Tax Issue Defeats Courthouse Plan

Leonard Is Nominated for Governor by GOP

Voters Approve Bonds but Fail to OK Millage

Authorization for Levy Lacks 1,154 Votes in Unofficial Tally

Oakland County voters Tuesday turned down immediate construction of a new courthouse.

They gave approval to a $4,500,000 bond issue to build a courthouse, but rejected a necessary one-half mill tax to guarantee retirement of the bonds.

The plan required approval of both propositions to become valid.

The unofficial vote by property owners on the bond issue was 20,493 "yes" and 18,529 "no." The ballot by all eligible voters on the tax increase found 20,443 in favor and 21,596 opposed.

The Pontiac vote was a heavy contributor to the plan's downfall. Local voters opposed the bond issue by a majority of about 700 votes and said "no" to the tax increase by some 1,100 ballots.

County Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt said the bond issue was "a dead duck" without the tax hike.

"We can't issue bonds without assurance that money to pay them off will be available," he said.

"Now it would take another vote on both questions to approve a new building."

The vote in the county's south end yesterday split over the proposed building. Sizable "yes" majorities were recorded in Birmingham, Royal Oak and Ferndale. Hazel Park, Berkley and Oak Park were opposed.

Sections of the county north, east and west of Pontiac split about evenly.

The bond issue vote was decided on last January by the County Board of Supervisors after (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Five Defeated by Broomfield

GOP Nominee for State Senate Tops Rivals by 8,000 Votes

William S. Broomfield of Royal Oak left the nearest of five opponents more than 8,000 votes behind in winning the Republican nomination as state senator.

With one city precinct unreported, Broomfield amassed 14,054 votes. His nearest rival, Royal Oak Mayor Howard K. Kelley, received 5,813 votes.

On the Democratic ballot Fred Elias of Hazel Park defeated Fred L. Hanscom of Royal Oak 9,857 to 7,299.

Broomfield, who had served as a state representative from the Fourth District since 1948, will face Elias in November.

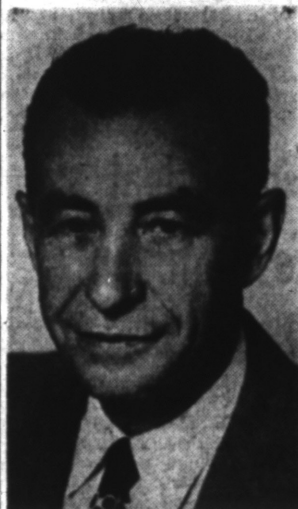

Third highest in the Republican Senate race was Frank M. Granger of Orionville who polled 3,645 votes. Richard D. Kuhn of Pontiac was given 3,399 votes; Edward Morey of Milford, 2,149; and Anthony Renne of Pontiac, 1,079.

The Republican race was without an incumbent, as State Sen. George N. Higgins of Ferndale decided not to seek renomination. Higgins has announced his candidacy for the Michigan secretary of state post.

Berkley Chief Leads Incumbent by Wide Margin

GOP Choice to Oppose George Hicks for Post in November Race

Frank Irons, Berkley Police chief, won the Republican nomination for sheriff in Tuesday's primary when he piled up more than a 7,000 vote margin over the incumbent sheriff, Clare L. Hubbell.

Irons, 55, of 2660 Sunnyknoll, Berkley, polled 17,472 votes to Hubbell's 10,177 in an unofficial tally of 207 of the county's 208 precincts.

The new Republican candidate will oppose Democrat George D. Hicks, 48, of 16 N. Johnson Ave., Pontiac, in the Nov. 6 election. Hicks was unopposed for the nomination.

Taking an early lead, Irons kept piling up votes in south Oakland County and Waterford Township.

In Waterford, where voters have been involved in a battle to reinstate ousted police chief Frank Van Atta, an admitted Irons backer, Hubbell pulled only 375 votes to Irons' 1,858.

In Irons' home city, voters rallied to give the victor 1,701 to Hubbell's 79. Hubbell carried only 21 of the total number of precincts counted and those by narrow margins. They are Farmington city and Township, four precincts; Addison Township, one precinct; Avon Township, six precincts; Pleasant Ridge, two precincts; and six Pontiac city precincts.

The other two Republican candidates fared as follows: Robert R. Copeman, 1,790, and Gordon W. Deneau, 2,139. Irons, a resident of the county 31 years, has been chief of the Berkley department since 1926. He joined the force in 1924.

