other hearings.

They involved curbs and gutters on three other streets—Carlisle avenue, Walton to Chicago; Carr street, Mt. Clemens to Pontiac Knolls subdivision; and Colgate avenue, Baldwin to Carlisle; and blacktopping on five streets—Euclid, between High and Jefferson; Adelaide, Oakland to west of Baldwin; Harriett street, Cadillac to Adelaide; Kinney road, Oakland to Stanley; and LeGrande avenue, Baldwin to Euclid.

Hospital Grant Balance OK'd

$316,000 Installment for Equipment Passes Over Henry's Protest

The City Commission last night authorized the third and final installment on the $950,000 grant for Pontiac General Hospital equipment and furnishings, over the objections of Commissioner Milton R. Henry.

"If the hospital is going to get another dime out of public improvement funds, they should repay it," said Henry, who abstained from the vote.

Five other commissioners present voted to authorize the final installment of $316,000 without any provision for repayment, since none was asked when the $350,000 was promised 15 months ago.

Under the authorization, the city clerk was permitted to advertise for bids on tax anticipation notes covering $316,000 in 1960 taxes.

Notes covering the first two installments of the grant, amounting to $317,000 each, were purchased last year by Community National Bank in anticipation of 1958 and 1959 taxes. The 1958 note has already been paid back.

★ ★ ★

Some of the $316,000 may be sidetracked temporarily for use in completing remodeling of the hospital's east wing. Under a recent agreement to get the hospital construction program under way again, the city let the hospital use up to $200,000 in equipment and furnishing funds for extra repair costs holding up remodeling. The city promised to reimburse the funds by next February.

The $316,000 represents the last monies earmarked for the hospital expansion program. Another grant of $500,000, approved three years ago for construction, was paid off this year.

Whatever city funds the hospital has to spend on the extra repairs are to be paid back later when the construction program is completed and the hospital is operating on a profit.

German Consul Speaks Here

Berlin Is Showcase of Democracy vs. Reds, Kiwanis Club Told

A West German official in Pontiac yesterday called for a firm stand in Berlin, and called for no retreat, but instead, fighting Bolshevism as it advances.

This was the theme of Dr. Ferdinand R. H. Friedensburg IV, West German Consul in Detroit, who spoke before the Downtown Pontiac Kiwanis Club meeting at the Waldron Hotel.

"Berlin is the showcase of democracy in the world," he said. "West Berlin is an island of democracy in a sea of communism and its people are ready and willing to stand against communism, to take up all hardships imaginable to retain their freedom."

Friedensburg said that at the end of World War II the German people felt themselves to be the "outcasts of modern civilization."

"No one dreamed 14 years ago that Germans and Americans could become allies in such a short time. But today West Germany is your surest ally, your greatest friend," he told Kiwanians.

Friedensburg named foreign aid to Germany as possibly the best investment this country has made since the war.

"We Germans will always think you Americans are crazy for chewing gum when you should be chewing sauerkraut," he said, bringing a laugh from his listeners.

"But in our hearts we know that without the aid and help of America in the past 14 years, our country wouldn't be free and once again looking ahead today."

Reuther Will Speak Unless Invite Killed

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers Union spokesman says Walter Reuther will deliver the commencement address to this year's graduating class at Richmond High School unless the invitation is withdrawn.

The invitation to the UAW president resulted in circulation of a petition asking the school board to reconsider the selection of a speaker. Some 50 parents of graduating seniors signed it.

Reuther was not mentioned by name in the petition, but it asked that the class be addressed by" . . .someone associated with the field of education; rather than a leader in a highly techincal and controversial field."

The union leader was asked to speak by Alex Nelson, superintendent of the Richmond Community School District. He said the invitation will continue to stand unless the local school board orders differently.

★ ★ ★

The board plans to meet with Reuther later this week to discuss the matter.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR
Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.
To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.
Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Oklahoma Vote on Liquor Set

New Governor Asks Voters Choose Repeal or Strict Enforcement

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—What Carrie Nation tried to do a half-century ago—make Oklahoma bone dry—is the aim of an unprecedented law enforcement drive now under way in this state, one of the two in the nation where liquor is banned.

But Oklahoma authorities have somewhat different reasons and methods for their campaign than Carrie had for hers.

When she wielded her hatchets and words against Demon Rum at the turn of the century, her purpose was to eliminate the saloon. In fact, the Kansas temperance leader was instrumental in having Oklahoma admitted to the Union as a "dry" state in 1907.

★ ★ ★

The only other state is Mississippi, although a black market tax allows some liquor selling in border counties.

The current enforcement campaign in Oklahoma, instituted by the state's new governor, 33-year-old Howard Edmondson, and its Safety Commissioner, Joe Cannon, is designed to give the voters "a clear choice between enforced prohibition and repeal."

For the past 51 years, the state has stood midway between those two extremes. Technically "dry," Oklahoma has been the site of widespread bootlegging. Now, the question is whether to repeal prohibition.

★ ★ ★

This issue was a major one in Oklahoma's 1958 election campaign. Edmondson promised to bring the matter to a vote within 90 days of taking office. The legislature has called a special election on repeal for April 7.

Pending the vote, the governor promised to dry up the state. He has thrown the resources of the state Highway Patrol and state Crime Bureau into this effort.

Edmondson told a statewide meeting of law enforcement officers: "I promised I would do everything in my power to see that there is uniform enforcement in Oklahoma. This campaign will include all big cities as well as small towns. This enforcement will include the plush private clubs as well as the activities of the hip-pocket bootlegger."

Takes Double Term in Jail He Likes

RICHMOND, Ind. (UPI)—Joseph Sanders, 37, was serving 60 days on the state prison farm today — because he couldn't stand sitting in jail for 30 days.

Sanders, arrested Saturday for drunk driving, told Judge James H. Roland he would rather spend 60 days on the farm than 30 days in the Wayne County Jail, which has been condemned by various grand juries for 34 years.

To Require Prints

NEW YORK (UPI)—All hospitals in New York City will be required, starting Oct. 1, to footprint newborn babies and fingerprint their mothers on the same card before they leave the delivery room, under a directive issued by Assistant Health Commissioner Harold Jacobziner.

British to Build Cargo A-Sub

Could Change Oceanic Transport When Ready About 1967

LONDON (UPI)—A British engineering firm today announced plans to build the world's first atomic cargo submarine—a vessel that could revolutionize sea transport.

The Mitchell Engineering organization said it plans a 50,000-ton, 600-foot nuclear-powered submarine that could travel under the ice into Canada's Hudson Bay the year round.

Valuable ores mined in the area build up during the winter because surface vessels cannot get through the thick ice into the bay to transport them to smelters.

A spokesman for Mitchell Engineering said the planned submarine, nicknamed the "Moby Dick," would cost around 54 million dollars. He said it should be ready about 1967.

* * *

It would carry a 30,000-ton cargo of ore at a speed up to 25 knots. The "Moby Dick," outfitted with a nuclear propulsion plant, could cruise for 18 months without refueling. It would be handled by a crew of 50 as compared with a U. S. Navy complement of 120 men.

The Hudson Bay ore carrying project would be the first order of business for the "Moby Dick," but the field was open for other uses of the under-polar route.

A spokesman said plans called for the "Moby Dick" to travel under the Hudson Bay ice to a port, to surface through holes in the ice and take on ore and then submerge and make the run back to England in three or four days.

Letter Takes Almost 4 Days to Go 20 Feet

CROWN POINT, Ind. (UPI) — A letter which took three and one-half days to travel 20 feet today further complicated the city's race for mayor.

Incumbent Mayor Marvin Erienbauch thought he had no opposition when the deadline for election filing passed Thursday midnight. Not so, it turned out.

Officials yesterday received a letter from City Republican Chairman Fred Neimeyer requesting a place on the ballot. The letter apparently took almost four days to travel from the stamping machine to the Lake County Clerk's mailbox.

Steeple Made Visible

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Indians borrowed a fire truck with its mechanical ladder to put aluminum paint on the 95-foot steeple of their church here. Flood-lit at night, it can be seen for miles.

Head Red Rebounded From Farm Defeat

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Stubby Nikita Khrushchev planted himself in the middle of a field, surrounded by awed farmers and Communist functionaries. A brisk freeze fanned the tiny wisps of white hair on his nearly naked round dome.

★ ★ ★

"Here," exclaimed Khrushchev, pointing dramatically to the corn "is the complete sausage on the handle! Here is beefsteak; here is bacon! How will these plants look in a month and a half, when harvest comes? The cobs will be half a yard long. Now you understand why I am so enthusiastic about corn!"

This was the new Khrushchev of recent vintage, Khrushchev the boss. He spoke about the pressing need for animal fodder. Who would dare remind him that his own experimenting in the past had gravely endangered the U.S.S.R.'s livestock population?

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev owed much of his career to his interest in agriculture and his knowledge of the farmer. Boss at last, he could talk confidently about his big ideas. It hadn't been so in the past. His first big idea about farming, in fact, almost cost him his head.

As a member of Stalin's inner Politburo and chief of the Ukraine, Khrushchev conceived the idea of revolutionizing collective farming.

In general charge of Soviet agriculture was Andrei Andreyevich Andreyev, old "Triple A," weak, inefficient, always tottering on the edge of disaster. For the aggressive Khrushchev, Andreyev was a pushover.

★ ★ ★

Farms, said Khrushchev, would be transformed into agricultural factories. Farmers would become farm industry workers. Small collectives would be merged on a vast scale into huge farm factories.

Khrushchev's real goal, inspired by Stalin, was to abolish all private plots, the kitchen gardens by which the peasants set great store. He would build instead communal agrogorods—farm cities.

He reckoned without the peasants. There was grumbling, resentment, even resistance. He pushed through thousands of amalgamations, but suddenly Stalin slapped him down and halted the program.

'COAL MINER' SLAPPED

The coal miner from Kursk listened in brooding silence at the 20th Communist Congress in October 1952. Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's dour right hand, referred to Khrushchev as one of "our individual executive workers" who erred in trying to force farm consolidation.

"They tried," thundered Malenkov, "to bring about at a forced tempo the mass resettlement of villages in large collective settlements, to demolish old collective farm installations and homes of collective farmers, to create instead agrogorods."

But Khrushchev had bounced. Despite this awesome blast, he emerged from the 1952 congress a member of the expanded Presidium which supplanted the Politburo, and a member of an expanded party secretariat. He lost no time in nailing down his influence.

Malenkov would live to rue his words. Long after Stalin's death, Khrushchev would revert to 1952 and blame Malenkov for the sorry state of Soviet agriculture then. He would succeed in having Malenkov thrown out of the hierarchy.

To hear Khrushchev tell it, he had nothing to do with the whole business until he stepped in with the cure.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after the 1952 congress, the lives of all Politburo members were in grave danger. Stalin, to quote a diplomat of the day, had "reached for the bottle again." A new blood purge was in the making. Stalin's assistants fabricated a fantastic story about a plot of doctors, most of them Jewish, to poison Stalin and other leading figures.

Luckily for the Politburo—some say it was more than coincidence—Stalin died in March 1953.

NIKITA TAKES OVER

At that moment, Khrushchev seemed only an also-ran in the power sweepstakes, scarcely noticed. But Stalin's body was not cold before the plotting began.

Malenkov took both Stalin jobs: premier and first party secretary, in control of both party and government. Within two weeks, Khrushchev nudged Malenkov from the party job.

Those were nervous days. The new leadership, calling itself "collective," felt impelled to promise abundance to the long suffering public. It apparently felt the need of popular support, something unheard of in Stalin's day. The whole fantastic story of the doctor's plot was reversed. But not for three years did the Soviet public learn why.

At the 1956 congress, Khrushchev sobbed out the terrifying story. Not a man on the Politburo had been safe, he recalled, after the obscure Dr. Timashuk unfolded her fantastic tale of the plot.

"Let us recall the affair of the doctor plotters," said Khrushchev. "Actually there was no affair outside the declaration of the woman Doctor Timashuk who was influenced or ordered by someone—after all she was an unofficial collaborator of the organs of state security—to write Stalin a letter in which she declared that doctors were applying supposedly improper methods of medical treatment.

"Such a letter was enough for Stalin to reach the immediate conclusion that there were doctor-plotters in the Soviet Union, said Khrushchev. Stalin personally called the investigating judge and gave him instructions, advising him which investigative methods should be used. These methods were simple: beat, beat and once again beat."

So much for the man who was, for so many years, Nikita Khrushchev's "great genius leader and teacher." Khrushchev's own methods were to seem more refined by comparision.

Doctor Treats Self With Easel and Paint Brush

LONDON (AP) — Prescription for a doctor: take up painting.

"Since I started painting," says Dr. Phoebus Tuttnauer, "I haven't once been in a bad mood — all my patients say so."

He started four years ago, at 65. He has exhibited at the Royal Academy and one of London's most exclusive galleries is showing 28 of his paintings.

"I paint on weekends, and I have an easel in the bathroom next to my consulting rooms," he says.

"If a patient doesn't show up, or if I have a few minutes between appointments, I don't waste my time — I go to the nearby bathroom and paint."

Critics call his work primitive — with a "naive, child-like vision." The doctor covers canvases with fantastic landscapes. He signs his paintings "Tuttsi" or "Tutt." He has given some to patients.

"Even so my house got full of my paintings," he said, "so I had to put on an exhibition.

"I'm letting the gallery handle all the arrangements and the prices — I don't really care how much I get for the pictures."

U.S. to Sell Large Stock of Quinine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today threw open its surplus stocks of quinine to bids by domestic and foreign purchasers.

The Government Services Administration said it hopes to sell its entire inventory of about 13,560,000 ounces of quinine in one lot within the next six months. The major part of the stockpile is in sulphate powder.

Quinine has been removed from the list of strategic items held by the GSA for emergency use.

Rich and Poor Wail in Protest

De Gaulle's Austerity Pinches French

By TOM A. CULLEN

PARIS (NEA) — Money has ousted sex as the No. 1 topic of French conversation, with politics running a poor third.

Brigitte Bardot? The average Frenchman acts as though he never heard of her. The Communist menace? He stares blankly. The Rose Ballets scandals? He couldn't care less.

It is only when the talk turns to taxes and the rising cost of living that the Frenchman comes to life. Then he erupts like a Gallic volcano.

"I have heard more talk about money here than ever in the States," complains an American who came to Paris to brush up on the latest in French art and literature. "And they accuse us Americans of being materialists."

A French hostess, noted for the brainy people she attracts to her salon, put it to me another way. "Monsieur Pinay, the minister of finance," she explained, "has murdered the fine art of table talk."

Pinay is catching it from all sides. The rich resent his tax experts prying into their private lives in search of "exterior signs of wealth." The workers accuse him of placing the burden of taxation on their shoulders.

Discontent with President de Gaulle's economic policies accounts almost entirely for the leftward swing in the recent municipal elections, according to political experts.

In some towns the Communists polled as high as 30 per cent of the vote, mostly at the expense of the U. N. R. Gaullist Party, but the Red vote was largely an economic protest, these experts say.

FINANCE MINISTER PINAY: The patient is screaming.

"De Gaulle," a French newspaper editor explained to me, "has performed a drastic but needed surgical operation on the nation's pocketbook.

"Now the patient is coming out of the ether and screaming like hell."

The screams are understandable. In less than nine months since de Gaulle came to power, indirect taxes have raised the prices of bread, wine, coffee and cigarettes.

Electricity, gas, coal, rail fares, telephones and postage stamps—all are higher. So are rents, but they always have been ridiculously low in comparison to other cost-of-living items.

Farm subsidies have been slashed. So have free medical services under the French social security program.

A French construction engineer, who is earning good money, complains to me that the social security set-up will no longer pay half of his expenses for a fortnight's holiday at a fashionable watering spa.

He has been taking the cure annually for his rhematism, he claims. Under the heading of free medical services, the French government has been footing half his hotel bills and train fares.

What makes austerity doubly painful is that for the past two years Frenchmen have never had it so good. Up to January, when de Gaulle's austerity program went into effect, their living standards were the highest in history.

Even with budget cuts, their welfare state benefits remain greater than in Britain.

