Stories of Easter — Judas

He Betrayed His Master

(This, second of an Easter Week series, deals with Judas Iscariot, the incomparable arch traitor, who, withal, must have been a man of gallant hopes and daring adventure to have served, so long, the cause of Jesus.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religious Writer

The deed was done and now terror walked with him in the night. Judas Iscariot shuffled along the dark, narrow street, his deep-set eyes black as death. His unsteady hand fingered the 30 shekels in the purse tied at his girdle. He shuddered.

"Why did I do it?" he muttered wretchedly. "Why?"

The priests—curse them—they had been so glad when he first went to them with his plan a few days ago, but now that he had carried it out, they spurned him, like all the others.

"Yes, like all of them—John, Peter, Philip and all the rest!"

They always had demeaned him, listing him last among the 12, giving him the menial jobs to do like carrying the common purse and tending to provisions. But what had it got him? Nothing!

He had been like a stranger among them, an aloof, gruff man from Kerioth, while all the others were congenial Galileans. He had never found warmth for himself among them.

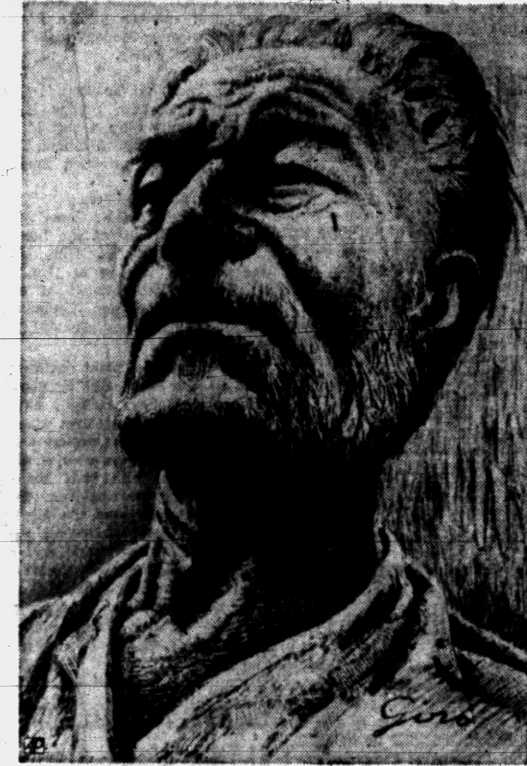

For three years, he had sacrificed all to follow the "Master," serving Him dutifully, awaiting the promised great victory. But it never came. His only reward was distrust, even by Jesus Himself. "Yet it was true—He knew!"

RECALLS PREDICTION

It had only been last evening that they reclined in that large upper city, mingling with scum, common women, followers with salted fish, oil-beaten eggs, preserved vegetables, roasted kid and fruit.

It had been a shock when Jesus said mildly, "One of you will betray Me." All sat stunned, and then Peter nudged John who reclined on

Shift Site of Courthouse in Face of Land Dispute

The possibility that Pontiac's annexation of land between West Boulevard and Telegraph Road may not be legal has caused a slight change in design of the planned new county courthouse and administration building.

In 1954, Pontiac City Commission with consent of the Waterford Township Board, annexed 111 acres in the County Service Center so the court house could be located there and be inside Pontiac, the county seat.

Heard in Washington This Week

Farm Bill, Adlai, Stalin... 'Torn Battered'

WASHINGTON (INS) — "Torn and battered" was a phrase heard in Washington this week.

It was applied to the Senate's farm bill but it seemed equally applicable to the presidential aspirations of Adlai E. Stevenson and to the status of the late Joseph Stalin as a hero of the Soviet Union.

Few politicians in recent years have experienced the torturing and battering which were Stevenson's unhappy lot in Minnesota. He was crushed, crushed and cracked by Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Stevenson went into the Minnesota primary a heavy favorite to win a lion's share of the presidential convention delegates and to improve his status as front-runner in the race for the nomination.

He came out wondering what hit him. Kefauver's astonishing upset sweep gave the man from Tennessee 26 of the state's 30 convention votes.

Though politicians agreed the Minnesota debacle might not prove fatal to Stevenson's chances, they were virtually unanimous in declaring that unless the 1952 nominee whips Kefauver soundly in their three remaining head-on contests, he can kiss all dreams of the White House goodbye.

Kefauver, happy as a spring-time robin and as bold as Davy Crockett, reckoned he would stay on the victory trail in his contests with Stevenson in Alaska April 24, Florida May 29, and California June 5.

His backers began calling him a shoe-in for the nomination.

Some powerful Democrats had sorrowful headshakes, they opined very different ideas about Kefauver's future.

While conceding his prowess as a vote-getter, they just plain don't like the idea of his being a presidential nominee.

LOOK FOR NEW TIGER

These men, in the Stevenson corner before Minnesota, began looking around for a new "tiger," as the prize fight people say. With that Adlai must be replaced as the favorite with the smoke-filled room set.

A name frequently mentioned was that of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York. But political pros said his age is against him. Harriman will be 65 in November.

Others said Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri may be a likely "dark horse." He's 54.

Heavy Spring Snow Creates Yule Scenery

SPRING STORM AFTERMATH — Friday night's heavy snow clung to trees and bushes to create scenes like the one above, usually associated with weather at Christmas time. This picture was taken of snow-covered trees in Mt. Hope Cemetery, at Orchard Lake and Voorheis Rds.

Spring Blizzard Blankets Area, Drops Mercury

Temperature Falls to 13 Degrees at 7 A. M.; East Struck Again

When Winter comes, can Spring be far behind? Brother, it sure can.

Yesterday, the fourth official day of Spring, Old Man Winter dumped five inches of soggy snow on Oakland County, and followed up with a Siberian blast that lowered Pontiac temperatures to 13 degrees at 7 a.m.

And the snow is predicted to stay for the week-end, with temperatures rising no higher than 32 degrees today and dropping as low as 12 tonight.

Tomorrow's predicted high of 36 may melt some snow from fields and roads.

Ten inches of new snow were reported in Jackson, the heaviest fall in southern Michigan.

Main county roads were passable or clear early this morning. No serious accidents were reported but scores of cars silted into ditches during the storm last night.

The snowfall and freezing temperatures extended from the Plains to New England, sweeping across Wisconsin, North Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania before hitting new England with new snow up to 10 inches deep in the third major storm in eight days.

Science Is Winning Fight Against Colds

How soon will science win the battle against the common cold?

On a day like today, as many as 20 million persons may be suffering from colds... there are more than half a billion common colds a year.

How well science is doing in finding means of preventing or curing these illnesses is told in an informative series of articles — "The Common Cold — and You" — starting Monday, in The Pontiac Press.

At Least 12 Places Looted Last Night

Burglary Wave Hits Area

Five inches of wet, heavy snow last night failed to stop Oakland County's burglars. Money, believed to exceed $500, furs and jewelry worth $3,600 were stolen from at least 12 stores, gas stations and restaurants.

In Birmingham, thieves broke through windows of Dimas Furs, on Woodward Avenue, where they took a mink stole and a mink cape valued at $2,600, and Lake Jewelers on Maple Road, where $1,000 in jewelry was missing this morning.

A gang of burglars swept through Brandon, Independence and Waterford Townships early this morning, rifling cash registers and dispensing machines in service stations and restaurants.

In one gas station, at Sashabaw Road and Walton Boulevard, Waterford Township, the thieves took $310 from the cash register as well as an undetermined amount of money from machines.

In most cases, however, their loot was solely from the machines, and has not been determined.

The gang broke into two gas stations and a diner near Orionville, a gas station and a grocery store near Clarkston, and two service stations in Waterford Township, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies and Waterford Township Police.

