

French, Canadians at Top in Red China's Ratings of Westerners

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Charles Lynch, a Canadian reporter, has just completed a two-month assignment in China in behalf of the Southern News-papers of Canada. He wrote this analysis after his return home.)

By CHARLES LYNCH
OTTAWA (AP) — Next to being a Frenchman, the best thing for the Westerner in Red China to be is a Canadian. French stock is high in Peking. In the wake of French recognition, there has been a stream of French visitors to China — diplomats, traders, journalists and flashy ballet dancers wearing distinctly un-Chinese garb.

At the most recent Canton Trade Fair, French buyers were much in evidence. The Chinese began to quote some of their price lists in francs, and to give the French the edge in competitive bids.

In dealing with France, the Chinese lose no opportunity to take a whack at the United States — and they follow the same approach in their dealings with Canada, which lacks diplomatic relations with Peking and is perhaps the closest ally of the United States.

VOICE ADMIRATION
The Chinese voice their admiration for Canada at every turn. Yet Canada is guilty of many of the sins laid at Washington's door by Peking, and I pointed this out in conversations with officials.

Peking has been highly critical of United Nations peace-keeping operations, for example, regarding them as a plot to further U.S. interests. Canada has been one of the chief exponents of U.N. peace-keeping.

Peking has bitter memories of the Korean War. Here, again, Canada was directly involved, at the side of the United States. In Viet Nam, it was Canada's voice, as a member of the truce commission, that pointed to North Viet Nam as the aggressor.

STILL FRIENDS
It could follow that Peking would detest Canada but everywhere I went I heard expressions of friendship for Canada's government and people.

I tried occasionally to use this mood of hospitality to explain the United States to the Chinese — to point out that there were many good things in America and her people, and that the picture was not so black as the Chinese imagine it to be. This kind of bridge building, I soon found, was not wanted.

The usual Chinese reaction was to say that they understood why a Canadian had to talk this way, because we were victims of American economic aggression and did not dare, as yet, to confront our tormentors. But they added, hopefully, the day of our liberation would come, and the Chinese people would do everything in their power to support their Canadian brothers against the American tyrants.

The overwhelming impressions one brings away from China are not so much of the system as of the people, without whose support the system could not survive.

NOT EXPECTED
Their friendliness toward the Western visitor is something that I didn't expect. It meets one on every hand — on the streets of the cities, in the schools and universities, in the factories and on the communes. "Welcome to the Western guest" is the slogan most often heard from the lips of the people, even though the propaganda slogans radiate contempt for Western policies and hatred for the United States.

Some of my questions could easily have been construed as being hostile, and many times I braced myself for an angry reply. It never came — the toughest questions were met with smiles, and there was always an attempt to make an honest answer. Usually, we agreed to differ on the meaning of honesty.

The people I saw seemed happy and well-fed. Yet the work loads they carry would be intolerable in most other countries. Yet it does seem to have produced a way of life for the Chinese worker and peasant that is better in the material sense than anything he knew before.

SEE PROGRESS
The newest houses of the Chinese peasants wouldn't pass muster by Western standards. But to their occupants, the mere fact they contain electricity represents progress. So is the fact that there are a few sticks of furniture, or an alarm clock, or a bicycle.

In peasant homes, an earthen crock containing surplus grain is regarded as a treasure trove. For a factory worker, the status symbols are a fountain pen with the clip worn like a medal, or that newest wonder of Chinese industry, the wristwatch.

Red Chinese Strike Out in Rigged Power Play

There was no Saint George involved in the recent setback of the Red Chinese diplomatic dragon, but other forces served the purpose.

The scene was to have been a 64-nation gathering in Algiers for which the Chinese pukka dragon, CHOU EN LAI, had been beating the drums for so long and hoped to reap a bountiful Communist harvest among the Afro-Asian countries making up the proposed conclave.

But the rendezvous never got off the ground—or more precisely, on the ground. It appears that Chou's Machiavellian, to mix a nationality, hand wasn't quicker than the eye—and as the leaders of the participating nations saw what the Red leader had up his sleeve their ardor for the conference not only cooled but went into deepfreeze.

For Chou, it became clear, had planned to use the Asian and African nations as a collective tool of Peking in mounting a campaign of harassment of the United States, to berate the Soviet Union and to further Communist revolutions wherever possible.

Nothing went right for the Chinese Reds. As part of Chou's grand design, Peking had maneuvered to deny Russia a voice at the conference table on the ground that it is "a white European power" although four-fifths of Russia lies in Asia.

The Chinese had pressured now-deposed BEN BELLA, as head of the host country and strongly pro-Communist, to withhold an invitation to Moscow. But the conference steering committee had decided that the meeting should have "the widest possible representation," thus foreshadowing invitations to both Russia and newly-formed anti-Communist Malaysia.

The shaky statue of the post-Bella regime (no friend of communism), provided valid reason for calling off the gathering. All concerned seemed much relieved by the postponement, if not indeed cancellation, except Chou En Lai and his followers.

Perhaps if the premier Red would refer to philosopher CONRUCRUS, he might find writ: "He who try to steal March sometimes get trapped off base."

U.S. Women Fall Short of Male of the Species

The U. S. Public Health Service has taken our measure and found that:

The average civilian American male is 5 feet 8.2 inches tall and weighs 168 pounds. The average female is 5 feet 3 inches tall and gets 142 pounds for her penny.

Nearly 7,000 persons, ranging in age from 18 to 79 and representing a cross-section of the general population, were examined in the survey.

Another vital statistic:

The average woman is wider in a certain area—specifically, "across the greatest lateral protrusion on each side of the buttocks"—than the average male.

Broadly speaking, the difference is not much—only about four-tenths of an inch. But there is a difference, and as the French would say, "Vive it."

Dire Highway Harvest Taken by Grim Reaper

The slaughter goes on. America celebrated a glorious event in inglorious fashion.

During the Fourth of July weekend, 557 persons were killed on the Nation's highways. It was an all-time record, exceeding by 47 the death toll of a year ago.

The only bright spot in the national tragedy, if bright it can be termed, is that Michigan cut in half its 1964 total of 43 July Fourth-period highway deaths.

Grimly, traffic experts are expressing concern about highway carnage over the coming Labor Day weekend. Last year, 561 persons died in auto crashes during the three-day period.

Projections indicate that more than 50,000 men, women and children will be traffic fatalities in the U.S. this year. Last year, deaths in traffic numbered 47,800.

Economic loss was estimated at $8.2 billion.

These motorists are the ghastly facts of death on America's roadways. What are you and YOU doing to do about it?

Fresh Issues Evading GOP?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Republicans haven't come up with any fresh issues since the voters overwhelmingly repudiated them and their ideas in the 1964 elections.

It's a subdued party, which makes it the strangest sight in a generation — at least in Congress where last year it won only 140 House seats to 395 for the Democrats and only 32 places in the Senate to 68 for the Democrats.

In March, Leonard Hall, former chairman of the GOP's National Committee, said the party "is in bad shape." Republicans have said very little since to make them sound more optimistic than Hall.

Last month, the new chairman, Ray Bliss, very modestly said "we honestly believe we can make gains," which is a far cry from the forecast of his predecessor, Dean Burch, who predicted Republican victory in 1964.

But Bliss said that if the Republicans are going to make gains in the 1966 congressional elections, they will have to pick outstanding candidates and campaign vigorously.

LACK OF AGREEMENT

Yet, they don't even agree among themselves on what stand Republicans should take in Congress or what the issues are or might be.

Last March, one of the most powerful House Republicans, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, said "we may be dangerously close to ending any support" for President Johnson's policy in Viet Nam.

But the most powerful Republican in the Senate, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, disagreed, saying Senate Republicans will continue to "uphold the hands of the President" in Viet Nam.

Laird, who perhaps comes closest to being Johnson's most constant critic among House Republicans, but pretty infrequently at that, denounced the Johnson administration for "seeking one-party government" and the subjugation of Congress.

DANGEROUS BRINK?

As a result of the massive Republican defeat in 1964, he said "it cannot be lost on the American people that we have come to the dangerous brink of one-party government."

About three months later the Republicans' House Leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, echoed Laird, saying he believes the two-party system is in jeopardy.

Ford said that when the President presents his legislative proposals "the Democrats in Congress don't know whether to click their heels or clap their hands."

But the day after making this gloomy forecast, he was saying victory is in the air for the Republican party, which means the opposite of jeopardy for the two-party system.

Along For The Ride

David Lawrence Says:

USIA Needs New Ground Rules

WASHINGTON — Coincident with the announcement of major changes in the executive personnel of the U. S. Information Agency here comes word from Moscow that the Soviet government feels it must reorganize its press policy, largely because of a belief that LAWRENCE the information programs of the United States government are achieving more and more penetration of the Communist countries.

An article in a leading publication of the Communist party in the Soviet Union says that Western agencies, such as the U. S. Information Agency, have been intensifying their campaign of "ideological subversion."

Soviet propagandists are called upon to study the information techniques of the United States and other Western countries and to learn to combat them.

While it is gratifying to learn that the U. S. Information Agency's efforts to penetrate the "iron curtain" are meeting with a certain measure of success, there is every reason for the administration to seek intensively to find ways and means of reaching an even larger audience in the Soviet Union and the Communist-bloc countries.

MORE EFFORT

The problem which the U. S. Information Agency faces is whether to continue to duplicate what the newspapers in America are presenting, or whether to concentrate more effort on broadcasts to the rest of the world which not only tell what the President and the secretary of state are doing in foreign policy but answer such criticisms of it as are being published outside this country.

There is a feeling here that the State Department and the White House have, by their rules, inhibited the effectiveness of the USIA under the present administration as well as under past administrations.

The diplomatic attitude is always one of caution. Yet, when criticism comes out into the open and the Soviets are discrediting us, it is better for the USIA immediately to expose the falsehoods and give the truth.

The USIA should be under no obligation to distribute abroad all of the irresponsible statements made by some members of Congress concerning American foreign policy, for this invariably gives the impression that there is disunity here and that a large section of the American people shares the viewpoint of the dissenters.

The distribution of information and the effective exposition of America's viewpoint in foreign policy have an impact upon diplomacy itself. For the Communist countries are watching for any sign of disunity and are hoping to build up a hostility to American policies throughout the free world.

The USIA — and particularly the "Voice of America" — has a role in fighting the "cold war" which is exceeded in importance only by that of the military arm of the government.

Bob Considine Asks:

Papal Journeys to U.N., Poland Appear Unlikely

ROME — Pope Paul VI wants to make two wholly unprecedented trips in the near future, one to New York to speak before the U. N. Assembly, the other to Warsaw to participate in religious ceremonies built around Poland's 1,000th anniversary of Christianity.

CONSIDINE

Neither journey looks promising.

The consensus here is that he would not think of appearing before the U. N. in its present state of disarray. Indeed, any session of the U. N. Assembly called to hear the Pope's plea for world peace might imperil the world organization.

All business even vaguely substantive was avoided the last time the assembly met, so as not to bring to a showdown the possible denial of voting privileges to the Soviet Union, France and a dozen other U. N. members who will not or can not help pay for the cost of the U. N. military force in the Congo.

A solid peace talk, incredibly, could therefore hurt or destroy the international peace organization.

STILL CRITICAL

As for the trip to Warsaw, Poland is a Communist state. Its leaders placed the nation's foremost Catholic churchman, Cardinal Wysynski, under house arrest in the wake of World War II.

The invitation to the Pope would necessarily be from the cardinal, an old friend. Gomulka won't invite him.

The Vatican has no diplomatic relations with either the U. S. or Communist Poland. Its tie with the wretched Polish government in exile, headquartered in seedy grandeur in London, ended only recently.

RECOGNIZES OBSTACLES

The U. S. State Department has welcomed the idea of the Pope's trip to U. N., but recognizes its obstacles. The foreign ministry of the Peoples Republic of Poland is understandably cool.

So a man of peace has his problems trying to speak to an assembly formed to keep the peace.

A man of religion, the same man, has his problems observing on the spot the survival of 10 destructive centuries of the religion he embraces.

United Nations

The Japan Weekly Times

The United Nations observed its 20th birthday in a world distraught by serious tensions and in which there are actually warlike operations going on.

Nevertheless, the nations today are in a far greater degree of peaceful relations than they would have been without the organization which, if it has not yet accomplished all the hopes of its promoters, has again and again saved the world from threatening outbreaks of general war.

The Charter of the United Nations is perhaps the noblest document ever issued in the name of a number of nations in the long and tortuous history of humanity. Shocked by the destruction and horrors of World War II the framers reaffirmed faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations, large and small.

Such specialized agencies as the Food and Agriculture Organization, UNESCO and the World Health Organization, to mention only a few, have performed great services to humanity, and, indeed, it would be an exaggeration to say that they have changed the whole aspect of life for millions. It may seem strange, but it looks as if people are more ready to join wholeheartedly together in carrying out practical schemes for the general benefit than they are in coming to political agreements!

The United Nations has had success in halting cases of armed conflict, and its peace-keeping operations have proved

Voice of the People:

Thoughts of Young Men Defending our Freedom

So much is being said in regard to the youth of today and also the Viet Nam situation that I would like to pass along the voice of one teen-ager who is in direct contact with the Viet Nam situation. This was taken from a letter written to his mother.

"Earlier this evening I stood and watched flashes from artillery bursts on the Viet Nam mainland about two miles away. We are actually at war. The people there seem quite willing to fire at this ship if they get the chance. I could be killed or injured at any time, yet it doesn't bother me. I think about a thing called the Serviceman's Pledge. It starts something like this: 'I am an American fighting man. I am prepared to give my life to preserve the principles that made my country free...' I firmly believe in this and I am proud that I am over here and hope that you feel the same."

Impressed? ★ ★ ★

I WAS

In a time of teen-age rioting and wild parties, I thought others might like to know there are still some who value the better things in life. The following prayer was written by a local teen-ager just before he left for overseas on July 5th to help preserve the freedom so many of us do not appreciate:

"Right now in the very midst of dawn, when the stars are still bright in the dark blue sky above, and the trickle of the sun's rays creeps through the dark horizon, God has given me strength and courage to face a new life and a new world. He has shown me why I must leave my home and country—for peace for my loved ones so they may worship God without the fear of being punished for it.

"It is the will of God, unto which I shall obey and which every man who loves freedom and peace of mind shall obey. Even if he must give his life he will know that he has fulfilled his duty to God, his country and to the ones he loves so much."

Incident Causes Doubts About Democracy

Dr. Edson Walden, a psychiatrist hired by Oakland County as Director of mental health, wanted to live here as well. After days of house-hunting, he took a home in Detroit, where someone told him the house he wanted in the neighborhood he liked.

Dr. Walden is a Negro. I wonder how he teaches his children about "democracy," "freedom," and those other lovely words we whites have parroted so long. If a man of such stature is not free to live on any street he wants, where is freedom? Ever since I saw his plight, my own freedom is ashes in my mouth. Do other whites feel as sick about it as I do?

I got the house I wanted because I was born with this funny pale skin. Great reason! Don't quote those tired writers and delinquency statistics. I am talking about a man who is willing to go on contributing to the society that keeps slapping him in the face. Would you?

Though there are rabble voices that parrot the subversive chant, "Yankee, Go Home," and later with hate the symbol and their own caricature of Uncle Sam—the nation's friend is that the United States has friends in Latin America. And these commands an earned respect in audiences that think.

Such a man is Pedro Beltran, publisher of La Prensa, Lima, Peru. His prestige is not confined to his own country, which he has served as prime minister and minister of finance. As president of the Inter American Press Association, he exercises an influence—characteristically for and through the press as an instrument of freedom.

In an address at Buenos Aires Pedro Beltran summed up the case for the free press.

With genuine good will, did he depict it as the achievement of a people steadfast in worthy purpose, deserving emulation by any land that would aspire to essential progress; and he acknowledged the generosity of the United States in extending to neighbors in need every possible help.

With cause did he admonish that Latin America must shun the trap of tricky alliances and allegiances with such apparatus as the Afro-Asia political bloc, both geographically and ideologically foreign to its progress incentives. That is not the warning of hostility, but of political and economic realism.

Pedro Beltran knows his subject. As a student of national, hemispheric and world affairs—and based on history, Peru has prestige in the contemporary world of the better reason's case for the unity of effort be espoused. As a pathfinder, clearing at the same time the underbrush where Red subversion lurks, he would chart a course clearly upward. At the peak are success and the common welfare. Downward is the course of disaster, to which the free press would lead.

Junk Yard Firm's Zoning Bid Rejected

A proposed new site for the location of a local scrap yard firm was rejected last night by the City Commission.

The commission turned down a request from Sam Allen & Sons Inc., 22 Congress, for rezoning to Manufacturing-3 of a 39-acre site on Kennett between the city's north side.

The seven-member commission voted unanimously to deny the rezoning, which had been opposed by neighbors of the site and the Pontiac School Board.

The scrap yard firm, currently in Circuit Court over operations at its present site at 22 Congress, had purchased property on Kennett between the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks and Alcott School as a prospective site for its business.

The City Commission followed a recommendation of the City Planning Commission in rejecting the rezoning.

OK RESUBDIVIDING

In other business last night, the commission received a favorable recommendation from city planners and approved the resubdividing of three lots on the southwest corner of Giddings and Northfield.

Also, a City Planning Commission recommendation was introduced to rezone property on Kennett east of Alcott School for a multiple housing project. A public hearing was set for Aug. 3.

Two other planning commission recommendations were received last night by the City Commission.

Public hearings were ordered for Aug. 17 on a request to vacate the alley parallel to Oakland between Monticello and the Pontiac Creek, and to vacate a portion of First at Highwood.

HEARING SET

A public hearing on necessity of a sanitary sewer on Bloomfield south of Luther was set for Aug. 3.

In still other action last night, the commission introduced an ordinance to rescind special parking provisions in the area bounded by Huron, Union, Seneca, Perry and Mill.

A public hearing was set for Aug. 3 on provisions which would prohibit commercial parking lots in this particular area.

MORE PARKING SPACES

On another parking issue, the commission introduced an ordinance amendment to require two (instead of one) parking spaces for each unit of any residential district multiple housing project.

Recommended by the City

Planning Commission, the hike in the number of parking spaces has been proposed primarily to combat parking problems surrounding apartment buildings and housing projects in the city.

However, if given final approval by the commission, the amended ordinance would require two parking spaces for any dwelling unit. This would apply only to new construction.

HEARING AUG. 3

A public hearing on the ordinance amendment was set for Aug. 3.

The commission accepted the deed from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harmon for a lot east of Joslyn, north of Upland. The city purchased the lot for $750 in order to gain the legal right to maintain a storm drain ditch on the property.

In similar action, a deed was accepted to property purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Compton for the Central Fire Station site.

A portion of the fire station site was purchased on land contract and that contract is now complete.

REZONING PETITION

A petition to rezone six lots in Mount Clemens Hills Subdivision west of Stirling to residential-3 was referred to the City Planning Commission.