Even now the skilled factory worker, for the first time in history, can afford a four horsepower motorcar, a television set, washing machine and refrigerator.

★ ★ ★

The result of this prosperity has been to make the average Frenchman money-minded and unhappy when taxes cut into his supply of francs. Even in St. Germain des Pres, the mecca of French intellectuals, it is hard to get a conversation going on a cultural topic.

Gone are the unwashed youths in blue jeans. Gone their bedraggled girl friends in black jerseys who would argue over Sartre and the Existentialists.

Their place has been taken by purposeful-looking youths. Their faces scrubbed, their hair neatly trimmed, they carry books on electronics and nuclear fission under their arms.

Politics and art both leave them cold. "All right for people who can afford to waste the time," one of the New Wave, as they are called, remarks to me.

Passing exams, getting a job and marriage are the preoccupations of today's French youth. "Money, money, money," mutters the American who came to Paris to get culture. "I wish people would talk about something besides money."

His lawyer said Tuesday that Sears wanted to "serve his time so he could be with the woman he loved."

★ ★ ★

Sears, 23, was convicted of bigamy last month. The charge later was reduced to attempting to commit a felony. Sentence was suspended on condition he return to his first wife and support her and their children.

His lawyer, Dan Garfinkle, said Sears went to Winn, Fla., and got a job and a new house.

★ ★ ★

"But last Thursday he kissed his first wife goodbye and came to Nashvile . . . (to be) with his second wife," Garfinkle said.

Chief Admits His Guilt, Left Keys in the Car

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Chief of Police Bill Lloyd said he wasn't disturbed when he saw someone drive Asst. Chief Leland Boatwright's car away from the department parking lot. He thought Boatwright's son had come to pick up the car.

Then Asst. Chief Boatwright reported his car had been stolen. He sheepishly admitted he had left the keys in the car.

Industry Built 580,000

500,000 New Cars Sold in March

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry built about 580,000 cars in March; the retailing division sold nearly 500,000, including imports.

This means a further rise in retail inventories. But with signs of a spring sales upsurge the indicated 800,000-unit inventory does not seem unwieldly to the retailers.

The daily selling rate has been going steadily upward in recent weeks. Most industry experts expect it to continue upward through much of the April-June quarter.

The March assembly effort brought the industry's first-quarter production total to approximately 1,600,000 cars. In the same 1958 quarter the total was 1,238,710 units. Combined official figures and authoritative estimates put January-March retail sales at approximately 1,330,000 cars. Last year they numbered about 1,113,000 units.

In several instances the carmakers have cut production to better balance retail inventories. Generally the cuts have been made to reduce regional rather than overall inventories.

Even Ford and Chevrolet, both of which have been producing and selling at high speed levels, have cut output in some areas. But their overall sales volume is running well ahead of last year.

A notable exception to this trend, of course, is presented by Buick. It recently made heavy worker layoffs because sales lagged behind output.

The Buick sales lag has most industry analysts puzzled. Buick styling is advanced. So is that of all other current models. Buick has been called one of the most attractive cars on the road.

There has been no broad criticism of Buick engineering. Instead it has been praised in many quarters fully as much as has its competitors. The company's prices also have not been criticized any more than have those of other makers.

Complete registration figures for January of this year show Buick's sales declined about two per cent from the like year-ago month. Figures for February and March are mainly estimated. They indicated, however, that Buick shared in the overall upturn.

The increased sales volume has not reached the proportions of a boom, but it is of sufficient size to warrant the expectation that the long-missing spring upsurge will be a factor in overall 1959 retail deliveries.

The return of the spring upsurge would mean retail sales in the year's second quarter of about 1¾ million new cars. That would round out a half-year total of close to three million and assure a full year total in 1959 of the previously predicted 5½ million cars.

Indications that GM, Ford and Chrysler will have new smaller cars for 1960 may defer some mid-summer buying this year. Such postponement, however, will involve chiefly those who already have decided they do not want to buy the present lower priced models or would otherwise buy in the used car market.

Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth undoubtedly are concerned about this threat to their sales of conventional models. But they are not discussing it publicly. Meanwhile their present sales volume continues to rise.

Twelve-Year-Old Flees Prospect of More Diapers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 12-year-old boy told police he was driven into a thre-wek crime spree by a desire to change addresses instead of diapers.

Bob Considine Says:

FBI Crime Lab Major Tourist Attraction

WASHINGTON — Sherlock Holmes' magnifying glass marked the rude intrusion of science into the detection of crime. Rascality has sulked ever since, darkly muttering things like "sticky wicket, that," or "we wuz robbed."

But the old boy in the deerstalker's hat would have been as baffled as a haytown flatfoot if suddenly confronted by the wizardy of the FBI's crime laboratory.

Just as Vice President Alexander Throttlebottom finally made it to the White House by joining a tour through the place, Holmes would be tempted to get in line today with the crowds being led past locked but showcased labs and told of the wonders taking place therein.

Some 400,000 visitors roan. this entrancing area each year, shepherded by bright young men working as guides against that exalted day when they win their university sheepskins and may apply for jobs as G-men.

Several hundred thousand more of the curious must be turned away each year for sheer lack of ogling space. The FBI's clinical approach to spotlight culprits has resulted in its laboratory's becoming a major tourist attraction, rating with the Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, Capitol and White House. It is a bigger draw, of course, than the Washington Senators, but what is it?

PEOPLE KEEP COMING

"We're the only police precinct that people want to visit," a proud FBI agent told us. "It just shows the confidence people have in the FBI. They keep comin, and coming even though we don't go in for the horror museum type of exhibit —you know, Dillinger's death mask."

He said a modest mouthful. The FBI's ferreting lab is as antiseptic as a TV commercial solemnly dedicated to the further perfection of the aspirin.

The Director, as J. Edgar Hoover is invariably called around headquarters, apparently believes that stressing the inevitability of exposure of crime through scientific approaches packs more of a message to the potential criminal than, say, an exhibition of the gun that bumped off John Dillinger or the chair that horridly embraced the Rosenbergs.

Holmes would have been nettled, and imperiously called for Watson, if brought face to face with the Recording Infrared Spectrophometer. It's an electric bloodhound. Sorts out all kinds of materials used in doing victims in.

Then there's a section given over to a hair library. A murderer can no longer nonchalantly dismiss a telltale strand of hair on his coat sleeve as that of a gorilla he had wrestled earlier in the evening before allegedly throttling Lady Plushquarters.

The FBI has gorilla hairs to spare in its reference room, waiting to be compared with the hairs of all other beasties, plus those of the earth's inhabitants ranging all the way from the agouti to the wombat.

LOST BY A HAIR

Its laboratory can deduce an alarming number of things from a single strand, or even the blurred imprint of the pattern of a hit and run victim's coat on the bumper of the offending car.

The FBI can discount or confirm any suspect's story that the blood on his coat had nothing to do with the fact that his ever-loving mate was found very dead when the constables arrived.

The bureau has brought about the arrest of criminals who had perfect alibis for a few grains of dirt or clay in the cuffs of their trousers. The dirt or clay was traced, mechanically, to a certain part of this huge country, proof that the man was here or there at the time of the crime.

Auto manufacturers supply the FBI with samples of every body color. Bits of chipped paint or enamel found imbedded in a hit and run victim's clothing or body narrows down suspects from millions to thousands or even hundreds.

By the same token, fraud and forgery committed against federal insured banks is attacked by a fantastic machine which can detect variance in ink colors up to the two-millionths degree.

★ ★ ★

Gun buffs get an especial kick out of the more than 1,500 types of rosecoes the FBI keeps on hand for the accommodation of local police forces which can provide only the killing bulle. and wish to know the type of weapon used in the crime. The FBI can tell in a jiffy, just as it can tell you—within three minutes—if you have a criminal record, though you have given them no more information than your fingerprints. Mr. Hoover has 150 million of these smudges on hand.

Morning Fog Shuts Airports, Blankets Roads

By United Press International

A blanket of fog covered southern lower Michigan early today, closing airports and slowing rush-hour morning traffic.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Detroit said the fog would lift about 9 a.m. in the Eastern part of the state, accompanied by rain showers.

By 6:30 a.m. the fog was already lifting across the western part of the state near Lake Michigan.

The Air Traffic Control Center said Willow Run Airport near Ypsilanti and Detroit Metropolitan Airport both closed down about 4:30 a.m. and the last passenger flight was diverted to Cleveland.

At Detroit Metro, the ceiling was 100 feet and visibility a sixteenth of a mile. Willow Run was socked in with a zero-zero reading.

★ ★ ★

The same blanket of fog also closed down airports at Lansing, Flint and Jackson. At Bay City there was an 800 foot overcast and at Grand Rapids an overcast of 2,500 feet.

State Police said rain and fog had made many roads slippery and treacherous.

Radiation or Poison Might Activate it

Inherited Virus May Be Cause of Cancer

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated AP Science Writer

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—The seeds of cancer may lurk in your body—an unwanted gift planted perhaps as long as 100,000 years ago in the cells of an ancestor.

Only a few such seeds among the trillions of cells of your body could start deadly, uncontrolled cancer.

As these seeds—perhaps sleeping viruses—were passed on generation to generation they may have awakened from time to time, bringing a sudden and unexpected cancer attack.

★ ★ ★

This is a theory expressed at this week's American Cancer Society seminar on cancer research and progress by Dr. Ludwik Gross cancer unit chief of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Bronx, N.Y.

These sleeping viruses somehow hitchhike a ride through the centuries with the genes of the cell—getting passed along with inherited factors from one generation to the next, Dr. Gross suggested.

What awakens the deadly virus? Radiation—the chance hit of an atomic ray — might provide the trigger. Or some chemical poison unrecognized as dangerous might do the trick.

Dr. Gross has succeeded in following inherited leukemia through only a few generations of mice.

But he feels the theory explains why cancer seems to strike so often within certain families.

Describing his work on mouse leukemia, Dr. Gross told of a mystery gland and the strange role it plays in cancer of the blood and blood producing areas of the body.

The mystery gland is the thymus. In humans this little gland in the chest seems to have no function after birth.

★ ★ ★

But in mice stricken with leukemia, removal of the thymus means survival. Some mice were intentionally infected with leukemia and then operated on for removal of the thymus. They never developed the disease.

It is possible that the thymus is the target of the leukemia-causing virus, Dr. Gross said. The thymus may be the nest where the virus multiplies.

Filling Cupboard Against Strike

Auto Makers Stock Steel

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are stockpiling steel to keep car production going in event of a strike at steel plants this summer.

Chrysler President L. L. Colbert told newsmen yesterday if a steel strike develops Chrysler will have sufficient steel on hand to complete the 1959 model run and go about 45 days into 1960 model production.

Spokesmen for GM and Ford said they have taken the possibility of a strike into consideration in their steel orders.

GM usually buys materials for 90 days in advance and reviews its estimates every 30 days. A spokesman said the company is being realistic in its appraisal of the situation this year.

Ford produces 50 per cent of its own steel needs. Its steel mill at the Rouge installation is manned by the United Auto Workers Union and would not be affected by a strike of the Steel Workers Union.

A spokesman said, "We would not be hurt in the early stages of a steel strike but if it was prolonged, it could have some bearing on production."

The Steel Workers' contract with the major steel companies expires June 30. The union has called a policy committee meeting April 30 to shape demands.

Meanwhile, production is booming at the steel mills.

Detroit area steel mills are operating at 97 per cent of capacity this week, the metalworking publication Iron Age reported.

5 Urge Repeal of Civil Service

Commissioners Affirm Issue Will Remain on Monday's Ballot

Civil Service repeal will be on the ballot Monday, and five Pontiac city commissioners emphatically denied last night any thought of taking the issue off.

Commissioners Milton R. Henry, William W. Donaldson, John A. Dugan and Robert A. Landry joined Mayor Philip E. Rowston in stating that:

They believed Civil Service for police should be repealed; voters should have the opportunity to pass on the question; and Monday's election shouldn't be clouded by any side issues.

Lessened was the coincidence that last week threatened to turn the election into a possible popularity test for suspended Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

It was foreseen then that if the long Straley hearing before the Civil Service Commission was not over by Monday and a decision rendered, the whole proceeding might be upset by Civil Service appeal.

If the upset occurred, Straley would be back in office on technical grounds that the Civil Service Commission was no longer a legal body and had no jurisdiction over Straley.

Although Monday's deadline loomed nearer today, Civil Service commissioners have redoubled efforts to end the hearing in time for a decision this week.

Commissioner Wesley J. Wood, who voted to place the repeal question before the public, remained sympathetically silent last night as the other commissioners took their stand. Commissioner Floyd P. Miles, who also has advocated Civil Service repeal, was absent from the meeting.

AF to Reds: 'We'll Keep Flying High'

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Air Force served notice on the Soviets today it will go on flying high altitude transports to West Berlin "if at any time a military requirement is established."

An Air Force spokesman made this statement shortly after a Soviet Embassy warning that complications would arise if the United States persisted in flying planes to West Berlin at altitudes above 10,000 feet.

The spokesman said that if at any time a military requirement is established for transporting cargo or military personnel in or out of West Berlin the high-altitude planes will be used.

"The most efficient altitude for carrying cargo over relatively short runs is between 20,000 and 30,000 feet, depending on winds and cargo," he added.

A guarded statement from the Soviet Embassy hinted that explosive incidents might erupt in the three air corridors used by Western planes into the isolated city unless there is a settlement of the dispute which became public Tuesday.

The U.S. State Department has declared that the United States will continue to fly planes into Berlin at whatever altitude it deems necessary.

The dispute came into the open when the United States and the Soviet Union traded protests over the flight of a U.S. Air Force transport into West Berlin last Friday.

The transport—a turbojet flying at its normal cruising altitude of about 20,000 feet—was buzzed by three Soviet MIG jets on both its inbound and return flight to West Germany.

Use Fake Pill to Relieve Fear, Dentists Urged

CHICAGO (UPI) — If the dentist slips you a red capsule before climb into the chair, it may be a fake pill designed to relieve the pain in your mind.

University of Illinois pain experts have urged the nation's dentists to use these imitation pills—placebos—to reduce the fear and anxiety associated with visiting the dentist.

Dr. M. J. Schiffrin and his associates, reporting in the Journal of the American Dental Association, gave these directions:

"The dentist may prepare to give the patient a white placebo capsule while in the waiting room, hesitate, and then say:

" 'No, I think I'll give you something a little more relaxing' — and proceed to give the patient a red placebo capsule."

Dr. Schiffrin said this is not a trick practiced on the patient.

Wide Gas Price Range to Be Probed in Idaho

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie named an investigating committee Tuesday to probe gasoline prices which range from 25-40 cents per gallon in Idaho.

★ ★ ★

The governor sent a telegram to 10 major oil companies saying he has learned that "some prices currently used in the trade violate the Idaho Unfair Sales Act and state antitrust statutes."

Smylie also asked the major oil companies to correct the situation.

Safe Driving Facts

Superhighways Safer, Horsepower No Villain

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A three-year, nationwide study of automobile accidents has blasted two popular myths about highway safety.

One is that modern superhighways are more dangerous than ordinary roadways.

The other is that high horsepower can be blamed for many accidents.

The reverse is true in both cases, according to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which has just completed the most comprehensive research project on highway safety ever undertaken.

The bureau found that modern controlled-access highways are "at least two and one-half times safer than ordinary highways."

Some of the best sections of controlled-access highway, such as those found on major turnpikes or in the growing interstate highway system, have accident rates only one-fifth as great as the national average for all highways.

At the other extreme, the bureau's study showed that the accident rate, per vehicle mile of travel, is sharply higher than the national average on highways that are less than 24 feet wide. This finding is particularly ominous in view of the fact that about 30 per cent of the state primary highway systems now serving intercity traffic have surfaces only 20 feet wide.

One finding, which the bureau itself described as "somewhat surprising," was that lower horsepowered cars had "significantly higher accident involvement rates than the higher horsepowered cars."

Cars wtih less than 110 horsepower had the highest accident involvement rate, both for day and night travel. Their accident rate was "exceptionally high" at night.

