Van Doren Sadly Admits His Guilt in TV Fix

Tells Grim Story

Buzzards Menaced Airliner Survivor

By WALTER K. LINDENMANN

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI)—One survivor was alive today to tell the fate of 26 victims of a plane crash in the rugged Blue Ridge Mountains.

The plane, missing since Friday, was found yesterday.

Ernest Phillip Bradley, 33, spent 36 hours in the wreckage of the Piedmont airliner with the bodies of 26 others who were aboard the plane.

"I was getting close to a feeling of despair. I kept hollering and no one heard me."

Bradley said he heard cars on a nearby highway and human voices and screams of wildcats at night. He shouted to rescue planes and to the mute bodies of his companions in hopes at least one might be alive.

He sat strapped and wedged in his airplane seat which was hurled from the fuselage of the DC3 with eight bodies that were thrown through the broken nose of the plane when it crashed Friday night.

BUZZARDS OVERHEAD

Buzzards circled overhead. Bradley was unable to move because of a painfully dislocated hip. He had nothing to eat or drink but managed to keep warm with a coat and blanket he fished from the fuselage with a stick.

The wreckage, hidden beneath overhanging trees, was not found until Sunday morning. Even then Bradley, a union organizer from Clifton Forge, Va., thought the Army helicopter which hovered overhead had not seen the plane.

A vast air-ground search which involved some 1,000 persons and a score of planes and helicopters ended when rescuers fought their way up a rough fire trail to the wreckage some 500 feet below the peak of a 2,500-foot mountain.

The hunt started Friday night when the plane, en route from Washington to Roanoke, Va., vanished after radioing the Charlottesville airport that it would land in six minutes.

The Civil Aeronautics Board and Piedmont launched an investigation today to determine the cause of the crash.

David Thompson, a CAB investigator from New York, said his 30-man team would spend about two days at the crash scene and

Plane Destroys Home, Killing Two Children

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—An Air Force F104 Starfighter jet, one of the world's fastest airplanes, crashed into a house near here today, killing two children and injuring their mother. The pilot bailed out unhurt.

The plane crashed into the rural home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shoup. It crumbled the brick structure and set it afire. Neighbors said the Shoup children, Marie Lynn, 12, and Lori, 2, were inside the house and killed.

They said Mrs. Shoup was outside of the house at the time, walking toward the garage. Her clothing caught fire. L. W. Allen, who lives across the street from the Shoup home, wrapped a cloth around the woman and doused the flames.

Shortly after the plane crashed, the pilot, Maj. James W. Bradbury, 34, telephoned the base to report he had ejected himself and was not injured.

Mrs. Marjorie Butts, who lives in the home nearest the Shoups' said the plane plowed into the Shoup house, completely destroying it.

"I was washing dishes," Mrs. Butts said. "I heard this terrible roar. There was an explosion. I rushed outside. The house was on fire."

Both Mrs. Butts and Allen said the Shoup children were killed.

Now for the Plunge —to 30-Degree Low

Fair and cold is the weather outlook for the Pontiac area tonight. The low will be near 30 degrees.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and a little warmer with a high near 46.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports that temperatures in this area will average about six degrees below the normal 53 high and normal 37 low for the next five days.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 34. Winds were northwesterly at 12 miles per hour at 10 today.

Lions' Johnson Misses Plane, May Be Fired

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lion fullback John Henry Johnson missed the plane back to Detroit from San Francisco last night.

The Detroit Times said today that Coach George Wilson held the plane half an hour for Johnson but when the big fullback failed to show, Wilson began storming and hinted that Johnson would be fired.

There were unconfirmed reports San Francisco police had given Johnson a summons on a back alimony charge. His divorced wife and five children live in that city.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A national planning association study has warned that Russia's "phenomenal" economic growth threatens to undermine Western trade and oust the United States and its Allies from underdeveloped nations.

Corporation Tax Storm Brewing

LANSING (AP)—Political storm signals flew as tax writers for the Republican legislative majority got ready to knuckle down to their assignment today.

Republican ire was on the rise with weekend word of state AFL-CIO determination to put a corporate excess-profits tax proposition on the ballot to counter the GOP-backed sales tax increase.

Gov. Williams and fellow Democrats were angered at a GOP decision to provide 40 million dollars a year less in emergency revenues than the governor deems essential.

Although still blurred, the lines of the bitter income tax vs. use tax strife of last spring and summer seemed to be reappearing.

"The Republicans are trying to do this to elect (Paul D.) Bagwell as governor and (George) Romney U. S. senator in 1960," said Rodney Sherman, Sanilac County druggist, LANSING (AP)—A Democratic legislator said today he would try again to start machinery rolling on a constitutional convention. He appealed to Republican leader Paul D. Bagwell for support.

Rep. John T. Bowman (D-Roseville) said he would submit a resolution to the 1960 Legislature calling for immediate election of convention delegates to rewrite Michigan's 51-year-old constitution.

at a statewide Democratic powwow called to review the situation Sunday.

Bagwell is the defeated GOP candidate for governor in 1958. Romney, American Motors Corp. president, is leading a Citizens for Michigan movement dedicated to overcoming basic state problems.

Romney repeatedly has disavowed any political ambitions but has been unable to still speculation about his future.

The 12-man, inner-house GOP tax writing group was to meet at 4 p. m., a few hours in advance of the remainder of the Legislature, which planned daily sessions through the week.

The expectation was that a 70-million-dollar combination of new or increased taxes on beer, tobacco, property transfers and the like would be recommended to House and Senate Republican caucuses.

August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, disclosed plans to give voters next year an alternative to the four per cent sales tax proposal Republicans are pushing in the Legislature.

It would call for an expression whether corporation profits over six per cent should be taxed at the rate of 25 per cent.

Schone to Leave County DPW

Organized Department; Will Take City Manager Post in California

Harold K. Schone will resign his $17,500-a-year job as acting director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works Dec. 1 to return to the city manager field, it was disclosed today.

He said he has secured a job as city manager of the city of Arcadia, Calif., a town of 40,000 near Los Angeles.

The county's first and so far only head of the DPW, Schone took the job July 31, 1957, a few weeks after the county had created the DPW with special legislative permission.

He noted in his letter of resignation that it was his stated intention then to leave the job once the department was organized. The county never undertook to make Schone's position permanent, but left him in an "acting" status.

The county created the DPW in order to gain headway in long-stalled intercommunity sewer and water projects. Under Schone's direction progress in several projects was accomplished for the first time.

The two outstanding projects which he helped bring to reality were the big Evergreen and Farmington interceptor sewer systems serving more than a dozen Oakland County communities.

FINANCE PLANT

The DPW also has financed a temporary sewage treatment plant for Michigan State University Oakland — a facility the school had to have in order to open — and began a sewer system for Keego Harbor.

In the past two years, the county board has taken over operation of almost 30 small water supply systems and four sewage treatment plants and is now running them at reduced costs to local taxpayers.

To Take Leave of Absence on Columbia Post

600 Persons Jam In as Quiz Whiz Narrates Being Coached

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles Van Doren admitted today that his 14 money-winning TV quiz show appearances were rigged — even to the point of following a script written in advance.

Van Doren, who won $129,000 on the now defunct "21" show, told a House subcommittee that producer Albert Freedman supplied him with questions, and with some of the answers, before each of his appearances.

In New York, District Attorney Frank Hogan indicated that Van Doren would not be indicted for perjury by the grand jury to whom he gave "incorrect statements."

★ ★ ★

"I have deceived my friends, and I had millions of them," Van Doren said, dry-eyed and somber.

Van Doren said that after six or seven appearances on "21," Freedman advised him he was slated to become the first contestant ever to top $100,000 in winnings.

Then, with tears welling in his eyes, Van Doren recalled that Freedman told him:

"Charley, I think I ought to have $5,000 of that money."

Van Doren said he didn't believe Freedman "meant that in the way it sounds" and the subject never came up again.

He opened his testimony by reading in a low, steady voice a pre-

A SOMBER WITNESS — Charles Van Doren sits in the witness chair of the House subcommittee on legislative oversight in Washington today. Van Doren told congressmen he was given answers and even given a regular script to memorize when he appeared on the supposedly unrehearsed 'Twenty-One' television quiz program three years ago.

Van Doren Bares His Soul Today

His Medicine Is Bitter; He Takes It, With Poise

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a hearing room that was almost as quiet as an isolation booth, Charles Van Doren bared his soul today.

His public confession as a dishonest quiz show contestant was one of the most extraordinary events ever to take place in the historic, high-walled House caucus room.

From the moment that Van Doren entered at 10:02 a. m., the 33-year-old Columbia University professor was the picture of a tortured, tormented young man.

A sort of collective gasp from the standing-room audience signaled his entry. Then a hush fell as Van Doren made his way to the witness chair. The only sound came from a battery of movie cameras which buzzed like a swarm of angry bees.

The sensitive, mobile face, so familiar to television quiz show fans, was fixed with a woe-begone expression as somber as the dark gray suit Van Doren was wearing.

But he managed a sickly smile as he sat before the whirring cameras. One could only guess at the thoughts that were racing through his mind.

TELLS HIS STORY

He listened attentively to Harris' opening remarks. Then, in cultured, softly-modulated tones, he asked for a glass of water. One swallow launched him on the most painful experience of his life.

But throughout the ordeal of reading his prepared statement, outlining his role in the quiz-rigging deals, Van Doren never lost his poise.

Once, during the questioning that followed, tears welled in his eyes.

But for the most part he never faltered or stumbled as he poured out his story. He read his statement calmly, but with an undertone of emotion, expertly phrasing the sentences and adding dramatic emphasis at the right places. It almost seemed as though this, too, had been carefully rehearsed.

Subcommittee members followed his words intently. Some, who had been supplied with copies of the statement, read it silently with him. There was an almost tangible feeling of sympathy among the spectators.

During the comments and questioning that came later, Van Doren's eyes reflected gratitude at any kind words said for him. At other times, he lowered his head in a gesture of shame. He soothed his nerves by lighting one cigarette after another.

Van Doren spoke feeling of the way he had "betrayed" his friends, his distinguished literary family and the millions of TV viewers who learned to admire him during his stint on the "21" show.

400 Attend Barn Binge

Raid Teen Drinking Party

A drinking party attended by some 400 Oakland County youths was raided by Sheriff Frank W. Irons and his deputies Saturday night. It took place at an Oakland Township barn, five miles north of Rochester.

No arrests were made.

The raid stemmed from a tip-off two days before that a Halloween drinking party would be held "somewhere around Rochester" Saturday night.

Avon Township Supervisor Cyril E. Miller alerted the sheriff's department, adding that a number of teenage drinking parties had been staged in the area in recent weeks and that this one was liable to be a big one.

The location of Saturday night's party was discovered quite by accident.

Rochester Police Sergeant Robert Werth was patrolling N. Main street in his squad car when he saw an auto with a defective taillight.

He stopped the driver, Roger C. Vaughan, 20, of 487 Omar St. Upon investigation he found two six packs of beer in the car, four bottles of which had been consumed, Werth said.

Werth asked Vaughan and another youth and a 17-year-old girl who were with him, where they were going. They told him about the party "five miles north of Rochester."

When the township officials and deputies arrived at the scene they found cars parked one-quarter of a mile in each direction on both sides of the road in front of a

State Amvets Parley Due Here

Pontiac Post Will Play Host to 500 in 5th Fall Conference Nov. 13-15

Pontiac Amvets will play host to more than 500 post representatives from all over the state next weekend at the fifth annual Michigan Amvets Fall Conference.

The conference will run Friday through Sunday in the Roosevelt Hotel.

James R. Cavalier of 1424 Rosedale St., West Bloomfield Township, past commander of the Wright-Fournier Post, is chairman of the conference.

State Commander Andrew J. Skender of Mount Clemens will officially open the conference at 1 p.m. Saturday and special training courses for all Amvet post officers will follow.

A highlight of the conference will be the presentation of Amvet special awards to Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore and Frederick C. Ziem, county prosecutor and circuit court judge-elect.

A smorgasborg and dance party will be held at the hotel Saturday evening.

Amvets will conduct a special singles bowling tournament at the Elks Temple on Sunday.

Airliner Survivor Describes Ordeal

estimated the entire investigation could take two months.

Officials noted that the pilot, George Lavrinc, 32, of Alexandria, Va., radioed for landing instructions as he passed over Rochelle, a tiny Virginia town 15 miles north of Charlottesville.

The plane apparently never made the turn. The wreckage was found on a direct line from Washington to Rochelle but 30 miles beyond the town and 15 miles west of this central Viriginia city.

Army Sgt. John Weis and Airman C. M. Harris struggled through the mountain woods to the wreckage where Bradley waited, alternately sleeping, praying and vainly shouting to the planes.

"The pain was torturous," he said. "When Sgt. Weis came through the woods I was just damned glad to see him."

"At first, on Friday night, nothing seemed wrong. The plane turned once or twice and I looked at my watch. It was 20 minutes to nine.

"The next thing I heard was the plane skimming the tops of the trees. I felt a jolt and it was quiet. I didn't hear any moans or groans and I hollered out to see if anyone was well or alive.

"No one answered."

License Tabs for 1960 Go on Sale Here Today

Michigan's new automobile license tags went on sale today at Secretary of State offices throughout the state, including the Pontiac branch.

Carrying a serial number on the back and the number "60" in the front (designating the year 1960), the little green and yellow tabs are to be attached to regular 1959 passenger car plates.

Car registration costs are the same as last year, when regular-sized license plates were sold.

Car owners who don't have 1959 plates will be given them when they buy the tabs, said Willis M. Brewer, Pontiac branch manager.

The tabs are only for passenger cars — other vehicles will have to have new plates, he said.

Few Snow Flurries

Chilly Air Covers North

By The Associated Press

It was a little chilly across most of the northern tier of states today but fairly pleasant autumn weather was the rule in most other parts of the country.

Snow flurries in the northern Great Lakes region were associated with cold air from Canada moving southeastward on brisk northwesterly winds. The frosty air extended southward from Canada through North Dakota and the northern Great Lakes. Temperatures were in the 20s.

* * *

Readings in the 30s extended from the Northeast through the central Great Lakes region across South Dakota and Nebraska, the northern Rockies and into the northern plateau region.

The fresh batch of cold air was expected to spread into the Great Lakes and as far south as northern Missouri. Cold Canadian air also appeared headed into Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire.

* * *

Outside the cool belt, temperatures were in the 40s and 50s across the major part of the country, with the 60s in the far Southwest extending through the Gulf Coast states and across the southern Atlantic Coast states.

There were a few wet spots. The most widespread precipitation during the night was from the lower Great Lakes region across the north Atlantic Coast states with light showers and rain mixed with snow in western Pennsylvania.

West Berlin, Disarming on Dec. 19 West Agenda

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials said today President Eisenhower believes Berlin and disarmament will be the major subjects at the Paris meeting of Western leaders starting Dec. 19.

They acknowledged that the United States and Britain must convince German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle it is worthwhile getting ready for another round on Berlin with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the East-West summit next year.

American and British officials believe there is some chance of getting Khrushchev to formalize the present Allied position in Berlin if they can deal with him while the Camp David atmosphere is still influencing international relations.

U.S. officials reported there were some new hints the Soviet leader might be willing to take the heat off Berlin in an effort to make progress on other subjects.

Adenauer wants to shelve the Berlin issue, however, and have the Western Allies stick to disarmament as the principal topic when they meet with Khrushchev.

* * * *

De Gaulle is backing the German position, according to diplomatic officials, because he fears that Britain and the United States might make unwise concessions on Berlin just to show some progress at a summit meeting.

Plans for the Western talks were announced simultaneously yesterday by the White House and in London, Paris and Bonn. The White House said the schedule was suggested by De Gaulle.

The timing of the meeting is running into opposition from the smaller North Atlantic Treaty organization nations, it was learned today in Paris.

Belgium, Holland, Italy, and other smaller NATO members are understood to object to the Big Four's action in waiting until the NATO meeting is over before having their private talks.

These nations realize they will be allowed to review the Western position after the talks, the NATO sources said, but still are not happy with the arrangement.

One source said NATO Secretary General Paul Henri Spaak may postpone the NATO meeting until Dec. 18 to have it span the Western summit.

* * *

Testifying under subpoena, the one-time "quiz whiz" said a friend first suggested that he ask to appear on "Tic Tac Dough," a show which, like "21," was produced by Dan Enright and Jack Barry.

Van Doren said he easily passed the first examination for "Tic Tac Dough." Then he took a second test which was much longer and more difficult.

He said he was called the next week and told he had been chosen for "21."

'SUPPOSEDLY AN HONOR'

This, he said, was "supposedly an honor."

Van Doren said he was instructed in the rules, "by, I think, Dan Enright."

He testified that before he got on the show, Freedman called him to his apartment. They had a conversation in the bedroom about the then champion, Herb Stempel.

Van Doren said Freedman told him Stempel was "unbeatable because he knew too much." Even though Stempel was unpopular, he quoted Freedman, he continued to win.

Van Doren said Freedman then asked if "as a favor to him I would agree to an arrangement" to tie with Stempel when he appeared on the show.

* * *

Van Doren said he asked to appear honestly, but Freedman said that wouldn't work, that Stempel would beat him.

* * *

Freedman, he said, explained that the show was "merely entertainment and giving help to contestants was a common practice."

Van Doren said that "foolishly and wrongly" and after an "intense moral struggle," he persuaded himself that he should go along.

He said he agreed to the plan to tie Stempel on the first show in exchange for Freedman's guarantee that he would make at least $1,000.

Before the show, he said, Freedman told him the questions that would be asked. He said he could answer many of them.

GIVEN COACHING

But he said Freedman was dissatisfied with his answers, and coached him on how to hesitate, how to skip some answers and gave him other acting hints.

* * *

Van Doren said Freedman also gave him a script to memorize before the show and that Freedman rehearsed with him.

On the first show, Van Doren tied Stempel three times. The second time they were pitted against each other, Van Doren beat Stempel—according to the script.

Before the second performance, he said, Freedman boosted his guaranteed winnings to $8,000.

Van Doren said the same pattern was followed on the next 12 programs, with Freedman reading questions to him in advance.

* * *

Sometimes, he said, Freedman gave him the answers to questions he didn't know. But when there was time, he liked to look them up for himself.

Van Doren said he finally could no longer stomach the arrangement.

"I didn't know what to do or where to turn and frankly I was very much afraid," he said.

He said he begged Freedman to let him go off the show.

In January, 1957, Freedman agreed, with the proviso that "I had to be defeated in a dramatic manner," Van Doren said.

Eventually, he was beaten by Vivienne Nearing.

* * *

When the TV quiz scandals first broke, Van Doren sent the committee a telegram saying he had not received any questions or answers in advance.

He made a similar statement to a New York grand jury. Later he was reported to have changed his story in a talk with New York District Attorney Frank Hogan.

EUGENE E. STONE

Thrifty Newsboy Has Constructive Hot Rods Hobby

When he isn't in school or on his Pontiac Press route, Eugene E. Stone is tinkering with model hot rods or playing his guitar.

Gene, 16, lives at 302 S. Sanford St., and Press subscribers along Whittemore and Willard streets have been depending on him for their papers for 2½ years.

With his earnings he has opened a savings account, buys his own clothing and has bought a guitar.

He lists model hot rods as his biggest hobby, but isn't satisfied with just ordinary models. Gene "customizes" models, using his own ideas and inguenity.

It sounds as though he's ripe material for auto designing, but Gene won't commit himself. A student at Pontiac Central High School, Gene says he has not decided on future educational plans.

He was one of 10 Pontiac Press carriers named by the Inland Daily Press Assn. to receive award certificates as outstanding newspaper boys.

Tie City Detective's Wife

4 Thieves Ransack Home

Four masked men in halloween costumes, who apparently knew what they were looking for but didn't find it, terrorized the wife of a Pontiac Police detective while she was babysitting in a Bloomfield Township home Saturday night.

Bloomfield Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke said that Mrs. Samilee Williams, 288 Cederdale, Pontiac, wife of detective John Williams, was slapped and tied to a chair for 30 minutes while the four men ransacked the house.

Mrs. Williams, who was babysitting for Mr. and Mrs. Theodore I. Cooper, 3370 Bloomcrest Rd., said she answered the door about 9:15 p.m. Saturday and was faced by a man in a costume who said he was "tricking and treating."

She said when she returned to the door with some candy the man pushed her back inside and he was followed by three more men in costumes.

They then tied her to a rocking chair and started to go through the house while one of them held a gun on her, she said.

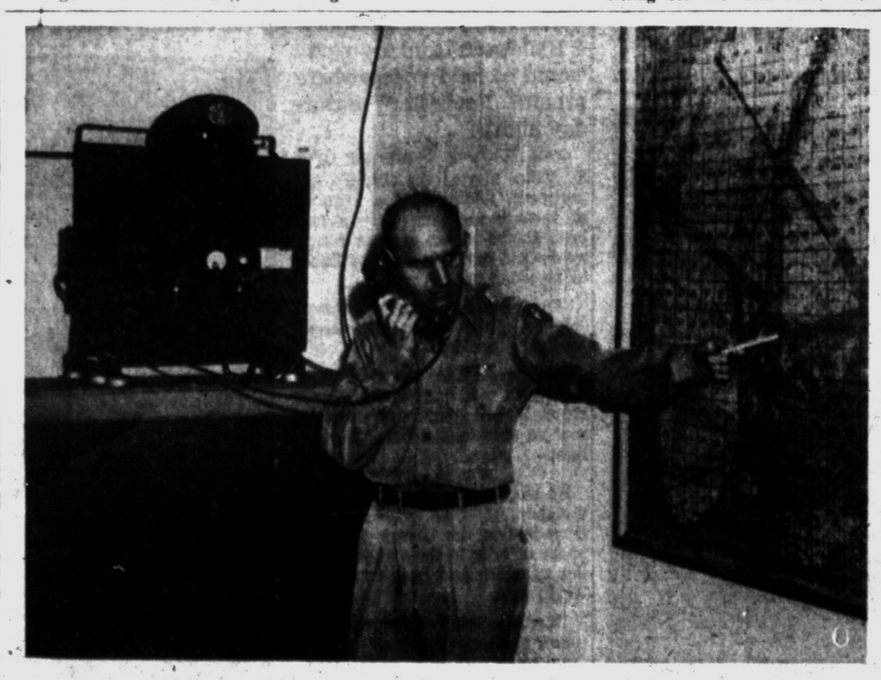

Chief Dehnke said the men apparently didn't find what they were looking for because they passed up about $200 in cash in a drawer, an expensive fur coat and camera equipment.

Mrs. Williams told police that after the men left she worked her way to the kitchen where she found a knife and was able to cut the rope.

Plan National Group for Rockefeller Drive

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A drive to marshal support from the nation's college students for the nomination of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as Republican candidate for President in 1960 was announced here today.

Rep. George Wahr Sallade (R-Ann Arbor), a member of the Michigan Legislature who is chairman of the Citizens for Rockefeller for President Committee, said a national Students for Rockefeller group has been formed to promote interest in Rockefeller candidacy in the academic world.

Rockefeller still has made no official declaration of his intention to seek the GOP candidacy for president.

The Day in Birmingham

Pleads With Commission to Sponsor Refugee Child

BIRMINGHAM — In the confusion that comes when oppressed families flee Iron Curtain countries many children become separated from their parents leaving them homeless.

In a letter to be presented at tonight's City Commission meeting pleading that the Commission sponsor one of these homeless children, Hermann Gmeiner, director of the SOS-Children's Village in Europe says:

"We cannot dispose of these children by simply putting them in a camp or in an institution. We want to give them a new family and a new home.

"Ten years ago we created the SOS-Children's villages for this purpose. The village gives a permanent home, a loving mother, brothers and sisters and a real family atmosphere to the abandoned child.

* * *

Gmeiner said that the village, a few miles from the Iron Curtain, represents a fortress of peace and freedom.

He said that the cost of supporting one child per year amounts to $500.

The village, Gmeiner said, is a private welfare organization, "unpolitical and unconfessional" which is maintained only by donations.

Mrs. Jack Gibson

Service for prominent clubwoman Mrs. Jack (Ethel Haines) Gibson, 69, of 983 Bennaville St., will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. James L. Todd

Service for Mrs. James L. Todd, 92, of 877 Pierce St., Birmingham will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham. Burial will be Roseland Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Todd died Saturday after a long illness.

She was Past Matron of OES, Birmingham 220, Past high priestess of the Royal Oak White Shrine, and a member of the Past Matron Club of Birmingham, and Past High Priestess Club of Royal Oak.

