Probe Gangster Penetration in Detroit Unions

Our First President . . . in 1793

Washington Inaugurates Air Age

On Jan. 9, 1793, the nearly 50,000 citizens of Philadelphia, then the capital of the young United States, turned out to witness a much-heralded balloon ascension by one of the most famous aeronauts of the day, the Frenchman, Jean Pierre Blanchard.

It was man's first venture into the sky in the United States.

The scene was the yard of the old Walnut Street Prison, facing what is now known as Independence Square. The place was chosen in order to protect Blanchard from excited onlookers and also to serve as an "arena for his paying guests."

It was a mild day, in the forties, as Blanchard recorded in his Journal describing the occasion.

Most notable of those in the courtyard was George Washington, then completing his first term as president. It is possible that four men who were later to head the nation in their turn were also among the throng—John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe.

★ ★ ★

Blanchard's fame had preceded him to this country.

Less than 10 years before, the Montgolfier brothers had built the first balloon in France, a paper affair lifted by heated air.

A ballooning craze soon swept over Europe.

Blanchard's most famous feat was the first crossing of the English Channel, which for that day, could be likened to Lindberg's flight over the Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

While a brass band played and a 15-cannon salute was fired in honor of the president, Blanchard tested his instruments and went about filling the highly varnished silk gas bag. The gas he used was hydrogen, generated from zinc, iron or magnesium and a dilute acid.

When all was ready he attached his "car."

Washington then stepped forward and handed Blanchard, who could speak little English, a "safe conduct pass" which read:

"George Washington, President of the United States of America, to all whom these presents come. The bearer hereof, Mr. Blanchard, a citizen of France, proposing to ascend in a balloon from the city of Philadelphia, at 10 o'clock, a.m. this day, to pass in such direction and to descend in such place as circumstances may render most convenient — These are therefore to recommend to all citizens of the United States, and others, that in his passage, descent, return or journeying elsewhere, they oppose no hindrance or molestation to the said Mr. Blanchard; And that on the contrary, they receive and aid him with that humanity and good will, which may render honor to their country, and justice to an individual so distinguished by his efforts to establish and advance an art, in order to make it useful to mankind in general. Given under my hand and seal at the city of Philadelphia, this ninth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety three, and of the independence of America the seventeenth.

(Signed) George Washington."

The aeronaut then signalled to the men holding the basket to release. And he and his passenger, a little black dog, slowly began to

Murder Jurors Hear Testimony of Victim's Kin

Stepdad, Ex-Mate Say Goff Was Asked Not to Pursue Slain Woman

The stepfather and former husband of Rita M. Cummings told a jury Friday how they had pleaded with the man accused of the woman's murder "to leave her alone."

"I asked him, why don't you leave her alone?" said the husky stepfather, Andrew J. Maturen, 45, of Davisburg. "Goff said he couldn't because he loved her."

Goff, 35, a former Flint factory worker, is charged with first-degree murder in the August 1955 slaying of Mrs. Cummings, 27, two months after she received a divorce from her husband.

The ex-husband, Lloyd B., 33, of Flint, told the jury of six women and six men how Goff, a motorcycle racer, "started running around with my wife" in 1954.

"I asked him to leave her alone because he was breaking up the family," Cummings, who operates a motorcycle sales and repair shop in Flint, testified.

"That's the way it goes," Cummings quoted Goff as replying to his plea.

FREED FROM IONIA

Goff went to trial yesterday before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty two months following his release from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

★ ★ ★

He was committed there in December of 1955 after four psychiatrists ruled him insane and unable to stand trial then for the murder of the woman who reportedly spurned his love.

He was released last December from the hospital after being pronounced sane.

Defense counsels L. Rex Bebout and Edward A. Potere, both of Rochester, indicated they will produce statements of the psychiatrists showing their client was insane when he allegedly pumped four bullets from a .22-caliber target pistol into the head of Mrs. Cummings.

The shooting took place Aug. 21 after Goff pursued the woman and her date, Dean G. Worges, 28, also of Flint, as they returned from a wedding reception in Lapeer.

SHOT HIMSELF

According to Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor, Goff forced Worges from his car outside a farm off

Senate Rackets Unit, FBI Start Investigations

Partisan Dispute Delays UAW-Kohler Hearing Temporarily

WASHINGTON (INS)— Senate and FBI investigators sighted in on Detroit-area gangster penetration of unions today and launched a renewed probe.

Senate Labor Rackets Committee Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy revealed that Detroit is the main target in a new and expanded campaign to flush out underworld characters in labor organizations.

★ ★ ★

Although Kennedy refused to elaborate, it is known that the FBI, city police and a committee staff of investigators and accountants have been concentrating on criminal connections of some Detroit labor unions

Following the Kohler, Wis, strike investigation, Kennedy said the committee's Detroit staff will be brought to full strength. The staff has numbered from three to 24 persons since last August.

Jack Aporta, assistant to Carmine Bellino, chief investigator for the Senate committee, is handling current investigations in the Motor City. Bellino is expected to return soon.

POSTPONE HEARING

In Washington, the rackets committee has temporarily postponed a hearing on th UAW Kohler Co. strike dispute because of a Republican-Democratic feud.

The hearing was scheduled for Monday but a series of party-line votes showed that the committee was deadlocked on when to summon UAW Chief Walter Reuther and Kohler President Herbert Kohler to testify.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) said committee members differed on whether the principals should appear at the beginning of the hearing

Lenten Meditations

By DR. EDWIN T. DAHLBERG
President, National Council of Churches

Ephesians 4:26, "Be angry but do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your anger."

Many years ago I heard a sermon by Dr. Bernard C. Clausen which I have never forgotten. He said that if there were to be one honorary degree that he would rather have conferred upon him than any other it would be the degree of "M.A., Master of Anger."

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that there was a place for righteous anger. But it must be controlled anger. The person who can be righteously angry, and still be the master of his anger rather than letting his anger master him has indeed won a distinguished degree.

Most of the men in the Bible were strong tempered men. Moses, Elijah, the Apostle Peter, and even our Lord Jesus himself, all had tremendous capacities for anger and indignation.

But it was a controlled anger—directed toward good ends. They were Masters of Anger.

In one of my pastorates we had an old pastor emeritus of the church, Dr. Charles Fulton, who used to give some very common sense testimonies in prayer meetings. One night he was speaking about these words of Paul to the Ephesians, "Be angry but do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your anger." He said, "I always tell young married people that when Paul said this he meant in plain English, 'Don't stay mad after sundown.'"

How right he was. If there has been a display of temper in the home or in the office, get it settled before the end of the day.

Let one say to the other, "I'm sorry, and I may be wrong."

★ ★ ★

In the early days of the Christian church there was a bishop of Constantinople whose name was John. He felt that a nobleman by the name of Nicetas had mistreated him. The more he thought about it the angrier he got. But then there came to his remembrance these words of the Apostle Paul, "Do not let the sun go down on your anger." So he sent a message of one sentence to Nicetas, who was likewise a Christian.

The sentence was simply this: "My Lord, the sun goeth down." Nicetas and the bishop were immediately reconciled.

If you have wronged anyone, or feel that you have been wronged—especially by someone you love—would it not be the will of God that before this day is done you bring the misunderstanding to an end? Be worthy of the degree, "M.A., Master of Anger."

★ ★ ★

Remember, "the sun goeth down." Life is soon at an end.

Warns Against People Fudging on Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) Don't think you can fudge on your income tax return and get away with it because Uncle Sam's tax agents crosscheck only a fraction of all returns.

★ ★ ★

Harrington was quizzed by a House Appropriations subcommittee about a published account that the Revenue Service audited only 1,951,000 of 58,640,000 individual 1956 tax returns.

While the figures are correct, Harrington said in his Feb. 3 closed-door testimony made public today, 80 per cent of the 58 million returns are from people who just take a straight 10 per cent standard deduction. It's the other 20 per cent that are subject to checking on itemized deductions.

In framing a policy statement for 1958 expense reporting, Harrington said, the aim will be to spread a net so "the little fish can get out and the big fish stay in."

Egypt and Syria Vote to Merge

Nasser Approved as President of the New United Arab Republic

CAIRO (AP)— Some 7½ million voters in Egypt and Syria have almost unanimously approved merging their countries into the United Arab Republic under Gamal Abdel Nasser.

★ ★ ★

More than half a million wildly cheering students jamming Cairo's Republic Square heard this result of yesterday's plebiscite announced today.

The Syrian government of President Shukri Kuwatly quit in Damascus earlier today as Syria became a province in the union.

Syrian Premier Sabri Assali offered to stay on with his caretaker government until Nasser appoints an executive council for the province.

Nasser—the former president of Egypt—assumed virtually absolute powers in the new republic.

Pontiac General Gains First Use of New Wing

The initial physical evidence of moving into the new wing of Pontiac General Hospital took place today as the first partition separating the old and new buildings was torn down.

The partition separated the main corridors of each building on the mai.. floor.

With its removal, the corridors became one and opened for immediate use six offices and a conference room, according to Warren Simons, assistant director of the hospital.

"Of most interest to the public will be the admitting office, which is now housed in the new building," said Simons

Other new offices on the main floor corridor are the Controller's Office, the switchboard, and Simons' new office.

During the coming week the hospital plans to move its emergency and X-ray departments to the new building.

LANSING (AP) — More than half of Michigan's motorists are still without their 1958 car plates one week before the Feb. 28 deadline, the Secretary of State's office reported today.

The office estimated that about 1,720,185 drivers must buy plates today or next week if they expect to run their cars after the Feb. 28 deadline.

To Speak, or Not to Speak?

Royal Oak Women Tear Hair Over Mrs. Roosevelt

A political teapot was set aboiling at the Royal Oak Women's Club—all because of an invitation to have Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt open the club's 1958-59 lecture series.

When the announcement was made the roof almost fell in—on the Republican members. They felt that Mrs. Roosevelt's talk, scheduled for Oct. 29, was too near the state and congressional election, two weeks away.

"If that woman is allowed to speak here, I shall resign," said Mrs. George A. Dondero, wife of the former congressman from Royal Oak.

The cry was taken up by other members and the pot began to whistle.

Said club president Mrs. Frank B. Williams: "If one 74-year-old woman can change the state election by speaking before 740 women, then the election ought to be changed. But I have an idea things will simmer down."

★ ★ ★

The club voted 155-37 to have Mrs. Roosevelt open the series. She is scheduled to talk on the United Nations.

Long Vigil Pays Off

Pontiac Press Photo

DETERMINED SHOPPER — You have to get up mighty early to beat Mrs. G. C. Cook, of 453 Lakeside Dr., to a bargain. In fact, you can't go to bed. Mrs. Cook got in line in front of the Lion Store, in Miracle Mile Shopping Center, at 8:40 p.m. yesterday. At 10 a.m. today, joined by her daughter, Gail, 11, she was the first customer into the store and got what she was after—a full-length O'llegro coat (former price $80) with white mink trim for just $3.50. The coat was one of many items at exceptionally low prices being sold today by Miracle Mile merchants during Washington's Birthday.

City Burglars Resume Action

Lootings Are Reported in Homes, Businesses and Church

After a comparative lull, perhaps due to the cold weather, burglars went back to work in Pontiac Thursday and Friday nights, looting homes, businesses and a church.

One thief was nabbed by an alert citizen as he emerged from a restaurant at 490 S. Sanford St.

L. D. Whale of 310 Prospect St. heard the sound of breaking glass. He called police, but saw a 15-year-old boy come out before the officers arrived. The boy confessed to the police.

Thieves entered the First Methodist Church, 14 Judson St., and stole a radio and three coin banks, the custodian reported to Pontiac Police yesterday.

Barbara Lape of 525 Harper St. reported to police that someone entered her home through an unlocked side door and stole seven silver dollars from an upstairs bedroom.

Mariess Cleaners, 250 Montcalm St., was entered through a window last night but nothing was reported missing. An early customer found the front door ajar and called the police.

A thief stole an auto radio from the car of Barnard Finley, 169 Whittemore St., while it was parked in his garage.

Carl Ganje, of Ganje's Variety Store, 952 Baldwin Ave., told police he found two of three locks on the rear door pried off, but entry was not gained by the burglars.

Driver Hurt in Pontiac Ramming Stopped Car

A driver who ran into a standing car was hospitalized yesterday with possible internal injuries and a fractured leg.

Austin Stewart, 52, of 16½ Maple St., is in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

He has not made a statement to police on how the accident occurred.

The other driver, Ignazia M. Calabro, 20, of Detroit, said he was waiting for a red light on Saginaw street at Franklin road, when Stewart smashed into the rear of her car. She was not hurt.

Does a stationary front usually bring with it precipitation?

Yes, as a general rule, a stationary front means prolonged precipitation. It may well produce more precipitation, and over a longer period of time, than a warm front —which contains more precipitation than a cold front.

A stationary front is nothing more than a collision of a warm front and a cold front. The result is a stagnated front, which has little or no forward speed.

Therefore, if you see a stationary front marked in on the weather map, and you have made any plans for an outdoor occasion, or for flying, it might be well to postpone it. Visibility is usually poor and precipitation prolonged beneath a stationary front.

At Valley Forge, Washington

Ex-Presidents Share Spotlight

America's two living ex-presidents — Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman —are sharing the natignal spotlight today. Hoover, speaking at a Washington Birthday observance at Valley Forge, predicted that "although the nation is beset with difficulties and confusions" it will rally again "to a period of greatness."

Truman is slated to kick off the 1958 Democratic political campaign in a speech which one party leader said will make the Republicans "squeal like stuck pigs."

Harry to Do Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was primed to give the Democrats' 1958 political campaign a sendoff tonight in a speech which one party leader said will make the Republicans "squeal like stuck pigs."

★ ★ ★

Truman was billed as the feature speaker at a $100-a-plate dinner in his honor. Party chiefs reported that nearly 3,000 persons had reserved tickets, indicating receipts of about $300,000 to be applied to the Democratic deficit of $700,000.

The 73-year-old Truman was described as itching to pour it on the Republicans on economic and other issues. He promised the Republicans he will "tell 'em 'what's on my mind." But he kept the contents of the speech to himself.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said that after Truman's speech tonight "the Republicans will be squealing like stuck pigs."

Anticipating a "give 'em hell" type speech by Truman, several Senate Republican leaders yesterday let loose a "public memorandum" aimed at the former Democratic president.

They asked Truman "what did you do to halt" a recession in 1950 "besides make 12 routine legislative recommendations . . . ?" The memo, issued by GOP Sens. Knowland of California, Bridges of New Hampshire, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Dirksen of Illinois, also quoted Truman as saying in 1950 that from three to five million unemployed were "supportable."

On the defense issue, the four Republicans said that during the Truman administration more money was spent on peanut price supports than on missile research.

The Democrats are expected to pitch their campaign to retain control of Congress largely on contentions that Eisenhower administration policies brought on the current business slump and that the administration isn't doing enough to reverse the downward economic trend. Defense policy also is expected to figure heavily in the election battle, with Democrats arguing the Republican administration has allowed the United States to lag behind Russia in space-age weapons development.

★ ★ ★

As a warmup for the big campaign kickoff, the Democratic National Committee unanimously adopted late yesterday a resolution condemning what it called the "Hoover-like" approach of President Eisenhower to — in the committee's words — the "depression now gripping the country."