★ ★ ★

There was no support in the study, however, for any contention that "the greater the horsepower, the greater your safety." The daytime accident involvement rate remained nearly constant at all horsepower above 120. In other words, cars with 250 or 300 horsepower got into proportionately as many accidents as those with only 120 to 150 horsepower.

And at night, the highest horsepower cars had an accident involvement rate somewhat higher than those with moderate horsepower.

Safety authorities say that a certain amount of reserve horsepower increases safety by enabling a driver to pull out of tight spots more quickly.

The bureau's analysis of thousands of accidents showed no significant relationship between make of car and accident involvement rate, other than the matter of low horsepower.

But it demonstrated a close correlation between a car's age and its probability of getting into an accident. Cars less than three years old had much lower accident rates than older cars. Those more than 10 years old had an accident rate 250 per cent higher than new cars.

★ ★ ★

The bureau's report contains hundreds of other findings. Here are a few examples:

1. Skidding is a "far more serious factor in highway accidents than is generally realized." Routine maintenance operations should be used as a low-cost way for applying non-skid surface to slick stretches of road.

2. There is urgent need for better brakes on nearly all models of cars. The trend toward smaller wheels has reduced braking surfaces at the very time when the growing weight and horsepower of cars requires improved stopping ability.

3. Seat belts would greatly reduce the number of injuries and deaths in automobile accidents—if Americans could be persuaded to install and use them.

4. Better windshield wipers and defrosters — including the rear windows — would substantially improve auto safety at modest cost.

★ ★ ★

5. Larger, more readable highway signs and better roadway markings would help to reduce accidents.

6. Considering the much higher accident rates of younger drivers, states should consider raising the minimum age for driving licenses.

7. A central clearing house should be set up so that each state can check, before acting on an application for a driving license, whether the applicant has had a license revoked or suspended in any other state.

8. Safety education must hammer home to all drivers the truth that "It Can Happen to You!" A recent survey revealed that nine drivers out of 10 rated themselves as "above average" in driving skill, and unlikely to have an accident.

Time Fills Up His Years

HOLLISTON, Mass. (UPI) — Alexander Macomber, 82, has repaired 12,834 clocks and watches during the past 27 years.

Hike Estimate of Take in Churchill Robbery

LONDON (AP) — Burglars who ransacked Sir Winston Churchill's town house made off with nearly $28,000 worth of jewels and furs—more than first estimated.

★ ★ ★

Some prized mementos were taken in the Monday night theft, including Lady Churchill's jeweled symbol as a dame of the British Empire and boxes of the former prime minister's king-size cigars.

An insurance company has offered a $2,500 reward for clues.

★ ★ ★

Sir Winston is vacationing in the south of France, Lady Churchill was with a daughter in the country and the servants were on a night out.

Things the Experts Overlooked

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Our scientists can put a satellite into orbit around the sun, but no one has produced an easy-to-get-at sardine container.

We can, in the jet age, fly from Chicago to San Francisco in four hours, but no one has figured a way to preserve the softness of brown sugar once the package is opened.

American manufacturers constantly search for ways to improve their products and the packaging, pay experts fat fees for their ideas, and still miss many of the obvious needs.

HERE'S THE LIST

Just ask any homemaker. She has a list of "why don't theys" long as your arm. For instance (and all these are free):

Why don't they make attractive lunch bags for all the girls who take their own sandwiches. Sprinkle them with a floral design, or run them up in assorted stripes — navy and white, for instance, for the girl who has built her wardrobe around navy blue.

★ ★ ★

Pack brown sugar in ½ or 1 cup quantities, as called for in most recipes. There is waste for most of us cooks in buying even the 1-pound box because once opened, the leftover sugar soon hardens.

Put extracts, meat sauces, spices and syrups in shorter, fatter bottles that won't tip and spill the contents on shelves or table linens.

★ ★ ★

Package evaporated milk in cans that can be opened with the wall-type opener for those of us no longer using the spear-type.

Package meals for the one-member family as well as in family size for feeding six to eight persons. Numerous bachelors and old maids complain of the wasted bread, meats, canned and frozen goods from having to buy large packages.

While they're at it, write a cookbook designed for the one-member family, or else in other cookbooks specify how a recipe can be halved as well as doubled.

Make cup and spoon measurements on glass containers for such products as catsup, to prevent the trouble and waste of pouring into a measuring cup. And mark cup and tablespoon measurements on ALL oleo and butter wrappers.

Mark caloric content on food containers.

Package all powdered cleaners in containers with non-rust bases, so that there is no risk of creating a ring on the porcelain surface of sink, basin or bathtub. (One hep manufacturer now uses plastic bases).

Figure a way to make all those see-through plastic packages for cheese, sliced meats and such easy to open with the pull of a strip of ribbon, as cigaret packages are opened.

Make all dish towels larger; at least six inches longer and wider.

Make proportioned sinks, the way they make proportioned dresses so that the tall gal especially doesn't develop a backache along with dishpan hands.

"Encouragement" is the most important factor in rehabilitating a person whose vocal cords have been removed for cancer, says Mrs. Stanley Fisher, above, of Dons drive, Drayton Plains, a cured cancer patient. With the courageous 23-year-old mother are her two children, Marguerite, 4, and Russell, 18 months old.

Drayton Plains Mother Tells How She Conquered Cancer

By MARGARET BROWN

With April 1959 designated as "Cancer Control Month," Pontiac's American Cancer Society Unit, emphasizing the theme "Guard Your Family," is embarking on a crusade to educate the public to the truth about cancer, highlighting especially messages of encouragement from cured cancer patients.

And Mrs. Stanley (Pat) Fisher of Don's Drive-In, Drayton Plains is positive proof that "cancer can be cured—if caught in time."

Soon after the birth of her daughter, Marguerite, Mrs. Fisher developed a lingering case of laryngitis—at least that's what she and her doctor suspected it was.

COULD ONLY WHISPER

Eighteen months ago, however, at the birth of her second youngster, Russell, the ailing mother's power of speech was reduced to a whisper. While expecting the infant, she had lost her voice completely.

★ ★ ★

Regular treatments for "sinus" with the doctor brought no relief from Mrs. Fisher's condition. Finally, at the concerned insistence of her own family doctor, she visited a Detroit throat specialist, Dr. Robert Croushore, who performed a biopsy (removal and examination of tissue) and discovered the presence of malignant cells in her larynx (or voice box).

The news came as a rude shock to Mrs. Fisher and her family. "We had no idea it might be cancer," she relates. "We thought about it, but figured my age (she was only 22) was a preventive factor."

Dr. Croushore explained that this particular cancer was operable successfully only through complete removal of the young mother's larynx and vocal cords—(a laryngectomy), which would remove her natural powers of speech. But, he hastened to add, there was a method by which she might again learn to talk.

★ ★ ★

FAMILY 'BRAVE'

The family was brave about Mrs. Fisher's impending surgery. "As long as I didn't break down, they were okay," says the plucky mother. "These things are always harder on the family than the victim."

The laryngectomy was performed Nov. 15, 1957 at Harper Hospital, Detroit, five weeks after her son's birth. There was "no pain" and Mrs. Fisher was home within 10 days.

The psychological aspects of such traumatic surgery were evidenced in Mrs. Fisher's actions for a while, as with all laryngectomees. Before conquering her speech loss, she wouldn't go anywhere "without someone with me."

★ ★ ★

"And the telephone," she exclaimed. "You have no idea how frustrating it is to hear a phone ring and not be able to answer."

She told us that, after her operation she answered the phone because her husband and mother called periodically to check on her — she responding by tapping a small bell: once for yes, twice for no. But others would call and repeat "Hello? Hello?" she says, and when she could not answer, they would hang up and try again. "Then," she admits, "I'd cry."

LEARNED TO SPEAK

The usual method employed for regaining speech is to develop an esophogeal voice, she explained. "Air is swallowed, forced up again by the diaphragm, and as it enters the throat and mouth, the sound is formed." She, however, found it easier simply to force air with the tongue to the back of her throat and then project it forward.

It was three months before she produced one sound, and another three before she would attempt to speak to a stranger.

★ ★ ★

During the interim before her speech return, little Marguerite learned to lip-read. Managing the children was difficult for a while. "I really couldn't correct them," she says.

Her special speech lessons were taken at the American Cancer Society's center in Detroit where classes are led by Max Fried, himself a laryngectomee.

The Society also has a group, the Anamilo Club, formed to encourage the patient both before and after his surgery and to provide social activities which condition the patient for his contacts with society.

RELATIVES HELPED

"My mother (Mrs. Judith Russell of Third avenue) and husband have been my biggest supporters," Mrs. Fisher commented. "Without their understanding I never could have gone through this as I have."

Mr. Fisher, a material handler at GMC Truck and Coach Division, was always there to encourage his wife and keep "prodding" her along as she worked with her speech exercises.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vern Russell, was "terrific", Mrs. Fisher said. With three children of her own, she watched both Fisher children twice a week for five months while Mr. Russell took his sister to Detroit for speech lessons.

★ ★ ★

Even outsiders have been extremely kind to Mrs. Fisher who says, "I haven't run into anyone who's treated me any differently. Sales people, my biggest contact as a housewife, have been wonderful. If they've wondered about my unique method of speaking, they've never shown it, and many simply think I have laryngitis."

★ ★ ★

She, in fact, wishes others ". . . wouldn't be afraid to ask about it," if they are curious. "It would help if more people understand. I'd never heard of a laryngectomy before my operation."

DON'T DELAY

Before we left this brave young woman, she asked if we might give the public the following suggestion from her: "If you, or anyone you know, are having persistent hoarseness, coughing, or swallowing difficulty, see your doctor at once."

Then she added, "I was told if doctors had known of my condition six months earlier, my larynx might have been spared."

★ ★ ★

On April 8 at 3 p.m. the American Cancer Society will sponsor a Cancer Congress at Pontiac's City Hall with talks by cured cancer patients, and addresses by Mayor Philip Rowston and representatives of industry and education here.

Bing Afraid He's Failed in Job of Raising 4 Sons

NEW YORK (AP)—Bing Crosby feels he failed as a father to his four grown sons by being too strict and then too forgiving, by handing out too much money and too little attention.

Crosby, one of the world's most famous and richest entertainers, can't solve the problem that baffles fathers everywhere: The boys don't come to him for help; they don't listen to his advice.

"I think I failed them by giving them too much work and discipline, too much money and too little time and attention," he told Joe Hyams, Hollywood correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune. "But I did my best and so did their mother."

DISCOURAGED, HOPEFUL

Hyams quoted Crosby as being discouraged as a parent, but hopeful the boys will be good citizens.

"I just want them to be nice guys," he said. "I don't care how big they are or how important. I'd just like them to be the kind of people who like to have others around and that other people would like to have around. And I want them to be thoughtful of other people. I hate thoughtlessness, rudeness and arrogance."

★ ★ ★

Crosby said he kept the boys on a tight string until they were 17: home by 10 p. m., whipped with a leather belt when necessary, earning their own spending money. But, he said, it didn't produce the boys he hoped for.

None of the boys finished college. Crosby reluctantly sold the big Nevada ranch they summered on for years and which he hoped would open another world to them than show business. Two of the boys have been caught drunk driving.

★ ★ ★

Gary and Lindsay were recently asked to move from their apartment because of too much fun-raising. Philip and Dennis married Las Vegas showgirls.

The marriages don't distress Bing. "They married nice girls and that's the important thing," he said.

TOO FORGIVING

Crosby said the boys' mother, Dixie Lee who died in 1952, used to tell him he wasn't strict enough, and forgave the boys too soon.

"You punish them, then 10 minutes later you're taking them to a movie," he recalled her protesting. "That's bad. You should let the memory of their punishment linger so they'll remember it."

He admitted she was probably right, but added. "But I cut a few capers and raised plenty of cain myself when I was young and it made me feel like a heel to be bawling them out all the time. And the endless, pleading, the coaxing and auguing grew tiresome.

★ ★ ★

"I think maybe I did too much talking while they did too little. It seems that maybe we got out of the habit of communicating. You've got to get kids started talking to you and keep them at it. I never had much success talking with mine.

"The thing is, it burns me up when they won't listen to me. I know I could help the boys if they'd listen to me. But 10 minutes after they leave me, they fall in with somebody else who undoes everything I've done."

ANOTHER CHANCE

Crosby says maybe he can do better with his 5-month-old son by Kathy Grant whom he married in 1957.

"His mother's family all live in Texas and they're pretty stout people. Maybe we'll try another environment. I've got another chance now with Harry Jr., and I'm going to keep a close eye on him."

Crosby Failed as a Father? 'No!' Say Sons

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is Bing Crosby a failure as a father? Ask his sons.

"None of us feels the way dad does about it," said Philip, 24, after learning his father had told a newsman he thought he had failed his sons.

"Sure, we had problems," said Philip. "Any family runs into that. Nobody bats 1,000."

★ ★ ★

Philip and his twin, Dennis, acted as spokesman for the four boys on whom Crosby said he had lavished too much money and too little attention.

"That isn't true," said Dennis. "A lot of time we worked on the ranch and earned our money. I certainly never noticed any lack of attention from my father."

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that a family with one of the world's top entertainers as the head of the house couldn't have lived as "the typical, average American family."

"In the light of that," said Dennis, "I feel that dad did a wonderful job, and I know my brothers feel the same day."

Although boys may think it sissy, good grooming should be part of their daily routine.

And from the hair and nails he is likely to progress to being neater in his dress, too.

Love Me, Love My Dog?—Abby

How Does Fiance Stack Up Against 'Pal' of 8 Long Years?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a wonderful girl but she doesn't like my dog. She says it's either me or the dog. I have had 'Pal' since he was six weeks old and that was eight years ago. I've only known my fiancee for 10 months. Pal is a Chesapeake retreiver, weighs 95 pounds and stands five feet on his hind legs. He has a dark brown coat with white markings on his throat and paws. Do you think any woman is worth giving up my dog for?"

ABBY

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: What does your fiancee look like?

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I belong to a club and most of the members have known each other a long time. We all put our wraps in the hostess' bedroom. We usually leave our purses there, too, but there is one woman who never lets go of her purse. She won't even go to the washroom without it. I don't know what she's got in there but I am sure it isn't anything more valuable than what the rest of us carry. When she came to my house I asked her to please leave her purse in the bedroom but she refused to do it. I said, 'There are no thieves here. You are insulting my guests.' A big argument followed. Some of the women said I was wrong and some said she was wrong. What do you say?"

HOSTESS

DEAR HOSTESS: You were wrong. If a guest wants to carry her purse with her, it's her privilege and she shouldn't be made the object of ridicule—especially by the hostess.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a married man who took up with a good-looking girl in a bar. It developed into an affair and she dragged me down morally, financially and spiritually. My wife took me back on account of the children but I know her respect for me has been destroyed. Beware, men, of that nice little gal you meet in a bar. If she were nice she wouldn't be there."

LEARNED THE HARD WAY

"DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm conceited but I do have rather nice hair. It's reddish gold and everywhere I got I get compliments on it. I can see the heads turn (especially the men) when I walk down the street. It hangs to my shoulders in deep waves.

"My husband (before we were married, 4 months ago) used to love my hair this way. As soon as we got married he asked me to cut it off. He wants me to get a boy cut! I thought he was kidding. He nags me every day about it. I like it this way, Abby, and I know he liked it, too. What made him change so suddenly? Should I cut it even if I don't want to?"

GOLDIE

DEAR GOLDIE: Your husband is jealous. You attract too much attention and he isn't sure he can hold you. Forget what's on your head and start using what's in it. Build his confidence and assure him that you want him and only him. And ignore the wolves, Goldilocks.

Stuffing Recipe Calls for Rice, Mushrooms

By JANET ODELL

Many meats take stuffing nicely. In this, the mushroom season, a Mushroom Rice Stuffing will be welcome. The recipe makes enough stuffing to fill a 6-7 pound bird.

Mrs. Donald D. Bergeron, today's cook, is active in community activities. A student of the piano, she is a member of Tuesday Musicale and of the Workshop. She does volunteer work at a local hospital and is a member of the Dental Auxiliary.