She is survived by one son, Stanley, of Birmingham, a grandson, James F. Todd, of Bloomfield Hills, and five great-grandchildren.

Raid 400 Youths at Halloween Party

Other cars were parked in the fields around it—about 150 in all.

Close to 400 young people, many of them dressed as Fidel Castro sympathizers, had been inside and around the building. The walls were lined with empty bottles of beer and other intoxicating beverages, police said.

The participants identified themselves as being from Birmingham, Royal Oak, Rochester and Pontiac. They were noisy and loud, but no one was drunk, and no one observed drinking.

The boys told investigating officers that they had received invitations to the party printed on a ditto machine. They read "Hi Fi's Halloween Party—Sat., Oct. 31st—8 p.m. to ?—admission 25 cents per person."

A map pointing out the location of the "party barn" was on the invitation.

Others at the party said they were told they could either bring their own beer or get it at the party.

The barn is on the Harold Fogler farm. It was rented to Charles Timmreck, 21, of 1150 E. Avon Rd., Avon Township, Irons said. Timmreck has been identified as "Hi Fi."

When Irons was asked why no arrests were made, he said his department was "not prepared" to handle such a large group. "We would have needed buses," he said.

He added that the party began to disperse the minute the participants saw the police cars with blinkers flashing approaching down the highway.

Irons said they had no warrants and the party was being held on private property. He talked to Fogler who said an agreement had been made with Timmreck that no drinking would be allowed.

Vaughan, who was charged with being a minor in possession of beer, is scheduled to appear today before Rochester Justice of the Peace Luther Green.

Beastly Situation: Cad Captures Prized Pooches

Lloyd Ruple, 1057 Boston Ave., told police he was in the woods running the dogs when he struck up conversation with a man taking a stroll.

After exchanging pleasantries the two decided to partake of a little refreshment, so Ruple put the hounds in the trunk of the stranger's car and went to the local bar.

Here, Ruple was talking to another acquaintance when the stranger slipped out the door unnoticed and drove off with the dogs.

Harold Schone Quits Public Works Post

a former member of the Board of Supervisors, was one of the men who planned the DPW as a means to meet the complicated needs of mushrooming Oakland County.

* * *

As the county this year undertook a study of home rule, Schone's name was mentioned as a possible county administrator or manager.

FIRST IN STATE

Oakland's is still the first county DPW in the state, but a number of other counties are considering similar agencies in light of its success.

* * *

Schone recommended in his letter of resignation that Roy J. Alexander, his deputy director, be named his successor. Alexander is also mayor of Oak Park.

The Board of Public Works, the governing body of the DPW, will name Schone's successor.

Admits Robbery Hoax; but Headache for Real

VERSAILLES, France (UPI)—Roger Bouvet, 29 confessed to police today he had made up a story about being robbed of 70,000 francs ($140) because he was having financial arguments with his wife.

The confession caused him double pain. He had hit himself on the head with a rock to make the robbery look realistic.

Before the Girls, That Is

Oxford Was Never Like This

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — The cities of Oxford and Cambridge have undergone a subtle but unmistakable change. They are packed with girls, most of them foreign.

The young men of the towns' two universities may graduate weak in Latin, but they're going to be sound in German, French, Norwegian, Swedish, Danish and Icelandic languages.

Oxford has an estimated 1,200. Cambridge about 700.

"They're engaged in learning English.

Under special circumstances undergraduates can entertain female friends in their rooms up to 9 p.m. curfew.

One college allows them in as late as 10 p.m.

Those who invite girls to their rooms for teas and snacks suffer the constant and studied interruption of college porters—all males.

★ ★ ★

For the more adventurous there are, of course, the wide open spaces. So it's down to the coffee bars, the cafes, the snack bars, the pubs and the boarding houses where, as one German girl was heard to comment:

Buried Under Pole Snow, They Still Eat Ice Cream

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (UPI)—The 17 men who are wintering at the American Antarctic station at the South Pole have had their quarters buried under three feet of snow and ice but it hasn't affected their appetite for ice cream.

Grand Jury Gets Lynching Case

Will Decide Whether to Issue Indictment in Mack Parker's Death

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP)—The Pearl River grand jury convenes today with the spotlight on the Mack Charles Parker lynch case.

Dist. Atty. Vernon Broom and County Atty. William Stewart have said the grand jury will determine for itself what witnesses it hears.

Circuit Judge Sebe Dale, 62, will oversee the selection of a jury of from 15 to 20 from a venire of 60 male, white Pearl River County men. Twelve votes are needed for indictment.

Dale canceled the spring criminal term after a hooded mob of 10 to 20 pulled Parker from the unguarded Poplarville jail April 25. Nine days later, searchers found Parker's body in the Pearl River ridden with two bullet holes.

The FBI, called into the case by Gov. J. P. Coleman, turned over a voluminous report to Mississippi authorities. It reportedly contains names and statements of chief suspects.

Broom said he would not read it to the grand jury. He said the jury may call the FBI to present its evidence if it desires.

Lenin Car to Go Into Museum

★ ★ ★

Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper, told its readers about it with a series of photographs showing the car in its original state, inside the Kremlin, and stripped down to its chassis by workers "carefully and lovingly restoring" it.

After Lenin's death, the car was operated for a long time, but chauffeurs and mechanics started altering its appearance. It was finally taken off the road.

When it was announced a month ago that the car would be rebuilt, engineers and old timers huddled in consultations. Old photographs were studied. Information — even about the wire spokes in the wheels — was assembled so that the restoration would be authentic.

The finished job will be put on exhibit in the Lenin Museum — a huge old red brick building with Lenin relics — near the center of Moscow, just off Red Square.

A recent survey found that seven out of 10 American families have incomes of between $3,000 and $15,000 a year.

Has No Trouble Now Taking Her Dog on Bus

LONDON (UPI)—Lady Munnings had a blanket pass from bus collectors today for her dog, which she has carried everywhere for years.

She had been ordered off buses and challenged by collectors because of her Pekingese Black Knight.

Waterford Area Places Entered; Money Taken

Two adjoining Waterford Township business establishments were broken into some time after 10 p.m. last night, and an undetermined amount of money taken from pried-open vending machines.

Both the Pontiac Lake Sunoco Service station at 7660 Highland Rd., and the Koss & Prinz garage at 7675 Highland Rd. were entered by the smashing of windows at the rear of the buildings, according to police.

JACKSON (AP)—Frank G. Boyce, 75, retired Consumers Power Co. executive, was found dead in his apartment Sunday. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Air Playboy Mollison Dies, Age 54

LONDON (UPI) — Jim Mollison, the playboy of the air whose fame as a pilot in the Thirties was second only to that of Charles A. Lindbergh, died in a nursing home, it was learned yesterday.

Mollison died from pneumonia Friday at the age of 54. Doctors said he was weak and his resistance was low from a lifetime of celebration.

In 1932, five years after Lindbergh's west-east solo crossing, Mollison made the first trans-Atlantic solo flight on the more difficult east to west route. His tiny single-engine Puss Moth, "The Heart's Content," was even smaller than Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis."

Mollison proudly proclaimed he got himself in shape training on beer and brandy. By the time he made the Atlantic crossing he was already the darling of the British public, having set England-Australia and England-Captown solo records.

In Capetown he met and married Amy Johnson, soon to become a famous flier in her own right. They made the first husband-wife solo flight westward across the Atlantic in 1933.

Pioneer Descendant Dies at Age 89

Julia A. Webster, a lifelong resident of Pontiac, died early Saturday after an illness of several years. She was 89.

Miss Webster who lived at 121 Henderson St., was a member of St. Michael Catholic Church, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the League of Catholic Women.

She was a descendant of the Aaron Webster family which pioneered in Michigan and had the distinction of becoming the first settlers in Auburn Heights.

She is survived by several nieces, nephews and cousins.

A Rosary will be recited at 8:15 p.m. today at the DeWitt C. Davis Funeral Home.

Service will be at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Michael Catholic Church with burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Catholic Cardinal Dies After Recent Surgery

First reports said death was due to an intestinal ailment for which he recently underwent surgery.

Euler Does Good Job Guiding Pontiac General

Warm praise was sounded for Pontiac General Hospital last Wednesday in the Voice of The People by PAUL A. KERN JR.

MR. KERN is acting as spokesman for the great majority of us who are happy over the rapidly improving conditions at Pontiac General.

Since HAROLD B. EULER took the management of the West Huron Street institution, conditions have improved mightily. Things weren't running too well and the hospital had lost some measure of public confidence through a series of misfortunes. No one of these was especially tragic, but the sum total conspired to bring a succession of unhappy days.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Euler faced the situation squarely. He made no revolutionary attempts to turn things upside down overnight but he engaged in a long preliminary study of the wants and needs of the institution and the community. Sound judgment prevailed and he charted a safe and sane course forward.

★ ★ ★

Since his accession to administrative control, Pontiac General Hospital has moved forward. Today, the institution is in the best shape it has been for many years. A large part of the credit goes to HAROLD B. EULER and his businesslike procedures. He possesses good judgment, business experience and the ability to solve vexatious problems. Dr. JOHN MARRA, Chief of Staff, has been another positive influence in the betterment of over-all conditions. The combination of these two capable men plus assistance and cooperation from other key figures have been responsible for the great betterment and improvement.

The community is indebted to them and to their allies for the fine progress already in evidence.

Pontiac has many capable men.

Nehru's Patient Role Irks Own Countrymen

Despite Prime Minister Nehru's warning that India will defend its territory and Premier Chou's professions of China's traditional friendship with India, attacks on patrols continue miles within Indian territory.

★ ★ ★

These forays emphasize Asst. Sec. of State BERDING'S warning that Red China's expansionist aims and fanatical policies present a threat to world peace. Following the dictator pattern of charging the other fellow with what you yourself have done, Communist China accuses India of aggression. Premier KHRUSHCHEV'S recent plea for settling disputes by negotiation has had no effect on Premier CHOU.

Prime Minister NEHRU'S task of keeping the peace is becoming more difficult. India is in no position to fight a war which would wreck the country economically. But border defenses are being strengthened and the people are urged "to act with restraint and responsibility and not be carried away by emotions."

India always has been an apologist for Red China's behavior and is the most influential country in Asia. It is strange, therefore, that Peiping should repeatedly antagonize India. As Mr. Nehru points out, strained relations between the two countries are bound to have an adverse effect on other parts of Asia and on the world.

Nevertheless, Indians are growing more critical of their own foreign policy and of U.N. Delegate KHRISHNA MENON'S advocacy of membership for Red China. There is a rising tide of anti-Communist sentiment which has even split the country's Communist party. Mr. NEHRU is in the unenviable position of trying to defend India without going to war or being forced into humiliating surrender.

Weather Bureau: What too often is blamed for it.

After Saturday's game between California and Southern California, which the latter won, 14-7, only eight entries survive in our football contest. On next Saturday's contest game, seven of them pick Washington to win, with the other favoring Oregon.

Fagan Lake, on the farm of Favored with a good feeding menu, over 500 of these mammoth birds now are sojourning there. If they had their way, they'd remain until the lake freezes over.

However, in order to get them on their way before any danger of them being caught in the ice, their rations are curtailed to a degree so they'll decide to hunt new haunts further south.

It Didn't Hurt a Bit

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Must Regain Gold Balance

WASHINGTON — It is often said that "history repeats itself," which may be only another way of saying that unsolved problems bob up again and again.

LAWRENCE

Thus today the important talk among the free governments of the world is about the removal of trade restrictions and barriers to commerce. The United States is losing gold because much money is being sent abroad for "foreign aid" while the other countries aren't buying enough goods from America.

This has led to a "Buy American" crusade and it is being suggested that money appropriated for "foreign aid" be spent largely in the United States for goods needed by the beneficiaries of the program.

Already also, many companies in this country that make steel and machine tools are complaining about tariffs being too low. Likewise, the AFL-CIO is being urged to go back to the policies of the late Samuel Gompers, who founded the American Federation of Labor and who for years backed a platform of protective tariffs.

Steel unions today know that imported steel is coming into the United States at low prices because of cheaper labor abroad and this threatens to deprive American workers of jobs.

McKINLEY 'LIBERAL'

What is conservatism and what is liberalism in such controversies? Too often history is ignored by the younger generations and maybe that's why today a favorite cliché of many who regard themselves as liberals is to characterize any conservative with whom they disagree as being "to the right of McKinley."

This implies that McKinley was the archdeacon of conservatism when the truth is he was one of the first to fight against "isolationism" and in favor of reciprocity in world trade which is nowadays supposed to be "liberal" doctrine.

There happens to be a book out today entitled "In the Days of McKinley," and written by the noted author, Margaret Leech, which has in it a passage referring to the significant speech delivered by President McKinley at Buffalo, N.Y., the day before he was assassinated in September 1901. It reads as follows:

"Two themes were interwoven in the President's forcible recommendation of a broad and enlightened policy of commercial reciprocity: The unity of the modern world and the 'almost appalling' prosperity of the United States.

"Distance, he reminded his hearers, had been effaced by the telegraph and cable, by swift ships and fast trains. A larger share of the world's business was the urgent need of an enormous and diversified production that far exceeded the demands of home consumption.

"No narrow, sordid policy would subserve this vast and intricate business. He said: 'We must not repose in fancied security that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing.'

POINTED WAY

"Reciprocity treaties were in harmony with the spirit of the times; measures of retaliation were not. In phrase after ringing emphatic phrase, the President pointed to the trend of the future: 'Isolation is no longer possible or desirable. . . . God and man have linked the nations together. . . . The period of exclusiveness is past.' "

These same words could well have been used last week by the undersecretary of state, Douglas Dillon, as he was telling an international gathering that restrictions on American trade imposed by foreign countries — which means quotas and other limitations on American exports — ought to be reduced or removed.

While the dollar situation is not acute, American officials see the importance of beginning now to agitate for a reversal of the unfavorable trend in our foreign trade. Other nations which have been helped by America's postwar program are sufficiently strong now to let their peoples buy more from the United States.

The Country Parson

"I can remember when we were shocked if church members played cards—now we wish they would instead of some of the things they are doing."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Exercise Ten Minutes and Build Up Your Ego

Back in purgatory, which I call that part of the U. S. east of the Rockies, it would be nothing, but here in paradise which I call California, it was an ordeal—one February we couldn't bowl for 12 days in succession, the greens were so wet. I paced the floor on my regular bowling afternoons, complained and growled about it until my nurse threatened to have me committed.

DR. BRADY

That brought me to my senses, so I said: "Oh, well, the residents back in purgatory can't bowl at all from October to May, so why should I fret about a fortnight?" I snatched the dust cover off No. 1 typewriter and wrote Volumette XVI of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health the 7 Keys to Vite.

I'm not sure whether this or Volumette XXVI, The Calcium Shortage has had the widest circulation of the 23 volumettes but these two, in my own opinion, are the best of the lot. For either send me 35 cents and a stamped envelope bearing your address.

What I say about calcium in Volumette XXVI and in this column has caused some of my quondam colleagues to refer to me as "Old Calcium Brady." I like that. Eventually the medical profession will recognize that a good many common complaints are the manifestations of calcium deficiency — complaints notoriously unaffected by medicine.

7 KEYS TO VITE

One of the seven keys to vite is repugnant to most Americans, especially school children, youths and young adults. This is daily exercise. In Volumette XVI I describe and illustrate six movements of the Last Brady Symphony (this is the title of Volumette VI) which make excellent daily calisthenics or sitting-up routine for sedentary persons. And I say the minimum ration of general exercise for adults is two miles of oxygen on the hoof three times a day or the equivalent in other forms of general exercise.

Only the well-to-do in the suburbs and small towns have time to walk. In the city congestion makes walking too hazardous nowadays.

So 10 minutes of calisthenics, the first thing every morning, is the best available alternative for that almost forgotten vite and longevity builder, the daily constitutional. Even on a path free from traffic impediments it takes the ordinary pedestrian nearly two hours to walk six miles.

People who haven't the brains, the character or the capacity to achieve anything, too readily quit competing and resort to tranquilizers, nerve sedatives, alcohol or other narcotics, in the childish attempt to conceal their inferiority from themselves or the world around them.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Shoplifting Article Brings Letter of Former Victim

Congratulations for the article about shoplifting. Few people realize what a problem this is in the Pontiac area. I worked for a company in this area for five years and helped catch a lot of shoplifters. I lost my job because of inventory trouble, and a great deal of that trouble was caused by shoplifters.

★ ★ ★

When a supermarket makes one cent profit for every dollar in sales, you can see how many sales must be made to make up the theft of a $1.10 bottle of hair cream.

★ ★ ★

Laws haven't been strong enough and still aren't, but it helped when the new law permitted stopping a person inside a store. Still, a man can't watch every person, and how can you tell a shoplifter? They look like anyone else, honest at heart but sick in the mind.

★ ★ ★

'Why Didn't Officers Arrest the Parents?'

The last few weeks we've read about Errol Flynn and his girlfriend of two years, which made her 15 at the time. Why wasn't she in school and why don't the law enforcing officers arrest her parents for neglect of a minor?

Such a story certainly isn't good reading for our own teen-agers. A very bad example was set by an old man.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Force Child to Defend Friends

Milly's problem occurs in every community dozens of times per season, so scrapbook this vital Case Record. You may discuss it in your high school classes, too, for it shows the best way to break up an unwise romance. And if you are already infatuated with the wrong type of person, order the Rating Scale below, for it puts eyes into the head of blind Cupid.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"He had no regular job. In fact, he spent most of his time tinkering with an old jalopy. He'd cover it with pennants and obscure the windshield with stickers, like an adolescent.

DR. CRANE

"When Milly started going with him, her father immediately pointed out the boy's shortcomings.

"But the more we showed Milly his flaws, the more ardently she defended him.

"Today I found a note from the boy friend suggesting they elope next week.

"What can we do at this late date? And why does Milly become such a vigorous defender of this boy when her Daddy opposes him?"

SALES PSYCHOLOGY

"Reputation is simply repetition," runs an adage from sales psychology.

If you say a thing long enough, you will believe it, although at the outset you may be fully aware of its falsity.

That's why fishermen finally believe they actually caught those monsters! They've repeated their fish tales so often they have finally convinced themselves!

Otherwise, he admits he was stupid. And nobody likes to deflate his own ego by admitting he is a fool.

The more Milly's father condemned her boy friend, the more positively Milly rallied to his defense.

She was FORCED to do so, to save face.

So her father actually convinced Milly of her boy friend's virtues by thus making her repeat her defense so often she began to believe it!

PARENTS, BEWARE

Parents, beware of thus being the indirect cause of your child's bad choice in marriage.

Don't point out the folly of the elopement. Instead, let the "customer" arrive at that conclusion, for this is superb sale psychology.

"Yes, Dr. Crane," Milly's mother admitted, "but just how are we to let Milly arrive at that necessary conclusion?"

That's a fair question, and here's the answer: She should invite the stranger to her home for a party.

Include Milly's usual friends and college chums so this immature boy will be seen against the backdrop of her own class of people.

If he then does things that are out of place, Milly will note them and secretly wince.

But she can not direct her ire at her parents for they will not have said a word. So she will soon begin to project her irritation at the basic cause, namely, her uncouth or immature sweetheart.

To help further puncture Milly's blind infatuation, I urged her mother to leave a set of the "Tests for Sweethearts" on the telephone stand.

Bob Considine Says:

NEW YORK—People . . . places . . . stilettos.

Ichiro Kono, the distinguished trouble-shooter of Japan's Liberal-Democratic Party, here on business, is the only man who ever disarmed N. S. Khrushchev. There is symbolism lurking in the story.

Happened during their talks in Moscow which led to the present Russian-Japanese fishing treaty. Kono fared very badly through the first day. Khrushchev had an answer for everything, including the questions Kono didn't ask. For emphasis, he waved a long stiletto of a letter opener under Kono's nose.

As so often happens, Khrushchev's fires simmered and he became the cordial host as the meeting broke up. Walking Kono to the door of his office, Khrushchev asked, "Is there anything I can do to make your stay here more pleasant?"

"Yes," Kono said. "Would you make a present of that letter opener?"

Baffled by the Inscrutable East, Khrushchev replied, "Certainly," and handed it over to the pleased and bowing Japanese.

"The next day Mr. Khrushchev had nothing to wave or jab at me," Kono recalls with a modest smile. "And things suddenly went much better for us in the fishing talks."

John Mead, long-time boss of the Erie (Pa.) Times, died last Thursday after battling a long and cruel illness with high valor.

He was my friend, and proved it in a dramatic way late one night in his home town.

I was stranded in Erie after a speech, couldn't get a plane, had to be in New York in the morning. The train schedule was sterile, too.

"I'll get you there," John said. He made a quick phone call, came back and said, "Let's get going." Then he drove me through the empty streets in the dead of night and to the silent railroad station.

"The Commodore Vanderbilt will be along soon," he said.

"It will tonight," he answered, and we climbed the steps to the platform. The hypnotizing eye of the express loomed large and larger up the tracks. Its thunder was mounting to a crescendo. Surely, it was going to bellow past us at 90 m.p.h. and we'd be swept to our deaths.

Then, a Fourth of July fireworks display, golden sparks began flying from a hundred wheels, and the great train shuddered and wheezed and gasped to a stop. Startled sleepers raised their shades to stare out, wondering if many had been killed in what surely must be a wreck. A door opened and I started up the steps.

"Okay, how'd you do it?" I asked John.

"Simple," he said, "I called the president of the line."

I wish I knew somebody to call now, for John.

Wrote a piece the other day calling Jackie Gleason a genuine grade-A virtuoso of the entertainment world. He wires:

"Dear Bob — Thank you very much for the wonderful compliment. I must say that I agree with you 100 per cent. The Great Gleason."

If there is a true prototype of this age in aviation, bridging as it does the era of derring-do combat and the intrusion into the awesome wastes of space, he must be Scott Crossfield. Scott is a cross between all the romantic white-scarfed fighter pilots of old and the slide rule technicians of the future.

The great test pilot who will soon push North American's X15 up to the fringe of space at one mile per second, flew his first plane at 12, was a Navy fighter pilot in World War II, is a graduate engineer (University of Washington), ran his university's wind tunnel, is his company's design specialist. He talks like a scientist, flies and lands with breathtaking daring.

The X15 project, by the way, is a joint undertaking of the Air Force, Navy and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, a rare example of cooperation in the field. Three of the planes will be built. The three will cost $133,000,000. There is no bargain basement in space.

The plane burns 18,304 pounds of fuel (anhydrous ammonia and liquid oxygen) in two or three minutes after being dropped from the wing of a B52 at 30,000 feet. Its XLR99 rocket engine, made by Reaction Motors of Denville, N.J., develops an appalling 400,000 horsepower, as much as the Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mary combined. For one passenger.

State Jaycees Plan Petitions

Businessmen Hoping to Change Michigan's Constitution

TRAVERSE CITY (UP) — An amendment to make changes in the state Constitution is the goal of the directors of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The directors Saturday approved a plan calling for the circulation of petitions to place the amendment on the November 1960 ballot.

Fred Warner, Jaycee president, said if the amendment passed it would change the Constitution in these ways:

—Provide for a vote in the 1961 spring election on the question of calling a constitutional convention.

—Change the requirement for passage of the convention call from a majority of those voting in the election to a majority of those voting on the constitutional question.

—Expedite the selection of delegates, and change the basis of selecting delgates.

Hare Announces Meetings With School Officials

LANSING (UP)—The Department of State is about to launch a series of meetings with county and public school superintendents on election procedures.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State James M. Hare noted that a new law shifts certain school election responsibilities to the superintendents.

He said his department's role in the elections "is mostly an educational one, with a modicum of supervision."

Meetings have been set for Escanaba, Tuesday; Detroit, Thursday; Kalamazoo, Nov. 9; Bay City, Nov. 10; Ann Arbor, Nov. 18; and Lansing, Nov. 23.

Francis Bellamy, who died in 1931, is credited with composing the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Files Appeal Today for Caryl Chessman

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Attorney George Davis left for Washington last night to file an appeal today before the U.S. Supreme Court for convict-author Caryl Chessman.

Davis said the appeal would raise 14 points, including that the original record of Chessman's 1948 trial was inadequate and that Chessman's detention for the past 11½ years on San Quentin's death row amounted to "cruel and unusual punishment."

The high tribunal recently set aside Chessman's seventh execution date to allow Davis time to file the latest appeal.

Top Detroit Negroes Urge New Policies

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Negro leaders have urged a grand jury investigation in to what they say are four areas of discrimination against Negroes in Detroit.