"It is a disgrace to a free society" the resolution said, "to follow a policy which tells the five million involuntary recruits in the Eisenhower-Nixon army of the unemployed to wait six months and things may be better — and that prosperity is just around the corner."

Hoover Sees Rally

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (INS) — Former President Herbert Hoover today repeated a speech he made during the depression 27 years ago to express his faith that the U. S. will rally "to a period of greatness" from the current recession.

Hoover was the principal speaker at ceremonies during which the Freedoms Foundation cited him for "wisdom and devoted service" to American democracy in 1957 and presented him with its highest award, a special George Washington Honor Medal and $5,000.

The ceremonies marked the foundation's ninth annual Washington Birthday program at Valley Forge. Hoover headed a list of more than 700 individuals and groups honored for their contributions to the nation's way of life last year.

Only at the conclusion of his prepared address did Hoover disclose that it was virtually identical with one he delivered while President at Valley Forge on Memorial Day, 1931, "in the depths of that period of anxiety and discouragement."

"But we rallied to a period of greatness," then, Hoover declared, and "we will again today."

★ ★ ★

In his speech — of 27 years ago and today — he said "the nation is beset with difficulties and confusions" but that these were just temporary reverses in the march of progress" due partly to "world forces beyond our control."

He warned against the "alluring substitutes" he said are being offered for the traditional virtues of American life — private initiative, "independence and a high degree of individual freedom."

These substitutes are being put forward, the 83-year-old former President added, "with the specious claim that everybody collectively owes each of us a living rather than an opportunity to earn a living."

He declared: "We must preserve the independence of the individual from the deadening restraints of government, yet by the strong arm of government equally assure his fair chance, his equality of opportunity from the encroachments of special privileges and greed or domination by any group or class."

Hoover said the depression of the 1930's and the recession of today were both "inheritances" from "the mistakes of the peace and the aftermaths of destruction" from world war.

★ ★ ★

His medal was presented to Hoover by Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, president of the Freedoms Foundation, which honors Americans for what they do, write and say on behalf of democracy. The judges included jurists, heads of veteran groups and civic leaders.

Auto Companies Start Cutbacks

Faced With Stockpile That Might Grow Into Biggest in History

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's auto makers, faced with growing signs of the largest stockpile of new cars in history, are launching a campaign of production cutbacks to slash inventories.

★ ★ ★

An industry source says General Motors reportedly is preparing to put many of its plants on a four-day work week. Ford Motor Co. is mapping week-long shutdowns —a move reported to be dictated by its union contract limiting the use of four-day work weeks. Chrysler Corp. faces much the same curtailment.

★ ★ ★

Ford today revised the work schedule at the Rouge plant. It said the new schedule shows that 6,000 workers will be laid off all of next week at the plant.

Chrysler announced it will lay off 2,000 workers at its DeSoto plant here and a like number at Kokomo, Ind., next week.

Ward's Automotive Reports said the stock of new cars will approach 900,000 by Feb. 28. At the prevailing selling rate, the agency said this is equal to a 69-day supply and the highest point ever reached in automotive history.

Warehouse Fire Believed Arson

Blaze at Fruit Farm Guts Building Following Breakin by Thieves

The main warehouse of an Oakland Township fruit farm was gutted by a fire early this morning, believed by State Police and officials of the Rochester Fire Department to have been set deliberately by thieves.

★ ★ ★

The cement and steel frame building housed storage rooms and the main sales room of Sargeant's Fruit Farm, 5215 N. Rochester Rd.

★ ★ ★

According to police and firemen, an unknown number of thieves broke into the building and after unsuccessfully atetmpting to break open a safe, set fire to a cider jug room and basket grading room in the rear.

The thieves escaped with only an estimated $15 of sales tax money found in two bottles, it was reported. The Rochester Fire Department received the alarm at about 4:30 a.m.

Pumping water from a nearby creek, they fought the stubborn blaze until well past 10 a.m. Most of the damage was confined to the rear half of the structure, they said.

★ ★ ★

Detectives from the Romeo State Police Post and Oakland County Sheriff's Department are investigating the incident along with fire inspectors. No estimate has been made yet on the extent of damages.

Throughout the city people crowded the streets and rooftops and horsemen raced to keep up with the balloon, but it was soon lost to sight.

Forty-six minutes later Blanchard came down in woods outside Woodbury, New Jersey, having traveled about 15 miles and reached an altitude of 5,712 feet.

★ ★ ★

That evening he returned triumphantly to the capital in a carriage and was received again by Washington, who accepted the colors Blanchard had carried aloft.

During his stay in Philadelphia Blanchard gave a few more demonstrations with parachutes and and small balloons using animals as passengers.

Financially, his exhibitions were something less than he had anticipated. Philadelphians could see no point in paying good money to get onto the grounds when they could watch the balloons rise from outside.

But Blanchard had another reason for coming to America besides money and glory. In his words, he hoped to "convince the New World that man's ingenuity is not confined to earth alone, but opens to him new and certain roads in the vast expanse of heaven."

Blanchard's dreams outran the times by many years, but surely he would be pleased if he could know that it was the young republic in the New World which was eventually to give birth to the modern Air Age.

There were Americans who had dim visions of the future even in those days. Benjamin Franklin, who had died in 1790, had witnessed the first balloon flights in Paris.

When asked what good balloons were, he had replied: "What good is a new-born baby?"

It is not unlikely that Washington, witness to the first venture in America along that "new road in the vast expanse of heaven," shared that opinion.

Moore Writes Ike on Jobless

Ex-County Man Running for Governor Asks Car Price, Wage Freeze

Richard I. Moore, Republican candidate for governor, today wrote to President Eisenhower on the mounting unemployment in the state.

Moore, of Wayne, a former Oakland County resident, told the president that a freeze on wages and prices in the automotive industry was essential.

He urged Eisenhower to request both the UAW and the auto makers to incorporate such a freeze in their new contracts.

He also called for a repeal of the federal excise tax on automobiles and trucks to stimulate sales by reducing prices $150 to $250.

Url L. Welsh of Grand Blanc testified in the first day of the trial that he sold the pistol to Goff for $75 three days before the murder. He said Goff appeared not to be his usual "witty, cracking jokes" self, but noticed "not the least" thing different about his mentality.

Also taking the witness stand Friday was a girl friend of the dead woman, Mrs. Roberta Wysocki, 25, of Flint. "I often heard her ask him not to call again," Mrs. Wysocki said.

A legal precedent was broken yesterday during impaneling of the jury, as Judge Doty granted both sides the right to question jurors as to their qualifications instead of himself.

"There were special questions we both wanted to ask about their relation to psychiatrists and the mentally ill," Taylor explained.

It was the first time in 20 years before Judge Doty that such a practice was permitted.

Eastern U. S. Warms Up as New Chill Hits Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain or drizzle dampened scattered sections of the country today, but a general warmup east of the Mississippi River was the most significant weather development.

A new chill slipped into the northern plains, dropping temperatures to just below zero in parts of Minnesota and North Dakota, but it lacked the bitter arctic flavor of previous cold waves.

The eastern warming trend brought the mildest weather since early February, and the Weather Bureau said any rapid thaw of the heavy snow cover in the Northeast could pose flood threats for many sections.

★ ★ ★

Heaviest rainfall was recorded along the Gulf Coast where Corpus Christi, Tex., measured one inch of rain overnight—bringing its 48-hour accumulation to four inches.

Scattered thunderstorms broke out over parts of Texas, and more showers were in prospect for New Mexico.

Drizzle fell from the Ohio Valley and the Upper Great Lakes eastward to Pennsylvania, and some light snow was reported in the Great Lakes area.

★ ★ ★

Rain moved eastward into the Middle Atlantic states, and snow or snow flurries were expected to continue light near the Great Lakes and extend into New England during the day.

The only other area of precipitation was along the Washington-Oregon coast.

Temperatures were 10 to 20 degrees higher than Friday morning over most of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, with Florida also showing warmer weather.

The greatest warming occurred at Elkins, W. Va., with reported 41 degrees, against four above zero 24 hours earlier. It was warmer over much of New England, too.

President Feeling 'Pretty Good'

Ike to Hunt More Quail

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (INS) — President Eisenhower planned some more quail hunting today to top off a 10-day vacation which has left him relaxed and feeling "pretty good."

The chief executive had prospects of an even better day for shooting than he has had in two previous chases after the birds abounding at his south Georgia vacation site.

A forecast of a 60-degree high with mild breezes indicated ideal conditions for the President to join in a hunt with his vacation host, former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

Yesterday, they bagged 10 quail between them in four hours at the latter's "Milestone plantation" near Thomasville, Ga.

Army, Air Force Clash on Missiles

WASHINGTON (INS) — A bitter Army-Air Force fight over control of anti-missile missiles erupted today as top defense officials met to seek an end to inter-service rivalry.

Army missilemen took sharp issue with Air Force testimony on Capitol Hill that the Army's Nike-Zeus is not flexible enough to defend against Russia's intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Lt. Gen. D. L. Putt, chief of Air Force research and development, charged that Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy made a mistake in stopping work on the Air Force's "Wizard" missile-killer and relying solely on the Zeus.

McElroy is holding a weekend conference in Puerto Rico with top military and civilian advisers to prepare recommendations for reorganizing the Pentagon.

He made the anti-missile decision last month to avoid duplication and head off a feud between the two services.

A top defense official said McElroy's order was based on the judgement of high civilian missile experts that the Zeus and the Wizard had almost identical capabilities and the Army weapon was further advanced.

However, Putt told the House Armed Services Committee:

"If the Air Force had the operational . . . and the development responsibility, it would not develop the Nike-Zeus system for immediate operational deployment."

He indicated the Wizard had greater long-range potential and expressed "grave concern" about the capacity of the Zeus, particularly in view of the cost—about six billion dollars.

Putt doubted that the Army weapon will be able to achieve the "growth to take care of all the possibilities that the enemy might take" in perfecting more elusive missiles.

One of the highest-ranking army missile officers, however, insisted that the Zeus is highly flexible and designed to account for all foreseeable improvements in offensive rockets—such as zigzagging flight patterns.

Nevertheless, Putt claimed that McElroy's decision to exclude the Wizard from the anti-missile missile program was "premature."

FCC Probers Propose Code

Call for Ethical Rules Following Testimony of Wire-Pulling

WASHINGTON (AP)—A code of ethics for government regulatory agencies was proposed today following testimony about the use of wire-pulling in an effort to land Richard A. Mack on the Federal Communications Commission.

★ ★ ★

Jerry W. Carter, Democratic national committeeman for Florida, told a House Investigating subcommittee yesterday he pulled "under cover, all the wires I could" to get Mack the job on the bipartisan commission.

★ ★ ★

Mack, an Eisenhower Democrat, was appointed to the FCC in 1955 by President Eisenhower. At the time, Mack headed the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, of which Carter is a member.

The 70-year-old Carter, a free-wheeling witness with cracker barrel wit, was asked to testify in connection with charges that undue influence was exerted on the FCC in granting a Miami TV license. The hearing was in recess until Monday.

Rep. Bennett (R-Mich) said he feels the evidence so far "has indicated a positive need for legislation which would set up a code of ethics for all regulatory agencies."

★ ★ ★

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) said in a separate interview it is "pretty obvious" there is a need for either a code of ethics or legislation.

Reuther Requests Talks With Colbert

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther wants to meet with Chrysler Corp. President L. L. Colbert to discuss a continuing dispute over work quotas assigned by Chrysler.

★ ★ ★

Reuther made the formal request yesterday in a letter to Chrysler. The letter also demanded that Chrysler "end its slanderous and libelous attacks against the union and its members in falsely charging slowdowns and disruption of production by the workers."

There was no immediate reply from Chrysler.

★ ★ ★

The text of the letter was released a few hours after Chrysler had sent home, for the 19th consecutive day, 5,000 workers from its Dodge Main plant. The company said some trim department employes refused to perform regular work assignments, forcing curtailment at 10 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Fewer New Claims by Unemployed Filed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fewer layoffs in automobile plants and a slackening in seasonal layoffs in the apparel industry are listed as major factors in a drop last week in new claims for unemployment insurance.

★ ★ ★

The Labor Department reported yesterday that initial claims for unemployment insurance filed by newly laid off workers dropped by 31,500 during the week ended Feb. 15 to a total of 425,300.

★ ★ ★

Deadly Venom Missing From Snake Farm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Enough concentrated snake venom to cause sudden death to 600 persons was missing today from a Miami snake farm.

Two sealed bottles of dried venom and two lightly covered vials of liquid venom were taken yesterday from the laboratory of the Miami Serpentarium.

William E. Haast, the owner, called for the return of the four bottles of deadly copperhead, water moccasin and viper venom.

"No questions asked," said Haast. "Just get it back before somebody dies.

"If a grain of it touches a cut or a sore you may be dead in minutes," he said.

He said he believes someone touring the snake farm took the venom on impulse, not realizing its danger or its value. The venom representing a year and a half of work, is worth $5,700.

Troubled High School Petitions U. S. Court to Halt Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Two white pupils have been suspended from integrated Central High School for carrying printed cards that said "one down and eight to go," an obvious reference to a Negro girl's expulsion.

★ ★ ★

The Little Rock School Board yesterday suspended Sammie Dean Parker and Howard Cooper, both 16, for two weeks.

Both were given hearings.

Eight Negroes now attend Central High. The board expelled Minniejean Brown Monday for the rest of the semester. The action followed a scuffle between the 16-year-old Negro pupil and a white girl who later withdrew from school.

The board has petitioned U.S. District Court for a suspension of the integration program at Central High but no hearing date has been scheduled.

"I intend to fight," Rhodes told newsmen after the court announced the sentence, which includes dishonorable discharge from the Army and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

The military court of 10 officers also convicted him on a companion charge of falsifying a loyalty certificate.

When Buying Insurance—

Don't Drop ONE Policy to Buy ANOTHER!

There are exceptions to this rule but they are RARE! Rates go up as you grow older, so you will pay a higher rate if you shift! Reliable agents will tell you that 9 times out of 10, in the shift from an old policy to a new one, no one gains BUT THE AGENT WHO SELLS IT. Most agents are honest but a few yield to the temptation to become a "twister" — salesmen who sell new policies by talking people into discarding their old ones.

IF AN AGENT OR ANYONE ELSE SUGGESTS A CHANGE IN POLICIES, TAKE YOUR TIME! Know clearly why he thinks you should change. Write to your State Insurance Department for advice about your old policy, or consult that local Life Underwriters Association. If you aren't convinced that a change is advisable, DON'T CHANGE! Older policies should be kept in force if possible!

It Seems to Me . . .

This Unusual Candidate Might Outscore Williams at Polls

I'm advised by experts in both parties that G. MENNEN WILLIAMS is a shoo-in for Governor, unless the GOP comes up with a candidate that can storm the impregnable CIO bastion in Wayne County.

★ ★ ★

The Republicans pinned their faith on the late Mayor Cobo, but he went down to defeat more easily than some of his illustrious predecessors. In the parlance of the bang-tails, "It was just a breeze and Williams won, going away."

This was a bitter pill.

Cobo was a GOOD candidate.

No ordinary plater was he. Detroit's popular mayor wasn't in there "for experience." He was primed to win and take the heavy sugar. But it never came off.

The Republicans face a tough job finding a candidate that can challenge the CIO entry. He spends more time electioneering than any office holder in history. AND IT PAYS OFF—BIG.