State police are investigating three additional breakings which may also have been perpetrated by the same thieves.

A drier breakin near Milford and an attempted Bloomfield Township breakin on Telegraph Road have tentatively been ruled out of the gang's activities.

Arthur Lake, of the Birmingham jewelry store entered last night, said losses would have been much higher but for the firm's policy of substituting costume jewelry for nighttime display cases, locking real jewels into the vault.

State May Up Grant to Airport

Pontiac Field to Receive $25,750 If House OKs Senate Program

The Pontiac Municipal Airport is slated to receive a proposed $25,750 in state funds after yesterday's State Senate reshuffling of the legislative Airport-Need Program.

The proposed amount is an increase over the $18,500 received in 1955, but less than the $29,000 estimated to be needed, according to Homer Hoskins, airport manager.

The shift by the legislators resulted in dropping Detroit's Wayne-Major Airport from the approved list of $804,000 in state funds for improvements at fields for this year and next.

Two bills carrying the appropriations were referred to the House where the fate of Wayne-Major will have to be decided.

One of the bills makes grants to various airports for the balance of the current fiscal year ending June 30 and the other for 1956-57. State funds would be used with federal matching monies to pay for programmed projects.

The money slated for the local field is for projects in 1956-57.

The $25,750, if approved, comes on top of a Federal grant of $91,500 last month for the Pontiac airport.

City Manager Walter K. Williams is continuing to negotiate for 80 acres west of the present airport for further extension of the east-west runway to accommodate large planes.

Japanese Paper Suggests Taxing Golf Players

TOKYO (AP) — The influential

Tokyo Shimbun suggested today that local governments have missed one source of income—a tax on golfers.

The newspaper said local governments have taxed dogs, pigs, automobiles, timber cutting and have plans before them to tax cats, cameras and electric fans. Japanese who play golf consider "The game as a sign of a privileged person and should be taxed," the paper said. "Generally speaking, taxes should be taken from those who can afford them."

Ike in Secret Session

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower is holding an unusual secret session today with his top military, diplomatic and intelligence aides to canvass new developments in the cold war.

Expansion Urge Never Bothers Head of Pontiac's Smallest Business Place

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL

Everybody is talking about big business these days. Everywhere you go someone is talking about new products on the market and every businessman's yearning to expand.

This is not the case for William Walsh, owner of the Walsh Watch Repair—Pontiac's smallest business establishment.

"If I had the opportunity to expand my business by moving into another store, I wouldn't do it," Walsh exclaimed.

"This has been my business home for the last 12 years and I like it here," the England-born jeweler added.

Walsh, 57, operates his 12 by 9 foot watch repair shop located at 10 W. Huron St., all by himself.

He has never had any added help, not even during the Christmas season. "Occasionally my wife comes in to relieve me or assist me on Saturdays," Walsh said.

The glittering show-cased shop, only big enough to hold a six-foot counter, once managed to squeeze in six people at one time, but it was a very tight squeeze according to the proprietor.

"It's not unusual for some of my customers to remain out in the National Building lobby until a customer in the shop leaves. It's a sort of a relay type business," Walsh explained.

Walsh started in the watch business in Cumberland, England on the northern border. He came to this country and did watch repair ing in Detroit for two years before establishing his present shop. He does all the work himself at a cramped work bench in a corner of the store.

"The size of the shop often causes people to walk right by," Walsh stated. From the outside, on Huron street, the only attention is given to the store.

Routes Changed To Which Street

Project on Mt. Clemens Closes Street, Prompts Traffic Adjustments

The widening of Mt. Clemens street has necessitated several traffic changes in that area which will take effect Monday, March 26, according to City Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel.

Mt. Clemens street between Padlock and East Boulevard, and Featherstone between East Boulevard and Mount Clemens will be closed to traffic for approximately a month.

Residents who normally use Mt. Clemens street outlets Monterey Boulevard and Omar street can travel along McKinley drive to get to Padlock.

Special arrangements will be made for residents who live along Victory, Crescent and Court drives, Vanderstempel said.

People living east of East Boulevard will have to use either Perry or Pike streets as detours, he added.

Marine Named Top Recruiter in Nation

Pontiac's Marine Recruiter M. Sgt. Ismael Powers has been named the country's outstanding recruiter for March, Marine National Headquarters announced recently.

Powers was nominated from District 9 to compete with recruiters from 11 other districts for the honor. Detroit recruiting station nominated him.

Pontiac's high average of 18 recruits a month from July, 1955, through January was credited for Powers' achievement in the competition. He is non-commissioned officer in charge of the station.

He credits his assistants, T/Sgt. Leroy H. Meisner and George Pappas, with "many hours of overtime" in the award-winning recruiting drive.

Powers served at Guadalcanal and in the Korean conflict, graduating from recruiters' school in 1953. Before coming to Pontiac, he was in charge of the Kalamazoo station.

'Wild' Fire Destroys Building in Denver

DENVER (U)—A fire, out of control more than four hours, destroyed a four-story wood and brick building in downtown Denver last night.

Two firemen and a police officer were treated for severe hand and face cuts suffered when heat burst windows. More than a score of other firemen suffered from smoke inhalation and exhaustion.

Along with more than 10,000 spectators, the three-alarm blaze attracted 21 pieces of fire equipment, including four hook and ladder companies.

More than 200 firemen fought the flames at their height, Chief Alie Feldman said.

The flaming structure, the 60-year-old George Tricht Bldg., housed a wholesale clothing company, a jewelry firm and a stationery store.

Damage estimates ranged between $250,000 and $500,000.

Knights of Pythias Install New Leader

Sherman Randall, of Pontiac, was installed Tuesday night as president of District No. 11, Knights of Pythias.

He is past chancellor of Pontiac Lodge No. 19, where about 100 district members met to plan April programs, including a public speaking contest in Oxford and participation in international day activities to be held in Port Huron.

The Pontiac lodge will share a cooperative dinner with the Sisters of Fannie E. Thomkins Temple No. 41 at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Laud Mothers' Care in Local Hospitals

Maternity care at three Pontiac hospitals and at five others in Oakland County today won praise from State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis.

He said their programs are part of a state-wide stride forward to give "the very best medical treatment to our new babies and their mothers."

Cited were Pontiac General Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, as well as Ardmore Hospital, Fernside; Avon Center Hospital, Rochester; William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak; Bloomfield Hospital, Bloomfield Township; and Helene Melnik Hospital, Hazel Park.

Heustis said they are among 238 hospitals in the state fully licensed to provide maternity care, and added the number of such hospitals is growing rapidly.

Loot Vending Machines

A thief who broke into the Six Lakes Service Station on Cooley Lake Road, Commerce Township, early Friday morning took an unknown amount of money and cigarettes from the cigarette machine, owner Mrs. Bessie Hall told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Hoffa Says Teamsters Will Tighten Gotham Grip

NEW YORK (U)—The Herald-Tribune today quoted Teamsters Union official James R. Hoffa as saying the teamsters control over truck drivers in the New York metropolitan area "would be tightened and extended."

Hoffa, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, is in Honolulu attending a union international executive board meeting.

The newspaper interviewed Hoffa by telephone to Hawaii. Hoffa "emphasized" the effect of the victory in New York of his lieutenant, John J. O'Rourke, who won over Martin T. Lacey as $25,000-a-year president of the teamsters joint council.

CONTESTS ELECTION
Lacey went into Federal Court Thursday, asserting the close election was rigged and that gangsters and racketeers are trying to oust him in favor of O'Rourke. The court ordered affairs of the joint council frozen until a hearing April 5 on Lacey's complaint.