Snow F. Grigsby, program chairman of a meeting called to discuss the allegations, said yesterday the resolution calling for the probe would be presented to common council.

Snow said the grand jury would be asked to investigate:

1. Policy in the employment and promotion of Negro policemen.
2. Alleged brutality of policemen against Negroes.
3. Policy of traffic court in its treatment of Negroes.
4. Policy of the Detroit Housing Authority in the placement of Negro families.

Artist Can Only Say: 'Did I Do That?'

Paints Good Pictures While in Trance

LONDON (AP) — An unsuspected spark of genius took possession of Ted Sterrett the night he went to see a hypnotist.

The mild-mannered leather merchant became an artist, a painter of brilliant, abstract pictures that buyers snap up.

He can paint them only when he's in a trance.

For 30 years he puttered around his small handbag shop back of Piccadilly Circus, Ted itched to express himself on canvas. But even his wife couldn't bring herself to praise the daubs Ted turned out in the kitchen-studio of his small suburban home.

One night last December he visited a hypnotist to see about an asthma cure. In the depth of a trance, 47-year-old Ted revealed his burning wish to paint well.

The hynotist brought up an easel and commanded him to paint. After an hour Ted woke up to gaze at a picture of a street scene in modern abstract style.

It was quite unlike any of Ted's previous efforts. He looked in surprise from the picture to his fingers still sticky with paint and asked dazedly:

"Did I paint that?"

He propped the picture up in his shop and a few days later a customer asked to buy it. The customer said it showed a street in Milan — a city Ted has never visited.

Later on, Ted, again under the influence, painted a picture showing a forrest of sawn-off trees. A few days later a foreigner in the shop told Ted it looked like the burial ground of a South American Indian tribe.

Ted kept on painting — and the paintings kept on selling. In one week alone he sold 19 pictures to his customers — usually for about five pounds ($14) apiece.

"It's all very weird," said Ted. "I'm not sure I'm altogether happy about it."

But he is excited to find that his nonhypnotical pictures are improving and hopes soon to produce masterpieces without the bother of going into a trance.

Connects Houghton and Hancock

To Open 2-Deck Bridge

HOUGHTON (AP) — The new 11-million-dollar lift bridge joining Houghton with Hancock over Portage Lake will be opened formally Wednesday.

Ceremonies will be held at either end of the double-deck 1,310-foot span.

The bridge will have a four-lane highway and two pedestrian walkways on the top deck and the lower deck will serve the Duluth South Shore and Atlantic railroad and the Copper Range railroad.

Average traffic over the bridge is 12,000 automobiles daily. Work was started two years ago. The bridge replaces the old Portage Lake draw bridge.

Actress Robbed of $80,000

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Discriminating thieves with an eye for diamonds, mink and masterpieces took nearly $80,000 in valuables from the home of actress Martha Hyer while she was at a Halloween party.

★ ★ ★

A Utrillo street scene she valued at $25,000.

A Renoir, La Petite Nue, she said was worth $15,000.

An $8,500 blue mist mink coat, a $5,000 blue-gray mink stole and two other mink stoles worth $7,000.

A diamond and platinum pin worth $8,500, a platinum pin studded with diamonds and a pearl, worth $4,800, and many other items of jewelry.

★ ★ ★

She told newsmen it was all insured, adding: "the furs and jewelry have a sentimental value to me, but they can, of course, be replaced. The paintings, however, were another matter. Insurance money can't replace them, at whatever price."

Slaying Probe Is Reopened

Residents of Newbury Demand Solution to Farmer's Murder

NEWBURY, Vt. (UPI)—A new investigation of the so-called "community slaying" of dairy farmer Orville A. Gibson was being pressed today.

Civic leaders and neighbors demanded solution of the killing of Gibson, the friendless man who was one of the most successful farmers in the area.

Two men had been indicted on charges in connection with what was believed to have been mob action against Gibson. Both were freed for lack of evidence.

"I intend to remain in Newbury until the case is solved," Mrs. Evalyn Gibson told United Press Internaitonal.

Farmer Earl Page, who lives about 1,000 yards from the big dairy barn where Gibson was kidnaped and slain 22 months ago, said "This murder is an eyesore on Newbury."

Grocer Wendell Clark called the slaying a "disgrace on the town and the state. If the state can't solve it, I'd like to see the FBI in here."

State police got orders from Gov. Robert T. Stafford last week to reopen their investigation. Freeman Placey, Mrs. Gibson's brother-in-law, was among the first to be taken to Montpelier for a second lie detector test. He took the first in April 1958, along with numerous other residents.

Two State AF Officers Die in Florida Crash

CHIPLEY, Fla. (AP)—Maj. Robert A. Lebeuff of Detroit has been listed as dead by the Air Force. Officials said Lebuff died in the crash of an F101 Voodoo jet south of here last Thursday.

Capt. David J. Herman Jr. of Diamond Lake, Park Shore, Mich., also was killed in the crash. Lebeuff had been reported as missing at first.

Gets Red Cross Award

Presley Is Losing Out to Classics in Britain

The nation's record manufacturers say the British public wants classics now. A price war is on to capture the market.

Electrical and musical industries (EMI) is putting a new issue of six 12-inch long playing classic discs in the shops at $3.08 each.

Decca is putting out a classical series at $2.94 a record. Up to now, the price has been about $5.60.

TEEN IDOLS LOSING

Between them, Decca and EMI turn out 70 out of every 100 records in Britain.

An official of EMI said: "We believe there are signs that the teen-age idols, like Elvis Presley and Tommy Steele, are beginning to lose their hold and that a sizable fringe of teen-agers with a taste for better music is rapidly growing."

All major record companies have been jolted by a sudden and unexpected drop in record sales.

The target for the big record concerns now is to develop a regular record buying habit among a wider and more dependable cross section of the public than the group which went for rock 'n' roll.

AAA Studies Walkers as Well as Drivers

Pedestrian Victims Often Staggering Drunk

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In recent years we've learned a lot about pedestrians, including apparently quite a bit that's not so.

A pedestrian is usually defined as a man with two cars, a wife, and a teen-age son. But according to a study by the American Automobile Assn. the pedestrian we hear most about—the one who gets run over and killed—actually is a fellow who has never driven a car, or is drunk.

"Nearly all" adult pedestrian traffic victims, AAA says, are people who have never been licensed to drive.

STARTS THINKING

I always thought of AAA as an outfit dedicated to the preservation of motorists. And it is. But AAA awhile back got to thinking about the uneven contest between cars and foot travelers, and presumably also the fact that every driver tends to be a pedestrian twice for each time he travels by car.

It searched in vain for some association or group looking out for the pedestrian's interests, and decided itself to do something for him.

It has made quite a study, which now is available to traffic experts, and after looking over some of the findings I am considering giving up walking.

Motorists, the AAA has discovered, are seldom killed in collision with people on foot. It's the pedestrian who loses this kind of contest, every time.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, AAA says pedestrians aren't killed by motorists nearly as often as is usually thought. The way AAA sees it, the foot sloggers very frequently bring death on themselves.

★ ★ ★

You've heard a lot about driving while drunk. This frequently tends to be fatal, either to the driver or somebody else, and AAA is dead set against it.

But in fatal accidents involving pedestrians, AAA found, the pedestrian is more likely to be drinking than the driver.

In one test, 19 per cent of the pedestrians involved were found by blood tests to have been staggering drunk.

As you probably figured, most pedestrian deaths take place in the dark. Casualty rates rise sharply in winter, when the days are short. June and December are the safest and deadliest months for taking a walk.

LIGHTS ARE POOR

The fact more drinking is done in the evening probably figures in this, AAA says. But the main thing seems to be that pedestrians simply aren't seen. Poor lights, both on streets and cars, contribute to this. So do black roadways.

But many pedestrians persist in walking on the right side of the road (which in this case is the wrong side) dressed all in black or dark clothes, staking their lives on the driver's obligation to see them.

Pedestrians have many rights under the law, AAA notes, and the trouble is they often insist on them. This is legal but frequently fatal, and AAA feels forced to recommend strongly against it. "These rights," AAA cautions, "have never received wholehearted, 100 per cent recognition by drivers."

★ ★ ★

But the agency's survey showed that pedestrians are worse law breakers than drivers; that while most drivers follow the rules of the road, too many pedestrians act like traffic laws are made only for drivers.

★ ★ ★

Old folks are the most frequent pedestrian victims, the AAA survery showed. Very young children are next. Men are killed more often than women.

Non-drivers, as previously noted, are the most prevalent victims; in one study 95 per cent of those killed who were over 15 had never been licensed to drive.

This presumably was because they weren't aware of the limitations of drivers, for whom AAA offers this helpful suggestion: Drive on the assumption that "you never can tell what a pedestrian will do." The word for pedestrians, I gather, is don't do it.

Sees A-Waste Control Problem in Few Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James E. Van Zandt (D-Pa) yesterday warned that the problem of radioactive waste control could slow up atomic developments in industry unless a vigorous research program is started.

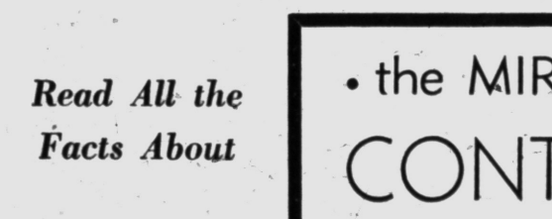

★ ★ ★

Van Zandt, a member of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said waste disposal was not a serious problem at present but definitely could be in 10 or 20 years when atomic power becomes more widespread.

More Engineers on List

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More engineering degrees were awarded this year than at anytime in the last five years. The government reported yesterday that 45,639 engineering students received degrees this year, 9 per cent more than last year, and 69 per cent more than in 1953-54.

Strike Cuts Maintenance

Detroit Plant Rotting

★ ★ ★

"It'll take us more than one million dollars and at least five weeks to hit our peak when this one (strike) is over," said G.L. owners, vice president in charge of operations at Great Lakes.

In past strikes, return to full production wasn't too much of a job. But the longest previous strike was 67 days. Full production then was reached in three weeks. The current strike is in its 110th day today.

★ ★ ★

Owens said the company asked the United Steelworkers Union to allow 400 maintenance men into the plant to winterize it but that there was no reply from the union.

He said the company also has asked the union to permit 1,000 maintenance men to return to prepare the plant for operation when either an agreement is reached or the Taft-Hartley Law injunction takes effect.

"We're willing to gamble that we'll be operating by the end of the week," said W. D. MacDonnell.

"We've had no reply from the union as yet. But we do know that the longer we go without workers now the longer it's going to take to get everybody back to work when this is over.

2 Europeans Arrested After Congo Riots

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)— A European man and woman have been arrested in the Belgian Congo city of Stanleyville after spear and arrow fighting with police which took 20 lives and injured at least 16.

★ ★ ★

The Europeans are accused of teaching revolutionary techniques to African nationalist leader Patrice Lumumba, who also was arrested. Officials did not identify the Europeans except to say the man was not Belgian.

Heroic Baby Sitter Dies

OTTUMWA, Iowa (UPI)—Sharon Dooley, the 13-year-old baby sitter who tried to save seven small children killed in a slum house fire Friday, died yesterday. The girl was found huddled with the corpses of the children. She was burned over 85 per cent of her body.

Wife Tells Abby:

Daughter Too Young to Be Hers

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old woman who recently married a widower, with a 9-year-old daughter. We are all very happy. There's only one irritation. My husband wants me to tell everyone that this child is my own. I love this child, Abby, and I wish she were my own, but she isn't. I am very young looking, and the few times I've told people she was "my own" they looked at me as though they suspected I got into trouble when I was 13 or 14.

ABBY

I have asked my husband to please let me tell people that this is his child by a previous marriage. The child knows it, but he has instructed her to tell everyone I am her "real" mother. Can you help me, or am I wrong to feel this way?

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: When you meet people for the first time, there is no need to tell them whether the child is "your own" or not. Should anyone remark on the fact that you appear too young to have a daughter that age, it is certainly proper for you to tell them that the child was your husband's by a previous marriage. If you deliberately lie, questions will be raised about the real parenthood of this child, and no good will come of it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress. There is an elderly man who comes in every morning about 10 o'clock. He orders a 10-cent cup of coffee (no cream) to sip while he reads his newspaper. He always leaves me a 50-cent tip. The other girls kid me about him. They call him my "boyfriend" and tell me to "watch out!"

He has never said anything more than "Good morning" to me. He just smiles. Do you think he is just big-hearted, or is he looking for something?

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Not everyone is "looking for something." I once asked a man why he left such out-of-proportion tips. He replied, "That's the way the girl makes her living. You never know how many mouths she has to feed at home." That man was my father.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: For nine years I have ignored, stifled and glossed over the nasty things my mother-in-law said that hurt me deeply.

Finally I could take no more, so I talked it over with my husband to see if he could straighten it out. He straightened it out all right. Rather than hurt his mother's feelings, he told her I wanted nothing to do with her whole family. This included my husband's father, sisters and brothers, whom I loved.

Now, no one in his family will have a thing to do with me. I am completely out of the family picture because my husband has made me "mud" in their eyes.

How can I make my husband see that he was wrong to hurt me to keep from hurting his mother?

"MUD" IN THEIR EYES

DEAR MUD: Your husband certainly pitched you a curve. Now he has a little more "straightening out" to do. Give him his choice. Ask him if HE wants to tell his family the truth—or does he want you to? It's admirable of a son to want to spare his mother's feelings—but not at the expense of his wife.

British Doctor Thinks Smoking Lowers Weight of New Baby

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — The babies of women who smoke during their pregnancies weigh less at birth than the babies of women who don't. This is the conclusion of a medical scientist and it was indubitably true of the 1,823 women whose smoking habits came under his scrutiny.

"The reduction in weight is by no means trival," said Dr. C. R. Lowe. The babies of 1,155 non-smoking women weighed six ounces more, on the average, then the babies of the 668 steady smokers. He said there were two explanations.

One is that tobacco might have a direct drug-like effect on the unborn baby, since an earlier scientific study had shown that the heart rate of the unborn increases when the mother smokes a cigarette.

"An even more credible explanation," he continued, is that smoking restricts the maternal blood circulation which is especially set up for the needs of the developing unborn.

Lowe pointed to the studies which showed that "in most normal adults" smoking sets off a spasmodic narrowing of surface blood vessels "which may last for half an hour or longer." He said there is some evidence that women are more sensitive to this effect than men.

MAY HAVE EFFECT

"It is therefore quite possible that vasoconstriction (blood vessel narrowing) repeated ten or more times a day, might have an appreciable effect upon the nutrition of the fetus, particularly during the later months of pregnancy," he concluded.

Lowe is a member of the faculty of the University of Birmingham, England. He was inspired to make his study by the 1957 Study of the American obstetrician, Dr. W. J. Simpson.

On the assumption that a baby which weighs five and ahalf pounds or less at birth, was born prematurely, Simpson found that women who smoked during pregnancy were twice as likely to give birth to a "premature" baby as women who didn't.

Lowe observed that during recent decades there had been many improvements in obstetrical services but there had been no substantial decline in the number of babies who were low in weight at birth.

"In the same period the proportion of women who smoke has risen steadily, and this must have contributed in some degree to the relative constancy of the proportion of infants born at low weight," he said in his report to the British Medical Journal.

Lowe compared the obstetrical experiences and smoking habits of women who were delivered in six Birmingham hospitals during the summer of 1958. His statistics indicated that the more the mother smoked, the less her baby weighed at birth.

Conversely, a significantly higher proportion of the women who entered labor spontaneously were smokers, which strengthened the suggestion that the low - weight babies were prematurely born.

Use of a new acrylic fiber and traditional styling makes this storm coat both versatile to wear and completely machine washable. Light in weight, the coat comes in a trio of color combinations: taupe with natural lining; green with white; or natural with beige lining.

Pretty Dish Wows the Boss

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ever since the first female wiggled her way to the personnel director and got the job, the "great debate" has gone on. Just how much does sex appeal count with the boss?

Ask the girls themselves and the answers are inconclusive — a woman is crazy if she doesn't use ALL her assets . . . good looks sometimes are a handicap . . . it helps to be a pretty girl, if you work like a man.

Now, a new study on the relation of beauty, brains and bosses has come across my desk — hardly settling the great debate but at least including some interesting observations.

The Research Institute of America sampled opinions of bosses and female employes in some 15,000 corporations, or about half the membership which underwrites its studies of all phases of business life.

The pay-off question to the girls was: "Do you get preferred treatment on the job because of your looks?"

Four out of five attractive girls admitted they did. But the fifth made an unexpected point — "My boss leans over backward to avoid it," she complained, "I get a poorer deal around here than the others."

"Girls with S.A. get the O.K.," said one of the plainer members of her sex. "In this office we have 20 girls. The ones with the face and figure snare the attention."

Other girls of the not-so-pulchritudinous group complained that their superiors "spend more time in informal chats with the Marilyn Monroe type," were "more forgiving of her mistakes," were "less likely to give her an undesirable assignment" and more consistently observed the daily pleasantries with her — the friendly good morning, the pleasant good night.

Then researchers asked a group of male supervisors, "Do the more attractive girls take advantage of their looks?"

The answer was unanimous, "They'd be crazy not to."

One boss commented, "You wouldn't expect a girl to avoid using special skills on her job, so why should you expect her to put a brake on personal charm?"

Researchers then asked, "Do you favor the prettier females in your group?"

"I try not to," most bosses replied. But the institute study added, "We got the strong impression that it was a losing battle."

★ ★ ★

In short, it appears that curves in the office create problems with many angles.

Part-Time Job Isn't Easy to Do at Home

By RUTH MILLETT

Lots of letters come to this column from women who say, "If I could only find some kind of paid work I could do at home I could manage it easily. Have you any suggestions?"

The truth of the matter is that there aren't too many jobs a woman can do in her own home. But even more important, it's not easy for a woman to work for money at home.

Men manage to maintain home offices and shops because there's a wife around to protect them from the phone, the doorbell, door-to-door salesmen, visitors, repairmen, the noise and demands of children, household chores and so on.

But there's no one to protect the wife who chooses home as a place to work. She has to sandwich in her work-for-pay between the continuing demands and interruptions that are every housewife's daily lot.

Furthermore, when a woman works at home, other women don't consider her a working woman. Only women who leave their homes in the morning to go to a job are so considered.

No one expects the woman who goes to a job each day to have time to be a den mother, a Brownie leader, a homeroom mother, to attend morning coffees, to hold long "She said . . ." and "I said . . ." telephone conversations. And, of course, she is not around the house to be accessible to anyone who rings the doorbell.

But to turn out paid work at home, a woman has to have real powers of concentration.

She must stop a job in the middle and go back to it without getting flustered. She must steel herself against such distractions as noticing the things she should be doing as a homemaker while she is concentrating on her paid job. And she has to learn to make full use of any quiet hours that come her way.

So while there are some jobs a woman can do at home, let no housewife think they are going to be easy. The working woman who has it easy is the women who leaves her house and her role of housewife behind her when she goes to work.

The next dance will be Nov. 6 at Willis School.

Blanchards Hold Pre-Christmas Get-Together

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blanchard of Pioneer drive who will winter in Largo, Fla., were entertained at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Blanchard of Irwindale drive, at a Christmas-in-October party.

Following a dinner the family heard the Michigan district finalist barbershop quartet, The Key Knights, in which Richard Blanchard sings baritone. Other quartet members are Lyle Howard, lead; Jack Caverly, bass; and Charles Sherwood, tenor.

Also present were another son, Frank W. Blanchard, and his daughters, Jerry and Kathy of Wadsworth drive.

A Christmas motif was featured with a holiday centerpiece, Christmas cards, figurines, ribbons and a lighted snowman. Members of the quartet wore bright red jackets.

World Vision Report Special Church Feature

A presentation of work in the orphanages overseas and the missionary outreach of World Vision directed by Dr. Bob Pearce will be a feature of the special program Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at Marimont Baptist Church. The World Vision Quartet will present a musical concert.

★ ★ ★

A number of churches in the area which support World Vision are sponsoring the group and the public is invited.

★ ★ ★

The World Vision Quartet, composed of Harlow Ankeny, baritone, Richard Cadd, bass; Ronald Crecelius, second tenor; and Norval Hadley, tenor was organized in 1946.

The group blends gospel songs, hymns, spirituals and barbershop singing and has appeared before more than a million and a quarter people in over 3,000 appearances during the past ten years.

Since 1956 they have spent their time with World Vision, Inc. a nonprofit evangelical missionary service organization formed to meet emergency world needs through establishe evangelical missions.

★ ★ ★

The World Vision Quartet has appeared for such outstanding Christian leaders as Billy Graham, Jack Schuler, Merv Rosell and Oswald Smith.

Struggling With Decisions Difficult for All

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Disconnecting the vacuum cleaner, we call out with considerable irritation, "Steve, are you going to empty these wastebaskets — or aren't you? I asked you to get at them 20 minutes ago!"

★ ★ ★

Downstairs, Steve is still seeking a leak in his old basketball. At the sound of our call, he feels more irritation than we do. For the past 20 minutes he's been struggling to locate the leak in his basketball against the pressure of his conscience which tells him he ought to be emptying wastebaskets.

But the pressure of his wish to find the leak is equal to the pressure of his conscience. So he's been able to indulge neither with wholeheartedness. He feels divided, uncertain, anxious. Thus, when we press him again for the decision he hasn't been able to make, he shouts angrily, "Oh, for goshsake, leave me alone!" Outraged, we make a scene with Steve.

Like us, children blow up when we press them for decisions they have been unable to make.

Usually, we offer Steve the choice to empty or not empty the wastebaskets because we ourselves are in a state of indecision. We may be undecided about our duty to a sick relative, about the wisdom of resuming an argument with our husband or on how to deal with a bill we can't pay.

In our own uncertain state, we don't want to make the decision for Steve and say, "Take these wastebaskets out to the incinerator." We pass the choice between alternatives to him because we are struggling with difficult alternatives of our own.

We can't help this. Most of the time we struggle with private conflicts children know nothing about. So we don't have to be ashamed of asking Steve to resolve one for us—and choose to empty the wastebaskets.

HARD TO DECIDE

But we can register the fact that he, too, has occasional trouble with choices; and when we find ourselves pressing him to make one that he hasn't been able to make, realize our dependence on him. Then, instead of angrily reproaching him for not coming through with the decision we want, we can say. So I'll do it myself."

We save ourselves much grief when we finally see the difference between giving orders and choices to children. It is only then that we can accept Steve's right to respond to them differently.

Demonstrate Rug-Making

The art of rag rug-making was demonstrated by Mrs. Melissa Powers and humorous readings were given by Mrs. Amelia Ball at October meetings of the YWCA's Golden Age Club groups.

Mrs. Clyde Marshbanks gave devotions at both meetings, to which members brought articles of handwork or some treasured piece of work.

Hostesses were Mrs. Marcus Scott, chairman, and Mrs. Howard Reeves, Mrs. Franklin Mills, Mrs. Lawrence Wineman, Mrs. Frank Kirby, Mrs. Charles Harmon and Mrs. Everett Russell.

Mrs. Bessie Royce accompanied both groups in singing.

Bonneville Club Plays at Waldron

The Pontiac Bonneville Duplicate Bridge Club met Saturday evening at the Hotel Waldron with eight tables in play.

★ ★ ★

Fur for Fall

Fur trim is big this fall for both daytime and evening. So allow room in your clothes budget for at least one fur trimmed costume, suit or coat.

Dinner Scheduled

The Oakland Park Methodist Church will hold a turkey dinner and bazaar Thursday from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Irl Williams is dinner chairman and Mrs. Joe Wagley will have charge of the dining room.

Her Game Is Social, but Literally

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Washington has long been a mecca for nouveau riche widows who know that it is easy to crash "society" simply by purchasing a lavish dwelling, wrangling introductions to a few ranking senators and ambassadors, and then tossing elaborate parties which feature well stocked cocktail bars.

It is something of a novelty, therefore, to run across a wealthy young woman—born to the social purple—who migrated from Philadelphia's "main line" to Washington for one purpose only: To help save the lives of twenty million Americans doomed to die of neurological disorders.

Blonde, attractive Kay (Mrs. Rodgers) Denckla could be taking life easy in any one of her sumptuous homes at South Hampton, Hobe Sound or Philadelphia.

In fact, she might have been doing just that, except for a tragic twist of fate that may now spell hope for millions of Americans afflicted with multiple sclerosis, Parkinson's disease, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (Lou Gehrig's fatal disorder), muscular dystrophy, cerebral palsy, or epilepsy.