Your reporter timidly mentioned a possibility to JOHN MARTIN who qualifies as Mr. Republican in the State of Michigan after ARTHUR J. SUMMERFIELD. I also suggested him to GEORGE A. DONDERO, one of the GOP powers in the Middle West.

I refer to CHARLES LEONARD GEHRINGER.

★ ★ ★

One of the greatest baseball infielders of all time, he might crack that solid vote in the center field bleachers — and you aren't going to win without it.

★ ★ ★

GEHRINGER is a personable, affable individual who makes friends easily and who measures up to WILLIAMS in appearance. And that's no light assignment. WILLIAMS creates a fine impression. He's "well-dressed" without being ostentatious and he's the greatest political "greeter" on the North American continent.

★ ★ ★

But my boy Charley is a fine appearing individual, he's always a gentleman and he looks "consequential." You could introduce him as the Executive Vice President of the Chase Manhattan Bank. Charley's a big success as a business man, is backed by a University of Michigan education and he has a host of friends with no interest in baseball.

★ ★ ★

GEHRINGER was one of the All-Time greats of baseball. The fans loved him. He was the smoothest infielder in the American League and he has a life time batting average around .325. The centerfield bleachers went for CHARLEY.

He was their idol.

★ ★ ★

I see little use in offering just another fine, clean, upstanding businessman. Mr. Williams simply flattens candidates like that. You've got to come up with Siamese twins, someone with green hair or a Paul Bunyon. My Mr. Gehringer doesn't qualify under those headings, but he qualifies high up as a possibility for cracking the solid Williams vote.

★ ★ ★

Your reporter doesn't even know that CHARLEY's a Republican, but he looks, acts and lives like one. Without his consent or even consultation, I propose CHARLES LEONARD GEHRINGER as the GOP Gubernatorial candidate.

Who can do as well?

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

MONIQUE VAN VOOREN whose measurements are a startling 40-23-35 wants to go on the 64,000 Inch—pardon me—Dollar TV show. "In la France and Italy," says she, "they take me serious, but in America, because I have the so large measurements, they will not take me serious." MONIQUE, you might turn out to be just a Big Bust . . . . . Little Known Facts About Well Known People: MEYER SIMON never stops dipping quietly into a variety of charities . . . . . ISTVAN ROZSAVOLGYI, great Hungarian runner, is competing here. He changed his name from REIDL to ROZSAVOLGYI—"because it's easier to pronounce" (in Hungarian.) He holds four world's records.

★ ★ ★

Overheard during a coffee break: "When Johnny Ray hears himself sing, he'll be sorry he had his ear fixed." . . . . . Archie Barnett says he encountered a girl in the Virgin Islands that has the "plungingest" neckline in all history. What! No photographs? . . . . . New York insiders tell me the most promising young tennis player in the world is Barry McKay. He's from the U. of Mich.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. JEAN FITZGERALD—in whom I have a great personal interest—and PEGGY ("Mrs. America") WILSON saw the early casting of "Body Beautiful" in New York and were offered one (1) share for $6,000. Rightly, they shrugged it off. I hope no one reading these lines tells them, but the thing is having a successful run . . . . . JULIUS TANNEN says the late JOE FRISCO, the stuttering comic, was the only person in the country who could make a six syllable word out of "if."

★ ★ ★

Department of Cheers and Jeers: The C's — Capt. Michael O'Rourke and Mrs. Patricia Nance for their gallant TV battle on Tic Tac Dough. The Michigan Captain triumphed but he had to down a determined, talented and beautiful young woman; the J's— How can they take a voice like Patrice Munsel's and produce such a dreary 30 minutes?

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

PEOPLE are incurable optimists. Regardless of how many business depressions they have managed somehow to live through, they firmly believe there will never be another one.

PARADOXICALLY, the faster we run in trying to keep up with the JONESES, the more difficult it is for us to outrun bill collectors.

THE reason many a person is prejudiced against so many things is that he's against almost everything he can't understand.

"THE lower neckline will be a feature in forthcoming styles," says a dress designer. That won't be a feature—it'll be a spectacular.

WE'RE set and determined to live through this tough winter, even if it takes us until June to do it.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

George Washington prayed morning and evening. He was seen on his knees in his library with the Bible. Many prayers were written in his hand. When he heard of the Declaration of Independence, he wrote:

"Almighty God. We make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection; that Thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to . . . entertain a brotherly love and affection for their fellow citizens . . . to love mercy and to demean ourselves with that charity, humility and pacific temper of mind which were the characteristics of the Divine Author . . . without a humble imitation of whose example in these things, we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication, we beseech Thee, through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen."

Days of All Faiths

Lent Observance Ancient Custom

DAYS OF ALL FAITHS
By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tomorrow is the first Sunday in Lent, the 40-day season of penitence and self-discipline which is so ancient in the Christian Church its beginnings are no longer discoverable. It is not, of course, mentioned in the New Testament, although there was a time when quite reputable scholars were under the impression that the Apostles themselves observed this fast. This view is no longer held, but there can be no doubt that a fast before Easter was being kept within the first 150 years of the Christian era.

There is good reason to believe the period of fasting was at first only from Good Friday morning through the next day, as a time of sorrow for the hours during which "The Bridegroom was taken away," (See Matthew, chapter 9, verse 15) which to the early Christians was a clear reference to the time between the crucifixion and the resurrection.

Some people object that it is unreal to mourn over the death of Jesus when it is both overshadowed and given its ultimate meaning by what happened on Easter. Nevertheless, the Church has never felt this way. The joy of Easter is real—true—but so also is the death on Calvary and the awful loneliness of the world in those hours of His absence.

Sorrow for Christ's death, unless it is to be mere sentimentality, must also logically include sorrow for the cause of that death—human sin. And sorrow for sin must go on to include attempts to reform and grow better. So, as Lent developed it was natural it should become a time of self-discipline—of self-denial, of good works, and of alms-giving, as it still is today.

By the fourth century the season had lengthened out to 36 days. The present duration of 40 days was fixed by Pope Felix II, in 487, to make it correspond to the 40 days Jesus spent fasting in the wilderness before beginning His ministry.

PAGAN CUSTOM

The first Sunday in Lent used to be marked in northern European countries by a kind of celebration that seems to have no connection whatever with a solemn devotional season. Young people worked for days ahead to build a great wheel of straw.

COMMON MISTAKE

Many people make the mistake of thinking Lent ends on Easter. It does not; it ends the day before. Easter is not the last day of the Lenten season; it is the first day of a new 40-day season of its own—the Easter season.

Answer — You're right as rain, Ma'am.

"Followed your advice, put some flaxseed in our oats for breakfast every morning. Now we never need any laxative." (A.P.)

Answer—Besides being natural food it is a better "internal lubricant" than any medicine.

"I am 36 and have no gray hair worry, but unless my imagination deceives me the color seems enhanced since I started taking the iodin ration." (L.J.)

Answer—That's what a good many correspondents tell me. Anyway it can do no harm. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for The Iodin Ration.

"I shall never cease to be grateful to you for Whitfield's ointment. I had a bad case of athlete's foot and the doctors here made no headway . . . I learned of Whitfield's from your pamphlet and it cleared up the trouble in short order." (G.E.)

Answer — Instructions for preparing and using ointment and liquid (night and day) in pamphlet on Dermatophytosis (Foot Itch), for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Please send anything you have about pregnancy and childbirth. This may seem odd, as we have six children, five delivered at home. But now the doctors here refuse to attend confinement at home. Can a doctor legally refuse to come to the house in case of complications after delivery?" (K.J.R.)

Answer—I don't know what the legal implications may be, but morally a doctor cannot refuse to attend a victim of such emergency. Send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet PREPARING FOR MATERNITY. Get from public library or your book dealer any of these books: "Childbirth, Your Questions Answered," Davis and Ferguson, published by Harper and Bros., N.Y.; "Natural Childbirth, Heardman, published by Williams and Wilkins, Baltimore.

"Our baby had two inoculations against tetanus, diphtheria and whooping cough at the age of 9 months and should have had a third one too. The three "shots" should have been a month apart, but we didn't get the third one . . . now the baby is 15 months old and the doctor says we must start all over again." (Mrs. M.R.)

Answer — You probably misunderstand. Anyway, the baby must have the third injection at any time.

Voice of the People

'Despite Technology Race, Retarded Child Needs Aid'

The jolt of repercussions of technological advances by Russia is not as severe in specific educational circles as laymen would suspect. Educators haven't waited for foreign nations to ignite their ingenuity. There is continuous evaluation of our educational systems. Deficiencies have been realized long before now, but they don't rest directly with educational leaders. Very little change will take place while committies investigate and "I told you so" is echoed. Satellites may be a catalyst but won't affect general goals established in education.

★ ★ ★

While most criticism is leveled at high schools and colleges, fundamentals are taught at lower levels. Schools differ, because no two communities are alike. School programs must fit the community as well as the child. As long as we recognize individual differences we can't adhere to rigid plans. If we fail to recognize this, we ignore the child.

★ ★ ★

While there's much concern about the high I.Q., let's not forget the low I.Q. child. We are still faced with educating our retarded youth. Due to acute shortage of facilities and trained personnel, there's a limit to what public schools, agencies and institutions can do. Programs are being established and expanded where possible. With cooperation of all facets of society, we can do much to aid the dependent youth as well as advance our technology.

SALESMEN

An "outside salesman" is one whose principal job is that of soliciting business for his employer away from his employer's place of business. The fact that you may be in the office occasionally to write up orders, or attend sales meetings, does not disqualify you as an outside salesman. What are the advantages of being one?

It means that you can deduct from your compensation, wages, salary or commissions, all the ordinary and necessary expenses in soliciting business for your employer — and still take the standard deduction.

Typical expenses of an "outside salesman" are the cost of telephone, secretarial help, entertainment, or transportation. Any reimbursement of expenses must be included in gross income.

A salesman, one whose principle activity is service and delivery, such as a bread delivery salesman or a milk-driver salesman, does not qualify as an outside salesman.

The fellow who marries just to have someone to blab his troubles to is likely to have plenty to talk about.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Sex Attraction, Love Not the Same

Nora wants to know how to distinguish between mad infatuation and true love, since both give you heart throbs and butterflies in your stomach. So use the yardstick below. For true love is noble and angelic, whereas infatuation is selfish and demanding.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-336: Nora N., aged 18, is now a college freshman.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, a year ago you helped me through a crisis," she began," as I met her following an address I had delivered before her college convocation.

DR. CRANE

"You saved my happiness by showing me the hazards of letting my high school boy friends persuade me into indulging in an illicit affair.

"Afterwards, he apologized and we became friends once more. I even had a few more dates with him before graduation.

"But since then our paths have parted, for I came on to this college and he went to another.

"Now I do not feel romantic about him at all. So I narrowly missed making a tragic mistake.

★ ★ ★

"But how can a person who is romantically intoxicated, as I was at that time, be sure whether it is true love or just a passing infatuation?"

TRUE LOVE OR INFATUATION

Nora has asked a very good question, for you get palpitations and goose pimples and butterflies in your stomach with BOTH true love, as well as temporary infatuation.

"Dr. Crane, I just KNOW it is true love," many infatuated girls have protested to me, although their friends and parents could plainly see that it was NOT a matter of true love.

King David's son Amnon also vowed he loved Tamar, but it turned out to be nothing but a selfish sexual infatuation (II Samuel, Ch. 13).

When you are apparently head over heels in love, therefore, how can you test yourself and be sure?

Well, true love is basically unselfish. In it, the lovers are so concerned with the future happiness of the other party that they will actually step out of the picture if it definitely looks best for their sweetheart's ultimate good.

Dickens depicts such a case of true love in Sidney Carton, who finally realized that his sweetheart was not in love with him. So Sidney Carton even disguised himself and went to the guillotine to save the man whom his girl friend really wanted to marry.

True love thus has an element of nobility and self-sacrifice in it. To this degree, it partakes of God and is a divine emotion.

★ ★ ★

But infatuation is mainly a selfish and largely sexual attraction. It is a devilish emotion, and produces much of the tears and heartache in the world.

TEST YOUR LOVE

All the external yardsticks of human experience show that premartial sexual affairs are disastrous, for they definitely violate the inexorable yardstick of moral goodness, which states:

"That which does the most good for the most people for the longest period of time," is right and just.

Please remember that final "For the longest period of time." Russia decided in 1917 that looting the Czar's palace and taking all the possessions of the white collar classes, would do the most good for the most people.

But soon it was apparent that Russia couldn't be strong without doctors and engineers and scientists and business executives to direct the illiterate masses of the Soviet Union.

Pollution-Free Gas Incinerator Seen in Detroit

DETROIT (INS) — A new "smokeless and odorless" gas incinerator has been hailed by Detroit officials as "one of the most significant steps ever made in the control of air pollution from a domestic source."

★ ★ ★

The new-type incinerator was demonstrated for dozens of city councilmen, air pollution control officials and other public works authorities yesterday in the banquet room of the Veterans' Memorial Building.

Reduced to a "small handful of ashes" were a mass of chicken feathers, grapefruit rinds, coffee grounds, eggshells, paper and vacuum sweepings.

Gas company officials said the new incinerator with an "after burner" device literally burns up smoke and odor. The same effect is achieved if a lit match is held over smoke from a cigarette. The flame consumes the smoke.

Reflections

ONE CANDLE POWER

J. L. VOORHEES

Above the tower of the Chrysler Building there is a beacon. That stream of light can be seen for a hundred miles; when we consider the illumination is but a small candle-powered-light, no bigger than one we use in the lamp in our bedside table, it is remarkable. However, it is no more remarkable than an act of kindness to one in the dark.

M. E. SIPLE

That act may be of small consequence of itself, but the effect, the lasting effect is like that tiny lamp in that tower. It shines as a path, to solace, to friendship, guiding that person to days and years of happy times. A cheerful word to one depressed, a handclasp to one who needs the firm contact of neighbor or friend, the welcome smile goes far to light the way of someone in need of guidance.

Oldster Puts Indian Sign on Taking Baths

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: You're no doctor so don't go telling people it's all right to take baths in the middle of winter. When I was 17 an old Indian who lived on the reservation near my home in Wyoming showed me a suit of long underwear — dark gray. He said he put it on at the beginning of winter and didn't take it off till spring.

ABBY

"He lived to be 103 and never had a cold in his life. I followed his example and never had a cold and I am now 72 years old. No bath in the winter! Just long underwear!

OLD TIMER"

"DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who doesn't have a driver's license and cannot get one because she doesn't know how to drive, but she drives anyway. I usually take my own, hers, and a few other children to school every morning, but I can't pick them up. Lately she has been going to pick them up.

"I have seen her drive, and I tell my children to duck until she leaves, and to walk home. Should I tell the parents of the other children who ride with her about her driving without a license? I hate to start trouble, but you should see this woman behind the wheel!"

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: First, remind your neighbor that driver's training is available and ask her if she knows that she is breaking the law. If she doesn't act promptly and continues to drive, the parents of her young passengers should be alerted.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who is having an affair with a married man who is 25. Would you please tell me (seriously) what would happen if we got caught? Would he still get the worst of it even if this was my idea and with my consent? Thank you."

SERIOUS

DEAR SERIOUS: You are under-age, and he certainly would be in serious trouble. So would you, young lady. Break up this twosome before it becomes a triangular tragedy.

You'll See Better and Look Better, Too

Keep Your Specs Clear, Shining

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is surprising how many women whoare beautifully groomed inall other ways are careless about keeping the glass in their eye glasses clear and shining.