Hoffa, the newspaper said, termed the gangster-backing charges "ridiculous...there are no outsiders in this. Absolutely no one controls us."

Hoffa also was quoted as saying: "I have no doubt that the court will not credit Lacey's case."

The newspaper said Hoffa "made clear that accelerated teamster activity in this area would be most important to him as a vital step toward realizing his loftiest goal...expansion and consolidation...leading to national industrywide contracts in the trucking and other industries."

Hoffa recently proposed a $400,000 loan to the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.), which was ousted from the AFL several years ago on the grounds that it was racketeer-dominated.

The AFL-CIO constitution says any member union giving recognition to a once-ousted union is itself subject to ouster.

Flint Pair Arraigned for Dope Possession

Two Flint men arrested Tuesday night for investigation of illegal possession of narcotics were arraigned yesterday before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. LeFurgy.

One, William Rogers, 36, a kitchen ware salesman, waived examination on the charge and was bound over to circuit court for arraignment Monday. Falling to furnish bond of $10,000, he was returned to Oakland County Jail.

The second, Russell Colvin, 43, demanded examination, which was set for March 29 before Justice LeFurgy. He also failed to furnish $10,000 bond, and is in jail.

Waterford Township police said the pair, arrested for speeding, tried to throw 35 capsules of 20 per cent heroin and two marijuana cigarettes from the window of their car.

More than 40 countries are taking part in the 1957-58 geophysical year.

2nd Story of Easter: Judas Betrayed Him

the couch at Jesus' right, and they began asking, "Is it I?"

"It is one of the 12 that dip with me in the dish," Jesus said.

Judas stuffed the bread, sopped with sauce, in his mouth and glanced as Jesus glanced at him casually and said, "What thou doest, do it quickly."

Judas left hurriedly, the others never realizing his intentions, but thinking he was going on some usual purchasing errand at Jesus' orders.

His mind had stormed with anger and recklessness. He had endured enough of this bedraggled little band, wandering the desert, the cities, maiming with scum, comforting the sickly, the beggars and the wicked.

The "Master" wasn't even practical. Why just five days ago, He had defended some harlot in anointing Him with 300 denarii (a year's wages) worth of spikenard perfume—against Judas' complaint that it was a waste.

If Jesus actually was the Messiah, He could summon legions of angels to save Him from any enemies. If not, He rightly should be exposed. Judas wanted action—now—and his own role in it inflamed him.

The silver the temple priests gave him was miserly, a mere 30 pieces of silver. It meant little to him, in the fury of his vindictiveness, frustration, loneliness and hunger for prestige.

His body tingled as he had guided the priests and Roman military detachment of more than 100 men armed with bludgeons and swords, out the east city gate, down through the dark valley of Kidron, across the brook and up to the slope to the Garden of Gethsemane.

His information of the nightly meeting place, at a friend's country house, was what the authorities needed to arrest Jesus. They feared an open public arrest would arouse the many partisans that gathered to hear Him.

Judas, walking at the front with the chief temple officials, reminded them, "Whosoever I shall kiss, that shall be He." A kiss was a normal greeting.

The torchlights made grotesque, leaping shapes on the olive trees and hedges, and suddenly, there was a murmur of voices, and Jesus stepped forth out of the darkness.

"Hail Master," Judas said, and kissed Him.

Jesus' words cut like a blade. "Betrayest thou the Son of Man with a kiss?" Judas glanced nervously at the priests and elders, the soldiers lingered behind.

Peter, brash as usual, slammed out with a sword. But Jesus intervened.

"Suffer ye thus far," he said. "I must drink the cup which the Father has given me."

At this point, the formidable Roman contingent moved forward with their clanging weapons. The apostles, including Peter, fled in fright. Judas smiled grimly.

Jesus was bound and led away. Judas was ignored. He tried to join the priestly leaders, but they were done with him, scorned him. They had paid their petty bribe, sealed the bargain, and now he was again cast aside, a lonely resentment seething in him.

He lurked outside the house of the powerful priest, Annas, saw Jesus abused and beaten, and then at the council meeting before the high priest, Caiaphas, heard the denunciations, the finding of guilt.

The weight of his deed came down upon him. Dismay struck his heart.

NIGHT OF WANDERING

All night, he wandered, stumbling over the refuse and beggars in the street, his eyes unseeing, his soul a volcano of tormented memories.

He made his way to the temple, his body numb, his eyes glazed and bleak. He sought to return the silver, whimpering, "I have sinned. I have betrayed innocent blood."

They laughed at him. "What is that to us?"

Judas flung the 30 coins on the temple floor and walked dully away.

Daylight had come fully, and the streets swam with noise and people. Near the Roman fort, workmen were building crosses and Judas heard the cries of "Crucify Him!"

Meanwhile, the temple priests, unable to use the returned money in the temple treasury because it was "blood money" used it instead to buy a potter's field—Akeldama, "the field of blood"—for burying paupers.

Judas hanged himself. His body was thrown headlong into the field, the end of a glum, lonely man, whose name meant "serpent."

Paris Picks Neutral Hues, Crisp Whites This Spring

PARIS (INS)—For your fashion scrap-book, here are color schemes chosen by Paris designers for elegance in 1956.

Most important for daytime wear are new neutral shades including sand, string, oat, salted almonds or putty. The colors of camel-hair, burial, toast, honey and cafe-au-lait also top the fashion parade. Many of the most wearable Paris clothes are in classic shades of grey, beige and navy-blue. The latter must be trimmed with white for the 1956 touch.

Should Girl Encourage Friendship? She Wants to Take Initiative in Seeing Man Again

By EMILY POST

A young woman writes me as follows: "There is a young man I have recently met and whom I like more than anyone I have met since I came to live in this city. I met him at the house of friends one evening, when they had asked him to make a fourth at bridge."

"It happens that he is studying here and as he has very little money I don't believe he will ask me to go anywhere. But when he said goodnight to me at my front door, he expressed a wish that he would see me again sometime. May I take the initiative in this case?"

Answer: Under the circumstances, I see no reason why you should not invite him to whatever you choose—if you are also asking others. Why don't you ask him to make a fourth at bridge at your house some evening soon? But don't ask him alone.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for young girls to wear bright red fingernail polish to school?"

Answer: I do not like conspicuous nail polish on anyone, and on a schoolgirl I think it is quite as bad as vivid makeup, or if anything—worse. Nails neatly manicured are, of course, proper as long as the color of the polish is not too brilliant.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son has always been called Ted by everyone. Any other name for him would mean nothing to his friends. His fiancée asks whether this derivative may be used on the wedding announcements."

Answer: If he was baptized Ted, then there is no other name to give him. But if his real name is Edward or Theodore, it would be in much better taste to have his real name engraved on this one occasion.

Thousands of men are known throughout life as Tom or Dick, Bud or Sonny—but such names should never appear in any formal announcement.

Report Cards Discussed by PTA of Pontiac High

"Report Cards, Do They Tell the Story?" was the topic of discussion at Pontiac High School PTA meeting Thursday evening. Members were divided into six groups to discuss the various topics related to report cards.

William Wright, principal of Linda Vista School, served as general discussion leader. Parents and teachers agreed the present symbols used in reporting to parents are inadequate, but expressed the desire for report cards to be given every five weeks and a conference with teachers to be held sometime during each semester.

Officers were elected at the meeting. Mrs. Paul Gorman was chosen president; Mrs. Dale Nolf, mother vice president; Harry Vernon, father vice president; Vera Mae Adams, teacher vice president; Mrs. Milton Hathaway, recording secretary; Mrs. Clarence Montgomery, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. C. A. Hartzman, treasurer.

