White House Rips Steel Price Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House labeled as "irresponsible" today the moves of price-hoarding steel producers, complaining they acted without talking over the situation with the government beforehand.

A statement was put out at the White House in the name of Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

In response to a question, press secretary Bill D. Moyers said it would be fair to assume that Johnson discussed the matter with Ackley before the statement was issued.

A short time earlier U.S. Steel, the giant of the industry, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. had joined the parade of other firms which have announced price increases since Tuesday.

Ackley's statement did not put an inflationary tag on the announced price increases. However, when asked if the administration did deem it inflationary, insisted that Ackley is "very concerned about the impact of these increases on the economy and on the goods that utilize steel."

WIRES SENT

Ackley said that immediately after Inland Steel announced on Tuesday its plans to raise prices, he wired each of the other 12 largest steel companies to "urgently request that your company take no action prior to discussion with the government."

The economist said the first four firms to follow Inland's lead acted "without the prior discussion which I requested."

"In my view, the action of these companies can only be characterized as irresponsible. They were unwilling even to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Senate Chiefs Back Air Strike Compromise

May Order Workers Back, Allow LBJ to Hold Them 5 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders joined today in backing a compromise plan that would have Congress send striking airline mechanics back to work for a month, and empower President Johnson to keep them there for five months.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-

SLAYER'S WIFE BURIED—The body of Mrs. Charles J. Whitman was carried from the Needville (Tex.) Methodist Church yesterday following the funeral service in her home town. Her husband was shot to death by police Tuesday after killing 12 persons by firing powerful guns from the University of Texas Tower at Austin. He earlier had killed his wife and mother.

Ill., said they will be among the sponsors of that proposal.

Mansfield said he hopes the Senate will decide before the day is out that Congress should do about the four-week airline walkout.

A major alternative awaiting a Senate decision is legislation that would leave to Johnson the task of forcing an end to the strike.

And there was talk also of foregoing any kind of legislation to end the strike.

DIVIDES RESPONSIBILITY

"There are some people who don't want any legislation but I don't think they'll drag it on," Mansfield said as the Senate opened its third day of debate on strike measures.

The compromise proposal would divide strike-stopping responsibility between Congress and the President in these three steps:

1. Congress would order the strikers back to their jobs for 30 days.

2. The President could appoint a special airlines dispute panel to serve as mediators in contract bargaining. This action would freeze the situation and keep the men on their jobs for another 90 days.

3. If an agreement is not worked out in that period, the President could extend the panel's efforts and the back-to-work freeze for another 90 days.

2 Shots 'Equally Fatal' in Barrage on Sniper

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Charles J. Whitman, the University of Texas tower sniper who killed 15 persons Monday, received "two equally fatal" wounds in the barrage of police gunfire that ended his terror rampage.

But a news conference concerning the autopsy did not immediately report whether Whitman was under the influence of drugs when he killed his victims.

Justice of the Peace Jerry Dellana said he had instructed pathologists making the autopsy to search for dexamine in Whitman's blood.

Dellana said such pills — called good balls — were found in Whitman's clothing after he was shot by Austin police on the observation tower of the school's main building.

The physician said a pecan-size tumor in the brain of Whitman could not have influenced his thinking.

Dellana earlier said the tumor could have caused such severe headaches that they might have had a bearing on Whitman's actions.

2 N. Viet Units Said Mauled

U. S. Forces Mass for Expected Showdown

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese regulars broke contact with a massed U.S. force in the Central Highlands today but the Americans remained alert for a major battle at any time. Two enemy battalions were believed mauled.

The North Vietnamese were believed to have been ready to unwork a monsoon offensive on the plateau 235 miles north of Saigon but may have been foiled by the past three days of sharp skirmishes.

About 10,000 U.S. 25th Division and 1st Cavalry Division (air mobile) troops are deployed to prevent any North Vietnamese drive.

The U.S. commander of the 1st Cavalry estimated 250 enemy troops were killed in the week's fighting. American casualties were reported light during the past three days, but one company and a platoon were hard hit.

"We are ready for them," Maj. Gen. John Norton, the 1st Cavalry commander, told reporters in Pleikie, about 20 miles northeast of the battlefield. "We have hurt two of their battalions badly."

Norton said the outbreak of fighting is believed to have been the beginning of the North Vietnamese monsoon campaign in the highlands but "we like to think that by engaging him this week we have beaten the enemy to the punch."

The U.S. military command announced that 92 Americans were killed and 578 wounded in combat last week, a drop from the previous week when 134 were killed and 578 wounded.

This brought the unofficial toll to 2,891 killed and 15,012 wounded this year.

Enemy casualties were reported as 1,153 killed and 88 captured, compared with 1,272 killed and 129 captured the previous week, raising the reported enemy toll to 30,049 killed this year. South Vietnamese killed increased by five last week, to 200.

Voter Turnout Breaks Record

A new high was set Tuesday in the number of voters going to the polls in a county primary, but the total fell far below the estimates of election officials.

Using the total vote received by the three U.S. Senate candidates as a basis, unofficial returns show that at least 101,511 ballots were cast.

An accurate count won't be available until the county board of canvassers completes its tabulation of the vote within the next 10 days to two weeks.

"I expect the vote to go a bit higher, since not everyone votes for all posts," said County Clerk John D. Murphy.

Murphy had predicted a turnout of between 150,000 and 175,000 in the primary.

The preliminary figures, however, do exceed the former record set in the 1964 primary, when 100,163 went to the polls in the presidential election year.

Housing Bias Issue Facing Close Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders hope to nail down a narrow victory today and pass a civil rights provision that would ban racial discrimination by persons in the business of selling or renting housing.

The open housing section of the administration's 1966 rights bill survived yesterday a sharp challenge by a one-vote margin — with the deciding vote on a controversial amendment cast by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., presiding at the time.

Related Story, Page A-2

After an initial tally of 179 to 179 was announced on the amendment, Bolling declared:

"The vote is 179 to 179. The chair votes 'aye' and the amendment carries." With this, a roar went up from the packed galleries of the House and the milling members on the floor.

The dramatic vote cut an estimated 60 per cent of the nation's housing units out of the proposed open housing law.

Pontiac Div. Gets 11 Pct. of Car Sales

Pontiac and Tempest captured nearly 11 per cent of the U.S. new car sales for July as the market showed surprising strength during the month.

July sales of Pontiacs and Tempests totaled 68,415, according to John Z. DeLoorean, General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

Preliminary reports from the four U.S. auto companies indicated 625,433 cars were sold, with last month's sales being the second highest of any July.

The figure for Pontiac and Tempest is 169 units short of the July record of 68,584 established last year, when the industrywide record of 710,721 cars was set.

The July just ended had 25 selling days, one less than July 1965.

CUT STOCKPILE

The auto industry, which entered July with an inventory of about 1.7 million new cars, had set its sights on sales of 615,000 cars in July to help with an orderly reduction of the huge stockpile.

DeLoorean noted that the demand for Pontiacs and Tempests "continues at a record clip" although production of the 1966 models ended yesterday.

in the dwelling themselves — and any real estate agent they engage to handle the sale or rental of their property.

The exemptions were written unmistakably into the provision. The Judiciary Committee thought it had done so but the language was unclear.

The confusion produced a situation in which ardent civil rights advocates thought they could get a tougher bill and stern opponents of any measure thought they could help their cause by supporting the liberals.

They reasoned that the tougher the provision the easier it would be to knock it out of the bill eventually.

Outlook Is Sunny for Area Residents

A sunny summer day with temperatures reaching for the low 80s is the forecast for Pontiac area residents tomorrow. Tonight will be a little warmer with lows near 56 to 64.

More of the same is Saturday's prediction — fair, not much change in temperature.

Today's winds are light and variable, mostly southeasterly at 5 to 12 miles per hour.

Fifty-six was the low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury had registered 83 by 1 p.m.

A Judicial 'Hot Potato'

Royal Oak attorney John N. O'Brien, one of the six nominees for Circuit judge, has given the judicial race a novel twist and posed some legal questions for the State Elections Commission.

Not satisfied with just being a candidate for one of three six-year openings on the bench, O'Brien a few weeks ago decided to become a sticker candidate for a seven-year unexpired term created by the death of Judge Stanton G. Dondoro.

The short term — Nov. 9 to Dec. 31 — did not show up on the ballot because no one filed petitions for the post.

Who's the primary results were counted yesterday, it was discovered that O'Brien's sticker ers for the short term appeared on at least a half dozen ballots, making him the only nominee for the job.

O'Brien, who placed fifth among the six judicial candidates for the long term, claims he is entitled to a separate slot on the November ballot for the short term.

'NOT SURE'

The State Election Commission, which certifies the Circuit Court candidates, says it's not sure, and has tossed the problem to the State Attorney's Office for an answer.

"If the election commission turns down the sticker — and I don't know why it would," said O'Brien.

Ex-LBJ Aide, Kennedy Friend Tennessee Foes

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Ross Bass and Gov. Frank G. Clement today settle a battle for the state's Democratic gubernatorial nomination to the remaining two years of the term of the late President Johnson against a friend of the Kennedy family.

At the same time, Republicans were choosing a Senate nominee in their first major primary in recent history. However, friend of President John F. Kennedy, who lost to Bass Johnson, opposes John J. Hooker Jr., wealthy lawyer who first caught the eye of the Kennedys in 1958.

Also on the Democratic ballot was a Senate contest between Long lines of voters were reported shortly after the polls opened. While hours vary according to the size of counties, all polls will be closed by 10 p.m. EDT. Based on earlier voting, observers predicted a turnout of around 60,000, around 100,000 less than voted in the 1964 presidential election.

Hooker closed many of his campaign speeches by quoting the late President John F. Kennedy. In the final days of the campaign, Ellington said he has no plans to "hold Bobby Kennedy's hand" — and mentioned his "contacts" in Washington in respect to what they could do for bringing industry to Tennessee.

Clement has held the governorship three terms since 1953, and Ellington served one term. This gave Hooker his main campaign issue which he cited as "14 years of machine rule in Tennessee."

Ellington, 59, claimed Hooker, 35, was inexperienced and had failed to "do anything for the fellow man," except for Hooker's part in the 1961 "Tractors for Freedom" trade with the Castro government.

Both candidates called for increased spending for education and for on-time completion of the Interstate Highway system.

There is no Republican candidate for governor.

Roberts and Baker, son-in-law of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said little about each other but campaigned against the Johnson administration's "Great Society."

Only two of the state's nine congressmen had primary opposition.

Heart Attack Claims Exec

John S. French of 684 Ridgegate, Bloomfield Hills, general manager of Ford Motor Co.'s Autolite Division, died yesterday of a heart attack while playing golf at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

He was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

French, 44, joined Ford in 1947 working in several executive positions until he was named general manager of Autolite in 1961.

He is survived by his wife, M. Elizabeth; a son, John H. at home; a daughter, Mrs. Donald Allen of Los Angeles; and a brother, Burleigh E. of Pontiac.

Services will be held 11 a.m. Saturday at Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy by the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham.

Memorial tributes may be sent to the Evans Scholarship Fund of Michigan.

Rights Group Jeered by Chicago Whites

By the Associated Press

Police again skirmished with white hecklers who turned out in an all-white Chicago neighborhood to harass 250 civil rights demonstrators protesting alleged housing discrimination.

At least 21 men and women in a crowd of about 1,500 white were hauled away in police vans as the demonstrators marched through streets to a real estate office Wednesday night. Several persons were injured.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., presiding over the session, cast the deciding vote on the measure after House members produced a 179-179 tie.

Elsewhere on the racial scene, a 76-year-old Louisiana segregationist, Leader Perez Sr., predicts he will defeat an attempt by the Department of Justice to desegregate schools in oil-rich Plaquemines Parish.

Perez, political boss of the parish straddling the Mississippi River below New Orleans, said Wednesday he has a "perfect case" based in part on the theory that the 14th Amendment to the U.S. constitution was never properly ratified.

The case is to come before U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert Chertoff in New Orleans Friday. A crowded docket forced a postponement Wednesday.

RALLY TONIGHT

King, who has demanded open housing for Negroes in Chicago, is scheduled to address a rally tonight. He called for another march into the white neighborhood Friday.

In Providence, R.I., Gov. John H. Chafee blamed "young ruffians" for racial disturbances in the city two nights this week. He said the incidents must not continue and that they must not be blown out of proportion.

The U.S. House of Representatives tentatively voted a controversial open housing provision into the 1966 civil rights bill by one-vote margin, 180-178 Wednesday.

The provision still faces a motion to eliminate it from the bill and a separate roll-call vote before final House passage. It goes to the Senate next.

COMPROMISE

The House vote came on a compromise version of the provision that would open large apartment houses and newly built tract homes to open housing. But it would exempt individual home owners from a

CAPT. ARCHIE KUNTZE

Navy 'Mayor' Is Investigated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U.S. Navy Capt. Archie Kuntze, often referred to by friends as the American mayor of Saigon, is on leave in the United States while the commandant of the 12th Naval District studies a board of inquiry report on allegations of personal misconduct.

Until June, when the Army took over the operation from the Navy, Kuntze for almost two years directed one of the biggest businesses in South Vietnam, providing logistic support for 12-18 million American troops.

$13.2 MILLION

His Headquarters Support Activity Saigon had 9,052 Vietnamese on the payroll and poured $13.2 million into the local economy in 1965. It was responsible for billeting and feeding troops and operating hospitals, ports and post exchanges in much of South Vietnam.

The committee first turned the bill down on a 9-7 show-of-hands vote. Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., demanded a roll call of the committee and this showed the 12-8 margin against it. Rep. John P. Saylor, R-Pa., who originally voted for the bill, later changed his vote to no.

This gives him an opportunity to ask for reconsideration.

One source said a move may be made next Tuesday when the committee is expected to meet to call the bill up again.

Twelve members of the committee were absent when the vote was called for today, following nearly two hours of discussion of the measure Wednesday.

Pulte had proposed a unit development complex of 138 acres including a third Fox Hills subdivision, a townhouse complex and a park.

The park would have included baseball and football fields, a swimming pool and tennis courts. Maintenance would have been the responsibility of Fox Hills residents and proprietors of the townhouses.

At a planning commission meeting, residents from two Fox Hills subdivisions had protested the proposed rezoning and the recreation area.

SAME HOUSES

Pulte said in withdrawing the request that the company would guarantee to build the same type of houses now present in the other two Fox Hills subdivisions.

It was estimated that the rezoning from residential to multi-family would have increased the density of families per acre from 1.8 to 4.6.

247 in County Face Draft Call

Oakland County has been asked to deliver 247 men for induction into the Army in September, with the bulk of the call expected to be filled with registrants aged 19 and 20.

The county quota is among a state quota of 5,325 announced by Selective Service Director Col. Arthur E. Holmes.

Holmes said that where needed local boards have been authorized to call childless men married before Aug. 26, 1965.

Of the Oakland total, 34 men will be called by Board 65 in Pontiac, 35 by Board 67 from the southwestern sector of the county, and 44 by Board 331 from northern Oakland County.

In addition, Farmington Board 328 is scheduled to take 38 with the three Royal Oak boards expected to call a total of 100.

Oakland County's quota was second among counties in the state to Wayne, which will induct 755.

More Farm Control by Creditors Seen

EAST LANSING — "Money lender," he said. "Lenders will provide specialized credit serving a great deal more control over farm operations in the years ahead, a Michigan State University agricultural economist predicts.

Michigan farms are expected to grow from average assets of $42,000 in 1959 to about $130,000 in 1980, and farm debts are expected to grow from an average $5,000 to around $32,000, said John R. Brake.

The good commercial farmer likely will have an investment of more than $250,000, he added, and operators may be borrowing $100,000 or more for expansion.

When lenders have that much invested in a farm operation, they are going to want more control over what the farmer does, said Brake.

On many of the major investment loans, lenders will use restrictive covenants," he said. "That is, they will require their approval on the farmer's use of the next capital and credit."