A hearing on the construction of curb, gutter, grading and gravel on Cottage from East Boulevard to Clifford was concluded last night. The subject had been tabled last week to permit a property owner on the street to see if he could get support in opposing the street improvement.

The commission voted, despite objections from some property owners, to go ahead with the project, pointing out that the street improvement was necessary because of the elementary school on that street.

A resubmitted request by Leon Clark for a pool hall license for 424 S. Jessie was rejected for the second time last night by the commission.

Clark first entered his request last week. The commission turned it down on basis of unfavorable reports from city administrators and objections from residents of the area.

At Commission Meeting

Officials Criticize City Bus Service

Pontiac is subsidizing "a dead horse" in supporting public bus transportation, Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson declared last night.

Hudson, who each month reiterates his contention that buses in Pontiac are on their way out, said at the commission meeting that the bus situation was "really serious."

This time the District 4 commissioner was joined by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. in registering a new complaint against Pontiac Transit Corp.

Work to Finalize Medicare Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees met today to start working out a compromise on the medicare bill, and congressional leaders predict fast agreement.

The Senate added 513 amendments to the House version of the bill, which provides health care for the elderly and increases Social Security benefits. Agreement must be reached on all of these changes before it can go to the House and Senate for final approval.

to the bus firm to attempt to improve bus service and increase patronage have fallen on deaf ears.

Hudson said that Mayor Taylor and others have suggested new approaches to running bus lines in the city.

CIRCULAR ROUTE

According to Hudson, Taylor has suggested that bus lines might travel the perimeter of the city.

For example, he said a bus might begin at Baldwin and Walton, go to the Glenwood Shopping center, then to the area near General Motors Truck and Coach Division, then to somewhere near St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, then to the Miracle Mile shopping center, then to the Pontiac Mall and back to the starting point.

Hudson said this would replace the present system whereby the downtown area is the hub or core of a wheel-shaped system that has bus lines running out like spokes of a wheel.

Taylor added that the time between bus runs should also be cut down.

CITY SUBSIDY

The city subsidizes bus company losses up to $1,715 per month or nearly $20,000 a year.

The bus discussion last night was prompted by a report on the firm's operations during the month of June.

Last month Pontiac Transit Corp. had 60,358 passengers for a revenue of $16,263. During the same period last year, the buses carried 61,632 passengers and collected $14,806.

Mark Completion of Renewal Project

The City Commission last night marked the official completion of a major urban renewal development, one of the first in the city.

The commission authorized the issuance of a certificate of completion to Charles L. Langs, developer of the Pontiac Townhouse Apartments on East Pike at Douglas.

Langs built 45 cooperative apartment units on the R29 site. He officially opened the apartments last week.

In granting Langs his completion certificate, the commission also refunded his deposit of $2,475.

The townhouse units are the first multiple housing units to be complete in the urban renewal R 20 project.

Yes, We Have No Bids, Sings Out City Official

"Yes, I have no bids!"

This might have been the comment last night of City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling when he was scheduled to submit bids for the final segment of the Murphy Park trunk sewer.

According to the City Commission agenda, Neippling was to submit bids supposedly received Monday for the final leg of the sewer.

However, no bids were received. Furthermore, Neippling was not surprised.

The final link in the trunk sewer construction consists of 300 feet of ten-inch sewer pipe immediately behind St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Neippling, who said he will study the feasibility of the city doing the work with its own forces, explained the lack of bids on the basis that the remaining work was not substantial and other work is readily available to contractors.

Extension Service PR Blamed in State Denial of More Funds

Lack of adequate public relations at the top level of the State Cooperative Extension Service was cited yesterday as a factor in the organization's failure to get additional state funds this year.

Making the assertion was William L. Mainland of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' cooperative extension service committee.

Mainland, a supervisor from Milford Township, said at a meeting of the committee that the state legislature denied a requested $300,000 in new funds for the extension service because it wasn't fully informed on the organization's needs.

A total of $2.5 million was appropriated by the legislature for statewide operation of the extension service next year. This same amount was allowed for the current budget.

Conceding that the legislature has become more urban-oriented, Mainland said that legislators still are very receptive to hearing the needs of basically rural organizations such as the extension service.

As an example, he said some legislators have made field trips to explore the problems of migrant farm workers.

In other business, committee members decided to attend the Washtenaw County Fair in a group Aug. 3 to develop ideas for the Oakland County Fair Aug. 10-14.

Camp Fire Girls Get Fun, Skills in Program

Fun is spelled D-a-y C-a-m-p for Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls of the Pontiac Council.

For two weeks each summer the girls gather, four days a week, at Camp Oweki on Lake Gullick. The camp site is 120 acres of real Camp Fire territory.

Mrs. Gary Skovgard of Walled Lake looks serene in her first year as camp coordinator, although she admits her job can be pretty hectic at times.

GROUP BY AGE

The girls are divided into units according to age and each group makes its own campfire on a chosen spot.

Rain or shine, the campers meet and should a sudden shower appear, the nature building can accommodate all.

There is an adult counselor for each unit. In addition, teen-age girls serve as camp aides.

All the counselors and aides come on a voluntary basis and those counselors with small children of their own, often bring them along.

While fun is the basic ingredient here, at the same time each one of these youngsters is learning to share responsibilities along with acquiring new skills and developing their minds and bodies.

Some of the skills include learning to make brooms, baskets, place mats, hot pads and dried flowers. The girls also learn to cook over their own campfires and to assume the role of "cleaner-upper."

A typical menu at noon may include a hot dog wrapped in a refrigerator biscuit. Heaped on top would be the usual amount of catsup and mustard. SWEET ENDING

Some tossed green salad mixed right on the camp grounds supplies vitamins. To round out the meal, there's a real lip smacker called a "Somemore."

This delightful concoction begins with a well browned marshmallow snuggled up close to half a chocolate bar and the whole thing is held together with two graham crackers.

This year bus service is not provided and car pools are in order. Mothers with station wagons were put into action and the enrollment of day camp is about the same as any other year.

Unit 1 call themselves "Ten Little Indians". Most of these Blue Birds will be going into the second grade in the fall. Here they learn

Mrs. Don Campbell of Rochester shows Debbie Smith (left) and Charlyne Austin, both of Kenilworth Avenue, how to prepare

These are place mats made from grass. The two are in the "Big Oak" unit.

Rev. Thomas Joba performed the recent rites in Our Lady of Refuge Catholic Church uniting Mary Virginia Cadwalader and August Frank Shurber Jr. She is the daughter of the Edward L. Cadwaladers of Casa-Elizabeth Lake Road and the groom's parents are the senior Shurbers of Southfield. Chiffon organza and Chantilly lace fashioned the bride's bouffant gown. She carried roses, carnations and Stephanotis. Following the ceremony, a reception took place in the Dennis-Glen Amos Hall. The couple left for a northern honeymoon.

Stature Is Important

Set Your Sights High

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and miserable. The reason is I am 5 feet, 11 inches tall, and I am a girl!

Every one says I won't grow any more, but I have heard of people growing until they are 21, and if I grow any more, I will kill myself. My father is six feet, six inches, and my mother is six feet one, so what did they expect? Midgets?

Everyone has always told them they made a handsome couple, but I sure wish they had never met each other. I know it's hard to tell people not to fall in love and get married, but if they would only stop and think of their unborn children.

Sincerely yours,
"FREAK"

DEAR "FREAK": Come

on, now. Some of the most beautiful girls in the world are six feet tall, and taller—show girls, models and the girls who walk off with the basketball stars!

And when YOU choose a mate, you'll want one who's at least as tall as you, won't you? So don't blame your parents for aiming high. You'll probably follow suit.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me with this embarrassing situation. My husband is 66 years old and has been retired since 1950. We don't go out to eat very often, but when we do he has a habit of "kidding around" with the waitresses.

He can't just order his meal, eat it and leave. He has to make some personal remark to the waitress, like, "Say... what nationality are you?"

Or, "How long have you been working here?" Sooner or later he asks her if she is married. It never fails. Isn't he being rude to the waitress and inconsiderate of me?

If you have any suggestions on how to solve this problem, I would appreciate it.

"BUGS BUNNY"
DEAR BUGS: Yes, it is considered bad manners to direct personal remarks to the waitress, but if your husband is the type you aren't going to change him at age 66. Don't be embarrassed.

Some waitresses enjoy it, too. And those who don't know how to serve up an icy retort.

SEW SIMPLE

could be used to pick up almost any color. Try to get a print of some bold, exotic color and you'll get lots of compliments.

The stole can be almost any length that would look good for your height; I would say it should be approximately 2 yards long and about 18 inches wide. The edges can be completely ruffled around all four sides. This girl's stole's ruffles were a double fold about 3 inches wide and the folded edges of the ruffles were unpressed. The stole was made of double layer of fabric. Try it and let me know how you liked it.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Florence Harris, Royal Oak, Mich., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion. A slit at the back or side of a skirt will NEVER tear if you sew the straight edge from the conventional hook and eye set across the end of the seam where the slit begins. This should be sewed on the wrong side of the skirt.

I have found this works beautifully if used across the lower end of the teeth of the zippers on skirt and shorts. It will prevent the zipper from pulling out if it is strained slightly.

Dear Eunice:

I followed your instructions for making the Chinese ball buttons and they turned out fine, however, I can't seem to get them to look like balls. What am I doing wrong? Mrs. L. T. T.

Dear Mrs. L. T. T.:

After you have woven the tubing for the buttons correctly, you will have to work with them a little longer until you have shaped them into balls. This will require putting part of the tubing tighter and making part of it looser. It just takes a little time and is well worth it. Remember, when making buttonholes for these buttons, the buttonholes must be about 1/8 inch longer than usual to allow enough room for the round buttons.

If you would like instructions for making Chinese ball buttons, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with 10 cents to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press. Ask for leaflet 4, "Spaghetti Straps and Rope Belts."

MRS. THOMAS SCHWAB

Miss Crissman Weds in Her Parents' Home

The Rochester home of the Arthur Dillmans was the setting for the recent wedding reception of their granddaughter, Sharon Crissman and her bridegroom, Thomas Schwab. Rev. W. R. Schute of St. Philip's Episcopal Church performed the rites in the Rochester home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds are both Michigan State University graduates.

The bride, daughter of the Kenneth Crissmans, also of Rochester, was gowned in a white linen sheath featuring Sabrina neckline and elbow length sleeves trimmed with hand embroidered lace. Her illusion veil fell from a single organza flower.

A nosegay of white carnations, Stephanotis and ivy completed her costume.

Mrs. Saras Schwab of Quakertown, Pa. is the bridegroom's mother.

Following an east coast honeymoon, the couple will reside in Lansing.

Philip Marshall, Miss Patterson Exchange Vows

At a recent ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church, Royal Oak, Lynd a Suzanne Patterson became the bride of Philip Lee Marshall. The Rev. James E. Coombs officiated. The bride's bell-shaped gown was fashioned of white lace and featured a jeweled neckline with sequined edge. A matching sequined headpiece held her illusion veil and she carried white carnations and English ivy.

The couple's parents are Mrs. Norman John Patterson of Mt. Pleasant and Mrs. Kenneth V. Marshall of Union Lake.

Avoid Fatigue During Summer

One way for the homemaker to avoid summer heat fatigue is to disdain unneeded chores. For example, some homemakers go to the extra trouble of waxing ceramic tile walls, floors and countertops. It isn't really necessary.

Ceramic tile is a stainproof material that needs no extra care. Its "fire-in" natural beauty requires only a soft cloth and a detergent to keep it sparkling.

Plan August Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Dean of Alberta Street, Pontiac Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Maria M., to James DeLao. He is the son of Sergeant and Mrs. Ray Tatum of Detroit. Late August vows are planned.

Prolonged Honeymoon May Turn Sour

CHICAGO (U) — The honeymoon is much sweeter when short, says a wedding consultant, and short honeymoons are better for a marriage too.

"The most surprising thing is that many times a couple gets bored with each other on a long honeymoon," consultant Louis Seno said in an interview.

"The shorter the honeymoon, the better. Two weeks is the most I'd advise," he said.

Seno, a wedding consultant 20 years, said the anxiety and excitement leading to the wedding puts a couple on their best behavior.

"Then suddenly they're married. They think they know each other, but then they start spending 24 hours a day together and discover they don't."

"In a strange resort, surrounded by strangers, the discovery that Prince Charming snores or has a few minor faults can be devastating.

"The newly married couple obligates each other to constant entertainment. They see little or nothing connected with their home life."

"At home, even though it's a brand new apartment, a bride can take things in stride," Seno said.

"The man gets up and goes to work, and the wife has a chance to relax, do her daily chores and dismiss the little frills of her husband."

Seno said the most susceptible persons to a soured honeymoon are women who have lived with their parents and have made few trips.

"The more the homebody, the more they look forward to a trip — and stretch it too long," he said.

"Many women end up getting homesick. As a result impatience and misunderstanding develop."

Seno emphasized that he wouldn't think of changing the age-old honeymoon tradition.

"A honeymoon is necessary, and if possible both persons should see new, romantic places," he said. "But just don't make it for too long."

Recent vows were exchanged in the Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene by Patricia Morene Smiddy and Elwyn Richard Tatu. The Rev. Thomas C. Riddle performed the rites for the couple whose parents are the John Smiddys of Meadowlark Drive and the Leo Tatus of Kentworth Avenue. Chantilly lace accented the bride's gown of silk organza which she wore with an elbow length veil of illusion. Her flowers were white carnations and rose buds. Following a northern honeymoon, the couple will reside on East Pike Street.

Carol Sue Minnich and Floyd Earl Stephenson were married recently in the First Baptist Church. Their parents are the Mervel A. Minnichs of Lorraine Court, Mrs. Roland Stephenson of Henderson Street and the late Mr. Stephenson. With her modified sheath gown and train of white Chantilly lace over taffeta the bride wore a lace crown with illusion veil. Red Sweetheart roses centered her bouquet of white carnations.

Keep It Safe— Out-of-Doors

The backyard barbecue is one of America's favorite pastimes. Make sure yours is a safe one. Charcoal broil only out-of-doors, never indoors in an unventilated area. Charcoal briquets give off carbon monoxide, a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas which can poison those who inhale it for any length of time.

Make sure the briquets are entirely cold, and all heat dissipated before you bring them indoors to use another time.

Even though a vaccine which can prevent smallpox was developed 170 years ago, the disease is estimated by the World Health Organization to have killed 25,000 persons and afflicted 100,000 more around the world during 1964.

Now You've Heard Almost Everything

NEW YORK (AP) — If you wear bikinis or other kinds of bare midriff fashions, a navel pin may soon become as basic to your wardrobe as pearls are to the little black dress.

That was the news at the accessory show held today in conjunction with the New York Couture Group's fall fashion previews.

The "lany" pin — there are also "outsy" models for people with a reverse kind of navel construction — was introduced by a lively, otherwise bare-bellied miss with $1,550 worth of gowns in her navel.

When she was not huddled in a fur jacket, she shimmered and shook, to test the staying power of her new jewelry while dancing.

It stayed. The manufacturers explained, "It is a masterpiece of engineering, a plunger type with a spring lock and foam rubber backing."

Still, a watch for type safety chain was attached to the lady's low-slung hip-bugger pants pocket.

The model, Diane Glynn, vowed she was "quite comfortable" in her new jewelry. "I don't feel anything at all," she said.

The 18 carat gold pin set with 12 diamonds and two manmade sapphires is the size of a quarter. Less ornate ones are available at prices starting at $200.

The pins may be worn on suit lapels during cold weather. Other fashion news at the accessory show included:

- A grab bag purse that stretches to accommodate increasing wealth.
- Fabric gloves that have

House Financing Plan for Newlyweds

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: We are a young couple in our 20's, married a year and a half, and no children. We are putting money in our savings account regularly every week for the basic purpose of buying or building a home.

When we are ready to do one mortgage or the other, we will want mortgage payments — around $70 to $85 a month for 20 years. To make such payments, how much money would we need for a down payment for a $13,000 house, assuming the 20-year mortgage?

Also, how much money do you advise keeping in the bank for closing costs? Mrs. L. T. A. Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. A.: You can figure on a $77 a month mortgage payment, if you arrange a $11,000 mortgage for 20 years at 6 1/2 per cent interest.

This would suppose a down payment of $2,000 on the $13,000 house. But you must also consider the fact that there will be an additional annual cost of 3 to 4 per cent of the total price of the home required for upkeep, maintenance, property taxes, insurance, heat.

So when you think in terms of the actual monthly expense of owning this house and living in it, you must figure an additional $2 or so each month. This amount of 3 to 4 per cent of the total cost of the house is the usual estimate, based on statistics, but be sure to check your local tax rates.

You should have about $500 to $600 in the bank to cover the closing costs.

If you plan to build, you'll better anticipate higher costs than you originally set. Many a home builder finds that labor costs, building materials, and the almost inevitable alterations or additions made before the home is finished, add up to more than you planned.

If you find it necessary or desirable to increase the cost of the home, but still want to keep the mortgage payments in the $75 to $85 range, you can consider stretching the payments over 25 years instead of 20.

Dear Miss Feeley: We are planning a vacation and will take our son's 13-year-old friend with us. Can you give me an idea how to figure the boy's expenses?

We took him once before for a weekend trip where he asked for separate checks and paid for his own meals. We took care of the motel charge. Is this the best solution or is there another and more proper way? Mrs. N. S., Paw Paw, Mich.

Dear Mrs. S.: If you could afford it, the pleasantest way to handle the trip would be to pay for lodging and meals for your young guest. But if everybody was happy with the arrangement last time, there's certainly nothing wrong in repeating it. By paying for his own meals,

Plastic Bags Are Travel Necessity

Plastic bags are a travel necessity. Use the smaller ones to carry wet swimwear or a washing net quite dry. Full-length bags, like the kind that comes from the dry cleaner, are good emergency seat protectors.

They're valuable in packing, too. Clothes put in plastic bags before they go into garment bags or suitcases will come out fresh and wrinkle-free.

She Should Wait Until Rest Finish

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: When we have people in to dinner and after two or three of the guests have finished eating, my wife has a habit of removing their plates while the others are still eating.

I think this is very rude to the guests who like to eat slowly and by her doing this, she forces them to gulp their food so as not to hold up the others.

Shouldn't she wait until all have finished the course before removing the plates?

A: You are quite right. Your wife should not hurry those who like to eat leisurely by removing any plates until everyone has finished eating.

NAMES

Q: A question recently came up in connection with the listing of men's names on the agenda of an important meeting. It was my opinion that either of the following is correct:

Mr. John A. Jones, Industrial Engineer; Mr. J. A. Jones, Industrial Engineer.

Someone else said the "Mr." was not necessary, especially if the first name and initial was not used, thus: Thomas A. Jones, Industrial Engineer.

Will you please tell me which is correct, or preferred?

A: Thomas A. Jones, Industrial Engineer is preferred.