City Democrats Nominate Hudson for Legislature

Incumbent Leann Harrelson of Pontiac was defeated in his attempt to win his fourth nomination as Democratic state representative from the second district Tuesday by Leslie H. Hudson.

Sutton Opposes Rep. Dondero

Royal Oak Democrat Wins by Wide Margin in Primary

Paul Sutton of Royal Oak, a first-time candidate for public office on the Democratic ticket, will oppose veteran Congressman George A. Dondero in the November election in the 18th district.

The 44-year-old radio actor defeated Zigmund J. Niparko, 34-year-old Hazel Park mayor, and William A. Welsh, 55, a Royal Oak attorney, by a wide margin in yesterday's primary.

Sutton garnered 9,558 votes to Niparko's 5,482 and Welsh's 4,290. He will face Dondero, also of Royal Oak, in the Nov. 6 general election.

Unopposed on the Republican ticket, Dondero received his party's nomination. He is seeking his 13th term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Although active in Royal Oak city politics, Sutton never sought office before. He has been a member of the Royal Oak Democratic Committee since 1951 and resigned as its chairman this year to seek the nomination.

Results in other districts for nomination as Democratic state representative showed Donald L. Swanson beating Jack Moskowitz with a vote of 1,523 to 974 in the fourth district.

Walter T. McMahon topped a field of four candidates for nomination in the sixth district when he polled 1,586 votes. Carl Thom received 1,317; Charles D. Arnold, 1,105 and Barney J. McGrath, 577.

Unopposed were Donald E. Adams, first district; William G. Lambros, third district and Michael F. Cox, fifth district.

Republican nominees for state representative were opposed in five districts with Huthwaite the only unopposed candidate.

Fred G. Beardsley, incumbent, polled 3,081 to defeat Louis Dorman Jr., who received 1,710 in the first district. Richard C. VanDusen, incumbent, was renominated in the third district with 5,652 votes as opposed to 806 for Wallace R. Furber.

Theodore F. Hughes was given 2,093 votes in the fourth district to defeat Robert A. Burns with 1,670 and Charles Trickey Jr. with 867.

Fifth district victor was Vernald F. Horn who polled 3,605 votes while William F. Voebel received 1,026 and Oscar A. Gorelick 750.

Bruce P. Wheeler defeated Gordon D. Haupt for the sixth district nomination by a vote of 771 to 699.

Ex-State Police Head to Run Against Williams

Brake Is Runner-Up; Voters Choose Hart to Go Along on Dem Ticket

By JACK I. GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—Donald S. Leonard crushed three more experienced campaigners in Tuesday's primary election to win the Republican nomination for governor and a chance to knock Gov. G. Mennen Williams off his three-term throne.

With 3,406 of the state's 4,783 precincts reporting, the 51-year-old Leonard rolled up a total of 140,835 votes. D. Hale Brake, veteran state treasurer, was running second in the voting with a total of 99,479.

Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary polled 79,542 and Dr. Eugene C. Keyes trailed the field with 59,921.

Williams, 43, was renominated without opposition.

The governor's own victory was outclassed in his own mind by the smashing vote of confidence given him by Democrats who nominated Philip A. Hart, 40, of Birmingham for lieutenant governor.

With 3,323 of the states 4,783 precincts tallied, Hart was leading George S. Fitzgerald, 52, of Detroit, 172,601 to 58,897.

This seemed to justify Williams' unprecedented appeal to the party to give him Hart for a running mate and read Fitzgerald out of the party. Fitzgerald was the candidate of the powerful AFL Teamsters' Union.

Patrick V. McNamara, 39, of Detroit, another AFL official, won the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator hands down.

McNamara polled 117,081 votes from 3,088 of the state's 4,783 precincts.

But there was an amazing "memorial" vote for the late Blair Moody whom death removed from the primary race two weeks before the election. Moody received 65,199 votes from the same number of precincts.

U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson was renominated by Republicans with (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

U. S. Seen Going to War If China Tackles Formosa

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Communist China makes a major attack on the Nationalist island of Formosa, the United States will go to war. Every top official willing to discuss American policy publicly or privately agrees on that.

But the Eisenhower administration is not willing, at least for the time being, to make that pledge in a formal treaty with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of the Chinese Nationalists.

Almost no responsible authority wants to talk about this aspect of American policy. It is too much of a diplomatic hot potato.

