Campaign Hopes Chilled

Foot Dragging Hit as Reason Medaris Quit

Von Braun Assails U.S. Missile Program as Bogged in Indecision

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Rocket expert Wernher von Braun said today that Maj. Gen. John Medaris resigned as head of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency (ABMA) because he was discouraged with "foot dragging" in the U. S. space program.

Von Braun himself assailed what he called indecision by "someone in Washington" and said there must be a long range program "if we don't mean to abandon the heavens to the Reds."

He said Medaris wanted to "pitch in and help" this country catch Russia in the space race, but was not given any "challenging task."

Medaris, 57, announced last night that he is retiring as head of the Army Ordnance Missile Command effective Jan. 31, three years before mandatory retirement age. He did not reveal his future plans after 38 years of military service.

Von Braun said he had no intention of quitting the agency at this time, but that he might get out and go into private industry unless the Army team is given important work to do.

He told a news conference that he, Medaris and others at the ABMA in Huntsville, Ala., want a "crash" program to develop the 1,500,000-pound thrust Saturn rocket needed to match the heavy loads Russia has boosted into space.

But he said the government has not thrown extra money into this project.

Von Braun said it was "quite possible" that the Soviets would have within two years a rocket which could put a "bus load of

McDonald Says His Men Would Abide by Ruling

'Sad Day for Nation,' Ike Writes in Directive to Seek Action

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The government was set today to try to put to an end—at least temporarily—the costly 98-day-old nationwide steel strike.

Acting under the Taft-Hartley Act, President Eisenhower directed Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers to seek a federal court injunction that would send the nation's 500,000 striking steelworkers back to the mills for 80 days.

Plans then were made for George C. Doub, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's civil division, to present the injunction petition today in U. S. District court here—headquarters of the United Steelworkers.

The U. S. attorney's office said the hearing before Judge Herbert P. Sorg would be held in the afternoon.

United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said the union's general counsel, Arthur J. Goldberg, will appear to appeal the government's petition.

APPEAL DUE

Goldberg said he will argue that the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act which have been invoked are unconstitutional. He said he also will argue that the strike does not imperil the national health or safety within the meaning of the Law.

McDonald said the union's decision-making 170-member Wage Policy Committee has been called to meet in Pittsburgh at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The union 33-member Executive Board already is in Pittsburgh.

McDonald said earlier that the union would fight the injunction

New Strike Legislation Seen Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two influential senators today predicted Congress may act on national emergency legislation if the steel strike is not settled by next January.

Sens. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), spoke of the possibility.

Mansfield said in an interview that if steel workers go back on the job under an injunction and then walk out at the end of an 80-day cooling off period, Congress is almost certain to act quickly after it returns in January.

President Eisenhower Monday ordered the Justice Department to seek a court injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the strike for 80 days. The steelworkers have said they would obey such an injunction if one is issued, but would walk out again at the end of the 80 days.

"I would think there would be consideration of legislation creating special labor courts which could act to ward off any strike that threatens the national security," Mansfield said. "It might be that the procedures of the Railway Labor Act for arbitration and conciliation could be brought into play for any basic industry such as steel."

Keating told an audience in Utica, N.Y., Monday night that in any event Congress is going to have to "take a long, hard look at the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to determine to be provided to end strikes which threaten the national welfare and security."

"It may well be that the dangerous impasse of the steel strike will prod Congress to enact legislation which will provide some kind of arbitration when giant labor and giant management engage in these fight-to-the-finish disputes," Keating said.

Rockefeller Rebuffed on Visit to Midwest

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York appears to be waging an uphill battle today in his bid for midwestern support for the Republican presidential nomination.

He slammed into a wall of public indifference on his arrival here Monday for a two-day visit designed to test his chances of gaining support to challenge Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the GOP nomination.

The Midwest is considered a Nixon stronghold.

No organized support for the New York governor was apparent during the early stages of his Chicago visit. Nor were there any crowds interested in seeing the multi-millionaire governor who has been widely mentioned as a possible future president.

Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton, a Republican, met with Rockefeller but said he would remain neutral for the present in the Nixon-Rockefeller contest.

Rockefeller lined up meetings today with other midwest political leaders and businessmen.

The governor's schedule was designed for maximum publicity and political value.

TURNS TESTY

But Midwest newspapermen who expected a sample of the famed Rockefeller personality were surprised when he turned somewhat testy during a news conference.

He complained several times he was finding it "tiresome" to be constantly subjected to questioning about the possibility he might run for the GOP nomination.

But he declined to eliminate himself as a potential candidate and said he still was in the process of making up his mind. He expects to make a formal announcement early next year based on the reaction he receives to public appearances and policy statements he plans in various parts of the country.

Rockefeller told his news conference that he was confident that any Republican candidate who conducted a forthright and courageous campaign would win the presidency next year. He said he "expected" Nixon would conduct such a campaign but Rockefeller declined to make an unqualified prediction the vice president would win if nominated.

JOINS DEMS

After the news conference, Rockefeller joined Democratic Gov. Edward J. (Pat) Brown of California and Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina for a meeting of the Civil Defense Committee of the Governors Conference.

Rockefeller is chairman of the CD committee. Stratton joined the group before dinner as host governor.

Official at Bell Doubts Threats

Vice President Resents Claim by Man Who Is Fighting Rate Hike

LANSING (AP)—A Michigan Bell Telephone Co. official questions whether any employe would "intimidate" company critics in the manner described by Kenneth Sharrard of Port Huron.

Sharrard, a union steward at the Mueller Brass Co., complained yesterday that a local utility representative pressured him to drop plans for marshaling opposition to Michigan Bell's rate increase application.

Sharrard, who went ahead and filed petitions listing 874 objectors to higher rates, told his story to the state Public Service Commission as hearings resumed on the requested multi-million dollar rate hike.