A STAFF SERGEANT

Q: I am going to be married shortly to a man who is a staff sergeant in the Air Force. I would like to know how his name should correctly appear on the invitations. Should it be Mr. John Jones or Staff Sergeant John Jones? A: His name should appear on the invitations as follows:

John Jones
Staff Sergeant,

United States Air Force

Since this will be a longer trip, it would be helpful if you estimate his total food expenses, based on a duplicate of what you are allowing for your son. This would be a realistic approach his parents would not doubt appreciate. And your guest won't be worried lest he run short.

LBJ Choices for Solicitor General, USIA Head Seen Clearing Senate With Ease

WASHINGTON (AP) — Party leaders predicted today the Senate will approve two of President Johnson's top nominees — Judge Thurgood Marshall to be solicitor general and Leonard H. Marks to direct the U.S. Information Agency.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in separate interviews they see no reason both the appointees should not be confirmed with reasonable speed.

However, Johnson's selection of Marshall, a Negro circuit judge, to succeed Archibald Cox as solicitor general, aroused some Southern opposition. Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said he believed the choice of the former general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as the government's chief trial lawyer was unwise.

CONTRIVERSY DUE?

"To make him the special pleader for the whole of the government certainly opens the matter up to controversy," Holland said.

Johnson announced the nominations Tuesday at a White House news conference. Major topics included:

VIET NAM — The President said "increased aggression from the north may require an increased American response on the ground. It is quite possible that new and serious decisions will be necessary in the near future." In response to a question on whether military reserves might be called up and draft calls increased, he said, "The government is always considering every possibility and every eventuality."

DISARMAMENT — He said the Soviet Union has agreed to the resumption of disarmament negotiations in Geneva and that the United States has suggested the 17-nation talks resume July 27.

STATE POLL TAXES

POLL TAXES — Johnson said he has asked Atty. Gen. Nichlas Katzenbach to work with House and Senate conferees in an effort to deal with state poll taxes in the voting rights bill. The measure as passed by the House would ban the use of state poll taxes in state or local elections. The Senate's version of the bill would not ban them, but would call for a quick court test on them. The President said he hopes the conferees can "agree on satisfactory language that will give us the most effective repeal provision that is obtainable and that we think can be supported in the courts."

CIVIL RIGHTS — Asked about comments by some Republican leaders who "have suggested that over the years you have changed your position on civil rights," Johnson said, "I am going to try to provide all of the leadership that I can, notwithstanding the fact that someone may point to a mistake or 100 mistakes that I made in my past."

Following announcement of Marshall's nomination, Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., applauded his record on the Circuit Court of Appeals to which he was appointed by President John F. Kennedy on Sept. 23, 1961. Marshall served under a recess appointment and was not confirmed until Sept. 11, 1962. At that time, 18 Southern Democrats voted against him. In announcing the appointment of Marshall, Johnson noted that the nominee will be taking a reduction in salary. He draws $83,000 yearly as a circuit judge and will get $28,500 as solicitor general.

SURPRISES MANY

The choice of Marks to succeed Carl T. Rowan, Negro director of the USIA, surprised many in Congress.

Marks was employed in various positions in the Federal Communications Commission, including assistant to the general counsel, and was appointed by Kennedy as one of the original incorporators of the Communications Satellite Corp.

The nominee served as attorney for the Johnson radio-television interests in Texas when Mrs. Johnson placed her holdings in trust.

Dirksen made no comment on Marks' qualifications for his new job. Mansfield said he does not know the nominee well but assumed that Johnson had found him qualified for the post. Holland said, "I never heard of him."

Atomic Energy - III

Public Fear of N-Reactors Hurts Power Program

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third in a series of dispatches telling the story of atomic energy on its 20th birthday. The report was written from Idaho Falls, Idaho, one stop on a 10,000-mile tour.)

By ROBERT COCHRAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
IDAHO FALLS, Idaho — On December 2, 1942, Warren Nyer took his post on a squash court at the University of Chicago's Stagg Field.

Nyer wasn't playing squash that evening; he was sitting on top of a crude nuclear reactor and operating the rods which would sustain the world's first nuclear chain reaction.

Nyer admits that "it perhaps wasn't the safest place to be." He should know.

Today I found him in charge of nuclear safety technology at the world's largest nuclear test facility, the National Reactor Testing Station near Idaho Falls.

Nyer also admits — no "perhaps" here — that if he had to choose between living next to a chemical plant and an atomic power station, "I'd choose the power station anytime."

SAFETY RECORD
But many of Nyer's fellow citizens want nothing whatever to do with anything even remotely connected with atomic energy, despite the fact that the nuclear industry has chalked up one of the best safety records in the country.

The public's concern has caused a few significant crimps in the burgeoning nuclear power program.

Fearful Californians caused a utility to postpone plans to build a reactor. A New York utility quietly forgot about building an atomic power station in the Bronx after a former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission was quoted as saying he wouldn't want to live next to one.

Yet residents of Dresden, Ill., who have been living next door to a working reactor for four years, have no fear. Residents of Idaho Falls display no fear of the 20-odd reactors at the testing station, even when some of the reactors are purposely exploded or, as the trade terms it, "take nuclear excursions."

WHY FEAR?
So why the great fear of reactors?

AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg puts it this way:

"To many people, I am sure, nuclear energy is the A-bomb or the H-bomb. But if one examines the facts in the matter, one would find that in about 30 years of operation of reactors, there has not been a single accident that has caused any known injury to the public outside AEC plant areas."

"And the safety record of personnel working inside AEC-licensed plants has been phenomenally good. This safety record is no accident, but is the result of a very careful analysis and control at every stage of nuclear activity."

IDAHO TESTING
Much of this analysis and control is being done at Idaho's huge testing station. Nyer explained to me: "We're trying to understand possible accidents, feed this information into design considerations and eliminate unnecessary restrictions."

"Test reactors at the station are pushed to the limits of their performance. Through these tests, scientists have found reactors are capable of withstanding more abuse than was once thought."

No commercial reactor is pushed even close to the limit.

Nyer thinks it may be possible that the AEC itself caused doubt by "unduly emphasizing the negative" aspects of safety.

NOT FIRST-CLASS

"Even though some very high-level brainpower has been concerned with the future of atomic energy and its safety," Nyer says, "we really haven't done a first-class job of transferring this information to the public."

Reactor safety is but one area of the industry's atomic energy safety program. Transporting and storing radioactive wastes—the unwanted byproducts of the nuclear fission process—are perhaps an even greater problem than reactor safety.

There isn't as much waste as there could have been, however. Scientists have developed an ingenious fuel-recovery process which converts a considerable amount of radioactive waste back into usable atomic fuel.

The country's first major advance in treating "radioactive waste," as the trade calls radioactive waste, took place at the testing station's waste calcining facility. This plant is converting radioactive waste solutions to a safer solid form having only one-tenth the volume previously stored.

MUST BE DUMPED
Still, however small in volume, the waste must be dumped somewhere. Since its radioactive half-life is about 100 years, the material must be kept entombed for that period. Big stainless steel drums buried in the Idaho desert hold much of it.

Waste transport and storage have given rise to a thriving new outgrowth industry.

Allied Maintenance, a New York firm engaged in industrial maintenance and janitorial work, has a division to handle radioactive waste on a contract basis. Other firms avidly compete for the business.

HUSTLED AWAY
Safely is a fetish with the atomic industry. Even visitors to atomic sites must carry dosimeter sticks and film badges which register radioactivity.

This maximum rate is less than a patient receives when he is exposed to X rays from a conventional hospital machine.

After the hue and cry over radiation were raised, scientists made a comparative study of radioactive discharge from the smokestacks of conventional coal-burning power plants and nuclear plants.

And according to Dr. Merrill Eisenbud of the New York University Medical Center, "electrical generating stations that derive their energy from fossil fuels (coal) discharge relatively greater quantities of radioactive substances into the atmosphere than many power plants that derive their heat from nuclear energy."

NO DISMISSAL

No one can totally dismiss the possibility of an accident in the nuclear industry — or any other industry. But Dr. Seaborg has said this:

"The probability of a serious accident is extremely low. The likelihood of a dangerous consequence should a serious accident occur is even lower. The possibilities for such improbable accidents in many other areas of our technological society are not given equivalent attention."

(NEXT: A Community of Scientists.)

FATHER MEANT IT — Dr. Ben F. Lewis of Lexington, Ky., as many fathers do every day, told his son "If you don't get those bangs cut, I'm going to get you a dog license." The son, Stephen, 15, didn't. His father did. While picking up his licenses for his dogs, Dr. Lewis got one for Stephen—describing his breed as "American Beagle" and his markings as "boy with bangs." Stephen said he'll probably get a haircut shortly.

Leads Group on Legislatures

DETROIT (AP) — Appointment of John Anderson Jr., 48, former governor of Kansas, as executive director of the newly formed Citizens Committee on State Legislatures, was announced here Tuesday.

The group, which has its executive offices in Kansas City, Mo., was formed recently to improve the public image of legislatures and build support for them over an initial five-year period.

"The vitality of state and local government in the United States is basic to our system of self-government," Anderson told newsmen.

Anderson and former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford, a trustee of the conference, agreed that state governments generally have lagged in their responsibilities.

"Many people are disturbed by the loss of balance between the federal and state governments."

Sanford emphasized that the conference was not a "states' rights" group, but was primarily concerned with states' responsibilities.

Anderson said the conference's immediate efforts would be concerned with staffing, compensation, information services, physical facilities, and organization and procedures of the legislatures.

He said the goal would be to encourage public support for the measures that need to be taken to improve the legislative process.

A $2 million budget for the first five-year period has been planned, Anderson said, with hopes that the funds will be made available by a major foundation within the next few months.

Lots of Good Ingredients in Sour Cream Dressing

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Lots of folks think nothing tastes so good on iceberg lettuce as a savory, robust dressing—

Maple 'n' Chocolate

Spark 1 pint chocolate flavored milk with 6 tablespoons maple syrup. Top each serving with scoop of vanilla ice cream. Makes 2 servings.

Thousand Island, Russian, Blue Cheese or Roquefort.

For something new in the way of dressings, here's a combination of sour cream, two kinds of semi-soft mild cheese, celery, parsley, sweet pickle and seasonings.

When this recipe came our way, we weren't sure about adding that sweet pickle; but trying the dressing with and without it, we vote for the pickle.

Knew how to remove the core from the head of iceberg? According to lettuce experts, you whack the head—corridor down—a drain-board. Then you lift or twist out the core with your fingers.

What's against using a sharp knife? Cut edges discolor.

If whacking gives you no pleasure, go ahead and use a knife! When lettuce is cored and cut just before serving, you don't have to worry about discoloration.

Orange Milk Shake

Whip just to blend ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, 2 scoops orange sherbet, 4 scoops vanilla ice cream and 1½ cups milk. Add a scoop of orange sherbet and an orange slice to each glass. Makes 2 servings.

to remove the core, be sure to rinse the lettuce. Hold the head, core side up, under cold running water. And be absolutely sure to drain it thoroughly.

Summer Salad

1 head iceberg lettuce
¼ cup commercial sour cream
¼ cup chopped parsley
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon crumbled thyme
Dash of garlic powder

Salt and white pepper
1 cup diced sharp cheddar cheese
¼ cup diced mild white cheese (such as Edam or Jack)
1¼ cups thinly sliced celery
¼ cup sliced sweet pickle
10 slices cucumber
10 half-slices tomato
Core, rinse and drain lettuce.

In a mixing bowl stir together the sour cream, parsley, lemon juice, thyme, garlic powder, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper to taste; add the cheese, celery and pickles; mix well.

Cut lettuce lengthwise into 5 wedges; arrange wedges on large serving plate in spoke fashion. Fit alternating cucumber and tomato slices between wedges; sprinkle vegetables with salt and pepper. Heap cheese mixture in center. Makes 5 servings.

Baking Soda Was Used Long Before the British Patented Baking Powder in 1837

Baking powder and baking soda are the most often used cake-baking leavenings. There's hardly a chance that one could find a home kitchen that doesn't have one or both on a handy shelf.

These popular leavenings are chemical in nature as are all food ingredients.

Baking soda — sodium bicarbonate is its chemical name — has been used to leaven batters and doughs for many generations.

Sour milk (plentiful because of lack of refrigeration) and baking soda were a familiar combination for home baking use long before 1837 when the first patent for a baking powder was granted in England.

Sodium bicarbonate, combined with a mild acid as in sour milk, yields carbon dioxide gas in tiny bubbles which expand when the dough or batter is heated, as in baking.

This action "lightens" or raises the product as it bakes; the product is then described as being leavened.

Baking powder is a combination of chemicals. All baking powders contain baking soda plus an acid which reacts with the soda to produce carbon dioxide gas.

The different types of baking powders take their familiar names from differences in their acid ingredients, and, in turn, from the way they react in batters and doughs.

• A tartrate baking powder contains, in addition to sodium bicarbonate, cream of tartar (acid potassium tartrate) and tartaric acid.

• In phosphate baking powder the acid ingredient is monocalcium phosphate.

• In "alum" baking powder it is sodium aluminum sulphate.

In addition, to keep the powders dry so they won't lose their strength, very finely powdered edible starch is a part of all baking powder formulae.

It's the same kind of starch that is mixed with packaged confectioners' sugar to keep it from caking, and with table salt to keep it free flowing.

Different types or combinations of acid ingredients in baking powders determine the rate at which this chemical action is carried out.

When a single-action baking powder is used the gas-producing reaction is rapid, and there should be no unnecessary delay in getting the pans of batter into the oven.

With double-action baking powder about 1/2 of the leavening takes place during the mixing of the dough or batter, the remaining 1/2 during baking.

Because of this two-step leavening it is even possible to prepare muffin batter with double-action baking powder in the late evening, divide the batter into the prepared muffin tins, refrigerate them overnight, and bake the muffins in a pre-heated oven for breakfast the next morning.

Prices effective thru Saturday, July 17, 1965. We reserve the right to limit quantities.

FBI Chief Says Communist Diplomats in U. S. Threat to Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most security, J. Edgar Hoover said today. "The great majority of the 800 Communist-bloc official personnel stationed in the United States," the FBI director said, "protected by the privilege of diplomatic immunity, have engaged in intelligence assignments and are a dangerous threat to the security of the United States."

In a fiscal year-end report pointing with pride to FBI accomplishments, Hoover said members of the American Communist party "continued to constitute a major disruptive influence on the national scene" during the year.

He added: "Concentrating particularly on youth, Communists launched widespread propaganda campaigns designed to enlist support for a determined and vicious attack on American foreign policies and to foment confusion and create disorder in regard to the nation's efforts to resolve the racial situation."

PICKETS NOT RED

Hoover echoed the opinion of his superior, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, in emphasizing that racial and student demonstrations that went on throughout the year were neither instigated nor controlled by Communists.

However, he said: "Communists used the opportunities presented to infiltrate many of the demonstrations and exploit them to their benefit in line with their own objectives."

He said Communists in this country today are confident that they will increase their numbers and influence on the national scene in the coming year.

The FBI director reported a number of record-breaking statistics piled up by his investigators over the fiscal year that ended June 30:

—Fines, savings and recoveries totaled more than $235 million, representing, he said, a return of $1.46 for every FBI dollar appropriated.

—Convictions in FBI cases exceeded 13,000, the highest total for any peacetime year, and convictions were recorded against 96.4 per cent of all persons brought to trial in FBI cases.

—20,447 stolen motor vehicles were recovered.

—More than 3,300 violators of the Fugitive Felon Act were located—including 18 who were among the FBI's "most wanted fugitives."

Flood Control Grant Nixed by Grandville

GRANDVILLE (AP) — A federal grant of $1,373,000 intended for flood control of the Grand River was rejected Tuesday by the Grandville City Council.

City Manager Bill Campbell said the city would be required to pay $54,000 and an additional $11,000 per year in addition to the federal funds.

It's Bargain Day at Buffalo Bank

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old steelworker who went to the bank for a $3,000 loan was amazed when the bank gave it to him as a gift.

Officials of the Marine Trust Co. of Western New York handed Henry A. Kawa of suburban Orchard Park ten $100 bills Tuesday and marked his loan paid in full.

A bank spokesman said that last month the bank noticed it had granted $50,000 loans and decided to make a gift of a loan sought by its 708,000th customer. Kawa was No. 700,000.

Fewer than 11 per cent of the nation's farms had electric service in 1964. Today about 90.1 per cent of the 1.4 million farms have electricity.

Junior Editors Quiz on SAILBOATS

QUESTION: How can sailboats sail into the wind?
ANSWER: This question often puzzles persons unacquainted with sailing. Since the wind blows boats along, how can it blow them against itself?

No boat can sail directly into the wind. In the picture, Jerry and Jack are sailing their pram-type sailboats across the harbor toward a dock which is close to the lighthouse.

Yet the wind is coming from the direction of the lighthouse. The white lines show the paths the boys will take to get to the dock. If their boats can't sail directly into the wind, they can sail into it at about a 45-degree angle from where it's coming.

So they angle up in one direction, then turn the boat's bow around and angle up in another. Following these zig-zag paths (called beating to windward) both boys will end up at the lighthouse dock.

The diagrams show how they can angle into the wind. (1) show air currents flowing over an airplane wing. Air currents passing over the curving top create a lifting up force.

In (2) you see the same lifting force working in front of a boat's curving sail. In (3) you see how the boat's keel or centerboard prevents it from being pushed sideways. Part of the wind's force striking the inside of the sail also helps to shove it ahead.

FOR YOU TO DO: Boating has become such a popular sport that there is a chance you may see sailboats in action sometime this summer. Figure out where the wind is coming from and then notice the zig-zag courses of those boats sailing into it, called sailing to windward.

Waterford Home Damaged by Fire

An estimated $12,000 fire, apparently caused by an electrical appliance, struck the Donald Bennett residence, 2515 Winkelman, Waterford Township, late yesterday morning.

Township firemen said damage included $2,000 to the building and $4,000 to contents. The fire was reported by a neighbor.

No one was home at the time, according to firemen, who quenched the blaze in approximately 30 minutes.

What's Worse...Viet Cong or Viet Sauce?

By HAL BOYLE
DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:

There are four words here that still apprehension in the average American.

Two are "Viet Cong." The other two are "Nuoc Mam."

There are some words here that they'd rather face the Viet Cong for a week than spend an hour in the presence of Nuoc Mam.

PRIZED ITEM
Nuoc Mam isn't the name of an enemy organization. Aside from rice, it is the most highly prized item in the Vietnamese diet.

A pungent sauce eaten at most meals, Nuoc Mam is made by pressing alternate layers of fish and salt that have been left standing for a period of weeks or months. What drips through, friends, is an oily, odoriferous mixture that assaults the nose.

There are three squeezings of Nuoc Mam, but the first squeezing is most highly prized. When help the man who gets the third.

The Vietnamese douses it liberally on rice, meat, fish, poultry or most vegetables. After considerable urging, and some trepidation, I sampled it at a Vietnamese dinner recently and wound up eating a saucer of it.

ACQUIRED TASTE

It is quite flavorful, but like olives or raw oysters, it's an acquired taste. You don't notice the odor yourself. But after I returned to the press camp, my friends insisted I stand downwind from them for the rest of the evening.