Yet it is a fact that the American leadership now gives evidence of being whipsawed on a global scale over a policy issue which seems to be deeply involved in the problem of an alliance with Formosa.

The issue is this: Is the United States preparing for war in the view that it is inevitable, or is it directing all its efforts toward avoiding war, without losing honor, in the hope of success?

At one extreme on this issue is South Korea's President Syngman Rhee, who has gone about this country on his current visit vigorously advocating combat to solve the problems of Asia, and particularly of divided Korea.

Rhee was rebuffed by President Eisenhower. Instead of the strong public statement he wanted, Rhee was persuaded to join Eisenhower in a general declaration of desire to unify Korea by peaceful means.

At the other extreme is India with its policy of neutrality, as between communism and the West, in the cold war. India's position

Three Men Test Marksmanship on Automobile

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Three "Dan'l Boones" couldn't find a b'ar to test their marksmanship on yesterday. So they riddled Frank Jaszarszewski's automobile with nine .45-caliber automatic slugs and 10 from a .22-caliber rifle, peppering the right tires, rear glass and right side. He said he noticed three men shooting at a nearby tree when he parked to go fishing in the Ohio River. He returned to find his car shot up and the men gone.

Interview Given by Archbishop

Dr. Fisher Says People Must Be Better Before Peace Is Possible

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — "We must make people better before we can have peace and a better world," says the Archbishop of Canterbury, here for tonight's start of the World Anglican Congress.

Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher went on last night in an interview to discount any growth of friction between his native England and America.

"It is pure nonsense that anybody is driving a wedge between England and America," he said. "We criticize you and you criticize us. But criticism is the function of friends—and thank God for it."

Dr. Fisher said that the free world should be busy trying to settle its own "troubled waters" rather than fighting communism.

"Communists love to fish in troubled waters, so it is these troubled waters rather than communism with which we are dealing."

The archbishop, with Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America, will lead a religious procession of the 600 delegates from all over the world as the congress convenes tonight.

It will be the first such meeting in 46 years, the last having been held in London in 1908.

Leaders call the Anglican family the most decentralized organization in the world, with 14 separate national churches and 327 provinces. The Book of Common Prayer is the basic tie of the Anglican family.

Almost 130 million motor vehicles have been produced and purchased in the U.S. since 1900, two million more than all the rest of the world.

Very Poor Girl Likes Very Rich Boy

Financial Differences Shadow Love

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 16, my family is very poor, and I'm in love with a boy whose family is very rich.

"I don't know what I'd do if he ever wanted to come over to my house, or if I were ever invited to his house to meet his parents. I would be embarrassed to death.

"He calls me a lot but doesn't know about my family's financial condition, nor does he think I know about his.

"I'm not so much afraid of what he would think, but of what his parents would think and say. I need your advice badly."

Your friendship with this boy seems to have proceeded and progressed entirely outside of your homes. If he likes you as much as you like him, it's because of your personality, your appearance, your disposition, your attitude toward things. It's not because of the worldly goods your family may or may not possess.

But you — the girl he likes — are the direct result of your family's love, care and upbringing.

The sunniness of your disposition may be your mother's example. Your generosity and big-heartedness are the result of your having to share. Your ingenuity and resourcefulness are the result of having to make do with what there is.

If he likes you just as you are, he will like your parents who helped to make you that way. He will appreciate the happiness and helpfulness that can be found in your home. He will recognize real riches when he sees them.

There's pride to be taken in the most modest home that is clean, tidy and happy. There is no pride to be taken in an elaborate mansion if it is not a happy home.

Why should you be embarrassed? Your home is where you live with the family you love. You certainly are not ashamed of them. His home is where he lives. Should you be invited there, behave in your normally quiet, simple, well-mannered way.

The occasion may never arise for you to meet each other's parents. Many teenage romances bloom and wither before they reach that stage. So why churn now over something that may never happen? And why worry about the possibility that it should?

If the sight of your home blinds him to your attractiveness and desirability, he just doesn't like you enough. That, and that alone, should persuade you to forget him.

Easily Washed Leather Is Tops

Say it with leather. That's one of the latest theme songs among fashion designers. And it's no wonder for new processes have made leather an entirely practical proposition for sports, leisure, and even dressy clothes.

Not the least of their charms, of course, is the fact that leather fashions can be kept clean by simply wiping them off with a soapy cloth — you can even "wash" your leather outfits after you put them on, if need be!

It's significant in this soap-and-water age that designers didn't promote leather fashions on a wide scale until they became easily washable. If we can't wash it, we don't want to wear it!