Henry W. Goodman, Michigan Bell vice president in charge of the rate case, said in a statement issued several hours later:

"I would seriously doubt that any employe of our company would indulge in any threat of intimidation in regard to any phase of our business.

"Michigan Bell is simply not that kind of an organization."

Paper Reports State GOP Feud

Says Summerfield Is Urging That Lindemer Lose Chairmanship

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit News said today that Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has demanded the dropping of Lawrence B. Lindemer as Michigan Republican chairman but has run into strong opposition from Henry Ford II and others of the GOP liberal bloc.

Will Muller, news political writer, said in a copyrighted story that Don E. Ahrens, state Republican finance director, was to deliver Summerfield's "terms for peace in the Michigan party" to Paul D. Bagwell today.

As a price for Lindemer's political scalp, the News said, Summerfield promised he would not be a candidate for any elective office in 1960, would not attempt to head the state's delegation to the 1960 GOP National Convention, and would not insist on naming any to the state Republican ticket next year.

Bagwell, defeated GOP candidate for governor in 1958, is titular head of the Republican Party in Michigan. Lindemer was named chairman with his blessings.

Summerfield is a former Michigan GOP national committeeman and headed the state's delegation to the 1952 convention that named Dwight D. Eisenhower as a candidate for President.

The News story said in part:

"Young Ford, an enthusiastic supporter of Gen. Eisenhower before he was nominated, has called Bagwell on the telephone and urged him to scorn the Cabinet officer's demand (for the dumping of Lindemer).

"It was learned that Ford, in addition, has promised to help Bagwell if the party money raisers try to starve him financially in a second try for the governorship, in retaliation for his keeping Lindemer.

Scouts, YMCA Need Its Aid

UF Vital to Boys' Groups

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of stories The Pontiac Press is publishing to show our readers where and how their Pontiac Area United Fund dollars are spent.

Many of your United Fund dollars are being spent for the benefit of your children.

Among the agencies supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund are the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts, the Pontiac Boy's Club, and the Pontiac YMCA.

The Clinton Valley Council, with funds from the UF, is consistently striving to better its program of nature-lore, adventure, hobbies and good fun that aids the Boy Scouts in molding of good citizens.

The popularity of the scouting movement is attested to by the 233 units making up the council. There are 9,006 boys participating in the council's scouting program. Of these, more than 1,700 are from the Pontiac District.

Earning a variety of ranks and badges, boys can join the scouting movement as Cub Scouts at age eight, continue through the Boy Scouts, ages 11 through 13, and the Explorer Scouts, 14 and older.

Boys from all over the city pass daily through the doors of the Pontiac Boy's Club building located at E. Pike and Francis streets.

The building, erected in 1951, contains a gymnasium, library, woodshop, games room for different age groups, a print shop and dark room.

With 85 per cent of its operating budget coming from the United Fund, the Boy's Club concentrates on meeting boys' needs and interests in recreation, hobbies and social functions.

Cressy Larsen, director, estimates membership in the neighborhood of 1,500 youngsters.

The present YMCA program is an extensive one, covering activities for boys, girls and adults.

The program now includes a summer fun club for boys and girls, club activities, learn-to-swim drives, organized father and son groups, hobby shop classes and several sports activities for kids.

To Ask Delay in Chessman's Execution

From Our News Wires

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—A new attempt to keep Caryl Chessman alive is planned so he can testify in defense of his literary agent, who is facing trial on a charge of smuggling one of the condemned man's book manuscripts from prison.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California refused Chessman clemency Monday.

A San Jose attorney, John Thorne, said Monday night he will ask the Supreme Court to delay Chessman's execution, now set for Friday.

The convicted Los Angeles rapist was condemned to death 11 years ago under California's Little Lindbergh Act on a technical charge of kidnaping involving a raped holdup victim.

Thorne is making the newest appeal for Chessman's life as attorney for Joseph Longstreth. The Richmond, Ind., literary agent is jointly charged with Chessman's attorney, George T. Davis of San Francisco, and the publishing house of Prentice-Hall with conspiracy to smuggle "The Face of Justice" out of San Quentin.

Thorne contends Chessman is a material witness in the case.

Meanwhile, the London, England Daily Sketch today addressed a public appeal to California Gov. Pat Brown to commute the scheduled execution of Chessman.

"To take his life after these agonizing years of doubt and delay is nothing short of bestial," the newspaper said in an editorial.

"In the name of humanity, Governor, stop the execution. In the name of God, have mercy," the Daily Sketch said.

The newspaper said the author-convict's crime did not warrant the death penalty.

FROM VATICAN PAPER

L'Osservatore Romano today suggested that Chessman's 11 years in a California death row had expiated his debt to society.

The Vatican newspaper's editorial, written by its chief editor, Count Giuseppe Dalla Torre, said that "it seemed a miracle" that Chessman had not gone crazy during that period.

L'Osservatore said that "this slow agony" is more punishment than death and that "nobody can deny that he has not expiated whatever his blame — howsoever grave — because a more severe penalty than this does not reasonably exist."

IT'S A POLITICAL ACT — Caryl Chessman gestured at San Quentin Prison in San Quentin, Calif. Monday as he held a news conference shortly after the announcement in Sacramento that California's Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown refused to commute to life imprisonment the death sentence hanging over him since 1948. Chessman, scheduled to die in the prison's gas chamber Friday, charged Brown's denial of clemency was the political act of a man who is "presidential timber."

Men Are Getting Beefier as Women Slim Down

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're 15 to 20 pounds underweight, you are likely to live longer than people of average weight—and a lot longer than people who are overweight.

This was one of the conclusions of a four-year study by the Society of Actuaries which Monday issued the first insurance industry report of its kind in 30 years.