A few years ago Mrs. William Henry Donner, wife of the millionaire founder of Philadelphia's Donner Steel Co., died of Parkinson's disease after 10 years of the affliction. Mrs. Donner was Kay's mother, and during those years Kay besieged top neurologists throughout the country, only to be told that "there is no cure."

After her mother's death, Kay became a woman with a mission. In countless interviews with top scientists and medical men throughout the country, she learned that practically nothing is known of the "nerve killer" diseases, because of an abysmal lack of research into the causes and cure.

She therefore set up the National Neurological Research Foundation here last year, with Dr. Raymond D. Adams, professor of neuropathology at Harvard Medical School as chairman of the scientific committee which screens all applicants for research fellowships.

Learning of Kay's newly begun project, Loretta Munn joined the crusade. So did Jess Larson, former chief of the general services administration whose wife is doomed with Parkinson's disease.

Serving with him are seven of the nation's top neurologists, all of whom foot their own bills for their cross-country meetings, and receive no remuneration from the foundation.

As a matter of fact, 100 cents out of every dollar donated goes directly into the research program. Kay Denckla, with the help of a few like-minded friends, picks up the tab for all administrative costs of this agency.

Her right-hand "man" is Mrs. Charles A. Munn Jr., lovely blonde widow whose socialite husband died recently of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, the same disease which felled Lou Gehrig.

During the three years that Munn valiantly fought off the killer, the beautiful daughter-in-law of "Mr. Palm Beach" visited dozens of top specialists, only to be told: "Nothing can be done. We have virtually no research, and no statistics. There is no hope without research."

Convinced by eminent neurologists that a minimum of five years research is necessary to lick the problem of central nervous disorders, Kay's group awards five-year fellowships to brilliant, dedicated young scientists who are screened by Dr. Adams' committee.

A few are already at work with their microscopes and their skills, and more fellowships will be granted as the public responds to the need. Since the foundation employs no fund-raising teams and public relations spielers, money is in short supply, but hopes are not.

Senators and representatives have glowingly praised the unique foundation in the Congressional Record, and the Kay Dencklas of the world know that where there's a will, there's a way.

A Decision MUST Be Made

Each garment that comes into a dry-cleaning plant demands an individual decision.

How skillfully these individual decisions are made determine the success and public respect for a dry cleaner.

For over 26 years Ogg Cleaners have enjoyed making these decisions for you. While literally hundreds have come and gone, each year Ogg enjoys a continuing increase in volume and an evergrowing public respect. A trial order will convince you too that Ogg Cleaners merit your consideration.

Simple Arithmetic

Today, Josephine Lowman invites you to get a pencil and paper and figure calories with her. You may want her calorie chart. If so, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I often am asked how many calories can one eat and still lose weight. This depends on your size and activity and glandular setup. However, as a guide, I can tell you how to figure it out for yourself.

Generally speaking we use about 15 calories a day per pound of weight we have. For instance, if you weigh 140 pounds and use 15 calories per pound per day that means that you will remain the same weight if you eat 2100 calories a day. You simply will be replacing the calories you used.

CUT 3500

If you eat less than 2100 calories a day, you will lose weight. If you eat more you will gain. You must cut out 3500 calories in order to lose one pound in a week. Therefore, if you wish to lose a pound a week you would have to deduct 500 calories from each day's quota.

If you weigh 140 pounds your number of calories for maintenance would be 2100. Subtract 500 from that and you find that you must hold your calorie intake to 1600 daily in order to lose a pound a week. If you want to lose more rapidly you will have to cut your calorie intake even more.

If you are extremely active physically you may lose more than a pound a week even with a 1600 a day intake.

INCLUDE BASICS

In planning your menus be sure that you include some of the four basic food groups in your diet every single day. These are milk and milk products, meat, eggs, poultry and fish, vegetables and fruits and bread, cereal and whole grain. Naturally you also will need some fat in your diet although this is cut low in slimming diets.

Now it might be fun if you will sit down and figure out how much you should cut your calorie intake for a loss of a pound or more a week.

If you need a calorie chart, I will be glad to send you mine. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Lemon Meringue Pie Is Always Well Received

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

How long is it since you made a lemon pie? Even inexpericnced cooks shouldn't be worried about the filling if they use Mrs. Fred Crossman's recipe. It's so easy.

Mrs. Crossman has her finger in a number of club and civic e.ganizations. She has two children. Working with the PTA, her church circle and the Cub Scouts keeps her busy. Sewing and knitting are her hobbies.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE
By Mrs. Fred Crossman

1½ cups granulated sugar
6½ tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups water
3 egg yolks slightly beaten
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ tablespoons grated lemon rind
Juice of 2 lemons

Mix sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Stir water in gradually. Place over medium heat and stir until mixture thickens and boils. Boil one minute. Add egg yolks and boil one more minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and blend in butter or margarine, lemon rind and juice. Pour into baked pie shell. Cover with meringue made with the 3 egg whites.

Brown 8-10 minutes in 400-degree oven. Cool away from drafts.

Mind Topic of Extension

The Blue Skylarks Extension Club, sponsored by the MSUO extension service, held a meeting on mental health recently at Will Rogers School.

Wayne Seifert discussed the services offered by extension agents in Oakland County and showed slides on horticulture, agriculture, home economics and 4-H club accomplishments.

Dr. Everette Gustafson, public service officer of Oakland County Medical Society, spoke on "Mental Health — Its Beginning." A panel discussion followed the talk.

Members of the extension group served refreshments.

Six states — Georgia, Maryland, North and South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia — were named in honor of British monarchs.

Law, Roberts Speak to League on Taxes

State Representatives Arthur J. Law and Farrell E. Roberts from Oakland County spoke on Michigan's tax problem before Pontiac's League of Women Voters and guests last week at the Community Services Building.

SPEAKING of BEAUTY - donnell says;

Take a piece of rope, clothesline or string, (which is made up of hundreds of strands) untwist the ends, see what happens? The strands separate and the rope or string has lost its strength and shape. Your hair is made up of strands just like the rope except that in hair they are called Keratin chains. When your hair has been damaged and neglected, these Keratin chains separate and your hair becomes dry, frizzy, hard to handle, brittle and lifeless.

What can be done about it? A new type of treatment, one that will knit the strands (or Keratin chains) together, and not just coat the surface of your hair since they cannot penetrate it.

Ask Doctor to Choose a Consultant

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband took sick about three weeks ago and our family doctor has been treating him ever since. He doesn't seem to be any better and we would like to call another doctor (a specialist) to come in and examine him. We don't want to hurt our family doctor who has been very kind to us. Will you please tell me how we can go about this?"

Answer: Say to your doctor that you are worried about your husband and would like to call in a specialist for a consultation, and ask him who he thinks would be the best one.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Someone has just told me that at a correctly set table, even though one person dines alone, four places should be set. To me this sounds just about as senseless as anything I've ever heard. She insists it is correct and that if I didn't believe her I should write to Emily Post, which is just what I am doing."

Answer: It is quite true that according to correct formal service, a dining table is never set with less than four places. This is merely because a balanced arrangement is most attractive. I agree this formality would be senseless to exact by those whose houses are not run strictly according to formal pattern.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I received a lovely wedding present from the office staff. The "big boss" was included. To whom should I write thank you? I hope not to each one."

Answer: You suggest that there are many, in which case it would be permissible to write one note to include everyone and address it either to the office manager or your best friend in the office. He (or she) in turn will either post it on a bulletin board or hand it around.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what one is supposed to do in acknowledging an announcement of an engagement? I don't know the girl very well, but she is going to marry a young relative of mine."

Answer: Write to her and tell her that you are delighted to hear the wonderful news, wish them every happiness and send them both your love.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine is being married and asked my small daughter to be a flower girl. I was under the impression that the bride paid for the child's dress but have been told by several people that I am supposed to pay for it. Will you please tell me what is correct?"

Answer: As a rule, the mother pays for her child's dress.

Fine Soaps Are Good as Sachet

Women who have not yet learned the trick of using a fine soap as a sachet for lingerie and linens are missing half the value of the soap.

A really good soap with beautiful scent can, with wrapper removed, act as a sachet until you're ready to use it. Even then, its perfume will not be dimmed. And there's a sound reason for removing the wrapper: the action of air on the soap hardens it and makes it far less soft when its being used.

Business Is Still Profitable, but Some Firms Are in Red

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Doing business is still profitable for most firms despite the steel strike. But for many it's getting less so. Some are reaching for the red ink.

Earnings statements tell the story when you compare their total profits for the year so far with those for July, August and September.

During the first nine months this year five out of six concerns made more money than in the smilar period of 1958. Some were making record totals. Industry was doing 35 per cent better than a year ago.

INCREASE VANISHING

The corporations were still doing better this summer than last, but the year-to-year increase was disappearing fast.

And executives warned shareholders the steel cupboard is bare or nearly so. That means shutdowns, and without sales where are the profits?

Of the first 588 corporations to report, only 91 showed declines in net earnings after taxes from the like nine months in 1958.

There were 21 companies operating at a loss this year (10 of them railroads) compared with 40 of the same firms in 1958 (with rails accounting for six of these).

For the first nine months 28 steel companies averaged a 21.5 per cent profit gain over the previous year. But 22 of these, reporting on their books for the third quarter, show a combined loss of profit of $176,310,000 the previous year.

The railroads in the steel areas tell the same story. About half of the rails in the nation trailed their year-ago figures, although four out of five operated at a profit.

Outstanding gainers this year over last were the motors and their suppliers (largely because one big auto firm switched from red ink last year to black this, and an ever bigger one doubled its earnings). Combined these firms bettered last year's mark by 277 per cent.

Runnersup were the textiles, with a 127 per cent increase as that industry rebounded fast from its recession.

The farm equipment makers show a 66 per cent gain as a group, and the rubber companies 52 per cent.

As a whole the 503 industrial companies listed are up 41 per cent; the 25 utilities up 17 per cent, and the 51 railroads off 1 per cent. Five airlines show a group gain of 27 per cent while four shipping companies are off 12 per cent.

Combined the 588 corporations chalked up $8,617,461,000 in profits in the first nine months of the year, compared with $6,382,573,000 in the like period of 1958.

But remember, the figures cover the period up to Sept. 30. It is since then that layoffs and shutdowns began to spread fast beyond the steel industry.

It's the impetus of the first half of the year when business as a whole was making 56 per cent more money than in 1958 that has carried the slower third quarter and is still believed by many to assure the year as a whole of some, if diminishing, gain over last year.

College Boys on New Craze: Handshaking

Once it was goldfish. Then there was telephone booth cramming. Later there was a craze for squeezing football teams into tiny automobiles.

Stephen Rowlinson, 19-year-old economic student at Nottingham University, claimed he set a world record Saturday by shaking hands with 9,0001 persons.

It took him 10 hours and 10 minutes to beat the 50-year-old mark of 8,530 set in 1907 by President Theodore Roosevelt. Two fellow students stood by counting off the handshakes on a blackboard.

"I'm in pretty good condition generally," Rowlinson said, "but I've got a stiff arm and tennis elbow."

Takes $9,600 in Gems From Celebrity's Wife

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—Detectives say a jewel thief—one with talent—took $9,600 in gems from the hotel room of Jane Gosden, wife of Freeman Gosden, one of the Amos 'n' Andy originators.

Mrs. Gosden called sheriff's deputies Sunday when she found a jewel case missing. Investigators found a rear window jimmied and reclosed so skilfully the marks were barely perceptible.

POWERFUL NEW PLUNGER CLEARS
in a jiffy!

NEVER AGAIN that sick feeling when your toilet overflows
'TOILAFLEX'
Toilet ALL-ANGLE Plunger

Ordinary plungers just don't seat properly. They permit compressed air and water to splash back. Thus you not only have a mess, but you lose the very pressure you need to clear the obstruction!

With "Toilaflex", expressly designed for toilets, no air or water can escape. The full pressure plows through the clogging mass and swishes it down. Can't miss!

- Double-size cup, double-pressure
- Tapered tail gives air-tight fit
- Designed to flex at any angle
- Centers itself, can't skid around

Rails Present Rules to Union

Made Public Sunday, They Demand Cuts in 'Featherbedding'

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's railroads today present their controversial proposals for changing work rules to five railroad operating unions representing 210,000 members.

The proposals, which may turn out to be the most disputed in recent labor history, were made public Sunday by the Assn. of American Railroads in advance of presentation to the unions.

The issue about which the proposals center is what the railroads term "featherbedding" — forced payment for work neither done nor needed.

The railroads claim present work rules for operating personnel cost them more than 500 million dollars annually.

Some of the working agreements which the railroads seek to change have been in effect for about 40 years. A three-year moratorium against changing the rules expired Saturday.

The AAR says its proposals would correct abuses in areas where unnecessary positions are being staffed, wasteful jurisdictional work divisions exist and multiple pay is exacted for single-term work.

The unions object to any work rule changes. They argue that the present rules are essential to safety and efficient rail transportation.

The five unions involved are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, The Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, the Switchmen's Union of North America, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Just a Pair of Chiselers

Retired Rockhounds Enjoying Selves

By MARIE DAERR
NEA Columnist

At 62, John Deley is a happy example of a man who quit his job because his hobby was so much more fun.

For the past seven years, he and his wife have been "just a pair of rockhounds." They have been hunting, cutting and polishing stones — a hobby, that, with trading and selling, now pays for itself.

"We live simply, without some of the things other people think important," said Deley, a former electrician. "We're enjoying ourselves."

The Deleys, of Seven Hills, Ohio, have been searching for stones with rock hammers and chisels for more than 30 years. For the past 12 years, their basement has been a workshop where the Deleys cut, shape, sand and buff their finds.

They use patterns for some of their work, tracing outlines with an aluminum pencil. They use leather or felt for buffing.

"Three years ago, we discovered Ohio jasp-agate, a combination of jasper and agate," said Mrs. Deley. "It's the only Ohio stone that takes a polish. Our western friends are always eager to get a sample of it."

"We do most of our Ohio digging in Licking County, nearly 150 miles from home," said Deley. "For a small charge, farmers will let us search for stones on their property."

The Deleys also make summer expeditions to the west and southwest. Their western collection includes petrified wood, dinosaur bone, a piece of Utah stone like that which the Indians use to grind corn.

The Deleys' rock treasurers are mounted on padding in display boxes with sliding glass tops. Others are in glass-doored cabinets. All items are catalogued.

"People are always dropping in to see our collection," said Mrs. Deley. "I think they're also curious to see us. We don't conform to the usual pattern, you know."

State Air Bases Get Millions for Building

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The U. S. Air Force has released $2,165,000 in construction funds for projects at four strategic air command bases in Michigan.

The money released includes $800,000 for ammunition and fuel facilities at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Marquette; $860,000 for similar facilities at Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda; $125,000 for a communications and electronics shop at Selfridge Air Force Base near Mount Clemens, and $380,000 for an electronics shop and ammunition storage at Kincheloe Air Force Base near Sault Ste. Marie.

Col. Adolf Kroeber, civil engineer for the Air Force's Ohio River region, said contracts will be let this winter and construction will start in the spring.

ONE COLOR

Record Views of Soviet Display

Reactions to Exhibition Dubious

NEW YORK (NEA)—This chronicle is recited out of 30 loose-leaf notebooks which snarl silently throughout New York's Coliseum—where the Soviet Union is holding its first Exhibition of Science, Technology and Culture for the U. S. since the 1939 World's Fair.

"We invite you to write your comments in this book," say the signs near the notebooks.

And as it is an anxious business to see your competitor's wares, the invitation has been accepted—in every language under the sun from Greek to profanity.

Now, the exhibit itself is quiet and peaceful. It begins with a statue of a farmer beating his sword into a plowshare and it proceeds through agriculture, automation, television, cameras, cars, hospitals, stadiums, apartment houses, fashions and art.

But to almost every writer in the notebooks, it has been a tour through armament factories, concentration camps, missile pads, interrogation rooms, slave blocks and strategic high command.

And from another: "Weren't there many Jews in the throwing off of the yoke of the Czar! But not a Jewish name is among your great leaders. How come???"

And further: "Twenty years ago we looked down on you. Today we fear and respect you."

But of all the verdicts handed down against the exhibition, one theme was played most often. It was stated clearest in a neat penciled hand:

"Seeing is believing. I saw, and I still don't believe."

It was stated in its shortest form over and again in every notebook: "Lies."

And in its most cogent, provocative, thoughtful—in its most tragic: "Who are you kidding. What Russian or American can afford these things?"

For if these Russian arts and artifacts and crafts and canvases were lies and dreams, there would be a wry kind if solace for everybody at the Coliseum—American or Russian.

But these are working models, ready-to-wear, or drive, or eat, or hang on your wall, or plug into your electric line. And even if they are not priced, they are still as real as the carrot on the stick that lures the donkey down the road with the promise of what could be.

"I was very impressed by what I saw here," one visitor wrote. "Let's work together for peace and friendship, not hate and war."

But he and the few like him were only a handful in the paragraphs of damnation.

"It's not the showcase that counts—let's see action and good will," another anonymous signer wrote.

And no reporter was surprised to find the Russian information office at the exhibition unwilling to reveal prices, attendance figures — or even the number of people who live in Moscow.

And so, the crowds in the Coliseum surged along silently, except perhaps, to call their children back or ask directions to the cafeteria.

Only once throughout a crowded afternoon and evening did an argument break out. It was between two American teen-agers on the issue of whether it was possible to live in peace.

Haunt of Lost Generation Now Air-Cooled Cinema

PARIS (UPI)—Where the voices of the post-World War I lost generation once sipped cheap wine in moody contemplation of their unrecognized greatness, the beat generation now can go to the movies.

The man who brought about the change by converting the fabled cafe La Rotonde into the Rotonde Cinema thinks the old customers would approve.

"I knew them all, almost all of them," said proprietor Jean Hellmann surveying his theater on the corner of Boulevard Montparnasse, where La Rotonde once stood.

"Vlaminck, Utrillo, Hemingway, Dos Passos . . . the great men of La Rotonde. I don't think they will mind what I have done."

Hellmann, 59, explained "I was a young painter myself, that's how I knew them. They all had something—a passion for what IS. Not for what is supposed to be.

"La Rotonde WAS. It was a small place where the painters and writers could meet other artists who also were poor. It was a place where the wine was cheap, where they could talk with each other about their work.

"But La Rotonde changed. It became too famous, the prices rose. The artists went elsewhere. And the elegant really preferred Montmartre or The Champs Elysees. So La Rotonde stopped being what 'is' and became what was 'supposed to be'."

The left bank Montparnasse quarter of students and artists and some of the most exclusive old residences of Paris is changing. Hellmann said. New apartment buildings and parks are being planned.

"La Rotonde was through anyway," he said. "If I did not build this cinema, a drugstore probably would have taken its place.

He pointed to word written across both main walls of the auditorium:

"The names on these walls are those of persons of all sorts who haunted this place, long ago. May they be here, in their favorite place, as they used to be. This theater belongs to their dreams and serves as their remembrance."

Underneath are lines and lines of names. Appollinaire, Modigliani, Picasso, Foujita, Jean Cocteau, Max Jacob, Hemingway, Dos Passos, Henry Miller and many other artistic greats of the 20th Century, many of them dead.

The names on the walls include two that bear little connection to art—Lenin and Trotsky.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Avril Allan, 8, Off to Speedy Skating Start

By MURRAY M. MOLER

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI) — Avril Allan, a freckle-faced, pigtailed pixie of eight, just might be a member of the American skating team in the 1968 Olympics.

But to make the '68 squad, Avril will have to practice at least 14,000 hours between now and then.

The 48-pound tyke is a student this fall in the Hollywood Professional School in Los Angeles. A straight-A student, too. In her spare time, she's at a Hollywood skating rink, getting in eight hours or more of practice a week.

The fact she's at the Professional School is actually an accident. Her father, Andrew, is captain of waiters at Perino's in Hollywood. Her attractive mother, Ellen, is "just a housewife."

"We came over to America from Scotland about four years ago," Mrs. Allan explained, "and immediately went to Hollywood. We asked about schools and a friend recommended this one. We didn't know until after Avril started that it was originally set up for actors' children."

Just about a year ago, the graceful little lass went skating for the first time. It was love at first sight — between the girl and the ice.

Avril quickly became—for her two weeks — the darling of the summer crowds at the Sun Valley Idaho mountain resort.

Mrs. Grace Galter of the Sun Valley Figure Skating Club, herself a top-grade skater, estimated that Avril — or any other aspirant of her age — would have to practice five hours a day "soon" to become a champion and an Olympic squad member. For eight years, that would mean 14,600 hours on the ice.

Gravel Removal Ruling Delayed

Buyers of 25 Mile Road Site Hope to Negotiate, Avoid Court Action

SHELBY TOWNSHIP—Court action in the dispute between a gravel mining combine on 25 Mile road and township officials has been postponed pending an agreement between the two groups which may be reached this week.

Initiating the court action were Jerome De Visscher, Harold Dean, Joseph Ciaramitaro and Joseph Michaels.

They purchased the 80-acre site on 25 Mile road, east of Jewel road, to level and to create a lake before developing it as a residential building site, they said.

Township officials issued tickets to gravel truck drivers for violating the zoning ordinance by hauling gravel from the property classified as a residential farming area.

They said no application had been made to allow removal of sand and gravel from those premises.

The plaintiffs had entered into two subcontracts amounting to about one-half a million dollars with the U. S. District Corps of Engineers to provide sand and gravel for constructoin work at Selfridge Air Force Base.

They took the matter to court seeking an injunction restraining the township from interfering with the gravel removal from the site.

Tomorrow night the Township Board will consider a plat the four land developers have presented for subdividing the acreage.

In an accompaning agreement, if approved they will be allowed to level the land and to create the artificial lake within a certain period as specified by the township and within boundaries also set up by mutual agrrement.

DAIRY PRINCESS — Mary Sue Hodge, 22, of Snover, blinks away her tears as she is crowned 1960 American Dairy Princess at Scottsdale, Ariz., Saturday. Doing the honors is last year's winner, Carol Ralphs of Utah. Miss Hodge, a home economics graduate from Michigan State University, wins a $1,000 scholarship and a complete wardrobe. She will travel 100,000 miles this year as a goodwill ambassador.

Clifford to Get New Post Office Within 60 Days

CLIFFORD — Construction and lease of a new post office for Clifford was announced by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, according to local Postmaster Helen Gleason.

Construction is scheduled to begin immediately, and, weather permitting, the U.S. Postal Department expects the new building will be ready for occupancy within 60 days, said Mrs. Gleason.

It will be located at Main and Burlington streets, two blocks south of the present post office here.

Brick and cement block construction will be used to provide a completely modern new post office. It will be equipped with new bank-type furnishings and fixtures, and provide 800 square feet of interior space.

There also will be an 80 square foot loading dock with a large vehicle maneuvering area at the rear.

Vote Date Set in Farmington

Two Other Financial Measures Are on Ballot for Nov. 23

FARMINGTON — Voters in the Farmington School District will be asked to approve a $3 million bond issue for the construction of new classrooms and two other propositions in a special election Nov. 23.

Three million dollars is needed to defray the cost of erecting and furnishing new junior, senior and elementary school buildings, erecting and furnishing additions to existing school buildings and acquiring school sites and additions to school sites, said School Superintendent Gerald V. Harrison.

Two other propositions ask voters to approve the use of $1,300,000 in bonds issued earlier for the construction of an addition to O. E. Dunckel Junior High School and a $2 millage increase per $1,000 of assessed valuation for five years for the purpose of paying a part of the operating expenses in the school district.

Only registered voters in the school district may vote on all three propositions.

Any registered voter in Farmington or Farmington Township may vote on the proposition calling for the millage increage.

Residents can register in the clerk's office in the city or township, depending where they live, until 5 p.m. Nov. 13.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Farmington Junior High School, 33000 Thomas St., and Dunckel Junior High School, 32800 12-Mile Rd.

WOULD FILL SCHOOL

A report from the Farmington School District said a 16-classroom addition to the Dunckel School would be filled by the end of the 1960-61 school year if the voters approve the use of the bonds already issued.

If voters O.K. the $3 million bond proposal it would take a minimum of 18 months to provide the new classrooms for the junior, senior and elementary schools, the report stated.

The additional operational millage increase is needed for salaries of school personnel and to offset income lost due to the decreasing tax base for each child in school, according to Harrison.

MRS. DION W. YEARGAN

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP —On a honeymoon trip through the South are Mr. and Mrs. Dion W. Yeargan, following their wedding at St. Patrick Catholic Church here.