* * *

One such friends of mine went to have her eyes exemined and received the following reprimand from the oculist. He said, "Anyone who can see as well as you can through glasses as dirty as these must have near perfect vision."

Glasses should be cleaned several times a day since they become clouded very easily. This places a strain on your eyes and certainly detracts from your appearance.

Poor inghting accounts for a great deal of eye strain. We all know this and yet we all are thoughtless about it at times. Reading light should come from behind us, either from the left or the right.

* * *

The reading light should not be the only one in the room. There also should be general lighting. When you look at television, have one light on. This decreases eye strain.

It has been estimated that four hours a day of close eye work is really all we should do. If you use your eyes for six or more hours a day you should be especially careful about correct lighting and position.

* * *

You should also give your eyes little rest periods. The act of taking your eyes from close focus (looking at the end of your finger, for instance and then looking at the far horizon is a restful procedure.

Reading in bed is hard on the eyes because of the position of the book in relations to your eyes. For this reason many people use a backrest when reading before going to sleep at night.

Nutrition has a direct effect on the eyes just as it does on the rest of the body. Malnutrition accounts for some eye difficulties while good nutrition and general health habits are beneficial to these important orbs.

When there is unexplained chronic fatigue, or eye irritation, then eye strain should be suspected. As the years pass, the requirements of eye glasses often increase.

If you would like to have my exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 8. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

8 Wives Let Him Get Away With Bigamy

Had Charm---No Staying Power

(This is the last of six articles telling through case histories why thousands of American men each year leave their wives and children to seek new lives under new identities. The articles are based on the files of the Tracers Company of America. Only the names have been changed.)

By JOSEPH R. MARSHALL
INS Staff Writer

Robert McC. pulled himself out of the overstuffed chair. "I'm out of cigarettes," he said, "and I don't want to miss the late show. I'll be right back."

"Hurry, sweetheart," Jean McC said. "I'll miss you."

Robert grinned and walked out the door. He never came back for the late show.

Two months later, demure Jean walked into the home office of Tracers Company of America, a commercial agency that specializes in tracing missing persons.

From her brief case she took a newspaper clipping and handed it to an agent interviewing her. It contained a column headed "public notices," and had been ripped out of a West Coast newspaper. One item read:

"Robert C., 36, small scar right cheek, sought by wife, disappeared Nov. 2, may be amnesia victim." Then it gave a box number.

The agent took the clipping. "What makes you so sure," he said.

Jean stared out the office window. "That man's name is C. He just dropped the MC. My husband had a small scar on his right cheek. Also the way he walked out. And she thinks he may be suffering from amnesia. That's what I thought."

"We'll check this woman on the West Coast," the agent said. We'll need a complete description, a few photos, and, well, what do you know about his background, what kind of work did he do?"

Jean smiled brief at the agent, and said:

'RUSHED' HER

"It was all so fast. I suppose I should have known more about him, yet I'm sure about the way we both felt. He was a salesman at the department store where I work. I might have suspected him of being a wolf if he hadn't avoided me for so long. Then, well, he called me up to ask me for dinner, and we fell in love.

"He's a very charming man. We were married three weeks later. He refused to move into my apartment so we took a furnished place. We had been married exactly 19 days when he left."

Statistically, bigamy is one of the less frequent reasons for husbandly wandering, but Robert McC. turned out to be a truly charming bigamist.

A West Coast correspondent of the agency went to the woman there who had given the advertisement, and checked the description with that given by Jean. It was the same man.

Back in New York, Jean took the news calmly, and produced a small red leather address book which she had found among the few personal belongings her husband had left behind.

"I want you to try and find him," she said. "I want to be honest with myself, and I can not very well believe the worst about him until I know the truth."

In the address book, the agency found the names and telephone numbers of many girls. Most of the numbers were New York city exchanges at least 10 or more years old, and most were at addresses in Greenwich Village near the Washington Square branch of New York University. Since it appeared that the missing man had cultivated NYU college girls, he probably also had been a student there.

An agent then checked through the year books of the university with the New York wife. They were on the fourth book when she said, "that's it, that's him," and pointed to a photograph of a member of a graduating class of more than a decade before.

The man was her husband, but he was registered at school under the name of Raymond M.

When telephoned, eight of the girls who had been listed in the address book said they had known Raymond. Two had been married to him, almost at the same time.

That made four wives who wanted to know his whereabouts. In each case, the honeymoon had been scarcely over when he had disappeared.

* * *

The agency carefully checked the chronology of marriages and desertions and found that he had sent one of his girls a postcard from somewhere in Mississippi. Another girl remembered having received a long distance call from him in a certain town in Virginia.

Dan Eisenberg, head of Tracers Company, only commerical firm of its kind in America, reported:

"We followed the trail from the two girls he married at New York University. We found Wife No. 3 in Virginia. In Mississippi we found Wife No. 4.

California turned up Wives No. 5 and No. 6, the woman who had inserted the personal advertisement. We found Wife No. 7 in Arizona. Our original client was Wife No. 8."

* * *

"We finally found him back in Manhattan, where he was working as a haberdashery salesman. When we told him we were going to turn him over to police, he said, 'What for?' "

Salvation Army Dedication Set

Ceremony, Reception to Open Service Center in Pontiac Sunday

The dedication service and open house of the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Captain Magnus A. Michalsen of the local citadel will give the invocation.

Officiating at the service will be Commissioner Claude E. Bates, territorial commander from Chicago.

Commissioned in 1912 at the Salvation Army Training College in New York City, he has served as an officer and in various departments of the Salvation Army, coming to the Central Territory in 1953. He is responsible for the work in the 11 central territories and is in direct command over 1,367 officers serving in 369 Salvation Army Corps.

The new center, at 118 W. Lawrence St., is the site of the former Whitfield, Walter & Dawson wholesale grocery warehouse. The Salvation Army purchased the two-story building in July 1956 for $180,000.

A Red Shield Store, located in the building, is the first portion of a $1.5 million remodeling and building project of the Army. It opened last October.

★ ★ ★

All service centers are self-supporting from the work done on furniture, clothing and other items collected by Salvation Army trucks.

★ ★ ★

The center, the 120th in the country, is for the rehabilitation of needy men who seek assistance from the Army. It is not restricted to men of Pontiac or Oakland County.

Major Ernest Alder is manager of the center.

ELBERT R. SLAUGHTER

'Christian Science' Subject of Lecture

"Christian Science — Its Message of Liberation" will be the subject of the lecture by Elbert R. Slaughter at 11 a.m. Sunday in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Williams and West Lawrence streets.

A native of Edgewood, Tex., Mr. Slaughter became interested in Christian Science in 1936. He withdrew from a business career in 1945 to devote his full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing.

The lecture is free and local members have invited the public to attend.

God is my refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.

Confident Living

Transformation Happens Today Same as Before

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I was in my room in the Hotel Sherman in Chicago having just finished speaking to a convention of business people.

The phone rang and a determined female voice said, "I'd like to bring my husband up to see you." My quick mental picture of a dominating wife was confirmed when, in response to my invitation, she stalked into my room, followed by an obviously easy-going husband.

PEALE

"Sit down, Charley," she ordered. And so pre-emptory and firm was she that I sat too.

"Well, here he is," she continued. "Now I want you to do something with Charley." It was as if to say, "I've done all that I can do; I'm at the end of my rope."

Later, when I learned in detail how Charley had messed up his life, failing in job after job despite a sound basic ability, I really couldn't blame her too much for being a bit impatient. In fact, she wore well, and so did he, as I got to know them. He was one of those lovable, never grown-up fellows with a pathetic streak.

Now, two years later, they are a great pair. She thinks Charley is wonderful and he idolizers her. It's quite a story.

We didn't get the answer to Charley that day. His business took him around the country as did my lecture engagements. So I met him here and there.

As I probed and analyzed this personality I began to notice a repetitive phrase in his conversation, somewhat like a defective needle stuck in the groove of a record. He would listlessly say, "I have half a mind to do this," or "half a mind to do that." Suddenly I saw clearly the basic reason for his soft uncertain approach to life.

"Charley," I said, "I've got you figured out. You're a 'half-a-minder'."

"A what?" he asked bewilderedly.

"Yes," that's it; you're a half-a-minder." I explained my conviction that his trouble, like that of many men, lay in a divided self, half given, half held back.

"I know that's the truth," he admitted disconsolately. "I've never really tried. I haven't got what it takes."

"Oh yes you have," I declared. "All you need is to get it organized, to have your personality solidified and toughened."

★ ★ ★

We started by telling him a story about the construction of a sixty-story bank building. In excavating, the engineers unearthed a pocket of quicksand. Obviously a big building cannot be erected upon quicksand. Scientists informed the builders that a million years would be required for nature to turn the quicksand into sandstone.

The bank didn't feel it could wait that long, so science came to the rescue. A solution of sodium silicate and calcium chloride was injected into the quicksand and in a short time it turned into sandstone sufficiently hard for the building enterprise.

"That's a miracle," exclaimed Charley.

I explained, however, that it was the operation of scientific law and pointed out it wasn't half as wonderful as the changes I had seen happen in men. A famous example lived long ago. His name was Simon, a weak and variable man. But he became so sturdy that the One who changed him, re-named him Peter, the rock.

But that transformation happens today as well as in Biblical times, and it happened to Charley; Jesus Christ changed him into a rock-like personality. He is a "whole-minder" now; no longer a hold out, but he goes all out in whatever he tackles.

Methodists Worship in 7th Day Adventist

The Rev. Paul T. Hart pastor of First Methodist Church, announces that all church and Sunday School services for the next two or three weeks will be held in the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 156 Mt. Clemens St.

★ ★ ★

Members meet each Sunday at 10 a.m. for worship with Sunday School at 11:15 a.m. All youth groups, men's and women's societies of First Church will gather in homes.

According to the Rev. Mr. Hart, several weeks will be needed to repair the furnace. The boiler blew up this week.

Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: but nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby.

Dean Pike Questions Current Religious Trend

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dean James A. Pike, Episcopal bishop-elect of California, warns against an overoptimistic view of the current religious revival.

★ ★ ★

Here for a meeting of directors of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific at Berkeley, Dean Pike said, "The important thing is not the number of conversions. It is whether we see the line of ethics going up — instead of an increase in juvenile delinquency and crime."

Pontiac Downs Stubborn Wolves, 65-54

Chiefs Rebound in 3rd Quarter for SVC Victory

Three Bay City Cagers Ousted for Rough Play in Upstate Battle

By BILL CORNWELL

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs fought back from a 34-29 halftime deficit to gain their 5th triumph in nine Valley starts and boost their overall record to 10-5.

It was the 9th straight league setback without a win for the weak-shooting Wolves who lost three players via the personal foul route and had three others banished for unnecessary roughness.

Pontiac's Jerry Williams was also ejected during one scuffle as Bay City's aggressive tactics erupted in the 4th quarter after Pontiac had rallied to take a commanding lead.

★ ★ ★

Butch Kokaly, Fred Finn and Larry Piotrowski were all given the gate for the Wolves. Williams made his exit along with Finn.

Pontiac's three-pronged attack of Bill Hayward, John Bandy and the ousted Williams was more than Bay City could handle as the Wolves went down to their 10th loss of the season in 13 games.

Hayward captured scoring honors with 18 points while Bandy contributed 14, a dozen in the 1st half, and Williams added 12.

★ ★ ★

A prosperous 3rd quarter turned the tide for the Chiefs. They cracked Bay City's lax defense for 22 points in that period while holding the Wolves to nine to seize a 51-43 edge entering the final stanza.

★ ★ ★

Bandy's layup tied the score at 43-43. Seconds later Harrison Munson meshed a jump shot to put the Chiefs ahead and they never gave up their advantage.

Early in the 4th session they increased their lead to 13 points and just coasted home from there.

★ ★ ★

A 21-point 2nd period gave Bay City its halftime edge after Pontiac had led most of the way by margins of two to six points. A flashy spurt in the last two minutes against Pontiac's "sleeping" defense shoved the Chiefs into a five-point hole at intermission.

Forward Jay English was Bay City's outstanding performer. He tallied 17 points to head the Wolves scoring column and was their standout floor leader.

English was the only one of Bay City's five starters to be around at the finish. John Young, Bob Bishop and Jerry Gross departed with five personals and Kokaly was sent to the showers.

★ ★ ★

There were 44 fouls called in the rough contest, 25 against the Wolves.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's junior varsity romped to a 53-23 decision over the Bay City reserves in the preliminary game. Bob Finley fired 12 points for the Little Chiefs.

Ortonville Gets Closer to Lead

Blackhawks Win 63-55; Oxford Falls for 15th Straight Game

Oxford started and finished strong, but the Wildcats still went down to their 15th loss of the season as North Branch took a 49-41 decision.

★ ★ ★

In another South Central game, Ortonville moved with a half-game of leader Imlay by trouncing Millington 63-55.

Ortonville led all the way until Millington tied it 53-53 with two minutes to go. Earl Richardson's two baskets and a free throw led the last minute surge. He finished with 14 behind Chuck Graves with 22 and Dan Carter with 17.

Oxford's big lead was after one period when it was 14-5. At halftime it was 18-18 and in the third period N. Branch broke it open.

Next Friday the showdown will be at Ortonville with Imlay.

Southfield and Berkley Triumph

Vikings 59, Waterford 58

BY CHUCK ABAIR

Whether they're battling for a championship or last place you can always expect plenty of thrills when Waterford and Walled Lake go at each other in any sport.

Last night's basketbal game was a perfect example as the local rivals left a capacity crowd limp from the excitement of a wild finish which saw Walled Lake wind up on the long end of a 59-58 score at Waterford.

A stranger at the contest would have thought the schools were battling for a high ranking instead of trying to avoid a cellar berth viewing the tenseness of the contest.

★ ★ ★

The fact of the matter is the game, coupled with a Southfield victory over Van Dyke and champion Berkley's rout of Farmington, threw four Inter-Lakes League teams into a deadlock. Last night's three losers and Walled Lake now all are 3-6 meaning next week's final games will decide the finishers from 3rd through last.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake's hard-earned triumph left the two quintets all even with each other in more ways than one. Each gained a victory over the other—and by one point. And on both occasions the home team lost—after leading most of the way.

Waterford played some of its best ball of the season in the 1st half sparked by John Herrington and led by as much as 16 at one point. The scoreboard read 20-9 at the 1st period and 39-27 at halftime with Herrington owning 18 of the 39.

But gradually as the 2nd half got going the pendulum started swinging the other way. The down-but-not-out Vikings threw up a tight zone defense which forced the home club to shoot from outside. Waterford started missing and the visitors capitalized by fast breaking to many easy baskets led by Larry Vandervelde and Kirk Evans.

The 3rd quarter ended 45-43 for Waterford after an 11-point Viking spree. Walled Lake pulled ahead for the 1st time since the opening quarter with 6:03 left in the tilt on a goal by Evans. A later advantage reached five before Herrington found the range again for two fields but two Evans' fouls and a stall for the final 25 seconds clinched it.

Evans garnered 23 points for his best night of the season. Vandervelde hooped 12 as a reserve, all in the last half, and Gary Anderson hit 10 for the winners. Herrington, who made eight successive shots in one hot streak, finished with 29 and Barry Campbell added 12 for WTHS.