The survey also developed new average weight charts to replace those they have been used in doctors' offices and on weighing machines since 1929. The charts indicate men are considerably beefier than they used to be and women more slender.

The study cost 2½ million dollars. It involved five million Americans.

"This study shows that insurance companies have been wise in setting higher rates for the overweight," commented Edward A. Lew, chairman of the study committee.

Other findings of the study:

Women are healthier than men.

Women carry high blood pressure and additional weight with less risk.

Extreme underweight 40 pounds or so below average— sometimes carries a higher mortality rate than overweight.

Overweight persons who reduce gain in life expectancy as long as they keep their weight down.

The mortality rate for women has declined much more than for men.

There is some advantage in slight overweight for teenagers.

The new weight charts show that men 5 feet 8 inches tall at 25 average four pounds heavier than they did 30 years ago—155 pounds; at 35, six pounds heavier, 161; at 45, five pounds heavier, 165; and at 55, three pounds heavier, 166.

The average woman 5 feet 4 inches tall at 25 weighs 125 pounds, 132 at 35, 140 at 45, 144 at 55, and 145 at 65. The report attributed her reduction in weight during the past 30 years to decreased weight of her clothes, some increase in the heights of heels on her shoes, and "particularly the greater vogue of slenderness."

Russia Jamming 'Voice' for 'U.S. Spy' Broadcast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington monitors reported today the Soviets apparently have turned on their radio jammers against the Voice of America's broadcasts of the Langelle affair.

Russell A. Langelle is the U.S. diplomat whom the Reds kicked out of the Soviet Union last weekend, saying they caught him in spy work. The United States has denied the spy accusations.

Langelle, who had been top security officer at the American Embassy in Moscow, is now on his way back to Washington with his family amid protests and counter-protests between the two capitals.

Soviet jamming of the Voice of America's Russian-language programs stopped for the first time in a decade when Premier Nikita Khrushchev visited the United States last month. It has been sporadic since.

TASS DIFFERENT

The story was published today for the first time in the Soviet Union, in a brief account by the Soviet news agency Tass. It briefly outlined the charges against Langelle and made no mention of the U. S. version of the incident.

The U.S. version is that Langelle was seized last Friday by five Soviets in civilian clothes as he alighted from a bus near the embassy who took him to a nearby building, and questioned and threatened him for several hours. They also tried unsuccessfully to get him to act as a spy for the Soviet Union.

Langelle, on his way back to Washington, said in Amsterdam Monday night he got "pretty rough treatment" from the Soviets. He didn't elaborate.

The version of the incident reported by Soviet newspaper sources is that passengers on the bus seized two men after one handed the other a large package that appeared to contain money. Authorities found one man, a Soviet citizen, had a package containing 20,000 rubles (about $5,000) and material for making secret inks. The other, Langelle, voluntarily handed over a notebook containing secret data written in invisible ink.

While disputing the Soviet account as complete fabrication, U.S. experts offered no ready explanation as to why the Communists acted as they did at this time.

One theory was that the Kremlin wants to have a chilling incident handy to ward off too warm a popular sentiment favoring America in the wake of the Khrushchev visit.

County Dems, Staebler to Plan

Closed Meeting Will Be a Strategy Discussion for 1960 Campaign

Local Democrats will huddle with State Democratic Chairman Neil Staebler in Pontiac tomorrow to plan the Oakland County campaign for 1960.

The evening meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel has been closed to the press.

Staebler, with members of state central committees, is stopping in Pontiac during a swing through the state tagged "Operation '60" and designed to formulate strategy for next year's national and state elections.

The drive began over the weekend in Escanaba when the party's policy planning state central members set down objectives for next year.

One is to win control of the House of Representatives and the other to win support for a constitutional convention based on House instead of Senate apportionment of delegates.

It is said by some that a local objective of the party is to find a top Democrat to match Oakland's Republican Sen. L. Harvey Lodge.

Tomorrow night's session, which is expected to attract the leading Democratic strategists in the county, will begin with a dinner at 5:30.

A major order of business will be Staebler's talks with prospective candidates for county offices and legislative posts.

Wounded Boy Still in Critical Condition

A 15-year-old Bloomfield Township youth shot by a Birmingham policeman while fleeing in a stolen sports car remained in critical condition today at William Beaumont Hospital.

James T. O'Leary of 2583 De-Pew St. underwent surgery yesterday, the hospital reported. The bullet went into the boy's neck, striking his spinal column.

O'Leary was shot by Patrolman Norman Propst in a two-mile chase down Woodward avenue at speeds up to 95 miles an hour.

Whatja Know! Weather Nice Everywhere

By The Associated Press

There were a few wet spots and it was cool in some northern areas today but generally pleasant weather was the rule in most of the nation.

The only areas of precipitation were along the northern Washington-Oregon coast and in the east coast of Florida. Heaviest rains in Florida were at Palm Beach, with about 1½ inches. Showers sprinkled other areas.

It was cool again this morning from New England to Virginia, with temperatures in the 30s and 40s, slightly below normal.

A fresh surge of cold air moved southward from Canada into eastern Montana and the Dakotas Monday and this morning temperatures ranged from the upper 20s to the low 40s, some 10 to 20 degrees lower than Monday morning.

Eisenhower Seeks T-H Injunction Today

"with might and main" but he added that "if it is issued, we will live up to the law of our country."

The President acted Monday only 3½ hours after receiving a special fact-finding panel's report that it had been unable to mediate the dispute and saw "no prospect for an early cessation of the strike."

The President's letter directing Rogers to seek an injunction said:

"It is essential to the national interest that production be resumed immediately in the steel industry.

"Free collective bargaining has not worked in this dispute despite the dedicated efforts of the federal government and the fact finding board of inquiry.