Most Vietnamese eat fairly well. They consume only about

Research Project Set on Ramp Sign Value

LANSING (AP) — The Highway Department, trying to halt a rash of accidents at freeway entrance and exit ramps, plans a research project on how helpful ramp signs are in preventing confusion. Max N. Clyde, the department's traffic operations engineer, said Tuesday department officials are baffled by the number of freeway accidents this year resulting from drivers entering the wrong ramps and in some instances winding up going the wrong direction on high-speed freeways.

Drowns in Lake Huron

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont. (AP) — David Gardner, 18, of Detroit drowned in Lake Huron Tuesday when he slipped from a submerged wharf into deep water.

two-thirds as much daily as Americans, but they are only about two-thirds as large.

Their diet is somewhat deficient in proteins and vitamins, particularly among the poorer classes. They rarely get beef, and when they do, it often comes from an elderly water buffalo who spent the best years of his life stolidly plowing the paddies.

Incidentally, you may have heard much of the ability of Oriental soldiers to perform miracle feats of military endurance while fueled by only a handful or two of plain boiled rice.

LARGELY MYTH

To Maj. Richard Allen Jr., Miami, Fla., a veteran U.S. Army Special Forces officer, this is largely myth.

"There is no doubt they can do a lot on little," he said. "But they don't get by on just rice and salt."

"Only about 55 per cent of their diet is rice. The remainder consists of about 15 per cent fish, poultry or meat, and 30 per cent vegetables, such as potatoes, cabbage, turnips, cucumbers, peas and beans."

Some troops, like some people at home, aren't quite sure just why we are over here. It has been explained, officially, of course, again and again that Americans are here at the invitation of the South Vietnamese government to help the people in their quest for political freedom from the North.

MOST ELOQUENT

But the most eloquent statement of our purpose here was made by a young U.S. Army lieutenant.

"What we are doing here is nation building," he said. "Until the country is raised to a 20th century level, this war won't be over. It may take 10 or 15 years."

"They're growing very fast economically and technologically. But their thinking isn't growing that fast. That's why it will take so long."

West Still Missing;

$500 Reward Offered

DETROIT (UPI) — A bondsman who arranged $10,000 bail for former State Rep. Daniel W. West, Detroit, yesterday offered $500 reward for "any information leading to the apprehension" of the man charged with 117 counts of income tax evasion.

Federal Court Judge Thaddeus M. Machrowicz ordered West's arrest a week ago when he failed to show up for his federal court trial.

Vary What's Cooked on Grill

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Isn't it about time for you to branch out in your grill cooking? Steaks are pretty expensive these days and you can't live on hot dogs and hamburgers forever.

Chicken continues to be an inexpensive source of protein for the main course. Bake quarters in foil with a flavoring of lemon, oregano and mushroom soup.

Baked Herb Chicken in Foil
1 ready-to-cook, broiler-fryer, cut in quarters
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon dried sweet basil leaves, crushed
1/4 teaspoon dried oregano leaves, crushed
1 1/2 ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted

Wash and dry chicken quarters; place each quarter on a piece of heavy duty foil 18x14 inches. Mix lemon peel, lemon juice and herbs with undiluted mushroom soup. Spoon over the chicken.

Fold foil snugly over chicken quarters, sealing well so steam will not escape. Bake at 400 degrees, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 hours or place on grill over hot coals.

Cook about 1 hour or until tender. Open and serve in foil.

Lamb is an interesting meat to cook on the outdoor grill. Thick rib chops can be skewered and broiled until they're brown on the outside and faintly pink inside.

For the more budget minded, we suggest Lamb and Pickle Kebabs. These are made with ground lamb.

Lamb and Pickle Kebabs
1 egg
1/4 cup milk
1 teaspoon instant onion flakes
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground sage
1/4 cup soft bread crumbs, loosely packed
2 pounds ground lamb
8 sweet gherkins, halved cross-wise

Pickle sauce
4 small summer squash, cut in 1/2-inch slices
2 medium green peppers, cut in squares
2 medium "thick skinned" lemons, cut each into 4 slices
Slightly beat egg in bowl; stir in milk and seasonings. Add bread crumbs; allow to soften.

Mix in lamb to form lamb balls, shape a scant 1/4 cup of meat mixture around each pickle half. Chill several hours. Place lamb balls on skewers.

Grill 4 to 5 inches from source of heat, 8 to 10 minutes on each side, brushing frequently with Pickle Sauce.

Place vegetables and lemon slices on skewers. Grill 5 minutes on each side, brushing frequently with sauce.

To prepare Pickle Sauce:
(Makes about 1 cup) Mix together 1/2 cup sweet pickle liquid, 1/4 cup water, 1/4 cup salad oil, 1 tablespoon brown sugar and 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt.

Finally, for that gourmet cook-out or Friday party, barbecue rock lobster tails. Serve with a sauce.

Rock Lobster Tails
Thaw South African rock lobster tails. Cut underside membrane around edge and remove. Grasp tail in both hands and bend backward toward shell to crack. This will prevent curling. Insert skewers to keep tail flat.

When fire is hot, grill tails for 5 minutes, flesh side down toward heat. Turn, spread flesh with sauce as desired. Grill flesh side up until meat has lost its transparency and is opaque.

This will take from 3 to 5 minutes, depending on heat of the fire and size of the rock lobster tails.

Requefort Sauce
1 1/2 cups oil
1/4 cup (3 oz.) crumbled Requefort cheese
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon paprika

Put all ingredients into jar with tight-fitting lid. Shake until well blended. Brush sauce on rock lobster tails several times during cooking. Serve additional sauce as a dip. Yield: 2 1/2 cups.

Curry Butter
2 cups melted butter or margarine

Dried Beef and Broccoli
Deep green broccoli, cooked only till just tender, can be the entree when served on toasted bun and topped with creamed dried beef. Make your favorite white sauce and add about a fourth cup of shredded dried beef.

Stack Fruit, Tomatoes for Tower Salad
Pineapple tower salads show many colorful layers. Drain 1 2 teaspoons curry powder
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

Combine all ingredients and stir until well blended. Brush curry butter on rock lobster tails several times during cooking. Serve additional sauce as a dip. Yield: 2 cups.

Stack Fruit, Tomatoes for Tower Salad

Pineapple tower salads show many colorful layers. Drain 1 (1-pound 4 1/2-ounce) can pineapple slices, cut 10 tomato slices to match pineapple. Stack 2 pineapple and 2 tomato slices per salad with cottage cheese, using total of 1 pint cheese. This is superb with thousand island dressing mixed with crab, or use French dressing.

This Dip Has Base

Here's a tongue tingling chip dip that contributes both good taste and a colorful red, green and white concoction.
Confetti Chip Dip
3 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon butter
1/2 lb. cream cheese
1 small onion, chopped

That Is Cooked

1 sweet red pepper, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
Few drops Tabasco sauce
Seasoning to taste
Combine beaten eggs, sugar, vinegar. Cook over hot water stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add butter. Add cream cheese. Beat until smooth. Add sauce and finely chopped onion and peppers.

2 New Satellites to Detect Nuclear Blasts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A pair of Sentry satellites are to be launched here early Thursday to detect nuclear bomb explosions in space.

The Air Force announced today that the twin sentinels will be sent into high-flying orbits by an Atlas-Agena rocket. Riding along will be a third satellite, a radiation in the Van Allen Belt.

The nuclear detection satellites will join four others launched in pairs in 1963 and 1964.

The earlier satellites have delicate sensors which peer more than 200 million miles into space to spot a clandestine nuclear detonation. The new pair also will carry optical instruments capable of detecting a nuclear blast anywhere in the atmosphere or on the earth's surface.

LIGHTNING FLASHES

The optical instruments were designed to differentiate the initial blast of a bomb from lightning flashes, which are oc-curing at the rate of 80 to 100 a second in the atmosphere.

Two years ago, the United States and the Soviet Union were among more than 100 nations which signed the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Red China, which recently exploded her first nuclear device above ground, did not sign.

The satellites were developed under a project named Vela — night watch — to help police the treaty. A nation could secretly fire a nuclear bomb by rocketing it deep into space. A second rocket would be needed to carry diagnostic gear.

A bomb detonated in space would not produce a fireball or mushroom cloud because there are no atmospheric elements with which to interact. So the Vela satellites have sensors to measure X rays, gamma rays and neutrons, the products of a nuclear burst.

The newest Sentry satellites are to be positioned eventually on opposite sides of the earth in circular orbits 55,000 miles up.

Dearborn Heights City Hall Picketed

DEARBORN HEIGHTS (UPI) — Wives and children of Dearborn Heights policemen picketed City Hall prior to a council meeting yesterday in a public display of their dissatisfaction with what they claim are low pay and fringe benefits.

The Dearborn Heights Police-men's Association has requested a 7 per cent pay boost for officers.

Similar unrest has been reported in the southeastern Michigan communities of Highland Park, Livonia and Warren.

New Antirioting Law Proposed

DETROIT (UPI) — Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen yesterday proposed a state law, to be modeled on a New Hampshire law, providing stiff fines and jail sentences for persons refusing to cooperate with police during a riot.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Carl M. Weldman suggested such a law after a recent wave of attacks on police by teen-agers and others seeking to foil arrests.

Olsen said he would send a draft of his proposal to the state legislature for possible action during the fall session.

He also said he would ask Gov. George Romney to support the measure.

As a precaution against legislative inaction, Olsen said he planned to send copies of his proposal to Wayne County municipalities and the prosecuting attorneys of Macomb, Monroe, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties for adoption by local ordinance if the legislature rejects the measure.

The New Hampshire law, on which Olsen said his proposal would be based, provides:

- Up to $500 in fines and one year in prison for persons who disobey police orders to withdraw from the scene of mob action.
- Up to $50 in fines and three months in prison for failure to go to the aid of police when requested.
- Up to $1,000 in fines and three years in prison for participation in mob action in which persons or property are injured.

Cigarette Warning Bill Goes to LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has completed passage of a bill requiring health warnings on every pack of cigarettes. The Federal Trade Commission, however, is barred from ordering the tobacco industry to include such a warning with cigarette ads.

The bill cleared the House Tuesday 285 to 103 and was sent to the White House. The Senate had approved the measure July 6.

McNamara Claims $4.6 Billion in Cost-Cutting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara claimed today his cost reduction program had saved $4.6 billion in the last fiscal year — more than double the $2.1 billion saving he forecast a year ago.

McNamara said the program is going so well that savings of $6.1 billion a year by fiscal 1969 and each year after that "have been set as our new long-range goal."

This is a boost of $1.5 billion a year over the previous objective and is the third successive annual increase in the long-range goal.

"The results of the Defense Department cost reduction program, now in its fourth year of operation, have far surpassed our most optimistic expectations at the time of its launching in 1962," the defense secretary said.

NO ADVERSE EFFECT

He stressed that "these savings are being accomplished without any adverse effect on our military strength and combat readiness." The 1965 fiscal year he was talking about ended June 30.

McNamara's third annual progress report on his cost reduction program was prepared for a news conference at which he planned to illustrate the savings with charts, graphs and other visual aids.

Appended to copies of the report, titled a "Memorandum for the President," was a note signed by President Johnson who said:

"These reports confirm my belief that we can obtain a dollar's worth of defense for every dollar spent, and that we can do so without sacrificing the human values involved."

THREE PARTS

McNamara said the program has three parts:

1. "Buying only what we need to achieve balanced readiness."

2. "Buying at the lowest sound price."

3. "Reducing operating costs through termination of unnecessary operations, standardization and consolidation."

Among other things, McNamara said that his controversial base-closing program realized $483 million in savings in the 1965 fiscal year.

He estimated that actions taken to close or reduce 703 unneeded military installations would result in annual operating savings of $1,034,000,000.

McNamara said the Defense Department comptroller has audited the cost reduction program closely and "the savings I am reporting to you have been fully substantiated." Some critics have said his savings estimates are overly optimistic.

William Henry Harrison was the only son of a signer of the Declaration of Independence to become president.

State Legislators Guests of Guard

GRAYLING (AP)—Thirty or more Michigan state legislators were scheduled to spend today as guests of the National Guard at Camp Grayling.

Tours were arranged for the legislators at the camp in northwestern Lower Michigan.

The guard announced that Gov. George Romney will arrive at the camp Sunday for breakfast and a meeting with a unit of guardsmen from Alma. Romney will have lunch the same day with a unit from Grand Haven, the Guard said.

Whistled Tune Tells a Tale

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The simple act of whistling, says Dr. James Jordan of Emory University, has many psychological implications.

"Whistling 'Dixie' is an organized, orderly activity, consciously directed," he says. "And when someone whistles 'I Feel Like a Motherless Child' or 'Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen,' it's a pretty good sign that he's down and out."

School Science Lab Blast Hospitalizes 11

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Eleven students were hospitalized, two in critical condition, after a chemical explosion shattered windows of glass through a science laboratory at Bakersfield College.

"There was a terrific noise and suddenly the room was full of fog and chemicals," said the chemistry teacher, Dr. Robert Brailsford. "I couldn't see anything for a couple of minutes."

Brailsford said the explosion which ripped through a summer school class at the junior college

Tuesday apparently was touched off unintentionally by a youth mixing noncompatible chemicals not included in the class experiment.

All 34 students were taken to the hospital, but 13 were released after treatment for cuts or chemical inhalation.

"GOD FORGIVE ME"

Brailsford said the youth, William J. Fox, 19, of Ridgecrest, realized what he had done and gasped "God forgive me" before he collapsed.

Spokesmen at Bakersfield Memorial Hospital said Fox was in critical condition with burns and internal cuts from flying glass fragments. He lost his left hand.

At Mercy Hospital, Joseph Hibbs of China Lake also was in critical condition. He was under treatment in the hospital's intensive care unit.

"Fox was mixing solid chemicals such as could be found in any laboratory," Brailsford said. "Apparently he hit on just the wrong combination."

Clerk Is Killed by Acid Blast

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A gallon jug of acid used for cleaning exploded in a wing of the state capitol Tuesday, killing a woman clerk and slightly injuring a capitol policeman.

Fatally injured when the glass jug of hydrofluoric acid exploded in a hallway was Cora Long, 56, of Harrisburg. Capitol police Cpl. John Meseric, 61, talking with Mrs. Long when the acid exploded, suffered minor burns.

French Show N-Power

PARIS (AP) — France showed off part of her budding atomic air force today as a highlight of the annual Bastille Day parade.

Thousands jammed the Champs Elysees to see a parade featuring armored strike power and parading units of all France's armed forces.

President Charles de Gaulle led off the parade on a trip from the Arc de Triomphe to his reviewing stand near the Place de la Concorde.

Tall and erect, he saluted the applauding crowd as he stood in an open car. As usual, he wore his brigadier general's uniform.

Atomic Bombers

Flying in tight and precise formation, 12 Mirage IV bombers, each of which packs a 60-kiloton punch, roared in almost at rooftop level, passing over the reviewing stand where de Gaulle stood.

Lumbering after them were huge Boeing K135 tanker planes, the mother ships for the twin-jet Mirage bombers.

While tanks and armored cars rumbled down the broad avenue, jet fighters whooshed by overhead.

It was the first time the Mirage IV's — part of de Gaulle's nuclear "force de frappe" — participated in the Bastille Day observance. The French president seemed to be reminding everyone that France has an atomic capability.

The Federal excise tax of 10 per cent on new-car purchases averages $225 per vehicle.

New Ideas for Mandarin Oranges

REFRESHING THIRST-QUENCHERS—(From the top, clockwise) Mandarin Tea Punch, Mandarin Ice Cubes, Mandarin Ice Cream Soda, Mandarin Grape Delight, Mandarin Champagne Cocktail and a Mandarin Wine Cooler. Plump little Mandarin orange sections add color and delicate flavor to a wide variety of cooling drinks.

On these warm summer days, everyone craves cool, cool refreshment.

Instead of just opening a bottle of soda pop, we suggest that you surprise your family or guests by serving unusual drinks. We know that the prettiest—and tastiest—drinks are made with Japanese Mandarin oranges.

A specialty of Japan, these little segments are ready to use right out of the can. Here are some suggestions for summer thirst quenchers.

Mandarin Tea Punch is a delightful way to take care of a large group. The following recipe will insure you of many compliments.

Mandarin Tea Punch
2 11-ounce cans Mandarin oranges
2 large bunches fresh mint
2 quarts fresh, cold water
1/2 cup loose tea or 15 teabags
1/4 cup sugar
1 4-ounce can pineapple juice
Tray of Mandarin ice cubes
Drain Mandarin oranges. Reserve juice and chill orange segments.

Cut mint into small pieces and place in large saucepan. Mash with wooden spoon. Add cold water and bring to a full boil. Remove from heat and immediately add tea. Brew uncovered four minutes.

Add sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Stir and strain into a large punch bowl. Add juice from Mandarin oranges and pineapple juice. Cool to room temperature.

When ready to serve, add Mandarin orange ice cubes, segments in Mandarin orange segments, garnish with sprigs of fresh mint.

Mandarin Ice Cubes add flavor and color to any fruit drink. Simply add segments from one can of Mandarin oranges to ice cube tray before the ice is completely formed, then freeze firm. Float them in lemonade or raspberry soda.

Mandarin Ice Cream Soda is a really delectable treat for the young and the young-in-heart. Whip up a foamy ice cream soda with ginger ale, vanilla ice cream and top with luscious Mandarin orange segments.

Mandarin Grape Delight is what it sounds like—a delightful blending of Mandarin orange syrup and segments to grape juice. Pass a plate of chilled oranges, so more may be added to the drink.

Mandarin Champagne Cocktail becomes a little offbeat by the addition of orange sections instead of the usual dash of bitters.

Mandarin Wine Cooler is a refreshing (all summer drink made with chilled Sauterne and plump golden Mandarin orange segments.

Note the versatility of these little seedless, rindless oranges. Their unique flavor will enhance all drinks; and they look so festive and colorful that they'll be a boon to party planners.

To Keep Sandwiches

Canapes and tea sandwiches for guests may be made early in the day. They'll stay fresh in the refrigerator between layers of damp paper towels with an overlap of plastic wrap to prevent drying out. Reads for fancy small sandwiches spread more easily if rolled with a rolling pin between layers of wax paper or paper towels.

Making lemonade? Count on four lemons yielding about three-quarters cup of juice.

Psychology Is Secret Weapon With Kids

ANN ARBOR—If Johnny refuses to eat "new" foods, mothers might try these hints from dietitians at The University of Michigan Medical Center:

• First offer the new food during a meal where favorite foods are also being served.

• Give the child a very small portion.

• Do not draw undue attention to the new food.

• If he doesn't eat it the first time, serve it again a few days later.

The U-M food specialist says you should wait until the child has become acquainted with a new food before you start increasing the size of his portion.

And if there is any unpleasantness associated with the new food, put off serving it again until the child has had time to forget.

Marinade Gives Lamb Fine Flavor

The marinade on this lamb helps to make delicious natural gravy.