Mrs. Yeargan is the former Francine M. DeSormier and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald F. DeSormier of 9072 Hickorywood Road.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Yeargan of 368 Power Rd.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured by a lace cap trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses centered with a spider mum.

Carol Ann Simpson of Pontiac was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sharleen Moore of Orchard Lake and the bride's sisters, Paula and Janet of White Lake Township. Reginna Farmer was flower girl.

Dennis McNamara of Walled Lake was best man. Ushers were Kirk Evans of Union Lake, and Paul and Jim Pierce of Walled Lake. Danny Crawford of White Lake Township was ringbearer.

A reception was held at Glen Oaks Country Club.

Newlyweds Now Living in Milford

They were married in the Presbyterian Church here before an altar banked in gladioli, mums and palms.

The bride, the former Marge F. Pearson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Pearson of 904 Hillside Dr. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth McClain of 913 Pierson St.

For her wedding the bride chose a white taffeta gown with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and chantilly lace bodice. The floor-length bouffant skirt formed a chapel sweep and had a lace back panel.

Mrs. William Cobeley of Milford was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Maxine Hewett, Mrs. Keith Belleville and Lois Ann Clark. Nicolee Nan Nelsen was flower girl.

★ ★ ★

The bridegroom's brother, Richard of Milford was best man. Ushers were David Buhmeyer of Burlington, Iowa, Ronald Glynn and Fred Hofer of Milford and the bridegroom's brother James, also of Milford. Ringbearer was Boyce A. McClain of Milford.

A reception was held in the church parlors afterward.

Brave Leonard Mother Saves Her Four Children From Fire

LEONARD — A valiant young mother carried her four children to safety through blinding smoke early this morning as fire swept through the Leonard Tool and Manufacturing Co., building where they lived.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Betty Kozachik, 25, was awakened about 5 a.m. by smoke which filled her upstairs apartment.

She roused her small youngsters, and feeling her way downstairs, first took her eight-year-old daughter, Karen, and the baby, Darla, five months old, out of the burning building.

She then sounded the fire alarm at the fire hall which is only two doors away and went back inside for her sons, Stephan 6, and Eddie, 4.

"I didn't have to see. I was so familiar with the way downstairs I found it without looking," Mrs. Kozachik said, still shaken from her experience.

The Addison Township Fire Department was the first to arrive on the scene, and at first glance Fire Chief Edward Porter said he thought the whole block in the heart of Leonard would go up in flames.

★ ★ ★

He credited the Oxford and Orion Township departments, which soon arrived, with helping save the brick building and the nearby structures. The tool company is located at 3 Elmwood St.

★ ★ ★

Fire equipment from Attica and from Ford's Michigan Proving Grounds near Romeo also assisted.

Owner of the building, Leonard Postmaster Hiram Terry, said the fire probably started near the furnace. The basement rafters were charred, and the office and dining room at the rear of the building were damaged extensively by fire and water.

The machinery in the front room was watersoaked but may be put back in working order without too much loss, Terry said.

Milk Marketing Area Is Sought

Would Include Detroit, 28 Counties, Extending Regulation Territory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a Southern Michigan milk marketing area to include Detroit and numerous other cities has been recommended by the Agriculture Department.

The recommended marketing area would include 28 counties and 18 townships in five other counties, extending the regulation of milk handling to the principal centers of Michigan not now regulated.

The recommendation would continue the present milk classification system and present prices for the most part.

The recommended order is scheduled for publication tomorrow with a 20-day period following for interested persons to file comments.

After consideration of any such comments, the Department would issue a final decision on which producers would vote. Approval by two-thirds of those voting is required before the Department may amend any milk marketing order.

The recommended order is based on testimony taken at a public hearing at Lansing, Jan. 6-16.

Has Been Writing Folk Music for 10 Years

Central Teacher Records Own Song

By DICK SAUNDERS

An English teacher at Pontiac Central High School whose hobby is folk music is making it pay off with his first record release on the commercial market from coast to coast.

Bob Ricard, 30, has been trying for 10 years to get one of his songs on wax. Recently at the RCA studios in Nashville, Tenn., he put in a grueling nine-hour session.

Out of the session came his first record, released on the "Skoop" label. On one side is an original Ricard composition, "Show Them Our People," which is a half-spoken, half-sung message to President Eisenhower suggesting things to show our diplomatic visitors from abroad.

Executives of the recording company Skoop are calling it the first major patriotic song to hit the recording scene since "God Bless America."

"After waiting and trying for so long, things started happening quickly," said Ricard. "I wrote it on a Wednesday and it was recorded on a Friday."

Ricard and his rhythm accompaniment, a studio group, made 38 takes before engineers got the one they wanted. A total of 20 takes were made on the other side, "Rinktum Dinktum," a catchy tune recorded to a rocking Latin beat.

★ ★ ★

Ricard, who is a native of Kentucky, came here from Nashville three years ago to teach. He is married and lives at 613 Sheryl Dr., Waterford Township. The Ricards have a four-year-old daughter.

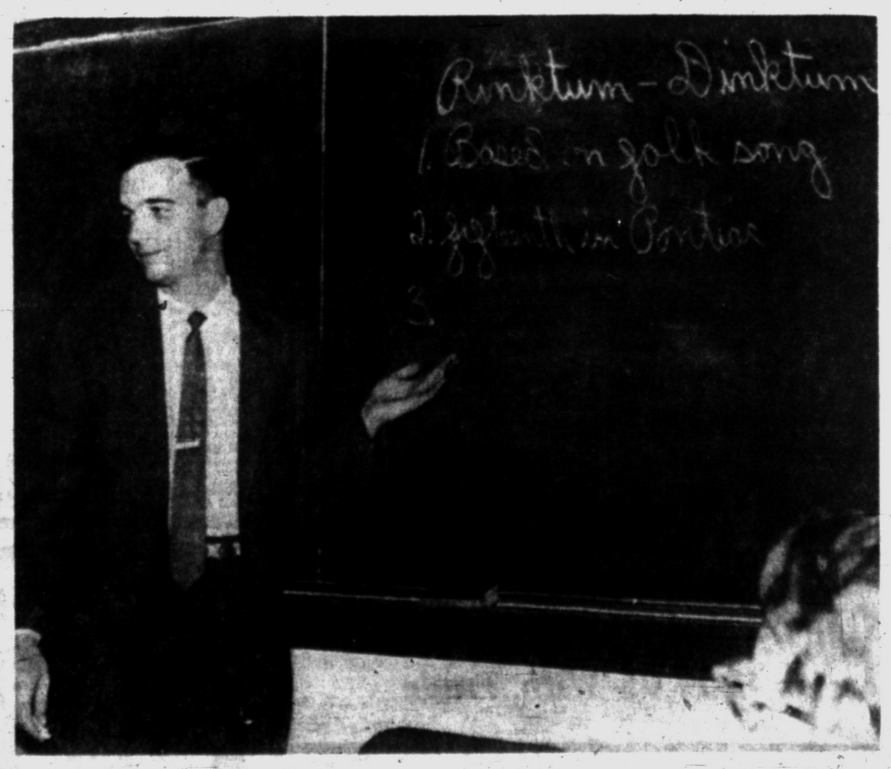

He has mailed copies of the record to every U. S. senator and representative in Washington and to the President and members of the Cabinet.

Aside from teaching, Richard's major interest lies in folk music. He studies its development and collects folk records.

"The term 'folk music' has been sadly misused by publicity men who probably have never heard real true folk music," Ricard contends.

"If this record sells, I've been promised a shot at a folk music album. That's why I'm keeping my fingers crossed in hopes that it's a success commercially," he explains.

'Socialite' Becomes Fine Actress

Trouble Has Many Faces

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Everybody knows that in order to be a great artist, a person has to suffer. High emotion flourishes in adversity, beauty grows on an empty stomach, poverty breeds poetry, and all like that.

So how come Dina Merrill, a socialite who could buy Hollywood in cash, is being acclaimed a fine actress? Has she ever gone hungry? Has she ever lived in a cold water flat? Has she ever yearned for a chinchilla and been turned down?

"No," she said, a touch apologetically, "I haven't. But I don't think starvation is absolutely necessary, do you?

"One can suffer in other ways — like being turned down for a role you really long for. That may sound sort of silly, but from an actor's point of view a good role is more important than a good meal, and if you look at it that way, I've starved along with the best of them."

And please, pleaded the beautiful blonde daughter of Mrs. Merriweather Post (cereal foods multimillion-heiress), do not refer to her as a "socialite." . . . just because she is descended from, and married to (industrialist Stanley Rumbaugh Jr.) great wealth and the Blue Book of Society

A SOCIAL LIFE?

"What is a social life anyway?" she asks. "It is seeing your friends. In that way, I am social. But the term 'socialite' hints of the international set, who live in night clubs and sleep in jet planes between cocktail parties — and this I decidedly am not.

"Call me anything but that. Call me an actress, a housewife, a mother. Call me even a —" she writhed, but elegantly — "a nice girl."

The term "nice girl" is not well thought of among rising young actresses, who would rather sink their pearlies into the meatier roles of wicked women. Dina's only wicked role was as a spoiled and immoral Hollywood debutante in the recent TV spectacular, "What Makes Sammy Run?"

She "hoped it might open up a whole nasty new future for me," but although she was effectively cruel and wanton, she is right back in nice girl roles in her latest opus, "Operation Petticoat."

Dina's problem is that she looks like Grace Kelly, wears clean white gloves, has wealth and position and reflects it, and is gentle-eyed from caring for her three children.

Producers and directors also shy away from giving her other than respectable role because she is one of the few persons in history to be retained in the "Social Register" after entering show business.

Dina's attitude toward the "Register": "It's a convenient phone book to have in hand when you're trying to get support for a charity drive. But I don't really like what it stands for."

RELATIVES SHOCKED

Among her blue-blooded relatives, there was some shock when Miss Merrill decided, after the birth of her third offspring, to return to an acting career which she began as a child ham.

But they succumbed, and even seem proud to have a working girl in the family. Now Dina's only quarrel is with bosses who may get the impression that just because her mother inherited 100 million dollars, and her father and husband are similarly rich, actress Merrill doesn't expect a big, fat salary for her work.

"You're durn tooting I fight for more money every job," flashes the actress. "I do it for two reasons. First, they don't respect you if you don't demand your rights. And strangely enough, in this world, money is the mark of success in whatever you do. . .

Loneliest Co ict Is Dead

JACKSON (AP)—The loneliest convict in Southern Michigan Prison is dead.

He was Alexander Geltafan who never got a letter nor had a visitor in the 34 years he spent in prison for murder.

He was 72 when he died. The prison chaplain was the only outsider at the burial service in the prison cemetery Friday.

He was eligible for parole in 1950 but there was no one to vouch for him or promise him a job. He had a heart ailment, was blind in one eye and partially deaf.

The time he served was the longest, and the loneliest, of the prison's 5,000 inmates.

San Francisco Rocks Lions With Some Razzle-Dazzle, 33-7

49ers' Defense Shakes Detroit for 7 Fumbles

Keyed Up Frisco Team Vaults Into Top Spot of Western Division

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Detroit Lions should have stayed in Los Angeles.

They left the scene of their only National Football League win this year to come to San Francisco and were greeted by a 33-7 rout by the home team.

A vicious defense by the 49ers rocked Detroit into seven fumbles as San Francisco vaulted into top spot in the NFL Western Division as the Baltimore Colts lost to Cleveland.

Playing razzle-dazzle football, the 49ers stormed for 14 points in the first quarter and were never headed.

It was the second win over Detroit this season for San Francisco, and Lion coach George Wilson is of the opinion the 49ers should be undefeated. They have lost once to Green Bay.

"They never should have lost to Green Bay," Wilson said. "Their blocking, tackling and pursuit are wonderful."

The 49ers scored on the second play from scrimmage when J. D. Smith took a handoff from quarterback Y. A. Tittle and rambled 73 yards for a score.

They added a marker five minutes later when Tittle passed 10 yards to halfback Hugh McElhenny.

The play was set up when Jerry Tubbs recovered a fumble by Lion quarterback Earl Morrall, a former Michigan State star, on the Detroit 33.

Detroit got its lone score just before the first period ended when linebacker Joe Schmidt intercepted a Tittle pass on the San Francisco 17 and returned it to the one. Kenny Webb bucked over for the touchdown.

But McElhenny, who had been sidelined a month with a broken hand, made the halftime score 21-7 when he took a Tittle pass good for 62 yards and a touchdown.

The 49ers picked up five points in the third period on a safety and a 17-yard field goal by Tommy Davis.

He Scores 5 Times as Cleveland Wallops Colts

Jimmy Brown Breaks Loose

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Brown finally exploded, jarring Baltimore's world champion Colts out of the Western Conference lead and making Cleveland a contender again in the East as the National Football League races hit the halfway mark.

The 6-2, 228-pound bulldozer mixed speed with power for five touchdowns Sunday, triggering the near-record performance with the longest gain of his pro career—a 70-yard rumble with a pitchout that got Cleveland rolling on a 38-31 victory over the Colts at Baltimore.

The Browns' feared fullback fell one short of tying the NFL record, but is only the third player in history to score five TDs in a single game. He's the first to do it in eight years.

With Cleveland backing Brown's break-through with a defense that was tough when needed, San Francisco's surprising 49ers leapfrogged the Colts into the Western lead with a 33-7 breeze over Detroit. That gave the 49ers, preseason picks for the second division a 5-1 record to Baltimore's 4-2.

The surprise at Baltimore was Cleveland's third straight success and left the Browns in a second place tie with Philadelphia in the East behind the New York Giants. The defending champs retained their one-game edge by smacking Green Bay 20-3. Philadelphia stayed in the game with a 30-23 on Washington.

The other games went to the two Chicago teams, with the Cardinals walloping Pittsburgh 45-24 and the Bears beating Los Angeles 26-21.

Brown, who has led the NFL in rushing for each of his two campaigns, setting a record with a 1,527 net last season, upped his six-game 1959 total to 737 yards—a 123-yard average—against the Colts. He carried 32 times and moved 178 yards, although the Colts kept him bottled up for only 15 yards in his first seven carries.

Then he took the pitchout from quarterback Milt Plum, left defensive halfback Ray Brown behind and was off for his 70-yarder, giving the Browns a 10-0 lead in the second period. His other TDs came on a 17-yard run and three plunges.

★ ★ ★

The Giants gave Vince Lombardi a rude homecoming in their first meeting since he left their coaching staff to direct the Packers. Alex Webster, once under Lombardi's backfield direction, scored twice with short bursts—the first set up by a fumble and the other by a pass interferance call. The Packers lost their third straight for a 3-3 mark. Pat Summerall booted a pair of 49-yard field goals for the other New York scoring.

★ ★ ★

The Eagles kept the pace with some stout defense after scoring all their points in the first half, McDonald snaring one of Norm Van Brocklin two TD passes. The Redskins came alive for 14 points in the final period, on the passing of Eddie LeBaron, but the Eagles then held fullback Don Bosseler inches short of the goal on three shots at the line from the one with the clock running out.

Rookie defensive backs Bill Stacey and Ken Hall put it away for the Cardinals with a pair of long punt returns in a 21-point second period against the Steelers. Stacey went 59 yards and Hall 84 for a 35-10 lead at the halftime.

The Bears beat the Rams with 19 points in the third quarter, scoring twice within two minutes on a blocked punt and a fumble.

Wings Appreciate a Chance to Rest

All Tired Out After Downing Chicago, 2-1

Melnyk and Delvecchio Connect for Redshirts on Olympia Ice

DETROIT (AP)—Their first victory in five games safely tucked away, the tuckered-out Detroit Red Wings looked forward today to a brief rest from National Hockey League wars.

Coach Sid Abel, whose club had just wound up a string of four games in five nights, thought the Wings were mighty lucky to squeak through with a 2-1 victory last night over Chicago.

"We were really dragging," he said. "The Hawks did everything but outscore us. I'm glad we don't have to play again until Thursday. We need the rest."

The Wings lost a week ago to Montreal, then had two ties and one defeat on the road before returning to Olympia Stadium. They were fortunate that they faced a team down on its luck.

The Black Hawks, picked for second in most pre-season polls, outshot the Wings 29-19 and missed half-a-dozen dandy scoring opportunities, mainly because of the brilliant goaltending of Terry Sawchuk.

Coach Rudy Pilous of the Black Hawks can't find the answer to nine games without a victory. The Hawks haven't won since they beat New York in their opening game, more than three weeks ago.

"I'm stumped," Pilous admitted. "We certainly skated well enough to win this one—matter of fact, we've skated well enough to win several. We just have to keep skating, that's all. Things will turn."

Ted Lindsay, who missed two good chances to score against his old teammates, was muttering in the dressing room. "No one cares how close you come to scoring," Lindsay growled. "Just score — that's all that counts. And that's what we're not doing—scoring."

The Hawks, who have scored only 16 goals in 10 games, have received fine goaltending from ex-Wing Glen Hall, who has permitted only 28 goals. Rookie Jerry Melnyk nicked him in the second period last night, and Phil Maloney tied it for the Hawks 35 seconds later.

HIGH STEPPER — Hopalong Cassady (40) of the Detroit Lions has to step high in effort to elude the grasp of the 49ers after taking a kickoff in the first period. At right is 49er guard John Wittenborn (66). The 49ers won, 33-7, to take sole possession of first place in the Western Division.

Title Bout Thursday

By The Associated Press

Pascual Perez, the world fly-weight champ, defends his title Thursday against the only man who ever beat him. The opponent in the Osaka, Japan, bout is Sadoa Yaoito who grabbed a decision over the champ in January in a non-title match.

The match already has been postponed twice. It will be held in a converted outdoor pool. The champ is a slight favorite according to word from Tokyo.

Shrine Wins First Crown

Unbeaten Knights Go Into Parochial Semis With 27-6 Victory

Unbeaten Shrine of Royal Oak won the West Side First Division football championship for the first time Sunday with a 27-6 triumph over St. Patrick at Wyandotte. Shrine's season record is now 5-0-1.

The Knights meet Detroit DeLaSalle next Sunday in the semifinals with the winner facing St. Ambrose for the parochial crown. The Catholic League champion battles the Detroit public school champ for the city title.

Shrine moved into a 13-0 halftime lead, then stopped a St. Pat drive in the 3rd quarter and struck back for two 4th period touchdowns to put the decision on ice.

Ron Bishop passed to Paul Bayer for a nine-yard TD in the 1st stanza to open Shrine's scoring. Mike Glynn hit pay dirt in the 2nd quarter on a 56-yard dash after taking a lateral from John Seymour.

Gendron Hat Trick Beats Leafs

Hurt Plante Paces Montreal Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Goalie Jacques Plante, wearing a plastic mask to protect a face injury sustained early in the game, turned in a masterful performance as his Montreal mates drubbed the New York Rangers 3-1 Sunday night before a sellout, National Hockey League crowd of 15,925.

Boston's Guy Gendron collected hockey's three goal hat trick and Bronco Horvath, clicking at a near-goal a game pace, scored twice Sunday night in leading the Bruins for a 6-3 victory over Toronto.

The three-goal performance was Gendron's second — both against Toronto — since shifting to the Bruins from New York in a trade last season.

Dickie Moore, Andre Pronovost and Bernie "Boom-Boom" Geoffrion scored for the Canadiens, who ran their unbeaten streak to eight-six victories and two ties. It was Montreal's second victory in three meetings with the Rangers and kept intact their first place lead of four points over second place Detroit.

New York's goal didn't come until midway in the final period, when Camille Henry smashed in a rebound after Plante had made a brilliant save on Andy Hebenton.

Altogether, Plante made 27 saves to 30 for Gump Worsley, who also did a fine goal tending job despite the three Montreal goals. On six occasions, four times in the last period, Worsley had to thwart a Montreal breakaway, with a Canadien swooping in on him all alone.

Plante played despite a painful face wound that required seven stitches to close. He was hit in the face by a hard backhand shot by Andy Bathgate early in the first period and had to be helped off the ice for treatment.

CANNON ROARS — LSU was still unbeaten and untied today and it was an electrifying 89 yard punt return in the 4th quarter by Billy Cannon who is seen slipping by tacklers on his own 25 yard line on his way for the score. LSU defeated Mississippi, 7-3, Saturday night in the top collegiate game. LSU is the No. 1 team in the country and Ole Miss was ranked 3rd.

Orchard Lake 34-27 Winner Over Shamrocks

Kennedy Passes for 2 Scores to Spark 18-6 Ram Triumph

St. Michael's football honeymoon came to an end Saturday night at the hands of an aerial-minded Orchard Lake St. Mary squad in a Suburban Catholic League game at Wisner Stadium.

Riding high after their 54-7 rout of city rival St. Frederick the preceding Sunday, the Shamrocks were let down rudely by the Orchard Lakers in a battle for 3rd place.

Quarterback Stan Krogulecki threw three touchdown passes to halfback Glenn Hass to feature the St. Mary attack as the Eaglets rallied for a 34-27 victory.

Jim "Jumbo" Kennedy sparkled for St. Fred yesterday afternoon, also on the Wisner gridiron, as the Rams tallied twice in the 4th quarter to defeat winless Royal Oak St. Mary, 18-6.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy pitched two TD aerials to end Rudy Yapo to hike his season's total to 10 scoring tosses, quite an accomplishment for a team destined to finish next to the cellar in the conference. Royal Oak's loss doomed the Irish to the basement.

The Mikes held quarterly leads of 14-7, 20-14 and 27-20 before Orchard Lake hit pay dirt twice in the 4th period to chalk up the victory.

Tom Dabbs tallied twice for the Shamrocks, the 1st time on a pass covering three yards from Pat Campbell and again on a 35-yard end sweep.

Campbell ripped 39 yards through the middle for St. Mike's final TD and Mike Ganje scooted six yards for the other counter.

The pass-happy Krogulecki hit the sure-fingered Hass for scoring heaves of 81, 39 and seven yards. St. Mary's other touchdowns were a one-yard plunge by fullback Bill Krul and a dive of the same length by Ted Barszczewski.

St. Fred completely dominated the statistical column, gaining a total of 369 yards to Royal Oak's 149, but a damaging 15-yard penalty and a pair of fumbles kept the Rams in trouble until the 4th period.

Kennedy's 32-yard toss to Yapo in the 2nd quarter handed St. Fred a 6-0 edge, but the Irish evened the count at halftime on a blocked punt, 15-yard penalty and Stewart's scoring dive on 4th down from the two yard line.

The Rams twice halted Royal Oak touchdown bids in the 4th quarter after losing the ball on fumbles, then iced the decision on Kennedy's 2nd TD pass to Yapo, a play covering 36 yards, and a 22-yard scamper with an intercepted aerial by freshman George Sharpe.

In other SCL games yesterday, Highland Park St. Benedict continued merrily on the way to a 2nd straight title with a 53-12 rout of Center Line St. Clement and Ferndale St. James clung to 2nd place in the standings with a 20-0 conquest of Detroit St. Rita.

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows absorbed a 35-7 shellacking from St. Francis Xavier in another parochial contest Sunday.

AIRDALES CHEER — From the looks of this Air Force bench one would think the Airmen scored a victory over Army Saturday. But all the excitement was brought about when George Pupich's kick tied the score for Air Force, 13-13, and that's the way the game ended. Air Force went for the tie instead of trying for the two points.

Tigers Riding High After Tripping Mississippi

Cannon Roars, LSU Soars

By United Press International

Louisiana State was riding higher than ever in college football's upper stratosphere today while Northwestern, Texas, Syracuse and Kansas also were soaring toward possible bowl berths.

Top-ranked L.S.U. skimmed over its toughest hurdle on the way to its second straight national championship and a repeat appearance in the Sugar Bowl by turning back third-ranked Mississippi, 7-3, Saturday night on an 89-yard punt return by All-America Billy Cannon.

The Tigers face another toughie, Tennessee, next Saturday and then close out their regular season against Mississippi State and Tulane, who have lost eight games between them.

Here are the possible pairings for the major bowl games entering the final month of the season:

Rose — Northwestern (6-0) vs. Washington (6-1) or Oregon (6-1).

Sugar — Louisiana State (7-0) vs. Clemson (5-1) or Arkansas (5-2).

Gator — Georgia (6-1) or Ole Miss vs. Arkansas or T.C.U. (5-2).

Northwestern and Kansas can clinch a tie for first place in their respective conferences next Saturday while Syracuse reportedly will be offered an Orange Bowl bid if it gets by Penn State in a showdown "meetin' of the unbeaten."

Second-ranked Northwestern, leading the Big Ten with a 4-0 mark, has a weekend date with Wisconsin (3-1) in a game that may decide the conference representative in the Rose Bowl.