"In order to protect the interests of all the American people, this leaves me with no alternative except to seek an injunction under the existing law.

"America's hopes for a voluntary responsible settlement have not been fulfilled. It is a sad day for the nation."

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, the President can seek a strike-ending injunction if he feels the strike imperils the nation's health, welfare or safety. The President undoubtedly took into consideration the nearly 250,000 workers in allied industries who have been idled by the steel strike.

THE ISSUES

The two big issues in the steel talks have been the union's demand for a wage hike and the industry's demands for changes in working rules that would enable it to save money.

In its report to the President, the special fact-finding panel said it "cannot point to any single issue of any consequence whatsoever upon which the parties are in agreement."

Buttonholes Delegates at U. N.

Brother Pleads for Dalai Lama

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A young man who looks more at home in an English suit than the monastic robe he occasionally wears is buttonholing U.N. delegates to plead the cause of his brother—Tibet's Dalai Lama.

Gyalo Thondup, 31-year-old emissary for the exiled Dalai, bears little resemblance to the quaintly garbed holy men one usually associates with Tibet.

Suave and immaculate, he mingles easily at receptions, sips aperitifs and converses in good English.

Thondup's visit to this country —timed to coincide with the Tibetan debate coming up in the General Assembly this week—is being managed in American style. Representing him are a public relations firm and Ernest Gross, an international lawyer. Thondup and his party are at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. They have been feting the press with luncheons featuring such delicacies as duck with wild rice.

Representatives of Thondup say the bill for all this is being footed by the Dalai Lama's exiled government. They hint that the ruler managed to take considerable money on his flight from Lhasa to India last spring.

CRUSADES FOR TIBET

Thondup appears to be a dedicated crusader for his oppressed land. He feels it is the duty of the U.N. to see that a peaceful solution is reached somehow between Tibet and Red China. He has indicated he would like to see the assembly set up a U.N. commission to restore conditions that existed before 1950, when Tibet was a sovereign state linked to both India and China.

Thondup is openly distressed at the reluctance of some Asian nations to help his brother's cause, but he says he realizes that countries bordering on Red China hesitate to give outward support for fear of endangering their own position.

Actually Thondup's knowledge of recent events in his land is second hand. Fearing for his life after the Red Chinese occupied Lhasa, Thondup went to India in 1952. He spent the seven years there as a student and unofficial liaison between India and Tibet.

Before the Communists seized power on the Chinese mainland in 1949, Thondup was a student in China and married a Chinese girl. They have three children.

Pickets Permitted Now at Sno-White

DETROIT (AP) — Circuit Judge Victor J. Baum has authorized renewal of picketing by the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union at the Sno-White dining room, where the Union is seeking a contract.

Judge Baum, however, ruled there must be no repetition of an Oct. 2 coffee sit-down in which unionists filed in at the rush hour, occupied all seats and ordered only coffee.

It was after this that Judge Baum ordered the Union to remove all pickets. He authorized renewal of picketing, four-at-a-time, after a four-day hearing that ended yesterday.

The Union authorized picketing of the northwest Grand River restaurant last March. Owner Walter Nau contends the Union does not represent a majority of his 48 employes.

Clarkston Boys Appeal Terms

8 Out on Bail While Awaiting Circuit Court Trial Oct. 27

Trial has been set for Oct. 27 for eight Clarkston area youths who have appealed 25-day jail sentences for malicious destruction of property to Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge William J. Beer yesterday ordered the early trial when the appeals were added to the court's calendar.

The boys were part of a gang of 12 nabbed Oct. 8 when they made the mistake of tossing eggs at the car of a deputy sheriff.

Police also accused the vandals of barricading roads, building a bonfire in the middle of a road, spreading oil and sharpened cans on U.S. 10, letting air out of school bus tires and heaving other foodstuffs at motorists.

Independence Township Justice William H. Stamp sentenced 10 of the 12 to 25 days in the county jail. The 10 pleaded guilty Oct. 9.

Another boy, a high school student, was sentenced to four weekends in jail, and a 16-year-old turned over to juvenile authorities.

Appealing the jail terms are Gary P. Beach, 18, James B. Lowe, 19, Thomas E. Robey, 19, Kent R. See, 20, Kenneth F. Stock, 18, Jerry W. Terry, 18, James B. Price Jr., 19, and Cecil H. Weber, 17.

Paul D. Smith, 18, originally planned to appeal, but yesterday withdrew the appeal and was returned to the jail when Pontiac bondsman Guy Carter appeared before Judge Beer and withdrew Smith's $500 bond.

Smith reportedly wants to serve out his 25 days and then enter the Army.

The other eight who are appealing are free on similar $500 bonds.

Little Hope Remains for Trapped Miners

SILVERPEAK, Nev. (AP) — Only the faintest hopes remain that three miners trapped in a cave-in at the Mohawk silver mine are still alive.

Rescue crews cleared two shafts to the 300-foot level, where the men were working when the cave-in occurred Friday. They found the shaft blocked at both ends.

There's still a chance the men made it to a place of safety in the tunnel.

The trapped men are Bill Delorme, Redding, Calif., James Robinson, Mina, Nev., and Sam Sickles, of nearby Tonopah, Nev.

publican money raisers and contributors Summerfield arranged at the Detroit Club last Thursday morning.

"It was intended originally as both a 'dump Lindemer' and a 'dump Bagwell' meeting.

"After Summerfield clashed with Henry Ford II, he did not push his attack on Bagwell."

Besides Ford and Summerfield, those reported at the meeting were Ernest R. Breech, Ford Motor Co. chairman; John S. The News' story also said:

"The Postmaster General's plans for Michigan's Republican ticket in 1960 include State Sen. Carlton H. Morris of Kalamazoo, for governor, and Army Secretary (Wilber) Brucker, of Detroit for Senator, if a publicity man paid by the Summerfield segment of the party is worth his $15,000 salary.