MUSHROOM RICE STUFFING

By Mrs. Donald D. Bergeron

2½ package precooked rice
½ cup chopped onions
1 pound mushrooms, chopped
2 cups diced celery
½ cup chopped celery leaves
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dried majoram
¼ teaspoon sage
¼ teaspoon thyme
2½ cups water
½ cup chopped pecans

Melt butter or margarine. Add rest of ingredients, except water and nuts. Let cook slowly until onions are light brown, stirring constantly.

Add water and bring to boil gently. Simmer 2 minutes, gently fluffing rice once or twice with a fork.

Remove from heat and add nuts. Stuff meat or poultry.

Has It Thickened?

Your Waistline Shows, Madam

Trying to touch the knee with the elbow will do much to keep that waistline in trim.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

With spring come thoughts of flowers and perfume and clothes—AND the waistline! Somehow in the winter we can get away with a few extra inches better than we can the lighter more revealing garments of warmer weather.

Remember that the waistline is once again where it belongs! For a couple of years women felt that they could relax a bit when the waistline disappeared from view in many costumes. Well, that's a horror of the past and we do not want to uncover another one—a thick waist.

Today I would like to give you a few waist-slimming exercises which take inches from that important figure measurement.

1. Stand tall with the feet separated and the arms at the sides. Raise the arms overhead, one arm by each ear. Keep the arms in this position as you bend as far to the left as you can. Raise the trunk and bend as far to the right as possible. Continue bending and raising the trunk, keeping the arms in the same position throughout the exercise. Do this slowly, feeling the muscles stretch.

2. Stand with the feet apart. Bend from the waist, keeping the back straight and touch the fingertips to the knees. Raise the trunk and swing the arms back as far as you can, palms facing the back of the room. At the same time bend the trunk back, lowering head backward. Assume starting position and continue.

3. Stand tall with feet separated. Bend the arms and place the hands on top of the head. Keep the hands in this position as you try to touch the left knee with the left elbow. Raise the trunk and try to touch the right knee with the right elbow. Continue, alternating left and right.

Most of you will not be able to touch the knees with the elbows at first but come as close as you can comfortably. Keep the knees straight even though you cannot bend over very far and do the exercise slowly, raising the trunk all the way to the erect position between bends.

If a protruding abdomen is your difficulty, you may want my tested abdominal exercises which will reduce that measurement. If so, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Can You Say, 'Yes,' To Beauty, Health Questions?"

They're Thermoplastic

Heat Damages Synthetic Nylon and Orlon Fibers

EAST LANSING — Thermoplastic is a term that applies to most synthetic fibers, such as nylon, orlon and dacron. This means the fibers will melt at high temperatures, explains Barbara Spilker of the textiles, clothing and related arts department of Michigan State University.

Temperatures suitable for washing, drying and ironing cotton and linen fabrics are too high for thermoplastic fabrics.

PLEATS VIA HEAT

These synthetic fibers can be set with high heat, and you see the results in permanently pleated skirts. To produce pleats, fibers are bent and softened by heat. When the fiber cools, it hardens and is permanently bent. However, if the fiber is again heated to a higher temperature, the fiber will soften and can be reshaped. This happens when you put the pleated skirt in wash water that's too hot, or when you put it in the dryer at too high a heat, and the pleats come out.

★ ★ ★

Just as pleats are set with heat, so wrinkles can be set with heat. If temperature of the wash water is high enough, nylon curtain fibers are softened, and wrinkles are fixed in the fabric. This is particularly noticeable in sheer woven fabrics that are smooth, where wrinkles are apt to show.

High temperatures can cause orlon sweater yarns to lose their crimp and to stretch. Other fibers may shrink in size.

Miss Spilker gives us a good rule to remember. Thermoplastic fibers and high heat do not go together.

An average American eats less than six pounds of rice a year. In Louisiana the average is 100 pounds.

CURVES AHEAD

The new important look for spring is the feminine gentle curve. Not an angle . . . but a lady-like curved line that is far more intriguing.

The bosom, so frequently the object of bad taste . . . should be high and rounded . . . not daring.

Bare the neck and shoulders, be cool and comfortable and remember that a transparent fabric over your shoulders is even more flattering than bare ones. It's the old game of intrigue. A strapless gown, stiffly boned is far less flattering than a deep curved bodice with covered shoulders.

Unique Exhibit of Arts Slated at Cranbrook

An exhibition entitled "Art and the Found Object" opens at Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleiies April 8 through 26.

★ ★ ★

Everything from an iron window sash resembling "Wotan" to "Picador," made from stovepipes and cans, can be found among the 35 objects on exhibition.

"Bird" is a stove-lid handle and construction; "The Gift" is a flatiron with tacks attached; and "Grand Duchess Anne" is a glass box containing a ball and a parrot.

★ ★ ★

Loaned by private collectors and leading New York galleries, the exhibition is circulated by the American Federation of Arts.

Among personal jewels being offered for sale by Queen Geraldine of Albania to aid Albanians who have left the country is this all diamond marriage-coronation diadem. The tiara, made of 879 diamonds is lightweight and highly wearable and features the helmeted crest of Albania and stylized oak leaves representing the country's famous forests.

Fabulous Albanian Collection Up for Sale

Queen's Jewels Will Aid Refugees

Her Majesty Queen Geraldine of Albania is offering her personal collection of jewels for sale in this country at Ostier, Inc., former court jewelers in New York.

The collection of 17 pieces is believed to be the finest collection of personal jewels of a living queen ever offered for sale in this country.

TO AID REFUGEES

The jewels are being sold to provide funds for the aid of Albanians who have fled the Communist satellite nation.

Almost the entire collection was designed for the Queen, by Marianne Ostier in the 1930s. The jewelry features modern-cut diamonds and a lavish use of baguettes.

★ ★ ★

Among the collection are her wedding tiara of 879 diamonds, and a diamond link chain that is 30 inches long but may be worn as a short necklace or choker. One pair of earrings is almost 4 inches deep and is of cascades of diamonds fringed with gem rubies.

An Arabian knife, a "jambiya" contributed by His Majesty King Zog, is the largest piece in the collection. The hilt and sheath are richly engraved solid gold and the sheath is encrusted with diamond roses and one brilliant-cut 11-carat diamond.

LIVING IN FRANCE

King Zog and Queen Geraldine now live in the South of France. The King gave his services to Albania from his earliest youth. He was a minister at age 25, premier at 27, and later was named president by the National Assembly. In 1938 he was proclaimed the first King of Albania under title of King Zog I.

Twenty years ago, on Good Friday, 1939, the day his first son was born, the capital of the country was shelled, and Queen Geraldine with the infant prince fled into Greece. This prince has just finished his studies at Sandhurst Military Academy in England.

There Is Dress for Chubby Girl

It takes a little more time and money to find the right dress for a chubby girl but it can be done.

So says an extension clothing specialist at a state University.

She advised chubby girls to avoid horizontal cuts and sharp color contrasts between blouse and skirt. Instead, slenderize with stripes.

Storage Space in Egg Carton

An egg carton makes a very convenient storage space in a drawer where miscellaneous small things are kept.

One compartment can be used for pins, another for buttons and the rest for other small items thus keeping the drawer much neater and also making these small items much easier to find.

Serve cottage cheese with sour cream on lettuce with chives or green onions.

Some Thrive Better on 'Apartness'

Beware Advocates of 'Togetherness'

By RHEA E. VIETOR
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

"Togetherness" is a comparatively new word in our vocabulary. It may have come at a slightly later period than that strange word "finalize," but it has the same vaguely unpleasant connotation.

MRS. VIETOR

Whenever I hear the word "togetherness," I get a mental picture of grim-faced families obeying an order to "get out there and enjoy yourselves."

Family outings are wonderful. Plans that are carried out with the full participation of both children and parents are a joy—but only on a voluntary basis. When they (whoever they are) demand that every American should get into the swing of "togetherness" and have supervised fun and games as a form of patriotic duty, the purpose is lost.

★ ★ ★

Enjoyment cannot be forced. Every family unit has different needs and desires — just as each of its members is a separate and unique individual. Perhaps some fathers and sons do not want to play baseball together once a week at the community ball park under a supervised schedule.

Some daughters are not fascinated with cooking and sewing courses, and some mothers would rather teach their daughters to read or ride horseback than to do needlepoint.

Perhaps if the nation's anonymous spokesmen conceded the right of families to seek enjoyment in their own way, there would be more genuine laughter in the world and less spurious pleasure.

WHAT ABOUT 'APARTNESS'?

"Apartness" is a word that I would prefer to the sticky ooze of "togetherness". A tree needs space in which to grow, and human beings need freedom of thought and expression in order to become mature and strong individuals.

Enjoyment of living should be spontaneous, not a dutiful and counterfeit approach to life in response to the formless mass of soggy thinking known as public opinion.

Hostess Must Pay Own Expenses

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like your opinion on the following matter: My daughter is going to be married shortly and a friend of hers who is to be the maid of honor at her wedding is planning to give a large shower for her.

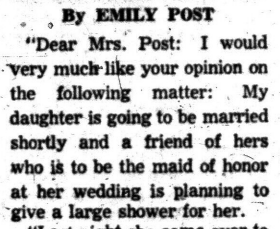

"Last night she came over to discuss the shower with me and asked me to contribute fifty dollars toward it as she couldn't afford to give it alone. I was so taken back by this that for a moment I was speechless.

"As this is the first wedding in my family I am not familiar with present-day shower giving and I would like to know if the mother of the bride is supposed to contribute anything toward the shower."

Answer: Very definitely not! As she is giving the shower, she should pay for it herself and not expect you to contribute toward the expense of it. In fact, I have never heard of anything so high handed before. She should either give a shower of the size she can afford or else not give one at all.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it considered correct to use a knife to cut a poached egg on toast? A friend and I have been having an argument about this and she insists that a fork should be used and not a knife. Will you please set us straight."

Answer: A knife is correct.

Separates get a new look this year — yoke interest, high-placed tabs, buttons and other detailing to achieve a high-waisted effect.

'YW' Sets Courses for Spring

Art, Golf, Tennis, Crafts and Piano Among Offerings

The Pontiac YWCA has announced courses to be offered for the spring term. Many of these are new.

An investments class will have as its instructor George W. J. Linton.

A "quickie" class in beginning French will be given by the Rev. Francois Jochmans for those who want to master the most common phrases before embarking on a trip abroad.

TENNIS PLANNED

There will be indoor tennis first, to be followed by outdoor tennis on the Beaudette Park courts when weather permits. Adele Streit will instruct in tennis as well as the advanced swimming.

A duffers' golf league will have Caroline Francis as instructor. Annette Buzz will give beginners' swimming lessons. Nancy Beauchamp is assistant in swimming classes, which are held in the YMCA pool.

★ ★ ★

Art for children will again be offered on Saturday, but will move to an early afternoon hour. Gladys Fegan teaches beginning artists.

Candy making will reappear after a term's absence, with Dorothy Ambler instructing. Cake decorators from former classes will progress to decorating "special" cakes with Audrey Hines.

TERM IS SHORT

Because of the shorter spring term, only advanced students will be accepted in some classes, including bridge and "piano for fun." Winifred Lewis and Amy Hogle are the instructors, respectively.

Special arrangements may be made to join Amy Krueger's copper and silver smithing class which turns out jewelry and other art objects. Beginners will be welcomed in Jean Ellsworth's crafts classes, and in Marie Gabert's sewing classes.

★ ★ ★

Nursery service will again be available on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., with Mrs. Hazel Beutler in charge, assisted by Alice Pickup and Marie Vaillancourt.

Classes begin the week of April 13. Folders and information are available by calling or stopping in at the YWCA on Franklin boulevard.

Chitchat

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Do we or do we not know how to decorate our homes? In the past few weeks we have read articles by decorating authorities on both sides of the question. But since most of us cannot or do not avail ourselves of professional help in this field, it behooves us to learn as much as we can for ourselves.

You're never wrong if you keep things simple. A room that is too busy is hard on the nerves.

★ ★ ★

Pattern in draperies, wallpaper and furniture is fine, but be moderate. Keep at least two of these areas neutral. A monochromatic color scheme is restful. Then you can add accent color with pillows and small accessories.

FABRIC WALL COVERING

Speaking of wallpaper . . . Two new ideas have come to our attention recently. Just this week we saw some samples of Fabra-Wall, a woven wall covering. It is cloth with a paper backing and you just paste it on with wheat paste.

Matching drapery material is available. The wall covering costs about $5 a yard in 43-inch strips. It is easily cleaned; is fade, shrink and mildew proof.

★ ★ ★

The other idea for wall covering is simple glazed chintz. Paste it on the wall with regular wallpaper paste, and if you move, you can strip it off and take it with you. This is an easy way to match draperies to your walls. Furthermore, the chintz is washable if you do not soak it, but merely clean it with a moistened cloth or sponge.

★ ★ ★

Manufacturers are being kinder to us. Have you ever had the unhappy experience of washing a white drip-dry article and having it turn bright yellow? Some of the earlier special finishes were incompatible with chlorine bleaches.

READ INSTRUCTIONS

This problem has been solved in the sheet and shirt field. But don't take for granted that you can bleach any drip-dry cotton. Read the washing instructions first, preferably before you buy the article.

★ ★ ★

We are hoping to hear from some of our readers how they like this Chitchat column and what they would like to have discussed in it.

As a parting shot, did you know that more than 21 types of dust settle on the tops of tables and other furniture during a 24-hour period? Discouraging, isn't it?

Johnny on 'Spot' With Cool Water

Clear cool water often provides excellent first aid for spots on clothing. Applied as soon as possible after staining, water will frequently prevent the spot from "setting."

But don't try to remove stains from delicate fabrics such as silks or rayons. Or don't try to remove unknown stains. Let your drycleaner do it. After all, he's an expert and can do wonders where you may only botch the job.

Tip for Starching

In starching clothes, put the wrong side out. For white garments, use the starch as hot as you can handle it. Starch those you want stiffest first.

CAROL ANN LAMONT

Mr. and Mrs. William Lamont of East Aurora, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ann of Warren, to J. Richard Jaconett. He is the son of Mrs. Theresa Jaconett of Orchard Lake avenue. Miss Lamont attended Eastern Michigan College and her fiance attended University of Michigan Medical School. A June 13 wedding is planned.

Try Spot Reducing for Hips

The pear-shaped teenage figure is not one which makes a girl exactly happy. She looks funny in slacks, lumpy in a bathing suit and huge in a pleated skirt. Since it isn't the kind of figure that will improve with age, obviously something has to be done about it.

The most sensible thing is to reduce the hips and derriere. This cannot be done by dieting alone. An over-all weight loss will help, of course, but many slim girls have large hips. The answer to the problem lies in spot exercise. In this case, it's just plain knocking off that accumulated fat.

To do this, sit down on the floor with legs straight out in front of you. Cross your arms over your chest and shift your whole weight from one side of your body to the other. This will actually "walk" you across the floor in a sitting position and will also knock off that fatty accumulation in the process.

Don't expect it to come off in a week; six months is more like it.

Quarter small bunches of celery and simmer in chicken stock (fat free) until just tender. Season with salt if necessary and serve, after draining, with melted butter. Nice for company!

Thwarted Tears May Lead to Big Scene

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

He was about seven. Maybe she was his grandmother. Anyway, she, he and his little sister were emerging from the restaurant as I approached. He was crying bitterly.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps he'd not been allowed to finish his ice cream; perhaps he'd asked to change flavors and was told to eat what he'd ordered. I don't know. He was certainly protesting something he felt intolerable.

As I passed, grandma glanced at me and, grabbing at him, said angrily, "Stop crying like that in the street! You're disgracing yourself! Everyone's staring at us!"

★ ★ ★

Jerking away, he took off down the block. I wasn't too surprised. Though he didn't mind disgracing himself in public one bit, grandma's anger had told him she minded it terribly. So to punish her for not giving him what he'd wanted, he disgraced her further. He'd collected many interested spectators before she finally caught him and slapped him.

It is unwise, I think to forbid small children tears in public.

Why we find them disgraceful, I don't quite see. The young can't always accept denial pleasantly. When their protesting feelings become intense, they discharge the tension in tears.