Brake has been examining the financing of Michigan farms now and in the future as part of MSU's look at Michigan's rural potential by 1980—projected to be a more formal and less personal relationship between farmers and their LAPEER — An 11-year-old Hamtramck boy is in satisfactory condition at Lapeer County General Hospital after being trapped in a cave-in Tuesday afternoon.

Lapeer County Sheriff's department said Theodore Sergerchuk was playing with some friends in a gravel pit at Hassler Lake when an overhanging collapsed, burying the boy underneath.

A Detroit Edison crew working nearby heard the cries for help and dug out the boy.

Deadline Near for Petitions

ROCHESTER — The deadline for filing nominating petitions for the city charter commission is 4 p.m. Monday. Would-be candidates must file their petitions with the village clerk by that time to be eligible.

Nine persons will be elected to the charter commission on Sept. 30, when incorporation of the village into a home rule city is put to a vote.

If incorporation is approved, the commission would be charged with the responsibility of drawing up a charter for the new city. If it is turned down, the commission automatically will be defunct.

To be eligible for village office, a person must be 25 years of age or older, a qualified elector, a property owner or spouse of a property owner and a resident of the village for two years immediately prior to election.

The nominating petitions must contain the signatures of at least 20 qualified electors.

School Board Appoints Two

MILFORD — The Huron Valley Board of Education has announced two appointments to the board to replace vacancies created by the resignations of Ronald Fremlin and James Benson.

Gerald Anderson, an employee at the Ford Motor Co. Wixom plant and a part-time minister at the Hickory Ridge Community Church, has been appointed to replace Fremlin.

Dr. Larry Kinsle, a dentist in Highland Township, has been appointed to replace Benson.

Oxford Is a Sick Village

By JANICE KLOUSER
OXFORD—The village is sick and Manager Robert Smalley is worried.

Since 1960 there has been a slow but steady exodus of local businesses and no new ones are coming in to replace them. Each time a firm moves out, the village takes a turn for the worse.

"This is happening in other towns, but frankly I'm worried," said Smalley. "If you have a healthy town, but right now Oxford is sick."

There are presently about 16 vacant buildings, including three that were burned out in a $250,000 fire last January. Thirty-nine businesses remain.

While the village can still collect real estate taxes on the property, personal property taxes have been "cut way down" according to Smalley.

Smalley has no specific explanation for the exodus but he feels there are three factors which have an important bearing on it.

One is a lack of off-street parking which several businessmen have cited as a reason for a decline in trade.

Village officials agree and are working on the problem, but it is still not an immediate solution, according to Smalley.

Aurorians hope eventually to be able to apply for urban renewal funds to finance a number of municipal parking lots.

A study on the feasibility of applying for funds is in the works and a preliminary report is due this month.

Shopping centers in nearby communities also have been detrimental to local trade, but it's not a problem that can't be overcome, according to Smalley.

He feels that a combination of improved parking and a sewage disposal system will go a long way toward making Oxford attractive to new business.

The combination should be according to Smalley, is a lack of good medicine for a sick village.

"Better parking facilities should help us here," he said. "People will walk a long way in a shopping center parking lot, but they won't park a block away from a local store."

The third big drawback, according to Smalley, is a lack of good medicine for a sick village.

give physical evidence of the business exodus from the village. Other empty buildings are being renovated but no new tenants have expressed interest in occupying them.

Pick Nominees for November Test

Tuesday saw an above-average turnout for the Michigan primary election as voters nominated candidates for State and national offices. Since both gubernatorial candidates were unopposed, the featured race was between Michigan's former Governor G. Mennen Williams and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, both Democrats, for nomination for the U.S. Senate seat vacated by the death of PATRICK McNAMARA.

The result was a smashing victory for Williams. Although Cavanagh had been considered an underdog from the start of the campaign, few thought he would go down by a margin so great as the 140,000-plus votes that separated winner and loser. In the Nov. 8 general election, Williams will face Republican Sen. Robert Griffin, unopposed in the primary.

Williams' triumph is attributed in large part to the strength of the state Democratic organization, which favored him, and the almost unanimous support of Michigan's labor leadership.

Republicans found cause for elation in the 423,586 votes cast for Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY as against the 368,931 garnered by his Democratic opponent, ZOLTON FERRENKY. FERRENKY's total was half that of the combined votes for WILLIAMS and CAVANAGH, indication that a multitude of Democrats weren't interested enough in him to pull his vote lever.

On the Congressional front, Republican freshman candidate Jack H. McDonald won a narrow victory over perennial candidate Richard D. Kuhn for nomination as 19th District Representative. He will take on Democratic incumbent Billie Farnum in the general election.

WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD was unopposed for a sixth term as the 18th District's U.S. Representative and will square off in November against Democratic nominee WILLIAM H. MERRILL.

In the 17th State District, veteran legislator L. HARVEY LODGE staged a comeback from a 1962 defeat to win handily over two other GOP aspirants for nomination to the State Senate. Opposing him in November will be Democrat CARL O'BRIEN, the incumbent.

The 62nd State District gave Democrat J. Arthur Law, now serving his fourth term as Representative, a lopsided win over his primary opponent to pit him against unopposed Republican JoAnn VanTassel in the general election.

In the 22-man nonpartisan race to nominate six Circuit Court judges to contend in November for three seats on the Oakland County bench, WILLIAM R. BEASLEY led the field, followed by FARELL E. ROBERTS, S. JEROME BRONSON, ROBERT L. TEMPLE, JOHN N. O'BRIEN and CECIL B. MCCALLUM. BEASLEY's top vote of 27,896 whittled down to MCCALLUM's 12,495.

Another nonpartisan contest saw two candidates for Oakland County probate court nominated from among five starters. EUGENE A. MOORE ran high with 34,513 votes, more than double those of BURTON R. SHIPMAN, the other nominee. The two will match votes in November for a single judgeship.

Thus was heard the voice of the voters. We commend them for the generally sound judgment displayed in the nomination of their governmental servants.

Laud Jurist for Sentence Imposed on Slayer

At a time when the U.S. crime rate is alarmingly on the rise with the juvenile sector showing a rate double its increase in population, stern administration of justice is to be commended.

Circuit Judge PHILIP PRATT earned such recognition when he imposed the maximum sentence — life imprisonment — on a youth convicted of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of an elderly woman.

Until a higher degree of personal morality and responsibility makes itself felt throughout America with abatement of delinquency and criminality, society's only protection against its enemies is effective law enforcement backed by a diligent and unrelenting judiciary.

Oakland County residents are ably served in both respects and the case in point is good evidence of it.

Killings Rekindle Gun Law Interest

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — For years, bills to put some kind of federal curbs on the sale of firearms, even though the proposed curbs were mild, have kicked around in Congress without final action.

Now the slaughter at Austin, Tex. — where an ex-Marine, Charles Joseph Whitman, killed 15 people and wounded 31 before he was shot to death by police — has aroused new interest in the legislation.

But the pressures against MARLOW in the past have been strong and prevailed and may prevail again once the shock of these latest killings has passed.

Three months before President John F. Kennedy was assassinated by Lee Harvey Oswald in 1963, using a rifle bought by mail order, a fire-arms-curbs bill was offered in Congress.

It got a lot of attention after Kennedy's death but wound up nowhere.

Last March President Johnson, sending a package of anti-crime proposals to Congress, asked particularly for legislation curbing the sale of firearms through the mails, including rifles and shotguns.

STILL IN COMMITTEE
In May a Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency by a 6-3 vote approved the kind of firearms bill Johnson wanted and then sent it to the full Senate Judiciary Committee for action. There it still sits.

Tuesday Johnson, shocked by what had happened in Austin Monday, urged Congress to do something about the curbs on firearms, saying, "We must press urgently for a federal gun control law."

And Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said Johnson will push for stronger legislation controlling the sale of guns than the bill approved in May by the Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee.

But neither Johnson's urging nor the gigantic tragedy in Austin is going to snowball a firearms control bill through Congress. Already Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., has said: "It would be 'deplorable to trade on the emotion generated by the sniper incident.'"

REGULATE SALE
Among other things the bill approved by the subcommittee would: Ban the interstate mail order sale of concealable firearms — pistols and revolvers — to individuals and regulate the interstate sale of sporting rifles and shotguns through an affidavit provision.

This would require a person purchasing a firearm through the mail to give his name and address and swear he was not a criminal. Then his affidavit would be forwarded to the police in his community to check on him.

Statesmanship: A La Europe!

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Dodging Strike Issue

WASHINGTON — Congress is frittering away its time and really dodging the basic issue in the airline strike, whether the American people are to be protected in the future against serious interruptions in interstate commerce.

The truth is that members LAWRENCE of both the Senate and the House are afraid of labor unions generally and of their political power.

Yet a vast majority in both houses are well aware that the airline strike can be followed by others even more serious and that the voters are growing more and more irritated over strikes that disregard the public interest.

One of the big puzzles in the whole situation has received scant attention in Congress.

Nobody has arisen to ask why the officers of the machinists union signed an agreement on Friday which was repudiated within 48 hours by an overwhelming vote of the members.

The executives of the union certainly must have been aware of the sentiment of their constituents.

HARD TO EXPLAIN

That they would sign an agreement which is promptly repudiated is hard to explain. It could not have been just a grandstand play — to seem to be acquiescing in President Johnson's wishes as the chief negotiators on both sides appeared with him on television to announce the signing of the contract.

Verbal Orchids

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Griffiths of Santa Barbara, Calif., formerly of Pontiac; 52nd wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hubbard of 11 Gilling, 64th wedding anniversary.

Fred Kayser of 7795, Elizabeth Lake Road; 88th birthday.

It has been suggested that perhaps the union negotiators did not really know what the membership would do, and felt that it was their obligation to sign the document anyway and send it on to the members throughout the country for ratification or rejection.

The argument made in behalf of the union leaders is that collective bargaining is a democratic process and has to be participated in by the members.

NOT ALWAYS SURE

But it is also true that the representatives of management cannot always be sure that the board of directors of the company or the stockholders would ratify an agreement if they had a chance to do so as a part of the collective-bargaining process.

Meanwhile, Congress is dawdling along while compromise proposals are being drafted that will permit the airlines to resume operations while another negotiation for either 30 or 60 days ensues.

The essence of the whole situation is that the airline unions are about to benefit by their rejection of the company offer, which had the approval of President Johnson.

New offers now will be made, and the union will be able to insist upon an improvement of all previous proposals. Obviously more and more time is to be made available for negotiations.

Bob Considine Says:

NEW YORK — People

Victor Hammer, the art dealer, insists that his friend Pablo Picasso came home one night and discovered a burglar departing from his house with several of his masterpieces.

He notified the police, who asked for a description of the stolen goods.

Picasso, at a loss for words, said he would make sketches of the lost treasures. And did.

In time, the police returned. They were bearing the Eiffel Tower and a one-eyed nun in a wheelbarrow.

Casey Stengel's speech at Cooperstown, N.Y., when he was inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame, is said to have puzzled several million Americans. Why, I don't know.

Case is very easy to follow if you pay strict attention. Somebody must have been paying attention to him when he won all those pennants and World Series.

Case's best recent speech was heard by only a handful of people, but they were largely generals and admirals.

The occasion was a luncheon given at the officers club at Hickam Air Force Base, Hawaii, when Case was out that way for a Mutual of Omaha agents' convention.

NAVAL CAREER

Case spoke at some length about (it is believed) why he quit baseball in 1917 (or was it 1917?) to avoid a $50 ($150?) fine imposed on him by umpire Bill Klem (Clem McCarthy?).

He wreaked a terrible revenge on the league by quitting his $8,000 ($10,000?) a year job as a player to sign up with the U.S. Navy at $50 a month. ($15?)

For the duration of the war, he assured the increasingly startled career officers at Hickam, he personally kept all U.S. Navy U-boats from cruising up the Cowanus Canal. (Or was it the Panama? Sue?)

I was happy to inform the belogged military, in the course of thanking Case for his remarks, that he had volunteered his services for the Viet Nam war.

He's ready to drop everything and become chief briefing officer... of the North Vietnamese.

More Than Traffic Problems on Parkway

I have to agree with the people who spoke out about the traffic problems on Parkway Road, but there is a much bigger problem in this area and that is that the people don't seem interested in their homes or surroundings.

There are a lot of dogs running loose, trash all over the place, junk cars and open cinders. Children run the streets at night without supervision. The damage these kids do is unbelievable. Where are the parents?

How about cleaning up your own back yards to the level of a decent community—then complain about the traffic!

Difficulty With Transfer of License Plates

After four trips to the Secretary of State's office and three trips to a notary public, we were unable to transfer license plates.

After calling for instructions, I went to the office and was told I had to have an affidavit. The notary I went to called the Secretary of State's office for detailed instructions concerning the affidavit. Upon my return, I was told my affidavit was no good and my title void, yet no one would stamp it void.

The last trip was made by my husband. He was told another affidavit was needed, another trip to a notary. He handed the woman the papers and the title and told her she had just acquired a car. So now the Secretary of State's office has a 1966 Mercury. Something should be done to clean up this poorly-run office.

Residents Not Notified of Property Rezoning

We were originally zoned residential but someone in the township had an idea this was an ideal spot for future manufacturing, so, without the consent of the people, our township officials rezoned our area M-1 or light industry. This means that, although there is no sign of industry of any kind moving into the area, we cannot rebuild, or add to our present homes, nor put up any new buildings of any type, so we are destined to become a slum area.

By law, these officials cannot be held responsible for not notifying the residents whose property is involved.

We have been trying to rezone to residential for a year and a half and our request was just denied again this week. If this is freedom and justice, I can't see it.

British Industry Acquiesces on Curbs

LONDON (AP) — British industry gave its reluctant support to the Labor government's wage and price freeze Wednesday night as rebellious Laborites staged an ineffective protest in Parliament against the plan.

The council of the Confederation of British Industry issued a statement terming the one-year wage and price standstill "muddled and ill-judged" but it added:

"Industrial management undertook to give its voluntary best to achieve the standstill

Mrs. Harris, a Briton who

Leaderless in Effort to Alter Conservative Image

GOP Governors Hurt by Defeat of Idaho Governor

By JACK BELI.
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican Governors Association, the only effective sponsor of efforts to restore moderates nomination for a fourth term to power in the Republican party, is losing its chairman and the principal dynamo. The defeat of Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie in his bid for rebut leaderless in their efforts to remold the party's conservative image.

They could suffer further damage in this respect if GOP Gov. George Romney of Michigan should be upset in November. The nomination of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams for the Senate in Tuesday's primary strengthens the Democratic ticket and could make it more difficult for Romney to "win big" and thus step to the front ranks of contenders for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

LOSE IN CALIFORNIA

Among the GOP moderates there is recognition that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is fighting for political survival in New York. They already have lost out in California with the nomination of Ronald Reagan, a 1964 supporter of Barry Goldwater, as the party's candidate for governor.

Another star in their particular firmament, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, ends his tenure in January. And Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon is trying to transfer to the U.S. Senate.

These actual and potential changes, combined with Smylie's defeat, could result in a complete breakdown in organized efforts to oust conservatives from the positions of local party power they still retain two years after Goldwater's landslide loss.

Smylie, who took the lead in getting the Republican Policy Coordinating Committee to adopt a resolution denouncing extremism although it did not name The John Birch Society as he proposed — was the primary election victim of the conservatives he was fighting.

At a Los Angeles meeting of the GOP governors in July, Smylie was urged to call them together even before the election to solidify their anti-conservative campaign within the party. But he said there was no use having the Republican executives meet until it was certain which ones would have "a ticket to the main tent" after the election.

Having been denied such a ticket himself, he may leave it to others to decide whether the Republican state executives get together in December, as planned, to organize for the 1968 presidential campaign.

House That Soapy Built Failed to Tumble

DETROIT (AP) — G. Mennen Williams has amply proved that, for Michigan Democrats, absence makes the heart grow fonder.