"Frank Morris, of Detroit, launched these names this week in a column he writes 'for free' for Michigan weekly newspapers.

"Morris also said that Summerfield is after the scalps of National Committeeman John B. Martin of Grand Rapids and John Feikens, Detroit lawyer and former GOP state chairman."

Morriw has been a spokesman for the Senate Republican majority in the state Legislature in the duel with Gov. G. Mennen Williams and other Democrats over taxes.

Canned Laughs May Be Halted

CBS Reviewing Many Practices That Deceive TV Audience

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System is considering whether it should continue to use phony applause and laughter on some television shows.

A spokesman for the network said Monday night CBS is reviewing the use of "canned" applause and other practices in light of a recent statement by CBS President Frank Stanton.

Stanton said in New Orleans last Friday that all big money quiz shows were being eliminated by CBS and added: "We accept the responsibility for content and quality and for assurance to the American people that what they see and hear on CBS programs is exactly what it purports to be."

For years, even on the big radio shows long before TV was developed, loud applause and uproarious laughter on one show were recorded for use on other shows.

The CBS spokesman said the network also was reviewing the "spontaneous" interviews that actually had been rehearsed, and shows purporting to take place in one locale that actually had been fimed elsewhere.

The spokesman was Kidder Everard Meade Jr., executive director of the CBS Information Services. He spoke in answer to questions.

The New York Times today quoted Stanton as saying in a telephone interview from Texas that he planned to review all CBS shows personally to see if they were using any kind of deception.

The Times said Stanton declared that the time has come for each broadcaster to review his programming schedule to eliminate audio or visual misrepresentation. This includes the practice of dubbing recorded applause or laughter into the sound track of a completed program, he said.

The newspaper said Stanton cited the network's "Person to Person" program, which featured Edward R. Murrow last season and which now stars Charles Collingwood.

The program endeavored to create the illusion that it was spontaneous, but actually the guests were given questions in advance that they woud be asked on the program, the Times said Stanton asserted.

Stanton also mentioned "The U.N. in Action" program, the Times article said, which might lead its viewers to believe that it was impromptu and that the CBS interviewer was free to ask any question. Actually, Stanton said, U.N. diplomats insisted on receiving the questions in advance.

Champ Roller Skater Shot to Death by Wife

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Earl Van Horn, 62, former roller-skating champion, was shot to death early today by his wife after a bitter argument in their home, police reported.

The wife, Jean, 35, is a onetime polio victim whom Van Horn induced to take up skating as therapy for her paralysis. She not only overcame her physical difficulties but in time became a skating star herself.

The cause of the couple's argument was not immediately disclosed but police said that after two hours of angry squabbling Mrs. Van Horn grabbed a shotgun and fired at her husband. The blast hit him in the stomach.

Amid the dispute, a 12-year-old daughter called out several times from her bedroom asking the parents to "keep quiet, I'm trying to sleep." The girl, Gretchen, telephoned police after hearing the shot.

The Day in Birmingham

Rubbish Contract to Save City $6,825 Per Year

BIRMINGHAM — City Commissioners last night approved a low bid, three-year rubbish collection contract for residents of Birmingham at a savings of $6,825 per year.

The contract was awarded to the Detroit Rubbish Co. for $153,000 over a three-year period and will go into effect Jan. 1, 1960.

The bid price is based on a lump sum bid for curb collections, and a unit price per week for rear-door garbage collection.

The charge per unit for rear-door garbage collection as stated in the bid will be 7½ cents. This constitutes a $6,825 annual savings over the present 25 cent cost per unit. Over a three year period, a savings of $26,475 could be realized.

Rubbish will be collected once a week throughout the city, while garbage will be collected twice a week between June 15 and Oct. 15, and once a week the balance of the year.

Four bids were received by the city for the collection contract.

The city presently is paying $168,000 for a three-year contract with the Painter & Ruthenberg Trucking Co. The firm submitted the second lowest bid at this time.

The city has about 7,750 homes in the city that require rubbish collection, and of this number approximately 750 pay an additional charge for the collection of garbage only from the rear door.

NEED YEARS

It would take the United States four to five years to develop such a rocket under the present program, and at least three years even if extra money is provided.

As for rumors that he might resign to accept a job with private industry, Von Braun said at this time he has "absolutely no intention of quitting." But he said he might get out if the Saturn project is canceled, or if his team of German scientists at Huntsville is not given a challenging space project.

Von Braun said that Medaris' retirement is "in no way a protest resignation." But he said the general's "drive and determination will be sorely missed for a long time."

In a speech earlier before a breakfast meeting of the National Assn. of Food Chains, Von Braun lashed out sarcastically at the new U.S. space policy. He said the decision to give the Air Force full control of space projects shows lack of confidence "in a proven rocket team."

He said the shift threatens to throw this country even further behind in the race with Russia.

The German - born scientist headed a team which perfected the rocket that hurled the first U.S. satellite into orbit.

Bell Vice President Doubts Intimidation

said Sharrard's account will be studied with a view to determining whether the commission should take any follow-up action.

Smith chiefly had in mind Sharrard's complaint, relayed from a daughter, that she heard "racket" on the Sharrard telephone line after the pressure incident last March.

Sharrard quoted his daughter that the noise "sounded like a tape recorder or something." He said a serviceman called to look into the disturbance found nothing.

"We just might want the daughter to come down for an interview," Smith said.

The chairman in the past unofficially has frowned on Michigan Bell policy of seeking to discourage municipal officials and others so inclined from appearing in Lansing to oppose Bell rate petitions.

Sharrard related that a man later identified as Lon E. Kain, assistant manager at Port Huron, told him:

"If you don't withdraw it (the petition), the attorneys over there will pick it apart and throw it in your face."