If passers-by find the sight of the tears offensive, we do not have to share their disapproval. Indeed, it's silly to share it, because the moment our protesting child feels that we resent his tears he will resort to other, more embarrassing expressions than tears to discharge it.

It is sensible to deal with him as we do when his nose is running. We offer him a handkerchief with a mild suggestion that he use it. If his tears or nose still remain uncontrollable, we may have to hail a cab, bundle him into it — or otherwise get him home as quickly as possible.

But commanding his tears to stop? That's just asking for trouble.

★ ★ ★

His tears represent protest, and that, not being God, we cannot stop. If, like grandma, we confuse ourselves with the Almighty and order his tears to stop, we just invite the protest to take a form that turns our private problem into a public spectacle.

Self-Confidence Must Be Earned Asset

By RUTH MILLETT

"How can you give a daughter self-confidence?" a mother wants to know.

You just can't give anyone self-confidence. That's something a person has to earn for himself. But you can encourage your daughter in ways that will help her develop confidence in herself as a person.

★ ★ ★

See that she does some of the things she is afraid to do. Each time she says to herself, "That wasn't so bad after all," she will have a little more confidence in her own ability.

Help her to find something that she can do well enough to earn praise from others.

Let her see that you have confidence in her, not by exaggerated compliments that she knows are only attempts to bolster her ego, but by taking her small successes and triumphs casually in an "I knew you could do it" manner.

Ask her what she thinks, instead of telling her what you think all the time. You'll encourage her to think for herself and express her own opinions.

Help her make the most of her looks, without making her feel that looks are more important than anything else.

Encourage her to do things for other people. While she is thinking about other people she isn't thinking about herself.

Be ready to lend her a helping hand when she needs it, but don't stand behind her pushing her ahead. That will only make her more unsure of herself.

★ ★ ★

Help her to see the good in other people. The person who thinks well of others finds it easier to think well of himself.

LEG CRAMPS?
One of the most common causes of painful muscle cramps in legs, feet, toes, arms and hands is a prolonged deficiency of calcium. So says a famous doctor and widely-read newspaper columnist, formerly with the Mayo Clinic, and other well-known health authorities.
When meals, consistently deficient in calcium, are fortified with DYNA-CAL Calcium Tablets, tormenting calcium-deficient muscle cramps can be promptly relieved. But don't confuse DYNA-CAL Tablets with ordinary calcium-phosphorus products. DYNA-CAL Tablets contain no phosphorus which frequently interferes with the absorption of calcium. And DYNA-CAL Tablets contain a special ingredient which helps to put calcium into the blood stream quicker — bringing faster relief to cramping, calcium-starved muscles. Pleasant-to-take DYNA-CAL Tablets with calcium, betaine hydrochloride, and vitamins D and C contain no drugs. They are safe, harmless, calcium food supplements. If you are suffering miserable muscle cramps, and suspect you are not getting enough calcium, ask for DYNA-CAL Tablets, today. Bottles of 90 tablets, $1.50.
* Other causes for muscle cramps are entirely unrelated to calcium deficiency.

Aunt Mary Fenton Thrilled Over Plans for 102nd Birthday

By LEE WINBORN

UTICA—Aunt Mary Fenton, who loves to be the center of attention, can hardly wait until Monday.

She knows it will be a big day for her because elaborate plans are being made to help her celebrate her 102nd birthday.

Mrs. Fenton, whose alertness and keen mind are a constant source of inspiration to all those who come in contact with her, has been a resident of the Wil Mar Convalescent Home, 45305 Cass Ave., here for the past three years.

She will be feted again on this birthday with one notable addition. She will be honored on the nation-wide telecast of "It Could Be You" by Master of Ceremonies Bill Leyden.

Aunt Mary, whose eyesight is still good, loves television, reads a lot and spends many happy hours crocheting. But the pastime she enjoys most is checkers.

When the story about her 100th birthday and her checker-playing ability appeared in print two years ago, a 12-year-old boy read it with avid interest.

★ ★ ★

One morning soon afterwards the youngster appeared at the Home and asked if he might play checkers with Mrs. Fenton. He had ridden five miles on his bicycle to challenge her to a game.

'BE HAPPY'

The boy was soundly beaten in the first match in the morning, but in the return engagement that afternoon, he emerged the victor.

Mrs. Fenton, who was born April 6, 1857, in Sparta, Canada, has a simple recipe for living such a long and fruitful life. It is, "Be Happy."

With a twinkle in her eye and a smoothing touch to her carefully coiffed hair-do, the spritely centenarian said, "I've always been well and happy. I've had nice surroundings and a happy childhood and married life too."

HANDSHAKE IS FIRM

Mrs. Fenton's hearing has failed during recent years and nurses and visitors communicate with her by writing notes. She answers their questions in a strong voice, and her handshake is firm, too, for one of her advanced years.

★ ★ ★

When she was eight years old, Mrs. Fenton's family moved to Richmond. In 1879 she was married to William Fenton, who had a meat market in Richmond and was also town marshal. The couple had two children.

Mrs. Fenton's husband and children died years ago, and now her family consists of two granddaughters, Mrs. Alfred Jenkins of Mount Clemens and Mrs. James Brown of Fairhaven; a grandson, William of Detroit; and five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Wilma J. Karian, R. N., administrator of the home, says if Aunt Mary hadn't broke both hips several years ago, she'd probably be up and walking around today.

"In fact, she says she'd like to try it, but her muscles now are too weak," Mrs. Karian explained.

Although confined to a wheelchair, Mrs. Fenton still finds many things to keep her busy and happy throughout each passing day.

Shoeprints Lead Police to Burglar

Royal Oak Youth, 17, Admits Break-Ins at 8 Places Near Home

ROYAL OAK — Prints from a pair of ripple-soled shoes led to the arrest of a 17-year-old Royal Oak youth who admitted breaking into eight business establishments Monday night all within a quarter-mile radius of his home.

★ ★ ★

John Hanson of 335 W. Parent St. told Royal Oak Police that he and a 16-year-old companion took money from only one of the eight places they broke into. Authorities tracked Hanson to his parent's home by following prints left by his ripple soles.

He said he and the other youth, whom authorities refused to identify because of his age, took $22 from Multi Lifting Service at 1609 S. Woodward Ave.

This was the only sum of money reported missing from the eight break-ins, according to police.

★ ★ ★

Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hanson, is being held for further investigation. The other youth was turned over to juvenile authorities here.

The other seven places broken into by the pair were Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., 1441 S. Washington St.; Gehring Real Estate, 1415 S. Main St.; the offices of Dr. A. J. Seaborn, 1413 S. Washington; the office of Dr. Milton C. Roth, 1229 S. Washington; the offices of Dr. Ray E. Duquette, 1302 S. Washington; Dick's Mobil Service Station, 1221 S. Main, and Busy Oak Restaurant, 515 S. Washington.

Prompted by Race Track Issue

Stickers Run in Shelby Vote

SHELBY TOWNSHIP—Although the proposed automobile race track is not an issue to be decided in Monday's election here, it is responsible for the entrance of a third slate of candidates in the race for township posts.

The Shelby Homeowners Council has announced that it will run six members as sticker candidates in the April 6 election. They are Xenophon Maguire for supervisor, Vernon Smith for clerk, Duane Clark for treasurer and Edna Brown, Norman Miller and William Thompson for the three trustee vacancies.

★ ★ ★

A group of Shelby homeowners, including Maguire, Smith and Mrs. Brown, are plaintiffs in the pending lawsuit against the township and Curtiss-Wright Corp. They charge that the township acted illegally in rezoning the Curtiss-Wright property to permit big car automobile racing.

Their bill of complaint further charges that the race track would constitute a nuisance because of litter, excessive traffic, noise and confusion. These factors, they say, would cause depreciation of property values and an increase in taxation in the township.

★ ★ ★

The homeowners are seeking the support of the anti-race track element in the township by offering candidates of their own to run against the Republican and Democrat slates which will appear on the ballot.

The candidates whose names are listed on the ballot are: Supervisor—Fred LaGodna (R) and Steve Skula (D); Clerk—George D. Kullman (R) and Lorin E. Evans (D); Treasurer—DeWitt G. Helferich (R) and Jack B. Millard (D); and Trustees (3)—Louis V. Malo (R), Guy Nightingale (R), Robert N. Raven (R), Jesse B. Bennett Sr. (D), Floyd W. Parrott (D) and William R. Peper (D).

Justice of the Peace—Julius Kirschbaum (R) and Joseph P. Plutter (D); Board of Review—Monte J. Lasker (R) and Clifford Morgan (D); Constables (4)—Donald F. Miller (R), William Nightingale (R), Robert L. Poynter (R), E. James Vargo (R), John R. Kirkpatrick (D), Joseph H. Moore (D), Howard Parrott (D) and Charley Wallace (D).

Highway Commissioner — Buddie R. Dotter (R) and Gordon S. Kinsman (D).

The one proposition on the ballot is whether to place the township police force under Civil Service.

KATHLEEN N. WILSON

A June 20 altar date has been set by Kathleen Wilson and Glen R. Westfall. Their engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson Jr. of 2166 Greer Blvd., Keego Harbor. The fiance is the son of Ronald Westfall of 31549 Staman Circle Dr., Farmington and Mrs. Henry Pepin of Bark River.

Votes Thursday on 8-Mill Hike

Brandon Seeks School Tax

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—A large number of Brandon School District voters are expected to cast their ballots in tomorrow's election, called to decide whether to approve an eight-mill increase in the school operating tax, E. J. Hungerford, schools superintendent, said today.

★ ★ ★

Hungerford stated that a great deal of interest has been shown in the issue in recent weeks with school board members appearing at many meetings in the district to explain the issue.

The superintendent emphasized again that because the operating and building funds cannot be commingled, the voters are being asked to approve the entire eight-mill increase.

Actually, he pointed out, four mills will be dropped from the building fund this year, and that will mean only a four mill increase in the present tax levy.

Both present and past exchange students will be honored guests at the affair.

Rev. Hawthorne to Be Pastor at Gingellville

GINGELLVILLE — A new pastor has been assigned to the Gingellville Baptist Church. He is the Rev. Sydney Hawthorne, previously pastor of the Brooklyn Avenue Baptist Church in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Hawthorne was born in Belfast, North Ireland, in 1928 and attended the Irish Baptist Seminary there. He came to this country in 1952.

From 1953 until 1955 he served with the U.S. Army in Germany, after which he was ordained in the First Baptist Church of St. Clair Shores. Later he started a mission church in Berkley.

Presently residing in Warren, the new pastor will bring his family to live in Pontiac within the next few days.

3 Proposals to Appear on Independence Ballot

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Three proposals have been placed on the April 6 election ballot here for decisions by voters. The issues are whether or not to (1.) establish a free township library, (2.) continue millage for the fire department, and (3.) have two additional trustees on the township board.

An additional one-mill tax for a public library in Independence Township is being asked and would produce some $20,000 in revenue, according to Clerk Harold Doebler.

At the present time, the Clarkston Women's Club is sponsoring the five-year-old library next to the township hall, and members have donated time and money in making the library successful, according to librarian board president, Mrs. Phillip Smith.

There are more than 6,000 volumes on the shelves, and operation of the library has grown to such proportions that club members feel it has now reached the limit of private support.

A majority vote in favor of the proposed tax support would entitle every township resident to use the library without payment of a fee, Mrs. Smith said.

A full-time librarian could be hired, more equipment and bookshelves would be available, and musical records and movies borrowed, she said.

The proposal for the continuation of one mill for operation and maintenance of the fire department also has been placed on the ballot.

The township has supported the fire department for the past eight years, including a fire chief whose salary is $75 a month and an assistant fire chief, paid $50 a month.

There are 30 active, volunteer firemen on the force, and the continued millage would net $20,000 annually for an indefinite period of time.

According to a new law passed by the State Legislature, townships with over 2,500 population must present a proposition to voters on whether or not to add two trustees to the township board.

Each trustee receives $10 a meeting for approximately 35 meetings a year, Doebler explained. If the proposal is approved, candidates names would appear on the primary election next year.

There are approximately 3,400 registered voters in Independence Township. Assessed valuation as equalized last year was $13,000,000.

Art Wall Rated Master's 'Darkhorse'

Current Leader in Earnings Is Having Streak

Pennsylvania Pro Uses Baseball Grip; Snead Top Favorite

NEW YORK (UPI)—The golfing hopefuls have one wary eye on the quiet man nobody knows as they prepare to tee off tomorrow in the Masters Golf Tournament.

Art Wall Jr., who for nine years has labored lucratively but in frustrating anonymity on the pro fairways, is the dark horse. Already this year he has won two tournaments and his hot streak sends him into this big one with record earnings of $18,814 for the first three months.

His rivals just hope he isn't having any trouble at home.

Early in the year, one of Art's four children fell through the ice near their Honesdale, Pa., home and he was so upset he wasn't going to California. He did, and won the Bing Crosby Invitation. Last week the children had measles. Art won the Azalea Open.

Another factor involved in his recent surge is a twist in the old process of finding a discarded club and becoming a winner. Art tossed aside his trusty and rusty old blade putter and, with a new glass-shaft mallet model his putting has become both precise and profitable. For in addition to his two victories he has scored three second place finishes.

★ ★ ★

Success on the golf course is nothing new to Wall, who was Mike Souchak's roomie at Duke before his graduation in 1949. He holds the all-time record of 35 holes-in-one, the longest being a 300-yarder, and has been in the $20,000-a-year-and-better bracket for the last five years.

Wall also is one of those rarities who use the so-called "baseball grip" in which the hands do not overlap.

"I started this way naturally when I was a kid," he explains. "I feel that it gives you more power if you can keep from letting the right hand take over completely and I know that, for me anyhow, it gives me a stronger feeling with my hands and more freedom in my swing."

★ ★ ★

Sam Snead, the budding star of television, was made the 5-1 betting favorite today to snare his fourth Masters championship.

Mainly on the strength of his phenomenal 13-match unbeaten streak in the nationally televised series, the West Virginia slugger drew top advance billing over Ken Venturi of San Francisco, 6-1, and a trio of past winners, defender Arnold Palmer, Cary Middlecoff and Ben Hogan, bracketed at 8-1.

The 72-hole tournament—the 23rd edition of Bobby Jones' "brainchild"—opens tomorrow on the lush Augusta National Course where President Eisenhower's quick hook is no stranger. There's a round a day through Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The advance odds may undergo some quick revision overnight in view of the redhot practice performances of 1956 champion Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, Tex., who has had successive rounds of 66 and 64.

Snead, winner here in 1949, 1952 and 1954, is still riding the crest of his television winnings, which have amounted to $28,000.

Playing on tough courses, he met the game's top players and beat them all over a period of several months, ending last November.

Ninety golfers, including an array of past champions, are expected to tee off. In the list is a formidable foreign contingent including British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia, Gary Player of South Africa, David Thomas of Wales and Angel Miguel of Spain.

Norman Ready to Cut Roster to 28-Man Limit

Tigers' Lineup Appears Set

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Manager Bill Norman is about ready to swing the ax on his Detroit Tigers.

And from all appearances, as the Tigers enter the final few days of spring training, the manager's mind is set.

He intends to prune his roster to the required opening-day 28 before the Tigers leave here for Detroit. They play their final exhibition game Monday.

Norman has been going nine innings with most of the lineup he expects to use once the season starts April 10.

That would be an infield of first baseman Gail Harris, second baseman Frank Bolling, shortstop Rocky Bridges and third baseman Eddie Yost. The outfield is set with Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline and Larry Doby. Charlie Maxwell, left fielder for four years, has been confined to pinch hitting chores since Doby arrived after the trade with Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

Red Wilson and Lou Berberet, obtained from Boston, are ready to share the catching duties although Charley Lau got a chance in yesterday's 6-5 loss to Pittsburgh.

Pitchers George Spencer and George Susce may have slipped over the borderline to the minor leagues yesterday. After Jim Bunning pitched respectable ball for seven innings — he didn't allow a home run — Spencer and Susce let a possible victory slip away.