Returning to the state after six years with the State Department, the former six-term Democratic governor was chosen his party's U.S. Senate candidate in a sweeping victory over Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh in Tuesday's primary.

Williams, who practically invented Michigan's modern Democratic party while he governed the state from 1948 to 1960, drew his heaviest vote from labor and Negro supporters in Detroit and its surrounding area. Unofficial returns gave the 55-year-old Williams 435,848 votes to 289,643 for the 38-year-old Cavanagh. STEADY ROCK The apparent lesson of the primary was that Cavanagh simply could not rock the boat that Williams built.

Independent in his attitude toward the Democratic party and its policies, the nonpartisan mayor made an open pitch for Republican votes.

He also had announced his intention to seek the nomination before the then Democratic incumbent, the late Sen. Patrick McNamara, announced his intention to retire.

McNamara subsequently died and his seat was filled by Republican Robert P. Griffin, appointed by Republican Gov. George Romney.

considerably behind the Williams total.

11 CANDIDATES The AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers union supported 11 candidates, all incumbents, in congressional races. All were nominated.

Early in the campaign, pleas by Cavanagh that local unions make no endorsement until he had a chance to talk to their membership, were generally ignored.

The Nov. 8 election will pit Williams' labor-Democrat coalition against the personal popularity of Romney, a presidential hopeful in 1968.

Griffin, unopposed, polled 374,795 votes. Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency, unopposed in a bid to take on Romney, got 368,931 votes, considerably behind the Williams support in the battle against the mayor.

A DEMOCRAT "I have always been a Democrat and I remain a Democrat," Cavanagh told newsmen. "They (the voters) obviously wanted to keep what they think is an effective mayor," he added with a smile.

There had been some criticism of Cavanagh's running for the Senate after he had vowed to serve out his full term as mayor, which has three years left. Cavanagh vaulted into the mayor's chair with an upset victory over Louis C. Mirani in 1961, without the support of labor or the press.

All 18 incumbent Michigan congressmen won renomination. The field was led by House face.

Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Grand Rapids.

Two former House members, Democrat Harold Ryan and Republican George Meader, lost in comeback bids.

State Sen. Guy Vander Jagt won the GOP nomination in the west Michigan district vacated by Griffin. Democrat Henry Dongillo was unopposed in the normally Republican district.

LENNY BRUCE

Death Takes Noted 'Sick'
Comedian

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hip-talking, irreverent comedian Lenny Bruce, often charged with on-stage obscenity and off-stage use of narcotics, has been found dead in his Hollywood Boulevard apartment.

Bruce, 40, was found Wednesday in his bathroom. On the sink nearby, officers said, were a syringe, a blackened bottle cap and burnt matches. The cap contained a white crystalline residue.

The Los Angeles County coroner's office listed an overdose of narcotics as the probable cause of death. An autopsy has been ordered.

Bruce once said: "People should be taught what is, not what should be."

With that premise and a glossary of hip and four-letter words, he sallied forth into saloons, offbeat clubs and the recording world, bringing a humor branded as "sick."

"It's a comedian's duty to maintain a level of good taste and this to me is a semantic bear trap," he said.

BRUSHES WITH LAW

"I've been accused of bad taste and I'll go down to the grave accused of it and always by the same people. The same people, the ones who eat in restaurants that reserve the right to refuse service to anyone."

His brushes with the law included: arrests on a battery charge in 1952; narcotics arrests in January, February, October and November of 1953; and October, 1953; obscenity arrests in 1952, twice in 1953, and again in 1954. He was sued by his mother, stepfather and striptease choreographer Sally Marr in 1953 for $50,000 for injuries allegedly suffered while entering Bruce's house; and in September, 1953, he was banned from England.

"I don't have agents, just lawyers," he said. A California Supreme Court decision reversed one conviction, saying Bruce was not a narcotics addict.

Bruce was born Leonard Alfred Schneider on Oct. 13, 1925 in Minnola, N.Y.

His parents were divorced when he was five and he spent subsequent years with relatives. He left school at 16 to join the Navy.

He then worked as a movie usher and in factories. He also studied acting in Hollywood under the GI bill.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Curbside comments of a pavement Plato:
The only sure way to avoid slavery in a civilized world is to avoid owning things.
The less a man owns the freer he can live.

Modern man has been over-sold on the prestige of ownership and the supposed security it brings, and there are signs he is in rebellion against it.

It can be argued that the only things worth owning today, aside from personal clothing and a few souvenirs, are a good credit rating and your own soul. Ownership of anything else puts you in bondage, sometimes for life.

The pleasures of owning things are far outweighed by the pleasures of not owning things.

TWO TYPES

Man is divided into two types — the owner and the renter. Show me an owner and I'll show you a fearful, burdened man.

Show me a renter, and I'll show you a liberated man.

The man who thinks he owns things is kidding himself. They own him. He is their slave.

If a man owns a home, that is where he must live, no matter how he may come to hate his neighbors. He fights crabs and vagaries of hurricanes and tax assessors. Everything is a possible threat to the value of his property.

He owns the photograph records and paintings in his own home, those are the ones he must listen to or look at, though in time they may bore him utterly.

OWNS THE CAR

If he owns his car, that is the kind of car he must drive until he can afford a new one. He must insure it, paint it, buy it a license, protect its fenders from scratches and keep it in repair. It is as much trouble as having a child — except that he doesn't have to fret about sending it through college.

Now let us consider the happy renter.

If the neighborhood he lives in runs down, he can pack up and move away. As a matter of fact, he can wreck the neighborhood himself, if he feels like it, and then move away.

Every weekend he can rent a different model car, and if it breaks down, he can pocket the key, go back to the agency and rent another. Upkeep problems don't annoy him.

Does his wife want to stun the other guests at a fancy dress ball? Well, what if she doesn't own a diamond necklace? He can rent one for the evening, and if thieves steal it, what does he care? It doesn't belong to him. He's not out of pocket.

Yep, the more you analyze the so-called joys of ownership, the more you realize they may be largely spurious.

Corporations are discovering this. More and more corporations, as soon as they buy the site for a new factory or store, immediately resell it and rent it back. They don't want to be saddled with it forever. They merely want to use it for a foreseeable period in which they can make a profit from it.

(Editor's note: Now aren't you glad Hal Boyle doesn't live in your neighborhood?)

Cosmic Helium Theory Viewed

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — A new theory has been proposed to explain the amount of helium in the universe as well as how aging stars spew much of their matter into interstellar space.

Observations indicate there is about twice as much helium in the universe as can be accounted for on the basis of how scientists now believe new stars form from the debris of old ones.

Dr. Howard D. Greber of the Imperial College of Science and Technology in London suggests a new "powerful mixing process" in stellar interiors to explain the high proportion of helium.

The same process would also account for the large amounts of material thrown into space by stars in the late stages of evolution.

Such issues of mass have been observed on astronomical photographs and on ultraviolet photographs taken by rockets when they are above all but the most rarefied part of earth's atmosphere.

Earl G. Kirby, owner, Kirby Travel Service Inc., Detroit

Mr. Earl G. Kirby, owner of Kirby Travel Service Inc., Detroit, writes: "The following occurrence is not unusual. A man called after seeing our Yellow Pages ad and placed a group travel order for 175 people. The tour ran about $1000 a head, totaling about $175,000. This is but one of many large group travel orders coming to us through our Yellow Pages advertising."

Mr. Kirby's statement is not so surprising when you consider this: 50% of all the people who looked for travel agents in Michigan during a 12-month period consulted the Yellow Pages before making a selection."

Whatever you sell, you can be sure ready-to-buy prospects will read your Yellow Pages advertising.

The DRC Story

HAPPINESS IS CLIPPING COUPONS (FOR FREE ADMISSION TO DETROIT RACE COURSE)

I Worry About The Missing Men.
Thoroughbred racing in Detroit draws approximately 2,000,000 fans annually. That is a point of pride with me.

It puzzles me, however, that many sports fans in the metropolitan area never have visited the Detroit Race Course. I think they are missing some of the greatest thrills and excitement the Sports World offers.

I would like The Missing Men (and Women, too) to be my guests during GOOD NEIGHBOR WEEK, which we will celebrate August 8 through August 13.

Clip your FREE TICKETS. Pay us a visit. Join the growing number of Fans who have helped make Thoroughbred Racing America's most popular spectator sport.

GOOD NEIGHBOR Week originally was our way of saluting the people of Livonia, where our track is located. However, with the amazing growth of racing in Michigan and its increased popularity, we have moved beyond such community limitations.

Now, GOOD NEIGHBOR Week is our way of greeting Fans throughout the metropolitan area.

If you are one of the MISSING MEN (or Women), let me tell you a little about the Detroit Race Course.

We race daily, except Sunday, through November 5. Post parade on weekdays is 3:20 p.m. On Saturdays and Holidays it is 2 p.m. There are nine races Monday through Friday and 10 races each Saturday.

We have a magnificent new $3,000,000 Clubhouse. It provides the ultimate in convenience, comfort and beauty for the Fan. We have two superlative Dining Terraces, offering the finest in food and beverages. From your table you can see the thrilling action every step of the way around the track.

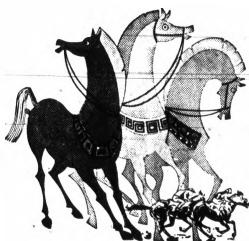

THE OLDE TIRED HORSE PUB is an authentic Old English tavern, with all the charm of a by-gone day. It is a great spot for a leisurely sandwich or cocktail. There is NEVER a cover or a minimum charge.

We have close-in parking facilities for 12,000 cars. There are three Easy-In entrances to the track. They are off Middlebelt, Schoolcraft and Inkster Roads.

Between races you can enjoy a leisurely stroll about the Clubhouse and view the 30 outstanding Thoroughbred paintings by Fay Moore. It is one of the world's finest collections of Sports art.

Fun and Excitement always are a part of racing. Why not join us during GOOD NEIGHBOR Week and see for yourself.

'Senses' Car Crash

Safety Belt Unique

By PAUL R. JESCHKE
RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI)
A unique auto safety belt that automatically locks a passenger firmly into place just before a crash may help to cut the mounting highway death toll, according to researchers at the University of California.

or leans against the car to close a window on the far side, and in order to do so he has to undo his belt.

In most cases, he simply doesn't bother to fasten the belt again.

TOO RESTRICTIVE

"Conventional seat belts limit mobility in a car — that's the job they are supposed to do, but if they are too restrictive, they don't get used," Finch said.

The newly developed device, similar to types used by racing car drivers, fits up and around the passenger's shoulders, holding him almost totally erect during a crash.

"The problem up to now has been to get the public to use conventional seat belts," said Dr. Dan Finch, chief of the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at the university's Richmond field station.

"The motorist reaches into his pocket for money to pay a toll, an 'inertia reel' which automatically rolls up the loose belt when the vehicle decelerates swiftly.

A passenger leaning forward, for example, would be forced firmly back to a relatively safe position against the seat the instant the driver touched the brake.

'SENSES' CHANGE

The retracting mechanism 'senses' any abrupt change in the car's forward speed. Every schoolboy learns in physics the principle of inertia — that a moving body continues to travel in the same direction unless acted upon by some outside force.

When there is a change in motion, the change is measured at the center of the mass. For this reason, the inertia sensing device would be mounted at the center of the vehicle's weight.

Two Levels for Orchestra May Be Best

By Science Service

LOS ANGELES — A two-level orchestra may be the best way to present music, according to a team of physicists at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The suggestion is based on a study at the UCLA physics department in which its anechoic (dead sound) and reverberation laboratories were divided into upper and lower acoustical chambers through an array of 96 suspended plywood panels.

In a long series of experiments, Dr. Vern O. Knudsen and two of his colleagues found that in a hall with suspended panels the reverberating sounds of a choral symphony may come across best if the orchestra is located near the ceiling, as in a choir loft.

New Families in Districts Should Check School System

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Probably 40 million American families with about 8 million school-age children will move to new school districts within the coming year.

The parents are and should be concerned with the quality of the new schools.

As education continues to grow in importance for our nation and each individual citizen, the quality of the school and its program becomes an increasing factor for parents when choosing a new home.

If a child is to have the opportunity to use his full ability, he should be exposed to the best available educational program.

How can a parent determine which school is superior? Dr. Harold Herber of Syracuse University's School of Education identifies three major categories which should be investigated. They are the community, the school, and the instructional program.

SCHOOL SUPPORT

The community should support the schools both financially and as interested participating citizens.

You might find out if they usually approve bond issues for new school construction and improvements. Ask if the teacher's pay scales are competitive.

When investigating the school, find out if the program provides for your child's abilities, interests and special needs.

The instructional program should provide for an emphasis on reading in the lower grades with a continuing program as needed by the individual child through the secondary school.

NO Convassed in AP Survey

Most States Have No Laws on Purchase of Rifles, Shotguns

NEW YORK (AP) — Most states have no laws against the purchase of rifles or shotguns, according to a survey by the Associated Press survey shows.

Of 40 states checked, only two — New Jersey and Rhode Island — require a prospective purchaser to obtain a rifle permit. New Jersey requires a person to apply to local police for a $2 lifetime identification card. The police then investigate the applicant's background and fingerprint him before issuing the card.

Maine and West Virginia laws stipulate that gun dealers report to police any person buying a rifle or shotgun.

Virginia, alone of the states requiring permits for pistols, New York has one of the strictest state laws, requiring that a prospective purchaser of a pistol be a resident or principally employed in the state.

After investigations by the local police and in state mental hygiene files, the person must be photographed and fingerprinted. The fingerprints are checked with the FBI and the State Department of Correction.

In New Jersey, a prospective buyer must apply to his county judge for a permit that is renewable annually.

About 15 states have laws forbidding the carrying of concealable weapons, or hand guns. Ohio makes an exception of persons "engaged in lawful business and circumstances justifying carrying a weapon in defense of person," such as a businessman carrying a pistol while taking cash to a bank late at night.

Some western states still have laws that carry over from previous days when youngsters protect the family. Montana, person be only 14 to obtain a were expected to bear arms to Oregon and Utah require that a gun permit.

'Mental Aid Has Long Way to Go'

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's mental health program is better than in most states, but it still lacks people and facilities to carry it out properly, the State Mental Health Director said Wednesday.

Dr. Robert Kimmich told the Governor's Conference on Mental Health that "we can well be proud of the services offered the mentally retarded and mentally ill of Michigan as of today, but we have a long way to go before we can relax a bit."

The problem, he said is: "Staff is overstretched, present skills go unused for lack of time to apply them, many buildings are inefficient and in poor condition, waiting lists for mentally retarded services are long, community placement is slow and we have nowhere to live, clinics are short-handed, schools are overloaded, special education classes are too few, and so on."

"But hope is justified now," Dr. Kimmich said.

In the past two years, he added, services increased faster than in staffing.

Department work, Dr. Kimmich said, sometimes is hampered by "confusion in the public mind of aims such as containment, treatment, punishment, domiciliary care, conformity and economy."

But, he said, "training and hiring of the mentally handicapped in Michigan will soon lead the nation."

"Improved and different ways of using our personnel have helped and are moving forward," he said earlier.

Britons Turning Against Viet Policy, Poll Shows

LONDON (UPI) — With Viet Nam battles earning more coverage in the British press and anti war protests becoming almost daily events, the British general public is for the first time taking sides in the issue. And the move is against the United States.

Latest public opinion polls show the public has hardened against British support of U. S. Viet Nam policy and is opposed to British military intervention there.

Conversely the public supports American air raids on North Viet Nam military targets but would not approve attacks on civilians areas.

This apparent conflict in thinking is much in line with Prime Minister Harold Wilson's unusual "so far, no further" support for the United States.

His government has firmly backed American intervention in Viet Nam yet dissociated itself from the bombing raids on oil installations near Hanoi and Haiphong.