Southfield, crippled by the absence of two starters, had a busy time before downing Van Dyke 56-52 as four boys hit double numbers. Bill Chapman of the losers led them all with 20. Berkley won its 11th overall belting Farmington 69-47 behind the scoring of Lance Gentile (23-, Jack Vincent (16) and Pat McCary (13). Al Lesage hit 12 for Farmington.

Flint Central Dumps Vikings

Indians Near SVC Title by Conquering City Foe Northern, 75-58

Flint Central virtually wrapped up the Saginaw Valley Conference basketball championship last night with an impressive 75-58 victory over bitter city rival Flint Northern on the Flint IMA court.

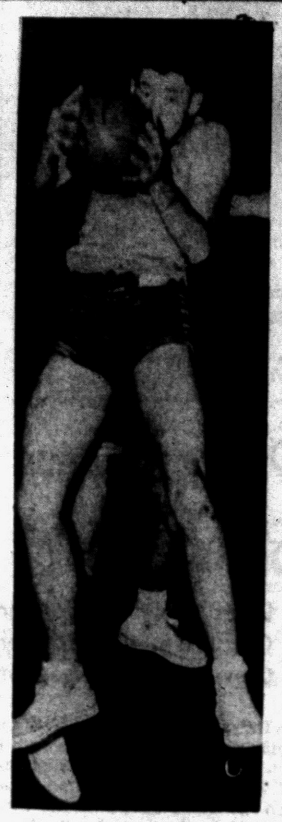

The two teams entered the game in a tie for 1st place with 7-1 league records. Each school has one Valley game remaining, Northern visiting Pontiac and Central entertaining Saginaw next Friday.

Central forged into a 32-25 halftime lead and really poured on the coal after intermission for its convincing showdown triumph.

Four Central cagers broke into double figures, headed by Felix Miller who bagged 21 points. Northern's Maurice Woodson scored 20 points.

Saginaw defeated city rival Arthur Hill yesterday, 66-62, in another Saginaw Valley contest on the Saginaw High floor.

ON THE BALL—Excellent as a scorer and rebounder in defeat last night was Waterford's John Herrington who tallied 29 points. This 1st quarter rebound resulted in a fast break for a basket for the Skippers.

Lapeer Quint Hands Romeo 68-58 Loss

Lapeer won its 5th game of the season by dumping Romeo, 67-58, last night with Jerry Bennington getting 22 points and Mike Shank 19.

★ ★ ★

Romeo managed to get within one point 55-54 late in the game, but then Lapeer got warmed up again and pulled away.

The Bulldogs are now 4-9 for the season.

HE'S MY BUDDY — Larry Vandervelde seemed to realize at the last instant that the fellow holding the ball after a missed shot was Walled Lake teammate Kirk Evans and not an enemy as he started to grab it away in the 1st half of last night's Viking-Waterford clash. Trying to reach in from behind and really make a steal is Skipper Jim Devine. Walled Lake trailed most of the way but came on to win 59-58.

Chisox Shell Out $100,000 to 3 Hurlers

CHICAGO (AP) — If the Chicago White Sox pitching staff is as high powered as it is high-salaried, the Pale Hose may be the team to beat in the American League race this season.

Obviously aiming at their hated rivals, the champion New York Yankees, the Pale Hose within the past few days shelled out an estimated $100,000 in salaries to pitchers Billy Pierce, Early Wynn and Dick Donovan.

'M' Runner Lamed; Illini Win Meet

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Illinois captured the mile relay when a Michigan runner came up lame and defeated the Wolverines 75-61 in a Big Ten dual track meet last night.

The meet went down to the last event, the relay, with Michigan needing a victory to capture the meet. The Wolverines' second runner, Milt Robinson, was leading by 10 yards when he pulled up lame giving Illinois the event.

Bobby Mitchell and John Lattimore each posted double victories for Illinois. Mitchell won the 60-yard dash in :06.3 and set a field house record in the 65-yard low hurdles. His time of .07.4 bettered by one tenth of a second the previous record held by ten runners.

Gophers Trip Wolverines

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Minnesota scored five goals in the second period and defeated Michigan 10-5 in a Western Intercollegiate Hockey League game last night.

St. Hedwig Upsets Eaglets

Rams Win Easy One

An unexpected defeat for Orchard Lake St. Mary Eaglets, and a rather easy victory for St. Frederick Ram cagers, marked the only parochial basketball activity in the Pontiac area Friday night.

A cold 3rd period for the Eaglets, on their own floor, was the stumbling block over which St. Mary fell to Detroit St. Hedwig, 52-48. Loss was the 5th for the Eaglets and leaves their record at 11-5.

It was a different story in St. Thomas hall, here, where Gene Wright's steady-going club grabbed a one-point 1st period edge over St. Cecilia of Detroit, boosted it to four at halftime, and then rolled along to the Rams' 9th win, 57-41. St. Frederick has lost four. St. Cecilia has a 3-10 record.

Rams' ace, Tom Derocher, paced the home club with 16, aided materially by Bill Bieri's 12. Bieri has been coming along well as a scorer in recent games. Game's top point-maker, however, was tall Larry David with 20. Teammate John Ryan contributed 14.

After 6 minutes had elapsed in the 3rd period at Orchard Lake with the count 26-25 for Eaglets Ed Johnson of the Hedwigs dunked one and John Czerwinski added another to send Detroiters ahead 29-26. Visitors then collected enough to make the total 40-29 near the end of the period. Going into the finale Eaglets staged a terrific scoring rush for 20 points, but Hedwigs matched it and that was the game. Loss was St. Mary's 3rd in a row.

Ex-Champ Dog Bids for Title

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn. (AP) — Former champion Palamonium made a strong bid for the national field trial championship yesterday but probably fell a little short.

The big white and liver pointer, owned by Jimmy Hinton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., ran a tremendous race but his bird work was somewhat sloppy.

Braces in a morning run were Farmer's Flak, owned by J. S. Farmer of Pontiac, Mich., and Turnto, a setter owned by George Feltman of Union City, Ind.

The stake is expected to last at least another week.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Sam Wolfson, former owner of the Jacksonville Braves, succeeds Bill Terry as president of the South Atlantic baseball league. Wolfson was elected at a meeting of the directors yesterday.

Maples Win, 64-44; Dales Suffer 1st Loss

The Eastern Michigan League standings got a shuffling last night when the state's 6th ranked class A team Ferndale fell to East Detroit 60-46 on the Shamrock court.

★ ★ ★

East Detroit took the lead from the start and never fell behind as five players led by Gary Ballman's 20 points accounted for all the scoring.

Both teams threw a zone defense at each other, and while East Detroit was able to hit from the outside, Ferndale could not find the range.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham played host to Port Huron and the Maples had a school scoring broken when Bob Stephenson hit for 36 points on 16 fielder and 11 free throws, to pace the 64-44 lead.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham never lost the lead after a close 12-11 first period. The Hurons failed to get a man in double figures although eight players scored.

Previous high at Birmingham was 35 by Barry Wall in the late 40's.

A field goal by Ron Quarters in the last five seconds handed Hazel Park a 52-51 victory over Mt. Clemens in yesterday's other EML game at Mt. Clemens. Len Nowicki netted 27 points for the Parkers.

Dryden Wins 2nd Straight

Almont Falls in Overtime

Memphis clinched second place in the Southern Thumb league by whipping Brown City 45-26, while New Haven was nipping Armada, 36-34 and Dryden was trouncing Capac, 60-35 in other loop contests.

Two Class C powers, Imlay City and Almont got together in an inter-league scrap and Imlay won out in overtime 67-65 after Almont blew a 15-point lead.

★ ★ ★

Imlay of the South Central League is now 12-0 for the season while Almont is 14-2. Gary Langeman had 20 for Imlay while Don Eshenberg and Frank Hartway had 18 and 17 for Almont.

★ ★ ★

Dryden made it two straight wins with Curtis Flater getting 17 and Herb Swagle 16.

Utica Scores 56-32 Rout of Lake Shore

A big second period which netted 23 points kept Utica in the lead all the way as the Chieftains downed Lake Shore, 56-32, last night.

★ ★ ★

Bill Rohnkhol got nine of his 10 points in the second quarter and Jim Cole got eight of his 16 in the same period.

Utica now has a 7-6 record for the season.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jim Pace, University of Michigan halfback who was named the most valuable Big Ten player last year, returned a signed contract yesterday to the San Francisco 49ers.

Avondale Rallies to Win

Spartans Nip Orion

An Avondale victory and a Lake Orion defeat dropped the local rivals into a tie for 3rd place in the Oakland B League as Fitzgerald took over sole possession of second last night.

The Spartans moved ahead of their closest contenders for the runnerup slot behind champion Troy by slowing Jim Drake down to post a 59-54 win at Orion and match an earlier triumph over the Dragons.

Taking advantage of the occasion, Avondale advanced over the .500 mark to 5-4 by whipping Madison 65-49 after a 1st half scare. Troy extended its season streak to 15 games to remain as Oakland Country's only unbeaten team. The Colts downed Clawson 45-33.

Drake and his running mate Nick Neira have been hitting in the 20s all season but the combination of an alert Fitzgerald defense and a "cold" shooting night saw Jim finish with only 10 as Nick rung up 28.

Lake Orion led 33-30 at halftime but a 16-8 3rd period edge iced the verdict for the visitors. Five straight jump shots by Fitzgerald's high scorer Bob Bush put the Spartans ahead to stay. Bush finished with 20 and John Massengale hit 16.

A 44-point last half was the answer for Avondale. The Yellow Jackets trailed 27-21 at halftime before hustling Mike Walker came off the bench to join Jerry Hill and Ray Goforth in an impressive offensive showing.

Hill tallied 16 of his 27, while Walker and Goforth hit their entire totals of 11 and 9 in the last two periods. Madison sharpshooter Rick Moos topped everyone with 28.

Troy only led 22-18 at halftime but had little trouble the rest of the way with a well-balanced scoring attack. George Almashy paced Clawson with 12.

DRIVING LARRY — Larry Vandervelde did not start in Walled Lake's big revenge win at Waterford last night but his 12 big points in the last half made him one of the stars of the game. He made his six field goals on driving layups like the one shown here which missed in the 2nd quarter after he got by the Skipper defender.

Wolves Get 13th in 78-58 Romp; Keego 5 Winner

W. Bloomfield Laces Brighton 63-58, While Milford Falls, 67-35

Clarkston is in the enviable position today of being able to win the Wayne-Oakland League championship by just splitting its final two games coming up next week.

The Wolves moved into the comfortable setting last night by walloping Holly by a 78-58 count as the Broncos were not up to an upset two weeks in succession.

The victory clinched at least a tie for the title for CHS regardless of the outcomes of the final games against Clarenceville and 2nd place Northville. Northville romped at Milford 67-35.

West Bloomfield completed a sweep of Brighton 63-58 to take over 4th place in the W-O and Clarenceville defeated Bloomfield Hills 58-48 in other loop games.

Clarkston held leads of 17-11 at 1st quarter and 33-25 at halftime before breaking its game wide open with a 23-16 3rd quarter score alone.

Little Leroy Parks sparked the Wolves to their 11th league victory and 13th all season with 25 points with Bill Noles adding 15 and Dick Lippert 12.

The inability of Holly center George McDaniel to see more than spot duty hurt the losing cause. He was in trouble early with three personal fouls in the 3rd quarter and was in and out of the lineup from then on.

The lanky senior did find time to tally 20 points while Bill Taylor had 11.

Northville was never pushed very hard at Milford as 6-8 center Jeff Goodrich returned to action for the 1st time since early December. He garnered 10 for the Mustangs while Cap Pethers hooped 21 and Dick Biery 11.

No Milford player could connect on more than two field goals as Terry Anderson's total of seven paced the losers.

Some hot shooting in the final period by John Lucadam and Ross Fockler pulled West Bloomfield from behind in the final half. They combined for 13 of the Lakers' final 17.

Midwest high school basketball is still tops in the nation spectator-wise. Middletown and Hamilton (Ohio) drew 24,000 to their games in Cincinnati Gardens.

Each school took home $9,200.

With many players leaving teams in recent weeks, Northville was different and got one back. Big Jeff Goodrich is a Mustang again. He scored 10 at Milford Friday, after being felled by sickness last November.

Jones Will Run Hurdles in AAU National Meet

Pontiac's Hayes Jones, Eastern Michigan College sophomore, flew into New York last night to participate in the National AAU Indoor championships today.

Jones leads the contingent as favorite in the 60-yard high hurdles.

This will be Jones' first start on a board track but coach George Marshall feels that if he gets a good start he can win the event easily.

The preliminaries will be run this afternoon and the finals tonight.

PCH Mat Team Wins Close One

Victories in four successive matches enabled Pontiac Central to overcome a big deficit and defeat Melvindale 24-22 in its final home wrestling appearance of the season last night.

The Chiefs were trailing 13-5 when Dave Payne scored a pin. Tom Osler, sophomore star Erasmo Trevino and Jerry Fields won decisions to put them ahead to stay.

John Herron's pin produced the final points and Melvindale missed a chance of pulling out a victory when its two final victors were held to decisions. Jack Keller had a Pontiac pin early in the meet.

It was the 5th straight triumph and eighth of the season for Pontiac which closes its regular slate Tuesday at Royal Oak Kimball.

Oak Park Winner, 53-50

Oak Park broke a tie with two minutes to play to nip L'Anse Creuse, 53-50, last night. Bob Bailey hit 18 for Oak Park while Ron Skrocki got 18 for L'Anse.

Tigers See Martin as '58 Key

Pesky to Assist New Tiger for Shortstop Job

Jack Tighe Assigns Ex-Boston Infielder to Coaching Duties

LAKELAND, Fla. (UP) — Johnny Pesky, former Detroit Tiger and Boston Red Sox shortstop, has taken on his third pupil — Billy Martin, a key figure in Detroit's hopes for a higher finish in the 1958 American League campaign.

Tiger manager Jack Tighe assigned Pesky yesterday to teach Martin how to cover the vital infield position. Pesky now is a manager in the Tiger farm system.

Martin, obtained in the big trade with Kansas City this winter, never has played shortstop on a regular basis. He was a second and third baseman with New York and the Athletics.

Tighe said Pesky "will work with Martin every day for the next two or three weeks."

★ ★ ★

Tiger players coached in the past by Pesky include Harvey Kuenn and Reno Bertoia.

"We felt that Pesky helped Kuenn a lot a few years ago," Tighe said.

He added he was confident Martin can fill the bill at shortstop for Detroit.

Tighe also said he feels Kuenn, Tiger shortstop for the past six years, can make the transition to centerfield.

"Martin's biggest problem will be to get used to making double plays from the other side of second base," Tighe said. "I know he can cover the ground for us. But he needs some coaching on plays and throws. Pesky really should help him."

Renew Scoring Rivalry Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle's Elgin Baylor, and challengers Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas renew their three-way battle for the individual scoring title among major college basketball players tonight.

Baylor, leading with a 33.9 average, tries Idaho State's defenses while Robertson, three-tenths of a point behind at 33.6, faces Tulsa. Chamberlain and his Kansas mates face Nebraska with the Stilt averaging 31.4, according to figures from the National Collegiate Service Bureau.

Roseville Downs Kimball

Roseville High won its 9th basketball game in 14 starts last night, a 54-40 triumph over Royal Oak Kimball at Royal Oak. The defeat was Kimball's 10th in 12 games.