Meeting Held by Ruth Circle

Mrs. Alfred Denman was hostess to members of Ruth Circle of the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church at her home on Northfield avenue Thursday.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Floyd Miller, using verses from the Book of Numbers as her subject. A review of the book "Black Power" by Richard Bright was given by Mrs. Kenneth Lyons, who used the 26th to the 29th days for the prayer cycle.

The first meeting of the Friendship Club will be held at the church on April 19 at 1:30 p.m. All women of the church and the community have been invited.

Confident Living

Scripture Reading Brings Rebirth of Zest and Hope

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A friend whose enthusiasms have been reborn told me of a discouraged man driving along a road down south. In his dark depression it seemed that the bottom had dropped out of life. He stopped at a filling station and noticed across the road a sign which read, "Fortunes Told—Know Your Future." He asked the attendant about it and was told that an old woman lived there who made her living by telling fortunes.

"She is quite a character," the attendant said, "and everyone she touches perks up." The tourist said, "Well, I sure need some perking up." He decided he might as well try her, although he really had little faith in fortune tellers. So he left his car at the filling station, went across the road, found the woman and paid his dollar.

"Put out yo' hand, Honey," he was instructed. He put out his hand and the old woman looked at it intently. "Honey," she told him, "you ain't done livin' yet."

And that was all he got for his money. Feeling cheated, he drove away. But the old woman's words kept going around in his mind. Over and over he heard her voice: "You ain't done livin' yet." Gradually that vital thought penetrated his depression and let in new hope and enthusiasm.

There are a great many people who glumly think they are through with living. They may not admit it, but you can usually tell by their eyes that the spirit within is dull, lifeless, hopeless, apathetic.

Have you kept your own enthusiasm up? Are you so eager about everything that you hate to go to bed at night for fear you'll miss something? Can you hardly wait for morning so that you can get started again?

ALWAYS FASCINATING

That's the way all of us should be. Life ought to be perpetually fascinating. The good Lord didn't make the human spirit to run down; it is we who allow that to happen.

When I say that a human being can have perpetual enthusiasm all his life, I don't mean that we should become like some of those blithe, Pollyanna-like, superficial people who live on the false assumption that all is sweetness and light. We need to realize the difficulties, sorrows and problems of human existence.

This should encourage in us a deep dedication to helping others. But, at the same time, we should retain an effervescent spirit of dynamic joy and enthusiasm about life and the world.

Of course, there is deterioration in life. There is aging in everything. A spiritual shabbiness tends to come over us as the years roll by unless we are renewed in spirit. But I have noticed that this happens most to those who lose touch with the wellsprings of their religious faith.

People who retain the fresh thrill of life are those who have turned the pages of that great Book which says: "Behold, I make all things new. In church or synagogue they have kept in close touch with the Creator who also re-creates. Thus their enthusiasm never declines and life remains perpetually exciting.

Try a simple technique and you will go to sleep at night with a thrill in your heart because of what the day has been. And you will get up in the morning eager for what is coming. Every morning simply repeat these words: "Behold, I make all things new." Then practice believing that the day will be filled with glorious opportunity.

By practice and thought discipline you can wipe thoughts of gloom, depression, tiredness, discouragement and apprehension from your mind. Then, having cleansed your mind, practice thinking the kind of thoughts you imagine God wants you to think. Saturate your mind with the healthy and creative thoughts of the Scriptures.

This practice will gradually recondition your attitudes. As a result you will yourself become new. You will have boundless, glorious enthusiasm every day.

DONALD NELSON

Church Choir to Give Cantata

Donald Nelson to Play Evangelist St. John at All Saints Episcopal

Palm Sunday evening, the Passion of Our Lord according to the Evangelist St. John, set to music by J. S. Bach, will be performed by the choir of All Saints Episcopal Church at 8 p. m.

Guest soloists will be Mary Mattfeld, contralto; Donald Nelson, tenor; and Thomas Tipton, bass.

Mr. Nelson scheduled to play the part of the evangelist St. John is currently teaching harmony and music literature at the University of Michigan, while working on his doctorate. He is a graduate of Coe College.

While in the Air Force, he was assistant organist at Christ Church Cathedral in St. Louis and later organist at St. Stephen's House there.

When Bach produced the St. John Passion for the first time on Good Friday in 1723 in Leipzig, he was bringing toward a climax a developing tradition that reached far back into the Middle Ages.

It was ancient Church custom to voice the Passion Story with one voice chanting the Gospel narrative and one or more other voices representing the protagonists of the drama. The practice of using a choir for the words of groups (high priests, the soldiers and mob) was centuries old.

This is the final musical program of the series. The four concerts were arranged under the direction of Phillip Steinhaus, organist and choir director.

The choir from Central Bible Institute, Springfield, Mo. will be heard in concert Sunday at 7:45 p. m. in the First Assembly of God Church.

Start Improving Rock Creek Site

Slate Boulder Strawn Washington, D.C. Area as Picnic Grounds

WASHINGTON — Boulder-strawn Rock Creek, tumbling through the heart of Washington, D. C. is being cleaned up and improved with new roadways and picnic grounds for the springtime enjoyment of home-towners and visitors.

The 31-mile-long scenic stream has captivated the fancies of many prominent men, the National Geographic Society says.

"There is nothing comparable in any capital city of Europe," said cosmopolitan James Bryce, British Ambassador to the United States from 1906 to 1913. Presidents John Quincy Adams and Theodore Roosevelt roamed its primitive course. William Jennings Bryan followed its meanderings on horseback.

Robert Fulton, legend says, used Rock Creek to test a model of his steamboat, the Clermont, which was later to revolutionize navigation. Generations of Washington boys have reveled in the stream's swimming holes and watched the birds along its banks.

The sparkling stream emerges from underground water on a farm just south of Laytonville, Maryland, 22 miles north of the District of Columbia line. Woods and open farmland of grain and cattle pasture frame the creek's first slow gropings southward.

NOT SPARKLING
A few miles farther, no longer quite so sparkling, it flows near housing developments of metropolitan Washington. Occasionally the creek flares into rapids against brown boulders, then quiets down to sluggish progress.

The stream twists through Rock Creek Park's 1800-acre recreation site in Northwest Washington. There, rocks and bold cliffs form the wind and water-worn remains of mountains that were three to five miles high aeons ago.

The creek recalls historic scenes. Nearby Military Road was constructed during the Civil War to connect Fort Stevens, DeRussy and Reno of the capital's defenses. It heard the echoes of Confederate General Jubal Early's guns during his unsuccessful raid on Washington in July, 1864.

Long before, war whoops and hunting cries of Algonquin Indians resounded across the stream's valley. Arrowheads, axes and spearheads have been unearthed on its banks.

Roaming toward the Potomac, the creek passes the Army Medical Center (Walter Reed General Hospital); the National Zoological Park; Dumbarton Oaks, the early 19th century Georgian mansion where preliminary diplomatic talks fathered the United Nations. In close-by Oak Hill Cemetery is the grave of John Howard Payne, who wrote "Home Sweet Home."

Man Changing His Name New Trend in World?

LOS ANGELES — A retired army nurse is marrying Lloyd Allen Peterson but she expects to become Mrs. Lloyd Allen Evans. Dog Loses Fight With Robbers, but Wins Praise

CHICAGO — A 9-year-old St. Bernard dog lost a fight with four gunmen in a South Side tavern early today but won praise from its master for courage.

The 185-pound dog, Dutchess, lying behind the bar of the tavern when the robbers entered. One man drew a gun and announced a holdup to the owner, James Corrolo, 45.