In the Big Eight Conference race, Kansas and Oklahoma are tied for the lead with 3-1 records. The Sooners are barred from a return trip to the Orange Bowl while Iowa State (2-2) has tough games remaining against Nebraska and Oklahoma. So Kansas will be in the driver's seat if it gets by Colorado this week.

Ron Burton and Mike Stock each scored two touchdowns in leading Northwestern to a 30-13 victory over Indiana last Saturday. Fourth-ranked Texas continued its drive toward the Southwest Conference championship and the host berth in the Cotton Bowl by blanking Southern Methodist, 21-0.

★ ★ ★

Fifth-ranked Syracuse prepared for its meeting with Penn State by handing Pittsburgh one of its worst defeats in years, 35-0, while the seventh-ranked Nittany Lions also remained unbeaten by romping over West Virginia, 28-10.

Sixth-ranked Southern California rallied to shade California, 14-7; on a last period touchdown by Willie Wood; eighth-ranked Auburn needed a third period touchdown by Lamar Rawson to edge Florida, 6-0; ninth-ranked Wisconsin beat Michigan, 19-10, and Duke surprised 10th-ranked Georgia Tech, 10-7.

Kansas gained its share of the Big Eight lead by knocking off Iowa State, 7-0, while Nebraska handed once mighty Oklahoma its first conference defeat in 14 straight games, 25-21.

In other major upsets, Dartmouth turned in a 12-8 victory over Yale, the nation's last undefeated, untied and unscored-upon team; Harvard surprised Penn, 14-0; the Air Force held Army to a 13-13 tie in their inaugural meeting, and Ohio State turned back Michigan State, 30-24.

★ ★ ★

Washington took another giant step toward the Rose Bowl by downing U.C.L.A., 23-7; Monte Stickles' 43-yard field goal gave Notre Dame a 25-22 victory over Navy; Clemson blanked Rice, 19-0; Tennessee warmed up for its meeting with L.S.U. by bombing North Carolina State, 29-7, and Arkansas turned back Texas A. & M., 12-7.

Mississippi, Yale Drop Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — Louisiana State topped a dwindling list of only seven major schools today among the nation's remaining 34 college football teams with perfect records.

Top-ranked L. S. U., Texas, Penn State and North Texas State are the major schools with seven victories, while Syracuse, Northwestern and Southern California have won all six of their 1959 starts.

Mississippi and Yale were bounced from the perfect record ranks during the weekend when L. S. U. nipped the Rebels, 7-3, and Dartmouth upset the Elis, 12-8.

Huron (S. D.) College and San Francisco State are unbeaten and untied through eight games. Huron is the perfect record list's top scorer with 351 points and boasts the best defense, having given up only seven points.

Crane Gridders Rout Reserve; Booters Tie

Cranbrook's football team returned to the winning column Saturday with a 33-7 victory over Western Reserve of Cleveland in an Inter-State League game at Cranbrook. After two overtimes, the Crane soccer team and Reserve's booters wound up in a scoreless tie.

The Cranbrook gridiron record for the season now stands 3-4. In soccer the Cranes are 4-1-2.

Jim Williams scored two touchdowns for the Cranes on short plunges. Cranbrook's three remaining TD's came on a 60-yard pass play from Bill Mosher to Larry Weis, a 15-yard run by Tom Demrick and a 40-yard dash with an intercepted pass by John Seeley.

Demrick placekicked one extra point and Williams ran for a two-point conversion. Western's only TD was a one-yard dive by Bill Coffin late in the 4th quarter.

Sword Dancer Easily Defeats Round Table

NEW YORK (AP)—Sword Dancer, heading for a two-month vacation, today presented an imposing list of credentials to back his candidacy for two of the turf's most important titles.

The little chestnut son of Sunglow from Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable virtually wrapped up horse of the year honors Saturday when he defeated Round Table, defending titleholder, by seven lengths in the $110,600 Jockey Club Gold Cup at Aqueduct.

He also is the leading candidate for the 3-year-old championship.

Big Sports Weekend

The six-point program began on a rainy Saturday afternoon with the Air Force-Army football game, which drew 67,000 at Yankee Stadium. The Sword Dancer-Round Table duel in the Jockey Club Gold Cup helped lure 42,215 to Aqueduct Race Track.

On Saturday night, 13,357 watched the pro basketball game at Madison Square Garden between the Boston Celtics and the New York Knicks and 20,435 turned out to see the trotters at Roosevelt Raceway.

Sunday, 67,837 were in Yankee Stadium for the National Football League game between the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers. Sunday night, a hockey sellout crowd of 15,925 packed the Garden for the Rangers' game with the Montreal Canadiens.

Russians Set for 8th Running of International

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The Russians are in the International Village today awaiting the eighth running of the $100,000 horse race on Nov. 11.

"The most important thing we're here for is to learn more about the specifics of American racing," says Yevgeni Dolmatov with a smile.

He and Yevgeni Gottlieb, trainer of Russia's two entries in the International, won't even name their jockeys. Garnir, their horse who finished sixth last year, is back and so is his jockey, Nikolai Nazimov.

Lane Ranked Second Among Lightweights

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., whose last fight was as a welterweight, was ranked second in the lightweight division in the National Boxing Assn.'s October listings.

Lane beat former welterweight champion Virgil Akins last Wednesday. He plans to continue campaigning as a welterweight because of his difficulty in getting lightweight king Joe Brown in the ring for a second title fight. Brown beat Lane in a championship bout in 1958.

Two Detroit fighters were ranked in the NBA's monthly ratings. Billy Hunter, who scored an impressive technical knockout of Tony Anthony last month, was seventh among the heavyweights. Henry Hanks was No. 10 among the middleweights.

Boston Still Team to Beat

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics aren't wasting much time informing the seven other clubs in the National Basketball Assn. that they're still the team to beat for the championship.

★ ★ ★

Boston, which defeated the Minneapolis Lakers in four straight games to win the post-season playoff finals last season, are off and winging again. Dispelling the axiom of "uneasy is the head that wears the crown," the Celts have captured four in a row with the season just two weeks old.

The Celts downed the Cincinnati Royals 124-109 last night after whipping the New York Knicks 123-109 Saturday night. Both of Boston's week-end victories were on the road.

In the only other game played Sunday, the St. Louis Hawks overpowered the Minneapolis Lakers 138-101.

Saturday night's action saw the Philadelphia Warriors turn back the Detroit Pistons 120-112, the Syracuse Nats down Minneapolis 117-108 and St. Louis beat Cincinnati 109-102.

Snead, Ford Share Ryder Tuneup Title

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—Sam Snead and Doug Ford finished in a four-under par tie and dominated a field of American and British players in the $7,500 El Dorado Country Club pro-member golf tournament.

The tournament was a prelude to the 13th biennial Ryder Cup matches between Great Britain and the United States next Friday and Saturday.

Snead, captain of the U. S. team, shot his second straight 69 yesterday while teammate Ford came in with a 67, the best score of the day. Par was 72 the first day but it was knocked down to 71 for the final round.

★ ★ ★

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, Fla., and Ford, playing out of Crystal River, Fla., finished at 138, three strokes ahead of Scotland's Eric Brown, and earned $675 apiece. Brown got $525.

Giants Pick Up Stits

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants have picked up Bill Stits, defensive halfback, as a free agent and released Don Sutherin, also a defensive halfback, to make room for Stits.

Stits, former UCLA star, is a six-year veteran who once played with Detroit.

Good Offense Not Enough for MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—"I wouldn't have believed that we could score 24 points and still lose a football game," mourned Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty.

The 30-24 defeat by Ohio State at Columbus Saturday put the Spartans out of contention for the Big Ten title. But Michigan State can still play a deciding role in the title race in meeting with Purdue here Saturday and league-leading Northwestern the following week.

"It was the first time in my 13 years at Michigan State that we've ever scored that many points and still lost," Daugherty said.

"Woody Hayes said Ohio State played its finest game of the year," Daugherty observed, "but we did a pretty good job of stopping their Bob White. He did a lot of playing for a fellow supposed to be injured — he was in the game for 50 minutes. But it was that quarterback Tom Matte who really killed us on his roll out plays and passes."

Matte connected on three touchdown passes, two to Jim Houston and one to Bill Wentz.

A field goal by extra point kicker Dave Kilgore and a 55-yard run by Bob Ferguson completed the Buckeyes scoring.

"There was nothing wrong with our offense but we're going to have to work on our pass defense," said Daugherty.

Michigan State showed good scoring variety despite the loss. Halfback Gary Ballman and Herb Adderley both scored on rushes, quarterback Dean Look hit Fred Arbanas with a touchdown pass and Art Brandstatter added a field goal.

"I still think we could have won if we could have got the ball back toward the end of the game," Daugherty insisted. "But Ohio State beat us by controlling the ball for the last six and a half minutes."

"Purdue has been in the habit of knocking us over when we were favored," Daugherty said. "Now we're going to try to pull the same thing on them."

THROUGH THE MIDDLE — Wisconsin back Jim Bakken (21) elected to run instead of pass and he hits right through the middle of the Michigan line in the 4th quarter Saturday. Just prior to this, Bakken intercepted a Michigan pass. No. 16 is Michigan back Fred Julian. Wisconsin beat the Wolverines, 19-10.

Wisconsin 19-10 Winner Aided by Interceptions

Wolverines to Stress Passing in Workouts for Illinois

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan, a team with a knack for scaring highly ranked opponents, began work today trying to inject new punch into its passing attack in time for this week's clash with rugged Illinois.

However, as the Wolverines surveyed the wreckage of their aerial game in the wake of Saturday's 19-10 loss to Wisconsin, they could take some comfort from their sterling defensive effort which nearly spilled the 10th-ranked Badgers.

Michigan's defense, sparked by the "Raiders"—a third string defensive platoon — suddenly found itself in the second period and limited the powerful Badgers to three first downs and only 74 yards during the last 43 minutes of play.

In all, the Wolverines, who gave away more than 20 pounds per man, allowed Wisconsin only 158 yards on the ground and a mere 30 in the air.

But faulty Michigan passing and an alert Wisconsin secondary, combined to give the Badgers two early touchdowns and choked off Wolverine hopes for an upset in the dying minutes of the game.

All told, six Michigan passes were intercepted by the Badgers. Wisconsin's first two touchdowns came on the heels of interceptions, while another set up a field goal in the final 18 seconds which iced the game for the Badgers.

Only four of Michigan's 21 passes found the mark all afternoon, netting a mere 15 yards.

Noskin atoned for some of his errant tosses by making two interceptions. His clutch grab of Dale Hackbart's pass in the final period, coupled with a 36-yard runback, moved Michigan to the Badger four yard line.

But Wisconsin, taking advantage of two interceptions, stormed into a 16-3 lead with less than three minutes gone in the second quarter. The tallies came on the ends of drives of 30 and 41 yards.

★ ★ ★

It was a defensive battle the rest of the way until the fourth period when Noskin's interception set up Michigan's lone touchdown and Wisconsin's six interceptions led to a 29-yard field goal by Badger tackle Karl Holzwarth.

'Brute' to Face 'Golden Boy' in Rassling Match

The next professional wrestling card at the Pontiac Armory Wednesday night will be highlighted by a triple main-event, featuring some "new faces" to this area.

★ ★ ★

In one of the bouts, Jim "Brute" Bernard wil meet Billy "Golden Boy" Parks, a newcomer to this area, will be outweighed by some 40 pounds in his match with the Brute, but he feels his superior finesse and ring speed should be enough to offset any weight advantage Bernard carries.

★ ★ ★

Parks has been a success wherever he has wrestled, and particularly in Hollywood, where his extreme good looks got him the "Golden Boy" label.

Bernard has said he will mess up some of Parks' hansome features when they meet in the ring.

Boxing Slate Heavy Tonight

By The Associated Press

Monday is the busiest night of the week in the boxing business and this week is no exception with shows scheduled all the way from Quebec to Dallas.

Quebec has a pair of Canadian title matches on the bantam and feather divisions. In 12 round bouts bantam Johnny Devision of New Glasgow, N. S. faces Marcel Gendron of Quebec and feather champ Dave Hilton of Quebec takes on Buddy Daye of Halifax.

Rory Calhoun, White Plains, N. Y., middleweight, tops a Monday card at Montreal in a bout with Joey White of Durham, N. C. in a companion 10-rounder heavyweight Bob Cleroux of Montreal fights Mickey Carter of Birmingham.

Only Kalamazoo Bars Path to Title

Hillsdale Reigns Again in MIAA

By United Press International

Hillsdale reigned alone atop the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association football standings today by virtue of a 35-7 win over Hope.

It was sweet revenge for the Dales, who were forced to share the MIAA crown with Hope and Albion last year when Hope won 16-13.

Freshman fullback Gary Everling dashed 46 yards to score in the opening quarter, and the Dales rolled up four more touchdowns—along with 274 yards rushing—in a wholesale rout of the Dutchmen.

Hillsdale has to face only Kalamazoo College next Saturday before being assured of the MIAA crown. And Kalamazoo figures to be no opposition to the powerful Dales of coach Muddy Waters.

Adrian won its first conference game of the season by downing Kalamazoo 20-12 Saturday at Kalamazoo.

Adrian had to hustle to do it as Kalamazoo tied the score 13-13 with only 5½ minutes to play, but a 40-yard pass play from Jim Smith to Carl Bedofske spelled victory for Adrian.

In an MIAA contest that was not so close, Alma routed Olivet 34-0, mainly due to the efforts of quarterback Jim Northrup.

Northrup gained a total of 215 yards passing and rushing to push his seasonal total to 1,216 yards. He rushed for two touchdowns and passed for another.

In non-conference meetings, Wooster College of Ohio edged Albion 15-8 at Albion. The Britons tried hard to come back from a 15-0 deficit in the third quarter, but could manage only one touchdown.

Wooster, the Ohio Conference leader, marched 82 yards in 11 plays to start the game and was never headed.

Central Michigan rode the strong arm of quarterback Oarie Lemanski to a 20-8 win over visiting Northern Michigan. He hit halfback Walt Beach with an 83-yard scoring pass in the first half, and dropped a 40-yard aerial in the arms of Al Bernardi for another score in the third quarter.

Lemanski completed six of nine tosses for 172 yards. Northern's only score came on a march from the Central 27 that took three plays.

The win was the fourth straight for Central and the loss snapped Northern's win streak at five games.

In a President's Athletic Conference game, Wayne State downed Western Reserve 4-14 in the Tartars' Homecoming game at Detroit. The victory moved Wayne into second place in the conference with a 3-1 record behind unbeaten John Carroll. Wayne's over-all mark is 3-2.

Wayne had to come back with 20 points in the final quarter to gain the win.

Win Regional Despite Anderson

Maple Harriers Champs

Joe Anderson of Pontiac Central repeated as Class A individual champion but Birmingham had the better balance to take regional honors at Farmington Country Club.

Anderson had a time of 10:30 to head the "A" field. Other PCH finishes were Maurice Johnson (3rd), Jim Nelson (11th), Ken R. Byrd (15th) and Bill Campbell (41st).

Dan Reed topped Birmingham in 4th place with teammates Dick Kelly and Tim Tout following in order. Ted Egner was 10th and Jock McPhee 13th. Walled Lake's best performer was Beeman, who ranked 9th.

Pistons Finish 2nd Best Against Wilt

Wednesday they face former Michigan State stars Johnny Green and Bob Anderegg, who will come to town with the New York Knickerbockers.

The seven-foot two-inch Chamberlain introduced himself by scoring 36 points and picking off 34 rebounds as the Philadelphia Warriors beat the Pistons 120-112 at Philadelphia Saturday.

Tom Gola and Paul Arizin had 23 points each for the Warriors. Gene Shue contributed a like amount to the Piston's Cause.

Penn State Ace Better

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —Coach Rip Engle of Penn State is optimistic about injured ace quarterback Richie Lucas' chances of starting against powerhouse Syracuse next Saturday.

Engle said that Lucas apparently suffered a minor concussion as State beat West Virginia 28-10. Lucas sat out the last quarter after receiving the injury.

"He's up and around today and should be able to practice Tuesday," Engle said yesterday.

Bowls Eye Syracuse

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Herald reported yesterday that Syracuse may be extended an invitation to the Orange Bowl next week if its football team beats Penn State Saturday.

The newspaper quoted "a reliable source" as saying the bid know the Cotton Bowl is strong would be made because "we for Syracuse and the Orange Bowl wants to get there first."

14 Cities Object to Air Proposal

Pontiac Among Those Protesting Shortage of Indiana, Ohio Links

More than 40 objections to the plan for more short-haul air service in Michigan and the Great Lakes area were on file today with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington.

Thirteen other Michigan cities and the State Department of Aeronautics joined Pontiac in complaining that the plan under consideration does not provide enough north-south links with points in Indiana and Ohio.

The Pontiac objection says the city needs air links with industrial centers in Ohio and Pennsylvania. The objection was filed with the CAB last week by Homer Hoskins, manager of the Pontiac Municipal Airport, and John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The objections are to a plan recommended by CAB examiner Barren Fredericks. The deadline for filing exceptions to the plan was Friday.

Objectors, including Pontiac, have a month to file supporting arguments before the CAB hears oral testimony in preparation for handing down its decision.

One of Fredericks' recommendations is that Pontiac be linked in a north-south route between Detroit and Cheboygan. No objections were filed against this part of the plan.

The main objection of the cities is that Fredericks' proposal did not go far enough. Small airlines complained that their proposals were not given adequate consideration while a half dozen big airlines contend they suffered discrimination in favor of the smaller lines.

Objections came from interested communities as far as Baltimore and Chicago.

Most Ford Assembly to Shut Down 2 Days

DETROIT (UP)—Ford Motor Co., which has announced plans to curtail production in order to conserve steel, worked all of its assembly plants full time today but will close most Ford division assembly plants Thursday for two days.

Only Falcon assembly lines at Lorain, Ohio, and Kansas City will work a full five-day week.

The Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln division reported all plants operating today but said three-day or four-day weeks will go into effect shortly for Mercury and probably even more severe cutbacks for Edsel. Lincoln assembly may continue on a five-day basis.

General Motors auto production was limited to the home Buick plant at Flint, which expects to run through this week; plus Corvair assembly lines at Kansas City and Oakland, Calif., and Willow Run.

Chrysler said its auto assembly lines generally will run four days this week except for a full week schedule at Los Angeles.

Badges Awarded Cubs of Pack 25 at Longfellow

Blood Donors Save Waterford Youngster

Waterford Township residents who took the time to volunteer their blood to the blood bank last year were given credit for helping to save a youngster's life this week, according to doctors at St. Joseph's Hospital.

A few weeks ago two-year-old Robbie Hieatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hieatt, 463 Granada Dr., slipped from the arm of the living room sofa and accidently cut the inside of his upper lip.

For any other active youngster, this would have been a minor incident, but for Robbie it was a case of life and death. He is a hemophiliac, a person whose blood does not readily clot.

When the lip bleeding could not be stopped, the little boy was rushed to the hospital and for many days thereafter, remained on the critical list.

Blood transfusions had to be given in large quantities and when the whole blood injections failed to bring the flow under control, units of plasma were administered at 2-hour intervals.

In the 16 days that Robbie remained in the hospital, 204 pints of blood were donated in an effort to save the boy. Some 52 pints were released from the Waterford Township Blood Bank.

Robbie came home last week, a fairly healthy little boy. Although he is slightly pale from his ordeal, and becomes tired easily, the child has a full, but cautious life ahead of him.

Next Monday blood bank operations will be set up at the Community Activities Center on Williams Lake Road from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m., providing at least 125 people register to donate blood.

The drive is being sponsored by the Waterford-Clarkston Business & Professional Women's Club for the third consecutive year. The present supply in the local blood bank is low, according to general chairman Mrs. Homer Tinney. She pointed out that no matter where a donor gives blood, he may specify his local blood bank as the beneficiary.

Young Robbie's mother is apprehensive about her son's future, especially when he starts kindergarten. The least little cut may send the boy back to the hospital to receive huge quantities of the life-saving fluid that first must be given by generous individuals.

Registrations may be made by calling Mrs. H. G. Fuller, ORlando 3-1973.

Reds to Send Men 'Up'

ROME (UPI) — The Soviet Union will attempt to send two men to the moon aboard a space station on the Nov. 7 anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, the Italian agency Continentale said yesterday.

Area Man Showered With Burning Fuel

A Pontiac Township man was rushed to Pontiac General Hospital this morning when a gasoline can exploded, showering burning fuel over his body in an Orion Township field.

Harold D. Risinger, 24, of 2274 Allerton Rd., told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Robert W. LaLonde that he was "cutting up an old car with an acetylene torch" when the fire started.

He was described by hospital officials as in satisfactory condition with third degree burns of the arms, hands and legs.

LaLonde said Risinger apparently set fire to a can of gas setting near him. The accdient occurred in a field at Jamm and Brown roads, where the junked auto was parked. Pontiac Township Firemen extinguished the flames.

Woman's suffrage was adopted in Montana in 1914 and the state was first to send a woman to Congress, Miss Jeanette Rankin, in 1917.

Texan to Tackle Runaway Well

Oil Geyser Has Been Spouting Since Friday at Tremendous Loss

JONESVILLE (UP) — A trouble-shooting Texan today tackles the risky job of trying to cap a wild oil well that has been spewing a geyser of oil and gas since Friday night.

Boots Henderson from Red Adair Co., Houstop, which specializes in such work, spent yesterday in studying the runaway well. He decided to wait until daylight before attempting the touchy job.

Ever present is the fear that an unlooked-for spark might touch off an explosion. While there are no homes within a half mile of the well, trees and shrubs are drenched with oil.

More than 50,000 barrels of oil soaking into the ground seeped through a makeshift earth dam thrown up to keep the oozy liquid from polluting Hasings Lake.

About 3,000 barrels of oil and water are shooting 200 feet high from the well each hour and its owner, Perry Faulk of Albion, estimated the waste is costing $150,000 a day.

Clad in oil-resistant slickers and boots, Hendersen and a six-man team of local experts, made a hasty exit from under the rig where they were working yesterday when two sight-seeing planes swooped low over the area.

A spark from the planes could have touched off an explosion trapping the men at the well mouth. State police are investigating the incident.

Airliner Leaps Truck Parked Out on Runway

JACKSON (UP) — A North Central Airlines plane with 14 persons aboard landed safely here last night after the pilot hopscotched over a truck parked on the runway.

The pilot, Capt. Charles Jack of Madison, Wis., said he did not see the truck until he touched down for a landing. He lifted the plane into the air, zoomed over the truck, and came down again. No one was hurt.

Police said a man who identified himself as Ralph Campbell, 41, was in the truck. He told police he couldn't recall driving onto the runway. He also said he did not hear the approaching plane.

The plane was bound from Chicago to Detroit.

Nation Expecting Huge Vote Tuesday

Israel to Decide Ben-Gurion's Fate

By ELIAV SIMON

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—The biggest turnout of voters in Israel's history will go to the polls tomorrow in a general parliamentary election expected to return David Ben-Gurion as the head of government.

About 1,200,000 persons are eligible to vote, more than double the number in the last election in 1955. They will choose the 120-seat knesset (parliament) from a record number of 24 parties ranging from extreme right-wing to Communist.

The tremendous growth of the electorate in the past few years and the increase in the number of parties—five new ones since 1955—were indications of the problems confronting this progressive young state in attempting to organize an effective government.

Since the achievement of independence in 1948, not one party has ever held more than 46 of the 125 knesset seats.

This has meant delicate coalition rule frequently bordering on collapse.

RESULT DOUBTFUL

The big question in this election was whether Ben-Gurion and his Mapai (labor) Party finally would get a victory edge decisive enough to put them in unchallengeable control of government, or would find themselves in an even weaker position than before.

On the debit side for Ben-Gurion was the fact that since the Mapai took power in 1949, it has slipped from 46 seats to 40. Among their assets, Mapai officials count Israel's growing economic prosperity and its improved security in connection with surrounding Arab states.

Another factor weighing in the Mapai favor was the emergence of the party's "Young Rebels," fresh new personalities on the Israeli political scene who have a great deal of popular support behind them.

Among these are former Israeli army chief of staff Moshe Dayan, 44, the dashing military hero with the black patch over one eye, and Abba Eban, also 44, former ambassador to the United States and Israeli delegate to the United Nations.

Both these men are running for knesset seats. Either could be considered a successor to the veteran Ben-Gurion.