Take on Leaders Tonight

Pistons Trail, Then Win, 109-107

DETROIT (UP) — The Detroit Pistons, in 2nd place by a slim .002 percentage margin in the National Basketball Assn.'s Western Division, take on the division leading St. Louis Hawks tonight.

George Yardley continued his high scoring last night collecting 32 points as the Pistons came from behind and defeated the Cincinnati Royals 109-107. The victory edged the Pistons past the Royals in the division standings. Detroit now has a 28-36 record. Cincinnati is 27-35.

Cincinnati was ahead 103-100 with slightly over three minutes remaining, when the Pistons scored eight points, including two looping field goals by Gene Shue, and took the lead the rest of the way.

Detroit held a 36-35 halftime lead.

Jack Twyman was high for Cincinnati with 24 points.

Yardley paced the Pistons, Shue scored 25 points for Detroit.

In other NBA games, last night, the Hawks clinched a tie for the division lead when they edged the Celtics 119-100 in St. Louis. Philadelphia strengthened its 3rd place position with a 117-111 overtime victory over the 4th place New York club.

The Hawk win clipped the Celtics first-place Eastern lead to 7½ games over the Syracuse Nats. Any combination of Celt's victories and Nats' defeats, adding up to two could clinch the Eastern title for Boston.

Pick First All-Stars

NEW YORK (UP) — Guy Rodgers of Temple, who was voted the most valuable player award in the 1957 Holiday basketball festival, and Fordham's high-scoring Jim Cunningham were picked today as the first two players for the annual East-West All Star game March 29.

Chief Tankers Dunk Bay City

Bob Boyce's Pontiac Central High swimming Chiefs yesterday afternoon won a "dandy meet" for their coach, dunking Bay City Central 51-45 in a home-pool match. Victory reversed the results of the first meeting between the SVC teams earlier in the season.

Pontiac was trailing in the early events, but came from behind, winning the last three.

"It was a real thriller to win" said the PCH mentor. "Duke Cummins did an excellent job in the individual medley. Our medley relay team also was good, missing the pool record by two-tenths of a second."

Others PCH winners—Gideon Robarge, orthodox breaststroke (1:13.2); Rose's time, 1:31.0; Cummins' time 20.0; 160-yard med. relay (Gibbs, Powers, Robarge, Cummins) 1.36.7; 160-yard free-style relay (Roberts, Ruth, Horst, Tollefson) 1:22.0.

Sports Business Good for Million $$ at 'M'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP) — Intercollegiate athletics at Michigan is a 1½-million-dollar-a-year business but during 1956-57 there was hardly any profit to show for it.

The Wolverines came out with only about $13,500 during the last fiscal year, a report made yesterday showed. Michigan's regents accepted the report at their regular meeting. It was prepared by Michigan's board in control of intercollegiate athletics.

The figures showed receipts on actual intercollegiate events totaled about $920,000. All but $40,000 was accrued by football. Hockey was the only other intercollegiate sport in the black. The other eight intercollegiate sports lost money.

Other miscellaneous income brought the total up to $1,447,934.82 (M) for the year. But sports cost $1,436,094.68 (M) during the same period. About a third of the expenditures was spent on plant additions such as the new pressbox and increased seating capacity at Michigan Stadium.

"It must be recognized that the funds of the board have now been fully expended," said the report signed by board chairman and athletic director Fritz Chrisler. "Any organization having a budget of approximately $1,500,000 (M) which ends its fiscal year with only $13,500 on hand is operating on a very close margin."

The report said the shortness of funds prevents it from contemplating any substantial additions or changes to the physical athletic plant.

But it added there has been some early stage planning done on building athletic facilities on the new north campus.

The report indicated Michigan's pleasure with the Big Ten's new financial aid plan.

It also showed a desire for a Big Ten hockey conference. Michigan has been a member of the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League for several years. But it is withdrawing along with Minnesota and Michigan State at the end of the current season. Crisler said Michigan will operate next season as an independent team.

Dondero Snaps Streak

Royal Oak Dondero ended a seven game losing streak last night by edging Wyandotte, 64-62 with John Kerr getting 25 points to lead the way. It was 31-31 at halftime and Dondero finally broke away to four points with two minutes to play.

Spartans, Purdue Busy Tonight

Prep for Monday's Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State and Purdue, the first and second place teams in the torrid Big Ten basketball race, meet second division opposition tonight in preparation for their big battle at Lafayette Monday night.

Michigan State (7-3) takes on last place Wisconsin (3-7) and Purdue (6-4) is host to ninth place Minnesota (4-7).

In previous games Minnesota defeated Purdue 83-76 at Minneapolis and Wisconsin stung MSU 66-52 at Madison.

Another important battle tonight finds Indiana (5-4) at Ohio State (7-5) while Iowa (5-4) takes on Iowa State at Iowa City. In a regionally televised matinee (3 p.m. CST), Northwestern (5-5) is at Michigan (4-5).

With the end of the conference race only two weeks and four games away, Michigan State and Purdue appear to have the inner track. If both win tonight and Purdue uses its home floor advantage to whip Michigan State Monday night, the two teams would be tied with 8-4 records and two games to play.

In addition to the MSU-Purdue game, other action Monday night finds Michigan at Indiana, Iowa at Northwestern and Wisconsn at Minnesota.

Secord Table Net Champ

Perc Secord, Pontiac's veteran table tennis artist, has shown that he can still master the younger set.

Secord won the city's first annual handicap singles championship last night by breezing past hard-hitting Dick Heymann in the finals at the Pontiac Central High girls' gymnasium.

Heymann bowed in straight games. The scores were 21-18, 21-19, 21-15.

Secord reached the final by defeating Dick Bartow and Don Waterman. Heymann moved into the title round with victories over Howard Heckman and Bill Wettlaufer.

Miss Carol Ryan, defending state singles champion, is competing in the Michigan Table Tennis Tournament this weekend at the G.A.R. building in Detroit, along with Secord, Wettlaufer, Carl Knaack, Dave Barnhart, Ronald Beckman and Jerry Kruskie.

Sunday Tilt 35th in Series

Rams, Mikes Play at PCH

By H. GUY MOATS

With St. Frederick shooting for its 3rd straight victory over its North Side parochial rival, St. Michael, and an improving Shamrock quintet fired up to spoil the effort, area fans are assured another "one of those games" that have marked the long rivalry between the schools, come Sunday.

The Sunday tilt, one of three between the schools' grade team, the junior varsity and varsity squads, is set for the big PCH gymnasium, where on Jan. 23 Rams battered the Shamrocks 54-25 for their 19th win in the series. Grade fives collide at 1:30, the JVs at 2:30 and the big game at 3:30.

Current series has been underway since the 1943-44 season. Rams have been victors in 19 tilts, Shamrocks in 15. Rams took the last of the 1956-57 games, 55-54, won the first collision this season. The teams could meet again in the district playoffs, in which the Shamrocks, strangely enough, hold a 6 of 7 edge. In the 1953 district, Shamrocks had not won a game all season, but upset Rams for their only victory.

There is a possibility of a hot scoring battle between Rams' No. 1 point-maker, Tom Derocher and St. Michael's Bob Mineweaser, only senior on the north siders' club. Both have turned in some shining jobs in recent games, the latest being Mineweaser's 32 against St. Rita on Thursday and Derocher's 28 against Sacred Heart.

After Sunday's game, only three tilts remain for the area Catholic squads. Detroit Sweetest Heart of Mary will be at OL St. Mary's on Wednesday; St. Francis Xavier (Ecorse) at St. Frederick on Thursday and the finale, prior to tournament play, St. Michael at Lamphere Friday.

Mazur Leads at Houston

HOUSTON, Te. (INS) — Pete Mazur of Buffalo, N.Y., shot a one-under-par second round 71 Friday —to take the lead in the $30,000 Houston Classic golf tournament at Memorial Park course.

Mazur's 36-hole stroke total of 139 broke a five-way tie which existed at the end of Thursday's first round.

He was one stroke ahead of Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., Roberto de Viconzo of Mexico City, and Jimmy Demaret of Houston, who finished the second round with 140 totals. De Vicenzo and Demaret carded 70's and Furgol had a 72.

The following players were bracketed at 141:

Ed (Porky) Oliver, Canton, Mass.; Milon Marusic, Webster Grove, Mo.; Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla.; and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, St. Louis.

Ragan had the day's best round —a three-under-par 69.

Sunday, February 23rd, 2:30 p.m.

Commissioner* CLAUDE E. BATES
Territorial Commander, Officiating

The Salvation Army is proud and happy to welcome you to the Open House and Dedication Services this Sunday. It is indeed with pride that they show you this "dream-Come-true" . . . the actuality of a Men's Social Service Center in Oakland County. They have come a long way in accomplishment, they have turned an old warehouse and the communities discards into a new life for the men of the street.

Proceeds to operate the center come from the sale of your discarded articles, which are refinished or repaired by men who are learning new trades or applying skills from out of their past. They have their own outlet, the Red Shield Store. Papers and rags are baled and sold to paper mills and industrial firms for re-use. Through the revenue gained from these sources the center is completely self-supporting. They now have accommodations for fifty-five resident men.

The very things that we don't want, the articles that collect in our attics, basements and closets . . . are the basis of success of the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center.

PALS—Ronald Collins had no chance of posing without his dog Hans who's a ham actor and must get into the act. This picture shows very plainly the grain of the gumwood paneling on the chimney. Your Neighbor's House

Ronald Collins Complete Home in Clarkston

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Not many carpenters' apprentices finish their schooling and their home at the same time. This was the experience of Ronald Collins of Moorwood street, Clarkston Estates No. 2. He completed his four years of schooling in his chosen work at the same time he finished building his 1900 square foot home.

The Collins' (she works full time in an office) chose a half acre lot in the subdivision south of Clarkston village. For three years they were apartment dwellers. The first year plans were drawn and footings for the house were put in.

During the second year the garage was built. "You have no idea, Mr. Collins says, "how useful it was to have that garage built before the house." The third year saw the completion of their six-room house and breezeway.

That was a year ago. Of course, there are still things to be done. The fact that the Press was to photograph the house hurried the couple into papering one wall of the sewing room and the bathroom. They still have furniture and rugs to buy. The back porch isn't all done.

But . . . and this is different from many people who build it themselves . . . the Collins won't have to add on any rooms. What they built will take care of them and any future family for many years. Their rooms are large; their house is DONE from a building standpoint.

TRIM EXTERIOR

You drive up to the front door of the Collins home on a semi-circular drive. The house exterior is gray brick with turquoise trim. The breezeway and garage set back a little ways from the front of the house.

Just inside the double front doors is a slate floored vestibule. Between the door and the kitchen is a coat closet with louvered doors. The hallway leading to the bedrooms at the right has a hardwood floor.

To the left and one step down is the 17x24-foot living room. At the front is a bay window with white ruffled curtains. An antique maple day bed fits well in this bay. Mrs. Collins covers it with a patchwork quilt.

GUM WOOD PANELING

Walls are pale blue; the ceiling white acoustical tile. The front of the chimney and the wall above the bay windows are paneled in gum wood finished in a natural shade. Behind the window paneling is indirect lighting.

The low hearth is tiled, while other tiles frame the fireplace opening. Above it is a ceiling light. It takes two rugs to cover the floor in this room; they are rosy beige color.

Much of the Collins' furniture is antique. The little organ belonged to her grandmother; Mr. Collins took off all the gingerbread trim and refinished it. Now it is a beautiful pale golden shade.

Near the bay window is an antique table with two old rockers in front of it. One of the latter has quaint flowered cushions on it. Mrs. Collins' grandfather made her a pine cobbler's bench to use as a coffee table. This is pegged, rather than nailed.

Other furniture needed to fill this huge living room includes a davenport and chair upholstered in blue with blond wood trim. A more modern chair is blond wood with pale green cushions.

At the far end of the living room is the dining room. This is up one step. Instead of windows it has French doors opening out into the breezeway.

A bookcase on one side of the step partially closes off this area. On the back wall is a hanging shelf with Mrs. Collins' cup collection. Over the table is a star spray light fixture.

The floor here is prefinished hardwood in a block pattern. Walls are blue like the living room. Furniture is dark mahogany.

The kitchen is a long narrow room with a large window at one end. Because Mrs. Collins is only five feet tall, all her cupboards are lower than in most homes.

The floor has spatter print linoleum in pink, gray and black. Walls are shocking pink. Space has been left between the stained

LARGE BEDROOM — All the bedrooms in the Collins' home are large. This one, at the front of the house, has long corner windows. Walls are turquoise. The plaid bed ruffle and curtains combine turquoise, avocado and yellow. Furniture is blonde modern.

BUILT IN CLARKSTON — The Ronald Collins built this six room house with breezeway and garage in Clarkston Estates No. 2. Mr. Collins, an apprentice carpenter during the time he was working on the house, took three years to construct the gray brick structure. Trim is turquoise. The house contains 1,900 square feet.

A LONG ROOM — Light from the window at one end floods this long kitchen. Walls are shocking pink, pine cupboards are finished in a natural shade. The floor is spatter print linoleum in pink, black and gray. Chintz curtains are pink and black. There's a rotisserie in the wall oven at the left. Out of the picture, at the right, is the washer and dryer.

OLD AND NEW BLEND — In the corner is an antique organ that belonged to Mrs. Collins' grandmother. Her husband refinished it. Next to it is a modern plastic TV set. The rest of the living room furniture is a combination of modern and antique. In the dining room it is traditional mahogany. The living room is a step lower than the dining room and the hall. Walls in these two rooms are pale blue; the rug is rosy beige.

SEWING ROOM — A room all her own in which to sew (and one in which she can leave a mess and close the door), is this tiny sewing room of Mrs. Collins. Even the wallpaper is in keeping with the purpose of the room. For good light there's a window over the sewing machine and a semi-direct ceiling fixture.

MOVE-IN COSTS DOWN — Because of recent relaxations of FHA requirements it is possible to move into this Highland Estates house for under $1,000 "move-in" costs. The house, called the Challenger, has 3 bedrooms, full basement and a large family room. The kitchen includes a 9-foot refrigerator, an automatic washer and 4-burner range. Lots are at least 75 feet wide by 150 feet deep. The exterior of the house is brick. Located near the intersection of Highland and Airport roads, the subdivision has blacktop streets, walks and curbs, its own water system and complete storm sewer system. Sales are being handled by Bert L. Smokler & Company.

pine cupboards and the refrigerator for a dishwasher.

Mrs. Collins has a built-in oven, but only a two-burner stove unit. We asked her if this were enough, especially when she has company. She assured us it was. In addition to the rotisserie in her oven she has lots of electrical appliances.

In the window area there's a white table and chairs with pink and gray plastic seats. Curtains are black and pink chintz.

At the opposite end of the kitchen the washer and dryer fit in smoothly along one wall. Room was taken from this end to make a little lavatory.

Many women readers will envy Mrs. Collins her sewing room. Minute in size, it is big enough for her sewing machine, her clothes "dummy" and supplies. The wallpaper is most appropriate, depicting as it does a dressmaker scene with needles, thread, pins, shears, etc. in pink, blue and white. Lighting is excellent.

Of the three bedrooms only one is in actual use. There is furniture in the other two rooms and they can be used for guests. But they are not complete.

SEASCAPE PAPER

The bathroom with its large vanity has a gray and white tile floor. Walls are white, fixtures rose. The new paper is black with a seascape design on it in pinks, rose and blue.