Dutchess lunged at the robber, who fired one shot at the dog, which fell to the floor wounded. The robbers then took $100 from a cash register, a gun from behind the bar, $30 from Corrolo and $35 from a patron.

As the robbery was in progress, another patron walked from the rear of the tavern, and the gunmen started to rob him. Dutchess charged the robbers. Four more shots were fired at the big dog. The robbers fled before robbing the second patron.

Corrolo took Dutchess to a veterinarian.

Westinghouse Union Meets to End Strike

PITTSBURGH — Union and management negotiators scheduled a meeting today in another attempt to end a 151-day walkout that blocks universal peace at Westinghouse Electric Corp. plants.

More than 10,500 employees represented by the United Electrical Workers (Independent) struck 10 Westinghouse plants last October over wages, length of contract and changes in wage payment plans.

Negotiations between Westinghouse and the UE resumed Thursday two days after the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers settled its 156-day strike of 44,000 workers. No progress has been reported.

At a stormy session last night, some 4,500 members of IUE Local 617 voted to accept all terms of the contract, including a provision covering the cases of 36 discharged employees—nine of them at Sharon.

Infant Dies in Blaze

BUCKLEY — The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lahman died Thursday in a fire that destroyed the home of his parents four miles north of this Grand Traverse-Wexford County border village. His parents were working outside when the fire broke out. Two other children, aged 2 and 4, escaped. The father was burned attempting to rescue the infant.

Need: Electronic Engineers Now

Field Growing So Fast Firms Unable to Find Trained Manpower

NEW YORK — Son, be an electronics engineer. It's the challenging job of the present and the future. It's expanding so fast the huge electronics firms can't find the trained manpower to fill their demands.

That was evident today at the Institute of Radio Engineers convention.

Day after day this week the aircraft companies and the electronics equipment firms advertised, urging trained engineers to come for interviews. The firms took suites at various hotels. Special recruitment crews were on hand to interview applicants.

With 40,000 engineers here for the convention no recruitment crew was idle.

This June's graduate is being offered $100 to $110 a week as a start, $15 more than last year's beginning salary.

Ads stress the challenge of this new industry, the geographical location of plants and living conditions.

Why the shortage of engineers in this field which got its start with radio back in 1920? Mostly, it's the government's defense program with the invention of guided missiles, the earth satellite program, expanding television and industrial automation.

Dr. John D. Ryder, dean of the Michigan State University School of Engineering and former I.R.E. president, estimates a current shortage of 50,000 engineers, mostly in research and development.

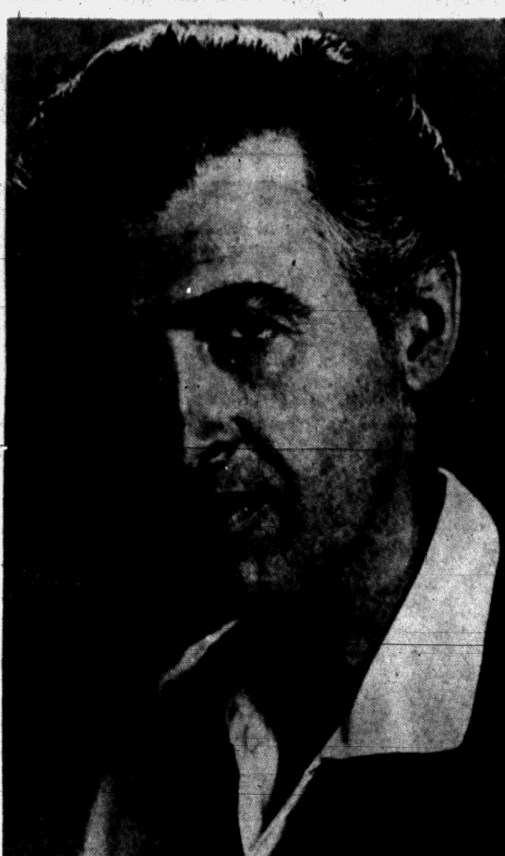

There is a current need for 37,000 new engineers each year, not counting the backlog shortage of 50,000. By 1970, Dr. Ryder says the nation will need 45,000 new engineers annually.

At present the engineering schools are graduating 27,000 annually.

Craving Snake Steak? Join Big Rattler Hunt

HENRIETTA, Tex. — Residents of Oklahoma or any other state for that matter who hanker for rattlesnake steak are being invited to take part in Clay County's annual rattlesnake hunt tomorrow and Sunday.

"We've got the biggest. There's enough rattlesnakes here for everybody, and we don't mind sharing them," Clay County Agricultural Agent Jack Lewis said yesterday.

ADVENTURER — J. Meade Falkner's powerful novel, "Moonfleet" inspired the motion picture of the same name which will open at the Oakland Theater here Wednesday. Stewart Granger, above, co-stars in the CinemaScope film with Jean Greenwood, George Sanders and Viveca Lindfors.

Says Red Industry May Surpass U. S.

DETROIT (INS) — A top Ford Motor Co. official, Neven L. Bean, told a group of University of Detroit engineering students that Russian production facilities and techniques may be superior to those in the U.S. in 45 years.

Bean was 1 of 3 American engineers who recently toured Russian industrial plants.

"In the exchange tour, we spent 16 days inspecting Russian industrial plants last December, the first Americans to see Russian industrial processes since World War II."

"We found the plants in poor condition compared to ours but they were in the process of improving. In 10 years they will be equal to U.S. industrial plants and in 15 years will surpass American industry."

Seize Runty Potatoes

LANSING — Several shipments of Maine potatoes have been seized as underweight from Detroit retail outlets, the State Agriculture Department reported. The department said the potatoes were underweight as much as two pounds per 15-pound sack.

Anita Louise Acts Again After 9-Year Retirement

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, — "If you want something done, ask a busy person."

That's the philosophy of lovely Anita Louise, who has managed to keep busy most of her life and has accomplished a great many things.

BACK IN ACTING

Right now she is back in the acting field again, starring in "My Friend Flicka," which is being filmed by 20th Century-Fox's TV subsidiary. She also is home-maker for her husband, Buddy Adler, new production boss of the studio. She rears two children, Melinda, 8, and Tony, 5. And she serves as president of the UCLA Medical School auxiliary.

Though she started her film career in 1924, she looks almost as young as when she was playing ingenues. The secret of her youth may be her constant activity.

"I've always kept busy," said the actress, who was a model at 3 and made her stage debut at 6. Her career continued through the silents and into the talkies.

"I left pictures in 1947 to have my family," she remarked. "But I still kept up my charity work. Now the children are going to school and they are gone most of the day. So I figured it was a good time to start acting again."

POPULAR SHOW

She joined Gene Evans, younger brother of Johnny Washbrook and the talented 4-year-old Arabian filly in "Flicka." After only a few weeks on TV, the show has been giving Rin-Tin-Tin trouble in the 7:30 Friday night spot across the nation.

"It's a lot of fun working again," said Anita. "We work hard—making three shows every 10 days."

They've lost six straight games. Gene Conley, their star righthander, may be sidelined for some time. The second base problem still hasn't been solved. Left field is a headache.

Otherwise, there isn't much wrong with the Milwaukee Braves. To put it mildly, Jolly Chirley Grimm isn't happy. His Braves have been losing to big scores, close scores, with poor hitting and with bad pitching.

Yesterday, they dropped a 2-1 decision to the Cincinnati Redlegs. During the six-game famine they've scored only 18 runs to 43 for the opposition.

Home runs also were numerous elsewhere along the exhibition circuit.

Harry Simpson slammed a pair—one with the bases filled—to lead the Kansas City A's to a 9-0 victory over the New York Yankees. Simpson's output upped his home run total of six in 10 games and his batting average to .421 with 16 hits in 38 at bats.