It isn't the minutes you put in at the table that make you fat — it's the seconds.

Floor Wax Shouldn't Be Gummy

By HUBBARD COBB

When a floor is waxed, the wax is supposed to produce a hard non-absorbing protective film.

If the wax on your floors is gummy and walking over the floor feels as if you were a fly on fly-paper, something is amiss.

Before wax is applied to a floor, the surface must be clean and free of all the old wax. Removing the old wax can be done easily with a commercial wax solvent. As far as the dirt goes, this will respond to warm soapy water.

The great trick to keep in mind when applying wax is to make the coats just as thin as possible, give them time to dry and then give them a thorough polishing. If any of these steps are omitted, you'll get a slippery or gummy job for your troubles.

If you are using paste wax, apply about three coats for best results. Apply the wax in just as thin a coat as you possibly can and then let it sit for about 30 minutes.

At the end of this time, take an electric polisher and give it a good polishing. Do the same with the second and the third coats.

Now once you have the wax on, you shouldn't have to bother with it for quite a spell.

Clean by dusting with a dry soft mop and if the floor is stained, wipe off the stains at once with a damp cloth.

If all goes well, the wax job should last for a good many months. When it finally shows signs of wear and imbedded dirt, remove the old coating and apply a fresh one.

O'Connell, Ziem in Race for County Prosecutor Post

Robert L. O'Connell, 27, of Birmingham eked out a narrow victory over his Democratic opponent for nomination in the prosecutor's race Tuesday to earn a chance to face Republican incumbent Frederick C. Ziem in the November election.

O'Connell, of 1587 Henrietta St., tallied 8,886 votes in unofficial returns to his foe's, Maurice E. Tripp, 7,529.

A University of Detroit graduate, O'Connell has a private law practice and is a World War II veteran.

Ziem, unopposed in the primary, is seeking his second term as prosecutor. Living at 2127 Garland, Sylvan Lake, he served as assistant prosecutor in 1947 and chief assistant in 1950.

Uncontested primary candidates for other county offices who will appear on the November ballot include:

Clerk: incumbent Lynn D. Allen, Republican; and Neil R. Crowe, Democrat; treasurer: Donald E. Barrett, Democrat; and incumbent Charles A. Sparks, Republican; register of deeds: Hazel A. Kuschinsky, Democrat, and incumbent Orion McQuaid, Republican; drain commissioner: Glenn D. Harper, Democrat and incumbent Ralph A. Main, Republican; and surveyor: incumbent Omar E. MacNutt, Republican.

Crew Lauded for Safe Crash

All 37 Aboard Unhurt as Airliner Plunges Into Potato Field

NORWICH, Conn. (U)—A Civil Aeronautics Board official has recorded "an excellent job" for the Air France crew who brought an airliner to a fiery crash landing in a potato field without death to any of the 37 persons aboard.

Joseph O. Fluet, chief regional safety investigator for the CAB, talked with members of the crew last night.

He declined to say what might have caused the crash of the transatlantic Constellation, but told newsmen:

"Under the circumstances, the crew did an excellent job in getting the plane down without fatalities."

Two other CAB investigators accompanied Fluet. State officials also were on hand.

Six passengers and two crewmen were hospitalized after the plane, bucking rain and a low ceiling, plowed into the field and burst into flames yesterday at nearby Preston, Conn. One of the passengers was in critical condition today.

Copilot Jean Rousseau said last night that gasoline was running low, "and the forced landing was the only thing to do to avoid a major catastrophe."

"We just didn't realize the terrain below was as rough as it turned out to be," he added.

An Air France representative, Frank J. Foley, said here last night that the airline would issue a statement in New York today concerning the crash.

The four-engine airliner, en route from Paris to Mexico City, had a scheduled stop at Idlewild airport in New York City. The pilot, Capt. Jean Caboche, 43, missed an approach at Idlewild in bad weather and decided on an emergency landing at Preston, 130 miles away.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration's regional office in New York said the plane could have landed at Idlewild. The CAA said it was raining hard there, but conditions were far above minimums for safety. Records showed planes landed at Idlewild before and after Caboche missed his approach.

Twelve among the 29 passengers and 8 crew members were listed as injured, some only superficially. Three children on the plane—aged 2 years and 9 years—escaped injury.

The plane came to a halt with flames shooting from a wing. The passengers scrambled out to the field before the flames reached them. The plane burned two hours and was destroyed.