Large corner windows that end just above the baseboard heating units are a feature of the Collins' bedroom. Here the walls are turquoise. Furniture is blonde in color, modern in design.

An avocado spread with turquoise and avocado plaid ruffles covers the bed. Denim plaid curtains echo the same colors and add yellow. There are scatter rugs on the floor.

The Collins home is definitely a do-it-yourself project. Few other homeowners, however, have had the advantages Ronald Collins had in his building training. Although he had done no other building before that, his experience is considerably broader now.

Use Squeeze Bottle

A plastic squeeze bottle, such as the type used for mustard at lunch counters, does an excellent job of caulking small cracks when filled with compound which has been mixed with a few drops of paint thinner to make it flow more easily.

A picture or mirror that tends to hang crookedly can be straightened permanently by driving a brad halfway into one lower corner, filing the brad to a sharp point, and pressing the point into the wall.

Tricks of Painting Trade Will Produce Better Job

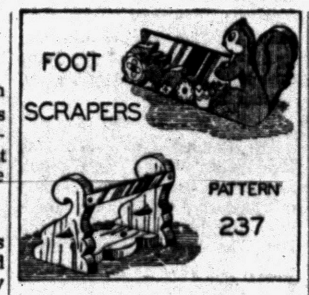

Before painting a surface which has been waxed, remove all traces with turpentine or one of the products prepared especially for that purpose. Clean rags should be used for the final clean-up.

★ ★ ★

If your painting job involves hiding cracks, rough or patched plaster or dry wall seams, try using a texture paint which is thicker than regular paint. First brush it on. Then stipple with a brush or sponge.

The first large scale silvering of mirrors in America was begun by two Bostonians in 1739.

Dust—Unwanted Insulator

Dust is an insulator. When it collects in the nooks and crannies of radiators it holds back the heat, prevents getting the utmost value from your investment in fuel. Keeping radiators clean protects walls, ceilings and furnishings, too.

Heating System Takes Pro Hand

Do not attempt to adjust or repair your house heating boiler yourself and particularly do not tinker with the controls. This is the advice offered by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

★ ★ ★

It is best to leave all repairs and replacements to an experienced heating and piping contractor. The contractor who installed your system should have left his name and address and telephone number posted near your boiler so that you will always know whom to call in case service is needed.

★ ★ ★

A wise precaution is to arrange for the inspection and cleaning of the heating system by a heating and piping contractor at least once a year. At this time the service man will lubricate all moving parts and check on the operation of the controls.

When you are planning major repairs or modernization of the heating system, you should also consult with a reliable heating firm for estimates and suggestions.

One of the most worth-while modernization projects is the replacement of an old coal fired boiler equipped with some type of a conversion burner with a modern, streamlined packeted boiler with a built-in burner designed especially for the boiler. Also available are package boilers with all controls and accessories installed.

Protect Resistant Woods

Don't . . forget that, while certain woods (such as redwood, cypress and cedar) have excellent resistance to the weather, preservatives are still advisable when the wood is in contact with the ground.

NEWS VIEWS

A national magazine recently pointed out that the biggest threat to the world today isn't the H-Bomb . . . it's just plain bad manners. Just about any explosion in any situation starts with somebody blowing his top. That's as obvious as a thumb in your eye.

Most of the problems in world affairs and in our everyday lives would disappear like smoke in a high wind if we watched our manners . . . and tried to put ourselves in the other fellow's shoes. Domestic squabbles, problems of labor and management, friction between fellow workers, and a lot of highway accidents all happen because somebody said "Oh, yeah?" instead of "I'm sorry." There are still many times when good manners won't solve the problem . . . but they're sure worth a real try every time.

In Los Angeles a 240-pound man was arrested for stealing reducing pills. That's a weighty matter for the judge to consider. Choosing the right piece of property for a new home or an investment can be a weighty problem for the average buyer . . . but not when he consults a reliable realtor who has the experience of thousands of those transactions behind him. Remember Realtor Partridge is the "bird" to see, 1050 W. Huron, FE 4-3581.

Protect Paintings Over Fireplace

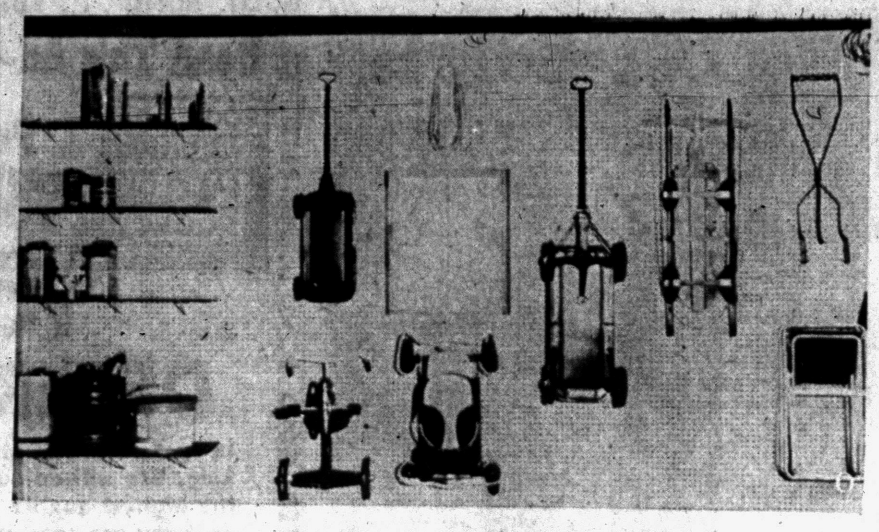

While a painting over the hearth in a living room or library gives a wonderfully comfortable look to the room, experts say that such a location could be harmful to the painting itself. Exposure to heat and tiny soot particles might cause cracking in an oil, for instance. Accumulation of ordinary dust on the surface can also be very damaging.

A protective device which has been used for some time by museums and advertising artists is the application of a thin sealing film that safely guards original colors and textures. Recently, this trick has been made available to the home do-it-yourselfer in easy applying pushbutton form.

Recommended for the surface of oil paintings is an invisible varnish spray. This can also be used on the back of the canvas to insulate against moisture and mildew. For fine reproductions, pastels, watercolors and other smooth-surface media, there's a clear acrylic plastic that also comes in a handy aerosol container.

Official government estimates indicate that about 15 per cent of the nation's population will move to another home this year — either new or used.

TIDY GARAGE — Toys, folding chairs, and oil and paint cans that formerly were in the way on the floor now are neatly stored on the "working wall" of Masonite ¼" "Peg-Board" panels in this garage. Hooks and shelf fixtures fit into the perforations and support the various items.

New Rocker Spring Means Lower Costs

The "do-it-yourself" rocking chair may soon be just around the corner at your favorite furniture dealer's store.

The Seng Company, Chicago, introduced at the recent winter furniture market in that city a new rocker spring that should open up new vistas for what has become one of America's favorite furniture pieces. Several manufacturers are already using the spring and many more are busily styling rockers that will incorporate it.

Designed especially for revolving platform rockers, this spring is adaptable to a plain, single-board construction rather than the glued and corner-blocked frame heretofore needed. This simplified construction should enable manufacturers to pass along considerable savings to the public because of the production economies.

And that's where the "do it yourself" angle comes in. This spring will permit the maker to ship finished rockers "knocked down" to dealers, pointing up the possibility of further savings to the consumer. The base, which is bolted directly to the rocker springs, and the legs, can be shipped with the arms and back in a fairly small carton. The base is attached to the roeker springs with four bolts, by the dealer or even by the purchaser, and the rocker is ready for action.

Homemakers who have shunned ordinary platform rockers will be delighted with the fresh, clean look of the new rockers that will be developed with these springs. The rocker platform, for example, will be installed almost an inch higher inside the seat frame, eliminating the unsightly view of the square platform when the chair is rocked back.

Trend to Wood Now Extends to Kitchen Floor

There's a trend toward such flooring in some sections, particularly in New England and other eastern areas, according to field reports from flooring manufacturers.

Contributing largely to the innovation, they explain, has been the development of improved lacquer-type finishes exceptionally resistant to water and grease spotting. Floors of fine oak or other good-looking hardwood, when protected with such finishes, render excellent kitchen service.

This new application of hardwood is seen as a logical extension of the growing appreciation for the warmth and appeal of all-wood kitchens. Home owners preferences in the last few years have been marked by a continually mounting demand for wood kitchen cabinets.

One study has indicated that 80 per cent of the water a modern family uses is hot water. Experts have estimated that there are more than one hundred uses for hot water in a home.

Train Eye to See House Possibilities

Looking for a home to remodel? When you look at an old house, try to train your eye to see it, not as it is, but as it should be.

Ornate-looking houses are basically simple in plan — a rectangle or a "T." If you strip off useless porches and remove gingerbread trim moldings, you have a simple structure that lends itself to modern styling and easy maintenance.

Take a tall, awkward two-or three-story house, put on a roof of dark asphalt shingles and paint the top story darker than the lower floor. This will make the house look several feet lower and more modern. A garage connected to the house by a breezeway will give DAYLIGHT SHAVING TIME— Functional glass units in prefabricated skylight make it possible to shave by natural daylight in this interior bathroom.

Good Care Has Own Reward

If you don't move too frequently and take good care of your refrigerator and your range, you can expect 15 years of efficient service from them.

Modern techniques of engineering, modern materials developed for durabilty, and modern methods of care all contribute to the longer life of tnday's household equipment.

A recent study by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Institute of Home Economics showed that new ranges are kept in service 15 years, new refrigerators for about the same length of time, and new washing machines of all types for about 9 years.

The homemaker who gives her household equipment good care will be rewarded not only by longer life but by efficient service. Refrigerators, for instance, should be de-iced regularly, as an accumulation of ice in the freezing compartment puts a strain on the motor. The burners and oven interiors of range should be kept clean of any accumulation of grease or liquids that have boiled over.

The care of the enamel or other finish on the outside of the appliances is equally important. A clean-up wax with a creamy base will keep the finishes in good condition and serve as a protection against finger marks and stains. If such liquids as milk or acid fruit juices are spilled on some enamel surfaces they may cause stains.

An interesting angle of the study was in the difference between the average life span of equipment in farm than in city homes, while ranges have shorter life spans in rural areas.

Preparations Necessary

An important step in preparation for painting is to dust your walls thoroughly with a clean, dry mop. In the kitchen, where walls are likely to have grease on them, they may need actual washing with cleansers before they are painted. Be sure to follow every direction given on the label. Before starting work with painting materials, rub protective cream into your hands and arms. This makes it easy to remove paint from your skin, if you need to.

Wrought Iron Gains Favor

Ornamental wrought iron railings and columns find many uses, both inside and outside, on old and new structures.

Wrought iron railings may be used on both exterior and interior staircases and balconies, around porches, stoops, landings and platforms, "airing porches," swimming pools, etc., wherever an added touch of beauty is desired or danger of falls exists.

Columns are manufactured in flat and corner types, the latter consisting of two flat columns at right angles to each other with a common corner "leg." Properly constructed, wrought iron columns have ample strength to permit their use as structural members for supporting porch roofs, breezeways, balconies, canopies, door awnings, patio covers, etc.

Wrought iron columns, like railings, are gaining increasing popularity in interior decorative and structural applications such as balcony suppors, room dividers, planted supports, etc.

Most manufacturers of wrought iron railings and columns offer a choice of a number of designs from which the homeowner or architect may select a style to harmonize with the architecture of the structure and to suit his personal preference and budget.

Some manufacturers have given great care to the development of designs to insure authenticity and to harmonize with every popular style of architecture from the very simple to the most ornate. In most instances, the homeowners' personal preference will dictate the selection of a suitable style and very frequently the salesman will have made a study of the suitability of the various styles and will be able to offer helpful suggestions if called upon.

Insulation Made of Molten Minerals

Mineral wool insulation is made from three principal materials: rock, glass, or slag.

In the manufacturing process, one or more of these raw materials is mixed with coke and heated to a molten mass into millions of fibers.

The fibers fall naturally into a thick, interwoven mass containing millions of tiny dead-air spaces. These dead-air spaces provide an efficient barrier to heat transmission.

Shower Saves Work

For households with perspiring golfers, dirt-stained gardeners, or mud-caked young athletes a shower stall in the basement can be a work-saver for the homemaker. A shower surfaced in waterproof ceramic tile gives the active members of the family a chance to clean up without tracking through the rest of the house. It's a good idea to provide drying racks nearby for damp or dirty outdoor clothes.

Can Relieve Monotony

Box-like monotony of a rectangular frame house can be relieved with a few simple additions. A carport or breezeway, coupled with a quarry tile terrace, can break the rigid lines and give added dimension. Judicious use of shrubbery, such as arbor vitae flanking the doors and corners, breaks the monotony of straight lines.

Treat Wallpaper With Clear Lacquer

Non-washable wallpaper can be made spot resistant and easier to clean by coating it with either clear flat wallpaper lacquer or wax emulsion.

★ ★ ★

First, be sure the paper is clean. Give two coats of regular wallpaper size, a substance of gelatin-like consistency available at hardware stores. Allow the first coat to dry thoroughly before applying the second. When the second coat is dry, apply two coats of lacquer or wax emulsion with a soft brush.

★ ★ ★

Lacquer may cause some colors to run, so test in a small inconspicuous area before coating the whole wall.

Glass Skylight Allows Shaving in Inner Room

On all but the very darkest days of the year, that's the experience of a homeowner who installed a new type of "functional" skylight in his bathroom. Moreover, putting the bathroom in the interior of his house has given more outside wall space to his living, dining, working and sleeping areas.

The year 'round natural light comes from a pre-fabricated ceiling panel composed of "working" glass units. Prisms built into each unit select only the most advantageous rays of the sun to enter and be diffused throughout the room.

These prisms allow cool north rays and rays from low-angle sun to enter, automatically rejecting the critical high-altitude hot sun of summer and late spring. This keeps the bathroom cooler in the summer months.

Although he has used this bathroom every morning for the past year, its owner is still sometimes confused—he finds himself reaching to turn off the light, not realizing he didnt have to turn it on in the first place!

Sliding Door Adjusts

Home-owners can now buy an aluminum sliding glass door adjustable for misalignment because of foundation settlement. A simple screw driver adjustment of ball bearing rollers does the trick. These doors, in widths of six to 16 feet, are made by Capitol Products Corp., Mechanicsburg, Pa.

Wipe tools with waxed paper occasionally. This gives them just enough of a protective coat of wax to keep rust away, and avoids the messiness of oil and the possibility of getting oil stains on wood.

WHEN YOU HEAT with Gas

you're really living! The best in modern fuels deserves the best in modern equipment. Play safe. Be sure.

BONUS ROOMS — There are eight rooms, including three bedrooms and 1½ baths, in this one-story ranch house. It has two more rooms than houses of comparable size.

GOOD TRAFFIC PLAN — Study this floor plan and you will see that excellent circulation is provided. No single room must be used as a passageway.

Modest House Gives 8 Rooms in 1,300 Sq. Ft.

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

Here's a house with a bonus of two rooms. The extra living space comes at no extra cost because the eight rooms, including three bedrooms, have been designed into the same area usually required for a six-room house.

★ ★ ★

This "dividend" house was based on a study of many homes of approximately 1,300 square feet—a size that falls into the category of a small, economy priced dwelling.