Mrs. Shahn's Roast Lamb
Leg of spring lamb (6 to 7 pounds), trimmed

1/2 cup olive oil
2 teaspoons paprika
1 teaspoon dried crushed basil

1 clove garlic, crushed
With a small sharp knife make 4 to 6 slits through the fat and fell over the top of the lamb. In a small bowl mix together the remaining ingredients.

Place lamb in a shallow roasting pan; spread marinade over the entire surface of meat spooning some into the slits. Allow to stand for 1 to 6 hours.

When ready to roast, lift meat out of the pan; insert a rack and replace lamb on it. Roast in a moderate (350 degrees) oven to degree of doneness desired—100 degrees on a meat thermometer for rare and 175 to 190 degrees for well-done.

Remove lamb to platter; allow to rest for 20 minutes before carving. Skin fat from drippings and serve drippings piping hot as gravy over lamb as it is sliced.

Scientists Breed Hybrid Poultry

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI)—In years to come, Americans may be eating a new meat called "quailken."

The "quailken" is a crossbreeding of American chickens and tiny Japanese quail, developed after long research by poultry geneticists at the University of California campus here.

The hybrids are bigger than the quail, which have been domesticated in Japan for centuries, but smaller than chickens, according to Dr. Hans Ahlman.

Serve Pretzels and Ice Cream

Calling all teenagers when it's not really a party but just a meeting. "What we want is something that's filling and awful good," to quote them literally.

From a restaurant supplier buy a dozen oversize banana split containers. They are surprisingly reasonable in price and will answer for girls and boys, and grown-up servings all the year 'round.

Now, order all flavors of ice cream scooped into big balls. Place in an insulated ice bucket. In center of the table, fill generous size bowls with chocolate syrup, butterscotch sauce, pineapple topping, peanuts, marshmallow whip, bright red cherries and pretzel chunks.

Center each bowl on a big plate to catch the drip. Place these around the ice cream container. Now, invite your starving guests to serve themselves.

Of course you know that in the Amish Country, which is the heart of the pretzel industry, the Amish always serve ice cream with pretzels. So, in addition fill a great big bowl overflowing with pretzels to eat with the triple dips of ice cream.

Teenagers already appreciate the salty, crunchy pretzels with their ice cream and they insist it's "the must" as a combination.

Since there's no way of being sure that even oversize triple dips will fill up these guests, make pretzel sandwiches, piling Neufchatel cheese between them.

Barbecuing Is Excellent For Burgers, Too

Barbecues and patio picnics are almost synonymous. Here is a way to turn ordinary ground beef into a barbecue delight for your next patio party for family and friends.

These barbecue burgers can be prepared in your kitchen and then served outside. Add potato chips, pickles and a beverage, and you have a complete meal.

A note of warning: make enough for second helpings. You'll find you will need them.

Barbecue Burgers

1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon fat
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 8-ounce can (1 cup) seasoned tomato sauce
1/4 cup catsup
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

4 hamburger buns, split and toasted

Brown ground beef slowly in hot fat. Add chopped onion, chopped celery and chopped green pepper; cook until tender but not brown. Stir in tomato sauce, catsup, vinegar, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Simmer 5 to 10 minutes or until mixture is thick. Serve in toasted hamburger buns. Yield: 4 servings.

Cranberry Drinks Have Minimum of Calories

Drink on... oh, waiters of that cool summer drink... drink on in peace, for low calorie cranberry juice has come to the rescue and now you can enjoy relaxing liquid refreshments without that twinge of guilt for the waistline.

Low calorie cranberry juice is excellent in flavor, bright, ruby-red in color and only 18 calories in a six-ounce serving. And, more than the minimum daily requirement of vitamin C is to be found in a six-ounce serving! How could you do better?

Keep Them Warm

Give freshly baked rolls and breads the special service they deserve. Immediately after removing breads from the oven, place them in a napkin-lined basket or heated serving bowl—not only to keep them temptingly warm, but to add to their attractiveness, as well.

As good cooks will tell you, egg whites can hardly be overbeaten when they are going to be used in a meringue.

Trading Still Dull

Stock Mart Picks Up Strength

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market picked up some strength early Wednesday afternoon but trading remained dull. Stocks were mixed at the start and gradually moved higher on balance, although there was nothing much in the way of group leadership.

Concern over the U. S. role in Viet Nam—underlined by President Johnson's news conference Tuesday—remained as a factor which caused considerable caution. But caution over Viet Nam has continued for some time and there was nothing new and drastic to cause a sell-off. Airlines recovered from losses taken Tuesday. The trend was a little higher among chemicals, oil equipment, electronics, steel and aerospace issues.

OILS LOWER

Oils were lower and utilities, too, were down a bit. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3.81 323.8 with industrials up 3.81 and utilities up 4.4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.85 at 879.82.

An irregularly higher trend prevailed on the American Stock Exchange. New Process, Molybdenum and Computer Sciences rose more than a point each.

Expect Insurers to Seek Veto

Bill Covers Victims of Uninsured Drivers

LANSING (AP) — Representatives of Michigan auto insurance companies were expected to urge Gov. George Romney today to veto the accident claims fund bill which would protect innocent victims of uninsured motorists.

The insurance industry fears that if the fund runs into financial trouble, the legislature may levy an assessment on auto insurance companies rather than boosting the fee to drivers. The bill would finance the fund with a $25 fee on each uninsured vehicle and a $1 fee for all others. It would pay benefits of up to $10,000 and $20,000 an accident and $5,000 for property damage.

Romney was scheduled to meet with the insurance spokesmen, legislative advocates of the bill, Secretary of State James E. Tate, Gen. Frank Kelley and Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayers.

PROS AND CONS

Aides said the session was designed to present pros and cons to the governor before he decided whether to sign or veto the bill.

The insurance spokesmen have pointed out that in two of three other states which have set up such funds, two—New Jersey and Maryland—have run into financial difficulty.

He said Ontario's experience was that most motorists bought commercial insurance protection rather than pay the extra fee and about 97 percent of Ontario's four million drivers are insured.

He said Michigan's proposed fund is patterned after the Ontario program which has remained solvent with a $20 fee for uninsured vehicles.

Summer's Business Gets a New Look

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK — The summer-time pace of business has a new look this year. If there's no burst of speed, there's little of the customary foot-dragging either.

DAWSON

Steel output is finally turning down. But the mills are still joggling along at a 14 per cent faster rate than a year ago. Order backlogs will keep most mills busy all summer.

Factory jobs are at the highest level since the World War II peak of all-out activity. There will be some plantwide closings for vacations as usual. But many factories are striving to keep going as long as possible because of a big backlog of orders.

Auto production is due to drop from its record pace as the plants close for the customary changeovers to new models. But the industry is stretching its time schedule this summer. A few plants are down now. Many will close for a few days in August. By then the earlier closers will be in full swing again.

General prosperity is the main cause for this summer's sprightlier pace. There also is the momentum set up by a record first half-year — an extraordinary burst in the last three months, a better than expected performance in the next three.

But there are special reasons why some of the top industries are going stronger this summer than usual.

Steel users will be taking shipments through most of the summer than last. August inventory orderings could pick up in August. If a settlement is reached before then, living off inventories will become a way of life for many steel users.

But steel producers say even this may prove a little too pat. Many steel consumers have had to use up more of their supplies than they anticipated because their own business has been so good. Just how big will be the pile of inventories to liquidate is uncertain.

Auto production time schedules may also be tied to strikes — the real one in that industry last fall, and the possible one in steel. Some auto firms, which are producing them later this summer than last, are producing cars, too, may be building up stocks of old models in dealers' hands as a hedge against possible slowdowns in producing the new models if a steel strike nipped off their supplies.

But for business as a whole the big difference this summer is increased demand for its products or services. More Americans have jobs than ever before. Many have more money to spend than ever before.

Even the lazy days of summer haven't diminished the demand for goods and services except for a business its usual summer lull.

Successful Investing

BY ROGER E. SPEAR
Q) "My broker says that a recent secondary distribution has hurt the price of one of my stocks. I'm not sure what he means. Could you explain?"

G. W.

A) Secondary distributions simply represent selling of large blocks of stock to the public by individual or institutional accounts. Usually, these offerings involve holdings too big to be digested by the stock market at one time without pushing the price down substantially. To prevent this, secondaries are sold directly to clients by one or more brokerage firms.

Normally, the offerings are made at a fixed price which is close to the current market level of the shares. Because they sometimes represent distribution by "inside" interests, secondaries are often regarded unfavorably and for a time, at least, may depress the price of a stock. In general, I would adopt a cautious attitude toward most situations in which I knew a secondary was coming.

Pontiac Sales Tops for Period

Pontiac Motor Division today reported that its sales during the first 10 days in July were the highest for the period in the history of the company.

E. R. Pettengill, Pontiac sales manager, said sales for the period totaled 20,510 units—a 19 per cent increase over sales in the same period a year ago.

"Our new cars are going along at an outstanding rate and there is every reason to believe July will be another record month for Pontiac," Pettengill said.

He said the previous record for the July 1-10 sales period was 17,283 cars set last year.

Colleges Have Last-Minute Vacancies

By LESLIE J. NABON, Ed. D.

Despite all the rush for college admissions, there will be many last-minute vacancies.

The placement of millions of high school graduates in appropriate colleges and universities is not a simple matter. To assure at least one acceptance, a student will file three or more applications.

Therefore, colleges often grant acceptance to twice as many students as appear on registration day. The freshman class thus is seldom precisely the desired size.

In July and August, as the processes grind to a halt, many colleges find themselves with room for additional students. Sometimes these vacancies are filled from a list of provisional candidates maintained by the college.

The budge in college enrollment has been so well-publicized that a student who has received two or three rejections might be inclined to stop trying.

However, college admissions officers are anxious to accommodate every student possible; so if you are still looking for a college get on the telephone or make written inquiries for last-minute openings.

You still have time to write to the organizations which have been set up to put students in touch with colleges that have openings. They charge a fee of $10 to $15, which should be sent with your application and records. They are:

Association of College Admissions Counselors, 2300 Sherman Road, Northbrook, Ill. 60062; College Admissions Center, 610 Church St., Evanston, Ill. 60201; College Admissions Assistance Center, 41 East 85th St., New York, N.Y. 10021; Catholic College Admissions Center, 500 Salisbury St., Worcester, Mass. 01090.

Don't overlook junior colleges. They offer, without loss of credit, courses paralleling the first two years of university work for students who intend to transfer to four-year schools.

A junior college will give you a chance to improve your record and to demonstrate your ability to do quality college work.

A year or two at a junior college can make you more welcome at a four-year college — sometimes at a university which originally turned you down.

For information about the junior colleges write to: American Association of Junior Colleges, 1777 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

PERSISTENT KNOCKER
College admissions officers who have some leeway in administering their entrance requirements often are partial to the persistent knocker. The student with a sincere desire to learn should not give up easily in his search for college admission.

You can write to Prof. Nasson in care of the Pontiac Press.

The Jacobys discuss a hand for a second time.

Oswald: "You are just starting out as a columnist. Remember this hand? In the actual play South won the club lead in his hand, drew trumps with three leads to stop in dummy, led a spade and rose with the king. West took his air right away whereupon South squeezed him in the black suits and made his slam."

JACOBY

Jim: "I think we pointed out that West could have broken up the squeeze by ducking spades twice. I believe I suggested that East should have doubled the three diamond bid whereupon West would have opened a diamond and spoiled that black suit squeeze."

Oswald: "That's right where the perils of a columnist come in."

in. A brilliant reader has pointed out that the hand can be made with a diamond opening."

Jim: "I know, but the play is one that would only be made by a man who had seen all the cards. It involves dealer running off all five trump lead going after the spades. West would have to discard a diamond on the third trump lead and his last diamond on the fourth trump lead."

Now the fifth trump lead would force a discard of a black card from West. A club discard would make all the clubs good. A spade discard would allow dealer to make three spade tricks."

Oswald: "South would go down several tricks if East held the ace of spades but we should have covered this in the article anyway."

Pontiac Area Golfers Lose in State Play

Women's Amateur in 2nd Round; Patti Shook Triumphs

Special to the Pontiac Press
JACKSON — Youthful Pontiac area entries fell along the way in the Women's State golf tournament at Jackson Country Club where Saginaw's Patti Shook, qualifying medalist, scored a resounding victory.

Miss Shook was two-under par when her match with Mrs. Arthur Rosenberg finished, 9 and 8.

Today Miss Shook faced 23-year-old Sharon Pleschner of Bridgeport in the second round when the field of 16 will be reduced to eight.

Lone winner locally was Mrs. W. L. Mosher of Orchard Lake who defeated Miss Fester Frechette, 17-year-old golfer from Clarkston, 3-1.

Linda Fuller of Union Lake was a 5-4 loser to Barbara Roth of Ludington and Mrs. Jan Rodgers of Pontiac lost Mrs. E. B. Reynolds of Lansing, 6-5.

Defending champion Sharon Miller, 24, of Battle Creek and Joyce Kazmierki, 19, of Grosse Ile were also impressive winners. Miss Miller won over Mrs. Blaine Johnson of Jackson, 6-6 while Miss Kazmierki defeated Mrs. Nelson Yarbrough of Detroit, 8-7.

Another contender Miss Sharon Wilder, 23, of Grand Rapids whipped Arlene Alton of Grosse Ile, 7 and 5.

These four, Miss Shook, Miss Miller, Miss Kazmierki and Miss Wilder are regarded as top contenders in the tournament.

Two time champion Mrs. Keith Leclair of Barton Hills also advanced to today's round by scoring a 7 and 5 victory over Mrs. Phil O'Connell of Grosse Pointe.

The semifinals and finals will be played tomorrow morning and afternoon.

Among winners of the day were Mrs. Blaine Johnson of Jackson, 6-6; Mrs. Nelson Yarbrough of Detroit, 8-7; Mrs. Blaine Johnson of Jackson, 6-6; Mrs. Nelson Yarbrough of Detroit, 8-7; Mrs. Blaine Johnson of Jackson, 6-6; Mrs. Nelson Yarbrough of Detroit, 8-7.

Mrs. Hume Wins WDGA Tourney at Lakepointe

Mrs. John Hume of Birmingham continued winning in the Women's District Golf Association yesterday when she won in the group's weekly out at Lakepointe Country Club near St. Clair Shores.

The steady-shooting Mrs. Hume, who recently won the WDGA's medal play championship, turned in a 46-48-88, four strokes ahead of Nancy Smith of Beach Grove (46-44-84).

The field at Lakepointe was a smaller than usual for the WDGA, since many of the members were playing in the Women's Michigan Golf Association match play tournament at Country Club of Jackson.

Mays Shares Star Spotlight

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Willie Mays came to the All-Star Game with a painful bruise and without his batting helmet. But when he left he had accomplished the usual—hit a homer, scored the winning run, set two records and managed to squeeze in his fence-crashing act.

Sharing the spotlight with San Francisco teammate Juan Marchal in the voting for the most valuable player, Mays played his usual key role as the National League edged the Americans 6-5 Tuesday and took the lead in the series.

Mays cracked Milt Pappas' second pitch of the game for his third All-Star homer and 21st hit, breaking a tie with Stan Musial for the all-time high in the hit category.

In the seventh inning, Mays led off with a walk and then scored the run that broke a 5-5 tie after singles by Hank Aaron and Ron Santo. The two runs brought Mays' total to 18 in All-Star play, extending his own record.

LUNGING CATCH
In the eighth inning, with two on and one out, Jim Hall tagged a long liner toward center. Mays took one step, slipped, then started racing back and made a lunging one-hand catch.

"I don't mind telling you I was scared to death," Mays said in the dressing room. "I didn't misjudge it, but I slipped as I started to go back."

What about in the fifth inning when he chased McAuliffe's homer into the center field fence, leaping against it in a futile attempt to make the catch?

"I didn't think it was going over," Mays explained. "I know when I jump, I can get up over the fence, so I thought I had a chance."

Mays hit the fence with such force that he bruised the right side he injured in a home plate collision at Philadelphia Saturday night.

FELT IT
"It hurt—I hurt like the dickens," Willie admitted. "I jarred it, and I could feel it. But it'll be all right."

And the colorful array of batting helmets—Chicago blue and Cincinnati red and gray—

Junior JC Golfers in Sectional Play

A trip to the state tournament will be at stake when local junior golfers tee off tomorrow at 9 a.m. at Pontiac Country Club in the sectional round of the National Jaycee Golf Tournament.

Among the favorites in the field is 15-year-old Gary Balliet of Pontiac.

The two low scorers at PCC will advance to the state tournament, set for July 26 and 27 at Benton Harbor. The national play is slated for August in Houston, Tex.

that he used during the game? "I didn't bring my helmet," said Mays. "and until I came into the dressing room and someone told me, I really didn't realize I was using whatever it was. I just picked up whatever I didn't even know whose it was."

WILLIE SWATS ONE — By the time Willie Mays completed his follow through on this swing, the ball had almost landed in the left field stands at Minnesota for a home run. Willie's homer came in the first inning of the All-Star game LOSERS RELAX — Harmon Killebrew (left) of Minnesota and Dick McAuliffe of Detroit relax after supplying most of the American League's punch in a 6-5 loss to the National League in the All-Star game yesterday in Minneapolis. Both clubbed two-run homers in the fifth inning, with Killebrew's deactivating the score at 5-5.

McAuliffe's First Start as All-Star Successful

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—If baseball players were paid on a commission basis rather than salary, Detroit Tigers shortstop Dick McAuliffe would have collected handsomely in Tuesday's All-Star game.

Playing in his first All-Star contest, McAuliffe not only chalked up the second highest batting average of any American League participant, but he scored 40 per cent of his team's five runs himself and batted in another.

McAuliffe had two hits in three at-bats, for a .666 average. He was topped only by Tiger teammate Bill Freehan's 1.000 average in a single time up.

McAuliffe blasted a 412-foot homer over the center field wall in the fifth inning, driving in

THE ROCK
It was a former Tiger, Rocky Colavito of Cleveland, who drove McAuliffe in with a single.

McAuliffe's home run gave Willie Mays of San Francisco a good workout. As the ball sailed into center field, Mays back as deep as he could and then tried to climb the fence, but the ball sailed into the bullpen.

Two other Tiger players saw some action but didn't do much. Willie Horton failed to get a hit in three times at bat, and Al Kaline grounded out in one time at the plate as a pinch hitter.

Bar (7-7), 4-3, and Bob & Larry (1-12), 15-4, in a five-inning affair.

Pitcher Max Jarrett singled in the sixth, moved around to third on a sacrifice and passed ball and came in with what proved to be the winning run on a wild pitch.

Jarrett's score gave Huron Bowl a 4-1 lead and Dixie scored twice in the seventh.

Bob & Larry mixed 10 hits with 12 Dixie Tolt errors in posting an easy verdict. Bill DeRousse gave up only one hit—a fifth-inning single by Darrell Cooper—in claiming the victory.