Spencer was tagged for Don Hoak's homer in the eighth and was the losing pitcher. Susce gave the Pirates three hits and another run in the ninth. That tally became the deciding one when the Tigers scored once in the bottom of the ninth.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers rocketed 15 hits off Bob Friend, a 22-game winner with the Pirates last season. But most of them were wasted.

Kuenn upped his Grapefruit League batting average to .377 with three hits, one a three-run homer. Bridges also had three safeties. Harris and the red-hot Doby had two each.

Larry Osborne, whose versatility gives him a good chance of sticking with the Tigers, filled in for Yost. The veteran third baseman was struck in the mouth by a grounder in fielding practice. Osborne has failed to remain with the Tigers in several previous trials.

★ ★ ★

The Kansas City Athletics are the Tigers' opponents today and tomorrow. Norman named Frank Lary to pitch today. Pete Burnside will get the nod tomorrow.

Burnside, with three spring triumphs, seems assured of making the club after failing in the National League.

Cassady's Nose Gets Remodeled

DETROIT (AP)—Howard (Hopalong) Cassady is going to try to keep his remodeled nose away from damage in the Detroit Lions' football games next fall.

The quick-legged halfback will cover his features with a nose guard for the first time in his football career.

Cassady's twisted nose has been straightened by surgery and an obstruction was removed to aid his breathing. Calcium was beginning to form after the Cassady profile was mashed in three times.

Japanese Capture Table Net Titles

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Japan's sharpshooting teams won both the men's and women's table tennis championships Tuesday.

The men whipped Hungary, 5-1, in the final of the Swaythling Cup competition, and the women edged South Korea, 3-2, in the Corbillon Cup matches.

Japan's men thus won the title they captured at the last world championships in Stockholm in 1957. They also won it in 1954, 1955 and 1956.

Hungary, the only European nation to make the final, was second, and Vietnam finished third.

South Korea was second to the Japanese women, and Communist China was third.

Chicago, Leafs Even Cup Playoffs

Hawks Square Matters With Montreal, 3-1

Toronto 3-2 Overtime Conqueror of Boston in Other Semifinal

By the Associated Press

The injury list seems to be playing the biggest part in a deadlocked Stanley Cup semifinal series, thanks to the rough play of the two supposed "easy marks."

The Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs have taken the favored Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins back to the latter's home bases with the best of seven series tied at two-all after last night's victories.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks laced the Canadiens 3-1 in Chicago and Toronto delighted the home folks with a thrilling 3-2 overtime victory over Boston.

Both games were characterized by the body-numbing checking and sleek skating that jolted the Canadiens and Bruins last Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The two clubs were still feeling the effects. Montreal obviously was not the same club that scourged the National Hockey League during the regular season without Jean Beliveau, a doubtful participant no matter if the Canadiens make the Stanley Cup finals.

★ ★ ★

A jarring check by Glen Skov Saturday fractured two vertebrae and forced Canadiens Coach Toe Blake to move Henri Richard into Beliveau's spot on Montreal's high scoring line with Dickie Moore and Marcel Bonin, weakening his second line.

Obviously referring to Beliveau's absent last night, Blake thought it "was anybody's game," but added:

"We expected tough resistance from Chicago from the start and we got it. Both teams checked hard tonight but I guess the Black Hawks checked harder than we did."

Blake also is distraught about the continued absence of Maurice (Rocket) Richard, who is nursing a fractured ankle into playing shape. He is not expected back until next week.

Chicago Coach Rudy Pilous, who had the injured Elmer Vasko in his lineup despite a shoulder injury, was more optimistic about his chances.

"We still have to win one in Montreal and if we do, that, I think we can take the silverware," he enthused.

★ ★ ★

Lorne Ferguson's 20-foot shot at 6:34 of the third period broke a 1-1 tie and the insurance maker came in the last minute as Chicago fired one into an unprotected Montreal goal.

Boston played without hard-charging defenseman Doug Mohns who also was injured last Saturday.

3-for-3 Trade Involves Conley and Lopata

Braves, Phils Swap

By The Associated Press

In 1951, the Philadelphia Phillies gave Ted Kazanski $80,000 to sign a bonus contract.

Two years later Pittsburgh gave Johnny O'Brien a "five-figure" sum to join the Pirates.

The longshot is long (6-foot-8) Gene Conley, the basketball-playing pitcher who had 0-6 record for the National League champions last season. His earned run average was a fat 4.88 in 26 innings. Since 1954, when he won 14 games as a rookie, the 28-year-old right-hander has been going downhill.

Going to Philadelphia with him Hanebrink and infielder Joe Koppe, neither of whom is a proven major leaguer. Hanebrink, 31, has only .188 in 63 games with the Braves last season, and Koppe, 27, appeared in only 16 games, going 4-for-9 in his infrequent batting chances.

★ ★ ★

Both O'Brien and Kazanski, although weak hitters, have proven they can play a major league season at second base, where the Braves need help. Kazanski is 25, O'Brien 28, and the later, a right-hander, can pitch a few innings in a pinch. Lopata, 34, hit 116 home runs in 11 years with the Phils and is a strong replacement for Braves' No. 1 catcher Del Crandall.

★ ★ ★

The trade followed a full day of exhibition games in which Philadelphia and Milwaukee both lost.

Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati's $50,000 bonus left-hander, tossed no-hit ball for four innings as the Reds stopped the Phils 5-0 on three hits. Robin Roberts, going the route for the second straight time was the loser, giving up home runs to Gus Bell (2) and Ed Bailey.

★ ★ ★

The Los Angeles Dodgers, who continue to pace the NL with an 11-7 exhibition mark, whipped the Braves 9-2. The Dodgers broke a four-game losing streak as Gene Snyder and Billy Harris allowed the Braves only seven hits.

Top Draft Choice 'Prize'

Pistons High on Howell

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Detroit Pistons have high hopes Bailey Howell will become the savior of professional basketball in the Motor City.

Howell, 6-foot-7 All America from Mississippi State, was the Pistons' prize draft choice in the National Basketball Assn.'s treasure hunt yesterday.

The Pistons, whose sagging attendance in Detroit, threatens their existence there, will have a problem signing their No. 1 selection.

He's coveted by the AAU and the National Industrial Basketball League. Both could insure his amateur eligibility and afford him an almost certain chance of playing in the 1960 Olympics at Rome.

But Howell has voiced an interest in turning pro — if Fred Zollner, Piston owner, meets his price. Zollner, backed up by his vast industrial works in Indiana, probably will latch onto his prize.

He almost has to if the Pistons are to continue as a going enterprise in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Zollner, general manager Nick Kerbawy and coach Red Rocha were delighted to obtain the negotiation rights to Howell. They believe he can do for the Pistons what another southerner — Bob Pettit, the ex-Louisiana State All-America — did for the St. Louis Hawks.

★ ★ ★

Pettit became the NBA's all time season high scorer in 1958-59 and led the Hawks to a world championship a year ago. Pro basketball became a success in St. Louis when Pettit went there.

The Pistons with two second round choices, took 6-foot-9 Tom Robitaille of Rice and 6-foot-5 Don Goldstein of Louisville. They also drafted Michigan's co-captains, George Lee and M. C. Burton.

★ ★ ★

Johnny Green, Michigan State agile star, went to the New York Knickerbockers in the first round. The Knicks took his Spartan teammate, Bob Anderegg, on the third round. Paul Benes of Hope and Ed Blair of Western Michigan were two other choices of the Knicks.

The Pistons other selections were Gary Alcorn of Fresno State, Tony Windis of Wyoming, Lou Jordan of Cornell, Doug Smart of Washington, Chuck Curtis of Pacific Lutheran, Doyle Edminston of Hardin-Simmons, Bruno Boin of Washington and John Nicoll of Brigham Young.

Western Wins in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Wanted—some base hits for three touring Michigan college baseball teams.

The hits have been sparse for the visitors from the Water Wonderland in the Florida State Invitational tournament which continues the rest of the week. Western Michigan, Michigan and Michigan State were able to muster only 10 hits among them yesterday.

Western didn't need hitting to beat most Florida State 3-2, scoring two runs in the eighth without benefit of a safety. The Broncos won on three hits.

But Duke shut out Michigan 2-0 on four hits and Illinois beat Michigan State 8-3 on three singles.

The Spartans picked up two of their runs on a homer by Bill Schudlich.

122 Glovers in AAU Meet

Pontiac's Dick Compton Among Amateur Boxers Seeking U.S. Titles

TOLEDO, Ohio — A field of at least 122 leather throwers will open the Amateur Athletic Union's boxing championships at the Sports Arena Thursday night.

National titles in 10 weight divisions will be settled by Saturday night. Twenty-two AAU districts in 20 states, the District of Columbia and Canada are sending fighters to the tournament.

The field includes six members of last year's international team which competed in Mexico City.

★ ★ ★

These are Wilbert McClure of Toledo, a middleweight and the only American to win in the internationals; Cyril Woodland of Philadelphia, a 112-pounder and the runner-up in last year's AAU final; Grant McEwan, a 125-pound entry from Salt Lake City; Sammy Ortega of Denver, entered in the 132-pound division; Norman Johnson of Indianapolis, a 147-pounder, and heavyweight Jimmy Blythe of Hartford, Conn., the only champion returning this year to defend a National AAU title.

★ ★ ★

Carrying Pontiac's hopes in the three-day fistic competition will be Dick Compton, Michigan AAU welterweight champion. The blond 147-pound Compton took top state honors last week on two victories in the ring and a forfeit.

Nats Face Hex on Celt Court

BOSTON (AP)—The stubborn Syracuse Nationals attempt to snap Boston's home-court hex and eliminate the Celtics tonight in a Boston Garden showdown for the right to represent the Eastern division for the National Basketball Assn. championship.

★ ★ ★

All even after six games in their best-of-seven struggle, the Nationals face a monumental struggle to sweep past the Celtics and into the NBA finals against the Minneapolis Lakers, Western division conquerors of mighty St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

In the three previous games in Boston, the Celtics have clobbered the upset-minded Syracuse team by margins of 22, 22 and 21 points, respectively. The Celts always appear to reach their greatest heights before home crowds and a turnout of more than 12,000 is expected for the finale with Syracuse.

Bowling history will be made in Pontiac Saturday night when the Pontiac Chapter of the 700 Bowling Club of America will receive its national charter at a banquet to be held at Madison Junior High School.

The affair will be open to members of the new Chapter 31 and their wives. A total of 57 now belong to the club which has been formed for area keglers who have rolled at least one sanctioned 700 series.

Another feature of the evening will be the installation of officers. Thirteen men making up the "brass" of the organization will be honored headed by president Bill Bull. His title in the chapter will be King Pin.

The group was organized by bowling star and enthusiast Clark Balch several weeks ago. He holds the responsibie position of secretary or Pin Buoy in the chapter.

Pontiac's invasion of the Elks National tournament at Toledo will be another major event on tap this weekend. Lodge 810 annually has the largest number of entries in the meet and this year is no exception.

Some 67 teams will be taking part in two days in hopes of making up for some dismal showings in state competition this season. A highlight of the weekend at Toledo will be a big banquet for all the Pontiac contestants to be held at a hotel there.

Funds for the gala affair, known as a "hospitality" session, were raised at a Bowling Jamboree held at Lodge 810 several weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

Even with all those Elks out of town, there will still be plenty of activity at their Orchard Lake Ave. home with the 3rd weekend of a mixed doubles tourney and the final meeting of the Pontiac Women's Bowling Association on tap there. Latter event will be Sunday afternoon with awards to City Women's champs to be one of many highlights.

It looks like a four-team race to the wire in the Women's Oakland County Employes League . . . First place Ducky's Bar had 2820 in Baldwin Bowlerettes loop recently . . . Dobski topped 6-7-10 split in Elks Ladies . . . Talbot's boosted slim lead in Pontiac Housewives League with 941-2697.

A. N. Hickson team headed for Lakeland Ladies crown with tough battle ahead for 2nd . . . Burley Jewelers breezing in Rolling Pin . . . Lou Bregman and Bob McCafferty of Farmington recently learned they finished 6th in the country in a Christmas Doubles tournament for boys.

South Lyon will have a bowling alley of its own by July. Woodside Lanes are under construction at a cost of $140,000 . . . Stancato appears to be pulling away in the Lakewood Housewives race but such leagues as the Sylvan Supper Club, Elks House, Motor Inn "B," Catholic Women's, Cooleyettes, Waterford Women's and T. Springfield Club Reported on Sale

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The owner of the Springfield Indians is believed to have placed the club's American Hockey League franchise on sale for $250,000, the Harrisburg Evening News reported Tuesday.

The News said that owner Eddie Shore would like to drop the Massachusetts club's franchise in order to secure a Western League franchise in either San Francisco or Los Angeles, where attempts have been made to attract the ice sport.

Both the New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs are interested in purchasing Springfield's franchise, the News said.

Pancho Even With Hoad

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Pancho Gonzales turned back Australia's Mal Anderson 6-4, 8-6 Tuesday night and pulled even with Lew Hoad in the over-all standings of the professional tennis tour.

Hoad was beaten for the second consecutive evening, losing to fellow Australian Ashley Cooper 6-4, 6-2. This gave both Gonzales and Hoad a record of 16-7 in the won-lost standings although Hoad still leads in money won, $10,855 to $10,250 for Gonzales.

'April Fool' Creatures Abundant in Wildlife

By The Press Outdoors Editor

Mother Nature long ago antedated April 1st's "April Fool's day," with its connotation of sly tricks and other foolishment, not so sly and not so innocuous.

There is abundant evidence of nature's "April Fool" quirk.

★ ★ ★

Many creatures look entirely different from their real "characters." Mostly, this deception is for the purpose of camouflage against the attacks of predators or enemies.

Then again, the "fool" tag has been attached because of the creature's foolish actions.

TAG COULD BE APPLIED ALSO TO HUMANS

The application of the day's "signature" to humans also, is unquestionably justified, when one checks the annual hunter death and injury figures for one thing. Because of human disregard for good, sound, established rules of conduct in many instances tragic consequences have resulted.

So-called sportsmen who lack consideration of others' rights; carelessness in handling firearms, disregard for recognized safety measures; disrespect for privileges of recreation, park areas, put the guilty ones in the foolish" classification. Vast majority of outdoors people are in the "good" class, but there is still plenty of room for improvement.

TEX, BIG-LITTLE GREAT DANE, HAS COMPETITION

There seems to be some competition in the canine family of young Great Danes, out at the Hank Roberts kennels near Clarkston. Tex, the over-size puppy whose heft at birth has raised quite a commotion among breeders, is getting competition from littermate Sugarfoot (who got his name because of his four white feet). Sugar weighed 1½-pounds, compared to Tex's 3-pounds. He's catching up in size with Tex., away ahead of the rest of the litter of seven.

★ ★ ★

The Roberts still haven't discovered anyone who ever heard of a 3-pound Dane puppy, at birth, a weight about twice normal for the breed.

Michigan conservationists lost one of their strong advocates in the recent death of C. A. (Frenchy) Paquin, in recent years head of the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce. Frenchy, indefatigable worker for the establishment of Michigan's highly rated conservation program, headed the department's educational division for many years.

He was largely instrumental in organization of the Michigan Outdoors Writers Assn., (MOWA), was also active in national conservation circles.

Largest Taken in Michigan With Bow

County Hunter Tells How He Killed Bear

Grover W. Smith of Ferndale, the man who killed the largest black bear ever taken in Michigan with bow and arrow, tells how he did it in "Bear at Five Paces," featured in Outdoor Life for April.

"I'd knocked over a small black bear with bow and arrow in the fall of 1952, the year I took up bowhunting," Smith states. "But this time I wanted something bigger." Smith also has been successful hunting deer with bow and arrow, having taken one in each of seven successive seasons.

The chief requirement of successful bear hunting, Smith points out, is patience. He got plenty of time to prove that last fall as he spent three rainy days in the wood without getting within range of a bear.

By then Smith's camping gear was soaked, and he decided to spend the night in his car, parked near the edge of a clearing where he'd set out bait at the intersection of two bear trails near the Tahquamenon River outside of McMillan in the upper peninsula.

He awoke before daybreak, and suddenly heard something on the far side of the clearing rattling tin cans he'd stuffed with fish.