APPROVED OF RAIDS
The government approved of raids on Communist concentrations in the demilitarized zone dividing North from South Viet Nam, but said it would not be associated with any American escalation of the war.

Wilson's claim is that, as co-chairman with the Soviet Union of the 1954 Geneva peace conference, Britain is in a special position. Hence his "keep everybody happy" policy.

There is little doubt the public has been made more aware of the war by Wilson's frequent comments and his continuing efforts to find a peaceful solution.

Six months ago an opinion poll asked whether the government should support the U. S. in Viet Nam.

3-WAY SPLIT
The results showed opinion split three ways but with the balance barely in American favor — 36 per cent for support, 33 per cent against and 31 per cent undecided.

Late last month the "undecided" dropped to 12 per cent while those against British support rose to 45 per cent, swinging the balance away from the United States by two points.

Whatever doubts the British people have on general support for the United States, the man again even when taken orally — approved so that it is then exposed to the bombing raids on North Viet Nam military targets.

But a much larger majority — 87 per cent — would oppose attacks on civilian targets.

Polio Vaccine Protection Gets Patent

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — A method of preparing polio vaccine so that it will not be contaminated with cancer-causing viruses was granted a patent by the U. S. Patent Office here.

Patent 3,255,081 was awarded to Jerzy Barski of Paris, who assigned rights to the French Government through the National Center for Scientific Research, also of Paris.

It is known that certain antiviral vaccines, such as anti-poliomyelitis vaccines, can be contaminated by cancer-causing viruses, Mr. Barski notes.

He developed a method to reduce as much as possible the risks of contamination by any kind of viral factor likely to be present in the cultures in which polio vaccines are grown.

This is accomplished by adding to the culture an antibiotic effective against the likely viruses, such as simian virus 40, without affecting the antipolio virus.

Mr. Barski states that once cancer-causing virus has been neutralized by the added antibiotics, it will not be released again even when taken orally.

'Instant Stairs' Are Helping Country's Building Boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — A building owner can be forgiven the fits when faced with the problem of relocating a stairway or adding a new one to the structure.

But the Pico Safe Stairs Co. of Hyattsville, Md., claims it has the answer — "instant stairs."

Pico is an operation of the Potomac Iron Works Inc., founded 48 years ago by Harry Mullis, whose three sons now run the business. One of the sons, Earl Mullis, came up with the idea of prefabricated stairs.

It seems to be in the "invention born of necessity" category stemming from the "hurry up" construction and reconstruction building boom of recent years.

The principle involves assembling the stair components and welding them together in cube form, then setting them into the required position by vertical and horizontal steel angles.

INSTANT PRODUCT

Pico has been offering its "instant" product only for six years, but in that time has done work from coast to coast and abroad.

It says if its total production were placed end on end, the result would be a stairway higher than 40 Empire State Buildings—about 10 miles.

The company chomped rectangular holes, the dimensions of the stairs, into each of the five-inch concrete floors. Then a helicopter was brought in to top of the stair sections, one on top of the other, through the roof.

Famous Espionage Cases—2

Fate of Spies Recalled

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the last in a two-part series on central figures in some famous espionage and treason cases of the past.)

By SUSAN BUCHANAN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When FBI agents seized Nelson C. Drummond, a Navy yeoman first class, while sitting at a table with two Russians, he protested that "anybody can have a cup of coffee, can't they?" The agents had just found 11 classified defense documents and a miniature camera concealed in his car.

When he went on trial, his lawyer argued that the documents were of little importance and that the "patriotic" Drummond had really intended to kill one — or both — of the Russians.

Drummond had spent 17 years in the Navy. He proposed in a letter that if the FBI would help him raise his bail, he would "jump bail," go behind the Iron Curtain, and spy for the United States. After all, he said, he was a "good American fighting man."

The prosecution summed up his motives for treason, as "money, money, money." He was convicted in 1963 and sentenced to life.

Now, 36, he is in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa. The U.S. Supreme Court recently refused to review his case.

STATE DEPARTMENT

Irvin Scarbeck worked for the State Department. He had a Polish mistress.

He also had access to classified U.S. information about Poland.

This combination was made to order for the Polish secret police. They obtained a photograph of Scarbeck and Ursula Discher in bed together and commenced to pressure him.

Either he turned over certain documents, or Ursula would spend the rest of her life in a Polish army brothel.

Scarbeck bowed to the black-mail, not only to protect his wife but also to protect his children.

illicit sweetheart but because he had "great concern" for the welfare of his wife and three children.

36 YEARS

Arrested by the FBI, he got 36 years in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg. Ursula was given the choice of applying for permission to stay in the United States or return to Europe. She returned.

Scarbeck was paroled last May and must remain under supervision until 1973. Now 46, he works for his attorney here as a general clerk.

Judy Coplon worked for the Justice Department. Then she allegedly look on a second job working for the USSR.

She and Valentin A. Gubitchev, a Russian working in the United Nations, are supposed to have passed on to Moscow secrets obtained in her Justice Department duties.

MERELY LOVERS

When the FBI caught up with the pair, Judy's defense claims that the two were merely lovers. The jury believed there was more than romance involved and convicted them of conspiracy and espionage.

But someone had forgotten to swear out a warrant at the time of Judy's arrest. She was given a second trial. Again she was found guilty but the court added a proviso:

If she could prove the government had listened in on her telephone conversations with her lawyer, she could have still another trial.

Meantime, her Russian friend, was deported — to avoid giving Russia an excuse for wholesale jailing of Americans in Iron Curtain countries. Judy was now out on bail.

She could not be jailed until she had her promised third trial, but the government never got around to requesting it.

MARRIES ATTORNEY

She married her attorney, Albert H. Scoville, in May, 1950. Now 46, she lives in Brooklyn, mail, not only to protect his wife but also to protect his children.

The story of State Department attache Alger Hiss is actually the story of two men.

Whittaker Chambers, an ex-Communist, accused Hiss of being a Communist, whose "ultimate objective" was infiltrating the government and espionage.

Hiss denied ever having laid eyes on Chambers.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities investigated. Both men testified formally under oath that the other was lying.

But Chambers knew too much about Hiss and his family life. Hiss finally admitted he had known Chambers but under another name.

Then Chambers went on radio to repeat his charge that Hiss was a Communist agent. Hiss sued him for $75,000.

Chambers pulled his trump card. He produced five rolls of microfilm he had hidden in a hollowed-out pumpkin on his Maryland farm.

Although Chambers himself had to face the consequences of possession secret State Department documents, he still insisted Hiss was his State Department source.

Hiss was brought to trial on perjury charges. Evidence of the trial pictured him as a member of a Communist apparatus working high in the government. He was sentenced to five years.

Today the 61-year-old Hiss lives in New York City and is reported to be working in a bookstore. Chambers is dead.

Luci Hopes to Shed Spotlight

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Luci, anxiously awaits her new life as Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent, hoping to shed some of the spotlight which has surrounded her life for the past 2 years. Frances Levene of The Associated Press, in the second of two stories, details into what makes Luci tick.)

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — As just plain Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent, Luci Johnson hopes she can leave behind some of the problems and criticism that befell her as the President's daughter.

Luci wants to be a housewife, like any other new bride. She said she won't be able to afford a maid and will have to live on a budget.

With the help of her mother and the Johnson family cook, Zephyr Wright, Luci says she knows how to cook. She says she's capable of putting on the table "a different meal for two main meals, seven days a week without a duplicate."

Luci says Nugent will be head of the house. She won't ask him to do dishes, but if he offers, she won't refuse.

PARTNERSHIP
She sees their marriage as a partnership. "Pat consults me and I consult him. I respect his judgment."
In their brick rambler house in Texas, Luci, 19, hopes the world won't be looking in the windows the way it does at the White House.

Everything from what she wore to grades in school were the subject of comment, Luci found out.
The years she spent in the White House were the most sensitive for a teen-ager. She celebrated her 17th, 18th and 19th birthdays there.

BIG DECISIONS
Luci had her own big decisions to make there—to convert to Catholicism and to marry. Luci, who was Episcopalian, like her mother and older sister, Lynda, has several close friends, both boys and girls, who are Roman Catholic.

While friends may have influenced her, those who know Luci say she had been leaning toward this church for some time, propelled by her own tenderhearted, dramatic, sensitive and sometimes mystic qualities.

Luci took instruction in Catholicism for many months and finally, on her 18th birthday, July 2, 1965, was baptized into the Roman Catholic Church at a private service attended by her parents and her sister.

The baptism raised a flurry of criticism among theologians, which was unbecomingly and a slap at the Episcopal Church because of the implications.

A Florida Baptist minister said he feared this would set an unfortunate example.

DOESN'T DRINK
Luci herself doesn't drink or smoke. She once said she had enough problems "without giving people something to gossip about" on that score.

The fact that Luci followed her own interests and desires in the face of constant public scrutiny showed that she has a mind of her own.

She said she had been brought up with guidelines that were not too rigid. Her parents, she noted, set standards "they believed in and told me why they believed in them and we have worked together to let me develop in my own mind what is best for me."

Among the rules was an 11 p.m. dating curfew for Luci. Once she recalls getting home at 1 a.m. to find her mother waiting up. "She chewed us up one side and down the other. Nobody ever made me feel so small."

Luci Looks To The Future

LBJ Comes to Pat's Party at Ball Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick J. Nugent's bachelor party was an outing to a night professional football game. His future father-in-law, President Johnson, came along too.

Young Nugent may have started a new trend with his bed, dog, hamburger and soft drink dinner at D.C. Stadium with some 70 wedding attendants, ushers and White House military aides.

But Johnson actually set a new record. He is the first president ever to turn out for a National Football League game in the 47-year history of the league.

It may have been an unusual way to celebrate a forthcoming marriage, but the stag participants seemed to have a fine time at the charity exhibition game, including Nugent's dad, Gerard P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

Voters in Midland 'Punch Out' Choices

MIDLAND (AP)—So-called electronic voting got an experimental tryout in Midland in Tuesday's elections.

Voters machine—punched cards, instead of turning levers on a voting machine. The cards, in turn, were run through a sorting machine which took only 36 minutes running time to record them all.

It took some two and a half hours to get the vote total, however, because some precincts were tardy in getting their cards in and some brought in dented or bent cards which the machine rejected.

Election officials figured out the voters' intent on rejected cards.

Punch card voting admittedly was an experiment and was carried out under a state law authorizing such experiments under state supervision until Jan. 1, 1968.

Bernard Apol, assistant state elections director, observed the operation here, in which precinct election chairmen brought cards to a central office. All absentee ballots had been voted previously by card at Midland's city hall.

Educators Surveying Sex Field

BOSTON (AP) — How should a teacher go about presenting sex information to pupils and how much should he tell them?

That problem has become acute for the National Association of Independent Private Schools since it decided that sex education is desirable and necessary for its pupils. Gary Potter, president of the organization, said few educators "feel much confidence in what they are doing or in knowing what they ought to do" in the field.

To provide that confidence, the association is conducting a study to find out how a program of sex education should be run.

Some of the material comes from a few schools which have pioneered in teaching sex, concentrating on courses in reproductive biology.

SUPERVISOR

One school, near Baltimore, Md., presented a course supervised by Dr. Alan P. Guttmacher, chairman of the Planned Parenthood International.

Guttmacher, a gynecologist, was one of four advisers who attended the conference last April at which the private schools decided to launch a sex education program.

FIFTH GRADE

He told faculty members from 50 schools that all facts of human reproduction should be familiar to children by the end of the fifth grade. By the end of high school, he said, courses should cover premarital relations, contraception and factors that lead to good marriages.

A specific program will be approved and presented to the association's 700 member schools, but each member will decide what it will teach, if anything, about sex and how it will be presented.

Potter said the home, the school, the church and society all have a responsibility to provide sex education.

He's a Party Man ---for Either Side

TRENTON (UPI) — A Republican wants to attend the Democratic Party Convention this month, and he has the credentials to get in.

The Democrats had no name on the ballot for precinct delegate, so some friends of Lee Clark wrote his name in as a joke.

Clark is chairman of the 16th Congressional District Republican committee.

Clark said that if the Democrats will let him, he will attend the convention and support the regular party line.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Occasional 'Treat' From Her Can Be Very Wise Investment

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know that according to the book of etiquette the man is supposed to treat the girl to dinners, movies and in fact — everything.

I say these rules were made before women went to work and earned money. Now that times have changed, the rules should be changed.

Why should a working woman bank her whole paycheck while the man pays for everything? I once said to a girl who earned more than I did, "I have treated you quite a bit, when are you going to take ME out to dinner?"

And her answer was, "You must be nuts or something." What do you think?

ON THE LEVEL
DEAR ON: I think you have a point. A working woman should occasionally "treat" a man who has entertained her. She could suggest a picnic and provide the goodies.

Or surprise him with tickets to some special entertainment. Or invite him to dinner. Or knit him a sweater. And the wise ones do.

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced when I was 5, and I lived with my mother until I was married last year. I hadn't seen my father in 12 years, but I found out where he was living two months ago, so I called him and invited him and his wife to visit us. They stayed the week-end.

Now they call almost every week and ask if they can come up. (We live in Long Beach and they live in San Diego.)

We have a one-bedroom apartment, so my husband and I give them our bedroom and we sleep on the living room sofa. I put the cushions on the floor for my husband and I sleep on the frame of the sofa.

My husband doesn't like this arrangement, but I'd feel just awful asking my dad and step-mother to sleep that way. Is my husband fair in asking that dad's visits be cut down? We have a lot of catching up to do.

DEAR "CATCHING UP": You had better reshuffle your values. Your husband's comfort is more important than the comfort of a father who disappeared for the twelve most important years of your life, and a step-mother whom you owe nothing. If you want to "catch up," let them rent a motel for their visits, and you and your husband sleep in your bedroom where you belong.

DEAR ABBY: The daughter of some friends of ours is having a church wedding. My sister attends the church where the wedding is to be held and she said the minister issued a blanket invitation from the pulpit "to all who cared to attend." Since I do not attend this church I don't feel that this is a proper invitation.

My sister said the bride's family are too busy to call people and this is the way they are inviting folks.

I just don't think I'd feel comfortable attending a wedding under those circumstances even though we have known the family for years. What do you think?

"???" IN LAWSON, MO.
DEAR "???": If you want to attend and this is the only kind of invitation they are issuing, go. You'll be as welcome as every other guest.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BILL, WHO LIKES A FEW: Stay off the sauce. It's difficult to stay single when you're seeing double.

Women Finish Food Skills Class

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
School lunch programs are expanding. Head Start programs include lunch. Area colleges need more and more individuals in their food services departments. Commercial restaurants call for cooks.

It's a good time to be learning food service skills. Tonight, 18-20 women who have completed a five-month course in this subject will show off their new knowledge.

The course is one of the many given at Jefferson Junior High School under the School Community Action Program (SCAP).

Mrs. Lela Ricks who during the school year cooks at the school has been the teacher. The group met three hours a night, twice a week.

Tuesday night when we visited the class, the members were doing preliminary work on tonight's dinner. They will have as special guests office staff members.

The class shows a cross section of ages. Most of the women were totally inexperienced at the start. The ones we talked to are enthusiastic about what they have learned and hopeful of getting jobs.

Five already are scheduled to work in the Head Start program; one will work in a school kitchen.

Mrs. Ricks has given the women all kinds of food service training except detailed instruction in the hot plate-short order field.

The only school with facilities of this kind in the Pontiac system is Pontiac Central; it was not available for use for this class.

Representatives of area restaurants are on the advisory council for the food services class.

DEPENDABLE
Albert C. Shaw, the director of SCAP, is as enthusiastic about his students as they are about their work.

He and other staff members mention the low rate of absenteeism among the participants. Furthermore, students call in when they know they cannot attend class.

About 50 per cent of the individuals enrolled in the program are on public assistance. Getting the training that will enable them to get and hold a job means that some are already on their own.

It encourages and excites the others as well as their teachers.

Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel gathered for an afternoon of cards, Tuesday, at the Birmingham home of Mrs. Irving Posner.

Chairmen for the luncheon, served on the poolside terrace, were Mrs. Michael Davis and Mrs. Posner.

They were assisted by the ways and means committee chairman, Mrs. Arthur Romer, and by Mrs. Alvin Jacobson, Mrs. Joseph Partney and Mrs. Edward Avasenka.

Molyneux Show 'All Continents'

PARIS (UPI) — Summer clothes keep turning up in the winter fashion parade.

Capt. Edward Molyneux included several dresses for hot climates in his new collection, calling it "All Continents" — breaking the tradition of showing two collections, spring-summer and fall-winter.

Designer Antonio Castillo did the same in his show last week for customers who fill from London to Cairo in this jet age.

Designer Perre Cardin also has proposed that the Paris couturiers present collections only once a year instead of twice, and show both warm and cool clothing.

Such a program not only would save money for some of the dying high fashion salons, but, as Molyneux pointed out, his clients are worldwide and the weather is not the same in Oslo, Norway, as in Sydney, Australia.

Molyneux was one of few Paris designers to show conventional suits. His had narrow skirts and button-up jackets to the hip, sometimes with fur collars, and contrasting over-blouses underneath.

Some had matching fringed stoles, such as one in purple and black plaid.

SILK SHEATHS
The summer dresses included a parade of narrow silk sheaths with scarf necklines, worn with bucket-like straw hats. A tent-like turquoise coat was tossed over a narrow white silk dress with a lapped scarf at the deep V-neckline in back.

Cocktail dresses usually were narrow sheaths edged with sequins around the bottom or on the side seams. Although Molyneux is conservative, his evening clothes had zip. The long floor-length narrow crepes were slip on the back to the knee.

One short black dress had a wide U-neckline that was a shock until you saw it was filled in with flesh-colored crepe.

Many cocktail dresses and coats had an applauded "night-shirt" neckline — pointed collar with three buttons on a tab closing. It looked best on a narrow gold lame dress with long full sleeves.

Most coats were modifed tents with lots of fullness. One fitted cut in beige wool had a matching skirt and printed blouse.

Three talented young musicians, winners of a concerto contest among students at Oakland University's Meadow Brook School of Music, will appear as soloists with the Meadow Brook University Orchestra this Sunday and next.

They are Catherine Courtois, 27, of Paris, France; Thomas S. Schneller, 19, of Royal Oak, and Eugene N. Fodor Jr., 16, of Golden, Colo.

The concert will take place at 2 p.m., in the Baldwin Pavilion, directed by Albert Tipton, solo flutist with the Detroit Symphony. They are open to the public free of charge.

Madame Courtois, violinist, will play the Brahms Violin Concerto this Sunday.

A meeting with Isaac Stern in Paris last spring led to her application for and acceptance in the Piano Trio Institute which Stern, Eugene Istomin and Leonard Rose are conducting at Meadow Brook for master students and teacher participants.

She graduated from the Conservatoire National de Musique in Paris with first prizes in violin and chamber music.

Since then, she has placed first in several international music competitions and has appeared as soloist with orchestras in major European cities.

SHARE PROGRAM
Thomas S. Schneller and Eugene Fodor will share the program on Aug. 14. Both are members of the Meadow Brook University Orchestra, which matches the Detroit Symphony in size and balance.

Tom, son of Mrs. George R. Schneller, of Royal Oak, and the late Mr. Schneller, will play Milhaud's Percussion Concerto.

Now majoring in trumpet at Wayne State University, where he is a sophomore, Tom has been a member of public school bands and orchestras since the fourth grade.

He studies with Salvatore Rabbio, Detroit Symphony percussionist.

Eugene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene N. Fodor, of Golden, Colo., will perform the Saint-Saens Violin Concerto No. 3 which he played last March as first prize winner in the Young Artist Solo Competition for violin sponsored by the Denver Symphony Guild.

He will appear with the Denver Symphony during the coming season.

Hard to Face
Criticism of Own Child

By ELIZABETH L. POST
The correct answers to questions on problems involving children are chosen with an eye toward maintaining the friendliest possible relations with both children and their parents. It is a fact that criticism of one's children is probably the hardest thing in the world to accept.

To avoid a family feud from developing, the only thing to tell your child to do when another little boy gets into a stone-throwing routine is to avoid him.

Suggest that he find some other friend, until the stone is out. Throwing stones back will hardly lead to a better friendship, and if you complain to the bully's mother, she will probably not believe you, and will almost certainly resent your criticism.

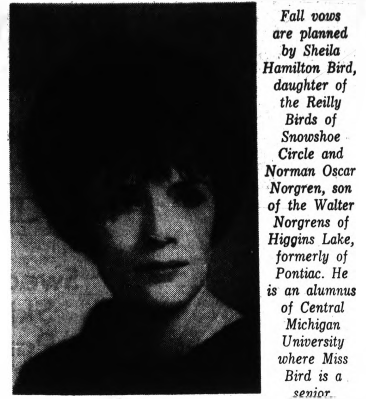

When the kids next door are keeping you awake in the wee small hours with their rock 'n' roll, the telephone is the answer. Call the house, and restraining yourself as far as possible, ask them to tone it down. If you get no results you may have to take more drastic measures, but calling the police should certainly be a last resort.

When your 16-year-old has the gang at your house, don't go out. It's an age where, without necessarily meaning any harm, they can get into too much trouble.

Don't insult them by staying in sight all the time, but choose a spot from which you can keep an eye on things unobtrusively and put in an appearance at the beginning, the end, and a couple of times in-between, just so they'll know an adult is around.

No matter how sorry you feel for Johnny when he's in a spot, don't let him see you're upset. Arrange something else for him to do, and ask Mary over to play another day, just as if he hadn't been left off her list.

If it was a mistake, making an issue would embarrass her mother terribly, and if it wasn't, your friendly attitude will ensure an invitation next year.

Why Grow Old?

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Every woman would like to have beautiful, white, even teeth. Unfortunately this is not possible for everyone, that is, unless you plan to have your teeth capped for cosmetic reasons. However, we can all have well-cared for teeth although they do not rate a commercial toothpaste smile.

Many folks do not realize that our teeth have an effect on our health as well as our attractiveness. Streptococci may thrive in cavities or diseased roots. Jagged points of broken or decayed teeth or incorrect fitting bridgework may lead to cancer because of constant irritation.

Missing teeth make it impossible to chew food adequately and may lead to poor nutrition. Missing teeth and the wearing down process also play some part in the sag in facial contour.

GUM TROUBLE

More persons lose their teeth because of gum trouble than because of decay. For this reason regular professional cleaning is important. Tartar collects on the teeth, and the usual brushing does not remove it. When this is allowed to remain and accumulate, the gums may become irritated and food particles may form in small pockets. The teeth may gradually become loose.

Cleanliness is the first tenet in tooth care. We should brush our teeth after each meal whenever possible. Massage of the gums is also helpful. The use of dental floss to remove remaining food particles from between the teeth is a rewarding habit. Some dentists recommended the use of the little rubber tips which come on some toothbrushes, for massaging the gums.

GENERAL HEALTH

General physical and emotional health also affect our teeth. Sometimes gumline cavities were correlated with times of stress. We need plenty of calcium and phosphorus. A well-balanced diet with a regular intake of milk and generous amounts of fruits and vegetables is beneficial.

Remember, you have only one set of teeth, so take care of them!

Open House

There will be an open house for Roy Whims on Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Rochester home of his daughter Mrs. George Reichert. The celebration will honor Mr. Whims on his 80th birthday. The honoree's other daughter, Mrs. Wayne Lovell will co-hostess.

Annual Picnic

A round of 'Hollywood Golf' preceded the annual picnic and business meeting for the Tuesday Tee Golf League, Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Leslie R. Frisch on Durham Drive.

The annual tournament for the league begins with next Tuesday's play.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merrill advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water smooth on a little tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

Perfect for the "between" period after summer, before fall... Country Set's walnut-hued sleeveless, lined jacket and front-belted A-shape skirt team up perfectly with a jewel neck shirt of fine batiste cotton in tiny walnut/white checks. Other matching coordinates are available.

'British Gentleman' Look Sets Pace for U.S. Males

Wools for men to wear in the country or on campus tend to be more rugged and hearty than in recent years . . . plaids are bolder in pattern and size; tweeds are woven on a bigger scale . . . and both are appreciably heavier (sensibly!) this year with the accent on the British look.

Solid-toned wool fabrics and muted heather tones are prominent in masculine fashion for the coming season. For this reason, weave fabrication is especially noticeable and important. Hopsacking — increasingly popular during the past few years for blazers and suits — appears this fall in a coarser weave and heavier weight that has a handsomely homespun look.

Solid color shetland-woven wools are also new, in the fashion sense, even if tailored into totally traditional sport coats. Subtly-iridescent, deep-toned wool sharkskins give a very current look to lighter weight business suits. All wool cavalry twills — characteristically crisp, with boldly diagonal surface — return this fall in topcoats and trousers.

CITY-COUNTRY

Patterned wools are also in the fashion spotlight for masculine attire designed for city as well as country wear: pin and chalk striped worsteds for suits; larger herringbone tweeds in subtle heather shades (as well as traditional black and white), for sport coats. Small scale patterns — checks, Tattersalls, various district checks — tend to replace gray flannel for casual trousers, which the sartorially aware man will incorporate into his country wardrobe, to wear with blazers and solid-toned tweed or shetland-woven sport coats.

The blazer continues in popularity as a wardrobe staple for men of campus age, on upward to yacht club commodores! Though at present (and increasingly in the future, it is widely predicted), the blazer appears more often with a double-breasted closure.

The foremost styling innovation in men's fashion for fall and winter is shaped tailoring of suits and sport coats — a trend that involves many new design details integral to the shaped silhouette: suppression in varying amount at waist; high side vents; often a pronounced cutaway curve at lower edges of coat front; greater emphasis on lapel width and shape, as well as on pocket placement and detailing.

Hart, Schaffner and Marx takes a cue for casual elegance from the finest racing stables in Ireland and interprets it in this Ballyjawn tweed country coat. Lightness and ease of fit makes it a winner for the coming fall-winter season. Coordinates are a button-down Tattersall check shirt by Hathaway and silk-wool poplin tie.

The British influence is unmistakable in this Hart, Schaffner and Marx Charing Cross blazer. The pure-wool hopsack fabric from England is styled with trim Racquet Club natural shoulder lines that have an inborn handsomeness and ease. Again, the Tattersall button-down shirt makes its entrance. The surprise touch is the red, blue, green paisley tie and matching silk square. The Hart, Schaffner and Marx line is sold at many fine stores in the area.

Teen fashions charge into a new look for fall, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. Hip-hugging slacks, widely belted and boldly patterned, swing with imaginatively designed cardigan and pullover sweaters that match the faster tempo of today's teens. All have the distinct feel of London's Carnaby Street.

Appalachian parka by Woolrich Woolen Mills reverses from bright red wool to olive green wind and water repellent twill. The parka zips closed in front to a pointed collar and the hood can be worn back or over the head and tied under the chin. The jacket has a high yoke and side slit pockets.

Footwear for the college man retains a classic look, accented with new colors and textures. On the left, a wingtip design fronts for a higher rising blucher style, shown with a basket-weave-effect wool crew sock. The deep orange Scotch grain Norwegian loafer is mated with a wool tweed sock.

Weather determines wardrobe for college men across the country, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. On the left, walk shorts have their place on western and southern campuses in the early fall . . . worn with lightweight cotton poplin windbreaker and bold plaid shirt. On the right, the vested suit—a campus favorite in any part of the country. Still in the very British natural shoulder style, it will be worn with bright pastel button-down shirts and boldly patterned ties this fall.

It's the little things that count in looking your best, such as the proper sleeve length which shows one-half inch of shirt cuff, and the proper trouser length, which just clears the shoe tops rather than crumples over them.

All-Stars Have 'Shock Troops' Ready for Packers Friday Night

Talented Backs Pace Collegian Plan of Attack

Green Bay Favored in Chicago's Annual Football Classic

CHICAGO (AP) — With six exceptional runners ready as shock troops, the College All-Stars seem to be preparing for an infantry attack against the Green Bay Packers Friday night.

But not even the pros have been very successful on the ground against the Packers, the National Football League champions, and the running strength of the All-Stars may prove to be just a diversionary attempt.

Short passes by Alabama's Steve Shan, Missouri's Gary Lane and Tulsa's Bill Anderson, the college's leading aerialist last season, may provide the main tone for the upset wanted by head coach John Sauer.

And, too, anything past mid-field seems to be field goal range for side-kicker Charles Gogolak of Princeton.

LAST VICTORY
His boys could make a difference, just like the two last goals by Bob Jenks, that nudged the collegians to their last victory in the series—20-17 over the Packers in 1963.

"This football classic in Soldier Field will be televised by ABC starting at 10 p.m., EDT, and the expected arena crowd is 65,000. The pros hold a 21-9-1 edge in the rivalry. The Packers rule a 15-15-point favorite."

Jimmy Anderson of Illinois Tech and Jim Grabowski of Michigan, who have been signed by the Packers for a total reported to be more than $900,000, are among the All-Stars big guns.

Others are Roy Shivers of Utah State, Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State, Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett of South California and Johnny Roland of Missouri.

LIGHT DRILL
The Packers arrive Thursday and will have a light limbering up drill in Soldier Field.

"It's easier to prepare for a game like this than it is in league play because what you don't know never bothers you," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "As for defense, we'll use the same we use all the time. The entire squad is healthy."

Cranbrook 9 Scores Win in 'A' Play

Steve Hanway and Mike Burkhaw combined to pitch a three-hitter for Cranbrook last night in a 5-0 Class A baseball victory over M.G. Collision.

Hanway went the first three innings and yielded one hit. Burkhaw was credited with the victory when Cranbrook came up with two runs in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Tom Hummel's triple, three straight walks and a single produced the fourth inning tally. John Colosimo's double, two walks, a sacrifice and Chuck Heavenrich's single yielded three runs in the fifth.

Heavenrich was the only player to get more than one hit in the game. He collected two singles.

HOMER IN PINCH — Jim Northrup is greeted by pitcher Mickey Lolich in the 9th inning of the first game against the Chicago White Sox last night after the Tiger outfielder blast off a two-run homer as pinch-hitter in the bottom of the ninth inning to defeat the Sox, 3-1. The Tigers, however, lost the second game of a two-night twinbill, 6-3.

Bullpen Collapse Stops Tiger Sweep of Twin Bill

Detroit (AP) — A sore elbow and the collapse of a well-rested bullpen prevented the Detroit Tigers from pulling up on the front-running Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night.

The Chicago White Sox, held in a run and five hits by Johnny Podres through the first seven innings, jumped on the relievers for five runs in the eighth and downed the Tigers, 6-3, in the second game of a two-night doubleheader.

Jim Northrup's dramatic pinch two-run homer in the ninth inning of the opener gave the Tigers a 3-1 triumph. The split cut the Orioles' lead to 12½ games.

"Johnny told me his elbow was bothering him and that he wasn't feeling free out there," Acting Manager Frank Skaft explained. "The bullpen was rested (the Tigers had seen their starters go all the way in the last three games) and I wasn't about to take any chances. " "Wouldn't it have been something if I didn't make the move and he would have injured himself permanently in the next inning?" Skaft added.

PARADE STARTS
Larry Sherry, who had won six games and saved 13 others, gave up a single to Pete Ward and a game-tying homer to John Romano. Skaft called in Dave Wickersham after Sherry walked Ken Berry in the eighth. Smokey Burgess' pinch-single scored Bill Skowron with the go-ahead run and Tommie Agee's bases-loaded single chased home two insurance runs. "Those things just happen," Skaft said in breaking the silence of the Detroit dressing room. "Any other time and we would have seen our first reliever mow them down."