The New York Giants got two homers from Gail Harris and one apiece from Willie Mays and Wes Westrum in beating the Cleveland Indians 10-1. Ruben Gomez, Joe Margoneri and Marv Grissom limited the Indians to six hits, one of which was a homer by Al Rosen.

Stan Musial's three-run homer in the sixth inning capped a seven-run outburst that enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to defeat the Boston Red Sox 9-2. It was the third homer of the spring for Musial, who will be seeking his seventh National League batting championship when the curtain goes up on the season April 17.

The Philadelphia Phillies scored all their runs on homers—two by Stan Lopata—but they bowed to the Chicago White Sox 4-3. Earl Battey connected for Chicago.

In a night game, the Brooklyn Dodgers extended their winning streak to six games by downing the Washington Senators 9-5. Catcher Roy Campanella and pitcher Don Drysdale slammed homers for the winners.

Maxwell Takes Lead at Miami

Ahead After 2nd Round of Par Shattering Field With 64-65-129

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—After two of the finest rounds in his golfing career, young Billy Maxwell led a par-shattering field of 62 pros into the third round of the Miami Beach Open today—but greying Pete Cooper hung doggedly on his heels.

Despite his opening 64, which equaled the Bayshore course record, and his 65 yesterday, the 26-year-old Odessa, Tex., shotmaker couldn't shake the determined Detroit.

Maxwell's midway total of 129—15 under par—was only three strokes better than Cooper, a 41-year-old veteran who has put together rounds of 67 and 65 in his second tournament appearance of the year.

Leo Biagetti, a Willoughby, Ohio, pro in Maxwell's age bracket, carded a second-round 66 to climb into third place at 134. Jimmy Demaret of Klamath Lake, N.Y., another old hand on the tournament trail, posted a 67 for 135.

Gardner Dickinson Jr. of Panama City, Fla., co-leader with Maxwell after the first round, and four others were knotted at 136. This group included Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., who fired a record-matching 64 yesterday, and Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N.Y., who set the record last year.

Japanese Skier Claims Second Straight Title

WINTER PARK, Colo. (AP)—Dazzling Chiharu Igaya claimed his second straight individual title yesterday in the slalom event of the NCAA Ski Championships.

Igaya took the dangerous upper course with the same reckless abandon as the smooth lower stretch, and was clocked at 59.9 seconds for his second run. His over-all time was 2:07.8.

Hamtramck, Muskegon in A

Prep Teams Move Into Finals

EAST LANSING (AP)—Powerful Muskegon Heights, led by the dazle of Ed Burton and the scoring balance of two of his teammates, loomed as a heavy favorite to take the state class A high school basketball championship tonight.

The Heights was one of four teams which survived a wild class A and B semifinal elimination last night before 8,003 in Michigan State's lofty Jenison field house. Four others survived at Lansing's Civic Center, where 4,500 watched.

The winners were: class A—Muskegon Heights and Ham-tramck; class B—Stephenson and Detroit St. Andrew; class C—Berrien Springs and Crystal Falls; class D—Portland St. Patrick and Chassell. The class A final will be played at 9 p.m., class B at 8:30 p.m., class C at 7:30 p.m., and class D at 7:30 p.m., all at Jenison.

Thus, three Upper Peninsula teams—Stephenson, Crystal Falls and Chassell—remain in the bid for class championships.

For Muskegon (20-1) the story was not all Burton last night as the Heights eased past Detroit Catholic Central, 61-54, with comparative ease.

Barton, a 6-foot-6 center, was used as a decoy while his teammates, Bill McCarty and Ron Robinson, scored 21 and 16 points respectively. Catholic Central's only threat came in Bob Skrycki, who led the losers with 24.

Hamtramck (16-3) immediately scored on Ann Arbor (45-6), and continued to pull away to a 71-54 victory in a rout. Marv Ringo led Hamtramck's balanced attack with 22.

Bob (Sticks) Bolton, Battle Creek Lakeview's 6-foot-9 center, fouled out with 2:11 to go in the third period of a class B game with Stephenson and the Upper Peninsula crew breezed in for a 74-69 victory.

Bolton completely dominated the backboards while he was playing, but Stephenson's 6-3 center Mel Peterson took over in the last period and nailed 36 points in all to Bolton's 25. Stephenson now is 21-1 while the losers are 19-3.

Detroit St. Andrew (24-1) city champions, got off to a ragged start, but bounced back to smother Flint Tech (16-8), 58-39, in the other class B game. Larry Skora led the winners with 23 points and some smooth ball handling.

In a class D thriller, Portland St. Patrick's Steve Bauer slipped in the winning basket with two seconds to go in overtime to give his club a 36-35 victory over Ludington St. Simon (22-2).

In the other class D semi, 37 points by Whittemore's 6-foot-8 center Francis Pagel wasn't enough as Chassell (24-1) won, 83-65.

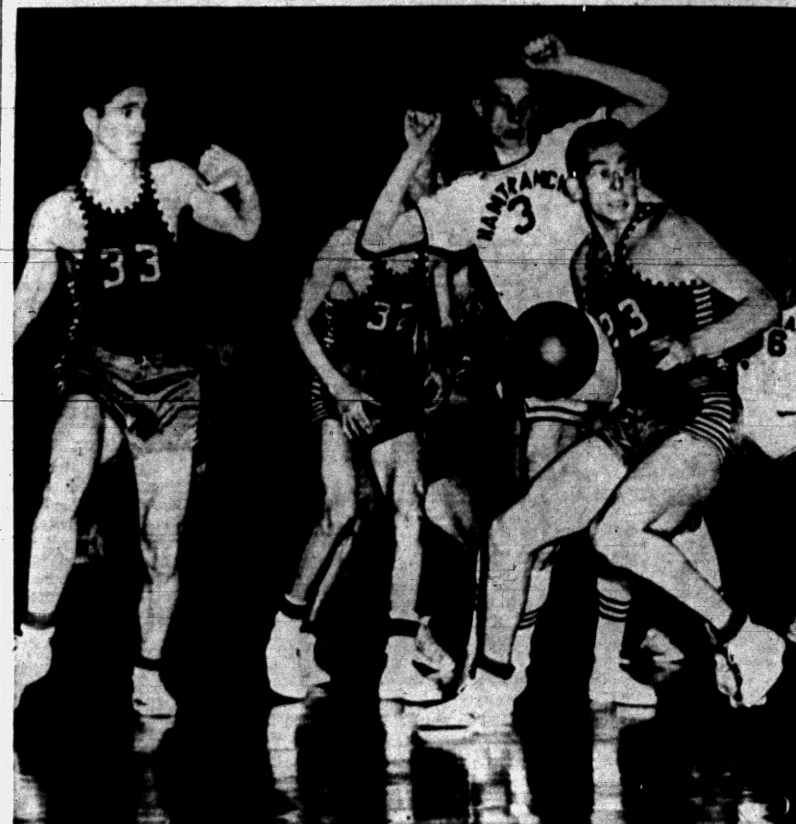

Crystal Falls' 6-foot-7 center Glenn Westin pumped in 37 points and finished the last quarter with a bandaged head to beat Sebawaing (22-1), 71-69, in a C semi. Westin hit his head on the floor with a minute and a half to go and the blood poured. He was bandaged and continued. Crystal Falls now is 19-2.

Berrien Springs won its 23rd straight in the other C semi, sneaking past Lakeview (24-1), 68-67, the winning goal was made as the final gun sounded. Walt Edgar had 36 points for the losers.