All homes of 1,300 square feet reviewed by the architect responsible for this House of The Week plan, designated HW-93, invariably contained no more than six rooms.

How to get two extra rooms into the same area, the architect asked himself. Good design and imaginative use of space provided the answer. The successful plan thus incorporates as many useful rooms as possible into a one-story, in-line ranch house of the modest, 1,300-square foot size.

In addition to the eight rooms being cleverly shoehorned into 1,300 square feet, the house also boasts a 40 square foot front foyer—a luxury not usually afforded in a house of this size.

LARGER BATH CREATED

"The room that usually suffers in size, in a minimum house, is the bath. It is brought on the drafting board to the minimum size of 5 by 7 feet, or 35 square feet—and the tub is placed under the window.

"There is a marked trend today, however, for larger, more luxurious baths—and this design follows this trend. The bath is 9 by 7 feet, or 63 square feet."

The bath in HW-93 thus falls only 7 square feet short of being twice the size of a minimum size bath.

The bath has a vanity, a double lavatory, a towel cabinet and a screen in front of the water closet. And the tub is on the side wall, where it belongs.

"Circulation in this home is excellent," Matern adds. "Nothing suffers from its compactness. No room must be used as a passageway."

There is a full basement except under the area occupied by the garage. With the exterior basement door, the architect explains, the cellar space becomes a wonderful area to finish later as a rumpus or recreation room.

PLATFORM FOR PLANTS

The 40 square foot front foyer has a guest closet below the height of the ceiling. This arrangement creates a platform above for plants. The family room has a folding screen partition which permits the foyer to be closed off or opened to provide a 20 foot view to the sliding glass doors and beyond to the rear terrace.

There are built-in cabinets on the left wall of the family room and a low planter extends through the rear wall of this room and out onto the terrace.

Brick veneer has been used as exterior material around the entire house except at the front entrance. Wood finish has been used to flank the front entrance and flush boards have been used at the left with flower pots and brackets hanging from them.

Deep, vertically grooved plywood is used on the right of the front entrance under the living room windows. The chimney, 7 feet wide, rises to its full height to become an exterior feature. Planters flank the porch and there is another planter under the dining room window.

The rear terrace is of scored concrete. Asphalt shingles are used for the roof and all windows in the house are double-hung aluminum windows. There is a setback over the dining room and the roof at this point has open rafters to allow natural light to come in.

House Has 1,299 Sq. Ft.

The overall dimensions of House of The Week HW-93 are 71 feet by 24 feet 8 inches, including the garage area. A lot 90 feet by 100 feet is recommended. Excluding the brick veneer and the garage, the house has 1,299 square feet. Add 39 square feet for the brick veneer and 282 square feet for the garage.

If you are interested in seeing a study plan of this house, send 35 cents in coin to House of the Week, The Pontiac Press, Pontiac 12, Michigan and ask for HW-93.

No Growing Pains With Advance Plan

It's easier to make your home "grow" if you plan ahead. Homeowners who build with the thought of future expansion can often save time and money by making a few growth provisions in the original construction.

★ ★ ★

If an unfinished second floor is planned, it is a good idea to rough in plumbing and wiring in the upstairs, even though no expansion will be made for several years. A future stairwell can be roughed in, too, and then partitioned off and used as a closet until it is needed for stairs.

If a new room or wing is planned for the future, it is important to lay out the original building so the new addition can be extended from an existing door or hallway without extensive structural change.

Wright Features Wood

A house designed by the celebrated architect, Frank Lloyd Wright, for one of his sons in a Washington, D.C., suburb, features wood inside and out. Wherever wood siding is used on the exterior of the house, wood paneling appears on the inside, in keeping with the Wright "mono-material" system.

Color Orange Psychological

Did you know that you'll remember more details about a room that uses orange in its decorative scheme? This is because orange has an extremely high "memory score," and is one of several interesting findings about this color which resulted from a recent study.

★ ★ ★

The color experts who worked on the project found that orange, unlike most all other colors, can exert pronounced psychological effects. Measurement tests using spectrometers showed that it has a special purity virtually free from black or white. Therefore, as a pure hue it is especially attention-commanding. It is uniquely stimulative. In addition, orange proved dominant in tests for visibility.

The study was taken up as a matter of general interest by Climax Molybdenum Company, makers of molybdic oxide (a raw material of orange pigment), in view of the increasing fashion for orange in homes, commercial buildings, paints and printing inks. Some of the findings are, of course, "common knowledge," and have been put to use for some time in safety and visibility devices.

But based on some of the newly-proven "personality traits," Climax color experts have suggested several other ways in which orange can be used to advantage. Its compulsive power can easily be utilized to call attention to a particular part of a room, or serve to draw a problem area inward.

It is a warm and alert hue, so a wonderful choice for a room meant for activity such as a game room. And because of the recognized preference of children for bright, attention-demanding colors, orange is a good decorative color for a nursery or playroom. In commercial structures, such as schools or office buildings, bright orange walls might provide just the right "stimulant" to speed walking traffic in a hallway which tends to be congested.

Bleaching Cedar Retains Natural Beauty of Wood

Bleaching of cedar to subdue the rich autumn colors of the wood and yet retain its natural beauty is receiving preference from many architects. Especially in paneling and where western red cedar lumber is used as exposed ceiling decking, a white primer coat is brushed on and wiped off immediately.

★ ★ ★

After thoroughly drying, the wood is sanded with 6-0 paper and clear varnish is brushed on. Rub the last coat with 4-0 steel wool for best results. The wood should first be sanded with 2-0 paper.

Arrange House to Avoid Jam in Traffic Flow

Home traffic sometimes follows the line of most resistence. This generally means more work for the homemaker—putting everything back in place at the end of a day—that could be avoided with a little "traffic engineering."

While the average homemaker may demur to the exalted title of "traffic engineer," she often wears the mantle—and sometimes it weighs heavily. She daily performs some of the same functions as her municipal counterpart by attempting to direct a smooth flow of traffic through the rooms of her home.

After a normal day's use, or an evening of entertainment, if you have to "put back" tables, chairs and other pieces of furniture, chances are you need to do a bit of traffic engineering. Room traffic doesn't necessarily follow the path of least resistence.

To help in the traffic engineering job, make a rough sketch of the room, noting the position of all doors and windows. This will help in determining the basic flow of traffic through the room.

Sketch in furniture groupings. A room can have a central focal point, such as a colorful fireplace faced in ceramic tile, or it can have several groupings according to activity — for reading, sewing or conversation. You can quickly determine which of these arrangements will best lend itself to the shape and needs of your room.

Don't fight normal traffic patterns; help them.

Heating Systems Fall in 4 Classes

There are a variety of resistance electric heating systems made by leading manufacturers today, all of which will provide excellent winter comfort. The systems fall into these classifications:

1. Wall-Mounted Radiant Heat Panels—Made of glass, ceramic, aluminum and other products.

2. Baseboard systems—One type moves air via natural convection; others are radiant type heaters.

3. Wall - Mounted convectors — Some move the air through a warming cycle of natural flow. In others, a gentle fan action is added.

4. Ceiling Systems—This radiant heating system uses resistance wire imbedded in the plastered ceiling.

Closets Can Be Pretty

Ever shudder when someone opened your closet? Often it can be prettied by painting it. The lightness also helps find clothing. All closets should be aired, scrubbed and reorganized occasionally.

Lighting First, Then Decorate

Decorators today are learning from practical experience that it pays to decorate from inside the wall out. Just as the doctor warns his patient that outer beauty comes from inner good health so the pleasant appearance of a home is best reflected by the efficiency as well as the good taste of its decorations.

Before a room can be properly furnished decorating should have started with the arrangement of the electrical system to accommodate the lights and appliances that will be used in each area.

The laundry can no longer be judged by the pot of geraniums on the window sill but whether the room can be fully exploited by lighting and modern electric appliances. The bathroom is not just tile and glass but must be capable of treating its occupants to the best grooming care.

When having your wiring system installed remember that electrical efficiency provides the best decorating background.

Lighter Recreation Room

A sloping lot can often offer a prospective home builder an unusual opportunity for a daylighted basement recreation room. Active youngsters and teenagers, particularly, will enjoy a recreation room opening directly to the outdoors. If the recreation room floor is surfaced in durable quarry or ceramic tile it will withstand the roughest treatment, from roller skates to rock 'n' roll.

Woman Set to Produce 'Climax' TV Programs

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The remarkable thing about the producer of the next seven Climax TV shows is that she is a woman.

Now that may not seem unusual to the layman, but in the TV industry, it's something of a precedent for Eva Wolas is believed to be the first woman producer of a top-notch TV show.

★ ★ ★

Eva is a handsome addition to the man's world. She is a lovely, well-groomed woman with dark hair prematurely graying and a pleasant but firm voice. I asked her if she sensed any discrimination against her sex in TV production.

"Judging from the facts, I suppose there must be," she said, citing the lack of women in important production posts. "But I must say that men in the industry have been very kind and helpful to me.

"And I find working with them is easy. After all, if you've lived all your life with a father and brother and then a husband, there's no reason why you can't get along working with men. As a matter of fact, I would think women would resent working under a woman more than men would, though that hasn't been true in my case.

"At any rate, television is much too hurried and hectic to allow for much temperament and resentment. We're too busy getting shows on the air."

Eva's beginnings in the show world go back to New York City, where she grew up. She naturally tended toward drama in school. A successful one-act play started her on a career as a worker on Broadway plays and story editor for Suspense and Danger TV shows.

★ ★ ★

CBS bigwig William Dozier brought her West as story editor for Climax and she produced filmed shows for Playhouse 90 before returning to Climax recently as producer.

★ ★ ★

Despite her frenzied schedule, Eva manages to maintain a household for her husband and year-old daughter. She is married to David Heilweil, producer of "3:10 to Yuma" and other films.

Heering Goes to Sea

Maritime Tradition Back

MUSKEGON (AP) — A charter agreement between a Danish firm and Seaway Shipping-Trading Co. of Muskegon has revived a seafaring tradition dating back to the early 19th century.

★ ★ ★

It marks a rebirth of seagoing activities by the Peter F. Heering Co. of Copenhagen, dormant in shipping circles since 1875.

The charter agreement was announced yesterday by W. N. Hemmick Jr., general manager of the Muskegon firm which was formed last year.

The once-famous Heering flag, carried by windjammers around the globe in the export of (cherry heering) a liqeur manufactured by the Copenhagen firm since 1818, now will fly above at least two new vessels.

One is the M/S Crystal Heering, scheduled to arrive on her maiden voyage about May 1 in Muskegon with a cargo of 1,400 tons of English china clay for Muskegon and Kalamazoo paper companies.

She will carry a load of Dow chemicals from Midland on her return trip.

BUILD SISTER SHIP

Hemmick said the Crystal is chartered for three round trips this season. A sister vessel, being constructed under a $10,000,000 building program, is scheduled to be launched in mid-October. Seaway Shipping also has chartered six other vessels for import of the clay.

According to a letter received by Hemmick from Peter F. Heering, president of the Heering firm, the new motorship's 257-foot hull will be painted a "deep cherry red and its superstructure a light green —the color of early spring cherry leaves."

Its crew may be the envy of sailors throughout the world. Heering's letter said the Crystal Heering has individual cabins for crewmen.

Dewey Refuses to Talk to Reporters in Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York arrived in Atlanta last night and gave newsmen at the airport this statement:

"I do not grant press conferences or interviews. I have nothing whatsoever to say. Copies of my speech have been sent to the press."

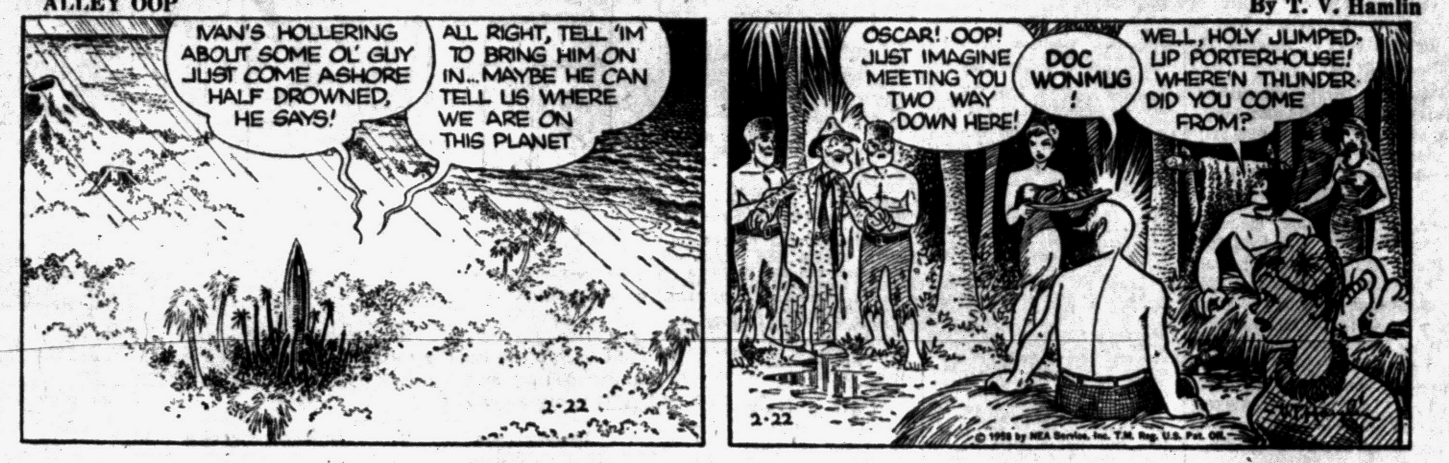

That ended the interview.

Dewey, accompanied by his wife, came to Atlanta from Miami, Fla., to address a regional meeting of the American Bar Assn.

Peter Hayes and Wife Now Try Stage Show

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "This is like 1946 . . . backtsage at the Roxy," Peter Lind Hayes, the quintuple-threat man, said.

"I don't remember that," I confessed.

WILSON

"You don't!" Peter was sitting at a table with his overcoat on. "We were playing the Roxy and doubling into the Copa when you came to interview us. Desi Arnaz was the bandleader at the Copa then . . ."

We both laughed hollowly, and wagged our heads, at how rich Desi's got in 12 years and how rich we haven't go.

But Peter Hayes and Mary Healy have done pretty well at that— they're in TV, radio, night clubs and records — and now I was talking to them about their fifth threat . . . crashing the Broadway stage in Norman Krasna's comedy, "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?"

"This is a gamble for us," Peter remarked. "We cancelled —or postponed — five weeks in Las Vegas. Guess we're just stage struck," he admitted.

HAYES

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Abbe Lane, who plays a stripper in "Oh Captain!" says "I spend more time dressing to go to the theater than I do to go on stage" . . . Rodgers and Hammerstein want Tsuruko Kebayashi Feinberg, for their "Flower Drum Song". Gretchen Wyler confesses she's lost 30 pounds since "Silk Stockings"; though she said she weighed 135 then, wants Fred McMurray for his "Roberta" revival in St. Louis; ized—instead of a hit disk she has a slipped disk . . . Bob Hope she actually weighed 156 . . . Singer Lyda Fairbanks is hospitalized—instead of a hit disk she has a slipped disk .

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A theater-goer unable to get tickets to "Sunrise at Campobello" (about FDR), complained, "But after all, I voted for him four times!" That's earl, brother.