Easing silently around the clearing, Smith got within five paces of a bear, which was worrying the cans, before it recognized him for a man. As it started to get up, Smith let his first arrow fly, hitting the bear in the neck but not killing it.

A second shot was a clean miss from about 30 paces. The next was closer, but not close enough. The fourth, striking in the shoulder, penetrated only three or four inches. Smith kept his fifth and final arrow as a last resort, but the bear died before he had to use it.

The bear tipped certified scales at 470 pounds, dressed weight. Michigan game men estimate its weight at a minimum of 536 pounds. It was the third largest on record killed in the state, and the biggest ever taken with a bow.

Put Boat in Shape Now

With the enthusiasm of spring upon you, this is the time to get your boat and trailer ready for a season of fun.

And how long it will take you depends directly upon how well you prepared your craft for winter storage.

But no matter what you did last fall, take a few tips from the Evinrude Boating Foundation to help get your boat ready.

You start with the hull, where you might have to sand down areas which are blistered or checked.

Check for damaged ribs or stringers if you have a wood boat, and if you noticed any minor leaks last year and didn't repair the hull last fall, it should be done now.

If not, they'll only become larger leaks through the season.

You undoubtedly gave your craft a thorough cleaning last fall when you put it away for the winter.

If you didn't, you've got a chore ahead. Wash the hull down with warm water and a good detergent, then dry with a soft chamois.

Be sure to wash off rubber rails and windshield cowling and, if you removed your drain plug, now is the time to replace it so you don't ruin all your efforts with a boat full of water.

Hardware may have corroded or pitted, even since last fall, so it should be gone over carefully.

Give it a good cleaning and replace any hardware which shows signs of excessive corrosion. Movable parts should be treated with a penetrating oil.

While checking your hardware, also test your fire extinguisher to see that it is in working order and properly filled.

The lines and cables connecting the steering wheel with the motor need a periodic check and should be kept well lubricated.

If any signs of wear or faulty connections show up, it's a good idea to make some replacements. Better to be safe than sorry!

Some good sunshine and fresh air is the best treatment for your life preservers, cushions and other gear.

Clean this gear and set it out in the sunshine for a day. Nothing discourages mildew faster than fresh air and sunshine.

Now if you check your anchor and anchor line for wear and abrasion, you've just about got things ready. It's a good idea to see that you have some extra line aboard for bow and stern painters.

Ohioans Like State Parks for Camping

Over 12,000 Ohioans camped over night in Michigan State Parks during 1958 according to compilation by Vic Beresford of East Lansing, Mich.

This represented over 37 per cent of Michigan's out-of-state campers and over 9 per cent of all of Michigan's 130,000 over-night campers.

Seventy-five per cent of the campers were native Michiganians with about a third of them from the Greater Detroit area.

Following Buckeye campers, Hoosiers accounted for 4 per cent and Illinois visitors 3.1 per cent.

Canadians accounted for a surprising 2.2 per cent. None others had over one per cent but Pennsylvania, Florida, California and New York were well represented.

Homesteading in Alaska No Picnic

WASHINGTON — Alaska-bound pioneers are heading toward an entirely new kind of frontier.

The 49th State greets newcomers with expected scenes of raw wilderness and fast-growing settlements, with hustling enterprises, and a preponderantly male population. But behind the pioneer front, modern ways and means are being developed in industry, farming, and mining, says the National Geographic Society.

Alaska's leaders have repeatedly stated that they are interested in solid planning for the future, not boom-or-bust speculation or get-rich-quick ventures of the old Gold Rush variety.

With only about 215,000 people in an area more than twice the size of Texas, there would seem to be plenty of room in Alaska for homesteaders. Much of the State, however, is too mountainous, too inaccessible, or too severe in climate for cultivation and grazing.

The famous depression-born project of Matanuska Valley, near the thriving city of Anchorage, is an encouraging example of successful northern agriculture. But virtually all of the desirable public land there has been taken up. Other suitable regions lie beyond reach of the present limited road system.

★ ★ ★

Moreover, the Federal Government has reserved vast stretches of Alaska's forest, glacial, and volcanic regions for national parks and monuments.

Of the 99 per cent of Alaska formerly held by the Federal Government, a choice of some 103 million acres has now been offered the new State.

The State Government has 25 years to make its selection, and is expected to begin with the more developed coastal and interior regions. Eventually it hopes to dispose of most of this and other territory it owns through sale, lease, or homesteading.

Meantime, many looking for Alaska homesteads find them still under Federal control. And Washington officials quickly point out to inquirers that the Far North offers pioneers no royal road to fortune.

To qualify for a farm of up to 160 acres, a settler must first clear the land, build a home on it, and put at least one eighth of the area in cultivation by the end of three years.

★ ★ ★

Those who have tried it tell of privations and unremitting toil. Capital and experience in farming, they say, are essential to success. An estimated $25,000 is required to establish a working dairy farm.

More inviting are prospects for new industry. To attract business—especially concerns to process raw materials—the State extends tax exemptions and other incentives. But again enterprisers are warned that capital is needed, and markets so far are limited. Other problems, such as seasonal labor demands, face individual job seekers.

Reduce Fees, Hospitals Told

Their President-Elect Urges Self-Controls to Keep Government Away

CHICAGO (UPI)—American Hospital Association President-elect Dr. Russel A. Nelson called on the nation's hospitals today to cut down their own fees before the government step in to do ti for them.

"More self controls are needed for the strength of our voluntary hospitals," Nelson said. "The mechanism for this type of self-control already exists—in the state hospital associations."

Nelson's comments were published in the current issue of Hospitals, the magazine of the AHA.

Nelson, director of Baltimore's Johns Hopkins Hospital, keyed his remarks to pending Blue Cross hospitalization plan hearings on rate increases.

He said the hearings and recent insurance department decisions all point toward one thing: "Control—control of hospital services through state-regulated control of Blue Cross payments to hospitals."

Deep Freezers Prove Aid to Advances in Medicine

UNION, N. J. (UPI) — Super deep freezers which maintain temperatures as low as 125 degrees below zero Fahrenheit are now helping to preserve life on behalf of medical science.

Tenney Engineering, Inc., which manufactures the new units, explains that hospitals use them to store bone, skin, eyes and arterial segments for emergency operations and research.

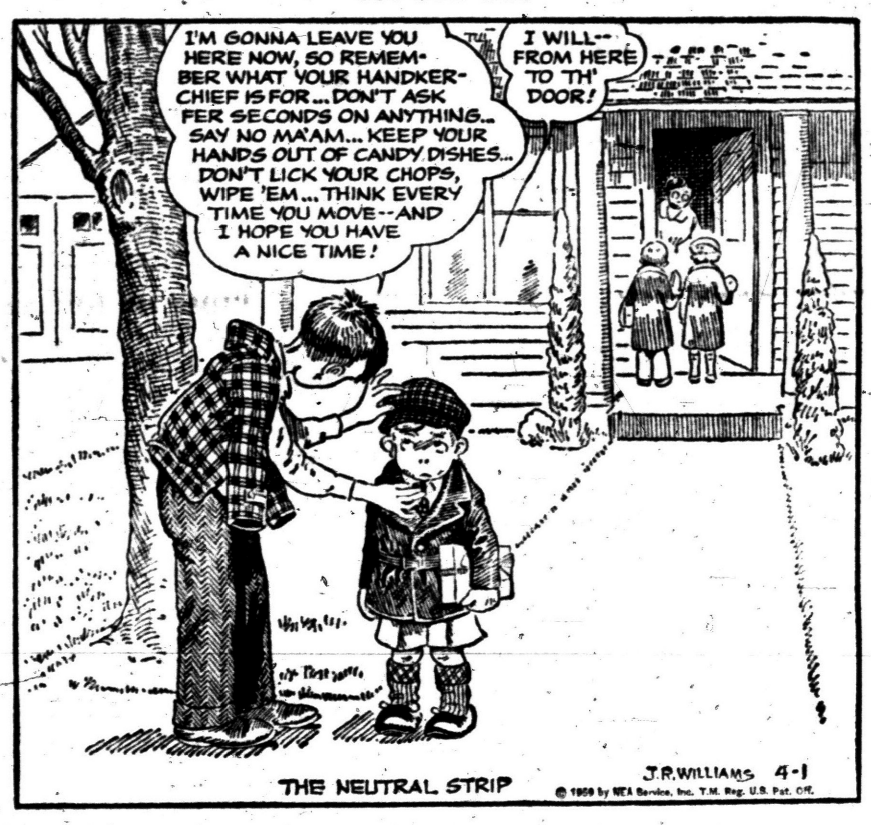

Produce Atomic Heat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission is now routinely producing nuclear heat sources for the tiny generators expected to furnish electrical power for satellites and perhaps spaceships of the future.

Grain Futures Advance Slowly

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market resumed its recent general upward trend today although most advances in early transactions on the Board of Trade were in fractions of a cent.

★ ★ ★

May wheat again was among the leaders and climbed to within a small fraction of its high for the season during the first few minutes. Rye was more than a cent ahead for May.

Actual and potential export sales were credited with the early demand for May wheat. Yugoslavia bought 700,000 bushels of hard wheat overnight and India has asked for offers on amounts believed to be substantial. Denmark took 350,000 bushels of soybeans.

★ ★ ★

After about an hour wheat was ⅛ to ⅝ higher, May $2.09¾; corn ¼ to ⅝ higher, May $1.22⅝; oats ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, May 67⅜; rye ¼ to 1⅜ higher, May $1.43⅝; soybeans ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, May $2.25⅞.

Ford Stock Put on Market

Foundation Will Sell Two Million Shares at $56.50 Per

NEW YORK (AP) — A good investor reception was indicated today for the two million shares (113 million dollars) of Ford Motor Co. common stock offered at $56.50 a share.

★ ★ ★

The offering price was below last night's close on the New York Stock Exchange where Ford was quoted at $57.12 a share, up 25 cents on the day. Late in the morning, Ford declined 25 cents to $56.87.

This is the second largest secondary distribution on record with a value of 113 million dollars. Proceeds go to the Foundation and not the motor company.

The largest secondary sale was the 1956 offering, also by the Ford Foundation, of 10,200,000 shares of Ford common. That distribution had a value of more than 657 million dollars.

★ ★ ★

Just a week ago, there was a quick sellout of another huge secondary offering, 1,800,000 shares of Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. common. Priced at $44.50 a share, the block had a total value of $80,100,000.

'Ear' Witness Will Testify

Woman Hearing Shots That Killed Teel Likely to Be Called Today

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A witness who heard the shots that took wealthy Forrest Teel's life will be called by the state to testify about Teel's fatal struggle with his mistress of 15 years.

The witness is Edna Smith, an apartment house neighbor of the girl friend for whom Teel had jilted Minnie B (Connie) Nicholas, his accused slayer.

Deputy prosecutors said Mrs. Smith was watching Teel's auto when he entered it after an evening in the apartment of the new girl friend, Laura Mowrer. They declined to say whether she heard or saw signs of a struggle.

Mrs. Nicholas had learned Teel's whereabouts and was waiting in Teel's car when he returned to it.

The defense and prosecution agreed in opening statements Tuesday that Teel died of three bullet wounds from Mrs. Nicholas' small French revolver. But the prosecution called it a premeditated murder of jealousy while the defense said it happened accidentally as Teel tried to prevent Mrs. Nicholas from shooting herself.

Announced state witnesses today included Dr. Myron K. Dill, a deputy coroner who pronounced Teel dead at the scene; Dr. Emmett Pierce, who performed an autopsy; R. Y. McVaugh of Pendleton, Ind., a witness to the finding of the dying man, and William G. Gano, a pawnbroker at whose shop Mrs. Nicholas bought her gun.

Waterford PTAs Set 2 Events This Week

Two activities have been scheduled by Waterford Township Parent-Teacher associations this week.

Special guest speaker at the Stringham School at 8 p.m. Thursday will be Dr. Morris Weiss, clinical psychiatrist at the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic.

Following his talk, there will be a question-and-answer period. An election of officers for next year also will take place.

Beginning at 5:30 p.m. Thursday at the William Burt School, there will be a pancake supper. According to Chairman Mrs. Frank Rudlaff, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Johnson will be the cooks for the affair and tickets will be available at the door.

Stock Market Gains Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was a bit higher in fairly active early trading today.

★ ★ ★

Narrow gains were made by enough pivotal issues to give the list a slight bulge to the upside. Quite a few stocks were unchanged.

The ticker tape was late in the initial wave of transactions but caught up quickly. Turnover settled down to a moderate pace.

Firmness among most automotive stocks, steels, rubbers, utilities and selected issues tilted the market to the upside. The action was indecisive, however, particularly since the market has been unable to post a gain by the close in the past four sessions.

★ ★ ★

The business news background remained good. A record in paperboard production was reported for last week and this is a good barometer of business activity. Caution in Wall Street, however, continued as in the past several sessions.

International Business Machines, in further response to its stock split proposal, advanced 17 to 560 on an opening block of 3,500 shares then reduced its gain to about 9 points in later dealings.

Du Pont added about 2 points. Gains of around a point were made by American Motors, Raytheon and Goodrich.

One Bushy Brush

CHECOTAH, Okla. (AP)—Johnnie Marie LeMasters reached into a brush and broom closet for a brush during house cleaning. One brush moved. It was a possum who somehow had come in from outdoors.

Court Removes Six Children

Judge Orders Them Put in Boarding Homes; Parents Get Two Back

Six children of a Royal Oak welfare family were ordered placed in boarding homes yesterday as Juvenile Court wards by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Two other children of Robert and Cordelia Courtney of 208 N. Washington St. were returned to their parents by Judge Moore following a custody hearing.

★ ★ ★

The eight children were placed in the Oakland County Children's Home March 8 following the death of their baby sister.

The child, Barbara, 7 months, died March 8 en route to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Dr. Thomas S. McInerney, a deputy coroner, said at the time the child died of infection apparently caused by the worst diaper rash he had ever seen.

Judge Moore said yesterday another hearing into the case will be held sometime in June.

Returned to the parents were Robert, 12, and James, 8. Judge Moore said a Juvenile Court worker will maintain surveillance of the family until the June hearing.

To be placed in boarding homes are Raymond, 10; Janet, 9; Benjamin, 7; Diane, 6; Michael, 3; and Dell, 2.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY darling mother Mrs. Leslie Cussans who departed March 29. No one knows the silent heartache Only those who lose can tell. The grief we bear in silence, For the one we loved so well. Someday, sometime our eyes shall see. The face we keep in memory. And God will link the broken chain. Still closer when we meet again. Daughter, Edythe and sons: Kenneth, Thomas, Les Jr., and Jerry D.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF MY WIFE, Gladys Ellen Skarritt, who passed away April 1, 1952.
There is a husband who misses you sadly.
And finds the time long since you went.
And I think of you daily and hourly.
And I try to be brave and content.
But the tears I shed in silence,
And breathe a sigh of regret.
For you were mine and I remember
Though all the world forget.
Kim Skarritt.

Rodgers Show Puts Video Step Back Toward Radio

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Teenage girls are the customers who make or break pop records right now and I suppose that's the principal reason for the low state of the music business.

They buy the singles and if you look at the chart of spring hits you'll find names like Frankie Avalon, Brook Benton, The Fleetwoods, The Coasters and Dodie Stevens heading the lists — most of them names unfamiliar to the post-teen set.

Two of the current culture heroes of the ponytail set are Jimmie Rodgers and Connie Francis and last night they were bunched together for a new NBC-TV series, the Jimmie Rodgers Show.

I can only assume that the intent of Rodgers' cigarette sponsor is to package a show that will appeal to teenagers and thus further the cause of smoking among the kids.

The Rodgers Show signals TV's first step back toward radio. Visually, it is a two-by-four, cheapie and unimaginative.

The show was its own best fan. Rodgers honey-tongued compliments after each of his performers finished a chore — "really great, Connie"... "Boy, they sure played that nice."

And when Rodgers chored, announcer Jack Lescoulie did the honors — "Ah, great, Jim, really wonderful"... "Ah, great, Jimmy, and that Kirby Stone Four is the very end."