COSMO IN A SQUEEZE—Dan Dobroczyński (3) of Hamtramck finds himself in a squeeze among three Ann Arbor players in their game of the Class A semi-finals at East Lansing last night. On the left is Don Perigo (33) of Ann Arbor with Bruce Schneeberger (23) and William Halliday (32) hidden behind Dobroczyński. Hamtramck moved into the finals tonight by defeating Ann Arbor handily, 71-54.

Frisco Retains National Title

Iowa Falls to Dons, 83-71, in NCAA Finals

Coast Quintet Closes Season Unbeaten in 29 Straight Games

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The San Francisco Dons today must rank among the greatest—if not the greatest—college basketball teams ever put together.

They closed out a season of 29 consecutive victories and extended their string to an awe-inspiring 55 by trimming Iowa's Big Ten champions last night 83-71 to repeat for the NCAA title.

Iowa made a courageous stab at an upset and had the crowd of 10,600 at Northwestern's McGraw Hall cheering wildly by running up a 15-4 lead in the opening minutes.

"We were tight and tense," explained the Dons' dapper coach, Phil Woolpert, later. "But we had trailed by 11 points against California and Holy Cross earlier this year and I was never worried."

In the next seven minutes, Iowa's lead evaporated as the incomparable Bill Russell, Gene Brown and outside-shooting Hal Perry stormed the baskets.

Carl Boldt's corner shot put the Dons ahead 24-23 about six minutes before half time, and they never trailed or were tied thereafter.

At intermission it was 38-33 fashioned on the well-balanced scoring of Russell with 10 points, and Boldt, Perry and Brown each with 8.

They widened the gap at will in the first five minutes of the second half. Brown, Perry and Russell kept up the bombardment and San Francisco cruised ahead 50-39.

To all intents and purposes victory was wrapped up at this stage. Russell ended with 26 points, Brown and Boldt 16 each and Perry 14. Carl Cain and Bill Seaberg each hit 17 for Iowa's best.

Although the San Francisco-Iowa game was the big feature, it remained for Hal Lear, Temple's 5-11 senior guard from Philadelphia, to steal much of the individual glory.

Lear popped in 17 field goals and 14 free throws for 48 points in leading the Owls to a 90-81 victory over Southern Methodist for third place.

Chicago Feature

17,000 Expected for Relays

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Shelton, pro basketball player. The indoor record is 6:10 1/2 by Ken Wiesner in this same meet in 1953.

Pressing Shelton will be defending meet champion Vic Fritts, former Penn State star; Les Stevens of Iowa; Bernie Allard, Notre Dame; Bob Lang of Missouri, Big 7 indoor champion, and Cal Boyd, former Big 10 star from Indiana.

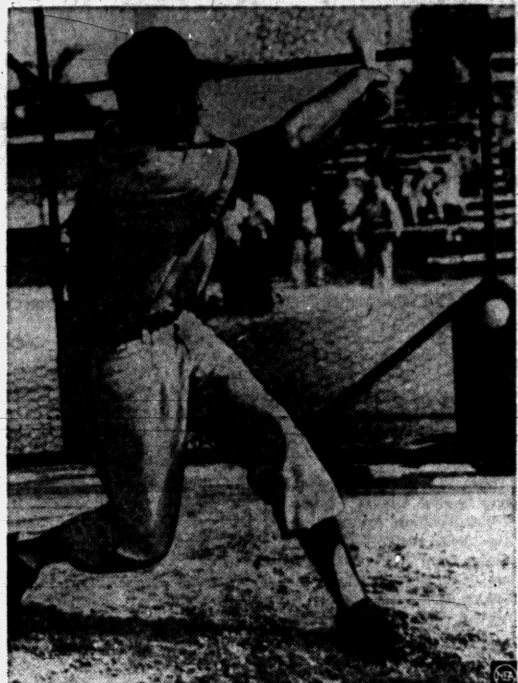

The bankers mile feature will bring out Ted Wheeler, Iowa's Big 10 indoor mile and 880 champion; Phil Coleman, former Army titlist now a graduate student at Illinois, and Les Viebig of Syracuse.

The group of former Olympic champions is headed by Horace Ashenfelter, FBI man shooting for his fourth 2-mile title in six years; The Rev. Robert Richards, pole vaulter, and Harrison Dillard.

Ashenfelter will be challenged by Michigan's Ron Wallingford and Charles "Deacon" Jones, NCAA cross-country champion running unattached.

Pittsburgh's great relay team will face Notre Dame, Syracuse and Michigan State in the 2-mile baton feature. Michigan, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Ohio State, Illinois, Michigan State, Iowa, Notre Dame, Oklahoma and Indiana will send teams into various sections of mile relay competition.

Sweeney attended Michigan State University and Hillsdale College and coached for nine years at Imlay City before moving to the Lansing school system in 1944.

TIGERS' CONCERN—The American League's 1955 batting champion, Al Kaline, is causing major concern in the Detroit Tiger camp over the ailing right arm which was previously dismissed as "just another sore arm." The young Tiger star has been troubled with the arm and had to step out of the batting box several times for that reason.

Wings After 3rd Game on Leafs' Ice Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Happy Day.

That's the name of the general manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs. But the Leafs weren't exactly laughing out loud as they prepared to go into tonight's third game of their Stanley Cup semifinal series against the Detroit Red Wings.

The New York Rangers, with their confidence restored after upsetting the Canadiens in Montreal

Thursday night, will take on the Canucks in the third game of their semifinals tonight in Madison Square Garden.

Toronto already down 2-0 in games in the best-of-7 competition, further was jolted yesterday. X-rays revealed that Tod Sloan, their high scoring forward, suffered a broken shoulder in the second game in Detroit.

The Leafs will have home advantage going for them tonight and in the fourth game Tuesday night. But the psychological edge likely will be Detroit's.

In each of the first two games in the Motor City, Toronto moved in front in the opening period, only to have the Red Wings come roaring back to win. In the opening tilt, in fact, Toronto held a 2-0 lead after two periods.

Capacity crowds are expected in Maple Leaf Gardens and also in New York, where the Rangers posted a 20-7-8 record during the regular season.

Ranger Coach Phil Watson said yesterday he won't decide whether Gordie Bell or Gump Worsley will play in the New York goal until two hours before game time. Bell, a veteran minor league net-minder, turned in a neat job as Worsley's replacement Thursday night. Gump, however, took part in a light workout yesterday and his injured knee gave him little trouble.

"We should be 6-5 favorites to win now," said Watson confidently. "After all, the series is tied and the next two games will be on our ice."

The fourth game will be played Sunday night.

NBA Playoff Game Set for Television

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An eight-day layoff didn't dim the shooting eyes of the Philadelphia Warriors, who today held a 1-game edge over Syracuse in their National Basketball Assn. playoff series.

On the sidelines since March 14 while Syracuse knocked out Boston in the quarter-finals, the Warriors easily upended the Nationals 109-87 in the opener of their best-of-5 competition last night.

The St. Louis Hawks, holding a 1-0 lead, take on the Fort Wayne Pistons today in a nationally televised (NBC) game starting at 3 p.m. (EST). Theirs is also a best-of-5 semifinal series.

Jones Upsets Humez on TV

One Point Difference on Scorecards Snaps Streak of Frenchman

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones, the spoiler of the middleweight division, has done it again. This time the victim was puny, scarred Charley Humez, France's European 160-pound champion, making his U.S. pro debut. Fourteen months ago it was Sugar Ray Robinson, the song and dance man on the comeback path.