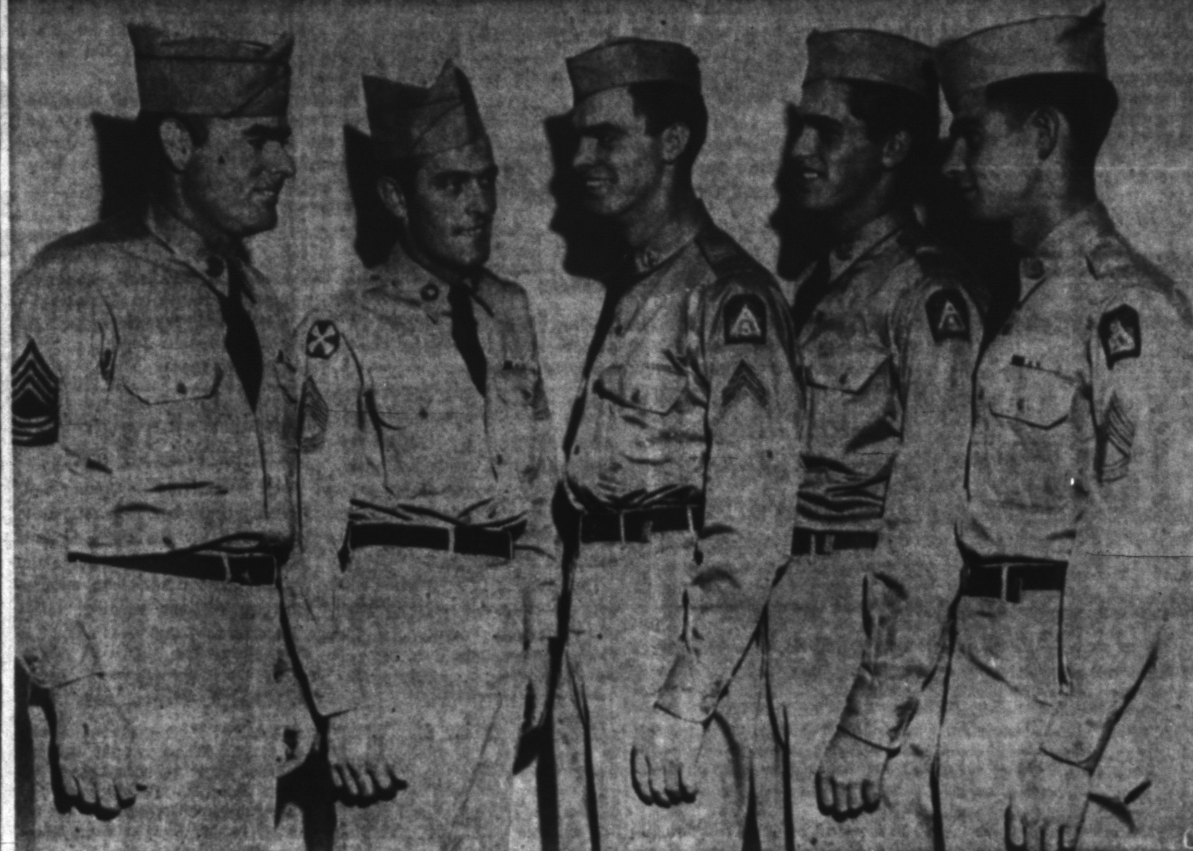

Millard Rules on Checking Petition Names

LANSING (U)—Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard held today that the state can investigate the validity of signatures on partisan nominating petitions filed with the secretary of state—but not any filed with the county clerks.

Millard said the county clerks do not have statutory or constitutional authority to go behind the face of petitions and that therefore such power cannot be given it by the state board of canvassers or the secretary of state.

County clerks are limited, he said, to determining whether petition signers are registered voters. No agency, Millard said, has authority to check the signatures on non-partisan judicial nominating petitions.

In another opinion, Millard held that neither the state nor justices of peace should return suspended driver licenses to a person who has been convicted of drunk driving and appealed.

Giant Birthday Fete Aug. 10 Marks Hoover's 80th Year

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (U)—A birthday celebration, the like of which Iowa has never before seen and probably can never duplicate, will be his native state's newest tribute to Herbert Hoover.

Thousands will gather Tuesday, August 10, in this community of 750 population, where the former President of the United States was born to a village blacksmith and his Quaker schoolteacher wife, 80 years ago.