Publinter Andonian State's Only Qualifier

(Special to the Pontiac Press)
PITTSBURGH — Mike Andonian, three-time state Publinter champion and ex-Michigan amateur champ, carried Michigan's colors in the National Public Links championship being played at North Hills in Pittsburgh.

Andonian was the only Michigan golfer out of 11 who started to make the 36-hole cut and go on to the final round.

Leading the National tournament through the qualifying rounds was 43-year-old Pittsburgh real estate salesman Stan Poploski who fired a 73-71-144. Two shots back at 146 were defending champ Bill McDonald, 21-year-old music student from Topeka, Kan.; Ron Greenback from San Francisco; Sonny into match play starting today. He fires a 78-75-154 and he faces Joe Pugh, a 20-year-old student from Baltimore, who shot 76-75-151.

The cutoff was 154 and 64 players started match play today.

High school student from Pittsburgh Jim Masserio made the first round Monday with a 71 added a 76 Tuesday for a 147 total.

Andonian had three bogies in a row on the 4th, 5th and 6th holes going out for a 3-over par. Coming in he was one over par after a bogie-5 on the 37th yard par four 12th hole.

MISSING CUT
Missing the cutoff by two strokes were Dick Shepherd of East Lansing with 79-77-158 and Wendell Kop of Northville with 79-77-156.

Other Michigan scores included Allan Thompson of Pleasant Ridge with 81-78-159; George Williams of LaSalle with 82-77-159; Claude DuBois of Detroit 78-81-159; Dennis McNevy of Detroit, 78-84-162; Ray Cane, Detroit 78-85-163; Robert Steelman, Detroit, 80-86-166; Dr. Roy Smith, 82-86-168.

Kathy Whitworth, winner of last week's Midwest Open at Columbus, Ohio, will also be on hand when the women pros start out after the $15,000 pot.

Miss Jensen fired a final-round 68 over the Atlas Valley Country Club course in carding a 213 for her victory last year.

Miss Whitworth toured the 3,063-yard back nine in four-under-par 32 on the last day of the tourney.

RECORD BROKEN
The first Yankee Open attracted 13,301 fans, including 6,806 on the last day. That stood as an LPGA record until last week when the Columbus tourney drew 18,500 through the turnstiles.

Sandra Haynie, Clifford Ann Creed and Marlene Hagge, who trailed Miss Whitworth in Columbus, are also among the 36 entries.

Finals in the 54-hole tourney will be held Sunday.

Yankee Golf Pro-Am to Start Meet

ATLAS (AP) — Defending champion Ruth Jensen and U.S. Women's Open champion Carol Mann lead the field into the second annual Yankee Women's Open golf tournament which starts Thursday with a pro-am event.

'Junior' League Team Rolls but Can't Stop National Sluggers

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The most frustrated man in baseball today must be Joe Crogin. If he isn't, he should be. Since he took office as president in 1959, his American League has won only two of 11 All-Star Games while tying one. In the same span, the league has lost four of six World Series.

Genial Joe squirmed in the heat Tuesday while the National League once again turned back his American All-Stars 6-5, despite blowing a 5-0 lead.

It marked the fifth straight defeat for the Americans in All-Star and World Series competition.

TAKES LEAD
The National League, which once wanted to call the whole thing off when it found itself trailing 12 games to 4, has taken a lead for the first time since the competition began in 1933.

The victory, their seventh in the last eight decisions, has given the Nationals an over-all 17-16 lead.

The Nationals simply had too many guns Tuesday. They out-hit the Americans 11 to 8 and out-thundered them three to two. Then, when they needed to catch up after the Americans had made up a five-run deficit, they called on World Series hero Bob Gibson. The St. Louis right-hander stopped the Americans in their tracks.

With the Nationals ahead again 6-5, Gibson came in to pitch the last two innings. After giving up a leadoff double to Tony Oliva in the ninth, raising the hopes of the 46,700 American League partisans, Gibson quickly dashed them by setting down the next three hitters, two on strikeouts.

The crusher was his whiffing of Harmon Killebrew, the Minnesota strong boy whose fifth-inning two-run homer had tied the score 5-5.

IN SPOTLIGHT
As he has done in a many previous All-Star Games, Willie Mays took the spotlight.

ONCE FAMILIAR WITH THE MECHANICS OF A CORRECT GOLF STROKE, STUDENTS BEGIN TO WONDER HOW ONE REMEMBERS THEM ALL WHILE SWINGING. TRUTH IS, ONE DOESN'T NOT COMING BACK TO REMEMBER FOR THE 2 OR 3 SECONDS IT TAKES TO COMPLETE A SWING. ALLOWS LITTLE TIME TO THINK.

I THINK OF 2 THINGS: TAKING THE CLUB STRAIGHT OUT AS SLOWLY AS POSSIBLE.

2. AND KEEPING MY HEAD STILL. EACH PART OF THE SWING MUST BE PERFORMED SEPARATELY IN PRACTICE UNTIL IT COMES AUTOMATICALLY. THEN, IN ACTUAL PLAY, 2 THOUGHTS THOUGH THIS MAY SEEM WITH THE INDIVIDUAL, IS ABOUT ALL TIME PERMITS.

Piston's Dave Now Full-Time Playing Coach

DETROIT (AP) — Dave DeBusschere, a player who served the Detroit Pistons part of last season as acting coach, has been signed as a full-time playing coach, the National Basketball Association club announced today.

DeBusschere, whose squad won 29 games and lost 40 last year after he replaced ousted Charlie Wolf, currently is a pitcher in the Pacific Coast League for the Indianapolis farm club of the Chicago White Sox.

The 24-year-old DeBusschere led the Pistons in ranked second last season with 253. He ranked second on the club with 847 rebounds, while averaging 16.7 points a game.

All-Star Managers Want 'Encore'

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (U-P) — Gene Mauch and Al Lopez, who managed this year's All-Star Game by default, would like to face each other again next year — but this time on their own.

Mauch won in his rookie try while Lopez suffered his fifth loss without a victory Tuesday as the National League edged the American League 6-5 and took a one-game lead in the 36-game All-Star series.

"I'll be more than happy to keep trying to beat them," said Lopez. "If we (the Chicago White Sox) can win a pennant and put me in the game again."

Asked how it felt to help put the National League ahead by one game, Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies said:

"Good, but not as good as it would feel to manage the team

SUBSTITUTES

Both Mauch and Lopez were substitutes this year. Their teams each missed winning pennants by one game in 1964, but both became the All-Star managers when Johnny Kean of St. Louis and Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees changed leagues.

Following their first encounter, Mauch said his team "would have thought of another way to win it if they hadn't won it the way they did."

Lopez called it a "heck of a good game, a good show which the home run hitting of Willie Mays, Joe Torre and Willie Stargell plus the pitching of Juan Marichal and Bob Gibson dominated post-game discussions in the NL dressing room.

CRAZY HOPS

But an infield bouncer which took two crazy hops after leaving the bat of Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs in the seventh inning had the American Leaguers shaking their heads. The blow went for an infield single and scored Mays from third with the game's winning run.

Sam McDowell of Cleveland, the pitcher at the time, said: "We should have had an easy double play on it... until it started taking those goofy hops. It had some top spin on it, and it looked like it hit something."

"It was an inside slider that Santo hit—a good pitch. It bounced over me, and it bounced over Bobby Richardson. By the time it got to Zoilo Versalles it was too late."

LET IT GO

"I could have fielded it," he added, "but I would have been too late to get Roberto Clemente coming into second, and I would have been out of position to throw to first to get Santo. So I let it go, hoping Versalles would have time to get Santo."

Versalles' throw was too late, and everybody was safe. McDowell then got Torre to hit into an inning-ending double play.

"It came one man too late," Lopez said. "I don't know what made the ball act like that. All I know is it took a real funny bounce."

Gibson, who gave up a leadoff double to Minnesota's Tony Oliva in the ninth inning and then retired three men in order, ending the game, said he was just rearing back and firing fastballs and sliders.

Canadian Title at Stake

TORONTO (AP) — The $100,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament headed into its first round today with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer assured of at least one thing — bountiful galleries.

The field of 144 teed off with the prospect of morning showers but partly sunny skies by afternoon. Nicklaus and Palmer were early-afternoon starters.

Both arrived Tuesday and played a casual practice round in which no scores were kept. But the two counted enough strokes over the last six holes to decide that Nicklaus was going to have to buy Palmer a dinner. Palmer, from Latrobe, Pa., couldn't remember what he shot on the six holes but said jokingly that, whatever it was, Nicklaus was two strokes higher.

STAR-STUDDED
The two, who along with South African Gary Player headline the star-studded field for the 72-hole event which ends at the Mississauga course Saturday, were in an agreeable mood even though they'll battle each other fiercely in the tournament.

"This is a long course," said Palmer.

"It's a tough course and I like it really well," Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, agreed.

Palmer predicted a 72-hole score of 275, five under par, would win the tournament. Nicklaus said that four rounds of 69, or 276, would do it.

Cool Curl Aids Ride on Tricky Surfboard

A Waterford Township water enthusiast is riding a cool curl these days.

Richard Dorris, 1054 Fremont, is experimenting with riding a surfboard on fresh water. If his efforts prove successful, the more resourceful members of the water ski clan probably will jump on the bandwagon.

When most people think of surfing, they visualize young men, and women, standing astride long, tapered boards as they ride the breakers along Pacific Ocean beaches in California and Hawaii.

The 27-year-old Dorris doesn't have the high waves to work with in Michigan. He has substituted the wake of a powerboat.

The coasting time isn't anything to compare with those recorded by ocean surfers, but Dorris has managed to keep his nine-foot board riding along from 30 seconds to a minute.

Dorris works close to the boat to take advantage of the maximum wash kicked up by the propeller.

RIDES WITH WAKE

The big factor determining success or failure is how far the rider can maneuver the rear of the board into the curl. If this is accomplished the board rides with the wake instead of being pushed away from the boat.

Balance also is a key factor. More balance is involved than in water skiing, said Dorris. Plenty of practice is needed to get the board to follow the boat without using a rope.

He has started to vary the routine by lying prone on the board and rising to his feet while being towed by the boat.

Dorris carries an expert's rating in water skiing and has jumped over 100 feet. He's also adept at skiing on snow. Other major interests include skin diving, hunting and fishing. He is associated with his father, Roy Dorris, in real estate.

Richard Dorris plans to compete in jumping and doubles this weekend during the State Water Ski Championships at Lansing.

Boat Races Sunday at Lake Nepessing

The Lake Nepessing boat races in Lapeer will be held Sunday with entries from 10 states and Canada expected to compete.

More than 100 boats of all classes will begin time trials at 9:00 a.m. with races slated to start at noon.

Boats from as far south as Florida and Georgia are entered in the event which is being sponsored by the Michigan Outboard Racing Association.

Bleacher seats have been erected at the Nepessing Lake Boat Club located on South Shore Drive near Lippencott Road in Lapeer.

State Water Ski Meet at Lansing

State Water Ski Championships will be determined this weekend on the Grand River at Lansing.

Competition will get under way Saturday morning and continue through Sunday. Harry Messer of Pontiac will defend the men's jumping championship he won last year.

Ex-Pontiac Man Has Boat Thrill

The son of a Pontiac resident helped write some Utah boating history recently when he and a companion made an upstream boat run through the treacherous Cataract Canon rapids of the Colorado River in maneuvering from Hile to Moab, Utah.

Edward E. Sage, 44, son of Louis R. Sage, 72, N. Edith, and William K. Somerville, 47, both residents of Lakewood, Utah, became the first men to travel the Cataract Canon rapids which have claimed dozens of lives.

The two adventurers left Moab on the 22nd-mile run late in June and went downstream to Hile. They made the return trip to Moab in three days, docking the boat July 2.

The pair used a jet-powered, 19-foot Buehler Turbocraft boat for the trip.

Sage is a machinist for the U.S. Geological Survey. Somerville, an engineer, works for Westinghouse Electric Corp.

It said such suit could proceed even if no violation of law were found.

Whether the three hunters were jointly liable will depend, of course, on results of the suit itself.

High Court Takes Aim at Trigger-Happy Hunters

LANSING (AP)—Better make sure your hunting partners aren't too trigger-happy—if one should accidentally shoot a person, you could be sued.

That is the effect of a Michigan Supreme Court decision Tuesday which upheld the right of a gunshot victim to sue three hunters even though the victim already had declared which of the three allegedly shot him.

Early Start for Canoes

Starting time for the 18th annual championship Ausable River Valley Canoe Race — Grayling to Oscoda — has been set for 12:01 a.m., Aug. 21.

After drawing to determine starting positions, racers entered in the 240-mile marathon will be started at 15 second intervals.

The midnight starting time at Grayling will allow the racers the advantage of morning daylight hours as they reach the first of six dams to be portaged before coming into the finish line stretch at Oscoda sometime around 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Fish Start Biting

Cat Is 'Really Wild'

Conservation officer Alan Webster reversed his field in a hurry the other day during a phone conversation with a Mrs. Heiden of Plymouth.

The woman contacted the officer in regards "to a bobcat" in a doghouse. Webster quickly determined that the animal had a long tail (bobcats have stubby ones) and told Mrs. Heiden that the feline apparently was a housecat gone wild.

When Mrs. Heiden commented that the cat was orange with black spots, Webster reacted in a hurry. He discovered a South American ocelot in the dog house.

The ocelot had apparently gotten away from someone who had been keeping it as a pet. After much hissing, yowling and screams, the cat was captured and turned over to the Nankin Hills Nature Center.

The Conservation Department has reversed itself in another matter: this one involving quail hunting in Oakland County.

The original list of counties to be opened to quail hunting during the Nov. 11-15 season did not contain Oakland County. Sen. Carl O'Brien of Pontiac said yesterday that this has been remedied and the county is now on the list.

The Conservation Commission will pass on recommended hunting seasons during its monthly meeting tomorrow and Friday in Lansing.

Starting tomorrow, hunters can begin training their dogs for the coming hunting season. A bill allowing the training of fox hounds, day or night, all year has passed the legislature, but has not been approved by the governor.

Bluegills, perch and crappies are biting on crickets in deep water at Pontiac, Tippeco, Wildwood, Orion, Lakeville, Orrow, Orchard and Commerce lakes.

Bass are hitting in shallow water during the early morning and late evening hours at Kent, Union, Tippeco and Deer lakes. Perch are active on Bald Eagle and Greens (near Waterford Village).

A few lake trout are being taken on the west side of Mace-dia with cowbells and night fishing for rainbows is fair at Pine and Elizabeth.

Ask Extension in Guard Case

Transcript Not Ready for Ousted General

LANSING (AP) — Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald asked Tuesday for a second 30-day extension of the deadline for filing an appeal of his dismissal as Michigan National Guard adjutant general.

The request was presented to the State Court of Appeals, which has not acted on McDonald's first 30-day extension request.

McDonald's attorney, George Bushnell Jr. of Detroit, said the total of 60 extra days is needed because the transcript of Gov. George Romney's 30-hour hearing for McDonald—expected to exceed 2,800 pages—still is being prepared.

Romney fired McDonald May 20, finding him guilty of gross neglect of duty, misfeasance and malfeasance in connection with reported irregularities in the Michigan military establishment.

APPEAL CLAIM

The appeals court also received an appeal claim from Edward Rettinger, head of one of two factions contending for control of the Livingston County Democratic Party.

The war between the Rettinger faction and one headed by Brian Lavan went to Livingston County Circuit Court and Rettinger is appealing the May 27 decision of Judge Leo Bebeau.

Bebeau ruled that Rettinger, the current county Democratic chairman, must call another county convention within 60 days and hold a roll call to recognize about 80 convention delegates he disqualified last Sept. 12, when a convention session ended in a fist fight.

At the time, Rettinger said he was disqualifying the 80 because in the August primary election their names were printed in larger and bolder type.

PROOF NEEDED

Bebeau said the chairman could not disqualify delegates unless he could prove election irregularities.

Lavan claimed victory in Bebeau's decision, saying his slate now could vote in convention to depose Rettinger.

Bobby Morse's Big Woe: Doesn't Look Like a Star

By DORIS KLEIN HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Hey," yelled the guard at the Paramount studio gate. "Where do you think you're going?"

Robert Morse strolled back a few feet, a resigned look in his eyes.

"If happens every time," he said with a shrug. "I keep telling them I'm a star, but they don't remember me the next time I walk through the gate."

STAR OF PICTURE

"Okay, Buddy," said the guard to Bobby. "Who are you?"

"I'm Bobby Morse, one of the stars of a picture we're making here, 'Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling So Bad.'"

The guard's face took on a bewildered glaze and he waved Bobby through.

PACKED THEM IN

The trouble is that Bobby, with his pale face and Napoleon haircut, doesn't look like a star. Yet for two years, the boy from Newton, Mass., packed them in on Broadway as the brash young lead of the musical hit, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Moviegoers will begin getting accustomed to his face with "The Loved One," based on Evelyn Waugh's satire on undertakers, and "Oh, Dad, etc."

In the latter he plays the son of a domineering mother (Rosalind Russell) who carts around the body of her dead husband (Jonathan Winters) and keeps Bobby under protective custody in their hotel room — until he is nearly seduced by the young lady upstairs.

NO SUNTAN

"That explains the pallor," said Bobby. "We were on location in Jamaica for eight weeks and I was forbidden to get a suntan."

The real Bobby Morse is more comic than comic actor. He doesn't need a script to be funny. His conversation and mimicry are often funnier than some of the scripts he encounters.

An actor since junior high school plays, Bobby finished serious training in New York as a Schrafft's cookie salesman and a Fuller brush man, and under the GI Bill.

After a small role in the film, "The Proud and the Profane," he did a turn in radio, then landed a feature role in the Broadway comedy, "The Matchmaker." He repeated the role in films eight years ago.

His Broadway career continued upward with the comedy, "Say Darling," and a lead in the musical, "Take Me Along."

Then came "How to Succeed" and stardom.

Storms Ease Up Across Nation

U.S. Midsection Hit by Heavy Rain, Winds

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms tapered off today after breaking out across wide areas in the nation's midsection with heavy rain and strong winds.

The storm belt extended from areas in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois southwestward into Kansas, Texas and New Mexico. Tuesday night's violent weather followed a day of temperatures in the 80s and 90s across most of the Midwest and southern Plains.

Clashing of the humid tropical air and a cool Canadian air mass set off the storms. Heavy rain and strong winds pounded the Chicago area and many other parts of Illinois. Fall fell in many cities. Winds of 60 m.p.h. lashed the Quincy area in a thunderstorm which dumped more than two inches of rain in an hour. Trees were uprooted and power disrupted in the Chicago area.

KANSAS PELTED

Heavy rain and hail pelted the Topeka, Kan. region and strong winds swept Kansas City. The thunderstorms extended into Dallas, Tex., which reported nearly an inch of rain in six hours.

Earlier thunderstorms rumbled across Florida. More than two inches of rain fell at Orlando.

Warm and humid air covered much of the Southern and Eastern states and in interior sections of the Northwest. The mercury rose to 106 Tuesday at Needles and Blythe, Calif., and Presidio, Tex. Early morning readings ranged from 49 at Butte, Mont., to 96 at Needles.