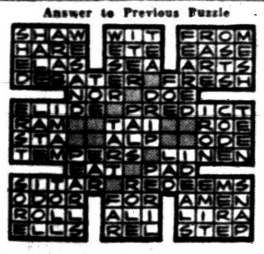

SHORT SHOTS: Last night's CBS-TV Arthur Godfrey Show from Hawaii was a pleasant if undistinguished exercise... Alfred Ryder turned in an awfully good performance as the lead in last night's ABC-TV Alcoa Presents and the show was pretty gripping, too.

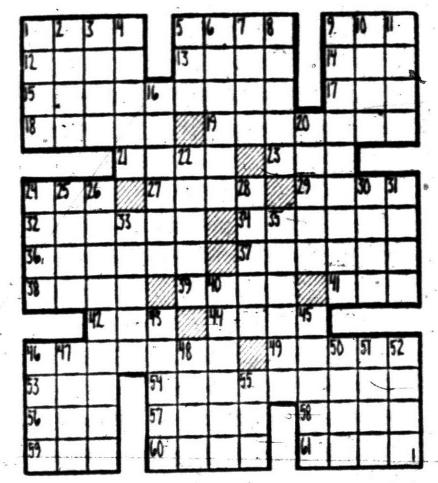

THE CHANNEL SWIM: CBS-TV is bidding for "Davy Jones Locker," a Bill and Cora Baird puppet show currently on Broadway — it's wanted for a one hour special next fall... Peggy Cass of the NBC-TV Jack Paar Show will star in "Bells Are Ringing" at the Dallas Summer Theater this summer.

Spill From Car Fatal

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Dirk VanderJagt, 39, of Grand Rapids, was injured fatally last night in a two-car collision at a Grand Rapids intersection. Police said VanderJag was thrown from his car and his head struck a curb.

Rule Motel Can Serve Liquor

Decision Stops Sheriff in Fight Against Bella Vista Near Caseville

CASEVILLE (AP)—The dispute over the plush Bella Vista Motel's right to sell liquor in a glass has resulted in a split decision against the protesting sheriff.

The Caseville Township Board yesterday voted 3-2 to continue the motel's class C liquor license. The decision appeared to finish Huron County Sheriff Merritt R. McBride's fight to stop the motel's sale of liquor.

McBride seized the license three times last month. The Michigan Liquor Control Commission returned the license each time.

McBride had defended his defiance of the commission by saying he never has given his approval for the liquor license. He said the commission never had issued a liquor license over the objection of the area police agency in his 17 years as sheriff.

★ ★ ★

The sheriff contended that two similar class C licenses in the area are enough. He was not available for comment after the township board voted to continue the motel's license.

The board's action was significant because its approval is mandatory for a license to be issued.

The owners of the motel Monday were granted an injunction in Huron County Circuit Court to stop McBride from interfering with sale of liquor at the motel. A hearing had been set for next Tuesday.

Nationalism Hurts NATO Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — NATO's Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak says the real weakness of the Atlantic Alliance is a lack of unity among its 15 sovereign members.

Spaak cited as one example France's atomic work, on which he said France is spending billions of francs to find information its allies already know.

★ ★ ★

Spaak expressed his views in an article in the current issue of the magazine Foreign Affairs. A three-time prime minister of Belgium, Spaak moved to the top NATO staff job in 1957. He is due in Washington today for the Atlantic Pact organization's 10th anniversary meeting.

★ ★ ★

Spaak called NATO a flourishing organization which he credited with halting Soviet expansion in Europe. However, he said, "common-sense solutions seem to be running head on into stubborn forces of nationalism and individualism within the alliance."

River at Midland Above Flood Stage

MIDLAND (AP) — The Tittabawassee River is acting up again. The turbulent river has gone above its 14-foot flood warning stage for the second time in a week.

The river climbed to 14.1 feet yesterday, according to Dow Chemical Co. weather observers.

A week ago the Tittabawassee rose to 15.75 feet after a thaw between Midland and Sanford and along the tributary Chippewa River.

The latest rise occurred when the Wolverine Power Co. dams at Sanford and Edenville were forced to open their floodgates.

The dam at Sanford was spilling 12 feet of water into the Tittabawassee. Ten feet of water was being dumped in by the Edenville dam.

Low areas around Midland again were submerged yesterday.

97 Pct. for Detroit Mills

DETROIT (AP)—Iron Age said Tuesday Detroit area steel mills are scheduled to operate at 97 per cent of capacity this week and produce 147,900 tons of steel. The metal working publication said this compares with last week's operating rate of 98.8 per cent of capacity and production of 150,830 tons. A year ago mill operations fell to 20.7 per cent of capacity and an output of 28,150 tons.

Waterford Head Wants State Action

Ask Curb on Loose Dogs

Immediate action on the control of dogs running loose in Waterford Township is now being taken, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

Johnson has urged other township supervisors to request the Legislative Committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to get behind the movement to amend the present state dog law, adopted in 1919. It states that towns or townships of 250,000 population are permitted to make their own laws regarding the control of stray dogs.

The supervisor wants an amendment reducing the figure to 25,000 population, making it possible for local areas to institute adequate regulations for dog control, Johnson said.

The state requires that a dog be licensed, with proof of vaccination, and that at certain times of the year they are to be tied.

State Rep. Lloyd Anderson of Waterford Township has presented a bill to the Legislature, proposing that a five-member committee study the dog situation.

Johnson said any action would probably take a long time, unless lawmakers were alerted to the seriousness of the situation.

FLOODED WITH CALLS

Township police say they have been flooded with calls from irate residents complaing about packs of dogs running over lawns and of dog fights menacing the safety of small children.

There were 2,186 people in Oakland County bitten by dogs last year, and more than 7,500 stray dogs in unincorporated areas taken to the Oakland County Animal Shelter, according to shelter Director Dr. F. R. Bates. Some 2,800 dogs have been licensed in Waterford Township, he added.

Bates pointed out that dogs have created a danger to drivers on the highways. More than 1,300 dogs hit by automobiles in unincorporated areas were picked up by the Animal Shelter. Altogether, the department disposed of almost 9,000 stray dogs in Oakland County last year, Bates said.

★ ★ ★

Johnson said he plans to present a resolution at the next Supervisors' meeting to support the township's stand for faster legislation for dog control.

Some 25 petitions are now being circulated in Waterford Township, asking residents to support the movement, he said.

April Fool's Just Isn't What It Used to Be

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — April Fool's here again, and there's bad news for all you cut-ups and pranksters. Americans have turned serious.

★ ★ ★

They aren't fooling around or April-fooling around this year.

Rather than use their brains to create urgently needed and vitally important things like April Fool stunts, our better minds are laboring on H-bombs, cancer cures, road maps to the moon — and the invention of new taxes... Or maybe ways to pay the old taxes.

We have just toured Broadway's razz-ma-taz playlands and game palaces with a 50c bag of popcorn (formerly 10c) in our hot buttered hands.

★ ★ ★

The most sensational new gadget for April Fool day is the "bald wig"—not to be confused with the "Yul Brynner wig"—and the "dazzle eyes" (rapidly changing colors) which Steve Allen has worn on TV.

"The bald wig" is... well, it's a bald wig.

WILSON & WIG

It's positively hairless, extremely shiny, skin-tight bald spot that fits over your head. You look bald all the way to your neck when, suddenly, out shoots a luxurious, taffy-colored mop of Harpo Marx-type hair. The 'Yul Brynner wig' — well, it lacks the wig.

"Do you have any 'sick jokes'?" we asked Mr. Goldstein of novelty nursery fearfully — referring to the morbidity-type gags of Hollywood origin.

"Do you mean the coffin bit?" he asked.

A genius to whom death is just a barrel of laughs has invented a miniature coffin which, when opened, reveals a supposed corpse. Just great for sending to the boss with a note saying, "And hope you are the same. With love, from Joe."

★ ★ ★

"I didn't stock it because it didn't amuse me, but down the street there you can get it," the man said.

"We've got some nice shrunken heads," he added. "They came out before Christmas and they're all right. It's according to what note you send with it. Something like 'I lost my head over you' is O.K."

But for the less imaginative, the more commonplace gadgets such as suction-cup faucets that fit on your forehead, dummy hypodermic needles, squirting doorbells, "third eyes," and the "auto burglar alarm" that sets off a harsh siren call for police when you turn on the ignition, will have to do.

★ ★ ★

The novelty merchants admit that after 50 years the "phony headline newspaper" is their best seller.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Tony Pettito overheard this: "What makes you think you could be a great actor?"... "Some of the actors I see on television."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: An old-timer is one who remembers when you could watch fights in saloons — even if the place didn't have a TV set... That's earl, brother.

'Tis Spring—Let's Dance

Assails Social Leanings of State Highway Division

LANSING (AP)—It was a lazy spring day and talk in the Senate turned to the dance — in particular to the State Highway Department spring dance May 8.

★ ★ ★

Sen. John H. Stahlin (R-Belding) read what he said was a department office memorandum.

Signed by Frederick E. Tripp, director of the administrative branch, the memo urged division heads to give dance committee members time off to attend to social chores.

"This is what the executive division of the Highway Department is doing, getting ready for the spring dance," said Stahlin.

REASON FOR MONEY

"This is one of the reasons why the executive division needs more money," he added.

He had noted that its budget request for 1959-60 was up $303,205 and also ridiculed a request for $125,000 for an airplane.

As to the need for additional funds, Sen. George C. Steeh (D-Mt. Clemens) had a different theory. Maybe, Steeh said, it's because:

U. S. Bureau of Public Roads figures now rank Michigan seventh among the states in getting road work under contract.

About 150 miles of new four-lane expressway was opened to traffic in 1958, another 121 miles are under contract and 220 expressway miles are expected to be completed in 1959.

Some 500 miles of major trunkline improvements were finished in 1958 and, of 200 contracts now in force for construction projects, all but 15 are on or ahead of schedule.

A Republican had the last word. Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland) observed that the board building was being done with "Eisenhower dollars" and that there were still a lot of chuckholes in state pavements.

Hoffman, Diggs Rent Offices

Landlords Have Like Name

WASHINGTON (AP)—House records showed yesterday that 12 representatives — two from Michigan — rented Congressional office space during 1957-58 from persons or organizations with the same family name.

The records, made public by the House disbursing clerk, are for the year ended last June 30. Rental vouchers for the current fiscal year, which started last July 1, will not be available until later.

The law allows House members $1,200 a year to rent office space in their home districts when free space is not available in government buildings.

Rental payments by Michigan Congressmen to persons with similar family names were:

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich), $1,070 to Leo W. Hoffman of Allegan, Mich. in 1956 and 1957.

Rep. Charles Diggs Jr. (D-Mich), $550 to Diggs Enterprises Inc. of Detroit, in 1957 and 1958.

Whoa, Train! Old Nellie's Got Stuck on Track

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A saddle horse caught its hind legs in the ties of a railroad trestle Tuesday, but a freight train was stopped before it reached the bridge.

★ ★ ★

A motorist driving by under the bridge alerted the New York Central Railroad. The train was delayed 1½ hours, while 14 men used ropes and planks to free the horse.

★ ★ ★

Bette Phillips, 17, said she was riding over the bridge in suburban Perinton when an automobile frightened her horse and made it slip. She was not hurt. The horse was only bruised.

Workman Drowns at Detroit PO Site

DETROIT (AP) — A lone workman drowned at the bottom of a 106-foot shaft on the site of Detroit's new multimillion dollar post office yesterday when trapped by subterranean waters.

★ ★ ★

Construction officials said the water suddenly gushed into a caisson and that the man, Boisy Scott, about 50, may have failed through panic to get aboard a bos'n's chair sent down to him on a safety line.

Boisy, paid $8 an hour because of the danger of the job, worked alone, loading muck into buckets.

The water had risen to a height of 40 feet in the shaft when Boisy's body was removed.

Woman's Body Pulled Out of Detroit River

DETROIT (AP) — The body of a woman recovered from the Detroit River has been tentatively identified as Mrs. Mabel Liscom, 79, of Port Huron, who disappeared Dec. 18.

★ ★ ★

The body was pulled from the ice-jammed river yesterday. Police said it apparently had been in the water for several months.

Relatives said the woman's clothing matched that of Mrs. Liscom.

State Man Found Dead in Car in California

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP) — A Michigan man was found dead in his parked car yesterday. He was shot twice in the chest and his wrists were slashed.

Sheriff's detectives identified him as Gerald E. Schnoor, 33, Detroit auto design engineer. They found a .25 caliber pistol and a note mentioning domestic difficulties. They said the wounds appeared self-inflicted.

State Park Fee Proposed Again

Proceeds Still Marked for State General Fund Under Bill

LANSING (AP)—The Legislature today received again a familiar proposal—for a $2 annual admission fee for state parks.

Under a bill submitted by Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) and four other Republicans, the fee would be charged in the form of an annual car windshield sticker.

Overnight park visitors would be required to pay 50 cents. Either way, proceeds would go into the state general fund.

The Porter bill failed in 1958. The year before, it passed but was vetoed by Gov. Williams who took the position that park admission charges should go directly to the State Conservation Department for park system improvement and expansion.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) submitted a bill yesterday to authorize the State Medical Examining Board to issue temporary licenses to qualified immigrants to practice medicine.

Ryan said that between 50 and 100 physicians, badly needed in the Detroit area, could be licensed under the measure to administer to the needs of Michigan residents.

Burns, Berle Will Go Into TV Production

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two durable comics, George Burns and Milton Berle, are going into the television production business.

★ ★ ★

They announced Tuesday that they have formed B & B productions and will first tackle a series of 39 half-hour filmed shows. Berle who has spent many years in live TV, will star in 13 of the canned programs and act as host on all of them. Burns will be executive producer.

The format calls for situation, farce and musical comedy and variety programs.

Atomic Scientist Seeks Divorce From His Wife

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Nicholas Christofilos, the University of California nuclear scientist who conceived a new idea of harnessing thermonuclear fission, is seeking a divorce.

He charges his wife, Elly, with extreme cruelty and asked the Alameda County Superior Court to determine custody of their 18-month-old son, Nicholas Jr.

Mrs. Christofilos, born in Greece passed her U.S. citizenship test last week.

The scientist's work is credited with leading to atom bomb space tests.

Report Alcorn to Resign Post

GOP National Chief Is Expected to Make Announcement Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meade Alcorn was reported today to be planning to resign as Republican national chairman—a position he has held since January 1957.

★ ★ ★

Alcorn declined comment. He told a reporter early today he wasn't prepared to say anything at the moment. He indicated he might have something to say later.

Alcorn was contacted after the Hartford (Conn) Courant reported that he will resign shortly, possibly today.

This was backed up by Eisenhower administration informants who said announcement of the resignation is expected today.

Both the administration sources and the Courant said Alcorn wants to return to his Hartford law practice. The Courant indicated that Alcorn, now 51, might try for the Connecticut governorship in 1962.

There was no immediate indication who might be named his successor as Republican chairman. The Courant said Alcorn will stay on the job a short time to give the GOP National Committee a chance to pick a replacement.

This choice could be made next week when the committee meets here to select a site and date for the 1960 Republican national convention and act on proposals to reorganize the party's machinery.

Alcorn, an energetic worker and campaigner, launched an extensive party rebuilding program in January in the wake of heavy GOP losses in last falls' congressional elections.

There were reports shortly after the elections that Alcorn intended to resign but he insisted he intended to stay on. However, it was reported that Alcorn has informed President Eisenhower that he intended to quit for personal reasons.

Parents Appeal: 'Come Home and Marry'

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) The mothers of a pair of eloping teen-agers appealed Tuesday night on television to the youngsters to come home and marry.

The runaways—dark-eyed Carol Evans, 18, and Trevor Bray, 19, a hairdresser — left home Monday, saying they were going to London for the day.

Trevor's parents subsequently found he had withdrawn $140 in savings. Carol's folks discovered a note saying: "Dear mummy and daddy — we are going away to get married, don't worry. Love — Carol."

The families decided that, if the couple came home, they would give them a full-scale wedding.

They thought the youngsters might have gone to Scotland, where anyone over 16 can wed without parental consent. The Southampton TV station arranged to have the appeal carried by a Scottish station.