"That's the longest Podres has gone this year. He did a whole lot of a job—as did the whole team. They really hustled," he added. The Tigers had forged ahead.

Youth Dies After Baseball Accident

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — Peter Walters, 13, of Warren, died Wednesday in a hospital from a head injury suffered a week ago in a baseball game.

Peter was trying to stretch a double to a triple when he was struck by a relay throw. Peter never regained consciousness.

His mother said she felt no bitterness. "It would have been much worse if he had died in a fight or a car accident. This was good clean play and an accident — an act of God. I hold no one responsible."

Final Scrimmage Sunday at Wisner

Ex-All County QB Joins Pontiac Arrows

With their first exhibition game just 10 days away, the player, Steve Stabo, presently of the Pontiac Arrows, champions of the Midwest Football League, will complete their heavy drills with a full dress scrimmage Sunday at the Wisner Stadium practice field.

A total of 50 players, 10 more than the legal limit for the MFL roster, will engage in the scrimmage at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Pontiac school teacher Bill Harrington is directing the Arrows at the quarterback slot, but a newcomer to roster is former All-County star Ron Bishop.

Bishop has joined the team and is competing for the job with former University of Michigan quarterback Jim Sytek.

Bishop, a graduate of Royal Oak Shrine was chosen on The Press All-Oakland County team in 1964 and also was the recipient of the county's Outstanding Player Award.

He was the passing star of the North-South Oakland County all-star football game in 1960 and took over the passing and kicking duties at the University of Detroit, graduating in 1964.

Sytek, from Detroit St. Joseph's, played with the Wolverines from 1956 to 1958.

OUT IN 1965
He was with the Arrows from 1959 to 1964, but was injured in 1965 and did not join the team, when it moved from Mt. Clemens to Pontiac.

Many other former prominent local gridirers and college players are with the Arrows, including ex-All-American from Michigan State who was with the Eagles, Lions and Cowboys of the NFL, Walt Kowalczyk.

Kowalczyk, the galloping blacksmith with the Spartans, joined the Arrows in the later games of 1965 and will be at in Lou Stankovic, a former professional soccer player, who has been splitting the uprights with the Arrows. He was hopeful Hill would return for duties as a kickoff and punt return specialist.

Jim Johnston, one of the running stars of the team, and Bill Leonard, leading pass receiver on the squad are back, as is end Frank Goldberg, who went into Lions' camp and failed to pass the physical demands of a back injury.

PEOPLE'S CHOICE
Another name missing is popular Bobby Hill, the little tank, who was the choice of the fans last year.

Hill, who stands only 5'6", is a strong field goal threat this year.

Coach Lyle Wells will have a strong field goal threat this year.

BACK IN SADDLE—Former All-Oakland County football star, Ron Bishop, later passing and kicking star at U. of D., will be calling signals for the Pontiac Arrows this year.

Regular Season Ends for Teams in Waterford

Midget Bar and Hillcrest Nazarene closed out their regular schedules of play in the Waterford Men's Softball League last night with victories. Dixie Tool fell to the Midget Bar 12-4, as winning pitcher Ed Rondo allowed only five hits and struck out seven.

Hillcrest Nazarene moundsman Rev. Harold Hughes threw a three-hit shutout as he led his team to a 4-0 win over Buckner Finance.

Rev. Hughes fanned 15 and contributed two hits to his team's five-hit attack. The final two games of the regular season will be played tonight at Drayton Park when Richardson's faces Day's Sanitary and Lakeland Pharmacy meets McAnnally's Auto Sales.

HOMETOWN VISIT — Tommy Mason, running star of the Minnesota Vikings, who will face the Detroit Lions in the opening exhibition game for both teams, will be a hometown hero in New Orleans site of the game Saturday night. Dave Dixon, who has been promoting pro games in New Orleans, brings Mason, ex-Tulane star to the city to help his cause in getting an NFL franchise.

Mason's Return Is Boost for Getting NFL Franchise

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Football for Tulane University in New Orleans.

"Tulane didn't have much of a team that year — 1960," said Dixon. "But the Greenies did have Mason. He was an exciting player and thrilling to watch."

"I went to the Tulane-Mississippi game and was I really astonished. There were 73,000 people there. I began thinking as I sat in the stands — this is a football town, and if people turn out like this when they know Tulane can't win but does play entertaining and exciting ball, then they'll go wild for pro football."

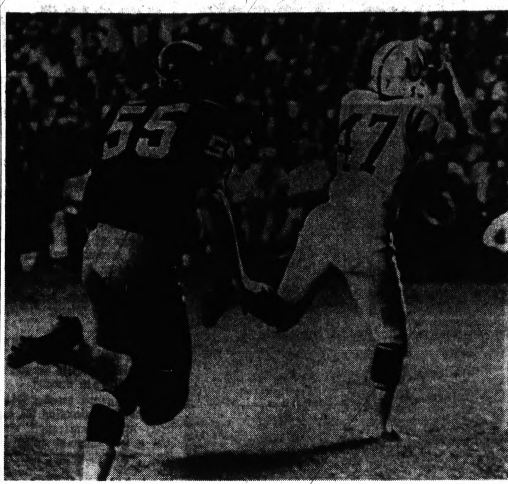

Mason did provide the fans with some thrills that night but Ole Miss pulled away in the second half and won 26-13. Mason was overlooked when the All-America teams were selected but when the NFL held its draft, Minnesota, which had just gotten a franchise, had the first choice in the first round. The Vikings picked Mason.

The Viking-Lion clash Saturday night will mark Mason's first appearance on the familiar turf of Tulane Stadium since his 1960 collegiate season. Mason has gone a long way in the pro ranks and Dixon has gone a long way toward getting a pro team.

How did Tommy Mason, the Vikings' 1964 all-pro halfback, become the catalyst for Dixon's crusade?

Tom Matte was all but forced into retirement as a professional quarterback Wednesday night and John Brodie emerged from his self-imposed layoff, leaving the Baltimore Colts and San Francisco 49ers looking forward hopefully to the National Football League season.

Matte, a halfback, forced into the signal-calling spot late last season when injuries sidelined first Johnny Unitas and then Gary Guzzo, was on the sidelines Wednesday night as Unitas and Cozzio returned to action.

NHL Goalie Recuperating

Sawchuk Puts 8 Miles on Legs

Terry Sawchuk, the only player in professional hockey to be voted the top rookie in three different leagues three straight years, says he "feels like a rookie again" after an eight-mile hike from Union Lake to Pontiac.

Sawchuk underwent surgery in Pontiac five weeks ago and has been recuperating slowly.

"I got permission from my doctor and decided to start getting my legs in shape," he said. He and young Terry started out on the hike from their home near Morey's Golf Club around noon.

The walk of eight miles took about 2 1/2 hours, and Sawchuk decided to call home for a ride back instead making it round-trip by foot.

Sawchuk said he felt very good after the operation which he thought was an arthritis condition for two years.

"The pain in the lower part of my back and my legs really bothered me for two years. When I learned it was a herniated disc I figured I had to do something about it right away."

because I'm not ready to retire from hockey yet," he said.

Sawchuk a veteran of 15 years in the NHL with the Red Wings, Boston and Toronto, will be 37 years old in December.

He is the dean of NHL goalies, having set more records and scored more honors than any other goaltender in the league.

The Wings traded Sawchuk to Boston in 1956 but got him back in 1958. In 1963 he was traded to Toronto and he said yesterday "I'll be in as good as shape as a rookie when I report to camp."

Kurach Leads Qualifiers

Special to The Press

PORTLAND — A two-time bridesmaid in the Michigan Publix Golf Tournament is waiting at the altar again.

John Kurach, who twice lost in the finals of the state tournament in 1961 when he was at Pontiac Country Club, and again in 1964 when he lost to Dayton Shanahan of Milford at Fawn Valley, fired a four-under par 67 to lead the qualifiers at Portland Golf Club yesterday.

Kurach, 45, and a member of the Rochester Golf Club, was five under par after 17 holes, but three-putted to 18th to finish 32-35-57.

This was two strokes ahead of four golfers tied at 69 including a 16-year-old Portland High School golfer who is said to "have every blade of grass on the course."

Mike Fedewa, the prepster

who was Lansing city golf champ, had 33-36. Others were Bob Temsey of Grand Ledge, John Luck of Dearborn and a George Catto of Hickory Hills.

Jack Flock of Troy was at 70 followed by Shanahan with a 71 and Dean Mathews of Union Lake with a 72. Gus Kranites of Clarkston were among these at 73 with Dave Sebring of Pontiac and ex-Pontiac city champion R. O. Rothbarth among those at 74.

Carrier's 114 Leads Putters

Steve Van Rockel led first round of the annual Press Carriers' Putt golf tournament by dropping 114 putts, six over par at the Dixie Hills course.

Van Rockel had putt scores of 41-37-36-114. Par for each nine holes is 36.

Four strokes behind was Stormer with 40-33-33-121 followed by Kelly Kammer with 121.

The second round resumes today, with the semi-finals on Friday at 9:00 a.m. and the finals at 2:00 p.m. Saturday.

Twins Hurler Has New Act 'Like Koufax'

Boswell Wins Seventh Straight, Adding 10
Strikeouts to Lead

By the Associated Press
Dave Boswell's barnyard impressions still break up his teammates, but the Minnesota Twins' funny man is dead serious about his new act — impersonating Sandy Koufax.

Boswell fired a four-hitter against Boston Wednesday night for his seventh straight victory and added 10 strikeouts to his American League lead as the Twins battered the Red Sox 7-2.

The 21-year-old pitching prodigy has been the AL's answer to Koufax, Los Angeles' fabulous left-hander, over the past two months — and he's actually been a couple of steps ahead of the Dodger ace in recent weeks.

Before June 1, however, Boswell's major contributions to the Twins were his hilarious imitations of the animal and bird kingdoms. "Come on, Boswell, feed the chickens for us," a teammate would command, and the young right-hander would protest in vain before dusting off his chicken-feeding routine.

His bird-calls were a big hit, too, and his squeaking barn door always was in demand, but the strapping Baltimore native was a troubled pitcher. He was the clubhouse comedian — and his won-lost record was 0-4.

"I don't want that goofy reputation," he said. "I'm going to be serious this year."

PROVED POINT

Then he went out and proved it. Since June 1 he has won 11 of 12 decisions. Koufax, 3-1 on June 1, has been 8-4 since then. Boswell has won his last six starts; Koufax has won two of his last six.

Sandy's earned run average of 1.64 is far superior to Boswell's 3.00 mark, but the Minnesota fireballer will take the victories any way he can get them.

"I want to win," he says. "I don't care if it's 9-8, 8-6 or 1-0."

Boswell's 10 strikeouts against the Red Sox increased his season figure to 138. Koufax, with 210 strikeouts, is the only pitcher in the majors ahead of him.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, the New York Yankees ended a five-game tailspin by trimming California 9-0 on Mel Stottlemyre's two-hitter; the Cleveland Indians overcame five Baltimore homers for a 9-6 victory over the league leaders; Washington edged Kansas City 4-3 and Detroit split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the opener 3-1 before bowing 6-3.

Boswell, who had pitched a one-hitter against Baltimore in his previous start last Saturday, gave up bases-empty homers to Boston's Carl Yastrzemski and Don Demeter but was in control all the way.

The Twins wrapped it up with a four-run burst in the fifth inning. Earl Battey capping the rally with a two-run double.

U. S. Golf Meel Next for Winner

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Carol Sorenson Fleiniken has warmed up for next week's U.S. Women's Amateur with a one-stroke victory in the 11th Farmington Women's Invitational Golf Tournament.

A birdie 4 on the 10th hole gave Mrs. Fleiniken a closing 75 and a 54-hole score of 225, three over par, Wednesday. It enabled the Curtis Cup star from Denver to squeeze past fast-finishing Maggie Martin of St. Clairsville, Ohio, who posted a final 72 for 228.

Two City Softball Teams Gain Berths in State Tournament

Ken's Rost and Bob & Ken's gained berths in the Michigan Softball Association tournament with victories last night at Beaudette Park.

Ron's edged Bob & Larry's 3-2, for its second straight win in the best-of-three Class C playoff. Bob & Ken's chalked up its second win in as many nights over Francis Fuel, 11-2, to gain the Class D berth.

Town & Country plays Orchard Lanes at Beaudette tonight at 7 in the rubber game of the Class B playoff.

Bud & Lou's threw the National League race into a jam by stunning Idletime Bar, 9-8, last night at Northside. The result left Idletime and Motorcar Transport tied for first.

Bud & Lou's can make it a three-way tie by downing J. A. Fredman at 7 tonight at Northside in the final regular season game. Timberlanes gained a berth in the upper division NL playoffs by slipping past Local 653 by a 7-5 score last night.

SPARKS ON SWIMMING

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixteenth in a series of 30 articles in which author and swimming coach Christian B. Sparks offers tips on swimming for beginners and experts.)

By CHRISTIAN B. SPARKS

The breast stroke is important because it's both a survival and competitive stroke.

It is the most important of the survival strokes. It can be relaxed, easy, resting stroke. Breathing problems are minimized, and you can see where you are going.

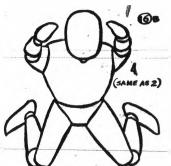

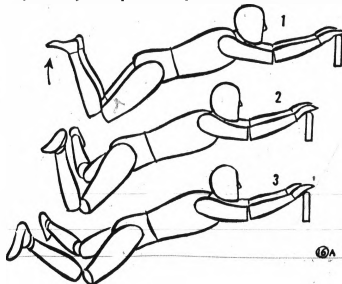

The most difficult and thus the most important part for down and lift the rest of the feet off the floor. Keep the front of the foot up and slide the heels along the floor until the legs are straight.

PULL UP

Now, pull the front of the feet up as far as possible and roll the feet to the outside. Relax the ankles and let the feet fall forward. Move them up again. Next time keep the feet in the up-position rolled to the outside and bend the knees to the original position.

This approximates the breast stroke leg and foot position, only upside down. Get the feel of the muscles in the front and inside of the ankles that bring the feet up and outside. Flex them into position a few times.

HOLD ON

Get into the pool, hold on to the wall, bend the knees bringing the heels up high in back of you. When the legs are all the way up in back of you, pull the front of the feet up, roll them to the outside, push backward against the water and kick around in a small, tight circle until the legs are straight and side-by-side as in the prone-glide.

Work at this for a few minutes until it seems to become natural, then try it with the kickboard. A word of caution: Don't kick too hard and if the knees or shins begin to get sore or tender, quit and try it again tomorrow.

(Next: Advanced Breast Stroke.)

Sit down in a chair and bend the knees until the feet are flat on the floor. Keep the heels

Experts From 50 States, D.C., Okay Model Antibias Law

MONTREAL (AP) — Legal experts from the 50 American states and the District of Columbia gave final approval today to model antidiscrimination legislation designed to make state and federal law on the subject uniform.

Some members of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws had hoped to put the prestige of the American Bar Association behind the model law. But southern commissioners led a successful fight Monday to change the designation of the draft from "uniform" to "model."

The "uniform" designation would have required submission of the draft for approval to the bar association's House of Delegates, which opens its annual meeting in Montreal Monday. As a "model" draft it does not have to go before the bar association.

The vote for the change was 21-17.

FAVOR CHANGE

In favor of the change were the commissioners from Alabama, Arizona, California, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Mississippi, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wyoming, and the District of Columbia.

Voting to retain the "uniform" designation were Connecticut, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah and Washington.

Representatives of the other states did not vote.

At the heart of the model law presented by an eight-man drafting committee is a "basic act" patterned after the 1964 federal civil rights law. But stiffer provisions governing the use of public accommodation in housing and education — and strict prohibitions on discrimination in housing and education — were recommended additionally.

PROVISIONS

Both the basic and alternate provisions worked out by the conference are designed for adoption by the state legislatures — provided they want to enact uniform antidiscrimination legislation. The conference seeks to give receptive states a uniform law with language providing for sure administration.