William Howard Taft was secretary of war in President Theodore Roosevelt's cabinet from 1904-08 before becoming President in 1909.

Only College Grads Can Be Deputies

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Future sheriff's deputies in Multnomah County will need a college degree.

The County Civil Service Commission voted Tuesday night to make the bachelor's degree a requirement for full-time sheriff's deputies and staff.

Sheriff Donald Clark said no other city, county or state police force has this requirement. Multnomah County is Oregon's largest. It includes the city of Portland.

President Andrew Johnson refused to ride with President Grant when the latter was inaugurated March 4, 1869.

Property Tax Burden for Schools on Increase

EAST LANSING (AP)—Property taxes to support schools have tripled over the last decade, the Michigan Economic Record reports.

Meanwhile, state taxes, once the principal contributor to local school operating budgets, have not quite doubled, says the Record, a publication of Michigan State University's Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Florida Prof Succumbs

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Arthur W. Thompson, 44, author and American history professor at the University of Florida since 1946, died Tuesday. Thompson in 1965 served the U.S. Department of State as an American studies specialist at Kyoto University in Japan.

She Exposes a Bottomless Suit Problem

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Patsy Bonner Hodges says she recently ordered a two-piece bathing suit from a mail order firm.

When the package arrived, it was two pieces all right — both tops.

Mrs. Hodges mailed back the suit and said she wanted the usual two-piece suit — top and bottom.

Sorry, the mail order house replied in a letter, we don't have suits with bottoms in that style.

BLAZE FLARES UP—Firemen rushed to get hoses ready yesterday as flames roared through the front section of offices above the unoccupied Oxford Shop on North Saginaw. A large crowd of shoppers and persons on their noon hour break gathered across the street to watch the activity. The alarm was called in at 12:42 p.m. and the fire was under control about 2 p.m. (Additional photos on Pages A-2 and B-5.)

To Pontiac Building

Fire Damage $20,000

A noon hour fire yesterday in downtown Pontiac caused an estimated $20,000 damage to a building housing a vacant shop on the ground level and 10 offices on the second floor.

Four firemen fighting the blaze at 43 N. Saginaw required hospital treatment and a stranded occupant of the building was carried down a ladder to safety.

The blaze that erupted at 12:43 p.m. in a front office on the second floor apparently was caused by defective wiring, according to Fire Marshal Charles Metz.

Fire department officials returned to the building today to further investigate the cause and extent of damage.

City Housing Plan Detailed Enforcement of Code to Cover All Buildings

Progress on Pontiac's efforts at systematic housing code enforcement were detailed last night by City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Begin last February, housing code enforcement in Pontiac was ordered by Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA) officials before general approval was given to the city's important workable program.

Federal officials insisted that the city begin a house-by-house, block-by-block program of housing code enforcement.

City officials designated two areas — one in the north end and one in the south end — to receive initial attention from the systematic inspection program.

The North side area, according to Warren, has had its initial exterior inspection completed. The more detailed interior inspection is continuing.

123 ARE CITED
Warren said that in this area to date 123 structures have been isolated as possibly needing repairs or demolition. Twenty-two buildings have been marked as clearly substandard and needing demolition, while 101 are in need of some sort of repair.

Exterior inspections have been carried out by Fire Marshall Chas. Metz and Assistant Fire Marshall Allen Tunny. Health department (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Metz said the fire started in the office of Signet Corp., an engineering firm.

DISCOVERED FIRE
John Butterfield, a real estate man with an office in the rear of the 140-foot long building had just returned from lunch when he realized the building was on fire.

The lone occupant of the building, Butterfield was helped down an aerial ladder at the rear of the building by firemen.

Fire fighters poured steady streams of water into the office section of the building both from the front and rear.

They succeeded in keeping the blaze from spreading to the vacant buildings on either side.

DAMAGE UNKNOWN

John D. Millis, whose insurance firm occupied office space in the building, is the owner of the burned structure.

Millis said the building is insured.

The fire was under control by 2 p.m., according to Metz. Fire fighters stayed on the scene until 5:45 cleaning up.

May Get Relief From Mugginess

A bit of relief is in sight for Pontiac area residents. The warm, muggy weather of yesterday should be replaced by fair and cooler temperatures tonight and tomorrow.

A high of 74 to 80 is predicted. Winds are from the southwest shifting to west to northwest 15 to 25 miles today, northwest winds 8 to 15 miles tonight. Seventy-four was the low temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac this morning. By 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 77.

Senator Chides Auto Industry on Safety Lag

GM Team Counters Claim; Cites Work on Finding Hazards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., yesterday chided the automobile industry for "always lagging behind, waiting for someone to tell them, something should be done" about auto safety and other problems.

Top General Motors officials, testifying at a Senate hearing on auto safety, protested their company has a longstanding and costly program to eliminate mechanical hazards from their cars, and to promote safety generally.

Chesebrough told a Senate subcommittee investigating automotive safety that the firm will announce several safety features for '66 models at a later date.

But Frederic G. Donner, General Motors chairman, said the company must operate in "a climate of public acceptance."

"If we were to force on people things they are not prepared to buy, we would face a customer revolt," he told a Senate Government Operations subcommittee headed by Ribicoff. The subcommittee is investigating whether a federal program is needed to curb the mounting loss of lives in highway accidents, which Ribicoff said may reach a total of 100,000 in 1975 at the present rate of increase.

Donner disclosed GM is making a $1-million grant to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for a four-year study of all facets of the auto safety problem across the nation.

Court Denies Rehearing for Dr. Sheppard

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals denied today a rehearing for Dr. Samuel Sheppard in the case in which it had ordered him returned to the Ohio Penitentiary to resume a life sentence for murder.

Dr. Sheppard, a Cleveland osteopath, had served about 10 years of his sentence when a federal district judge ordered him released last July 16 on grounds he had not received a fair trial.

The appellate court reversed that ruling May 5, holding by a 2-1 vote that Sheppard should be sent back to prison.

Sheppard has been free since then, pending a decision on the motion for a rehearing.

The court of appeals clerk's office said he now has five days in which to ask for another stay to prevent his return to prison. Such a stay would be asked if the case is carried to the U.S. Supreme Court, as his attorney has vowed.

McNamara Eyes Military Steps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today new U.S. troop increases in South Viet Nam would make it necessary to consider calling up military reserves, extending tours of duty and enlarging draft calls.

McNamara, Ambassador-designate Henry Cabot Lodge, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, are to leave for Saigon tonight on a week-long survey which is generally expected to result in a decision to make substantial increases in the U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

At a forenoon news conference, McNamara said:

"The Viet Cong are continuing to increase in South Viet Nam. They have forces in the country they have not yet assigned to combat.

"We can expect further increases in Viet Cong operations."

UNDER CONSIDERATION
President Johnson had disclosed that calling reserves to active duty and enlarging draft quotas were under consideration but said no decisions would be made pending the return of the McNamara survey group.

"We will do whatever is necessary," Johnson told a news conference.

He also forecast that "new and serious decisions" will have to be made.

McNamara said the purpose of the trip to Viet Nam is to review U.S. force levels, the number of American troops to be assigned there under present plans, and the level of equipment and supplies for waging the anti-Communist war.

BIG IF
"If forces are increased in strength," McNamara said in response to a question, "it will be necessary to consider calling up reserves, and extending tours (of men now in military service) and increasing the draft calls."

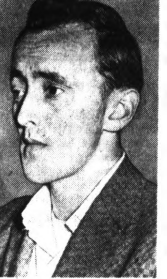

McNamara disclosed that the United States is considering a 60 per cent increase in the number of helicopter companies in the Army.

Helicopters have been increasingly used in Viet Nam to give U.S. and South Vietnamese forces mobility.

Witnesses at Trial Say Foster Made Death Threat

Carl F. Foster, charged with first degree murder in the slaying of his wife, was described yesterday by the prosecution as a deeply jealous man.

Assistant Prosecutor Walter Schmier in his opening statement charged that Foster tried to solve his marital troubles by strangling his wife, Angela, and then making it look like a suicide.

Planes Hit Deepest in North Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers made their deepest penetration of North Viet Nam today by attacking two trucks 37 miles north-northeast of Dien Bien Phu, a U.S. spokesman announced. The point appeared to be about an equal distance south of Red China's frontier.

The spokesman said four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs heavily damaged the two trucks during a reconnaissance mission. The raid was one of a series staged by more than 70 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes, largely against barracks, staging areas and military depots.

Dien Bien Phu is 310 miles north-northwest of Hanoi.

Referring to the attack on the trucks, the spokesman said:

"The planes hit the target at a point farther north of Hanoi than any target previously hit by U.S. aircraft."

2 MARINES DIE

South of the border, a round of mortar fire from a U.S. Marine position that fell short of its target accidentally killed two U.S. Marines and wounded nine at a bunker in the village of Le My, 12 miles northwest of Da Nang. A spokesman said two of the wounded were hospitalized in critical condition. He told newsmen the mortar crew had fired 30 other rounds on target.

Space Camera Ready to Take Mars Pictures

Craft Due to Fly by Red Planet Tonight, Relay Data Tomorrow

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Spacecraft Mariner 4 has responded to its first earth command in five months, indicating it is ready to begin making later today an historic series of close-up photos of Mars.

At 7:28 a.m., PDT, (9:28 a.m. Pontiac time) scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory sent a signal across 134 million miles of space order warmup of Mariner's instruments. Twenty-four minutes later an answer flashed back, signaling that Mariner was obeying.

At 5:20 p.m. (7:20 p.m. Pontiac time), if all goes well, the 575-pound craft will start making up to 21 photographs as it flies within 6,000 miles of the Martian surface. Tomorrow it is supposed to send the photos back to earth, perhaps shedding light on the ancient question of whether the mystery planet has life.

The warmup signal was sent with Mariner only 107,000 miles from Mars and traveling 9,970 miles per hour in relation to the planet. Its speed will increase to 11,000 m.p.h. by the time it flies by.

The earth command, first since last Feb. 12, was transmitted from a tracking station at Johannesburg, South Africa. It started a light-sensitive scanner looking for the bright disk of Mars.

STARTED CAMERA

And it started Mariner's camera making warmup clicks, although it will not actually take pictures until the scheduled time.

Since February, the spacecraft's activities have been controlled by an on-board timer.

The activity today — in which other experiments in addition to the photographing will be undertaken — climaxed a 228-day, 328-million-mile flight.

Pontiac Breaks Output Record

Model Run Pace Is 17 Days Ahead of '64

The flag's flying high at Pontiac Motor Division today as the division set a brand new milestone.

In the 1965 model year, production has passed 715,361, the first time this level has ever been attained in a model run.

The 715,362nd Pontiac rolled off the assembly line late on the second shift last night. It was shipped to an awaiting customer this morning as John Z. DeLoe, Pontiac general manager, and other officials watched.

The new production record surpassed by 17 days the previous high even though production was interrupted for 30 days by a strike last fall.

"And," DeLoe pointed out, "we have a few weeks in which to improve on this record." He said Pontiac currently was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Red Chinese Strike Out in Rigged Power Play

There was no Saint George involved in the recent setback of the Red Chinese diplomatic dragon, but other forces served the purpose.

The scene was to have been a 64-nation gathering in Algiers for which the Chinese puka dragon, Chou En Lai, had been beating the drums for so long and hoped to reap a bountiful Communist harvest among the Afro-Asian countries making up the proposed conclave.

But the rendezvous never got off the ground—or more precisely, on the ground. It appears that Chou's Machiavellian, to mix a nationality, hand wasn't quicker than the eye—and as the leaders of the participating nations saw what the Red leader had up his sleeve their ardor for the conference not only cooled but went into deep freeze.

For Chou, it became clear, had planned to use the Asian and African nations as a collective tool of Peking in mounting a campaign of harassment of the United States, to berate the Soviet Union and to further Communist revolutions wherever possible.

Nothing went right for the Chinese Reds. As part of Chou's grand design, Peking had maneuvered to deny Russia a voice at the conference table on the ground that it is "a white European power" although four-fifths of Russia lies in Asia.

The Chinese had pressured now-deposed BEN BELLA, as head of the host country and strongly pro-Communist, to withhold an invitation to Moscow. But the conference steering committee had decided that the meeting should have "the widest possible representation," thus foreshadowing invitations to both Russia and newly-formed anti-Communist Malaysia.

The shaky status of the post-Bella regime (no friend of communism), provided valid reason for calling off the gathering. All concerned seemed much relieved by the postponement, if not indeed cancellation, except Chou En Lai and his followers.

Perhaps if the premier Red would refer to philosopher CONFUCIUS, he might find writ: "He who tries to steal march sometimes get trapped off base."

U.S. Women Fall Short of Male of the Species

The U. S. Public Health Service has taken our measure and found that:

The average civilian American male is 5 feet 8.2 inches tall and weighs 168 pounds. The average female is 5 feet 3 inches tall and gets 142 pounds for her penny.

Nearly 7,000 persons, ranging in age from 18 to 79 and representing a cross-section of the general population, were examined in the survey.

Another vital statistic:

The average woman is wider in a certain area—specifically, "across the greatest lateral protrusion on each side of the buttocks"—than the average male.

Broadly speaking, the difference is not much—only about four-tenths of an inch. But there is a difference, and as the French would say, "Vive it."

Dire Highway Harvest Taken by Grim Reaper

The slaughter goes on. America celebrated a glorious event in inglorious fashion.

During the Fourth of July weekend, 557 persons were killed on the Nation's highways. It was an all-time record, exceeding by 47 the death toll of a year ago.

The only bright spot in the national tragedy, if bright it can be termed, is that Michigan cut in half its 1964 total of 43 July Fourth-period highway deaths.

Grimly, traffic experts are expressing concern about highway carnage over the coming Labor Day weekend. Last year, 561 persons died in auto crashes during the three-day period.

Projections indicate that more than 50,000 men, women and children will be traffic fatalities in the U.S. this year. Last year, deaths in traffic numbered 47,800.

Economic loss was estimated at $3.2 billion.

These, motorists, are the ghastly facts of death on America's roadways. What are you and YOU going to do about it?

French Issues Evading GOP?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Republicans haven't come up with any fresh issues since the voters overwhelmingly repudiated them and their ideas in the 1964 elections.

It's a subdued party, which makes it the strangest sight in a generation — at least in Congress where last year it won only 140 House seats to 286 for the Democrats and only 52 places in the Senate to 68 for the Democrats.

In March, Leonard Hall, former chairman of the GOP's National Committee, said the party "is in bad shape." Republicans have said very little since to make them sound more optimistic than Hall.

Last month, the new chairman, Ray Bliss, very modestly said "we honestly believe we can make gains," which is a far cry from the forecast of his predecessor, Dean Burch, who predicted Republican victory in 1964.

But Bliss said that if the Republicans are going to make gains in the 1968 congressional elections, they will have to pick outstanding candidates and campaign vigorously.

LACK OF AGREEMENT
Yet, they don't even agree among themselves on what stand Republicans should take in Congress or what the issues are or might be.

Last March, one of the most powerful House Republicans, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, said "we may be dangerously close to ending any support" for President Johnson's policy in Viet Nam.

But the most powerful Republican in the Senate, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, disagreed, saying Senate Republicans will continue to "uphold the hands of the President" in Viet Nam.

Laird, who perhaps comes closest to being Johnson's most constant critic among House Republicans, but pretty infrequently at that, denounced the Johnson administration for "seeking one-party government" and the subjugation of Congress.

DANGEROUS BRINK?

As a result of the massive Republican defeat in 1964, he said "it cannot be lost on the American people that we have come to the dangerous brink of one-party government."

About three months later the Republicans' House leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, echoed Laird, saying he believes the two-party system is in jeopardy.

Ford said that when the President presents his legislative proposals "the Democrats in Congress don't know whether to click their heels or clap their hands." But the day after making this gloomy forecast, he was saying victory is in the air for the Republican party, which means the opposite of jeopardy for the two-party system.

Along For The Ride

David Lawrence Says:

USIA Needs New Ground Rules

WASHINGTON — Coincident with the announcement of major changes in the executive personnel of the U. S. Information Agency here comes word from Moscow that the Soviet government feels it must reorganize its press policy, largely because of a belief that LAWRENCE the information program of the United States government are achieving more and more penetration of the Communist countries.

An article in a leading publication of the Communist party in the Soviet Union says that Western agencies, such as the U. S. Information Agency, have been intensifying their campaign of "ideological subversion."

Soviet propagandists are called upon to study the information techniques of the United States and other Western countries and to learn to combat them.

While it is gratifying to learn that the U. S. Information Agency's efforts to penetrate the "iron curtain" are meeting with certain success, there is every reason for the administration to seek intensively to find ways and means of reaching an even larger audience in the Soviet Union and the Communist-bloc countries.

More EFFORT
The problem which the U. S. Information Agency faces is whether to continue to duplicate what the newspapers in America are presenting, or whether to concentrate more effort on broadcasts to the rest of the world which not only tell the President and the secretary of state are doing in foreign policy but answer such criticisms of it as are being published outside this country.

There is a feeling here that the State Department and the White House have, by their rules, inhibited the effectiveness of the USIA under the present administration as well as under past administrations.

The diplomatic attitude is always one of caution. Yet, when criticism comes out into the open and the Soviets are disseminating untruths about American policy, it is far better for the USIA immediately to expose the falsehoods and give the truth.

that there is disunity here and that a large section of the American people shares the viewpoint of the dissenters.

The distribution of information and the effective exposition of America's viewpoint in foreign policy have an impact upon diplomacy itself. For the Communist countries are watching for any sign of disunity and are hoping to build up a hostility to American policies throughout the free world.

The USIA — and particularly the "Voice of America" — has a role in fighting the "cold war" which is exceeded in importance only by that of the military arm of the government.

Papal Journeys to U.N., Poland Appear Unlikely

ROME — Pope Paul VI wants to make two wholly unprecedented trips in the near future, one to New York to speak before the U. N. Assembly, the other to Warsaw to participate in religious ceremonies built around Poland's 1,000th year of Christianity.

Neither journey looks promising.

The consensus here is that he would not think of appearing before the U. N. in its present state of disarray. Indeed, any session of the U. N. Assembly called to hear the Pope's plea for world peace might imperil the world organization.

All business even vaguely substantive was avoided the last time the assembly met, so as not to bring to a showdown the possible denial of voting privileges to the Soviet Union, France and a dozen other U. N. members who will not or can not help pay for the cost of the U. N. military force in the Congo.

A solid peace talk, incredibly, could therefore hurt or destroy the international peace organization.

STILL CRITICAL
As for the trip to Warsaw, Poland is a Communist state. Its leaders placed the nation's foremost Catholic churchman, Cardinal Wysynski, under house arrest in the wake of World War II.

The invitation to the Pope would necessarily be from the cardinal, an old friend. Gomulka won't invite him.

The Vatican has no diplomatic relations with either the U. S. or Communist Poland. Its ties with the withering Polish government in exile, headquartered in seedy grandeur in London, ended only recently.