Iowa is going all out to honor Hoover that day.

He comes to West Branch by special invitation, extended in formal resolution last year, by the Iowa legislature. Gov. William S. Beardsley has proclaimed Aug. 10 "Herbert Hoover" day; and urged attention to the "industry, integrity and sense of public obligation which made this native Iowan one of the world's great men."

So, Tuesday will be West Branch's biggest day in years. There will be many reminders of those great times when Hoover held the highest office in the land.

Associates of Hoover administration days and a number of other specially invited guests will reflect the eminence of the guest of honor.

President Eisenhower will be represented by Vice President Nixon. Among those who have made hotel reservations in nearby Iowa City and Cedar Rapids are governors, former governors, generals, college heads, close friends and relatives.

The latter will include both sons, Herbert Hoover Jr., and Allan Hoover, and their families.

Already Congress has extended its felicitations to Hoover on his 80th birthday's imminence. That was by concurrent resolution last month.

Members of the second Hoover Commission, now working on recommendations for reorganizing the executive branch of the federal government, are offering him a honorific scroll which notes:

"The new Hoover Commission and the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report present this distinguished service citation to the Honorable Herbert Hoover on the occasion of his 80th birthday, with warmest congratulations and in recognition of his unflagging devotion and out-standing contributions in behalf of federal reorganization to eradicate waste and insure better government for all Americans."

The scroll, bearing the names of 125 commission members, will be presented by John Stuart, Chicago, board chairman of Quaker Oats Co.

But the university president, Virgil M. Hancher, will give Hoover an honorary doctor of laws degree, and here at the birthday program.

Hoover will dedicate a new elementary school named in his honor. He will visit his birthplace cottage, now preserved as a historic shrine; attend a picnic with friends in the community park, and receive the Hoover Commission scroll.

The afternoon's formal program will include tributes in addresses.

Hoover's own speech will be televised by CBS, NBC and independent Iowa TV stations and carried by the four major radio networks.

Hoover then goes on to Iowa City for dedication of another Hoover school and to Cedar Rapids and Mason City for the dedication of two more.

Aluminum Co. Walkout Ends

Reynolds Workers Get Contract With 5-Cent Wage Increase

WASHINGTON (U)—A strike by CIO steelworkers at two aluminum plants of the Reynolds Metals Co. was ended early today after negotiators drafted a new contract granting workers a 5-cent hourly wage increase.

J. Lewis Reynolds, a vice president of the company, said improvements in fringe benefits (pensions, insurance, etc.) also were agreed to under a new two-year contract retroactive to Aug. 1.

The settlement, negotiated with the help of federal mediators, ended a threat that the strike would extend to six other company plants.

Some 2,500 union workers struck Sunday and Monday at Reynolds plants at Phoenix, Ariz., and Troutdale, Ore. Another 7,500 workers at the six other plants had been expected to walk out if an early agreement had not been reached.

The new contract follows the pattern of a recent contract settlement at Aluminum Co. of America plants, which also provided for a 5-cent-an-hour wage boost.

Contract talks had collapsed over union demands that clauses covering vacations and weekend premium pay be made uniform in the eight plants. Reynolds said the new contract "is in the direction of uniformity."

Union officials could not be reached immediately for comment. Plants where walkouts had been threatened are at Arkadelphia, Jones Mill, Hurricane Creek and Little Rock, all in Arkansas, and at McCook and La Grande, Ill.

Defeated Leaders Pledge Support of the Winners

DETROIT (UP)—Comments of Michigan political leaders on Tuesday's primary election:

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who was renominated for governor on the Democratic ticket: "Phil Hart's decisive victory (the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor) proves he is an excellent vote getter and strong campaigner. ... I am happy that the Democratic voters of Michigan have chosen him as my running mate."

D. Hale Brake, state treasurer who failed to win the GOP nomination for Governor: "I concede the election to Mr. Leonard and congratulate the victory. I will carry out my pledge of support in the coming campaign."

Donald Leonard, successful GOP nominee for Governor: "I am very happy at the results and humbly grateful to the people of Michigan. ... I wish ... to express my admiration and respect for my opponents who have contributed ... to unity by conducting a clean campaign. ... I feel, after talking with citizens all over Michigan, that they are opposed to an unprecedented fourth term. ..."

Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman: "The vote ... clearly shows that this can be a Democratic year. The voters want Democratic government restored to Washington, retained and increased in Lansing, and extended in county offices throughout the state. The election of McNamara, Hart, and a Democratic state ticket, the removal of incumbent Republican congressmen and the election of more Democratic state legislators ... are the goals of the Democratic party."

George Felkens, GOP state chairman: "We are going to unite solidly behind Donald S. Leonard. ... I want to congratulate the primary candidates for their fine campaign and for their sportsmanship in this election which all knew that only one could win. Unlike the opposition, the Republican party has come through this campaign unscathed and is united to make its nominee ... the next governor of Michigan."

Secretary of State Owen Cleary: "I extend my heartfelt congratulations to Don Leonard ... and wish him all success in the campaign ahead. I am a Republican yesterday and I am a Republican today. I shall bend every effort for complete victory for our party in November."

UM Botany Classes Attract 75 Students

ANN ARBOR—Open air classes in botany and zoology have attracted 75 students to the University of Michigan's biological station near Cheboygan.

Established 46 years ago, it is the largest such station in the world. Covering 9,000 acres, the camp has many types of soil, tree and water conditions, thereby supporting a wealth of plant and animal life for the student-researchers.

The field station consists of some 150 buildings, including libraries, photographic rooms, aquarium and 16 laboratories. The rows of cabins housing the students and faculty border the beach overlooking Lake Douglas. Swimming, boating and picnics are planned for the students' off-hours.

The summer courses will be completed August 14, while independent investigators and advanced students may continue to stay at the camp.

Capehart Heads Probe Group

FHA Suspends Chief Los Angeles Appraiser for Clamming Up

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said today the "deep underworld" is "up to its neck" in an organized swindle of thousands of home owners talked into shoddy home repairs financed with government-insured loans.

Capehart heads the Senate Banking Committee, currently looking into reports of irregularities in government housing programs.

It called today for testimony from New York builder Ian Woodner, described as sponsor of 24 government-backed apartment projects, and Edward Carmack, of Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The Federal Housing Administration announced suspension of its chief Los Angeles appraiser, John W. Salmon, for "refusal to answer questions regarding certain financial transactions involving builders operating in the Los Angeles area."

A brief FHA announcement last night said that "preliminary investigations" by the government's chief housing cleanup official, William F. McKenna, indicates "payments of large sums of money by builders doing business with the FHA for the use or benefit of Mr. Salmon or members of his immediate family."

Capehart was careful to make clear in an interview that he was not alleging any connection between Salmon's dismissal and his accusation that big-time racketeers are abusing the home-repair program. On the latter point, he said:

"There is no question now but that the deep underworld has had its paws in this till, up to the elbow. The boys have really gone to town on this government-insured repair program."

Capehart's comment followed refusal by a Chicago man to answer questions at a committee hearing yesterday.

The witness, Richard Vidaver, pleaded the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer all questions except those asking his name and address. Among other things, he refused to say whether he had ever worked with a man named Harry Cane.

Harry Cane, committee investigator said, is the brother-in-law of racketeer figure Mickey Cohen, now serving a five-year sentence for income tax evasion.

Committee subpoenas have been ordered served on Cane three times within the last few weeks, staff members said, but he cannot be located.

Capehart declined to say whether his committee plans to seek testimony from Cohen. But other committee sources said such an effort would be made.

UM Slates Meet on Improving Judge Selection

ANN ARBOR—Should Michigan judges be elected or appointed? When their terms end, should they seek to win a competitive re-election or should they be voted on only according to their records?

These are among a number of vital questions to be discussed by lawyers and laymen alike at the University of Michigan Aug. 20 when the law school holds an institute on improving the method of judicial selection in Michigan.

Topic of considerable talk will be the Michigan plan of selecting judges which, according to the State Bar of Michigan (SBM), combines the best of the elective system and the best of the appointive system.

Under the plan, a judicial vacancy would be filled by one of three persons whose names had been submitted to the governor by a judicial commission of seven persons.

At the end of about two years, the person appointed would come up for election by the persons in his district who would vote only on the man's record as to whether or not he was to continue in office.

He would not have to compete with others seeking that post. If he was not elected, the commission would again select names for submission to the governor.

The institute will be held in the University's Rackham Building and will get under way at 9:30 a.m. with a talk on "The Methods of Selecting Judges," by Prof. Charles W. Joiner of the U-M Law School.

8 Communities OK Street Use for Public Works

Voters in eight southeastern Oakland County communities yesterday gave their governing bodies "irrevocable permission" to use public streets for sewers, drains and water mains.