The project grew out of a suggestion by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois at the conference's 1963 meeting in Chicago. A $15-

Wiring Is Blamed

LANSING (AP) — Faulty electrical wiring caused the fire which destroyed a downtown Lansing furniture store Tuesday, with a loss of about $200,000, Lansing Fire Chief Victor Space said Wednesday.

Theater Group Seeks Key Cultural Role

WATERFORD, Conn. (AP) — Down in the sunken garden, an intent group hears about the intricate business side of artistic endeavor.

Upstairs, downstairs in the big house, and out back in a field, multiple rehearsals are in session.

Phase I of the Eugene O'Neill Memorial Theater Foundation is in full swing, the second annual national playwrights conference that continues through Aug. 6.

Writing, however, is only part of ultimate purpose.

'BUGGYWHIP ERA'

Novel in concept, the project aspires to an important, broad part in national cultural growth.

"The American theater in certain ways is still back in the buggy whip era," declares George C. White III, who runs the foundation. "We aim to be a catalyst."

The kind of enthusiasm, native and professional, which has been aroused is typified by veteran actor Fanchot Tone, one of the participating players.

"The great moments in life are when you are pioneering something like this," Tone says.

Involved in the conference are 19 writers who have yet to savor the rewards of Broadway or the major repertory exhibit; plus producers, directors, designers, business experts and actors.

The program includes full-scale productions of two new works and staged readings of a dozen others, all by participating playwrights.

FAR-REACHING

Although the conference this year focuses on advice and criticism for novice authors, White envisions the center as multipurpose, flexible and far-reaching.

"We want this to be a place where anyone in any branch of the theater can come with an idea and try it without jeopardizing it," he declares.

White, 31, is a native son who studied at Yale, ventured into show business through the television activities of Talent Associates, formed a music company, and then got the notion for a theatrical foundation, upon which he has concentrated exclusively for the past 18 months.

Supported primarily thus far by private contributions and bank loans, the venture aims to start soon a $350,000 campaign for "seed purposes" and hopes eventually for a $10-million endowment to provide such adjuncts as a school of theatrical crafts; library; museum and publishing unit.

Attaching the name of O'Neill to the venture — with his widow's permission — seemed natural. Waterford faces Long Island Sound next to New London, the town where the Nobel Prize dramatist spent summers as a teen-ager.

Romney Names Arts Chairman

LANSING (AP) — Karl Haas received Gov. George Romney's appointment Wednesday as chairman of the new 15-member State Council for the Arts, formed to encourage the performing and creative arts. Haas, fine arts director of Detroit Radio Station WJR, was appointed for a term expiring June 1, 1970. Senate confirmation is required.

The Mouth of Danger

If the Walls Fall, That's All

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every housewife knows that sudden vibrations caused by a slamming door, a thunderclap or a kangaroo on the roof can cause a cake to fall.

Last year it was reported that the west front of the U.S. Capitol is similarly vulnerable to vibration.

Testifying in support of his controversial plan to rebuild the west front, Capitol architect J. George Stewart said an airplane breaking the sound barrier or shock waves from an explosion might cause the wall to collapse.

Perhaps I'm just being a Nervous Nellie, but ever since Stewart made that statement I have lived under a cloud of fear.

I spend a good part of my time in the congressional press galleries on the top floor of the Capitol. If, as Stewart indicated, a booming noise can cause a cave-in, I figure I'm in danger every time Sen. Wayne Morse makes a speech.

At one point I considered applying for hazardous duty pay. But I now have reason to believe the danger may have been exaggerated.

WEST

LANDING SPOT

One day this week a House commerce subcommittee sponsored a demonstration of use of helicopters for an airport shuttle service. An open space on Capitol Hill served as a temporary heliport.

For several hours the choppers flew members of Congress and newsmen as round trips to airports in the area. They proved the airports could be reached in 10 minutes, compared with about an hour by auto.

Everyone agreed this would be a very desirable service—particularly if the airline strike is ever settled.

One lawmaker immediately introduced a bill calling for construction of a permanent heliport on top of the new congressional parking garage.

SHAKING EFFECT

What concerned me, however, was the effect the vibrations created by the aerial eggbeaters would have on the west front.

I went along on one of the trips and measured the wind currents produced by the rotating blades.

Then I went to the Senate chamber and measured the gusts of rotatory produced by debate on the bill to end the airline strike.

Here is my conclusion: Unless the wall was built with cake mix there is nothing to worry about.

Stations Ban Beatles' Discs

LONDON (AP)—The American producer of the Beatles movie said today the banning of Beatles records by U.S. radio stations will have no effect on his plans to star the mophead musicians again.

"I know all of the boys well," said Walter Shenson. "I also know them as not irreverent and not irreverent. But I also know them to be honest unto themselves."

A number of American radio stations banned the quartet's records after Beatle John Lennon, 25, was quoted as saying: "Christianity will go. It will vanish and shrink. We're more popular than Jesus now. Jesus was all right, but his disciples were thick and ordinary."

SRD FILM

Shenson, a native of San Francisco who lives in London, said he will make the third Beatle film in London in January.

The Beatles are scheduled to open a U.S. tour in Chicago Aug. 12, then perform in Detroit, Cleveland, Washington, Philadelphia, Toronto, Boston, Memphis, Cincinnati, St. Louis, New York, Seattle, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Maureen Clave of the London Evening Standard first published Lennon's comment on Jesus and Christianity on March 4. It was ignored until an American magazine picked it up for its September issue.

Dozens of radio stations throughout the United States are banning records by the Beatles because of Lennon's remark.

BAN RECORDS

A disc jockey in Birmingham, Ala., of the South's "Bible Belt," sparked the drive by publicly announcing that his radio station was no longer playing the Beatles, who grew wealthy as the music idols of the younger set in recent years.

Other stations followed suit.

Wednesday, removing Beatles records from their programs and stripping their libraries of Beatles platters. Some, however, reported they would continue to play the British group's music despite the furor.

Station Manager Tommy Ingham, who sparked the drive, said the Beatles were banned because, "We just felt it was so absurd and sacrilegious that something ought to be done to show them they cannot get away with this sort of thing."

Tragedy on Farm

Ohio Woman Drowns 4 Children, Self

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—A 25-year-old Ashland County woman apparently threw her four children into a farm pond, drowning them, then drowned herself in the pond, Coroner Dr. J.R. Higerd said today.

The family tragedy, ruled homicide and suicide by Dr. Higerd, occurred Wednesday night on a farm about six miles south of Geneva-on-the-Lake in Trumbull Township.

The body of Mrs. Patricia Smith was pulled from the 18-foot-deep pond after the bodies of her four children were found floating on the water. The children were 4-year-old Kevin, Kathy, 3, Kasandra, 1, and Keith, 2 months.

Mrs. Smith had been separated from her husband, Wil Smith's mother, called him, since January, Dr. Higerd said. A relative said she had been dependent since the separation. The woman had been living with her mother, Mrs. John Clay, on old State Road, Sheriff Tom Fasula said Mrs. Smith was in the Flint, Mich., area.

Ike Leaves Hospital

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is back home at his farm after a week in the hospital for a checkup.

Eisenhower's aide, Brig. Gen. Robert Schulz, said Eisenhower expects to be in his office today for a regular working day. Eisenhower was flown home by helicopter yesterday after a general checkup of heart and arthritic conditions at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

Look, George, I didn't trade the best years of my life for a bunch of army brats and a quonset hut in Valley Forge.

That's the way newspaper readers are: they want more out of life. And if you have something to sell, try newspaper readers first.

Just about every family with an income over $5000 a year reads the newspaper every day. And as income and education go up, newspaper readership climbs to 95%.

Also: the newspaper isn't just something people read on their way to work. In fact, 90% of newspaper reading is done at home — where the husband and wife can put their heads together on big-ticket purchases.

Reach is the thing with newspapers. Whatever you sell, big-ticket or small, your best prospects are the 95 million adults who turn to the daily newspaper for all the things that can brighten their lives.

The husband of singer Judy Garland has filed a separate maintenance suit, charging she subjected him to extreme cruelty and mental and physical pain.

Actor Mark Herron, 36, filed the complaint in Los Angeles Superior Court yesterday. Friends said he had not made it a divorce action because a reconciliation is possible.

Herron married Miss Garland, 44, last November in Las Vegas, Nev. The couple separated April 15.

Actress Granted Divorce From Psychiatrist

Actress France Nuyen has been granted an interlocutory divorce decree in Santa Monica, Calif., from her husband, Thomas G. Morrell, a psychiatrist, who she says "knew how to ignore and destroy a woman's ego."

Miss Nuyen, 24, said Morrell would not speak to her for days at a time.

She will receive an undisclosed cash settlement. The couple has a daughter, Fleur, 2.

Regret Allowing Sinatra Plane to Use Field

A government spokesman has told the House of Commons that it regretted that a private plane carrying Frank Sinatra and his young bride Mia Farrow had erroneously been given permission to land at a Royal Air Force field Sunday.

Merlyn Rees, under secretary of defense for the Royal Air Force, said the Sinatra plane exceeded weight regulations for the field "and I regret therefore that an error was made in giving approval in this case."

TFX Controversy Is Heating Up Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The bitter controversy over whether Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara forced a second best warplane on the nation's military to save $1 billion is heating up again.

This latest outbreak, centered around development of the Navy version of the TFX — tactical fighter experimental now known as the F11B.

As a weapons system — aircraft wedded to missile — the program is 12 to 18 months behind schedule.

The first three prototypes were so badly overweight they were useless for carrier operations.

COST SOARING

Further, the research and development costs for the weapons system are soaring although this is not uncommon in projects involving new weapons.

The F-111 — and there are two versions to date — may not turn out to be the all-weather, all-purpose air superiority aircraft originally envisioned by McNamara.

The Marine Corps already has told Congress it does not intend to buy the F111 in either the Air Force or Navy versions for close air support of troops.

There have been published reports out of Washington indicating that the Senate Investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., may reopen its still uncompleted hearings.

NO FINDINGS

In 1963 the McClellan subcommittee heard testimony covering over 2,700 pages and collected in 10 volumes, but it never issued a finding.

To date the controversy over the F11B has swirled around the first three prototypes.

A slimmed down fourth prototype, identified as No. 4 F11B, was rolled off the assembly line in July and its builders contend it will meet the Navy's operation of a fifth prototype, which is due for production this month.

Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze said on July 27 that the F11B was a weapons system "we must make work."

22 Viet Women Seek Office

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Twenty-two women are among the 620 candidates in the Sept. 11 election for South Viet Nam's constitutional assembly.

The assembly will have 117 members, including nine Montagnards (mountain tribesmen), four persons of Cambodian descent from border districts, and 104 chosen by the general electorate.

The military government has screened all candidates and weeded out those it considers Communist sympathizers or neutralists. About eight per cent of the candidates are from the military.

The assembly will write a constitution which will be submitted to the military junta for approval or amendment.

Wrong time of the year for us! . . . Great for fishing and swimming . . . but fish hooks and sun glasses are not our business . . . Home appliances are! If so, we're giving you good reason to buy it immediately . . . UNUSUAL SAVINGS! . . . Buy at our lowest prices of the year . . . For instance, what other month of the year can you buy a completely frost-free refrigerator-freezer combination for just $165 . . . or a new color TV for $279 . . . a stereo console for $89 . . . See for yourself . . . check our prices . . . check your savings.

Everything goes, including new 1967 models. Everything is "top-notch," top-brand. Floor models priced accordingly. You'll be glad you bought during this August Sale at Highland—where you pocket the savings.

Milk Prices Up, but You Can Keep Costs Down

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Paying more for milk is going to upset a lot of food budgets. But since there's little hope of rolling prices back, we may as well adjust.

If your family guzzles milk as if it were going out of style, you're not going to have much luck cutting them down.

But there are ways you can cut milk costs.

Buying in large quantities from a milk store may pare phases. A few pennies saved every week may buy an extra quart of milk a month.

Check canned evaporated milk. Even if it goes up a bit in price, it is still cheaper than fresh milk and ideal to use for cooking. An area restaurant known for its delicious custard uses only canned milk for it.

Then there's nonfat dry milk. Now may be the time you start using it.

It is unfortunate that so many people turn up their noses when you mention this wonderful convenience food.

In other parts of the world it is literally saving lives. Children who have never had milk until the U.S. sent in dry skim milk powder will grow up stronger and healthier because of it.

What we have recommended before will bear repeating. If you will stand up the milk according to package directions and let it make overnight in the refrigerator, the taste is excellent.

MIX TWO MILKS

If you will mix prepared non-fat dry milk with your regular milk, you can cut your milk bill drastically.

First of all, you don't announce your plans. Use some psychology.

The first few days replace only one-fourth of the regular milk with skim. If you don't hear any complaints, gradually increase the amount of skim until you are serving half skim and half regular.

If your family likes skim milk you don't have any problems. Use the powdered kind and serve it at whatever strength they prefer.

But the point of all this above is that you are not harming your family at all by substituting skim milk for whole milk. All the nutrients are still there; only water and butterfat have been removed.

In fact, the protein is more concentrated.

As for the butterfat — fat is not what the average diet lacks. You don't have to worry about that. An extra pat of butter or margarine will provide additional fat calories.

HAM 'N' CHEESE PIE

Cheese Cooky Full of Nuts and Chewy

A whole cheese flavo coupled with the crunch of roasted almonds make "Almond Cheese Cookies" one of the best to come down the pipe in a long time.

They are chewy, these cookies that you can whip up in no time at all. Enjoy them with ice cream or a warm summer's day.

Almond Cheese Cookies
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup sugar

1 egg
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup grated Muenster or Monterey Jack cheese
1/2 cup diced almonds, roasted
Grated Parmesan cheese (optional)

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream butter with sugar; beat in egg and vanilla. Gradually beat in flour mixture, Muenster cheese and almonds.

Chill dough until firm enough to handle. Form into balls; roll in Parmesan cheese.

Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 350 degrees about 10 minutes. (Cookies are very 8 and 9-inch sizes. The pans light). Transfer to racks to cool. Makes 1 dozen.

Basic Cookie Mix

10 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3/4 cups instant nonfat dry milk
3 tablespoons PLUS 2 1/4 teaspoons baking powder
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 1/2 cups margarine
5 cups sugar

Sift together flour, instant nonfat dry milk, baking powder and salt; set aside. In a large mixing bowl, cream margarine until fluffy. Gradually add sugar; beat until light and fluffy. Gradually add dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Blend well after each addition. Turn into a large container with a tight fitting lid.

Store basic mix covered, in refrigerator or cool, dry place until ready to use. It will hold safely 2 weeks, or longer, if kept under the conditions mentioned above.

VARIATIONS: (Each variety makes about 3 1/2 dozen cookies.)

CHOCOLATE: Blend well 1 slightly beaten egg, 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar. Gradually blend in 4 cups cookie mix, 1/2 cup melted and cooled semi-sweet chocolate, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Drop by teaspoonfuls 1/2 inches apart onto well-greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven, 10-12 minutes or until lightly browned.

MINCE 'N' SPICE: Combine 1 slightly beaten egg, 4 cups cookie mix, 1 cup condensed mince meat, dry form, 1/4 cup water and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Stir to blend well. Drop by teaspoonfuls 1/2 inches apart onto well-greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 10-12 minutes or until lightly browned.

OATMEAL: Combine 1 slightly beaten egg, 4 cups cookie mix, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 2 cups rolled oats, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg, 1/4 cup water. Stir to blend well. Drop by teaspoonfuls 1/2 inches apart onto well-greased cookie sheet.

If desired, top each with pecan, almond or glace cherry half. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 10-12 minutes or until lightly browned.

BASIC COOKIE MIX

Sauce Smooth With Canned Milk

It's sure to be a winner when that popular team of ham and cheese joins forces with pie crust mix. Ham 'N' Cheese Pie is a tempting combination. Evaporated milk is an important ingredient in the cheese sauce.