RECOGNIZES OBSTACLES
The U. S. State Department has welcomed the idea of the Pope's trip to U. N., but recognizes the USIA should be under no obligation to distribute abroad all of the irresponsible statements made by some members of Congress concerning American foreign policy, for this invariably gives the impression ing for any sign of disunity and are hoping to build up a hostility to American policies throughout the free world.

The "Voice of America" — has a role in fighting the "cold war" which is exceeded in importance only by that of the military arm of the government.

The Japan Weekly Times

The United Nations observed its 20th birthday in a world distraught by serious tensions and in which there are actually warlike operations going on.

Nevertheless, the nations today are in a far greater degree of peaceful relations than they would have been without the organization which, if it has not yet accomplished all the hopes of its promoters, has again and again saved the world from threatening outbreaks of general war.

The Charter of the United Nations is perhaps the noblest document ever issued in the name of a number of nations in the long and tortuous history of humankind. Shocked by the destruction and horrors of World War II its framers reaffirmed faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations, large and small.

Such specialized agencies as the Food and Agriculture Organization, UNESCO and the World Health Organization, to mention only a few, have performed great services to humanity, and, indeed, it would be no exaggeration to say that they have changed the whole aspect of life for millions. It may seem strange, but it looks as if people are more ready to join wholeheartedly together in carrying out practical schemes for the general benefit than they are in coming to political agreements.

The United Nations has had success in halting cases of armed conflict, and its peace-keeping operations have proved

Thoughts of Young Men Defending our Freedom

So much is being said in regard to the youth of today and also the Viet Nam situation that I would like to pass along the voice of one teenager who is in direct contact with the Viet Nam situation. This was taken from a letter written to his mother.

"Earlier this evening I stood and watched flashes from artillery bursts on the Viet Nam mainland about two miles away. We are actually at war. The people there seem quite willing to fire at this ship if they get the chance. I could be killed or injured at any time, yet it doesn't bother me. I think about a thing called the Serviceman's Pledge. It starts something like this: 'I am an American fighting man. I am prepared to give my life to preserve the principles that made my country free...' I firmly believe in this and I am proud that I am over here and hope that you feel the same."

Impressed?

I WAS

In a time of teen-age rioting and wild parties, I thought others might like to know there are still some who value the better things in life. The following prayer was written by a local teen-ager just before he left for overseas on July 5th to help preserve the freedom so many of us do not appreciate:

"Right now in the very midst of dawn, when the stars are still bright in the dark blue sky above, and the trinkle of the sun's rays creeps through the dark horizon, God has given me strength and courage to face new life and a new world. He has shown me why I must leave my home and country—for peace for my loved ones so they may worship God without the fear of being punished for it.

"It is the will of God, unto which I shall obey and which every man who loves freedom and peace of mind shall obey. Even if he must give his life he will know that he has fulfilled his duty to God, his country and to the ones he loves so much."

Incident Causes Doubts About Democracy

Dr. Edison Walden, a psychiatrist lived by Oakland County as Director of mental health, wanted to live here as well. After days of house-hunting, he took a home in Detroit, where someone sold him the house he wanted in the neighborhood he liked.

Dr. Walden is a Negro. I wonder how he teaches his children about "democracy," "freedom," and those other lovely words we whites have parroted so long. If a man of such stature is not free to live on any street he wants, where is freedom? Ever since I saw his plight, my own freedom is ashes in my mouth. Do other whites feel as sick about it as I do?

I got the house I wanted because I was born with this funny pale skin. Great reason! Don't quote me on this. I am talking about a man who is willing to go on contributing to the society that keeps slapping him in the face. Would you?

I was so happy to know that Romney said there would be no road through the Porcupine Mountains and spoke about the virgin timber. The Lake of the States is easy to reach now by car. Let's leave it that way. We used to climb up to see the lake and it was fun and worth the climb. Let's keep it undisturbed.

Stature Is Important

Set Your Sights High

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and miserable. The reason is I am 5 feet, 11 inches tall, and I am a girl!

Every one says I won't grow any more, but I have heard of people growing until they are 21, and if I grow any more I will kill myself. My father is six feet, six inches, and my mother is six feet one, so what did they expect? Midgets?

Everyone has always told them they made a handsome couple, but I sure wish they had never met each other. I know it's hard to tell people not to fall in love and get married, but if they would only stop and think of their unborn children.

Sincerely yours, "FREAK"

DEAR "FREAK": Come on, now. Some of the most beautiful girls in the world are six feet tall, and taller—show girls, models and the girls who walk off with the basketball stars!

And when YOU choose a mate, you'll want one who's at least as tall as you, won't you? So don't blame your parents for aiming high. You'll probably follow suit.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me with this embarrassing situation. My husband is 68 years old and has been retired since 1950. We don't go out to eat very often, but when we do he has a habit of "kidding around" with the waitresses.

He can't just order his meal, eat it and leave. He has to make some personal remark to the waitress, like, "Say... what nationality are you?"

Or, "How long have you been working here?" Sooner or later he asks her if she is married. It never fails. Isn't he being rude to the waitress and inconsiderate of me?

If you have any suggestions on how to solve this problem, I would appreciate it.

"BUGS BUNNY"

DEAR BUGS: Yes, it is considered bad manners to direct personal remarks to the waitress, but if your husband is the type you aren't going to change him at age 68. Don't be embarrassed.

Some waitresses enjoy it, too. And those who don't know how to serve up an icy retort.

Troubled? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Readers:

One of the most attractive accessories I have seen in a long time was worn at a formal dinner recently. It simply made the gal's ensemble come to life. She had made a stole out of the most beautiful printed silk and wore it with a solid colored gown.

Actually, a stole of this type could be worn with a long or short dress and could be used to pick up almost any color. Try to get a print of some bold, exotic color and you'll get lots of compliments.

The stole can be almost any length that would look good for your height. I would say it should be approximately 2 yards long and about 18 inches wide. The edges can be completely ruffled around all four sides. This gal's stole's ruffles were a double fold about 3 inches wide and the folded edges of the ruffles were unpressed. The stole was made of double layer of fabric. Try it and let me know how you liked it.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Florence Harris, Royal Oak, Mich., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion. A slit at the back or side of a skirt will NEVER tear if you sew the straight eye from the conventional hook and eye set across the end of the seam where the slit begins. This should be sewed on the wrong side of the skirt!

I have found this works beautifully if used across the lower end of the teeth of the zippers on skirt and shorts. It will prevent the zipper from pulling out if it is strained slightly.

Dear Eunice:

I followed your instructions for making the Chinese ball buttons and they turned out fine, however, I can't seem to get them to look like balls. What am I doing wrong? Mrs. L. T. T.

Dear Mrs. L. T. T.:

After you have woven the tubing for the buttons correctly, you will have to work with them a little longer until you have shaped them into balls. This will require putting part of the tubing tighter and making part of it looser. It just takes a little time and is well worth it. Remember, when making buttonholes for these buttons, the buttonholes must be about 1/2 inch longer than usual to allow enough room for the round buttons.

If you would like instructions for making Chinese ball buttons, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with 10 cents to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press. Ask for leaflet 4, "Spaghetti Straps and Rope Belts."

The Rochester home of the Arthur Dillmans was the setting for the recent wedding reception of their granddaughter, Sharon Crissman and her bridegroom, Thomas Schwab. Rev. W. R. Schutze of St. Philips Episcopal Church performed the rites in the Rochester home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds are both Michigan State University graduates.

The bride, daughter of the Kenneth Crissmans also of Rochester, was gownwed in a white linen sheath featuring Sabrina neckline and elbow length sleeves trimmed with hand embroidered lace. Her illusion veil fell from a single organza flower.

Mrs. Sarah Schwab of Quakertown, Pa. is the bridegroom's mother.

Following an east coast honeymoon, the couple will reside in Lansing.

Prolonged Honeymoon May Turn Sour

CHICAGO (AP) — The honeymoon is much sweeter when short, says a wedding consultant, and short honeymoons are better for a marriage too.

"The most surprising thing is that many times a couple gets bored with each other on a long honeymoon," consultant Louis Seno said in an interview.

"The shorter the honeymoon, the better. Two weeks is the most I'd advise," he said.

Seno, a wedding consultant 20 years, said the anxiety and excitement leading to the wedding puts a couple on their best behavior.

"Then suddenly they're married. They think they know each other, but then they start spending 24 hours a day together and discover they don't."

"In a strange resort, surrounded by strangers, the discovery that Prince Charming snores or has a few minor faults can be devastating.

"The newly married couple obligates each other to constant entertainment. They see little or nothing connected with their home life."

"At home, even though it's a brand new apartment, a bride can take things in stride," Seno said.

"The man gets up and goes to work, and the wife has a chance to relax, do her daily chores and dismiss the little frailties of her husband."

Seno said the most susceptible persons to a sour honeymoon are women who have lived with their parents and have made few trips.

"The more the homebody, the more they look forward to a trip — and stretch it too long," he said.

"Many women end up getting homesick. As a result impatience and misunderstanding develop."

Seno emphasized that he wouldn't think of changing the age-old honeymoon tradition.

"A honeymoon is necessary, and if possible both persons should see new, romantic places," he said. "But just don't make it for too long."

Recent vows were exchanged in the Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene by Patricia Morene Smiddy and Elwyn Richard Tatu. The Rev. Thomas C. Riddle performed the rites for the couple whose parents are the John Smiddys of Meadowlawn Drive and the Leo Tatus of Kenilworth Avenue. Chantilly lace accented the bride's gown, of silk organza which she wore with an elbow length veil of illusion. Her flowers were white carnations and rose buds. Follow-up: a northern honeymoon, the couple will reside on East Pike Street.

Carol Sue Minnich and Floyd Earl Stephenson were married recently in the First Baptist Church. Their parents are the Mervel A. Minnichs of Lorraine Court, Mrs. Roland Stephenson of Henderson Street and the late Mr. Stephenson. With her modified sheath gown and train of white Chantilly lace over taffeta the bride wore a lace crown with illusion veil. Red Sweetheart roses centered her bouquet of white carnations.

Keep It Safe—Out-of-Doors

The backyard barbecue is one of America's favorite pastimes. Make sure yours is a safe one. Charcoal briquets are a safe one. Charcoal briquets only out-of-doors, never indoors in an unventilated area. Charcoal briquets give off carbon monoxide, a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas which can poison those who inhale it for any length of time.

Make sure the briquets are entirely cold, and all heat dissipated before you bring them indoors to use another time.

Atomic Energy - III

Public Fear of N-Reactors Hurts Power Program

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third in a series of dispatches telling the story of atomic energy on its 20th birthday. The report was written from Idaho Falls, Idaho, one stop on a 10,000-mile tour.)

By ROBERT COCHRAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
IDAHO FALLS, Idaho —

On December 2, 1942, Warren Nyer took his post on a squash court at the University of Chicago's Stagg Field.

Nyer wasn't playing squash that evening; he was sitting on top of a crude nuclear reactor and operating the rods which would sustain the world's first nuclear chain reaction.

Nyer admits that "it perhaps wasn't the safest place to be." He should know.

Today I found him in charge of nuclear safety technology at the world's largest nuclear test facility, the National Reactor Testing Station near Idaho Falls.

Nyer also admits — no "perhaps" here — that if he had to choose between living next to a chemical plant and an atomic power station, "I'd choose the power station anytime."

SAFETY RECORD

But many of Nyer's fellow citizens want nothing whatever to do with anything even remotely connected with atomic energy, despite the fact that the nuclear industry has chalked up one of the best safety records in the country.

The public's concern has caused a few significant crimpings in the burgeoning nuclear power program.

Fearful Californians caused a utility to postpone plans to build a reactor. A New York utility quietly forgot about building an atomic power station in the Bronx after a former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission was quoted as saying he wouldn't want to live next to one.

Yet residents of Dresden, Ill., who have been living next door to a working reactor for four years, have no fear. Residents of Idaho Falls display no fear of the 20-odd reactors at the testing station, even when some of the reactors are purposely exploded or, as the trade terms it, "take nuclear excursions."

WHY FEAR?

So why the great fear of reactors?

AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg puts it this way:

"To many people, I am sure, nuclear energy is the A-bomb or the H-bomb. But if one examines the facts in the matter, one would find that in about 20 years of operation of reactors, there has not been a single accident that has caused any known injury to the public outside AEC plant areas."

"And the safety record of personnel working inside AEC-contractor plants has been phenomenally good. This safety record is no accident, but is the result of a very careful analysis and control at every stage of nuclear activity."

IDAHO TESTING

Much of this analysis and control is being done at Idaho's huge testing station. Nyer explained to me: "We're trying to understand possible accidents, feed this information into reactor design considerations and eliminate unnecessary restrictions."

"Test reactors at the station are pushed to the limits of their performance. Through these tests, scientists have found reactors are capable of withstanding more abuse than was once thought."

No commercial reactor is pushed even close to the limit. Nyer thinks it may be possible that the AEC itself caused doubt by "unduly emphasizing the negative" aspects of safety.

NOT FIRST-CLASS

"Even though some very high-level brainpower has been concerned with the future of atomic energy and its safety," Nyer says, "we really haven't done a first-class job of transferring this information to the public."

Reactor safety is but one area of the industry's atomic energy safety program. Transporting and storing radioactive wastes—the unwanted byproducts of the nuclear fission process—are perhaps an even greater problem than reactor safety.

There isn't as much waste as there could have been, however. Scientists have developed an ingenious fuel-recovery process which converts a considerable amount of radioactive waste back into usable atomic fuel.

The country's first major advance in treating "radioactive waste," as the trade calls radioactive waste, took place at the testing station's waste calcining facility. This plant is converting radioactive waste solutions in a safer solid form having only one-tenth the volume previously stored.

MUST BE DUMPED

Still, however small in volume, the waste must be dumped somewhere. Since its radioactive half-life is about 100 years, the material must be kept entombed for that period. Big stainless steel drums buried in the Idaho desert hold much of it.

Waste transport and storage have given rise to a thriving new outgrowth industry.

Allied Maintenance, a New York firm engaged in industrial maintenance and janitorial work, has a division to handle radioactive on a contract basis. Other firms avidly compete for the business.

Safety is a fetish with the atomic industry. Even visitors to atomic sites must carry dosimeter sticks and film badges which register radioactivity.

HUSTLED AWAY

And the very occasional employee who absorbs more than the AEC-recommended dosage annually is hustled to an area far removed from radioactivity. This maximum rate is less than a patient receives when he is exposed to X rays from a conventional hospital machine.

After the hue and cry over radiation were raised, scientists made a comparative study of radioactive discharge from the smokestacks of conventional coal-burning power plants and nuclear plants.

And according to Dr. Merrill Eisenbud of the New York University Medical Center, "electrical generating stations that

NO DISMISSAL

No one can totally dismiss the possibility of an accident in the nuclear industry — or any other industry. But Dr. Seaborg has said this:

"The probability of a serious accident is extremely low. The likelihood of a dangerous consequence should a serious accident occur is even lower. The possibilities for such improbable accidents in many other areas of our technological society are not given equivalent attention."

FBI Chief Says Communist Diplomats in U.S. Threat to Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Communist diplomatic personnel in the United States are a dangerous threat to national security, J. Edgar Hoover said today.

"The great majority of the 800 Communist-bloc official persons stationed in the United States," the FBI director said, "protected by the privilege of diplomatic immunity, have engaged in intelligence assignments and are a dangerous threat to the security of the United States."

In a fiscal year-end report pointing with pride to FBI accomplishments, Hoover said members of the American Communist party "continued to constitute a major disruptive influence on the national scene" during the year.

He added: "Concentrating particularly on youth, Communists launched widespread propaganda campaigns designed to enlist support for a determined and vicious attack on American foreign policies and to foment confusion and create disorder in regard to the nation's efforts to resolve the racial situation."

PICKETS NOT RED

Hoover echoed the opinion of his superior, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, in emphasizing that racial and student demonstrations that went on throughout the year was neither instigated nor controlled by Communists.

However, he said: "Communists used the opportunities presented to infiltrate many of the demonstrations and exploit them to their benefit in line with their own objectives."

He said Communists in this country today are confident that they will increase their numbers and influence on the national scene in the coming year.

The FBI director reported a number of record-breaking statistics piled up by his investigators over the fiscal year that ended June 30:

—Fines, savings and recoveries totaled more than $235 million, representing, he said, a return of $1.46 for every FBI dollar appropriated.

—Convictions in FBI cases exceeded 13,000, the highest total for any peacetime year, and convictions were recorded against 96.4 per cent of all persons brought to trial in FBI cases.

—28,417 stolen motor vehicles were recovered.

—More than 3,300 violators of the Fugitive Felon Act were located—including 18 who were among the FBI's "most wanted fugitives."

It's Bargain Day at Buffalo Bank

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old steelworker who went to the bank for a $1,000 loan was amazed when the bank gave it to him as a gift.

Officials of the Marine Trust Co. of Western New York handed Henry A. Kawa of suburban Orchard Park ten $100 bills Tuesday and marked his loan paid in full.

A bank spokesman said that last month the bank noticed it had granted 650,000 loans and decided to make a gift of a loan sought by its 700,000th customer.

Kawa was No. 700,000.

Fewer than 11 per cent of the nation's farms had electric service in 1935. Today about 96.1 per cent of the 3.4 million farms have electricity.

Junior Editors Quiz on SAILBOATS

QUESTION: How can sailboats sail into the wind?

ANSWER: This question often puzzles persons unacquainted with sailing. Since the wind blows boats along, how can it blow them against itself?

No boat can sail directly into the wind. In the picture, Jerry and Jack are sailing their pram-type sailboats across the harbor toward a dock which is close to the lighthouse.

Yet the wind is coming from the direction of the lighthouse. The white lines show the paths the boys will take to get to the dock. If their boats can't sail directly into the wind, they can sail into it at about a 45-degree angle from where it's coming.

So they angle up in one direction, then turn the boat's bow around and angle up in another. Following these zig-zag paths (called beating to windward) both boys will end up at the lighthouse dock.

The diagrams show how they can angle into the wind.

(1) show air currents flowing over an airplane wing. Air currents passing over the curving top create a lifting up force.

In (2) you see the same lifting force working in front of a boat's curving sail. In (3) you see how the boats keel or centerboard prevents it from being pushed sideways. Part of the wind's force striking the inside of the sail also helps to shove it ahead.

FOR YOU TO DO: Beating has become such a popular sport that there is a chance you may see sailboats in action sometime this summer. Figure out where the wind is coming from and then notice the zigzag courses of those boats sailing into it, called sailing to windward.

Waterford Home Damaged by Fire

An estimated $12,000 fire, apparently caused by an electrical appliance, struck the Donald Bennett residence, 2515 Winkelman, Waterford Township, late yesterday morning.

Township firemen said damage included $8,000 to the building and $4,000 to contents. The fire was reported by a neighbor.

No one was home at the time, according to firemen, who quenched the blaze in approximately 30 minutes.

President Cleveland's first elective office was ward supervisor in Buffalo, N.Y., in 1862.