The Port Huron subscriber also protested that the utility was spending heavily on advertising trying to show it was "going broke at a time when they were making a 6.6 per cent return."

As the rate case swung into its eighth month, W. R. Potter, chief accountant of the commission staff yesterday was kept on the stand for cross examination.

Atty. Albert J. Thorburn of Michigan Bell sought to shake Potter's advocacy of a 543 million dollar rate base in the present case as against the 588 figure urged by the utility.

Filipino Leader Embraces U.S. on Liberation Day

TACLOBAN, The Philippines (AP)— President Carlos P. Garcia said today the Philippines stands firmly beside the United States in fighting against communism.

Garcia spoke at ceremonies commemorating the 15th anniversary of the landing of U. S. troops on Leyte. This was the start of Philippines liberation in World War II.

The President, whose ruling Nacionalista Party has been campaigning on a Filipino first platform, said nationalism is now sweeping the country. But he assured the United States there is no threat to U. S.-Philippine friendship.

Personal Income Off; Strike Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income went down again last month, the government says, largely because of strikes in steel, copper and meat packing.

Persnoal income was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $379,600,000,000, a drop of 400 million from August. The decline was sharper in August, however, the first full month of the steel strike. The rate of personal income fell then by nearly 3½ billion dollars.

The Commerce Department said yesterday that for the entire third quarter personal income was at an annual rate of 381 billion dollars. This was the same as the second quarter. On an annual basis, wage and salary payments in September fell by 600 million dollars to $258,200,000,000.

Cubans Shot by Accident

Castro's Soldiers Are Careless With Arms, Officials Worried

HAVANA (UPI) — In the stillness of a warm Caribbean evening, a shot rings out and a body slumps to the ground.

Police are summoned to the scene and quickly confirm that another Cuban has been killed or wounded by small arms fire.

Sometimes, the victim is a young schoolgirl; sometimes a balding businessman out for a late stroll. Sometimes, the victim is a bearded veteran of rebel forces who fought so many months in the Sierra Maestra mountains.

They were not the targets of any gang of terrorists working against the government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro. They had been shot — accidently — by members of the Revolutionary Army itself.

According to a count by Combate, one of the government's strongest newspaper supporters, 10 persons were killed and 35 wounded in Havana by such accidents within a recent three-month period.

The result has been an order by the Revolutionary Army restricting the display of arms without justifiable cause, under penalty of arrest and 30 days confinement. The army also declared an automatic 15 days in jail for anyone found drinking while carrying arms.

One ranking member of the Revolutionary Army explained what has been happening this way:

"The accidental shootings are not surprising, although very unfortunate. Most of our training was received in the hills where we fought as guerrillas, not as garrison soldiers. We kept our weapons ready for action at any moment."

Frequently these veteran fighters fondle their weapons while recalling dangerous moments in the mountains or to show a friend.

GREETS MRS. MARSHALL — Canon Luther D. Miller, former chief of chaplains of the Army, shakes hands with Mrs. George C. Marshall on the grounds of Washington National Cathedral Monday. The bareheaded man is Col. James Winn, the general's son-in-law. Gen. Marshall was to be buried today with simple military rites. He will rest in Arlington National Cemetery near the Tomb of the Unknowns.

Military Drum Roll Bids Gen. Marshall Farewell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Muffled drums tap out a soldier's farewell today for Gen. George C. Marshall.

President Eisenhower and former President Harry S. Truman were to attend the funeral service at the Ft. Myer, Va., chapel for the five-star general of the Army.

Marshall died Friday night at 78 after a long illness.

The general had served as Army chief of staff during World War II and later as secretary of state and secretary of defense. He was author of the Marshall Plan which helped war-weakened Europe along the road to economic recovery.

The body of the soldier-statesman rested in Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington National (Episcopal) Cathedral until time for the service at Ft. Myer, just across the Potomac River from Washington.

A simple funeral was planned in accordance with Marshall's wishes. Arrangements included army band music as the procession entered and left the Army chapel, the chapel service conducted by Canon Luther D. Miller of Washington Cathedral restricted to 200 persons, graveside service restricted to members of the family and pallbearers, burial in Arlington National Cemetery on a slope below the Tomb of the Unknowns.

Missionary Loves Eskimos

Has Ministered to Them for 29 Years in Frozen North

BAKER LAKE, Northwest Territory (UPI) —British-born Canon William J. R. James is an Anglican missionary who dislikes the mosquito-infested north, but has remained here 29 years for the sake of his Eskimo parishioners.

The 59-year-old churchman admits frankly that he would head south in a minute were it not for the spiritual welfare of the 450 Eskimos in his barren parish 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg, Manitoba.

"I love the Eskimos," he said in an interview. "That's the main thing.

"I've played the part of a dentist, a doctor and a school teacher for them."

The gray-haired bachelor, who lives alone in a small frame house on the lake shore, believes his long years in the north — he denies they've been lonely — have been rewarding.

He pointed out that he preached to a record congregation of 188 persons at recent service in the 30 by 24-foot wooden church he built himself.

Canon James said church attendance is 100 per cent when the Eskimos are in the settlement. He emphasized that they have a true appreciation of Christianity and don't come merely for the ritual.

He said the Eskimos had known only two years of Christianity when he arrived at Baker Lake from Wycliffe College, Toronto, in 1930.

He said there now are no pagan Eskimos in the area, all being either Anglican or Roman Catholic.

Canon James preaches three services every Sunday, two in Eskimo and one in English for the handful of white men stationed here.

The prayer and hymn books are printed in Eskimo, a language which the Canon speaks fluently.

Dressed in Eskimo clothing, he used to travel up to 30 days at a stretch by dogteam visiting the camps of nomad Eskimos. But he has cut out most of this as he is getting older and more Eskimos are moving to the settlement.