HAM 'N' CHEESE PIE

Crust: One-half 10-oz. pkg. (1 cup) pie crust mix
1 teaspoon caraway seed
2 tablespoons cold water
Filling: 1 lb. diced cooked ham (about 3 cups)
1 cup grated Swiss cheese

1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Dash pepper
1 cup evaporated milk
3 eggs, beaten
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Heat oven to hot (425 degrees). For crust, measure mix into bowl; stir in caraway seed. Sprinkle cold water by table-spoonfuls over mix. Stir lightly with fork until just dampened. (If necessary, add another one-half tablespoon water to make dough hold together.)

13-inch circle. Fit loosely into pie plate. Trim around edge of pie plate. Cut 1-inch circles from trimmings. Overlay circles around edge of crust. With fork, press circles to crust to seal. Prick.

Bake in preheated oven (425 degrees) about 8 minutes. Remove from oven; reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees). For filling, combine all ingredients. Pour into partially baked pie shell. Bake about 30 minutes or until set. Let stand a few minutes before serving.

Spring-form pans come in 8 and 9-inch sizes. The pans are often used for cheese cakes. Makes 1 dozen.

LOW CALORIE DRESSINGS — Why weight? Top off this summer's salads with delicious, low-calorie dressings made without sugar.

Some to Please All

Enjoy Low-Calorie Salad Dressings

Now's the time to turn summer's bounty of fresh fruits and vegetables into all sorts of tasty salads. And that brings up the subject of salad dressings.

Prudent weight watchers realize that even though the ingredients of the salad may be low in calories, the dressing that tops it most often is not. It's similar to the old debate about whether potatoes are fattening, or whether it's the butter or gravy added to the potato that does the damage.

CITRUS DRESSING (For Fresh Fruit Salads)

1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup grapefruit juice
1 1/2 teaspoons sucaryl solution
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients; blend well. Chill before serving over fresh fruit.
Makes 1/4 cup, each tablespoon 4 calories; no protein; no fat; 15 grams carbohydrate.

COOKED LEMON DRESSING (For Jellied Fruit Salads)

3 egg yolks, well beaten
1 tablespoon sucaryl solution
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons skim milk

Combine all ingredients in small saucepan. Cook, over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to the boil and thickens slightly. Cool.

Makes 1 cup, each tablespoon 18 calories; 0.5 gram protein; 1.5 grams fat; 1 gram carbohydrate.

MUSTARD SALAD DRESSING

1/2 cup prepared mustard
2 tablespoons non-dairy creamer

1 tablespoon sucaryl solution
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup boiling water

Combine all ingredients; beat with a rotary beater until well blended. Serve on seafood, chicken or ham salads.

Makes 1/4 cups, each tablespoon 9 calories; 0.5 gram protein; 1 gram fat; 1 gram carbohydrate.

SWEET-SOUR DRESSING (For Green Salads)

4 1/2 teaspoons sucaryl solution

Put Dill Pickles in Hamburgers Before Cooking

Entertaining teen-agers? They never get their fill of hamburgers, do they?

But here is a delicious new entree with flavor appeal to suit anyone. The secret lies in the core of the burger — a dill pickle. Surrounded with ground beef and wrapped with bacon, the burger acquires a tingling taste when grilled over wood charcoal briquets.

Dillburgers

2 pounds of ground beef
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
4 dill pickles
8 slices bacon
8 frankfurter buns

Combine ground beef, salt, pepper and onion. Cut dill pickles in half lengthwise. Mold ground beef mixture around each pickle half, allowing 1/4 pound ground beef per serving.

Wrap bacon strips around beef and dill pickle and fasten with wooden picks.

When coals are gray, place the dillburgers on the grill. Cook them 5 to 6 minutes, turn and cook them on the second side 5 to 6 minutes. Serve in frankfurter buns. This makes 8 servings. Makes 4 servings.

Baked Beans Are the Answer

With warm sunny days the word "play ball" is heard across the land. And common to big and little leagues alike are big appetites. Sure to score with the players and one of the easiest meals to fix is a generous spread of hot dogs and baked beans. Serve along with

Baseball Beans

2 pounds dry Michigan navy beans
2 quarts water
1/2 pound salt pork
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup molasses
1 tablespoon ginger
2 teaspoons dry mustard

Cover beans with water, bring to boil and boil 2 minutes. Remove and let stand 1 hour. Return to heat and cook about 5 minutes or till beans are tender. Drain, reserving the water.

Cover salt pork with boiling water, let stand for 5 minutes; deep without cutting through the rind. Put beans in pot and press the pork down into them with the rind showing.

Mix salt, molasses, ginger and mustard with one cup of the reserved bean water. Bring this to a boil and pour mixture over beans. If necessary add enough of the remaining bean water to cover the beans.

Cover pot and bake in a slow oven (250 degrees) for 6 to 8 hours. Add water from time to time if necessary to keep beans moist. Uncover last hour of baking. Serve 12.

Speedy Supper

1/2 cup real mayonnaise

1/2 cup heavy cream

Letuce

Gently mix together the fruit, almonds and celery. Whip cream until stiff; fold in mayonnaise; fold carefully into fruit mixture. Turn into freezing tray or metal loaf pan. Freeze until firm, about 1 1/2 hours.

Cut into squares and serve on lettuce. Makes about 6 servings.

Makes 14 tablespoons, each tablespoon 35 calories; no protein; 4 grams fat; 0.5 gram carbohydrate.

Spices Will Flavor Broiling Chicken

Interesting flavor results from spice-broiling chicken.

Happy Broiled Chicken

1 broiler-fryer chicken, about 2 1/2 pounds (cut in 10 pieces)

1/4 teaspoon each ginger, cardamom, chili powder, turmeric and onion powder

1 clove garlic, crushed

3 tablespoons butter, soft

Wash chicken in cold water; clean and dry on paper towels. Blend together the remaining ingredients.

Spread under side of chicken pieces with half of butter mixture. Broil, seasoned side up, until brown; turn and spread with remaining butter mixture; continue broiling until brown and cooked through. Baste a few times with drippings.

Adjust heat of pan according to broiling directions for your cook them on the second side range; to have chicken cooked through it will probably need to broil for about 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

3 Tablespoons bacon fat
2 one-pound cans pork and beans
6 slices fried bacon, crumbled
1 cup grated cheese
Saute onion in bacon fat. Mix beans, bacon pieces and onion thoroughly and put in casserole. Top with the cheese and bake in medium (350 degree) oven for half hour. Serve with coleslaw and corn bread sticks.

Sausage Surprise

2 cups leftover baked beans

1/2 cup bread cubes

1 egg beaten

1/2 teaspoon sage, oregano or savory

Salt and pepper to taste

Milk

Fine dry bread crumbs

Mash beans. Mix well with bread cubes and egg. Add seasoning and moisten with milk. Shape the mixture into sausage size and roll in crumbs. Brown in a little hot fat, turning to form a good crust all over. Cook slowly, about 20 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce or chili.

BASEBALL BEANS — After the ball game — whether it's sandlot, Little League or just the family at a picnic — beans help fill that

Mart Rallies in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Steel jumped aboard the steel price market bandwagon and the stock market rallied today on the heaviest trading in weeks. Prices were at their peak early this afternoon.

As "Big Steel" went along with price increases already announced by such lesser companies as Inland, Armco, Jones & Laughlin, National and Pittsburgh Steel, Wall Street seemed to lose its doubt about the permanence of the price hikes.

The action of the nation's biggest steel producer "rattled" the steel stocks raked up gains running from fractions to more than 2 points.

Buying spread to most other major sections of the stock list. Brokers said a new wave of inflationary expectations was bringing in buyers from the sidelines.

Trading volume for the first two hours total 3.46 million shares compared with 2.98 million for the period yesterday.

Wage, Price Guides

Under Strong Attack

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Both wage and price guidesposts are under strong attack this week. And in most cities, there are wondering if the forecasts still will hold up after the trimming of their disposable incomes after taxes—economic purchasing power. In short, will it be still harder to make ends meet?

Steel prices and airline ticket prices are the headline-catching dramatization of general underlying trends.

Haircut Prices Hiked

It may cost more to get your hair clipped after Sept. 1 in some parts of Oakland County, but not in Pontiac.

Members of Barbers and Beauticians Local 658 have voted to hike the cost of haircuts 25 cents for children and adults effective Sept. 1.

However, the price hike will only affect barber shops affiliated with Local 658.

City Planning Commission in Negative Zoning Mood

Petitions for property rezoning and alley vacations did not fare very well at a four-hour City Planning Commission session attended by an estimated 150 persons last night.

Only three petitions on the lengthy, 14-item agenda received an affirmative nod from the city planners. Final action on all planning proposals rests with the City Commission.

Recommended were rezoning-3 (R-3) rezoning for property at Bagley and Branch owned by the African Methodist Episcopal Church; vacating the alley behind 21, 29 and 33 Michigan, between Belmont and the proposed M59 freeway; and vacating the alley adjacent to 21 Michigan, between Michigan and the freeway.

The balance of the petitions were denied, except rezoning for two vacant lots on the southwest corner of Orchard Lake Avenue and Chapman.

Commercial-1 (C-1) was the requested rezoning, but the planning commission recommended denial of this.

Instead, the planners substituted a recommendation for personal service rezoning. Neighboring residents objected to both rezonings.

Among the items receiving negative recommendations last night was a proposal for C-1 rezoning for property south of the post office on West Huron. A service garage was proposed. Area residents protested the rezoning.

The denial recommendation came on a split 3-2 vote. Howard Simmons, Dennis W. Long, and R. Keith Hills voted for the recommendation; while Leslie H. Hudson and Daniel R. Vasey voted against it.

Proposed C-1 rezoning for a six-acre parcel on the northeast side of Woodward across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was given a denial recommendation on another 3-2 vote.

A small shopping center was proposed. Neighboring business establishments objected to the rezoning because of traffic problems.

MOTION DENIED
Voting for the denial recommendation were Simmons, Hills and Vasey, while Hudson and Longhough voted against it.

Negative recommendations were voted for proposed rezoning on several other small parcels scattered throughout the city.

Denial recommendations were given to petitions to rezone to personal service property at Orchard Lake Avenue and Seminoles; to rezone to C-1 property at Auburn and North Jessie; to rezone to manufacturing property at 71 Elm and vacate the alley behind 71 Elm; and to rezone to C-1 property just north of 178 Franklin.

Negative recommendations were also approved for C-1 rezoning for three lots at Franklin and Nevada; and C-1 rezoning for four lots on Fisher, between the Clinton River and Bagley.

Similarly denied by city planners was R-3 rezoning proposed for an 11-acre tract on the south side of Collier, east of Joslyn.

A 200-unit apartment project was proposed there. City planners labeled the requested rezoning premature because utilities are not available in the area.

A Pontiac man arrested in Chicago by the Federal Bureau of Investigation faces return to Michigan for trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on a charge of felonious assault.

James E. Daugherty, 24, of 91 Wall was apprehended Tuesday afternoon at an intersection where FBI agents held on a court of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Daugherty had been freed Jan. 15 on $5,000 bond following arraignment in Circuit Court but failed to appear for trial in the case.

Bloomfield Township police had arrested him Jan. 4 following the shotgun wounding of an officer at an intersection on O'pkey and E. South Boulevard.

Authorities in Chicago said Daugherty would be held in that city pending a federal removal hearing on the charge in Michigan.

Grounding of Airline Peace Brings Cries From NY 'Biz'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — There were groans around Broadway when the airline strike settlement collapsed — especially in the tourist places — but business didn't slacken in spots frequented mostly by New Yorkers such as Max Asnas' Stage Delicatessen.

"I'm so busy," Max said, "I haven't had time to raise prices."

A troublesome patron told Max, "I'm going to hunt a better type customer."

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's troubles in England reminded us of the time Producer Bob Goldstein gave up Hollywood for London, saying, "There'll always be an England." Max retorted: "I don't know about England, but there'll always be a Stage Delicatessen."

Anticipating the end of the airline strike, Volsin restaurant prepared 250 meals Sunday which were to be served on Eastern Airlines flights the next day. The food was sent to the airports and with the rejection of the settlement — was wasted.

As "Punch" looks at it in England, a guy says to the mother of his children, "Of course I love you — I'm not married to you, am I?" "Women," says Bill Copeland, are like expressways — hard to turn off.

Singer Marcel Lynne, who opened at the Living Room recently, was talking to Joe E. Lewis at Danny's 21st-century and indicating a certain man, said "He's loaded with money." Joe E. replied: "I'm loaded without it." . . . Henry Youngman: "My wife wore one of those miniskirts and men stared and looked — the other way."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

The State Dept. asked Barbara Streisand to do three concerts in Russia in '67. Zsa Zsa Gabor'll make a buck by promoting a line of women's hosiery . . . Bobby Darin, busted up with his wife, is trying to buy Barry ("Cactus Flower") Nelson's Calif. home.

Jack E. Leonard wants to sell his old monogrammed shirts to film producer Joseph E. Levine . . . Alexis Smith (now at the Westport, Conn. Playhouse) says jokingly she doesn't watch her old films on TV: "They weren't that good to begin with — and they couldn't have improved with age." (The real syndicate, Inc.)

Camera Angles

Add Sight to Sound

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Sight and sound have become in recent years more familiar allies in the world of amateur photography.

Their association in professional photography has been longer and stronger making "talking pictures" a showcase for the talents of experts in many fields—in entertainment, education and the lecture worlds.

The increasing availability and economy of home and portable tape recorders makes it easier for camera fans to try their hand at adding sound to their own home movie and 35mm slide showings.

Tape recorders, like cameras, are able to capture another dimension of the memories of special events and family gatherings and activities for reliving later.

There is far more added value when you combine the actual voices of children, parents or special friends with their pictures or the music or excitement in sound of any occasion.

USEFUL AID

Now baby photographer Constance Bannister, creator of the famous "Bannister babies," suggests a tape recorder as a useful aid in capturing expressive pictures of children at home.

"Sound is an important stimulus for children," she said.

"I use it along with gestures and new toys to coax off-beat expressions out of children."

"The tape recorder becomes an extra tool by which sound can be controlled at a picture-taking session."

FAVORITES

Miss Bannister keeps track of children's entertainment favorites in music, cartoon characters, radio and television programs, etc. and records their theme songs or voices when possible.

"Most children enjoy music and will respond visually to it," she noted.

"They show more enthusiasm, however, when they identify with a current favorite."

Some try to mimic or imitate the show's star, others try to create a character of their own. Either way can produce good picture possibilities — if you're alert!"

New MDs Fewer in Western States

By Science Service

CHICAGO — Even though 8,943 licensed physicians were added to the United States medical profession in 1965, a seven-state region showed a 24 percent decline in the number of newly licensed doctors.

Montana had the fewest licenses (19) issued last year, the American Medical Association's Council on Medical Education reported in the Journal of the AMA. The six other western states showing a drop were Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah.

Junior Editors Quiz on HORSE BATHS

QUESTION: How do horses take baths?

ANSWER: They certainly don't take them in the manner suggested in our upper picture. It's there only for the fun of it.

Our artist tells us that he got the idea of drawing a horse in a bathtub, and couldn't resist drawing it.

As a regular thing, horses are kept clean by a daily grooming, which means going over their coats with a rubber curry comb and a body brush.

This takes out dirt and benefits the horse's health by stimulating the blood. However, horses are often washed with water and soap, especially in warm weather.

The horse may be tied up, as in the bottom picture, or held on a lead strap by another person.

The horse is then soaped from head to foot, and all the soap removed with warm water.

It is important not to wash your horse with soap too often, as it removes the natural oils from his coat.

Horses are often cooled off in hot weather by being bathed with warm water without soap.

They are sponged all over at first and then the excess water is removed with a body scraper.

FOR YOU TO DO: We can't all have horses, but we all have bath-tubs as good to your own hair as Mary is to her