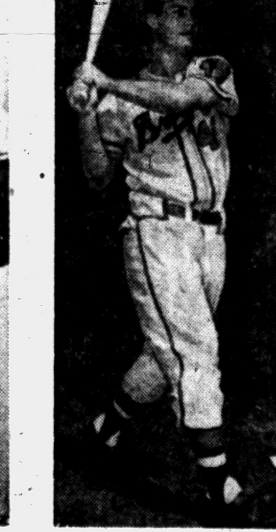

Old Sugar Ray shrugged off the defeat and rebounded to regain the middleweight crown from Carl (Bobo) Olson. Humez, edged by the Tiger in a very, very close television 10-rounder in Madison Square Garden last night, hopes to do the same and get his long-sought shot at the world title.

One point on Judge Frank Forbes' scorecard was the difference between a Humez defeat and a draw. The single point snapped Humez' 17-fight, 2 1/2-year unbeaten streak.

Colorado Site Suggested by College Hockey Pilots

BOSTON (AP)—The American Hockey Coaches Assn. has recommended Colorado Springs as the site of the NCAA Tournament and Boston for its annual meeting again next year.

The group made its recommendations yesterday as its two-day session opened. March 14-16 were the dates suggested for the NCAA Tourney and March 21-23 for the convention.

TRIO AIMING AT 60—Three of the leading sluggers in the Major Leagues will be aiming this year at the coveted home run record of Babe Ruth. The Babe's mark of 60 hit in 1927 still stands but baseball men feel that this could be the year and by either Ted Kluszewski, Willie Mays or Ed Mathews. Kluszewski hit 47 last year, Mays 51 and Mathews 41. Other possibilities are Duke Snider and Ernie Banks.

Pine Lake Sets Opening

Elmer Prieskorn, starting his second year as Pine Lake Country Club golf pro, announces the golfing season opening at the club Saturday, March 31. The locker room and grill facilities will be available for members and their guests.

H. T. Gierok, Pine Lake Country Club president, announces the following committee chairmanships for the 1956 season.

Greens, Dr. A. D. Robinson; Golf, Charles P. Livingston; House and Membership, H. W. Wheeler; Building and Grounds, Leslie R. Tripp; Entertainment, F. M. "Tex" Smith; Handicap, Chris L. Sloan; Beach, Gardiner C. Vose; Tennis, Erwin Baumrucker; Caddy, John F. Daneke; Men's Bowling, Bob Cole; Women's Bowling, Mrs. C. P. Mehas; Ladies Golf, Mrs. E. O. Borglin.

Refinishing wood furniture, cabinets and the like calls for frequent dusting during the process, in addition to the thorough dusting, washing and drying required at the outset.

Twin Clears Brother in Slaying of Scout

Williams, who has been exonerated by his 14-year-old twin brother in the slaying of a Cub Scout, was free today on $5,000 bond. Thomas Williams, who police say took sole blame for the bludgeoning of David Powell, 9, remained in jail.

The body of Powell was found in a coal cellar beneath the Williams' home last Feb. 10. The twins were charged with murder several days later.

Intermediate Court Judge David A. McKee approved bail for Joseph Williams. A surety bond was arranged by relatives of the boy.

They said Joseph would go to Martins Ferry, Ohio, where his parents have moved since the case developed.

Judge McKee explained that Joseph's bond would be a continuing one, remaining in effect throughout the trial. The trial is scheduled to begin April 2.

For the Home

An easy method of reducing the length of a bolt is recommended by The Home Craftsman magazine. Directions are:

Take a nut that fits the bolt to be cut. Saw through one side with a hack saw. After running the nut on the bolt to the point of the cut-off, place the nut in the vice as shown. Tightening the vise applies pressure on the nut, closing the gap and securing the bolt without damage to the threads. Now use the hack saw to cut the bolt. Finish the cut end of the bolt with a file by placing it in the vise as shown in the lower figure.

Clarkston Gets Realty Firm

Establishment of the first real estate firm in the village of Clarkston was marked recently as Howard Fox and Lloyd Kirby joined to form Clarkston Realty Firm. Formerly with the White Brothers Real Estate of Waterford, both young men have achieved successful records in recent years for large land sales and new property development in their vicinity.

Associates of Fox and Kirby are W. E. Kushman and Charles V. Kuhne, also men of substantial local background.

Specializing in land development and subdivision properties, Clarkston Realty is exclusive agent for the "Coronado" and "Colorado" homes in new Clarkston Gardens, a 180-home planned community located on the edge of the village limits of Clarkston.

In the heart of a bountiful fruit orchard area, Clarkston Gardens features 3-bedroom face brick ranch homes with large 1/2-acre lots, and boasts proximity to schools, churches, shopping and lake recreational sites. Offices of Clarkston Realty are maintained at 20 South Main Street in Clarkston.

Barbers Protesting Back Porch Clipping

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Local No. 975 of the Journeyman Barbers Assn. has gone on the war path against back porch barbering in two counties. The local refers to other than full-time barbers in shops, who are handy with scissors and shears and who will cut hair calls in the coal fields.

Families with eight or nine children can get their locks shorn at an economy-sized bargain rate and keep a barbering man busy for a good part of a day.

The journeymen protest that they must take physical examinations, submit to blood tests, obtain state and local licenses and maintain shops, while the back porchers aren't so inconvenienced.

Thirty colleges and universities drew 120,000 or more spectators to their basketball games in 1954-55.

Paint Masonry to Insure Protection for Materials

To paint—or not to paint—masonry? It's often a question. Painting masonry has many advantages. It is, for example, an excellent idea to protect such materials as brick, stone, stucco, concrete, hollow tile, cement or cinder blocks against the penetration of moisture. While moisture does not destroy masonry, masonry that is damp can cause costly damage to adjacent materials in a structure.

A moisture-repellent coating may, of course, be a transparent one that does not alter the color of the masonry it protects. Or, it may be a colorful one that improves the appearance of a discolored masonry surface and makes it easier to keep clean.

Still another advantage is provided by light-hued coating materials that reflect more light onto surrounding areas. This result is especially beneficial in apartment courts and areaways where natural darkness is intensified by dark-colored masonry. In some industrial sections of cities, the light-painted walls of large buildings can actually serve as crime deterrents. Dark walls provide protective coloration for skulking shadowy figures. Light walls do not!

There are several types of coating materials now available that are suitable for masonry. Basically, they may be classed as either water-thinned or solvent-thinned paints.

The water-thinned variety may be used over masonry surfaces that are not entirely dry and that may contain active alkali. One such paint has a cement base. It comes as a dry powder and is mixed with water. Also suitable are the latex paints that have been intensely studied by both the manufacturers and users.

Prepared Panels Replace Wood in Gable Ends

Panels, rather than lumber, make the most satisfactory gable ends in residences, builders have found. Favorites nowadays are plain, factory-primed and patterned panels of synthetic board.

A variety of styles, pictured here, are possible with the use of these materials. All have the characteristics of the hardboard itself; they are quickly installed, easy to paint, rigid and strong.

Meeting any taste are the styles shown. Panelgroove has clean-cut vertical grooves at intervals of four inches. An appealing design is panel and batten, with wood strips punctuating the wide expanse of Tempered Presdwood. Ridgeline has a combed texture appearance that harmonizes with any style of siding. It comes in strips for lap siding, in large panels or in shingle sizes.

Plain panels, lower right illustration, take paint easily and hold it long. Factory-primed panels, of course, require only one or two coats, saving in labor cost. All the products for gable ends may be used also for exterior siding or interior wall treatments.

Set Top Record in 1955

U. S. lumber manufacturers produced a record-breaking 33,105,000,000 board feet of lumber during 1955, according to estimates of the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. The 1955 volume was seven per cent above 1954 and exceeded output for each of the 26 preceding years during which comparable records have been maintained. Softwood production in 1955 was eight per cent above 1954, while output of hardwoods increased one per cent.