Canon James said he came to the North because it was a challenge. Looking back on his 29 years, he said he hasn't regretted the move. In fact, he plans to stay another five years.

A Jackson Prison term of 5 to 15 years was imposed yesterday upon Vernell Cameron. The 31-year-old Ferndale man had admitted the unarmed robbery of a man in Royal Oak Township in June of last year.

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer said Cameron, of 2350 Woodside Dr., had been in trouble off and on ever since 1946. Cameron pleaded guilty Oct. 1.

Sentenced to Prison on Narcotics Charge

Marion Yancy, 26, of 21626 Gilcrest Ct., Ferndale, was sentenced to 2 to 10 years in Jackson Prison yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for possession of narcotics.

Yancy was arrested June 29 by police who were checking on a faulty headlight when they noticed Yancy toss a package out the window of the car. Analysis later proved the package to contain marihuana.

A Circuit Court jury convicted Yancy Sept. 24.

Rescues Firm by Age of 35

Young Paul Belmont Shunned Chemicals to Produce Oil

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paul N. Belmont is a young man in a hurry.

At 35, he already is a successful lawyer and businessman, having engineered the metamorphosis of a nearly bankrupt chemical firm into a profitable and growing oil producer.

Belmont, president of Hydrocarbon Chemicals Inc., has been doing things at top speed ever since he graduated from college at 19 with a B.S. degree in chemistry.

After a hitch in the Navy, he sailed through law school in two years and now is a partner in Van Riper & Belmont, a leading Newark, N.J., law firm.

"I'm the impatient type," he says. "When I get the urge to do something I get super-charged and can't seem to slow down until its done."

His efforts to build up Hydrocarbon are an example. Belmont travels more than 300,000 miles a year checking company installations and looking for new oil and gas leases to be developed.

"The oil industry is one of the most highly competitive businesses in the country today," he notes.

Belmont scoffs at the idea that a small business cannot survive in an industry dominated by giants.

"Our company, and many other small oil producers, have fared very well competing with the big oil companies. As a matter of fact, the big companies are among our best customers for the oil we produce."

Belmont says "there is plenty of opportunity in the business world today for the small company with efficient management and sound finances. Most business failures can be traced to inept management, not unfair competition."

Belmont took over Hydrocarbon Chemicals three years ago. At that time the company was on the brink of bankruptcy.

Needs Treating

Some Baldness May Leave

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Yesterday I wrote about "pattern" or inherited baldness. There are several other kinds and many other causes. For instance there is premature baldness which usually starts soon after the 25th year or may appear even sooner. This may be due to an imbalance of hormones or poor care of the scalp and hair.

Gradual thinning or falling of the hair may come from deficiencies in the diet or from some glandular abnormality. Then of course, any dermatitis of the scalp such as acne or ring worm can cause a temporary or permanent loss of hair.

If such a condition is present, a skin specialist should be consulted immediately. When a gradual loss of hair occurs a physical check-up is in order.

Certain illnesses such as typhoid fever and scarlet fever or any long illness may cause the hair to fall. However, this kind of hair trouble is usually temporary since the hair grows back again when health is restored.

Then there is "area baldness." Suddenly one or more bald spots appear. The hair usually grows back. However, if this process is repeated medical help should be sought.

Light rays and mild chemical irritants sometimes are used in treating area baldness. This must be prescribed and supervised by a physician since there would be grave danger of injuring the hair follicles in the scalp if self-treatment were attempted.

GOOD NUTRITION

Good nutrition and scalp and hair hygiene will help you avoid some types of baldness. If you have noticed that your hair is becoming thin and falling out, you would be wise to see your family physician. He may feel that you need the help of a specialist and if so he will send you to one.

Except in the case of inherited baldness much can be done to stop the balding process if it is treated soon enough.

A Mary All Burned Up at Ax From Firemen

ORELAND, Pa, (AP) — Mary Bunting is all fired up today for her battle with the Oreland Volunteer Fire Co.

The company ignited the red-hot feud last June when it fired the Women's Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Bunting was president.

The auxiliary, composed of 35 women, recently hired a lawyer and went into Montgomery County Court seeking reinstatement on the grounds they could not be ejected because their 1959 dues had been paid and the action was in violation of their constitution.

The case is expected to come up within the next 10 days.

"We'll stand on our own two feet. Mrs. Bunting declared today. "We'l stalnd on our own two feet. It's the principle of the thing. They won't throw us out like they did the band and expect us to take it.

"We want to regain our privileges, our social standing. If the court upholds their action, we'll start a club of our own and help out such organizations as the Little League."

Since June there have been accusations and counter-accusations.

The women said a new guard of younger men officers was using "gestapo and dictatorial methods" in running the fire house.

The men charged that the women are interfering in the operation of the company.

They also accused the women of being extravagant in using auxiliary funds for a pleasure trip to New York and a fling at the Copacabana.

The big thing that really added fuel to the fire was the recent disbanding of the band. The women said it was done for no reason.

A company officer said the band was disbanded because members who used to march for nothing began seeking $10 to $15 per engagement.

"Besides," the officer added, "their uniforms were shabby and had to be replaced. They wanted us to buy the new uniforms.

"Our primary objective is running a fire company and fighting fires. We are not running a music place."

About the only thing the two groups have agreed on is that the fire company is doing an extremely efficient job of fighting fires—the other kind, that is.

With a Kazoom-Pow and Razmataz

Bouncing Betty Hutton's Back

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Everything is Coo-Coo and Razmataz with Betty Hutton.

"It's been a Kazoom-Pow day with a cherry on the top," says the blonde and bumptious star, in New York for general hi-jinks in connection with her new TV show. Wearing orange silk pants and shirt, she scampers about her hotel suite beaming:

"I couldn't wear these pants until I lost 15 pounds rehearsing for TV. It's great for the figure."