This was an uneasy partnership at best. Both Ahdut Avoda and Mapam favor full socialism for Israel while Mapai, more on the order of Britain's labor party, is only mildly socialistic. Ben-Gurion this summer argued heatedly with both over their opposition to his arms deal with Germany.

SECOND IN POWER

After the Mapai, the most powerful parties, though not represented in the coalition, are the extreme right-wing Herut Party (15 seats), whose militant views toward the Arabs has made it almost intolerable to Ben-Gurion, and the conservative general Zionist Party (13 seats).

The Communist Party holds six seats, but was not expected to make any gains tomorrow. Except for it, all Israeli parties have pro-Western sympathies.

The large number of parties reflect the diverse cultural, educational, and geographical backgrounds of the people who make up the state of Israel.

All that is needed to transform one's personal views into a party platform is a petition with 750 names on it; a list of candidates, and a new political organization is born.

Not all parties, however, win representation.

The situation grows more complicated with successive waves of immigration from various parts of Eastern and Western Europe and the Middle East.

All persons over 18, including women, are eligible to vote. They cast their secret ballots for parties, rather than individual candidates, and knesset seats are then divided among the parties on the basis of their proportion of the total vote.

13 Negroes Compete in 11th District

DETROIT (UPI) — Thirteen Democrats, all of them Negroes, will compete Tuesday for nomintaion to the state House of Representatives in Detroit's 11th legislative district.

The winner will meet the lone Republican candidate, James P. Allen, also a Negro, in a general election Dec. 8 for the right to succeed the late Rep. Charline White, a Democrat.

Mrs. White also was a Negro. The distriet has a predominantly Negro population, and normally elects Democrats.

21,892 Arrests Made in Month by State Police

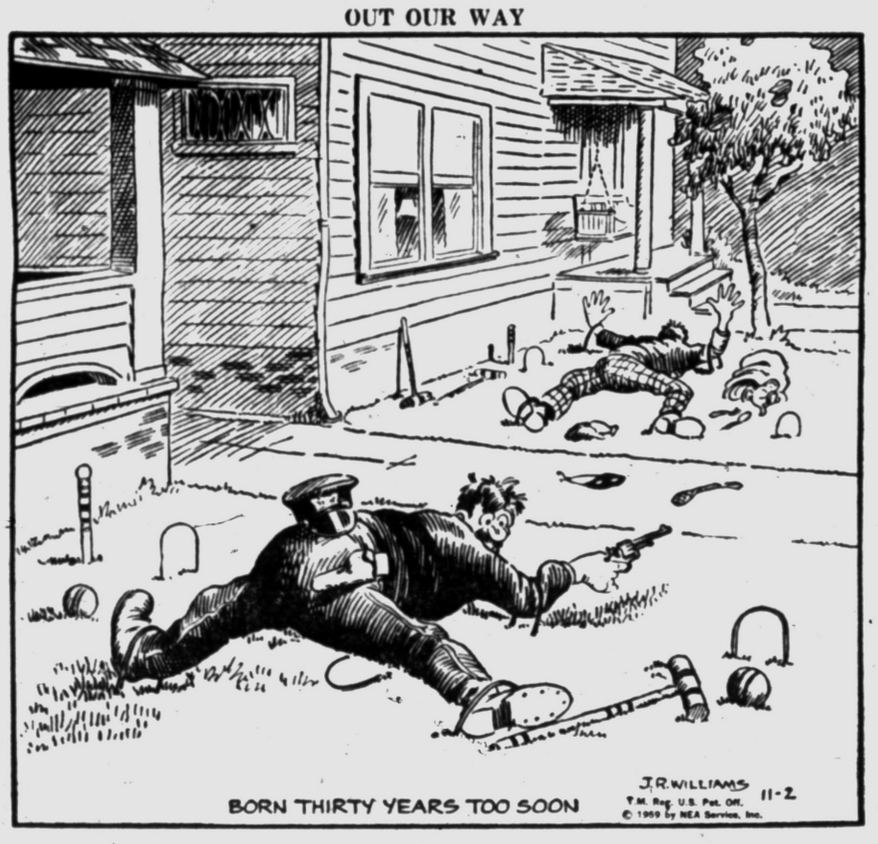

EAST LANSING (UPI) — State Police made 21,892 arrests last month, of which nearly 20,260 were for traffic violations.

Department vehicles traveled nearly 1,896,000 miles with about 701,000 miles investigating criminal and other complaints.

Grains Holding; Soybeans Sell

CHICAGO (UP) — Soybeans were under moderate selling pressure today in early transactions on the board of trade while grains held mostly about steady with some spots of both weakness and firmness.

Soybeans were down about a cent at the most during the first several minutes on increased cash receipts over the weekend and reports that weather for harvesting the remainder of the crop had improved generally over the Midwest.

Corn held surprisingly steady, though, despite weekend receipts of more than 500 cars and large truck and barge arrivals. The government reported it had accepted subsidy bids of one cent a bushel on more than seven billion bushels of corn for export. It was the first acceptance of bids in more than a week and the amount involved was the largest for a single day in several months.

Wheat was unchanged to ½ cent a bushel higher, near the end of the first hour, December $2.00½; corn ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December $1.09¾; oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, December 76; rye ⅛ to ¼ lower, December $1.35½; soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, November $2.16⅞.

Sylvan Lake Urged to Polls

'Get Out and Vote' Is Cry of City Manager to 1,144 Registered

Residents of Sylvan Lake will go to the polls tomorrow to elect two councilmen.

The total of 1,144 registered voters were urged today by City Manager David E. Firestone to "get out and vote."

"Let's show an interest in the affairs of our city government even though only two men are running for the vacant positions," he added.

William B. Taylor of 1935 Warwick St., now serving as mayor, and Joseph E. Gilson of 1915 Woodland St. are the candidates.

Taylor is running for re-election to his council position. Gilson, a former councilman, will fill the position left vacant by the resignation of councilman John N. Doherty.

Doherty announced two months ago that he would not be able to run for re-election due to increased outside business pressures.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the city hall, 1820 Inverness St.

Denny Quits CAB

WASHINGTON (UP)—Harmar D. Denny resigned today from the Civil Aeronautics Board, effective Nov. 15. President Eisenhower chose Whitney Gillilland, now chairman of the Foreign Claims Commission, to succeed Denny.

Heavy type hens 16-18; light type hens 9; caponettes under 5 lbs. 21; over 5 lbs. 25-26.

DETROIT EGGS

Whites—grade A jumbo 45-46; extra large 41-44; large 39-42; medium 26-27; small 19-22; grade B large 33-38; browns — grade A extra large 44; large 38-42; medium 27; small 21; checks 20.

Whites — grade A jumbo 42-43; extra large 40; large 38-39; medium 24-26; browns — grade A jumbo 43; extra large 38; large 35½-37½; medium 23½-24½; small 18½-19½; grade large 26-30.

Comment: Market steady to firm on mediums with demand good. Large are nervous and offerings fully ample to a moredate demand. Extra large and jumbo in light supplies and short of needs. Smalls ample although offering light.

The British admiralty as late as 1840 contended that oak was superior to iron and refused to accept the metal as a shipbuilding material.

Some Stocks Up; Steels Decline

NEW YORK (UP) — Electronics, rubbers and the independent automakers advanced in a mixed stock market early this afternoon.

Steels and rails declined.

A jump of half a dozen points by Goodyear on hopes of a stock split was an outstanding feature. The issue was up 11¾ last week, on the same expectation.

Steels were down fractionally for the most part as the question of a Taft-Hartley injunction in the 111-day steel strike awaited Supreme Court disposition.

After an active start trading tapered off. The New York Stock Exchange will close tomorrow because of election day. Preholiday trading is usually cautious.

Gainers among electronics included Motorola up 2, Radio Corp., up about a point, and Ampex and Varian Associates, both up fractions.

Lear, an active gainer last week, was down on a big block at the start and traded off about a point. Raytheon dipped more than a point.

A jump of about 5 in City Products was accompanied by talk of higher earnings.

Lockheed was up well over a point on a published report that the Navy has asked a tripled budget of $1,900,000,000 for the Polaris missile program.

Kennedy to Head Guard; MacDonald Retiring

LANSING (UPI) — Brig. Gen. Cecil J. Kennedy, 59, Flint, was appointed today by Gov. G. Mennen Williams as commander of the 46th division of the Michigan National Guard. He will be promoted to major general.

Steel Strike Mediator Shows No Optimism

WASHINGTON (UP) — Federal mediators met separately with both sides in the 111-day-old steel strike for 75 minutes today with no indication a settlement was near.

Federal conciliator Joseph F. Finnegan met at 1:30 p.m. (EST) with management negotiators, and 4 p.m. (EST) with negotiators for the striking United Steelworkers Union.

Asked why he was not scheduling joint bargaining sessions today, Finnegan said, "Because I think it's better to do it separately."

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, told newsmen "it is now apparent that the Union is determined to force a 'SKaiser-High' settlement on the steel industry and the nation."

"Clearly, they are interested only in perpetuating inflation in America and wasteful practices in the steel industry," Cooper stated.

NOTHING TO SAY

McDonald, asked whether he saw any reason for optimism, replied:

"What happened? We waited and we were dismissed. We will meet again at four. I have nothing further to add."

"I don't think a summit conference could be held if the presidents and premiers were not present. Nothing can happen if they sulk in their homes and their offices," he said.

R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. and leader of the management negotiating team, declined to comment or make any appraisal of prospects for an agreement. "We're here to find out," he said.

Rapist Given 20 to 40 Years

Pontiac Ex-Convict Is Convicted of Abducting 18-Year-Old Mother

Two prison terms of 20 to 40 years today were imposed upon Harold E. Martin, 20-year-old Pontiac ex-convict found guilty of kidnaping and raping an 18-year-old city mother.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty ordered that the terms be served concurrently in Jackson Prison.

Martin took the stand in his own defense — as the only defense witness — and denied he had forcibly dragged the girl from her car when hers and the stolen one he was driving collided.

He testified the girl went willingly with him, supposedly to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of a head wound inflicted in the early morning crash.

A sheriff's deputy discovered the couple parked in a wooded area of Bloomfield Township, ending a 10-hour search which began when police found her car and evidence of a struggle.

She said Martin refused to take her home and instead drove to the woods where he raped her.

Chest Cancer Authority to Talk to County Medics

Dr. Ochsner will speak at an evening banquet at Orchard Lake Country Club, at which 400 doctors and guests are expected.

Chairman of the surgical department at Tulane University School of Medicine, Dr. Ochsner was one of the first authorities to emphasize the possible connection between smoking and lung cancer.

Other clinic day events Wednesday will take place during the afternoon in the hospital's auditorium. There will be lectures on technical subjects by three physicians, Dr. Nicholson J. Eastman, Dr. George F. Burch and Dr. Thaddeus S. Danowski.

Dr. Eastman is professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Johns Hopkins Medical School; Dr. Burch is professor of medicine at Tulane; and Dr. Danowski is research professor of medicine at University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. Dr. Eastman and Dr. Burch are also department heads at their schools.

Dr. Clifford T. Ekelund, chairman of the clinic day program committee, said that the lectures were arranged as an educational experience for the 176-member medical staff.

All members of the Oakland County Medical Society have been invited to attend.

Other Mishaps Kill Two

Six Michigan Residents Die in Weekend Traffic

From Our News Wires

Six persons were killed in traffic accidents in Michigan this weekend and two men died in miscellaneous mishaps.

Four of the traffic victims were fatally injured in car-pedestrian accidents. The toll was three less than the number killed in the state last weekend.

L. V. Rayburn, 30, Hamilton, Ala., was fatally injured early yesterday when his truck, loaded with sweet potatoes, went out of control on U. S. 131 and struck a tree near Martin in Allegan County.

A car-pedestrian accident early yesterday resulted in the death of Bertha Hididd, 55, Detroit. She was struck while crossing a street near her home.

Albert E. Rally, 54, a woodcutter from rural Wolverine, was struck by a car on U. S. 27 near Wolverine Saturday night. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Mrs. Bernice Atfield, 51, Detroit, was killed when she was struck by a car early Saturday in Detroit.

A Menominee boy, Eugene Delfosse, 11, became an early Halloween victim Friday night when he was struck by a car. Police said the boy was trick-or-treating near his home when he walked into the path of a car.

William Meyer, 53, Lansing, died yesterday when a tractor overturned on a farm in Eaton County just west of Lansing. Police said Meyer was helping his son free a tractor which became stuck in mud while the two men were picking corn.

Meyer hitched a second tractor to the other vehicle. When he started the engine, a connecting chain snapped and his tractor flipped over, crushing him to death.

Three Detroit area men and a young Canadian boy were killed Saturday in a two-car accident on Highway 22 near Popular Hill, 17 miles west of London, Ont.

The victims were Ernest G. Clements, 67, of St. Clair Shores, Royal N. O'Dell, 65, and Walter R. Boulton, 63, both of Detroit, and Wayne D. Hunt, 15, of London.

Business Notes

Today, Robert E. Hunter, general sales manager, Detroit Diesel Engine Division, announced the appointments of Lauren H. Wells as the assistant general manager in charge of home office staff activities, and Raymond F. Prussing as assistant general sales manager in charge of field activities.

HUNTER

Wells formerly served as manager of sales engineering. Prussing was executive assistant to the managing director of Foreign Distributors Division, General Motors Overseas Operations in New York.

Wells who attended the University of Wisconsin and Wayne State University joined General Motors in 1937 in the Diesel engine design group of GM Research. Later with the newly formed Detroit Diesel Engine Division he served in various engineering department positions.

WELLS

Auto Crash Injuries Put Woman in Hospital

Three persons were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Saturday afternoon with injuries suffered in a two-car collision on U.S. 10 at White Lake road, Independence Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

One driver, Mrs. Maude McLachlin, 50, of 452 Granada St., is reported in fair condition with multiple abrasions of the head, hands and hips.

Her husband, Lachlin, 40, and another passenger, Lawrence Savage, 60, of the same address, were treated and released. The other driver, Roy R. Bunker, 38, of 6654 Pear St., Clarkston, was uninjured, said deputies.

Continue Search for Cuba Chief

Views Growing That Vanishing Was More Than Plane Crash

HAVANA Cuba (UPI)—The 100-plane search for Cuban Army Commander Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos continued today but speculation grew that he was involved in more than an ordinary plane crash.

Cienfuegos and two other men disappeared on a two-hour flight Wednesday night. There was no radio message after takeoff and no sign of wreckage has been found.

Premier Fidel Castro and members of his government are understood to be basing the search on the possibilities that Cienfuegos either crashed in a deserted area and was killed or that he and the other two men are so badly injured that they cannot signal for help.

It was on this basis that they ordered the mass air search and asked U.S. Navy authorities to help.

But two other possibilities are being talked about here: that Cienfuegos has been kidnaped by anti-Castro forces or that he has flown to another country to ask for political asylum.

This line of speculation points out that Castro delayed announcing that the plane was missing for 30 hours and that search announcements also appealed to the public to keep calm and ignore rumors.

Speculation that Cienfuegos, who fought next to Castro in the rebellion, might be seeking refuge in the United States was being brought forward only in the most guarded terms.

Such an action would be a major blow to Castro, whose Air Force Chief, Maj. Pedro Diaz Lanz, fled the country and now is heading the propaganda fight against him.

Printers to Move Headquarters to Colorado Springs

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Members of the International Typographical Union have voted to move the union's headquarters from Indianapolis to Colorado Springs, Colo., an ITU spokesman said today.

In two other referendums, the printers refused to levy a special assessment of $1 a week for 13 weeks to finance a union-operated newspaper in Westchester County, N.Y., and to transfer several million dollars from Unitypo Inc. to the ITU general fund.

The ITU has made its headquarters here since moving from San Francisco in 1889. A union printers' home is located in Colorado Springs.

Life insurance is voluntary in Russia, according to an official of the U.S. Social Security administration who recently returned from there. He said there are 10 million policyholders in the Soviet Union.

Test Well to Be Waterford Topic

Township Board Also Will Consider Fee for Oil Tanks Tonight

Several quotations for driving a test well in the Huron Gardens area will be considered at tonight's Waterford Township Board meeting.

The board, probably will take final action on a revised electrical ordinance for commercial buildings.

Action on an amendment to the heating code, to require a $5 fee for inspecting installations of oil tanks up to 275 gallons, also will be considered.

A request for the rezoning of four acres on Elizabeth Lake road near the Clinton River bridge will be discussed. The owner of several heavy earth moving machines has made the request so that he may park the equipment on the land.

The adequacy of insurance policies covering township-owned equipment and property will also be presented.

A request to purchase a $257 pipe locator, and one bid for a new township truck opened at last week's meeting, also have been slated for the township meeting.

Vote to Strike Chrysler Missile Is Overwhelming

DETROIT (UP)—A strike vote by United Auto Workers at the Chrysler Missile plant passed by an overwhelming margin yesterday, union officials said.

William Monroe, president of Local 1245, said the vote in favor of a strike at the suburban Sterling Township plant was nearly 1,200, more than 96 per cent of the local's membership.

Local officials did not specifically say what issue prompted the strike vote. There had been a wildcat strike at the plant last week, but strikers returned to their jobs last Monday when local officials said a vote would be taken.

Navy's Earth Moon Believed in Orbit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A science publication says American Navy jet fighters are now capable of launching earth satellites and may already have put one into orbit.

The weekly "Science Trends," published here, said yesterday a new launching attempt is slated within the next two months.

Some Navy experts believe that a satellite released from a Navy F4D Skyray fighter actually has been in orbit for more than a year, the magazine said, but "there has been no definite proof."

City Man Slightly Hurt in Intersection Crash

Joseph Liford, 22, of 209 Florence St., was taken to Pontiac General Hospital at 2:30 p.m. Saturday with injuries to his right knee, after he was involved in an accident at the intersection of Voorheis and Elizabeth Lake roads in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Russell Payne, 32, of 940 Scott Lake road, was the driver of the other car. Liford was treated and released.

Senators Cool to China Report

Private Research Firm Urges U. S. Recognize Communist Regime

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A proposal that the United States reshape its policy to give eventual recognition to Red China has received a cool reception from two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) and George D. Aiken (R-Vt) questioned the recommendation made in a report prepared for the committee by a private research firm.

But the two senators told newsmen yesterday that they agreed with the report's finding that Okinawa, under U.S. control since World War II, "Must at some point revert to Japan."

Mansfield said: "There is no sense in considering recognition of Communist China at present. He noted the long negotiations between the United States and Red China in Geneva, and said these talks have failed because of Peiping's "stubborn, aggressive attitude."

Aiken said Red China "must reform" before the Communist regime can be considered either for U.S. recognition or for admission to the United Nations.

The report, prepared by Conlon Associates, Ltd. of San Francisco, called for a step-by-step revision of U.S. policy leading to U. N. membership for China and recognition of Nationalist Formosa as a new republic.

The report also suggested it would be well for Nationalist Chinese military forces — and civilians willing to go — to withdraw from the China offshore islands sought by the Communists.

Unlike Mansfield and Aiken, Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) called the report "very provocative" — particularly as to China.

Billy Graham Ends Crusade at Indianapolis

He told a record crowd of more than 30,000 that union and management representatives in the steel industry should adopt the Golden Rule in bargaining and try to see the other's point of view.

As for the quiz show troubles, Graham said, "We should not try to throw stones at others when we do the same things. The only difference is that we didn't get caught."

4 Million Acres to Get Price Tag

Indians Seek Payment for Wisconsin Land Taken in 1831

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A hearing starts today before the Indian Claims Commission to put a price tag—as of 1831—on nearly four million acres of land in eastern Wisconsin that was taken from Indians in that year.

The commission last year ruled that the government had wrongfully taken the land and now is liable for the value of the land at that time. The hearing is to determnie the amount to be paid some 4,000 Indians of the Oneida, Stockbridge and Munsee tribes of Wisconsin.

Ely M. Aaron, attorney for the Indians, contends the value of the land should be placed at a minimum of $1.25 an acre and that some of it should be valued far higher.

James J. Manogue, Justice Department attorney representing the government, is expected to argue that such a valuation is too high and also question the amount of land involved.

★ ★ ★

The land in question, called the Green Bay tract, ranges from near Escanaba, Mich. in the north to what is now Milwaukee in the south and from Green Bay and Lake Michigan in the east to the west bordering such communities as Crivitz, Kaukauna and Plymouth.

Lists U. S. Economic Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Assn. of Manufacturers told the joint Congressional Economic Committee today that the nation faces three major problems in the 1960's.

They are rising labor costs, the shortage of venture capital and rapidly increasing competition from other countries for both foreign and domestic markets.

"The solution to these problems holds the economic destiny of the country," the NAM said in a statement filed with the committee.

It said steps should be taken to insure an adequate rate of growth in America's productive potential, full and continued use of it and reasonable stability of prices.

Also needed, NAM said, was "a determined vow by the American people to resist inflation."

Find 4 Dead Iowa Men in Long-Missing Plane

SANDSTONE, Minn. (UPI) — A ground party yesterday found a plane containing the bodies of four men missing since Aug. 21.

Egypt and Sudan Settle Nile Waters Argument

CARIO (UPI) — Egypt and Sudan have settled their dispute over Nile waters as a result of negotiations which began Oct. 10, it was announced yesterday.

Talaat Farid, Sundanese information officer, said a formal agreement would be signed "within two days."

17 Jehovah's Witnesses Sent to Warsaw Prison

WARSAW (UPI) — A Warsaw court yesterday sentenced 17 Jehovahs' Witnesses to prison terms ranging from one to five years for distributing pamphlets and periodicals that had not been approved by the government censor.

The sect was outlawed in Communist Poland during the Stalinist period, but the charges against the defendants were restricted to the censorship violation.

$30,000 Fire in Detroit

DETROIT (UP) — Flames raced through a Detroit variety store Saturday night, causing damage estimated at $30,000. Firemen said the fire was caused by a gas heater in the ceiling. No one was injured in the blaze that occurred about 10 minutes after the store had closed.

Power Commission OKs Canadian Gas for State

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Federal Power Commission has approved an application to pipe 204 million cubic feet of natural gas daily from Canada for use in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota.

The application, by Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. of Houston, to build a $52,277,000 pipeline system to bring in the gas, is subject to approval by Canadian authorities for exporting the gas.

The FPC also approved an application by Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. to build a $24,177,000 companion project to transport 158 million cubic feet a day of Canadian gas it will buy from Midwestern.

A Midwestern spokesman said the firm is hopeful that approval by Canada will be forthcoming.

Although Canadian authorities have not committed themselves as to how they will rule on the request for an export license, the FPC said in Saturday's order it had concluded that Midwestern's Canadian supply of gas was "reasonably adequate" to support this project.

Pipe line firms for years have sought to bring into the Midwest gas from the developing fields in the province of Alberta. Gas industry officials believe that if Canada agrees to export of the gas in the present case it will open the door to an ever widening market.

Only a year ago the FPC turned down applications by nine firms to supply North Central states with large amounts of gas. One of the applicants was Midwestern which tied its application to obtaining gas from Canada. The commission at that time said it had not been shown that the Canadian gas would be available.

Midwestern proposes to build its new pipeline from the U. S.-Canadian border near Emerson, Manitoba, to Marshfield, Wis., where it would hook up with the proposed line by Michigan Wisconsin.

Million-Dollar Fire Hits Blissfield Plant

Firemen from seven communities fought the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control.

Michigan Solon Extremely Popular

Griffin Takes Look at Senate Idea

LANSING (UPI) — A self-styled "country lawyer from up north" is making a hit with big city political bosses down south. They want him to run for U.S. Senator.

Rep. Robert A. Griffin (R-Mich), 35, co-author of the Landrum-Griffin Labor Reform Law, is riding a wave of popularity among Republicans.

He also is confident laboring men in his 9th Congressional District will react favorably to the law.

Griffin said "very, very few" constituents were openly critical of the bill when he made a tour of his West Michigan district, which includes industrialized Muskegon. In 1958, Griffin carried all but Muskegon County and won by more than 13,000 votes.

"I don't think it will be the issue in 1960 that many think," the youthful congressman said.

EYES THE SENATE

Griffin is less firm on the question of whether he will be a Senate contender in 1960.

"If it seemed to be the right thing, I might take a crack at it," Griffin said.

Griffin said "a lot of people" in his 11-county district, traditional Republican, have told him it would not be the right thing.

There is a hush-hush campaign by Traverse City and other Lake Michigan harbor communities in his district to get the Coast Guard to berth the Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw there.

But Griffin has adroitly stayed out of the middle of the intra-district dispute.

"Remember the jet base?" Griffin asked a reporter who wanted to know where he stood on the struggle for the cutter.