The measure was passed by large majorities in Birmingham, Royal Oak, Ferndale, Huntington Woods, Pleasant Ridge, Berkley, Clawson and Royal Oak Township.

Passage of the authorization was necessitated in order to finance and construct needed additional water facilities in the eight communities. The eight are all joined in the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority.

William Taylor of Port Huron was killed instantly.

His father, Harrison, 31, a Port Huron theater manager; his mother, Rolla, 24, and brother, Richard, 2, were taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens with serious injuries.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Bush of Oak Park, who was alone in the other car, is in temporarily serious condition.

She is to be questioned later today. Sheriff's deputies say she ran a red light.

Pontiac Major Warns of Korean Danger

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

A critical tenseness now gripping divided Korea may explode into another shooting war, a recently discharged Pontiac major told the Pontiac Press today.

Maj. John McCormick, 34, of 24 Euclid St., after spending 3½ years with 8th Army Headquarters in Seoul, said the tension "could only lead" to an end of the year-old armistice between the Reds and the United Nations troops.

Active hostility draws closer, McCormick said, as Communist and U. N. forces are still face-to-face on firing lines, only separated by a mile of no-man's land.

"Our soldiers are still in their bunkers. Our guns are pointed toward the Communies in the hills, said McCormick who was separated from the Army last week.

"We are maintaining a strong force at the front, even though our main lines of resistance are pulled back slightly."

The heavily guarded South Korea front, explains McCormick, is prompted by increasing rearmament, building up of supply lines and man-power reinforcements by the Reds north of the 38th Parallel.

Infiltration by harassing Red spies into the Republic of Korea has added to the tense situation, he said.

An "extensive program" not generally known in recent months, McCormick disclosed, is being carried out by U. N. commands to halt the Reds if the new build-up in power means attack.

"Although soldiers are being sent home on rotation plans, new men are being poured into position as replacements," also disclosed McCormick, recently completing 12 years of service with the Army.

He said tension is heightened by the embittered attitude of the South Koreans.

Pace in Korea is impossible until the country is unified."

South Koreans would force an immediate war against the Reds for unification, if it weren't for President Syngman Rhee's restraint upon ultra-nationalistic groups.

McCormick said, "People in the south are anxious to invade the Red-held North and eliminate the Communist pressure."

Usually in contact with civilians, McCormick also quoted a South Korean attorney as saying, "The people know they can't live as a divided nation, with constant impending fear caused by the truce violations from North Korea."

McCormick said that U. N. inspection teams are aware of the present condition, especially the tension hanging over the neutral zone, separating both sides.

A major flare-up could also stem from minor incidents occurring in the mile-long neutral zone.

As head of the ordinance section for all U. N. troops, McCormick said he was involved in such an incident while salvaging equipment in the demilitarized zone.

"I was struck on the head by a Red infiltrator. When I regained consciousness my assailant had fled," McCormick said. He explained that a rifle shot by the attacker could have attracted the attention of friendly troops.

The former major, decorated with the silver star by Gen. Mark Clark in World War II, could offer no solution for permanent peace in Korea.

"Division of the country and the attitude of the people make it impossible for a long-lasting peace in Korea," he said.

Reports by civilians, U. N. inspection teams and front-line soldiers—that the Reds are building a powerful war machine prohibited by truce negotiations—creates a situation beyond peaceful solution, he pointed out.

North Koreans and Red pilots who have sought U. N. asylum, also report continuous war building by the Reds.

Some Koreans coming from the north, he added, also report that Russians are aiding the Reds' efforts for greater armament, future planning and providing technical information.

McCormick, summarizing South Koreans skeptical attitude, said, "When you can't accomplish real peace at a Geneva Conference, it must be done in the battle fields."

"Koreans feel they have learned that much when we stopped at the Yalu River."

CHICAGO—Grain prices scored modest gains on the Board of Trade today. Buying was based in part on a private crop forecast which lowered estimated production of corn and soybeans from a month ago.

Trading was not particularly active but there was a noticeable lack of selling pressure in all pits. Oats alone had a tendency to lag. The technical position of soybeans seemed to be improved after the sharp declines of the two previous sessions.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/2 to 1 cent higher, September $2.07 1/2, corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $1.61, oats 1/4 to 1/2 higher, September $1.13 1/4, soybeans 1/4 to 1 cent higher, September $13.13 and 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents to 1 1/2 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $15.05.