Betty's vocabulary has caused some confusion of late. So she explains:

"Coo-Coo can express almost anything —it's all in the intonation. Said like a dove it means you're swooning with joy, or 'Wow!' Said sharply it can mean something like 'You're crazy, or 'Oh, the heck with it.' A very useful word.

"Kazoom-Pow of course means the greatest, the tops, the living end. And when I say—'with a cherry on top,' I mean that's the ultimate final touch — nothing could be better."

Betty is a girl from the wrong side of the tracks in Battle Creek who started singing on street corners at the age of 11, to help her mother, and who crashed show business at 15, singing with an orchestra. She was almost a flop until she lost her temper one night and started jumping on top of the piano and screaming across the footlights. From then on she was a hit.

Betty went from the orchestra bit to Broadway and then to Hollywood, where she hit her stride as star of such hits as "Annie Get Your Gun" and "The Greatest Show on Earth."

Betty's mother has had all the strawberries and cream she can use for some years now, as daughter's fame grew in Hollywood. And Betty now is busy seeing that her two daughters, 12-year-old Lindsay and 11-year-old Candy, do their homework and take their vitamins.

Betty has been hunting for some time for the right TV vehicle, and now she thinks she has found it, as Goldie, the secretary who inherits a fortune and guardianship of a family.

Soybeans Rally After Declines

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybean futures rallied to move up fractions on the board of trade today after recent declines.

Demand for soybeans in early transactions was based principally on a firmer market for soybean meal and a higher hog market. Aside from these factors other developments were mostly bearish. The weather continues favorable for harvesting and reports from the country indicate more beans are being marketed.

The wheat market was dull and prices early in the trade were virtually unchanged from previous closes.

Transactions in corn too were on the quiet side with the trade waiting to see how much of the crop now being harvested will be brought to market.

Rye was a trading affair with prices little changed in early dealings.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was unchanged to ⅛ higher, December $1.97¾; corn unchanged to ⅛ higher, December $1.08⅜; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 73¾; rye ⅛ to ½ lower, December $1.34; and soybeans ⅜ to ⅝ higher, November $2.12⅜.

Steels Await Strike Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved unevenly in fairly active early trading today.

Pivotal issues made gains or losses running from fractions to about a point.

Steels continued lower as the industry awaited the government's move for an injunction to stop the steel strike for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley law.

Leading rails were either unchanged or very narrowly mixed.

Automotive stocks steadied and some moved higher. American Motors gained about a point. Studebaker-Packard and Ford advanced fractionally.

Lear, newly admitted to trading on the big board, eased below its closing price yesterday on the American Stock Exchange.

Gains of about a point were made by Thiokol and Union Carbide. About a point lower were Goodrich, U. S. Gypsum and Eastman Kodak.

Among the steels, Bethlehem and U. S. Steel took fractional losses while Youngstown Sheet fell about a point.

The market was mixed at the start with the ticker tape late very briefly. The tone remained irregular as trading moderated.

A perfect compromise for people who want to travel but still want a comfortable home base, the house was built to fit around a trailer by carpenter and contractor M. M. Hendrix. When the trailer is backed into the center of the unique structure, it becomes living room, kitchen and bedroom. And when the owners get the urge to travel, they just hook the trailer to a car, pull it out of the house, and away they go.

No Objection to Street Lights

Waterford Sets Yearly Assessment at $2.50 Per Property Owner

Because there were no objectors at a street lighting hearing, at last night's weekly Waterford Township Board meeting, 88 property owners living on Paulsen circle will be assessed $2.50 annually for installation and operation of eight street lights.

The lights are expected to be installed in about three months, and will cost approximately $250 a year for operation.

Another street lighting hearing date for a large area in Waterford Township has been scheduled for Nov. 9 from 7 to 9 p.m. Bounded by Lansdowne, Wilson, Williams Lake and Airport roads, the assessment district would cover 473 pieces of property.

Cost of each assessment would be $5.12 annually for 80 lights, and total yearly cost would be $2,688. The township's portion of the yearly operation expenses would be $266.

In other business, the Board repealed a speed exhibition ordinance because a new ordinance now in effect regulates for race tracks and other privately operated vehicle exhibitions.

A request from the township electrical board to increase the registration fees of electrical contractors from $1 to $5 was approved. The hike will bring Waterford Township's electrical fee more in line with what other communities now charge, the board reported.

The Township Board approved the purchase of three $1,000 township revenue bonds, which had been placed on the open market.

Profit to the township for the transaction was $463 because owner of the bonds sold at a loss, according to a report from Kenower, MacArthur & Co. of Detroit, the firm handling the transaction.

Held in Death of 69 Babies

Police Claim Powder Contained Arsenic and Dealt Wave of Suffering

BORDEAUX, France (UPI) — Police charged today that 69 babies have died over the past three years after being sprinkled with the same brand of talcum powder.

Jacques Cazenave, manufacturer of the powder, which was said to contain arsenic, goes on trial Thursday for negligence in the 69 deaths and 234 other cases in which children became ill after being dusted with the powder.

The first deaths were said to have occurred three years ago. The infants would develop sores and burns which would not heal. Some died in terrible pain and their bodies looked "as if they had been dipped in boiling oil," police charged.

Mothers, watching their children writhe in pain, often sprinkled on still more of the death - dealing powder, it was charged, hoping to soothe the irritation. In some cases they simply sealed the fate of their own children.

Cazenave was not charged with purposely putting arsenic in the powder. The official reports on the case said it was most likely an accident that from Nov. 21 to Dec. 19, 1951, arsenic was mixed in large batches of the powder instead of zinc oxide.

He is charged with negligence in not detecting the mistake.