The jet dispute, which involved Traverse City, Manistee, Cadillac and Kalkaska, probably more than anything cost Rep. Ruth Thomson (R-Mich) her job in Washington. She took sides.

Griffin, an unknown outside of his district until the labor bill became an issue, has impressed party leaders with his political savv and speaking ability. He's one of the hottest items on the banquet circuit.

Griffin prefers to talk about other candidates the Republicans might run against Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich) a year from now.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Owosso) is among them. An announcement of intent by Bentley would help Griffin decide.

Oklahoma, Unlike Michigan, Lives Within Its State Income

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Eighteen years ago, Oklahoma began an unusual financial experiment of living within its income.

That was in 1941, when the public debt had grown to 40 million dollars because the legislature kept voting to pay out more money than Oklahoma was taking in.

Since then, all but $10,000 of the 1941 indebtedness has been paid off. (And that's only because the state can't find the bond holder.) Every budget has been balanced. Futhermore, taxes have not been increased since World War II, and, in fact, they were cut a third in 1947.

The "budget-balancing" amendment put up two bars against debt. First, the legislature is prohibited from appropriating more than estimated revenue. Second, if revenue falls short of the estimate, every government department will be cut on a pro rata basis.

This has never had to be done, though, thanks to inflation, an expanding economy and conservative estimating.

The estimate is made by a State Board of Equalization, which must base its figure on average revenue for the past three years although it can make allowance for changes in tax rates or in economic conditions.

The 1941 amendment made two exceptions to the rule against indebtedness. The state can borrow money in case of insurrection, invasion or war, or the people can approve a bond issue.

Since then, the citizens of Oklahoma have voted twice for college and mental health bond issues. These totaled $51 million.

What would happen if an emergency made an unusual expenditure necessary? The legislature maintains an emergency fund to be spent at the direction of the governor.

If there wasn't enough money in the fund, the governor could call a special session of the legislature to raise taxes. This has never happened.

Gov. Howard Edmondson said the effect of the 1941 amendment has been "very definitely good."

"I don't think there is any doubt but what it has held the line on tax increases. Proof of that is Oklahoma is one of the few states that hasn't increased taxes since World War II."

Oklahoma, like many other states, faced what seemed to be a budget crisis during the 1959 legislative session. Fund requests from various agencies topped revenue by almost $200 million.

Under the budget-balancing amendment, the lawmakers had only two choices: raise taxes or cut spending. They cut spending.

Taxes—30th nationally in rate per capita. The average Sooner pays $153.71 a year in state and local taxes. In the ratio of taxes to income, Oklahoma ranks 15th.

Education—Per capita expenditure of $48 per student annually, which is 11th nationally (27th in school teacher salaries with $4,525 a year. This does not reflect recent raises.

Highways—13th in nation at $50.82 per person a year. Congressional hearings last year showed Oklahoma ranked fourth in interstate mileage under construction, exceeded only by Texas, North Carolina and Iowa.

Oklahoma has a public debt of $35.3 million, resulting from the 1949 and 1955 college and mental health building bond issues, but the current interest is only $60,000 a year. This is because the state itself holds $32.3 million of the indebtedness, purchased with idle funds on deposit in the state treasury.

Treasurer Bill Burkhart says the other $3 million, which is held by private investors, will be paid off in 1961. It is drawing two per cent interest.

While public debt against the state is small, several millions in self-liquidating bonds have been issued to finance such projects as college dormitories, state park lodges and turnpikes. These are to be paid from the agencies' own revenues rather than from taxes. Opponents have charged that this practice is an evasion of the budget amendment, but the courts have upheld its constitutionality.

HOPING FOR DEATH STAY — Scheduled to be the fourth woman to die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair, Mrs. Edythe Klumpp, formerly a part-time sewing teacher, passes the time at Women's Reformatory at Marysville, Ohio, by making dinner napkins for other inmates. The 41-year-old divorced mother of four is scheduled to die Dec. 15 for the fatal shooting and body-burning of Mrs. Louise Bergan, her lover's estranged wife. But Mrs. Klumpp is hoping the courts will stay her execution.

Don't Become Russ Citizen, Brother Cables

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Robert L. Oswald of Forth Worth anxiously awaited word today from his younger brother, Lee Harvey Oswald, 20, who announced Saturday he intends to give up his American citizenship and become a Soviet citizen.

★ ★ ★

Robert Oswald said he intends to take "every reasonable step" to try to dissuade Lee Harvey from giving up his U. S. citizenship. He revealed that their mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, 53, has been under sedation since she learned of young Oswald's decision Saturday.

WE NEED A TOP NOTCH LOAN MAN

To take over the management of a fast growing small loan office located in a central Michigan industrial city. We prefer a man who is now managing a small loan office and has experience in this field. We will however, seriously consider an experienced loan man who is now an assistant manager. This opening is a once in a lifetime chance. This is a company operating over 60 branch offices who's managers have been trained and promoted from the ranks. Due to such a fast expansion it has become necessary for us to seek an additional experienced man for this office. If you are the man we are looking for you will receive good salary, paid vacation, hospital and health insurance and other employee benefits. Our employees know of this ad and we assure you that all replies are strictly confidential. If you are interested in this wonderful opportunity send a complete resume of your experience and background with your picture if possible to us and advise when it would be convenient for us to have a personal interview with you. Address all replies to Box 4, Pontiac Press.

'Want No Outsiders' —Kassem

By DAVID DUGAS

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Premier Abdel Karim Kassem says Iraq will tolerate no interference from any outside forces and that if any nation moves against the country "we will know how to deal effectively with them."

Kassem received this correspondent for an hour-long interview in the As-Salaam Hospital where he is recovering from an abortive attempt to kill him on Oct. 7. It was the first interview he has granted to an American since the assassination attempt.

"No other Arab country could attempt to fight our country," he said, "but if any of them are foolish enough to think they would send an aggressive army against us we can defend ourselves."

(Recent diplomatic reports in Beirut, Lebanon, said both Jordan and the United Arab Republic had massed troops along the Iraqi border and were planning to move into Iraq if there is a showdown between Kassem and the Communists who have infiltrated his government.)

Kassem, wearing blue and white striped pajamas and blue rubber sandals, joked and laughed about foreign reports he was dead or dying. In the room with us was his aide, Maj. Kassem Aljanabi, who was hit in 13 places by machine gun bullets. Both appeared in good health.

"From the start of the revolution I put in my plan that some people would attack me," Kassem said of the assassination attempt. "So I don't bother about that. Let there be another attempt or two or three. They can't stop me."

Turkey-Poland Chair Before U.N. Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —The U.N. General Assembly returns today to the thorny problem of choosing either Western-backed Turkey or Russia-backed Poland as a member of the Security Council. No solution was in sight.

The main political committee was meeting this morning to hear further debate on an East-West disarmament proposal, and a unanimous vote by the 82 U.N. members is expected sometime tomorrow.

The political committee recesses this afternoon for the Turkey-Poland squabble.

Book Les Brown's Son on Hit-Run Felony

Investigators said Lester Raymond Brown Jr. 19, apparently panicked and fled after his car knocked down a pedestrian Saturday night at a Hollywood intersection.

It's a good thing we aren't all in the same business. Otherwise, there wouldn't be anyone to tell us what we did wrong . . . No matter what else you may think, there are 176,000,000 Americans solidly behind each other—or so it seems on a Sunday afternoon on any highway. —Earl Wilson.

Flights to Cuba Now Regulated

Big Squad in Florida to Put Stop to Leaflet Bombing on Island

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials hoped today that stiff new flight regulations would stop Cuban exiles from using Florida as a base for operations against Premier Fidel Castro's regime.

The regulations were put into effect by the Justice Department at the request of President Eisenhower in a move to improve relations with the Cuban government.

Castro, in an angry attack on the United States, charged last week that American officials had countenanced the leaflet "bombing" of Havana by planes flying from airfields in Florida.

A squad of 100 immigration service officers has been sent to Florida to enforce the new regulations. Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing said they were equipped "with necessary planes, automobiles, communications and other equipment" to carry out the orders.

★ ★ ★

Swing said they were "being deployed throughout the almost 200 airports in Florida and are ready to institute continuous vigilant guard to prevent unauthorized flights from the United States to Cuba by persons whose departure would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States."

★ ★ ★

The arrangements were drawn up by representatives of the Justice Department, the State Department and the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA). Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, acting for the President, requested the new measures.

In a letter to acting Attorney General Lawrence E. Walsh, Herter said continued friendly relations between the United States and nations in the Caribbean area were important to U.S. national defense.

Rob Inn Near Jackson

JACKSON (AP) — Three masked bandits held up the Meadowlark Inn outside Jackson early today. Owner Peter Truskolalski said the trio locked him in a food locker and took an undetermined amount of cash shortly after closing time. The men wore stocking masks and carried sawed off shotguns.

Got Break From Eddie Cantor

Dinah Had Long Road to Top

(In the short but hectic history of television, five female stars have pulled off the neatest trick of them all — they've survived. The five are Dinah Shore, Loretta Young, Gale Storm, Ann Sothern and Lucille Ball — the queens of TV. This is the first of five articles in the press describing the road each of them took to the top of TV.)

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Every Sunday night, about 45 million people agree that nothing could be finer than to watch Dinah Shore on television.

There is no bigger female star on TV than this blonde performer, now in the ninth year of her NBC show.

How did she reach the top?

It began 42 years ago in the little Tennessee town of Winchester, where she was born to S. A. Shore, owner of a chain of small department stores, and the former Anna Stein.

When she was six, her family moved to Nashville, where she attended public school, high school and later Vanderbilt University.

It was in school that Dinah who was christened Frances Rose, decided to change her first name. There were two reasons:

First, she liked the way Ethel Waters sang "Dinah." Second, the children in school used to chant: "Fanny sat on a tack. Fanny rose. Did Fanny rose? Shore."

While in school, Dinah took singing lessons. She also was a cheerleader at football games, which led to a parting of the ways with her singing teacher after two months.

"That was the sum total of my formal voice instruction," she said.

Still majoring in sociology and minoring in economics, she went to New York on a two-week vacation in 1937 to try to get into show business.

SANG FOR CARFARE

"That first radio job was merely to be a time-marker until I could get a chance at the dramatic stage. Pop thought I was going to the dogs. If he'd only known—it wasn't dogs at all. It was wolves.

"The only way you can get a job in New York is to have a Southern accent. Then anybody will listen to you."

Soon there was a letter from home, and Dinah returned to finish college. But two years later, she was back at the New York station, still working without pay and auditioning in her spare time.

She also teamed with a young crooner named Frank Sinatra on a sponsored daytime program. Her break came in 1940 when she joined Eddie Cantor as singing star of his comedy show on radio.

The following years saw her wax such smash records as "Blues In the Night," "Yes, My Darling Daughter," "Buttons and Bows," "Baby, It's Cold Outside" and "Scarlet Ribbons."

MADE MOVIES

She made such movies as "Up In Arms," "Till the Clouds Roll By" and "Follow the Boys" — but her success on records outshone her movie career.

How does she hold her listeners? Here's her operating procedure when she cuts a record:

"I stand there at the microphone. I take off my shoes so I'll be comfortable. I cross my fingers on both hands. I shut my eyes. I imagine a handsome male, and I cuddle up to that microphone and I sing to him."

Between Cantor and TV, she had her own radio shows, where she built a considerable following. In 1943, while making an appearance at the Hollywood Canteen she met Army-bound George Montgomery. They were married Dec. 5, 1943, and have two children, Melissa, 10, and Jodi, 4.

"I've been lucky," said Dinah. "I sing about love, and in no land in the world is love so reverenced, for its own sake, as in this country."

DINAH SHORE

Douglas Looks at Possibilities

Sees Johnson Out Over Civil Rights as Party's 1960 Candidate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) has termed Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson "unacceptable" to the North as the party's 1960 presidential candidate.

★ ★ ★

Douglas, a leader of the Senate liberal Democratic bloc, said Johnson was "not illiberal at all" but was too closely identified with the gas and oil industry and with the Southern position on civil rights.

"I simply say that we Northern and Western Democrats cannot elect a man with those identifications," Douglas added.

Douglas, who expressed his views on a TV program and two radio interviews yesterday, emphasized that he spoke only for himself and not "the Northern Democratic Party."

His statement came as Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla) cautioned his "Southern brethren" against pulling out of the Democratic Party in advance of the 1960 elections as many did in 1948.

Smathers, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, urged his Southern colleagues to recognize "that the people in the North have problems that are entirely different from ours" and called on Northerners to recognize that "we have problems entirely different from theirs."

He said that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) is now the leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination but that Johnson also must be considered.

As for other possibilities, he called Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) "a very personable man from the Midwest and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) a "rather gregarious and ebullient speaker."

Perhaps a Zoo Would Solve Their Problem

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Eddie Fisher and Liz Taylor checked blissfully into the Drake, and Eddie told old Pudgy (that's me): "First thing we do is go house-hunting. We need four bedrooms; besides Elizabeth and me, we've got three kids, three dogs and a cat—and my own children'll be visiting me sometimes" . . . Duke Hazlitt, the Frank Sinatra sing-alike, claims the Sinatra resemblance is too much; he's even getting bald in the same spots (so he sings with his hat on a la Frankie).

WILSON

Forrest Tucker, the giant, is very serious about tiny Susan Lucky, the ingenue in "Take Me Along"—he introduced me to her and her parents. "Tuck," who met her in the Chicago company of "Music Man," takes every third Monday off from that show so he can zip in here to woo-woo her. "In this jet age," a friend was saying, "'Tuck' can even go to Europe now to see a gal on his days off—and undoubtedly will."

If you still care about the quiz show mess, listen to Charlton Heston, the "Ben Hur" star.

"The rigging didn't surprise me, inasmuch as Orson Welles told me about a quiz show guaranteeing him he'd win $25,000 if he'd go on. The bad thing is that people will say 'Oh, all the eggheads are liars and cheats.' Charlie Van Doren is a pretty smart guy—even if he was given some answers, he wasn't given all of them. If the producers, networks and sponsors get out smelling like a rose, when they're really responsible, and he loses prestige, it will be regrettable."

Beautiful Hedy Lamarr bared her feet—but that was all—to give me an interview about her career as an abstract painter. More later . . . Havana's fearing really big bloodshed if and when they knock off Castro . . .

Paulette Goddard bought an acre of beach property outside Rome and discovered invaluable Etruscan art in a burial ground. . . . When Yvonne Constant, doubling from "La Plume" into the Versailles, was saying her measurments were 39-20-39, an eavesdropper yelled "Hike!"

YVONNE

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Parties Choose Political Plums

Kentucky Governorship, New Jersey Legislature Tomorrow's Prizes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kentucky governorship and control of the New Jersey Legislature were viewed by party spokesmen today as the major prizes to be won or lost in tomorrow's 1959 election contests.

Virginia, Mississippi and Kentucky also will elect members of Legislatures and hundreds of cities and counties will choose local officials in off-year voting which will be watched for clues to what may happen in the 1960 national election.

Among the big city elections is one in Philadelphia, where Democratic Mayor Richardson Dilworth is favored to win re-election in that former Republican stronghold. His opponent is Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, who sought the presidential nomination in 1948 and 1952, and ran for governor of Pennsylvania last year.

Kentucky has been engaged in an old-fashioned political brawl involving retiring Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler, a familiar figure in factional scraps in that normally Democratic state.

After his own choice for the governorship was beaten in the Democratic primary, Chandler showed no enthusiasm for Bert Combs, who won the nomination with the backing of Chandler's rival, former Sen. Earle C. Clements.

Democrats still are blaming Chandler, or at least the factional strife in Kentucky, for the loss of two U.S. Senate seats in 1956.

Sec. Benson Leaves Walter Red Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson was discharged from Walter Reed Army Hospital where he had been under treatment for acute inflammation of the gall bladder.

An aide said Benson expected to return to work the latter part of the week on a limited basis.

He said Benson had responded to treatment, but had been advised by doctors to restrict his activities until fully recovered.

Shows Go a la Darwin; Monkeys Being Starred

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—This month marks the 100th anniversary of Darwin's "Origin of the Species," which tossed the monkey on mankind's back.

Maybe it is in honor of this occasion that TV is making more use of our primate friends. Or perhaps it's simply a touch of the late Lew Lehr's show-business savvy. ("Monkeys iss der craziest people".)

Anyhow, conquest on CBS-TV came up with a fascinating film report last night showing experiments with monkeys that seem to prove that soft "contact comfort" is the key to infantile mother love. Next, NBC-TV's Riverboat had Vincent Price using a trained ape to do his pocket-picking. Dennis the Menace on CBS-TV dealt with a TV space show and "Lt. Peep," a fully-outfitted space monkey.

Tuesday, Art Linkletter's Special featured some monkey shines and next Saturday, Jack Benney's Special again will feature the clever Marquis family of trained chimps. The Garry More show is using the chimps a little later in the month. Even J. Fred Muggs keeps busy on TV these days, as host of a kiddie show on a New York station.

I'm all for this trend. In fact, the thought occurs that if quiz show producers had used monkeys instead of people as contestants, there probably wouldn't have been so much monkey business in those dear dead days.

"The Milton Berle show," NBC-TV's Sunday Showcase special, was a filmed situation comedy with an attempted jewel robbery in Las Vegas. The jewelry was attached to guest star Lucille Ball, who, unfortunately, wasn't given much of a chance to do slapstick. Berle, relatively quiet, handled many of his lines in the George Burns manner this time out. But the final minutes of the show, involving a wild wedding scene, were good for real laughs. Except for this bit and Berle's scene with an old-maid at a wishing well, thinsgs were unusually quiet.

Dialing and Filing: Dinah Shore's NBC-TV hour, a nosegay to Paris, offered some superb scenes in color, especailly the can-can number. Pantomimist Marcel Marceau, despite some insensitive camera work, performed magnificently. Eddie Constantine, an American performer who found success in France, made his TV debut here and displayed a pleasant voice along with an ersatz Chevalier charm . . . Jack Benny's Charlie Chan-Chinese laundry-restaurant spoof with guest star Jack Webb was successful all the way. Skilled writing and acting gave this much-used premise new sparkle, many laughs.

The Channel Swim: Alan Neuman, whose TV credits include such shows as Wide, Wide World, the NBC-TV opera series, Wisdom and Producers' Showcase, succeeds John Aaron and Jesse Zousmer as producer of CBS-TV's Friday night show, Person to Person. Neuman intends to tape shows in England and France before the year ends. Also on his agenda: taped celebrity home visits to Italy and Spain.

Viveca Lindfors, who quit the cast of "I, Don Quixote," the DuPont show of the month on CBS-TV for Monday, Nov. 9, has been replaced by Colleen Dewhurst . . . Claude Rains, Charles Ruggles and Kate Smith head the cast in NBC-TV's hour production of Paul Gallico's Christmas fable, "One Upon a Christmas Time" (originally called "The 13th Orphan") set for Wednesday, Dec. 9 . . . The Bing Crosby golf tournament, at Pebble Beach, Calif. goes to ABC-TV as a 90-minute show Sunday, Jan. 24 . . . Soviet composer Dimitri Shostakovich will be interviewed on CBS-TV's Face the Nation next Sunday.

Sec. Benson Leaves Walter Red Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson was discharged from Walter Reed Army Hospital where he had been under treatment for acute inflammation of the gall bladder.

An aide said Benson expected to return to work the latter part of the week on a limited basis.

He said Benson had responded to treatment, but had been advised by doctors to restrict his activities until fully recovered.

Farmers Cry for Help

Rabbits Do Well on Island

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been drawn into the problem of rabbit multiplication tables.

It's sent an expert to San Jaun Island in Washington State's puget Sound—an 18-mile island where rabbits apparenly have found their Shangri-La.

"That island is a habitat the rabbits think is just fine," said Noble E. Buell, chief of the the predator and rodent control branch of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

People live on the island, too. Friday Harbor, the ferry terminal, had a population of 783 in the 1950 census.

ASK FOR HELP

The federal government got in the picture when a group of land owners and farmers on the southern end of the island formed a pest control district and asked for help with their rabbit problem.

It all began years and years ago when somebody liberated some domestic rabbits on the island. Multiplication began. There were black rabbits, cream rabbits, gray rabbits. "They did awfully well there," Buell said.

For a while people hunted the rabbits and sold them for their skin and meat, and there was a processing plant on the island. But that went out of business. Sportsmen began going to the island to hunt, but still the rabbits multiplied.

The farmers wrote their senator, Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash), who contacted the fish and wildlife service.

There are some on the island, however, who like the business the rabbit hunting sport brings.

LOTS OF PROBLEMS

For instance, some rabbits burrow, some don't; the island's in a rainy section that would effect poisoned bait; there are about 5,000 sheep on the island that might catch bait; even in the farming areas there are timbered hills and hedgerows between fields where rabbits could live. And there are the hunters who like their sport.

Gets 3rd Spot in State Department

Names 'Livvy' Merchant

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Over the years, Livingston T. Merchant has acquired the reputation of a hard working civil servant on whom you can rely to get a job done.

Now it's paying off with his elevation to the No. 3 job in the State Department. President Eisenhower picked Merchant Saturday to become undersecretary for political affairs when Robert D. Murphy retires next month. He has been Murphy's deputy.

Merchant has been a top staff man at several recent international conferences. He stood out during the 1955 summit conference at Geneva, where he generally was considered the man on whom Eisenhower and the late John Foster Dulles relied most for counsel.

Merchant started late in State Department service, but has few peers in all-around experience. A financier before entering government service during World War II, Merchant has had assignments covering Europe, the Far East and Canada.

He is a tall and slender man with brown hair and brown eyes. Not considered a colorful personality, he is hard-working and dependable. For years, State Department conferences have ended with the decision: "Let's leave it to Livvy."

A descendant of America's second secretary of the Treasury, Oliver Wolcott, and of General William Floyd, signer of the Declaration of Independence, Merchant was born in New York City on Nov. 23, 1903.

Cast Pickets Closing of Smash Off-Broadway Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — The star and cast of "Once Upon a Mattress," a smash hit off-Broadway musical comedy, made an extra public appearance Sunday—in a picket line outside their theater.

Comedienne Carol Burnett lined up with 26 other players outside the Phoenix Theater after the matinee performance. They carried placards that read: "Evicted! Why close a hit?"

The Phoenix has announced it is closing the show Nov. 15 so the theater can be used for another play.

Ship Firm Calls Officers Back 'for 'Winterizing'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pittsburgh Steamship division of U.S. Steel Corp., operator of the largest ore carrier fleet on the Great Lakes, has called officers back to work on its 47 vessels.

A company spokesman said that by the end of this week all its ships would have a full complement of eight officers.

About 285 licensed officers are affected. Each of the vessels had a captian, chief engineer and cook aboard during the layup period which began with the start of the steel strike in Mid-July. The licensed personnel are not members of the striking United Steelworkers Union as are the unlicensed crewmen.

★ ★ ★

The company spokesman said the recall order was "only for the boats' protection and to get them winterized." He emphasized the move was not in anticipation of an ending of the steel strike.

Won't Tangle With Brown

Kennedy Tours California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy is drawing big crowds in Governor Edmund Brown's backyard. But he doesn't think other Democrats should tangle with Brown in a California primary election.

"He is a favorite son of a large state," the Massachusetts Democrat told a TV audience of the California governor Sunday.

"Most leaders are reluctant to see a primary divided. He has done an excellent job as governor. He is entitled as a potentially serious candidate to have his state uncontested."

Kennedy arrived in Los Angeles Sunday for a two-day stay.

On the local TV program he emphasized that he wouldn't say until next January if he'll run for the presidential nomination himself. Said Kennedy: "Ecclesiastes tells us there is a time for everything."

U.S. Population (at 8 o'Clock): 178,804,190

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated the nation's population at 178,804,190 as of 8 a.m. today.

This was the calculation made for the bureau's "census clock," a counting device installed in the Department lobby. The clock's figures change minute by minute to reflect the steady population growth.

On Jan. 1, the estimated population was 175,602,000. Part of the increase since then represents statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, which have combined populations of about 750,000.

Awards $30,000 in Couple's Death

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A judgment of $30,000 has been awarded in U.S. District Court here to the estate of a Michigan couple who died in a Blountsville, Ala., motel room last year.

Federal judge Seybourn H. Lynne made the ruling.

Two $200,000-damage suits were filed against Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hull, operators of a motel in Blountsville, and the Majure Gas and Appliance Co. in each case. $15,000 was awarded.

The suits charged negligence in the death of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Munger of Jackson last Dec. 15. The action said the Mungers died in a motel in which a gas heater was vented improperly.
